

THE NEW JERSEY MOVE OVER LAW

Protect Those Who Protect You!

Working on the roadside is a dangerous and sometimes deadly job. That's why the Division of Highway Traffic Safety is asking motorists to Make the Move. What's the Move? When you see flashing lights on the side of the road, slow down, and if it's safe, Move Over – away from police, fire crews, paramedics and service trucks. If you make the move, others will follow.

New Jersey State Police Trooper Marc Castellano was struck and killed while responding to a roadside emergency on I-195 by an individual that did not abide by the "Move Over Law". Here, Marc's mother Donna and brother Nick, remember the day they lost their Trooper. You'll also hear about other close calls and what you can do to prevent more tragedies on New Jersey's roads.

Super Bowl Champion NFL on FOX Commentator Tony Siragusa tells motorists to Make the Move, away from those who protect us on the side of the road.

See all the risks that police face when they do their jobs. Prevent injuries and tragedies and Make the Move. If you make the move, others will follow.

See all the risks that construction workers face when they do their jobs. Prevent injuries and tragedies and Make the Move. If you make the move, others will follow.

See all the risks that tow truck drivers face when they do their jobs. Prevent injuries and tragedies and Make the Move. If you make the move, others will follow.