FALL FESTIVAL '88

The Library is celebrating its twentieth anniversary during 1988 and now invites friends and readers to take part in the crowning event of the year-long celebration, the annual Fall Festival to be held Saturday, September 24, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The festival is designed as a day-long buffet of activities, providing visitors with both good information and a good time.

Certainly one of the high points of the day will be the opportunity to experience a balloon rise; Malcolm Forbes has joined our celebration with the loan of a hot-air balloon which, weather permitting, will be rising throughout the day on the Library's north lawn.

There will also be two, hour-long programs for children, one at 10:30 and the other at 2:00, to give parents a chance to hear the speakers in the cafeteria or visit the exhibits on their own.

Maps in Braille and large print will be available at the door on the day of the festival. The Library is also arranging for a limited number of volunteer guides to assist visitors during the day. If you will need assistance for all or part of the day, it is important that you make your request in advance by completing item 3 on the registration form and returning it to the Library. There is no charge for the services of a guide.

Those who are spending the full day at the Festival can bring a lunch, purchase a light meal from the Snack Bar, or order a box lunch in advance by using the form on page 3. The Friends of the Library will make free coffee and tea available throughout the day, and, as part of the birthday celebration, the Library will provide cup cakes for everyone at lunchtime.

This year transportation will be available from 20 counties; in many cases the transportation is free of charge and in no case is there a charge of more than $5.00 round-trip. If you are interested in using county transportation, please complete the form on pages 3 and 4. Check off the pick-up point you will use in your county and return the form promptly with any payment required. We must have these forms back by September 7 to give the county transportation coordinators sufficient time to contact you with final arrangements and pick-up times. For those coming by train, New Jersey Transit will provide assistance at both the Trenton and the Newark stations and the Mercer County Para-Transit will again provide a free shuttle service to and from the station for those who have requested the service in advance.

SCHEDULE OF EVENTS

10:00 a.m. Exhibits Open

Exhibits by agencies and companies providing services and appliances for the handicapped. Exhibits will be open all day.

10:30 a.m. Dr. Jacquelyn Stanley                      Cafeteria

A nationally-known specialist will share her knowledge about the recreational opportunities available to the blind and handicapped. This program will be signed.

10:30 a.m. Jim Foran                                      Reading Room

The Snake Man will share his love of reptiles. He will bring with him eight snakes, some of which can be held.

1:00 p.m. Seeing Eye Puppies                      Front Entrance

Youngsters who are raising future dog guides for the blind will demonstrate their pups' skills. This demonstration will be signed.

1:00 p.m. Tour of the Library                      Reading Room

Find out just how big your library really is, what happens to a broken cassette player when you return it, how Audiovision gets the news out the day it's published, and what a day's mail delivery at the Library looks like.

2:00 p.m. Suzanne Toren                              Cafeteria

The narrator of more than 100 books and a New York actress will talk about her dual career on stage and behind the mike. This program will be signed.

2:00 p.m. Kathy Hall                                      Kids' Corner

A story-teller par excellence will entertain children of all ages with a delightful collection of tales.
