Record Closed: March 12, 1999 Decided: March 16, 1999

BEFORE MARIA MANCINI LA FIANDRA, ALJ:

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) from the Department of Education on November 26, 1997, for hearing as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

Settlement discussions were held and a settlement was reached.

The parties have agreed to a settlement and have prepared a Voluntary Settlement Agreement, Waiver and Release indicating the terms thereof, which is attached and fully incorporated herein.

I have reviewed the record and the terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and, therefore, ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

AGENCY DKT. NO. 395-10/97

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF SALVATORE FERRUGIA,	:
STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
THE CITY OF NEWARK, ESSEX COUNTY.	:	DECISION

The record and initial decision in the form of a joint stipulation of settlement rendered by the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed.

Upon thorough review of the record, the Commissioner is compelled to express his strong reservations about accepting a settlement of this tenure matter, given the serious allegations set forth in the tenure charges certified by the State Superintendent and the statement of evidence in support of those charges which accuses respondent of engaging in conduct which defrauded the District and "was intended to and resulted in the theft of federally received Title I public monies." (Statement of Charges at p. 3) However, given the terms of the settlement, the Commissioner has no choice but to give due consideration to the third statement of the settlement agreement which indicates that "investigation of the charges does not support a claim of fraudulent conduct [since respondent] was performing those duties assigned by his building principal."

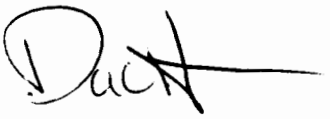
Upon consideration of this disturbing fact stipulated by the District, together with the record of this matter, the Commissioner is at a loss to understand why the District did not engage in a full investigation of the relevant facts prior to the certification of the tenure charges.

Respondent's response to the tenure charges and statement of evidence was submitted to the District prior to the certification of the tenure charges to the Commissioner. The response unequivocally states over and over that any failure on respondent's part to instruct his students was due to the assignment of other duties or cancellation of basic skills classes by the principal. Notwithstanding this, there was apparently no further investigation conducted by the District to ascertain what validity, if any, respondent's statements had and what impact there may have been on the extremely serious tenure charges filed against this teaching staff member. Had this been done, certification of the tenure charges to the Commissioner may not have occurred. Given this unfortunate circumstance, the Commissioner admonishes this District and all others that a failure to investigate fully alleged serious misconduct of an employee before the certification of tenure charges to him can result, as is apparently the case herein, in a Board/District's inability to prosecute fully the charges it certifies to the Commissioner. As stated by the Commissioner in In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Sandra Connors, Board of Education of the City of Camden, decided April 8, 1999, "[s]uch a failure, of course, carries the major consequence of needless expenditure of large amounts of taxpayer money, to say nothing of the potential impact on the personal and professional reputation of the person who has been charged with serious misconduct." (Connors, supra at p. 5)

Nonetheless, in light of the factual circumstances as set forth in the record of this matter, the Commissioner is at this point in the adjudication of the instant matter compelled to conclude, that it is in the public interest to approve the settlement (In re Cardonick, decided by the Commissioner April 7, 1982, aff'd State Board April 6, 1983, 1990 S.L.D. 842, 846).

Accordingly, the matter is hereby dismissed, subject to the parties' compliance with the terms of the settlement.* A copy of this decision will be transmitted to the State Board of Examiners for action as it deems appropriate.

IT IS SO ORDERED.



COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

* This decision, as the Commissioner's final determination in the instant matter, may be appealed to the State Board of Education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-27 et seq. and N.J.A.C. 6:2-1.1 et seq., within 30 days of its filing. Commissioner decisions are deemed filed three days after the date of mailing to the parties.

HEARING OF ALAN P. TIGHE,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE TOWN-	:	DECISION
SHIP OF OLD BRIDGE,	:
MIDDLESEX COUNTY.	:

SYNOPSIS

Board certified tenure charges of unbecoming conduct against respondent custodian for alleged theft of money from the school activities fund.

ALJ concluded that respondent's behavior constituted behavior unbecoming a school employee warranting removal from his position. Moreover, the ALJ determined that the stealing of money from the school was clearly an offense which involved and touched on respondent's position. Therefore, the ALJ ordered that respondent forfeited his position pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2.

Commissioner affirmed in part, reversed in part the initial decision. Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that the matter was properly determined upon summary judgment, that respondent's action constituted conduct unbecoming a tenured employee and that dismissal was the appropriate penalty. Commissioner, however, determined that, contrary to the ALJ's finding, he is without jurisdiction to enter an order of forfeiture of public employment pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2, as amended by P.L. 1995, c. 250. Commissioner ordered respondent dismissed from his employment as of the date of this decision.

INITIAL DECISION

SUMMARY DECISION

OAL DKT. NO. EDU 6704-98

AGENCY DKT. NO. 214-6/98

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE HEARING OF ALAN P. TIGHE, BOARD OF EDUCATION OF OLD BRIDGE TOWNSHIP, MIDDLESEX COUNTY

Beth Ann Stemmler, Esq., for Old Bridge Township Board of Education, Middlesex County, petitioner (Riker, Danzig, Scherer, Hyland & Perretti, attorneys)

BEFORE BEATRICE S. TYLUTKI, ALJ:

This matter concerns the tenure charge of unbecoming conduct which was filed against Alan P. Tighe, a custodian employed by the Old Bridge Township Board of Education (Board). The tenure charge was filed against Mr. Tight after he admitted that he took money from the student activities fund which is kept in a locked cabinet in the guidance office at the Jonas Salk Middle School, and criminal charges had been filed against Mr. Tighe. The case was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on August 12, 1998, for hearing pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

I had a telephone conference with the attorneys for the parties on September 15, 1998, at which time we discussed the Board's motion for summary decision. The Board argued that Mr. Tighe should be removed from his position since the theft of school funds clearly constitutes conduct unbecoming a school employee.

Also discussed during the September 15, 1998 conference was the issue of whether Mr. Tighe had forfeited his position pursuant to N.J.A.C. 2C:52-2. Mr. Tighe pled guilty to a disorderly persons offense on July 1, 1998. During the conference, Beth Ann Stemmler, Esq., who represents the Board, agreed to find out if the municipal court had made a ruling as to forfeiture, and it was agreed that both parties would submit briefs.

Ms. Stemmler submitted a letter from the municipal court and briefs were filed by the parties. I had a telephone conference with the parties on February 17, 1999, and March 5, 1999, regarding the submission of a stipulation of facts as to the respondent's work record. I received the stipulation on March 5, 1999, and the record closed on that date.

FINDINGS OF FACT

I FIND that the facts in this matter are not in dispute.

The parties stipulated to the following facts:

1. Respondent, Alan P. Tighe, was hired by the Old Bridge Township Board of Education as a custodian/groundsman on August 21, 1978, effective November 16, 1978 to June 30, 1979. Respondent was thereafter rehired on an annual basis through the 1997-98 school year where he served as a custodian at the Jonas Salk Middle School.

2. Respondent achieved tenure status in 1981.

3. In his initial Evaluation Report dated March 1979, Respondent's overall performance was rated as slightly below average ("C-").

4. In his Evaluation Report dated March 1980, Respondent's overall performance was rated as below average ("D"). The Evaluation Report states, ". . . the needs of this building demand that each custodian strive for a minimum overall rating of "B", which is above average. One should not set their standards on average or below average, but rather on above average."

5. Although Respondent was recommended for reappointment and an increment given at this time, the Evaluator recommends that Respondent be transferred to a smaller school and notes that, "[Respondent] has a tendency to sit down when the other custodians do. He is generally a follower and needs constant supervision and checking regarding his duties."

6. The Evaluation Report dated March 1980 further states that "[i]f [Respondent's] quality of work does not significantly improve, an increment would not be recommended for the following year."

7. On October 28, 1980, Respondent was observed by Mr. Edward Ballo, the Department Chairman at Madison Central High School, in the department office at approximately 6:00 p.m. Mr. Ballo also observed that there was a container with beer bottles and an open beer bottle on his desk. In addition, Mr. Ballo noticed that a projector was set up and Respondent was preparing to view a film. Respondent was reminded that the presence of alcoholic beverages is a serious matter and that offices in the school building are not intended for recreational use. On October 29, 1980, Respondent was suspended with pay.

8. In his Evaluation Report dated March 1981, Respondent's overall performance was rated as average ("C"). The Evaluation Report states that Respondent's overall improvement was "slight," and the Evaluator emphasizes that Respondent must, "strive hard to continually improve and work to the best of his ability in seeking an above average evaluation."

9. In his Evaluation Report dated March 1982, Respondent's overall performance was rated as slightly above average ("B-").

10. In his Evaluation Report dated March 1983, Respondent's overall performance was rated as slightly above average ("C+").

11. In his Evaluation Report dated March 1984, Respondent's overall performance was rated as slightly above average ("B-").

12. At this time, Respondent's father served as his supervisor and was responsible for evaluating Respondent's work performance on a daily and annual basis. In January 1985, this responsibility became too difficult and it was recommended that Respondent be transferred to another District school.

13. In his Evaluation Report dated March 1986, Respondent's overall performance was rated as average ("C").

14. During the period May 1986 through June 1986, Respondent was paid wages for sick days in excess of his yearly allotment. In September 1986, the District was obligated to recover these unearned wages.

15. In his Evaluation Report dated March 1987, Respondent's overall performance was rated as average ("C").

16. During the 1987-88 school year, Respondent exhausted all remaining sick, personal, vacation, comp., and bank days from the previous year. In October 1988, the District was obligated to recover these wages from Respondent's paycheck.

17. During the 1988-89 school year, Respondent again exceeded his allotted time and, in August 1989, the District instructed that the excess time be taken off the allotted time for the 1989-90 school year.

18. As of March 14, 1991, Respondent exhausted all remaining sick, personal, vacation, comp., and bank days. The District was obligated to recover these wages from Respondent's March 30, 1991 paycheck and Respondent was informed that any further absences would be deducted from subsequent paychecks.

19. In March 1991, Respondent was directed to cease his practice of giving out the office number of the custodial/maintenance department for personal calls. The night supervisor, Mr. Michael Melfa, informed Respondent that, "[t]his office, within the past several months, has been besieged with personal telephone calls for you. . . . These personal phone calls have also continued into the night throughout my shift. . . . In light of the most recent situation in which you told the caller that Alan Tighe had already left for the day, the practice of your giving out this office number to receive your personal telephone calls must cease immediately."

20. On March 21, 1991, Respondent was instructed to meet with the Custodial/Maintenance Supervisor, Mr. Jeremiah O'Connell, to discuss excessive absence from work.

21. As of April 17, 1991, Respondent exhausted all remaining sick, personal, vacation, comp., and bank days. The District was obligated to recover these wages from Respondent's April 30, 1991 paycheck and Respondent was informed that any further absences would be deducted from subsequent paychecks.

22. On November 6, 1991, Respondent suffered an on-the-job injury, but was instructed by a physician, Dr. Allen, that he was authorized to return to work as of November 18, 1991. Respite this medical clearance, Respondent remained out of work from November 18 through November 25, 1991 and on December 18, 1991. Respondent returned to work on December 19, 1991, but as of January 17, 1992, Respondent had not reported to work since January 6, 1992. On January 17, 1992, the Supervisor of Buildings and Grounds instructed Respondent to apprise the District of his medical status and informed Respondent that his time out of work would be deducted from his allotted sick days.

23. As of January 16, 1992, Respondent exhausted all remaining sick, personal, vacation, comp., and bank days. The District was obligated to recover these wages from Respondent's March 15, 1992 paycheck and Respondent was informed that any further absences would be deducted from subsequent paychecks.

24. As of February 19, 1992, Respondent exhausted all remaining sick, personal, vacation, comp., and bank days. The District was obligated to recover these wages from Respondent's March 30, 1992 paycheck and Respondent was informed that any further absences would be deducted from subsequent paychecks.

25. As of April 24, 1992, Respondent exhausted all remaining sick, personal, vacation, comp., and bank days. The District was obligated to recover these wages from Respondent's May 30, 1992 paycheck and Respondent was informed that any further absences would be deducted from subsequent paychecks.

26. As of May 7, 1992, Respondent exhausted all remaining sick, personal, vacation, comp. and bank days. The District was obligated to recover these wages from Respondent's June 15, 1992 paycheck and Respondent was informed that any further absences would be deducted from subsequent paychecks.

27. As of June 30, 1992, Respondent exhausted all remaining sick, personal, vacation, comp., and bank days. The District was obligated to recover these wages from Respondent's September 30, 1992 paycheck and Respondent was informed that any further absences would be deducted from subsequent paychecks.

28. As of January 31, 1993, Respondent was more than eight (8) sick days from the 1992-93 school year and was required to meet with the Building Principal to determine the reason behind these absences. At the meeting held on March 19, 1993, medical verification was provided for the absences, but the need to maintain good attendance was discussed with Respondent.

29. In his Evaluation Report dated March 1993, Respondent's overall performance was rated as above average ("B").

30. As of April 28, 1993, Respondent exhausted all remaining sick, personal, vacation, comp., and bank days. The District was obligated to recover these wages from Respondent's May 30, 1993 paycheck and Respondent was informed that any further absences would be deducted from subsequent paychecks.

31. As of June 7, 1993, Respondent exhausted all remaining sick, personal, vacation, comp., and bank days. The District was obligated to recover these wages from Respondent's June 30, 1993 paycheck and Respondent was informed that any further absences would be deducted from subsequent paychecks.

32. As of April 8, 1994, Respondent exhausted all remaining sick, personal, vacation, comp., and bank days. The District was obligated to recover these wages from Respondent's April 30, 1994 paycheck and Respondent was informed that any further absences would be deducted from subsequent paychecks.

33. In his Evaluation Report dated April 1994, Respondent's overall performance was rated as average ("C").

34. As of March 22, 1995, Respondent used more than eight (8) sick days for the 1994-95 school year and was required to meet with the Building Principal, Mr. Joseph Alvarez, to determine the reason behind these absences. At the meeting held on March 29, 1995, medical documentation was provided and included in Respondent's attendance record.

35. As of April 5, 1995, Respondent exhausted all remaining sick, personal, vacation, comp., and bank days. The District was obligated to recover these wages from Respondent's April 30, 1995 paycheck and Respondent was informed that any further absences would be deducted from subsequent paychecks.

36. In his Evaluation Report dated March 1995, Respondent's overall performance was rated as average ("C").

37. As of May 23, 1995, Respondent exhausted all remaining sick, personal, vacation, comp., and bank days. The District was obligated to recover these wages from Respondent's June 15, 1995 paycheck and Respondent was informed that any further absences would be deducted from subsequent paychecks.

38. In his Evaluation Report dated March 1996, Respondent's overall performance was rated as above average ("B").

39. In his Evaluation Report dated May 1997, Respondent's overall performance was rated as above average ("B"), although the Evaluator reminded Respondent that he is required to wear his complete uniform daily.

40. On July 1, 1998, Respondent entered a plea of guilty to a disorderly persons offense committed during the course of his employment, and was sentenced by Municipal Court Judge Emory Z. Toth to the maximum allowable fine under the law.

41. Respondent has never before been convicted of a crime or disorderly persons offense, related to his employment or otherwise.

42. Respondent has never before been the subject of tenure charges, an increment withholding or other disciplinary sanctions resulting in a withholding of pay.

43. Respondent was suspended from his duties, effective March 20, 1998.

44. Notwithstanding his suspension, as of March 3, 1998, Respondent had already used more than eight (8) sick days fro the 1997-98 school year and was required to meet with the Building Principal, Dr. Nicole Okun, to determine the reason behind these absences. [Stipulation submitted on March 5, 1999]

Also, it is not disputed that there were several thefts of school funds from the locked cabinet in the guidance office at the Jonas Salk Middle School during the summer of 1997 and in February 1998. As part of its investigation, the Old Bridge Township Police Department dusted some rolled coins kept in the locked cabinet with fluorescent powder and marked the coin wrappers. On March 19, 1998, the police were informed that money was missing from the locked cabinet. The money stolen was collected by students and was to be donated to various causes. The police checked the employees for evidence of powder. Mr. Tighe tested positive and the rolled coins were found in his possession.

In his sworn statement to the police, Mr. Tighe stated that he did not know there was money in the cabinet and that on March 19, 1998, he opened the cabinet because he was looking for a pencil. Mr. Tighe admitted that he took the coins valued at $20 but denied any involvement in the prior thefts (sworn statement of Mr. Tighe, attached to the Board's motion for summary decision). Mr. Tighe was arrested and charged with burglary, a violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:18-2, and theft, a violation of N.J.A.C. 2C:20-3.

On May 19, 1997, the Board voted to certify the tenure charge against Mr. Tighe to the Commissioner of Education (Commissioner).

On July 1, 1998, Mr. Tighe pled guilty to a downgraded disorderly persons offense (transcript of the municipal court proceedings before Judge Emery Z. Toth, attached to the Board's motion for summary judgment). During the court procedure, Mr. Tighe described his action as "very stupid" and denied he had a drinking or drug problem.

Prior to sentencing Mr. Tighe, Judge Toth considered several mitigating factors offered by the attorney for Mr. Tighe, namely, his long-term employment with the Board, the absence of any prior criminal conviction, the amount of money involved, and the fact that he supports his two minor children. Judge Toth held that Mr. Tighe had violated his position of trust and stated that he would fine Mr. Tighe rather than place him in jail since "he's now in a position where he'll be not only removed from his job" but also possibly lose his pension (transcript of the municipal court procedure, attached to the Board's motion for summary judgment).

At my request, the Board checked with Judge Toth to see if he made a decision as to forfeiture pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2. By letter dated October 14, 1998, Judge Toth voiced his opinion that the municipal court does not have the power to compel forfeiture and that Mr. Tighe can only be removed from his position by decision of the Superior Court or by administrative action.

The respondent stated his action on Mach 19, 1998 has embarrassed him and his family and guarantees that if he is returned to work, he will be a good employee and will never repeat his illegal act (certification of Alan P. Tighe, attached to respondent's brief).

CONCLUSION OF LAW

The Board argued that summary decision is appropriate since there are no issues of any material fact. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5; Brille v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Amer., 142 N.J. 520 (1995). The Board noted that the courts have held that the bare allegation of factual disputes without factual support cannot defeat a motion for summary decision. Baron v. Clause Trucking, Inc., 225 N.J. Super. 230, 234 (App. Div.), certif. denied, 113 N.J. 353 (1988); Brille, 142 N.J. at 529.

The respondent argued that summary decision is not appropriate since the Board's statement of facts implies that he was also responsible for the thefts prior to Mach 19, 1998.

I disagree and I FIND that the facts clearly establish that the respondent admitted he took the $20 on March 19, 1998, that he denied being involved in the prior thefts, and that there was no evidence to show his involvement in the prior thefts. The issue here, as recognized by the Board in its briefs, is whether the sole incident on March 19, 1998 sustains the tenure charge and warrants the respondent's removal or discipline.

The respondent also argued that summary decision is not appropriate since the respondent should be afforded a hearing to demonstrate his years of service, his level of remorse and his absolute determination that no act like this will again occur, and cited the decisions in In the Matter of Tenure Hearing of Kathleen Starling, School District of the City of Linden, Union County, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 11679-96 (Comm. decision June 1998); In re Tenure Hearing of Ostergren, 1966 S.L.D. 185. The respondent argued that since the respondent's livelihood is at stake, he should be afforded every opportunity to protect his job and that a submission of the papers does not afford him that opportunity.

I CONCLUDE that the matter can be decided on the briefs and exhibits filed by the parties. The respondent's mitigating factors were presented in the record of the municipal court procedure, in his certification and in the stipulation of facts, and all these documents are part of the record in this matter. There is no dispute that the respondent is a long-term employee of the Board with an average work history, that he has had no prior criminal conviction and that he supports his two children. In light of the possible consequences of his action, I have no doubt that Mr. Tighe is full of remorse and determined not to repeat his illegal action.

Pursuant to the tenure statute, N.J.S.A. 18A:17-3, the Board argued that a single theft of school property, regardless of its value, constitutes conduct unbecoming a school employee and that the respondent should be dismissed. The Board stated that custodians have access to school property, with limited or no supervision and the Board can no longer trust Mr. Tighe, and cited the decision in In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of DePasquale, 92 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 537, aff'd. by Commissioner, 92 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 590, aff'd by Appellate Division, Dkt. No. A-4326-92 (March 31, 1994). The Board argued that unfitness to hold a position can be shown by one incident, if sufficiently flagrant. Irvington Twp. School District v. Smith, 93 N.J.A.R. (EDU) 526, aff'd., 93 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 526; Redcay v. State Bd. of Educ., 131 N.J.L. 326 (E&A 1944).

The respondent does not dispute that a theft of school property constitutes conduct unbecoming an employee, but argues that the respondent should not be dismissed from his position. The respondent argued that based on all the facts, there is no likelihood of the improper behavior recurring and that he should not lose his job for the single incident involving a theft of $20.

Having considered the arguments of the parties, I agree with the Board and I CONCLUDE that Mr. Tighe's action on Mach 19, 1998 constitutes behavior unbecoming a school employee and, further, that he should be removed from his position. As custodian, Mr. Tighe is not closely supervised and the Board must trust its custodians to do their jobs and not to take school property. Mr. Tighe has shown by his action that he is not worthy of such trust.

Therefore, I CONCLUDE that Mr. Tighe should be removed from his position as custodian pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:17-3.

Also, the Board argued that Mr. Tighe's conviction involves dishonesty and touches upon his custodial position and that he forfeited his public employment pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2. The Board argued that when Judge Toth sentenced Mr. Tighe, he clearly anticipated that Mr. Tighe would be terminated, and that the courts have recognized that tenured employees can forfeit their positions pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2. Moore v. Youth Correctional Inst., 119 N.J. 256 (1990). In the Moore case, the court recognized that in some cases a fact finding hearing regarding the nexus between the offense and the employment is appropriate in order to determine whether the offense involves or touches on the person's employment. In this matter, the Board argued that a hearing is not necessary and that the respondent's illegal act clearly is an offense which involves and touches on his school position.

The respondent noted that in In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Neal A. Ercolano, Board of Education of the Township of Branchburg, EDU 8422-97 and EDU 8598-97, initial decision (April 7, 1998), http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/html/initial/edu8422-97.html, that the administrative law judge held that the school employee had forfeited his position and that the Commissioner reversed the forfeiture order, remanded the matter to OAL, and stated that he does not have jurisdiction to enter orders of forfeiture of public employment and that such orders are now issued only by the sentencing court. Commission decision (June 25, 1998) <http://www-camlaw.rutgers.edu/library/oal/>. Since Judge Toth did not order forfeiture, the respondent argued that the Commissioner, and therefore the administrative law judge, is without legal authority to determine the issue of forfeiture.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2, a person forfeits his public position if:

> (1) He is convicted under the laws of this State of an offense involving dishonesty or of a crime of the third degree or above or under the laws of another state or of the United States of an offense or a crime which, if committed in this State, would be such an offense or crime;
> (2) He is convicted of an offense involving or touching such office, position or employment; or
> (3) The Constitution or a statute other than the code so provides.

This statute was amended in 1995 to require the court to enter an order of forfeiture after conviction unless the court decides to waive said forfeiture. Also in 1995, the following subsection was added to N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2:

> g. In any case in which the issue of forfeiture is not raised in a court of this State at the time of a finding of guilt, entry of guilty plea or sentencing, a forfeiture of public office, position or employment required by this section may be ordered by a court of this State upon application of the county prosecutor or the Attorney General or upon application of the public officer or public entity having > authority to remove the person convicted from his public office, position or employment. The fact that a court has declined to order forfeiture shall not preclude the public officer or public entity having authority to remove the person convicted from seeking to remove or suspend the person from his office, position or employment on the ground that the conduct giving rise to the conviction demonstrates that the person is unfit to hold the office, position or employment.

I disagree with the Commissioner's interpretation that N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2g does not allow him to made a decision as to forfeiture. I agree with the interpretation of N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2g presented by Administrative Law Judge Ken Springer in his initial decision, In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Robert R. Utacco, 97 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 449. Judge Springer decided that a school employee had forfeited his position and stated:

> Although an administrative agency is not a "court" in a technical sense, In re Tyler, 236 N.J. Super. 478 (App. Div. 1989), certif. den. 121 N.J. 615 (1990), it performs an adjudicatory function termed "quasi-judicial" in nature. City of Hackensack v. Winner, 82 N.J. 1, 28 (1980). Jurisdiction over tenure charges brought by a school board seeking dismissal of a tenured employee is vested exclusively with the Commissioner. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 to -18.1. In re Fulcomer, 93 N.J. Super. 404 (App. Div. 1967). In seeking to "strengthen" the forfeiture law, it is doubtful that the Legislature wanted to make it more difficult to remove criminally-culpable teaching staff members. Instead, the more reasonable reading of subsection (g) is that where, for whatever reason, the issue of forfeiture is not ordered by any court, a school district having authority to initiate the removal of a teaching staff member may litigate the forfeiture issue as part of a pending tenure proceeding. Cf. Sukin v. Northfield Bd. of Educ., 171 N.J. Super. 184 (App. Div. 1989) (Commissioner possesses incidental jurisdiction to determine issues arising under the Open Public Meetings Act as they relate to controversies under the school laws). Indeed, the New Jersey Supreme Court has acknowledged that, under some circumstances, it may be "far more efficient" to have the employer and administrative agency decide whether a particular offense should lead to forfeiture. Moore, at 267. Surely it would not make much sense to require a school board to bear the heavy cost of prosecuting complex charges at a plenary tenure hearing when a court of competent jurisdiction has already found respondent guilty of a forfeitable offense. [Id. at 453]

I recognize that Judge Springer's initial decision was reversed by the Commissioner, who disagreed as to the interpretation to be given to N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2g (97 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 454, matter now on appeal before the State Board of Education).

Also, I recognize that the language in N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2g is not clear as whether it is intended to acknowledge that public employees who have engaged in criminal activities can be removed from their positions pursuant to statutes other than the forfeiture statute or is intended to give the public employers the right to decide the matter of forfeiture in the absence of a court decision on forfeiture. I CONCLUDE that the Legislature intended the latter.

In this matter, I CONCLUDE that the stealing of money from the school is clearly an offense which involves and touches on the respondent's position.

Therefore, I ORDER that the tenure charge be upheld and that the respondent be removed from his position. Further, I ORDER that the respondent forfeited his position.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF ALAN P. TIGHE,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE TOWN-	:	DECISION
SHIP OF OLD BRIDGE,	:

The record of this matter and the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. Respondent's exceptions and the Board's reply thereto are duly noted as submitted in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and were considered by the Commissioner in rendering the within decision.

Upon careful and independent review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner affirms in part, and reverses in part, the initial decision of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ). Initially, notwithstanding respondent's assertion that he has "a right to be heard and seen by the Court and a right to personally confront the witnesses against him," (Respondent's Exceptions at p. 1), the Commissioner finds that this matter was properly determined upon summary judgment. In this regard, the Commissioner recognizes > that while he has a duty to conduct a hearing and render a decision in all tenure matters, such hearings will necessarily be in accordance with the Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules of Practice, N.J.A.C. 1:1. Contrary to respondent's view, these rules contemplate motions for summary decision, and decisions on said > motions, before the ALJ. See N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.10(b) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5. ***

>  "It is well-established that where no disputed issues of material fact exist, an administrative agency need not hold an evidential hearing in a contested case." Frank v. Ivy Club, 120 N.J. 73, 98, citing Cunningham v. Dept. of Civil Service, 69 N.J. 13, 24-25 (1975). "Moreover, disputes as to the conclusions to be drawn from the facts, as opposed to the facts themselves, will not defeat a motion for summary judgment." Contini v. Board of Education of Newark, 96 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 196, 215, citing Lima & Sons, Inc. v. Borough of Ramsey, 269 N.J. Super. 469, 478 (App. Div. 1994) (emphasis added). In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Andrew Phillips, School District of the Borough of Roselle, Union County, Commissioner's Decision No. #129-97, decided March 20, 1997, Slip Opinion at pp. 9-11.

In the instant matter, respondent admits to having stolen the $20, notwithstanding that he denies that his action constitutes conduct unbecoming a tenured employee. (Respondent's Exceptions at p. 1) However, like the circumstances in Phillips, summary disposition in favor of the Board is appropriate herein, inasmuch as respondent has failed to show "that there is a genuine issue which can only be determined in an evidentiary hearing." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b).

The Commissioner further concurs with the ALJ that respondent's action constitutes conduct unbecoming a tenured employee, and that dismissal is the appropriate penalty. In this regard, the Commissioner notes that respondent does not dispute the Board's contention that

> [a]lthough Respondent claims to have cooperated with investigators and admitted his wrongdoing, he did not readily confess to the offense, but waited until the police department performed powder testing on each employee with access to the office from which the student funds were stolen.  Only after testing positive for the transfer of the powder and after the missing funds were recovered on > his person, did Respondent confess to the theft. (Board's Brief, December 9, 1998 at pp. 5, 6) (emphasis in text)

The Commissioner, therefore, concurs that respondent's actions are "inherently incompatible with public employment ." DePasquale, supra at 540.

Finally, contrary to the ALJ's finding, the Commissioner maintains that, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2, as amended by P.L. 1995, c. 250, he is without jurisdiction to enter an order of forfeiture of public employment. In re Ercolano, supra. Thus, the ALJ's order that respondent has forfeited his employment is hereby set aside.

Accordingly, the initial decision of the ALJ is affirmed in part, for the reasons expressed therein, and reversed in part, as set forth above. Respondent's tenured employment with the Board is terminated as of the date of this decision.*

IT IS SO ORDERED.

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

Record Closed: March 16, 1999 Decided: March 19, 1999

BEFORE ROBERT S. MILLER, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Susan Fox (petitioner) filed a verified petition contesting a determination of the Board of Education of the Township of East Brunswick (respondent or Board of Education) placing her son, J.F., an eighth grade student and an unemancipated minor, into a "Math 8" class, rather than the Algebra class which she desires.

On October 30, 1998, the instant matter was filed in the Office of Administrative Law for determination as a contested case, pursuant to the New Jersey Administrative Procedure Act. A telephone prehearing conference was held on January 13, 1999. The hearing was scheduled to held on March 15 and March 26, 1999. Prior to the first day of hearing, respondent filed and served a motion for summary decision. By letter dated March 12, 1999, petitioner's attorney replied to the motion, acknowledging that there were no disputed issues of fact but opposing the motion because petitioner "would like her day in court to challenge the school board's system so as to prevent future injustice to other students."

As indicated, the facts in this case are simple and undisputed.

FACTS

On September 29, 1998, the date on which the petition was filed with the Department of Education, petitioner and her son J.F. lived in the Township of East Brunswick. J.F. attended eighth grade at the Churchill School in the Township. On or about February 1, 1999, however, J.F. transferred from the East Brunswick School District to the West Windsor-Plainsboro Regional School District and continues to be a student there to the present time. He has not attended the East Brunswick Public School system since February 1999.

Prior to the transfer, and in accordance with the Board of Education's selection system, J.F. had been placed in the regular academic "Math-8" class. In this action, petitioner challenges the validity and fairness of that system, particularly as it applies to J.F., who, she contends, should have been placed in the more advanced eighth grade Algebra class.

ISSUE AND ANALYSIS

The sole issue presented by respondent's motion is whether petitioner's action should be dismissed because of mootness. For the reasons that follow, I CONCLUDE that it should.

Questions that have become moot or academic prior to judicial scrutiny generally have been held to be an improper subject for judicial review. Oxfeld v. N.J. State Board of Ed., 68 N.J. 301 (1975); Sente v. Clifton Mayor and Municipal Council, 66 N.J. 204, 206 (1974). There are two basic reasons for this doctrine. First, for reasons of economy and restraint, courts will not decide cases in which the issue is hypothetical, a judgment cannot grant effective relief, or the parties do not have concrete adversity of interest. Second, it is a premise of the Anglo-American judicial system that a contest engendered by genuinely conflicting self-interests of the parties is best suited to developing all relevant material before the court. Therefore, where, because of a change in circumstances, a doubt is created concerning the immediacy of the controversy, courts will ordinarily dismiss the case as moot, regardless of the state to which the litigation has progressed. Anderson v. Sills, 143 N.J. Super. 432, 437 (Ch. 1976).

Generally, an action is considered "moot" when it no longer presents a justiciable controversy because the issues involved have become academic. A case is moot when a determination is sought on a matter which when rendered cannot have any practical effect on the existing controversy. I.M.O. Victoria v. Board of Education of Woodbridge, 1982 SLD 1, 5. That case involved allegations by a teacher that he had been assigned classes which were over-enrolled. During the pendency of the matter and prior to hearing, the petitioner had been transferred to a different school, wherein the alleged over-enrollment issue did not exist. The Administrative Law Judge, in a decision confirmed by the Commissioner, dismissed the Petition of Appeal as moot.

To similar effect is the decision in J.B. v. Board of Education, 1988 SLD 2303. That case involved the selection system used by the Belmar Board of Education to assign students to either Asbury Park High School or Manasquan High School. The petitioner therein had been assigned to Asbury Park and claimed a right to attend the Manasquan High School. During the pendency of the action, the student on whose behalf the petition was brought transferred to a different private school. The Administrative Law Judge and the Commissioner determined that as a result of the pupil's transfer, the matter should be dismissed based upon mootness. See, also, Weehawkin Education Association v. Bd. of Ed. Township of Weehawkin, 78 SLD 924, 925, and cases cited therein.

As noted above, the relief petitioner seeks is to have her son placed in the Algebra course in lieu of the regular eighth grade Math course. Clearly, given the transfer of J.F. to a different school district, the relief sought cannot be granted, the action itself has become moot, and the motion for summary decision should be GRANTED.

ORDER

For the reasons expressed above I CONCLUDE that respondent's motion for summary decision to dismiss the petition should be GRANTED. It is so ORDERED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Petitioning Education Association and certified school nurses alleged that the Board retained unqualified, uncertified nurses in violation of statute and in violation of their rights.

ALJ found that there was no genuine issue as to any material fact as the parties and facts in this case were essentially the same as in two prior cases that were already litigated. ALJ determined that the fundamental principles of res judicata and collateral estoppel precluded petitioners from further litigating this matter. ALJ granted respondent's motion for summary decision. Petition was dismissed.

Commissioner adopted findings and determination in initial decision as his own.

Record Closed: February 13, 1999 Decided: March 18, 1999

BEFORE ROBERT S. MILLER, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE, PROCEDURAL HISTORY AND UNDISPUTED FACTS

Alleging that the Board of Education of the Township of Old Bridge, Middlesex County ("Board" or "respondent") has retained unqualified and uncertified nurses in violation of statute and regulation, the Old Bridge Education Association ("petitioner") seeks to restrain respondent from using uncertified personnel to perform the duties of School Nurse, to require respondent to employ "a sufficient number of certified school nurses in each of its schools," and to restrain respondent from "maintaining the position of registered or any other type of nurse in any of its schools. . . ."

On March 22, 1996, petitioners filed a petition of appeal (the "First Petition") with the Commissioner of Education (the "Commissioner") challenging the Board's creation and filling of a Registered Nurse position in the Board's McDivitt School to assist the Board's existing certified school nurse assigned to that school.

The First Petition sought relief in the form of an order restraining the Board from using uncertified personnel to perform school nurse duties and requiring the Board to employ certified school nurses in each of its schools. The Board timely filed an answer to the First Petition and the matter was assigned OAL Docket No. EDU 04459-96S, Agency Ref. No. 114-3/96.

On or about May 23, 1996, petitioners filed a second petition of appeal (the "Second Petition") with the Commissioner containing substantially the same allegations and demands contained in the First Petition, this time directed to the Board's creation and filling of the Registered Nurse position at its Cooper School.

The Board timely filed an answer to the Second Petition and the matter was assigned OAL Docket No. EDU 04981-96S, Agency Ref. No. 186-5/96.

By order dated August 12, 1996, the Honorable Bruce R. Campbell, ALJ directed that the matters involving the First and Second Petitions be consolidated.

On June 20, 1997, the Board filed a motion seeking summary decision dismissing the First and Second Petitions. On or about July 24, 1997, petitioners filed a cross-motion seeking summary decision in their favor on the First and Second Petitions. On August 25, 1997, Judge Campbell rendered an Initial Decision on the motion and cross-motion, rejecting petitioners' claims and granting the Board summary decision dismissing the First and Second Petitions.

On or about October 27, 1997, petitioners filed a third petition of appeal (the "Third Petition") with the Commissioner containing essentially the same allegations and demands for relief contained in the First and Second Petitions, this time directed to the Board's creation and filling of two additional Registered Nurse positions. It is the Third Petition which commenced the instant matter. The Board timely filed an answer to the Third Petition, and on November 26, 1997 the matter was filed in the Office of Administrative Law for determination as a contested case pursuant to the New Jersey Administrative Procedure Act.

Also on November 26, 1997, the Commissioner issued a Final Decision affirming the Initial Decision of Judge Campbell. On December 23, 1997, petitioners filed a notice of appeal of the Final Decision to the State Board of Education ("State Board").

On April 1, 1998, the State Board affirmed the Commissioner's Final Decision dismissing the First and Second Petitions.

By letter dated January 4, 1999, respondent filed a motion for summary decision seeking to dismiss the instant petition with prejudice. No responsive papers have been filed by petitioner.

ISSUE AND ANALYSIS

In administrative law cases summary decision "may be rendered if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." See also Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of America, 142 N.J. 520, 529 (1995); Judson v. Peoples Bank & Trust Co. of Westfield, 17 N.J. 67, 74 (1954); Wyckoff Educ. Ass'n v. Wyckoff Bd. Of Educ., unreported, OAL Dkt. No. EDU-5174-80, Agency Ref. No. 321-7/80A (August 21, 1981), aff'd (Comm'r Ed. Oct. 5, 1981), aff'd (St. Bd. Ed. May 5, 1982).

This case is ripe for summary decision. The legal and factual issues in this matter have been fully litigated in the earlier proceedings involving the First and Second Petitions. The Third Petition contains allegations virtually identical to those raised in the First and Second. The Third Petition raises no new issues of either fact or law which have not already been addressed and resolved in the Board's favor by the Commissioner and the State Board in considering the First and Second Petitions.

Here, as in the case of the First and Second Petitions, petitioners again challenge the Board's use of registered nurses in its schools, reiterating the same allegations and demands for relief previously considered and resolved in the Board's favor by the Commissioner and the State Board. The Commissioner and the State Board made findings of fact and law which are binding upon the parties in this matter. There are no remaining material issues of fact or law precluding summary decision dismissing the Third Petition.

The summary decision procedure is intended "to avoid trials which would serve no useful purpose and to afford deserving litigants immediate relief." See Warthen v. Toms River Community Memorial Hospital, 199 N.J. Super. 18, 23 (App. Div. 1985). Accordingly, New Jersey courts have recognized that

> [t]he right to summary judgment is a substantial one where circumstances warrant, and is more than a token procedural remedy under our rules, for it not only affords protection against groundless claims and frivolous defenses, saving the antagonists the time and expense of protracted litigation, but it also reserves judicial manpower and facilities to cases which meritoriously command attention. [State v. South Amboy Trust Co., 46 N.J. Super. 497, 501 (Law Div. 1957).]

As indicated above, there is no genuine issue as to any material fact. The facts recited above are undisputed. The parties and the facts in this case are essentially the same as in the 2 prior cases. The issues are also the same, and have already been litigated. Fundamental principles of res judicata and collateral estoppel preclude petitioner from further litigating this matter. Summary decision in favor of respondent is clearly warranted.

CONCLUSION AND ORDER

For the reasons expressed above, I CONCLUDE that respondent's motion for summary decision should be GRANTED and that the petition of appeal should be DISMISSED with prejudice. It is so ORDERED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

The State Operated School District of the City of Newark ("Newark" or "District") and Ronald Howard ("Howard"), hereby agree to the following terms and conditions in full and final resolution of the above matter:

WHEREAS, the parties recognize that the tenure charges contain allegations that Howard has made inappropriate remarks to students, but further recognize that the allegations do not involve physical contact with students or risk to the safety of the students; and

WHEREAS, Howard has acknowledged that at the time of the conduct giving rise to the charges, Howard was engaged in substance abuse; and

WHEREAS, Howard has participated in an inpatient substance abuse rehabilitation program and continues to participate in a substance abuse recovery program on an outpatient basis; and

WHEREAS, in recognition of Howard's efforts to address this substance abuse problem, the District is willing to afford Howard an opportunity to overcome his prior disability:

NOW THEREFORE, the parties agree as follows:

1. Upon approval of this Agreement by the Commissioner of Education, and expressly conditioned upon a negative drug/alcohol screening and a satisfactory psychiatric examination conducted of Howard by the District, Howard shall be returned to work in the District as a tenured teaching staff member and shall be assigned by the District to an appropriate teaching assignment.

2. Prior to returning to work, and as a condition of said return, Howard consents and agrees to submit to drug/alcohol testing and to a psychiatric examination at a place and time established by the District. Howard agrees that he shall return to work only upon a satisfactory psychiatric examination and a negative drug/alcohol screening.

3. Once returned to a teaching assignment, Howard agrees to submit to random drug/alcohol testing for a period through June 30, 2000 at such times established by the District. The District agrees that if any such test result is positive, additional testing utilizing a more refined process will be immediately conducted at Howard's request. Howard agrees that if the subsequent test result is also positive for controlled dangerous substances, his resignation from his employment with the District shall be effective immediately unless at the time he is an in patient in a program to treat drug and/or alcohol abuse.

4. The parties agree to treat all reports from psychiatric exams and drug/alcohol screenings as Howard's medical records.

5. Howard waives all other claims he may have in connection with the charges against him and/or his suspension from employment, and specifically waives any claim for backpay lost during his suspension from employment. Howard further, on behalf of himself, his heirs, successors and assigns, fully releases and forever discharges the District, its representatives, agents, officers and employees, from any and all actions, claims and liabilities of whatsoever kind and/or character, including any claim for discrimination, that he has had or may have against any of them, including, without limitation, any and all claims related to his employment with the District and arising from his suspension in this matter.

6. Howard acknowledges, as required by In re Cardonick, that despite the approval of this agreement, the issue of possible revocation of his teaching certificate may be considered by the State Board of Examiners.

7. The parties enter into this agreement voluntarily and after receiving the advice of legal counsel.

This Agreement is subject to the approval of the State District Superintendent and the Commissioner of Education. Upon approval of said Agreement, the tenure charges shall be deemed withdrawn.

District certified tenure charges of unbecoming conduct against respondent teacher, alleging physical abuse of students.

ALJ found that respondent's employment records showed that the administration from 1994 provided recommendations to respondent on improving his dealing with student disciplinary problems. Respondent, however, was inflexible in his lack of interest in improving his performance. ALJ concluded that respondent in his rough handling of students was guilty of two incidents of corporal punishment constituting unbecoming conduct. (Redcay) ALJ determined removal was warranted. Thus, the ALJ ordered respondent removed from his position.

Having reviewed the record, including transcripts of the hearing, the Commissioner determined to affirm the initial decision with one modification to the ALJ's findings of fact, which did not materially affect the outcome of the proceeding. Commissioner found that the record supported the conclusion that the District proved by a preponderance of credible evidence that respondent's actions with respect to students, A.F. and R.R., constituted corporal punishment, and that his conduct was unbecoming a teaching staff member. Commissioner found no basis in the record before him to challenge the credibility determinations made by the ALJ. Citing In re Dusel; In re Courtney; and In re Sammons, the Commissioner affirmed the ALJ's conclusion and ordered respondent dismissed from his position as of the date of this decision. Matter was referred to State Board of Examiners for action, as it deems appropriate.

AGENCY DKT. NO. 474-10/98

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE HEARING OF ROGELIO HERNANDEZ, STATE OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF NEWARK, ESSEX COUNTY,

Joseph Verga, Associate Counsel, for petitioner, State Operated School District of Newark (Margaret C. Murphy, General Counsel)

Eugene G. Liss, Esq., for respondent, Rogelio Hernandez

Christina Remolina, Deputy Attorney General, for intervenor, Department of Youth and Family Services (Peter Verniero, Attorney General of New Jersey, attorney)

BEFORE EDITH KLINGER, ALJ:

On October 15, 1998, petitioner, the State Operated School District of Newark (District), certified tenure charges against respondent, Rogelio Hernandez, to the Commissioner of Education. Respondent filed his answer and, on October 29, 1998, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to - 15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

Hernandez was charged with three counts of conduct unbecoming a teacher based upon three incidents involving three students, J.G., A.F. and R.R. Each of the three incidents led to investigations by the Division of Youth and Family Services (DYFS) into allegations of physical abuse against Hernandez.

The first two incidents, those involving J.G. and A.F., were found by DYFS to be unsubstantiated, but DYFS expressed concern regarding respondent's conduct on each occasion. DYFS found the third allegation of physical abuse to be substantiated, and Hernandez's name was placed into DYFS's Central Registry of child abusers.

Pursuant to the recommendation of the Appellate Division of the Superior Court in In the Matter of Allegations of Sexual Abuse at East Park High School, 314. N.J. Super. 149, 168 (App. Div. 1998), DYFS was permitted to intervene in this matter solely in support of the factual allegations underlying the tenure charge brought with respect to R.R.

The hearing was scheduled to take place on January 15, 19 and 20, 1999. Unfortunately, the student, J.G., who was involved in the first tenure charge was seriously injured in an automobile accident during December 1998, and there was a serious question as to whether he would be able to testify at hearing. The parties, with the consent of J.G.'s mother, agreed to depose him at Kessler Institute for Rehabilitation if his health permitted and two additional days of hearing, February 10 and 11, 1999, were added to allow for this. It was subsequently determined that J.G.'s head injury impaired his memory and rendered him unable to testify as a witness for the District under any circumstances.

With respect to the tenure charge involving J.G., the District presented only the testimony and report of the DYFS investigator. Her testimony and report were permitted subject to the residuum rule since she had no firsthand knowledge of the events contained in her report. When it was determined that the District could not produce any competent evidence to support the tenure charge against respondent involving J.G., the first charge was dismissed and the DYFS report was removed from evidence.

The hearing was completed on February 10, 1999 and the record closed on that date. Posthearing submissions from the parties were accepted but only if they were received in time to be considered. Only petitioner submitted a posthearing brief.

THE REMAINING TENURE CHARGES

Hernandez has been a teacher at the E. Alma Flagg School in Newark since September 1992. During the 1992-93 school year, he taught the fourth grade. Between September 1993 and the end of the 1996 school year, he was a seventh grade teacher. He taught the fourth grade again during the 1996-97 school year.

The Charge With Respect To A.F.

On October 31, 1996 at approximately 3:00 p.m., Sarah Jennings, who has been a security guard in the Newark public school system for seventeen or eighteen years, was at her post at the first floor entrance desk of the Flagg School.

She heard a disturbance and looked up to see Hernandez coming through the door leading to the second floor stairway with a student, A.F., right behind him. She testified that they were arguing and cursing at each other. A.F. tripped and fell to the floor. He lay on the floor yelling at Hernandez that he was going to "f--- him up." Jennings understood this to mean that A.F. wanted to hurt Hernandez. As she watched, Hernandez leaned over and pressed down on A.F.'s neck to hold his head against the floor for about five seconds while A.F. continued to scream at him. As Jennings came up, she saw Hernandez unbuttoning his shirt as though he were getting ready to fight with the boy.

Jennings took A.F. into the office. She saw a bruise on his face but she could not say if it was present before he fell. While they waited in the office, A.F. was very angry and Jennings had to hold him down in the chair because he was still trying to fight with Hernandez.

She testified that Hernandez should not have touched A.F. because she was present, about ten feet away, and it was her job to physically control A.F. if it became necessary. Hernandez stated that he knew that a security guard sat at the front desk at all times unless called away for some reason. He claims that he did not see Jennings there at the time of the incident.

Allegations of child abuse were filed against Hernandez and an investigator from DYFS, Donna Sparks , was sent to the Flagg School. On November 6, 1996, Jennings gave a statement to the investigator which is consistent with her testimony at hearing. Sparks attempted to interview Hernandez that day but he would not meet with her until November 20, 1996, in the presence of a union representative, Pietro Pettino. Hernandez denied that he had held A.F.'s head to the floor and told the investigator that he could not remember offering to fight the boy.

Hernandez testified that he saw A.F. and other boys coming out of a bathroom on the second floor of the Flagg School after the close of the school day when they should not have been in the building. He never taught A.F. and was not sure that the student could specifically identify him as a teacher in the building. He did think that A.F. was aware that he held some sort of position of authority because the boys ran away when they saw him.

He found A.F. hiding in the stairwell on the first floor and told him to leave the building. A.F. began to curse at him and said he was going to "f--- him up."

Hernandez testified that he spoke firmly to A.F. and tried to guide him to the principal's office. When asked what method he used to guide the student, A.F. explained that he employed one that was taught to him by Pettino, his union representative. The guidance consisted of placing the palm of his hand on the student's back between the shoulder blades and shepherding him in the direction of the office.

A.F. resisted. As they walked through the doorway from the stairs with Hernandez slightly ahead, A.F. landed on the floor. He claims that he did not see how A.F. fell because A.F. was behind him when it happened. Respondent thinks A.F. threw himself on the ground to "put on a show for the people in the hallway" in an effort to make trouble for Hernandez. Hernandez could not explain why he thought A.F. was trying to get him into trouble since he had never met the boy before this incident.

Hernandez stated that he immediately stepped about five feet away from A.F., who was belligerent, cursing and making threats, and made no further contact with him whatsoever. Respondent claims that he was standing in that position when Jennings came up. He said that she did not tell the truth when she testified that he held A.F.'s head to the floor.

A.F., who did not testify, told the DYFS investigator that he fell because Hernandez jerked his arm and he struck his face against respondent's leg. His statement is not corroborated by competent evidence and is given no weight in this proceeding. He also stated, however, that Hernandez repeatedly offered to fight with him. This statement is corroborated by Jennings who was an independent eyewitness to the incident.

Based upon the eyewitness testimony of Jennings, and the statements of A.F. in the record as corroborated by the testimony of Jennings, I FIND that, on October 31, 1996, Hernandez did place his hand on A.F. and hold his head to the floor. I FIND that Hernandez did offer to fight with A.F. while A.F. was lying on the floor. I FIND that, even though he knew that there was a security guard stationed in the immediate area, he made no attempt to look for her since he did not even notice that she was there. I further FIND that Hernandez was in no danger from A.F. who may have continued to shout threats but remained on the floor; from Jennings's description, A.F. apparently did not even resist when respondent pressed his head to the ground.

The Charge With Respect To R.R.

R.R., the student involved in the third charge against Hernandez, testified as a witness at hearing. He is now twelve years old. At the time of the alleged incident, he was eleven years old in respondent's fourth grade class. Hernandez attempted to introduce evidence concerning the general conduct of this child at other times and with other teachers. The evidence was not admitted because it was irrelevant to the present hearing. However, for the record, it was assumed that R.R. is disruptive, uncooperative, defiant, combative, a bully and has other behavioral problems as well. Nevertheless, the only testimony concerning his behavior that was accepted into evidence was his conduct immediately before, during and after the incident of December 8, 1997, which is the subject of the third tenure charge.

R.R. testified that at 9:40 a.m. on the morning of December 8, 1997, he was present in Hernandez's classroom. R.R. had stickers in his desk and was playing with them while respondent was teaching the class. Hernandez started to yell at R.R. and R.R. told him not to. Hernandez came over and took the stickers away.

R.R. stated that Hernandez then grabbed him by the back of the neck and took him to the door of the classroom. Respondent opened the door and shoved R.R. out into the hall with such force that the child struck his head against the opposite wall of the hall and bounced off, landing on the floor. According to R.R., the hall is approximately ten feet wide at this point. Hernandez closed the door to the classroom without saying anything to R.R.

The building principal, Muriel Lovell, who was not available to testify, was standing in the doorway of a nearby classroom talking to a teacher. She had her back turned and did not witness the incident. When she heard the noise, she turned around and saw R.R. shouting and crying. There was a bump on the middle left of his forehead where he struck his head on the wall. Lovell sent R.R. down to the nurse who put ice on the bump and called his grandmother with whom he lives. The grandmother could not be located and R.R. remained in school for the rest of the day in another teacher's classroom. R.R. returned to school the next day but he was transferred from respondent's class to another one.

The matter was referred to DYFS for investigation. Dwight Bostic was the investigator assigned to the case. Bostic interviewed R.R. on December 11, 1997. His statement to Bostic at the time is contained in the DYFS report and is consistent with his testimony at hearing.

There were other eyewitnesses to this incident. JoAnn Bradshaw, a parent who volunteers to work in the school bookstore, was standing in the second floor hallway waiting for someone to open the bookstore and talking to Donna Thomas, a security guard stationed on the second floor, at Thomas's desk. Another parent, Wadoo Johnson, was with them. Thomas's desk is located in the same hallway where the incident occurred.

Bradshaw heard a loud bang that startled her and caused her to look back in the direction of respondent's classroom. Hernandez's door flew open and she saw him scuffling with a young man, R.R., whom he was trying to remove from the classroom. The boy was resisting and leaning backward into respondent. Hernandez had one hand on the student's shirt collar and the other hand on his waist. Hernandez pitched the child forward so that he slid across the hall into the opposite wall and then fell back screaming. She heard Hernandez say, "Stay out," then go back into his room and close the door. Lovell came into the hall from the classroom she was visiting, picked the child up from the floor, comforted him and asked him what happened. Bradshaw said that Hernandez came out of his classroom and told Lovell that R.R. had slipped and fallen. Bradshaw gave a statement to Bostic on December 11, 1997 which is contained in the DYFS report and is consistent with her testimony at hearing.

Hernandez testified that Bradshaw had a grudge against him because he was her daughter's teacher the prior year and her daughter was having problems in his class.

Donna Thomas recalled that she was at her desk on the morning of December 8, 1997 talking to two parents, Bradshaw and Wadoo Johnson. She saw Hernandez's door fly open and he was standing there holding R.R. by the back of the neck. She thinks that R.R. was trying to get away from respondent. She then saw respondent push the child so that R.R. slid across the floor and hit his head on the opposite wall. R.R. got up crying. He had a lump on his head. Lovell came out and told Thomas to take him to the nurse's office. After Thomas delivered R.R. to the nurse, she wrote out an incident report. Thomas was also interviewed by Bostic on December 11, 1997. Both the incident report and the interview are contained in the DYFS report and are consistent with Thomas's testimony at hearing.

The other parent who witnessed the incident, Wadoo Johnson, did not testify as a witness but gave a statement to Bostic. In his statement he describes the incident in much the same way as described by Bradshaw, Thomas and R.R. This statement is considered because there is a residuum of competent evidence to support it.

After R.R. went to the nurse, Lovell went to Hernandez's classroom to speak with him. At her request, he wrote out his version of the incident. This says that he was trying to take R.R. to the door of the classroom to turn him over to the security guard, whom he knew to be in the hall, when R.R. pushed through the door in front of him and tripped while trying to run away. This made R.R. so angry that he began to threaten Hernandez and curse at him. During a subsequent interview by Bostic on November 10, 1998, Hernandez told essentially the same story as he did in his earlier report. He also corroborated R.R.'s story about the student telling him not to touch him and adamantly refusing to put the stickers away and sit down. Hernandez insisted that he never touched R.R. at any time but R.R. banged into him in his attempt to get away. This was basically the same version of the incident to which he testified at hearing. He held his left hand in the air to show that it was not near the child's neck.

In his testimony, Hernandez stated that R.R. went with him peacefully toward the door. The child was not cursing at him or threatening him until after he fell in the hall. Respondent suggested that R.R. was potentially a dangerous boy. When he was asked why, if this were the case, he did not call the security guard to remove R.R. from the classroom, Hernandez explained that the intercom in the classroom was broken. He later testified that the intercom was only set to receive incoming calls. In order to call out, he needed a key and he never requested one.

He not only admitted that he knew the security guard was in the hall but also claims that he was trying to take R.R. to her when the incident happened. He further admitted that he had called security to remove R.R. from his classroom at times in the past when a situation was developing.

Thomas testified that she was approached by Hernandez after her interview with Bostic. She believes that he was trying to get her to change her story, and she told him she would do that in order to get him to leave her alone. Thomas reported the conversation to Lovell and Lovell called Bostic to tell him. Bostic interviewed Thomas a second time on December 12, 1997 and took another statement from her. In the report, and in his testimony, he says that Thomas told him that Hernandez approached her a few times to change her statement. Respondent also asked Thomas to urge Johnson to change his.

Thomas contacted Bostic for a third time on December 17, 1997. She told him that she had been approached by another teacher, Carol Keeran, a union representative, to change her story. Thomas refused to discuss the matter with Keeran and reported the conversation to the administration.

Hernandez vigorously denied that he tried to influence anyone's testimony and insisted that the conversations reported by Thomas had never taken place.

When Bostic came to investigate on December 11, 1997, Hernandez declined to speak to him without his union representative. At the time he was ready to close his investigation, Bostic had only the brief written statement prepared by Hernandez at Lovell's request on December 8, 1997, immediately following the incident. He used this statement to prepare his determination that Hernandez had physically abused R.R. Respondent was notified of this result on April 23, 1998.

After Bostic determined that the charges of abuse were substantiated, Hernandez's name was placed in DYFS's Central Register. The tenure charges against Hernandez were filed by the District with the Commissioner on October 15, 1998. Hernandez agreed to permit Bostic a direct interview on November 10, 1998. Bostic reviewed and reconsidered his prior determination in light of this interview but reached the same conclusion.

Based upon the testimony and the demeanor of the witnesses, I FIND that, on December 8, 1997, Hernandez threw R.R. from the doorway of his classroom with such force that R.R. struck his head on the opposite wall and bounced off. There were four people who observed this incident, three of whom testified at hearing. I FIND that the three who testified were credible witnesses and each gave testimony consistent with the others and with their prior statements made close to the time of the event. Hernandez's suggestion that Bradshaw would give false testimony because of the way respondent treated her daughter the year before is unpersuasive. Whatever ulterior motive Bradshaw might or might not have, she gave the same account of the incident as Thomas, Johnson and R.R.

I FIND that there was no justification for Hernandez to treat R.R. in this manner. According to respondent's own testimony, R.R. was not behaving in a threatening manner before he was thrown out into the hall. He refused to put away his stickers and sit down and then refused to leave the classroom but behaved in a peaceful manner. I FIND that Hernandez was aware that there was a security guard in the hall and the proper procedure was to call her to remove the child. The fact that the intercom was not working does not excuse respondent's conduct. He could have walked to the door and called out to her. I FIND that R.R. received a minor injury to his head as the result of being thrust into the wall. Finally, I FIND that Hernandez made no effort to see how badly he had injured R.R. but immediately returned to his classroom and callously closed the door behind him.

Respondent's Record of Employment

Hernandez testified that he had an outstanding record as a teacher and was often called upon by Lovell to deal with students that could not be controlled by other teachers. Between 1993 and 1996, he was also occasionally placed in charge of the building when the principal was called away. Hernandez was active in the parent's organization and served as its treasurer. He was elected a member of the team to develop an educational improvement plan for the Flagg school. He coached the debating team in the 1996-97 school year. He claims that he had no problems with the school administration until he became the teachers' union representative in September 1996 and wrote a report complaining of the physical conditions in the Flagg building.

Respondent was not permitted to introduce any evidence to show that the District only sought to remove him from his position because of anti-union animus. The first reason for this was that the charges against him were not based upon any protected activity in which he was engaged. The second reason was that the eyewitnesses against him were not part of the school administration and no anti-union animus could be imputed to them. The final reason is that the nature of the charges is such that, if he were found guilty of them, his removal would be required and the presence or absence of anti-union animus is irrelevant.

Hernandez denied that he was ever told that his method of handling students needed improvement nor, from his testimony, did he believe he needed to improve. He stated that he always relied upon the shepherding method of removing students, described above, which was taught to him by Pettino, his union representative. On the other hand, he admitted, as a person who took charge of the building in the absence of the principal, he was aware that teachers were responsible for contacting security in the event of a problem with a student. He himself explained that this is the reason that there are security desks on each floor.

The record does not support respondent's assertion that he was never told that his method of dealing with students needed improvement.

Respondent submitted a series of Teacher Observation Reports and Annual Evaluation Reports, including Professional Improvement Plans, for the school years from 1992 through June 1997. The Teacher Observation Reports in the record are almost uniformly satisfactory.

In Hernandez's Professional Improvement Plan for June 1994, it was recommended that he "[p]articipate in staff development activities that focus on Conflict Resolution and Assertive Discipline."

In Hernandez's Professional Improvement Plan for the 1994-95 school year, it was suggested that he attend workshops to "improve on classroom management. Find alternate approaches to conflict resolutions."

In March 1996, Hernandez requested that he be transferred from Flagg to another school in the District. In his Teacher Annual Evaluation Report of June 15, 1996, Lovell recommended that he be transferred but he was still assigned to the Flagg School for the 1996-97 school year.

His Professional Improvement Plan for the 1997-98 school year contains the recommendations that he "[a]void over reacting to parent complaints. Resist being argumentative, and making statements that can be misconstrued." It was further recommended that he "[a]void confrontational situations with peers, students and parents."

When he was asked at hearing whether he ever attended a workshop to improve his handling of conflict situations as recommended, he testified that he did not because he was comfortable employing the shepherding method which he learned from Pettino.

In addition to the above, there is other good reason for respondent to have known that there was a question about the manner in which he was dealing with students. The first tenure charge, which was dismissed for lack of evidence, related to a DYFS abuse charge brought against him in 1994. The DYFS allegations of abuse against J.G. were found to be unsubstantiated with concern for the way Hernandez was relating to students. There is no assumption here that Hernandez was guilty of the abuse as alleged; however, it is clear that his method of dealing with student discipline had certainly been called into question.

Likewise, the DYFS charges against him with respect to A.F. in December 1996 led to a determination that the charges of abuse were unsubstantiated but, once more, concern was raised about the manner in which Hernandez was dealing with conflict situations.

Based upon the above, I FIND that respondent's employment records show that there were aspects of Hernandez's dealing with student disciplinary problems that were troubling to the school administration from 1994 and recommendations were made to him on how to improve his performance in this area. He must have been aware of these recommendations since he signed the Professional Improvement Plans in evidence. Further, he must have been aware that there were DYFS investigations of his conduct with respect to students in two specific instances. Even though there was no substantiation of these charges, he would have to know that DYFS expressed concern as to his conduct on these occasions. As a result, I FIND Hernandez's testimony, that he did not know of any District concern with his performance or its offer of any suggestion that he improve it, to be incredible. This finding is further supported by respondent's own testimony that he was satisfied with the method that he learned from Pettino and was not interested in learning other strategies.

I FIND that respondent's record further discredits his allegations that disciplinary actions were taken against him as a result of his union activity. He became the teachers' union representative in September 1996 and wrote a report complaining of the physical conditions in the Flagg building in that capacity: the concerns about his response to students presenting disciplinary problems first surfaced in his records in 1994.

DISCUSSION OF LAW AND CONCLUSIONS

If proven by a preponderance of credible evidence, a teacher's violation of the statutory prohibition against corporal punishment, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-1, constitutes conduct unbecoming a teacher and warrants a reduction in compensation or dismissal. In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Norma Pollard, 96 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 170.

N.J.S.A. 18A:6-1 reads in pertinent part:

> No person employed or engaged in a school or educational institution, whether public or private, shall inflict or cause to be inflicted corporal punishment upon a pupil attending such school or institution; but any such person may, within the scope of his employment, use and apply such amounts of force as is reasonable and necessary:
> (1) to quell a disturbance, threatening physical injury to others;

(2) to obtain possession of weapons or other dangerous objects upon the person or within the control of a pupil;

(3) for the purpose of self-defense; and

(4) for the protection of persons or property;

and such acts, or any of them, shall not be construed to constitute corporal punishment within the meaning and intendment of this section.

Although the statute does not precisely define the phrase "corporal punishment," it clarifies it by authorizing the use of such force "as is reasonable and necessary" in the four circumstances listed above. Craze v. Allendale Bd. of Ed., 1938 S.L.D. 185, 186.

I FIND that Hernandez's conduct in the incidents involving A.F. and R.R. did not arise under any of the circumstances of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-1(a), (b), (c) or (d), so that I CONCLUDE that he is not entitled to exculpation under the terms of the statute. A.F. was lying on the floor and making a lot of noise but constituted no physical threat to Hernandez or anyone else. R.R. was going along quietly with Hernandez to the classroom door when he was callously hurled out into the hall with no regard for his safety.

It must now be determined whether respondent's conduct constituted corporal punishment. The Commissioner of Education has articulated the legislative purpose behind N.J.S.A. 18A:6-1 in the case law as follows:

> The Commissioner finds in the century old statute prohibiting corporal punishment (N.J.S.A. 18A:6-1) an underlying philosophy that an individual has a right not only to freedom from bodily harm but also to freedom from offensive bodily touching even though there be no actual physical harm.

The Commissioner further explained that:

> Competent teachers never find it necessary to resort to physical force or violence to maintain discipline or compel obedience. If all other means fail, there is always a resort to removal from the classroom or school through suspension or expulsion. The Commissioner cannot find any justification for, nor can he condone the use of physical force by a teacher to maintain discipline or to punish infractions.
> Therefore, according to the Commissioner:
>
> [W]hen teachers resort to "unnecessary and inappropriate physical contact with those in their charge [they] must expect to face dismissal or other severe penalty.

Violations of the prohibition against corporal punishment have been found in circumstances involving the egregious use of physical force to use of no physical force. For example, in School District of Borough of Red Bank v. Williams, 3 N.J.A.R. 237 (1981), the administrative law judge determined that a teacher's use of a ruler to lightly rap on the hands of students constituted corporal punishment, even though no physical harm resulted. Moreover, in In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Norma Pollard, 96 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 170, corporal punishment was established when the teacher placed students in a closet.

Corporal punishment has also been found in far more severe circumstances. For example, in In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Eddie Lee Harrell, A-753-93T3, (App. Div. December 27, 1994), corporal punishment was committed by a teacher who pushed one pupil into a brick wall and grabbed another pupil by the arm and threw him to the floor. Likewise, in In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Charles Courtney, 92 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 399, a teacher committed corporal punishment when he twisted a pupil's arm and forced the pupil to hit himself in the face.

In the present case, when Hernandez threw R.R. into a wall and held A.F.'s head against the floor, I CONCLUDE that he committed two separate acts of corporal punishment. His abuse of R.R. was clearly within the realm of behavior deemed to be corporal punishment by prior case law. See Harrell, supra. When Hernandez held A.F.'s head to the floor, it was a violation of A.F.'s right to be free "from offensive bodily touching." See Appleby, supra, and Ostergren, supra.

Unbecoming Conduct

Dismissal or reduction in compensation of tenured teachers in the public school system pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 is warranted for "inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct, or other just cause." N.J.S.A. 18A: 6-10(b) (emphasis added).

While unbecoming conduct is not specifically defined in the statute or regulations, in In the Matter of the Certificate of John Fargo, 91 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDE) 1, it was held that this determination is discretionary and should be made on a case-by-case basis.

In the present case, I CONCLUDE that Hernandez is guilty of two incidents of corporal punishment constituting unbecoming conduct.

PENALTY

A lack of fitness to remain a teacher is best demonstrated by a series of incidents, but can be shown by a single incident if sufficiently flagrant. Redcay v. State Bd. of Ed., 130 N.J.L. 369, 371 (Sup. Ct. 1943), aff'd 131 N.J.L. 326, 327 (E. & A. 1944); In re Fulcomer, 93 N.J. Super. 404, 421 (App. Div. 1967). Further, the nature of the offense, any mitigating circumstances, and the teacher's record must also be considered when determining unbecoming conduct. In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Boyd, 93 N.J.A.R. 2d, (EDU) 445, 452.

After the incident with J.G. in 1994, Hernandez was warned in a succession of Professional Improvement Plans, but still denies, that he needed to improve the manner in which he interacted with students. It should have been clear to him that this was a problem area for him, if only because his conduct touched off three consecutive DYFS investigations. I FIND this shows respondent to be inflexible in his lack of interest in improving his performance. I further FIND that Hernandez's conduct toward students deteriorated after each incident. When DYFS found the charges against him unsubstantiated with respect to A.F. and J.G., it was as though it gave him license to escalate his rough handling of students, culminating in his egregious treatment of R.R.

I FIND that both incidents, those involving A.F. and R.R. of which he has been found guilty, are serious and show an escalation of misconduct on his part. I FIND that there are aggravating circumstances in both situations which make it undesirable for Hernandez to remain in the classroom. In the case of A.F., he allowed himself to be goaded by bad language and a perceived insult to his authority into pressing a twelve-year-old boy's head to the floor and offering to fight him. In the case of R.R., Hernandez allowed his dislike of this eleven-year-old student to overcome his self-control so that he forcefully pitched the child across the hall into a wall so hard that the boy was injured. To make matters worse, after injuring R.R., Hernandez callously closed the door behind him and left R.R. to fend for himself.

I FIND that there are no mitigating circumstances in this matter. Hernandez's participation in school activities and the responsibilities with which he was entrusted during his teaching career at Flagg did not prevent him from being insensitive to the dignity and bodily integrity of his students. I CONCLUDE that there is no appropriate penalty other than to remove Hernandez from his position as a tenured teacher in the Newark Public School System.

ORDER

It is ORDERED that respondent, Rogelio Hernandez, be hereby removed from his position as teacher in the State Operated School District of Newark.

The record of this matter and the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Respondent's exceptions and the District's reply thereto are duly noted as submitted in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4.

Respondent's exceptions contend that: (1) the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) erred in concluding on page 9 of the initial decision that he never requested a key to the intercom, when his testimony proved otherwise, and said error is material and prejudicial to respondent; (2) the ALJ erred in referring to the dismissed Charge One, on page 13 of the initial decision, in her examination of respondent's notice from the District that it had concerns about respondent's methods of dealing with student disciplinary issues; (3) respondent, after the incidents underlying Charges One and Two, received satisfactory evaluations from the District and "absolutely no discipline" as a consequence of these incidents (Respondent's Exceptions at p. 5); (4) the District failed to prove by a preponderance of credible evidence the incidents with respect to A.F. (Charge Two) and R.R. (Charge Three); and (5) even assuming such charges were proven, termination is too severe a penalty for respondent.

In reply, the District asserts that: (1) the ALJ's error on page 9 with respect to respondent's request for an intercom key was neither material nor prejudicial to respondent; (2) the ALJ did not err by referring to the dismissed Charge One when finding that respondent was on notice that the District had questions regarding respondent's disciplinary methods; (3) despite respondent's satisfactory annual evaluations and the District's failure to withhold his salary increments following the first two incidents, termination is warranted; (4) Charges Two and Three have been proven by a preponderance of credible evidence; and (5) termination is an appropriate penalty, under these circumstances.

Upon careful and independent review of the record in this matter, which included transcripts from the hearing conducted at the OAL on January 15, 1999, January 19, 1999, January 20, 1999 and February 10, 1999,[1] the Commissioner determines to affirm the initial decision of the ALJ, with modification as set forth herein.

Initially, the Commissioner concurs that the record supports the parties' conclusion that respondent did, in fact, request a key from the administration of his school to enable him to use his classroom intercom for student discipline problems. (T4:113) However, the Commissioner concurs with the District that the ALJ's error in this regard is neither material to the outcome, nor prejudicial to respondent. As the District properly argued with respect to the R.R. incident (Charge Three):

> The District's failure to provide Respondent with an intercom key did not give him license to physically abuse a student who posed no physical threat to Respondent at the time of the incident. To suggest that this incident would have been avoided had Respondent had a key is another example of Respondent seeking to avoid responsibility for his actions. (District's Reply at p. 8)

[1] The hearing transcripts are hereinafter referred to as T1 (transcript from January 15, 1999), T2 (transcript from January 19, 1999), T3 (transcript from January 20, 1999) and T4 (transcript from February 10, 1999).

The Commissioner finds the District's argument in this regard to be particularly persuasive, given respondent's testimony that he was aware that School Safety Officer Donna Thomas was, on the day of the R.R. incident, posted outside his classroom and, further, given respondent's testimony that it was his practice to signal Ms. Thomas to come to his room when a student needed to be brought to the office. (T4: 33, 34)

Next, the Commissioner concurs that "[t]he record does not support respondent's assertion that he was never told that his method of dealing with students needed improvement," and that such notice was provided as early as 1994, the date of the incident which gave rise to the circumstances underlying Charge One. (Initial decision at pp. 12-13) Moreover, the ALJ's reference to the DYFS report attendant to that incident specifically indicates that she made no assumption that respondent was guilty of the abuse as alleged; rather, the ALJ clearly states that she considered the report to evaluate respondent's credibility. (Id. at p. 13) The Commissioner further notes, as did the ALJ, that respondent's June 1994 Professional Improvement Plan indicated that respondent should "[p]articipate in staff development activities that focus on Conflict Resolution and Asssertive Discipline." (Exhibit R-1P) His final evaluation also noted that respondent needed to "[d]evelop positive responses for typical disciplines common to upper grade students." (Id.) To the extent respondent contends that these and subsequent notices were insufficient to warn him of the District's concern, because they were tempered, in some way, by positive feedback and generally satisfactory evaluations, the Commissioner finds that such feedback does not diminish, or give respondent reasonable cause to dismiss, the concerns which were noted in his evaluations and professional improvement plans.

Finally, like the ALJ, the Commissioner finds that the record supports the conclusion that the District has proven, by a preponderance of credible evidence that respondent's actions with respect to A.F. and R.R. constitute corporal punishment, and that his conduct was unbecoming a teaching staff member. In so finding, the Commissioner notes that he finds no basis in the record before him to challenge the credibility determinations made by the ALJ.

As to the appropriate penalty, the Commissioner has considered respondent's record of employment with the District since 1992, and concurs with the ALJ's recommendation that respondent be dismissed from his tenured position in the State-operated School District of the City of Newark. Recognizing that fitness for a particular position requires a balancing of interests, In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Arlene Dusel, 1978 S.L.D. 526, 531, and that "[u]nfitness for a position in the school system may be shown by a single incident, if sufficiently flagrant, but is 'best shown by numerous incidents,'" In re Courtney, 92 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 399, 403, citing Redcay v. State Board of Ed., 130 N.J.L. 369, 371 (Sup. Ct. 1934), aff'd 131 N.J.L. 326 (E. & A. 1944), the Commissioner finds that the totality of the testimonial and documentary record supports the ALJ's conclusion.

