APPENDIX E: RESOURCE-SUPPORTING DOCUMENTATION

Note: For the purposes of Appendix E, the term "Documentation" usually only refers to printed materials included in the appendix for resources for which a documented connection with the marches of American and French forces through New Jersey exists.

It does not all or any primary or secondary source evidence that qualifies other resources such as "Witness Sites" for inclusion in this survey. For those sources, the reader is requested to consult the footnotes in the narrative as well as the titles in the bibliography.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

At the conclusion of every project there remains the pleasurable task of thanking the many people who not only made it possible but who also accompanied it to the end. This survey began some two years ago in May 2004 with a lecture on the Washington-Rochambeau Revolutionary Route in the White Dog Café in Philadelphia. In the audience was Mr. Carl E. Nittinger, then interim director of the New Jersey Historic Trust. He immediately took an interest in the project and worked diligently and successfully to procure funding for it. I am deeply grateful to him for his assistance and encouragement. I am equally grateful to Ms Barbara Irvine, his successor as Executive Director of the New Jersey Historic Trust, for her continuous support.

In 2005, Mr. Nittinger became the president of a new state-wide Washington-Rochambeau-Revolutionary Route (W3R-NJ) organization of private citizens determined to commemorate the marches of American and French troops to Yorktown. Since then Ms Sally de Barcza has taken over the reins of W3R-NJ to ably organize events for the 225th anniversaries of the March to Victory in 2006.

During my many visits to the New Jersey State Historic Preservation Office, the New Jersey State Archives, the New Jersey State Library, and the New Jersey Historical Society I always found unstinting support. This includes particularly Steve Hardegen of the SHPO and Mr. James Lewis of the NJHS.

Very early on I met along the roads of the Garden State a number of people who freely shared their deep historical knowledge and hospitality with me. First and foremost among them are Carol and Richard Greene of Mahwah, two long-time champions of historic and environmental preservation in New Jersey. Together with Joan and Tom Dater and Bert Prol, they showed and pointed out to me many of the resources in northern New Jersey connected with the march of the Continental Army. Richard Simon and the late John Vilven of Morristown drove much of the French route with me. I also take great pleasure in expressing my gratitude to Jim Raleigh for the many hours he spent showing me routes and sites across Central New Jersey. I am equally grateful to Richard Patterson of the Old Barracks Museum and to Herman Benninghoff for their support. The maps in Volume II, Appendix D, were provided by the New Jersey Department of Transportation GIS Unit. All remaining errors are of course mine.

My wife Barbara and our children Mary, Sebastian, and Hannah once again put up with weeks of travel and many more hours of me being closeted in my office. Thank You all.

APPENDIX A: DOCUMENTS

I) Treaty of Alliance between the United States and France (6 February 1778)

The most Christian King and the United States of North America, to wit, New Hampshire, Massachusetts Bay, Rhode island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia, having this Day concluded a Treaty of amity and Commerce, for the reciprocal advantage of their Subjects and Citizens have thought it necessary to take into consideration the means of strengthening those engagements and of rendring them useful to the safety and tranquility of the two parties, particularly in case Great Britain in Resentment of that connection and of the good correspondence which is the object of the said Treaty, should break the Peace with France, either by direct hostilities, or by hindring her commerce and navigation, in a manner contrary to the Rights of Nations, and the Peace subsisting between the two Crowns; and his Majesty and the said united States having resolved in that Case to join their Councils and efforts against the Enterprises of their common Enemy, the respective Plenipotentiaries, impower'd to concert the Clauses & conditions proper to fulfil the said Intentions, have, after the most mature Deliberation, concluded and determined on the following Articles.

ARTICLE 1

If War should break out between France and Great Britain, during the continuance of the present War between the United States and England, his Majesty and the said united States, shall make it a common cause, and aid each other mutually with their good Offices, their Counsels, and their forces, according to the exigence of Conjunctures as becomes good & faithful Allies.

ARTICLE 2

The essential and direct End of the present defensive alliance is to maintain effectually the liberty, Sovereignty, and independence absolute and unlimited of the said united States, as well in Matters of Gouvernment as of commerce.

ARTICLE 3

The two contracting Parties shall each on its own Part, and in the manner it may judge most proper, make all the efforts in its Power, against their common Ennemy, in order to attain the end proposed.
ARTICLE 4

The contracting Parties agree that in case either of them should form any particular Enterprise in which the concurrence of the other may be desired, the Party whose concurrence is desired shall readily, and with good faith, join to act in concert for that Purpose, as far as circumstances and its own particular Situation will permit; and in that case, they shall regulate by a particular Convention the quantity and kind of Succour to be furnished, and the Time and manner of its being brought into action, as well as the advantages which are to be its Compensation.

ARTICLE 5

If the united States should think fit to attempt the Reduction of the British Power remaining in the Northern Parts of America, or the Islands of Bermudas, those Countries or Islands in case of Success, shall be confederated with or dependent upon the said united States.

ARTICLE 6

The Most Christian King renounces for ever the possession of the Islands of Bermudas as well as of any part of the continent of North America which before the treaty of Paris in 1763. Or in virtue of that Treaty, were acknowledged to belong to the Crown of Great Britain, or to the united States heretofore called British Colonies, or which are at this Time or have lately been under the Power of The King and Crown of Great Britain.

ARTICLE 7

If his Most Christian Majesty shall think proper to attack any of the Islands situated in the Gulph of Mexico, or near that Gulph, which are at present under the Power of Great Britain, all the said Isles, in case of success, shall appertain to the Crown of France.

ARTICLE 8

Neither of the two Parties shall conclude either Truce or Peace with Great Britain, without the formal consent of the other first obtain'd; and they mutually engage not to lay down their arms, until the Independence of the united states shall have been formally or tacitly assured by the Treaty or Treaties that shall terminate the War.

ARTICLE 9

The contracting Parties declare, that being resolved to fulfil each on its own Part the clauses and conditions of the present Treaty of alliance, according to its own power and circumstances, there shall be no after claim of compensation on one side or the other whatever may be the event of the War.

ARTICLE 10

The Most Christian King and the United states, agree to invite or admit other Powers who may have received injuries from England to make common cause with them, and to accede to the present alliance, under such conditions as shall be freely agreed to and settled between all the Parties.

ARTICLE 11

The two Parties guarantee mutually from the present time and forever, against all other powers, to wit, the united states to his most Christian Majesty the present Possessions of the Crown of France in America as well as those which it may acquire by the future Treaty of peace: and his most Christian Majesty guarantees on his part to the united states, their liberty, Sovereignty, and Independence absolute, and unlimited, as well in Matters of Government as commerce and also their Possessions, and the additions or conquests that their Confederation may obtain during the war, from any of the Dominions now or heretofore possessed by Great Britain in North America, conformable to the 5th & 6th articles above written, the whole as their Possessions shall be fixed and assured to the said States at the moment of the cessation of their present War with England.

ARTICLE 12

In order to fix more precisely the sense and application of the preceding article, the Contracting Parties declare, that in case of rupture between France and England, the reciprocal Guarantee declared in the said article shall have its full force and effect the moment such War shall break out and if such rupture shall not take place, the mutual obligations of the said guarantee shall not commence, until the moment of the cessation of the present War between the united states and England shall have ascertained the Possessions.

ARTICLE 13

The present Treaty shall be ratified on both sides and the Ratifications shall be exchanged in the space of six months, sooner if possible.

In faith where of the respective Plenipotentiaries, to wit on the part of the most Christian King Conrad Alexander Gerard royal syndic of the City of Strasbourgh & Secretary of his majestys Council of State and on the part of the United States Benjamin Franklin Deputy to the General Congress from the State of Pensylvania and President of the Convention of the same state, Silas Deane heretofore Deputy from the State of Connecticut & Arthur Lee Councellor at Law have signed the above Articles both in the French and English Languages declaring Nevertheless that the present Treaty was originally composed and concluded in the French Language, and they have hereunto affixed their Seals.

II) Act Separate and Secret (6 February 1778)

The most Christian King declares in consequence of the intimate union which subsists between him and the King of Spain, that in concluding with the united states of America this Treaty of amity and commerce, and that of eventual and defensive alliance, his Majesty hath intended and intends to reserve expressly, as he reserves by this present separate and secret act, to his said Catholick Majesty, the Power of acceding to the said Treatys, and to participate in their stipulations at such time as he shall judge proper.

It being well understood nevertheless, that if any of the Stipulations of the said Treatys are not agreeable to the King of Spain, his Catholick Majesty may propose other conditions analogous to the principal aim of the alliance and conformable to the Rules of equality, reciprocity & friendship.

The Deputies of the united states in the name of their constituents, accept the present Declaration in its full extent and the Deputy of the said states who is fully impower'd to treat with Spain, promises to sign on the first Requisition of his Catholic Majesty, the act or acts necessary to communicate to him the Stipulations of the Treaties above written; and the said Deputy shall endeavour in good faith the adjustment of the points in which the King of Spain may propose any alteration, conformable to the principles of equality, reciprocity and the most sincere and perfect amity; he the said Deputy not doubting but that the Person or Persons impower'd by his Catholic Majesty to treat with the United States will do the same with regard to any Alterations of the same kind that may be thought necessary by the said Plenipotentiary of the United States. In Faith whereof the respective Plenipotentiaries have signed the present separate and secret Article, and affixed to the same their Seals.

III) Preliminaries of Peace (30 November 1782)

Articles agreed upon, by and between Richard Oswald Esquire, the Commissioner of his Britannic Majesty, for treating of Peace with the Commissioners of the United States of America, in behalf of his said Majesty, on the one part; and John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, John Jay, and Henry Laurens, four of the Commissioners of the said States, for treating of Peace with the Commissioner of his said Majesty, on their Behalf, on the other part. To be inserted in, and to constitute the Treaty of Peace proposed to be concluded, between the Crown of Great Britain, and the said United States; but which Treaty is not to be concluded, untill Terms of a Peace shall be agreed upon, between Great Britain and France; and his Britannic Majesty shall be ready to conclude such Treaty accordingly.

Whereas reciprocal Advantages, and mutual Convenience are found by Experience, to form the only permanent foundation of Peace and Friendship between States; It is agreed to form the Articles of the proposed Treaty, on such Principles of liberal Equity, and Reciprocity, as that partial Advantages, (those Seeds of Discord!) being excluded, such a beneficial and satisfactory Intercourse between the two Countries, may be establish'd, as to promise and secure to both perpetual

ARTICLE 1st

His Britannic Majesty acknowledges the said United States, Viz New Hampshire, Massachusetts Bay, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, to be free Sovereign and independent States; That he treats with them as such; And for himself, his Heirs and Successors, relinquishes all Claims to the Government, Propriety, and territorial Rights of the same, and every part thereof; and that all Disputes which might arise in future, on the Subject of the Boundaries of the said United States, may be prevented. It is hereby agreed and declared that the following are, and shall be their Boundaries Viz

ARTICLE 2nd

From the north west Angle of Nova Scotia, Viz that Angle which is form'd by a Line drawn due north, from the Source of St. Croix River to the Highlands, along the said Highlands which divide those Rivers that empty themselves into the River St Laurence, from those which fall into the Atlantic Ocean, to the northwesternmost Head of Connecticut River; thence down along the middle of that River to the 45th Degree of North Latitude; from thence by a Line due West on said Latitude, untill it strikes the River Iroquois, or Cataquay; thence along the middle of said River into Lake Ontario; through the middle of said Lake, untill it strikes the Communication by Water between that Lake and Lake Erie; thence along the middle of said Communication into Lake Erie, through the middle of said Lake, until it arrives at the Water Communication between that Lake and Lake Huron; thence along the middle of said water communication into the Lake Huron; thence through the middle of said Lake to the Water Communication between that Lake and Lake Superior; thence through Lake Superior northward of the Isles Royal & Phelipeaux, to the Long Lake; thence through the middle of said Long Lake, and the Water Communication between it and the Lake of the Woods, to the said Lake of the Woods, thence through the said Lake to the most Northwestern point thereof, and from thence on a due west Course to the River
Mississippi; thence by a Line to be drawn along the middle of the said River
Mississippi, untill it shall intersect the northermost part of the 31st Degree of North Latitude. South, by a Line to be drawn due East, from the Determination of the Line last mentioned, in the Latitude of 31 Degrees North of the Equator, to the middle of the River Apalachicola or Catahouche; thence along the middle thereof, to its junction with the Flint River; thence strait to the Head of St. Mary's River, and thence down along the middle of St. Mary's River to the Atlantic Ocean. East, by a Line to be drawn along the middle of the River St Croix, from its Mouth in the Bay of Fundy to its Source; and from its Source directly North, to the aforesaid Highlands which divide the Rivers that fall into the Atlantic Ocean, from those which fall into the River Se Laurence; comprehending all Islands within twenty Leagues of any part of the Shores of the united States, and lying between Lines to be drawn due East from the points where the aforesaid Boundaries between Nova Scotia on the one part and East Florida on the other shall respectively touch the Bay of Fundy, and the Atlantic Ocean; excepting such Islands as now are, or heretofore have been within the Limits of the said Province of Nova Scotia.

