A choice tract of land.

TO BE SOLD,

A TRACT of land lying on both sides of Paul-linkin creek, Sussex county, and within three miles of the river Delaware, formerly surveyed and returned for 900 acres, with the usual allowance, but is supposed to contain upwards of 1000 acres.
 The quality of the land is extraordinary good for wheat, lies level, and is very free from stones, and easily worked; it may be conveniently laid out into four or five plantations, each to have a front on the water, as the creek runs nearly through the middle of the tract. There is a good and convenient landing on the creek, about a mile and a half from the land, where Durham boats of any burthen may load, and rafts may be floated down to Philadelphia. There are on the land three well improved plantations, now in possession of Samuel Bonham, John Puffon and Ralph Brugler, whose leases expire next spring. A considerable deal of upland, and some meadow already cleared, and much more to clear. The pleasant and convenient situation, the good quality of the upland, meadowland and bottom ground, must always render this tract of land equal, if not superior, to any of the same extent in Sussex county.

The subscriber would wish to sell the whole to one person; or, if too much for one, to several, who would jointly purchase, and agree to divide the land to suit their own convenience. As the whole of the land may be cleared, the purchaser or purchasers can be supplied with a tract of timber-land which lies very handy, at a very cheap and reasonable rate. The payments will be easy; the title is clear. For farther particulars, and terms of sale, apply to the subscriber living in Kingwood township, Hunterdon county. CHARLES COXE.

 1782. c. t. f.

WHEREAS by an act of Congress of the 4th of October last, it is strongly recommended to persons in power, and the citizens of the United States at large, to guard themselves against the machinations of the common enemy, who, relinquishing their hope of conquering us, have changed their mode of warfare from open attack by arms to secret and insidious intrigue; and it appears to this assembly that the friends and emissaries of Great-Britain are using every private endeavour, as well as public application, to obtain admittance into the United States, thereby evincing the wisdom of Congress in the act before recited. And whereas, it highly behoves the representatives of the people to watch with a jealous eye all such attempts, and to caution their constituents against every endeavour to disunite them, to alienate their affections from our great and generous ally the King of France, or to produce new or revive ancient prejudices in favour of that nation, by whose hand the blood of our citizens hath been spilt and our country desolated, and who still pursue the war with the same determined and vindictive malignity but to destroy us; and finally, that emissaries or friends to the British nation, whether natives or foreigners, and who have become so either from education, commercial views, or any other principle, should not in this time of great and general danger, be entrusted with power or admitted to office within this state, but more particularly in the Legislature, in whole wife and guarded councils the safety and happiness of the people can be best ensured.

Resolved unanimously therefore, That it be earnestly recommended to all the good citizens of this Commonwealth, that in all future elections of Representatives, and officers of trust and power, caution be used, that no foreigner or native, who may give cause of suspicion that he is attached to the interests of Great-Britain, either by birth, education, commercial views, or any other principle, be admitted thereto; and that they be guardedly careful to elect no person whatsoever who has not given the most early, decided, and unequivocal proofs of his attachment to the cause of America, and the present alliances with France and Holland; inasmuch as every such admission will tend to further and promote the views of Great-Britain to weaken the union and endanger the independence of America.

Resolved unanimously, That publication be made of the aforesaid recommendation and resolutions thereon, in the Virginia Gazette, that copies thereof be forthwith printed and dispersed by the members of the present assembly, in their respective counties, and delivered to the several sheriffs, to be by them affixed in all publick places, and publickly read at the court-house or place of opening the poll for Representatives at the next annual election.

Teste,
JOHN BECKLEY, C. H. D.

BALTIMORE, January 21.

The schooner Antelope, Captain Garston, of this port, on her way down the bay, captured, on Sunday last, off the mouth of Rappahannock, the privateer schooner Active, from New-York, and retook a schooner belonging to Virginia.

Copy of a journal of a Spanish officer in the combined fleet, from the 13th to the 20th of October, inclusive, received by one of our Virginia correspondents from Cadiz, in the ship Nancy, arrived at Petersburg.

On board the San Rafael, commanded by Don Buena Ventura Moreno, Rear-Admiral, 13th Oct. 1782.

THE British fleet having fallen into the Mediterranean, in the night of the 11th, Don Louis de Cordova, this morning, made signal for the combined fleet to get under way; wind at W. N. W. The Triomphante, of 80 guns, being greatly to leeward, fell under the fire of Gibraltar, but received no considerable damage. At 12 o'clock, having doubled Europa Point, we discovered the British squadron standing to the eastward; and the Admiral immediately made signal for a general chase.

