BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF JERSEY CITY, HUDSON COUNTY AND MS. EVERETT, TEACHER,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENTS.	:

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner filed a pro se appeal alleging that personnel employed by the respondent Board improperly notified the Division of Child Protection and Permanency (Division) that E.B. had been physically abused by his father. Petitioner asserted that E.B.'s black eye was caused by a fight at school, which Ms. Everett – E.B.'s classroom teacher – communicated to petitioner via a telephone call on Friday, along with the message that she did not want to report the fight because the children would be suspended and might miss scheduled PARCC testing. On the following Monday, however, petitioner alleged that Ms. Everett called her claiming that E.B.'s injury – a noticeable black eye – had occurred over the weekend and not at school; the reporting of this information to the Division led to E.B.'s removal from petitioner's care and placement in a foster home. Petitioner contended that the teacher changed her story to protect her teaching position, as she was required to report classroom fighting and had not done so. Petitioner requested that the school be investigated and that the teacher be reprimanded for her behavior. The respondents contended that the Commissioner lacks jurisdiction in this case, and filed a motion to dismiss pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(g).

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: respondent's motion to dismiss in lieu of an answer was filed in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(g); for the purposes of the motion, all facts alleged by the petition were deemed admitted; N.J.S.A. 18A:11-1(c) vests the power to control and regulate the conduct of public school employees exclusively in the local board of education; pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9, the Commissioner's jurisdiction extends only to "controversies and disputes arising under the school laws"; and the relief sought by the petitioner herein is not available under the Commissioner's authority to resolve controversies and disputes. The ALJ concluded that the petition must be dismissed for lack of jurisdiction.

Upon comprehensive review, the Commissioner concurred with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ. Accordingly, the Commissioner adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. The petition was dismissed.

INITIAL DECISION
MOTION TO DISMISS
OAL DKT. NO. EDU 10655-16
AGENCY DKT. NO. 156-5/16

H.D. ON BEHALF OF E.B.,
Petitioner,
v.
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF JERSEY CITY, HUDSON COUNTY, AND MS. EVERETT, TEACHER, Respondents.

H.D., pro se

Cherie Adams, for respondents (Adams, Gutierrez and Lattiboudere, attorneys)

Record Closed: October 17, 2016 Decided: November 29, 2016

BEFORE ELLEN S. BASS, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, H.D., a former resident of Jersey City and the mother of E.B., alleges school personnel improperly notified the Division of Child Protection and Permanency (the Division) that E.B. had been physically abused by his father. She requests that the Martin School for the Arts "be investigated." She also demands that the classroom teacher, Ms. Everett, be "reprimanded." The respondents, Jersey City Board of Education (the Board) and Ms. Everett, ask that the petition be dismissed for lack of jurisdiction.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The petition of appeal was filed on April 26, 2016. Upon being advised by the Department of Education that her appeal was procedurally flawed, H.D. refiled her petition on May 31, 2016. Via letter dated June 22, 2016, counsel for the Board asked that the petition be dismissed for lack of jurisdiction. She was advised by letter dated June 23, 2016, that it was necessary that respondents file a responsive pleading. Via letter dated July 15, 2016, respondents filed a motion to dismiss the petition in lieu of an answer.

The case was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on July 18, 2016, and was originally assigned to Judge Karaszegi. H.D. filed opposition to the pending motion on September 30, 2016, and via letter dated October 11, 2016, respondents renewed their request that the petition be dismissed. The case was reassigned to me on October 14, 2016, after Judge Karaszegi's appointment to the New Jersey Superior Court. Via letter dated October 17, 2016, I advised the parties of the change in judge and indicated that I would be ruling on the pending motion to dismiss. I adjourned a pending March 2017 hearing date, and closed the record as of the date of my letter.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Respondent's motion is filed in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(g), which permits the filing of a motion to dismiss in lieu of an answer. In ruling on a motion to dismiss

> The judge considers whether all the evidence together with all legitimate inferences therefrom could sustain a judgment in favor of the party opposing the motion. The judge is not concerned with weight, worth, nature or extent of the > evidence. The judge must accept all the evidence supporting the party defending against the motion and accord that party the benefit of all inferences that can reasonably and legitimately be deduced therefrom. If reasonable minds could differ, the motion must be denied.

> [37 New Jersey Practice, Administrative Law and Practice § 5.19, at 259-60 (Steven Lefelt, Anthony Miragliotta & Patricia Prunty) (2d ed. 2000).]

All evidence supporting the party defending the motion must be accepted, and that party must be "accorded the benefit of all inferences which can be reasonably and legitimately deduced therefrom." Syvertsen v. Scotch Plains-Fanwood Bd. of Educ., 92 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 251 (citing Dolson v. Anastasia, 55 N.J. 2 (1969)). Accordingly, for purposes of the motion, all facts alleged by the petition will be deemed admitted, and I FIND as follows:

On Friday, April 8, 2016, H.D. received a call from Ms. Everett, the classroom teacher, advising that her son, E.B., had been involved in an altercation with W., a classmate, and that W. had punched her son in the face. Everett advised H.D. that E.B.'s eye was bruised, and that she had applied ice to help reduce swelling. Everett told H.D. she did not want to report the fight because the children were friends and would get suspended; and as a result might miss important PARCC testing. H.D. sent her husband, D.D., to pick up E.B. after school. D.D. arrived to find E.B. crying and upset, and he spoke with Ms. Everett who shared the same story with him about the fight with W. When H.D. returned home that evening, E.B. reported that W. was teasing him and calling him names, so E.B. hit W. with his hat. W. then punched him in the face.

E.B. returned to school on Monday, April 11, 2016. That morning, Ms. Everett called H.D. and advised that she believed E.B.'s black eye was the result of an injury at home. They talked about having H.D. come to school to discuss the situation, and while they never finalized their plans to do so, H.D. left work at 12:30 that day and went to the school at 2:00 p.m. She met with the building principal, Ms. Jennings, who inquired about how the bruise occurred. Ms. Everett was called to join the conversation. Everett denied calling H.D. the prior Friday and advising that W. had struck E.B.; she now stated that school personnel believed that E.B.'s father had struck him. Everett advised that she was obliged to report her concerns to the Division and had done so. The petition avers that

> On Monday about 9:00 p.m. DYFS took my son and placed him into a foster home. The worker offered for a homecare worker to live in the home but I refused. Till this time I do not know what my son said and I also don't know what they told him to say to hide the fact there was a fight in the classroom.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The Commissioner of Education is without the authority to grant petitioner the relief she seeks. I CONCLUDE that the petition of appeal must be dismissed. N.J.S.A. 18A:11-1(c) vests the power to control and regulate the conduct of public school employees exclusively in local boards of education. See: F.R. on behalf of M.R. v. Montville Tp. Bd. of Educ., Dkt. No. 47-2/05, Comm'r (July 21, 2005). http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>. In F.R., a parent asked that a building principal be directed to apologize to his elementary age son for falsely accusing him of improperly selling merchandise in school. The petition was dismissed, as there was "no statutory authority for the Commissioner to order an employee of a public school district to tender an apology to students, parents or anyone else, and no statutory authority for the Commissioner to impose discipline on employees of a local board of education" except as prescribed by N.J.S.A. 18A: 6-10, et. seq. Ibid.

Moreover, to the extent that H.D. alleges that Ms. Everett improperly brought her concerns about abuse to the Division's attention, respondents correctly assert that Everett's obligation to do so was governed by N.J.S.A. 9:6-8.10, and any review of the propriety of her actions is not justiciable here. Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9, the Commissioner's jurisdiction extends only to "controversies and disputes arising under the school laws."

The demand that the Martin Center for the Arts "be investigated" flows from the actions of Ms. Everett, and accordingly, for the reasons expressed above, is likewise not a claim that is within the Commissioner of Education's jurisdiction. Nor is a request that school personnel be "investigated" properly the subject of a petition of appeal before the Commissioner. For a matter to be justiciable a party must have suffered a distinct injury or harm that was caused by the adverse party and that can be remedied by a court, or here, by the Commissioner. New Jersey Turnpike Auth. v Parsons, 3 N.J. 235, 240 (1949); In re Ass'n of Trial Lawyers of Am., 228 N.J. Super. 180 (App. Div. 1988). A request for an "investigation" is not relief available under the Commissioner's authority to resolve controversies and disputes. See e.g.: Ciambrone v. Witty and Bloomingdale Bd. of Educ., EDU 9202-00, Initial Decision (March 21, 2001), modified, Comm'r (May 7, 2001), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing, it is hereby ORDERED that the petition of appeal be DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this Initial Decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Re: In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Sabino Valdes, Board of Education of the City of Union, Hudson County, Agency Dkt. No. 328-9/00

Dear Parties:

I have reviewed the materials filed in connection with Sabino Valdes' Motion for Reconsideration of the Acting Commissioner's November 3, 2016 decision, denying Mr. Valdes' motion to reopen the tenure charges filed against him by the Union City Board of Education. The Commissioner notes that on or about December 19, 2016, Mr. Valdes also filed a Notice of Appeal of the November 3, 2016 decision with the Appellate Division.

Pursuant to New Jersey Court Rule 2:9-1(a), "the supervision and control of the proceedings on appeal or certification shall be in the appellate court from the time the appeal is taken or the notice of petition for certification is filed." The Appellate Division has indicated that the trial court does not have jurisdiction pending appeal to entertain a motion for reconsideration. Kiernan v. Kiernan, 355 N.J. Super. 89, 92 (App. Div. 2002). As Mr. Valdes has filed a Notice of Appeal with the Appellate Division, the Commissioner no longer has jurisdiction to entertain Mr. Valdes' Motion for Reconsideration.

Accordingly, the Motion for Reconsideration is hereby DISMISSED for lack of jurisdiction.

Sincerely,

Kimberley Harrington

RESPONDENT.	:

The record, proposed settlement agreement, and Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed – mindful of the Commissioner's May 6, 2015 determination that the prior Agreement submitted did not comply with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.13, as it was neither signed by the Board's attorney, nor did it contain a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement. Since there is now a Board resolution approving the settlement on the matter, the Commissioner can approve the within Agreement in its present form.

Under the terms of the Agreement, petitioner and her attorney were to be paid certain sums of money through the Board's Insurance Carrier within ten days of the approval of the settlement by the Board. The Agreement was approved on June 19, 2014, according to the resolution submitted by the Board attorney; therefore, it follows that payment was to be made to petitioner and her attorney by June 29, 2014. These dates have preceded the consideration of the Agreement by the Commissioner of Education. The parties are reminded that a settlement of litigation before the Commissioner is not binding until the Commissioner approves the settlement.

In light of the foregoing, the Commissioner adopts the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter, provided that the parties have already implemented the settlement terms, or have agreed upon mutually satisfactory alternate dates for the effectuation of the settlement payments. Assuming same, the matter is hereby dismissed, subject to compliance with the terms of the settlement.

The record, Settlement Agreement and General Release, and Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed.

Upon review, the Commissioner observes that the agreement attached to the Initial Decision contains only petitioner's signature; the agreement is not signed by the Board attorney – who is the Board's duly authorized representative in litigation. Furthermore, neither the file nor the agreement contain a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement and designating someone other than the Board attorney to sign the agreement on its behalf that is required by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.13. Without either the Board attorney's signature evidencing respondent's assent to the terms of the settlement, or the appropriate Board resolution and signature of its designee, the Commissioner cannot approve the within settlement.

Accordingly, the Commissioner hereby remands this matter to the OAL for revision of the Settlement Agreement and General Release consistent with the concerns set forth above. If the parties are unwilling or unable to reach accord on a modified agreement for submission to the Commissioner, the matter shall proceed to hearing.

JANINE WALKER CAFFREY	:
PETITIONER,	:

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF PERTH AMBOY, MIDDLESEX COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record, Settlement Agreement and General Release, and Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed.

Upon review, the Commissioner observes that the agreement attached to the Initial Decision contains only petitioner's signature; the agreement is not signed by the Board attorney – who is the Board's duly authorized representative in litigation. Furthermore, neither the file nor the agreement contain a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement and designating someone other than the Board attorney to sign the agreement on its behalf that is required by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.13. Without either the Board attorney's signature evidencing respondent's assent to the terms of the settlement, or the appropriate Board resolution and signature of its designee, the Commissioner cannot approve the within settlement.

Accordingly, the Commissioner hereby remands this matter to the OAL for revision of the Settlement Agreement and General Release consistent with the concerns set forth above. If the parties are unwilling or unable to reach accord on a modified agreement for submission to the Commissioner, the matter shall proceed to hearing.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Record Closed: November 17, 2016 Decided: November 22, 2016

BEFORE JEFFREY A. GERSON, ALJ:

On October 17, 2013, this matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for hearing as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F1 to -13. The matter was scheduled for settlement conferences on January 23, 2014, February 13, 2014 and March 31, 2014 but all dates were adjourned because the parties agreed to settle the matter. A signed copy of the Settlement Agreement and General Release indicating the terms of settlement was forwarded to the undersigned on August 5, 2014. The matter was remanded to the Office of Administrative Law on May 6, 2015 because the settlement agreement did not contain the signature from the Board's attorney. The revised settlement agreement is now signed by the Board attorney and is attached here.

I have reviewed the record and terms of the settlement and FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by the signatures of the parties or their representatives.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with law.

I CONCLUDE that the agreement meets the safeguard requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and, accordingly, I approve the settlement and ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be CONCLUDED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

DIRECTOR AND
CHIEF ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE

This Settlement Agreement and General Release ("Agreement") is made and entered into this 13th day of June, 2014, by and between Janine Walker Caffrey and The Board of Education of the City of Perth Amboy, Obdulia Gonzalez, Israel Varela, Kenneth Puccio, Dianne Roman, Samuel Lebreault, Milady Tejeda, Anthony Bermudez, William Ortiz, Mark Carvajal and any and all past or present board members of the Perth Amboy Board of Education.

WHEREAS, Janine Walker Caffrey was employed by the Perth Amboy Board of Education from July 1, 2011 to June 30, 2014; and

WHEREAS, Janine Walker Caffrey initiated a claim seeking equitable and legal relief based on allegations of wrongful discharge and non-renewal of contract including but not limited to claims under: (1) the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, N.J.S.A. 10:5-1, et seq.; (2) Conscientious Employee Protection Act, N.J.S.A. 34:19-1, et seq ; (3) breach of express and implied contract; and (4) breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing.

WHEREAS, the parties desire to settle fully, permanently and finally all differences between them for any event related to, arising out of, or in connection with Janine Walker Caffrey's employment by the Perth Amboy Board of Education and to terminate any and all claims made or that could have been made against the Perth Amboy Board of Education and the individual past and present board members along with all officers, trustees, employees, agents, directors, representatives, successor or assigns, which settlement shall constitute the good faith settlement of the aforementioned claims;

NOW, THEREFORE, the parties, intending to be bound hereby, covenant and agree as follows:

1. The Perth Amboy Board of Education through its insurance carrier agrees to pay Janine Walker Caffrey a total amount of $184,000.00. The payment of this sum is in full and complete satisfaction of all of claims against the Perth Amboy Board of Education and all past and present individual board members including claims for attorneys' fees, expenses, back wages, front wages, liquidated damages, punitive damages, emotional distress damages, and any other claim that could be made by Janine Walker Caffrey against the Perth Amboy Board of Education and the past and present individual board members. Said payment is to made payable to Janine Walker Caffrey and Alan Schorr, Esq.

2. The Insurance Carrier for the Perth Amboy Board of Education shall issue a Form 1099 to Alan Schorr, Esq. in the amount of $62,966.67 which shall be reflected as payment of attorneys' fees and costs, and the remainder in the amount of $121,033.33 shall be paid to Janine Walker Caffrey, and the Insurance Carrier will issue a 1099 to Janine Walker Caffrey in that amount. No other Form 1099 and no W-2 shall issue.

3. Payment shall be made within 10 days of approval of this agreement by the Perth Amboy Board of Education as this agreement is subject to Board approval.

4. Release. For good and valuable consideration, including without limitation the payments described in this Agreement, Janine Walker Caffrey hereby releases, discharges, and covenants not to sue the Perth Amboy Board of Education, Obdulia Gonzalez, Israel Varela, Kenneth Puccio, Dianne Roman, Samuel Lebreault, Milady Tejeda, Anthony Bermudez, William Ortiz, Mark Carvajal and any and all past or present board members of the Perth Amboy Board of Education and the Perth Amboy Board of Education's direct and indirect parents, subsidiaries, and predecessors, and all of its and their respective past and present employees, directors, officers, attorneys, successors, and assigns (individually and collectively the "Releasees"), from and/or upon with respect to any and all actions, suits, liabilities, debts, dues, sums of money, accounts, reckonings, bonds, bills, specialties, covenants, contracts, controversies, agreements, promises, torts, variances, trespasses, damages, judgments, extents, executions, claims, and demands whatsoever, whether known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, in law or equity, which could be or have been asserted against the Releasees, parties to this Agreement, heirs, executors, administrators, successors, assigns, and attorneys and for any and all claims which have, ever had, now have, or hereafter can, shall, or may have been asserted by reason of any matter, cause, or thing whatsoever from the beginning of the world to the date of this Agreement, including specifically by way of description, but not by way of limitation, any and all claims:

a. alleged or related to the employment of Janine Walker Caffrey by the Perth Amboy Board of Education;

b. arising out of or related to any claims Janine Walker Caffrey may have against the Perth Amboy Board of Education, Obdulia Gonzalez, Israel Varela, Kenneth Puccio, Dianne Roman, Samuel Lebreault, Milady Tejeda, Anthony Bermudez, William Ortiz, Mark Caravjal and any and all past or present board members of the Perth Amboy Board of Education from the beginning of time to a time to the date of this Agreement;

c. arising out of or in any way related to claims pertaining to New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, N.J.S.A. 10:5-1, et seq., Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended, 42 U.S.C. Section 2000(e) et seq. , the Civil Rights Act of 1991 as amended 42 U.S.C. Section1981 et seq. , the Family Medical Leave Act, the Fair Labor Standards Act, the Equal Pay Act, the Conscientious Employee Protection Act, the Wage and Hour Act, the Employee Retirement Income Security Act, breach of express or implied contract, tortious interference with prospective business relations, breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing, breach of any employment handbook or contract, and the Administrative Code and charters of the various cities and State of New Jersey;

d. any and all claims for violation of the federal or any state constitution;

e. any and all claims arising out of any other laws and regulations relating to employment discrimination and wrongful discharge; and

f. any and all ethics claims instituted against any past or present individual board member of the Perth Amboy Board of education including but not limited to the following: Caffrey v. Varela, SEC 30-12; Caffrey v. Lebreault, Gonzalez, Varela, & Tejeda, SEC 02-13; and Caffrey v. Varela, SEC 35-13;

g. any and all claims instituted under the school laws of the State of New Jersey including but not limited to the action entitled Caffrey v. Perth Amboy Board of Education, Agency Ref. No. 252-10/13, OAL Docket No. EDU 14815-2013N brought before the New Jersey Commissioner of

h. any and all claims for attorneys' fees and costs.

5. Waiver of Right to Consider and to Revise Agreement. Janine Walker Caffrey waives any right she may possess under any federal or state statute: (a) to a waiting period to consider this Settlement Agreement and Mutual Release further before signing same; and (b) to revoke her signature after having signed this Settlement Agreement and Mutual Release.

6. Confidentiality and Non-Disparagement Clause. In consideration of the payment made in this Agreement. Janine Walker Caffrey hereby agrees and promises that she will not make, publish or cause to be made or published, any statements or comments, true, false or otherwise, whether they be oral or written, which in any way relate to, refer to, or otherwise concern her employment with the Perth Amboy Board of Education, this Agreement, any and all ethics claims or complaints against any past or present Perth Amboy Board of Education board member or any interaction with any past or present individual board members including Obdulia Gonzalez, Israel Varela, Kenneth Puccio, Dianne Roman, Samuel Lebreault, Milady Tejeda, Anthony Bermudez, William Ortiz, and Mark Carvajal, or which in any way relate to her opinions, thoughts or comments concerning the Perth Amboy Board of Education, the Perth Amboy Public Schools, any past, present or future board members and shall refrain from engaging in any blogging, tweeting, posting, writing an article or a book, commenting in any form of social media, posting on any internet website whatsoever, and/or granting an interview or making a statement or comment to a journalist, blogger, editor, etc...regarding same including but not limited to attending any board meetings of the Perth Amboy Board of Education. Janine Walker Caffrey hereby agrees should she breach this paragraph, the Perth Amboy Board of Education shall be entitled to a payment of $10,000 for each discrete breach of this paragraph. Any dispute over this paragraph shall be submitted to the jurisdiction of the State of New Jersey, Superior Court. Notwithstanding the forgoing, in the event that any board member shall make a public statement about Janine Walker Caffrey she shall be permitted to respond publicly to that comment only. If served with a lawful subpoena, Janine Walker Caffrey shall be permitted to respond to the subpoena to the extent it requires information related to her employment with the Perth Amboy Board of Education. Nothing set forth in this agreement shall prevent Janine Walker Caffrey to list her employment with Perth Amboy on her resume and discuss her employment with prospective employers privately.

7. No Admission of Liability. The Parties understand and acknowledge that this Agreement constitutes a compromise and settlement of disputed claims. No action taken by the Parties hereto, or either of them, either previously or in connection with this Agreement shall be deemed or construed to be (a) an admission of the truth or falsity of any claims heretofore made or (b) an acknowledgment or admission by either party of any fault or liability whatsoever to the other party or to any third party.

8. Agreement not to Voluntarily Testify – In consideration of the payment made in this Agreement, Janine Walker Caffrey agrees to not voluntarily testify in any and all ethics claims against any past or present board member of the Perth Amboy Board of Education including but not limited to Obdulia Gonzalez, Israel Varela, Kenneth Puccio, Dianne Roman, Samuel Lebreault, Milady Tejeda, Anthony Bermudez, William Ortiz, and Mark Carvajal which claim or claims are presently pending before or may be instituted before the Office of Administrative Law and/or the School Ethics Commission whether being prosecuted by the School Ethics Commission through the New Jersey State Deputy Attorney General's Office or any individual. These actions include but are not limited to: Caffrey v. Lebreault, SEC 16-12; Caffrey v. Varela, SEC 17-12; Cores v. Varela, SEC 18-12; Caffrey v. Puccio, SEC 21-12; Cores v. Puccio, SEC 25-12; and Cores v. Puccio, SEC 31-12. Janine Walker Caffrey further agrees to advise the School Ethics Commission in writing that she believes that this Agreement is sufficient to resolve all the ethics claims she had originally instituted including those now prosecuted by the School Ethics Commission. If served with a lawful subpoena, Janine Walker Caffrey shall be permitted to respond to the subpoena.

9. Withdrawal of pending claims In consideration of the payment made in this Agreement, Janine Walker Caffrey agrees to withdraw the following pending claims she has instituted against the Perth Amboy Board of Education and/or individual board members Obdulia Gonzalez, Israel Varela, Kenneth Puccio,

Samuel Lebreault, and Milady Tejeda: Caffrey v. Perth Amboy Board of Education, Agency Ref. No. 252-10/13, OAL Docket No. EDU 14815-2013N, Caffrey v. Varela, SEC 30-12; Caffrey v. Lebrealt, Gonzalez, Varela, & Tejeda, SEC 02-13; and Caffrey v. Varela, SEC 35-13;

10. Move out of City of Perth Amboy In consideration of the payment made in this Agreement, Janine Walker Caffrey represents that she has already moved out of the City of Perth Amboy and does not intend on returning.

11. Costs. The Parties shall each bear their own costs, expert fees, attorneys' fees and other fees incurred in connection with this Agreement subject to what is reflected in this Agreement.

12. Authority. The Parties each represent that they have the authority to act on their own behalf and all who may claim through them to the terms and conditions of this Agreement. Each Party warrants and represents that there are no liens or claims of lien or assignments in law or equity or otherwise of or against any of the claims or causes of action released herein.

13. No Representations. Each Party and its duly authorized agents represent that they have had the opportunity to consult with an attorney, and have carefully read and understand the scope and effect of the provisions of this Agreement. Neither Party has relied upon any representations or statements made by the other Party hereto which are not specifically set forth in this Agreement.

14. Severability. In the event that any provision hereof becomes or is declared by a court of competent jurisdiction to be illegal, unenforceable or void, this Agreement shall continue in full force and effect without said provision.

15. Entire Agreement. This Agreement represents the entire agreement and understanding between the Parties and supersedes and replaces any and all prior agreements and understandings between the Parties.

16. No Oral Modification. This Agreement may only be amended in writing signed by all of the Parties to this Agreement.

17. Governing Law. This Agreement is made and entered into in the State of New Jersey, and shall in all respects be interpreted, enforced and governed under the laws of the State of New Jersey.

18. Effective Date. This Agreement is effective after it has been signed by all parties.

19. Interpretation. The parties agree and represent that both parties have drafted this Agreement and both parties are to be considered equal drafters of this document for the purpose of interpretation of the meaning of this Agreement. The language of all parts of this Agreement shall in all cases be construed as a whole, according to its fair meaning, and not strictly for or against any of the parties.

20. Counterparts. This Agreement may be executed in counterparts, and each counterpart shall have the same force and effect as an original and shall constitute an effective, binding agreement on the part of each of the undersigned.

21. Approval. This agreement is subject to approval by the Perth Amboy Board of Education.

22. This Agreement is binding upon and shall inure to the benefit of the parties hereto and their respective heirs, executors, administrators, personal or legal representatives, predecessors, successors, and/or assigns.

23. Nothing in this agreement shall affect, Janine Walker Caffrey's right to be indemnified under statutory law for claims arising out of her employment with the Perth Amboy Board of Education.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, and intending to be legally bound hereby, the parties have executed this Agreement as of the date first above written.

PLEASE READ CAREFULLY. THIS SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE IS NINE (9) PAGES IN LENGTH (INCLUSIVE OF SIGNATURE PAGE) AND INCLUDES A RELEASE OF KNOWN AND UNKNOWN CLAIMS.

THE UNDERSIGNED HAVE READ THE FOREGOING SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE, FULLY UNDERSTAND IT AND VOLUNTARILY AGREE TO IT.

RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this emergent matter, the sound recording of proceedings at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the recommended Order of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ – for the reasons set forth in the recommended Order – that petitioner has failed to demonstrate entitlement to emergent relief pursuant to the standards enunciated in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982), and codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6.

Accordingly, the recommended Order of the OAL – denying petitioner's application for emergent relief – is adopted for the reasons expressed therein. This case shall proceed at the OAL with such proceedings as the parties and the ALJ deem necessary to bring it to closure.

BEFORE SUSAN M. SCAROLA, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner Claudine D. Hayes (Hayes), a tenured special education teacher who was employed by respondent State-Operated School District of the City of Camden (District) for approximately twelve years, but was deemed mentally unfit for service in 2014, seeks an order finding that the District violated N.J.S.A. 18A:16-4 by failing to reemploy her upon receiving proof of her recovery, and further compelling the District to reemploy her or to allow her to provide the District with additional proof of her recovery.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On November 21, 2016, Hayes filed with the Commissioner of Education, New Jersey State Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, a petition of appeal and motion for emergent relief, alleging that the District violated N.J.S.A. 18A:16-4 by failing to reemploy her upon receiving proof of her recovery, and seeking an order compelling the District to reemploy her or allow her to provide the District with additional proof of her recovery.

On November 29, 2016, the Commissioner transmitted the motion for emergent relief to the Office of Administrative Law. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13; N.J.A.C. 1:1-8.2. Argument on the matter was held on December 6, 2016.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

During the 2013–2014 school year, Hayes taught an elementary school class for behaviorally-challenged students. (Petition of Appeal, ¶ 4.) On December 11, 2013, Hayes suffered a panic attack on school grounds and was taken to the hospital by paramedics. (Id. at 7.) On December 13, 2013, the District notified Hayes that, due to her "alleged concerning pattern of behavior this year," she would be placed on paid administrative leave effective December 16, 2013, and be required to undergo a psychological examination to determine her fitness to teach. (Id. at Ex. A.) Hayes has not worked for the District since December 13, 2013.

On May 28 and May 29, 2014, Hayes was evaluated by a psychologist, Jonathan Mack, Psy.D.[1] (Id. at Ex. G.) During the evaluation, Dr. Mack "conducted a battery of psychological tests" and interviewed Hayes. In an August 11, 2014, report, Dr. Mack concluded that Hayes suffered from a personality disorder and a panic disorder and that, in his opinion, "Ms. Hayes is at an unacceptable risk for future problems with the elementary school behaviorally disordered population throughout the [District] at this time." (Ibid.) He also opined that "she should be mandated to have weekly psychological counseling with a licensed psychologist and to be evaluated for mood stabilizing medications." (Ibid.)

[1] The selection of Dr. Mack as the expert was the subject of an Emergent Petition filed under docket number EDU 01761-14, and decided by the Hon. Elia Pelios, ALJ, on February 21, 2014.

On March 3, 2015, the District notified Hayes that, based on Dr. Mack's report and "pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:16-4, the State District Superintendent has determined that you are ineligible for further services with the District and shall be terminated from payroll effective sixty (60) days from receipt of this correspondence." (Id. at Ex. I.) The District further informed Hayes, "[y]ou will remain ineligible for service absent the submission of proof of recovery, satisfactory to the District," and, "[i]f you fail to submit such proof within (2) years from the beginning of your leave of absence, you will be permanently ineligible for service with the District."[2] (Ibid.)

On July 26 and July 27, 2016, Hayes visited another psychologist, Michael Ferenschak, Psy.D., for a fitness-for-duty evaluation. (Id. at Ex. L.) Dr. Ferenschak administered a number of psychological tests, conducted a clinical interview and, in an August 4, 2016, report, concluded that Hayes was fit to teach. (Ibid.) However, Dr. Ferenschak diagnosed her with a depressive disorder and anxiety disorder and noted that Hayes "appears to be susceptible to flare-ups of her mental health issues when in highly stressful situations." (Ibid.) As such, Dr. Ferenschak "recommended that she work in a non-high stress environment" and that, upon her return to work, "she seek psychotherapy to help her manage her work-related stress and guard against extreme emotional response." (Ibid.)

On August 12, 2016, after having received Dr. Ferenschak's report of August 4, 2016, the District's attorney informed Hayes' attorney that the report was "not satisfactory proof of recovery." (Id. at Ex. M.) The District found the report unsatisfactory because [2] The petitioner challenged the District's decision to terminate her services and place her on unpaid leave in a matter filed under docket number EDU 09343-15 which was decided by the Hon. Joseph Ascione, ALJ, on January 4, 2016, and affirmed by the Commissioner on February 19, 2016. This decision is presently pending in the Superior Court, Appellate Division.

Hayes failed to provide the District with Dr. Ferenschak's qualifications and because the report did not indicate that Dr. Ferenschak was provided with or that he had considered certain information, including Hayes's job description and Dr. Mack's report. The District also found that "the contents of Dr. Ferenschak's report are inconsistent with its conclusions." (Ibid.) According to the District, "[Dr. Ferenschak's] report indicates that Ms. Hayes stopped attending counseling sessions—which Dr. Mack [had] indicated Ms. Hayes would need to attend—over one year ago, but still concludes she is able to work." The District further noted that Dr. Ferenschak's statement that "Ms. Hayes cannot work in a highly stressful environment" would show that "she is unable to work as a teacher of the handicapped in the District." (Ibid.) The District's attorney concluded the letter by stating that "[t]he District takes the safety of its students and staff seriously and is willing to act reasonably concerning this difficult situation," and, "[i]f you would like to discuss, I am available to speak at your convenience." (Ibid.)

The same day, Hayes' attorney emailed the District to express his disagreement with the District's opinion of the inadequacy of Dr. Ferenschak's report and asked the District to provide "a detailed written statement of what the District requires for satisfactory proof of recovery and how soon you need it." (Id. at Ex. N.)

Then, in an August 22, 2016, letter to Hayes' attorney, the District's attorney denied that the District had indicated in its previous correspondence that it "would be willing to accept future proof of recovery submissions pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:16-4." The letter also stated, "please let this letter confirm the District's position that the time has now expired for Ms. Hayes to apply for reinstatement pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:16-4, as her absence from the District has exceeded a period of two years." (Id. at Ex. O.)

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

90 Day Rule

Before reaching the merits of Hayes' motion for emergent relief, a threshold issue raised by the District concerning the timeliness of Hayes' petition and motion for emergent relief must be addressed. The District argues that Hayes violated N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i), which requires that "[t]he petitioner shall file a petition no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling or other action by the district board of education, individual party, or agency, which is the subject of the requested contested case hearing." Hayes filed her petition and motion for emergent relief on November 21, 2016, or 101 days after the District rejected her proof of recovery on August 12, 2016, and, as a result, her petition and motion should be dismissed as untimely.

However, in light of the District's statements in the August 12, 2016, letter that the District "is willing to act reasonably concerning this difficult situation" and, "[i]f you would like to discuss, I am available to speak at your convenience," and because the District stated in its August 22, 2016, letter, "please let this letter confirm the District's position that the time has now expired for Ms. Hayes to apply for reinstatement pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:16-4," it is reasonable to conclude that the August 22, 2016, letter served as notice of the District's final decision regarding proof of recovery and that Hayes had ninety days from the date of her receipt of that letter to file her petition and motion for emergent relief with respect to proof of recovery. As such, by appealing to the Commissioner on November 21, 2016, Hayes did not violate the ninety-day limitations period under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i).

Emergent Relief

Turning to the merits of Hayes' motion for emergent relief, the regulations governing controversies and disputes before the Commissioner of Education provide that "[w]here the subject matter of the controversy is a particular course of action by a district board of education . . . the petitioner may include with the petition of appeal, a separate motion for emergent relief or a stay of that action pending the Commissioner's final decision in the contested case." N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(a). The regulations further provide that the Commissioner may "[t]ransmit the motion to the OAL for immediate hearing on the motion." N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(c)(3).

At such a hearing, a petitioner must show that he satisfies each of the following four standards:

> 1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted;
>
> 2. The legal right underlying petitioner's claim is settled;
>
> 3. The petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and
>
> 4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.
> [N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b) (citing Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982)).]

Thus, the purpose of emergent relief is "to 'prevent some threatening, irreparable mischief, which should be averted until opportunity is afforded for a full and deliberate investigation of the case.'" Crowe, supra, 90 N.J. at 132 (citing Thompson ex rel. Bd. of Chosen Freeholders v. Paterson, 9 N.J. Eq. 624, 625 (Sup. Ct. 1854)).

Irreparable Harm

Hayes has failed to show that she will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted, because "harm is generally considered irreparable in equity if it cannot be redressed adequately by monetary damages," Crowe, supra, 90 N.J. at 132–33. Here, as the District persuasively argues, Hayes "can be reinstated to her position with back pay" and "the Commissioner could also order the District to accept future proof of recovery submission if she ultimately prevails." (District's Brief in Opposition to Motion for Emergent Relief, at 12–13.)

Right to Claim is Settled

Next, emergent relief "should be withheld when the legal right underlying plaintiff's claim is unsettled." Crowe, supra, 90 N.J. at 133 (citing Citizens Coach Co. v. Camden H. R. Co., 29 N.J. Eq. 299, 304–05 (E & A 1878)). Here, however, the legal right to reemployment upon proof of recovery from a mental disorder is settled by N.J.S.A. 18A:16-4, which provides that > [i]f the result of any such examination indicates mental abnormality or communicable disease, the employee shall be ineligible for further service until proof of recovery, satisfactory to the board, is furnished, but if the employee is under contract or has tenure, he may be granted sick leave with compensation as provided by law and shall, upon satisfactory recovery, be permitted to complete the term of his contract, if he is under contract, or be reemployed with the same tenure as he possessed at the time his services were discontinued, if he has tenure, unless his absence shall exceed a period of two years.

As the Commissioner has stressed, however, the right to reemployment under N.J.S.A. 18A:16-4 is conditioned upon a school board's satisfaction with the proof of recovery offered by the employee, such that "N.J.S.A. 18A:16-4 instructs that if it has been determined that an employee manifests a mental abnormality, he or she 'shall be ineligible for further service until proof of recovery, satisfactory to the board is furnished.'" Diaz v. Bd. of Educ. of Mahwah, EDU 1751-09, Final Decision (August 27, 2010), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>. Importantly, an "action of the local board which lies within the area of its discretionary powers may not be upset unless patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Kopera v. Bd. of Educ. of W. Orange, 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960) (citations omitted).

Likelihood of Success on the Merits

Under the third emergent relief standard, "a plaintiff must make a preliminary showing of a reasonable probability of ultimate success on the merits." Crowe, supra, 90 N.J. at 133 (citing Ideal Laundry Co. v. Gugliemone, 107 N.J. Eq. 108, 115–16 (E. & A. 1930)). This typically "'involves a prediction of the probable outcome of the case' based on each party's initial proofs, usually limited to documents." Brown v. City of Paterson, 424 N.J. Super. 176, 182–83 (App. Div. 2012) (quoting Rinaldo v. RLR Inv., LLC, 387 N.J. Super. 387, 397 (App. Div. 2006)). However, emergent relief "should not issue where all material facts are controverted." Crowe, supra, 90 N.J. at 133 (citing Citizens Coach, supra, 29 N.J. Eq. at 305–06). Here, Hayes has failed to show a likelihood of success on the merits because N.J.S.A. 18A:16-4 provides the District with the discretion to accept or reject proof of recovery, and it is clear from the papers that there are controverted material facts with respect to Hayes' proof of recovery.

Moreover, with respect to Hayes' requested relief of more time to submit proof of recovery, it appears from the language of N.J.S.A. 18A:16-4 that Hayes had two years to provide satisfactory proof of recovery either from the date she was placed on paid leave by the District (December 16, 2013), or from the date of Dr. Mack's fitness-for-duty determination (August 11, 2014), and that, at the latest, the time for proof of recovery expired on August 11, 2016. While it appears that Hayes timely submitted proof of recovery on August 9, 2016, she has failed to show that she is likely entitled to submit further proof of recovery beyond Dr. Ferenschak's initial report.

Balancing of the Equities

The fourth and final emergent relief standard involves "the relative hardship to the parties in granting or denying relief." Crowe, supra, 90 N.J. at 134 (citing Isolantite Inc. v. United Elect. Radio & Mach. Workers, 130 N.J. Eq. 506, 515 (Ch. 1941), mod. on other grounds, 132 N.J. Eq. 613 (E. & A. 1942)). Here, Hayes has failed to show that she will suffer greater harm if the requested relief is denied than the District will suffer if the requested relief is granted. The District has an obligation to protect its students and staff from harm; further, the District disputes the sufficiency of Hayes' proof of recovery after being declared unfit to teach. If Hayes' motion for emergent relief is granted and the District is ordered to reemploy her prior to a plenary hearing on the adequacy of her proof of recovery, the District would run an unacceptable risk of harm to its students or staff, which is its uppermost concern.

Conclusion

Based on the foregoing, the motion for emergent relief must be denied.

ORDER

I ORDER that the motion for emergent relief is DENIED.

This order may be reviewed by the COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION, either upon interlocutory review pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.10 or at the end of the contested case, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6.

This arbitration proceeding arises under the terms of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-11 and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.1. It concerns tenure charges filed by the Woodbridge Township Board of Education [the "Petitioner" or "Board"] with the Commissioner of Education on April 29, 2016 seeking the removal of Michele Schwab [the "Respondent" or "Schwab"] from her tenured position as an elementary school teacher. The Petitioner alleges that the Respondent engaged in Unbecoming Conduct and/or Other Just Cause through (1) Theft/Shoplifting (two counts); (2) Failure to Report Arrest; (3) Violations of District Policies; and (4) Pattern of Unbecoming Conduct, Insubordination and/or Other Just Cause over Protracted Period of Time. On May 13, 2016, Respondent filed an Answer seeking dismissal of the tenure charges and her reinstatement with all lawful back pay. The relevant statutory reference for review of tenure dismissal charges is set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 and N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 et seq. Petitioner has the burden to prove, by a preponderance of the evidence, that the tenure charges, including the disciplinary penalty of removal sought, should be sustained. Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-16, as amended by PL 2012, Chapter 26, and P.L. 2015, Chapter 109, this controversy and dispute is subject to arbitration and was assigned to this arbitrator on May 26, 2016.

Informal pre-hearing conference calls to discuss hearing procedures including the offering of expert witnesses were held on May 24 and July 25, 2016. Arbitration hearings were conducted on August 20, September 7 and October 4, 2016. During the course of the arbitration hearings, the parties argued orally, examined and cross-examined witnesses and submitted documentary evidence into the record. Testimony, in order received, was offered by six witnesses: Glen Geraghty, Asset Protection Manager at Sears, Judith Martino, Principal at Robert Mascenik Elementary School 26, Robert Zega, Ed.D., Superintendent of Schools, Respondent Michele Schwab, Avram Mack, MD and Eric Goldsmith, MD, each an expert witness in psychiatry. Post-hearing briefs were filed by the Petitioner and the Respondent on November 20, 2016. An extension of time to issue an award until January 5, 2017 was granted by the Director of Controversies and Disputes, Department of Education.

BACKGROUND

Michele Schwab was hired by the Woodbridge Township Board of Education in September 2001. She worked as a fourth grade teacher throughout her employment. She was last employed at the Robert Mascenik Elementary School 26. Her Principal was Judith Martino. While employed, her teaching performance was highly satisfactory. Many of her evaluations were submitted into the record and support this conclusion. Petitioner does not contend otherwise. Her more recent evaluations under the TEACHNJ Act scored her as a "Highly Effective Teacher." In addition to her evaluations, she received several commendations, including serving as a recipient of the Governor's Educator of the Year Program.

The events that the Petitioner states gave rise to the filing of tenure charges seeking her removal began on February 7, 2015. On this day, Respondent went to the Woodbridge Center Mall. While there, she entered Sears. Loss Prevention Agents observed Respondent placing a New York Jets hat and hooded sweatshirt from the sales floor into her purse. She was seen entering a fitting room and then exiting the store without paying for the merchandise. After exiting the store, a Loss Prevention Agent stopped her and requested that she return to the store to discuss her possession of merchandise that the store believed she had taken and concealed without making payment. Respondent voluntarily cooperated with this process which included a meeting with store security representatives immediately after the incident to discuss her actions. Glen Geraghty, Asset Protection Manager, detailed the events that occurred during the meeting. When confronted with what had been observed on video at the meeting, Respondent admitted in writing to having engaged in the removal of store merchandise without payment. She acknowledged at this arbitration hearing that she took the items without paying for them. The items taken included pliers that were later used to clip sensors off the items, a New York Jets hat and two New York Jets sweatshirts. One of the sweatshirts remained on the floor and was damaged by the pliers. Sears Asset Protection Manager Glen Geraghty testified that the value of the property was $229.98 and that the store never received payment from Respondent. During the meeting, the store referred the matter to the Woodbridge Township Police Department. An Incident Report was prepared, the Respondent was arrested and a Complaint was filed in the Woodbridge Township Municipal Court. The Complaint was eventually dismissed in May when the Sears apprehending agent, no longer employed by Sears, did not appear in court to testify against the Respondent.

The Board became aware of Respondent's arrest on March 3, 2015 when Superintendent of Schools Dr. Robert Zega received a letter from Respondent's counsel at that time. Dr. Zega was unaware of Respondent's arrest until he received this letter.[1] The letter stated [P. Ex. C]:

> I represent Michele Schwab in the above captioned matter. She asked me to contact you regarding her inadvertence in not notifying you of this matter. Because of her obvious lack of familiarity with this type of matter, she assumed that as a matter of course I would contact your office regarding her alleged involvement. Having not done so, I ask that you overlook this omission as I should have fully explained the process to her. Please note that we are confident that this matter will be resolved in manner which will be satisfactory to all parties.

Following Dr. Zega's receipt of the letter, he arranged a meeting with the District's Director of Personnel, Joanne Shafer, Ms. Schwab and Union Representative Brian Geoffrey on March 4, 2015. Respondent testified that she was called out of the classroom to attend the meeting. Principal Martino was asked to have Respondent's class covered. According to Dr. Zega, at the

[1] Judith L. Martino, Respondent's Principal at Robert Mascenik School #26, testified to receiving a phone call or a text message from a colleague indicating that Respondent forwarded a text message to the colleague indicating that she wished to harm herself at some point after the arrest. Principal Martino informed the District's Director of Security out of her concern for her welfare. The record does not show the precise date that this occurred, nor is there any evidence that Principal Martino notified Dr. Zega of this prior to his receipt of the March 3, 2015 letter from Respondent's attorney. Respondent testified that she told the colleague that "I wished I was dead" after the meeting with Dr. Zega, Director Shafer and Mr. Geoffrey at which time she was suspended. This testimony establishes that Dr. Zega could not have learned of the arrest prior to meeting Ms. Schwab admitted that she was arrested for shoplifting, acknowledged that she had done so. According to Dr. Zega, she did not make any mention of any medications she was taking or mental health treatments she had been undergoing. Dr. Zega then suspended Ms. Schwab pending investigation of the shoplifting incident and for not reporting the incident within fourteen (14) days as required by District policy and law. He sent Respondent a letter after the meeting. It stated:

> As I discussed with you and your Association representative, Brian Geoffroy, today, certain allegations have been made against you regarding a serious matter. As a result and as I explained to you, you are hereby suspended with pay from your position as a teacher for the Woodbridge Township School District.
> I will recommend to the Woodbridge Township Board of Education at its next public meeting, scheduled for Thursday, March 19, 2015, that your suspension with pay be approved retroactively, effective today, March 4, 2015, and continue pending further action of the Board.

Respondent testified that she returned to her classroom after the meeting, picked up her belongings and went home. She testified that she was distraught and informed a colleague that she "wished I was dead." A substitute was assigned to cover Respondent's class during the period of her suspension. Dr. Zega's investigation confirmed the incident with Sears' Director of Security and he obtained a copy of the police incident report.

the March 3, 2015 letter due to the fact that Principal Martino's knowledge of the colleague's statement to her occurred after the meeting at which Respondent was suspended.

Dr. Zega decided to lift the suspension and return Ms. Schwab to school in May of 2015 after he learned that the criminal charges against Respondent were dismissed due to the failure of the Sears' apprehending agent to appear in court to testify. He testified that he returned her to class because:

> We were hoping that this was a one-time incident, and we wanted to be compassionate to Ms. Schwab and return her to the classroom.

A similar type of incident to the February 7, 2015 event at Sears occurred on March 5, 2016. While Respondent was visiting a friend on Long Beach Island, she entered Song of the Sea, a store in Beach Haven, New Jersey. While in the store, she picked up a Shell Picture Frame off of a shelf valued at $60, placed it in her purse and left the store without paying for the item. The store owner was unaware of this act at the time. After later discovering that the item was missing, the owner viewed surveillance footage of the store that revealed the item's removal. The video was submitted into evidence. It showed Respondent removing the item from the shelf, concealing it and proceeding down an aisle. In an effort to identify the individual responsible, the owner first posted a picture of Respondent on Facebook. Shortly after, he posted the video footage of the incident on the public pages of Facebook. The post was viewed and reflected 47,000 "hits" including at least one of Respondent's fourth grade students. Principal Martino was informed by a teacher of the post and personally viewed it. Respondent was identified from the pictures and video and was arrested by the Beach Haven Police Department. She was served with a summons for shoplifting. During the court proceeding on May 2, 2016 and after having discussion with the prosecutor, Respondent made application to enter into the Conditional Dismissal Program pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2C:43-13.1 et. seq. The entry into the program required entering a guilty plea to the charges. Respondent's guilty plea is reflected in a transcript of the court proceeding. She was admitted into the program. The prosecutor requested, and Respondent did not object, to the inclusion of a No Trespass Order as part of the plea wherein she agreed to stay out of the store. The conditional dismissal included that Respondent be on probation for a one year period.

Principal Judy Martino testified that because of the public nature of the Song of the Sea incident, students at the Robert Mascenik Elementary School were upset. She testified to receiving eight calls from parents expressing concern over the incident. She also noted that many teachers have students who attended school in the District. She testified that the entire two fourth grade classes became aware of the video. She assigned the school's guidance counselor to provide lessons to each fourth grade class regarding positive behavior to assist them in distinguishing between rumor and fact.

During the course of the arbitration hearings, a substantial volume of testimony and documentary evidence was received reflecting Respondent's mental health history dating back to the 1990s. There is no evidence that the District was aware of this history. During this time, she received counseling that resulted in the prescription of several medications. As is evident, Respondent's mental health treatment began well prior to the February 7, 2015 and March 5, 2016 incidents described above and have continued up to the present. There is no suggestion that her mental health history affected her teaching performance in any way. Prescriptions of the medications and changes in those medications are reflected in the exhibits and in the testimony of the two psychiatrists who offered expert testimony. Respondent asserts that the mental health issues and the effects of changing medications were contributing and influencing factors in her conduct at Sears and Song of the Sea. According to Respondent's psychiatric expert, Dr. Avram Mack, the prescription changes were part of the factors that led to her "acting out" when faced with high stress. Dr. Mack opined that she could "do very well provided that she remains in some form of psychiatric treatment that combines medications and psychotherapy." Respondent testified that "I'm doing very well" and "I finally have a doctor who has me on the right medication regimen." These conclusions followed extensive testimony reflecting that Respondent underwent changes in her psychiatrists and medications over the prior years.

Petitioner does not dispute that the Respondent has suffered from mental health conditions, nor the documentary evidence reflecting her history of treatments. However, it contends that these conditions do not serve as a basis for mitigation of penalty. It cites the testimony of its psychiatric expert, Dr. Eric Goldsmith, who concluded that "it's my opinion to a reasonable degree of psychiatric certainty there is no evidence of a psychiatric condition or psychological problem that would explain the theft incidents." Petitioner contends that relevant case law supports its position that a psychiatric condition does not warrant mitigation of the penalty of removal based upon the Respondent's conduct.

The positions of the parties are extensive and well articulated. Their main arguments will be summarized, including reference to the evidence concerning Respondent's psychiatric diagnosis, treatments and medications.

Petitioner contends that it has proven that Respondent engaged in unbecoming conduct by committing two separate acts of theft and/or shoplifting, both of which involve conduct that is criminal in nature. While the incidents occurred outside of her normal duties as a teacher, nonetheless, Petitioner contends that Respondent created conditions under which the proper operations of the school were affected. In addition, Petitioner submits that Respondent violated Board Policy and law by failing to report her first arrest on February 7, 2015 to the Superintendent of Schools in timely fashion.

Petitioner submits that it has proven that Respondent committed conduct unbecoming as alleged in Charges I and III based upon Respondent's admissions that she engaged in conduct reflected in the two arrests for her actions on February 7, 2015 at the Woodbridge Mall and on March 5, 2016 at Song of the Sea in Long Beach Island. Petitioner contends that Respondent's conduct was illegal, inappropriate and had harmful impacts on the school district and a breach of her trust as a teacher. The conduct was publicized on social media and became common knowledge to the students and parents of the District who became aware of the incident and by many who visually observed her theft on video on March 5, 2016. Her conduct, while off duty, is said to undermine Respondent's contention that she remains fit to be retained as an employee despite obvious concerns by the District, the public and parents over her continued presence in the school, her interaction with elementary school students and potential for future inappropriate or illegal conduct. Petitioner submits that Respondent engaged in conduct with disregard for New Jersey law and Board policy and that due to her unbecoming conduct she no longer can serve as a role model to guide the educational and social growth of students in the District.

In respect to Charge II, Petitioner contends that it has proven that the Respondent violated Board Policy 4219.2 and N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.1(c) by not reporting her February 7, 2015 arrest to the Superintendent of Schools until March 3, 2015. The Policy states:

> DUTY TO REPORT ARREST
> Any non-certificated employee who has been arrested and charged with an offense or crime in this State or any other State which would disqualify the employee from public school employment in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 et seq. or N.J.S.A. 18A:39-19.1 et seq. (as may be amended) must report his or her arrest and the > nature of the charges to the superintendent as soon as possible. If the employee is absent from work and unable to report his or her arrest due to circumstances beyond the employee's control, then the employee shall report the arrest as soon as he or she returns to work. Thereafter, the employee may be suspended with or without pay in accordance with the law. Each such employee shall keep the Superintendent apprised of the status of the charges against him or her. Failure to report an arrest and charge in a timely manner and failure to keep the Superintendent apprised of the status of the charges may be the basis for disciplinary action.

Respondent's failure to report the arrest within fourteen (14) days is said to have deprived the Board of an opportunity to review her conduct in a timely manner and determine whether it should have suspended Respondent earlier pending further investigation. Moreover, the Board cites the testimony of Respondent's Principal Judith Martino that she provides Board Policy to all teachers at each annual opening day faculty meeting that includes the obligation of teachers to report arrests within fourteen (14) days. Thus, Petitioner submits that any attempt by the Respondent to defend her failure to provide notice to the Superintendent of Schools because of lack of knowledge to do so is without merit. Petitioner further notes that when Dr. Zega received the letter on March 3, the contents of the letter did not reveal, as required, that Respondent had been arrested, the date of the arrest and the charges that had been brought against her.

The Petitioner asserts, as alleged in Charge IV, that it has proven that Respondent violated Board Policy 4119.22/4219.22, Conduct and Dress by establishing that Respondent's conduct outside of school constituted unbecoming conduct and affected the proper operation of the school. Petitioner cites relevant portions of this policy:

> UNBECOMING CONDUCT
> When an employee, either within the schools or outside normal duties, creates conditions under which the proper operation of the schools is affected, the board upon recommendation of the superintendent and in accordance with statute shall determine whether such acts or lack of actions constitute conduct unbecoming a school employee, and if so, will proceed against the employee in accordance with law.
> Unbecoming conduct sufficient to warrant board review may result from a single flagrant incident or from a series of incidents.

Petitioner points to the Song of the Sea Facebook post that clearly depicted Respondent engaging in illegal conduct and was widely viewed. Petitioner cites Principal Martino's testimony that she was aware that at least one of Respondent's fourth grade students viewed the surveillance footage and that the entire fourth grade had become aware of it. Principal Martino further testified that she received at least eight (8) phone calls from parents who had either heard about the arrest or heard about the Facebook video. According to Principal Martino, some parents expressed concern with how their children would cope in their classroom environment. The Board further contends, as set forth in Charge V, that when each individual act of unbecoming conduct is considered, the totality of Respondent's conduct is sufficient to require dismissal, even if any individual act of unbecoming conduct is not deemed to be egregious enough to require termination. It points out that each individual act was independent of one another over the course of two school years thus reflecting a pattern of poor judgment and unlawful behavior.

Respondent seeks the dismissal of the tenure charges and her reinstatement to her classroom. Among Respondent's defenses to her conduct is that although she has suffered from serious, chronic mental health issues, her condition did not affect the quality of her job performance and that when she is returned to the classroom she would continue to perform in a highly effective manner. Her mental health issues, in conjunction with changes in her medications, are said to have been contributing factors to her conduct in the two instances that gave rise to the Petitioner's complaints underpinning the tenure charges. The testimony of Respondent, documentary medical evidence and the report and testimony of its psychiatric expert Dr. Avram Mack are asserted by Respondent to find that the penalty of removal in her instance is draconian and must be set aside in favor of her return to the classroom, especially in light of evidence that her current health status has stabilized.

Despite the burden placed on the Petitioner to establish just cause to support the tenure charges it filed against the Respondent, a review of the medical evidence and arguments presented by the Respondent as a defense to her conduct will first be undertaken before reviewing the response of the Petitioner who disputes that the Respondent's medical defenses can properly serve as mitigation to her conduct.

Respondent described her history of mental health treatment. She testified that her OB/GYN initially prescribed Zoloft sometime in the early 1990s. She then engaged a counselor who she saw between 1995 through the 2014-2015 school year. In documents, the counselor described that Respondent was having mood swings and was suffering from depression. Respondent had been taking 75 mg of Zoloft on a daily basis. However, towards the end of 2014, Respondent testified that she felt this medication was no longer working for her. She also testified that she was upset and stressed with her finances. Because of this, she began to reduce her intake of Zoloft towards the end of 2014 for the purpose of "weaning" off the medication.[2] She sought the help of her counselor to make an appointment with a psychiatrist. She testified that she had difficulty finding a psychiatrist who would treat her in timely fashion. Because of this, her counselor suggested that Respondent see her personal physician. She then made an appointment with her personal physician who prescribed Lorazepam and Paxil medications.

According to Respondent, her mental health issues described above in conjunction with the changing medications contributed to the events that occurred on February 7, 2015 and March 5, 2016. She based her testimony on the opinion of psychiatric expert Avram Mack, who evaluated her mental health status and her prior medical history for the purpose of his presentation at this hearing. Respondent does not deny the events that occurred at Sears on February 7, 2015 that led to her arrest for shoplifting. She described that she was "in a fog that day" and believes that having come off the prescription medication Lorazepam and being placed on Paxil contributed to her lack of clear thinking. Once arrested, she described herself as being distraught. She was taken to Raritan Bay Crisis Center where she underwent an evaluation. She then began to be treated by a new psychiatrist who she continued to see along with her long-term counselor. She later stopped seeing the counselor toward the end of July 2015. Her psychiatrist had prescribed new medications: Effexor, Remeron and Abilify. The dosage for Effexor at this time was 225 mgs. Respondent testified that she was not pleased with the treatment she was receiving from this psychiatrist. In February 2016, the psychiatrist reduced the Effexor dosage to 150 mgs. During this approximate time period, Respondent testified that she underwent additional stress when her son failed to pass a psychological examination to become a probation officer.

Respondent offered additional testimony concerning her mental condition at the time that the March 5, 2016 incident occurred in Beach Haven, New Jersey. Respondent removed a picture frame from a store, concealed the item and left the store without paying for the item. Video tape footage confirmed her actions, she was identified and, after being arrested, she admitted to her conduct and plead guilty as required by her entry into the conditional dismissal program.

In her testimony, Respondent indicated that she was undergoing increasing stress at the time because of her son's inability to secure the probation officer position. She also believed that the changes to the Effexor medication contributed to her conduct. She entered a treatment facility at Summit Oaks after her arrest. After completion of the treatment, Respondent received outpatient treatment at the High Focus Center in Cranford, New Jersey. The outpatient treatment consisted of five hours per day, five days a week. After completion of treatment she secured a new treating psychiatrist. Respondent testified that she is happy with her treatment, that she has been given a proper medication regimen and is doing very well.

Respondent offers expert the testimony of psychiatric expert Avram Mack, M.D. who described her condition as having been stabilized. He offered the opinion that Respondent's actions were influenced by her mental health conditions and the effects of changing medications. Dr. Mack identified Respondent as having "a depressive disorder not otherwise specified." He expressed the opinion that her conduct during the two events:

> "represented her 'acting out' in the context of the combination of mood problems, recent stressors, insufficient medication therapy, and possibly the agitating effects of psychiatric medications. It is my opinion that Ms. Schwab's prohibited acting out behavior was influenced by many vulnerabilities is not the same as asserting that she was "insane" or "not criminally responsible." It is to say, rather, that among the factors affecting her, the behaviors occurred in a manner that is a recognized health phenomenon. It is important to note that this state of mind has been recognized by her current psychotherapist and by the patient and remains an area that she recognizes needs to be prevented in the future."

Dr. Mack also opined that Respondent's exposure to various medications, changes in those medications as well as changes in dosages, influenced her behavior. He believed that she suffered from "discontinuation syndrome." That is, the likelihood that a reduction or termination of medications that can lead to a variety of symptoms. His observations on this point included Respondent's cessation of sertraline (Zoloft) in December 2014 as a contributing factor in the February 7, 2015 incident because she no longer had exposure to this medication that had previously provided her with stability.

Dr. Mack identified Respondent as being caught in a "constellation" that influenced her actions such as having a disordered mood, as suffering from real time stressors, as having poor coping skills and being affected by a fluctuation in medications. He described her actions as a form of maladaptive coping as influenced by her psychiatric issues. He explained that the effects of maladaptive coping on her behavior did not require Respondent to be in the throes of a major depressive episode or to be disabled during the time of her actions. Dr. Mack offered his opinion on Respondent's prognosis:

> I think that Ms. Schwab can do very well provided that she remains in some form of psychiatric treatment that combines medications and psychotherapy.

Respondent also urges that her psychiatric expert's opinions were more credible than Petitioner's psychiatric expert, Eric Goldsmith, M.D. Respondent, citing to record testimony, explains the basis for this conclusion:

> Dr. Goldsmith diagnosed Ms. Schwab with a major depressive disorder, and concluded that: "[Ms. Schwab's] state of mind during the shoplifting episodes appears most consistent with her usual and typical inter-episode depression and not an outcome from an acute major depressive episode" (P-X, p.16). Dr. Goldsmith found that Ms. Schwab has long-standing difficulties in coping with stress, and that is irrespective of whether or not she was in the middle of a major depressive disorder. Goldsmith:T:43:7-11. Despite this diagnosis, Dr. Goldsmith concluded that there was no connection between Ms. Schwab's mental health conditions and her behavior. Goldsmith:T:22:14-17.
> Dr. Goldsmith's determination in this regard is unsound, for several reasons. First, Dr. Goldstein acknowledged that the psychological issues experienced by Ms. Schwab could have an affect on a person's behavior. Specifically, he acknowledged that depressed mood, anger, loneliness and feelings of inadequacy—symptoms he attributed to Ms. Schwab—can all affect behavior. Goldsmith:T:54:20-56:3.
>
> Second, Dr. Goldstein acknowledged that a person might suffer, discontinuation symptoms as the result of a reduction in a Zoloft or Effexor prescription. Goldsmith:T:33:2-16. As the result of discontinuation syndrome, a person may experience a change in mood. A person who suffers from depression can experience an increase in depression. A person who suffers from anxiety can suffer an increased in anxiety during a discontinuation syndrome. He also testified that Effexor is a short acting medication, and that was one of the reasons that it is associated with discontinuation symptoms. Goldsmith:T:53:20-24. Despite all of these factors, Dr. Goldsmith believed that it was just a "coincidence" that Ms. Schwab, an otherwise upstanding person and superlative teacher, had engaged in her 2 instances of aberrant behavior both shortly after discontinuing those medications. Goldsmith:T:54:1-13.
> Third, Dr. Goldsmith's conclusions were based on a number of incorrect assumptions. Dr. Goldsmith opined that:

> There is no evidence documented in the medical records of Christine Milne or Carmencita Lanez, M.D. of discontinuation symptoms or adverse side effects from the prescribed psychotropic medications that could account for a change in the mental status proximal to the two incidents of shoplifting. There is no documentation in the medical records of severe anxiety, mood changes, psychotic symptoms or dissociation related to the prescribed medications.

Exhibit P-X, p. 15. He also opined that "[in the months leading up to the second shoplifting event, Ms. Schwab was in good spirits." Exhibit P-X, p.16. Dr. Goldsmith's opinion that Ms. Schwab did not suffer from a discontinuation syndrome in connection with the reduction of her Zoloft and Effexor prescriptions was based upon the records of Ms. Milne and Dr. Lanez. Goldsmith:T:44:25-48:2. Since Ms. Schwab stopped seeing Ms. Milne in July 2015, however, Ms. Mime's records obviously would not document Ms. Schwab's mood at that time. Dr. Goldsmith overlooked the fact that Ms. Milne did, in fact, document mood swings during the time that Ms. Schwab was weaning off of Zoloft. Goldsmith:T:44:25-48:2. Likewise, Ms. Schwab did not see Dr. Lanez between the date in February 2016 when her Effexor was reduced, and March 5, 2016, when she took the picture frame in Beach Haven. This explains why her records did not document Ms. Schwab's mood changes during that crucial time period. Under cross examination, Dr. Goldsmith also admitted that Ms. Schwab did not tell him that she was in good spirits during February 2016, despite the fact that he relied on this assumption, in reaching the conclusions set forth in his report. Goldsmith:T:59:11-60:8. For all these reasons, Dr. Goldsmith's critical conclusions about Ms. Schwab's mindset during the relevant time periods are unsound.

Finally, though Dr. Goldsmith also opined that there was "no evidence" that Ms. Schwab needed a "more aggressive psychopharmacologic intervention" before her arrest in Beach Haven, he acknowledged that when she was admitted to Summit Oaks, her Effexor level was restored to the 225mg level that it had been at before it was reduced by Dr. Lanez. Goldsmith:T:60:9-61:5.

Petitioner disagrees with Respondent's psychiatric expert. It urges that the findings and opinions of Respondent's expert witness of Avram Mack, M.D.

be dismissed in favor of its own expert witness, Eric Goldsmith, M.D. Petitioner contends that Dr. Mack was unable to make an individual diagnosis of the Respondent, did not perform a clinical inventory of the Respondent, had never performed as a qualified expert in the past to opine whether illegal conduct was the result of a reduction in medication or a psychiatric condition, that he erred in concluding that Respondent had a "history" of acting out when faced with high stress based on his acknowledgement that the history he referred to was limited to a single reference to suicidal thoughts Respondent had in 2008, that his attempt to link Respondent's behavior to Respondent's medications was speculative without a reasonable degree of medical certainty, that Respondent continues to have the same stressors in her life that existed at the time she committed the two acts of shoplifting, and that Dr. Mack acknowledged that future "acting out" could reoccur and potentially result in conduct more severe than shoplifting including potentially violent behavior.

DISCUSSION

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10, "[n]o person shall be dismissed or reduced in compensation ... if he is or shall be under tenure of office, position or employment during good behavior and efficiency in the public school system of the state ... except for inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct, or other just cause." The burden is on the District to establish that it met this standard. My review of the evidence requires a finding as to whether Respondent engaged in the conduct she is charged with; if so, whether disciplinary action was warranted;

if so, whether the penalty of removal was consistent with the nature of the conduct; and, if so, whether there were mitigating circumstances requiring a lesser penalty than removal.

Respondent does not dispute that she engaged in inappropriate conduct on two occasions, one on February 7, 2015 and the other on March 5, 2016. On both occasions, she was arrested for shoplifting. In both instances, Respondent admitted to the conduct that gave rise to both arrests. The first charge was dismissed when the Sears apprehending agent did not appear in court as a prosecution witness. The second charge was resolved by way of the conditional dismissal program. N.J.S.A. 2C:43-13.1 et. seq. The Respondent entered a guilty plea as a prerequisite to enter the program and remains on probation. Based upon the testimony, the exhibits and Respondent's admissions during this arbitration hearing in these two cases, Petitioner has established that the Respondent engaged in the conduct it has alleged. Petitioner has also established that the conduct of Respondent rose to the level of conduct unbecoming a teacher and conduct that authorized discipline under its disciplinary policy. The conduct was outside of normal duties but had adverse impact on students and affected the proper operation of the schools. Upon learning of her arrest on March 3, 2015, Dr. Zega met with Respondent, confirmed her arrest, received her acknowledgement of her conduct and suspended her pending further investigation. This required the use of a substitute teacher in the fourth grade classroom until Dr. Zega reinstated her to her class sometime in May. Respondent's arrest and acknowledgment of her conduct, even without a criminal conviction, is sufficient basis to find a violation of her job description that requires a teacher to "behave in accordance with the law and exhibit high standards of professional ethical behavior." Any doubt as to this conclusion is resolved by Respondent's second act of removing a store's item by concealment and without payment only one year later. At that time, she was arrested, entered into a guilty plea of the charges against her, is barred from entering the store and remains on a one year probation. Her arrest prompted events that caused the District to cover her class for the remainder of the semester and to counsel all of the fourth grade students who became aware of Respondent's arrest due mainly to the publicity surrounding the store's posting of the surveillance tape. The extent to which the video was observed cannot be determined, but the record clearly supports the conclusion that it was either seen or its contents described by faculty, parents and students who became aware that a District teacher had committed an unlawful act of dishonesty.

Respondent also failed to inform the Superintendent of Schools of her February 7, 2015 arrest until March 3, 2015. This arrest violated District policy and N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.1(c) when she, through counsel, did not report her arrest in a timely fashion. Moreover, the letter of notice sent by prior counsel, did not, as required by law, that there had been an arrest or the charges that had been lodged against Respondent. While an argument could be made that the inclusion of this violation in the tenure charges was not timely given the lapse of one year, I do not find Petitioner to have waived its ability to file this charge given Respondent's repetition of conduct that led to her second arrest.

Based upon the above, Petitioner has met its burden to establish that the Respondent engaged in the conduct alleged and that it had just cause to discipline Respondent. The next issue to be decided is whether Petitioner has established that Respondent's conduct warranted dismissal from her tenured position. Respondent urges that even if it is found that Petitioner has established a basis for disciplinary action, the penalty of removal is not warranted in this instance for many reasons. They include 1) the District's failure to impose progressive discipline; 2) the Respondent was subject to double jeopardy; 3) that other removal cases in the State of New Jersey in the past have not been sustained even where significant misconduct has been proven; 4) that removal from tenure has not been sustained in certain cases even where a teacher has engaged in conduct unrelated to employment; 5) that the opinion of Respondent's psychiatric expert has established that her behavior was influenced by her exposure to changing medications and stressors leading to her "acting out" in the two instances, that Respondent "can do very well provided that she remains in some form of psychiatric treatment that combines medication and therapy"; and 6) that her past performance and recognition as a highly effective teacher remains unaltered despite her mental health conditions and that she will continue to be a highly effective teacher if given the opportunity to return to her class.

Notwithstanding the forceful presentations by Respondent, I conclude that Petitioner has met its burden to establish just cause for the penalty of removal. The proven conduct of Respondent was serious. It led to her arrest and criminal charges in two instances. The conduct is not in dispute. It reflected two instances of dishonesty by a fourth grade public teacher. The public visual evidence of her second act committed on March 5, 2016 depicted a clear image of her breach of trust as a public school elementary teacher. This repeated act of dishonesty within a thirteen (13) month period allowed the District to exercise its discretion to remove Respondent from her tenured position. District policy provides for the penalty of dismissal "when appropriate." This requires the District to exercise its judgment in accordance with just cause principles. A penalty short of removal was within the discretion of the District but I cannot find that it abused its discretion by not doing so.

The proven repetitive conduct did not require a penalty short of removal. Although the District did not impose discipline after her arrest at Sears, its failure to do so did not waive its ability to consider her admitted conduct in that instance after a repetition of conduct that she acknowledged to be unlawful. To the extent that it is suggested that the District's reinstatement of Respondent for the first offense created a condition for Respondent to assume that a second similar offense would not be considered egregious, such inference is without merit given the unlawful nature of her conduct. Both parties have submitted a volume of arbitration cases in support of their respective positions. Prior decisions on either side of the proposition must give way to the facts of the case at hand. None reflect repetitive acts of dishonesty within a thirteen month period. I also conclude that the evidence concerning Respondent's mental health history cannot serve to mitigate against the District's decision to impose the penalty of removal. Respondent's expert, despite acknowledging Respondent's progress in her medical condition, acknowledged that his judgment did not reflect that Respondent's conduct was not unintentional nor that the stressors in her life that gave rise to her "acting out" were no longer present.

Based upon all of the above, I enter the following Award.

IN THE MATTER OF KIRK HARRIS, WOODLAND TOWNSHIP BOARD OF EDUCATION, BURLINGTON COUNTY.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION DECISION

The record of this matter and the decision of the School Ethics Commission (Commission), forwarded to the Commissioner pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29 for final determination on the Commission's recommended penalty, have been reviewed. The Commission found that respondent violated the School Ethics Act for failure to complete training in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33. Due to respondent's failure to satisfy the long-standing requirement – despite repeated notifications and ample opportunity to complete the training, either in-person or online – the Commission recommends a sanction of suspension for 30 days. If the respondent fails to complete the training by the end of the 30 day period, the Commission recommends that the respondent be removed from his position. Respondent did not file exceptions, nor has he submitted proof that he completed the required training. Respondent also did not appeal the Commission's underlying finding of violation pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:4.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the penalty recommended by the Commission and additionally admonishes respondent for failing to honor an obligation placed upon school officials by law, since such failure has resulted in unnecessary expenditure of administrative and adjudicative resources at both State and local levels. Accordingly, the respondent is suspended from his position as a school official and is hereby ordered to complete the required training within 30 days from the date of this decision. If the respondent does not complete the training within 30 days from the date of this decision, the respondent shall be removed from his position as a school official found to have violated the School Ethics Act.

IT IS SO ORDERED.*

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This matter arises from an Order to Show Cause (OTSC) issued by the School Ethics Commission (Commission) at its meeting on September 27, 2016, and mailed on September 28, 2016 via regular and certified mail, return receipt requested, directing Respondent, a "board member" as defined in N.J.S.A. 18A:12-23 of the School Ethics Act (Act), to show cause as to why the Commission should not find Respondent in violation of the Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2i et seq., for failure to complete training as required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33, N.J.A.C. 6A:28-4.1, and N.J.A.C. 6A:11-3.1(a).

In the OTSC mailed on September 28, 2016, the Commission notified Respondent that he had twenty (20) days to respond to the OTSC, and advised that failure to respond would be deemed an admission of the facts set forth in the OTSC. Respondent was further notified that, upon receipt of the response or upon expiration of the twenty (20) day time period for so filing, the Commission may proceed to a determination of a violation on a summary basis (i.e., without a hearing or further proceedings) in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:28-1.6(c), which so permits when material facts are not in dispute. Respondent did not submit a response to the OTSC, or otherwise complete training as required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33, N.J.A.C. 6A:28-4.1, and N.J.A.C. 6A:11-3.1(a).

The Act was enacted by the New Jersey State Legislature to ensure and preserve public confidence in school board members and charter school trustees. N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33, N.J.A.C. 6A:28-4.1, and N.J.A.C. 6A:11-3.1(a) require each board member and charter school trustee to complete training on an annual basis.

Respondent is a member of the Woodland Township Board of Education located in the City of Chatsworth, County of Burlington. As a result of his position as a board of education member, and in accordance with the statute and regulations cited above, Respondent is required to complete a training program prepared and offered by the New Jersey School Boards Association (NJSBA) on an annual basis. For convenience and ease, the training is offered online and, in this way, a board member or charter school trustee may complete it at any time, from anywhere. For the 2015 training cycle, Respondent was required to complete the Governance 1 training program.

On January 19, 2016, NJSBA provided the Commission with the names of those school board members who failed to complete mandated training in 2015 – the list provided by NJSBA included Respondent. Prior to this time, communications about mandated training were sent to Respondent on November 18, 2015, December 14, 2015, and January 8, 2016. After January 19, 2016, NJSBA sent reminder communications to Respondent on June 30, 2016 and July 5, 2016.

NJSBA also sent reminder communications to Respondent's Business Administrator on April 1, 2016, April 15, 2016, June 14, 2016 and July 12, 2016. Notwithstanding these communications, Respondent did not complete the training.

In addition to the communication efforts undertaken by the NJSBA, the Respondent's County Office of Education (County) also communicated with the Respondent regarding his failure to complete the mandated training requirement. More specifically, in August, 2016, the Commission notified the County that the NJSBA identified Respondent as a school official who failed to complete training in 2015. As a result, the County sent correspondence to Respondent, with a copy to the Business Administrator and the Solicitor, advising that Respondent remained delinquent in completing training. Notwithstanding this correspondence from the County, Respondent did not complete training as directed.

As a final warning, the Commission sent a letter to Respondent dated September 13, 2016, via regular and certified mail, advising him that the Commission requires completion of the training to avoid the issuance of an OTSC for non-compliance. This final warning letter detailed instructions for how Respondent could complete training. Again, notwithstanding this correspondence, Respondent did not complete the required training. As a result, an OTSC was mailed to Respondent on September 28, 2016.

To date, there is no dispute that Respondent did not complete his required training within the 2015 training cycle, and did not complete the training prior to the issuance of the Commission's OTSC. Further, there is no dispute that Respondent failed to respond to the Commission's OTSC as to why he did not complete the training in 2015.

DECISION/PENALTY RECOMMENDATION

N.J.A.C. 6A:28-4.2(d) provides that board members and trustees who fail to comply with the training mandate shall be considered in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33. Based on the record as set forth above, at its meeting on October 24, 2016, the Commission found that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33. Respondent received repeated notifications of the long-standing training requirement, and has had ample opportunity to complete the mandated training.

Where a violation of the Act is found by the Commission, the Commission may recommend to the Commissioner of Education the reprimand, censure, suspension or removal of the school official. N.J.A.C. 6A:28-10.12. The Commission recommends that the Commissioner of Education impose a sanction of suspension for thirty (30) days for failure to complete the mandatory training, with such suspension to become effective immediately upon adoption by the Commissioner of Education. Further, if Respondent fails to submit written documentation to the Commission confirming that he completed training within the period of his suspension, the Respondent shall be removed from office on the thirty-first (31st) day.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c), this decision shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of Education for review of the Commission's recommended sanction. Respondent may either: 1) file exceptions to the recommended sanction; 2) file an appeal of the Commission's finding of violation; or 3) file both exceptions to the recommended sanction together with an appeal of the finding of violation.

Parties taking exception to the recommended sanction of the Commission but not disputing the Commission's finding of violation may file, within thirteen (13) days from the date the Commission's decision is forwarded to the Commissioner, written exceptions regarding the recommended penalty to the Commissioner. The forwarding date shall be the mailing date to the parties, indicated below. Such exceptions must be forwarded to: Commissioner of Education, c/o Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, marked "Attention: Comments on Ethics Commission Sanction." A copy of any comments filed must be sent to the Commission and all other parties.

Parties seeking to appeal the Commission's finding of violation must file an appeal pursuant to the standards set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:4 within thirty (30) days of the filing date of the decision from which the appeal is taken. The filing date shall be three (3) days after the date of mailing to the parties, as shown below. In such cases, the Commissioner's review of the Commission's recommended sanction will be deferred and incorporated into the Commissioner's review of the finding of violation on appeal. Where a notice of appeal has been filed on or before the due date for exceptions to the Commission's recommended sanction (thirteen (13) days from the date the decision is mailed by the Commission), exceptions need not be filed by that date, but may be incorporated into the appellant's briefs on appeal.

CAMDEN COUNTY.	:	DECISION

The record of this matter and the decision of the School Ethics Commission (Commission), forwarded to the Commissioner pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29 for final determination on the Commission's recommended penalty, have been reviewed. The Commission found that respondent violated the School Ethics Act for failure to complete training in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33. Due to respondent's failure to satisfy the long-standing requirement – despite repeated notifications and ample opportunity to complete the training, either in-person or online – the Commission recommends a sanction of suspension for 30 days. If the respondent fails to complete the training by the end of the 30 day period, the Commission recommends that the respondent be removed from his position. Respondent did not file exceptions, nor has he submitted proof that he completed the required training. Respondent also did not appeal the Commission's underlying finding of violation pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:4.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the penalty recommended by the Commission and additionally admonishes respondent for failing to honor an obligation placed upon school officials by law, since such failure has resulted in unnecessary expenditure of administrative and adjudicative resources at both State and local levels. PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This matter arises from an Order to Show Cause (OTSC) issued by the School Ethics Commission (Commission) at its meeting on September 27, 2016, and mailed on September 28, 2016 via regular and certified mail, return receipt requested, directing Respondent, a "board member" as defined in N.J.S.A. 18A:12-23 of the School Ethics Act (Act), to show cause as to why the Commission should not find Respondent in violation of the Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-21 et seq., for failure to complete training as required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33, N.J.A.C. 6A:28-4.1, and N.J.A.C. 6A:11-3.1(a).

In the OTSC mailed on September 28, 2016, the Commission notified Respondent that he had twenty (20) days to respond to the OTSC, and advised that failure to respond would be deemed an admission of the facts set forth in the OTSC. Respondent was further notified that, upon receipt of the response or upon expiration of the twenty (20) day time period for so filing, the Commission may proceed to a determination of a violation on a summary basis (i.e., without a hearing or further proceedings) in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:28-1.6(c), which so permits when material facts are not in dispute. Respondent did not submit a response to the OTSC, or otherwise complete training as required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33, N.J.A.C. 6A:28-4.1, and N.J.A.C. 6A:11-3.1(a).

The Act was enacted by the New Jersey State Legislature to ensure and preserve public confidence in school board members and charter school trustees. N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33, N.J.A.C. 6A:28-4.1, and N.J.A.C. 6A:11-3.1(a) require each board member and charter school trustee to complete training on an annual basis.

Respondent is a member of the Chesilhurst Board of Education located in the City of Chesilhurst, County of Camden. As a result of his position as a board of education member, and in accordance with the statute and regulations cited above, Respondent is required to complete a training program prepared and offered by the New Jersey School Boards Association (NJSBA) on an annual basis. For convenience and ease, the training is offered online and, in this way, a board member or charter school trustee may complete it at any time, from anywhere. For the 2015 training cycle, Respondent was required to complete the Governance 1 training program.

On January 19, 2016, NJSBA provided the Commission with the names of those school board members who failed to complete mandated training in 2015 – the list provided by NJSBA included Respondent. Prior to this time, communications about mandated training were sent to Respondent on November 18, 2015, December 14, 2015, and January 8, 2016. After January 19, 2016, NJSBA sent reminder communications to Respondent on June 30, 2016 and July 5, 2016. NJSBA also sent reminder communications to Respondent's Business Administrator on April 1, 2016, April 15, 2016, June 14, 2016 and July 12, 2016. Notwithstanding these communications, Respondent did not complete the training.

In addition to the communication efforts undertaken by the NJSBA, the Respondent's County Office of Education (County) also communicated with the Respondent regarding his failure to complete the mandated training requirement. More specifically, in August, 2016, the Commission notified the County that the NJSBA identified Respondent as a school official who failed to complete training in 2015. As a result, the County sent correspondence to Respondent, with a copy to the Business Administrator and the Solicitor, advising that Respondent remained delinquent in completing training. Notwithstanding this correspondence from the County, Respondent did not complete training as directed.

As a final warning, the Commission sent a letter to Respondent dated September 13, 2016, via regular and certified mail, advising him that the Commission requires completion of the training to avoid the issuance of an OTSC for non-compliance. This final warning letter detailed instructions for how Respondent could complete training. Again, notwithstanding this correspondence, Respondent did not complete the required training. As a result, an OTSC was mailed to Respondent on September 28, 2016.

To date, there is no dispute that Respondent did not complete his required training within the 2015 training cycle, and did not complete the training prior to the issuance of the Commission's OTSC. Further, there is no dispute that Respondent failed to respond to the Commission's OTSC as to why he did not complete the training in 2015.

DECISION/PENALTY RECOMMENDATION

N.J.A.C. 6A:28-4.2(d) provides that board members and trustees who fail to comply with the training mandate shall be considered in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33. Based on the record as set forth above, at its meeting on October 24, 2016, the Commission found that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33. Respondent received repeated notifications of the long-standing training requirement, and has had ample opportunity to complete the mandated training.

Where a violation of the Act is found by the Commission, the Commission may recommend to the Commissioner of Education the reprimand, censure, suspension or removal of the school official. N.J.A.C. 6A:28-10.12. The Commission recommends that the Commissioner of Education impose a sanction of suspension for thirty (30) days for failure to complete the mandatory training, with such suspension to become effective immediately upon adoption by the Commissioner of Education. Further, if Respondent fails to submit written documentation to the Commission confirming that he completed training within the period of his suspension, the Respondent shall be removed from office on the thirty-first (31st) day.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c), this decision shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of Education for review of the Commission's recommended sanction. Respondent may either: 1) file exceptions to the recommended sanction; 2) file an appeal of the Commission's finding of violation; or 3) file both exceptions to the recommended sanction together with an appeal of the finding of violation.

Parties taking exception to the recommended sanction of the Commission but not disputing the Commission's finding of violation may file, within thirteen (13) days from the date the Commission's decision is forwarded to the Commissioner, written exceptions regarding the recommended penalty to the Commissioner. The forwarding date shall be the mailing date to the parties, indicated below. Such exceptions must be forwarded to: Commissioner of Education, c/o Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, marked "Attention: Comments on Ethics Commission Sanction." A copy of any comments filed must be sent to the Commission and all other parties.

Parties seeking to appeal the Commission's finding of violation must file an appeal pursuant to the standards set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:4 within thirty (30) days of the filing date of the decision from which the appeal is taken. The filing date shall be three (3) days after the date of mailing to the parties, as shown below. In such cases, the Commissioner's review of the Commission's recommended sanction will be deferred and incorporated into the Commissioner's review of the finding of violation on appeal. Where a notice of appeal has been filed on or before the due date for exceptions to the Commission's recommended sanction (thirteen (13) days from the date the decision is mailed by the Commission), exceptions need not be filed by that date, but may be incorporated into the appellant's briefs on appeal.

IN THE MATTER OF RONALD MURPHY,	:
BEVERLY BOARD OF EDUCATION,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BURLINGTON COUNTY.	:	DECISION

The record of this matter and the decision of the School Ethics Commission (Commission), forwarded to the Commissioner pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29 for final determination on the Commission's recommended penalty, have been reviewed. The Commission found that respondent violated the School Ethics Act for failure to complete training in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33. Due to respondent's failure to satisfy the long-standing requirement – despite repeated notifications and ample opportunity to complete the training, either in-person or online – the Commission recommends a sanction of suspension for 30 days. If the respondent fails to complete the training by the end of the 30 day period, the Commission recommends that the respondent be removed from his position. Respondent did not file exceptions, nor has he submitted proof that he completed the required training. Respondent also did not appeal the Commission's underlying finding of violation pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:4.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the penalty recommended by the Commission and additionally admonishes respondent for failing to honor an obligation placed upon school officials by law, since such failure has resulted in unnecessary expenditure of administrative and adjudicative resources at both State and local levels. Accordingly, the respondent is suspended from his position as a school official and is hereby ordered to complete the required training within 30 days from the date of this decision. If the respondent does not complete the training within 30 days from the date of this decision, the respondent shall be removed from his position as a school official found to have violated the School Ethics Act.

This matter arises from an Order to Show Cause (OTSC) issued by the School Ethics Commission (Commission) at its meeting on September 27, 2016, and mailed on September 28, 2016 via regular and certified mail, return receipt requested, directing Respondent, a "board member" as defined in N.J.S.A. 18A:12-23 of the School Ethics Act (Act), to show cause as to why the Commission should not find Respondent in violation of the Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-21 et seq., for failure to complete training as required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33, N.J.A.C. 6A:28-4.1, and N.J.A.C. 6A:11-3.1(a).

In the OTSC mailed on September 28, 2016, the Commission notified Respondent that he had twenty (20) days to respond to the OTSC, and advised that failure to respond would be deemed an admission of the facts set forth in the OTSC. Respondent was further notified that, upon receipt of the response or upon expiration of the twenty (20) day time period for so filing, the Commission may proceed to a determination of a violation on a summary basis (i.e., without a hearing or further proceedings) in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:28-1.6(c), which so permits when material facts are not in dispute. Respondent did not submit a response to the OTSC, or otherwise complete training as required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33, N.J.A.C. 6A:28-4.1, and N.J.A.C. 6A:11-3.1(a).

The Act was enacted by the New Jersey State Legislature to ensure and preserve public confidence in school board members and charter school trustees. N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33, N.J.A.C. 6A:28-4.1, and N.J.A.C. 6A:11-3.1(a) require each board member and charter school trustee to complete training on an annual basis.

Respondent is a member of the Beverly Board of Education located in the City of Beverly, County of Burlington. As a result of his position as a board of education member, and in accordance with the statute and regulations cited above, Respondent is required to complete a training program prepared and offered by the New Jersey School Boards Association (NJSBA) on an annual basis. For convenience and ease, the training is offered online and, in this way, a board member or charter school trustee may complete it at any time, from anywhere. For the 2015 training cycle, Respondent was required to complete the Governance 3 training program.

On January 19, 2016, NJSBA provided the Commission with the names of those school board members who failed to complete mandated training in 2015 – the list provided by NJSBA included Respondent. Prior to this time, communications about mandated training were sent to Respondent on November 18, 2015, December 14, 2015, and January 8, 2016. After January 19, 2016, NJSBA sent reminder communications to Respondent on June 30, 2016 and July 5, 2016. NJSBA also sent reminder communications to Respondent's Business Administrator on April 1, 2016, April 15, 2016, June 14, 2016 and July 12, 2016. Notwithstanding these communications, Respondent did not complete the training.

In addition to the communication efforts undertaken by the NJSBA, the Respondent's County Office of Education (County) also communicated with the Respondent regarding his failure to complete the mandated training requirement. More specifically, in August, 2016, the Commission notified the County that the NJSBA identified Respondent as a school official who failed to complete training in 2015. As a result, the County sent correspondence to Respondent, with a copy to the Business Administrator and the Solicitor, advising that Respondent remained delinquent in completing training. Notwithstanding this correspondence from the County, Respondent did not complete training as directed.

As a final warning, the Commission sent a letter to Respondent dated September 13, 2016, via regular and certified mail, advising him that the Commission requires completion of the training to avoid the issuance of an OTSC for non-compliance. This final warning letter detailed instructions for how Respondent could complete training. Again, notwithstanding this correspondence, Respondent did not complete the required training. As a result, an OTSC was mailed to Respondent on September 28, 2016.

To date, there is no dispute that Respondent did not complete his required training within the 2015 training cycle, and did not complete the training prior to the issuance of the Commission's OTSC. Further, there is no dispute that Respondent failed to respond to the Commission's OTSC as to why he did not complete the training in 2015.

DECISION/PENALTY RECOMMENDATION

N.J.A.C. 6A:28-4.2(d) provides that board members and trustees who fail to comply with the training mandate shall be considered in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33. Based on the record as set forth above, at its meeting on October 24, 2016, the Commission found that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33. Respondent received repeated notifications of the long-standing training requirement, and has had ample opportunity to complete the mandated training.

Where a violation of the Act is found by the Commission, the Commission may recommend to the Commissioner of Education the reprimand, censure, suspension or removal of the school official. N.J.A.C. 6A:28-10.12. The Commission recommends that the Commissioner of Education impose a sanction of suspension for thirty (30) days for failure to complete the mandatory training, with such suspension to become effective immediately upon adoption by the Commissioner of Education. Further, if Respondent fails to submit written documentation to the Commission confirming that he completed training within the period of his suspension, the Respondent shall be removed from office on the thirty-first (31st) day.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c), this decision shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of Education for review of the Commission's recommended sanction. Respondent may either: 1) file exceptions to the recommended sanction; 2) file an appeal of the Commission's finding of violation; or 3) file both exceptions to the recommended sanction together with an appeal of the finding of violation.

Parties taking exception to the recommended sanction of the Commission but not disputing the Commission's finding of violation may file, within thirteen (13) days from the date the Commission's decision is forwarded to the Commissioner, written exceptions regarding the recommended penalty to the Commissioner. The forwarding date shall be the mailing date to the parties, indicated below. Such exceptions must be forwarded to: Commissioner of Education, c/o Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, marked "Attention: Comments on Ethics Commission Sanction." A copy of any comments filed must be sent to the Commission and all other parties.

Parties seeking to appeal the Commission's finding of violation must file an appeal pursuant to the standards set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:4 within thirty (30) days of the filing date of the decision from which the appeal is taken. The filing date shall be three (3) days after the date of mailing to the parties, as shown below. In such cases, the Commissioner's review of the Commission's recommended sanction will be deferred and incorporated into the Commissioner's review of the finding of violation on appeal. Where a notice of appeal has been filed on or before the due date for exceptions to the Commission's recommended sanction (thirteen (13) days from the date the decision is mailed by the Commission), exceptions need not be filed by that date, but may be incorporated into the appellant's briefs on appeal.

The record of this matter and the decision of the School Ethics Commission (Commission), forwarded to the Commissioner pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29 for final determination on the Commission's recommended penalty, have been reviewed. The Commission found that respondent violated the School Ethics Act for failure to complete training in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33. PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This matter arises from an Order to Show Cause (OTSC) issued by the School Ethics Commission (Commission) at its meeting on September 27, 2016, and mailed on September 28, 2016 via regular and certified mail, return receipt requested, directing Respondent, a "board member" as defined in N.J.S.A. 18A:12-23 of the School Ethics Act (Act), to show cause as to why the Commission should not find Respondent in violation of the Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-21 et seq., for failure to complete training as required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33, N.J.A.C. 6A:28-4.1, and N.J.A.C. 6A:11-3.1(a).

In the OTSC mailed on September 28, 2016, the Commission notified Respondent that he had twenty (20) days to respond to the OTSC, and advised that failure to respond would be deemed an admission of the facts set forth in the OTSC. Respondent was further notified that, upon receipt of the response or upon expiration of the twenty (20) day time period for so filing, the Commission may proceed to a determination of a violation on a summary basis (i.e., without a hearing or further proceedings) in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:28-1.6(c), which so permits when material facts are not in dispute. Respondent did not submit a response to the OTSC, or otherwise complete training as required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33, N.J.A.C. 6A:28-4.1, and N.J.A.C. 6A:11-3.1(a).

The Act was enacted by the New Jersey State Legislature to ensure and preserve public confidence in school board members and charter school trustees. N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33, N.J.A.C. 6A:28-4.1, and N.J.A.C. 6A:11-3.1(a) require each board member and charter school trustee to complete training on an annual basis.

Respondent is a member of the Stow Creek Board of Education located in the County of Cumberland. As a result of his position as a board of education member, and in accordance with the statute and regulations cited above, Respondent is required to complete a training program prepared and offered by the New Jersey School Boards Association (NJSBA) on an annual basis. For convenience and ease, the training is offered online and, in this way, a board member or charter school trustee may complete it at any time, from anywhere. For the 2015 training cycle, Respondent was required to complete the Governance 1 training program.

On January 19, 2016, NJSBA provided the Commission with the names of those school board members who failed to complete mandated training in 2015 – the list provided by NJSBA included Respondent. Prior to this time, communications about mandated training were sent to Respondent on November 18, 2015, December 14, 2015, and January 8, 2016. After January 19, 2016, NJSBA sent reminder communications to Respondent on June 30, 2016 and July 5, 2016. NJSBA also sent reminder communications to Respondent's Business Administrator on April 1, 2016, April 15, 2016, June 14, 2016 and July 12, 2016. Notwithstanding these communications, Respondent did not complete the training.

In addition to the communication efforts undertaken by the NJSBA, the Respondent's County Office of Education (County) also communicated with the Respondent regarding his failure to complete the mandated training requirement. More specifically, in August, 2016, the Commission notified the County that the NJSBA identified Respondent as a school official who failed to complete training in 2015. As a result, the County sent correspondence to Respondent, with a copy to the Business Administrator and the Solicitor, advising that Respondent remained delinquent in completing training. Notwithstanding this correspondence from the County, Respondent did not complete training as directed.

As a final warning, the Commission sent a letter to Respondent dated September 13, 2016, via regular and certified mail, advising him that the Commission requires completion of the training to avoid the issuance of an OTSC for non-compliance. This final warning letter detailed instructions for how Respondent could complete training. Again, notwithstanding this correspondence, Respondent did not complete the required training. As a result, an OTSC was mailed to Respondent on September 28, 2016.

To date, there is no dispute that Respondent did not complete his required training within the 2015 training cycle, and did not complete the training prior to the issuance of the Commission's OTSC. Further, there is no dispute that Respondent failed to respond to the Commission's OTSC as to why he did not complete the training in 2015.

DECISION/PENALTY RECOMMENDATION

N.J.A.C. 6A:28-4.2(d) provides that board members and trustees who fail to comply with the training mandate shall be considered in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33. Based on the record as set forth above, at its meeting on October 24, 2016, the Commission found that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33. Respondent received repeated notifications of the long-standing training requirement, and has had ample opportunity to complete the mandated training.

Where a violation of the Act is found by the Commission, the Commission may recommend to the Commissioner of Education the reprimand, censure, suspension or removal of the school official. N.J.A.C. 6A:28-10.12. The Commission recommends that the Commissioner of Education impose a sanction of suspension for thirty (30) days for failure to complete the mandatory training, with such suspension to become effective immediately upon adoption by the Commissioner of Education. Further, if Respondent fails to submit written documentation to the Commission confirming that he completed training within the period of his suspension, the Respondent shall be removed from office on the thirty-first (31st) day.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c), this decision shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of Education for review of the Commission's recommended sanction. Respondent may either: 1) file exceptions to the recommended sanction; 2) file an appeal of the Commission's finding of violation; or 3) file both exceptions to the recommended sanction together with an appeal of the finding of violation.

Parties taking exception to the recommended sanction of the Commission but not disputing the Commission's finding of violation may file, within thirteen (13) days from the date the Commission's decision is forwarded to the Commissioner, written exceptions regarding the recommended penalty to the Commissioner. The forwarding date shall be the mailing date to the parties, indicated below. Such exceptions must be forwarded to: Commissioner of Education, c/o Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, marked "Attention: Comments on Ethics Commission Sanction." A copy of any comments filed must be sent to the Commission and all other parties.

Parties seeking to appeal the Commission's finding of violation must file an appeal pursuant to the standards set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:4 within thirty (30) days of the filing date of the decision from which the appeal is taken. The filing date shall be three (3) days after the date of mailing to the parties, as shown below. In such cases, the Commissioner's review of the Commission's recommended sanction will be deferred and incorporated into the Commissioner's review of the finding of violation on appeal. Where a notice of appeal has been filed on or before the due date for exceptions to the Commission's recommended sanction (thirteen (13) days from the date the decision is mailed by the Commission), exceptions need not be filed by that date, but may be incorporated into the appellant's briefs on appeal.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF UNION, UNION COUNTY,

RESPONDENT.

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

SYNOPSIS

Pro se petitioner filed an appeal of the determination of the respondent Board that her child, A.T., was not entitled to a free public education in Union Township schools between September 6, 2016 and November 16, 2016. The Board contended that a residency investigation showed that petitioner was not a domiciliary of Union Township during this time, and sought reimbursement of tuition for A.T.'s period of ineligible attendance.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a), public schools are required to provide a free education to individuals aged 5 to 20 years who are domiciled within the school district; the domicile of unemancipated children is the domicile of their parent or guardian; where a local board determines that a child is not properly domiciled in its district, N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2) provides that the parent or guardian may contest the Board's residency decision, and bears the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence that the child is eligible for a free education; here, the petitioner was unable to produce compelling evidence that she was a domiciliary of Union during the time period in question. The ALJ concluded that petitioner was not domiciled in the Union School District for the forty-five day period between September 6, 2016 and November 16, 2015; accordingly, the Board is entitled to reimbursement for forty-five days of tuition at $78.28 per day, or a total of $3,522.60.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusions, and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. Petitioner was directed to reimburse the Board in the amount of $3,522.60 for the period of A.T.'s ineligible attendance. The petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed.[1] The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) finding that petitioner failed to sustain her burden of establishing that she was a domiciliary of Union between September 6, 2016 and November 16, 2016. The Commissioner further concurs with the ALJ's conclusion that A.T. was, therefore, not entitled to a free public education in the District's schools during this time.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1b, the Board is entitled to tuition reimbursement in the amount of $3,522.60 ($78.28 per day for forty-five days) for the time period between September 6, 2016 and November 16, 2016, during which time A.T. was ineligible to attend, as detailed in the ALJ's Initial Decision.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter. Petitioner is directed to reimburse the Board in the amount of $3,522.60 for tuition costs incurred during the time period that A.T. was ineligible to attend school in Union. The petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

Petitioner,

v.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF UNION, UNION COUNTY,

Respondent.

S.M., petitioner appearing pro se,

Stephen J. Christiano, Esq. for respondent (Cleary, Giacobbe, Alfieri & Jacobs, LLC)

Record Closed: November 15, 2016 Decided: November 29, 2016

BEFORE: JOANN LASALA CANDIDO, ALAJ

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Respondent, Board of Education of the Township of Union, seeks reimbursement of tuition from petitioner, parent of A.T. (DOB 11/09/1997) for a period of forty-five days, commencing September 6, 2016 and ending November 15, 2016, asserting that petitioner and her son were not domiciled within the Union School District. The tuition is $78.28 per day for a total reimbursement sought of $3,522.60.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on September 15, 2016, for hearing as a contested case.

On due notice to all parties, the hearing was scheduled and heard on November 15, 2016.

ISSUE

The issues in this matter are whether A.T. is eligible to attend respondent's public schools free of charge in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1 and, if not, whether respondent's requests for tuition reimbursement A.T. for forty-five days should be granted.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Respondent's residency inspector, John Matos, credibly testified that on at least sixteen occasions during the 2015-2016 school year, he never observed petitioner leaving a residence in Union to bring her son to school even though he reported to Union High School on those dates. A residency hearing was conducted on January 12, 2016 with petitioner and her children present. It was determined by the assistant superintendent that there was a residency violation. Matos continued his investigation and did spot checks late in the evening and petitioner was always at her mother's address in Irvington. However, the respondent is not seeking tuition for the previous school year. Matos continued surveillance from October 26, 2016 to November 9, 2016 as well as spot checks late in the evening. He determined that petitioner continued to be observed at the Irvington address and not the Union address. It now appears however that A.T. is residing at the Union address.

Petitioner presented rent receipts for the address in Union from June 2016 through November 2016. She was not able to produce the signor of these receipts at the hearing. Petitioner was also unable to present a lease with her name on it or a driver's license with the Union address.

LEGAL ANALYSIS

Any child between the ages of five and twenty years old is entitled to a free public education in the district in which he is a resident. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a); N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a). A student is a resident of a school district if his parent or guardian has a permanent home in the district such that "the parent or guardian intends to return to it when absent and has no present intent of moving from it, notwithstanding the existence of homes or residences elsewhere." N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)(1). A student may attend school in a district in which he is a non-resident, with or without payment of tuition, at the discretion of the school district. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-3(a); N.J.A.C. 6A:22-2.2.

Domicile has been defined as the place where a person has his true, fixed, permanent home and principal establishment, and to which whenever he is absent he has the intention of returning. State v. Benny, 20 N.J 238, 250 (1955). The domicile of an unemancipated child is that of his or her parent, custodian or guardian. P.B.K. o/b/o minor child E.Y. v. Board of Ed. of Tenafly, 343 N.J. Super 419, 427 (App. Div. 2001).

Where a local board determines that a child is not properly domiciled in its district, N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2) provides a right of appeal to the parents as follows:

> The parent or guardian may contest the Board's decision before the Commissioner within 21 days of the date of the decision and shall be entitled to an expedited hearing before the Commissioner and shall have the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence that the child is eligible for a free education under the criteria listed in this section.

In support of its claim for tuition, respondent produced residency inspector John Matos, who testified in its behalf. He stated that the results of the investigation supported the finding that A.T. and his mother, S.M. are domiciled out-of-district, but continued to attend public schools in the district for a total of forty-five days this school year. The cost of tuition for A.T for forty-five days at $78.28 per day is a total of $3,522.60.

The Board asserts that it is entitled to be reimbursed for tuition for the period of A.T.'s ineligible enrollment in its high school. Where, as here, the evidence does not support the claims of the resident, the Commissioner of Education is authorized to assess tuition pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.2(a), which provides as follows:

> If in the judgment of the Commissioner the evidence does not support the claim of the resident, he shall assess the resident tuition for the student prorated to the time of the student's ineligible attendance in the school district. Tuition shall be computed on the basis of 1/180 of the total annual per pupil cost to the local district multiplied by the number of days of ineligible attendance and shall be collected in the manner in which orders of the Commissioner are enforced.

N.J.S.A. 18A: 38-1(b) likewise requires that tuition be calculated on the basis of 1/180 of the total annual per pupil cost to the district multiplied by the number of days of ineligible attendance.

Based upon the facts adduced and the legal principles cited above, I CONCLUDE that petitioner was not a domiciliary in the Union School District for the forty-five days sought and that respondent is entitled to reimbursement for the costs of audited tuition in the amount of $3,522.60.

DECISION AND ORDER

Based on the foregoing, it is hereby ORDERED that respondent's determination that petitioner and her son were not residents and domiciliary in Union, New Jersey, and were not domiciled within its school district during the period of September 6, 2016 through November 15, 2016 is hereby AFFIRMED. It is further ORDERED that respondent is entitled to reimbursement from petitioner for the cost of audited tuition in the amount of $3,522.60.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

BACKGROUND OF THE CASE

On September 27, 2016, the Greater Egg Harbor Regional High School District ("Board" or "District") served High School Teacher Patrick Lynch ("Lynch" or "Respondent") with tenure charges. Lynch is charged with engaging in unbecoming conduct in the work place by having consumed intoxicating beverages and testing legal intoxication on a blood-alcohol screening test. On September 30, the Commissioner of Education certified the tenure charges and on October 11, the Respondent filed an Answer with the Department of Education admitting to the consumption of alcohol in the work place during school hours and admitting to legal intoxication pursuant to a blood-alcohol screening test. The Respondent also proffered affirmative and mitigating defenses concerning his rehabilitation.

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:11-6.3, I was appointed on October 24, 2016 as the arbitrator to hear and decide the tenure charges filed by the Board against Lynch. An arbitration hearing was conducted on December 1, 2016, at which time the parties each presented witnesses and documentary evidence. The parties summarized their respective cases orally on the record and waived post-hearing briefs. N.J.A.C. 6A:11-6.3 provides that the decision in this matter shall be issued within forty-five days of the beginning of the hearing, and that the decision shall be final and binding.

On June 21, 2016, the Respondent's attorney wrote to the Board asking that the proposed tenure charges against Lynch be placed on hold pending his completion of an in-patient addiction recovery program. The Board agreed and held the charges in abeyance. On September 20, 2016, after completing the program, Respondent asked to be returned to work under a Last Chance Agreement (email dated September 20, 2016 from N. Rogovoy).

The Board denied the request and, on September 27, 2016, formally issued the above referenced Tenure Charges, and related documentation, referring them to Commissioner of Education David Hespe, on that date. On October 11, 2016, the Respondent filed an Answer to the Charges, admitting he consumed alcohol during school hours in the workplace and that he had been tested and discovered to have a blood alcohol content of .111% on May 26, 2016, while on duty in the workplace. He left the proofs of signs and symptoms of intoxication to the Board to prove.

STATEMENT OF CHARGES

On September 27, 2016, the Board brought the following charges against Patrick Lynch:

CHARGE 1:

1. That on or about May 26, 2016, Patrick Lynch, a tenured professional staff employee of the Greater Egg Harbor Regional High School District Board of Education, while on school premises in his assigned workplace and during school hours and in the presence of students, was in a state of intoxication due to consumption of alcohol, all of the same constituting conduct unbecoming in the workplace.

2. That on or about May 26, 2016, Patrick Lynch, a tenured professional staff employee of the Greater Egg Harbor Regional High School District Board of Education, did manifest in the workplace and during school hours and in the presence of students, obvious signs and symptoms of having consumed intoxicating beverages, all of the same constituting conduct unbecoming in the workplace.

3. That on or about May 26, 2016, Patrick Lynch, a tenured professional staff employee of the Greater Egg Harbor Regional High School District Board of Education did, during school hours and at a time when he was responsible to be on duty in the workplace submitted to a blood alcohol screening test which yielded a result .111% blood alcohol content, all of the same constituting legal intoxication and unbecoming conduct.

* * * *

In May 2016, Patrick Lynch was a science teacher at the Oakcrest High School of the Board. The Board hired Lynch in about 2002 and he was tenured. Before May 2011, he had no performance issues and no medical or addiction issues. Lynch admitted that he began drinking in 1998 (P-4).

In 2011, after an incident where another staff member reported him, the Board required that Lynch (or Lynch volunteered) obtain treatment for alcohol addiction (P-4). In June 2011, he entered a 45-day inpatient addiction recovery program, but suffered a relapse about one month after completing it. He was readmitted for an additional 60 days (P-7, P-8). It appears he relapsed again later in 2011, but recovered and remained sober from January 2012. Lynch was apparently on a leave of absence and did not work at all during the 2011-2012 school year (P-4). Before permitting him to return to work, the Board required that Lynch be evaluated by its psychiatrist. On May 18, 2012, Lynch was evaluated by Dr. Gary Michael Glass (P-4). Lynch testified the content of Glass' report was entirely accurate.

Report of Dr. Glass (Board's Psychiatrist)

Glass found Lynch fit to return to work but expressed concern that Lynch was not fully committed to his sobriety. Glass recommended that Lynch participate in Alcoholics Anonymous ("A.A.") at least four times per week, immediately obtain a temporary sponsor and then a permanent sponsor within two months, receive counselling and obtain a complete physical/medical examination.

On June 12, 2012, then-superintendent Steven Ciccariello wrote to Lynch advising he could return to work in the 2012-2013 school year, adding: "In closing, I informed you that there would be no second chances in the future and the Board is prepared to file tenure charges against you should there be another incident." (P-4) Lynch returned to work and appears to have worked without incident from 2012 until October 2015.

Lynch initially testified that between the time he returned to work in September 2012 and the May, 2016 incident, there were no further incidents at work. However, on cross examination, he admitted on one particular day in 2015, after a night he was drinking, he was called to a meeting in the principal's office.

On October 12, 2015, an incident report (P-2, P-3) was created by Principal Joseph Carruth, describing a complaint by another staff member (Gatto) who thought Lynch may have been drunk. Lynch was questioned, denied being drunk but admitted to having been drinking alcohol the night before. Carruth thought Lynch was not drunk and decided not to order his blood alcohol levels to be tested. The principal asked him if there was anything the district could do to help him with his problem. Lynch declined and said he did not need any help. Carruth returned him to class but reported the incident to Keenan (P-2, P-3). The incident report was placed in Lynch's personnel file.[1]

On cross-examination, Lynch was referred to the "contingencies" set out in Dr. Glass' report for him to return to work in 2012. Lynch's testimony reveals he has not complied with the conditions:

Q: Do you attend AA meetings?
A: I have, yes.
Q: Do you attend now?
A: Umm, occasionally, yes.

May 26, 2016 Incident

On May 26, 2016, Superintendent John Keenan was out of his office at an awards ceremony. He received a call from Oakcrest High School Assistant Principal Michael Wilbraham, reporting that two employees had stated that Lynch smelled of alcohol and may be intoxicated. Keenan directed Wilbraham to remove Lynch from his classroom and investigate whether Lynch was intoxicated. Keenan also told Wilbraham that if he reasonably suspected Lynch had been drinking alcohol, he should immediately send him for a blood test. At 11:15 a.m., Wilbraham met with Lynch, Association President Stephanie Tarr, Association Representative Erin Chiappini, Supervisor Michele Mesghall and School Nurse Cindy Young (See, Statement of Evidence in Support of Tenure Charges). Wilbraham told Keenan that Lynch denied having been drinking that day but admitted he had been drinking heavily the night before. Lynch testified that during dinner with his parents the evening before, he learned that his mother had cancer and this news had gotten him upset and triggered his drinking.

[1] At the hearing, Respondent's attorney objected to admission of any documents in Lynch's personnel file, but I admitted them into evidence, including P-2 and P-3, because I found they were potentially relevant to the Board's decision-making in this matter. I find the documents are hearsay exceptions within the meaning of N.J.R.E. 803c (6) records of regularly conducted activity and/or (8) public records, reports and findings. Additionally, Lynch corroborated the contents of J-2 and J-3.

After Lynch consulted privately with his Union representatives and Union attorney, he agreed to submit to blood alcohol testing. He then went to AtlanticCare Occupational Medicine (P-1), where he underwent alcohol testing, resulting in a blood alcohol reading of 0.111%. The lab test occurred at approximately 1:15 p. m., several hours after the initial report (P-1, pg. 2). Lynch acknowledged in testimony the legal minimum for intoxication is .02% and that on May 26, 2016, his reading was above the minimum.

Keenan received the lab report later that day. Keenan realized that Lynch's blood alcohol level constituted legal intoxication and placed him on paid administrative leave pending further Board action (P-1). He reviewed Lynch's personnel file and learned of Lynch's prior history of treatment and relapses. Based on Lynch's intoxication at work on May 26, and his history, Keenan decided to recommend the Board bring tenure charges against Lynch.

On June 8, 2016, Keenan filed a Statement of Tenure Charges and a Statement of Evidence supporting the charges against Lynch with the Board. On June 21, 2016, Lynch filed a request for an unpaid leave of absence to enter a 60 to 90-day inpatient addiction treatment program. Through his attorney, he asked for a delay in the processing of the tenure charges. On June 27, 2016, the Board granted Lynch's request to hold the charges in abeyance pending his completion of the treatment program.

From June 18, 2016 to September 9, 2016, Lynch was enrolled in a treatment program at the Recovery Institute of South Florida. On September 9, 2016, the Institute's physician Dr. Emilio Mantero-Atienza, wrote that Lynch had successfully completed the program and was fit to return to work with no restrictions effective September 12, 2016. (R-1)

On September 26, 2016, the Board considered the tenure charges, statement of evidence and the response filed by Lynch's attorney and determined and voted that the charges were sufficient to warrant dismissal. Since that date, Lynch has been suspended without pay. On September 27, 2016, the Board forwarded the certificate of determination and all supporting documentation (9 documents) to the Commissioner of Education.

POSITIONS OF THE PARTIES

The Board

The Board argues that the incidence of Lynch's intoxication on May 26, 2016, is not Lynch's first offense, and a review of his record shows he has a serious, ongoing problem. The Board opposes a last chance agreement, arguing it would only work to enable Lynch's condition and would ultimately be to the detriment of the safety and education of the students. It points out that high school students learn by example, and Lynch sets a bad example for students.

The Association

The Union acknowledges that Lynch came to work intoxicated. It asks that in lieu of termination, I return him to duty on the condition that he sign a "last chance agreement," in which any further intoxication over the legal limit of .02 would result in an immediate forfeiture of Lynch's teaching position. Lynch testified that he understood and will agree to these conditions.

In this matter, the Board has the burden of proving by a preponderance of the credible evidence that tenure charges are warranted under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10, "Dismissal and reduction in compensation of persons under tenure in public school system," providing no person under tenure shall be dismissed ". . .except for inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct or other just cause." The Board must also demonstrate that dismissal is the appropriate penalty.

The Board argues that Lynch should not be returned to a professional position given his history of relapses wherein he has been intoxicated while supervising and teaching students. The Association argues Lynch has a long history of satisfactory performance, struggles with a recognized disability and has attempted to recover from addiction. It asserts he should be given another final chance to retain his position.

Lynch testified he had not possessed nor drunk alcohol during school hours or in the workplace, however, in his formal Answer, dated October 11, 2016, he admits he consumed alcohol during school hours in the workplace. Moreover, the blood alcohol test administered at 1:15 p.m. -- several hours after the school day began -- showed a high blood alcohol content level of .111%, considerably beyond the legal intoxication level of .02%. The Board did not conduct a search of Lynch's classroom at the time it met with him on May 26, 2016, but given the above facts, I infer Lynch could have been drinking alcohol on the job or just before the workday began. The evidence presented at the hearing including the lab report and the testimony of both Keenan and Lynch, proves Lynch was intoxicated during school hours, at the workplace and in the presence of students. This shows very bad judgment and lack of self-control on Lynch's part. This behavior constitutes unbecoming conduct warranting dismissal. Therefore, based on the above, I find the Board proved paragraphs 1 and 3 of the Charge.

However, paragraph 2 alleges that on May 26, 2016, Lynch manifested "obvious signs and symptoms" of being intoxicated. In this record, only hearsay evidence supports this assertion. No one who actually saw and interacted with Lynch on that day testified at the hearing. Some direct evidence is required for me to find Lynch appeared or was acting intoxicated. Those individuals who the record indicates encountered Lynch - the coworkers, Wilbraham, his Association representatives, and the school nurse – did not testify. I decline to make this finding absent some direct, non-hearsay evidence. Based on this record, I find the Board has not proven this allegation.

A Board is entitled to expect its teachers to model appropriate and responsible conduct to students, especially teenagers, including, at the appropriate age, moderate consumption of alcoholic beverages, abstention from alcohol and avoidance of intoxication during worktime and at the workplace. Teachers are required to have an "unusually high degree of self-restraint and controlled behavior." (Tenure of Sammons, 1972 S.L.D. 302, 321). Further, a Board is entitled to require teachers to maintain order and safe conditions for students; intoxication likely renders a teacher incapable of fulfilling this role.

I infer from Lynch's records and testimony that he was likely intoxicated in the workplace in the presence of students in both 2011 and 2015. Superintendent Ciccariello's June 2012 letter and Principal Carruth's October 2015 incident report refer to "incidents". His records indicate he was off duty from May 2011 until September 2012, receiving treatment for alcohol addiction. He took appropriate steps in both 2011 and 2016 and from fall, 2012 until late 2015, he maintained his sobriety at the workplace.

Lynch was made aware of steps to take to avoid relapses five years ago. He has participated in inpatient recovery programs and been absent for lengthy periods. However, some of his attendance in such programs was not entirely voluntary. He did not initiate all of these recovery efforts, rather he undertook them at times when he risked losing his job. Dr. Glass noted his concerns about Lynch's commitment to sobriety; however, it appears that Lynch is not currently taking the steps Glass recommended or pursuing alternatives to achieve and maintain sobriety. As of the date of this hearing, Lynch has acknowledged he is only occasionally active in AA and there is no evidence he has a sponsor. Lynch did not assert that he has received counseling or is pursuing other steps to maintain his sobriety. He has complied only minimally with the recommended actions. Lynch's lack of adherence to the advice he received is an indication that were he returned to work, he would likely be unable to avoid future relapses. It appears likely the Board will be forced to contend with similar conduct in the future. The Board should not be required to worry about Lynch's next occurrence of being intoxicated at work, with potentially more serious consequences to himself, the students and the entire education community. Under these circumstances, termination is the appropriate penalty. Were he returned to work, he would likely continue his pattern.

NJ Court Disability/Accommodation cases

Respondent argues Lynch suffers from a disability and should be accommodated with a last chance order, citing Matter of Jackson, 294 N.J.Super 233 (1996); Matter of Cahill, 245 N.J. Super. 397 (1991) and Clowes v. Terminix Intern., Inc. , 109 N.J. 575 (1988). Clowes established that alcoholism is a handicap under the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination (LAD), N.J.S.A. 10:5-1 et seq. Discrimination against an alcoholic employee is prohibited unless the employer reasonably believes that the person cannot perform the work in question because of the handicap.[2] In Jackson, the Appellate Division upheld a termination of a firefighter in an LAD case where the firefighter had been suspended for drug abuse, was given the opportunity to attend a drug rehabilitation program and returned to work under a last chance agreement. His return was contingent on abstaining from any use of illegal drugs or chemical substances on or off-duty. When, three years later, the firefighter tested positive for using an illegal drug, he was discharged. In reviewing the appeal, the court noted the LAD did not require a municipality to provide a second chance for rehabilitation. It reiterated an "employer is not required to assume or hope that the employee will limit drug use to off duty hours or that the effects of the drug use will be dissipated by the time the work day begins," 294 N.J. Super. 236, citing Cahill at 245 N.J.Super at 401.

In this case, even assuming the veracity of Lynch's testimony that he had not been drinking on the job but only during off-duty hours the prior evening, clearly, the effects of his alcohol consumption had not dissipated even by six hours after the beginning of the school day. While he has no record of poor classroom performance issues, it nevertheless can be said that he cannot perform his teaching responsibilities to the best of his ability while under the influence of alcohol. When he chooses to drink heavily even during off hours, he places the trust that the public must have in the Board in serious jeopardy. It appears the Board gave him a last chance in 2011, subject to his compliance with certain conditions. The superintendent provided Lynch with a written warning putting him on notice that the Board would not tolerate any repeat incidents involving intoxication and was advised that further incidents would lead to tenure charges. He has only minimally complied with the conditions putting him back to work in 2012 and his efforts at rehabilitation were pursued primarily while he was under threat of losing his position. Under these circumstances, I decline to order a last chance agreement.

The Board's decision to terminate Lynch is, therefore, upheld.

AWARD

The Board proved Charge 1, paragraph 1, as follows:

> On or about May 26, 2016, Patrick Lynch, a tenured professional staff employee of the Greater Egg Harbor Regional High School District Board of Education, Oakcrest High School, while on school premises, during school hours and in the presence of students, was in a state of intoxication due to his consumption of alcohol, all of the same constituting conduct unbecoming in the workplace.

The Board proved Charge 1, paragraph 3 as follows:

> On or about May 26, 2016, Patrick Lynch, a tenured professional staff employee of the Greater Egg Harbor Regional High School District Board of Education, Oakcrest High School, during school hours and at a time when he was responsible to be on duty in the workplace submitted to a blood alcohol screening test which yielded a result of .111% blood alcohol content, constituting legal intoxication and unbecoming conduct.

The Board failed to prove Charge 1, paragraph 2:

> That on or about May 26, 2016, Patrick Lynch, a tenured professional staff employee of the Greater Egg Harbor Regional High School District Board of Education, while in the workplace and during school hours and in the presence of students, manifested obvious signs and symptoms of having consumed intoxicating beverages, constituting unbecoming conduct.

That charge is dismissed.

Patrick Lynch's tenure as a teacher with the Greater Egg Harbor Regional School District Trenton School District is revoked and he is terminated immediately.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF ELIZABETH, UNION COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner – a teacher's aide formerly employed by the respondent Board – alleged that sick days were improperly docked from her bank after she sustained a work-related injury, in contravention of the requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1. Petitioner sought reimbursement for those days in accordance with the Collective Bargaining Agreement between the Board and the Elizabeth Education Association. The Board contended that petitioner did not provide timely notice that she had sustained a work-related injury. Cross motions for summary decision were filed by the parties.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue here, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; petitioner fell while attempting to restrain an unruly student on March 8, 2013, sustaining a work-related injury; petitioner returned to work after the accident, but was subsequently determined to be permanently disabled by the Division of Pensions; medical evidence in the record attributes the permanent disability to the injuries she sustained on March 8, 2013; the Board had actual notice that petitioner claimed to have a compensable injury on May 10, 2013; the Board's argument that petitioner did not provide timely notice of her work-related injury is therefore without merit; and, under the totality of the circumstances presented in this matter, the Commissioner's jurisdiction extends to the claim that petitioner should be reimbursed for her controverted sick days. The ALJ concluded that the Board improperly docked the petitioner's sick bank in contravention of the requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1(a), and ordered the Board to reimburse petitioner $480 for twenty-four sick days at the rate of $20 per day.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ, and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter, for the reasons expressed therein.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon such review, the Commissioner agrees with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) – for the reasons thoroughly set forth in the Initial Decision – that the Board improperly docked petitioner's sick bank, in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1(a). The Commissioner is also in accord with the ALJ that petitioner is entitled to reimbursement for twenty-four sick days at the rate of $20 per day.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the Board is ordered to reimburse petitioner in the amount of $480.

Record Closed: October 31, 2016 Decided: November 29, 2016

BEFORE ELLEN S. BASS, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, Rashida Chaudry, a teacher's aide formerly employed by the respondent, Elizabeth Board of Education (the Board), alleges that sick days were improperly docked from her bank after she sustained a work-related injury, in contravention of the requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1. She seeks reimbursement for those days, in accordance with the Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA) between the Board and the Elizabeth Education Association (the Association). The Board replies that Chaudry did not provide timely notice that she had sustained a work-related injury. Accordingly, the Board asks that the petition of appeal be dismissed.

Chaudry filed her petition of appeal on August 6, 2015. An answer was filed by the Board on September 22, 2015, and matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on September 29, 2015. Chaudry filed a motion to amend her petition on May 6, 2016, which was unopposed, and was granted via order dated June 21, 2016. The amendment added the claim for reimbursement for the controverted sick days, pursuant to the CBA between the Board and the Association.

A joint stipulation of facts was filed by the parties on September 14, 2016. Cross-motions for summary decision were filed on or about October 16, 2016. Chaudry filed a reply on or about October 31, 2016, at which time the record closed.

FINDINGS OF FACT

The parties have stipulated to the salient facts and I FIND as follows:

1. When the events relevant to this dispute arose, Chaudry had been employed by the Board as a teacher's assistant for about twelve years.

2. On Friday, March 8, 2013, she sustained an accident during the course of her employment. She fell while attempting to restrain an unruly student.

3. Chaudry reported the accident to her principal the next school day, Monday, March 11, 2013.[1]

[1] It should be noted that the stipulation filed by the parties read as follows: "Ms. Chaudry said she reported the accident to her principal . . . ." But the Board offered nothing to counter Chaudry's statement in this regard; and I thus FIND that Chaudry did so notify her principal.

4. As a result of the accident, Chaudry claimed to have suffered severe injuries to her back and leg, which caused her to miss twenty-four work days, beginning on April 10, 2013.

5. On April 12, 2013, the Board received a medical certificate from Chaudry's primary care physician, Dr. Pilar Tan, who stated that Chaudry was unable to return to work from April 10, 2013, through May 7, 2013, due to "low back pain, sciatica and degenerative arthritis."

6. On May 3, 2013, the Board received another medical certificate from Dr. Tan stating that Chaudry could not return to work until June 26, 2013, due to back pain.

7. Chaudry was marked "sick" for these absences, and her sick leave bank was docked twenty-four days.

8. Chaudry first reported her claim to the Board's worker's compensation carrier, Inservco Insurance Services, Inc., on June 25, 2013.

9. Inservco denied the worker's compensation claim via notice dated July 1, 2013.

10. Chaudry retired from her position with the Board effective July 1, 2013, and was granted Ordinary Disability benefits by the State of New Jersey, Division of Pensions and Benefits.

11. Chaudry filed a claim petition with the Department of Labor and Workforce Development, Division of Worker's Compensation, but her petition was dismissed with prejudice on May 19, 2015, because she was already collecting ordinary disability benefits.

12. The CBA between the Board and the Association covers the terms of Chaudry's employment, and provides for payment for all unused sick days upon retirement at the rate of $20 per day, where an employee has accumulated 16-50 days.

13. To date, the Board has not compensated Chaudry for her accumulated sick leave, to include the twenty-four sick days at issue.

14. On June 27, 2016, Chaudry was evaluated by orthopedic surgeon Arthur Becan who determined that she was permanently disabled as follows:

> The work-related injury of March 8, 2013, was the competent producing factor for the claimant's subjective and objective findings of today . . . the patient's absence from work, including 24 days of absence, is reasonable and necessary to treat the claimant's work-related injuries.

The petition avers that on May 10, 2013, Chaudry, through counsel, challenged the docking of her sick days. A copy of counsel's letter to that effect accompanies the petition of appeal, and confirms that it was forwarded that day via telecopier to counsel for the Board. Although this correspondence goes unmentioned in the stipulation of fact, the Board does not dispute that the letter was sent and received, and I thus FIND that the Board had actual notice that Chaudry claimed to have a compensable injury as early as May 10, 2013.

ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5 provides that summary decision should be rendered "if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." Our regulation mirrors R. 4:46-2(c), which provides that "the judgment or order sought shall be rendered if the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment or order as a matter of law."

are sufficient to permit a rational fact finder to resolve the allegedly disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party. Our courts have long held that "if the opposing party offers . . . only facts which are immaterial or of an insubstantial nature, a mere scintilla, 'fanciful frivolous, gauzy or merely suspicious,' he will not be heard to complain if the court grants summary judgment." Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520 (1995) (citing Judson v. Peoples Bank and Trust Co., 17 N.J. 67, 75 (1954)).

The "judge's function is not himself [or herself] to weigh the evidence and determine the truth of the matter but to determine whether there is a genuine issue for trial." Brill, supra, 142 N.J. at 540 (citing Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, 477 U.S. 242, 249, 106 S. Ct. 2505, 2511, 91 L. Ed. 2d 202, 212 (1986)). When the evidence "is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law," the trial court should not hesitate to grant summary judgment. Liberty Lobby, supra, 477 U.S. at 252, 106 S. Ct. at 2512, 91 L. Ed. 2d at 214. I CONCLUDE that this matter is ripe for summary decision, and that Chaudry is entitled to judgment as a matter of law.

Chaudry's claims spring from N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1(a), which provides as follows:

> Whenever any employee, entitled to sick leave under this chapter, is absent from his post of duty as a result of a personal injury caused by an accident arising out of and in the course of his employment, his employer shall pay to such employee the full salary or wages for the period of such absence for up to one calendar year without having such absence charged to the annual sick leave or the accumulated sick leave provided in N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2 and N.J.S.A. 18A:30-3. Salary or wage payments provided in this section shall be made for absence during the waiting period and during the period the employee received or was eligible to receive a temporary disability benefit under chapter 15 of Title 34, Labor and Workmen's Compensation, of the Revised Statutes. Any amount of salary or wages paid or payable to the employee pursuant to this section shall be reduced by the amount of any workmen's compensation award made for temporary disability.

The purpose of this statute "is to guarantee that a school employee, who is absent from work due to an injury arising out of and in the course of employment, will receive his or her full salary for periods of absence up to one calendar year without losing annual or accumulated sick leave." Outland v. Monmouth-Ocean Educ. Services Comm'n, 295 N.J. Super. 390, 395 (App. Div. 1996), rev'd, 154 N.J. 531 (1998).

Here, it is uncontroverted that Chaudry sustained an injury at work on March 8, 2013. It is likewise uncontroverted that, after a brief effort to return to work, she was unable to perform her job responsibilities and was determined to be permanently disabled by the Division of Pensions. The only medical evidence on record attributes that permanent disability to the injuries she sustained on March 8, 2013, while at work for the Elizabeth schools. I thus CONCLUDE that the Board improperly docked Chaudry's sick bank in contravention of the requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1(a).

The Board urges that Chaudry did not timely provide notice that she had sustained a work-related injury, and that accordingly her claims should be rejected. This argument lacks merit. N.J.S.A. 34:15-17 requires notice of a compensable injury "within ninety days after the occurrence of the injury, [or] no compensation shall be allowed." N.J.S.A. 34:15-18 makes it clear that such notice should be in writing. But Chaudry correctly points out that N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1 contains no analogous notice provision, and it is this school law statute, and not the provisions of the Worker's Compensation Law, that forms the basis of her claims before the Commissioner of Education.

But even assuming for argument's sake that the notice requirements of N.J.S.A. 34:15-17 are applicable here, Chaudry's attorney communicated with the Board, through counsel, in writing well within ninety days of March 8, 2013.[2] And the Division of Worker's Compensation did not dismiss Chaudry's complaint because it was late. Rather, as is plain from the order of dismissal, the Compensation Court determined that the matter before it was moot because Chaudry was receiving compensation via her disability pension.

[2] See Peraino v. Forstmann Wollen Co., 57 N.J. Super. 1 (App. Div. 1959), where the court held that an employee could proceed on an untimely worker's compensation claim because the employer was aware of the injuries and the accident was witnessed by other employees. Thus, the notice contemplated by N.J.S.A. 34:15-17 need not be notice to the worker's compensation carrier. Chaudry advised her principal that she had been injured as early as March 11, 2013.

Chaudry asks that she be compensated for her lost sick days, in accordance with the provisions of the CBA between the Board and her employee representative. Typically, an analysis of the provisions of this agreement would exceed the Commissioner's jurisdiction, which is limited to controversies arising under the school laws. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9. The Commissioner will not entertain claims that are purely contractual in nature. See Demikoff v. Harrington Park Board of Education, 97 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 16, where the claims of a non-tenured school business administrator, whose employment was terminated pursuant to a contractual sixty-day-notice provision, were dismissed for lack of jurisdiction. The Commissioner, quoting the Initial Decision, held that "'the gist of the petition does not sufficiently implicate education law or statutory entitlement under education law to warrant or permit exercise of the Commissioner's dispute resolution jurisdiction over what are fundamentally contractual matters more properly cognizable in [a] judicial forum.'" Demikoff, supra, 97 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) at 18; see also Paladino v. Bd. of Educ. of Lacey, 1989 S.L.D. 3063, 3065; Fanego v. State-Operated Sch. Dist. of Jersey City, EDU 10968-97, Initial Decision (April 27, 1999), adopted, Comm'r (June 14, 1999), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>; Larsen v. Piscataway Bd. of Educ., OAL Dkt. No. 1445-81 (State Board, October 6, 1982).

But where an incidental interpretation of a contract is necessary to resolve a school law issue the Commissioner may extend his jurisdiction. The Commissioner has "jurisdiction over contractual claims which are incidental to his obligation to resolve education claims that are the subject of litigation." B.P. v. Bd. of Educ. of Lenape Reg'l High Sch. District., EDU 2782-02, Comm'r Decision (October 7, 2002), adopted, State Bd. (December 3, 2003), http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/; see also Sukin v. Northfield Bd. of Educ., 171 N.J. Super. 184 (App. Div. 1979). Our courts have recognized that "[w]here one aspect of a single integrated dispute is pending before an administrative agency and another aspect of the same dispute is pending before a court, logic commends that the entire matter be dealt with, at least initially, by the entity with plenary authority over the subject matter field involved." Archway Programs v. Pemberton Twp. Bd. of Educ., 352 N.J. Super. 420, 424-25 (App. Div. 2002). I thus CONCLUDE that, under the totality of the circumstances presented here, the Commissioner's jurisdiction should extend to the claim that Chaudry receive reimbursement for her controverted sick days.

Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that Chaudry is entitled to reimbursement for twenty-four sick days at the rate of $20 per day.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing, the Board is ORDERED to reimburse Chaudry in the amount of $480.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

THIS SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND RELEASE (hereinafter referred to as the "Agreement") is made this 16th day of November, 2016, by and between the Lumberton Township Board of Education (hereinafter referred to as the "Board"), with administrative offices located at 33 Municipal Drive, Lumberton, New Jersey 08048, and Nicole Heckman (hereinafter referred to as "Ms. Heckman") (collectively referred to as the "Parties").

WHEREAS, Ms. Heckman, as a teaching staff member of the Lumberton Public Schools, filed a Verified Petition of Appeal captioned as Nicole Heckman v. Board of Education of the Township of Lumberton, Burlington County, AGENCY DOCKET NO. 139-5/16, OAL DOCKET NO. 08879-2016S, against the Lumberton Township Board of Education seeking payment of certain money which she alleged to be owed to her by the Board; and

WHEREAS, the Lumberton Township Board of Education, as the local educational agency responsible for the operations of the Lumberton Township School District (the

LAW OFFICE
Parker McCay P.A.

"District"), a K-8 public school district serving students who reside within Lumberton Township, New Jersey and the employer of Ms. Heckman, filed an Answer to the Verified Petition of Appeal which included a Counter-Claim against Ms. Heckman seeking payment of certain money which the Board alleged to be owed to it by Ms. Heckman; and

WHEREAS, neither of the Parties admits or concedes any liability or wrongdoing by the respective Parties for any purposes whatsoever; but

WHEREAS, the Parties wish to avoid the time, expense and uncertainty associated with the petition of appeal process, and therefore are desirous of amicably resolving their differences in their mutual best interests and those of the public; it is

NOW THEREFORE, in view of the aforementioned premises, and in consideration of the mutual promises and terms set forth below, hereby agreed by the Parties as follows:

1. This Agreement shall fully resolve all issues between the Parties that were raised in the Verified Petition of Appeal filed by Ms. Heckman as the Petitioner named in Nicole Heckman v. Board of Education of the Township of Lumberton, Burlington County, AGENCY DOCKET NO. 139-5/16, OAL DOCKET NO. 08879-2016S, and those that were raised in the Counter-Claim filed by the Board as part of its Answer to the Verified Petition of Appeal.

2. Ms. Heckman agrees to waive the right to file or initiate, and shall not file, initiate, or cause to be initiated, any suit, demand, administrative, judicial or other proceeding, claim, complaint, due process petition, grievance, or action of any kind, in any forum whatsoever, regarding or relating to the issues and/or claims asserted in Nicole Heckman v. Board of Education of the Township of Lumberton, Burlington County, AGENCY DOCKET NO. 139-5/16, OAL DOCKET NO. 08879-2016S.

3. The Board agrees to waive the right to file or initiate, and shall not file, initiate, or cause to be initiated, any suit, demand, administrative, judicial or other proceeding, claim, complaint, due process petition, grievance, or action of any kind, in any forum whatsoever, regarding or relating to the issues and/or claims asserted in its Counter-Claim in Nicole Heckman v. Board of Education of the Township of Lumberton, Burlington County, AGENCY DOCKET NO. 139-5/16, OAL DOCKET NO. 08879-2016S.

4. It is the intent and agreement of the Parties to mutually dismiss the pending claims respectively asserted against one another in this matter, and to proceed no further with the matter. It is expressly understood, however, that either Party may bring an action to enforce the terms of this Agreement.

5. Upon final execution of this Agreement by the Parties, the Parties (or their counsel) shall execute a Stipulation of Dismissal with Prejudice, which shall dismiss the claims and counter-claims asserted in the Verified Petition of Appeal, and said Stipulation shall be furnished to the New Jersey Office of Administrative Law, thus dispensing with and forever dismissing the matter of Nicole Heckman v. Board of Education of the Township of Lumberton, Burlington County, AGENCY DOCKET NO. 139-5/16, OAL DOCKET NO. 08879-2016S. The Parties fully agree to take any additional action that may be necessary to ensure the dismissal/withdrawal with prejudice of the aforementioned litigation with the New Jersey Department of Education.

6. The Parties have reached this Agreement to avoid the expense, uncertainty and inconvenience of a hearing under the education laws. It is understood that the execution of this Agreement does not constitute an admission by either Ms. Heckman or the Lumberton Township Board of Education as to any liability or wrongdoing. This Agreement represents the compromise of disputed claims and shall never be treated as an admission of liability by either Party for any purposes whatsoever.

7. This Agreement shall remain confidential to the maximum extent permitted by law and neither Party shall volunteer to disclose its form or contents to any third parties except as may be required by and/or in accordance with operation of law or lawful subpoena or order of court. Neither Party shall engage in disparaging or negative comments or statements regarding the other Party or the conduct of the other Party.

8. It is expressly understood and agreed that neither Party shall be considered a prevailing party under any statute, common law, or otherwise, for any purposes whatsoever, as a result of this Agreement or the compromise of claims as set forth herein. Except as provided in the Paragraphs above, each Party shall be responsible for their own attorney's fees, expert fees, and costs incurred in connection with this matter.

9. The Parties acknowledge and agree that they have entered into this Agreement based upon the facts and circumstances of this particular employment situation. Nothing in this Agreement shall constitute or be admitted as evidence of a past practice on the part of the Board in any subsequent proceeding of any kind, nor shall it be binding on the Board with respect to any other employee or independent contractor utilized by the Lumberton Township School District, or any other employment situation that may arise in the future, at any time or for any purposes whatsoever.

10. The Parties each represent that they have the authority to enter into this Agreement.

11. Ms. Heckman understands and agrees that this Agreement is subject to formal approval by the Lumberton Township Board of Education, following full execution and approval of this Agreement by Ms. Heckman. In the event the Board thereafter approves the Agreement, it shall be executed forthwith by the Board and shall become effective immediately. A copy of the formal approval resolution by the Board, a copy of the Agreement approved and executed by the Board, and a copy of the signed Stipulation of Dismissal signed by counsel for the Board will be provided to counsel for Ms. Heckman. In the event that this Agreement is not approved by the Board, no agreement shall have been formed between the Parties, who shall return to status quo ante, and this Agreement shall be deemed null, void, and of no force and effect.

12. Counsel for Ms. Heckman will provide the formal approval resolution by the Board, a copy of the Agreement approved and executed by the Parties, and a copy of the Stipulation of Dismissal signed on behalf of the Parties by their counsel to the Administrative Law Judge in charge of this matter. The Parties fully agree to take any additional action as may be directed by the Administrative Law Judge.

13. The Parties acknowledge and agree that they have read and understand the terms of this Agreement and that they had an opportunity to have the Agreement read by their respective counsel. The Parties further acknowledge and agree that they are satisfied with the advice of their respective counsel, that they understand and agree with the terms of this Agreement, and that they are entering into this Agreement knowingly, freely, voluntarily, without coercion and not under the influence of anything or anyone.

14. In the event that any provision or clause of this Agreement shall be held invalid or unenforceable by a court or tribunal of competent jurisdiction, the remaining provisions of this Agreement are deemed severable and shall remain in full force and effect to the fullest extent permitted by law, unless the Agreement, as so construed, would substantially frustrate the purposes of the Parties in entering into this Agreement, in which case the Parties agree that they shall reform those aspect(s) of this Agreement as are necessary to meet its intended purpose.

15. This Agreement shall be interpreted, enforced, and governed under the laws of the State of New Jersey. The language of all parts of this Agreement shall in all cases be construed as a whole, according to its fair meaning, and not strictly for or against any Party. The Parties agree and acknowledge that this Agreement is the product of mutual draftsmanship and any rule of law requiring that it be construed against the drafter shall not apply.

16. This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement of the Parties with respect to the subject matter hereof, and supersedes all prior written or oral and all contemporaneous oral agreements, understandings and negotiations. This Agreement may only be amended in writing by way of a document signed by all Parties.

17. This Agreement may be executed in multiple counterparts, and it shall be fully valid, legally binding, and enforceable whether executed in a single document or in such counterparts.

18. The Parties agree that a facsimile and/or electronic signature appearing herein shall be shall be deemed as fully valid, legally binding, and enforceable to the same extent as an original signature.

19. Should any written notice and/or demand be sent or given in accordance and/or furtherance of this Agreement, same shall be made by regular and/or certified mail to the respective Parties, with copies thereof sent by regular and/or electronic mail or facsimile to their respective counsel.

IN WITNESS HEREOF, the Parties have set their hands this 16th day of November, 2016.

R.S., ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILD, G.M.,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF PATERSON, PASSAIC COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

The petitioning parent, R.S., appealed the decision of the respondent District that her daughter, G.M., was not the victim of acts of Harassment, Intimidation and Bullying (HIB) pursuant to the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq. Petitioner alleged that G.M. was bullied on the basis of her diagnosis of Autism Spectrum Disorder and Selective Mutism, and was the target of several specific incidents in April 2015 and June 2015 which caused G.M. emotional distress. The petitioner sought a proper full investigation of the matter. The District asserted that the alleged incidents did not constitute HIB under the Act, and further claimed that the matter has now been mooted by the graduation of all of the students involved, including G.M. The District filed a motion to dismiss.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: petitioner R.S. reported several incidents of alleged HIB to the bullying specialist at her daughter's high school; petitioner sent numerous emails to the bullying specialist, a guidance counselor, and the school principal; petitioner's email correspondence was timely answered and informed R.S. of the process and provided her with timely updates; the emails also reveal the preventative measures the school took to prevent future incidents of bullying; the District's anti-bullying specialist informed petitioner by letter that the investigation had been completed pursuant to the Act, and determined that there was no evidence of HIB; petitioner timely filed her petition challenging these results; the respondent's motion sought the dismissal of the within case for mootness based on the graduation of all of the individuals implicated in the alleged HIB incidents; there is no compelling reason set forth in the case as to why petitioner needs to seek relief in this matter, given that the school disciplined the children involved and gave a seminar regarding bullying prevention during the pendency of the case; and none of the students have any reason to be involved with the school District going forward. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that the case is now moot, and dismissed the petition.

Upon review, the Commissioner disagreed with the ALJ's conclusion that the controversy is now moot. In so determining, the Commissioner found, inter alia, that: petitioner sought and was entitled to a determination of whether or not the District's finding that G.M. was not the victim of HIB was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable; whether petitioner's daughter has graduated from the District is not relevant to whether the alleged conduct constituted HIB; and the challenge to the District's finding that the alleged conduct did not rise to the level of HIB has not yet been addressed. Accordingly, the case was remanded to the OAL for proceedings to resolve the underlying claim on the merits.

R.S., ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILD, G.M.,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF PATERSON, PASSAIC COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed, as have the exceptions filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 by the petitioner and the Board's reply thereto.

This case involves a challenge by petitioner to the District's determination that her daughter was not the victim of acts of Harassment, Intimidation and Bullying (HIB) pursuant to the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq. Petitioner alleges that her daughter was bullied based upon her diagnosis of Autism Spectrum Disorder and Selective Mutism. Specifically, in April 2015, petitioner contends that a student grabbed her daughter by her shoulder and when she did not respond, the student grabbed the phone out of her hands. Petitioner also alleges that the same student stopped her from entering gym class, resulting in G.M. spending the class in the bathroom. Petitioner further alleges that in June 2015, the same student told four students in gym class – including G.M. – to get up from their seats, resulting in a fight between two of the students. G.M. consequently had a panic attack and was excused from school for a week. Finally, petitioner alleges that in June 2015, the same student and a friend blocked

G.M. from going in her locker.[1] As all of the students involved have since graduated, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) dismissed the petition as moot.

In her exceptions, petitioner argues that the ALJ erred by not considering all of the incidents of alleged harassment. Further, petitioner contends that this matter is not moot because her daughter experiences severe anxiety and emotional concerns as a result of the incidents, and she must be heard. Petitioner argues that this matter is justiciable because the procedure followed in the HIB investigation was unclear and the District failed to complete investigations without prompting from her. Finally, petitioner asserts that this matter was held in abeyance until the students graduated in order to avoid further issues between her daughter and the alleged bully. As such, it should not be considered moot; petitioner allowed the matter to be held in abeyance for the well-being of the students involved, with the expectation that it would move forward upon their graduation.

In reply, the District argues that petitioner's exceptions do not comply with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 because they do not refer to specific paragraphs or findings in the Initial Decision. Further, some of petitioner's arguments were not part of her opposition to the District's Motion to Dismiss, and she should not be permitted to make additional arguments by way of exceptions.

The Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq., was enacted "to strengthen the standards and procedures for preventing, reporting, investigating, and responding to incidents of harassment, intimidation, and bullying of students that occur in school and off school premises." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.1(f). Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(5), all school districts are required to adopt a policy that outlines a procedure for reporting an act of harassment, intimidation, or bullying. At a minimum, after a potential violation of the school district's HIB policy is reported, "the investigation shall be initiated by the principal or the principal's designee within one school day of the report of the incident and shall be conducted by a school anti-bullying specialist." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(a). Thereafter, the results of the investigation shall be reported to the superintendent and then to the board of education. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(b) and (b)(6)(c). Parents or guardians are entitled to receive information about the investigation within five school days after the results of the investigation are reported to the board. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(d). The parent or guardian may then request a hearing before the board, which shall be held within ten days of the request. Id. After the board determines whether to affirm, reject or modify the superintendent's decision, "[t]he board's decision may be appealed to the Commissioner of Education, in accordance with the procedures set forth in law and regulation, no later than 90 days after issuance of the board's decision." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(e).

[1] Although the Administrative Law Judge found that only the first incident in April 2015 could be considered in this case, it is clear that petitioner alleged all four of these incidents in her August 2015 petition. To the extent that the HIB investigation may not have been completed at the time of the complaint, it appears that these investigations should be completed. Indeed, petitioner requested that her petition be amended in order to include the District's latest HIB determinations.

After consideration and review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner finds that the ALJ erroneously granted the District's motion to dismiss the petition of appeal as moot. Pursuant to the Act, petitioner had the right to appeal the District's HIB determination to the Commissioner. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(e). Petitioner sought – and was entitled by the Act – to a determination of whether the District's finding that her daughter was not the victim of acts of HIB was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. Whether petitioner's daughter has graduated from the District is not relevant to the issue of whether the alleged conduct constituted HIB. See J.M., on behalf of minor child, T.M. v. Board of Education of the Town of Tinton Falls, Monmouth County, Commissioner Decision No. 39-14, decided January 23, 2014 (finding that even though the coach alleged to have committed acts of HIB was no longer working in a coaching position, petitioner's requested relief of a finding that the coach had engaged in acts of HIB had not been rendered moot).

A matter becomes moot when an issue becomes hypothetical in nature, a judgment cannot grant effective relief, or the parties do not have concrete adversity of interest. Anderson v. Sills, 143 N.J. Super. 432, 437 (Ch. Div. 1976). Here, the issue is not hypothetical; petitioner challenged the HIB investigation and sought to reverse the District's finding. The challenge to the District's finding that the alleged conduct did not rise to the level of harassment or bullying has not yet been addressed. As such, the remedy that petitioner sought is still available.

Accordingly, for the reasons expressed herein, the Commissioner hereby remands this matter to the OAL for further proceedings in order to resolve the underlying claim on the merits.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[2]

Record Closed: October 28, 2016 Decided: December 2, 2016

BEFORE DANIELLE PASQUALE, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner G.M. filed an appeal which appears to challenge the City of Paterson Board of Education's ("Board") Harassment Intimidation & Bullying ("HIB")

determination. The Board based the denial on its determination that G.M. was not bullied under the auspices of HIB. On August 4, 2015, G.M.'s mother filed a petition with the Commissioner, and on September 22, 2015, the Bureau transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case. The case was assigned to me on September 29, 2015. Petitioner's mother originally represented her daughter's interests pro se, then asked for additional time to consider offers as proposed by the school, then she sought counsel from the Volunteer Lawyers for Justice in January 13, 2016 when negotiations fell through. On February 12, 2016 mom R.S. hired Ms. Irving and I conducted additional prehearing conferences in an effort to resolve the matter as counseling and programming was taking place at the school. On October 28, 2016 Ms. Irving notified this Tribunal and established a schedule for additional submissions by the parties. To that end, I closed the record on October 28, 2016 when Ms. Irving notified this tribunal that her clients opted not to withdraw the matter as originally contemplated.

Respondent's motion seeks the dismissal of R.S.'s case due to mootness as the individuals involved have all graduated the school in question. In order to decide this motion, I am relying on the following FINDINGS OF FACT:

In April 2015, Petitioner notified Rosa Parks High School in Paterson N.J., regarding several bullying incidents concerning her daughter and the same individual. She claims that this student grabbed her daughter G.M. by the shoulder and when her daughter did not respond, she grabbed her phone out of her hands.

The second alleged incident involved the same student preventing G.M. from entering her gym class. As a result, G.M. spent the class in the bathroom. This incident is not at issue in the present case as at the time of the answer that investigation was underway and this court is not aware of a result.

G.M. suffers from selective mutism and her mother reported these alleged incidents to Ms. Van Hoven, the bullying specialist at Rosa Parks High School. G.M.'s mother reports that Ms. Van Hoven stated that the individual that confronted her daughter did, in fact, get loud and admitted grabbing G.M.'s phone and touching her shoulder. She also admitted telling G.M. that she was not allowed to enter the gym class. But after her investigation, Ms. Van Hoven found that the child was "only playing."

In June of 2015, there was an alleged incident with the same student in gym class where she told four students including G.M. to get up from their seats. When one of the students refused to get up, it led to an argument which involved the principal to break up a fight with two of the students. This incident caused G.M. to be scared and anxious and her mother kept her out of school for a week due to her daughter's panic attacks.

In June of 2015, apparently the same student blocked G.M. from her locker. Again, these June incidents are not to be included in the case at bar, but are included for completeness and will not affect the outcome of this motion.

Bullying specialist Van Hoven along with Ms. Stephens of the guidance department, and Jalyn Lyde of Paterson School District timely answered R.S.'s numerous emails informing her of the process and giving her timely updates of said procedure. The email correspondence also reveals preventative measures the school took to prevent future incidents of bullying.

G.M. is diagnosed with Autistic Spectrum Disorder and Selective Mutism and as a result, as her Psychologist reveals, struggles with expressing feelings and experiences feelings of inadequacy or helplessness.

In June of 2015, Theodore Best, Jr., Anti-bullying coordinator for the Paterson Public School District informed G.M.'s mother that the investigation was completed pursuant to the laws of Harassment, Intimidation and Bullying ("HIB") and N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13. To that end, Mr. Best revealed that the determination was that there was no evidence of HIB but that "consequences were imposed for the student(s) who committed the act(s) along with remedial measures to eliminate this behavior in the future. Additional resources have been provided to your child as a result of the incident." See Best Letter dated June 15, 2015, HIB report.

As a result of the aforementioned investigation, Donnie W. Evans, Superintendent of Schools and the Board of Education reviewed and accepted said findings in the HIB report.

On July 20, 2015 petitioner R.S. challenged the aforementioned HIB report in a timely fashion.

The Paterson School District had a working HIB policy and the appropriate personnel to conduct appropriate investigations to determine whether the alleged acts rose to the level of the HIB laws.

Neither G.M. nor the other students involved attend Rosa Parks High School as they graduated in June of 2016.

LEGAL DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

The Board argues that its motion to dismiss should be granted due to mootness due to the graduation of all students involved in the alleged incidents.

An action is moot when it no longer presents a justiciable controversy because the issues raised have become academic. For reasons of judicial economy and restraint it is appropriate to refrain from decision-making when an issue presented is hypothetical, judgment cannot grant effective relief, or the parties do not have a concrete adversity of interest. Anderson v. Sills, 143 N.J. Super. 432, 437 (Ch. Div. 1976); Fox v. Twp. of E. Brunswick Bd. of Educ., EDU 10067-98, Initial Decision (March 19, 1999), aff'd, Comm'r (May 3, 1999) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>; S.J. v. Bd. of Educ. of Mountain Lakes, EDU 07081-03, Initial Decision (October 7, 2003), aff'd, Comm'r (Nov. 17, 2003), aff'd, St. Bd. (Feb. 3, 2004) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>.

When a decision being sought in a particular matter will have no practical effect on the existing controversy, it is considered moot. M.D. o/b/o E.D. v. Moorestown Bd. Of Educ., supra at 2. "Therefore, when there has been a change in circumstances that raises doubt concerning the immediacy of the controversy, courts will ordinarily dismiss cases as moot, regardless of the stage to which litigation has progressed." Id., citing Anderson v. Sills, 143 N.J. Super. 432, 437 (Ch. Div. 1976).

In the instant matter, none of the individuals involved attend the high school in question. In fact, as this is a high school graduation, this Tribunal takes judicial notice that none of the individuals should have reason to even be involved with the Paterson School District going forward. To that end, I am unable to find any compelling reason set forth in the record before me why R.S. needs to seek this relief as the school disciplined the children involved and gave a seminar regarding bullying prevention during the pendency of this matter. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the petition is moot because G.M. has graduated from the District Schools as have the other students involved in giving rise to the investigations. The alleged offenders can no longer be counseled or disciplined and the students were disciplined and programs were proactively established in an effort for the district to be proactive and prevent even a future perceived problem. As such, the alleged incident(s) constituting harassment, intimidation or bullying is no longer a "present, live controversy." S.U. o/b/o M.U. v. Roxbury Bd. Of Educ, supra.

Petitioner's contention that her claims before the Commissioner require resolution to overcome "an attempt to prevent judicial review of the State Operated School District of Paterson's widespread, unlawful practice of ignoring the New Jersey mandated Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq" is unpersuasive. Dismissal of this action does not preclude petitioner from later bringing other claims before the appropriate court. Indeed, the administrative forum exists to afford concrete relief to litigants, not simply to create a record for use in a subsequent proceeding. For this matter to be justiciable here, petitioner must have suffered a distinct injury or harm that can be remedied by the Commissioner. See e.g. :New Jersey Turnpike Auth. v Parsons, 3 N.J. 235, 240 (1949). It is not the role of the Commissioner to function in the abstract or to enter rulings that are advisory. See: N.J. Civil Serv. Ass'n v. State of New Jersey, 88 N.J. 605, 611 (1982); Crescent Park Tenants Assoc. v Realty Eq. Corp. of New York, 58 N.J. 98,107.

Nor does this case prove any widespread practice compelling a definitive resolution of the issues raised despite their mootness. Id. at 303. As a result, and because there is no effective relief that could be granted to G.M. in this forum, I CONCLUDE that the claims raised by the petition should be dismissed.

DECISION AND ORDER

Based on the foregoing, respondent's motion to dismiss petitioner's petition of appeal as moot is GRANTED, and petitioner's petition is hereby DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Record Closed: October 28, 2016 Decided: December 2, 2016

BEFORE DANIELLE PASQUALE, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner G.M. filed an appeal which appears to challenge the City of Paterson Board of Education's ("Board") Harassment Intimidation & Bullying ("HIB")

determination. The Board based the denial on its determination that G.M. was not bullied under the auspices of HIB. On August 4, 2015, G.M.'s mother filed a petition with the Commissioner, and on September 22, 2015, the Bureau transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case. The case was assigned to me on September 29, 2015. Petitioner's mother originally represented her daughter's interests pro se, then asked for additional time to consider offers as proposed by the school district then she sought counsel from the Volunteer Lawyers for Justice in January 13, 2016 when negotiations fell through. On February 12, 2016 mom R.S. hired Ms. Irving and I conducted additional prehearing conferences in an effort to resolve the matter as counseling and programming was taking place at the school. On October 28, 2016 Ms. Irving notified this Tribunal and established a schedule for additional submissions by the parties. To that end, I closed the record on October 28, 2016 when Ms. Irving notified this tribunal that her clients opted not to withdraw the matter as originally contemplated.

Respondent's motion seeks the dismissal of R.S.'s case due to mootness as the individuals involved have all graduated the school in question. In order to decide this motion, I am relying on the following FINDINGS OF FACT:

In April 2015, Petitioner notified Rosa Parks High School in Paterson N.J., regarding several bullying incidents concerning her daughter and the same individual. She claims that this student grabbed her daughter G.M. by the shoulder and when her daughter did not respond, she grabbed her phone out of her hands.

The second alleged incident involved the same student preventing G.M. from entering her gym class. As a result, G.M. spent the class in the bathroom. This incident is not at issue in the present case as at the time of the answer that investigation was underway and this court is not aware of a result.

G.M. suffers from selective mutism and her mother reported these alleged incidents to Ms. Van Hoven, the bullying specialist at Rosa Parks High School. G.M.'s mother reports that Ms. Van Hoven stated that the individual that confronted her daughter did, in fact, get loud and admitted grabbing G.M.'s phone and touching her shoulder. She also admitted telling G.M. that she was not allowed to enter the gym class. But after her investigation, Ms. Van Hoven found that the child was "only playing."

In June of 2015, there was an alleged incident with the same student in gym class where she told four students including G.M. to get up from their seats. When one of the students refused to get up, it led to an argument which involved the principal in order to break up a fight with two of the students. This incident caused G.M. to be scared and anxious and her mother kept her out of school for a week due to her daughter's panic attacks.

In June of 2015, apparently the same student blocked G.M. from her locker. Again, these June incidents are not to be formally considerer in the case at bar, but are included for completeness and will not affect the outcome of this motion.

Bullying specialist Van Hoven along with Ms. Stephens of the guidance department, and Jalyn Lyde of Paterson School District timely answered R.S.'s numerous emails informing her of the process and giving her timely updates of said procedure. The email correspondence also reveals preventative measures the school took to prevent future incidents of bullying.

G.M. is diagnosed with Autistic Spectrum Disorder and Selective Mutism and as a result, as her Psychologist reveals, struggles with expressing feelings and experiences feelings of inadequacy or helplessness.

In June of 2015, Theodore Best, Jr., Anti-bullying coordinator for the Paterson Public School District informed G.M.'s mother that the investigation was completed pursuant to the laws of Harassment, Intimidation and Bullying ("HIB") and N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13. To that end, Mr. Best revealed the determination that there was no evidence of HIB but that "consequences were imposed for the student(s) who committed the act(s) along with remedial measures to eliminate this behavior in the future. Additional resources have been provided to your child as a result of the incident." See Best Letter dated June 15, 2015, HIB report.

As a result of the aforementioned investigation, Donnie W. Evans, Superintendent of Schools and the Board of Education reviewed and accepted said findings in the HIB report.

On July 20, 2015 petitioner R.S. challenged the aforementioned HIB report in a timely fashion.

The Paterson School District had a working HIB policy and the appropriate personnel to conduct appropriate investigations to determine whether the alleged acts rose to the level of the HIB laws.

Currently, neither G.M. nor the other students involved attend Rosa Parks High School as they graduated in June of 2016.

LEGAL DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

The Board argues that its motion to dismiss should be granted due to mootness due to the graduation of all students involved in the alleged incidents.

An action is moot when it no longer presents a justiciable controversy because the issues raised have become academic. For reasons of judicial economy and restraint it is appropriate to refrain from decision-making when an issue presented is hypothetical, judgment cannot grant effective relief, or the parties do not have a concrete adversity of interest. Anderson v. Sills, 143 N.J. Super. 432, 437 (Ch. Div. 1976); Fox v. Twp. of E. Brunswick Bd. of Educ., EDU 10067-98, Initial Decision (March 19, 1999), aff'd, Comm'r (May 3, 1999) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>; S.J. v. Bd. of Educ. of Mountain Lakes, EDU 07081-03, Initial Decision (October 7, 2003), aff'd, Comm'r (Nov. 17, 2003), aff'd, St. Bd. (Feb. 3, 2004) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>.

When a decision being sought in a particular matter will have no practical effect on the existing controversy, it is considered moot. M.D. o/b/o E.D. v. Moorestown Bd. Of Educ., supra at 2. "Therefore, when there has been a change in circumstances that raises doubt concerning the immediacy of the controversy, courts will ordinarily dismiss cases as moot, regardless of the stage to which litigation has progressed." Id., citing Anderson v. Sills, 143 N.J. Super. 432, 437 (Ch. Div. 1976).

In the instant matter, none of the individuals involved attend the high school in question. In fact, as this is a high school graduation, this Tribunal takes judicial notice that none of the individuals should have reason to even be involved with the Paterson School District going forward. To that end, I am unable to find any compelling reason set forth in the record before me why R.S. needs to seek this relief as the school disciplined the children involved and gave a seminar regarding bullying prevention during the pendency of this matter. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the petition is moot because G.M. has graduated from the District Schools as have the other students involved in giving rise to the investigations. The alleged offenders can no longer be counseled or disciplined and the students were already disciplined and programs were proactively established in an effort for the district to be proactive and prevent even a future perceived problem. As such, the alleged incident(s) constituting harassment, intimidation or bullying is no longer a "present, live controversy." S.U. o/b/o M.U. v. Roxbury Bd. Of Educ, supra.

Petitioner's contention that her claims before the Commissioner require resolution to overcome "an attempt to prevent judicial review of the State Operated School District of Paterson's widespread, unlawful practice of ignoring the New Jersey mandated Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq" is unpersuasive. Dismissal of this action does not preclude petitioner from later bringing other claims before the appropriate court. Indeed, the administrative forum exists to afford concrete relief to litigants, not simply to create a record for use in a subsequent proceeding. For this matter to be justiciable here, petitioner must have suffered a distinct injury or harm that can be remedied by the Commissioner. See e.g. :New Jersey Turnpike Auth. v

Parsons, 3 N.J. 235, 240 (1949). It is not the role of the Commissioner to function in the abstract or to enter rulings that are advisory. See: N.J. Civil Serv. Ass'n v. State of New Jersey, 88 N.J. 605, 611 (1982); Crescent Park Tenants Assoc. v Realty Eq. Corp. of New York, 58 N.J. 98,107.

Nor does this case prove any widespread practice compelling a definitive resolution of the issues raised despite their mootness. Id. at 303. As a result, and because there is no effective relief that could be granted to G.M. in this forum, I CONCLUDE that the claims raised by the petition should be dismissed.

DECISION AND ORDER

Based on the foregoing, respondent's motion to dismiss petitioner's petition of appeal as moot is GRANTED, and petitioner's petition is hereby DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. BACKGROUND

At the April 25, 2016 meeting conducted by the Somerset County Vocational Technical School Board (hereinafter the "Board" or the "District"), the Board certified tenure charges against John Vingara (hereinafter "Vingara" or the "Respondent"), a Culinary Arts Teacher at the Vocational Technical School. On or about April 27, 2016, the Respondent was served with the Certified Tenure Charges. The Charges were: "(a) conduct unbecoming of a teacher; (2) neglect of duty; and (c) theft of goods and services."