ARTICLE 3d

It is agreed, that the People of the United States shall continue to enjoy unmolested the Right to take Fish of every kind on the Grand Bank, and on all the other Banks of Newfoundland; Also in the Gulph of St Laurence, and at all other Places in the Sea where the Inhabitants of both Countries used at any time heretofore to fish. And also that the Inhabitants of the united States shall have Liberty to take Fish of every kind on such part of the Coast of Newfoundland, as British Fishermen shall use, (but not to dry or cure the same on that Island,) and also on the Coasts, Bays, and Creeks of all other of his Britannic Majesty's Dominions in America, and that the American Fishermen shall have Liberty to dry and cure Fish in any of the unsettled Bays Harbours and Creeks of Nova Scotia, Magdalen Islands, and Labrador, so long as the same shall remain unsettled; but so soon as the same or either of them shall be settled, it shall not be lawful for the said Fishermen to dry or cure Fish at such Settlement, without a previous Agreement for that purpose with the Inhabitants Proprietors or Possessors of the Ground.

ARTICLE 4th

It is agreed that Creditors on either side, shall meet with no lawful Impediment to the Recovery of the full value in Sterling Money of all bond fide Debts heretofore contracted.

ARTICLE 5th

It is agreed that the Congress shall earnestly recommend it to the Legislatures of the respective States, to provide for the Restitution of all Estates, Rights, and Properties which have been confiscated, belonging to real British Subjects; and also of the Estates Rights and Properties of Persons resident in Districts in the Possession of his Majesty's Arms; and who have not borne Arms against the said United States: And that Persons of any other Description shall have free Liberty to go to any part or parts of any of the thirteen United States, and therein to remain twelve months unmolested in their Endeavours to obtain the Restitution of such of their Estates, Rights and Properties as may have been confiscated; And that Congress shall also earnestly recommend to the several States a Reconsideration and Revision of all Acts or laws regarding the premises, so as to render the said Laws or Acts perfectly consistent not only with Justice and Equity, but with that spirit of Conciliation which on the Return of the Blessings of Peace should universally prevail. And that Congress shall also earnestly recommend to the several States, that the Estates Rights and Properties of such last mention'd Persons shall be restored to them; they refunding to any Persons who may be now in Possession the bond fide Price, (where any has been given,) which such Persons may have paid on purchasing any of the said Lands, Rights, or Properties since the Confiscation.

And it is agreed that all Persons who have any Interest in confiscated Lands, either by Debts, Marriage Settlements or otherwise, shall meet with no lawful Impediment in the prosecution of their just Rights.
ARTICLE 6th

That there shall be no future Confiscations made, nor any prosecutions commenced against any Person or Persons, for or by reason of the Part which he or they may have taken in the present War, and that no person shall on that account suffer any future Loss or Damage either in his Person, Liberty or Property; and that those who may be in confinement on such charges, at the time of the Ratification of the Treaty in America, shall be immediately set at Liberty, and the Prosecutions so commenced be discontinued.

ARTICLE 7th

There shall be a firm and perpetual Peace, between his Britannic Majesty and the said States, and between the Subjects of the one and the Citizens of the other, Wherefore all Hostilities both by Sea and Land shall then immediately cease: All Prisoners on both sides shall be set at Liberty, & his Britannic Majesty shall, with all convenient speed, & without causing any Destruction or carrying away any Negroes, or other Property of the American Inhabitants withdraw all his Armies Garrisons and Fleets from the said United States, and from every Port, Place, and Harbour within the same; leaving in all Fortifications the American Artillery that may be therein: And shall also order and cause all Archives, Records, Deeds and Papers belonging to any of the said States, or their Citizens, which in the Course of the War may have fallen into the hands of his Officers to be forthwith restored and delivered to the proper states and persons to whom they belong.

ARTICLE 8th

The Navigation of the River Mississippi from its Source to the Ocean, shall for ever remain free and open to the Subjects of Great Britain and the Citizens of the United States.

ARTICLE 9th

In case it should so happen that any Place or Territory belonging to Great Britain, or to the United States, should be conquered by the Arms of either, from the other, before the Arrival of these Articles in America, It is agreed that the same shall be restored, without Difficulty, and without requiring any Compensation.

IV) Declarations for Suspension of Arms and Cessation of Hostilities
   (20 January 1783)

   We the underwritten Ministers Plenipotentiary of the United States of North America, having received from Mr Fitz-Herbert, Minister Plenipotentiary of his Britannic Majesty, a Declaration relative to a Suspension of Arms to be establish'd between his said Majesty and the said States, of which the following is a Copy. viz:

   Whereas the Preliminary Articles agreed to and signed this Day between his Majesty the King of Great Britain, and his most Christian Majesty on the one Part, and also between his said Britannic Majesty and his Catholic Majesty on the other Part, stipulate a Cessation of Hostilities between those three Powers, which is to Commence upon the Exchange of the Ratifications of the said Preliminary Articles; And whereas by the Provisional Treaty signed the thirtieth of November last, between his Britannic Majesty and the United States of North America, it was stipulated that the said Treaty should have its Effect as soon as Peace between the said Crowns should be established; The under-written Minister Plenipotentiary of his Britannic Majesty declares in the Name, and by the express, Order of the King his Master, that the said United States of North America, their Subjects and their Possessions, shall be comprised in the suspension of Arms above-mentioned, And that they shall consequently enjoy the Benifit of the Cessation of Hostilities, at the same Periods and in the same Manner as the three Crowns aforesaid and their Subjects and Possessions respectively On Condition

however, that on the Part and in the Name of the Said United States of North America, there shall be deliver'd a similar Declaration expressing the Assent to the present Suspension of Arms, and containing an Assurance of the most perfect Reciprocity on their Part.

In faith whereof, we, the Minister Plenipotentiary of his Britannic Majesty, have signed this present Declaration, and have thereto caused the Seal of our Arms to be affixed, at Versailles this twentieth Day of January One Thousand seven hundred & Eighty three.

(signed)

ALLEYNE FITZ-HERBERT
(L.S.)

We have in the Name of the said United States of North America & in Virtue of the Powers we are vested with, received the above Declaration and do accept the same by these Presents, and we do reciprocally declare, that the said States shall cause to cease all Hostilities against his Britannic Majesty, his Subjects and Possessions at the Terms or Periods agreed to between his said Majesty the King of Great Britain, his Majesty the King of France, and his Majesty the King of Spain, in the same manner as is stipulated between these, three Crowns, and to have the same Effect.

In faith whereof, We Ministers Plenipotentiary from the United States of America, have signed the present Declaration and have hereunto affixed the Seals of our Arms. At Versailles the twentieth of January one thousand seven hundred and eighty three.

V) Declaration Signed in Paris by the American Commissioners (20 February 1783)

By the Ministers Plenipotentiary of the United States of America, for making Peace with Great Britain. A Declaration of the Cessation of Hostilities as well by Sea as Land, agreed upon between His Majesty, the King of Great Britain, and the United States of America.

Whereas Preliminary Articles were signed, at Paris, on the thirtieth Day of November last, between the Plenipotentiaries of his said Majesty the King of Great Britain, and of the said States, to be inserted in, and to constitute the Treaty of Peace to be concluded between his said Majesty, and the said United States when Terms of Peace should be agreed upon between his said Majesty and his most Christian Majesty: and Whereas Preliminaries for restoring Peace, between his said Majesty, the King of Great Britain, and his most Christian Majesty, were signed at Versailles, on the twentieth day of January last, by the respective Ministers of their said Majesties: and Whereas preliminaries for restoring Peace, between his said Majesty the King of Great Britain, and his Majesty the King of Spain, were also signed at Versailles, on the twentieth Day of January last, by their respective Ministers: and Whereas, for putting an End to the Calamity of War, as soon and as far as possible, it hath been agreed, between the King of Great Britain, his most Christian Majesty, the King of Spain, the States General of the United Provinces and the United States of America as follows, that is to say.

That such Vessells and Effects, as should be taken, in the Channell and in the North Seas, after the Space of twelve Days, to be computed from the Ratification of the said Preliminary Articles should be restored on all Sides; that the Term should be one Month from the Channell and North Seas, as far as the Canary Islands inclusively, whether in the Ocean or the Mediterranean; two Months from the said Canary Islands, as far as the Equinoctial Line, or Equator, and lastly five Months in all other Parts of the World, without any Exception or any other more particular Description of Time or Place.

And Whereas the Ratifications of the said Preliminary Articles between his said Majesty, the King of Great Britain, and his most Christian Majesty, in due Form, were exchanged by their Ministers on the third day of this instant February, from which Day the several Terms abovementioned, of Twelve Days, of one Month, of two Months, and of five Months are to be computed, relative to all British and American Vessells and Effects

Now therefore, We, the Ministers Plenipotentiary, from the United States of America, for making Peace with Great Britain do notify to the People and Citizens, of the said United States of America that Hostilities, on their Part, against his Britannic Majesty, both by Sea and tend are to cease, at the Expiration of the Terms herein before specified therefor, and which Terms are to be computed, from the third day of February instant. And We do, in the Name and by the Authority of the said United States, accordingly warn and enjoin all their Officers and Citizens, to forbear all Acts of Hostility, whatever, either by Land or by Sea against his said Majesty, the King of Great Britain, or his Subjects under the Penalty of incurring the highest Displeasure of the said United States.
Given at Paris the Twentieth Day of February, in the Year of our Lord, One Thousand, Seven hundred and Eighty Three, under our Hands and Seals

VI) Treaty of Paris (3 September 1783)

In the name of the most holy and undivided Trinity.

It having pleased the Divine Providence to dispose the hearts of the most serene and most potent Prince George the Third, by the grace of God, king of Great Britain, France, and Ireland, defender of the faith, duke of Brunswick and Lunebourg, arch-treasurer and prince elector of the Holy Roman Empire etc., and of the United States of America, to forget all past misunderstandings and differences that have unhappily interrupted the good correspondence and friendship which they mutually wish to restore, and to establish such a beneficial and satisfactory intercourse, between the two countries upon the ground of reciprocal advantages and mutual convenience as may promote and secure to both perpetual peace and harmony; and having for this desirable end already laid the foundation of peace and reconciliation by the Provisional Articles signed at Paris on the 30th of November 1782, by the commissioners empowered on each part, which articles were agreed to be inserted in and constitute the Treaty of Peace proposed to be concluded between the Crown of Great Britain and the said United States, but which treaty was not to be concluded until terms of peace should be agreed upon between Great Britain and France and his Britannic Majesty should be ready to conclude such treaty accordingly; and the treaty between Great Britain and France having since been concluded, his Britannic Majesty and the United States of America, in order to carry into full effect the Provisional Articles above mentioned, according to the tenor thereof, have constituted and appointed, that is to say his Britannic Majesty on his part, David Hartley, Esqr., member of the Parliament of Great Britain, and the said United States on their part, John Adams, Esqr., late a commissioner of the United States of America at the court of Versailles, late delegate in Congress from the state of Massachusetts, and chief justice of the said state, and minister plenipotentiary of the said United States to their high mightinesses the States General of the United Netherlands; Benjamin Franklin, Esqr., late delegate in Congress from the state of Pennsylvania, president of the convention of the said state, and minister plenipotentiary from the United States of America at the court of Versailles; John Jay, Esqr., late president of Congress and chief justice of the state of New York, and minister plenipotentiary from the said United States at the court of Madrid; to be plenipotentiaries for the concluding and signing the present definitive treaty; who after having reciprocally communicated their respective full powers have agreed upon and confirmed the following articles.