14th. At day-break the British fleet appeared to the southward; and six leagues off Marvella, we took a transport, with 3 officers and 23 soldiers of the 25th and 59th regiments. We pursued the enemy all day, who, in the evening, could only be seen from our main-top-gallant-mast head, being to the southward, under easy sail.

15th. Wind at E.—British fleet to windward; at two o'clock, P. M. lost sight of them—stood over to the coast of Africa.

16th. Bristle gale from S. E. and by E. high sea—no sight of the enemy—combined fleet beat to windward.

17th and 18th. Wind at E.—vanguard of the combined fleet out of sight—re-joined them at 2 o'clock, A. M.—18th, no sight of the enemy.

19th. Wind at E.—At day-break the British fleet appeared off Punta de la Mina, on the coast of Africa—the combined fleet immediately gave chase, to prevent them from anchoring in Gibraltar-Bay, where they had already saved the convoy. At half after eight, having doubled Punta de la Mina, the British admiral fired a shot to windward, and hoisted the signal for forming the line of battle; the vanguard of the combined fleet being within a league and an half of his rear. At nine the British van having passed Europa Point, the whole fleet stood into the Straights. At three, P. M. being then off Tariffa, we could only distinguish them from our main-top-gallant-mast head, bearing W. N. W. We continued chase all night under top-gallant-sails.

20th. Wind at N. E.—At day-break the British fleet appeared four leagues ahead under easy sail—the combined fleet gave chase till one o'clock, P. M. being about 12 or 13 leagues westward of Cape Spartel, when the British formed the line of battle, and brought too, to leeward. Cordova immediately made signal to form the line without regard to divisions, four miles to windward of the enemy. At three o'clock the admiral fired a shot to leeward, and hoisted his flag, which was immediately answered by the British. At half after three a cutter hailed us (the St. Rafael) and ordered us to take our station ahead of the admiral, and the Bretagne to fall under his stern. About five the Count de Guichen, with four ships, attempted to double the rear of the British, but ineffectually, as, perceiving the manœuvre, they crowded sail and bore off. At half after five the vanguard of the combined fleet began the fire, which was warmly returned from the British van and centre. At half after six the admiral ordered the St. Rafael, Majeftueux, Bretagne and Indien, to bear down upon the British line, and endeavour to cut off three 90 gun ships and a 74 of their rear. They received us with a severe and well directed fire, which we returned with equal vivacity; till finding the operation impracticable, by their immediately closing up to their centre, we returned to our stations in the line. About eight the fire became general from the British against our van and centre, as twelve ships of our rear, amongst which was the Terrible of 110 guns, the French admiral, and several other first rates, could never be brought to action.—The enemy's fleet consisted of 34 sail of the line, amongst which were the Victory and Britannia, of 110 guns, six of 90, and four of 80. At eleven the fire ceased, as the British bore away before the wind with every sail they could carry. We gave chase the remainder of the night, and in the morning perceived them near four leagues to leeward; at 11, A. M. they were entirely out of sight. Three of their ships appeared greatly damaged; and we suffered severely enough, having but 32 ships in action against 34 of theirs, much superior in weight of metal. We lost upwards of 300 men killed and wounded, and from 15 to 20 officers; eight of our ships were absolutely disabled in their masts and rigging.

LONDON, October 28.

According to the last advices from Leghorn, the new Turkish Minister was indefatigable in his endeavours to recover the city of Constantinople from the late fatal calamity, to preserve a spirit of harmony among the Janissaries, supply the markets with corn, and set the affairs of that country on a prosperous and permanent footing.

The whole damage done by the enemy at Hudson's Bay, may be estimated at 50,000, which is equal to some years nett profit on that trade.

All the Dutch accounts give the most positive assurances of the determinations of the States to carry on the war another campaign.

There are more than 20 sail of Jamaica ships still missing, not one of which has either been seen or heard of by any other vessel since they were separated by the storm.

Government is more apprehensive of the manœuvres than of the spirit of the enemy, as it is certainly their interest to avoid an action, and cut off the convoy if they can.

The Chacer sloop of war, Captain Cox, is taken in the East-Indies by the squadron under the command of M. Suffrein; it is feared she had money on board from Bengal, going to Madras.