In support of the Tenure Charge, the District provided Vingara with an audit conducted by a Forensic Accountant, the notes of Virginia Fanelli, Security Guard, Big Blue Barbeque catering menus, New York Giants Football schedule, and Camp Cromwell menus. The Respondent was given "the opportunity to submit a written statement of Position and a written Statement of Evidence under oath with respect to the charge for consideration by the Board at its April 11, 2016 meeting."

Vingara did not file any reply to the charges and did not appear at the meeting. By letter dated May 12, 2016, Vingara filed an Answer to the Tenure Charges, denying the allegations in the Preamble, Charges (a) through (q), and 5-9.

In an Affidavit submitted by Ms. Raelene Catterson ("Catterson"), the Business Administrator for the District, the factual basis for the Tenure Charges was set forth as follows:

> In or about August 10, 2015, I became concerned regarding items missing from the Twiight Program and requests for purchases of goods made by John Vingara allegedly for the Culinary Arts Program. Specifically, I could not find backup for the purchases he was making and I began to investigate the history of purchasing back to June, 2015. As a result of physical examination and counting of items in the refrigerator/freezer in the Culinary Arts Department, it was determined that items were missing that had been ordered and did not correlate to menus or special events. An interview of security personnel and a review of security videotape revealed showed him leaving with items purchased by SCVTS from June 23, 2015 forward.

a. On June 23, 2015 and July 23, 2015, two orders for vacuum sealer bags were delivered to John Vingara at SCVTS. The vacuum sealer bags are missing.

b. On August 10, 2015, the following items were missing that were ordered for the Twilight Summer Program: cases of cereal, cases of water, a box of mayonnaise packets, half pints of milk, and half pints of orange juice.

c. Additionally, John Vingara was observed by security personnel making trips to the school freezer with a full cart and unloaded it back at his car. He was seen to do this on June 23, 2015 at 5:32 p.m., July 13, 2015 at 6:47 p.m. where he is seen carrying crates of milk to his car. On August 10, 2015, at 11:17 a.m., he made three trips to the school freezer coming out with a full cart and unloading it into his car. On August 10, 2015, the security guard observed him returning empty crates and saw frozen ground beef and a large bag of frosted flakes boxes approximately 100 pieces, and hamburger rolls. An employee from Linkages (who oversees the Twilight Program) expressed concern to the security guard on August 10, 2015, with respect to missing four large boxes of cereal (100 pieces within each bag) from the Twilight area and 10 cases of water, all of which were to be brought to the Linkages office for students to use the following school year.

d. On September 24, 2015 at 6:33 a.m., on the security camera he is seen entering the school, unlocking the freezer and taking out a milk crate with meatballs in it, placing it on a cart and removing it out of the school building. He then returned to the freezer and took out sautéed peppers and onions and exited the school with them. On September 24, 2015 at 6:58 a.m., he is again observed on camera loading packaged meatballs into a rectangular tray and he and a student came outside with the tray. He then went to the freezer and loaded two milk crates with ice and wheeled them outside. On September 24, 2015 at 9:17 a.m., he is observed on the camera with a student rolling hot boxes out of the school on carts. At 6:32 a.m. that same day, he is seen coming out with a cart loaded with meatballs and putting them in his car. He then returned to the cart at 9:35 a.m., which is empty.

e. On September 26, 2015, he arrived at 7:52 a.m. and unloaded his car with a large white cooler, unlocked the outside freezer and placed the large cooler inside. He then returned milk crates to the side of the building and exited with a cart to unload hot boxes to return them to the school.

f. On October 6, 2015 at 8:18 a.m., he is observed on camera taking the chardonnay chicken prepared by the students the day before, repacking it in a ziplock bag, placing it in a red reusable bag and putting it back in the refrigerator. He then added another ziplock bag to the red bag in the refrigerator. At 2:13 p.m., he is seen exiting the refrigerator with the red bag; it is clear how heavy it is and when leaving the school.

g. On October 8, 2015 he is viewed on camera at 11:33 a.m. filling a ziplock bag with two trays of items and placing them in a black bag. He then placed it in a red hot box and at 2:10 p.m. carried the black bag outside to his car.

h. On October 9, 2015 he took a crate of ice out of the freezer and there is another item on top which is labeled beef.

i. On October 12, 2015, he is seen on the security camera taking 26 eggs, a roast, several potatoes and spices. He also is seen bringing dirty dishes back for the students to wash.

j. On October 14, 2015, the café freezer camera at 10:54 a.m. shows him carrying out two large bags of macaroni.

k. On October 20, 2015, at 8:15 a.m., the security guard observed a student packaging Bolognese sauce into several heat seal bags and observed defrosted pork shoulders outside of the refrigerator on a rack. On October 20, 2015, at approximately 2:22 p.m., Vingara is seen carrying the bags to his car. The security guard observed that pork butts were defrosting. On October 27, 2015, she observed students using one pork butt for sausage, but the rest were missing.

l. On October 21, 2015 at 10:40 a.m., he was observed slicing a roast beef into disposable rectangular large pans. When the guard inquired as to what he was doing, he said that this was for his daughter's baby shower. The guard asked where he got the meat he replied that he purchased it at Restaurant Depot and claimed he paid around $9.00.

m. On October 21, 2015, the security guard, Superintendent and Business Administrator took an inventory of the refrigerator and found that the sliced beef from earlier in the day was missing and he was seen carrying bags to his car on camera.

n. On October 22, 2015, during the 4th period, students were observed frying parmesan crusted chicken and then loading the finished pieces into a disposal tin, approximately seven to eight pounds of cutlets. On October 22, 2015, the camera shows Vingara taking the disposal tins outside to his car from the freezer.

o. On November 12, 2015, Vingara was interviewed by the Somerset County Prosecutor's Office detectives and admitted he used the students to prepare food for his private business because he was lazy.

p. He has been observed since September, 2015, on multiple days sitting at his desk for hours during instructional time without interaction with the students.

q. Since September, 2015, students expressed concern to the Principal that they were not learning during culinary arts shop after freshman year and felt they were being used as free labor.

5. I reviewed menus for the Teacher lunch line, the student lunch line and for the school operated TradeWins Restaurant to see if the ingredients he ordered or removed were used for any school purpose. They were not.

6. As a result of my inquiries about missing food items from the Twilight Program the Principal told me that Vingara had a business called Big Blue BBQ. We reviewed menus from September, 2015 forward and found that on several of the dates he was observed removing food from SCVTS that were corresponding Giant football games.

7. I also investigated his school computer hard drive and discovered menus for Camp Cromwell and an invoice for Magic Chef Catering.

It appears the missing items from the summer Twilight Program corresponded to the menus at Camp Cromwell.

8. I checked with the companies through whom the school orders meat, other foodstuffs and supplies. John Vingara did not pay them for the items we saw that he took from the freezer. I found invoices for those items that were paid for by SCVTS. He did not reimburse SCVTS for these items.

9. The Board hired a forensic accountant who reviewed invoices, menus, the security guard's notes and concluded that Vingara wrongfully took items paid for by SCVTS. (Jt. Ex. #1).

Procedural History

Hearings were conducted on September 2nd, September 6th and October 7, 2016. At the conclusion of the District's case, the Respondent rested his case without testifying himself or calling any witnesses on his behalf. The record consists of two (2) Joint Exhibits, six (6) District Exhibits, including a flash drive (B. Ex. #F), and thirteen (13) Respondent Exhibits. In addition, the parties submitted post-hearing briefs dated November 22, 2016 and reply briefs dated December 5, 2016 (Respondent) and December 8, 2016 (District).

Respondent's Employment History

The Respondent has been employed by the District for more than 30 years. Over the years, he has received numerous commendations from his supervisors and other Board administrators for his performance as a Culinary Arts teacher. Vingara's annual teaching evaluations have been superior. He was rated as "outstanding" or "above average" in every category on his 2009 Professional Performance Report. R-6. Likewise, he received a rating of "above average" on his 2011 and 2012 Professional Performance Reports. R-7, R-8. In 2013, Mr. Vingara received an "Effective" rating in 2014 (missing "Highly Effective" by only 8/100s of a point) and improved to a "Highly Effective" rating in 2015. R-10, R-11. It is noteworthy that in both of the last two years, Mr. Vingara's "'Student Growth Objective' scores – the measure of his students' improvement under his tutelage – were perfect."

In February 2015, Superintendent Chrys Harttraft wrote to Mr. Vingara to congratulate him on being nominated for "Teacher of the Year." R-12. This was, in fact, the second time that Mr. Vingara had received such a nomination. R-13, p902.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

The Respondent is a Culinary Arts teacher, who teaches high school level students divided among Shops A, B and C. He shares this teaching responsibility with Mr. Mastrobatista. There are nine (9) periods per day, with both teachers having only two (2) non-instructional periods per day. Most teachers get paid for six (6) periods, and a few teachers, including Vingara and Mastrobatista, get paid for seven (7) periods. (T3 @ 121-122) (Testimony of Harttraft).

The Twilight Program, run by Linkages, is a summer program for students where they receive breakfast and lunch throughout the month of July, 4 days a week. On August 10, 2015, Catterson became suspicious when she received an invoice in June from the school's food supplier, Sysco, for vacuum bags that were not needed during the summer. Also, on that date, Linkages reported to Principal Ziegler that they were missing food. Ziegler told Catterson that the Respondent had an outside catering business called Big Blue BBQ and a catering business at a camp called Camp Cromwell.

Given these developments, Catterson began an investigation to ascertain whether Vingara had ordered food through their food service program from Mascio's – the supplier for the student lunch line and not for the culinary arts program. She also looked into his computer to view his emails. The school then installed a camera in the culinary area that showed the walk-in refrigerator freezer, Vingara's office, and the door to the outside. (Tr. 1 @ 15-16).

Subsequently, Catterson and Harttraft contacted the Bridgewater police, who advised the administrators to look at the Respondent's computer and to install another camera. They also met with the Somerset County Prosecutor's Office on September 29, 2015 to determine whether they could assist in the investigation. The Prosecutor's office suggested that they start conducting inventories to compare the food preparation done for the TradeWins, and the lunch line with the menus for Vingara's Big Blue BBQ. (Tr. 1 @ 17-18).

TradeWins is the restaurant the culinary arts students work for in order to learn how to prepare food like an outside business. There were sandwiches served at some of these events and they were listed on menus, but no sandwich meat was ordered through Sysco. Everything ordered by the school district from Sysco is listed in Joint Exhibit No. 1.

Vingara did the ordering for the Culinary Arts program. Unless Catterson saw a Sysco invoice that Vingara signed off on, she would not pay the invoice. When the food was delivered, he was given the paperwork and had to sign off on it to verify that everything on it was received. The Respondent's signature on the purchase order constituted verification that the food was delivered. (T3 @ 63-64).

The Respondent ran a catering business called Big Blue BBQ. The catering occurred before New York Giant football games. In 2015, there were games on September 20th, October 11th, October 25th, November 15th, December 6th and December 20, 2015. The menu states: "All menu items are professionally prepared by Chef Johnny V." (B. Ex. #A).

The Respondent's BBQ catering dates are juxtaposed against the school calendar for September, October and November 2015. (Jt. Ex. #1). The following events are noted: a Giants evening game on September 3rd; an event on September 11th at Trade Wins for a group of superintendents; a Somerset County Business Officials meeting catered at TradeWins on September 8th; sandwiches and salads for 12 to 15 people served at TradeWins; a retreat on October 1st and 2nd for 25 people (breakfast on 10/1 and lunch on 10/2); insurance breakfast for 20 people on October 6th; a tea on October 8th for guidance counselors; a school business administrators meeting/lunch on October 15th for 35 people; a student council lunch on October 16h for 20 people; continental breakfast on October 29th for 15 people; a harvest buffet lunch for 35 people on November 5th; JIF breakfast for 20 people on November 10th; a lunch for seniors and a dinner for New Jersey skills on November 11th; Fall sports banquet on November 12th.

On September 11th, Vingara attended a professional development day. On September 24th, he took half a personal day.

The last day Vingara worked was November 12th. (T3 @ 63). The last day he was paid was April 25, 2016, and he began to receive payment again in August 2016.

The Respondent also operated Magic Chef Caterers and prepared menus for Camp Cromwell in the summer. The Camp Cromwell summer camp operated out of the Martinsville Inn. On October 15, 2015, Vingara had food delivered to the VoTech for his business at Magic Chef Caterers by a company called Performer Foods. (Tr. 1 @ 56-57). The superintendent had the security guard inquire about the Performance truck. When asked about this delivery, Vingara claimed that he was doing a favor for a person named "Carlos." Later, Harttraft spoke to a woman named Gyla from Camp Cromwell, who was unaware that food was being delivered to the VoTech. "Vingara then packed up all of the items delivered by Performance Food, and Fanelli escorted him to the Martinsville Inn, which is where Gyla is located."

The District hired Eisner Amper, an accounting firm, specifically Theresa Simonds, Forensic Accountant, to provide an opinion as to the cost of the product that Vingara allegedly took. Simonds estimated the value of the missing items was $826.00 for the period of time they reviewed the documents; that is, the beginning of September to November 12, 2015. (T3 @ 140-141).

District Position

The District, which has the ultimate burden of proof in a Tenure Charge brought under the TEACHNJ Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10, maintains that it has proven the Respondent, John Vingara, guilty of conduct unbecoming a teacher by a preponderance of the credible evidence. According to the District, "the evidence presented by way of surveillance, forensic accounting and the expert's report clearly demonstrates that 'it is more probable than not' that Vingara stole the District's food, stole time and used the students as free labor all to promote his private business."

In support of its position that Vingara "misappropriated food and supplies paid for by the District and used the District's resources for his personal catering businesses, utilized the students as free labor to prepare food for his businesses, and devoted substantial portions of his work day while being paid as a teacher to further his private business," the District relied on the testimony of the Business Administrator Catterson, Principal Ziegler, Security Guard Fanelli, and forensic account Simonds. Their testimony, in the aggregate, convinces the District that Vingara "engaged in theft of the District's Food, Supplies and Resources."

Testimony

In addition to her affidavit submitted in support of the tenure charges, Catterson testified that after her suspicions were aroused regarding Vingara's purported "wrongful conduct on August 10, 2015," she began to compare the menus of "the events that were taking place for different functions on campus in the early autumn 2015 time frame" to the food that Vingara was ordering and found no match. For example, "[s]he said there were sandwiches served at some of these [Trade Wins] events and they were listed on menus, but no sandwich meat was ordered through Sysco. There were thousands of dollars worth of food being ordered and none of it matched anything that was listed on a menu which correspond to a school event." (Tr. 1 @ 22).

Catterson further testified that she did find a correlation between the menu items on the Respondent's Big Blue BBQ when Giants games were taking place and when Vingara took a sick/personal day and the list of food items that Vingara had ordered from Sysco that were later discovered to have been missing, and presumably utilized by Vingara. These were the orders placed by the District beginning September 2015 through the middle of November 2015. Referring to the "schedule of missing items from our inventories that went missing from the school district that we paid for" and were verified as delivered to the school, "Catterson testified that she, the superintendent and the security guard went into the freezer before and after the dates of the Giants home games to compare what was ordered through Sysco and the food that was listed on the [Big Blue Barbeque] menus to [determine] what food that was then missing." (Tr.1@34).

Since the school never served fire braised barbeque ribs, sausage and peppers, sweet and sour meatballs, or barbeque shredded beef, but she did find those foods were ordered and paid for through Sysco by the school, Catterson deduced that the Respondent had ordered these foods for his Big Blue

Barbeque catering for sale at Giants football games. For example, Catterson testified that prior to the Giants home game of October 25, 2015, "she saw sausage and peppers, meatballs and meatballs marinara in the freezer"; however, "by game day they were all gone." (Tr. 1 @ 42-44).

Catterson also examined menus on Vingara's hard drive and found an invoice for Magic Chef Caterers and menus for Camp Cromwell. For example, she found cereal purchased on Sysco invoices that was shown on part of the menus for Camp Cromwell and discovered that this product was missing from the Twilight Program.

With respect to an anticipated Respondent defense that he paid the District for food he utilized in his business, Catterson noted that "[t]here were no procedures in place for Vingara to utilize food ordered by the school and then pay for it." (Tr.1@50-51).

Principal Ziegler corroborated the testimony of Catterson that the school's investigation began on August 10, 2015 when the security guard alerted her that food items were missing from the Twilight program. She was informed by Security Guard Fanelli that although she observed the items on August 7th, Thursday, they were discovered missing on August 10th – the next school day. Ziegler was also concerned when Vingara took a professional development day on September 11th when school had begun only two days before.

Ziegler's final concern was raised by some students coming to her in October 2015 complaining that they were not happy in their culinary arts shop because "they were not learning any new material and felt they were being used as free labor to do work for Vingara." Shortly thereafter, she asked Fanelli to frequent the culinary arts area to let her know what was going on.

The crux of the District's case is the testimony of Virginia Fanelli, Security Guard. Fanelli, a former detective in the criminal warrant division of the Union County Sheriff's Office, where she was on loan to the drug enforcement agency for 2-1/2 years as an undercover heroine courier, worked in the summer Twilight Program. She testified that she "was first on the campus in the morning, so every day she set up breakfast for the program for which they had 70-80 students."

On August 10, 2015, at approximately lunch time, Fanelli testified that she saw Vingara "back his car up to the culinary arts section exit doors and shut his trunk to prevent her from seeing what was in the trunk." (Tr. 1 @ 134-135). Nevertheless, "she observed in the trunk black hefty garbage bag, a 10 pound log of ground beef, a case of frosted flakes containing about 100 pieces, hamburger buns and water." (Tr. 1 @ 134-135). She noted that the Twilight store room closet, from where items had been reported missing, was in an area adjacent to the culinary arts department. As the person who set up the breakfast for the Twilight program, Fanelli was familiar with the items taken. Once she saw the missing items in Vingara's car, Fanelli reported her observations to Ziegler, who then authorized her to begin an investigation.

Fanelli testified that the handwritten notes she compiled have been marked as Board Exhibit #E. "The notes in Exhibit E are her observations of the video surveillance, but also contain her personal observations of things that happened in the culinary arts area and her conversations with Vingara." (Tr. 1 @ 140-142).

Among the equipment the District discovered missing were "hot boxes" used to store hot meals when they are transported. "There are three sets of hot boxes which were stored in the main cafeteria store rooms, then a red set and a beige set in the culinary area." (Tr. 1 @ 144-145).

> Fanelli testified she started to pay attention to what the students were making around the time of the Giants' home games. She noticed they would cook similar items. For instance, chicken tenders, frying up peppers and onions, and baked sausage in the oven. Since the students did mass amounts of onions and peppers, she believed it was a regular routine for the students. Fanelli also stated depending on what the Giants' home schedule was, that would dictate what the students prepared that week. She also checked to see what was being served at the school operated TradeWins restaurant to see if any of the things she saw them cooking were being served at the restaurant. She concluded they were not being served at the school run restaurant. (T1, 148:6-25;____).

Referring to her notes, Fanelli testified that on October 5, 2015, she observed the A shop students preparing chicken with mushrooms (chicken chardonnay) and place it in a big rectangular container. "She had taken a picture of it when it was in the refrigerator/freezer. When she went back at 10 a.m. it was gone and it corresponded with a Giants menu for that weekend." Moreover, "the expert notes that poultry and produce had been ordered on September 22, 2015 and September 29, 2015, and paid for by the school was missing." (Tr. 1 @ 149-151).

As her investigation continued, Fanelli described a "regular dish" as a food preparation that coincided with the menu for the Giants games. "The food that she saw being prepared such as sausage and peppers, chicken fingers, chicken chardonnay, were not served anywhere else in the school during that time frame." (Tr. 1 @ 145).

Referring to the video for October 11th, showing Vingara filling in a ziplock bag with chicken chardonnay, retrieving a red reusable shop bag, placing the red bag on a red hot box, carrying the hot box to the refrigerator, and exiting the building early at 2:15 p.m., Fanelli apparently deduced that Vingara had stolen the District's food products, had the students prepare meals for the Giants game, and improperly took the items out of the building.

Pursuant to her investigation, Fanelli would arrive daily around 6:00 a.m. Using her key to the freezer, she would take photographs of the items stored in the freezer in anticipation of Giants menus listing these items. The District argues that "Fanelli used the schedule to associate the items that were being made by the students as compared to the items that were in the refrigerator, which would eventually disappear."

Fanelli testified that she had a conversation with Vingara on October 21, 2015 as he was slicing a roast beef. He explained that the roast beef was for his daughter's baby shower at the Martinsville Volunteer Fire Department and he had bought it at Restaurant Depot. However, Fanelli had recently been in the freezer and saw Butcher Block beef loins (brand name sold by Sysco) alongside a very large container of parmesan encrusted chicken cutlets, prepared by a student named Anthony Thompson, a senior in the Culinary Arts program. Pursuant to the inventory the school had begun on a Sunday, they did not see any roast beef in the freezer labeled Restaurant Depot. Later, Fanelli called Restaurant Depot to ascertain if they carried the Butcher Block brand name. They did not. (Tr. 1 @ 161-162).

On October 20, 2015, Fanelli saw students preparing a Bolognese sauce that was not served anywhere on campus. She also observed a Sysco product of pork shoulders being thawed out, which had the Butcher Block label. On October 22nd, she also observed the students cook parmesan encrusted chicken.

According to Fanelli's notes, an inventory was performed on October 25, 2015. The parmesan encrusted chicken made by the students a couple of days earlier as well as one of the roast beefs were missing. Having learned from Vingara that these items were served at the baby shower, Fanelli made a notation in her handwritten notes, "Nicole's baby shower." On October 21st, when she saw Vingara slicing the roast beef at the end of the day, she, Catterson and the Superintendent conducted an inventory of the refrigerator and found the roast beef he had sliced earlier in the day was missing. The video footage indicates that the two bags Vingara was carrying when he left school earlier appeared to be very heavy.

On November 1, 2015, Fanelli, referring to her notes, testified that she saw "four bags of buffalo wings and a bag of kielbasa on the right side of the refrigerator." An entry in her notes indicates that "she inventoried the refrigerator and saw two bags of chicken tenders defrosted, 30 to 40 pieces, and on Monday at 10:40 a.m. when she went into the refrigerator they were gone and were not being prepared by A Shop." (Tr. 1 @ 174).

On September 6, 2016, Fanelli testified referring the videotape, which corresponds to her notes. She reviewed videotape surveillance footage from the café freezer camera, the B&G outside door camera, and the dumpster camera, and the video footage was then transferred to a flash drive. She also testified that the scenes depicted on the video camera reflect the areas on the day that the pictures were taken. (T2, 4:17-25; 5:1-8). She reviewed videotape footage showing Vingara removing items from the walk-in freezer/refrigerator, placing them in opaque bags and walking out the door of the culinary arts department with them. "Fanelli explained the café freezer camera showed the hallway where the walk -in refrigerator/freezer are [located] as well as the dry goods closet and Vingara's office. (Tr.2@6-7). She also explained that on the other side of the door, which has a view into the culinary arts section is where the buildings and grounds camera is located, where Vingara is seen leaving the building. It also shows an outside freezer where Mascio's, who sells breakfast and lunch for the students, keeps their food in an outside freezer. Their freezer is not mingled with the Sysco orders loaded in the interior freezer/refrigerator." (Tr.2 @7-8).

On October 22nd at 2:16 p.m., 14 minutes before school was dismissed for teachers, Vingara is seen on video "walking out with the parmesan encrusted chicken in a large rectangular tin that he placed in a sheet cake box." According to Fanelli, Vingara would routinely leave school carrying two full bags, "the same ones that he would use to take food from the school on a regular basis."

Fanelli testified that Vingara had a black and white reusable Shop Rite shopping bag and a yellow and black shopping bag that he came to school with in the morning empty and left with them full. She observed these bags in his office behind a chair, laying down flat, and leaving with them full at the end of the day. He is seen leaving on October 28th at 1:15 p.m., and October 29th at 2:08 in the afternoon before school ends at 2:30 p.m.

On November 3rd, the video shows Vingara receiving an order from Sysco. He took two bags of shredded cheese and placed them on the chair in his office. Fanelli verified that the cheese had been ordered by Vingara and not Mastrobattista and was delivered to the school by reference to the invoices. Vingara is next observed changing his shirt while school is in session in the middle of the hallway, and then walking out of the two doors of the culinary department with the bag in which he had put the shredded cheese . (Tr. 2 @ 27).

Notwithstanding the assurance Vingara gave to Ziegler that he would not be on campus during non-school hours and obey the rules, in addition to the above early departures, he is seen on August 4, 2015 in the evening coming and going from the culinary arts department. Also, on September 24, 2015, he is seen in the culinary arts freezer/refrigerator at 6:33 a.m. – more than one hour prior to teachers starting the day. On this occasion, he is seen coming out of the freezer with "heat sealed zip lock bags full of meatballs which were not served in school that day. He is also seen taking items out of the dry goods store room, placing them in a cart, taking aluminum tins, and carrying out a large tray of food." These activities on September 24th at 6:30 a.m. preceded a Giants home game that Thursday night. His activities regarding the milk crates and rolling hot boxes are described above.

The video of September 28th at 2:38 p.m. shows Vingara dressed in his Magic Chef Catering shirt during the school day. Fanelli recalled that a bag Vingara had been filing up with meatballs, cheese, etc. was gone. The video was played until the end and demonstrated that when Vingara left, wearing his Magic Chef Catering t-shirt, and carrying a bag of food that Vingara placed in the refrigerator from earlier in the day. He did not return. (Tr. 2 @ 53- 54).

On October 6th at 8:18 a.m., the Respondent is seen going into the refrigerator/freezer with a heat sealed plastic bag, filling the bag, and placing it in a reusable Shop Rite shopping bag. "Vingara is viewed clearly in his office with an empty red bag taking it out and putting it outside the red hot box after loading an item into the bag." (Tr. @55-56).

The District maintains that "the theft of tortellini was clearly established by viewing the October 8th video at 11:33 a.m., the café freezer camera. He is clearly depicted with his bare hands stuffing tortellini into ziplock bags. Fanelli testified the students cooked the tortellini. (T2, 61:19-25; 62:1-25; 63:1-22; 64:1-23). Vingara is seen loading the tortellini into a black bag. Based upon Fanelli's recollection, the bag is shown being carried out by Vingara at 2:11 p.m. in the afternoon, 20 minutes before school is supposed to be dismissed. (Tr2@ 68).

Fanelli began to testify about October 12 at 16 minutes after 2 p.m. in the afternoon. In that video, Vingara is seen with his reusable red shopping bag placed on a stainless steel cart. Vingara is seen exiting the school refrigerator with a piece of meat and placing it in the red shopping bag. He then is seen to take potatoes, load them in the red bag, in addition to salt and some other dried items. He enters the refrigerator and comes out with three dozen eggs, and he is seen trying to fold the cardboard over and putting it into his red reusable bag. At 2:26 p.m. he leaves. (Tr2@ 68-70). October 12th was Columbus Day and since there were no students in school, there was no reason for Vingara to be utilizing food products at all on that date. However, the day before October 12th was a Giants home game and the menu reflected on J1 lists a tortellini dish with pesto sauce. (Tr.2 @69-70).

On 10:54 a.m. on October 14, the café freezer camera shows that Vingara was carrying out two large bags of macaroni according to the notes provided by the security guard.

Fanelli testified that on November 12th, the day she was called to escort Vingara off campus, "he was very agitated about getting his 'Turducken' out of the school oven that he needed for Sunday's Giants game menu on November 15, 2015. Fanelli confirmed that she never saw anyone else in the security footage leaving the culinary area with food. For example, on Sunday, November 1st, she, the Superintendent and Catterson observed several bags of chicken tenders defrosting. On November 2nd, when they went back to the refrigerator at 10:40 a.m., they were gone.

Fanelli clarified her testimony regarding missing pork butts. While she initially testified that she had seen the students preparing sausage that was served for breakfast at Trade Wins, she later testified that "there were other pork butts that were not used for the sausage that were found to be missing and it is clear they were defrosting." Moreover, on October 28th at 2:15 p.m., Vingara is seen leaving the school carrying a black and white bag filled with items and when Fanelli went to check the refrigerator that day "the pork butts that had not been used for sausage were then missing."

With respect to the Respondent's potential claim that the food he used was food he purchased through a company called Performance Foods, the District avers that "no witness corroborated deliveries from Performance Foods, with the exception of one delivery in October 2015. In this connection, Fanelli testified about a conversation she overheard between Vingara and a friend wherein he was allegedly "constructing a story about why the food was delivered to the VoTech...The person on the other end of the phone was told he would be receiving a phone call and that he was to say that he was an alumnus, that this was a fund raiser, and that Vingara was doing him a favor." (Tr.2 @ 152-155). "Additionally, on October 14, 2015, both Fanelli and Harttraft testified regarding the delivery by Performance Foods of food items to the school."

Finally, on direct examination, Fanelli testified that "once Vingara asked her about the camera being installed in the culinary arts section he changed his behavior." "Rather than place bags in the open, he started putting them in the corner and not in front of the camera as he previously did. He started putting things down by a red hot box or in his office or covering milk crates with his uniform and carrying them out because he wasn't sure if the cameras were working or not." (Tr.2 @ 217-218).

On cross-examination, Fanelli testified that in compiling her notes, her "general practice," she would start taking notes during the day and continue when she got home. "So if I went home for that night, then the very next morning before I start any of my duties other than locking doors, I would write down everything I observed from the camera views." She would "write down whatever she observed from the security cameras." (Tr. 1 @ 82-83).

Fanelli testified that there were three different shops for students: A Shop, B Shop and C Shop. She testified that A Shop had approximately 10-15 students, but she was unsure who the instructor was. A Shop has sophomores, B Shop juniors and seniors, and C Shop freshmen. B Shop students would be scheduled for a class of 2-3 periods, approximately 2 hours. She recalled that the Respondent taught the B Shop, and Mr. Mastrobatista taught C Shop from 12:10 to 2:15 p.m.

The students prepared food for Trade Wing as well as lunch for the teachers' line. Fanelli testified that she had no knowledge of what food A Group, B Group or C Group prepared on September 8th, 9th, 10th, 14th, 15th, 16th, 17th, 21st, 22nd, 23rd, 24th, 25th, 28th, 29th, or 30th. Similarly, she had no knowledge of the foods prepared by the three groups on October 1st, 2nd, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 13th, 14th, 15th, 16th, 19th, 20th, 22nd, 23rd, 26th, 27th, 28th, 29th or 30th. For October 5th, Fanelli testified that A Shop prepared chicken chardonnay. She spent 5 to 10 minutes walking around the class and "they explained to me that they were making chicken chardonnay." (Tr. 1 @ 110). She also observed the ingredients being used. On October 21st, she observed students preparing a 10-12 pound beef loin. At 10:40 a.m., she testified that she was standing at the slicer when Vingara and Mastrobatista sliced a beef loin and placed it in an aluminum tray. (Tr. 1 @ 126).

She had no knowledge of what foods any of the shops prepared on November 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th, 9th, 10th or 11th. On November 12th, A Shop prepared Turduckens. She had no knowledge of the foods prepared by B Shop and C Shop on November 12th.

Fanelli testified that she had no knowledge of a policy or procedure that governs what is to be done with what food students have prepared if there is no function at Trade Wins and there is no faculty food line. (Tr. @ 134).

Fanelli further testified that on August 10, 2015, she saw Vingara outside with a black garbage bag filled with hamburger buns, cases of water, a big box of Frosted Flakes and approximately 10 lbs. of ground beef. As a Security Officer, she did not detain him, although she believed those items were school property. She neither asked him about the items nor saw him putting any of these items into his vehicle. (Tr. 1 @ 136-137). She had not received confirmation to begin an investigation at that time. Fanelli recalled that there were 10-12 cases of water in the storage area before Vingara put two in his trunk, but didn't know how many were left afterwards. She also didn't know how many packages of ground beef were in the refrigerator after August 8th when Vingara left. (Tr. 1 @ 141-142).

Viewing the video from October 20th at 2:22 p.m., Fanelli could not determine what was in the bag Vingara was taking out. At 1:38 p.m., there is no video footage of Vingara putting something in a box at the bottom of a cart. She could not ascertain whether the Respondent arrived for school empty-handed on October 22nd. (Tr. 1 @ 152).

On October 28th at 2:15 p.m., Vingara is seen walking out with a bag in his hand. Fanelli was not present in the culinary arts room at this time and did not see him put items in the bag. On October 29th at 2:08 p.m., Vingara is seen sitting in his office and then appears to be walking toward the exit with a bag in his hand. Fanelli did not observe him putting things in the bag that he's observed carrying out on the video. (Tr. 1 @ 156-157). On November 3, 2015 at 2:06 p.m., Vingara is seen in the hallway area wearing a tee-shirt. Next, he is seen in the video heading toward the door wearing a black jacket.

With respect to the milk crates on September 24th at 2:33 p.m., she didn't count the bags of meatballs in the refrigerator. A blip in the motion detectors of the surveillance camera stopped as Vingara was in the act of moving out of the doorway. Fanelli testified that one of the milk crates on the cart that Vingara is seen pushing toward the door contains sausage and peppers. (Tr. 2 @ 171). Although she didn't inspect the rectangular tray or knew what the student groups were preparing, Fanelli testified that it contained sausage and peppers because "I knew what was their normal routine of cooking things. Sometimes once or twice a week we'd make peppers and onions." (Tr. 1 @ 174). Also on September 24, 2015, she was neither in the culinary arts area nor saw Vingara loading the hot/black boxes.

On October 6th at 8:18 a.m., Fanelli didn't know what food was in the plastic bag. Although she had seen earlier from the surveillance camera a red bag in the refrigerator around 8:18 a.m., she did not actually see him remove the red bag. (Tr. 1 @ 182). On October 8th at 11:33 a.m., during class time, Fanelli testified that the Respondent is packing up two tins of tortellini. Alluding to her notes for October 12, 2015, Fanelli testified that she confirmed that the red bag was empty, but at 2:16 p.m., Vingara left with a pork butt in the red bag. Prior to October 15th, she had not taken a written inventory detailing the number of pork butts in the freezer. (Tr. 1 @ 190).

On October 13th at 2:13 p.m., Fanelli could not determine what Vingara did with the garbage bag he carried out. (Tr. 1 @ 192).

On redirect examination, Fanelli testified that when she went into the refrigerator on Sunday, November 1st, she saw several bags of chicken tenders and chicken cutlets already cut and defrosting. On Monday, November 2nd at 10:40 a.m., they were no longer there. She saw no evidence that the A Shop students were using these items. On October 27th, she saw the A Shop students preparing breakfast sausage, and was informed by Mastrobatista that pork butts were used to make sausage. On October 28th, she wrote that the remaining pork butts were gone. Between October 27th and 28th, she checked the security footage and wrote "John walks out of the school carrying a black and white bag filled with items. When I had gone in to check the refrigerator that day, the remaining pork butts that they hadn't used for sausage were gone."

Referring to the October 22, 2015 footage and her notes, she testified that the students were frying parmesan-crusted chicken. Next, she saw Vingara loading the finished pieces onto a disposable tray. During an inventory on Sunday, October 25th, she discovered that the parmesan-crusted chicken was gone. (Tr. 1 @ 212). In the period between October 22nd and October 25th, she saw no one remove any objects that were in the shape of the tin that the chicken was placed in. (Tr.1@213).

The Giants menu for October 11th included tortellini with pesto sauce. On October 8th, she saw him filling bags with tortellini, but not putting it back in the refrigerator. On November 15th, the Giants menu included Turducken and on November 12th, Fanelli saw Vingara removing them from the campus – food that the students had cooked. (Tr.1 @ 219).

On recross examination, Fanelli testified that she didn't watch everything that happened on every camera on a daily basis.

With respect to her testimony that the chicken tenders that were in the refrigerator on November 1st had disappeared by November 2nd, Fanelli could not ascertain whether they had been used by B Shop. On November 12th at 11:00 a.m., Fanelli did not actually observe Vingara cooking Turduckens, but saw him remove them from the school ovens.

Fanelli didn't know whether B Shop had prepared any chicken dish. She did not inventory the freezer on October 27th but her notes on October 28th stating "10/28. I entered the fridge and freezer to check on the remaining pork butts. All were gone." The Respondent challenged the authenticity of this entry. He claims that "the line of it is on the original document that Ms. Fanelli has been referring to the entire time was not on the page when it was photocopied." (Tr. 3 @ 21).

Finally, on re-direct, Fanelli testified that she never saw anyone other than Vingara walking out of the school with food items.

Superintendent Chrys Harttraft ("Harttraft") discussed her concerns about Vingara once she was informed that food items were missing from the Twilight Program. She clarified that Mascio's, the foodservice company that cooks the students' lunches, did not utilize the walk-in refrigerator/freezer in the culinary arts program because they had a separate freezer located outside.

Harttraft testified that in accordance with the instructions she had received from the Bridgewater Police, she and Catterson inventoried items in the refrigerator/freezer and dry goods room. Illustrative of her activities is the following:

> Harttraft took the opportunity to go into the dry storage and focused on a rack that fits 150 number 10 cans. During the four inventories she went into the dry goods room and charted all of the number 10 can products which were things like caramel, tomato based items, or any kind of sauce. (T3, 46:19-25). The items are included in the report prepared by the forensic accountant which is part of Exhibit J1. She looked specifically to see things that would go missing that were peculiar either to the TradeWins menu, or also coincided with Big Blue BBQ menus and she identified that about a quarter of the page down on Exhibit 2, page 1 of 4, there were four one-gallon Frank sauce wing buffalo which is really a hot sauce, but no food served at the school in TradeWins or anywhere else involved Frank's Hot Sauce. She also kept an eye on what new items were ordered. So, if something was missing and then three more were ordered, she counted them in her inventory to come up with items that were missing and not used for in-house purposes. (T3, 48:17-24). She found 6-1/2 gallons of various barbeque sauce, 16 tomato based items were missing. (T3, 49:2-3). She reiterated it was 16 number 10 cans of tomato based products which are tomato sauce, whole tomatoes and puree. (T3, 50:3-25; 51:1-6). There was also barbeque sauce missing (T3, 51:19-21; 52:3-5). So, four one-gallon Sweet Baby Ray's BBQ sauce was ordered and paid for by the school and two were found to be missing. (T3, 52:22-25). Then, further down the page there is tomato puree, six > cans were gone; tomato whole, six of those cans, two gallons of barbeque orange chipotle sauce, one of those cans was missing; five cans of hoisin sauce; three gallons of the Frank's Hot Sauce; and 16 cans of other tomato products were missing. (T3, 53:2-25; 54:1-3). The cost of the missing number 10 cans was approximately $150.00. (Tr. 3 @ 66).

> After she did the inventory for the number 10 cans, she checked the menus for items that were served at the school Barbeque sauce was not used for anything on the school menu and she did not look at the Big Blue BBQ menus that were part of J1 and found that it was used for buffalo chicken meatballs for the September 20th game and the shredded barbeque beef which was served on October 11, the braised barbeque ribs on October 11, and sweet and sour meatballs which used the orange chipotle sauce on October 11. The value of the orange chipotle barbeque sauce that was missing was $39.19. (Tr. 3 @ 54-56). She testified that hoisin barbeque riblets were served on the Giants menu and barbeque shredded beef on the Giants menu and barbeque shredded beef on the Giants menu on October 25 and fire braised barbeque ribs and barbeque pork were served on the November 15 game. She further identified that the Frank's hot sauce was probably used for the buffalo chicken meatballs, specifically for the buffalo sauce, and tomato based items were used for sausage and peppers for the September 20th game, the October 11th game, and the October 25th game where sausage and peppers, meatballs marinara and chicken cacciatore were on the menu and on November 15th came, buffalo chicken meatballs, sausage and peppers, jambalaya with scallions, chicken and sausage were served. (Tr. 3 @ 56-58).

A study of the amount of chicken ordered from the middle of September to the middle of October – specifically 230 lbs.—led to their conclusion that since approximately 35 pounds of chicken could be accounted for at the TradeWins events, yet every game day menu for Big Blue BBQ included chicken, school products were being stolen.

Harttraft also testified that the Respondent's sick leave on October 18th before an October 20th Giants home game, an unapproved professional development day on October 11th, and a one-half personal day on September 24th raised suspicion that "he was really working on his Big Blue BBQ because the professional days he took off in September coincided with the Giants home games." (Tr. 3 @ 60-61).

The Superintendent then reviewed the September-October 2015 calendar of events and juxtaposed these events against the Big Blue BBQ menus for Giants home games.

With respect to the $79.00 check that Vingara submitted to show that he paid for the beef for his daughter Nicole's baby shower, Harttraft testified that the school "usually does not receive checks from teachers for anything. When they searched the backup, they found that it was for chicken, some kind of sauce, and a dessert [and] not for beef." (Tr. 3 @ 64). She added that there was no procedure for anyone to purchase goods and then reimburse the school. (Tr. 3 @ 66).

Since Vingara left the school on November 12th and the teacher lunch line started on November 18th, "there was no possibility that any of the food that he had taken and the District could not find was used in a teacher lunch line."

Harttraft was further concerned that Vingara had used the students to prepare food for his business and the limited scope of the food they were learning to prepare. After watching the videos, the Superintendent maintained that the amount of time Vingara spent at his desk "could never be characterized as teaching, and certainly on his last day of work when he was cooking Turduckens to serve at the Giants home game, it was very clear that he was more concerned about his business and his Turduckens than he was about what was going to happen to his students."

Dr. Harttraft reiterated the particulars of the Performance Foods delivery on October 15, 2015, described supra. This episode convinced her that Vingara was "clearly having food delivered to the school, utilizing school time and school resources to promote his other business operated out of the Martinsville Inn." (Tr. 3 @ 70-74).

According to Harttraft, Vingara was never given permission to take food to school, paid for, or take out garbage bags for culinary arts, since the school provides a custodial service. "The only food students prepare officially are for TradeWins and the teacher lunch line, which did not start until November."

Ms. Theresa Simonds ("Simonds"), forensic accountant from Eisner Amper, testified that she was tasked with providing "an opinion as to the cost of the product that Vingara allegedly took." (Jt. Ex. #1). Simonds reviewed the inventory of the freezer-refrigerator prepared by the school, its subsequent investigation, portions of Fanelli's notes, the calendar showing what meals were being served at the school, and a document showing what was ordered from Sysco. These documents distinguished the items alleged to have been taken by Vingara from items used at the school as part of the lunch or breakfast program.

Simonds testified that to a "reasonable degree of accounting certainly, her opinion as to the value of the missing items was $828.00 for the period of time between the beginning of September to November 12, 2015." Additional items that she was told were missing were not quantified (i.e., number 10 cans, potatoes, etc.).

In addition, another level of value, rather than simply cost, such as hours of labor, could not be calculated. "There was also the cost of the time Vingara spent ordering the food. Also, if the meat was left in inventory, Vingara was not charged with the cost."

Respondent Position

The Respondent, on the other hand, has argued that the District has not proven the tenure charges of "unbecoming conduct, neglect of (duty) and theft of goods" against Vingara. The Respondent maintains that "the gravamen of these allegations that Mr. Vingara was ordering food and other items from the Board's Culinary Arts program vendors, Sysco Metro NY Services ('Sysco') and then converting them to his own business use" has not been proven by a preponderance of the evidence.

In asserting that "the Board has failed to prove the factual prerequisites which are foundationally necessary to its case," the Respondent first claims that "the Board has failed to prove what food items were actually utilized by the students in the Culinary Arts Program during the relevant time period. This being the case, it is impossible to determine whether the items allegedly converted by Mr. Vingara were, in fact, used by students in class."

Second, the Board has failed to prove that Mr. Vingara failed to follow any syllabus curriculum, or other instructional guidelines pertaining to the Culinary Arts Program. Consequently, the Board cannot demonstrate that the foods ordered by Mr. Vingara and prepared by the students in connection with the Culinary Arts Program were not educationally appropriate.

Third, the Board has failed to prove that Mr. Vingara failed to follow any policy, procedure, practice, or guidelines concerning the disposition / disposal of food prepared by students in the Culinary Arts Program.

Based on the Board's lack of proof regarding the above elements of its case against the Respondent, the Respondent concludes that since "the Board has failed that Mr. Vingara engaged in conduct unbecoming, neglect of duty and/or theft of goods/services, the tenure charges must, consequently be dismissed."

With respect to the Board's failure to prove which items were used in the Culinary Arts Program, the Respondent notes that "none of the Board's witnesses had any knowledge of what was cooked on a daily basis in the Culinary Arts Program." The Arbitrator's summary of Board witness Catterson's testimony on this subject is cited as follows:

> All right. Then, Mr. Cridge, maybe you can note the fact that the witness is not his direct supervisor. She doesn't know the curriculum on any given day. Her testimony is limited to items she saw in the freezer on day one and on day two that they were missing. That's the extent of her testimony...(Tr. 1 @ 72).

Similarly, Superintendent Harttraft's testimony that she could "absolutely not" provide a day to day recitation of what the Culinary Arts students did in class each day during the relevant time period reinforces the Respondent's contention on this point.

The Respondent deems noteworthy the testimony of Superintendent Harttraft that until she heard the testimony of Fanelli that Vingara and the other Culinary Arts Teacher, Mr. Mastrobatista, taught different sections of the Culinary Arts Program, she had assumed that they "co-taught" all of the Culinary Arts sections (i.e., Group A, Group B and Group C). The Board did not call Mastrobatista as a witness to differentiate his menu and instruction from that of the Respondent.

The Respondent takes issue with the testimony of Ms. Fanelli, the District's key witness, who, in conducting her investigation, "had very little knowledge of what food items were prepared by the students in the Culinary Arts Program." Although she testified that there were three groups of Culinary Arts students, "A Shop" (sophomores and some juniors), "B Shop" (juniors and seniors), and "C Shop" (freshmen), in her responses to questions about every day on the school calendar from the beginning of school on or about September 8, 2015 until Vingara's suspension on or about November 12, 2015, she could not provide specificity regarding the food each shop prepared on a daily basis as follows:

> She testified that "A Shop" students made chicken chardonnay on October 5, 2015. T2:109-3-6. She testified that "B Shop" students prepared beef loin on October 21, 2015. T2:123:23-124:13. She testified that "B Shop" students prepared parmesan encrusted chicken on October 22, 2015. T2:126:13-127:6. Finally, she testified that "A shop" students prepared Turduckens on November 12, 2015. T2:131:9-19. Besides these four dishes, she did not know what foods, dishes, or ingredients students in "A Shop," "B Shop," or "C Shop" utilized or prepared on all of the other school days. Compounding the Board's unawareness of items which were used by students is the fact that it has no record of ordering items which it knows were utilized:

> The food that was ordered? No. We had sandwiches [at School events], and there was no sandwich meat ordered through Sysco. (Tr. 1 @ 22). (T1:22:1-3).

Given this testimony, the Respondent argues that "the Board's claim that certain food items/ingredients were 'missing' from the Culinary Arts Program cannot be substantiated: admittedly, the Board does not know whether or not these items were used by students." As a result, "the Board cannot demonstrate that Mr. Vingara converted these food items for his own purposes."

In addressing the Board's claim that the Respondent, in addition to taking food items, had the students cook these food items for his catering business, the Respondent contends that "the Board has failed to demonstrate that Mr. Vingara was not following the school curriculum or otherwise having his students undertake educationally appropriate work in class. "The Superintendent's admission on this point is considered significant" as follows:

> The Arbitrator: I would just reiterate for the record there is no curriculum in evidence indicating what the students and the various grade levels should be doing each year of their instructional experience, sophomores, juniors, seniors, safety, training, and the like. We don't have a comprehensive curriculum document that lays that out; is that correct? (Tr. 3 @ 125).

According to the Respondent, not only did the Board fail to produce a curriculum in connection with its case, "there is no evidence that Mr. Vingara was warned, corrected or reprimanded during the Fall of 2015 with respect to his instruction of Culinary Arts students. Mr. Vingara was not required to submit menus as a part of his instructional activity." (Tr. 1 @ 21).

Moreover, prior to his suspension in November 2015, "the Board did not even stop Mr. Vingara from ordering the allegedly inappropriate food. This being the case, the Board cannot demonstrate that any item ordered from Sysco by Mr. Vingara in connection with the Culinary Arts program was not legitimately related to his teaching duties." Considering his evaluation as a "Highly Effective" teacher in prior several years, the Respondent maintains that he had no reason to believe that there was any problem with his instructional delivery."

The Respondent takes issue with the District's position that the absence of a "teacher's line" during most of the fall semester "extinguished the students' need to learn to prepare hot foods. It is unimaginable, as claimed by the Superintendent, that students, including seniors, would spend an entire semester preparing sandwiches and breakfast food in satisfaction of a legitimate Culinary Arts curriculum."

The Respondent further contends that "[u]nder these circumstances, the Board cannot demonstrate that [he] engaged in conduct unbecoming a staff member vis-à-vis either the foods prepared in the Culinary Arts Program, or the manner in which those foods were disposed."

The Respondent maintains that "the Board failed to prove that [he] violated any Board Policy or Procedure." According to the Respondent, "the Board did not offer into evidence any policy, practice or procedure which [he] violated during the time period relevant to the tenure charges." The testimony of Catterson that "she was unaware of any policy prohibiting an employee from ordering food and then reimbursing the Board for same is deemed significant.

Notwithstanding Catterson's testimony that there was a policy prohibiting "conducting business out of the district," the Respondent notes that "no such policy was actually identified or admitted into evidence." Also, "[t]here was no policy pertaining to the use of expired food in the District; however, such food could not be served to staff." (Tr. 1 @ 97-98).

Whereas Principal Ziegler testified that she gave Vingara "a directive in September 2011 not to conduct business on school property and that she directed him not to be on school property when school was not in session," there is no evidence that Vingara was warned or reprimanded for insubordination when he disregarded this directive as Ziegler claimed. In the absence of corrective discipline regarding the directive, the Respondent considers this assertion unproven. Conversely, when Superintendent Harttraft told Vingara not to have Performance Foods deliver food to him, personally, he complied with this directive.

The Respondent acknowledges that he personally purchased food which was delivered to the school, but subsequently reimbursed the school. With the exception of Fanelli's identification of the Turduckens as one of the four meals the Culinary Arts students prepared without using food supplies ordered by the school, the other food items ordered are presumably addressed by his checks. Specifically, the beef loin dish that Vingara prepared for his daughter Nicole's baby shower was paid for with a $79.00 check made out to "Somerset County VoTech," with a memo on the check reading "Food for Nicole." Catterson testified that the check was received and deposited by the Board. (Tr. 1 @ 61).

Also admitted into evidence was a check from Vingara in the amount of $212.03 made out to Sysco. (R. Ex. #3). An invoice from Performance Foods, listing food ordered paid for by Vingara, and delivered to the school was admitted. The invoice listed the following items:

- PERF CAB BEEF AND BRISKET BNLS
- HORMEL PORK RIB ST SOUIS FIRE BRAISE
- ROMA PASTA TORTELLINI CHEESE
- ROMA SAUSAGE HOT ROPE FZ
- STFFDS*APTZ BUFFALO CHICKEN MEATBALL
- AUS BLU%PORK RIB TIPS ¾" SL FC
- STUFFDS*APTZ CHICKEN SPINACH MEATBALL

The total cost of this invoice was $1,437.96. "Even if, arguendo, Mr. Vingara paid for food delivered to the school for students to prepare in connection with a private business venture, there is no evidence that the preparation of these foods contravened school curriculum."

With respect to the allegation that the food missing from the refrigerator/freezer and storage area is attributable to theft on Vingara's part, the Respondent argues that "many people had access to the Culinary Arts Program Area. Students and staff had open access to the Culinary Arts Program facilities, including the kitchen/refrigerator area from which the food was allegedly 'missing.'" Since the Board did not review all of the footage from the security cameras in the area of the Culinary Arts Program, and "it was not clear from the camera footage offered into evidence by the Board what items Mr. Vingara brought in and out of the kitchen," the Respondent argues that "[u]nder all of these circumstances, even if the Board was to prove that a certain item was missing and unaccounted for, the Board cannot establish that Mr. Vingara is responsible."

Finally, the Respondent argues that the Board failed to follow its own Discipline Policy Board Policy 3150 concerning Discipline. It provides:

> The Superintendent shall deal with disciplinary matters on a case-by-case basis. Discipline measures will include verbal and written warnings as appropriate and will provide, wherever possible, for progressive penalties for repeated violations...
> In the event disciplinary action is contemplated, notice will be given to the teaching staff member in ordinary and concise language of the specific acts and omissions upon which the disciplinary action is based; the text of the statute, policy, or rule that the member is alleged to have violated; a date when the member may be heard and the administrator who will hear the matter and the penalty that may be imposed. (R. Ex. #1).

"First, the Board did not notify Vingara that disciplinary action was contemplated. When the Board became concerned that Vingara was misappropriating food or engaged in conduct unbecoming in August 2015, it should have confronted him and taken appropriate action. "The Board concealed its investigation and, in fact, enabled Vingara to engage in the conduct* of which it now complains."

"Second, the Board did not use progressive discipline. "There is no evidence that Mr. Vingara had ever been disciplined in connection with his instructional delivery, or ordering, or utilization of school supplies."

The Respondent did not testify as was his right. He did not call any witnesses on his behalf.

Based on the foregoing, the Respondent maintains that he should be reinstated and the tenure charges against him dismissed.

DISCUSSION

Considering the evidence in its entirety, the Arbitrator is not persuaded that the District has met its burden of proof by a preponderance of the credible evidence. There is no dispute that the District bears the ultimate burden of proving the tenure charges of (a) conduct unbecoming a teacher, (b) neglect of duty, and (c) theft of goods and services by a preponderance of the competent, credible evidence. See, In re Polic, 99 N.J. 550 (1982); Atkinson v. Parsekian, 37 N.J. 43, 149 (1962).

As the Board correctly notes, in order to meet its burden of proof, it had to establish that the "evidence it presented by way of surveillance, forensic accounting and expert report clearly demonstrates that 'it is more probable than not' that Vingara stole the District's food, stole time and used the students free labor to promote his private business." Although the Respondent notes that he "may still be, the subject of a criminal investigation undertaken by the local police and/or Somerset County Prosecutor's office," the criminal standard of proof, namely beyond a reasonable doubt, is not applicable in the instant case. Also not applicable is the intermediate standard of proof of clear and convincing evidence occasionally used by arbitrators where the alleged cause for disciplinary action or discharge is misconduct recognized and punished by the criminal law such as "theft of goods and services."

As an initial matter, the Arbitrator finds that the District presented no direct evidence that Vingara had engaged in theft of goods and services. Direct evidence is evidence which proves a proposition directly, provided by an "eye witness" to a specific event. Although the District's key witness, Ms. Fanelli, testified regarding her observations of the Respondent's behavior, made notes regarding these observations, reviewed video surveillance of the refrigerator/freezer and the area outside the Culinary Arts building, and with the assistance of District administrators conducted comparative inventories of the food products ordered by the District from Sysco and used in the preparation of TradeWins meals, no direct evidence of theft was presented.

Instead, the District has offered circumstantial evidence of the Respondent's alleged misconduct and theft. "Circumstantial evidence is a combination of persuasive facts that when taken together, leave only the one reasonable factual conclusion sought by the advocate." See, McCormick on Evidence, 6th Ed., West Group (1999). Circumstantial evidence is the use of known facts to determine if they raise reasonable inferences or concepts concerning the occurrence under investigation. As the U.S. Supreme Court held in Leary v. U.S. 395 U.S. 6, 23 (1969), "a rational connection between facts proved directly and ones to be inferred from them require substantial assurance that the presumed fact is more likely than not to flow from the proved fact on which it is made to depend."

In other words, "the circumstances relied upon must be consistent with the theory of guilt and inconsistent with any reasonable theory of innocence." Therefore, the District has the burden of establishing a clear link between the Respondent's conduct and the property he is alleged to have stolen. In a termination entirely based on circumstantial evidence, the District has to prove that the "web of circumstances was so persuasive that a conclusion of guilt was inescapable." See, Evidence in Arbitration, Hill and Sinicropl, BNA (1980). As the District has correctly observed, "[i]t is true that if two possibilities can be inferred from the evidence, neither can be said to have been proved by a preponderance of the evidence required to sustain a burden of necessary proof. Aluminum Co. of America v. Preferred Metal Prod., 37 F.R.D. 218 (D. N.J. 1965), aff'd, 354 F.2d 658 (3d Cir. 1966).

In the Arbitrator's opinion, the crux of the District's case relies on circumstantial evidence which, in the aggregate, does not inescapably lead to the conclusion or support the inference that Vingara stole food products the District had ordered and/or improperly converted them for use in his private catering business. The testimonial and documentary evidence adduced by the District also permits other inferences to be drawn supportive of innocence. These inferences may be drawn not only from the August 10, 2015 incident of food reported missing from the Twilight Program run by Linkages, but also with respect to several of the claims made by the District that food the Respondent had ordered from Sysco was used in his Big Blue Barbeque business rather than in the Culinary Arts Program where he taught.

Moreover, the District cannot, in lieu of meeting its burden of proof, shift the burden to the Respondent. Since the Respondent was not compelled to testify, the Arbitrator may not draw an adverse inference from his decision. Therefore, assertions by the District such as "Vingara has not presented any factual reasoning to even come close to defending his conduct" and Vingara never introduced his lesson plans so there was no proof that his supervisor would be award that his students prepared the same food over and over again during the semester" are irrelevant absent the District's establishment of a prima facie case, including Board policies that Vingara violated.

The insufficiency of the evidence involving the food allegedly missing from the Twilight Program is illustrated by the District's omission of alternative explanations. Fanelli's testimony that on August 10, 2015, she observed in the Respondent's car trunk "a black hefty garbage bag, a 10 lb. log of ground beef, a case of Frosted Flakes containing about 100 pieces, hamburger buns and bottles of water" has been construed by the District as preponderant evidence that Vingara stole the missing Twilight items from that program's storage closet.

Although Fanelli testified that she saw the missing items from the storage closet in Vingara's car, she acknowledged that she did not confront him about the items in her capacity as security guard, did not observe him place any of the items in his vehicle, and could not ascertain the whereabouts of three additional boxes of Frosted Flakes also missing since August 6, 2015. (Tr. 2 @ 141-145).

Fanelli further testified that before she looked in Vingara's car she didn't see any hamburger rolls in the storage area. Moreover, there is no evidence that Vingara had exclusive access to the Twilight storage area and no inventory was taken before and after the incident of the refrigerator/freezer or other storage areas. Also, unless specifically tagged or earmarked, a fungible item such as Frosted Flakes could have been acquired at several places.

It is noteworthy, given the District's acknowledgement that since the Twilight Program had closed by August 10th, the leftover food (dried goods) were often disbursed to either the school nurse or the Linkages area for students to use during the course of the year. Therefore, it is not inconceivable that Vingara was taking food that would be used in his classes or had taken expired or disposable food. Moreover, there was no testimony from Linkages' employees or documentation to corroborate the hearsay testimony that the program was actually missing the breakfast food Vingara was accused of taking.

The impetus for the District's investigation began in August 2015, and pursuant to advice from the Bridgewater Police and Somerset County Prosecutor's Office, the District administration installed surveillance cameras in the refrigerator/freezer area and began taking inventories of the food items ordered from Sysco, from the beginning of September 2015 through the Respondent's suspension in mid-November.

The District's investigation was multi-faceted in that three dimensions were compared and contrasted to determine Vingara's alleged culpability in the theft of school property. Evidence obtained from the inventory of Sysco orders and deliveries, Fanelli's personal and video surveillance observations of Vingara's activities in the Culinary Arts area, including the freezer-refrigerator as well classroom instruction of the students, and the menus of the Big Blue Barbeque were compared to determine whether Vingara was ordering food items exclusively for his business or was ordering food items usable both for the Culinary Arts Program and his business and misappropriating several items for his business purposes.

According to Fanelli, as she proceeded to associate the items that were being made by the Culinary Arts students, as compared to the items that remained in the refrigerator, she noticed that the items made by the students, which were also listed on the Giants menu, would begin to disappear. Implicit in Fanelli's analysis was that none of the food items which disappeared were used by the other student groups or Mr. Mastrobattista in his Culinary Arts classes.

Fanelli's testimony that the Shop A students prepared chicken chardonnay on October 5th, which was not served in the school in TradeWins or on the teacher lunch line (which did not begin until November), combined with documentary evidence that chicken chardonnay is listed on the Giants menu for October 11, 2015 is deemed evidence tantamount to finding the Respondent's theft of District food items and his use of student labor to prepare the food. According to Fanelli, the October 6th video shows Vingara filling a ziplock bag with chicken chardonnay for the October 11th Giants game menu. He is also shown retrieving a red reusable shop bag, putting it in a hot box, carrying it to the refrigerator, and leaving the building early at 2:15 p.m.

However, in the absence of a curriculum showing that the students did not or were not supposed to cook chicken chardonnay on October 5, 2015, the subsequent removal of these cooked products from the school, without a policy prohibiting such removal, cannot be construed as theft. Unless it could be shown that the ordering and preparation of chicken chardonnay deviated from the prescribed curriculum and was made exclusively for Vingara's catering business, an inference cannot be drawn to support the allegation of theft. Moreover, given the difficulty of corroborating Fanelli's testimony with the video footage regarding what the contents were of the items that Vingara was putting in the hot box, and given the District's decision not to inspect the bag upon Vingara's departure due to its ongoing investigation, the Arbitrator finds this circumstantial evidence insufficient to sustain tenure charge.

Similarly problematic from an evidentiary standpoint is Fanelli's testimony that she observed the students cook parmesan encrusted chicken which Vingara then loaded in disposable tins. She noted that the chicken breasts were not served at any meal in school that day. Subsequently, the administration performed an inventory on October 25th and discovered that the parmesan encrusted chicken was missing. This item, along with a missing roast beef that Vingara had claimed was purchased for his daughter Nicole's shower from Restaurant Depot, was allegedly stolen. After Fanelli observed the Butcher Block brand label (sold by Sysco) on the beef loin and called Restaurant Depot to discover that they did not carry Butcher Block, Fanelli deduced that Vingara had misappropriated these food products.

Notwithstanding Fanelli's testimony that following the inventory of October 25th, both the encrusted parmesan chicken placed in a long tray and the Sysco roast beef were gone, she did not personally see or observe on video Vingara putting this item in a box. She also did not see him on the security footage remove these items from the building after he was observed loading them on to a disposable tray. (Tr.2@ 150). Here again, there is no evidence that the preparation of these food items was inconsistent with the curriculum or constituted improper instruction for the student who cooked the food, Anthony Thompson.

Since Fanelli learned from Vingara that parmesan encrusted chicken and roast beef were served at his daughter Nicole's baby shower, the charge of theft is offset, in large part, by a $79.00 check Vingara wrote to "Somerset County VoTech," with a memo stating "Food for Nicole." Catterson confirmed that the check was received and deposited by the Board, without questioning the Respondent. The Respondent was not confronted or disciplined when the $79.00 check he gave the District purportedly for his daughter Nicole's shower did not match the backup invoice.

On October 28th at 2:15 p.m., Vingara is seen on the video walking out with a bag in his hand. However, since Fanelli was not present in the culinary arts area, she did not see him put items, food or otherwise, in his bag. A similar situation transpires on October 29th. Fanelli records in her notes that the bag Vingara is carrying to his car "appears to be very heavy"; however, she did not determine whether he arrived at the school with a bag or what the contents were.

On Sunday, November 1st, Fanelli testified that she observed "two bags of boneless chicken fingers defrosted – 30 to 40 pieces." On Monday, November 2nd, she could not find these items. She noted that none of these items were being prepared by A Shop.

However, there is no evidence that these missing chicken fingers weren't used by Vingara for A Shop instruction or by Mastrobattista in B Shop. Considering Fanelli's testimony that she didn't know what any of the shops prepared on November 2nd or November 3rd, it is not inconceivable that the purported missing chicken fingers were used by one or more of the Student Shops to prepare food dishes.

Since faculty and students, other than Respondent, had access to the refrigerator/freezer in the Culinary Arts Program area and Fanelli was not able to view all of the video footage during the November 1st to November 2nd timeframe, alternative explanations for this "missing" chicken fingers food item are possible.

On October 27, 2015, Fanelli wrote in her notes that she had observed "A Shop students making breakfast sausage. I asked Mark what cut of meat do you use for that? He said they used pork butts." In her testimony, Fanelli indicated that these were the pork butts that she had observed earlier in the refrigerator. (Tr. 2 @ 207). Although Fanelli acknowledges that some of the pork butts were used for breakfast at the TradeWins, she made an entry on October 28th that "I entered the fridge and freezer to check on the remaining pork butts. All were gone. John must have walked out with pork butts on Monday afternoon."

Fanelli testified that on October 28th, she reviewed "the café freezer camera at 2:15. John walks out of the school carrying a black and white bag filled with items. When I had gone to check the refrigerator that day, the remaining pork butts that they hadn't used for sausage were now gone." (Tr. 2 @ 208). Since she hadn't seen anyone else on the video from October 28th, Fanelli concluded that Vingara had removed the remaining pork butts from the refrigerator.

On cross-examination, Fanelli acknowledged that she did not take an inventory of everything in the freezer on October 27th, but rather made "a physical observation."

With respect to her conversation with Mastrobattista, Fanelli was uncertain which student shop had made the sausage or what the various shops made on October 28th – but "believed" it was A Shop.

It is noteworthy that the District did not call Mastrobattista as a witness to clarify his utilization of pork butts on October 27th or testify generally about his interaction with Vingara, the instructional program, and the disposition of food the students had cooked.

Although Fanelli testified that she had written in her notes "I observed pork butts in the fridge at 10:32 a.m.," this entry does not appear in the copy of her notes admitted in the record as Joint Exhibit No. 1. An inspection of Fanelli's notes by Respondent's counsel revealed that the contested entry was written with another pen. At this point, Respondent's counsel challenged the authenticity of the 10:32 a.m. entry and asked the Arbitrator "to strike the testimony of this witness."

The Arbitrator acknowledges the problematic aspects of the 10:32 a.m. entry and will exclude it as evidence in support of this element of the tenure charge.

Given this dubious entry, evidence that Fanelli had not conducted a complete inventory of the refrigerator on October 27th, and her inability to exclude other student groups and their instructor as possible users of the pork butts, the Arbitrator is disinclined to sustain this October 27th to October 28th element of the tenure charge.

To sustain a charge of theft, one incident is sufficient. Neither the number of times the misappropriation occurs nor the quantity of the product stolen mitigate the act of theft, which is a terminable offense. However, in an administrative proceeding, the evidence of theft must be preponderant and unequivocal. The District, at minimum, would have needed to prove that the Respondent took possession of its food product for his business purposes, left the school premises with the product for non-school purposes, and such conduct was unauthorized. Moreover, it would also have to prove that he did not reimburse the District for the product removed.

Clearly, several scenes depicted in the video surveillance entail suspicious behavior by Vingara. For example, on November 3rd, it appears on the video that a Sysco order is delivered. Fanelli testified that the delivery was made and Vingara signed for it. Next, the Respondent is seen taking what appears to be two bags of shredded cheese, walking to his desk, and placing them on the chair. Later, after changing his shirt in the hallway, and shortly after a female student is seen exiting the girls' room, Vingara is seen walking out the two doors of the Culinary Department with the bag, in which, the District alleges he put the shredded cheese.

However, Vingara is not apprehended by Security. His bag is not inspected to confirm that it contains shredded cheese. Moreover, considering the Respondent's argument that the Board had no policy prohibiting him from ordering a food item and subsequently reimbursing the Board, the Arbitrator finds that the video and testimonial evidence in support of the November 3rd element of the tenure charge is not proven by a preponderance of the evidence. Since the Respondent submitted a check dated October 6, 2015 and made out to Sysco for $213.03, there is evidence that this practice was not prohibited by Board policy. Also, an invoice dated October 14, 2015 lists "pasta tortellini cheese." (R. Ex. #2).

On this point, Catterson testified that she was unaware of any policy that prohibited an employee from ordering food and then reimbursing the Board for same. (Tr. 1 @ 55-56). Although Catterson testified that a written policy existed prohibiting the "conducting business out of the District," this purported policy was not admitted into evidence.

The last of four foods that Fanelli identified was made by Culinary Arts students was Turducken on November 12th – the same day he was escorted off campus. She testified that to her knowledge the Turduckens that Fanelli was eager to get out of the oven on November 12th were not made with school supplies. (T3 @ 32-33).

Insofar as the incident wherein Superintendent Harttraft directed Vingara not to have Performance Foods deliver food to him personally at the school is concerned, there is no evidence that after the October 15, 2015 delivery episode there was a recurrence. However, there is evidence that prior to October 15, 2014, Vingara personally purchased food which was delivered to the school for his Magic Chef Caterer business. An invoice dated October 14, 2015 itemizes several food items, and totals $1,437.96. (R. Ex. #2). It is noteworthy that many of these food items are similar to food served at Giant football games.

In the absence of a clear directive prohibiting this practice prior to October 15, 2015 or a written policy to this effect, the Respondent's practice cannot be subject to discipline or support the District's tenure charge. Despite Principal Ziegler's claim that she gave Vingara a directive in September 2011 not to conduct business on school property and directed him not to be on school property when school was not in session, she did not discipline him for being on campus after hours in the 2012-2013 school year such as his evening appearance on August 4th, 2015 and arrival at 6:33 a.m. on September 24th, 2015. There is no documentary evidence that Ziegler ever disciplined Vingara for insubordination pursuant to his violation of the undocumented directive. (Tr. 1 @ 123). Clearly, Ziegler reasonably deferred any discipline of the Respondent's violation of the directive observed on the video surveillance during the District's ongoing investigation.

With respect to the one page/undated inventory of the refrigerator/freezer and storage room conducted by the administration from mid-September to mid-November and relied upon by the District's expert, the District has urged the Arbitrator to draw an inference that the amount of unaccounted for food items, such as approximately 200 lbs. of chicken, 16 Number 10 cans of tomato based products and 3 gallons of Frank's Hot Sauce can only be attributed to the Respondent's misappropriation of these items for his off-campus business.

Considering the paucity of evidence specifying which items were used in the Culinary Arts Program, including the curricula for A, B and C Shops, the authorization given Vingara to purchase food for the program as well as no prohibition against him personally purchasing food and later reimbursing the Board, and the fact that several people had access to the Culinary Arts facilities, including the kitchen/refrigerator-freezer/dry storage areas where the food items allegedly became missing, the Arbitrator cannot sustain the theft charge given alternative explanations for the unaccounted for items.

Conclusion

In the final analysis, the Arbitrator is not persuaded that the District has met its burden of proof by a preponderance of the credible evidence. While the District adduced a plethora of circumstantial evidence, predominantly provided through the testimony of Security Guard Fanelli and the video surveillance of the Respondent's activities in the Culinary Arts area, in the aggregate, this evidence does not constitute preponderant evidence of theft. Allegations of theft were either negated in full or offset, in part, by alternative explanations for the Respondent's actions.

Given the absence of the Culinary Arts curriculum, it could not be reasonably inferred that the foods he had the students prepare were inappropriate or in violation of Board policy.

When food items were deemed missing from the refrigerator/freezer, these missing items could not be solely attributed to the Respondent because others had access to the Culinary Arts storage areas. Without knowledge of the foods prepared by the other culinary arts teacher in Shops A, B and C, the Arbitrator cannot deduce that these food items were improperly ordered or used.

Assuming arguendo that Vingara had instructed the students prepare foods that he subsequently used in his catering business, rather than disposed of as waste, there is insufficient evidence that these food preparations and disposals deviated from the curriculum of the Culinary Arts Program, were otherwise educationally inappropriate, or violated Board policy.

The scenario implied by the Respondent in his post-hearing brief that "Vingara had students prepare hot food dishes which he later used in catering (as opposed to throwing out since there was no teachers' line)" has not been proven to be a violation of Board policy, administrative directive, or conduct unbecoming. Notwithstanding the problematic appearance of such conduct on Vingara's part, even if proven, it would not serve as the basis for a tenure charge in the absence of a specific prohibitive policy. Clearly, the Respondent was not warned that such conduct was prohibited and, if disciplined for a violation, a penalty of less than termination may have been appropriate.

When Vingara is seen on the video or by Fanelli leaving with bags she previously observed being filled with alleged food items, without inspecting the bags, it could not be ascertained whether Vingara had converted school property for his own use or disposing of food that would have been otherwise discarded.

There is certainly a gray ethical area alluded to by the Respondent in his argument that in the absence of a policy prohibition, he may have used the food he purchased with the District's funds and prepared by the students in his classes, which subsequently would have been discarded as waste, for his profit-making catering business. However, the Respondent is charged with misconduct rather than being ethically challenged. Given Catterson's uncorroborated hearsay testimony based on a conversation with Mastrobattista that "the only food [the] students make is for the TradeWins or the teacher line," the disposal of the foods prepared before the teacher line began in November was not addressed by Board policy or administrative directive. Since Catterson testified that there is no policy or procedure that governs the use of expired or perishable food and such food could not be served to the staff, Vingara may have been removing perishable food prepared by his students or expired food from the freezer/refrigerator to use for his own business purposes.

Assuming Vingara was ordering food items which were not proven to be educationally inappropriate, preparing foods in his classes with his students that did not deviate from the school curriculum and disposing of perishable, expired or waste food in a manner that did not violate school policy, the Board cannot reasonably charge him with conduct unbecoming a teacher, neglect of duty, or theft of goods or services. Moreover, evidence that Vingara personally ordered food and subsequently reimbursed the Board negates the Board's claim that some of that food was used for his catering business, since this practice was not shown to be a violation of Board policy. The Board's claim that it has a "Zero tolerance policy regarding the operation of a private business during school hours" was not proven.

Although the charge of theft is not amenable to progressive discipline, there is no evidence that the Respondent was warned or disciplined for any aspect of the District's concerns, such as his being on campus during non-school hours, ordering food for which he later reimbursed the District, deviating from the Culinary Arts curriculum, or "conducting business out of the district."

Remedy

As an employee with 30 years of experience in the District, having received many commendations, and superior teaching evaluations, any discipline appropriate for his proven misconduct, except theft of property, would be mitigated by his length of exemplary service. However, since the Board has failed to prove any of the tenure charges, the charges are dismissed.

As a remedy, the Respondent, John Vingara, shall be reinstated to his tenured teaching position as a Culinary Arts Teacher at the Somerset County Vocational and Technical High School Board of Education, effective immediately. He is granted back pay for the 120 day period of his suspension pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-14.

NOW THEREFORE, as the duly selected Arbitrator, having heard the evidence presented, I hereby issue the following:

AWARD

(1) The District did not meet its burden of proving its tenure charges that the Respondent, John Vingara, engaged in conduct unbecoming, neglect of duty, or theft of goods or services by a preponderance of the evidence.

(2) As a remedy, the Respondent shall be reinstated to his tenured teaching position of Culinary Arts Teacher at the Somerset County Vocational and Technical High School, effective immediately.

(3) The Respondent is granted back pay for the 120 day period of his suspension pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-14.

(4) The Arbitrator will retain jurisdiction sine die to address any issues that may arise in the interpretation or implementation of the remedy portion of this award.

MATTHEW CHENG,	:
COMPLAINANT,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
STEVEN RODAS, WEST NEW YORK BOARD OF EDUCATION, HUDSON COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

This matter involves an appeal of the School Ethics Commission's September 22, 2015 determination that respondent Steven Rodas, Board President, West New York Board of Education (the Board), violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members when he personally issued a Rice[1] notice to the Board Secretary/Business Administrator (B.A.) and when he directed the Board attorney to issue a second Rice notice to the B.A., both without prior notification to the Board nor the superintendent's recommendation.[2] The Commission recommended a penalty of reprimand for the violation. Having carefully reviewed the Commission's decision and the record in its entirety, the Commissioner finds that the Commission's decision is supported by sufficient, credible evidence, and that respondent failed to establish that the decision is arbitrary, capricious or contrary to law. N.J.A.C. 6A:4-1.1(a). Additionally, the Commissioner finds that a penalty of reprimand is appropriate.

[1] Rice v. Union County Regional High School Board of Education, 155 N.J. Super. 64 (App. Div. 1977), certif. denied, 76 N.J. 238 (1978).

[2] At the hearing, complainant withdrew the allegations set forth in Paragraphs 9 through 12 of the Complaint that respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) and (j) of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members. The matter proceeded on claims that respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) as alleged in Paragraphs 3 through 8 of the Complaint. Upon review, the Commission dismissed the allegations in Paragraphs 3 and 6 through 8 of the Complaint, but found that respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) as to Paragraphs 4 and 5 of the Complaint.

In his appeal to the Commissioner, respondent maintains that he did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) because he was advised by the Board attorney that – according to his interpretation of Melindo Persi v. Daniel Woska, Township of Brick Board of Education, Ocean County, Commissioner's Decision No. 260-14A, decided June 17, 2014 – the Board president had authority to issue a Rice notice to the B.A., and respondent relied upon that advice. Specifically, the Board attorney reasoned that since the Commissioner found in Persi that a Board president was permitted to issue a Rice notice to the superintendent, one could draw the conclusion that the Board president should also be permitted to issue a Rice notice to the B.A. Respondent also argues that he did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) because he did not make personal promises or take private action to compromise the Board; while his action may have been individual action, it was taken on behalf of the board and not himself.

Respondent contends that he should not be penalized for conduct that was not a clear violation of the School Ethics Act. He points out that the School Ethics Commission's September 22, 2015 decision recommends a change to the Persi decision so that authority to issue a Rice notice would lie with the Board president and a majority of the Board, rather than the Board president or the full majority of the Board. (SEC Decision at 9 n. 4) Respondent argues that there was no way he could have known about this change of interpretation at the time of his actions.

Alternatively, respondent argues that even if the Board attorney was incorrect in his interpretation of Persi, respondent should not be penalized because he relied upon the good faith advice of counsel, and "relying upon the advice of counsel insulates board members from blame." (Respondent's brief at 15) Respondent relies upon three Commission decisions – In the Matter of Lorraine Perrino, Little Egg Harbor Township Board of Education, Ocean County, SEC Dkt. No. C30-14, July 29, 2015; In the Matter of Carmine Cimino, Little Egg Harbor Township Board of Education, Ocean County, SEC Dkt. No. C31-14, July 29, 2015; and In the Matter of Martha "June" Palan, Little Egg Harbor Township Board of Education, Ocean County, SEC Dkt. No. C32-14, July 29, 2015 – in which board members did not suffer a penalty when they relied upon the advice of counsel that their actions would not likely result in an ethical violation.

Finally, respondent contends that at the ethics training for board members, he was instructed to consult with a board attorney for specific advice. He argues that he should not be penalized for relying upon the advice of board counsel when he was told by the New Jersey School Board Association to seek such advice. Respondent further points out that the cases cited by the Commission in support of a reprimand are not similar to this matter, as his actions do not rise to the same level of the misuse of power as the respondents in those cases. As such, respondent maintains that he did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e), and – even if he did – he should not suffer a penalty.

Upon a comprehensive review of the record, the Commissioner finds that the decision of the Commission as to a determination of a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) is supported by sufficient credible evidence, and the respondent has not established that the Commission's decision is arbitrary, capricious or contrary to law.[3] N.J.A.C. 6A:4-4.1(a). The evidence in the record fully supports the Commission's determination that respondent took action beyond the scope of his authority when he unilaterally issued a Rice notice to the B.A. and [3] The Commissioner is also in accord with the Commission's determination that the respondent did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) based on the allegations in Paragraphs 3 and 6 through 8 of the Complaint, but rather only for the allegations in Paragraphs 4 and 5 of the Complaint.

when he directed the Board attorney to issue a second Rice notice to the B.A., both without notice to the Board or the superintendent's recommendation. The respondent – in his Answer – admitted to issuing the Rice notice and directing the Board attorney to issue a Rice notice, without any advance notice or discussion. Such action can only be construed as private action, as it was taken independently and without the recommendation of the Board. Issuing a Rice notice, and directing another to issue said notice – without either notification to the Board or the recommendation of the superintendent – compromised the Board because it implied that respondent was acting on behalf of that body, when in fact no one authorized the Rice notice to be issued – resulting in the B.A.'s resignation. For the reasons expressed in the Commission's comprehensive decision, the respondent's conduct violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e).

The Commissioner does not find respondent's arguments to be persuasive. With respect to respondent's argument that he relied on the advice of Board counsel, the Commissioner notes – at the outset – that there is no evidence in the record that respondent actually relied upon the advice of Board counsel. Respondent did not testify to set forth the facts upon which he relies for this argument. Nevertheless, the Board attorney's advice – upon which respondent claims to have relied – was incorrect.

In Persi, the Commissioner was charged with determining who has the authority to issue a Rice notice to a school superintendent. Persi, Commissioner's Decision No. 260-14A, decided June 17, 2014. The Commissioner found that "a single board member is without authority to direct issuance of a Rice notice to the chief school administrator of a district. Rather, that authority lies with the president of a district board of education or a majority of the full membership of a district board of education."[4] Id. at 3. The testimony in the Persi matter indicated that "ordinarily, a Rice notice would be signed by the Business Administrator, the Superintendent or Assistant Superintendent, in this instance, the Interim Superintendent was to be the subject of the discussion." Persi, SEC Docket No. C25-08, dated February 28, 2012, at 7. Thus, as the chief school administrator could not issue a Rice notice to himself or herself, the procedure changed and the Commissioner found that a Board president or majority of the board had the authority to issue the Rice notice to the superintendent in that unique circumstance. It does not follow that a Board president would have the authority to issue a Rice notice to any other employee, because there would be no need for an exception to the standard procedure. Accordingly, the Board president here was required to consult with the superintendent rather than unilaterally issuing a Rice notice to the B.A.

Although respondent argues that the Perrino, Cimino, and Palan decisions demonstrate that his reliance on the advice of counsel insulates him from blame, such a conclusion is without basis. In those matters, the complainant alleged that the respondents violated the Code of Ethics for School Board Members when they participated in the hiring process for the new superintendent, even though they each had an immediate family member who was a district employee. Perrino, Cimino, and Palan, supra, at 2. Specifically, the Board attorney had advised them that although they need to be recused from the search and selection process and from voting on the candidate, it would not likely violate the School Ethics Act if they participated in the process of selecting and appointing the consulting firm to conduct the search for the superintendent. Ibid. After the Commission issued an advisory opinion indicating that Board members may not participate in any aspect of the superintendent's search, the Board voted to rescind the vote to select the consulting firm and allow only the non-conflicted Board members to vote on a new firm. Id. at 3.

The respondents in the above-cited cases argued that they should not be held accountable for their actions because they "followed advice of counsel and there was not prevailing authority to prohibit [their] voting for the firm to conduct the search." Id. at 5. The Commission found that "[t]he respondent[s] also argue[] that the legal advice the Board received insulates [them] from blame for [their] conduct. It does not. Each Board member undergoes ethics training as each is responsible for [his or her] own ethical conduct. That responsibility cannot be delegated or avoided." Id. at 6. As such, the Commission found that the respondents were in violation of the School Ethics Act. Id. at 7. Nevertheless, the Commission declined to issue a penalty because "the non-conflicted Board members summarily took remedial action to rescind the vote of June 10, 2014, corrected the minutes and voted to select a different consulting firm to lead the search without the Respondent[s'] involvement." Ibid.

As such, those decisions make clear that respondent is not "insulated from blame" by relying upon the advice of counsel. To the contrary, the Commission reiterated that respondents are responsible for their own actions. Here, as noted in the Commission's decision, respondent should have completed his ethics training and has a duty to act prudently and cautiously. In this matter, the Board attorney did not provide legal support for his finding that the Board president could issue a Rice notice to the B.A. Given the sufficient uncertainty, respondent should have filed a request for an Advisory Opinion with the Commission on the matter, rather than taking action on his own. Although the Commission chose not to impose a penalty on the respondents in Perrino, Cimino, and Palan since their actions had been remediated and the vote had been rescinded, such circumstances do not exist here. No remedial action was taken; instead, the B.A. resigned based on the Rice notice. Respondent's actions resulted in a permanent outcome.

As such, the Commissioner accepts the Commission's recommendation – for the reasons expressed in the Commission's decision – that a reprimand is the appropriate penalty in this matter. In so ruling, the Commissioner finds that issuance of a reprimand here is consistent with penalties in prior cases involving violations of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e). Therefore, the Commission's recommended penalty will not be disturbed.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED that Steven Rodas is hereby reprimanded as a school official found to have violated the School Ethics Act.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[5]

MATTHEW CHENG	:	BEFORE THE SCHOOL ETHICS COMMISSION
v.	:
STEVEN RODAS	:	DOCKET NO. C58-14
WEST NEW YORK BOARD OF EDUCATION	:
HUDSON COUNTY	:	DECISION

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This matter arises from a complaint filed on December 17, 2014, by Matthew Cheng, a member of the West New York Board of Education (Board), alleging that Board President, Steven Rodas, violated the School Ethics Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-21 et seq. He specifically alleged that the Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) and (j) of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members. The School Ethics Commission (Commission) served the Respondent with the Complaint on December 29, 2014 by certified and regular mail, advising him that he had 20 days from receipt of the Complaint to file a responsive pleading.

By letter of February 10, 2015 the Commission again notified the Respondent that he had an additional ten (10) days to respond or he would be deemed to have admitted to all of the allegations in the Complaint and that the matter would be decided in a summary manner, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:28-7.3(b). On February 19, 2015, Respondent's newly retained attorney requested and received a brief extension of time to file a responsive pleading, and on March 20, 2015, the Respondent filed his Answer.

By letter dated April 2, 2015, the parties were notified that the Commission would review this matter at its April 28, 2015 meeting. At its meeting on April 28, 2015, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:28-10.8(a), the Commission voted to retain the Complaint, docketed as C58-14, for a hearing at a later date.

The Commission notified the Complainant and Respondent by letter of June 10, 2015 that, at its meeting on July 28, 2015, it would conduct a plenary proceeding to hear testimony and consider evidence in support of their respective positions. On the day of the meeting, prior to the commencement of the hearing, the Complainant agreed to withdraw the allegations in Paragraphs 9 through 12 of his Complaint. The Commission voted to grant the withdrawal of those claims, and the matter proceeded on Complainant's claims that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) as alleged in Paragraphs 3 through 8.

The Complainant, Matthew Cheng, appeared pro se. Respondent Rodas appeared with his attorney, Adam S. Weiss, Esq. After the Complainant testified, was cross-examined and questioned by the Commission, he rested. Respondent's counsel made a Motion to Dismiss the Complaint for failure to state a claim upon which relief could be granted. After deliberation, the Commission decided to reserve its decision on the Motion until the Respondent presented his case. The Commission heard only Complainant Cheng's testimony on all remaining Counts of the Complaint on direct and cross examination, and the Commission further questioned the Complainant and accepted the documentary evidence he presented, as well as the documentary evidence presented by Respondent Rodas' counsel. Respondent Rodas decided not to testify or call any witnesses after the Complainant rested at which point the Commission advised the parties that it would not render a decision that day and required them to submit a brief explaining their respective positions regarding a Board President's authority to unilaterally issue a Rice[1] notice to an employee of the District without Board or Superintendent approval. The parties were advised that upon receipt of the briefs, the matter would be placed on the Commission's August 25, 2015 agenda.

On August 6, 2015, the parties simultaneously transmitted their briefs for review and consideration. Based on the testimony, the evidence summarized below, and the parties' briefs, the Commission determined that the Complainant had established a prima facie case and met his burden of proof by a preponderance of the credible, uncontested evidence.

SUMMARY OF THE PLEADINGS

Paragraph 3

Complainant/Board member alleges that between November 3, 2014 and November 10, 2014, the Respondent/Board President, without consulting the other Trustees, instructed the Board Attorney to research and/or prepare memos regarding: a) the non-renewal of the Superintendent, b) replacing an employee after new elections have been held but before the new Board is reorganized, c) whether a school board can take action to bind a future board by replacing an employee's position prior to the end of his contract, and d) addressing personnel actions taken to avoid granting tenure. The Complainant asserts this was a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e).

Paragraph 4

The Complainant also asserts that the Respondent personally issued a Rice notice to the Business Administrator/Board Secretary (BA) without prior notification to the Board or with the Superintendent's recommendation. The complainant asserts this was a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e).

Paragraph 5

The Complainant also asserts that on December 8, 2014, the Respondent directed the Board Attorney to issue a Rice notice to the BA without prior notification to the Board or with the Superintendent's recommendation. The Complainant avers that such action is outside the scope of the Respondent's duties as a Board member. The Complainant asserts this was a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e).

[1] "Rice" notice refers to the matter entitled, Rice v. Union County Regional High School Bd. of Ed., 155 N.J. Super. 64 (App. Div. 1977), certif. den. 76 N.J. 238 (1978) which established the right of employees to obtain notice when they will be discussed by the Board of Education.

Paragraphs 6—8

The Complainant further alleges that the Respondent took private action in violation of the Act when on December 10, 2014 he surreptitiously met with the Board Attorney and certain Board members to discuss a plan to terminate the Superintendent or place him on leave. The Complainant also alleges that after the BA submitted his irrevocable letter of resignation to the Board prior to Executive Session, the Board did not discuss the Superintendent's employment. The Complainant asserts this was a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e).

The Respondent admitted that he composed and delivered the document identified as Exhibit E, the Rice notice for the BA, that he consulted with and requested the Board Attorney compose and deliver the notice, but otherwise will let the documents speak for themselves and leave the Complainant to his proofs.

SUMMARY OF THE RECORD

Each party was given the opportunity to make an opening statement. In his opening remarks, Complainant Cheng requested leave to withdraw Paragraphs 9 through 12 of his Complaint and agreed to rely on Respondent's Exhibits 1 through 64 when referring to documentary evidence for identification and admission. The Complainant stated that the central issue in this matter is whether the Board President has the authority to unilaterally or at the direction of the Board Attorney issue a Rice notice to an employee. He stated that he recognizes that the Commissioner of Education decided that the Board President may issue a Rice notice to the Superintendent, but argues that the Commissioner did not grant that same authority regarding an employee.

Mr. Cheng further explained that he brought this Complaint because he thought that Respondent Rodas' actions in directly serving a Rice notice to the BA was an "egregious" misuse of power, which forced the BA to retire or be fired. He stated, "In my opinion, the BA was given an ultimatum due to his contract." He provided that the BA's contract was voted on by the Board before the County Superintendent approved it, instead of first receiving approval by the County. Though a technicality, the County Superintendent approved the BA's contract and never took a position as to the validity of the contract. In the course of this, it was the Complainant's belief that Mr. Rodas or the Board attorney had asked the Superintendent to place on the agenda a notice to terminate the BA if he did not resign; and, when the Superintendent did not put this on the agenda, he too was given a Rice notice. The Complainant's major concern and purpose for filing this Complaint is to review the Board President's authority to issue a Rice notice to any employee of his or her choosing at any time.

In his opening remarks, counsel for the Respondent stated that after Complainant's withdrawal of the allegations in Paragraphs 9-12, the sole remaining issue is whether or not a Board president, who relies upon the advice of Board counsel, can issue a Rice notice to a BA and whether that issuance or that directive to issue such a Rice notice violates the School Ethics Act. He respectfully advised the Commission that it was not going to be able to determine the type and number of employees to whom a Board president may issue a Rice notice but that the sole issue before it is whether the Respondent violated the School Ethics Act as a result of his reliance upon Board attorney advice that was given during a public meeting. That advice confirmed the Board attorney's opinion that the issuance or the directive to issue the notice by the Board President, Mr. Rodas, to the BA is appropriate.

COMPLAINANT'S TESTIMONY: Matthew Cheng—Board Member

After being sworn in, Mr. Cheng testified that on June 25, 2014, the Board had passed a resolution to appoint the BA, and on July 9, 2014, the County Superintendent approved this contract. Complainant asserted that sometime between November 3, 2014 and November 10, 2014, the Respondent, without consultation with the Complainant or, to his understanding, other Board members, instructed the Board attorney to research and prepare memos regarding: a) non-renewal of the Superintendent; b) replacing an employee after elections have been held but two months before the Board is reorganized; c) whether a Board can take binding action on a future Board by replacing an employee prior to the end of a contract and before new Board members are seated; and, d) address personnel actions to avoid granting tenure to an employee. Mr. Cheng asserts that Exhibit E documents the conversations counsel had with Mr. Rodas.

According to the BA's contract, he would have received tenure in the middle of contract's duration. The Complainant asserts that Respondent Rodas personally composed and handed the Rice notice directly to the BA (Exhibit E), and at the November Board meeting, the members discussed the BA's employment, which was not an item on the Board agenda that evening. Mr. Cheng testified that he did not know that the conversation was going to take place and was surprised that the Board was contemplating terminating the BA. The Complainant stated that, at that time, he inquired of the Superintendent if he was aware of the situation and was informed that the Superintendent was "very surprised" that this matter had come up and that this was the first point where he became aware of the first Rice notice.

Mr. Cheng stated that on December 8, 2015, Mr. Rodas directed the Board attorney to issue a second Rice notice directly on the BA. Exhibit F. Again, Mr. Cheng states that the Superintendent, as well as the other Board members, had not agreed to place the BA's employment on the agenda for the December meeting. After a long discussion in Executive Session, the BA submitted his resignation letter due to the public discussion that his contract was not valid and that if he did not he would be terminated. The Complainant believes that the BA signed his letter of termination under duress. The Complainant argues that in both instances of these Rice notices the Respondent failed to adhere to the principle that authority rests with the Board and that a member, including the Board President, must not take any private action which may compromise the Board in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e).

On cross examination, counsel for Respondent Rodas questioned Mr. Cheng as to whether he had any personal knowledge of Mr. Rodas giving any instructions to the Board attorney to conduct research, prepare memoranda, or giving personal instructions. The Complainant said he did not have any personal knowledge of the interaction between Mr. Rodas and the Board attorney except for Exhibit D, the memo itself. Mr. Cheng testified that the only source of his knowledge concerning allegations that Mr. Rodas directed the Board attorney to either conduct research or prepare memos are the bills that he received from the Board of Education, pursuant to an OPRA request. With the Complainant's consent, Respondent marked these bills for identification as Rodas 28-32. At the same time Mr. Cheng entered his Exhibits A—H into evidence.

Mr. Weiss next inquired about Complainant's Exhibit D (Rodas 28 through 32), the invoice from the law firm of Schwartz, Simon, Edelstein for services rendered to the West New York BOE. Mr. Cheng responded that the items, together with their descriptions, represent the work which the law firm performed. He also stated that there was no indication that Respondent Rodas initiated the request for services. Mr. Cheng further stated that Board members were told that the Board President was the only member who could speak with the attorney, and that the only way for those items to be billed would have to come from the Respondent. Mr. Cheng did admit, however, that the research conducted could have been initiated by the attorney himself on certain areas of law which would then be given as advice to the Board. He also admitted on cross that he had also requested that the Board attorney research the issue regarding whether a Board President can issue a Rice notice because the Board attorney stated at a meeting in public that it was possible for the Board President to unilaterally issue a Rice notice to the BA. Mr. Cheng stated that he publicly disagreed with the Board attorney at that same public portion of the meeting because he had called the New Jersey School Boards Association and was advised that the Board President could not issue a Rice notice to any employee other than the Superintendent.

Mr. Weiss then turned his attention to the Rice notice served on the Superintendent. Mr. Cheng testified that the Superintendent, as well as other Board members, was not aware that the BA was to receive a Rice notice for discussion at the November meeting. Mr. Cheng also testified that he was unaware whether Mr. Rodas consulted with any member prior to the issuance of a Rice notice to the Superintendent or to the BA. He further testified that three of the nine Board members, including him, were not aware of the notices.

Mr. Weiss's final question to the Complainant regarded Mr. Rodas' alleged surreptitious discussion with the Board attorney to place the Superintendent on leave if the BA did not submit a letter of resignation. In response, Mr. Cheng testified that the only knowledge he had resulted from his review of the Board attorney's invoice and his conclusion that the Superintendent received a Rice notice subsequent to the BA's submission of his irrevocable letter of resignation. (Complainant's Exhibit D at Rodas 28-32)

At the conclusion of cross examination, members of the Commission and counsel further questioned Mr. Cheng. He testified that the Superintendent's employment was not discussed at the December 10, 2014 meeting and expressed concern that if a Board President is permitted to issue a Rice notice to an employee and the Superintendent does not agree, then the Board President could just issue a Rice notice to the Superintendent in retaliation. The Complainant also testified that Mr. Rodas never gave a reason why he issued a Rice notice to the BA, and opined that it was because of the technicality in his contract approval.

When asked if the Board attorney gave his reasons in public as to why he thought the Board President could issue a Rice notice to an employee, Mr. Cheng responded that the attorney cited the decision in Melindo Persi v. Daniel Woska, Board of Education of the Twp. of Brick, Ocean County, 6/17/14, Commissioner of Education Dkt. #260-14A, SEC #C03-14, in which the Commissioner of Education determined that a Board President could issue a Rice notice to a Superintendent, and that the attorney felt, therefore, that a Board President could do it to other employees including the BA. Counsel for Mr. Rodas added that at the meeting the Board attorney gave his opinion as to the abilities of a Board President concerning the issuance of Rice notices.

Mr. Cheng was asked about the two meeting dates at the end of 2014. He testified that the sequence of events started in November with a Rice notice issued to the BA, at which time his employment was discussed. In December, just before the meeting, the BA received a second Rice notice. Right after the BA received the second Rice notice, the Superintendent, who had submitted his resignation letter, received a Rice notice as well. The dates were very close together—December 8th and December 10th—as stated in his Complaint. In November and December both discussions took place in Executive Session. After discussion in Executive Session where the BA submitted his irrevocable letter of resignation, the item was added to the agenda after members left the room. During the public portion of the meeting in December, a public discussion ensued regarding the BA's resignation, the Board's acceptance of his resignation, and a debate among the Board members and the Board attorney over the authority of a Board President to issue a Rice notice to the BA.

After the Complainant rested, counsel for the Respondent made a Motion for Directed Verdict[2] claiming that Mr. Cheng's submissions were mere speculation concerning conversations that may have happened or may not have happened. In the counsel's view, it was admitted by Mr. Cheng that the Board attorney advised, in public session on December 10, 2014, that it was his opinion that the Board President, Mr. Rodas, was authorized or otherwise empowered to issue a Rice notice to the BA.

After a short recess to deliberate, the Commission advised the parties that it would reserve its decision on the Motion for a Directed Verdict until the Respondent presented his case.

At this point, counsel for the Respondent advised the Commission that his client would not testify or call witnesses on his behalf and rested his case.

In summation, Mr. Cheng spoke of the public session discussion of the December meeting in which he and other Board members disagreed with the Board attorney over his advice to the Board that a Board President could issue a Rice notice to an employee directly. Again, he asserted that this advice was egregious. Although the Board attorney did issue a memo on the subject, he did not cite any cases in support of his position. Mr. Cheng also remarked that he and other Board members argued with the Board attorney about whether or not his opinion was reliable and "confident" legal advice.

[2] N.J.A.C. 6A:28-6.9(c) provides that all hearings shall be conducted in accordance with the rules of the OAL. Such rules permit a party to make an oral motion during a hearing and to state the grounds for the motion. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.1(a)1 and 2.

Counsel for Respondent Rodas made no closing remarks and relied on his presentation of his Motion for Directed Verdict.

Before adjournment of the hearing, the Deputy Attorney General for the Commission requested on behalf of the Commission that each party submit a brief legal memorandum, specifically addressing the authority or lack of authority of the Board President to issue a Rice notice to an employee other than the Superintendent. The briefs were to be submitted by August 10, 2015.

FINDINGS OF FACT

As the trier of fact in this matter, the Commission had the opportunity to observe the demeanor of the witness and to judge his credibility. As such, the Commission found Matthew Cheng to be a credible witness, who offered consistent testimony which was unaltered by cross examination. As Respondent Rodas did not offer testimony or documentary evidence in his defense, except for R-1, the testimony of Complainant Cheng stands undisputed and unopposed. The Commission found the Complainant's testimony to be credible and uncontroverted.

Accordingly, based on the pleadings, documents in the record, and credible, relevant testimony, the Commission makes the following factual findings on the issues of whether the Respondent took private action without Board authority in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:24.1(e):

1. At all times relevant to this matter, the Complainant Cheng was a member of the West New York Board of Education (Board).

2. At all times relevant to this matter, Respondent Rodas was the President of the West New York Board of Education.

3. The BA was served with a Rice notice on November 10, 2014 and again with a second notice on December 8, 2014.

4. Respondent Rodas admitted in his Answer that on November 10, 2014, he composed and delivered the first Rice notice to the BA and that he did not inform the Superintendent that he was serving this Rice notice on the BA.

5. Respondent Rodas admitted in his Answer that he did not inform Complainant Cheng or any other of the Board members that he was serving this Rice notice on the BA.

6. Respondent Rodas admitted in his Answer that on December 8, 2014, he directed the Board attorney to compose and deliver a second Rice notice to the BA.

7. Respondent Rodas admitted in his Answer that on December 8, 2014, he did not inform the Superintendent that he was serving a second Rice notice on the BA.

8. Respondent Rodas admitted in his Answer that on December 8, 2014, he did not inform the Complainant Cheng or any other of the Board members that he was serving a second Rice notice on the BA.

9. During cross examination, Complainant admitted that he had no personal knowledge of the discussions that Respondent had with the Board attorney relative to his issuance of legal advice regarding the non-renewal of the Superintendent, replacing an employee after new elections have been held but before the new Board is reorganized, whether a school board can take action to bind a future board by replacing an employee's position prior to the end of his contract, and addressing personnel actions taken to avoid granting tenure without discussion with the Board as a whole.

10. During cross examination, Complainant Matthew Cheng admitted that he had no knowledge of an alleged surreptitious meeting between the Respondent Steven Rodas and the Board attorney to discuss placing the Superintendent on a leave of absence if the BA did not submit a letter of resignation.

11. The minutes of the December 10, 2014 meeting demonstrate that there was a dispute among some Board members and the Board attorney over his legal opinion, unsupported by legal precedent or statute, regarding the Board President's authority to issue a Rice notice to a school employee.

MOTION FOR DIRECTED VERDICT

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:28-8.1(d), upon completion of the Complainant's case, and prior to the Respondent's testimony, counsel for Respondent Rodas moved for a Directed Verdict on behalf of the Respondent on the grounds that the Complainant's case and testimony was based on speculation and that the Board attorney rendered his opinion that a Board President is authorized or otherwise empowered to issue a Rice notice to an employee, here the BA. To grant a Directed Verdict, this Commission must determine that the evidence weighs so heavily in favor of one party, and so lightly in favor of the other, that there is only one reasonable result and that no reasonable fact-finder could reach a decision to the contrary. The Respondent would have this tribunal determine that this is the appropriate matter to so rule. The Commission discerns that it is not.

As N.J.A.C. 1:1-1 et. seq.[3] is silent on a Directed Verdict, N.J.A.C. 1:1-1.3(a) permits reference to the New Jersey Court Rules. Under R. 4:37-2(b), a motion for a Directed Verdict is granted only if, accepting the plaintiff's facts and considering the applicable law, "no rational jury could draw from the evidence presented" that the plaintiff is entitled to relief. Pitts v. Newark Bd. of Educ., 337 N.J. Super. 331, 340, 766 A.2d 1206 (App.Div.2001). See also R. 4:37-2(b) ("[A] motion shall be denied if the evidence, together with the legitimate inferences therefrom, could sustain a judgment in plaintiff's favor."). "[I]f reasonable minds could differ, as to whether any negligence has been shown, the motion should be denied." Bozza v. Vornado, Inc., 42 N.J. 355, 357-58, 200 A.2d 777 (1964) (citing Bell v. E. Beef Co., 42 N.J. 126, 199 A.2d 646 (1964)).

The guidance is applicable to the administrative setting as well. In this matter before the Commission, the Complainant asserts that the Respondent took private action when he personally composed and delivered a Rice notice to the BA, an employee of the District, and then directed the Board attorney to compose and deliver a second Rice notice to the same BA. The Respondent admitted responsibility for both notices, but argues that Board counsel advised him that he had the authority to do so and publicly stated his legal opinion which was without reference to statute, court ruling, or administrative action. The minutes of the December 10, 2014 meeting, submitted with the Complainant's brief, demonstrates that the Board attorney could cite no legal authority to support his opinion that the Board President had this power. When some Board members asked for precedents supporting his position at the December meeting, he offered nothing but his own opinion and rebuffed further inquiry.

Moreover, in review of the parties' legal briefs submitted on August 6, 2015, the Respondent did not provide any legal authority but continued to rely on the decision in Persi v. Woska, supra. He argued that because the Board President has the authority to unilaterally issue a Rice notice to the Superintendent, it must follow that the he has the power to issue a Rice notice to the BA, a school employee.

Under this theory, the Board President should then have the authority to issue a notice to any principal, teacher, coach, nurse, or custodian—any employee of his choosing. The Commission is concerned that extending this unilateral authority to a Board President to interfere with the employment of a BA or a custodian is the grant of unbridled power ripe for abuse, in violation of the School Ethics Act.[4] Conducting one's office in such a manner would lead to violations of the statute, N.J.S.A. 18A:24.1(c), (e) and (i), for acting beyond the scope of a Board member's authority, taking private action with the potential to compromise the Board or interfering with the proper performance of the employee's duties. It is the Commission's considered determination that the entire Board must be consulted as it was when the employee was hired.

[3] N.J.A.C. 6A:28-6.9(c) provides that all hearings shall be conducted in accordance with the rules of the OAL.

[4] The School Ethics Commission recommends that the ruling in Persi v. Woska be modified to advise "that authority lies with the president of a district board of education and a majority of the full membership of a district board of education."

The Respondent also argues that the legal advice the Board received insulates him from blame for his conduct. It does not. Each Board member undergoes ethics training and each is responsible for his own ethical conduct. That responsibility cannot be delegated or avoided. Respondent Rodas should have completed his ethics training, and it is his duty as an elected official to act prudently and cautiously, as is properly to be expected by a reasonable person under the particular circumstances so as not to compromise the Board. Here, the Board attorney could not, and the Respondent did not, provide support for the Board President's alleged powers. Further, there was sufficient uncertainty to warrant the Respondent/Board President or Board attorney to have filed a request for an Advisory Opinion with the Commission on the matter.

Consequently, the Commission denies the Respondent's Motion for Directed Verdict as the Respondent's admissions in his Answer that he took the actions that the Complainant alleged and together with the Commission's long held position that each Board member is responsible for his own conduct may be sufficient to sustain a finding for the Complainant.

Accordingly, the question before the Commission is whether the Complainant alleged facts and provided testimony which, if true, could support a finding that the Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members.

CODE VIOLATIONS

The Commission again notes that the Complainant bears the burden of factually proving any violations of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members in accordance with the standards set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:28-6.4(a). See also, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(b). The Complainant asserts that the Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) in Paragraphs 3 through 8 of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members.

The Commission first considers the allegation that the Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) as set forth in Paragraph 3 of the Complaint, which states:

> I will recognize that authority rests with the board of education and will make no personal promises nor take any private action that may compromise the board.

The Commission's regulations require that:

> Factual evidence of a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) shall include evidence that the Respondent made personal promises or took action beyond the scope of his or her duties such that, by its nature, had the potential to compromise the board. N.J.A.C. 6A:28-6.4(a)5.

The Complainant alleges that between November 3, 2014 and November 10, 2014, the Respondent/Board President, without consulting the other Trustees, instructed the Board Attorney to research and/or prepare memos regarding, a) the non-renewal of the Superintendent, b) replacing an employee after new elections have been held but before the new Board is reorganized, c) whether a school board can take action to bind a future board by replacing an employee's position prior to the end of his contract, and d) addressing personnel actions taken to avoid granting tenure. The Respondent argues that the Board attorney could have decided to do this research sua sponte in preparation for some future issue that may arise before the Board, but a review of the topics indicates that these questions were not of the Board attorney's creation but were most likely urged by someone other than the Board attorney. Nonetheless, when asked on cross examination, the Complainant stated that he had no personal knowledge who prompted these assignments for legal advice nor did he provide any support for his suspicions. Consequently, the Commission finds that the Complainant has not established that the Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) as alleged in Paragraph 3 of the Complainant. Accordingly, this allegation is dismissed.

The Commission next considers the allegation that the Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) as set forth in Paragraphs 6-8 of the Complaint. Similar to the claim in Paragraph 3, the Complainant asserts that the Respondent took private action in violation of the Act when, on December 10, 2014, he surreptitiously met with the Board Attorney and certain Board members to discuss a plan to terminate the Superintendent or place him on leave. Again, when asked on cross examination, the Complainant stated that he had no personal knowledge of who attended or further information regarding the putative clandestine meeting. Moreover, he did not produce anyone who witnessed or participated in the meeting. Consequently, the Commission finds that the Complainant has not established that the Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) as alleged in Paragraphs 6 through 8 of the Complainant. Accordingly, these allegations are dismissed.

The Commission next considers the allegation that the Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) as set forth in Paragraphs 4 and 5 of the Complaint. The Complainant asserts in each Paragraph, respectively, that on November 10, 2014, the Respondent personally issued a Rice notice to the BA without prior notification to the Board or with the Superintendent's recommendation, and again on December 8, 2014, the Respondent directed the Board Attorney to issue a second Rice notice to the BA without prior notification to the Board or with the Superintendent's recommendation. The Complainant further alleges that the Respondent also neglected to consult the other Board members on either notice. Although the Respondent did not testify at the hearing, the Answer he submitted to the Commission in response to the Complaint speaks for him.

Respondent Rodas admitted under a Certification of Oath in his Answer to the Complaint that on November 10, 2014, he composed and delivered the first Rice notice to the BA and that he did not inform the Superintendent that he was serving this Rice notice on the BA and that he did not inform Complainant Cheng or any other of the Board members of his actions. Respondent Rodas also admitted in his Answer that on December 8, 2014, he directed the Board attorney to compose and deliver a second Rice notice to the BA, and again did not inform the Superintendent or the Board of his actions.

Respondent Rodas elected not to testify nor call witnesses on his behalf. He offers no defense to his actions; however, counsel for the Respondent in his oral argument and brief to the Commission advances the notion that the Respondent was following the opinion of the Board attorney that he was authorized to serve Rice notices on the District employee. Yet, as revealed in the minutes of the December 10, 2014 meeting, the Board attorney provided no authority in support of permitting the Board President to take such steps beyond his authority as a Board member, and similarly, the Respondent's brief was also devoid of any. Moreover, reliance on the Commissioner of Education's decision in Persi v. Woska, supra, is an overreach. The Commissioner, perhaps mindful that such a broad grant of power to the Board President would further destabilize the equipoise necessary for the Superintendent, Board President and the Board to function in their respective roles, declined to find a Board President's authority to issue a Rice notice to employees of a District other than the Superintendent. Given that the Commissioner did not extend the grant of authority to the Board President claimed by the Respondent to issue a Rice notice to an employee, neither can this Commission do so in his stead.

Consistent with this foregoing reasoning, the Commission reviewed these actions to determine the manner in which the Respondent violated the Code. In doing so, the Commission finds that the Complainant has met his burden to prove by a preponderance of the credible evidence, that Respondent Rodas violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) when he took board action beyond the scope of his authority when, without Board authority or consultation, he unilaterally issued a Rice notice to an employee of the District so as to compromise the Board.

In finding a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e), it is not necessary for the Commission to find that the Respondent's action, in fact, compromised the Board. Rather, it is sufficient that the action was of such a nature that it might have compromised the Board. See, Tony John et al. v. Ken Gordon, Willingboro Bd. of Ed., Burlington County, C34-08 (October 27, 2009), aff'd Commission of Education Decision No. 102-10ASEC, decided March 30, 2010.

Accordingly, the Commission finds that based on the preponderance of the relevant, credible evidence, Respondent Rodas took private action when he unilaterally prepared and had served the Rice notice to the Business Administrator, a District employee, without the authority of the Board or Superintendent. These actions were of such a nature that they had the potential to compromise the Board in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e).

DECISION

The Commission finds that the Complainant has proven by a preponderance of the relevant, credible evidence that Respondent Steven Rodas violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members as set forth in Paragraphs 4 and 5 of the Complaint, and the Commission dismisses all other allegations that the Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) of the Code.

PENALTY

The Commission recommends a penalty of reprimand of the Respondent, as it did in matters where similar violations of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) were found and a comparable violation occurred. In recommending the penalty, the Commission notes that a reprimand was the appropriate penalty when it found that a Board member violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e). The Commission finds that taking action beyond the scope of a Board member's authority is precisely the type of action which the Code of Ethics for School Board Members was intended to proscribe. (See: Melindo Persi v. Daniel Woska, Board of Education of the Twp. of Brick, Ocean County, 6/17/14, #260-14A, SEC 03-14, supra; G.M.B. v. Cynthia Zirkle, Cumberland Regional Board of Education, Cumberland County, C44-10 (September 27, 2011)(Modified and confirmed by Commissioner of Education Decision No. 113-12ASEC, decided March 29, 2012), where a Board member was found to have violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) when she telephoned the Board office, spoke to the Business Administrator, and asked what could be done about changing a student's bus pass to the residence of the child's paternal grandfather, rather than the residence of the student's mother, without the knowledge or consent of the student's mother; and, I/M/O Randie Zimmerman, Rocky Hill Bd. of Ed., Somerset County, (C49-02) (July 22, 2003), Commissioner of Education Decision No. 497-03SEC, decided August 21, 2003), where a Board member investigated a complaint and drafted a letter that appeared to have the endorsement of the Board.)

Here, where the Respondent was found to have violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) for exceeding his authority as a Board member, the Commission finds that the penalty of reprimand is appropriate.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c), this decision shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of Education for review of the School Ethics Commission's recommended sanction. Parties may either: 1) file exceptions to the recommended sanction; 2) file an appeal of the Commission's finding of violation; or 3) file both exceptions to the recommended sanction together with an appeal of the finding of violation.

Parties taking exception to the recommended sanction of the Commission but not disputing the Commission's finding of violation may file, within 13 days from the date the Commission's decision is forwarded to the Commissioner, written exceptions regarding the recommended penalty to the Commissioner. The forwarding date shall be the mailing date to the parties, indicated below. Such exceptions must be forwarded to: Commissioner of Education, c/o Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, NJ 08625, marked "Attention: Comments on Ethics Commission Sanction." A copy of any comments filed must be sent to the School Ethics Commission and all other parties.

Parties seeking to appeal the Commission's finding of violation must file an appeal, pursuant to the standards set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:4, within 30 days of the filing date of the decision from which the appeal is taken. The filing date shall be three days after the date of mailing to the parties, as shown below. In such cases, the Commissioner's review of the Commission's recommended sanction will be deferred and incorporated into the Commissioner's review of the finding of violation on appeal. Where a notice of appeal has been filed on or before the due date for exceptions to the Commission's recommended sanction (13 days from the date the decision is mailed by the Commission), exceptions need not be filed by that date, but may be incorporated into the appellant's briefs on appeal.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF WASHINGTON, GLOUCESTER COUNTY,	:	DECISION

In May 2011, petitioner filed an appeal challenging her son's suspension from general education classes and his assignment to an alternative school. Petitioner failed to appear on the second scheduled day of hearing in the matter, on December 5, 2011. The Commissioner subsequently remanded the matter to the OAL after receiving petitioner's exceptions to the ALJ's dismissal of the petition for her failure to appear. On remand, the record of this matter and the advisement by the OAL of petitioner's failure to appear at a status conference scheduled for June 27, 2012 were reviewed, along with petitioner's hand-written explanation for her non-appearance – which included a statement that she had not heard from the court in four years, and could not remember why she had failed to attend the status conference in 2012. She stated, however, that she had been very ill at that time, and requested a new court date.

The Commissioner reviewed the matter on remand, and found that the failure to appear was processed on December 7, 2016 – more than four years after the status conference that petitioner missed. Given the length of time that has elapsed, and the petitioner's written explanation for her nonappearance, the Commissioner returned the matter to the OAL for further disposition pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-3.3(b).

RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the advisement by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) – pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4 – of petitioner's failure to appear at a status conference scheduled for June 27, 2012 have been reviewed.

Petitioner filed a hand-written explanation, which has been thoroughly reviewed and considered. In her explanation, petitioner asserts that she has not heard from the court in four years. She indicated that she had been very ill, and was sure that if she did not appear, it was for an urgent reason as she would otherwise have called.

Upon review, it appears as though petitioner is correct. The failure to appear was processed on December 7, 2016 – more than four years after the status conference that petitioner is said to have missed. Given the lengthy time since the status conference at issue, as well as petitioner's written explanation for her nonappearance, this matter is being returned to the OAL for further disposition, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-3.3(b).

Accordingly, this matter is hereby remanded to the OAL for further disposition as indicated herein.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Before JOHN E. SANDS, Impartial Arbitrator

OPINION

On October 21, 2016 M. Kathleen Duncan, Director of the New Jersey Department of Education Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, appointed me to hear and decide the above tenure matter. In accordance with my authority under P.L. 2015, c. 109, on January 12, 2017 I conducted a hearing at the School District Offices in Pleasantville, NJ. Prior to that hearing, I reviewed the parties' following exhibits:

1	Petitioner's Arbitration Statement
2	Respondent's Arbitration Statement
3	Acknowledgment and certification of DOE Charges, September 27, 2016

4	Respondent's Answer to Tenure Charges
5	OFAC Report
6	Respondent's First Set of Interrogatories and Document Demands
7	Petitioner's Response to Petitioner Exhibit 6
8	Petitioner's First Set of Interrogatories
9	Petitioner's First Set of Interrogatories
10	Respondent's Answers to Petitioner's Interrogatories and Document Demands
11	Letter to Respondent dated May 12, 2016 Suspending employment
12	July 25, 2013 Letter to Respondent suspending employment
13	Signed Acknowledgment by Respondent of District Policies
14	NJSA 18A:6-7.1 Criminal Background Statute

At the hearing, the parties reached this proposed settlement of the issues of this matter pending Board approval and approval of the State Fiscal Monitor, Dr. Constance Bauer:

1. Respondent shall return to the District in the position of Principal on Special Assignment and he shall not serve as a Building Principal and/or Building Administrator.

2. Respondent shall retain all of his tenure rights and seniority with the District.

3. Respondent shall serve 150 days' unpaid suspension without salary and pension benefits and he shall reimburse the District for his share if any, of health benefits received. Pension benefits will not accrue during the term of suspension. Respondent shall be reinstated February 23, 2017.

4. Respondent's salary shall be frozen at the annual salary of $138,983 for a term of five years; on January 1, 2022, Respondent and the administration shall negotiate compensation moving forward.

5. Respondent shall not be permitted use of any school facilities for non-school related events during his employment with the District.

6. Respondent agrees to waive any and all claims against the District, and the parties will execute mutual general releases of all claims against each other arising prior to the date of this agreement.

7. Petitioner agrees to withdraw all tenure charges.

At the parties' request, I have reviewed the above exhibits and heard the parties' attorneys' opening arguments and considered whether, in my professional opinion, their proposed settlement represents an appropriate resolution of the issues of this matter taking into account the relevant law and the parties' exposures to loss. On the basis of that review and my experience as arbitrator and mediator of more than 4,000 labor and employment law disputes, I find the parties' proposed settlement to be an appropriate compromise of their positions.

By reason of the foregoing I issue the following

CONSENT AWARD

Subject to Board approval and approval of the State Fiscal Monitor, Dr. Constance Bauer, the following Settlement Agreement shall be placed in effect:

1. Respondent shall return to the District in the position of Principal on Special Assignment and he shall not serve as a Building Principal and/or Building Administrator.

2. Respondent shall retain all of his tenure rights and seniority with the District.

3. Respondent shall serve 150 days' unpaid suspension without salary and pension benefits and he shall reimburse the District for his share if any, of health benefits received. Pension benefits will not accrue during the term of suspension. Respondent shall be reinstated February 23, 2017.

4. Respondent's salary shall be frozen at the annual salary of $138,983 for a term of five years; on January 1, 2022, Respondent and the administration shall negotiate compensation moving forward.

5. Respondent shall not be permitted use of any school facilities for non-school related events during his employment with the District.

6. Respondent agrees to waive any and all claims against the District, and the parties will execute mutual general releases of all claims against each other arising prior to the date of this agreement.

7. Petitioner agrees to withdraw all tenure charges.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF MINE HILL, MORRIS COUNTY,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

In September 2016, pro se petitioner appealed the determination of the respondent Board that his child, G.M., is not entitled to a free public education in Mine Hill schools for the 2016-2017 school year. Petitioner contended that he resided in Mine Hill and has joint custody of G.M.; accordingly, his daughter should have been allowed to enroll in Mine Hill's preschool program in August 2016. The Board argued that G.M. is not legally domiciled within the school district, and filed a counterclaim for tuition.

The ALJ attempted to convene a telephone conference in this matter, but had difficultly contacting the petitioner. Subsequently, the ALJ's office was advised that the petitioner had moved and that G.M. would not be attending preschool in Mine Hill; the school district confirmed that G.M. is not presently enrolled. The ALJ concluded that it is appropriate to dismiss without prejudice any relief sought by respondent in its cross-claim. Accordingly, the ALJ deemed the petition withdrawn without prejudice, and the counterclaim dismissed without prejudice.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusions, and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter.

A.M. appearing pro se

Marc H. Zitomer, Esq., for respondent Mine Hill Board of Education (Schenck Price Smith & King, attorneys)

Record Closed: December 1, 2016 Decided: December 9, 2016

BEFORE GAIL M. COOKSON, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

A.M. appeals the determination of the Board of Education of the Township of Mine Hill (District) that his daughter G.M. is not entitled to a free public education in the Board's schools because she was not domiciled in the district for the 2016-2017 school year. The Board has filed a counterclaim seeking A.M.'s payment of tuition for the number of days G.M. attended the District's schools. A.M. contends that he has joint shared custody of G.M. and that her placement in Mine Hill is appropriate and lawful.

The District refused to allow petitioner to register his four-year-old daughter at the Canfield Elementary School as a new preschool student in or about late August 2016. A.M. and his ex-wife live in different municipalities but A.M. alleges he has physical custody 50% of the time and joint legal custody, and thus maintains that he had every right to register his child in the Mine Hill District. A.M. filed his petition of appeal directly with the Commissioner of Education on September 6, 2016. The Board filed its answer and counterclaim on September 30, 2016. The matter was then transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for determination as a contested case on October 5, 2016.

I attempted to convene a telephone case management conference on the matter but had some difficulty with the contact information. Our office was advised that A.M. had moved and that G.M. would not be attending preschool in the District. Nevertheless, to date petitioner has not memorialized this action in writing. I am satisfied that he was sincere in his decision to not pursue this appeal in light of the confirmation from the District that G.M. is not presently enrolled. Furthermore, in light of the fact that G.M. might not have attended much if any days of preschool in the District, and in light of the withdrawal of the underlying claim, I CONCLUDE that it is appropriate to dismiss without prejudice any relief sought by respondent in its cross-claim.

ORDER

Accordingly, it is ORDERED that the petition of A.M. on behalf of G.M. is hereby deemed withdrawn without prejudice should he seek to register his daughter. It is further ORDERED that the cross-claim of Mine Hill Board of Education for any tuition that might be due and other relief should it have been determined that A.M. did not properly reside in the District is also deemed dismissed without prejudice to re-filing.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the COMMISSIONER FOR THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER FOR THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Board of Trustees does not adopt, modify or reject this decision forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Dear Judge Kerins:

As Your Honor will recall, our firm represents Respondent, the Lenape Regional High School District Board of Education ("Board"), in the above-captioned matter.

We are pleased to enclose a fully executed Settlement Agreement and General Release (the "Agreement") which is dispositive of all issues in dispute in the above-referenced matter. As the resolution in the Agreement does not include any financial component, no further Board approval is necessary in order to effectuate same.

Consistent with the terms of the Agreement, we respectfully request that Your Honor memorialize the terms of the Agreement in an Order and close this matter.

We thank Your Honor for your courtesies and consideration. If we can be of any further assistance, please let us know.

Respectfully Submitted,

KENNETH RADWILL, Petitioner, v. LENAPE REGIONAL HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT BOARD OF EDUCATION, Respondent.	STATE OF NEW JERSEY OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATIVE LAW DOCKET NO: EDU-13976-15 SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE

This Settlement Agreement and General Release ("Agreement") is entered into by and between the Lenape Regional High School District Board of Education (the "Board"), located at 93 Willow Grove Road, Shamong, NJ 08088, and Kenneth Radwill (the "Petitioner") who resides at 23 Hunters Lane, Southampton, NJ 08088, (the Board and Petitioner collectively referred to as the "Parties"). This Agreement is being entered into by the Parties to resolve and settle all outstanding issues involved in the instant dispute as follows:

WHEREAS, the Petitioner is a former student of the Lenape Regional High School District (the "District") who graduated from Seneca High School in 2011; and

WHEREAS, in 2015, a dispute arose regarding certain of Petitioner's pupil records, in particular, the reference to a disciplinary incident from 2011;

WHEREAS, Petitioner ultimately commenced the instant litigation seeking a modification and/or removal of certain of his pupil records; and

WHEREAS, after engaging in good faith settlement discussions, the Parties, without alleging or admitting anything, are desirous of arriving at an amicable resolution; and

WHEREAS, in consideration of the mutual promises and covenants contained herein and other good and valuable consideration, the receipt and sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged by the Parties, the Parties enter into this Agreement to outline their agreement, release claims, and express the full and complete terms of same.

NOW, THEREFORE, THE PARTIES HEREBY AGREE THAT:

1. The Board shall remove the word "Criminal" from the reference on Petitioner's disciplinary record in connection with a 2011 disciplinary incident. The disciplinary record will instead refer to the incident as a "Threat."

2. Petitioner understands, acknowledges and agrees that the remainder of his pupil records shall remain unchanged.

3. Within thirty (30) days of the full execution of this Agreement, the Board shall provide Petitioner with a complete copy of his pupil records.

4. In consideration of the above, Petitioner hereby fully and forever releases the Board, its administrators, agents, board members, directors, employees, officers, representatives, and/or servants (collectively, the "Releasees") from any and all claims which Petitioner has or could have asserted against the Releasees in connection with the subject matter of this litigation, whether known or unknown, which have accrued up to and including the date of the full execution of this Agreement, to the extent permitted by applicable law. However, nothing in the release set forth in this paragraph shall be construed as a release or waiver of any claims between the Parties seeking to enforce any term or provision of this Agreement.

5. The Parties consent to the memorialization of this Agreement in an Order and Decision from the Office of Administrative Law.

6. Neither Party will be considered to be a "prevailing party" for any purpose.

7. Each Party shall be responsible for their own attorneys' fees and costs incurred in connection with this matter.

8. The Parties acknowledge that they have read and understand the terms of this Agreement, that they have had the opportunity to have the Agreement reviewed by counsel if they so choose, and that they are entering into this Agreement knowingly, freely, voluntarily, without coercion and not under the influence of anything or anyone.

9. This Agreement shall be interpreted, enforced, and governed under the laws of the State of New Jersey. The language of all parts of this Agreement shall in all cases be construed as a whole, according to its fair meaning, and not strictly for or against any of the Parties.

10. This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement of the Parties with respect to the subject matter hereof, and supersedes all prior written or oral and all contemporaneous oral agreements, understandings, and negotiations.

11. This Agreement may only be amended in writing by way of a document signed by all Parties.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Parties hereto set their hands and seals as of the dates set forth below.

The record of this matter, the Settlement Agreement (Agreement), and the Initial Decision on Remand of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), have been reviewed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1. On November 14, 2016, the Commissioner remanded this matter to OAL based upon a determination that the prior settlement agreement recommended for adoption by the Administrative Law Judge did not include the requisite Board of Education approval.

Upon review of the revised record on remand, the Commissioner finds that the Agreement now contains the requisite Board approval. According to the Agreement, the settlement payment is due on a date that preceded the consideration of the settlement by the Commissioner of Education. The parties are reminded that a settlement of litigation before the Commissioner is not binding until the Commissioner approves the settlement.

In light of the foregoing, the Commissioner adopts the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter, provided that the parties have already implemented the settlement terms, or have agreed upon a mutually satisfactory alternate date for the effectuation of the settlement payment. Assuming same, the matter is hereby dismissed, subject to compliance with the terms of the settlement.

Record Closed: December 13, 2016 Decided: December 14, 2016

BEFORE MICHAEL ANTONIEWICZ, ALJ:

On or about April 7, 2016, petitioner A.D. filed a Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner of Education challenging the residency determination by respondent Morris School District Board of Education (the Board). The Department of Education transmitted this matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on May 4, 2016, for determination as a contested case under OAL Dkt. No. EDU 06707-16.[1] Subsequently, the parties reached an amicable resolution of the matter. Counsel for the Board submitted a Settlement Agreement and the undersigned issued an Initial Decision Settlement on September 23, 2016.

Afterward, the Commissioner observed that the Board attorney did not sign the Settlement Agreement and/or no resolution was supplied approving the Settlement Agreement. The matter was remanded to the OAL where it was filed on November 14, 2016, under OAL Dkt. No. EDU 17184-16. The undersigned held a telephone conference; thereafter, under letter dated December 12, 2016, counsel for the Board submitted the attached Settlement Agreement.

Having reviewed the record and the terms of the settlement I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or the signatures of their representatives.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that settlement should be approved. Accordingly, I approve the settlement ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

This settlement agreement ("Agreement") made by and between

Morris School District Board of Education
(Hereinafter referred to as "Morris")

AND

A.D. o/b/o P.D. & A.D.
(Hereinafter referred to as "A.D.")

WITNESSETH:

WHEREAS, Morris is duly organized as a public school district under the laws of the State of New Jersey; and

WHEREAS, A.D. was found by Morris to have enrolled his sons in Morris School District Public Schools, despite not being domiciled in the Morris School District; and

WHEREAS, A.D. appealed that decision to the Commissioner of Education in a matter bearing Agency Reference Number 103-4/16 and OAL Docket Number EDU 06707-2016N; and

WHEREAS, a hearing was commenced before the Office of Administrative Law on August 29, 2016 during which A.D. provided documentation supporting domicile in the Morristown for the first time; and

WHEREAS, in order to avoid the time and expense of continuing the litigation, the parties agreed to enter into a settlement agreement;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual covenants and promises hereinafter set forth, the parties desire to enter into the within Settlement Agreement (the "Agreement") as follows:

1. Payment: On or before September 15, 2016, A.D. shall pay the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000.00) to Morris.

2. Withdrawal and Release. A.D. agrees to withdraw his claims against Morris and Morris releases its claims for tuition for the 2015-2016 school year. Morris acknowledges that A.D. has provided documentation supporting his sons' eligibility for enrollment in the Morris School District at this time. A.D. herein releases and gives up any and all civil and administrative claims and rights he may have against Morris for any damages or injuries, including any civil claim for compensatory damages, punitive damages, or any damages or injuries to A.D. arising out of the residency/domicile or education of the minor children A.D. and P.D. during the time period they were attending school in the Morris School District, whether known or unknown, that have taken place through the date of this Agreement.

3. Non-Admission of Liability. Nothing contained in this Agreement is intended, nor shall be construed: (i) to waive or release any future claim arising after the date this Agreement is signed by both parties; or (ii) to limit either party's right to enforce the terms of this Agreement. Each party acknowledges and agrees that this Agreement is a compromise of disputed claims and neither this Agreement, nor any consideration provided pursuant to this Agreement, shall be taken or construed to be an admission or concession by either party of any kind with respect to any fact, liability, or fault.

4. Severability. Should any provision of this Agreement be declared illegal or unenforceable by any court of competent jurisdiction and cannot be modified to be enforceable, such provision shall immediately become null and void, leaving the remainder of this Agreement in full force and effect.

5. Authorization. Each individual signing this Agreement warrants and represents that he or she has the full authority and is duly authorized and empowered to execute this Agreement on behalf of the party for which he or she signs.

6. Jurisdiction. This Agreement shall be governed by the laws of New Jersey, and the Superior Court of New Jersey, Morris County, shall have jurisdiction over, and be the proper venue for, any disputes arising out of this Agreement.

7. Construction. The parties have participated fully in the review of this Agreement. Any rule of construction to the effect that ambiguities are to be resolved against the drafting party shall not apply in interpreting this Agreement. The language in this Agreement shall be interpreted as to its fair meaning and not strictly for or against any party.

8. Successors. This Agreement shall inure to the benefit of the parties hereto, and their respective officers, directors, employees, attorneys, heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns.

9. Amendment. This Agreement may only be amended by a writing signed by all of the parties to this Agreement.

10. Entire Agreement. This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement between the parties and fully supersedes any and all prior contracts or agreements between the parties, and it likewise fully supersedes any and all other conflicting agreements or understandings between the parties.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF SOUTH BRUNSWICK, MIDDLESEX COUNTY,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

The record, proposed settlement agreement and release, and Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed.

Upon review, the Commissioner observes that the President of the South Brunswick Board of Education signed the agreement on behalf of the Board. The file does not contain a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement and designating the Board President to sign the agreement on its behalf – as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.13 under these circumstances – nor is the resolution attached to the settlement agreement itself. In the alternative, the agreement is not signed by the Board attorney, who is the Board's duly authorized representative in litigation. Without either the Board attorney's signature or the appropriate Board resolution designating the Board President to sign the agreement on its behalf, the Commissioner cannot approve the within settlement.

Additionally, the Commissioner notes that the settlement makes reference to a monthly payment intended to begin on August 15, 2016. The parties are reminded that a settlement of litigation before the Commissioner is not binding until the Commissioner approves the proposed terms.

Accordingly, the Commissioner hereby remands this matter to the OAL for revision of the settlement agreement consistent with the concerns set forth above. If the parties are unwilling or unable to reach accord on a modified agreement for submission to the Commissioner, the matter shall proceed to hearing.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND RELEASE

J.T. o/b/o J.T., A.T. and B.T. v. South Brunswick Board of Education, Middlesex County,
Agency Docket No. 61-2/16
OAL Docket No.: EDU 05774-2016N

2016 DEC -2 P 5:55

This Settlement Agreement ("Agreement") is made this ____ day of June, 2016, by and between Petitioner J.T. ("J.T.") o/b/o J.T., A.T., and B.T. ("Children"), and Respondent/Cross-Petitioner South Brunswick Board of Education ("Board") (hereinafter collectively referred to as the "Parties").

WHEREAS, on or about February 26, 2016, J.T. filed a Pro Se Residency Appeal with the Commissioner of Education, which was docketed as 61-2/16 ("Petition"), challenging the Board's August 8, 2016 determination that J.T.'s Children did not reside in South Brunswick during the 2015-16 school year; and

WHEREAS, on or about April 12, 2016, the Board filed an Answer to J.T.'s Petition and also filed a Cross-Petition for tuition costs for J.T.'s Children; and

WHEREAS, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for a hearing before the Honorable Jeffrey Gerson, A.L.J. on June 20, 2016, which was docketed as EDU 05774-2016N; and

WHEREAS, the Parties intend to adopt, by way of compromise, without any admission of liability, all claims which were either raised or could have been raised in the Petition and Cross-Petition ; and

NOW THEREFORE, in consideration of the foregoing and of the mutual agreements contained herein, and intending to be legally bound, the Parties agree as follows:

1. This Agreement sets forth all the terms and conditions of the Parties' agreement.
2. J.T. agrees to pay the Board a total sum of thirteen thousand dollars ($13,000.00).

g. J.T. understands that his obligation to pay the full sum of thirteen thousand dollars ($13,000.00) in accordance with this Agreement shall remain in effect even if J.T. and/or his Children does not reside in South Brunswick.

3. J.T. has informed the Court that he is in the process of renting an apartment in South Brunswick, and that his Children will be residing with him in the South Brunswick apartment. As such, J.T. agrees to provide the Board with a copy of the fully executed lease agreement if and when he registers his Children for school in accordance with Paragraph 4.

4. J.T. understands that he is required to register his Children in the South Brunswick School District for the 2016-17 school year, provide sufficient proof of residency and comply with all Board Residency/Registration requirements and policies and student residency laws at all times.

5. In exchange for the promises set forth above, J.T. agrees to dismiss the instant Petition and the Board agrees to dismiss its Cross-Petition.

6. Additionally, J.T. agrees to and hereby releases and gives up any and all claims and rights which he may have against the Board (including any of its officers, employees, agents and representatives). This releases all claims of J.T. and his Children, including those of which J.T. is not aware and those not expressly mentioned in this Release. This Release applies to claims resulting from anything which has happened up until and through the date of execution of this Agreement by J.T.

7. The Parties agree that this Agreement, and all of its terms, are and will remain confidential to the maximum extent possible by law. J.T. is expressly forbidden from discussing this Agreement with any person, other than his accountants, tax advisers, and attorney ("permitted disclosures"), and any other individual or entity as necessary to

a. Said amount shall be paid by J.T. over the course of sixty-one (61) monthly installment payments.

b. All monthly payments by J.T. shall be in the form of a check or money order made payable to the "South Brunswick School District."

c. All monthly payments shall be sent by J.T. to:

South Brunswick School District
P.O. Box. 181
Monmouth Junction, New Jersey 08852
Attention: School Business Administrator

d. The first payment by J.T. shall be in the amount of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00), and is due to the Board on or before August 15, 2016.

e. The remaining balance of twelve thousand dollars ($12,000.00) shall be paid to the Board in sixty (60) monthly installments of two hundred dollars ($200.00) each, beginning in September 2016. Each of these monthly sixty (60) payments is due to the Board on or before the 5th of each month.

f. If the initial monthly payment is not received by the Board by August 25, 2016, or if any subsequent payment is not received by the Board by the 15th of the respective month, the Board shall send J.T. a letter via certified and regular mail informing J.T. of his default of this Agreement. If J.T.'s default is not cured within five (5) days of the date of the Board's letter, the Board shall apply to the Office of Administrative Law or New Jersey Superior Court for a default judgment in the amount of thirty thousand dollars ($30,000), minus the amount already paid by J.T., if any. If it becomes necessary for the Board to seek a default judgment, J.T. agrees that the Board shall be entitled to counsel fees and costs associated with that application.

implement the Agreement or to which he is legally obligated to respond ("legally-required disclosures").

8. This Agreement may not be modified, altered, changed, discharged, terminated or waived, except upon express written consent of the Parties.
9. This Agreement shall not serve as a precedent for any other matter.
10. The Parties acknowledge that they have entered into this Agreement voluntarily and hereby sign it without duress or coercion, and with the opportunity to consult counsel.
11. This Agreement shall be governed by the laws of the State of New Jersey.
12. The Parties agree that this Agreement may be signed in counterparts and that facsimile of signatures will have the same force and effect as original signatures.
13. The Agreement is subject to the formal approval of the Board

In re	NEW JERSEY DEPT. OF EDUCATION AGENCY DKT. NO. 302-10/15
MICHAEL WILSON
and the	SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT
STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF NEWARK

This Settlement Agreement and General Release ("Agreement") is made by and between the STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF NEWARK, with an address at 2 Cedar Street, Newark, New Jersey 07102, ("School District"), and MICHAEL WILSON ("Employee" or "Wilson") (collectively, the "Parties").

WHEREAS Employee is a tenured teaching staff member employed by the School District as a teacher;

WHEREAS the State District Superintendent of the School District ("Superintendent") certified tenure charges of inefficiency to the Commissioner of Education of New Jersey, captioned In the Matter of Tenure Charge against Michael Wilson, State-operated School District of the City of Newark, Essex County ("Tenure Charge"); and such charge was assigned Docket No. 302-10/15; and the Commissioner of Education referred the matter to Arbitrator Lewis R. Amis ("Arbitrator") for a hearing;

WHEREAS the Parties wish to resolve this matter in accordance with the terms set forth herein;

NOW, THEREFORE, subject to approval by the Arbitrator, the Parties hereby agree as follows:

1. This Agreement shall be and is subject to final approval by the Arbitrator, and shall be effective only upon the School District's receipt of a copy of this Agreement executed by the Arbitrator to indicate his approval. The effective date of this Agreement

("Effective Date") shall be such date of the School District's receipt of this Agreement, approved by the Arbitrator, or the eighth day after the School District's receipt of this Agreement, executed by Employee, whichever is later, provided that Employee has not exercised his right to rescind this Agreement in accordance with paragraph 13 below. In the event of disapproval by the Arbitrator or any failure to act on such approval, this Agreement shall be void and of no effect, and both Parties shall have the right to pursue any and all matters relating to the other, including but not limited to the Tenure Charge.

2. Wilson hereby agrees to retire from his tenured position effective February 1, 2017. Attached as Exhibit A is a copy of Wilson's signed Letter of Retirement. Wilson's separation from employment will be deemed a voluntary retirement in good standing. Upon inquiry from any third parties, the District will only confirm Wilson's employment, position, title, salary and dates of employment.

3. Wilson also agrees to withdraw with prejudice any and all claims or suits that he may have previously filed against the District that are still pending in any and all courts and/or before any and all agencies, with the exception of workers compensation claims. This Settlement is intended to be the final resolution of all outstanding matters between the District and Wilson. Should Wilson fail to submit letters of withdrawal for any such pending claims or suits, this Settlement Agreement will serve as Wilson's formal written notice of withdrawal of those pending claims or suits, except for workers' compensation claims.

4. In exchange, commencing on November 1, 2016, Wilson will be retroactively placed on administrative leave with pay until he retires. He will be issued back pay in an amount equivalent to the salary he would have received as an active employee from November 1, 2016, to the effective date of his retirement, February 1, 2017. The back pay that Wilson receives as a result of being retroactively placed on administrative leave with pay will be minus all standard salary and tax deductions. Other than the salary, back pay, and benefits that Wilson receives until the date of his retirement, as well as the value of any remaining accumulated sick days that he may cash out after retirement pursuant to the terms of the applicable Collective Bargaining Agreement, Wilson will not receive any further monies from the District in exchange for this Settlement Agreement.

5. The District also agrees not to pursue any disciplinary action, including termination of Wilson's employment, so long as this Settlement Agreement remains in effect and is not voided by any court or administrative agency of competent jurisdiction. However, if the Settlement Agreement is voided, the District retains the right to pursue disciplinary action against Wilson, including termination from the District.

6. As of the date of his retirement, all of Wilson's employment rights, including but not limited to salary, insurance coverage, tenure and seniority, will permanently end.

7. Wilson agrees that he will not apply for reemployment with the District at any time. Specifically, Wilson will be considered to have retired permanently from his tenured position as a result of this Settlement Agreement. If Wilson does apply for reemployment with the District and is approved for employment in any capacity, the terms of this Settlement Agreement shall control and be grounds for immediate termination of Wilson's employment.

8. The School District agrees to dismissal of the Tenure Charge upon approval of this Agreement by the arbitrator.

9. This Settlement shall not constitute a precedent in any matters involving other employees.

10. Except as noted above, Wilson waives all claims of any nature against the District with regard to his employment with and/or his separation from the District, including fees, or other monetary relief, with the exception of workers' compensation claims.

11. By entering into this Settlement Agreement, and in exchange for good consideration as set forth in Paragraphs 4 and 5 above, the sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged by the parties, Wilson releases and discharges the District, the State District Superintendent, its Advisory Board of Education and its Advisory Board members, and any and all other District officers, employees, representatives, agents, successors and assigns (collectively, the "Released Parties") with respect to all claims or

rights that he has or may have against the District regarding his employment with the District. This includes without limitation, any and all actions, claims, and liabilities of whatsoever kind or character, in law or in equity, now known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, directly or indirectly related to Wilson's employment with the District and separation from the District except for workers' compensation claims. It specifically includes, without limitation, all claims which Wilson may have regarding tenure, withholding of increment, discrimination on any basis, any federal or state civil rights law, any alleged violation of the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, as amended; the Older Worker Benefits Protection Act; Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended; Sections 1981 through 1988 of Title 42 of the United States Code; the Civil Rights Act of 1991; the Equal Pay Act; the Americans with Disabilities Act; the Rehabilitation Act; the Family and Medical Leave Act; the Fair Labor Standards Act; the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended; the Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act; the National Labor Relations Act; the Fair Credit Reporting Act; the Occupational Safety and Health Act; the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Act; the Employee Polygraph Protection Act; the Immigration Reform Control Act; the retaliation provisions of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002; the Federal False Claims Act; the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination; the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act; the New Jersey Family Leave Act; the New Jersey Wage and Hour Law; the New Jersey Equal Pay Law; the New Jersey Occupational Safety and Health Law; the New Jersey Smokers' Rights Law; the New Jersey Genetic Privacy Act; the New Jersey Fair Credit Reporting Act; New Jersey Wages and Hours Law, unemployment compensations laws, disability benefits laws, the retaliation provisions of the New Jersey Workers' Compensation Law (and including any and all amendments to the above), the United States Constitution, the New Jersey Constitution and/or any other alleged violation of any federal, state or local law, regulation or ordinance, common law and/or contract or implied contract or collective bargaining/ contractual claim or tort law or public policy or whistleblower claim, having any bearing whatsoever on his employment by and the termination of his employment with the District, including, but not limited to, any claim for wrongful discharge, back pay, front pay, vacation pay, sick pay, wage, commission or bonus payment, attorney's fees, costs, and/or future wage loss, except for workers compensation claims. Wilson agrees to save, hold harmless and indemnify the District for any legal costs and attorneys' fees associated with the enforcement of the terms of this Settlement Agreement should enforcement become necessary.

12. Notwithstanding Paragraph 11 of this Settlement Agreement, it is understood and agreed that the parties are not prohibited from communicating with or participating in any administrative proceeding before the United States Department of Labor, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, or any other federal, state or local law agency. Should any entity, agency commission or person file a charge, action, complaint or lawsuit against the District based upon any of the above-released claims in Paragraph 11, Wilson agrees not to seek or accept any resulting relief whatsoever.

13. To comply with the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act of 1990, if applicable, this Agreement advises Wilson of the legal requirements of the Act, and fully incorporates the legal requirements by reference into this Settlement Agreement. Accordingly, by executing this Settlement Agreement, Wilson acknowledges that he: (i) fully understands the terms and conditions of this Settlement Agreement; (ii) has consulted with an attorney to review the Settlement Agreement; (iii) specifically waives his right to pursue any current claims he may have under the Age Discrimination in Employment Act; (iv) has been given sufficient time within which to consider this Settlement Agreement; and (v) has seven (7) days from the date of the execution of this Settlement Agreement to revoke it. Wilson understands that he may rescind this Settlement Agreement within seven (7) calendar days of signing it, and such rescission must be in writing and delivered to counsel for the District either by hand or by certified mail within the seven-day period.

14. The parties respectively acknowledge that counsel has advised them regarding this Settlement Agreement and that each is signing this Settlement Agreement freely and voluntarily, without duress, coercion or pressure from the other party.

15. This Settlement Agreement constitutes the full agreement between the parties, and shall be construed and enforced in accordance with New Jersey law.

16. If any provision or portion of a provision of this Settlement Agreement is held by a court of competent jurisdiction, or determined under applicable federal or state law to be invalid, void, or unenforceable, the remaining provisions or remaining portions of a provision will continue and remain in full force and effect.

17. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6, the Parties acknowledge and represent that:

a. Documentation of the tenure charge of inefficiency has been presented in the Statement of Evidence accompanying the Notice of Tenure Charge.

b. Without waiving any claims or defenses, the Parties have agreed to settle this matter in order to avoid the cost and expense of further legal action.

c. Both the charged and charging parties consent to the settlement set forth herein.

d. Employee enters into this agreement with a full understanding of his rights.

e. Because it allows the School District to avoid the cost, expense and uncertainty of further legal action, the proposed settlement is in the public interest.

f. Employee has been advised that the Commissioner has a duty to refer some tenure determinations resulting in loss of position to the State Board of Examiners for possible suspension or revocation of certificate.

TRACEY PITTS,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF CAMDEN, CAMDEN COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner – formerly employed as a tenured teacher by the respondent school district – alleged that her due process and tenure rights were violated when the Board unlawfully terminated her employment. The Board contended that petitioner had voluntarily left its employment as a result of an agreement between the two parties; the petitioner asserted that she had never entered into the agreement with the Board, and argued that tenure charges would need to be filed in order to remove her from her tenured position. The matter was litigated in Superior Court, where the Board sought an order enforcing the terms of a settlement agreement it claimed to have entered into with petitioner; under the terms of the settlement, the Board contended that petitioner had agreed to resign, while the Board agreed not to pursue tenure charges against petitioner. The Superior Court Judge (SCJ) ruled that the parties had entered into a binding agreement, under the terms of which the petitioner had agreed to resign effective October 31, 2015, and the Board had agreed not to pursue tenure charges against her.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: the Commissioner does not consider cases in which the issue involves contractual disputes, as these claims do not arise under the school laws; the SCJ determined that a binding agreement had been consummated in this case; the petitioner's claims herein arose from a provision of the contract between the parties, i.e., the settlement agreement, which details a procedure by which petitioner could revoke her acceptance of the agreement; petitioner's contention that she effectively invoked her right under the settlement to revoke her acceptance through written communications – and therefore remains a tenured employee who can only be removed through tenure charges – is without merit; the Order of the Superior Court in this matter effectively ends the controversy, as the SCJ determined that the settlement – under which petitioner agreed to resign her position – was binding; and therefore no violation of petitioner's tenure rights occurred. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that the petition must be dismissed.

Upon review, the Commissioner adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision, with modification. The Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that the petitioner's claims in this matter arose from a provision in the contractual agreement between the parties, and accordingly can only be properly raised before the Commissioner if the petitioner properly revoked her acceptance of the settlement agreement. As there remains a dispute between the parties as to whether petitioner revoked her acceptance, the Commissioner cannot conclude that petitioner has tenure rights that were violated by the Board. Accordingly, the petition was dismissed without prejudice.

TRACEY PITTS,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF CAMDEN, CAMDEN COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Petitioner's exceptions and respondent's reply thereto – submitted in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 – were also considered by the Commissioner. Upon a comprehensive review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner adopts the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) decision, as modified herein.

The ALJ found that petitioner's claims in this matter arose from a provision[1] in an agreement between the parties (Agreement), and noted that the Commissioner does not consider cases in which the issues involve contractual disputes.[2] The ALJ explained, whether there was revocation of petitioner's acceptance of the Agreement under the subject provision involved

[Pitts] has been advised that during the seven (7) day period following her execution of the Settlement Agreement and the Release, she may revoke her acceptance of this Agreement by delivering written notice through her legal counsel . . . and the Settlement Agreement and the Release shall not become effective or enforceable until after the revocation period has expired.

[2] Presently, there is an outstanding contractual dispute as to whether petitioner revoked the Agreement. Petitioner, who was scheduled to sign the Agreement on October 23, 2015 but failed to show up at her attorney's office, has maintained that on October 26, 2015, and then again on October 29, 2015, petitioner's counsel advised the Board Attorney that Pitts no longer wished to sign the Agreement or resign from her position in the District. Thereafter, following the Superior Court Judge's July 22, 2016 ruling – finding that the parties entered into an enforceable agreement – Pitts sent a letter to the Board on July 28, 2016, stating that she was revoking her acceptance of the Agreement pursuant to Section 6(e).

interpretation of the terms of the Agreement, which is beyond the purview of the Commissioner. The ALJ further found that the Superior Court Judge's (SCJ) granting of the Board's motion to enforce the Agreement meant that either the SCJ did not find effective revocation of the Agreement or that the revocation period had elapsed. The ALJ explained that petitioner's disagreement with the SCJ's decision should have been appealed to the Appellate Division as there is no remedy available through the Commissioner. The ALJ concluded that: petitioner agreed to resign from her position pursuant to the Agreement, which became effective on October 31, 2015; respondent did not violate petitioner's tenure rights; and the SCJ's decision effectively ended the controversy.

The exceptions substantially reiterate the substance of petitioner's submissions at the OAL, recasting the arguments therein to support her contention that the ALJ erroneously concluded that the Board did not violate Pitts' tenure rights. Specifically, petitioner maintains that the Board wrongfully terminated Pitts in violation of her tenure rights. Petitioner further argues that the ALJ improperly inferred that her revocation of the Agreement was not effective or that the revocation period had expired based on the fact that the SCJ ruled in favor of the Board to enforce the Agreement. Petitioner notes that the SCJ stated during oral arguments that the parties retained their rights under the Agreement. In reply, respondent also reiterated the positions advanced in its submissions at the OAL. Respondent contends that Pitts was not terminated; instead, she resigned pursuant to the Agreement. Respondent further submits that, contrary to petitioner's assertion that she retained all her rights under the Agreement – including Pitts' right to revoke – the SCJ rejected those arguments and ruled in favor of the Board.

As a preliminary matter, the Commissioner finds that petitioner's claim – that the Board violated her tenure rights – can be properly raised only if petitioner effectively revoked her acceptance of the Agreement.[3] The dispute between the parties as to whether Pitts revoked her acceptance of the Agreement remains unresolved. The contention over whether there was revocation of petitioner's acceptance does not arise under the school laws. Such dispute clearly implicates contract laws; therefore, the appropriate venue for adjudication of this issue is the Superior Court of New Jersey. In other words, whether Pitts revoked her acceptance of the Agreement will determine if she can bring a claim pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 et seq., and the SCJ has proper jurisdiction to resolve the discord between the parties relating to petitioner's revocation of acceptance.

Petitioner's contention that the ALJ improperly inferred that Pitts' revocation was ineffective, does require discussion. Petitioner argues that her right to revoke the Agreement was not extinguished by the SCJ's ruling because the enforcement of the Agreement meant she had the right to revoke pursuant to Section 6(e). The Board contends that the SCJ rejected petitioner's repeated arguments that Pitts "could or had revoked" the Agreement, and ruled in favor of the Board. In the Initial Decision, the ALJ concluded that the SCJ's ruling in favor of the Board suggests that Pitts did not or could not revoke her acceptance of the Agreement. A review of the limited record of the Superior Court matter,[4] however, indicates that the issue of revocation was not explicitly addressed by the SCJ. In fact, when petitioner raised the issue of revocation in her arguments during the hearings and included it as part of her motion for reconsideration, the SCJ did not address revocation.

[3] If petitioner effectively revoked the Agreement, it would mean that Pitts did not resign from her teaching position in the District.

[4] The parties have submitted copies of relevant pleadings and correspondence, as well as excerpts from transcripts of the hearings on January 8, 2016 and July 22, 2016.

> [T]he contract as it was drafted on October 23rd, 2015 is the embodiment of that entire agreement . . . That written agreement, that written agreement is the agreement, so you know, even though she didn't sign it, if you're asking me well, what did you just rule on, what are my rights, they're all contained in that agreement that she did not sign because [there was a] meeting of the minds . . .

When the Board Attorney sought clarification, inquiring whether the ruling on the Agreement included all the provisions, the SCJ responded, "[a]ll the provisions in that agreement." See Transcript of Motion Hearing, July 22, 2016, pg. 18. It is evident from the transcript that the SCJ simply ruled on whether there was a binding agreement between the parties. The SCJ then entered an order enforcing the Agreement. Implicit in such a ruling is the interpretation reached by the ALJ: that the Agreement was not revoked by Pitts. However, the SCJ clarified during the hearing that the rights of the parties were as they appear in all the provisions of the written Agreement. It would, therefore, follow that petitioner had a right to revoke her acceptance of the Agreement. Notwithstanding, the SCJ did not explicitly address whether petitioner had (on October 26, 2015) or could have (on July 28, 2016) revoked her acceptance of the Agreement; nor did the SCJ hold that petitioner's right to revoke was no longer valid. As such, without explicit finding of the Superior Court of New Jersey that petitioner's right to revoke the Agreement had extinguished or that her alleged revocation was insufficient, it would be improper for the Commissioner to conclude such. Similarly, and as discussed above, whether petitioner revoked her acceptance of the Agreement is an issue to be determined by the Superior Court of New Jersey.[5]

[5] The SCJ's decision is presently on appeal. Although petitioner noted in her December 14, 2016 letter to the ALJ that the issue of revocation cannot be addressed on appeal because it was not argued in any of the moving papers or during oral argument, the Commissioner's review of the transcripts from January 8, 2016 and July 22, 2016, and petitioner's motion for reconsideration indicate that the issue of revocation was raised but not addressed by the SCJ.

Since petitioner's right to bring this action would only arise if there was proper revocation of the Agreement – and there is a dispute as to whether petitioner revoked her acceptance of the Agreement – the Commissioner cannot determine whether Pitts effectively revoked her acceptance of the Agreement. For this reason, the Commissioner cannot conclude that petitioner has tenure rights in the District that were violated by the Board. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL – as modified – is adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition is hereby dismissed without prejudice.

Record Closed: November 17, 2016 Decided: December 16, 2016

BEFORE JEFF S. MASIN, ALJ t/a:

Tracey Pitts was employed by the Camden City Board of Education as a tenured teacher. On December 29, 2015, she filed a Notice of Motion for Emergent Relief with the Commissioner of Education, seeking a determination that the Board had unlawfully terminated her employment without affording her the rights that she was entitled to as a tenured employee. In essence, the Board, which was desirous of separating Ms. Pitts from the District, considered that she had voluntarily left its employment as a result of an agreement between the Board and Pitts, while Ms. Pitts asserted that she had never entered into any such agreement and that the Board could only attempt to remove her by filing tenure charges. Emergent relief was denied by Order issued on January 22, 2015, by Honorable Robert Bingham II, ALJ. Thereafter, the parties pursued litigation in the Superior Court, in which the Board of Education sought an order enforcing the terms of what it believed to be a binding settlement agreement, under the terms of which Ms. Pitts had agreed to resign effective October 31, 2015, and the Board had agreed not pursue tenure charges against her. In response to the Board's action, Ms. Pitts moved, and the Board cross-moved, for summary decision. At the conclusion of oral argument, held on July 22, 2016, Honorable Anthony M. Pugliese, J.S.C., ruled that the parties had entered into a binding agreement, the terms of which were embodied in a writing submitted to counsel for Ms. Pitts on October 23, 2015. Although Pitts had never executed this agreement, Judge Pugliese nevertheless found that the > two attorneys representing these entities had a meeting of the minds. They were authorized to represent the entities and they did so, and the deal was embodied fully in the document that was revised by Mr. Antinori and sent back to Ms. Johnson-Stokes in advance of Ms. Johnson-Stokes meeting with Ms. Pitts that was scheduled for sometime on October 23rd.

Judge Pugliese's decision was embodied in two Orders, both issued on July 22, 2016. One Order denied Pitts' summary decision motion and the other granted the Board's cross-motion. On the form Order submitted by the Board, the Judge wrote the following text: "Further Ordered that the terms of the settlement are contained in the attached agreement."

Following the issuance of these Orders, Ms. Pitts sought reconsideration of the judge's ruling, which was denied by Judge Pugliese in September 2016. His Order simply states that the denial is based upon reasons stated on the record, which apparently was a reference to the reasons he stated on July 22, as noted above.

Despite the outcome of the Superior Court proceedings, which resulted in the determination that Pitts had indeed entered into a binding settlement agreement with the Board under which she was to resign her tenured position, Ms. Pitts continues to argue in this administrative proceeding that the Board has violated her tenure rights.

Upon Judge Bingham's appointment to the Superior Court, the case was transferred to this judge, serving on recall.

Ms. Pitt's claim arises from a provision of the contract between the parties, for of course the settlement agreement is just that, a contractual arrangement. The provision contained on page 3 of the written "Settlement Agreement and Release," at "6," refers to the "Older Workers Protection Act" and the "Age Discrimination in Employment Act," waives all claims under each and releases the Board from such claims and the states

> (e) She has been advised that during the seven (7) day period following her execution of the Settlement Agreement and the Release, she may revoke her acceptance of this Agreement and the Release, she may revoke her acceptance of this Agreement by delivering written notice through her legal counsel for Company (as identified below), and that the Settlement Agreement and the Release shall not become effective or enforceable until after the revocation period has expired.:

Pitts contends that through written communications sent prior to the expiration of the seven days following the October 23, 2015, date on which Judge Pugliese determined that a binding agreement had been consummated, and/or through a letter sent within seven days of the judge's July 2016 Order deciding that a binding contract had been entered into and was to be enforced, she effectively invoked her right under the agreement to revoke her acceptance of that agreement. Having done so, she did not agree to resign, and remained a tenured employee. As such, if the Board still desires to separate her from her tenured status, it must file tenure charges with the Commissioner. In the meantime, she must be returned to the Board's payroll.

In response, the Board argues that Judge Pugliese's Order of July 22 determined that the Agreement was binding, and that his Order granting the Board's request to enforce the settlement precludes any need to take any further action vis a vis Ms. Pitts, who has resigned her position as per the Settlement Agreement and Release.

I have considered the positions of the parties, as expressed in their briefs, attached documents, partial transcript of the Superior Court discussion and oral arguments, and have examined the briefs filed in Superior Court in order to assure that I had sufficient understanding of what was before Judge Pugliese. In regards to these latter documents, in light of the legal conclusion reached herein, they are deemed not to be of significance to the outcome.

It should first be noted that the Commissioner of Education does not consider cases in which the issue involves contractual disputes. These claims do not arise under the school laws, but under principles of common or statutory law. Archway Programs, Inc. v. Pemberton Twp. Bd. of Educ., 352 N.J. Super. 420, 424-25 (App. Div. 2002). Whether there was an effective revocation of acceptance of the Agreement under the provision previously quoted would appear to involve issues arising under the specific contract provisions and involving possible interpretation of contract terms, and, as such, is not a proper subject for the Commissioner to consider. However, more fundamentally, a simple reading of the very provision notes that it states that the agreements embodied in the written terms "shall not become effective or enforceable until after the revocation period has expired" (bolding not in the original). Thus, in light of the fact that Judge Pugliese granted the Board's motion to enforce the terms of the settlement that he found had been entered into, it must perforce be the case that he did not see any basis for refusing to do so due to an effective revocation of acceptance by Pitts. He had to have concluded that the revocation period had passed without effective action to revoke, which had it occurred would have precluded enforcement under the very provision itself. If Ms. Pitts believed that the judge's decision to enforce the settlement was incorrect, either because there was no binding agreement or because she had properly revoked her acceptance of the agreement in a timely fashion and thereby precluded enforcement, and in light of the judge's refusal to reconsider and overturn his July 22, Order, she should have appealed his ruling to the Appellate Division. But there is no recourse to the Commissioner in this case. I CONCLUDE that as a matter of law the Superior Court ruling effectively ends the controversy. Ms. Pitts agreed to resign her position, and her resignation must be deemed to have been effective, as the Settlement Agreement states, on October 31, 2015. Thus, I CONCLUDE that there has been no violation of her tenure rights by the Board. Her petition must therefore be DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF MANVILLE, SOMERSET COUNTY,	:	APPLICATION FOR EMERGENT RELIEF
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this emergent matter, the sound recording of proceedings at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the recommended Order of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ – for the reasons set forth in the recommended Order – that petitioner has failed to demonstrate entitlement to emergent relief pursuant to Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982), and codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6.

Accordingly, the recommended Order of the OAL denying petitioner's application for emergent relief is adopted for the reasons expressed therein. This matter shall continue at the OAL with such proceedings as the parties and the ALJ deem necessary to bring it to closure.

ORDER ON EMERGENT RELIEF
AGENCY DKT. NO. 304-12/16

M.V. ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILD, F.H.,
Petitioner,
v.
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF MANVILLE, SOMERSET COUNTY,
Respondent.