In reaching his determination, the Commissioner underscores the now axiomatic language of a prior tenure decision maintaining that:

> [teachers] are professional employees to whom the people have entrusted the care and custody of tens of thousands of school children with the hope that this trust will result in the maximum educational growth and development of each individual child. This heavy duty requires a degree of self-restraint and controlled behavior rarely requisite to other types of employment.  In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Jacque L. Sammons, 1972 S.L.D. 302, 321.

Like the ALJ, the Commissioner notes with concern that respondent's instances of unbecoming conduct toward pupils are serious and should not be discounted. "School officials need not wait until some child is badly injured before removing a teacher prone to violence." In re Courtney, supra, at 403. As the District aptly argued:

> It is also clear from the testimony of both Respondent and Petitioner's witnesses that security was readily available in each instance. Respondent's behavior exemplifies a desire to personally handle disciplinary situations with physical force. Obviously, Respondent felt that A.F. and R.R. challenged his authority . In both instances, Respondent responded to the challenge of his authority with unnecessary physical force.  These two incidents paint a portrait of a teacher who has little tolerance for student disobedience. Instead of following school procedures, however, Respondent chooses to settle differences with students by the use of extreme physical force. Judge Klinger correctly concluded that the aggravating circumstances in each of these situations make it undesirable for Respondent to remain in the classroom. (District's Reply at p. 30)

Equally troubling is respondent's inability to recognize, or in any way acknowledge, that his conduct was inappropriate. Taken together, the evidence demonstrates that his removal is warranted.

Accordingly, the initial decision of the OAL is affirmed, as modified with regard to the ALJ's finding on respondent's request for the intercom key. Respondent is dismissed from his tenured teaching position with the District as of the date of this decision. This matter is further referred to the State Board of Examiners pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6 for action against his certificate as it deems appropriate.[2]

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Julio Morejon, Esq., for respondent

Record Closed: March 22, 1999 Decided: March 26, 1999

BEFORE ARNOLD SAMUELS, ALJ:

On January 12, 1998 the petitioner, Board of Education of the Town of West New York, filed a certificate of determination and written charges against the respondent, Juan Iglesias, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 and N.J.A.C. 6:24-5.2 et seq., seeking his dismissal from his tenured position, because of unbecoming conduct or other just cause. The respondent subsequently filed an answer with the Commissioner of Education.

On February 26, 1998 the Commissioner transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for hearing and determination as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to 13.

A telephone prehearing conference was held at the OAL on November 25, 1998, and a prehearing order was entered, defining and limiting the issues to be decided, fixing hearing dates, providing for discovery and regulating other procedural aspects of the forthcoming hearing, which was scheduled for March 22, 1999. (Previously scheduled hearing dates were adjourned in order to enable the respondent to obtain representation by an attorney, who needed to prepare the matter for prehearing and hearing. (The respondent had appeared pro se after the matter was transmitted to the OAL).

Prior to the scheduled hearing date, counsel advised that the parties had reached a settlement. The settlement terms were placed on the record on March 22, 1999, and the respondent testified, under oath, that he fully understood the terms and agreed to the settlement voluntarily. At the same time, a written settlement agreement was signed by the respondent and by authorized representatives of both parties. A copy of the agreement was filed in the OAL on the same date, and is attached hereto and made a part hereof.

A discussion was held, on the record, relating to whether the Cardonick Standards for the review of settlements in tenure matters applied to this agreement. In Re Cardonick, decided by the Commr. of Educ. (Apr. 7, 1982), aff'd St. Bd. of Educ. (Apr. 6, 1983), 1990 S.L.D. 842, 846. It was determined that, since the respondent, in his position as an Administrative Clerk for the West New York Board of Education did not possess or be required to possess any certificate or other certification from the State Board of Examiners, the Cardonick Standards were inapplicable to his resignation from his tenured position.

The parties have agreed to settle this matter in accordance with the attached agreement.

I have reviewed the record and the terms of settlement and FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement, as evidenced by their signatures or their representative's signatures on the agreement.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be CONCLUDED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
NEW JERSEY STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, DIVISION OF FINANCE,	:	DECISION ON MOTION
RESPONDENT.	:

Petitioning Board challenged the calculation of District income for the Board that was utilized in the determination of its State aid entitlement for the 1998-99 school year. Alleging it acted pursuant to statute in providing State aid to the Board for the 1998-99 school year, respondent Department moved for dismissal of the petition in that petitioner had failed to identify evidence and allege facts essential to its claims.

ALJ concluded that petitioner set forth sufficient facts in its petition to maintain its action against respondent. ALJ found petitioner clearly demonstrated a property interest and, thus, was protected by due process for its claim of alleged entitlement. ALJ concluded that the matter petitioner sought to adjudicate was properly before the OAL for determination as a "contested case." N.J.S.A. 52:14B-2(b). Moreover, the ALJ concluded that respondent's motion to dismiss, grounded upon respondent's assertion that the petition did not comport with N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.3, was denied.

Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that respondent's motion was properly denied. Commissioner found that the express language of N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-15 provides petitioner with the right of appeal, and that the parameters of such appeals have not, as yet, been further explicated through rule or decisional law. Matter was to continue at OAL for further proceedings as a contested case, the primary issue to be resolved being whether the district income wealth data relied upon by respondent were accurate.

BEFORE LILLARD E. LAW, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The Board of Education of the Township of Lakewood (Board) appeals from a determination by the Division of Finance (Division) of the New Jersey State Department of Education (DOE) to reduce its 1998-99 core curriculum standards aid in the amount of $1,054,109. The Board seeks, among other things, the restoration of the $1,054,109.

The mater was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. A prehearing conference was held on November 16, 1998, at which, among other things, the issues to be determined by this tribunal were set forth as follows:

Issues:

1. Whether the criteria used by the Division to reduce petitioner's core curriculum standards aid from $8,928,522 to $7,874,443 ($1,054,109) for the 1998-99 school year was appropriate and accurate?

2. Whether the Division may or may not reveal the sources of its calculations to reduce petitioner's core curriculum standards aid for the 1998-99 school year.

MOTION

Prior to the prehearing conference, respondent had propounded and served a motion to dismiss the instant matter together with a brief of law and exhibits. The Board had responded to the motion with its brief and exhibits. It was settled that oral argument on respondent's motion was to be heard on March 19, 1999, at the Trenton OAL, Mercerville, New Jersey. Oral argument was heard by the undersigned as scheduled and is now ripe for disposition.

RESPONDENT'S POSITION

The petitioner in this matter is the Board. The Board seeks a determination by the Commissioner that it be provided an additional $1,054,109 in core curriculum standards aid for the 1998-99 school year or, in the alternative, that it be provided $1,054,109 in stabilization aid for the 1998-99 school year. (See, Petition, demand for relief.)

The petition challenges the calculation of district income for the Board that was utilized in the determination of petitioner's State aid entitlement for the 1998-99 school year. It alleges its aid was miscalculated in the amount of $1,054,109 and requests that amount be provided in core curriculum standards aid. Since the Department acted pursuant to statute in providing State aid to the Board for the 1998-99 school year, and given that petitioner has failed to identify evidence and allege facts essential to its claims, the State now moves for dismissal of the petition.

By way of background, in 1996, the Comprehensive Educational Improvement and Financing Act of 1996 (CEIFA), N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-1 et seq. was enacted. N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-3 provides that, by the 1998-99 school year and beyond, district income is to be determined by aggregating the "income of the residents of the taxing district . . . based upon data provided by the New Jersey Division of Taxation in the New Jersey Department of the Treasury and contained on the New Jersey State Income Tax forms for the calendar year ending prior to the prebudget year." The procedure utilized by Treasury to determine the aggregate district income for the 1998-99 school year is set forth in the March 3, 1998 memorandum from Mike Azzara, Assistant Commissioner, DOE, to all chief school administrators, referenced in paragraph 10 of the petition (attached hereto).

As set forth in the memorandum, Treasury went to great lengths to ensure that only applicable tax forms were counted for each municipality. The aggregate wealth of each district, as determined by Treasury, was utilized by the Department of Education when calculating each district's State aid entitlement. This information was also provided in the letter of March 23, 1998, from Assistant Commissioner Mike Azzara to petitioner denying its appeal of its State aid determination (attached hereto).

As noted in the March 3, 1998 memorandum, the State aid figures provided to school districts were based upon a recalculation of State aid for all districts utilizing redetermined income figures for each school district. Treasury recalculated the income figures in order to ensure their accuracy for purposes of determining each school district's entitlement for State aid. The increase in State aid of $1,054,109 that petitioner seeks in this case constitutes the difference between the original figures provided by the Department of Education, and the redetermined State aid figures referenced in the March 3, 1998 memorandum.

In the March 3, 1998 memorandum, it is noted that N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-15 provides that any school district that believes the amount of core curriculum standards aid assigned to it is incorrect may appeal the determination to the Commissioner of Education. As set forth in the March 3, 1998 memorandum and the March 23 1998 letter, districts appealing the calculation of their income determination must include information on the demographics of the district and the data source(s) utilized by the district that support the district's contention that its income was improperly calculated. In this case, no such data has been presented. Rather, petitioner seeks all data utilized by the State to calculate its income so that it may review the data and determine whether it agrees with the State's calculation.

Unquestionably, petitioner cannot file a petition of appeal seeking a $1,054,109 increase in State aid, and base the appeal on nothing more than a desire to review the confidential documentation utilized by Treasury so that petitioner may determine if it believes the documentation is accurate. As set forth in the attached memoranda, petitioner must set forth a basis for asserting that the State's income calculation is incorrect in order to appeal the calculation to the Commissioner, and must provide publicly accessible documentation to support its appeal. Because petitioner has not done so, the petition must be dismissed.

PETITIONER HAS FAILED TO PLEAD REQUISITE FACTS OR OTHERWISE SET FORTH A BASIS FOR ITS CLAIMS AND THEREFORE THE PETITION MUST BE DISMISSED.

Petitioner alleges in its petition that it believes the determination of wealth income for the Board by the Department of Treasury was inaccurate (Petition, ¶¶5 and 6). Based upon this hypothesized inaccurate calculation of district income, petitioner seeks an increase in its State aid of $1,054,109. However, petitioner fails to set forth a basis for this assertion in the petition. Rather, petitioner argues that it must review the data utilized by the State in order to assess whether its income was properly calculated. At that time, petitioner would presumably set forth its basis, if any, for challenging the determination of income for Lakewood Township. Such a pleading is clearly inadequate and must be dismissed.

Petitioner fails to plead any facts that would support a determination that its income was inaccurately calculated by Treasury and that it is thus entitled to an additional $1,054,109 in State aid for the 1998-99 school year.[1] In the absence of the necessary pleadings, the petition in this matter must be dismissed.

N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.3 provides that "[t]he petition must include . . . a statement of the specific allegation(s) and essential facts supporting them which have given rise to a dispute under the school law" (emphasis supplied). In Cusseaux v. Pickett, 279 N.J. Super. 335, 338 (Law Div. 1994), the court, when reviewing, pursuant to R. 4:5-2, the sufficiency of a complaint, stated that:

> The pleading is intended to appraise fairly the adverse party of the claims and issues raised. (Citations omitted). The complaint must do more than give notice of a claim, it must state the essentials of a cause of action. (Citation omitted). Implicit in these requirements is the necessity that there be a cognizable cause of action upon which relief can be granted.

A review of the petition in this case reveals that the requisite facts with regard to Lakewood's claims were not pled and that those claims must therefore be dismissed. In its petition, petitioner simply states that it "believes that the allocation of income and/or wealth to the Township of Lakewood was inaccurate" (Petition, ¶6). Nowhere in the petition does the petitioner allege that there is any credible evidence or documentation to support its claims.

[1] The amount requested by petitioner is the difference between the estimated amount of State aid it was initially notified of and the amount that was calculated by the Department of Education after petitioner's income was calculated by Treasury. Petitioner clearly has no basis for asserting that its income was improperly calculated. Rather, petitioner merely avers that its income may have been improperly calculated and that it should receive the amount of State aid that was originally estimated for it. See, Petition, ¶6. Absent a recitation of facts that would support the assertion that petitioner's income was incorrectly calculated, the petition must be dismissed.

Rather, petitioner alleges that it must be allowed to review the data utilized by the Departments of Education and Treasury to calculate its income in order to determine if petitioner agrees with the calculation (Petition, ¶¶11-13).

Petitioner's pleadings, at a minimum, should include factual allegations with citations to credible documentation setting forth that its income was improperly calculated, thus creating a question as to whether it is entitled to additional State aid. Petitioner's papers, as pled, do not allege any such facts. As such, petitioner has failed to demonstrate the facts necessary to support its claims. In the absence of sufficient pleadings concerning the income of Lakewood Township, the petition in this matter must be dismissed.

In addition, even if petitioner had alleged more than that the State aid figures were recalculated one month after they were issued in February 1998, and that its State aid was reduced, the petition must be dismissed because the State Income Tax returns that were utilized by Treasury to calculate district income are confidential and cannot be provided to petitioner.[2] N.J.S.A. 54:50-8 provides in pertinent part:

> a. The records and files of the Director respecting the administration of the State Tax Uniform Procedure Law or of and State tax law shall be considered confidential and privileged and neither the director nor any employee engaged in the administration thereof or charged with the custody of any such records or files, . . . nor any person who may have secured information therefrom under subsection d, e, f, or g of R.S. 54:50-9, or any other provision of State law, shall divulge, disclose or use for their own personal advantage any information obtained from the said records or files or from any examination or inspection of the premises or property of any person. Neither the director nor any employee engaged in such administration or charged with the custody of any such records or files shall be required to produce any of them for the inspection of any person or for use in any action or proceeding except when the records or files or the facts shown thereby are directly involved in any action or proceeding under the provisions of the State Tax Uniform Procedure Law or of the State tax law affected, or where > the determination of the action or proceeding will affect the validity or amount of the claim of the State under some State tax law, or in any lawful proceeding for the investigation or prosecution of any violation of the criminal provisions of the State Tax Uniform Procedure Law or of any State tax law.

[2] In fact, the respondent does not have the requested forms. They are in possession of the Department of Treasury, which is not a party to this action. Therefore, even if the Commissioner were to agree with petitioner, he may not direct Treasury to provide documentation to petitioner, because it is not a department over which the Commissioner of Education has jurisdiction.

> B. The prohibitions of this section . . . shall specifically include, without limitation, violations involving the divulgence of any information from or any copy of a federal return or federal return information required by New Jersey law to be attached to or included in any New Jersey return.

As held in Monmouth Airlines, Inc. v. Director, Division of Taxation, 2 N.J. Tax 47 (1980), There is no discretion allowing courts to breach the confidentiality of tax records protected by this statute, and exceptions to the prohibition set forth in N.J.S.A. 54:50-9 are not applicable to this matter.

In light of the above set forth statutory prescription, the State income tax returns utilized by Treasury to calculate income pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-3 are confidential documents. As such, Treasury cannot provide them to petitioner. In addition, as set forth in the attachments to this brief, Treasury engaged in a comprehensive process to ensure the accuracy of its income determinations for each school district. The petition in this case offers nothing to question the accuracy of these calculations. Absent such pleadings, and considering that the documents utilized by Treasury are confidential, the petition in this case must be dismissed.[3]

[3] Petitioner cannot request that the relevant tax returns be provided in a redacted form to avoid dismissal of this case because, in such form, the returns would be of no use. Absent the name, address and other information that would identify taxpayers, the tax returns could not be challenged by petitioner as being an inaccurate listing of Lakewood Township taxpayers and income. Therefore, it is clear that, absent sufficient pleadings and documentation to call into question the determination of State aid for petitioner, the petition must be dismissed.

POINT II

THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION ACTED LAWFULLY AND PURSUANT TO N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-10 IN DETERMINING THE AMOUNT OF STATE AID TO BE RECEIVED BY PETITIONER.

The Department of Education at all times acted in accordance with the statutory parameters of CEIFA when it certified state aid to Lakewood for the 1998-1999 school year and denied Lakewood stabilization aid. Specifically, the Department was acting pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-10, which directs that stabilization aid is not to be provided to a district whose pupil population has decreased. Because the Department was acting pursuant to specific provision in CEIFA when certifying state aid to Lakewood, the petition must be dismissed.

CEIFA contains a stabilization provision to assist districts in the transition from prior funding to funding under CEIFA. N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-10. This stabilization provision has two effects: to cap aid increases under CEIFA and to cap aid decreases under CEIFA. The purpose of the provision is to avoid immediate significant shifts in aid which could prove disruptive or detrimental to the school district budget process and the effective and efficient use of educational funding. As such, stabilized aid growth for the 1997-1998 school year under CEIFA is capped at the greater of 8% or 50% of the enrollment growth since October 1991. For the 1998-99 and 1999-2000 school years, stabilized aid growth is capped at 10%, 50% of the enrollment growth since October 1991, or 100% of annual enrollment growth.

The State aid figures provided for Lakewood constitute that to which it is entitled pursuant to law. Petitioner seeks stabilization aid for the 1998-1999 school year because its State aid figure was reduced by $1,054,109. However, this reduction was not from the State aid Lakewood received in the past. Rather, the reduction is from the original State aid figures provided by the Department in February, 1998, which figures were subsequently recalculated and reissued. (See, the March 3, 1998 memorandum from Mike Azzara to all Chief School Administrators.) N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-10 calls for the provision of stabilization aid in certain circumstances if there is a difference between the State aid provided in the prebudget year and the calculation for the budget year. In this case, petitioner has alleged no such difference. Clearly, stabilization aid was created to stabilize aid from one year to the next, not to address a situation wherein State aid is recalculated for the same year one month after the initial figures are released by the Department of Education.

The intent of stabilization aid is to ensure that a district's State aid will not increase or decrease too drastically from one year to the next as a result of the enactment of a new formula. In this case, petitioner received one figure as its State aid for the 1998-1999 school year, and then, one month later, received a recalculated State aid figure. Petitioner never received the original amount of State aid. Therefore, petitioner does not qualify to have its State aid stabilized based upon having been provided a State aid figure for 1998-1999 that was altered one month later.

In addition, as can be seen from the attached form from the Office of Finance,[4] Lakewood's enrollment has decreased since 1991. Therefore, because the enrollment has decreased, N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-10 directs that stabilization aid is not to be provided to petitioner. Therefore, even if petitioner was basing its claim on State aid figures from 1997-1998 and 1998-1999, rather than on the initial and final calculations of the Department for 1998-1999, it is still not entitled to stabilization aid because its student enrollment decreased.

For all of the foregoing reasons, the petition must be dismissed because the petition fails to allege the necessary facts to create a question as to whether petitioner's income was incorrectly calculated and the Department acted in accordance with CEIFA in denying stabilization aid to the district.

PETITIONER'S POSITION

The Comprehensive Education Improvement and Financing Act of 1996 (CEIFA), N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-1, et seq. became effective December 20, 1996 to be applied to the 1997-1998 school year. For the school year 1997-1998, the district income for the Township of Lakewood was determined to be $584,137,416 with corresponding State aid in the amount of $8,137,008.

[4] The Commissioner may take judicial notice of the form, as it is an official report of the New Jersey Department of Education.

Petitioner, in preparation of its budget for the fiscal year 1998-1999, was notified by respondent that it would receive core curriculum standards aid in the amount of $8,928,552. On February 3, 1998, petitioner was advised that the core curriculum standards aid for the 1998-1999 school year was reduced by $1,054,109 to $7,874,433. The reduction in State aid was alleged to have been based upon recalculations of the Township of Lakewood's wealth, as determined by the Treasury Department of the State of New Jersey, the Department of Education and/or the Commissioner of Education of the State of New Jersey.

The "district income" as determined by the State of New Jersey for Lakewood Township for the school year 1997-1998 was $584,137,416. "District income" as determined by the State for the school year 1998-1999 was originally established to be $486,532,661 and this amount was revised to be $536,838,457. The income figures reported by respondent for the period 1997-1998 and 1998-1999 are dramatically different and inconsistent. In addition, petitioner contends that the allocation of income and/or wealth to the Township of Lakewood is inaccurate.

In accordance with the applicable provisions of N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-1, et seq., specifically 18A:7F-15, petitioner appealed the aid determination, seeking reinstatement of State aid together with stabilization aid and the disclosure of the documentation utilized to determine the amount of "district income" and State aid. Petitioner's appeal was denied by the Assistant Commissioner of Education and petitioner was informed that the requested information would not be produced. As a result, petitioner filed the within action in accordance with the provisions contained in N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-1, et seq.

POINT I

RESPONDENT'S MOTION MUST BE DENIED AS PETITIONER HAS PLEAD REQUISITE FACTS AND IS STATUTORILY AUTHORIZED PURSUANT TO N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-15 TO BRING THIS ACTION

Petitioner initiated this matter by availing itself to the statutory language set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-15 which provides in relevant part:

> A school district may make an appeal to the commissioner on the amount of its core curriculum standards aid on the basis that the calculation of income within the local share formula under section 14 of this act does not accurately reflect the district's income wealth.

See Copy of Petition, annexed hereto as Exhibit A. Notwithstanding respondent's demands and assertions to the contrary, the above referenced statute does not require a school district to submit information on demographics, data sources, etc., in support of its petition. In addition, neither the Commissioner of Education nor the Department of Education has adopted regulations to govern nor define appeals of State aid authorized by N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-15. Nor does respondent identify or rely upon any specific authority which would require petitioner to provide "compelling arguments" in support of its appeal.

The statute's plain language simply requires a school district to allege that its core curriculum standards aid has been inaccurately calculated. Petitioner has acted in accordance with the statute and therefore its petition must not be dismissed. Furthermore, petitioner's pleading complies with the requirements of N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.3 in that the petition contains specific allegations and essential facts supporting them which have given rise to a dispute under the school laws. In addition, as set forth above, the petition alleges that it has been brought in accordance with the provisions contained in N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-1, et seq.

Respondent's unsupported assertion that petitioner must provide "publicly accessible documentation" in support of its appeal, while denying access to the very data upon which "district income" is based and calculated, places petitioner in a "Catch-22" situation.[5] Petitioner is unaware of any "publicly accessible documentation" which can be used to offset the information relied upon by respondent, which information will not or cannot be disclosed.

Equally important, the burden of proof thrust upon petitioner by respondent's argument is not based upon the clear language of the statute authorizing State aid appeals nor administrative regulations governing State aid appeals.

Generally, the burdens of proof and persuasion are imposed on the party best able to satisfy those burdens, because of the greater expertise and access to relevant information. J.E. on behalf of G.E. v. State, 131 N.J. 552, 569-570 (1993); Lascari v. Board of Education, 116 N.J. 30, 45 (1989); Andersen v. Exxon Co., 89 N.J. 483, 500 (1982). In some instances, while the burden of proof is on the defendant, the burden of persuasion remains with the plaintiff. The Supreme Court has recognized that "the party with greater expertise and access to relevant information should bear those evidentiary burdens. Id. It has also been recognized that such a result is particularly sound in less adversarial settings in which both parties maintain a common objective. Id. "In those circumstances, the goal of the parties is not so much to win as to reach the correct result." Id.

In both J.E. on behalf of G.E. v. State, supra, and Lascari, supra, a case concerning the adequacy of an individualized education program, the Court required the defendant/respondent to bear the burden of proof based upon, among other things, its access to records and expertise in the field. It is respectfully submitted that petitioner in this case is similarly situated with the plaintiff/petitioner in the above cited cases. Based upon the foregoing law, the burdens of proof and persuasion must be imposed upon respondent.

[5] "A paradoxical rule found in the novel Catch 22 by Joseph Heller; a problematic situation for which the only solution is denied by a circumstance inherent in the problem or by a rule; also the circumstance or rule that denies a solution." Merriam Webster's Desk Dictionary.

"A dilemma or circumstance from which there is no escape because of two mutually incompatible conditions, both of which are necessary." Oxford Encyclopedia English Dictionary, 3rd Edition.

It is clear that respondent is the party best able to satisfy the burdens of proof and persuasion. Respondent is the party with access to all relevant information and the party with the greater "expertise." This result is clearly sound as this matter involves a lesser adversarial setting, in which, arguably, both parties maintain a common objective, that is, to provide State aid to petitioner consistent with the constitutional requirements and statutory guidelines. This result is also consistent with the principles of due process and fundamental fairness.

Based upon the foregoing, it is respectfully submitted that petitioner has plead the requisite facts, is statutorily authorized to bring this petitioner, and, as such, respondent's motion to dismiss must be denied.

POINT II

PETITIONER IS ENTITLED TO STATE AID

As acknowledged in respondent's brief, CEIFA provides for stabilization aid for school districts. The entitlement for stabilization aid for the 1998-1999 school year was set forth and explained in a memo dated March 3, 1998 from Assistant Commissioner Mike Azzara to all Chief School Administrators and Business Administrators. See Memo dated March 3, 1998 annexed as Exhibit B. This memo contains a specific provision for additional State aid to which petitioner is entitled:

> The Department of Education has re-run the state aid formula for all districts and the aid entitlements of a number of districts will be adjusted accordingly. Additionally, to further mitigate decreases caused by factors other than declining enrollments, districts with an aid decrease and no decline in enrollments will receive additional stabilization aid in the amount of the decrease . . . .

As indicated in Exhibit C annexed, the Lakewood School District did not have an enrollment decline from the 1997-1998 school year. Rather, district enrollment increased from 5070.5 in the school year 1997-1998 to projected enrollment of 5139.5 for the school year 1998-

1999. It is not disputed that petitioner has had a reduction in State aid as a result of respondent's recalculation of its district income.

Thus, petitioner has met the criteria, as established by the Commissioner of Education, for stabilization aid.

Based upon the foregoing, it is respectfully submitted that respondent's motion to dismiss the petition be denied.

RESPONDENT'S REPLY

In reply to petitioner's argument, the respondent states that in its opposition, the Lakewood Board of Education argues that it need not submit any information nor plead any facts in support of its petition. Instead, petitioner suggests that the Department of Education must carry the burden of proof in this case. Finally, Lakewood again asserts that it is entitled to stabilization aid. For the reasons set forth below, all of petitioner's assertions are without merit and must be dismissed.

First, petitioner's argument that it need not provide any information to the Department on an appeal pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A.7F-15 is clearly incorrect. Without doubt, at a minimum, all appeals brought to the Commissioner as a controversy arising under the school laws must conform with the administrative regulations which direct the content of the petition. N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.3. The regulation provides that a "petition must include . . . a statement of the specific allegation(s) and essential facts supporting them which have given rise to a dispute under the school laws. . . ." Id. Here, petitioner has failed to set forth any facts which support its allegation that the income wealth calculation is inaccurate.

Moreover, in this type of appeal, the Department of Education provided direction to school districts as to the types of information they should provide if they determined to appeal the wealth calculation. When making a letter application to the Assistant Commissioner, a district must include:

> . . . a narrative explanation for requesting the review, and it must include the district's local demographics and data source, including the year such source or sources were compiled, which support the district's contention. If the data sources are aged, the district must explain to the best of its knowledge why the aged data is a valid basis to support its contention and describe any changes in local demographics from the date of the data source and 1995.
> [Azzara Memorandum of March 3, 1998.]

Here, while petitioner identified a source of demographic information to the Assistant Commissioner, the County of Ocean Data Book, it failed to set forth any salient facts to support its conclusion that the income wealth calculation was flawed.[6] And again, in its petition before the Commissioner, notwithstanding the demographic information is readily available to the petitioner, it failed to set forth any essential facts to support its petition. For these reasons, as well as the reasons set forth in the State's moving brief, the petition should be dismissed.

Petitioner also argues in its opposition brief that the respondent should have the burden of proof in this litigation, and therefore, the petition as plead, is sufficient. Petitioner fails to recognize that burdens of proof are neither allocated nor shifted in initial pleadings. Instead pleadings must be sufficiently pled to set forth a cause of action and essential facts to support the action. Thus, while it may be appropriate to discuss burdens of proof at the commencement of a hearing or trial, it is without question that the petitioner still must plead the requisite facts in its petition.

Moreover, petitioner attempts to support its argument that the State has the burden here with the allegation that it is unaware of any documentation to support its pleadings (Petitioner's Brief at 4). However, petitioner's own submissions to the Assistant Commissioner belie this assertion. In the March 10, 1998 application to Assistant Commissioner Azzara, petitioner plainly stated:

[6] The requirement to include this type of supporting factual information does not exceed the scope of the statutory provision, N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-15, as suggested by petitioner. As interpreted by petitioner, a school district that wishes to contest the calculation of income wealth for its district needs simply to aver that the calculation is incorrect, and that statement should fulfill petitioner's obligations with regard to pleadings. Clearly this interpretation is flawed. Not only does it run contrary to the provisions to bring a controversy before the Commissioner, it encourages factually unsupported and frivolous litigation.

> The latest demographic information available to the district contained in the County of Ocean Data Book, published in September of 1997, and the district's records do not support the Commissioner's determination.

In light of this earlier statement, the arguments set forth in petitioner's legal brief must be dismissed as without merit.

Finally, petitioner's analysis of Assistant Commissioner Azzara's memorandum regarding stabilization aid is erroneous and does not support petitioner's contention that it is entitled to such aid. Mr. Azzara's memorandum of March 3, 1998 states:

> The Department of Education has re-run the State aid formula for all districts and the aid entitlements of a number of districts will be adjusted accordingly. Additionally, to further mitigate decreases caused by factors other than declining enrollments, districts with an aid decrease and no decline in enrollments will receive additional stabilization aid in the amount of the decrease . . .

Petitioner misconstrues "aid decrease" to mean a decrease caused by the recalculation of aid Instead, in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-10, the "decrease" is over State aid for the 1997-1998 school year. Thus, petitioner is not entitled to stabilization aid pursuant to statute, and the memorandum of the Assistant Commissioner does not serve to create an entitlement to Lakewood. As such, the Department of Education appropriately did not provide stabilization aid to the Lakewood School District.

For all of the reasons set forth above, and for those reasons set forth in respondent's moving brief, the petition of the Lakewood Board of Education must be dismissed.

At the oral argument held on March 19, 1999, respondent proffered a Certification executed by Richard L. Kaluzny, Ph.D., Director, Office of Revenue and Economic Analysis with the New Jersey Department of Treasury, wherein Dr. Kaluzny stated as follows:

> 1. I am currently employed by the State of New Jersey, Department of Treasury, as Director, Office of Revenue and Economic Analysis. I have been employed in this position since August 1998 and prior to that time I was the Chief of the Office of Tax Analysis from October 1986 through August 1998.
> 2. I am familiar with the above-captioned matter involving Petitioner, the Lakewood School District, as the Department of Treasury is responsible for providing municipal data to the Department of Education for the annual computation of municipal school aid and I possess knowledge regarding the methodology used by Treasury for compiling data to be used by the Department of Education for determining school district income.
> 3. In 1997, the Department of Treasury, pursuant to the Comprehensive Education Improvement and Financing Act (CEIFA), codified at N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-3; 7F-14, provided data setting forth municipal income for all municipalities in New Jersey to be utilized by the Department of Education in calculating each school district's local share of Core Curriculum Standards Aid (CCSA) for the 1998-1999 school year.
> 4. Municipal aggregate income data was collated as follows: The Department of Treasury gathered 1995 municipal income from the New Jersey Total Income reported (line 27a) on the 1995 NJ-1040 forms filed by 3,497,169 resident taxpayers. This is the broadest definition of gross income contained on the tax form. The number of exemptions claimed on the returns for filers, spouses, dependent children and other dependents was used to determine the number of people represented by these returns. The Department of Treasury assigned returns to municipalities based on the taxpayer-supplied codes taken from the table found in the NJ-1040 instruction booklet. This method provided codes for about 80% of the returns. When possible, codes for the remaining 20% were based on the Office of Telecommunications and Information Systems (OTIS) procedure. (See attached Mail Address Verification and Geocode Procedure.) This resulted in approximately 95% of the returns being assigned a municipal code. The remaining 5% were not assigned.

5. When the initial compilations of municipal income (which were the basis for the February 11, 1998 district income figures) were made, the codes for some municipalities, including Lakewood, were incorrect. This occurred because the Division of Taxation (Taxation) and OTIS used different community codes for 99 municipalities. As described in Paragraph four supra, Taxation uses the community codes found in the Gross Income Tax NJ-1040 instruction booklet. OTIS uses the standard Department of Community Affairs codes. Treasury was unaware of this discrepancy when the initial municipal income data was compiled.

6. The February 11, 1998 municipal income data was based on a procedure for assigning tax returns to municipalities that used the Taxation codes as the primary data source and, where these codes were missing, used OTIS-generated codes if they were available. The result was that returns that had a Taxation code of 1515 for Lakewood were combined with returns that were missing a Taxation code and were given an OTIS-assigned code of 1515, which represented Lavallette Borough, thus producing inaccurate income data for Lakewood.

7 The discrepancy between the Taxation and OTIS codes was identified by Treasury after the February 11, 1998 figures were published and a number of municipalities raised concerns about their income and population calculations. Treasury reconciled the Taxation and OTIS coding systems when performing the new income calculations for the subsequently published revised figures.

8. As a result, Lakewood's income was revised from $480,223,456 to $530,529,252. The revised figures, like the initial numbers, were based on assignments using the Taxation-supplied codes as the primary data source, with the OTIS-generated codes as a supplemental source for returns that did not have Taxation codes. This process added 1,979 returns to Lakewood that had been erroneously assigned to Lakehurst, and removed 131 returns that should have been assigned to Lavallette in the February 11, 1998 compilations of municipal income.

9. Utilization of the proper municipal income resulted in an increase in Lakewood's local share of Core Curriculum Standards Aid, resulting in a reduction of $1,054,109 in CCSA from the State for the 1998-1999 school year.

10. The initial State School Aid notification received by Lakewood reflected an amount to which Lakewood was not entitled. The revised notification, issued on or about March 2, 1998, reflects the proper district income for Lakewood, and reflects Lakewood's proper local share pursuant to CEFA for the 1998-1999 school year.

I

The first issue to be considered, pursuant to respondent's motion to dismiss, is whether or not the Lakewood Board has sufficiently set forth pleadings to maintain its action before the Commissioner of Education (Commissioner). Respondent contends that petitioner has failed to plead any facts to support a determination that its income was inaccurately calculated by Treasury. Respondent relies upon the State Board of Education adopted rule, N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.3, which provides that a petition of appeal before the Commissioner must include a statement of the specific allegations and essential facts supporting those allegations which give rise to a dispute under the school law.

Petitioner, however, contends that it may maintain its action grounded upon the specific language of the statute as contained in N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-15. This statute holds that the Board may appeal before the Commissioner where the Board believes that the calculation of income within the local share formula does not accurately reflect the school district's income wealth for core curriculum purposes. Petitioner observes that there are no procedural limitations set forth in the statute nor has the State Board adopted any procedural regulations for maintaining appeals pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7-15.

Having carefully reviewed and considered the entire record before me, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has set forth sufficient facts in its petition of appeal to maintain its action against respondent. Even assuming, arguendo, that petitioner's pleadings fail to satisfy the requirements at N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.3, I FIND and CONCLUDE that respondent's arguments places form over substance. This is so because of our Supreme Court s holding in J.E. on behalf of G.E. v. State, supra, where it held that a "contested matter" is extant, under N.J.S.A. 52:14B-2(b), where a property interest, among other things, is at issue. Here, petitioner has clearly demonstrated a property interest and, thus, is protected by due process for its claim of alleged entitlement.

The Court, in J.E. on Behalf of G.E. v. State, supra, continued to state that if the agency (Department of Education) determined the matter before it to be a contested matter, then an agency proceeding is referred to the OAL for a hearing in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act (APA), N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15, and the Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules, N.J.A.C. 1:1-1.1 to -21.6. Here, the Department of Education determined the instant matter to be a "contested case" and transmitted it to the OAL for a ". . . trial-type hearing for those proceedings in which the legal rights and duties of specific parties are required by statute or constitutional right to be determined by an agency." Id. at 562.

Accordingly, I FIND and CONCLUDE that the matter petitioner seeks to adjudicate is properly before the OAL for determination as a "contested case." N.J.S.A. 52:14B-2(b). I further CONCLUDE that respondent's motion to dismiss, grounded upon respondent's assertion that the petition of appeal does not comport with N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.3, is hereby DENIED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
NEW JERSEY STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, DIVISION OF FINANCE,	:	DECISION ON MOTION
RESPONDENT.	:

This matter was opened before the Commissioner on June 4, 1998. Thereafter, respondent filed a Motion to Dismiss, and the record was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), with a request that said motion be decided prior to scheduling a hearing on the merits.[1] On April 12, 1999, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) issued an interlocutory order which was inadvertently transmitted to the Commissioner for review as an initial decision. At respondent's request, arguments submitted on exception were deemed an application for interlocutory review, in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.10, and, following petitioner's submission of a reply, the request for review was granted.

Respondent argues, for the reasons set forth in its papers on Motion to Dismiss, that the within Petition of Appeal pleads no facts or information calling into question the

[1] To the extent that the Initial Decision may be read to suggest that the transmittal of the record to OAL pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act necessarily signifies that the Commissioner has determined it to be a contested matter deserving of a "trial-type hearing," (Initial Decision at p. 20), the Commissioner notes that transmittal of a matter to the OAL does not compel a determination that a hearing must be held, as OAL rules expressly provide for the filing of motions to dismiss and motions for summary decision.

corrected income calculation and state aid figure. (Respondent's Brief at p. 3) In this connection, respondent asserts that the ALJ's reliance on J.E., supra, is misplaced, in that petitioner "has no property right with respect to state school aid that would trigger an entitlement to a hearing." (Id. at pp. 4-5) Additionally, respondent reasserts its position that petitioner is not entitled to stabilization aid in the amount of the difference in aid figures from February 1998 to March 1998. (Id. at p. 7) Finally, respondent argues that the first issue, as identified on page two of the ALJ's decision, erroneously suggests that respondent bears the burden of proof in this case and "appears to set forth that the appropriateness of the income calculation is at issue, rather than the accuracy thereof." (Id. at pp. 7-8)

In reply, petitioner affirms that the Petition of Appeal should not be dismissed, in that the Board has pled sufficient facts to withstand respondent's motion. (Petitioner's Reply at p. 4) Further, petitioner maintains that it is entitled to appeal the calculation and amount of state aid, and asserts that it is also entitled to stabilization aid, as per a March 3, 1999 memorandum issued by the Department of Education. (Id. at p. 6)

Upon careful review of the record, the Commissioner concludes, as did the ALJ, that respondent's motion is properly denied.[2] Initially, the Commissioner finds that the express language of N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-15 provides petitioner with the right of appeal, and that the parameters of such appeals have not, as yet, been further explicated through rule or decisional law. Moreover, nowhere in the record is there any indication of what type of source or sources petitioner might have relied upon to buttress with facts the claim of its petition that the district income wealth data relied upon by the Department were inaccurate. Therefore, given these circumstances, dismissal of the petition at the current juncture would be premature.

[2] In reaching this determination, the Commissioner finds no need to address the issue of whether petitioner has a property interest sufficient to sustain the within Petition of Appeal.

In so determining, however, the Commissioner specifically clarifies that, in further proceedings in this matter, petitioner will maintain the burden of proof. Additionally, as respondent correctly notes, the primary issue to be resolved in such proceedings is whether the district income wealth data relied upon by the Department were accurate. (N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-15)

Accordingly, for the reasons set forth above, respondent's motion to dismiss is hereby denied. This matter shall continue at the OAL for further proceedings as a contested case.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[3]

OAL Docket No. EI 3412-
Agency Docket No. 47-2/9

Settlement Agreement

Petitioner H.C. and Respondent Nutley Board of Education ("Board") hereby agree to the following terms in resolution of the above matter.

1. Petitioner H.C. agrees to pay to the Board prorated tuition for J.C. to attend the Nutley Schools during the 1998-99 school year from the commencement of the school year through November 17, 1998. Said tuition shall be calculated by dividing the Board established tuition rate by 180 days, multiplied by the number of days school has been in session for 1998-99 through November 17, 1998.

2. H.C. shall pay the tuition called for under paragraph 1 by December 1, 1998, said monies to be held in escrow by Petitioner's counsel until the Board notified Petitioner's counsel of its determination following its initial investigation of the domicile of the Ching family

3. The Board shall conduct an initial investigation of the domicile of the Ching family. The Ching family agrees to cooperate with the Board's investigation, including reasonable access to the family quarters.

4. If the Board determines that the Ching family is domiciled outside of Nutley, following its initial investigation, the above settlement terms are nullified and the matter will proceed to hearing in accordance with the initial pleadings.

5. If the Board determines upon its initial investigation that the Ching family is domiciled in Nutley, the Board will so notify Petitioner's counsel and the tuition provided for under paragraph 1 shall be transferred to the Board forthwith.

6. The Board retains the right to continue to investigate the domicile of the Ching family following the initial investigation, with reasonable access provided by the Chings to the family quarters, until March 1, 1999.

7. In the event that a subsequent investigation under paragraph 6 leads to a Board determination that the Chings are not domiciled in Nutley, the settlement terms will be nullified and the matter will proceed to hearing on March 23, 1999.

8. If the matter is litigated and Petitioner prevails in establishing domicile in Nutley during the relevant time period at issue in the case, the Board agrees to refund any monies it had been paid pursuant to paragraph 1 forthwith.

9. The Board shall be permitted to take photographs of the inside of the dwelling as part of its investigation.

10. This Agreement is subject to the approval of the Nutley Board of Education.

11. The parties enter this Agreement voluntarily after consultation with legal counsel.

This Agreement, made this _____ day of April, 1998, by and between the State-Operated School District of the City of Newark (hereinafter "District") and Cecelia James, a tenured teacher employed by the District (hereinafter "Ms. James").

WHEREAS, Tenure charges alleging chronic absenteeism, incapacity and insubordination against Ms. James were filed with the District on or about November 7, 1996, at which time Ms. James was suspended without pay, and

WHEREAS, said charges were certified to the Commissioner of Education on or about December 11, 1996, and

1. The District will withdraw the tenure charges alleging chronic absenteeism, incapaci[illegible]and insubordination against Ms. James it has certified to the Commissioner of Education.

These payments shall constitute the total financial obligation of the District to Ms. James arising out of the subject tenure charges and Ms. James hereby waives any claims she may have to any payments from the District other than as provided above as they pertain to the subject tenure charges.

3. Ms. James hereby releases, waives and forever discharges the District from any and all claims, demands, rights, actions, damages or liabilities of any description arising out of or related to the subject tenure charges.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF CECILIA JAMES,	:
STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
THE CITY OF NEWARK, ESSEX COUNTY.	:	DECISION

The record, stipulation of settlement and initial decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed.

Upon thorough consideration of the record, the Commissioner is unable to accept the settlement of this tenure matter as set forth in the settlement agreement. Respondent has been charged inter alia with excessive absenteeism due to approximately 302 days of absences over four year school years, 1992-1993 through 1995-1996. While respondent disputes that her absences constitute excessive absenteeism and contends that some of the days were work-related, the Answer to the certified tenure charges does not allege that the Employee Attendance Record sheets for the four school years under examination herein, which were submitted as part of the Statement of Evidence, do not in essence accurately document/record the days she was absent from work. Now, more than two full years after the certification of the tenure charges to the Commissioner, the District avers that the charges are unsubstantiated because "further investigation" conducted subsequent to the certification of the charges disclosed newly discovered information. However, the District does not inform the Commissioner what this newly discovered information is.

Given the above, the Commissioner admonishes this District and all others that a failure to investigate tenure charges fully prior to their certification to him can result, as is apparently the case herein, in a Board/District's inability to prosecute the charges. As stated in In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Sandra Connors, Board of Education of the City of Camden, decided April 8, 1999 and In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Salvatore Ferrugia, State Operated School District of the City of Newark, decided April 30, 1999, a Board/District's failure to fully investigate charges prior to their certification to the Commissioner carries the major consequence of needless expenditure of large amounts of taxpayer money, to say nothing of the potential impact on the personal and professional reputation of the person who has been charged. For example, in addition to the attorney fees already accrued in this matter, the settlement herein would bestow upon respondent nearly 2 ½ years worth of salary for the period of time she has been suspended during the pendency of this tenure case which alleges excessive absenteeism.

Given that the record in this matter does not provide the Commissioner with any idea as to what newly discovered information prevents the District from proceeding on the charges, the Commissioner cannot at this point conclude that it is in the public interest to approve the settlement (In re Cardonick, decided by the Commissioner April 7, 1982, aff'd State Board April 6, 1983, 1990 S.L.D. 842, 846). To approve such a settlement without further explication as to why the charges are now unsubstantiated would be extremely difficult in light of the allegation that respondent was absent from her teaching position for approximately 302 days over a four-year period.

Accordingly, this matter is remanded to the Office of Administrative Law in order that the record may be supplemented to explain what newly discovered information now, nearly 2 ½ years after certification of the tenure charges, makes the charges unsubstantiated and how approval of the settlement would be in conformity with In re Cardonick.[*]

IT IS SO ORDERED.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

THIS AGREEMENT is made and entered into on this 18th day of March 1999, by and between the EDISON TOWNSHIP BOARD OF EDUCATION with offices located at 100 Municipal Boulevard, Edison, New Jersey 08879 (hereinafter sometimes referred to as the "Board" or "Edison Board"), and

BARBARA SOLMOR, whose address is P.O. Box 242 Fords, New Jersey, 08863 (hereinafter referred to as "Ms. Solmor")

WITNESSETH:

WHEREAS, Ms. Solmor is a tenured special education teacher employed by the Board since September 1988; and

WHEREAS, the Board withheld Ms. Solmor's increment for the 1997-1998 school year on the basis of unsatisfactory performance; and

WHEREAS, in August 1997, the Board certified tenure dismissal charges against Ms. Solmor to the Commissioner of Education ("Commissioner") pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-11 ("Charges"); and

WHEREAS, the Board later suspended Ms. Solmor without pay for the 120-day period permitted by N.J.S.A. 18A:6-14; and

WHEREAS, the Commissioner transmitted the Charges to the Office of Administrative Law for a hearing; and

WHEREAS, the Board has determined that it is in the best interest of the Edison Township School District to withdraw the Charges and enter into this Settlement Agreement with Ms. Solmor because this Agreement will help ensure the continued delivery of adequate and appropriate educational services to special education students under the supervision of the Board, without the necessity of significant consumption of the time and energies of Board employees who must be called to testify in support of the Charges at any hearing conducted on the Charges and who would, thereby, be taken away from their duties in the schools of the Edison Township School District; and

WHEREAS, the Board is cognizant of Ms. Solmor's physical ill health, her emotional difficulties and the serious illness of her mother which may have contributed to what the Board has asserted to be her unsatisfactory performance as a special education teacher; and

WHEREAS, without admitting any of the Charges, Ms. Solmor acknowledges that her physical ill health, her emotional difficulties and the serious illness of her mother may have adversely affected her teaching performance; and Ms. Solmor notes that her difficulties in this regard appear to be coming to resolution, due to the recent death of her mother; and

WHEREAS, Ms. Solmor understands that N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6 states, in part, that, upon the decision of the Commissioner, cases contested before the Commissioner resulting in loss of tenure or dismissal of a teacher or teaching staff member for inefficiency, incapacity, conduct unbecoming a teacher, or other just cause, shall be forwarded to the State Board of Examiners for determination of possible revocation or suspension; and

WHEREAS, the within contested case has not resulted in loss of Ms. Solmor's tenure as the parties have agreed to settle this matter without a hearing; and

WHEREAS, Ms. Solmor further understands that, although the Commissioner is not required by the express language of N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6 to forward this matter to the State Board of Examiners for determination of possible revocation or suspension, the Commissioner has the discretion to do so; and

WHEREAS, Ms. Solmor and the Edison Board believe that this is not an appropriate matter for exercise of the Commissioner's discretion as stated above because (1), as the parties have noted, Ms. Solmor's physical ill health, her emotional difficulties and the serious illness of her mother may have adversely affected her teaching performance; and (2) Ms. Solmor's physical ill health and emotional difficulties now appear to be resolving themselves since the death of her mother.

NOW, THEREFORE, the Board and Ms. Solmor, for the consideration herein specified, agree as follows:

1. The parties stipulate to the dismissal of the tenure dismissal proceeding brought by the Board against Ms. Solmor (Agency Ref. No. 311-8/97; OAL Docket No. EDU 8955-97) upon the execution of this Agreement by both parties.

2. The Board shall restore Ms. Solmor's increment for the 1997-1998 school year, retroactive to September 1997.

3. The Board shall pay Ms. Solmor the amount of salary withheld from her subsequent to the filing of the Charges as described above.

4. Upon the execution of this Agreement by both parties, Ms. Solmor shall be placed on medical leave of absence from her duties as a special education teacher in the Edison Township School District, with pay in accordance with the terms and conditions of the Agreement between the Board and the Edison Township Education Association for the period July 1, 1996 to June 30, 1999, and with all benefits/emoluments she is currently receiving in that capacity, for the remainder of the 1998-1999 school year.

5. Ms. Solmor shall submit her written resignation from employment by the Board effective at the conclusion of the 1998-1999 school year; that is, said written resignation shall note that Ms. Solmor's last day of employment by the Board shall be June 30, 1999. The Board shall accept Ms. Solmor's resignation at its next scheduled regular action meeting subsequent to the Board's receipt of Ms. Solmor's written resignation. Ms. Solmor shall no longer be entitled to any payments or benefits/emoluments from the Board as of July 1, 1999, subject to the U. S. Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act (COBRA). The Board shall provide any prospective employer of Ms. Solmor only with such information about her employment by the Board which is designated as "public" information by NJ Executive Order No. 11 (November 15, 1974; Gov. Brendan Byrne).

6. Upon the execution of this Agreement, the parties shall exchange general releases.

WHEREAS, this agreement has been approved by a vote of the members of the Edison Township Board of Education at its meeting on March 18, 1999 and has been made a part of the minutes of that meeting;

WHEREAS, the Board has authorized its President and Secretary to execute this Agreement; and

WHEREAS, Ms. Solmor has had the opportunity to consult with her own independent counsel as to this Agreement and has consulted with counsel as to same; and

WHEREAS, Ms. Solmor has approved the terms and conditions of this Agreement; and

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Undersigned set their hands, and the Board has set its seal, to this Agreement effective on the day and year first above written.

OF	:
	:	Docket No.: C15-98
RAYMOND RODNEY COLEMAN,	:
Willingboro Board of Education	:
Burlington County	:	DECISION

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This matter arises from a complaint filed by Patricia LaRocco, a member of the Willingboro Board of Education (Board), against another member of the Board, Raymond Rodney Coleman. Therein, she alleged that Mr. Coleman violated the School Ethics Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-21 et seq., when he participated in Board discussions concerning the Board's lease of school facilities to a church in which he is a Deacon. Specifically, she alleged that his conduct violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(a), (b), (c), (f) and (g) of the School Ethics Act.[1] On August 28, 1998, Dr. LaRocco amended her complaint to add an allegation that Mr. Coleman also violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) of the Act when he voted against her motion to rescind the lease to the church at the Board's August 24, 1998 meeting.

Mr. Coleman filed his answer on November 10, 1998 denying all of the allegations in the complaint and denying having violated the School Ethics Act.

The Commission investigated the case and heard testimony from witnesses at its meeting on December 15, 1999. At the Commission's February 23, 1999 meeting, the Commission concluded that there was probable cause to credit the allegations in the complaint that Mr. Coleman violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) when he participated in Board discussions on whether the Board should lease a building to the church and voted not to rescind the lease to the Cathedral of Love. The Commission found no probable cause and dismissed the allegations that he violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(a), (b), (f) and (g) for the reasons set forth in its probable cause determination. The Commission determined that the facts were not in dispute and thus, invited Mr. Coleman to file a written submission setting forth why he should not be found in violation of the act for the aforementioned conduct.

[1] Dr. LaRocco also alleged that Mr. Coleman violated Willingboro Board of Education Policy 9270, New Jersey School Board Member Code of Ethics #6 and National School Board's Code of Ethics #3, #9 and #11; however, the School Ethics Commission only has jurisdiction to determine whether there has been a violation of the School Ethics Act.

The Commission received Mr. Coleman's written submission on March 16, 1999. Therein, he argued that he has no involvement with the Academy, which is separate and distinct from the church. Dr. LaRocco also filed a written submission with the Commission clarifying that she never alleged that Mr. Coleman wrongfully received the COPA report as was set forth in the Commission's probable cause determination. The Commission notes this correction. She also set forth that Mr. Coleman should receive at least a censure for his conduct.[2] At its March 23, 1999 meeting, the Commission rendered this decision finding Mr. Coleman in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) of the School Ethics Act.

Based on the pleadings and the Commission's investigation, the Commission finds that the following facts are undisputed. Dr. LaRocco and Mr. Coleman are both members of the Willingboro Board of Education who were elected in April 1998. Mr. Coleman is a member of the Deacon Board of the Cathedral of Love Church, which is located in Willingboro. By letter of May 20, 1998, Reverend Baxter, the Pastor of the Cathedral of Love, expressed interest in purchasing the Country Club School or the J. Cresswell Stuart Elementary School (Stuart School) from the Board or in the alternative, leasing the Stuart School. The letter indicated that the church would use the school as a child-care facility and house its Academy for grades K-4. By letter of June 22, 1998, he amended his request to focus on a proposal to lease the Stuart School.

The Interim Business Administrator, N. John Amato, wrote Rev. Baxter a letter on July 17, 1998 informing him that there were discrepancies in the way that the application was received and that all applications had to be presented in writing to the Board for approval at a regularly scheduled meeting. The Board met in executive session on July 27, 1998. According to the minutes, at this meeting Mr. Coleman moved that the Board vote on whether the Board and the Cathedral of Love will enter into a lease agreement. Mrs. Smith seconded the motion. The Board deliberated on this matter with Mr. Coleman participating. He then withdrew his motion. The Board also discussed whether Mr. Coleman has a conflict of interest. Mrs. Smith then moved that the Board honor the Proposed Agreement at $6.40 per square foot. The vote on the motion, which apparently was a straw poll, was six in favor and one against. Dr. LaRocco was not present at this meeting and Mr. Best was out of the room. Also at this meeting, Mrs. Green moved that the Board accept the air conditioning proposal of the Cathedral of Love and Mrs. Carter moved that the Board maintain articles of the lease that the Cathedral had excised including those of penalty, security and an "event of default" clause. These motions were approved by a vote of seven in favor and one against. Mr. Best had returned to cast his vote in favor. Mr. Coleman participated in each of these votes. At the conclusion of the executive session, the Board agreed that Mr. Amato would contact Rev. Baxter with the Board's counter offer of cost for square footage.

[2] Dr. LaRocco also requests that the Commission issue an order prohibiting Mr. Coleman from participating in discussions and votes on any matter concerning the Cathedral of Love in the future. The Commission has concluded that it is authorized only to recommend the penalties set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c), which do not include prohibitions on future conduct.

On July 28, 1998, Mr. Amato wrote Rev. Baxter a letter setting forth that at the Board's executive session meeting, the Board made a counter proposal of $6.40 per square foot for rental of 10 classrooms and two multi-purpose rooms at the Stuart School. He also informed him that the Board reestablished some articles that were previously left out of the lease. On July 31, 1998, Rev. Baxter essentially agreed to the Board's terms and asked that his letter be accepted as confirmation that they have a meeting of the minds. Rev. Baxter further requested that Mr. Amato take the steps necessary to see that a formal lease agreement is prepared.

In an August 5, 1998 memorandum, the then Board Solicitor, Paula Mullaly, advised the Board against entering into the lease and advised Mr. Coleman against participating. On August 11, 1998, approximately one week after submitting that memorandum, the Board Solicitor submitted her resignation to be effective August 28, 1998. At the August 17, 1998 Conference Meeting of the Board, the Board approved the lease by a vote of 5-2 with Mr. Coleman abstaining. However, the minutes indicate that Mr. Coleman participated in the discussion of the lease prior to the vote. On August 24, 1998, Dr. LaRocco moved to rescind the lease between the Cathedral of Love and the Board because she believed that the action was taken improperly. The motion failed with Dr. LaRocco and Board member Margaret Reynolds voting in favor and the other eight members present voting against it, including Mr. Coleman. The lease agreement was signed on August 24, 1998.

The Commission's investigation disclosed that the Board leases its properties at varying rates, but six of the 12 lease renewals for the 1998-1999 school year had a rate of $12.39 per square foot. Two other lessees rent at approximately $11.00 per square foot. Burlington County College rents at $9.74 per square foot, but this rate is apparently due to their agreement to provide their own custodial services. The lowest lease rate for the 1998-1999 school year was $2.83 per square foot paid by Willingboro Township. Burlington County Day Care, which was leasing rooms at the Stuart School prior to the Cathedral of Love, paid $11.28 per square foot. It had paid $9.15 per square foot when it was providing its own maintenance. An appraiser's report set the market rent for the Stuart School at $3.20 per square foot, but the operating cost was noted to be $7.85 per square foot. It is the appraiser's report that Rev. Baxter said that his researcher relied on in initially seeking the $3.83 per square foot rate.

The issue on which the Commission found probable cause is whether Mr. Coleman's conduct violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) of the School Ethics Act. It provides:

> No school official shall act in his official capacity in any matter where he, a member of his immediate family, or a business organization in which he has an interest, has a direct or indirect financial or personal involvement that might reasonably be expected to impair his objectivity or independence of judgment.

Prior to the enactment of the School Ethics Act, the Superior Court addressed the question of when a church or religious affiliation may constitute a conflict of interest. In Landau v. Township of Teaneck, 231 N.J. Super. 586, 595 (Law Division 1989), Judge Simon stated, "It is clear that the interest of a synagogue or church passes to all its members." (Citing Marlboro Manor, Inc. v. Montclair Township, 187 N.J. Super. 359, 361-62 (App. Div. 1982) and Zell v. Borough of Roseland, 42 N.J. Super. 75 (App. Div. 1956). Therefore, she stated, the council member would be in conflict were he a member of congregation seeking to purchase property from the township. However, the council member did not have a conflict because he was a member of a different congregation of the same faith. The Local Finance Board was presented with the exact question that the Landau Court addressed. In In Re Elizabeth Urquhart, Council Member City of Plainfield, Complaint #LFB-96-040 (February 11, 1998), the Local Finance Board found that a council member violated the local Government Ethics Law by acting in her official capacity in a matter where she has a direct or indirect personal involvement that might reasonably be expected to impair her objectivity when she voted on matters relevant to the church of which she is a member.

As set forth in the probable cause determination, Mr. Coleman and Rev. Baxter testified that Mr. Coleman is a Deacon in the Cathedral of Love, which is a denomination of the Church of God in Christ. Mr. Coleman is also a Deacon in the Church of God in Christ. His duties with the Cathedral of Love are to ensure the upkeep and maintenance of the church. He also teaches Sunday school. He does not have responsibility for the financial operations of the church. He does not have responsibilities with regard to the church's Academy. Mr. Coleman added that his children attend public school and have no plans to enter the Cathedral of Love Academy. The Executive Board of the church is the highest level of leadership under Rev. Baxter and it assists Rev. Baxter with decisions regarding the operation of the church. Mr. Coleman is not a member of the Executive Board. The Deacons handle maintenance and ministerial functions such as visiting the sick.

In his written submission in response to the probable cause determination, Mr. Coleman states that the Cathedral of Love Church of God in Christ, Inc. and the Cathedral of Love Christian Academy are two separate and distinct organizations. He says that they are managed and operated by two separate and distinct governing bodies although they share the same owner, Rev. Baxter, and the same name. He states that Rev. Baxter's Christian Academy is not, in his understanding, a part of the church organization of which he is a member. He further states that the church does not benefit financially or otherwise from the business affairs of Rev. Baxter's Christian Academy. He believes that since the two entities are separate and distinct from each other, one as a religious place of worship and the other a Christian school, and since Rev. Baxter negotiated with the Board as owner/proprietor of the Christian Academy, there is no violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c).

While the Commission acknowledges Rev. Baxter's testimony that he does not require the endorsement, support or sanction of the church to engage in proprietary affairs as he deems fit, Rev. Baxter never stated that when he engages in such affairs he is not acting on behalf of the church. At all times, he is acting on behalf of the church. According to Mr. Coleman's view, the fact that the Academy is called the Cathedral of Love Christian Academy is merely by coincidence. Clearly, it is so named because it is the Cathedral of Love's school. The Cathedral of Love is the entity that signed the lease with the Board and it is the Cathedral of Love that continues to have the obligations under the lease. Thus, the Commission rejects the argument that Rev. Baxter was acting not on behalf of the church, but on behalf of himself and his family. Consequently, the Commission rejects the argument that Mr. Coleman has no involvement with the Academy.

The Commission is satisfied that Mr. Coleman has responsibilities to the church that may appear to pull him in a direction that differs from the best interests of the school district. Mr. Coleman is not just a member of the church, but a member of the Deacon Board. Therefore, the Commission must conclude that he had a personal involvement with the church that might reasonably be expected to impair his objectivity or independence of judgment. Thus, the Commission finds that Mr. Coleman's conduct violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) when he participated in Board discussions and later voted against the motion to rescind the lease to the Cathedral of Love.

DECISION

For the foregoing reasons, the School Ethics Commission finds that respondent Raymond Rodney Coleman violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) of the School Ethics Act when he participated in discussions concerning the Cathedral of Love's lease of the Stuart School and later voted not to rescind the lease. The Commission has previously said that the advice given by an attorney that a school official could participate or vote on a matter is a mitigating factor. This case presents the converse. The Commission notes that the Board Solicitor advised Mr. Coleman that he should not participate in discussions regarding the lease because of his association with the church, but he continued to do so. This is an aggravating factor. Thus, since Mr. Coleman had recently joined the board in May 1998 when this controversy arose, a reprimand may have sufficed due to his inexperience. However, in this case he was told by the Board Solicitor to recuse himself and he did not. Therefore, the Commission recommends that the Commissioner of Education impose a penalty of censure.

This decision has been adopted by a formal resolution of the School Ethics Commission. This matter shall now be transmitted to the Commissioner of Education for action on the Commission's recommendation for sanction only, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29. Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which the Commission's decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written comments on the recommended sanction with the Commissioner of Education, c/o Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, NJ 08625, marked "Attention: Comments on Ethics Commission Sanction." A copy of any comments filed must be sent to the School Ethics Commission and all other parties.

AGENCY REF. NO. 55-2/97

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE HEARING OF KENNETH WILBURN, BOARD OF EDUCATION OF ATLANTIC CITY, ATLANTIC COUNTY,

George Frino, Esq., appearing for the Charging Board of Education

Steven Cohen, Esq., for respondent, Kenneth Wilburn

Record Closed: April 5, 1999 Decided: April 5, 1999

BEFORE LILLARD E. LAW, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The Board of Education of the City of Atlantic City (Board) filed charges of conduct unbecoming a teaching staff member with the Commissioner of Education (Commissioner) on February 7, 1997, certifying that the charges, if true in fact, would be sufficient to warrant dismissal of respondent as a teacher in the Board's school district.

The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. By consent of the parties, the matter was placed on the OAL Inactive List pending the outcome of criminal charges against respondent.

On March 17, 1999, the undersigned was in receipt of a letter from respondent's attorney, dated March 16, 1999, in which Mr. Cohen stated, in pertinent part:

> When I last wrote to you, the criminal charges against Mr. Wilburn were still pending. Mr. Wilburn had entered a plea, but had not been sentenced.
> Mr. Wilburn, has now been sentenced. As part of a negotiated plea agreement, he agreed to surrender his teaching certificate and to forfeiture of his teaching position/public employment with the Atlantic City Board of Education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2.
> It is my understanding that Mr. Wilburn surrendered his teaching certificate to Susan H. Curcio, Atlantic County Chief Assistant Prosecutor at or about the time he was sentenced.

Upon receipt of Mr. Cohen's letter of March 16, 1999, the undersigned telephoned Atlantic County Chief Assistant Prosecutor Susan H. Curcio, to request a copy of the Order of Forfeiture of Public Employment executed by the Honorable Arthur V. Guerrera, J.S.C. Chief Assistant Prosecutor forwarded a copy of the Order which is attached hereto and which states, in pertinent part, that:

It is on 25th day of January, 1999, HEREBY ORDERED that:

1. Pursuant to the provisions of N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2a(2), defendant [Kenneth Wilburn] shall immediately forfeit his position of employment with the Atlantic City Board of Education;

2. Pursuant to the provisions of N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2d, defendant [Kenneth Wilburn] shall be forever disqualified from holding any office or position of honor, trust or profit under this State or any of its administrative or political subdivisions.

CONCLUSIONS

I FIND and CONCLUDE that issues concerning respondent Kenneth Wilburn's alleged unbecoming conduct are now moot with the surrender of his teaching certificate pursuant to the Order of Forfeiture of Public Employment executed by Judge Guerrera. Therefore, I CONCLUDE there is no need to proceed with a tenure hearing nor is it necessary for the Commissioner to refer the instant matter to the New Jersey State Board of Examiners.

ORDER

Accordingly, the instant matter is returned to the Commissioner because it is determined to be moot. Paul E. Polskin v. Board of Education of North Plainfield, Somerset County, 1968 S.L.D. 217, 218.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, CN 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

The record of this matter and the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. No exceptions were filed by the parties.

Upon careful and independent review of the within record, the Commissioner agrees with the conclusion of the Administrative Law Judge that, as a result of respondent's forfeiture of public employment in Superior Court on January 25, 1999, which precludes him from being employed, in "any office or position of honor, trust or profit," in a school district of this State, it is unnecessary to proceed with a hearing on the instant tenure charges as they have been rendered moot by such forfeiture.

Accordingly, the initial decision of the OAL is affirmed and the within Petition of Appeal is dismissed.*

On July 22, 1996, petitioner, Ann Hagen, filed a verified petition of appeal with the Commissioner of Education, requesting that respondent restore all sick days deducted from petitioner's sick leave bank for the period between April 25, 1996 and May 8, 1996. On August 8, 1996, respondent filed an answer, contending that petitioner was not entitled to benefits pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1.

On August 26, 1996, the Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, transmitted this matter to the Office of Administrative Law as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. The matter was assigned to Administrative Law Judge Ken Springer on October 2, 1996 and a prehearing conference scheduled for January 21, 1997. Thereafter, the matter was assigned to the undersigned judge and on January 14, 1998 placed on the inactive list pending disposition of petitioner's workers compensation case. As a result of the ruling of Workers' Compensation Judge Stephen Tuber, counsel requested that the matter be restored to the active calendar for final disposition. The case was thereafter relisted for hearing on April 8, 1999. As a result of settlement conferences held between the parties, a settlement was reached.

The parties have agreed to settle this matter and have prepared the attached consent order indicating the terms of settlement.

I have reviewed the record and the settlement terms and FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and, therefore, ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Petitioning Board filed an Order to Show Cause to suspend the teaching certificate of respondent teacher for up to one year because he resigned from his teaching position without the requisite 60 days' notice. N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10. Respondent contended the Board's filing was untimely, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 6:24-1.2(c), as the action which triggered the running of the 90-day rule of N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c) was his cessation of employment on February 27, 1998.

ALJ concluded that the filing limitation period commenced on the date the Board took official action on the resignation at its next regularly scheduled meeting. Consequently, the ALJ concluded that the 90-day period commenced on March 23, 1998 and ended on June 21, 1998. Therefore, the Board's petition was timely filed. Moreover, the ALJ found that even if the filing were untimely, the circumstances herein warranted relaxation of the 90-day rule as the Board's original filing was improperly submitted as a request, not an Order to Show Cause. Having reviewed the record, the ALJ concluded that the primary reason for respondent's resignation was his disagreement over the evaluation of his performance. Thus, the ALJ determined that immediate resignation was an unacceptable response and that no genuine issues of material fact existed. ALJ granted Board's Motion for Summary Decision and denied petitioner's Motion to Dismiss.

Commissioner adopted findings and determination in initial decision as his own, finding respondent's arguments with respect to timeliness of the petition without merit. Noting that the language of the applicable statute, N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10, clearly requires that for a cause of action to arise under its terms 1) a teaching staff member ceases to perform his duties before the expiration of the term of his employment and 2) the board does not consent to the teaching staff member's action. As such, the Commissioner determined that the "final action" contemplated by N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c) occurred on March 23, 1998, when the Board formally resolved to reject respondent's resignation as offered and decided as a body to pursue its rights under the statute. Thus, the Board's Order to Show Cause, filed on June 16, 1998, was timely. Commissioner concurred that respondent failed to fulfill the terms of his employment with the Board and violated the law by failing to give 60 days' notice of his intent to terminate his employment without the approval of the Board. Finding such behavior to be unprofessional conduct, the Commissioner ordered respondent's certificate suspended for a period of one year as of the date of this decision. Commissioner notified State Board of Examiners of this decision.

AGENCY DKT. NO. 1998-6/98N

IN THE MATTER OF THE SUSPENSION OF THE TEACHING CERTIFICATE OF ROBERT FALCO, BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE RAMAPO INDIAN HILLS SCHOOL DISTRICT, BERGEN COUNTY

Allan P. Dzwilewski, Esq., for the petitioner, Board of Education of the Ramapo Indian Hills School District, Bergen County (Schwartz, Simon, Edelstein, Celso and Kessler, attorneys)

Robert Falco, respondent, pro se

BEFORE MUMTAZ BARI-BROWN, ALJ:

Petitioner Board of Education of the Ramapo Indian Hills School District, Bergen County (Board) filed an Order to Show Cause to suspend the teaching certificate of respondent, Robert Falco, for up to one year because he resigned from his teaching position without the requisite 60 days' notice. N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10.

On October 1, 1998, the matter was transferred to the Office of Administrative Law as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. The parties filed cross-motions for summary decision and dismissal.

FACTS

1. On June 20, 1997, Falco entered into an employment contract with the Board to teach in the public schools from September 1 to June 30, school year 1997-1998. The contract provides in part:

> It is hereby agreed by the parties hereto that this contract may at any time be terminated by either party giving to the other 60 days' notice in writing of intention to terminate the same, but that in the absence of any provision herein for a definite number of days' notice the contract shall run for the full term named above.

2. On February 27, 1998, in a letter addressed to superintendent of schools Paul Saxon, Falco wrote:

> Regretfully, I must inform you of my resignation effective 3:15 p.m. on Friday, February 27, 1998.
> At a recent conference between Mr. Cardinale, Mr. Opremcak, and myself, several comments were made by Mr. Opremcak, concerning my performance that were both inaccurate and unfounded. Foremost was Mr. Opremcak's remark that he was concerned about my "rate of growth." Paradoxically, in my past evaluations Mr. Opremcak cited growth as a strength I possessed, not a weakness. Mr. Opremcak also noted at our conference that he had a concern about "content." He did not elaborate on this topic nor did he note any specific deficiencies. This issue was never raised in any prior evaluations. These unfounded comments constitute harassment.
> Mr. Opremcak's unfounded comments are profoundly disturbing to me. My immediate concern is the emotional stress that I would have to endure working under these conditions. By virtue of my health, I can no longer work under these conditions.
> It is for the aforementioned reasons that I must regretfully resign.

3. On or about February 28, 1998, a conference was held between the school Principal, Mario Cardinale and Falco. Falco was represented by the Ramapo Indian Hills Education Association (Association). At the meeting, Cardinale asked Falco to reconsider his resignation and/or to provide the contractual notice. Falco refused the request.

4. In a letter dated March 2, 1998, the Association requested that Saxon (1) "make an immediate and thorough investigation of this situation," including a personal meeting with Falco and the Association to address Falco's concerns, and (2) not present Falco's letter of resignation to the Board until he (Saxon) had completed that investigation.

5. On March 2, 1998, Saxon informed Falco that on March 9, 1998, prior to the Work Session, the Board would meet in a closed Executive Session and would discuss his resignation effective February 27, 1998. Also, Falco was advised that upon his request the Board would review the matter at the public portion of the meeting on March 9.

6. Falco did not respond to Saxon's letter, and he did not appear at the Board meeting on March 9, 1998.

7. On March 9, 1998, the Board met in Executive Session. Saxon informed the Board that Falco resigned without giving 60 days' notice as required by the employment contract. The Board voted to accept Falco's resignation effective April 27, 1998, and to seek a suspension of Falco's teaching certificate for unprofessional conduct in failing to give appropriate notice of his resignation.

8. On March 23, 1998, at a regular meeting, the Board adopted the following resolution:

> WHEREAS, Robert Falco, Science Teacher at Ramapo H.S., submitted his resignation on February 27, 1998, to be effective that same day and
> WHEREAS, Robert Falco has not performed teaching duties since February 27, 1998, and
> WHEREAS, this failure to provide a 60-day notice is in violation of the employment contract and Title 18A:28-8

> NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the resignation of Robert Falco be accepted effective April 27, 1998, and BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the failure to provide 60-days' notice be deemed unprofessional conduct and that the Commissioner of Education be requested to suspend the teaching certificate of Robert Falco for a period not to exceed one year pursuant to [N.J.S.A.] 18A:26-10.

9. On April 3, 1998, the Board requested that the Commissioner suspend Falco's teaching certificate for one year pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 and included a certified copy of its resolution approved on March 23, 1998.

10. On April 7, 1998, the Board informed Falco that at the regular meeting of March 23, 1998, it voted to seek the suspension of his teaching certificate and that it had submitted its resolution to the Commissioner.

11. On April 13, 1998, the Department of Education advised the Board that proceedings to suspend Falco's teaching certificate for resigning without adequate notice required an Order to Show Cause and supporting affidavit. Further, the Department instructed the Board on procedure and enclosed a sample form of Order with directions for service on Falco.

12. On June 8, 1998, the Board filed an Order to Show Cause before the Commissioner to suspend Falco's teaching certificate for resigning without adequate notice.

DISCUSSION

Timeliness of Filing

Respondent contends that the Board's filing of an Order to Show Cause was untimely pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c), the "90-day rule," and should be dismissed. Specifically, the Board filed the Order to Show Cause 101 days after Falco notified the District of his immediate resignation. Respondent argues that the 90-day period commences the date the teacher fails to work. Respondent relies in part on Board of Education of Elmwood Park v. Farrell, 95 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 375. Here, the triggering event was Falco's submission of his resignation on February 27, 1998. Thus, the Board's filing on June 8, 1998, is untimely. Moreover, respondent submits that there is nothing in the record to justify relaxation of the 90-day rule.