Article 1.

His Brittanic Majesty acknowledges the said United States, viz., New Hampshire, Massachusetts Bay, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, to be free sovereign and independent states, that he treats with them as such, and for himself, his heirs, and successors, relinquishes all claims to the government, propriety, and territorial rights of the same and every part thereof.

Article 2.

And that all disputes which might arise in future on the subject of the boundaries of the said United States may be prevented, it is hereby agreed and declared, that the following are and shall be their boundaries, viz. …

Article 3.

It is agreed that the people of the United States shall continue to enjoy unmolested the right to take fish of every kind on the Grand Bank and on all the other banks of Newfoundland, also in the Gulf of Saint Lawrence and at all other places in the sea, where the inhabitants of both countries used at any time heretofore to fish. And also that the inhabitants of the United States shall have liberty to take fish of every kind on such part of the coast of Newfoundland as British fishermen shall use, (but not to dry or cure the same on that island) and also on the coasts, bays and creeks of all other of his Brittanic Majesty's dominions in America; and that the American fishermen shall have liberty to dry and cure fish in any of the unsettled bays, harbors, and creeks of Nova Scotia, Magdalen Islands, and Labrador, so long as the same shall remain unsettled, but so soon as the same or either of them shall be settled, it shall not be lawful for the said fishermen to dry or cure fish at such settlement without a previous agreement for that purpose with the inhabitants, proprietors, or possessors of the ground.

Article 5. …

Article 6. …
Article 7.

There shall be a firm and perpetual peace between his Brittanic Majesty and the said states, and between the subjects of the one and the citizens of the other, wherefore all hostilities both by sea and land shall from henceforth cease. All prisoners on both sides shall be set at liberty, and his Brittanic Majesty shall with all convenient speed, and without causing any destruction, or carrying away any Negroes or other property of the American inhabitants, withdraw all his armies, garrisons, and fleets from the said United States, and from every post, place, and harbor within the same; leaving in all fortifications, the American artillery that may be therein; and shall also order and cause all archives, records, deeds, and papers belonging to any of the said states, or their citizens, which in the course of the war may have fallen into the hands of his officers, to be forthwith restored and delivered to the proper states and persons to whom they belong.

Article 8.

The navigation of the river Mississippi, from its source to the ocean, shall forever remain free and open to the subjects of Great Britain and the citizens of the United States.

Article 9. …

Article 10 …

The solemn ratifications of the present treaty expedited in good and due form shall be exchanged between the contracting parties in the space of six months or sooner, if possible, to be computed from the day of the signatures of the present treaty. In witness whereof we the undersigned, their ministers plenipotentiary, have in their name and in virtue of our full powers, signed with our hands the present definitive treaty and caused the seals of our arms to be affixed thereto.

VII) EIGHTEENTH-CENTURY CURRENCIES

Currency/coins commonly circulating in the Holy Roman Empire:

1 Gulden (= fl; gold, after circa 1500 silver) = 60 Kreuzer

1 fl rhein. = 15 Batzen = 60 Kreuzer = 240 Denar = 480 Heller
1 Albus = 1 1/2 Batzen = 6 Kreuzer = 24 Denar = 48 Heller
1 Batzen = 4 Kreuzer = 16 Denar = 32 Heller
1 Groschen = 3 Kreuzer = 12 Denar = 24 Heller
1 Kreuzer = 4 Denar = 8 Heller
1 Denar = 2 Heller

1 Königstaler: 1 fl 20 Kreuzer rhein.
1 Laubtaler: 2 fl 20 Kreuzer rhein.
1 Dukaten: 5 fl rhein. (since 1559)
1 Karolin: 11 fl

Laubtaler is the term commonly used for the French écu of six livres, which was widely circulating in Germany, especially along the Rhine.

French Currency:

Louis (Gold) = 24 livres = 480 sous = 5760 deniers
Ecu (Silver) = 6 livres = 120 sous = 1440 deniers
Livre (Silver) = 20 sous = 240 deniers
Sous (Copper) = 12 deniers
Liard (Copper) = 3 deniers

1 Franc = 1 livre, an administrative unit only.
A 1 livre coin was only minted briefly by the East India Company in the 1720s.

English Currency:

British currency is based on the Pound Sterling (silver) valued at 20 Shillings = 240 Pennies = 480 Halfpennies = 960 Farthings. There was no £ 1 coin; the largest silver coins minted in the eighteenth century were the Crown at 5 shillings, usually entered as: 5/ in merchant ledgers and account books, and the Half-Crown at 2 shillings 6 pence, written as 2/6.

Shilling (Silver) = 12 Pennies = 24 Halfpennies = 48 Farthings
Groat (Silver) = 4 Pennies = 8 Halfpennies = 16 Farthings
Penny (Copper) = 2 Halfpennies = 4 Farthings
Ha'penny (Copper) = 2 Farthings
Farthing (Brass)
The most valuable coin minted was the Guinea, first minted on 6 February 1663 (1662 Old Style). Originally valued at 20 shillings, its value rose with the rise in the value of gold and it was traded at a fixed 21 shillings after 1717. The minting of 2 and 5 Guinea coins had stopped in 1753, and last gold 1 Guinea coins were struck in 1799, though in 1813, a final run of 80,000 guineas were minted to pay the Duke of Wellington's army in Spain.

In the cash-poor colonies in North America, Spanish coinage was widely used.

The chief trade coin and the most commonly circulating coin in the American colonies was the Spanish Milled Dollar or Piece of Eight. Minted in silver, it was similar in size and weight to the German Taler or the French écu of 6 livres. A little less than a troy ounce of British sterling silver (.925 fine silver, valued at 62 d or 5 s 2 d), a Spanish dollar was worth 54 d or 4 s 6 d. As the demand for silver coinage far exceeded the available supply, silver coins traded at a premium; the premium above the 54 d level was termed the "crying up" of coinage. In order to limit this "crying up," to Queen Anne issued a proclamation in 1704, passed into law by parliament in 1707, which specified that a full weight Spanish dollar would pass in the colonies at 72 d or 6 s, a third above the sterling rate. Since 5 s were called a Crown in Britain, the Piece of Eight was also known as a Spanish Crown while écus were known as French Crowns in the colonies.

During the Revolutionary War, New England, Virginia, and the Carolinas adhered to this "Proclamation Rate" of a one third "up-crying" and currency issued at this rate was known as "Lawful Money" or "Current Money." The Middle colonies of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, and Maryland set the exchange rate for a Spanish dollar at 90 d or 7 s 6 d, 66.66% over sterling. To distinguish it from the "Proclamation Money," it was referred to as "Common Money" or "Pennsylvania Money," though "Lawful Money" appears in Delaware ledgers as well. New York created its own rate of 96 d or 8 s to the Spanish dollar, a 78% increase over sterling. This means that:

4 s 6 d British = 6 s Massachusetts = 7 s 6 d Pennsylvania = 8 s New York

Or, expressed in terms of the value of a pound sterling the exchange rates were:

\[
\begin{align*}
£ 1 & = 1 \text{ 6 s 8 d (320 d)} \text{ MA} = 1 \text{ 13 s 4 d (400 d)} \text{ PA} \\
& = 1 \text{ 15 s 7 d (427 d)} \text{ NY}
\end{align*}

How did these currencies relate to each other? In 1764, Richard Wolters, British agent in Rotterdam, reckoned 1 Pistole at 17s. 2d. st., or 4s. 3.5d. st. per Piece of Eight.\(^1\) In a letter of May 1780, Axel von Fersen wrote that 1 Piastre/ Piece of Eight/Peso was worth 6 livres. Since he only paid 5 livres 5 sous in Brest, he hoped to make a profit upon arrival in Newport. Georg Daniel Flohr gave the value of 1 Spanish dollar at 2 fl 20 Kreuzer rhein., and according to Harris, "the British pound sterling was equal to 23.17 livres tournois" during the 1780s.\(^2\) The Abbé Robin, a chaplain in one of Rochambeau's regiments in turn gave the value of a shilling in New England in the summer of 1781 as 22 sous 6 deniers or 22 livres 8 sous to the pound sterling.\(^3\)

While stationed in Boston in the summer of 1775, Corporal Thomas Sullivan of the British 49th Regiment gave the value of a Spanish milled dollar at 4 s 6 d.\(^4\)

Based on the value of the Piece of Eight in England as well as admitting for currency fluctuations we get the following approximate exchange rates:

\[
\begin{align*}
1 £ \text{ Sterling} & = 23 \text{ livres 3 sous 6 deniers} \\
1 £ \text{ Sterling} & \sim 2.5 \text{ to 3.5 Pieces of Eight (depending on where its is exchanged)} \\
1 £ \text{ Sterling} & \sim 9 \text{ fl 30 Kreuzer rhein.}
\end{align*}

\begin{align*}
1 \text{ Piece of Eight} & = \text{ between 6 s and 8 s, (depending on where its is exchanged)} \\
1 \text{ Piece of Eight} & = 2 \text{ fl 20 Kreuzer rhein.} \\
1 \text{ Piece of Eight} & = 5 \text{ livres 5 sous} \end{align*}

---

1 Livre = 24 Kreuzer rhein.
1 Livre = 10 d 1.4 farthing
1 Livre = 1 reales 1 copper peso

1 fl rhein. = 2 s 2 d
1 fl rhein. = 2 livres 10 sous
1 fl rhein. = 4 reales

AT THE SECOND SESSION

Began and held at the City of Washington on Monday, the twenty-fourth day of January, two thousand

An Act

To require the Secretary of the Interior to complete a resources study of the 600 mile route through Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, and Virginia, used by George Washington and General Rochambeau during the American Revolutionary War.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SEC. 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Washington-Rochambeau Revolutionary Route National Heritage Act of 2000”.

SEC. 2. STUDY OF THE WASHINGTON-ROCHAMBEAU REVOLUTIONARY ROUTE.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 2 years after the date on which funds are made available to carry out this section, the Secretary shall submit to the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources of the Senate and the Committee on Resources of the House of Representatives, a resource study of the 600 mile route through Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, and Virginia, used by George Washington and General Jean Baptiste Donatien de Vimeur, comte de Rochambeau during the American Revolutionary War.

(b) CONSULTATION.—In conducting the study required by subsection (a), the Secretary shall consult with State and local historic associations and societies, State historic preservation agencies, and other appropriate organizations.

(c) CONTENTS.—The study shall—

(1) identify the full range of resources and historic themes associated with the route referred to in subsection (a), including its relationship to the American Revolutionary War;

(2) identify alternatives for National Park Service involvement with preservation and interpretation of the route referred to in subsection (a); and

APPENDIX B:

RESOURCES ALONG THE WASHINGTON-ROCHAMBEAU
REVOLUTIONARY ROUTE IN THE STATE OF NEW JERSEY

Sites and resources are listed in both chronological as well as geographical order, meaning that the first route listed is that of Major Sebastian Baumann, who entered New Jersey coming from Newburgh in August 1781, while the last route listed is that of Lauzun's Legion leaving New Jersey for Delaware in December 1782. In those cases where routes are traveled concurrently, as in August 1781, they are listed geographically with the easternmost, i.e., farthest inland, route first.