Pasquale Marago, Esq., for petitioner (Law Offices of Pasquale Marago, attorney)

David Rubin, Esq., for respondent

BEFORE JOSEPH A. ASCIONE, ALJ:

Petitioner, M.V. on behalf of minor child, F.H., a high school senior, brings this emergent relief application to the Commissioner of Education. It seeks an order returning F.H. to respondent's school without the requirement of a psychological psychiatric assessment. It also seeks the clearing of F.H.'s school records, that F.H. be provided with temporary home instruction, and that F.H. be transferred to the Hillsborough School District at the expense of the Manville Board of Education. Petitioner argues that on September 26, 2016, respondent over-reacted to the discovery of gun control and school incident materials found on a flash drive owned by petitioner. Respondent maintains the school took no action. M.V. withdrew F.H. from school.

On December 2, 2016, petitioner made this application for emergent relief to the New Jersey State Commissioner of Education. On December 5, 2016, the New Jersey State Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-8.2. The OAL conducted oral argument on the application on December 14, 2016.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

A teacher found a flash drive after school hours in a classroom, which she turned into the main office. A staff person in the main office reviewed the flash drive. It revealed satirical cartoon materials entitled Gun Control for Dummies. It depicts alleged absurdities of gun control bans, specifically, various nationwide school incidents involving school attacks, with the perpetrators considering that the locations of the incidents had gun bans, providing the perpetrators with a degree of security that, "No one here can shoot back." The other cartoons had similar messages. The drive is no longer in the possession or control of respondent. The staff person turned the material over to Ilana Kurtin, one of the school's guidance counselors. The staff at the main office or Ms. Kurtin, discovered that the flash drive belonged to F.H. She had previous experience with F.H. She certified she knew him to be a loner, occasionally wore a Soviet trench coat and hat, and had a fascination with war and violent video games. She related an incident from the previous year where F.H. critically commented on the staff's inability to perform their jobs. Ms. Kurtin perceived the material as being a "red flag", and sought out Audrey Press of special services. In the absence of Ms. Press, she contacted Anne Facendo, the Superintendent of Schools. Ms. Facendo contacted the Manville Police. The police requested permission to contact petitioner to assess the circumstances. Upon meeting at F.H.'s residence, the police reported that F.H. maintained that the materials were in connection with a high school project. The school attempted to confirm this claim. The teacher reviewed the submission but represented that F.H.'s submission referred to a different election issue, immigration. Respondent again contacted the police to have F.H. contact Psychiatric Emergency Screening Services (PESS) of Somerset County that evening to prevent F.H. from missing school the following day. A telephone call instituted by the police officer ensued between Dr. Brunn, the High School Principal and M.V. M.V. advised the police officer she refused the request to attend the psychiatric testing due to the time requirements.

M.V. advised the police officer that she would withdraw F.H. from the school. F.H. withdrew from the school. Respondent claims there is no record on F.H.'s school record regarding this incident.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

After consideration of the supporting petition and opposition from the respondent, for purposes of this emergent application, I FIND as FACT:

1. Petitioner, F.H., a high school senior, either accidentally or intentionally, left a flash drive at his high school.

2. The flash drive contained materials that aroused concern among some of the staff at the high school over the safety of the student body, because of the nature of the materials contained on the flash drive and experiences with F.H.

3. The high school initially investigated the matter by contacting the police.

4. The investigation resulted in a belief by some staff at the school that petitioner's response did not contain truthful statements.

5. The high school requested petitioner, attend a psychiatric assessment, prior to returning to the high school.

6. M.V., petitioner's mother, rejected the request.

7. M.V. advised the police that she would withdraw her son from the school.

8. F.H. did not participate in a psychiatric assessment.

9. M.V. withdrew F.H. from the school the following day.

10. As F.H. withdrew, the school took no disciplinary action against F.H.

LEGAL DISCUSSION

Petitioner must meet the requirements for emergent relief set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b).

N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6 sets forth the standards governing motions for emergent relief. The regulation instructs in salient part:

> A motion for a stay or emergent relief shall be accompanied by a letter memorandum or brief which shall address the following standards to be met for granting such relief pursuant to Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982):
>
> 1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted;
>
> 2. The legal right underlying petitioner's claim is settled;
>
> 3. The petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and
>
> 4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

Petitioner has the burden of establishing each of the above requirements in order to warrant relief in his favor. Petitioner's counsel argued that respondent constructively suspended or dismissed F.H. from high school by improperly requesting he attend a psychiatric assessment prior to readmission to the school. M.V. acknowledges that she withdrew F.H. from the school the following day. Counsel argues M.V.'s high school education resulted in her failure to understand that the school would provide other education to F.H., just not at the present high school.

After the withdrawal, the school took no further action. Had M.V. not withdrawn F.H., the school would have been required to provide F.H. with various due process rights. The withdrawal prevented providing those due process rights.

There are various factual disputes, over statement made, actions taken, motivations, or omissions by the parties. The determination of these factual disputes are not relevant for the within emergent application. They may be relevant in determining the validity of respondent's request that F.H. submit to a psychiatric evaluation. They cannot be determined in the absence of a plenary hearing.

The respondent argues that the petitioner cannot demonstrate any irreparable harm from the respondent's action, as petitioner's mother withdrew him from the school. Accordingly, it seeks the dismissal of the application for emergent relief. This tribunal will not accept this argument. F.H. is suffering irreparable harm by not completing his senior year and graduating with the rest of his class. That harm came from the withdrawal. It is not to say that the withdrawal resulted solely from M.V.'s action. It likely resulted from the action of the high school. A plenary hearing is required to determine the justification for the school's action.

The Crowe v. DeGioia test requires an analysis of whether the legal rights are settled. Petitioner does not cite any precedent, nor has this tribunal found any that addresses a situation where a petitioner voluntarily withdrew a student from a school district and then sought not re-enrollment, but home schooling or placement outside of the district. Accordingly, petitioner cannot show that he will prevail on the merits. Similarly, the petitioner cannot show he will prevail on the merits.

The final prong of the Crowe v. DeGioia test is a balancing of the equities and the interests of the parties. The balancing of F.H.'s freedom of speech against the high school's obligation to protect the safety of all students is an area that requires a close analysis of all the credible factual testimony available to the tribunal. Petitioner has placed forth a factual certification suggesting the high school's actions may be motivated by pre-judgments inconsistent with the sole safety of the student body.

In regard to the standard for emergent relief, petitioner has the burden of proof to show the irreparable harm, the settled legal right, the likelihood of success and the balancing of the harm all rests in petitioner's favor. Petitioner has shown that he is presently suffering irreparable harm. Petitioner has not demonstrated the settled legal right, the likelihood of success and the balance of equities rests in his favor.

CONCLUSION

After hearing the arguments of petitioner and respondent and considering the documents submitted, I CONCLUDE that petitioner is not entitled to emergent relief because the proofs submitted fail to establish the necessary elements to grant emergency relief under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b). Specifically, there is no showing a settled legal right, the likelihood to prevail on the merits, or that the balance of harm favors the petitioner. A factual hearing is necessary to determine the justification for the high school's action to request F.H. to submit to a psychiatric assessment.

For the foregoing reasons, petitioner's request for emergent relief is DENIED.

ORDER

It is ORDERED that petitioner's request for emergent relief is DENIED.

It is ORDERED that the matter proceed to hearing. A telephone prehearing will be scheduled and the parties will be sent notices.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five days following the entry of this order. If the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF MONROE, MIDDLESEX COUNTY,	:	ORDER
RESPONDENT.	:

On April 5, 2016, a final agency decision was rendered in this matter, wherein the Commissioner found J.S. liable for tuition in the amount of Eighteen Thousand Seven Hundred Six Dollars and Forty Seven Cents ($18,706.47), representing tuition for a period of ineligible attendance by her son, A.S., in the Board's school district between November 3, 2014 and February 29, 2016. The Board subsequently notified the Commissioner that J.S. had failed to comply with the decision and it requested that the Commissioner seek entry of the assessments on the judgment docket of the Superior Court pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2A:58-10. In response to the Board's request, J.S. asserts that she was never given the opportunity to appeal the Commissioner's decision. She further indicates that the Commissioner's decision was unfair and her son should have the right to a free education like any other citizen. The Commissioner notes that J.S. did not file exceptions to the Initial Decision, and the Commissioner's April 5, 2016 final agency decision clearly indicated that the decision was appealable to the Appellate Division of the Superior Court. As such, J.S. has offered no reasons that have not been fully and fairly adjudicated as to why the judgment against her should not be so docketed.

Accordingly, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2A:58-10, Jadwiga Shahat is now subject to entry of a judgment by the court in the amount of $18,706.47, which represents the payment ordered at the conclusion of the case before the Commissioner, with interest to accrue as provided by law.

RESPONDENT.	:

The record, proposed settlement agreement, and Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed – mindful of the Commissioner's November 22, 2016 determination that the prior Agreement submitted did not comply with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.13, as it was neither signed by the Board's attorney nor contained a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement. Since the Agreement now bears the signature of the Board Attorney, the Commissioner can approve the within settlement in its present form.

Upon review, the Commissioner approves the settlement terms and adopts the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. The matter is hereby dismissed, subject to compliance with the terms of the settlement.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Record Closed: December 16 2016 Decided: December 21, 2016

BEFORE JOSEPH A. ASCIONE, ALJ:

This matter was remanded to the Office of Administrative Law on November 28, 2016, 2016, for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-8.2, N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13

The parties have agreed to a settlement and have executed a Settlement Agreement and General Release of Claims, which is attached hereto as J-1.

I have reviewed the record and the terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE OF CLAIMS

The SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT ANDGENERAL RELEASE OF CLAIMS ("Agreement") is being entered into among and between A.G. o/b/o M.G. (or "Releasor") and HAMILTON TOWNSHIP BOARD OF EDUCATION ("HAMILTON") shall be referred to as "Releasee." A.G. o/b/o M.G. and HAMILTON shall be collectively referred to herein as the "Parties."

WHEREAS, Releasor is the parent of a 7th grade student, M.G., enrolled in Crockett Middle School;

WHEREAS, Releasor filed an appeal of the Board's Decision dated January 28, 2016 affirming a finding of a violation of the HIB Policy to the Commissioner of Education Docket No.: 117-4/16 (the "Action");

WHEREAS, the Parties wish to resolve Releasor's appeal and any and all claims and\or causes of action that Releasor had or may have had, including without limitation those pied in the Action; and

WHEREAS, the meaning, effect and terms of the Agreement have been fully explained to Releasor, who understands that the Agreement settles, bars, and waives any and all claims that she could possibly have against Releasees as of the date of the Agreement.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual promises, covenants, agreements and representations contained herein, and intending to be legally bound hereby, the Parties agree as follows:

RECEIVED
2016 DEC 16 P 4:18
STATE OF NEW JERSEY
OFFICE OF ADMIN LAW

1. No Admission of Wrongdoing. Releasor acknowledges and agrees that the consideration by Releasees to her as described below, her acceptance of such consideration, and the Parties' execution of the Agreement and making promises and representations as set forth herein, are the result of compromise, and that the Agreement shall never be considered at any time or for any purpose as an admission by Releasees of any liability, wrongdoing or unlawful conduct of any kind with respect to Releasor or any other person. Indeed, Releasees expressly deny that they violated any contract, rule, law or regulation related to the underlying matter.

2. Consideration. In consideration for Releasor signing the Agreement, not revoking it, and fully complying with the terms, conditions and promises made herein, Releasee agrees that the HIB decision and the investigatory documents related thereto shall not become part of M.G.'s permanent student record, shall not be passed from his current school to his next school whether in or outside the Hamilton Township School District, Mercer County, and that said records shall only be maintained consistent with Hamilton's obligations under any law or applicable statute for the retention of records. The records shall not be produced to any requesting individual or entity other than M.G.'s parents or guardians or as req uired by any statute or law. All physical and electronic copies of the HIB decision and investigatory documents will be destroyed upon M.G.'s leaving of Crockett Middle School by way of transfer out of the school, transfer out of the Hamilton Township School District, or promotion to high school. Notice of destruction shall be given to the parents of M.G. by way of certified mail.

3. General Release of Claims. In consideration for Releasees promises and representations made herein, Releasor, individually and on behalf of her heirs, representatives, immediate family members (including but not limited to her spouse and children), agents, successors and assigns, hereby releases Releasees, their parents, board members, subsidiaries, shareholders, directors, officers, employees, agents, attorneys, insurers, affiliates, predecessors, successors, assigns, heirs, and all persons acting by, through, under or in concert with any of them (collectively, the "Released Parties"), release from any and all charges, complaints, claims, liabilities, obligations, promises, agreements, controversies, damages, actions, causes of action, suits, rights, demands, costs, losses, debts and expenses, and from any claims of any nature whatsoever, known or unknown, which Releasor now has, claims to have, owns, holds or which Releasors at any time heretofore had, held, or claimed to have based on events occurring through the date of execution of the Agreement, to the fullest extent allowed by law. The release includes, without limitation, claims arising under 42 U.S.C. § 1981, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Family Medical Leave Act, the National Labor Relations Act, the Employee Retirement Income Security Act (save for claims related to vested benefits, which are exempted from the release), the Equal Pay Act, the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, The New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act, the New Jersey Workers' Compensation Act, as well as any other federal, state, local, or municipal statute, ordinance or regulation that prohibits improper discrimination, harassment or retaliation in the workplace or otherwise relates to or regulates employment relationships. In addition, the release extends to and covers claims for tortious conduct or breach of express or implied contract, including wrongful discharge, breach of covenant of good faith and fair dealing, intentional or negligent infliction of emotional distress, breach of contract or implied contract, negligence, misrepresentation, fraud, detrimental reliance, promissory estoppel, defamation, invasion of privacy, breach of laws governing safety in the workplace, loss of consortium, or any claims under federal, state, and local statutory and common law.

4. Inquiry. Hamilton agrees, through its Administration, to respond to inquiries for M.G.'s HIB file by providing all such information as it may be legally required to provide to any governmental agencies or pursuant to Court Order. Otherwise, Hamilton shall not produce said documents to any individual or entity and shall classify same as a confidential student record. Hamilton shall not produce said file to any other school within or outside the Hamilton Township School District, Mercer County, prior to, at the time of, or after M.G. leaves Crockett Middle School.

5. Confidentiality. The Parties mutually agree that the existence of the Agreement, and the terms hereof, are to be held confidential, and agree not to disclose it to anyone except for their attorneys, members of their immediate family, and any person required by law or order of court to receive such information. To the extent the Parties reference the Agreement in discussions with persons not permitted to receive information about the Agreement, they shall inform such persons that the claims "have been discontinued" or "have been closed ." Hamilton shall not disseminate or produce copies of the Agreement except pursuant to Court Order or a lawful request under the Open Public Records Act.

6. Non-Disparagement. The parties agree not to make, publicly or privately, through any media or medium (including, without limitation, comments on social networking sites), any disparaging or derogatory remarks or otherwise make statements that could injure the business or reputation of any of the Released Parties.

7. Additional Covenants and Acknowledgments. Releasor further understands and agrees that:

(a) By signing the Agreement she is voluntarily making a full and final compromise and settlement of any and all claims, disputed or otherwise, arising out the Action, and that the Agreement will preclude any further or additional claims arising out of the Action;

(b) She has the right to consult any attorney prior to signing the Agreement and has been encouraged to do so by Releasees;

(c) The Agreement is contractual, is not a mere recital, shall be given full force and effect, and shall be binding upon her, her heirs, executors, successors, administrators and assigns.

8. Disputes. The validity, performance, construction, and effect of the Agreement shall be governed by the substantive laws of the United States and the State of New Jersey. The New Jersey Superior Court shall retain jurisdiction to implement and enforce the Agreement and its terms.

9. Severability. The invalidity or unenforceability of any provision of the Agreement, whether in whole or in part, shall not in any way affect the validity or enforceability of any other provision contained herein.

10. Counterparts; Exchange by Electronic Means. The Agreement may be executed in counterparts, which shall be taken together as the entire agreement of the Parties hereto. The Agreement may also be exchanged by the Parties via electronic mail for the purposes of securing signatures and will be fully enforceable as an original document.

RELEASOR ACKNOWLEDGES THAT SHE HAS READ THIS AGREEMENT, UNDERSTANDS IT AND IS ENTERING INTO IT KNOWINGLY AND VOLUNTARILY AND NOT AS A RESULT OF ANY PRESSURE, COERCION OR DURESS.

RELEASOR AGREES THAT SHE HAS HAD A REASONABLE AND SUFFICIENT TIME AND OPPORTUNITY TO CONSULT WITH COUNSEL, AND THAT SHE HAS FULLY DISCUSSED AND REVIEWED THE TERMS CONTAINED IN THE AGREEMENT WITH COUNSEL PRIOR TO EXECUTING IT, OR FREELY CHOSEN NOT TO DO SO.

RELEASOR FURTHER UNDERSTANDS, ACKNOWLEDGES AND AGREES THAT THE AGREEMENT CONTAINS A GENERAL RELEASE OF CLAIMS AS TO ALL RELEASED PARTIES, AND THAT THE AGREEMENT SETTLES, BARS, AND WAIVES ANY AND ALL CLAIMS THAT SHE HAS OR COULD POSSIBLY HAVE AGAINST THE RELEASED PARTIES THROUGH THE DATE OF THE AGREEMENT.

11. Settlement of Contested Case Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3–1.13(d). By signature of the Board Attorney, the Board hereby represents that it consented to settlement of this matter by vote of a majority of a quorum during the public session of a properly held meeting of the Board.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, and intending to be legally bound, the Parties agree to the terms of the Agreement.

The record, proposed settlement agreement and release, and Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed.

Upon review, the Commissioner observes that a member of the Board of Directors of the Union County Educational Services Commission signed the agreement on behalf of the Board. The file does not contain a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement and designating a Board member to sign the agreement on its behalf – as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.13 under these circumstances – nor is the resolution attached to the settlement agreement itself. In the alternative, the agreement is not signed by the Board attorney, who is the Board's duly authorized representative in litigation. Without either the Board attorney's signature or the appropriate Board resolution designating a Board member to sign the agreement on its behalf, the Commissioner cannot approve the within settlement.

Accordingly, the Commissioner hereby remands this matter to the OAL for revision of the settlement agreement consistent with the concerns set forth above. If the parties are unwilling or unable to reach accord on a modified agreement for submission to the Commissioner, the matter shall proceed to hearing.

Re: Calafiore v. Union County Ed. Serv. Comm.
OAL Docket No. EDU 11405-2016N
Agency Ref. No. 223-8/14

Dear Judge Pasquale:

As you know, our firm represents the Respondent Union County Educational Services Commission ("Commission") in the above matter. During our telephone conference held on November 16, 2016, it was agreed that the Commission would file its Motion to Dismiss by today. The parties have amicably settled this case following the telephone conference. Pursuant to this tribunal's November 21, 2016 prehearing order, we enclose a copy of the settlement agreement for your Honor's file. Based upon the terms of the agreement and discussions with Petitioner's counsel (Nicholas Poberezhsky, Esq.), it is our understanding that Petitioner will be promptly withdrawing his pending Amended Petition.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Respectfully Submitted,

Bradley D. Tishman

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND RELEASE

This Settlement Agreement and Release (hereinafter referred to as the "Agreement") is entered into this 7th day of December 2016, between the Union County Educational Services Commission (hereinafter referred to as the "Commission") and Sergio Calafiore (hereinafter referred to as "Calafiore").

WHEREAS, Calafiore was employed as a Teacher of Food Services by the Commission prior to the abolishment of his position effective July 1, 2014; and

WHEREAS, Calafiore filed a retirement application with the Division of Pensions and Benefits that became effective on November 1, 2014; and

WHEREAS, on August 13, 2014, Calafiore filed a Petition with the Commissioner of Education to challenge the Commission's reduction in force and abolishment of his position [OAL Docket No. EDU 12005-14, Agency Ref. No. 223-8/14]; and

WHEREAS, on April 15, 2015, Calafiore moved to amend his Petition to include a seniority rights claim; and

WHEREAS, on June 16, 2016, the Hon. Irene Jones, ALJ granted the Commission's Motion for Summary Decision upholding the Commission's decision to abolish Calafiore's position, and denied Calafiore's motion to amend his Petition to include a seniority rights claim; and

WHEREAS, on July 28, 2016, the Commissioner of Education affirmed Judge Jones's decision regarding the Commission's abolishment of Calafiore's position, but reversed Judge Jones's determination on Calafiore's motion to amend his Petition, and remanded Calafiore's claim to the Office of Administrative Law for a determination as to whether Calafiore is entitled to a position with the Commission by virtue of his seniority rights; and

WHEREAS, on remand the matter was assigned to the Hon. Danielle Pasquale, ALJ [OAL Docket No. EDU 11405-16, Agency Ref No. 223-8/14]; and

WHEREAS, on September 16, 2016, Calafiore resubmitted his Amended Petition for Relief; and

WHEREAS, on November 8, 2016, Calafiore filed his Second Amended Petition; and

WHEREAS, the Commission disputes Calafiore's claim of entitlement to a position with the Commission by virtue of his alleged seniority rights; and

WHEREAS, the parties are desirous to amicably resolve the matter without further litigation.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration for the premises and conditions set forth herein, the Commission and Calafiore agree as follows:

1. TERMS.

A. Calafiore will immediately dismiss with prejudice the Second Amended Petition currently pending against the Commission [OAL Docket No. EDU 11405-16, Agency Ref No. 223-8/14]. Calafiore further agrees not to file a new claim, in any forum, regarding any of the allegations raised in his original and/or amended petitions against any individuals or entities affiliated with the Commission, as further detailed in the "Complete Release" section below.

B. Calafiore will receive the total sum of $3,750.00, inclusive of attorneys' fees in settlement of this matter. The Commission's payment to Calafiore will be subject to applicable tax withholdings, and the Commission will issue a W-2 form to Calafiore for this payment.

C. The parties agree that they are only responsible for their respective attorneys' fees incurred to date. Calafiore agrees that if he should file a claim in a court of competent jurisdiction and/or administrative action relating to the terms set forth in this Agreement (with the exception of any action necessary to enforce the terms of this Agreement), the Commission may seek reasonable attorneys' fees incurred in defending against said litigation, as further provided for in subsection 2b below.

D. The Commission agrees to provide Calafiore with a neutral letter of reference by providing his title and dates of service only.

E. The terms of this Agreement are subject to formal acceptance and ratification by the Commission.

2. COMPLETE RELEASE.

a. In consideration of the settlement hereinabove, Calafiore, his heirs, assigns and agents hereby agree to release, waive and discharge the Commission, its affiliated departments, and its officers, trustees, agents, employees, former employees, current and former elected officials, current and former attorneys, successors and assigns (hereinafter collectively referred to as the "Releasees") from each and every claim, demand, cause of action, obligation, damage, complaint, or action or writ of any kind, nature, character or description that Calafiore had, now has, or may in the future have against the Releasees on account of or arising out of the Petition or any matter that, has happened, developed or occurred prior to the date of this Agreement. This Complete Release includes, but is not limited to, any claim, demand, cause of action, obligation, claim for damages of any kind, complaint, expense, compensation, or action or writ of any kind, nature, character or description arising out of or under Federal, State or municipal statute or ordinance and any other law (whether such be common law, decisional law or statutory law), rule, regulation, executive order or guideline, and any and all claims for attorney's fees and costs arising from the above acts including, but not limited to:

i. Any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of or under the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination (LAD) which, among other things, prohibits discrimination in employment on the basis of an individual's race, creed, color, religion, sex, national origin, ancestry, age, marital status, affectional or sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, familial status, disability or nationality, or liability for service, in the Armed Forces of the United States.

ii. Any federal claim, cause of action demand or complaint arising out of or under the Federal Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (Title VII) or the Civil Rights Act of 1991, as amended, which, among other things, prohibit discrimination in employment on account of a person's race, color, religion, sex, or national origin.

iii. Any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of or under the Federal Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967, as amended (ADEA), which among other things, prohibits discrimination in employment on account of a person's age.

iv. Any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of or under the Federal Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), which, among other things, prohibits discrimination in employment on account of a person's disability or handicap.

v. Any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of or under the Federal Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) which, among other things, entitles an employee to take reasonable leave for medical reasons for the birth or adoption of a child, and for the care of a child; spouse or parent who has a serious health condition and any claim, cause

vi. Any claim, cause of action demand or complaint arising out of or under the Federal Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended, which among other things, prohibits discrimination in employment by Federal contractors against individuals with disabilities.

vii. Any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of or under the Federal Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended (ERISA), which among other things, regulates pension and welfare plans and prohibits interference with individual rights protected under that statute.

viii. Any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of or under the Federal Older Workers Benefit Protection Act (OWBPA) which, among other things, amends provisions of ADEA and prohibits discrimination in employment and employment benefits on account of a person's age.

ix. Any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of or under the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) or the New Jersey Equal Pay Act.

x. Any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of or under the Conscientious Employee Protection Act (CEPA).

b. Calafiore specifically acknowledges he has not filed and shall not hereafter file any claim, charge or complaint of any nature against Releasees with the New Jersey Division on Civil Rights, the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) or with any Federal, State or local court or agency against the Commission or the Releasees for any events preceding the ratification of this Agreement. If Calafiore violates this Complete Release by filing any claim, charge or complaint as prohibited by this Agreement, Calafiore agrees to pay all costs and expenses of defending against the suit incurred by the Commission and/or the Releasees, including reasonable attorneys' fees.

3. CONSULTATION WITH ATTORNEY.

Calafiore has consulted with his legal counsel with respect to this Agreement, and has reviewed with his attorney all of the terms and conditions of this Agreement prior to executing this Agreement.

4. COMPLETE AGREEMENT.

This Agreement contains the entire agreement between Calafiore and the Commission with respect to the subject matter and supersedes all prior agreements, understandings and/or dealings whether written or otherwise with respect to the same subject matter. There is no agreement on the part of the Commission to do anything other than what is expressly stated in this Agreement. This Agreement shall in all respects be interpreted, enforced and governed by the Laws of the State of New Jersey.

5. MODIFICATION.

No modification or amendment of this Agreement will be enforceable unless it is in writing and signed by the party to be charged.

6. SEVERABILITY.

Should any provision of this Agreement be declared or determined by any court of competent jurisdiction to be illegal, invalid or unenforceable, the legality, validity, and enforceability of the remaining parts, terms, or provisions shall not be affected thereby and said illegal, unenforceable or invalid part, term, or provision shall be deemed not part of this Agreement.

7. ATTESTATION.

Calafiore represents and warrants that he has carefully read each and every provision of this Agreement and that he fully understands all of the terms and conditions contained in each provision of this Agreement. Calafiore represents and warrants that he enters into this Agreement voluntarily, of his own free will, without any pressure or coercion from any person or entity including, but not limited to, the Commission and the Releasees.

8. NON-ADMISSION OF LIABILITY.

This Agreement is executed and all consideration is given in final settlement of disputed claims and shall not be construed as an admission of any allegation or of liability by the Commission, and any such liability is expressly denied.

9. FUTURE EMPLOYMENT.

Calafiore acknowledges that his relationship with the Commission has been permanently and irrevocably severed. Calafiore agrees that he will not at any time hereafter apply for employment or reemployment with the Commission, nor shall he accept any employment with the Commission.

10. NON-PRECEDENTIAL.

It is understood between and among all parties hereto that the terms of this settlement shall not have any precedential effect or constitute binding practice by the Commission.

11. REVOCATION.

Calafiore may revoke this Agreement within seven days after the date this Agreement is signed by Calafiore. This revocation must take the form of written notice by Calafiore that he intends to revoke the Agreement. The revocation must be provided directly to the Commission. This seven day revocation period may not be waived by Calafiore.

12. REASONABLE PERIOD OF TIME.

Calafiore agrees that he has been given a reasonable period of time of at least 21 days within which to review and consider this Agreement prior to executing this Agreement, but that Calafiore may waive this 21 day period by signing in the space provided at the end of this Agreement.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, and intending to be legally bound hereby, I, Sergio Calafiore, execute the foregoing Agreement this 7th day of December, 2016.

The record of this emergent matter, the sound recording of proceedings at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the recommended Order of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ – for the reasons set forth in the recommended Order – that petitioner has failed to demonstrate entitlement to emergent relief pursuant to the standards enunciated in *Crowe v. Record Closed: January 5, 2017 Decided: January 6, 2017

BEFORE LESLIE Z. CELENTANO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner, Shane Berger (Berger), a resident and taxpayer of Bloomfield, New Jersey, has filed an application for emergency relief, seeking an order as follows: (1) voiding the candidacy of Gladys E. Rivera (Rivera) for a seat on the Bloomfield Board of Education (the Board); and (2) enjoining respondent Rivera from continuing to occupy a seat on the Board and/or removing her from her elected position.

No responsive briefs or certifications were filed by any respondent in this matter prior to oral argument, and until that time, petitioner was appearing pro se. On the date of oral argument, petitioner appeared with counsel, as did respondent Rivera. Board counsel also appeared, but indicated the Board took no position in this matter.

Oral argument on Berger's application was heard on January 5, 2017.

A brief and certification were filed by petitioner, in which he alleged that on November 8, 2016, an election had been held for 3 seats with three year terms, and 1 seat with a one year term, on the Board. Rivera was elected to one of the three year seats. Petitioner placed fourth, and thus was unsuccessful in his effort secure a seat on the Board. Thereafter, the landlord's son from the three family home in Bloomfield where Rivera purportedly resides provided information indicating that Rivera moved into the building in April of 2016, and was not a tenant but was living with her boyfriend.

LEGAL DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS

N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b) sets forth the standards governing motions for emergent relief. The regulation states in part:

> A motion for a stay or emergent relief shall be accompanied by a letter memorandum or brief which shall address the following standards to be met for granting such relief pursuant to Crowe v. Degioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982):

> 1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted;
> 2. The legal right underlying the petitioner's claim is settled;
>
> 3. The petitioner has a likelihood of success on the merits of the underlying claim; and
>
> 4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the relief is not granted.

Petitioner has the burden of establishing each of the above requirements in order to warrant relief in his favor.

Believing that Rivera had not been a resident of Bloomfield for one year immediately preceding the election as is required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-1, petitioner retained the services of private investigators to conduct a search on Rivera. Both investigators reported separately that Rivera did not reside at the Bloomfield address. A change of address had reportedly been filed by Rivera with the NJ Motor Vehicle Commission in March 2016. The Spartan Detective Agency, Inc. provided a lengthy and detailed report (Spartan report) that purported to reveal Rivera resided in Elizabeth, NJ. The conclusion reached by the investigator was based upon voter registration searches, motor vehicle searches and cell phone registrations, as more fully detailed in a twenty-five page report he provided to petitioner. Included in that report is information indicating that Rivera was registered to vote in Elizabeth, and therefore she also did not meet the additional requirement of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-1 of being registered to vote in the district. Upon receipt of this information, petitioner filed his emergent relief application seeking a determination that Rivera's candidacy was void and that her election not be certified and/or she be removed from her position.

As the petition was unopposed until the commencement of oral argument, and the material facts undisputed, it appeared that there existed a likelihood of success on the merits of the underlying claim. At oral argument, however, that was called into question by representations made by counsel for Rivera that the Spartan report sets forth a date of birth, social security number and name that do not belong to Rivera.

With regard to the remaining criteria for determining whether emergency relief is appropriate, the first standard stated in Crowe, provides that relief should not be granted except "when necessary to prevent irreparable harm." Crowe, supra 90 N.J. at 132. The moving party bears the burden of proving irreparable harm. More than a risk of irreparable harm must be demonstrated. Continental Group, Inc. v. Amoco Chemicals Corp., 614 F. 2d 351, 359 (D.N.J. 1980).

In the instant matter, I am not persuaded by the assertions of petitioner, as set forth in the supporting brief, that if Rivera is permitted to remain in her Board seat pending a full hearing of this matter, irreparable harm will occur. In addition, consideration of respondents' assertions, albeit not until oral argument, constrain me from concluding that the legal right underlying petitioner's claim is wholly settled, based on the limited record before me.

Based on the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has failed to meet the requirements set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b) warranting a stay or emergency relief. Accordingly, I ORDER that petitioner's application for such relief be and hereby is DENIED.

I FURTHER ORDER that this matter is scheduled for plenary hearing on February 7, 2017 at 9:00 AM.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who/which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five days following the entry of this order. If (title of agency head) does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

V.	:	DECISION
NEW JERSEY DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION	:
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

The petitioning Boards challenged the respondent Department's imposition of a five percent cap on the number of new School Choice enrollments allowed in their school districts for the 2014-2015 school year. Petitioners alleged, inter alia, that the five percent limitation – above each program's 2013-2014 enrollment – was arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable, and was a rule change that should have gone through the required rulemaking procedures under the Administrative Procedure Act (APA). The Department filed a motion for summary decision, arguing that jurisdiction to review an agency decision belongs to the Appellate Division; that petitioners' requested relief is barred by the Fiscal Year 2015 Appropriations Act; and that the Department's decision was reasonable and does not amount to a rule change. Petitioners filed a cross-motion contending that they were not challenging the Commissioner's decision to impose a cap on enrollments across the entire School Choice Program, but rather that the Department breached the contracts with petitioners – i.e., their applications for the program, which allowed for more enrollments – when it imposed the five percent cap for 2014-2015; further, petitioners claimed that the Department is not entitled to summary decision in this matter because it did not comply with petitioners' discovery requests.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue in this case, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; the School Choice Program explicitly grants the right to appeal the Commissioner's decision in two instances, neither of which apply here; the Commissioner has jurisdiction over controversies and disputes arising under the school laws, but jurisdiction over contractual claims lies with the Superior Court; the Commissioner made a final agency decision when the five percent cap was imposed; final agency decisions are appropriately challenged in the Appellate Division; the Commissioner relies on the State Appropriations Act to fund the School Choice Program; the Commissioner acted within legislative authority by imposing the enrollment cap to keep the program funded when its projected cost for the 2014-2015 school year exceeded the budget afforded by the 2015 Appropriations Act; the imposition of the five percent cap was an exercise of the Commissioner's statutory authority, and cannot be considered to be rulemaking; and the Commissioner has already issued an interlocutory order on discovery. Accordingly, the ALJ granted the Department's motion for summary decision, and denied the cross-motions of the petitioners.

Upon review of the record and the Initial Decision of the OAL, the Commissioner adopted the ALJ's recommended decision as the final decision in this matter, for the reasons expressed therein. Accordingly, the petition was dismissed with prejudice.

BEFORE JEFFREY R. WILSON, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The petitioners, West Cape May Board of Education (West Cape May) and Springfield Board of Education (Springfield), challenge the implementation of the five percent cap on new School Choice enrollments in the petitioners' districts by the respondent, New Jersey Department of Education (NJDOE).

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On March 4, 2014, the petitioners, West Cape May and Springfield, filed a Verified Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner of Education, challenging NJDOE's implementation of a five percent cap on New School Choice enrollments on the petitioners' districts. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on April 8, 2014, to be heard as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

On September 8, 2014, the NJDOE filed a motion for summary decision; on February 3, 2016, the petitioners, West Cape May and Springfield filed a cross-motion for summary decision.

ISSUES

Whether the NJDOE breached its contracts with petitioners' when it imposed a five percent cap on student enrollment in the School Choice Program.

1. Whether the decision to impose the five percent enrollment cap was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

2. Whether the five percent enrollment cap is a rule that was required to go through rulemaking procedures under the Administrative Procedure Act (APA).

3. Whether discovery disputes prevent the Court from granting the NJDOE's Motion for Summary Decision.

FINDINGS OF FACT

This matter arises out of the NJDOE decision to place a five percent cap on new student enrollments in the School Choice Program in petitioners' districts. Petitioners' Brief in Support of Cross-Motion for Summary Decision, 3.

Petitioner Springfield was admitted into the School Choice Program on April 13, 2011. Id. at 4. The NJDOE permitted Springfield to enroll twenty ninth-grade students for the 2011-2012 school year, with twenty new ninth-grade students to enroll each year thereafter. Id. Thus, by the 2014-2015 school year, Springfield could have enrolled up to eighty students under the School Choice Program. Id.

Petitioner West Cape May was admitted into the School Choice Program on May 24, 2011. Id. The NJDOE permitted West Cape May to enroll sixteen students at various grade levels for the 2011-2012 school year, with sixteen new students to enroll at various grade levels each school year thereafter. Id. Therefore, West Cape May could have enrolled up to sixty-four students under the School Choice program by the 2014-2015 school year. Id.

The NJDOE directed the petitioners to sign and return the forms that set forth petitioners' obligations under the School Choice Program. Id. Petitioners complied with the instructions. Id.

Petitioners and the NJDOE honored these obligations until October 3, 2013. Id. In the fall of 2013, the Office of Interdistrict School Choice (Choice Office) at the NJDOE learned that the budget for the School Choice Program for the 2014-2015 school year (fiscal year 2015) was likely to be an amount less than the projected cost of the program if eligible districts increased enrollment by the same rate as in previous years. Respondent's Brief in Support of Motion for Summary Decision, 8. The NJDOE determined that it could ensure that school districts received school choice aid for each student enrolled in the program if it limited the enrollment of choice students in each school choice district to a five percent growth "target enrollment" amount. Id. at 9. On October 3, 2013, the Director of the Choice Office emailed all school choice administrators informing them that choice student enrollment for the 2014-2015 school year would be limited to five percent above each program's 2013-2014 enrollment. Id.

Because of the five percent cap on enrollment, Springfield faces an anticipated loss of $625,770 annually and West Cape May has been deprived of $640,000 with an additional loss of $414,687 expected annually. Petitioners' Brief in Support of Cross-Motion for Summary Decision, 5.

On March 4, 2014, petitioners filed a Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner of Education (the Commissioner) challenging the NJDOE's implementation of target enrollments. Respondent's Brief in Support of Motion for Summary Decision, 10. The NJDOE filed an answer and the matter was transmitted to the Law OAL as a contested case. Id.

On July 1, 2015, the State Appropriations Act for Fiscal Year 2015 became effective. This Appropriations Act allocated $49,246,000 for the Choice Program, up from $49,065,000 the previous year. Respondent's Brief in Opposition to Petitioners' Cross-Motion for Summary Decision, 6. However, if the NJDOE had not imposed the enrollment cap, the NJDOE estimated that the cost of the School Choice Program for the 2014-2015 year would have been $67,942,464. Id. at 7.

The NJDOE filed a Motion for Summary Decision claiming that jurisdiction to review an agency decision belongs to the Appellate Division, that petitioners' requested relief is barred by the Fiscal Year 2015 Appropriations Act, and that the NJDOE's decision was reasonable and does not amount to a rule. Id. at 1. Petitioners filed a Cross-Motion for Summary Decision claiming that the NJDOE breached its contracts with petitioners' when it limited enrollments under the School Choice Program. Petitioners' Brief in Support of Cross-Motion for Summary Decision, 2. Petitioners also claim that this limitation on enrollment is an unlawful promulgation of an agency rule. Id. Petitioners also claim that the NJDOE is not eligible for a grant of Summary Decision because it has not complied with petitioners' discovery requests. Petitioners' Brief in Opposition to Respondent's Motion for Summary Decision, 7.

LEGAL ANALYSIS

Summary Decision Standard

Under N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b) a "motion for summary decision shall be served with briefs and with or without supporting affidavits." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). A summary decision may be rendered "if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." Id.

A court should grant summary judgment when the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, show that there is no genuine issue of material fact and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law. Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520, 528-529 (1995). The Supreme Court of New Jersey has adopted a standard that requires judges to "engage in an analytical process to decide whether the evidence presents a sufficient disagreement to require submission to a jury or whether it is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law." Id. at 533.

"When a motion for summary decision is made, an adverse party in order to prevail must by responding affidavit set forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding . . . ." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). A court should deny a motion for summary decision when the party opposing the motion has produced evidence that creates a genuine issue as to any material fact challenged. Brill, supra, 142 N.J. at 528-529. When making a summary decision, the "judge's function is not himself [or herself] to weigh the evidence and determine the truth of the matter but to determine whether there is a genuine issue for trial." Id. at 540.

Whether the Office of Administrative Law has jurisdiction over this matter.

NJDOE argues that the decision to impose the five percent cap on enrollment was an agency decision and, as such, review is within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Appellate Division of the Superior Court. Respondent Brief in Support of Motion for Summary Decision, 12. Petitioners claim that they are not challenging the Commissioner's decision to impose a cap on enrollments across the entire School Choice Program, but that they are challenging the imposition of the five percent cap on their enrollments in light of the petitioners' applications, which allowed for more enrollments. Petitioners' Brief in Opposition to Motion for Summary Decision, 6. Petitioners claim this constitutes a dispute arising under school laws. Id.

The Commissioner has the authority to "establish an interdistrict public school choice program which shall provide for the creation of choice districts." N.J.S.A. 18A:36B-16. The State Appropriations Act for Fiscal Year 2015 specifically provided that "approved enrollment shall not exceed the district's maximum funded choice student enrollment as determined by the Commissioner of Education." L. 2014, c. 14, § 34.

The School Choice Program explicitly grants the right to appeal the Commissioner's decision in two instances, neither of which applies here. N.J.A.C. 6A:12-6.1. An appeal of any determination by the Commissioner not to grant an application for participation in the choice program may be filed by an eligible choice district applicant) N.J.A.C. 6A:12-6.2. (An appeal of any denial of a choice student applicant for enrollment in a choice district may be filed by the parent or legal guardian with the Commissioner).

"In general, in cases involving only legal questions, the doctrine of exhaustion of remedies does not apply." Abbott v. Burke, 100 N.J. 269, 298 (1985). "A limited exception to this rule may be appropriate where the court perceives the agency to be in a special position to interpret its enabling legislation, but where the agency cannot definitively or conclusively resolve the issues, and further, cannot provide any relief for plaintiffs, any delay in confronting the merits will work an injustice." Id.

The Commissioner has jurisdiction over "all controversies and disputes arising under the school laws, excepting those governing higher education, or under the rules of the State board or of the commissioner." N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9. But jurisdiction over breach of contract claims resides in the trial court. N.J.S.A. 59:13-4; D.J. Miller & Associates, Inc. v. State, Dept. of Treasury, Div. of Purchase and Property, 356 N.J. Super. 187, 192 (App.Div. 2002). Generally, contractual disputes are not within the Commissioner of Education's jurisdiction, because an interpretation of contractual language, rather than school law is necessary to determine the outcome of a claim and the expertise of the agency is not needed. Picogna v. Bd. of Educ. of Cherry Hill Twp., 249 N.J. Super. 332, 335 (App. Div. 1991); Silver Fox Learning Ctr. V. Dist. of the City of Paterson, EDU 1014-03, Initial Decision, (June 27, 2003), adopted, Comm'r, (November 6, 2003) <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>.

Here, the decision to impose a five percent cap on enrollment was made by the Commissioner, who is an Officer of the Department of Education, a state administrative agency. Thus, this is a final decision by the agency that must be appealed directly to the Appellate Division.

Petitioners argue that the five percent cap resulted in a breach of contract between the NJDOE and the petitioners. However, the Commissioner does not have jurisdiction over contract disputes. These claims must be heard in the appropriate New Jersey trial court. Because this forum is not empowered to grant the petitioner a remedy for breach of contract, the NJDOE's Motion for Summary Decision should be granted on these issues.

The Commissioner of Education made a final agency decision when the five percent cap was imposed for the 2014-2015 school year. A final decision by an administrative agency should be appropriately challenged in the Appellate Division. However, if the Commissioner's decision is not a final agency decision, then the Office of Administrative Law does have jurisdiction to decide whether the Commissioner acted arbitrarily, capriciously, or unreasonably by imposing a five percent cap on enrollment in the School Choice Program for the 2014-2015 school year.

Whether the five percent cap on enrollment in the School Choice Program for the 2014-15 school year was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

"An administrative agency's final quasi-judicial decision will be sustained unless there is a clear showing that it is arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable, or that it lacks fair support in the record." In re Herrmann, 192 N.J. 19, 27-28 (2007) To determine whether the decision was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable, the court looks at:

> (1) whether the agency's action violates express or implied legislative policies, that is, did the agency follow the law; (2) whether the record contains substantial evidence to support the findings on which the agency based its action; and (3) whether in applying the legislative policies to the facts, the agency clearly erred in reaching a conclusion that could not reasonably have been made on a showing of the relevant factors.

When ruling on the appropriateness of an agency's decision, courts grant deference to agency expertise on technical matters "where such expertise is a pertinent factor." Campbell v. N.J. Racing Comm'n, 169 N.J. 579, 588 (2001). "When resolution of a legal question turns on factual issues within the special province of an administrative agency, those mixed questions of law and fact are to be resolved based on the agency's fact finding." Id.

In 2010, the New Jersey Legislature enacted the Interdistrict Public School Choice Program Act ("Choice Act"). N.J.S.A. 18A:36B-14. The Legislature granted the Commissioner the authority to "establish an interdistrict public school choice program which shall provide for the creation of choice districts." N.J.S.A. 18A:36B-16.

The purpose of the Choice Act is "to increase options and flexibility for parents and students in selecting a school that best meets the needs of each student, thereby improving educational opportunities for New Jersey citizens." N.J.A.C. 6A:12-1.1.

To provide funding for the School Choice Program, a choice student in a choice district is "counted in the resident enrollment of the receiving district" and the receiving district receives school choice aid "for each choice student equal to the adequacy budget local levy per pupil amount." N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-62. By these terms, the School Choice Program is entirely State funded, with no transfer of funding between the sending districts and the choice districts.

Funding for the School Choice Program is governed by the annual State Appropriations Act. See L. 2013, c. 77 § 34; L. 2012, c. 18, § 34. The State Appropriations Act for Fiscal Year 2014 allocated $49,065,000 for the School Choice Program. The DOE had projected that the program would grow in the 2014-25 school year to a cost of $67,943,464. Respondent's Brief in Opposition to Petitioners' Cross-Motion for Summary Decision, 7. However, the State Appropriations Act for Fiscal Year 2015 allocated $49,246,000 for the School Choice Program, and specifically provided that "approved enrollment shall not exceed the district's maximum funded choice student enrollment as determined by the Commissioner of Education." L. 2014, c. 14, § 34.

Here, the Commissioner was granted authority over the School Choice Program. To fund the program, the Commissioner relies on the State Appropriations Act. The court will likely grant deference to the Commissioner with regard to the amount required to fund the School Choice Program. The evidence shows that the NJDOE was expecting the program to grow larger than it could afford under the Appropriations Act. Thus, to keep the program funded, the Commissioner decided to impose a five percent cap on enrollment for the 2014-2015 school year, which was governed by the Fiscal Year 2015 Appropriations Act. Because the Commissioner is tasked with establishing the School Choice Program in New Jersey, the Commissioner acted within legislative authority by imposing an enrollment cap to keep the program funded. Also, the record contains evidence supporting the decision to impose the enrollment cap because the projected cost of the program for the 2014-2015 school year exceeded the budget afforded by the Appropriations Act for the 2015 Fiscal Year. The Commissioner made a reasonable decision to ensure the School Choice Program remained funded. Therefore, the Commissioner's decision was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

Whether the Commissioner's decision to impose a five percent enrollment cap constituted improper rulemaking.

Administrative agencies are afforded great latitude in selecting the appropriate procedures to effectuate their regulatory duties and statutory goals. St. Barnabas Med. Ctr. v. NJ Hosp. Rate Setting Comm'n, 250 N.J.Super. 132, 142 (App. Div. 1991); Metromedia, Inc. v. Dir., Div. of Taxation, 97 N.J. 313, 333 (1984). This flexibility does not allow the agency to overlook the requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act ("APA"). Therefore, an agency's discretion in selecting a procedure best suited to advance its regulatory objectives is not without parameters. Metromedia, supra, 97 N.J. at 333-34; Crema v. New Jersey Dep't of Envtl. Prot., 94 N.J. 286, 299 (1983).

The New Jersey Legislature enacted the APA to create and define procedures to be used by agencies and departments in their rule-making process. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to –15. For any rule promulgated by an agency to be considered valid, the APA requires compliance with its standards and guidelines and specifically states, "[p]rior to the adoption, amendment, or repeal of any rule, except as may be otherwise provided, the agency shall...give ... notice of its intended action . . . [and] [a]fford all interested persons reasonable opportunity to submit data, views, or arguments, orally or in writing . . . ." N.J.S.A. 52:14B-4(a).

The APA defines an "administrative rule" as being, unless otherwise modified, "each agency statement of general applicability and continuing effect that implements or interprets law or policy, or describes the organization, procedure or practice requirements of the agency." N.J.S.A. 52:14B-2(e). If an agency's action or determination falls within the contours of a rule it must comply with the specific procedures outlined in the APA. Metromedia, supra, 97 N.J. at 330-34. An important aspect of rulemaking that makes it the favored regulatory method is the quest for "general fairness and decisional soundness that should surround the ultimate agency determination." Id. at 331. Typically, when the agency action deals with broad policy issues that affect a significant segment of the regulated or general public, rulemaking is implicated. Id.

In Metromedia, the Supreme Court developed a six-factor test to determine if an agency is engaged in rulemaking or policy setting. A conclusion that the agency is engaged in rulemaking is warranted if it appears that the agency determination, in many or most of the following circumstances:

1. is intended to have wide coverage encompassing a large segment of the regulated or general public, rather than an individual or narrow select group;

2. is intended to be applied generally and uniformly to all similarly situated persons;

3. is designed to operate only in future cases, that is, prospectively

4. prescribes a legal standard or directive that is not otherwise expressly provided by or clearly and obviously inferable from the enabling statutory authorization;

5. reflects an administrative policy that:
   i. was not previously expressed in any official and explicit agency determination, adjudication or rule, or
   ii. constitutes a material and significant change from a clear, past agency position on the identical subject matter; and

6. reflects a decision on administrative regulatory policy in the nature of the interpretation of law or general policy.

These factors, either singly or in combination, determine in a given case whether agency action must be rendered through rulemaking procedures. Metromedia, supra, 97 N.J. at 332; Woodland Private Study Group v. Dep't of Environmental Protection, 109 N.J. 62, 67 (1987). "If the several relevant features that typify administrative rules and rulemaking weigh in favor of action that is quasi-legislative in character, rather than quasi-judicial or adjudicatory, that balance should determine the procedural steps required to validate the ultimate agency action." Metromedia, supra, 97 N.J. at 332.

Here, under the Metromedia six-factor test, the NJDOE's decision to impose a five percent cap on enrollment in the School Choice Program does not amount to a rule.

First, the cap only applies to the 2014-2015 school year. It is not designed to operate in all future cases. It was specifically designed for the 2014-2015 school year due to the budget constraints imposed by the Fiscal Year 2015 Appropriations Act.

Next, the Commissioner was granted the authority to establish enrollment parameters by statute and this decision does not materially change a clear, past agency decision. The School Choice Act grants the Commissioner authority to establish an interdistrict school choice program. This program is funded by the Appropriations Act each year. The Legislature granted the Commissioner authority to determine funding for the School Choice Program under the Appropriations Act. Thus, the decision to impose a five percent cap to fund the School Choice Program was within the Commissioner's statutory authority.

Also, the Fiscal Year 2015 Appropriations Act specifically stated that the districts were limited to enrollment in the amount determined by the Commissioner. Thus, the Commissioner acted within legislative authority to limit the enrollment by imposing a cap.

Finally, the enrollment cap does not change the policy behind the School Choice Program. Students may still apply and enroll in available seats in eligible districts. However, the funding for the program is limited by the Appropriations Act. The enrollment cap is in place to ensure the schools in the program are funded in accordance with the appropriation. The cap still allows for school choice so long as the program can be funded. Therefore, it does not change the substance of the program.

These four factors weigh against the conclusion that the NJDOE engaged in rulemaking. Instead, these factors show that the decision is an exercise of the Commissioner's statutory authority. Therefore, the NJDOE's Motion for Summary decision should be granted on this issue.

Whether a discovery dispute prevents the OAL from granting the NJDOE's Motion for Summary Decision.

Petitioners claim that the NJDOE is not eligible for Summary Decision because it has not complied with their discovery requests. However, in an interlocutory decision, on August 26, 2015, the Commissioner reversed the Administrative Law Judge's decision granting Petitioners' Motion to Compel Discovery. In the decision the Commissioner asserted that the requested discovery was protected by the deliberative process privilege.

"Judicial review of administrative agency action is a constitutional right." Silviera-Francisco v. Board of Educ., 224 N.J. 126, 136 (2016). Rule 2:2-3(a)(2) also authorizes an appeal as of right to the Appellate Division from final decisions or actions of any state administrative agency or officer and to review the validity of any rule promulgated by a state administrative agency with the exception of certain tax matters. Id. "In the absence of a final judgment or order considered final by rule or law, an appeal from an interlocutory order or decision may only be taken by leave granted by the Appellate Division." R. 2:2-3(b).

Because the Commissioner has already issued an interlocutory order on discovery, petitioners' recourse is to request leave to appeal the decision to the Appellate Division or to continue until there is a final decision and then appeal to the Appellate Division as of right.

CONCLUSION

The Commissioner acted reasonably by imposing a five percent enrollment cap on the School Choice Program and this decision did not amount to improper rulemaking. The OAL does not have jurisdiction over petitioners' contracts claims and the Commissioner has already decided the discovery issues so Petitioners may appeal that decision to the Appellate Division.

ORDER

The NJDOE's motion for summary decision is hereby GRANTED. West Cape May's cross motion for summary decision is DENIED. Springfield's cross motion for summary decision is DENIED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." Introduction

This matter arises from tenure charges of conduct unbecoming a staff member against Lydia Wilson, (Respondent) by the State Operated School District of The City of Newark, Essex County (the District) alleging Respondent's failure to supervise or monitor her classroom as to permit certain six and seven year old students in her class to engage in inappropriate sexual/genital contact and exposure. The tenure charges were referred to the undersigned by the New Jersey Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-16 as amended by P.L. 2012, c. 26 AND P.L. 2015, c. 109 by letter dated July 18, 2016.

The hearing in this matter was conducted in Newark, New Jersey on October 6, October 11, October 17, October 18 and November 7, 2016. All parties were afforded the opportunity for argument, examination and cross-examination of witnesses and the introduction of relevant exhibits. Respondent Lydia Wilson was present for the entire hearing and testified on her own behalf. At the close of the hearing on November 7, 2016, the parties elected to submit written closing argument, upon the receipt of which by the arbitrator on December 30, 2016 the matter was deemed submitted.

This Decision is made following careful consideration of the entire record in the matter, including the undersigned's observations of the demeanor of all witnesses.

Issues

The issues presented in this matter may be accurately stated as follows:

> Has the District met its burden of establishing the truth of its conduct unbecoming tenure charges against Respondent, and (a) if so, what is the appropriate penalty, if any, and (b) if not, what is the appropriate remedy?

The Tenure Charge

The tenure charges in this matter were certified by the State District Superintendent of the State Operated School District of the City of Newark, Christopher Cerf on June 20, 2016. The Notice of Tenure Charges presents various facts and findings of the District and, among other things, bases its recommendations of tenure charges for termination on:

> 55. The internal investigation found that Ms. Wilson was in the classroom while 6 and 7-year-old students engaged in physical activity that included viewing and engaging in mouth to genitalia conduct.
>
> 56. The internal investigation found sufficient evidence of conduct unbecoming a teacher in that 6 and 7-year-olds were exposing their genitalia to each other, as well as touching one another's genitalia, in Ms. Wilson's classroom during her classroom instruction.
>
> 57. Respondent's actions are highly egregious.
>
> 58. The confirmed, repeated incidents of genital exposure and reported mouth to genitalia contact among Ms. Wilsons's 1st grade students, that occurred in her classroom during classroom instruction, constitutes conduct unbecoming a teacher.

Evidence

Introduction

Respondent has worked as a teacher in the District for approximately 12 years, the last four of which as a first grade teacher. For the 2015-2016 school year Respondent was assigned to the District's Quitman Street Elementary School (Quitman). Prior to her working there, Respondent did not know any of the administrators nor any of the students at Quitman. Respondent had approximately 21 students in her class, all of whom were age 6 or 7. Her first day assigned to Quitman was September 1, 2015[1]. Classes began on September 3. Respondent's students were scheduled for instruction outside of her classroom (such as music, gym and art) for a 50-minute period four times per week.

[1] All dates are 2015 unless otherwise indicated.

Respondent had a support teacher scheduled to be in her classroom every day from 9:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m.

On Monday, September 21 - the twelfth day of school for students at Quitman - Respondent suffered an injury causing her to be out of school/work until November 2015.

Testimony of District Witnesses

Monterique Johnson

Monterique Johnson, who had substituted before at Quitman and another of the District's schools, was hired by the District to substitute teach for Respondent during her convalescence. Johnson began teaching on Tuesday, September 22, 2015. After the lunch/recess period on Friday, September 25 – Johnson's fourth day of teaching the class - Johnson held circle time for her students. Johnson was called by the District and testified at the arbitration hearing that:

> ...-when they came back from recess, we have a circle time when I have them sit in a circle where they tell me the activities they was doing outside in recess and some of the students was telling me what happened, what they were doing outside and they said "Ms. Johnson, you weren't there. Ms. Wilson was there so you wouldn't know. K.L.[2] and some of the other students was telling me she did such and such to this student, but they said I wasn't there, they said Ms. Wilson was there and I asked did she let parents know and they said no, so what I did, I brung it to my administrator's attention because I wanted to cover myself because I wasn't there and I let them know what happened.

When asked by District counsel what students said, Johnson testified:

> L.W. said to her, K.L. wanted her to play The Nasty Game, Kissing Game during recess and she said "Ms. Johnson, I can't do that because I'll get in trouble and my mom will get in trouble and I told her I wasn't going to play that game" and that's when A.J. and A.G. said she asked them to play the game with them as well and K.L. said to me ---

I said well, you know, you can't play the game, this is not appropriate.

K.L. said. "You wasn't here, Ms. Johnson. Ms. Wilson let my mom and them know and I was on punishment."

And I said okay, but I still wrote it up to let the administrators know what was going on. I wasn't there. I wanted to make sure I wrote it down in case anything happened while I was covering the classroom.

Counsel for the District then asked Johnson to describe with specificity what the students said, to which Johnson testified:

Well, I know they said K.L. went down on, I think it was A.J. I don't know if I'm saying his name right. They said she pulled his pants down and wanted to, you know, touch his private part and then she, A.J. she kissed him on the mouth. That's what they said K.L. did.

Q And that was L.W. who told you that?

A Yes

Q And then you also said that A.G. spoke with you?

A Yes. A.G. spoke with me too, because she was saying K.L. wanted her to play the game as well and she wanted her to, she wanted her to kiss A.J. – I don't know is I'm saying his name correctly – and that's when she said "Ms. Johnson, I didn't play because I didn't want to get in trouble."

Q And did A.J. describe any activity that the student's took part in, Ms. Wilson's students?

A Yes. He said he played the game, but he said he was saying he didn't touch them. He said, "I played the game, Ms. Johnson, but didn't do what K.L. did."

When asked if the children described the game, Johnson answered:

"Yes. It was called the Nasty Game…K.L. described it very good…She said when you kiss, you kiss a boy, you kiss a boy and then you touch a boy and that's when I, that's when I definitely wrote everything down and you know, I brung it to my administrator's attention because I felt that in the first grade that was very inappropriate and I didn't know what was going on with that situation before I got there.

Q Did any of the children describe where a boy was touched in the Nasty Game?

A Well, I know when they was outside in recess they played the game, but they also said they was in the classroom before I got there, they said they played the game and I wasn't there, but they said Ms. Wilson was there so I don't know, they said that they was in the classroom.

Q Did they describe the game that they played in the classroom when Ms. Wilson was there?

A They said K.L. touched - - I can't think of his name. It starts with a "J". I can't think of his name but they said they played that one in the classroom so, you know, they said, "Ms. Johnson, you wasn't there so you don't know about it, Ms. Wilson knew."

And I said, did anybody bring it to yawl's attention of your parents?

K.L. said, "Yes, I was just on punishment. I didn't get in trouble, I just got on punishment" and that was it.

Q Did the children say that this inappropriate touching took place in the classroom?

A Yes. They said it took place in the classroom and on recess.

Johnson further testified that after the children spoke to her she wrote down what was said and gave her writing to school Vice Principal Ebron, who told her to give a copy to school principal Glover. Johnson also testified that she orally told both Ebron and Glover what the children had told her.[3]

On cross examination Johnson testified repeatedly that all she asked the children at circle time – an activity involving the entire class – was "[name of student] how was your recess?" that she did not ask follow-up questions about the Nasty Game other than to ask, as they went on telling Johnson about it, "...does you parents know about it?" Johnson further testified on cross that following circle time, her class went to gym and she had a 35 to 45-minute prep period; during which time she wrote down what each student had said; a note of a page in length. After she completed her note she went to vice principal Ebron and told Ebron what the students had said at circle time and Ebron made a copy of the note and asked Johnson to give it to principal Glover. Johnson had to get back to her class so waited until she dismissed her class at 2:55 to give her note to the principal.

[3] The District did not offer any such writing into evidence and represented that no such writing could be located.

Kimberley Ebron

Quitman Street School vice principal Kimberley Ebron testified that when she was in the hallway outside of Respondent's classroom on September 25 she was told by substitute teacher Johnson that students had reported to Johnson that there was inappropriate activity going on and that the activity had been going on in the classroom; that Johnson told her that the activity involved kissing and touching of genitalia. Ebron testified that Johnson identified six students who were involved in the activity. According to Ebron, she does not remember Johnson giving her a note describing the reports of the students. Ebron testified that she immediately reported Johnson's account to school principal Erskin Glover, and the two administrators decide to get school social worker CaMisha Steward involved.

Ebron testified that the school has a procedure when a student complains about actions of another student or teacher whereby the social worker speaks to the student to take information and then to decide a course of action. Ebron recalled that after Stewart interviewed the students identified by Johnson she reported back to Glover and Ebron and the two administrators decided they needed to contact the parents of the involved students. Additionally, Ebron testified, she and Stewart completed an incident report and Stewart contacted the state Office of Institutional Abuse.

Ebron also testified that she was present, sometime in the end of September 2015, when principal Glover telephoned Respondent, asked her how she was doing after her injury, "briefly" told the teacher of the conduct her students had reported and that she would be contacted by the Office of Institutional Abuse. According to Ebron, Respondent stated that she did not know anything about the conduct reported.

Ebron testified that under the school's policy the social worker's interaction with students in circumstances as are presented here is neither an investigation nor an interview. Instead, Ebron explained, the interaction is more accurately described as "an asking about what happened." Ebron also testified that she believes she was present for some of the time Stewart met with students, but she does not recall either if she was present for all of the meetings (she later recalled being present for meetings with L.W., K.L., A.J. and N.B) or the location of the meetings. She further testified that she did not ask any questions of the children, except perhaps asking the first two students they met with what had happened, and that she did not recall that the social worker had any written questions prepared for the meetings.

CaMisha Stewart

According to school social worker CaMisha Stewart, she was initially informed by the vice principal that Ebron had been told by Johnson that Johnson had been informed by her students that two students had kissed each other during lunch time, and that Ebron wanted Stewart to meet with the students and find out more information about the incident. Stewart testified that she did not conduct an "investigation" but rather, per policy of the school involving incidents of disruptive or other problematic conduct by students, Steward met with the students to "interview" them about what had been reported at recess.

Stewart testified that she first learned of the "Nasty Club" when she met with the first two students. In this regard, Stewart testified:

> I met with, I don't recall which student first, either N.B. or K.L. I asked them about the incident that was reported to me of them kissing. I asked the students what actually happened, where this occurred, who else this occurred with, if there was an adult that was present and how the adult responded if the adult was present. I also asked the student had this behavior occurred prior to, had they engaged in any of this before. And during that time, the student mentioned that there was a "nasty club" and that that had happened prior to in a classroom of exposing the genitals with other students, touching genitals, and a couple of students putting their mouths on genitals.

Stewart testified that upon learning of the details of the conduct and identity of students involved she immediately interviewed all six identified students; and that these six interviews occurred on September 25 between 2:30 p.m. and when students were excused for the day at 3:10 pm. Stewart testified that she met individually with each student on a couch in the back half of the library - a quite area with privacy. Stewart initially testified that Ebron may have been present for one or more interviews, but on cross examination testified twice that Ebron was not present. She recalled that she pulled the students from their classroom individually and returned them after their interview and that she asked each student the same set of questions she keeps in her head.[4]

According to Stewart,[5] she began her meetings with, she believes, N.B. She testified that she started the meeting by introducing herself and letting N.B. know that she was informed he and another student reportedly kissed each other and asked if he could tell her what happened. The student answered that he was in the "cafetorium" standing next to K.L near the tables and K.L. kissed him. Steward asked the student if there were any adults around and the students responded that there were.[6] When Steward asked if that had happened before, the student said that K.L had invited him to join the "nasty team." Stewart testified that she asked N.B. what the nasty team was and that he explained it was a group of students "that did things to and with each other." When Stewart asked what things, N.B. responded that: "they exposed their genitals. They touched genitals and some had put their mouths on each other." According to Stewart, when she asked where this took pace, N.B. said in the classroom. According to N.B., Stewart continued, K.L. invited him to the activity and that K.L. had put her mouth on him and had crawled under the table and put her mouth on A.J., another student. Stewart

[4] As quoted above; "what actually happened, where this occurred, who else this occurred with, if there was an adult that was present and how the adult responded if the adult was present. I also asked the student had this behavior occurred prior to, had they engaged in any of this before."

[5] When testifying to the details of her talks with each student, Stewart referred to the student's Social Worker Referral Form and relied upon the forms, rather than her independent recollection, for her testimony. The admissibility and reliability of (a) Stewart's testimony as to what the six students said and (b) the content of these referral forms are potentially determinative herein and are discussed at length infra. The testimony of Stewart relating to her meetings with the six involved students is presented in detail here to aid in the understanding of my evaluation and rulings made later in this Decision.

[6] Although Stewart repeatedly testified that it was her practice when a student indicated there was an adult present to ask about how the adult responded, the record fails to establish that Stewart ever asked such a follow-up question about the adults present during the kissing.

testified that she then asked N.B. if any adults were in the classroom when this happened and N.B. stated that Respondent was in the classroom, and that when she asked where in the classroom, N.B. said Respondent was at the whiteboard. N.B. then started to cry, Stewart testified.

Stewart then testified relating to her meeting with K.L. She again started by telling the student; "I was notified that she had engaged with a kissing act with another student. Asked if she could tell me what happened." After reviewing her referral form on the student, Stewart testified that K.L. denied kissing N.B. Stewart then asked why people would identify her as having kissed N.B. and K.L. replied that she was standing next to him. According to Stewart:

> I then asked had there been any other interactions or inappropriate engagements between her and other students…and she mentioned that N. B. asked to show, asked her to show him her private parts…she said she didn't show him anything…I asked were there any other students in the room that had engaged in any similar activity or touching, kissing, anything like that, and she reported that there was a nasty team or nasty game, and just gave a list of other students that participated in this activity. I asked where this occurred and she stated that it occurred in Ms. Wilson's classroom, and I asked if there were any adults in the classroom and she stated Ms. Wilson was in the classroom. I also asked her if Ms. Wilson did anything about whatever she was reporting, and she just stated that she was told to move her seat.

Steward was then asked by counsel if K.L. described what she was doing when she was asked to move her seat and Stewart testified: "I believe she said she was like under the table on the floor."

As for her meeting with L.W., Stewart testified:

> She shared with me that the nasty team was a game or a group that K.L. invited students to and they needed to show their genitals and touch or put their mouths on their genital area, she said her private parts. I then asked her when did this happen. Who else was involved. She gave me a list of students who were involved. Where did this take place. If there were any adults in the room. ...

Q And when did she say it happened?
A It happened during her class time.
Q And did she identify what class?
A In Ms. Wilson's class.
Did she say how many times it happened?
A Off the top of my head. I don't remember. I just put it in my report whatever she mentions.
A And did you ask her if anyone was in the room other than children?
A Yes.
Q And what did she tell you?
A I believe she mentioned Ms. Wilson was in the room.

As for her meeting with A.G., Stewart testified:

> I asked her, I asked her about if she was aware of what the nasty team was, that she was mentioned to have participated in the nasty team. I asked her what the nasty team was, what she did in her involvement with the nasty team, where this occurred, who the adult was, if there was an adult in the room, where was the adult and how the adult responded.

According to Stewart, A.G. told her that to be part of the nasty team she need to show her private parts; that she lifted up her dress, pulled her panties over to the side and exposed them to other students that were on the nasty team who would look under the table. Stewart further testified that A.G. said Respondent was in the room and that she had K.L. move her seat. When Stewart asked A.G. how often this occurred, A.G. first said she did not do it any times, then said she did not do it a lot of times and that when Steward inquired; "was it one time? Was it maybe three or four times? Was it ten times" that the student responded it was "like three or four times." According to Stewart, AG stated that she saw K.L. expose herself to N.B. and put her mouth on N.B. and A.J.

Stewart continued by reviewing her social worker referral form relating to Q.L. and testified that when she met with Q.L. she began by introducing herself and:

> ...I informed him I was informed he participated in a group of students in his classroom called the nasty team. I asked him what the nasty team was, who was on the nasty team, what they did, where it occurred, who the adult was in the classroom and what the adult did.

According to Stewart, Q.L. told her that K.L. started the nasty team and you needed to expose your private parts; and that he had unzipped his pants and pulled out his penis and that he did it under the table in the Respondent's classroom and that Respondent was present but that he did not think Respondent saw him.

Stewart testified that she gave the same introduction to A.J. as she had to Q.L. and that A.J. responded that K.L. had a team and she wanted him to show her his private area, that if he showed his private area to her she would show him hers, so they both exposed themselves under the table; and that K.L. put her mouth on his penis. According to Stewart, A.J. stated that they would do this under the table when Respondent was at the white board. A.J. told her this happened a few times.

Stewart testified that she took notes during her interviews (no such notes were offered into evidence) and that after the interviews – still on September 25 – she reported what each student told her to Ebron and Glover and that the administrators determined that the state DCP&P (Division of Children and Families) should be notified. She made the call to the DCP&P with Glover being present and Ebron and Glover made calls to parents of the six students. Stewart testified that Tomeika Cherry was eventually sent from the DCP&P to the school to conduct an investigation.

Stewart confirmed that each of her six Social Work Referral Forms relating to her September 25 meetings with students references a note receive by Ebron from Johnson. Stewart testified that she did not see the Johnson note nor ask what the note stated. She did not recall the amount of time she met with each student, testify the shortest was in the 5 to 10-minute range but that she did not know the length of her longest meeting. She did not video tape or audio tape her interviews with the students, nor did she take a verbatim record of her questions and the students answers, and that she asked the same set of questions of each student, a list of five or six questions she keeps in her head. Stewart testified that she did not interview Johnson, she did not interview any student who reported the matter to Johnson or any student not identified as participating in the nasty game and she did not interview any adults who were on the playground. She also testified that she did not make any assessments of the students she met with relating to their ability to know the difference between telling the truth and a lie, understanding the difference between reality and fantasy, understanding the concepts of numbers and time or the ability to sequence events.

Erskin Glover

Glover was principal of the Quitman Street School at all times relevant. He testified that he first learned of the student conduct relevant here on September 25 when he and vice principal Ebron were approached by substitute teacher Johnson in the hallway outside of Respondent's classroom. At that time, Glover testified, Johnson informed the two administrators of reports by students of inappropriate behavior such as kissing, touching genitals and mouth to genital contact. According to Glover, Johnson identified two students as being involved; N.B and K.L.

Glover immediately got school social worker Stewart involved. Per school policy, Glover testified, Stewart's primary responsibility was to talk with the students and gather information. Stewart reported the content of her conversations with students to Glover late in the day of September 25. Upon hearing of the conduct described by Stewart, Glover directed Stewart to contact DCP&P. Glover testified that he believes he was present when Stewart telephoned and spoke to the DCP&P from his office.

Glover testified that he spoke with Respondent by telephone in late September or early October and asked her if she was aware of the conduct reported by students to have occurred in her classroom over a period of time. Glover described the conversation as follows:

> A The beginning of the conversation was more about her health and how she was doing and the follow-up comment was that was she aware of or have any knowledge of students performing inappropriate acts in the classroom over the period of time I noted that these were the dates that it was brought to the attention, did she have any knowledge of that.
> Q When did you use the term "inappropriate activities" or did you describe to her the activities?
> A I actually described a couple of the – I described very vividly. It was stated that there was showing of genitalia to each other and there was mouth - - K.L.'s mouth was put on private parts.
> Q And what was Ms. Wilson's response?
> A Her statement was no, she wasn't.

The state IAIU completed an investigation[7] and issued a report. Glover testified that he relied upon that IAIU report, Stewart's referral forms and the District's internal investigation when he certified the Tenure Charges and signed the Statement of Evidence in support of the charges.

Michelle Takyi

Takyi is the District' Manager of Compliance and Tenure and conducted the District's internal investigation of the matter. Takyi testified that she became aware of the potential issues concerning Respondent's tenure sometime in January 2016 when she received the findings report relating to the "nasty team" conduct of the six students in Respondent's class from the IAIU.[8] She was assigned the internal tenure investigation of Respondent's conduct. For purposes of her investigation, in addition to the IAIU report,

---

[7] The school provided the IAIU investigator demographic and contact information for the six students involved, and whenever an investigator met with a student, a school administrator sat in on the interview.

[8] The Institutional Investigation Unit report is dated January 7, 2016 and provides in its section entitled "Investigative Finding":

> Neglect/Inadequate Supervision is Not Established, in accordance with N.J.S.A. 9:6-8.21. No adjudicative findings have been made. IAIU's review herein is solely investigative. Not Established findings are not disclosed in a Child Abuse Record Information check, but they are maintained in agency records.
> (Emphasis in original)

And in its section entitled "Investigative Observations":

> The results of the investigation revealed that K.L., age 6 Q.L., age 6, L.W. age 6, A.G., age 6, N.B., age 7, were covertly playing a game dubbed 'nasty team' in the classroom that entailed consensual sexual/genital contact and exposure. However, there was no information obtained to conclusively determine that teacher, Ms. Lydia Wilson, who was in charge of the class, had knowledge of these incidents.

Takyi requested and reviewed an Incident Report initially submitted by Quitman Street School administration and the 6 Social Worker Referral forms completed by Stewart. She also spoke with the administrators of the Quitman Street School, met with two of the student's identified in the IAIU report and met with substitute teacher Johnson and Respondent. Takyi testified that the first student she met with completely shut down and the second student refused to answer any "nasty team" or inappropriate-conduct-related questions. As a consequence, Takyi testified, for purposes of her investigation, she relied upon the content of the six Social Worker Referral forms completed by Stewart. She further explained that when she met with Respondent, the teacher described the children in her class as normal students; playful and active, but nothing out of the ordinary.

Takyi's investigation culminated in an Internal Investigation Report dated March 22, 2016. Following a description of the background leading to the referral to the IAIU, the report provides, in part:

> The incident was reported to the Institutional Abuse Investigation Unit (IAIU) and an investigation was conducted. The department returned a findings report to the District on September 25, 2015. This agency returned a finding of "Not Established." "Not Established" means that there existed the potential risk of harm and that due to staff

> Based upon the information gathered and physical observations of the children, K.L., N.B., A.J. Q.L., L.W., and A.G. are not neglected children as defined by statues.
> As previously noted, the Institutional Abuse Investigation Unit's findings have not been adjudicated and should not be considered binding or conclusive. No determination as to the accuracy of the allegations, statements or accounts of the incidents has been made.

The report then went on to list remedial actions already taken by the District and further provided; " [t]he appropriate licensing or supervising authority may take additional action as a result of this investigation."

> member's action or lack thereof, the student was placed in harm. The IAIU's investigation could not "conclusively determine that Ms. Wilson, who was in charge of the class, had knowledge of these incidents."
>
> Upon receipt of the IAIU findings the District conducted an investigation into the matter.

The report then goes on to describe the other documents reviewed, provided detailed recitations of the content of each of the six social worker referral forms, and summaries of interviews conduct of the two reluctant students, substitute teacher Johnson, social worker Stewart, principal Glover, vice principal Ebron and Respondent. After describing substitute teacher Johnson's initial report to Ebron, Takyi's report states:

> After speaking to Ms. Johnson, Ms. Ebron began a school level investigation. To start, Ms. Ebron and social worker Ms. Camisha Stewart met with [N.B.] In this meeting he reported that he and [K.L] kissed during lunch time…that [K.L.] invited him to join the "nasty team" and play a "nasty game" which involved "show[ing] their private parts to each other under the table...During the investigation led by Ms. Ebron, the students were asked whether Ms. Wilson was in the room or whether she was aware of what was happening and Ms. Ebron recalled that all students acknowledged that Ms. Wilson was in the classroom during the times the interactions occurred.[9]

[9] The evidence submitted at arbitration establishes that Ebron did not conduct an investigation. Both Ebron and Stewart testified that the September 25 meetings of Stewart and the six students was not an "investigation." Ebron testified Stewart more accurately engaging in an "asking" of what happened. The Vice Principal initially testified that she could not recall being present during any interview of students by Stewart, but changed her testimony and stated that she believes she may have been present for four of the interviews. Stewart initially testified that Ebron may have been present for some of her interviews, but also testified that Ebron was not present when she met with students. All six of the Referral Forms completed by Stewart state that Ebron was present during the interviews. As a result, I find that Ebron was present during the interviews of at least four of the students by Stewart.

The report further provides that in her telephone interview of Glover, the principal opined that he believed Respondent should have had knowledge of the incidents, and that when he called Respondent to apprise her of the events that had unfolded, Respondent told the administrators that she had never heard of "nasty team" or nasty game".

In its description of the interview of Respondent the report provides that Respondent:

> indicated that "the only time [I] heard of nasty team was when [I] was interviewed by [an IAIU] case worker." However, this statement conflicted with her statement made earlier in an interview with District representatives, Ms. Wilson stated that while on leave Principal Glover and vice principal Ebron called her on the day the incidents came to light and "asked if [I] knew of students touching each other. I said no."

The report then concludes with a section entitled "Recommended Action" and therein provides:

> Based on the findings, Ms. Wilson was in the classroom while male and female students engaged in inappropriate physical activity, which included looking at and touching one another's genitalia. Although Ms. Wilson claims that she knew nothing about the incidents that took place in her classroom during instruction, students attested not only to her presence in the classroom, but that on some occasions she addressed students' behavior and warned students about actions that were linked to nasty team and nasty game. As such, I recommend the District pursue tenure charges for termination against Ms. Lydia Wilson for neglect of duty that allowed students to engage in sexually explicit behavior.

Dr. Wayne Threlkeld

Dr. Threlkeld was called by the District as an expert on teacher classroom management. He testified that he reviewed all of the evidence contained in the "Statement of Evidence Under Oath" submitted in support of the tenure charges, and that in reviewing the matter, he understood the facts to be those reported in the social worker referral forms and that Respondent's classroom was accurately reflected in drawings and photographs presented to him by the District. Threlkeld further testified that he did not physically observe the classroom, does not know if the pictures of the classroom he reviewed accurately represented the state of the room at the time the nasty game conduct is alleged to have occurred, and does not know if the dimensions on the drawings he reviewed are accurate.[10] Nor did he interview any of the individuals involved. Threlkeld concluded that based upon his review of the materials presented to him and his education and years of experience as a teacher, school administrator and superintendent, that due to the proximity of Respondent to the student's involved in the nasty game conduct under the table, it would have been "about impossible" for Respondent not to have seen the behavior; particularly when students went under the table. A teacher with 16 years of experience monitoring classroom activities would have seen the behavior reported by the students, Threlkeld stated. If Respondent did not see the conduct, Threlkeld continued, such would mean that she was in such a "parallel universe" as to be totally unaware of what was going on in the classroom; conduct contrary to one of the tenants of good teaching.

Respondent's Witnesses

[10] Because his opinions are largely based upon his assumptions as to the accuracy of the contents of the Social Worker Referral Forms and photographs, I find the testimony of Threlkeld to be of little or no value to my resolution of the issue of Respondent's presence during any sexual conduct by the students.

Respondent has taught in the District for 12 years, four years of which was first grade. She did not know the administrators or students at the Quitman school prior to her working there. Her first day of work at Quitman was September 1. She had approximately 21 students in her class. She testified that prior to her going out on leave on September 21 she did not observe any inappropriate conduct, any genital exposure or any mouth to genital contact by students. Nor did she receive any complaints from parents about such conduct occurring in her classroom and no students talked about any such conduct during her classroom circle times.

Respondent recalled that the first she learned of any inappropriate behavior of her students was when she was called by principal Glover during the time she was out on leave. Respondent testified that Glover asked her if she was aware of any children allegedly acting inappropriately in her classroom and she responded that she was not aware of any such conduct. She recalled that during that first conversation the principal informed her that she would be contacted by a state investigator. She further testified that Glover did not ask her specifically about the "nasty team." During her time off she was called a second time by Glover on which occasion they discussed when Respondent would be returning to work. During that second conversation Respondent again told the principal she had nothing to do with the incident that happened.

Respondent returned November 9 and took over the teaching of another class (referred to as Ms. Wiley's class). She was told by school administration that due to low enrollment, the school had reduced its first grade classes from four to three, and that her old class had been combined with Ms. Wiley's class (Wiley having been sent to the "rubber room") and some of the students from her original class were assigned to other classrooms. Respondent recalled that she met with the state investigator soon after she returned and testified that following her November 9 return to work she taught for about two and a half months before she was informed that tenure charges were being brought against her and she was suspended without pay.

Esquilin was offered by Respondent as an expert in issues regarding child sexualized behavior and the interviewing of children engaging in, or allegedly engaging in, those activities. Following testimony on her education, professional body of work and related experience, Esquilin was accepted by the District and by the undersigned as an expert.

Esquilin reviewed all of the documents submitted by the District in support of its tenure charges and the evidence submitted in the District's case in chief at the hearing, including testimony of Ebron, Stewart, Glover, Johnson and Threlkeld, and offered the opinion that the statements by the students involved in this matter and the related content of the social worker referral forms are not reliable.

In this regard Esquiline testified, the first reports of conduct occurred, according to substitute teacher Johnson, after recess during circle time (or rug time), and such a circumstance is problematic as it sets the stage for "contamination." Instead of separating the students as soon as the subject was raised and thereby preserving the opportunity to independently interview each student, Johnson let the students go on about the conduct and allowed other students to hear what others had to say. At the age of these students, Esquilin explained, if this type of conduct (exposure and mouth to genital conduct)

"happened for real," the children would be focused on the conduct itself and not the peripherals of what adult may or may not be present. According to Esquilin, when subject to questioning about such conduct by an adult, children want not to be blamed and can be influenced to answer questions in a way consistent with the agenda of the adult questioner. In Esquilin's view, it was apparent from Johnson's own testimony about the circle time conversation that Johnson was very concerned about clarifying which adult was present during the conduct, and it is likely that the subject of what adult may have been present at the time of the conduct was initially raised by Johnson. Thus, Esquilin testified:

> ...What one child says can be picked up by another one and then another one so you don't know at that point you would have wanted to separate the children immediately and not continue that discussion in the classroom, but it apparently continued enough that she got all kinds of statements from a number of different children. It's unclear who said what first that suggested a number of different kinds of sexualized behavior that has gone on for some period of time.
> What was most apparent to me about what she said was – her questioning the children about who was present. It did seem that she was very concerned, from the testimony I read, that she not be held responsible.
> Now, from my experience with children when they are engaged in sexual behavior with each other as alleged in this situation, they are focused on what's going on between them, that's the central issue that they are focused on, not what I would call or what's called in the literature, peripheral detail; who is in the room, what so-and-so was wearing and so forth so – but Ms. Johnson's, what seems to me from her statement, suggestions that there was questioning of the children before that, because the first report from the children before that, because the first report from the children was not who was present, the first report was that it actually happened outside on the playground and there's no report of who was present there, but suddenly in this conversation in the classroom, that's all this conversation is about, which adult was present and so it seems to me that it's at least likely, I'm not going to say it happened, I wasn't there, but I'm saying it's at least likely that the question of who was present and not her and the previous teacher was introduced by Ms. Johnson, since that was clearly a major concern of hers and when children are being questioned about behavior that they know there's some problem with, they are eager to get out of getting in trouble so they are very vulnerable to being pushed in one direction or another in questioning, because most children by this age when they come into a situation where someone's questioning them about sexual behavior, feel like they are being blamed and in fact, what is being reported in the testimony is that some child is saying that child tried to get somebody else to do this so there's – and children being identified as having been involved in behavior that they would regard as something they shouldn't be doing and now you have an adult asking about it so that's a point at which children are very malleable to being pressured in one way or another to being what the agenda of the adult so that's why so much of the effort in training is about decreasing that anxiety level, creating rapport in general with a child trying to not have the child feel pressured whether by the adult or other children so that their account can emerge as spontaneously as possible and it seemed to me that scenario being described by Ms. Johnson, it seemed to me she was very anxious, and her anxiety is very understandable, but I think it could easily have impacted what the children said.

On the topic of Johnson, Esquilin was thereafter asked:

Q. Is it your opinion that that initial rug time incident with Ms. Johnson could have corrupted the statements thereafter given by those children?

A. Absolutely, its my impression that that could have happened.

Q. And is it your opinion that children engaged in sexual behavior – and I want to make sure I understand the peripheral issue – may not be able to tell which adult is in the class when they were engaged in that game?

A. It's my opinion that if that behavior were taking place as has been explained, if in fact, it was happening, they would have been preoccupied with what they were doing among each other and they might have checked, looked over to see who was > watching, but the focus was not on who was in the classroom. I think, unless that person then interacted with the child, the focus was on just making sure no adult is watching while we do whatever we are doing, which we are not supposed to be doing so it's my understanding there were a number of adults in that classroom from the beginning of the school year until that time in the Circle Time and it's my understanding from what allegedly was said, that this was an ongoing activity. Whatever it was, whatever had happened, its described by the kids as something that happened repeatedly so its my impression that if it was happening repeatedly, the focus was on the activity, not what adult was there and what that adult was doing at the time that they were doing, except, that person wasn't looking at them so to that extent, I believe they checked it out so I believe there were more than one persons said it happened at recess, that say there was no question that it was at recess, it's quite possible to me that this total focus on Ms. Wilson was really the result of Ms. Johnson's focus on her questioning them to make sure that they wouldn't say she was present.

Esquilin testified that the note written by Johnson the class period following the student's circle time and given to school administration is important because it is the first memorialization of what the children allegedly said and was written close in time to the event.

Esquilin noted that the testimony of District witnesses is confused as to whether or not Ebron was present for some or all of social worker Stewart's interviews of the six children. In this regard, Esquilin continued, it is not good practice to have two adults present during an interview with a young child about sexual conduct as such creates an intimidating atmosphere.

As for the questioning by social worker Stewart, Esquilin testified, although Stewart may have had her standard six or seven questions in her head, - questions that are not inappropriate questions in and of themselves - it is typically important to have some form of contemporaneous record of what questions are asked when, and what answers were offered to each question. Is is important not to ask leading questions and to spend enough time with the child to build a rapport. By using the "Finding Words" technique of interviewing children, the whole point is to not direct the child to a result, but to let the child become comfortable so the child can unload his or her burden. Reviewing the social worker's testimony and the manner in which she completed her referral forms, Stewart did not use such a technique. In this regard, Esquilin testified, according to Stewart she pulled each of the six children from class individually between 2:30 and 3:10 p.m. on September 25. As a result, at most, Stewart spent no more than five minutes with each child, not enough time to bring the child to a comfortable place of conversation. Typically, the time necessary to conduct an effective interview is at least fifteen to thirty minutes, according to Esquilin. Additionally, it is apparent that Stewart did not complete her referral forms at the time of her interviews; instead waiting until after they were all complete before attempting to memorialize the conversations. Such a practice results in forgetting the order in which questions were asked for each child and the answers each child offered.

In reviewing Stewart's entries on the six social worker's referral forms and manner in which the interviews were conducted as reflected by the content of those forms, Esquilin testified:

> ...Then you have to be able to, without leading, basically ask them about what has happened with those body parts and so there's a sequence of things that you need to do in order to get some reliable information. The questions have to be asked, this is very important, in a non-suggestive, non-leading way. You can't say to the child, and she testified in at least two situations, I think, that she said to the child, we know you were involved because so-and-so said you were involved.

> That's like one of the biggest no-no's that we dealt with in those cases in the 80's. You can't tell a child, basically, somebody else has already identified you, now tell us what happened, because that puts the child in a position to having to say no, that's not true and now I'm either badmouthing my friend or telling you what you believe is wrong. It pressures children. You can't ask children questions, isn't this what happened. You can't suggest the series of events.
> Now again there's no contemporaneous report. There's just the only report that's given is what the children allegedly said, not how they were asked and not their exact words so the reports by the social worker basically, are reporting over and over again and all six kids are saying the same thing. It's doubtful that if you interview six children individually in a non leading way that you would get identical statements so it strongly suggests that the way the kids were questioned and the short way that they were questioned, produced the same information over and over again and that's a problem.

Position of the School District

The District argued that Respondent was so disengaged from her class as to allow six and seven-year old students to repeatedly engage in inappropriate sexual behavior, including four instances of mouth-to-genital contact, in her presence over a twelve-day period. According to the District, the children's' statements are competent evidence of the activity occurring at the time Respondent was present. Although she was not found guilty by the IAIU of statutory neglect or inadequate supervision, the District argued, the IAIU found that inappropriate sexual behavior took place. Regardless, the District maintained, the District necessarily holds its teachers to a higher standard than merely not to violate criminal statues in the classroom. According to the District, Respondent was found by the preponderance of evidence to have either harmed or placed these children in harm's way which constitutes conduct unbecoming.

The crux of the decision in this case, the District asserted, falls squarely upon the admissibility and weights ascribed to statements of first grade students to their school social worker, who then recorded them on Social Worker Referral Forms, stating that they participated in genital exposure and mouth-to-genital contact with each other in the classroom during a twelve-day period while Respondent was present. Under the AAA rules the arbitrator may consider evidence relevant and material to the dispute and although he need not following the rules of evidence, the rules may provide guidance. Here, the District maintained, New Jersey rule of evidence 803(c) 27 providing for the admission of statements of children relating to a sexual offense should be followed. Moreover, as held by the New Jersey Supreme Court, spontaneous out of court statements by children regarding sexual matters are highly credible because children lack sexual experience. The determining factor with respect to reliance on children's statements regarding sexual activity is whether the statements are trustworthy considering the totality of the circumstances. Circumstances including; the spontaneity of statements, consistency of repetition, lack of motive to fabricate, mental state of the child speaking, use of words unexpected of a child of a similar age, the interrogation and manipulation by adults. Here, the District asserted, the six children spontaneously told substitute teacher Johnson about students kissing and touching in response to her question; "How was recess?" In response to social workers Stewart's questions, the children consistently responded that they were subjected to peer pressure to join the nasty game and consistently described the process by which they exposed themselves and each stated that Respondent was in the classroom when the conduct was going on. Importantly, the District continued, the children who engaged in mouth to genital contact self identified and identified the others who engaged in such conduct.

Nor did any of the students have reason to fabricate; as no witness identified any outstanding problem between Respondent and any of the children. There was no "interrogation" of the children by Stewart. Rather, the evidence establishes that Stewart used the same procedure approved by Respondent's expert witness. In this regard, Stewart used the same set of non-leading questions she always uses when interviewing students; questions the Respondent's expert testified were all appropriate. Stewart has a Masters degree in Social Work with a concentration in Children and Family and a sub-concentration in School Settings and has been interviewing students at the school for five years. Moreover, the District pointed out, the investigator who completed the IAIU Repost, Tamika Cherry, is trained in the "Finding Words" technique endorsed by the Respondent's expert, and she found that mouth to genital contact occurred in the classroom when Respondent was present.

Importantly, the IAIU finding of "Not Established" includes a finding that the children were harmed or placed at risk of harm in Respondent's class. Considering all of the circumstances, the District argued, the Social Worker Referral Forms satisfy the standard of trustworthiness and are admissible for their truth.

In regard to the Respondent's assertion the the "Residuum Rule" prevents the introduction of the social worker referral forms, - a rule that requires that notwithstanding the admission of hearsay evidence, some legally competent evidence must also exist sufficient to provide assurance of reliability – the District argued that the argument must fail. In this regard, the District asserted, the student statements are not hearsay as they constitute competent and admissible evidence in their own right. As a result, on their own, the statements offer the assurance of reliability and avoidance of arbitrariness sought by the residuum rule and are, of their own accord, admissible pursuant to exceptions to the hearsay rule.

The student statements establish that students engaged in sexual activity in the classroom when Respondent was present and Respondent testified that she was not aware of any such conduct. Such constitutes competent and compelling evidence of Respondent's unbecoming conduct.

In regard, to Respondent's claim she has a right to confront the student witnesses, the District argued, the Sixth Amendment right to confrontation does not apply to a non criminal case such as this.

Finally, the District asserted, the conclusions of Respondent's witness that statements of students are unreliable should not be given weight. Dr. Esquilin testified that it is possible that students could have spontaneously provided information about the nasty game in response to Johnsons' question; "How was recess?" And Johnson repeatedly and consistently testified that that is all she asked the students other than eventually asking; "do your parents know?" Moreover, Esquilin confirmed that the questions asked the students by Stewart were proper and there is nothing in the record to suggest that the subject of mouth to genital contact was discussed by the students other than in the one-on-one interviews with Stewart. In this latter regard, the District noted, even Dr. Esquilin testified that if any child was interviewed individually without any group discussion beforehand and raised such a subject, "it is likely to have happened."

The District has shown that Respondent's disengagement from her students resulted in repeated sexual activities by students in her presence and with her knowledge. Such constitutes conduct unbecoming warranting dismissal.

Position of Respondent

Respondent argued that although the arbitrator has a wide latitude in determining the admissibility and relevance of evidence, the arbitrator's decision in such regard must be made based upon considerations of fundamental fairness. Here, Respondent asserted, the District's case is based upon; (1) the alleged statements of six students made to the school social worker and the social worker's completion of Social Worker Referral Forms, (2) a report on the results of an IAIU investigation and (3) an internal investigation including the interviews of only two of the students allegedly involved wherein the students either denied knowledge of the incidents or were non-responsive during the interview. The District failed to call any of the six students involved, or the IAIU investigator and made no showing that the students or investigator were not available. Under such circumstances, Respondent maintained, the District's case consists entirely of inadmissible hearsay and denied Respondent the opportunity to cross examine the students or state investigator; a denial of fundamental fairness.

Here, Respondent continued, the District offered only hearsay evidence and even if the residuum rule is applied, the District offered no residuum of competent evidence to support the admission of the District's hearsay evidence. As for the District's reliance upon New Jersey Rule of Evidence 803(c)27 to support its claim that the Social Worker

Referral Forms are admissible as an exception to the hearsay rule, Respondent argued, that rule of evidence is limited to cases of alleged sexual abuse and there is no such allegation here. Moreover, even if the rule was applicable to the issues raised in this arbitration, the District failed to comply with the requirements of the Rule. In this regard, Respondent explained, the District failed to provide Respondent the means to contact the students involved in a timely manner; the District did not call the students to testify at the hearing, the District did not show that the students were unavailable and – like the requirement of the residuum rule - the District failed to offer admissible evidence corroborating the act of sexual abuse. In this latter regard, Respondent argued, the District's claim that corroboration is shown in the consistency of the statements of the students as reported by the social worker on the Social Worker Referral Forms must fail. As established by the testimony of Respondent's expert witness, the very consistency of the student statements reflects the unreliability of the statements and likelihood that the reports of students were contaminated.

Even if the Social Worker Referral Forms were admissible as an exception to the hearsay rule, Respondent continued, the Forms are unreliable. In this regard, Respondent asserted, the statements reported by students on the forms were the result of contamination that began with Ms. Johnson at circle time. As explained by expert witness Esquilin, it is wholly unlikely that children of ages 6 and 7 would have "spontaneously" provided the identities of which children were involved, the detailed descriptions of conduct engaged in, or the presence and location of Respondent at the times the students engaged in the conduct described under the tables. Instead, Respondent asserted, the fact that Johnson claimed more than ten times in her testimony that the children assured her – without her even asking questions – that Respondent and not Johnson was present during the conduct, must be considered alarming.

Similarly, Respondent argued, the Social Worker Referral Forms are also unreliable. The forms do not reflect the actual questions asked each student in the order the questions were asked and do not memorialize the actual words offered by students in their answers. The Forms do not contain the unedited statements made by the children. Instead the forms use words of adults, not six year olds and are likely summaries containing embellishments. Additionally, the record establishes that there was no way the social worker could conduct effective, individual interviews of the students in the short period of 40 minutes the District claims; particularly where social worker Stewart testified that she walked back and forth from the library to the classroom to get each student. Nor is there evidence that Stewart made any assessments of the students to determine if they were capable of distinguishing between the truth and a lie or their ability to sequence events and the social worker did not ask the students any questions relating to any efforts made to keep the reported conduct secret.

The District's internal investigation should be given no weight, Respondent argued. The investigation was predisposed. The investigator spoke with only two students and received no information from the students implicating Respondent, and the investigator failed to interview any of the other students in the class or any of the many adults who were in the classroom or in the cafeteria or on the playground. As reflected by the testimony of the District's investigator Takyi, the internal investigation was a rehash of the District's incident report, the Social Worker Referral Forms and the IAIU findings.

The District also failed to establish that the charges, if proven, warranted the dismissal of Respondent. Thus, the Respondent argued, the District returned Respondent to the classroom notwithstanding that all of the allegations here were raised and investigated. Finally, Respondent asserted, after the District returned Respondent to work and assigned her to the "Rubber Room" just prior to the last day of hearing in the matter, the District marked her as AWOL for the days she attended the tenure hearing while she was on payroll and was notified that she may use her personal days for such missed days if she has them. Such is retaliation and denies Respondent the right to assist in her defense at the hearing.

Discussion

Introduction

The District's charges here are narrow; that Respondent engaged in conduct unbecoming by failing to observe her students engaging in certain sexual-related behavior (student genital exposure and student mouth to genital contact) and failed to appropriately respond to such behavior. The District did not offer the students as witnesses at the hearing, did not show that the students were unavailable to testify and did not offer any other statements of the students that would be considered otherwise reliable evidence. Nor did the District offer any other form of competent or trustworthy evidence that the student conduct took place when Respondent was present.

The primary "evidence" offered and relied upon by the District to show that sexual behavior may have taken place in Respondent's classroom when Respondent was present, is: (1) the testimony of substitute teacher Johnson about statements made to Johnson during "circle time" after recess on September 25; (2) the testimony of school social worker Stewart about statements allegedly uttered by students later in the afternoon of September 25 during interviews and (3) the Social Worker Referral Forms completed by the social worker documenting her September 25 interviews of students. I find that such testimony of Johnson and Stewart, as well as the Social Worker Referral Forms completed by Stewart are; (a) hearsay and (b) that even treating such proffers as admissible, are otherwise unreliable for purposes of establishing the presence of Respondent during any conduct that may or may not have occurred in classroom.

As for the District's reliance upon the IAIU Investigation Report and its own internal investigation, I find in regard to the former that the District reliance is unsound and as to the latter, the internal report is largely based upon the content of the unreliable Social Worker Referral Forms and additionally does not reflect a full and fair investigation of the issues raised by the tenure charges.

Considering such, I find the record evidence is insufficient to establish by a preponderance of the evidence that any incident took place in the classroom when Respondent was present.

The Testimony of Johnson

Johnson's testimony about what students told her is hearsay. Even if considered as admissible, her testimony was not reliable as to the determinative issue of whether student "nasty game" conduct took place when Respondent was present.

Based upon her demeanor and the content of her testimony, I find that on both; (a) September 25, 2015 in regard to her own interaction with her students and (b) the day she testified in the instant matter about such, Johnson's primary concern was that she not be found to have been present at the time the students engaged in the nasty game. I do not credit the testimony of Johnson that she did not ask students questions about the nasty game conduct during the September 25 circle time, or that students repeatedly and "spontaneously" stated that Johnson was not present and that Respondent was present during the nasty game conduct without Johnson either overtly or subtly leading them toward such statements.

I found Johnson's testimony to be contrived. Considering: (1) that September 25 was the fourth day Johnson had been teaching the class – amounting to a full 25% of the student days in the school year to that point - and there was ample opportunity for students to have engaged in the conduct described when Johnson was present; (2) that the initial report of the students to Johnson was of two students kissing earlier that day during recess and it is not believable that the students transitioned into describing the under-the-table conduct and then further transitioned into making assurances that (a) Johnson was not present and (b) that Respondent was present - the issue upon which the tenure charges focus - without some influence being exercised by Johnson; (3) Johnson's insistent repetition of unsolicited testimony at the hearing that students stated she was not there when the "nasty game" conduct occurred and (4) the credible testimony of the Respondent's expert witness as to the suggestibility of children of the age involved, I am persuaded that Johnson embellished her testimony in an effort to place herself in a positive light. I further find that any statements made by students to Johnson or later to social worker Stewart about the presence of Respondent during the conduct at issue was to a significant extent the product of intended or unintended influence on the students by Johnson and are not reliable accounts of fact.

Stewart

I find both the testimony of Stewart and the Social Worker Referral Forms drafted by Stewart are hearsay, (the Forms being double hearsay) and neither are admissible for the truth of the matters stated on their own or under any exception to the hearsay rule. Even if considered under a more relaxed standard for admission recognized on occasion in arbitration, I find that neither Stewart's testimony nor the Forms she completed reflect the degree of reliability necessary to evidence that Respondent was present during any "nasty game" or other sexual conduct of the students.

The manner in which Stewart interviewed the six students involved may very well have been appropriate for her and the school's initial purpose. One cannot fault the school for wanting to get on this matter promptly and promote the best interests of the children as quickly as possible. However, one size does not fit all when it comes to interviews of children, and conversation that may be adequate for the school to determine if psychological or medical aid is recommended for a student or for purposes of making an initial determination that further investigation is warranted, is a far cry from the fairly and competently conducted interviews that would be necessary as part of a full and fair investigation required for purposes of supporting the dismissal of a tenured teacher. Thus, the initial non-investigation, non-interrogation, non-interview "asking" of students what happened by social worker Stewart may have served an important function at the time, however such an "asking" is not, and does not become, an effective and adequate "investigation" by default simply because the District needs an investigation at a later time. It is plain from the record here that the District applied such a default process by relying upon the quick and truncated "asking" by Stewart as the basis of its referral to the state and, importantly, as primary support; (a) for the finding in the District's internal investigation that Respondent was present when students engaged in the nasty game and (b) for the District's tenure charges. The results of Stewart's process of asking are not reliable bases for a finding that Respondent was present in the classroom when the nasty game was ongoing.

In addition to her testimony being hearsay, Stewart did not reflect any significant independent recollection of her interviews of students. Instead, her testimony was largely a recitation of what was written on her Referral Forms. Also, Stewart could not clearly explain when she conducted her interviews, what information she had been provided prior to conducting the interviews, or if any other adult was present with her during her interviews of students. In this latter regard, Stewart testified variously that Ebron may have been present for the interviews, that Ebron may have been present for some of the interviews and that Stewart conducted the interviews alone. However, the Social Worker's statement on all six of her Referral Forms provides in the "Actions Taken..." section "SW, Mr. Glover, and Ms. Ebron discussed the matter in detail sharing conversations SW and Ms. Ebron held with students."[11] [11] Considering all of the evidence on the question, including Ebron's testimony that she was present during at least four of the interviews, I find that Ebron was present for Stewart's interviews of at least four of the students. I also find, consistent with the testimony of the Respondent's expert witness, that such presence of another adult during the social worker's questioning of students increased the likelihood that the students would be more interested in getting the meeting over with than providing accurate and reliable responses to questions.

As for the completed Referral Forms authored by Stewart themselves, they do not reflect specific questions to each student and verbatim answers individually offered, but rather largely consist of summaries of what was reported collectively by the students. Thus, the narrative provides; "[a]fter further exploration students shared that K invited other students to play the 'Nasty Game,'" (emphasis added) and, the narratives are so similar to one another as to reflect a compilation of information and do not reflect the variety of descriptions that one would expect from six individual first-grade students. Additionally, Stewart's testimony about her interviews reflect that she began some of them by stating that the student being interviewed had been identified as having been kissing another student and began others of them by telling the student being interviewed that Stewart had been informed the student was part of the nasty team and then asking the student what the team was. I find, again consistent with the credited testimony of Dr. Esquilin, that such preliminary statements by the adult interviewer in such a context would not create the non-threatening, open rapport necessary for students to accurately and reliably describe events.

Finally, in regard to the content of the referral forms, as reflected in my discussion of the testimony of Johnson above, by the time Stewart met with these students, their impressions on whether or not Respondent – as opposed to Johnson – was present during any "nasty game" conduct had already been subjected to adult influence, and, I find, was more likely than not corrupted by the students' circle time conversation with Johnson.

Based upon these considerations, I do not find either the testimony of Stewart, or the Referral Forms she completed, to be reliable evidence on the issue of Respondent's presence in the classroom at the time of any "nasty game" conduct.

The Students did not Spontaneously Report the Presence of Respondent

The District argued that the testimony of Stewart and the Referral Forms she completed were not hearsay, but that even if they were hearsay they would be admissible because the reported statements of the students that Respondent was present for the "nasty game" conduct were spontaneous, not made prior to their meeting with Stewart, and were made independently of one another. I am not persuaded by the District's argument. What is made plain form the testimony of Johnson is; (a) that the students told her about something and what they told her was of such a nature that Johnson did not want to be found to have been present at the time of its occurrence, and (b) that there was significant and detailed discussion by the students about the nasty game in the presence of one another during circle time immediately after recess and before any interviews of the students conducted by Stewart. Contrary to the argument of the District, I do not find that during their subsequent discussions with the social worker the students autonomously reported genital exposure and mouth to genital conduct in Respondent's classroom. Rather than being the result of students independently engaging in or witnessing such conduct, I find that it is more likely than not that any details of genital exposure and mouth to genital contact that may have been expressed to the social worker were the result of the students' shared experience of the circle-time conversation that took place only an hour to two hours prior to meeting with the social worker.

In finding that the full description and detail of the "nasty game" and not just details of students kissing in the playground were openly discussed at circle time prior to the social worker meetings, I rely upon the testimony of principal Glover who testified that Johnson provided Ebron and himself such details when Johnson initially reported the matter to Glover and Ebron in the hallway outside of the classroom on September 25, the testimony of Ebron that she was told by Johnson in the hallway of the details of the nasty game and identity of the six students involved, and the testimony of Johnson who testified that during circle-time the students talked about a student "going down on" another student and a student kissing a boy and touching a boy and the rules of the nasty game.

Based upon such considerations, I find that the record fails to support the District's claim that the students "spontaneously" reported that conduct took place while Respondent was in the classroom, or the District's claim that the children "independently" reported to Stewart that sexual conduct took place when Respondent was present. As a consequence, I am not persuaded by the District's argument that independent reporting by students be found reliable and separately admissible, non-hearsay evidence that Respondent was present in the classroom when the nasty game was going on.

The IAIU Report

The District's Internal Investigation Report states (and the District repeatedly implied throughout the instant matter) that the IAIU finding of "'Not Established' means that there existed the potential risk of harm and that due to staff member's action or lack thereof, the student was placed in harm" and suggested that the IAIU report reflects that Respondent was found by a preponderance of the evidence to have either harmed or placed children in harms way. I find that the IAIU report concludes neither. First, as explained by the New Jersey Department of Children and Families;

> An allegation shall be "Not Established" if there is NOT a preponderance of the evidence that a child is an abused or neglected child (i.e., child abused or neglect did NOT occur), BUT evidence indicates that the child was harmed or was placed at risk of harm.
> (Emphasis added)

Thus, contrary to the argument of the District and the finding of the District's internal investigation, the IAIU report did not find a preponderance of the evidence establishing anything relating to Respondent, and whatever evidence may have been disclosed of child harm or placement at risk reflected in the IAIU report was limited to the level of "indicates." Considering context, where the Department had previously used the term "preponderance of the evidence" in the very same sentence, I read the Department's use of the word "indicates" to mean "suggest" – as in; the results of the investigation suggests, but was insufficient to prove by a preponderance of the evidence, that children were harmed or placed in harm.

Second, and most importantly in this regard, the January 7, 2016 report states that the:

> Institutional Abuse Investigation Unit's findings have not been adjudicated and should not be considered binding or conclusive. No determination as to the accuracy of the allegations, statements or accounts of the incidents has been made.

Rather than heed the admonitions by the state, the District inappropriately treated the IAUI report – as it did the Social Worker Referral Forms – as conclusive evidence that the conduct of the six children at issue took place in the presence of Respondent.

The District's Internal Investigation

The District's Internal Investigation Findings Report relies heavily upon the content of the Social Workers Referral Forms. The only direct evidence of the narrow issues raised in the tenure charges disclosed during the District's own investigation were statements by two students, KL and AJ that provided no evidence to support the tenure charges and Respondent's statement that she witnessed no such conduct in her classroom. In regard to the two students, the Report provides:

> D. KL, Student, Age 6
> KL acknowledges that Ms. Wilson was her teacher but she did not know if Ms. Wilson knew about the "nasty team." KL also denied ever hearing about nasty team. She indicated she forgot who may have known about the nasty team.
> E. AJ, Student, Age 7
> AJ stated that Ms. Wilson was his teacher. AJ refused to talk about "nasty team" and when asked whether he had heard of the team before, he responded "Are we still talking about that?" and covered his face with his hands.

In addition, the internal investigation included interviews of school administrators Ebron and Glover, social worker Stewart and substitute teacher Johnson. Johnson stated that when she was initially told of the "kissing game" conduct, the students told her it had been going on by KL "on a regular basis during lunch time," and that the students explained other events that had taken place, including that "KL pulled her pants down." But the District's did not investigate such reported lunch-time conduct. As for the others interviewed by the District investigator, a review of the investigation report reflects that the statements of Stewart and the two school administrators were primarily derived from the content of the Social Worker Referral Forms.

The District's investigation was otherwise inadequate as a basis to show the truth of the District's tenure charges. The investigator made no effort to interview other students about what may have been said or not said during the September 25 circle time, or other of the numerous adults who were in the classroom on a regular basis, or other adults who were supervising children during their lunch time or recess.

Based upon such considerations, I agree with the assertion of Respondent that the outcome of the District's internal investigation was to a significant degree predetermined. In any event, I find that the District investigation disclosed no reliable evidence showing that Respondent was present during student "nasty game" conduct, and the internal report's conclusion that Respondent was in the classroom when students played the "nasty game" is based primarily upon non admissible evidence that even when considered by the undersigned is unreliable.

Findings

An initially unreliable body of evidence, such as the Social Worker Referral Forms here, does not gain reliability from its mere repetition. No matter that the Forms were cited by Stewart as true, subsequently relied upon by Ebron and Glover as being true and taken by the District's internal investigator and expert at trial as being true; the initial evidentiary failings of Stewart's "askings" of the students and the failings of her completed Referral Forms, remain.

Considering the full record in this matter including all testimony, evidence and argument of the parties, I find that the District has failed to establish either the truth of its unbecoming conduct charge against Respondent, or that Respondent engaged in any conduct that otherwise warrants her termination, suspension or reduction in salary[12] and as remedy hereby:

ORDER

The subject tenure charges against Respondent Lydia Wilson are dismissed.

The District is ORDERED to:

1. Rescind its Suspension and/or discharge of Respondent and promptly offer Respondent reinstatement to her former position.
2. Make Respondent whole for any and all losses of pay, seniority and other benefits she may have suffered as a result of her suspension and discharge from the date of her suspension to the date of her reinstatement by the District.
3. Expunge all record of her suspension and/or discharge from the District's files.

Dated: February 1, 2017

Timothy J Brown, Esquire
Arbitrator

I, Timothy J Brown, affirm that I have executed this document as my Decision in Agency Docket Case No. 174-6/16 relating to tenure charges against Lydia Wilson on Wednesday, February 1, 2017.

Timothy J Brown

[12] Respondent's attendance at the tenure hearing amounts to school District business in the same way that the attendance at the hearing of teachers, social workers, school and district administrators is school business. As a consequence, I also find that any requirement by the District that Respondent use personal days or other leave for her attendance at the hearings in this matter is inappropriate and Order the District to reinstate any and all leave she may have taken as the result of any such requirement by the District.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF ORANGE	:
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

The petitioning parent appealed the decision of the respondent Board to expel his daughter, L.O., after an incident that began with L.O. wearing a hat in school in violation of the established dress code, and escalated into angry words, threats and aggressive physical behavior towards the school vice principal. The Board's disciplinary committee charged L.O. with violation of several provisions of the school district's Code of Student Conduct, including "Insubordination/Open Defiant Behavior", "Profanity/Inappropriate Language", "Threat to Staff", and "Physical Assault on Staff". Thereafter, the disciplinary committee recommended that L.O. be expelled from school and placed in an out-of-district alternative program; the recommendation was subsequently approved by the full Board. L.O. contended that she should not have been subjected to expulsion, as she was not treated with dignity and respect, and that the vice principal provoked and insulted her when she refused to return L.O.'s hat.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: the Code of Student Conduct and the Student/Parent Handbook were distributed and explained to students at an assembly at the beginning of the school year; L.O.'s assertion that she had never seen these publications and was unaware of the prohibition against headwear was not credible, given the fact that at the beginning of the incident at issue here, the vice principal verbally warned L.O. that she could not wear her hat in school; L.O. continued to wear the hat in disregard of the vice principal's instruction to take it off inside the school building, and became increasingly belligerent after the vice principal took the hat and told her that it would be returned at the end of the school day; L.O. ultimately was restrained by a security officer, but continued to lob profanity and threats of physical harm at the vice principal; L.O.'s behavior was openly defiant of the vice principal's authority; and L.O.'s behavior violated the above provisions of the Code of Student Conduct. The ALJ concluded that the facts of the case fully support the findings and recommendations of the disciplinary committee, and the resulting Board decision to expel L.O. for threatening and assaulting the vice principal. Accordingly, the ALJ affirmed the Board's imposition of the penalty of expulsion.

Upon review, the Commissioner clarified that the penalty had been improperly characterized as "expulsion", but otherwise concurred with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ, and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter for the reasons expressed therein. Accordingly, the petition was dismissed with prejudice.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Petitioner, S.O., filed exceptions.[1]

Upon such review, the Commissioner adopts the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) recommended decision for the reasons expressed therein.[2] Accordingly, the petition is dismissed with prejudice.

ACTING COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

Date of Mailing: 2/07/17

[1] S.O.'s exceptions were not timely filed in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4. Additionally, there is no indication that S.O.'s exceptions were served upon the Board. Accordingly, the exceptions were not considered by the Commissioner.

[2] L.O.'s removal from Orange High School has been improperly characterized as an "expulsion." Under N.J.A.C. 6A:16-1.3, expulsion is defined as "discontinuance of educational services or the discontinuation of payment of educational services for a student." The record in this matter does not support a finding of expulsion, as L.O.'s educational services were not discontinued and she was placed on Home Instruction – following which, the Board proposed L.O.'s placement in an in-district alternative education program with the option of transferring back to Orange High School.

[3] This decision may be appealed to the Superior Court, Appellate Division, pursuant to P.L. 2008, c. 36 (N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9.1).

OAL DKT. NO. EDU 02763-16
AGENCY REF. NO. 12-1/16

S.O. ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILD L.O.,

Petitioner,

v.

CITY OF ORANGE BOARD OF EDUCATION, ESSEX COUNTY,

Respondent.

S.O. on behalf of L.O., petitioner, pro se

Ronald C. Hunt, Esq., for respondent

Record Closed: August 9, 2016 Decided: December 22, 2016

BEFORE JOHN P. SCOLLO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This case arises out of an incident at Orange High School on October 8, 2015, wherein L.O., an eleventh-grade student, and the school's vice principal engaged in a series of discussions about the student's wearing of a hat in the school building, which was prohibited by the school's Code of Student Conduct and the school's Student/Parent Handbook. The discussions allegedly escalated into angry words, threats, and aggressive physical behavior. L.O. was charged with threatening of, disrespectful behavior towards, and attempted assault of the vice principal. On October 22, 2015, a disciplinary/expulsion hearing was held by the Orange Board of Education (BOE) disciplinary committee. Testimony was taken, and thereafter the disciplinary committee recommended that L.O. be expelled from the school and that she be placed in an out-of-district alternative program. On November 10, 2015, the BOE approved the recommendation. By letter dated November 18, 2015, the BOE notified L.O.'s parents of the decision and advised them of L.O.'s right to appeal to the Commissioner of Education. An appeal was timely filed. The Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, transmitted this matter on February 22, 2016, to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on February 24, 2016, as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

The parties engaged in formal discovery. Significant efforts were made to settle the matter over the course of several telephone conferences and face-to-face meetings at the OAL, but were unsuccessful. The hearing was held on August 9, 2016, and the record closed. The undersigned requested and was granted additional time to issue the Initial Decision.

THE ISSUES

(1) Did L.O. commit any acts that were violative of the Code of Student Conduct?

(2) Does the preponderance of the credible evidence support the disciplinary committee's findings and recommendations?

(3) Was the penalty of expulsion supported by the evidence or was it imposed in an arbitrary and capricious manner?

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

The Orange Board of Education's disciplinary committee charged L.O. with disrespectful behavior towards Orange High School vice principal Stefanie Matthews in violation of the following provisions of the Code of Student Conduct: "Insubordination/Open Defiant Behavior"; "Profanity/Inappropriate Language"; "Threat to Staff"; and "Physical Assault on Staff." (R-5 at 25–26.) (Any of the above-mentioned charges would also come under the aegis of Code of Student Conduct at 24 "Disorderly Conduct".)

Vice Principal Stefanie Matthews

Vice principal Stefanie Matthews testified that Orange High School holds an annual assembly at which it distributes and explains the Code of Student Conduct ("Code") (R-5) and the Student/Parent Handbook (R-6) to all students of Orange High School, and that this assembly was held at the beginning of the school year in question. The Code includes a dress code. Matthews testified that on the morning of October 8, 2015, she saw L.O. inside, on the school's second-floor hallway, wearing a hat. She told L.O. to take off the hat, and L.O. removed her hat. A few minutes later she saw L.O. in the hallway wearing the hat, and she removed it from L.O.'s head. L.O. explained that she wanted to wear the hat because it was her birthday. Matthews said she wished L.O. a happy birthday, but reminded L.O. about the school's prohibition against the wearing of any headgear inside the school building. She also told L.O. that she would get the hat back at the end of the school day at 2:40 p.m. Matthews walked away towards a staircase, and L.O. followed her, asking for the hat because her hair was messed up. Matthews said that she helped fix L.O.'s hair twist, told her that it looked fine, and reiterated that the hat would not be given back until 2:40 p.m. Matthews then walked down to the first floor.

A few minutes later Matthews heard security officer William Starks telling someone to go to class. She rounded a corner and saw that Starks was speaking to L.O. Matthews testified that L.O. said in an angry tone, "I want my f-ing hat!" L.O. then saw her and approached her, demanding her hat. L.O. said that she had paid for the hat, and said, "You're going to give me my hat!" as she ran towards Matthews. Matthews testified that because L.O. was running towards her she put her hands up, and L.O. ran into her hands. L.O. tried to snatch her hat away from Matthews. Matthews stated that Starks stepped between Matthews and L.O. while L.O. continued to scream that she wanted her hat. Matthews informed L.O. that she would be suspended for her conduct. Starks then led L.O. down the hall to turn her over to security guard Lisa King, while L.O. continued to scream at Matthews and threatened that she would "beat her ass" and that she was going to "f" her up.

Matthews stated that at no time did L.O. ever say that she was unaware that the school's rules prohibited the wearing of headgear.

Security Officer William Starks

Security officer William Starks was in his second year of employment at Orange High School when the subject incident occurred. His job is to promote safety at the school. He wrote a report regarding the incident that occurred on the morning of October 8, 2015. The report was dated "9/8/15," but Starks corrected the date at the hearing. He testified that on the morning of October 8, 2015, he noticed L.O. walking in the hallway and told her to go to class. L.O. responded by saying that she wanted her "f-ing" hat, in an angry, raised voice. L.O. ran towards Vice Principal Matthews in a manner that Starks characterized as "aggressive." Starks made ready to intervene. He testified that he saw Matthews put up her hands to keep L.O. out of her personal space, and saw L.O. make contact with Matthews's hands. L.O. continued to yell at Matthews. By this time Starks had positioned himself between L.O. and Matthews. He turned L.O. over to security officer Lisa King, who escorted L.O. away from Matthews.

On cross-examination, Starks answered questions about the date of his report and the time of the incident. He also was cross-examined about both actors' demeanor. He testified that Matthews was calm throughout the incident, and that L.O.

became irate. Starks testified that at no time did Matthews engage in verbal abuse of L.O.

Director of Special Services Shelly Harper

Shelly Harper testified that as the director of Special Services she provides students with guidance and provides services to special education students. Regarding L.O., Harper testified that it was her duty to write to L.O.'s parents. She sent a letter dated October 16, 2015, (R-3) advising them of the disciplinary charges brought against L.O. arising out of the October 8, 2015, incident and informing them about their rights at the October 22, 2015, Board of Education expulsion hearing. Harper also wrote a November 18, 2015, letter to L.O.'s parents (R-4) informing them that on November 10, 2015, the Board of Education approved the disciplinary committee's October 22, 2015, recommendation that L.O. be expelled for her conduct. In that letter Harper also stated that L.O. would be on home instruction until placement in another school could be confirmed. She informed L.O.'s parents of their right to appeal to the Commissioner of Education within ninety days. Harper testified that she made several attempts to contact L.O.'s parents. Eventually she spoke with S.O. and explained that it was the school's duty to set up an alternative education program for L.O.

L.O. testified that she went to school on October 8, 2015, her birthday, wearing clothes that were compliant with the school's dress code. She stated that she did not know that wearing a hat inside the school building was prohibited. She added that she had never seen copies of the Code of Student Conduct or the Student/Parent Handbook. L.O. stated that when she walked into the school building she was wearing her hat, and neither Assistant Principal Belton nor the security guard, both of whom were present at the school entrance, asked her to remove her hat. When she went to her first class the teacher did not ask her to remove her hat.

L.O. stated that after class she felt ill and was walking to the nurse's office when she encountered Vice Principal Matthews. Matthews told her to remove her hat and L.O. complied. L.O. stated that the nurse was not in her office, so she decided to go to class. L.O. put her hat back on. She encountered Matthews a second time about five to ten minutes later, and on this occasion Matthews took the hat off her head, telling her she would get it back at 2:40 p.m. Matthews also fixed her hair. L.O. stated that she pleaded for her hat, explaining that it was her birthday, but Matthews refused and walked away. L.O. followed Matthews downstairs and said something that she could not recall. The security guard asked L.O. whom she was talking to "like that." L.O. admitted that she used profanity, but said it was not directed towards Matthews. When speaking with the guard, who was sitting five to ten feet away, L.O. complained, raising her voice, that Matthews wouldn't give her back her "f-ing" hat. Matthews overheard this remark and told L.O. that she was suspended for three days and would not get her hat back at all. L.O. stated that she walked towards Matthews and told her that she paid for the hat, and was going to get her hat back. She then tried to grab the hat, which Matthews was holding in her hand. Starks placed himself between L.O. and Matthews. L.O. admitted that she came into contact with Matthews. King then came over to her.

L.O. claims that she was not treated with dignity and respect, and that when Matthews told her that she would never be able to have her hat back, it was intended to provoke and insult her. She claims that this provocation caused the situation to escalate. L.O. stated that students at the school wore hats inside the building all the time, and that she felt that she was being singled out on October 8, 2015.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Based on the evidence presented at the hearing, as well as on the opportunity to observe the witnesses and assess their credibility, I FIND as FACT the following:

1. The distribution of the Code of Student Conduct (R-5) and the Student/Parent Handbook (R-6) took place at the beginning of the school year in 2015, as it annually takes place (see N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.1(a)(3)) at Orange High School, where the contents of each are explained by school officials. This finding of fact is based on the regularity of the distribution of these publications and Vice Principal Matthews's testimony that the assembly took place at the beginning of the school year. These factors outweigh L.O.'s assertion that she never saw these publications and was unaware of the headwear prohibition. Also, L.O.'s failure to ask Matthews why she would not be allowed to wear her hat in school at their first meeting on October 8, 2015, indicates that L.O. was, in fact, aware of the prohibition.

2. Approximately five to ten minutes after their first meeting on October 8, 2015, a second meeting between L.O. and Matthews occurred. At their second meeting Matthews found L.O. wearing the hat in disregard of Matthews's instruction not to wear the hat inside the school building. Matthews took the hat off L.O.'s head and informed L.O. that the hat would be returned to her at 2:40 p.m., the end of the school day.

3. After the second meeting, L.O. followed Matthews; when Security Officer Starks instructed L.O. to go to class, L.O. used an angry and loud voice, demanding the return of her hat, and L.O. used profanity; and when Matthews heard these words and saw who the speaker was (the third meeting of L.O. and Matthews), she immediately, in the presence of Starks, informed L.O. that she was suspended from school and that the hat would not be returned to her.

4. L.O. approached Matthews demanding her hat and used profanity against her; Matthews put up her hands to preserve her personal space from intrusion by L.O.; and Starks intervened, placing himself between L.O. and Matthews, but not before L.O. made contact with Matthews as L.O. reached out and tried to snatch the hat, which Matthews was holding in her hand. As L.O. was escorted away by Security Officer King, L.O. continued to use profanity and uttered threats of doing physical harm to Matthews.

5. It was L.O., not Matthews, who lost her composure and temper, resulting in L.O.'s disrespectful behavior, her uttering of threats, and her rude, unprivileged, and hostile touching of Matthews. L.O. willfully disregarded the school's rule against wearing headgear inside the school building; willfully disobeyed the direct order of Matthews by putting the hat back on her head within the minutes between their first meeting and their second meeting; and failed to acknowledge the vice principal's authority over her.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

The laws governing the discipline of public-school students are found in N.J.S.A. 18A:37-1 through -37. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-1 obligates students to comply with the school's rules, to pursue the prescribed course of study, and to submit to the authority of the teachers and others in authority over them.

N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2 sets forth the causes for suspension or expulsion of students. This section states that conduct that shall constitute good cause for suspension or expulsion includes, but is not limited to:

> b. Open defiance of the authority of any teacher or person, having authority over him.

N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2.1 states:

> a. Any pupil who commits an assault, as defined pursuant to N.J.S. 2C:12-1, upon a teacher, administrator, board member or other employee of a board of education, acting in the performance of his duties . . . shall be immediately suspended from school consistent with procedural due process pending suspension or expulsion proceedings before the local board of education.

The New Jersey Administrative Code defines terms relevant to this matter in N.J.A.C. 6A:16-1.3:

> "Alternative Education Program" means a comprehensive educational program designed to address the individual learning, behavior, and health needs of students who are not succeeding in the general education program or who have been mandated for removal from general education, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:16-5.5, 5.6 and, as appropriate, 5.7. The alternative education program shall provide a variety of approaches to meet the state-adopted standards, such as, through non-traditional programs, services and methodologies to ensure curriculum and instruction are delivered in a way that enables students to demonstrate the knowledge and skills specified for all students in N.J.A.C. 6A:8.
> "Code of Student Conduct" means standards, policies, and procedures established by district boards of education for positive student development and student behavioral expectations on school grounds, including on school buses or at school-sponsored functions, and, as appropriate, conduct away from school grounds, in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.1.
>
> "Expulsion" means the discontinuance of educational services or the discontinuance of payment of educational services for a student.
>
> "Long-term suspension" means removal of a student for more than 10 consecutive school days from the general education program, or the special education program when the appropriate procedures set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:14-2.8 have been followed, but not the cessation of the student's educational services.
> "Short-term suspension" means removal of a student for one but not more than 10 consecutive school days from the general education program or the special education program, in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:14-2.8, but not the cessation of the student's educational services.

Regulations concerning the "Code of Student Conduct" are set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.1 in pertinent part as follows:

> (a) Each district board of education shall develop, adopt, disseminate, and implement a code of student conduct that establishes standards, policies, and procedures for positive student development and student behavioral expectations > on school grounds and, as appropriate, for conduct away from school grounds.

> . . . .
>
> (3) The code of student conduct shall be disseminated annually to all school staff, students and parents.
>
> . . . .
>
> (c) The code of student conduct shall include, at a minimum:
>
> (1) A description of the students' responsibilities that includes expectations for academic achievement, behavior and attendance, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:32-8 and 12.1; and
> (2) A description of behaviors that result in suspension or expulsion, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2.

In the instant case, the Code of Student Conduct (R-5), which as found above was compiled and distributed by Orange High School in accordance with applicable laws and regulations, contained a student dress code that prohibited the wearing of headgear, including hats, inside the school building. I CONCLUDE that Vice Principal Matthews properly interpreted and enforced the dress code when she stopped L.O. at their first meeting on October 8, 2015, and asked her to remove her hat. L.O., minutes later, placed the hat on her head again. I CONCLUDE that by doing so, she violated the vice principal's direct order not to wear the hat inside the school building, and, therefore, I CONCLUDE that she thereby violated the Code's "Insubordination/Open Defiant Behavior" provision.

Vice Principal Matthews confiscated L.O.'s hat during their second meeting, having found that L.O. was wearing the hat in contradiction of her order not to wear the hat inside the school building. During their third meeting, L.O. used profanity and loudly and angrily demanded that Matthews return her hat. I CONCLUDE that L.O.'s use of profanity and her loud, angry tone violated the Code's "Insubordination/Open Defiant Behavior" provision.

I CONCLUDE that L.O.'s approach towards Vice Principal Matthews, her attempt to snatch the hat from the vice principal's hand, and her touching of the vice principal during this episode violated the Code's "Threat to Staff" and "Physical Assault on Staff" provisions.

I CONCLUDE that L.O.'s repeated verbal threats of physical harm against the vice principal, as she was being escorted away by security officer Lisa King, violated the Code's "Threat to Staff" provision.

I CONCLUDE that the facts fully support the findings and recommendations of the disciplinary committee, and, in turn, the decision of the BOE to expel L.O. for threatening a member of the school's staff (Matthews) so as to reasonably raise a concern for the staff member's safety, and (2) actually assaulting Vice Principal Matthews.

I CONCLUDE that the BOE did not act in an arbitrary and capricious manner when it imposed the penalty of expulsion against L.O. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the findings of the BOE and the penalty imposed should be affirmed.

ORDER

Based upon the foregoing, I ORDER that the findings of the respondent BOE should be and hereby are AFFIRMED, and I ORDER that the BOE's imposition of the penalty of expulsion against L.O. should be and hereby is AFFIRMED.

ORDER

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

BACKGROUND

The record reflects that on November 1, 2016, the New Jersey Commission of Education referred this charge to arbitration. On November 3, 2016, there was a conference between the Parties and the Arbitrator. It was established that the hearing would be held on the following days: December 12, December 13, and December 21, 2016. However, on December 8, 2016, the Respondent moved to dismiss the charges for lack of discovery due to untimely and incomplete responses by the District. By email, the Respondent notified the Arbitrator on Friday, December 9, 2016 and requested that the Motion-to-Dismiss be considered. Thereafter, the Arbitrator entertained the Respondent's Motion. The hearing was to commence on Monday, December 12, 2016. The Respondent's brief was mailed to the Arbitrator later on December 27, 2016. The District's reply brief was mailed on January 6, 2017 as well. On January 14, 2017, the Arbitrator granted the Respondent's Motion-to-Dismiss. Tentative dates were allotted for a hearing on January 18, 19, and 20, 2017. However, these dates were subsequently cancelled because of the Arbitrator's ruling to dismiss the charges for procedural reasons.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

Principal Pellegrine of Louise A. Spencer School filed a charge of inefficiency against Priscilla Umeizu, a tenured teacher employed by the State-Operated School District of the City of Newark. The Notice of Tenure Charge of Inefficiency of the above teacher was rated as Partially Effective and Ineffective in three (3) consecutive annual evaluations in the following years: Partially Effective in her 2012-2013 annual evaluation; Partially Effective in her 2013-2014 annual evaluation; Ineffective in her 2014-2015 annual evaluation (see Exhibit A).

On August 14, 2015, the Respondent received Tenure Charges. On September 8, 2015, the Respondent submitted a Position Statement to the State-District Superintendent. The record reflects that the Tenure Charges were not certified until a year later, on September 8, 2016. Thereafter, the District served the "Supplemental Statement of Evidence" to revive the dormant Charges. On September 26, 2016, the Respondent filed a Supplemental Position Statement with the Superintendent opposing the renewed Charges (Exhibit D). Thus, there was a referral to arbitration on November 1, 2016.

On the day of the conference call between the Parties and the Arbitrator on November 3, 2016, the District served the Respondent with a witness list, amounting to a seven-hundred-twelve (712)-paged document (Exhibit F). On November 11, 2016, the Respondent served the District with twenty-five (25) interrogatories (Exhibit G). However, the interrogatories were not answered until after business hours on Friday, December 9, 2016 (Exhibit J). The hearing was to commence on Monday, December 12, 2016.

ISSUE

Whether or not this Motion-to-Dismiss should be granted?

If not, what shall the remedy be?

PERTINENT PROVISIONS

N.J.S.A. 18A: 6-17.1 (b) (3)

Upon referral of the case for arbitration, the employing board of education shall provide all evidence including, but not limited to, documents, electronic evidence, statements of witnesses, and a list of witnesses with a complete summary of their testimony, to the employee or the employee's representative. The employing board of education shall be precluded from presenting any additional evidence at the hearing, except for purposes of impeachment of witnesses. At least ten (10) days prior to the hearing, the employee shall provide all evidence upon which he will rely including, but not limited to, documents, electronic evidence, statements of witnesses, and a list of witnesses with a complete summary of their testimony, to the employing board of education or its representative. The employee shall be precluded from presenting any additional evidence at the hearing except for purposes of impeachment of witnesses.

Discovery shall not include depositions, and interrogatories shall be limited to twenty-five (25) without subports.

N.J.S.A. 18A: 16-14

... the board may suspend the person against whom such charge is made ... without pay, but if the determination of the charge by the arbitrator is not made within one hundred twenty (120) calendar days after certification of the charges, excluding all days which are granted at the request of such person, then the full salary ... of such person shall be paid beginning on the one hundred twenty-first (121st) day until such determination is made.

POSITIONS OF THE PARTIES

It is the District's position that there is no legal basis to dismiss the Tenure Charges because the statute provides no deadline for serving or responding to interrogatories. The District argues that there is no sanction provided for failure to respond to interrogatories.

In regards to the Respondent's complaint regarding the witness list being short, repetitive and essentially a generalized summary, the District counters that the Respondent failed to object from November 3, 2016 to December 27, 2016. Moreover, the District points out that the first time an objection was made to the District's witness list was during the second conference call on December 14, 2016, after the adjournment of the hearing.

Moreover, the District also points out that the Respondent identified no deficiency as to the answers to the twenty-five (25) interrogatories. Instead, the Respondent's sole argument was that the answers to the interrogatories were submitted to him too close to the hearing date, December 12, 2016.

As to the lack of sufficiency regarding the witness list, the District asserts that the same six (6) individuals named in that list are the same persons cited in the "Statement of Evidence" received by the Respondent on August 15, 2015. In particular, the District still further points out that the Respondent did not cite this deficiency regarding the witness list in his brief, requesting a dismissal of charges. Instead, the District contends that the Respondent's sole basis for asking for a dismissal was the late interrogatories only.

In response to the Respondent's argument that he was prejudiced by the deficient summaries of the witness list, the District rebuts that there is no basis for a dismissal of charges for a defective witness list. Moreover, the District further contends that the statute provides no sanction except for the preclusion of the testimony of witnesses. Based on the foregoing, the District sums up that there are no sanctions to be imposed on them for the Respondent's attempt to evade review on the merits. Thus, the District concludes that the Motion-to-Dismiss must be denied and the hearing should commence as tentatively scheduled for January 18, 2017.

In support of the District's position to deny this Motion-to-Dismiss, the District offers the following cases: State v. Santomauro, 261 N.J. Super. 339 (N.J. Super. App. Div. 1993); Barcon Associates v. Tri-County Asphalt Corp., 86 N.J. 179, 190-91 (N.J. 1981); Nogue v. Estate of Santiago, 224 N.J. Super. 383, 385-87 (App. Div. 1988); Plainfield v.

Public Service Electric and Gas Company, 82 N.J. 245, 258-59 (N.J. 1980). These cases shall be discussed in the Findings.

It is the Respondent's position that there is little time to engage in the discovery process because it is the District that controls access to information. Thus, the Respondent reasons that it is imperative for the arbitration process to move forward as expeditiously as possible. In particular, the Respondent asserts that after the case is filed that the Respondent must receive all evidence which includes a complete summary of each witnesses' testimony expeditiously. Moreover, the Respondent further asserts, when a District does not meet its discovery obligation under N.J.S.A. 18A: 16-17.1 (b) (3), then the statute provides that the District is prohibited from presenting additional evidence at the hearing with the limited exception, the impeachment of witnesses.

Specifically, the Respondent contends that the District failed to meet its discovery obligations in two (2) ways. First, the Respondent asserts that it failed to provide a timely response to the Respondent's interrogatories. The Respondent adds that this was not an inadvertent omission because the District was reminded of this obligation via email. Instead, the Respondent asserts that the District ignored this request and only provided its response to interrogatories on the last business day and after business hours prior to the commencement of the hearing. Second, the Respondent also contends that the District was remiss in never providing a complete summary of its witnesses' testimony, as required by the statute.

The Respondent further asserts that the Notice of Charges was provided over a year and a half ago. Thus, the Respondent maintains that there is no reason that the complete summaries could not also have been prepared long ago. The Respondent further points out that such summaries are critical to preparing a viable defense to the charges presented. Therefore, the Respondent still further asserts that without a complete summary, a teacher does not have an opportunity to discern what specific matters will be raised by the District's witnesses. Correspondingly, the Respondent contends that this means that there will be no opportunity to query potential witnesses or obtain responsive documents. In sum, the Respondent concludes that these factors unfairly prejudices his client and that prejudice has a continuing effect. Thus, the Respondent concludes that such late and inadequate presentation is violative of the TEACH NJ Act and this Motion-to-Dismiss must be dismissed. Besides, the Respondent adds that there is no evidence which the State-Operated School District can be legally presented at the hearing.

In support of this Motion, the Respondent offers the following arbitration award: In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Marie Ebert, State-Operated School District of the City of Newark, Essex County, Agency Docket No: 267-9/14, Tia Schneider Denenberg, Arbitrator, dated January 30, 2015. This case will be discussed in depth in the Findings.

FINDINGS AND DISCUSSION

After a careful review of the briefs presented and prevailing case law along with attached exhibits, this Arbitrator finds that this Motion-to-Dismiss must be granted for the following reasons.

First, the District failed to meet its discovery obligations in a timely and sufficient manner. Specifically, it failed to provide a timely response to the Respondent's interrogatories. Instead, the record indicates that the District finally responded on the last business day and after business hours prior to the commencement of the hearing. In addition, the District was remiss in never providing a "complete" summary of its witnesses' testimony, as required by the statute.

N.J.S.A. 18A: 6-17.1 (b) (3) states, in pertinent part, as follows:

> Upon referral of the case for arbitration, the employing board of education shall provide all evidence including, but not limited to, documents, electronic evidence, statements of witnesses, and a list of witnesses with a complete summary of their testimony, to the employee or the employee's representative. The employing board of education shall be precluded from presenting any additional evidence at the hearing, except for purposes of impeachment of witnesses ...

Applying this provision to our factual scenario, this case was referred to this Arbitrator on November 1, 2016. A conference call was held between the Parties on November 3, 2016. This was the same day that the District served the Respondent with a witness list, amounting to a seven-hundred-twelve (712)-paged document. On November 11, 2016, the Respondent served the District with twenty-five (25) interrogatories. Nonetheless, the interrogatories were not answered until after business hours on Friday, December 9, 2016. The hearing was to commence on the following Monday, December 12, 2016 and continue to December 13 and December 21, 2016.

Based on the foregoing, the District breached the discovery obligations of N.J.S.A. 18A: 6-17.1 (b) (3). Consequences of that breach, as set forth in that provision, is that the District shall not present any additional evidence at the hearing except for purposes of impeachment of witnesses.

Second, although the District counters that on December 14, 2016 during the second conference call was the first time that the Respondent objected to the lack of a "complete" summary, the record reflects that the statute is quite clear that "all" evidence must be submitted upon the referral to an arbitrator. It also is clear that a "complete summary" of the witness is an absolute requirement.

In regards to the cryptic responses of the District's answers to the twenty-five (25) interrogatories, such short, pithy responses did not include specific information. As such, these answers were non-responsive and prevented the Respondent from preparing a viable defense to the charges presented. Notwithstanding the District's position that the Respondent was not prejudiced by such summaries or the December 9, 2016 answers to the Respondent's interrogatories sent just before the December 12, 2016 hearing, this Arbitrator disagrees with this assessment.

Third, in support of the Respondent's position, it offers: In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Marie Ebert, State-Operated School District of the City of Newark, Essex County, Agent Docket No: 267-9/14, Tia Schneider Denenberg, Arbitrator, dated January 30, 2015. The Respondent correctly finds this case to be directly applicable to our current case. The Ebert case (Exhibit K) also deals with tenure charges for inefficiently and conduct unbecoming a public school teacher. Most importantly, the Ebert case directly addressed N.J.S.A. 18A: 6-17.1 (b) (3) where Arbitrator Denenberg granted a Motion-to-Dismiss for the District's failure to comply with the timeliness mandate of this provision. As with our case, the Ebert case lacked also a complete summary of the witnesses' testimony, as required by said statute. In addition, the facts of the Ebert case reveal a production of late documents despite being reminded by the Respondent of their tardiness.

This is again also directly analogous to our current case. In sum, the Ebert case points out the effect of late and untimely responses is that the Respondent then lacks a detailed account of the facts which witnesses will testify about. Moreover, the Respondent is essentially left to guess about information which emerges at the hearing. Thus, the Respondent in Ebert concludes that the Motion-to-Dismiss must be granted because additional evidence is precluded by statute due to the District's late responses. In sum, it is also interesting to note this school district in our case is the same one discussed in Ebert.

Fourth, on the other hand, the District offers a series of non-applicable cases to support its position of opposition to the Motion-to-Dismiss. For instance, in Barcon Associates v. Tri-County Asphalt Corporation, 86 N.J. 179, Supreme Court of New Jersey, decided May 28, 1981, this case involves the ruling of an illicit business relationship with a party-designated arbitrator, who failed to disclose his business interest with one of the parties. Clearly, this case has nothing to do with the failure to respond to the discovery process of TEACH NJ Act, the prevailing statue of our case.

Another case the District cites is: In the Matter of the Estate of Dudley B. Dawson, Deceased, Late of Boston, Morris County, NJ, decided on June 9, 1994. This case's focus is upon corporate distributions to shareholders where stock splits were confused with stock dividends. Again, this case is not on point. It has no applicability to discovery obligations under our TEACH NJ statute.

Still another case, the District offers in opposition to the Motion-to-Dismiss is: The State of New Jersey, Department of Environmental Protection and Energy, Division of Fish, Game and Wildlife v. Richard Santomauro, decided January 15, 1993. This case involves the difference between res judicata and collateral estoppel as it relates to a statue's applicability to deer heads. Clearly, there is no applicability of this case to current case involving discovery obligations under the TEACH NJ Act statute.

Fifth, based upon the totality of the pre-hearing record of events and the merits of the Respondent's position, as delineated, this Arbitrator finds that the Motion-to-Dismiss must be granted. To rule otherwise, would be a travesty to due process and in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A: 6-17.1 (b) (3), the prevailing statute.

RULING

The Respondent's Motion-to-Dismiss shall be granted due to the District's failure to comply with the timeliness mandate of N.J.S.A. 18A: 6-17.1 (b) (3). Priscilla Umeizu shall be reinstated with full back pay and benefits. This dismissal is without prejudice to the District's right to file charges again.

AFFIRMATION

I, Dr. Andrée McKissick, do hereby affirm that I am the individual described in and who executed this instrument, which is my Opinion and Award.

BOARD OF EXAMINERS.	:

Order of Suspension Decision by the State Board of Examiners, November 11, 2016

For the Respondent-Appellant, Edward A. Cridge, Esq.

For the Petitioner-Respondent State Board of Examiners, Jennifer Hoff, Deputy Attorney General (Christopher S. Porrino, Attorney General of New Jersey)

In this case the appellant, David Pekarek, is appealing the State Board of Examiners' (Board) November 11, 2016 Order suspending his teaching certificates for two years.[1] This matter was referred to the Board after the appellant was charged with Aggravated Assault based on an incident that occurred during an adult soccer game. Following a hearing at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) found that the appellant was guilty of unbecoming conduct for stomping on the head of an opposing player with his cleated shoe. The ALJ recommended that the appellant's certificates be revoked based on the violent and brutal loss of control and self-restraint exhibited by the appellant. Thereafter, the Board adopted the Initial Decision of the ALJ with regard to the finding of unbecoming conduct, but modified the penalty to include a two year suspension of the appellant's teaching certificates.

On appeal the appellant does not deny that he stomped on the head of an opposing player with his cleated shoe; however, he maintains that the Board's decision to suspend him for two years was arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable because it is an unduly harsh penalty. The appellant argues that the penalty imposed by the Board is disproportionately severe when compared to penalties imposed by the Board in cases where far more serious unbecoming conduct occurred both in and out of school. In furtherance of his argument, the appellant cites to prior cases that he contends are analogous to his case where the Board imposed a lesser penalty on the teaching staff member for conduct that pales in comparison to the circumstances here. The appellant also emphasized that the penalty should reflect the fact that he was playing in a fiercely competitive adult soccer league, and that he was immediately remorseful for his actions. Moreover, the appellant's conduct had nothing whatsoever to do with his teaching duties, and he has an unblemished teaching record. Therefore, the appellant requests that the Commissioner vacate the suspension imposed by the Board.

In reply, the Board maintains that the decision to suspend the appellant for two years was not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable, and should be affirmed by the Commissioner. The Board stresses that the appellant is raising the same arguments on appeal that he previously made in his post-hearing brief at the OAL, his exceptions to the Initial Decision, and in his motion for reconsideration filed with the Board. The appellant's arguments were fully taken into consideration when the Board issued the decision to suspend the appellant's certificates for two years. The Board also cited cases to demonstrate that the two-year penalty imposed by the Board – for forcefully stomping on the head of a defenseless player – is well within the parameter of penalties the Board has applied in other comparable cases. The appellant's actions were violent and brutal, and fell far short of the self-restraint and controlled behavior New Jersey requires of its teachers. Therefore, the Board maintains that the two-year suspension of the appellant's certificates should be upheld.

The challenge on appeal focuses exclusively on the extent of the penalty assessed by the Board for appellant's unbecoming conduct. In reviewing appeals from decisions of the State Board of Examiners, the Commissioner may not substitute his judgment for that of the Board so long as the appellant received due process and the Board's decision is supported by sufficient credible evidence in the record. Further, the Board's decision should not be disturbed unless the appellant demonstrates that it is arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. N.J.A.C. 6A:4-4.1(a).

Upon a comprehensive review of the record, the Commissioner finds that the Board's decision to suspend the appellant's certificates for two years was not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. Notably, the Board did not simply adopt the penalty of revocation recommended by the ALJ. Instead, in accordance with In re Fulcomer, 93 N.J. Super. 404 (App. Div. 1967), the Board properly evaluated the nature and extent of the unbecoming conduct proven during the hearing at the OAL, which – coupled with the appellant's unblemished teaching record and immediate remorse – led to the finding that the more appropriate penalty was a two-year suspension of the appellant's certificates. There is nothing in the record to indicate that the Board's penalty determination was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. Therefore, the Commissioner finds no basis upon which to disturb the decision of the State Board of Examiners.

Accordingly the decision of the State Board of Examiners is affirmed for the reasons expressed therein.*

M.U. was determined to have engaged in acts of HIB against another student; and

WHEREAS, on June 15, 2015, Petitioners and their attorney appeared before the Board for a hearing regarding the HIB matter, following which the Board voted to affirm the decision that M.U. had engaged in acts of HIB against another student; and

WHEREAS, Petitioners disagreed with the HIB decision and filed a petition of appeal with the Commissioner of Education ("Commissioner"), which was assigned Agency Reference Number 270-9/15and OAL Docket Number EDU 16175-2015N; and

WHEREAS, the parties, each having a desire to amicably settle any and all claims in all jurisdictions, asserted and unasserted, now hereby agree as follows:

1. The parties agree that the Board will not release or authorize the release of any document or student record, or any information contained therein, relating to the HIB matter involving M.U.to any third party, unless specifically directed by court order or lawfully issued subpoena or otherwise required to do so by law.

2. The parties agree that all documents relating to the HIB matter, the HIB investigation, and this Agreement will not be included in M.U.'s student records. With respect to the disciplinary consequences imposed as a result of the HIB matter, M.U.'s student disciplinary record will indicate only that M.U. engaged in an unspecified "Code of Student Conduct violation" on May 19, 2015, and will not include any reference to the HIB matter, the HIB investigation, or this Agreement.

3. The parties expressly understand and agree that the terms of this Agreement are not intended to apply and will not apply to any future disciplinary incidents and/or HIB incidents which may occur and/or which may be reported to the District after the date on which this Agreement is signed.

4. B.U. and N.U., on their own behalf and on behalf of M.U., and the Board mutually release and forever discharge each other, its/their officers, employees, administrators, agents and servants from any and all past, present or future claims, whether known or unknown to B.U., N.U., or M.U., arising out of events that have occurred prior to the date on which this Agreement is signed, including but not limited to the HIB matter relating to M.U.

5. B.U. and N.U., on behalf of themselves and M.U., release and forever discharge the Board, its officers, employees, administrators, agents and servants from any and all past, present or future claims which they or M.U. have or might have against them, because of all damages, liabilities, losses or injuries to person or property, or both, whether developed or undeveloped, including attorneys' fees, resulting or to result from the HIB matter relating to M.U. from the beginning of time through the date on which this Agreement is signed.

6. The parties agree to refrain from filing any proceeding, action or complaint regarding any claims by or rights of B.U., N.U., and/or M.U. from the beginning of time through the date of this Agreement. It is expressly understood and agreed, however, that the parties reserve the right to bring a claim before any tribunal of competent jurisdiction to enforce their rights under this Agreement.

7. The terms of this Agreement represent the compromise of disputed claims between the parties. This Agreement shall not be treated as an admission on the part of the Board of liability, responsibility, or wrong doing, that its HIB decision was incorrect, inappropriate, or unlawful, that any rights of B.U., N.U., and/or M.U. were violated at any time, or that either party has failed to act in accordance with any laws, statutes, regulations and/or codes.

8. Each party shall be fully responsible for its own attorney's fees and costs.

9. The drafting and negotiation of this Agreement have been participated in by each of the parties and their respective counsel and, for all purposes, this Agreement shall be deemed to have been drafted jointly by each of the parties. No ambiguity shall be resolved against any party based upon authorship. The parties acknowledge that they have been represented by counsel throughout the settlement of this matter, throughout the negotiation of this Agreement, and at the execution of this Agreement, and that they have read and consulted with counsel regarding this Agreement and fully understand its requirements and limitations. The parties further acknowledge that they enter into this Agreement voluntarily and free of coercion.

10. The parties further agree that this Agreement may not be altered, amended, modified, superseded, canceled or terminated except by an express written agreement duly executed by all of the parties or their attorneys on their behalf, which makes specific reference to this Agreement.

11. This Agreement shall be governed by the laws of the State of New Jersey.

12. This Agreement shall be subject to ratification by the Board and is without prejudice to either party if the terms are not ratified. Petitioners are not bound by this Agreement until it has been ratified by the Board. Upon ratification of this Agreement, the Board shall cause a copy of the relevant resolution to be forwarded to Petitioners.

13. This Agreement contains the entire agreement between the parties hereto and is intended to resolve any and all disputes and issues, known or unknown, between them as of the date of execution of this Agreement.

14. This Agreement shall become effective upon entry of an Initial Decision incorporating its terms by the Administrative Law Judge assigned to this matter and approval as a Final Decision by the Commissioner of Education.

D.V., ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILD, N.V.,

PETITIONER,

V.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF EDISON, MIDDLESEX COUNTY,

RESPONDENT.

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner D.V. filed an appeal contending that the respondent Board had allowed various incidents of harassment, intimidation, and bullying (HIB) against her grandson, N.V., a special needs student who had been placed by the Board at the Rugby School in Neptune, New Jersey by way of an Individualized Education Program. Petitioner alleged that the incidents of HIB occurred during N.V.'s participation in a lacrosse program operated by the Edison Township Recreation Department – a program the Board asserts is not affiliated with Edison Township Public Schools. The Board filed a motion to dismiss in lieu of an answer to the petition.

The ALJ conducted a telephone pre-hearing conference with the parties, during which petitioner stated that she would be withdrawing her petition of appeal. Petitioner was instructed to submit a letter confirming the withdrawal of this matter. When no such letter was received, multiple attempts were made to contact petitioner, to no avail. Ultimately, the matter was scheduled for a hearing on December 21, 2016. Petitioner did not attend the hearing, and has offered no explanation for her failure to appear. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that the petitioner has abandoned this matter and that the file must therefore be returned to the agency pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4(a).

Upon review, the Commissioner adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. Accordingly, the petition was dismissed with prejudice.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF EDISON, MIDDLESEX COUNTY,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon such review, the Commissioner notes that the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) returned this matter to Commissioner for appropriate disposition – in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4 – because petitioner failed to appear at the December 21, 2016 OAL hearing without providing an explanation. The Commissioner finds that since petitioner failed to appear at the December 21, 2016 hearing – after having indicated to the ALJ that she intended to withdraw her petition of appeal, but failing to submit a letter to that effect – the petition of appeal shall be dismissed with prejudice.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed with prejudice.

OAL DKT. NO. EDU 12094-16
AGENCY DKT. NO. 186-7/16

D.V. ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILD N.V.,
Petitioner,
v.
TOWNSHIP OF EDISON BOARD OF EDUCATION, MIDDLESEX COUNTY,
Respondent.

D.V., petitioner, pro se

Adam S. Weiss, Esq., for respondent (The Busch Law Group L.L.C.)

Record Closed: December 21, 2016 Decided: December 30, 2016

BEFORE JOAN BEDRIN MURRAY, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner, D.V., charged respondent, the Township of Edison Board of Education (the Board), with allowing various incidents of harassment, intimidation, and bullying against her grandson, N.V., to take place. In response, the Board filed a Motion to Dismiss, or in the alternative, Motion for Summary Decision in lieu of an Answer. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and filed on August 10, 2016, as a contested case.

FINDINGS OF FACT

The following FACTS are undisputed; therefore, I FIND that they are the FACTS of this case:

On September 26, 2016, I conducted a telephone pre-hearing conference with the parties in this matter, which concluded with petitioner stating that she would be withdrawing her petition of appeal. She was directed to submit a letter to that effect within the next few days. When no such letter was received, my judicial assistant, Ms. Ramos, placed two telephone calls to petitioner to ascertain her intention in this matter. Although she left two voice messages for petitioner, the telephone calls went unreturned. On October 17, 2016, Ms. Ramos emailed petitioner, again receiving no response. On November 29, 2016, I sent a letter to the parties advising that if I did not receive a letter of withdrawal from petitioner by December 2, 2016, I would schedule the matter for a hearing on December 21, 2016. As no letter was forthcoming, the matter was scheduled for a hearing on said date. Petitioner failed to appear on December 21, 2016. She has not since made any contact with the OAL to explain her failure to appear.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Based on the foregoing facts and the applicable law, I CONCLUDE that respondent has abandoned this matter and it should be returned to the agency.

N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4(a) provides as follows:

> If, after appropriate notice, neither a party nor a representative appears at any proceeding scheduled by the Clerk or judge, the judge shall hold the matter for one day before taking any action. If the judge does not receive an explanation for the nonappearance within one day, the judge > shall . . . direct the Clerk to return the matter to the transmitting agency . . . .

Petitioner failed to appear at the scheduled proceeding, and failed to provide an explanation for her nonappearance within the allotted time for doing so. Accordingly, the Clerk should return this matter to the New Jersey Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes.

ORDER

It is ORDERED that the Clerk return this matter to the New Jersey Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, for appropriate disposition.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

IN THE MATTER OF THE SUSPENSION OF :

THE CERTIFICATES OF MAGGIE STAWECKI, : COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE TOWNSHIP OF : DECISION

EAST GREENWICH, GLOUCESTER COUNTY. :

SYNOPSIS

In April 2016, an Order to Show Cause was served upon respondent, requiring her to show cause why an order should not be entered suspending her teaching certificates for unprofessional conduct pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8 for resigning her tenured teaching position without giving the requisite 60 day notice. A pre-hearing conference was scheduled for August 2, 2016; petitioner's counsel was prepared to take part in the conference, but respondent failed to do so. Respondent subsequently advised that she was unable to participate in any court proceedings in this matter because she could not take time off from work. She later failed to respond to the Board's discovery requests. The Board filed a motion for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue in this case, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; respondent is a tenured teacher and, as such, the consequences for termination of her employment without the required notice are governed by N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8, which requires at least 60 days written notice of intent to resign a teaching position; additionally, N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 provides that teaching staff members resigning without proper notice, and without consent of the Board, shall be deemed guilty of unprofessional conduct; further, in this circumstance, the Commissioner may suspend the teaching certificates of the former staff members to a period of up to one year; on or about February 25, 2016, respondent provided the Board with a letter of resignation effective March 9, 2016 – thereby providing just thirteen days' notice of her resignation. The ALJ concluded that respondent's resignation constitutes unprofessional conduct, warranting the suspension of her certificates; accordingly, the ALJ granted the petitioner's motion for summary decision and suspended respondent's instructional certificates for a period of one year.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ, and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. A copy of this decision shall be forwarded to the State Board of Examiners for implementation of the suspension.

IN THE MATTER OF THE SUSPENSION OF	:

EAST GREENWICH, GLOUCESTER COUNTY.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions to the Initial Decision.

Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) – for the reasons outlined in the Initial Decision – that the respondent's certificates should be suspended pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8 because she resigned without providing the Board with the requisite statutory notice. The Commissioner is also in accord with the ALJ's determination that a one year suspension of the respondent's certificates is the appropriate penalty.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter. The respondent's teaching certificates are suspended for a period of one year from the filing date of this decision, a copy of which shall be forwarded to the State Board of Examiners for implementation of the suspension.

AGENCY REF. NO. 112-4/16

IN THE MATTER OF THE CERTIFICATES OF MAGGIE STAWECKI, SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE TOWNSHIP OF EAST GREENWICH, GLOUCESTER COUNTY.

Stephen M. Bacigalupo, Esq., for petitioner

Maggie Stawecki, respondent, pro se

Record Closed: December 11, 2016 Decided: December 28, 2016

BEFORE EDWARD J. DELANOY, JR., ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner seeks to take action against the instructional certificates of respondent. Petitioner files a motion to strike respondent's answer, enter summary decision in favor of petitioner, and suspend respondent's instructional certificates for a period of one year.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The petitioner filed a petition seeking to take action against the instructional certificates of respondent on April 6, 2016. It was determined to treat the matter as a contested case under N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. Respondent's answer was perfected on June 13, 2016. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on June 14, 2016. A notice of motion for summary decision was filed by petitioner on November 3, 2016, with supporting brief. The motion seeks to strike respondent's answer, enter summary decision in favor of petitioner, and suspend respondent's instructional certificates for a period of one year. Proof of service indicates that respondent was served with the motion via Federal Express at her address of record.

No response to the motion was filed by respondent, and as a result, the record closed on December 11, 2016.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

The facts of this matter are not in dispute, and as a result, I FIND the following as the FACTs of this case: Respondent is the holder of the following certificates issued by the State Board of Examiners:

1. Instructional Certificate with an Elementary School Teacher in grades K-8 endorsement;
2. Instructional Certificate with an Elementary School Teacher in grades K-5 endorsement;
3. Instructional Certificate with a Teacher of Reading endorsement; and
4. Instructional Certificate with a Teacher of English endorsement.

Respondent originally sought employment with the East Greenwich Board of Education (Board) as a teacher for the 2010-11 school year and entered into a written contract regarding said employment. Since the 2010-11 school year, respondent has been continuously employed by the Board and attained tenure in the East Greenwich school district (District). On or about February 25, 2016, respondent provided a February 24, 2016, written letter of resignation effective March 9, 2016. Respondent thus provided the District with a thirteen-day notice of her intention to resign. Having given notice of her intent to resign on or about February 24, 2016, respondent was required to work for the Board until April 23, 2016.

Respondent was subsequently advised that she would be required to continue her employment with the Board until an acceptable full-time candidate was found. On March 8, 2016, respondent sent an e-mail to the Board in which she wrote, "Please be aware that my final day as an employee of [the] East Greenwich Twp. Schools will be tomorrow, March 9th. I will not be returning following tomorrow's school day."

In response to respondent's e-mail, the Board advised respondent "[t]hat should you not be at work until formally released you will be considered both in violation of your contract and insubordinate and appropriate action will be filed against you." Moreover, on March 10, 2016, respondent was advised that:

> On Wednesday, March 16, 2016, the School Board will accept your resignation dated February 24, 2016 . . . [T]his resignation per statute will be sixty (60) days of your letter or April 23, 2016. You are expected to continue with your service to the East Greenwich School District through that time.

On March 16, 2016, the Board accepted respondent's "resignation effective 60-days from February 24, 2016 or April 23, 2016." On March 17, 2016, respondent was advised of the following:

> At the March 16, 2016 School Board meeting, the School Board voted 8-0 with 1 abstain to accept your resignation effective . . . April 23, 2016 . . . Until you are officially released from employment, you are expected to be at your position. Should you not be at your position until officially released, you will be subject to disciplinary action.

Respondent has not reported to work since March 9, 2016, and has ceased to perform her duties before the expiration of the term of her employment. As a result, the Board was forced to look for and secure the services of a substitute teacher until a permanent replacement for respondent could be secured.

Following respondent's resignation, an Order to Show Cause and Petition were filed with the Commissioner of Education (Commissioner), on or about April 5, 2016, seeking a suspension of respondent's teaching certificates for unprofessional conduct pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8.

On or about April 11, 2016, Commissioner David C. Hespe entered the Order to Show Cause. On or about April 15, 2016, a copy of the fully executed Order to Show Cause, along with an affidavit in support of same with attached exhibits, were served upon respondent via lawyer's service and certified (return receipt) mail. That same day, a proof of service evidencing said service upon respondent was filed by M. Kathleen Duncan, Director, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, New Jersey Department of Education.

Respondent subsequently filed an answer to the subject Order to Show Cause. Respondent's answer was initially deemed deficient, but respondent corrected any deficiencies in her answer, and the matter was transmitted to the OAL. The matter was assigned to this tribunal, and a prehearing conference was scheduled for Tuesday, August 2, 2016. While petitioner's counsel was prepared to take part in the prehearing conference, respondent failed to do so. As a result, she was instructed to issue correspondence explaining the reason(s) for her absence.

In response, respondent advised this tribunal, on or about August 4, 2016, that she "was not able to participate in the prehearing phone conference . . . due to . . . [her] work schedule." Respondent further advised this tribunal that she was "unable to take off time from work to appear in any court proceedings . . . [and could] no longer proceed any further with this matter.