The Board argues that the petition is not barred by N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c). Specifically, the contested matter arose on March 23, 1998, the date the Board took official action to accept Falco's resignation. Although Falco submitted his letter of resignation on February 27, the Board is empowered to act as a body and could take no action on Falco's resignation until its regular meeting on March 23, 1998. N.J.S.A. 18A:10-1. Moreover, teachers who do not receive "the consent of the board" to terminate their duties before the expiration of their terms of employment will be subject to suspension of their certificates. N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10. Further, prior to the Board's meeting and its decision to file charges pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10, Falco could have unilaterally rescinded the resignation. Thus, Falco's resignation was of no effect until it was accepted by the Board.

Further, the Board argues that Elmwood Park v. Farrell is distinguishable. In that case, after the board had accepted Farrell's resignation, she informed her supervisor that she intended to leave work before the date approved by the board. The Commissioner determined that the 90-day period commenced on the date the board was notified that the employee did not intend to comply with the notice requirements, not the date that Farrell initially submitted her resignation. Moreover, eight months passed before the board filed the Order to Show Cause. The Board also cited Pinelands Regional School District v. Rehm, 1986 S.L.D. 606, in which the Commissioner concluded that the applicable limitation period commenced after the board was informed of and took action with respect to the resignation, not the date that the employee submitted her resignation. Petitioner's Br. at 10.

The Board submits that the application of the limitation period should be determined on the particular facts relevant to the controversy. Here, the 90-day period commenced on March 23, 1998, when the Board took action accepting the resignation.

The "90-day rule," N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c), provides that:

> The petitioner shall file a petition no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling or other action by the district board of education, individual party, or agency, which is the subject of the requested contested case hearing.

I have carefully considered the timeline of events and the facts to determine if petitioner was timely in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c).

An offer and acceptance of a teacher's resignation is acknowledged by the conduct of the parties:

> A teacher's contract of employment may be terminated by his resignation, but the resignation, in order to be effective, must be offered by the teacher with intent to terminate his employment, to the board or officer having the power to remove or dismiss, and it must be accepted strictly in accordance with the terms of the offer by the board having power to accept, acting as a board.
> [Kozak v. Board of Education of the Township of Waterford, 1976 S.L.D. 633, 638, quoting 78 C.J.S. 1101.]

Here, Falco submitted a letter of resignation on February 27, 1998, effective immediately. However, his resignation on February 27 was not his final decision. Falco could have rescinded his letter before it was accepted by the Board. Indeed, after he submitted the letter, Falco and his representative met with Cardinale. During the conference Falco declined the request to reconsider his decision to resign. Instead, Falco proposed an alternative position. In a letter dated March 2, 1998, to the superintendent of schools, Falco requested that Saxon, "in his role as Chief Administrator, make an immediate and thorough investigation" of the evaluation process for non-tenured teachers. Further, Falco proposed to delay submitting his letter of resignation to the Board until the investigation was concluded.

The Board's decision to take formal action on Falco's resignation at its next regularly scheduled meeting was not unreasonable. The Board argues that it should not "be compelled to act as a body immediately after an employee submits an untimely and inappropriate resignation." Petitioner's Br. at 12. Such a mandate would "unduly prejudice the Board, usurp its authority to control its calendar and operate in accordance with its By-Laws and disrupt its operation." Ibid. Thus, on March 23, 1998, at a regular meeting, the Board adopted a resolution "that the resignation of Robert Falco be accepted effective April 27, 1998, and . . . that the failure to provide 60-days' notice be deemed unprofessional conduct and that the Commissioner of Education be requested to suspend the teaching certificate of Robert Falco for a period not to exceed one year pursuant to [N.J.S.A.] 18A:26-10."

Based on the whole of the record, I CONCLUDE that the limitation period commenced on the date the Board took official action on the resignation at its next regularly scheduled meeting. Consequently, I CONCLUDE that the 90-day period commenced on March 23, 1998, and ended on June 21, 1998. I therefore CONCLUDE that the Board filed a timely petition pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c).

If the Commissioner concludes that the 90-day period commenced on the date the resignation was submitted, February 27, 1998, I further CONCLUDE that the circumstances warrant relaxation of the 90-day rule. N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.15 provides as follows:

> The rules herein contained shall be considered general rules of practice to govern, expedite and effectuate the procedure before, and the actions of, the Commissioner in connection with the determination of controversies and disputes under the school laws. They may be relaxed or dispensed with by the Commissioner, in his or her discretion, in any case where a strict adherence thereto may be deemed inappropriate or unnecessary or may result in injustice.

Although the statute of limitations set forth in N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c) is to be strictly applied, the 90-day rule may be relaxed under exceptional circumstances or if there is a "compelling" reason. The authority to relax or waive the 90-day rule is invoked only where strict adherence would be inappropriate, unnecessary or where injustice would occur. DeMaio v. Board of Educ. of New Providence, 96 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 449, 453, citing Gordon v. Passaic Board of Educ., 1985 S.L.D. 1929, 1931. For example, in Elmwood Park v. Farrell, eight months passed between the date Farrell failed to report to work and the date the board (petitioner) filed an Order to Show Cause. In her initial decision, the ALJ noted that petitioner initially filed for a certification penalty before the school superintendent, rather than the Commissioner. Moreover, petitioner did not address the reasons for the delay and for filing the motion papers before the wrong agency. Additionally, there was no showing that Farrell contributed to the delay. Finally, the ALJ noted that "the motion papers do not evidence communications from petitioner to respondent from March to December 1993 pertaining to the filing of the proceeding, until the blank order to show cause was issued." Farrell, supra, 95 *N.J.A.R.*2d at 378. Consequently, the Commission affirmed the ALJ's conclusion that the 90-day rule should not be relaxed.

Here, I have considered the conduct of the Board and Falco to determine if circumstances exist to relax the 90-day rule. Immediately after Falco submitted his letter of resignation, he and his representative met with the administrative staff to discuss his position. Petitioner attempted to dissuade Falco from resigning without notice. Thereafter, the Association presented an alternative position. Falco was prepared to delay submitting his resignation to the Board if Saxon conducted an investigation of the performance evaluation process. These negotiations indicate that Falco's February 27 letter of resignation was not final. Falco's offer was rejected and his resignation was considered by the Board at its next scheduled meeting, March 23, 1998. On April 3, 1998, the Board filed a request, rather than an Order to Show Cause, before the Commissioner to suspend Falco's teaching certificate. The Commissioner notified the Board of the error and the request for certificate suspension was filed in the proper form on June 8, 1998. The Board argues that "form should not govern over substance." In these circumstances, I agree. Based on the evidence presented, I CONCLUDE that the Board acted promptly and that Dr. Falco has not been prejudiced. Therefore, in this matter, it is appropriate to relax the 90-day rule.

Summary Decision

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b), summary decision is appropriate:

> if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law.

Summary decision in administrative proceedings parallels summary judgment in the courts. Summary judgment is:

> designed to provide a prompt, businesslike and inexpensive method of disposing of any cause which a discriminating search of the merits in the pleadings, depositions and admissions on file, together with the affidavits submitted on the motion clearly shows not to present any genuine issue of material fact requiring disposition at a trial.
> [Judson v. Peoples Bank and Trust Company of Westfield, 17 N.J. 67, 74 (1954).]

In administrative proceedings, as in the courts, it is "the movant's burden to exclude any reasonable doubt as to the existence of any genuine issue of material fact." Id. at 74. Thus, "[a]ll inferences of doubt are drawn against the movant in favor of the opponent of the motion. The papers supporting the motion are closely scrutinized and the opposing papers indulgently treated." Id. at 75.

The New Jersey Supreme Court in Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Co., 142 N.J. 520, 539-40 (1995), applied the summary judgment standard employed by the federal courts. Under Brill, once the movant has presented competent evidence tending to show the absence of any genuine issue for trial, the nonmovant must do more than simply create some doubts as to the material facts. Moreover, the nonmoving party cannot rely on disputed issues of fact that are insubstantial. Rather, Brill requires the nonmovant to raise a factual issue substantial enough to sustain a reasonable conclusion in the nonmovant's favor if a hearing were held. If the evidence, along with reasonable inferences, could sustain a judgment in favor of the nonmovant the motion must be denied.

There is no automatic right of a local school board to a one-year suspension of a teacher's certificate. Indeed, N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 provides:

> Any teaching staff member employed by a board of education, who shall, without the consent of the board, cease to perform his duties before the expiration of the term of his employment, shall be deemed guilty of unprofessional conduct, and the commissioner may, upon receiving notice thereof, suspend his certificate for a period not exceeding one year.

Respondent does not dispute resigning without 60 days' notice to the Board. However, he believes that mitigating circumstances exist that should be presented to the trier of fact. Respondent references his letter of resignation and his statement in Answer to the Order to Show Cause. Respondent submits that his medical condition is a disputed mitigating factor and a genuine issue of material fact.

The Board does not dispute Falco's contention that he suffers from a medical condition. However, the Board argues that as a matter of law, Falco's not being able to perform his duties due to a medical condition is not a mitigating factor for resignation without proper notice.

Based on the moving papers, the respondent's resignation, his communications with petitioner prior to March 23, 1998, and his Answer to the Order to Show Cause, I CONCLUDE that the primary and motivating reason for Falco's resignation was the fact that he disagreed with the evaluation of his performance. Although he may have been distressed over a poor evaluation, immediate resignation was an unacceptable response. Respondent had options. He could have requested a sick leave. Instead, he offered to withhold his resignation if the petitioner would agree to conduct "an immediate and thorough investigation" of the evaluation process. Petitioner declined respondent's offer.

I CONCLUDE that no genuine issues of material fact exist.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that the motion for summary decision filed by the Board of Education of the Ramapo Indian Hills School District is GRANTED.

It is further ORDERED that the motion to dismiss filed by petitioner is DENIED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 225 East State Street, CN 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

IN THE MATTER OF THE SUSPENSION	:
OF THE TEACHING CERTIFICATE OF	:
ROBERT FALCO, BOARD OF	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
EDUCATION OF THE RAMAPO	:	DECISION
INDIAN HILLS REGIONAL HIGH	:
SCHOOL DISTRICT, BERGEN COUNTY.	:

The record of this matter and the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Exceptions of respondent Falco were timely filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4.[1] The Board requested and was granted a short extension of time within which to submit reply exceptions and filed such replies in accordance with the established timeline.

Respondent excepts to the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) determination that the within petition of appeal was timely, contending, as he did below, that the triggering event which commenced the running of the 90-day filing period, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c), was his resignation from his position on February 27, 1998, not the date the Board took formal action to accept such resignation. In this regard, he advances that N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c) specifies,

> [t]he petitioner shall file a petition no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling or other action by the district board of education, individual party, or agency, which is the subject of the requested contested case hearing. (Respondent's Exceptions at p. 3)

[1]The Initial Decision erroneously lists respondent as pro se in this matter. The record, rather, confirms that he is represented by Linda Ganz Ott, Esq. (Bucceri and Pincus).

Pursuant to this regulatory provision, respondent avers:

> The petitioner must be aware of the action taken by the "district board of education, individual party or agency" in order to trigger the ninety (90) day rule. (emphasis added.) The key to the trigger date in a matter where a board of education seeks the suspension of a teacher's certification is when the teacher ceases to perform his or her duties, not when a resignation is accepted. Here, it is the action of the respondent that triggers the 90 day limitation period, not anything the Board does. It is the "other action" of an "individual party...which is the subject of the requested contested case hearing." N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c). Therefore, it is irrelevant that a resignation can be rescinded before acceptance of that resignation by a board of education. (Id.)

Respondent, therefore, argues that as February 27, 1998 was the date which triggered the Board's cause of action herein, its filing for an Order to Show Cause with the Commissioner, some 101 days after this date, is untimely and must be dismissed. (Respondent's Exceptions at p. 5)

Respondent particularly objects to the ALJ's finding support for her determination that the Board's submission was timely in the letter from the Association to the Board dated March 2, 1998, which she found indicated that the parties were at that time engaged in negotiations about his resignation. In this regard, respondent urges:

> The letter was not from respondent, but from the Association president. There is nothing in the letter that indicates that respondent requested such actions or that he endorsed the request by the Association. The Association was concerned about the treatment of all science department staff as well as respondent. The Association president, not respondent, asked that the letter of resignation not be submitted to the Board before an investigation was completed. This letter should have no effect on a determination of the limitations period. (Respondent's Exceptions at p. 2)

Finally, respondent disputes the ALJ's concluding that relaxation of the 90-day rule was warranted by the circumstances existing in this matter should the Commissioner of Education determine that the triggering event was respondent's resignation date. (Respondent's Exceptions at p. 5) He contends that the limitation period of N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c) is strictly enforced, there being few exceptions to stringent compliance with the rule. Respondent proffers that this rule "is only relaxed where it would be inappropriate, unnecessary or unjust to strictly apply it." (Respondent's Exceptions at p. 6) Here, he advances:

> Based on February 27, 1998 as the trigger date, the petitioner had until May 28, 1998 to file its order to show cause. The ALJ notes that the petitioner incorrectly requested the suspension of respondent's certificate in an April 3, 1998 letter to the Commissioner of Education and by return letter dated April 7, 1998 petitioner was informed of the correct procedure for filing an order to show cause. I.D. at 8. This mistake is not an "exceptional circumstance" or "'compelling'reason" to relax the rules. I.D. at 7. There was still sufficient time to file the order to show cause before the May 28, 1998 deadline. (Id.)

Respondent, therefore, urges that the Initial Decision be reversed and all proceedings in this matter be dismissed with prejudice. (Id.)

In reply exceptions the Board advances that the ALJ correctly determined that the controversy in this matter arose on March 23, 1998, when the Board took official action on respondent's resignation. As such, it urges, she correctly found that the Board's Order to Show Cause, filed prior to the expiration of 90 days from this date, was timely pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c). (Board's Reply Exceptions at p. 11) In support of this position it argues that N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c), which specifies, must be read and interpreted in conjunction with N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10, the provision under which the within cause of action arose. N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 states:

> [t]he petitioner shall file a petition no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling or other action by the district board of education  (Emphasis added) (Board's Reply Exceptions at p. 5),

> Any teaching staff member employed by a board of education, who shall, without the consent of the board, cease to perform his duties before the expiration of the term of his employment, shall be deemed guilty of unprofessional conduct, and the commissioner may, upon receiving notice thereof, suspend his certificate for a period not exceeding one year. (Emphasis added) (Id.)

The Board proffers it is clear from a reasoned examination that > the final action which is the subject of the contested case herein arose when the Board took its official action on March 23, 1998. Until it > took that action there existed no case or controversy subject to the Commissioner's jurisdiction under N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10. The latter section specifically provides that it is only applicable where the cessation of duties is without the consent of the Board. As such, there can be no violation [of] N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 where the Board consents. (Id.)

Consequently, the Board opines, unless and until the Board took formal action to withhold its consent to respondent's resignation, such resignation was of no effect vis-à-vis the controversy at issue here. The Board further proffers that March 23, 1998 was the first date subsequent to respondent's resignation that it was empowered to act as a body[2], and, as such, the within controversy arose at this time, thereby triggering the 90-day appeal period specified by N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c). Further buttressing this position, the Board reasons, is the fact that it is well-settled law "that a resignation is of no effect and can be rescinded at any time prior to Board acceptance. Kozak v. Board of Education of the Township of Waterford, 1976 S.L.D. 633." (Board's Reply Exceptions at p. 6) Thus, it contends, respondent could have unilaterally rescinded his resignation up to the point of the Board's formal action. (Id.) It further proffers that, contrary to respondent's exception arguments, "[t]he non-final status of [his] resignation when submitted" (id.) is additionally evidenced by the Association's March 2, 1998 request that the Board defer action on this resignation. (Board's Reply Exceptions at p. 7) Respondent's exception disclaimer of the fact that the Association was acting on his behalf, the Board advances, 1) is clearly without support in the record, 2) was not raised below and, thus, cannot be considered (see N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4(c)), and 3) is fully belied by the fact that respondent copied the Association President on his Answer to the within petition, all of which substantiate that respondent was represented by the Association from the inception of this matter. (Id.) It must, therefore, be concluded, it urges, that respondent has waived and is estopped from now asserting that the Association in its March 2, 1998 letter was not acting on his behalf. (Id.)

[2]It is noted that the Board's submissions below and its exceptions here report that the meeting conducted on March 9, 1998 was a "work meeting" at which no official action could be taken.

The Board next maintains that the ALJ appropriately concluded that, even if the Commissioner were to determine that the 90-day filing period commenced on the date of respondent's resignation, the circumstances of this matter warrant the relaxation of this limitation period. (Board's Reply Exceptions at p. 8) It asserts that the limitation period should be viewed in light of the statute under which the instant controversy arose, the facts existing in the matter, and with due consideration to the purpose of such limitation period, i.e., "to stimulate litigants to pursue a right of action within a reasonable time so that the opposing party may have a fair opportunity to defend" and "'to penalize dilatoriness and serve as a measure of repose'". (Id. citing Kaprow v. Board of Educ. of Berkeley Tp., 131 N.J. 572, 587 (1993) (citations omitted)) Here, it argues, there was no undue delay in the Board's consideration of respondent's resignation, it having acted at the first regularly scheduled meeting subsequent to the event. Almost immediately thereafter, on April 3, 1998, the Board filed a request for suspension of respondent's certificate with the Commissioner. Notwithstanding that such request was not in the form of an Order to Show Cause as is required, penalization for such an "oversight," it argues, would place form over substance. (Board's Reply Exceptions at p. 9) Consequently, the Board avows, as it acted promptly and respondent was not prejudiced, relaxation of the limitation period is appropriate here. (Board's Reply Exceptions at p. 11)

Upon his independent and careful review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner concurs with the determination of the ALJ that the within Order to Show Cause was timely filed and with her conclusion that summary decision in this matter is appropriately granted to the Board.

Initially, in considering the timeliness of the Order to Show Cause, the Commissioner observes that the quintessence of an action brought pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 is that, upon the existence of certain circumstances, a board moves before the Commissioner requesting suspension of a teaching staff member's certification for unprofessional conduct. Specifically, the law provides:

> Any teaching staff member employed by a board of education, who shall, without the consent of the board, cease to perform his duties before the expiration of the term of his employment, shall be deemed guilty of unprofessional conduct, and the commissioner may, upon receiving notice thereof, suspend his certificate for a period not exceeding one year.

The Commissioner finds that the language of this controlling statute is clear, concise and explicit as to the requisite conditions for a cause of action to arise under its terms, namely, 1) a teaching staff member ceases to perform his duties before the expiration of the term of his employment, and 2) the board does not consent to the teaching staff member's action. As such, the Commissioner cannot accept respondent's contention that the cause of action in this matter arose upon his cessation of employment on February 27, 1998, as he determines that, by its plain language, the governing provision herein additionally contemplates, as a condition precedent to the arising of a cause of action under its terms, the Board's refusal to accept respondent's resignation under the conditions proffered. That this additional component is necessary in order to initiate a cause of action here is particularly evident when due consideration is given to the fact that if, at any time prior to the Board formally acting to consider his resignation, respondent had officially rescinded such resignation as was his right to do (see Kozak, supra), or if the Board had, for whatever reason, accepted it as offered, no cause of action would have arisen under N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10. Remaining cognizant of the fact that boards of education are empowered to act only as a body and only in accordance with the laws which govern their operation (see N.J.S.A. 18A:10-1 et seq.), the Commissioner finds that the within Board acted with no undue delay when, at its official meeting on March 23, 1998, it resolved to reject respondent's resignation as offered and decided as a body to pursue its rights under the statute. It was, therefore, on March 23, 1998, the Commissioner determines, that the final action contemplated by N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c) occurred, providing the Board with 90 days from that date, or until June 21, 1998, to file its Order to Show Cause. Consequently, such submission, made on June 16, 1998, was timely.[3]

Moving to consideration of this matter on its merits, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the grant of summary decision to the Board is appropriate under the circumstances existing here, as he is persuaded by the record before him that no genuine issue of material fact exists in this matter. (Brill, supra) To the contrary, the relevant facts here are uncontested, i.e., respondent resigned without giving the requisite notice, and the Board did not accept his resignation as proffered. Accordingly, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10, respondent is guilty of unprofessional conduct.

The Commissioner recognizes that the governing statute in this matter does not dictate the automatic suspension of a teacher's certificate upon satisfaction of its terms but, rather, vests the Commissioner with the discretion to withhold such penalty if he feels the particular circumstances of the case so warrant. Board of Education of Black Horse Pike Regional School District v. Mooney, 1984 S.L.D. 810. In opposing the grant of summary decision here, it is noted that the respondent argued below that his medical condition is a disputed mitigating factor in connection with his resignation and, due to the discretion afforded the Commissioner in determining whether or not a penalty should be imposed for his admitted violation of law, "[t]his disputed mitigating factor is a genuine, material issue of fact to be determined by a trier of fact" and clearly precludes the grant of summary decision. (Respondent's Letter Brief, dated March 4, 1999 at p. 6) The Commissioner finds such an argument without merit, as existing case law evidences that circumstances which justify giving relief to a teaching staff member who has violated the provisions of N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 are rare. See, e.g., Penns Grove-Carneys Point Board of Education v. Leinen, 94 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 405, 407 (even when health issues are involved); In the Matter of the Revocation of the Teacher's

[3]In light of the Commissioner's determination that the petition in this matter was timely filed, he finds it unnecessary to reach to the ALJ's initial decision discussion as to whether circumstances here warrant the relaxation of the 90-day rule.

Moreover, the Commissioner finds the circumstances in this matter analogous to those which existed in In the Matter of the Suspension of the Teacher Certificate of Lance Cronmiller, 1970 S.L.D. 147, 148 where, after he had received expressions of dissatisfaction from a pupil and her mother, and believing that he, subsequently, failed to receive the support he expected from his colleagues and superiors, the respondent concluded that he had been placed in an untenable position which induced him to resign immediately and without notice. In ordering the revocation of this respondent's certificate for a year, the Commissioner stated:

> The provocation under which he acted, whether fancied or real, is not relevant. Whatever feelings the teacher may have had cannot constitute a valid excuse for flouting the law and unilaterally abrogating the terms of his employment. Moreover, the teacher had avenues of appeal by which he could have sought a resolution of his grievances which he failed to employ. Nor did he attempt to arrange terms under which he could be relieved of his duties, obtain an early release, or in any other way reach an agreement. Instead, he walked off the job. Under such circumstances the Commissioner can find no justification for or condonation of the teacher's actions. (at 148)

The record here indicates that respondent abruptly resigned subsequent to receiving what he perceived as a negative evaluation which he contends caused him emotional stress so affecting his health that he could not continue working. The Commissioner determines that, while it is reasonable to conclude that an individual who experiences a negative evaluation would suffer emotional stress, immediate resignation is an unacceptable response.

Accordingly, the initial decision of the OAL is affirmed for the reasons stated therein and amplified above. The Commissioner determines that Robert Falco failed to fulfill the terms of his employment with the Board and violated the law by failing to give 60 days' notice of his intent to terminate his employment without the approval of the Board. He further finds such behavior to be unprofessional conduct necessitating the suspension of his certificate for the full period of time permitted by N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10. It is, therefore, ordered that Robert Falco's certificate be suspended for a period of one year as of the date of this decision. By copy of this decision, the State Board of Examiners is so notified.[4]

IT IS SO ORDERED.

STATEMENT OF CASE

Petitioner filed with the Commissioner of Education a petition asserting that the respondent Board of Education had denied to M.P. and J.P. a free education. Respondent filed an answer and a counterclaim for tuition costs for the period of alleged ineligible attendance by M.P. and J.P. in respondent's schools.

Hearings were scheduled to commence on March 23, 1999. Prior to the hearings, the parties indicated that the matter would be amicably settled. On April 6, 1999, a Stipulation of Settlement and Mutual Dismissal of Petition and Counterclaim, signed by N.C. and a representative of respondent, was received at the Office of Administrative Law.

I have reviewed the record and the terms of settlement and FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be CONCLUDED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE HEARING OF ALLEN KING

Eugene G. Liss, Esq., for respondent,

Record Closed: April 12, 1999 Decided: April 12, 1999

BEFORE: KEN R. SPRINGER, ALJ:

Statement of the Case

This matter involves tenure charges of unbecoming conduct certified by the State-Operated School District of the City of Newark ("District") against Allen King under the Tenure Employees Hearing Law, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 to -18.1.

Allen King is a tenured social studies teacher employed by the District. By resolution adopted on January 29, 1998, the District found the existence of probable cause to certify tenure charges which, if true, are sufficient to warrant dismissal or reduction in salary. Basically, the District accused Mr. King of making inappropriate sexual comments to his students and fellow staff members and one instance of improper touching of a female student. Mr. King has consistently denied the charges against him.

On February 3, 1998, the District filed its written tenure charges with the Commissioner of Education ("Commissioner"). Mr. King filed his answer on April 30, 1998. Subsequently, on May 19, 1998, the Commissioner transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law ("OAL") for a determination as a contested case.

Both parties have agreed to a proposed settlement, subject to approval by the Commissioner. In accordance with the decision of the State Board of Education in Cardonick v. Brooklawn Bd. of Ed., 1983 S.L.D. ___ (St. Bd. April 6, 1983), the record of any proposed settlement must include:

> . . . the nature of the charges, circumstances justifying the settlement, consent or authorization by the Board of Education and the teacher to the proposed agreement, the Administrative Law Judge's finding that the teacher entered into the agreement with a full understanding of his rights, and [a finding] that the agreement is consistent with the public interest.

On March 22, 1999, the OAL held a public hearing on the issue of whether or not the proposed settlement should be accepted. Counsel for both parties set forth on the record the reasons why settlement would be in the public interest. Mr. King testified that he fully understood and voluntarily agreed to the terms of settlement. In addition, the parties have prepared a stipulation of settlement, which is attached and fully incorporated in this decision.

Based on my review of the record, I FIND that the proposed settlement is consistent with the public interest for the following reasons:

1. Allen King has been employed as a teacher by the District or its predecessor for fourteen years. Except for the incidents resulting in the tenure charges, he has received satisfactory evaluations of his performance as a teacher.

2. There are several evidentiary problems that will make it difficult for the District to prove its allegations. Most of the witnesses are former students who no longer attend school in the District. Some of them have moved and will be difficult to locate. Others are unwilling to cooperate with the District and will not voluntarily testify against Mr. King.

3. Since the single instance of alleged improper touching involved an adult student, the Division of Youth and Family Services declined to investigate the circumstances.

4. At the time of the alleged incidents, Mr. King was assigned to teach at an alternative school for youngsters who had exhibited serious behavior problems. Several of the proposed witnesses have had encounters with law enforcement authorities or have criminal records.

5. If a hearing is necessary, the District intends to call about eight witnesses and the teacher intends to call about eight witnesses. Therefore, the hearing will last at least six days and may not finish within the time allotted.

6. Under the proposed terms of settlement, Mr. King will resign from his position effective December 31, 1999 and will remain on administrative leave until that time. Any payment to Mr. King will be offset by his accrued leave, including sick days and personal leave.

7. The parties estimate that Mr. King's salary until the date of his resignation will be approximately $22,000 and that his accumulated leave is worth approximately $8,800, so that the net payment amounts to roughly $13,200.

8. Even if the matter proceeds to hearing, it is unlikely that a final decision will be rendered prior to the end of the current school year. Meanwhile, Mr. King is entitled by law to a continuation of his pay pending the outcome of the hearing.

9. From the District's viewpoint, the outcome under the settlement will be essentially the same as if it prevailed after a lengthy and costly tenure hearing. Monies spent on litigation costs could be put to better use for the benefit of the children of the City of Newark.

10. Before entering into this agreement, Mr. King fully understood his rights and had an adequate opportunity to consult with legal counsel.

11. Mr. King is aware that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6, the Commissioner may refer this matter to the State Board of Examiners for any licensing action which it may deem appropriate.

12. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy.

I CONCLUDE that the terms of settlement are in the public interest.

It is ORDERED that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that the proceedings are hereby concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

WHEREAS, King disputes the allegations of the tenure charges; and

WHEREAS, the parties agree that it is in the public interest to enter into this agreement in resolution of said charges in order to avoid the uncertainty and expense of litigation; and

4. King acknowledges, as required under In re Cardonick, that, despite the approval of this Agreement, the issue of possible revocation of his teaching certificate may be considered by the State Board of Examiners.

5. This Agreement is subject to the approval of the State District Superintendent and the Commissioner of Education. Upon approval of this Agreement, the District agrees that the tenure charges against King shall be withdrawn.

6. The parties enter this Agreement voluntarily and without coercion, after consultation with their respective counsel.

DECISION

SYNOPSIS

Petitioners, employees of the Newark Board prior to takeover, argued they were terminated without notice, contrary to N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44b and c. They sought reinstatement with back pay.

ALJ determined that petitioners' employment was terminated by the discretionary action of the State superintendent rather than abolishment of their positions pursuant to the takeover statute and, as at-will employees, they are not entitled to relief.

Commissioner adopted findings and determination in initial decision as his own. Matter was dismissed.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Ruben Gonzalez, E.d.D. (Gonzalez or petitioner), Paul J. O'Donohue (O'Donohue or petitioner), Steven G. Block (Block or petitioner), and Claude Craig

(Craig or petitioner) filed petitions with the State Department of Education (DOE), on November 15, 1995, contesting the terminations of their employment by the State-operated school district of the City of Newark (District or respondent). Respondent filed answers on December 6, 1995. The DOE transmitted the matters to the Office of Administrative Law on December 8, 1995 for determination as contested cases pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

A prehearing conference was conducted on March 4, 1996, at which time it was agreed that the matters would be consolidated. An order to that effect was issued on March 7, 1996. Telephone conferences were conducted throughout the proceedings.

Various orders were issued by this judge and by the Commissioner of the DOE (Commissioner). Respondent filed a motion for summary decision; and petitioners, a cross-motion for summary decision. I issued an order denying the motions on January 10, 1997. The Commissioner issued a decision on motion on February 11, 1997.

Respondent filed another motion for summary decision on approximately April 7, 1997. This judge issued an order denying that motion on April 24, 1997. The Commissioner issued an order affirming the denial on May 12, 1997.

The parties also raised various evidentiary issues. On May 5, 1997, I orally denied a motion by petitioners to depose Dr. Beverly Hall (Hall); that ruling was memorialized by a letter order issued May 6, 1997. On May 9, 1997, this judge orally denied a motion by respondent to quash a subpoena served by petitioners upon Dr. Barbara Anderson (Anderson), an assistant commissioner with the DOE. The Commissioner issued an order affirming that ruling on May 14, 1997.

Counsel for the DOE asserted privileges on behalf of Anderson. I issued an order on October 1, 1997, requiring that the documents in question be provided for an in camera review. I issued an order on the merits on April 8, 1998. The Commissioner issued an order on April 27, 1998, affirming the April 8, 1998 order.

Hearings were conducted in May 19997 and July 1998. Petitioners and respondent filed post-hearing initial briefs on September 11 and September 15, 1998, respectively. Respondent filed a reply brief. At this judge's request, petitioners filed calculations of their claimed damages on November 24, 1998. The District filed a response on December 11, 1998. A telephone conference was thereafter conducted. I issued an order on February 23, 1999 regarding documents which petitioners requested be moved into evidence. The record is deemed closed on February 23, 1999.

NATURE OF THE CASE

On July 12, 1995, the DOE removed the Newark Board of Education (Board) and created a State-operated school district, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-34 et seq., commonly referenced as the "Takeover Statute." Petitioners were employees of the Board prior to the takeover. Respondent terminated their employment on August 17, 1995.

Petitioners argue that they were terminated without notice, contrary to N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44 and N.J.S.A. 18A:27-4.1, and that they therefore should be reinstated, with back pay. The District argues that those provisions are not applicable, that petitioners were "at will employees," before and after the takeover, and that they were not entitled to notice. The issue, broadly, is whether petitioners have proven their claims by a preponderance of the credible evidence.

FINDINGS OF FACT

This judge's order of January 10, 1997 denying the motions for summary decision set forth certain findings of fact and determined that a hearing should be conducted regarding the questions of whether petitioners fell within N.J.S.A. 18:7A-44a or c, whether respondent implemented a reorganization of central and administrative supervisory staff, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44b, and what relief should be granted to petitioners if they prevail. In his February 11, 1997 decision, the Commissioner did not disturb the findings of fact set forth in the January 10, 1997 order. Therefore, those findings, as well as findings based upon a review of the evidence subsequently offered by the parties, are incorporated herein.

Based upon a review of the entire record, I FIND the following to be facts.

Petitioners were at-will employees of the Board. O'Donohue was appointed by the Board to the position of Director of Purchasing and Warehousing, effective September 1, 1980. He served in that position until August 17, 1995. O'Donohue reported to Alonzo Kittrels (Kittrels), the Board's executive director of finance who, in turn, reported to the superintendent of schools.

The position of Director of Purchasing and Warehousing was an unclassified civil service position. O'Donohue did not have tenure in any position he held with the Board. O'Donohue was a central administrative or supervisory employee of the Board. His accomplishments included automating the district's financial management and procurement system, assuming responsibility for fixed asset management, and utilization of a warehousing system for textbooks.

Craig was employed by the Board effective May 4, 1973. From that date through June 1, 1989, he held various provisional positions under civil service statutes. The Board appointed Craig to the unclassified civil service position of Executive Director of Personnel, effective June 1, 1989. He was terminated from that position, effective August 23, 1991. The Board provisionally appointed Craig to the position of Hearing Officer, effective August 23, 1991. He remained in that provisional civil service appointment until August 17, 1995. Craig did not have civil service protection. Craig was not tenured in any position with the Board.

In his last position, Craig was employed in the Board's Office of Hearing Grievance. He was the Board's only hearing officer and heard approximately 500 cases annually. Craig never supervised any employees as a Hearing Officer. Craig was a central administrative or supervisory employees of the Board. His average annual salary was approximately $75,000.

Block was appointed by the Board to the position of Executive Director, in the Office of Accountability and Quality Assurance, effective October 31, 1994. His position did not have civil service status, and Block had no tenure in that position with the Board. Block was a central administrative or supervisory employee of the Board. He reported directly to the executive superintendent.

Block's position related to supporting and augmenting the Board's efforts to implement reform in a program of comprehensive school improvement. His responsibilities included the provision and encouragement of reviews, inspections, evaluations, and analyses utilized by teachers and principals, in-school managers and technical personnel, and essential office staff. His accomplishments included the design and implementation of senior staff review of the quality of reform initiatives, a planning and development effort to bring a school quality review process to the school district, and development and initial implementation of a peer review program designed to provide reviews of the quality of plans by Board personnel prior to implementation.

Gonzalez was employed by the Board from 1979 until 1982, at which time he was asked to leave. From 1979 through 1982, he served as the Board's director of the English as a Second Language Program and Bilingual Education. Gonzalez was a central administrative or supervisory employee of the Board.

Gonzalez was appointed by the Board to the position of Executive Superintendent, effective July 1, 1993. He did not have tenure in any position with the Board and did not have civil service status. He was one of five Assistant Executive Superintendents, responsible for one of the five clusters of schools into which the district was divided. Gonzalez's supervised Cluster 4, that part of the City with the largest portion of Hispanic students.

Gonzalez oversaw all schools within Cluster 4, including operations and physical structures of the building. He worked closely with the principals and interfaced with the "community." (Gonzalez's direct testimony.) He reported directly to the Board's Superintendent of Schools and was responsible for sending various reports to the DOE regarding conditions in the schools in Cluster 4.

Hall was appointed as the State District Superintendent after the State Board of Education (State Board) removed the Board and created a State-operated school district. The State assumed control on or about July 12, 1995. At that time, Hall was appointed as Acting Superintendent for up to one year. The Board was eliminated upon the takeover of the district.

On July 13, 1995, Block was called to a meeting with the interim acting State Superintendent. Peter Catini (Catini), a DOE assistant commissioner, Nancy Kaplan (Kaplan), a Deputy Attorney General, and Anderson were also present. Block was asked to provide an undated letter of resignation and was assured that the incoming Acting State District Superintendent, Hall, would evaluate his job and performance and would, as a result, determine if he would be terminated, reassigned, or held-over.

Block would be retained in his position, or he could be reassigned. Block had no knowledge of any subsequent evaluations.

Approximately two weeks later, he met with Beatrice Collymore, an acting deputy state superintendent at the time. They had a "wide-ranging" conversation regarding reform in urban school districts and, to Block's perception, "seemed to be generally in agreement." Block "urged" her to facilitate a meeting between him and Hall. (Block's direct testimony). That was the only substantive conversation that Block had with individuals regarding the takeover.

On or about July 13, 1995, Craig attended a meeting with Anderson, who was then the acting superintendent of the District, Catini, and Kaplan. Anderson stated that "as a matter of procedure," she was requesting resignation letters from Board employees and that she had determined from the State Department of Personnel that Craig previously did not have civil service status and that he was an "at-will employee." Anderson also indicated that she would be submitting the resignation letters to the incoming District superintendent. Craig discussed the various types of hearings he conducted. Catini noted that Craig had conducted an "extraordinary" number of hearings annually, which comment gave Craig "added confidence" that he would be retained. (Craig's direct testimony.)

Prior to the takeover, Craig believed that his employment could be terminated without notice if he did not perform his job "correctly." To his knowledge, the State was "working" on the takeover for one and one-half to two years prior to the actual implementation of the reorganization. Subsequent to the takeover, based upon the number of annual hearings in the school district, and the fact that he was the only hearing officer, Craig "assumed" that if he "acted properly," he would be retained as an employee of respondent. (Ibid.)

Before and after the takeover, O'Donohue had frequent contact with a Dr. Capello (Capello), who had assumed the position of director of finance. O'Donohue felt that he was "kind of led" to believe that he would have "no problem" related to the takeover. O'Donohue was aware that he had no civil service status, nor tenure, with the Board, and had felt that the status of his employment vis-à-vis the takeover was "nebulous." (O'Donohue's direct testimony.)

On July 13, 1995, O'Donohue, as well as other individuals, were called to a meeting at which resignation letters were requested. Someone told O'Donohue that he did not have civil service status nor tenure, and he responded that he needed his job. He was told by that individual that he/she would do what they could to "keep" him. (Ibid.)

On or about July 13, 1995, Gonzalez attended a meeting with Anderson, Catini, and someone from the Attorney General's office. He was asked to provide a letter of resignation.

On or about July 13, 1995, Gonzalez received a letter, dated July 13, 1995, from Anderson, the then Acting District Superintendent. This letter read as follows:

> As you know, as an 'at-will' employee, you serve at the pleasure of the Acting State District Superintendent. Your employment is, therefore, subject to termination at any time without cause. However, to facilitate any employment actions that may be taken during this transition period, I am requesting letters of resignation from all central office district staff that serve in an 'at-will' capacity in the Newark School District. As we discussed, I would like you to submit that letter of resignation to me by noon tomorrow, July 14, 1995. In the event your resignation is accepted, you will be notified in writing by the Acting State District Superintendent.
> Thank you for your anticipated cooperation in an orderly transition to state operation of the Newark School District.

On or about July 13, 1995, O'Donohue, Block and Craig received letters, dated July 13, 1995, from Anderson, similar to the letter sent to Gonzalez.

On or about July 13, 1995, Gonzalez submitted a letter of resignation to Anderson, dated July 13, 1995. That letter read as follows:

> As per your request, I am submitting my resignation as assistant executive superintendent, effective upon acceptance.
> [Ex. B to Randall Kator's certification in support of petitioners' cross-motion for summary decision.]

On or about July 13, 1995, O'Donohue, Block, and Craig submitted letters of resignation to Anderson similar to that submitted by Gonzalez.

At some point prior to July 17, 1995, an "introductory building-wide meeting" was conducted. Hall indicated that she would "evaluate things." Between early July and August 17, 1995, O'Donohue continued to have frequent meetings with Capello, in preparation for the coming school year. O'Donohue also had periodic contact with

Carol Perry (Perry), attended a meeting with Blackburn regarding various contracts previously entered into by the Board, had some contact with the Comptroller's office, and was requested by "State people" to write a "special contract." (O'Donohue's direct testimony.)

On or about July 17, 1995, petitioners received letters from the Commissioner dated July 17, 1995, which were sent to all employees of the District. The letters stated, in part, that:

> The administrators, teachers, and noninstructional employees of the Newark School District have a very special role to play in turning the district around quickly so that students can sense immediately that their future will be brighter. It is not the intention of the state to replace employees. Displaced administrators will have their tenure rights recognized within the district and those employees who are performing their duties satisfactorily for the students of Newark will remain employed.
>
> Improving the schools in Newark will be an extremely challenging task. I am a firm believer that the first and most important step in pursuing that success is the creation of a partnership among the state, the employees of the Newark School District, parents, and community leaders in the city.
> [Ex. P-1, pp. 1-2.]

Craig felt "even more comfortable" regarding his status upon receipt of that letter. (Craig's direct testimony.) Craig subsequently met with Hope Blackburn (Blackburn), a "casual" meeting. Blackburn was the Acting District General Counsel. They discussed Craig's hearing schedule and the number of hearings conducted. There were no discussions regarding any "reorganization" of the office of hearing examiner, nor of changes in Craig's status. Nor was Craig's prior job performance addressed. (Ibid.)

O'Donohue was "happy to receive the Commissioner's July 17, 1995 letter and felt that if he performed his job responsibilities satisfactorily, he had a "reasonably good chance of staying." (O'Donohue's direct testimony.)

On August 17, 1995, at approximately 11:00 a.m., Block was summoned to the Office of the Acting District Superintendent. Blackburn and Perry, the Acting District Chief of Staff, were present. Hall informed Block that she was accepting his letter of resignation. Hall indicated that Block had to vacate his office by 5 p.m. that day and that he would be entitled to any accrued vacation pay in lieu of days off. Block was "a little angry" when told his resignation was accepted. He queried what had transpired regarding "prior representations" pertinent to evaluations. Hall responded that "we decided to go in another direction." (Block's direct testimony.) Block left her office at that point.

Gonzalez received a letter from Hall, dated August 17, 1995, on August 17, 1995. That letter read as follows:

> This is to inform you that your letter of resignation dated July 13, 1995, from the position of Assistant Executive Superintendent has been accepted effective immediately. You are advised that you are entitled to assert a claim to any position or to placement upon a preferred eligibility list for any position to which you may be entitled within the district. District records indicate that you have no claim to any other position in the district. If you disagree, please advise me in writing no later than August 21, 1995, as to the position to which you claim an entitlement and the basis of that claim.
> Accordingly you are directed to vacate your office by the end of business today. You should report to Michael Popovitch to arrange to return all district property you currently possess. Please remove all of your personal belongings from the building.
>
> Be advised that you will be compensated for any unused accumulated vacation time. Thank you for your service to the district.

O'Donohue, Craig, and Block received similar letters on August 17, 1995.

On August 17, 1995, O'Donohue was told to report to Hall's office. Blackburn and Perry were present. Hall gave O'Donohue a letter accepting his resignation, advising that they "were going to go with their own teams." Hall told O'Donohue that he had to vacate the building that day. Noticing that his name was spelled incorrectly on the letter, he "threw" it on Hall's desk. (O'Donohue's direct testimony.)

O'Donohue returned to his office and summoned the four individuals who reported to him, intending to speak with them regarding the matter. However, a State trooper entered his office and told him that he had to leave immediately but that he could pack items he wanted to take. At approximately 11:30 a.m., a policeman "escorted" O'Donohue from the building. (Ibid.)

On August 17, 1995, Gonzalez met with Blackburn, Hall, and Perry. Hall advised that she was accepting his letter of resignation and indicated that he would have the remainder of the day to vacate his office and that he could take his personal belongings with him. Hall did not state why his letter had been accepted, and Gonzalez did not ask her.

On August 23, 1995, as he was preparing for a hearing, Craig was told by a secretary to report to Hall's office. Blackburn and Perry were also present. There was a "stack" of letters on Hall's desk. She retrieved one and indicated that she had accepted Craig's letter of resignation. Craig queried whether he could "ask why," and Hall responded: "Nothing personal. We're just going in a different direction." Craig did not respond further because he was "shocked." (Craig's direct testimony.) Craig was advised that his employment would terminate the end of that day and that he had to vacate his office by that time.

Petitioners were never advised, neither prior nor subsequent to the takeover, that they did not perform their duties satisfactorily.

Kittrels was the executive superintendent of the Newark school district from 1977 until June of 1981. He was part of central administrative staff and supervised employees. Kittrels was in charge of the hiring and termination of employees. Some of the individuals reporting to Kittrels had civil service status or tenure, but not all. The latter were part of a group of unclassified employees pursuant to the civil service system.

Prior to the takeover, unclassified employees were recruited by the Board's Department of Personnel, which made recommendations to Kittrels, who was responsible for ultimately making recommendations to the Board, which had authority to approve or disapprove his recommendations. Kittrels also made recommendations regarding terminations of employees to the Board, providing reasons for such recommendations. Board determinations in that respect were reached at Board meetings. Individuals affected could request a hearing before the Board. Employees were often given opportunities to resign, with the dates of resignations agreed upon by the Board and the employees.

Kittrels had a "contractual" relationship with the Board for the 1988/89 school year and until July 12, 1995. (Kittrels' direct testimony.) Upon the takeover of the District, on July 12, 1995, Kittrels was "escorted" from his place of employment. (Kittrels' testimony on cross-examination).

Eugene Campbell (Campbell) was an executive superintendent employed by the Board from December 1984 until 1995. He was involved in the employment and termination of individuals on the administrative and supervisory staff. He supervised petitioners and was involved in hiring them.

Campbell's experience with the employment and termination of individuals was similar to that of Kittrels. Recruiting activities were under the auspices of the Board's department of personnel. Campbell made recommendations to the Board regarding both employment and termination of individuals. However, the Board had the authority to make such determinations. The Board often reached agreements with individuals subject to termination for resignations upon a certain date. Subsequent to their initial hiring, Campbell made recommendations to the Board, on an annual basis, to "carry over" certain employees, including petitioners, to the next school year. (Campbell's testimony on redirect examination.) Campbell never served as a supervisor in a State-operated school district.

At about the time of the takeover, Campbell attended meetings with DOE employees, including Catini and Anderson. They discussed the fact that individuals employed in curriculum, business and finance, and personnel were subject to Section 44a of the Takeover Statute (category a). Campbell believed that petitioners' positions were not deemed to be in Category a. To Campbell's knowledge, however, there were no written determinations of any conclusions reached in that respect by DOE personnel at the time. To Campbell's knowledge, individuals deemed to be in category a were not requested to file letters of resignation but " . . . were told to leave." (Campbell's supplemental direct testimony.) They were told that they would subsequently receive letters of termination. At some point, however, Campbell did submit a letter of resignation.

Randell Kator (Kator) commenced employment with the District on May 28, 1996 as an assistant superintendent for human relations. He was responsible for personnel administration, including benefits, labor relations, hiring, and disciplinary matters, pertinent to individuals in unclassified positions, non-instructional staff governed by civil service regulations.

At the time of Kator's employment by the District, there was no "traditional" board of education in the Newark school district. To his understanding, there were no requirements that the superintendent make recommendations to a board for termination of "at-will" employees, but that such employment could be terminated at the superintendent's "pleasure." (Kator's direct testimony.)

To Kator's understanding, "at-will" employees are higher-level management individuals employed by the District without the requirement of a competitive examination nor civil service review. Such individuals, also to his understanding, serve at the "pleasure" of the superintendent. Their employment can be terminated without notice and without reasons provided. (Kator's direct testimony.)

In July of 1996, the District engaged in reorganization of the central office. There was a "considerable review" of existing positions and how such would be reallocated after the reorganization. (Ibid.). The reorganization was implemented on July 19, 1996.

The title of director of purchasing no longer exists in the District. A new, unclassified, title was created, that of director of support services and transportation. The title encompasses responsibilities regarding purchasing, transportation, and mail services. Purchasing and transportation functions were consolidated during 1997. Subsequent to O'Donohue's termination, he was temporarily replaced by two State employees from the Division of the Treasury, who were assigned to the District. One functioned as the acting executive director of purchasing; and the other, as the acting executive assistant of purchasing. No individual permanently replaced O'Donohue, although the District was interviewing candidates during the pendency of the current matter.

Executive assistant superintendents are assigned to clusters of schools. Gonzalez was temporarily replaced by Lidia Silva, acting assistant executive superintendent, in September 1995. The structure of the school clusters was changed with the reorganization on July 19, 1996.

Subsequent to Craig's termination, the hearing officer position was temporarily filled by independent contractors. Subsequent to the reorganization, the functions of the position were divided among the director of labor relations and two independent contractors.

The position of director of the office of accountability and quality issuance no longer exists. It was eliminated at the time of the takeover. No individual replaced Block subsequent to his termination.

At the time of the termination of his employment, O'Donohue needed two additional years in the pension system to vest his pension. He subsequently unsuccessfully attempted to obtain employment with the State of New Jersey, which efforts were hindered, at least in part, by the fact that he did not meet certain residency requirements. O'Donohue resides in the State of New York.

Block is currently employed as the director of special projects at the Education Law Center (Center) in New Jersey. He is involved with continuing litigation against the State of New Jersey pertaining to school financing and educational reform at the local level, generally in urban school districts. Block initially sought employment subsequent to his termination by respondent but did not find the "perfect fit." (Block's direct testimony.) He received unemployment benefits for a period of time. Block had previously been employed by the Center, in approximately 1980, "on and off" for more than a year. (Ibid.) He recommenced employment with the Center in January of 1996.

At the time of the takeover, Block's annual salary was $77,000. He also received health insurance and pension benefits. His initial compensation with the Center was $60,000 annually. His annual salary as of July 1998 was $66,000.

Subsequent to his termination by respondent, Gonzalez engaged in some consulting activities. Although he executed "numerous" applications for employment, Gonzalez was essentially unemployed until 1998. He believes that his efforts to find employment were hindered because of an inability to provide documentation of evaluations of prior supervisors, which were, in his view, "confiscated" when the takeover occurred, and by an inability to explain his dismissal. (Gonzalez's direct testimony.)

At the time of the termination, Gonzalez's annual salary was $89,000. He also received pension and health insurance benefits. Gonzalez commenced employment with the New Brunswick Board of Education in February 1998. His annual salary is $85,000.

Craig had several employment-related interviews after his termination but believes that difficulties in explaining why he was terminated were a "detriment" to obtaining other employment. Before his employment was terminated, Craig formed a corporation to facilitate efforts to conduct a consulting business. He obtained a "couple of minor contracts." (Craig's direct testimony.)

Craig's pension from the school district was vested after ten years of employment. After twenty-five years of service, and upon obtaining the age of fifty-five, he would have been able to obtain "a full pension" based upon the average of his three highest years' salaries. At the time of his termination, Craig needed two additional years in the pension system to obtain a full pension, a goal for which he "had been working toward." He withdrew $55,00 in his pension fund "in order to survive." (Ibid.) He is therefore not eligible to receive a pension. No individual required that Craig withdraw monies from his pension fund as a condition of filing a letter of resignation with the district.

Craig's annual salary at the time of his termination by respondent was $65,000. He too received pension and health insurance benefits. Craig commenced employment with the Newark Housing Authority on September 30, 1997. His annual salary is $50,000.

At the time of the termination of his employment, O'Donohue was 59 years old, and his annual salary was $88,776. He received health insurance and pension benefits.

DISCUSSION

The Takeover Statute provides that whenever the Commissioner determines, after the issuance of an administrative order, that a local school district has failed to assure a thorough and efficient system of education, the State Board may issue an administrative order removing the local district board of education and creating a State-operated school district. Such school district shall become effective immediately upon issuance of the State Board's order. N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-34.

The schools of a State-operated school district shall be conducted by and under supervision of a State District Superintendent of schools, appointed by the State Board upon recommendation of the Commissioner. The State District Superintendent shall perform all duties and possess all powers previously and thereafter assigned in Title 18 of the New Jersey Statutes, to central administrative and supervisory staff, instructional and noninstructional, including, but not limited to, the superintendent of schools, secretary of the board of education, school business administrator, school business manager, and assistants and clerks thereto. Id. at §35d (Supp. 1998). The State District Superintendent also generally has the power to perform all acts and do all things necessary for the proper conduct, maintenance, and supervision of schools in the district. Id. at §e. The State District Superintendent may also make, amend, and repeal district rules, policies, and guidelines for the proper conduct, maintenance, and supervision of the schools in the district. Id. at §f.

When a State-operated district is established, collective bargaining agreements entered into by the school district shall remain in force, except as otherwise provided. N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-40a. Also except where otherwise provided, all teaching staff members and other employees of a State-operated district shall retain and continue to acquire all rights and privileges acquired pursuant to Title 18A of the New Jersey Statutes. Id. at §b.

All officers, employees, and consultants, professional and nonprofessional, certified and noncertified, shall be employed or retained, transferred and removed as provided in the Takeover Statute. Id. at §42a. The State District Superintendent may appoint, transfer, and remove clerks, pursuant to pertinent civil service and educational statutes. Id. at §(1). Subject to the approval of the Commissioner, the State District Superintendent shall appoint and set the salaries of such State assistant superintendents as the superintendent deems necessary and assign their duties and responsibilities. No State assistant superintendent shall acquire tenure. Id. at §(2).

Also subject to the Commissioner's approval, the State District Superintendent, or his/her designee, shall make all personnel determinations regarding employment, transfer, and removal of all officers, employees, professional and nonprofessional, except that the services of the district's auditor or auditors, and attorney or attorneys, shall be immediately terminated by creation of a State-operated school district. Id. at §(3). The State Superintendent may delegate any of his/her powers and duties. Id. at §b.

Except as otherwise provided, any individual serving under tenure or permanent civil service status shall retain all tenure rights and may continue to serve in the district pursuant to applicable statutory provisions. Such individuals shall perform only such duties prescribed or delegated by the State District Superintendent and for which he/she may be appropriately certified. Id. at §43.

The Takeover Statute also specifically addresses the employment status of central administrative and supervisory staff. N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44, effective July 11, 1995, provides:

> a. Notwithstanding any other provision of law or contract, the positions of the district's chief school administrator and those executive administrators responsible for curriculum, business and finance, and personnel shall be abolished upon creation of the State-operated school district. The affected individuals shall be given 60 days' notice of termination or 60 days' pay. The notice or payment shall be in lieu of any other claim or recourse against the employing board or the school district based on law or contract. Any individual whose position is abolished by operation of this subsection shall be entitled to assert a claim to any position or to placement upon a preferred eligibility list for any position to which the individual may be entitled by virtue of tenure or seniority within the district. No individual whose position is abolished by operation of this subsection shall retain any right to tenure or seniority in the positions abolished herein.

> c. Notwithstanding any other provision of law or contract, the positions of the central administrative and supervisory staff, instructional and noninstructional, other than those positions abolished pursuant to subsection a of this section, shall be abolished upon the reorganization of the State-operated school district's staff. The State district superintendent may hire an individual whose position is so abolished, based upon the evaluation of the individual and the staffing needs of the reorganized district staff. These individuals shall be hired with tenure if they had tenure in their prior position. If they did not have tenure in their prior position, they may obtain tenure pursuant to the provisions of N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6. Individuals hired as State assistant superintendents shall not be hired with tenure and shall not acquire tenure. Employees or officers not hired for the reorganized staff shall be given 60 days' notice of termination or 60 days' pay. The notice or payment shall be in lieu of any other claim or recourse against the employing board or the school district based on law or contract. Notwithstanding this limitation, nothing herein shall preclude an individual from asserting upon separation from service any legal contractual right to health care coverage, annuities, accrued vacation days, accrued sick leave, insurance and approved tuition costs. Any employee whose position is abolished by operation of this subsection shall be entitled to assert a claim to any position or to placement upon a preferred eligibility list for any position to which the employee may be entitled by virtue of tenure or seniority within the district. No employee whose position is abolished by operation of this subsection shall retain any right to tenure or seniority in the positions abolished herein.

This judge found, in the order issued on January 10, 1997, that Section 44 of the Takeover Statute does not, as respondent argued, apply only to individuals having tenure prior to a reorganization. Although agreeing that N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44 applies to both tenured and untenured employees, the Commissioner, on interlocutory review, held that if petitioners' positions were not abolished pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44a nor 44c, but that if their individual employment were terminated by the discretionary action of the State Superintendent, they would be entitled to no relief in the current matter:

> Upon consideration, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44 applies to both tenured and nontenured employees. He clarifies, however, that it applies only to those employees whose positions are abolished upon the establishment, or as a result of the reorganization of, a State-operated district; it does not apply to individual > decisions to terminate employment where the underlying position is not abolished. Abolishment of a position and termination of employment are not synonymous and, in the latter circumstance, which is neither expressly addressed nor implicitly encompassed in the special statutory scheme governing establishment and operation of State-operated school districts, the terminated employee is afforded all the protections to which he or she would ordinarily be entitled by contract, tenure or civil service status, no more and no less.

> Because the record herein is insufficient to establish whether petitioners' employment was terminated or their positions abolished and, if the latter, whether by operation of law (N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44a) or district reorganization (N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44c), it remains necessary for this matter to proceed to further fact-finding as recommended by the ALJ. The Commissioner stresses, however, that should such fact-finding reveal that petitioners' positions were not abolished pursuant to these "takeover" statutes but, rather, that their individual employment was terminated by the lawful discretionary action of the State superintendent, as at-will employees they would be entitled to no relief in the instant proceedings.

It is noted that an administrative agency's interpretation of a statute it is charged with enforcing is entitled to great weight. Nelson v. Bd. of Educ. of Tp. of Old Bridge, 148 N.J. 358 (App. Div. 1997).

As alluded to hereinabove, this judge's prior determination that petitioners were essentially administrative and supervisory staff of the Board was not disturbed upon interlocutory review by the Commissioner. A review of petitioners' responsibilities prior to the takeover persuades me that they were not executive administrators responsible for curriculum, business and finance, and personnel and that their positions were therefore not abolished upon creation of the District, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44a. Campbell's communications with DEP personnel prior to the takeover recognized that fact. The crux of the issue, therefore, is whether petitioners fell within N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44c.

As respondent argues, petitioners have not demonstrated that their positions were abolished upon reorganization of the District. Although O'Donohue's and Block's positions were abolished, and Craig's position was effectively abolished, petitioners were terminated approximately one year prior to the reorganization. Petitioners have therefore not demonstrated that they are entitled to relief pursuant to N.J.A.C. 18A:7A-44c. Parenthetically, it is not clear if Gonzalez's position was abolished.

As the Commissioner recognized in his February 11, 1997 decision, the Takeover Statute does not specifically address the status of employees in positions which are abolished as a result of the reorganization of a State-operated district, which certain specified exceptions not applicable in this case.

I am not persuaded by petitioners' reliance on the fact that they were apparently treated as a group, that none were offered explanations for their terminations, and that there is no evidence that they were evaluated in any manner. As the District argues, such do not establish that petitioners' positions were abolished upon the reorganization of the District. It is reasonable to conclude that petitioners were terminated by discretionary acts of Hall.

Petitioners also argue that even if employees of a school district can be discharged without cause, such can only be accomplished after providing the employees with a statement of the reasons for the discharge and an opportunity to convince the school district to offer continued employment, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:27-4.1. That provision provides, in pertinent part, as follows:

> Notwithstanding the provisions of any law, rule or regulation to the contrary, > a. A board of education shall appoint, transfer or remove a certificated or non-certificated officer or employee only upon the recommendation of the chief school administrator and by a recorded roll call majority vote of the full membership of the board. The board shall not withhold its approval for arbitrary and capricious reasons.
> b. A board of education shall renew the employment contract of a certificated or non-certificated officer or employee only upon the recommendation of the chief school administrator and by a recorded roll call majority vote of the full membership of the board. The board shall not withhold its approval for arbitrary and > capricious reasons. A nontenured officer or employee who is not recommended for renewal by the chief school administrator shall be deemed nonrenewed. Prior to notifying the officer or employee of the nonrenewal, the chief school administrator shall notify the board of the recommendation not to renew the officer's or employee's contract and the reasons for the recommendation. An officer or employee whose employment contract is not renewed shall have the right to a written statement of reasons for nonrenewal pursuant to section 2 of P.L. 1975, c. 132 (C. 18A:27-3.2) and to an informal appearance before the board. The purpose of the appearance shall be to permit the staff member to convince the members of the board to offer reemployment. The chief school administrator shall notify the officer or employee of the nonrenewal pursuant, where applicable, to the provisions of section 1 of P.L. 1971, c. 436 (C. 18A:27-10).

> [N.J.S.A. 18A:27-4.1 (Supp. 1998).]

I am not persuaded by petitioners' argument. A local board of education is removed upon the creation of a State-operated school district. N.J.S.A. 18A:27A-34. See also, N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-37. In light of the powers granted a State district superintendent, it is reasonable to conclude that N.J.S.A. 18A:27-4.1 is not applicable to State-operated school districts, but only to local school districts not subject to the Takeover Statute.[1] The Board's practices prior to the takeover are not material. As the Commissioner determined in his February 11, 1997 decision on motion, if petitioners positions were not abolished pursuant to the takeover statute, but their individual employment was terminated by the discretionary action of the State superintendent, as at-will employees, they are not entitled to relief in the current matter.

[1] Within 60 days of a takeover, the Commissioner shall establish a board of education consisting of not more than fifteen persons from among residents of the district. Thirteen of the members shall be appointed by the Commissioner, and two shall be appointed by the local governing body of the municipality in which the school district is located. Members of the board of education shall serve at the pleasure of the appointing authority. The State district superintendent shall meet with the board of education at least once monthly, and the State district superintendent shall determine the agenda. The State district superintendent shall report on all actions taken and on pending actions and provide an opportunity for discussion by the board and by the public. N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-37. However, there is nothing in the Takeover Statute conferring powers on the board relating to the supervision and operation of the school district, generally, nor regarding appointments and terminations of employees, specifically.

Petitioners impressed me as sincere individuals who felt aggrieved, understandably, by the manner in which they were discharged. However, petitioners' expectations in that respect are not determinative. For the reasons discussed, I am persuaded that they are not entitled to the relief requested. It is not necessary to address petitioners' positions regarding alternative methods for calculating any monetary relief to which they would be entitled if they prevailed on the merits.

CONCLUSIONS

I CONCLUDE that petitioners are not entitled to relief pursuant to N.J.S.A.. 18A:7A-44 nor pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:27-4.1 and that their petitions should be dismissed.

DECISION

The record of this matter and the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon careful and independent review of the record in this consolidated matter, the Commissioner concurs with the findings and conclusions in the initial decision.[1] Accordingly, the initial decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter, for the reasons expressed therein. The within matter is dismissed.[2]

IT IS SO ORDERED.

[1] In the Initial Decision, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) indicates that the Commissioner's February 11, 1997 interlocutory decision recognized that the pertinent statute "does not specifically address the status of employees in positions which are abolished as a result of the reorganization of a State-operated district ." (Initial Decision at p. 21) However, the Commissioner herein clarifies that the aforementioned decision distinguished between employees whose positions were abolished upon the establishment of a state-operated school district, or as a result of reorganization, and those whose employment is terminated upon state-operation. The Commissioner therein noted that the latter circumstance, termination of employment, "is neither expressly addressed nor implicitly encompassed in the special statutory scheme governing establishment and operation of State-operated school districts ." (Ruben Gonzalez et al. v. State-Operated School District of the City of Newark, Essex County, Commissioner Decision 69-97M, slip. op. at p. 16) However, in her analysis, the ALJ mistakenly indicates that the aforementioned decision recognized that the pertinent statute "does not specifically address the status of employees in positions which are abolished as a result of the reorganization of a State-operated district ." (Initial Decision at p. 21)

PETITIONERS-APPELLANTS,	:	STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION
V.	:	DECISION
STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF NEWARK, ESSEX COUNTY,	:
RESPONDENT-RESPONDENT.	:

Decided by the Commissioner of Education, June 1, 1999

For the Petitioners-Appellants, Medvin & Elberg (Philip Elberg, Esq., of Counsel)

For the Respondent-Respondent, Sills, Cummis, Zuckerman, Radin, Tischman, Epstein & Gross (Perry L. Lattiboudere, Esq., of Counsel)

This is a consolidated case involving the claims of four individuals who were employed by the Board of Education of the City of Newark at the time of the creation of a State-operated school district pursuant (hereinafter "District" or "State-operated District") to N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-34 et seq. The petitioners claimed that they were terminated without notice contrary to N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44 and N.J.S.A. 18A:27-4.1. They sought relief in the form of reinstatement with back pay.

The District countered that these individuals were "at-will" employees both before and after the creation of the State-operated District and, as such, had not been entitled to notice.

The Administrative Law Judge ("ALJ") agreed with the District, holding that N.J.S.A. 18A:27-4.1 was not applicable to State-operated school districts and that N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44 did not entitle them to relief because their terminations had occurred as the result of discretionary acts by the State Superintendent. The ALJ based his second conclusion on an interlocutory ruling, which had not been disturbed by the Commissioner. That ruling held that the petitioners would not be entitled to relief under N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44(c) if their positions had not been abolished pursuant to a reorganization of the District.

The Commissioner adopted the ALJ's initial decision. Consequently, he dismissed the petitions.

After careful review of the record and the pertinent law, we affirm the conclusion that N.J.S.A. 18A:27-4.1 is not applicable to this matter. However, we reverse the Commissioner's determination that the petitioners are not entitled to relief under N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44. Nonetheless, for the reasons expressed herein, we conclude that such relief is limited to the salary that each would have earned from the time of termination until effectuation of the reorganization, plus 60 days' pay.

All four petitioners were central administrative or supervisory employees. All were terminated on August 17, 1995, when the State District Superintendent, Beverly Hall, accepted resignation letters which each had been asked to provide. As set forth in the ALJ's initial decision, petitioners were treated as a group and there were no individualized reasons for their terminations. However, they were terminated before the reorganization of the District mandated by statute was effectuated.

As set forth above, these employees were terminated because the new State Superintendent wanted to "go with her own team" after her appointment to the position rather than retain these employees while the newly created State-operated District underwent the statutorily mandated reorganization process. In addition, the record shows that none of the positions held by the petitioners existed after they were terminated.

The crux of the question is whether the State District Superintendent had the discretion to terminate these individual employees under these particular circumstances. We hold that she did not.

N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44 provides in pertinent part that:

> a. Notwithstanding any other provision of law or contract, the positions of the district's chief school administrator and those executive administrators responsible for curriculum, business and finance, and personnel shall be abolished upon creation of the State-operated school district. The affected individuals shall be given 60 days' notice of termination or 60 days' pay....
> b. Within one year of the establishment of the State-operated school district, the State district superintendent shall prepare a reorganization of the district's central administrative and supervisory staff and shall evaluate all individuals employed in central administrative and supervisory staff positions. The State district superintendent shall implement the reorganization on the July 1 next following its preparation, unless otherwise directed by the commissioner.
> c. Notwithstanding any other provision of law or contract, the positions of the central administrative and supervisory staff, instructional and noninstructional, other than those positions abolished pursuant to subsection a of this section, shall be abolished upon the reorganization of the State-operated school district's staff. The State district superintendent may hire an individual whose position is so abolished, based upon the evaluation of the individual and the staffing needs of the reorganized district staff.... Employees or officers not hired for the reorganized staff shall be given 60 days' notice of termination or 60 days' pay. The notice or payment shall be in lieu of any other claim or recourse against the employing board or the school district based on law or contract....No employee whose position is abolished by > operation of this subsection shall retain any right to tenure or seniority in the positions abolished herein.

As explicated by the Statement which accompanied both the Senate and Assembly versions of the bill, this statute establishes the procedures for the governance of State-operated school districts. As embodied in the law, the Legislature intended that:

> If a State-operated school district is established, the local board of education and the chief executive officers of the district will be dismissed and a State district superintendent will be appointed with all the authority of a board of education.
> The State district superintendent will evaluate all other central administration staff and reorganize the district's central administration. At that time, all remaining central administration staff positions will be abolished. Affected employees will be given 60 days notice or 60 days pay and will retain "bumping rights" for other positions in the district for which they may have seniority.

Statement accompanying Senate Bill No. 3766 of 1987 and Assembly bill No. 4643 of 1987.

Thus, it is clear that the Legislature envisioned a process of reorganization that would commence with the evaluation of all central administrative staff whose positions were not abolished by operation of law upon creation of a State-operated school district. If the Commissioner did not determine otherwise, the reorganization would be effectuated the following July. At that time, individuals who were not being retained would be terminated with 60 days' notice or 60 days' pay.

The reorganization process was not intended to authorize group terminations for reorganizational purposes except upon effectuation of the statutorily prescribed reorganization. In this respect, it is abundantly clear from the record that the petitioners were not terminated for any individualized reason. Nor were the resignations submitted by the petitioners voluntary. Rather, we find that the petitioners were, in fact, terminated for purposes of reorganization, but that such terminations were effected outside of the statutorily mandated process.

The statutes at issue do not confer on the State Superintendent carte blanche authority to effectuate blanket dismissals without regard to the statutory reorganization process. Rather, the statutory framework applicable here precludes dismissals that would circumvent the reorganization process.[1]

Therefore, for the reasons stated, we find that the petitioners were not properly terminated and are entitled to relief. Because their positions did not exist after they were terminated, and in view of our finding that such terminations were in fact part of the reorganization process, the petitioners are not entitled to reinstatement. Rather, they are entitled to their salaries from the effective date of their termination to the date of effectuation of the reorganization, plus 60 days' pay.

Attorney exceptions are noted.

[1] In its exceptions to our Legal Committee's Report, the State-operated District argues that the terminations were permissible since the petitioners were "at-will" employees. As set forth above, we reject this contention because we find that the terminations were within the purview of N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44. We note, however, that even if this had not been the case, the District's right to terminate petitioners might not have been without limitation. See generally, Woolley v. Hoffmann-LaRoche, 99 N.J. 284, modified, 101 N.J. 10 (1985).

RUBEN GONZALEZ, PAUL J. O'DONOHUE, CLAUDE CRAIG AND STEVEN G. BLOCK, PETITIONERS-APPELLANTS, V. STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF NEWARK, ESSEX COUNTY, RESPONDENT-RESPONDENT.	STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION DECISION ON REMAND

Decided by the State Board of Education, May 3, 2000

Remanded by the Appellate Division, December 8, 2000

For the Respondent-Respondent, Sills, Cummis, Zuckerman, Radin, Tischman, Epstein & Gross (Cherie L. Maxwell, Esq., of Counsel)

This matter involved the claims of four individuals who were employed by the Board of Education of the City of Newark at the time of the creation of a State-operated school district (hereinafter "District" or "State-operated District") pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-34 et seq. The petitioners claimed that they were terminated without notice contrary to N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44 and N.J.S.A. 18A:27-4.1, and they sought relief from the Commissioner in the form of reinstatement with back pay. The Commissioner denied the claims and dismissed the petitions.

On May 3, 2000, the State Board reversed the Commissioner's determination that petitioners were not entitled to relief under N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44. The State Board, however, concluded that such relief was limited to the salary that each would have earned from the time of termination until effectuation of the reorganization, plus 60 days' pay. Implicit in our decision was that, as is ordinarily the case, the computation of such damages would include mitigation.

On June 12, 2000, the State-operated District appealed our decision to the Appellate Division. On November 1, 2000, the District filed a motion with the Appellate Division seeking a stay of our decision.

On December 8, 2000, the Appellate Division stayed the payment of damages pending determination of the appeal or further order of the Court. While not delaying the processing of the appeal by the Appellate Division, the Court also remanded the matter for a computation of damages or submission of an agreed calculation thereof.[1]

On December 18, 2000, the Director of the State Board Appeals Office initiated a conference call with the parties to effectuate the Appellate Division's order. Although it was the hope of the State Board that the parties would be able to arrive at an agreed calculation of damages, a schedule was established for the submission of a proposal by counsel for petitioners and for a response by the District. Apparently, as reflected by their submissions, the parties were not able to reach any agreement.

[1] The Appellate Division also ordered that the remand be completed within thirty days. By letter of January 8, 2001, Deputy Attorney General Michelle Lyn Miller advised the Court on behalf of the State Board of the status of the matter and the fact that we anticipated taking action on it today. Thereafter, on

As set forth in their proposal, petitioners contend that, as a matter of law, the damages in this case should be decided solely on the basis of the record that was developed before the Office of Administrative Law. According to petitioners, on that basis, they would be entitled to be paid at least the difference between what they actually earned prior to September 17, 1996, which was sixty days after the reorganization became "official," and what they would have earned had they not been terminated. Such amounts should also include the amount of fringe benefits calculated at 25% of salary loss. Petitioners are also seeking pre-judgment interest.

It is the District's position that the issue of damages was not settled during the proceedings before the Administrative Law Judge ("ALJ"). Although the District does not take issue with the annual salaries earned by petitioners at the time of their termination as set forth in the record that has been developed thus far, it does dispute whether there has been mitigation. It is the District's position that calculation of damages must include consideration of all alternative income received, as evidenced by tax returns and supporting documentation, and that because the record does not include the necessary information, it must be expanded in order to justify an award of any relief beyond payment in lieu of sixty days' notice. The District also opposes any award of pre-judgment interest.

Initially, we deny petitioners' request for pre-judgment interest. As set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:6-25, the Commissioner's decision denying relief in this case was binding on the parties until May 3, 2000, when the State Board rendered its decision reversing the Commissioner's determination. Hence, petitioners had no entitlement to any relief

January 12, 2001, a formal motion for extension of time to calculate damages was filed by the Deputy on behalf of the State Board. The Court has not yet ruled on that motion.

before we rendered our decision, and we can find no justification for awarding them pre-judgment interest.

Further, review of the record that was developed during the proceedings before the ALJ shows that it does not provide a sufficient basis upon which to calculate the damages that are due petitioners. Tr. 5/9/97 at 86-24 through 89-15; Tr. 7/7/98 at 99-21 through 102-19. Although the record indicates that petitioners did receive other income during the relevant period before they secured permanent employment, tr. 5/9/97 at 86-12, 88-16, 89-6; tr. 7/7/98 at 101-6, it does not include the information necessary to establish the total amount of income each received following his termination. In this respect, we stress that although the certification submitted by each petitioner after the close of hearing sets forth the amount of his salary prior to termination and the date and the salary of any permanent employment, none of the certifications include any information pertaining to other income, such as amounts received in the form of unemployment benefits.[2] Consequently, although we did not specifically order petitioners to produce their tax returns when they submitted their proposal, we anticipated that counsel for petitioners would include this information along with some form of supporting documentation to evidence the accuracy of the information. Counsel, however, did not do so, and included instead only the certifications that were put into the record in September 1998 and his letter of November 20, 1998 to the ALJ setting forth his calculation of damages based on those certifications.