This inventory list five different kinds of resources:

1) campsites
2) houses and taverns
3) markers
4) river crossings
5) archaeological sites

Sites and resources are catalogued in three categories:

1) Contributing Resources

These are sites for which direct documentary evidence exists that connects them to the marches of 1781/82. This category also includes road-signs and historic markers identifying events of 1781/82. For these resources site forms that include a modern photograph, National Register of Historic Places nominations and additional supporting materials (where available) have been compiled.

2) Non-Contributing Resources

These are sites such as homes, taverns, churches and similar sites identified on contemporary maps as being along or in the vicinity of the march routes but for which no other documentary evidence exists connecting them to the campaigns of 1781/82. In many cases the boundaries between categories 1) and 2) turned out to be too ambiguous to allow an unequivocal identification and overt categorization within the framework of this survey.

3) Witness Sites

These are resources such as homes, taverns, or churches that existed in 1781 and 1782 and may or may not have been seen and/or visited by troops in 1781/82, but which do not appear in either journals or on maps.

These sites are identified as Witness Sites on the site forms.
A total of 26 land and water routes and route segments have been identified and inventoried for this report:

1) Route of the Left (eastern) Column of the Continental Army to Springfield
2) Route of Major Sebastian Baumann's Detachment
3) Route of Right (western) Column of the Continental Army to Chatham
4) Route of the Center Column of the Continental Army to Springfield
5) Route of the French Army to Trenton
6) Route of the Right (western) column of the Continental Army to Trenton
7) Route of the Center Column of the Continental Army to Trenton
8) Route of General Washington to Trenton
9) Route of General Rochambeau to Trenton
10) Route of the Rear-Guard to Trenton
11) Water Route of the Continental Army from Trenton to Philadelphia
12) Water route of Rochambeau from Philadelphia to Chester
13) Route of Commissaire de guerre Granville in September 1781
14) Route of the Return March of the Light Infantry and Artificers
15) Route of the Return March of the Artillery and Sappers and Miners
16) Route of the New York Regiments into New Jersey
17) Route of the New Jersey Regiments into New Jersey
18) Route of the Return March of the French Army through New Jersey
19) Route of the Return March of Lauzun's Legion through New Jersey
20) Route of Lauzun's Legion through New Jersey to Delaware
21) Route of Rochambeau to Baltimore via Newton, Hackettstown, Baptistown and Philadelphia for Baltimore and France in December 1782

Not included as separate routes in this survey are the

22) Marches of the Continental Army through New Jersey to the Hudson Highlands in the Summer of 1782
23) Route of General Washington from Philadelphia to Newburgh, New York, in the Spring of 1782
24) Route of the Passengers of the frigates l'Aigle and la Gloire through New Jersey in September 1782
25) Side trips such as the visits by French officers to the Falls at Totowa or Rochambeau's reconnaissances e.g., to Sandy Hook in September 1782
26) Sites mentioned in the journal of Lieutenant Ebenezer Wild who crossed New Jersey with a detachment of sick soldiers from 18 to 26 November 1781. The Light Infantry followed the same route a few days later.

In some cases the exact location of the campsites is unknown. Sites that were visited consecutively by detachments of the Continental Army and/or the French Army in August 1781, or during the return march of either the Continental Army in December 1781, or the French Army in 1782, they have only been listed once. For supplementary information on these sites see the "Chronology" as well the relevant chapters in the text of this report.
Route 1:

Route of the Left (easternmost) Column of the Continental Army to Springfield

1)  Old Paramus Reformed Church
    660 E. Glen Avenue
    Ridgewood, New Jersey 07450

    The Camp of the New Jersey Line and Hazen's Regiment in Paramus is "about 2 Miles from [i.e., north of] the Church". The exact location of the campsite is unknown. The "church" is Old Paramus Reformed Church.

2)  Zabriskie-Steuben House
    Intersection of Main Street and Hackensack Avenue
    River Edge, NJ 07661

    The camp of the New Jersey Regiments is "three Miles in our Front", i.e., one mile south of the "church." The exact location of the campsite is unknown but it was most likely on the Zabrieskie property located at the intersection of Main Street and Hackensack Avenue in River Edge.

    Jan Zabriskie purchased the property at New Bridge in 1745 and erected a sandstone mansion nearby in 1752, overlooking his gristmill and wharf. It is today part of River Edge in Bergen County. In September 1780, Washington made the Zabriskie House his headquarters. Zabrieskie was a loyalist who had his property confiscated. At the end of the war the State of New Jersey presented Zabrianskie's New Bridge estate to General Steuben. In order to cover his debts, Steuben in turn re-sold it in December 1788, to the son of the loyalist from whom it had been confiscated. The State of New Jersey acquired the Zabriskie-Steuben House in 1928 as a State Historic Site.¹

3)  Campsite of Hazen's Regiment in Belleville.

    The exact location of the campsite is unknown

4)  Campsite of the New Jersey Line two miles south of Belleville.

    The exact location of the campsite is unknown

¹ Information on New Bridge is taken from http://www.bergencountyhistory.org/. The historic Demarest House and Campbell-Christie House are not listed as resources since they were moved onto the grounds in 1956 and 1977 only.
5) The campsite of Moses Hazen's regiment

It was "(about 2 Miles from the settled Part of [Springfield]) where the Reg[imen]t. encamped in a Field, on a Height, and a very advantageous Post, being on the turn of the Road."

The camp was located in the Hobart Gap along Hobart Road.

6) The campsite of the New Jersey Line

"about 2 Miles from us".

The exact location of this campsite is unknown but most likely northward along the ridge of the mountains since the purpose of the camp was for the British in New York to see the campfires.

7) Presbyterian Church
   Morris Avenue/NJ-SR 22
   Springfield, NJ 07081

8) Statue of Reverend Caldwell in front of the Presbyterian Church

9) Historic Marker in front of Presbyterian Church

10) Cannon Ball House
     126 Morris Avenue
     Springfield, New Jersey 07081

     The house is today the headquarters of the Historical Society of Springfield.

11) Swaim House
    South Springfield Avenue
    Springfield, New Jersey 07081

12) Sayre Homestead (also known as Old Sayre Homestead)
    Sayre Homestead Lane
    Springfield, NJ 07081

Other potential witness sites include the Bottle Hill Tavern on 127 Main Street. It stood originally at Main Street and Waverly Place but was removed to present location 1923. It is owned and occupied by the Madison Historical Society.
Route 2:

Route of Major Sebastian's Detachment

13) Ringwood Manor
Sloatsburg Road (NJ-SR 72)
Ringwood, NJ 07456

Chastellux also visited here on his way to Newburgh in December 1780. I have found no corroborating evidence for the statement on the Ringwood web-site that "French soldiers of Rochambeau's army" are buried "in the old cemetery along with more than 400 pioneers, early iron makers and Revolutionary War soldiers." See http://www.ringwoodmanor.com/history/hist.htm

14) Tomb of Robert Erskine on Ringwood Manor House property.

15) Segment of the "Secret Road" taken by Major Baumann leading right in front of the Manor House and Erskine's tomb.

16) Long Pond Iron Works State Park and Museum
1304 Sloatsburg Road
Ringwood, NJ 07456-1799

17) Battleship Maine Memorial
Intersection of Hamburg Turnpike and Ringwood Avenue
Pompton Plains, NJ 07444

A tablet at the memorial marking identifying it as the site of "Curtis's Tavern" i.e., the "Little Yellow House at the Crossroads" mentioned in the secondary literature could not be located. The tavern itself, owned by the Ryerson family (who also owned the Pompton Iron-works) during the Revolutionary War, stood on the site of the Valley National Bank Building. It was demolished in 1890.

18) Marker on Newark-Pompton Turnpike in Pompton Plains.

19) Ponds Church Marker
Newark-Pompton Turnpike north of Reformed Church
Pompton Plains, NJ 07444

20) Pompton Meeting House (First Reformed Church)
529 Newark-Pompton Turnpike
Pompton Plains, NJ 07444

21) Campsite along Newark-Pompton Turnpike north of Reformed Church in Pompton Plains (identical with that of French forces of 26/27 August).
Route 3:

Route of Right (western) Column of the Continental Army to Chatham

22)  Hopper Grist Mill Marker on NJ 202
     156 Ramapo Valley Road
     Mahwah, NJ 07430

23)  Hopper Grist Mill Site on NJ 202
     156 Ramapo Valley Road
     Mahwah, NJ 07430

24)  Arie Laroe/Sheffield/Lewis/Bugg House site and Indian Campsite
     280 Ramapo Valley Road
     Mahwah, NJ 07430

25)  Laroe/Hopper/Van Horn House
     398 Ramapo Valley Road
     Mahwah, NJ 07430

26)  Laroe/Hopper/Van Horn House Marker
     In front of Laroe-Van Horn House

27)  Hopper Family Cemetery
     On Hopper/Van Horn property

28)  Continental Army Campsite of 25/26 August on Route 202
     505 Ramapo Valley Road
     Mahwah, NJ 07430

     On the athletic fields/tennis courts of Ramapo Valley College
     Commemorates Continental Army Campsites of 1777, 1778, 1780 and 1781.

29)  Henry O. Havemeyer/Continental Army Campsites Monument
     505 Ramapo Valley Road
     Mahwah, NJ 07430

30)  Andrew Hopper House Site (Henry O. Havemeyer House)
     510 Ramapo Valley Road
     Mahwah, NJ 07430

     Washington spent the night of 25/26 August 1781 at the house. The Hopper
     House was attached to this house to the south.
31) Henry O. Havemeyer House Plaque
510 Ramapo Valley Road
Mahwah, NJ 07430

The marker is attached to the Havemeyer House.

32) Abandoned Road Section near Sun Valley Farm
near 800 Ramapo Valley Road
Mahwah, NJ 07430

33) Ramapo Valley Road Marker
near 888 Ramapo Valley Road
Mahwah, NJ 07430

34) Continental Soldiers Memorial Highway Marker
in townships along Ramapo Valley Road

35) Bertholf's Mill Site
Ramapo Valley Road just north of Darlington Avenue
Mahwah, NJ 07430

Bertholf's Mill is most likely identical with the "Bartoli Moulin" of Berthier's itinerary and located on the west side of Ramapo Valley Road, on Darlington Brook just north of today's Darlington Avenue.

36) Campbell's Tavern Site
Slightly less than one mile south of Bertholf Mill

37) Garrison/Dater/Price House ruins owned by Garret Garrison during the AWI
(see No. 38)

38) Garret Garrison House (now called "Waternook")
980 Ramapo Valley Road
Mahwah, NJ 07430

39) Abraham Garrison/C.E. Chapman House and Farm
(now called "Kraus Farm")
1010 Ramapo Valley Road
Mahwah, NJ 07430

39a) John Bertholf House (now called "Amberfields")

51) Jacob Morell House
   63 East Main Street (opposite Presbyterian Church)
   Chatham, NJ 07928

   Washington lodged here from 27-29 August 1781.

52) Site of the ovens in Chatham
    "East of River Road on the Union County side of the Passaic."

    Source: John T. Cunningham, Chatham at the Crossing of the Fishawack

53) Bonnell Homestead
    Watchung Avenue
    Chatham, NJ 07928

    Mrs. Bonnell is reputed to have baked bread all night to provide soldiers sleeping on her floors with food for their march to Yorktown, Virginia.

54) Day/Dey Mansion
    199 Totowa Road.
    Wayne, NJ 07470

    Site of present Ogden Memorial Church.