On or about August 4, 2016, petitioner served discovery upon respondent via certified mail and regular mail. At the time of said service, respondent was advised that N.J.A.C. 1:1-10.4(c) required her to provide her discovery response "[n]ot later than 15 days from receipt of a notice requesting discovery." Respondent failed to respond to petitioner's discovery requests.

LEGAL DISCUSSION

The New Jersey Uniform Administrative Procedure Rule, N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5, governs the petitioner's motion for summary decision. The provisions of N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5 mirror the language of R. 4:46-2 of the New Jersey Court Rules governing motions for summary judgment. Summary decision is appropriate "if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). To prevail, the adverse party "must by responding affidavit set forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). The non-moving party establishes a genuine issue of material fact if "the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party in consideration of the applicable evidentiary standard, are sufficient to permit a rational fact-finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party." Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520, 523 (1995).

"An issue of fact is genuine only if, considering the burden of persuasion at trial, the evidence submitted by the parties on the motion, together with all legitimate inferences therefrom favoring the non-moving party, would require submissions of the issues to the trier of fact." R. 4:46-2. While it is true that a judge is not to "weigh evidence and determine the truth of the matter," Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co., 142 N.J. 520, 540 (1995), "there is in this process a kind of weighing that involves a type of evaluation, analysis and sifting of evidential materials." Id. at 536. Thus, a judge is to scrutinize the competent evidential materials presented, in a light most favorable to the non-moving party, and consider whether a rational fact-finder could resolve the disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party. Id. at 540.

When a motion for summary decision is made and supported, the burden shifts to the adverse party to set forth, by affidavit, specific facts showing there is a genuine issue resolvable only by an evidentiary proceeding. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). Given this burden shift, a party opposing a summary judgment motion "who offers no substantial or material facts in opposition to the motion cannot complain if the court takes as true the uncontradicted facts in the movant's papers." Burlington County Welfare Bd. v. Stanley, 214 N.J. Super. 615 (App. Div. 1987). As discussed further below, as the facts are not in dispute in this matter, the petitioner has established, as the moving party, that it is entitled to prevail as a matter of law.

The petitioner requests this tribunal to strike respondent's answer due to her unwillingness to participate in this matter and her failure to adhere to the requirements of the New Jersey Administrative Code. This tribunal has the authority to impose sanctions upon a party for his/her "failure to comply with the requirements of this subchapter." N.J.A.C. 1:1-10.5 For instance, in the matter of Absolut Spirits Co., Inc. v. Monsieur Touton Selection, Ltd., OAL Dkt. No. ABC 4217-04, 2006 N.J. AGEN LEXIS 508, Final Decision (May 10, 2006), aff'd in part, rev'd in part on other grounds, A-5453-05 (App. Div. Oct. 22, 2007), petitioner sought the dismissal of respondent's answer because respondent chose to either answer some interrogatories in a "vague and/or unresponsive" manner or not answer others at all. In striking/dismissing respondent's answer, the Administrative Law Judge determined that petitioner was prejudiced by respondent's failure to respond to previously served discovery requests.

Applying the aforementioned decision to the present matter, this tribunal must strike/dismiss respondent's answer. In accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-10.4(c), "[n]o later than 15 days from receipt of a notice requesting discovery, the receiving party shall provide the requested information, material or access or offer a schedule for reasonable compliance with the notice." (emphasis added.) Moreover, in the event the receiving party fails to abide by said provision or any other provision, sanctions may be imposed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-10.5 and 1:1-14.14(a), up to and including suppressing "a defense or claim." N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.14(a)2. Here, respondent was served with a "First Set of Interrogatories" and "First Notice to Produce" on or about August 4, 2016. As such, respondent had until August 19, 2016, to provide some form of response to discovery. Instead, respondent ignored the requests. Having not received any response from respondent, correspondence was issued, on or about September 1, 2016, in which respondent was afforded the opportunity to provide her outstanding answers to discovery and respondent was advised that her "now overdue responses to the . . . discovery requests [were due] within five (5) days of . . . [her] receipt of this notice." Despite the issuance of the aforementioned correspondence, respondent again ignored the same and made no attempt to provide any type of response. Accordingly, this tribunal must strike/dismiss respondent's answer pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-10.5 and 1:1-14.14(a)2.

In addition, no issue of material fact exists that would preclude the granting of summary decision as it is beyond dispute that respondent failed to provide petitioner (i.e., her employer) with sixty days' notice of her intent to resign. Accordingly, summary decision is warranted.

Respondent is a tenured teacher and therefore the consequences for termination of her employment without the required notice are governed by N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8, which provides:

> Any teaching staff member, under tenure of service, desiring to relinquish his position shall give the employing board of education at least 60 days written notice of his intention, unless the board shall approve of a release on shorter notice and if he fails to give such notice he shall be deemed guilty of unprofessional conduct and the commissioner may suspend his certificate for not more than one year.

Additionally, N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 provides that:

> Any teaching staff member employed by a board of education, who shall, without the consent of the Board, cease to perform his duties before the expiration of the term of his employment, shall be deemed guilty of unprofessional conduct, and the commissioner may, upon receiving notice thereof, suspend his certificate for a period not exceeding one year.

In accordance with these provisions, resignation without the consent of the Board and absent the required sixty days' notice constitutes unbecoming conduct per se. The central purpose of these provisions is to provide the board and its administration with notice so that a suitable replacement can be hired without adversely impacting students and disrupting the education process. See In the Matter of the Suspension of the Teaching Certificates of Robert F. Galgano, Central Jersey, College Prep Charter School, Somerset County, (OAL Dkt. No. EDU 3808-10, aff'd., Comm'r., March 21, 2011); Penns Grove-Carneys Point Board of Education v. Regina Leinen, 94 N.J.A.R. 26 (EDU) 405, 407.

The Commissioner of Education has consistently held that where facts demonstrating a teacher's resignation without providing requisite notice and without the consent of the board of education are clearly established, the teacher is guilty of unprofessional conduct as a matter of law. See In the Matter of the Suspension of the Teaching Certificate of Maximilian Capshaw, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 12318-06 (2007); In the Matter of the Suspension of the Teaching Certificate of Mary Savino, OAL Dkt. No. 11688-04 (2005); In the Matter of the Suspension of the Teaching Certificate of Marty Elizabeth Farran, Agency Dkt. No. 415-11/04 (2005).

Consistent with the above, respondent's conduct constitutes unprofessional conduct per se. Respondent was a tenured employee of the Board. On or about February 25, 2016, respondent provided the Board a written letter of resignation effective March 9, 2016. Respondent only provided the District with thirteen days' notice of her intention to resign, despite the fact that N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8 specifically requires a tenured employee such as respondent to provide the employing school district with "at least 60 days written notice of . . . [her] intention" to resign. As a tenured employee, respondent either knew or should have known that she was required to provide the District with sixty days' written notice of her intent to terminate her employment with the Board. Having given notice of her intent to resign on or about February 24, 2016, respondent was required to work for the Board until April 23, 2016.

Moreover, the Board advised respondent that she would be required to continue her employment with the Board until an acceptable full-time candidate was found. On March 8, 2016, respondent sent an e-mail in which she wrote, "Please be aware that my final days as an employee of [the] East Greenwich Twp. Schools will be tomorrow, March 9th. I will not be returning following tomorrow's school day." In response to respondent's e-mail, the Board advised her "[t]hat should you not be at work until formally released you will be considered both in violation of your contract and insubordinate and appropriate action will be filed against you." Moreover, on March 10, 2016, the Board advised Mrs. Stawecki: "On Wednesday, March 16, 2016 the School Board will accept your resignation dated February 24, 2016 . . . [T]his resignation per statute will be sixty (60) days of your letter of April 23, 2016. You are expected to continue with your service to the East Greenwich School District through that time."

Subsequently, the Board accepted respondent's "resignation effective 60-days from February 24, 2016 or April 23, 2016." On March 17, 2016, the Board advised respondent that at its March 16, 206, meeting, the Board "voted 8-0 with 1 abstain to accept your resignation effective . . . April 23, 2016 . . . Until you are officially released from employment, you are expected to be at your position. Should you not be at your position until officially released, you will be subject to disciplinary action." Thereafter, notwithstanding having been advised multiple times that the Board would hold her to the sixty days' notice required by State law, and that her resignation would not be effective until April 23, 206, respondent failed to report to her position and ceased to perform her duties before the expiration of the term of her employment in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8.

Respondent's failure to provide the District with the statutorily required period (i.e. sixty days) regarding her notice to resign and complete unwillingness to perform her duties has had a direct and negative impact on the East Greenwich School District by denying its students a full-time teacher who would have been able to provide them with continuity of instruction until such time as a full-time replacement was found.

Therefore, I CONCLUDE that respondent's resignation was without the requisite notice, and that the Board refused to consent to respondent's resignation without the requisite notice. Accordingly, respondent's conduct constitutes a clear violation of the applicable statutes and is unprofessional conduct per se, warranting the suspension of her certificates.

As to a penalty, it has been consistently held that absent mitigating circumstances, the appropriate penalty for a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8 and N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 is suspension of a certificate for one year. As observed by the Administrative Law Judge in Penns Grove-Carney Point Board of Education v. Reginal Leinen, supra:

> Most cases have resulted in the suspension of any and all teaching certificates for the maximum, one-year permitted if the Commissioner finds the teacher guilty of violating N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10. See In Re Russo, 33 C.D. 92; Collingswood Borough Board of Education v. Cashel, 88 S.L.D. 1898; In re Matthews, 267 C.D. 88; Dunellen Borough Board of Education v. Drake, 87 S.L.D. 206; In Re Evans, 249 C.D. 87; In Re Horter, 170 C.D. 87; Acken, 86 S.L.D. 2803; In Re Langford, 142 C.D. 84; In Re Minnich, 218 C.D. 83; In Re Cohen, 27 C.D. 83; In Re Reehill, 66 S.L.D. 201; In Re Finkelstein, 60 S.L.D. 75

In only the most rare and exceptional cases will the Commissioner of Education decline to impose the maximum one-year suspension for violations of N.J.S.A. 18A:18-8 and N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10. The Commissioner has noted that in determining the length of such a suspension for violations of these provisions the general rule is:

> given the underlying purpose of the statute, this evaluation – with rare exception – has resulted in suspension of any and all certificates for the maximum one year period, particularly where the facts demonstrate that individuals have violated the 60-day notice requirement for strictly personal reasons, putting their own self-interest above the interests of students and their professional obligation to provide adequate notice to the Board.

In the Matter of the Suspension of the Teaching Certificate of Maximilian Capshaw, Upper Freehold Regional School District, Monmouth County (OAL Dkt. No. EDU 12318-06, aff'd Comm'r., June 12, 2007)

Although the Commissioner may impose a reduced suspension in cases which present compelling mitigating circumstances, such as a previous promise by the Board to consent to termination without notice, an employee's noble purpose, or an employee's attempt to ensure a smooth transition for her replacement, no such mitigating circumstances are present in this case. Respondent terminated her employment with the Board due to personal reasons. The law is clear that teachers are not free to unilaterally terminate their teaching obligations at the last minute, as was done herein by respondent. As a result of respondent's unprofessional conduct, I CONCLUDE that the appropriate penalty is suspension of her certificates for a period of one year.

Therefore, I CONCLUDE that respondent's answer is stricken, summary decision is entered in favor of petitioner, and respondent's instructional certificates are suspended for a period of one year. Petitioner's motion for summary decision requesting summary decision be granted in its favor must be GRANTED.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that the petitioner's motion for summary decision is GRANTED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

V.	:	DECISION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE RIVER DELL REGIONAL SCHOOL DISTRICT, BERGEN COUNTY,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner – who was hired by the respondent Board in February 2002 under his Teacher of Industrial Arts certification – claimed that his tenure and seniority rights were violated when the Board abolished his full-time position as part of a reduction in force (RIF), and reduced his assignment to a .2 part-time position for the 2015-2016 school year. Petitioner sought restoration of a full-time position under his certifications/endorsements or the creation of a new position, claiming that the Board continued to employ non-tenured and less-tenured teachers in twenty-two positions to which petitioner claimed entitlement based on his endorsements in Elementary Education with Specialization in Science 5-8 and in Industrial Arts. Petitioner claimed that the Industrial Arts endorsement had been "converted" into an endorsement in Technology Education pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-10.6(b). The parties filed cross motions for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; an "endorsement" is an authorization that allows an instructional certificate holder to teach one or more specific subject areas; pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-9.2(a), a teaching endorsement is required for a corresponding teacher assignment; by means of a special "grandfather" provision found at N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-10.6(b), an endorsement in "Technology Education" is available to holders of an Industrial Arts endorsement who had been employed by a school before April 23, 2004; despite the "grandfather" provision, the Technology Education endorsement must be procured actively through application to the Board of Examiners; N.J.S.A. 18A:28-1 to -18 defines the conditions under which teachers may obtain tenure, which is achieved in a particular position; individuals may claim eligibility to a new position based on tenure in another position only when the two positions are substantially similar, and when the individual holds the appropriate certification; here, petitioner did not obtain the Technology Education endorsement until after the RIF occurred in June 2015, even though he had been eligible to apply for this additional endorsement for years; petitioner notified the Board of his application on September 29, 2015, but did not receive the endorsement until November 2015 – well after the date of the RIF in June 2015; and careful analysis of each of the twenty-two positions to which petitioner claimed entitlement revealed that his credentials, as of June 8, 2015, did not entitle him to teach any of the disputed positions. The ALJ concluded that: petitioner has not met his burden to show that he is entitled to any of the positions he sought; the issue of seniority does not arise in this case; and, as a tenured teacher affected by a RIF, the petitioner's name must be maintained on a preferred eligibility list in a position for which he is qualified. Accordingly, the ALJ granted the Board's motion for summary decision, and denied petitioner's motion.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusions, and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. The petition was dismissed.

CHRISTOPHER CONCATO,	:
PETITIONER,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
V.	:	DECISION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE RIVER DELL REGIONAL SCHOOL DISTRICT, BERGEN COUNTY,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed, as have the exceptions filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 by the petitioner and the Board's reply thereto.

In his exceptions, petitioner argues that the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) findings were not supported by substantial credible evidence in the record. Specifically, petitioner argues that the ALJ erred when he found that petitioner could not use his Technology Education endorsement as a basis for making a seniority claim because it was acquired after the reduction in force (RIF) took place. Petitioner contends that his situation is an exception to the general rule that tenured teachers cannot make a seniority claim using a certificate that was not held at the time of the RIF. Here, petitioner emphasizes that he did not need any additional education or training to obtain the Technology Education endorsement; instead, N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-10.6(b) authorized him to obtain the Technology Education endorsement automatically upon application to the Board of Examiners. Accordingly, petitioner argues that he was eligible to teach classes under the Technology endorsement at the time of the RIF.

Petitioner further argues that the ALJ failed to review the curricula of the subjects to determine whether his Technology Education certification would authorize him to teach them. Petitioner emphasizes that the ALJ also erred in finding that petitioner did not have the credentials to teach any classes, despite the fact that he had been teaching the same or similar classes for twelve years. Petitioner maintains that the Board manipulated class assignments to prevent him from being assigned a teaching position. Finally, petitioner contends that the ALJ did not analyze whether the teachers assigned to teach the classes were qualified or had greater seniority than petitioner, and requests that the Commissioner remand this matter for a plenary hearing on this issue.

In reply, the Board urges the Commissioner to adopt the ALJ's initial decision for the reasons expressed therein because petitioner did not meet his burden of proving by a preponderance of the evidence that his teaching certifications and endorsements as of the date of the RIF authorized him to teach any of the courses to which he claims entitlement. The Board asserts that the ALJ properly found that the Industrial Arts endorsement is narrow in focus – pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-2.6(b) – and only qualifies petitioner to teach certain subject areas, none of which were available at the time of the RIF; likewise, petitioner's endorsement for Elementary School with Subject Matter Specialization: Science in Grades 5-8 did not qualify him to teach any available courses. Further, the board contends that the ALJ correctly found that petitioner may not use his Technology Education endorsement as a basis for entitlement to the positions because it was not acquired prior to the RIF, and there is no basis in law for petitioner's argument that it should be considered a valid endorsement. Therefore, as petitioner does not have the required endorsements, he is statutorily precluded from teaching any of the classes.

The Board further argues that the ALJ properly conducted a course-by-course analysis of the twenty-two courses to which petitioner claims entitlement. Specifically, the Board points out that the ALJ examined the curriculum, the course content, the endorsements required to teach the courses, as well as petitioner's arguments as to why his credentials were sufficient. The Board asserts that the ALJ appropriately found that the twenty-two courses have additional duties and different responsibilities than the courses petitioner previously taught, and that petitioner lacked the credentials to teach any of the courses. Finally, in response to petitioner's argument that the ALJ should have compared the seniority of the staff members who were assigned to teach the courses at issue, the Board maintains that such an exercise would be irrelevant, as petitioner did not possess the proper endorsements to teach those courses.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ – for the reasons thoroughly set forth in the Initial Decision – that petitioner is unable to use his Technology Education endorsement as a basis for claiming one of the twenty-two positions that he seeks because he obtained the endorsement after the RIF took place. Even though petitioner argues that he was able to obtain the Technology Education endorsement automatically after the "ministerial task" of submitting an application, the Commissioner agrees with the ALJ that seniority rights are fixed as of the date of the RIF and petitioner did not submit his application for the Technology endorsement until more than three months after that date. See Fracey v. Board of Education of the City of Salem, Salem County, 286 N.J. Super. 354, 358-61 (App. Div. 1996).

The Commissioner further agrees with the ALJ that petitioner – using his endorsements in Industrial Arts and in Elementary School with Subject Matter Specialization: Science in Grades 5-8 – does not have the qualifications necessary to teach any of the twenty-two courses to which he claims entitlement. The Commissioner does not find petitioner's exceptions to be persuasive. The ALJ thoroughly and comprehensively conducted an analysis of each course – examining the curriculum, the endorsements the Board states are required, as well as petitioner's arguments – prior to making a determination on each course as to the necessary endorsement and whether petitioner has the required credentials to teach the course. As the ALJ found that petitioner lacked the certifications and endorsements to teach these twenty-two courses, there was no need for the ALJ to analyze the seniority of those teachers who were assigned to teach them.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted – for the reasons thoroughly set forth therein – as the final decision in this matter, and the petition is hereby dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.*

INITIAL DECISION
SUMMARY DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. EDU 10269-15
AGENCY DKT. NO. N/A

CHRISTOPHER CONCATO,

Appellant,

v.

RIVER DELL BOARD OF EDUCATION,

Respondent.

Alfred F. Maurice, Esq., for Appellant (Springstead & Maurice, attorneys)

Rodney T. Hara, Esq., for Respondent (Fogarty & Hara, attorneys)

Record closed: November 14, 2016 Decided: December 29, 2016

BEFORE JOHN P. SCOLLO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The River Dell Regional Board of Education (hereinafter, River Dell, the Board or BOE) operates a school district comprised of grades seven (7) through twelve (12), i.e. both a Middle School and a High School for the residents of the Borough of Oradell and the Borough of River Edge in Bergen County, New Jersey. Appellant, Christopher Concato (Concato) was employed by the Respondent Board and taught under his Teacher of Industrial Arts certification since February, 2002. On June 8, 2015, the BOE passed a resolution abolishing one of two full-time positions of teacher of Industrial Arts and creating a .2 or twenty percent (part-time) position in its place. By letter dated June 11, 2011, the BOE informed Concato that his full time position was reduced to a .2 part-time position for the 2015-2016 school year for reasons of economy and efficiency. The BOE also stated that due to enrollment, positions had been reduced and programs had been restructured.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On June 22, 2015, Concato filed a Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner of Education (the Commissioner) claiming that the BOE had violated N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10, et seq. by continuing to employ, on a full-time basis, non-tenured teachers and teachers with less seniority than him to teach courses which he is qualified to teach. Concato seeks restoration of his full-time position, retroactive salary and benefits including pension contributions, lost seniority, and other just and equitable relief. On July 13, 2015, the BOE filed its Answer with the Commissioner. The Commissioner transferred the matter to the Office of Administrative Law on July 14, 2015, as a contested case.

On October 22, 2015, the first of several Pre-Hearing conferences took place, wherein the parties expressed their opinion that the matter might be resolved via cross-motions for Summary Decision. A Pre-hearing order was issued on October 28, 2015, which included the setting of dates for propounding and responding to discovery requests. The parties agreed that disposition of the case via cross-motions for summary decision was appropriate. Several sets of Certifications and Supplemental Certifications with Briefs, responding Briefs, and Replies were exchanged. Several case-management conferences took place before and after each set of submissions as well as several conferences to explore settlement possibilities.

The Petitioner filed his Notice of Motion for Summary Decision, Certification of Christopher Concato and Brief on March 1, 2016. Respondent filed its Motion for Summary Decision, Certification of Superintendent Patrick J. Fletcher and Brief on March 4, 2016. The Petitioner opposed the Respondent's Motion in his Reply Certification and Reply Brief dated March 17, 2016. The Respondent opposed the Petitioner's Motion in the (first) Supplemental Certification of Patrick J. Fletcher and its Reply Brief dated March 18, 2016.

Thereafter, during a telephone settlement conference, the parties and the tribunal discussed several questions of fact which appeared to be unresolved. It was decided that both parties would benefit from further discovery in order to clarify the facts. On May 6, 2016, Attorney Alfred Maurice, on behalf of Petitioner, served a one-item Notice to Produce upon the Respondent seeking the job histories, certifications, and endorsements of certain individuals whom Petitioner claimed were teaching courses which he was qualified and entitled to teach. On May 26, 2016, the Respondent responded to the Petitioner's Notice to Produce with documents showing the job histories and certifications of the fourteen teachers of the twenty-two courses in dispute. On June 30, 2016, Petitioner's counsel submitted supplemental argument and materials. On July 1, 2016, Respondent's counsel submitted the Second Supplemental Certification of Patrick J. Fletcher dated June 28, 2016, as well as respondent's Supplemental Brief dated July 1, 2016.

Subsequently, the tribunal and counsel held a telephone conference wherein the tribunal requested further clarifications from counsel. The tribunal framed a number of questions in a letter dated October 31, 2016. The parties responded with further clarifying submissions between November 7 through 9, 2016. Thereafter, the record closed on November 14, 2016.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

The parties submitted a "Joint Stipulation of Facts." (See attached.) The parties agree that Concato was employed by the Respondent and taught under his Teacher of Industrial Arts certification since February, 2002. They also agree that on June 8, 2015, the River Dell Board of Education passed a resolution abolishing one of two full-time positions of Teacher of Industrial Arts and creating a .2 or twenty percent (part-time) position in its place. The parties also agree that by letter dated June 11, 2015, the BOE informed Concato that his full-time position was reduced to a .2 part-time position for the 2015-2016 school year and that the BOE stated that this was done for reasons of economy and efficiency.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

Certificates And Endorsements

In New Jersey, no teaching staff member can be employed as a teacher unless he is a holder of a valid certificate to teach. N.J.S.A. 18A:26-2 and N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-5.1. A "certificate" is defined as a legal document that permits an individual to serve as a teaching staff member. N.J.A.C. 6A:9-2.1. Three categories of certificates are available: instructional, administrative, and educational services. N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-5.3. An "instructional certificate" is a certificate that permits an individual to serve as a teacher in a classroom setting. N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-2.1. A "standard certificate" is a permanent certificate issued to a person who has met all requirements for a particular certificate. N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-2.1. A "standard instructional certificate" is a permanent certificate issued to a person who has met all teacher certification requirements. N.J.S.A. 18A:26-2a(a).

The requirements for obtaining instructional certification, referred-to as a "standard instructional certificate," are set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.1 through 8.10. (The case at bar involves only instructional certificates.) Each certificate must be issued with at least one "endorsement." N.J.A.C. 6A:9-2.1

The entity responsible for the promulgation of rules setting forth certification and endorsement requirements for teachers is the State Board of Education, an agency under the New Jersey Department of Education. N.J.S.A. 18A:26-2.5. The entity that has the power to issue and to revoke certificates is the Board of Examiners. N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-3.2.

The Board of Examiners of the Department of Education issues certificates pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-5.3 and 5.4 in accordance with the "Professional Standards For Teachers" set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:9-3.3 and 3.4, which are designed to evaluate the teacher's knowledge of how and why learners (i.e. students) learn; the teacher's knowledge of content (i.e. the subject matter of the body of knowledge he teaches); instructional practice (ability to assess the learners, planning instruction; and instructional strategies for encouraging learners to build skills and apply knowledge) and the teacher's ability to take responsibility for furthering the teacher's continued development of his teaching skills, fostering the learner's development, and abiding by ethical practices to promote the success of all students.

An "endorsement" is an authorization allowing an instructional certificate holder to teach one or more specific subject area(s) or to serve in one or more specific teaching staff role(s). N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-2.1

To fulfill the endorsement requirements necessary for instructional certification candidates must complete certain college credit and degrees, which are set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-9.1(a)(1)(i) an undergraduate degree with a major in the subject area; and/or (ii) a master's degree in the subject area; and/or (iii) thirty credits in a coherent sequence of courses appropriate to the subject area of which at least twelve credits must have been earned at an advanced level of study at a four-year college.

A teaching endorsement is required for a corresponding teaching assignment (position). N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-9.2(a). The types of endorsements issued by the Board of Examiners are found at N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-9.3 through 6A:9B-10.15. The Department of Education maintains a list of approved job titles with their corresponding required certificates and endorsements. N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-5.5(a). Using the aforesaid list of approved job titles, the district superintendent of schools determines which teachers have the appropriate certificates and endorsements. N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-5.4(a). Following the superintendent's determination, the District Board of Education assigns teachers with appropriate certificates and endorsements to positions to perform their assigned duties. N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-5.5(a).

"EDUCATIONAL TECHNOLOGY" versus "TECHNOLOGY EDUCATION

Lest there be confusion in the terminology employed in the regulations, it is important to differentiate the term "educational technology" found in N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-5.17 from the endorsement called "Technology Education" found in N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-9.3(a)(8). The term "education technology" found at N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-5.17(a) refers to the prerequisite that every teacher in New Jersey must demonstrate knowledge and understanding of computers or other "educational technology" resources and tools as defined in the "Professional Standards For Teachers" in N.J.A.C. 6A:9-3.3. N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-5.17(b) provides with certain exceptions that an endorsement shall not be required to deliver instruction in educational technology, computers, and other digital tools. The term "Technology Education" is explained below.

An endorsement titled "Technology Education," found at N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-9.3(a)(8), authorizes the holder of this endorsement to teach, in all public schools, a variety of technical education courses (see those listed in 6A:9B-9.3(a)(8)(1)(A through F), but does not authorize the holder to teach "career and technical education programs" listed in N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-9.4(a) and (c).

By means of a special "grandfather" provision found at N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-10.6(b) an endorsement in "Technical Education" is available to holders of an Industrial Arts endorsement who have been employed by a school district before April 23, 2004. These individuals can obtain the Technology Education endorsement upon his/her application to the Board of Examiners. N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-10.8(b).

Tenure

In New Jersey, state statutes grant teachers the right to tenure. The Tenure Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:28-1 to -18, defines the conditions under which teachers are entitled to the security of tenure. The Tenure Act defines the term "position" as any office, position or employment. N.J.S.A. 18A:28-1. A teacher is entitled to tenure if (1) he works in a position for which a teaching certificate is required (i.e. he is a teaching staff member); (2) he holds the appropriate certificate; and (3) he has served (i.e. been employed in the district) for the requisite period of time. N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5. When a teacher has achieved tenure under an instructional certificate, he receives tenure for all endorsements under that certificate. See Dennery v. Bd. of Educ., 131 N.J. 626, 634 (1993).

Tenured teaching staff members shall not be dismissed or reduced in compensation except for inefficiency, incapacity, or conduct unbecoming such a teaching staff member or other just cause. N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5. Tenure rights are designed "to aid in the establishment of a competent and efficient school system by affording principals and teachers a measure of security in the ranks they hold after years of service." Viemeister v. Bd. of Educ. of Prospect Park, 5 N.J. Super. 215, 218 (App. Div. 1949). Being of remedial purpose, the Tenure Act is to be liberality construed to achieve its beneficent ends. Spiewak v. Rutherford Bd. of Educ., 90 N.J. 63, 74 (1982). The burden of proving a right to tenure rests with the teacher. Canfield v. Bd. of Educ., Borough of Pine Hill, 51 N.J. 400 (1968).

Tenure is achieved in a particular position. Howley v. Ewing Bd. of Educ., 1982 S.L.D., 1328, 1337, adopted, Comm'r 1982 S.L.D. 1356 (also published at 6 N.J.A.R. 509), aff'd, St. Bd. 1983 S.L.D. 1554. The courts have permitted an individual to claim eligibility to a new position based on tenure in another position only when the two positions are "substantially identical." "When the duties of a position in which a teaching staff member has acquired tenure are substantially identical to those of the position that the person seeks, a local school board may not sidestep an educator's tenure rights by simply re-naming the position or tacking on additional meaningless requirements" and "must extend the teaching staff member's tenure rights to the newly created position." Dennery, supra, 131 N.J. at 639; see Viemeister, supra, 5 N.J. Super. at 218. A mere overlap of duties, however, does not mean that the two positions are equivalent for tenure purposes. If a newly created position is similar to a tenure holder's abolished position but also requires additional duties or different responsibilities, then the newly created position is not considered to be substantially similar to the former position. Dennery, supra, 131 N.J. at 640.

Reduction In Force (Rif)

A Board of Education may effectuate a reduction in force for reasons of economy, because of reduction in the number of pupils, because of a change in the administrative or supervisory organization of the district, or for other good cause. N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9. A RIF, "whether of tenured or non-tenured teachers, if done for reasons of economy, is entirely within the authority of the board," Maywood Bd. of Educ. v. Maywood Educ. Assoc., 168 N.J. Super. 45, 55 (App. Div. 1979), certif. denied, 81 N.J. 292 (1979). A reduction in hours of employment is considered a reduction in force under N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9. Klinger v. Board of Educ. of Cranbury Twp., Middlesex County, 190 N.J. Super. 354 (App. Div. 1982), certif. denied, 93 N.J. 277 (1982).

Seniority

The concept of seniority applies only after tenure has been achieved and only has meaning when an RIF occurs. Seniority "comes into play only if tenure rights are reduced by way of dismissal or reduction in tangible employment benefits." Carpenito v. Rumson Bd. of Educ., 322 N.J. Super. 522, 531 (App. Div. 1999). Seniority refers to an employee's "bumping" rights upon a reduction in force. Howley v. Ewing Bd. of Educ., 1982 S.L.D., 1328 at 1339. Seniority provides a mechanism for ranking all tenured teaching staff members so that reductions among the tenured force can be affected in an equitable fashion and in accord with sound educational policies." Capodilupo v. West Orange Bd. of Educ., 218 N.J. Super. 510 (App. Div. 1987), certif. denied, 109 N.J. 514 (1987). Seniority is a right afforded to tenured employees entitling the employee to either continue in an existing job opening based on their longevity of employment or to be placed upon an eligible list for reemployment when a new position becomes available. Id. at 531. Dismissals resulting from an RIF must be made on the basis of seniority according to standards established by the Commissioner and approved by the State Board. N.J.S.A. 18A:28-10. N.J.A.C. 6A:32-5.1 sets forth standards for determining seniority. A tenured teaching staff member dismissed as a result of a reduction in force must be maintained on a preferred eligible list in the order of seniority for reemployment whenever a vacancy occurs in a position for which such person is qualified and must be reemployed if and when such vacancy occurs. N.J.S.A. 18A:28-12.

Summary Decision

Motions for summary decision, the OAL equivalent of a summary judgment motion, are covered under N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.1 et seq. This regulation provides that in order to be granted, the moving party must show that there is no genuine issue of material fact and that they are entitled to prevail as a matter of law. In order to prevail, an adverse party must, by responding affidavit, set forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding. Ibid. The provisions mirror the summary judgment language of R. 4:46-2(c) of the New Jersey Court Rules.

The motion judge must "consider whether component evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party . . . are sufficient to permit a rational fact finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party." Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520, 523 (1995). And even if the non-moving party comes forward with some evidence, this forum must grant summary decision if the evidence is "so one-sided that [the moving the party] must prevail as a matter of law." Id. at 536.

Issue Number One: Did Concato earn the Technology Education endorsement before or after the RIF occurred?

Christopher Concato seeks either restoration of a full-time position under his certifications/endorsements or the creation of a new position. He claims that his tenure and seniority rights were violated because there currently are non-tenured and less-tenured teachers in positions which he claims. Concato claims, by the "breadth of his endorsement in Elementary Education with Specialization in Science 5-8" and by the "breadth of his endorsement in Industrial Arts (which he claims has been "converted" into an endorsement in Technology Education pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-10.6(b)), that he possesses the credentials to teach the twenty-two courses (i.e. positions) at issue in this case. (The twenty-two courses are set forth in Concato's answer to Respondent's Interrogatory Number 6, which is attached to Concato's March 1, 2016, Brief at pages 2-3.) Concato's argument is set forth in his submissions of October 22, 2015; March 17, 2016; and June 30, 2016.

Central to Concato's argument is his contention that his Industrial Arts endorsement has been "converted" into a Technology Education endorsement, which increases the number of positions in which he is eligible to teach and thus enhances his tenure and seniority protections.

Throughout his submissions, Concato's counsel asserts or assumes that his Industrial Arts endorsement converted into an endorsement in Technology Education before the RIF occurred. Examples follow:

First, on page 2 of his October 22, 2015, letter Petitioner's counsel states that Concato's Industrial Arts endorsement "has been renamed Technology." On page 4 of the Petitioner's October 22, 2015, Brief it is argued that Petitioner's "Industrial Arts endorsement was converted to a Technology Education endorsement, under N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-10.6(b)."

Second, in Petitioner's March 17, 2016, Reply Brief, in Point II, on page 6, Concato references N.J.A.C. 6:9B-9.3(A)(8) (a superseded regulation) and states that he is "entitled to the benefits of the conversion of his Industrial Arts certificates". The tribunal interprets this possibly as an attempt to cite N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-10.6(b), which governs the "grandfather" provision under which holders of Industrial Arts endorsements might obtain a Technology Education endorsement. However, N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-10.6(b) does not provide that an Industrial Arts endorsement can automatically "convert" into a Technology Education endorsement. There are procedures to follow.

Third, in Petitioner's counsel's June 30, 2016, letter (page 2, third paragraph) he refers to "the umbrella of his (Concato's) Industrial Arts/Technology certification." Inherent in this terminology is Petitioner's assumption that his Industrial Arts endorsement and the Technology Education endorsement, which he earned after the RIF, were one and the same before the RIF.

Concato's argument does not differentiate between positions he is able to teach based solely on his "former" Industrial Arts endorsement and courses he is able to teach based on the "new" endorsement he claims in Technology Education. Underlying Concato's argument is the assumption that, pursuant to the language of N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-10.6(b), his Industrial Arts endorsement "converted" into a Technology Education endorsement before the RIF (reduction in force) occurred and that this "conversion" enables him to lay claim to the twenty-two positions currently occupied by the others. An analysis of that assumption is necessary.

Concato's claim is that his Industrial Arts endorsement converted into a Technology Education endorsement before the RIF occurred. Concato does not specify a date on which the purported conversion took place. His arguments simply presume that he held a Technology Education endorsement on June 8, 2015, the date of the RIF. The text of N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-10.6(b) sets forth procedures and does indeed "grandfather" holders of Industrial Arts endorsements who have been teaching technology education courses before April 23, 2004, if they apply for the Technology Education endorsement. For those who have not been teaching technology education courses, they too can obtain the Technology Education endorsement by applying for it, but they must also pass a State test. Concato availed himself the opportunity to apply for the Technology Education certificate under the "grandfather" provision of N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-10.6(b). However, he notified the River Dell District that he was applying for the Technology Education endorsement on September 29, 2015, (three and one-half months after the RIF) and he received it in November 2015 (five months after the RIF).

Both counsel cite the case of Francey v. Board of Education of the City of Salem, 286 N.J. Super. 354 (App. Div. 1996) as authoritative on the issue of whether post-RIF acquisitions of endorsements can enhance a teacher's tenure or seniority rights. (See Petitioner's counsel's citation of Francey on page 6 of his October 22, 2016, submission and Respondent's counsel's citation of same on page 5 of his March 18, 2016, submission). The Appellate Division in Francey held that a teacher's tenure and seniority rights are fixed as of the date of the RIF and any subsequent endorsements obtained by a teacher are not afforded any tenure protections. Francey, 286 N.J. Super. at 358-61.

In the Parties' "Joint Stipulation of Facts" (numbered Paragraph 4) it was agreed that Christopher Concato was assigned to teach courses in the River Dell Regional School District pursuant to his Industrial Arts certificate. It was also agreed that he never taught science in the District pursuant to his Elementary School Science grades 5-8 certificate. Although tenure is achieved in a specific position, whenever tenure is awarded under a certificate, tenure extends to all endorsements held by the teacher under that certificate (see Dennery, supra, 131 N.J. at 634). So although Concato never taught science in the River Dell District, he nonetheless earned tenure as a Teacher of Science by virtue of having his endorsement in Elementary Education with Specialty in Science grades 5-8.

Concato taught several courses (all of which have been set forth in his answer to respondent's Interrogatory number 6) pursuant to his Standard Certificate with endorsement in Industrial Arts. He was granted tenure as a teacher of Industrial Arts.

I CONCLUDE that because it was procured after the RIF occurred, Concato cannot use his post-RIF Technology Education endorsement as a basis for claiming any of the twenty-two positions he seeks.

I CONCLUDE that any claim Concato makes to said positions must be made solely on the basis of the certifications/endorsements he held on the date the RIF occurred (June 8, 2015), namely his Standard Certificate with endorsement in Elementary Education with Specialization in Science grades 5-8 and his Standard Certificate with endorsement in Industrial Arts.

Issue Number Two: Which positions is Concato qualified to teach by virtue of his Standard Certificate with endorsement in Industrial Arts and in Elementary Education with Specialization in Science Grades 5-8?

The holder of an endorsement in Industrial Arts is authorized to teach Industrial Arts, which, by statute, includes: graphic arts, drafting, woodworking, metal working arts, and power mechanics. N.J.S.A. 18A:26-2.6(b). The case of Polo v. Board of Education Vocational Schools County of Bergen, 93 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 498, affirmed, 94 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 36, demonstrates that the statutory limits of the Industrial Arts endorsement have been narrowly construed. In Polo, a teacher who had a permanent instructional certificate with endorsements in "Skilled Trades" and in "Industrial Arts" was determined to lack the appropriate endorsements to teach plumbing or custodial training courses. Polo illustrates the narrow confines of the subject matter which the holder of an Industrial Arts endorsement may teach.

Concato's argument is that the breadth of his Instructional certificate with an endorsement in Elementary Education with Specialization in Science grades 5-8 and with and endorsement in Industrial Arts qualifies him to teach a wide variety of courses including the twenty-two courses he seeks, which are currently being taught by others.

The District maintains that an appropriate teaching endorsement is required for the corresponding teaching assignment. N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-9.2 and 9.3(a). The District also counters Concato's assertion with the Certifications submitted by Patrick J. Fletcher, Superintendent of Schools for the River Dell School District.

A course-by-course analysis is set forth below. The curriculum of each of the twenty-two disputed courses, the endorsements which the District says are required in order for a teacher to qualify to teach the courses, and Concato's statements about why his credentials meet the requirements for teaching said courses will be analyzed. Concato relies on the breadth of his aforesaid Certificate and endorsements and his work experience. The District relies on Mr. Fletcher's perusal of the Department of Education's list of approved job titles with corresponding authorized certificates/endorsements as referenced in N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-5.5.

Analysis of the Twenty-Two Disputed Courses

(1) Projects and Performances

The District says that the courses in "Projects and Performances 7 & 8" are part of the "Gifted and Talented" curriculum and are a component of the Language Arts Department. These courses emphasize study of fiction, non-fiction, and persuasive writing. The District stated that the Department of Education's required endorsements for this position is "Teacher of English" and/or "Elementary School with Subject Matter Specialization: Language Arts/Literary Specialization in Grades 5-8."

Concato says that he taught this course under his Industrial Arts certification and that teachers of science, social studies, general K-8, and home economics have all taught this course in the past.

I CONCLUDE that the parameters of what constitutes Industrial Arts is set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:26-2.6. The endorsement in Industrial Arts authorizes the holder of that endorsement to teach graphic arts, drafting, woodworking, metal working arts, and power mechanics. I CONCLUDE that the teaching of literature (fiction and non-fiction) and the teaching of persuasive writing do not fall within the ambit of Industrial Arts. Clearly the course is a language arts course. I CONCLUDE that the requirement that the teacher of this course must hold an endorsement as a "Teacher of English" or "Elementary School with Subject Matter Specialization in Grades 5-8" is correct. I CONCLUDE that Concato lacks the required credentials and therefore, as a matter of law, he has no legitimate claim to teach this course.

(2) Research 4 Today

The District claims that the courses in "Research 4 Today" 7 and 8 are a component of the Language Arts Department. These courses emphasize reading, understanding literary devices, and writing. The District stated that the required endorsements are either "Teacher of English" or "Elementary School with Subject Matter Specialization in Grades 5-8."

Concato says that his Industrial Arts certificate is appropriate for these courses because they are basic courses that teach students to perform digital research and that they are extensions of courses he taught called "Strive for Success" and "Digital Communications."

I CONCLUDE that the courses are reading and writing courses that require the teacher to develop the student's critical literary skills and to teach good writing skills, both of which are outside the subject matter (i.e. the scope) set forth for Industrial Arts under the aforesaid statute. I CONCLUDE that the requirement that the teacher of this course must hold either a "Teacher of English" or "Elementary School with Subject Matter Specialization in Grades 5-8" is correct. I CONCLUDE Concato lacks the required credentials and therefore, as a matter of law, he has no legitimate claim to teach these courses.

(3) Robotics

The District says that "Robotics" is a component of the Science Department. The course emphasizes high-level programming languages and the engineering process. The curriculum entails concepts of science, technology, mathematics, and engineering. The District stated that the required endorsement is "Teacher of Physics."

Concato says that he taught Robotics as part of his previous technology courses in middle school. He says the course is properly classified as a technology course and that it is not a physics course.

I CONCLUDE that while Robotics may have been part of a previous course taught by Concato, this particular Robotics course involves the teaching of high-level programming languages and an emphasis on scientific and mathematical concepts that are closer to Physics than they are to the subject matter set forth for Industrial Arts under the aforesaid statute. I CONCLUDE that the requirement of a "Teacher of Mathematics" endorsement is correct. I CONCLUDE that Concato does not possess all of the required credentials that would enable him to teach the "Robotics" course and therefore, as a matter of law, he has no legitimate claim to teach this course.

(4) Introduction to Computer Science

The District says that the course is named "Computer Programming with Python" and is also referred to as "Introduction to Computer Programming." The curriculum is for grades 9-12 and includes familiarizing students with computer languages, focuses on the development of mathematical problem-solving skills, enabling them to write programs in the Python computer language, and enabling students to create applets. The District stated that the required endorsement is "Teacher of Mathematics."

Concato says that the course contains more technology material than mathematics. He says that he is qualified to teach the basic math skills which are part of this course under his Elementary Education K-6 endorsement course. He did not state that he is familiar with Python or any other particular computer languages.

I CONCLUDE that while Concato taught computer programming as part of a course called Computer Literacy for grades 7 and 8, Computer Programming with Python involves much deeper subject matter and is a math-oriented course. The District's requirement that the teacher of this course must have a "Teacher of Mathematics" endorsement is correct. I CONCLUDE that the subject matter set forth for Industrial Arts under the aforesaid statute does not comport with the requirements of Computer Programming with Python. I CONCLUDE that Concato does not possess all of the required credentials that would enable him to teach this course and therefore, as a matter of law, he has no legitimate claim to teach this course.

(5) Engineering Your World (Grades 10-12)

The District says that "Engineer Your World" is a component of the high school Science Department. It is a five-credit, full-year honors course wherein students engage in authentic engineering practices applying principles of engineering, science, technology, and mathematics. The required endorsements are "Teacher of Biological Science" or "Teacher of Physical Science." Concato says that his Industrial Arts/Technology certification authorizes him to teach this course. His argument assumes that he can utilize the Technology Education endorsement that he earned post-RIF to advance his claim to teach this course. As decided above, he cannot do so. Concato's claim can only be based on his Industrial Arts and Elementary Education endorsements.

I CONCLUDE that the "Engineer Your World" honors course requires a teacher with credentials in science and mathematics, namely a teacher who holds either an endorsement as a "Teacher of Biological Science" or "Teacher of Physical Science." I CONCLUDE that the requirement for either of these endorsements is correct. I CONCLUDE that Concato has not presented evidence of his expertise in all of the areas needed to teach this high school honors course. I CONCLUDE that Concato lacks the required credentials and, therefore, as a matter of law, has no legitimate claim to teach this course.

(6), (7), (8), (9) TV Production I (Grades 9-10); TV Production II (Grades 10-11); TV Production III (Grades 11-12); and Advanced Media Project (Grade12)

The District says that these four courses are components of the high school Art Department and together constitute a four-level series of television production courses. Each are five-credit, full-year courses. "TV Production I" teaches students the art skills (writing, acting, videotaping, and editing) needed to create video projects. "TV Production II" expands upon the skills acquired in "TV Production I" so as to enable students to obtain skills in interviewing, writing news stories, and the creation of documentaries and short films for TV broadcast on the school's television system. "TV Production III" builds upon the two previous courses in the series with an emphasis on the creation of stories and studio productions for broadcast on the school's TV system, web page, and YouTube channel. "Advanced Media Project" is a course for high school seniors who have excelled (grade of 85 or better) in "TV Production III." This course emphasizes close student-teacher collaboration on special media projects designed for the particular student's chosen interest. The District says that the required endorsements for "TV Production I" are either "Teacher of Audio/Visual Broadcast Production Technology" or "Teacher of Skilled Trades: Television Broadcasting." For the latter three courses the required endorsement is: "Teacher of Skilled Trades: Television Broadcasting."

Concato says that his Industrial Arts/Technology certificate authorizes him to teach these courses, that his certificate authorized him to teach courses in elementary school or middle school entitled "Information and Communication" and "Technology and Society," which he claims are part and parcel of the above-named courses. He adds that the original curriculum of the TV/Media courses were written by an Industrial Arts teacher.

I CONCLUDE that all four courses require a teacher to have an in-depth knowledge of all aspects of the use and operation of any equipment related to television production. They also require in-depth knowledge needed to teach students the skills related to interviewing, writing, and producing TV shows, documentaries, and movies. I CONCLUDE, as determined above, that Concato cannot utilize the Technology Education endorsement that he earned post-RIF. I CONCLUDE that Concato's credentials in Industrial Arts and Elementary Education are insufficient for teaching courses in Television Production and advanced television projects. I CONCLUDE that the requirement of an endorsement in either "Teacher of Audio/Visual Broadcast Television Production Technology" or "Teacher of Skilled Trades: Television Broadcasting" is correct. I CONCLUDE that Concato lacks the required credentials ("Teacher of Audio/Visual Broadcast Production Technology" or "Teacher of Skilled Trades: Television Broadcasting") and therefore, as a matter of law, he has no legitimate claim to teach these courses.

(10, 11, 12) Math Plus Algebra a/k/a Math Lab Algebra I; Algebra II Lab a/k/a Math Lab Algebra II; and Geometry Lab a/k/a Math Lab Geometry

The District says that the curriculum for each of these courses are as follows: "Math Lab Algebra I" is a five-credit, full-year course for high school students in need of remediation or extra assistance while they take the course in "Algebra I." "Math Lab Algebra II" is a five-credit, full-year course for high school students in need of remediation or extra assistance while they take the course in "Algebra II." "Math Lab Geometry" is a five-credit, full-year course for high school students in need of remediation or extra assistance while they take the course in "Geometry." All three courses are components of the Mathematics Department. The District stated that the required endorsement for these three positions is "Teacher of Mathematics."

Concato says that he is authorized to teach basic skills courses under his Elementary Education endorsement. In answer to Interrogatory Number 20 inquiring about the basis of his claim that he is entitled to teach remedial courses, he cites his aforementioned credentials and his unspecified previous teaching assignments.

I CONCLUDE based on Numbered Paragraph 4 of the "Joint Stipulation of Facts" that there is nothing in Concato's teaching history which demonstrates that he ever taught Algebra or Geometry to elementary, middle, or high school students. I CONCLUDE that the teaching of Mathematics is outside the scope of Industrial Arts as that endorsement is defined in the aforementioned statute. I CONCLUDE that the three aforementioned math courses require a teacher that holds the "Teacher of Mathematics" endorsement. I CONCLUDE that Concato lacks the required credentials (a "Teacher of Mathematics" endorsement) to teach "Math Lab Algebra I," "Math Lab Algebra II," or "Math Lab Geometry" and therefore, as a matter of law, he has no legitimate claim to teach any of these three courses.

(13, 14, 15, 16, 17) Digital Imaging; Animation; Digital Arts Major; Digital Illustration; Digital Commercial Design

The District says that all five of the above-listed courses are components of the Art Department. "Digital Imaging" is a five-credit, full-year course for grades 9 thru 12. In this course the student learns how to work with digital imaging software, how to distinguish between elements of art and principles of design with the goal of using desktop publishing software to produce a finished work product for a commercial or professional audience. "Animation" is a five-credit, full-year course for grades 9 thru 12 wherein the student is called-upon to learn the basic principles of animation, use various software, and ultimately create his own digital animated movie. "Digital Arts Major" is a five-credit, full-year course for grades 11 thru 12. This course builds upon previous courses to enable the student to expand his knowledge of digital software to solve design problems and produce portfolio-quality artwork. "Digital illustration" is a five-credit, full-year course for grades 9 thru 12. It emphasizes the student's use of Adobe Illustrator software to complete creative assignments is areas such as fashion, publishing, fine art, etc. "Digital Commercial design" is a five-credit, full-year course for grades 10 thru 12. Working alone or in teams on design projects, the students study the design and workflow process to create book illustrations, advertisements, packaging mock-ups, and game designs for everyday use. The District says the required endorsement is "Teacher of Art."

Concato says that his Industrial Arts and Elementary Education credentials qualify him to teach any of these courses. He has previously taught in each of these areas as part of the Middle School "Computer Literacy 7 & 8" courses.

I CONCLUDE that while Concato has taught courses in Middle School "Computer Literacy 7 & 8," the subject matter associated with the five above-listed high school courses is much deeper, is geared for students planning a career in jobs involving a high order of digital illustration and creative design. Moreover, the subject matter is decidedly art-oriented. I CONCLUDE that the subject matter set forth for Industrial Arts under the aforesaid statute does not comport with the requirements of any of the five, above-listed art courses. Moreover, I CONCLUDE that Concato cannot use the Technology Education endorsement, which he acquired post-RIF to advance his claim to teach these five courses. I CONCLUDE that the requirement of a "Teacher of Art" endorsement is correct. I CONCLUDE that Concato does not hold the "Teacher of Art" endorsement and therefore, as a matter of law, he has no legitimate claim to teach any of these five courses.

The District says that all three of these courses are components of the Art Department. "Introduction to Photography" is a five-credit, full-year course for grades 10-12. Together they can constitute a three-level series of photographic expertise. "Introduction to Photography" teaches students how to use traditional cameras, to develop black-and-white film, and later how to use digital cameras. "Advanced Photography" is a five-credit, full-year course for students in grades 10 thru 12, who have passed "Introduction to Photography." In "Advanced Photography" students expand upon their earlier knowledge, learn to use compute image processing software like Photoshop. In "Advanced Placement Photography" a five-credit, full-year course for grade 12 students only. These seniors are required to create a portfolio which demonstrates their developing sense of art, an appreciation of the depth of a particular artistic concern, and their formal, technical and expressive artistic abilities. The District says that the required endorsement is "Teacher of Art."

Concato says that his Industrial Arts and Elementary education credentials qualify him to teach any of these courses. He has previously taught in each of these areas as part of the Middle School "Computer Literacy 7 & 8" courses.

I CONCLUDE that while Concato has taught courses in middle school "Computer Literacy 7 & 8," the subject matter associated with the three Photography courses involves the use of film photography, not only digital photography. Concato has not presented any evidence demonstrating his expertise in the use of the various types of photographic equipment, film development, etc. Nor has he demonstrated training and expertise that would enable him to instill in his students the sense of artistic sensibility that is an essential element of each of these three courses. I CONCLUDE that the three photography courses are decidedly art-oriented. I CONCLUDE that the subject matter set forth for the Industrial Arts under the aforesaid statute does not comport with the requirements of any of the three, above-listed photography courses. I CONCLUDE that Concato cannot use the Technology Education endorsement, which he acquired post-RIF to advance his claim to teach these three courses. I CONCLUDE that the requirement of a "Teacher of Art" endorsement is correct. I CONCLUDE that Concato does not hold the "Teacher of Art" endorsement and therefore, as a matter of law, he has no legitimate claim to teach any of these three courses.

(21) World of Music & Music Technology 7

The District says that this course is a component of the Related Art Department. "World of Music" is a middle school course which introduces students to the fundamentals of music, including scales, chords, and music notation; the basics of recording and editing; and an appreciation of a wide variety of musical genres and composers. The District says that the New Jersey Department of Education, Bergen County office, issued a decision in July 2014 stating that the required endorsement for this position is "Teacher of Music."

Concato says that he was assigned to teach this course in June 2014 for the 2014-2015 school year. Then the course was re-assigned. His argument is that the assigning of this position to him means that he was deemed qualified to teach it.

I CONCLUDE that the District was required by N.J.S.A. 18A:26-2 and N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-5.1(a), (b), and (c) to follow the decision of the Department of Education requiring that the position must be filled by a person who holds a "Teacher of Music" endorsement. I CONCLUDE that Concato does not hold that endorsement and therefore, as a matter of law, he has no legitimate claim to teach this course.

(22) Painting and Printmaking

The District says that this course is a component of the high school Art Department. "Painting and Printmaking" is a five-credit, full-year course for students in grades 10 thru 12, who have passed Drawing & Sculpture. The goal of the course is to teach students to develop an understanding of aesthetics and principles of art. Students are taught to use acrylics, oil pastel, and ink to create paintings and prints using the techniques of pointillism, monotype, and chine colle.

Concato says that his Industrial Arts and Elementary Education credentials qualify him to teach any of these courses. He claims to have taught in each of these areas as part of the middle school "Computer Literacy 7 & 8" courses.

I CONCLUDE that while Concato has taught courses in middle school "Computer Literacy 7 & 8," the subject matter associated with "Painting and Printmaking" involves the use of paint, ink, and materials that are peculiar to the fine art of painting and the fine art of print-making. Concato has not presented any evidence demonstrating his expertise in the use of oils, acrylics, inks, brushes and other types of applicators, canvasses, linens, etc. which are used in the making of paintings and prints. Nor has he demonstrated training and expertise that would enable him to equip his students to use the aforesaid materials to create their own works of art. I CONCLUDE that the subject matter set forth for Industrial Arts under the aforesaid statute does not comport with the requirements of the "Painting & Printmaking" course. I CONCLUDE that the requirement of a "Teacher of Art" endorsement is correct. I CONCLUDE that Concato does not hold that endorsement and therefore, as a matter of law, he has no legitimate claim to teach this course.

I CONCLUDE that Concato has not met his burden to prove by a preponderance of the credible evidence that his credentials, as of the June 8, 2014, RIF, entitled him to teach any of the twenty-two disputed courses.

As stated previously, tenure is achieved in a particular position. Eligibility to teach in a newly created position or in another position is possible only when the two positions are "substantially similar". Dennery, supra, 131 N.J. at 639. A mere overlap of duties does not mean that the positions are similar. Id. at 640. Concato's tenure in the positions he has taught (by virtue of his endorsements in Industrial Arts and in Elementary Education Grades 5-8 with Specialization in Science) does not transfer to any of the twenty-two courses that he seeks to teach because he lacks the credentials to teach these courses and because the positions he seeks to teach have many additional duties and different responsibilities than the courses he has taught. The twenty-two courses are not "substantially similar" to the courses which he has previously taught. Because there is such dissimilarity between the positions in which Concato holds tenure and the credentials required for teaching the twenty-two positions which he seeks to teach, I CONCLUDE that the issue of seniority cannot and does not arise in this case.

Because Concato is a tenured teacher affected by a RIF, I CONCLUDE, per N.J.S.A. 18A:28-12, that his name must be maintained on a preferred eligible list in a position for which he is qualified.

ORDER

Having considered the moving papers and responding papers filed by the parties, and good cause having been shown, it is hereby ORDERED that the Summary Decision Motion filed by Petitioner, Concato, is hereby DENIED. It is further ORDERED that the Summary Decision Motion filed by the Respondent, River Dell Board of Education, is hereby GRANTED and that Summary Decision is hereby entered in favor of Respondent, River Dell Board of Education; and that Petitioner, Concato's name shall be placed and maintained on a preferred eligible list in the order of seniority for reemployment if and when a vacancy occurs in a position for which he is qualified.

I hereby FILE this Initial Decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Our File No. 650.10194

In the Matter of LUNA MISHOE, and STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF NEWARK, IN THE COUNTY OF ESSEX	SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

The Parties involved herein have voluntarily resolved all disputed matters and enter into the following Settlement Agreement (the "Settlement Agreement") that fully disposes of all issues in controversy between teacher LUNA MISHOE ("Mishoe") and the STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF NEWARK (the "School District"):

WHEREAS Mishoe is a tenured teaching staff member employed by the School District as a teacher;

WHEREAS the State District Superintendent of the School District ("Superintendent") certified tenure charges of alleged conduct unbecoming and alleged excessive absenteeism to the Commissioner of Education of New Jersey, captioned In the Matter of Luna Mishoe, State-Operated School District of the City of Newark, Essex County ("Tenure Charges"); and Employee filed an answer opposing the Tenure Charges; and the Commissioner of Education reviewed the Tenure Charges and Employee's answer and referred the matter to Arbitrator Mariann Schick ("Arbitrator") for a hearing;

WHEREAS due to the uncertainty of the outcome of arbitration, as well as the expenditure of resources due to multiple days of hearings with numerous witnesses, and the concern that school personnel may be removed from their educational duties and responsibilities during that time, the Parties wish to resolve this matter in accordance with the terms set forth herein rather than proceed with arbitration; and

WHEREAS the proposed settlement is in the best interest of the Parties and the public because it avoids an uncertain conclusion after protracted and costly proceedings at the expense of the public;

WHEREAS Mishoe has been advised of the Commissioner's duty to refer tenure determinations resulting in loss of position to the State Board of Examiners for possible suspension or revocation of certificate, and he has been advised of the School District's duty to report the resignation of any teaching staff member accused of unbecoming conduct;

NOW, THEREFORE, subject to approval by the Arbitrator, the Parties hereby agree as follows:

1. This Agreement shall be and is subject to final approval by the Arbitrator pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6(c), and shall be effective only upon the School District's receipt of a copy of this Agreement executed by the Arbitrator to indicate her approval of the Agreement. Counsel for the Parties shall jointly request the Arbitrator's approval of this Agreement and each shall take any and all necessary steps to effectuate dismissal of the Tenure Charges.

2. The effective date of this Settlement Agreement ("Effective Date") shall be the date of the School District's receipt of this Settlement Agreement, approved by the Arbitrator, provided that Employee has not exercised his right to rescind this Settlement Agreement in accordance with Paragraph 15 below. In the event of disapproval by the Arbitrator or any failure to act on such approval, this Settlement Agreement shall be void and of no effect, and both Parties shall have the right to pursue any and all matters relating to the other, including but not limited to the Tenure Charge.

3. Mishoe hereby agrees to resign from his tenured position of employment with the School District, effective June 23, 2016 (the "Resignation Date"). Attached is a copy of Mishoe's signed Letter of Resignation (Exhibit A). Mishoe's separation from employment will be deemed a voluntary resignation in good standing. Upon inquiry from any third Parties, the School District will only confirm Mishoe's employment, position, title, salary and dates of employment. Should Respondent apply for New Jersey State Unemployment Benefits, the School District will not oppose Respondent's application for those benefits.

4. Mishoe also agrees to withdraw with prejudice any and all claims or suits that he may have previously filed against the School District that remain pending in any and all courts and/or before any and all agencies with the exception of workers compensation claims and entitlement to pension benefits. This Settlement is intended to be the final resolution of all outstanding matters between the School District and Mishoe. Should Mishoe fail to submit letters of withdrawal and/or stipulations of dismissal for any such pending claims or suits, this Settlement Agreement will serve as Mishoe's formal written notice of withdrawal of those pending claims or suits, except for workers compensation claims and pension benefits.

5. In exchange, the School District shall pay Mishoe salary and benefits, at his current rate of pay and in accordance with the terms and conditions of its benefit plans and policies, retroactive to March 28, 2016 through the Resignation Date. In addition, Mr. Mishoe's medical benefits will continue through September 1, 2016. Other than the retroactive salary and benefits that he receives pursuant to this paragraph, Mishoe will not receive any further monies or benefits from the School District in exchange for this Settlement Agreement.

6. The District agrees not to independently seek the suspension or revocation of Respondent's teaching certification or license or seek to prevent him from applying for or receiving pension benefits on any grounds related to tenure charges or his resignation pursuant to this Settlement Agreement.

7. Mishoe understands and acknowledges that the School District intends to report the State Board of Examiners the occurrence of Respondent's resignation in accordance with the requirements of N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.4. The School District will not take any action or position regarding Mishoe's teaching certification or license. Mishoe acknowledges that the District is required to cooperate with any requests of the State Board of Examiners in relation to his certification and license and agrees that such cooperation will not violate the terms of this Agreement.

8. The School District agrees not to pursue any disciplinary action, including tenure charges or any action seeking termination of Mishoe's employment, so long as this Settlement Agreement remains in effect and is not voided by any court or administrative agency of competent jurisdiction. However, if this Settlement Agreement is voided, the School District retains the right to pursue disciplinary action or any other action against Mishoe, including termination of his employment.

9. As of the Resignation Date, all of Mishoe's employment rights, including but not limited to salary, tenure and seniority will permanently end with the exception of insurance coverage that is extended as described in Paragraph 5.

10. Mishoe agrees that he will not apply for reemployment, in any capacity, with the School District at any time. Furthermore, Mishoe will specifically be considered to have permanently resigned from his tenured position as teacher as a result of this Settlement Agreement. If Mishoe does apply for reemployment with the School District, in any capacity, and is approved for employment, the terms of this Settlement Agreement shall control and be grounds for immediate termination of Mishoe's employment.

11. This Settlement shall not constitute a precedent in any matters involving other employees.

12. Except as noted above, Mishoe waives all claims of any nature against the School District with regard to his employment with and/or his separation from the School District including fees, or other monetary relief, with the exception of workers' compensation claims and pension benefit claims.

13. By entering into this Settlement Agreement, and in exchange for good consideration as set forth in Paragraphs 4 and 5 above, the sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged by the Parties, Mishoe releases and discharges the School District, the State District Superintendent, its Advisory Board of Education and its Advisory Board members, and any and all other School District officers, employees, representatives, agents, successors and assigns (collectively, the "Released Parties") with respect to all claims or rights that he has or may have against the School District regarding his employment with the School District. This includes without limitation any and all actions, claims, and liabilities of whatsoever kind or character, in law or in equity, now known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, directly or indirectly related to Mishoe's employment with the School District and separation from the School District. It specifically includes, without limitation, all claims which Mishoe may have regarding tenure, withholding of increment, discrimination on any basis, any federal or state civil rights law, any alleged violation of the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, as amended; the Older Worker Benefits Protection Act; Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended; Sections 1981 through 1988 of Title 42 of the United States Code; the Civil Rights Act of 1991; the Equal Pay Act; the Americans with Disabilities Act; the Rehabilitation Act; the Family and Medical Leave Act; the Fair Labor Standards Act; the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended; the Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act; the National Labor Relations Act; the Fair Credit Reporting Act; the Occupational Safety and Health Act; the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Act; the Employee Polygraph Protection Act; the Immigration Reform Control Act; the retaliation provisions of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002; the Federal False Claims Act; the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination; the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act; the New Jersey Family Leave Act; the New Jersey Wage and Hour Law; the New Jersey Equal Pay Law; the New Jersey Occupational Safety and Health Law; the New Jersey Smokers' Rights Law; the New Jersey Genetic Privacy Act; the New Jersey Fair Credit Reporting Act; New Jersey Wages and Hours Law, unemployment compensations laws, disability benefits laws, the retaliation provisions of the New Jersey Workers' Compensation Law (and including any and all amendments to the above), the United States Constitution, the New Jersey Constitution and/or any other alleged violation of any federal, state or local law, regulation or ordinance, common law and/or contract or implied contract or collective bargaining/contractual claim or tort law or public policy or whistleblower claim, having any bearing whatsoever on her employment by and the termination of his employment with the School District, including, but not limited to, any claim for wrongful discharge, back pay, front pay, vacation pay, sick pay, wage, commission or bonus payment, attorneys fees, costs, and/or future wage loss, except for workers compensation claims and pension benefit claims. Mishoe agrees to save, hold harmless and indemnify the School District for any legal costs and attorneys fees associated with the enforcement of the terms of this Settlement Agreement should enforcement become necessary.

14. Notwithstanding Paragraph 13 of this Settlement Agreement, it is understood and agreed that the Parties are not prohibited from communicating with or participating in any administrative proceeding before the United States Department of Labor, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, or any other federal, state or local law agency. Should any entity, agency commission or person file a charge, action, complaint or lawsuit against the School District based upon any of the above-released claims in Paragraph 13, Mishoe agrees not to seek or accept any resulting relief whatsoever.

15. To comply with the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act of 1990, if applicable, this Agreement advises Mishoe of the legal requirements of the Act, and fully incorporates the legal requirements by reference into this Settlement Agreement. Accordingly, by executing this Settlement Agreement, Mishoe acknowledges that he: (i) fully understands the terms and conditions of this Settlement Agreement; (ii) has consulted with an attorney to review the Settlement Agreement; (iii) specifically waives his right to pursue any current claims he may have under the Age Discrimination in Employment Act; (iv) has been given sufficient time within which to consider this Settlement Agreement; and (v) has seven (7) days from the date of the execution of this Settlement Agreement to revoke it. Mishoe understands that he may rescind this Settlement Agreement within seven (7) calendar days of Mishoe of executing it, and that such rescission must be in writing and delivered to counsel for the School District either by hand or by certified mail within the seven-day period.

16. The Parties respectively acknowledge that counsel has advised them regarding this Settlement Agreement and that each is signing this Settlement Agreement freely and voluntarily, without duress, coercion or pressure from the other party.

17. This Settlement Agreement constitutes the full agreement between the Parties, and shall be construed and enforced in accordance with New Jersey law.

18. If any provision or portion of a provision of this Settlement Agreement is held by a court of competent jurisdiction, or determined under applicable federal or state law to be invalid, void, or unenforceable, the remaining provisions or remaining portions of a provision will continue and remain in full force and effect.

19. This Settlement Agreement is subject to final approval by the State District Superintendant of the State-Operated School District of the City of Newark and will only become effective, as per its Effective Date as described in Paragraph 2, upon the approval of the Superintendent. Any disapproval by the Superintendent shall not interfere with the rights of either party to pursue the matter further.

PETITIONER,	:

STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF NEWARK, ESSEX COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner challenged her reassignment from a supervisor position to a non-supervisory position, contending that the action violated her tenure and seniority rights. Petitioner was notified in June 2013 that her position as Central Office Supervisor in the Office of Bilingual/ESL Education would be eliminated; that she would revert to her prior position of Elementary teacher; and that she would be paid through August 2013, and then placed on a preferred eligible list for future employment with the district. Petitioner filed the within appeal in November 2013, seeking reinstatement to a supervisory position and back pay. Subsequently, in August 2014, petitioner submitted a letter resigning her position with the respondent District. The District filed a motion for summary decision, contending, inter alia, that the case was both untimely filed and mooted by petitioner's resignation.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: a case is moot when the determination sought cannot have any practical effect on the existing controversy; an employee who voluntarily resigns has no standing to pursue an appeal; in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i), petitioner was required to file her appeal no later than 90 days from the date of receipt of final notice from the respondent that her position was to be eliminated; petitioner failed to file her appeal with the required time limit, and offered no reasons why this requirement should be relaxed; and these issues are dispositive of the case. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that the petition must be dismissed.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusions. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL was adopted as the final decision in this matter. The petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions to the Initial Decision.

Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) determination that the petition of appeal was time-barred under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i).[1] Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter and the petition of appeal is dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[2]

Date of Decision: 2/21/17
Date of Mailing: 2/22/17

[1] Although it was not necessary to reach a determination on the substance of the appeal because the petition was untimely filed, the Commissioner is also in accord with the ALJ's finding – for the reasons articulated in the Initial Decision – that the matter is moot because the petitioner voluntarily resigned from the district.

[2] This decision may be appealed to the Appellate Division of the Superior Court pursuant to P.L. 2008, c. 36. (N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9.1).

YASMIN HERNANDEZ-MANNO,
Petitioner,
v.
STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF NEWARK, ESSEX COUNTY,
Respondent.

Yasmin Hernandez-Manno, pro se

Ramon E. Rivera, Esq., Christina M. Michelson, Esq., and Shana T. Don, Esq., for respondent (Scarinci & Hollenbeck, attorneys)

Record Closed: January 6, 2017 Decided: January 6, 2017

BEFORE RICHARD McGILL, ALJ:

Yasmin Hernandez-Manno ("petitioner") challenges her reassignment by the State-Operated School District of the City of Newark ("respondent" or "District") from a supervisor to a non-supervisory position as a violation of her tenure and seniority rights. As relief, petitioner seeks reinstatement with back pay.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner filed her petition with the Commissioner of Education on November 29, 2013, pursuant to the Commissioner's authority under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9 to hear and determine disputes arising under the education laws. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on December 27, 2013, for determination as a contested case.

On December 29, 2014, respondent filed a motion for summary decision. By letter dated January 22, 2015, respondent requested on behalf of both parties an adjournment of scheduled hearing dates. The letter advises that petitioner's attorney was seriously ill and in the hospital and requested a 30-day extension of the time for petitioner to respond to respondent's motion. Both requests were granted.

After petitioner's attorney could not be reached for a telephone status conference on March 7, 2016, the undersigned sent a letter to petitioner's attorney inquiring as to the status of his representation of petitioner. No response was received from petitioner's attorney.

By letter dated April 29, 2016, to petitioner, the undersigned requested that she clarify her representation in this matter. In a letter dated May 11, 2016, petitioner stated that she also had not been able to contact her attorney and that she was seeking new legal representation. By letter dated June 16, 2016, respondent advised that it had been contacted by two attorneys in regard to petitioner's appeal, but no appearance was entered on her behalf. By letter dated June 30, 2016, the undersigned advised that if an appearance was not entered on behalf of petitioner within 20 days of the date of the letter, the motion for summary decision would be submitted for disposition. Thereafter, no appearance was entered on behalf of petitioner, but the matter was held in abeyance to give her additional time to find legal representation. Letters were received from two attorney's advising that they did not represent petitioner.

MOTION FOR SUMMARY DECISION

A. Legal Standard

A motion for summary decision should be granted where there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). The same standard is applied in the courts of this State pursuant to R. 4:46-2. Summary judgment "is designed to provide a prompt, businesslike and inexpensive method" to dispose of actions which do not present any genuine issue of material fact. Judson v. Peoples Bank & Trust Co. of Westfield, 17 N.J. 67, 74 (1954). Although the pleadings may raise a factual issue, summary judgment procedure pierces the allegations in the pleadings, where the other papers show the absence of any genuine issue of material fact. Ibid. Excessive caution which would undercut the purposes of a motion for summary judgment should be avoided. Pierce v. Ortho Pharmaceutical Corp., 84 N.J. 58, 65 (1980).

In determining whether there exists a genuine issue as to a material fact, the judge must "consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party in consideration of the applicable evidentiary standard, are sufficient to permit a rational fact finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party." Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of America, 142 N.J., 520, 523 (1995).

B. Respondent's Position

Respondent advances four main arguments in support of its motion. First, petitioner resigned from her position with the District, and therefore, the petition should be dismissed as moot. Second, the petition of appeal was not filed in a timely manner. Third, respondent acted in good faith in implementing a reduction in force, which resulted in the elimination of petitioner's position. Fourth, no tenure rights exists in an "Executive Director" position, and therefore, petitioner is not entitled to claim an executive director position based on any alleged seniority rights.

C. Facts

There are no genuine issues of fact in regard to respondent's first and second arguments. During the 2012-2013 school year, petitioner was employed by respondent in the position of Central Office Supervisor in the Office of Bilingual/ESL Education. By letter dated June 21, 2013, sent by overnight delivery and PDF email, respondent advised petitioner that her current position would be eliminated and that she would revert to her prior position of Elementary Teacher. Further, her current salary would end on August 31, 2013, and she would be placed on a preferred eligible list for future employment with the District. Petitioner filed her Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner on November 27, 2013. During the following year, petitioner sent a letter dated August 5, 2014, to respondent's superintendent resigning her position with respondent effective August 25, 2014.

D. Analysis

Respondent's first argument is that the petition in this matter should be dismissed as moot because petitioner resigned from her position with the District. A case is moot when the determination sought cannot have any practical effect on the existing controversy. Greenfield v. New Jersey Dep't of Corrections, 382 N.J. Super. 254, 257-58 (App. Div. 2006).

An employee who voluntarily resigns her position has no standing to pursue an appeal. DeKenipp v. Bd. of Educ. of the Township of Wall, Monmouth County, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 07786-10, Final Decision (July 15, 2011). Here, petitioner voluntarily resigned her employment effective August 25, 2014. Petitioner can no longer pursue her appeal. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the petition in this matter should be dismissed as moot.

Respondent's second argument is that the petition was not filed in a timely manner and that therefore the petition should be dismissed. In accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i), petitioner was required to file her petition no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice from respondent. Here, petitioner filed her petition well beyond ninety days after receipt of the notice. Under the circumstances, petitioner failed to file her petition within the time limit set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i). Further, petitioner has not advanced any reasons to relax this requirement pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.16. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the petition in this matter should be dismissed because it was not filed in a timely manner.

The determinations in regard to respondent's first and second arguments are dispositive of the case. Under the circumstances, it is unnecessary to consider respondent's third and fourth arguments.

Based upon the above, I CONCLUDE that the petition in this matter must be dismissed. Accordingly, it is ORDERED that the petition in this matter be dismissed.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner alleged that the District violated her tenure rights by terminating her employment, contending that she had acquired tenure while working as a technology coordinator for fourteen years. Petitioner's position as technology coordinator was abolished at the end of the 2013-2014 school year, and she was re-assigned to the position of fifth grade teacher for the 2014-2015 school year. Petitioner was then quickly promoted to the title of lead educator, and she obtained the required provisional principal certificate for this new position. In May 2016, petitioner was notified that her employment as lead educator would be terminated effective June 28, 2016; further, she was told that she had no "bumping rights" or entitlements to other positions in the District. Petitioner filed the within appeal in July 2016. The District filed a motion to dismiss in lieu of an answer, arguing that petitioner did not accrue tenure under her instructional certificate through her service in the technology coordinator position because it was a non-instructional position that required no classroom instruction commensurate with her elementary teaching certificate. Alternatively, the District asserted that petitioner relinquished any alleged tenure rights as an elementary teacher when she accepted the manager of school operations position – a non-tenured, non-teaching position that requires no certification – in August 2016.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: the respondent District's motion to dismiss, which raises a matter outside of the petition – i.e., petitioner's acceptance of a non-tenurable position following her dismissal – has therefore been considered a motion for summary decision, and petitioner's response thereto has been treated as a cross-motion for summary judgment; the issues herein are whether petitioner acquired tenure while serving as a technology coordinator and whether she is entitled to summary decision as a matter of law; petitioner met the requirements for tenure under N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 because she worked in a position for which a teaching certificate was required, held the appropriate certificate, and served the requisite period of time; contrary to the District's arguments, N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 does not require that a position be instructional or involve classroom instruction in order to be tenurable, but rather the key to tenure is whether the employee's position requires a valid certificate from the Board of Examiners – not the specific duties of the position; petitioner should have been returned to an elementary school teacher position when the District eliminated the lead educator position to which petitioner had been promoted; and petitioner's acceptance of the manager of school operations position after she had filed her appeal did not erase her tenure entitlement. The ALJ concluded that petitioner's tenure rights were violated and ordered the District to return petitioner to an elementary teaching position, together with lost salary and benefits, less mitigation.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusions, and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. The petition was dismissed.

STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF CAMDEN, CAMDEN COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Respondent's exceptions and petitioner's reply thereto – submitted in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 – were also considered by the Commissioner. Upon a comprehensive review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner is in accord with the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) decision.

The ALJ found that the petitioner acquired tenure in the District based on her fourteen years of service as a technology coordinator because the position required petitioner to have a standard teaching certificate;[1] therefore, the Board violated petitioner's tenure rights when it failed to place her in a position that she was entitled to by virtue of her tenure. The ALJ further found that petitioner did not relinquish her tenure rights when she accepted a non-tenurable position in the District, because she accepted the non-tenurable position after the Board violated her tenure rights and subsequent to the filing of this petition.

The exceptions substantially reiterate the substance of respondent's submissions at the OAL, recasting the arguments therein to support the Board's contention that the ALJ erroneously concluded that petitioner had acquired tenure in the District. Respondent's exceptions unpersuasively argue that the ALJ erred in granting petitioner's cross-motion for summary decision because there was no evidence in the record that the petitioner earned tenure in an unrecognized position, and the petitioner did not earn tenure as a teaching staff member because she never performed instructional duties. In its exceptions, the Board elaborates on its previous argument that the position is unrecognized, adding that the record in this matter is not clear as to whether the position of technology coordinator – an unrecognized position – was properly approved by the Executive County Superintendent (ECS) pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-5.5. Furthermore, the Board reiterates that the duties performed in a position, not the position itself, is the controlling factor for accrual of tenure; therefore, petitioner did not acquire tenure as a teacher because she did not perform instructional duties in her position as a technology coordinator.

In reply, petitioner also restates the positions advanced in her submissions at the OAL. Petitioner adds, however, that respondent's arguments regarding the unrecognized status of the position and whether it was approved by the ECS serve to invalidate the job description for the position, which the Board is relying on to argue that petitioner could not have acquired tenure. Petitioner argues that ECS approval of the position is the Board's responsibility, and therefore, if the position was not approved by ECS, then principles of justifiable reliance and equitable estoppel apply in this matter. Petitioner further contends that the record pertaining to any approval of the unrecognized position is a matter of public record. Finally, petitioner reiterates that the right to tenure is governed by the plain language of N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5, not the duties of the position.

Adopting respondent's contention that the ALJ improperly ruled that petitioner earned tenure in an unrecognized position would require the Commissioner to ignore the plain language of N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 and N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-5.5. N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 provides in pertinent part, "[t]he services of all teaching staff members employed . . . in the positions of teacher[] . . . and such other employees as are in positions which require them to hold appropriate certificates issued by the board of examiners . . . shall be under tenure" (emphasis added). In other words, if a position – even if not specifically enumerated – requires a board issued certificate in order for the employee to serve in that position, then the employee will acquire tenure following passage of the requisite time period. Therefore, petitioner's service as a technology coordinator – which position is not explicitly listed in N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5, but requires a standard teaching certificate – will be under tenure.

Whether the unrecognized position of technology coordinator was approved by the ECS is inconsequential to the determination of tenure rights: neither the tenure statute nor N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-5.5 indicate that an employee will be deemed not tenured if an unrecognized position is not approved by the ECS.[2] See Ciamillo v. Bd. of Educ. of Ridgefield, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 1805-04, State Board Decision No. 38-05 (January 4, 2006) (clarifying that the position in which tenure is acquired by virtue of service in an unrecognized position title is not limited by the unrecognized title because it is well established that the position in which an individual achieves tenure is either one of those specifically enumerated in the statute or other employment for which a certificate is required); see also, Manley v. Bd. of Educ. of Old Bridge Twp., OAL Dkt. No. EDU 10644-04, Commissioner Decision No. 450-05 (December 19, 2005) (holding, "[i]t is well established that tenure is achieved in a specific position, and the scope of the tenured position is initially limited by the certificate the teaching staff member must hold to satisfy the prerequisite of qualifications for his or her employment . . ." and finding "the scope of tenure protection for unrecognized positions is also determined by the certifications and endorsements required to serve in that position.") Additionally, it is the board's responsibility to obtain approval from the ECS. Assuming, arguendo, that approval was necessary for accrual of tenure in the position and the Board had failed to obtain approval from the ECS, holding petitioner accountable in any way for the Board's administrative failure would contravene the principles of fairness and equity.

With regard to respondent's exception that duties performed in a position – not the position itself – control the accrual of tenure, and that petitioner did not obtain tenure as a teaching staff member because she did not perform instructional duties in her position as a technology coordinator, the Board again expects the Commissioner to disregard the language of the tenure statute. In fact, "a teaching staff member has tenure in all positions for which his instructional certificate qualifies him." Ellicott v. Bd. of Educ. of Frankford Twp., 251 N.J. Super. 342, 349 (App. Div. 1991). Therefore, petitioner – who was employed as a technology coordinator in the District for fourteen years and had the requisite certificate qualifying her for the position – obtained tenure in that position, as well as in the position of an elementary school teacher.

The tenure statute should be "liberally construed to achieve its beneficent ends." Spiewak v. Bd. of Educ. of Hamilton Twp., et al., 90 N.J. 63, 74 (N.J. 1982). Here, petitioner served as a technology coordinator for fourteen years, a position which required a standard teaching certification; therefore, petitioner obtained tenure in the District under her instructional certification both as a technology coordinator and as an elementary school teacher. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition is hereby dismissed without prejudice.

v.
CITY OF CAMDEN STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT, CAMDEN COUNTY,
Respondent.

Louis R. Lessig, Esq., appearing for respondent, City of Camden State-Operated School District, Camden County (Brown & Connery, LLP, attorneys)

Record Closed: December 5, 2016 Decided: January 4, 2017

BEFORE SUSAN M. SCAROLA, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner Danele Still alleges that the respondent, the State-Operated School District of the City of Camden (District), violated her tenure rights by terminating her employment. She alleges that she acquired tenure while working for fourteen years as a technology coordinator; she further alleges that she did not relinquish any tenure rights earned as technology coordinator when she accepted the non-tenurable position of manager, school operations, in 2016.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On July 21, 2016, petitioner filed a Petition of Appeal (Petition) with the Commissioner of Education. On or about August 9, 2016, petitioner accepted the full-time position of manager, school operations, at the Cream Family School for the 2016–17 academic year, stating that this was without prejudice to her Petition and without waiver or relinquishment of any tenure entitlement.

On September 16, 2016, respondent filed a Motion to Dismiss in Lieu of Answer. On September 20, 2016, the Commissioner transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. On October 6, 2016, the petitioner filed a response to the respondent's motion to dismiss in lieu of an answer. The record closed on December 5, 2016.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

On or about September 1, 1992, petitioner, Danele Still, began her employment for the District. She worked at the Cream Family School as a fourth-grade teacher, and then as a third-grade teacher, until the end of the 1998–99 school term. While serving as a teacher, petitioner held an instructional teaching certificate with an elementary school endorsement.

During the 1999–2000 school year, petitioner served as a K–5 computer teacher in the Mount Laurel School District. Petitioner returned to Camden for the 2000–01 school term to work as a technology coordinator. As technology coordinator, petitioner served "as a liaison between the school and the Technology Department to assist the principal in implementing building and staff technology needs." As indicated in the job description, the position required a "Standard Teaching Certificate." Petitioner served as technology coordinator in the District from the 2000–01 school term through the end of the 2013–14 school term, when the position was abolished.

Petitioner remained employed by the District and was assigned to the position of fifth-grade teacher at the Forest Hill Elementary School at the start of the 2014–2015 school year. After only one week in this position, petitioner was promoted to the title of lead educator. Petitioner obtained a provisional principal certificate, as required for the new position. Petitioner remained in the position of lead educator for the rest of the 2014–15 school year and the entire 2015–16 school year. On May 11, 2016, petitioner received a letter indicating that her employment as lead educator would be terminated effective June 28, 2016, and that she had no "bumping rights" or entitlements to any other positions in the District.

On July 21, 2016, petitioner filed a Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner of Education, arguing that she is a tenured teacher by virtue of her fourteen years of service in the technology coordinator position. Accordingly, petitioner contends that she has a superior claim to any teaching position held by a non-tenured staff member and that respondent's failure to appoint her to a teaching position violates her tenure rights under N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5. On or about August 9, 2016, petitioner accepted the full-time position of manager, school operations, at the Cream Family School for the 2016–17 academic year. The title is an unrecognized, non-tenured position and does not require a teaching certificate. Petitioner's counsel sent correspondence to respondent indicating that petitioner accepted the position without prejudice to her Petition and without waiver or relinquishment of any tenure entitlement.

In its Motion to Dismiss in Lieu of Answer, respondent argues that (1) petitioner did not accrue tenure under her instructional certificate due to her service in the technology coordinator position because it was a non-instructional position that required no classroom instruction commensurate with the certificate and, alternatively,

(2) petitioner relinquished any alleged tenure rights as an elementary school teacher when she accepted the manager, school operations, position, "a distinct non-tenured, non-certificated, non-teaching staff position."

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

A. Should the respondent's motion to dismiss in lieu of answer be converted into a motion for summary decision, and the petitioner's response to the motion to dismiss be treated as a cross-motion for summary decision?

While the regulations governing controversies and disputes before the Commissioner allow a respondent to file a motion to dismiss in lieu of answer "on the grounds that the petitioner has advanced no cause of action even if the petitioner's factual allegations are accepted as true," N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(g) and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.10, respondent's motion to dismiss may be converted into a motion for summary decision because respondent's dismissal motion includes a matter outside of the pleadings of the original Petition. In such case, the petitioner's response to the motion to dismiss may be treated as a cross-motion for summary decision.

Here, the respondent's motion to dismiss should be converted to a motion for summary decision because respondent therein introduces the fact that petitioner accepted a non-tenurable position following her dismissal, which is not contained in the Petition.[1] The Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules (UAPR), N.J.A.C. 1:1-1.1 to -21.6, which are designed "to achieve just results, simplicity in procedure, fairness in administration and the elimination of unjustifiable expense and delay," provide that "[i]n the absence of a rule, a judge may proceed in accordance with the New Jersey Court Rules, provided the rules are compatible with these purposes." N.J.A.C. 1:1-1.3(a). According to New Jersey Court Rule 4:6-2, "[i]f, on a motion to dismiss based on the defense [of failure to state a cause of action], matters outside the pleading are presented . . . the motion shall be treated as one for summary judgment." Thus, this matter can proceed in accordance with R. 4:6-2 because it is compatible with the purposes of the UAPR. The respondent's motion to dismiss, which raises a matter outside of the Petition, is therefore considered a motion for summary decision.

Accordingly, the petitioner's response to the motion to dismiss shall be treated as a cross-motion for summary decision because, in line with the standard for summary decision under N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5, she argues that there is no genuine issue of material fact and that she is therefore entitled to a decision finding that she acquired tenure as technology coordinator.

In a contested case, the standard for a motion for summary decision is "if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). Here, the issue is whether petitioner acquired tenure while serving as a technology coordinator and whether she is entitled to summary decision as a matter of law.

B. Did the petitioner acquire tenure in all positions for which she was qualified under her instructional certificate, while serving as technology coordinator?

The purpose of the teaching staff tenure laws, N.J.S.A. 18A:28-1 to -18, is "to aid in the establishment of a competent and efficient school system by affording teaching staff members 'a measure of security in the ranks they hold after years of service.'" Carpenito v. Rumson Bd. of Educ., 322 N.J. Super. 522, 528–29 (App. Div. 1999) (quoting Viemeister v. Prospect Park Bd. of Educ., 5 N.J. Super. 215, 218 (App. Div. 1949)). In order to acquire tenure, a teaching staff member "must comply with the precise conditions articulated in the [tenure] statute." Zimmerman v. Bd. of Educ. of Newark, 38 N.J. 65, 72 (1962). Thus, a teaching staff member "is entitled to tenure if (1) she works in a position for which a teaching certificate is required; (2) she holds the appropriate certificate; and (3) she has served the requisite period of time." Spiewak v. Summit Bd. of Educ., 90 N.J. 63, 74 (1982); N.J.S.A. 18A:28-2; N.J.S.A. 18A:28-4; N.J.S.A. 18A:26-5; N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6.

Under N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5,

> [t]he services of all teaching staff members employed . . . in the positions of teacher, principal, other than administrative principal, assistant principal, vice-principal, assistant superintendent, and all school nurses including school nurse supervisors, head school nurses, chief school nurses, school nurse coordinators, and any other nurse performing school nursing services, school athletic trainer and such other employees as are in positions which require them to hold appropriate certificates issued by the board of examiners . . . shall be under tenure during good behavior and efficiency and they shall not be dismissed or reduced in compensation except for inefficiency, incapacity, or conduct unbecoming such a teaching staff member or other just cause and then only in the manner prescribed by subarticle B of article 2 of chapter 6 of this Title, after employment in such district or by such board for:
>
> > (1) Three consecutive calendar years, or any shorter period which may be fixed by the employing board for such purpose; or
> >
> > (2) Three consecutive academic years, together with employment at the beginning of the next succeeding academic year; or
> >
> > (3) The equivalent of more than three academic years within a period of any four consecutive academic years.
>

A teaching staff member is defined as

> [a] member of the professional staff of any district or regional board of education, or any board of education of a county vocational school, holding office, position or employment of such character that the qualifications, for such office, position or employment, require him to hold a valid and effective standard, provisional or emergency certificate appropriate to his office, position or employment, issued by the State Board of Examiners and includes a school nurse and a school athletic trainer.

Once tenure is earned, "a teaching staff member has tenure in all positions for which his instructional certificate qualifies him." Ellicott v. Bd. of Educ. of Frankford, 251 N.J. Super. 342, 349 (App. Div. 1991); see also Capodilupo v. Bd. of Educ. of W. Orange, 218 N.J. Super. 510 (App. Div. 1987), certif. denied, 109 N.J. 514 (1987) (holding that a tenured teacher seeking reinstatement within the endorsements on his or her certificate is entitled to preference in a reduction in force as against a non-tenured applicant with the same certification, despite the fact that the tenured teacher had no "demonstrable experience" under the endorsement).

Here, petitioner met the requirements for tenure under N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 because she worked in a position for which a teaching certificate was required, held the appropriate certificate, and served the requisite period of time. In particular, the job description for the position of technology coordinator explicitly required a Standard New Jersey Teaching Certificate, petitioner held this certificate, and she worked as technology coordinator for approximately fourteen years. Moreover, when petitioner acquired tenure as technology coordinator, she also acquired tenure in all positions for which she was qualified under her instructional certificate. In this case, since petitioner held an elementary school endorsement, she earned tenure in all elementary teaching positions.

Respondent argues that petitioner did not accrue tenure while serving as technology coordinator because it was a "non-instructional position that required no classroom instruction whatsoever commensurate with her teaching certificate." (Respondent's Brief at 4.) Respondent points to the technology coordinator job description and notes that the duties of the position were "purely managerial." (Id. at 7.) Thus, according to respondent, "common sense dictates Petitioner did not accrue tenure under her elementary school teacher certificate due to her service in this position." (Id. at 4.)

However, N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 does not require that a position be "instructional" or involve "classroom instruction" in order to be tenurable. Under the statute, the key to tenure is whether the employee's position requires him or her to hold a valid certificate from the Board of Examiners, not the specific duties of the position. The job description for the technology coordinator title unambiguously required a "Standard Teaching Certificate."[2] As petitioner indicates, "[t]he District cannot have it both ways—it cannot require a certain certificate, and then claim the job functions render that requirement ineffectual."

Respondent also unpersuasively argues that petitioner did not accrue tenure in the technology coordinator position because the position is not a separately tenurable position enumerated in N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5. The plain language of the statute suggests that it was not intended to provide an exhaustive list of positions that are eligible for tenure. After naming a number of positions, the statute provides that tenure may be accrued by "such other employees as are in positions which require them to hold appropriate certificates issued by the board of examiners." N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5. As technology coordinator, petitioner was required to hold a "Standard Teaching Certificate," or instructional certificate, and therefore falls into this category. For these reasons, the position of technology coordinator was a tenurable position, and petitioner accrued tenure as a result of her fourteen years working under this title.

C. Is the petitioner entitled to an elementary school teaching position?

When respondent eliminated the lead educator position to which petitioner had been promoted, petitioner should have been returned to an elementary school teacher position for which she was qualified. According to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6, > in the event the employment in such new position is terminated before tenure is obtained therein, if he then has tenure in the district or under said board of education, such teaching staff member shall be returned to his former position at the salary which he would have received had the transfer or promotion not occurred together with any increase to which he would have been entitled during the period of such transfer or promotion.

[2] Further, although it is not determinative, the technology coordinator job description explicitly indicates that the position was intended to be a ten-month "tenured position."

Here, petitioner earned tenure as technology coordinator and, once the position was abolished, she briefly worked as a fifth-grade teacher before she was promoted to lead educator.[3] Since petitioner held the lead educator title for only two years before the position was eliminated, she did not acquire tenure by virtue of her service in said position. However, because she had previously acquired tenure in the District, she should have, in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6(b), been "returned to [her] former position at the salary which [she] would have received had the transfer or promotion not occurred together with any increase to which [she] would have been entitled during the period of such transfer or promotion." Thus, petitioner should have been returned to an elementary school teacher position for which she was qualified.[4]

The fact that petitioner accepted the manager, school operations, position should not alter this conclusion. Upon the voluntary acceptance of a non-tenurable position, a school-district employee typically relinquishes any protections associated with her previously tenured title. See, e.g., Colon-Serrano v. Plainfield Bd. of Educ., EDU 11588-06, Comm'r (January 28, 2008), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/> (finding that an employee who had earned tenure as an attendance aide lost the protections associated with the position when she accepted the non-tenurable position of classroom aide); see also DiNapoli v. Bd. of Educ. of Verona, 434 N.J. Super. 233, 240 (App. Div. 2014) (holding that a secretary relinquished her tenure rights when she voluntarily transferred to the position of assistant school business administrator, thus giving up her right to "bump" a non-tenured secretarial employee when the administrator position was eliminated).

Here, however, petitioner accepted the manager position after respondent violated her tenure rights and failed to place her in a position to which her tenure entitled her. Indeed, petitioner explains that she accepted the non-tenurable manager, [3] Neither party explicitly addresses whether the lead educator position was a tenurable title. However, petitioner notes that the position required a principal certificate. (Petition of Appeal, ¶13.) Such a requirement suggests that the position was tenurable under N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5. Respondent does not appear to challenge this conclusion.

[4] Petitioner requests a hearing exclusively to determine to which elementary teaching position(s) she is entitled. However, such a hearing is unnecessary.

school operations, position because she had an obligation to mitigate damages. Further, in the event that her Petition was unsuccessful, acceptance of the job "ensured some form of continued employment." (Petitioner's Response to Respondent's Motion to Dismiss at 9.) Petitioner should not be penalized for seeking gainful employment during a time when respondent refused to honor her tenure rights by failing to follow the procedure set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6, and in her effort to mitigate damages if she were successful. Accordingly, petitioner's acceptance of the manager position did not erase her tenure entitlement as respondent argues.

Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the respondent's motion to dismiss in lieu of answer is converted into a motion for summary decision; the petitioner's response to the motion to dismiss is converted into a cross-motion for summary decision. The respondent's motion for summary decision is denied and the petitioner's cross-motion for summary decision is granted. In accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6, the respondent shall return the petitioner to an elementary school teacher position for which she is qualified, together with lost salary and benefits, less mitigation, from the date of petitioner's termination as lead educator to her reinstatement.

ORDER

I hereby ORDER that the respondent's motion for summary decision is DENIED and the petitioner's cross-motion for summary decision is GRANTED. The respondent, the State-Operated School District of the City of Camden, shall return the petitioner, Danele Still, to an elementary school teacher position for which she is qualified, together with lost salary and benefits, less mitigation, from the date of petitioner's termination as lead educator to her reinstatement.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE HEARING :

OF DANIELLE LUCAS, SCHOOL DISTRICT OF : COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

THE CITY OF BAYONNE, HUDSON COUNTY. : DECISION

SYNOPSIS

Petitioning Board certified tenure charges of excessive absenteeism, conduct unbecoming, and insubordination against respondent – a tenured teacher under the Board's employ – and sought to terminate her employment with the district. Neither respondent nor any attorney acting on her behalf filed an answer to the tenure charges following notice pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.3 and 6A:3-5.4.

The Commissioner concluded that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.3(c), the allegations – which respondent has chosen not to deny – may be deemed admitted and warrant the termination of the respondent from her tenured position. Accordingly, the Commissioner granted summary decision to the petitioner, dismissed the respondent from her tenured position in petitioner's school district, and forwarded a copy of this decision to the State Board of Examiners for review and action as that body deems appropriate.

For the Petitioner, Robert J. Merryman, Esq.
No appearance by or on behalf of Respondent, Danielle Lucas

This matter was opened before the Commissioner of Education on January 10, 2017 through tenure charges of excessive absenteeism, conduct unbecoming, and insubordination, certified by Patricia McGeehan, Superintendent of the School District of the City of Bayonne, together with a statement of supporting evidence against respondent, Danielle Lucas, a tenured teacher in the petitioner's employ. The petitioner provided respondent with written notice of such certification at her last known address – via first class mail, certified mail, and electronic mail – on December 20, 2016.

On January 11, 2017, the Commissioner directed respondent – via both certified and regular mail – to file an answer to the charges. This communication provided notice to respondent that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.3 and 6A:3-5.4, an individual against whom tenure charges are certified "shall have 15 days from the date such charges are filed with the Commissioner to file a written response to the charges with the Commissioner," and that failure to answer within the prescribed period would – absent granting of an extension for good cause shown – result in the charges being deemed admitted. No reply to the tenure charges was received from, or on behalf of, respondent.

The certified tenure charges and statement of supporting evidence filed by the petitioner in this matter indicate that respondent has engaged in a prolonged absence from her teaching position in the District and has been absent from work for the entire 2015-16 school year, as well as the 2016-17 school year to date. Respondent took a sick leave during the 2015-16 school year, using sick time, followed by a thirty-day unpaid leave, and then used time from the sick leave bank for the remainder of the year. Respondent continued to use time from the sick leave bank for the 2016-17 school year, but her eligibility for the sick leave program expired on December 22, 2016. Respondent also failed to provide the District with any indication as to when she would be able to return to work – and whether she would have any restrictions or require any accommodations once she did – despite several attempts by the District to obtain this information.

Deeming the allegations to be admitted – and noting that respondent has failed to respond to the charges certified against her – the Commissioner finds that petitioner's charges of excessive absenteeism, conduct unbecoming, and insubordination have been proven and warrant the respondent's dismissal from employment.

Accordingly, summary decision is hereby granted to the petitioner, and the respondent is dismissed from her tenured position with the District. This matter will be transmitted to the State Board of Examiners for action against respondent's certificate(s) as that body deems appropriate.

IN THE MATTER OF THE SUSPENSION OF :

THE CERTIFICATES OF ESTHER CANELA, : COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE TOWNSHIP OF : DECISION

IRVINGTON, ESSEX COUNTY. :

SYNOPSIS

In October 2016, the Commissioner of Education issued an Order to Show Cause requiring respondent to show cause why an order should not be entered suspending her teaching certificate for unprofessional conduct pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10, for resigning her position without giving the required 60 day notice. The respondent – a non-tenured teacher – contended that she did not have a contract for the 2016-2017 school year, and was therefore not obligated to provide a 60 day notice. Respondent filed a motion for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue here, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 provides, in pertinent part, that any teaching staff member "who shall, without the consent of the board...cease to perform his duties before the expiration of the term of his employment, shall be deemed guilty of unprofessional conduct, and the commissioner may, upon receiving notice thereof, suspend his certificate for a period not exceeding one year"; in this case, respondent was employed under contract by the petitioning Board as a World Languages-Spanish teacher for the 2015-2016 school year; in May 2016, respondent received a letter from the Board informing her that her employment would not be renewed for reasons of economy; in June 2016, respondent received a second letter from the Board stating that her non-renewal was rescinded, but the letter did not contain any terms of employment for the 2016-2017 school year; respondent signed an acknowledgment of receipt of the letter, which stated only that she was in receipt of a letter from the Human Resources Department, dated June 22, 2016; respondent never received an employment contract from the Board subsequent to her receipt of the non-renewal letter in May 2016; three weeks prior to the opening of the 2016-2017 school year – on August 17, 2016 – respondent advised the Board by letter that she had accepted an offer of employment from another school district, and that she was "resigning" her position in Irvington. The ALJ concluded that: the Board's contention that respondent effectively accepted renewal of her position when she signed an acknowledgement that her non-renewal had been rescinded is without merit; the letter rescinding respondent's non-renewal did not include any terms of employment, did not list her position or salary for the 2016-2017 school year, and cannot be considered as a basis for the Board to assume that respondent would return to teach in the 2016-2017 school year. Respondent did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10, because the expiration of her employment term was at the end of the 2015-2016 school year. Accordingly, the ALJ granted respondent's motion for summary decision and dismissed the petition.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusions, and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter.

IN THE MATTER OF THE SUSPENSION OF	:
THE CERTIFICATES OF ESTHER CANELA,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE TOWNSHIP OF	:	DECISION
IRVINGTON, ESSEX COUNTY.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed, as have the exceptions filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 by the Irvington Board of Education (Board) and respondent Esther Canela's reply thereto. In this case, the Board is seeking to have the respondent's certificates suspended pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 for resigning from her teaching position before the expiration of the term of her employment. The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) found that the respondent did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 because she did not have an employment contract with the Board for the 2016-17 school year; accordingly, the ALJ granted summary decision in favor of the respondent.

Upon a comprehensive review of this matter, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ – for the reasons outlined in the Initial Decision – that the respondent's certificates should not be suspended under N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 because she is not guilty of unprofessional conduct. Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10:

> Any teaching staff member employed by a board of education ... who shall, without the consent of the board ... cease to perform his duties before the expiration of the term of his employment, shall be deemed guilty of unprofessional conduct, and the commissioner may, upon receiving notice thereof, suspend his certificate for a period not exceeding one year.

It is clear from the record in this matter that the respondent and the Board did not enter into an employment contract for the 2016-17 school year; therefore, there was no term of employment that triggered the requirements in N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10.[1]

The Commissioner is not persuaded by the Board's sole argument advanced in its exceptions: that there was a genuine issue of material fact that precludes the disposition of this matter on summary decision. Despite the Board's assertion to the contrary, the use of the word "resign" in the respondent's August 2016 letter to the Board, and the respondent's intended meaning, does not amount to a material fact in dispute.[2] The respondent's August 2016 letter and the intent behind the wording is irrelevant because the Board never offered the respondent an employment contract for the 2016-17 school year, and the respondent never accepted an employment contract. In the absence of any genuine issue of material fact in dispute, this matter was appropriately decided on summary decision. Robin Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Company of America, et al. 142 N.J. 520, 523 (1995).

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[3]

[1] It is undisputed that the respondent did not have tenure in the district. Therefore, N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8 is not applicable to the circumstances in this case.

[2] The events that transpired between May 2016 – when the Board informed the respondent that her employment would not be renewed – and August 2016 are summarized in the Initial Decision.

INITIAL DECISION
SUMMARY DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. EDU 17209-16
AGENCY DKT. NO. 285-11/16

IN THE MATTER OF THE SUSPENSION OF THE TEACHING CERTIFICATE OF ESTHER CANELA, SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE TOWNSHIP OF IRVINGTON, ESSEX COUNTY,

---

Yadira Cristal Duran, Esq., for petitioner Irvington Board of Education (Hunt, Hamlin & Ridley, attorney)

William Hannan, Esq., for respondent, Esther Canela (Oxfeld Cohen, attorney)

Record Closed: January 11, 2017 Decided: January 12, 2017

BEFORE: KIMBERLY A. MOSS, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The School District of the Township of Irvington (Board or petitioner) seeks to suspend Esther Canela's (respondent or Canela) teaching certificate for one year for failure to provide sixty days' notice at the time of her resignation. The Board filed an Order to Show cause with the New Jersey Department of Education on September 23, 2016. The Order to Show Cause was served upon respondent on October 12, 2016. Canela filed a motion for summary decision on November 10, 2016. The matter was filed with the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested matter on November 14, 2016. A pre hearing conference was held on December 7, 2016 during which time a hearing date was scheduled. The Board filed opposition to respondent's motion for summary decision on January 4, 2017. Canela filed a response to the opposition on January 11, 2017.

Based on the documentary evidence submitted, I FIND the following FACTS:

Canela was employed by the Board as an untenured World Languages-Spanish teacher at Irvington High School for the 2015-2016 school year. On May 11, 2016, Canela received a letter from the Board informing her that her employment as a non-tenured member of the teaching staff would not be renewed for reasons of economy. Subsequent to receiving this letter Canela began looking for employment in other school districts. On or about June 20, 2016, Canela received a letter from the Board stating that the non-renewal of was rescinded. Canela signed an acknowledgement of receipt of the letter stating that the non-renewal was rescinded on June 22, 2016. The letter rescinding the non-renewal states:

> Please be advised that your non-renewal as a non-tenured or non-bargaining staff member in the Irvington Public Schools effective for the 2016-2017 school year has been rescinded as of the date of this letter.
> If you have any questions please call the Department of Resources at 973.399.6800 x2100

The above letter did not contain any terms of employment for the 2016-2017 school year. The acknowledgement signed by Canela states:

> I Esther Canela am in receipt of a confidential letter from the Human Resources Department. It is dated June 22, 2016.

Canela never received an employment contract from the Board subsequent to receiving the non-renewal letter of May 2016.

In August of 2016, respondent received an offer of employment in a staff position from another school district. In mid-August Canela contacted the Board's supervisor of World Languages, Dr. Pedro Ruiz to inform him that she had accepted a position at another school. On August 17, 2016, Canela advised the Board that she was resigning from her position as a World Language-Spanish teacher. This letter was sent three weeks before the opening of the school year.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND DISCUSSION

Canela seeks to summarily dismiss petitioner's claim. The rules governing motions for summary decision in an OAL matter are embodied N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5. These provisions mirror the language of Rule 4:46-2 and the New Jersey Supreme Court's decision in Judson v. Peoples Bank and Trust Company of Westfield, 17 N.J. 67 (1954). Under N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b), the determination to grant summary judgment should be based on the papers presented as well as any affidavits, which may have been filed with the application. In order for the adverse, i.e., the non-moving party to prevail in such an application, responding affidavits must be submitted showing that there is indeed a genuine issue of fact, which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding. The Court in Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Company of America, 142 N.J. 520, 523 (1995), set the standard to be applied when deciding a motion for summary judgment. Therein the Court stated:

> The determination whether there exists a genuine issue with respect to a material fact challenged requires the Motion Judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party . . . are sufficient to permit a rational fact finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party.

In this matter there are no questions of fact. The legal question is whether Canela's signing the acknowledgment of rescinding the non-renewal of employment and her use of the word resign in her letter of August 17, 2016 constitute that she had an employment contract with the Board. In its petition the Board states that petitioner violated N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8 which provides:

> Any teaching staff member, under tenure of service, desiring to relinquish his position shall give the employing board of education at least 60 days written notice of his intention, unless the board shall approve of a release on shorter notice and if he fails to give such notice he shall be deemed guilty of unprofessional conduct and the commissioner may suspend his certificate for not more than one year.

The Board's first paragraph of its petition states that Canela is "A non-tenured World Language-Spanish teacher employed at Irvington High School." I CONCLUDE that Canela did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8 because she was not under tenure of service.

The Board did not provide any other basis in its petition as to why Canela's teaching certificate should be suspended for one year other than violation of N.J.S.A. 18:28-8. I will address the regulation regarding non tenured teachers ceasing employment since it was briefed by both parties. N.J.S.A 18A:26-10 provides:

> Any teaching staff member employed by a board of education or an approved private school for the disabled, who shall, without the consent of the board or, in the case of an approved private school for the disabled, the board of directors of the school, cease to perform his duties before the expiration of the term of his employment, shall be deemed guilty of unprofessional conduct, and the commissioner may, upon receiving notice thereof, suspend his certificate for a period not exceeding one year.
> As used in this section, "approved private school for the disabled" means a private entity approved by the Department of Education to provide special education and related services to students with disabilities who have been placed by the district board of education or charter school responsible for providing their education.

The issue in this matter is whether Canela ceased to perform his duties before the expiration of the term of her employment. This turns on when was the expiration of Canela's term of employment. The Board argues that Canela signing an acknowledgement that she received the letter rescinding the non-renewal that she accepted a renewal of the position. The Board relies on In the Matter of the Teaching Certificates of Robert Galgano EDU 03805-10 Final Decision (March 21, 2011) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search. In that case Galgano was sent letter with an offer of employment which included the position and salary. Galgano signed the letter and checked the accepted box. He commenced teaching and taught for two months then tendered his resignation. The Galgano case is clearly distinguishable from this matter. Canela signed an acknowledgement that she received a letter rescinding the non-renewal of June 20, 2016. The letter did not include any terms of employment. It did not list her position for the 2016-2017 school year or her salary for the 2016-2017 school year. In addition signing a document stating that you acknowledge receipt of a letter is not accepting terms of employment.

In the Matter of Teaching Certificates of Suzanne Cerreno, Bergen County Vocational School District, Bergen County EDU-12508-10 Final Decision (June 14, 2012) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search. html Cerreno was an untenured math teacher for the 2009-2010 school year. She was not offered a contract for the 2010-2011 school year until August 2010. At the end of August 2010 Cerreno advised the Board that she would not be returning. The Commissioner stated:

> In other words, a non-tenured employee may regard the absence of either a contract renewal letter or a nonrenewal letter as tantamount to an "offer" of employment. However, there is nothing in N.J.S.A. 18A:27-11 that requires the non-tenured teacher to accept the offer.

In this matter even if the letter rescinding the non-renewal of her employment is considered an offer of employment, Canela signing an acknowledgement that she received the letter is not acceptance of the offer, it is acknowledgement that she received the letter.

The Board also alleges that since Canela used the word resign in her letter of August 17, 2016 that there had been an implied contract and that she cease to perform her duties before the expiration of the term of her employment. The Board's reliance on the word resign is misplaced. In her certification Canela stated that the letter was a courtesy and she never received an offer of employment for the 2016-2017 school year.

The use of the word resign does not change Canela's acknowledgement of receipt of the rescinding of the non-renewal letter to an acceptance of an offer of employment. Other than sending the letter rescinding the non-renewal on June 20, 2016, the Board did not contact Canela. There was no basis for the Board to assume that Canela would return to teach in the 2016-2017 school year. Canela never indicated to the Board that she would return to teach for the 2016-2017 school year.

CONCLUSION AND ORDER

I CONCLUDE that even though it was not the basis of the petition of the Board to rescind respondent's teaching certificate for one year, that Canela did not violate N.J.S.A 18A:26-10 because the expiration of her employment was the end of the 2015-2016 school year.

Accordingly, based upon Canela's moving papers, supporting exhibits and certification, I hereby GRANT the motion for Summary Decision. I therefore, ORDER the action filed by the Board be DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

FINDINGS and OPINION

Background;

On November 23, 2016, M. Kathleen Duncan, Director of the New Jersey Department of Education Bureau of Controversies and Disputes appointed this Arbitrator to hear and decide the above tenure matter. In accordance with the Arbitrator's authority under P.L. 2015, c. 109, several preliminary matters were addressed.

The underlying record reveals a Pre-Hearing Motion for Dismissal and a Reply that were ripe for consideration, and hence decided.

Thereafter, Discovery challenges and a Motion for Hearing Venue change were addressed, and decided. The above matters all contributed to a delay in scheduling hearings, thus preliminary timelines were met by the occurrence of a Pre-Hearing Conference held on January 31, 2017 at the Board of Education offices.

After multiple attempts, a three (3) day set of Hearings was finally agreed upon. Also, despite a Motion granted for a neutral location, the parties agreed to all hearings being held at the offices of the Board's counsel, Carroll Law Firm, 1 N. New York Road, Galloway, New Jersey.

Hearing:

On February 14, 2017 the Arbitrator began the first hearing, transcribed electronically. Prior to the start of hearing, the following exhibits submitted by each party were reviewed:

By the Petitioner;

EXHIBIT A –	TENURE CHARGES, STATEMENT OF DETERMINATION, STATEMENT OF EVIDENCE

Settlement Reached:

During the February 14, 2017 hearing the parties conferred repeatedly and negotiated a successful and amicable resolution of the charges pending, found to be in the mutual best interest of ongoing and harmonious relationships in that environment. They jointly reached a proposed settlement of their differences and entered into a compromise drafted between them. It ["Mutual Release and Settlement Agreement"] encompasses all outstanding issues of this matter, pending Board approval and approval of the State Fiscal Monitor. In essence, it confirms that:

1. Vergara agrees he shall immediately tender his written, voluntary and irrevocable resignation from employment with the PBOE, to be effective at the close of business on June 30, 2017. The PBOE agrees it shall accept Vergara's resignation and further, will withdraw the tenure charges immediately upon receipt of the 'resignation' and issuance of this Stipulated Consent Award.

2. Pursuant to these mutual covenants and effective Monday, February 13, 2017, Vergara shall be reinstated on the PBOE payroll and from said date forward will be paid his current salary, including all benefits, until June 30, 2017. This amount equals bi-weekly checks of $2,681.62, which includes all pension and health benefits paid as before. The only exception is that payments from the PBOE will cease if, when and during any period of time Vergara obtains and retains full time employment during the period, February 13, 2017 and June 30, 2017.

3. Subsequent to June 30, 2017; the PBOE agrees to maintain Vergara's current level of health insurance benefits until July 30, 2017, provided that Vergara has not declined and thus agrees to pay his share of health insurance premiums in the amount previously and regularly deducted from his bi-weekly salary. Further, Vergara has the right to elect continuation of health insurance coverage, at his own expense, under any Federal /state statute in existence at that time.

4. In exchange for the above covenants, the parties have executed the "Mutual Release and Settlement Agreement" which operates to release and forever discharge each other from any and all claims, consistent with Paragraph 4, therein.

5. The terms of the "Mutual Release and Settlement Agreement" and the nature of any and all claims previously made, shall remain confidential.

Additional Findings:

The parties did execute the, "Mutual Release and Settlement Agreement" incorporating the terms outlined above. That 'Agreement' document will be considered an ADDENDUM, hereto.

Further at the parties' request, this Arbitrator has reviewed all exhibits and heard from each of the parties' attorneys and the Tenured Teacher regarding the matter. The Arbitrator considered whether their proposed settlement represents an appropriate resolution of the issues, taking into account the relevant law and the best interests of the parties. On the basis of that review the Arbitrator finds the parties' proposed settlement of their differences to be an appropriate compromise of their respective positions.

Additionally, the Arbitrator finds that the settlement reached is acceptable pursuant to the requirements of N.J.S.A. 6A:3-5.6 and satisfies the standards set forth therein including:

1. Accompaniment by documentation as to the nature of the charges;
2. Explication of the circumstances justifying settlement and/or withdrawal of charges;
3. Consent of both the charged and charging parties;
4. Indication the charged party entered into the agreement with a full understanding of his or her rights;
5. A showing the settlement agreement is in the public interest; and
6. If the charged party is a teaching staff member, a showing the teaching staff member has been advised of the Commissioner's duty to refer tenure determinations resulting in loss of position to the State Board of Examiners for possible suspension or revocation of certificate.

The Arbitrator further finds that pursuant to the statute, the settlement agreement does not propose terms that would restrict access to information or records deemed public by law or result in misrepresentation of the reason for an employee's separation from service.

By reason of the foregoing, the following decision is issued:

DECISION

Subject to Board approval and the approval of the State Fiscal Monitor, the following shall be placed in effect and serve as the Award in this matter:

1. Vergara shall immediately tender his written, voluntary and irrevocable resignation from employment to be effective at the close of business on June 30, 2017. The PBOE shall accept Vergara's resignation and further, will withdraw the tenure charges immediately upon receipt of the 'resignation' and issuance of this Stipulated Consent Award.

2. Effective Monday, February 13, 2017, Vergara shall be reinstated on the PBOE payroll and from said date forward he will be paid his current salary, including all benefits, until June 30, 2017. This amount equals bi-weekly checks of $2,681.62, which includes all pension and health benefits paid as before. The only exception is that payments from the PBOE will cease if, when and during any period of time Vergara obtains and retains full time employment during the period, February 13, 2017 and June 30, 2017.

3. Subsequent to June 30, 2017; the PBOE agrees to maintain Vergara's current level of health insurance benefits until July 30, 2017; provided that Vergara has not declined and thus agrees to pay his share of health insurance premiums in the amount previously and regularly deducted from his bi-weekly salary. Further, Vergara has the right to elect continuation of health insurance coverage, at his own expense, under any Federal /state statute in existence at that time.

4. In exchange for the above covenants, the parties have executed a "Mutual Release and Settlement Agreement" [an ADDENDUM hereto] which operates to release and forever discharge each other from any and all claims, consistent with Paragraph 4., therein.

5. The terms of the "Mutual Release and Settlement Agreement" and the nature of any and all claims previously made, shall remain confidential.

WHEREAS, certain disputes have arrived between Vergara and the PBOE; and

WHEREAS, the parties believe it is in their mutual best interest to resolve their differenced in accordance with the terms and conditions of this Agreement, and

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the covenants, representations and warranties contained herein, and for other good and valuable consideration, the receipt and sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged, the Parties hereby agree as follows:

1. VERGARA RESIGNATION – Vergara shall immediately tender his written, voluntary and irrevocable resignation from employment attached hereto as Exhibit A, to be effective at the close of business on June 30, 2017, contingent upon withdrawal of the tenure charges pending against Vergara filed by the PBOE, and approval of this Agreement by the Arbitrator assigned to arbitrate the tenure charges and the Commissioner of Education to the extent required by law, and contingent upon the PBOE complying with all of the terms of this Agreement. The PBOE shall accept Vergara's resignation. Vergara agrees and acknowledges that his voluntary resignation was not the result of any fraud, force, coercion or duress. Vergara further acknowledges and agrees that he freely and knowingly resigned from the PBOE and that he consulted with legal counsel of his choosing prior to tendering his resignation. Vergara further acknowledges that all compensation from the PBOE shall terminate should he accept any full time employment at any time between February 13, 2017 and June 30, 2017.

2. COMPENSATION – Effective Monday, February 13, 2017, Vergara shall be reinstated on the PBOE payroll and from said date forward, he will be paid his current salary, including all benefits, until June 30, 2017. This amount equals bi-weekly checks in the amount of $2,681.62 and all pension and health benefits. Vergara acknowledges and agrees that he shall not be paid for any accrued sick, personal or vacation days. Vergara waives any and all rights he may have to any other compensation pursuant to any employment contract, policy, regulations, administrative compensation plan, or any other agreement with the exception of providing Vergara his current level of health insurance benefits per the employment contract applicable to Vergara thirty (30) days after his resignation."

3. HEALTH INSURANCE – The PBOE agrees to maintain Vergara's current level of health insurance benefits until July 30, 2017, provided that Vergara pays his share of health insurance premiums in the amount that has been previously and regularly deducted from his bi-weekly salary. Health insurance is understood to include prescription, dental and vision coverage. Thereafter, Vergara may elect to continue his health insurance at his sole cost and expense consistent with the terms and conditions, limitation, and exclusions of COBRA and on the condition that he make timely payments in accordance with applicable law.

4. WAIVER OF CLAIMS – In exchange for the covenants contained in this Agreement, Vergara does for himself and his dependents, heirs, executives, administrators, predecessors, successors, and assignees, agree, intending to be legally bound, to hereby release and forever discharge the "Released Parties" (as defined infra) from and all "Released Claims" as defined infra) from the beginning of time up to and including the effective date of this Agreement. The PBOE for itself, officers, agents, executives, administrators, board members, successors, and assignees, agree, intending to be legally bound, to hereby release and forever discharge the "Release Parties" (as defined infra) from and all "Released Claims" as defined infra) from the beginning of time up to and including the effective date of this Agreement.

a. "Released Parties" as used in this Agreement shall mean (1) the PBOE, (2) the Pleasantville School District, (3) the PBOE's past, current and future employees, (4) the PBOE's officers, directors, agents, attorneys, consultants, affiliates, and other representatives, (5) the PBOE's insurers, (6) the PBOE's vendors and entities under contract with the PBOE, (7) he PBOE's heirs, successors and assignees, (8) all of the aforementioned individuals in both their official and individual capacities, (9) the State of New Jersey and the New Jersey Department of Education, (10) any other person and/or entity whom/which might be claimed jointly and/or severally liable with any of the aforementioned entities and/or individuals, (11) Vergara and/or his dependents, heirs, executives, administrators, predecessors, successors, and assignees in their official and individual capacities.

b. "Released Claims" as used in this Agremeent shall mean any and all liability, claims, demands, causes of action, suits at law, or in equity, covenants, charges, debts, dues, costs, any sums of money, attorney's fees, accounts, bills, reckonings, extents, judgments, and rights, whether known or unknown, whether accrued or unaccrued, whether contingent or non-contingent, whether or not capable of proof regardless of the theory of recovery, and whether common law or statutory in nature that occurred at any time in the past up until the date of signing of this agreement. Expressly excluded from this release are claims for the breach of the Agreement including, but not limited to, the failure to pay any of the compensation set forth herein, and any claim for defamation, including libel and slander, related to any act or omission in the future. Neither party shall be precluded from cooperating with legal authorities in any criminal or quasi-criminal law enforcement action. "Released claims" shall also include the following:

i. All claims relating to and/or arising from Vergara's employment with the PBOE.

ii. All claims of discrimination and/or harassment based on any one or combination of the following: sex, race, religion, color, creed, ancestry, national origin, disability, citizenship, age, marital status, military status, gender, sexual or affectional orientation, pregnancy and any other protected class recognized by local, state and/or federal law.

iii. All claims pursuant to Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act, the National Labor Relations Act, the Employer-Employee Relations Act, the Equal Pay Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Occupational Safety and Health Act, the New Jersey Worker Health and Safety Law, the Fair Labor Standards act, the Immigration Reform Control Act, the Family Medical Leave Act, the New Jersey Family Medical Leave Act, the New Jersey Wage and Hour Law, the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Act, the New Jersey Workers' Compensation Law, ERISA, HIPAA, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, the Rehabilitation Act, Sections 1981 through 1988 of the Title 42 of the US Code, any anti-retaliation provision of any of the foregoing laws, and any other similar local, state and/or federal laws.

iv. All claims for any alleged unpaid and/or withheld wages, severance, bonuses and/or other compensation of any kind;

v. All claims for wrongful discharge and/or breach of any alleged employment contract, whether express or implied; vi. All claims for alleged breach of any contract whatsoever, whether express or implied;

vii. All claims based on any alleged wrongful act, including but not limited to invasion of privacy, defamation, fraud, infliction of emotional distress that occurred in the past up to the date of execution of this Agreement.

viii. All claims for any compensation and/or punitive damages for any incident, act or omission that occurred in the past up to the date of execution of this Agreement.

ix. All claims for attorney's fees, costs, disbursements, and the like for any incident, act or omission that occurred in the past up to the date of execution of this Agreement.

c. Vergara and the PBOE acknowledge and agree that neither party nor any person or entity action on behalf of either party will file any type of complaint, charge, claim, and/or cause of action, or cause or permit any complaint, charge, claim, and/or cause of action, to be filed, against the other or any Released Party involving any matter whatsoever which occurred in the past up to the date of execution of this Agreement, or involving any continuing effects or any acts or practices which may have arisen or occurred prior to the effective date of this Agreement. It is understood that if a class action if filed, that the mere filing of said action does not place Vergara in breach of this Agreement, provided that Vergara takes reasonable steps with all due speed to remove himself from the class.

d. The parties acknowledge and agree that if either party brings any type of complaint, charge, claim and/or cause of action in any administrative and/or judicial forum against the other, that party will be in breach of this Agreement and will immediately withdrawal any type of complaint, charge, claim and/or cause of action."

e. To the extent that either party has already filed any complaint, charge, claim and/or cause of action in any administrative and/or judicial forum, that party shall immediately notify the other party, in writing, of the nature of the complaint, charge, claim and/or cause of action in any administrative and/or judicial forum and shall provide all copies of the same to the other party. Further, the filing party agrees to immediately withdraw complaint, charge, claim and/or cause of action in any administrative and/or judicial forum documenting the same. To the extent that any administrative and/or judicial agency fails or refuses to permit the filing party to withdraw a complaint, charge, claim and/or cause of action in any administrative and/or judicial forum, the filing party shall advise the other party in writing and the filing party shall refuse to cooperate with any investigation and/or proceeding regarding the complaint, charge, claim and/or cause of action in any administrative and/or judicial forum if the law permits. Should the filing party receive any damages or compensation whatsoever as a result of having brought a complaint, charge, claim and/or cause of action in any administrative and/or judicial forum, he filing party shall immediately remit said damages or compensation to the other party.

f. Nothing in this Agreement shall preclude Vergara from cooperating in any investigation being conducted by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission or a state or local fair employment practices agency, or in any criminal, quasi-criminal or law enforcement investigation.

g. Excluded from "Release Claims" are any claims that cannot be waived by law between employer and employee.

5. RETURN OF SCHOOL PROPERTY – Vergara warrants and agrees that he shall, at a mutually agreed upon time, return all PBOE property in his possession and/or control, including but not limited to: keys, cell phones/smart phones, identification cards, computers, documents, electronically stored documents (including documents stored on personal computers and devices), external memory drives, electronic devices, and all similar property.

6. FUTURE EMPLOYMENT – Vergara agrees that he shall not apply or be eligible for employment with the PBOE in any capacity.

7. NEUTRAL REFERENCES – The PBOE agrees that if contacted by any third party for a reference, the PBOE shall only provide Vergara's dates of employment, positions held, and salary information. Any failure by the PBOE to comply with the terms of this paragraph shall give rise to an action to enforce this paragraph. Vergara shall refer all third parties seeking reference checks to the PBOE's Department of Human Resources.

8. NON-DISPARAGEMENT OF PARTIES – Vergara shall not disparage or defame the PBOE of any of its board, officers, directors, employees, officials or attorneys and/or other representatives. Further, Vergara shall not make any comments regarding the PBOE or any of it board, officers, directors, employees, officials or attorneys and/or other representatives that may be construed as critical and/or derogatory. In any public statements regarding Vergara's separation from the District the PBOE shall characterize such separation as a "resignation." The PBOE, Superintendent, Business Administrator/Board Secretary and head of Human Resources shall not make any official statements or authorize anyone to make any official statements that disparage or defame Vergara or make any official statement to anyone that may be construed as critical and/or defamatory.

9. NON-DISCLOSURE. The Parties agree that the terms of this Agreement, and the fact of this settlement, are confidential. In consideration of the promises set forth herein, the Parties and their attorneys agree not to reveal, disclose, or communicate (a) the terms of this Agreement, (b) the consideration paid hereunder, and (c) the nature of any claims, whether actual or contingent, that are resolved by this Agreement. In response to any inquiries regarding the status or resolution of the instant matter, the Parties will respond only as follows: "The matter has been resolved." The Parties further represent they that have not, as of the date of this Agreement, disclosed the terms and/or existence of this Agreement, or any information about the negotiations surrounding this Agreement or the settlement of the action, except as would have been authorized by this Agreement. Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this paragraph, the Parties are permitted to disclose the facts and terms of this Agreement: (i) to their attorneys, accountants, insurers, reinsurers, Union Representatives or auditors on a need to know basis; (ii) in response to a properly issued subpoena or court order; (iii) as otherwise required by law; or (v) in connection with a dispute arising out of this Agreement. The Parties agree to inform any such third parties that this confidentiality clause is in effect and, that such third parties are also bound by its terms.

10. OPEN RECORDS – Vergara acknowledges that this Agreement may be subject to disclosure pursuant to New Jersey Open Public Records Act ("OPRA") and that the PBOE has no legal authority to negotiate or bargain away any of the statutory requirements of the OPRA.

11. COOPERATION IN LITIGATION – Vergara agrees to fully cooperate with the PBOE in its defense or other participation in any administrative, judicial or other proceeding arising from and/or related to any complaint, charge, claim and/or cause of action which has or may be filed.

12. EXIT INTERVIEWS – From the effective date of this Agreement until the effective date of his irrevocable resignation, Vergara agrees to attend any and all meetings that he is directed to attend by the PBOE and/or Business Administrator/Board Secretary provided that he is given at least 48 hours' notice and that the meeting are scheduled at a mutually convenient time. Further, Vergara agrees to fully, completely and truthfully answer any and all questions asked of him by any of the PBOE's representatives.

13. CONSULTATION WITH LEGAL COUNSEL – Both parties acknowledge and agree that they had the opportunity to review this Agremeent with legal counsel of their own choosing and that each party is satisfied with the advice they received.

14. BREACH – If either party fails and/or refuses to comply with any obligation he/it has pursuant to this Agreement, regardless of the reason for said failure and/or refusal to comply, that party shall be in breach of this Agreement and the other party may seek any remedy they are entitled to by law.

15. KNOWING AND VOLUNTARY – Vergara acknowledges and agrees that he is freely and voluntarily agreed to all of the terms and conditions contained in this Agreement after consulting with legal counsel. Vergara further acknowledges and reperesents that he is under no disability or impairment that would prevent him from understanding this Agreement or from knowingly and voluntarily entering into this Agreement.

16. EFFECTIVE DATE – This Agreement shall become effective upon both of when the Agreement has been fully executed by both Vergara and the PBOE and/or the PBOE's representative.

17. NO ADMISSIONS – The parties acknowledge that this Agreement represents a compromise to resolve a dispute. None of the terms of this Agreement shall be construed to be an admission of any wrongdoing by either party, nor shall it be construed to be a validation or invalidation of the allegations.

18. ENTIRE AGREEMENT. This Agreement contains and constitutes the entire understanding and agreement between the Parties hereto respecting the subject matter hereof and supersedes and cancels all previous negotiations, representations, agreements, commitments, and writings in connection herewith. The Parties hereto expressly acknowledge that in entering this Agreement, they have had the opportunity to consult with counsel of their choice, that they have not relied upon any representation made by or on behalf of the other Party, and that any such representations are not enforceable except to the extent set forth in writing in this Agreement.

19. CONSTRUCTION. This Agreement shall be governed by, and construed in accordance with, the laws of the State of New Jersey, without reference to the applicable conflicts of law principles and rules. This Agreement shall be construed according to its plain language, and not strictly for or against any party hereto.

20. ENFORCEMENT. In the event of any litigation arising from breach of this agreement, the prevailing party shall be entitled to recover from the non-prevailing party all reasonable costs incurred including staff time, court costs, attorneys' fees, and all other related expenses incurred in such litigation.

21. NO TRANSFER/ASSIGNMENT. The Parties represent that they have not assigned or transferred, or purported to assign or transfer, to any person or entity any claim against one another or any portion of, or interest in, any claim against one another.

22. NO ORAL REPRESENTATIONS. The Parties represent and acknowledge that, in executing this Agreement, they do not rely, and have not relied, upon any oral representation or statement made by the Parties or their agents, representatives, or attorneys with regard to the subject matter, basis, or effect of this Agreement or otherwise.

23. SEVERABILITY. Should any provision of this Agreement be declared or determined by any court to be illegal or invalid, the validity of the remaining parts, terms, or provisions shall not be affected thereby, and said illegal or invalid part, term, or provision shall be deemed not to be part of this Agreement.

24. AGREEMENT NOT EVIDENTIARY – This Agreement is not intended to be used and shall not be used as evidence in any action or proceeding, other than as evidence of the parties' compromise as set forth herein or to enforce the terms of this Agreement.

25. HEADINGS – Any headings contained herein are for reference purposes only and shall not be in any way affect the meaning or interpretation of this Agreement.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, all Parties, intending to be legally bound by the foregoing terms, have voluntarily and knowingly set their hands and seals to this Agreement as of the date written above.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF PISCATAWAY, MIDDLESEX COUNTY,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

In April 2016, petitioner filed an appeal seeking to reduce his daughter's four-day out-of-school suspension, imposed by the respondent Board on J.S. for violating the school district's written policy against cheating. School officials alleged that J.S. was among a group of students in an Honors Trigonometry class who took and worked on a test without the teacher present and without her authorization. While admitting that J.S. cheated, petitioner contended that the penalty was excessive and unwarranted. The Board maintained that the penalty was appropriate and that the Commissioner cannot set aside the determination of a local board unless a finding is made that the action was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2, local boards of education have the authority to impose discipline upon students, including "suspension or expulsion from school"; it is well established that the Commissioner will not substitute her judgment for that of the local board unless it can be shown that the board's decision was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable; petitioner bears the burden of proof to show that the board acted in bad faith, or in disregard to the circumstances of the case; J.S. admitted verbally and in writing that she cheated on the test; there is no evidence of any coercion of J.S.'s admission; every witness presented was credible and their testimony corroborated that of other witnesses; and petitioner failed to present any evidence to dispute the above findings. The ALJ concluded that the petitioner failed to show that the Board's finding that J.S. cheated was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable; further, the four-day out of school suspension was a reasonable penalty for petitioner's actions. Accordingly, the ALJ affirmed the Board's penalty imposition, and denied the relief requested by the petitioner.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL was adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition was dismissed with prejudice.

Record Closed: November 30, 2016 Decided: January 17, 2017

BEFORE DANIELLE PASQUALE, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

This is an appeal by petitioner, L.S., on behalf of his sixteen-year-old daughter J.S., seeking to reduce as excessive a four-day out-of-school suspension imposed by respondent Board of Education of the Township of Piscataway ("Board") on J.S. for a violation of its written policy against "cheating." School officials allege that, while in Honors Trigonometry class, J.S. took and worked on a test without the teacher present and without her authorization, changed answers, and worked with other members of the class to change answers on a test previously proctored by the teacher. To be clear, the math teacher proctored the initial part of the test and then allowed additional time at a later date to complete the test.

While admitting that she cheated, the petitioner contends that the penalty is unwarranted. The Board maintains that the penalty was appropriate and that the Commissioner of Education cannot set aside its determination unless a finding is made that the action was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

By notice dated January 22, 2016, the Piscataway High School dean of students for the eleventh grade, Herbert Jermaine Robinson, as per vice principal Dr. Antoine Gayles, notified J.S.'s father that J.S. would receive a four-day out-of-school suspension for cheating. (R-7.) L.S. sought a review of the decision, and on or about April 4, 2016, the Board denied L.S.'s appeal, upheld the suspension assessed to J.S., and refused expungement of same.

L.S. filed an appeal to the Commissioner on April 25, 2016. Subsequently, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law ("OAL"), where on May 5, 2016, it was filed for a hearing as a contested case. On or about July 18, 2016, L.S. filed a "Motion to Dismiss Without Prejudice Case Against Less Than All Parties." Counsel for the Board, David B. Rubin, requested similar relief on his clients' behalf. As such, he drafted a form of Order at my request which this tribunal signed on August 11, 2016, dismissing the case against individual respondents Teresa Rafferty, Jason Lester, and Antoine Gayles, leaving the issue of whether the discipline imposed upon J.S. was appropriate. On September 30, 2016, this tribunal signed a Protective Order protecting any personally identifiable information pertaining to students enrolled in the Piscataway Township School District. The OAL held a hearing on October 18, 2016. Upon receipt of post-hearing briefs, the record closed on November 30, 2016.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS

The following facts are uncontroverted, and I FIND:

L.S. appealed the matter of J.S.'s discipline through the eleventh-grade dean of students, the assistant principal, the principal, and, finally, the superintendent. Superintendent Teresa Rafferty affirmed principal Jason Lester's decision to deny L.S.'s requested expungement of J.S.'s discipline from her academic record.

L.S. appealed again to the full Board, and a hearing was held on April 14, 2016, before the Piscataway Township Board of Education in closed session. L.S. appeared with attorney Ira Ginsburg, Esq., and Mr. Rubin appeared on behalf of the Board. L.S. put on a lengthy presentation before the Board. His attorney was present, but did not take part in the presentation.

Mr. Rubin informed Mr. Ginsburg by letter dated April 18, 2016, that a hearing was conducted on April 14, 2016, on the appeal of the superintendent's decision to uphold J.S.'s suspension and the Board's refusal to expunge same. Mr. Rubin noted that the Board deliberated on the matter in closed session later that evening and directed him to inform L.S. through counsel that the superintendent's ruling was upheld by the Board "substantially for the reasons expressed in her written decision." (See R-11, citing R-10.)

Testimony at the OAL Hearing

At the OAL hearing, L.S. produced no witnesses to attack the accounts or credibility of any of the witnesses that testified at the OAL hearing, and he did not argue that J.S. did not cheat. Rather, he argued that the charge should have been different and the penalty lessened or expunged. He agreed that the school district should put on its case first, and he would cross-examine its witnesses to help expedite the hearing and streamline the case. L.S. agreed that he would have more latitude with the witnesses to ask questions in a leading manner. He never produced J.S. to refute the accuracy or voluntary nature of the confession. He never insinuated that J.S.'s confession to cheating was persuaded or refuted same. I FIND, as the Board did, that J.S. admitted to cheating and that J.S.'s story is consistent with that of the other students who were implicated and ultimately confessed to cheating in an identical manner to J.S.

In support of that finding, the following witnesses testified.

Carolyn Lee

Carolyn Lee, a math teacher at Piscataway High School, testified that she taught J.S. and others in a rigorous Honors Trigonometry and Analytic Geometry class in period 5. The class was comprised mostly of junior and sophomore honors students, known as the "top kids in the school." Ms. Lee explained that they are competitive with themselves and others. On December 18, 2015, while she was administering a test involving solving trigonometry equations, there was a lock-down drill. The class stopped taking the test, and Ms. Lee explained to the students that in a subsequent class she would give them additional time (approximately ten to fifteen minutes) to go over their answers and complete any portions of the test they did not get to on the day the test was interrupted by the drill. Ms. Lee noted that this period 5 math class was held in a classroom shared by several teachers, as it was wheelchair accessible, and one of her students used a wheelchair. She testified that she had a drawer in a file cabinet in this classroom to store the items she needed to effectively teach the class, and that she housed the unfinished tests in that cabinet after the lock-down drill began.

Ms. Lee continued that after that weekend, and due to a rotating schedule, the next possible school day to complete the test was December 22, 2015. However, on that date Ms. Lee was out of school sick. As a result, a lesson plan was given to the substitute teacher. (Exhibit R-1.) Ms. Lee confirmed that nowhere in that lesson plan for period 5 (or any other period) does it mention that the test that was begun on December 18 should be administered. Rather, the note indicates that the students should work on a "Law of Sines packet." Ms. Lee noted that she had no idea who the substitute teacher would be and never corresponded with anyone, other than leaving a lesson plan in the normal course. Ms. Lee continued that she was out of work sick on December 23, 2015, as well, which went right into winter break. She testified credibly that during winter break, she had no idea that any alleged cheating incident had occurred in her class.

After the winter break, Ms. Lee met with her period 5 math class on the first possible date, which was Monday, January 4, 2016. Ms. Lee discussed that she wanted to give the students the extra time to complete the test that was begun on December 18. Some of the kids resisted, stating that they were not ready because they forgot about completing the test over the long break. She instructed the students that she would give the remaining time for the test during the "next class," and there were no more discussions regarding the test that day. Specifically, no one mentioned that anyone already finished the exam while she was out sick.

The following day, January 5, 2016, a student from another class came to Ms. Lee to explain that something happened on December 22, 2015, in her class, although that student was not a witness to what occurred. Ms. Lee relayed this information to Mr. Ross, the Math Department chair, on January 6, 2016, and he launched an investigation. He addressed Ms. Lee's period 5 math class on January 6, 2016. Mr. Ross spoke to the students about character and honesty. He said that honesty would mean something in subsequent letters of recommendation. He asked any student with knowledge of the alleged cheating incident to come forward with information to either him or Ms. Lee, and explained that consequences would likely follow.

Ms. Lee testified that thereafter she received an email from student L.T., who apologized about the cheating incident. (R-2.) L.T. revealed that she had been looking for a worksheet and she went into Ms. Lee's designated drawer, at which point she noticed the tests. She admitted to taking the exams without permission, and, fearing a lack of time to complete the tests, handed out the test to the majority of the class, who agreed to work on it separately, and then she and others worked on the test for fifteen minutes.

On January 7, 2016, another student, A.L., emailed Ms. Lee admitting to being involved in the cheating, as well. A.L. acknowledged that she worked on the test inappropriately, and she named several other students involved on her "side of the room." A.L. did not implicate the petitioner, J.S. She noted that she had been afraid to come forward due to pressure from other students that were involved.

On cross-examination, L.S. attempted to elicit an admission from Ms. Lee regarding peer review and peer grading, and whether the incident in question could have been seen as allowed activity. Ms. Lee testified credibly that students would sometimes be asked to exchange tests and grade them to learn from and identify their mistakes. However, that was done under her supervision, with color pencils or highlighters. In addition, Ms. Lee noted that such an exercise had been used only approximately two times prior to the date when the alleged cheating occurred, and certainly was not used on December 22, 2015.

Further, L.S.'s cross-examination of Ms. Lee only strengthened the notion that in no way would Ms. Lee have allowed student access to the tests or anything else in the drawer. She noted that possibly she would allow access if a student forgot a textbook and needed to borrow one, but expressly disallowed anything else. Further, Ms. Lee noted that when Mr. Ross addressed the class he did not promise any favored treatment if the students admitted cheating or implicated anyone else in cheating. Lastly, cross-examination of Ms. Lee established that Mr. Ross memorialized his investigation with what students admitted to him. (See R-5.)

Daniel Ross

Daniel Ross is the chair of the Math Department at Piscataway High School, as he was on the date in question. In January 2016 he became aware of an allegation of cheating in Ms. Lee's period 5 math class that occurred in late December 2015. He was notified by Ms. Lee that a student reached out to her about the alleged incident, at which point he addressed her class in order to launch an investigation into the incident.

He memorialized the chronology of his investigation and testified consistently and credibly at the OAL hearing. (See R-13.) He noted that on Friday, December 18, students in Ms. Lee's Trigonometry and Analytic Geometry period 5 class took an assessment where time ran short, and were told that they would be given extra time to finish the exam in the next class. On Monday, December 21, 2015, period 5 did not meet due to the rotating schedule. On Tuesday, December 22, 2015, Ms. Lee was absent from school, and it was rumored that she would be out the following day. Ms. Lee left plans out for the substitute for the class to work on a packet of problems on December 22, 2015, the date of the incident in question. On Wednesday, January 6, 2016, Ms. Lee informed Mr. Ross of the cheating issue after she was tipped off by a student in a different class. Mr. Ross then spoke with period 5 math student L.T. during the last period of the day, at which time L.T. acknowledged working on the exam on December 22, 2015.

As a result of this admission, on January 7, 2016, Mr. Ross spoke with Ms. Lee's period 5 class about character and taking responsibility for their actions. He told them that anyone with information should come forward. He noted that these are the most exemplary academic students, and that he expects the same exemplary character. Students came to see him that afternoon, and he received a parent call that day. He testified that additional students contacted both Ms. Lee and him via email admitting having inappropriately worked on the test. He stated specifically that the admissions noted that they went into Ms. Lee's designated cabinet, removed their exams, and worked on their exams during her absence, and then replaced the exams in the drawer as if it had never happened. On January 8, 2016, J.S. and two other students came to see Mr. Ross in the morning to admit to taking and working on the exam without permission. Mr. Ross and Ms. Lee were contacted by numerous others throughout that day, as well.

In short, Mr. Ross gave detailed testimony without prejudice. He testified credibly that he was interested in a fair investigation, and that most students came to him voluntarily and without any pressure. He impressed upon the students that their actions in period 5 on December 22, 2015, would not be fair to those in the class who did not cheat. His report supports his in-person testimony, as he testified that those notes were taken contemporaneously as students came forward. He noted that these students were the highest performing kids in their sophomore and junior classes, respectively, and that they were all bound to get into great colleges. They were all involved in academic clubs and activities, and he celebrated them for that, as did the faculty as a whole. In short, his testimony revealed disappointment. It appeared that the crux of that disappointment was that not only did they act in contravention of Ms. Lee's instructions, but some students got the exams and others did not, giving the cheaters an unfair advantage.

As for J.S. specifically, Mr. Ross testified clearly and credibly that she never said that she felt she had permission to work on the exam or to access the cabinet in question. In fact, he stated that J.S. was not trying to make an excuse, except to say that she knew the class would, at some point, get extra time to complete the exam. She never made an argument to Mr. Ross that what she did was right, and in fact admitted that it was wrong. He noted that he never had contact with J.S. after that, and that he sent the documentation of his investigation to the vice principal, Dr. Gayles.

On cross-examination, Mr. Ross further bolstered his credibility by noting that he did not go to speak to any of the students who were exonerated or not implicated. He clearly was not on a fishing expedition to implicate additional students. He also noted that he was not responsible for the discipline, but only the investigation. As such, he moved the matter to the administration to deal with discipline. He stated also that he was not aware of any other student that implicated J.S., if it was not revealed in R-5. This shows that he stuck to facts that he knew firsthand and did not rely on rumor or innuendo as a result of any preparation for this hearing.

Dr. Antoine L. Gayles

Dr. Gayles testified that he is the assistant principal of Piscataway High School. He is responsible for doling out the discipline for cheating and other offenses. He testified that after Mr. Ross concluded his investigation of the December 22, 2015, incident, he issued short-term, or four-day, suspensions to all seven students involved, including J.S., for cheating on the test. Dr. Gayles testified that the offense carried an exposure of up to ten days. He indicated that Dean Robinson was the individual tasked with advising the students' parents of the suspensions. (See R-6; R-16.) Written discipline referral notices were sent out to each family. (See R-7.)

Cross-examination of Dr. Gayles confirmed that it was his understanding that the students would be given extra time on the test, but that they were not afforded access to the test without the teacher's consent. Dr. Gayles testified that the decision to suspend the students in question was not made after the confessions alone. As an administrator, and as a parent himself, Dr. Gayles wanted the students to be afforded due process, so he wanted to consult with the dean to make sure that the confessions were legitimate and that the chain of command was followed. To that end, after the cheating was reported, the investigation and subsequent report by Mr. Ross were reviewed in tandem with the information obtained by Ms. Lee.

Herbert Jermaine Robinson

In the 2015–2016 school year, Herbert Jermaine Robinson was the dean of students for the eleventh grade at Piscataway High School, and was responsible for handling matters involving infractions or incidents and for issuing discipline. He testified that in January 2016 Dr. Gayles brought to his attention allegations of cheating in Ms. Lee's period 5 math class.

An investigation was done by Mr. Ross, and Dr. Gayles issued a four-day out-of-school suspension for each of the students involved. If the punishment were less than a suspension, Robinson could make the penalty decisions on his own. In this case, the decision to impose a suspension and length of same appropriately came from the vice principal, Dr. Gayles. The dean's job was to notify the parents of the discipline. Mr. Robinson had L.S.'s primary contact information (R-16), but he was only able to leave a voice mail. He then decided to try L.S.'s cell phone. He noted that on January 22, 2016, the same day, the numbers show an incoming call from L.S.'s home phone. Mr. Robinson testified credibly that he usually reaches out to parents via cell number, as they are usually most available there. It should be noted that Mr. Robinson presented well in court and obviously had no axe to grind with L.S., J.S. or any of the other individuals involved.

Jason Lester

Mr. Lester is, and was at the time of the incident, the principal of Piscataway High School. He testified credibly that the cheating came to his attention through Vice Principal Gayles as an appeal to the principal from L.S. on J.S.'s behalf. His March 4, 2016, meeting with L.S. was memorialized in a letter. (R-9.) Most notably, Principal Lester noted that L.S. never denied that J.S. cheated or asserted that she was given permission to take the exam without Ms. Lee's authorization. He stated convincingly that his letter accurately reflects the issue.

When questioned by L.S. on cross-examination, about why the substitute teacher was not questioned regarding the incident in question, Mr. Lester stated simply that all the students involved admitted to it, so there would be no reason to involve the substitute. He also testified convincingly that he had no knowledge of a child of a prior teacher being in Ms. Lee's period 5 math class, as insinuated by L.S. on cross-examination. Principal Lester testified convincingly that he does not know if J.S. changed any answers, or if J.S. shared answers with other students, or if J.S. went over the allotted time for the test. All of these answers speak to Principal Lester's credibility, in that he conducted a fair appeal and was detailed in addressing L.S.'s concerns and was not on a fishing expedition to mount a stronger case against J.S. Lastly, he noted that his level of involvement in an investigation and doling out of discipline amounts to "no involvement," unless there is an appeal from the parent, as there was in the instant matter.

Teresa Rafferty

Superintendent of Piscataway Public Schools Teresa Rafferty testified that as part of her duties she attends the Board of Education meetings, which are held approximately twice a month. At the January 28, 2016, meeting, members of the public came forward, including L.S., who gave a lengthy presentation regarding his daughter

J.S. Prior to that Board of Education meeting, Ms. Rafferty had no knowledge of either L.S. or J.S. At the meeting, she told L.S. to go up the chain of command regarding an appeal at the school level.

The second Board of Education meeting that involved L.S. and J.S. was on April 4, 2016. After closed session, L.S. was denied his appeal to expunge J.S.'s suspension. L.S. had an attorney, Ira Ginsburg, and L.S. recorded the session. Superintendent Rafferty's findings, memorialized on April 6, 2016, included that J.S. worked on the test and made at least one change to her exam before returning it. Ms. Rafferty credibly testified that the substitute teacher was not questioned because J.S. came forward with her own account of what occurred, which was consistent with statements given by the other students involved. Superintendent Rafferty noted that L.S. never said that his daughter was not guilty of any offense, but asserted that the action should be taken "in context." It was clear that J.S. knew that what she had done was wrong, and she never claimed that she relied on any permission from the substitute. Most notably, Ms. Rafferty stated, and wrote in her Appeal Determination, that "the investigation also disclosed evidence of the students' conscious awareness of wrongdoing as the behavior was occurring in the classroom." (R-10.) Ms. Rafferty bolstered her determination by noting that on May 24, 2016, she received an email from J.S. (R-12) acknowledging that J.S. made a "stupid decision" and a "stupid mistake," albeit disagreeing with the characterization of "cheating."

On cross-examination, Superintendent Rafferty testified that seven students were suspended, and all got the same penalty. Superintendent Rafferty said that she did not know whether J.S. colluded with other students or used any study aids when she took the test and worked on it. J.S. did indicate that it was her opinion that no sophomores were involved. Superintendent Rafferty was prepared and professional, and also did not have any personal issue with L.S. or J.S., and thus was highly credible.

Findings of Fact

I FIND the following to be FACTS:

1. J.S. was in Carolyn Lee's Trigonometry and Analytic Geometry class, comprised of junior and sophomore honors students, during the 2015–2016 school year.

2. J.S. was a junior in the 2015–2016 school year.

3. On December 18, 2015, Ms. Lee administered a test involving trigonometry equations which was not completed due to a lock-down drill.

4. Ms. Lee informed the students that they would be able to complete the final ten to fifteen minutes of the test on another date that would be selected by the teacher.

5. The class in question is on a rotating schedule, and thus does not meet every day.

6. The next available day for the exam was December 22, 2015.

7. Ms. Lee was out sick on December 22, 2015, and left a lesson plan for a substitute teacher. (R-1.)

8. Ms. Lee was also out sick on December 23, 2015.

9. Ms. Lee's lesson plan made no mention of completing the test in question, but rather instructed the period 5 students to work on a "Law of Sines packet."

10. Ms. Lee had a wheelchair-bound student in the class in question, so the class was taught in a different classroom than her homeroom, and she kept the tests in a locked file cabinet in that classroom with her name on it.

11. Ms. Lee did not authorize the students to access the file cabinet unless expressly instructed.

12. Ms. Lee never instructed the substitute to administer the final portion of the exam, nor did she have any contact with the substitute teacher or know who the substitute would be that day.

13. Ms. Lee had no knowledge of any cheating incident over the winter break.

14. Upon returning from break on Monday January 4, 2016, Ms. Lee went to give the students the exam back. Some students explained that they forgot about the test over break and were not prepared. Ms. Lee told the students that she would give it to them on the next available class day.

15. On January 5, 2016, Ms. Lee was notified by another student that cheating allegedly occurred in her class on December 22, 2015, while she was out sick.

16. On January 6, 2015, Ms. Lee notified the Math Department chair, Mr. Ross, who launched an investigation.

17. On January 6, 2016, after school, Ms. Lee received an email from a student, L.T., who admitted to taking the tests without permission.

18. On January 7, 2016, other students involved in the taking of the exams from the file cabinet and working on the exams came forward implicating themselves and others.

19. On January 8, 2016, J.S. came forward with several friends to admit to taking and working on the tests without permission on December 22, 2015.

20. All students involved were given the same penalty of a four-day out-of-school suspension, and notified of same on January 22, 2016.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Local boards of education are charged with protecting the health and welfare of the students entrusted to their care, and with ensuring that a thorough and efficient education is provided every day to every student in an environment that is safe, orderly and free from disruption. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2 establishes the authority of local boards to impose discipline, and provides that "[a]ny pupil who is guilty of continued and willful disobedience, or of open defiance of the authority of any teacher or person having authority over him, . . . shall be liable to punishment and to suspension or expulsion from school."

Disciplined students retain extensive due-process rights. Goss v. Lopez, 419 U.S. 565, 95 S. Ct. 729, 42 L. Ed. 2d 725 (1975); N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2.4; N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3. Where a long-term suspension or an expulsion is recommended by the administration, the student is entitled to a board-level hearing, and the ultimate determination whether to impose the recommended discipline rests in the discretion of the board. An appeal of the board's decision may be made to the Commissioner of Education. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2.4(c).

It is well established that the Commissioner will not overturn the decision of a local board in the absence of a finding that the action below was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. T.B.M. v. Moorestown Bd. of Educ., EDU 2780-07, Initial Decision (February 6, 2008), adopted, Comm'r (April 7, 2008), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/> (citing Thomas v. Morris Twp. Bd. of Educ., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965), aff'd, 46 N.J. 581(1966)). The Commissioner will not substitute his judgment for that of the board of education, whose exercise of its discretion may not be disturbed unless shown to be "patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Kopera v. W. Orange Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960). Our courts have held that "[w]here there is room for two opinions, action is not arbitrary or capricious when exercised honestly and upon due consideration, even though it may be believed that an erroneous conclusion has been reached." Bayshore Sewage Co. v. Dep't of Envtl. Prot., 122 N.J. Super. 184, 199–200 (Ch. Div. 1973), aff'd, 131 N.J. Super. 37 (App. Div. 1974). Accordingly, the petitioner carries a weighty burden. The petitioner must demonstrate that the board acted in bad faith, or in utter disregard of the circumstances before it. T.B.M. v. Moorestown, supra, EDU 2780-07, Initial Decision (February 6, 2008), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>.

Here, J.S. admitted verbally and in writing to the actions that the school and the Board subsequently found were substantiated. There is no evidence of any coercion of J.S.'s admission, and every witness presented was credible and their testimony corroborated the other. In fact, L.S., in his meeting with the superintendent, acknowledged that J.S. engaged in discipline-worthy behavior; however, he argued that her conduct did not rise to the level of "cheating," but rather should have been considered "tampering." However, L.S. did not present any evidence to dispute any of the findings above. I CONCLUDE that the petitioner has not shown that the Board's finding that J.S. cheated was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

The next issue is the appropriateness of the penalty. The charge of cheating could carry an out-of-school suspension of up to ten days. The Board, rather than imposing the maximum penalty, imposed what Vice Principal Gayles accurately called a "short-term" four-day suspension.

A balancing must be undertaken, with the knowledge that the Board is required to maintain discipline in its schools. Further, the Board's discretionary powers must be given deference, as long as the Board did not act in an arbitrary, unreasonable, or capricious manner. I CONCLUDE that the petitioner has not shown that the Board's imposition of a four-day out-of-school suspension was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. On the contrary, the Board reasonably imposed a much lesser discipline than the maximum suspension.

Based on the foregoing facts and the applicable law, I CONCLUDE that the Board's imposition of a four-day out-of-school-suspension for J.S. for a violation of its policy against cheating should be AFFIRMED.

ORDER

It is ORDERED that the relief requested by petitioner is DENIED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF VERONA, ESSEX COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

On June 28, 2016, petitioner M.A. filed an appeal seeking an order directing the respondent Board to allow his daughter J.A. – who completed her junior year in high school in June 2016 – to attend a summer recovery program to improve her low passing grades during her sophomore year, including a D in one subject and a D- in three other subjects. A motion for emergent relief in this matter was denied in July 2016, subsequent to the July 8 start date of the summer recovery program in question. On October 24, 2016, the Board filed a motion to dismiss the petition as moot.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: in the instant case, emergent relief was necessary to allow J.A. to attend the summer recovery program, but the application for this relief was denied in July 2016; a case is moot when the determination sought cannot have any practical effect on the existing controversy; the summer program sought by petitioner for her daughter is now in the past, and a decision at this point would have not practical purpose. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that the case is now moot, and the petition should be dismissed.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusions, and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter for the reasons stated therein. The petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon such review, the Commissioner is in accord with the ALJ's conclusion – for the reasons set forth in the Initial Decision – that the issues raised by the petitioner are moot. This matter involves a request for petitioner's daughter to attend a summer recovery program during the summer of 2016. As the program has since ended, the relief sought by petitioner is no longer available.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed as moot.

M.A. ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILD J.A.,
Petitioner,
v.
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF VERONA, ESSEX COUNTY,
Respondent.

M.A., father of J.A., pro se

Michael J. Gross, Esq., for respondent (Kenny Gross Kovats & Parton, attorneys)

Record Closed: January 18, 2017 Decided: January 18, 2017

BEFORE RICHARD McGILL, ALJ:

M.A. ("petitioner") filed a petition with the Commissioner of Education seeking an order directing the Board of Education of the Township of Verona ("respondent") to allow his daughter, J.A., who completed her junior year in high school in June 2016, to attend a summer recovery program to improve her low passing grades including a D in one subject and D- in three others during her sophomore year. Respondent now moves to dismiss the petition as moot.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner filed the petition with the Commissioner of Education on June 28, 2016, pursuant to the Commissioner's authority to hear and determine controversies and disputes arising under the school laws. In conjunction with the petition, petitioner filed a motion for emergent relief.

The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on June 29, 2016, for determination as a contested case. An oral argument in regard to petitioner's motion for emergent relief was conducted on July 6, 2016, at the Office of Administrative Law in Newark, New Jersey. An Order issued by the undersigned on July 7, 2016, denying petitioner's request for emergent relief, was adopted by the Commissioner in a Decision on Application for Emergent Relief dated July 14, 2016.

On October 24, 2016, respondent filed a motion to dismiss the petition as moot. Petitioner did not submit a response to the motion.

MOTION TO DISMISS

In support of the motion to dismiss the petition, respondent set forth the following undisputed facts. J.A. is currently enrolled in the Verona Public Schools for her senior year. During the 2014-2015 school year, J.A. received grades of D or D- in multiple subjects in her sophomore year. In the petition filed on June 28, 2016, at the end of J.A.'s junior year, petitioner sought to give J.A. an opportunity to improve her grades from her sophomore year.

Respondent does not offer a summer credit recovery program in the District. Students seeking to participate in such classes (i.e., supplemental, remedial, advancement or enrichment classes) must do so outside the District. Summer school courses, even if taken, do not alter a student's grade. They simply allow the student to satisfy a core curriculum requirement. The summer credit recovery program in question was scheduled to begin on July 8, 2016. Petitioner's motion for emergent relief was denied initially on July 7, 2016, and a Final Decision was issued on July 14, 2016.

Respondent contends that the petition in this matter should be dismissed as moot. A case is moot when the determination sought cannot have any practical effect on the existing controversy. Greenfield v. New Jersey Dep't of Corrections, 382 N.J. Super. 254, 257-58 (App. Div. 2006).

Here, petitioner sought an order compelling respondent to allow his daughter, who has completed her junior year in high school, to attend a summer recovery program to improve low passing grades that she received during her sophomore year. For his daughter to attend a summer program, petitioner would have needed emergent relief, but his application therefore was denied in July 2016. The summer program is now in the past, and a decision at this point would not have any practical effect in relation to petitioner's request. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the case is now moot and that the petition in this matter should be dismissed.

Accordingly, it is ORDERED that the petition in this matter be dismissed.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

PETITIONER,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
V.	:	DECISION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF FREEHOLD, MONMOUTH COUNTY	:
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner – who was hired by the respondent Board in March 2005 as a Technology Education teacher – alleged that his termination as the result of a reduction in force (RIF) was a violation of his tenure and seniority rights pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:32-5.1. The respondent Board contended that the petitioner resigned prior to the RIF and therefore relinquished his tenure and seniority rights in the school district. The Board filed a motion for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; petitioner was notified on December 15, 2013 that his position would be abolished for the 2014-2015 school year; petitioner was encouraged by the Board to seek employment elsewhere; petitioner secured employment in another school district that was to begin immediately, which resulted in his submission of a letter of resignation on March 19, 2014; this letter was accepted by the Board on March 25, 2014; after the petitioner's resignation – on April 8, 2014 – the Board passed a resolution to conduct a RIF; ultimately, petitioner was unable to take the position he had secured because of a change in his circumstances; petitioner contended that he attempted to rescind his resignation, and was told to submit an email requesting that his resignation to be extended until June 30, 2014; the Board approved this extension; and it is undisputed that petitioner never made a formal request to the Board to rescind his resignation. The ALJ concluded that the law is clear that an employee's resignation extinguishes any tenure rights that employee may have had. Accordingly, the ALJ granted summary decision in favor of the Board, and dismissed the petition.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusions, and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter, with prejudice. The petition was dismissed.

KEVIN GOETZ,
Petitioner,
v.
TOWNSHIP OF FREEHOLD BOARD OF EDUCATION, MONMOUTH COUNTY,
Respondent.

James J. Uliano, Esq., for petitioner (Chamlin, Rosen, Uliano and Witherington, attorneys)

Daniel R. Roberts, Esq., for respondent (Kenney, Gross, Kovats and Parton, attorneys)

Record Closed: December 5, 2016 Decided: January 17, 2017

BEFORE LISA JAMES-BEAVERS, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner Kevin Goetz (petitioner) alleges his termination by respondent Freehold Township Board of Education (Board) as a result of a reduction in force (RIF) was in violation of his tenure and seniority rights pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:32-5.1. The Board counters that petitioner resigned prior to the RIF and therefore relinquished his tenure and seniority rights.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On April 29, 2016, petitioner filed a petition of appeal against the Board with the New Jersey Department of Education Office of Controversies and Disputes. On May 18, 2016, the Board filed an answer. The Office of Controversies and Disputes transmitted the petition and answer to the Office of Administrative Law where they were filed on May 20, 2016, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13, for determination as a contested case.