[2] We note that counsel for petitioners did question Steven Block at hearing concerning other employment, tr. 5/9/97 at 86-9, and that his response indicates that he did collect unemployment benefits. Id. at 86-12. However, the amount of such benefits and other income was not established by testimony or otherwise. See id. at 88-13 through 88-23. Nor, as indicated above, does the record include information about any such income received by the other petitioners. See id. at 89-5 through 89-8.

In short, the submissions of the parties reflect that there is a dispute between them concerning whether petitioners received income during the pertinent period in addition to the salary amounts set forth in their certifications that must be considered in calculating any damages. We find that the record establishes that petitioners did receive such income and conclude that the amounts that they received must be considered in calculating the damages to which they are entitled. Goodman v. London Metals Exchange, Inc., 86 N.J. 19 (1981). We further find that because the record before us does not establish the amount of additional income that each petitioner received, we are unable to calculate the damages without further development of the record. Given the factual nature of this inquiry, we remand the matter to the Commissioner with the direction that he determine the amount of mitigation for each petitioner and calculate the damages due each of them. In view of the Court's directive to us, we direct the Commissioner to resolve the matter as expeditiously as possible.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioners contended that Board's elimination of woodshop courses from the curriculum without formal Board action violated N.J.S.A. 18A:33-1, N.J.A.C. 6:8-2.5 and Board policy.

ALJ granted Board's motion for summary decision, ruling that the Pequannock Township Education Association lacked standing to pursue this action before the Commissioner since it could not demonstrate a reasonable likelihood of direct harm either to the association as an entity or to one of its members. In addition, the ALJ found the process chosen by the Board with respect to core curriculum changes, including the elimination of woodshop in this case, was proper.

Commissioner affirmed the summary decision for the reasons expressed by the ALJ. Petition was dismissed.

Record Closed: March 29, 1999 Decided: March 29, 1999

BEFORE STEPHEN G. WEISS, ALJ:

This is a transcript of the administrative law judge's oral initial decision rendered pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.2.

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (hereinafter "OAL") by the Department of Education in mid-June 1998 as a result of the filing of a verified petition of appeal on May 14, 1999 by the Pequannock Township Education Association (hereinafter "PEA") and by the parent of a student in the district; R.J., the father of J.J. An answer was filed by the Board and as a result of the issues then being joined the matter, as I indicated, was transmitted to the OAL. Basically, the petition alleges that the respondent's elimination of woodshop from its curriculum as of the 1998-99 school year had been made without compliance with the applicable statute and regulations; specifically, N.J.S.A. 18A-33-1 and N.J.A.C. 6:8-4.5 (which is now codified as N.J.A.C. 6:8-2.5). Board policy also is alleged to have been violated. After the matter was transmitted to the OAL I conducted a telephone prehearing conference and plenary hearing dates were scheduled for March 29 and March 30, 1999. However, the prehearing order provided, in addition, that either side could, by October 1998, move for summary decision. I'm not sure that that deadline was met - but there was a motion made by the Board for summary decision pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5. In addition, briefs were filed and I conducted oral argument today.

Basically two arguments are made by the Board in support of its motion for summary decision. First, that there exist no genuine issue of material fact reasonably in dispute and therefore the Board is entitled to a summary determination as a matter of law. And, secondly, with respect to the PEA regardless of whether any disputed issue of fact exists it has no "standing" to pursue the matter since no substantial harm was threatened to be visited upon it or any one of its members.

Based upon my review and consideration of the briefs filed by the parties, and following my additional consideration of the points made during the oral argument which I have just conducted, I have determined that the Board is correct in both of its arguments and therefore summary decision in the Board's favor should be granted.

First, I would like to address the question of the PEA's standing. There seems to me to be little doubt that an education association, per se, has no independent standing to pursue an action before the Commissioner unless it can demonstrate the reasonable likelihood of direct harm threatened either to the association as an entity or to one of its members whom it represents. As I indicated I believe that in this case that predicate is absent. In my view, obviously, the elimination of the woodshop course from the curriculum causes no threat as such to the PEA, nor does it even seem to me to make that claim. Rather, the contention seems to be that as a result of the elimination of that course the future employment rights of the teacher involved potentially were put into jeopardy. The basis seems to be that since the elimination of the course resulted in that teacher's reassignment to another position, as the PEA stated in its brief, this " . . . could result in a reduction of that teacher's position". I believe that such a speculative assertion is not an adequate predicate for me to find that the requisite standing exists. I do not believe that it approaches the standard articulated on several occasions by the courts, especially and most recently in the case of the Ridgewood Education Association v. Ridgewood Board of Education, 284 N.J. Super. 427 (App. Div. 1995) which determined that only a substantial likelihood of harm threatened toward an association member would provide an adequate underpinning for the requisite standing. The facts in that case clearly are inapposite to the present set of circumstances.

In Ridgewood case the issue had to do with the very real possibility of limiting the term of employment of two prospective association members and the consequent direct impact upon the association itself because of the potential denial of those teachers' opportunity to acquire tenure. No similar circumstances exist here. Rather, there is only conjecture regarding future potential employment problems that the woodshop teacher might have as a result of the Board's action and my understanding is that there has been no adverse action with respect to him as a result of the Board's decision to eliminate woodshop. Accordingly, for that reason, alone the motion for summary decision dismissing the petition insofar as the PEA is concerned should be granted.

I also agree with the Board that despite efforts by the PEA to attempt to identify areas or potential areas of meaningful factual dispute none, even if they exist, are so material as to constitute a basis for me to deny summary decision. Although Ms. Zablocki's certification raises a variety of concerns with respect to information either imparted or not imparted to the PEA representatives with respect to the Board's intended action concerning elimination of woodshop, the fact is, as the Board correctly points out, that the material facts respecting that issue are not in dispute. First, the elimination of woodshop and the reasons therefor were discussed at a January 8, 1998 special workshop meeting as set forth in Ms. Clover's certification. Second, the agenda for the May 4, 1998 reorganization meeting of the Board included specifically adoption of a curriculum which included elimination of the woodshop course. Any member of the public, not to mention PEA members, could have informed him or herself about that action or proposed action before that meeting took place. Also, in respect to the specific language of 18A:33-1, there was a unanimous vote by the full Board on the resolution adopting the curriculum which included elimination of woodshop. I do not believe the law requires, and I'm aware of no case law to the contrary, that each specific course to be eliminated or modified has to be the subject of separate identification in a resolution. I believe a generic resolution adopting a curriculum and having that curriculum available for the public to comment upon is all that the law requires and it is my understanding that both of those situations existed on May 4. Nor do I see anything in this case that would have violated the requirements of N.J.A.C. 6:8-2.5, nor any Board policy. As the Board aptly notes in its reply to the PEA's brief, there has been no authority cited to support the proposition that the petitioners somehow were shut out from the decision-making process in a way that gives rise to a cause of action in this case. Indeed, much of the contents of Ms. Clover's certification are to the contrary. While, as I indicated, Ms. Zablocki recited a series of workshop and/or other meetings that took place during the first half of 1998 that involved elimination of woodshop without any specific discussion of that item, such potential action was thoroughly discussed at the January 8 meeting (at which Ms. Zablocki was not present) and was on the agenda as part of the curriculum resolution on May 4. As I further indicated, any person, association member, association officer or any citizen of Pequannock otherwise interested easily could have informed him or herself about elimination of the woodshop course and could have addressed the Board concerning it. Again, I'm aware of no statutory or regulatory authority or case law which required the Board to specifically articulate that woodshop was to be eliminated. It was enough that the proposal to modify the curriculum contained elimination of that course and there was no effort as far as I can ascertain, deliberately or otherwise, to conceal or otherwise make that a big secret. Indeed, the Zablocki certification itself reveals to me a consistent expression of interest by the PEA with respect to the prospect that woodshop would be eliminated. Also, the fact that the specific action eventually taken might have been somewhat at odds with discussions that were taking place from time-to-time over that issue, and was not specifically highlighted on the agenda, does not make the action improper. As a matter of sound educational policy any Board, not to mention Pequannock, could have been more forthcoming with specifics during the discussion phase. But that phase is not pertinent here and, really, neither side addressed that issue to any great extent. Simply put, the process chosen by the Board with respect to core curriculum changes, including the elimination of woodshop in the circumstances of this case, in my view passes muster as a matter of law.

Accordingly, for those reasons, and following my review of the file, the briefs and my consideration of the oral argument, I have determined to grant the Board's motion for summary decision. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.3(c)(12) I add the following statement to my oral decision:

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

The record of this matter and the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. No exceptions were filed by the parties.

Upon his independent and careful review of the record, the Commissioner agrees with the conclusion of the Administrative Law Judge that summary decision is appropriately granted to the Board in this matter.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL granting the Board's Motion for Summary Decision is affirmed for the reasons expressed therein. The Petition of Appeal is, therefore, dismissed.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioners appealed the Board's failure to bestow upon minor child Most Valuable Player awards for the 1995 and 1996 cross-country seasons, contending such action was arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable and discriminatory. Respondent Board filed a motion for summary decision pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5, asserting petitioners' petition was untimely filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c).

The ALJ found the petition was filed beyond the 90-day time limitation of N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c) and granted the Board's motion, dismissing the petition.

The Commissioner adopted the findings and determinations of the initial decision as his own, noting that the 90-day time period, which begins to run on the date notice is received of the action taken, is mandatory, and attempts to resolve a claim through negotiation with the board do not toll the time limit for filing a petition of appeal. Relaxation of the time limit was not warranted here because the case did not present constitutional or significant public interest issues. Petition was dismissed.

BEFORE SEBASTIAN GAETA, JR., ALJ:

Statement of Case and Procedural History

Petitioners assert before the Commissioner of Education that the failure of the respondent, Board of Education of the City of Summit to award the child, J.L.M. Most Valuable Player (MVP) awards for the Summit High School Cross Country seasons of 1995 and 1996 was arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable and discriminatory and should be overturned.

After extensive discussions with various school officials, petitioners presented their grievance before the City of Summit Board of Education Committee. The Education Committee recommended to the Board of Education that the grievance appeal should be denied. By letter dated September 12, 1997, the Board of Education Secretary informed petitioners that the Board of Education decided to accept that recommendation and that their appeal was denied.

By letter of October 16, 1997, the Union County Superintendent of Schools provided petitioners with a copy of N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.1 et seq., to file a petition when a person alleges a board of education acted in violation of education law.

On November 13, 1997, petitioners sent a letter to Iliana Okum, Director, Office of Bilingual Education and Equity Issues, Department of Education. That letter sought to appeal the Board of Education denial of their grievance.

Ms. Okum responded by her letter, dated January 5, 1998, in which she advised petitioners of the right to appeal to the Commissioner pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:4-1.9. She also enclosed a copy of the procedures for appeal, N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.1, et seq. and recommended that they contact the Office of Controversies and Disputes at the address and telephone numbers provided.

The petition requesting the Commissioner of Education to consider the controversy was filed on or about March 16, 1998.

Respondent filed a Motion for Summary Decision, N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5, asserting, inter alia, that petitioners' petition failed to conform with the time requirements of

N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c):

> The petitioner shall file a petition no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling or other action by the district board of education, individual party, or agency, which is the subject of the requested contested case hearing.

Petitioners, in their responsive papers, contend that their November 13, 1997 letter to Director Okum substantially met the timely filing requirements of N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c) and that, pursuant to the decision in Driggins v. Newark Bd. Of Edu., 93 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 317, their petition must be accepted by the Commissioner of Education.

During oral argument on the motion, petitioners stated that they always wanted to pursue their appeal. They were unable to find the law and, as they contended in their November 13, 1997 letter to Director Okum, the Union County Superintendent of Schools, in her October 16, 1997 letter gave them "erroneous information on how to proceed."[1]

DISCUSSION

There are no disputed issues of fact. This matter is appropriate for summary decision, See Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. Of America, 142 N.J. 520 (1995), and is granted.

Petitioner's letter to Director Okum was an attempt to have their appeal heard. No action was taken by her except to direct them to the Commissioner. When the

[1] The operative text of the County Superintendent's letter is:

> You are concerned because your daughter, the number 1 runner for the 1995 and 1996 seasons, was not awarded the Most Valuable Player award. Your appeal to the Summit Board of Education was denied. As we discussed, I am attaching a copy of N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.1 et seq. The procedures outlined therein are to be used for filing a petition when a person alleges that the local board of education has acted in violation of education law and the board disputes the entitlement claimed by the person.

petition was received by the Commissioner, no action was taken to dismiss the petition, pursuant to that authority under N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.9,[2] instead the appeal was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law.

In Driggins, which petitioners rely upon as supporting their position that the petition was timely filed, concerned a tenured school employee who claimed entitlement to back pay, following his acquittal on criminal charges. On January 23, 1990, the respondent Board of Education denied his claim and, on February 13, 1990, Driggins filed a complaint against the Board in Superior Court. The Superior Court transferred the case to the Commissioner of Education, who transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law for consideration whether the petition should be dismissed for failure to meet the ninety day requirement of N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2. Driggins, of course, had filed his complaint before Superior Court well within ninety days.

The administrative law judge noted that the New Jersey Court Rules, regarding transfer of actions to a proper court or administrative agency, provided that the matter would proceed as if originally brought before that court or administrative agency. Therefore, the administrative law judge concluded that, since the action before Superior Court was brought within ninety days, the requirements of N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2 were satisfied. The initial decision was adopted by the Commissioner of Education.

Although petitioners wanted to pursue their complaint and were seeking resolution through Ms. Okum, the ruling in Driggins does not avail them relief from the time requirements of N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2. Those requirements have been generally strictly enforced. Kaprow v. Board of Educ. Of Berkley Tp., 131 N.J. 572 (1993); Nissman v. Board of Educ. Of Tp. Of Long Beach Island, Ocean County, 272 N.J. Super. 373 (App. Div. 1994), cert. denied, 137 N.J. 315 (1994); Scelha v. Bd. Of Ed. Town of Montclair, Essex Cty., 2 N.J.A.R. 70 (1981).

[2] N.J.A.C. provides that the "Commissioner in his or her discretion may dismiss the petition on the grounds that no sufficient cause for determination has been advanced, lack of jurisdiction, failure to prosecute or other good reason." The authority of the Commissioner to take such action is permissive, not mandatory. See No Illegal Points v. Florio, 264 N.J. Super. 318 (1993).

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.19 the Commissioner of Education has the discretionary authority to relax or dispense with such a rule "in any case where a strict adherence thereto may be deemed inappropriate or unnecessary or may result in injustice." See Shokey v. Bd. Of Ed., Cinnamenson Twp., Burlington Cty., 1978 S.L.D. 919, 1979 S.L.D. 869. (improper denial of accumulated sick leave for pregnancy, constituted discrimination on account of sex.)

Relaxation of the rule, however, requires compelling circumstances such as were found for one of the petitioners in Boles v. Bergen County Vocational Schools Board of Education, 92 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 554, 558. (petitioner vigorously attempted to assert claim which was prevented on procedural grounds.)

In this matter the action by the Board of Education, communicated to petitioners by the Board Secretary, clearly represented the final decision.

I FIND that the petition was filed outside the time limitations of N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c) and is properly dismissed.

ORDER

Respondent's Motion for Summary Decision is GRANTED and petitioners' petition is DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF SUMMIT, UNION COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record and initial decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Petitioners' exceptions and the Board's reply exceptions were timely filed pursuant to the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4.

In their exceptions petitioners agree with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) that there are no disputed issues of fact in this matter, but they object to the ALJ's recommendation to dismiss the petition solely on the time factor. Petitioners contend, inter alia, that the Commissioner could have dismissed the petition as untimely but instead sent the matter to OAL. They further contend that all documentation affirms their daughter's claim that respondent's decision-making process in this matter was arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable and discriminatory and set forth their basis for why they should prevail on the merits of the matter.

Upon review of the record, the Commissioner agrees with and adopts as his own the recommended decision of the ALJ dismissing the petition because it was untimely filed pursuant to the provisions of N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2 (c).[1] Numerous decisions concerning the 90-day time limit have been litigated, and the Courts have consistently held that the rule is mandatory and that the 90-day period begins to run on the date notice is received of the action taken. Kaprow, supra; Riely v. Hunterdon Central High Bd. of Ed., 173 N.J. Super. 109 (App. Div. 1980); Nissman v. Bd. of Educ. of the Twp. of Long Beach Island, 272 N.J. Super. 373, 380 (App. Div.), certif. denied 137 N.J. 315 (1994). As stated by the New Jersey Supreme Court in Kaprow, supra, attempts to resolve a claim through negotiation with the local board of education are irrelevant. Such efforts do not negate the fact of receipt of adequate notice nor do they toll the running of the time limits for filing a petition of appeal. Furthermore, the record establishes that by letter dated October 16, 1997, Dr. Frances Lobman, Union County Superintendent of Schools, provided petitioners with a copy of N.J.A.C. 6:24–1.1 et seq. and explained that "[t]he procedures outlined therein are to be used for filing a petition when a person alleges that the local board of education has acted in violation of education law and the board disputes the entitlement claimed by the person." (Petitioners' Brief in Support of Denying Summary Decision, Document 11) That petitioners chose to write to Dr. Iliana Okum, Director, Office of Bilingual Education and Equity Issues, State Department of Education, rather than to follow the procedures for filing a petition of appeal as set forth in the copy of the regulations provided to them by Dr. Lobman does not toll the time for timely filing a petition of appeal with the Commissioner. Moreover, for the reasons well stated by the ALJ in the initial decision, the Commissioner is in full agreement with the ALJ that Driggins, supra, does not avail petitioners of the relief they seek.

[1] The Commissioner notes for the record that transmittal of a petition to the Office of Administrative Law does not in any way signify that the petition is deemed to be timely filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c) or that a respondent is precluded from pursuing an affirmative defense of untimeliness.

Lastly, upon comprehensive review of the record, the Commissioner finds, as did the ALJ, that relaxation of the 90-day timeline is not warranted under the circumstances of the matter as it presents neither substantial constitutional issues nor issues of significant public interest. LeMee v. Board of Education of the Village of Ridgewood, 1990 S.L.D. 663, 672-673; Bey v. Newark Board of Education, 93 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 288.

Accordingly, the Petition of Appeal is hereby dismissed.[2]

IT IS SO ORDERED.

[2] This decision, as the Commissioner's final determination in the instant matter, may be appealed to the State Board of Education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-27 et seq. and N.J.A.C. 6:2-1.1 et seq., within 30 days of its filing. PETITIONERS-APPELLANTS,

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF SUMMIT, UNION COUNTY,

RESPONDENT-RESPONDENT.

STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION

DECISION

Decided by the Commissioner of Education, June 1, 1999

For the Petitioners-Appellants, J.M. and D.M., pro se

For the Respondent-Respondent, McCarter & English (Brenda C. Liss, Esq. and Dawn Marmo, Esq., of Counsel)

J.M. and D.M. (hereinafter "petitioners"), acting pro se, filed a petition of appeal with the Commissioner of Education alleging that the Board of Education of the City of Summit (hereinafter "Board") had acted in an arbitrary and capricious manner in failing to give their child, J.L.M., the Most Valuable Player awards for the Summit High School cross-country track seasons of 1995 and 1996. The Board filed a motion for summary decision, contending, inter alia, that the petition was not filed within 90 days of the challenged action as required by N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c).[1] On April 14, 1999, an

[1] N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c) provides that:

> The petitioner shall file a petition no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling or other action by the district board of education, individual party, or agency, which is the subject of the requested contested case hearing.

Nov. 3, 1999

Administrative Law Judge ("ALJ") recommended granting the Board's motion and dismissing the petition. On June 1, 1999, the Commissioner adopted the ALJ's findings and conclusions and dismissed the petition as untimely. Petitioners filed the instant appeal to the State Board.

After a careful review of the record, we reverse the decision of the Commissioner and remand this matter to him for further proceedings. Under the particular circumstances presented by this case, we conclude that the petition was filed in a timely manner.

The record indicates that petitioners were notified by letter dated September 12, 1997 that the Board had denied their grievance concerning the Most Valuable Player awards at its meeting of September 11. On November 13, 1997, within 90 days of that notice, the petitioners sent a letter to the Director of the Office of Bilingual Education and Equity Services in the State Department of Education "to appeal the Summit Board of Education's denial of our March 10, 1997 Grievance...." By letter dated January 5, 1998, nearly eight weeks later, the Director of the Office of Bilingual Education and Equity Issues acknowledged receipt of the petitioners' November 13 letter and recommended that they contact the Department's Bureau of Controversies and Disputes regarding "whether the legal premises upon which you have based your complaint are valid, and perhaps, the next steps you should take in pursuit of a satisfactory resolution."

On January 20, 1998, the petitioners wrote to the Director of the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes regarding their challenge to the Board's action and included

"supporting evidence" for their claim. They requested that the Director "review the enclosed materials and expeditiously arrive at a decision within the next two weeks."

By letter dated January 26, 1998, the Director of the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes advised the petitioners that they "must file a petition of appeal in conformance with the operative regulations....We are returning to you herewith the materials submitted with your letter, as, while they may be included with your petition, they may not serve as a substitute for it."

On or about March 24, 1998, the petitioners filed a formal petition of appeal with the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes.

Upon review of the particular circumstances herein, including the petitioners' status as pro se litigants, we conclude that their November 13, 1997 letter to the Director of the Department's Office of Bilingual Education and Equity Services constituted a petition of appeal for purposes of complying with the filing requirements of N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c). That letter, which specifically indicated that the petitioners were appealing the Board's denial of their grievance, was filed approximately two months after the Board had notified petitioners of its action, well within the 90-day filing period. The petitioners were not advised that they had filed their papers in the wrong office of the Department of Education until January 5, 1998, nearly eight weeks later, after the 90-day period had expired. They then wrote to the Director of the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes and subsequently, upon her advice, filed a formal petition of appeal. Under these circumstances, we find that it would be inequitable to hold that the petitioners had failed to file a petition in a timely manner.

Accordingly, we reverse the determination of the Commissioner to dismiss the petition as untimely and remand this matter to him for further proceedings consistent with our decision.[2]

Attorney exceptions are noted.

S. David Brandt opposed.

November 3, 1999

Date of mailing NOV 05 1999

[2] We note in so doing that the Board had also argued in its motion for summary decision that this case should be dismissed as a matter of law, contending that the petitioners had failed to state any legal basis to support their claim. In dismissing the petition as untimely, neither the ALJ nor the Commissioner addressed this argument, which the Board has reiterated in response to the instant appeal. Under the circumstances, we decline to address such contention in the first instance. Consequently, our decision herein does not preclude the Board from reasserting this claim during the proceedings on remand.

STIPULATION OF SETTLEMENT

This Stipulation of Settlement is made by and between Regis Idec (hereinafter "Mr. Idec"), who resides at 59 Amboy Road, Matawan, New Jersey 07747, and the Roselle Board of Education (hereinafter "the Board"). In consideration of the mutual promises and undertakings contained in this Agreement, and for good and valuable consideration, the receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, the undersigned state:

WHEREAS, Mr. Idec has been employed as a maintenance/ custodial employee for ten (10) years; and

WHEREAS, the Board certified tenure charges against Mr. Idec to the Commissioner of Education by resolution of June 15, 1998; and

WHEREAS, the tenure charges against Mr. Idec allege conduct unbecoming, insubordination and other just cause for dismissal; and

WHEREAS, in lieu of further processing of the tenure charges in accordance with the Tenure Employees Hearing Law, the parties desire to enter into an agreement stipulating the terms of Mr. Idec's separation from his employment with the Board; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Idec has indicated his desire to resign from all employment with the Board effective at the close of business on July 31, 1999,

IT IS on this 14 day of February, 1999, agreed that:

1. Mr. Idec has signed and tendered an irrevocable and permanent letter of resignation in the form annexed hereto as Schedule A, to be effective with the close of business on July 31, 1999, or on such later date as may be ordered by the Commissioner of Education, at the Commissioner's discretion. Mr. Idec understands that by signing this resignation letter and this Agreement, he is permanently ending all of his rights to tenure, seniority and employment in the Roselle School District, as well as all rights to contractual benefits or salary payments as of the close of business on July 31, 1999. Nothing herein, however, shall constitute a waiver, release or relinquishment of any rights Mr. Idec has to continue pursuing a workers' compensation action which he has pending and which bears docket number 97-034050. Mr. Idec's resignation will be null and void if this Agreement is not approved by the Board, the Administrative Law Judge and the Commissioner of Education.

2. The Board agrees to withdraw its tenure charges against Mr. Idec with prejudice. This withdrawal is premised upon Mr. Idec's resignation from employment.

3. The Board shall place Mr. Idec on a leave of absence with full pay effect with the date of this Agreement through July 31, 1999.

4. The Board agrees to continue to pay Mr. Idec his full salary in the normal course of business, net of normal payroll deductions for State and Federal income taxes and pension contribution, through and including July 31, 1999.

5. The Board agrees to continue to provide Mr. Idec with all insurance coverages presently provided to other maintenance/custodial staff members, through and including July 31, 1999.

(a) to avoid disruption of the school district and other districts currently employing individuals who would be called upon to testify in these proceedings; and

(b) to avoid a lengthy, expensive hearing on the charges and any possible appeals.

9. Mr. Idec acknowledges that he has been advised that he has the right to consult with an attorney or a representative of his own choosing prior to signing this Agreement, and has done so, and that he signs this Agreement as his own voluntary act and deed, and that he fully understands the duties and obligations enumerated herein.

10. The undersigned representatives of the Board hereby acknowledge that they agree to the terms and conditions of this Agreement subject to final ratification by the Board.

11. All terms of this Agreement are deemed material. This document may not be altered, amended, modified or revoked except by an instrument executed in writing by the parties.

12. Both parties acknowledge that their agreement to dismiss the tenure charges is subject to the approval of the Office of Administrative Law and the Commissioner of Education. If such approval is not given, this Agreement and all of the stipulations, releases and acknowledgments, as well as Mr. Idec's resignation, whether contained herein or attached hereto, shall be rendered null and void and the parties shall be returned to the status quo existing prior to this Agreement.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF REGIS IDEC,	:
SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOROUGH OF ROSELLE,	:	DECISION
UNION COUNTY.	:

The record of this matter and the initial decision incorporating a joint stipulation of settlement issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed.

The Commissioner is unable to accept the written settlement agreement in its present form in that the language of such agreement, on its face (Terms 1 and 10), specifies that the settlement, although signed by the Board President and Board Secretary, requires final ratification by the Board. In the absence of any indication in the record that ratification had been accomplished, such language, making settlement contingent upon ratification of the Board reveals that the settlement is not "fully dispositive of all issues in controversy" as required under N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1(b). In that the Commissioner's approval would render this agreement a final decision pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1(d), the Commissioner finds that accord to its terms by all necessary entities must be accomplished prior to the Commissioner's approval of the settlement.[1]

[1]In that the parties' settlement agreement in this matter was acceptable, apart from the absence of any indication in the record of its ratification by the Board, the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes on two occasions (May 7, 1999 and May 19, 1999) contacted the office of counsel for the Board and requested that counsel submit a short note to the record indicating that such ratification had been accomplished. Counsel neither returned the calls nor supplied the necessary document, thereby necessitating remand of this matter.

Accordingly, this matter is remanded to the OAL for revision of the settlement terms or other appropriate action in light of this decision.[2]

IT IS SO ORDERED.

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

[2]This decision, as the Commissioner's final determination in the instant matter, may be appealed to the State Board of Education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-27 et seq. and N.J.A.C. 6:2-1.1 et seq., within 30 days of its filing. Commissioner decisions are deemed filed three days after the date of mailing to the parties.

The record of this matter, the settlement agreement and the initial decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed.

Upon review, the Commissioner finds that he cannot accept the proposed settlement in its present form. Notwithstanding that the parties have spread the terms of the settlement on the record pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, the Commissioner finds that he is unable to provide a meaningful review of these terms, where the record is devoid of any factual context within which to consider them. Additionally, the Commissioner notes that term 6, on its face, indicates that the settlement may not have been approved by the Board, and there is no indication of such approval elsewhere in the record. This circumstance could prevent the settlement from being "fully dispositive of all issues in controversy" as required by N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1(b). In that the Commissioner's approval would render this agreement a final decision pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1(d)2, the Commissioner finds that accord to its terms by all necessary entities must be accomplished prior to his approval of the settlement.

Accordingly, the proposed settlement is rejected, and the Commissioner remands this matter to the Office of Administrative Law for revision of the documents and expansion of the record, consistent with the concerns herein expressed. If the parties are unwilling or unable to reach accord on a modified agreement for submission to the Commissioner, this matter shall proceed to a plenary hearing on the merits.*

SYNOPSIS

Petitioning Board alleged respondent Board failed to make tuition payments in accordance with their sending-receiving relationship. In cross-petition, respondent challenged petitioner's tuition calculations. Original petition and cross-petition issues were resolved between the parties. Remaining issues were the proper method of calculation for building use charges as a component of tuition, the correct amount of tuition due for certain school years and for which years building use charges might be applied.

ALJ granted petitioner's motion for summary decision and denied respondent's cross-motion for summary decision. ALJ noted the terms of the contract were dictated by regulation and the provisions were pre-printed on a form prepared by the Commissioner and required to be used by the parties. Moreover, ALJ determined that petitioner sought only to be compensated for the services it provided in an amount equal to its actual per pupil costs and it was not unreasonable to expect respondent to pay the full cost of educating its own students. ALJ found respondent suffered no prejudice whatsoever from the omission of the building use charge in the estimated calculations since respondent had the time value of the additional monies.

Commissioner adopted findings and determination in initial decision as his own, including the approval of the parties' settlement agreement with respect to certain issues raised by the petition.

BEFORE M. KATHLEEN DUNCAN, ALJ:

This matter commenced on November 12, 1997, when the Board of Education of the Borough of Spotswood (hereinafter petitioner) filed a petition of appeal seeking an order from the Commissioner of Education that the Board of Education of the Borough of Milltown (hereinafter respondent) failed to make tuition payments in accordance with the sending/receiving relationship in violation of law. On November 19, 1997, respondent filed an answer, cross-petition and third-party complaint against the Commissioner of Education. The cross-petition challenged petitioner's tuition calculations. Petitioner filed an answer to the cross-petition on December 18, 1997. By ruling entered January 8, 1998, then Assistant Commissioner David C. Hespe granted the motion of Deputy Attorney General Arlene Lutz to dismiss the Commissioner as a third-party respondent, and on January 16, 1998, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

---

* Extensions of time were requested and granted pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c).

A prehearing conference was conducted on May 13, 1998 at which time it was noted that most of the issues raised in the original petition and cross-petition had been resolved between the parties and identified the following remaining issues for determination:

1. What is the proper method of calculation for building use charges as a component of tuition?

2. What is the correct amount of tuition due for school years 1994-95,* 1995-96, 1996-97, 1997-98 and 1998-99?

    (a) For which years may building use charges be applied?

On July 14, 1998, the parties filed a joint stipulation of facts, included in which was their executed settlement agreement with the regard to the issues which had been resolved. That agreement is attached hereto and incorporated herein as if set forth herein at length. The parties filed cross-motions for summary decision on or about July 29, 1998. Petitioner's reply brief was filed on August 18, 1998. Respondent's reply brief was filed on August 20, 1998. By letter dated August 26, 1998, petitioner objected to certain comments in respondent's reply which appeared to reply to petitioner's reply brief rather than to petitioner's initial brief and filed a separate reply on its own behalf also dated August 26, 1998. Oral argument was conducted by telephone conference call on October 20, 1998. An additional document which had been missing from the joint stipulations previously filed was forwarded and was received on October 21, 1998, whereupon the record closed.

* After the prehearing conference, the parties reached a settlement agreement with respect to the 1994-95 school year. See signed agreement attached hereto.

FINDINGS OF FACT

The parties have provided the following joint stipulation of facts:

1. The Board of Education of the Borough of Spotswood ("Spotswood") is the body politic responsible for the operation of public schools in the Borough of Spotswood.

2. The Board of Education of the Borough of Milltown ("Milltown") is the body politic responsible for the operation of public schools in the Borough of Milltown.

3. Milltown and Spotswood have maintained a sending/receiving relationship pursuant to which Milltown sends and Spotswood receives high school students, grades 9 through 12, inclusive. The sending/receiving relationship has been in existence for approximately 20 years.

4. During the school year 1994/1995, the estimated tuition rate for the Milltown students, as calculated by Spotswood, did not include a component for a building use charge calculated in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6:20-3.1(d)(6).

5. During the school year 1995/1996, the estimated tuition rate for the Milltown students, as calculated by Spotswood, did not include a component for a building use charge calculated in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6:20-3.1(d)(6).

6. During the school year 1996/1997, the estimated tuition rate for the Milltown students, as calculated by Spotswood, did not include a component for a building use charge calculated in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6:20-3.1(d)(6).

7. During the school year 1997/1998, the estimated tuition rate for the Milltown students, as calculated by Spotswood, did not include a component for a building use charge calculated in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6:20-3.1(d)(6).

8. During the school year 1998/1999, the estimated tuition rate for the Milltown students, as calculated by Spotswood, did include a component for a building use charge calculated in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6:20-3.1(d)(6).

9. Building use charge represents the amount of interest not covered by State aid (i.e., the amount paid from the local tax levy) and is determined according to N.J.A.C. 6:20-3.1(d)(6).

10. Attached are the following tuition contract agreements between Spotswood and Milltown:

Exhibit 1 = 1994-1995 tuition contract agreement for Milltown students grades 9-12.

Exhibit 2 - 1994-1995 tuition contract agreement for Milltown's neurologically impaired students.

Exhibit 3 = 1995-1996 tuition contract agreement for Milltown students grades 9-12.

Exhibit 4 = 1995-1996 tuition contract agreement for Milltown's neurologically impaired students.

Exhibit 5 = 1996-1997 tuition contract agreement for Milltown students grades 9-12.

Exhibit 6 = 1996-1997 tuition contract agreement for Milltown's neurologically impaired students.

11. The Commissioner of Education certified the 1994-1995 actual per pupil costs in Spotswood pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:20-3.1. See Exhibit 7.

12. The Commissioner of Education certified the 1995-1996 actual per pupil costs in Spotswood pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:20-3.1. See Exhibit 8.

13. Exhibit 9 is the Settlement Agreement between the parties resolving certain aspects of this case.

14. Exhibit 10 is the Department of Education worksheet and instructions for estimating costs per pupil for tuition purposes for 1998-1999.

15. Exhibit 11 is the Department of Education instructions for completing the 1995-1996 ACTUAL COST PER PUPIL REPORT.

16. Exhibit 12 is the Department of Education instructions for completing the 1996-1997 ACTUAL COST PER PUPIL REPORT.

17. Spotswood has incurred interest on debt service not supported by State aid.

18. Exhibit 13 are forms A4-1, A4-2, accompanying Allocation Method Support Document and Instructions for completing these forms for 1995-1996. These forms were submitted to the Department of Education in August of 1997.

19. Exhibit 14 are forms A4-1, A4-2 and accompanying Allocation Method Support Documents for 1996-1997.

Actual per pupil costs as certified by the Commissioner have exceeded tentative or estimated costs per pupil. Tentative costs vs. actual costs for the year which has already been calculated were as follows: Grades 9-12, 1995-96, $7900/$8282; Neurologically Impaired Students, 1995-96, $10,175/17,850. Each of the executed contracts contains the same provisions with respect to reimbursement or additional payments:

4a. In the event that it is later determined that the tentative tuition charge was greater than the "actual cost per pupil" as certified by the commissioner multiplied by the actual average daily enrollment received, the RECEIVING DISTRICT will return the excess amount to the SENDING DISTRICT no later than the end of the third school year following this contract year. The RECEIVING DISTRICT has the option to pay such excess amount or to credit such excess amount to the SENDING DISTRICT in accordance with the following payment schedule: (Insert day and month payment or credit is due) and (insert percentage of payment or credit due).

4b. In the event that it is later determined that the tentative tuition charge was less than the "actual cost per pupil" as certified by the commissioner multiplied by the actual daily enrollment received, the RECEIVING DISTRICT will charge the SENDING DISTRICT no later than the end of the third school year following the contract year the amount owed as follows:

CHECK ONE ONLY

☐ All of the amount owed.

☐ None of the amount owed.

☒ Part of the amount owed as indicated in this space. 50% September 1998 & February 1999.
The SENDING DISTRICT will pay any amount owed to the RECEIVING DISTRICT in accordance with the following payment schedule: (Insert day and month payment is due) and (insert percentage of payment due).

Printed directions issued by the New Jersey Department of Education for calculating estimated tuition charges contain a specific reference to a building use charge and provide in pertinent part:

> A building use charge should be included, if applicable, which represents the interest portion of debt services not supported by state aid. Determine the percentage of state aid to total debt service (principal and interest), multiply the total debt service interest by the % of state aid and subtract the product from the total debt service interest to determine the building use charge. This amount should be included on an actual or equitable basis of allocation of your choice to the affected categories or use the ratios on line 2b to distribute this total in columns (A) through (K).

APPLICABLE LAW AND DISCUSSION

The once classic statement of the standard for granting or denying summary judgment set forth in Judson v. Peoples Bank and Trust Co. of Westfield, 17 N.J. 67 (1954), was recently modified in Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of America, 142 N.J. 520 (1995). Therein the Court held that the standard to be applied is now the same as the standard for determining motions for involuntary dismissal under R. 4:37-2(b) and for determining motions for judgment under R. 4:40-1 and R. 4:40-2. Trial courts considering motions for summary judgment are now required to engage in the same type of evaluation, analysis or sifting of evidential materials in light of the burden of persuasion that applies if the matter goes to trial. The Court explained:

> Under this new standard, a determination whether there exists a "genuine issue" of material fact that precludes summary judgment requires the motion judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to permit a rational factfinder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party. The "judge's function is not himself [or herself] to weigh the evidence and determine the truth of the matter but to determine whether there is a genuine issue for trial.". . . Credibility determinations will continue to be made by a jury and not a judge. If there exists a single, unavoidable resolution of the alleged disputed issue of fact, that issue should be considered insufficient to constitute a "genuine" issue of material fact for purposes of Rule 4:46-2. . . . The import of our holding is that when the evidence "is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law, . . ., the trial court should not hesitate to grant summary judgment. (citations omitted) Id. at 540.

The Court noted that to send a case to trial knowing that a rational decision-maker could reach but one conclusion was indeed "worthless" and would "serve no useful purpose." The purpose of this new standard, the decision explained, was to encourage trial courts not to refrain from granting summary judgment when the proper circumstances present themselves.

In the present matter, the parties stipulate that none of the material facts are in dispute and accordingly, this matter is ripe for summary decision.

N.J.S.A. 18A:38-19, the statute relevant to a determination in this matter, makes it perfectly clear that respondent is required to pay tuition to petitioner in:

> . . . an amount not in excess of the actual cost per pupil as determined under rules prescribed by the Commissioner and approved by the State Board . . .

The rules for determining tuition rates for regular public schools appear at N.J.A.C. 6:20-3.1 to 3.4. These rules provide for the receiving district to establish a tentative charge for budgetary purposes by written contractual agreement between the receiving district board and the sending district board. Such charges are not to exceed the receiving district's estimated cost per pupil for the ensuing school year for the purpose or purposes for which tuition is being charged, and the written contract is required to be on a form prepared by the Commissioner. N.J.A.C. 6:20-3.1(e). The rules and regulations do not instruct boards concerning how to go about setting the tentative tuition charge or estimating the cost per pupil for the ensuing school year. The regulations do provide for a copy of the receiving district's calculations to determine the estimated cost per pupil to be sent to the sending district on a form prepared by the Commissioner. In accordance with this regulatory scheme, after the conclusion of the school year in question the Commissioner determines the "actual cost per pupil." Two methods for calculating the "actual cost per pupil" are set forth in the regulations. Both methods include building use charges as a component. When the Commissioner's later determination reveals that the tentative tuition charge established by the written contractual agreement was greater than the actual cost per pupil during the school year, "the receiving district board of education shall return to the sending district board of education in the third school year following the contract year the amount by which the tentative charge exceeded the actual charge. . . ." N.J.A.C. 6:20-3.1(e)3. The regulations also provide that if the Commissioner later determines that the tentative charge established by written contractual agreement was less than the actual cost per pupil during the school year, "the receiving district board of education may charge the sending district board of education all or part of the amount owed by the sending district board of education, to be paid during the third school year following the school year for which the tentative charge was paid." N.J.A.C. 6:20-3.1(e)4.

It is respondent's position herein that it should not have to pay to petitioner the difference between the tentative tuition charge in the contract and the actual cost per pupil because petitioner failed to include in its estimated calculations the building use charge which the Commissioner, in accordance with the regulation, included in the actual cost per pupil. Respondent asserts that it relied upon the absence of a building use charge in the estimated cost calculations and petitioner should therefore be estopped from requiring payment for the difference attributable to utilization by the Commissioner of a building use charge in his calculations. Respondent also notes the difference between the mandatory language "shall return" in N.J.A.C. 6:20-3.1(e)3 and the discretionary language "may charge" in N.J.A.C. 6:20-3.1(e)4, and argues, "In this language the Commissioner clearly recognizes a distinction between the underestimation and the overestimation of tentative tuition."

The main problem with any of these arguments, however, is the mandatory nature of the language utilized in the contract paragraph quoted hereinabove in the findings of fact section which provides that the receiving district (petitioner) "will charge" the sending district (respondent) in the third school year following the contract year the amount owed, and in each instance the contract has box three checked which indicates that the charges will be for part of the amount owed, 50% in September and 50% the following February. None of the contracts for the relevant time periods in this matter indicate box two, "none of the amount owed" as the option.

Petitioner objects to the comments in respondent's initial brief that prior to the 1997-98 school year there were no contract discussions related to building use charge as a component of the tuition. Such allegations are outside the record of stipulated facts, petitioner argues. The allegation of no discussion or disclosure, however, does not benefit respondent or advance respondent's estoppel argument, however. If there had been discussions concerning building use charges and the charges had nevertheless then been omitted from the estimated cost, there might be some argument that petitioner should later be estopped from collecting for differences attributable to building use charges in the actual per pupil cost. Although respondent asserts that this was a deliberate omission on petitioner's part, and one upon which respondent had the right to rely, what possible reason petitioner could have had for intentionally deciding to be paid later rather than sooner for the services it was providing, escapes me. As the record stands, however, it is not possible to determine whether the omission in the estimated cost calculations was intentional or unintentional, nor does it matter to the ultimate determination of the issue, because the clear terms of the written contract provide that petitioner will charge and respondent will pay in the third calendar year after the contract year the difference between estimated and actual.

Although respondent complains that it relied to its detriment on the absence of the building use charge in the estimated calculations, in fact the omission actually worked to respondent's benefit in that respondent did not have to pay the full cost of educating its children in petitioner's schools until three years after the fact. Respondent's arguments that petitioner unlawfully seeks to modify an existing contract by the inclusion of a material economic term retroactively are likewise without merit. The terms of the contract are dictated by law and the provisions are pre-printed on a form prepared by the Commissioner and required to be used by the parties. Petitioner herein seeks only to be compensated for the services it provided in an amount equal to its actual per pupil costs. Not only is it not unreasonable to expect respondent to pay the full cost of educating its own students, but respondent has suffered no prejudice whatsoever from the omission of the building use charge in the estimated calculations. As noted, respondent has had the time value of the additional monies.

For all of the foregoing reasons, petitioner's motion for summary decision is GRANTED. Respondent's cross-motion for summary decision is DENIED and the within proceedings are hereby concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, P. O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

WHEREAS, the Board of Education of the Borough of Spotswood (hereafter "SPOTSWOOD") has had with the Board of Education of the Borough of Milltown (hereafter "MILLTOWN"), and with the Board of Education of the Borough of Helmetta (hereafter "HELMETTA") long-term sending-receiving relationships, wherein MILLTOWN has sent its students for grades 9 through 12 to SPOTSWOOD and HELMETTA has sent its students for grades K through 12 to SPOTSWOOD; and

WHEREAS, certain disputes regarding tuition have arisen between the respective Boards; and

WHEREAS, SPOTSWOOD commenced litigation against MILLTOWN, with the matter bearing Commissioner of Education Docket No. 446-11/97 and Office of Administrative Law Docket No.: EDUOT 0197-98S, with respect to tuition payments due for the 1997-1998 school year, execution of appropriate tuition contract agreements, tuition adjustment payments for the 1994-1995 school year and related matters; and

WHEREAS, MILLTOWN filed an Answer, Cross Petition and Third Party Complaint; and

WHEREAS, in the above-referenced matter, MILLTOWN filed a Notice of Motion seeking to restrain SPOTSWOOD from utilizing its 1997-1998 tuition calculation formula for the 1998-1999 school year; and

WHEREAS, the parties wish to settle their differences;

IT IS, THEREFORE, on this day of May, 1998, for and in consideration of the mutual promises, covenants and agreements contained herein, agreed by and between SPOTSWOOD, MILLTOWN and HELMETTA as follows:

1. SPOTSWOOD's Petition shall be dismissed with prejudice.

2. The MILLTOWN Cross-Petition shall be dismissed with prejudice with respect to all aspects, except those underlying the pending Notice of Motion regarding the calculation of the 1998-1999 school year tentative tuition rate, filed by MILLTOWN insofar as it relates to the inclusion of building use charges in the calculation of tuition rates for the school years 1995-1996 through 1998-1999 inclusive.

3. The 1995-1996 tuition rate for Milltown regular education students attending Spotswood High School is established at $8,234.00, inclusive of building use charges, and $15,143.00, inclusive of building use charges for neurologically impaired students.

4. The 1995-1996 tuition rate(s) for HELMETTA students attending the SPOTSWOOD schools is:

Preschool Handicapped Students	$ 2,724
Neurologically Impaired Students	$15,143
Perceptually Impaired Students	$11,138
Kindergarten Students	$ 5,619
Grades 1 - 5 Students	$ 5,988
Grades 6 - 8 Students	$ 7,125
Grades 9 - 12 Students	$ 8,234

5. MILLTOWN sent 220.9 students and 5.1 neurologically impaired students to Spotswood High School during the 1995-1996 school year. MILLTOWN has paid for the 1995-1996 school year the sum of $1,917,500.00 and, thus, it is agreed that MILLTOWN is entitled to a refund from SPOTSWOOD of $21,430.10, inclusive of building use charges.

6. The 1998-1999 budgets for the Spotswood and Milltown school districts will reflect a payment due from SPOTSWOOD to MILLTOWN in the amount of $21,430.10 representing the refund referenced in the preceding paragraph.

7. HELMETTA sent to SPOTSWOOD during the 1995-1996 school year:

Preschool Handicapped Students	1.1
Neurologically Impaired Students	2.7
Perceptually Impaired Students	2.0
Kindergarten Students	15.1
Grades 1 - 5 Students	88.8
Grades 6 - 8 Students	36.5
Grades 9 - 12 Students	51.8

HELMETTA has paid for the 1995-1996 school year $1,421,445.00 and it is agreed that HELMETTA is entitled to a refund from SPOTSWOOD of $52,121.50, inclusive of building use charges.

8. SPOTSWOOD and MILLTOWN attorneys will seek, in the pending proceeding, a determination from the Office of Administrative Law and Commissioner of Education as to whether SPOTSWOOD properly charged MILLTOWN a building use charge in the amount of $184 per student for the 1995-1996 school year. Should the determination be that a building use charge was not permitted, SPOTSWOOD will repay to MILLTOWN the sum of $41,584.00, after entry of final decision and any applicable appeals. Should it be determined that SPOTSWOOD was entitled to collect the aforesaid building use charge, there will be no further refund for the 1995-1996 school year, except for the $21,430.10 refund set forth in paragraphs 5 and 6 above.

9. In arriving at the within settlement, the Business Administrators of SPOTSWOOD and MILLTOWN, and the HELMETTA Board Secretary distributed actual 1995-1996 costs and reviewed vouchers to support expenditures and distribution to proper accounts, salary lists (by name) and health benefits (by name), verified job assignments, grade assignments and year-end student registration.

10. The SPOTSWOOD and MILLTOWN and Business Administrators and the HELMETTA Board Secretary will meet as soon as feasible (but no later than two weeks from signing of this Agreement by all parties) to establish the actual tuition rate to be charged by SPOTSWOOD to MILLTOWN and HELMETTA and the number of students sent by MILLTOWN and HELMETTA to SPOTSWOOD for the 1996-1997 school year. In establishing the tuition rate, the districts will use the same methods and procedures that were used in resolving the agreed upon tuition rate for the 1995-1996 school year, as set forth above. This tuition rate shall be subject to certification by the Commissioner of Education.

11. The SPOTSWOOD and MILLTOWN, Business Administrators and the HELMETTA Board Secretary, will meet each year, at least three (3) weeks before the date established for County approval of initial budget submission, to determine estimated tuition rates using the information that is to be provided pursuant to the following paragraph 12, as well as the same ratios and allowances set forth in the immediately preceding school year's Commissioner of Education forms A4-1/A4-2 (or equivalent Commissioner of Education promulgated forms).

12. At least three (3) weeks before the date established for County approval of initial budget submission, SPOTSWOOD will provide to MILLTOWN and HELMETTA a list (by name) with job assignments, annual salary, and health benefits, with the exception of those employees about whose positions such information may not be provided in accordance with statute, regulation, or Executive Order, for the currently proposed budget, and the SPOTSWOOD and MILLTOWN Business Administrators and the HELMETTA Board Secretary will agree upon the pupil count (for MILLTOWN, HELMETTA and SPOTSWOOD students) on or before January 15 of each year.

13. The procedures outlined above are intended to create an amicable basis from which tuition calculations can be estimated on an annual basis. The procedures are subject to modification as required by statutory, regulatory or case law changes (including tuition calculation formulae).

14. The Commissioner of Education shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine any controversies or disputes which may arise with respect to the aforesaid procedures or any other aspect of this Agreement.

15. The above referenced case (Commissioner of Education Docket No. 446-11/97 and Office of Administrative Law Docket No.: EDUOT 0197-98S) shall continue for the purposes of obtaining an administrative determination concerning the validity of building use charges being applied by SPOTSWOOD in calculating MILLTOWN tuition for the 1995-1996, 1996-1997, and the 1997-1998 school years, as well as a similar determination for building use charges for the 1998-1999 school year and all succeeding school years.

16. SPOTSWOOD has advised MILLTOWN and HELMETTA, and MILLTOWN and HELMETTA acknowledge, that SPOTSWOOD has included an estimated building use charge in the 1998-1999 school year tuition estimate.

17. MILLTOWN will promptly pay to SPOTSWOOD the sums that have been withheld from SPOTSWOOD for the 1997-1998 school year tuition, as calculated by SPOTSWOOD following the MILLTOWN April 7, 1998 Board meeting. The balance of 1997-1998 tuition will be paid in regular installments, in accord with current practices, and adjusted as needed, so that MILLTOWN will pay for the 1997-1998 school year to SPOTSWOOD the sum of $8,043.00 for regular education students and $11,874.00 for neurologically impaired students.

18. The parties, for the 1996-1997 year, achieved agreement as to the allocation of expenditures for Program #219 of the "UNIFORM MINIMUM CHART OF ACCOUNTS" promulgated by the Commissioner of Education. The parties agree to use the same method for the allocation of expenditures for all succeeding school years for Program #219 of the "UNIFORM MINIMUM CHART OF ACCOUNTS", or such amendments or modifications as may be directed from time to time by the Commissioner of Education.

19. Immediately upon signing of this Agreement, SPOTSWOOD and MILLTOWN will execute, on forms prepared by the Commissioner of Education, as supplemented by this Agreement, written contractual agreements for tentative tuition charges required pursuant to NJAC 6:20-3.1(e) for the 1996-1997, 1997-1998, and 1998-1999 school years.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF SPOTSWOOD, MIDDLESEX COUNTY,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF MILLTOWN, MIDDLESEX COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. The exceptions filed by respondent Board of Education of the Borough of Milltown (hereinafter, "Milltown") and the reply of petitioner Board of Education of the Borough of Spotswood (hereinafter, "Spotswood") were submitted in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4.

Milltown initially excepts to the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) finding that the contract(s) signed by the parties "mandated the inclusion of a building use charge in the parties' tuition agreement, at page 9 of [the initial] decision." (Milltown's Exceptions at p. 1) Milltown argues that it was erroneous for the ALJ to conclude that the language in the contract indicating that Spotswood "will charge" the sending district for underestimated costs should supersede "the practice and conduct of Spotswood in omitting the building use charge." (Id. at p. 2) Rather, Milltown maintains that this repayment provision > relates to those component elements of the initial tuition identified and contained in the estimated tuition rate and not to > additional components not even identified in the estimated rate charge. (Id.)

Milltown reasons that the ALJ's broadening of Spotswood's legal ability to charge for components which were not identified in the tentative tuition charge violates elementary contract law principles. (Id.) In this regard, Milltown argues that the parties' failure to include a category for building use charges within tuition calculations "was a significant omission," and Spotswood should, therefore, be estopped from later adding this charge. (Id. at p. 3)

Milltown next asserts that the ALJ improperly dismissed, as nonmaterial, the issue of whether Spotswood's omission of the building use charges in its estimated costs was intentional. (Id. at p. 4) Here, it underscores that the parties' stipulations did not include facts as to Spotswood's intention with regard to these charges. Milltown argues that > [i]f Spotswood in fact deliberately omitted the building use charge from its initial tuition calculation in order to entice Milltown to continue its sending/receiving relationship based upon misrepresented and understated tuition figures, the state of mind of Spotswood was a relevant and material issue which should have legally compelled a hearing. (Id. at p. 4)

Thus, Milltown reasons that the ALJ's finding at page nine of the initial decision that such intent was actually without consequence in this matter is erroneous. It asserts, to the contrary, that its estoppel argument would be strengthened by a finding that Spotswood deliberately misrepresented its estimated costs. (Id.)

Finally, Milltown contends that the ALJ improperly found that the mandatory contractual language supersedes the permissive language found in the regulations at N.J.A.C. 6:20-3.1(e)4 with respect to a receiving district's authority to charge a sending district for underestimated costs. Milltown argues that, as a matter of public policy, a contract should not modify the terms of the administrative code. (Id. at p. 7)

In its reply, Spotswood counters that it should not be estopped from seeking payment for the building use charges at issue, underscoring that equitable estoppel is rarely applied to public bodies, so as not to frustrate legislative policy. (Spotswood's Reply at p. 5) Spotswood also argues that the application of equitable estoppel requires a finding that Milltown reasonably relied, to its prejudice, on Spotswood's conduct, a standard which does not apply herein. (Id. at p. 6) Milltown does not allege, according to Spotswood, that Spotswood took any action which would form the basis of an estoppel argument. To the extent Spotswood was silent on the issue of building use charges, and its silence might form the basis of an estoppel argument, Spotswood argues:

> There is no duty imposed by the sending-receiving tuition statutes or regulations that required Spotswood to identify with specificity the items comprising the tentative tuition charge Milltown agreed to pay. Indeed, the very designation of the tuition charge as tentative is inconsistent with such a duty. (Id.; emphasis in text)

Moreover, Spotswood warrants that there is nothing in the Stipulated Set of Facts to support Milltown's assertion that it has suffered or changed its course of conduct based on Spotswood's action or inaction. (Id. at p. 7)

With respect to Milltown's contention that the ALJ improperly dismissed its argument that Spotswood's omission of the building use charge in its estimated tuition rates was a deliberate misrepresentation, Spotswood argues that Milltown's Cross-Petition never raised such an allegation; neither was the allegation raised at the prehearing conference. Further, since the allegation was not contained in the Stipulation of Facts, Spotswood urges that it cannot now form the basis of an exception. (Id. at p. 11) Spotswood views Milltown's claims in this regard as "unsubstantiated and unsworn assertions " which cannot defeat a motion for summary judgment. (Id. at pp. 11-12) Since Spotswood maintains that equitable estoppel is inapplicable, it concludes that Milltown's "intent" claim is legally immaterial.

Finally, Spotswood counters that the initial decision does not permit the parties' tuition contracts to modify the New Jersey Administrative Code, as Milltown so urges, stating:

> It is irrelevant that Spotswood is not required by law to charge Milltown the difference between the tuition Milltown paid and the correct tuition amount based upon actual costs per pupil. There is nothing in the regulatory scheme that prohibits Spotswood from collecting proper tuition amounts for Milltown's students.  A sending district may be required by the receiving district to pay tuition charges up to the actual cost per pupil certified by the Commissioner of Education. The tuition contracts memorialized this arrangement. (Id. at p. 15)

Spotswood contends that, while the law requires districts in sending-receiving relationships to negotiate a tentative tuition charge, it does not specify the components of that charge. Nor does the law compel a receiving district to set the highest estimated tuition charge possible. (Id. at p. 16) Thus, Spotswood concludes that Milltown has underpaid its tuition, and now seeks a windfall. (Id. at p. 15)

Upon careful and independent review, the Commissioner determines to affirm the initial decision of the ALJ, with amplification as set forth herein. Initially, the Commissioner notes that a tentative tuition charge shall be established by written contractual agreement between a receiving district board of education and a sending district board of education; the tentative charge shall equal the district's estimated cost per pupil for the ensuing year. N.J.A.C. 6:20-3.1(e). Additionally, the pertinent regulations permit, but do not require, a receiving district to charge a sending district for either all or part of the money owed when it is determined that the tentative charge established by written contractual agreement was less than the actual cost per pupil during the school year. N.J.A.C. 6:20-3.1(e)4.

On a form prepared by the Commissioner, N.J.A.C. 6:20-3.1(e), the parties herein agreed that, in the event it is determined that the tentative tuition charge was less than the actual cost per pupil, as certified by the Commissioner, Spotswood will charge Milltown in the third year following the contract year, the amount owed, and Milltown will pay the full amount in accordance with a specified payment schedule. (Initial Decision at pp. 5-6, 9) As the ALJ noted, the contract permits the parties the option to check the second box under paragraph 4b, indicating that a sending district would not be charged with any tuition differential, or to insert language beside and/or under the third box of paragraph 4b, which provides for repayment of part of the money owed. (Id. at p. 6) However, in the contracts at issue, the third box was checked and Milltown agreed it "will pay" the full amount in two equal payments.[1] (Exhibits 3 and 5[2]) The Commissioner, therefore, rejects Milltown's assertion that the initial decision signifies that the terms of the contract supersede the administrative code. Clearly, the applicable regulations permit Spotswood to forego charging Milltown where tentative costs are found to be underestimated; the parties, however, agreed to terms which provided otherwise.

As for Milltown's contention that Spotswood should now be estopped from including in its tuition charge a component expense which had not been included in its tuition calculations for the 1994-95, 1995-96, 1996-97 and 1997-98 school years, the Commissioner recognizes that

> Equitable estoppel is generally defined as "the effect of the voluntary conduct of a party whereby he is absolutely precluded, both at law and in equity, from asserting rights which might perhaps have otherwise existed, either of property, of contract, or of remedy, as against another person who has in good faith relied upon such conduct, and has been led thereby to change his position for the worse, and who on his part acquires some corresponding right, either of property, of contract, or of remedy." Miller v. Teachers' Pension & Annuity Fund, 179 N.J. Super. 473, 476 (App. Div.), certif. denied 88 N.J. 502 (1981). (emphasis added)

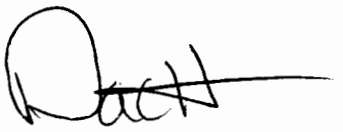
[1] It is herein noted that, for the 1995-96 school year, the parties signed an agreement which provided that the amount owed would be paid as follows: "50% Spetember (sic) 1998 & February 1999." (Exhibit 3) Although this language may be read to provide only for a 50% recoupment for Spotswood, Milltown never asserts that the language should be so read, and never disputes the ALJ's interpretation on page nine of the initial decision that there would be a 50% payment in September of 1998 and a 50% payment in February 1999.

[2] The tuition contracts for Milltown's neurologically impaired students are slightly different from those for the students in grades 9-12. There, the repayment language and options for repayment are found at paragraph 4d.

Although Milltown asserts that it was entitled to reasonably rely upon the absence of a building use charge as a component of the tuition (Milltown's Exceptions at p. 2), nowhere does Milltown identify how it was harmed by such reliance, or how it "changed its position for the worse" by relying upon the absence of building use charges in prior calculations. In this regard, as the ALJ properly stated, "respondent has suffered no prejudice whatsoever from the omission of the building use charge in the estimated calculations. As noted, respondent has had the time value of the additional monies." (Initial Decision at p. 10) Under these circumstances, the Commissioner, like the ALJ, finds no cause to invoke principles of equitable estoppel, or to compel further fact-finding with respect to Milltown's claim that Spotswood deliberately omitted the building use charges from its calculations.

Accordingly, respondent's cross-petition is dismissed for the reasons expressed therein and amplified above. Additionally, the parties' settlement agreement, incorporated therein, is deemed a final decision with respect to those issues raised by the Petition of Appeal, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, except that said agreement shall not be construed to confer jurisdiction upon the Commissioner with respect to any matter he would not otherwise maintain the authority to review and adjudicate.[3]

IT IS SO ORDERED.



COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

[3] This decision, as the Commissioner's final determination in the instant matter, may be appealed to the State Board of Education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-27 et seq. and N.J.A.C. 6:2-1.1 et seq., within 30 days of its filing. Commissioner decisions are deemed filed three days after the date of mailing to the parties.

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
OAL Docket No. EDUTH 05980-97N

In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of

MICHAEL COVELLO

VOLUNTARY SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT, WAIVER AND RELEASE

The State-Operated School District of the City of Newark ("Newark" or "District") and Michael Covello ("Covello"), agree to the following terms in full resolution of this matter:

WHEREAS, Covello disputes the allegations of the tenures charges, and

WHEREAS, investigation of the charges does not support a claim of fraudulent conduct by Covello, as he was performing those duties assigned by his building principal, and

WHEREAS, the charges of unbecoming conduct are disputed by Covello and independent corroboration of the allegations is unavailable; and

WHEREAS, the parties agree that it is in the public interest to enter into this agreement in resolution of said charges in order to avoid the uncertainty and expense of litigation, and

WHEREAS, the parties further agree that the terms of this agreement will not present any risk of harm to students and/or the safe operation of the school district,

NOW, THEREFORE, the parties agree as follows:

1. Covello agrees to submit to the District, in writing and upon approval of this Agreement by the State District Superintendent and the Commissioner of Education, a resignation from his employment effective June 30, 1999. Upon his resignation, Covello shall be entitled to payment for his accrued leave time to the extent provided for in the collective bargaining agreement governing Covello's employment.

2. Covello shall be placed on paid administrative leave for the period from the effective date of this Settlement Agreement through June 30, 1999.

3. If and when Covello files an application for retirement with the Division on Pensions, the District shall assist in completing the necessary paperwork to process said application. However, the District makes no representations with respect to how Covello's pension shall be handled by the Division on Pensions and action on said pension shall not affect the resignation referenced in paragraph 1. In addition, the District shall not be liable to Covello and Covello holds the District harmless with respect to any pension benefits which Covello does or does not receive at any time in the future.

4. Covello acknowledges that the payments reflected in this agreement constitute the full financial obligation of the District and that he shall receive no additional payments. In exchange for the above consideration, Covello, on behalf of himself, his heirs, successors and assigns, hereby fully releases and forever discharges the District, its representatives, agents, officers and employees, for any and all actions, claims and liabilities of whatsoever kind in character, that he has had or may now have against any of them, including without limitation, any and all claims related to his employment with the District or the termination of that employment. Correspondingly, the Dis' t hereby releases and forever discharges Covello for any and all actions, claims and liabilities of whatsoever kind or character that it has had or may now have against him, excepting only cross-claims generated by virtue of claims made against the District based solely on the past conduct of Covello and for which the District may otherwise be held liable.

5. Covello acknowledges as required under In re Cardonick, that despite the approval of this agreement, the issue of possible revocation of his teaching certificate may be considered by the State Board of Examiners.

6. This agreement is subject to the approval of the State District Superintendent and the Commissioner of Education. Upon approval of this agreement, the District agrees that the tenure charges against Covello shall be withdrawn.

7. The parties agree to keep this litigation and its settlement confidential. Neither party shall reveal (unless otherwise ordered by a Court of competent jurisdiction) either orally or in writing, the existence of the filed charges or their contents or the terms of settlement of them. In addition, the District shall respond to all inquiries concerning Covello and/or his employment in the District by stating (only to legitimate inquirers) only that he was employed in the District as an elementary teacher and a basic skills teacher and an athletic coach for such period as he was so employed and that, during school year 1997-98 he was accorded a paid administrative leave. Information about his salary level may also be supplied if asked for by a prospective employer. All inquiries concerning Covello shall be channeled to the District Superintendent and copies of all written responses to any such inquiries shall be supplied to Covello and information as to oral statements shall also be supplied to Covello on a timely basis.

Board certified tenure charges of incapacity and excessive absenteeism against respondent custodians.

The ALJ found that the stipulated absences of respondents have adversely affected the Board's ability to provide sanitary, clean and secure facilities and created a morale problem for other custodial staff who are subject to reassignment or demands for overtime or both. ALJ further found that respondents were incapacitated from performing their duties.

The Commissioner affirmed the initial decision of the ALJ. Respondents were dismissed from their positions as tenured custodians.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE HEARING OF THEODORE PRUSAKOWSKI, SCHOOL DISTRICT OF LAWRENCE TOWNSHIP

James F. Schwerin, Esq., for petitioner (Carroll, Weiss & Josephson, attorneys)

Michael T. Barrett, Esq., for respondents (Bergman & Barrett, attorneys)

Record Closed: March 11, 1999 Decided: April 23, 1999

BEFORE BRUCE R. CAMPBELL, ALJ:

The Lawrence Township Board of Education (petitioner) has preferred tenure charges against Gregory Vereen and Theodore Prusakowski. The charges in each case are identical. Each employee is charged with incapacity and excessive absenteeism. These matters were opened before the Commissioner of Education and transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for determination as contested cases, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 through -13. After notice, a prehearing conference was held and, among other things, it was agreed that counsel would supply a joint stipulation of facts and that stipulation was timely filed.

The parties stipulate that Vereen has been employed by the Board as a custodian since October 22, 1979; that on or about June 6, 1996, Vereen suffered injuries to both knees while on the job; he has not performed any of his duties for the Board since that time; Vereen remained under active medical treatment authorized by the Board's Workers' Compensation carrier; Vereen's absences are related to the Workers' Compensation matter and Vereen's absence has affected the Board's ability to provide sanitary and secure physical facilities.

As to Prusakowski, the facts are similar, varying only in the dates and specifics of the injuries. Prusakowski has been employed since October 26, 1985 and was injured on December 5, 1994.

The Board asserts that the only issue remaining on the charges of excessive absenteeism is whether or not the stipulated extended absences of Vereen and Prusakowski have had a negative effect on the Board's ability to provide sanitary and secure facilities. The Board submits that it has demonstrated just such an effect through the testimony of Board Secretary/Business Administrator Nicholas Puleio and Director of Facilities and Property Bouldin Hitchcock.

The cases in which custodians have been terminated for excessive absenteeism reveal that only a minimal showing of effect on the district is sufficient to support dismissal under the standard established in Passaic Board of Education v. Vianni, 91 S.L.D. 2386, 2397. For example, in State-Operated School District of Paterson v. Watson, 93 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 362, the school district's statement that the absences "made it difficult to keep the building clean and further jeopardized the health and safety of the staff and student members of the school" sufficed without more. Id. at 366.

The Board's witnesses testified to the effect on the morale of the rest of the custodial staff from the frequent transfers of assignments created by the length of Vereen's absence. This blow to morale has previously been recognized as grounds for dismissal. In North Bergen Board of Education v. Siano, 97 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 631, the testimony was that the extended absence required use of other custodians to cover the area assigned to Siano or, if no one wanted to work overtime, another custodian would have to do the job, destroying morale. Further, the overtime custodian does not do the same job as the regularly scheduled person, who "has built a relationship with the teachers." Id. at 634. Sustaining the charges, the administrative law judge (ALJ) stated

> Respondent's absences adversely affected the school's ability to provide sanitary, clean and secure facilities as required, and created a morale problem for the other custodial staff. That being so, respondent's absences jeopardized the health and safety of the students and staff. Id. at 638

The Commissioner adopted the initial decision.

In Board of Education of Irvington v. Pearson, 97 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 329, testimony revealed that Pearson's absences required frequent modification of the schedules of other custodians resulting in the failure to have proper maintenance. There was also a significant amount of time devoted to rescheduling by the Head Custodian. Id. at 333.

> The record also clearly demonstrates that Pearson's absences have had a direct adverse impact on the cleanliness and safety of the High School, resulting in some custodial tasks not being performed on a regular basis. In addition, the schedule of other custodians had to be constantly modified because of Pearson's absences. Id. at 334.

In the present case, Hitchcock testified concerning the need to rearrange schedules of other custodians and to the fact that the performance level did not equal that of a regularly scheduled custodian who would take a more personal interest in the cleanliness of "his" school. Hitchcock also indicated cleanliness citations had been received from local authorities. The parallel to Pearson is obvious.

In response to the witness' testimony, the respondents offered no witnesses of their own. Cross-examination of the Board's witnesses revealed only that there was not a complete breakdown of custodial services, which the district need not prove in any case.

As to respondent Prusakowski, Hitchcock testified about the effect of not having someone with Prusakowski's qualifications available. The district was unable to perform preventive maintenance on heating and other systems, and could only react to problems instead of preventing them. There was a district-wide effect as Prusakowski was not assigned to a particular school as was Vereen. The effect of Prusakowski's absence on the district has been more than demonstrated.

On the incapacity charges, the Board has indicated that it relies on the stipulations of fact documenting the multi-year absences of both custodians as establishing a prima facie case of incapacity, reserving the right to offer rebuttal testimony/evidence if respondents meet their burden of going forward with evidence contesting their incapacity. It is the Board's position that absence of over a year is sufficient to establish incapacity within the meaning of the school laws.

First, the Board relies on N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1. That statute provides that teaching staff members or other employees of the school district who suffer job-related injuries are immune for one year from increment withholdings arising out of any attendance problems caused by such injury. It is submitted that the one-year limit of such protection is significant, representing the Legislature's considered judgment that one year is an appropriate maximum time to allow an employee to recuperate from such an injury without job security or salary repercussions.

Further, the Tenure Employees Hearing Law, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 through -18.1, does not specify an amount of time missed due to a work-related injury that would constitute incapacity. The Board urges that, at least as to absences due to a work-related injury, an absence of one year should create a presumption of incapacity perhaps subject to rebuttal by a showing of an ability to return to work within a specified, short period. It is suggested that in light of the fact stipulations already presented, the burden now lies with the respondents to establish that they are able to return to work in the immediate future, with the Board having the right to counter any such evidence offered by the respondents.

The respondents argue that respondent Vereen is back at work now, on a modified or "work hardening" schedule, to determine whether he will be able to return to his full-time duties. Prusakowski remains out of work and continues to receive medical treatment.

The Board seems to believe that the absences themselves are sufficient to justify termination. The Board has submitted no medical evidence to support the claim of incapacity. Rather, it relies only upon the duration of the absences.

The evidence the Board has offered to support this claim consists of testimony from two individual administrators. The sum and substance of the testimony is the claim that the absences of these respondents has affected the ability of the school to provide "adequately equipped, sanitary and secure physical facilities and adequate materials and supplies." N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-5.

The Board's witnesses testified only in general terms that whenever there are absences, substitutes need to be found and this process itself negatively affects the Board. Other than the theoretical possibility that custodial absences would result in citing by local health officials and perhaps relate to the Board's statutory responsibility under N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-5, there was no hard evidence of any citations for inadequate facilities or anything else. The testimony made clear that providing substitutes is difficult administratively. However, there was no direct correlation between the absences of the respondents and the ability of the Board to satisfy N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-5.

The only documentary evidence the Board submitted was in the form of three weekly logs showing rolling substitutions. What is most striking about these documents is that Vereen and Prusakowski are two of about ten or twelve daily absences week after week. The point is clear. Absences, whether short-term or long-term, are a way of life in any school district including Lawrence Township. While the Board argues that there is a difference between short-term and long-term absences, the latter being more difficult to deal with, the opposite argument could easily be made. From a planning standpoint, there is some value in knowing that an employee will be absent for an extended period so that substitutes can be arranged. In any event, while logic dictates that extended absences will have an effect upon administration, there has been no clear and convincing evidence that the absences of these individuals has specifically affected the Board's ability to deliver services.

From a medical standpoint, the respondents submit that it is not legally possible to conclude incapacity merely from absence. Some medical evidence must be presented to determine that the respondents or either of them are incapable of performing their duties and that medical treatment cannot be reasonably expected to change that. In the present case, Vereen is now back at work with a real prospect of returning permanently. Prusakowski still is being treated and by the very definition of treatment under Workers' Compensation law, his condition is improving. It is not yet possible to determine whether the condition will improve sufficiently to permit him to return to work. The medical treatment that is being provided is being provided by the Board's authorized physician. Obviously, there is no difference of medical opinion in this case. Medical opinion favors continued treatment to determine whether a return to work is possible.

It must be understood that the Board is not paying any salary to either respondent and has not done so for some time. They are being paid under Workers' Compensation procedures. Thus, there is no fiscal effect on the public.

DETERMINATION

The stipulations recited above are adopted as FACT. As Judge Reiner observed in Passaic Board of Education v. James Vianni,

> It is well-settled that excessive absenteeism may constitute grounds for the removal or suspension of a tenured employee. In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Marcus Miller, School District of the City of Trenton, OAL DKT. EDU 8409-86 (Mar. 6, 1987), adopted Comm'r of Ed. (Mar. 31, 1987). In Miller, a tenured assistant custodian was dismissed for excessive absenteeism and abandoning his position. The assistant custodian was absent from work during the period of July 4 to July 18 due to medical reasons. A doctor's note supplied by Mr. Miller indicated that he could return to work on July 21. However, Mr. Miller never returned to his position. The ALJ dismissed the assistant custodian on the grounds that his absences from July 4 to July 18 constituted excessive absenteeism and that he had abandoned his position.

The Commissioner has stated that he would not hesitate to dismiss a tenured employee for chronic, persistent absenteeism even when there is no charge of illegitimate use of sick leave. In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Patricia Marsden, School District of Toms River, OAL DKT. EDU 1188-84 (Aug. 26, 1985), adopted Comm'r of Ed. (Oct. 10, 1985).