    Other potential witness sites: Ward House, dated 1740, Talmadge Homestead, and Shepard Kollock's printing house where New Jersey journal was published (opposite Morell House on Main Street) with marker in front of house.
Route 4:

Route of the Center Column of the Continental Army to Springfield

55) Section of original eighteenth-century road near Ramapo Reformed Church (Island Rd. at W. Ramapo Ave.) Mahwah, NJ 07436

This section of the "Old King's Highway of 1703" shown on Robert Erskine's maps runs through Ramapo Reformed Church Cemetery in north-south direction.

56) Lutheran Church Site on Island Road near intersection with North McKee Drive Mahwah, NJ 07430

Shown on British General Howe's map and on Erskine maps, this was the site of a log church built prior to 1739. It was replaced in 1798 by Ramapo Reformed Church structure built jointly by Lutheran and Reformed congregations.

57) Old Stone House 538 Island Road (= old King's Highway of 1703) Mahwah, NJ 07430

This house, dating to ca. 1755, is identified on Robert Erskine's maps as "Wannamaker."

58) Robert Erskine's Bellgrove Store Site West Ramapo Avenue Mahwah, NJ 07430

The store was originally located on Ramapough/Island Road/Old King's Highway before road was moved.

59) Maysinger-Ramsey-Wright House 142 Island Road (north corner Beehive Court) Mahwah, NJ 07430

The earliest sections of this house were built in the early to mid-eighteenth century. Bergen County Historic Sites Survey # 0233-17

60) Moffatt Road Cemetery on Moffatt Road between Island Road and Route 17 Mahwah, NJ 07430
The cemetery, which was used from the mid-eighteenth to the mid-nineteenth centuries -- the earliest stone dates to 1749 -- was located at the corner of Moffatt and Ramapough Rd/Kings Highway before the road was straightened to become Island Road. Bergen County Historic Sites Survey # 0233-80

61) "Petersfield"
475 Franklin Turnpike
Allendale, NJ 07401

This property, which dates to about 1766, was the house of John Fell, a member of the Continental Congress from 1778 - 1780.

62) The Hermitage
335 N. Franklin Turnpike
Hohokus, NJ 07423

63) Campsite of Center Column of the Continental Army under General Benjamin Lincoln on 25/26 August 1781 "within 3 Miles of Paramus."
Paramus, NJ 07652

The campsite was along River Road in the vicinity of the bridge over the East Saddle River in Hohokus about three miles north of Paramus.

→ Scammel's advanced detachment, at Kakeat since 19 August, rejoins Lincoln's column as it passes through Kakeat on its way to Paramus.

64) Campsite of Lincoln's forces on 26/27 August 1781 "two Miles below Acquakenach Bridge [i.e. Passaic]."
Passaic, NJ 07057

The exact location of the campsite is unknown.

Potentially also of interest is a marker commemorating one of the beacons established across New Jersey on 226 Hobart Road in Springfield.
Route 5:

Route of the French Army to Trenton

NOTE: Since the sites for the First and Second Brigade of the French Army are identical they will not be listed separately.

➔ Until they reach their camp at Pompton Plains on 26 August, sites and resources of the march of the French Army (Route 5) are identical with those of the Right Column of the Continental Army (Route 3).

The campsite of the French Army along the Newark-Pompton Turnpike north of the Reformed Church in Pompton is identical with the campsite of Major Sebastian Baumann's detachment.

65) Dod’s Tavern
   Chapel Hill Road (633 South)
   Lincoln Park, NJ 07035

66) Widow Jacobusse House
   Intersection of Alt 655 (Main Street) and Alt 504 (Jacksonville Road)
   Lincoln, Park, NJ 07035

Driving on NJ-SR 202 you cross the railroad tracks via an underpass; you need to backtrack from the underpass to get to the site.

67) Henry Doremus House
   490 Main Road (Rt. 202).
   Montville, NJ 07045

68) Henry Doremus House Marker

From Princeton toward Trenton all Allied forces used the "King's Highway," NJ-SR 206, through Lawrence. A section of the King's Highway from Raymond Road in South Brunswick (NJ_SR 27) to Cold Soil Road (NJ-SR 206) in Lawrence Township has been nominated for the National Register of Historic Places.

Dickerson Tavern, Spring and Water Streets in Morristown. Scene of Court Martial of Benedict Arnold, presided over by General Robert Howe.

Campfield House, 5 Olyphant Place in Morristown. Scene of courtship of Elizabeth or Betsy Schuyler by Alexander Hamilton, 1779-80, occupied at time by John Cochrane, Surgeon General of the Continental Army. The house is now owned by the Morristown Chapter, D.A.R.

Tempe Wick House, Jockey Hollow Road in Morristown. Built between 1747 and 1750 by Henry Wick, it is part of the Morristown National Historic Park.

Liddell House, Jockey Hollow Road in Morristown. Built of stones used in the fireplaces of the soldiers' huts in the Revolution.

Peter Nevius House on Millstone River Road (NJ-CR 533) in Hillsborough, a mid-eighteenth-century Dutch house.

William Baird House on Millstone River Road in Montgomery.

Bainbridge House, 58 Nassau Street (1766), is the headquarters of the Historical Society of Princeton and one of the few remaining 18th-century houses in Princeton Borough.

Maclean House (1756), was built by Robert Smith as a residence for the presidents of Princeton; the first president who lived here was Aaron Burr, Sr., whose son Aaron Burr, Jr. became Vice-President of the United States in 1801.

Beatty House (c. 1780), originally located on Nassau Street opposite Bainbridge House, was the home of the Hudibras Tavern proprietor, Jacob Hyer. In 1816, the house was purchased by Colonel Erkuries Beatty. The Marquis de Lafayette is known to have spent the night of 15 July 1825 in the house on his tour of the United States. It was moved to 19 Vandeventer in 1875.

Princeton Battle Monument (1922) was designed by Frederick MacMonnies and Thomas Hastings and dedicated in 1922, with President Harding in attendance. On the sides of the monument are the seals of the United States and the original thirteen states, including New Jersey. The creation of the monument served to commemorate the Battle of Princeton, which took place on 3 January 1777. The sculpture depicts Washington leading his troops into battle, as well as the death of General Hugh Mercer.

This campsite and connected resources are (most likely) identical with the place where the French Army would camp the following day.

On 25 June 1999, New Jersey Assembly Joint Resolution No. 61 designated Stockton Avenue (NJ-SR 206) and continuing on to Trenton (Brunswick Avenue) past the Trenton Victory Monument, the "Washington Victory Trail."

101) Campsite of the Continental Army from 31 August to 1 September 1781
Ferry Site for crossing the Delaware River
"close by" the Lower Ferry
Trenton, NJ 08611

The Lower Ferry was at the end of what was called Ferry Street, today's South Warren Street; the Continental Army Camp was most likely along the west side of South Broad Street between Ferry and Federal Streets, but it is also possible that it was further south closer to Lamberton.

During the late eighteenth century, there were three and possibly four ferry locations on the Delaware in Trenton and Lambert, but the two main ferries in use in 1781-1783 were the Trenton Ferry and Bond's (or Lower) Ferry operated by Hugh Runyon in the 1780s. American and French forces camped close to, and made use of, this ferry located at the end of Ferry Street as well as the near-by ford to cross the river.
Other potential Witness Sites in Trenton include the Eagle Tavern at 431 Broad Street, a private home owned by the Waln family in 1781-83, and enlarged for use as a tavern in the early nineteenth century.

Friends Meeting House on 151 Mercer Street. Quakers had settled at the falls of the Delaware, in 1679.

St. Michael's Church (1747) on 140 North Warren Street. Originally known as the English Church, St. Michael's is one of the oldest religious houses in Mercer County. Because its members were split between loyalist and patriot St. Michael's did not have religious services during the Revolutionary War

Alexander Douglass House (1766) Alexander Douglass served as Quarter Master to the Continental Army; on 2 January 1777, Douglass's home served as the General's headquarters. The Douglass House originally stood at on Broad Street but was moved within town four times and is now in Mill Hill Park.

First Presbyterian Church - While the current church building was not on its East State Street site at the time of the Revolution, the burial yards that flank it were. Buried here are some 150 Hessians who died in the First Battle of Trenton, including Colonel Johann Rall.

109) Red Bank Battlefield Park
    100 Hessian Avenue
    National Park, N. J. 08063

On 22 October 1777, Americans forces successfully defended Fort Mercer, an earthen fort erected as one of three military installations to guard the river approach to Philadelphia harbor and the communities along the Delaware River, in the Battle of the Red Bank. Their success delayed the opening of the Delaware River as a route of supply for General Howe's army, which had occupied Philadelphia on 26 September 1778.

As Washington left Philadelphia in the morning of 5 September 1781, Rochambeau decided to makes a detour to see Red Bank with Fort Mercer, Fort Billingsport and Fort Mifflin on Mud Island. Visits such sites formed part of the continuing education process for his senior officers and his aides. Rochambeau was accompanied by Artillery Captain Mauduit du Plessis, who had been in command of the American artillery at Fort Mercer as a lieutenant colonel in the Continental Army during the British siege of 1777.

According to Baron Closen's and comte de Lauberdière's account, the group started its excursion at Fort Mifflin, and then continued on to Fort Mercer and Fort Mifflin. Red Bank with Fort Mercer and Fort Billingsport lie on the New Jersey side of the river.
Route 13:

Route of Commissaire de guerre Granville in September 1781

On 15 August 1781, the French frigate Magicienne under the chevalier de la Bouchetiére arrived in Boston with 1,800,000 livres in cash for Rochambeau. Nine days later, on 24 August, Rochambeau from his headquarters in King's Ferry ordered Major Louis Aimable de Prez de Crassier of the Royal Deux-Ponts, who was stationed with 104 officers and men in Providence to guard the French stores, to furnish a detachment of one lieutenant and 24 men to Commissaire de guerre Jean Baptiste Louis Jujardy de Granville to go to Boston to retrieve these funds. Granville and the detachment under his command were to escort the funds from Boston via Springfield to New Windsor. From New Windsor they were to take the route to Chester, Warwick, Sussex Court House, Hacketstown and Coryell's Ferry to Philadelphia. The dates of the departure of this transport from Boston and of its arrival in Philadelphia as well as the places where the transport stayed overnight are not known. The knowledge of the arrival of these funds (together with the funds he knew de Grasse was bringing from Cuba) allowed Rochambeau to advance to Washington the funds the American needed urgently to pay his troops at Head of Elk on 8 September 1781.

In December 1782, Rochambeau followed an almost identical route (Route 21) to Philadelphia. For potential stopping places of de Granville's convoy see the resources listed under Route 21.

2 Launched in Toulon in 1778, the Magicienne carried 32 guns. Shortly thereafter as it was sailing from Boston to Portsmouth, New Hampshire, the British 50-gun-ship Chatham overtook her after a long chase on 2 September 1781, and forced her to strike her colors after a 30-minute fight in which she lost 32 killed and 86 wounded. The surviving crew of the Magicienne was returned to Boston by a flag from Halifax on 10 October 1781. See Historical Society of Pennsylvania AM 6553, p. 30. When she ran aground in the harbor of Grand-Port, Isle-de-France, on 23 August 1810, her crew set her on fire to avoid her falling into the hands of the French.

3 The arrival of the "Magician, accompanied by a transport laden with clothing for the Continental army" is reported in the Newport Mercury for 18 August 1781. A few days later, on 25 August, John Laurens also sailed into Boston harbor with additional funds and supplies for Washington. He arrived in Philadelphia in the evening of 2 September. Gregory D. Massey, John Laurens and the American Revolution (Columbia, 2000), p. 190. The total valued of these supplies was almost 2.3 million livres and the equivalent of about 500.00 Spanish milled dollars in silver. Morris used more then half it, some 254,000 dollars, to establish the Bank of North America. "Fourteen wagons hauled by fifty-six oxen and lead horses conveyed the specie to Philadelphia," where it arrived only on 6 November. Ibid., p. 191.

4 The correspondence listing the amount of funds and the route to Philadelphia is contained in the Rochambeau Papers, Library of Congress, vol. 9.