The French transport L'Oreston, taken by the Chapman East-Indiaman, in the road of Negapatam, she conceiving that to be a friendly port, had on board the Surgeon of the Hannibal of 50 guns, captured by De Suffrein, and also the Surgeon General and fourteen assistants of the French.

Besides the Scipio, Revolution and Buckaneer, the Americans have two other privateers out from the ports of France, now cruising in the European seas; they are called the Rambler and Dreadnought, the last of which is commanded by a relation of the celebrated Cunningham.

There has been an insurrection of the manufacturers at Birmingham, from a determination to lower the price of malt; they have so far succeeded as to fall the price from 7s. 6d. a bushel to 5s. 6d. The civil power was called in, and we are happy to declare that all is quiet again.

Monf. D'Orves, the French commander, died on board the L'Orient in the East-Indies, in December last, on which the whole command devolved on De Suffrein.

On enquiry, we have every reason to believe, that all the accounts published of a negotiation carrying on by General Berkenrode, Messieurs Reynevelt, Randolph, Diggs, Oswald, cum multis aliis, are absolute forgeries, without the minutest foundation in truth whatever.

KINGSTON, (Jamaica) Dec. 28.
Last Saturday, Sunday and Monday, the homeward bound fleet, consisting of about 70 sail of merchantmen, sailed from Port-Royal, under convoy of his Majesty's ships Ardent, Hydra and Vaughan. His Majesty's ships the London, Ajax and Torbay, accompany them to a certain latitude, and are then to proceed to join Lord Hood's squadron, now cruising in the neighbourhood of Hispaniola. By arrivals since the departure of the fleet, we have been informed, that an attempt had been made to beat through the windward passage, but the winds and currents being much against them, they had been under the necessity of bearing away for the Gulph passage.

The ships Lord North, Hector, Friendship, John Byron, Bristol and Albion, anchored in this harbour on Sunday last, in 46 days from Bristol. The 28th ult. they fell in with a Spanish Xebec, mounting 22 guns, and 70 men, which, after a few broadsides, struck to the Hector. In the above Xebec, which left Cadiz the 10th of November, many papers and letters have been found, containing information very material to every person interested in the welfare of this island: the following are extracted from some of them:

EXTRACTS from the LETTERS.

From Thomas Solevero, to his cousin Thadeo Pinal and Munez.

Cadiz, 1st November, 1782.

"From the camp at St. Roque, there has arrived in this city, and the environs, more than 12,000 troops, Spanish and French; it is said they are to embark for Cape Francois, with a large fleet under the command of the Count d'Estaing, to go against Jamaica. Should we get such another blow as that of de Grasse, they will be our masters as before, and command the world. It is now said, that the squadron for Cape Francois will be composed of 24 ships of the line, and 4 frigates, Spanish, for which provisions are preparing for six months; it appears there will likewise go 14 ships and 4 frigates, French. This is the way to do something!"

From the Count of Quinta Alegre, to the Marquis of Real Agrado.

Cadiz, 6th November, 1782.

"An order has come to prepare 24 ships of the line, the object of which, we believe, is Jamaica: God grant us success!"

Cadiz, 6th November, 1782.

"Twenty-four ships of the line and four frigates are named for the West-Indies: We are assured they will be joined by 16 French, and that the whole will be commanded by the Count d'Estaing: They will of course carry out troops, and this force, it is said, goes against Jamaica."

There are many other letters to the same purport, some of which give a particular list of the names and force of 24 Spanish line of battle ships destined for the purpose above-mentioned.

Thursday arrived the ship Bridget, Captain Rufel, in forty days from the Downs. A packet for this island, and the small fleet for the West-Indies, consisting of a few transports, victuallers and store-ships, sailed from England a few days before the Bridget.

At the time of her departure, it was currently reported, that the preliminaries for a separate peace between England and Holland, either were, or would be shortly signed.

The commotions in Ireland were likely to subside, on the relinquishment of the fencible scheme, which, it was thought, the Ministry would abandon, in consideration of a promise which some of the popular leaders had been empowered to make, of presenting to his Majesty four ships of 110 guns each. A subscription had been already begun for one of 100 guns, to be named the Hibernia.

St. JOHN'S, ANTIGUA, November 2.

A neutral vessel arrived here yesterday, the Captain of which says, that, the day before, he had spoken a vessel coming out of Guadaloupe, by which he was informed, it was very currently reported and believed, that a British squadron had arrived at Barbadoes, with a great number of troops.—The Marquis de Bouille had arrived in a frigate, but we do not understand that the enemy had received any other reinforcement.