In the Commissioner's adoption of Vianni, above, the Commissioner noted that a board's burden in a case seeking dismissal of a tenured janitor because of alleged excessive absenteeism is to demonstrate the extent of harm such performance of a custodial employee has on the provision of a thorough and efficient education in an adequately equipped, sanitary and secure physical facility. 97 S.L.D. at 2397. In the present case, the Board directed its testimony precisely at this notion. The Board Secretary/Business Administrator and the Director of Facilities and Property tended to show that Vereen's and Prusakowski's absences made it difficult to schedule adequate custodial coverage in each building in the district. They also gave testimony, which I find credible, to the effect that the morale of the rest of the custodial staff from frequent transfers of assignment to cover the continuing gaps left by Vereen's and Prusakowski's absences was adversely affected.

The Commissioner has recognized the position of school custodial as an important one.

> A school janitor occupies a position of trust and responsibility necessitating high standards of dependability and morality. His functions far exceed opening and closing the school house and keeping it clean and tidy. The safety and welfare of the children may depend on the proper discharge of his duties. In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Joseph McDougall, 1974 S.L.D. 170, 178.

Under the present circumstances, notwithstanding that they are not receiving pay, Vereen and Prusakowski are in effect holding the assignment of custodians in uncertainty. Until they return or are removed, those responsible for assignment and, ultimately, the condition of buildings, cannot know either that the work will be done to the necessary degree, or that it cannot but that two new custodial personnel may be hired toward the end that the work will be so accomplished.

As the stipulated facts indicate, Vereen has not performed his regular duties on full schedule since June 6, 1996 and Prusakowski has not performed any duties since December 5, 1994. The tenure laws are designed to protect employees from unwarranted political interference and from arbitrary and capricious treatment. They are not, however, infinitely elastic. Research does not reveal any statutory definition or classification of "excessive absenteeism." However, there have been decisions rendered by the Commissioner that indicate excessive absenteeism may support a charge of unbecoming conduct. In In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Edith Trautwein, OAL DKT. EDU 9692-82 (Nov. 15, 1983), the Board certified five charges to the Commissioner against a tenured teacher. The first charge was that the respondent's continuous excessive absenteeism constituted conduct unbecoming a teacher or other good cause to terminate her employment or to reduce her salary. The respondent contended that the numbers of absences was an invalid ground upon which to seek her removal and moved for a dismissal. The administrative law judge denied the respondent's motion to dismiss the first count. The judge found that the local Board had the right to impose some discipline upon respondent because of her absences and the Board must be given the opportunity to present at hearing, through admissible evidence, the truth of the charge that respondent had adopted and maintained a pattern of excessive absences which constituted unbecoming conduct. The Commissioner affirmed the retention of that count. The administrative hearing on the matter did not reach the merits of the issue of unbecoming conduct, but held that the charge brought against the respondent by the Board was in retaliation for the respondent's exercise of free speech and thus the complaint was dismissed. It must be noted that the decision was on a basis other than excessive absenteeism and that the Commissioner decided that excessive absenteeism can constitute a tenure charge. On the basis of Trautwein, the Commissioner's policy is not to let cases of excessive absenteeism go unpunished. His affirmation of the retention of a charge of unbecoming conduct based on excessive absenteeism in that case lends strong support to the subsequent use of that charge for similar conduct.

Having reviewed all the evidence, I FIND that:

1. A tenure charge of unbecoming conduct based on excessive absenteeism, substantiated by adequate proofs, is cause for removal;

2. The ability of the Lawrence Township Board of Education to maintain its schools has been adversely affected by the long absences stipulated here;

3. In addition to a negative effect on the ability to provide sanitary, clean and secure facilities as required, the long absences present here have created a morale problem for other custodial staff who are subject to reassignment or demands for overtime or both.

In consideration of these findings, I CONCLUDE that the stipulated absences of Vereen and Prusakowski have had negative effects on the operation of the Lawrence public schools above and beyond the criteria discussed in Vianni and Siano above. Here, as in Pearson, the absences require frequent modification of other custodians' schedules which, in addition to having a negative effect on morale, requires the Head Custodian and his immediate superiors to devote time to the reassignments that might better be used otherwise. While this decision does not go so far as to say that cleanliness citations received from local authorities can be placed squarely at the doorstep of Vereen and Prusakowski, it does note that their absences can only exacerbate the circumstances leading to cleanliness citations.

Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the Lawrence Township Board of Education has shown by a preponderance of the credible evidence in the record that the extended absences of Gregory Vereen and Theodore Prusakowski rise to the level of unbecoming conduct and I further CONCLUDE that the appropriate penalty for that unbecoming conduct is removal.

Finally, the Board argues that, in the alternative, the respondents' incapacity has been established as a matter of law by their absences and they should be dismissed on these grounds unless they come forward with evidence of their ability to return to work in the immediate future. In In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Phyllis Stanley, Board of Education of the Freehold Regional High School District, 95 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 495, the Commissioner adopted the ALJ's initial decision that incapacity related to the inability to perform a duty despite the cause of the inability. In Stanley, the ALJ concluded that the Board had met its burden and established by a preponderance of the credible evidence that Stanley was incapacitated from performing her duties. The ALJ found that dismissal was the appropriate penalty and the Commissioner concurred. Id. at 499.

In the present case, I FIND and CONCLUDE that, unless they can demonstrate to the contrary in the immediate future, the respondents herein are incapacitated as the Commissioner contemplated that term in Stanley. Nothing in this decision should be construed as interfering with Vereen's modified work schedule to determine whether he will be able to return to his full-time duties.

For the reasons stated, the removal of Gregory Vereen and the removal of Theodore Prusakowski from their custodial positions in the employ of the Lawrence Township Board of Education is ORDERED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

BEFORE STEPHEN G. WEISS, ALJ:

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This matter was transferred to the Office of Administrative Law by the School Ethics Commission as a contested case in February 1998 as a result of an appeal by respondent from a finding of probable cause by the Commission that she had violated certain provisions of the School Ethics Act. Plenary hearings were scheduled to commence before the undersigned administrative law judge on March 22, 1999 However, in advance of that date I was advised by the deputy attorney general on behalf of the parties that the matter had been settled and that a Stipulation of Settlement shortly would be forwarded to me.

A Stipulation of Settlement containing the terms and conditions of the agreement reached by the parties has now been submitted and which document is signed by the petitioner and by counsel for the School Ethics Commission. That stipulation provides, in part, that it shall not become final until it is reviewed and approved by the Commissioner of Education. See, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c). Accordingly, the stipulation now will be submitted to the Commissioner for his review.

Having reviewed the terms of the Stipulation of Settlement which is attached hereto and made part hereof I FIND as follows:

1. The parties voluntarily have agreed to the terms and conditions of the settlement as evidenced by the signatures contained thereon.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with law.

Therefore, I ORDER that the parties comply with the terms of the settlement and that these proceedings be and are hereby CONCLUDED.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the SCHOOL ETHICS COMMISSION. If the Commissioner of Education does not render a final decision within forty-five (45) days of its receipt of this initial decision, and unless such time period is otherwise extended, the recommended decision of the School Ethics Commission shall become the final decision.

Docket No. EEC 1693-98

IN THE MATTER OF ERNESTINE HARRIS, EAST ORANGE BOARD OF EDUCATION

STIPULATION OF SETTLEMENT

WHEREAS Ernestine Harris is a member of the Board of Education of East Orange (Board); and

WHEREAS Dennis Harris, the husband of Ernestine Harris, is an employee of the Board; and

WHEREAS the Board paid $307.21 for plane fare for Dennis Harris when he accompanied his wife to school board conferences; and

WHEREAS Ernestine Harris is alleged to have failed to reimburse the Board for the cost of the plane fare; and

WHEREAS Ernestine Harris several times voted on employment matters that governed the employment, salary, and conditions of employment of Dennis Harris; and

WHEREAS a complaint was filed alleging that Ernestine Harris had violated the School Ethics Act; and

WHEREAS upon review of the matter the Commission made a determination from the complaint filed against Ernestine Harris that probable cause existed to credit the allegations that the conduct of Ernestine Harris in having the Board pay for the travel costs of her husband was a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b) and that her votes regard her husband's employment with the Board was in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c); and

WHEREAS Ernestine Harris has, since the commencement of this matter, reimbursed the Board $390.00, which covers the cost of her husband's travel expenses, as well as for personal expenses she incurred while at school board conferences; and

WHEREAS the parties desire to settle this matter amicably,

IT IS therefore agreed that:

1. The Commission finds that Ernestine Harris was required to reimburse the Board for the costs of her husband's travel expenses when he accompanied her to school board conferences.

2. The Commission finds that Ernestine Harris five times failed to recuse herself when matters touching on her husband's employment with the Board were considered by the Board.

3. In order to resolve this matter, Ernestine Harris agrees to accept a three month suspension from her position as a member of the East Orange Board of Education.

4. The settlement shall become effective April 1, 1999, and shall terminate on July 1, 1999.

5. After both parties have executed this agreement, the Commission will withdraw the matter from the Office of Administrative Law.

6. This agreement shall not serve as a precedent in any other matter.

7. This agreement shall not become final until it is approved by the Commissioner of Education.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF GREGORY VEREEN,	:
SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE TOWNSHIP	:

AND	:	DECISION
IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF THEODORE PRUSAKOWSKI,	:
SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE TOWNSHIP	:
OF LAWRENCE, MERCER COUNTY.	:

The record of this matter and the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Respondents' exceptions and the Board's reply thereto were considered by the Commissioner in his determination of this matter.

Upon review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner determines to affirm the initial decision of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ). Initially, the Commissioner notes that Respondent Prusakowski was injured in December of 1994, has not returned to the District, and cannot forecast a return date. (Initial Decision at p. 6) The Board has also demonstrated a negative effect from Prusakowski's prolonged absence.[1] (Id. at p. 4) Similarly, the Commissioner notes that Respondent Vereen was injured in June of 1996, and has not returned to the District in full capacity, although he is, apparently, back at work, "on a modified or work hardening schedule to determine whether he will be able to return to his full time duties."[2] (Respondents' Letter Memorandum, March 10, 1999 at p. 1) There is no indication in the record when, or even whether, Respondent Vereen will be able to resume his duties in full capacity. As with Respondent Prusakowski, the Board has demonstrated a negative effect from Vereen's prolonged absence.[3] (Initial Decision at pp. 2-4) Thus, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the appropriate penalty under such circumstances is dismissal for both Respondents Prusakowski and Vereen, notwithstanding that their absenteeism constituted a legitimate use of sick leave and the possibility remains that one, or both, of them might ultimately, at some point not presently foreseeable, once again become physically capable of performing their duties.[4] (Initial Decision at p. 7)

Accordingly, the initial decision of the ALJ is affirmed for the reasons expressed therein. Respondents are dismissed from their positions as tenured custodians as of the date of this decision.[5]

IT IS SO ORDERED.[6]

[2] Although the record does not indicate exactly when Respondent Vereen resumed some of his duties, it can be deduced from the record that he returned sometime after the parties filed their Stipulation of Facts on December 9, 1998 (which affirmed that Vereen had not performed any duties in the District since June 1996) and before March 10, 1999, the date of respondents' letter brief to the ALJ informing him of Vereen's return.

[3] The Commissioner notes that Respondent Vereen also stipulated that his extended absence "has affected the Board's ability to provide sanitary and secure physical facilities." (Stipulation of Facts/Vereen at p. 2)

[4] Although the ALJ appears to equate excessive absenteeism with unbecoming conduct (Initial Decision at p. 8), the Commissioner specifically notes that the Board did not charge respondents with unbecoming conduct.

[5] The Commissioner herein understands the ALJ's statement that "[n]othing in this decision should be construed as interfering with Vereen's modified work schedule to determine whether he will be able to return to his full-time duties" (Initial Decision at p. 10), to refer to the period between issuance of the initial decision and the Commissioner's final ruling in this matter.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF TIMOTHY FITZPATRICK,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
NEW JERSEY DEPARTMENT OF	:	DECISION
HUMAN SERVICES.	:

SYNOPSIS

Department certified tenure charges against respondent teacher for unbecoming conduct.

The ALJ dismissed the matter with prejudice, finding with respect to the disputed facts that respondent did not strike a student in his care or cause the student to strike himself and thus concluding that the charges were unfounded and untrue.

The Commissioner affirmed the ALJ's decision, finding no basis, either in the transcript or in the record as a whole, to challenge the credibility determinations of the ALJ, who had the benefit of observing the witnesses firsthand. The tenure charges were dismissed.

NEW JERSEY DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES,

TIMOTHY FITZPATRICK,

Mary F. Rubinstein, Deputy Attorney General, for petitioner (Peter Verniero, Attorney General of New Jersey, attorney)

Sharra E. Greer, Esq., and Colin M. Page, Esq., for respondent (Weissman & Mintz, attorneys)

Record Closed: January 15, 1998 Decided: April 15, 1999*

BEFORE M. KATHLEEN DUNCAN, ALJ:

This matter commenced on December 29, 1997, when the New Jersey Department of Human Services (hereinafter petitioner) filed tenure charges pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:60-2 and 18A:6-9 against Timothy Fitzpatrick (hereinafter respondent), a tenured teacher, alleging unbecoming conduct and seeking an order from the Commissioner of Education imposing a 30-day suspension as a result thereof. Respondent filed an answer on his own behalf on January 23, 1998 and on February 2, 1998, the Commissioner of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law for determination as a contested case.

The prehearing conference was scheduled for May 7, 1998. That date was adjourned, however, when proposed counsel on behalf of respondent failed to file a timely pro hac vice motion. The motion which was ultimately filed to admit Paul D. Muller pro hac vice required several submissions and time for consideration and determination. An order denying the motion was entered by the undersigned on July 1, 1998. An application for reconsideration was filed on July 15, 1998 and was denied on July 16, 1998. Thereafter, the prehearing conference was rescheduled and was conducted on August 13, 1998. The prehearing order which was entered on August 14, 1998, scheduled the plenary hearing for November 2, 1998. The hearing took place on November 24, 1998, at the Trenton office of the Office of Administrative Law. Following the close of testimony the record remained open for the receipt of written submissions. Simultaneous initial written memoranda were received on behalf of each party on December 24, 1998. Each party filed a reply on January 15, 1998, whereupon the record closed.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Some of the facts relevant to a determination in this matter are not in dispute and I therefore FIND the following as uncontested facts.

On Thursday, October 23, 1997, respondent was performing his duties as a Community Facilitation Teacher in the Department of Human Services Regional School, Ocean Campus. The Ocean Campus School is a school for severely developmentally disabled youngsters, ages 3 to 21 years. As he did on every Thursday afternoon, he was accompanying students A.M. (sometimes referred to hereinafter as T.M.) and D.M. to a training program they participated in at Brick Hospital. A.M., who was 19 or 20 years old, was non-verbal, but ambulatory. He would usually help to push D.M.'s wheelchair through the front foyer to the bus. The students and respondent left on the bus each Thursday at 12:30 p.m. and returned back to school by 2:10 p.m.

On October 28, 1997, when she returned to her duties as Supervisor of Education at the Ocean Campus after a brief vacation which had included October 23, 1997, at about 3 p.m. Jo-Ann Colon was advised by Patricia Glonek, whose official title is "Cook" but who had been providing secretarial assistance in the supervisor's office for some period of time, that she witnessed an incident of abuse of a student by respondent occurring on October 23, 1997. Ms. Colon then questioned Cindy Travlos, Assistant Supervisor of Education, concerning her knowledge of the alleged incident. At Ms. Colon's request Cindy Travlos provided the following written memorandum, dated October 28, 1997:

> On Friday morning, 10/24/97, Patricia Glonek reported to me that on the previous day (10/23/97) she observed Timothy Fitzpatrick walking in the hallway with a student (A.M.). Mrs. Glonek reported that she saw Mr. Fitzpatrick grab the student's wrist and use A.M.'s arm and hand to hit the student in the chest. She indicated that the hit was loud enough to be heard. Reportedly, A.M. had hit Mr. Fitzpatrick prior to this event occurring.
> Mrs. Glonek reported this incident to me on Friday morning, 10/24/97. I requested that she write up the appropriate reporting forms and submit them to me. At that time, she refused to write Mr. Fitzpatrick up for this incident. I told her that she should reconsider writing up the forms. I also indicated that I would do verbal counseling and report this matter to Mrs. Colon. Due to a very busy day on Friday and Mrs. Glonek's refusal to write up the documents again, I did not counsel him on Friday. Mrs. Colon returned on Monday and Mrs. Glonek indicated that she would report it to her. Mrs. Glonek discussed this matter with Mrs. Colon on 10/28/97.
> This incident is to be considered abuse of a student. I recommend that Mrs. Glonek write up this incident on reporting forms and that appropriate disciplinary action steps be followed.

Ms. Colon also requested and received a written statement from Patricia Glonek. That statement, also dated October 28, 1997, provided:

> On Thursday, October 23, 1997 at approximately 12:30 pm, Timothy Fitzpatrick was in the front hallway with two students. I witnessed Mr. Fitzpatrick pick up A.M.'s wrist and use T.'s hand to hit this student's chest. I not only saw this action but also heard T.'s hand hit his chest with a loud thump. Mr. Fitzpatrick was unaware that I was walking behind them in the hallway.

Respondent was first notified of the allegations against him at 9:10 a.m. on Wednesday, October 29, 1997, when Ms. Colon called him into her office and told him only that another employee had made abuse charges against him. No details of the charges were provided at that time and Ms. Colon asked no questions of respondent, but rather just informed him that he could not continue to work with students and that he should just sit at his desk. On October 30, 1997, Ms. Colon again called respondent into her office and asked him to write his version of what had happened on October 23, 1997. When he replied that he could not write such a statement because he had no idea what the charges of abuse might be, Ms. Colon orally advised him that another employee (whose name she did not disclose) had accused him of abusing A.M. by hitting him in the chest. According to his own testimony and also Ms. Colon's, respondent was astounded and upset when he heard the allegations. He wrote the following statement which he provided to Ms. Colon on October 30, 1997:

> re: Allegation of physical abuse toward student A.M. on October 23, 1997 in the hallway in front of the office at 12:30 pm.
> On this date and time I, Timothy Fitzpatrick, was escorting T.M., ambulatory student, and D.M., wheelchair student, to the bus for their weekly job training assignment. T. was pushing the wheelchair as I held the door open. At no time did I have any physical contact with either student.

On the next school day, October 31, 1997, respondent was returned to his teaching duties and he continued to work with student A.M. and the other students without incident.

Other than the foregoing, petitioner conducted no additional investigation into the allegations. Although the alleged incident took place at 12:30 p.m., a time when many other faculty members would be having their lunch break and would therefore be in the hallways or the foyer, no other staff members were questioned concerning what they might have seen on October 23, 1997. Petitioner did not contact A.M.'s parents concerning the alleged incident. No physical examination was made of A.M. Respondent was instructed by Ms. Colon not to discuss the matter with anyone else at school and he complied with these instructions until December 1997, at which time no one with whom he spoke had any recollection of what might or might not have happened on October 23, 1997. On November 5, 1997, Janet Gilliam, Acting Employee Relations Coordinator in the Office of Education for the Department of Human Services, prepared written tenure charges against respondent. By letter dated November 6, 1997, she forwarded those charges to Donald Mangus, Assistant Director in the Office of Employee Relations, for processing pursuant to N.J.A.C. 10:11-1.8(b). In a letter addressed to respondent, dated November 10, 1997, Mr. Mangus notified respondent of his opportunity to file a response to the enclosed charges and advised respondent that if the Director of the Office of Employee Relations decided that probable cause existed to credit the charges and to suspend without pay, the matter would be transmitted to the Department of Education. By letter dated November 20, 1997, respondent forwarded to Mr. Mangus two sworn statements, both dated November 20, 1997, one entitled, "Statement of Position" and the other entitled, "Statement of Evidence." By letter dated December 24, 1997, Mr. Mangus forwarded his determination of probable cause together with accompanying documentation and proof of service upon respondent to the Commissioner of Education.

At the hearing in the within matter, all witnesses testified that student A.M. would frequently flail his arms about, particularly his right arm, in an effort to hit others. Standard instructions to all staff when students attempted to hit were to grasp and hold the student's wrist to prevent the student from striking self or others. All of the witnesses also testified that student

D.M. had a habit of hitting himself, particularly thumping his fist against his chest. Because of their developmental disabilities, neither student was competent to give a statement or testify concerning what happened on October 23, 1997, and A.M. is now deceased. This concludes the recitation of uncontested facts.

Petitioner presented two witnesses in support of its charges. Patricia Glonek testified that she was on her way to lunch on October 23, 1997, when she observed respondent take A.M. by the wrist and force the student to hit himself twice in the chest with his own hand. According to Ms. Glonek, at the time of this observation she was standing between 7 and 9 feet behind respondent, who in turn was standing behind the student in the wheelchair and was facing A.M., whose back was against the wall of the foyer. Ms. Glonek insisted that A.M.'s hand struck his chest with a force great enough for her to hear a thumping sound. She further testified that immediately thereafter she observed respondent and the two students walk out to the bus, which was just arriving. There was no one else in the lobby during the entire time period, she testified. Ms. Glonek said nothing to respondent, and she believed that respondent did not know she was there, she testified. According to Ms. Glonek's testimony, she then proceeded into the back office where she spoke to a secretary, Kathy Thompkins, who advised Ms. Glonek that she had seen A.M. strike respondent earlier. Ms. Glonek testified that she was upset about what she had seen, but that she did not wish to report a fellow employee. Upon reflection, however, the next day she decided she should report it to Cindy Travlos, the Assistant Administrator who was in charge in Ms. Colon's absence. She testified that when Ms. Travlos asked her to write it up, she declined and advised Ms. Travlos that she only wanted to have someone speak to respondent. According to Ms. Glonek, Ms. Travlos said she would try to speak with respondent that day. However, Ms. Glonek later found out that Ms. Travlos "never got around to it". She further testified that she had been forced to write up the incident by Ms. Colon, who told her that if she refused she herself would be charged with insubordination.

With respect to the nature of her relationship with respondent, Ms. Glonek testified that for five or six years the relationship had been a friendly, working relationship. She acknowledged, however, that she believed she was working in the kitchen as a cook again because respondent had called the union in June 1998 and reported that she was working out of title. She also acknowledged that she and respondent had some disagreements concerning the manner in which respondent kept his timesheets and that respondent had objected to her performing secretarial duties, particularly her handling of his timesheets.

Jo-Ann Colon, the only other witness to testify on behalf of petitioner, indicated that she was first made aware of Ms. Glonek's allegations when she returned to work on Tuesday, October 28, 1997, when Ms. Glonek approached her and asked to speak with her. According to Ms. Colon, she asked Ms. Glonek why she had not reported the incident sooner, and Ms. Glonek replied that she had reported it to Ms. Travlos. Ms. Colon testified that she then spoke with Ms. Travlos who said she had not wanted to bother Ms. Colon during her vacation, that she had become very busy and therefore had not otherwise addressed the issue. Ms. Colon confirmed that she advised Ms. Glonek that if she did not report the incident in writing she was opening herself up to disciplinary proceedings. Ms. Colon's own supervisor also assured Ms. Glonek that there would be discipline against her if she did not cooperate. According to Ms. Colon, Ms. Glonek was very upset about having to follow through with a written report, but complied later that day. She confirmed that other than speaking with respondent who appeared to be astounded and upset and denied the allegations completely, she took no other steps to investigate the matter. She recommended that disciplinary action go forward based solely upon her acceptance of Ms. Glonek's version of the incident, she testified. She further testified that respondent was returned to his regular duties working with the students after October 30, because employee relations had so instructed her; that would not have been my decision, she testified. Ms. Colon further testified that the charges were written up to allege inappropriate contact; "We were going to call it abuse until we found out removal was required," she testified. It was her opinion that the contact was inappropriate, but she did not feel that it was malicious.

Respondent testified on his own behalf and indicated that on Thursday, October 23, 1997, he took his half hour lunch break at 12 o'clock noon as he always does on Thursdays. He testified that he ate in the "isolation room" which is also part of Ms. Colon's office. According to respondent Ms. Travlos was there, Ms. Locklear and Pat Glonek, maybe others. Ms. Glonek left the lunch room just before respondent, stating that she was going out for a cigarette, he testified. Respondent, who is also a smoker, joined Ms. Glonek and perhaps two or three others outside the kitchen area. Just before respondent reentered the building, Ms. Glonek had walked off across the field to check on the progress of some storage sheds which were being built, he testified. He further testified that when he got to room 107, Ms. Jones's room, A.M. and D.M. were ready. They left and proceeded to the bus, he testified. Nothing unusual happened. He also testified that he did not remember stopping in the hallway. Respondent testified that the first time he was ever made aware of any allegations against him related to October 23, 1997 was 9:10 a.m. on Wednesday, October 29. All he was told at that time by Ms. Colon, he said, was that abuse charges had been filed against him. She would not tell him what student, what the charges were or who had made them. She instructed him to sit at his desk and have no contact with any students. On Thursday, October 30, 1997, when she called him into her office again, she asked him to write his version of what had happened to which he had responded that he could not do it unless she told him who had said what. She then provided the details of the allegations, but he did not know the name of his accuser for another 3 weeks. When asked whether T.M. had hit him on October 23, 1997, he responded that T.M. hit quite frequently until he became sicker; in October 1997, it was probably two or three times per day at least, and respondent could not remember whether T.M. had hit him on October 23, 1997. It was routine, I wouldn't remember, he testified. He further testified that he was very close with T.M., that T.M. was a very likable student. One of T.M.'s activities involved playing with the band at Brick Memorial High School and respondent had helped arrange to obtain a band jacket for T.M. T.M.'s family was very appreciative, and respondent was always in contact with T.M.'s mother and sister, he testified. When T.M. passed away in October of 1998, T.M.'s mother came to school and gave to respondent as a remembrance a pin which T. had been awarded for volunteering. Respondent testified that when he told T.M.'s mother about the allegations in the within matter, she was very supportive. "He was such a frail kid; that is why the allegations are so horrible. I would never touch him," respondent testified.

On cross-examination respondent testified that on Thursdays at 12 o'clock he generally ate lunch with the same people. He acknowledged that it was possible that Ms. Glonek had changed her mind about going to check on the construction of the sheds, but he did not see her in the building after lunch that day, he testified. He also testified that the bus was always waiting for them at 12:30, parked in front of the front door unless there was a parcel-post bus there. That day I went directly to the bus, he responded. He also acknowledged that he was not aware that Ms. Travlos was told about the incident on October 24, 1997, until he was going through the files and saw her statement. Ms. Travlos never talked to him about the incident. When he was shown a copy of the statement he had prepared on November 20, 1997, wherein he had asserted that Juanita Jones, the classroom teacher from room 107, had escorted them all to the front door that day, he responded that Ms. Jones might have been there or perhaps she was not. Sometimes she did escort them, he testified. He thought that perhaps he had been sure when he wrote the statement on November 20, 1997, but on the date of the hearing he simply did not remember whether she did or not, he testified. When asked about his testimony that he did not remember stopping in the hallway, he responded that it was routine not to stop, but that he really did not recall, the whole thing was a non-incident. For a whole month he was not allowed to talk with anyone at school at all about the incident and when he finally did ask Ms. Jones about her recollection in November or December of 1997, she did not recall seeing anything unusual. He concluded that Ms. Glonek was either very mistaken about what she had seen or was deliberately lying. What she may have heard if she heard anything was D.M. slapping himself, he testified. Or perhaps her testimony was colored as a result of confrontations before October 1997 concerning his annoyance at her attempts to supervise him in regard to timesheets and other matters. He acknowledged that he had resented her supervision and had told her so. Concerning his statement that Ms. Colon had not personally served him with the charges in this matter, he testified, "I'm almost positive I got them in the mail; I got them so late I had to get it right out again."

The only other witnesses at the hearing were Patricia Smith, one of the bus drivers who transported respondent and the children on their trips, and Linda Riley, a teacher who is one of respondent's colleagues. Ms. Smith was not driving the bus on the day in question and was therefore unable to offer any pertinent facts about the incident. She testified that A.M. would flail his arms about because his sister would play with him that way; he thought it was a game. Both Ms. Smith and Ms. Riley testified that respondent was a caring and concerned teacher who appeared to have an excellent relationship with his students, including A.M. Neither had ever seen him lose his temper or get angry. Ms. Riley described him as kind and gentle and soft-spoken.

With respect to the facts in dispute, I FIND that respondent's evidence was far more persuasive than petitioner's. "Testimony to be believed must not only proceed from the mouth of a credible witness but must be credible in itself. It must be such as the common experience and observation of mankind can approve as probable in the circumstances. . ." Spagnuolo v. Bonnett, 16 N.J. 546, 554-555 (1954). Contrary to petitioner's assertion, Ms. Glonek's reluctance to pursue the matter by putting her complaint in writing does not necessarily give rise to an inference of credibility. A more reasonable inference to draw from such unwillingness, in the common experience and observation of mankind, is that she was unwilling to write it down because it was untrue. Conversely the fact that respondent would try to identify reasons for Ms. Glonek's false reporting supports his credibility; he knows he did not do what she accused him of doing so why would she say he did? What probably happened here is that Ms. Glonek wished to cause respondent some distress, by having the school principal counsel him, in retaliation for the resentment he had expressed to her on more than one occasion relating to her attempts to supervise him. Undoubtedly she did not realize that the seriousness of her allegations would necessitate the filing of tenure charges. There is not one shred of credible evidence to corroborate Ms. Glonek's version of what happened. The relationship between respondent and his students was uniformly regarded as one of caring. Neither Ms. Glonek nor petitioner's other witness, Ms. Colon, could offer any suggestion of a motive for why respondent would strike a student, particularly one as frail as A.M. Petitioner attempted to suggest a motive by introducing hearsay testimony through Ms. Glonek that office secretary, Kathy Thompkins, had seen A.M. strike respondent prior to the alleged incident on October 23, 1997. However, Ms. Thompkins was never interviewed, no statement was ever given by Ms. Thompkins, nor did Ms. Thompkins testify at the within matter, notwithstanding the fact that she is still employed at the Ocean Campus School. Furthermore, Ms. Colon testified that Ms. Glonek told her there were no other witnesses to the incident. In any event, even if Ms. Thompkins had seen A.M. strike respondent, apparently that would have been nothing unusual; respondent testified that it happened frequently, as did Ms. Smith and even Ms. Colon. The fact that all agreed that A.M.'s hitting was not of a violent nature, but rather occurred when he was agitated and would swing out or merely as an act of playfulness makes it all the more improbable that respondent would retaliate by hitting A.M. in the manner described. In addition, a reasonable inference to draw from the fact that Ms. Travlos took no action whatsoever after Ms. Glonek reported the alleged incident to her on October 24, 1997, is that Ms. Travlos did not believe her. A teacher hitting a student would be a serious incident under any circumstances and for an administrator not to even question the teacher about the incident indicates either gross incompetence or certain disbelief. Since Ms. Travlos, who is also still employed by the institution, did not testify at the hearing, she could not be questioned concerning why she had not bothered to investigate or to take any action whatsoever or even to report the incident spontaneously and promptly to Ms. Colon herself when Ms. Colon returned to work the following Monday or Tuesday. Ms. Travlos apparently did not even write up an incident report herself until she was instructed to do so by Ms. Colon on October 28, 1997. Furthermore, by its failure to conduct a prompt and thorough investigation, petitioner effectively prevented the collection of any other evidence, exculpatory or otherwise. By instructing respondent not to discuss the matter with anyone else at the school, an instruction which respondent followed for approximately a month, petitioner impaired respondent's ability to ascertain all of the facts. No one is going to remember what happened on an uneventful Thursday in October if they are not asked about it until the end of November. Furthermore, by withholding the details of the allegations from respondent until October 30, 1997, a whole week after the alleged incident, petitioner likewise impeded respondent's ability to reconstruct what his accuser, whose name was then unknown to him, might have seen, if anything.

Although it is true as petitioner's counsel points out in her post-hearing submissions that respondent's written statements filed in response to the charges contain some inconsistencies, his testimony and demeanor before me at the hearing were those of a candid, sincere and credible witness. The fact that some of respondent's written documents firmly state that Ms. Glonek was not in the building at 12:30 on October 23, 1997 and others attempt to explain what she might have seen or heard if in fact she were there, could indicate that the author was being untruthful. The more likely explanation, however, is that respondent was extremely upset and desperate to defend himself against these serious charges which he knew to be untrue, and he was justifiably angry and confused because petitioner's delay had impaired his ability to remember in detail the events of October 23, 1997. His explanations at the hearing were more than acceptable, e.g., that he did not really know whether Ms. Jones accompanied them out to the foyer to wait for the bus on October 23, 1997, or not; since she frequently did so, she probably did, but he was not sure; perhaps he had been sure in November 1997, when he wrote his statement. The fact that Ms. Jones could not corroborate her presence or lack thereof on October 23, 1997, is meaningless since she was not asked until more than a month later. Respondent's testimony that he received the tenure charges by certified mail rather than personal service is also understandable given the passage of time. In fact, he did receive the charges sent by Mr. Mangus by certified mail a month and a half after Ms. Colon had handed him the original version. Respondent's inability to recall the precise details of this matter is completely understandable under the circumstances and is not inconsistent with the characteristics of a truthful witness. With respect to the disputed facts, I specifically FIND that respondent did not strike A.M. or take A.M.'s hand and cause him to strike himself on October 23, 1997.

APPLICABLE LAW AND DISCUSSION

N.J.S.A. 18A:60-2, the statute relevant to a determination of the within matter, provides, as follows:

> No such professor, associate professor, assistant professor, instructor, supervisor, registrar, teacher, or other person employed in a teaching capacity, so under tenure, shall be dismissed or subjected to a reduction in salary except for inefficiency, incapacity, conduct unbecoming a teacher, or other just cause, and only in the manner prescribed by subarticle B of article 2 of chapter 6 of this title. (N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9 et seq.)

The burden of proof for establishing claims before State agencies in contested administrative adjudications is a fair preponderance of the evidence. In re Polk License Revocation, 90 N.J. 550, 560 (1982). The facts as I have found them to be in this matter do not support a conclusion that respondent was guilty of conduct unbecoming a teacher or any other misconduct. The simplest thing to have done in this matter would have been to say that petitioner has failed to sustain its burden of proof. However, such a ruling, absent more, would do a disservice to respondent. Once Ms. Glonek complained to the administration, petitioner had no choice but to pursue the within action. The allegations were too serious to ignore or dismiss informally. In fact, if the charges were true, in my opinion they would warrant a sanction a good deal more severe than a 30-day suspension, notwithstanding the fact that respondent has no history of other discipline. Based upon all of the foregoing, however, I CONCLUDE that the charges are unfounded and untrue, and accordingly, this matter is hereby DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, P. O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

OAL DKT. NO. 604-98

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF TIMOTHY FITZPATRICK,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
NEW JERSEY DEPARTMENT OF	:	DECISION
HUMAN SERVICES.	:

The record of this matter and the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Petitioner New Jersey Department of Human Services ("the Department") requested an extension of time within which to file exceptions to the initial decision, reporting that it was awaiting receipt of transcripts to facilitate its preparation of such exceptions. The request was granted and the Department's exceptions and respondent's reply thereto were filed in accordance with the extended timelines.

The Department excepts to the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) finding that the evidence advanced by respondent in this matter was more persuasive than that proffered by the Department, thus concluding that respondent was not guilty of unbecoming conduct. (Department's Exceptions at p. 3) In this regard, it argues that, although the ALJ's findings of facts in her initial decision are essentially correct, "they fail to include information elicited from the witnesses which cast doubt on the credibility of Mr. Fitzpatrick." (Id. at p. 1) The Department cites to specific hearing testimony which, it avers, challenges inferences made by the ALJ with respect to the investigation in this matter being flawed and deficiencies in the decision-making process utilized by Ms. Colon in reaching her conclusion that the charges against respondent should be documented. (Id. at pp. 1-3) It further alleges that the ALJ gave insufficient consideration to the fact that respondent's testimony was replete with inconsistencies in detailing his recollection of the events which transpired in this matter. (Id. at p. 3) As such, it reasons, "[b]ased on the testimony of the witnesses, the exhibits in evidence, the post hearing submissions, and [the Department's] exceptions," the greater weight of credible evidence supports the Department's position and, therefore, it urges that the initial decision be reversed "and the charge of unbecoming conduct with its imposition of a 30-day suspension without pay should be reinstated." (Id. at p. 6)

In reply, respondent contends that the ALJ's findings in this case are supported by "overwhelming evidence." (Respondent's Reply Exceptions at p. 2) Respondent addresses the conclusions which the Department's exceptions maintain should be drawn from testimony and he presents his own interpretation of these, emphasizing those particular facts which, he maintains, fully support the correctness of the ALJ's decision. Citing State, Dept. of Health v. Tegnazian, 194 N.J. Super. 435, 450 (App. Div. 1984) for the proposition that "[w]hile the commissioner is not legally bound to follow the ALJ's recommendations, he may not brush them aside[.] This is particularly true where factual issues are the focus of attention and questions as to the weight and credibility of evidence must be treated," respondent urges:

> The resolution of this case, which pits the word of Fitzpatrick against the word of Glonek, hinges on an evaluation of credibility. Judge Duncan is a trained factfinder who had the opportunity to observe the witnesses. The administrative process described in Tegnazian, envisions that the Commissioner will not disturb Judge Duncan's credibility findings. Petitioner offered no good reason for the Commissioner to abandon the deference accorded to an ALJ's findings of fact. In the final analysis, there was more than enough reason for Judge Duncan to find that the allegations Glonek made against Fitzpatrick were baseless and untrue.

Therefore, the Commissioner should adopt Judge Duncan's recommended decision. (Respondent's Reply Exceptions at pp. 6-7)

Upon a careful and independent review of the record in this matter, which included a transcript of the hearing conducted at the OAL on November 24, 1998, the Commissioner agrees with the ALJ that the facts existing in this case do not support a conclusion that respondent was guilty of conduct unbecoming a teacher. In reaching his determination here, the Commissioner was fully cognizant that this matter turns almost exclusively on the credibility of witnesses and the weighing of evidence. Notwithstanding the Department's exception assertions to the contrary, the Commissioner finds no basis, either in the transcript or in the record as a whole, to challenge the credibility determinations of the ALJ, who also had the benefit of observing the witnesses firsthand. Rather, he is fully satisfied that the ALJ's recitation of testimony is both accurate and thorough, and that she carefully measured conflicts, inconsistencies, and plausibility of content in deciding which testimony to credit.

Accordingly, the initial decision of the OAL is affirmed for the reasons clearly stated therein. The tenure charges against Mr. Fitzpatrick are hereby dismissed.*

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner, a nontenured teacher, alleged that she was entitled to sixty days' pay when her employment was terminated after only one week of work.

The ALJ determined that petitioner was never an employee of the District and, therefore, was not entitled to any relief.

The Commissioner affirmed the initial decision, noting that petitioner was never an employee of the District since the State District Superintendent never approved petitioner's appointment to any position with the District pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:27-1 and N.J.S.A. 18A:27-4.1, thereby precluding her requested relief. Petition was dismissed.

BEFORE: KEN R. SPRINGER, ALJ:

Statement of the Case

This is an appeal by a nontenured teacher who alleges that she was entitled to sixty-days pay when her employment contract was terminated after only one week of work. Respondent State-Operated School District of Jersey City ("District") denies that it entered into an employment relationship with petitioner. Alternately, in the event that such relationship did exist, the District maintains that the Commissioner of Education ("Commissioner") lacks subject-matter jurisdiction over a contract claim.

Procedural History

On November 19, 1997, petitioner Susana Fanego ("Fanego") filed a verified petition with the Commissioner. The District filed its answer on December 4, 1997. Subsequently, on December 24, 1997, the Commissioner transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law ("OAL") for hearing as a contested case. The OAL held a hearing on April 26, 1999. Witnesses and exhibits are listed in the appendix.

Findings of Fact

All of the material facts are undisputed. I FIND the following facts:

Susana Fanego holds an instructional certificate endorsed as a teacher of Spanish. At the end of August 1997, she contacted the District to inquire whether there were any positions available as a language teacher. Although there were no openings in the language department, petitioner was invited to interview for a position as a General Educational Development ("GED") teacher.[1] On August 26, 1997, Fanego submitted an employment application in which she listed one year of prior employment as a Spanish teacher in West New York and three years of prior employment as a GED teacher in the Union City and West New York. However, the application failed to disclose that she had also been employed by the Jersey City public school district between 1982 and 1987.

Thereafter, Fanego was interviewed by a panel of four administrators including Dr. Joseph Ramos, the District's director of bilingual education. She brought various credentials to the interview, including a copy of her resume which referred to her

[1] GED programs are designed for high school dropouts to prepare for a test in order to qualify for a state-issued high school diploma. Instruction in various academic areas, including writing, social studies, science, literature and mathematics, "may be offered in either English, Spanish or French, subject to the availability of teaching staff." N.J.A.C. 6:30-2.1(a)(2).

previous employment in Jersey City. During the course of the interview, Dr. Ramos asked why she had left the district. In response, Fanego indicated that she had encountered "some friction" with her former supervisor. However, she did not volunteer the fact that the Jersey City Board of Education brought tenure charges against her for inefficiency. On her job application, she marked the box "No" in response to the question, "Have you ever been dismissed from a position or refused re-employment as an educator?" Her answer was technically correct, since she had resigned her position in good standing "instead of fighting [the tenure charges]."

Because of her prior experience as a GED teacher, the District tentatively offered her a position. However, the offer was contingent on several conditions, including the results of a pre-employment physical examination, a criminal records check and final approval by the state district superintendent. None of these conditions were satisfied prior to the District's decision to withdraw its employment offer. The pre-employment physical conducted by the district's medical staff "revealed abnormal urinalysis" and Fanego was sent to her personal physician for further testing. By letter dated September 9, 1997, the District's medical supervisor notified Fanego that, "Your hire is pending awaiting medical clearance." Similarly, the criminal clearance was still pending at the time that the District withdrew its offer. Fanego had cooperated in furnishing her fingerprints, but her prints had not been dispatched to Trenton.

Most significantly, the state-district superintendent had not yet approved the issuance of an employment contract to Fanego. Although Fanego had signed the proposed written contract, no authorized representative had signed the document on behalf of the District. Moreover, as Fanego testified at the hearing, the final salary terms had not yet been negotiated. Fanego wanted recognition of her prior work experience for salary guide purposes.

Before the contract arrangements were finalized, Fanego was assigned to an Adult Education Center operated by the District. She spent the first week of September 1997 at that facility. Insofar as the District's central administration was aware, the purpose of allowing Fanego to start early was so that she would not miss an in-service training course. While at the Adult Center, however, Fanego participated in assessing the proficiency level of incoming students.

As soon as the District learned that Fanego had previously been brought up on tenure charges, it withdrew its offer of employment. Judi Granick, executive assistant in charge of human relations, stated that the District's policy since the takeover has been not to rehire former employees "who left without an excellent record." On or about September 8, 1997, the District advised Fanego that she was not going to be hired. Although Fanego claimed that she did not know the reason for the District's action, Granick sent a letter to petitioner's attorney on November 5, 1997 outlining the entire situation. Fanego had reported to the Adult Learning Center for only one week. Accordingly, the District paid her the gross amount of $516, representing what Fanego's services for one week were worth.

Conclusions of Law

Based on the foregoing facts and the applicable law, I CONCLUDE that Fanego was never an employee of the District and is not entitled to any relief.

Proofs show that an employment contract between Fanego and the District was never consummated because the District withdrew its offer before the conditions had been satisfied. A meeting of the minds occurs when there has been a common understanding and mutual assent of all the terms of a contract. Knight v. New England Mut. Life Ins. Co., 220 N.J. Super. 560, 565 (App. Div. 1987), certif. den. 110 N.J. 184 (1988). Hillsdale Nat. Bank v. Sansone, 8 N.J. 497, 500 (Law Div. 1951), aff'd 11 N.J. Super. 390 (App. Div. 1951). No teaching staff member may be appointed without the formal approval of the board of education appointing him. N.J.S.A. 18A:27-1. Rotondo v. Carlstadt-East Rutherford Reg. High Sch. Dist., 276 N.J. Super. 36, 39 (App. Div. 1994). In a state-operated school district, the state-district superintendent succeeds to the power of the local board and "make[s] all personnel determinations relative to employment, transfer and removal of all officers and employees, professional and nonprofessional[.]" Since the state-district superintendent never approved the appointment of Fanego to any position with the District, petitioner does not have an enforceable contract of employment.

Furthermore, a contract must be sufficiently definite "that the performance to be rendered by each party can be ascertained with reasonable certainty." Weichert Co. Realtors v. Ryan, 128 N.J. 427, 435 (1992). Agreement on essential terms of a contract is a prerequisite to its enforceability. Dontzin v. Myer, 301 N.J. Super. 501, 507 (App. Div. 1997). By Fanego's own admission, the parties had never reached agreement on the salary to be paid for performance of her teaching duties. Thus, the most that she could expect would be to recover on a theory of quantum merit for whatever services she actually performed. The record shows that the District paid Fanego for her one week of work.

Even if a contract were found to have been created, Fanego would be unable to obtain a remedy before the Commissioner. In support of her claim, Fanego does not cite any controlling statute, rule or regulation. Rather, she seeks to enforce the sixty-day notice provision contained in the standard teaching contract utilized by the District. Allen v. Newark Bd. of Educ., 96 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 688 (Comm'r Nov. 30, 1994). Where the controversy does not arise under the school law, it is outside the Commissioner's jurisdiction even though it may pertain to school personnel. East Brunswick Bd. of Educ. v. Twp. Council of East Brunswick, 48 N.J. 94, 102 (1966). It is well settled that the Commissioner's jurisdiction does not extend to claims for alleged breach of contract. Paladino v. Lacey Bd. of Educ., OAL Dkt. No. EDU 5589-87 (St. Bd. Feb. 1, 1989). Larsen v. Piscataway Bd. of Educ., OAL Dkt. No. 1445-81 (St. Bd. Oct. 6, 1982).

Order

It is ORDERED that the relief requested by Fanego is denied.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioners, employees of the Newark Board prior to takeover, argued that, upon abolishment of their central office administrative or supervisory positions, they were entitled to school-based supervisory or teaching positions.

ALJ granted Board's motion for summary decision, determining that when a central office supervisory position is abolished pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A: 7A-44c, all tenure and seniority rights to and originating from that position are also abolished. Thus, petitioners were properly terminated. Petitioners retained only tenure and seniority rights which were not attained in connection with their former central office supervisory positions.

Commissioner adopted findings and determination in initial decision as his own. Matter was dismissed.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On October 18, 1996, petitioners Philip Leong, Paul Johnson, Ermelina Iosca, Iris Martinez-Arroyo, Yvonne Goyins, Reginald Tate, Vera P. Allen and Ramanand Durga filed petitions of appeal with the Commissioner of Education. Petitioners Allen, Goyins, Tate, Iosca and Johnson alleged that they were entitled to a school-based supervisory position when their central office administrative positions were abolished. Petitioners Durga, Martinez-Arroyo and Leong alleged that they were entitled to a school-based supervisory position or a teaching position when their central office administrative positions were abolished. Respondent filed answers on December 3, 1996, alleging that its actions were consistent with statutory requirements and that petitioners failed to state a claim upon which relief could be granted.

On December 10, 1996, the Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, transmitted these matters to the Office of Administrative Law for hearings pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. These matters were assigned to the undersigned judge on May 2, 1997, and a prehearing conference was held on June 24, 1997. During the prehearing conference, the issues were isolated and a hearing was scheduled for May 12, 13, 14 and 15, 1998, at the Office of Administrative Law. The parties indicated that they would be filing cross-motions for summary decision. Prior to the first hearing date, the parties requested and were granted various extensions of time in which to file motions for summary decision. The record closed after the submission of a joint stipulation of facts and briefs in support of cross-motions for summary decision.

ISSUES

The parties have agreed that the issues in this case are as follows:

1. Were petitioners Allen, Goyins, Tate, Iosca and Johnson entitled to school-based supervisory positions when their central office administrative positions were abolished?

2. Were petitioners Durga, Martinez-Arroyo and Leong tenured administrators entitled to school-based supervisory positions or teaching positions when their central office administrative positions were abolished?

3. If petitioners are successful, to what relief are they entitled?

FACTS

The following facts have been stipulated to and are undisputed. J-1.

The eight petitioners were assigned to administrative or supervisory positions, or both, in the central office of the Newark School District ("central office"). On or about July 19, 1996, the State Board of Education assumed the operation of the Newark School District, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-34, forming the State-Operated School District ("District"). Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44, the central office was reorganized and all of the administrative and supervisory positions were abolished.

Petitioner Philip Leong was hired by the Newark Board of Education as a supervisory monitor on October 11, 1983. In the 1985-86 school year, Leong was appointed to the central office as a director, assigned to the gifted and talented programs, and eventually attained tenure in that supervisory position. He held an administrative and supervisory certificate with a principal endorsement and a supervisor endorsement, and an instructional certificate with an English endorsement and an elementary education endorsement, and therefore fulfilled the requirements of his position. Following the reorganization of the central office, Leong was not appointed to a school-based supervisory or instructional position in the District, but was terminated by the District, effective July 19, 1996.

Petitioner Paul Johnson was hired by the Newark Board of Education as a teacher on September 1, 1970, and eventually attained tenure. On April 11, 1988, Johnson was appointed to the central office as assistant director, art department, and eventually attained tenure in that supervisory position, as well. He held an administrative and supervisory certificate with a principal endorsement and a supervisor endorsement, and an instructional certificate with an art teacher endorsement, and therefore fulfilled the requirements of his supervisory position. Following the reorganization of the central office, Johnson was not appointed to a school-based supervisory or instructional position, but was transferred to his prior tenured position as art teacher. The transfer resulted in a reduction in Johnson's salary.

Petitioner Ermelina Iosca was hired by the Newark Board of Education as a substitute teacher on February 14, 1975. On October 13, 1977, Iosca was appointed as a teacher of English as a second language, and eventually attained tenure in that position. On September 9, 1987, she was appointed to the central office as an acting curriculum specialist, educational services department. On October 7, 1987, she was permanently appointed to that position, and eventually attained tenure in that supervisory position, as well. She held an administrative and supervisory certificate with a principal endorsement and a supervisor endorsement, and an instructional certificate with an elementary teacher endorsement and a teacher of English as a second language endorsement, and therefore fulfilled the requirements of her supervisory position. Following the reorganization of the central office, Iosca was not appointed to a school-based supervisory position, but was transferred to her prior tenured position as a teacher of English as a second language. The transfer resulted in a reduction in Iosca's salary.

Petitioner Iris Martinez-Arroyo was hired by the Newark Board of Education as the director of the Office of Bilingual Education in the central office on August 11, 1982, and eventually attained tenure, despite respondent's assertion that she did not have a bilingual/bicultural education endorsement, a requirement for that position. She held an administrative and supervisory certificate with a principal endorsement, a supervisor endorsement, an assistant executive superintendent endorsement, and a specialist in supervision and curriculum endorsement; she also held an instructional certificate with a teacher of English endorsement. Following the reorganization of the central office, Martinez-Arroyo was not appointed to a school-based supervisory position, but was terminated by the District, effective July 19, 1996.

Petitioner Yvonne Goyins was hired by the Newark Board of Education as a home economics teacher, and eventually attained tenure in that position. From 1986 to 1993 she served as supervisor, Office of Employment and Technology, and eventually attained tenure in that supervisory position, as well. On January 1, 1993, Goyins was appointed to the central office as office supervisor, Office of Employment and Technology, and also attained tenure in that supervisory position. She held an administrative certificate with a principal endorsement, a supervisor endorsement, an assistant executive superintendent endorsement, and a specialist in supervision and curriculum endorsement; she also held an instructional certificate with a teacher of home economics endorsement. On October 11, 1996, Goyins was appointed acting department chairperson of industrial arts. Following the reorganization of the central office, she was not appointed to a school-based supervisory position, but was transferred to her prior tenured position as a teacher of home economics.[1] The transfer resulted in a reduction in her salary.

Petitioner Vera Allen was hired by the Newark Board of Education as a substitute teacher on September 1, 1969, and served in that capacity until 1973. She was rehired during the 1979-80 school year as a teacher, and eventually attained tenure. On March 12, 1990, Allen was appointed to the central office as acting curriculum specialist. She held an administrative and supervisory certificate with a principal endorsement, a supervisor endorsement, an assistant executive superintendent endorsement, a specialist in supervision endorsement, and a school administrator endorsement; she also held an instructional certificate with an elementary school endorsement and a nursery school endorsement. In September 1993, Allen again assumed the position of teacher. On March 5, 1996, she was appointed to the central office as acting supervisor of curriculum services. Following the reorganization of the central office, Allen was not appointed to a school-based supervisory position, but was transferred to her prior tenured position of teacher. The transfer resulted in a reduction in Allen's salary. The joint stipulation of facts does not indicate that Allen ever attained tenure as a supervisor.

Petitioner Reginald Tate was hired by the Newark Board of Education as a school psychologist on September 1, 1971, and eventually attained tenure in that position. On July 1, 1989, Tate was appointed to the central office as assistant director, Office of Child Guidance and Placement, and eventually attained tenure in that supervisory position, as well, despite respondent's assertion that he did not hold a director of student personnel services endorsement, a prerequisite for the position. He held an administrative certificate with a principal endorsement and a supervisor endorsement, an instructional certificate with a teacher of psychology endorsement and a secondary school teacher of Spanish endorsement, and an educational services certificate with a school psychologist endorsement. Following the reorganization of the central office, Tate was not appointed to a school-based supervisory position, but was transferred to his prior tenured position of school psychologist. The transfer resulted in a reduction in his salary.

Petitioner Ramanand Durga was hired by the Newark Board of Education as the director of the central office on November 11, 1980. He held an administrative certificate with a principal endorsement and a supervisor endorsement, and instructional certificates from New York and Wisconsin. However, respondent asserts that Durga did not hold an instructional certificate from New Jersey, a requirement for his position. Following the reorganization of the central office, Durga was not appointed to a school-based supervisory or instructional position in the District, but was terminated by the District, effective July 16, 1996.

Both petitioners and respondent have moved for summary decision. Petitioners base their motion on the following arguments: (1) they are entitled to any other school-based supervisory position in the District for which they hold the appropriate certificates and endorsements, by virtue of their tenure as supervisors; (2) in the alternative, petitioners Leong, Martinez-Arroyo and Durga, all of whom were terminated, are entitled to teaching positions for which they hold the appropriate certificate, even though they were never tenured as teachers; and (3) the decision in Van Dyke v. State-Operated School District of the City of Jersey City, 91 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 43, on which respondent relies, is over broad.

Respondent's motion is based on the following arguments: (1) petitioners do not have tenure rights to supervisory positions outside of the central office, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5, N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44(c) and the Van Dyke decision; and (2) petitioners Leong, Martinez-Arroyo and Durga are not entitled to teaching positions for which they hold the appropriate certificate, because they are not tenured as teachers.

DISCUSSION

SUMMARY DECISION STANDARD

Under the Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules, a party may be granted summary decision if > the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine > issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. When a motion for summary decision is made and supported, an adverse party in order to prevail must by responding affidavit set forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding. If the adverse party does not so respond, a summary decision, if appropriate, shall be entered.

> [N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b).]

The summary decision rule is essentially the same as the summary judgment rule under the New Jersey Rules of Court, permitting a party to move for summary judgment if > the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment or order as a matter of law. An issue of fact is genuine only if, considering the burden of persuasion at trial, the evidence submitted by the parties on the motion, together with all legitimate inferences therefrom favoring the non-moving party, would require submission of the issue to the trier of fact.

> [R. 4:46-2(c).]

The Supreme Court in Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Co., 142 N.J. 520 (1995), provided further guidance for the summary decision analysis: "whether the evidence presents a sufficient disagreement to require [a hearing] or whether it is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law." 142 N.J. at 536 (citing Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 251-52, 106 S. Ct. 2505, 2512, 91 L. Ed. 2d 202, 214 [1986]).[2]

[2] See also Frank v. Ivy Club, 120 N.J. 73 (1990), holding that a hearing must be granted by an agency only if material disputed adjudicative facts exist.

A contested case can be "summarily disposed of before an [administrative law judge] without a plenary hearing in instances where the undisputed material facts, as developed on motion or otherwise, indicate that a particular disposition is required as a matter of law." In re Robros Recycling Corp., 226 N.J. Super. 343, 350 (App. Div. 1988). A summary decision must be based on an examination of the totality of circumstances, mitigating and aggravating factors, adequate factual findings and conclusions of law. Ibid. [3]

TENURE OF SUPERVISORS AND ADMINISTRATORS

The tenure of teaching staff is authorized by the Tenure Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:28-1, et seq. A teaching staff member must hold a valid certificate to "teach, administer, direct or supervise the teaching, instruction, or educational guidance of . . . pupils in such public schools and of such other certificate, if any, as may be required by law." N.J.S.A. 18A:26-2. In order to attain tenure, a teaching staff member must hold the appropriate certificate for his or her position. N.J.S.A. 18A:28-4. In addition to certification, the teaching staff member must also be employed by the school district or board for: "(a) [t]hree consecutive calendar years, or any shorter period which may be fixed by the employing board for such purpose; or (b) [t]hree consecutive academic years, together with employment at the beginning of the next succeeding academic [3] The tenure law is complex, and this complexity is compounded exponentially by the misuse of tenure terminology. As the administrative law judge (ALJ) noted in Howley v. Ewing Township Board of Education, 6 N.J.A.R. 509, 512 (1982), aff'd, State Bd. of Educ. (June 1, 1983), "Misuse and abuse of the education vocabulary associated with the tenure law is so common that it has become the rule rather than the exception." Unfortunately, the regulations also misuse the terms, even in the same paragraph, e.g., N.J.A.C. 6:11-11.12(c)(1) reads in pertinent part: "The requirement for the school psychologist's endorsement includes an externship . . . . Students engaged in this externship are not yet eligible for a school psychologist's certificate" (emphasis added). As discussed below, an endorsement and a certificate are distinct credentials.

Similarly, the parties have used improper terminology in their submissions. For example, Exhibit #9 of the joint stipulation of facts is an announcement of a vacancy for an assistant director of child guidance, published by the Board. According to the announcement, the position requires a "Principal/Supervisor Certificate" (i.e., a principal endorsement and a supervisor endorsement under an administrative and supervisory certificate), a "Director of Student Personnel Services Certificate" (i.e., a director of student personnel services endorsement), and a "Teacher's Certificate" (i.e., an instructional certificate). In this decision, the proper terminology without abbreviation will be used.

year; or (c) [t]he equivalent of more than three academic years within a period of any four consecutive academic years." N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5.

There are three types of educational certificates issued by the Board of Examiners: (1) instructional; (2) administrative and supervisory; and (3) educational services. N.J.A.C. 6:11-2.3. The Board of Examiners may also issue special "endorsements" under the appropriate certificates. Ibid. A teaching staff member must have the appropriate certificate and endorsement for his or her position. For example, an art teacher would be required to hold an instructional certificate with an art endorsement, which "authorizes the holder to teach art in all public schools." N.J.A.C. 6:11-6.2(a)(2). A teaching staff member may possess multiple endorsements under a certificate, qualifying him or her to fill any position covered by the corresponding endorsement. For example, an art teacher holding an instructional certificate with an art endorsement and an English as a second language endorsement is authorized to teach both art and English as a second language in all public schools. N.J.A.C. 6:11-6.2(a)(2), (a)(8).

There are at least four separate endorsements under an administrative and supervisory certificate: (1) school administrator; (2) principal; (3) supervisor; and (4) school business administrator. N.J.A.C. 6:11-9.3. According to the Supreme Court in Dennery v. Board of Education of the Passaic County Regional High School District # 1, 131 N.J. 626, 634 (1993), "[A]n educator with tenure in any endorsement that he or she possesses can, in effect, extend or transfer that tenure to other endorsements that are subsumed under the same certificate." Thus, the art teacher in the foregoing example with tenure under her instructional certificate with an art endorsement may apply that tenure to her English as a second language endorsement, i.e., she is a tenured art teacher as well as a tenured English as a second language teacher. A literal reading of Dennery would appear to compel the conclusion that a supervisor with tenure under her administrative and supervisory certificate with a supervisor endorsement could also apply her tenure to her principal endorsement, which is held under the same administrative and supervisory certificate. However, both the Legislature and the Supreme Court in a subsequent decision, Nelson v. Board of Education of the Township of Old Bridge, 148 N.J. 358 (1997), rev'g No. A-6441-94T5 (App. Div. April 29, 1996), rev'g 95 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 257, make it clear that tenure does not apply in the same way for administrative and supervisory personnel as it does for teachers.

In Nelson the petitioner held an administrative and supervisory certificate, with a principal endorsement and a supervisor endorsement, as well as an instructional certificate. He began his employment as a teacher of industrial arts, and was eventually appointed to department chairperson of industrial arts, achieving tenure in that supervisory position in 1985. His duties included assisting in the recruitment, hiring, training and supervising of department personnel, preparing the departmental budget, and evaluating teacher performance. Five years later, the board of education eliminated his position, reassigning him to his former position as a teacher of industrial arts. About three years later, three positions opened up, two as elementary school principals and one as a middle school vice principal. The petitioner filed a petition of appeal with the Commissioner of Education, asserting that he was entitled by tenure to be appointed to any one of the three positions, even though he had never actually served as a principal or vice principal. Citing to the Supreme Court in Dennery, which held that a tenured educator in any endorsement can transfer that tenure to other endorsements under the same certificate, the ALJ determined that the petitioner was entitled to an appointment to one of the elementary school principal positions.

However, the Commissioner of Education rejected the ALJ's decision, finding that tenure accrued only as a result of actual work experience in the separately tenurable positions specifically enumerated in N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5. Since the petitioner could not transfer his tenure as a supervisor to the position of principal, he was not entitled to the position of elementary school principal. The State Board of Education affirmed the Commissioner's decision. 95 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 257.

On appeal, the Appellate Division reversed the State Board of Education, reading the Dennery decision the same way as the ALJ – having earned tenure in the supervisor endorsement under the supervisory and administrative certificate, the petitioner could transfer his tenure to his principal endorsement, even though he never worked as a principal. No. A-6441-94T5 (App. Div. April 29, 1996).

During pendency of the appeal to the Supreme Court, the Legislature amended N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 in response to the Appellate Division's decision in Nelson, to clarify that "tenure is acquired in one of the specifically enumerated positions only if the individual has served for the requisite statutorily required period of time in that position." L. 1996, c. 58, §1, eff. June 28, 1996. The statute now reads, in pertinent part: "[T]enure in any of the administrative or supervisory positions enumerated herein shall accrue only by employment in that administrative or supervisory position. Tenure so accrued shall not extend to any other administrative or supervisory position." N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5.

The Supreme Court subsequently reversed the Appellate Division's decision in Nelson, and although it did not expressly overrule the Dennery decision, it noted that Dennery emphasized that the courts "should defer to the State Board in its interpretation of complex tenure laws." 148 N.J. 358, 366 (1997) (citing Dennery, supra, 131 N.J. at 637).

The decision in Nelson makes it clear that tenure is not transferable between certificates, or even between endorsements for separately tenurable positions within a single certificate. However, tenure may be transferable within the same endorsement, particularly a supervisor endorsement, which is "generic and authorizes the holder to supervise any subject matter and any grade level." Galbraith v. Lenape Regional High School District, 96 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 396, 406, aff'd, 97 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 558.

To summarize, tenure accrues only as a result of actual work experience in the separately tenurable positions specifically enumerated in N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5, including all positions that require appropriate certificates and endorsements. Tenure accrued in a particular administrative or supervisory position does not extend to any other administrative or supervisory position enumerated in the statute.

VAN DYKE V. STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF JERSEY CITY

The petitioners in the present matter argue that upon abolishment of their central office positions, they retained tenure rights in those supervisory positions outside of the central office, notwithstanding the ruling in Van Dyke v. State-Operated School District of the City of Jersey City, 91 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 43. In Van Dyke, the petitioners held supervisory positions with the Jersey City School District. The Jersey City Board of Education was abolished and replaced by the State-Operated School District, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-34 et seq. The petitioners' supervisory positions were subsequently abolished under a reorganization of the district's central administrative and supervisory staff, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44(c):

> Notwithstanding any other provision of law or contract, the positions of the central administrative and supervisory staff, instructional and noninstructional, . . . shall be abolished upon the reorganization of the State-operated school district's staff. The State district superintendent may hire an individual whose position is so abolished, based upon the evaluation of the individual and the staffing needs of the reorganized district staff. These individuals shall be hired with tenure if they had tenure in their prior position. If they did not have tenure in their prior position, they may obtain tenure pursuant to the provisions of N.J.S.[A.] 18A:28-6. Individuals hired as State assistant superintendents shall not be hired with tenure and shall not acquire tenure. Employees or officers not hired for the reorganized staff shall be given 60 days' notice of termination or 60 days' pay. The notice or payment shall be in lieu of any other claim or recourse against the employing board or the school district based on law or contract. Notwithstanding this limitation, nothing herein shall preclude an individual from asserting upon separation from service any legal contractual right to health care coverage, annuities, accrued vacation days, accrued sick leave, insurance and approved tuition costs. Any employee > whose position is abolished by operation of this subsection shall be entitled to assert a claim to any position or to placement upon a preferred eligibility list for any position to which the employee may be entitled by virtue of tenure or seniority within the district. No employee whose position is abolished by operation of this subsection shall retain any right to tenure or seniority in the positions abolished herein.

The Van Dyke petitioners were not offered supervisory positions, but instead were transferred to their prior tenured positions as teachers or teaching consultants. They filed petitions of appeal, which were consolidated and referred to the Office of Administrative Law.

The ALJ read the last sentence of N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44(c) – "No employee whose position is abolished by operation of this subsection shall retain any right to tenure or seniority in the positions abolished herein" – to mean that the petitioners were not entitled to claim "tenure or seniority rights (1) to their former abolished supervisory positions or (2) to preferment in supervisory positions not abolished or (3) in supervisory positions to which present incumbents have been rehired by the district superintendent under N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44(c)." 91 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) at 45. According to the ALJ, the petitioners only retained "rights of re-employment and preferred eligibility for any other positions to which they may be entitled by virtue of tenure or seniority." Id. at 45. The ALJ found support for his finding in statements by the Assembly Education Committee and the Senate Education Committee during enactment of N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-34 et seq., which provided that affected employees retained bumping rights "for other positions" in the district. The Commissioner of Education adopted the ALJ's decision, reiterating the finding that the petitioners retained "no tenure or seniority rights to a supervisor position. Thus, the only 'bumping' rights they could exert would relate to nonsupervisory positions to which their tenure or seniority entitled them." Id. at 46. The Board of Education affirmed the decision for the reasons expressed by the Commissioner. On appeal, the Appellate Division found that the petitioners failed to file a timely brief, and the case was dismissed with prejudice. No. A-3633-91T2 (App. Div. September 1, 1992).

The petitioners in the present matter argue that the generic interpretation of the term "position abolished" in Van Dyke is over broad. The last sentence of N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44(c) reads that displaced central administrative and supervisory personnel retain no right to tenure or seniority in their abolished positions. The preceding sentence reads that displaced central administrative and supervisory personnel may assert a claim to any position or to placement on a preferred eligibility list for any position they are entitled to by virtue of tenure or seniority "within the district." The statements by the Assembly Education Committee and the Senate Education Committee reiterate that affected personnel retain bumping rights for other positions in the district for which they may have seniority, i.e., positions in the district other than the abolished positions. Read together, the petitioners argue that displaced central administrative and supervisory personnel have no rights to their former supervisory positions in the central office, but do have rights to other supervisory positions in the District. According to the petitioners, this interpretation gives the proper legal effect to the penultimate sentence of N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44(c): "Any employee whose position is abolished by operation of this subsection shall be entitled to assert a claim to any position or to placement upon a preferred eligibility list for any position to which the employee may be entitled by virtue of tenure or seniority within the district" (emphasis added).

The petitioners are attempting to sever tenure from the abolished supervisory positions. But the unarticulated reasoning behind Van Dyke is that when a central office position is abolished pursuant to the school takeover law, all tenure and seniority rights to and originating from that position are also abolished. Only the petitioners' tenure and seniority rights which did not originate from the abolished central office position are retained.

The petitioners' interpretation of N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44(c) is not unreasonable. However, it is important to note that the Supreme Court in Nelson, citing to its earlier decision in Dennery, emphasized that administrative law judges and the Appellate Division "should defer to the State Board in its interpretation of complex tenure laws." Nelson, supra, 148 N.J. at 366 (citing Dennery, supra, 131 N.J. at 637). The State Board of Education affirmed the ALJ's and Commissioner's decision in Van Dyke that central office personnel displaced by N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44(c) retain no supervisory tenure rights, only "nonsupervisory rights to which their tenure or seniority entitled them." Van Dyke, supra, 91 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) at 46. Thus, I cannot accept petitioners' interpretation of N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44(c) requiring deviation from the Van Dyke decision.

PETITIONERS NOT TENURED AS TEACHERS ARE NOT ENTITLED TO TEACHING POSITIONS

Next to be addressed is petitioners' alternative argument: Petitioners Leong, Martinez-Arroyo and Durga, all of whom were terminated, are entitled to teaching positions because their prior supervisory positions required instructional certificates as well as administrative and supervisory certificates, and therefore they earned tenure simultaneously as supervisors and teachers.

The Supreme Court in Dennery and in Nelson emphasized that tenure required "actual service in a position included under a certificate." Nelson, supra, 148 N.J. at 367; Dennery, supra, 131 N.J. at 638. Tenure accrues only as a result of actual work experience in the separately tenurable positions specifically enumerated in N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5, including the position of teacher. There is no evidence that petitioners Leong, Martinez-Arroyo and Durga had teaching duties or were required to teach in their supervisory positions in the central office. The local school district's imposition of a dual certification does not obviate the practical need for actual work experience as a teacher in order to attain tenure as a teacher. As respondent argues, the dual requirement of administrative and supervisory certificate and instructional certificate does not mean that "the holders of the positions would be required to perform any teaching skills; the requirement of the instructional certificate is a means of ensuring that the holders of the supervisory positions do not function without the same basic knowledge and background as the instructors in the district."

Furthermore, it does not appear that petitioners Martinez-Arroyo and Durga ever attained tenure as supervisors in the central office, let alone as teachers. Tenure requires the teaching staff member to hold the appropriate credentials for the tenurable position throughout the probationary period. N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5. Petitioner Martinez-Arroyo was the director of the Office of Bilingual Education in the central office. She held an administrative and supervisory certificate with a principal endorsement, a supervisor endorsement, an assistant executive superintendent endorsement, and a specialist in supervision and curriculum endorsement, as well as an instructional certificate with a teacher of English endorsement. However, the position of the director of the Office of Bilingual Education in the central office also required a bilingual/bicultural education endorsement, which Ms. Martinez-Arroyo does not appear to hold. J-1, Exhibit #4. Petitioner Durga was the director of the central office. He held an administrative certificate with a principal endorsement and a supervisor endorsement, and instructional certificates from New York and Wisconsin. However, the position of director of the central office required a New Jersey instructional certificate, which Mr. Durga does not appear to hold. J-1, Exhibit #10.

CONCLUSION

Respondent is entitled to summary decision. When a central office supervisory position is abolished pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44, all tenure and seniority rights to and originating from that position are also abolished. Petitioners retain only tenure and seniority rights which were not attained in connection with their former central office supervisory positions. Thus, petitioners Johnson, Iosca, and Allen retain only their tenure rights as teachers.

The Joint Stipulation of Facts indicates that petitioner Goyins attained tenure as a supervisor of the Office of Employment and Technology prior to her appointment to a position in the central office with the same title. However, N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-44(c) encompasses supervisors with "district-wide responsibilities," even if those supervisors did not reside in the central office building. Cirasa v. State-Operated School District of the City of Paterson, 95 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 141, 146. Thus, petitioner Goyins retains only her tenure rights as a teacher.

Petitioners Leong, Martinez-Arroyo, Tate and Durga are not tenured as teachers. Thus, petitioner Tate retains only his tenure rights as a school psychologist, and the remaining petitioners were properly terminated.

ORDER

For the foregoing reasons, it is hereby ORDERED that respondent's motion for summary decision is granted. Petitioners' appeals are hereby dismissed.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." Record Closed: June 15, 1999 Decided: June 16, 1999

BEFORE ANTHONY T. BRUNO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner, P.A. and N.A., as parents of C.A. appeal the respondent's denial of petitioners' request that son, C.A. graduating in 3 years (as a junior) be afforded all rights and privileges accrued to graduating fourth year students (Seniors). Petitioner also request the respondents' policy to the contrary (Board Policy 8.10.5) be rescinded as arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable.

Complaint in this matter was filed with the Commissioner of Education on April 26, 1999 and respondent's answer was filed on June 7, 1999. On June 10, 1999 the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for hearing as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. The plenary hearing was scheduled for June 15, 1999 and commenced that date at Mercerville, New Jersey. Upon the completion of testimony the hearing record remained open to receive minutes of meetings of respondent when Board Policy 8.10.5 was discussed. The hearing record closed on June 15, 1999. Witnesses who testified and exhibits admitted into evidence are listed in the appendix.

FACTUAL CONSIDERATIONS

The material facts in this matter are not in dispute. Therefore the following factual statements taken from the testimony of the witnesses and the exhibits of the parties are the FINDINGS of FACT:

C.A is a 16 year old student at West Deptford Township High School. C.A. entered West Deptford High School in September 1996 and has continued as a student through June 1999. Through his second year of high school, C.A. had earned 75 high school credits (Exhibit P-2, Page P-4), and the testimony is clear that C.A. earned 40 credits for his work in the third year of high school. C.A. has enough high school credits to qualify for graduation.

On October 28, 1998, petitioner met with Howard Cohen, Principal of West Deptford Township High School to discuss plans for C.A.'s next school year (1999-2000). Petitioners though that C.A. might attend a private school for his fourth year and return to West Deptford High School for graduation with his class. Cohen told petitioners that if C.A. left high school, he could not return for graduation with the other students in his class. Cohen further advised petitioners that C.A. was eligible for early graduation and for some of the scholarship and other awards C.A. would not receive if he left for private school.

After considering Cohen's information petitioner wrote to Cohen on November 4 requesting approval for C.A. to graduate with the class of 1999 (Exhibit R-1). C.A. wrote on November 9 that he wished to graduate in 3 years "because I feel that I have exhausted all the possibilities in high school." (Exhibit R-2).