119) Campsite of the New York Line on 5/6 December 1781
"one mile from town."
Trenton, NJ 08611

Retracing the route they had taken a few months earlier, and possibly following two days behind the New Jersey Line, the New York regiments marched on the same route the French forces and the Second New York Regiment had taken in August 1781.

The exact location of this campsite is unknown but most likely identical with the campsite of the Light Infantry of 30 November/1 December.

120) Campsite of the New York Line of 6/7 December 1781
"near Genl Herds" i.e., General Nathaniel Heard.

The exact location of this campsite is unknown.

121) Campsite of the New York Line of 7/8 December 1781
"Continued our march to Rariton River Steels Gap Near Bown Brook and Encamped."
Bridgewater, NJ 08807

"Steels Gap" is probably Steeles Tavern; there is also a Steel Gap Road in Middlebrook.

The camp could either be that of the Virginia Troops of 1778/79 to the west of the Middlebrook Gap or, more likely, that of the Maryland Camp of 1778/79 to the east of the gap on Gilbridge Road off of NJ-CR 527. Middlebrook was a small village west of Bound Brook, at the foot of Vosseller Avenue along West Main Street. The 1778/79 encampments were north of the village, at the gap into the Watchung Mountains just east of the junction of Routes 22 and 287.

this itinerary indicates that at Millstone the New York Line continued on the route the Second New York Regiment had taken from Chatham in August 1781.

122) Campsite of the New York Line of 8/9 December 1781
"to the half moon Tavern and Encamped."

The location of the "Half Moon Tavern" is unknown. It was somewhere north of Bullion's Tavern between Liberty Corner and Morristown.
Following the one night encampment at Bound Brook, the New York Line most likely continued north out of Bound Brook on either King George or Mt. Horeb Road to Mt. Bethel and then on Stone House Road to Lyons. Here it rejoined the French route of 1781 to Morristown and to its camp.

123) Campsite of the New York Line on 9/10 and 10/11 December 1781
Near Rockaway River

The exact location of the campsite is unknown.

124) Campsite of the New York Line on 11 to 14 December 1781
Pompton Plains, NJ 07444

Here the columns stopped moving, "the snow being about Eight Inches Deep."

The exact location of the campsite is unknown.

125) Winter Quarters of the New York Line
"moved on to their Hutting Ground at Pequanneck."
Pompton Plains, New Jersey 07444

Pequannok is south of Pompton Plains. The regiments most likely quartered in the huts that had served the New Jersey Line as winter quarters during the winter of 1780/81. The regiment stayed there from 14 December 1781 to August 1782. The exact location of these huts is unknown.

Colonel van Cordlandt made his headquarters in the Curtis' Tavern, the "Little Yellow House."
Route 17:

Return Route New Jersey Regiments during November and December 1781

Unlike for the New York regiments, there is no source that details the route of the two New Jersey regiments to Morristown, where they spent the winter. Though it is known that the New Jersey regiments were ordered "take Post somewhere in the Vicinity of Morristown," for their winter cantonment, it is unknown how they marched there or when they arrived at Morristown. But it is fair to assume that the troops accompanied and followed the route (or possibly preceded) of the two New York Regiments and quite possible that they were housed in the old Pennsylvania Line huts at Mount Kemble.

127) Tempe Wick House
   Tempe Wick Road, about 325 feet west of intersection with Jockey Hollow Road
   Morristown, NJ 07960

   The winter quarters are part of Morristown NHP.
Route 18:

Return Route French Army during September 1782

In most cases, i.e., in Somerset, the campsite are not on the identical site of the 1781 march, though they are in close vicinity to the 1781 sites. Since the Second French Brigade camped on the same sites as the First Brigade, their campsites have not been listed separately. The occasional bivouacs of the grenadiers and chasseurs in locations identified in terms such as "200 yards in front of the camp" have not been listed as separate sites.

128) Campsite of the French Army of 4/8 September 1782
Trenton, NJ 08611

The campsite is identical with the campsite of the 1781 march.

Verger recorded "Via Bristol to the Delaware, which we crossed near Trenton - 18 miles. The artillery forded the river. We camped to the left of Trenton and stayed there three days."

Route 19:

Return Route of Lauzun's Legion during September 1782

Just like for the march to the southward in 1781, French quartermasters drew sketches of the campsites, but there are no detailed route descriptions as they exist for the 1781 march. Rather the description in the official "Journal de la Campagne 1782" in the Rochambeau Papers is quite brief:

"The army crossed the Jerseys in two columns. The Legion of Lauzun under the orders of the comte de Dillon formed that of the right. It marched without its train and bivouaced, via Brunswick, Scottland [i.e., Scotch Plains?], Chatham, Forks [of the Passaic?] and Tortowa [sic] behind the chain of the mountains that separated it from us, from where one can discern Staten-island and New York. During which time the army marched within reach to support it as well as informed by it on the other side of the same mountains on the route it had taken the preceding year."\(^5\)

Rochambeau's infantry did indeed take virtually the same route across New Jersey it had marched in 1781, but for once again there is conflicting information for the route taken by Lauzun's Legion. A description in chart form of the routes taken across New Jersey has the Legion camp in Trenton on 2/3 September and reach Kingston on 3 September. Here it took a four-day rest until 8 September, when it left for New Brunswick. From New Brunswick it reached Scotch Plains on 9 September and Chatham on 10 September, where it rested for a day. The following day it reached the "Forks" and on 13 September rested at Pompton Meeting House, where it joined up with the Brigade Bourbonnais consisting of the Bourbonnais and the Royal Deux-Ponts. On 14 September, these troops camped in Suffern.\(^6\) A look at the map not only makes it unlikely that the Legion would have gone from the Forks to Pompton via the Falls of the Passaic and Paterson. More importantly, once it had reached Pompton, the Legion would no longer have been able to fulfill its mission of covering the flank of the infantry.

A third route for the Legion is outlined by Baron Closen. Following its two day rest at Chatham, he assigns the Legion a camp site on 11/12 September 1782 at "Fock River, junction of three rivers." If Closen meant indeed the Fock River, the men of the Legion, marching and riding north on Ramapo Valley Road, turned onto what is today Glen Gray Road at the Oakland Township line to their camp at Fock River. In order to reach Paramus the next day, they would have had to backtrack briefly to Fike Road, which they had passed the previous day. Another possibility is that Closen really meant the Forks of the Passaic when he wrote

\(^6\) The "Suite de la Marche de l'Armée partant de Trenton pour se rendre à King's Ferry sur la Riviere du Nord, en trois Divisions seulement" are taken from the Rochambeau Papers in the Library of Congress, vol. 3.
Fock River from where the Legion would have been on track for a camp at Paramus via the Falls of the Passaic at Totowa on 12/13 September and possibly as late as 15 September 1782.

Such a route also is suggested by Closen's journal entry for 14 September. Closen does not mention that the Legion joined with the First Brigade but rather writes under 14 September that "The Lauzun legion is always some miles to our right. The General [i.e., Rochambeau] while passing through Kiakia [i.e., Kakeat, modern-day New Hempstead in New York State], 7 miles from the North River, inspected a camp that the legion will occupy until the whole army has crossed this river. The position will guard the only two roads coming from the enemy's side, one along the river and the other from the region called the Clove." 7 The date of arrival in Kakeat is unknown, but if Rochambeau inspected a camp for the Legion as late as 14 September, 15 September suggests itself the earliest date of arrival. 8 Such an itinerary which took the Legion from New Brunswick to Scotch Plains, Chatham, the Forks of the Passaic/Mountain View, Totowa/Paterson and Paramus to Kakeat/New Hempstead would have best met the strategic needs of Rochambeau, but it rests on a composite of information available in different sources rather than a single account.

134) Campsite of the Legion of 2/3 September 1782
Bordentown Road
Trenton, NJ 08611

The exact location of this campsite is unknown, it was however most likely the site along Bordentown Road that had been used by American and French forces before.

135) Campsite of the Legion from 3 to 7 September 1782
"on a height overlooking the Brunswick Road."
Kingston, NJ 08528

The exact location of this campsite is unknown, perhaps near the junction of NJ-SR 27 and NJ-SR 518.

136) Campsite of the Legion on 7/8 September 1782
"behind a bridge across the Raritan River."
New Brunswick, NJ 08899

The exact location of this campsite is unknown but was most likely identical with the campsite of General Lincoln's column of 29/30 August 1781, at Raritan Landing along River Road and in Buccleogh Park between George Street and NJ-SR 527 (Easton Avenue) New Brunswick.

7 Acomb, Closen, p. 239.
8 Lauzun's Legion did not cross the Hudson until 19 September 1782. Acomb, Closen, p. 241.
137) Campsite of the Legion on 8/9 September 1782
Scotch Plains, NJ 07076

The exact location of this campsite is unknown.

138) Campsite of the Legion of 9 to 11 September 1782
"at the entrance to the passes that lead to Chatham facing the plain and the road to New York."
Chatham, NJ 07928

Closen described the position as "behind the river on an eminence facing the road to Springfield, the famous position that General Greene had defended and guarded for a long time with inferior forces." This reference to the Battle of Springfield of places the camp on or very near the same ground that the New Jersey regiments had occupied during the march to Yorktown in August 1781.

139) Campsite of the Legion on 11/12 September 1782
"Fock River, junction of three rivers."

Marching and riding north on Ramapo Valley Road, the men of the Legion turned onto what is today Glen Gray Road at the Oakland Township line to the Fock River. In order to reach Paramus the next day, they had to backtrack briefly to Fike Road, which they had passed the previous day.

Note: An alternative possible campsite for that night as suggested above is at the Forks of the Passaic/Two Bridges area, possibly near Mountain View where Continental Army troops had camped on 25/26 August 1781.

140) Campsite of the Legion on 12/13 September 1782
near Paramus

The exact location of the campsite is unknown. Lauzun's Legion may have camped here until 19 September when it finally crossed the Hudson at Peekskill.
Route 20:

Lauzun's Legion Route to Wilmington during October to December 1782

The march of Lauzun's Legion through New Jersey from October to December 1782 is the least-known of all march routes. Lauzun left Crompond/Yorktown Heights in New York some time after 21 October 1782, the date of Rochambeau's instructions to him. Lauzun had orders to follow the route that the French army had taken in 1781 and 1782, and though it seems reasonable to assume that the Legion stopped at the same locations it had stopped at before, no primary-source evidence exists for a campsite before the camp at Whippany/Hanover.

141) Campsite of Lauzun's Legion from 26 to (at least) 1 November 1782
Whippany, NJ 07981

Though it is unknown, it is likely that Lauzun encamped on the same spot that had already been used twice before.

By 9 November 1782, at the latest, Lauzun and his Legion are in Burlington, where it quarters from 9 (?) November to 21 (?) December 1782 in the barracks on East Broad Street at Assicunk Creek.
Route 21:

Route of Rochambeau to Baltimore via Newton, Hackettstown, Baptistown and Philadelphia for Baltimore and France in December 1782

The only eyewitness account of Rochambeau's journey through New Jersey is contained in the journal de guerre by his aide-de-camp, the comte de Lauberdière.

Only a few of the sites mentioned for the New Jersey portion of the journey in this journal have been identified. Francis Baird's Tavern where the group spent the night of 8/9 December, is located in Warwick, New York. Lauberdière as well as the chevalier de Chastellux, however, also mention another "Beard's Tavern" across the New Jersey State Line possibly in Vernon, where the group breakfasted on 9 December 1782, which has not been identified.

Next the group most likely spent the night of 9/10 December in the tavern kept by Jonathan Willis at Sussex County Courthouse. The tavern is no longer standing but there is a Court House on the site where the 1764 courthouse stood.