I issued a prehearing order on August 26, 2016, setting a hearing date of December 20, 2016, and setting a motion schedule requiring that dispositive motions be filed by November 4, 2016. On November 4, 2016, the Board filed a motion for summary decision arguing there were no material facts in dispute and the Board was entitled to judgment as a matter of law. On November 22, 2016, petitioner filed opposition to the motion. On December 5, 2016, the Board filed a reply to the opposition and the record closed. The hearing date was adjourned in light of the motions. I now grant the Board's motion for summary decision.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

Petitioner Kevin Goetz was hired by the Board on or about March 14, 2005, as a Technology Education teacher. Petitioner's Statement of Material Facts, ¶2. At all applicable times, petitioner held a teaching certificate with a Teacher of Industrial Arts endorsement. Id. at ¶3. Petitioner served as a Technology Education teacher from the time he was hired until June 30, 2014. Id. at ¶4.

On or about December 15, 2013, petitioner met with Dianne Brethauer, Principal of the Dwight D. Eisenhower Middle School, located in the Board's district. Board's Counterstatement of Material Facts, ¶1. At that meeting, Principal Brethauer informed petitioner that his position would be abolished for the 2014-2015 school year and encouraged petitioner to seek employment elsewhere. Ibid. Petitioner indicated that he was interested in replacing the retiring digital arts teacher. Id. at ¶3. In January 2014, petitioner met with Assistant Superintendent Neil Dickstein, who informed petitioner that he was ineligible to teach the digital arts class because he did not hold an art degree. Id. at ¶4. The Assistant Superintendent further advised petitioner that there were no available jobs for him in the district. Ibid.

As the result of this news, petitioner secured employment in North Plainfield, New Jersey. Id. at ¶6. The position was to begin immediately. Ibid. On or about March 19, 2014, petitioner submitted an e-mail to Superintendent Ross Kasun, with a carbon copy to Principal Brethauer and Human Resources Department Manager Ann Lenahan, stating: "Please be advised that I am resigning my teaching position as of today March 19, 2014. I anticipate my last day to be May 16, 2014." Exhibit A. On March 25, 2014, at its regular meeting, the Board accepted petitioner's letter of resignation. Exhibit B, p. 3, 5. On or about April 8, 2014, the Board formally approved a reduction in force (RIF), citing declining enrollment and budgetary constraints. Exhibit D, pp. 6-7.

During the period of time between March 19, 2014 and May 16, 2014, petitioner's circumstances changed and he was unable to take the position that he had secured in North Plainfield. Board's Counterstatement of Material Facts, ¶7. Petitioner contends that he approached the administration to rescind his resignation and was told to submit an e-mail asking for his resignation to be extended until June 30, 2014. Id. at ¶8. On or about May 13, 2014, petitioner sent an e-mail to HR Manager Lenahan, with a carbon copy to Assistant Superintendent Dickstein, writing: "I would like to request that my resignation slated for May 16 be extended to June 30. Thank you for all your help in this matter." Exhibit E. At its regular meeting on May 14, 2014, the Board approved petitioner's request to extend his resignation date. Exhibit F, p. 10. Although petitioner alleges that he advised school administration of his desire to rescind his resignation, it is undisputed that petitioner never made a request to the Board to rescind his resignation. Petitioner's Statement of Material Facts, ¶11; Board's Response to Material Statement of Facts, ¶11. Petitioner worked through June 30, 2014, and subsequently accepted a position with the Lacey Township Board of Education. Petitioner's Counterstatement of Material Facts, ¶9.

LEGAL DISCUSSION

In a contested case, a motion for summary decision may be granted "if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). Under this regulation, which is akin to the judiciary's motion for summary judgment, see R. 4:46-1, "the determination [of] whether there exists a genuine issue with respect to a material fact challenged requires . . . a consideration of whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party in consideration of the applicable evidentiary standard, are sufficient to permit a rational fact finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party." Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co., 142 N.J. 520, 523 (1995). In making this determination, the analysis is "'whether the evidence presents a sufficient disagreement to require submission to a [fact finder] or whether it is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law." Id. at 533-34. Summary decision is also proper when the opposing party "points only to disputed issues of fact that are 'of an insubstantial nature.'" Id. at 529.

Previous administrative decisions have made clear that an employee's tenure rights are extinguished upon his resignation. Janik v. Camden Bd. of Educ., OAL Dkt. No. EDU 6608-97, initial decision (July 22, 1998), adopted, Comm'r (September 4, 1998) <https://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/html/initial/edu6608-97.html>. Further, "[w]hen a teacher submits a voluntary and unconditional letter of resignation, which is accepted by the Board, the individual has no automatic right to rescind the resignation." Murray v. N. Highlands Reg'l Bd. of Educ., 92 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 335, aff'd, State Board, 96 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 351, at 15. "A teaching staff member may withdraw her resignation before it is accepted by the school board . . . However, a school board's acceptance of a teaching staff member's offer of resignation terminates the teaching staff member's employment, and a subsequent withdrawal is ineffectual after its acceptance." Eberwein-O'Donnell v. Winslow Twp. Bd. of Educ., OAL Dkt. No. EDU 9323-10 (May 1, 2012), adopted, Comm'r, (July 16, 2012) <https://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/final/edu9323-10_1.pdf> (internal citations omitted).

In Janik, supra, the petitioner, a tenured Director of Vocational Education, was informed on May 7, 1997 that his position would be eliminated effective June 30, 1997. The petitioner claimed that he was entitled to tenure as a principal, and the board denied the claim on June 16, 1997. On June 18, 1997, the petitioner sent a letter to the board advising that he would be retiring on July 1, 1997, and the board accepted the letter on June 30. On July 18, 1997, the petitioner filed a petition of appeal, arguing that he was entitled to a principal position following the RIF.

The ALJ granted summary decision to the board, holding that the petitioner's resignation terminated his tenure rights. The ALJ noted that when the petitioner filed his petition of appeal, he > had no employment relationship or tenure rights with respondent to preserve. His employment with respondent and all rights concomitant thereto, were severed on June 30, 1997, when he completed his employment and retired. The fact that petitioner expressed his disagreement with respondent's legal conclusions concerning his tenure entitlements prior to conclusion of his employment, is irrelevant; when petitioner filed the petition of appeal he had no standing to make any of the claims set forth therein because he no longer had any employment relationship with respondent.

> [Id. at 7.]

For these reasons, the ALJ concluded that the petitioner lacked standing to raise the tenure claims set forth in the petition of appeal and granted summary decision in the school board's favor.

In the present matter, there is no dispute as to any of the material facts; accordingly, the matter is ripe for summary decision. The following facts are undisputed: Petitioner submitted a letter of resignation on March 19, 2014, and the Board accepted his resignation on March 25, 2014. Petitioner subsequently requested that his resignation be extended to June 30, 2014, and the Board approved this extension. Petitioner never made any request to the Board to rescind his resignation. Based on these facts, petitioner's employment relationship was severed upon the Board's acceptance of his resignation, and he has no tenure rights to preserve. Thus, summary decision in the Board's favor is appropriate.

Petitioner argues that there are disputes as to "the circumstances surrounding the RIF and both parties' actions from the period of time from December 2013 through June 2014." Petitioner's Opposition Brief, p. 1. According to petitioner, he was notified on December 15, 2013 that his position would be eliminated for the following school year, and the principal of the school encouraged petitioner to seek employment elsewhere. Petitioner had indicated that he wanted to replace the retiring digital arts teacher, but the Assistant Superintendent informed petitioner that he was ineligible to teach the class because he did not hold an art degree. The Assistant Superintendent further indicated that there were no available jobs for petitioner in the district. After receiving this information, petitioner secured employment with another district, and thus tendered his resignation with the Board. Petitioner was ultimately unable to take the new position. Petitioner states that he approached the administration to rescind his resignation and was told to submit an e-mail asking for the resignation to be extended until June 30, 2014. It is undisputed, however, that petitioner never made a request to the Board to rescind his resignation.

Even if the facts as presented by petitioner are true, they do not alter the effect of petitioner's resignation under the law. Like in Janik, supra, it is irrelevant that petitioner expressed interest in another teaching position prior to the conclusion of his employment. When petitioner filed his Petition of Appeal, he had already ended his employment relationship with the Board and had no standing to make tenure claims. Petitioner denies ¶7 of the Board's Statement of Material Facts, which reads, "On or about April 8, 2014, the Board determined to conduct a reduction in force. The RIF eliminated one teacher of Health and Physical Education, and one teacher of Industrial Arts/Technology Education. The RIF was effective June 30, 2014. Dickstein Cert., ¶8."

The minutes from the Board's April 8, 2014 regular meeting reflect the Board's approval of a reduction in force, eliminating one teaching position in Health and Physical Education and one position in Industrial Arts/Technology Education. Exhibit D, p. 6. There is one discrepancy -- while the minutes indicate that the RIF would become effective on July 1, 2014, the Board's Statement of Material Facts indicates that it would become effective on June 30, 2014. Id. at 7. Nevertheless, the undisputed facts show that petitioner's resignation was accepted by the Board, thus cutting off any tenure rights that petitioner may have had.

Petitioner also denies ¶9 of the Board's Statement of Material Facts, which reads, "Petitioner was not provided with any notice of the RIF, as he had already resigned his position. Dickstein Cert., ¶8." The record makes clear that petitioner resigned his teaching position as of March 19, 2014. The Board approved his resignation on March 25, 2014. Thus, by the time the Board passed the resolution to conduct a RIF on April 8, 2014, petitioner had already resigned. Petitioner argues that he was told orally that there would be a RIF prior to his resignation. Petitioner's Opposition Brief, p. 2. However, regardless of when petitioner first learned that there would be a RIF, petitioner's resignation severed his employment relationship with the Board. Petitioner cannot invoke tenure rights that no longer exist.

CONCLUSION

I CONCLUDE that the facts, as presented by petitioner, do not demonstrate a material factual dispute. It is undisputed that petitioner submitted a letter of resignation, and the Board accepted his resignation. The law makes clear that an employee's resignation extinguishes any tenure rights he may have had. For these reasons, summary decision is appropriately granted in the Board's favor.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing, I ORDER that the Board's motion for summary decision is hereby GRANTED and petitioner's appeal DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." PETITIONER, : COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF BUTLER, MORRIS COUNTY, :

RESPONDENT. :

SYNOPSIS

In August 2016, pro se petitioner appealed the determination of the respondent Board that his children, A.H. and V.H., are ineligible to attend school in respondent's school district. Petitioner contended that he resides in Butler and has shared custody of his children, arguing that A.H. and V.H. stay with him 48% of the time. Petitioner maintained that he and his ex-wife wished to maintain continuity in their children's education, as they had been enrolled in Butler schools prior to the 2016-2017 school year. Petitioner submitted a copy of a Consent Order from the Chancery Division of the Superior Court – filed on August 22, 2016 – in which he and his ex-wife agreed, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1, that the children would continue to attend Butler schools. The Board contended that the children were no longer entitled to a free education in Butler schools because of their post-divorce living arrangement, wherein they spend the majority of time with their mother; accordingly, the Board maintained that the children are domiciled in Bloomingdale, and sought tuition reimbursal.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a) and N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1, children between the ages of five and twenty years are entitled to a free public education in the district in which he or she resides; since their parents' divorce, A.H. and V.H. live less than half the year in the Butler school district with their father – a fact that the parents admitted to in a letter to the Commissioner; petitioner and his ex-wife entered into a Consent Order in the context of their divorce litigation wherein they agreed that the children would continue to attend school in the Butler school district; pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2) and N.J.A.C. 6A:22-4.3, if a school district discovers that a non-resident child is attending one of its schools, it may act to remove the child; here, the petitioner conceded that the children do not reside in Butler; the Board waived tuition reimbursement in this matter, and has agreed that V.H. and A.H. have until the end of the third quarter marking period to enroll in the school district in which they reside. Accordingly, the ALJ denied the petitioner's residency appeal and ordered that the children must be enrolled in Bloomingdale schools.

The Commissioner rejected the Initial Decision, finding, inter alia, that – under N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)1.i – as of the date of the court order, A.H. and V.H. were entitled to attend Butler schools. Contrary to the conclusion reached by the ALJ herein, when there is a consent order or a written agreement between the parents that designates the school district of attendance, the amount of time spent with either parent does not dictate where the children must attend school. Because the petitioner's divorce occurred prior to the entry of the consent order, the matter was remanded to the OAL for determination of whether the Board is owed tuition for any period prior to the August 22, 2016 consent order.

PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF BUTLER, MORRIS COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. This matter was initiated by the petitioner, K.H., as a pro se residency appeal, and the Butler Board of Education (Board) filed a counterclaim for tuition. The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) found that A.H. and V.H. are no longer entitled to attend school in the Butler school district because of their new living arrangement resulting from their parents' divorce, i.e., the children spend less than half of the year living with their father in the Butler school district. The ALJ ordered the petitioner to enroll the students in the Bloomingdale school district – where they reside with their mother – by the end of the third marking period. The ALJ also dismissed the Board's counterclaim for tuition.

Upon a comprehensive review of the record the Commissioner finds that the ALJ erroneously found that A.H. and V.H. were ineligible to attend school in the Butler school district. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)1.i:

> When a student's parents or guardians are domiciled within different school districts and there is no court order or written agreement between the parents designating the school district of attendance, the student's domicile is the school district of the parent or guardian with whom the student lives for the majority of the school year.

[N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)1.i (emphasis added)]. It is undisputed that the petitioner resides in the Butler school district, and that the students' mother resides in the Bloomingdale school district. It is also undisputed that there was a consent order – entered into on August 22, 2016, as a part of the divorce proceedings – under which it was designated that A.H. and V.H. would attend school in the Butler school district. Therefore – under N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)1.i – as of August 22, 2016, A.H. and V.H. were entitled to attend school in the Butler school district. Despite the conclusion reached in the Initial Decision, when there is a consent order or a written agreement between the parents that designates the school district of attendance, the amount of time spent with either parent does not dictate where the children must attend school.

The Board filed a counterclaim for tuition in this matter, which was apparently waived at the hearing.[1] The Commissioner recognizes, however, that the Board may not have waived its counterclaim if the petitioner appeared at the hearing. Although the parents entered into the consent order in August 2016, designating the Butler school district as the district of attendance, it appears from the record that the parents were divorced in April 2016. Therefore, in the absence of a consent order or written agreement between the parents, it is possible that A.H. and V.H. were not eligible to attend school in the Butler school district between April 2016 and August 2016. The current record, coupled with the petitioner's failure to appear at the hearing, make it impossible for the Commissioner to ascertain whether or not there was a period of ineligibility during which the Board is entitled to tuition reimbursement.

Accordingly the Initial Decision is rejected in its entirety. Pursuant to the August 22, 2016 consent order, A.H. and V.H. are entitled to attend school in the Butler school district. The Board's counterclaim for tuition is remanded to the OAL for a determination as to whether the Board is entitled to tuition for any potential period of ineligibility prior to the entry of the August 22, 2016 consent order.[2]

[1] The petitioner did not appear at the hearing nor did he advise the OAL as to why he did not attend. Additionally, there is no transcript of the hearing, so the circumstances surrounding the Board's waiver of the counterclaim are not clear from the record.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner appeals a Notice of Final Ineligibility from Respondent school district, dated August 10, 2016, wherein Respondent determined that the minor children are ineligible to attend school in Respondent school district.

Petitioner filed as pro se with the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes in the New Jersey Department of Education on August 29, 2016.

Respondent filed its Answer and Counterclaim thereto on September 16, 2016.

The matter was transferred to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on September 21, 2016, as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to –15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to –13.

The matter was listed for a hearing on January 19, 2017. Petitioner failed to appear, or otherwise contact the OAL regarding the non-appearance. A proof hearing was held on January 19, 2017.

ISSUE

Are the minor children eligible to attend school in the Butler school district.

I FIND the following FACTS:

Prior to the 2016/2017 school year the minor children were enrolled in the Butler school district. The parents of the minor children were divorced, with the minor children living less than half the year in the Butler school district. The parents admit to this pursuant to a letter, dated August 26, 2016, addressed the Commissioner of Education. (R-2).

Respondent school district determined that the minor children were no longer entitled to a free education in the Butler school district due to their new living arrangement resulting from Petitioner and former spouse being divorced. (R-3)

Petitioner and former spouse had entered into a Consent Order in the context of their divorce litigation wherein they agreed that their minor children would continue to attend school in the Butler school district. (R-1)

The minor children are not domiciled in the Butler school district.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

Any child between the ages of five and twenty years old is entitled to a free public education in the district in which he is a resident.[3] N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a); N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a). A student is a resident of a school district if his parent or guardian has a permanent home in the district such that "the parent or guardian intends to return to it when absent and has no present intent of moving from it, notwithstanding the existence of homes or residences elsewhere." N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)(1). A student may attend school in a district in which he is a non-resident, with or without payment of tuition, at the discretion of the school district. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-3(a); N.J.A.C. 6A:22-2.2.

If a school district discovers that a non-resident child is attending one of its schools, the district may act to remove the child. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2); N.J.A.C. 6A:22-4.3. If so, the chief school administrator must first issue a notice of ineligibility.N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2); N.J.A.C. 6A:22-4.2, -4.3. The notice shall inform the parent of the right to a hearing before the school district and the right to appeal the school district's decision to the Commissioner of Education. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2); N.J.A.C. 6A:22-5.1. The notice shall also inform the parent whether the district's policy allows for continued attendance, with or without tuition, for students who move out of the district during the course of the school year. N.J.A.C. 6A:22-4.2(b)(7)(i). If, on appeal to the Commissioner, the parent fails to demonstrate his child's entitlement to attend the schools of the district, the parent may be liable for tuition for any period of ineligible attendance. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2); N.J.A.C. 6A:22-4.2; N.J.A.C.6A:22-6.2, -6.3.

In the instant matter Petitioner concedes that the minor children do not reside within the Butler school district.

According to N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.3(a), "[t]uition assessed pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be calculated on a per student basis for the period of a student's ineligible enrollment, by applicable grade/program category and consistent with the provisions of N.J.A.C. 6A:23-3.1. The individual student's record of daily attendance shall not impact on such calculation." However, "[n]othing in this chapter shall preclude an equitable determination, by the district board of education or the Commissioner, that, when the particular circumstances of a matter so warrant, tuition shall not be assessed for all or part of any period of a student's ineligible attendance in the school district." N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.3(b).

Respondent school district has waived tuition reimbursement in this matter. Respondent school district has additionally agreed that the minor students have until the end of the third quarter marking period to enroll in the school district where they reside.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that Petitioner's residency appeal is DENIED; and;

It is further ORDERED that Petitioner has until the end of the third quarter marking period to enroll the minor children in the school district where they reside; and

It is further ORDERED that Respondent's Counterclaim seeking assessment of tuition costs is DISMISSED as Respondent has waived the same.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

A.B., ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILD, T.B.	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE RED BANK REGIONAL HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT, MONMOUTH COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner filed a pro se residency appeal on behalf of her daughter, T.B., seeking a determination that T.B. is entitled to a free public education in the Red Bank Regional High School District. The respondent Board alleged that a residency investigation completed in February 2016 showed that A.B. and T.B. are domiciled in the Tinton Falls School District, and not the Red Bank Regional High School District. The petitioner failed to appear at a scheduled hearing on August 29, 2016. Subsequently, correspondence from petitioner explaining her absence was received by the Commissioner and was forwarded to the ALJ on August 30, 2016. The OAL sent a notice of petitioner's failure to appear to the Commissioner on the same day. Consequently, the Commissioner remanded the matter to the OAL, finding that the ALJ's dismissal of the matter for failure to appear was contrary to the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4(a); further, the ALJ's failure to issue an Initial Decision at the time of dismissal was improper pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4(c)2.

On remand, the ALJ found, inter alia, that: pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, a petitioner has the burden of proof in a determination of residency ineligibility; in this matter, a hearing was scheduled for November 22, 2016, and petitioner received appropriate notice thereof; petitioner failed to appear at the hearing; representatives of the Board did appear, and provided testimony with respect to the tuition amounts due; subsequently, the OAL received a copy of a letter from petitioner, dated November 22, 2016, which alleged "health issues" as the reason for petitioner's non-appearance and requested an adjournment of the matter for a minimum of twelve weeks; despite petitioner's untimely request to delay the hearing, petitioner was given another opportunity to present evidence in opposition to the request for tuition reimbursement as well as the determination of ineligibility for T.B., if the request was made in writing within ten days; petitioner again failed to provide any opposition. The ALJ concluded that T.B. was ineligible for a free public education in the Red Bank for the period of enrollment in the district from March 2014 through June 2015, and from November 2015 through June 2016. Accordingly, the Board's counterclaim for tuition in the total amount of $18,433.60 was granted, and the petition was dismissed.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that T.B. was not domiciled in Red Bank during the period in question, and was therefore not entitled to a free public education in the district's schools. Accordingly, the Initial Decision was adopted as the final decision in this case. Petitioner was ordered to reimburse the Board in the amount of $18,433.60, and the petition was dismissed.

A.B., ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILD, T.B.,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE RED BANK REGIONAL HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT MONMOUTH COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed.[1] The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) finding that T.B. was not domiciled in Red Bank for the 2014-2015 and 2015-2016 school years, and therefore, was not entitled to a free education in the District.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1b and N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.3, the Commissioner shall assess tuition against petitioner for the time period during which T.B. was ineligible to attend school in the District. During the 2014-2015 school year, T.B. attended school in the District for sixty days – from March 18, 2015 to June 30, 2016. The tuition assessed for the 2014-2015 school year is $4,533.60 ($75.56[2] per day for sixty days). During the 2015-2016 school year, T.B. attended school in the District for the entire year. The tuition assessed for the 2015-2016 school year is $13,900.00 (annual per pupil cost). Therefore, the total tuition due to the Board

[1] The Commissioner was not provided with a transcript of the August 29, 2016 hearing at the OAL.

[2] The Initial Decision incorrected cited the District's daily tuition cost for the 2014-2015 school year as $75.65. The correct amount is $75.56.

for T.B.'s ineligible attendance in the District during the 2014-2015 and 2015-2016 school years is $18,433.60.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter. Petitioner is directed to reimburse the Board in the amount of $18,433.60 for tuition costs incurred for the 2014-2015 and 2015-2016 school years, during which time T.B. was ineligible to attend school in Red Bank. The petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[3]

[1] A prior petition was filed under docket number EDU 04961-16.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On February 17, 2016, petitioner was served with a notice of ineligibility for their minor child, T.B. Petitioner opposed the respondent's claim, and after a hearing before the Red Bank School Board, a Final Notice of Ineligibility was sent to petitioner advising that the Board determined that T.B. was ineligible to attend school in the district. On March 21, 2016, petitioner filed an appeal of the Board determination with the Department of Education on April 1, 2016. The New Jersey State Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested matter. N.J.A.C. 1:1-8.2 and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.7(a) to ascertain residency of petitioner and tuition due, if any.

After petitioner failed to participate in three separate pre-hearing conference calls, and on August 29, 2016 failed to appear at the scheduled hearing date, the respondent's request to dismiss the petition for failure to appear was granted. After no explanation was provided by petitioner for the failure to appear within the designated time frame under N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4(a) the initial petition bearing docket number EDU 04961-2016, was dismissed and sent back to the transmitting agency. The matter was remanded by the Commissioner on October 26, 2016, under the above captioned docket number. A hearing was scheduled for November 22, 2016. The petitioner failed to appear for the hearing. A hearing was conducted on November 22, 2016, and testimony was provided by Christina Galvao, the Red Bank Regional Board of Education School Business Administrator with respect to tuition amounts due.

Following the hearing, a letter, which had been addressed to the Director of Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, Kathleen Duncan, was received in this office. Neither the undersigned nor the attorney for the petitioner was copied on this letter dated November 22, 2016. The letter acknowledges receipt of the hearing notice and alleges "health issues" without any further elaboration or excuse for yet another non-appearance. On November 30, 2016, the undersigned wrote to the petitioner and advised that no good cause for the non-appearance was provided and that the petitioner's request to adjourn the matter, "for at least twelve weeks" was denied. The undersigned advised petitioner that notwithstanding the untimeliness of the request and the failure to provide any good cause for another non-appearance, that petitioner would be afforded an opportunity to present evidence in opposition to the request for tuition reimbursement as well as the determination of ineligibility for T.B. if such a request was made in writing within ten days. No such request was made, and the record closed after submission of a letters from the respondent's attorney regarding tuition reimbursement dated January 16, 2017, and January 23, 2016.

FINDINGS OF FACTS

Based upon the petitioner's failure to provide any opposition and the undisputed testimony of the respondent's witnesses and their documentary evidence, I FIND the following as FACT:

1. T.B. attended Red Bank Regional High school for the 2014-2015 and the 2015 2016 school years, and did not reside in the district. Notice of ineligibility was sent to the petitioner in February 2016.

2. Tuition for the 2014-2015 school year was $13,600.00.

3. Per day tuition for the 2014-2015 school year was $75.65.

4. T.B. attended school in the district for 60 days in the 2014-2015 school year, from March 18, 2015 through June 30, 2016. Total tuition due for this period is $4,533.60.

5. Tuition for the 2015-2016 school year was $13,900. T.B. attended school for the entire school year.

6. Total tuition due for T.B. is $18,433.60.

LEGAL DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSION

Petitioner has the burden of proof in a determination of residency ineligibility N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1. Petitioner failed to participate in said proceeding and has presented no defense to the claim. The respondent appeared and provided testimony and evidence on the issues of residency and the tuition reimbursement sought.

Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that T.B. was ineligible for education in Red Bank and based on T.B.'s enrollment in the district from March 18, 2015 through June 30, 2016, and from November 15, 2015, through June 30, 2016. I further CONCLUDE, that respondent is entitled to reimbursement in the amount of $18,433.60, reflecting the per diam tuition for the foregoing time period in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.2.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that the petition is hereby DISMISSED; and it is further ORDERED that respondent's counterclaim for tuition reimbursement in the amount of $18,433.60 is GRANTED in all respects.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." Record Closed: January 18, 2017 Decided: January 25, 2017

BEFORE MARGARET M. MONACO, ALJ:

On or about July 27, 2016, petitioners filed a Petition, along with a motion for emergent relief, with the Commissioner of Education and the Office of Special Education Programs (OSEP). Petitioners sought an order regarding J.F.'s placement at, and transportation to, the Somerset County Vocational and Technical Schools.

The Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law, where it was filed on October 11, 2016, under OAL Dkt. No. EDU 15865-16 and assigned to the undersigned. The Department also remanded to Leland McGee, ALJ, the matter that had been the subject of petitioner's emergent relief application, which was filed under OAL Dkt. No. EDU 16192-16 (remand of EDU 11392-16).[1] The OSEP transmitted the companion case, which was filed on August 31, 2016 and docketed under EDS 13135-16.[2] Subsequently, the parties reached an amicable resolution of the matter and forwarded the attached Settlement Agreement and Release on January 18, 2017, and the Board's resolution approving the settlement.

I have reviewed the terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures on the attached document.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy between them and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and, therefore, ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized

[1] The Settlement Agreement and Release submitted by the parties resolves both matters. I, therefore, ORDER that the matters be and hereby are consolidated.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND RELEASE

2017 JUL 18 A 10:53

This Settlement Agreement and General Release (this "Agreement") is made and entered into by and between the MORRIS SCHOOL DISTRICT BOARD OF EDUCATION (hereinafter "the Board") and M.F. and J.F. o/b/o J.F. (hereinafter collectively the "Parents"), (collectively with the Board the "parties") for full settlement of claims that were alleged and/or could have been alleged by the Parents.

WITNESSETH:

WHEREAS, the Board operates the Morris School District; and

WHEREAS, J.F. currently resides within the Morris School District; and

WHEREAS, J.F. re-enrolled in the Morris School District for the 2016-17 school year;

WHEREAS, the Parents desired for J.F. to attend an automotive program in a vocational school at Morris' expense; and

WHEREAS, the parties disagree as to which vocational school J.F. may attend; and

WHEREAS, J.F.'s educational placement for the 2016-17 school year has become the subject matter of a Petitions before the New Jersey Office of Administrative Law, bearing Agency Reference Numbers 2017-24975 and 204-7/16 and OAL Docket Nos. EDS 11383-16, EDU 11392-16, EDU 15865-16, EDU 16192-16 (remand of EDU 11392-16), and EDS 13135-16; and

MPF JMF

WHEREAS, the parties desire to resolve their differences and avoid the additional expenses of litigating this dispute.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the foregoing and for other good and valuable consideration, it is hereby agreed by and between the parties as follows:

MPF JMF

1. Non-Admission By the Board. This Agreement shall not be construed as an admission by the Board of any of the acts or omissions alleged or those that could have been alleged by the Parents, or of any acts or omissions alleged or which could have been alleged against the Board. The Board specifically denies any liability whatsoever for any damages, injuries or other claims by the Parents or those which were alleged or could be claimed by the Parents, including, but not limited to, the allegation that J.F. is entitled to placement at and transportation to Somerset County Vocational and Technical Schools ("SCVTS").

2. Placement and Reimbursement.

A. The Parents represent that they have enrolled J.F. at, and J.F. will attend, SCTVS or an equivalent out-of-county or out-of-district school for the 2016-17 school year at the Parents' sole expense. The Parents anticipate that J.F. will attend SCTVS or an equivalent out-of-county or out-of-district school for the entirety of his high school career and agree that they will assume all education-related costs in connection with J.F.'s attendance at any school outside of the Morris School District. These costs include, but are not limited to, tuition and transportation.

B. The Parents shall be responsible for direct payment of J.F.'s tuition, transportation, and other educational expenses in connection with his attendance at SCTVS or an equivalent out-of-county or out-of-district school for the 2016-17, 2017-18, 2018-19, and 2019-20 school years. The Board shall reimburse the Parents up to ten thousand, one hundred and eighty four dollars ($10,184.00), which represents the current estimated cost of tuition and transportation if J.F. were to attend the two-year automotive program at Morris County Vocational School District ("MCVSD") for the duration of the program. The reimbursement shall occur in installments or lump sum prior to June 2017-18. The Parents accept and agree that only those funds expended towards J.F.'s tuition and/or transportation for his attendance at SCTVS or another equivalent out-of-county or out-of-district school may be reimbursed. The reimbursement shall also be conditioned on the Parents' submission of proofs of payment. It is, therefore, agreed that the only bases upon which the Board may deny reimbursement to the Parents are if (1) requisite payment proofs are lacking; (2) the funds sought for reimbursement have not been expended for tuition and/or transportation; or (3) the funds sought for reimbursement exceed the agreed upon maximum of $10,184.00.

E. The Parents understand and acknowledge that in order to receive their reimbursement, each reimbursement request must be approved by the Board at a regularly scheduled Board of Education meeting. When seeking reimbursement, the Parents must submit the proof of payment at least two weeks prior to a regularly scheduled Board of Education meeting. The reimbursement will then be issued within ten (10) days of approval by the Board. A schedule of Board of Education meetings is posted on the District's web site at http://www.morrisschooldistrict.org/.

F. The Parents will ensure that the Board receives proof of J.F.'s school enrollment along with their first reimbursement request. The Parents will also ensure that quarterly reports of J.F.'s regular school attendance are provided to the Board for as long as J.F. attends SCTVS or an equivalent out-of-county or out-of-district school. The Parents' obligation to provide quarterly reports to the Board shall terminate upon their receipt of the maximum reimbursement.

4. Release. In exchange for the consideration set forth herein, the Parents release and give up any and all claims and rights they may have against the Board for any damages or injuries in connection with J.F.'s education, including any claim for compensatory education, compensatory damages, punitive damages, or any damages or injuries to J.F., arising out of alleged acts or omissions, whether known or unknown, that have taken place through the date of this Agreement. As used in this Agreement, the term "Board" means: the Morris School District Board of Education, its current or former elected or appointed officials, administrators, employees, attorneys, agents, servants, representatives, predecessors and successors, insurance carriers, and all other persons or entities for whom any of the above have been or may be legally responsible. The Parents specifically release the following claims as to the Board:

(a) Any and all claims that were brought and that could have been brought in the Petitions for Due Process, bearing Agency Reference Numbers 2017-24975 bearing Agency Reference Numbers 2017-24975 and 204-7/16 and OAL Docket Nos. EDS 11383-16, EDU 11392-16, EDU 15865-16, EDU 16192-16 (remand of EDU 11392-16), EDS 13135-16, and any other civil or administrative claims that they could assert now, or in the future, resulting from any action or failure to act occurring prior to the time they sign this Agreement, under any provision of any law, common or statutory, of the United States, New Jersey or any other state, city, county, or locality, including but not limited to the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, 20 U.S.C. § 1400 et seq. and N.J.A.C. 6A:14-1 et seq.; and

(b) Any and all available claims for attorney's fees and expert costs, and any other fees and costs, under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, 20 U.S.C. § 1400 et seq. or any other law or regulation.

(c) Any claims for tuition, transportation, or any other cost in connection with J.F.'s future placement at an out-of-county vocational school.

5. Agreement Not to Sue. Parents agree not to file any lawsuit or claim against the Board, based on any events, whether known or unknown, occurring prior to the date of the execution of this Agreement, in any court or tribunal of the United States, New Jersey or any other state, city, county, or locality, for any claims released in this Agreement.

6. Confidentiality. The parties agree that neither they nor their attorneys, nor representatives shall reveal to anyone, other than their accountant, attorney or as otherwise required by law, verbally or in writing, other than as may be mutually agreed to in writing, any of the terms of this Agreement or any sums payable to the extent permitted by law. The Parents acknowledge that this confidentiality requirement is a material term to this Agreement. The Parents specifically agree that in the event of a discussion regarding this matter with someone other than their accountant, attorney or as otherwise required by law as set forth above, they shall state that only "it was amicably resolved without an admission of liability on either part" or language to this effect.

7. Non-Domicile. The Board's obligations under this Agreement shall end immediately, should J.F. cease to be domiciled in Morris Township. The Parents acknowledge that they understand the meaning of the term "domicile."

8. No Precedent. The parties agree that this Agreement may not be used to establish precedent in any future proceeding of any type whatsoever involving the Board and that it shall be inadmissible in any proceeding, other than a proceeding to prove the existence of or enforce same. This Agreement shall not be construed as an admission by the Board of any wrongdoing. The parties agree that the Parents are not prevailing parties entitled to recovery of attorneys' fees and costs in connection with this matter.

9. Who is Bound. The parties and their agents are bound by this Agreement. Those who succeed to their rights and responsibilities, such as heirs, the executors of their estate, or their personal or legal representatives, are also bound.

10. Entire Agreement. This document reflects the entire agreement between the Parents and the Board, and fully supersedes any and all prior agreements and understandings between the Parents and the Board pertaining to the subject matter of this Agreement. The Parents represent and acknowledge that they have not relied upon any representation or statement by the Board, or their counsel or representatives, with regard to the subject matter of this Agreement, which is not set forth in this Agreement. No other promises or agreements shall be binding unless in writing, signed by the Parents and the Board, and expressly stated to be a modification of this Agreement.

11. Representation. The parties acknowledge that they are fully satisfied with their respective legal representation in this matter and that they have reviewed the terms of this Agreement with their respective counsel. The Parents acknowledge that they have read this Agreement, have had the opportunity to discuss it with counsel and are signing it knowingly and voluntarily.

12. Interpretation and Construction. The parties acknowledge that each party has engaged counsel in connection with the negotiation and completion of this Agreement, and, consequently, agree that the normal rule of construction to the effect that any ambiguities are to be resolved against the drafting party will not be used in the interpretation of this Agreement or any amendment or exhibit hereto.

13. Board Approval. This Agreement is subject to Board approval before taking effect. Upon approval by the Board, it will subsequently approve all payments as discussed above.

STATE BOARD OF EXAMINERS DOCKET NO. 1314-208
AGENCY DOCKET NO. 2-5/16A

IN THE MATTER OF THE	:
CERTIFICATES OF MARY PURCELL	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BY THE STATE BOARD OF	:	DECISION
EXAMINERS.	:

Order of Suspension by the State Board of Examiners, April 20, 2016

For the Respondent-Appellant, Michael J. Rogers, Esq.

For the Petitioner-Respondent State Board of Examiners, Nicole T. Castiglione, Deputy Attorney General (Christopher S. Porrino, Attorney General of New Jersey)

Appellant challenges the determination of the New Jersey State Board of Examiners (Board) that her actions warranted the suspension of her School Business Administrator and Principal Certificates of Eligibility, her Teacher of Elementary School Certificate of Eligibility with Advanced Standing, and her Teacher of Elementary School and Supervisor certificates for three years.

On appeal, the appellant maintains that the Board's decision to suspend her certificates was arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable. Specifically, appellant contends that her certificates should not be suspended because she was not convicted of a criminal offense; instead, she pled guilty to the motor vehicle offense of driving while intoxicated. Additionally, she successfully completed the Pretrial Intervention Program (PTI), so the criminal charge against her – of assault by auto – was dismissed, and all relating records are now expunged. Appellant emphasizes that the Commissioner should not be permitted to consider any information that is now expunged because the arrest and related proceedings have been deemed not to have occurred. Further, appellant contends that the incident was in no way related to her teaching profession, and in fact did not even occur while she was employed in a school district. Appellant has also sought treatment for her alcohol use. Appellant maintains that the incident was isolated in nature and did not involve moral turpitude, and a suspension of her certificates will serve no useful purpose. As such, appellant argues that her certificates should not be suspended, or in the alternative, the suspension should be retroactive to the August 24, 2013, the date of the incident.

In reply, the Board maintains that the decision to suspend appellant's certificates for three years was not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable, and should be affirmed by the Commissioner. The Board points out that actions outside of the classroom are relevant in determining whether a teacher is fit to teach. Further, unbecoming conduct is not dependent on a criminal conviction, but rather on the standards that govern teachers. Relying on two cases in which individuals were found to have engaged in unbecoming conduct after driving while intoxicated and causing accidents and property damage, the Board contends that its finding was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable, as conduct similar to appellant's has previously been found to constitute unbecoming conduct. The Board emphasizes that appellant's unbecoming conduct warrants a three-year suspension of her certificates because individuals who engaged in similar conduct have been subjected to significant penalties, such as suspensions and even revocation. Finally, the Board maintains that appellant's entry into a PTI program does not preclude a finding of unbecoming conduct; she admitted to driving while intoxicated – with a BAC of more than three times the legal limit – and causing a three-car accident that resulted in several injuries.

In reviewing appeals from decisions of the State Board of Examiners, the Commissioner may not substitute her judgment for that of the Board so long as the appellant received due process and the Board's decision is supported by sufficient credible evidence in the record. Further, the Board's decision should not be disturbed unless the appellant demonstrates that it is arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. N.J.A.C. 6A:4-4.1(a).

Initially, the record reflects that the appellant was afforded the necessary due process throughout the proceedings before the Board prior to the suspension of her certificates. Although the matter was not transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.6(e) as no material facts were in dispute, the appellant was given an opportunity to submit a written brief for the Board's consideration. Appellant did not submit legal argument.

After full consideration of the record and all submissions, the Commissioner concurs with the Board that the appellant engaged in unbecoming conduct. It is undisputed that the appellant drove while intoxicated, caused a three-car accident and injuries to three people, and was accepted into a PTI program after being charged with assault by auto and driving while intoxicated. The Board's determination in connection with the characterization of appellant's behavior as unbecoming conduct is fully supported by the record and consistent with applicable law. See, e.g., In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Dawn Lewis, School District of the City of East Orange, Essex County, EDU 11406-09, Initial Decision (Feb. 11, 2010), adopted, Commissioner Decision No. 100-10, decided March 26, 2010 (finding that a teacher had engaged in unbecoming conduct after she drove while intoxicated, hit a utility pole, refused to take a breathalyzer test, and was in the possession of a controlled dangerous substance).

Additionally, the Commissioner finds that the record adequately supports the Board's determination that a three-year suspension of appellant's certificates was the appropriate penalty. Given appellant's serious lapse in judgment, but considering that it was an isolated incident and that appellant had successfully completed PTI, the Board determined that only a suspension of her certificates is warranted. Such a penalty is consistent with penalties issued by the Board in similar matters. See, e.g., Erin Markakis v. New Jersey State Department of Education, Office of Criminal History Review, Commissioner Decision No. 369-11, dated September 1, 2011 (disqualifying a teacher from school employment after she drove with a BAC of more than twice the legal limit and caused a three-car accident, which resulted to injuries to five people).

The Commissioner does not find appellant's arguments on appeal to be persuasive. Whether or not the incident was connected to appellant's teaching profession is of no moment; disciplinary action may still be taken for conduct that occurs entirely outside of school or involves people entirely unrelated to school operations. In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Randall Dunham, School District of Point Pleasant Borough, Ocean County, EDU 4937-99, Commissioner Decision No. 124-00, dated April 17, 2000. Additionally, contrary to appellant's contentions, completion of a PTI program does not prevent the Board from suspending appellant's certificates for unbecoming conduct. See In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Thomas Wachendorf, New Jersey State Department of Corrections, Mountainview Youth Correctional Facility, EDU 6860-04, Initial Decision (May 3, 2005), adopted, Commissioner Decision No. 253-05, dated July 15, 2005 (stating that "completing of a pre-trial intervention (PTI) program – does not automatically eliminate a disciplinary charge of conduct unbecoming"). The Commissioner notes that, although appellant argues against the propriety of relying on now-expunged information regarding her arrest and related proceedings, appellant has admitted to the actions that form the basis of the unbecoming conduct determination. Although appellant obviously disagrees with the suspension of her certificates, there is nothing in the record to suggest that the Board's decision was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable, and as a result the Commissioner finds no basis upon which to disturb the decision of the State Board of Examiners.

Accordingly, the decision of the State Board of Examiners is affirmed for the reasons expressed therein.*

Re: Board of Education of the Township of Hamilton, Mercer County v. M.R., on behalf of minor children, D.R. and D.R., Agency Dkt. No. 45-2/16.

Dear Parties:

Upon review of the Petition of Appeal filed in connection with the above captioned matter, and based upon the respondent's failure to submit an Answer to the petition that complies with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5, I have determined to grant summary decision in favor of petitioner.

On February 22, 2016, petitioner filed a Petition of Appeal pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-8.1 et seq., claiming that minor children D.R. and D.R. were not entitled to attend school in the District from October 21, 2015 to January 29, 2016, in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1 et seq. A copy of the Petition of Appeal was served upon M.R. on February 19, 2016. On February 22, 2016, an acknowledgment of filing was sent to the Respondent, along with a notice that an Answer to the petition was due within 20 days. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5.

Because M.R. failed to respond to the initial notice, on March 15, 2016, a second notice was sent to M.R. – via certified and regular mail – clearly indicating that, absent receipt of an Answer to the Petition of Appeal within 10 days, each count in the petition would be deemed admitted and this matter may be decided on a summary decision basis pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(e). Although the copy sent via certified mail was returned indicating that the notice was unclaimed, the notice sent via regular delivery was not returned as undeliverable.

Because M.R. failed to respond to the March 15, 2016 notice, on April 2, 2016, a third notice was sent to M.R. – via certified and regular mail – clearly indicating that, absent receipt of an Answer to the Petition of Appeal within 10 days, each count in the petition would be deemed admitted and this matter may be decided on a summary decision basis pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(e). Although the copy sent via certified mail was returned indicating that the notice was unclaimed, the notice sent via regular delivery was not returned as undeliverable.

To date, no Answer has been filed on behalf of M.R. Accordingly, petitioner's claim that D.R. and D.R. were not entitled to attend school in the District in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1 et seq. is deemed admitted. It is hereby ordered that M.R. reimburse the petitioner $8,558.48 in tuition costs for D.R. and D.R.'s ineligible attendance in the District from October 21, 2015 to January 29, 2016.[1]

Kimberley Harrington

The record of this matter, the proposed settlement agreement and general release (Agreement), and the Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed. According to the Agreement the first settlement payment is due on or before September 5, 2016. This date has preceded the consideration of the settlement by the Commissioner of Education. The parties are reminded that a settlement of litigation before the Commissioner is not binding until the Commissioner approves the settlement.

In light of the foregoing, the Commissioner adopts the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter, provided that the parties have already implemented the settlement terms, or have agreed upon a mutually satisfactory alternate date for the effectuation of the settlement payments. Assuming same, the matter is hereby dismissed, subject to compliance with the terms of the settlement.

BEFORE RICHARD McGILL, ALJ:

Three Stages Learning Center filed a petition with the Commissioner of Education seeking an order reinstating its contract with the Board of Education of the City of East Orange. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on November 17, 2015, for determination as a contested case.

Prior to hearing, the parties agreed to an amicable resolution of the matter and submitted a written Stipulation of Dismissal with Prejudice along with a Settlement Agreement and General Release. Having reviewed the record and the settlement terms, I FIND as follows:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or the signatures of their representatives.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

Therefore, I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. Accordingly, it is ORDERED that the parties comply with the terms of the settlement, and it is FURTHER ORDERED that the proceedings in this matter be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE

This Settlement Agreement and General Release (the "Agreement"), is entered into this ____ day of August, 2016, by and between Three Stages Learning Center, Inc. ("Three Stages") and the City of East Orange Board of Education, Essex County (the ("Board") (collectively, the "Parties"). For purposes of this Agreement, the term the "Board" shall mean and include the East Orange Board of Education, its elected representatives, agents, employees, insurers and attorneys, and all of their predecessors and successors (all in both their official and individual capacities). The term "Three Stages" shall mean and include any and all of administrators, agents and representatives. This Agreement constitutes the complete and final settlement of any and all disputes arising from or relating to Three Stages early childhood provider agreements with the Board during FY2012-13, FY2014-15 and FY2015-16, and any claims or actions it has brought or could have brought against the Board.

WITNESSETH:

WHEREAS, Three Stages filed an administrative action against the in the Department of Education, entitled Three Stages Learning Center, Inc. v. City of East Orange Board of Education, Essex County, Agency Reference No.: 334-10/15 which was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law, Docket No. EDU 18507-2015N (the "Administrative Action"); and

WHEREAS, the Parties desire to enter into this Agreement to fully and finally resolve and dismiss with prejudice Three Stages' Administrative Action and to fully and finally settle and resolve any and all claims, complaints, charges and actions of any kind whatsoever, whether known or unknown, which Three Stages may have against the Board; and

WHEREAS, Three Stages acknowledges and agrees that by entering into an early childhood provider contract for FY2016-17 and the repayment plan provided for herein is good and sufficient consideration for this Agreement to voluntarily dismiss, waive and withdraw the Administrative Action and any and all claims, complaints, charges, administrative actions and civil actions of any kind against the Board except relating to the enforcement of this Agreement; and

WHEREAS, The Board acknowledges and agrees that the instant agreement including the repayment plan provided herein shall be good and sufficient consideration for the release and waiver of any and all claims, disputes, complaints, and actions of any kind whatsoever that the Board may have against Three Stages;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the promises and mutual covenants contained in this Agreement, the Parties hereby agree as follows:

1. In consideration for Three Stages' execution of this Agreement and the promises and covenants contained herein, the Board commits to the following:

(a) Subject to ratification by the Board, the Board and Three Stage shall enter into an early childhood provider agreement for the FY2016-17.

(b) The Board commits to a two (2) year repayment plan from Three Stages for an outstanding sum in the amount of $230,887.58. The Board further commits that it will review and consider any additional documentation related to expenditures submitted by Three Stages which may reduce the amount owed to the Board as allowed by N.J.A.C. 6A:13A and the New Jersey Department of Education ("DOE") Division of Early Childhood Education Private Provider Expenditure Guidelines. This Agreement is executed and the Stipulation of Dismissal without Prejudice attached to this Agreement as Exhibit A is signed by the Parties and filed with the Court and (ii) the seven-day revocation period referred to in paragraph 11 has expired.

(c) The Board further agrees to adhere to the protocols set forth in the Corrective Action Plan established in OFAC Case #ECE-008-13. The protocols are as follows:

i. Monitor cash flow and report to Fiscal Specialist, DHS shortfall or changes that negatively impact budget to ensure sufficient DOE funding of all payables in a timely fashion and to determine if additional DOE funds are necessary to compensate provider for reduced income from DHS.

ii. Hold biweekly meetings to ensure good fiscal practices.

2. Three Stages, for the consideration given by the Board as set forth above, which it acknowledges is adequate and satisfactory to it, hereby commits as follows:

(a) Three Stages agrees that by signing this Agreement it agrees to repay the sum of $230,887.58 to the Board in twenty-four (24) monthly installments against Three Stages monthly compensation during the FY2016-17 and FY2017-18. Effective on or before September 5, 2016 Three Stages will pay remit one (1) payment in the amount of $28,860.95, and thereafter no later than the 5th of each month remit twenty-one (21) payments in the amount of $9,620.32. Upon receipt of the final payment, Three Stages accounts will be considered paid in full and closed for FY2012-13. FY2014-15 and FY2015-16.

(b) Three Stages further agrees to adhere to the protocols set forth in the Corrective Action Plan established in OFAC Case #ECE-008-13. The protocols are as follows:

i. Update monthly payables and reestablish monthly payments consisted with DOE monthly allocation.

ii. Monitor cash flow and report to Fiscal Specialist, DHS shortfall or changes that negatively impact budget to ensure sufficient DOE funding of all payables in a timely fashion and to determine if additional DOE funds are necessary to compensate provider for reduced income from DHS.

iii. Perform an annual audit of the fiscal year.

iv. Increase fiscal oversight by Three Stages fiscal consultant.

v. State funds shall not be advanced to employees.

vi. Provide written notification to the Board of any changes in staff within ten (10) days. Substitute teachers cannot remain in classrooms longer than sixty (60) days.

vii. Lynda Wright shall be the primary contact with the Board.

(c) They parties understands that they are releasing any claims they may have to enforce the provisions of this Agreement. This release covers both claims that the parties know about and those it may not know about, except for claims (i) that may arise after the date the parties executes this Agreement for a breach of this Agreement. The parties further agree not to file a lawsuit or administrative claim or demand for arbitration to assert any of the claims it has given up, released or waived. Any substantial or material breach of this Agreement shall entitle the non-breaching party to an injunction to remedy the breach and an award of reasonable attorney's fees, other professional fees, costs and expenses incurred to remedy and defend against said breach. This mutual release will be held in escrow by the Board and shall only be released subsequent to receipt of the final payment from Three Stages.

(d) Three Stages agrees to dismiss with prejudice the Administrative Action. In that regard, Three Stages' Counsel, in accordance with the New Jersey Rules of Administrative Practice, shall, simultaneous with the execution of this Agreement, execute the Stipulation and Order of Dismissal with Prejudice attached to this Agreement as Exhibit A, dismissing the case with prejudice for the reason of the settlement reached by the Parties. It is acknowledged and understood by Three Stages that any and all rights and obligations set forth in this Agreement are conditioned completely and entirely upon the Court's dismissal of the Administrative Action with prejudice.

(e) Three Stages acknowledges and agrees that other than the consideration provided for herein, i.e. FY2016-17 early childhood provider contract, it is not entitled to and will not receive any additional compensation or benefits of any kind from the Board and that no representations have been made to its representative, agents or attorneys regarding any such additional compensation or benefits.

3. This Agreement is not and shall not in any way be deemed to constitute an admission or evidence of any wrongdoing or liability on the part of either party nor of any violation of any federal, state or local statute, rule, regulation or principle of common law or equity. Rather, this Agreement constitutes the good faith settlement and release of disputed claims, and it is acknowledged and agreed by the Parties that this Agreement is being entered into by the Parties solely to avoid the burden, expense, delay and uncertainties of further litigation and to fully and finally resolve, settle and dismiss with prejudice, any and all claims of any kind whatsoever, whether known or unknown, which Three Stages or the Board has ever had or now has against the each other arising out of or relating to its contractual relationship with each other as an early childhood provider.

4. This Agreement may not be changed orally and no modification, amendment or waiver of any provision contained in this Agreement, or any future representation, promise or condition in connection with the subject matter of this Agreement shall be binding upon any party hereto unless made in writing and signed by such party.

5. This Agreement contains the entire agreement and complete settlement between the Parties and supersedes any and all previous agreements of any kind whatsoever between them, whether written or oral. All prior and contemporaneous discussions and negotiations have been and are merged and integrated into, and are superseded by, this Agreement. This is an integrated document.

6. In the event that any provision of this Agreement or the application thereof should be held to be void, voidable, unlawful or, for any reason, unenforceable, the remaining portion shall remain in full force and effect, and, to that end, the provisions of this Agreement are declared to be severable. However, in the event this Agreement is declared severable and severance of a material term or condition is required, this Agreement is null and void and the parties shall endeavor in good faith to reform this Agreement.

7. This Agreement is made and entered into, and shall be subject to, governed by and interpreted in accordance with the laws of the state of New Jersey and shall be fully enforceable in the courts of that state, without regard to principles of conflict of laws. The Parties agree that any suit, action or other legal proceeding arising out of this Agreement shall be brought in Superior Court for the State of New Jersey, County of Essex.

8. Three Stages agree that it is responsible for its own attorneys' fees and costs incurred in connection with the Administrative Action and its claims against the Board and warrant that both Three Stages attorneys waives and release any claims against the Board for attorneys' fees and costs, statutory or otherwise, related in any way to the matters covered by this Agreement, and covenant not to sue or otherwise proceed against the Board with respect to any such claims for attorneys' fees and/or costs. By signing this Agreement, Three Stages affirms that it is waiving and releasing any claims it may have against the Board for attorneys' fees.

9. Three Stages agrees that neither this Agreement nor any portion hereof is assignable.

10. Three Stages' administrators, agents, and representatives certify that they have read the terms of this Agreement, they have been explained to them by an attorney of their choice and that they understands them in full. The execution hereof by Three Stages administrators, agents, and representatives shall indicate that this Agreement conforms to their understanding and is acceptable to them as a final agreement. It is further understood and agreed that Three Stages' administrators, agents. and representatives have been advised of the opportunity to consult with counsel of their choice and that they have been given a reasonable and sufficient period of time in which to consider and return this document. It is further agreed and understood that, upon Three Stages' administrators, agents, and representatives execution and return of this Agreement, Three Stages is thereafter permitted to revoke the Agreement at any time during a period of seven (7) days. To be effective, the revocation must be in writing and hand-delivered or telecopied to counsel for the Board within the seven (7) day period.

WHEREFORE, intending to be legally bound, the Parties have agreed to the aforesaid terms and indicate their agreement by signing below.

V.I. o/b/o minor child K.I., Petitioner, v. MORRIS HILLS REGIONAL SCHOOL DISTRICT BOARD OF EDUCATION. Respondent.	BEFORE THE COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION, NEW JERSEY DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION OAL DOCKET NO.: EDU 04962-2016 N AGENCY REF. NO.: 77-3/16 SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND RELEASE

WHEREAS, Respondent, the Morris Hills Regional Board of Education (hereinafter referred to as the "Board", is a body politic and corporate, organized and existing by virtue of the law of the State of New Jersey, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:11-1, and which is invested with the authority for maintaining and operating the public school district for the Morris Hills Regional School District (hereinafter referred to as the "District"); and

WHEREAS, V.I. (hereafter referred to as "Petitioner") is the parent of K.I., who, at all times relevant herein, has been a high school student attending the Morris Knolls High School, which is operated by the Board; and

WHEREAS, it is the position of the Board that it has fully complied with all of the laws and regulations regarding the investigation and determination of an incident of Harassment, Intimidation and Bullying (hereinafter referred to as "HIB") involving K.I.; and

WHEREAS, it is the position of Petitioner that following the District's HIB investigation, K.I. was wrongfully determined to have engaged in an act of HIB against one or more other students, which K.I. denied and disputed, which resulted in the filing of a Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner of Education (hereinafter referred to as "Commissioner") that was assigned Agency Reference Number 77-3/16 and OAL Docket Number EDU 04962-2016N; and

WHEREAS, the parties are interested in resolving the within matter amicably without further protracted litigation while achieving the goals of both parties;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the following valuable consideration, both parties agree to settle this matter, subject to the terms and conditions set forth herein, and subject to the approval by the Board as follows:

1. The Board agrees that upon final execution and approval of this Settlement Agreement and Release (hereinafter referred to as "Agreement"), all records pertaining to the underlying HIB incident, including all HIB investigations and charges, shall be removed from K.I.'s school file and secured in a separate file maintained in the Superintendent of School's office where they shall be held until such time as they may be destroyed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:32-7.8. In order to effectuate this process, Petitioner consents to the Principal of the Morris Knolls High School with the Director of Special Services reviewing K.I.'s student records in order to ensure that all of his records in the District pertaining to the underlying HIB incident are placed in the Superintendent of School's office with a notation that it is non-accessible other than as outlined in this Agreement.

2. The parties further agree that, in the event K.I. is accused of an act of HIB at any time from the final execution and approval of this Agreement up to and including December 31, 2016 those documents pertaining to this underlying HIB incident may be used by District personnel in order to assess and determine if there is a pattern of behavior on the part of K.I.

3. As long as K.I. is not found to have committed another act of HIB at any time from the final execution and approval of this Agreement up to and including December 31, 2018: (a) all information/records pertaining to the underlying HIB incident shall not be disclosed to any third party and shall not be forwarded in the event K.I. transfers to another public school district; (b) postsecondary schools (i.e., colleges and universities) will not be provided with information related to the underlying HIB incident; and (c) K.I. can respond "no" to any inquiry made by postsecondary schools as to whether or not he was ever involved in an incident that resulted in a major suspension. Furthermore, any inquiries made to the District as to whether K.I. was involved in an act of HIB shall be forwarded to the Principal of Morris Knolls High School for a proper response in accordance with this Agreement.

4. This Agreement is entered into solely for the purpose of resolving certain issues raised in the underlying Petition of Appeal. Neither the execution, delivery, nor performance of this Agreement shall constitute or be construed at any time or for any purpose to be an admission of liability or wrongdoing by the parties; and the parties further agree that this Agreement shall not be used as evidence in any judicial, administrative, or quasi-judicial proceeding, except to enforce the terms of said Agreement.

5. In consideration for the making of this Agreement and for other consideration provided under the terms herein, Petitioner individually and o/b/o K.I., for himself and his heirs, administrators, beneficiaries, assigns, executors, and attorneys, knowingly, voluntarily and unconditionally releases and forever discharges the Board from any and all rights, claims, causes of action, without limitation, any and all other liabilities of any nature or amount, whether known or unknown, in law or equity, including but not limited to claims for compensatory damages, punitive damages, any other federal, state, or local, civil or human rights law, rule, regulation or ordinance, any public policy, tort, contract or other common law; or on any other unlawful basis, that he may have or ever had against the Board up until the execution of this Agreement.

6. This Agreement and all of its terms are and will remain confidential to the maximum extent permitted by law. Further, there is a mutual agreement not to disparage the Board, its past and/or present board members, officers, administrators, agents, employees and their successors, nor make any comments, statements or the like to the media or to others that may be considered to be derogatory or detrimental in nature.

7. This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement between the parties with respect to the subject matters herein, and supersedes and integrates any and all prior representations, negotiations, discussions, understandings and agreements, whether oral or written. This Agreement shall not be amended, changed or modified except in a writing signed by all parties. Each party acknowledges that the other party, nor any agent or attorney of the other party, have made any promise, representation or warranty whatsoever, express or implied, not contained in this Agreement to induce them to execute the same.

8. This Agreement shall not be amended, modified or revised except by a written instrument duly signed by all of the parties hereto or their respective successors or assigns. No oral statement of any person shall in any manner or degree, modify the terms and provisions of this Agreement.

9. It is acknowledged that this Agreement has been entered into freely, willingly and voluntarily, without duress or coercion, and with the opportunity for the parties to consult with representation of their choosing and at their option. Petitioner has been represented by Richard J. Kaplow, Esq. and is satisfied with his representation. The Board has been represented by Nathanya G. Simon, Esq., and Stephen M. Bacigalupo, Esq. of Schwartz Simon Edelstein & Celso LLC, and is satisfied with their representation. The parties acknowledge that they understand the contents of this Agreement and that they were given the opportunity to review it with their respective representatives.

10. It is agreed that neither party is a prevailing party for any purpose, and that each party is fully responsible for any and all costs and expenses incurred in this matter, including but not limited to attorneys' fees.

11. This Agreement may be executed simultaneously in two or more counterparts, each of which shall be deemed an original and all of which, when taken together, constitute one and the same document. The signature of any party to any counterpart shall be deemed a signature to, and may be appended to, any other counterpart.

12. This Agreement is subject to Board approval. If approved, the Board President is fully authorized to execute this Agreement on behalf of the Board. This Agreement is without prejudice to either party if the terms are not ratified by the Board. When ratifying this Agreement, the Board shall not identify K.I. or his family and the Board Resolution ratifying this Agreement shall not contain any personally identifying information before or after ratification.

13. This Agreement shall be binding upon and shall inure to the benefit of the parties and their respective successors and assigns.

14. This Agreement shall be construed in accordance with and governed by the laws of the State of New Jersey without reference to its conflict of laws provisions.

15. This Agreement, once approved by the Board; signed by the Board President; and signed by Petitioner, is final as to all of its terms. The pending Petition of Appeal before the Commissioner of Education, Agency Reference Number 77-3/16 and OAL Docket Number EDU 04962-2016N, shall be withdrawn with prejudice as a material part of this settlement.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE VOCATIONAL SCHOOLS, BERGEN COUNTY	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record, proposed settlement agreement and Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed.

Upon review, the Commissioner observes that the agreement has not been signed on behalf of the Board. Furthermore, the file does not contain a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement – as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.13 under these circumstances – nor is the resolution attached to the settlement agreement itself. In the alternative, the agreement is not signed by the Board attorney, who is the Board's duly authorized representative in litigation. Without either the Board attorney's signature or the appropriate Board resolution approving the settlement agreement, the Commissioner cannot approve the within settlement.

Accordingly, the Commissioner hereby remands this matter to the OAL for revision of the settlement agreement consistent with the concerns set forth above. If the parties are unwilling or unable to reach accord on a modified agreement for submission to the Commissioner, the matter shall proceed to hearing.

OF EDUCATION OF NEW JERSEY

MS. ANNA VLADI, ON BEHALF OF HER MINOR DAUGHTER, LEENA PRAKHINA, Petitioner, v. THE BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE VOCATIONAL SCHOOLS IN THE COUNTY OF BERGEN, Respondent.	AGENCY DKT. NO. 188-7/16 SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND RELEASE

This Settlement Agreement and Release ("Agreement") is entered into by and between Ms. Anna Vladi on behalf of her minor daughter, Leena Prakhina (hereinafter "Petitioners" or "Student") and the Board of Education of Vocational Schools in the County of Bergen (hereinafter "District").

WHEREAS the Student has filed a Petition for review with the Commissioner of Education against District, with the Petition bearing Agency Docket No. 188-7/16; and

WHEREAS, the Parties desire to resolve their differences rather than proceeding forward with any further litigation, or incurring any further attendant costs of any litigation as well as any hearing and appeal, and without any admissions of wrongdoing by either Party; and

WHEREAS the parties have consulted with their respective attorneys prior to executing this Agreement and have had an adequate opportunity within which to consider the Agreement; and

WHEREAS, in consideration of the mutual covenants and promises contained herein and intending to be legally bound, the parties mutually agree as follows:

(1) The District shall within 15 days of the date of this Agreement revise the appropriate entry in the District's Powerschool system so that the sole reference therein to the alleged disciplinary infraction in any file or document relating to the Student will state as follows: "The student received a 2 day out-of-school suspension because she admitted to momentary possession of a piece of marijuana brownie handed to her by another student on school premises. No evidence of distribution or use of the substance was found."

(2) The District shall provide Petitioners with a written copy of the revised Powerschool entry within 15 days of the date of this Agreement. The District agrees that in the event that it is contacted by, or receives any request for student records from, any college or post-secondary institution, it shall provide only the statement set forth in Paragraph 1 herein.

(3) Subject to the limitations set forth in this Paragraph, the Petitioners hereby waive release any and all claims they had or may have had against the District on the date of this Settlement Agreement and Release, known or unknown, arising from the beginning of time to the date of this Agreement, under Federal or State statutory or common law. This Release inures to the benefit of, and is binding on, all agents, subsidiaries, successors, heirs or any other related entity of the Parties and shall specifically apply only to claims resulting from the following:

> Any and all claims, demands, damages, etc. that Petitioners asserted or could have asserted against the District in the matter of Anna Vladi o/b/o L.P. v. Board of Education of the Vocational Schools in the County of Bergen filed with the Commissioner of Education and bearing Agency Dkt. No. 188-7/16

(4) Each Party is responsible for their own costs and attorney's fees. Each party waives any and all claims for attorneys' fees, costs and expenses against District which Petitoners or their counsel have/has incurred in connection with this action or in connection with any claim against the District.

(5) The Parties have consulted with counsel with respect to this Settlement Agreement and Release and enter into this Agreement under their free will without duress of any kind.

(6) This Settlement Agreement and Release represents the full understanding of the Parties and supersedes any other written or oral understandings. This Agreement can only be modified by a writing that is executed by both Parties.

(7) This Agreement can be signed in counterparts, with each counterpart having the full force and effect of a fully executed original.

(8) The District warrants that the individual designated to sign this Agreement on behalf of the District has full authority to sign for and bind the District to this Agreement.

(9) Petitioners acknowledge that the settlement of this matter is contingent upon foregoing any litigation relating to this claim and upon the execution, by Petitioner(s), of a Withdrawal of Petition in the form attached herewith as Exhibit "A."

(10) The individuals executing this Agreement represent and warrant that each is authorized to make, execute and deliver this Agreement, that each has been represented by counsel and has been fully apprised of and understands all of the terms of this Agreement and the legal ramifications of the entry into the same.

Execution of this document constitutes agreement with all of the terms and conditions above:

S.M., ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILD, A.T.,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF UNION, UNION COUNTY,	:	ORDER
RESPONDENT.	:

On January 12, 2017, a final agency decision was rendered in this matter, wherein the Commissioner found S.M. liable for tuition in the amount of Three Thousand Five Hundred Twenty Two Dollars and Sixty Cents ($3,522.60), representing tuition for a period of ineligible attendance by her son, A.T., in the Board's school district between September 6, 2016 and November 16, 2016. The Board subsequently notified the Commissioner that S.M. had failed to comply with the decision and it requested that the Commissioner seek entry of the assessments on the judgment docket of the Superior Court pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2A:58-10. In response to the Board's request, S.M. asserts that the Board should drop its request for tuition because she now lives within the district. She included a copy of her residential lease, car insurance, vehicle registration, and driver's license. As the assessment of tuition has been fully and fairly adjudicated, S.M. can no longer challenge the amount of monies owed. As such, S.M. has offered no reasons that have not been fully and fairly adjudicated as to why the judgment against her should not be so docketed.

Accordingly, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2A:58-10, Sharon Morris is now subject to entry of a judgment by the court in the amount of $3,522.60, which represents the payment ordered at the conclusion of the case before the Commissioner, with interest to accrue as provided by law.

C.K. and M.K., on behalf of minor child, M.K.	:
PETITIONERS,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF VOORHEES, CAMDEN COUNTY	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

Petitioning parents, C.K. and M.K., appealed the decision of the respondent District that their daughter, M.K., was not the victim of Harassment, Intimidation and Bullying (HIB) pursuant to the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq. Petitioners' allegations stem from an isolated incident in which a special education student – later identified as I.L. – reached under a partition separating two bathroom stalls in the girls' restroom, grabbed M.K.'s leg, and said "high five". The Board contended that this incident did not rise to the level of HIB, and filed a motion for summary decision. The petitioners filed a cross motion for summary decision, contending that the Board failed to: timely investigate and report the incident; timely provide petitioners with information about the investigation; and failed to hold a timely hearing in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6).

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no genuine issues of material fact in this case, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; the Act defines HIB as an act that is reasonably perceived as being motivated by an actual or perceived distinguishing characteristic, including race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity, or mental, physical or sensory disability; in the instant case, I.L. – a special needs student – had a habit of indiscriminately seeking out high fives from classmates; there is no evidence to suggest that I.L. knew who M.K. was when she reached under the partition, grabbed M.K.'s leg, and asked her for a high five; and M.K. was not targeted by I.L. based on any perceived characteristic; the Board did not fail to timely investigate or report the incident between I.L. and M.K., or fail to timely provide petitioners with information about the investigation; but the Board did violate the procedural requirements of the Act by failing to hold a hearing within ten days of petitioners' June 26, 2015 request for same; however, no action to remedy this failure is necessary because the Camden County Office of Education (CCOE) conducted a complaint investigation of the matter and issued a report in August 2016 directing the Board to take corrective action in regard to its handling of HIB complaints. The ALJ concluded that the alleged conduct here did not meet the statutory definition of HIB under the Act, and therefore the Board properly concluded that I.L. did not commit an act of HIB against M.K. Accordingly, the ALJ granted the Board's motion for summary decision, and granted the petitioners' motion for summary decision on the issue of the Board's violation of the statutory requirement for a timely hearing, corrective action for which was implemented by the CCOE.

The Commissioner adopted the OAL's Initial Decision with an additional finding that the Board failed to follow its HIB policy when it did not initially investigate this matter in March 2015. However, the remedial measures imposed by the CCOE are appropriate, as the Board's actions did not deprive petitioners or M.K. of their due process rights under the Act. The petition was dismissed with prejudice.

PETITIONERS,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF VOORHEES, CAMDEN COUNTY	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law ("OAL") have been reviewed, as have the exceptions filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 by the parties, and the replies thereto. In this matter, petitioners allege that the Board acted in an arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable manner when it failed to conduct a proper investigation in compliance with the procedures under the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act ("the Act") and determined that M.K. was not subject to harassment, intimidation and bullying ("HIB"). Respondent contends that the Board did not violate the procedural requirements of the Act, and that it conducted a proper investigation of the petitioner's complaint. Respondent further contends that M.K. was not subject to HIB as defined under the Act.

The ALJ found that I.L.'s conduct did not meet the definition of an act of HIB against M.K. Specifically, I.L.'s actions could not reasonably be perceived as being motivated by a distinguishing characteristic of M.K., and that I.L.'s conduct did not have the effect of insulting or demeaning M.K. The ALJ further found that the Board followed all but one procedural requirement of the Act, i.e., the Board failed to hold a hearing within the statutory time period. The ALJ concluded that: the Board properly found that the conduct alleged did not meet the statutory definition of a HIB violation under the Act; the Board violated the Act's procedural requirement that a Board hearing shall be held within ten days of the petitioner's request; the Board did not violate any other procedural requirements of the Act; and it is not necessary to order the Board to take any other remedial action in this matter because the corrective action directed by the Camden County Office of Education ("CCOE") was appropriate to address the Board's violation.

Petitioners take exception[1] to the ALJ's conclusion that the Board properly found that I.L.'s conduct was not an act of HIB. Petitioners argue that the Anti-Bullying Specialist ("ABS") testified that I.L. was known for touching other students in a similar manner and her conduct was determined to be a violation of the student code of conduct, and therefore, the ALJ erred in concluding that I.L.'s conduct was not an act of HIB. Petitioners also argue that in determining whether there was an act of HIB, the ALJ erred in concluding that only I.L.'s intent and not the impact on M.K., was relevant. Petitioners also take exception to the ALJ's conclusion that the Board violated only one procedural requirement of the Act, and not any other procedural requirements. Specifically, petitioners argue: the HIB complaint was not timely investigated, as commencement and completion were beyond the statutory timeframe; the Board hearing was not timely conducted;[2] the initial failure of the District to conduct an investigation following the parent's reporting of the incident was a violation of the Act; and the investigation was not thorough and complete, because the ABS did not interview I.L. Finally, petitioners disagree with the ALJ's reasoning that the Board should not be ordered to take further remedial action because the CCOE already imposed a corrective action plan. Respondent has filed a reply to petitioner's exceptions, arguing that: the ALJ correctly concluded that the Board did not violate any procedural requirements of the Act; the finding of no HIB was proper as I.L.'s conduct did not meet all the factors required of an act of HIB; and the CCOE's directive to the Board serves as an appropriate remedy for any potential future violations.

[1] Petitioners have submitted sixteen numbered exceptions; however, it is clear from the content of the enumerated exceptions that petitioners have repeated the same objections throughout the document, and represented them as separate objections. Therefore, petitioners' exceptions have been appropriately summarized in this decision.

[2] It is unclear as to why the petitioners included the untimely Board hearing in its exceptions when the ALJ properly found (essentially, agreed with the petitioners) that the Board hearing was held beyond the statutory timeframe.

Respondent has also filed an exception to the ALJ's decision – specifically, that the ALJ erred in finding that the Board failed to hold a timely hearing. Respondent argues that the parties mutually agreed to hold the Board hearing beyond the ten day time period to accommodate the District as the hearing was requested during summer recess. Respondent notes that the parties agreed to this fact at a hearing, dated October 5, 2016.[3] Petitioners have – albeit untimely – filed a reply to the exception, arguing that the parties did not agree on a hearing date beyond the statutory timeframe.

Upon a comprehensive review of the record, the Commissioner is in accord with the ALJ's decision, as modified herein. Specifically, the Commissioner agrees with the ALJ that the Board properly determined that I.L. did not commit an act of HIB against M.K. The Commissioner further agrees that the Board failed to conduct a timely hearing;[4] however, the Commissioner also finds that the Board did not follow its HIB policy when the District initially failed to investigate the matter in March 2015. Finally, the Commissioner agrees that the remedial measures imposed by the CCOE are appropriate, as the Board's actions did not deprive petitioners or M.K. of their due process rights under the Act.

With regard to petitioners' contention that the ALJ erred in concluding that the conduct alleged did not meet the statutory definition of an HIB violation, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14 provides in pertinent part:

[3] The Commissioner has not been provided a copy of the transcript of the October 5, 2016 hearing.

[4] Nothing in the record supports the Board's argument that the parties mutually agreed to extend the time period for the Board hearing. Although, the logistical quagmire of coordinating a Board hearing within ten days of the request – especially during the summer – can be appreciated, without evidence that the petitioners explicitly agreed to extension of the statutory timeframe, respondent's exception in this matter is without merit.

> "Harassment, intimidation or bullying" means any gesture, any written, verbal or physical act, or any electronic communication, whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic . . . .

It appears from petitioners' exceptions that they have completely ignored the threshold requirement outlined in the Act, i.e.: the conduct must be "reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic." In this matter, I.L.'s actions do not satisfy the requirement because there is no evidence in the record that I.L.'s actions – reaching under the bathroom stall and asking M.K. for a "high five" – were motivated by any actual or perceived characteristic of M.K. Notably, I.L. – a special needs student – indiscriminately seeks "high fives" from her peers. I.L.'s actions were certainly not appropriate, but her unfortunate request for a "high five" under the bathroom stall – and any consequential violation of the student code of conduct – simply do not meet the standard for an act of HIB: at minimum, the conduct must be reasonably perceived as motivated by an actual or perceived characteristic. Absence of this factor, alone, is sufficient to render a finding of no HIB. Notwithstanding, the ALJ considered and discussed the remaining factors in her decision and properly concluded that the Board's determination was correct.[5]

Petitioners' exceptions to the ALJ's decision regarding the Board's procedural violations requires brief discussion. Petitioners contend that: the HIB complaint was not timely investigated, as the commencement and completion of the investigation were beyond the statutory timeframe; the initial failure of the District to conduct an investigation following the parent's reporting of the incident was a violation of the Act; and the investigation was not thorough and complete because the ABS did not interview I.L. It is clear from the record that the District's initial failure to investigate was a result of its misapplication of the "principal's discretion."[6] In this matter, the Board's HIB policy does not provide for the principal to exercise his/her discretion, and therefore, the principal erroneously applied "principal's discretion" and failed to adhere to the Board's policy. The District remedied this mistake when it initiated a timely HIB investigation in May, immediately following receipt of the CCOE's report.[7] During the course of the investigation, however, the ABS neglected to interview I.L.[8] Generally, such an omission would not constitute a thorough and complete investigation of the matter.[9] In ordinary circumstances, an appropriate remedy would be to direct the Board to conduct another investigation anew; however, in this case – where the conduct does not meet the standard for HIB – returning the matter to the District for a renewed investigation would not be in the best interest of the students involved and would be inconsequential, as the outcome would remain the same: I.L.'s conduct was not reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic.

[5] In this regard, petitioners' allegation that the ALJ erroneously concluded "that the intent of the actor (who was not interviewed here) is relevant and not the impact upon the victim as the ALJ makes no analysis as to the impact upon minor plaintiff," is simply inaccurate and without merit. The ALJ did not reach such a conclusion or apply an improper standard. The ALJ appropriately utilized the factors outlined in the Act in her analysis of the HIB matter.

[6] Guidance issued by the Department provides that the principal or his/her designee may exercise his/her discretion in determining whether the allegations meet the threshold definition of HIB before initiating an investigation. However, whether a principal or his/her designee will initiate an investigation upon receipt of all reports of alleged HIB, or will initiate an investigation only in those cases where the allegations meet the criteria in the Act, depends on the HIB policy adopted by the local board of education.

[7] The District commenced and completed the HIB investigation pursuant to proper statutory timelines from the date that it received the CCOE's directive to conduct an investigation.

[8] The record reflects that the incident was addressed with I.L., but outside of the HIB investigation process.

[9] There is cause for concern that a determination was made by the ABS, the Superintendent of Schools, and the Board relating to I.L., without the accused being involved in the HIB investigation process or having an opportunity to be heard. The Board's failure to involve I.L. in the investigation process implicates her due process rights as the alleged perpetrator of the HIB.

As such, the corrective action ordered by the CCOE serves as an appropriate remedy to monitor the Board's compliance with the Act and Board policies. Further, going forward, the corrective action ensures that the Board: conducts HIB investigations in accordance with the Board's policy and the Act; initiates and completes investigations in accordance with the provisions of the Act; and safeguards the due process rights of all parties involved.

Accordingly, the recommended decision of the ALJ is adopted – as modified herein – as the final decision, and the petition is hereby dismissed with prejudice.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[10]

INITIAL DECISION
SUMMARY DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. EDU 20510-15
AGENCY REF. NO. 353-11/15

C.K. AND M.K. ON BEHALF OF M.K.,
Petitioners,
v.
TOWNSHIP OF VOORHEES
BOARD OF EDUCATION,
CAMDEN COUNTY,
Respondent.

Joseph P. Grimes, Esq., appearing for petitioners

Howard S. Mendelson, Esq., appearing for respondent (Davis & Mendelson, LLC, attorneys)

Record Closed: December 31, 2016 Decided: February 8, 2017

BEFORE SUSAN M. SCAROLA, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The petitioners, C.K. and M.K., on behalf of their minor daughter, M.K., appeal the determination of the respondent Voorhees Township Board of Education (Board) that their daughter was not subject to "harassment, intimidation or bullying" (HIB) as defined under the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (ABRA), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13, et seq., while an eighth-grade student at Voorhees Middle School.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On November 16, 2015, the petitioners filed a petition with the Commissioner of Education (Commissioner). Respondents filed a timely answer. On December 21, 2015, the Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

On July 6, 2016, the Board filed a motion for summary decision. On August 11, 2016, the petitioners cross-moved for summary decision, contending that the Board failed to timely investigate and report the incident; failed to timely provide petitioners with information about the investigation; and failed to hold a timely hearing in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6). The hearing on the motion was held on October 5, 2016, and the matter was continued pending a possible resolution between the parties. They later advised that the matter was not settled.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

Most of the facts are not in dispute:

1. On an isolated occasion occurring in either December 2014 or on March 1, 2015,[1] a special education student, later identified as I.L., reached under a partition separating two bathroom stalls in the girls' restroom, grabbed M.K.'s leg, and said "high five."[2]

[1] The exact date of the occurrence is in dispute: the petitioners assert that the incident took place on March 1, 2015, while the Board maintains that the incident occurred in December 2014. (Petition, Certification of C.K., ¶ 2; Certification of Diane Young, ¶ 1.) The date is not critical to the disposition of these motions.

[2] It appeared that I.L.'s regularly-assigned aide may have been absent from school that date, and the male aide accompanying her could not enter the restroom with her to supervise.

2. The day after the incident, M.K.'s mother, C.K., reported the incident to the vice principal of the middle school and also met with the principal of the school, Dr. Robert Rossi, to request an HIB investigation of the incident. (C.K. Cert., ¶¶ 3–5.) Under the Board's HIB policy, "[t]he Board requires a thorough and complete investigation to be conducted for each report of violations and complaints which either identify harassment, intimidation, or bullying or describe behaviors that indicate harassment, intimidation, or bullying." (Board Policy No. 5512, Section G.) According to C.K., her daughter was "upset and intimidated by the incident," but "Dr. Rossi advised that due to the student being a 'special needs' student, that 'extenuating circumstances' did not justify a[n] HIB investigation." (C.K. Cert., ¶¶ 5–6.)

3. Subsequently, C.K. contacted superintendent Raymond Brosel to request an investigation of the incident and appeared before the Board at its March 18, 2015, meeting to request the same. (Id. at ¶¶ 8–11.) Despite C.K.'s requests, no formal investigation was conducted. (Id. at ¶¶ 12–15.) Then, on April 13, 2015, C.K. reached out to the Department of Education's Camden County Office of Education (CCOE) to report the lack of an investigation. (Id. at ¶ 16.)

4. On May 6, 2015, a CCOE education specialist, Dr. Lovell Pugh-Bassett, emailed the Board's assistant superintendent, Diane Young. Dr. Pugh-Bassett wrote,

> [a]s a matter of record and in an effort to protect the district, the department is asking that the district conduct an HIB investigation into the incident with which [C.K.] is complaining. Please follow the appropriate protocols in investigating the situation and should the parent decide that she does not want her child interviewed, please identify it as a matter of record.
> [Young Cert., Ex. C.]

5. On May 7, 2015, an anti-bullying specialist for the middle school, Lawrence Osborne, completed his investigation of the incident and issued a report to Dr. Rossi. (Id. at Ex. B & Ex. D.) As part of his investigation, Mr. Osborne interviewed M.K. (Id. at Ex. B.) According to Mr. Osborne's summary of that interview, > [w]hile [M.K. was in a bathroom stall], a special needs girl reached under the stall wall (the special needs girl was in the adjacent stall), grabbed her leg and said "high five." [M.K.] was able to shake her leg to break the hold this girl had on her leg. [M.K.] then left the restroom without any further incidents. [M.K.] expressed she felt "uncomfortable" about this encounter.

6. According to Mr. Osborne's report, "[M.K.] did not know the name of this student." (Ibid.) While it is unclear from the report how I.L. was identified, the report, in fact, identifies I.L. as the accused. However, Mr. Osborne did not interview I.L. as part of his investigation. (Ibid.)

7. Mr. Osborne concluded that I.L. did not commit an act of HIB as defined by the ABRA. (Id. at Ex. D.) On May 8, 2015, Dr. Rossi signed and forwarded the report to Superintendent Brosel, who reported the results of the investigation to the Board at its next meeting on June 15, 2015. (Ibid.; Petition, Ex. 7.)

8. On or about June 21, 2015, the petitioners received a copy of the HIB report and on June 26, 2015, requested a hearing before the Board. (C.K. Cert., ¶ 30.) On July 30, 2015, the Board held a hearing on the incident. (Id. at ¶ 35.) According to petitioners, Mr. Osborne testified at the hearing that "he knew [I.L.] very well and touching others was the usual behavior for this child." (Id. at ¶ 41.)

9. On August 26, 2015, the Board met and determined that I.L. did not commit an act of HIB against M.K. (Young Cert., Ex. F.)

10. On November 24, 2015, petitioners filed an appeal with the Commissioner of Education challenging the Board's decision as arbitrary and capricious and alleging that the Board failed to timely investigate the incident and failed to satisfy other procedural requirements under the ABRA.

11. On December 21, 2015, the Commissioner received an answer from the Board and transmitted the matter to the OAL as a contested case. (Id. at Ex. G.)

CCOE Report

12. On August 4, 2016, the CCOE issued a Complaint Investigation Report in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:37-25.[3] (Petitioners' Reply Brief, Ex. 1.) In the report, the CCOE noted that, on July 21, 2015, petitioners filed a complaint regarding the adequacy of the Board's response to the alleged HIB incident. (Ibid.) As part of the CCOE's investigation, the Board provided a copy of its HIB policy and documentation regarding the Board's response to the incident. (Ibid.) According to the report, "[t]he district indicated that when the initial complaint was made (sometime between September and December 2014), M.K. was unable to identify [I.L.]" and that, as a result, "the district was unable to perform any formal investigation." (Ibid.) The report further stated that at its March 18, 2015, meeting, the Board "for the first time, ascertained the name of the student

[3] Under N.J.S.A. 18A:37-25,

> [t]he Commissioner of Education shall establish a formal protocol pursuant to which the office of the executive county superintendent of schools shall investigate a complaint that documents an allegation of a violation of P.L.2002, c.83 (C.18A:37-13 et seq.) by a school district located within the county, when the complaint has not been adequately addressed on the local level. The office of the executive county superintendent shall report its findings, and if appropriate, issue an order for the school district to develop and implement corrective actions that are specific to the facts of the case.

involved in the incident based on the information reported by the complainants (the child is known for giving/asking for '[high] fives' which is similar to what occurred in the lavatory)." (Ibid.)

13. The CCOE determined that there was a lack of information regarding the date of the incident or the date on which petitioners first reported the incident to the middle school; that the Board initiated an investigation into the incident upon the CCOE's recommendation; and, that the investigation "followed the district's HIB policies and procedures which are consistent with the [ABRA]," but that "the district did not adhere to the timeline to provide a hearing with the BOE within ten (10) days as required by the [ABRA]." (Ibid.)

14. As a result of the CCOE's investigation, the executive county superintendent ordered the Board to "ensure that a prompt HIB investigation is initiated and conducted at any point that it is reported to the school principal regardless if an offender has been identified" and to "submit its policy regarding HIB investigations to the county office for review to confirm that a procedure for reporting and a prompt investigation is included in the policy." (Ibid.) The county superintendent also ordered the Board to hold timely hearings in accordance with the ABRA and to send the CCOE documentation of its adherence to this requirement "for the next five (5) incidences of HIB investigated by the district with which a hearing is requested." (Ibid.)

LEGAL DISCUSSION

Cross-Motions for Summary Decision

The parties have filed cross-motions for summary decision regarding the Board's HIB decision and its compliance with the procedural requirements of the ABRA. The Board contends that it properly determined that no HIB had occurred; the petitioners contend that the Board failed to timely investigate and report the incident between I.L.

and M.K., failed to timely provide petitioners with information about the investigation, and failed to hold a timely hearing in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6).

The ABRA is designed "to strengthen the standards and procedures for preventing, reporting, investigating, and responding to incidents of harassment, intimidation, and bullying of students that occur in school and off school premises." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.1(f). Under the ABRA, "harassment, intimidation or bullying" (HIB) is defined as:

> any gesture, any written, verbal or physical act, or any electronic communication, whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic, that takes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds as provided for in section 16 of P.L.2010, c.122 (C.18A:37-15.3), that substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:
> a. a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging the student's property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;
>
> b. has the effect of insulting or demeaning any student or group of students; or
>
> c. creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.
>
> [N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14 (emphasis added).]

As such, an incident must satisfy three separate elements in order to meet the definition of HIB under the ABRA.

Each school district must adopt an HIB policy that meets minimum statutory requirements, but generally has "control over the content of the policy." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(a) and (b). The statutory requirements for an HIB policy include "a procedure for prompt investigation of reports of violations and complaints." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6).

Under this procedure, "the investigation shall be initiated by the principal or the principal's designee within one school day of the report of the incident and shall be conducted by a school anti-bullying specialist," and "[t]he investigation shall be completed as soon as possible, but not later than 10 school days from the date of the written report of the incident of [HIB]." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(a). The results of the investigation shall then be quickly reported to the superintendent who, in turn, shall report the results to the board of education "no later than the date of the board of education meeting next following the completion of the investigation, along with information on any services provided, training established, discipline imposed, or other action taken or recommended by the superintendent." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(b) and (c).

Within five days of the board's receipt of the report, the parents of the students involved in any alleged HIB incident are entitled to receive information about the nature and result of the investigation. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(d). Upon receipt of this information, the parents may request a hearing before the board, and the hearing must be held within ten days of the request. Ibid. The board must issue a decision at the first meeting after its receipt of the investigation report. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(e). The board may affirm, reject, or modify the superintendent's decision. Ibid. The board's decision may be appealed to the Commissioner. Ibid.

An action by a board of education "is entitled to a presumption of correctness and will not be upset unless there is an affirmative showing that such decision was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable." Thomas v. Morris Twp. Bd. of Educ., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965). Thus, in order to prevail, those challenging an HIB decision made by a board of education "must demonstrate that the Board acted in bad faith, or in utter disregard of the circumstances before it." G.H. & E.H. ex rel. K.H. v. Bd. of Educ. of Franklin Lakes, EDU 13204-13, Initial Decision (February 24, 2014), (citation omitted), adopted, Comm'r (April 10, 2014), <www.njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>. Also, a board's decision may be overturned if its determination violates the legislative policies expressed or implied in the governing act. J.A.H. ex rel. C.H. v. Twp. of Pittsgrove Bd. of Educ., EDU 10826-12, Initial Decision (March 11, 2013) (citing Campbell v. Dep't of Civil Serv., 39 N.J. 556, 562 (1963)), adopted, Comm'r (April 25, 2013), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>.

Standards for Motions for Summary Decision

Under the Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules, N.J.A.C. 1:1-1.1 to -21.6, which govern the conduct of contested cases before the OAL, a party may file a motion for summary decision on substantive issues in a contested case. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(a). The motion "shall be served with briefs and with or without supporting affidavits." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). A party's motion may be granted "if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." Ibid.

I. Did the Board properly determine that I.L. did not commit an act of HIB against M.K?

The ABRA defines HIB in pertinent part as a "physical act . . . whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic, that takes place on school property." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14. A review of administrative decisions confirms that an incident does not constitute an act of HIB unless reasonably perceived as being motivated by a distinguishing characteristic.

In R.G.B. v. Ridgewood Board of Education, EDU 14213-12, Initial Decision (May 15, 2013), adopted, Comm'r (June 24, 2013), <www.njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>, an ALJ concluded, and the Commissioner agreed, that a male student calling a female student "'horse,' 'a horse,' 'fat,' and/or 'fat ass' . . . can be reasonably perceived as being motivated by her perceived distinguishing characteristics of appearance and body type." However, in J.A.H. ex rel. C.H. v. Township of Pittsgrove Board of Education, EDU 10826-12, Initial Decision (March 11, 2013), adopted, Comm'r (April 25, 2013), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>, the school board's finding that an incident in which one student stuffed a crumbled piece of paper down the shirt of another student constituted bullying was overturned because the incident was merely a prank that was part of an ongoing, mutual conflict between the two boys and not improperly motivated by a distinguishing characteristic.

Here, as in J.A.H. but unlike in R.G.B., I.L.'s actions cannot reasonably be perceived as being motivated by a distinguishing characteristic of M.K. Instead, the facts presented indicated that I.L. had a habit of indiscriminately seeking out high fives from classmates and that, on this occasion, she was not improperly motivated when making physical contact with M.K. and asking her for a high five. The papers show that M.K. did not know I.L.'s name at the time of the incident and there was no suggestion that I.L. knew who M.K. was when she reached under the partition, grabbed M.K.'s leg, and asked her for a high five. M.K. was not targeted by I.L. based on any personal characteristic. Since the incident between I.L. and M.K. did not meet the first definitional requirement under N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14, the Board properly concluded that I.L. did not commit an act of HIB against M.K. Still, a review of the other definitional elements as applied to the circumstances of this matter would be appropriate.

In addition to giving rise to a reasonable perception of improper motivation, an act of HIB is one that "a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of . . . placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14. Here, I.L.'s actions satisfy this element of HIB. A reasonable person should know that suddenly grabbing a classmate's leg while she sits on the toilet will place the student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm. To be sure, I.L. did not grab M.K.'s leg and demand her lunch money; instead, I.L. followed the leg grab with a request for a high five, which could also be construed as inviting friendly good-fellowship. Nonetheless, by first grabbing M.K.'s leg while she sat on the toilet, I.L.'s actions satisfied the second statutory element of an act of HIB.

Finally, however, the incident between I.L. and M.K. did not have "the effect of insulting or demeaning" M.K., nor did it create a hostile educational environment for M.K. According to M.K.'s own account of the incident, I.L.'s actions made her "uncomfortable." There is no evidence that M.K. was insulted or demeaned by I.L.'s actions or that I.L. created a hostile educational environment for M.K.

Special education students are not exempt from liability under the ABRA. However, in this instance, the conduct of I.L. did not fit within the definition of an act of HIB against M.K., as the Board properly found. The petitioners have failed to affirmatively demonstrate that the Board's HIB determination was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. On the contrary, the papers show that there was no genuine issue of material fact with respect to whether I.L. committed an act of HIB against M.K., and that the Board properly concluded that the incident between I.L. and M.K. did not meet the statutory definition of HIB.

II. Did the Board follow the procedural requirements of the ABRA with respect to the incident between I.L. and M.K.?

While the Board did not fail to timely investigate or report the incident between I.L. and M.K. or fail to timely provide petitioners with information about the investigation, the Board violated the procedural requirements of the ABRA by failing to hold a hearing within ten days of petitioners' request for a hearing. First, the Board did not fail to timely investigate or report the incident up the chain of command. There are conflicting accounts of not only the date of the incident, but also of Dr. Rossi's initial decision to not investigate the incident. In their briefs, the parties agree that Dr. Rossi decided the day after the incident that the circumstances did not warrant an HIB investigation, yet the CCOE found that "[a]s a result of M.K.'s failure to identify the student, the district was unable to perform any formal investigation." However, since petitioners allege here that "[o]n the day after the incident . . . Dr. Rossi advised that due to the student being a 'special needs' student, that 'extenuating circumstances' did not justify a[n] HIB investigation," the Board's actions should be adjudged accordingly.

A school district's investigation procedure must meet the minimum requirements under N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b), but school districts "shall have local control over the content of the policy." For instance, as noted in informal guidance issued by the Department of Education, "[w]hether a principal . . . will initiate an investigation upon receipt of all reports of alleged HIB, or will initiate an investigation only in those cases where he/she determines that the allegations meet the threshold definition of HIB, will depend on the HIB policy adopted by the BOE." Department of Education, Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act: Questions and Answers (November 2015), at 3, available at <www.state.nj.us/education/students/safety/behavior/hib>.

Under the Board's HIB policy, "[t]he Board requires a thorough and complete investigation to be conducted for each report of violations and complaints which either identify harassment, intimidation, or bullying or describe behaviors that indicate harassment, intimidation, or bullying." Board Policy No. 5512, Section G. If, as petitioners allege, "[o]n the day after the incident . . . Dr. Rossi advised that due to the student being a 'special needs' student, that 'extenuating circumstances' did not justify a[n] HIB investigation," then Dr. Rossi reasonably concluded that an HIB investigation was not necessary under the Board's policy because C.K.'s complaint did not identify HIB or describe behaviors that indicated HIB. Thus, the Board did not fail to timely investigate the incident in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6) or otherwise violate the procedural requirements under the ABRA once Dr. Rossi decided not to investigate the incident.

The Board ultimately investigated the incident in May 2015, but only because the CCOE asked the Board to do so "[a]s a matter of record and in an effort to protect the district." The Board's cooperation with the CCOE's request does not alter the conclusion that Dr. Rossi appropriately determined that an HIB investigation was not required when the incident was first reported.

Nonetheless, once the Board initiated an investigation, the Board was under an obligation to follow the minimum requirements for an investigation procedure under N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6). Thus, the question becomes whether the Board failed to timely provide petitioners with information about the investigation or failed to hold a timely hearing after the investigation was complete.

On the former issue, the Board did not fail to timely provide petitioners with information about the investigation. Under the ABRA, "[t]his information shall be provided in writing within 5 school days after the results of the investigation are reported to the board." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(d). The superintendent reported the investigation results to the Board on June 15, 2015, which was a Monday, and petitioners allege that they received the required information "on or about June 21, 2015." Since June 21, 2015, was a Sunday, petitioners most likely did not get the information on that day, but as alleged, petitioners have failed to show that they did not receive the information within five school days because the fifth school day would have been June 22, 2015.

However, the Board did fail to hold a timely hearing in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(d), under which "[a] parent or guardian may request a hearing before the board after receiving the information, and the hearing shall be held within 10 days of the request." Petitioners asked for a hearing on June 26, 2015, but the Board did not hold a hearing until July 30, 2015. Therefore, the Board failed to hold a hearing within ten days of petitioners' request.

In light of the above, the Board violated the statutory requirement for a timely hearing, but the Board did not violate any other procedural requirements under the ABRA.

While the ABRA does not explicitly provide for remedies upon a successful appeal of a school board's HIB investigation or decision to the Commissioner, the Commissioner has ordered school districts who have violated the ABRA to comply with the statutory requirements, see, e.g., T.R. & T.R. ex rel. E.R. v. Bd. of Educ. of the Bridgewater-Raritan Reg'l Sch. Dist., EDU 10208-13 (September 25, 2014), adopted, Comm'r (November 10, 2014), aff'd on reconsideration, Comm'r (May 6, 2015), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/> (ordering school district that improperly found that a male student who sexually harassed a female student did not commit acts of HIB "to comply with all reporting and other statutory and regulatory requirements applicable to the substantiation of an incident of HIB"). And, as seen here, when a county superintendent separately finds that a school district violated the ABRA, he or she may "issue an order for the school district to develop and implement corrective actions that are specific to the facts of the case." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-25.

In this case, the CCOE found that the Board did not hold a timely hearing in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(d) and ordered the Board to hold timely hearings in accordance with the ABRA and to document the timeliness of its hearings "for the next five (5) incidences of HIB investigated by the district with which a hearing is requested." Thus, while the Board violated the time requirements for a hearing, the Board has already been ordered by the CCOE to remedy this violation.

CONCLUSION

In conclusion, the Board properly found that the conduct alleged in this case did not meet the statutory definition of an HIB violation. The Board did violate the requirement that it hold a hearing within ten days of the petitioners' request; however, the Board did not violate any other procedural requirements of the ABRA.

ORDER

For the reasons set forth above, the Board's motion for summary decision that it properly determined that the incident between I.L. and M.K. did not meet the statutory definition of HIB is GRANTED. The petitioners' motion for summary decision that the Board violated the statutory requirement for a timely hearing is GRANTED,[4] but the petitioners' motion for summary decision that the Board violated any other procedural requirements under the ABRA is DENIED.

[4] No other action is required given the CCOE's corrective action to the Board.

The Board is not hereby ordered to take corrective action because the Camden County Office of Education has already ordered the Board to remedy this violation and it has implemented a corrective action plan.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

BEFORE JOSEPH A. ASCIONE, ALJ:

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on June 6, 2016, 2016, for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-8.2, N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13

The parties have agreed to a settlement and have executed a Settlement and Release (J-1), as well as the Board Resolution (J-2) both of which are attached hereto.

I have reviewed the record and the terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

P.R., o/b/o minor child A.R., Petitioner, v. BOARD OF EDUCATION OF EWING TOWNSHIP, MERCER COUNTY, Respondent.	STATE OF NEW JERSEY DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION OAL Dkt. No. EDU 8350-16S Agency Ref. No. 143-5/16 SETTLEMENT AND RELEASE

This Agreement is made by and between Petitioner, Perry Rhodes, and the Respondent, Ewing Board of Education ("Board").

RECITALS

WHEREAS, in or about April of 2016, Respondent Ewing Board of Education determined, based on the results of a residency investigation, that minor student A.R. was not domiciled in the Ewing School District ("District") and thus not entitled to a free, public education in the District and passed a resolution ordering the removal of the student from the District; and

WHEREAS, Petitioner thereafter commenced an administrative action to challenge the Board's residency determination with regard to A.R.; and

WHEREAS, this administrative action is captioned P.R. o/b/o A.R. v. the Ewing Board of Education, and is presently pending before the Commissioner of Education in the Office of Administrative Law and docketed as OAL Dkt. No. EDU 8350-16S, Agency Dkt. No. 143-5/16

("the Litigation"), the allegations of which are detailed more fully in the Petition of Appeal served and filed in the Litigation; and

WHEREAS, in order to avoid the expense, inconvenience, distractions and inherent uncertainties associated with continuation of this dispute, and the fees and expenses that inevitably would result therefrom, the Parties, by this Agreement, herein agree to adopt a full and final settlement of any and all claims, lawsuits, complaints, and/or disputes between Petitioner and Respondent in connection with any and all damages and losses arising from the Litigation; and

WHEREAS, by this Agreement, Petitioner will voluntarily dismiss the Litigation with prejudice, without costs to any party as against the other;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of good and valuable consideration, the sufficiency and adequacy of which is acknowledged, the parties to this Agreement agree as follows:

1. The Parties mutually agree that, during the pendency of the residency investigation, A.R. was found by the Board not to be domiciled in Ewing, but rather, in Trenton, New Jersey.
2. Petitioner shall pay the Board the sum of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00), representing back tuition due and owing for the period of A.R.'s ineligible attendance in the District during the 2015-2016 school year, which shall constitute a full and final settlement of the claim for back tuition asserted against Petitioner by Respondent Board of Education in the Litigation.
3. The amount of $1,000 is to be paid as follows: Within fifteen (15) days after approval of the Agreement by the Administrative Law Judge and Commissioner of Education, or after adoption by the Board of Education of a resolution accepting this Agreement, whichever is later, Petitioner shall make an initial payment in the amount of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00), in the form of a check made payable to the "Ewing Board of Education," hand-delivered or mailed to the office of Dennis Nettleton, School Business Administrator/Board Secretary, at the District Administration office, 2099 Pennington Road, Ewing, New Jersey 08618. The remaining amount of $900.00 shall be paid in nine (9) subsequent equal monthly installments of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) each, until the full amount has been satisfied. Nothing herein shall prevent Petitioner from paying a greater amount than the monthly payment amount, provided that at least the minimum payment of $100.00 is received monthly..

4. Each installment payment is due on the first (1st) day of each Month at the office of the School Business Administrator at the above address, beginning in the month following that in which the initial payment was made. Payments received by the School Business Administrator after the 30th day following the payment due date shall incur a late fee of $25.00. Any payment and late fee not received by the 15th of the then-following month shall constitute a default by Petitioner and a breach of this Agreement. Petitioner will receive receipts for each payment from the School Business Administrator.
5. Petitioner, in consideration of this Stipulation of Settlement and Release, and in full, final, and complete settlement of the matter, hereby agrees to a withdrawal and/or dismissal, with prejudice, of their Petition of Appeal in this matter.
6. Petitioner further understands and agrees that, if he fails to make a payment in accordance with this Agreement, the entire remaining unpaid amount shall immediately become due and owing, payable in a single lump sum.

7. Petitioner further agrees to indemnify Respondent for any and all costs, including court costs and attorneys fees, associated with any action instituted by Respondent to enforce the terms of this Agreement should Petitioner breach the Agreement and/or fail to adhere to the agreed-upon payment plan.

8. The terms of this Agreement shall in no way constitute acceptance or assent by the Board that A.R., nor any other child of Petitioner, as may be applicable, is automatically entitled to a free public education in the District at any point in the future, and the Parties understand and agree that Respondent reserves the right to investigate A.R.'s and/or Petitioner's residency status in the District at any time should A.R. be reenrolled in the District or it otherwise becomes necessary to do so, in order to determine whether or not Petitioner and/or his child(ren) remain domiciled in the District.

9. This Agreement is subject to approval by the Ewing Board of Education. If approved, the Board President is fully authorized to execute this Agreement on behalf of the Board.

10. In exchange for the above consideration, Respondent Ewing Board of Education agrees to release Petitioner from any and all claims, cross-claims, counterclaims, demands, liabilities, damages, indebtedness, costs, attorneys' fees, actions or obligations of any nature, which solely arise out of or are related in any way to this Litigation, through the date of this Agreement and agrees to the withdrawal/dismissal of any counter-claim for tuition payments, through the date of this Agreement.

11. This Agreement shall not constitute an admission of wrongdoing by any party and no party shall be considered to be a prevailing party for any purpose.

12. This Agreement is to be construed in accordance with the laws of the State of New Jersey.

13. Petitioner hereby represents that he is freely entering into this Agreement, that he was advised of his right to obtain counsel of his choosing and has knowingly waived that requirement, and that he has read and fully understand the contents and effects of this Agreement.

14. This Settlement may be subject to the approval of the Office of Administrative Law and the Commissioner of Education. In the event that such approval is necessary, the terms of this Agreement shall not be binding until said approvals are received.

15. This Agreement shall be binding upon all parties hereto, and shall inure to the benefit of each of them, as well as their respective estates, heirs, legal representatives, successors, predecessors, parent companies, subsidiaries, affiliates, owners, directors, officers, shareholders, members, employees, agents and assigns.

16. This Agreement constitutes the entire understanding and agreement by the parties with respect to the subject matter of this Agreement, and there are no agreements, undertakings, restrictions, representations or warranties as between the parties other than those set forth herein. This Agreement supersedes all previous arrangements or understandings, whether written or oral, and contains the entire agreement of the parties with respect to its subject matter. This Agreement may be modified or amended only by written agreement jointly executed by the Petitioner and Respondent.

[SIGNATURES ON NEXT PAGE]

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto have executed this Agreement, consisting of six pages, effective on the day and year first above written.

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on June 9, 2016, on remand for clarification of whether the person who signed on behalf of the petitioners, Robert Nevitt, was authorized to sign on their behalf.

I have reviewed the terms of settlement with the additional certifications from Erika Murphy, Mary Kennedy, and Cosmas Diamantis, Esq. I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures on their certifications or their representatives' signatures, and as confirmed by the representations of both counsel.
2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.
3. The additional certifications of petitioners Erika Murphy, Mary Kennedy and Cosmas Diamantis, Esq., ensure that they authorized Robert Nevitt, Jr. to execute the settlement agreement on their behalf as President of the WTEA.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

WHEREAS, Petitioner Winslow Township Education Association (hereinafter "Petitioner" or "WTEA") , is the exclusive majority representative of a broad-based bargaining unit consisting of, all certified personnel, secretaries, paraprofessionals, buildings and grounds employees, and athletic trainers employed within Winslow Township School District; and

WHEREAS, Respondent, Winslow Township Board of Education, (hereinafter the "Board" or "Respondent"), with its administrative offices located at 40 Coopers Folly Road, Atco, NJ 08004, is charged with administration and supervision of the District, and is the employer of all employees in the bargaining unit represented by Petitioner; and

WHEREAS, a dispute arose over the distribution of final paychecks and ownership of various furniture items;

WHEREAS, the Petitioner filed a Petition for Appeal; and

WHEREAS, without waiving their respective positions and without any admissions by either party, WTEA and the District wish to fully resolve all outstanding litigation between the parties pursuant to the terms set forth below;

NOW THEREFORE, it is agreed by and between the parties hereto as follows:

1. The Board agrees that it will comply with all other Federal and State Laws, including but not limited to N.J.S.A. 34:11-4.4, as well as Board Policies with respect to the payment and withholding of employee pay or salary.
2. The Board agrees it will not withhold, in whole or in part, any pay or salary from any and all certified personnel, secretaries, paraprofessionals, buildings and grounds employees, and athletic trainers employed by the Board, in a manner contrary to Federal and State Law, including but not limited to, N.J.S.A. 34:11-4.4, as well as all Board Policies with respect to the payment and withholding of employee pay or salary, unless permitted by law.
3. Petitioner agrees that that if employee wishes to bring in personally owned furniture items, they must submit a request to the building Principal personally for approval.
4. The parties agree that the Principal shall have a period of five (5) school days to approve or deny the request. Parties agree that if the Principal does not provide a response to the request within five (5) school days, the request is deemed granted.
5. Parties agree that a new request to have furniture items brought in must be submitted annually.
6. Petitioner agrees that if personally owned items are brought in during the course of the school year, they must be removed at the end of the school year.
7. Parties agree to be responsible for their own legal fees relative to this matter.

8. It is mutually agreed that the terms of this Agreement are and will remain confidential to the maximum extent permitted by law. The parties are free to inform others that the dispute between them has been amicably resolved. This provision shall not apply to any and all communications between the Petitioners and Winslow Township Education Association members.

9. This Agreement is not an admission by either party of any liability, or the violation of any law, statute, or regulation, nor shall it be cited as precedent in any future judicial or administrative proceedings, except as needed for enforcement or interpretation of its specific terms.

10. The Petitioners agree to all terms of this Agreement as complete, full and final satisfaction of all claims of any nature against the Respondent, Winslow Township Board of Education for anything that has happened up until the date on which Petitioners signed this Agreement. This release includes, but is not limited to any and all claims and demand for damages that may arise under N.J.S.A. 34:11-4.4 and any regulations promulgated under any aforementioned law, or any other State or Federal law, statue, rule or regulation or common law, contract, policy or directive, for anything that has happened up until the date on which the Plaintiff signed this Agreement.

11. This Agreement represents the entire understanding between the parties and will not be modified, in whole or in part, except by mutual subsequent written and signed Agreement. It is acknowledged that this Agreement has been entered into freely, willingly and voluntarily, without duress or coercion.

12. This Agreement is subject to formal approval by the Winslow Township Board of Education. In the event the District thereafter approves this Agreement, it shall be executed forthwith by the District and shall become effective upon approval by the Court.

13. This Agreement may be executed in counterparts, each of which when so executed and delivered shall be an original and all of which together shall constitute one and the same instrument.

PREAMBLE

This Agreement entered into this 21 th day of October 2014, by and between the Board of Education of Winslow Township, the City of Atco, New Jersey, hereinafter called the "Board", and the Winslow Township Education Association, hereinafter called the "Association".

DURATION OF AGREEMENT

A. This Agreement shall be effective as of July 1, 2013 and shall continue in effect until June 30, 2016.

1. This Agreement shall not be extended by oral or written Agreement, and it is expressly understood that it shall expire on the date indicated.

B. In witness thereof, the parties hereto have caused this Agreement to be signed by their duly authorized officers, all as of the day and year first above written.

WINSLOW TOWNSHIP EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

By _____ (President)

By _____ (Secretary)

WINSLOW TOWNSHIP BOARD OF EDUCATION

By _____ (President)

By _____ (Secretary)

WITNESSETH:

Whereas, The Board and the Association recognize and declare that providing a quality education for the children of the Winslow Township School District is their mutual aim and that the character of such education depends in part upon the quality and morale of the teaching service, and

Whereas, The members of the teaching profession are qualified to be consulted concerning the formulation of policies and programs designed to improve educational standards, and

Whereas, The Board has an obligation, pursuant to Chapter 123, Public Laws, 1974, to negotiate with the Association as the representative of unit members hereinafter designated with respect to the terms and conditions of employment, and

Whereas, The Winslow Township Board of Education is committed to ensuring that our schools are safe and secure for children and staff. The District will develop and maintain a safety and security management plan and provide for a means of communication to inform students, staff and parents about safety and security matters, and

Whereas, The parties have reached certain understandings which they desire to confirm in this Agreement,

Therefore, In consideration of the following mutual covenants, it is hereby agreed as follows:

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

A. This Agreement constitutes Board policy for the term of said Agreement, and the Board shall carry out the commitments contained herein and give them full force and effect as Board policy

B. If any provision of this Agreement or any application of this Agreement is held to be contrary to law, then such provision or application shall not be deemed valid and subsisting, except to the extent permitted by law, but all other provisions or applications shall continue in full force and effect.

C. Any individual contract between the Board and an individual, heretofore or hereafter executed, shall be subject to and consistent with the terms and conditions of this Agreement. If an individual contract contains any language inconsistent with the Agreement, this Agreement, during its duration, shall be controlling.

D. The Board and the Association agree that there shall be no discrimination and that all practices, procedures and policies of the school system shall clearly exemplify that there is no discrimination in the hiring, training, assignment, promotion, transfer or discipline of unit members or in the application or administration of this Agreement on the basis of race, creed, religion, national origin, gender, domicile, marital status, age or handicapped status as per Statutory Requirements.

E. Copies of this Agreement shall be printed and the expense shared equally by the Board and the Association within thirty (30) days, unless an extension is mutually agreed upon, after the Agreement is signed and presented to all unit members now employed or when a contract is offered.

F. Whenever any notice is required to be given by either of the parties to this Agreement to the other, pursuant to the provisions of this Agreement, either party shall do so by letter at the following:

1. If by the Association, to the Board at:
   Secretary
   Board of Education of Winslow Township

RECOGNITION

A The Board recognizes the Association as the exclusive and sole representative for collective negotiations concerning the terms and conditions of employment for all personnel under contract including those on leave. The following personnel are excluded: all administrative and supervisory personnel, superintendent's and assistant superintendent's secretaries, business office support staff, human resources support staff, residency officer. Also excluded are the substitute caller(s), substitutes, occupational and physical therapists and community and recreational personnel.

1. Unless otherwise indicated, the term "unit member" when used in this Agreement shall refer to all employees represented by the Association in the negotiating unit as defined above.

2. The term "teacher" when used herein expressly excludes teacher assistants.

B. The parties agree and understand that the position of teacher assistant does not carry with it the requirement for a teacher certificate; and therefore, teacher assistants are not considered teachers within the meaning of the Statutes (18A).

C. The Association hereby recognizes that the Board reserves for itself full jurisdiction and authority over matters of policy and retains the right in accordance with applicable laws and regulations and subject to the provisions of this Agreement:

1. To direct unit members of the district;

2. To hire, promote, transfer, assign and retain unit members in positions within the district and to suspend, demote, discharge or take other disciplinary actions against unit members;

3. To release unit members from duties because of a lack of work or other legitimate reasons;

4. To maintain the efficiency of the district operations entrusted to them;

5. To determine the methods, means and personnel by which such operations are to be conducted;

6. To take whatever actions might be necessary to carry out the goals of the school district in situations of emergency.

D. The term "Support Staff" refers to the following non-certificated staff:

Teacher Assistants , District Delivery Mailperson, Community Liaison Officer, Hall Monitors, Clerical Assistants, District Secretaries, Medical Assistants, District Electrician, Plumber, Carpenter, Maintenance /Grounds, Custodians, Cleaners, Receptionist, Maintenance Helper, Mechanic and Bus Drivers.

The record of this emergent matter, the sound recording of proceedings at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the recommended Order of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) have been reviewed.

Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that petitioner has failed to demonstrate entitlement to emergent relief pursuant to Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982), and codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6. Specifically, the petitioner has failed to show that he will suffer irreparable harm if he is not immediately appointed to the Board for a three year term, as he is currently filling another seat on the Board that was left vacant when a Board member resigned before the expiration his term.[1] Therefore, in light of the fact that all of the Crowe prongs must be met in order for emergent relief to be granted, it is not necessary to analyze the three remaining factors.

Accordingly, the petitioner's application for emergent relief is denied. This matter shall continue at the OAL with such proceedings as the parties and the ALJ deem necessary to bring it to closure.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Respondents.

Alfonso Mastrofilipo, Jr., petitioner pro se

Lauren A. Jensen, Deputy Attorney General, for respondents Bergen County Office of Education and Interim-Executive County Superintendent Norah Peck (Christiphor S. Porrino, Attorney General of New Jersey, attorneys)

Jaclyn M. Morgese, Esq., for nominal respondent Board of Education of the Borough of Lodi (Sciarrillo Cornell, attorneys)

BEFORE GAIL M. COOKSON, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner Alfonso Mastrofilipo, Jr. (petitioner) asserts that he has been deprived illegally or without authority from his seat on the Board of Education of the Borough of Lodi (Board) following the election held on November 8, 2016. As more fully detailed below, petitioner presently holds a seat on that Board but only for a temporary one-year term to fill an unrelated vacancy. He filed a Petition of Appeal as well as a Petition for Emergent Relief, individually as a citizen and not as a current temporary Board member, in order to obtain a determination that another vacancy should not be filled by the Bergen County Office of Education or the Interim-Executive County Superintendent for Bergen County (collectively referred to as "ECS Peck") and that any seat he holds should be deemed to be a position to a three-year term. Petitioner denominated the Board as a nominal respondent, seeking relief principally against ECS Peck in this forum.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On February 24, 2017, petitioner filed both his Petition for Emergent Relief with the Commissioner of Education and his merits Petition. On February 27, 2017, this matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) by the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes for a hearing on the requested emergent relief. The matter was assigned to the undersigned on March 2, 2017, and oral argument was heard on March 6, 2017, at 1:30 p.m. ECS Peck submitted a legal brief on the emergency application under cover of March 6, 2017. The Board as nominal respondent asserted that it would abide by whatever decision is reached herein, although it also specified its agreement with the position of ECS Peck. After a long discussion off the record, oral argument was conducted on the record, facts were stipulated as not in dispute, and the record was left open for one day for the Deputy to submit a final reply due to the late service in open court of a final response by the petitioner.

STATEMENT OF UNDISPUTED FACTS

On November 8, 2016, an election was held to fill three seats on the Board for three-year terms. There were ten candidates on the ballot, eight of whom were new office-seekers and two of whom were incumbents. Petitioner was one of the new candidates. After the election returns were tabulated and announced, it was determined that petitioner came in fourth place. Accordingly, he was not deemed to be a successful candidate or member-elect. However, in the month just prior to the election, another then-current member of the Board, Joseph J. Licata, resigned because he had moved his personal residence out of the school district.

Following this election, the three highest recipients of votes were subject to statutory examination of their qualifications, including criminal background checks, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-1.2(a). Also following the election, the Board announced that it would be accepting applications for the vacant seat left by Licata. Petitioner applied on or before that deadline of November 16, 2016. After the interview process was completed, petitioner was advised that he had been selected for the Licata seat on or about December 14, 2016.

On or about December 20, 2016, member-elect Vincent J. Russo and the Board were notified by the New Jersey Department of Education that his background review had turned up a disqualifying criminal offense. Petitioner was sworn in to fill the Licata vacant seat on December 21, 2016, just one day after Russo was disqualified from serving. The first organizational meeting of the Board was held on January 4, 2017.

On January 17, 2017, petitioner filed a civil action in the Superior Court of New Jersey, Bergen County, Chancery Division, against the same parties named herein. He sought equitable relief in the form of designation as the successor member-elect to the seat contested in the November 8, 2016, election and now open due to the disqualification of Russo. That lawsuit was dismissed without prejudice by the Honorable Menelas W. Toskos, J.S.C., on February 22, 2017, "for the reasons set forth on the record" after oral argument.[1] That Order also stayed any action by ECS Peck until March 1, 2017. As set

[1] The Deputy represented at the argument on this OAL matter that the matter was dismissed because it raised school law issues under Title 18A over which the Commissioner has exclusive jurisdiction. Petitioner stated his disagreement with that characterization during this oral argument and said that Judge Toskos forth above, petitioner filed his Petition and Emergent Petition with the Department on February 24, 2017.

LEGAL DISCUSSION

The standards which must be met by the moving party in an application for emergent relief are well established. Crowe v. DeGoia, 90 N.J. 126, 132-34 (1982). Emergency relief may only be granted if the judge determines that petitioner has satisfied all four prongs of the Crowe test:

1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the relief is not granted;
2. The legal right underlying the petitioner's claim is settled;
3. The petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and
4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

There are two aspects to this application for emergent relief. First, petitioner requests an order mandating that only the Board can fill the seat left empty by Russo's disqualification, which is to say, that ECS Peck should be prohibited from filling the vacancy. Second, petitioner wants an order establishing himself as the rightful successor to Russo's seat as a full three-year term on the Board. As to the latter, petitioner is of the opinion that he is the rightful occupant of the seat as a result of being the third highest qualified candidate who sought the public's endorsement through a duly-held election. With respect to the former, petitioner thinks it is unseemly to have a citizen appointed to the Board by ECS Peck when neither she nor the applicant might have the knowledge and interest to discuss matters of great and specific importance to the Board. At least with respect to filling Licata's seat, he argues, the current Board members appointed petitioner who had put himself through the nomination and ballot process.

was advised instead by the Deputy in Chancery Court that ESC Peck had authority to appoint petitioner to a three-year term on the Board. While that dispute will only be resolved through a reading of the transcribed oral argument, not yet obtained, I FIND that it is not material for the limited purposes of this emergency application.

Respondents argue that petitioner cannot meet the Crowe standard for injunctive relief and further that the law is settled against his argument. Title 18A establishes a clear mechanism for filling vacancies and it is because those appointments circumvent the election system that they are statutorily limited to a one-year term.

With respect to the first prong, petitioner argues that he would suffer irreparable harm because important issues are arising before the Board on which Board members must be interested, knowledgeable, and prepared, including, but not limited to, a new $7.5 million building project, and teacher contract negotiations. I CONCLUDE that petitioner has merely posited general and speculative public harm if some person is temporarily seated on the Board in time for any issues that will arise this spring. Indisputably, petitioner now has a seat at the table; he can work with other members of the Board to pursue agenda items as he sees fit. As a large district, the Lodi Board has more members than many school districts in this State and thus each member's vote (or empty seat) is less critical for majority decisionmaking. Petitioner personally has not been deprived of a vote on the Board. Ultimately, the issue of whether he must run again next November in order to continue on the Board will have to be reached but any such deadlines do not presently make for an emergency or irreparable harm.

With respect to the likelihood of success on the merits, I must CONCLUDE that petitioner has also not satisfied this Crowe prong. Title 18A makes provision for the filling of any vacancy on a board through several means, depending on the circumstances that caused the vacancy to occur.

> Vacancies in the membership of the board shall be filled as follows:
>
> a. By the county superintendent, if the vacancy is caused by the absence of candidates for election to the school board or by the removal of a member because of lack of qualifications, or is not filled within 65 days following its occurrence;
>

> f. By a majority vote of the remaining members of the board after the vacancy occurs in all other cases.
>
> Each member so appointed shall serve until the organizational meeting following the next annual election unless the member is appointed to fill a vacancy occurring within the 60 days immediately preceding such election if the annual election is held in April, or occurring after the third Monday in July if the election is held in November, to fill a term extending beyond such election, in which case the member shall serve until the organizational meeting following the second annual election next succeeding the occurrence of the vacancy, and any vacancy for the remainder of the term shall be filled at the annual election or the second annual election next succeeding the occurrence of the vacancy, as the case may be.

There are additional sub-parts, not relevant herein, that establish other means if an election results in a tie, etc.

Here, the parties disagree as to whether ECS Peck is authorized to fill the vacancy because petitioner claims that Russo cannot be deemed to be a "member." I CONCLUDE that post-election, Russo would come within the definition of a "member." The argument posited by petitioner is that Russo could not be a member removed for lack of qualifications because he had not yet been sworn in onto the Board. I agree with respondents that he is mis-reading the statutory provisions and that the above-cited portion must be read in tandem with the following:

> Each member of any board of education, within 30 days of election or appointment to that board, shall undergo a criminal history background investigation for the purpose of ensuring that the member is not disqualified from membership due to a conviction of a crime or offense listed in N.J.S.18A:12-1.
> [N.J.S.A. 18A:12-1.2(a)]

This provision is specifically part of the subtitle that addresses qualifications or the lack thereof of members elected to or already sitting on a board of education. The fact that a successful electoral candidate becomes a member and yet is still required to submit to a background check by the Department "within 30 days of election" is specific and clear, notwithstanding that an oath of office has not yet been administered. Accord N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2.1, which sets forth that a "member" takes an oath "before entering upon the duties of his office."

Based upon the above legal discussion and analysis, I CONCLUDE the petitioner has not met his burden of proving entitlement to immediate emergent relief. I do note that Title 18A on School Law does not appear to resolve the ultimate issue of whether petitioner is entitled to a three-year term on the Board as opposed to only a temporary one-year term. Nevertheless, I do CONCLUDE that without regard to whether it is the Board or ECS Peck who ultimately fills the Russo vacancy, Title 18A only provides the authority to fill it as a temporary one-year post. In that sense, I am of the opinion that petitioner is unlikely to obtain the ultimate relief he seeks from the Office of Administrative Law and the Department of Education, namely, to be named as filling a three-year seat on the Board.[2]

ORDER

Since the Crowe factors are written in the conjunctive and the petitioner has failed to satisfy any of the four requirements, I CONCLUDE that the petitioner has failed to establish grounds for the granting of emergency relief. Accordingly, it is ORDERED that the petition for emergent relief is DENIED.

It is further ORDERED that the merits hearing, by agreement of the parties, shall be determined on the papers as herein submitted or supplemented hereafter in accordance with my instructions.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision on the issue of

[2] This is without prejudice to and without any opinion as to whether relief may be sought under Title 19 or any other general election statute from a Superior Court Judge; however, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15 does appear to cover most avenues of filling school board vacancies.

emergent relief shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five days following the entry of this order. If the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

SYNOPSIS

Petitioners – three teachers in the Waterford Township school district – sought to have Superintendent Jason Eitner's certificate revoked for unbecoming conduct, alleging that Eitner had engaged in conduct ranging from age discrimination, to invasion of privacy, to violation of school policies prohibiting harassment, intimidation and bullying. The respondent filed a motion to dismiss, arguing that petitioners failed to set forth a legal basis for which relief can be granted under New Jersey's school laws.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: petitioners herein do not allege a cause of action against respondent under the school laws; any action to remove school administrators must be brought under the tenure provisions of Title 18A:6-10; moreover, an action against a school administrator for conduct related to their position must be brought via a grievance and then an appeal from the grievance; and petitioners have not exhausted this remedy. The ALJ concluded that the instant matter presents no cause of action under the school laws of New Jersey. Accordingly, the respondent's motion to dismiss was granted.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that the Commissioner lacks jurisdiction here, and adopted the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. The Commissioner noted that, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-38 and N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.5, an administrator's certificate may only be revoked or suspended by the State Board of Examiners. The petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed, along with petitioners' exceptions – filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 – and the respondent's reply thereto.

In their exceptions, petitioners argue that the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) failed to reference that petitioners had filed grievances – including a Harassment, Intimidation, and Bullying (HIB) complaint – and still had not received the results of the Board's investigations. Accordingly, petitioners dispute the ALJ's finding that no HIB complaint was filed. Further, petitioners contend that the matter should be held in abeyance pending a final determination by the Board on the grievances that were filed. Additionally, petitioners argue that the ALJ erred in concluding that the Commissioner does not have jurisdiction over personnel matters filed by individuals, and instead maintain that the matter touches upon school law.

In reply, respondent contends that while petitioners argue that they have not received the investigation reports regarding grievances that they filed, they indicated in their Opposition to the Motions to Dismiss that they were "not seeking any determination by this court regarding any obligation Respondent Eitner would have to furnish the results of an affirmative action investigation" and that they would seek relief from the Board outside of this litigation. (Respondent's Reply Exceptions, at 3). Additionally, respondent argues that the ALJ properly found that the Commissioner does not have jurisdiction over these matters because they do not arise under school law. Instead, respondent points out that issues involving the revocation or suspension of administrative certificates falls under the jurisdiction of the State Board of Examiners and such a proceeding cannot be initiated by individual employees. Finally, respondent argues that the matter should not be held in abeyance until a final determination is made by the Board on the personnel matters, because the doctrine of exhaustion requires petitioners to exhaust their administrative remedies prior to filing a petition.

Upon review, the Commissioner[1] concurs with the ALJ that the Commissioner does not have jurisdiction over these matters, as they do not arise out of the school laws of this State. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9. Indeed, the authority to revoke or suspend the certificates of teachers or administrators lies exclusively with the State Board of Examiners. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-38; N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.5. Further, the Commissioner notes that – although petitioners allege in their Opposition to the Motions to Dismiss that the HIB statute is implicated in this matter – the matter herein does not involve HIB. This case is not an appeal of an HIB determination, nor would an HIB allegation be appropriate in this circumstance as the statute does not contemplate HIB complaints from school employees – only students. See N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq. The Commissioner does not find petitioners' exceptions to be persuasive. Although petitioners indicate that they seek the results of affirmative action complaints filed with the Board and not considered by the ALJ in her decision, such exception is irrelevant. Petitioners have made clear in their submissions that the Board is not a party to this matter, nor do they seek the results of the investigation from Respondent Eitner.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter and the petition is hereby dismissed.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioners filed a verified petition on August 15, 2016, seeking to have the respondent's superintendent's certificate revoked for conduct unbecoming. The conduct ranges from allegations of sexual harassment, age discrimination and bullying. The respondent filed a Motion to Dismiss in lieu of an answer on September 6, 2016. The Director of the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes of the New Jersey Department of Education transmitted the matters to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where they were filed for hearing as a contested case on September 8, 2016. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. These matters were consolidated by Order dated November 16, 2016. Petitioners filed opposition to the Motion to Dismiss on December 23, 2016, and respondents filed a reply brief on January 12, 2017.

STATEMENT OF CASE AND UNDISPUTED FACTS

The petitioners are all employed by the Waterford Township Board of Education[1] (District) and work as teachers in the District. Jason Eitner is the superintendent of the schools in the District. The petitioners have filed verified petitions seeking to have his

[1] The Board of Education has not been named in this matter and the petitioners have advised that they do not seek to name the Board in this matter.

superintendent's certificate revoked on the grounds that he engaged in conduct unbecoming, age discrimination, invasion of privacy and a violation of school policies prohibiting harassment, intimidation and/or bullying. There was a grievance filed by one of the petitioners, and the superintendent issued a letter of apology in response to same. No appeal was filed with respect to the decision in that matter. In response to allegations by the petitioners of harassment and discrimination, the Board hired an attorney to do an Affirmative Action investigation. The undersigned has no details regarding this investigation or the results of same. However, counsel for the petitioner has clarified that no relief is sought with respect to that investigation and no appeal for that finding has been initiated

The respondents have filed a motion to dismiss on the grounds that the petition has failed to set forth a legal basis for which relief can be granted under the Educational Laws of the State of New Jersey. Respondent argues that the petitioners have not alleged any violations of the school laws and that there is no claim for relief under the jurisdiction of the Commission of Education. It is undisputed that no HIB complaint has been filed with respect to harassment, intimidation or bullying complaint, or for the failure of the District to have appropriate HIB policies in place. Moreover, there is no HIB finding that has been appealed. The respondents also allege that the petitioners have failed to exhaust administrative remedies through a grievance or a claim under the anti-bullying statute. The petitioners maintain that the Commissioner of Education has jurisdiction to hear disputes concerning these actions, and that they arise under the state school and education laws. However, no specific authority is provided which would give the Commissioner jurisdiction over a personnel matter filed by an individual employee or employees.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

The issue presented here is whether the respondents are entitled to a decision dismissing the petition as a matter of law. The respondents have filed a motion to decision pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.10 which provides: "at any time prior to transmittal of the pleading to the OAL, in the Commissioner's discretion or upon motion to dismiss filed in lieu of answer, the Commissioner may dismiss the petitioner on the grounds that the petitioners have advanced no cause of action even if the petitioner's factual allegations are accepted as true or for lack of jurisdiction for failure to prosecute or other good reason." The motion was filed with the Department of Education and has been transmitted here for consideration. The basis of the motion is that the petitioners have alleged no claim under the education laws of the State of New Jersey and thus, the undersigned has no jurisdiction to hear the matter.

The allegations in the verified petitions are that the respondent has shown bias and engaged in inappropriate behavior, sexual harassment and age discrimination. The petitioners seek to have respondent's Administrators Certificate revoked and to have him suspended from his position as Superintendent of the School District. There have been no prior proceedings regarding this matter, with the exception of an affirmative action investigation, which the petitioners did not, nor do they seek to appeal from. In addition, one of the petitioners filed a grievance against the respondent, from which relief was obtained in the form of an apology letter. No appeal was filed from that matter. Most of the allegations appear to allege HIB, or lack of appropriate policies. However, no HIB complaint was ever filed, nor do the petitioners seek relief under the HIB statute. The petitioners seek to suspend the respondent and revoke his administrator's certificate.

Assuming that all of the petitioners' factual allegations are true, they do not allege a cause of action under School Law against the respondent. An action to remove the administrators must be brought under the tenure provisions of Title 18A:6-10. Moreover, an action against the administrator of the school for action relating to their position in the school must be brought via a grievance and then an appeal from the grievance. The petitioners have not exhausted this remedy, and the Commissioner of Education does not have jurisdiction to entertain grievances from individual employees in the first instance. The petitioners cite to N.J.S.A.18A:17-7, which requires superintendents to hold an appropriate certificate. However, there are no allegations that the respondent does not hold the appropriate certificate and thus, this statutory provision is inapplicable. The petitioner also cites to several tenure cases in support of the Commissioner's jurisdiction. However, this is not a tenure matter, and moreover, the undersigned does not have jurisdiction over tenure matters.

The undersigned's jurisdiction is limited to those matters falling under the Education Laws in the State of New Jersey, and assuming all facts alleged as true, I CONCLUDE that no cause of action under the Education Laws in the State of New Jersey. Accordingly, the respondent's motion to dismiss pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.10 is hereby granted.

ORDER

It is ORDERED that the Motion to Dismiss is hereby GRANTED and the petition is DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF WILLINGBORO, BURLINGTON COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

Pro se petitioner, C.J., sought to have her four children placed out of the Willingboro school district, alleging that the children are being abused and are afraid to go to school. Petitioner further alleged, inter alia, that all of her children are being bullied and receive therapy as a result of the anxiety they suffer from attending school in Willingboro. Petitioner refused to send the children to school for a period of time, and has not gone through any channels to have them classified – nor has she requested an investigation into alleged acts of Harassment, Intimidation and Bullying (HIB) under the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq. Petitioner demands that the children be placed in another school district, but has not stated where she wants them to attend school or on what legal grounds she seeks an out-of-district placement. A motion for emergent relief in this matter was denied after a hearing in September 2016. The respondent Board filed a motion for summary decision, alleging that petitioner has failed to articulate any cause of action falling under the jurisdiction of the Commissioner.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there is no genuine issue of material fact in this case, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; petitioner alleges that her children have been mistreated and abused, and seeks an out-of-district placement; only one of the four children has been classified by the District and thereby entitled to special education services; the petitioner appears to raise claims of HIB under the Act, but has failed to follow the procedural requirements for bringing such a claim; alternatively, she alleged her children are experiencing issues that may require an evaluation under the IDEA, but such evaluation must be initiated by request to the school, and appealed to the Office of Special Education Services; the petitioner has not alleged any legal or factual basis for an out-of-district placement for her children. The ALJ concluded that the respondent Board is entitled to summary decision, and dismissed the petition.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusion, and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. The petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions to the Initial Decision.

Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) – for the reasons stated in the Initial Decision – that the Board's motion for summary decision should be granted.[1] Accordingly, the recommended decision of the ALJ is adopted for the reasons expressed therein and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

[1] It is clear from the record that there has been ongoing discord between the petitioner and the Board involving her minor children. In the future, if the petitioner believes that one of her minor children has been the subject of an act of harassment, intimidation and bullying, she may report the incident to the Board and request an investigation pursuant to the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq.. The Board shall likewise follow the procedural requirements contained in the Act. To the extent that the petitioner has concerns involving her minor children in connection with the Individuals with Disabilities in Education Act she may seek relief from the Office of Special Education in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:14-2.6.

C.J., ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILDREN,
Petitioner,
v.
TOWNSHIP OF WILLINGBORO BOARD OF EDUCATION, BURLINGTON COUNTY,
Respondent.

C.J., petitioner, pro se

Patrick J. Madden, Esq., for respondent Willingboro Township Board of Education (Madden and Madden, P.A., attorneys)

Record Closed: January 17, 2017 Decided: February 14, 2017

BEFORE SARAH G. CROWLEY, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On August 25, 2016, petitioner filed a Verified Petition for emergent relief with the Commissioner of the Department of Education seeking to have her four children transferred from the Willingboro School District (Willingboro). The Director of the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes of the New Jersey Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed for hearing as an emergent matter on August 25, 2016. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. After oral argument, the application for Emergent relief was denied by Order dated September 16, 2016. The denial was adopted by the Commissioner on October 4, 2016. On September 16, 2016, Willingboro filed a Motion to Dismiss the within matter. The matter was adjourned for a period of time at the request of the petitioner. Petitioner filed opposition to the motion on June 21, 2016, and supplemented her opposition by correspondence from the petitioner on December 16, 2016, and January 17, 2017.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND AND STATEMENT OF UNDISPUTED FACTS

Petitioner has four children in the Willingboro School District and seeks to have them placed out-of-district. Petitioner alleges that her children are being abused and are afraid to go to school. She further alleges that one of her children is suffering from depression due to the treatment she has received at school and that one is on blood pressure medication as a result of pressures at school. Petitioner claims that all of her children are being bullied and receive therapy as a result of the anxiety they suffer from attending school in Willingboro. One of the children has been classified and is entitled to special education services in the District. The issues with respect to this child are the subject of a separate action. Petitioner refused to send the children to school for a period of time, and has not gone through any channels to have them classified, nor has she requested an HIB investigation. The relief which is sought unclear except for the demand for to send them out-of-district. The petitioner has not stated where she wants them placed or on what legal grounds she seeks an out-of-district placement.

LEGAL DISCUSSION

The question presented is whether respondent is entitled to dismissal of this matter on the grounds that the petitioner has failed to articulate any cause of action falling under the jurisdiction of the commissioner of education. The respondent further alleges that there is no legal or factual basis for the relief which the petitioner seeks.

Summary decision is appropriate if there is no genuine issue as to any material fact necessary to resolve the claim as a matter of law. Summary decision may be granted "if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). The standard for granting summary judgment (decision) is found in Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Co. of America, 142 N.J. 520, 540 (1995) (citation omitted):

[A] determination whether there exists a "genuine issue" of material fact that precludes summary judgment requires the motion judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to permit a rational fact-finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party. The "judge's function is not himself [or herself] to weigh the evidence and determine the truth of the matter but to determine whether there is a genuine issue for trial."

The Brill standard contemplates that the analysis performed by the trial judge in determining whether to grant summary judgment should comprehend the evidentiary standard to be applied to the case or issue if it went to trial. "To send a case to trial, knowing that a rational jury can reach but one conclusion, is indeed 'worthless' and will 'serve no useful purpose.'" Brill, supra, 142 N.J. at 541. In addressing whether the Brill standard has been met in this case, further guidance is found in New Jersey Court Rule 4:46-2: "An issue of fact is genuine only if, considering the burden of persuasion at trial, the evidence submitted by the parties on the motion, together with all legitimate inferences therefrom favoring the non-moving party, would require submission of the issues to the trier of fact."

In this case, there are no genuine issues of material fact. Petitioner's children all attend school in Willingboro and are still enrolled in school in the District. The petitioner alleges that her children have been "mistreated and abused" and she seeks to have them placed out-of-district. However, there has been no HIB petition filed pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15, nor is there an appeal from one pending before the undersigned. Petitioner alleges that they suffer from depression and other issues which render them fearful of attending school. However, petitioner has not sought to have them evaluated for special education services or filed a due process petitioner for the failure of the school to provide such services. Petitioner has one child that has been classified by the District as entitled to special education services. The issues related to that child have been be addressed in the separate due process proceeding.

The Commissioner's jurisdiction is limited to matters arising under school law and brought in accordance with such laws. The petitioner appears to be raising a claim under the Anti Bullying statute, but has failed to follow the procedural requirements for bringing such a claim. In the alternative, she alleges her children are experiencing issues which may render an evaluation under the IDEA appropriate. However, the process for such evaluations is through a request with the school, and an appeal to the Offices of Special Education Services. The petitioner has not alleged any legal or factual basis for an out of district placement for her children.

I therefore CONCLUDE that respondent is entitled to summary decision dismissing the petition.

ORDER

Accordingly, I hereby ORDER that respondent's motion to dismiss, or in the alternative for summary decision is GRANTED, and that the petition is hereby DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

The record of this matter, the proposed settlement agreement and general release, and the Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed. The tuition payment amount outlined in paragraph 4 of the Agreement is due within thirty (30) days after the execution of the Agreement by the parties. This date has preceded the consideration of the settlement by the Commissioner of Education. The parties are reminded that a settlement of litigation before the Commissioner is not binding until the Commissioner approves the settlement.

In light of the foregoing, the Commissioner adopts the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter, provided that the parties have already implemented the settlement terms, or have agreed upon a mutually satisfactory alternate date for the effectuation of the settlement payment. WHERAS, the Little Ferry Board of Education (hereinafter referred to as the "Little Ferry Board") is a kindergarten through 8th grade public school district that operates the Little Ferry School District (hereinafter referred to as the "Little Ferry District") (the Cresskill District and the Little Ferry District, collectively, the "Districts") which has offices located at 130 Liberty Street, Little Ferry, New Jersey 07643;

WHEREAS, M.O'K. and S.O'K. (hereinafter referred to as the "Parents") are the parents of A.O'K. and C.O'K. (hereinafter referred to as the "Children") (hereinafter collectively referred to as "Petitioners"); and

WHEREAS, on or about November 10, 2015, the Cresskill Board was notified that on October 26, 2015 the Interim Executive County Superintendent (hereinafter referred to as the "ECS") Nora Peck determined A.O'K. and C.O'K. are no longer homeless within the meaning set forth in State and federal law and that the Children were entitled to a tuition free education in the Little Ferry School District for the remainder of the 2015-2016 school year (hereinafter referred to as the "2015-2016 Homelessness Determination");

WHEREAS, on or about December 16, 2015, the Cresskill Board notified the Parents that the Superintendent intended to recommend to the Cresskill Board that A.O'K. and C'O.K. be disenrolled from the Cresskill District;

WHEREAS, on or about February 11, 2016, A.O'K. and C.O'K. and the Parents appealed the 2015-2016 Homelessness Determination to the Commissioner of Education;

WHEREAS, on February 22, 2016, the Cresskill Board voted to disenroll A.O'K. and C'O.K. from the District and provided notice to the Parents of same on or around February 29, 2016;

WHEREAS, the Cresskill Board has not been paid tuition for A.O'K. and C.O'K. for the 2015-2016 and 2016-2017 school years;

WHEREAS, the Cresskill Board, Little Ferry Board, and the Parents (collectively the "Parties") are desirous of resolving the issues related to A.O'K.'s and C.O'K.'s residency and the reimbursement of tuition, and have reached an amicable resolution thereby avoiding the time and expense associated with further litigation.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual promises and covenants set forth herein, the Parties agree as follows:

1. The children, A.O'K. and C.O'K., shall be permitted to attend school in the Cresskill District through December 31, 2016 without contribution towards their tuition from the Parents.

2. The Parents shall provide transportation to and from the District for A.O'K. and C.O'K. through December 31, 2016, without contribution or reimbursement from either the Cresskill Board or Little Ferry Board.

3. The Parents agree that A.O'K. and C.O'K. shall be disenrolled from the Cresskill District without any further due process or action by the Board on January 1, 2017, unless the Parents and A.O'K. and C.O'K. have found permanent housing in the Cresskill District by this date and submit proof of residency in accordance with Board Policy and Regulation 5111, Eligibility of Resident/Non Resident Students, in which case, A.O'K. and C.O'K. may remain enrolled in the Cresskill District. Following January 1, 2017, A.O'K. and C.O'K. will be enrolled in the district where they reside, or where they may be eligible to attend school under the McKinney-Vento Homelessness Assistance Act, 43 U.S.C. 11301 et seq., and New Jersey's statutes and regulations, or they shall be home schooled pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-25. The Parents will be permitted to re-enroll A.O'K. and C.O'K. in Cresskill District at any time in the future if the Parents and A.O'K. and C.O'K. are able to obtain permanent housing in the Cresskill District and provide proof of residency in accordance with Cresskill Board Policy and Regulation 5111, Eligibility of Resident/Non Resident Students.

4. The Little Ferry Board shall remit to the Cresskill Board the sum of Eleven Thousand Seven Hundred and Eight Dollars and Sixty Cents ($11,708.60) within thirty (30) days of execution of this Settlement Agreement and Release by all Parties in full satisfaction of the tuition owed for the Children for the 2015-2016 school year and through December 31, 2016 of the 2016-2017 school years.

5. Subject to the terms of this Agreement, the Parties hereby mutually release and discharge each other from all claims, demands, actions, judgments, damages, liabilities and executions of any kind whatsoever, in law or equity, administrative proceedings and judicial and quasi-judicial proceedings, that were or could have been brought through the date of this Agreement, except that the Cresskill Board shall retain all rights with regard to the tuition owed by the Little Ferry Board to the Cresskill Board for the 2013-2014 and 2014-2015 school years in the amount of One Hundred and One Thousand Six Hundred and Forty Nine Dollars ($101,649). It is also expressly understood, however, that any Party may bring an action to enforce the terms of the within Agreement.

6. The Parents' signatures on this Agreement shall serve as their request to withdraw with prejudice the appeal of the 2015-2016 Homelessness Determination. Any Party may submit a fully executed copy of this Agreement, together with resolutions from the Cresskill Board and Little Ferry Board approving this Agreement, to the Commissioner of Education as notification in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.13 that the Parents withdraw with prejudice their appeal of the 2015-2016 Homelessness Determination.

7. It is further understood and agreed that all Parties shall bear their own attorneys' fees and costs in connection with this matter, except that in the event an action is brought to enforce this Agreement, the prevailing Party in the enforcement action shall be entitled to attorneys' fees and costs in connection therewith.

8. The terms of this Agreement represent the compromise of disputed claims between the Parties. This Agreement shall not constitute, be interpreted, construed, or used as evidence of any admission of fact, law, responsibility, or liability on the part of any Party.

9. This Agreement shall be construed and enforced in accordance with the laws of the State of New Jersey.

10. The undersigned represent that they have the requisite authority to sign this Agreement on behalf of the respective Party.

11. The Parties may execute this Agreement in counterparts, each of which is deemed an original and all of which only constitute one original.

12. This Agreement constitutes the entire understanding of the Parties hereto and shall supersede any prior agreements between the Parties with respect to its subject matter. Further, there are no representations, warranties, covenants or undertakings other than those expressly set forth herein. The Parties acknowledge and agree that they are not relying upon any oral statements, representations, promises, or expectations which are not expressly and explicitly set forth in this Agreement, which alone fully and completely expresses all agreements between the Parties.

13. The terms of this Agreement shall remain strictly confidential and shall not be divulged to any third party, except the Parties' attorneys and/or accountants/auditors unless such disclosure is required under applicable law and/or legal process. In response to any direct inquiry about the outcome of the above-described action, the Parties shall indicate only that the matter has been concluded. In the event that the terms of this provision are violated, the non-breaching party may take all reasonable measures (including, but not limited to, court proceedings) to restrain the prohibited or unauthorized disclosure of said information. Any and all costs incurred in connection with such proceedings, including, but not limited to, reasonable attorneys' fees, shall be charged to the breaching party.

14. The terms and conditions set forth herein shall be deemed severable. If any clause or provision contained herein shall be held unenforceable by a court of competent jurisdiction, it shall not affect the validity of any other clause or provision, all of which shall continue in full force and effect.

15. The Parties recognize that each had the opportunity to be represented by legal counsel if they so choose, that they sign this within Agreement as their own voluntary act and deed, and that they understand the duties and obligations enumerated herein. The Parties further state that if represented by counsel they are fully satisfied with the legal representation provided.

THE CENTER FOR EDUCATION,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
STATE OF NEW JERSEY, DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner – the Center for Education (Center) – alleged that the respondent New Jersey Department of Education (NJDOE) acted in a biased and arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable manner when the Office of Special Education Programs (OSEP) denied the petitioner's 2014 application to become an Approved Private School for Students with Disabilities (APSSD). Petitioner further contended that the NJDOE conducted an improper investigation in connection with the Center's application for approval. Respondent asserted that the denial of the Center's application was pursuant to regulatory requirements and proper under the circumstances. Respondent further contended that the matter became moot when the Center's application was advanced from Phase II to Phase III in March 2015; the Center received preliminary approval in May 2015.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: the matter was not moot because the issue was capable of repetition and of substantial importance to the public; and the OSEP's investigation was a sham, and its conclusion was contrary to the facts before it. The ALJ concluded that while the NJDOE's conduct did not demonstrate bias, NJDOE did act in an arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable manner when it improperly denied the Center's 2014 application "based on information it knew was incorrect." The ALJ ordered that the matter be concluded "in accordance with the findings set forth" in the Initial Decision.

Upon a comprehensive review, the Commissioner rejected the Initial Decision, finding that the matter became moot when the Center's application was advanced in March 2015, and then granted preliminary approval in May 2015. In so deciding, the Commissioner found that the ALJ either failed to understand or disregarded the governing regulations with respect to the facts in the matter and the standard for mootness.

THE CENTER FOR EDUCATION,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
STATE OF NEW JERSEY, DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law ("OAL") have been reviewed, as have the exceptions filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 by the respondent, and the petitioner's reply thereto. In this matter, petitioner alleges that the New Jersey Department of Education ("NJDOE") acted in an arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable manner when the Office of Special Education Programs ("OSEP") denied the Center for Education's ("Center") application to establish itself as an Approved Private School for Students with Disabilities ("APSSD") on the basis that the Center did not demonstrate a need for the school.[1] Petitioner further contends that the NJDOE acted in a biased manner, and conducted an improper investigation in connection with the Center's application for approval. Respondent argues that the NJDOE did not act in an arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable, or [1] For clarity and accuracy, this decision will only refer to the Center for Education as "Center," and the Special Children's Center will be referred to as "SCC." A review of the record reveals that the Initial Decision and several submissions by petitioner use "Special Children's Center" and "Center for Education" interchangeably. The Center and SCC cannot be considered the same entity with regard to the subject matter of this litigation: SCC is described as a non-profit organization located in Lakewood, New Jersey and Brooklyn, New York, providing various services to children and adults with disabilities; it is not an APSSD, nor is SCC seeking such status in this litigation. Notably, the Lakewood School District ("Lakewood" or "District") has an ongoing relationship with SCC that is separate from the Center, which includes a services agreement entered into in August 2012, to provide services to the District's children with special needs at SCC's "Day Care Center." The Center for Education, which is not the "Day Care Center" and is referred to as a division of SCC in various documents submitted by petitioner, is a for-profit school for young children with disabilities, and is the only entity in this litigation seeking to establish itself as an APSSD. Therefore, referring to the two entities as the same is incorrect.

biased manner because the denial of the application was pursuant to the regulatory requirements, and proper under the circumstances. Respondent further contends that the matter became moot when the Center's application was advanced to Phase III in March 2015, after the NJDOE received documentation demonstrating sufficient need, which rendered the Center eligible for APSSD status.[2]

The ALJ found that the matter was not moot because the issue was capable of repetition and of substantial importance to the public. The ALJ explained:

> The approval given in the matter was a preliminary approval only good for two years and the petitioner will have to continue substantiating a daily enrollment of at least twenty-four students. During this process they may well be faced with again dealing with the issue of being denied continued approval based on unknown or known incorrect information relied upon by the DOE and is therefore subject to repetition. In addition, this issue is of substantial important because of the waste of judicial resources, the expense in filing and prosecuting this appeal, and the substantial expenditure of resources in defending the indefensible on the part of the DOE after it knew it had relied on incorrect information. Furthermore this matter I find to be of substantial importance also for the reason that it hopefully will affect public policy by henceforth having applications under OSEP's review be treated fairly, openly, honestly and efficiently in the application process. (Initial Decision at 5)

The ALJ further found that OSEP's "investigation was a sham, and its conclusion was contrary to the facts before it." The ALJ concluded that while the NJDOE's conduct did not demonstrate bias, the NJDOE did act in an arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable manner when it denied the Center's application. (Id. at 6)

Respondent takes exception to the ALJ's finding that the matter is not moot and that the NJDOE acted in an arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable manner. Respondent argues that: the ALJ erred when he determined that this matter was not moot after the Center was advanced from Phase II to Phase III and received preliminary approval; the ALJ erred when he conducted a hearing in this matter and denied the NJDOE's motion to dismiss the matter as moot – filed in March 2015 – during the May 8, 2015 hearing; the ALJ erred when he found that the NJDOE acted in an arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable manner in denying the Center's application at Phase II; and the ALJ erred in entering summary decision in favor of the Center.[3] Respondent maintains the matter is moot because there is no existing controversy, and the issue involved is not a matter of substantial importance to the public that is capable of repetition yet evading review. Respondent further contends that the NJDOE's denial of the Center's application in Phase II was appropriate and reasonable because information provided to OSEP by way of the needs assessment survey did not satisfy the regulatory requirement of "sufficient need."[4] Respondent submits that OSEP's investigation of the matter and reliance on the local school district were also appropriate and reasonable.[5]

[2] The needs assessment survey submitted by Lakewood in March 2015, in support of the Center's application for APSSD, reflected that more that twenty-four students from the District would likely be placed at the Center.

Petitioner has filed a reply to respondent's exceptions, arguing that the ALJ correctly determined that the matter was not moot and that OSEP's investigation was a sham. Petitioner repeats the following arguments in its submission: 1) NJDOE employees were "well aware" that there were more than twenty-four students from Lakewood who would be enrolled at the Center based on information available to the NJDOE from the Center, documents that the NJDOE had access to from other offices and employees within the Department, and informal exchanges between OSEP and other NJDOE employees. The NJDOE "chose to ignore" all the

[3] Although the Initial Decision does not explicitly dispose of the motion and cross-motion filed by the petitioner and respondent, respectively, after the hearing in this matter, the pleadings are referenced in the Initial Decision and it can be inferred that determination of the pending motions were incorporated into the ALJ's recommendation to the Commissioner.

[4] "The applicant shall . . . document the need for a minimum of 24 public school placement students in order to be approved by the Commissioner." See N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-18.3(b)(1).

[5] N.J.A.C. 6A:14-7.2(a)(2) provides in relevant part: "A survey of need indicating the number, age range, types of students with disabilities to be served by the proposed programs/services and the reasons these students cannot be served in the resident district, supported by documentation from local public school districts. Documentation of local school districts surveyed shall be included."

"independent" information and engaged in "deviant behaviors"; 2) OSEP conducted a "sham investigation" as it relied on information from Lakewood employees, even though OSEP employees were "warned" of a Lakewood employee's alleged bias against the Center.[6] OSEP improperly interviewed the Superintendent of Schools and the Director of Special Services when it should have contacted the Center or the Lakewood employee who executed the needs assessment survey; 3) The matter is not moot because it is capable of repetition yet evading review, since the law cannot "sanction such 'sham' investigations of the facts," and because in this matter the NJDOE "deviated from its normal procedures and the Code, albeit, failing to allow truthful and accurate correction, not to mention inquiring of individuals who had known 'agendas' and/or no knowledge and/or information." (Petitioner's Exceptions at 10-11, emphasis in original) Additionally, petitioner asserts that the NJDOE has already repeated this conduct, citing a case wherein OSEP employees "direct[ed]" Lakewood to remove students from SCC and "wreaked havoc with tons of classified public school children's lives."[7] (Id. at 12) Finally, petitioner reiterates its position that this matter should be independently reviewed by another entity other than the Commissioner because the NJDOE is a party to this matter.[8] (Id. at 13)

[6] Petitioner inappropriately introduces a tenure matter relating to one of the Lakewood employees, interviewed by OSEP during its investigation process, to establish that the Lakewood employee was not credible and had "her own agenda towards the Application," and that the NJDOE was aware of this "fact." Petitioner's assertions are unsubstantiated because there is neither any proof nor has there been a finding of "agenda" or "bias" against the Center and its application from the Lakewood employee with regard to this matter. Moreover, the Lakewood employee is not a party to this matter, and the facts in this matter are unrelated to the tenure charges.

[7] Petitioner, again, introduces a case where the facts and issues are unrelated and does not support its argument that the issue in this matter is capable of repetition. Petitioner refers to J.N. and F.N. o/b/o E.N., et al., v. Lakewood Twp. Bd. of Educ., OAL Dkt. No. EDS 13659-14, (August 24, 2016), to suggest that the issue in that litigation – revision of children's IEPs to change their placement from SCC to another school – is the same as the NJDOE's initial denial of the Center's application for failure to establish sufficient need. It is undeniable that the placement considerations raised in J.N., and the parents' objections to removal of their children from SCC had nothing to do with the Center's application to become an APSSD. Based on the evidence in the record, it also bears noting that the Lakewood students enrolled in SCC have no effect on the Center's student enrollment because the SCC students do not automatically transition from SCC to the Center's program – placement is based on the students' Individualized Education Program as determined by the Lakewood Child Study Team.

[8] N.J.S.A. 18A:9-1 provides in relevant part, "[t]he commissioner shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine, without cost to the parties, all controversies and disputes arising under the school laws, excepting those governing

Upon a comprehensive review of the record, the Commissioner rejects the ALJ's decision. Specifically, the Commissioner finds that the matter became moot when the Center's application was advanced from Phase II to Phase III in March 2015, and there was no remaining dispute or controversy once the Center was granted preliminary approval in May 2015. It appears that in deciding the mootness issue, the ALJ either failed to understand, or disregarded, the governing regulations with respect to the facts in this matter and the standard for mootness.

It is well-settled that a matter is moot when it no longer presents a justiciable controversy, and the determination sought, when rendered, cannot have a practical effect on the existing controversy. See Oxfeld v. New Jersey State Board of Education, 68 N.J. 301 (1975). Moot cases may, nevertheless, be adjudicated when the issues raised are of substantial importance to the public and are capable of repetition yet evade review. See In re J.I.S. Industrial Service Co. Landfill, 110 N.J. 101 (1988). The ALJ found that the issue at hand is capable of repetition because the Center's approval was "a preliminary approval only good for two years and petitioner will have to continue to substantiate a daily enrollment of at least twenty-four students."[9] Essentially, the ALJ suggests that the issue at hand – NJDOE's denial of preliminary approval – is capable of repetition two years from now because the Center (just like all other preliminarily approved schools in its position) has to provide evidence of compliance with the regulatory requirements in order to attain approval as a "new school" and maintain its APSSD status.

higher education, or under the rules of the State board or of the commissioner." The State Legislature has provided the Commissioner with jurisdiction to hear and determine all controversies and disputes relating to the school laws of the State except in limited circumstances. The subject matter of this litigation does not fall within one of the narrow exceptions enumerated in the statute. Additionally, the Legislature has not made an exception for situations where the NJDOE is a party to the case.

[9] N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-18.3(c)(1)-(i) provides: The school shall receive preliminary approval to operate for a two year period, after which the school shall provide documentation that the school has a minimum ADE of 24 public school placement students by the end of the second school year . . . . A school meeting the minimum ADE of 24 public school placement students by the end of the second school year shall receive new school approval.

First, the preliminary approval stage and the new school approval stage are two separate phases of the approval process. Preliminary approval requires corroboration from the local school district: a needs assessment survey is to be conducted at the local school district level to substantiate "sufficient need." Once the applicant has received preliminary approval, the local school district is no longer involved.[10] Second, at the end of the two years, the applicant school needs to meet the minimum average daily enrollment (ADE) of twenty-four public school placement students so that it may receive approval as a "new school."[11] In other words, the Center (just like other APSSDs in its position) needs to satisfy the minimal requirements of the regulation and the onus remains exclusively on the Center to provide proper information and data from its records to the NJ DOE to prove that it continues to qualify as an APSSD. Additionally, if a dispute arises regarding the Center's approval, there is a mechanism through which the Center may appeal the determination. As such, the issue raised in this litigation relating to the NJDOE's denial of the Center's preliminary approval is not capable of repetition yet evading review.

Similarly, this matter does not meet the criteria of substantial importance to the public. The ALJ's finding – that the issue is of substantial importance because of "the waste of judicial resources, the expense in filing and prosecuting this appeal, and the substantial expenditure of resources in defending the indefensible on the part of the DOE. . . ", and because it "hopefully will affect public policy by henceforth having applicants under OSEP's review be treated fairly, openly, honestly and efficiently in the application process" is unsubstantiated and unpersuasive. Matters of substantial importance are issues that relate to the welfare of the general public or issues that could arise in the public context where the general public may be a collective stakeholder. An individual's or entity's personal interests cannot be substituted for matters that are of substantial importance to the public. Furthermore, the "waste of judicial resources" and "substantial expenditure of resources" were certainly not a result of the nature of this issue (denial of preliminary approval pursuant to State regulations); thus, such bases cannot be utilized to justify a finding of "substantial importance."[12] The Commissioner, therefore, finds that this matter became moot in March 2015, when the Center received preliminary approval from the NJDOE, and no justiciable controversy exists that is of substantial importance and capable of repetition yet evading review.

[10] This should also resolve the ALJ's concern that "[d]uring this process they [the Center] may well be faced with again dealing with the issue of being denied continued approval based on unknown or known incorrect information relied upon by the DOE. . . ." (emphasis added), because any information provided to the NJDOE would be coming directly from the Center.

[11] N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-18.1 defines "average daily enrollment" as follows: the sum of the days present and absent of all school students enrolled in the register(s) of the school divided by the number of days the approved private school for students with disabilities was actually in session for the entire school year rounded to the nearest four decimal places, except in no event shall the divisor be less than 180 days (emphasis added).

The Commissioner also finds that the ALJ's determination that the NJDOE acted in an arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable manner when OSEP conducted an investigation and denied the Center's application, was incorrect. Specifically, the Commissioner finds that the ALJ inappropriately applied the requirements of the governing regulations when he determined that the NJDOE's actions were arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable. The ALJ's finding that the NJDOE was arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable does not require significant discussion, as the matter has been rendered moot. Notwithstanding, the Commissioner has considered the merits and finds that OSEP followed the mandate of the regulation when it denied the Center's application for failure to demonstrate "sufficient need."[13] Once documentation was submitted [12] The ALJ's decision to proceed to hearing when the matter was moot – despite having the opportunity to dispose of the case prior to the hearing – was improper, extraneous, and the true waste of judicial resources. There is also no evidence in the record that either the Center or any other applicant has been treated unfairly, dishonestly or inefficiently by the NJDOE with regard to the approval process.

[13] The needs assessment survey submitted by Lakewood listed less than twenty-four students, which is the minimum requirement. See N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-18.3(b)(1).

establishing sufficient need, OSEP approved the application within the regulatory timeframe.[14] Since OSEP's investigative efforts in this matter exceeded the scope of the governing regulations, the Commissioner will not address the merits of the investigation in detail either. The Commissioner finds, however, that OSEP appropriately relied on representations made by Lakewood and information provided by its employees because "sufficient need" must be supported by documentation from the local school district, not the applicant or any other independent source. See N.J.A.C. 6A:14-7.2; N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-18.3. Seeking alternative confirmation of "sufficient need" – as petitioner and the ALJ have proposed – when the regulations are unambiguous, would constitute a deviation from the regulations. In this regard, OSEP undertook an unnecessary yet considerate project when it conducted its investigation, as the plain language of the regulations do not require such efforts. OSEP could have simply denied the application without engaging in an investigation, solely based on the contents of the needs assessment survey, because it did not reflect sufficient need as defined under N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-18.3. Instead of denying the application outright, OSEP appears to have provided the Center a second chance by investigating the matter and seeking to reconcile any discrepancy between the Center's representations in its application and the information on Lakewood's needs assessment survey in support of the Center's application.

The regulations are clear: it is the applicant's responsibility to ensure submission of all required information pursuant to the provisions of N.J.A.C. 6A:14-7.2 and N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-18.3; the applicant must provide evidence of sufficient need (corroboration from the local school district); if the applicant follows the procedures and meets the requirements, it advances through the application process; if the applicant does not ensure provision of proper evidence and information, the applicant does not obtain approval. Following the regulations and acting in accordance with its provisions is the antithesis of arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable. Remarkably, the suggestions made by the ALJ in the Initial Decision and by the petitioner in its exceptions would result in OSEP circumventing the regulatory process, which could be deemed arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable.[15] Accordingly, the recommended decision of the ALJ is rejected, and the petition is hereby dismissed as moot.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[16]

THE CENTER FOR EDUCATION,

v.
STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION,

Record Closed: October 11, 2016 Decided: November 17, 2016

BEFORE JOHN SCHUSTER III, ALJ:

In this matter petitioner, the Center for Education t/a Special Children's Center (SCC), brings a Notice of Motion, filed September 20, 2016 requesting the relief by way of a finding that respondent, State of New Jersey, Department of Education (DOE) acted in a biased and arbitrary manner in not granting petitioner's 2014 application to become an approved private school for students with disabilities. DOE filed a Cross Motion on October 11, 2016 seeking an order dismissing the petition as moot or in the alternative moving for summary decision as no material facts are in dispute.