His Majesty's ship Argo has carried a large ordnance store-ship into St. Lucia; she is an old 64, armed en flute, bound from France to Martinique, with brass cannon, powder, clothing, and every kind of warlike stores.

BOSTON, January 16.

Last Tuesday night a sloop from the North-River, loaded with wood, ran ashore on Scituate Beach, and immediately bilged: the surf running high, and the weather being extremely cold, the men on board were not able to get ashore, but hung upon the wreck till the morning, when some people from Scituate went to their relief, and found them covered with ice, and frozen in such a manner that several of them must inevitably lose some of their limbs.

January 23.

Marshfield, January 11, 1783.

"This day came on shore on this beach, a sloop of about 50 tons, her decks blown up, her masts gone, but found near her, with the rigging and main-sail on it, a quantity of fresh pork and beef, some clothes and sundries, one man found, but unknown. It is judged by people here, that she was bound from Boston to some part of the eastward; no papers have been found. Two pair of buckles, one marked C. I. and the others I. B. were found with the body. THOMAS WATERMAN.

Three other vessels are on shore near Scituate, supposed to be coasters.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 10.

The following is a copy of a printed hand-bill received on Saturday night last from Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, February 5.

Yesterday arrived the schooner Harlequin, Captain White, in 14 days from St. Kitts, by which we have the following important intelligence:

Extract of a letter from St. Kitts, dated the 15th of January, 1783, brought by the Harlequin.

"I congratulate you on the news of peace; indeed I may venture to assure you that it has already taken place in Europe. Letters from England as late as the 29th of November mention, that it was expected to happen in a few days. The parliament was prorogued from the 26th of November to the 3th of December, on that account.

"Letters from Dominica and Guadeloupe say, that the preliminaries are actually signed; for my own part, I have no doubt of it, though there are some people here who have; a few days, or perhaps hours, will probably put us out of suspense.

"Trade, at St. Thomas's, is entirely at a stand; they are all thunderstruck."

BASSETTERRÉ, January 15.

The important and agreeable intelligence of a PEACE being concluded between the belligerent powers, which has circulated here for some time, gains ground daily, and seems now to be confirmed; we heartily wish it to be true: It is said that the intelligence comes from good authority, and that the Anson, of 64 guns, is absolutely arrived at Barbadoes, from England, with that interesting news.—The terms are said to be, America to be acknowledged an independent state by all parties, the loyalists to be reimbursed for all their losses, and such of them as choose, may remain peaceably in America; but if they quit, they may sell their property, and have a grant of land in East or West Florida, Nova-Scotia, Canada or Porto-Rico; which places are to be given to England, and guaranteed by the powers at war; Gibraltar and Minorca to be given to Spain in lieu of Porto-Rico, and all places and islands taken by either party to be reciprocally restored, except Grenada, which France is to hold to reimburse her for the expenses of the war.

This last article is not certain, as the court of England absolutely refused giving up Grenada, and it is not known what party has yielded their claim; but if we might be allowed an opinion, we think France has, as that island is not worth the expence of another campaign.

We are just informed, that an American vessel from P'Orient, arrived a day or two ago, at Guadeloupe, and brings a confirmation of the peace.

TRENTON, February 12.

By letters from New-York, we are informed of the arrival of the King of Britain's speech, which announces an approaching peace.—That Capt. Barry, in the Alliance, who was arrived in Martinico from France, brought news that the preliminaries of peace were signed—And that several letters from the West-Indies declare peace to be actually concluded.

*** Just as this paper was ready for press, we were favoured with the speech above-mentioned, which we have printed in a supplement.

A dwelling-house and plantation lying about two miles from Elizabeth-Town, on the great road to Philadelphia, containing near two hundred acres, fifty of which is woodland, fifty of it good meadow, and the remainder extraordinary pasture and ploughland, the whole well watered, the house is built of brick, two stories high, with four rooms on a floor, a good kitchen, and a cellar under the whole; there is also a good barn and other out-houses, a fine well of water near the door, an excellent garden, with plenty of the best fruit trees; likewise two very good orchards.

Also a small plantation containing about thirty acres, with the dwelling-house and improvements thereon; on part of this land is a very excellent orchard, the remainder exceeding good meadow.—This house is commonly known by the name of the Wheat-Sheaf tavern; it has been a publick house for many years, and is in a very good stand for business, being situate nearly opposite to where the road from Raritan falls into the main road to Philadelphia.