The next landmark mentioned, about six miles from Newton and ten miles from Hackettstown, is "Petitt's Tavern", which is also no longer standing. Next came Hackettstown, then, after another 12 miles, Johnson's Mill and finally after six more miles of travel, the group reached "Burkirt's Tavern" on the left side of the road. Here the group spent the night of 9/10 December. Neither Johnson's Mill nor Burkirt's Tavern have been identified.

From there it was six miles to "Pitchtown", i.e., Pittstown, another four miles to Baptisttown, and then came Hart's Tavern five miles from the Delaware River, where they had lunch. Next they crossed the Delaware at "Robert's Sons Ferry" and spent the night of 11/12 December 1782, at "Benet's Tavern" in Richboro in Pennsylvania. Pittstown was known as Hofftown or Hoff's Mill after Lawrence Hoff, an early settler of the area, and is identified under that name in the 1777 Faden map. After 1781, John Rockhill ran a tavern which was reopened in 1801 as the Century Inn by Moore Furman, New Jersey's Revolutionary War Deputy 9 Chastellux (as well as Martha Washington) also stayed at this inn, the second oldest home in Warwick, built by Francis Baird in 1766. It is still standing at the intersection of Colonial Avenue, Main Street and Maple Avenue. See Chastellux, Travels, Rice, ed., vol. 2, p. 517 and p. 642, fn. 22. A Mr. Smith was renting the tavern from Baird at the time.

10 On 20 November 1753, Jonathan Pettit applied for a tavern license in Hardwick (now Frelinghuysen) Township in what is today Johnsonburg in Warren County. Johnsonburg became county seat of Sussex in 1753, under the name of "The Log Jail." Courts were held in the tavern of Jonathan Pettit, who had built a row of log houses as annexes to his tavern. The "Log jail" was the first county building erected for Sussex County and remained County seat until a courthouse was built in Newton in 1763 and the county seat was moved there. It is identified as "Walpack" in the William Faden map.

11 The name was changed during the revolution to honor William Pitt, Earl of Chatham.
Quartermaster General. Furman owned most of the village grounds and used it as a supply depot for the Continental Army. The house is still used as a tavern.

Baptistown, the next stop on the road, was founded in 1742 by the Bethlehem Baptist Church in what is today Kingwood Township. Hart's Tavern has not been identified. Neither has "Robert's Sons Ferry," though it may be a misspelling for Reading's Ferry (Howell's Ferry on the Faden map), in today's Stockton north of Lambertville. Having crossed the Delaware there, the group rode on through Buckingham and Benet's Tavern in Richboro, Pennsylvania, where the group spent the night of 11/12 December, whence they traveled on to Philadelphia and dinner with French ambassador the chevalier de la Luzerne on the evening of 12 December 1782.

In modern terms, such a route means that Rochambeau and his party entered New Jersey on NJ-SR 94, which they follow through McAfee, Hamburg and Monroe to Newton, where they spend the night. Continuing on NJ-CR 519 to Johnsonburg, where they probably turned south-east on NJ-CR 612, Johnsonburg Road, toward Allamuchy, where they entered NJ-CR 517, the old Hacketstown Road toward Hackettstown. From Hackettstown they continued on NJ-SR 57 through Changewater to NJ-SR 31 to NJ-CR 513 to Hoff's Mills, i.e., Pittstown and Everittstown. Here they turned south on NJ-CR 519 to Baptistown and Stockton, where they crossed the Delaware to Pennsylvania.

Based on this information, four Witness Sites have been identified:

13 The village was renamed Stockton in 1851, and incorporated in 1898. The Stockton Inn, formally known as Colligan's Stockton Inn, was established in 1710.
14 Richboro at the intersection of PA-SR 232 and PA-SR 332 was known in the eighteenth century as "Bennetts" or "The Bear" or "The Black Bear" after its famous tavern and sign.

RESOURCE SURVEY FORMS

Resource 1

Name: Old Paramus Reformed Church

Location: 660 E. Glen Avenue
Ridgewood, NJ 07450

Historical Significance:

Coming from Sneeden's Landing, Moses Hazen's Regiment and the New Jersey Line encamp in the vicinity of this church on 19/20 August 1781. Hazen encamped "about 2 Miles from [i.e., north of] the Church", the New Jersey Line about one mile south of the church.¹ The exact location of the campsites is unknown, though in the case of the New Jersey Line the location was most likely at or near the Zabrieskie Mill. (See Resource 2)

¹ For a detailed list of sources that form the basis of this, and all other, identifications, the reader is referred to Part 3 of this survey, CHRONOLOGY OF THE MARCHES THROUGH NEW JERSEY IN AUGUST AND SEPTEMBER 1781.
Note: Desirable as that may be, it turned out impossible within the parameters of this resource inventory to list every seventeenth or eighteenth-century home still standing in New Jersey that American and French forces might have seen or have marched past. Addresses and route patterns are those of 2005; it is understood that they are only occasionally identical with those of 1781 and 1782.

Sites that were visited consecutively by detachments of the Continental Army and/or the French Army in August 1781, or during the return march of either the Continental Army in December 1781, or the French Army in 1782, they have only been listed once. In some cases the exact location of the campsites is unknown.
Resource 2

Name: Zabriskie-Steuben House

Location: Intersection of Main Street and Hackensack Avenue
River Edge, NJ 07661

Historical Significance:

Jan Zabriskie purchased the property at New Bridge in 1745 and erected a sandstone mansion nearby in 1752, overlooking his gristmill and wharf. It is today part of River Edge in Bergen County. In September 1780, Washington made the Zabriskie House his headquarters. Zabrieskie was a loyalist who had his property confiscated. At the end of the war the State of New Jersey presented Zabriskies' New Bridge estate to General Steuben. In order to cover his debts, Steuben in turn re-sold it in December 1788, to the son of the loyalist from whom it had been confiscated. The State of New Jersey acquired the Zabriskie-Steuben House in 1928 as a State Historic Site.²

Coming from Sneeden's Landing, Moses Hazen's Regiment and the New Jersey Line encamp in the vicinity of this church on 19/20 August 1781. Hazen encamped "about 2 Miles from [i.e., north of] the Church", the New Jersey Line about one mile south of the church. The exact location of the campsites is unknown, though in the case of the New Jersey Line the location was most likely at or near the Zabrieskie Mill.

Name: Ringwood Manor

Location: Sloatsburg Road (NJ-SR 72)
Ringwood, NJ 07456

Historical Significance: Witness Site

For a contemporary description see the account by the chevalier de Chastellux who visited here on his way to Newburgh in December 1780.

Born in 1716 in Remscheid in the Ruhr Valley in Germany, iron-master Peter Hasenclever (1716-1793) emigrated in 1764, to New Jersey, where he purchased the Ringwood Ironworks, established by the Ogden family in 1742, for a group of British investors in 1765.

The following year 1766, Hasenclever founded the Long Pond Iron Works on a 55,000 acre tract that became part of the 150,000+ acre holdings of the British-owned American Company managed by Hasenclever. By 1767, its holdings had grown to include furnaces in Charlotteburg, New Jersey, opened in 1766 on the Pequannock River, Cortland, New York, and a pearl-ash and potash manufactory in New Petersburg, i.e., East Schuyler, in Herkimer County, where Hasenclever and eighteen others obtained a grant of 18,000 acres in 1769.
To work the blast furnaces and forges of his enterprises, Hasenclever imported 535 German miners between 1764 and 1767. These miners and their families cleared forests, built homes, constructed roads, and assembled furnaces and forges. At Long Pond, they dammed the river to provide waterpower year round for the blast furnaces. One of many innovations introduced by Hasenclever was lining the furnaces with durable slate and roofing the works for protection from the weather.

All of this cost more money (he expended £ 54,000 instead of the £ 40,000 allotted to him) than Hasenclever's investors wanted to spend. Deeming his plans too grandiose and expensive, they sent iron-master Jeston Humfray to replace Hasenclever in 1767. Humfray in turn was replaced by Johann Jacob Faesch (1729-1799) of Basel, who had arrived in New York in June 1764, with the a group of about 200 workers. In 1768, Faesch took over the Charlotteburg works, and in 1769, when Hasenclever returned to England, the works at Long Pond as well. Faesch served until the arrival in June 1771 of Scotsman Robert Erskine, the future geographer and surveyor-general of the Continental Army. Erskine, who was born on 7 September 1735, died on 2 October 1780. He was succeeded by Simeon deWitt as Surveyor General. Faesch left the service of the American Company in June 1772, and purchased the Mt Hope Ironworks in Morris County, New Jersey. When Hasenclever returned to Europe to defend his reputation contra his investors, he left behind the most complete economic-industrial unit in America at that time. He died in Landshut in Silesia in 1793.

Operated throughout the nineteenth and twentieth centuries -- Martin J. Ryerson purchased Ringwood in 1807; in 1854, Cooper Hewitt bought the works and amassed the sixth-largest fortune in America during and after the Civil War -- the Ringwood mines and furnaces ceased operation in 1957. Today, Ringwood Manor houses the Hewitt family's splendid collection of furnishings, firearms, Hudson River School paintings, prints and lithographs; Long Pond became a State Park in 1987.

Contributed by Richard Hrazanek, Feb 14, 2002 [rhrazanek@yahoo.com].

The cemetery is on the West side of Ramapo Valley Road directly left of the historic Laroe-Van Horn House, between River View Terrace and Halifax Road. It is visible from the road.

I walked and recorded this cemetery on Dec 29, 2001. This small family burial ground is located on land owned by Ramapo State College.

Today only a few stones remain. One looked as if it had been professionally restored. An older recording done around the early 1900's had around 60 listings. I made a complete listing and came up with 12 names.

Name: Andrew Hopper House Site/Henry O. Havemeyer House

Location: 510 Ramapo Valley Road
            Mahwah, NJ 07430

Historical Significance:

The Havemeyer House stands on the site of the Andrew Hopper House. It is today the home of the President of Ramapo College.

"The Andrew Hopper House was the home of Patriot Andrew Hopper and his wife, Maria LaRoe Hopper. They lived here during the Revolutionary War and afterwards. Built in 1764 by Andrew’s father, Willem A., it is believed that the house was also used as a Colonial tavern. It served as the main House for the farm. All indications are that it was prosperous and the Hoppers had several slaves to help with the farm work. It was visited and used at least six times from 1777 to 1781 by General George Washington, his officers, bodyguards and his aides-de-camp. … After the War the structure was called Hopper’s Inn, housing a bar and furnishings for a tavern. Tax records for 1778 and 1779 list Jacob Bogert and Andrew Hopper as tavern owners.”

The current building dates to the nineteenth century.

3 Unpublished lectures notes of a lecture presented at the Hermitage on 30 November 2005, kindly provided to me by Mrs. Joan L. Dater.
Henry Osborn Havemeyer (1876-1965) was the son of Theodore A. Havemeyer (1839-1897) and grandson of Frederick Christian Havemeyer (1774-1841), who had immigrated from the principality of Schaumburg-Lippe in 1802 and together with his brother William (1770-1851) had established their first sugar refinery on Vandam Street in Lower Manhattan in 1805. Unable to fix prices in New York City in 1882, Henry O. Havemeyer and his brother Theodore in 1887 formed the Sugar Refineries Company, known as the Sugar Trust, which was incorporated the American Sugar Refining Company in New Jersey in 1891 with headquarters in the City on Wall Street.

As co-owner of the American Sugar Refining Company, Havemeyer was one of the wealthiest Americans at the turn of the century. By 1907, the Sugar Trust controlled 98% of the US sugar production.

Historical Significance:

The Chatham House was owned by Jacob Morrell in 1781, when Washington lodged from 27-29 August.

Morrell's housekeeper was Elizabeth Thompson. See: George Washington's note dated

Chatham, 28 August 1781.

Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, housekeeper at headquarters. "Received Chatham State of N Jersey. 28th of August 1781, from His Excellency General Washington
Twenty five Guineas in Specie, being on Account for what is due to me from the Public for my Services whilst in the Family of the Genl. I say received. Elizabeth her X mark Thompson. Teste Jona Trumbull Jur Secty."