FINDINGS OF FACT AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The DOE is authorized to approve institutions of learning to provide programs for students with disabilities upon proof that certain criteria are met. N.J.A.C. 6A:14-7.1 et als. Among the criteria is the demonstration of need from local public school districts. Need is met upon a showing that a minimum of twenty-one public school students attend the school. N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-18.3. Petitioner filed an application seeking approval in April 2014. Phase I of the application process was met by May 6, 2014 leaving only a sufficient determination of need. On or about June 30, 2014 the Lakewood School District submitted Attachment C, Local School Districts' Assessment Survey Response Form (P-1) to the DOE as part of petitioner's application process. The document was signed by Laura Winters, the Superintendent of Schools and Eli Freund, the District's Supervisor of Child Study Teams and listed by initials twenty-one students who were currently at petitioner's facility and would continue in the 2014–2015 school year. This contradicted petitioner's application which informed DOE "The Special Children's Center Preschool (Center) currently educates thirty-eight preschool children with disabilities from the Lakewood Public Schools (Lakewood)." Presumably to resolve this disparity the DOE Commissioner's Office dispatched John Worthington, the Manager of Policy and Planning, to investigate this issue.

Instead of checking with the DOE's county office which is supposed to have a record of all out-of-district placements, a meeting was arranged with the Lakewood District. Mr. Worthington directed Dr. Dolores Walther, the Acting Coordinator of Dispute Resolutions and Coordinator of Complaint Investigations, to accompany him to that meeting. Her purpose was to listen, take notes, and ask follow-up questions if relevant. Lakewood District was represented at that meeting by Superintendent of Schools, Laura Winters and Helen Tobia, the Director of Special Services. Ms. Winters signed the assessment along with Eli Freund, the Supervisor of Child Study Teams. Ms. Tobia was not a signatory. Mr. Worthington asked at that meeting if any names were missing or were the twenty-one individuals listed accurate, and whether there was any reason to reconsider the document. Ms. Winters stated she did not prepare the list of twenty-one students on attachment C (P-1) as that was done by the District's attorney Mr. Zitomer and given to her for signature. She stated she did not know anything about the particular students at petitioner's facility and signed it assuming its accuracy. Ms. Tobia however believed that the twenty-one students were an inaccurate number as five or six of them were no longer attending the Special Children's Center. That brought the number from twenty-one down to fifteen or sixteen students. Either Mr. Worthington or Dr. Walther asked to see the IEPs for the children at SCC but only ten IEPs could be produced. The IEPs revealed that some of the students were in an inclusion class with supports or in a preschool disabled class. As a result of that meeting the discrepancy of what the District reported as opposed to what the petitioner reported increased instead of what was expected that being that additional students at SCC would be identified. Mr. Worthington's investigation seemed to end at that point. A reasonable effort could have been made to contact Mr. Freund who signed the document and inquire as to him how many students he could verify were at SCC and were going to continue in the 2014–2015 school year or SCC could have been contacted directly and/or visited to physically see the students in attendance and/or review their records to determine the accuracy of the thirty-eight or thirty-nine students that they claimed to be in attendance. This did not happen. And one must questions the gross inefficiency in which this investigation took place. In addition, in the early part of August 2014 Dr. Walther informed Mr. Worthington that she was aware at that time that there were at least thirty-one preschool disabled students attending SCC. Mr. Worthington acknowledged receiving that information. In spite of the DOE having that information a denial letter was sent to SCC on August 25, 2014 by Susan Martz the Assistant Commissioner denying the 2014 application for approval based on the needs assessment surveys submitted to OSEP did not reflect the minimum of twenty-four potential student placements at SCC. DOE has not explained why they did not review their own county office's records, did not question Mr. Freund, did not physically count the number of children from Lakewood at SCC or did not examine the student records and IEP's in SCC's files as the later would have given Mr. Worthington an accurate number upon which the DOE could make a supportable determination of need. While one could argue an incomplete investigation is simply inefficient and/or negligent work one must conclude capriciousness in the denial of August 25, 2014 when the DOE knew directly from Dr. Walther that there were at least thirty-one students attending the Special Children's Center.

As a result of that denial a petition was filed by SCC on September 24, 2014 seeking further review of the needs assessment, to complete the review of SCC's application based on the needs assessment review and for a finding that DOE acted in a biased and arbitrary fashion. The answer was filed by DOE on November 4, 2014. The Lakewood BOE was permitted to intervene on February 10, 2015. In furtherance of a motion, on or about February 9, 2015, Mr. Eli Freund submitted an affidavit as the Supervisor of Special Services for the Lakewood Board of Education indicating that SCC educates thirty-eight Lakewood students, thirty-four of which are preschool disabled. In spite of now learning from the signatory on the original needs assessment that there were thirty-four preschool disabled students at SCC the litigation continued and testimony of Dr. Walther and Mr. Worthington was taken on May 5, 2015. The litigation terminated on May 28, 2015 when DOE advised petitioner that they were preliminarily approved for the 2015–2016 and 2016–2017 school years for four classes for preschool disabled students and one class for multiply disabled students. That notice also provided that this preliminary approval could be revoked if SCC did not provide documentation of a minimum average daily enrollment of twenty-four public school students.

Ms. Walter testified during the hearing of May 8, 2015 that all the children on P-1 were confirmed to have IEPs at SCC in the preschool disabled self-contained program in the 2014–2015 school year. She was also shown during that hearing eighteen additional IEPs for children at SCC which brought the number at that time to thirty-nine students attending the preschool disabled program.

LEGAL ARGUMENT

Respondent argues that because preliminary approval to operate was granted to petitioner effective July 1, 2015 this matter should be dismissed as moot. "An action is considered moot when it no longer presents a justiciable controversy because the issues involved have become academic. A case is moot when a determination is sought on a matter which, when rendered, cannot have any practical effect on the existing controversy." Victoria v. Board of Educ. of Woodbridge, 1982 S.L.D. 1, 5. However courts will hear moot cases nevertheless when the issues they raise are of substantial importance and are capable of repetition yet evade review. In re J.I.S. Indus. Serv. Co. Landfill, 110 N.J. 101 (1988); See also Handabaka v. Div. of Consumer Affairs, 167 N.J. Super. 12, 14 (App. Div. 1979). In this matter SCC's license to operate is always subject to the scrutiny of the DOE. The approval given in this matter was a preliminary approval only good for two years and the petitioner will have to continue substantiating a daily enrollment of at least twenty-four students. During this process they may well be faced with again dealing with the issue of being denied continued approval based on unknown or known incorrect information relied upon by the DOE and is therefore subject to repetition. In addition this issue is of substantial importance because of the waste of judicial resources, the expense in filing and prosecuting this appeal, and the substantial expenditure of resources in defending the indefensible on the part of the DOE after it knew it had relied on incorrect information. Furthermore this matter I find to be of substantial importance also for the reason that it hopefully will affect public policy by henceforth having applicants under OSEP's review be treated fairly, openly, honestly and efficiently in the application process. For those reasons I CONCLUDE that this matter is not moot but the issues raised are of substantial importance and are capable of repetition.

As to petitioner's demand for a finding that DOE operated in a biased and arbitrary fashion I do not find that any bias has been demonstrated on the part of respondent. I cannot find however that it did not act arbitrarily, capriciously, or unreasonably. In fact I find it operated in all three of those manners. Its investigation was a sham, and its conclusion was contrary to the facts before it. While I cannot find any fault with Assistant Commissioner Martz because there have been no facts submitted that she was aware of the knowledge and actions of Mr. Worthington, that does not excuse the conduct of the DOE.

CONCLUSION

For the reasons set forth above I CONCLUDE that the DOE acted in an arbitrary fashion when it incorrectly decided the issue of Phase II based on information it knew was incorrect. And I hereby ORDER that this matter be concluded in accordance with the findings set forth herein.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

This matter comes before me on tenure charges brought under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10, 6-11, 6-16, 6-17.1, 6-17.2 AND N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.1 by Petitioner State-Operated School District of the City of Newark (the "District) against Respondent Ursula Whitehurst. The tenure charges at issue here were filed with the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes on September 29, 2016. I was appointed the arbitrator to adjudicate this matter on October 27, 2016.

In this proceeding, I heard testimony from 9 witnesses over 8 days. The District presented the testimony of Principal John Weinstein, VPs Lori Ween and Curtis Adair from Bard Early College High School (Bard), and Principal Larry Ramkissoon, VP Henry Ogele, and Edith Battle, a veteran teacher and "Academic Interventionist," all from Westside High School (Westside), and Brad Haggerty, the District's Chief Academic Officer, and Homere Breton from the office of the District's General Counsel as well as two large binders containing a total of 66 exhibits. The Respondent testified in her own behalf and placed in evidence a single large binder with 64 exhibits. All witnesses were sworn and their testimony was recorded by a court reporter. The parties submitted post-hearing briefs on Monday, March 20, 2017, and the District requested and was granted leave to file a responsive brief by Thursday, March 13, 2017. No objection has been made to the fairness of this proceeding.

TENURE CHARGES

CHARGE ONE: INEFFICIENCY

During the period from September 2013 to the present, Respondent has demonstrated an inability to completely and responsibly execute her duties as a teacher in the following manner:

a. The Respondent has failed to implement curricular goals and objective(s).
b. The Respondent has failed to design coherent instruction.
c. The Respondent has failed to assess student learning.
d. The Respondent has failed to create an environment of respect and rapport.
e. The Respondent has failed to manage student behavior.
f. The Respondent has failed to manage classroom procedures.
g. The Respondent has failed to establish a culture of learning.
h. The Respondent has failed to communicate clearly and accurately.
i. The Respondent has failed to use questioning and discussion techniques with flexibility and responsiveness.
j. The Respondent has failed to engage students in learning.
k. The Respondent has failed to provide feedback to students.
l. The Respondent has failed to attain student achievement that meets or exceeds performance benchmarks.
m. The Respondent has failed to reflect on teaching.
n. The Respondent has failed to contribute to the School and District

o. The Respondent has failed to grow and develop professionally
p. The Respondent has failed to demonstrate promptness and attendance.
q. The Respondent has received a Partially Effective Rating for the 2013-2014 School Year in an Annual Summative Evaluation.
r. The Respondent has received a Partially Effective Rating for the 2014-2015 School Year in an Annual Summative Evaluation.
s. The Respondent has received a Partially Effective Rating for the 2015-2016School Year in an Annual Summative Evaluation.

CHARGE TWO: AND OTHER JUST CAUSE

1. The District restates the allegations contained in Charge One and re-alleges and incorporates them by reference as if fully set forth at length herein.
2. The Respondent has failed to properly adhere to the District's protocol for overseeing students and improving her teaching skills.
3. The Respondent has consistently failed to follow instructions and violated the District's policies and procedures.
4. The cumulative effect of Respondent's misconduct and inefficiency as set forth above constitutes other sufficient cause sufficient to warrant dismissal.

WHEREFORE, Respondent has shown that she is unfit to discharge the duties and functions of the position in which she holds tenure in the School District, and she should be dismissed.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Respondent is a tenured teacher of mathematics. She has been employed in that capacity in the District since September 1990. She holds certificates in elementary education and secondary mathematics. During her teaching years, she taught middle school math to 8th graders at Lewis Munoz Marin for 6 years; and high school mathematics at University High School for 4 years, Barringer High School for 10 years and Malcolm X/Shabazz for 2-3 years. She was released from Shabazz High School, because the school was eliminating staff positions. Starting the next year, 2011-2012, Respondent became EWPS (educator without placement site). For the 2012-13 she was placed at Westside High School. For the 2013-14 school year, Respondent remained EWPS and was assigned to Bard

Early College High School (Bard). At the end of that year, she was served with tenure charges for the preceding two years and temporarily suspended from teaching. Those charges were dismissed, and in the middle of the 2014-2015 school year she was returned to Bard, again as EWPS.[1] For the 2014-2015 school year, Respondent was assigned to a position teaching mathematics at Westside High School (Westside). The present tenure charges were served upon Respondent after the end of the 2015-2016 school year.

The District has adopted guidelines for teachers and administrators to be followed in evaluating teachers and improving instruction for Newark's students in compliance with the mandates of New Jersey education law, TEACH NJ. The guidelines for the years at issue are embodied in the Framework for Effective Teaching ("Framework"). (D. 50, 51, 53) This document is regularly updated and administrators receive training on it each August and throughout the school year. (See, e.g., Tr. 29-30) Administrators are required to review expectations with faculty as well. (Tr. 30) The document identifies four teaching "competencies" and multiple indicators within each competency. The competencies are: (1) Lesson sequence; (2) Rigor and inclusiveness; (3) Culture of achievement; and (4) Demonstration of Learning. A fifth competency, "Commitment to Personal and Collective Excellence" gets reviewed in the mid-year and year-end summary evaluations. Under the Framework, administrators must observe teachers at least three times each year, and at least four times for teachers who are under a Corrective Action Plan (CAP). The Framework specifies not only the number of such observations, but the length of the observations, and that they should be a mix of long, short, announced and unannounced. The current set of charges are based upon administration's conclusion at the end of the 2015-2016 school year that Respondent had been repeatedly evaluated as only "partially effective and "failed to demonstrate adequate growth" within the Framework, even after receiving assistance through one-on-one coaching and participation in: Professional Learning Communities (PLC), school-wide professional development, and the school's improvement panel (SIP). (D. 1)

[1] The District refiled its tenure charges for the 2012-13 and 2013-14 school years under Section 8; those charges are stayed pending the outcome of an appeal in the Appellate Division about the reassignment of the charges to the same Arbitrator who heard the original case.

Specifically, the present tenure charges (Charge I) are based upon Respondent's teaching performance during three academic years, when she was assigned to two schools: Bard for the 2013-2014 and 2014-2015 years and Westside for the 2015-2016 year. The remaining tenure charges (Charge II) are based on "other" conduct during the same years.

2013-2014. Bard High School Early College. Respondent was notified on August 26, 2013 that she was assigned to Bard, effective September 3, 2013 as an "additional support staff member for the 2013-2014 school year." She arrived on the first day of school in time to attend the school's beginning-of-the-year faculty meetings. (Tr. 1088) While at Bard, Respondent remained in EWPS status. (R. 58) For the fall semester of that year, Respondent did not have an assignment for the first approximately two weeks. (Tr. 1093-4) She was then assigned, not to be the teacher of record for any class, but to assist and support two teachers: Ms. Nagarsheth, who taught two 10th grade algebra and geometry classes, and Dr. Schnidman, who taught one physics class. Principal Weinstein (Tr. 607-8) and VP Ween (Tr. 690, 724-5) described the assignment with Ms.

Nagarsheth as "co-teaching." However, VP Ween was not sure that anyone at the school formally advised Respondent that she was team-teaching that fall. (Tr. 736) Respondent was not the teacher of record in PowerSchool, the District's computer database, and she had no access to PowerSchool; she had no student roster; she provided no lesson plans or assessment tests; and she administered no grades. (Tr. 1105) When either teacher was absent, she did not substitute-teach the class; rather a sub was brought in. (Tr. 1101-2)

Respondent testified that her duties, as described by Principal Weinstein, consisted of supporting both teachers in the classroom and working with students. (Tr. 1095) Each of the teachers "would tell me to help certain students when they were in groups or they had independent work, then I would circulate around the class giving students some support, students that needed some reassurance on what they were doing." (Tr. 1102) Respondent also sat in the library and tutored students, some of whom were in the classes she supported, as well as others who simply signed up for assistance. (Tr. 1099-1100) Principal Weinstein was aware of her tutoring activities, because his office was also in the library, and he saw her working with students (Id.), as did VP Ween (Tr. 728).

In the spring semester, Respondent was again assigned to support Ms. Nagarsheth teaching 10th grade students in algebra and geometry and Dr. Schnidman teaching physics, and she began supporting Dr. Beridze, who taught college algebra. She also attended district-wide Math Olympics meetings. Tr. 1107-114. Both Dr. Weinstein and Dr. Ween testified that Respondent taught 4 college algebra students and was the teacher of record. (Tr. 609; Tr. 703, 731-2, 748) However, Respondent testified that in the spring, just as in the fall, she had no roster of students, was not the teacher of record for anyone. (Tr. 114) Dr. Weinstein, in his letter recommending tenure charges, appears to agree with Respondent, because he describes her spring assignment as working with 6 students "within a larger class," only four of whom showed up. (D. 27, p. 416) One again, Respondent did not have access to PowerSchool to input grades. (Tr. 114) Dr. Ween testified that at some point Respondent did get access to PowerSchool, but could not say when that was. (Tr. 786-7) Dr. Beridze asked her to work particularly with four students, but for the most part she worked with them in Dr. Beridze's classroom. (Tr. 1112) In addition she worked with a particular student in Ms. Nagarsheth's class for one-on-one tutoring at least twice a week the whole semester. That student did pass the class. (Tr. 1109) As in the fall, Respondent did not substitute teach when the teachers she was supporting were absent. (Tr. 1117)

CAP. On October 15, 2013, Respondent met in the school library (Tr. 1121) with Dr. Dumaine Williams, one of the Vice Principals at Bard, and signed a Corrective Action Plan (CAP) (D. 31). The CAP contains no reference to any Student Growth Objectives (SGOs). Respondent testified:

- She did not prepare any part of the CAP (Tr. 1120, 1127);
- On its face, the CAP refers to a year-long "College Algebra" class (D. 31, p. 1), yet Respondent was never assigned to teach such a class; her only relationship to college algebra took place in the spring semester, when she supported Dr. Beridze, who assigned her to assist specific students. (Tr. 1163, 1112);

- The CAP was identical to the IPDPs that she worked on with other teachers in the math department (Tr. 1124, 1130);
- All of the text was drafted by the other two math teachers, based upon data provided from prior years (Tr. 1125, 1128-29);
- She never received coaching from any mentors or teachers, nor was she ever directed to observe a highly effective teacher (T. 1117-8).

Dr. Williams did not testify in this proceeding. Principal Weinstein testified:

- He does not know if Respondent wrote any part of her CAP (Tr. 835); some departments at BARD have written IPDPs and CAPs together – he does not know if that happened with the math department in 2013 (Tr. 835-7); he never met with Dr. Williams specifically about Respondent's CAP (Tr. 830); he believed that Respondent worked with Dr. Beridze on the CAP that year, even though she did not teach with Dr. Beridze until the spring (Tr. 812);
- He regarded a faculty meeting on September 20, 2013 that Respondent attended as her training on creating a CAP. (Tr. 611)
- The CAP, which was drawn up and signed in October 2013, refers only to College Algebra, but Respondent did not teach that subject until the spring; he reviewed the CAP before he performed an observation of Respondent on May 8, 2014 (Tr. 831);
- He believed that Dr. Williams had one coaching session with Respondent in the 2013-2014 school year (Tr. 821);

- He relied upon the goals contained in Respondent's CAP in his annual evaluation to rate her on Competency 4 (Student Growth) (Tr. 643); Respondent's submissions to him in terms of a portfolio of student material did not provide enough information to evaluate whether the students were achieving the goals he believed she had set (Tr. 644).

Observations and Evaluations. During the 2013-2014 school year, Respondent was observed 4 times; she received midyear and end of year evaluations.[2]

First, Long Observation by VP Lori Ween on a date in November 2013, shortly before Thanksgiving. (Tr. 689) No formal pre-observation meeting; Post-observation conference on December 23, 2013. (Tr. 757-8) Rating: Partially effective.

The lesson observed was a jeopardy-type math game. Dr. Ween approved the lesson in advance: since Respondent was not instructing students Dr. Ween told her, "Okay, I'll observe you doing that [the game] because I have to observe you" (Tr. 1149). Respondent planned the game with the two math teachers she supported. (Tr.1144) VP Ween was critical of: (a) how long it took to get the game started; (b) Respondent was late to class, and Ms. Nagarsheth had to start the class; (c) the game included both physics and math questions which confused the students; (d) Respondent did not know some of the answers and was unable to help the students recognize when the answers were correct; (e) instruction was not differentiated; and (f) not all students participated. (D. 32, Tr. 690-694) On the plus side, the students enjoyed and were engaged by the game. (D. 32, p.1589) Respondent filed a response to this observation, explaining that it was standard practice for Ms. Nagarsheth to open class by reviewing homework; and the game had been planned to use some math-related physics questions, both to challenge the students and fulfill the need for interdisciplinary teaching. (D. 32, p. 1594)

[2] In his recommendation for tenure charges, Dr. Weinstein states that Respondent was observed three times formally, and, in addition, was informally observed in a coaching session by the VP of Culture and Climate. (D. 27, p. 415) I cannot verify his statement.

Mid-year Review by VP Ween, conference on February 14, 2014. Rating: partially effective. VP Ween testified that Respondent failed to submit a portfolio until after the deadline and it was incomplete, which affected Dr. Ween's ability to assess progress on CAP goals in the midyear review. (Tr. 697) VP Ween, quoting extensively from her long observation in the fall, was critical of Respondent's failures to show coherent planning or understanding growth of her students. Although Dr. Ween testified that she based the midyear on informal observations of Respondent in addition to the one formal observation of the Jeopardy lesson, she was unable to identify a single date or class that she had observed and she took no notes of any such informal observations. (Tr. 702-3, 53)

VP Ween also noted that Respondent's attendance and punctuality were a problem. (D. 32, p. 1575) Respondent testified that she was often tardy due to the special needs of a teenage child who lived with her. (Tr. 1157) Dr. Ween did not give a specific student growth objective score in her midyear examination of Respondent, testifying that it was not part of the review process. (Tr. 768)

Second, short observation, by VP Ween, signed on February 27, 2014. Unannounced. Rating: Effective.

VP Ween observed Respondent as she proctored an examination. She made no notations about evidence of strengths or growth. She does not remember how or why she chose to observe a proctoring session, although, as part of a teacher's duties, "it is up for evaluation." (Tr. 772) Respondent is the only teacher she has ever evaluated performing proctoring duties. Respondent testified that she was unaware she was being observed. VP Ween did not discuss the observation with her other than to inform her that it was rated "effective." (Tr. 1162-3)

Third, long Observation, by Principal Weinstein on May 8, 2014, signed May 23, 2014. (D. 39) Pre-observation conference May 7, 2014. (D. 39, p. 1519, Tr. 633-34) Rating: Partially effective.

This was an observation of Respondent teaching college algebra to the four students assigned to her for assistance. Principal Weinstein was critical of: (a) Respondent's unfamiliarity with some of her students' names; (b) the lesson could have been better connected to prior learning; (c) when students were confused, some of the adjustments she tried to make did not work; (d) not all of the students participated, indicating that some were not mastering the subject matter (Tr. 635-7); and she had the same lesson objective for three days in a row (D. 39, p. 1541).

Fourth, short observation, by VP Ween on May 12, 2014, unannounced, with the post-observation conference and signing on May 28, 2014. (D. 40) Rating: Partially effective.

VP Ween was critical of: (a) the pacing of the lesson; uneven participation by the students; not enough time for independent student work.

Annual Evaluation, by Principal Weinstein, conference with Respondent on May 14, 2014, signed May 23, 2014. Rating: Partially effective.

Principal Weinstein testified that he based the annual evaluation on "all of the observations that were done at that point." (Tr. 639)

Other issues. Bard's administration was concerned about aspects of Respondent's performance other than her teaching competence. Only two of those issues, however, resulted in any form of reprimand or memo to Respondent's file.

Attendance. In March, 2014, Respondent received a standard letter advising her that he had accumulated 5 absences. (D. 28) She received a second letter identified as a "Warning Letter" on June 3, 2014 advising her that she had by then accumulated 9 absences and that continued absenteeism could result in "further disciplinary action." (D. 41, p. 1494) The District took no further action. In his recommendation for tenure charges, Principal Weinstein mentioned Respondent's tardiness. (D. 27) However, there is no evidence that Respondent was warned or reprimanded during the year for tardiness.

Reprimands. VP Ween placed a letter in Respondent's file for improperly proctoring the ACT Explore exam on April 23, 2014 and speaking in a disrespectful way to her co-proctor. (D. 35) Dr. Weinstein placed another letter in her file for being AWOL on April 24, 2014 (D. 36, p 1557) , although Respondent in fact was attending a Math Olympics event on that day in the district. (Tr. 1166-7)

Tenure Charges. At the close of the 2013-2014 academic year, Bard notified District administration that Respondent had received a rating of partially effective for the year and recommended the filing of Tenure Charges. (D. 27) Those charges were in fact brought in August 2014. (R. 59)

2014-2015. Bard High School Early College. Because of pending tenure charges, Respondent was put on leave before the fall semester of 2014-2015. After those charges were dismissed,[3] Respondent was informed of her return assignment to Bard via email dated January 13, 2015. (R. 3) The administration of Bard was not initially notified that she had been reassigned and was surprised when she arrived at school. (Tr. 1246) Respondent sat in the library or in Dr. Morris' tenth grade geometry class until the start of the second semester (Tr. 1247), at which time she was assigned her own tenth grade geometry class. She was also assigned to assist Mr. Bonnett with his Algebra II class and she subbed for Dr. Silverman, a chemistry teacher. (Tr. 1249, 1253) That semester her supervisor was Dr. Adair, a new Vice Principal at Bard in charge of the math department. (Tr. 1255)

CAP. Bard administrators advised Respondent that she had to have a CAP for the 2014-2015 school year. On March 27, 2015, the day before spring break, VP Adair met with Respondent and presented her with a copy of a draft CAP that he had prepared. (D. 42, Tr. 1258, Tr. 1509) He prepared the draft because he had made more than one request of Respondent to draft the document, but "I was not getting the draft or getting the response" and "I wanted to make certain that I did not interfere with the process." (Tr. 1510) VP Adair believed "I was helping her in a process that was already uncomfortable for her." (Id.)

At the meeting, VP Adair asked her to review and modify the document. (Tr. 1261, TR. 1511) Respondent characterized the conversation as brief, perhaps five minutes long; there was no collaboration between them. (Tr. 1263-4) Respondent did write in one portion of the CAP after she returned from spring break (Tr. 1261), namely, the students' starting point that she obtained from their teacher in the fall semester. (D. 42, p. 1490, Tr. 1262) On May 5, 2015 Respondent met with VP Adair again. At that time he presented her with a version of the CAP that he subsequently claimed they had "drafted together;" he also claimed she had refused to sign the CAP. (R. 8) Respondent rejected that characterization of how the document had been developed, but said in an email that she was "open to a discussion resolving this matter." (Id., Tr. 1278) Respondent also discussed the matter of a CAP with Principal Weinstein in a meeting with her union representative that took place later in May. (Tr. 1271)

Sometime in April or early May Respondent sought guidance from the state Department of Education as to whether she was supposed to be on a CAP; she felt that since the previous charges against her had been dismissed, she was starting over and therefore should just have an IPDP (Individual Professional Development Plan). A Ms. Wright at the state department and her union both told her that she should not have a CAP. (Tr. 1273-1275) She conveyed that information to Principal Weinstein (Tr. 1276), but the guidance he got from the District was that she did have to have a CAP. (Tr. 939-47) The matter was not resolved, and Respondent never signed that or any other version of a CAP for the 2014-2015 academic year, although she testified that she would have signed the proposed CAP at the May meeting with Dr. Weinstein if she had been given an opportunity to do so. (Tr. 1280) Her annual evaluation took place three weeks after her meeting with Dr. Weinstein regarding the CAP. (Tr. 1280)

Observations and Evaluations. In the spring semester of 2015, the only semester that Respondent taught at Bard during that school year, she was observed three times, two short and one long observations, by two administrators and a fourth time by a peer evaluator. She received mid-year and end of year evaluations.

First, short observation, March 25, 2015 by Principal Weinstein, announced, with pre-observation conference also on March 25, 2015 and post-observation conference on April 14, 2015. Rating: Partially effective. (D. 43, R. 31) This was a 30 minute observation of her 10th grade math class. Principal Weinstein was critical of Respondent's difficulty using the SmartBoard, some unnecessary delays, tailoring instruction to meet some student needs, and joking about a student who spoke slowly. (Tr. 655-6) He referred to the CAP, although it was not completed at the time. (Tr. 658) Respondent filed a written response, objecting to comments about a CAP that had not yet been agreed upon, the short notice of a pre-conference only 35 minutes before the observation, and a post-conference so long after the observation as to be unhelpful. (R. 31, p. UW 40) Respondent also explained that she had a routine for the beginning of each class to help her students get focused; she had good rapport with her students and her students were all participating with the majority demonstrating enthusiasm toward learning. (Id.)

Second, long observation, May 5, 2015 by VP Adair, announced, pre-observation conference May 4, 2015, and post-observation conference on May 8, 2015. Rating: Effective. (R. 32) This was a lesson for her 10th grade geometry class on how to use the Inscribed Angle Theorem to develop relationships between circles, chords and arcs. It was a subject that the class had begun in a previous lesson. Adair found that most students were able to get correct answers and that the pacing and momentum seemed appropriate for most. He noted that there were opportunities to go deeper into the material. (R. 32, p. UW48)

Mid-year Review by VP Adair, dated May 15, 2015. Rating: Partially effective. (D. 45) Since Respondent only arrived and started teaching at Bard that academic year in February, the "mid-year" was actually a mid-semester review. VP Adair was critical of deficiencies in the inclusiveness and rigor of Respondent's lesson planning (Tr. 1524-5), of failing to get all of her students involved (Tr. 1526), not correcting students when their answers were not completely accurate (Tr. 1527), and not using data to determine if students were progressing toward mastery (Tr. 1527-8). Respondent asked Adair to model a lesson for her, but that never occurred, according to Adair, because Respondent never gave him the lesson she wanted him to model. (Tr. 1530) Adair acknowledged that the time spent observing Respondent was "short," but he attributed that to fact that even a draft CAP was not presented until late in the semester. (Tr. 1531)

Third, short observation, May 29, 3015 by VP Adair, unannounced, with post-observation conference on June 12, 2015. Rating: Effective. (D. 46, R. 34) This was a 25 minute observation of Respondent's 10th grade geometry class.

Respondent had completed a "Do Now" activity, but the observation itself took place when the students had relocated to the computer lab for independent work. (R. 34, p. UW64) Adair noted that Respondent made herself available to students as they requested her assistance, and she was able to assist them, tailoring strategies that reflected her knowledge of her students and that would lead to mastery. The students were enthusiastic as they worked collaboratively to solve the problems. (Id., p. UW 65) The few comments that Adair seemed to have as "growth areas" had to do with the program the students were using, The Khan Academy, rather than deficiencies in Respondent's assistance to students (Tr. 1533-36), although he observed that she was not moving around the room to see if students needed her help before they came to her. (Tr. 1538)

Peer Evaluation, June 1, 2015 by Amy Tepper. Long observation. Rating: Highly Effective. An outside teacher performed a long, peer observation of Respondent's 10th grade geometry class. She found "nearly all students demonstrated enthusiasm;" Respondent tailored her instruction and that led to success; Respondent moved around the room, providing feedback on different groups of students. (R. 35, p. UW 71, 72)

Coaching. Respondent was provided some degree of coaching during this abbreviated academic year. VP Adair held back on offering coaching until the CAP was agreed upon, or at least a proposed CAP was presented to her. (Tr. 1531) Thereafter he coached her in the context of providing feedback on his observations. (Tr. 1632) At the mid-year review meeting, Respondent asked VP Adair if he would model a lesson for her; he never did that because the opportunity never came up: "she never gave me the lesson that she wanted me to model." (Tr. 1530) He testified that Respondent did not attend meetings of her colleagues where she could have collaborated on student growth and on her own development. (Tr. 1529)

Annual Evaluation, June 15, 2015 by VP Adair. Rating: Partially effective. On June 9, 2015, about one week after his short observation of Respondent, but before he had reviewed his findings with her, VP Adair completed an annual evaluation. (D. 47) In preparing this evaluation, he relied upon the other evaluations that had been conducted as well as any evidence that Respondent had shared with him or uploaded. (Tr. 1540) He was critical of Respondent in the areas of differentiating instruction (Tr. 1541), not modeling or demonstrating what she expected of her students (Tr. 1542), not discussing with students why they had picked correct or incorrect answers when they did so (Tr. 1543, 1544), not using data effectively to guide instruction during the semester (Tr. 1543), although he acknowledged that Respondent's students in fact performed well on their final exam with a passing rate better than 80%, which indicated that in fact the students mastered the material. (Tr. 1545) Adair noted that during both of his observations, "the lessons were standards-based and grade-level appropriate," but he faulted that there was no written lesson plan, even though he acknowledged that written lesson plans were not required at Bard. (Tr. 1626) Mr. Adair placed emphasis on Respondent's failure to draft a CAP or IPDP, although he acknowledged that she uploaded a document in which she set goals for herself. (D. 47, p. 1421) He also faulted her for not attending weekly department meetings more than once per month. (Id., Tr. 1422) He found no fault with her attendance or punctuality. (Id.)

As to his findings with regard to the portions of Competency 4 where objective, quantifiable student growth should be reported, Mr. Adair wrote the following, in relevant part:

"(4d) There is still no evidence [Respondent] is using data to help her plan instruction. ***

(4e) [Respondent] is confident she understands her students and their abilities. However, she has not been able to provide evidence to support her claims

((4f) [Respondent gave her students multiple assessments that she has been using to help determine progress. She administered a district Geometry final consisting of 25 questions where the class mean was better than 80%. The challenge with data occurred throughout the semester when data was not being used to track and assess student progress. It was difficult to determine if students were mastering objectives because there was no data available that measured student progress as the data that has been shared at the end of the course."

Other issues. The District presented evidence that the Bard administration was concerned about aspects of Respondent's performance other than her teaching competence. None of those issues, however, resulted in any form of reprimand or memo to Respondent's file.

Failure to cooperate. According to VP Adair, Respondent did not cooperate with him in their discussions about her CAP or other matters, refusing to meet with him unless she could have a union representative present. (Tr. 1519-20) She was "not receptive" to VP Adair's coaching or comments, "she received it as my criticizing her performance, as opposed to an opportunity for us to work together to grow in her performance." (Tr. 1531) She did not upload data or provide portfolio materials to demonstrate her students' progress. (Tr. 1543-4) In addition, she did not participate in the school's professional learning community:

> [Respondent] did not involve herself in the collaboration that took place with the other employees in the department. And that was based primarily on the fact that [Respondent] was not present whenever her colleagues would meet, and that I was not aware of her meeting with any of the colleagues at any time that might have been convenient for her to collaborate on student growth and development.

Aftermath of 2014-2015 school year. No tenure charges were filed against Respondent at the conclusion of the 2014-2015 school year.

2015-2016. West Side High School. Over the summer of 2015, Respondent assumed she would be returning to Bard, and reported there on September 2, 2015. The administration was surprised to see her, because she wasn't on the school's budget. Later in the day, VP Ween handed Respondent a letter from the District, directing her to report on September 8, 2015 to Newark Vocational, one of the schools on the Westside campus. (R. 9, Tr. 1337-9) Respondent's principal for the 2015-2016 school year was Larry Ramkissoon; her VP and immediate supervisor was Henry Ogele.

Respondent's status at Westside was no longer that of a teacher without position (EWPS); instead she was in a regular budgeted position. (Tr. 1346) On September 10, she was given a schedule to teach three classes: two twelfth grade pre-calculus and one ninth grade Algebra 1. (TR. 1341-5) She also volunteered before and after school to tutor students, putting out a sign-up sheet. Students from her own and other classes came to her for help. (Tr. 1358-60)

The school's schedule provided for blocks of 80 minutes instruction. Respondent told VP Ogele via email dated September 13, 2015 (D. 3, p. 1405) that she had never taught an 80-minute block before, and asked for his guidance.

He met with her (Tr. 318) and arranged for her to observe a class taught by the lead math teacher, Mr. Bhatt. (Tr. 316)

Respondent initially had about 30 students in each of her pre-calculus classes and over 40 in the Algebra 1 class. (Tr. 1348) All of the students she was assigned to teach were enrolled in Newark Early College, another of the schools on the Westside campus. (Tr. 1344) In the spring, she continued to teach the same pre-calculus classes, although the number of enrolled students dropped to around 20 in each (Tr. 1354-6); she did not teach the Algebra I class in the spring. (Tr. 1352)

Respondent testified in this proceeding, and complained to the administration, of the difficulty in managing her students, particularly in the Algebra I class. Some of the students were not listed in PowerSchool, the District's computer database. (Tr. 1350) Three of the Algebra students had IEPs that required extra in-class support in the form of another teacher or an inclusion teacher (Tr. 1353). In November the administration assigned a second teacher, Mr. Douglas, to her class (Tr. 1353); he was certified in special education but not in math. (Tr. 1372) Three of the pre-calculus students in her afternoon class were also special needs students, and Mr. Douglas helped with these as well, including throughout the spring semester. (Tr. 1372-3) In addition, she had significant problems with disruptions to her class. These are discussed below.

CAP. For the academic year 2015-2016, Respondent was on a CAP. She participated in a "goal-setting conference" on October 14, 2015 with both her principal, Larry Ramkissoon, and her VP, Henry Ogele. She and Principal Ramkissoon signed the CAP on October 15, 2015. (D. 4) Principal Ramkissoon testified that there were other meetings regarding the CAP in addition to the one on October 14, although he didn't remember how many. (Tr. 103) VP Ogele testified that the CAP was created "in collaboration with the teacher and immediate supervisor, principal" (Tr. 326); Principal Ramkissoon characterized the process as "Absolutely" collaborative (Tr. 107); and Respondent agreed that the process was collaborative (Tr. 1390).

During the goal-setting conference, her supervisors agreed with Respondent's assessment of where her students were in terms of readiness to learn the prescribed materials. They then agreed upon goals for the two pre-calculus classes Respondent was assigned to teach. Although Respondent was also assigned to teach an algebra class, the CAP was limited to the two pre-calculus classes, because, according to Principal Ramkissoon, the administration's goal "is not to make the Corrective Action Plan burdensome so it's unattainable. Quite the opposite, it tried to provide an opportunity to verify that the teacher has grown in this." (Tr. 43)

For the students in one pre-calculus class, they agreed upon the goal "By the midyear, at least 10/30 students would be able to factor polynomials where a>1 and find the root of a polynomial using the quadratic formula." (D. 4, p. 1398, Tr. 37) For the other class, they agreed upon the goal "By the midyear, at least 15/30 students would be able to factor polynomials where a>1 and find the root of a polynomial using the quadratic formula." (Id, p. 1400, Tr. 38) Principal Ramkissoon identified the goals in the CAP as the Student Growth Objectives required by Achieve NJ. (Tr. 96) Both VP Ogele and Respondent also equated student learning goals with the SGO required of a teacher. (Tr. 447, 1390)

The CAP identified specific action steps for Respondent (using assessment data to identify students needing additional support; analyzing the assessment data to develop action plans; designing lessons with a co-teacher; developing plans to work with individual students and small groups; consistently submitting planning documents) and for the administration (coaching Respondent, scheduling a teacher coach to support and co-plan with her; providing her with feedback on her planning documents). (D. 4, p. 1401)

At the mid-term evaluation, Principal Ramkissoon testified that VP Ogele determined Respondent did not meet either goal. (Tr. 111, 115, 449) VP Ogele testified, with respect to the first goal, that he based his conclusion on his January 28 observation of the class, and on student work Respondent provided to him after the class was completed, which showed that 3/13 students met the objective, rather than 10/30. (Tr. 449-51) VP Ogele was unsure whether there were still 30 students in the class at that point. (Tr. 449) With respect to the second goal, VP Ogele did not recall whether Respondent reached that goal. (Tr. 453) Respondent testified that in fact she did meet the first goal. She placed in evidence student work (R. 52, 53), including student scores on mid-term examinations on quadratic equations and trinomials, showing her students successfully passed these examinations. (R. 52, p. UW213, 214) The test scores were available to VP Ogele because they were in PowerSchool and Agile Mind. (Tr. 1715-17) Respondent also presented the documents to VP Ogele during a meeting with him, and he "kind of looked through them and then he pushed them aside." (Tr. 1713-14)

The charges drafted by Principal Ramkissoon include findings that Respondent was "not successful in getting the majority of her Algebra or Pre-'Calculus students to demonstrate mastery of the Common Core Standards for Mathematics." He goes on to cite the PowerSchool records of end-of-year testing as showing only 76% of Algebra students earned an "F" or "D," while 58% of Pre-Calculus students earned an "F" or "D". (D. 1, p. 1154)

Coaching. Respondent was provided with extensive coaching during the school year to help her improvement. Her primary coach was VP Ogele, who met with her in one-on-one sessions in September, October, January, February, March, April and May. (D. 1, p. 1152) She also received personal coaching from Edith Battle, a member of the school's SIP (School Improvement Panel) and "academic interventionist" at Westside, who, though not a math teacher, has won accolades for her teaching and is used by the school to assist teachers on such issues as planning, lesson design and sequence. (Tr. 191, 193) Ms. Battle was assigned to work with Respondent beginning in January 2016, (D. 11) as was Mr. Bhatt, the Lead Math Teacher. (D. 13, p. 1313) Ms. Battle had an initial session with Respondent, which VP Ogele also attended on January 11, 2016. She then accompanied Respondent as they observed another teacher's algebra class on January 15, 2016, after which she "debriefed" Respondent on January 19, 2016. She also observed Respondent teach an Algebra class in March; she found Respondent executed every component of the entire lesson design and focus, within the suggested time frame (Tr. 197); it was an effective lesson (Tr. 200). Although Respondent asked Ms. Battle to meet again, at the scheduled time Ms. Battle found Respondent was absent. (Tr. 202-3)

Another master teacher, Ms. Ragoo, was assigned by VP Ogele to assist Respondent, particularly with classroom management issues. This occurred in September of 2015 after Respondent reported problems with student behavior, and VP Ogele and Ms. Ragoo visited her classroom and intervened. (D. 5, p. 1379) Respondent testified that Ms. Ragoo never coached her (TR. 1402); however Respondent acknowledged turning to Ms. Ragoo for guidance after a classroom incident in February 2016. (R. 19, Tr. 1702) Respondent also went with Ms. Ragoo to observe a class taught by Mr. Bhatt on September 17, 2015, after Respondent asked VP Ogele for assistance since she had never taught an 80 minute block. (D 3, p. 1405-7) In addition, Respondent worked with Mr. Bhatt in January and attended a workshop he gave on instruction. (Tr. 1412-3)

All of these coaching activities were coordinated through the formal work of the School Improvement Panel (SIP), whose members (Ogele, Battle) met with Respondent three times in January 2016. (D. 11)

Observations and Evaluations. In the 2015-2016 school year, Respondent was observed five times, three short and two long observations, by two administrators. Only one of the five, in the fall semester, was announced, and preceded by a pre-conference. She received mid-year and end of year evaluations. Feedback for her last two observations took place the day before and the same day as her year-end evaluation.

First Short Observation, November 13, 2015 by VP Ogele, unannounced, post observation conference on November 12 or 13, 2015. (Tr. 1426, cf. 506) Both parties signed the document on November 13, 2015. (D. 7, p. 1360) Rating: partially effective. This was an hour and 19-minute observation of Respondent's morning pre-calculus class. VP Ogele was critical of Respondent's organization of the lesson, its pacing and momentum, lack of tailored instruction; several times the students were confused about what she expected of them. (D. 7)

Second, Long Observation, January 28, 2016 by VP Ogele, announced, with pre-conferences on January 20 and 27, 2016, and post-conference on February 2, 2016. (D. 15) Both parties signed the document on February 4, 2016. (D. 15, p. 1276) Rating: Partially effective. This was an hour and a half observation of Respondent's twelfth grade morning pre-calculus class. VP Ogele praised Respondent for the clarity of her instruction, her positive interactions with her students and the enthusiasm her students demonstrated, but was critical of the lesson sequence, her modeling of the methodology, the pacing and momentum of the lesson, insufficient tailoring of instruction, insufficient checking to be sure her students, most of whom were somewhat confused, understood the material. (D. 15)

Respondent submitted a detailed six-page response to this observation. (R. 40) She countered specific observations with a detailed explanation of how she had in fact demonstrated the competencies questioned. Rather than post the rebuttal on BloomBoard, because it was too long to fit in that format, she informed her principal that she was submitting a rebuttal and sent it to the Evaluation Committee. (Tr. 1435-6)

Mid-Year Review, February 9, 2016 by VP Ogele. Rating: Ineffective. (D. 16) Although VP Ogele had rated Respondent "partially effective" on each of his two observations of her work in the classroom, in this review, he rated her as "ineffective." He noted only one strength: communicating content more effectively. (D. 16, p. 1255) He reported on actions she had taken to respond to her CAP, steps she would need to continue to take, and the steps taken by administration. (Id., p. 1259) In the review, he criticized her, inter alia, for not consistently submitting planning documents, for the pacing and momentum of her lessons, for not collaborating sufficiently with her colleagues, for insufficiently tailoring instruction, for lack of precision in what she required from students, for not having high enough expectations from her students and not submitting sufficient assessment data.

With respect to the section on Competency 4, where the administration is supposed to enter its findings on Student Growth Objectives, VP Ogele entered the following comments, among others:

4c. "Demonstration of learning: There is inconsistent or no evidence that students master the objective as evidenced from formal observations on 11/9 and 1/28. The most recent observation indicates that students were helping each other during independent practice which compromised the integrity of the artifacts. As a result, there is no evidence to support if students mastered lesson objective."

4d. "Teacher has not submitted any assessment data or corrective action plan as requested; that help provide insight as to each student's progress toward mastery as evidenced from write-up on 10/20 and 1/5. As a result, teacher does not have any baseline data to help guide planning an instruction."

4e. "Understanding of Growth: Teacher's failure to create assessment data results in her inability to articulate whether students has internalized grade-level standards. As a result, teacher is unable to provide differentiated assignments that will move each students [sic] toward grade-level standards."

4f. "Progress Toward Goals: There is no assessment data created by teacher. As a result, there is no evidence that students are progressing towards goals."

(Ex. 16, p. 1257)

In answer to the question whether the teacher is on track to meet the goals that were set, VP Ogele wrote

> The teacher is not on track.
> The teacher must submit planning documents on time.
> Create assessment data and corrective action plan for each unit and use it to guide instruction.
> Regularly attend weekly coaching session.
> Continue working with SIP Panel.

In response, Respondent gathered together a large number of documents that she felt refuted his conclusions. She offered the documents (R. 53) to VP Ogele at a meeting in the principal's office, but he "ignored it." (Tr. 1442) She also made sure VP Ogele saw documents in the nature of journaling that she had her students prepare to track their progress. (R. 52, Tr. 1444)

Third Short Observation, March 30, 2016 by VP Ogele, unannounced, with post-observation conference on April 1, 2016. Rating: Partially effective. (D. 19) This was a 32 minute observation of one of Respondent's twelfth grade pre-calculus classes. VP Ogele noted as positives that Respondent connected the lesson to previous learning, unit objectives and long-term goals, so that the students understood why the skill they were learning was beneficial. He also noted that she required her students to provide a well-structured rationale for their responses, and most students read mathematical terms fluently and accurately. On the negative side, VP Ogele was critical of the pacing and momentum of the lesson, lack of preparation, inadequate planning and tailoring instruction, inadequate feedback, leading to student confusion. He noted that only 5 students out of 12 were able to complete assigned work.[4]

Respondent prepared a detailed rebuttal to this observation. (R. 42) Noting that even VP Ogele had observed the connection of the lesson to prior learning, unit objectives and long-term goals, Respondent stated she should have been given a highly effective rating since that she had met the framework's requirements. (Id., p. UW 115) She noted in other sections that she was moving her students toward mastery, actively circulating through the class, and celebrating with students who mastered difficult challenges. To Ogele's criticism that a student did not have a calculator, she answered that no calculator was needed for the given activity. (Id, p. UW 116) As before, she did not give VP Ogele a copy of the rebuttal, but sent it to the Evaluation Committee as specified in the Framework. (Tr. 1460)

Fourth Short Observation, May 5, 2016, unannounced, by Principal Ramkissoon. There was a post-observation conference that is recorded on the District form as taking place on May 11, 2016, but which Respondent testified took place on May 12, 2016 (Tr. 1486), the day they both signed the form. (D. 23, p. 1180) Rating: Partially effective. This was a thirty-five minute observation of one of Respondent's pre-calculus classes. On the positive side, Principal Ramkissoon observed that the lesson was organized and students were working productively, participating in the "we do" part of the lesson, some in collaboration with their peers. He also noted that Respondent had appropriately

[4] In another section of the observation write-up, VP Ogele noted that 5 out of 17 students were able to successfully solve logarithmic functions. There is no explanation for this discrepancy.

tailored strategies to help her students move to mastery, and the students were enthusiastic about learning, with an overall positive atmosphere in the classroom. Nonetheless he found that sometimes her instructions were unclear; she did not challenge students to explain their solutions, be precise, or present supporting evidence; she did not verify student understanding or give adequate feedback to her students. (D. 23)

Respondent prepared a detailed rebuttal to this observation (R. 44), which she sent to the Evaluation Committee. (Tr. 1487) Respondent testified that she asked Principal Ramkissoon to reevaluate her, and that he said he would come and observe her once more, but that never happened. (Id.)

Fifth Long Observation, May 10, 2016 by VP Ogele, unannounced, with post-observation conference on May 11, 2016. Rating: Partially effective. (D. 22) This was an observation of one of Respondent's twelfth grade pre-calculus classes; it lasted an hour and 14 minutes. VP Ogele praised Respondent's lesson for her pacing, spending an appropriate length of time on each lesson component. He also praised the fact that she challenged her students and they showed enthusiasm for learning and supported community values and norms. He observed that she could have done a better job of using questions to guide the students toward mastery and to avoid confusion, and he criticized her for not adequately addressing student questions so they left class without adequate knowledge, and she had difficulty keeping students on task. (D. 22)

Respondent did not agree with VP Ogele's conclusions and prepared a lengthy and detailed rebuttal (R. 46), which she provided to the Evaluation Committee (Tr. 1488-9).

Annual Evaluation, May 12, 2016. (D. 24) This evaluation was prepared by VP Ogele and delivered to Respondent on the afternoon of May 12, 2016, the same day that Principal Ramkissoon held a post-observation conference with her for the observation he conducted on May 5, 2012 and the day after VP Ogele held a post-observation conference with her for the observation he conducted on May 10, 2016 (Tr. 1490-1) Rating: Partially effective.

VP Ogele recorded positive comments in only two areas: competency 5, where he noted Respondent collaborated with her peers and met expectations for attendance and competency 3 (D. 24, p. 1165), for fostering enthusiasm for learning and a positive learning community (Id., p. 1164). He was critical of her performance in connecting lessons to objectives (Id., p. 1162); in pacing, momentum, clarity of instruction, tailoring instruction, demanding precision from her students (Id., p. 1163); in guiding her students to be persistent and strive to meet high expectations, in using data to asset and adjust her lesson planning (Id., p. 1164); and for failing to submit diagnostic assessment data to the administration and inconsistently reporting on student progress (Id., Tr. 1165).

In the sections devoted to assessing student growth, VP Ogele, made the following comments:

4.c. "Demonstration of learning: Evidence from formal observations on 11/9 1/28, 3/30, 5/5 & 5/10 indicates that over the course of the year, there is inconsistent or no evidence that students master lesson objective. As a result, most students are not moved to grade-level standards."

4.d. "Using data: Teacher sometimes submits 'End of Unit' assessment analysis spreadsheet and corrective action plan as required; as evidenced from write-up on 10/20 & 1/15. As a result, teacher is unable to track each student's progress toward mastery and to adjust planning and instruction – Teacher did not submit correction action plan/intervention plan for Unit 3: Rational Functions as requested from email sent to all math teachers on November 9th 2015.

-- Teacher submitted analysis sheet (Unit 4) on 4/11. However, teacher did not submit corrective action plan for Unit 4.

As a result of inconsistent submission of assessment analysis spreadsheet and corrective action plan, there is no evidence of teacher using data to guide planning and instruction."

4e. "Understanding of Growth: Teacher can sometimes articulate whether or not each student has internalized grade-level standards. As a result of teacher's inconsistent submission of end of unit assessment analysis spreadsheet, there is little evidence to demonstrate student growth."

4f. "Progress Toward Goals: Data reflect that sometimes students are mastering the objectives of the focus areas.

- Evidence from End of Unit assessment (Unit 3-Ratoinal Functions) indicates that most students did not master grade-level standards. Class mean indicates that 37% mastered grade-level standards.
- Evidence from End of Unit assessment, Block 1, (Unit 4 – Exponential/log functions indicates that 45% mastered grade-level standards.
- Evidence from end of Unit assessment, Block 3, (Unit 4 – Exponential/log functions) indicates that 57% mastered grade-level standards."

(Ex. 24, p. 1164)

In a later section, VP Ogele repeated one of the two goals Respondent had set in her CAP, namely that at least 10/30 students would be able to factor polynomials where a>1 and find the root of a polynomial using the quadratic formula. In response to the question of what progress students demonstrated around these learning goals, he wrote:

"Observation conducted on 1/28 indicates that most students were not able to factor polynomials/factor trinomials; and as a result could not complete assigned task of finding the vertical asymptote of a function."

(Ex. 24, p. 1165)

Other Issues. Throughout the school year, Principal Ramkissoon was made aware of complaints from students about Respondent's teaching and conduct in the classroom. Sometimes complaints came directly to him, while others were brought to his attention by guidance counselors, parents, and other school personnel. In early October, for example he received a complaint from a senior in Respondent's pre-calculus class, written ostensibly on behalf of other classmates, complaining that Respondent is always late for class; was "holding us back from our learning in various ways;" jumps from one subject to another before the students can understanding the previous topic; lacks control of the class; and does not treat the class with respect." (D. 6, p. 1366) This complaint was followed by six others that same month, complaining variously about Respondent ignoring some of the students, while focusing all her attention on a small group (D. 6, p. 1371) ; yelling at and arguing with students (D. 6, p. 1367-8, 1374); and continuing to jump from one topic to another without helping her students reach understanding (D. 6, p. 1376, 1375, 1373). Principal Ramkissoon met with some of the students and their guidance counselors, and had VP Ogele to follow up with visits to the classroom. (Tr. 57) He told the students that he was not going to replace their teacher, and that they needed sometimes to work out answers to math problems by themselves. (Tr. 56)

In December 2015, Principal Ramkissoon received more student complaints, this time from Respondent's algebra class as well as her pre-calculus class. The gist of these complaints was that Respondent ignored students and did not help them learn (D. 9, p. 1335, 1336, 1339), or wastes student time by teaching below the level of the class (D. 9, p. 1342). (Tr. 58) Principal Ramkissoon and VP Ogele met with Respondent about these student concerns. (D. 10, p. 1332)

In January 2016, the administration received yet another complaint about Respondent, this time from a parent whom respondent had informed that her son was failing math. The parent wrote to the Principal, after she found Respondent to be unprepared for their meeting together, unresponsive to the mother's concerns, and unable to justify the student's poor grade. (D. 12, p. 1320-1 Tr. 59-60)

Finally, on May 5, 2016, Respondent had a confrontation with a student who walked into her classroom without permission and took a friend's phone. Respondent told the student, in effect, "You don't just walk into my classroom." There is dispute about exactly what was said next, but four students wrote statements about the incident. (D. 20) At least three students reported that Respondent told the student, "I'll break your face;" (D. 20, p. 1203, 1205,1206) while another said Respondent exchanged "fighting words" with the student. (D. 20, p. 1204) Principal Ramkissoon had a social worker investigate the incident and interview students. (Tr. 63) He did not necessarily believe the students who complained, since they were friends with one another. (Tr. 66) He suspended the student, because he believed she had been wrong to walk into the classroom and had used disrespectful language to Respondent. He imposed no formal discipline upon Respondent (Tr. 63-64), although VP Ogele sent her an admonishing email referring to her having used "fighting words" about "breaking" the student's face. (D. 25, Tr. 402)

Recommendation for tenure charges. Toward the end of the academic year, on June 3, 2016, Principal Ramkissoon wrote a memorandum to the District Superintendent recommending that tenure charges be brought against Respondent. He discussed at some length Respondent's deficits in teaching, and her failure to make improvements in the areas identified in Respondent's CAP, noting these same areas had been identified by administrators during the immediate two prior teaching years. Principal Ramkissoon made no recommendation based upon any of the other issues referred to above.

POSITIONS OF THE PARTIES

The District argues that it has met its burden to prove the charges against the Respondent warranting dismissal, in that:

1. The role of the arbitrator in this tenure proceeding is limited by law to determining whether: the District's evaluation failed to adhere substantially to the evaluation process, including by providing a corrective action plan; or if there is a mistake of fact in the evaluation; or the charges would not have been brought but for considerations of political affiliation, nepotism, union activity, discrimination or other prohibited conduct; or if the District's actions were arbitrary and capricious.

2. The evidence proves that during each of the three years in question, Respondent was provided with a Corrective Action Plan, the proper number of observations by appropriate administrators, mid-year and annual summative evaluations, and extensive professional development and personal coaching, both on a one-on-one basis and in a group or collaborative setting. Nevertheless, she failed to make any significant improvement. The District properly determined that Respondent had not met her established Student Growth Objectives in mid-year and end of year evaluations of Competency 4, using the method approved by the Department of Education through the granting of the District's application for waivers.

3. Respondent has offered no evidence of any kind, of any of the defenses provided by law, such as discrimination or bias. Accordingly, the arbitrator must uphold the educational decision made by Respondent's supervisors as to her inefficiency as a teacher.

4. The District has also proven the charges in Charge II of other just cause, having produced credible evidence that Respondent neglected her duty as a tenured teacher and had a pattern of poor classroom management and insubordination toward her supervisors. Over the past three years, she was reprimanded several times for failing to abide by District policies when she was insubordinate to her VP during the proctoring of an exam; when she was AWOL to attend a Math Olympics event; for failing to collaborate with her departmental colleagues; for her frequent tardiness; for ignoring students, improperly grading them, and displaying temper and insulting comments toward them.

For these reasons, the District's decision to revoke Respondent's tenure and terminate her employment within the District should be upheld.

The Respondent, on the other hand, argues that the charges against the Respondent must be dismissed and Respondent must be restored to her teaching position with full benefits and seniority, for the following reasons:

1. The evaluations in each of the three years at issue failed to include statutorily mandated Student Growth Objectives (SGO); SGOs form the core of the new data-driven approach to evaluating teachers on student progress; by ignoring the need for SGOs and substituting subjective criteria for objective data, the District has failed to adhere substantially to the evaluation process and acted arbitrarily and capriciously;

2. No growth objectives were identified at all in year 2013-14 or 2014-15 and the administrators responsible for evaluating Respondent appeared to have no understanding of that component of the evaluation process; the next year, there were two growth objectives identified by Respondent and the District, but the mid-year evaluation made reference to only one of those, and that reference was factually erroneous; the annual evaluation made no reference to objectives at all; for those reasons, all of the annual evaluations of Respondent are void substantively as well as procedurally;

3. To the extent that Respondent had what may be considered goals in 2015-2016, her supervisors ignored evidence that Respondent, in fact met those goals;

4. The District's evaluations of Respondent failed to adhere substantially to the evaluation process in other ways, notably, (a) each of the three years, administrators conducted observations late in the school year, often just before the final evaluation, with post-observation feedback in some cases the same day as the final evaluation, so that Respondent had no meaningful opportunity to digest the feedback and improve, which is, after all, the purpose of observations; (b) a CAP was imposed on Respondent for 2013-2014 for which she had no input, and referenced a class she did not teach; a proposed CAP was imposed on Respondent for 2014-2015 long after the deadline for developing CAPs, and despite advice she received from the Department of Education that she should not have been on a CAP at all; Respondent understandably resisted signing the CAP;

5. All charges related to the 2013-2014 school year were disposed of in a prior decision by Arbitrator Simmelkjaer in an order dated January 5, 2015, which is the law of the case; the District refiled those charges and they are currently being held in abeyance by Arbitrator Simmelkjaer pending the outcome of an appeal; accordingly all charges regarding that year should be held in abeyance until the appellate division and Arbitrator Simmelkjaer can consider the matter.

6. The "catch all" pleading in Charge Two of "Other Just Cause" should be dismissed, as Respondent requested at this hearing, because (a) it is vague and unspecific; (b) to the extent it repeats allegations about inefficiency in teaching, it is duplicative of Charge One; and (c) the few incidents raised by the District were either factually refuted, or had been handled at the time with either no discipline or in one case, a note to file; certainly these incidents do not amount to cause for removal of tenure.

DISCUSSION

Both parties were represented by counsel in this proceeding and had full opportunity to present evidence and make arguments in support of their respective positions. In the preparation of this Opinion and Award, I have given careful consideration to the testimonial and documentary evidence, the legal authorities cited, and the positions and arguments set forth by the parties. I find the District has proven Charge I of inefficiency against the Respondent for the years 2014-2015 and 2015-2016 for the reasons set forth below. I find the District has failed to prove Charge I of inefficiency for the year 2013-2014. With respect to Charge II, I find the charges must be dismissed.

My authority in this matter is limited. As set forth by statute, my purview is to determine whether the District has substantially followed the legal framework for evaluating a tenured teacher. I must also consider whether the District was motivated to bring these charges due to considerations of political affiliation, nepotism, union activity, unlawful discrimination or any other unlawful conduct. Finally, I must consider whether the District's actions were arbitrary and capricious.

PROCEDURAL ISSUES

Both sides, at different times and for different reasons, have requested me to stay the issuance of my decision and order in this matter.

Charges for the 2013-2014 academic year were dismissed by Arbitrator Simmelkjaer on January 5, 2015. (R. 60) The District refiled, and the case was reassigned to Arbitrator Simmelkjaer. Respondent has appealed the assignment of the case to the same arbitrator who heard it earlier, and it is that issue that is the subject of an appeal pending in the appellate court. In the meantime, Arbitrator Simmelkjaer has stayed the proceedings before him. Respondent urges me to regard Arbitrator Simmelkjaer's decision as res judicata and dismiss these charges. In the alternative, Respondent urges me to stay my findings for that year until the pending proceedings in the appellate court and before Arbitrator Simmelkjaer are resolved.

On Friday, March 24, 2017, the District filed a request for stay because it had learned of a pending court challenge to one of the arbitral decisions relied upon by the Respondent that deals with the issue of the District's obligations under statute to evaluate teachers on Student Growth Objectives. No date is currently set for the disposition of that court case.

For reasons of judicial economy, I decline to grant either request. The parties expended considerable time and resources to place the facts before me and make legal arguments based upon them. And I have used considerable time to review and reflect upon the record. It seems expedient to me to share my findings and conclusions with the parties at this time. To the extent that my decision touches on either of the issues noted above, I discuss those in the appropriate sections of my Discussion. Naturally, the parties are entitled to pursue whatever appeals or stays of my decision they deem appropriate after it has been issued.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS

As a preliminary matter, I note that there was absolutely no evidence presented, nor argument made by Respondent that these charges were due to any prohibited motivation. Indeed, throughout these proceedings, I observed polite, even at times cordial, relations between the administrators and the Respondent. I therefore limit my review of the evidence to issues of process – whether the administrators in each charged year substantially followed the District's mandated evaluation system. My review, however, necessarily includes not only what administrators did each year, but what Respondent did as well. Respondent has been on notice for the past four years that her supervisors found her only partially effective as a teacher. The District had the obligation to offer her professional development, mentoring, guidance, and fair and timely observations and evaluations; she, in turn, had the obligation to work with her appointed supervisors and mentors and try to improve her teaching.

In the first year I am asked to review, 2013-2014, I find, as set forth in detail below, that the District did not substantially adhere to the required protocol for observing and evaluating a tenured teacher. Its actions that year were arbitrary and capricious and cannot be the basis for any adverse ruling on tenure. During the two subsequent years, however, the administrators supervising Respondent did substantially follow protocols. As set forth below, they met the requirements for observing, mentoring and evaluating a teacher in danger of losing tenure due to multiple "partially-effective" ratings. Respondent, however, did not cooperate with her supervisors: she did not do her part. Among other failings, she resisted and ultimately declined to sign a corrective action plan during 2014-2015; she resisted meeting with her supervisors; and she failed to submit data and artifacts both years to show that her students might be progressing to meet the growth objectives established in one year by the administrators alone and the final year by Respondent in collaboration with her supervisors.

CHARGE ONE: INEFFICIENCY

2013-2014 School Year. Bard High School Early College. The District failed to comply substantially with its own established evaluation framework. I find the following irregularities nullify Charge I for that year:

Teaching assignment. Respondent was never assigned a class to teach during the entire academic year. She was, instead, assigned to assist other teachers in various classes, and to mentor and tutor students both in the classroom and in the library. Although school administrators testified that Respondent was assigned to "co-teach" that year, I find otherwise. There is simply no evidence that she was in any way a partner with the classroom teachers of record. Yet she was evaluated and rated as if she were.

CAP. On October 15, 2013, the day established in the Framework for completing a CAP (D. 50, p. 246), Bard's VP Williams met with her and presented her with a draft CAP, which she signed the same day. This CAP was fatally defective because it was built around a class that Respondent never taught, namely, college algebra. Respondent was never the teacher of record for such a class. In fact, Respondent had nothing to do, either in a teaching or supportive role, with college algebra for the entire fall semester. It was only in the spring that she met with some college algebra students and that was solely for tutoring/support purposes. Additionally, it is undisputed that Respondent had nothing to do with drafting any portion of the CAP.

Observations. Bard's administrators conducted the necessary number of observations for a teacher on a CAP – namely, four – and two different administrators observed her, as required. Nevertheless, the observations were fatally defective both in timing and in the choice of lessons to observe. The only observation before the mid-year review was of the game of "Math Jeopardy" on the day before Thanksgiving. While Respondent participated in the planning of this game and led the game during the observation, the activity was planned as well, by the class teachers; it was not a normal instructional period; and Respondent was not the teacher for those students. The post-observation conference took place on December 23rd, a month after the observation, rather than within 10 days as required in the Framework.

Of the three observations after the mid-year, one was of Respondent proctoring an exam – not teaching. The other two – the only two that can be considered observations of Respondent instructing students – took place on May 8 and May 12, at the end of the second semester and far too late in the term to have any benefit to Respondent as guides for improvement. Indeed, the post-observation conferences for those conferences took place after her annual evaluation, which was held on May 14. The point of observations and post-observation conferences, obviously, is to give the struggling teacher feedback on what she is doing well, what needs to be improved, and to give suggestions in time for the teacher to work on improving her instruction. Clearly, the timing of these observations was such that the District gave no meaningful guidance to Respondent throughout the entire year.

Mentoring and Coaching. The only evidence that Respondent received one-on-one mentoring and coaching was Principal Weinstein's testimony that he thought VP Williams had one coaching session with her that year. Principal Weinstein also testified to group sessions held by the School Improvement Panel, weekly faculty meetings and professional development. None of these group sessions comes close to satisfying the District's obligation to provide "specific support and periodic feedback." (C. 26, 18A-6-119 (3))

2014-2015 School Year. Bard High School and Early College. As Respondent points out, this year was shortened: Respondent was suspended from teaching for the entire fall semester because of the tenure charges referred to above that were ultimately dismissed. However, Respondent was returned to Bard in time to teach the entire spring semester and at that time, unlike the prior year, she was given her own class. She also had a new supervisor, VP Adair, who not only supervised her, but also offered her support, as mandated by the Framework.

The law and regulations clearly anticipate that in some circumstances a teacher may not be in the classroom for the entire year; nevertheless, the evaluation and other protocols apply, on a pro-rated basis. See, for example, N.J.A.C. 6A: 10- 4.4 (e) l, which provides:

> If a teacher is present for less than 40 percent of the total student school days in an academic year, he or she shall receive at least two observations to earn a teacher practice score.

See also, Framework (D. 50, p. D. 243):

> If a teacher hasn't been in your school for the entire year, the number of evaluations can be reduced proportionally based on the amount of time the teacher has been in your school. This is true for teachers new to the district and/or new to the school, as well as teachers who have been out on an extended leave.

I find that the District did effectively and substantially meet the requirements for evaluating Respondent during the spring semester. To be sure, there were aspects of the evaluation process that were not completed. However, I find Respondent, rather than the District, responsible for those failings. The evaluation and review process requires input and work on the part of the teacher as well as her supervisors. Where a teacher fails to cooperate, for example, in the drafting of a CAP or the submission of evidence of student progress, as I review below, she cannot fault the District.

CAP. Relatively early in the spring semester, VP Adair requested, more than once, that Respondent draft a CAP, but she did not respond. So he drafted a proposed CAP and discussed it with her on March 26. Eventually, Respondent did write in one portion of the document (D. 1489), but despite many meetings, emails, and cautions from Principal Weinstein and VP Adair, Respondent never signed the document. She testified that she relied on advice she obtained from the Department of Education in April or early May that she was not required to be on a CAP, and said in this proceeding that she would have signed the CAP in May when she met with Principal Weinstein, but was not given that opportunity. This dispute about the CAP, then, consumed at least two months out of the spring semester.

Notwithstanding Respondent's resistance to the CAP, VP Adair did his best to work with Respondent throughout the year, offering her coaching and being sensitive, for example, by approaching her when she was by herself, not in front of students or colleagues, in the hope that she would not feel he was being antagonistic. (Tr. 1519) Her supervisors ended up treating the proposed CAP that Adair had drafted as Respondent's CAP for the year.

Respondent argues forcefully that because she did not sign the CAP, and should not have been required to do so, the entire evaluation process for the academic year should be void. I cannot agree. She knew that she was obligated to cooperate in the preparation of some kind of action plan for the year, whether an IPDP or a CAP. Instead, she spent months resisting the finalization of any kind of action plan. I cannot fault the administration for proceeding, as best it could, on the basis of a CAP that it proposed to Respondent, especially when it gave her two months in which to engage and make modifications.

Observations. Respondent has challenged the schedule of observations in this, as in the other years at issue. In this year, the observations took place in the compressed time frame of a single semester, but they were, nevertheless, spaced to provide Respondent with feedback in time for her to make improvements, if she chose to do so. There were three observations by two administrators within the shortened time available, more than sufficient, since the Framework mandates only two if a teacher teaches for less than 40% of the school year.

Before the mid-year (which in this case was a mid-term) review, which took place on May 15th, there were two observations of Respondent teaching her 10th grade math class. The first, on March 25th, was a short, 30-minute observation, conducted by Principal Weinstein, with pre-observation and post-observation conferences; the second, on May 5th, was a long observation by VP Adair, also announced, with pre and post observation conferences. Respondent objected to the first because the pre-observation conference was immediately prior to the observation itself, and because the post-observation conference was 17 calendar days after the observation. Under the Framework, however, those dates are not necessarily non-compliant: a pre-observation conference "should occur within the seven days before the observation" (D. 51, p. 1060), which this did; the post-observation conference "must" follow an observation "within 10 calendar days;" however the 10 days may be extended by the number of days that either party is absent. (D. 51, p. 1061) The record is unclear about whether either party was absent due to a school break or other cause. In any event, I find the timing of those conferences to be substantially compliant with the Framework and spaced in a fair way to give Respondent time to reflect upon the observations and make adjustments in her teaching. And, it is clear that these observations were thoughtful, and fair. Indeed, VP Adair gave Respondent a rating of "Effective" on his evaluation of the lesson on May 5th.

Before the final evaluation, which took place on June 15th, there was one more observation by VP Adair that was unannounced on May 29, with a post-observation conference on June 12. This, too, resulted in a rating of "effective." In addition, there was a peer evaluation by an outsider on June 1, 2015 that was rated highly effective.

In sum, I find no basis to fault the number or timing of the observations during the academic term. I note that the District did not press tenure charges after the conclusion of the 2014-2015 school year, but gave Respondent a fresh chance, at a new school, with a real teaching assignment the following year, to continue work on improving her performance.

Evaluations. Respondent has challenged the year-end rating of partially effective that she received for the 2014-2015 school year. In addition to the objections noted above, she objected to the scoring of the ratings. The crux of her objection appears to be that she should not have received a partially effective overall rating when she had received two effective observations out of three in the spring term: she is being unfairly penalized for her failure to execute a CAP.

I find that the administration properly considered Respondent's lack of cooperation – on the CAP and in other respects – in rendering a final evaluation for the academic year. VP Adair included in his year-end comments on Competency 5 that Respondent "has not seemed comfortable receiving constructive feedback during evaluation conferences. This has made it difficult to assist her as desired with her professional development." Further, he noted that she does not attend math department meetings more often than once a month, although the meetings are held weekly, and there was no evidence that she was collaborating with her colleagues. (D. 47, p. 1422) These, too, are valid considerations supporting a rating of "partially effective."

2015-2016 School Year. Westside High School. I find that throughout this academic year, the administration was in substantial compliance with the District's evaluation protocol.

CAP. In this year, Respondent was placed in a budgeted position and assigned her own classes to teach. She collaborated with her supervisors, VP Ogele and Principal Ramkissoon, to draft a CAP that included two specific and quantifiable student growth objectives, after she obtained baseline assessment data on her students. The CAP included specific action steps for Respondent to take and for the administration to support her. It was signed on October 15, 2015, the last day set aside for completing CAPs in the Framework. In short, the CAP contained all required elements.

Observations. During the year, Respondent was observed five times by two administrators. The observations were spaced throughout the year, with two occurring before the mid-year review, and three before the year-end evaluation. The last two observations took place shortly before the year-end summative evaluation, with the fourth post-observation conference taking place the day before and the last post-observation conference on the same day as the annual evaluation. While the timing of feedback for the last observation, in particular, was less than ideal, it also represented the fifth observation of the year: by that time, the administration had given Respondent a great deal of timely feedback so that she knew where she was falling short and what she had to do to improve.

Coaching. During this academic year, Respondent received extensive personal coaching. VP Ogele, a careful and conscientious supervisor, met with her one-on-one every month and the school's "academic interventionist," Edith Battle, an award-winning educator, worked with her beginning in January. Respondent also worked with both Ms. Ragoo, a teacher coach on issues of classroom management, and Mr. Bhatt, the Lead Mathematics teacher. Her development was overseen by the School Improvement Panel, as required by the Framework. In short the District met its obligation to provide "specific support and periodic feedback." (C. 26, 18A-6-119 (3))

Evaluations. Respondent has urged me to find the entire evaluation process defective for the academic year 2015-2016 because the District failed to calculate an SGO score and include that in the mid-year review or year-end summative evaluation. She cites other arbitrators who found evaluations fatally deficient for lack of a quantitative SGO score. I cannot agree with Respondent for several reasons.

I have reviewed the decisions by Arbitrator Simmelkjaer in the Carroll case and Arbitrator Bluth in the Dawkins case. Both of those cases are factually inapposite in a number of ways. Both concern teachers of the elementary grades where the rules require calculation of a Student Growth Percentile (SGP) rather than the SGO required in high schools. But that is not the only difference.

In Dawkins, there were many deficiencies in the evaluation process, not only the lack of SGOs. To name a few of those deficiencies: much of one year Mr. Dawkins was out due to injuries; he had only 3 months of teaching; all observations and few evaluations were compressed into a two-month period, with two observations occurring on consecutive days, and another year, twice on the same day, so that he had no opportunity to learn from whatever feedback the administration had to give him. In addition, the goal that was set was not a "growth" goal – there was no attempt to obtain base-line data against which to measure achievement – but a "mastery goal." In other words, the administration did not attempt to measure "growth" or progress.

In Carroll, the administration made a "terse statement" that the teacher had not met student learning goals; there was no effort to review metrics as against the baseline data she and the administration had agreed upon. In one of the years at issue, the administration made its annual summative evaluation in April – at least one month earlier than the Framework recommends.

In other words, there were multiple errors in both cases that led the Arbitrators to conclude the District had not followed mandated protocols for teacher evaluation.

The other concern is how the District must include quantitative student progress data in the evaluation. The District applied for and was granted a waiver for the years 2014-2015, 2015-2016 and 2016-2017 to "combine the CAP setting conference with the process for developing student growth objectives."

(D. 52, p. D. 1093) The District's approved application for that waiver specifically considered SGOs and SGP as "additional evidence while calculating the rating for Competency 4 (Student Progress toward Mastery)." (Id., p. 1095) Progress on goals, then, is to be included in the scoring of Competency 4. And, as the District explained to the State, Competency 4 counts for 6 out of 19 points or 32% of the rating, and thus is in compliance with TEACH NJ's requirement that growth be 20% of a teacher's evaluation score. (Id., p. 1096)

Since the State has granted the District a waiver to consider SGOs within the context of observing and evaluating Competency 4, I do not find the failure to separately calculate and score SGO to be a fatal defect in the evaluation process. The District may not ignore student growth measurements, however: the State and District have mandated inclusion of quantitative information about student progress on specific growth objectives chosen by the Respondent in collaboration with her supervisors. That information must be included in Competency 4. The question remains whether the analysis undertaken by the District in 2015-2016 regarding Respondent's work with her students was substantially compliant with that mandate.

In the fall of 2015, Respondent developed two specific and quantifiable growth objectives for two classes, building on base-line data concerning those students. In the mid-term review, VP Ogele noted that Respondent had not provided assessment data. "As a result, there is no evidence that students are progressing toward goals." In the year-end VP Ogele made reference to only one of the two goals. He also noted, in pertinent part:

- "...over the course of the year, there is inconsistent or no evidence that students master lesson objective." (4c)
- "...over the course of the year, there is inconsistent or no evidence that students master lesson objective. As a result, most students are not moved to grade-level standards." (4.c.)
- "As a result of teacher's inconsistent submission of end of unit assessment analysis spreadsheet, there is little evidence to demonstrate student growth." (4.e.)
- "Evidence from End of Unit assessment...indicates that most students did not master grade-level standards. (4f)

In other words, Respondent did not provide the data necessary for the administration to calculate progress on CAP goals. This conclusion was repeated in a number of places in the documents and in the testimony.

Yes, the District must set goals and objectively and fairly observe and evaluate Respondent and calculate student progress. The District must also offer Respondent meaningful, one-on-one support. But, as I noted above with respect to the prior year, Respondent also must cooperate and submit data to prove her students are meeting the goals set in her CAP. Respondent presented testimony and documents in the form of sheaves of paper to show that her students were doing well, and she presented evidence that over 80% passed her final exam. I am not an educator; I cannot look at those test sheets or scores and conclude that the students did meet the CAP goals. Nor is that my role. The educators entrusted with that role were Principal Ramkissoon and VP Ogele. They looked at the data presented and the data that was absent and concluded that Respondent had not demonstrated progress toward the SGOs. Their conclusions were reflected in their assignment of numerical values to Competency 4. In so rating the Respondent, they met their obligation to incorporate an objective, quantitative measurement into their evaluation of her efficiency as a teacher.

Conclusion. I find the District has proven the charge of inefficiency against Respondent for the school years 2014-2015 and 2015-2016. I decline to make findings with regard to each and every subparagraph (a) through (s). Instead, I have reviewed the evidence as weighed against the key components of the state's mandated protocols for reviewing tenured teachers. The District met its responsibility with respect to those protocols and has proven the charges. As to the charge of inefficiency for the year 2013-2014, that charge is not proven and is dismissed for the reasons set forth above.

CHARGE TWO: AND OTHER JUST CAUSE

To the extent that Charge Two, Paragraph 1 "restates" and "re-alleges" the allegations in Charge One, those allegations have been addressed. Paragraph 2, which alleges Respondent has failed to adhere properly to District protocols for "overseeing students and improving her teaching skills," similarly is a restatement of matters covered in Charge One. Accordingly, both Paragraphs 1 and 2 of Charge Two are stricken as duplicative.

As to the charges in Paragraph 3 of failure to "follow instructions" and violation of District policies and procedures, the District has not pled with any specificity what conduct it considers as under that umbrella. During the course of this lengthy proceeding, the Department introduced testimonial and documentary evidence regarding such matters as unprofessional conduct toward students, tardiness and absence on one occasion without leave. It is not up to the arbitrator to parse the evidence and tease out what particular actions the District regards as failing to follow instructions or violating policies and procedures; that is the District's duty in its pleadings. Paragraph 3 is dismissed as vague.

Finally, Paragraph 4 charges "The cumulative effect of Respondent's misconduct and inefficiency as set forth above constitutes other sufficient cause sufficient [sic] to warrant dismissal." This is nothing more than an effort to sweep up an unidentified quantity of evidence to fill the bucket of "sufficient cause to warrant dismissal." The reference to "inefficiency," as noted above, is duplicative of Charge One, while the District has not identified what it considers "misconduct." Such vague pleadings are manifestly unfair to the Respondent and must be stricken.

In sum, the entirety of Charge Two is dismissed.

AWARD

The District has established Charge I with respect to academic years 2014-2015 and 2015-2016. Accordingly, Respondent's dismissal for inefficiency is upheld. The remaining charges are dismissed.

INITIAL DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. EDU 01019-15
AGENCY DKT. NO. 357-12/14

IN THE MATTER OF THE SUSPENSION OF THE TEACHING CERTIFICATE OF CHAE HYUK IM, SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE TOWNSHIP OF WAYNE, PASSAIC COUNTY.

Christine Bernacki Smith, Esq., for petitioner Wayne Board of Education (Machado Law Group, attorneys)

Louis P. Bucceri, Esq., for respondent Chae Hyuk Im (Bucceri & Pincus, Esqs., attorneys)

Record Closed: December 6, 2016 Decided: February 24, 2017

BEFORE CAROL I. COHEN, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, the Board of Education of the Township of Wayne (the Board), seeks an order suspending the respondent's teaching certificate for a period of one year, contending that he resigned from his teaching position with inadequate notice. Respondent, Chae Hyuk Im, replies that he resigned because he was appointed as a Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) agent and had to begin his training immediately.

When he asked the Board for a leave of absence, it denied his request. He therefore had no alternative but to resign immediately.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On December 1, 2014, at the request of the Board, the Commissioner of Education (the Commissioner) entered an Order directing Im to show cause why his teaching certificate should not be suspended for unprofessional conduct, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8. Im filed a pro se answer on December 29, 2014. On January 21, 2015, the Commissioner transmitted this matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for hearing as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. On February 6, 2015, the matter was assigned to Judge Irene Jones. On August 13, 2015, the petitioner filed a motion for summary decision. On September 3, 2015, the respondent filed his responsive brief. On September 10, 2015, the petitioner filed a reply brief. On April 4, 2016, this matter was transferred to the undersigned. On May 11, 2016, I issued an oral decision from the bench granting partial summary decision to petitioner on the issue of unprofessional conduct. Questions of fact remained that required testimony on the issue of mitigation. On May 18, 2016, I issued Partial Summary Decision.

On May 17, 2016, Im filed a request for interlocutory review of the oral decision. On May 27, 2016, the Commissioner declined to hear an application for interlocutory review of the partial summary decision Order. On June 30, 2016, the Commissioner issued a decision in which he concurred with the administrative law judge that the respondent was guilty of unprofessional conduct pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8. On July 15, 2016, Im filed a Notice of Appeal with the New Jersey Superior Court, Appellate Division. On September 2, 2016, the Appellate Division declined to hear the interlocutory appeal. Testimony on the issue of penalty was heard at the OAL on November 17, 2016, and counsel submitted their summation briefs on December 6, 2016. The record closed that day.

Due to unforeseen family medical reasons, the undersigned submitted to Acting Director Laura Sanders a request to extend the time to file the initial decision. The Extension was granted allowing for the initial decision to be extended until March 6, 2017.

ISSUE

What penalty should be imposed for Im's failure to give sixty days' notice prior to his leaving his teaching position?

TESTIMONY

For the Board

Two witnesses testified for the Board, Mark Toback, the superintendent of schools, and Kenneth Palczewski, the principal of Wayne Valley High School, where Mr. Im had taught prior to his departure.

Mark Toback testified that he had become Superintendent in August 2014. He was aware that Mr. Im had made a request for leave prior to the Superintendent's arrival in the District. The request had been discussed at the committee level, but then was withdrawn. J-8 was the Board Committee report dated August 5, 2014. It stated that Mr. Im was requesting leave in order to go to the FBI, but he was not sure if he could successfully complete the program. Therefore, he wanted to take a leave of absence from his teaching position. The Report said that it was agreed that Mr. Im was an excellent teacher and it would be prudent to allow him the year to determine if he wanted to make the career change. The Superintendent said that he was aware of the prior request. Mr. Toback said that he had a meeting with Mr. Im in mid-October 2014, at which time respondent wanted to discuss requesting a leave in order to take a position with the FBI. Mr. Toback said that he advised Mr. Im of the sixty-day requirement under the statute, but Im said that he would be leaving the District under any circumstance. Mr. Im did not volunteer to find a replacement and he did not say that he was leaving materials for a replacement teacher, or that he would notify his fellow teachers that he was leaving. Also, Im did not discuss any student issues with Mr. Toback. However, Mr. Toback said that these issues were usually dealt with by the school principal.

The superintendent said that the second leave request was discussed by the Board but denied because of concerns about finding a replacement for a chemistry teacher and the fact that they would be setting a pattern if other teachers sought leave in order to explore other career options. Superintendent Toback stated that it was especially difficult to find chemistry teachers because there was a lot of competition from private industry. It was even harder to find a quality replacement mid-year because a permanent position was uncertain and tenure could not accrue right away. When questioned why he had referred the matter to the Department of Education, he said that he was not sending a message of punishment, but rather was just following the law.

Kenneth Palczewski was the principal of Wayne Valley High School for four years. He said that prior to his October 2014 request for leave, Mr. Im had discussed the fact that he might have an opportunity to join the FBI, and if he got it, he would take it. Mr. Palczewski told Im that if he did leave, it would be the principal's responsibility to cover the classes,[1] and Mr. Im should follow the career path for which he had a passion. Mr. Palczewski said that he did not advertise for a replacement for Mr. Im in August, because the District did not advertise for positions until they were actually available. The principal said that after Mr. Im left he looked for opportunities to cover his classes. He used in-house staff and a substitute teacher, who was a retired science teacher, whom he knew.[2] Mr. Palczewski did not recall Mr. Im offering to find a replacement teacher for him. Nor did he recall Mr. Im telling him that he had left materials for the classes. He also did not think that Mr. Im talked to him about any concerns he had with any students. The District advertised for a replacement for Im in October and hired someone, who was a friend of another teacher, in November. However, this teacher could not begin teaching the chemistry classes until January, because he had to give his district sufficient notice.

[1] According to Mr. Palczewski, Mr. Im taught four classes, with approximately twenty to twenty-four students per class.

[2] He did not know if the substitute was specifically trained in chemistry.

Mr. Palczewski said that it is hard to find chemistry replacements because people trained in this field often work in non-educational settings. Also, it is hard to find substitute teachers who have the proper certification. When asked if there were any problems caused as a result of Mr. Im's leaving, he said that some parents complained that the level of instruction of the substitute teacher was not equal to that of the regular teachers, who took on extra classes to cover Mr. Im's classes. He said that he had to speak to the substitute teacher about the situation, and he made sure that the substitute spoke to other staff members to improve his teaching methods. In addition, Mr. Palczewski said that while they were able to cover all the classes with in-house staff and a substitute, because of the schedule conflicts for the chemistry labs, the students might have had three to four different teachers during the period from October through December 2014.

For Im

Chae Hyuk Im testified that he always wanted to help people. In college he looked into a number of science-oriented courses and then decided to become a teacher. He worked in the Wayne school system and became tenured. In 2011 a college friend said he had applied for a position at the FBI, and Im began thinking about pursuing a new career. He described a rigorous FBI application process, which he was initially able to pass. He stated that he had informed his immediate supervisors and the local union president of the progress of the application process. However, in 2011 he suffered two herniated discs that sidelined him from taking the physical-fitness portion of his testing. Then, as a result of government sequestration, there was a freeze on all job hiring. This remained in effect until 2014, when his application was reactivated. Mr. Im was informed that he would be considered for the July 2014 entry class. It was at that time that he submitted his leave request. He stated that he asked for leave because he did not know if the career change would suit him and if he would complete the training process. He wanted to leave his options open. In August 2014 he was informed that he had failed the physical portion of the job requirement. That is when he told the Board of Education that he would not be taking a leave. The next physical test was scheduled for September 11, 2014. However, he decided not to take that test, because he did not think that his body would be in the proper condition to pass the test. If he did not pass, he would have had to wait one full year to take another physical exam. Then, in September 2014 he was informed that another physical-fitness exam would be conducted in October. Mr. Im explained the situation to the building principal, the science supervisor, and someone in Human Resources (HR). He said that they wished him good luck and asked that he keep them abreast of the situation. Mr. Im took the physical and was told that he had passed on October 9, 2014. He was told that he had to arrive for training at Quantico on October 19, 2014. He said that on October 9 he informed the principal, someone from HR, and the science vice principal of the results of the test and that he would be leaving to start training. He said that he asked how his classes would be handled, and that Mr. Palczewski wished him good luck and told him that he should not worry, because it was the principal's job to find a teacher replacement, and that he should get his personal life in order. He got the same reaction from HR and the science vice principal. Mr. Im's last day of teaching was October 17, 2014. Mr. Im was informed by either the HR person or his union president that his leave request was denied by the Board.

Mr. Im said that he spoke to his FBI mentor to question him about whether he could wait to start at the Academy. His mentor said that he should not decline the appointment because there was no guarantee that he would get another entry date, and that his failure to begin the Academy at once could be taken as a sign of lack of dedication.

Mr. Im testified as to how he felt he had mitigated the harm done to the students by his leaving early. He said that it was the practice of the Chemistry Department to have weekly meetings. The people in the department knew how to proceed if an emergency developed. The teachers would take over for each other. He said that over the course of his teaching career he had compiled worksheets for his students and had teacher notes. In 2008 he put these notes into binders. During the weekly meetings he would discuss the information in the binders. Since he did not have a classroom of his own, he would bring the binders to the different rooms he taught in. Therefore, the other chemistry teachers were aware of the binders. He explained that the CD of his notes for class (J-15) was organized by chapter. Mr. Im left all of his teaching notes.

Presumably he would not need them because he would be following a different career path. Before he left he spoke to Linda Wills, who had been his in-class support teacher, about these notes.[3] He said that sometime before he left, he mentioned to Ms. Potts, a biology teacher, that he had left chemistry binders in the office for use by the teachers. He also talked to Diane Marturano, a primary chemistry teacher, about the notes. However, neither Ms. Wills nor Ms. Potts was teaching the same chemistry courses as Mr. Im was teaching at the time of his departure. Mr. Im stated that he did not know who was going to be replacing him when he left. However, he knew that three of the teachers who filled in for him had many years of experience and had taught the same or different levels of the classes that he had been teaching, and the substitute teacher was a retired science teacher. He stated on cross-examination that he had proposed a potential replacement teacher, but she was not hired.[4]

Mr. Im stated that he did have contact with some of the students after he left because they had asked him to write letters of recommendation for college, which he did provide.

Mr. Im testified that in his present position as a special agent for the FBI, he earned $55,000 during his first year of employment. Now that he is working in the New York area, there has been a salary adjustment and he earns $62,000 per year. Before he joined the FBI he was a tenured teacher in Wayne and earned about the same as what he is earning now. However, the salary at the school district included health benefits, which were not included at the FBI.

Mr. Im said that he informed the FBI that charges had been filed against him by the District. They said that he should keep them informed, and that if the ruling of unprofessional conduct were sustained, then any time he was working on a case that went to trial he would have to notify the assistant U.S. attorney, so that they could disclose the information to the defense. Mr. Im said that the people he spoke to at the FBI did not know of the specific unprofessional conduct, but if he were unable to testify

[3] At the time of Im's departure, Ms. Wills was teaching lower-level chemistry courses.

[4] It was pointed out that prior to this testimony, Mr. Im had never mentioned in discovery that he had proposed a potential replacement.

as a criminal investigator, then he would be switched to an analyst role as a special agent. Mr. Im said that the people he spoke to at the FBI referred him to the policy annunciated in Giglio v. United States, 405 U.S. 150, 92 S. Ct. 763, 31 L. Ed. 2d 104 (1972).

Diane Marturano was a longtime chemistry teacher in the District. She said that she knew Mr. Im since 2005. She stated that chemistry teachers were a close-knit group, who met at least one time per week to discuss issues and curriculum. They gave common mid-terms and finals. The teachers agreed on the same labs that would be done by each of the classes. She said that she learned a few days before his departure that Mr. Im would be leaving. Mr. Im was teaching high-level chemistry classes that year, and she was also teaching high-level and AP chemistry. She said she knew that all of Mr. Im's notes had always been kept and were available in the chemistry office. She did not use his materials because she had been a teacher for a long time and actually had given him some of her materials. She recalled telling the other teachers that Mr. Im had left his binders in the chemistry office. She stated that Mr. Im's leaving was not a problem because there was a common curriculum for chemistry and the teachers had access to Mr. Im's materials. When the new teacher came in to replace Mr. Im in January, she did not hear any complaints that the children from Mr. Im's class were behind. She was the senior teacher, and no one came to her with concerns about the students or their learning after Mr. Im left. When asked whether she felt that it was disruptive to have a teacher leave mid-term, she said that there are adjustments when there is a new relationship, but if you spend a day or two and have the students express their concerns and reassure them that even though there is a different teacher they will get the same education, this will allay their fears and they can move on. She felt that, in fact, it would have been more difficult for the students if Mr. Im had waited the sixty days and then left, because they would have established a stronger relationship with him.

FINDINGS OF FACT

The parties stipulated to the following FACTS:

1. Im was employed by the Board from September 2005 into October 2014 as a chemistry teacher. He has standard teaching certifications in physical science and biological science. (J-1.) He was recommended for tenure as a teacher (J-2) and became tenured in September 2008. His individual contracts for 2006–07, 2007–08 and 2008–09 are attached as J-3, J-4 and J-5.

2. Im is currently employed as a special agent by the FBI.

3. Im is a naturalized citizen who has resided in this country since the age of three. His application to the FBI was first submitted in 2011. The application was inactive for several years during a period of federal hiring freezes. On May 15, 2014, Im received a letter from the Board stating his salary for the 2014–15 school year. In that letter he was also informed that if he should have reason to believe he would be unable to serve for the 2014–15 school year he should inform the District immediately. (J-6.)

4. Part of the FBI application process involved a background investigation and a physical fitness test (PFT). Around May 2014, agents of the FBI contacted both his high school (Wayne Valley High School) and the District (Wayne Board of Education) as part of his background investigation. The administration at building level and district level were aware of the application process at that time. At that time there was a different superintendent of schools. The new superintendent, Dr. Mark Toback, took over on or about August 11, 2014.

5. In July 2014 Im was informed that he was listed for a September 2014 training start date—the last such date in the federal fiscal year (October–September). In anticipation of entering the Academy he wrote a letter to the Board on July 23, 2014, requesting a one-year leave of absence. (J-7.) The Board and superintendent agreed to grant the leave, if it was needed. (J-8.)

6. On August 7, 2014, Im had his pre-training PFT. If he had passed, he would have begun to serve in September 2014, the September FBI class training date.

7. Im did not pass the PFT, and was removed from the September training start date.

8. As a result of the test failure, Im advised the Board's administration that he would be starting the 2014–15 school year as usual.

9. Later in August 2014, Im was informed that he was unexpectedly added to the roster for the first training class of the new fiscal year (October 2014), but this was contingent on retaking and passing the PFT.

10. Failing the PFT a second time requires a mandatory one-year wait time before a new application can be processed. (J-9.) Im decided not to take the September PFT and to wait for the October PFT because he did not have time to train sufficiently to pass the September fitness test. (J-10; J-11.)

11. In or about September 2014 Im informed his building administrators and the HR department of the District that there was a new possibility of his entering the FBI Academy for training in October 2014. He approached the superintendent about seeking a one-year leave because he wanted to preserve the opportunity to return to Wayne Valley High School in 2015–16 if he failed to qualify for the FBI. The new superintendent said that it would not be likely that a one-year leave would be granted since the school year had already started.

12. On October 9, 2014, Im again took the pre-training PFT and was told that day that he had passed. This was later confirmed in writing under date of October 10, 2014. (J-12.) On the afternoon of October 9 Im drove from the PFT to Wayne Valley High School and the Wayne Board office to inform them that, with the passing of the PFT, he was expected at the Academy on October 19. Mr. Im was given a "Rice" notice on October 9, 2014, stating that the terms of his employment might be discussed in executive session at the Board meeting on October 16, 2014. (J-13.) The Board of Education had its meeting on October 16, 2014.

13. Mr. Im learned the next day, October 17, 2014, that he was definitively denied a one-year leave by the Board. Im submitted his letter of resignation, which he had prepared and signed on October 15, 2014. (J-14.)

14. At the time of his resignation Im was teaching four sections of high-school chemistry.

15. As part of his teaching process throughout his employment at Wayne Valley High School he had been compiling binders of documents which included class-procedure lists, chemistry worksheets and handouts for student use, quizzes linked to textbook chapters, lab-equipment sign-out sheets, and other materials. These items had been collected and supplemented and updated by Im, with contributions from other teachers, continuously since approximately 2006. (J-15.)

16. At the time of his departure from the District on October 17, 2014, Im was not aware of which teachers would take over his classes. He advised Diane Marturano of the fact that his materials in the binders and on a thumb drive would be left behind for use by whoever was assigned.

17. The classes taught by Im were taken over by currently employed staff members in the Wayne School District's science department, namely, Diane Marturano, Katherine Cofer, Katie Poremba, and Fred Vafaie, who were paid a contractually specified stipend for accepting an extra period in addition to their current class schedule. Al Ruffini, a per-diem substitute, was also hired to cover Mr. Im's classes. This form of coverage continued until a replacement teacher, Thomas Villa, began teaching in January 2015. (J-16.)

18. Due to their work covering Mr. Im's classes, Katherine Cofer was paid $456.08; Diane Marturano was paid $2,280.32; Katie Poremba was paid $2,487.89; and Fred Vafaie was paid $310.95. Al Ruffini was paid $100.00 per day to teach one of respondent's classes. For forty days of coverage, the cost of the per-diem substitute was $4,000.00 before taxes.

19. Had Mr. Im given the District sixty days' notice prior to his resignation, that notice period would have expired on December 20, 2014. The costs expended by the Board to replace him during the sixty-day period were less than the amount the Board would have expended in providing salary and benefits to Mr. Im if he had worked during that same period.

20. At the next Board meeting, November 13, 2014, Mr. Im's resignation was formally accepted for the effective date of October 17, 2014. The teachers covering his classes were also approved for their additional stipend with an effective date of October 20, 2014. Further, at that meeting, Mr. Im's replacement, Thomas Villa, was approved for hire, with a start date of January 19, 2015, or sooner. (J-17.)

21. Attached are true copies of Im's annual teaching evaluations from the Wayne School District from 2007–08 through 2012–13, and two 2013 observations. (J-18 through J-23; J-24; J-25.)

22. Attached is a true copy of Wayne District Policy #3141, "Resignation." (J-26.)

LEGAL ARGUMENTS

Arguments of the Board

Wayne argued that Mr. Im should receive a penalty of a full year's suspension. It cited the decision in In re Teaching Certificate of Capshaw, EDU 12318-06, Comm'r (June 12, 2007), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>, in which the Commissioner stated:

> the Commissioner has historically evaluated all attendant circumstances specific to each case. As a general rule, > however, given the underlying purpose of the statute, this evaluation—with rare exception—has resulted in suspension of any and all certificates for the maximum one-year period, particularly where the facts demonstrate that individuals have violated the 60-day notice requirement for strictly personal reasons, putting their own self interest above the interests of students and their professional obligation to provide adequate notice to the Board.

The District pointed out that Im had been looking for other employment since 2011, but had not given the Board notice until 2014. It argued that to decide that certain jobs are more worthy of exemption from the statute (i.e., FBI agent) than others is a slippery slope. Not to impose a suspension would remove any power or security of the District to maintain teaching operations and would render the statute on sixty days' notice meaningless. It would eviscerate any ability of the Board to ensure that teachers give the requisite notice. The statute was designed to protect students from unnecessary disruption caused by an abrupt resignation and departure. Wayne pointed out that in In re Certificate of Montalbano, EDU 3588-00, Initial Decision (April 24, 2001), adopted, Comm'r (June 11, 2001), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>, a one-year suspension was imposed on a teacher who left after twelve days' notice to become a police officer. The teacher tried to make a schedule of coverage and discussed classroom duties with the replacement teachers; he completed the marking-period grades; and he sent notice of an opening to surrounding colleges. Still, the Commissioner saw fit to impose the full penalty. This was based on the disruption to the students caused by his departure.

The Board distinguished Board of Education of Clinton v. Burgess, 1983 S.L.D. 183, by pointing out that in that matter, the board failed to fulfill its promise to hire an immediate replacement when there was one available. It also distinguished Board of Education of Black Horse Pike Regional v. Mooney, 1984 S.L.D. 810, where the Board had secured a replacement at the time of the respondent's departure from the district.

The District asserted that it was the District, rather than the respondent, who mitigated the damages. The respondent chose to start the school year because he failed the FBI physical. Mr. Im chose to wait until October to retake the physical, rather than September, because he thought he would be more physically ready to pass. The assertion that he left his teaching materials was of no moment, since he had no need for them, having left the profession. He did not find a replacement for himself, nor is it clear that he talked to the replacement teachers before he left. His assertion that the Board was on notice because of his prior request for leave was of no consequence, since he did not leave at that time. The District argued that it was the District that mitigated the damages by having the remaining teachers teach an extra course and hiring a retired substitute teacher to teach one of the chemistry sections. It was the high-school principal who managed to find a replacement for Mr. Im. However, because of the sixty-day requirement, he could not begin until January. As a result of Mr. Im's departure, the students had three to four different teachers during the period from October to January. Even the respondent's witness, Ms. Marturano, conceded that the departure of a teacher always has an impact on students.

As to the admissibility of the computer printout from the U.S. Department of Justice website that Im has sought to introduce into evidence, "9-5.100—Policy Regarding the Disclosure to Prosecutors of Potential Impeachment Information Concerning Law Enforcement Agency Witnesses ('Giglio Policy')," the District puts forth several arguments. The District asserts that introduction of the printout would cause undue prejudice and confusion, as it is entirely irrelevant to the issue of mitigation, which is the subject of the hearing. Further, Wayne asserts that the "[r]espondent had two years to produce a case, a witness, testimony, anything to support the allegation that an adverse finding would impact his potential ability to testify on behalf of the FBI," but all it has done is to produce this printout, which is pure hearsay and irrelevant to the issue of penalty. The District distinguished Giglio v. United States, supra, 405 U.S. 150, 92 S. Ct. 763, 31 L. Ed. 2d 104, which was relied upon by the respondent. It pointed out that Giglio dealt with a criminal matter in which it was determined that the credibility of a witness was in question. The Government's case depended entirely on the co-conspirator's testimony and, therefore, his credibility was at issue. The printout cited by respondent states that a Government witness would have to reveal, for possible impeachment purposes:

> (a) specific instances of conduct of a witness for the purpose of attacking the witness' credibility or character for truthfulness;
> (b) evidence in the form of opinion or reputation as to a witness' character for truthfulness;
>
> (c) prior inconsistent statements; and
> (d) information that may be used to suggest that a witness is biased.

The printout also states, "[t]his policy is not intended to create or confer any rights, privileges, or benefits to prospective or actual witnesses or defendants. It is also not intended to have the force of law. United States v. Caceres, 440 U.S. 741[, 99 S. Ct. 1465, 59 L. Ed. 2d 733] (1979)."

The District argues that the only effect of the statement in the printout is that the respondent would have to disclose to the prosecutor in a case that he had failed to give appropriate notice to his prior employer when he joined the FBI. It would be pure speculation to deduce from this document that revelation of his failure to give sixty days' notice would affect Mr. Im's ability to testify.

Further, the District argued that the document should be excluded under the residuum rule. Under N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.5(b), hearsay is admissible only if there is some legally competent evidence to support each ultimate finding of fact. According to the District, the respondent has provided absolutely nothing to support his allegation that imposing a penalty on him will have any impact on his ability to perform his job as an FBI agent.

Arguments of the Respondent

The respondent countered the District's argument on the admissibility of the website printout by saying that its objection to admissibility on hearsay grounds was completely baseless. According to the respondent, the residuum rule has nothing to do with the admissibility of evidence. Rather, it relates to the circumstances under which admitted evidence can support an ultimate finding of fact. N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.5(a) gives the judge the right to exclude hearsay evidence, it does not authorize exclusion of hearsay evidence pursuant to the residuum rule, N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.5(b). Instead a judge may exclude any evidence if its probative value is substantially outweighed by the risk that its admission will either necessitate undue consumption of time, or create substantial danger of undue prejudice or confusion. N.J.A.C. 1:1-15-1(c). The respondent argued that since neither of these circumstances exists, the document is admissible. In addition, since the respondent testified as to the existence of the "Giglio Policy" and its impact on his ability to function in his job, the testimony serves to satisfy the residuum rule.

Further, Mr. Im argued that the policy sought to be admitted is publicly published on the Justice Department's website. As such, it would be admissible in a Superior Court proceeding because it falls within an exception to the hearsay rule. N.J.R.E. 803(c)(8) "prevents the exclusion of public records from evidence based on the Hearsay Rule." There can be no argument that the document generated from the website is not a public record. In addition, the respondent argued that the exhibit qualifies as a business record under N.J.R.E. 803(c)(6) and 801(d) and is therefore admissible under those rules as well.

Mr. Im made a number of arguments to demonstrate that it would be inappropriate to impose a penalty on him. The respondent asserted that > the issue before this agency is NOT whether Mr. Im's mid-year departure can be shown to have caused some harm which cannot be mitigated by the circumstances of his leaving. The only issue is whether his leaving with less than 60 days' notice caused more harm than if he had left after 60 days, and if so, whether that harm is mitigated by the circumstances of his leaving.

Mr. Im pointed out that, contrary to the District's initial position, Wayne did not lose any money as a result of Im's departure. In fact, if one compared the cost of paying Mr. Im his salary and benefits versus paying the permanent teachers for one additional class per day and hiring one substitute, the District suffered no financial loss.

Further, the students did not suffer any detriment by the respondent leaving before sixty days, as opposed to his staying until the statutory deadline. Mr. Im asserted that there was only one complaint from a parent, and that student would have suffered more had he developed a stronger bond with the resigning teacher. Mr. Im pointed out that he left all of his teaching materials in good order, and in fact almost all the teachers did not even need the materials, since they were using their own materials to teach the chemistry courses.

As for Mr. Im, he actually lost financially by taking the position with the FBI. He also pointed out that the administrators at the school and fellow teachers supported his decision to join the FBI. The respondent questioned the superintendent's position that it was necessary to enforce the sixty-day rule because of his concern that other teachers might also leave early if there were no consequences. He asserted that leaving by teachers mid-year is rare, and that the decision to pursue charges was an unreasonable punishment by a new superintendent bent on intimidation.

Im cited Burgess, supra, 1983 S.L.D. 183, and Mooney, supra, 1984 S.L.D. 810, to support his position that sanctions should not be imposed. In Burgess no penalty was imposed even though Burgess left his teaching position to earn more money in private industry. The only distinction was that Mr. Im, because he was at Quantico, could not be available to consult with the teachers who took over for him. Im sought to distinguish Montalbano, supra, EDU 3588-00, Initial Decision (April 24, 2001), adopted, Comm'r (June 11, 2001), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>, by saying that Montalbano could have waited until another position at the police department became available, rather than leaving without proper notice. Here, Mr. Im argued, he would have jeopardized his chance of entering any future class at the FBI training center, or sequestration could have occurred again before he got an opportunity to begin his training.

LEGAL ANALYSIS

The evidentiary rules applicable to hearings before the Office of Administrative Law are outlined at N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.1 to -15.12. N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.1, entitled "General rules," provides in pertinent part:

> (b) Evidence rulings shall be made to promote fundamental principles of fairness and justice and to aid in the ascertainment of truth.
>
> (c) Parties in contested cases shall not be bound by statutory or common law rules of evidence or any formally adopted in the New Jersey Rules of Evidence except as specifically provided in these rules. All relevant evidence is admissible except as otherwise provided herein. A judge may, in his or her discretion, exclude any evidence if its probative value is substantially outweighed by the risk that its admission will either:
>
> 1. Necessitate undue consumption of time; or
>
> 2. Create substantial danger of undue prejudice or confusion.

N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.5, entitled "Hearsay evidence; residuum rule" provides:

> a. Subject to the judge's discretion to exclude evidence under N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.1(c) or a valid claim of privilege, hearsay evidence shall be admissible in the trial of contested cases. Hearsay evidence which is admitted shall be accorded whatever weight the judge deems appropriate taking into account the nature, character and scope of the evidence, the circumstances of its creation and production, and, generally, its reliability.
>
> b. Notwithstanding the admissibility of hearsay evidence, some legally competent evidence must exist to support each ultimate finding of fact to an extent sufficient to provide assurances of reliability and to avoid the fact or appearance of arbitrariness.

Therefore, the initial criterion for the admission of evidence before the Office of Administrative Law is a determination of the relevancy of the proposed evidence.

Relevant evidence is defined in the rules as meaning "evidence having any tendency in reason to prove any material fact." N.J.A.C. 1:1-2.1. "To determine relevancy, a judge must focus 'on the logical connection between the proffered evidence and a fact in issue. If the evidence offered makes the inference to be drawn more logical, then the evidence should be admitted unless otherwise excludable by a rule of law.'" State v. Goodman, 415 N.J. Super. 210, 225 (App. Div. 2010) (citation omitted). However, although all relevant evidence is admissible, relevant evidence may be excluded if its probative value is substantially outweighed by the risk that its admission will either (1) necessitate undue consumption of time or (2) create the danger of undue prejudice or confusion. N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.1(c). Moreover, although hearsay evidence is admissible before the Office of Administrative Law, there must be some legally competent evidence to support each ultimate finding of fact. N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.5(b); DeBartolomeis v. Bd. of Review, 341 N.J. Super. 80 (App. Div. 2001). The underlying rationale of the rule is that an administrative determination should "not rest upon evidence which the unsuccessful party was incapable of impeaching or rebutting." In re Application of Howard Sav. Bank, 143 N.J. Super. 1, 8–9 (App. Div. 1976).

Petitioner objects to the admission of the Giglio Policy into evidence because it avers that its admission would cause undue prejudice and confusion, as it is entirely irrelevant to the issues of mitigation, and because it contends that the document has no foundation and is completely speculative. Respondent, on the other hand, avers that the petitioner's objection to the admissibility of the Giglio Policy on hearsay grounds is completely baseless. Respondent argues that admitting the Giglio Policy would not result in any undue consumption of time and there is nothing prejudicial or confusing about it. Respondent seeks its admission as evidence of the impact that an adverse sanction ruling would have on his duties as an FBI agent. Respondent also avers that the Giglio Policy is a policy of the Justice Department that is publicly published on its website. As such, respondent argues that the document falls within the accepted public-records exception to the hearsay rule pursuant to N.J.R.E. 803(c)(6) and (8).

Initially, it is important to recognize that the question of relevancy must be distinguished from that of sufficiency and weight. Evidence, though weak, may be relevant if it tends to prove the issue. The purpose of the hearing is to give the respondent a full opportunity to present evidence of mitigation to determine whether a certificate suspension is appropriate. Respondent asserts that the Giglio Policy should be admitted and relied upon (together with other evidence, such as his testimony) as evidence of the impact that an adverse sanction ruling will have on his duties as an FBI agent. Petitioner objects to its admission based upon its claim that the Giglio Policy is irrelevant on the issue of mitigation. Petitioner's position fails to recognize that the impact a disciplinary action has on a teacher's career has been held to be a valid consideration in determining the proper penalty to be imposed when disciplining teachers. Although it concerned a tenured teacher that was appealing his dismissal for conduct unbecoming a teacher, the Appellate Division's admonition to the Commissioner regarding the penalty warranted by the teacher's actions in In re Tenure Hearing of Fulcomer, 93 N.J. Super. 404 (App. Div. 1967), is germane to the present matter. The court stated:

> We hold no brief for the teacher's conduct in this case. . . .
> Although such conduct [restraining a student] certainly warrants disciplinary action, the forfeiture of the teacher's rights after serving for a great many years in the New Jersey school system is, in our view, an unduly harsh penalty to be imposed under the circumstances. . . . However, consideration should be given to the impact of the penalty on appellant's teaching career, including the difficulty which would confront him, as a teacher dismissed for unbecoming conduct, in obtaining a teaching position in this State . . . .
>
> . . . We observe that the local board recognized that Fulcomer's teaching record was good and his teaching ability unquestioned. He had not been disciplined in any manner by the board prior to the date of the incidents involved in these charges, and he had consistently received pay raises each year.
>
> The matter is therefore remanded to the Commissioner of Education for the purpose of making an affirmative decision as to the proper penalty to be imposed. Such penalty should be based upon the Commissioner's findings as to the nature and gravity of the offenses under all the circumstances involved, any evidence as to provocation, extenuation or aggravation, and should take into consideration any harm or injurious effect which the teacher's conduct may have had > on the maintenance of discipline and the proper administration of the school system.

> [Fulcomer, 93 N.J. Super. at 421–22 (citation omitted) (emphasis added).]

Therefore, the issue presented by respondent's attempt to introduce the Giglio Policy into evidence is not one of relevance, but instead one of the sufficiency and weight to be accorded the policy. This issue is related to petitioner's objection to the admission of the Giglio Policy based upon its claim that it is hearsay. Respondent argues that petitioner's objection on hearsay grounds is completely baseless. He argues that the document falls within the accepted public-records exception to the hearsay rule pursuant to N.J.R.E. 803(c)(6) and (8).

As defined by the New Jersey Rules of Evidence, hearsay is "a statement, other than one made by the declarant while testifying at the trial or hearing, offered in evidence to prove the truth of the matter asserted." N.J.R.E. 801. Respondent argues that the Giglio Policy should be admitted as evidence of the impact that an adverse sanction ruling will have on his duties as an FBI agent.

N.J.R.E. 803(c)(6) provides that the following statements are not excluded by the hearsay rule, whether or not the declarant is available as a witness:

> Records of regularly conducted activity. --A statement contained in a writing or other record of acts, events, conditions, and, subject to Rule 808, opinions or diagnoses, made at or near the time of observation by a person with actual knowledge or from information supplied by such a person, if the writing or other record was made in the regular course of business and it was the regular practice of that business to make it, unless the sources of information or the method, purpose or circumstances of preparation indicate that it is not trustworthy.

And N.J.R.E. 803(c)(8) provides that the following statements are not excluded by the hearsay rule, whether or not the declarant is available as a witness:

> Public records, reports, and findings. --Subject to Rule 807, (A) a statement contained in a writing made by a public official of an act done by the official or an act, condition, or event observed by the official if it was within the scope of the official's duty either to perform the act reported or to observe the act, condition, or event reported and to make the written statement, or (B) statistical findings of a public official based upon a report of or an investigation of acts, conditions, or events, if it was within the scope of the official's duty to make such statistical findings, unless the sources of information or other circumstances indicate that such statistical findings are not trustworthy.

The Giglio Policy was adopted by the Justice Department in the regular course of its business. The Rules of Evidence provide that a "business includes activities of governmental agencies." N.J.R.E. 801(d). Both N.J.R.E. 803(c)(6) and (8) are "intended to cover admissibility of documents that are objectively reliable, were not prepared for a specific defendant, and have a sufficient guarantee of trustworthiness. State v. Hix, No. A-4616-05 (App. Div. May 29, 2009), <https://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/courts/>. Under both N.J.R.E. 803(6) and (8), any objection to the admissibility of a business or public record must be supported by some evidence that the record is not trustworthy. Ibid. Petitioner contends that the document has no foundation. However, pursuant to N.J.R.E. 902, extrinsic evidence of authenticity as a condition precedent to admissibility is not required of official publications, books, pamphlets, or other publications "purporting to be issued by public authority." N.J.R.E. 902(e). Because the Giglio Policy was adopted by the Justice Department in the regular course of its business and within the scope of its duties; it was not prepared for a specific defendant; it is publicly published on its website; and petitioner is not challenging its accuracy, the Giglio Policy falls within the hearsay exceptions for public records. N.J.R.E. 803(6) and (8). And it is self-authenticating. N.J.R.E. 902(e).

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Petitioner objects to the admission of the Giglio Policy as being irrelevant to the issue of mitigation. The question of relevancy, however, must be distinguished from that of sufficiency and weight. Evidence, though weak, may be relevant if it tends to prove the issue. The purpose of the hearing is to give the respondent a full opportunity to present evidence of mitigation to determine whether a certificate suspension is appropriate. Respondent seeks the policy's admission as evidence of the impact an adverse sanction ruling would have on his duties as an FBI agent. In Fulcomer, supra, 93 N.J. Super. 404, the impact a penalty would have on a teacher's career was recognized as being a valid consideration in determining the appropriate sanction. Therefore, respondent should have the opportunity to introduce the Giglio Policy on the issue of what sanction should be imposed. However, it will be accorded little weight, because respondent failed to introduce any additional evidence to buttress his assertion that the imposition of a one-year penalty will have any different effect on his ability to testify or perform his job than a shorter suspension period. The Certification of Eric Parisi, besides being hearsay, does not mention the Giglio Policy. All it states with regard to the effect that a penalty would have on Im's ability to perform his duties as an FBI agent is:

> I am advised that the suspension of Special Agent Im's teaching license would require a finding of "unprofessional" conduct. It would appear that such a consequence should be avoided in the absence of overwhelming proof of the alleged existence of truly unprofessional conduct.[5]

Mr. Im's testimony did nothing to shed light on the effect that a lesser penalty, or no penalty at all, would have on his ability to testify or to keep his job as a criminal investigator. Im testified that he was advised that under Giglio, if he had to testify in a criminal trial he would have to disclose to the government attorney that he had been found to have acted unprofessionally by leaving his job without proper notice.[6] Why a finding of "unprofessional conduct" would require him to disclose under Giglio is questionable, since it has nothing to do with credibility. But even if his testimony were to be believed, there is absolutely no evidence that a lesser penalty would impact his ability to testify or to retain his job as a criminal investigator. Therefore, there is no

[5] The respondent did not call Agent Parisi to the stand to be questioned as to what he meant by his statement.

[6] Besides being hearsay, Mr. Im's testimony on this issue is completely self-serving.

credible evidence to substantiate the assertion that the imposition of a lesser penalty or no penalty at all would affect his ability to remain an FBI criminal investigator.

The Commissioner has discretion pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8 to impose an appropriate sanction of up to a one-year suspension of a teacher's teaching certificate for unprofessional conduct in resigning their position without giving the required sixty days' notice.

It was clear from the testimony of the District's witnesses that, while the disruption to Mr. Im's students was not catastrophic, there were definitely consequences to his leaving early. While permanent teachers took on all but one of Mr. Im's classes, because of scheduling difficulty for labs, each student had three to four teachers from September until January.[7] While it is true, as the respondent argued, that there would have been a disruption no matter when Im left, the District would have had more time to try to find a replacement for Im and some of the disruption could have been alleviated had he waited the sixty days. In addition, at least one parent complained that the quality of the teaching of the substitute teacher was not up to the standards of the permanent teachers, and the principal had to talk to the substitute about the quality of his teaching. Mr. Im argued that he left all of his materials for the replacement teachers, and therefore credit should be given for his efforts. It appears that Mr. Im was a very capable and organized teacher. However, there was testimony that Mr. Im did not tell either the principal of the school or the replacement teachers that he had left the materials for them. While there was testimony that Mr. Im's materials were available to all the chemistry teachers, this was not due to any special effort on his part to help the teachers at the time of his precipitous departure. Rather, it was a result of his organization throughout the years. As far as his communicating with the students prior to his departure, Mr. Im said that he kept contact with some of the students because he wrote college letters of recommendation for a few of them. There was no testimony that he spoke to his classes before his departure to explain what was happening. The principal of the school, Mr. Palczewski, who was sympathetic toward Im, acknowledged that Im did not find a replacement for himself, nor did he recall Im offering to do so. A replacement was found because a newly hired teacher had a friend who decided to apply for the opening. Mr. Palczewski also testified that at the time Im left, he was not aware that the respondent had left his materials for the replacement teachers. Nor did Im talk to the principal about the students and any special needs.

N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 provides that "[a]ny teaching staff member employed by a board of education . . . who shall, without the consent of the board . . . , cease to perform his duties before the expiration of the term of his employment, shall be deemed guilty of unprofessional conduct, and the commissioner may, upon receiving notice thereof, suspend his certificate for a period not exceeding one year." See also N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.9. The Commissioner has held that the central purpose of N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 is "to provide notice to the school so that a suitable replacement can be hired without adversely impacting students." Penns Grove-Carneys Point Bd. of Educ. v. Leinen, 94 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 405, 407.

The decision to suspend a teaching certificate pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 is discretionary and the Commissioner has historically evaluated all circumstances specific to an individual case. As a general rule, however, with rare exception, the Commissioner has imposed suspensions for the one-year maximum period. Mooney, supra, 1984 S.L.D. at 821; In re Suspension of the Teaching Certificate of Capshaw, EDU 12318-06, Initial Decision (April 30, 2007), modified, Comm'r (June 12, 2007), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>; East Amwell Twp. Bd. of Educ. v. Acken, 1986 S.L.D. 2803. In this matter, there are factors that weigh on both sides of the ledger. While the District had had prior notice of the possibility of Mr. Im's leaving, those notices were vitiated by his subsequent disclosure that he had failed the physical and therefore would not be leaving. As the principal pointed out, the District could not advertise to fill a position until it was actually available. While the respondent's argument that the superintendent brought the charges out of vindictiveness or an attempt to assert his own power as the new administrator may have some validity, the fact is that the statute permits the bringing of charges in situations like this one. Mr. Im left on incredibly short notice, leaving the District to scramble for replacements. While Mr. Im was free to do so, that did not mean that there were not consequences to his actions. Mr. Im could have chosen to retake the physical in September and not begin the school year. However, he chose to wait, for his own benefit, until he felt that he would be more likely to pass. He also could have chosen to wait until the following year to take the physical. It is true that another freeze could have been instituted and he might not have been able to get the FBI job. He made the decisions he made based on his own self-interest. While it is true that the District did not suffer financial harm due to Mr. Im's departure and Mr. Im did not receive a windfall from his new job, the impact on the students also has to be considered. The purpose of the statute was to protect the students from unnecessary disruption caused by the precipitous departure of a teacher. Here, while the disruption was somewhat mitigated by the fact that seasoned teachers, who were teaching the same curriculum as Mr. Im, took his place in all but one section, there was still disruption, as Mr. Im's own witness testified. Ms. Marturano testified that she thought the disruption would have been greater for the students if Mr. Im stayed the sixty days because the students would have developed a bond with him. On the other hand, if he had stayed sixty days, it could have given the District time to make a smooth transition to a new teacher.

Mr. Im has relied on Burgess, supra, 1983 S.L.D. 183, and Mooney, supra, 1984 S.L.D. 810, for the proposition that sanctions should not be imposed. However, as the District pointed out, these cases can be distinguished from the present matter. In Burgess the school district failed to fulfill its promise to hire an immediate replacement when one was available. Similarly, in Mooney the Board had a candidate for replacement of the respondent on his anticipated release date. This case more closely mirrors Montalbano, supra, EDU 3588-00, Initial Decision (April 24, 2001), adopted, Comm'r (June 11, 2001), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>, where a tenured teacher accepted a position with the Ridgefield Police Department and gave twelve days' notice. The respondent tried to distinguish Montalbano by saying that Montalbano could have waited sixty days and sought a position at that time. In fact, we do not know if the position would have been available for Montalbano in sixty days. Likewise, while Mr. Im might have worried that another sequestration might have arisen, there is nothing in the record to demonstrate that a sequestration was contemplated by the agency.

Weighing all of the mitigating factors, I CONCLUDE that a six-month suspension of the respondent's teaching certificate is warranted at this time.

ORDER

Based on the above findings of fact and conclusions of law, I ORDER that the respondent's teaching certificate be suspended for a period of six months.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

RESPONDENT.	:

The record, proposed settlement agreement and release, and Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed – mindful of the Commissioner's January 23, 2017 determination that the prior settlement agreement did not comply with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.13, as it was neither signed by the Board's attorney, nor contained a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement and designating the Board President to sign the agreement on its behalf. Since the settlement agreement now contains a copy of the Board resolution approving the settlement, the Commissioner can approve the within agreement in its present form.

Additionally, the Commissioner notes that the settlement makes reference to a monthly payment intended to begin on August 15, 2016. The parties are reminded that a settlement of litigation before the Commissioner is not binding until the Commissioner approves the proposed terms.

Subject to the foregoing, the Commissioner approves the parties' settlement and adopts the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter, which is hereby dismissed subject to compliance with the terms of the settlement.

This Settlement Agreement ("Agreement") is made this ____ day of June, 2016, by and between Petitioner J.T. ("J.T.") o/b/o J.T., A.T., and B.T. ("Children"), and Respondent/Cross-Petitioner South Brunswick Board of Education ("Board") (hereinafter collectively referred to as the "Parties").

WHEREAS, on or about February 26, 2016, J.T. filed a Pro Se Residency Appeal with the Commissioner of Education, which was docketed as 61-2/16 ("Petition"), challenging the Board's August 8, 2016 determination that J.T.'s Children did not reside in South Brunswick during the 2015-16 school year; and

WHEREAS, on or about April 12, 2016, the Board filed an Answer to J.T.'s Petition and also filed a Cross-Petition for tuition costs for J.T.'s Children; and

WHEREAS, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for a hearing before the Honorable Jeffrey Gerson, A.L.J. on June 20, 2016, which was docketed as EDU 05774-2016N; and

WHEREAS, the Parties intend to adopt, by way of compromise, without any admission of liability, all claims which were either raised or could have been raised in the Petition and Cross-Petition ; and

NOW THEREFORE, in consideration of the foregoing and of the mutual agreements contained herein, and intending to be legally bound, the Parties agree as follows:

1. This Agreement sets forth all the terms and conditions of the Parties' agreement.
2. J.T. agrees to pay the Board a total sum of thirteen thousand dollars ($13,000.00).

RECEIVED
2011 FEB 22 P 4: 39
STATE OF NEW JERSEY
OFFICE OF ADMIN. LAW

a. Said amount shall be paid by J.T. over the course of sixty-one (61) monthly installment payments.

b. All monthly payments by J.T. shall be in the form of a check or money order made payable to the "South Brunswick School District."

c. All monthly payments shall be sent by J.T. to:

South Brunswick School District
P.O. Box. 181
Monmouth Junction, New Jersey 08852
Attention: School Business Administrator

d. The first payment by J.T. shall be in the amount of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00), and is due to the Board on or before August 15, 2016.

e. The remaining balance of twelve thousand dollars ($12,000.00) shall be paid to the Board in sixty (60) monthly installments of two hundred dollars ($200.00) each, beginning in September 2016. Each of these monthly sixty (60) payments is due to the Board on or before the 5th of each month.

f. If the initial monthly payment is not received by the Board by August 25, 2016, or if any subsequent payment is not received by the Board by the 15th of the respective month, the Board shall send J.T. a letter via certified and regular mail informing J.T. of his default of this Agreement. If J.T.'s default is not cured within five (5) days of the date of the Board's letter, the Board shall apply to the Office of Administrative Law or New Jersey Superior Court for a default judgment in the amount of thirty thousand dollars ($30,000), minus the amount already paid by J.T., if any. If it becomes necessary for the Board to seek a default judgment, J.T. agrees that the Board shall be entitled to counsel fees and costs associated with that application.

g. J.T. understands that his obligation to pay the full sum of thirteen thousand dollars ($13,000.00) in accordance with this Agreement shall remain in effect even if J.T. and/or his Children does not reside in South Brunswick.

3. J.T. has informed the Court that he is in the process of renting an apartment in South Brunswick, and that his Children will be residing with him in the South Brunswick apartment. As such, J.T. agrees to provide the Board with a copy of the fully executed lease agreement if and when he registers his Children for school in accordance with Paragraph 4.

4. J.T. understands that he is required to register his Children in the South Brunswick School District for the 2016-17 school year, provide sufficient proof of residency and comply with all Board Residency/Registration requirements and policies and student residency laws at all times.

5. In exchange for the promises set forth above, J.T. agrees to dismiss the instant Petition and the Board agrees to dismiss its Cross-Petition.

6. Additionally, J.T. agrees to and hereby releases and gives up any and all claims and rights which he may have against the Board (including any of its officers, employees, agents and representatives). This releases all claims of J.T. and his Children, including those of which J.T. is not aware and those not expressly mentioned in this Release. This Release applies to claims resulting from anything which has happened up until and through the date of execution of this Agreement by J.T.

7. The Parties agree that this Agreement, and all of its terms, are and will remain confidential to the maximum extent possible by law. J.T. is expressly forbidden from discussing this Agreement with any person, other than his accountants, tax advisers, and attorney ("permitted disclosures"), and any other individual or entity as necessary to implement the Agreement or to which he is legally obligated to respond ("legally-required disclosures").

8. This Agreement may not be modified, altered, changed, discharged, terminated or waived, except upon express written consent of the Parties.
9. This Agreement shall not serve as a precedent for any other matter.
10. The Parties acknowledge that they have entered into this Agreement voluntarily and hereby sign it without duress or coercion, and with the opportunity to consult counsel.
11. This Agreement shall be governed by the laws of the State of New Jersey.
12. The Parties agree that this Agreement may be signed in counterparts and that facsimile of signatures will have the same force and effect as original signatures.
13. The Agreement is subject to the formal approval of the Board

Re: Board of Education of the City of Englewood, Bergen County v. Board of Education of the Borough of Englewood Cliffs, Bergen County, Agency Docket No. 31-2/17.

Dear Counsel:

I have reviewed the Petition for Declaratory Ruling in the above-captioned matter, together with the respondent's purported answer to the petition. Upon such review, I have determined to exercise my discretion to decline the request pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-8 and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-2.1(a)1, and instead direct that this matter shall proceed as a petition of appeal pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.1 et seq.

Accordingly, petitioner's request for declaratory ruling is declined; this matter shall be transmitted forthwith to the Office of Administrative Law.

Sincerely,

Kimberley Harrington

IN THE MATTER FO THE TENURE HEARING OF JUDITH EVANS, BURLINGTON COUNTY INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY, BURLINGTON COUNTY	STATE OF NEW JERSEY DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION Agency Docket Number: 318-12/16 SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND WITHDRAWAL OF TENURE CHARGES

This matter having been brought before the Commissioner of Education on December 16, 2016, by the PETITIONER, Burlington County Institute of Technology, against RESPONDENT, Judith Evans and;

WHEREAS, PETITIONER alleged that RESPONDENT engaged in unbecoming conduct as a certificated and tenured employee of the Burlington County Institute of Technology; and

WHEREAS, PETITIONER alleged that RESPONDENT, a tenured faculty member, engaged in a pattern of inappropriate conduct by operating a concession stand from 2010 or 2011 until 2015 at Burlington County Institute of Technology Boys Basketball games in violation of Board Policy; and

WHEREAS, RESPONDENT has denied and continues to deny the allegations; and

WHEREAS, RESPONDENT operated the concession stand with the full knowledge of School District administrators, specifically the building principal, but was not previously subjected to discipline as a result of her operating the concession stand; and

WHEREAS, Counsel for PETITIONER and RESPONDENT attended an initial conference with Arbitrator Lewis R. Amis; and

WHEREAS, during the initial conference the Arbitrator indicated that the PETITIONER would have a difficult time proving the allegation of unbecoming conduct as set forth in the complaint; and

WHEREAS, the Arbitrator indicated that even assuming the PETITIONER was able to prove the facts alleged in the complaint, in all likelihood PETITIONER would not be able to sustain its burden to terminate RESPONDENT for multiple reasons including the facts that RESPONDENT operated the concession stand for five (5) years without supervisory notice that she acted in violation of Board Policy and served PETITIONER for 22 years without discipline; and

WHEREAS, based on the totality of the circumstances PETITIONER has requested to withdraw of the Tenure charges subject to the following conditions; and

WHEREAS, the withdrawal and dismissal of the Tenure charges is in accordance with the public interest as it will reduce the financial burden on the PETITIONER, eliminate the need and required expense to prosecute the charges, and facilitate the return of a highly experienced certificated faculty member; and

WHEREAS, this Settlement is being submitted in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6.

NOW THEREFORE this matter in difference having been amicably adjusted by and between the parties, it is hereby stipulated and agreed that the tenure charges are hereby withdrawn and the matter is hereby dismissed, without costs against any party, with prejudice, subject to the following terms and conditions:

1. PETITIONER hereby withdraws the tenure charges against RESPONDENT.

2. The parties agree that the withdrawal of the tenure charges is in accordance with the public interest and prefer the mutual resolution of the tenure charges without the cost and risk of protracted litigation.
3. PETITIONER will issue a letter to RESPONDENT indicating that RESPONDENT violated Board Policy relating to her operation of the Burlington County Boys' Basketball Team Concession Stand and the PETITONER expects RESPONDENT and all BCIT employees to abide by Board Policy. ARBITIRATOR Amis will have final approval of said letter.
4. RESPONDENT shall be reinstated and shall return to work on Monday, February 27, 2017, to the same position, though different campus, that she held at the time the tenure charges were filed. On February 27, 2017, RESPONDENT shall report to Burlington County Institute of Technology Medford Campus.
5. RESPONDENT has entered into this Agreement freely and voluntarily.
6. RESPONDENT has a full understanding of her rights.
7. RESPONDENT has not lost her position as a result of the filed tenure charges; therefore, there appears to be no basis for the Commissioner or PETITIONER to refer this matter to the State Board of Examiners for any action in regard to RESPONDENT'S certifications.
8. PETITIONER agrees to make the RESPONDENT whole as to any and all entitlements owed, and any and all payments made as a result of such charges, including but not limited to the restoration of all vacation, sick, and personal days, as well as reimbursement for any COBRA payments made by RESPONDENT and such other benefits as set forth in the applicable collective bargaining agreement to which the Respondent is entitled.

9. The Parties consent to the terms and conditions of this Agreement and agree to be bound by same.

The PETITIONER and RESPONDENT consent to the entry and form of the within Agreement both as to fact and content.

CITY OF ORANGE TOWNSHIP, ESSEX COUNTY,	:	APPLICATION FOR EMERGENT RELIEF
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this emergent matter, the sound recording of proceedings at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the recommended Order of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ, for the reasons thoroughly set forth in the recommended Order.

The ALJ denied petitioner's request for emergent relief and dismissed the matter on the merits by way of an Order on Emergent Relief, finding that the Commissioner does not have jurisdiction to hear the case. The Commissioner afforded the parties the opportunity to file exceptions pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4. The parties did not file exceptions.

Accordingly, the recommended Order of the OAL, denying petitioner's application for emergent relief and dismissing the case for lack of jurisdiction, is adopted as the final decision in this matter for the reasons expressed therein. This case is hereby dismissed with prejudice.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF ORANGE TOWNSHIP,

Petitioner,

v.

CITY OF ORANGE TOWNSHIP, ESSEX COUNTY,

Respondent.

Steven J. Edelstein, Esq., for petitioner (Schwartz, Simon, Edelstein & Celso, attorneys)

Robert L. Tarver, Jr., Esq., for respondent

Record Closed: February 27, 2017 Decided: February 28, 2017

BEFORE MICHAEL ANTONIEWICZ, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The Board of Education of the City of Orange Township (petitioner) filed an emergent motion in connection with the adoption of a Referendum question which was adopted by the voters of the City of Orange Township to move from an appointed Board of Education to an elected Board of Education as placed on the ballot by the City Council of Orange Township. As the acts of the City Council as a legislative body are involved herein, the City Council is the respondent in this matter and not the City of Orange Township itself.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On February 3, 2017, petitioner filed a Verified Petition with the Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Education, along with a request for emergent relief. On February 8, 2017, the emergent matter was filed, along with the Verified request, with the Office of Administrative Law (OAL). The emergent relief request was first scheduled for oral argument on February 17, 2017, and was adjourned at the request of the respondent's attorney. The matter was rescheduled for February 22, 2017, and was again adjourned at the request of the petitioner's attorney. Oral argument was conducted on February 27, 2017.

In this emergent matter, petitioner submitted a Verified Petition and an application for emergent relief. On November 8, 2016, the voters of the City of Orange Township approved a Referendum question. The Referendum sought to change the Board of Education from an appointed entity to an elected entity. Petitioner claims that the Referendum was worded incorrectly and inconsistently, the interpretive statement was unlawful and that the financial consequences are disastrous to the school district.

As a side issue, and not related to any substantive issues in this case, the Deputy City Attorney, who represents the City of Orange Township, attempted to file a letter, dated February 23, 2017, with only a Certification from the Township Mayor, Dwayne D. Warren, which was addressed to the Commissioner of Education with copies sent to the undersigned and the respective attorneys. The letter states that the Deputy City Attorney "represents defendant, City of Orange Township in connection with the above matter." As stated herein above, the City of Orange Township itself is not a party to this action and did not seek to intervene in this case and thus has no standing to file paperwork in this case. As such, the paperwork submitted by the Deputy City Attorney was not accepted and did not play a role in the ultimate decision on this application. The attorney for the City of Orange Township was permitted to speak at the hearing on February 27, 2017, but agreed that he would not add anything different from the arguments presented by Mr. Edelstein on behalf of the City of Orange Township Board of Education. Both Mr. Edelstein and Mr. Tarver agreed that despite the error in the caption, the true parties of interest in this matter are the City of Orange Township Board of Education and the City Council of Orange Township.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

The Orange School District (District) is comprised entirely of the City of Orange Township. Prior to November 8, 2016, the District was a Type 1 school district. As such, when it was necessary to bond for capital projects, an appropriate Resolution would be passed by the Board of School Estimate and thereafter, the City would enact an appropriate Bond Ordinance, relying on the credit of the City.

On July 6, 2016, the Council passed a resolution calling for a referendum at the next general election to be held on November 8, 2016, for the City of Orange Township to change from that of an appointed school board to an elected school board effective immediately. With the first school board election to be held during the November 2017 general election.

The Resolution also contained this language in the main body of the Resolution: "BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that upon the commencement of the November, 2017, general election, this resolution shall take full force and effect forthwith." On November 8, 2016, the following question appeared on the ballot in the City:

CITY OF ORANGE TOWNSHIP
MUNICIPAL PUBLIC QUESTION

> Shall the Board of Education of the City of Orange Township be changed from a board that is appointed by the Mayor, to a Board that is elected by the residents of Orange, effective immediately, with the first school board election to be held during the November 2017 general election.

INTERPRETIVE STATEMENT

> Presently the mayor appoints members to serve on the City's Board of Education. If changed to a board of elected members, the residents will have more control over who serves on the board of education.

The Interpretive Statement was neither approved by nor contained in a Resolution passed by the Council. The voters of the City were never advised prior to the election on November 8, 2016:

1) that the District would be changes from Type 1 District to a Type II District;
2) that the Board of School Estimate would be eliminated;
3) that future bonding for capital projects would have to be approved by public referendum;
4) that future bonding for capital projects would be based on the credit of the District rather than on the City;
5) that the size of the Board would increase from seven to nine;
6) that the first election of board members would take place in March of 2017; and
7) that the Resolution of the Board of School Estimate for capital improvements passed in March of 2015 would, as a practical matter, become null and void and that financing of the capital improvements would be back to square one.

Petitioner argues that the failure of the respondent to properly inform the voters and the public about the above issues violates the letter, spirit and intent of the law that the vote on the Referendum on November 8, 2016 must be declared null and void.

On November 14, 2016, the Council passed, on the first reading, Ordinance 65-2016, entitled:

> Bond School District by the City of Orange Township, in the County ordinance providing for improvements to various School buildings and grounds on behalf of the Orange Board of Education Public of Essex, New Jersey, appropriating $3,700,000 bonds or notes of the City to finance the cost thereof.

The minutes indicate that the Clerk read the Ordinance with an amended amount of $2,506,000. On December 20, 2016, the Ordinance was passed by the Council unanimously on its second reading.

LEGAL DISCUSSION

Jurisdiction by the Commissioner of Education

A necessary preliminary issue which must be addressed is whether the Commissioner of Education has jurisdiction to hear this matter. Respondent, the City Council of the City of Orange Township, argues that the Commissioner of Education lacks such jurisdiction and the petitioner, the City of Orange Township Board of Education, argues that the Commissioner of Education has such jurisdiction.

The applicable statute addressing jurisdiction is N.J.S.A. Title 18A:6-9 which provides in part:

> Commissioner shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine, without cost to the parties, all controversies and disputes arising under the school laws, excepting those governing higher education, or under the rules of the State board or of the commissioners.

However, when defining what actions constitute controversies and disputes under the school laws, the statute specifically excludes the conduct of school elections by stating:

> For purposes of this Title, controversies and disputes concerning the conduct of school elections shall not be deemed to arise under the school laws. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9.

Thus the issue as presented is whether the Referendum switching the Board of Education from a Type I school district to a Type II school district arises under the exception of jurisdiction under Title 18A.

In addition, Black's Law Dictionary defines "election" as:

> The act of choosing or selecting one or more from a greater number of persons, things, courses, or rights. The choice of an alternative. The internal, free and spontaneous separation of one thing from another, without compulsion, consisting in intention and will. The selection of one person from a specified class to discharge certain duties in a state, corporation or society. With respect to the choice of persons to fill public office or the decision of a particular public question or public policy the term means in ordinary usage the expression by vote of the will of the people of a somewhat numerous body of electors.
> Black's Law Dictionary 464-465 (7th ed. 1999) (emphasis added).

Petitioner, in its submission of February 23, 2017, argues that this matter remains under Title 18A and that the 1995 statutory revisions did not remove from the Commissioner of Education under that Title. The petitioner states that this case is not a dispute over a school election. Petitioner further states that the effects of the passed Referendum are far-reaching and that the voting public was essentially unaware of those effects including eliminating the Board of Estimate and invalidating previously approved funding for the schools. Petitioner goes on to attack the procedure which took place on this public question. It states that this matter is predominantly a Title 18A issue even though some of the issues are Title 19 issues and that its selection of the venue to litigate this matter should be given deference unless no such jurisdiction exists.

Petitioner's position only serves to reinforce that this matter is predominately a Title 19 issue regarding the procedure surrounding this school election. And any alleged violations of the procedural process for school elections are to be brought in Superior Court. N.J.S.A. 19:28-1. The petitioner makes broad allegations that the "residents were unaware that they were voting to convert the Board to a Title II district" and that "the referendum directly impacted bond financing for the educational needs of Orange students." Petitioner cites the fact that the Commissioner of Education has jurisdiction to review bond ordinances to finance school projects and may order the issuance of bonds regardless of public approval. Plainly, the referendum is not a bond ordinance, nor does it deal with the direct issuance of bonds.

Based on the plain reading of the above definition of an election and the exclusion regarding the conduct of school board elections, it is clear that the Commissioner of Education does not have jurisdiction to hear this case and, instead, it should be brought in the Superior Court of New Jersey. Even accepting as true the allegations of errors in the Referendum process, the petitioner is clearly with a remedy by application in the Superior Court despite its argument that it is without any remedy. I am also concerned about the petitioner's failure to act in a timely matter. The Resolution was considered and passed by the City Council of Orange Township on July 6, 2016, calling for a Referendum question to be placed on the ballot for the voters to express their will regarding a change of the type of school district in Orange. The general election was held on November 8, 2016 and the voters passed the Referendum and approved the change of form. This matter was not filed with the Office of Administrative Law until February 8, 2017 with no other action being taken by the petitioner prior to this or any other venue.

Based on the finding reached in this case, there is no need to fully address the standard for emergent relief (N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6) and further set forth in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982) and argued by the respective parties in their submissions in favor and opposed to the relief requested in the petitioner's petition and application for emergent relief.

For the foregoing reasons, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has failed to demonstrate that this venue has the proper jurisdiction to hear this case. Consequently, the petitioner's request for emergency relief is denied and this matter if dismissed.

ORDER

Having concluded that petitioners are not entitled to the requested emergent relief, it is hereby ORDERED that the petitioner's request for emergency relief be DENIED and that the Commissioner of Education does not have jurisdiction to hear this appeal and thus this matter if hereby DISMISSED.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five days following the entry of this order. If the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

DECISION

SYNOPSIS

Pro se petitioner appealed the determination of the respondent Board that her children, W.Y. and D.Y., are not entitled to a free public education in North Arlington schools. Petitioner contended, inter alia, that she has three separate residences in New Jersey, but is legally domiciled in North Arlington. The respondent Board of Education of North Arlington argued that Y.Y. is not legally domiciled within the school district, and filed a motion for summary decision, as well as a counterclaim for tuition. Petitioner filed opposition to the motion for summary decision, asserting that there are genuine issues in dispute which warrant an evidentiary hearing. The Board of Education of the Vocational Schools of Bergen County filed a motion to intervene, as one of petitioner's children attends vocational school at the expense of the North Arlington school district.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue in this matter, and the case is ripe for summary decision; written certifications submitted by the Board in support of its motion for summary decision – from the Board's Superintendent of Schools, the Business Administrator for the district, and a former neighbor who lived near petitioner's residence in Kearny, Hudson County – all attested to the apparent residency of petitioner and her sons in Kearny; and petitioner failed to submit anything to refute the factual assertions of the Board or the documentary evidence contained in the Board's certifications. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that petitioner is a resident of Kearny, not North Arlington, awarded summary decision to the Board, and ordered that petitioner reimburse the Board for tuition in the total amount of $21,883.94 for the 2014-2015, 2015-2016, and 2016-2017 school years.

Upon review, the Commissioner found, inter alia, that: there are genuine issues of material fact herein; therefore, summary decision is not appropriate; petitioner submitted numerous documents to support her claim of residency in North Arlington, and filed an affidavit certifying that she "...has three residences in the state of New Jersey and is domiciled in North Arlington, New Jersey"; and the ALJ failed to consider the evidence in the light most favorable to petitioner, the non-moving party. Accordingly, the Commissioner rejected the Initial Decision and remanded the matter to the OAL for further proceedings.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF NORTH ARLINGTON, BERGEN COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT,	:
AND	:
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE VOCATIONAL SCHOOLS OF BERGEN COUNTY, BERGEN COUNTY,	:
INTERVENOR.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed, as have the exceptions filed by petitioner and the North Arlington Board of Education (Board) – pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 – and the petitioner's reply thereto. The Board's reply was untimely filed and was therefore not considered by the Commissioner. Petitioner's reply to the Board's reply was also not considered, as N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 does not allow such a filing.

In her exceptions, petitioner argues that the ALJ erred in granting summary decision to the Board because there are genuine issues of material fact, which render summary decision inappropriate. Petitioner contends that the ALJ viewed the facts in the light most favorable to the Board, rather than the non-moving party, and made numerous credibility determinations. Petitioner contends that through a hearing, the ALJ would have been able to hear testimony and make credibility determinations, but petitioner did not have the opportunity for a hearing. Additionally, petitioner points out that the ALJ failed to consider the documents she submitted, including tax bills, certificate of occupancy, voter registration, utility bills, W-2 statement, and bank statements. Petitioner maintains that while she has three residences, her domicile is in North Arlington; yet the ALJ failed to mention that she owns property in North Arlington, and avoided using the term "domicile" in his Initial Decision. The ALJ instead considered evidence of petitioner using her Kearny residence, but petitioner maintains that she has the right to use that property. Petitioner further emphasizes that the ALJ failed to consider case law involving the domicile of individuals who own multiple residences.

Petitioner also argues that the ALJ's assessment of tuition was incorrect. For example, petitioner contends that D.Y. only attended sixth grade for ten days, rather than the 127 days found by the ALJ. Petitioner contends that the information relied upon by the ALJ in the Marano Certification, Exhibit 4, is unclear as to how many days D.Y. attended school. Finally, petitioner challenges the ALJ's denial of her motion to suppress the Board's evidence, and argues that the ALJ has a conflict of interest.

In its exceptions, the Board argues that the ALJ correctly found that petitioner is not a resident of North Arlington and, as such, is liable for tuition for the period of her children's ineligible attendance. However, the Board contends that the ALJ failed to factor into consideration the payments that the Board has made to the Bergen County Technical School for W.Y.'s attendance for the months since the Board submitted its motion. Specifically, the Board contends that it is entitled to reimbursement for the additional payments made on February 28 and March 27, 2017.

In reply to the Board's exceptions, petitioner argues that the Board's calculation of tuition is false.

Upon review, the Commissioner agrees with petitioner that there are genuine issues of material fact herein, and summary decision should not be granted in this circumstance. A motion for summary decision may be granted "if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue of material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). In evaluating such a motion, the ALJ must "consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to permit a rational factfinder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party." Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520, 540 (1995).

The ALJ found that there was no material fact in dispute. "Petitioner did not submit anything to refute the factual assertions, or the documentary evidence" in the certifications submitted by the Board. (Initial Decision, at 10) The ALJ noted that "[p]ointedly, there is no rebuttal at all to the observations of the North Arlington Police Department, Mr. Gilmore, Mr. O'Connor, or to the Kearny Police Department incident reports, all of which amply demonstrate that Petitioner is a resident of Kearny, New Jersey." (Initial Decision, at 10-11)

The Commissioner notes that in opposition to the Board's motion for summary decision, petitioner submitted the following evidence to support her position that her domicile is in North Arlington: (1) the deed to her North Arlington property; (2) property tax bills; (3) a certificate of occupancy; (4) electric/gas bills and Verizon bills; (5) voter registration; (6) grand juror summons with payment stubs for grand jury service; (7) home health aide certification; (8) photos of her North Arlington property; (9) correspondence regarding Verizon Fios service; (10) W-2; and (11) bank statements. Petitioner subsequently submitted an affidavit, certifying that – among other things – "Petitioner has three residences in the state of New Jersey and is domiciled in North Arlington, New Jersey." (Petitioner's affidavit, dated January 17, 2017, at ¶5)

Considering the standard for summary decision, petitioner's certified statement that she is domiciled in North Arlington – in addition to the documentary evidence that petitioner submitted – creates a genuine issue of material fact as to petitioner's domicile. Although the Board submitted certifications and evidence in support of its position that petitioner is domiciled in Kearny, the ALJ was required to consider the evidence in the light most favorable to petitioner, as the non-moving party. When viewing the evidence in that manner, there is a genuine issue of material fact that prevents this matter from being decided by way of summary decision. Instead, at a hearing on the merits, the ALJ will be able to make credibility determinations as to the witnesses and weigh all of the evidence presented before deciding the matter.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is rejected – for the reasons expressed herein – and the matter is remanded to the OAL for further proceedings.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

BEFORE THOMAS R. BETANCOURT, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner challenges the residency decision of Respondent. The Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on June 22, 2016 as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

A prehearing conference was held on July 12, 2016, and a prehearing Order was entered by the undersigned on July 13, 2016.

An amended prehearing Order was entered by the undersigned on August 19, 2016.

The Board of Education of the Vocational Schools in Bergen County filed a motion to intervene on August 1, 2016. Respondent filed its response to said motion on August 3, 2016, wherein it indicated it had no objection to said motion being granted. Petitioner did not file a response to said motion. An Order granting the motion was entered by the undersigned on August 17, 2016.

Respondent filed a motion for leave to amend its Answer, and include a Counterclaim, on August 22, 2016. Petitioner filed a letter in opposition to said motion on August 22, 2016. An Order granting the motion was entered by the undersigned on August 23, 2016. Respondent filed an Amended Answer and Counterclaim seeking tuition reimbursement, dated August 23, 2016.

Respondent filed a motion for Summary Decision dated November 1, 2016. Petitioner was granted an extension of time to respond to said motion, with the consent of Respondent, until December 1, 2016. Interpleader filed a brief in support of its interests on December 2, 2016.

The Town of Kearny filed a motion to Quash a Subpoena issued by Petitioner. Said Motion was filed on November 16, 2016. Respondent, Petitioner, and Interpleader filed no response thereto.

Respondent filed a motion to Quash a Subpoena issued by Petitioner. Said motion was filed on November 28, 2016. Respondent requested a telephone conference as well. A telephone conference was held on November 29, 2016, wherein the undersigned advised the parties that discovery was closed and that no further discovery requests shall be made. Petitioner was also given until January 2, 2017, to file their opposition to Respondent's motion for summary decision.

Petitioners filed their response to Respondent's motion to Quash a Subpoena on December 12, 2016.

By Order dated December 28, 2016, the motions to quash subpoenas filed by the Town of Kearny and Respondent were granted; and, Petitioner's request for discovery was also granted.

Petitioner filed a brief in opposition to Respondent's motion for summary decision on January 3, 2017. Respondent filed its reply thereto on January 17, 2017. Petitioner filed a certificate of mailing and an affidavit on January 23, 2017.

Petitioner filed a motion to suppress evidence on January 9, 2017.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

Respondent, in support of its motion for summary decision, filed the following:

1. Certification of Dr. Oliver W. Stringham, Superintendent of the North Arlington Public Schools (District), wherein Dr. Stringham asserts he sent a letter, dated November 2, 2015, to Petitioner at xxx Park Place, Kearny, New Jersey, and xx Union Place, North Arlington, New Jersey. (Exhibit 1.) In said letter Dr. Stringham advised Petitioner that her children, D.Y. and W.Y., could continue their enrollment in the District until the Board of Education (Board) could review evidence and make a determination as to residency. (Exhibit 1, p. 1.) Petitioner was invited to a closed hearing before the Board on November 16, 2015. (Exhibit 1, pp. 2-3.)

2. Certification of Kathleen Marano, Business Administrator for the District, wherein Ms. Marano outlined the District's concern over Petitioner's residency. Part of her duties includes attending all Board meetings and record minutes of the meetings. Petitioner was requested to provide proof of residency by North Arlington Middle School Principal Nicole Russo, at the instruction of Dr. Stringham. The Board reviewed documents provided by Petitioner, including a utility bill for the North Arlington house in the amount of $54, which the Board believed to be too low. (Exhibit 1.) The Board also reviewed a police report prepared by North Arlington Police Department Detective Anthony Scala. (Exhibit 2.) Detective Scala, on September 16 and 17, 2015, observed a vehicle registered to Petitioner parked in the same spot for two consecutive days in front of the North Arlington house. On September 17, 2015, at 6:30 a.m. Detective Scala observed Petitioner and a teenage male leave 105 Park Place in Kearny, New Jersey, and enter a vehicle registered to Petitioner and travel to an unknown location. (Exhibit 2.) Approximately an hour later he observed D.Y. exit the Kearny residence and enter a Toyota Sienna with an elderly man, who dropped D.Y. off at school in North Arlington. Detective Scala informed Petitioner of his observations and Petitioner admitted that she drove W.Y. to school from the Kearny residence. Ms. Marano also states the Board was advised of surveillance video taken in February and April 2016 showing Petitioner and her sons engaging in activities of daily living at the Kearny residence, including departing for school in North Arlington. The Board also reviewed screen shots of the video. (Exhibit 3.) At the residency hearing on December 14, 2015, the Board requested that Petitioner allow a Board member, the Board attorney, with Petitioner and her attorney, to visit her residence in North Arlington. Petitioner refused and requested another hearing date. The new date was May 2, 2016. After fifteen minutes, Petitioner left the meeting as the Board was not immediately available to her. This determined that Petitioner and her sons did not reside in North Arlington. D.Y. and W.Y. were dis-enrolled on May 4, 2016. W.Y. continues to attend Bergen County Technical Schools at the District's expense. Mr. Marano then outlined tuition costs for both W.Y. and D.Y. (Exhibits 5, 6, and 7.)

3. Certification of Matthew Gilmore, who resided at xxx Park Place, Kearny, New Jersey, the house adjacent to Petitioner's Kearny residence. Mr. Gilmore no longer resides at this address, but his mother continues to reside there. Mr. Gilmore reviews the surveillance video obtained from the Park Place address. The video shows Petitioner, her husband, and two sons engaging in activities of daily living at Petitioner's Kearny residence. The undersigned viewed the video in its entirety. Additionally, Mr. Gilmore sets forth his personal observations of Petitioner during the time he resided at xxx Park Place, where he consistently saw Petitioner and her two sons leave their Kearny residence early in the morning at various times during the year.

Respondent, in opposition to the motion for summary decision, filed the following:

1. Affidavit of Petitioner wherein Petitioner merely states there are genuine issues in dispute which warrant an evidentiary hearing.

FINDINGS OF FACT

1. The North Arlington Board of Education is a School District in the County of Bergen.

2. The Township of Kearny is in Hudson County.

3. D.Y. attended fourth grade in the District for eighty-four days for the 2013/2014 school year. (Marano Certification, ¶22, Exhibit 4, NASD 0291-292.)

4. In the 2013/2014 school year the pupil tuition rate for grades one through five was $11,307. (Marano Certification, Exhibit 4, NASD 0293.)

5. D.Y. attended fifth grade in the District for 168 days for the 2014/2015 school year. (Marano Certification, Exhibit 4, NASD 0289-290.)

6. In the 2014/2015 school year the pupil tuition rate for grades one through five was $10,844. (Marano Certification, Exhibit 5, NASD 0294.)

7. D.Y. attended sixth grade in the District for 127 days for the 2015/2016 school year. (Marano Certification, Exhibit 4, NASD 0287-288.)

8. In the 2015/2016 school year the pupil tuition rate for grades six through eight was $12,290. (Marano Certification, Exhibit 5, NASD 0295.)

9. In the 2014/2015 school year the District paid Bergen County Technical Schools (Bergen Tech) $8,568 on behalf of W.Y. (Marano Certification, Exhibit 5, NASD 00235-245.)

10. In the 2015/2016 school year the District paid Bergen Tech $7,081 on behalf of W.Y. Marano Certification, Exhibit 6, NASD 00246-249.)

11. As of October 28, 2016, In the 2016/2017 the District has paid Bergen Tech $940 on behalf of W.Y. (Marano Certification, Exhibit 7, NASD 00296-29.7)

12. The District has received an invoice from Bergen Tech for W.Y. in the amount of $841. (Marano Certification, Exhibit 7, NASD 0297.)

13. W.Y. attends the Bergen Tech presently. He has attended Bergen Tech for the 2014/2015, 2015/2016 and 2016/2017 school years. (Marano Certification, Exhibit 4, NASD 0235-245, 0246-249, 0296-297.)

14. North Arlington Police Department surveillance of Petitioner's residences in North Arlington and Kearny on September 16 and 17, 2015, shows Petitioner and her two sons residing at the Kearny residence. Petitioner admitted to North Arlington Police that she did drive W.Y. to school. (Marano Certification, Exhibit 2.)

15. Kearny Police Department incident reports dated May 7, 2014, May 23, 2014, September 15, 2014, June 18, 2015, and July 26, 2016, show Petitioner and her two sons residing at the Kearny residence over an extended period of time. (Herrmann Certification, Exhibits B, C, D, E, and H.)

16. The report of private investigator James O'Conner, retained by the District shows Petitioner driving her son to Bergen Tech from the Kearny residence on October 13, 2016, at approximately 7:03 a.m.

17. Matthew Gilmore's Certification establishes that Petitioner and her two sons resided at their Kearny residence at least since 2014 through the present via both his personal observations and the video obtained from his mother's surveillance camera.

18. A review of the video surveillance clearly shows Petitioner, her husband, and her two sons residing at the Kearny residence at the times the video was made: February 25, 2016; April 4, 2016; April 5, 2016; April 18, 2016; July 13, 2016; July 14, 2016; July 15, 2016; July 18, 2016; September 8, 2016; and, September 17, 2016. (Gilmore Certification, Exhibits 1, 2, 3, 3a, 3b, 4, 4a, 4b, 4c, 4d, 5, 5a, 5b, 5c, 5d, 5e, 6, 6a, 6b, 6c, 7, 7a, 7b, 7c, 7d, 8, 8a, 8b, 8c, 8d, 8e, 9, 9a, 9b, 9c, 9d, 9e, 10, 10a, and 10b.)

19. The District informed Petitioner via letter from Dr. Stringham that the District does not believe she resides in North Arlington and afforded her the opportunity to appear before the Board. Said letter also informed Petitioner of her right to appeal to the Commissioner of the Department of Education, and that D.Y. and W.Y. could remain in the District pending the outcome of the appeal. (Stringham Certification, Exhibit 1.)

20. The District, also via letter from Dr. Stringham, informed Petitioner that she may be assessed the costs of tuition for D.Y. and W.Y. should she not prevail on the residency appeal. (Stringham Certification, Exhibit 1.)

21. A residency hearing was held on December 14, 2015, at which time a Board requested of Petitioner that a Board member, the Board attorney, Petitioner and Petitioner's attorney visit the North Arlington residence. Petitioner refused. Petitioner requested another hearing date. (Marano Certification, ¶13, ¶14, and ¶15.)

22. A residency hearing was held before the Board on May 2, 2016, wherein the Board determined that Petitioner did not reside in North Arlington. (Marano Certification, ¶15, ¶19.)

23. Petitioner left before the residency hearing commenced, approximately fifteen minutes after arriving. (Marano Certification ¶16 and ¶17.)

24. D.Y. and W.Y. were dis-enrolled on May 4, 2016. (Marano Certification, ¶20.)

25. Petitioner had previously filed a Residency Appeal on October 6, 2015. (Herrmann Certification, Exhibit A.)

26. Petitioner resides in Kearny, New Jersey, Hudson County, and has since at least the 2014/2015 school year to the present.

27. During the 2014/2015 school year there were twenty-three days of compensable ineligible attendance (May 23, 2015, through June 24, 2015) for a total of $1,385.52 for D.Y. and $1,094.80 for W.Y. (Marano 2nd Supp. Cert. ¶3.)

28. During the 2015/2016 school year there were 129 days of compensable ineligible attendance (September 2015 through May 2, 2016) for a total of $8,808.12. (Marano Certification, Exhibit 4.)

29. During the 2015/2016 school year Respondent paid Bergen County Technical Schools $7,081.00 on behalf of W.Y. (Marano Certification, Exhibit 6.)

30. During the 2016-2017 school year Respondent paid Bergen County Technical Schools $3,514.00 to date on behalf of W.Y. (Marano 2nd Supp. Cert., Exhibit 8.)

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

Petitioner's Motion to Suppress

Initially, I will address the Petitioner's motion to suppress evidence. The concept of suppressing evidence, called the exclusionary rule, is found in criminal proceedings, and is used where law enforcement runs afoul of the Fourth Amendment to the United States Constitution. See Mapp v. Ohio, 367 U.S. 643, 81 S. Ct. 1684, 6 L. Ed. 2d 1081 (1961); Wong Sun v. United States, 371 U.S. 471, 83 S. Ct. 407, 9 L. Ed. 2d 441 (1963).

The Fourth Amendment of the U.S. Constitution states:

> The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no Warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by Oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

The exclusionary rule is rare in administrative proceedings. See New Brunswick v. Speights, 157 N.J. Super. 9 (App. Div. 1978). I cannot find anything that would invoke the exclusionary rule in the instant matter. The evidence complained of consists mostly of video surveillance obtained from Petitioner's neighbor in Kearny, New Jersey, and a North Arlington Police Department report. Both were obtained without need for a warrant. The other evidence Petitioner seeks to suppress, outlined in the brief in support of the motion, and also did not violate any rights of Petitioner.