Also a large commodious dwelling-house in Elizabeth-Town, with a lot of land and garden to the same belonging, generally known by the name of the White-House: It is a very good stand for publick business.

Also a very neat dwelling-house, two stories high, with the ground and garden to the same belonging, where Mrs. White now lives, adjoining the house and land of Doctor Dayton: It is in a most pleasant and agreeable part of the town.

Also several small tenements and lots of land lying in the said town; likewise sundry tracts of land lying in the county of Morris, one of which is in what is called the Great Swamp, being an extraordinary tract of timber and woodland.

Also several plantations and lots of land in the county of Sussex; the lots are in Newtown, near the court-house, as are also some of the plantations. Whoever should incline to purchase, by applying to the trustees, may, very probably, find the terms agreeable, as there will not be any immediate occasion for a principal part of the purchase money, for upon that being properly secured, and the interest paid, it will not perhaps be called for in years to come.

Supplement to the NEW-JERSEY GAZETTE. No. 268.

NEW-YORK, February 9, 1783.

By the Brigantine Peggy, Captain M'Niel, in 19 days from Tortola, we have received the following copy of His Majesty's Most Gracious Speech to both Houses of Parliament, on Thursday, December 5, 1782. Which was brought to Tortola, from Windward, by Captain Rodney, Son of Lord Rodney.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

SINCE the close of the last sessions, I have employed my whole time in the care and attention which the important and critical conjuncture of publick affairs required of me.

I lost no time in giving the necessary orders to prohibit the further prosecution of offensive war upon the Continent of North-America. Adopting, as my inclination will always lead me to do, with decision and effect, whatever I collect to be the sense of my Parliament and my people; I have pointed all my views and measures, as well in Europe as in North-America, to an entire and cordial reconciliation with those Colonies.

Finding it indispensable to the attainment of this object, I did not hesitate to go the full length of the powers vested in me, and offered to declare them Free and Independent States, by an article to be inserted in the treaty of peace. Provisional articles are agreed upon, to take effect whenever terms of peace shall be finally settled with the Court of France.

In thus admitting their separation from the Crown of these kingdoms, I have sacrificed every consideration of my own, to the wishes and opinion of my people. I make it my humble and earnest prayer to Almighty God, that Great-Britain may not feel the evils which might result from so great a dismemberment of the empire; and, that America may be free from those calamities, which have formerly proved in the Mother Country, how essential Monarchy is to the enjoyment of constitutional liberty. Religion, language, interest, affections may, and I hope will, yet prove a bond of permanent union between the two countries: To this end, neither attention nor disposition shall be wanting on my part.

While I have carefully abstained from all offensive operations against America, I have directed my whole force by land and sea against the other powers at war, with as much vigour as the situation of that force, at the commencement of the campaign, would permit. I trust that you feel the advantages resulting from the safety of the great branches of our trade. You must have seen with pride and satisfaction the gallant defence of the Governor and garrison of Gibraltar; and my fleet, after having effected the object of their destination, offering battle to the combined force of France and Spain on their own coasts; those of my kingdoms have remained at the same time perfectly secure, and your domestick tranquility uninterrupted. This respectable state, under the blessing of God, I attribute to the entire confidence which subsists between me and my people, and to the readiness which has been shown by my subjects in my city of London, and in other parts of my kingdoms, to stand forth in the general defence. Some proofs have lately been given of publick spirit in private men, which would do honour to any age, and any country.

Having manifested to the whole world, by the most lasting examples, the signal spirit and bravery of my people, I conceived it a moment not unbefitting my dignity, and thought it a regard due to the lives and fortunes of such brave and gallant subjects to shew myself ready on my part to embrace fair and honourable terms of accommodation with all the powers at war.

I have the satisfaction to acquaint you, that negotiations to this effect are considerably advanced, the result of which, as soon as they are brought to a conclusion, shall be immediately communicated to you.

I have every reason to hope and believe, that I shall have it in my power, in a very short time, to acquaint you, that they have ended in terms of pacification, which, I trust, you will see just cause to approve. I rely, however, with perfect confidence on the wisdom of my Parliament, and the spirit of my people, that if any unforeseen change in the disposition of the belligerent powers, should frustrate my confident expectations, they will approve of the preparations I have thought it advisable to make, and be ready to second the most vigorous efforts in the further prosecution of the war.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

I have endeavoured by every measure in my power to diminish the burthens of my people. I lost no time in taking the most decided measures for introducing a better œconomy in the expenditure of the army.