Respondent, Board of Education, considered petitioners request and on December 14, 1998 adopted a resolution approving C.A.'s graduation in June 1999 Exhibit P-1). Cohen advised petitioners that C.A. was granted "Senior" status and would be moved to a "Senior" homeroom. C.A. asked to stay with his "Junior" homeroom.

P.A. testified that C.A. was then first in his Senior Class of 226 students with a GPA of 5.692.

Petitioners learned during a conversation with Cohen that C.A. would receive no awards for which a GPA was a criteria, nor would C.A. participate in any class rank awards - such as the County dinner honoring the top 5 students from each high school. C.A. could not be valedictorian nor salutatorian.

Petitioners met with Cohen and Dr. Lawrence Hobdell, Superintendent of Schools of the West Deptford Township Schools on March 4. The matter discussed at the meeting are enumerated in Hobdell's letter to petitioners (Exhibit P-6). P.A. testified that he was made aware of the specifics of Board Policy 8.10.5 (Exhibit P-3) in the December meeting with Cohen and Board Policy 8.10.4 (Exhibit R-3) in the March meeting with Hobdell and Cohen. P.A. received a copy of the policies from Hobdell..

Petitioners asked the Board of Education to reconsider its decision to apply Board Policy 8.10.5 to C.A.'s graduation request. Hobdell testified that he wrote to petitioners on April 13 (Exhibit P-7) to confirm the application of Board Policy 8.10.5 and to specify the extent of recognition to be afforded C.A.

ANALYSIS AND DISCUSSION

It is because petitioners question the reasonableness of Board Policy 8.10.5 and 8.10.0.4 that respondent was asked to provide its minutes and supporting memoranda relative to the adoption of the policies. The minutes of the closed session of the West Deptford Township Board of Education (Exhibit R-4) reviews the situation which precipitated Board review and expresses the sentiment "that senior students who have worked extremely hard during their four years will receive the appropriate recognition for their efforts during commencement exercises. . .".

I FIND that the Board had 3 options from which to choose policies for recognizing 3 year graduates. I FIND that the Board weighed the relative fairness of each option, and exercising its prerogative with adequate and proper discretion chose the option which became Board Policy 8.10.0.4 and 8.10.5. I CONCLUDE that both policies are not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable.

The uncontradicted testimony of Dr. Hobdell is that the policies have been enforced uniformly since they were adopted on October 9, 1995. I therefore FIND the statement to be FACT, and CONCLUDE that the Policies are not applied unevenly for any reason whatsoever.

Realizing that the only matter which may be timely considered 2 days before graduation is whether C.A. should be recognized and honored as a valedictorian, petitioners have been forced to abandon their challenge to the decision that C.A. cannot be considered for some of the approximately 91 awards to be made Thursday evening. A review of the 7 awards listed in Exhibit P-4 reveals the sponsoring organizations established the criteria for award consideration. Had any organization wished to have a 3-year graduate considered, the organization could have done so.

The titles "valedictorian" and "salutatorian" derive from classical Latin for the person who bids farewell and the person who greets. Today those titles are earned by the 2 academic representatives of a graduating class who speak for and to their classmates at the commencement exercises. Because they are representatives of the graduating class I FIND the action of the Board of Education to restrict the valedictorian and salutatorian to those graduating seniors who have actively, and sometimes aggressively but hopefully not viciously, competed for 4 years for those honors to be fair and reasonable. To the contrary I cannot FIND it fair for someone to join the academic fray 6 months before graduation to be an academic representative of his or her classmates.

P.A. opined that should C.A. be denied valedictorian status C.A.'s scholarship and future business opportunities would be "hindered." Not only can such opinion be given no weight because of lack of documentary support, but also because experience does not lead to that conclusion.

Counsel for respondent points out correctly that judicial judgment cannot be substituted for board of education policy. I CONCLUDE that respondent exercised its discretion in a proper and reasonable manner in adopting Board Policy 8.10.0.4 and 8.10.5. In addition to the propriety to the action of the Board of Education, I FIND the petitioners and C.A. to have been fully informed of all of the consequences of each alternative before them. C.A. could have taken his fourth year of high school at a private school, graduate from West Deptford High School after 3 years, or return to west Deptford High School to graduate with the Class of 2000. C.A. could compete for valedictorian or salutatorian honors and all of the academic awards only if C.A. remained at West Deptford High School for the fourth year. Petitioners and C.A. were not offered "cafeteria" choices. Each option had drawbacks as well as benefits. I CONCLUDE that petitioners and C.A., by choosing for C.A. to graduate after 3 years of high school, they chose to accept all of the consequences of Board Policy 8.10.5 and 8.10.0.4.

ORDER

Accordingly, it is ORDERED that petitioners complaint be DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-9.4(e)8 and the agreement of the parties and the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION shall issue a final decision within fifteen (15) days.

Within six (6) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500 marked "Attention: Exceptions." RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter heard on an accelerated basis pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-9.4 and the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed.

Upon such review, the Commissioner determines to affirm the initial decision of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ). In so doing, the Commissioner concurs that the Board presents a rational basis for adhering to its policy to restrict students who graduate in three years from being eligible for honors and recognition based on their grade point averages. The Board maintains that the purpose for this policy is "(1) to protect the senior graduates from displacement by students who graduate in only three years; and (2) to evaluate and award students who have excelled over a similar period of time." (Board's Brief, June 15, 1999, at p. 4)

Moreover, it is clear from petitioners' submissions that the Board carefully considered petitioners' request, and determined that the following recognition would be appropriate, within the confines of its policy:

> [C.] will be recognized among the top ten percent of the Class of 1999 and will wear the appropriate graduation garb denoting his special academic accomplishments.
> [C.] will be listed in the graduation program with all other seniors with the symbol beside his name designating him as among the top ten percent of his class.
> Of the approximate 91 senior awards, [C.] will be able to compete with other seniors in the class for approximately 80 of those awards; excepted are those approximately eleven awards where a grade point average or class rank is a qualifying criteria (sic) for an award. (Petition of Appeal at Exhibit P-14)

Therefore, like the ALJ, the Commissioner cannot find the Board's decision to deny C.A. the opportunity to compete for honors and awards based on his grade point average to be patently arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable, or otherwise made in bad faith.

Accordingly, the initial decision is adopted for the reasons expressed therein and the within Petition of Appeal is dismissed.*

SYNOPSIS

The Woodlynne Board appealed a determination by the County Superintendent of Schools that A.S. was homeless and Woodlynne School District was his district of residence.

The ALJ found that, for the period April 2, 1996 through June 1997, A.S. was not the child of a homeless family, in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6:3-8.3, and that respondent Lindenwold Board was responsible for his educational costs during this period.

The Commissioner concurred with the ALJ, clarifying, however, that A.S.'s entitlement to a free education in Lindenwold for this time period flows from his status as a child whose parents were domiciled in the district, as per N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1a, rather than from any status as an affidavit student, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1b(1). The petition was granted.

Record Closed: March 10. 1999 Decided: May 4, 1999

BEFORE KATHRYN A. CLARK, ALJ:

Woodlynne Board of Education appeals the determination that the pupil, A.S., is homeless and further appeals the assignment of Woodlynne School District as the pupil's district of residence.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Woodlynne appealed from a February 4, 1997 determination by the County Superintendent of Schools that Woodlynne is the district of residence and is therefore, responsible for A.S.'s educational costs. Woodlynne seeks an order that A.S. is not a homeless child, and that his district of residence, and therefore the financial responsibility for his education, rests with Lindenwold.

Cross motions for summary decision were filed. Both petitioner's and respondent's motions were denied.

Summary decision is to be granted if, after considering the evidence presented in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, there exists no genuine issue of material fact. Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of America, 142 N.J. 520, 523 (1995). The essential question is "whether the evidence presents a sufficient disagreement to require [a hearing] or whether it is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law" Id. at 533. "When a motion for summary decision is made and supported, an adverse party in order to prevail must by responding affidavit set forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b).

DISCUSSION OF THE TESTIMONY AND EVIDENCE

The only witness to testify was S.S., the mother of A.S., who said that she and her husband and her son were now living at 523 B. Drive, Magnolia.

Previously, they had lived in a townhouse at 216 C. Avenue, Woodlynne. Their landlord stopped paying his mortgage and the bank moved to foreclose.

S.S. and her husband were not working when they lost their residence, and they went to Welfare for assistance.

The family moved to Lindenwold in April, 1996, to live with S.S.'s mother. After their move to Lindenwold, S.S. said that the family had no intention of moving back to Woodlynne.

While at her mother's house, S.S. said that she and her husband paid rent and paid the gas bill, and paid part of the electric bill, the cable TV bill, and the food bills. S.S. said that S.S.'s mother signed an affidavit (that was still unavailable) that S.S.'s mother supported A.S. during the time he lived in her house (April 2, 1996 through June, 1997). S.S. said that her mother provided support to the whole family during this period, and did support A.S. as if he were her own child. S.S. did not give up custody of A.S.

The Lindenwold house could have remained their permanent residence, but sometime after the S's moved in, S.S.'s mother decided to move to Florida. S.S.'s mother sold her house and S.S. and her husband and her family moved in July, 1997 to Magnolia.

S.S. and her husband are now both working and the family is now living at 523 B. Drive, Magnolia. A.S. is now in school in Gloucester Township.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Having had the opportunity to observe and to judge the demeanor and credibility of all witnesses in their testimony, and upon review of all the evidence and exhibits submitted, and drawing reasonable inferences therefrom, I FIND the following as FACT by a preponderance of the credible evidence:

A.S. is the child of A.S. (the father) and S.S. (the mother). The family currently resides in Magnolia, New Jersey, in Chews Landing School District. Prior to April 2, 1996, the family resided in Woodlynne, New Jersey, and A.S. attended public school in the Woodlynne School District. The landlord, of the building where the family lived, was evicted, subsequent to which the family also had to move. There is no contention that the family was evicted due to any fault of their own.

After leaving their Woodlynne home, the family moved to A.S.'s grandmother's home, in Lindenwold, New Jersey on or about April 2, 1996. The family lived with the grandmother, in Lindenwold, until they moved to their present residence in July of 1997.

From April 2, 1996 through June, 1997, A.S. attended school in the Lindenwold School District. The grandmother signed an affidavit, the truth of which no party disputes, that she had been supporting A.S. since March, 1996.

LEGAL DISCUSSION

The relevant statute, N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, states that public schools shall be free to all domiciliaries of the school district, and also to any child who is "kept in the home of another person domiciled within the school district and (who) is supported by such other person gratis as if (he) were such other person's own child." Further, a showing is required that the domiciliary intends to keep and support the child without cost to the parent for a longer time than merely throughout the school term.

The grandmother filed an affidavit (not submitted with the motion papers) with Lindenwold, which apparently stated that she supported A.S. during the period in question (April 2, 1996 through June, 1997). The balance of his support was provided by his parents, who at the time also lived in Lindenwold.

N.J.A.C. 6:3-8.2 defines a homeless child as "one who lacks a fixed, regular, and adequate residence." No party asserted that A.S.'s grandmother's home was not an adequate residence. A.S. lived there for over a year and there is no evidence that A.S. lived anywhere else during that time. There is no evidence that his grandmother (and/or his parents) did not want or intend him to remain at the grandmother's home indefinitely, until the grandmother, after a year, decided to move to Florida.

N.J.A.C. 6:3-8.3(b)(6) provides that a child shall also be considered homeless if he is "[t]he child of a homeless family which is out of necessity living with relatives or friends". A.S.'s mother submitted an affidavit (included in the submissions) stating that she and A.S. were living with the grandmother out of necessity. No party disputed this. Therefore, one may conclude that A.S. was living with his grandmother out of necessity. This leaves the question of whether A.S. was the "child of a homeless family".

To determine whether A.S. is a "child of homeless family" all the facts surrounding his residing with his grandmother have to be examined. N.J.A.C. 6:3-8. He was supported by his grandmother, a domiciliary of Lindenwold, and by his parents, who at the time, were also domiciliaries of Lindenwold. He was not the child of a homeless family from April 2, 1996 through June, 1997.

CONCLUSION

This case may be said to stand for many things, but surely it should stand for the value of live testimony. Counsel for petitioner exerted much effort in arranging for the presence of her witness, S.S., and it was worth it. S.S.'s testimony was clear, straightforward, compelling, and completely dispositive of the issue in this case.

S.S. and her husband A.S., and therefore their child A.S. were not then, and surely, are not now, homeless. A.S. was not the child of a homeless family for the period April, 1996 through June, 1997. Lindenwold is the district of residence for the period April 2, 1996 through June, 1997, and Lindenwold is responsible for A.S.'s educational costs during this period.

ORDER

It is therefore ORDERED that the appeal be DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

The record of this matter and the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions.

The Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) that, for the period April 2, 1996 through June 1997, A.S. was not the child of a homeless family, in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6:3-8.3, and that the respondent Board of Education of the Borough of Lindenwold was responsible for his educational costs during this period. In so determining, however, the Commissioner clarifies that A.S.'s entitlement to a free education in Lindenwold for this time period flows from his status as a child whose parents were domiciled in the district, as per N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1a,[1] rather than from any status as an affidavit student, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1b(1).

[1] Here, the Commissioner notes the testimony offered by S.S. that the house in Lindenwold could have remained the permanent residence of their family, had S.S.'s mother not decided to sell her house and move to Florida. (Initial Decision at p. 3)

Accordingly, as determined by the ALJ, Lindenwold was responsible for the educational costs for A.S. for the time period April 2, 1996 through June 1997.[2]

IT IS SO ORDERED.[3]

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF ROBERT A. DOMBLOSKI,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE TOWN OF	:	DECISION
BELVIDERE, WARREN COUNTY.	:

Board certified tenure charges of unbecoming conduct and other just cause against respondent high school business education teacher. ALJ denied request to consolidate matter with separate tenure charges previously filed against respondent.

ALJ concluded that respondent was guilty of conduct unbecoming a teacher. Respondent had pleaded guilty to one count of Criminal Contempt, 4th degree, for having violated a restraining order. Moreover, ALJ noted respondent previously had been found guilty of unbecoming conduct when he deliberately misled the District with respect to his claimed possession of a supervisor's certificate. (In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Robert A. Dombloski, decided by the Commissioner August 6, 1998) Thus, the ALJ found respondent clearly acted directly contrary to the expectations placed upon teaching staff members who are expected to serve as role models for their students. (In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Ernest Tordo) ALJ found that the only appropriate sanction for his misconduct was termination of his employment as a tenured teaching staff member. ALJ ordered respondent removed from his employment.

Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that respondent's conduct in connection with the tenure charges brought was sufficient to warrant his dismissal, even where his behavior was viewed independently of the prior finding of unbecoming conduct, and even where his psychological condition might have contributed to his behavior. Commissioner did not share the ALJ's view that the disturbances, which occurred in the District as a result of respondent's misbehavior, were "not substantially disruptive." Commissioner noted that respondent's conduct negatively impacted the student, C.S. Commissioner directed respondent be dismissed from his tenured position as of the date of this decision and referred the matter to the State Board of Examiners for action against his certificate as it deems appropriate.

BEFORE STEPHEN G. WEISS, ALJ

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This matter, which was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law by the Department of Education on May 19, 1997, concerns tenure charges filed by the Board of Education of the Town of Belvidere in March 1997 against the respondent, Robert A. Dombloski, a tenured teaching staff member. A request that the matter be consolidated with separate tenure charges previously filed against Dombloski and assigned to Judge Ken Springer for hearing (OAL Dkt. No. EDU 7683-96) was denied by him.

The charges filed by the Board in the instant case alleged that Dombloski had been guilty of conduct unbecoming a tenured teaching staff member, specifically as follows:

> 1. On or about October 2, 1996, Dombloski entered a plea of guilty to one count of Criminal Contempt, 4th degree. As stated in the Accusation, 96-100384, Count #1, the Warren County Prosecutor alleged the following:
>
> > . . . between May 2, 1996 and September 29, 1996, in the Townships of White, Pohatcong and Lopatcong, in the County of Warren, aforesaid, and within the jurisdiction of this Court, did purposely or knowingly disobeyed a judicial order of Honorable John Stritehoff, Jr. made on May 2, 1996 in the matter of LoAnn Snyder v Robert Dombloski, Warren County, Docket No. FV21-00041-96 (specifically as set forth on the attached addendum); contrary to the provisions of N.J.S. 2C:29-9a, and against the peace of this State, the Government and dignity of the same.

As stated in the above referred to Addendum to the Accusation, the Prosecutor further alleged:

> On Complaint W609781 between May 2 and May 18, 1996 in violation of the Restraining Order did send several note cards with cash enclosed. Did make telephone calls to the victim's residence. On May 18, 1996 did follow her in his vehicle while traveling on Route #519, County of Warren.
> On Complaint W609782 between May 23 and July 2, 1996 did continue to make harassing phone calls, specifically did on May 26, at 8:30 a.m. by stating, 'I'm losing my job because of you.' On June 1, 1996, 2:00 p.m. did call and state 'how much money do you need to not work this summer?' On July 1, 1996 at 11:00 p.m. did again drive his vehicle in the vicinity of the victim's residence located at 22 Colby Court, White Township.
> On Complaint W606269 did continue to make phone calls in violation of the Restraining Order > specifically on August 16, 1996, 1:59 a.m., August 17, 1996 at 2:30 a.m. and 12:10 p.m.

> Between August 18 and September 29, 1996 did continue to make contact by sending flowers on September 3, 1996 to the Pohatcong Elementary School and to the victim's residence on September 19, 1996. Did continue to telephone the victim's residence on September 27, 1996. On September 28, 1996 did continue to call the victim's residence and specifically state 'I will turn myself in if you are present.' Telephone contact continued on September 29,1996.

2. In accordance with the relevant Order and the Plea Form, agreed to and signed by Dombloski, the listed accusations were merged into the guilty plea.

3. Through wide spread news coverage and otherwise, accusations by the alleged victim against Dombloski became known to Belvidere School District officials commencing in at least April, 1996. Such accusations were particularly serious because of two daughters of the alleged victim of Dombloski's actions attended Belvidere High School. In fact, one of the daughters actually had Dombloski as a teacher. At the request of the mother and pursuant to an April 26, 1996 Temporary Restraining Order, protection of this daughter was afforded by removing her from Dombloski's class for the remainder of the 1995-96 school year and otherwise instructing Dombloski to have no contact with the daughter. No alternate class or course assignment was possible at that time and therefore and therefore [sic] alternative arrangements were made to enable her to receive credit for the school year. This change lessened her educational program and opportunities, depriving her of classroom instruction, interaction with fellow students, etc. The High School also instituted other procedures designed to insure a safe and healthy environment for both daughters while at school or school related activities. These and other such procedures have been continued to date as the Court proceedings are again on-going because of additional allegations.

See, Tenure Charge and Statement of Evidence, March 3,1997.

In his Answer to the above charges, Dombloski took the position that even if proved true, they did not involve "conduct unbecoming." Further, with respect to the specific factual allegations he denied several of them.

A plenary hearing was conducted by the undersigned on December 8, 1998. Much of the delay between the transmittal to OAL in May 1997 and commencement of the hearing in December 1998 stemmed from ongoing efforts to attempt to settle the case pending before Judge Springer. When that effort proved unsuccessful, the charge assigned to me proceeded to trial.

TESTIMONY FOR THE BOARD

The Board's sole witness, Frank A. Jiorle, Jr., for the past six years has been the principal of Belvidere High School. Sometime in 1996, Jiorle was advised by the local police of the filing of the criminal charges against Dombloski and he obtained a copy of the temporary restraining order which prohibited respondent from having any contact with a student at the high school, C.S., who is a daughter of the victim of his stalking. Indeed, since C.S. then was a student in Dombloski's accounting class, she immediately was removed from the class and had to be given daily work by a guidance counselor since there was no other accounting class to which she could have been reassigned. This activity took place between April 26, 1996 and the end of the school year in June. According to Jiorle, moving C.S. out of Dombloski's class because of the temporary restraining order had a decidedly negative impact upon the student insofar as socialization opportunities through peer interaction was concerned. Also, depriving her from receiving direct instruction from a business teacher had a negative educational impact upon her.

On cross-examination, Jiorle agreed that C.S. passed her accounting course at the end of the 1995-96 school year. He also agreed that he was not aware of Dombloski ever coming to the school grounds when he was not supposed to do so.

TESTIMONY FOR RESPONDENT

Dombloski testified on his own behalf and admitted he had violated the court order. However, he ascribed his conduct to "acute depression" and "obsessive-compulsive disorder." In other words, he claimed that he was unable because of those conditions to avoid what he was doing. As a result, of his actions, respondent has seen both a psychologist and a psychiatrist and was placed on medications.

With respect to Dombloski's claim of psychiatric difficulties, I admitted in evidence over Board objection a series of records from the Carrier Foundation, Belle Mead, New Jersey, relating to his having been a patient there (Exhibit R-1). The psychiatric admission evaluation report, dated January 19, 1997, concluded that Dombloski was suffering from a major depressive disorder with a diagnosis by history of obsessive-compulsive disorder. Presently, he is on anti-depressive and other medications to deal with his problems and has continued his care at St. Clare's Hospital in Denville, New Jersey, on an out-patient basis as part of his probation. Although he believes his condition essentially now is under control, and his treatment is expected to end shortly, he will remain on medications under the supervision of his psychiatrist.

DISCUSSION

In essence, this is a "penalty" case since Dombloski's stipulated behavior unquestionably amounts, in my judgment, to conduct "unbecoming a teaching staff member" for which appropriate disciplinary measures must be taken. See, N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5. By violating the duly entered restraining order and engaging in the sort of conduct described in the charges, Dombloski clearly acted in a manner directly contrary and inimical to the expectations placed upon teaching staff members who are expected to serve as role models for their students. As the Commissioner observed in In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Ernest Torto, 1974 SLD 97, 99, "when a teacher deliberately and willfully vilolates the law. . . and consequently violates the public trust placed in him, he must expect dismissal or other severe penalty as set by the Commissioner." There is no need for me to here review the crude misbehavior in which Dombloski engaged - he has admitted it. The issue is whether or not dismissal should be the consequence of his misconduct.

Board counsel points to a number of previous decisions whereby teaching staff members who engaged in various sorts of criminal or other serious misconduct were dismissed with the Commissioner pertinently commenting upon the special relationship that teachers have to set an example and the penalties they must suffer when they fail to do so. Some of the conduct involved in those other cases was more serious than that committed by Dombloski; others arguably were less troubling. Although each case is fact sensitive and comparisons are thereby difficult to make, what Dombloski admits doing in this case constitutes ample basis for his dismissal unless there are overriding factors mitigating against the severity of that penalty.

Thus, according to Dombloski, there are two major reasons why termination would not be appropriate: (1) although admittedly he violated the restraining order, there was no disruption, as such, to the business of the school district; and (2) at the time he engaged in the criminal behavior, he was suffering from a mental disease (obsessive-compulsive disorder) over which he had little or no control.

With respect to the first argument, I tend to agree that although the steps which the School District had to take to deal with Dombloski were somewhat inconvenient, certainly to the student involved who had to be removed from her class, in the overall they were not substantially disruptive of the District's activities. The student was able successfully to complete her course and there was no substantial interference with her opportunity to receive a thorough and efficient free public education.

With respect to possible mitigation of the severity of any punishment because of his diminished mental status, it is true that Dombloski prior to 1996 was an in-patient at the Carrier Clinic for nearly three weeks and subsequently has attended psychiatric therapy sessions as an out-patient at St. Clare's Hospital. During this period, Dombloski was treated with medication to help him control his condition and testified that he continues in therapy and would not terminate it unless cleared to do so by his psychiatrist.

Nevertheless, in my view, even though I sympathize with respondent that he suffered from an impairment of his mental status, I still believe that the only appropriate sanction for the misconduct he admittedly committed is termination of employment as a tenured staff member. As noted, Dombloski had a special obligation as a public school teaching staff member to set a proper example for his students and he clearly violated that obligation. As noted previously, nearly three months after pleading guilty to 4th degree criminal contempt, and less than one month after receiving a three-year probationary sentence, he was arrested for violating the restraining order. Neither Belvidere nor any other school district need tolerate the continued employment of a teaching staff member who has behaved as Dombloski did.

Furthermore, as the Board also argues, and with which I agree, possible mitigation of removal as a sanction is rendered less likely in light of the fact that Dombloski previously has been found guilty of conduct unbecoming a teaching staff member; to wit, the decision by the Commissioner of Education in August 1998 modifying Judge Springer's initial decision and finding that Dombloski deliberately misled the School District with respect to his claimed possession of a supervisor's certificate. See, In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Robert A. Dombloski, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 7683-96, decided by the Commissioner, August 6, 1998..

Accordingly, in light of the undisputed facts and Dombloski's clear violation of his obligations to conduct himself in a manner befitting a tenured teaching staff member, I see no reason further to prolong this decision. Based upon those undisputed facts and the circumstances of his misconduct, I CONCLUDE that the respondent, Robert A. Dombloski, has behaved in a manner unbecoming a tenured teaching staff member in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 and I ORDER that he be removed from his employment as a result of that proven misconduct.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF ROBERT A. DOMBLOSKI,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE TOWN OF	:	DECISION
BELVIDERE, WARREN COUNTY.	:

The record of this matter and the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Respondent's exceptions and the Board's reply thereto are duly noted as submitted in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4.

Respondent asserts that the initial decision consists of factual findings which are generally consistent with his position, including the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) finding on page six that respondent's conduct was "not substantially disruptive of the District's activities." (Initial Decision at p. 6) Further, respondent points out that the ALJ recognized the role his "diminished mental status" played in his conduct. (Respondent's Exceptions at p. 2) However, respondent challenges the ALJ's consideration of his prior finding of unbecoming conduct on another tenure matter, contending that there is no nexus between these matters: "[T]he previous matter had absolutely nothing to do with the subsequent matter." (Id.)

Additionally, respondent avers that although the ALJ concluded that the Board need not tolerate the continued employment of a teacher who behaved as he did, the ALJ nonetheless conducted no analysis in this regard. Respondent warrants that while he does not deny that he committed the offenses alleged in the tenure charges against him, > they are not school related and there is no dispute in light of the Administrative Law Judge's findings that his psychological > condition contributed to his actions. It is also tremendously significant herein that at no time has Mr. Dombloski been found to forfeit his position. Accordingly, the crimes to which he plead guilty are not of such a serious nature nor do they touch upon his employment in any way[,] shape or form so that a forfeiture was either sought or determined to have occurred. (Id. at p. 3)

Respondent reasons that his behavior did not rise "to the level of conduct unbecoming a tenure[d] employee ." (Id. at p. 4) Although he admits he violated the restraining order, the calls were nonthreatening in nature and were not related to his work. (Id.) Thus, respondent argues that when the relevant case law, as well as the substantial mitigating evidence in this matter, is considered, along with his history in the District since 1969, termination is too harsh a penalty.

In reply, the Board argues that the ALJ appropriately determined that the factors in this matter which might mitigate against respondent's dismissal do not outweigh the seriousness of his conduct. Although respondent claims that termination is not an appropriate penalty since his (admitted) actions did not, according to him, cause disruptions in the District's activities and because, at the time of his actions, he suffered from Obsessive-Compulsive Disorder (Board's Reply at p. 4), the Board points out that respondent, in his Answer to the within tenure charges, never claimed that he was suffering from a psychological disorder. (Id. at p. 5) Moreover, the Board indicates that > it is not a foregone conclusion that Respondent did, in fact, suffer from Obsessive-Compulsive Disorder at the time he committed these acts, or that if he did suffer from the disorder, that he is completely cured at the present time. (Id.)

Notwithstanding the reports which respondent submitted into evidence, the Board contends that respondent produced no witnesses with information on this issue and there was no way, therefore, to determine the veracity of the psychological reports. (Id.) The Board notes that the Superior Court Judge in the criminal matter did not determine that respondent's alleged mental condition should exonerate his guilt or mitigate his punishment, and, if respondent suffered from any diminished capacity, the Judge would not have accepted his guilty plea. (Id. at p. 6)

The Board next asserts that notwithstanding respondent's repeated claims in his exception arguments and other submissions before the ALJ

> [s]ubsequent to the 1996 incident, Respondent has, in fact, again violated the same restraining order. On January 8, 1997, barely three months after pleading guilty to fourth degree criminal contempt for violating the restraining order against him, and just twenty-six days after receiving a three-year probationary sentence, Respondent was again arrested for violating the restraining order and the terms of his probation. On June 30, 1997, Respondent pleaded guilty to two counts of criminal contempt of court for his continued harassment of Ms. [S.], one count of civil contempt for failing to appear in court, and one count of violation of his probation.  Therefore, as the ALJ recognized, it appears that the likelihood the behavior in question will recur has already been reached. (Id. at p. 8)

Further, the Board finds that the ALJ correctly considered respondent's prior finding of unbecoming conduct, in spite of respondent's contention that the incident had nothing to do with the latter incidents. (Id. at p. 10) Moreover, the Board argues that respondent's conduct could not be characterized as either a "momentary lapse in his personal life" or "one fleeting instance of bad judgment," as were the circumstances in cases cited by respondent to convince the Commissioner that a teaching staff member's psychological condition at the time he/she committed an act of unbecoming conduct should mitigate against termination of employment. (See In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Pappa, School District of the Township of Old Bridge, 1988 S.L.D. 542, 548; In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Lieb, School District of the Town of West Orange, 1985 S.L.D. 933, 943.) (Board's Reply at pp. 10, 11)

Upon careful and independent review of the record in this matter, which did not include a transcript of the hearing conducted at the OAL, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that respondent's behavior with respect to the incidents enumerated in the Board's tenure charges constitutes conduct unbecoming a teaching staff member. (Initial Decision at p. 5) In so doing, the Commissioner clarifies that the issue herein is not whether respondent's conduct rises to the level of warranting forfeiture of public employment, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2, as amended by P.L. 1995, c. 250, but, rather, whether respondent's conduct warrants his dismissal, or reduction in salary, pursuant to the tenure laws, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 et seq.[1] As the ALJ aptly notes:

> By violating the duly entered restraining order and engaging in the sort of conduct described in the charges, Dombloski clearly acted in a manner directly contrary and inimical to the expectations placed upon teaching staff members who are expected to serve as role models to their students. (Id.)

"In determining the discipline which should be imposed in cases involving unbecoming conduct,  the Commissioner considers the nature and circumstances of the incident in question, the individual's prior record and current attitude, and the likelihood that the behavior in question will recur." (Board of Education of the Township of Parsippany-Troy Hills v. Molinaro, 96 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 268, 276, citing In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Frederick L. Ostergren, School District of Franklin Township, Somerset County, 1966 S.L.D. 185) Initially, as the Board notes, although respondent pleaded guilty to one count of criminal contempt, he committed more than one act of bad judgment:

> In the present matter, Respondent initially harassed Ms. [S.], which led to the granting of a restraining order against him. After Respondent's harassing conduct was "discovered," however, Respondent continued to harass Ms. [S.] and continued to violate the restraining order, which led to his conviction for criminal contempt in the fourth degree. (Board's Reply at p. 11) (emphasis in original)

Further, the Commissioner does not share the ALJ's view that the disturbances which occurred in the District as a result of respondent's misbehavior were "not substantially disruptive." Rather, the Commissioner concurs with the Board's position that respondent's conduct negatively impacted C.S., (Initial Decision at p. 4) or, at the very least, provided an unwarranted interruption in her educational program, notwithstanding that C.S. was ultimately able to pass her accounting course. Indeed, respondent fails to meaningfully rebut the Board's contention that

> [t]he High School also instituted other procedures designed to insure a safe and healthy environment for both of Ms. [S.'s] daughters while they were at school or at school related activities. Furthermore, Frank Jiorle, the school principal, testified that on one day, the police sent patrol cars to the school to see if Respondent showed up there and/or to arrest him. Therefore, it seems quite clear that Respondent's conduct had a negative educational impact on Ms. [S.'s] daughter and affected the entire school. (Board's Post-Hearing Reply Brief at p. 2)[2] (emphasis in original)

Moreover, even assuming, arguendo, that respondent's conduct did not negatively affect school operations, the Commissioner notes that dismissal may be imposed upon a tenured employee for unbecoming conduct "even if such conduct did not occur in the course of a teacher's employment." (Molinaro, supra, at 276, citing In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Robert H. Beam, School District of the Borough of Sayreville, 1973 S.L.D. 157) The Commissioner has determined:

> The teaching profession is chosen by individuals who must comport themselves as models for young minds to emulate. This heavy responsibility does not begin at 8:00 a.m. and conclude at 4:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, only when school is in session. Being a teacher requires, inter alia, a consistently intense dedication to civility and respect for people as human beings. The Commissioner has, on past occasions, determined tenure charges arising from incidents which happened in the evening both on and off school property.  (citations omitted) In re Beam, supra, at 163.[3]

[2] Respondent merely argues that such contention is "substantially vague" (Respondent's Answer at p. 2) and asserts that "[t]he patrol cars appeared on only one day." (Respondent's Post-Hearing Brief at p. 3)

[3] See also In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of McIntyre, 96 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 718, aff'd State Board 726, aff'd New Jersey Superior Court, Appellate Division 726, where the respondent teacher was pulled over by the police at 1:00 a.m. and, after the officer detected an odor of burnt marijuana and observed empty beer containers in the car,

Additionally, the Commissioner concurs with the Board that respondent fails to demonstrate any remorse for his conduct, arguing, instead, in an attempt to mitigate against a finding of guilt, that "the phone calls he made were non-threatening in nature." (Respondent's Exceptions at p. 4) Clearly, respondent does not, even now, appreciate the significance of his misbehavior. Irrespective of whether respondent's calls may be characterized as threatening, these calls "were serious in their consequences to the [recipient and her family]." See In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Stephen Levitt, School District of the City of Newark, Essex County, 1977 S.L.D. 976, aff'd State Board 1978 S.L.D. 1027, aff'd New Jersey Superior Court, Appellate Division 1979 S.L.D. 849, 850.

Thus, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that respondent's conduct in connection with the tenure charges brought herein is sufficient to warrant his dismissal, even where his behavior is viewed independently of the prior finding of unbecoming conduct, and even where his psychological condition may, as respondent alleges, have contributed to his behavior. See In re Dombloski, supra; In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Henderek, 94 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 268, aff'd State Board 276. Like the ALJ, the Commissioner finds that respondent's actions in this matter evidence a lack of self-restraint and controlled behavior which are compelled by his position as a professional employee in a public school system holding great influence over the lives of children. See also In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of was given a field sobriety test. Respondent's person and his vehicle were searched and trace amounts of marijuana were found in the car, along with rolling papers and a bag of marijuana on respondent's person. Therein, the Commissioner was not persuaded by respondent's assertion that "no student, teacher or school administrator was involved in this matter," but, instead, underscored that teachers hold positions of public trust, and dismissed respondent from his tenured position. Accordingly, the initial decision of the OAL, directing that respondent be dismissed from his tenured position as a teaching staff member, as of the date of this decision, is adopted for the reasons expressed therein and amplified above. In view of the nature of the charges proven, this matter is hereby referred to the State Board of Examiners for action against respondent's certificate as it deems appropriate. N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[5]

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

(Respondent's Exceptions at p. 4)

[5] This decision, as the Commissioner's final determination in the instant matter, may be appealed to the State Board of Education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-27 et seq. and N.J.A.C. 6:2-1.1 et seq., within 30 days of its filing. IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE HEARING OF ROBERT R. THOMAS PASSAIC COUNTY TECHNICAL VOCATIONAL HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT

Gerald S. Keegan, Esq., for Board of Education of the Passaic County Technical Vocational High School District

Raymond R. Wiss, Esq., for Robert R. Thomas, respondent (Wiss, Cooke & Santomauro, attorneys)

Record Closed: May 3, 1999 Decided: May 6, 1999

BEFORE SEBASTIAN GAETA, JR., ALJ:

STATEMENT OF CASE

This matter is the remand of OAL Docket No. EDU 5328-98, which forwarded to the Commissioner of Education a proposed settlement agreement. The Commissioner of Education remanded the matter to determine whether respondent, Robert R. Thomas, a teaching staff member, was advised of the Commissioner's duty, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6, to refer tenure determinations for possible revocation of certificate.

The Board of Education of the Passaic County Technical Vocational High School District (Board) brought charges against respondent, a tenured teacher, for unbecoming conduct and conduct threatening the well-being of students.

It was alleged that, on December 5, 1995, respondent made racially and ethnically based insulting remarks to a fellow teacher in a lunchroom filled with students. Following an investigation, the Board found probable cause that the incident occurred as alleged. The superintendent immediately suspended respondent. That suspension continued until February 8, 1996 when the Board received the reports of two psychiatrists who had evaluated respondent. An agreement was reached which permitted respondent to return to his teaching duties on February 12, 1996, upon certain conditions, including that he would provide a written apology to the teacher, Rosa Astacio-Borja. The letter was addressed by respondent to "Rosa Anatasio-Borgia."

On April 16, 1996, the Board concluded that the December 5, 1995 incident had been verified but were not serious enough to certify tenure charges. On May 9, 1996, Ms. Astacio-Borja filed a Verified Petition before the Commissioner of Education to direct that the Board certify tenure charges against respondent.

The Commissioner of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law, as a contested matter, to determine whether the Board abused its discretion by failing to certify the tenure charges to the Commissioner in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:6-11.

The matter was heard before the Honorable Jeffrey A. Gerson, ALJ, who issued an Initial Decision ordering that the December 5, 1995 incidents be certified and forwarded to the Commissioner of Education. The Commissioner of Education concurred with Judge Gerson's Initial Decision and ordered that the board certify the December 5, 1995 incident in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:6-11. Rosa Astacio Borja v. Board of Education of the Passaic County Technical-Vocational High School District, Passaic County, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 5963-98 (February 13, 1998), adopted Commissioner of Education (March 30, 1998).

Pursuant to the Order of the Commissioner of Education, on April 28, 1998, the Board, on April 28, 1998, considered the several tenure charges filed against respondent. The Board determined that the December 5, 1995 incidents warranted dismissal or reduction in salary and voted to suspend respondent without salary. The other charges, contained in the statement of Tenure Charges, were found to be unsupported by sufficient evidence. Respondent took a timely appeal to the Commissioner of Education, who transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law for a contested hearing pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to 15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to 13. No person sought leave to intervene, as permitted by N.J.A.C. 1:1-16.1. The matter was scheduled for plenary hearings on December 1, 2, 9 and 10, 1998. On October 21, 1998, counsel for the parties and the undersigned Administrative Law Judge met in an in person prehearing conference.

On December 1, 1998, the parties, stated that the matter had been amicably resolved. The settlement terms were then placed upon the record.

On December 2, 1998, the Administrative Law Judge, issued an Initial Decision Approving the Settlement.

On January 19, 1999, the Commissioner of Education issued his Decision remanding the matter to the Office of Administrative Law.

Pursuant to the Commissioner's Order, the Administrative Law Judge and counsel for the parties conducted a conference. It was concluded that respondent was aware of the Commissioner's duty to refer tenure determinations for possible revocation of certificate and that the parties wished to enter into a settlement agreement which would satisfy the requirements of the Commissioner's Order.

On May 3, 1999, a Settlement Agreement signed by respondent, Robert R. Thomas and by representatives of the Passaic County Technical Vocational High School, was received.

DISCUSSION

In accordance with In re Cardonick, 1990 S.L.D. 842, 846, the record of any proposed settlement must include:

> . . . the nature of the charges, circumstances justifying the settlement, consent or authorization by the Board of Education and the teacher to the proposed agreement, the Administrative Law Judge's finding that the teacher entered into the agreement with a full understanding of his rights, and [a finding] that the agreement is consistent with the public interest. 1990 S.L.D. 850

At the public hearing on December 1, 1998, the issue of whether or not the earlier settlement should be accepted was discussed at length. The matters discussed are incorporated in the attached Settlement Agreement.

Based upon my review of the record and the terms of the Settlement Agreement, I FIND:

(1) That the parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement.

(2) That the terms of the settlement serve the best interests of the School District, its teachers, staff and students.

(3) That respondent, Robert R. Thomas, is aware of and understands that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6, the Commissioner of Education has the duty to refer this matter to the State Board of Examiners for any action which it may deem appropriate.

(4) Before entering into this agreement respondent, Robert R. Thomas fully understood his rights and had an adequate opportunity to consult with legal counsel.

(5) The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy.

I CONCLUDE that the terms of the settlement are in the public interest.

It is ORDERED that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that the proceedings are hereby concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

THIS AGREEMENT, made and entered into this day of April, 1999, by and between ROBERT THOMAS, hereinafter referred to as "Thomas" and PASSAIC COUNTY TECHNICAL INSTITUTE, hereinafter referred to as "PCTI"

WITNESSETH:

WHEREAS, the parties hereto are the principals in a certain tenure action entitled In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Robert R. Thomas, Passaic County Technical Vocational High School District, OAL Docket No. EDU 5328-98, Agency Docket No. 125-5/98; and

WHEREAS, the above action arose from alleged verbal assault by Thomas upon another tenured teaching staff member, Rosa Astacio-Borja in a lunchroom filled with students on December 5, 1995. It is alleged that the verbal assault was without provocation and was racially and ethnically based. Mr. Thomas allegedly called Ms. Astacio-Borja an illegal alien who swam across the Rio Grande, and that Hispanics "should not be in this country" and "you and all your people should be sent home." Mr. Thomas allegedly pointed to Ms. Astacio-Borja's school identification card and yelled that she should instead be wearing a "green card." Immediately after the incident on 12/5/95, the Respondent was suspended by the Superintendent with pay. On January 22, 1996, PCTI met to review the suspension. At that time, it was agreed that a) Mr. Thomas' suspension would continue until the next scheduled board meeting, and b) Mr. Thomas would be examined by a psychologist or psychiatrist of the Board's choosing and a psychologist or psychiatrist of Mr. Thomas's choosing; and

WHEREAS, On February 8,1996, the Board reviewed the reports of the two psychiatrists and entered into a stipulation of agreement with Mr. Thomas that stated, in part, that: a) Mr. Thomas would be reinstated to full active teaching duties as of February 12, 1996, b) Board reserves the right to withhold Mr. Thomas' increment, c) Mr. Thomas agree to follow up counseling with the psychologist, d) Mr. Thomas would be observed by a supervisor at least once per week for the balance of the school year and e) Mr. Thomas would provide a written apology to Ms. Astacio-Borja, which apology would be distributed to all staff at the discretion of the superintendent; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Thomas complied with all the requirements of the stipulation of agreement; and

WHEREAS, On April 18, 1996, PCTI voted not to certify tenured charges against Mr. Thomas; and

WHEREAS, On May 9, 1996, Ms. Astacio-Borja filed a Verified Petition before the Commissioner of Education seeking to direct the Board to certify tenured charges against Mr. Thomas. On May 28, 1996, the Board met and resolved to withhold Mr. Thomas' increment for the upcoming year; and

WHEREAS, On February 13, 1998, Administrative Law Judge Jeffrey A. Gerson filed his initial opinion wherein Judge Gerson ordered that Count One of Ms. Astacio-Borja's statement of tenured charges and verified petition be certified and forwarded to the Commissioner of the Department of Education; and

WHEREAS, On March 30, 1998, the Commissioner of Education confirmed the initial decision of Judge Gerson; and

WHEREAS, the parties are now desirous of settling this matter and the said settlement is justified in that the public interest is protected by the proposed settlement as follows:

1. Thomas will receive no additional monetary inducement for his retirement.

2. Thomas will not seek reimbursement for the 120 days he was suspended without pay.

3. Thomas will apply for service retirement.

4. Thomas will never return to PCTI to his teaching capacity.

5. A tenured dismissal hearing would have a disruptive effect upon the school environment and this settlement would avoid the divisive aspect of the hearing.

6. Because of the racial aspects of the incident, it caused an extremely emotional, disruptive and possibly volatile situation at the school. To continue with a tenured hearing at this date almost three years later would have an effect of reopening healed wounds.

7. The New Jersey courts have looked with great favor upon the voluntary resolution of litigation through settlement. As a general principle, and without considering the toll of human resources, the settlement of lawsuits in good faith can be set to save time, money and proof problems. School boards, in their efforts to conserve public funds, no less than private parties, have been encouraged by the state and federal courts to carefully consider equitable settlement possibilities.

NOW, THEREFORE, for and in consideration of the mutual covenants, promises and undertakings hereinafter set forth, the parties agree as follows:

I. Thomas shall submit his resignation to the PCTI and request retirement;

II. Thomas shall not request further employment with PCTI;

III. Thomas hereby waives all claims related to the 120 day suspension without pay imposed by PCTI on April 28, 1998, including any claim for the withholding of any increment of salary;

LC

IV. Neither party will make a claim for legal fees against the other;

V. Upon fulfillment of all the terms outlined herein, PCTI shall dismiss all tenure charges;

VI. Thomas hereby acknowledges that he has been advised of the Commissioner's duty, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6 to refer tenure determinations to the State Board of Examiners for possible revocation of certificate.

7. By execution of this agreement all parties release and give up any and all claims against each other and agree that they will seek anything further from each other. Both parties understand and agree to the terms of this settlement agreement.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties have hereunto set their hands and seals the date and year written below their names.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioning parents of N.G., a 16 year-old student who was expelled for possession of a knife on school property, previously sought emergent relief requiring the respondent Board, inter alia, to conduct a Child Study Team evaluation and provide home instruction pending the outcome of the evaluation. The ALJ granted emergent relief; the Commissioner affirmed.

Upon receipt of the Child Study Team evaluation from respondent Board revealing that N.G. did not have an educational or learning disability and that her behavior leading to her expulsion was not a manifestation of an educational or learning disability, the ALJ dismissed the matter since there were no remaining issues to be resolved and petitioners advised the OAL by telephone that they sought no further relief.

The Commissioner agreed with and adopted as his own the recommendation of the ALJ.

Record Closed: April 20, 1999 Decided: May 12, 1999

BEFORE JEFF S. MASIN, ALJ:

This matter arises from an application for emergent relief filed before the Commissioner of Education, which was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on August 7, 1998. Emergency relief was granted by Order on Request for Emergent Relief dated August 28, 1998, affirmed by the Commissioner of Education Decision on Motion, dated September 9, 1998.

In the attached letter dated April 13, 1999, attorney for the respondent advised that a Child Study Team Evaluation of N.G. had been conducted revealing that N.G. did not have an educational or learning disability and that her behavior was not a manifestation of an educational disability. N.G. was expelled and all educational services to her were terminated.

On April 20, 1999, a telephone call to petitioners revealed that they seek no further relief, however, no written confirmation of the parents' disinterest in any further proceedings could be obtained. I CONCLUDE that there are no remaining issues to be resolved and because the petitioners have sought no further relief, it is hereby ORDERED that this matter be DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Dear Judge Masin:

Please be advised I am in receipt of your letter dated March 30, 1999. Pursuant to the Court's Order the Child Study Team conducted an evaluation of N.G. and found that she did not have any educational or learning disability and moreover that her behavior was not a manifestation of an educational disability. The record and initial decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. No exceptions were filed by the parties.

Upon review of the record and initial decision, the Commissioner agrees with and adopts as his own the recommendation of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) to dismiss the matter for the reasons set forth in the initial decision which indicate, inter alia, that N.G. was evaluated by the Child Study Team, which determined that N.G. was not educationally disabled and that the behavior leading to N.G.'s expulsion was not a manifestation of an educational disability. In so determining, the Commissioner notes that petitioners informed the ALJ via telephone on April 20, 1999 that they did not seek further relief in the matter, although no written confirmation to that effect was filed as part of the record; moreover, as noted above, petitioners did not file any exceptions to the initial decision. Accordingly, the matter is dismissed. [1]

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner challenged the Board's refusal to pay the tuition and transportation costs for his son, D.J., a home-schooled student, to attend Bergen County Vocational Technical School (BCVTS).

The ALJ determined that the Board was obligated to pay the tuition and transportation costs for D.J.'s attendance at BCVTS for the 1997-98 school year.

The Commissioner affirmed the initial decision of the ALJ, noting that all New Jersey pupils, not just those enrolled in the public schools, are entitled to a vocational education and underscoring that a student attending a public vocational school by statutory right is entitled to transportation services from the responsible local district if the student resides in the district and lives remote from the public school of attendance. The Commissioner directed the Board to reimburse petitioner $2,125 for transportation costs from September 1997 through January 1998 and tuition costs for D.J.'s attendance at BCVTS for the 1997-98 school year.

STATEMENT OF CASE

Jack Jacobs, petitioner, challenges the decision of respondent, Board of Education of the Northern Valley Regional School District (Board), to deny tuition costs and transportation to his son D.J. D.J. was home-schooled student and attended Bergen County Vocational-Technical School.

The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on April 9, 1998 as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. A hearing was scheduled for January 13, 1999. The parties did not dispute the relevant facts. The record closed on February 3, 1999 upon reciept of the parties legal arguments. The forty-five-day statutory period within which to file the initial decision expired on March 30, 1999. Based on the administrative law judge's voluminous caseload, an extension of time to complete the initial decision was granted until May 4, 1999. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c); N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8.

FACTS

The parties have stipulated the relevant facts. (J-1). Therefore, I FIND as follows:

Petitioner, J.J., is the father of a minor child, D.J. J.J. and D.J. are residents of Closter, Bergen County, New Jersey. On January 20, 1998, D.J. was 18 years old.

The Board, a regional school district located in Bergen County, New Jersey, consists of the following municipalities: Closter, Demarest, Northvale, Hoaworth, Norwood, Old Tappan, and Harrington Park.

In the fall of 1994, D.J. was a ninth grade student attending Northern Valley Regional High School (NVRHS). In January 1995, J.J. voluntarily removed D.J. from the high school and taught him at home. On April 25, 1997, J.J. attempted to enroll D.J. in a graphic arts program at the Bergen County Vocational-Technical School (BCVTS). The Board denied J.J.'s request to pay tuition for D.J. for that program.

In June 1997, J.J. re-enrolled D.J. at NVRHS for the fall term commencing in September 1997. On June 5, 1997, the Board approved tuition for D.J. to attend BCVTS and proposed a curriculum of ninth grade courses. The Board declined J.J.'s request to determine D.J.'s academic proficiency level using standardized placement tests.

On August 1, 1997, D.J. disagreed with the Board's decision to place D.J. in the ninth grade and re-established a home curriculum for D.J. Also, in August 1997, the Board determined not to pay tuition or transportation costs for D.J.'s attendance at BCVTS.

After December, 1997, D.J. did not attend BCVTS. From September 1997 through June 1998, D.J. attended BCVTS in the afternoons. Between September 2, 1997 to October 23, 1997, J.J. transported D.J. twelve miles each way from their residence to BCVTS.

On September 22, 1997, J.J. filed a petition for emergent relief before the Commissioner of Education seeking tuition and transportation from the Board for D.J.'s attendance at the BCVTS. On October 8, 1997, the ALJ issued an order that denied petitioner's request for emergent relief of transportation to BCVTS. In the proceedings before the OAL, J.J. did not request emergent relief for tuition because BCVTS permitted D.J. to attend its school pending resolution of the matter.

On November 5, 1997, the Commisioner reversed the ALJ's decision and granted J.J.'s emergent relief application for transportation. On November 24, 1997, the Board appealed the Commissioner's decision to the State Board of Education (State Board).

On December 4, 1997, the Board applied to the Commissioner for a stay of its November 5th decision pending the appeal to the State Board. On January 7, 1998, the Commissioner denied the request to stay its November 5, 1997 decision. On January 15, 1998, the Board moved before the State Board for a stay of the Commissioner's January 7, 1998 decision, pending appeal.

On February 2, 1998, the Board assumed the cost of transporting D.J. to BCVTS. On March 4, 1998, the State Board affirmed the Commissioner's decision to award J.J. emergent relief of transportation costs for D.J. The State Board, however, set aside the portion of the Commissioner's decision which included payment of tuition by the Board, because tuition was not a part of the emergent relief petition. Further, the State Board directed the Commissioner to transmit the matter to the OAL for a determination on the merits of petitioner's claims for transportation and tuition.

For the 1998-99 school year, D.J. is enrolled in college and has not attended BCVTS.

ISSUE

The issue is whether petitioner is entitled to reimbursement for tuition and transportation for his son who attended Bergen County Vocational-Technical School and was home-schooled?

DISCUSSION

Petitioner challenges the decision of the Board to deny payment for tuition and transportation for D.J. while he attended BCVTS from September 1997 through June 1998.[1] D.J. had a home curriculum the first half of the day and attended BCVTS in the afternoon.

The Board contends that it was not legally obligated to fund his education at BCVTS because D.J. was home-schooled and not enrolled in the school district.

The language of the pertinent statue, N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1.a., and the Commissioner's interpretation of the law in two recent decisions, do not support the Board's position. "The interpretation of any statute necessarily begins with consideration of its plain language." Lammers v. Bd. of Educ., 134 N.J. 264, 267 (1993). Accordingly, N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1.a., provides

> The board of education of each school district or regional school district in any county in which there is a county vocational school district shall send to any of the schools of the county vocational school district each pupil who resides in the school district or > regional school district and who has applied for admission to and has been accepted for attendance at any of the schools of the county vocational school district. The board of education shall pay tuition for each of these pupils to the county vocational school district pursuant to subsection c. of this section.

The language of the statute is broad and contemplates an independent entitlement to vocational education. Contrary to the Board's position, the statute does not limit a pupil's attendance at a county vocational school to pupils "enrolled" in the district in which they reside. Instead, the statute covers pupils who need only "reside" in the school district.

The scope of a student's entitlement to attend county vocational schools was recently addressed in M.R. v. Bd. of Ed. of Pompton Lakes, #386-97, Final Decision, Commissioner of Edu. (July 29, 1997) <http://www.state.nj.us/njded/legal/index.html>. In that matter, two students, who were residents of Passaic County, had applied and been accepted for admission into schools operated by the Bergan County Vocational School District. The Passaic County School district contended that the students were entitled to attend only the Passaic county vocational Schools and refused to pay tuution and transportation costs. The Commissioner concluded that, as a matter of law, students who are accepted into county vocational schols outside their county of residence are entitled to tutuion and transportation costs when a comparable program is not offered in their home school district. Further, the Commissioner determined that entitlement to vocational education established by N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1, and further elaborated through N.J.A.C. 6:43-3.11, > establish a statewide delivery system for vocational education that ensures pupil access to such education through a tiered structure that first directs pupils to the local or regional district, then to the county district if the local district does not offer a > comparable type of program, and then to schools statewide, to the extent that facilities permit and students qualify, if a comparable type of program is unavailable within the county district. The terms of both the statute and rule are plain in their directive that county districts shall admit nonresident students to the extent space is available and students qualify, and that they shall be entitled to collect tuition from the sending districts in which their pupils reside, together with a nonresident fee to the extent permitted by law. Indeed, the mechanism established for setting and collection of county district tuition is, by its own terms, applicable to sending districts both within and without the county. There can, therefore, be no question, that students are entitled to attend, without cost to the student or parent, vocational schools outside their district and county of residence when comparable types of programs are not available within the county.

> Such right of access of necessity entails a concomitant right to transportation.
> [M.R., supra, p.4-5.]

While the language of N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1.a. and N.J.A.C. 6:43-3.11 does not mention home-schooled pupils, it also does not exclude any category of pupils. The emphasis of the statute is on the local school district's obligation to "each pupil who resides" in the school district. The Board's position creates an exception to the statute where none exists. In light of M.R., it is reasonable to conclude that N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1.a. and N.J.A.C. 6:43-3.11 requires a school district to pay the tuition and transportation of a resident home-schooled pupil who has been accepted by the district's own county vocational school.

I have considered the Board's assertion that, "[i]t is noteworthy that the Bergen County Vocational School would not accept D.J. without his enrollment in the District, and only accepted him after said enrollment." Respondent's Letter Brief, p.3, dated Jan. 19, 1999. Neither tuition authorization or its letter of acceptance by the BCVTS to D.J. contains a requirement that he be enrolled in the Board's district. The stated purpose of the authorization form is to secure the sending district's agreement that it will pay the tuition. The form states just above the signature lines "[m]y signature acknowledges receipt of the Bergen County Technical Schools Tuition Schedule and serves as an agreement between my district and the Bergen County Technical Schools to pay tuition on behalf of this applicant, if admitted." Petitioner's Brief, Exhibit, dated Jan. 19, 1999. It is reasonable that BCVTS would want to ensure that an applicant's tuition will be paid by the school district in which the applicant resides. Thus, the attendance of D.J. at BCVTS became at risk once the school learned that the Board had denied payment of tuition for D.J. If acceptance was withdrawn by BCVTS, the triggering event was respondent's denial of tuition, not D.J.'s failure to enroll in the school district.

I have also considered the Board's reliance upon a memorandum issued by the New Jersey Department of Education in April 1997 entitled Home Schooling in New Jersey. Respondent's Letter Brief, supra, p.2. The sections of the memorandum cited by the Board provide that:

> When parents/guardians are educating a child at home, the child is not enrolled in a school and is, therefore, not accorded any of the entitlements or privileges of the public school district unless specifically provided, as in the federal law described above under the special education section. Any services offered, other than special education evaluations, are at the sole discretion of the board of education once the child is identified as being educated at home:
> .....
>
>
> - County Shared-Time Vocational Schools - A vocational board of education should adopt a policy regarding homeschoolers. A child educated at home may apply on an annual basis to the vocational schools. The vocational school may permit the child being educated at home to attend a shared-time vocational school provided that homeschooler does not displace public school students attending the vocational school.
> [Respondent's Letter Brief, supra, p.2-3.]

The memorandum has neither the effect of a statute or a duly promulgated regulation. Metromedia, Inc. v. Dir., Div. of Taxation, 97 N.J. 313 (1984), However, even if the cited sections were applicable, they are contrary to N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1.a.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1.a. and N.J.A.C. 6:43-3.11 all New Jersey pupils have an independent entitlement to a vocational education which is not limited to pupils enrolled in the public schools. Therefore, the attendance of homeschoolers who have been accepted by their local district's own county vocational school should not be restricted by those public school students attending the same vocational school. Such a limitation is only appropriate where the student is accepted to a vocational school outside their county of residence. See M.R., supra.

Further, the Board's position is contrary to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-25, which provides:

> Every parent, guardian or other person having custody and control of a child between the ages of six and 16 years shall cause such child regularly to attend the public schools of the district or a day school in which there is given instruction equivalent to that provided in the public schools for children of similar grades and attainments or to receive equivalent instruction elsewhere than at school.

Home instruction meets the requirements of the statute if the instruction provided the child is equivalent to that provided in the public schools. See State v. Massa, 95 N.J.Super. 382 (Co. 1967). The equivalency of D.J.'s education has never been challenged by the Board. The restrictive interpretation of N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1.a., urged by the Board would have the effect of penalizing families who choose to home school their children as permitted under N.J.S.A. 18A:38-25. It would be unreasonable to conclude that the Legislature had such an intent.

The Commissioner has determinated that the right of access to vocational education also entails a concomitant right to transportation. M.R., supra, at p.5-6. Hence, the Board was obligated to provide D.J.'s transportation where D.J. was a resident student living remote from BCVTS, the public school he attended from September, 1997, through June, 1998. Indeed, N.J.S.A. 18A:39-1 requires that where a school district provides transportation for public school students, students who reside in that district but attend remote non-public schools are also entitled to transportation.

CONCLUSION

Based on the whole of the record, I CONCLUDE that the Board"s interpretation of N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1.a. is untenable in the face of the statute's language and recent decisions by the Commissioner. Petitioner is, therefore, entitled to his requested relief of costs for tuition and transportation.

It is so ORDERED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 225 East State Street, CN 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

The record of this matter and the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Petitioner's exceptions[1] and the Board's reply thereto were submitted in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and were considered by the Commissioner in making his determination.[2]

Upon careful and independent review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) that respondent was obligated to pay the tuition and transportation costs for D.J.'s attendance at the Bergen County Vocational Technical School (BCVTS) for the 1997-98 school year. In so concluding, the Commissioner

[1] Petitioner "excepts" solely to the ALJ's recitation of facts on page three of the initial decision, noting that her statement, "[A]fter December, 1997, D.J. did not attend BCVTS" is incorrect. However, petitioner indicates that the next sentence, although it contradicts the former, is an accurate account of the facts. That is, "[F]rom September 1997 through June 1998, D.J. attended BCVTS in the afternoons." (Initial Decision at p. 3)

[2] The Board submitted a reply which included cross-exceptions, as per N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4(d). The arguments advanced in the cross-exceptions, however, are a reiteration of those raised before the ALJ. Since the Commissioner finds that the ALJ fully and fairly considered the Board's arguments, they are not summarized herein.

finds the express language of N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1 and N.J.S.A. 18A:39-1 to be determinative.[3]

As the ALJ observes:

> Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1a and N.J.A.C. 6:43-3.11 all New Jersey pupils have an independent entitlement to a vocational education which is not limited to the pupils enrolled in the public schools. Therefore, the attendance of homeschoolers who have been accepted by their local district's own county vocational school should not be restricted by those public school students attending the same vocational school. (Initial Decision at p. 9)

To the extent the Board points to contradictory evidence which has "neither the effect of a statute [nor] a duly promulgated regulation," (Initial Decision at p. 8) the Commissioner, like the ALJ, finds that such evidence cannot, given the language in the pertinent statutes and regulations, be dispositive of the issues herein.[4]

Finally, with respect to transportation costs, the Commissioner underscores:

> [W]here a student is attending a public vocational school by statutory right, with tuition paid by the local district of residence, the pupil transportation statute does not require that the student be "enrolled" in the responsible local district in order to be entitled to transportation services from that district. Instead, the statute merely requires that the student reside in the district and live remote from the "public school of attendance." Jack Jacobs v. Board of Education of the Northern Valley Regional School District, Bergen County, Commissioner Decision on Motion, November 5, 1997, slip. op. at p. 6 (emphasis in original).

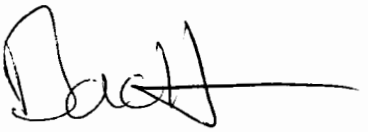
[3] The Commissioner herein notes that, after issuing his final decision in M.R., supra, on July 29, 1997, the decision was appealed to the State Board of Education. There, the respondent Board contended for the first time that the Commissioner's determination violated the Carl D. Perkins Vocational and Applied Technology Act, 20 U.S.C. Section 2301 et seq. (M.R., supra, State Board of Education, December 3, 1997, slip op. at p. 3) Upon request of the Commissioner, the State Board remanded this matter on December 3, 1997 to the Commissioner with direction that it be transmitted to the OAL "for hearing and determination of all the issues raised [in the] appeal, including the factual question of whether the Board can offer a comparable program to petitioners in Passaic County." (Id. at pp. 3-4) While at the OAL, the parties settled the matter.

[4] To the extent that the informational booklet "Home Schooling in New Jersey" is not grounded in applicable law, it cannot be considered authoritative and the Commissioner will forthwith direct its revision or withdrawal as necessary.

Accordingly, the initial decision of the ALJ is affirmed, as clarified herein.[5] The Board is directed to reimburse petitioner $2,125 for transportation costs from September 1997 through January 1998[6] and tuition costs for D.J.'s attendance at the Bergen County Vocational Technical School for the 1997-98 school year.[7]

IT IS SO ORDERED.



COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

[5] The Commissioner concurs with petitioner's "exception" that the stipulated facts on record show that D.J. attended the BCVTS in the afternoons from September 1997 through June 1998. (Stipulation of Facts at p. 2, paragraph 15)

[6] Although the Board objects to the amount of petitioner's transportation costs, as presented, the basis for its objection is that the amount sought by petitioner is not in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:39-1, which provides, in part, that where a local board transports students to and from any remote school other than a public school, it does so at an annual per pupil rate not to exceed $675. (Board's Reply/Cross-Exceptions at p. 6) However, the Commissioner finds that this provision of N.J.S.A. 18A:39-1 is not applicable to the instant matter, since the BCVTS is a public school. Petitioner has submitted an invoice indicating that Valley Kids, Inc. transported D.J. to the BCVTS from late October 1997 through January 1998 at a total cost of $1,419. The Board did not specifically object to the amount of this invoice. (Board's Brief of January 11, 1999 at p. 1, affirming that "[W]hile Northern Valley contends that it should not be responsible for any costs of transportation, it does not contest the amount of the invoice from Valley Kids, Inc. for those months.") Additionally, petitioner asserts that his costs for transporting his son to and from the BCVTS on a daily basis for the months of September 1997 through October 23, 1997 total $706. Although the Board contends this amount is "excessive," (Board's Reply/Cross-Exceptions at p. 6) where it provides no basis for such a contention, other than that already dismissed as inapplicable, and where the amount, on its face, appears reasonable, in light of the mileage traversed, the Commissioner has no reason to reject petitioner's claim.

[7] This decision, as the Commissioner's final determination in the instant matter, may be appealed to the State Board of Education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-27 et seq. and N.J.A.C. 6:2-1.1 et seq., within 30 days of its filing. Commissioner decisions are deemed filed three days after the date of mailing to the parties.

JACK JACOBS,	:
PETITIONER-RESPONDENT,	:
V.	:	STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE NORTHERN VALLEY REGIONAL SCHOOL DISTRICT, BERGEN COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT-APPELLANT.	:

Decision on motion by the Commissioner of Education, November 5, 1997

Decision by the State Board of Education, March 4, 1998

Decided by the Commissioner of Education, January 24, 1999

For the Petitioner-Respondent, Jack Jacobs, pro se

For the Respondent-Appellant, Sills, Cummis, Zuckerman, Radin, Tischman, Epstein & Gross (Cheri L. Maxwell, Esq., of Counsel)

On March 4, 1998, the State Board of Education affirmed that part of the determination of the Commissioner of Education which, acting on an application for emergent relief, directed the Northern Valley Regional School District (hereinafter "District") to pay the cost for transportation for D.J., a student residing in the District

who was attending the Bergen County Technical School in the afternoons while being home-schooled.[1]

On June 24, 1999, the Commissioner issued his decision on the merits of the underlying case. Adopting the Administrative Law Judge's determination and based on a joint stipulation of facts submitted by the parties, the Commissioner concluded that the District was required by N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1 and N.J.S.A. 18A:39-1 to pay the student's tuition for attending Bergen County Technical School during the 1997-98 school year and for transportation from his home in the District to the Technical School during that period.

The District has appealed to the State Board, seeking reversal of the Commissioner's decision in both respects. The District contends that it should not be required to pay D.J.'s tuition because he was being home-schooled and was not enrolled in the District's schools during the relevant period. Relying on a memorandum entitled "Home Schooling in New Jersey" that was issued by the Department of Education in 1997, the District argues that services provided by a public school district, including a county vocational school, are rendered at the option of the provider, in this case Bergen County Technical School, and that, therefore, the District should not be held responsible for tuition for D.J.'s vocational program. It further argues that a tuition agreement executed between the District and the Bergen County Technical School was "moot" because although D.J. was enrolled in the District when the agreement was executed, he was "disenrolled" by the time he began attending the vocational program.

[1] In that decision, we set aside that portion of the Commissioner's decision that directed the District to pay the cost of tuition during the pendency of the case because petitioner had not requested such relief in applying for emergent relief.

The District also challenges the Commissioner's conclusion that D.J.'s father (hereinafter "petitioner") should be reimbursed $2,125 by the District for the cost of D.J.'s transportation to and from the Technical School from September 1997 through January 1998. Pointing to N.J.S.A. 18A:39-1, the District contends that a home school program is not a "non-public school" within the meaning of the statute so that the entitlement to transportation conferred by that statute under specified circumstances on students attending non-public schools remote from their homes does not apply. However, it argues that if the statute were applicable, reimbursement should be limited to $675, which is the maximum amount for transportation costs under the statute for students attending non-public schools.

Under the circumstances presented, we affirm the Commissioner's determination that the express terms of N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1 placed an obligation on the District to pay tuition to the Technical School for D.J. during the 1997-98 school year. As the Commissioner stressed, N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1 provides that:

> The board of education of each school district or regional school district in any county in which there is a county vocational school district shall send to any of the schools of the county vocational school district each pupil who resides in the school district or regional school district and who has applied for admission to and has been accepted for attendance at any of the schools of the county vocational school. The board of education shall pay tuition for each of these pupils to the county vocational school ....

The language of this statute is clear and unambiguous. A district board is required to send each student who resides in the district to the county vocational school in that county and to pay the tuition for each regardless of whether the student is enrolled in the district's schools. No publication by the Department of Education could alter the statutory requirement, and, like the Commissioner, we have paid it no heed.[2]

We also affirm the Commissioner's determination that petitioner is entitled to $2,125 reimbursement for the costs of his son's transportation from September 1997 to January 1998. In so doing, we stress that petitioner incurred these costs because the District refused to recognize its statutory obligation to D.J. Hence, while we recognize that petitioner calculated the amount due him for September to October, the period during which he drove his son to the Technical School, to include the same hourly rate charged by the private bus company that he ultimately engaged, we do not find this result to be inequitable. Moreover, as the Commissioner pointed out, although the District argues that the amount is excessive, the only alternative it offers is the statutory maximum specified in N.J.S.A. 18A:39-1. Commissioner's Decision, slip op. at 15, n.6. We concur with the Commissioner that this provision is not applicable here because the express terms of the pertinent provision apply only to "....school pupils residing in [any district providing any transportation for public school pupils to and from school pursuant to this section] in going to any remote school other than a public school ...." (Emphasis added.)

We recognize that the language of N.J.S.A. 18A:39-1 and N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1 does not expressly provide for the situation that was presented by this appeal. After reviewing these statutes, as well as those related statutes which establish the framework under which transportation is provided to New Jersey's school children, we conclude that the Commissioner properly found that an obligation on the part of the [2] In his decision, the Commissioner noted that the publication at issue, "Home Schooling in New Jersey," could not be viewed as authoritative, and he directed that it be revised or withdrawn as necessary. Commissioner's Decision, slip op. at 14, n.4.

District could be inferred under those statutes given the circumstances. However, we direct that, under the Commissioner's direction, the Department of Education undertake a comprehensive review of the regulations providing for the distribution of State aid for transportation to insure that they are consistent with the options currently afforded by New Jersey's educational delivery system including, as was the case here, home schooling combined with a shared-time vocational program.

Petitioner sought an order declaring that B.W. was permitted to attend the public schools in respondent's district free of charge pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A: 38-1.

The ALJ dismissed the petition without prejudice, finding that the matter was moot since it was uncontroverted that B.W. was domiciled outside the district and receiving schooling in that district.

The Commissioner concurred with the ALJ, stressing, however, that the notice and due process rights of N.J.S.A. 18A: 38-1 must be construed in light of the recent Appellate Division decision, *J.A., for herself and on behalf of her minor niece, T.C. v. S.C., parent of B.W., petitioner, pro se

Raymond J. Zane, Esq., for respondent (Zane & Lozuke, attorneys)

Record Closed: March 31, 1999 Decided: May 12, 1999

BEFORE M. KATHLEEN DUNCAN, ALJ:

This matter commenced on October 6, 1998, when S.C., parent of B.W., filed a petition of appeal with the Commissioner of Education seeking an order that B.W. was permitted to attend the public schools in respondent's district free of charge pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1. An answer was filed on behalf of respondent on November 6, 1998, and on November 20, 1998 the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

By letter dated January 6, 1999, the undersigned wrote to petitioner with a copy to respondent's attorney as follows:

> The above-captioned matter has been assigned to me for hearing and disposition. There is a note in the file from the Department of Education which indicates that this matter may be moot because you have enrolled your child in another school district (Philadelphia). If this information is incorrect and you still require a determination from the Commissioner concerning whether the child is entitled to attend the public schools in Deptford free of charge pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, please call my chambers and advise my secretary who will then schedule a hearing date. If we do not hear from you by 5 p.m. on January 19, 1999, we will conclude that you have withdrawn your request for a hearing, and the file will be returned to the Department of Education.

Petitioner called and advised that he wished to proceed with the matter, and accordingly a telephone conference call was scheduled and was conducted on January 19, 1999. Although petitioner acknowledged during the telephone conference call that his daughter had been re-enrolled in another school district, he indicated that there were other issues concerning which he still required a determination from the Commissioner. Respondent's counsel indicated that he would be filing a motion for summary decision dismissing the matter as moot.

By letter dated February 18, 1999, and received on March 1, 1999, respondent's counsel filed a notice of motion to dismiss the petition for mootness together with a supporting certification. Petitioner filed a certification in response to the motion to dismiss on March 31, 1999, whereupon the record closed.

The certification of counsel in support of the motion to dismiss provides in pertinent part:

> 5. Mr. [C.] indicated to the Court that he had no objections to this matter being withdrawn, however, he wanted to preserve his right to be able to enroll the child in the Deptford Board of Education school system should he have custody of the child and the child reside with him in Deptford Township.

In his responding certification, petitioner states with respect to the above-quoted paragraph "I do request to preserve this right, if possible." The remainder of petitioner's certification repeats the assertions which petitioner made during the January 19, 1999 telephone conference call that respondent had precluded his daughter from attending respondent's public schools without notifying him of his right to appeal the district's determination concerning residency. Attached to the petition of appeal, however, is a letter from the school principal to petitioner dated September 22, 1998 providing:

> Enclosed is a transfer card for your child. She has told us that she goes to her mother's home at night, which is not what the her original registration information stated. A child must attend school in the district in which they are domiciled. Therefore, your child cannot attend Deptford Schools.
> Enclosed you will find a copy of N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1. New Jersey State law is very clear about residency rules. This transfer will take effect on Monday, September 28.

Obviously petitioner received the September 22, 1998 letter since he attached it to his petition of appeal. Since all of the information concerning the right to continue to attend school in the district pending appeal to the Commissioner of Education is contained in N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, the statutory provisions which were either provided with the September 22, 1998 letter as indicated or about which petitioner should have questioned the school principal if a copy of the statute had not been enclosed as stated, petitioner's complaints that respondent failed to notify him of his rights appear to be without merit. Furthermore, as respondent argues in its motion, because the child is currently domiciled outside the district, the within matter is moot.

For all the foregoing reasons, it is hereby ORDERED that the petition of appeal is DISMISSED WITHOUT PREJUDICE to petitioner's rights to refile such a petition in the future should he have custody of the child and the child resides with him in Deptford Township and the issue arises again.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, P.O. The record of this matter and the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. No exceptions were filed by the parties.