Petitioner raises four additional points in the motion to suppress, all of which are without basis and do not merit discussion herein.

It must be noted herein that this matter is an administrative proceeding where the rules of evidence are relaxed. In an administrative hearing all relevant evidence is admissible. See Delguidice v. New Jersey Racing Comm'n, 100 N.J. 79 (1985).

I CONCLUDE that Petitioner's motion to suppress evidence should be denied.

Standard for Summary Decision

A motion for summary decision may be granted if the papers and discovery presented, as well as any affidavits which may have been filed with the application, show that there is no genuine issue of material fact and the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). If the motion is sufficiently supported, the non-moving party must demonstrate by affidavit that there is a genuine issue of fact which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding, in order to prevail in such an application. Ibid. These provisions mirror the summary judgment language of R. 4:46-2(c) of the New Jersey Court Rules.

The motion judge must "consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party . . . , are sufficient to permit a rational fact finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party." Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520, 523 (1995). And even if the non-moving party comes forward with some evidence, this forum must grant summary decision if the evidence is "so one-sided that [the moving party] must prevail as a matter of law." Id. at 536 (citation omitted).

In the instant matter there is no material fact in dispute. Petitioner did not submit anything to refute the factual assertions, or the documentary evidence in Certifications of Kathleen Marano, Dr. Oliver Stringham, Matthew Gilmore, and Jennifer Herrmann, Esq. Pointedly, there is no rebuttal at all to the observations of the North Arlington Police Department, Mr. Gilmore, Mr. O'Connor, or to the Kearny Police Department incident reports, all of which amply demonstrate that Petitioner is a resident of Kearny, New Jersey.

Further, Petitioner does not dispute what is clearly shown on the video evidence obtained from home surveillance camera of her neighbor in Kearny. Rather, Petitioner sought to have the same excluded.

I CONCLUDE that there is no dispute as to a material fact and that Respondent's motion for summary decision should be granted.

Right to a Free Public Education

N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a) and N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a) sets forth the right of a student to a free public education, which in pertinent parts states:

> Public schools shall be free to the following persons over five and under twenty years of age:
>
> a. Any person who is domiciled within the school district[.]

Consideration in proving residency for purposes of establishing eligibility for school district placement is found at N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.4(a),

> (a) A district board of education shall accept a combination of any of the following or similar forms of documentation from persons attempting to demonstrate a student's eligibility for enrollment in the school district:
>
> 1. Property tax bills, deeds, contracts of sale, leases, mortgages, signed letters from landlords and other evidence of property ownership, tenancy or residency;
>
> 2. Voter registrations, licenses, permits, financial account information, utility bills, delivery receipts, and other evidence of personal attachment to a particular location;
>
> 3. Court orders; State agency agreements; and other evidence of court or agency placements or directives;

> 4. Receipts; bills; cancelled checks; insurance claims or payments; and other evidence of expenditures demonstrating personal attachment to a particular location or to support the student;
>
> . . .
>
> 6. Affidavits, certifications and sworn attestations pertaining to statutory criteria for school attendance, from the parent, guardian, person keeping an "affidavit student," adult student, person(s) with whom a family is living, or others as appropriate;
>
> . . .
>
> 8. Any other business record or document issued by a governmental entity.
>
> (b) A district board of education may accept forms of documentation not listed in (a) above, and shall not exclude from consideration any documentation or information presented by a person seeking to enroll a student.
> (c) A district board of education shall consider the totality of information and documentation offered by an applicant, and shall not deny enrollment based on failure to provide a particular form of documentation, or a particular subset of documents, without regard to other evidence presented.

In S.S. ex rel. A.S. and A.S. v. Board of Education of the Township of Marlboro, Monmouth County, EDU 192-12, Initial Decision (August 26, 2013), http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal, evidence submitted by an investigator hired by the Marlboro New Jersey School District to determine whether certain minor children who were enrolled in the school district in fact were domiciled therein within the meaning of N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a) was sufficient to establish that the children in fact were not domiciled in the district during the period in question and, instead, supported a conclusion that the minors resided at their grandmother's home in Edison New Jersey. Even though their mother had submitted documentation of the type described in N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.4(a) that supported her claim that the minors were domiciled in Marlboro, the circumstances of the mother's employment, which included late hours, was such that the minors were properly found to be residing with their grandmother. On that basis, the administrative law judge recommended that the Department of Education find the mother liable for tuition for the minors.

In the instant matter the District provided substantially more than the report of an investigator hired by the District. Submitted were a North Arlington Police Department report wherein the police observed Petitioner at the Kearny residence; several Kearny Police Department incident reports involving Petitioner and a neighbor at the Kearny residence; and, video surveillance showing Petitioner, her husband, and her two sons coming and going from the Kearny residence and performing activities of daily living. The inescapable conclusion is that Petitioner resides in Kearny.

If a school district discovers that a non-resident child is attending one of its schools, the district may act to remove the child. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2); N.J.A.C. 6A:22-4.3. If so, the chief school administrator must first issue a notice of ineligibility. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2); N.J.A.C. 6A:22-4.2, -4.3. The notice shall inform the parent of the right to a hearing before the school district and the right to appeal the school district's decision to the Commissioner of Education. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2); N.J.A.C. 6A:22-5.1. The notice shall also inform the parent whether the district's policy allows for continued attendance, with or without tuition, for students who move out of the district during the course of the school year. N.J.A.C. 6A:22-4.2(b)(7)(i). If, on appeal to the Commissioner, the parent fails to demonstrate his child's entitlement to attend the schools of the district, the parent may be liable for tuition for any period of ineligible attendance. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2); N.J.A.C. 6A:22-4.2; N.J.A.C.6A:22-6.2, -6.3. Petitioner received adequate notice via a letter from the District Superintendent, Dr. Stringham. Petitioner's claim of a denial of due process must fail.

According to N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.3(a), "[t]uition assessed pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be calculated on a per student basis for the period of a student's ineligible enrollment, by applicable grade/program category and consistent with the provisions of N.J.A.C. 6A:23-3.1."

Petitioner alleges that the District acted in an arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable manner in her appeal to the Commissioner of Education.

An action by a board of education "is entitled to a presumption of correctness and will not be upset unless there is an affirmative showing that such decision was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable." Thomas v. Morris Twp. Bd. of Educ., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965). Thus, in order to prevail, Petitioner "must demonstrate that the Board acted in bad faith, or in utter disregard of the circumstances before it." G.H. and E.H. ex rel. K.H. v. Bd. of Educ. of the Bor. of Franklin Lakes, EDU 13204-13, Initial Decision (February 24, 2014) (citation omitted), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>, adopted, Comm'r (April 10, 2014). Also, a board's decision may be overturned if its determination violates the legislative policies expressed or implied in the governing act. J.A.H. ex rel. C.H. v. Twp. of Pittsgrove Bd. of Educ., EDU 10826-12, Initial Decision (March 11, 2013) (citing Campbell v. Dep't of Civil Serv., 39 N.J. 556, 562 (1963)), adopted, Comm'r (April 25, 2013), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>.

Petitioner asserts nothing in the brief addressing these issues. Moreover, I cannot ascertain anything remotely arbitrary, unreasonable or capricious in the record regarding District's actions in this matter.

I CONCLUDE that Petitioner failed to demonstrate that D.Y. and W.Y. are entitled to attend the District's schools, that Petitioner is liable for tuition for the period of ineligible attendance and that Petitioner's appeal should be dismissed.

ORDER

Based upon the forgoing, it is ORDERED that Respondent's motion for summary decision is GRANTED; and,

It is further ORDERED that Petitioner's motion to suppress evidence is DENIED; and,

It is further ORDERED that Petitioner's appeal is DISMISSED with prejudice; and,

It is further ORDERED that Petitioner reimburse Respondent tuition as follows:

- 2014-2015 school year, $1,385.52 for D.Y. and $1,094.80 for W.Y. for a total of $2,480.32.
- 2015-2016 school year, $8,808.12 for D.Y. and $7,081.00 for W.Y. for a total of $15,889.12.
- 2016-2017 school year, $3,514.50 for W.Y.

Total tuition to be reimbursed by Petitioner to Respondent totals $21,883.94.

I hereby FILE this Initial Decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

NEW JERSEY STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, OFFICE OF SCHOOL FINANCE,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner – the Banyan School (Banyan), a private school for children with disabilities – appealed the determination of the respondent Office of School Finance (OSF) to classify certain employee payments in the 2012-2013 school year as "non-allowable bonuses". Banyan additionally sought to alter its tentative tuition rates to address the budgetary shortfall created by these disallowed 2012-2013 payments. Banyan filed its appeal with the Department of Education on April 23, 2015. The Department contended that the appeal must be dismissed for failure to file within the 90-day timeframe required by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i). The parties filed cross motions for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue in this matter, and the case is ripe for summary decision; OSF issued its final decision regarding the disallowance at issue here in a letter to petitioner dated June 30, 2014; petitioner's contention that this letter invited Banyan to pursue further discussions on the matter – and that no other communication was received prior to a March 18, 2015 letter that could be construed as notice of a final determination or Banyan's right to appeal – is without merit; no compelling circumstances exist in this case to relax the 90-day rule; additionally, petitioner failed to state a claim upon which relief may be granted. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that the petition must be dismissed with prejudice.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that the petition is appropriately dismissed for failure to adhere to the 90-day limitation period set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i). In so deciding, the Commissioner found that the petitioner was required to file its appeal no later than 90 days from the date of receipt of respondent's final determination, which in this case was communicated to Banyan in a letter from OSF dated June 30, 2014. Banyan did not file its petition until April 23, 2015. Accordingly, the appeal was dismissed.

THE BANYAN SCHOOL,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
NEW JERSEY STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, OFFICE OF SCHOOL FINANCE,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed, along with petitioner The Banyan School's (Banyan) exceptions – filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 – and respondent New Jersey State Department of Education, Office of School Finance's (OSF) reply thereto.

In its exceptions, Banyan argues that the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) erred in failing to address the merits of its claims – i.e., the correctness of respondent's determination regarding allowable costs. Banyan reasons that the ALJ's failure to address the merits of Banyan's case is reversible error because the employee's payments were improperly treated as bonuses when they were instead made pursuant to the employee's contracts. Further, Banyan contends that that the 90-day limitations period should be relaxed in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.16, because strict adherence would result in injustice as OSF failed to respond to Banyan's inquiries. Banyan argues that the ALJ's reliance on Polaha v. Buena Regional School District, 212 N.J. Super. 628 (App. Div. 1986) – for the proposition that when parties are engaged in ongoing conversations, the limitations period may be tolled – was misguided, as the case law does not specify the number of contacts parties must have, but rather the nature of the communications. Here, Banyan maintains that it reasonably expected OSF to respond to its communications and understood that the parties were engaged in ongoing discussions, which should have warranted the relaxation of the 90-day limitations period.

In reply, OSF argues that the ALJ correctly found that OSF's June 30, 2014 letter was a "clear-cut refusal" to revise its determination, and therefore Banyan's petition was time-barred. (Initial Decision at 7) OSF contends that the ALJ properly found that the circumstances did not warrant a relaxation of the limitations period as Banyan and OSF were not engaged in ongoing discussions. OSF disputes Banyan's argument that it understood the parties to be engaged in ongoing discussions, pointing out that Banyan made no attempt to discuss the matter with OSF for seven months, nor did OSF's June 30, 2014 letter invite any further discussion on the matter. Additionally, OSF argues that the ALJ correctly did not address the legal merits of Banyan's claims because the matter was filed out of time and failed to state a claim. OSF also maintains that the ALJ correctly refused to relax the limitations period because Banyan does not have a right to appeal the 2014-2015 tuition rate, as the regulations only permit such an appeal where the tentative tuition rate would cause undue financial hardship on the school. Accordingly, OSF argues that the Initial Decision should be adopted.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the instant petition is appropriately dismissed because it was filed outside the 90-day limitation period set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i). The Commissioner agrees with the ALJ that OSF's June 30, 2014 letter was a definitive refusal to revise its published 2014-2015 tentative tuition rate. The Commissioner is also in accord with the ALJ that there is no compelling reason to relax the 90-day limitations period. As such, according to N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-18.10 and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i), Banyan had 90 days from June 30, 2014 to file a petition of appeal and failed to do so until April 23, 2015.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision – to the extent that it dismisses the petition as untimely – is adopted as the final decision in this matter, for the reasons stated therein. The petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.*

INITIAL DECISION
SUMMARY DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. EDU 08696-15
AGENCY DKT. NO. 89-4/15

THE BANYAN SCHOOL,
Petitioner,
v.
NEW JERSEY STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, OFFICE OF SCHOOL FINANCE,
Respondent.

Vito A. Gagliardi, Jr., Esq., and Janelle Edwards-Stewart, Esq., for petitioner (Porzio, Bromberg, and Newman)

Caroline Jones, Deputy Attorney General, for respondent (Christopher S. Porrino, Attorney General of New Jersey, attorney)

Record Closed: July 19, 2016 Decided: January 18, 2017

BEFORE ELIA A. PELIOS ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, The Banyan School (Banyan), a private school for children with disabilities, appeals a determination by respondent the Office of School Finance (OSF) within the Department of Education, to classify payments made to one employee in the 2012-2013 school year as a non-allowable bonus. Additionally, if the Department's determination is not affirmed, Banyan seeks to alter its tentative tuition rates to address the budgetary shortfall then created.

The Department contends that petitioner failed to file the appeal within the ninety-day timeframe required by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i), and that as there is no mechanism for granting the relief that petitioner seeks, the appeal also should be dismissed for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner's appeal was received at the Department of Education on April 23, 2015. The Department determined to treat the matter as a contested case, and was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on June 15, 2015. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. The matter was assigned to Administrative Law Judge John F. Russo, Jr. The parties filed cross-motions for summary decision, which had not been addressed at the time that ALJ Russo left the OAL for the Superior Court in late December 2015. On January 4, 2016, the matter was transferred to the undersigned. Oral argument, which was adjourned from April 21, 2016, at the parties' request, occurred on July 18, 2016. The record then closed.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

The parties disagree on which of the communications from the OSF counts as a final ruling. They also differ on the correctness of the OSF determination regarding allowable costs, and the related question of tuition treatment of those costs.

With regard to the "final ruling," the parties agree on the following facts. In general, as an approved private school for students with disabilities, petitioner charges tuition fees to public school districts that send students with learning disabilities to Banyan's lower school (for children in kindergarten through eighth grade) and its high school. The regulatory scheme set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-18.2 provides for recovery of actual costs incurred by approved schools during the school year. The regulations provide a projected cost, known as a "tentative tuition rate," because an approved school cannot know its actual costs before the year begins. Thus, for each school year, the OSF sets the maximum tentative tuition rate for each approved school. These rates typically are established in January of the preceding school year, based upon the audited financial statements of the prior year. For example, the school year 2013-2014 rate would be established in January 2013, based on the audit of school year 2011-2012. The tentative rate is calculated by inflating the prior year's audit information by twice the spending-growth limitation of 2.5 percent. However, if the OSF is challenging any portion of the prior year's audit, the rate for that particular school is not released in January. Instead, the OSF issues a letter to the school, outlining its issues and requesting revisions. On receiving the revisions, the OSF provides a certified rate letter.

By letter dated April 30, 2014, the OSF issued a letter to petitioner stating that payment made to one employee during the 2012-2013 school year constituted a non-allowable bonus. Banyan was directed to file a revised audit report within thirty-five days, or have the OSF place it on conditional approval and preclude it from accepting new students. By letters dated May 8, 2014, and May 27, 2014, petitioner's accountant, Ronald Zuckerman, responded with a justification of the costs, asking the OSF to reverse its determination and to adjust the tentative 2014-2015 tuition rates accordingly. In a letter dated June 30, 2014, the OSF stated:

> As of April 30, 2014, the Department of Education published the 2014-2015 maximum tentative tuition rate for Banyan's Lower School ("Lower School").

It went on to note:

> . . . The information presented by Mr. Zuckerman does not change the determination of those non-allowable costs. . . . Absent compelling information, the Office of School Finance does not 'revise' its published 2014-2015 tentative tuition rate.
>
> Additionally, as you are aware a tentative rate is an interim rate, and may increase upon year end calculation of the certified actual cost per student. If the tentative tuition rate is less than the final tuition rate charged, the Lower School's management may charge each sending district board of education all or part > of the difference; thereby allowing the recovery of the difference between the tentative and final tuition rates charged.

>
> [Gagliardi Certif., Exh. B.]

The letter says nothing about a right of appeal.

Later, in response to a letter of March 11, 2015, from Vito A. Gargliardi, Jr., Esq., counsel to the petitioner, the OSF stated that it received his letter:

> . . . regarding the 2014-2015 tentative tuition rate for Banyan School (Lower) and seeking information on a formal appeal. In response to your May 27, 2014, inquiry on this matter, I issued a letter on June 30, 2014, on behalf of former Assistant Commissioner Corso, which detailed the Office of School Finance's position. The provisions regarding a formal appeal of this decision are contained in applicable code and specifically, N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-18.10.
> [Id., Exh. C.]

As regards the substance of Banyan's appeal—whether the employee payments constituted unreimbursable bonuses—the respondent has not offered any information to rebut the certification of Ronald Zuckerman, the Board's accountant, regarding the circumstances surrounding the payments. (Zuckerman Certif., Exh. C.) Therefore, all of the following constitutes undisputed FACT.

The employee whose compensation was challenged by the OSF was given notice that her employment would be terminated at the close of the 2012-2013 school year. In response, the employee indicated to school personnel that she would begin to exhaust all her available leave time, which amounted to nine personal days and forty-three vacation days, which together had a value of $22,389.12. (Id., ¶¶ 11, 12, and 14.) Had she done so, Banyan would have been forced to hire a substitute administrator for the remainder of the year. As recorded in the minutes of the Banyan Board of Trustees, the employee was paid for her leave "as a concession for . . . remaining at the school through June 30, 2013." (Zuckerman Certif., Exh. A.) Her contract stated that either party could terminate without cause, upon sixty days' written notice of intention to terminate. The Banyan minutes also noted that if termination is not for cause, the employee "shall be entitled to either the notice required hereunder or the applicable pro rata compensation and benefits for the notice period at Banyan's option." (Id., Exh. C.) Banyan's employee handbook stated that staff members could bank up to fifteen days of personal leave, and depending on their status, would receive between eight and twelve days of personal leave annually. It allowed the banking of "unlimited vacation time," but also stated that "vacation time will only be reimbursed upon retirement or for medical reasons." (Zuckerman Certif., Exh. B.)

In its initial letter of April 30, 2014, the OSF noted that the employee received the $22,389.12, in addition to her regular salary, and that the handbook stated that vacation time was reimbursed upon retirement or for medical reasons. Since neither of the conditions for vacation reimbursement was met, the OSF took the position that payment of those funds constituted a bonus. (Console Certif., Exh. A.)

Additionally, the OSF said the per-diem payment amount was in error—it was $430.56, when it should have been $360.92. Thus, "the amount of $19,140.81 has been considered non-allowable costs when calculating the 2014-2015 tentative tuition rate." (Id., Exh. B.) In his letter of May 8, 2014, to the OSF, Zuckerman took issue with the per-diem payment, noting that the Essex County per diem, which was appropriate to use, was $612.27, well above the $430.56 the school had used. (Zuckerman Certif., Exh. AA). The OSF appears never to have addressed this particular argument.

According to Zuckerman, although the OSF letter made no mention of a second faculty member, who was paid $16,393.50, in the 2012-2013 year, and $21,858.00, in the 2013-2014 year, in connection with a retirement related to medical reasons, "it appears that its mislabeling of her payout has not been fully resolved, as no notice, corrected report, or monies have been properly forwarded." (Zuckerman Certif., ¶19.) Altogether, this meant that "Banyan's unrestricted funds must necessarily be reduced by $36,248.00 in order to cover the [unapproved] expenses for year ended June 30, 2013, and $22,795.00 for year ended June 30, 2014," or a total of $59,043.00. (Id., ¶21.) Additionally, "Banyan will be required to refund $19,228.00 to schools for year end June 30, 2013, and $41,775.00 for year end June 30, 2014," or a total of $61,003.00. (Id., ¶22.) With regard to Zuckerman's concerns about the second employee, the OSF appears never to have responded in writing to this concern—it neither verified the existence of a disagreement, nor stated that it had not disapproved that payment.

LEGAL ANALYSIS

Summary decision may be granted when "the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). The rule further provides that an adverse party must respond by affidavit setting forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue which can only be determined at an evidentiary hearing. Ibid. The OAL rule is modeled on New Jersey Court Rule 4:46-2. The New Jersey Supreme Court has explained that when deciding a motion for summary judgment under R. 4:46-2,

> . . . a determination whether there exists a 'genuine issue' of material fact that precludes summary judgment requires the motion judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to permit a rational factfinder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party.
>
> [Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520, 540 (1995).]

Here, the parties have agreed on all the facts, although they dispute their legal significance. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the matter is appropriate for summary decision.

The OSF argues that Banyan failed to appeal timely, and therefore its petition must be dismissed. N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-18.10(a), which address appeals of decisions regarding the calculation and approval of the tentative tuition rate, and conditional approval status pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-18.9(i), states that these determinations may be appealed in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:3.

N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i) states that to initiate a contested case for the Commissioner's determination of a controversy or dispute arising under the school laws, > [t]he petitioner shall file a petition no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling or other action by the district board of education, individual party, or agency, which is the subject of the requested contested case hearing. This rule shall not apply in instances where a specific statute, regulation or court order provides for a period of limitation shorter than 90 days for the filing of a particular type of appeal.

The OSF issued its decision to petitioner on or about June 30, 2014. Therefore, the OSF argues, Banyan was required to file a petition of appeal on or before September 29, 2014, to meet the time requirements.

Banyan contends that the OSF letter of June 30, 2014, "invites Banyan to pursue further discussions and specifically indicates that these discussions should be had within its forum." It further contends that no communication prior to the March 18, 2015, letter gave notice of either final determination or Banyan's right to appeal. Therefore, the operative date for final decision was March 18, 2015, and Banyan filed within the ninety-day time frame.

Additionally, Banyan argues that the Commissioner should use his authority under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.16 to relax or dispense with procedural rules "in any case where strict adherence thereto may be deemed inappropriate or unnecessary or may result in injustice."

With regard to the adequacy of notice, in Kaprow v. Board of Education of Berkeley Township, 131 N.J. 572 (1993), the Supreme Court held that an unofficial and informal note stating that two positions had been created and filled was sufficient to trigger the start of the ninety-day period in which Kaprow could assert his tenure rights. The Court explained that "adequate notice must be sufficient to inform an individual of some fact that he or she has a right to know and that the communicating party has a duty to communicate." Kaprow, supra, 131 N.J. at 587. Here, the June 2015 letter from the OSF said that the information presented by Mr. Zuckerman did not change its determination on non-allowable costs, and that the lower school rate was posted in April. It also said that "[a]bsent compelling information the Office of School Finance does not 'revise' its published 2014-2015 tentative tuition rate." I CONCLUDE that this was a clear-cut refusal, fulfilling the notice requirement.

In relation to relaxing the ninety-day rule, the case law makes clear that this occurs only under exceptional circumstances or if there is a compelling reason to do so. Id. at 590. In Polaha v. Buena Regional School District, 212 N.J. Super. 628, 635 (App. Div. 1986), the Appellate Division relaxed the ninety-day rule where evidence demonstrated that the petitioner and the respondent engaged in ongoing discussion in an attempt to "agree on an acceptable position."

Here, Banyan offered no evidence of numerous phone calls or communications between June 30, 2014, and February 2015. There is only the letter of February 2015, which mentioned the appeal information in a routine letter, answering a question from the District, that included a question on appeal rights. Thus, I CONCLUDE that because petitioner waited six months to make further inquiry, and nearly seven months, until April 23, 2015, to file its appeal, the petition must be dismissed as out of time.

Although dismissal for lack of timeliness is sufficient to decide the dispute, for completeness' sake, the issue with the mechanism for relief is addressed below.

The regulatory structure for determining tuition rates has two distinct pieces. The first, which is prospective, is the tentative tuition rate. The second is retrospective, occurring at the conclusion of the school year on June 30, when actual costs are known. The appeal language for tentative tuition rates in N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-18.10 states:

> (a) The decision of the Assistant Commissioner, Division of Finance regarding the calculation of the tentative tuition rate pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-18.2(j), regarding the approval of a tentative tuition rate pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-18.3 and regarding conditional approval status pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-18.9(i), may be appealed in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:3.
> (b) The decision of the Assistant Commissioner, Division of Finance in regard to certification may be appealed in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:3.

The OSF contends that the language "calculation of the tentative tuition rate" only allows for complaints that the school faces undue financial hardship because "calculation" is limited by "pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-18.2(j)," which states, "The Commissioner may approve a higher tentative tuition rate for any year in which the approved private school for students with disabilities can prove to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that the maximum tentative tuition rate for the year is not adequate and would cause an undue financial hardship on the private school." The section goes on to require such claims to be made by "no later than January 31 preceding the beginning of the ensuing school year." N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-18.2(j)(1). It also states:

> 1. In the event of such hardship claim, the approved private school for students with disabilities shall submit its request for a higher tentative tuition rate for the entire school year to the Assistant Commissioner, Division of Finance no later than January 31 preceding the beginning of the ensuing school year. The approved private school for students with disabilities shall submit such request with appropriate documentation, which shall include, but may not be limited to, the following information:
>
> i. A budget reflecting projected costs, working capital fund or surcharge, estimated enrollment and the requested tuition rate based on this information;
>
> ii. A detailed explanation of the need for increases in excess of those already provided in the tentative tuition rate calculation; and
>
> iii. A financial report which is properly completed and in the format prescribed by the Commissioner for the six months of operations ending December 31 immediately preceding the school year. This report format is available at the Division of Finance, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500.
>
> [Ibid.]

Banyan argues that even if it failed to demonstrate a hardship by January 31, that does not mean it has no remedy for the disputed amount. Petitioner points to the OSF's own explanation of the retrospective part of the process. At the close of the school year, which is June 30, approved schools have until November to provide audited financial statements that "reflect the certified actual cost(s) per students." N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-18.9(c).

> Once the year-end audit is complete, [the] OSF reviews the financial statements provided by the [approved schools] to > ensure compliance with applicable regulations. If the [school's] financial statements are compliant [the] OSF issues . . . 'a Certified Rate Letter' identifying the CACPS [certified actual cost per student] rate for the prior year. N.J.A.C. 6A:23-18.2(k). The [school] can either bill the sending school districts for the difference between the CACPS rate and the tentative rate, or if the CACPS is lower than the tentative rate already paid, the [school] issues refunds to the sending districts. N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-18.2(a); N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-18.2(m).

> [Resp. Br. at 2-4.]

This language, however, refers to N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-18.10(b), which is an appeal of the certified rate letter, which is not the subject of this particular appeal. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the petition must be dismissed for failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted, as there is no appeal of tentative rates outside of the hardship provision, the school's two May submissions do not use the word "hardship," and the submissions do not include all of the information necessary to make a hardship claim. Moreover, a hardship application was due no later than January 31, 2016, and must have included a financial report for the six months of operations ending December 31, immediately preceding the school year.

ORDER

For both of the reasons cited above—failure to comply with the ninety-day rule for appeals, and failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted—the petition is hereby DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." SYNOPSIS

Pro se petitioner filed a petition with the Commissioner in November 2014, seeking permission to enter Trenton Central High School to collect recyclable junk trash prior to the demolition of the school. The matter was transmitted to the OAL, where it was filed in January 2015.

The ALJ to whom the case was reassigned on January 23, 2017 placed a telephone call to the petitioner, and received the information that the school had already been demolished and there was no recyclable junk trash to collect. The ALJ sent a letter to the petitioner on January 23, 2017, outlining the history of the matter, attaching a withdrawal form for petitioner to sign and return. The ALJ's letter made clear that if petitioner did not respond by March 1, 2017, the matter would be dismissed as moot. As no response was received as of March 7, 2017, the ALJ ordered the matter dismissed on the grounds of mootness.

Upon review, the Commissioner adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter for the reasons stated therein.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

CLINTON BARLOW, III,

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF TRENTON,

Clinton Barlow, III, petitioner, pro se

Adam S. Herman, Esq., for respondent Board of Education of the City of Trenton (Adams, Guitierrez & Lattiboudere, L.L.C., attorneys)

Record Closed: March 7, 2017 Decided: March 7, 2017

BEFORE LAURA SANDERS, Acting Director & Chief ALJ:

On November 17, 2014, petitioner Clinton Barlow, III, filed a petition with the Commissioner of Education seeking permission to enter Trenton Central High School to collect recyclable junk trash prior to the schools demolition. Respondent's answer to the verified complaint was received by the Department of Education on January 30, 2015. The Department of Education transmitted the contested case to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on January 29, 2015. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to

-15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. The matter was originally assigned to Administrative Judge Sarah G. Crowley, who on April 27, 2015, held a telephone prehearing conference and issued a prehearing order. It was determined on that call that Judge Crowley may recuse herself concerning a law suit brought against Mercer County by Mr. Barlow, unrelated to this matter, as Judge Crowley had worked for the Mercer County Counsel's office prior to her appointment as an ALJ. Judge Crowley did recuse herself and the matter was then re-assigned to Judge Schuster on May 4, 2015. As Judge Schuster is preparing to retire on April 1, 2017, the matter was then reassigned to the undersigned on January 23, 2017.

A telephone call made to petitioner yielded the answer that the high school had already been demolished and there was no recyclable junk trash to collect. The undersigned wrote to petitioner on January 23, 2017, outlining the history of the matter to date and asked that he sign and return the withdrawal form that was attached thereto. The letter stated that if I did not hear from him by March 1, 2017, I would dismiss the matter as moot. As of March 7, 2017, there has been no further communication from petitioner. Therefore, it is ORDERED that the appeal by Clinton Barlow, III, is DISMISSED on grounds of mootness.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This is a Decision on the Respondent's Motion for Summary Dismissal. On April 11, 2016, Dr. Mario Santos, Principal of the Petitioner's East Side High School, served the Respondent (James) pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-11, with a Notice of Tenure Charges. Santos alleged that the Respondent was guilty of being chronically absent, being absent without leave, and being chronically tardy, all of which he claimed warranted James' dismissal or reduction of salary. Santos also alleged that James is guilty of conduct unbecoming a teaching staff member for refusing to follow the Petitioner's (District) "sign in" procedures and for failing to fulfill her proctor responsibilities for State required testing. Santos claimed such conduct constituted insubordination.

On or about May 15, 2016, Respondent submitted a response to those charges. On June 27, 2016, the Petitioner's State District Superintendent having considered the charges, supporting evidence and the Respondent's submission, concluded that the charges, if credited, were sufficient to warrant Respondent's dismissal or reduction of salary, and he (the Superintendent) certified the charges to the Commissioner of Education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-11 for a hearing in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:6-16.

Based upon the Superintendent's June 27, 2016 certification, the Respondent was suspended pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-14 effective June 28, 2016. That suspension was without pay for 120 calendar days from that date. It is unclear whether the suspension continued with pay beginning on the 121st day after such certification and/or whether or when James returned to work.

On July 25, 2016, the Department's Bureau of Controversies and Disputes (Bureau) determined that the charges, if true, were sufficient to warrant dismissal or reduction in salary and it referred the matter to Arbitrator David Gregory pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-16.

Although the sequence of events is not entirely clear thereafter, apparently, Arbitrator Gregory preferred to consider the matter through motion rather than conduct a hearing which prompted the Respondent to file its original Motion for Summary Dismissal on or about September 19, 2016. By letter of October 21, 2016 to the Bureau, the Petitioner expressed its reluctance to proceed by "motion only" and requested the case be transferred to another arbitrator.

Apparently, subsequent to the Petitioner's October request the parties engaged in settlement discussions. By January 25, 2017, however, the Petitioner notified the Bureau that settlement had not been reached and it renewed its request that the case be assigned to a new arbitrator.

This matter was formally assigned to me on February 16, 2017. On or about that date I received the Respondent's revised Motion for Summary Dismissal. After a request for an extension of time to which the Respondent consented, the Petitioner filed its response to that Motion on March 20, 2017.

BACKGROUND

The Respondent was a tenured social worker with the District in 2016 when on January 15, 2016, the Petitioner filed tenure charges against her alleging chronic absenteeism, tardiness and conduct unbecoming for allegedly failing to follow District signing in and out procedures encompassing the 2007-2008, 2008-2009 and 2014-2015 academic years. The District alleged that during the 2008-2009 and 2014-2015 school years James was warned several times about her excessive absenteeism and tardiness, and that her conduct could lead to disciplinary action. The District also alleged James engaged in conduct unbecoming by failing to appear to fulfill her proctor responsibilities for scheduled testing. The District's allegation included a claim that James was tardy 31 times by June 1, 2009 in the 2008-2009 school year; that she was tardy approximately 20 days by January 2015 in the 2014-2015 school year; and, that by May 2015 she had 18 absences in the 2014-2015 school year.

On February 18, 2016, the Respondent filed her answer to the January 2016 tenure charges. The Respondent alleged that since her hire in 2001, she never earned less than a "satisfactory" or "effective" annual evaluation or observation rating. The Respondent's answer alleged James stays late after class and performs volunteer work and it labeled the charges as arbitrary and capricious. It argued that the claims of James' alleged excessive absenteeism, tardiness and unbecoming conduct during 2014-2015 should be excluded from the tenure charges because all such issues were previously resolved between the parties. It also argued that the allegations of absences and tardiness in 2007-2008 and 2008-2009 were trivial and too far removed to support tenure charges.

The Petitioner did not certify the January 2016 tenure charges to the Commissioner and no further proceedings or action were taken on those charges. The charges giving rise to the Respondent's February 2017 Motion in this case were filed on April 11, 2016, which were similar to but more expansive than the charges filed against her in January 2016 which were not certified. In the April 2016 charges the Petitioner essentially alleged the same charges as it had in the January or original charges, that

James was chronically absent and chronically tardy, but it also added allegations covering the 2007-2008 through the 2015-2016 school years up to and including March 17, 2016. The Petitioner alleged that by March 2008 James had been absent 9 days to that point in the 2007-2008 school year and was warned about excessive absenteeism and not following proper sign in procedures in 2008. The April 2016 charges also alleged that in 2009 James was tardy 31 times by June of that year and that she had been warned about "unauthorized punching", or signing in at a different location without permission that same year.

The April 2016 charges alleged that James was absent 351 days or an average of 39 days per year since 2007. In those charges the Petitioner included the following list of days tardy for James:

School Year	Days Tardy	School Year	Days Tardy
2007-2008	44	2012-2013	13
2008-2009	71	2013-2014	56
2009-2010	70	2014-2015	38
2010-2011	106	2015-2016	20 (until 3/17/16)
2011-2012	101

Those charges further alleged that James was late 38 days in the 2014-2015 school year and was warned in January 2015 about being tardy 20 days. The Petitioner alleged that after a March 2, 2015 agreement to fine James one days pay for excessive absenteeism and tardiness it warned her again for excessive absenteeism

The April 2016 charges also alleged that on May 14, 2015, James was warned about both excessive absenteeism and tardiness and she was docked a day's pay for allegedly being absent without leave (AWOL) on that day. The charges noted that James was warned discipline, including tenure charges would be filed against her.

The Petitioner concluded its April 2016 charges alleging that: James was warned about failing to comply with sign-in and out procedures in 2008 and 2009; she was warned on November 24, 2014 that her unauthorized punches could lead to discipline; and, that she had failed to fulfill her proctor responsibilities on April 30 and May 5, 2015.

In its May 13, 2016 Answer to the April charges, the Respondent argued that the number of absences and days tardy alleged by the Petitioner were misleading and inaccurate. It claimed that many of the alleged absences actually were summer days and it claimed that 286 of the 351 days of alleged absences were incorrect.

The Respondent also claimed that many of the absences alleged by the District included time not subject to discipline such as FMLA time. The Respondent alleged James had 126 occasional absences from 2007-2008 through 2015-2016 or an average of 14 absences per year.

The Respondent also noted that 204 of the alleged days tardy from 2007-2008 through 2015-2016 were within 5 minutes of the start of school. Respondent acknowledged 31 days tardy during 2008-2009, but claimed James needed to provide care for her mother prior to the start of classes. Respondent also claimed that most of her absences in 2014-2015 were taken for legitimate medical reasons and she denied being AWOL on May 14, 2015.

Finally, the Respondent denied she failed to fulfill the proctor assignment and she denied being insubordinate.

POSITIONS OF THE PARTIES ON THE MOTION

RESPONDENT

The Respondent presented five arguments to support its Motion. In Point I it argued that all of the tenure charges be dismissed with prejudice because the Petitioner failed to comply with *N.J.S.A.*18A:6-13.

That statute provides as follows:

> Dismissal of charge for failure of determination by board.
> 18A:6-13. If the board does not make such a determination within 45 days after receipt of the written charge, the charge shall be deemed to be dismissed and no further proceeding or action shall be taken thereon.

The Respondent contends that pursuant to the above statute the District is prohibited from pursuing the April tenure charges against James because it took no action on the charges filed in January 2016 within the time provided by the Statute. Noting that the initial charges were filed on January 15, 2016 and answered on February 18, 2016, the Respondent argued that the District was required to certify charges by April 4, 2016.

Arguing that the District simply disregarded the original tenure charges, the Respondent contends that the District was attempting to circumvent the rules by refilling tenure charges in April 2016 based upon the same underlying allegations of excessive absenteeism, tardiness and conduct unbecoming that it alleged in the January 2016 charges. According to the Respondent, the TEACH NJ statutory requirements must be strictly followed and enforced, and it claims that arbitrators have enforced such compliance with the statute's deadlines. Noting that N.J.S.A. 18A:6-13 uses the word "shall"; the Respondent argues its wording indicates a mandatory intent that charges be dismissed when no further proceedings were taken thereon.

The Respondent argues that based upon the statute's wording her rights were violated by the District's re-filing of charges in April. Therefore, it contends that those charges should now be dismissed with prejudice by operation of law.

In Point II of its Motion the Respondent, relying upon the Doctrine of Industrial Double Jeopardy, argued that since James' salary was docked on March 2, 2015 by a Memorandum of Agreement (MOA) between the parties, and because her pay was docked again on May 14, 2015 for allegedly being AWOL, that she cannot be punished a second time for the same offenses that have already resulted in discipline. The Respondent relied upon arbitration decisions governed by TEACH NJ to support its argument. See, In re Jill Buglovsky, Agency Docket No. 265-9/12, final decision (12/21/12) confirmed, Buglovsky v. Randolph Twp. B.E., Docket No. MRS-C-13-13 (7/16/13); In re Nikita Clarke-Huff, Agency Docket No. 290-9/15, final decision (11/16/15); and, In re John Carlomagno, Agency Docket No. 180-8/13, final decision (12/20/13).

The MOA referred to above was an agreement between the District and James and the Newark Teachers Union signed on March 2, 2015. It noted that James had (to that point) arrived late on 27 occasions during the 2014-2015 school year and had been conferenced and warned regarding her excessive tardiness. The parties to the MOA agreed that James would be fined one days pay ($458.32) which was for March 2, 2015, which would constitute full and final resolution of all issues regarding James' unsatisfactory attendance during the 2014-2015 school year. The docking of her pay for allegedly being AWOL on May 14, 2015 obviously occurred after the MOA was signed.

The Notice provision near the end of the MOA puts James on notice that future excessive tardiness:

> . . . will result in more harsh disciplinary consequences up to, and including, withholding of increments, tenure charges and removal from employment.

The MOA concludes with a paragraph explaining the "Binding Nature of Agreement" which states that neither James nor her Union can appeal the MOA and that Section concludes with the following pertinent language:

> . . . all issues encompassed by the within Agreement are fully and forever resolved by and between the parties.

In the Buglovsky case the teacher had been charged with inappropriate conduct and misuse of a board computer and internet during work time over a period of years. For conduct occurring during the 2008-2009 school year she received a written reprimand on April 27, 2009. Additional charges alleged similar and continued misconduct through 2011-2012. Relying on the decision in Desly Getty, OAL Docket No. EDU 08750-08 (6/14/09), and with support found in Elkouri and Elkouri, How Arbitration Works, 5th Ed. pp. 923-925 (1997), the Arbitrator applied a double jeopardy theory and dismissed the 2008-2009 charges for which the teacher had already been disciplined. The Arbitrator in Buglovsky also found that certain employee conduct that the Board allowed to continue without discipline was no longer actionable due to the passage of time and the employee's subsequent good behavior.

In the Clarke-Huff case a teacher's increment was withheld in 2011 based upon absenteeism extending between 1996 and a point in 2011. The teacher's absenteeism continued from a point in 2011 through the 2014-2015 school year and the Board filed tenure charges in part based upon all of her absenteeism. The Arbitrator sustained the Respondent's Motion to Dismiss the charges related to the absenteeism for which she had already been disciplined based upon a double jeopardy theory and barred the Board from seeking additional discipline on those matters.

In the Carlomagno case, charges were filed and certified during 2013 based upon the employee's conduct during the 2011-2012 and 2012-2013 school years. Relying upon both Brand and Biren, Discipline and Discharge in Arbitration, 2nd Ed. p.54 (2008) and Elkouri and Elkouri, How Arbitration Works, 7th Ed., Ch. 15.3F and the decisions in Buglovsky, and I/M/O Tenure Hearing of Frank Flood, Cumberland County Technical Education Center, Docket No. 95-5/13 (7/29/13), the Arbitrator held that under the double jeopardy theory the teacher could not be disciplined again for certain aggressive and unprofessional conduct in December 2012 for which he had already been disciplined. The Arbitrator in the Flood case noted that while the prior disciplined conduct could be considered for progressive discipline purposes for future discipline, the prior disciplined conduct could not be subject to additional discipline.

Emphasizing that the District's withholding of James' salary on March 2 and May 14, 2015 was a significant form of discipline covering 2014-2015, and because the Respondent noted that the District did not claim any infractions subsequent to James' May 14, 2015 suspension, it argued that charges focusing on her attendance record must be dismissed.

In Point III of her Motion, Respondent argues that all the claims of excessive absenteeism and tardiness preceding the MOA signed in March 2015 must be dismissed with prejudice based upon the Doctrine of Res Judicata. Basically, the Respondent is arguing that by entering into the MOA, James agreed to an unpaid suspension in exchange for not being further disciplined for any attendance issues preceding its ratification, and that since any prior attendance issues have been resolved, then res judicata prevents the District from pursuing any more discipline of James based upon her prior attendance/tardiness issues.

The Respondent further argued in its brief that based upon the wording of the MOA "James would be subject to disciplinary action only for future instances of excessive absenteeism and tardiness". The language the Respondent appears to refer to near the end of the MOA is as follows:

> Ms. James is placed on notice that future excessive tardiness will result in more harsh disciplinary consequences up to, and including, withholding of increments, tenure charges and removal from employment.

In Point IV of her Motion the Respondent argues that the tenure charges must be dismissed with prejudice based upon the Doctrines of Estoppel, Laches and Waiver because the District failed to address James' alleged attendance issues from 2008-2009 through the 2013-2014 school years contemporaneously to when the alleged offenses were allegedly committed. The Respondent argues that too much time has passed for James to be able to defend her record back to 2008. It claims she would be unable to recall or prove the circumstances of every alleged tardy or absence issue which would prejudice her ability to defend against the charges.

Relying on Buglovsky, supra, the Respondent argued that the Arbitrator in that case dismissed attendance related charges dating back five years that were not previously prosecuted because those charges were too far removed from the alleged offense.

Finally, in Point V of her Motion the Respondent argued that the tenure charges must be dismissed with prejudice based upon the Doctrine of Unclean Hands because the District failed to follow the disciplinary protocol under the Attendance Improvement Plan regarding James' alleged excessive absenteeism and tardiness. The Respondent explained that the District mostly failed to hold conferences, issue warning notices or recommend disciplinary action as the Plan provided. Respondent alleges that despite the District's claim that James was tardy 348 times from 2009-2010 to 2013-2014, no conferences were held, no warning letters issued and no disciplinary action was recommended. By failing to take such timely action in accordance with the Plan the Respondent argues that the District denied James her due process protections.

The Respondent seeks dismissal of all charges with prejudice and an order reimbursing James for salary and benefits that had been withheld.

PETITIONER

The Petitioner presented four arguments in opposition to the Respondent's Motion. In Point I of its response the Petitioner addressed the procedural argument the Respondent made regarding the impact in this case of the 45 day rule in 18A:6-13 on the District's failure to certify the original charges filed against James in January 2016. The Petitioner explained that after the original charges were filed it uncovered a history of poor attendance and, therefore, expanded its charges.

The Petitioner argued that the original charges simply were not litigated and that N.J.S.A. 18A:6-13 did not prevent the filing of the new charges. It cited two cases to support its argument. In The Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Debra Suitt-Green, State Operated School District of the City of Newark, OAL Docket No. EDU 7071-96 (October 14, 1997), the District did not find probable cause to certify charges against a teacher. The District subsequently filed charges against the same teacher based upon both the incidents listed in the prior charges in combination with new incidents. The Respondent moved to dismiss the case relying on N.J.S.A. 18A:6-13 and arguing that based upon the Statute the District could not re-file charges based upon incidents previously considered and not certified. The ALJ rejected the Motion and found such prior incidents could be reconsidered. The Commissioner affirmed.

In The State Operated School District of the City of Newark v. Victoia Jakubiak, OAL Docket No. EDU 3961-97 (December 22, 1998), charges were initially filed on December 9, 1996 but were not certified. The charges were re-filed – same as before – on February 19, 1997. The Respondent sought to dismiss those charges based on its reading of 18A:6-13. The ALJ, citing to Suitt-Green, denied the Respondent's Motion in that case. The Petitioner here seeks the same result here.

In Point II of its response to the Motion, the Petitioner here argued that the limited release language contained in the MOA does not prevent the 2014-2015 charges from being considered in this case. The Petitioner noted that the parties' collective agreement permits fines and penalties and that the MOA language expressly contemplates potential future disciplinary action including termination. Petitioner further argued that James was disciplined in May 2015, subsequent to the MOA and that there was no basis to conclude that the totality of James' attendance record could not be reviewed in a tenure case merely because a minor penalty had been previously agreed upon.

In Point III of its response to the Motion, the Petitioner emphasized that this case is about excessive absenteeism and that there are many cases by the Commissioner and arbitrators holding that even legitimate absences when numerous can be the basis for termination. The Petitioner cited Commissioner decisions: In the Matter of the Tenure

Hearing of Alicia Dugan, School District of the City of Jersey City 6/14/12 (#244-12); In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Lisa Rosa, School District of the City of Jersey City 9/1/11 (#368-11); In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Frances R. Metallo, School District of the City of Union City 5/12/03 (#244-03); and, arbitration decisions: Burke and the State Operated School District of the City of Camden, Docket No. 5-1/13 (March 30, 2015); Stapleton and the Jersey City Board of Education, Docket No. 284-9/12 (March 20, 2013); and, Lenore Francis and the Jersey City Board of Education, Docket No. 285-9/12 (January 10, 2013) to support its position that excessive absenteeism, even if based upon legitimate reasons, are grounds for termination.

The Petitioner also cited to well known treatises used in arbitration to support that position. Elkouri and Elkouri, How Arbitration Works, p. 822 (6th Edition); and Brand and Biren, Discipline and Discharge in Arbitration, 2nd Edition, p. 124 (2008).

In the presentation of Point III the Petitioner appears to argue that I should consider the merits of James' absences and how she reacted and communicated concerning those absences.

In Point IV of its response to the Motion, the Petitioner emphasized the strong public interest in monitoring teacher attendance and it argued that a full factual hearing is warranted here despite the asserted legal defenses in order to consider and weigh the facts and legal issues.

DISCUSSION

In considering all the above arguments, I remind the parties that currently the merits of the allegations against James – no matter how egregious they may appear – are not before me for determination. Rather, based upon the Respondent's Motion my jurisdiction at this time is limited to determining what if any allegations in the April tenure charges may proceed to a hearing de novo. Consequently, despite the Petitioner's specific allegations, many of which the Respondent has disputed, I will not resolve the viability of those allegations in this Decision. I will, instead, only determine which, if any, allegations may proceed to hearing.

In Point I of its Motion the Respondent argued that all of the charges filed by the District in April 2016 be dismissed because the District allegedly violated N.J.S.A. 18A:6-13 by failing to certify to the Commissioner within 45 days all the original charges it filed against James in January 2016. In its brief, the Respondent argued that tenure charges along with an employee's response must be presented to a board of education to decide whether probable cause exists to warrant the employee's dismissal or reduction in salary and if so, the charges must be certified to the Commissioner. The language in N.J.S.A. 18A:6-13, however, does not contain such specific requirements.

In fact, the language in that Statute does not require a board to make any determination. It merely says that if a board does not make a determination – presumably whether or not to certify charges to the Commissioner – within 45 days (of when the charges were filed), then the charges that were filed be deemed dismissed and no further proceeding or action be taken thereon – presumably on the charges filed at that time. The pertinent statutory language appears to be a mechanism to automatically dismiss tenure charges if a board has not acted on them within 45 days – presumably to prevent such charges from lingering for an extended period of time. The ending language in that Statute "no further proceeding or action shall be taken thereon" appears to refer back to the charge(s) that was (were) dismissed and appears to have been intended to ensure that no further action be taken on that which was dismissed, once again to prevent those charges from lingering and creating doubt for the respondent. But the language in 18A:6-13 does not say a board cannot re-file previous charges. That is, the Statute does not say a board cannot serve a new filing on a respondent which includes charges that had been contained in an earlier dismissed filing.

The Suitt-Green and Jakubiak decisions support that view, holding that charges previously dismissed by operation of 18A:6-13 may be re-filed and reconsidered in subsequent charges particularly if the new charges are filed in close proximate time to the original charges. The same result was reached in I/M/O Tenure Hearing of Sabino Valdes, Union City School District, OAL Docket No. EDU 3620-1 (8/9/01), confirmed Valdes v. City of Union City Board of Education, Docket No. A-1337-04T3 (App. Div. 1/22/07), certification denied (5/15/07).

In Valdes the ALJ held that the Board's failure to certify charges within the time provided in N.J.S.A. 18A:6-13 required those charges be dismissed. But he also held that lacking any judicial decisions to the contrary and based upon Department of Education decisions, such dismissals are without prejudice to the right of the Board to re-file such charges. The Appellate Division agreed. Noting that the Board did not rule on the merits of the initial charges and the re-filing occurred within a reasonable time, the Court held:

> We conclude that so long as an employee has not been prejudiced by a re-filing of charges within a reasonable period of time, the passage of the statutory time period from the filing of the initial charges should be viewed as a dismissal without prejudice. (slip opinion p. 5).

That same result is appropriate here. After the initial tenure charges were filed on January 15, 2016, the District continued to examine James' records and re-filed the charges on April 11, 2016. I find that the January charges were dismissed by operation of law (N.J.S.A. 18A:6-13) but without prejudice, and that the re-filing in April occurred within a reasonable time of the initial filing. Other than the fact that the Respondent needed to continue to litigate over this matter, and noting that James has either continued to work or at least been paid (after 120 days of suspension) the Respondent did not demonstrate that it was otherwise prejudiced by the re-filing of charges.

Consequently, based upon the above discussion I find that the January 2016 tenure charges were dismissed without prejudice. Thus, the District did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:6-13 by re-filing tenure charges in April 2016. Accordingly, the Respondent"s Motion for Summary Dismissal based upon its first Point is denied.

In Point II of its Motion the Respondent, relying on a theory of double jeopardy, vigorously argued that tenure charges based upon any of her conduct in the 2014-2015 school year be dismissed because she has already been disciplined for such conduct as evidenced by: 1) the MOA signed on March 2, 2015 which docked her pay; and, 2) the subsequent additional docking of her pay on May 14, 2015. The Respondent essentially made the same argument relying on a res judicata theory in Point III of her Motion. Respondent relied upon Buglovsky; Clarke-Huff and Carlomango to support her argument.

The concept of double jeopardy in the labor relations context has been frequently applied. Discipline and Discharge in Arbitration at p. 54 explains:

> Fundamental concepts of justice and fairness require that once an employee has been disciplined for misconduct, the employee will not again be subject to discipline for the same offense. ...Double jeopardy concepts also preclude increasing the penalty for a violation after discipline has been imposed.

In its response to the Motion, the Petitioner argued that the MOA contained "limited release language" which it claims does not prevent consideration of all tenure charges. The Petitioner's argument appears to be based on several things: 1) the language in the Notice Section of the MOA that future excessive tardiness will result in more harsh disciplinary consequences; 2) the fact that James was disciplined for conduct on May 14, 2015, subsequent to the MOA; and 3) apparently because – in the Petitioner's words – the "minor penalty" (presumably the one day docking of pay) could not block the review of the totality of James' attendance record.

Although the MOA seems to primarily concern tardiness, I find that the third specific agreement listed therein broadened the purpose of the MOA to include absenteeism. The pertinent language provides:

> 3. The parties acknowledge that this Agreement constitutes full and final resolution of all issues regarding Ms. James unsatisfactory attendance during the 2014-2015 school year.

The Petitioner seemed to dismiss the Respondent's double jeopardy argument by claiming that the MOA language was limited and that the Respondent's argument was unsound for several reasons. First; because the collective negotiations agreement presumably covering James, permits fines or penalties as an exception to tenure charges; second, because the MOA expressly contemplates potential future discipline; third, because James was disciplined again in May 2015; and fourth, because the agreed upon penalty was minor.

Those arguments are not persuasive to defeat Respondent's Motion. Although the MOA does state that future excessive tardiness will result in more harsh discipline, that document clearly and unequivocally also states that said Agreement:

> . . .constitutes full and final resolution of all issues regarding Ms. James unsatisfactory attendance during the 2014-2015 school year.

If the District did not intend that Agreement to cover all of James' attendance issues for the entire 2014-2015 school year, which I believe was intended to cover tardiness and absenteeism, I would think it would not have agreed to that specific language in that Agreement. The discipline for May 14, 2015 while "attendance" related, was for allegedly being AWOL which differs from tardiness or approved absenteeism, it did not negate the "attendance" language in the MOA. In fact, the discipline in May 2015 demonstrated that the District was willing and capable of taking action against James contemporaneously with an alleged infraction, something it clearly choose not to do in the years preceding 2014-2015.

The Petitioner in its brief also spent considerable time arguing why excessive absenteeism is a legitimate basis for dismissing a teacher even when the absences were "justified" and "approved". I don't doubt the Petitioner's argument in that regard or the cases cited in support thereof, but that is more an argument over the merits of the allegations in the charges and potential discipline therefrom, none of which is before me at this time. As explained earlier, I am only determining here, what, if any, allegations may proceed to hearing.

Having considered the parties' positions as well as the decisions and legal treatises cited above I find the double jeopardy concept as well as res judicata apply in this case, at least with respect to all attendance - tardy and absentee - allegations against James for all of the 2014-2015 school year as specifically stated in the MOA. Similarly, double jeopardy applies for the alleged AWOL event of May 14, 2015 for which James was docked a full days pay.

Double jeopardy and res judicata, however, do not apply to alleged sign-in or out procedures or proctor failures that may have occurred in the 2014-2015 school year because the MOA was, by its own terms, limited to attendance issues for that year which, I find, only included absenteeism and tardiness. Nor did those legal concepts apply to the 20 alleged tardy days in the 2015-2016 school year alleged in the April tenure charges because the MOA was limited to 2014-2015.

Consequently, based upon the MOA and the docking on May 14, 2015, the Motion is sustained regarding all attendance – absentee and tardy – allegations and the AWOL allegation against James for the 2014-2015 school year. The District may not proceed to hearing on any of those charges/allegations. However, the Motion is denied regarding: 1) the alleged November 24, 2014 warning about unauthorized punches; 2) James alleged failure to perform proctor duties on April 30 and May 5, 2015; and, 3) the allegation that James was tardy 20 times during the 2015-2016 school year. The Petitioner may proceed on those charges/allegations but may not expand on those specific charges.

Based upon its application of Buglovsky, the Respondent in Point IV of its Motion essentially argued that the District's inaction until 2016 waived any right it may have had to proceed on the 2008-2009 through 2013-2014 charges/allegations against James. I agree for the same reasons expressed in that decision. Although the Petitioner in Point IV of its response to the Motion argued public interest considerations for wanting a hearing on all of the charges it filed in April 2016, I note it was the District's burden to proceed with timely charges which would have protected both the public interest and James' due process rights.

In this case the District has sought to litigate over absenteeism and tardiness allegedly occurring as much as eight years before the filing of the 2016 tenure charges. Here, one could infer that if James had as poor an absence/tardy record as alleged – and one which the District determined was unacceptable – the District would have taken vigorous action against James much sooner, certainly at various times during the 2008-2009 through 2013-2014 time period. But other than warning James, it does not appear that the District thought James' record serious enough to take further action during that time. James was allowed to continue working even during the time when she was allegedly continuing to accumulate an absence and tardy record. Either the District was derelict in its duty to earlier file tenure charges, or it had determined that James' conduct – though troublesome – did not justify such action. I tend to believe the latter. In either case, it appears to me that James' conduct in 2014-2015 was the catalyst for the 2016 charges and that the allegations of excessive absences/days tardy prior thereto was merely added for effect.

When considering the fact that the District, through the 2015 MOA, resolved what was alleged to have been a significant number of absences and days tardy during the 2014-2015 school year with only a one day salary penalty, and did not even address any of the alleged absenteeism and tardiness occurring prior thereto, I infer that the District did not appear to consider that such prior conduct justified serious discipline. With that in mind, and noting the significant delay between the alleged prior absences and days tardy and the filing of the instant charges, it appears to me that it would be fundamentally unfair and violate James' due process to proceed now on conduct arising prior to the 2014-2015 school year. The District had amply opportunity between 2008-2009 and 2013-2014 to contemporaneously proceed on charges concerning conduct during those years. Having failed to do so during the appropriate time period, it waived the right to add charges from those years to the 2014-2015 charges in this case. I, therefore, sustain the Motion with respect to all allegations of conduct occurring prior to the 2014-2015 school year. The Petitioner may not proceed on any charges prior to that year.

Accordingly, based upon all of the above I issue the following:

AWARD

The Respondent's Motion for Summary Dismissal is sustained in part and denied in part.

A. The Motion is sustained regarding:

1. All alleged conduct occurring during the 2008-2009 through the 2013-2014 school years.
2. All alleged absenteeism and tardiness occurring during the 2014-2015 school year.
3. The alleged AWOL conduct occurring on May 14, 2015.

B. The Motion is denied regarding:

1. Respondent's allegation that the tenure charges could not be re-filed.
2. The alleged November 24, 2014 warning about unauthorized punches.
3. James' alleged failure to perform proctor duties on April 30 and May 5, 2015.
4. The allegation James was tardy 20 times during the 2015-2016 school year.

C. I retain jurisdiction over a possible Remedy for the matters dismissed in Section A, and retain jurisdiction for the matters remaining in Section B, numbers 2, 3, and 4. A conference call will be arranged with the parties to determine the further processing of this case.

The parties have entered into an Employment Separation Agreement (copy enclosed) in resolution of the above referenced matter. I have reviewed the Agreement and found it to be in compliance with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6. As indicated in Item 3 of the Agreement, page two, "The parties mutually irrevocably and unconditionally waive, release and forever discharge any and all claims or rights, whether known or unknown which they have or may have against each other, personally and officially, individually and collectively...."

The Separation Agreement came about after extensive discussions at which the nature of the charges were fully presented and known to Ms. Smith. Both parties have freely entered into this Agreement and both have signed the Agreement. As noted on page five (5) of the Agreement, Ms. Smith acknowledged her understanding of the agreement which had been negotiated by her attorney with her knowledge and consent. Both parties have acknowledged, page one (1) of the Agreement, that the Agreement is in their mutual interest and I find it to be in the public interest.

RE: In the Matter of Tenure Charges against Joann Smith and State Operated School District of the City of Paterson

Dear Ms. Kanef:

With regard to the above-referenced matter, enclosed please find a fully executed Employment Separation Agreement. The Board of Education approved the Separation Agreement at their meeting last night, April 12, 2017.

I am advised by the District that Ms. Smith will receive all monies owed to her in the next payroll cycle, April 28th.

By copy of this letter I am forwarding a copy of the signed agreement to Arbitrator Hartigan so that he may close the case.

Please feel free to call me with any questions. Thank you for your cooperation in resolving this matter.

Very truly yours,

EMPLOYMENT SEPARATION AGREEMENT

This Employment Separation Agreement (the "Agreement") is made by and between JOANN SMITH ("SMITH") and the STATE OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF PATERSON (the "BOARD"). The signatories to this Agreement will be referred to collectively and/or jointly, as appropriate, as the "Parties."

WHEREAS, the BOARD and SMITH have consulted with each other, and with their respective counsel, and have determined that it would be in their mutual best interest that SMITH and the BOARD end their employer-employee relationship; and

WHEREAS, on the basis of the foregoing, SMITH will resign her tenured position, as a teaching staff member with the BOARD, effective April 30, 2017 and the BOARD, in turn, agrees to provide certain consideration to SMITH in connection with her transition from employment with the BOARD.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual promises, covenants and obligations contained herein, the Parties agree as follows:

1. At the time of execution of this Agreement, SMITH will submit a letter of resignation of her position with the BOARD to be effective April 30, 2017. The letter of resignation shall be in the form attached hereto as Appendix A and is made part of this Agreement. It is understood that Smith's resignation from her position with the Board is final, binding and irrevocable. The Board will maintain SMITH on paid administrative leave under the terms of the CBA with the Paterson Education Association until April 30, 2017, including back pay for the period of her unpaid suspension. Her contractual health benefits shall continue through April 30, 2017. Thereafter, SMITH may obtain health coverage through COBRA.

2. Neither the BOARD nor SMITH, nor anyone acting on behalf of SMITH, shall take any adversarial action against each other arising out of SMITH's employment with the BOARD, whether by grievance, complaint, litigation, investigation or otherwise. To that end, the parties mutually release each other from and against any and all claims and potential claims arising out of or in connection with their mutual employment relationship except for any workers compensation, unemployment or disability related claims that SMITH may have. By signing this Agreement, SMITH represents that she is unaware of any facts that would give her a basis for a claim for workers' compensation or disability benefits.

3. The parties mutually irrevocably and unconditionally waive, release and forever discharge any and all claims or rights, whether known or unknown, which they have or may have against each other, personally and officially, individually and collectively, against past and present Board members, officers and administrators, its agents and employees, personally and officially, as well as their successors and assigns, including, but not limited to any and all claims for attorney's fees, back pay or front pay, any claims for emotional distress or pain and suffering, any and all claims involving tax liability stemming from this settlement, and any and all claims arising under any federal, state or local ordinance, regulation or law including, but not limited to, the New Jersey and Federal Constitutions, Title VII of the Civil Rights Acts of 1871 and 1991, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, the Employee Retirement Income Security Act, the Federal

Family and Medical Leave Act, the Fair Labor Standards Act, the Equal Pay Act, the Workers' Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act, the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, the New Jersey Family Leave Act, the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act, the New Jersey Wage and Hour Law, the Employer-Employee Relations Act, any collective negotiations agreement, any common law claim and any and all other claims for harassment, discrimination or retaliation of any kind, breach of promise, misrepresentation, negligence, fraud, estoppel, defamation, violation of public policy, wrongful or constructive discharge, or any other tort, contractual or quasi-contractual claim. Specifically exempted from this release are any claims for health insurance continuation coverage under and pursuant to the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act (referred to hereinabove as "COBRA"), the New Jersey Workers Compensation Act, any claim to unemployment benefits to which a party may be entitled and her right to enforce the terms of this Agreement.

4. The BOARD will also grant SMITH permission to make arrangements with the building administration to enter her place of employment for the purpose of removing any of her personal records and belongings and returning any property belonging to the BOARD. SMITH agrees that on or before March 1, 2017, she will return to the BOARD all BOARD property including, but not limited to, keys, identification cards, computers, etc.

5. The BOARD shall continue to provide contractual medical, dental, prescription and vision health insurance benefits to SMITH through April 30, 2017. SMITH will be eligible to continue health insurance benefits thereafter at her expense through COBRA.

6. SMITH agrees that she will not seek reemployment with the BOARD now or in the future, and if she does, she understands that the BOARD will not be obligated to consider her for re-employment. SMITH further agrees that she and/or anyone acting on her behalf has no right to challenge and will not challenge or otherwise institute an action over the BOARD's failure to process or consider any such application for reemployment or reinstatement.
7. SMITH agrees that she is not owed any further monies or benefits from the BOARD, whether by way of collective bargaining agreement, BOARD policy or otherwise, and the BOARD is not obligated to make any further payments to SMITH, except as expressly provided herein.
8. The Parties acknowledge that they have read the agreement and understand all of its terms, that they have consulted with counsel, and that their agreement is executed voluntarily, without duress, and with full knowledge of its legal significance.
9. This Agreement constitutes the complete agreement between the parties. It may not be altered or amended, except in writing, with the same formality as this agreement. SMITH acknowledges and agrees that this Agreement will not be enforceable until formally approved by Resolution of the Board of Education.
10. SMITH acknowledges that, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 17:1-6.3, the BOARD may be required to disclose this agreement to the Division of Pensions.

11. SMITH acknowledges that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.3 and Child M. v. Fennes, 2016 WL 4473253 (App. Div. 2016) (unreported), this matter must be referred to the State Board of Examiners.

12. Employee acknowledges that she is releasing all rights and claims arising under the Age Discrimination in Employment Act. To satisfy the requirements of the Older Workers' Benefit Protection Act, 29 U.S.C. § 626(f), the parties agree as follows:

a. Employee acknowledges that she has read and understands the terms of this Agreement.

b. Employee is hereby advised to consult with an attorney prior to executing this Agreement. Employee represents that she has consulted with her attorney of record in the Action, Gail Oxfeld Kanef, Esq., and has received all advice she deems necessary concerning this Agreement.

c. Employee acknowledges that she has twenty-one (21) days to consider this Agreement, although she may, in the exercise of her own discretion, sign or reject it at any time before the expiration of the twenty-one (21) day period. Employee acknowledges that she has taken as much time as necessary to consider whether to enter into this Agreement, and has chosen to enter this Agreement freely, knowingly, and voluntarily.

d. For a seven (7) day period following the execution of this Agreement, Employee may revoke this Agreement by delivering a written revocation to the law firm of Apruzzese, McDermott, Mastro & Murphy, attorneys for Employer, 25 Independence Blvd, Warren, NJ 07059. This Agreement will not become effective or enforceable until after the end of this revocation period.

WHEREFORE, having fully read and understood the terms of this Agreement, the Parties sign their names below with the intention that they shall be bound by it.

OPINION and AWARD

Pursuant to N.J.S.A., 18A:6-16, as amended by P.L. 2012, c. 26 and P.L. 2015, c. 109 ("TEACHNJ"), the tenure charges brought by the South Hackensack Board of Education on behalf of the South Hackensack Public School District ("District") against Christopher Masullo ("Masullo") were referred to me for a hearing and decision. The charges were filed with the New Jersey Department of Education ("DOE") on January 3, 2017. An answer was filed by Mr. Masullo with the DOE on January 18, 2017. I was appointed to hear this dispute on January 30, 2017. I conducted a hearing at Hillside Square, 8 Hillside Avenue, Montclair, New Jersey on March 6, and March 8, 2017.

Both parties were afforded a full opportunity to examine and cross-examine witnesses, submit evidence, and present arguments in support of their respective positions. The parties submitted briefs and the record was closed as of March 31, 2017. The evidence adduced and the positions and arguments set forth by the parties have been fully considered in the preparation and issuance of this Opinion and Award.

Vittorio S. LaPira, of the firm of Fogarty & Hara, Esqs. represented the District. Ty Hyderally, Esq. and Sally A. Sattan, Esq. represented Mr. Masullo.

THE ISSUE:

The issue for arbitral determination is:

Has the District established that Mr. Masullo engaged in misconduct alleged in the charge brought against him? If so what shall be the penalty?

THE CHARGE[1]

> Christopher J. Masullo, a tenured teaching staff member in the employ of the South Hackensack Board of Education, engaged in conduct unbecoming a teaching staff member when he disconnected a loudspeaker in his Computer Lab classroom without permission, thus jeopardizing the health and safety of students and staff, since he could not hear emergency notifications (such as a school security drill or actual bomb threat, active shooter situation, etc.), and such action alone (and certainly when combined with Mr. Masullo's attempt to cover up his actions and his prior incidents of misconduct), justifies dismissal from his teaching position.

(Emphasis in the original).

[1] There are numerous specifications to the Charge which will not be set forth herein.

BACKGROUND

A. Mr. Masullo's History in the District

Mr. Masullo, a teacher for twenty years, was hired by the District in 2007. Mr. Masullo is a sixth-grade math teacher and is a computer teacher for students in grades Pre-K through 8. He teaches at the District's Memorial School.

Throughout most of Mr. Masullo's employment in the District, Dr. William DeFabiis ("DeFabiis") served as both District Superintendent of Schools and Principal of Memorial School. Dr. DeFabiis retired in June 2013, and was succeeded by the present District Superintendent and Principal, Dr. Gregorio Maceri.

Dr. DeFabiis testified that Mr. Masullo was an excellent teacher, and an invaluable staff member who took initiative and worked with staff members to solve problems with electronic technology. As Mr. Masullo's supervisor, Dr. DeFabiis prepared observation reports (Respondent Exs. 1, 2, 3 and 6), and performance reports concerning Mr. Masullo. (Respondent Exs. 4 and 5). These observation reports and performance reports were uniformly positive. Each of the observation reports concluded with the phrase "Keep up the good work!" The performance reports had three possible ratings for 38 separate criteria. These ratings were: satisfactory, needs improvement and unsatisfactory. In both 2013 and 2012, Dr. DeFabiis rated Mr. Masullo as satisfactory in each of the 38 criteria. In both years, Dr. DeFabiis recommended that Mr. Masullo receive a salary increment. (Respondent Exs. 4 and 5).

Dr. DeFabiis' testimony was not uniformly positive regarding Mr. Masullo's performance. Dr. DeFabiis testified that on two separate occasions he had a strict talk with Mr. Masullo about the teacher's interactions with other staff members[2].

On May 10, 2016, Dr. Maceri prepared a Teacher Summary Rating form for Mr. Masullo. That form contains twenty-seven different criteria concerning teacher performance. Dr. Maceri rated Mr. Masullo as proficient in one category, accomplished in sixteen categories, and distinguished in ten categories. There were no comments in the section entitled "Recommended Actions for Improvement." The final comment on the document stated in pertinent part: "Mr. Masullo is encouraged to continue his approach of locating and implementing new and innovative methods of improving student achievement." (Respondents Ex. 9).

B. Mr. Masullo's Classroom and the Loudspeaker

Because Mr. Masullo is a computer teacher for the District's Pre-K to 8th grade students, his primary classroom is the Computer Lab. The Computer Lab is in a glass enclosed room that adjoins the Memorial School Library. There are low ceilings in the Computer Lab, and there is no sound buffering or dampening system in the room.

Each classroom and office in the Memorial School has a loudspeaker embedded in the ceiling of the room. The loudspeaker is used to make school announcements, and to announce security drills including "bomb drills" and "active shooter drills." (There is a separate alarm system for fire drills). Security drills are announced in "plain language" over the loudspeaker. The person making the announcement would state "active shooter" or "bomb threat[3]." In addition, during the school day, if a visitor incorrectly rings the night bell, the sound of the bell is transmitted through the loudspeaker system into each classroom including the Computer Lab.

Mr. Masullo testified that, because of the configuration of the Computer Lab, sounds emanating from the loudspeaker are extremely loud and disruptive. Mr. Masullo testified that he had chronic ear infections, and that because of a surgical procedure in 2013 to get rid of fluid in his ears, he was very sensitive to sounds. (A medical record detailing Mr. Masullo's auditory problems was introduced as Respondent's Ex. 10).

Mr. Masullo also testified that some of his students were on the autism spectrum, and that they reacted poorly to noises from the loudspeaker. Mr. Masullo testified that it took time to calm his students down after hearing the jarring noises of the loudspeaker.

On March 21, 2013, Mr. Masullo sent an email to Dr. DeFabiis concerning the loudspeaker. The email stated in pertinent part: "Can we do anything about the volume of the ceiling speakers? The sound of the bells and such are deafening in the Library and Computer Lab." (Respondent Ex. 7).

Dr. DeFabiis did not remember receiving the email, but did remember speaking to Mr. Masullo about the noise in the Computer Lab. Dr. DeFabiis testified that he made some inquiries and determined that because there was no volume control on the speaker there was no way to adjust the volume in the Computer Lab. Mr. Masullo also complained to Head Custodian James Parisi ("Parisi") and to Custodian Carmine Barricella ("Barricella") about the excessive noise in the Computer Lab. Mr. Parisi testified that he would not disconnect the loudspeaker unless he was authorized to do so by Dr. DeFabiis.

After Dr. Maceri became District Superintendent and Principal a meeting was held in his office with Mr. Masullo and Jeff Badre ("Badre"), an information technology consultant, to discuss certain computer contracts. Mr. Masullo testified that at the meeting he observed Mr. Parisi disconnect the loudspeaker in Dr. Maceri's office because it was too loud. Mr. Parisi admitted that he had disconnected the loudspeaker in Dr. Maceri's office, but he did not remember if Mr. Masullo observed him performing that task.

At some point in 2015, after Mr. Masullo learned that Mr. Parisi disconnected the loudspeaker in Dr. Maceri's office, Mr. Masullo unilaterally decided to disconnect the loudspeaker in the Computer Lab. Mr. Masullo claimed that he was still able to hear the monthly security alarms even after the loudspeaker was disconnected. Mr. Masullo also testified that he told Anne Turtoro ("Turtoro") the Library/Media Specialist and Gifted and Talented Teacher whose work area in the library adjoined the Computer Lab, and Mr. Barricella that he disconnected the loudspeaker. Both Ms. Turtoro and Mr. Barricella testified and denied knowing that Mr. Masullo had disconnected the loudspeaker[4].

Ms. Turtoro testified that on two occasions in the Spring of 2015 and in September 2016 she alerted Mr. Masullo to an ongoing security drill. Ms. Turtoro testified that as she was leaving for these drills, she could see Mr. Masullo through the glass walls and that he did not seem to be preparing to take part in the security drills. Ms. Turtoro alerted Mr. Masullo to the drills, and Mr. Masullo and his classes took part in those drills without incident.

C. The Events of October 19, 2016 and the Aftermath

On October 19, 2016, Dr. Maceri initiated a security drill by announcing over the loudspeaker the phrase "bomb threat" three times. Except for Mr. Masullo's class, the entire building was evacuated and moved to staging areas adjacent to the school. Ms.

[4] There is no indication that Mr. Masullo ever told Dr. Maceri that he disconnected the loudspeaker.

Turtoro heard the alarm but, because of the configuration of the library, she left with a student she was working with without observing that Mr. Masullo and his class remained in the Computer Lab[5].

At the time of the drill, Mr. Masullo was working with Teacher Jessica Carroll's ("Carroll") third grade class. When Ms. Carroll noticed that her class had not come down for the drill, she alerted Dr. Maceri. After trying to determine if Mr. Masullo utilized a different staircase and was perhaps delayed, Dr. Maceri went into the building to look for Mr. Masullo. Fifteen minutes after the drill began, Dr. Maceri found Mr. Masullo teaching his class of nineteen students. When confronted by Dr. Maceri, Mr. Masullo said that he had not heard the drill. Dr. Maceri left to conclude the drill and arrange for the students to return to the building. Dr. Maceri then directed Mr. Parisi to check on the loudspeaker in the Computer Lab.

Teacher Assistant Gina Jiries ("Jiries") was working with Mr. Masullo at the time of the security drill. Ms. Jiries testified that she did not learn about the drill until Dr. Maceri came to the Computer Lab. Ms. Jiries testified that Dr. Maceri directed her to stay in the Computer Lab until the other students returned to the school. Ms. Jiries said some of the students were upset about missing the drill, and that she calmed them down. Ms. Jiries stated that Mr. Masullo asked her if she was going to escort the students to their next class. Ms. Jiries stated that, at that point, she told Mr. Masullo that she would be remaining in the Computer Lab as directed by Dr. Maceri. Ms. Jiries testified that she then observed Mr. Masullo leave the Computer Lab and return with a ladder. Mr. Masullo then placed the ladder under the loudspeaker and Ms. Jiries observed Mr. Masullo remove a tile from the ceiling. Ms. Jiries testified that she was not sure what Mr. Masullo was doing on the ladder. When Ms. Turtoro returned to the Library, Ms. Jiries determined that the drill had concluded as such Ms. Jiries escorted her students to their next class. Later that day, Ms. Jiries escorted another class to the Computer Lab, and noticed that Mr. Masullo was on the ladder again.

Dr. Maceri informed Mr. Parisi that Mr. Masullo's class never heard the drill announcement. Dr. Maceri directed Mr. Parisi to correct the problem. When Mr. Parisi got to the Computer Lab accompanied by Dr. Maceri, the ladder left by Mr. Masullo was under the loudspeaker. Mr. Parisi climbed the ladder, removed the ceiling tile and discovered that the loudspeaker had been disconnected. Mr. Parisi informed Dr. Maceri that the loudspeaker had been disconnected, and Dr. Maceri directed Mr. Parisi to call the vendor to have it repaired.

Later, on October 19th, Mr. Masullo called Mr. Parisi's cell phone and informed Mr. Parisi that he reconnected the loudspeaker. Mr. Masullo called Mr. Parisi once more and asked if Mr. Parisi knew who disconnected the loudspeaker. On October 20, 2016, Mr. Masullo called Mr. Parisi and inquired about what was going on. Mr. Parisi testified that he told Mr. Masullo that, "some people" had seen Mr. Masullo on the ladder, and Mr. Parisi counseled Mr. Masullo to tell the truth to Dr. Maceri.

Also on October 20, 2016, Dr. Maceri made further inquiries concerning the events of the previous day and Mr. Masullo's failure to respond to the drill. Dr. Maceri spoke to Ms. Jiries and Ms. Turtoro. Dr. Maceri then convened a meeting attended by Mr. Masullo, South Hackensack Education Association ("Association") President Lori Murphy ("Murphy") and Association Vice-President Kelly Marella ("Marella")[6]. Dr. Maceri questioned Mr. Masullo about the disconnection of the loudspeaker. Mr. Masullo initially denied that he disconnected the loudspeaker, and suggested that he received permission from Dr. DeFabiis to disconnect the loudspeaker. Upon hearing this, Dr. Maceri said that he would call Dr. DeFabiis to confirm whether, Dr. DeFabiis gave Mr. Masullo permission to disconnect the loudspeaker. Mr. Masullo testified that he brought up Dr. DeFabiis only to indicate that Dr. DeFabiis was aware of the issue with the loudspeaker. Eventually, Mr. Masullo admitted that he did not have Dr. DeFabiis's permission to disconnect the loudspeaker. Mr. Masullo confessed that he had disconnected the loudspeaker.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Dr. Maceri demanded that Mr. Masullo resign and stated that if Mr. Masullo did not have tenure he would fire Mr. Masullo immediately. Mr. Masullo refused to resign. Dr. Maceri immediately suspended Mr. Masullo. On November 2, 2016, NJEA/Uniserv Field Representative Richard Lockke ("Lockke") met with Mr. Masullo, Ms. Murphy, Ms. Marella, and Dr. Maceri in an effort to convince Dr. Maceri to reinstate Mr. Masullo to his position. This effort was not successful.

Mr. Masullo testified that he understood the seriousness of his actions, and expressed a great deal of remorse. Mr. Masullo said he would never deliberately put his students at risk.

[6] The meeting was transcribed by Elizabeth Schaefer the School Secretary.

POSITIONS OF THE PARTIES

A. The District's Position

The District vigorously argues that the only acceptable penalty for Mr. Masullo's actions is termination. In reviewing the record evidence, the District notes that "Mr. Masullo disconnected the loudspeaker in the Computer Lab without authorization from, or notification to, the school administration."

The District also contends that, once Mr. Masullo realized he missed the drill on October 19, 2016, he compounded his errors by trying to cover up his actions. The District posits that Mr. Masullo tried to have Ms. Jiries leave the Computer Lab so that he could reconnect the loudspeaker. In addition, the District maintains that when Mr. Parisi first climbed the ladder in the Computer Lab to determine what was wrong, Mr. Masullo could have admitted that he disconnected the loudspeaker, but Mr. Masullo said nothing. In addition, even though Dr. Maceri directed Mr. Parisi to reconnect the loudspeaker, Mr. Masullo took that task upon himself. The District contends that this is further evidence that Mr. Masullo hoped that no one would find out who disconnected the loudspeaker. The District maintains that Mr. Masullo panicked and tried to cover up his actions.

The District goes on to argue that at the October 20, 2016 meeting with Dr. Maceri, Mr. Masullo tried to deflect his guilt by initially asserting that Dr. DeFabiis was aware that he had disconnected the loudspeaker. The District contends that Mr. Masullo only admitted his guilt when Dr. Maceri threatened to call Dr. DeFabiis. The District portrays disconnecting the loudspeaker as being done in secret, without authorization and states that Mr. Masullo's actions endangered the lives of students and staff.

The District characterizes the testimony of Mr. Masullo's treating therapist and social worker Dr. James Silvestri ("Silvestri") as damning[7]. Dr. Silvestri testified that Mr. Masullo had a personality that liked to solve problems. The District characterized this personality trait as being consistent with Mr. Masullo's decision to take matters into his own hands and to disconnect the loudspeaker.

The District also strenuously contends that, in the event of a real bomb threat or shooting incident, the lives of Mr. Masullo's students would have been in jeopardy.

In applying the facts to the legal standards governing this proceeding, the District argues that termination is the only acceptable penalty. The District states that any teacher that puts students and staff members lives at risk does not deserve a second chance. The District concedes that there are not many cases on point but argues that:

> Behavior rising to the level of unbecoming conduct 'need not be predicated upon the violation of any particular rule or regulation, but may be based merely upon the violation of the implicit standard of good behavior which devolves upon one who stands in the public eye as an upholder of that which is morally and legally correct.'

(District Brief at 3, quoting, In re Tenure Hearing of Motley, No. EDU 7421-97 (Initial Decision May 5, 1999), aff'd as modified, No. 252-99 (Comm'r Aug. 4, 1999), aff'd o.b., No. 38-99 (State Bd. Dec. 1, 1999) (slip op. at 15-16).

The District also notes that conduct unbecoming can embrace a wide range of conduct, and that unfitness for tenure may be shown by a single egregious incident. The District argues that a teacher "forfeits his/her protection of tenure when 'by his own acts or failures, he creates conditions under which the proper operation of the schools is adversely affected'." (District Brief at 4, quoting, In re Tenure Hearing of Bradley, 1990

[7] Dr. Silvestri has been treating Mr. Masullo for anxiety issues since 2008.

S.L.D. 790, 816 (Initial Decision), (internal cite omitted) adopted, 1990 S.L.D. 818 (Comm'r 1990), aff'd as modified, 1991 S.L.D. 2521 (State Bd. 1991).

The District argues that an award upholding Mr. Masullo's termination would be consistent with other cases. The District points to one case where a teacher, like Mr. Masullo, disconnected a loudspeaker. The teacher's termination was upheld by the Commissioner[8].(District Brief at 38, quoting, In re Tenure Hearing of Thomas, No. EDU 05594-02 (Initial Decision August 14, 2002), aff'd, No. 361-02 (Comm'r Oct. 9, 2002). The District also notes that the Commissioner has upheld terminations of teachers for conduct unbecoming based on a single instance of egregious behavior; see, e.g. (District Brief at 39-40, citing, In re Tenure Hearing of Chaki, No. EDU 1529-11 (Initial Decision Oct. 24, 2011), aff'd as modified, No. 542-11 (Comm'r Dec. 12, 2011) (making derogatory remarks to a student; (District Brief at 43-42, quoting, In re Tenure Hearing of Cooper EDU 6550-00 (Initial Decision Feb. 2, 2001), aff'd, No. 104-01 (Comm'r March 22, 2001) (teacher terminated for telling student to kiss the teacher's "butt"). (District Brief at 43-44, quoting, In re Tenure Hearing of O'Brien, No. EDU 5600-11 (Initial Decision Oct. 11, 2011), adopted, No. 544-11(Comm'r Oct. 28, 2011), aff'd, No. A-2452-11 (App. Div. Jan. 11, 2013) (teacher terminated for calling students criminals on Facebook page). The District also notes that an arbitrator upheld terminations for a single instance of conduct unbecoming; see, e.g. (District Brief at 44, quoting, In re Tenure Hearing of Bringhurst, No.236-8/12 (Nov. 30, 2012) (Gifford Arb.) (teacher terminated for streaking)).

The District argues that under well settled labor arbitration principles an employee

[8] As will be discussed below, the teacher in question also wore earplugs and had a history of excessive absenteeism.

may be terminated for placing others at risk. Accordingly, the District asks that Mr. Masullo's termination be upheld.

B. Mr. Masullo's Position

Mr. Masullo contends that his actions did not have an "injurious effect" upon the school or its administration, and therefore his actions did not constitute "conduct unbecoming." Mr. Masullo notes that, under similar factual circumstances a school principal's license was suspended but not revoked. (Respondent's Brief at 3-4 citing, In re Suspension of the Certificates of Steven Kramer, No. A-4573-08T2, 2010 N.J. Super. Unpub. LEXIS 2588 (Super. Ct. App. Div., 2010)). In the Kramer case, the principal of a school had a malfunctioning fire alarm system that went off several times per month and disrupted the school. Without board approval, the principal switched the alarm to "test" which had the effect of disabling the alarm system's ability to alert the fire department. A fire occurred and because of changes to the alarm, notification to the fire department was delayed. Tenure charges were filed against the principal. The State Board of Examiners did not revoke the principal's license, but imposed a suspension of two and a half months.

Mr. Masullo contends that the holding in this case is instructive, and maintains that he acted reasonably to rectify a difficult situation. He asserts that the loudspeaker caused "pain, annoyance and disruption," and affected Mr. Masullo's ability to teach and, also had a deleterious impact on his students. Mr. Masullo notes that he had complained to Dr. DeFabiis and Dr. Maceri, and to the custodial staff. Mr. Masullo also justifies his actions because he has suffered auditory damage and the loudspeaker was making his hearing difficulties worse.

Mr. Masullo points to Dr. Silvestri's testimony which generally supports the contention that Masullo lacked malicious intent, and that Mr. Masullo was trying to protect his students from the disruption caused by the loudspeaker.

Mr. Masullo notes that prior to October 19, 2016, he never previously missed a security drill, and that he believed that because there existed other loudspeakers were outside of the Computer Lab, he would have been alerted to the drill on October 19, 2016. Mr. Masullo states that previously Ms. Jiries had heard the drills and announcements. In addition, Mr. Masullo contends that Ms. Turtoro's testimony in which she stated that she had previously alerted Mr. Masullo to other security drills lacks credibility, and notes in this regard that prior to the October 19, 2016 incident, Ms. Turtoro never spoke about issues concerning the loudspeaker with either Mr. Masullo or school administrators. Mr. Masullo also contends that the announcement for the bomb drill lasted only a few seconds and that the record was unclear concerning who made the announcement.

Mr. Masullo points to the fact that he was generally regarded as a superior teacher who freely gave his time and money to help the Memorial School. Mr. Masullo notes that his record is devoid of any serious discipline. Mr. Masullo characterizes the events of October 19, 2016 as unique unfortunate occurrence and that there has never been any other instance where Mr. Masullo jeopardized the health and safety of students or staff. Mr. Masullo contends that the health and safety of his students was his paramount concern.

Regarding the events of October 19, 2016, Mr. Masullo denies that he was surreptitiously trying to hide the fact that he disconnected the loudspeaker. Mr. Masullo states that he admitted to Mr. Maceri and Mr. Parisi that he disconnected the loudspeaker. Mr. Masullo maintains that he never would have left the ladder out in plain sight if he had been trying to hide the fact that the loudspeaker was disconnected. Mr. Masullo maintains that he never implied that Dr. DeFabiis gave him permission to disconnect the loudspeaker, and contends that he mentioned Dr. DeFabiis at the October 20, 2016 meeting to indicate that Dr. DeFabiis was aware of Mr. Masullo's complaints regarding the loudspeaker.

Mr. Masullo states that he has shown remorse for his actions. He also points to the testimony of Mr. Lockke, the NJEA/Uniserv representative, concerning the devastating impact that an adverse finding in this proceeding would have on Mr. Masullo's career. Mr. Masullo contends that an examination of his overall record should mitigate any penalty that might be imposed. (Respondent's Brief at 11-12 citing, In re Tenure Hearing of Leslie Ann Ramos, School District of the City of Elizabeth, Union County, DOE Docket No. 261-9/14 at 18 (Jan. 5, 2015); In re Tenure Hearing of John Vingara, Somerset County Vocational Technical School District, Somerset County, DOE Docket No. 121-4/16 at 56 (Jan. 17, 2017)).

Mr. Masullo notes that if the ultimate penalty is imposed there is a very good chance that his teaching license would be revoked, and that all of his training, including doctoral level courses in Instructional Technology, would be rendered useless.

Mr. Masullo also maintains that the penalty of discharge is too severe because he was not subjected to progressive discipline. Mr. Masullo concedes that on occasion a teacher's behavior may be so egregious that a single incident might justify the ultimate penalty of termination. However, he contends that the events of October 19, 2016 merited progressive discipline and not termination. (Respondent's Brief at 13 citing, In re Tenure Hearing of Leonard Yarbourough, State Operated School District of the City of Newark, Essex County, New Jersey, DOE Docket No. 259-9/15-12/14 at 15 (May 24, 2016)).

Finally, Mr. Masullo argues that, if his actions constitute conduct unbecoming, dismissal is not the appropriate remedy and that he should be reinstated and made whole for his loss in pay, seniority, benefits and emoluments. Mr. Masullo, conceded that his conduct may have constituted a lapse in judgment but he contends it should be analyzed as a single incident. Mr. Masullo contends that he has recognized his wrongdoing and expressed his remorse, and that this should have a bearing on any penalty that might be imposed (Respondent's Brief at 18 citing, In re Tenure Hearing of Maryellen Lechelt, Edison Township Board of Education, DOE Docket No. 360-12/14 at 84 (June 30, 2015)). Mr. Masullo cites to numerous cases where arbitrators and administrative law judges have reduced the penalties of teachers for conduct that is more egregious than Mr. Masullo's. (Respondent's Brief at 18-20 and the cites therein).

In the alternative, Mr. Masullo asks that his suspension be reduced to 120 days or less.

DISCUSSION

A. The Legal Standard

The Education Tenure Act governing teacher tenure provides in pertinent part:

> No person shall be dismissed or reduced in compensation,
>
> (a) if he is or shall be under tenure of office, position or employment during good behavior and efficiency in the public school system of the state . . .
>
> except for inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct, or other just cause, and then only after a hearing held pursuant to this subarticle, by the commissioner, or a person appointed by him to act in his behalf, after a written charge or charges, of the cause or causes of complaint, shall have been preferred against such person, signed by the person or persons making the same, who may or may not be a member or members of a board of education, and filed and proceeded upon as in this subarticle provided.

N.J.S.A. 18a:6-10.

Tenure is a "statutory right that may not be forfeited or waived." Spiewak v. Rutherford Bd. of Educ., 90 N.J. 63, 77 (1982). Tenure is designed to protect employees from dismissal "for unfounded, flimsy or political reasons". Wright v. Bd. of Educ. Of E. Orange, 99 N.J. 112, 118 quoting Zimmerman v. Newark Bd. of Educ., 38 N.J. 65, 72 (1962). Although an employee's lack of fitness may be "demonstrated by a series of incidents" it is well established that a single "flagrant" act may be sufficient to remove a tenured teacher from his or her position. In re Tenure Hearing of Harriman, No. EDU 3510-12 (Initial Decision Aug. 31, 2102), adopted, No. 408-12 (Comm'r Oct. 12, 2012) citing, Redcay v. State Bd. of Educ., 130 N.J.L. 369, 371 (Sup. Ct. 1943), aff'd, 131 N.J.L. 326, 327 (E. and A. 1944).

In order to find that an employee engaged in conduct which merits removal, that employee is "entitled to an evaluation of the conduct in terms of its relationship to the nature of the office itself, and in that context, an appraisal of the actual or potential impairment of the public interest which may be expected to result from the conduct in question." Sch. Dist. Of Parsippany-Troy Hills v. Hess, 97 N.J.A.R. 2D (EDU) 34, 45 (citations omitted). Charges of unbecoming conduct are determined on a "case-by-case basis." Santiago v. Bd. of Educ. Of Elizabeth, No. EDU 7135-98 (Initial Decision Aug. 16, 2000) (slip op. at 4), aff'd sub nom. In re Tenure Hearing of Santiago, No. 330-00 (Comm'r Oct. 2, 200d), aff'd o.b., No. 54-00 (State Bd. Mar 9, 2001).

In In re Tenure Hearing of Fulcomer, 93 N.J. Super. 404 (Super. Ct. App. Div. 1967), the Court established a number factors that should be considered when deciding whether a teacher should be dismissed for unbecoming conduct. Those factors include: 1) the nature and gravity of the offenses under all the circumstances involved; 2) the teacher's attitude – i.e. whether the acts were premeditated, cruel, or done with intent to punish; 3) any evidence as to provocation, extenuation or aggravation. In Fulcomer, the Court recognized that there may be circumstances which should be considered which may mitigate any penalty to be imposed on a respondent teacher. These factors include: 1) the teacher's ability, record and length of service[9]; 2) the teacher's disciplinary record; and 3) the "impact of the penalty on the [teacher's] career, including the difficulty which would confront him as a teacher dismissed for unbecoming conduct, in obtaining a teaching position in the State."

[9] Fulcomer involved allegations of corporal punishment. The Court noted that the Respondent's "teaching record was good and his teaching ability unquestioned. [The Respondent] had not been disciplined in any manner by the Board prior to the date of the incidents" in question.

B. The Fulcomer Factors Applied to Mr. Masullo

Although there is no case precisely on point, both the District and Mr. Masullo were able to locate cases where pedagogues tampered with alarm systems. The District relies in part on In re Tenure Hearing of Thomas, No. EDU 05594-02 (Initial Decision August 14, 2002), aff'd, No. 361-02 (Comm'r Oct. 9, 2002). In Thomas, the teacher in question not only disconnected the loudspeaker in her classroom endangering students, but on three separate occasions wore earplugs, on one occasion failed to follow proper procedures in a fire drill, was insubordinate, and was frequently absent. The administrative law judge sustained the tenure charges and dismissed the teacher.

On the other hand, Mr. Masullo relies on the case of In re Suspension of the Certificates of Steven Kramer, No. A-4573-08T2, 2010 N.J. Super. Unpub. LEXIS 2588 (Super. Ct. App. Div., 2010). As noted above, in Kramer, a school principal altered a fire alarm system which had malfunctioned and was disrupting the operation of a school. The alteration of the alarm prevented the fire department from learning that that the alarm was triggered. Having analyzed the actions of the principal and having concluded that it constituted conduct unbecoming, the State Board of Examiners weighed those actions against the difficult circumstances that the principal faced, together with his long and distinguished career, and suspended the principal for sixty-nine days. The principal appealed his loss of back pay to the Appellate Division. The Court held that the Board of Examiners' decision was supported by substantial credible evidence and was neither arbitrary nor capricious.

A comparison of Thomas, supra and Kramer, supra supports the premise that tenure issues must be determined on a case-by-case basis. While a tenured pedagogue may have engaged in unbecoming conduct, that conduct must be weighed against that pedagogue's career and record. In Thomas, the teacher in question was guilty of far more than merely disconnecting an alarm in her classroom. Her overall record revealed behavior which combined with the conduct in disconnecting the alarm, in the aggregate, were considered by the Commissioner and provided the basis for upholding her dismissal. In Kramer by contrast, the principal's overall record as an excellent employee limited his discipline to a sixty-nine-day suspension.

The lesson drawn from these cases is that the record must be analyzed to determine if there are enough mitigating factors to reduce the ultimate penalty of dismissal. In this proceeding, Mr. Masullo's conduct in disconnecting the loudspeaker in the Computer Lab constituted a grave offense which may have endangered students and staff. Under well settled principles, this act was flagrant enough that a serious penalty is merited. It is of no moment that this might have been the only time that Mr. Masullo failed to participate in a security drill pursuant to an announcement by school administration. I credit Ms. Turtoro's testimony that on at least two previous occasions she believed that she successfully alerted Mr. Masullo to the fact that a security drill was taking place and Mr. Masullo followed protocol and participated in the drill. Once the loudspeaker in the Computer Lab was disconnected by Mr. Masullo, there existed a continuing danger to Mr. Masullo's students. It is of no significance that Mr. Masullo believed that he could hear the loudspeakers outside of the Computer Lab. Clearly, on October 19, 2016, Mr. Masullo did not hear the loudspeaker. If there had been an actual shooter or bomb scare on October 19, 2016, Mr. Masullo's students would have been in grave danger.

Nevertheless, termination is not an appropriate penalty in Mr. Masullo's case. In reviewing the Fulcomer factors as applied to this case, I conclude that the penalty of termination should be reduced. While I conclude that Mr. Masullo acted recklessly when he disconnected the loudspeaker, I do not believe that he intentionally sought to endanger either his students, other staff members or himself. His testimony demonstrated a tremendous amount of remorse, and I believe that if he is reinstated he will not engage in such reckless behavior again.

I credit Mr. Masullo's testimony that he felt justified in disconnecting the loudspeaker because he became sensitive to the sounds emanating from the loudspeaker. I also credit Mr. Masullo's testimony that the loudspeaker sounds disrupted Mr. Masullo's classroom and that the sounds disturbed students on the autism spectrum.[10] Mr. Masullo's sensitivity to the sounds does not excuse his actions and he could certainly have been more forceful in pressing for an accommodation to this problem.

Mr. Masullo's conduct in this matter must be weighed against his entire record as a teacher. Although there is some evidence of poor interactions with other staff members, Mr. Masullo's disciplinary record is generally a good one, and he has shown himself to be an active participant in school activities. The testimony of both Dr. DeFabiis and Dr. Maceri establish that Mr. Masullo took leading roles in extracurricular activities, and spent his own time and money in support of the school. In addition, the record evidence established that, overall, Mr. Masullo is an excellent teacher. The District's observation and evaluation reports entered into the record support this conclusion.

[10] As set forth below in this decision, I have concluded that Mr. Masullo shall be reinstated to his position. If he is reassigned to the Computer Lab, I make no finding regarding any accommodation, if any which should be made regarding the volume of the loudspeaker. See, e.g. The New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, N.J.S.A. 10:5-12.

Finally, I am mindful that, if Mr. Masullo was to be terminated, there is a very strong likelihood that his license to teach within the state of New Jersey would be revoked. While this is obviously true of all teachers faced with a loss of tenure, given Mr. Masullo's overall record, I conclude that he is deserving of one more chance. I do not believe that the actions proven in this case render Mr. Masullo unfit to teach.

It is my view that if Mr. Masullo is returned to the classroom, he will continue to be an effective teacher. Mr. Masullo is cautioned that he may not engage in any activity that could be perceived as endangering the safety and wellbeing of his students and fellow staff members. In lieu of termination, I direct that Mr. Masullo be suspended for the remainder of the 2016-2017 school year, that his increment for the 2016-2017 school year (if any) be withheld upon his return in the 2017-2018 school year, and that he receive no payments for time lost from the date of his suspension to the date of his reinstatement.

Based on the above, I render the following:

AWARD

The undersigned Arbitrator having been designated pursuant to N.J.S.A., 18A:6-16, as amended by P.L. 2012, c. 26 and P.L. 2015, c. 109 ("TEACHNJ") hereby issues and AWARDS as follows:

1. The Allegation of the Charge has been proven, with such conduct constituting conduct unbecoming and providing just cause for discipline;
2. Christopher Masullo shall remain suspended for the remainder of the 2016-2017 school year;
3. Christopher Masullo shall be reinstated to his position as a tenured teacher in the South Hackensack Public School District and resume his duties in the District at the appropriate time for teachers to return to work for the 2017-2018 school year;
4. There shall be no back pay for the period of Christopher Masullo's suspension, and his increment for the 2016-2017 school year (if any) shall be withheld upon his return to employment;
5. The undersigned shall retain jurisdiction for the limited purpose of resolving any disputes concerning the remedy herein.

Record Closed: March 1, 2017 Decided: March 2, 2017

BEFORE LELAND S. MCGEE, ALJ:

On April 22, 2015, this matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for hearing as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F1 to -13. The matter was scheduled for hearings on December 9, 2015, August 24, 2016 and March 29, 2017, but the dates were adjourned because the parties agreed to settle the matter. A signed copy of the Settlement Agreement and General Release indicating the terms of settlement was forwarded to the undersigned October 18, 2016 and is attached hereto.

I have reviewed the record and terms of the settlement and FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by the signatures of the parties or their representatives.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that settlement should be approved. Accordingly, I approve the settlement ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

DIRECTOR AND
CHIEF ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE

This Settlement Agreement and General Release ("Agreement") is made this 20 day of December 2015, by and between the Elizabeth Board of Education ("Defendant") and its members, officers, administrators, agents, employees and attorneys, and Angelica Briceno ("Briceno"), Coleen Callinan ("Callinan") and Elliott Brooks ("Brooks") (collectively "Plaintiffs"). Plaintiffs and Defendant collectively shall be referred to as the "Parties."

WHEREAS, on or about June 3, 2014, Plaintiffs commenced an action against Defendant in the Superior Court of New Jersey, Law Division, Union County, entitled Angelica Briceno, Coleen H. Callinan, Elliott Brooks v. Elizabeth Board of Education, Docket No. UNN-L-1965-14 ("Rice Notice Action"); and

WHEREAS, Defendant thereafter commenced the following actions against Plaintiffs with the Commissioner of Education:

(a) Elizabeth Board of Education v. A.B., on behalf of minor children Ad.Y., Al.Y. and An.Y., OAL Docket No. EDU 04878-2015 N, Agency Ref. No. 64-3/15, against Briceno for unpaid tuition for three (3) students;

(b) Elizabeth Board of Education v. C.C., on behalf of minor child T.W.C., OAL Docket No. EDU 05666-2015 N, Agency Ref. No. 62-3/15, against Callinan for unpaid tuition for one (1) student; and

(c) Elizabeth Board of Education v. E.B., on behalf of minor child J.B., Agency Ref. No. 63-3/15, against Brooks for unpaid tuition for one (1) student (collectively "Unpaid Tuition Actions").

WHEREAS, Plaintiffs and Defendant have determined that it is in the best interests of all Parties to resolve all disputes between them; and

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the agreements contained herein and other good and valuable consideration, the Parties agree as follows:

Consideration

1. Defendant has agreed to withdraw its Unpaid Tuition Actions against Plaintiffs in full and final settlement of any and all claims that Plaintiffs have or may have, whether known or unknown, against Defendant and its past and present members, officers, administrators, agents, employees and attorneys. Defendant will make reasonable efforts to ensure that the Unpaid Tuition Actions are withdrawn within thirty (30) days of execution of the Agreement.

2. The Parties agree to dismiss the Rice Notice Action and execute the Stipulation of Dismissal annexed hereto as Exhibit A.

Mutual Release

3. In exchange for the above consideration, the Parties hereby irrevocably and unconditionally waive, release and forever discharge any claims or rights, whether known or unknown, for any and all claims that have or could have arisen prior to the execution of this Agreement, which they have or may have against each other, including, but not limited to, any claims for counsel fees, back pay or front pay, any claims for emotional distress or pain and suffering, any claims involving tax liability stemming from this settlement and any claims arising under any federal, state or local law or ordinance, including, but not limited to, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, 20 U.S.C. §1681, et seq., U.S. Constitution Amendment XIV, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, the New Jersey Civil Rights Act, the New Jersey Tort Claims Act, any common law claim and any other claims for harassment, discrimination, bullying or retaliation of any kind, breach of contract, breach of promise, misrepresentation, negligence, fraud, estoppel, defamation, violation of public policy, wrongful or constructive discharge or any other tort, contractual or quasicontractual claim. The above release does not include any currently unknown claims that Plaintiffs may have related to workers' compensation, or claims in which Plaintiffs allege that Defendant committed an "intentional wrong," pursuant to N.J.S.A. 34:15-8, in relation to Plaintiffs' exposure to toxic substances. If either party breaks this promise and files a lawsuit or claim waived under this paragraph, the party initiating the action will be responsible for all costs, including reasonable counsel fees, incurred in the opposing party's defense against the claims. The Parties agree that they have not waived their right to enforce this Agreement in the event of a breach.

4. Plaintiffs represent that neither they nor any non-governmental person, organization or any other entity acting on their behalf have any lawsuits currently pending asserting any claim that is waived under Paragraph 3, and Plaintiffs agree that they will not in the future file any lawsuit asserting any claim that is waived under Paragraph 3. Plaintiffs further represent that neither they nor any non-governmental person, organization or any other entity acting on their behalf have any claims or charges currently pending before any federal, state or local agency, including, but not limited to, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and the New Jersey Division on Civil Rights, asserting any claim that is waived under Paragraph 3, and Plaintiffs agree that they will not in the future file any claim or charge with any federal, state or local agency, including, but not limited to, the Commissioner of Education, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and the New Jersey Division on Civil Rights, asserting any claim that is waived under Paragraph 3. Notwithstanding the foregoing, this Agreement shall not affect the rights and responsibilities of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission or similar federal or state agency to enforce applicable laws, and the Parties further acknowledge and agree that this Agreement shall not be used to justify interfering with Plaintiffs' protected right to participate in an investigation or proceeding conducted by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission or similar federal or state agency.

5. This Agreement shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of the Parties hereto and their respective legal representatives, successors, heirs and assigns.

No Rehire

6. Plaintiffs acknowledge that Defendant has no obligation, contractual or otherwise, to rehire or reemploy Plaintiffs should they seek any future employment or consultant relationship with Defendant.

Representation

7. Each party to this Agreement is represented by counsel.

Confidentiality

8. The Parties agree to keep the existence and substance of this Agreement, the settlement giving rise to this Agreement and the consideration for this Agreement strictly confidential to the fullest extent permitted by law. The Parties are expressly forbidden from discussing this Agreement with any person, other than to each other, their immediate families, accountants, tax advisers and attorneys ("permitted disclosure"), and to any other individual or entity as necessary to implement the Agreement or to which they are legally obligated to respond ("legally-required disclosures"). In making any permitted disclosure, the Parties agree that they will tell the person to whom they are making the permitted disclosure that the existence and substance of this Agreement, the settlement giving rise to this Agreement and the consideration for this Agreement are to be held strictly confidential as permitted by law. The Parties specifically agree not to discuss the nature, terms and conditions of this Agreement with, among others, any representative of the media and any past, present or prospective employee of

Defendant or its agents or attorneys. The Parties understand that this provision is an integral and material part of this Agreement. If subpoenaed for any litigation or administrative action, Plaintiffs will provide Defendant notice within five (5) days of receipt of a subpoena by sending such notice via facsimile and U.S. Mail, postage prepaid, addressed to Defendant's counsel:

Defendant may then move to quash the subpoena. If Defendant makes such a motion, Plaintiffs will await receipt of an order determining the validity of the subpoena before responding to the subpoena, provided that such action by Plaintiffs does not cause them to violate any legal obligation to comply with the subpoena.

If subpoenaed for any litigation or administrative action, Defendant will provide Plaintiffs notice within five (5) days of receipt of a subpoena by sending such notice via facsimile and U.S. Mail, postage prepaid, addressed to Plaintiffs' counsel:

60 Route 46 East
Fairfield, New Jersey 07004
Telephone: (973) 667-6000
Facsimile: (973) 667-1200

Plaintiffs may then move to quash the subpoena. If Plaintiffs make such a motion, Defendant will await receipt of an order determining the validity of the subpoena before responding to the subpoena.

Mutual Non-Disparagement

9. The Parties agree not to disparage each other, nor to make or solicit any comments or statements related to the facts underlying the Rice Notice Action, the Unpaid Tuition Actions and this Settlement Agreement, to the media or to others that may be considered derogatory or detrimental in nature. This provision is a material part of this Agreement and any breach of this provision shall constitute a breach of the entire Agreement, thus affording the Parties any and all remedies available at law and/or equity, including, without limitation, injunctive relief and/or monetary damages.

Successors and Assigns

10. This Agreement shall be binding upon and shall inure to the benefit of the Parties and their respective successors and assigns.

Neutral Reference

11. Defendant agrees to limit remarks regarding Plaintiffs in response to any future employment inquiries, either orally or in writing, to confirming the dates of Plaintiffs' employment with Defendant, the amount of Plaintiffs' salary in the final year of their employment and the position that Plaintiffs held with Defendant. Employment inquiries shall be directed to the Superintendent of the Elizabeth Public Schools.

No Admission

12. It is further specifically acknowledged and understood by the Parties that this Agreement and/or the consideration contained herein are not an indication or admission of any liability or the violation of any law, statute or regulation or a breach of any duty by Defendant, its past and present members, officers, administrators, agents, employees or their attorneys in connection with the Rice Notice Action. It is further acknowledged that the consideration is not indicative of any action or inaction taken by Defendant and its past and present members, officers, administrators, agents, employees or their attorneys. The consideration is given solely to alleviate the necessary time and expense of a trial, preparation therefore and/or further proceedings. This Agreement, and compliance with this Agreement, shall not be construed as an admission by any party of any liability whatsoever with respect to any matter. Defendant, its past and present members, officers, administrators, agents, employees and its attorneys expressly deny liability. This Agreement may not be introduced into evidence or used in any other way in any other legal or administrative proceeding other than a proceeding seeking the enforcement of the terms of this Agreement. None of the Parties shall be considered the "prevailing party" to this matter.

Law Governing

13. This Agreement shall be governed by the laws of the State of New Jersey, and any dispute arising out of this Agreement shall be subject to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Courts of the State of New Jersey.

Severability

14. If any provision of this Agreement, or the application thereof, is held invalid, such invalidity shall not affect other provisions or applications and, to this end, the provisions of this Agreement are declared to be severable.

Execution

15. This Agreement may be executed simultaneously in two (2) or more counterparts, each of which shall be deemed an original and all of which, when taken together, constitute one and the same document. The signature of any party to any counterpart shall be deemed a signature to, and may be appended to, any other counterpart.

Negotiated by Counsel

16. Plaintiffs and Defendant acknowledge that this Agreement is the result of arms length negotiations between the Parties, all of whom are represented by counsel. The Parties have consulted with their attorneys throughout the negotiations and have been fully advised of all of the ramifications of this Agreement, including the claims and rights that they are waiving herein and the affirmative obligations that they are agreeing to undertake. The Parties are fully satisfied with the services of their counsel with respect to both this Agreement and all other aspects of this case and they enter into this Agreement knowingly, willingly and without any coercion or improper inducements.

Assent to Terms

17. Plaintiffs further acknowledge that they were given the opportunity to fully consider this Agreement for a period of up to twenty-one (21) days and were given seven (7) days from the execution of this document to revoke this Agreement, by delivering written notification to Jody T. Walker, Esq., Schwartz Simon Edelstein & Celso, LLC, 100 South Jefferson Road, Whippany, New Jersey 07981. It is understood that if this Agreement is revoked, it will not be effective or enforceable and Plaintiffs will not be entitled to the consideration described herein.

Board Approval

18. This Agreement is subject to formal approval by the Elizabeth Board of Education.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Parties hereto have duly executed this Agreement as of the date first written above.

STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF NEWARK, ESSEX COUNTY,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner – a non-tenured second grade teacher employed by the respondent Board through the Provisional Teacher Program Alternate Route for the 2015-2016 school year – appealed the non-renewal of her contract following notification, by letter received on or about May 11, 2016, that she would not be renewed for the 2016-2017 school year based upon her performance and conduct. Petitioner filed a petition for emergent relief on August 24, 2016, alleging that she was terminated as a result of ineffective and partially effective performance ratings. Petitioner asserted that funds were withheld from her paycheck to pay for required mentoring services that were never provided to her, and therefore her evaluations should be viewed as unfair and considered null and void. The Board filed a motion for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue herein, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; petitioner had notice of the Board's decision to non-renew her contract as of May 11, 2016; the time for filing a petition is clearly set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i), which provides that a petition of appeal before the Commissioner must be filed no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order or ruling; in this case, the petitioner filed her appeal on August 24, 2016, which was 106 days after she received notice of non-renewal; and jurisdiction over whether respondent had a contractual obligation to provide mentoring services or failed to provide such services does not rest with the Commissioner or with the OAL. The ALJ concluded that the within petition was not timely filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i). Accordingly, the ALJ granted the Board's motion for summary decision and dismissed the petition.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that the within petition was untimely filed and must be dismissed on those grounds. In so determining, the Commissioner clarified that petitioner's allegations related to teacher mentoring services implicate New Jersey school law, as all novice teachers are required to enroll and successfully complete the respective district's mentoring program in order to become eligible for a standard teaching certificate. N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.4, 8.7. Accordingly, the recommended decision of the OAL was adopted with modification. The petition was dismissed.

V.	:	DECISION
STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF NEWARK, ESSEX COUNTY,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions to the Initial Decision.

Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) that the petition of appeal was time barred under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i)[1] because, consistent with well-settled law, the ninety-day time period accrues from the employee's receipt of the board of education's notice of nonrenewal.[2] Furthermore, a Donaldson hearing – an "informal appearance" before the board "to permit the staff member to convince the members of the board to offer reemployment"[3] – does not toll the time for an employee to file a petition of appeal with the Commissioner because the Donaldson hearing occurs after the board has already made its decision to not renew the employee's contract and has acted on that decision by providing notice of nonrenewal to the employee. Therefore, the day that petitioner received the notice of nonrenewal from the

[1] N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i) provides in relevant part: "The petitioner shall file a petition no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling or other action by the district board of education . . . ." (emphasis added).

District – May 11, 2016 – is the date from which petitioner had ninety days to file her cause of action. Additionally, requesting a statement of reasons and a Donaldson hearing does not provide "constructive notice" to a board that its former employee intends to file a petition of appeal with the Commissioner at a later time. There is simply no legal basis for such assertions made by the petitioner.

The Commissioner clarifies that the petitioner's allegations related to teacher mentoring services do implicate New Jersey school law. All novice teachers – irrespective of whether they are participants in the Alternate Route Program – are required to enroll in and successfully complete the respective district's mentoring program in order to become eligible for a standard teaching certificate. See N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.4, 8.7. Therefore, whether petitioner received proper mentoring services (or allegedly failed to take advantage of the mentoring services offered to her by the District) falls within the purview of the Commissioner. The record in this matter, however, is insufficient to consider the merits of petitioner's allegations regarding the District's mentoring program. More importantly, petitioner's appeal is time barred pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i).[4]

Accordingly, the recommended decision of the ALJ – as modified herein – is adopted as the final decision in this matter for the reasons expressed therein, and the petition is hereby dismissed with prejudice.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[5]

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Respondent (Board or District) hired Petitioner as a non-tenured second-grade teacher through the Provisional Teacher Program Alternate Route, for the 2015-2016 school year. Respondent gave Petitioner an "Ineffective" mid-year rating, a "Partially Effective" annual rating, and a "Partially Effective" observation rating throughout the school year. Respondent alleged that Petitioner was also the subject of an incident relating a charge of conduct unbecoming. On May 10, 2016, Respondent gave Petitioner formal notice that her teaching contract was not being renewed for the 2016-2017 school year based on her performance and conduct. Petitioner filed an application for a due process hearing and emergent relief, which the undersigned denied.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

1. On May 10, 2016, the Board issued a Notice of Non-Renewal.
2. On May 18, 2016, Petitioner requested a Donaldson hearing.
3. On June 27, 2016, the Donaldson hearing was held.
4. On June 29, 2016, the Board issued a letter confirming non-renewal of Petitioner's employment contract.
5. On August 24, 2016, Petitioner filed an application for Emergent Relief.
6. On August 31, 2016, this matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15.
7. On September 22, 2016, the undersigned denied Petitioner's application for Emergent Relief.
8. On October 7, 2016 the Department of Education affirmed the September 22, 2016, Order of Denial.
9. On November 22, 2016, the Board filed a Motion for Summary Decision.
10. On December 22, 2016, Petitioner, with new counsel, filed an Answer and Brief in opposition to respondent's Motion for Summary Decision.
11. On January 6, 2017, the Board filed a Reply Brief in Further Support of Summary Decision was received by OAL.
12. The first day of hearing is scheduled for February 21, 2017.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

Petitioner Patricia McRae was hired as a non-tenured second-grade teacher at First Avenue Elementary School through the Provisional Teacher Program Alternate Route (Alternate Route) for the 2015-2016 school year.

Throughout the school year, McRae received teacher evaluations. In her "Teacher Mid-Year Review 15-16" dated February 16, 2016, McRae received a rating of overall ineffective. (Pet'r Pet. for Emer. Relief at Appendix A.) The mid-year review also noted that McRae had not had any issues with tardiness or absenteeism. (Ibid.)

On April 15, 2016, McRae received her "Teacher Annual Evaluation 15-16," dated April 14, 2016, where McRae was rated as overall partially effective. (Ibid.) The annual evaluation indicated that McRae had no issues with tardiness or absenteeism and that McRae had taken two personal days. (Ibid.) This evaluation also noted that McRae had been paired with a mentor and has not used that opportunity to her full advantage. (Ibid.) The evaluation did not specify the name of the mentor or the date that the mentor was appointed to provide guidance to McRae.

On or about May 11, 2016, McRae received notice that her employment as a teacher at First Avenue Elementary would be terminated as of June 30, 2016. (Pet'r Opp. to Summ. Decision at 2.) The letter indicated that McRae's non-renewal was based on teacher performance evaluations and professional conduct. The letter was sent on or before May 15, 2016, as required by N.J.S.A. 18A:27-10. The letter did not indicate any specific instances of conduct that were considered to lead to McRae's non-renewal.

On May 18, 2016, Petitioner McRae requested a Donaldson hearing to take place prior to June 30, 2016, to determine why her employment with the District was not renewed. In a letter dated June 16, 2016, McRae was granted a Donaldson hearing, which took place on June 27, 2016, at 10 a.m. at the District's administrative offices located at 2 Cedar Street, Room 802, Newark, New Jersey. On June 29, 2016, McRae received a letter from the Board advising her that the non-renewal was upheld following the Donaldson hearing. The District based its non-renewal of McRae's employment on the above-referenced evaluations and unspecified conduct.

On August 29, 2016, McRae filed a Petition for Emergent Relief. The Petitioner alleges that her employment with the Newark Public School District was terminated as a result of ineffective and partially-effective performance ratings and conduct unbecoming. (Pet'r Pet. for Emer. Relief at 1.) McRae asserts that she has the legal right to be mentored pursuant to the state alternate route program requirements and her employment contract. (Id. at 2.) McRae further asserts that she paid one thousand ($1,000) dollars for mentor services through paycheck deductions and that such services were never provided to her. (Ibid.) There are no records of her meeting with a mentor, being observed by a mentor, receiving mentorship during her time teaching in the classroom, or of a mentoring plan. (Ibid.) McRae asserts that this lack of mentoring was intentional and deliberate. (Ibid.) As stated above, the annual performance evaluation notes that she had been assigned a mentor but failed to take full advantage of that opportunity. (Pet'r Pet. for Emer. Relief at Appendix A.) Petitioner asserts that because she never received any mentoring services, her evaluations should be viewed as unfair and considered null and void. (Pet'r Pet. for Emer. Relief at 2.) However, Petitioner never contested her evaluations at or after the time she received them.

The District asserts that McRae's employment contract did not contain any provision or requirement on its face obligating the District to provide specific "mentoring services" to McRae during the 2015-2016 school year as part of the contract. (Resp't Mot. for Summ. Decision at 3.). The District asserts that McRae was the subject of an incident related to unbecoming conduct during the 2015-2016 school year but does not cite any details of the incident, does not offer any disciplinary record, or other information to support this allegation. (Resp't Mot. for Summ. Decision at 2.) McRae argues that any allegations of conduct unbecoming are unfounded as she never had an incident relating to tardiness, absenteeism, behavioral misconduct or interpersonal conflict with a colleague, parent or otherwise. (Pet'r Pet. for Emer. Relief at 1.)

According to an audio file from the New Jersey Department of Labor and Workforce Development (DLWD), when McRae applied for unemployment benefits after her non-renewal, the Board indicated that the reason she was terminated was a reduction in force, rather than poor performance or conduct issues contrary to her letter of non-renewal. (Pet'r Opp. to Mot. for Summ. Decision at 14.) As a result, DLWD did not conduct any fact finding with respect to Petitioner's performance or conduct and McRae was granted unemployment benefits. No date was provided for the unemployment benefit application or when Petitioner began receiving benefits.

On September 22, 2016, the undersigned denied Petitioner's application for Emergent Relief.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND DISCUSSION

"Ninety-day" Rule

Under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i), a "Petitioner shall file a petition no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling or other action by the district board of education, individual party, or agency, which is the subject of the requested contested case hearing (ninety-day rule)." As the New Jersey Supreme Court explained, > Adequate notice must be sufficient to inform an individual of some fact that he or she has a right to know and that the communicating party has a duty to communicate. See Burns v. West Am. Corp., 137 N.J. Super. 442, 446 (Dist. Ct. 1975). Moreover, adequate notice under the regulation must be sufficient to further the purpose of the ninety-day limitations period. See Apex Roofing Supply Co. v. Howell, 59 N.J. Super. 462, 467 (App.Div.1960). A limitations period has two purposes. The first is to stimulate litigants to pursue a right of action within a reasonable time so that the opposing party may have a fair opportunity to defend, thus preventing the litigation of stale claims. Ochs v. Fed. Ins. Co., 90 N.J. 108, 112 (1982). The second purpose is "'to penalize dilatoriness and serve as a measure of repose'" by giving security and stability to human affairs. Ibid. (quoting Farrell v. Votator Div., 62 N.J. 111, 115 (1973)).

> [Kaprow v. Bd. of Educ. of Berkley Twp., 131 N.J. 572, 587 (1993).]

Thus, "[w]hen a plaintiff knows or has reason to know that he has a cause of action against an identifiable defendant and voluntarily sleeps on his rights so long as to permit the customary period of limitations to expire, the pertinent considerations of individual justice as well as the broader considerations of repose, coincide to bar his action." Farrell, supra, 62 N.J. at 115.

The ninety-day time period for filing a petition is to be strictly construed and claims that are not timely filed are precluded from review. Raymond v. Bd. of Educ. of the Borough of River Edge, 94 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 203, aff'd, 94 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 431. If compliance with the ninety-day rule is disputed, that procedural matter should be decided prior to any decision on the merits. Nissman v. Bd. of Educ. of the Twp. of Long Beach Island, 272 N.J. Super. 373, 380-81 (App. Div. 1994).

An agency regulation that focuses on the date of the employer's act as the accrual date for a cause of action, rather than the date on which the consequences of the act is directly felt by the employee (termination), is not inherently arbitrary or capricious. Id. at 381; see Nissman, supra, at 379 (cause of action accrued when principal "knew or should have known" that they were not going to be offered a new contract for the following year); Chardon v. Fernandez, 454 U.S. 6, 8, 102 S. Ct. 28, 29, 70 L. Ed. 2d 6, 9 (1981), rehearing denied, 454 U.S. 1166, 102 S. Ct. 1042, 71 L. Ed. 2d 322 (1982) (Where non-tenured administrator was notified by letter on or before June 18, 1977, that he would be terminated at a specified date between June 30 and August 8, 1977, his cause of action accrued on the date he received the letter, not the date on which his appointment ended.); Delaware State College v. Ricks, 449 U.S. 250, 259-61, 101 S. Ct. 498, 504-06, 66 L. Ed. 2d 431, 440-42 (1980) (Cause of action accrued on the date Ricks was advised that he would be denied tenure rather than on the date when his employment terminated.); Suarez v. State-operated School District of Jersey City, EDU 11077-04, Initial Decision (September 13, 2005), http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/ (where a teacher was not permitted to toll the ninety-day rule while awaiting a statement of reasons pursuant to Donaldson).

It is undisputed that Petitioner received a notice of non-renewal on or about May 11, 2016. As of May 11, 2016, McRae was on notice that the Board did not intend to offer her employment for the 2016-2017 school year. Under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i), August 9, 2016, was the ninetieth (90^{th}) and final day that McRae could have timely filed her petition. I CONCLUDE that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i) and existing case law, the ninety-day rule began to run when Petitioner received notice of non-renewal on or about May 11, 2015.

A request for a Donaldson hearing does not provide the Board with constructive notice of Petitioner's intent to file a petition opposing the non-renewal and does not fulfill the requirements of the ninety-day rule under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i). In Lauchenaur v. State-operated School District of the City of Newark, EDU 11820-08, Initial Decision (February 3, 2009), partially adopted, Comm'r (March 18, 2009), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/final/edu11820-08.pdf>, the Honorable Jesse Strauss, Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) held that in a non-renewal or a termination, a teacher is required to file his petition within ninety days of the notice of non-renewal, not within ninety days of the exhaustion of other avenues and mechanisms. Ibid. (citing LeMee v. Bd. of Educ. of the Village of Ridgewood, 1990 S.L.D. 663, 667) (the day Petitioner received notice that her contract was not renewed was the date the ninety-day timeline commenced, notwithstanding any efforts to appear before the board to change its decision).

Court decisions in cases similar to the present case have established that it is the first notice of non-renewal—not the letter confirming non-renewal after a hearing or review—that triggers the ninety-day limitation period. See Pacio v. Bd. of Educ. of Lakeland Reg'l '1 High School Dist., 1989 S.L.D. 2060, 2069 (the first written communication provided to a staff member of an action by the Board initiates the ninety-day timeline); Wise v. Bd. of Educ. of the City of Trenton, decided by the Commissioner (September 11, 2000), aff'd, State Bd. (January 4, 2001) (when a teaching staff member receives notice that his contract will not be renewed is when the ninety-day period is initiated).

In the case at bar, the Board issued a letter of non-renewal on May 10, 2016. Thus, Petitioner's cause of action accrued on the date McRae received the letter, which was on or about May 11, 2016. Petitioner's cause of action did not accrue on the date her employment ended nor did it accrue on the date that she requested a Donaldson hearing or when she received notice of non-renewal after the Donaldson hearing. McRae filed her petition on August 24, 2016, one hundred and six (106) days after she received the notice of non-renewal. As such, I CONCLUDE that Petitioner's claim is time barred pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i).

Jurisdiction

The Commissioner and the OAL do not have jurisdiction to decide contractual issues that do not arise under the school laws. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9 states, "[t]he commissioner shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine, without cost to the parties, all controversies and disputes arising under the school laws, excepting those governing higher education, or under the rules of the State board or of the commissioner."

The "Non-Tenured Alternate Route Program" is mentioned in two places in the New Jersey Statutes. One mention is in N.J.S.A. 18A-36A:14(c) which states that, "[a]ll classroom teachers and professional support staff shall hold appropriate New Jersey certification. The commissioner shall make appropriate adjustments in the alternate route program in order to expedite the certification of persons who are qualified by education and experience." Second, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-22 states that participants in the Alternate Route Program must satisfactorily complete a program on harassment, intimidation, and bullying prevention within one year of being employed. Neither statute specifies any mentoring requirement or that districts should contract to provide mentoring services as part of the Alternate Route Program.

In general, contractual disputes do not fall within the Commissioner's jurisdictional mandate unless they arise under the school laws or otherwise implicate the agency's special expertise. Dolan v. Centuolo, A-2470-10T4, A-2710-10T4 (App.

Div. July 9, 2012), http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/courts/ (quoting Archway Programs, Inc. v. Pemberton Twp. Bd. of Educ., 352 N.J. Super. 420, 425-26 (App. Div. 2002). The Appellate Division has held that the Commissioner lacks jurisdiction to decide certain contractual issues. See Picogna v. Bd. of Educ. of Cherry Hill, 249 N.J. Super. 332, 334-35 (App. Div. 1991) (holding that jurisdiction over a purely contractual claim of wrongful termination of non-tenured assistant superintendent was properly venued in Superior Court and not before the Commissioner); S. Orange-Maplewood Educ. Ass'n v. Bd. of Educ. of S. Orange and Maplewood, 146 N.J. Super. 457, 462-63 (App. Div. 1977) (holding that the Commissioner did not have jurisdiction over a dispute involving interpretation of sabbatical leave provisions of an agreement entered into by the school board and the teachers' association as there was nothing in the dispute involving interpretation of any specific statute).

In the present case, McRae's claim that she did not receive proper mentoring services pursuant to either the Newark Public School's Mentor handbook or the Non-Tenured Alternative Route Program is a contractual issue that does not arise under the school laws as required by N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9. As a result, I CONCLUDE that jurisdiction over whether Respondent had a contractual obligation to provide mentoring services or failed to provide such services does not rest with the Commissioner of Education or with the OAL. Petitioner may be entitled to remedies in a proper venue.

N.J. Department of Labor

Following the non-renewal, Petitioner applied for unemployment insurance benefits with the N.J. Department of Labor and Workforce Development. Petitioner asserts that the DLWD maintained an audio recording of the application process that indicates the reason for Petitioner's termination other than what appears in her non-renewal letter. Petitioner asserts that the audio recording states that the reason she was let go was a result of a reduction in force. This is contrary to the reason stated in the non-renewal letter. The undersigned is persuaded that the audio recording is not germane to the substance of this proceeding. For the Commissioner to have jurisdiction over a controversy or dispute, it must arise under the school laws or under the rules of the New Jersey Board of Education. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9. Issues related to unemployment compensation generally arise under N.J.S.A. 43:21. Specifically N.J.S.A. 43:21-11 grants DLWD the duty and power to adopt and amend regulations related to the administration of, appeals, and other issues involving unemployment benefits. As such, the DLWD has jurisdiction over unemployment benefits and any relevant determinations regarding the reasons for termination. This proceeding is not the appropriate venue to revisit the unemployment determination regarding Petitioner. If she wishes to appeal DLWD's determination regarding her benefits, or alternatively to contest the reason that the District provided as to her termination, she must do so through the appropriate DLWD appeals process.

Finally, the issue of why Petitioner was terminated as provided by the Board to DLWD was not raised in McRae's original Petition. Unemployment Insurance Benefits determinations are not properly within the jurisdiction of this proceeding. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that McRae's assertion regarding DLWD's determination must be dismissed as a matter of law.

Petitioner Barred From Future Employment

The "non-renewal notice" dated May 10, 2016, states that "your employment with Newark Public Schools will be terminated on June 30, 2016, and you will not be considered for future employment within the district." (Emphasis added.) The Board has not offered any evidence of misconduct by McRae. There is no evidence of a disciplinary record with the District, her evaluations indicate timeliness, and there is no issue of absenteeism. Respondent has not offered any legal basis to support its decision to permanently bar Petitioner from employment within the district. N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2(a)(1) states that, "A person holding any public office, position, or employment, elective or appointive . . . who is convicted of an offense shall forfeit such office or position if: [h]e is convicted . . . of an offense involving dishonesty or of a crime of the third degree or above." Similarly, a teacher may be permanently barred from public employment if they are convicted of, "an offense involving or touching on his public office, position or employment shall be forever disqualified from holding any office or position of honor, trust or profit under this State or any of its administrative or political subdivisions." N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2(d). "Involving or touching on his public office, position or employment" means that the offense was related directly to the person's performance in, or circumstances flowing from, the specific public office, position or employment held by the person. Ibid. "The Legislature intended wide latitude in the employing authority to determine fitness for permanent employment. It is clear that public employment may not be refused upon a basis which would violate any express statutory or constitutional policy." Zimmerman v. Bd. of Educ., 38 N.J. 65, 80 (1962) (where the New Jersey Supreme Court upheld dismissal of a teacher who had not completed three calendar years of employment as required to be considered tenured).

In the present case, the Board has not alleged any facts regarding McRae's conduct except that her teaching evaluations did not indicate her performance was at the desired level. District evaluations explicitly indicate that McRae had no problems with tardiness or absenteeism and do not mention a single issue of conduct. The District has simply alleged that McRae was the subject of an incident related to unbecoming conduct during the 2015-2016 school year. However, it has not provided any details of any incident, or evidence of a disciplinary record, or any additional information to support this allegation. (Resp't Mot. for Summ. Decision at 2.) It is undisputed that McRae has not been convicted of a crime of dishonesty or involving her position as a teacher that would disqualify her from teaching pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2(a)(1) or N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2(d). As there is no relevant conviction at issue and respondent District has put forth an allegation with no background or evidence, I CONCLUDE that the District may not permanently bar McRae from future employment within the District.

Summary Decision

Under the New Jersey Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules, a party may move for summary decision regarding all or any substantive issues in a case. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(a). Motions for summary decision may be granted if the papers and discovery, together with any supporting affidavits, show there is no genuine issue of material fact and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). A motion for summary decision is almost identical to the standard used for summary judgment under the New Jersey Rules of Court, which provides that summary judgment should be granted if:

> the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to judgment or order as a matter of law. An issue of fact is genuine only if, considering the burden of persuasion at trial, the evidence submitted by the parties on the motion, together with all legitimate inferences there from favoring the non-moving party, would require submission of the issue to the trier of fact.
> [R. 4:46-2(c).]

In Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Company of America, 142 N.J. 520, 536 (1995), the New Jersey Supreme Court further refined the standard for summary decision with this analysis: "whether the evidence presents a sufficient disagreement to require [a hearing] or whether it is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law." Thus, a court should deny a motion for summary judgment only where the party opposing the motion has come forward with evidence that creates a genuine issue of material fact. Id. at 529. The Brill Court stated:

> A determination whether there exists a "genuine issue" of material fact that precludes summary judgment requires the motion judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to permit a rational fact-finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party. The 'judge's function is not himself [or herself] to weigh the evidence and determine the truth of the matter but to determine whether there is a genuine issue for trial.'
> [Id. at 540 (quoting Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, 477 U.S. 242, 251-252, 106 S. Ct. at 2512, 91 L. Ed. 2d at 214).]

The Brill standard contemplates that the analysis performed by the trial judge in determining whether to grant summary judgment should comprehend the evidentiary standard to be applied to the case or issue if it went to trial. "To send a case to trial, knowing that a rational jury can reach but one conclusion, is indeed worthless and will serve no useful purpose." Brill, supra, 142 N.J. at 541.

For a party opposing summary decision to prevail, that party must file a responding affidavit setting forth specific facts demonstrating the existence of a genuine issue that can only be determined by an evidentiary proceeding. Ibid. The opposing party must demonstrate, moreover, that the disputed issue of fact is material to the adjudication. See Frank v. Ivy Club, 120 N.J. 73, 98 (1990). The genuinely disputed material fact must be essential to the decision in the case. Ibid. In addition, the opposing party must establish the issue with competent evidential materials. Robbins v. Jersey City, 23 N.J. 229, 240-214 (1957). "Bald allegations or naked conclusions" are insufficient to warrant an evidentiary hearing. J.D. ex rel. D.D.H. v. N.J. Div. of Developmental Disabilities, 329 N.J. Super. 516, 525 (App. Div. 2000). If the opposing party fails to raise a material factual issue with competent proofs, then the issue should be resolved on summary decision. Frank, supra, 120 N.J. at 98-99.

A contested case can be summarily disposed of before an ALJ without a plenary hearing in instances where the undisputed material facts indicate that a particular disposition is required as a matter of law. In re Robros Recycling Corp., 226 N.J. Super. 343, 350 (App. Div.), certif. denied, 113 N.J. 638 (1988). A summary decision must be based on an examination of the totality of circumstances, mitigating and aggravating factors, adequate factual findings and conclusions of law. Ibid.

Respondent Board issued a letter to McRae on May 10, 2016, indicating that her employment would not be renewed for the 2016-2017 school year. McRae received that letter on or about May 11, 2016. It is not disputed that Petitioner filed her petition for emergent relief on August 24, 2016. She filed her petition 106 days later in violation of N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i). The latest that McRae could have filed a claim would have been August 9, 2016. There is no genuine dispute of the fact that the Petition was filed after August 9, 2016, and outside the ninety-day requirement.

For the foregoing reasons, I CONCLUDE that Respondent is entitled to Summary Decision as a matter of law.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that Respondent's Motion to Dismiss is GRANTED and Petitioner's requests for relief are hereby DENIED except as otherwise decided below.

It is hereby ORDERED that Respondent may not permanently bar Petitioner from future employment within the District based upon the Finding of Facts of this proceeding.

I hereby FILE this Initial Decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

J.T., ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILDREN, J.T., A.T., AND B.T.,	:
PETITIONER,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
V.	:	DECISION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF SOUTH BRUNSWICK, MIDDLESEX COUNTY,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

In November 2016, pro se petitioner appealed the determination of the respondent Board that his children are ineligible for a free public education in respondent's school district. Petitioner contended that he resides at an address in Monmouth Junction, which is within the South Brunswick school district. The Board contended that a residency investigation revealed that petitioner and his children actually reside in Franklin Township. The Board filed a motion to dismiss, asserting that the petition was late filed.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: the facts of this matter were set forth in respondent's brief in support of its motion to dismiss and in a certification from the Superintendent of Schools, and the tuition costs for the 2015-2016 school year were contained in a letter from the New Jersey Department of Education dated February 17, 2017; the facts contained therein were adopted as if set forth at length within the Initial Decision. The ALJ concluded, inter alia, that: petitioner failed to timely file a residency appeal in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b); respondent's motion to dismiss should be granted as petitioner failed to file a response thereto; and respondent is entitled to tuition for the period of ineligible attendance. Accordingly, the ALJ denied the petitioner's residency appeal and ordered tuition reimbursement at a rate of $71 per day per child for the period of ineligible attendance.

The Commissioner remanded the matter to the OAL, finding that the ALJ failed to include a factual discussion or make factual findings in this case. As N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.3 requires that Initial Decisions include a factual discussion and make factual findings, the Commissioner remanded the matter for inclusion of a factual discussion.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF SOUTH BRUNSWICK, MIDDLESEX COUNTY,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon such review, the Commissioner finds that the Initial Decision does not contain a recitation of the facts. Instead, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) indicates that the facts set forth in the Board's brief in support of its motion to dismiss, in the Certification of Gary McCartney, and in a letter from the New Jersey Department of Education dated February 17, 2017, are adopted as if set forth at length; however, the ALJ does not attach those documents as exhibits to the Initial Decision. N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.3 requires that Initial Decisions include a factual discussion and make factual findings. As no such factual findings are set forth in the Initial Decision, the Commissioner is constrained to remand this matter for inclusion of a factual discussion.[1]

[1] The Commissioner notes that pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, when an appeal is filed within 21 days of the date of the district's decision, no child shall be removed from the school during the pendency of the proceedings before the Commissioner. Nevertheless, appeals may be filed after expiration of the 21-day period, but the student's right to attend school during the pendency of the appeal is not guaranteed by operation of statute. See Attendance at School Based on Domicile or Residency in the School District: Sample Forms, Notices, and Informational Documents.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is rejected, and the matter is hereby remanded for the reasons expressed above.

AGENCY REF. NO. 298-11/16

J.T.. ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILDREN, J.T., A.T. AND B.T.,

Petitioners,

v.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF SOUTH BRUNSWICK, MIDLLESEX COUNTY,

Respondent.

J.T., Petitioner, pro se

Adam S. Herman, Esq., for Respondent (Adams, Gutierrez & Lattiboudere, LLC, attorneys)

Record Closed: March 3, 2017 Decided: March 8, 2017

BEFORE THOMAS R. BETANCOURT, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner challenges Respondent Board of Education's residency determination.

The matter was transferred to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on December 20, 2016, as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to –15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to –13.

A prehearing conference was held on January 6, 2017. A prehearing order, dated January 6, 2017, was entered by the undersigned.

Respondent filed a motion to dismiss the petitioner's appeal with the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes on December 16, 2016, prior to the matter being transferred to the OAL, and before a decision on said motion was made. Respondent simultaneously filed its Answer and Cross Petition with the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes.

Pursuant to the prehearing Order entered on January 6, 2017, Petitioner was permitted ten days from the receipt of said motion to respond. No response was submitted.

On February 24, 2017, Respondent filed a certification of Gary McCartney, Superintendent of the South Brunswick Board of Education.

On March 3, 2017, Respondent's counsel provided a letter from the New Jersey Department of Education setting forth Tuition Costs per Pupil for the 2015-2016 school year.

ISSUES

1. Did Respondent err in its determination that Petitioner's three children did not reside in South Brunswick and were ineligible to attend school in the South Brunswick School District; and, is petitioners claim time barred?

2. Are Respondents entitled to tuition reimbursement?

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

The Preliminary Statement and the Factual Background set forth in Respondent's brief in support of its motion to dismiss are adopted herein as if set forth at length.

The facts set forth in the Certification of Gary McCartney are adopted herein as if set forth at length.

The tuition costs per pupil for the 2015-2016 school year contained in the letter from the New Jersey Department of Education, dated February 17, 2017, are adopted herein as if set forth at length.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

Standard of Review

N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(g) states, "Nothing in this section precludes the filing of a motion to dismiss in lieu of an answer to a petition, provided that such motion is filed within the time allotted for the filing of an answer. Briefing on such motions shall be in the manner and within the time fixed by the Commissioner, or by the ALJ if the motion is to be briefed following transmittal to the OAL."

In ruling on a motion to dismiss:

> The judge considers whether all of the evidence together with all legitimate inferences could sustain a judgment in favor of the party opposing the motion. The judge is not concerned with the weight, worth, nature or extent of the evidence. The judge must accept all evidence supporting the party defending against the motion and accord that party the benefit of all inferences that can and legitimately be deducted therefrom...Myles Hart v. New Jersey State Board of Examiners, 2014 WL 3708621 (citing New Jersey Practice, Administrative Law and Practice, §5, 19, at 259-60).

Petitioner did not file a response to Respondent's motion to dismiss.

N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1 provides that public schools shall be free to the following persons over five and under 20 years of age:

> a. Any person who is domiciled within the school district;
> b. (1) Any person who is kept in the home of another person domiciled within the school district and is supported by such other person gratis as if he were such other person's own child, upon filing by such other person with the secretary of the board of education of the district, if so required by the board, a sworn statement that he is domiciled within the district and is supporting the child gratis and will assume all personal obligations for the child relative to school requirements and that he intends so to keep and support the child gratuitously for a longer time than merely through the school term, and a copy of his lease if a tenant, or a sworn statement by his landlord acknowledging his tenancy if residing as a tenant without a written lease, and upon filing by the child's parent or guardian with the secretary of the board of education a sworn statement that he is not capable of supporting or providing care for the child due to a family or economic hardship and that the child is not residing with the resident of the district solely for the purpose of receiving a free public education within the district. The statement shall be accompanied by documentation to support the validity of the sworn statements, information from or about which shall be supplied only to the board and only to the extent that it directly pertains to the support or nonsupport of the child. If in the judgment of the board of education the evidence does not support the validity of the claim by the resident, the board may deny admission to the child. The resident may contest the board's decision to the commissioner within 21 days of the date of the decision and shall be entitled to an expedited hearing before the commissioner on the validity of the claim and shall have the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence that the child is eligible for a free education under the criteria listed in this subsection. The board of education shall, at the time of its decision, notify the resident in writing of his right to contest the board's decision to the commissioner within 21 days. No child shall be denied admission during the pendency of the proceedings before the commissioner. In > the event the child is currently enrolled in the district, the student shall not be removed from school during the 21-day period in which the resident may contest the board's decision nor during the pendency of the proceedings before the commissioner. If in the judgment of the commissioner the evidence does not support the claim of the resident, he shall assess the resident tuition for the student prorated to the time of the student's ineligible attendance in the school district. Tuition shall be computed on the basis of 1/180 of the total annual per pupil cost to the local district multiplied by the number of days of ineligible attendance and shall be collected in the manner in which orders of the commissioner are enforced. Nothing shall preclude a board from collecting tuition from the resident, parent or guardian for a student's period of ineligible attendance in the schools of the district where the issue is not appealed to the commissioner.

In the instant matter, Respondent notified Petitioner of the residency hearing by letter dated October 13, 2016. The residency hearing was held on October 24, 2016. By letter dated October 26, 2016, Petitioner was advised of Respondent's determination that his children were not eligible to attend school in the Respondent School District. Petitioner was advised in said letter of his right to contest Respondent School District's decision within twenty-one days. Petitioner did not file the pro se residency appeal until November 22, 2016. Said appeal was dated November 20, 2016. The twenty-one day period in which to file expired on November 15, 2016.

Right to a Free Public Education

N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a) and N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a) sets forth the right of a student to a free public education, which in pertinent parts states:

> Public schools shall be free to the following persons over five and under twenty years of age:
>
> a. Any person who is domiciled within the school district[.]

Consideration in proving residency for purposes of establishing eligibility for school district placement is found at N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.4(a),

(a) A district board of education shall accept a combination of any of the following or similar forms of documentation from persons attempting to demonstrate a student's eligibility for enrollment in the school district:

1. Property tax bills, deeds, contracts of sale, leases, mortgages, signed letters from landlords and other evidence of property ownership, tenancy or residency;

2. Voter registrations, licenses, permits, financial account information, utility bills, delivery receipts, and other evidence of personal attachment to a particular location;

3. Court orders; State agency agreements; and other evidence of court or agency placements or directives;

4. Receipts; bills; cancelled checks; insurance claims or payments; and other evidence of expenditures demonstrating personal attachment to a particular location or to support the student;

6. Affidavits, certifications and sworn attestations pertaining to statutory criteria for school attendance, from the parent, guardian, person keeping an "affidavit student," adult student, person(s) with whom a family is living, or others as appropriate;

8. Any other business record or document issued by a governmental entity.

(b) A district board of education may accept forms of documentation not listed in (a) above, and shall not exclude from consideration any documentation or information presented by a person seeking to enroll a student.

(c) A district board of education shall consider the totality of information and documentation offered by an applicant, and > shall not deny enrollment based on failure to provide a particular form of documentation, or a particular subset of documents, without regard to other evidence presented.

In S.S. ex rel. A.S. and A.S. v. Bd. of Education of the Township of Marlboro, Monmouth County, EDU 192-12, Initial Decision (August 26, 2013), http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal, evidence submitted by an investigator hired by the Marlboro New Jersey School District to determine whether certain minor children who were enrolled in the school district in fact were domiciled therein within the meaning of N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a) was sufficient to establish that the children in fact were not domiciled in the district during the period in question and, instead, supported a conclusion that the minors resided at their grandmother's home in Edison, New Jersey. Even though their mother had submitted documentation of the type described in N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.4(a) that supported her claim that the minors were domiciled in Marlboro, the circumstances of the mother's employment, which included late hours, was such that the minors were properly found to be residing with their grandmother. On that basis, the administrative law judge recommended that the Department of Education find the mother liable for tuition for the minors.

In the instant matter, it is clear that neither Petitioner, nor his children, resided within Respondent's school district. (See Certification of Gary McCartney and the investigator's report attached thereto as Exhibit A)

N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.2 states:

> (a) If an appeal to the Commissioner is filed by the parent, guardian, adult student, or school district resident keeping an "affidavit" student and the petitioner does not sustain the burden of demonstrating the student's right to attend the school district, or the petitioner withdraws the appeal, fails to prosecute, or abandons the appeal by any means other than settlement agreeing to waive or reduce tuition, the Commissioner may assess tuition for the period during which the hearing and decision on appeal were pending, and for up to one year of a student's ineligible attendance in a school district prior to the appeal's filing and including the 21-day period to file an appeal.

> 1. Upon the Commissioner's finding that an appeal has been abandoned, the district board of education may remove the student from school and seek tuition for up to one year of ineligible attendance pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.1(a) plus the period of ineligible attendance after the appeal was filed. If the record of the appeal includes a calculation reflecting the tuition rate(s) for the year(s) at issue, the per diem tuition rate for the current year and the date on which the student's ineligible attendance began, the Commissioner may order payment of tuition as part of his or her decision. In doing so, the Commissioner shall consider whether the ineligible attendance was due to a school district's error. If the record does not include such a calculation and the district board of education has filed a counterclaim for tuition, the counterclaim shall proceed to a hearing notwithstanding that the petition has been abandoned.
> 2. An order of the Commissioner assessing tuition is enforceable through recording, upon request of the district board of education pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-12, on the judgment docket of the Superior Court, Law Division, in accordance with N.J.S.A. 2A:58-10.

Cleary, Petitioner has failed to sustain the burden of proof to demonstrate J.T., A.T. and B.T. have the right to attend the Respondent school, and Respondent is entitled to tuition reimbursement.

N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.3 states in pertinent part:

> a) Tuition assessed pursuant to this section shall be calculated on a per-student basis for the period of a student's ineligible enrollment, up to one year, by applicable grade/program category and consistent with the provisions of N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-17.1. The individual student's record of daily attendance shall not affect the calculation.

Respondent calculates tuition reimbursement for the 2016-2017 school year at $71 per day. (Certification of Gary McCartney, Exhibit C)

I CONCLUDE that petitioner failed to timely file a residency appeal in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b), and therefore the same is time barred.

I further CONCLUDE that petitioner's motion to dismiss should be GRANTED as Petitioner failed to file a response thereto, and the facts set forth in Respondent's motion to dismiss are adopted herein.

I further CONCLUDE neither Petitioner, nor his children, resided within Respondent's District during the 2016-2017 school year and Respondent is entitled to the relief requested in its Answer and Cross Petition: reimbursement for tuition for the period of ineligible attendance for each child.

I further CONCLUDE that Respondent is entitled to an order excluding Petitioner's children from the Respondent school district

ORDER

Based upon the foregoing it is ORDERED that Respondent's motion to dismiss Petitioner's residency appeal is granted: and,

It is further ORDERED that Petitioner's residency appeal is dismissed with prejudice; and,

It is further ORDERED that Petitioner's children, J.T., A.T. and B.T. are not entitled to attend school in the Respondent school district and are excluded therefrom; and,

It is further ORDERED that Respondent is entitled to tuition reimbursement from Petitioner in the amount of $71 per day per child for each day J.T., A.T. and B.T. attended school in the Respondent school district.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." Re: Christopher Lombardi v. New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association, Agency Dkt. No. 73-4/17

Dear Counsel:

I have reviewed the materials filed in connection with the petition of appeal and motion for emergent relief filed by the petitioner, Christopher Lombardi, in the above-captioned matter. The petitioner is appealing the decision of the Eligibility Appeals Committee (EAC) of the New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association (NJSIAA) denying the petitioner's request for a waiver of the eligibility rules to allow him to participate in baseball at New Providence High School.

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b), a grant of emergent relief is considered an extraordinary remedy that can only be issued upon a finding that petitioner has met the four-pronged standard set forth in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982), and codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6. The party seeking such relief must demonstrate the existence of each of the following: 1) the movant will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted; 2) the legal right underlying the movant's claim is settled; 3) the movant has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and 4) when the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the movant will suffer greater harm than the other party if the requested relief is not granted. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b).

Upon review of the parties' submissions, I find that the petitioner has failed to meet the standard required for emergent relief. Most notably, the petitioner has failed to demonstrate a likelihood of success on the merits of the underlying appeal. The Commissioner's scope of review in matters involving NJSIAA decisions, including determinations made by the EAC, is appellate in nature. N.J.S.A. 18A:11-3; Board of Education of the City of Camden v. NJSIAA, 92 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 182, 188. That is, the Commissioner may not overturn an action by the NJSIAA in applying its rules, absent a demonstration by the petitioner that it applied such rules in a patently arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable manner. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-7.5(a)(2); B.C. v. Cumberland Regional School District, 220 N.J. Super. 214, 231-232 (App. Div. 1987). Nor may the Commissioner substitute her own judgment for that of the NJSIAA, where due process has been provided and where there is sufficient credible evidence in the record as a whole to serve as a basis for the decision reached by the NJSIAA. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-7.5(a)(1).

Athletic competition in New Jersey's public schools is overseen by respondent, NJSIAA, a voluntary, non-profit organization which promulgates the rules and regulations governing high school athletics. Article V, Section J of NJSIAA's Bylaws, Rules and Regulations restricts a student's eligibility to play sports to four years. Specifically, the provision known as the Eight Semester Rule provides that, "[n]o student shall be eligible for high school athletics after the expiration of eight consecutive semesters following his or her entrance into the 9th grade. A student becomes ineligible for high school athletics when the class in which he/she was originally enrolled has graduated." The NJSIAA Guidelines set forth the reasons for the Eight Semester Rule in the NJSIAA Handbook:

> This rule is intended to prohibit "red shirting," and is also aimed at preventing athletically gifted pupils who are not meeting academic standards from replacing other students who are maintaining their academic standards but who might not have the same athletic prowess. The rule is also aimed at maintaining a uniform progression among all member schools within a four-year cycle and equalizing competition within these schools.

In appropriate cases, the NJSIAA may grant a waiver of the eligibility rules if the overall objectives of the association and its member schools will not be undermined. The Eight Semester Rule can be waived when a student proves that he cannot comply with the rule due to circumstances beyond his control.

It is undisputed that the petitioner herein was scheduled to graduate high school in June 2016, and as such he is ineligible to participate in interscholastic athletics based on the Eight Semester Rule. The petitioner therefore applied to the NJSIAA for a waiver of the Eight Semester Rule so that he could participate on the New Providence baseball team this spring.[1] Previously, petitioner had participated in baseball at New Providence during the 2012-2013, 2013-2014 and 2014-2015 school years, but did not play during the 2015-2016 school year. The petitioner did not play baseball in 2016 because he had been placed on extended home instruction and was not permitted on school grounds as the result of several behavioral incidents that the New Providence School District deemed to be threatening.[2] In reaching its decision to deny the waiver request, the

[1] The petitioner is currently enrolled in his 5th year of high school at the Shepard School pursuant to an Individualized Education Plan (IEP) for Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), and his education is financed by the New Providence School District. The petitioner received special education services pursuant to an IEP during 9th and 10th grade at New Providence but was declassified for 11th grade. In June 2016 the district re-classified the petitioner and provided him with an IEP and a 5th year of educational services to address his academic deficiencies.

[2] In one incident, petitioner took a "selfie" with a gun. In a second incident, petitioner told another student that he wanted "to shoot up the school," and advised the student to wear red so that petitioner could easily identify him and avoid taking aim at him.

EAC recognized that the petitioner may have academic difficulties that have been exacerbated or caused by his ADHD; however, what led to petitioner not playing baseball in the spring of 2016 were his disciplinary problems. As such, the EAC concluded that the circumstances were not entirely beyond the petitioner's control and, accordingly, he was not eligible for a waiver. The EAC also noted that because disciplinary problems contributed to the petitioner's inability to play baseball in 2016, it would not be appropriate to displace another student by giving the petitioner a waiver to play baseball.

The petitioner asserts that his behavioral issues are directly tied to his diagnosis of severe ADHD as well as other academic and psychological factors. Thus, the petitioner did not have the requisite control over his ability to graduate high school on time and should in turn be granted an eligibility waiver. The petitioner's IEP for 2017 specifically notes that his placement at the Shepard School was to accommodate his behavioral disability. Unlike other cases in which waiver requests have been denied by the NJSIAA, the petitioner stresses that he has not played four years of high school baseball. Finally, the petitioner points out that he does not start on the varsity team, he is not a difference maker, and his ability to play would not pose any safety concerns as baseball is not a contact sport.[3]

Petitioners seeking to overturn decisions of the NJSIAA bear a heavy burden, and – considering the record of this matter in light of the prescribed standard of review – I find that the petitioner has failed to demonstrate a likelihood of success on the merits. Specifically, the petitioner has not made a preliminary showing that the EAC applied its rules in a patently arbitrary or unreasonable manner when it determined that the circumstances that caused the petitioner to miss a season of baseball in 2016 were not beyond his control. The NJSIAA has a duty to ensure fairness and integrity in athletic competition statewide, and there is not enough evidence in the record to establish that the decision to deny petitioner's waiver request was unreasonable.[4]

In light of the fact that all of the Crowe prongs must be met in order for emergent relief to be granted, it is not necessary to analyze the three remaining factors. Accordingly, the petitioner's request for emergent relief and an Order permitting him to participate in the New Providence baseball program is hereby DENIED.

Sincerely,

Kimberley Harrington

[3] Although petitioner argues that baseball is not a contact sport, NJSIAA rules specifically limit non-contact sports to: bowling, cross-country, fencing, golf, gymnastics, skiing, swimming and diving, tennis, track and volleyball.

[4] Since the petitioner is not entitled to emergent relief in connection with his request for a waiver of the Eight Semester Rule, for purposes of this motion it is not necessary to also analyze the credit rule and its potential applicability to the circumstances in this case.

OF THE BOROUGH OF FREEHOLD,	:
MONMOUTH COUNTY.	:

The record, proposed stipulation of settlement, and Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed – mindful of the Commissioner's October 6, 2016 determination that the prior stipulation of settlement could not be approved because it was devoid of affirmation from the parties that the respondent was not employed as a teacher elsewhere during the proposed suspension period. Since the stipulation of settlement now contains a certification of respondent attesting that she has not worked as a teacher during the suspension period, the Commissioner can approve the within settlement agreement in its present form.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision recommending approval of the parties' settlement as the final decision in this matter is hereby adopted, and the matter is dismissed subject to compliance with the terms of the settlement.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Elizabeth Calderon, respondent, pro se

Record Closed: January 26, 2017 Decided: March 6, 2017

BEFORE SARAH G. CROWLEY, ALJ:

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for determination as a contested case on February 9, 2016, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

The parties have settled this matter and have filed a Settlement Agreement indicating the terms thereof, which is attached and fully incorporated herein.

I have reviewed the record and the terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

FREEHOLD BOROUGH BOARD OF EDUCATION, Petitioner, vs. ELIZABETH CALDERON, Respondent.	STATE OF NEW JERSEY OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATIVE LAW OAL DOCKET NO. EDU 02377-2016S Agency Ref. No. 22-1/16 STIPULATION OF SETTLEMENT

WHEREAS, the Parties appeared in the Office of Administrative Law on July 7, 2016 before the Honorable Sara G. Crowley, A.L.J. for the hearing in this matter; and

WHEREAS, at that time, the Parties reached an amicable settlement of this matter, which was placed on the record, and which shall be memorialized by this Stipulation of Settlement.

NOW, THEREFORE, the Parties hereby stipulate to the following facts and agree to resolve this matter upon the following terms:

1. Freehold Borough Board of Education (the "Board") hired Elizabeth Calderon ("Ms. Calderon") as a Spanish teacher, commencing on Monday, November 16, 2015.

2. Ms. Calderon executed an employment contract with the Board, which, in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10, required that she provide the Board with sixty (60) days' notice of any resignation.

3. On Monday, November 16, 2015, at 8:03 a.m., Ms. Calderon emailed a letter of resignation to the Board.

4. Ms. Calderon failed to appear for work, despite the sixty (60) day notice provision in her employment contract and as required by law.

5. The Board initiated this action seeking suspension of Ms. Calderon's teaching certificate for failing to provide sixty (60) days' notice as required by the employment contract and N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10.

6. The Parties have agreed that Ms. Calderon's teaching certificate shall be suspended from November 16, 2015 through November 15, 2016.

7. This is the entire agreement of the Parties and may not be altered or amended, except in writing, with the same formality as this agreement.

8. This Stipulation of Settlement is subject to approval by the Commissioner of Education.

BEFORE THE COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION OF THE STATE OF NEW JERSEY

In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of

JENNIFER ROME

and

STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF CAMDEN
CAMDEN COUNTY

Agency Docket No. 32-2/17

The above-entitled matter was submitted to the undersigned Arbitrator by letter dated March 10, 2017 from the Commissioner of Education through the Director of the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-16 as amended by P.L. 2012, c. 26. Following a preliminary conference on March 14, 2017, a hearing was held on March 27, 2017 at the office of Brown and Connery, Esqs. in Westmont, New Jersey, during which hearing the parties successfully engaged in settlement discussions and executed a Settlement Agreement and General Release governing the instant tenure dispute and several other ancillary controversies involving Respondent Jennifer Rome; her brother, Stan T. Stanford III, a/k/a/ Stan Skyrm; the State-Operated School District of the City of Camden; and several named employees of the District. Subsequent scheduled hearings were adjourned pending ratification of the Settlement Agreement and General Release by the State District Superintendent on behalf of the Camden City School District, which ratification occurred on March 31, 2017.

At the arbitration hearing on March 27, 2017, the Arbitrator examined Respondent Jennifer Rome as to her understanding and acceptance of the terms of the Settlement Agreement and General Release. Respondent and her brother Stan T. Stanford III, a/k/a/ Stan Skyrm affirmatively acknowledged on the record in response to questioning by Matthew B. Wieliczko, Esq., of Zeller and Wieliczko, Esqs., counsel for Respondent; by Louis R. Lessig, Esq., of Brown and Connery, Esqs., counsel for the Camden School District in this tenure matter and in the Superior Court action; and by the Arbitrator that they understood that Ms. Rome's attorneys in the tenure matter, Matthew B. Wieliczko and Amy L. Gillette, did not represent either Ms. Rome or Mr. Stanford in the proceedings in Superior Court, Law Division, or before the New Jersey Division on Civil Rights; that they understood and accepted that the Superior Court and New Jersey Division on Civil Rights proceedings, as well as the instant tenure dispute, would be definitively determined by the global settlement they were signing; that they were aware of their right to seek legal representation regarding the pending Superior Court action and the pending New Jersey Division on Civil Rights proceeding; that they were knowingly waiving their right to engage other counsel regarding these proceedings; that they understood what they were gaining and what they were conceding in the global Settlement Agreement and General Release; and that they were fully satisfied with the representation afforded to them in this tenure proceeding by Zeller and Wieliczko, Esqs. The Arbitrator is satisfied that these acknowledgements by Respondent Jennifer Rome and by Mr. Stan Stanford III that they fully understood and accepted the consequences of their accepting the terms of and signing the Settlement Agreement and General Release and ancillary documents attached as exhibits to the Settlement Agreement and General Release were sincere and constituted informed consent.

On April 4, 2017, the parties submitted to the undersigned Arbitrator for examination and consideration an executed Settlement Agreement and General Release covering any other current proceedings or potential future causes of action arising from any act or failure to act by the Camden School District or its agents or employees that may have occurred before March 27, 2017, and four Exhibits, including a Stipulation of Dismissal with prejudice involving an action pending in the Superior Court of New Jersey, Law Division, Camden County. I have carefully considered each of these documents, as well as the transcript of the tenure hearing of March 27, 2017 as the basis for issuing the following Award.

AWARD OF ARBITRATOR

After duly evaluating the nature of the tenure charges over which I had jurisdiction, the Respondent's record of service to the State-Operated School District of the City of Camden, the absence of proven harm to any student for whom the Respondent was responsible, and the advantages and factors cited by the Board as the bases for its decision to enter into the Settlement Agreement and General Release resolving the instant tenure matter and also resolving ancillary proceedings involving the same parties, I hereby find that the terms and conditions agreed upon by the State-Operated School District and by Respondent Jennifer Rome, each of whom has been advised by counsel regarding these tenure proceedings, to resolve the tenure dispute before me to be reasonable and in the best interest of both the parties and the public.