I have carried into strict execution the several reductions in my civil list expences, directed by an act of the last sessions. I have introduced a further reform into other departments, and suppressed several sinecure places in them. I have by this means so regulated my establishments, that my expence shall not in future exceed my income.

I have ordered the estimate of the civil list debt, laid before you last sessions, to be completed. The debt proving somewhat greater than could be then correctly stated, and the proposed reduction not immediately taking place, I trust you will provide for the deficiency, securing, as before, the repayment out of my annual income.

I have ordered enquiry to be made into the application of the sum voted in support of the American sufferers; and I trust you will agree with me, that a due and generous attention ought to be shewn to those who have relinquished their properties or professions from motives of loyalty to me, or attachment to the Mother-Country.

As it may be necessary to give stability to some regulations by Act of Parliament, I have ordered accounts of the several establishments, incidental expences, fees and other emoluments of office, to be laid before you. Regulations have already taken place in some, which it is my intention to extend to all, and which, besides expediting all publick business, must produce a very considerable saving, without taking from that ample encouragement, which ought to be held forth to talents, diligence, and integrity, wherever they are to be found.

I have directed an enquiry to be made into whatever regards the landed revenue of my crown, as well as the management of my woods and forests, that both may be made as beneficial as possible, and that the latter may furnish a certain resource for supplying the navy, our great national bulwark, with its first material.

I have directed an investigation into the department of the mint, that the purity of the coin, of so much importance to commerce, may be always adhered to; that by rendering the difficulty of counterfeiting greater, the lives of numbers may be saved, and every needless expence in it suppressed.

I must recommend to you an immediate attention to the great objects of the publick receipts and expenditure; and above all, to the state of the publick debt. Notwithstanding the great increase of it during the war, it is to be hoped that such regulations may still be established, such savings made—and future loans so conducted, as to promote the means of its gradual redemption by a fixed course of payment.—I must, with particular earnestness, distinguish for your serious consideration, that part of the debt which consists of navy, ordnance, and victualling bills; the enormous discount upon some of these bills shews this mode of payment to be a most ruinous expedient.

I have ordered the several estimates, made up as correctly as the present practice admits, to be laid before you, I hope that such farther corrections as may be necessary, will be made before the next year. It is my desire that you should be apprized of every expence before it is incurred, as far as the nature of each service can possibly admit. Matters of account can never be made too publick.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

The scarcity and consequent high price of corn, requires your instant interposition.

The great excess to which the crimes of theft and robbery in many instances accompanied with personal violence, particularly in the neighbourhood of this Metropolis, has called of late for a strict and severe execution of the laws. It were much to be wished, that these crimes could be prevented in their infancy, by correcting the vices become prevalent in a most alarming degree.

The liberal principles adopted by you, concerning the rights and the commerce of Ireland, have done you the highest honour, and will, I trust, ensure that harmony, which ought always to subsist between the two kingdoms. I am persuaded that a general increase of commerce throughout the empire, will prove the wisdom of your measures with regard to that object. I would recommend to you a revision of your whole trading system upon the same comprehensive principles, with a view to its utmost possible extension.

The regulation of a vast territory in Asia opens a large field for your wisdom, prudence, and foresight; I trust that you will be able to frame some fundamental laws which may make their connection with Great-Britain a blessing to India; and that you will take therein proper measures to give all foreign nations, in matters of foreign commerce, an entire and perfect confidence in the probity punctuality, and good order of government. You may be assured that whatever depends upon me, shall be executed with a steadiness, which can alone preserve that part of my dominions, or the commerce which arises from it.

It is the fixed object of my heart to make the general good, and the spirit of the constitution, the invariable rule of my conduct, and on all occasions to advance and reward merit in every profession.

To ensure the full advantage of a government, conducted on such principles, depends on your temper, your wisdom, your disinterestedness, collectively and individually.

My people expect these qualifications of you, and I call for them.

TRENTON ACADEMY.

THE Trustees of the Trenton Academy inform the publick, that they have engaged instructor in the several most useful branches of education; one of whom teaches the English language grammatically in its present purity and elegance; another writing, arithmetick and accounts; and a third the learned languages, mathematicks, geography, &c. By this arrangement an opportunity is given to such as may think proper to encourage the institution by sending their children to have them taught any or more of the above branches at their choice.

As it will be the constant object of the Trustees to employ able teachers in the several schools, they flatter themselves this seminary will answer the most valuable purposes to the community at large, and particularly to every individual who may resort to it for instruction.