Upon his independent review of the record, the Commissioner concurs with the finding of the Administrative Law Judge that, since it is uncontroverted that minor child B.W. is currently domiciled outside of the district and receiving schooling in that district, the within matter is appropriately dismissed as moot. The Commissioner, however, stresses that the notice and due process rights of N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1 must be construed in light of the recent court decision in J.A., for herself and on behalf of her minor niece, T.C. v. Board of Education for the District of South Orange and Maplewood, Superior Court of New Jersey, Appellate Division, A-1615-97T2, decided March 2, 1999.[1]

[1]Additionally, while the record is somewhat equivocal on this point, if, indeed, the September 22, 1998 letter to petitioner (Initial Decision at p. 3) constituted the District's notice that petitioner's child was ineligible to attend the schools of the District effective September 28, 1998, such notice, on its face, was not in compliance with the provisions of N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1b(2). That provision specifies, "No child shall be removed from school during the 21-day period in which the parent may contest the board's decision or during the pendency of the proceedings before the commissioner." (emphasis added)

Accordingly, the initial decision of the OAL is affirmed for the reasons stated therein and the instant Petition of Appeal is dismissed as moot.[2]

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner demanded that respondents amend their records for his daughter, J.K.C., to reflect his surname in addition to her mother's surname.

The ALJ determined to dismiss the matter without prejudice because the issues of visitation, alleged harassment and emotional distress set forth in petitioner's writings are proper matters for the Superior Court, Family Division, and petitioner's dispute with respondents is limited since respondent South Hunterdon has indicated it will amend its records if presented with appropriate documentation.

The Commissioner adopted as his own the recommendation of the ALJ to dismiss the matter without prejudice to petitioner pursuing the issue of his daughter's legal surname in a court of appropriate jurisdiction.

Denise P. Coleman, Esq., on behalf of respondents (Schwartz, Simon, Edelstein, Celso & Kessler, attorneys)

Record Closed: April 29, 1999 Decided: May 13, 1999

BEFORE SOLOMON A. METZGER, ALJ:

This matter arises out of petitioner's demand that respondents amend their records for J.K.C., his daughter, to reflect his surname in addition to her mother's surname, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9. The Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. Respondents have filed a motion for summary decision and petitioner has answered. The record closed on April 29, 1999, with receipt of the respondents' reply.

Certain facts are undisputed. J.K.C. was born on July 20, 1983, to S.B.C. Petitioner's paternity was established by order of the Hunterdon County Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court, on September 23, 1983. J.K.C. was enrolled in the South Hunterdon Regional High School District (South Hunterdon) on September 4, 1996, under the name J.K.C., and based on school records has continuously resided with her mother. South Hunterdon serves grades 7 to 12. Petitioner contacted South Hunterdon in the latter part of 1998 to request a name change in J.K.C.'s school files and was told that a court order was required (Respondents' Br., Davidson Cert.). Petitioner asserts in his filing with the Commissioner that he is also suing S.B.C. and B.K.T., J.K.C.'s grandmother, for "violating my child's visiting rights as well as for over ten years of mental anguish and physical harassment, unlawful depriving me of seeing my daughter." In its order of September 23, 1983, establishing paternity, the Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court referred to the child as J.K.C.-Barlow (Attachment to Petitioner's Br.). This is the substance of the record.

Respondents argue first that the Commissioner lacks jurisdiction in this matter, because it is part of a family dispute that belongs in the Superior Court, Family Division. Moreover, even if the Commissioner has jurisdiction for purposes of insuring that districts maintain correct records under N.J.A.C. 6:3-6.7, he should refrain here. Primary jurisdiction rests with the Superior Court, Family Division, and the entire controversy doctrine demands that litigation not proceed piecemeal, Hackensack v. Winner, 82 N.J. 1 (1980). Finally respondents maintain that petitioner failed to file this matter timely under the 90-day rule, N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c). Petitioner's somewhat disjointed response does not take up these questions, but appears to see the 1983 paternity order as dispositive.

From his writings it seems that petitioner is striving to redress long-standing grievances with S.B.C. concerning their child. These involve visitation, alleged harassment and emotional distress, which are all proper matters for the Superior Court, Family Division. Petitioner's dispute with respondents is limited and South Hunterdon has already indicated that it will amend its records if presented with appropriate documentation. Thus, while the Commissioner has jurisdiction to correct inaccurate records, that role need not always drive a decision to hear a matter, McQueston v. Board of Education of the Eastern Camden County Regional School District, 1988 S.L.D. 1688.

To properly address the issues at bar, S.B.C. would have to be given an opportunity to intervene. The proofs at hearing would then likely raise questions concerning the relationship of the parents with each other and J.K.C. over the years. That is very much the business of the Family Division and will be pursued there in any event by virtue of petitioner's wider suit. The issue of J.K.C.'s proper name can be taken up in that context. Finally, the 1983 paternity order is far from dispositive on the question of J.K.C.'s legal name. That was not a proceeding to establish a legal name; the court merely utilized the name J.K.C.-Barlow.

Based on the foregoing, it is ORDERED that this petition be DISMISSED, without prejudice to its being brought elsewhere.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

BEFORE M. KATHLEEN DUNCAN, ALJ:

The within matter commenced on September 4, 1998, when the Board of Education of the City of Camden (hereinafter petitioner) filed tenure charges in accordance with the requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-11 against Emilia Eubanks, a tenured clerk, for unbecoming conduct, excessive absenteeism and incapacity. An answer on behalf of respondent was filed on September 9, 1998 and on September 10, 1998, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

A prehearing conference was conducted on October 1, 1998 and a hearing was scheduled for February 8, 9 and 10, 1999. Prior to the scheduled hearing dates, the parties advised that they had reached a settlement agreement and would be submitting a stipulation for the approval of the undersigned and the Commissioner of Education. The executed agreement which was received on April 9, 1999, is attached hereto and made a part hereof as if set forth herein at length. Also attached hereto and made a part hereof is respondent's signed waiver of the in-person appearance referred to in paragraph four of the stipulation of settlement. Respondent's signed waiver was received on April 23, 1999, whereupon the record closed.

I have reviewed the record and the terms of settlement and I CONCLUDE in view of all of the circumstances, it would not be improper for the Commissioner of Education to approve the settlement as an appropriate voluntary resolution of this matter entirely consistent with the law and the philosophy of Cardonick v. Board of Education of the Borough of Brooklawn, EDU 7093-81, 7094-81 and 100-82, decided April 6, 1983 by the State Board of Education. The parties have set forth in their written agreement all of the circumstances which have caused petitioner to conclude that a hearing on the merits in this matter would probably not serve the public interest. The agreement provides for no payment of public monies to respondent and since respondent's position is clerk/typist and she possesses no certificate issued by the State Board of Examiners, consideration by the Board of Examiners pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.5 is unnecessary.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE HEARING OF EMILIA EUBANKS, BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF CAMDEN, CAMDEN COUNTY.	BEFORE THE HON. KATHLEEN M. DUNCAN, ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE, OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATIVE LAW OF THE STATE OF NEW JERSEY DOCKET NO. 08151-98S STIPULATION OF SETTLEMENT

THIS STIPULATION OF SETTLEMENT is entered into by and between the Petitioner, Board of Education of the City of Camden (hereinafter "BOARD") and Respondent, Emilia Eubanks (hereinafter referred as "EUBANKS") (the BOARD and EUBANKS are hereinafter referred to jointly as the "Parties" and each may be referred to severally as a "Party");

WHEREAS, EUBANKS has been continuously employed by the Board since January 1, 1980;

WHEREAS, on or about September 1, 1998, the BOARD certified to the Commissioner of Education charges against EUBANKS which, if true, were sufficient to warrant her dismissal;

WHEREAS, EUBANKS has been continuously suspended without pay since September 1, 1998;

WHEREAS, on or about September 1, 1998, EUBANKS filed an Answer to the charges denying the allegations as stated;

WHEREAS, this matter was listed for hearing before the Honorable M. Kathleen Duncan, ALJ, on February 8 and 9 and 10, 1999 and the Parties having agreed to a means of resolving this dispute in a manner consonant with the public interest; and

WHEREAS, EUBANKS and the BOARD have entered into this stipulation with a full understanding of their rights, recognizing that this stipulation and their agreement is subject to the review and approval of the Commissioner of Education;

WHEREAS, EUBANKS was a clerk/typist for the Board and had not acquired a teaching certificate, the question of possible revocation of such certificate by the State Board of Examiners being moot;

NOW, THEREFORE, the matter in difference having been amicably adjusted by and between the parties,

IT IS HEREBY STIPULATED AND AGREED AS FOLLOWS:

1. EUBANKS has tendered her resignation, effective February 1, 1999, pursuant to a plea agreement in Superior Court of New Jersey, Camden County which required EUBANKS' forfeiture of public office. A copy of the plea agreement is attached as Exhibit A to this stipulation. A copy of the letter of resignation is attached as Exhibit B to this stipulation. At the February 22, 1999 meeting, the BOARD accepted EUBANKS resignation, effective on the resignation date. As a result of Eubanks' plea agreement and resignation, and upon approval of this Agreement by the Commissioner of Education, the BOARD will withdraw, without prejudice, the tenure charges that it has filed against EUBANKS.

4. The Parties enter into this agreement with the mutual understanding that a formal record will be made of EUBANKS' acceptance of the terms of this settlement at the Office of Administrative Law and that, as part of that record, she will have an opportunity to present proofs as to: (a) the knowing and voluntary waiver of her tenure rights; and (b) her capacity to make such a waiver.

5. The Parties further agree that this agreement is contingent upon approval by the Office of Administrative Law and the Commissioner of Education. Neither party will take any legal action whatsoever that is inconsistent with this Agreement before the Office of Administrative Law or any other forum. Provided, however, that nothing in this agreement is intended to restrict the State Board of Examiners from taking any action it deems appropriate.

6. The Parties agree that they and their officers, agents, and administrators will be bound by a covenant of good faith and fair dealing with respect to performance under this Stipulation.

7. This Stipulation constitutes a full release of any and all claims EUBANKS may have against the BOARD. Specifically, EUBANKS forever releases the BOARD from any and all complaints, charges, liabilities, demands, debts, accounts, obligations, promises, suits, actions, causes of action, demands in law or equity, including claims for damages (including but not limited to back pay and front pay), equitable relief, and attorney fees or costs, which EUBANKS now has, or claims to have, or which

EUBANKS at any time hereafter may have, or claim to have, whether presently known or unknown, arising at any time, up to and including the date on which she signs the document. EUBANKS specifically releases the BOARD from any claims she has or may have had under the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination or the federal Americans with Disabilities Act;

8. The Parties agree that nothing in this agreement is intended to waive any obligations EUBANKS may have for restitution to the BOARD pursuant to the plea agreement that was executed in Superior Court of New Jersey, Camden County on or about February 1, 1999.

9. The Parties agree that this document constitutes their full understanding. It is agreed that there are no other understandings or agreements (either written or oral) which would have any impact upon the present action.

10. By signing this agreement, the Parties certify that they have had the opportunity to discuss this Stipulation with counsel. They are fully satisfied with the services of their counsel with respect to both this Stipulation and all other aspects of this case and they enter into this Stipulation knowingly, willingly and without any coercion or improper inducements.

11. The Parties further agree that this agreement is contingent upon approval by the Office of Administrative Law and the Commissioner. Neither Party will take any legal action whatsoever that is inconsistent with this agreement before the Office of Administrative Law or any other forum.

12. By signing this agreement, each signatory represents that she or he is a Party or has been duly authorized by a Party to sign on that Party's behalf.

13. The Parties agree that this Stipulation may be signed in counterparts and that facsimiles of signatures will have the same force and effect as original signatures.

5. In full consideration of the mutual execution of this Stipulation, and the mutual agreement to be legally bound by its terms, in a timely fashion, BOARD agrees to take formal action at a duly-noticed meeting to:

(a) restore GOODMAN's salary and adjustment increments for the 1998-99 school year retroactively and prospectively based upon the Board's finding that GOODMAN has recovered from the previously recognized shortcoming and has recaptured lost ground by steadily improving performance;

(b) place GOODMAN at Step 17 of the BA+30 column of the guide retroactively and prospectively for the 1998-99 school year in recognition of her having obtained this level of education;

(c) provide GOODMAN with salary and all benefits and emoluments to which she would otherwise be entitled for the time period from September 1, 1998 through June 30, 1999;

(d) accept GOODMAN's application for the Leave Benefits and pay her all sums to which she otherwise would have been entitled had she applied for the Leave Benefits on or before November 1, 1998. At present, the amount of such Leave Benefits is $36,000. This amount is calculated as follows: $65,141 (final salary) divided by 200 (pursuant to the contract) multiplied by 111 (current days available) equals $36,153.25. Given that this sum exceeds the $36,000 maximum Leave Benefits payment allowed under the contract, her Leave Benefits are capped at $36,000. The Leave Benefits are subject to revision in the event that GOODMAN exhausts days available between the date of this agreement and June 30, 1999. In the event that this should occur, the same formula will be used, the only difference being that the number of days will be revised downward accordingly;

(e) The BOARD and its administrators will promptly take such other and further actions, will promptly respond to all inquiries by the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund ("TPAF") The Parties understand that, in this context "promptly" means within 72 hours of receipt of such request or form. In the event that the schools are closed for any reason when the request or form is received, the BOARD will respond within 72 hours of the time the schools reopen.

(f) The BOARD agrees that GOODMAN has been "terminated (other than by reason of gross misconduct)" within the meaning of 29 U.S.C. § 1163(2) as of June 30, 1999, so as to qualify GOODMAN for continued health care coverage under the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act, ("COBRA"), 29 U.S.C. §§1161-1168, should she elect such coverage. BOARD agree to cooperate with GOODMAN to the extent necessary for her to be eligible for and receive COBRA benefits;

(g) as a result of the BOARD's actions in subparagraphs (a) and (b) above, GOODMAN's 1998-99 salary is a total of $65,141, representing $62,241 (Step 17 in the BA+30 column) and a $2,900 longevity payment. The Parties acknowledge that the BOARD's withholding of GOODMAN's salary increment for the 1997-98 school year remains intact.

6. It is expressly agreed and understood that BOARD does not have and will not have any obligation to provide GOODMAN at any time in the future with any payments, benefits or considerations other than those recited in Paragraph 5 above.

7. GOODMAN further agrees and covenants that neither she, nor any person, organization or other entity on her behalf, will file, charge, claim, sue or cause or permit to be filed, charged or claimed any action for legal or equitable relief (including damages, injunctive, declaratory, monetary or other relief) involving any matter occurring at any time in the past up to the date of this Stipulation.

8. BOARD agrees and covenants that neither it nor anyone on its behalf will file, charge, claim, sue or cause or permit to be filed, charged, or claimed any action for legal or equitable relief (including damages, injunctive, declaratory, monetary or other relief) involving any matter occurring at any time in the past up to the date of this Stipulation or involving any continuing effects or any acts or practices which may have arisen or occurred prior to the date of this Stipulation.

9. GOODMAN agrees and acknowledges that the agreement by BOARD described herein and the settlement and termination of any claims against BOARD as set forth herein, are not and shall not be construed to be an admission of any violation of any federal, state or local statute or regulation, or of any duty owed by BOARD to her.

10. In the event that the Commissioner, the DCR Director or the EEOC Regional Director sets aside any aspect of this Stipulation, the Parties agree to reform it to effectuate its purposes. Should reformation prove impossible, the pre-settlement status quo will be restored and the matters will be relisted for consolidated hearing before the OAL

11. Should BOARD fail to pay all monies owed to GOODMAN directly or to be paid on her behalf under this Stipulation as said monies become due, GOODMAN may avail herself of all remedies under law and equity to enforce this agreement in any tribunal having jurisdiction.

12. The Parties acknowledge that TPAF is not a party to this Stipulation and nothing in this Stipulation binds TPAF to grant GOODMAN a pension. In the event that TPAF takes any action to deny GOODMAN her full pension benefits as contemplated by this agreement, the BOARD covenants to cooperate fully to take such other and further acts as are necessary to assist GOODMAN in any supplemental application and/or appeal from TPAF's initial action.

13. This Stipulation is a bilateral agreement and is the product of joint negotiation and drafting. In the event of dispute as to a term of this Stipulation, the Stipulation will not be construed against either Party as the party who drafted it.

14. The Parties agree that they and their officers, agents, and administrators will be bound by a covenant of good faith and fair dealing with respect to performance under this Stipulation and that neither will do anything to deprive the other of the benefit of the bargain.

15. The Parties hereby certify that they have read the terms of this Stipulation, that they have had an opportunity to discuss it with their attorneys and pension consultants and that they understand its terms and effects. GOODMAN acknowledges further that she is executing this Stipulation of her own volition, with full understanding of its terms and effects, and with the intention of releasing all claims recited herein, for consideration which she acknowledges is adequate and satisfactory to her. Neither BOARD nor its agents, representatives, or attorneys have made any representations to her concerning the terms or effects of this Stipulation other than those contained herein.

16. By signing this Stipulation, each signatory represents that she or he is a Party or has been duly authorized by a Party to sign on that Party's behalf.

17. The Parties agree that this Stipulation may be signed in counterparts and that facsimiles of signatures will have the same force and effect as original signatures.

Intending to be legally bound hereby, GOODMAN and BOARD execute the foregoing Stipulation this 4 day of May, 1999.

ORDER
ON MOTION FOR EMERGENT RELIEF
OAL DKT. NO. EDU 4627-99
AGENCY DKT. NO. 164-6/99

G.J.C. AND L.C. ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILD, N.C., Petitioners,
v.
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF SOMERVILLE, SOMERSET COUNTY,
Respondent.

G.J.C. and L.C., petitioners, pro se

Michael J. Rogers, Esq., for respondent (McDonald, Rogers & Rizzolo, attorneys)

BEFORE JOSEPH LAVERY, ALJ:

THE EMERGENT MOTION

Petitioners, G.J.C., the father, and L.C. the mother, on behalf of their son, N.C., appeal from denial of credit for his senior-year first-period course in Physics, which as a consequence will bar him from graduation with his class today, June 25, 1999. The Board's denial will also prevent graduation until N.C. passes a five-credit course of his choosing, bringing the number of prerequisite credits to the total required.

The Somerville Board of Education, respondent, contests the appeal, defending its actions and policy as reasonable and lawful.

Today's order grants the parents request, (a) awarding credit for the course in Physics, and (b) directing that N.C. be permitted to participate in graduation ceremonies tonight.

ANALYSIS OF THE RECORD

Background:

But for the present dispute, N.C., a senior at Somerville High School, would graduate in the ceremony this evening with his class. The Board has decided to bar N.C. from graduation because he was absent for sixteen days during his first period class. The limit for absences is 15 days. In disposing of the school-level appeal to the Board Attendance Committe by N.C. through his father, G.J.C., the Board maintained that there were no "extenuating circumstances or hardships" which would impel it to decide in his favor, and according to policy, credit for the course therefore will not be granted. The attendant consequences noted above followed, and petitioners brought the instant appeal.

Arguments of the Parties

Petitioner's argument:

G.J.C., father of N.C., testified that graduation with the students with whom he had gone through four years of high school was of primary importance as a lifetime milestone, with attendant memories. Were graduation to be forbidden, it would result in trauma and leave him an object of ridicule among his peers, in particular at reunions. Moreover, retaking a course which he had passed academically, with an A-minus in the final exam, jeopardized the prospects of his college applications, and would prevent his summer training for Olympic trials in Tae Kwon Do, in which he has been a life-long competitor.

Petitioners argue that N.C. was absent seven days for medical reasons, three for athletic requirements. Addressing the four latenesses, petitioners note that N.C. one was five minutes beyond the allowable time of ten minutes, and the other was nine minutes beyond that time. Listing the history of N.C.'s absences and latenesses in their petition to the Commissioner, petitioners note the reasons therefore:

Absences

October 10	Absent for driving test
October 16	Absent for driving re-test
December 23	Absent for head injury obtained in Tae Kwon Do training, requiring physician treatment and CAT scan
January 7 and 8	Absent in California for national Tae Kwon Do championship
January 11	Absent because of return home from California championship at 2:30 a.m.
January 19	Major dental surgery, removal of four molars and treated by dentist, with confirming medical note.
January 20	Recovering from the above
February 11, March 3, April 19, 26	Mononucleosis, treated by physician, with confirming medical note.

Late Arrivals

November 9	nineteen minutes late - slept in December 17	two hours, five minutes late - slept in February 9	thirty minutes late - pulled over by police
February 10	fifteen minutes late

Petitioner asks that mitigating circumstances be considered. These include (a) residing at the end of a relatively rural bus route, (b) inordinate traffic on the route to school when N.C. is transported by his parents on occasion, (c) later times allowed for arrival in surrounding schools, (d) differences in the number of absences allowed by surrounding schools, (e) seven verifiable medical absences, (f) competition in Tae Kwon Do tournament culminating life-long preparatory training, in a sport where N.C. has garnered three gold and one silver medal (g) absence of drinking, smoking, drugs, tattoos or history of disruption or discipline, tempered only by N.C.'s,tendency to be "cheeky" and finally (h) academics and test scores fully qualifying N.C. for graduation.

Petitioner argues further that if the class credit which he is being denied could have been resolved through taking an extra class this year, the school should have advised N.C.'s parents and they would have complied. Additionally, it has not been shown that N.C. has failed to "fully gain the educational and social benefits of group situations" through sufficient attendance which is the Somerville High School's reason for need to attend class. Additionally, in-school or out-of-school suspension applies to other kinds of infractions, and should have been applied here, rather than deny academic credit.

L.C., mother of N.C., testified that during the illnesses considered here, she was certain that she had called in to cover the two days, January 19 and January 20, 1999, when her son had undergone major dental surgery, and spoke with a woman with whom she had spoken on other times when she reported illness. On the other hand, she acknowledged that for the mononucleosis days and the absence for head injury, she had neglected to call in though she knew of the requirement. Her son, N.C., acknowledged that he had not read the school policy, and was not aware of how important it would prove to be. He added that since he had studied extremely hard for the final examination in physics, he believed it would be a shame to require him to retake the course.

In summary, petitioners point out that surgery for four molars is a serious illness even by the school handbook, and that the Board has reacted too severely to the series of latenesses and absences that brought N.C. only one day beyond the maximum limit for course credit. Petitioners add that the Board seems intent on punishing N.C. for a concededly "cheeky" attitude. They argue that the history of recent extreme strengthening of the Board disciplinary policies since two other siblings had gone through the same school system, has become outsized. The punishment allotted here has gone far beyond that which is appropriate.

Respondent's argument:

The Board maintains that the attendance policy was followed with N.C. as it is in all cases. and that N.C. did not comply with that policy

Mr. William Roesch, the assistant principal testifying for the school board, noted that the policy had been delivered to N.C. as with all students. He had unexcused absences amounting to sixteen days, which would include four tardinesses in the Physics class in which he is now recorded as having an "incomplete." In order to complete the required number of credits for high school, N.C. would have to take any course of his choosing which could include the Physics course to earn the next five credits. However, the earlier course with the "incomplete" would be figured into his grade point average as a 0 for purposes of grade-point average.

Mr. Roesch stressed that there was an appeal process and was preceded by two warning letters, one on January 18, 1999, and another on April 28, 1999, when N.C.'s absences reached fourteen. On May 14, 1999, the parents were advised that the absences had exceeded the limitation and a petition for appeal was supplied. Mr. Roesch recalled that he spent twenty minutes explaining the procedure to N.C., and eventually stopped further discussion at that point. Only three pink slips indicating the reasons for absence were provided: January 7, January 8 and January 11, 1999, all indicating that he had overslept.

As to the absences on October 2 and October 16 (Mr. Roesch agreed that the October 19 date was error), the driver's test was not excused, because it is necessary to come to school and sign out first, then return. This did not happen. The attendance record card filled in with information comes from the Branchburg School District Attendance Officer.

Additionally, Mr. Roesch said, medical certification must be provided within seventy-two hours, while in this case they were presented in the course of the administrative appeal at the Board level. The Attendance Committee was composed of five staff members, and accepted the appeal on May 24, holding hearings on June 16, June 21 and June 22, 1999 Mr. Roesch acknowledged that the dates of absences were not provided to the parents before the hearing, despite their request, because the school wanted to prevent "falsified notes, unverified notes" by whoever was making the appeal. Additionally, the emergency room cat-scan evidence does not match the absence date of December 23.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The applicable law:

The rule governing emergent relief is N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.5, and this rule, in turn, relies on the four-part test of Crowe v. Di Goia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982) as its standard. Interim relief should not be granted thereunder, except (1) when necessary to prevent irreparable harm, (2) when the legal right underlying the claim in settled, (3) when the material facts are uncontroverted, and (4) when the relative hardship caused by grant or denial of relief is considered.

In addition to the test of Crowe v. DeGioia, supra, the Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules at N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5 set forth the elements of emergent relief:

> N.J.A.C.* 1:1-12.6 Emergency relief
>
> . . .
>
> (f) When temporary relief is granted by an agency head under circumstances which do not permit an opposing party to be fully heard, temporary relief shall:
> 1. Be based upon specific facts shown by affidavit or oral testimony, that the moving party has made an adequate, good faith effort to provide notice to the opposing party, or that notice would defeat the purpose of the application for relief;

2. Include a finding that immediate and irreparable harm will probably result before adequate notice can be given;

3. Be based on the likelihood that the moving party will prevail when the application is fully argued by all parties;

4. Be as limited in scope and temporary as is possible to allow the opposing party to be given notice and to be fully heard on the application; and

5. Contain a provision for serving and notifying all parties and for scheduling a hearing before the agency head or for transmitting the application to Office of Administrative Law.

It is also relevant the Board's action, though presumed lawful, must also survive application of the standard that it be reasonable, and not arbitrary. Kopera V. Bd. of Educ., Tp. of W. Orange, 60 N.J. Super. 288 (App. Div. 1960).

This is the law which must be applied in the present circumstances.

Applying the Law to the Facts:

Based on the above judicial decisions and regulatory citation, the emergent relief should be granted.

There is no question that policy determinations by the Board may not be overturned unless that policy is arbitrary and unreasonable, Kopera, supra. Neither this tribunal nor the Commissioner may substitute his judgment for the Board in instances when the policy or its application is reasonable.

In this particular instance it is not unreasonable for the Board to expect petitioners' compliance with the policy of requiring timely notice to the school of the reasons for absence. Here, no notices were given as to absences, and only three explanatory "pink slips" were provided in school by N.C. on his return.

Nevertheless, the impact of denying N.C. course credit for a Physics course indisputably passed, denying graduation after four years with his class, and jeopardizing college entrance as well as grade point average is out of proportion to the offense. Mr. Roesch testified that the Board agreed that N.C. has satisfied the science requirements for high school graduation. Additionally, the Board did not dispute that N.C. had academically passed the course with an A- in the final exam. Nonetheless, he added that the incomplete would be treated as a 0 grade and be factored into his grade point average. This does not reflect reality. N.C. passed the course and should not now suffer academically for that reason, or be required to re-take a course in which he has demonstrated proficiency. Interpreting Board policy to reasonably evaluate individual circumstances would be itself unreasonable and arbitrary.

Moreover, the credible testimony from L.C., supports the proposition that L.C. did notify the school by phone to report N.C.'s absence because of oral surgery, which would have put the school on notice of two days of absence. There is no evidence to contest the believable position of the petitioners that N.C. was absent for legitimate medical reasons on December 23 for a head injury, which was supported by the notice of a later CAT scan in the emergency room on December 26. Nor is there evidence to contest the mononucleosis absence also supported by medical certification, on February 11, March 3, April 19 and April 26. This would account for five more days of the sixteen absences listed.

While the late arrivals or absences for the driving test on October 10 and October 16 for full day are hardly defensible, the absences for Tae Kwon Do championship in California as well as the absence on return at 2:30 a.m. on January 11 are believable and at least entitled to some weight.

In any event, although there has not been compliance with the strict letter of the Board's rules, it is sufficient that petitioners have provided credible evidence of medical absence of (1) day for a head injury, (2) days for oral surgery, and (4) days for mononucleosis. It is believable also that there were at least (2) days absence for a national athletic championship. These cumulative absences cannot reasonably be thought to justify the current result: a bar from graduation, loss of academic credit for a course passed, skewing of a grade point average, and placement in college rendered at risk.

In sum, there would be a likelihood of success for petitioners at plenary hearing, petitioners would be irreparably harmed if not granted emergent relief, and, while the Board regulations are not unreasonable, their construction by the Board in the exercise of its discretion on these peculiar facts has been arbitrary and unreasonable, within the definition advanced by Kopera, supra. Consequently, it should be overturned.

ORDER

I ORDER therefore (a) that N.C. be permitted to participate in graduation and (b) that N.C. be credited with five credits for the physics course taken this year.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five (45) days following the entry of this order. If the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five (45) days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF SOMERVILLE, SOMERSET COUNTY,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

The record and initial decision on motion for emergent relief have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Assistant Commissioner, to whom this matter has been delegated by the Commissioner pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:4-34, does not concur with the ALJ that, under the circumstances herein, petitioners have met the criteria for grant of emergent relief as set forth in Crowe v. DeGioia, supra.

In particular, the Assistant Commissioner finds that petitioners have not made a preliminary showing of likelihood of success on the ultimate merits of their claim. Petitioners make no allegation that they had inadequate notice of the Board's policies or N.C.'s status with respect to possible loss of credit due to his repeated absence and tardiness. Further, the record is clear that the Board considered the circumstances of N.C.'s absences before applying its policy to him, and petitioners have made no facial showing that the Board's determination in this regard was an abuse of its lawful discretionary authority.

Accordingly, the Assistant Commissioner finds that petitioners have not demonstrated an entitlement to extraordinary relief and, therefore, reverses the initial decision. The motion for emergent relief is DENIED and this matter shall continue at the Office of Administrative Law for such proceedings as are necessary to determine the underlying claim on its merits.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Record Closed: May 20, 1999 Decided: May 24, 1999

BEFORE SEBASTIAN GAETA, JR., ALJ:

STATEMENT OF CASE

By its resolution of December 22, 1998 the petitioner, School District of Union City, Hudson County, certified to the Commissioner of Education eight charges, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-11, against respondent William Wenisch, a tenured nonteacher employee. That resolution also suspended respondent, without pay, beginning December 23, 1998.

A Prehearing Order was issued on March 12, 1999 which incorporated the matters discussed in the prehearing conference on February 23, 1999. Hearings were scheduled for May 17, 18, 19 and 20, 1999. Prior to commencement of the hearings, the parties advised that a settlement had been reached in the matter. Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-18.1, respondent had been restored to full pay on April 22, 1999.

On May 20, 1999, a hearing was conducted to review the settlement. Respondent was placed under oath and testified that each term of the written agreement was read by him and explained to him by his counsel, that all statements of fact were correct and he wished to be bound by the agreement. The agreement was then signed by respondent, William Wenisch, and by respective counsel.

I have reviewed the settlement and FIND:

(1) The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement.

(2) The respondent entered into the agreement with a full understanding of his rights.

(3) The agreement is consistent with the public interest.

(4) The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE HEARING OF WILLIAM WENISCH, BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF UNION CITY, HUDSON COUNTY.	BEFORE THE HON. SEBASTIAN GAETA JR., ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE, OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATIVE LAW OF THE STATE OF NEW JERSEY DOCKET NO. 1420-99 STIPULATION OF SETTLEMENT

THIS STIPULATION OF SETTLEMENT is entered into by and between the Petitioner, Board of Education of the City of Union City (hereinafter "BOARD") and Respondent, William Wenisch (hereinafter referred to as "WENISCH") (the BOARD and WENISCH are hereinafter referred to jointly as the "Parties" and each may be referred to severally as a "Party");

WHEREAS, WENISCH has been continuously employed by the Board since March 1, 1986;

WHEREAS, on or about December 29, 1998, the BOARD certified to the Commissioner of Education charges against WENISCH which, if true, were sufficient to warrant his dismissal;

WHEREAS, WENISCH has been suspended without pay since December 23,1998 and suspended with pay from April 22, 1999;

WHEREAS, on or about January 7, 1999, WENISCH filed an Answer to the charges denying the allegations as stated;

WHEREAS, this matter was listed for hearing before the Honorable Sebastian Gaeta, Jr. ALJ, on May 17, 18,19 and 20, 1999 and the Parties having been urged to confer and to attempt to settle this matter and the Parties having agreed to a means of resolving this dispute in a manner consonant with the public interest; and

WHEREAS, WENISCH and the BOARD have entered into this stipulation with a full understanding of their rights, recognizing that this stipulation and their agreement is subject to the review and approval of the Commissioner of Education;

WHEREAS, WENISCH was a custodian for the Board and had not acquired a teaching certificate, the question of possible revocation of such certificate by the State Board of Examiners being moot;

NOW, THEREFORE, the matter in difference having been amicably adjusted by and between the parties,

IT IS HEREBY STIPULATED AND AGREED AS FOLLOWS:

1. WENISCH will voluntarily tender his resignation of employment to the BOARD to be effective the date this agreement is approved by the Commissioner of Education.

2. In consideration of this resignation the BOARD will withdraw the tenure charges that it has filed against WENISCH and further agrees that it will pay WENISCH $6000.00. Such payment will be made immediately following the BOARD'S approval of this settlement at the next regularly scheduled meeting following approval of this settlement by the Commissioner of Education. This settlement is in the BOARD's best interest as well as the public interest for the following reasons: (a) Such settlement causes the least disruption to the Union City School District in that employees who were scheduled to testify as witnesses would be taken away from their normal responsibilities within the district; (b) Such settlement avoids a lengthy, expensive hearing at the Office of Administrative Law and possible appeals taken thereafter; (c) The monetary payment is not excessive and bears a reasonable relationship to the Respondent's salary and amount of money which he would receive if tenure charges were pursued.

3. The Parties further agree that this agreement is contingent upon approval by the Office of Administrative Law and the Commissioner of Education. Neither party will take any legal action whatsoever that is inconsistent with this Agreement before the Office of Administrative Law or any other forum.

4. The Parties agree that they, and their officers, agents, and administrators will be bound by a covenant of good faith and fair dealing with respect to performance under this Stipulation.

5. This Stipulation constitutes a full release of any and all claims WENISCH may have against the BOARD. IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF WILLIAM WENISCH,	:
SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
UNION CITY, HUDSON COUNTY.	:	DECISION

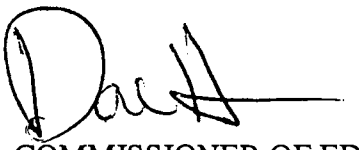
The record, recommended stipulation of settlement, and initial decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed.

Upon review, the Commissioner approves the settlement terms since they comport with the Cardonick standards for review of settlements in tenure matters and adopts the settlement as the final decision in this matter. In re Cardonick, decided by the Commissioner April 7, 1982, aff'd State Board April 6, 1983, 1990 S.L.D. 842, 846.[1] The matter is hereby dismissed, subject to compliance with the terms of the settlement.[2]



COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

[1] Notwithstanding that term #2 of the settlement indicates that the Board will approve the settlement subsequent to approval by the Commissioner, the record reflects that the Board has approved the agreement and it is "implementation" of such agreement which will occur following acceptance by the Commissioner.

[2] This decision, as the Commissioner's final determination in the instant matter, may be appealed to the State Board of Education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-27 et seq. and N.J.A.C. 6:2-1.1 et seq., within 30 days of its filing. Commissioner decisions are deemed filed three days after the date of mailing to the parties.

BEFORE SOLOMON A. METZGER, ALJ:

This matter arises out of petitioner's contention that her minor son, K.M.A. was arbitrarily expelled from school and should be reinstated on an emergent basis. The Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law as a contested case on May 6, 1999, and oral argument was scheduled on May 19, 1999. At that time counsel agreed that there were no substantive factual disputes for purposes of the emergent relief application[1], and supplementary affidavits and argument were received on May 21, 1999. This decision follows.

K.M.A. was born on April 10, 1983. In February 1999, at age 15, he transferred into Collingswood High School. K.M.A. has no prior disciplinary record at any school.

On the morning of March 23, 1999, K.M.A. was in a computer lab. Toward the end of class the teacher allowed the students some free time to use the computers. At approximately 10:30 a.m., K.M.A. proceeded to change the message on the computer shut down screen to read "if you turn me off i will blow up!!" At approximately 12:15 p.m. the teacher saw this message and reported it to Principal James H. Misek. The computer use was traced to K.M.A. and he was called to the principal's office where he was accused of making a "bomb threat," which he denied. Further investigation developed that K.M.A. showed his handiwork to the student who had been sitting next to him in class. K.M.A. was then escorted to the lab and shown the computer he had worked on, at which point he admitted changing the message. The room was closed off for the day and the police were called, but the school was not evacuated, nor was the bomb squad summoned. Petitioner was contacted, K.M.A. was arrested, and the incident ended at about 1:30 p.m.

Principal Misek summarily suspended KM.A. for ten days, beginning on March 24, 1999, and the terms of suspension were confirmed in a letter to petitioner. An expulsion hearing was conducted by the Board of Education on April 26, 1999. The notice of hearing, delivered on April 22, 1999, indicated that principal Misek and Superintendent James H. Bathurst would be testifying; no summary of their expected testimony was provided. An incident report prepared by Assistant Principal Keith W. Land was attached. Superintendent Bathurst testified at the Board hearing and participated in the decision-making process. Additionally, one witness that the administration sought to call, a Mr. Miles, was excluded after counsel for petitioner objected that he had not been listed as a witness. Nevertheless, one Board member was seen speaking to Mr. Miles privately before the vote was taken.

[1] As a consequence no tape recording was made of the hearing and counsel rested on their submissions.

Collingswood High School has received multiple bomb threats this school year and a policy has been developed not to evacuate the school immediately in each instance. This is the substance of the record.

Petitioner argues that her son did not receive a preliminary hearing in accordance with Goss v. Lopez, 419 U.S. 565, 95 S. Ct. 729 (1975), and did not have a full hearing before the Board within twenty-one days of suspension as required by R..R. v. Board of Education, Shore Regional High School Dist., 109 N.J. Super. 337 (1970). Further, the proceeding before the Board was tainted by the Superintendent's involvement in the decision-making process though he also testified, by a Board member speaking to a prospective witness whose testimony had been excluded, and because petitioner was not provided with a summary of expected testimony. Beyond the procedural due process arguments, petitioner believes that she has shown a likelihood of success on the merits, irreparable harm, and that the relative hardships to the parties favor relief. Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982). I do not agree.

I perceive no violation of procedural due process with respect to the preliminary hearing. The court in Goss v. Lopez, supra, instructed that in the school setting a preliminary hearing could be quite informal and need only advise the student of the allegations and offer an opportunity to respond. Principal Misek did just this when he called K.M.A. in, asked him about the message, heard his denial, investigated further, confronted K.M.A. again and then heard his admission.

The Board did not provide a formal hearing until 34 days after the suspension, but I do not see how K.M.A. was prejudiced by the delay. He conceded his actions early on and thus the Board was not faced with the emergent circumstance of a suspended student professing innocence. The hearing was primarily intended to determine the appropriate penalty, which would likely have been a lengthy suspension even if the Board had opted for something short of expulsion. Moreover, the lower court decision in R.R., is not binding authority, and no appellate case has been cited for the proposition that due process requires a hearing within 21 days. The legislature presently mandates a hearing in school assault cases within 30 calendar days, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2.1, and has never amended the general rule requiring a hearing no later than the second regular meeting of the Board after suspension, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-5. Petitioner also relies on L.T. v. Long Branch City Board of Education, 96 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 125 (1995), to show that the Commissioner has approved the R.R. holding. The facts and law in L.T., do not match our situation. That case involved an assault at a time when the statute called for a hearing within 21 days. The Board had not conducted a hearing until 59 days after suspension, although an intermediate panel reviewed the matter sooner. The student in L.T. had been out of school for six months when the case was heard, and importantly, there were some questions about the extent of his culpability. Under those circumstances the Commissioner returned the student to school.

The alleged procedural errors at hearing are overblown. Boards of Education need not provide a student in jeopardy of expulsion with a "full-dress" trial. Dixon v. Alabama State Board of Education, 294 F. 2d. 150 (5th Cir. 1961). Petitioner maintains that the Board failed to supply a summary of expected testimony from Superintendent Bathurst and Principal Misek. In Tibbs v. Board of Education of the Township of Franklin, 59 N.J. 506 (1971), the Supreme Court approved the concurring opinion of Judge Kolofski in the Appellate Division, 114 N.J. Super. 287 App. Div. (1971), which held that written summaries were not a substitute for live testimony on key fact questions. The lower court in R.R. had earlier reasoned that written summaries were adequate, and petitioner misreads these holdings to require both.

We do not know what the nature of the conversation was between the Board member and Mr. Miles, nor do not know what Mr. Bathurst said to the Board outside of his role as a witness. Without more it is difficult to measure the alleged error, although the process is always enhanced by an atmosphere that creates confidence. Petitioner was represented by counsel, who had an opportunity to examine and cross-examine, submit documents and make argument. Again, K.M.A. had already admitted that he entered the offending message on the computer screen.

We turn then to the Crowe standards. Initially, petitioner must show a likelihood of success on the merits. This has not been done. Boards of Education enjoy wide statutory discretion, and their decisions may not be overturned unless arbitrary and capricious. Thomas v. Morris Bd. of Educ., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965); Kopera v. West Orange Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960). The Board acted with the knowledge that there have been a number of bomb scares at the High School this past year. The failure to evacuate the building or call the bomb squad was not, as petitioner would have it, an evidence that the incident was not taken seriously. Rather, it reflects a policy not to evacuate as a first response when the circumstances do not suggest an impending emergency. Principal Misek's affidavit attests, however, to the steps he took to clarify the situation. The laboratory was closed to classes, an investigation was undertaken, petitioner was called to school and the police were notified. K.M.A. caused a serious disruption that at the least deserved an extended suspension, even if he meant no harm. I cannot say at this stage that expulsion is so harsh a penalty as to be arbitrary.

Based on the foregoing, petitioner's motion for emergent relief is denied. The matter will be scheduled for a plenary hearing on an expedited basis, should the parties wish to so proceed.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five (45) days following the entry of this order. If the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five (45) days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF COLLINGSWOOD, CAMDEN COUNTY,	:	DECISION ON MOTION

The record of this emergent matter and the initial decision and order of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) denying emergent relief have been reviewed. Petitioner's exceptions and the Board's reply thereto were timely filed. [1]

Petitioner's extensive exception submission essentially recasts and reiterates her arguments presented before the ALJ, again proposing that R.R. v. Bd. of Ed., Shore Regional H.S., supra, which states that a formal expulsion hearing must be held within 21 days of a suspension, is dispositive in this matter. Therefore, she asserts, the hearing held by the instant Board some 34 days subsequent to the beginning of K.M.A.'s suspension is violative of his due process rights. (Petitioner's Exceptions to Order Denying Emergent Relief at p. 2) In this regard, petitioner contends that the ALJ "erred as a matter of law" when he concluded that R.R. was not binding authority. (Id. at p. 5) She presents a number of Commissioner of Education cases, and one Appellate Division decision, for the proposition that "R.R. has been relied upon and cited with approval," and further declares that she has been unable to locate "any reported decision where R.R. has been found to be non-binding authority." (Id. at pp. 5-6) Additionally, petitioner points to M.G. v. Board of Education of the Monmouth Regional High School District, 92 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 364 (1991) where the within ALJ, himself, "referred to R.R. as controlling authority." (Petitioner's Exceptions to Order Denying Emergent Relief at p. 6)

[1]It is noted that petitioner submitted a reply to the Board's reply exceptions. Since there is no regulatory authority for such a submission, it was not considered by the Commissioner in reaching his determination herein.

Petitioner also renews her contention that the hearing, itself, was not impartial and fair because: 1) the conduct of the superintendent "constitute[d] an improper commingling of investigative, prosecutorial and adjudicative functions," in that he made the decision to recommend expulsion to the Board and, subsequently, testified and participated in the deliberations and the Board's decision to expel K.M.A., and 2) petitioner received short notice with respect to the hearing date and was not provided with summaries or statements of expected testimony prior to the hearing, thus denying her "an opportunity to adequately prepare" for such testimony. (Id. at pp. 6-7)

With regard to satisfaction of the Crowe standard entitling her to emergent relief in this case, petitioner claims irreparable harm absent her requested relief in that during the entire period of K.M.A.'s suspension (34 days) he received no home instruction from the Board and, subsequent to his expulsion, has received less than 15 hours of such instruction. (Memorandum of Law in Support of Petitioner's Exceptions to Order Denying Emergent Relief at p. 11) Moreover, she asserts, due to the Board's delay in providing K.M.A. with a timely hearing, it is impossible for him to complete the semester at another school. (Id. at p. 8) Consequently, absent his readmission to Collingswood High School pending the Commissioner's final determination in this matter, K.M.A. will be required to repeat his junior year. Petitioner further claims a substantial likelihood of prevailing on the merits of this matter due to the "untimely and procedurally-flawed expulsion hearing," and because the circumstances existing in this matter do not rise to a level which reasonably warrants K.M.A.'s expulsion. (Id. at pp. 11-12) Finally, petitioner urges that a balancing of the equities here favors the grant of injunctive relief since K.M.A., a good student, with no prior disciplinary record, stands to lose academic credit for the entire semester and his return to school would pose no risk of harm for the Board. (Id. at pp. 12-13)

In reply, although conceding that the formal hearing afforded K.M.A. was held 34 days after his suspension, the Board proclaims that the timing of such hearing did not violate his procedural due process rights. (Board's Reply Exceptions at p. 1)

> K.A.'s federal due process rights were satisfied in that the hearing was held "as soon as practicable" after his suspension. Goss v. Lopez, 419 U.S. 565 (1975). During the period of K.A.'s suspension school was closed 6 days for spring break (April 2,1999 through April 9, 1999). The first practicable date for conducting the hearing was April 26, 1999, the Board's first meeting after K.A.'s suspension. At this meeting he was provided a formal hearing before the full Board. Thus, the Board satisfied the procedural requirements necessary to expel K.A. from school ." (Id. at p. 1-2)

Likewise, it contends, the hearing provided K.M.A. was in compliance with New Jersey law. In this connection, the Board urges, petitioner's reliance on R.R., supra, as controlling in the case at hand is misplaced. (Id. at p. 2) It advances that in R.R. the court considered the due process rights of a student being disciplined for an assault on another student. "While the court states in dicta that the student was 'entitled to a full hearing affording him procedural due process within a short period of time, no more than 21 days,' the charge in that case concerned an assault." (Id. at p. 2) It observes that a statutory timeframe for providing due process in assault cases was, subsequently, established by the legislature (N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2.1); such timeframe, initially 21 days after suspension, was amended in 1995 to provide 30 days. The Board points out that this provision applies solely to instances where a student is charged with assault. "In other instances of disobedience a student may be suspended until the next regular meeting of the board of education. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-4." (Id.) Here, it posits, because K.M.A. was not charged with assault, the timeframe dictated by N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2.1 is inapplicable. Rather, the governing time period is that set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:37-4, with which the Board was in compliance. (Id.)

The Board similarly discounts petitioner's argument that K.M.A.'s due process rights were violated because the Board failed to provide a summary of the testimony of its anticipated witnesses. Since petitioner had been provided "with a copy of a memorandum outlining the investigation of the bomb threat which led to the apprehension of K.A. and his suspension," and since K.A. had admitted the conduct which formed the basis of the charges, the only open issue was the penalty to be imposed for his actions. As such, petitioner and K.M.A. cannot reasonably claim deprivation of due process by not receiving a detailed recitation of the testimony of anticipated witnesses. (Id. at pp. 2-3)

In conclusion, the Board maintains that because it fulfilled its duty to provide K.M.A. with due process in reaching its determination to expel him, petitioner does not have a reasonable likelihood of success on the merits of this matter, necessitating affirmance of the ALJ's decision. (Id. at p. 3)

Upon his careful and independent review of the record, the Commissioner affirms the order of the ALJ denying emergent relief in the instant matter. Initially, the Commissioner finds, as did the ALJ, that petitioner's allegations of deficiencies in the procedural due process accorded K.M.A. are without merit. Rather, he concludes that such due process, under the circumstances existing here, fully complied with the dictates of Goss v. Lopez, supra and the applicable statutory provision, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-4.

In his consideration of this matter, the Commissioner first observes that R.R., dealing with the disciplining of a student specifically charged with assault, which petitioner cites for the proposition that students must be afforded a full hearing before the Board within 21 days of their suspension to determine whether the charged conduct actually occurred, may be of limited precedential value at this point in time, given that N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2.1, as amended in 1995, provides 30 calendar days for a hearing in such cases. The Commissioner determines that it is unnecessary to address this issue here since the matter before him does not involve a student charged with an assault. Thus, contrary to the urging of petitioner, to the extent that R.R. and its progeny may have relevance to the instant matter, it is to support the general proposition, well established elsewhere, that a board of education contemplating expulsion may not inordinately delay providing students facing a lengthy suspension a formal hearing on the charges against them. The Commissioner is convinced that a contention of dilatoriness on the part of the Board cannot reasonably be made given that K.M.A. was suspended on March 24, 1999 and was accorded a hearing at the Board's next regular meeting on April 26, 1999, in full compliance with N.J.S.A. 18A:37-4, the governing statutory provision. Finally, the Commissioner is in agreement with the ALJ's conclusion, on page 4 of his decision, that petitioner's declarations of procedural errors at hearing, i.e., the multiple roles of the superintendent, short notice of the hearing date, and not being provided with summaries of statements of expected testimony prior to the hearing, are "overblown," in light of the fact that K.M.A.'s conduct was admitted and the hearing was conducted solely to determine the appropriate penalty.

Having disposed of petitioner's procedural claim, the Commissioner turns to consideration of the criteria necessary to entitle petitioner to emergent relief in this case. Here, he finds, as did the ALJ, that the requisite standard has not been satisfied. It is well settled that the grant of emergent relief is considered an extraordinary remedy which can only be awarded when the party seeking such relief demonstrates the existence of each of the four separate criteria identified in Crowe, supra, i.e., irreparable harm absent the requested relief, settled legal principles governing the right to relief in the controversy, a reasonable probability of ultimate success on the merits, and a balancing of the relative hardships to the parties favoring the grant of temporary relief pending the outcome of a final hearing. Initially, the Commissioner supports the ALJ's determination that petitioner has not demonstrated a likelihood of success on the merits of this matter given the Commissioner's rejection of her procedural arguments as set forth above and the lack of a preliminary showing that the Board's decision was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. Next, although not addressed by the ALJ, the Commissioner duly considered petitioner's attestations that K.M.A. was experiencing irreparable harm since he had, essentially, been without benefit of educational services since his suspension. To allow a fair and full examination of this charge, the Board was directed to supplement the record with details regarding the extent to which home instruction has been/continues to be provided to K.M.A. since the time of his suspension/expulsion. The Board's responsive submission avows:

> The Board has provided one hour per week in the following subjects: history, french, english and biology, for a total of three weeks. The Board has contracted with a teacher for geometry, but has yet to receive time sheets from that teacher, so cannot represent at this time how many hours of geometry tutoring have been provided. The Board is committed to an additional eight weeks of each history, french, english and biology, which is the equivalent of tutoring for K.M.A. to the end of the school year.
> (Letter dated June 18, 1999 from Susan S. Hodges, Esq. on behalf of the Board)

While it is duly noted that counsel for petitioner was not provided with a copy of this submission, the Commissioner determines to accept the Board's representation since petitioner is not, under the circumstances, prejudiced by this omission. Specifically, the Commissioner interprets the Board's representation to mean that the Board is providing, and will continue to provide, K.M.A. with instruction which the Board deems sufficient, if satisfactorily completed, to enable K.M.A. to complete his junior year. Based on this understanding, the Commissioner declines to sustain petitioner's claim of irreparable harm, as K.M.A. is being provided with the opportunity to continue the orderly progression of his education. Finally, in balancing the respective hardships to the parties in this matter, the Commissioner determines that the equities in this matter lie on the side of the Board. One of the major duties of a board of education is to ensure the safety and well-being of the students entrusted into its care. Central to fulfilling this obligation is the necessity of maintaining order and discipline in its schools and providing an environment which is conducive to learning.

Accordingly, the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) denying emergent relief is affirmed, and the Board is directed to provide tutoring in accordance with its representation cited above, as interpreted by the Commissioner. This matter is hereby returned to the OAL for further proceedings, as determined necessary, on petitioner's underlying claim that the board's action to expel K.M.A. was, under the circumstances, an abuse of its discretionary authority. Such proceedings shall be conducted on an expedited basis so as to permit, to the extent possible, resolution of K.M.A.'s status prior to commencement of the 1999-2000 school year.[2]

IT IS SO ORDERED.

PETITIONER-APPELLANT, :

V. : STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF COLLINGSWOOD, CAMDEN COUNTY, : DECISION

RESPONDENT-CROSS APPELLANT :

Decided by the Commissioner of Education, June 29, 1999

For the Petitioner-Appellant, Ellen M. Boylan, Esq. and Lenora M. Lapidus, Esq.

For the Respondent-Cross Appellant, Capehart & Scatchard (Robert A. Muccilli, Esq., of Counsel)

This matter results from a determination by the Board of Education of the Borough of Collingswood (hereinafter "Board") to expel K.M.A., a fifteen year old student with no prior disciplinary record who had transferred into the district from private school in February 1999. The Board's action was based on an incident that occurred on March 23, 1999, during a computer lab for math class. After the lesson was finished, the teacher gave the students free time. K.M.A. used the free time to change the shutdown message on the computer screen from "It is now safe to turn off your computer" to "if you turn me off I will blow up."

A teacher encountered the message about an hour-and-a-half later and reported it to the principal, who investigated the matter. Upon questioning, K.M.A. acknowledged that he had changed the message, but did not confirm that he had changed the wording to "if you turn me off I will blow up." However, a student who sat next to him told the administration that he had seen K.M.A. writing that specific message on the screen and, on March 25, 1999, K.M.A. wrote a letter of apology to the principal confirming that the choice of words was his. K.M.A. also indicated in his letter of apology that he had intended the message to be funny rather than threatening.

Nonetheless, when it had been reported to them, school administrators had perceived the message as a bomb threat. Consequently, K.M.A. had been administratively suspended for ten days by the principal, his mother was called, the police came, and K.M.A. was arrested.[1] Although the computer lab was closed for the day, the school was not evacuated and the bomb squad was not called.

The superintendent met with K.M.A. and his mother on April 13,1999. At the end of that conference, the superintendent indicated that he was going to recommend to the Board that K.M.A. be expelled, as was his administrative practice in cases involving bomb threats.

The Board voted to expel K.M.A. at its meeting on April 29, 1999, noting that he could apply for readmission in September 1999 if he underwent counseling and was found to pose no threat. The superintendent's notice letter of April 29, 1999 indicates that the Board's determination was based on consideration of all of the testimony and evidence that had been presented at the meeting and that the Board had sought to evaluate the case on its own merit.

[1] The principal's letter of March 23, 1999, notifying petitioner of her son's suspension indicated that the suspension was for "using a computer to make a bomb threat and computer vandalism."

On May 5, 1999, K.M.A.'s mother (hereinafter "petitioner") petitioned the Commissioner for review, claiming that the expulsion was arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable. She also sought emergent relief, contending that her son had not had a preliminary hearing as required by Goss v. Lopez, 419 U.S. 565 (1975), and that the Board's full hearing had not been conducted within the time limit required by New Jersey case law. Petitioner further asserted that the hearing was procedurally deficient because: 1) the superintendent had testified and had also been involved in the decision-making process, and 2) petitioner had not been supplied in advance with a summary of what the witnesses were expected to testify about.

The Administrative Law Judge ("ALJ") recommended that the Commissioner deny petitioner's application for emergent relief. In doing so, he rejected petitioner's procedural arguments and concluded that she had not shown a likelihood of success on the merits of her claim.

In his decision of June 29, 1999, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that there was no merit to petitioner's allegations that K.M.A. had not been accorded procedural due process. He also agreed that petitioner had not met the standards articulated in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982) so as to be entitled to emergent relief. Although not addressed by the ALJ, the Commissioner also considered petitioner's attestations that her son had essentially been without educational services since his suspension. The Commissioner accepted the Board's representations relating to the provision of home instruction,[2] which he understood to mean that the Board was providing and would continue to provide sufficient home instruction to enable K.M.A. to complete his junior year. Accordingly, the Commissioner directed the Board to provide home instruction as indicated in its representations, and he returned the matter to the Office of Administrative Law for determination of the underlying claim that the Board's expulsion of K.M.A. was unreasonable under the circumstances.

[2] In order to fully and fairly examine the petitioner's attestations, the Commissioner had directed the Board to supplement the record with details regarding the extent of the home instruction it had been providing to K.M.A. since his suspension.

On July 29, 1999, the petitioner appealed to the State Board of Education from the Commissioner's determination to deny emergent relief. However, at her counsel's request, the matter was placed in abeyance pending the Commissioner's decision in the underlying case.

On July 30, 1999, the petitioner moved to amend her petition to the Commissioner to raise constitutional claims, at which time the American Civil Liberties Union and the Education Law Center entered the case on behalf of the petitioner. On August 25, 1999, the Education Law Center filed an amended petition on behalf of petitioner, claiming therein violations of K.M.A.'s right to a thorough and efficient education under the New Jersey Constitution and equal protection under the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution.[3]

A plenary hearing was conducted before the ALJ on August 31 and September 21, 1999 on the merits of the petitioner's challenge to K.M.A.'s expulsion. At the hearing, it was established that the Board had provided K.M.A. with home instruction through the summer and that he had received credit for the spring semester. It was also established that three criminal charges had been filed against him as the result of the March 23 incident, and that he had pled guilty to making a false alarm. For this offense, he had received nine month's probation and had been required to attend a fire safety program through the County Fire Marshall's office.

[3] In addition, petitioner amended the relief she was seeking to include declaratory rulings relating to those claims, as well as a ruling that the Board had violated K.M.A.'s right to procedural due process under the Fourteenth Amendment. Petitioner also noted and preserved her right to claims for damages and attorneys fees under 42 U.S.C. §§1983 and 1988.

On August 4, 6, and 20, 1999, K.M.A. had been evaluated by Dr. Stephen G. Underwood, a psychiatrist, who concluded that K.M.A. posed no danger and should be readmitted to school. K.M.A. was also evaluated by the Camden County Division of the Fire Marshall, which found that K.M.A. was a low risk individual.

On August 23, 1999, petitioner applied to the Board for K.M.A.'s reinstatement, which was considered at the Board's August 30 meeting. At that point, petitioner had explored various options and was planning to send K.M.A. to live with his stepfather in North Carolina if this was necessary.

On September 2, 1999, the Board notified the petitioner that her request for reinstatement had been denied. The Board also indicated that it had no obligation to educate K.M.A. since he was residing in North Carolina, but that if he returned, the Board was prepared to offer him the option of attending an alternative education program. Consequently, K.M.A. stayed in North Carolina and attended public school there during the 1999-2000 school year.

In his Initial Decision of February 2, 2000, the ALJ rejected the Board's argument that the matter was moot because K.M.A. was not domiciled in Collingswood. Then, stressing the broad policymaking discretion afforded to district boards of education, the ALJ assessed the factual circumstances to evaluate whether the Board's determination to expel K.M.A. was arbitrary and capricious.

Under this standard and on the assumption that the Board took each case on its own merits, the ALJ concluded that expulsion was too harsh a remedy in this instance. In so concluding, the ALJ stressed that K.M.A. had never been in any trouble at any school prior to this incident and that he had not been motivated by a nefarious intent. The ALJ also stressed that K.M.A. had paid a considerable price for his lack of forethought by being arrested and pleading guilty to making a false alarm, by being out of school from March 23, 1999 to the end of school, and by relocating out-of-state to live with his stepfather. In addition, K.M.A. had been evaluated by a psychiatrist during the summer of 1999, and the Board had the psychiatrist's report when it denied readmission. The ALJ rejected the Board's argument that its determination not to readmit K.M.A. was reasonable because K.M.A. had not obtained counseling, finding that the record reflected no specific directive from the Board. In short, the ALJ determined that under the circumstances, suspension until the end of the 1998-99 school year was warranted, but that the Board's action in permanently expelling K.M.A. "from the mainstream" was arbitrary and capricious. Initial Decision, slip op. at 9. Since the ALJ concluded that K.M.A.'s expulsion violated the education laws, he found it unnecessary to address the petitioner's constitutional arguments at length.

By his decision of March 20, 2000, the Commissioner adopted the ALJ's decision on the basis of his own review of the record, including the transcripts. In addition, the Commissioner emphasized that because of the timing of K.M.A.'s arrival in the district in 1998-99, the circumstances here included the fact that he was unaware of the administration's practice of recommending expulsion to the Board in all cases involving bomb threats. For this reason as well, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that permanently severing K.M.A.'s entitlement to a free public education in the district was not a reasonable sanction. Hence, the Commissioner directed that K.M.A.'s record reflect that he was entitled to reinstatement for the 1999-2000 school year. However, without any discussion, the Commissioner added that if K.M.A. applied for readmission, the Board could conduct an evaluation as to whether a return to the regular school environment or an "alternative placement" was warranted. Commissioner's Decision, slip op. at 15.

On April 14, 2000, the petitioner filed a notice of appeal to the State Board from the Commissioner's decision on the merits, and on April 19, 2000, the Board filed a cross-appeal. On May 15, 2000, the petitioner filed a brief in support of both her appeal from the Commissioner's decision of June 29, 1999 denying emergent relief and from the Commissioner's decision of March 20, 2000, in which he had decided the merits of the dispute.

Because our decision will determine where K.M.A. will attend school this fall, and at petitioner's request, we have expedited our consideration of this matter. Accordingly, we adjusted the briefing schedule so that the Board's brief in support of its cross-appeal was filed on June 21, 2000, and petitioner's reply brief on June 26.

In her appeal, petitioner renews her challenge to the constitutionality of the Board's decision to permanently expel K.M.A. As she did before the ALJ and Commissioner, petitioner contends that by not holding a full disciplinary hearing within 21 days of the initial suspension and by failing to provide a written summary of the proposed witness' testimony in advance of the hearing, the Board had violated the due process clause of the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution.[4] In addition, she challenges the Commissioner's determination that the Board could make K.M.A.'s reinstatement subject to an alternative placement, arguing that this determination is arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable under the circumstances.

The Board argues that its decision to expel K.M.A. was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. It maintains that because, as the ALJ found in denying emergent relief, K.M.A.'s procedural rights were not violated, petitioner's appeal should be denied. It urges affirmance of the Commissioner's directive relating to an evaluation of K.M.A. by the Board.

After careful consideration of the record, including the transcripts, and for the reasons expressed by the ALJ and the Commissioner, as well as those expressed herein, we affirm the Commissioner's determination that the Board's action in permanently expelling K.M.A. from school was arbitrary and unreasonable under the circumstances presented.

Based on our review of the record, we fully concur with the ALJ that K.M.A.'s conduct in changing the computer message was not the result of any nefarious intent. Rather, as reflected by the testimony, K.M.A.'s conduct was intended as a prank, and not as a bomb threat. Tr. 8/31/99, at 72-3 to 72-9. Nonetheless, we find that the school administrators' initial perception that the message might, in fact, be a bomb threat was reasonable under the circumstances. However, we also find that the record demonstrates that such initial perception was dispelled once the matter was investigated. Not only does the testimony show that the principal was aware that there was not a bomb, tr. 8/31/99, at 180-1 to 180-16, 194-21 to 195-5, but the fact that the bomb squad was not called and the building was not evacuated also indicates that the administration had concluded that there was no bomb. In this respect, we stress that had the principal believed that the message represented a serious threat to the safety of the students, his responsibility for their safety would have compelled him to evacuate the building. Tr. 8/31/99, at 184-6 to 184-16. Moreover, although the computer lab was closed for the day, that was the extent of any disruption to the school.

Furthermore, as the ALJ found, K.M.A. had not had any disciplinary problems in any of the schools he had attended. While K.M.A. indicated that he was not prepared to make the commitment to academic work that Bishop Eustice, where he was previously a student, demanded of its students, tr. 8/31/99, at 79-1 to 79-5, it was his choice to transfer and there is nothing in the record to suggest that he had any academic problems in middle school. To the contrary, he was in the gifted and talented program when he attended Collingswood Middle School. Tr. 8/31/99, at 12-17 to 12-22.

Like the ALJ and the Commissioner, we emphasize that the determination to expel K.M.A. was made by the Board and not by the principal or the superintendent. Petitioner made no showing that the Board failed to fulfill its obligation to consider K.M.A.'s case on an individual basis.[5] As the testimony reflects, while school administrators followed a "zero tolerance" policy, such policy was not one that had been adopted by the Board. Tr. 8/31/99, at 202-3 to 202-10; tr. 9/21/99, at 102-23 to 103-4, 103-7 to 103-11. At the same time, we cannot ignore that, as found by the ALJ, the timing of K.M.A.'s transfer into Collingswood High School was such that neither he nor his mother had been provided with notice of the district's administrative policy by school officials. Tr. 8/31/99, at 202-11 to 202-16, 203-4 to 203-24; tr. 9/21/99, at 29-6 to 29-18.

In sum, we affirm the Commissioner's determination that the permanent expulsion of K.M.A. was arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable in these circumstances, and we agree that suspension from the date of the incident at issue, March 23, 1999, through the end of the 1998-99 school year was the appropriate sanction for K.M.A.'s conduct.

We, however, modify the relief to which K.M.A. is entitled. Under the circumstances, we preclude the Board from mandating that K.M.A. attend an alternative education program such as Gloucester County Alternative School and direct that the Board readmit K.M.A. to the regular education program provided at Collingswood High School. As the petitioner argues, such alternative programs are designed for students who have difficulty succeeding in a regular school setting because of persistent behavioral or educational problems, often related to drugs or alcohol. In that the evaluation conducted by Dr. Underwood concludes that K.M.A. does not have such problems and is no danger, given the nature of the conduct involved, and because this is the only incident in which K.M.A. has been involved that has required disciplinary action, we conclude on the basis of the record that requiring K.M.A. to attend an alternative education program would be arbitrary.

Therefore, for the reasons stated herein as well as those expressed by the ALJ and the Commissioner, we set aside the Board's determination to permanently expel K.M.A. from school. Rather, we have concluded, as did the ALJ, that suspension from March 23, 1999 through the end of the 1998-99 school year was the appropriate sanction under the circumstances. As set forth in the ALJ's decision, K.M.A. has already paid a considerable price for his conduct by his exclusion from school during the 1998-99 school year, his arrest and guilty plea for making a false alarm, and the fact that, because he was not reinstated for the 1999-2000 school year, he had to relocate to North Carolina to live with his stepfather in order to attend public school. Initial Decision, slip op. at 9. Hence, from both an educational and legal perspective, it is appropriate at this point that K.M.A. be readmitted to the regular education program at Collingswood High School.

In view of our determination that the Board's action in expelling K.M.A. was arbitrary and unreasonable and as the ALJ and Commissioner concluded, it is not necessary for us to address the petitioner's constitutional claims at length in the context of this appeal. We, however, note that although the Board contends that the Commissioner's decision denying emergent relief correctly resolved petitioner's claims of procedural deficiencies raised in this appeal, the petitioner has not directly challenged the totality of the Commissioner's decision denying emergent relief. Rather, as set forth in her brief, the petitioner's constitutional claims are limited to the timeliness of the Board hearing and its failure to provide a summary of witness testimony in advance.

PETITIONER-APPELLANT,	:
V.	:	STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF COLLINGSWOOD, CAMDEN COUNTY,	:	DECISION ON MOTION
RESPONDENT-CROSS/APPELLANT.	:

Decided by the Commissioner of Education, June 29, 1999

Decided by the Commissioner of Education, March 20, 2000

Decided by the State Board of Education, July 5, 2000

For the Petitioner-Appellant, Ellen M. Boylan, Esq. and Lenora M. Lapidus, Esq.

For the Respondent-Cross/Appellant, Capehart & Scatchard (Robert A. Muccilli, Esq., of Counsel)

On July 5, 2000, we rendered our decision in this matter, holding, as had the Administrative Law Judge ("ALJ") and the Commissioner, that the action of the Board of Education of the Borough of Collingswood (hereinafter "Board" or "Collingswood Board") in permanently expelling K.M.A. from Collingswood High School was arbitrary and unreasonable under the circumstances. As set forth in our decision, the Board's action resulted from an incident that had occurred on March 23, 1999, during a computer lab for math class. During free time in the lab, K.M.A. had changed the shutdown message on the computer screen from "it is now safe to turn off your computer" to "if you turn me off I will blow up."

School administrators perceived the message as a bomb threat and following a conference with K.M.A. and his mother, the superintendent recommended to the Board that K.M.A. be expelled. The Board voted to expel K.M.A. at its meeting on April 29, 1999, noting that he could apply for readmission in the fall if he underwent counseling and was found to pose no threat.

K.M.A.'s mother challenged the Board's action by filing a petition with the Commissioner of Education and by seeking emergent relief.

In his decision of June 29, 1999, the Commissioner denied petitioner's application for emergent relief. In doing so, he concurred with the ALJ that there was no merit to allegations made by petitioner that K.M.A. had not been accorded procedural due process.

On July 29, 1999, the petitioner appealed to the State Board of Education from the Commissioner's determination to deny emergent relief. However, at the request of petitioner's counsel, the matter was placed in abeyance pending the Commissioner's decision in the underlying case.

On July 30, 1999, the petitioner moved to amend her petition to the Commissioner to raise constitutional claims, at which time the American Civil Liberties Union and the Education Law Center entered the case on behalf of the petitioner. On August 25, 1999, the Education Law Center filed an amended petition on behalf of the petitioner, claiming therein violations of K.M.A.'s right to a thorough and efficient education under the New Jersey Constitution and equal protection under the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution.[1]

On August 23, 1999, petitioner applied to the Board for K.M.A.'s reinstatement, which was considered at the Board's August 30 meeting. On September 2, 1999, the Board notified the petitioner that her request for reinstatement had been denied.

Following a plenary hearing on the merits of the controversy, the ALJ found the Board's action in expelling K.M.A. was arbitrary and unreasonable. Since he concluded that K.M.A.'s expulsion violated the education laws, the ALJ found it unnecessary to address the petitioner's constitutional arguments at length.

Based on his review of the record, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that K.M.A.'s expulsion was arbitrary.

In her appeal to the State Board, petitioner renewed her challenge to the constitutionality of the Board's decision to permanently expel K.M.A. As she did before the ALJ and the Commissioner, petitioner contended that by not holding a full disciplinary hearing within 21 days of the initial suspension and by failing to provide a written summary of the proposed witnesses' testimony in advance of the hearing, the Board had violated the due process clause of the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution. In addition, she challenged the Commissioner's determination that the Board could make K.M.A.'s reinstatement subject to an alternative placement, arguing that this determination was arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable under the circumstances.

[1] In addition, petitioner amended the relief she was seeking to include declaratory rulings relating to those claims, as well as a ruling that the Board had violated K.M.A.'s right to procedural due process under the Fourteenth Amendment. Petitioner also noted and preserved her right to claims for damages and attorneys fees under 42 U.S.C. §§1983 and 1988.

Upon review of the record, the State Board concurred with the ALJ and the Commissioner that K.M.A.'s conduct was not the result of any nefarious intent. Rather, the State Board found that, as reflected by the testimony, K.M.A.'s conduct was intended as a prank, not as a bomb threat. Nonetheless, the State Board found that the school administrators' initial perception that the message might, in fact, be a bomb threat was reasonable under the circumstances. However, the State Board further concluded that such perception was quickly dispelled once the matter was investigated.

Although the State Board agreed with the Commissioner that K.M.A.'s permanent expulsion was unreasonable under the circumstances, it modified the relief granted to K.M.A. The State Board directed that the Collingswood Board readmit K.M.A. to the regular education program at Collingswood High School, and it precluded the Board from mandating that K.M.A. attend an alternative education program.

In view of our determination that the Board's action in expelling K.M.A. was arbitrary and unreasonable, we concluded that it was not necessary for us to address the petitioner's constitutional claims at length in the context of the appeal before us. We, however, noted that petitioner's constitutional claims were limited to the timeliness of the Board hearing and its failure to provide a summary of witness testimony in advance.

On July 19, 2000, petitioner moved for reconsideration of that portion of the State Board's decision that declined to decide her constitutional claims. Petitioner argued that although the Commissioner and the State Board did not have the authority to award attorney fees, she was entitled to vindicate her son's constitutional rights so as to seek those fees in an appropriate forum subsequent to a final administrative ruling. She contended that the claims challenged district-wide policies and practices affecting many children and were therefore not moot.

Initially, we grant the petitioner's motion to reconsider. However, for the reasons that follow, we decline to alter our previous decision so as to rest that decision on constitutional grounds.

It is well settled that a court should not reach constitutional questions unless necessary to the disposition of the litigation. E.g., O'Keefe v. Passaic Valley Water Com'n, 132 N.J. 234, 241-242 (1993). Quite simply, the fact that the State Board determined that the Collingswood Board's expulsion of K.M.A. was in violation of the education laws made it unnecessary for us to reach the constitutional questions raised by the petitioner in order to dispose of the matter before us. Petitioner's desire to ultimately collect attorney fees under 42 U.S.C. §§1983 and 1988 did not change the character of the appeal that was before the State Board. Nor did it alter the scope of our jurisdiction. In this respect, we stress that we do not have the jurisdiction to decide claims made under §1983, and that we do not have the authority to award attorney fees pursuant to §1988.

Nor, despite petitioner's assertions, did the appeal involve a challenge to the Board's policies or practices. There is no indication in the record that the procedural defects alleged by petitioner in the appeal were the result of any Board policy or practice, and petitioner has not provided any support for this assertion in her motion for reconsideration. Accordingly, there is no indication that any other students will be affected by our determination that it was not necessary to rule on the constitutional issues.

Consideration of the brief filed in H.R. v. Rahway Board of Education, Commissioner David C. Hespe, and the State Board of Education, EDU #5449-CON, which petitioner has submitted in support of her motion, does not change our conclusion. Although filed on behalf of the Commissioner and the State Board, this is a brief in support of a motion for summary judgment in a case currently pending before the Office of Administrative Law. As such, it is not pertinent to the matter now before us.