The Morrell House, Chatham's most significant early building, was built in 1740 at a time when the village had only about 25 buildings. It is today occupied by a restaurant.

In 1773, the area was named Chatham in honor of the English Prime Minister, Sir William Pitt, Earl of Chatham.

The Ramapo Reformed Church succeeded two German Lutheran meeting houses, ca. 1720-1735. The area was called the “Island.” Dutch Calvinists came at mid-century and, in 1708, organized The Dutch Reformed Congregation at Ramapough in Bergen County. In 1798, the Dutch Reformed and Lutherans built the present church. They started it using “1 lock & 2 keys” until the Lutherans left in 1846 to build a church at Airmont, N.Y. The “Island” was the center of Mahwah until the coming of the railroad in the mid-1860’s. The Ramapo Reformed Church (“Island Church” or Community Church) is the oldest of two wood-frame Federal period church buildings remaining in Bergen County, and the only surviving early church building in the county with a history of shared ownership and use. In 1988, the Ramapo Reformed Church celebrated 200 years of continuous ministry.

The Lower Ferry was at the end of what was called Ferry Street, today's South Warren Street; the Continental Army Camp was most likely along the west side of South Broad Street between Ferry and Federal Streets, but it is also possible that it was further south closer to Lamberton.

During the late eighteenth century, there were three and possibly four ferry locations on the Delaware in Trenton and Lamberton, but the two main ferries in use in 1781-1783 were the Trenton Ferry and Bond's (or Lower) Ferry operated by Hugh Runyon in the 1780s. American and French forces camped close to, and made use of; this ferry located at the end of Ferry Street as well as the near-by ford to cross the river.

        New Brunswick, NJ 08901

Historical Significance:

Buccleugh Mansion was built in 1739 by Anthony White, son-in-law of Lewis Morris and a colonial governor of New Jersey. Continental Army troops camped here on 29/30 August 1781 on the way to Yorktown.

After the revolution, it was owned by Colonel Charles Stewart and was visited by several prominent men, such as George Washington, Alexander Hamilton, General Kosciusko, General Gates, and John Hancock. Today it is the headquarters of the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.
Resource 104

Name: Campsite of the Second New York Regiment

Location: The location of the "Half Moon Tavern" is unknown.

It was somewhere north of Bullion's Tavern between Liberty Corner and Morristown.

Historical Significance:

The Second New York Regiment encamped here on 30/31 August 1781.

Resource 105

Name: Campsite of the Second New York Regiment

Location: six miles south of Basking Ridge about half-way between Liberty Corners and Martinsville

Historical Significance:

The exact location of the campsite is unknown. The Second New York Regiment camped here from 31 August to 1 September 1781.

Resource 106

Name: Campsite of the Second New York Regiment

Name: Embarkation site for Continental Army forces in Trenton

Location: Embarkation site for Continental Army forces in Trenton
Trenton Landing
between Landing and Lalor Streets, (vicinity of Route 29 Tunnel)
Trenton, NJ 08648

Historical Significance:

During the 1780s, Trenton Landing (Lamberton) between modern Landing and Lalor Streets was the location of several wharves and was the most likely place of embarkation for the Continental Army. Once on board the vessels, the detachments did not land again until they had reached Philadelphia.

Green Bank was the seat of William Franklin, the only son of Benjamin Franklin, who became royal governor of New Jersey at the age of thirty-two upon his return to America in 1763.

Resource 119

64) Name: Campsite of the New York Line on 5/6 December 1781

Location: "one mile from town."
Trenton, NJ 08611

Historical Significance:

Retracing the route they had taken a few months earlier, and possibly following two days behind the New Jersey Line, the New York regiments marched on the same route the French forces and the Second New York Regiment had taken in August 1781.

The exact location of this campsite is unknown but most likely identical with the campsite of the Light Infantry of 30 November/1 December.
Resource 120

Name: Campsite of the New York Line of 6/7 December 1781
Location: "near Genl Herds" i.e., New Jersey native General Nathaniel Heard.
Historical Significance:

The exact location of this campsite is unknown.

Resource 121

Name: Campsite of the New York Line of 7/8 December 1781
Location: "Continued our march to Rariton River Steels Gap Near Bown Brook and Encamped."
Bridgewater, NJ 08807

"Steeles Gap" is probably Steeles Tavern; there is also a Steel Gap Road in Middlebrook.

Historical Significance:

The camp could either be that of the Virginia Troops of 1778/79 to the west of the Middlebrook Gap or, more likely, that of the Maryland Camp of 1778/79 to the east of the gap on Gilbridge Road off of NJ-CR 527. Middlebrook was a small village west of Bound Brook, at the foot of Vosseller Avenue along West Main Street. The 1778/79 encampments were north of the village, at the gap into the Watchung Mountains just east of the junction of Routes 22 and 287.

→ this itinerary indicates that at Millstone the New York Line continued on the route the Second New York Regiment had taken from Chatham in August 1781.
Resource 122

Name: Campsite of the New York Line of 8/9 December 1781

Location: "to the half moon Tavern and Encamped."

Historical Significance:

The exact location of the "Half Moon Tavern", about three miles south of Morristown, is unknown.

Following the one night encampment at Bound Brook, the New York Line most likely continued north out of Bound Brook on either King George or Mt. Horeb Road to Mt. Bethel and then on Stone House Road to Lyons. Here it rejoined the French route of 1781 to Morristown and to its camp.

Resource 123

Name: Campsite of the New York Line on 9/10 and 10/11 December 1781

Location: Near Rockaway River

Historical Significance:

The exact location of the campsite is unknown.

Resource 124

Name: Campsite of the New York Line on 11 to 14 December 1781

Location: Pompton Plains, NJ 07444

Historical Significance:

Here the columns stopped moving, "the snow being about Eight Inches Deep."

The exact location of the campsite is unknown.
Resource 125

Name: Winter Quarters of the New York Line

Location: "moved on to their Hutting Ground at Pequanneck."
Pompton Plains, NJ 07444

Historical Significance:

Pequannok is south of Pompton Plains. The regiments most likely quartered in the huts that had served the New Jersey Line as winter quarters during the winter of 1780/81. The regiment stayed there from 14 December 1781 to August 1782. The exact location of these huts is unknown.

Colonel van Cordlandt made his headquarters in the "Little Yellow House."

Resource 126

Name: Winter Quarters of the New Jersey Brigade, 1781 to 1782.

Location: About 1,200 feet southwest of the junction of Tempe Wick and Jockey Hollow Roads
Morristown, NJ 07960

Historical Significance:

The Brigade remained there until 29 August 1782, when it marched to King's Ferry.

Resource 127

Name: Tempe Wick House

Location: Tempe Wick Road, about 325 feet west of intersection with Jockey Hollow Road
Morristown, NJ 07960

Historical Significance:

The winter quarters are part of Morristown NHP.
Resource 128

Name: Campsite of the French Army

Location: Trenton, NJ 08611

Historical Significance:

The French Army encamped here from 4 to 8 September 1782 on the march back from Virginia.

The campsite is almost identical with the campsite of the 1781 march.

Verger recorded "Via Bristol to the Delaware, which we crossed near Trenton - 18 miles. The artillery forded the river. We camped to the left of Trenton and stayed there three days."

Resource 129

Name: Campsite of the First Brigade of the French Army

Location: Princeton, NJ 08540

Historical Significance:

The First Brigade of the French Army encamped here on 7/8 September 1782 on the march back from Virginia. The Second Brigade followed the next day.

Resource 130

Name: Campsite of the First Brigade of the French Army

Location: Somerset Courthouse
i.e., Millstone, NJ 08835

Historical Significance:

The First Brigade of the French Army encamped here on 8/9 September 1782 on the march back from Virginia. The Second Brigade followed the next day.
Resource 131

Name: Campsite of the First Brigade of the French Army

Bernards, NJ 07920

Historical Significance:

The First Brigade of the French Army encamped here on 9/10 September 1782 on the march back from Virginia. The Second Brigade followed the next day.

Resource 132

Name: Campsite of the French Army

Location: Whippany, NJ 07981

Historical Significance:

The French Army encamped here on 10/12 September 1782 on the march back from Virginia.

Just like the previous year the French army camped for two days at Whippany.

Resource 133

Name: Campsite of the First Brigade of the French Army

Location: Pompton, NJ 07444

Historical Significance:

The First Brigade of the French Army encamped here on 12/13 September 1782 on the march back from Virginia. The Second Brigade followed the next day.
Resource 134

Name: Campsite of Lauzun's Legion

Location: Bordentown Road
          Trenton, NJ 08611

Historical Significance:

   Lauzun's Legion encamped here on 2/3 September 1782 on the march back from Virginia.

   The exact location of this campsite is unknown, it was most likely a site along Bordentown Road that had been used by American and French forces before.

Resource 135

Name: Campsite of Lauzun's Legion from 3 to 7 September 1782

Location: "on a height overlooking the Brunswick Road."
          Kingston, NJ 08528

Historical Significance:

   Lauzun's Legion encamped here from 3 to 7 September 1782 on the march back from Virginia. The exact location of this campsite is unknown, perhaps near the junction of NJ-SR 27 and NJ-SR 518.

Resource 136

Name: Campsite of Lauzun's Legion on 7/8 September 1782

Location: "behind a bridge across the Raritan River."
          New Brunswick, NJ 08899

Historical Significance:

   The exact location of this campsite is unknown but was most likely identical with the campsite of General Lincoln's column of 29/30 August 1781, at Raritan Landing along River Road and in Buccleuch Park between George Street and NJ-SR 527 (Easton Avenue) New Brunswick.
Resource 137

Name: Campsite of Lauzun's Legion
Location: Scotch Plains, NJ 07076

Historical Significance:

Lauzun's Legion encamped here on 8/9 September 1782 on the march back from Virginia.

The exact location of this campsite is unknown.

Resource 138

Name: Campsite of the Legion of 9 to 11 September 1782
Location: "at the entrance to the passes that lead to Chatham facing the plain and the road to New York." Chatham, NJ 07928

Historical Significance:

Baron Closen described the position as "behind the river on an eminence facing the road to Springfield, the famous position that General Greene had defended and guarded for a long time with inferior forces." This reference to the Battle of Springfield of places the camp very close to, if not on the same ground, that the New Jersey regiments had occupied during the march to Yorktown in August 1781.

Resource 139

Name: Campsite of the Legion on 11/12 September 1782
Location: "Fock River, junction of three rivers."

Historical Significance:

Lauzun's Legion encamped here on 8/9 September 1782 on the march back from Virginia.
Marching and riding north on Ramapo Valley Road, the men of the Legion turned onto what is today Glen Gray Road at the Oakland Township line to the Fock River. In order to reach Paramus the next day, they had to backtrack briefly to Fike Road, which they had passed the previous day.

Resource 140

Name: Campsite of the Legion on 12/13 September 1782

Location: near Paramus

Historical Significance:

The exact location of the campsite is unknown.
Resource 141

Name: Campsite of Lauzun's Legion from 26 to (at least) 1 November 1782

Location: Whippany, NJ 07981

Historical Significance:

Though it is unknown, it is likely that Lauzun encamped on the same spot that had already been used twice before.

Additional campsites of the Legion on the way to Burlington are unknown, but by 9 November 1782, at the latest, Lauzun and his Legion are in Burlington.

In Burlington, the Legion went into temporary winter quarters from 9 (?) November to 21 (?) December 1782 in the barracks built in 1758 on East Broad Street at Assicunk Creek.

Resource 142

Name: Sussex County Courthouse

Location: Newton, NJ 07860

Historical Significance:

Witness Site.

The 1847 Courthouse stands on the site of the 1764 courthouse, which burnt in 1847. Rochambeau most likely spent the night of 9/10 December in a tavern kept by Jonathan Willis by the courthouse.