There being no charge against the Respondent of any moral turpitude, the terms and conditions negotiated under the parties' Settlement Agreement and General Release serve the best interests of the public and of the students of the Camden City School District and satisfy the criteria of N.J.A.C. 6A:P3-5.6 (a). Consequently, I accept the Settlement Agreement and General Release as proposed by the parties, and hereby issue this Consent Award incorporating the terms of the Settlement Agreement and General Release executed by the parties, effective March 31, 2017, provided that Respondent has not revoked her execution of the Settlement Agreement within the statutory time periods described in the Settlement Agreement and General Release.

Based on the facts elicited by the evidentiary record in the instant matter regarding the tenure charges brought by the State-Operated School District of the City of Camden against Respondent Jennifer Rome, and having examined the terms of the Settlement Agreement and General Release executed by Respondent Jennifer Rome on March 27, 2017, I find that the terms and conditions set forth in the parties' Settlement Agreement dated March 27, 2017, ratified by the State District Superintendent on behalf of the Camden City School District on March 31, 2017, appear to me to be reasonable, to be consistent with the terms and intent of the TEACHNJ Statute and applicable regulations, and to reflect that Respondent has not committed any conduct unbecoming a tenured teacher.

I hereby endorse and approve the parties' Settlement Agreement and General Release as appropriate under the circumstances and as satisfying the requirements of the TEACHNJ statute.

Daniel F. Brent, Arbitrator

State of New Jersey

On this 17th day of April, 2017 before me personally came and appeared Daniel F. Brent, to me known and known to me to be the individual described in the foregoing instrument, and he acknowledged to me that he executed the same.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE

This SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND MUTUAL RELEASE (hereinafter, the "Agreement"), being entered into by and between the CAMDEN CITY SCHOOL DISTRICT, for the benefit of the District, and all of its related entities, and all of the District's current, future, and former officers, employees, agents, officials, representatives, attorneys, insurers, successors and assigns, and heirs, both in their official and individual capacities, including but not limited to, Stephen D. Bournes (hereinafter, "Bournes"), Tia Mcintosh, Lana Murray, Nicholas Pillsbury, Hye-Won Gehring, Darrell Staton (hereinafter, collectively, "the District"), JENNIFER ROME (hereinafter "Rome"), and STAN T. STANFORD III, a/k/a STAN SKYRM (hereinafter, "Stanford")(hereinafter, the District, Rome and Stanford, collectively, the "Parties"), and,

WHEREAS, Rome has been employed in a teaching position by the District;

WHEREAS, Rome filed a complaint, as amended by Rome (hereinafter, the "Complaint"), against the District and Bournes in the Superior Court of New Jersey, Law Division, Camden County, under the caption of "Jennifer Rome v. Stephen Bournes and Camden City School District," Docket No. CAM-L-2260-16 (hereinafter, the "Lawsuit");

WHEREAS, the District filed a Counterclaim against Rome (hereinafter, the "Counterclaim") and a Third Party Complaint against Stanford (hereinafter, the "Third Party Complaint") in the Lawsuit and Stanford filed a Third Party Counterclaim (hereinafter, the "Third Party Counterclaim") against the District in the Lawsuit;

WHEREAS, Rome filed a Verified Complaint against the District with the New Jersey Division on Civil Rights, Docket No.:ED08JE-66054 (EEOC No.: 17E 2016 00373) (hereinafter, the "DCR Action");

WHEREAS, the District served and filed certain tenure charges with the Commissioner of Education for the State of New Jersey, Agency Docket No. 32-2/17 seeking to remove Rome from her teaching position (hereinafter, the "Tenure Charge Proceedings");

WHEREAS, the District is represented by the Law Firm of Brown & Connery, LLP in the Lawsuit, the DCR Action and the Tenure Charge Proceedings (hereinafter, "B&C");

WHEREAS, Rome and Stanford are Pro Se litigants in the Lawsuit, and Rome is a Pro Se litigant in the DCR Action;

WHEREAS, Rome is represented by the Law firm of Zeller & Wielieczko in the Tenure Charge Proceedings;

WHEREAS, the Parties wish to amicably resolve the Lawsuit, the DCR Action and the Tenure Charge Proceeding and any other potential or actual disputes between them of any kind;

WHEREAS, the District and Rome intend to execute an appropriate agreement in addition to this Agreement to resolve the Tenure Charge Proceeding (hereinafter the "Tenure Charge Agreement"), and the Parties incorporate the terms and provisions of the Tenure Charge Agreement as set forth in Exhibit 1 hereto, into the Agreement as if fully set forth herein;

THEREFORE, in exchange for the mutual promises set forth below, and intending to be legally bound, the Parties hereby acknowledge and agree to the following terms and conditions:

1. CONSIDERATION

(a) As to Rome. Rome shall receive the Payment and Medical Coverage as set forth in Sections 2(b) and (c) of the Tenure Charge Agreement, and the withdrawal and/or dismissal of the Tenure Charges, as set forth in Section 2(c) of the Tenure Charge Agreement, and the District shall dismiss the Counterclaim in the Lawsuit and release and waive any and all claims and/or potential claims as set forth in the Section 3(c) of the Agreement, and for other valuable consideration as set forth in this Agreement.

(b) As to Stanford. The District shall dismiss the Third Party Complaint in the Lawsuit, and release and waive any and all claims and/or potential claims as set forth in the Section 3(c) of the Agreement, and for other valuable consideration as set forth in this Agreement.

(c) As to the District. Rome shall provide to the District the Resignation Letter as set forth in Section 2(a) of the Tenure Charge Agreement and Rome shall dismiss and/or withdraw the Complaint in the Lawsuit and the Verified Complaint in the DCR Action, and Stanford shall dismiss as may be necessary the Third Party Counterclaim in the Lawsuit, and Rome and Stanford shall release and waive any and all claims and/or potential claims as set forth in the Section 3(a) and (b) of the Agreement, and for other valuable consideration as set forth in this Agreement.

2. DISMISSAL OF THE LAWSUIT AND THE DCR ACTION

The Parties agree to execute any and all documents which may be requested or required to effect the dismissal of the Lawsuit with prejudice immediately upon the execution of this Agreement and the Tenure Charge Agreement, including, but not limited to, a Stipulation of Dismissal with Prejudice, in the form attached hereto as "Exhibit 2" (the "Stipulation") and Rome agrees to execute any and all documents which may be requested or required to effect the withdrawal and/or dismissal of the DCR Action with prejudice immediately upon the execution of this Agreement and the Tenure Charge Agreement, including, but not limited to a letter of withdrawal, in the form attached hereto as "Exhibit 3" (The withdrawal of DCR). This is a material part of the Agreement.

3. GENERAL RELEASE OF CLAIMS

(a) Rome. In exchange for the valuable consideration provided in this Agreement and the Settlement Agreement, Rome hereby waives, relinquishes, and forever releases the District from any and all rights or claims, known or unknown, asserted or unasserted, from the beginning of time up to and including the date of full execution of this Agreement, including, but not limited to, those claims asserted by her in the Lawsuit and/or the DCR Action, and any other claims which arise and/or relate to her employment and/or cessation of employment, including claims for discrimination or harassment with regards to any alleged protected category, status, or class, including, but not limited to, age, sex, religion, race, disability, or national origin, breach of contract, wrongful termination, hostile work environment, wrongful discharge, retaliation, constructive discharge, as well as claims in tort, including, but not limited to, claims for misrepresentation, defamation, libel, interference with contract or prospective economic advantage, intentional and/or negligent infliction of emotional distress, personal injury, lost wages and/or benefits, and any other economic and/or non-economic damages whatsoever. Rome specifically waives any rights that she may have under the National Labor Relations Act; the Civil Rights Act of 1964; Sections 1981 through 1988 of Title 42 of the United States Code; the Employment Retirement Income Security Act; the Immigration Reform Control Act; the Americans with Disabilities Act; the Age Discrimination & Employment Act; the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act; the Fair Labor Standards Act; the Occupational Safety & Health Act; the Family & Medical Leave Act; the Equal Pay Act; the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination; the New Jersey Wage Payment Law; The New Jersey Minimum Wage Law; the Equal Pay Law for New Jersey; the New Jersey Worker Health & Safety Act; the New Jersey Family Leave Act; the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act; any constitution, statute, regulation, ordinance, executive order, public policy or common law; any written, verbal or implied contract; and any other authority or basis for seeking damages or relief of any kind or any other theories now or hereafter recognized or any claim related to any the District policy, procedure, or plan. This releases all claims, including those of which Rome is not aware and those not mentioned in this Agreement. This releases all claims, including those for counsel fees and/or costs related to any of the pending litigation and/or other matters, and the Parties shall bear their own attorneys' fees and costs. This Agreement applies to claims resulting from anything which has happened up to the execution of this Agreement. Rome hereby acknowledges that she has been and will be fully paid any and all due wages and benefits to which she is entitled pursuant to this Agreement and that she suffered no workers' compensation related injury while employed by the District of which she has not already notified the District and/or its insurer.

(b) Stanford. In exchange for the valuable consideration provided in this Agreement, Stanford hereby waives, relinquishes, and forever releases the District from any and all rights or claims, known or unknown, asserted or unasserted, from the beginning of time up to and including the date of full execution of this Agreement, including, but not limited to, as may be necessary, the Third Party Counterclaim, and those claims asserted by him or which could or should have been asserted by him in the Lawsuit. This includes, but is not limited to, those claims asserted by him in the Lawsuit and/or the DCR Action, and any other claims which arise and/or relate to Rome's employment and/or cessation of employment, including claims for discrimination or harassment with regards to any alleged protected category, status, or class, including, but not limited to, age, sex, religion, race, disability, or national origin, breach of contract, wrongful termination, hostile work environment, wrongful discharge, retaliation, constructive discharge, as well as claims in tort, including, but not limited to, claims for misrepresentation, defamation, libel, interference with contract or prospective economic advantage, intentional and/or negligent infliction of emotional distress, personal injury, lost wages and/or benefits, and any other economic and/or non-economic damages whatsoever. Stanford specifically waives any rights that he may have under the National Labor Relations Act; the Civil Rights Act of 1964; Sections 1981 through 1988 of Title 42 of the United States Code; the Employment Retirement Income Security Act; the Immigration Reform Control Act; the Americans with Disabilities Act; the Age Discrimination & Employment Act; the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act; the Fair Labor Standards Act; the Occupational Safety & Health Act; the Family & Medical Leave Act; the Equal Pay Act; the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination; the New Jersey Wage Payment Law; The New Jersey Minimum Wage Law; the Equal Pay Law for New Jersey; the New Jersey Worker Health & Safety Act; the New Jersey Family Leave Act; the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act; any constitution, statute, regulation, ordinance, executive order, public policy or common law; any written, verbal or implied contract; and any other authority or basis for seeking damages or relief of any kind or any other theories now or hereafter recognized or any claim related to any the District policy, procedure, or plan. This releases all claims, including those of which Stanford is not aware and those not mentioned in this Agreement. This releases all claims, including those for counsel fees and/or costs related to any of the pending litigation and/or other matters, and the Parties shall bear their own attorneys' fees and costs. This Agreement applies to claims resulting from anything which has happened up to the execution of this Agreement. This releases all claims, including those for counsel fees and/or costs related to any of the pending litigation and/or other matters, and the Parties shall bear their own attorneys' fees and costs. This Agreement applies to claims resulting from anything which has happened up to the execution of this Agreement.

(c) The District. In exchange for the valuable consideration provided in this Agreement, the District hereby waives, relinquishes, and forever releases Rome and Stanford from any and all rights or claims, known or unknown, asserted or unasserted, from the beginning of time up to and including the date of full execution of this Agreement, including, but not limited to, the Counterclaim against Rome and the Third Party Complaint against Stanford in the Lawsuit, and those claims asserted by the District or which could or should have been asserted by the District in the Lawsuit. This releases all claims, including those for counsel fees and/or costs related to any of the pending litigation and/or other matters, and the Parties shall bear their own attorneys' fees and costs. This Agreement applies to claims resulting from anything which has happened up to the execution of this Agreement.

4. COVENANT NOT TO SUE

Rome and Stanford hereby warrant that as of the date this Agreement is signed that they have not filed any other legal complaint, counterclaim, claim, charge, or lawsuit against the District except for the Lawsuit and the DCR Verified Complaint. Further, Rome and Stanford agree that they will not file, charge, claim, sue or cause or permit to be filed any civil action, suit, or legal proceeding seeking personal, equitable, or monetary relief on their behalf in connection with any and all claims, known or unknown, asserted or unasserted, from the beginning of time up to and including the date of full execution of this Agreement. Rome and Stanford further agree that should any person, organization, or other entity file, charge, claim, sue, or cause or permit to be filed any such civil action, suit, or legal proceeding, they will not seek or accept any personal relief in such civil action, suit, or legal proceeding. In the event of a violation of this paragraph, Rome and Stanford agree that the District shall be entitled to immediate dismissal of such civil action, suit, or legal proceeding and that they shall be responsible for the payment of the reasonable attorneys' fees and expenses incurred by the District's defense. Rome and Stanford further agree that they will not file nor permit any other party to file charges with any governmental agency relating to any matter alleged in the Lawsuit.

Notwithstanding Sections 4 and 6 of this Agreement, it is understood and agreed that Rome and Stanford are not waiving claims filed under any state workers' compensation or unemployment law or challenges to the validity of this Agreement including under the Older Workers Benefits Protection Act or other mandate under law.

Nothing in this Agreement shall preclude the District from forwarding the relevant materials to the Board of Examiners as directed by the applicable Regulations, etc.

5. NO ADMISSION OF LIABILITY

The Parties understand that by entering into the Agreement, the District, Rome and Stanford do not admit any liability and expressly deny that they have committed any wrongdoing whatsoever, and that the parties have entered into this Agreement to avoid additional expenses and cost and the aggravation of defending the Lawsuit and/or the DCR Action and/or the Tenure Charge proceeding.

6 CONFIDENTIALITY

Rome and Stanford agree that the terms, amount, and fact of this Agreement, and the nature of all claims that were or could have been raised against the other, as well as any information disclosed by the Parties in the negotiations and mediation leading to this Agreement, are confidential. Rome and Stanford agree that they will not, as of the date of execution of this Agreement, communicate or disclose the terms of this Agreement to any person other than their attorney, accountant, or members of their immediate family, each of whom must first be advised of this duty of confidentiality. In the event Rome and Stanford are asked about the Litigation or the incidents which gave rise to the Lawsuit by any person or entity, they agree that they will state only that the matter has been settled and/or resolved to the Parties' satisfaction. Rome and Stanford recognize and agree that the representations, promises, and covenants set forth in this paragraph constitute a material and significant part of this Agreement and the District would not have entered into this Agreement absent such agreement and, therefore, any violation of this paragraph will constitute a material violation and breach of this Agreement. In the event of a judicial finding of a breach of this provision of the Agreement, the District shall have the right to seek liquidated damages in the full amount of the Payment and the value of the Medical Coverage in Section 2 of the Tenure Charge Agreement and to recover all costs and reasonable attorneys' fees incurred related to any such action.

08108 at least fourteen (14) days prior to any return date of any subpoena or upon receipt of any court order. If either is served or receives any notice or court order within the fourteen (14) day period prior to the return date, they agree to immediately notify the other party.

Nothing in this paragraph shall be construed to prevent Rome and Stanford from testifying truthfully as a witness in any other litigation matters which may be pending against the District if compelled to do so in response to a duly issued subpoena.

7. AGREEMENT NOT TO DISPARAGE

In further consideration, the District, Superintendent and Bourne, acting in their official capacity, and Rome and Stanford agree to refrain from making any disparaging remarks or comments whatsoever about the District, including, with respect to the District, any of its current or former employees, officers, agents, attorneys, or representatives, and/or its work, schools, facilities, operations, activities, programs, or services. This Agreement includes, but is not limited to, any statements or postings made online, on the internet, or on any social media platform, including but not limited to, any blog, Twitter, MySpace, Facebook, Instagram, Snapchat, Yelp, Tumblr, Flickr, LinkedIn, YouTube, Periscope, or Facebook Live. To the extent such postings exist as of the date of this Agreement, Rome and Stanford hereby agree to immediately and permanently delete or remove such postings at or before the time of their execution of this Agreement. To verify this has been done a Google or similar search may be done by the District or its representatives and must reveal no such information. This is a material part of the Agreement, subject to Paragraph 14 below.

8 AGREEMENT NOT TO CONTACT OR COMMUNICATE WITH THE DISTRICT

In further consideration, Rome and Stanford agree upon the execution of the Agreement to refrain from making any contact or communications of any kind with the District, including any of their current or former attorneys (for any reason other than one related to this Agreement), employees, officers, agents or representatives, either personally; face to face contact; by written correspondence, letters, notes or memos; by mailing, delivering, sending and/or forwarding any tangible thing or object; by telephone; or through any electronic form of communication, including, but not limited to, email, text messaging, or any contact or communication through any social media platform, except as may be necessary in the performance of the Parties duties and obligations under the Agreement and/or the Tenure Charge Agreement. This is a material part of the Agreement, subject to Paragraph 14 below. An express exception to this provision of the Agreement allows and permits both Rome and Stanford to remain friends with current employees, maintain Facebook contact with current friends/acquaintances that are employees and communicate by phone, text or in person with current friends/acquaintances that are employees but are prohibited from discussing anything regarding the settlement topics or terms with these individuals.

9. OVERT PROHIBITION ON SPECIFIC IMPROPER ACTIVITY

Rome and Stanford agree and understand that a portion of the claims raised by the District involve assertions related to the alleged improper use of email addresses, software and servers that are District property. Further, assertions were made that Rome and Stanford utilized agents to contact, make representations and take actions against the District. Additionally, there was allegedly improper access to District records for staff as well as students. Rome and Stanford agree that this Agreement and the compensation related to the same is based in part on an absolute prohibition on engaging in, promoting others to engage in or otherwise disclosing any information allegedly obtained via any of the avenues discussed in this paragraph or these Agreements. This includes the directives under section 4 of the Tenure Charge Agreement and a mandate that Rome and Stanford return any and all information, in any form that was allegedly obtained using the above mentioned methods. Further, Rome and Stanford agree that this section includes a mandate to delete any such materials from any and all devices, servers, etc. in either person's possession. This is a material part of the Agreement, subject to Paragraph 14 below.

10. NOT ELIGIBLE FOR RE-HIRE

In further consideration, Rome hereby acknowledges and agrees that her employment with the District shall be deemed irrevocably severed and that she is ineligible for rehire by the District in any position. Rome agrees that she will not apply for, nor accept employment with, the District and, that if she is offered employment that she will refuse the offer. Should she re-apply for employment, the District shall have no obligation to consider or review her application, and rejection of such application shall not be deemed to constitute any form of retaliation or other claim by the District against Rome. This is a material part of the Agreement.

11. ACKNOWLEDGEMENT BY ROME

The releases in Section 3(a) above shall include a waiver and release of all claims under the Age Discrimination in Employment Act ("ADEA") and the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act ("OWBPA"); and, pursuant to the requirements of the ADEA and OWBPA, Rome specifically acknowledges that:

(a) She has been advised to consult with an attorney of her choosing concerning the legal significance of the Agreement and has had the opportunity to do so;

(b) The Agreement is written in a manner that she understands;

(c) The consideration set forth the Agreement set forth in Section 1(a) of the Agreement consists of benefits to which she is not otherwise arguably entitled and is adequate and sufficient to support her promises, covenants and releases as set forth in Section 3(a) of this Agreement;

(d) She has been afforded twenty-one (21) days to consider the Agreement before executing it, that any changes thereto subsequently agreed upon by the parties, whether material or immaterial, do not restart this period for consideration, and that by signing and returning the Agreement before the end of the twenty-one (21) day period she will have knowingly and voluntarily waived the right to consider the Agreement for the full consideration period; and

(e) She has been advised that during the seven (7) day period following her execution of the Agreement, she may revoke her acceptance of the Agreement by delivering written notice to counsel for the District (set forth below) with a courtesy copy to her counsel (see below), and that the Agreement and the Tenure Charge Agreement shall not become effective or enforceable until after the revocation period has expired:

For the District:	Courtesy Copy to:
Louis R. Lessig, Esquire Brown & Connery, LLP 360 Haddon Avenue Westmont, New Jersey 08108	Matthew Wieliczko, Esquire Zeller & Wieliczko, LLP 120 Haddontowne Court Cherry Hill, NJ 08034

12. ACKNOWLEDGEMENT BY STANFORD

Stanford acknowledges that he has read all of the terms of this Agreement; he has had an opportunity to discuss it with individuals of his own choice who are not associated with the District. He has been advised to consult with an attorney of his own choosing and acknowledges that Zeller & Wieliczko, LLP is not his attorney and has not provided him with legal advice or representation. Stanford understands that by signing this Agreement and accepting the terms set forth above, he is receiving benefits to which he would not otherwise be entitled. Stanford understands that he is receiving such benefits as a result of entering into and complying with the terms and provisions of this Agreement. He hereby acknowledges that he signs this Agreement voluntarily and knowingly in exchange for the consideration described therein, which he acknowledges is adequate and satisfactory; and that he has been provided an opportunity to review and consider this Agreement prior to signing it.

13 CONTINGENT AGREEMENT

The terms and conditions of this Agreement are contingent upon the execution by Rome of the Tenure Charge Agreement, and the terms and conditions of the Tenure Charge Agreement are incorporated into this Agreement as if fully set forth herein.

14. RESTRAINTS FOR ROME AND STANFORD

Rome and Stanford both acknowledge that compliance with this Agreement and the Tenure Charge Agreement is necessary to protect the parties, but more specifically to protect the District and its employees and representatives as well as those specifically identified in this Agreement and that any actual or prospective breach will irreparably cause damage to the District for which money damages may not be adequate. Consequently Rome and Stanford both agree that if either or both breaches or attempts to breach this Agreement, the District shall be entitled to obtain temporary, preliminary and permanent equitable relief, without bond, to prevent irreparable harm or injury, and to money damages, together with any and all other remedies available under the law. Rome and Stanford acknowledge that the damage to the District from a breach of this Agreement would be difficult to value and hereby agrees that five thousand dollars ($5,000.00) per breach is a reasonable amount to compensate the District for such damages, unless the District is able to prove otherwise. Rome and Stanford further understand and agree that both shall be liable to pay the District's reasonable attorney's fees and costs in any successful action to enforce this Agreement

Rome and Stanford agree and understand that if one or both of them breach this Agreement, that the District and/or B&C, shall have the right to apply to the Superior Court of New Jersey, Law or Chancery Division, Camden County, to obtain a "Order for Restraints" against one or both of them, in the form attached hereto as "Exhibit 4" to enforce the above restraints in their entirety.

15. GOVERNING LAW AND CONSTRUCTION

This Agreement shall be governed by the laws of the State of New Jersey. Any disputes arising out of and/or relating to this Agreement shall be filed only in the Superior Court of New Jersey, Law or Chancery Division, Camden County, New Jersey and the Parties consent to personal jurisdiction in such courts for any such actions.

16. ENTIRE AGREEMENT AND HEADINGS

This Agreement embodies the entire agreement and understanding between the Parties and supersedes all prior agreements and understandings related to the subject matters hereof. The headings in this Agreement are for purposes of reference only and shall not limit or otherwise affect the meaning of this Agreement or its provisions.

17. NOT ADMISSIBLE

This Agreement is not intended to be used and shall not be used as evidence or for any other purpose in any other action or proceeding, other than evidence of the Parties' compromise as set forth herein, or to enforce the terms of this Agreement.

18. MODIFICATIONS AND AMENDMENTS

This Agreement shall not be modified or amended except by writing duly executed and signed by the Parties to this Agreement.

19. SEVERABILITY

In the event that any such provision of this Agreement is deemed invalid, illegal, void, or unenforceable, such provision shall be regarded as stricken from this Agreement and will not affect the validity or enforceability of the remainder of this Agreement.

20. COUNTERPARTS

This Agreement may be exercised in more than one counterpart and each counterpart shall be considered an original, but all of which together shall constitute one and the same.

IN WITNESS THEREOF, the Parties have executed this Agreement.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND RELEASE OF TENURE CHARGE PROCEEDINGS

This Settlement Agreement and Release of Tenure Charge Proceedings ("this Tenure Charge Agreement") is entered into by and between Jennifer Rome ("Rome") and the Camden City School District (the "District"). Together, Rome and the District may be referred to herein as "the Parties."

WHEREAS, Rome is a Computer Teacher with the District;

WHEREAS, the District commenced proceedings with the Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Education by certifying and filing tenure charges against Rome (the "Tenure Charges");

WHEREAS, Rome wishes to resign from her position effective December 30, 2017;

WHEREAS, the Parties mutually desire to resolve this matter;

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY AGREED by and between the Parties as follows:

1. Effective Date: This Tenure Charge Agreement shall take effect on the date it is fully executed by the Parties, and as such, deemed ratified by the State Superintendent as the authorized representative of the District in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-35.

2. Separation from Employment:

(a) Rome shall provide the District immediately, through its counsel, Brown & Connery, LLP, with an irrevocable letter of resignation effective December 30, 2017 (hereinafter, the "Resignation Date"), which shall be attached as Exhibit "A" to this Agreement (hereinafter, the "Resignation Letter");

(b) Rome shall be placed by the District on paid administrative leave retroactive to February 28, 2017 through her Resignation Date and with her current salary, but without any increases for the 2017-2018 school year, to be paid in the normal course of the District's payroll operations subject to all applicable payroll deductions, by direct deposit with the first regular pay on or before April 15 and retro payment on or before May 15, including as set forth in Section 2(c) below (the "Payment"). This includes payroll payments to be made during July and August of 2017;

(c) Rome shall remain eligible for all District medical benefits through her Resignation Date. Her portion of the premium for those benefits shall be deducted from her wages in the normal course of the District's payroll operations. Rome will then be eligible for and offered COBRA insurance coverage in the normal course (hereinafter, the "Medical Coverage"); and

(d) In the event that Rome owes any outstanding sums for her portion of the premium for her Medical Coverage, Rome will be required to reimburse the District for same, in the event that the funds exceed the amount of the final payroll check, otherwise any outstanding amount will be deducted from the same;

(e) The District shall take all steps with the New Jersey Commissioner of Education or their designee to withdraw and/or dismiss the Tenure Charges against Rome bearing agency reference number 32-2/17; and

(f) The District shall provide Rome with a neutral reference including only her position as a teacher, dates of employment, where she was employed, and her final annual salary.

(g) The District reserves its right to object and pursue any appeals, suits, disputes or challenges to any claim or filing by Rome for unemployment benefits compensation at the conclusion of this Agreement. Rome reserves the right to preserve and pursue same benefits.

(h) During Rome's administrative leave she is to have no contact, in accordance with this Agreement with anyone at the District, with the exception of support or information needed by Rome concerning only her continued medical coverage and only if two (2) people are on the call with Rome, which may require advanced scheduling. To facilitate communication, Rome must first email with specific questions and then call if a response is not received within ten (10) business days. Additionally, if Rome is contacted directly by the State Superintendent or his designee and in that event shall make herself reasonably available to complete the requested task. Otherwise Rome is prohibited from being on District property or at any District event, with the exception of attending sporting or other events hosted by the District in which Rome's children are participants. Even in this instance, Rome is precluded from discussing any topics or items in these Agreements.

(i) Nothing in this Agreement shall preclude the District from forwarding the relevant materials to the Board of Examiners as directed by the applicable Regulations, etc.

3. Contingent Agreement: The terms and conditions of this Tenure Charge Agreement are contingent upon the execution by the Parties, and by Stan T. Stanford, III, a/k/a Stan Skyrm, of a Settlement Agreement and General Release ("Agreement"), and the terms and conditions of the Agreement are incorporated into the Tenure Charge Agreement as if fully set forth herein.

4. Safe Return of all District Property: Rome's receipt of the wages as set forth in this Tenure Charge Agreement is expressly contingent upon her safely returning all District property in her possession without damage and in properly working order. The District reserves the right to recoup from Rome the total loss for any District property that is not returned or returned in damaged condition.

5. General Release: Rome releases the District from all known and unknown charges, complaints, claims, grievances, liabilities, obligations, promises, agreements, controversies, damages, actions, causes of action, suits, rights, demands, costs, losses, debts, penalties, fees, and expenses (including attorneys' fees and costs actually incurred) of any nature whatsoever that Rome has, ever had, or may have had, against the District, whether or not apparent or yet to be discovered, or which may hereafter develop, for any acts or omissions relating to or arising from anything that has happened up to the Effective Date of this Agreement. This includes, but is not limited to, any claims Rome asserted, or may have asserted, under the following: the National Labor Relations Act; the Civil Rights Act of 1964; Sections 1981 through 1988 of Title 42 of the United States Code; the Employment Retirement Income Security Act; the Immigration Reform Control Act; the Americans with Disabilities Act; the Age Discrimination & Employment Act; the Older Worker Benefit Protection Act; the Fair Labor Standards Act; the Occupational Safety & Health Act; the Family & Medical Leave Act; the Equal Pay Act; the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination; the New Jersey Wage Payment Law; The New Jersey Minimum Wage Law; the Equal Pay Law for New Jersey; the New Jersey Worker Health & Safety Act; the New Jersey Family Leave Act; the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act; N.J.S.A. 18A; The Teacher Effectiveness and Accountability for the Children of New Jersey (TEACHNJ) Act; N.J.A.C. 6A; any constitution, statute, regulation, ordinance, executive order, public policy or common law; any written, verbal or implied contract; and any other authority or basis for seeking damages or relief of any kind. This release is intended to be broadly construed and applies to any and all claims and potential claims whatsoever, including those of which Rome is not aware, resulting from anything that has happened up to the Effective Date of this Agreement.

6. Covenant Not to Sue: Rome hereby warrants that as of the date this Agreement is signed that she has not filed any other legal complaint, counterclaim, claim, charge, or lawsuit against the District except for the Lawsuit and the DCR Verified Complaint. Further, Rome agrees that she will not file, charge, claim, sue or cause or permit to be filed any civil action, suit, or legal proceeding seeking personal, equitable, or monetary relief on her behalf in connection with any and all claims, known or unknown, asserted or unasserted, from the beginning of time up to and including the date of full execution of this Agreement. Rome further agrees that should any person, organization, or other entity file, charge, claim, sue, or cause or permit to be filed any such civil action, suit, or legal proceeding, she will not seek or accept any personal relief in such civil action, suit, or legal proceeding. In the event of a violation of this paragraph, Rome agrees that the District shall be entitled to immediate dismissal of such civil action, suit, or legal proceeding and that she shall be responsible for the payment of the reasonable attorneys' fees and expenses incurred by the District's defense. Rome further agrees that she will not file nor permit any other party to file charges with any governmental agency relating to any matter alleged in the Lawsuit.

Notwithstanding Sections 5 and 6 of this Agreement, it is understood and agreed that Rome is not waiving any claims filed under any state workers' compensation or unemployment law or any claim arising from a breach of this agreement; or challenges to the validity of this Agreement under the Older Workers Benefits Protection Act.

7. Older Workers Benefit Protection Act: The releases in section 5 above include a waiver and release of all claims under the Age Discrimination in Employment Act ("ADEA") and the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act ("OWBPA"). Therefore, pursuant to the requirements of the ADEA and OWBPA, Rome specifically acknowledges that:

(a) She has been advised to consult with an attorney of her choosing concerning the legal significance of the Settlement Agreement and Release and has done so;

(b) The Settlement Agreement and Release are written in a manner that she understands;

(c) The consideration set forth this Settlement Agreement consists of benefits to which she is not otherwise entitled and is adequate and sufficient to support her promises, covenants and releases as set forth in this Release;

(d) She has been afforded twenty-one (21) days to consider the Settlement Agreement and Release before executing it, that any changes thereto subsequently agreed upon by the parties, whether material or immaterial, do not restart this period for consideration, and that by signing and returning the Settlement Agreement and Release before the end of the twenty-one (21) day period she will have knowingly and voluntarily waived the right to consider the Settlement Agreement and Release for the full consideration period; and

(e) She has been advised that during the seven (7) day period following her execution of the Settlement Agreement and the Release, she may revoke her acceptance of this Agreement by delivering written notice to counsel for the District (as identified below) and courtesy notice to Zeller & Wieliczko, LLP, and that the Settlement Agreement and the Release shall not become effective or enforceable until after the revocation period has expired:

8. Not Eligible for Rehire: Rome acknowledges and agrees that her employment with the District is irrevocably severed upon the effective date of the letter of resignation and that she is ineligible for re-hire as an employee of the District in any position. Rome agrees not to apply for re-employment with the District. If, for some reason, the District receives an application for Rome's employment, the District shall have no obligation to consider or review her application for employment.

9 No Admission of Liability: This Tenure Charge Agreement is not, and may not be construed as, an admission of liability by either Party.

10. Entire Tenure Charge Agreement: This Tenure Charge Agreement encompasses the sole and entire agreement between the Parties and fully supersedes any and all prior agreements or understandings pertaining to the subject matter hereof. No other promises or agreements shall be binding unless in writing, signed by the Parties, and expressly stated to represent an amendment or supersession to this Tenure Charge Agreement.

11. Severability: If any portion of this Tenure Charge Agreement is deemed unenforceable, the remainder will be fully enforceable.

12. Applicable Law and Construction: This Tenure Charge Agreement shall be construed and interpreted in accordance with the laws of the State of New Jersey; however, since each party to this Tenure Charge Agreement and their counsel have reviewed and negotiated this Tenure Charge Agreement, the general rule of construction that any ambiguity or uncertainty in a writing shall be interpreted against the party drafting the writing shall not apply to any action relating to this Tenure Charge Agreement. Any action to enforce or interpret this Tenure Charge Agreement shall only be brought in a court of competent jurisdiction in Camden County, New Jersey.

13. Counterparts: This Tenure Charge Agreement may be exercised in more than one counterpart and each counterpart shall be considered an original, but all of which together shall constitute one and the same.

14. Individuals Bound: This Tenure Charge Agreement and General Release is binding upon and shall inure to the benefit of the parties hereto and their respective heirs, executors, administrators, personal or legal representatives, successors and/or assigns.

15. Notices: Any notice given or demand made pursuant to this Tenure Charge Agreement shall be made by certified mail, return receipt requested, to the following persons at the following addresses:

16. Facsimile or Electronic Signature Fully Binding: The Parties agree that a facsimile or electronic signature herein shall be deemed to have the same force and effect of an original.

BY SIGNING THIS AGREEMENT, THE PARTIES ACKNOWLEDGE:

A. THEY HAVE READ IT;
B. THEY UNDERSTAND IT AND KNOW THEY ARE GIVING UP IMPORTANT RIGHTS;
C. THEY AGREE WITH EVERYTHING IN IT;
D. THEIR RESPECTIVE ATTORNEYS NEGOTIATED IT WITH THEIR KNOWLEDGE AND CONSENT;
E. THEY HAVE CONSULTED WITH THEIR RESPECTIVE ATTORNEYS ABOUT IT AND ARE FULLY SATISFIED WITH THEIR RESPECTIVE REPRESENTATION; AND
F. THEY SIGN IT KNOWINGLY AND VOLUNTARILY.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, and intending to be legally bound, the Parties hereby execute this Tenure Charge Agreement.

SYNOPSIS

In June 2016, pro se petitioner appealed the determination of the respondent Board that her daughter, T.N., was ineligible for a free public education in respondent's school district. Petitioner contended that she resides at an address within the Ocean City school district. The Board contended that a residency investigation revealed that petitioner and her daughter actually reside at an address in Margate, New Jersey – outside of the respondent's school district. The Board filed a counterclaim seeking tuition for the period of T.N.'s ineligible attendance in the district. A hearing in this matter was held on December 27, 2016. However, petitioner failed to appear and offered no explanation for her non-appearance.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: the facts of this matter indicate that petitioner applied through the school choice program to have T.N. attend Ocean City Schools for the 2015-2016 school year; when T.N. was not accepted into the program, petitioner enrolled her in the Ocean City school district using an apartment address in Ocean City; subsequently, a residency investigation revealed that the lease for the Ocean City apartment had expired, and that petitioner and her daughter were actually living in Margate, at the home of petitioner's mother; as petitioner failed to appear at the hearing, the testimony and evidence presented by the respondent Board was uncontroverted; and the tuition cost for the period of T.N.'s ineligible attendance totaled $15,537. The ALJ concluded that T.N. was ineligible to attend school in Ocean City for the 2015-2016 school year, ordered petitioner to pay respondent in the total amount of $15,537, and dismissed the petition.

The Commissioner adopted the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter, for the reasons expressed therein. The petitioner was ordered to pay tuition as set forth above. The petition was dismissed.

BEFORE DEAN J. BUONO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, T.F., the mother of T.N., challenges the determination made by the Board of Education of the City of Ocean City (District) that she did not reside in the City of Ocean City School District. The District filed a counterclaim seeking payment of tuition for the number of days T.N. attended school in the district.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On April 7, 2016 and May 19, 2016, the District notified the petitioner that her daughter, T.N., was ineligible to attend the schools of the district due to non-residency. Petitioner appealed the decision. On July 13, 2016, the Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) to be heard as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. A conference call was held on September 2, 2016, in an attempt to settle the case between the parties. A hearing was thereafter scheduled on December 27, 2016, and the petitioner did not appear. Petitioner was marked as "Failed to Appear". The District presented its proofs for the counterclaim but the record remained open for the petitioner to explain her nonappearance. When no explanation was received from petitioner regarding her failure to appear, the record was closed on February 1, 2017.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

The facts of this case are not in dispute as they are reflected in the exhibits and as such, I FIND the following facts:

1. Petitioner's daughter, T.N., was being schooled by the District for the 2015-2016 school year.

2. Ocean City is a school choice school and T. F. who applied for T.N. to attend as a school choice student for the 2015-2016 school year, but T.N. was not accepted into the program.

3. After not being accepted in the school choice program, T.N. then enrolled in the District using an apartment address in Ocean City, New Jersey.

4. Thereafter, the District received information that T.N. was not actually residing and domiciled at the Ocean City address, but was actually residing at a Margate address.

5. The District engaged the services of DiJoseph Investigations, L.L.C. to conduct an investigation into T.N.'s actual residence.

6. Surveillance was conducted on the Margate address. It was determined at the conclusion of the investigation that petitioner and T.N. did not reside at the Ocean City address. (R-3).

7. On May 19, 2016, a Notice of Request for Disenrollment, along with the supporting documents, was delivered to plaintiff, at both the Ocean City and Margate addresses, via regular mail, Certified Return Receipt mail and hand delivery.

8. On May 25, 2016, a residency hearing was conducted before the Board of Education (Board).

9. The Board determined that T.N. was not domiciled or a resident of Ocean City, which would have entitled her to attend a school with the District without a tuition obligation.

10. On June 20, 2016, petitioner filed an appeal from the District's determination of ineligibility.

11. Tuition for the 2015-2016 school year was $86.38 per day for 180 days, equaling $15,537 per annum.

TESTIMONY

Investigator Lou DiJoseph testified on behalf of the respondent. Prior to becoming a private investigator, he spent twenty-five years in the Intelligence Unit of the New Jersey State Police. He has participated in thirty to forty prior residency hearings.

In this case, on April 22, 2016, he initiated an investigation from a complaint that the Board received indicating that T.F. resided outside of the sending district. The information was that although there was a lease from an Ocean City residence, she actually resided at 29 South B. Avenue in Margate.

His initial investigation involved looking at all of the documents for the 2015-2016 year pertaining to T.F. and her family. He was provided with student registration information sheets from the District regarding the student. Several searches were conducted with emphasis on the student's parent's residency.

According to the student information sheet provided by the District, the student's parent and legal guardian is identified as T.F. with an apartment address in Ocean City, New Jersey. The student information sheet lists it as her primary address. The owner of record for this property is listed as H.A and C.A. of Margate, New Jersey.

He also reviewed other documents including the student information sheet, an expired rental lease agreement between T.F. and H.A., as well as an account agreement between T.F. and H.A. from Cape Bank in Linwood, New Jersey.

T.N.'s father is not listed on the student information sheet and his name remains unknown to the investigator. T.N.'s grandmother is identified as R.F. R.F. resides at South B. Avenue in Margate. An internet based searches for T.F. and R.F. showed a listed address of Doylestown, Pennsylvania and the South B. Avenue address in Margate.

Surveillance was conducted from April 24, 2016 through May 14, 2016, on the South B. Avenue address in Margate. On those occasions, a silver Ford Focus registered to R.F. was observed parked in the driveway. During the course of this surveillance, T.F., R.F. and T.N. were consistently observed at the residence. T.N. was observed letting two small dogs inside the residence and assisting R.F. bringing groceries into the residence. Also, landscapers cut the grass and prior to leaving, spoke with T.F.

It was his conclusory opinion that T.F. is the biological mother of T.N. R.F. is T.N.'s grandmother. The three are living together at South B. Avenue in Margate. As such, she resides outside the confines of the sending district for the District.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Therefore, based upon the uncontroverted testimony and evidence, I FIND that T.N. and her mother were domiciled in Margate, which is outside the District. Accordingly, I FIND that T.N. was ineligible to attend school in the District for the 2015-2016 school year. I FURTHER FIND, by a preponderance of the credible evidence, that the Board filed a counterclaim seeking tuition for the days T.N. attended the District while she was ineligible for the 2015-2016 school year.[1] As such, the District must establish the cost of tuition and the number of days T.N. attended the District's schools when she was ineligible to do so. The testimony was uncontroverted and therefore, I FIND that the per-pupil cost for a student to attend school in the district for the 2015-2016 school year was $86.38 per day multiplied by days of attendance, which was 180, equaling $15,537 per annum.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

At issue is whether T.N. was entitled to a free education under N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, which provides that public schools shall be free to persons over five and under twenty years of age who are "domiciled within the school district." See V.R. ex rel A.R. v. Hamburg Bd. of Educ., 2 N.J.A.R. 283, 287 (1980), aff'd, State Bd., 1981 S.L.D. 1533, rev'd on other grounds sub nom. Rabinowitz v. N.J. State Bd. of Educ., 550 F. Supp. 481 (D.N.J. 1982) (New Jersey requires local domicile, as opposed to mere residence, in order for a student to receive a free education).

[1] Although the Respondent's Answer does not include a titled "Counterclaim", the Wherefore clause clearly requests relief for tuition reimbursement. As such, the undersigned believes that the Appellants have been afforded proper notice of the request for tuition reimbursement.

A person who meets age requirements and is domiciled within a school district may attend its public schools free of charge. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a). A person may have many residences but only one domicile. Somerville Bd. of Educ. v. Manville Bd. of Educ., 332 N.J. Super. 6, 12 (App. Div. 2000), aff'd, 167 N.J. 55 (2001). A child's domicile is normally that of his or her parents. Ibid. The domicile of a person is the place where he has his true, fixed, permanent home and principal establishment, and to which whenever he is absent, he has the intention of returning, and from which he has no present intention of moving. In re Unanue, 255 N.J. Super. 362, 374 (Law Div. 1991), aff'd, 311 N.J. Super. 589 (App. Div.), certif. denied, 157 N.J. 541 (1998), cert. denied, 526 U.S. 1051, 119 S. Ct. 1357, 143 L. Ed. 2d 518 (1999).

The acts, statements and conduct of the individual, as viewed in the light of all the circumstances, determine a person's true intent. Collins v. Yancey, 55 N.J. Super. 514, 521 (Law Div. 1959). The parent has the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2).

The record reflects that T.N. attended school within the district for the 2015-2016 school year while domiciled outside of the District. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that T.N. was not entitled to a free public education in the district. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(1) provides that when the evidence does not support the claim of the resident, the resident shall be assessed tuition "for the student prorated to the time of the student's ineligible attendance in the school district. Tuition shall be computed on the basis of 1/180 of the total annual per-pupil cost to the local district multiplied by the number of days of ineligible attendance and shall be collected in the manner in which orders of the commissioner are enforced." The uncontested record reflects that the actual cost of T.N.'s attendance in-district was $86.38 per day equaling $15,537 per annum. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the District is entitled to reimbursement for tuition by the petitioner in the amount of $15,537. I further CONCLUDE that petitioner's appeal should be dismissed.

ORDER

It is, therefore, ORDERED that petitioner, T.F., pay respondent, Board of Education of the City of Ocean City, tuition in the total amount of $15,537 for unauthorized attendance in the District schools for the periods stated above. It is further ORDERED that the District's determination that T.N. was ineligible to attend school while domiciled outside the district is hereby AFFIRMED. Petitioner's appeal is DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions to the Initial Decision.

Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) that the respondent, Catherine Kazan, does not have a conflict of interest pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2 that precludes her from serving on the Board. BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF WAYNE, PASSAIC COUNTY,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
CATHERINE KAZAN,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

The petitioning Board of Education of the Wayne Township Public Schools (Board) sought to remove and disqualify the respondent as a member of the Board for alleged breaches of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2, which – in pertinent part – provides that no member of a board of education shall be interested directly or indirectly in any contract with or claim against the board. The Board based its claim against respondent upon an alleged inconsistent interest involving Ms. Kazan's ongoing support for a full day kindergarten program within petitioner's school district after a proposal for funding the program was defeated in a public referendum. Specifically, respondent was among a group of citizens who petitioned the Superior Court to review and invalidate the election results, alleging that the outcome of the vote was tainted by illegal political activity at the polling places. The parties filed opposing motions for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue in this case, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; petitioner sought to disqualify and remove the respondent from the Board for holding an opinion on a public issue over which reasonable people could disagree, and for speaking in defense of her position while sitting in Board meetings; while the Board argued that words spoken and actions taken by the respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2 because of an alleged inconsistent interest, it has failed to support its argument with evidence that respondent was involved in any contract with or claim against the Board; respondent did not sue or file a complaint against the Board, but rather was among a group of citizens who sought a Superior Court review of the election process in the referendum, only the subject matter of which implicated Board interests. The ALJ concluded that the respondent has the right to remain on the Board on behalf of the citizens who voted for her, and for her platform in favor of full day kindergarten. Accordingly, the ALJ granted respondent's motion for summary decision and denied the Board's cross motion for summary decision.

The Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's determination that respondent has no conflict of interest pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2 that precludes her from serving on the Board. Accordingly, the recommended decision of the Office of Administrative Law was adopted as the final decision for the reasons expressed therein. The petition was dismissed.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF WAYNE, PASSAIC COUNTY,

Robert J. DeGroot, Esq., on behalf of respondent Catherine Kazan (Law Offices of Roger J. DeGroot, attorneys)

Record Closed: February 10, 2017 Decided: March 16, 2017

BEFORE GAIL M. COOKSON, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On or about June 17, 2016, petitioner Board of Education of the Township of Wayne (Board) filed an action with the Commissioner of the Department of Education against respondent Catherine Kazan (respondent) seeking her removal and disqualification as a member of the Board for violating N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2.

The matter was transmitted by the Department of Education to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on July 11, 2016, for plenary hearing as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. On or about September 23, 2016, the Board filed an Amended Ethics Complaint with the School Ethics Commission (SEC) within the Department of Education, which alleged ten violations under N.J.S.A. 18A:12-21 et seq. The petitioners in the latter matter are six of the other members of the Board. The SEC did not transmit that matter over but is retaining the matter until this action is decided by the Department.[1]

I convened a telephonic case management conference with the parties on September 29, 2016, to discuss the potential issues in the case, scheduling, and other case management concerns. It became apparent that the matter was amenable to dispositive motion practice and a briefing schedule was agreed upon. Respondent filed a Motion for Summary Decision on or about October 18, 2016. On or about January 13, 2017, petitioner filed a Cross-Motion for Summary Decision. Responses and replies were thereafter submitted. Those motion submissions having been received, the matter is now ripe for decision.

[1] I initially was under the impression that the matters were to be consolidated and entered my Initial Decision accordingly. While I am no longer in possession of the physical record filed, I do not recall ever being provided with the SEC Letter of October 25, 2016, until the "clarification" letter filed by Isabel Machado, Esq., on March 16, 2017. I note that in one of her briefs, she wrote:

> While we recognize that this instant petition concerns Respondent's qualifications to continue to serve on the Board of Education and not her ethics, the same principals apply. Respondent's First Amendment freedoms do not allow her to act on behalf of her personal interests, when such interests conflict with the will of the majority of the voters of Wayne Township and are inconsistent with the Board's interests.
>
> [Cross-Motion Brief at 15]

This Amended Initial Decision is intended to correct the jurisdictional error.

ISSUE PRESENTED ON THE MOTION

Whether respondent should be found disqualified and removed from her elected position on the Board of Education due to alleged breachs of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2, because of an alleged inconsistent interest. That statute provides in pertinent part: "No member of any board of education shall be interested directly or indirectly in any contract with or claim against the board, . . ."

UNDISPUTED MATERIAL FACTS

1. In 2013, Respondent ran on a political platform pledging to institute a Full Day Kindergarten Program within the District. See Certification of Isabel Machado, Esq. ("Machado Cert."), Exhibit A.

2. Respondent has been a sitting member of the Wayne Township Public Schools Board of Education since January 2, 2014.

3. On or about November 3, 2015, a public question was posed to the residents of Wayne Township asking whether, if a Full Day Kindergarten were to be established in the District, they would support raising the 2% cap. The public question was defeated 5,071 to 4,500. See Machado Cert., Exhibit D and F.

4. In or about November 2015, respondent donated $100 to a GoFundMe page in support of Full Day Kindergarten. See Machado Cert., Exhibit B.

5. On or about December 3, 2015, fifteen citizens, including respondent filed suit naming the Township Clerk, Paul V. Margiotta, as the official responsible for certifying the election results of the township as the respondent and sought to have the results of the public question set aside due to alleged illegal electioneering on the part of poll workers. See Machado Cert., Exhibit C ("Complaint").

6. On January 7, 2016, at the Board Organizational Meeting, six of the eight Board members voted to approve a motion to implement full-day kindergarten in all nine elementary schools for the 2016/2017 school year within the 2016/2017 budget. The motion was offered by Christian Smith and seconded by respondent. In stating her reasons for supporting the motion, respondent advised that it "is our job, that is what you voted for us to do, and that is the administration's job to find a way" to implement Full Day Kindergarten and cut "whatever we need to cut" to keep the program within the 2% tax levy cap. Id. Furthermore, she stated "it is our job to inform the administration the needs and wants of the community, as boards and trustees." See Machado Cert., Exhibit D.

7. At the January 21, 2016, Board meeting, both the Wayne Superintendent and the Interim Executive County Superintendent spoke to the members concerning budgetary constraints. Both expressed opinions that full-day kindergarten could not be implemented within the cap without impacting mandatory and other programs.

8. At the March 3rd and 14th meetings of the Board, the budget was presented and debated. There was concern expressed about some loss of State funding. Respondent questioned the priorities within the budget and some specific line items. See Machado Cert., Exhibits F and G.

9. After hearing administration's concerns, at the March 14th meeting, the Board voted seven to two to rescind the earlier vote to implement full-day kindergarten within the then-current proposed school budget. See Machado Cert., Exhibit G.

10. On March 17, 2016, the Board ultimately agreed to again place a question on the ballot regarding adding the cost of full-day kindergarten above the then-current school budget funding limit, by a unanimous vote. See Machado Cert., Exhibit H.

11. On or about April 16, 2016, Robert DeGroot, Esq., filed an Order to Show Cause, Certification, and accompanying Petition, identical to the December 2015

Petition, seeking redress to invalidate the November 2015 election results. Prior thereto, DeGroot had concluded that the Complaint was moot as a result of the January vote. The Order to Show Cause was filed because of the vote of the Board rescinding that action. Respondent did not have direct knowledge that an Order to Show Cause would be filed.

12. On or about June 8, 2016, the Board was served with a copy of the Complaint and a Summons. See Machado Cert., Exhibit I. Several days later, the Board was served with a copy of the Order to Show Cause and Petition, filed by the Superior Court under a separate docket number. See Machado Cert., Exhibit K. The service of these court papers was undertaken at the request of the Court Clerk. See Certification of Roger DeGroot, Esq., ¶ 7.

13. At no time relevant to these events did respondent advise the Board that she had been a signatory on the original Complaint to rescind the prior full-day kindergarten ballot question due to improper electioneering.

14. At a June 16, 2016, the Board passed a resolution directing counsel to file a complaint with the School Ethics Commission and a Petition with the Commissioner of Education to disqualify respondent from membership on the Board. Respondent notes that the resolution was passed without giving an opportunity for the respondent to answer any concerns or accusations of the Board members. Additionally, it appears the vote was taken under the mistaken premise that respondent filed an action against the Board.

15. On or about June 17, 2016, a Petition for Disqualification was filed with the Commissioner of Education, which was then transmitted to the OAL as the within matter.

16. Plaintiffs voluntarily withdrew the Complaint on June 26, 2016, after the decision was made to place the question again on the ballot. See Machado Cert., Exhibit O.

17. Respondent filed an answer to said Petition to Disqualify on July 6, 2016. See Machado Cert., Exhibit N.

18. On or about June 24, 2016, respondent was photographed with members of a Facebook group named "Wayne Say OK to Full Day K" at a fundraising event open to the public at an art studio named "Pinot's Palette." See Machado Cert., Exhibit M.

To the extent that the parties have not expressly admitted to all the material facts, I add the following which are material but are established as a matter of documentation and public record and should not be deemed in dispute:

1. The Board of Education of the Township of Wayne was not a party to nor named in the complaint filed to set aside the results of the public ballot question.

2. Neither respondent nor her counsel have any control over the Superior Court's Clerk Office or automated case management system.

LEGAL DISCUSSION

It is well-established that if there is no genuine issue as to any material fact, a moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. Brill v. The Guardian Life Insurance Co. of America, 142 N.J. 520, 540 (1995). The purpose of summary decision is to avoid unnecessary hearings and their concomitant burden on public resources. Under the Brill standard, a fact-finding hearing should be avoided "when the evidence is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law." Brill guides us thusly:

> [A] determination whether there exists a "genuine issue" of material fact that precludes summary judgment requires the motion judge to consider whether the competent evidential > materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to permit a rational factfinder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party.

>
> [Id. at 540]

In explaining the standard to be applied in summary motion practice, the Brill Court explained:

> The same standard applies to determine whether a prima facie case has been established by the party bearing the burden of proof in a trial. . . . If a case involves no material factual disputes, the court disposes of it as a matter of law by rendering judgment in favor of the moving or non-moving party.
>
> [Id. at 536-37]

As a result of the agreement on the material facts, I CONCLUDE that the issue of any disqualifying offense by respondent can be decided as a matter of law.

The Board asserts ethics violations in the companion dispute, of which it has also provided supporting documentation notwithstanding that it was not consolidated herein, under two statutory provisions applicable to Board members, which provide as follows:

> N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24. Conflicts of interest
>
> a. No school official or member of his immediate family shall have an interest in a business organization or engage in any business, transaction, or professional activity, which is in substantial conflict with the proper discharge of his duties in the public interest;
>
> b. No school official shall use or attempt to use his official position to secure unwarranted privileges, advantages or employment for himself, members of his immediate family or others;
>
> c. No school official shall act in his official capacity in any matter where he, a member of his immediate family, or a business organization in which he has an interest, has a direct or indirect financial involvement that might reasonably be expected to impair his objectivity or independence of judgment. No school official shall act in his official capacity in any matter where he or a member of his immediate family has a personal involvement that is or creates some benefit to the school official or member of his immediate family;

d. No school official shall undertake any employment or service, whether compensated or not, which might reasonably be expected to prejudice his independence of judgment in the exercise of his official duties;

e. No school official, or member of his immediate family, or business organization in which he has an interest, shall solicit or accept any gift, favor, loan, political contribution, service, promise of future employment, or other thing of value based upon an understanding that the gift, favor, loan, contribution, service, promise, or other thing of value was given or offered for the purpose of influencing him, directly or indirectly, in the discharge of his official duties. This provision shall not apply to the solicitation or acceptance of contributions to the campaign of an announced candidate for elective public office, if the school official has no knowledge or reason to believe that the campaign contribution, if accepted, was given with the intent to influence the school official in the discharge of his official duties;

f. No school official shall use, or allow to be used, his public office or employment, or any information, not generally available to the members of the public, which he receives or acquires in the course of and by reason of his office or employment, for the purpose of securing financial gain for himself, any member of his immediate family, or any business organization with which he is associated;

g. No school official or business organization in which he has an interest shall represent any person or party other than the school board or school district in connection with any cause, proceeding, application or other matter pending before the school district in which he serves or in any proceeding involving the school district in which he serves or, for officers or employees of the New Jersey School Boards Association, any school district. This provision shall not be deemed to prohibit representation within the context of official labor union or similar representational responsibilities;

h. No school official shall be deemed in conflict with these provisions if, by reason of his participation in any matter required to be voted upon, no material or monetary gain accrues to him as a member of any business, profession, occupation or group, to any greater extent than any gain could reasonably be expected to accrue to any other member of that business, profession, occupation or group;

And:

N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1. Code of Ethics for School Board Members

A school board member shall abide by the following Code of Ethics for School Board Members:

a. I will uphold and enforce all laws, rules and regulations of the State Board of Education, and court orders pertaining to schools. Desired changes shall be brought about only through legal and ethical procedures.

b. I will make decisions in terms of the educational welfare of children and will seek to develop and maintain public schools that meet the individual needs of all children regardless of their ability, race, creed, sex, or social standing.

c. I will confine my board action to policy making, planning, and appraisal, and I will help to frame policies and plans only after the board has consulted those who will be affected by them.

d. I will carry out my responsibility, not to administer the schools, but, together with my fellow board members, to see that they are well run.

e. I will recognize that authority rests with the board of education and will make no personal promises nor take any private action that may compromise the board.

f. I will refuse to surrender my independent judgment to special interest or partisan political groups or to use the schools for personal gain or for the gain of friends.

g. I will hold confidential all matters pertaining to the schools which, if disclosed, would needlessly injure individuals or the schools. In all other matters, I will provide accurate information and, in concert with my fellow board > members, interpret to the staff the aspirations of the community for its school.

>
> h. I will vote to appoint the best qualified personnel available after consideration of the recommendation of the chief administrative officer.
>
> i. I will support and protect school personnel in proper performance of their duties.
> j. I will refer all complaints to the chief administrative officer and will act on the complaints at public meetings only after failure of an administrative solution.

Frankly, I am shocked at the level of vitriol that has been on display just in the papers filed in this matter. I am also shocked at the suggestion that a citizen who has been elected to a Board is expected to leave his or her opinions at the door notwithstanding he or she campaigned on specific concerns and issues, and notwithstanding the retention of free speech rights under the First Amendment. Respondent is passionate about full-day kindergarten for Wayne's children. Petitioner is correct that this case is not about the correctness of that position; nor will this matter reach any conclusion on that local subject. Yet, no member who is part of a minority of persons holding a certain viewpoint on an issue of local concern is stifled from expressing those views by any ethical code so long as those views are expressed in an appropriate manner, i.e., without profanity or libelous speech, or for an inappropriate reason, i.e., personal gain.

Petitioner seeks to disqualify and remove respondent from the Board for holding an opinion on a public issue over which clearly reasonable people could disagree, and for speaking her mind on that issue while sitting in Board meetings. Query what was the point of being elected to the Board if holding the minority or even an unpopular point of view is prohibited? No other Board member who voted similarly to respondent has been subjected to charges of unethical behavior before the Commission so far as I can discern. For example, the allegations of the Amended School Ethics Complaint would have findings of violations entered for the acts of debate and vote as a Board member during a Board meeting – Violations Four, Five, Six, Seven, and Eight. Other allegations split hairs or puff up repetitive charges, including Violations Two, Three and

Six. Violation One alleges unethical conduct on the part of respondent because she privately contributed money for a campaign to support full-day kindergarten; she visited a booth in support of full-day kindergarten at Wayne Day; and she was at a public art studio for a fundraising event for full-day kindergarten and was photographed with a pro-full-day kindergarten group of citizens. None of those actions is alleged to have occurred as a result of respondent representing herself as a Board member as opposed to acting as a private citizen. Violation Ten cites hearsay contained in newspaper reports of the dispute between the parties hereto and statements of her attorney as evidence of negative comments attempting to smear other members of the Board. Violation Nine is an allegation that she failed to properly serve her pro se request for an advisory opinion from the Commission (after this dispute had already ripened).[2]

While the Board argues that the enumerated words spoken and actions taken by respondent violates N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2, because of an alleged inconsistent interest. That statute provides in pertinent part: "No member of any board of education shall be interested directly or indirectly in any contract with or claim against the board, . . .," it has failed to support its argument with evidence of any contract with or claim against. In fact, the ethics proscriptions in Section 24.1 includes the statement "I will refuse to surrender my independent judgment to special interest or partisan political groups or to use the schools for personal gain or for the gain of friends." Respondent retained her independent judgment and nothing to the contrary presented by the Board indicates that she abdicated it for her gain or the gain of others. The only change respondent was seeking to make was to establish full-day kindergarten in Wayne and she tried to do so by exercising her right to lobby her fellow members through debate and discussion.

With respect to the issue of respondent signing on to the Complaint, petitioner has also exaggerated both the facts and their significance. Respondent correctly asserts that she was just one of the fifteen citizens who signed the Complaint, the number needed to mount an election challenge under Title 19. She is also correct in stating that the Board was not a party to that litigation, no matter what a clerk might say or a computerized summary might display. This was not a lawsuit filed to force the Board to install full-day kindergarten. This was a lawsuit to invalidate the results of a public question on the ballot. That the subject matter of the public question involved the school budget and its 2% cap is not relevant to that lawsuit or this one.

I could reach the conclusion that respondent should have erred on the side of caution and not become a signatory plaintiff to the Complaint, but in no other manner or fashion did she violate the ethical restraints upon Board members. The Commission has recognized that "board members do not surrender the rights that they have as citizens such as freedom of speech" due to their board membership but, in exercising those rights, a board member must comply with the standards set forth in the School Ethics Act. SEC Advisory Opinion, A02-06 (March 10, 2006). I CONCLUDE as a matter of law and undisputed facts that petitioner has failed to support these allegations. Moreover, even if it had, the relief sought by petitioner should be seen as extreme and extremely inappropriate.

Again, the Board seeks to disqualify and remove respondent on the basis of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2, because of alleged inconsistent interests. That statute provides in pertinent part: "No member of any board of education shall be interested directly or indirectly in any contract with or claim against the board, . . ." The Supreme Court of New Jersey has interpreted Section 2 to require a "substantial conflict" in order to support a removal of a duly-elected member of a Board of Education:

> Accordingly, the Commissioner's decisions examining claims by board members have discussed the relevance of determining whether the member was pursuing a claim in the public interest rather than "personal aggrandizement and enrichment," Bd. of Educ. of Newark v. Brown, 1984 S.L.D. 671, 680 (Comm'r of Educ.), aff'd, 1984 S.L.D. 683 (St. Bd. of Educ.), and such other considerations as whether the claim giving rise to the conflict of interest promised "substantial and material benefit" to the claimant. Id. at 681 (internal quotation marks omitted). We note further that, in one decision, the Commissioner specifically rejected the argument that N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2 requires automatic > disqualification for "any" claim against a board. See id. at 679, 681 (citing Hogan v. Bd. of Educ. of Kearny, 1982 S.L.D. 329(ALJ), aff'd, 1982 S.L.D. 354 (Comm'r of Educ.) (permitting abstention to remedy circumstances where "claim" against board involved reimbursement of legal fees incurred in Open Public Meetings Act lawsuit filed by member), aff'd, 1982 S.L.D. 356 (St. Bd. of Educ.)).

>
> In sum, we find that the Commissioner's applications of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2 demonstrate a willingness to engage in a careful examination of a board member's asserted conflicting interest in a claim against a board and, further, to find that not all claims in which a board member has an interest constitute a "substantial conflict" requiring removal from office as the sole remedy.
> [Bd. of Educ. of City of Sea Isle City v. Kennedy, 196 N.J. 1, 15-16 (2008)]

Here, respondent did not sue or file a complaint against the Board of which she was a member. She and fourteen other citizens sought Superior Court review of the election process on the public question. She gained nothing and had no pecuniary interest, such as a family business, adverse to the Board. Nothing I have read requires respondent to sit home from Wayne Day or other cultural events in the community. Moreover, a more careful inquiry by the Board would have revealed that the Complaint was an election law challenge to obtain an order to the municipal clerk to void the election results. Only the subject matter of the public question implicated Board interests. Nevertheless, respondent might have appeared to be challenging her Board in this litigation by the general public of Wayne. It is a very weak claim by petitioner that I CONCLUDE should be thrown out entirely. Respondent has every right to remain on the Board on behalf of the citizens who voted for her, no doubt because they agree with her passionate stance about kindergarten.

I would remind all parties that "[d]iscussion in America means dissent." James Thurber. We should welcome different views on important school policies such as full-day kindergarten because "[f]reedom is hammered out on the anvil of discussion, dissent, and debate." Hubert H. Humphrey

It is ORDERED that the motion of respondent Catherine Kazan for an Order Granting Summary decision is hereby GRANTED. It is further ORDERED that the cross-motion of petitioner Board of Education of the Township of Wayne for an Order Granting Summary Decision is hereby DENIED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

V.	:	ORDER
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF UNION, UNION COUNTY,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

On July 8, 2015, a final agency decision was rendered in this matter, wherein the Commissioner found S.L. liable for tuition in the amount of Sixty Four Thousand Four Hundred Ninety Nine Dollars and Forty Cents ($64,499.40), representing tuition for a period of ineligible attendance by her children, J.L., J.L., and O.L., in the Board's school district during the 2013-2014 and 2014-2015 school years. The Board subsequently notified the Commissioner that S.L. had failed to comply with the decision and it requested that the Commissioner seek entry of the assessments on the judgment docket of the Superior Court pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2A:58-10. S.L. offered no reasons why the judgment against her should not be so docketed, although given an opportunity by this agency to do so.

Accordingly, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2A:58-10, Sayoka Lewis is now subject to entry of a judgment by the court in the amount of $64,499.40, which represents the payment ordered at the conclusion of the case before the Commissioner, with interest to accrue as provided by law.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF LAURITHA LANE,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF	:	DECISION
THE CITY OF NEWARK, ESSEX COUNTY.	:

The record of this matter, along with the parties' proposed Settlement Agreement and General Release, have been reviewed. The Commissioner finds that the proposed Agreement – a term of which is respondent's resignation from employment in petitioner's district – is consistent with the established standards governing settlement of tenure matters contained within In re Cardonick, decided by the Commissioner April 7, 1982, aff'd State Board April 6, 1983, 1990 S.L.D. 842, 846, and as incorporated in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6.

The Commissioner notes that the settlement indicates respondent will resign effective February 10, 2017. The parties are reminded that a settlement of litigation before the Commissioner is not binding until the Commissioner approves the proposed terms.

In light of the foregoing, the parties' settlement is hereby approved and the tenure matter dismissed – subject to compliance with the terms of the Agreement – provided that the parties have already implemented the settlement terms, or have agreed upon a mutually satisfactory alternate date for the effectuation of same.

Attorneys for State-Operated School
District of the City of Newark

IN RE	:
LAURITHA LANE	:
and the	:	SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT
STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF NEWARK,	:

The parties involved herein have voluntarily resolved all disputed matters and enter into the following Settlement Agreement (the "Settlement") that fully disposes of all issues in controversy between Lauritha Lane ("Lane") and the State-Operated School District of the City of Newark ("the District"):

1. Lane hereby agrees to resign from her tenured position effective February 10, 2017. Attached is a copy of Lane's signed Letter of Resignation (Exhibit A). Lane's separation from employment will be deemed a voluntary resignation in good standing. Upon inquiry from any third parties, the District will only confirm Lane's employment, position, title, salary and dates of employment.
2. Lane also agrees to withdraw with prejudice any and all claims or suits that he may have previously filed against the District that are still pending in any and all courts and/or before any and all agencies, with the exception of workers compensation claims. The Settlement is intended to be the final resolution of all outstanding matters between the District and Lane. Should Lane fail to submit letters of withdrawals for any such pending claims or suits, this Settlement Agreement will serve as Lane's formal written notice of withdrawal of those pending claims or suits, except for workers' compensation claims.

3. In exchange, commencing November 1, 2016, Lane will be placed on administrative leave with pay until the date of her effective resignation. Should Lane obtain employment with another entity prior to her date of effective resignation, the District will remove Lane from administrative leave with pay status and process her resignation to be effective the date she obtained subsequent employment and Lane will cease receiving any salary from the District thereafter. Other than the salary that she receives until the date of her resignation, Lane will not receive any further monies from the District in exchange for this Settlement Agreement.
4. The District also agrees not to pursue any disciplinary action, including termination of Lane's employment so long as this Settlement Agreement remains in effect and is not voided by any court or administrative agency of competent jurisdiction. However, if the Settlement Agreement is voided, the District retains the right to pursue disciplinary action against Lane including termination from the District.
5. As of the date of her resignation, all of Lane's employment rights, including, but not limited to salary, insurance coverage, tenure and seniority, will permanently end.
6. Lane agrees that she will not apply for reemployment with the District at any time. Specifically, Lane will be considered to have permanently retired from her tenured position as a result of this Settlement Agreement. If Lane does apply for reemployment with the District and is approved for employment, the terms of this Settlement shall control and be grounds for immediate termination of Lane's employment.
7. This Settlement shall not constitute a precedent in any matters involving other employees.
8. Except as noted above, Lane waives all claims of any nature against the District with regard to her employment with and/or separation from the District including fees, or other monetary relief, with the exception of workers' compensation claims.

9. By entering into this Settlement, and in exchange for the good consideration set forth in Paragraph 3 and 4 above, the sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged by the parties, Lane releases and discharges the District, the State District Superintendent, its Advisory Board of Education and its Advisory Board members, and any and all other District officers, employees, representatives, agents, successors and assigns (collectively, the "Released Parties") with respect to all claims or rights that he has or may have against the District regarding her employment. This release and discharge includes, without limitation, any and all actions, claims and liabilities of whatsoever kind or character, in law or in equity, now known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, directly or indirectly related to Lane's employment with the District and separation from the District. It specifically includes, without limitation, all claims which Lane may have regarding tenure, withholding of increment, discrimination on any basis, any federal or state civil rights law, any alleged violation of the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, as amended; the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act; Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964; as amended; Sections 1981 through 1988 of Title 42 of the United States Code; the Civil Rights Act of 1991; the Equal Pay Act; the Americans with Disabilities Act; the Rehabilitation Act; the Family and Medical Leave Act; the Fair Labor Standards Act; the Employment Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended; the Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act; the National Labor Relations Act; the Fair Credit Reporting Act; the Occupational Safety and Health Act; the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Act; the Employment Polygraph Protection Act; the Immigration Reform Control Act; the retaliation provisions of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002; the Federal False Claims Act; the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination; the Conscientious Employee Protection Act; the New Jersey Family Leave Act; the New Jersey Wage and Hour Law; the New Jersey Equal Pay Law; the New Jersey Occupational Safety and Health Law; the New Jersey Smokers' Rights Law; the New Jersey Genetic Privacy Act; the New Jersey Fair Credit Reporting Act; New Jersey Wages and Hours Law, unemployment compensations laws, disability benefits laws, the retaliation provisions of the New Jersey Workers' Compensation Law (and including any and all amendments to the above), the United States Constitution, the New Jersey Constitution and/or any other alleged violation of any federal, state or local law, regulation or ordinance, common law and/or contract or implied contract or collective bargaining/contractual claim or tort law or public policy or whistleblower claim, having any bearing whatsoever on her employment by and the termination of her employment with the District, including, but not limited to, any claim for wrongful discharge, back pay, front pay, vacation pay, sick pay, wage, commission or bonus payment, attorneys fees, costs, and/or future wage loss, except for worker compensation claims.

10. Notwithstanding Paragraph 9 of this Settlement, it is understood and agreed that the parties are not prohibited from communicating with or participating in any administrative proceeding before the United States Department of Labor, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, or any other federal, state or local law agency. Should any entity, agency commission or person file a charge, action, complaint or lawsuit against the District based upon any of the above-released claims in Paragraph 9, Lane agrees not to seek or accept any resulting relief whatsoever.

11. To comply with the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act of 1990, if applicable, this Agreement advised Lane of the legal requirements of the Act and fully incorporates the legal requirements by reference into this Agreement. Accordingly, by executing this Agreement, Lane acknowledges that he: (i) fully understands the terms and conditions of this Agreement; (ii) has consulted with an attorney to review the Agreement; (iii) specifically waives his right to pursue any current claims he may have under the Age Discrimination in Employment Act; (iv) has seven (7) days from the date of the execution of this Agreement to revoke it. Lane understands that she may rescind this Agreement within seven (7) calendar days of signing it and such rescission must be in writing and delivered to counsel for the District either by hand or by certified mail within the seven-day period.

12. The parties respectively acknowledge that counsel has advised them regarding this Settlement and that each is signing this Settlement freely and voluntarily, without duress, coercion or pressure from the other party.

13. This Settlement constitutes the full agreement of the parties and shall be construed and enforced in accordance with New Jersey law.

14. If any provision or portion of a provision of this Settlement is held by a court of competent jurisdiction or determined under applicable federal or state law to be invalid, void or unenforceable, the remaining provisions or remaining portions of a provision will continue and remain in full force and effect.

15. This Settlement is subject to final approval by the State District Superintendent of the State-Operated School District of the City of Newark and will only become effective upon the approval of the Superintendent. Any disapproval by the Superintendent shall not interfere with the rights of either party to pursue this matter further.

Re: Calafiore v. Union County Ed. Serv. Comm.
OAL Docket No. EDU 11405-2016N
Agency Ref. No. 223-8/14

Dear Judge Pasquale:

As you know, our firm represents the Respondent Union County Educational Services Commission ("Commission") in the above matter. During our telephone conference held on November 16, 2016, it was agreed that the Commission would file its Motion to Dismiss by today. The parties have amicably settled this case following the telephone conference. Pursuant to this tribunal's November 21, 2016 prehearing order, we enclose a copy of the settlement agreement for your Honor's file. Based upon the terms of the agreement and discussions with Petitioner's counsel (Nicholas Poberezhsky, Esq.), it is our understanding that Petitioner will be promptly withdrawing his pending Amended Petition.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Respectfully Submitted,

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND RELEASE

This Settlement Agreement and Release (hereinafter referred to as the "Agreement") is entered into this 7th day of December 2016, between the Union County Educational Services Commission (hereinafter referred to as the "Commission") and Sergio Calafiore (hereinafter referred to as "Calafiore").

WHEREAS, Calafiore was employed as a Teacher of Food Services by the Commission prior to the abolishment of his position effective July 1, 2014; and

WHEREAS, Calafiore filed a retirement application with the Division of Pensions and Benefits that became effective on November 1, 2014; and

WHEREAS, on August 13, 2014, Calafiore filed a Petition with the Commissioner of Education to challenge the Commission's reduction in force and abolishment of his position [OAL Docket No. EDU 12005-14, Agency Ref. No. 223-8/14]; and

WHEREAS, on April 15, 2015, Calafiore moved to amend his Petition to include a seniority rights claim; and

WHEREAS, on June 16, 2016, the Hon. Irene Jones, ALJ granted the Commission's Motion for Summary Decision upholding the Commission's decision to abolish Calafiore's position, and denied Calafiore's motion to amend his Petition to include a seniority rights claim; and

WHEREAS, on July 28, 2016, the Commissioner of Education affirmed Judge Jones's decision regarding the Commission's abolishment of Calafiore's position, but reversed Judge Jones's determination on Calafiore's motion to amend his Petition, and remanded Calafiore's claim to the Office of Administrative Law for a determination as to whether Calafiore is entitled to a position with the Commission by virtue of his seniority rights; and

WHEREAS, on remand the matter was assigned to the Hon. Danielle Pasquale, ALJ [OAL Docket No. EDU 11405-16, Agency Ref No. 223-8/14]; and

WHEREAS, on September 16, 2016, Calafiore resubmitted his Amended Petition for Relief; and

WHEREAS, on November 8, 2016, Calafiore filed his Second Amended Petition; and

WHEREAS, the Commission disputes Calafiore's claim of entitlement to a position with the Commission by virtue of his alleged seniority rights; and

WHEREAS, the parties are desirous to amicably resolve the matter without further litigation.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration for the premises and conditions set forth herein, the Commission and Calafiore agree as follows:

1. TERMS.

A. Calafiore will immediately dismiss with prejudice the Second Amended Petition currently pending against the Commission [OAL Docket No. EDU 11405-16, Agency Ref No. 223-8/14]. Calafiore further agrees not to file a new claim, in any forum, regarding any of the allegations raised in his original and/or amended petitions against any individuals or entities affiliated with the Commission, as further detailed in the "Complete Release" section below.

B. Calafiore will receive the total sum of $3,750.00, inclusive of attorneys' fees in settlement of this matter. The Commission's payment to Calafiore will be subject to applicable tax withholdings, and the Commission will issue a W-2 form to Calafiore for this payment.

C. The parties agree that they are only responsible for their respective attorneys' fees incurred to date. Calafiore agrees that if he should file a claim in a court of competent jurisdiction and/or administrative action relating to the terms set forth in this Agreement (with the exception of any action necessary to enforce the terms of this Agreement), the Commission may seek reasonable attorneys' fees incurred in defending against said litigation, as further provided for in subsection 2b below.

D. The Commission agrees to provide Calafiore with a neutral letter of reference by providing his title and dates of service only.

E. The terms of this Agreement are subject to formal acceptance and ratification by the Commission.

2. COMPLETE RELEASE.

a. In consideration of the settlement hereinabove, Calafiore, his heirs, assigns and agents hereby agree to release, waive and discharge the Commission, its affiliated departments, and its officers, trustees, agents, employees, former employees, current and former elected officials, current and former attorneys, successors and assigns (hereinafter collectively referred to as the "Releasees") from each and every claim, demand, cause of action, obligation, damage, complaint, or action or writ of any kind, nature, character or description that Calafiore had, now has, or may in the future have against the Releasees on account of or arising out of the Petition or any matter that, has happened, developed or occurred prior to the date of this Agreement. This Complete Release includes, but is not limited to, any claim, demand, cause of action, obligation, claim for damages of any kind, complaint, expense, compensation, or action or writ of any kind, nature, character or description arising out of or under Federal, State or municipal statute or ordinance and any other law (whether such be common law, decisional law or statutory law), rule, regulation, executive order or guideline, and any and all claims for attorney's fees and costs arising from the above acts including, but not limited to:

i. Any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of or under the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination (LAD) which, among other things, prohibits discrimination in employment on the basis of an individual's race, creed, color, religion, sex, national origin, ancestry, age, marital status, affectional or sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, familial status, disability or nationality, or liability for service, in the Armed Forces of the United States.

ii. Any federal claim, cause of action demand or complaint arising out of or under the Federal Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (Title VII) or the Civil Rights Act of 1991, as amended, which, among other things, prohibit discrimination in employment on account of a person's race, color, religion, sex, or national origin.

iii. Any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of or under the Federal Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967, as amended (ADEA), which among other things, prohibits discrimination in employment on account of a person's age.

iv. Any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of or under the Federal Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), which, among other things, prohibits discrimination in employment on account of a person's disability or handicap.

v. Any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of or under the Federal Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) which, among other things, entitles an employee to take reasonable leave for medical reasons for the birth or adoption of a child, and for the care of a child; spouse or parent who has a serious health condition and any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of under the New Jersey Family Leave Act (NJFLA).

vi. Any claim, cause of action demand or complaint arising out of or under the Federal Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended, which among other things, prohibits discrimination in employment by Federal contractors against individuals with disabilities.

vii. Any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of or under the Federal Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended (ERISA), which among other things, regulates pension and welfare plans and prohibits interference with individual rights protected under that statute.

viii. Any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of or under the Federal Older Workers Benefit Protection Act (OWBPA) which, among other things, amends provisions of ADEA and prohibits discrimination in employment and employment benefits on account of a person's age.

ix. Any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of or under the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) or the New Jersey Equal Pay Act.

x. Any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of or under the Conscientious Employee Protection Act (CEPA).

b. Calafiore specifically acknowledges he has not filed and shall not hereafter file any claim, charge or complaint of any nature against Releasees with the New Jersey Division on Civil Rights, the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) or with any Federal, State or local court or agency against the Commission or the Releasees for any events preceding the ratification of this Agreement. If Calafiore violates this Complete Release by filing any claim, charge or complaint as prohibited by this Agreement, Calafiore agrees to pay all costs and expenses of defending against the suit incurred by the Commission and/or the Releasees, including reasonable attorneys' fees.

3. CONSULTATION WITH ATTORNEY.

Calafiore has consulted with his legal counsel with respect to this Agreement, and has reviewed with his attorney all of the terms and conditions of this Agreement prior to executing this Agreement.

4. COMPLETE AGREEMENT.

This Agreement contains the entire agreement between Calafiore and the Commission with respect to the subject matter and supersedes all prior agreements, understandings and/or dealings whether written or otherwise with respect to the same subject matter. There is no agreement on the part of the Commission to do anything other than what is expressly stated in this Agreement. This Agreement shall in all respects be interpreted, enforced and governed by the Laws of the State of New Jersey.

5. MODIFICATION.

No modification or amendment of this Agreement will be enforceable unless it is in writing and signed by the party to be charged.

6. SEVERABILITY.

Should any provision of this Agreement be declared or determined by any court of competent jurisdiction to be illegal, invalid or unenforceable, the legality, validity, and enforceability of the remaining parts, terms, or provisions shall not be affected thereby and said illegal, unenforceable or invalid part, term, or provision shall be deemed not part of this Agreement.

7. ATTESTATION.

Calafiore represents and warrants that he has carefully read each and every provision of this Agreement and that he fully understands all of the terms and conditions contained in each provision of this Agreement. Calafiore represents and warrants that he enters into this Agreement voluntarily, of his own free will, without any pressure or coercion from any person or entity including, but not limited to, the Commission and the Releasees.

8. NON-ADMISSION OF LIABILITY.

This Agreement is executed and all consideration is given in final settlement of disputed claims and shall not be construed as an admission of any allegation or of liability by the Commission, and any such liability is expressly denied.

9. FUTURE EMPLOYMENT.

Calafiore acknowledges that his relationship with the Commission has been permanently and irrevocably severed. Calafiore agrees that he will not at any time hereafter apply for employment or reemployment with the Commission, nor shall he accept any employment with the Commission.

10. NON-PRECEDENTIAL.

It is understood between and among all parties hereto that the terms of this settlement shall not have any precedential effect or constitute binding practice by the Commission.

11. REVOCATION.

Calafiore may revoke this Agreement within seven days after the date this Agreement is signed by Calafiore. This revocation must take the form of written notice by Calafiore that he intends to revoke the Agreement. The revocation must be provided directly to the Commission. This seven day revocation period may not be waived by Calafiore.

12. REASONABLE PERIOD OF TIME.

Calafiore agrees that he has been given a reasonable period of time of at least 21 days within which to review and consider this Agreement prior to executing this Agreement, but that Calafiore may waive this 21 day period by signing in the space provided at the end of this Agreement.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, and intending to be legally bound hereby, I, Sergio Calafiore, execute the foregoing Agreement this 7th day of December, 2016.

The record, proposed settlement agreement and release, and Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed – mindful of the Commissioner's March 17, 2017 determination that the settlement agreement previously submitted did not comply with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.13, as it was neither signed by the Board's attorney, nor contained a copy of the Board's resolution approving the settlement. Since there is now a Board resolution approving the settlement, the Commissioner can approve the within settlement agreement in its present form.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision recommending approval of the parties' settlement as the final decision in this matter is hereby adopted, and the matter is dismissed subject to compliance with the terms of the settlement.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The within matter, captioned under OAL Dkt. No. EDU 14271-16, was remanded by the Department of Education Bureau of Controversies and Disputes to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) due to the absence of a Board resolution approving the settlement. On March 21, 2017, the Clerk of the OAL received and filed this remanded matter and thereafter the undersigned acquired from the Board's attorney the original Board Resolution which is attached hereto along with the Stipulation of Settlement indicating the terms of agreement.

Having reviewed the Board Resolution and Stipulation of Settlement terms, I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or the signatures of their representatives.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this Board Resolution along with the Settlement Agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.13 and N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that settlement should be approved. Accordingly, I approve the settlement and ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

MS. ANNA VLADI, ON BEHALF OF HER MINOR DAUGHTER, LEENA PRAKHINA, Petitioner, v. THE BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE VOCATIONAL SCHOOLS IN THE COUNTY OF BERGEN, Respondent.	AGENCY DKT. NO. 188-7/16 SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND RELEASE

This Settlement Agreement and Release ("Agreement") is entered into by and between Ms. Anna Vladi on behalf of her minor daughter, Leena Prakhina (hereinafter "Petitioners" or "Student") and the Board of Education of Vocational Schools in the County of Bergen (hereinafter "District").

WHEREAS the Student has filed a Petition for review with the Commissioner of Education against District, with the Petition bearing Agency Docket No. 188-7/16; and

WHEREAS, the Parties desire to resolve their differences rather than proceeding forward with any further litigation, or incurring any further attendant costs of any litigation as well as any hearing and appeal, and without any admissions of wrongdoing by either Party; and

WHEREAS the parties have consulted with their respective attorneys prior to executing this Agreement and have had an adequate opportunity within which to consider the Agreement; and

WHEREAS, in consideration of the mutual covenants and promises contained herein and intending to be legally bound, the parties mutually agree as follows:

(1) The District shall within 15 days of the date of this Agreement revise the appropriate entry in the District's Powerschool system so that the sole reference therein to the alleged disciplinary infraction in any file or document relating to the Student will state as follows: "The student received a 2 day out-of-school suspension because she admitted to momentary possession of a piece of marijuana brownie handed to her by another student on school premises. No evidence of distribution or use of the substance was found."

(2) The District shall provide Petitioners with a written copy of the revised Powerschool entry within 15 days of the date of this Agreement. The District agrees that in the event that it is contacted by, or receives any request for student records from, any college or post-secondary institution, it shall provide only the statement set forth in Paragraph 1 herein.

(3) Subject to the limitations set forth in this Paragraph, the Petitioners hereby waive release any and all claims they had or may have had against the District on the date of this Settlement Agreement and Release, known or unknown, arising from the beginning of time to the date of this Agreement, under Federal or State statutory or common law. This Release inures to the benefit of, and is binding on, all agents, subsidiaries, successors, heirs or any other related entity of the Parties and shall specifically apply only to claims resulting from the following:

> Any and all claims, demands, damages, etc. that Petitioners asserted or could have asserted against the District in the matter of Anna Vladi o/b/o L.P. v. Board of Education of the Vocational Schools in the County of Bergen filed with the Commissioner of Education and bearing Agency Dkt. No. 188-7/16

(4) Each Party is responsible for their own costs and attorney's fees. Each party waives any and all claims for attorneys' fees, costs and expenses against District which Petitoners or their counsel have/has incurred in connection with this action or in connection with any claim against the District.

(5) The Parties have consulted with counsel with respect to this Settlement Agreement and Release and enter into this Agreement under their free will without duress of any kind.

(6) This Settlement Agreement and Release represents the full understanding of the Parties and supersedes any other written or oral understandings. This Agreement can only be modified by a writing that is executed by both Parties.

(7) This Agreement can be signed in counterparts, with each counterpart having the full force and effect of a fully executed original.

(8) The District warrants that the individual designated to sign this Agreement on behalf of the District has full authority to sign for and bind the District to this Agreement.

(9) Petitioners acknowledge that the settlement of this matter is contingent upon foregoing any litigation relating to this claim and upon the execution, by Petitioner(s), of a Withdrawal of Petition in the form attached herewith as Exhibit "A."

(10) The individuals executing this Agreement represent and warrant that each is authorized to make, execute and deliver this Agreement, that each has been represented by counsel and has been fully apprised of and understands all of the terms of this Agreement and the legal ramifications of the entry into the same.

Execution of this document constitutes agreement with all of the terms and conditions above:

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE LAKELAND REGIONAL HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT, PASSAIC COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner filed a pro se residency appeal on behalf of her son, E.J.G., seeking a determination that E.J.G. is entitled to a free public education in the Lakeland Regional High School District. The respondent Board alleged that petitioner resides in Lincoln Park, which is not a part of the Lakeland Regional High School District.

The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) and a pre-hearing conference was scheduled for March 28, 2017. Petitioner failed to appear at the scheduled hearing. The OAL sent a notice of petitioner's failure to appear to the Commissioner on March 30, 2017, and subsequently returned the file to this agency. Correspondence from petitioner explaining her failure to appear was received by the Commissioner on April 13, 2017.

Upon review, the Commissioner found that the petitioner asserted that she had called the OAL on March 28 when she did not receive a call from the OAL for the 3:30 prehearing telephone conference. Petitioner asserted that she was told that she would receive a notice by mail with a new prehearing conference date. When no notice was received, she contacted the OAL and was told the file had been returned to the Department of Education. Based on the petitioner's timely written explanation for her nonappearance and her assertion that she had called regarding the status of the conference, the Commissioner determined to re-transmit the matter to the OAL for further disposition pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-3.3(b).

The record of this matter and the advisement by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) – pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4 – of petitioner's failure to appear at a March 28, 2017 prehearing conference have been reviewed.

Petitioner filed a hand-written explanation asserting that she called the OAL on March 28, 2017 at 3:38 when she did not receive a call from the OAL for the 3:30 prehearing conference. The petitioner contends that someone from the OAL informed her that the OAL was experiencing problems with the phone system and that she would receive a notice in the mail with a new date for the prehearing conference. When the petitioner did not receive a notice with a new prehearing conference date, she contacted the OAL and was told that the file had been returned to the Department of Education (Department). The petitioner further states the Administrative Law Judge Bedrin Murray advised the petitioner that she should contact the Department and request that the file be returned to the OAL.

Based upon the petitioner's timely written explanation for her nonappearance and her assertion that she called the OAL on the date of the prehearing conference to inquire about the status of the conference, this matter is being retransmitted to the OAL for further disposition, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-3.3(b).

PETITIONER,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
V.	:	DECISION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF WEST ORANGE, ESSEX COUNTY,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

On December 5, 2016, T.M. – the mother of J.R. – filed a pro se petition appealing the determination of the respondent Board that her son is not entitled to a free public education in West Orange schools. Petitioner contended that J.R. resided in West Orange with his stepfather, M.M., during the school year and resided with her in East Orange during the summer months. Subsequently, T.M. was informed that the appeal must be initiated by M.M., since it is his home in which J.R. was allegedly domiciled. On December 9, 2016, M.M. filed a pro se petition asserting that J.R. lives with him, but visits his mother at her East Orange residence. The respondent argued that the Board had not received any legal papers or court orders that appointed petitioner M.M. as J.R.'s legal guardian or parent/legal guardian of primary residence; accordingly, the Board requested that the petition be dismissed with prejudice. The Board did not seek tuition reimbursement from petitioner.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.2(a)(1), a student is a resident of a school district if his parent or guardian has a permanent home in the district; the domicile of an unemancipated child is that of his or her parent, custodian or guardian; in the instant case, M.M. contested the Board's decision that J.R. was not properly domiciled in West Orange; based on the testimony and evidence, T.M. and J.R. lived with petitioner M.M. in West Orange when J.R. was registered for school in August 2015; M.M. and T.M. described their relationship as boyfriend and girlfriend when they resided together in West Orange, and believed that this was enough to establish M.M. as J.R.'s legal guardian; however, M.M. is neither a parent or legal guardian of the J.R., nor does he have any written agreement giving him permission to have J.R. reside with him in West Orange. The ALJ concluded that J.R. has not been a domiciliary of West Orange since July of 2016, and is therefore ineligible for continued attendance in the West Orange public schools.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusions, and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions to the Initial Decision.

Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) – for the reasons stated in the Initial Decision – that J.R. is no longer domiciled in the district and that the Board's decision denying J.R. the ability to attend school in the district was not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable.

Accordingly, the recommended decision of the ALJ is adopted for the reasons expressed therein.

INITIAL DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. EDU 00004-2017
AGENCY DKT. NO. 313-12/16

M.M. on behalf of MINOR CHILD, J.R.,
Petitioner,
v
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF WEST ORANGE, ESSEX COUNTY,
Respondent.

M.M., petitioner, pro se

Frances L. Febres, Esq., for respondent, (Cleary, Giacobbe, Alfieri & Jacobs, LLC)

Record Closed: March 20, 2017 Decided: March 30, 2017

BEFORE ELISSA MIZZONE TESTA, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, M.M., challenges the determination by the Board of Education of the Township of West Orange, Essex County ("BOE" or "respondent") that the minor child, J.R., should be removed from the West Orange School District because the BOE determined that he does not reside in West Orange, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On December 5, 2017, T.M. the mother of J.R., filed a residency petition on behalf of J.R., a student at Kelley Elementary School, West Orange. On December 9, 2017, the State Department of Education (DOE), advised T.R. that because she was alleging J.R. resided with his stepfather, M.M. in the West Orange School District, M.M. would have to initiate the appeal of the Board's residency determination. On December 9, 2016, M.M. filed the residency petition on behalf of J.R. On December 27, 2016, the BOE filed an Answer with the State Department of Education (DOE). The pleading did not seek reimbursement from the Petitioner for the tuition incurred by the attendance of the minor child in the BOE's district. On December 30, 2016, this matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for determination as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to 13. A hearing was held on March 20, 2017, on which date the record was closed. It was confirmed on the record with Ms. Fabres, counsel for the BOE, that her client is not seeking tuition reimbursement from Petitioner, M.M.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Based upon the testimonial and documentary evidence presented at the hearing, I FIND:

On August 25, 2015, T.M. registered her minor son, J.R. in the West Orange School District. (R1). Pursuant to the testimony of T.M., she and her son J.R. were residing with M.M. in West Orange. Thereafter, in or about July of 2016, T.M. moved to East Orange. Respondent's residency inspector, David Zawacki, credibly testified that the first notice that was received by the BOE that J.R. was not residing in West Orange was at the end of the 2015-2016 school year. This original investigation was never completed since the school year had ended. The investigation was re-initiated in October of 2016. On at least fifteen occasions between October and November of the 2016-2017 school year, the minor child, J.R. was observed leaving a residence in East Orange and being driven to a West Orange school bus stop. The student was never observed leaving in the morning from the West Orange address on file with the West Orange School District (R2) or any other West Orange address. A residency hearing was conducted on November 14, 2016, wherein the West Orange BOE voted to remove J.R. from the West Orange School District. Notice of the BOE's action was forwarded and addressed to T.M., the mother of J.R. (R4).

Mr. Zawacki further testified that all documents presented to the West Orange School District upon J.R.'s registration on August 25, 2015 list T.M. as "Legal Guardian 1" and C.R. (the biological father), as "Legal Guardian 2." (R1). These forms were never modified to add and/or change any of the information provided. The address of residency provided for the minor child J.R. at that time was a West Orange address. Mr. Zawacki further produced a Statement of Landlord which was provided on August 25, 2015 to the West Orange School District. M.M. was not listed as an owner and/or tenant at that property. (R1).

M.M. averred in his petition that he is J.R.'s step-father, and he referred to the minor child J.R. as his son. But it was established through the testimony of M.M. and T.M. that M.M. is not J.R.'s step-father, biological parent or legal guardian nor does he have any written agreement with T.M. and/or C.R. giving him permission to have J.R. reside with him in West Orange. M.M. stated that T.M. and J.R. lived with him in West Orange when J.R. registered for school in the West Orange School District on August 25, 2015 and they then subsequently moved to East Orange. Both M.M. and T.M. described their relationship as boyfriend and girlfriend when they were residing together in West Orange. They believed this was enough to establish M.M. as J.R's legal guardian.

T.M. corroborated Mr. Zawacki's investigative findings by indicating that because of M.M.'s work schedule during the months of September through December, J.R. had to sleep at her house in East Orange every night and then he would get picked up by M.M. in the morning and get dropped off at the bus stop in West Orange.

LEGAL DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSION

Any child between the ages of five and twenty years old is entitled to a free public education in the district in which he is a resident. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a); N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a). A student is a resident of a school district if his parent or guardian has a permanent home in the district such that "the parent or guardian intends to return to it when absent and has no present intent of moving from it, notwithstanding the existence of homes or residences elsewhere." N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)(1). A student may attend school in a district in which he is a non-resident, with or without payment of tuition, at the discretion of the school district. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-3(a); N.J.A.C. 6A:22-2.2.

Domicile has been defined as the place where a person has his true, fixed, permanent home and principal establishment, and to which whenever he is absent he has the intention of returning. State v. Benny, 20 N.J. 238, 250 (1955). The domicile of an unemancipated child is that of his or her parent, custodian or guardian. P.B.K. o/b/o minor child E.Y. v. Board of Ed. of Tenafly, 343 N.J. Super 419, 427 (App. Div. 2001).

Where a local board determines that a child is not properly domiciled in its district, N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2) provides a right of appeal to the parents as follows:

> The parent or guardian may contest the Board's decision before the Commissioner within 21 days of the date of the decision and shall be entitled to an expedited hearing before the Commissioner and shall have the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence that the child is eligible for a free education under the criteria listed in this section.

In the case at hand, M.M. contested the Board's decision that J.R. was not properly domiciled in the West Orange school district, having filed the Petition with the Board. Based on the testimony provided and the evidence submitted, I CONCLUDE that

M.M. is neither a parent or legal guardian of the minor child J.R. Moreover I CONCLUDE that J.R.'s biological mother and legal guardian is a domiciliary of East Orange, and that in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, J.R.'s education is the responsibility of the East Orange school district. Based upon the facts adduced and the legal principles cited above, I CONCLUDE that the minor child J.R. was not a domiciliary of the West Orange School District since July of 2016, and is thus ineligible for continued attendance in the West Orange public schools.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing, it is hereby ORDERED that respondent's determination that the minor child J.R. is not a resident and domiciliary in West Orange, New Jersey, and was not domiciled within its school district and should be removed is hereby AFFIRMED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
PETITIONER,	:	DECISION
V.	:
C.P., on behalf of minor child, E.V.,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

On February 3, 2016, a final agency decision was rendered in this matter, wherein the Commissioner found that E.V. was not a domiciliary of Hamilton for the 2014-2015 school year and was, therefore, not entitled to a free education in the District's schools during that time period. The Commissioner assessed respondent, Cristina Pineda, $13,113.28 in tuition costs, to be reimbursed to the Hamilton Board of Education for E.V.'s period of ineligible attendance in the District's schools pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1. The Board subsequently notified the Commissioner that respondent had failed to reimburse petitioner as directed in the final decision, and requested that the Commissioner seek entry of the assessment on the judgment docket of the Superior Court pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2A:58-10. Respondent offered no reasons why the judgment against her should not be so docketed, although given an opportunity by this agency to do so.

Accordingly, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2A:58-10, Cristina Pineda is now subject to entry of a judgment by the court in the amount of $13,113.28, which represents the total payment ordered at the conclusion of the contested case before the Commissioner, with interest to accrue as provided by law.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

AWARD

At the arbitration proceeding commenced on April 12, 2017, the parties reached a resolution of the issues presented in the above-captioned matter. The Arbitrator finds that the terms of that settlement are clearly in the public interest. Therefore the Arbitrator issues this Award approving the terms of the parties' settlement.

Specifically, the Arbitrator has reviewed the record evidence, including: the charges, the answer, and documented materials in support of the charge. Additionally, there was consideration of the parties' proffer of proofs to be presented at hearing and the overall circumstances of the context of the conduct at issue.

The settlement provides for the withdrawal of the charges and the resignation of the charged party. It was achieved with the consent of both the charged and charging parties. The Stipulation of Settlement reflects a full explanation to the charged party of his rights and the implications of the resolution. The settlement represents a fair and equitable resolution of the parties' dispute and reflects a result serving the public interest as well as that of the parties.

In the matter of	:
RICHARD CHAMBERS	:	AGENCY REFERENCE NO.: 46-3/17
CAMDEN CITY PUBLIC SCHOOLS	:	STIPULATION OF SETTLEMENT

The Camden City Public Schools (the "Board"), whose principal office is located at 201 North Front Street, Camden, New Jersey, and its successors, assigns, officers, employees, agents and representatives (collectively, "School Board"), and Richard Chambers, residing at 83D Bellhaven Court, Whiting, New Jersey 08759 ("Respondent") (collectively, the "Parties") have voluntarily resolved all disputed matters and enter into the following Stipulation of Settlement, which fully disposes of all issues in controversy between them in full and complete settlement of all outstanding issues as detailed below.

WHEREAS Respondent is a tenured teaching staff member employed by the Board as a teacher; and

WHEREAS the State District Superintendent ("Superintendent") certified tenure charges of conduct unbecoming and other just cause to the Commissioner of Education of the State of New Jersey, captioned In the Matter of Tenure Charges Against Richard Chambers, State-Operated School District of the City of Camden ("Tenure Charges"), under Agency Reference Number 46-3/17-12/14; and

WHEREAS, Respondent filed an answer opposing the charges; and

WHEREAS the Commissioner of Education, having reviewed the charges and Respondent's answer, determined that the charges were sufficient, if true, to warrant dismissal or reduction in compensation, and accordingly referred the matter to Arbitrator Joel Weisblatt ("Arbitrator") for a hearing; and

WHEREAS, Respondent has denied the allegations set forth in the tenure charges; and

WHEREAS, the Parties are aware of the uncertainty of the outcome of arbitration; and

WHEREAS, the Board with stringent budget limitations and due to the expenditure of resources due to multiple days of hearings with numerous witnesses; the concern that school personnel will be removed from their educational duties and responsibilities during that time; and the concern of having several young pupils participate in the litigation and being removed from instructional time, the Parties wish to resolve this matter in accordance with the terms set forth herein rather than proceed with arbitration; and

WHEREAS the proposed Stipulation of Settlement is in the best interest of the Parties and the public because Respondent resigns from his employment without litigation and avoids an uncertain conclusion after protracted and costly proceedings at the expense of the public;

NOW, THEREFORE, subject to approval by the Arbitrator, the Parties hereby agree as follows:

1. Concurrent with the execution of this Stipulation, Respondent shall submit an irrevocable letter of resignation to the Board, which shall provide for his resignation from the Board effective June 30, 2017, ("Effective Date"). (See Exhibit "A," to the Stipulation, a copy of Respondent's signed letter of resignation).

2. Upon final approval of the signed Stipulation by the Arbitrator, the Board shall and hereby does withdraw the instant Tenure Charges. The Board agrees to not pursue the subject Tenure Charges against Respondent as long as this Stipulation remains in effect and is not voided by any court or administrative agency of competent jurisdiction. In the event the Stipulation is voided, the Board retains the right to file and consider for certification, tenure charges against Respondent, including those tenure charges which have been previously filed against him by the Board, and Respondent reserves the right to defend same.

3. Upon final approval of the signed Stipulation by the Arbitrator, Respondent will be returned to the payroll retroactively to March 6, 2017 and will remain on the payroll through June 30, 2017. All salary paid for said period shall be subject to all applicable and mandatory salary withholdings and deductions, including, but not limited to health insurance premium contributions. Respondent will be recorded as an employee on administrative leave with pay between March 6, 2017 and June 30, 2017.

4. The Board shall provide Respondent with health insurance coverage until August 31, 2017. Pursuant to Chapter 78, Respondent shall be responsible for his employee contribution for all health insurance provided pursuant to this Stipulation of Settlement. Respondent's required Chapter 78 contributions shall be deducted from the payments he will receive pursuant to Paragraph 3 of this Stipulation of Settlement.

5. This Stipulation is based upon the understanding that Respondent's separation from employment with the Board, effective June 30, 2017, will be deemed a voluntary resignation-in good standing. Upon inquiry from any third party to authorized employees or representatives of the Board, those employees or representatives will provide no information other than to confirm Respondent's employment, position, salary and dates of employment, and state that the reason for his separation from employment was his voluntary resignation.

6. The Board expressly reserves the right to oppose any application by Respondent for unemployment benefits. Notwithstanding any other term or condition of this Agreement, Respondent does not waive or release his right to seek unemployment compensation, his entitlement to which shall be determined by the State of New Jersey, Department of Labor and Workforce Development.

7. In accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6 (a) 6, Respondent has been advised of the Commissioner's duty to refer tenure determinations resulting in loss of position to the State Board of Examiners. Additionally, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.4(a)1, Respondent has been advised of the Board's duty to notify the State Board of Examiners he has resigned. The Board is legally required to participate in proceedings initiated against Respondent's license by the State Board of Examiners resulting from the Commissioner's referral. Aside from such requirements, pursuant to the above-referenced regulation, the Board agrees to not independently seek the suspension or revocation of Respondent's teaching certification or license or seek to prevent him from applying for or receiving pension benefits on any grounds related to the Tenure Charges or his resignation pursuant to this Stipulation of Settlement.

8. As of the Effective Date, except as specifically provided in paragraph 5, all of Respondent's rights of employment with the Board, including but not limited to accrued salary, benefits, tenure and seniority, will permanently end.

9. Respondent will not apply for reemployment with the Board at any time. If Respondent does apply for reemployment with the Board and is approved for employment, the terms of this Agreement shall control and shall be grounds for termination of Respondent's employment.

10. In exchange for the consideration set forth in paragraphs 2, 3, 4 and 5 above, the sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged, Respondent, through the date of his resignation, hereby waives, releases and discharges any and all claims or rights that he has or may have against the Board, the Superintendent, its Board of Education and its Advisory Board members, and any and all other Board officers, employees, representatives, agents, successors and assigns (collectively, the "Released Parties") including any claim for attorneys' fees, costs or other monetary relief. This waiver, release and discharge includes, without limitation, any and all actions, claims, and liabilities of whatsoever kind or character, in law or in equity, now known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, directly or indirectly related to Respondent's employment with the Board or separation from employment with the Board. It specifically includes, without limitation, all claims which Respondent may have regarding tenure, withholding of increment, discrimination on any basis, any federal or state civil rights law, any alleged violation of the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, as amended; the Older Worker Benefits Protection Act; Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended; Sections 1981 through 1988 of Title 42 of the United States Code; the Civil Rights Act of 1991; the Equal Pay Act; the Americans with Disabilities Act; the Rehabilitation Act; the Family and Medical Leave Act; the Fair Labor Standards Act; the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended; the Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act; the National Labor Relations Act; the Fair Credit Reporting Act; the Occupational Safety and Health Act; the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Act; the Employee Polygraph Protection Act; the Immigration Reform Control Act; the retaliation provisions of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002; the False Claims Act; the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination; the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act; the New Jersey Family Leave Act; the New Jersey Wage and Hour Law; the New Jersey

Equal Pay Law; the New Jersey Occupational Safety and Health Law; the New Jersey Smokers' Rights Law; the New Jersey Genetic Privacy Act; the New Jersey Fair Credit Reporting Act; New Jersey Wages and Hours Law, disability benefits laws, retaliation provisions of the New Jersey Workers' Compensation Law; the United States Constitution, the New Jersey Constitution; and/or any other alleged violation of any federal, state or local law, regulation or ordinance; any claim based on contract, implied contract, collective bargaining agreement, tort law, personal injury, or public policy, having any bearing whatsoever on his employment by and/or termination of her employment with the Board, including but not limited to any claim for wrongful discharge, back pay, vacation pay, sick pay, wages, attorneys' fees, costs, and/or future wage loss. Respondent agrees to withdraw any and all other pending complaints or actions that have been filed against the Board or any of its employees or representatives.

11. To comply with the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act, if applicable, this Stipulation of Settlement advises Respondent of the legal requirements of the Act and fully incorporates the legal requirements by reference into this Stipulation of Settlement. Accordingly, by executing this Stipulation, Respondent acknowledges that he: (i) fully understands the terms and conditions of this Stipulation of Settlement; (ii) has consulted with an attorney to review the Stipulation of Settlement; (iii) specifically waives his right to pursue any current claims he may have under the Age Discrimination in Employment Act; (iv) has been given sufficient time within which to consider this Stipulation of Settlement; and (v) has seven (7) days from the date of the execution of this Stipulation of Settlement to revoke it. Respondent understands that he may rescind this Agreement within seven (7) calendar days of signing it, and such rescission must be in writing and delivered to counsel for the Board either by hand or by certified mail within the seven (7) day period.

12. Respondent warrants that he has not commenced any legal proceedings of any type (including but not limited to charges filed with any governmental agency) against the Board or School Board. Further, Respondent agrees that he will not commence any legal proceedings against the Board or School Board arising from or relating to anything that has happened up to his date of resignation. Should any such legal proceedings be commenced on Respondent's behalf, Respondent agrees that he will not seek or accept any relief or recovery therefrom. In the event of a violation of this paragraph, Respondent agrees that the Board and School Board shall be entitled to immediate dismissal of the legal proceedings, and that he shall be responsible for the Board and School Board's attorneys' fees and costs incurred in connection with those legal proceedings. Should any entity, agency, commission, or person file a charge, action, complaint or lawsuit against the Board or School Board based upon any of the above-released claims in Paragraph 3, Respondent agrees not to seek or accept any resulting relief whatsoever, in accordance with this paragraph.

13. This Stipulation and all of its terms, are and will remain confidential to the maximum extent permitted by law, including the Open Public Records Act, N.J.S.A. 47:1A-1, et al. Respondent is expressly forbidden from discussing this Stipulation with any person, other than his accountant, tax advisor and attorney ("permitted disclosures") and any other individual or entity as necessary to implement the Stipulation or to which he is legally obligated to respond ("legally-required disclosures"). In making any permitted disclosure, Respondent agrees that he will inform the person to whom it is making the permitted disclosure that the existence and substance of this Stipulation, the settlement giving rise to this Stipulation and the sum of money paid pursuant to this Stipulation are to be held strictly confidential to the fullest extent permitted by law. Respondent specifically agrees not to discuss the nature, terms, conditions of this Stipulation with others, any representative of the media, or any past, present, or prospective employee of the Board, or its agents or attorneys. Respondent understands that this provision is not a simple recital but is an important, integral part of this Stipulation. The Board agrees that it will keep this Stipulation confidential to the extent permitted by law, including the Open Public Records Act, N.J.S.A. 47:1A-1, et seq. ("OPRA"). In the event that the Board receives an OPRA request, for which this Stipulation would be responsive to, the Respondent understands that the Board is legally obligated to disclose same under OPRA and that such disclosure would not be a breach of this Stipulation.

14. This agreement shall not constitute a precedent in any matters involving other Board employees.

15. The Parties each acknowledge that counsel has advised them regarding this Stipulation and that each is signing this Stipulation freely and voluntarily, without duress, coercion or pressure from the other party, with full understanding of its terms and conditions and consents to the terms contained herein.

16. Each signatory to this Stipulation understands, acknowledges and agrees that this Stipulation constitutes the full agreement of the parties and may not be altered, amended, modified, or otherwise changed in any respect whatsoever except by a duly executed writing signed on behalf of both Parties.

17. This Stipulation shall be construed and enforced in accordance with New Jersey law. The Commissioner of Education and/or federal and state courts of the State of New Jersey, as applicable in accordance with such law, shall have exclusive jurisdiction over any dispute arising from, in connection with, or related to this Stipulation.

18. This Stipulation may be executed in counterparts with the same effect as if the signatures hereto and thereto were upon the same instrument. Each counterpart will be deemed an original, which taken together shall constitute a single instrument. Facsimile signatures or signatures in electronic Portable Document Format ("PDF") shall be construed and have the same force and effect as original signatures.

19. This Stipulation or any uncertainty or ambiguity therein shall not be construed against any party, but shall be construed as if both Parties to this Stipulation jointly prepared this Agreement.

20. Each party acknowledges that this is the entire agreement of the Parties concerning the subject matter of the foregoing paragraphs, and that there are no written or oral representations, understandings or agreements directly or indirectly connected with this Stipulation.

21. If any provision of this Stipulation is held by a court of competent jurisdiction or determined under applicable law to be invalid, void, or unenforceable, the remaining provisions will continue and remain in full force and effect.

23. Additionally, this Stipulation is subject to final approval by the Arbitrator pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6(c), and will become effective only upon approval by the Arbitrator. Counsel for the Parties shall jointly request the Arbitrator's approval of this Agreement and each shall take any and all necessary steps to effectuate dismissal of the Tenure Charges.

By: Kaitlyn Dunphy, Esq.

This matter arises out of tenure charges filed with the Commissioner of Education by the Freehold Regional High School District against the Respondent, Brett D. Holeman, dated September 15, 2016. After determination that the charges warranted further action, the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes forwarded the applicable documents to me on or about October 11, 2016. Shortly thereafter, the parties were officially notified of my selection.

The first hearing via a conference call occurred on October 22, 2016. A second conference call with attorneys Aileen O'Driscoll, Jeffrey Caccese and James Zazzali took place 12, 2016. In addition to the attorneys of record, the meeting also included Superintendent Charles Sampson , Director of Human Resources, Dr. Jennifer Sharp and Dr. Brett Holeman. The meeting failed to bring about a settlement.

In response to the tenure charges, Attorney O'Driscoll contended that the Petitioner was unable to show just cause. Ms. O'Driscoll argued that the Petitioner had failed to comply with N.J.S.A. 18A: 6-17. Namely, the Petitioner's submission of evidence and a complete list of witnesses with a complete summary of their testimony was deficient. In addition, the parties had disagreed over the Petitioner's intent to issue subpoenas. The Respondent argued that the Board had not adhered to the timelines prescribed under the Statute and asked that the charges be dismissed. Based upon the positions of the parties, I concluded the matter should proceed. Attached is my decision concerning the dismissal of the Tenure Charges and the Petitioner's attempt through subpoena to obtain information from Respondent's previous employer.

Hearings were held on January 12, 2017, January 19, 2017, January 24, 2017, January 30, 2017, February 6, 2017, February 17, 2017, February 22, 2017, February 27, 2017, March 1, 2017, March 2, 2017, March 11, 2017 and March 16, 2017. A transcript was prepared for each hearing. Both parties elected to submit post-hearing briefs after receipt of the transcripts.

BACKGROUND

The Respondent, Brett D. Holeman, began his employment as a school psychologist with the Freehold Regional High School District in 2004. He holds a Doctorate in Psychology (Psy D) from New York University. In his capacity as a school psychologist, Dr. Holeman provided counseling, cognitive testing and individual educational plans as a case manager. A school psychologist also serves as a member of child study teams and interacts with administrators, parents and colleagues.

In the Spring 2016, the administration was made aware of allegations concerning Dr. Holeman's behavior. The issues brought to the attention of Respondent's superiors were cited in an April 25, 2016 memorandum sent to Dr. Holeman by Director of Personnel Sharp. The memorandum was in reference to an April 26, 2016 investigatory conference which listed six (6) allegations made against Dr. Holeman. Dr. Sharp listed the following:

- Engaged in inappropriate behavior (inappropriate comments, language and expressions), including the use of profanity, reference to sexual activity in front of students; as well as the use of extreme volume with students and parents within a confidential counseling environment;
- Made repeated derogatory and demeaning remarks about and to colleagues and supervisors;
- Engaged in erratic and concerning behaviors that intruded into and unnecessarily disrupted the workplace of colleagues;
- Jeopardized the State mandated testing environment to which he was assigned;
- Demonstrated an overall lack of respect for authority; and
- Disregarded the District's organizational plan and failed to observe or use proper chain of command when raising issues or concerns.

A summary of the April 26, 2016 conference was drafted by Dr. Sharp (Board Exhibit 8) and submitted to Superintendent Sampson. In her summary, the Director of Personnel questioned Dr. Holeman regarding the District's concerns. Also in attendance were the Freehold Education Association President (FREA), the FREA Vice President and Mrs. Linda Jewell, Principal, Freehold Boro High School.

The April 26th meeting dealt with the allegations made against the Respondent. Dr. Holeman responded to several of the allegations and emphasized that he had received very positive evaluations during his thirteen (13) years with the District. He refuted the validity of the allegations and commented he was "very passionate about his work."

Dr. Sharp informed Dr. Holeman that "given his erratic and concerning behaviors" he was advised to get a full psychiatric and medical evaluation that included appropriate blood tests to ascertain the presence of any mood altering drugs or metabolic steroids. The directive concerning medical and psychiatric examination reflected suspicion that Dr. Holeman may have used metabolic steroids, an inference denied by the Respondent. Director Sharp thought it best that Dr. Holeman initiate testing immediately. Although it was noted that a final decision regarding his status had not been made, the Respondent was placed on administrative leave. A similar directive was contained in a letter from Superintendent Sampson dated April 26, 2016. Dr. Holeman was informed his employment status would be discussed at the May 16, 2016 meeting of the Freehold Regional High School District Board of Education.

On August 12, 2016, Sworn Tenure Charges and a Written Statement of Evidence for conduct unbecoming an employee....were filed by the Board Secretary pursuant to N.J.S.A 18A: 6-11 et seq. One month later, on September 12, 2016, the Board reviewed and considered the evidence in support of the Sworn Tenure Charges against Dr. Holeman and determined there was sufficient evidence, "if true in fact, to warrant dismissal or reduction in salary."

In both email and regular mail dated September 12, 2016, Counsel for Dr. Holeman urged the Board to abstain, if considering the Notice of Tenure Charges, from voting on the charges. As an alternative, a request to approve a transfer to a different position within the District was made in behalf of Dr. Holeman.

The Board referred to a number of incidents which it alleged warranted suspension and further investigation into his conduct. In particular, the District characterized Dr. Holeman's behavior prior to his suspension as troubling. It was alleged that Dr. Holeman had raised his voice during a counseling session prompting a supervisor to interrupt the session "to ensure the student's safety." Dr. Holeman, it was alleged, repeated this behavior with another student and parent. The Petitioner also referred to a due-process petition initiated by a parent against the Board in reaction to Dr. Holeman's management of a case and his interaction with the parent.

Dr. Holeman is also alleged to have spoken inappropriately to a student distraught over his break up with a girlfriend. The Board contended Dr. Holeman told the student the girlfriend was a "slut" and that he would soon leave for college and could "fuck 40 girls." The student had also allegedly conveyed to a staff member that Dr. Holeman had recommended a book titled, "F*ck Feelings," which is described as a "profanity-filled self-help book" that argues one should "value your actions over your emotions." It should be noted that Dr. Holeman denied these allegations.

Another accusation concerned Dr. Holeman's actions and demeanor during the administering of the state mandated PARCC test. The Petitioner described the Respondent's manner during the test session as disruptive. He allegedly was "cursing, talking loudly" to the extent he made his colleagues "uncomfortable." He supposedly expressed dissatisfaction with the "administration" and showed considerable annoyance when the test was delayed because computers for the students were not in the test room. The Petitioner contended that Dr. Holeman's behavior had a potential negative impact while the students were taking the PARCC test.

Apart from behavioral matters, the Board had also expressed dissatisfaction with Dr. Holeman's alleged failure to complete IEP's (Individual Education Plan) in a timely manner. It was charged that a number of reports were delinquent at the time Dr. Holeman was placed on suspension.

The Petitioner's investigation included a review of Dr. Holeman's email account. An examination of the Respondent's email account, the Board charged, revealed that Dr. Holeman had spent "a substantial amount of time nurturing his private counseling practice." It was also alleged that Dr. Holeman accepted pay for time counseling current and former students. It was noted Board policy prohibits accepting payment from a current student for services due to a teacher's employment in the District

In regard to Dr. Holeman's private practice, the Petitioner contended that Freehold Boro High School had been used as his official and registered business address. It was alleged that Dr. Holeman created a separate email address for his emails to private clients that were sent through the District system.

An additional charge proffered by the Petitioner concerned the allegation Dr. Holeman "solicited" students for private counseling from internal and administration confidential lists that identified students withdrawing from school. It was alleged that Dr. Holeman directly solicited these students for private counseling. Although some of these actions took place in 2013, if the Administration had known of this at the time, they would have initiated tenure charges. The Petitioner indicated it did not have knowledge if this solicitation has continued.

The Board identified emails that it charged violated confidential student information. One email cited was sent to Dr. Holeman's wife. The Petitioner alluded to the nature of this email as a violation of Board policy as well as disrespectful of the student and his family.

Additional allegation raised by the Board was the nature of emails sent to students which were interpreted as "overly familiar, even intimate." While there was no evidence of improper behavior, the Petitioner believed Dr. Holeman had failed to maintain an appropriate boundary with past and present students.

Petitioner also made reference to an incident concerning a student who was suspected of drug dealing. It was alleged that Dr. Holeman advised the student when confronted not to answer any questions concerning the matter. The Administration believed the advice not to cooperate was interference of the investigation. This 2013 incident was considered an example of previous "insubordinate and inappropriate conduct toward District Administration...."

The Board's submission to the Department of Education included a charge that Dr. Holeman had failed to disclose his previous employment with the West Morris Regional High School District as an interim School Psychologist and his abrupt termination from this position effective April 10, 2004. Freehold Regional High School's Professional Employment Application required a list of prior teaching and administrative experience. Dr. Holeman's failure to list his employment in the West Morris Regional High School District negated the opportunity to investigate the circumstances that resulted in his termination.

The Administration had taken into consideration the concerns expressed by Dr. Holeman's colleagues. Staff members stated that Dr. Holeman was "unprofessional and uncomfortable to be around." Dr. Sharp's Summary of the Investigatory Conference included comments submitted by colleagues that he "seemed erratic lately, speaking loudly in the office.... I feel like I have been walking on eggshells around him.... I feel very uneasy around him."

Among the charges were that Dr. Holeman had made derogatory and demeaning remarks about both colleagues and supervisors. According to the Administration, he ignored and disregarded the chain of command and the District's organizational plan. He was described as an individual who did not respect authority.

The District's submission to the Department of Education stated that Dr. Holeman was not truthful when asked about yelling incidents while counseling a student. The District's submission contended that when the student was asked by the Guidance Supervisor if he was OK he did not respond, as claimed by Dr. Holeman, "Of course, I am OK. Why would you think I am not OK?" Furthermore, the Petitioner did not accept Dr. Holeman's assertion that the student commented that he "loved Dr. Holeman."

The Respondent denied that he demonstrated the behavior described by the Petitioner. Dr. Holeman, through his legal counsel, essentially contended the charges were not accurate and, in some instances, a misinterpretation of his counseling tactics. In certain situations, Dr. Holeman explained, it is necessary and appropriate to raise your voice.

Dr. Holeman contended his conference with Dr. Sharp on April 26, 2016, did not provide a "true opportunity to respond" to the allegations. He also denied he fabricated his responses to any questions put forth by Dr. Sharp.

In response to the reference to steroid use, the Respondent disputed the allegation that he told a colleague "that his wife asked him if he was using steroids again." Dr. Holeman's lab tests did not reveal any trace of steroids.

Dr. Holeman denied that he had admitted recommending the book the administration considered inappropriate. He also did not agree with the Petitioner's rendition of the distraught and suicidal student's counseling experience with Dr. Holeman.

The PARCC testing outcome was never in jeopardy as suggested by the Petitioner. The reference to a colleague being uncomfortable around him was something Dr. Holeman was unable to address.

Dr. Holeman disputed that he used school time or facilities in his private practice. He also denied privately counseling current District students for a fee and acknowledged he was familiar with Board Policy. Dr. Holeman indicated that he understood he was not able to offer private counseling for pay until after a student had graduated. Furthermore, he denied directly soliciting students for professional services.

Dr. Holeman admitted temporarily registering 2 Robertsville Road, Freehold, NJ (District address) with the State Board of Examiners for his private business. However, this was only for a brief period of time while relocating his private practice. He always provided a private work phone number with the Board of Examiners as his official business contact number and never provided the school address for purposes of private counseling.

In one instance, the Petitioner charged, Dr. Holeman utilized the Board issued email account to contact a non-school related recipient. Board policy stipulates that its email system is restricted to messages that are school related. Dr. Holeman did not agree with the charge.

Dr. Holeman acknowledged being employed as an interim School Psychologist at the West Morris Regional High School District. In Dr. Holeman's submission to the Department of Education, Controversies & Disputes, he denied being terminated abruptly from this interim position. The Respondent also denied that he intentionally withheld employment information on his application to the Freehold Regional High School District. A newspaper article (Observer-Tribune) that stated he was asked to leave the West Morris Regional High School District was described as opinion or conjecture by the Respondent.

In many of the charges put forth by the Petitioner, the Respondent's legal counsel responded they were legal questions their client was unable to answer. A number of the charges, it was argued, were described as redundant.

POSITION OF THE PETITIONER

After the administration became aware of Dr. Holeman's inappropriate, insubordinate, erratic and volatile behavior in the Spring of 2016, it was determined that a thorough investigation of both his behavior and performance was warranted. The investigation in the Spring of 2016 revealed "a trail of lies, willful deceit, manipulation and frightening conduct...."

In spite of the statements submitted and testimony of co-workers and administrators, Dr. Holeman "steadfastly refused to acknowledge that his conduct either occurred or was inappropriate." Dr. Holeman, the District argued, has shown an inability to work collaboratively with colleagues.

In formulating the Tenure Charges, the Board considered a number of incidents and occurrences that supported removal from the District. Dr. Holeman was deemed to have violated several Board policies including the "Code of Ethics of the Education Profession along with elements of the New Jersey Administrative Code." Given these violations, the District can no longer trust him or his judgment.

Among the allegations was the charge Dr. Holeman after school hours, in late February/early March, sent text messages to Supervisor Rosalia Minervini. Ms. Minervini reported her concerns about the texts to Principal Linda Jewell. Ms. Minervini found Dr. Holeman's texts inappropriate. "For example, he would refer to colleagues as 'mentally ill' and 'not stable to work with children.' He called them evil and sick. He once labeled staff members 'fucking bitches.' "

In an IEP team meeting with a parent around March 23, 2016, Dr. Holeman became 'noticeably volatile.' Marla Reich, the District's Speech Language Pathologist testified that Dr.

Holeman inappropriately raised his voice during the meeting. Dr. Sharp testified Dr. Holeman advised the parents on "working around" the administration. Superintendent Sampson testified Dr. Holeman's conduct in the March 23rd meeting escalated an already uneasy situation with the parents and ultimately led to litigation.

District Guidance Counselor Holly Fabian testified that a student informed her Dr. Holeman told him that he would go to college and fuck many girls. Dr. Holeman also told the student his ex-girlfriend was a slut banging other guys. Ms. Fabian testified that Dr. Holeman's comments were "extremely inappropriate" and she would no longer refer students to Dr. Holeman.

The Petitioner's concerns included Dr. Holeman's volatile behavior directed toward students. "On April 18, 2016, Student QH reported to Principal Jewell that Dr. Holeman yelled at her." Dr. Holeman did admit he "raised" or elevated his voice when he spoke to QH on the telephone. While Dr. Holeman explained he had served as the student's counselor for a long period of time and believed it was necessary to be firm. Although Dr. Holeman suggested QH call him back, she never called back and complained about Dr. Holeman's behavior to Principal Jewell.

District Supervisor Suzanne Gallo testified that on the same day as the QH incident she found it necessary to instruct Dr. Holeman to lower his voice because students and parents outside his office were able to hear him. After leaving his office, Dr. Holeman resumed speaking in a loud voice that prompted Ms. Gallo to report the matter to Ms. Jewell.

Principal Jewell testified that she spoke to the student who had been in Dr. Holeman's office at the time Ms. Gallo had asked that the Respondent to lower his voice. The student told

Ms. Jewell that "he deserved to be yelled at," a comment that Principal Jewell found disturbing. In her opinion, Ms. Jewell felt "she was sitting across from a battered woman."

When Principal Jewell addressed the matter with Dr. Holeman, he admitted he spoke in a raised voice but not loud enough for others to discern what he said. Dr. Holeman testified that it was sometimes necessary to speak in a loud voice to inspire students and to convey his passion. However, Dr. Holeman's own witness and mentor Samuel Grove, a retired Freehold Boro psychologist, testified that raising one's voice was not something he would recommend.

The District had regarded Dr. Holeman's behavior during the PARCC test and his interaction with colleagues as inappropriate and disruptive. Talking in an elevated and loud voice while complaining about the administration was not conducive to a test environment.

The Board also gave weight to the tone and substance of emails sent by Dr. Holeman. In particular, the Respondent's criticism of the administration and colleagues was unprofessional. Dr. Holeman had accused Ms. Minervini of "caving" in to a parent and used profanity in his email to her. Dr. Holeman had expressed to Ms. Jewell that he was disappointed in her. The Petitioner characterized the emails as "insubordinate, inappropriate, and disparaging of other professionals."

When Supervisor Minervini had addressed in a meeting Dr. Holeman's loud voice with a student, she described Dr. Holeman's reaction as uncooperative. He told Ms. Minervini that the administration did not have "a clue as to what effective counseling is." Ms. Minervini testified that Dr. Holeman was very "disrespectful, inappropriate and volatile toward her and, as such, she had to end the meeting."

The District had stressed the importance of completing IEP reports on a timely basis. Dr. Holeman shifted responsibility and blame for the backlog in submission of the IEP's to others and took no responsibility for not having his IEP's completed. When questioned about the submission of IEP's, Dr. Holeman told Ms. Minervini he was up to date. Despite the fact he was informed in a 2013 performance review that he was not in compliance with IEP timeliness, he expressed surprise the issue (Exhibit 12) was raised by the Petitioner.

In a meeting with Ms. Jewell and Freehold Regional Education Association President Deborah Gates-Kane, on or about April 22, 2016, Dr. Holeman was informed there were concerns about his behavior. Told that he would be placed on administrative leave, he became very upset. Ms. Gates-Kane testified in a telephone conference call that at one point Dr. Holeman stood up and was alarmed there was going to be a physical confrontation with Ms. Jewell. Ms. Gates-Kane confirmed that Dr. Holeman also "threatened" Principal Jewell stating, "You better sleep with one eye open."

Dr. Sampson testified that he would have sought tenure charges in 2013, if he had known at the time Dr. Holeman had accepted a counseling fee of $130 from the parents of a student enrolled in the District. Although the student was on home instruction, Dr. Holeman failed to ask a supervisor or administrator if accepting a fee was permissible. The student's parents had informed Dr. Holeman that they were waiting to meet with Superintendent Sampson. The Respondent did not admit that he was in violation of a policy that prohibited accepting a fee for counseling a student on home instruction.

The charges also listed the use of the District's resources to advance his private counseling business. Dr. Holeman admitted he used the District email for his private business. He acknowledged that he signed the District email using his company's name, "Psyched Up," rather than creating a separate business email address.

In correspondence to the New Jersey State Board of Examiners, Dr. Holeman used the address of Freehold Borough High School. Dr. Holeman explained that he did not want to use his home address for privacy reasons, yet was willing to provide an address where students are located.

Staff member Lindsay Pantaleo testified she was "uncomfortable" when she learned Dr. Holeman had placed her name and school email address on a pregnancy website without her consent.

In the course of the investigation, the District discovered inappropriate emails sent to parents of students and current and former students. Dr. Holeman revealed confidential information in an email to his wife. Dr. Holeman had referred to a former student as "my little girl." In another email exchange with a former student, he discussed a then current student. Superintendent Sampson alluded to student privacy as a "sacred trust" that had been violated by Dr. Holeman.

The District made reference to Dr. Holeman's interference with a prior investigation involving a student discipline matter. In the course of the investigation for alleged drug involvement, Dr. Holeman advised the student not to answer any questions. The accusation was confirmed by credible witnesses who observed the incident.

Superintendent Sampson stated that Dr. Holeman does not respect authority. In addition, he does not take responsibility for his behavior, blames others and "exhibits narcissism in the extreme." The Superintendent testified that he did consider Dr. Holeman's employment history, but concluded the Respondent's "other behaviors were too extreme," to be overlooked. The District cannot trust Dr. Holeman as a professional, cannot expect he will keep student confidentiality, or maintain "appropriate ways with staff members, with school community members and follow rules and procedures." Superintendent Sampson concluded that there is no way that Dr. Holeman will be fit to return to either the Freehold Regional High School or any position in the District.

POSITION OF THE RESPONDENT

The Respondent argued that the charges were flawed on several levels. These included a failure to interview individuals who were identified and quoted by the Petitioner. Director of Personnel, Dr. Jennifer Sharp, failed to provide Dr. Holeman with the opportunity to adequately respond to the allegations and speak directly with colleagues and administrators who were regarded as central to the decision reached by the Board. Furthermore, Dr. Holeman's many years of exemplary service and excellent evaluations were ignored.

Doubt concerning Dr. Sharp's expertise to conduct the investigation was called into question by the Respondent's legal representative. "Other than learning 'general interviewing,' and 'affirmative action investigation'... her training was limited to classes taken in 2004 for her Principal's certificate." Neither Dr. Sharp or Principal Linda Jewell interviewed staff members or students connected to the allegations. Instead, they relied upon written statements requested by Ms. Jewell. Dr. Sharp never "truly attempted to find additional witnesses" or corroborate statements.

Dr. Sharp testified that the first time she was alerted to a concern regarding Dr. Holeman was on or after April 18, 2016. Those concerns were brought to her attention by Principal Jewell who had questions about Dr. Holeman's conduct in the guidance suite. Ms. Jewell specifically stated that colleagues informed her Dr. Holeman was erratic and loud with students. Shortly thereafter, Dr. Sharp put Dr. Holeman on suspension.

At this point Dr. Sharp reported her concerns to Superintendent Charles Sampson who authorized her to look into Dr. Holeman's emails. Ms. Jewell was instructed to collect statements from staff prior to a meeting on April 21, 2016 between the Principal, Union Vice-President Debbie Gates Kane and Dr. Holeman. A second meeting was convened on April 26th that included Dr. Sharp and Union President James Huebner. It was from the April 26th meeting that Dr. Sharp wrote her Investigation Summary (Exhibit 8).

In answer to the charge Dr. Holeman had failed to complete IEP's in a timely fashion, the Respondent noted the heavy caseload he was assigned. He also argued that the IEP's identified could not be completed since he had been placed on Administrative Leave. In addition, the completion of IEP's were dependent on the input and collaboration of other staff members in addition to Dr. Holeman. The Respondent explained that as the School Psychologist there were occasions when he had to deal with emergencies and crises.

One such crisis was the death of a Freehold Boro High School student. In response to the tragedy, Dr. Holeman visited classrooms and spoke to staff members. The time spent in grief counseling diverted him from preparation of reports. His efforts in providing support to the school community were recognized by Principal Jewell as well as others.

Supervisor Rosalia Minervini commended Dr. Holeman for the emotional support he provided. Ms. Minervini wrote that Dr. Holeman's classroom visits were well received. "She wrote that she was personally settled and calmed by Dr. Holeman's approach.

Dr. Holeman contended when employed at the District, Secretary Fran Ellner was the only person authorized to submit IEP's. Ms. Ellner was responsible for the "final step" for over 400 students in two high schools. Apart from Ms. Ellner's clerical burdens, delays could occur due to rescheduling meetings with parents or conflicts with staff members.

Ms. Minervini never discussed non-compliance of IEP reports with Dr. Holeman nor did she issue him any warning that he was delinquent in the completion of reports. Ms. Minervini testified that it was her practice, if a problem persists, to issue a written memo and, if necessary, prepare a corrective action plan.

Dr. Holeman did bring the extended lunchtime taken by guidance counselors to the attention of Principal Jewell. The extended lunchtime counselors had taken was addressed by the administration.

The inappropriate behavior charge was without merit. The characterization of 'overly familiar, even intimate' emails was misinterpreted. A number of the emails were from former students who had reached out to Dr. Holeman. These former students used their private email addresses and sent messages to Dr. Holeman's Freehold Boro High School address, the only address they possessed. Any purported policy violations were under a policy that was enacted after those identified by the Petitioner. Principal Jewel conceded that the content of certain emails, in her opinion, did not violate District policy.

The allegation concerning a lunch invitation to a student at the on-campus, Five Star student culinary restaurant was with his two daughters. Dr. Holeman wanted to recognize the "very quiet" student who had won a "Senior of the Month" award. When accompanied by a faculty member, students are permitted to have lunch at the Five Star restaurant.

One email identified by the Petitioner was sent after Dr. Holeman was suspended. Dr. Holeman had counseled the student for a few years and he thought she should understand why he could no longer work with her. The Petitioner contended that Dr. Holeman was instructed not to have contact with students. Dr. Holeman believed the student would have regarded his disengagement as another rejection in her difficult life and wanted her to be aware of the reason he no longer could offer counseling.

Dr. Sharp testified that Dr. Holeman had identified his FRHS email account as "Psyched Up LLC Company" in an effort to acquire a "Labrada" shirt. "This was the sole email or evidence produced by the District to reflect Dr. Holeman spending a 'substantial' amount of time during his school day regarding his private practice." Dr. Sharp was unable to ascertain if this email was written on school time or during the Respondent's lunch period. Dr. Holeman testified that the shirt he requested from a nutrition/health company was a possible motivational influence for athletic teams he worked with at Freehold.

The emails in Exhibit 25 purported to have been sent during the workday in 2014 and 2015 were mostly transmitted during the summer or during non-work hours. Dr. Sharp acknowledged the emails were not likely violations of Board Policy. In fact, several emails were parent initiated and dealt with student related issues.

Both Superintendent Sampson and Principal Jewell acknowledged staff often worked during the time they were not scheduled to be on duty. Dr. Holeman testified he often worked during his lunch period and break time in addition to evenings and weekends. It was not uncommon for Dr. Holeman to work beyond his contractual hours.

Dr. Holeman explained that the one private patient (although without pay) he counseled on school grounds was Ms. Jewell's niece. Dr. Holeman was asked to counsel Principal Jewell's niece at her request and the session was held at the school due to a transportation problem. The niece was not a student at Freehold Boro Regional High School. However, Dr. Holeman saw the niece pro bono at the school after his scheduled workday until she was able to meet him in his Springfield office. As a private patient in Springfield, the Respondent received payment for his services. Ms. Jewell's request to him was a reflection of her confidence in Dr. Holeman's professional competence. Furthermore, Superintendent Sampson stated there was no Board policy that prohibited counseling students who did not attend Freehold Boro Regional High School.

The charge Dr. Holeman accepted a counseling fee in regard to a student on suspension and home instruction, identified as A.V., was not improper. The student was suspended for allegedly putting visine into a staff member's drink. Mr. Sampson stated he did not know if A.V. returned to the District. Ms. Jewell claimed not to have any recollection of the student. Dr. Holeman stated that previous school administration had informed him that he was not prohibited from seeing a student who was on home instruction or designated as an out-of-district placement. Only, if a current student was on campus was he prohibited from counseling a student in his private practice.

Dr. Holeman testified that A.V. was awaiting a pending expulsion hearing, a situation known to both Dr. Sharp and Superintendent Sampson. It was understood that A.V. would not return to the school. Furthermore, A.V.'s parents were in accord with Dr. Holeman's private counseling role.

The hearing record confirmed that Dr. Holeman did not violate the prohibition against accepting compensation for services provided in behalf of students enrolled at Freehold Regional. Exhibit 22 shows that Dr. Holeman informed a parent that he could not accept a fee until after the student graduates. As an alternative, he offered the parents a referral to another therapist. The offer to provide the name of other therapists was made to parents who requested private counseling when there was a question of violating Board Policy.

Three witnesses with knowledge of Dr. Holeman as a therapist testified that he never suggested private counseling. One witness was not even aware Dr. Holeman had a private practice until after her son graduated.

The charge that Dr. Holeman had used his position as a School Psychologist to promote or profit in his private practice was unsubstantiated. The suggestion Dr. Holeman had access to confidential lists that he used for personal gain was neither documented nor supported by any evidence. In addition, the Petitioner did not establish such a list even existed.

The Respondent addressed the allegation that he had omitted a previous position on his application to the District in 2004. Dr. Sharp testified that the Respondent's application that a prior employment section had been whited out. The application was 14 years old and described by Respondent's legal counsel as stale. Dr. Holeman denied he had been terminated from a previous, short-term position. The Board witnesses had acknowledged that applications submitted by current employees were never examined.

The reference to the Due Process Complaint filed by a parent was prompted by the legitimate decision to declassify her child. The decision to declassify the student was based upon valid reasons and supported by Dr. Holeman's colleagues. Contrary to Dr. Sharp's incorrect assertion, a formal Due Process complaint had not been filed against the District by the parent.

An additional erroneous charge was the accusation Dr. Holeman was yelling at the meeting with the parent. Ms Minervini admitted declassification meetings are often difficult. Furthermore, the Due Process complaint letter to the State was "type written, unsigned, undated and no author or parent was ever produced to authenticate or verify" the conclusions reached by Dr. Sharp.

The Respondent disputed the insubordination charge. It was not uncommon for staff members to express their frustrations and criticisms of administrators to each other. However, at no time did Dr. Holeman refuse to perform his duties. Ms. Jewell did not file a complaint or report alleging that Dr. Holeman was insubordinate. He testified that he had a good relationship with Ms. Jewell who "welcomed open discussion." On occasions Ms. Jewell and others would come into Dr. Holeman's office to discuss personal issues. Yet this positive relationship changed just prior to Dr. Holeman's suspension.

Dr. Holeman denied that he had made a "threatening gesture" toward Ms. Jewell in a meeting attended by former Union President Gates-Kane. The Respondent denied he threatened Ms. Jewell and testified that as a psychologist and father of two daughters he would never threaten a woman.

Legal counsel for the Respondent identified and submitted numerous positive evaluations that he received throughout his "unblemished 13 year career in the District." His evaluations refer to professionalism, cooperation, dedication and enthusiasm. Despite the absence of any negative evaluations, Dr. Holeman was not afforded the benefit of progressive discipline.

In its Legal argument, the Respondent's representative alluded to the Tenure Act, N.J.S.A., 18A: 28-1 through 18. A tenured teacher may be dismissed or reduced in compensation only for "inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct, or other just cause." The District failed to meet its burden of proof by a preponderance of credible evidence that these stipulations applied to Dr. Holeman.

The Respondent further argued that the credibility of the witnesses was questionable. Dr. Sharp failed to properly interview witnesses and present their statements and allegations to Dr. Holeman. Dr. Sharp was inconsistent in her testimony and showed a lack of understanding of Dr. Holeman's duties. The Administration did not take into account the possibility Guidance staff colleagues may have been disturbed when Dr. Holeman reported their extended lunch period to Ms. Jewell.

Principal Jewell was unable to remember facts, dates and reference to certain students. Ms. Jewell's reliance on "uncorroborated, non-supported, hearsay by unproduced witnesses" discredited her testimony.

Although Superintendent Sampson signed the tenure charges, he demonstrated a lack of familiarity of the facts. Mr. Sampson acknowledged he was not personally familiar with Dr. Holeman or the events that constituted his removal.

The charges and allegations were considered minor by Respondent's counsel. Except for the use of an elevated voice, none of the charges amounted to just cause.

Upon instructions from the District, Dr. Holeman submitted to both a psychological exam and a blood test. The laboratory report found no evidence of steroids. A Psychiatric Consultant, Daniel Gollin, M.D. concluded that Dr. Holeman was fit to resume his duties as a School Psychologist. After requiring an employee to undergo a fitness for duty examination, the Board cannot "arbitrarily reject both the physician's conclusion" and the result of the blood test.

"The District investigation was never about determining the truth of a matter or ascertaining both sides of a story. Rather, the investigation was about tailoring its process, its collection of selective 'facts' and framing its results for one simple objective: "remove Dr. Holeman from the District."

DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS

The matter addressed in this award differs from many of the tenure decisions arbitrated under the TEACHNJ Act. The intent of the Statute is to "raise student achievement by improving instruction through the adoption of evaluations that provide specific feedback to educators, inform the provision of aligned professional development, and inform personnel decisions:"

The Statute addresses the development of a corrective action plan "to correct deficiencies and improve a teacher's effectiveness" in the classroom. Under the Act the employee receives an annual summative evaluation rating of "ineffective, partially effective or effective." Since Dr. Holeman is not a classroom teacher, the provisions regarding classroom effectiveness are not applicable. However, one might argue that a counselor has an impact on student achievement.

The responsibilities of a School Psychologist include providing counseling services, obtaining appropriate services for student mental problems, diagnostic assessment of pupils with educational disabilities, individual and group therapy, preparation and submission of required reports and interaction with school personnel and community mental health and social welfare agencies.

Under the District's job description, the School Psychologist reports to his or her Appropriate Supervisor, Principal and, or Central Administrator as designated by the Superintendent. The duties of the School Psychologist specify that he or she "upholds and enforces school rules, administrative regulations, and Board policies." The requirements of the School Psychologist include "makes an effort to establish and maintain cooperative working relationships with students, parents, peers, employees and community."

The Petitioner charged that Dr. Holeman's behavior was in violation of several requirements for that of a School Psychologist and that of a District staff member.

Charge 1. Dr. Holeman engaged in inappropriate behavior as a school counselor and a professional, habitually made disparaging and demeaning remarks about colleagues, staff members, and administration, and failing to meet his professional obligations to special education students.

The hearing record supports the charge. While the Respondent contended that it was not uncommon for the staff to criticize administrators it does not negate the fact that he made disparaging comments about his superiors and colleagues. Principal Jewell and Supervisor Minervini cited comments that were inappropriate and considered disrespectful by both administrators.

Although Ms. Jewell believed AV reminded her of a "battered woman," the student's state of mind cannot be confirmed. However, Psychologist Samuel Grove, a counselor with considerable experience, testified he would not recommend yelling when counseling a student. Thus, I have determined this charge had been sustained.

Charge 2. Dr. Holeman engaged in inappropriate and unethical conduct by soliciting former and current students for his private practice.

The evidence did establish that Dr. Holeman accepted a counseling fee from the parents of a then current student in 2013.

Dr. Holeman's explanation he was told that receiving a fee for counseling a student on home instruction was acceptable is not credible. At a later date he informed a parent he could not accept a fee if a student was currently enrolled at Freehold Boro Regional High School. There was no evidence, except for the 2013 fee, that established Dr. Holeman received a fee for counseling a current District student. Furthermore, There is no policy prohibiting the acceptance of a counseling fee for services rendered in behalf of a former student.

Charge 3. Dr. Holeman spent a substantial amount of time during the school day working at his private counseling practice, and even utilized his school office for his private practice; all of which resulted in a severe dereliction and failure to complete his assigned responsibilities and obligations to the students he was assigned to evaluate and/or case manage.

The District was unable to prove that Dr. Holeman spent a substantial amount of time conducting private business on school time. The Respondent testified that he often sent emails before his workday began or on lunch break or during non-assigned periods. While the allegation may have merit, the District did not establish Dr. Holeman utilized "substantial" work time when conducting non-school activities.

The Respondent did use the school mailing address in his correspondence with the New Jersey State Board of Examiners. Dr. Holeman admitted he did use his Freehold Borough High School email address on occasion to set up or manage appointments for his private counseling practice. It is understandable why for numerous reasons, including liability, the District would prohibit the use of its email system for non-school activities. Dr. Holeman's use of the District's email system both during and after school hours in the conduct of his private counseling practice was ill advised.

The District had also charged that Dr. Holeman had been delinquent in the completion and submission of IEP's. Ms. Minervini testified that she was led to understand that the Respondent's IEP's were compliant with State requirements. This ceased to be correct after January 2016.

Dr. Holeman stated that he was not the only staff member responsible for completion of IEP's. He testified that other members of the Child Study Team had time restraints and that the final button was "pushed" by the guidance department secretary. This reference to the secretary was not accurate in that he actually "pushed" the button. Although it was correct that the student load had increased over time, the secretary was not responsible for the delay. Dr. Holeman had an obligation to apprise Ms. Minervini of any delay in submission of IEP's.

Charge 4. Dr. Holeman inappropriately and unethically shared confidential student information outside the District.

Dr. Holeman did share information concerning a student with his wife. His wife is a social worker employed in a neighboring school system. There is no evidence the email was read by any other individuals. While it is a violation of confidentiality and according to confidentiality requirements should not have been shared. If sensitive information is shared with a spouse, it is more prudent not to email this information.

Charge 5. Dr. Holeman interacted with students in an inappropriate and unethical manner.

While there is no evidence that Dr. Holeman had an inappropriate relationship with any student the content of emails could have been more carefully thought out. One might conclude that Dr. Holeman did not always exercise good judgment, especially in regard to comments concerning colleagues and administrators.

Although the Petitioner signaled out emails exchanged with former students, contact with former students is not addressed by District Policy.

Charge 6. Dr. Holeman failed to disclose a former employer on his application, ostensibly because he was terminated from his position.

The charge that Dr. Holeman omitted his brief employment with the West Morris Regional High School on his application is correct. On examination of the application, it appears that a section listing previous experience may have been covered with white out liquid. It is difficult to ascertain why the Freehold District did not explore the question of any omissions at the time Dr. Holeman submitted his application.

Dr. Holeman testified he was not terminated by the West Morris District. The evidence obtained through a local newspaper and West Morris District Board of Education minutes confirm that he was abruptly dismissed from the District. Given the failure on the part of the Freehold District to question Dr. Holeman when he submitted his application in June of 2004, and the number of years that he had been employed by the District, I believe the application matter is "stale."

An additional concern dealt with suspicion Dr. Holeman had taken steroids. Staff member Lindsay Pantaleo stated that Dr. Holeman had told her that his wife had expressed concern about his use of steroids. Ms. Pantaleo repeated Dr. Holdman's comment to Susan Guercio. The result of a blood test required by the Petitioner revealed no evidence of substance abuse.

The District requested that Dr. Holeman also undergo a psychiatric exam. The psychiatrist concluded that Dr. Holeman could return to his position as a School Psychologist.

However, of particular concern are the repercussions generated by Dr. Holeman's behavior. The statements and testimony contained in the hearing record show a breakdown in Dr. Holeman's relationship with colleagues and administrators.

As previously noted, several individuals testified that in his interaction with students and parents Dr. Holeman was excessively loud to the extent he was asked to lower his voice.

Supervisor Gallo testified that although she asked Dr. Holeman to lower his voice he continued to be heard outside his office by both parents and students.

Ms. Pantaleo alleged that during the PARCC exam Dr. Holeman talked negatively about administrators in a voice she believed could be heard by students. She noted in her written statement that she found Dr. Holeman visibly agitated and erratic. Ms. Pantaleo commented that she also found Dr. Holeman's language inappropriate.

It is important that the guidance department, teaching staff and administration maintain a cooperative relationship. The hearing record reveals the relationship between Dr. Holeman and others had been damaged.

Dr. Holeman sent an email containing profanity to Supervisor Minervini stating that she "caved." He also "inappropriately and insubordinately" told Ms. Minervini in an email to tell a co-worker, Lisette Salguero, not to refer him any cases. Para professional Susan Guercio alleged that Dr. Holeman had mistreated and talked down to her. Supervisor Minervini stated she found it necessary to abruptly end a meeting with Dr. Holeman due to his "disrespectful, inappropriate and volatile[behavior] told her...."

Dr. Holeman testified that he had a very good relationship with Principal Jewell. After Ms. Jewell was informed that Dr. Holeman's behavior had become erratic, their relationship changed. It became especially tenuous in a meeting attended by Freehold Boro Regional High School Union President Debbie Gates-Kane and Principal Jewell. Ms. Gates-Kane stated that she found it necessary to move in between Ms. Jewell and Dr. Holeman for concern of a physical confrontation. Ms. Gates-Kane testified she was "called in" because his colleagues "were afraid of him...." She also stated that Dr. Holeman said to Ms. Jewell that she should "sleep with one eye open." Rarely does an Association representative provide potentially negative testimony. It is also unusual for colleagues to criticize a fellow staff member in writing and through testimony.

There is reason to conclude that it would be inadvisable to reinstate Dr. Holeman. The record indicates irrevocable differences between the administration, staff members and Dr. Holeman. In order to effectively serve the needs of students it is important the school Guidance Department function free of conflict.

AWARD:

For the reasons described above, the Tenure Charges submitted by the Freehold Boro Regional School District against Dr. Brett Holeman are sustained.

Ruling on Respondent's Motion to Dismiss

Background:

The matter concerns the dismissal of Brett D. Holeman, Psy.D., a tenured psychologist employed by the Freehold Regional School District and assigned to the system's high school.

At its September 12, 2016 meeting, the Board of Education considered allegations made against Dr. Holeman and voted to support the Sworn Tenure Charges submitted by Superintendent of Schools, Charles B. Sampson. The Board decided that Dr. Holeman's behavior warranted removal and revocation of his tenure status.

As required under New Jersey law, the allegations were forwarded to the Commissioner of Education. After review of the allegations, the Commissioner of Education determined that the matter should be referred to arbitration.

Specifically, the Board identified a number of allegations that were contained in its submission to the Commissioner. The Board characterized Dr. Holeman as unprofessional, unethical and engaging in illegal activities. The contentions prepared by Superintendent Charles B. Sampson included the following accusations:

a) Dr. Holeman engaged in inappropriate behavior as a school counselor, and a professional, habitually made disparaging and demeaning remarks about colleagues, staff members, and the Administration, and failing to meet his professional obligations to special education students.

b) Dr. Holeman engaged in inappropriate and unethical conduct by soliciting former and current students as patients for his private counseling practice.

c) Dr. Holeman spent a substantial amount of time during the school day working at his private counseling practice, and even utilized his school office for his private counseling practice; all of which resulted in a severe dereliction and failure to complete his assigned responsibilities and obligations to the students he was assigned to evaluate and/or case manage.

d) Dr. Holeman inappropriately and unethically shared confidential student information outside of the District.

e) Dr. Holeman interacted with students in an inappropriate and unethical manner.

f) Dr. Holeman intentionally failed to disclose a former employer on his application, ostensibly because he was terminated from his position.

g) Dr. Holeman does not suffer from any psychological defect or condition that explains or justifies his conduct.

h) Dr. Holeman does not have a substance abuse problem that contributed to his conduct.

The submission filed by the Board contained very specific allegations that it argued justified Respondent's removal from his tenured position.

Through his attorneys, Respondent answered each of the Tenure Charges filed by the Board. Dr. Holeman denied the accusations made against him by the Board through his legal counsel Aileen O'Driscoll, Esq. In response to the Tenure Charges, Attorney O'Driscoll contended that the Petitioner had failed to sufficiently show just cause. Ms. O'Driscoll argued that based upon deficiencies in the Board's case the charges be dismissed.

In addition to the failure to establish just cause, the Respondent charged the Petitioner had failed to comply with the provision of N.J.S.A. 18A: 6-17. The language cited by the Petitioner is that the District:

> "shall provide all evidence including, but not limited to, documents, electronic evidence, statements of witnesses, and a list of witnesses with a complete summary of their testimony, to the employee or the employee's representative. The employing board of education shall be precluded from presenting any additional evidence at the hearing, except for purposes of impeachment of witnesses."

Attorney O'Driscoll argued in the instant matter the District "produced a wholly deficient witness list which includes a large number of individuals, and unacceptable summaries of the testimony each person will offer." The intent of the statute, Ms. O'Driscoll stated, requires hat pertinent documents held by the Petitioner are to be forwarded as soon as the case is referred to the arbitrator. The Legislature intended that tenure charges be decided expeditiously.

Also noted in Respondent's argument for dismissal was a reference to IMO Ebert and State Operated School District of New Jersey, Agency DKT. No. 49 – 3/15. The citation emphasized the necessity of full disclosure of witnesses and a summary of their testimony. Respondent's attorney considered this not only a requirement of the Statute but also an entitlement given that the "teacher is in a reactive posture."

The list was described by Respondent's counsel as "wholly deficient." The list identified more than twenty-five (25) names with vague summaries of their testimony. Respondent also argued the list had been delayed and not produced until requested by counsel. Ms. O'Driscoll contended that this delay alone warranted dismissal of the charges.

An additional matter contested by the Respondent concerned Petitioner's issuance of subpoenas. In preparation of the charges, the Petitioner sought to obtain, through subpoenas, the personnel records of two other school districts. The districts, West Morris Regional School District and Marlboro Regional Township, were considered pertinent by the Petitioner for purposes of credibility and ethics. West Morris Regional School District was identified as Dr. Holeman's previous employer. The Marlboro Township School District Administration had been contacted by the Petitioner in regard to a recent application for employment submitted by Dr. Holeman after the tenure charge process commenced. The Petitioner speculated that the Marlboro application might contain false information.

Respondent's attorney argued the issuance of subpoenas was improper. Ms. O'Driscoll contended the subpoenas were untimely since they were not issued until October 28, 2016, two days after the parties' conference call on October 26, 2016. Ms. O'Driscoll also argued that the issuance of subpoenas rests solely with the arbitrator. Neither N.J.S.A. 18A: 16-17 and AAA rules allude to the issuance of subpoenas by an attorney. Omission of subpoena authority, Respondent's attorney argued, reflects her position regarding the issuance of subpoenas.

In my opinion, an attorney of record in New Jersey can issue a subpoena. This view is based on interpretation of the following:

> A subpoena may be issued by either: „ The clerk of the court. „ An attorney. „ A party in the name of the clerk. (N.J. Ct. R. 1:9-1). Practitioners most commonly issue subpoenas by signing the subpoena in the name of the clerk. In certain specialized proceedings, the following may also issue subpoenas: „ Judicial officers and sometimes law enforcement officers in municipal proceedings (N.J. Ct. R. 7:7-8). „ Judges and non-lawyer representatives in administrative proceedings (N.J. Admin. Code ξ 1:1-11.1). „ Arbitrators in arbitration proceedings (N.J. Stat. Ann. ξ 2A: 23B-17).
>
> Under its Labor Arbitration Rules of the American Arbitration Association:
>
> 27. Evidence and Filing of Documents
>
> The parties may offer such evidence as is relevant and material to the dispute, and shall produce such evidence as he arbitrator may deem necessary to an understanding and determination of the dispute. An arbitrator or other person authorized by law to subpoena witnesses and documents may do so independently or upon request of any party....

Discussion of Motion to Dismiss

As indicated, it is my opinion that the State of New Jersey allows an attorney to issue subpoenas. However, the weight to be given to the information sought by the Petitioner is questionable. The Marlboro Regional School District subpoena is not relevant to the tenure charges since it represents a post termination document. Furthermore, the Petitioner does not know with certainty that its suspicions are valid.

The West Morris Regional School District subpoena has limited weight given that the Respondent has been in the employ of the Freehold District for approximately thirteen (13) years. During the years of Dr. Holeman's employment, the Freehold Regional District did not investigate or question his previous experience.

The release of personnel records is resisted by employers. Thus, the Petitioner's efforts to obtain personnel records have limited chance of success without a directive from the Court.

The witness list was acknowledged by Petitioner to be longer than the actual number of individuals who would likely be called to testify. The summary of witness statements is vague. While the relationship of possible witnesses can be culled from the tenure charge filed with the Commissioner of Education, I have instructed Petitioner to forward a more accurate list of witnesses and a more precise synopsis of their anticipated testimony.

The Respondent had taken issue with the failure on the part of Petitioner to adhere to the timelines prescribed under N.J.S.A. 18A: 6-17.1. As described below:

> (3) Upon referral of the case for arbitration, the employing board of education shall provide all evidence including, but not limited to, documents, electronic evidence, statements of witnesses, and a list of witnesses with a complete summary of their testimony, to the employee or the employee's representative. The employing board of education shall be precluded from presenting any additional evidence at the hearing, except for purposes of impeachment of witnesses. At least 10 days prior to the hearing, the employee shall provide all evidence upon which he will rely including, but not limited to, documents, electronic evidence, statements of witnesses, and a list of witnesses with a complete summary of their testimony, to the employing board of education or its representative. The employee shall be precluded from presenting any additional evidence at the hearing except for purposes of impeachment of witnesses.

I have taken into consideration the above and other issues raised by Respondent's attorney and do not believe they warrant dismissal of the Tenure Charges.

The Bureau of Controversies and Disputes forwarded the applicable file to me on or about October 11, 2016. The parties were informed of my selection a few days later and preferred to delay selection of hearing dates until they were officially notified of my appointment. This has resulted in delay of the process. The first hearing date was convened with the attorneys and arbitrator via a conference call on October 26, 2016. A second conference call was initiated on November 22, 2016. Hearing dates have been selected and various issues and concerns were expressed by both attorneys on November 22, 2016. A meeting to discuss a possible settlement is scheduled for December 12, 2016.

Selection of hearing dates has been complicated by the prior commitments of both representatives. Strict adherence to N.J.S.A. 18A: 6-17.1 timelines has been unavoidable. Neither party has deliberately delayed selection of hearing dates.

Given the above conclusions, I have determined that Dismissal of the Tenure Charge should not be granted.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner – a former Paterson school teacher who retired on September 1, 2015, after teaching for approximately 28 years – filed multiple petitions with the New Jersey Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, beginning in April of 2016. The allegations in all of the petitions relate to events that occurred during Ms. Donahue's prior service as a teacher in the Paterson school district, and involve charges of nepotism and favoritism by district administrators, as well as various wrongs she claims to have been subjected to – including being denied use of sick days. The respondent school district filed a motion to dismiss, contending that the petitions were late filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i).

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: many of the allegations – which petitioner stated were motivated by her belief that Paterson school children have not received the thorough and efficient education they deserve because resources have been squandered by the administration, and because of inadequate supervision of the performance of teaching staff – assert the rights of third parties rather than those of petitioner herself; petitioner does not have standing to bring allegations that only assert the rights of others and not wrongs allegedly visited upon her; further, those allegations that do relate directly to wrongs against petitioner occurred during her employment in the school district, which ended September 1, 2015; the earliest petition of the several filed by Ms. Donahue was not filed until April 29, 2016. The ALJ concluded that all of the petitions were untimely and must be dismissed for failure to comply with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i).

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ. Accordingly, the Initial Decision was adopted as the final decision in this matter and the petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed, along with petitioners' exceptions – filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 – and the District's reply thereto.

In her exceptions, petitioner expresses dissatisfaction with the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) Initial Decision. Petitioner argues that this matter is not out of time because many of her allegations continued after her employment with the District and are still ongoing. Petitioner also argues that she has standing because she was a teacher in the District, but could not bring her claims while working out of fear of retaliation.

In reply, the District argues that petitioner's exceptions simply air her grievances, rather than taking exception to specific findings of fact or conclusions of law. The District argues that the ALJ's decision is well reasoned and urges the Commissioner to affirm the Initial Decision.

Upon review, the Commissioner does not find petitioner's exceptions to be persuasive. The Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that petitioner does not have standing to bring allegations that only assert the rights of others. The Commissioner further agrees with the ALJ that any allegations of wrongdoing by the District aimed at the petitioner are out of time – as petitioner retired on September 1, 2015, and the first petition was not filed until April 2016. As such, the matter is appropriately dismissed because it was filed outside the 90-day limitation period set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i).

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter – for the reasons thoroughly expressed therein – and the petition is hereby dismissed.

Respondent.

Kathleen Donohue, petitioner, pro se

Robert Murray, Esq., for respondent

Record Closed: March 3, 2017 Decided: April 6, 2017

BEFORE JOHN P. SCOLLO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner, Kathleen Donohue (Donohue or Petitioner), is a former Paterson school teacher who retired on September 1, 2015. Donohue filed four Petitions in the form of letters with the Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes. The first Petition, containing ten allegations, is dated April 21, 2016, and was filed on April 29, 2016. The second Petition, containing two allegations, is dated April 26, 2016, and was filed on April 29, 2016. The third Petition, containing twenty-four allegations, is dated May 16, 2016, (with a notarized signature dated May 13, 2016) and was filed on May 23, 2016. The fourth Petition, containing two allegations, is dated May 16, 2016, and was filed on May 23, 2016. Many of the allegations are repetitive.