Moreover, petitioner has not shown the necessity of setting aside the Commissioner's analysis of her constitutional claims. As the Commissioner stressed, R.R. v Bd. of Ed., Shore Reg. H.S., 109 N.J. Super. 337 (App. Div. 1970), held that a student charged specifically with assault had to be afforded a full hearing before the district board within 21 days of suspension pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2.1 as then in effect. That statute applies only to students charged with assault and, in any event, was amended in 1995 to provide that such hearing must be provided within 30 days of suspension, rather than 21.

The case now before us involved a perceived bomb threat and not an assault. Consequently, the controlling statutes are N.J.S.A. 18A:37-4 and N.J.S.A. 18A:37-5, which provide that a hearing must be conducted by the second regular board meeting following an administrative suspension. As found by the Commissioner, K.M.A. was afforded a full hearing at the next regular meeting of the Collingswood Board in full compliance with N.J.S.A. 18A:37-4.

Similarly, there is no merit to the petitioners' claim that under the circumstances presented, due process entitled her to a summary of the witnesses' testimony prior to the Board hearing. Tibbs v. Bd. of Ed. of Tp. of Franklin, 114 N.J. Super. 287 (App. Div. 1971), aff'd, 59 N.J. 506 (1971), upon which petitioner relies, does not confer any such entitlement on the petitioner.

Tibbs involved the expulsion of five students for allegedly assaulting two other students. In a per curiam decision, the Appellate Division reversed the expulsions, stating only that it was doing so "for failure to produce the accusing witnesses for testimony and cross-examination." Tibbs, 114 N.J. Super. at 288. The Appellate Division's decision was accompanied by three concurring opinions. The Supreme Court also issued a per curiam decision in the case, affirming the Appellate Division's decision for the reasons expressed in the concurring opinion of Judge Kolovsky. 59 N.J. 506, 507 (1971).

Neither the language of the decisions in Tibbs nor Judge Kolovsky's concurrence hold that a student is entitled to a summary of witness testimony in advance of a full board hearing. Rather, as explicated in Judge Kolovsky's concurrence, Tibbs centered on the due process requirement that "a respondent charged with misconduct in a hearing before a governmental agency be given the opportunity to confront and cross-examine adverse witnesses where the decision of the governmental agency will turn on questions of fact." 114 N.J. Super. at 301. While recognizing that the Commissioner had previously held that accused students were entitled to be given at least the names of the witnesses against them and copies of their statements and affidavits, Judge Kolovsky's concurrence articulated the due process requirement that such witnesses appear in person so that, in the absence of an appearance, the witnesses' statements could not be considered or relied on by the board. Id. at 300.

As the Administrative Law Judge in this case concluded, Tibbs does not hold that an accused student is automatically entitled to a summary of the witnesses' testimony where the witness appears in person. Initial Decision on emergent relief, slip op. at 4. Further, as the Commissioner stressed, K.M.A.'s conduct in this case was admitted and the hearing was solely to determine the appropriate penalty. Commissioner's Decision of June 29, 2000, slip op. at 10.

In sum, although we note the presence of petitioner's constitutional claims and have provided our insights, Abbott v. Burke, 100 N.J. 269, 298-99 (1985); Bd. of Ed. v. Neptune Educ. Ass'n., 293 N.J. Super. 1, 9 (App. Div. 1996), we decline to alter our determination that it was unnecessary for us to decide those issues.

Petitioner appealed respondent's denial of his application for a school administrator license.

The ALJ denied petitioner's request for relief, concluding that petitioner did not meet the requirements for issuance of a certificate of eligibility since he does not hold the master's degree in one of the recognized fields of leadership or management and does not possess the level of education or experience equal to graduate study in communications or law.

The Commissioner concurred with the determination of the ALJ that the State Board of Examiners' decision denying petitioner's application for issuance of a School Administrator Certificate of Eligibility was not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable and dismissed the petition.

NEW JERSEY DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION,

Jack S. Senechal, DAG., for respondent

Record Closed: March 31, 1999 Decided: May 17,1999

BEFORE KEN R. SPRINGER, ALJ:

Statement of the Case

This is an appeal from the denial of petitioner's application for a school administrator license.[1] Basically, the licensing route is a three-step process. Initially, the applicant must obtain a certificate of eligibility from the Office of Licensing and Academic Credentials. N.J.A.C. 6:11-9.4(a)(1). An applicant who lacks the required educational qualifications for issuance of such certificate may submit evidence of alternative education and/or experience for review by the State Board of Examiners ("Examiners"). N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.24 to -3.30. Once an applicant has satisfied the first hurdle, the next step involves passing a written examination of knowledge, undergoing a simulated performance assessment, and obtaining an offer of employment from a school district. N.J.A.C. 6:11-9.4(a)(2).. The last step is successful completion of a one-year residence program under a provisional certificate. *N.J.A.*C. 6:11-9.4(b).

Petitioner Edward J. Flaherty ("Flaherty") seeks substitution of his educational background and experience for the formal academic requirements of a school administrator certificate. The Examiners denied his request on two grounds: first, that his undergraduate and post-graduate degrees from Stevens Institute of Technology are not equivalent to the required master's degree "in one of the recognized fields of leadership and management;" and, second, that his education and experience do not satisfy the requirement of study in the areas of "communications" and "law." N.J.A.C. 6: 11-9.4(a)(1). If the Examiners deny the request to substitute alternative education or experience, the applicant has the right of appeal to the Commissioner of Education ("Commissioner.") N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.28.

[1] A certificate with a school-administrator endorsement is required for any position that involves services as a district-level officer in a public school district. N.J.A.C. 6:11-9.3(a).

Procedural History

On June 24, 1997, Flaherty filed his application for licensure, together with copies of his college and graduate school transcripts, with the county superintendent's office. Thereafter, on September 10, 1997, the Examiners sent a letter to Flaherty requesting additional information. On October 3, 1997, Flaherty submitted a revised packet of materials, including supporting letters and details of his volunteer activities. At its meeting on December 11, 1997, the Examiners conducted a review of the materials provided by Flaherty. On that date, Flaherty appeared before the Examiners and made a brief oral presentation. By decision rendered on February 26, 1998, the Examiners voted unanimously to deny petitioner's request for issuance of a certificate of eligibility.

Flaherty filed the present appeal to the Commissioner on April 14, 1998. One month later, on May 19, 1998, the Examiners filed its answer. Subsequently, on June 3, 1998, the Commissioner transmitted this matter to the Office of Administrative Law ("OAL") for hearing as a contested case. The OAL held a hearing on February 9, 1999. Upon receipt of post-hearing briefs, the record closed on March 31, 1999. Witnesses and exhibits are listed in the appendix.

Findings of Fact

All of the material facts are undisputed. I FIND:

Edward Flaherty is a consulting engineer by profession. He earned a mechanical engineering degree with honors from Stevens Institute of Technology in 1949 and a master of science degree from the same institution in 1954. Until his recent retirement, he served nearly forty-years as founder and chief executive officer of The Energy Companies, a group of affiliated companies providing engineering and technical services for major industrial, commercial and governmental clients. In this capacity, he has gained practical experience in management of world-wide business operations, quantitative decision-making, accounting and financial practices, and handling personnel actions.

Significantly, Flaherty received no formal training in the field of education and has never held a position in any public or private school. However, he is interested in educational affairs and has participated in volunteer activities designed to improve local education. He was instrumental in forming an organization known as Volunteers In Service to Education, which provides free-of-charge tutoring services to students in the Montclair community. In addition, he is an active member of the Montclair Tax Union, a citizens' committee dedicated to ensuring that taxpayers receive appropriate value for their educational dollars. For the last five years, Flaherty has published an "educational almanac" pinpointing areas of possible waste in the school budget and recommending potential savings.

Although Flaherty seems to regard his rejection as an implicit criticism of his alma mater, the Examiners never questioned the value of Flaherty's training as an engineer. Proofs indicate that the Stevens engineering curriculum may indeed be "more intensive and more extensive than just about every other engineering program in the country." When Flaherty obtained his mechanical engineering degree in 1949, he accumulated 410 credit hours compared to a usual undergraduate program of around 130 credit hours. A letter from Arthur Shapiro, the current provost of Stevens Institute, explains that candidates for the ME degree "were required to take courses not only in all the major engineering disciplines, but also eight courses in the humanities and social sciences and a year of 'economics.'" Without referring to any syllabus or course description, Provost Shapiro alleges that the economics course "covered" the topics of business, management and leadership. Nothing on the record, however, lends support to the assertion that the two semesters of economics were more than a typical undergraduate survey course. Certainly there is an inadequate basis from which to conclude that Flaherty's limited exposure to economics is tantamount to an advanced degree in a recognized field of leadership or management. Moreover, Flaherty does not contend that his master of science degree dealt with the study of management and leadership. A transcript of the coursework leading to Flaherty's master's degree reveals only technical and scientific subjects such as advanced calculus, vector analysis, and the kinetics of combustion.

Insofar as the study of communications is concerned, Flaherty has never taken any course in public speaking, advertising, journalism, radio and television, broadcasting, public relations or similar subject. Instead, Flaherty's only basis for a waiver is that he "has been communicating [for his entire working life.]" As evidence of his supposed expertise in this subject, Flaherty cites his dealings with clients, lobbying activities before the state legislature, preparation of written reports, authorship of training manuals, publication of newsletters and distribution of mass-market mailings. Other than being self-taught, however, Flaherty does not appear to have served any apprenticeship or received any instruction in this field.

Likewise, Flaherty does not have a legal degree or any training in the law. According to his testimony, Flaherty had personal involvement with construction and business law, including litigation involving the Buy America Act, the Fair Labor Standards Act, Worker's Compensation and the Bankruptcy Act. Thirty years ago, he served as an arbitrator for the American Arbitration Association on a dispute regarding construction work for the 1964 World's Fair. He also served on an advisory committee which helped develop alternate dispute resolution procedures for the court system. Nonetheless, Flaherty is not well versed in many of the legal concepts relevant to operation of a school district, including collective bargaining, civil rights, academic freedom, due process and equal protection. Again, his exposure to the legal arena is largely limited to his professional experience as an engineer.

Conclusions of Law

Based on the foregoing facts and the applicable law, I CONCLUDE that Flaherty does not meet the requirements for issuance of a certificate of eligibility.

No person shall be appointed as or perform the duties of superintendent of schools unless he or she holds an appropriate certificate prescribed by the State Board of Education. N.J.S.A. 18A:17-17. Issuance of a certificate is conditioned upon fulfillment of certain academic requirements, usually the completion of coursework or acquisition of a relevant higher degree. Dennery v. Board of Educ., 131 N.J. 626, 634 (1993). Requirements for various certificates are set forth in regulations promulgated by the State Board. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-38. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:11-9. 4(a), a candidate for the provisional certificate as a school administrator shall be required to:

> 1. Hold a master's degree or its equivalent from an accredited institution in one of the recognized fields of leadership or management, such as educational administration, public administration, business administration, leadership or management science. Study shall be completed, either within the master's program or in addition to it, in each of the following topics:
> i. Leadership and human resource management;
> ii. Communications;
> iii. Quantitative decision-making;
> iv. Finance; and > v. Law.

Any applicant who lacks the required preparation may apply to the Examiners for substitution of alternative education and/or experience, except that the requirement of a passing score on a state-mandated test cannot be waived. N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.24. After review of the Flaherty's submissions, the Examiners determined that his two degrees from Stevens Institute did not cover "the core material which would be included in a master's degree program in leadership or management." While the Examiners were willing to recognize his experience in several of the required subject areas, they did not accept his experience in lieu of graduate study in communications and law. Specifically, the Examiners did not consider his experience as commensurate with a graduate course in communications, which would include "such topics as analyzing style, understanding the breadth of communications systems, and the ability to analyze audience members and their needs." Similarly, the Examiners did not regard his experience as interchangeable with a graduate course in law, which would cover much more than just the elements of construction and business law.

At the outset, there is a dichotomy in the caselaw on the appropriate standard of review of the Examiners' decision. Some of the Commissioner's decisions declare that the Examiners' determination cannot be overturned unless it is arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. Fisher v. State Bd. of Examiners, 96 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 561 (Comm'r April 8, 1996); Williams v. State Bd. of Examiners, 95 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 58 (Comm'r Oct. 12, 1994). At least one reported case, however, adopts a broader scope of review and suggests that the Commissioner may make independent findings and conclusions of his own. Salley v. Bd. of Examiners, 97 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 257 (Comm'r Dec. 13, 1996). Regardless of which standard is followed here, the Examiners' decision must be affirmed, since even an independent review of the record would reach the same result.

Generally, the regulations contemplate that an applicant must attend an integrated, coherent program to comply with the requirement of a master's degree. Work experience coupled with successful completion of isolated courses are insufficient to satisfy the requirement of a master's degree "or its equivalent." Williams, supra, at 60. Simply put, Flaherty does not hold the master's degree in "one of the recognized fields of leadership or management" required by the regulation. His entry-level economics course taken in partial fulfillment of an undergraduate degree does not constitute the equivalent of a graduate degree in a field of leadership or management. On this ground alone, Flaherty does not qualify for a superintendent's certificate.

Furthermore, as the record amply demonstrates, Flaherty does not possess the level of education or experience equal to graduate study in communications and law. Flaherty's haphazard acquaintance with these topics arising in the context of occupational or volunteer activities does not approximate the depth and breadth of knowledge that an organized study of these subjects would demand. Thus, he should not be allowed to substitute his engineering background or volunteer work for the rigorous preparation necessary to become a chief school administrator.

Lastly, Flaherty attacks the validity of the regulations and challenges the composition of the State Board of Examiners. At the hearing, he expressed displeasure with what he perceives as "insider bias" of the educational establishment and the separation of school management from what he regards as "the real world." Judges, however, must apply the law as it is written and cannot substitute their own personal preferences. Properly-adopted agency rules have the full force and effect of law. State v. Atlantic City Elec. Co., 23 N.J. 259, 270 (1957). Courts are not free to substitute their judgment as to the wisdom of a particular administrative action so long as that action is statutorily authorized and not otherwise defective because arbitrary or unreasonable. New Jersey Guild of Hearing Aid Dispensers v. Long, 75 N.J. 544, 562-563 (1978). Here the action of the Examiners is well within their statutory authority and fully consistent with the legislative goal of setting suitable qualifications for professional educators. The agency's interpretation of its governing regulations and their application to the particular facts is reasonable and well-supported in the record. Membership of the Examiners is prescribed by statute and, therefore, not subject to administrative review. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-34. Accordingly, there is no legal basis to set aside the Examiners' action.

Order

It is ORDERED that petitioner's request for relief is denied.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

The record of this matter and the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Petitioner's exceptions were timely filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 and duly considered by the Commissioner in reaching his determination herein.

Petitioner's exceptions assert that "[t]he OAL-DECISION seems incomplete, and/or unbalanced in several respects, and lacking the needed recommended study of PETITIONER'S submittal [sic] material; much of this material cannot be comprehended by mere casual-reading or skimming." (Petitioner's Exceptions at p. 1) In support of this contention, petitioner presents a page-by-page dissection of the initial decision, noting areas where the ALJ makes no mention of, and/or elaboration on, certain specific materials advanced in petitioner's submissions below which, in his opinion, are significant and relevant to this matter. Some of the materials referenced include petitioner's Brief dated March 3, 1999, wherein he provides comments on previous State Board of Examiner cases; statistical data contained in Appendices

A, B and C of his Petition of Appeal dated February 9, 1999; information with respect to petitioner's organization and building of "the VOLUNTEERS IN SERVICE TO EDUCATION (VISTE)-Program to provide  tutoring for local Montclair-area students"; petitioner's organization and building of the Montclair Tax Union "which publishes yearly performance/cost-data allowing local citizens if interested, to understand where their tax money goes"; and petitioner's work with the Essex County Alternate Dispute Resolution Procedures Committee. (Id. at pp. 2-4) Petitioner, apparently, takes the position that, since these pieces of information and the others outlined in his exceptions were not detailed in the initial decision, they were not adequately considered by the ALJ.

Upon his review and independent consideration of the full record in this matter, the Commissioner concurs with the determination of the ALJ that the State Board of Examiners' decision denying petitioner's application for issuance of a School Administrator Certificate of Eligibility was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable and is, therefore, appropriately upheld.[1]

Accordingly, the initial decision of the OAL is affirmed for the reasons stated therein and the instant Petition of Appeal is hereby dismissed.[2]

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Dear Mr. Trombadore:

In accordance with our meeting on May 4, 1999 to improve processes for teacher professional improvement plans, the following procedures will be adopted as a means of soliciting enhanced teacher feedback.

First, a Focus Group of teachers and administrators will be established for school year 99-00 to evaluate and improve the system for Teacher Performance Evaluation. Second, the President and Vice President of the Manville Education Association will be invited to participate at the Leadership Team summer retreat in August, 1999 for the purpose of setting district strategic goals and measures for school year 99-00. Third, the Job Improvement Targets on Form E will be eliminated beginning with the Spring of 1999. Fourth, input from faculty on the 99-00 district strategic goals will be solicited in the May or June meetings. Fifth, the professional improvement plans for teachers will be formulated in September once the strategic goals have been established.

These improved processes will move Manville School District along the path of shared decision-making and will hopefully result in more relevant professional improvement plans for teachers.

Respectfully submitted,

BEFORE KATHRYN A. CLARK, ALJ:

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This matter was opened by the petitioner, Alaska Services, Inc. ("Alaska") on an application for an Order granting emergent relief, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.5. The relief requested is for a stay in the awarding and/or commencement of a contract for custodial services by respondent, East Brunswick Board of Education ("the Board"). This new contract was originally due to commence at 12:01 a.m., July 1, 1999. However, the new contract has yet to be awarded and likely, will not commence until after the next meeting of the Board of Education of East Brunswick on July 8, 1999. Irrespective of this, petitioner claims it will suffer irreparable harm if their existing contract is not extended past 12:00 a.m. July 1, 1999.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

On May 7, 1998, the Board issued an advertisement for bids to provide custodial services for its 9 schools and administration building, which were due May 29, 1998 (1998 bid). The advertisement for bids contained the following paragraph:

> B. QUALIFICATIONS FOR BIDDERS
>
> The following are the minimum requirements to qualify for bidding:

> 8. Bidder must be doing business in a minimum of three (3) public school districts of equal or greater volume performing custodial services.

This contract (1998 contract) was awarded to Alaska, for the period July 1, 1998 through June 30, 1999.

On May 13, 1999, the Board issued an advertisement for bids to provide custodial services for its 9 schools and administration building, which were due May 28, 1999 (1999 bid). The 1999 bid specification contained the same language regarding qualifications for bidders as the 1998 bid specification:

>
> The following are the minimum requirements to qualify for bidding:
>
> 8. Bidder must be doing business in a minimum of three (3) public school districts of equal or greater volume performing custodial services.

No contract was awarded, the bids were canceled, and the Board issued a revised advertisement for bids on June 4, 1999 (1999 rebid). The 1999 rebid specifications were revised:

>
> The following are the minimum requirements to qualify for bidding:
>
> 8. Bidder must submit evidence at time of bid of currently being under contract to provide custodial services in a minimum of 2 public school districts equal or greater in size than the East Brunswick School District in number of buildings and square feet.

Only one bidder was qualified. The School District, as of the date of this emergent petition, still is in negotiations with this one bidder. The School Board's counsel stated her understanding that, if the negotiations are successful, a new contract for custodial services for 1999-2000 will be presented to the Board for their action at their next regularly scheduled meeting of July 8, 1999.

ARGUMENTS OF THE PARTIES

Alaska asks that the Board be stayed from entering a new contract, that the revised specifications be declared null and void, that the Board be required to readvertise the bid without the revised specification, and that it be awarded attorney's fees and such other relief as is just and proper.

Alaska's president, Kevin Fay, states that Alaska had responsibly performed the 1998 contract, and Fay alleges that he had been informed by Don Hewins that Alaska's contract would be renewed for 1999-2000, with an increase in the contract fee. Despite this, the Board advertised for bids, and Alaska entered a bid, which Fay believes was the lowest qualified and/or responsible bid. The bids were canceled, and Fay states that he was told by Mr. Hewins that the Board wanted to intentionally eliminate some bidders ("the riff raff"), but Fay claims he was told that Alaska would be eligible under the revised specifications. Alaska was not eligible under the revised specifications, and Fay said that Alaska did not bid under the revised specifications

Fay claims that Alaska will be forced to terminate the services of their 18 employees who presently service the East Brunswick School District. The petitioner claims respondent intentionally violated N.J.S.A. 18A:18A-15e, in that it knowingly revised the specification to exclude all but one company, and the revision was not directly related to the purpose, function or activity for which the contract was made.

The Board's witness, Donald Hewins, Director of Support Services, in his certification states that he had discussed a possible extension of Alaska's contract into 1999-2000 with Fay, and a possible price increase (per N.J.S.A. 18A:18A-42h), but that the District's Buildings and Grounds Committee decided that the 1999-2000 contract should be bid. Accordingly, the bid was advertised and 6 companies responded. One bidder showed more than 3 comparably sized districts under contract, and its bid was well over the amount budgeted for custodial services.. Another bidder showed 2 comparably sized districts under contract. Alaska showed only its contract with respondent East Brunswick as a contract of comparable size[1]. The other bidders could not show any comparable size contracts. All bids were rejected for failure to meet qualifications and price.

Hewins testified that the Buildings and Grounds Committee revised the specification in order to attract additional qualified bidders[2]. Hewins said that he had assured Fay that he would discuss Alaska's situation with them. However, the Buildings and Grounds Committee decided that, while it was comfortable with reducing the requirement to 2 comparably sized districts, it would not reduce its requirement to only 1.

Hewins said that the change in the specifications were meant to clarify the specification, and to expand the number of qualified applicants, and to attempt to define "comparable size" in a meaningful way. Despite this effort, only one qualified bidder submitted a bid on the "rebid". This bidder's price is still in excess of the budgeted allocation for custodial services. All bids were again rejected, and negotiations are under way pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:18A-5(16)d.

[1] Alaska had lost its other two contracts of school districts of comparable size before the 1999 bid was advertised.

[2] In his certification, Hewins denies saying that the specifications were revised to eliminate "riff raff" or any potential bidders. He states that the revision took place to expand the potential pool of qualified bidders.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Having had the opportunity to observe and to judge the demeanor and credibility of all witnesses in their testimony, and upon review of all the evidence and exhibits submitted, and drawing reasonable inferences therefrom, I FIND the following as FACT by a preponderance of the credible evidence:

1 Alaska entered a bid for the 1999-2000 contract even though it did not meet the requirements for bidders, which were the same requirements for bidders as were in its earlier 1998-1999 contract. Alaska did not challenge the requirement for bidders of having 3 comparably sized school districts under contract.

2. Alaska was not the lowest qualified bidder for the 1999-2000 contract.

3. The revision of the Qualification for Bidders specification took place on the orders of the Buildings and Grounds Committee, and was approved by the School Board.

4. The Buildings and Grounds Committee consists of 3 School Board members, the President of the School Board (on an Ad Hoc basis), the School District Superintendent, and Donald Hewins, as Director of Support Services.

5. The revision of the Qualification for Bidders specification was intended to attract additional qualified bidders, clarified the specification, and tried to define "comparable size" in a meaningful way.

6. Respondent did not revised the Qualification for Bidders specification to exclude all but one company. That revision was directly related to the purpose, function or activity for which the contract was made, by expanding the pool of qualified bidders.

LEGAL DISCUSSION

The motion does not meet the standards for emergent relief. Alaska was not able to meet the original requirement in the May 13 advertisement for bids. Its situation was only alleviated by the subsequent revision to the Qualification for Bidders specification. It was not irreparably harmed by any action of the Board, either in using its 1998 standard again in 1999, or in lessening its requirement.

Petitioner cannot show a reasonable likelihood of success on the merits. Outside of demanding that the Board reduce its requirement to 1 comparably sized school district, the petitioner has little possibility of success. The Board had a right to ask to see at least 2 comparably sized school districts, to assure itself that the bidder had a likelihood of being able, not only do the job, but to be fiscally sound enough to be able to complete the contract.

The material facts are not in dispute. The only significant fact in dispute is the assurances made to Alaska, upon which assurances Alaska could not have relied to secure a contract to which it was not otherwise entitled, even if such assurances are ultimately proven to have been made.

Lastly, as to the balancing of equities, the school district has a right to have a responsible, qualified bidder as its contractor. To impose a stay on a contract that is not even yet in existence, and may indeed, not be in existence if the negotiations are not successful, would be confusing as well as tie the hands of the district. Alaska had no valid claim to the 1999-2000 contract from the first set of bids in 1999. To create the appearance of a valid claim be imposing a stay on the district's actions is counterproductive.

Petitioner alleged, but did not show, bad faith on the part of respondent. It cannot be laid at respondent's door that petitioner could no longer show 2 (if not 3) other comparably sized school districts under contract. And petitioner cannot allege that the Buildings and Grounds Committee's refusal to lower the requirement to 1 comparably sized school district is bad faith. No bad faith was shown. And the School District should be allowed to know that its bidder has other contracts, not only to show that it can perform the job, but to assure itself that the bidder is financially stable enough to be able to carry out the contract.

The negotiations to achieve a better price with the only qualified bidder on the rebid may yet prove unsuccessful, and the Board may yet have to take some other action to achieve its goal. This is pure speculation, but such additional action may yet open up the contract process to Alaska.

The job prospects of the 18 employees of Alaska are of concern on a human level, but such is the nature of jobs under a contract that is rebid periodically, and may ultimately go to another contractor.

ORDER

It is therefore ORDERED that the motion for emergent relief be DENIED.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who/which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five (45) days, following the entry of this order. If the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five (45) days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Accordingly, the Motion for Emergent Relief is denied. The underlying claim on the merits shall proceed at the OAL as necessary to bring it to closure.[1]

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner appealed the audit decision of respondent determining that transactions between petitioner and the Passaic County Elks Crippled Children's Committee, Inc. are between related parties and not at arm's length, so as to require disallowance of certain costs in determining tuition rates.

The ALJ granted summary decision to respondent, finding that there were no genuine issues of material fact and respondent was entitled to prevail as a matter of law.

The Commissioner concurred with and adopted as his own the recommendation of the ALJ to dismiss the petition.

PASSAIC COUNTY ELKS CEREBRAL PALSY TREATMENT CENTER BOARD OF TRUSTEES, Petitioner,
v.
DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, DIVISION OF FINANCE,
Respondent

Malcolm J. McPherson, Jr., Esq. for petitioner

Arlene Goldfus Lutz, Deputy Attorney General
(Peter Veniero, Attorney General of New Jersey, attorney)

BEFORE IRENE JONES, ALJ:

Petitioner, Passaic County Elks Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center Board of Trustees appeals the audit decision of the respondent, the New Jersey Department of Education, Division of Finance that determined that transactions between the petitioner and the Passaic County Elks Crippled Children's Committee, Inc., are between related parties and thus are not arms length transactions. This determination required the petitioner to change its name to remove any reference to Elks; to remove and not allow members of the Elks on the Board of Trustees; and to amend its constitution and by laws by deleting certain language and particular street address, thus allowing the petitioner to lease or purchase another property.

Upon receipt of the audit, the petitioner filed a petition with the Commissioner of Education requesting that the audited be amended to a finding of non-related party status; that its audited financial statements be accepted; removal of conditioned approval status; stay of any refunds due to the sending school pending the outcome of the instant hearing.

On January 28, 1998, the Department of Education transmitted the petition to the Office of Administrative Law for a hearing as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 14B-1 to 15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to 13. A telephone prehearing conference was held and the parties agreed that the matter was suitable for summary disposition. Thereafter, the parties filed briefs in support of their respective positions at which time the record closed.

UNDISPUTED FACTS

I FIND the following FACTS:

The Passaic County Elks Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center Board of Trustees, Inc. ("Petitioner"), operates a private school for handicapped students. It provides education and related services to handicapped pupils sent from various public schools districts who are unable to educate them through other means. The petitioner's school consists of a primary program located at 1481 Main Avenue, Clifton, N.J. that provides education to multiple handicapped children ages preschool through twelve (12). Pursuant to a July 1996 lease agreement, petitioner leases the primary school premises from the Passaic County Elks Crippled Children's Committee, Inc. (Committee).

Petitioner also operates a high school program for multiple handicapped children ages thirteen (13) through seventeen (17), located at 15 Union Avenue, Clifton, N.J. Pursuant to a May 1993 lease agreement, petitioner leases the high school premises from Richard W. Kanter.

In 1949, the Committee, located at 1487 Main Avenue, Clifton, N.J became a N.J. incorporation, for the sole purpose of maintaining an institution for the training, treatment and care of children with cerebral palsy and orthopedic handicaps. In 1963, the Committee filed an amended Certificate of Incorporation and specified its purpose as "[t]he maintenance of the institution known as "Passaic County Elks Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center," and for the training, treatment and care of cerebral palsy children and orthopedically handicapped children."

In 1985, petitioner became a separate corporation designated as The Passaic County Elks Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center Board of Trustees, Inc., having as its sole purpose the management of all matters relating to the Passaic County Elks Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center. Pursuant to the Constitutions and By-Laws of both the Committee and the petitioner, common officers and directors were required in each corporation. In 1995, however, the respective constitutions and by laws were amended to remove all relationship between the two corporations. These revisions precluded the corporations from having the same or common officers, directors or members, and specifically prohibited any member of the Committee from being an officer, director or member of petitioner's corporation. Thereafter, in July 1996, petitioner entered into its lease agreement with the Committee wherein it rented the primary school premises at 1481 Main Avenue, Clifton, NJ. for a five-year term.

Pursuant to statutory and regulatory provisions, the State Department of Education ("Department") required petitioner, along with all private schools for handicapped children, to submit annual audited financial statements for review. In August 1997, the Department reviewed petitioner's 1995-96 school year transactions for the primary school and determined that the audit was not in compliance. The Department further found that petitioner and the Committee were related parties and ruled that the lease agreement was not an arms-length transaction. As such, it was determined that the $265,587 in rental costs that petitioner paid to the Committee, was improperly included as a allowable cost in the school's tuition rate. The Department concluded that: (1) under the Committee's by-laws and constitution, members must be a Elk in one of six area lodges[1] ; (2) under Petitioner's by-laws and constitution, members must be an Elk in one of the same six constituent lodges[2] ; and (3) Article 2(e) of Petitioner's constitution and by-laws specifically describes its purpose as follows: "To maintain and supervise the established Training Center located at 1481 Main Avenue, Clifton, .N.J.[3]

SUMMARY DECISION STANDARD

N.J.A.C. 1:1-12. 5(a) provides that a party may move for summary decision upon all or any of the substantive issues in a case at any time after a case is deemed contested. In considering respondent's motion for summary decision, it must be determined whether "the papers and discovery . . . together with the affidavits. . . show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b).

The Supreme Court has held that when deciding a motion for summary judgment under *R.*4:46-2,

> . . . [a] determination whether there exists a 'genuine issue' of material fact that precludes summary judgment requires the motion judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to > permit a rational factfinder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party.

[1] These six lodges include: (a) Fairlawn-Paterson; (b) Clifton; (c) Pompton Lakes; (d) Passaic Valley; (e) Wayne; or (f) Hawthorne.

[2] Petitioner's constitution also allows representatives of each constituent lodge to select one citizen from their respective communities to serve on the Board of Trustees; auch citizen may or may not be an ELK.

[3] In other words, the Department alleged that this provision expressly required Petitioner to lease the Committee's building (i.e., Petitioner's constitution prohibitions it from leasing an alternate facility for its primary school).

> [Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of America, 142 N.J. 520, 540 (1995).]

The essential question is "whether the evidence presents a sufficient disagreement to require [a hearing] or whether it is so one sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law." Id. at 533.

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b) in order for a adverse party to prevail it must by responding affidavit set forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding. Here, the petitioner must raise factual issues which are sufficient to lead a rational factfinder to rule in its favor if a trial were held.

THE LAW

The State Legislature has provided for the education of handicapped children in Chapter 46 of the school laws, N.J.S.A. 18A:46-1 through 46. N.J.S.A. 18A:46-14, enumerates the types of facilities and programs that may be utilized for such education, it provides in its pertinent part:

> The facilities and programs of education required under this chapter shall be provided by one or more of the following:
> g. Sending children capable of benefiting from a day school instructional program to privately operated day classes, in New Jersey or, with the approval of the commissioner to meet particular circumstances, in any other state in the United States, the services of which are nonsectarian whenever in the judgment of the board of education with the consent of the commissioner it is impractical to provide services pursuant to subsection a., b., c., d., e. or f. otherwise. [N.J.S.A. 18A:46-14(g)

Thus, public schools having handicapped students whom they are unable to educate through other means, may send these students to approved private schools for handicapped children, provided that the first six options found in N.J.S.A. 18A:46-14(a) through (f) are not otherwise available. A private school receiving handicapped students from a local public school district may not charge the local board tuition that exceeds the actual cost per pupil as determined under rules prescribed by the commissioner [of education] and approved by the State Board of Education. N.J.S.A. 18A:46-21.

The Legislature has vested the Commissioner and the State Board of Education ("State Board"), with authority to promulgate rules and regulations to provide quality educational opportunities to handicapped children. N.J.S.A. 18A:46-15(a) states that the commissioner with the consent of the State board shall, according to the rules and regulations prescribed by him and approved by the State Board, approve all special facilities and education programs which meet the requirements of [Chapter 46]. Likewise, N.J.S.A. 18A:46-19 states that "[t]he commissioner may require at such time, and in the manner and on forms prescribed by him, such educational, financial and statistical reports as he may deem necessary to carry out the purpose of [Chapter 46]." CF: N.J.S.A. 18A:46-15 and -16 which detail the State Board's broad authority to adopt regulations in furtherance of the implementation of school laws.

In exercising this rulemaking authority, the Commissioner, with the approval and consent of the State Board, has promulgated rules and regulations governing tuition for private schools for the handicapped, found at N.J.A.C. 6:20-4.1 through 4-11. The primary regulation at issue herein is N.J.A.C. 6:20-4.4(a)(45) that concerns "non-allowable costs" which may not be included in the tuition rate calculations set forth in N.J.A.C. 6:20-4.1, the tuition rates charged by private schools to the "sending" public schools). In pertinent part, this regulation states:

> (a) A cost which is not allowable in the calculation of the certified actual cost per pupil includes the following:
> * * *

> 45. Costs related to transactions between related parties in which one party to the transaction is able to control or substantially influence the actions of the other. Such transactions are defined by the relationship of the parties and include, but are not limited to, those between divisions of an institution; institutions or organizations under common control through common officers, directors, or members; and an institution and a director, trustee, officer, or key employee of the institution or his or her immediate family either directly or through corporations, trusts, or similar arrangements in which they hold a controlling interest. Such costs shall include, but not be limited to:
>
> I. Rental cost for buildings and equipment in excess of the actual allocated costs of ownership (such as a straight line depreciation, mortgage interest, real estate taxes, property insurance and maintenance costs) incurred by the related property owner including a 2.5 percent return calculated on the actual costs of ownership incurred by the related party. The lease agreement shall include a list of anticipated costs to be incurred by the property owner, prepared in the format supplied by the Commissioner, signed by the property owner and notarized;
>
> [N.J.A.C. 6:20-4.4(a)(45)]

N.J.A.C. 6:20-4.8 details the audit requirements and procedures utilized in determining the costs per pupil, tuition rates and any non-allowable costs. In Council of Private Schools v. Cooperman, 205 N.J. Super 544 (App. Div. 1985), the Court sustained the regulations finding that they were not ultra vires or "facially confiscatory," and were "reasonably designed." Although, the Appellate Division did not foreclose the possibility of a particular private school from questioning the reasonableness of the regulations "as applied," the court nonetheless held that the regulations were facially valid.

In the instant matter, the ultimate determination of this controversy depends on whether petitioner and the committee are related parties. Further, whether the lease agreement between petitioner and the committee was an arms-length transaction. In

Saxon Constr. and Mgmt. Corp. v. Masterclean of North Carolina, Inc., 273 N.J. Super 231, 235 (App. Div. 1994), cert. denied, 137 N.J. 314 (1994), the Court aptly noted the settled principle in contracts law that parties bargaining at arms length may generally contract as they wish. The hallmarks of an arms-length transaction have been described as follows:

> [i]t involves (a) actions of essentially unrelated willing parties, each being relatively free to act in what each perceives to be his or her own self-interest, (b) action which are voluntary (as opposed to being under compulsion or duress), and (c) actions which generally take place in an open market.

In re Chomakas, 170 B.R. 585, 593 (Bankr. E.D. Mich. 1993), an arms-length transaction was defined as > a transaction negotiated by unrelated parties, each acting in his or her own self interest; the basis for a fair market value determination. Commonly applied in areas of taxation when there are dealings between related corporations, e.g. parent and subsidiary. . . . The standard under which unrelated parties, each acting in his or her own best interest, would carry out a particular transaction. For example, if a corporation sells property to it sole shareholder for $10,000, in testing whether $10,000 is an 'arm's length' price it must be ascertained for how much the corporation could have sold the property to a disinterested third party in a bargained transaction.

> [Cf: Black's Law Dictionary 100 (5th ed. 1979).]

N.J.A.C. 6:20-4.4(a)(45) provides that transactions between divisions of an institution are considered transactions between related parties. In Asplund v. Marjohn Corp., 66 N.J. Super. 255 (App. Div. 1961), the Appellate Division provided the following guidance for defining a related institution:

> An 'institution' is broadly defined as an established or organized society or corporation, either public or private in character. . . . Although the precise meaning of the term may vary according to the operative context. . . it seems universally accepted that 'institution' imports a substantial degree of internal organization and legally sanctioned stability.
> [Asplund, 66 N.J. Super at 263 (emphasis added).]

See also 18 N.J.R. 1237 (June 16, 1986) where the State Board discussed the problem of related parties and non-arms-length transactions in its proposed amendment to N.J.A.C. 6:20-4.4. Of particular relevance, the State Board noted the following in its Summary Statement:

> As of July 1, 1985, 21 private schools for the handicapped had set up commonly owned or controlled corporations. The private schools then either transferred title assets, used by the private school for the handicapped, to the related corporations or had the related corporations purchase fixed assets to be used by the private school for the handicapped. The related corporations collect rentals from the private schools for use of the fixed assets vested in the private school. This procedure also allows the related corporation to set the fixed assets without reimbursing the program for tuition funds expended for such fixed assets. Such transactions between related parties are entered at less-than-arm's length.
> It appears that the only purpose or activity of these corporations is renting buildings and equipment to the related private school for the handicapped. Such corporations give the appearance of being straw corporations used solely to disguise activities which would otherwise be nonallowable under N.J.A.C. 6:20-4.4, to divert fund intended for the education of handicapped pupils for other uses and to circumvent the surcharge and working capital restrictions contained in N.J.A.C. 6:20-4.5 ad 6:20-4.6.
> The State Board of Education, pursuant to the authority of N.J.S.A. 18A:4-15 and 18A:46-21, proposes to amend the rule pertaining to Tuition for Private Schools for the Handicapped, Non-allowable Costs, N.J.A.C. 6:20-4.4. The > proposed amendments ensure that the tuition rates charged New Jersey public school district boards of education by private schools for the handicapped are based on the cost of service, and are reflective of an open competitive market by restricting transactions not at arm's length. A not-at-arms length transaction would be limited to the cost of ownership incurred by the elated party including a 2.5 percent return calculated on the actual costs of ownership incurred by the related party.

> [18 N.J.R. 1237 (emphasis added).]

Under the foregoing standards, I FIND that the respondent has correctly determined that petitioner and the Committee are related parties and that their lease agreement was not an arms-length transaction. Notwithstanding both corporations efforts to divest themselves of common control, the fact remains that they are both divisions of an "institution" known as the Elks, which is a "established or organized society. . . [with] a substantial degree of internal organization and legally sanctioned stability. Asplund, at 263. As respondent succinctly argues:

> Although divided into lodges and separate corporations, the members are all Elks. As such, they have similar goals and interest. They seek to advance and enhance the purposes of their society. Thus, regardless of whether a person is a member of a lodge, the Committee, or the Center, the fact remains that the threshold requirement is membership in the Elk [sic]. The members of the boards of the Center and the Committee are not free to act in their self-interest; the overarching interesting of all Elks is the success of the Center.
> [Resp't. Br., at 16-17]

I further FIND that members in both corporations must be Elks, drawn from the limited pool of the six constituent lodges. Although the Constitution allows for up to six citizens, who may or may not be Elks, to serve on the Board of Trustees, this does not adequately take the corporations out of the "related party" realm. In this regard, see Cerebral Palsy School and Treatment Center of Camden County, Inc. v. State of N.J., Dep't. of Educ., Div. of Finance, 1988 S.L.D. 1693 (June 10, 1988), aff'd. Comm. Ed.

Comm. Ed. (July 19, 1988), where it was found that two exceptions to common membership on respective boards did not destroy the common control of both corporations.

Finally, I FIND Article 2(e) of the Constitution and By-Laws, requiring the Training Center to be located at 1481 Main Street, Clifton, N.J., is further dispositive evidence that the lease agreement was between related parties and was not an arms-length transaction. Petitioner was bound by its internal governing documents to lease the 1481 Main Street premises owned by the Committee, for use as its primary school location. Thus, it was not free to negotiate a lease in the open market, for an alternate site, even if it was in its self-interest to do so. In short, the hallmarks of an arms-length transaction detailed in Chomakas, supra, were not met.

Thus, for the foregoing reasons, I CONCLUDE there are no genuine issues of material fact and that the respondent is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. Accordingly, respondent's motion for summary decision is hereby GRANTED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

For the Petitioner-Appellant, Malcolm J. McPherson, Jr., Esq.

For the Respondent-Respondent, Arlene G. Lutz, Deputy Attorney General
(John J. Farmer, Jr., Attorney General of New Jersey)

The decision of the Commissioner of Education is affirmed for the reasons expressed therein. OF TRENTON, MERCER COUNTY.	:

For the District, Thomas W. Sumners, Jr., Esq. (Sumners, George & Dortch, P.C.)

For Respondent, Michael T. Barrett, Esq. (Bergman & Barrett)

This matter having been opened before the Commissioner of Education on May 27, 1999 through certification of tenure charges of unbecoming conduct and other just cause against respondent, a tenured teacher, by the School District of the City of Trenton; and

The respondent having been served by the District on May 27, 1999, via certified mail, return receipt requested, and regular mail, and counsel designated by the District as respondent's representative by regular mail, with a copy of the charges, the Statement of Evidence and the Certificate of Determination; and

The Commissioner having directed respondent, via both certified and regular mail on May 28, 1999, with a copy of such directive, sent by regular mail, to counsel designated by the District as respondent's representative, to file an Answer to the tenure charges against him; and

Whereas, such communication clearly provides respondent notice that, pursuant to P.L. 1998, c. 42, effective July 1, 1998, an individual against whom tenure charges are certified shall have 15 days from the date the charges are certified to the Commissioner to submit a written response to the charges, and that failure to answer within the prescribed period will, absent granting of an extension for good cause shown, result in the charges being deemed admitted and the Commissioner deciding the matter on summary judgment pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.4(e); and

The certified mail confirmation of delivery of the May 28, 1999 communication to respondent has not been returned to the Commissioner and the regular mail copy has not been returned as undeliverable; and

Counsel for respondent submitted an Answer to the charges on June 15, 1999 (postmarked June 14, 1999) and, subsequently, filed a second Answer on June 17, 1999 (postmarked June 16, 1999), both submissions being untimely filed, and no request for an extension of time, for good cause, within which to file having been made; and

In that no timely reply has been received from respondent in response to the District's charges, each count of the charges against respondent is deemed to be admitted; and

The Commissioner's review of the tenure charges certified against respondent by the District and the Statement of Evidence in support of those charges indicate unbecoming conduct and other just cause in that respondent, on a number of occasions, used inappropriate language of a sexual nature during his French class, made inappropriate sexual comments to certain individual students, and made inappropriate physical contact with a minor student; and

Deeming such charges to be admitted, and noting that respondent has not replied to the specific allegations contained therein, the Commissioner finds that respondent's actions constitute unbecoming conduct and other just cause; and

The Commissioner further finds such charges sufficient to warrant the penalty of removal; now, therefore,

IT IS ORDERED this _____day of July 1999 that summary judgment shall be granted to the District, and Henry Allegretti shall be dismissed from his tenured teaching position in the District's employ as of the date of this order.*

This matter shall be referred to the State Board of Examiners for action, as that body deems appropriate, against respondent's teaching certificate(s).

For the District, Joseph Verga, Esq.

This matter having been opened before the Commissioner of Education on May 20, 1999 through certification of tenure charges of chronic and excessive absenteeism, unbecoming conduct, and abandonment of position by the State-operated School District of the City of Newark; and

The respondent having been served by the District on May 13, 1999, via certified mail, return receipt requested, and regular mail, with a copy of the charges, the Statement of Evidence and the Certificate of Determination; and

The Commissioner having directed respondent, via both certified and regular mail on May 21, 1999, to file an Answer to the tenure charges against her; and

Whereas, such communication clearly provides respondent notice that, pursuant to P.L. 1998, c. 42, effective July 1, 1998, an individual against whom tenure charges are certified shall have 15 days from the date the charges are certified to the Commissioner to submit a written response to the charges, and that failure to answer within the prescribed period will, absent granting of an extension for good cause shown, result in the charges being deemed admitted and the Commissioner deciding the matter on summary judgment pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.4(e); and

The certified mail confirmation of delivery of the May 21, 1999 communication to respondent has not been returned to the Commissioner and the regular mail copy has not been returned as undeliverable; and

In that no reply has been received from respondent in response to the District's charges, each count of the charges against respondent is deemed to be admitted; and

The Commissioner's review of the tenure charges certified against respondent by the District and the Statement of Evidence in support of those charges indicate: 1) incapacity and/or unbecoming conduct due to her excessive absenteeism in that between January 1997 to March 1999 respondent was absent from her duties 265 days, thereby disrupting the delivery of education and continuity of instruction to the pupils of the Newark Public Schools; 2) unbecoming conduct in that during the period of absences set forth above, respondent submitted Sick Day Donor Program Request Forms, pursuant to which certain staff had purported to give respondent use of their sick days. Such forms, however, were either altered or contained forged signatures. Respondent thereupon submitted the altered Sick Day Donor Program Requests to the District's Division of Health Services and was credited with and received payment for these sick days, resulting in a theft and improper payment of public funds; and 3) abandonment of position in that respondent submitted an Employee's Medical Certificate Form to the District's Office of Health Services on February 5, 1999 which indicated that her expected date of return to work would be March 1, 1999. To date, respondent has not returned to work, nor has she contacted the District to advise of her whereabouts; and

Deeming such charges to be admitted, and noting that respondent has not replied to the specific allegations contained therein, the Commissioner finds that respondent's actions constitute unbecoming conduct and abandonment of position; and

The Commissioner further finds such charges sufficient to warrant the penalty of removal; now, therefore

IT IS ORDERED this 7 day of July 1999 that summary judgment shall be granted to the District, and Sandra Joyner shall be dismissed from her tenured teaching position in the District's employ as of the date of this order.*

This matter shall be referred to the State Board of Examiners for action, as that body deems appropriate, against respondent's teaching certificate(s).

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner, a teaching staff member, alleged that respondent Board violated his tenure and seniority rights when it reassigned him from a twelve-month position to a ten-month position and prorated his annual salary to reflect his ten-month work schedule as opposed to the twelve-month work schedule in his prior assignment.

The ALJ granted petitioner's motion for summary decision, concluding that if the full-time assignment to which petitioner's tenure and seniority rights entitle him is a ten-month as opposed to previous twelve-month employment, *N.J.S.A.*18A:28-9, when read in conjunction with N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5, prevented the Board from reducing petitioner's annual salary.

In light of the Appellate Division's recent decision in Carpenito, supra, the Commissioner reversed the decision of the ALJ and granted summary decision to respondent, concurring with respondent that it was permissible for the Board to reduce petitioner's salary upon abolishment of his twelve-month position and reassignment to a ten-month position as part of a bona fide reduction in force.

AGENCY DKT. NO. 257-7/97

Petitioner,

v.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF TRENTON, COUNTY OF MERCER,

Steven R. Cohen, Esq., and Keith Waldman, Esq., for petitioner (Selikoff and Cohen, attorneys)

Thomas W. Sumners, Jr., Esq., and Giuffre M. Hollingsworth, Esq., for respondent (Sumners, George & Dortch, attorneys)

Record Closed: November 23, 1998 Decided: May 24, 1999[1]

BEFORE M. KATHLEEN DUNCAN, ALJ:

This matter commenced on July 11, 1997 when Rocco DiMaggio (hereinafter petitioner) filed a petition of appeal with the Commissioner of Education seeking a determination that the [1] Extensions of time for issuing the decision in this matter were requested and granted pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c).

Board of Education of the City of Trenton (hereinafter respondent) had violated his tenure and seniority rights when it reassigned him from a twelve-month position to a ten-month position, effective September 1, 1997. An answer on behalf of respondent was filed on July 22, 1997 and on July 30, 1997, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

The matter was reassigned to the undersigned on September 23, 1997 after Kathryn A. Clark, the administrative law judge originally assigned to the case, issued an order recusing herself.

A prehearing conference was scheduled and was conducted on November 10, 1997, together with a number of other matters which were being consolidated for determination. A separate supplemental prehearing conference was scheduled in the above-captioned matter on November 20, 1997, at which time it was determined that consolidation was not appropriate. An amended answer was filed on behalf of respondent on December 15, 1997. Thereafter, numerous telephone conference calls took place to ascertain the status of this matter while the parties were engaged in settlement negotiations. On or about September 10, 1998, the parties entered into a stipulation and consent order resolving the petition of appeal in part and establishing a briefing schedule for the remaining issue. An amendment to the agreement was forwarded on September 24, 1998, and on October 28, 1998 the undersigned entered an amended consent order to reflect the changes set forth in the September 24, 1998 letter. That order is attached hereto and made a part hereof as if set forth herein at length.

In accordance with the terms of the Consent Order, counsel for petitioner submitted a motion for summary decision, together with supporting papers. Responding papers and a cross-motion for summary decision were filed on behalf of respondent, and petitioner filed a reply. Oral argument on the motions took place by telephone conference call on November 23, 1998, whereupon the record closed.

FINDINGS OF FACT

The facts relevant to a determination of this matter are not in dispute and I therefore FIND the following as uncontested facts.

By letter dated May 1, 1997, respondent notified petitioner as follows:

> Due to economy and a Reduction In Force, the Board of Education, on Monday, April 28, 1997, approved the Superintendent's recommendation to reassign you from the position of Teacher Specialist, assigned to Trenton High Vocational School, to Auto Mechanics Teacher (Small Engine), location to be determined, effective September 1, 1997.

In fact, the position petitioner held prior to respondent's actions which resulted in the within matter was Job Placement Coordinator at Trenton Central High School, a twelve-month position which was characterized by respondent as a "teacher specialist position" and which required only an instructional certificate. Immediately prior to assuming the position Job Placement Coordinator, petitioner had held the position of Cooperative Industrial/Education Coordinator, a ten-month position which required an educational services certification with a cooperative industrial education endorsement.

On June 30, 1997, petitioner was reassigned to a ten-month position (teacher of auto mechanics/small engines). In so doing, respondent maintained petitioner's rate of salary and level of monthly compensation. In effect, however, petitioner's annual salary was reduced because his compensation was prorated to reflect his ten-month work schedule as opposed to the twelve-month work schedule in his prior assignment.

In the attached amended consent order entered October 28, 1998, the parties agreed that effective September 1, 1998 respondent would place petitioner in the position teacher of auto mechanics/small engines at Central High School and would place him on a preferred eligible list for teacher-specialist, CIE coordinator and Job Placement Coordinator.

The parties further agreed that the only remaining issue in the case was whether respondent was required to maintain petitioner's annual salary frozen or "red circled" at its former level until the annual salary on the salary guide for teacher of auto mechanics became equal to or greater than the annual salary for his twelve-month assignment as teacher specialist.

APPLICABLE LAW AND DISCUSSION

The once classic statement of the standard for granting or denying summary judgment set forth in Judson v. Peoples Bank and Trust Co. of Westfield, 17 N.J. 67 (1954), was recently modified in Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of America, 142 N.J. 520 (1995). Therein the Court held that the standard to be applied is now the same as the standard for determining motions for involuntary dismissal under R. 4:37-2(b) and for determining motions for judgment under R. 4:40-1 and R. 4:40-2. Trial courts considering motions for summary judgment are now required to engage in the same type of evaluation, analysis or sifting of evidential materials in light of the burden of persuasion that applies if the matter goes to trial. The Court explained:

> Under this new standard, a determination whether there exists a "genuine issue" of material fact that precludes summary judgment requires the motion judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to permit a rational factfinder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party. The "judge's function is not himself [or herself] to weigh the evidence and determine the truth of the matter but to determine whether there is a genuine issue for trial.". . . Credibility determinations will continue to be made by a jury and not a judge. If there exists a single, unavoidable resolution of the alleged disputed issue of fact, that issue should be considered insufficient to constitute a "genuine" issue of material fact for purposes of Rule 4:46-2. . . . The import of our holding is that when the evidence "is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law, . . ., the trial court should not hesitate to grant summary judgment. (citations omitted) Id. at 540.

The Court noted that to send a case to trial knowing that a rational decision-maker could reach but one conclusion was indeed "worthless" and would "serve no useful purpose." The purpose of this new standard, the decision explained, was to encourage trial courts not to refrain from granting summary judgment when the proper circumstances present themselves.

In the present matter, the parties stipulate that none of the material facts are in dispute and accordingly, this matter is ripe for summary decision.

A determination of the issue in the within matter requires reconciliation of two competing interests reflected in two separate statutory provisions. The first, N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5, defines the tenure rights of teaching staff members who have satisfied certain conditions and have obtained tenure in the district and provides in pertinent part that those persons:

> . . . shall be under tenure during good behavior and efficiency and they shall not be dismissed or reduced in compensation except for inefficiency, incapacity, or conduct unbecoming such a teaching staff member or other just cause and then only in the manner prescribed by (N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9 et seq.) . . .

Tenure is a legislative status, not a contractual one, and the statutory rights enumerated attach to a "position" in the public schools in a particular district. Howley v. Ewing Bd. of Ed., 6 N.J.A.R. 509, 515-516. The other statutory provision implicated in the within matter reflects the competing interests of the school district and provides:

> Nothing in this title or any other law relating to tenure of service shall be held to limit the right of any board of education to reduce the number of teaching staff members, employed in the district whenever, in the judgment of the board, it is advisable to abolish any such positions for reasons of economy or because of reduction in the number of pupils or of change in the administrative or supervisory organization of the district or for other good cause upon compliance with the provisions of this article.
> [Emphasis added; N.J.A.C. 18A:28-9]

The case upon which petitioner primarily relies in support of his position that he is entitled to continue to receive his previous salary notwithstanding that it was for twelve months of work rather than his current ten-month schedule is Ivey Avery, et al. v. Bd. of Ed. of the Cty. of Trenton, Comm'n decision 573-97, Nov. 3, 1997 (unreported) (appeal pending to the State Bd. of Ed.). In that case, when the Trenton Board of Education (notably also the respondent herein) abolished certain "teacher-specialist" positions, purportedly for reasons of economy or efficiency, wherein the teachers had been employed on a twelve-month basis and had reassigned those teaching staff members to classroom teaching assignments on a ten-month basis, the Commissioner of Education determined, contrary to the opinion of the administrative law judge, that in fact no reduction in force had occurred because the Board had not "reduce(d) the number of teaching staff members employed in the district" either by termination of employment or by diminution of full-time positions to part-time positions. Commissioner Klagholz further concluded that because petitioners had not lost their full-time employment, the seniority regulations promulgated to effectuate a reduction in force conducted pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9 did not apply. He explained:

> Rather, the Commissioner finds that the Board acted pursuant to its managerial prerogative to transfer teaching staff members. Petitioners, who acquired tenure as teachers, and not as "teacher/specialists," were transferred within the scope of their certificates to alternative teaching assignments, i.e., as classroom teachers. The Commissioner recognizes that a "tenured teacher may be 'transferred' or reassigned within the scope of the endorsements on his or her Instructional Certificate  but may not be transferred involuntarily from one position to another." Howley and Bookholdt v. Ewing Township Board of Education, 1982 S.L.D. 1328, 1340, aff'd State Board June 1, 1983. Here, petitioners cannot claim that the classroom teaching assignments are different "positions" for the purpose of a tenure analysis. "[T]he Commissioner has consistently maintained that, with unrecognized titles, the scope of a position for purposes of tenure entitlement is that of the endorsement(s) required to hold it." MacMillan, supra, at 22. The teacher/specialist positions formerly held by petitioners merely required that they hold instructional certificates, with no specific endorsements. Not unlike the State Board's observations in Williams, the certification required of the teacher/specialist and of these classroom teachers is the same, tenure as a teacher can be accrued in both titles, and the duties to be performed as classroom teachers "are of no less importance from an educational standpoint." Williams, supra, at 158.

The Commissioner then ordered that the petitioners be compensated with the same salary and emoluments they had enjoyed in their employment as "teacher-specialists" and noted that respondent could elect to freeze petitioners' salaries until such time as their compensation was in accord with the teachers salary guide for those employed on a ten-month basis. In the Williams case cited by the Commissioner (Williams v. Plainfield Bd. of Ed., 1979 S.L.D. 220, aff'd in part and rev'd in part, State Bd. of Ed., 1980 S.L.D. 1552, aff'd 176 N.J. Super. 154 (App. Div. 1980), certif. denied, 87 N.J. 306 (1981), the petitioner, a tenured principal, had been involuntarily transferred from a high school principal to an elementary school principal's position. The "transfer" was one done pursuant to the Board's authority in N.J.S.A. 18A:25-1 and was not a violation of petitioner's tenure rights since she was simply "transferred from one principalship to another." The action of the Board in that matter, however, was not taken as the result of a reduction in force but rather was occasioned because of the district's dissatisfaction with her performance as a high school principal. The State Board in its opinion held that a twelve-month high school principal by reason of holding a certificate to serve as principal at any grade level was subject to reassignment at her board's discretion to a ten-month elementary principalship notwithstanding the fact that the salary scale for high school principals was somewhat different from the salary scale for elementary principals. Noting that Williams' salary had not been reduced in the new assignment, the State Board decision explained:

> Moreover, to require a board of education to pay all transferred tenured personnel in accordance with future salary schedules which might be adopted for their respective earlier positions would cause endless confusion in negotiations and administration of employee contracts.
> Court decisions have also indicated that tenure rights do not include future salary expectations. In Greenway v. Camden Board of Education, 129 N.J.L. 47 (Sup. Ct. 1942), a tenured high school teacher was transferred to the junior high school. He contended that his transfer constituted a reduction in salary because the maximum salary prescribed for the former job exceeded that fixed for the junior high or intermediate school. The annual salary paid to the teacher, however, was the same after as before the transfer. Upholding the action of the board of education and rejecting the teacher's claim that he had vested rights in the high school salary increments, the Supreme Court said (N.J.L. at pg. 47):

> The failure to receive an increase of salary does not constitute a reduction.

> In our view, salary expectancies at any given moment do not determine rank; nothing in the tenure statutes states or implies that two otherwise comparable positions must have identical salary expectancies before an incumbent may be transferred from one to the other. Compensation is treated separately in the tenure laws. So long as it is not reduced, a tenured employee has not suffered a loss of tenure rights merely because he is transferred to a job which has a comparable rank, albeit a lesser salary expectancy.

The Commissioner's conclusion in Avery, supra, that the petitioners were merely transferred from one full-time assignment within their tenured position to another full-time assignment within their tenured position, albeit one assignment was on a twelve-month calendar year and the other on a ten-month academic year, and that no reduction in force within the meaning of N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9 occurred, is supported by the recent decision of the Appellate Division in State v. Communication Workers, 285 N.J. Super. 541 (App. Div. 1995) certif. denied 143 N.J. 519 (1996), wherein the court concluded that the Department of Environmental Protection had effectuated a legitimate layoff when it abolished approximately one-half of all forty-hour work-week positions, and affected employees, who were entitled to exercise bumping rights, moved to newly created thirty-five hour work-week positions. Rejecting the argument of the Communication Workers Association that the State could not couch a decision to reduce the work hours of its employees without negotiation in terms of a "layoff" and "rehire," the court distinguished its opinion in In re Piscataway Tp. Bd. of Ed., 164 N.J. Super. 98 (App. Div. 1978). In that case, the Appellate Division had held that an employer ordinarily has the duty to negotiate before implementing a reduction in its employees' workday or workweek or workyear and stated in pertinent part:

> The Board here argues that economy motivated the action complained of and that there is no material difference between the Board's right to cut staff and the right to cut months of > service of staff personnel where the economy motive is common to both exercises. We disagree. While cutting staff pursuant to N. J. S. A. 18A:28-9 would be permissible unilaterally without prior negotiation, see Union Cty. Bd. of Ed. v. Union City Teach. Ass'n, 145 N.J. Super. 435 (App. Div. 1976), certif. den. 71 N. J. 348 (1977), but cf. State of New Jersey v. State Supervisory Employees Ass'n, 78 N. J. 54 (1978), there cannot be the slightest doubt that cutting the work year, with the consequence of reducing annual compensation of retained personnel who customarily, and under the existing contract, work the full year (subject to normal vacations), and without prior negotiation with the employees affected, is in violation of both the text and the spirit of the Employer-Employee Relations Act. Cf. Galloway Tp. Bd. of Ed. v. Galloway Tp. Ed. Ass'n, 78 N. J. 25 (1978).

The Piscataway court ordered back pay for all the employees affected by the Board's resolution which had reduced the yearly term of employment for a number of principals from twelve months to ten months, entailing a proportionate reduction in salary of such persons. Recognizing the continued validity of Piscataway, the Court in State v. Communication Workers, supra, explained:

> Piscataway, supra, is distinguishable because this case involves the State and thereby implicates a specific statutory and regulatory scheme under which the State's conduct constitutes a layoff.
> We recognize that the statute and regulation do not mandate that DEP conduct layoffs, and that absent any imperative that the employer act a given way, prior case law supports CWA's assertion that the regulations do not preempt negotiations on the subject of a workweek reduction. Nonetheless, we are satisfied that the regulations mandating, as they do, that the DOP Commissioner act to determine and designate lateral, demotional and specific reemployment rights for all affected titles prior to the layoff, demonstrates that a comprehensive and legitimate plan to equate the present action of the State with a layoff is legitimate and within the statutory authority. See N.J.A.C 4A:8-1.1 et seq. Thus, PERC's decision was neither arbitrary nor capricious.

Accordingly, at least in the education context, an employer may not through a reduction in force reduce the salaries of full-time employees by abolishing their twelve-month employment and reassigning them to ten-month employment within the same position title.

Over the years decisions in the education context have been in inconsistent with respect to this issue.

In support of his position that a tenured teaching staff member cannot be reduced in salary in an involuntary transfer stemming from a RIF, petitioner cites D'Alonzo v. West Orange Board of Ed., C.D. 162-85, May 13, 1985 (unreported) aff'd. State Board of Education, September 4, 1985 (unreported) and Stolte v. Willingboro Board of Ed., 1981 S.L.D. 770. In D'Alonzo, the petitioner, a high school assistant principal, was reassigned after his particular employment was abolished to an assistant principal's position at a junior high school. Although the Commissioner barred petitioner's seniority claims as untimely, he nevertheless held that the Board was obligated to pay the petitioner at least the same salary he had received at the high school:

> N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 prohibits reduction in compensation except for the reasons stated and in the manner prescribed therein. This does not preclude, however, that he be compensated pursuant to the salary guide for junior high assistant principals (P-3) as long as the salary is not less than $45,450. Notwithstanding this determination, his salary may be maintained at that level until such time as it accords with the junior high school assistant principal's salary guide. C.D. at 11 (citations omitted).

In Stolte, supra, the petitioner served as an assistant principal and as a result of a legitimate reduction in force that particular employment was abolished and he was reassigned to the position physical education teacher to which he was entitled pursuant to his seniority rights. Following the reassignment the petitioner received the same salary he would have received as a principal, but his salary was frozen at its existing level and he was not advanced on the guide. He petitioned the Commissioner claiming he should have advanced on the guide. The administrative law judge rejected this argument and found that the board had acted appropriately when it froze his salary at its existing level until the teaching salary guide caught up to his previous salary as an assistant principal. The Commissioner affirmed the findings and determinations rendered in the initial decision. In Both D'Alonzo and Stolte, the legitimacy of the reduction in force for reasons of economy, efficiency or other good cause was not challenged. Likewise in the within matter, no one has challenged the legitimacy of the reduction in force for economic reasons. Respondent distinguishes Stolte and D'Alonzo from the within matter in that the petitioners in both of those cases continued to work either the same academic year or the same calendar year in the reassigned positions. A number of prior decisions of the Commissioner of Education which would support respondent's position have ruled that when twelve-month positions were abolished and ten-month positions were created instead that a reduction in force had occurred and concomitant salary reductions were appropriate. See, e.g., Cinnaminson Teachers Assoc. v. Board of Ed. of the Township of Cinnaminson, 1983 S.L.D. 758; Swaluk v. Highland Park Boro. Bd. of Ed., 1986 S.L.D. 1519 and Nazario v. Board of Ed. of the City of Bridgeton, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 4996-79, adopted Commissioner of Education, May 24, 1982. None of these decisions, however, mention the Appellate Division decision in In re Piscataway Township Board of Ed., supra. In Messick v. Board of Education of the Borough of Haddonfield, 1982 S.L.D. 620, the Commissioner affirmed the findings and determination of the administrative law judge who had approved a reduction in salary where the board had abolished petitioner's twelve-month position and had established a ten-month position instead. In that case, however, the administrative law judge did address Piscataway as follows:

> In addition to complying with N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9, the Board negotiated with the petitioner's representative prior to abolishing the twelve-month position. In the case of In re Piscataway Township Bd. of Ed., 164 N.J. Super. 98 (App. Div. 1978), the court affirmed the decision of the New Jersey Public Employment Relations Commission which held that a school board unilaterally reducing employment of a number of principals from 12 months to 10 months with a proportionate reduction in salary was guilty of an unfair practice in violation of N.J.S.A. 34:13A-5.4(a)(1) and (a)(5). While this decision seems contrary to the consistent holdings of the Commissioner of Education, the Board nevertheless negotiated with the HEA over the proposed change in the terms and conditions of employment. Consequently, if there was a duty to negotiate under the facts of > this case, the Board met that duty as well as having acted in accordance with the Commissioner's decisions.

> The import of the above case is that if a school board, has an obligation to negotiate reductions in work year and pay, it also has the right to carry out those reductions. In the present matter, there is no contention that the Board failed to meet any obligation in that regard and the testimony establishes that, in fact, negotiations were carried out.

Finally, in East Brunswick Education Association v. East Brunswick Board of Education, 1981 S.L.D. 1280, the Commissioner determined that the teaching staff member had been properly reassigned to a newly created ten-month elementary guidance counselor position when his twelve-month elementary guidance counselor position had been abolished in a RIF. The Commissioner adopted Judge Errickson's decision which had reasoned:

> Petitioner's "particular employment," as referred to by N.J.A.C. 6:3-1.10(b), which was abolished by the Board's April 16 action, was that of a twelve-month elementary guidance counselor. That same rule of the State Board of Education specifies that when ones "particular employment shall be abolished in a category, he shall be given that employment in the same category to which he is entitled by seniority. . . ." Since the Board on April 16 simultaneously established ten-month elementary guidance positions, petitioner had claim by reason of seniority to employment in the same category in one of those ten-month guidance positions. This ten-month position is not considered in the operations of schools to be a part-time or less than full-time position. Since such was available and since petitioner lays no claim in this action to any twelve-month guidance position which may exist in the district, I CONCLUDE that the Board's action appointing him to the ten-month position was a proper exercise of its discretionary authority.

With respect to the salary issue, although he did not use the term "redline" or "freeze" Judge Errickson cited Williams v. Board of Plainfield, supra, for the proposition that a board may appoint a former twelve-month tenured employee to a ten-month position in the same category of employment so long as the salary is not reduced even though the ten-month position has a lower salary expectation. Id. at 1286.

The reduction of a full-time teaching staff member to a part-time employee has uniformly been considered a reduction in force with an appropriate concomitant salary reduction. Bednar v. Westwood Bd. of Educ., 221 N.J. Super. 239, 240 (App. Div. 1987); Klinger v. Cranbury Tp. Bd. of Ed., 190 N.J. Super. 354, 357 (App. Div. 1982); Popovich v. Bd. of Ed. of Wharton, 1975 S.L.D. 737, 745.

It is simply not possible to reconcile all of the foregoing inconsistent decisions. What does appear from a composite analysis, however, is that although at first blush there would seem to be no logical explanation for regarding a reduction from full-time employment to part-time employment as a RIF and refusing to consider a twelve-month position to a ten-month position in the same regard, in fact there is justification for the disparate treatment. As noted by Judge Errickson in his opinion in East Brunswick Education Association, supra, a ten-month position is not considered in the operations of schools to be part-time or less than a full-time position. See also N.J.A.C. 6:3-5.1(f) which provides in pertinent part "For purposes of calculating seniority entitlement, there shall be no distinction between academic years and calendar years." Accordingly, when a teaching staff member is reassigned within the scope of his tenured position from twelve-month employment to ten-month employment, he moves from one full-time assignment to another full-time assignment. Accordingly, there has been no reduction in the number of teaching staff members. This legitimate distinction between full-time employment and part-time employment is emphasized by the decision of the Commissioner in Adele Vexler v. Board of Ed. of Red Bank, 1980 S.L.D. 272. Therein the Commissioner determined that refusal by a school psychologist of part-time employment after her full-time position was abolished did not free the Red Bank Board of Education of its obligation to place Vexler on a preferred eligibility list.

In the present matter, the parties agree that petitioner's employment as Job Placement Coordinator was abolished as part of a legitimate reduction in force for reasons of economic efficiency. His tenure rights which attach to the position of "teacher" entitled him to reassignment to another full-time position within the same category. The parties have agreed that petitioner's reassignment as teacher of auto mechanics/small engines complies with the board's obligation and petitioner's rights. In fact, respondent could have transferred petitioner to the ten-month position teacher of auto mechanics and had respondent done so, pursuant to Williams v.Plainfield Board of Ed., supra, it would have been required to redline his salary in the ten-month assignment until it caught up on the guide with his prior twelve-month compensation. Unlike the teaching staff member in Vexler, supra, who was free to refuse reassignment to a part-time position and simultaneously maintain her place on the preferred eligibility list for a full-time position, neither petitioner nor Jeannette Williams could have refused the ten-month assignment and still have maintained their tenure rights.

Based upon all of the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that the approach which best balances the competing interests of teaching staff members and boards of education is the one adopted most recently by the Commissioner in Avery, supra, and directed by Judge Errickson in the East Brunswick Board of Education case, supra, i.e., if the full-time assignment to which petitioner's tenure and seniority rights entitle him is a ten-month employment as opposed to previous twelve-month employment, N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9, when read in conjunction with N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5, prevents the Board of Education from reducing the annual salary of that teaching staff member. This approach implements the intention of the statutory scheme to provide teaching staff members with both job security and salary protection and at the same time permits the board to make adjustments required by reasons of economy or changing enrollments. As pointed out during oral argument by petitioner's counsel, the board has still accomplished savings by eliminating the salary of the previous holder of the 10-month teacher of auto mechanics position who was "bumped" by petitioner and by eliminating the requirement of future salary increases to petitioner for a substantial period of time until the 10-month guide reaches his prior compensation.

For the foregoing reasons, it is hereby ORDERED that petitioner's motion for summary decision is GRANTED. Respondent is ordered to restore petitioner's salary and benefits to those he received during the 1996-97 school year and to reimburse petitioner for back pay and benefits. Such salary and benefits must at least be maintained until such time as petitioner's salary level corresponds with the salary guide for the assigned position on a ten-month basis.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

STIPULATION AND CONSENT ORDER RESOLVING PETITION IN PART AND ESTABLISHING BRIEFING SCHEDULE FOR REMAINING ISSUE

THIS MATTER, having been initiated upon Petition of Appeal of Petitioner Rocco DiMaggio to the Commissioner of Education, alleging that Respondent Board of Education of the City of Trenton, County of Mercer, violated his tenure and recall rights by reducing his employment and compensation from twelve months to ten months and the Commissioner having referred the matter for hearing to the Office of Administrative Law ("OAL"); and the OAL having assigned the matter to the Honorable M. Kathleen Duncan, A.L.J., and DiMaggio, having appeared by and through his counsel, Keith Waldman, Esquire, of Selikoff & Cohen, P.A. and Respondent, having appeared by and through its counsel, Thomas W. Sumners, Jr., Esq., of Sumners, George & Dortch, P.C., and the Parties having mutually agreed upon a partial settlement of this matter without the necessity of hearing; and the OAL having reviewed the terms of the settlement and believing that it is a fair and just resolution of this matter;

IT IS HEREBY STIPULATED AND AGREED AS FOLLOWS:

1. Effective September 1, 1998, the Board will place DiMaggio in the position CIE Coordinator, a position to which the Parties acknowledge he is entitled by virtue of his tenure, seniority and qualifications. The Board will place DiMaggio on a preferred eligible list for teacher-specialist and job placement coordinator consistent with his tenure, seniority and qualifications.

2. The only remaining issue in this case is whether the Education Laws, regulations and the decisional law of the Commissioner of Education require that the Board maintain DiMaggio's annual salary including longevity payments frozen or "red circled" at its former level as a teacher-specialist until the annual salary on the CIE Coordinator guide (including longevity) becomes equal to or greater than the annual salary for teacher-specialist (including longevity), at which time he is to receive salary (including longevity) in accordance with the CIE Coordinator guide.

3. The Parties will submit their initial briefs on this remaining issue on or before September 8, 1998 and their reply briefs on or before September 25, 1998, at which time the case will be decided on the basis of the Parties' written submissions.

4. The Parties waive a hearing on any other issue in this case.

5. The Parties agree that this agreement constitutes their full understanding. It is agreed that there are no oral understandings or other agreements (written or oral) which would have any impact upon the present action.

6. The Parties further agree that this agreement shall be contingent upon approval by the Commissioner of Education. Neither Party will take any legal action whatsoever that is inconsistent with this Agreement before the Office of Administrative Law or any other forum.

7. The Parties agree that their performance under this agreement will be governed by a covenant of good faith and fair dealing and neither will do anything to deprive the other of the full benefit of the agreement.

8. The Parties agree that this Stipulation may be signed in counterparts and that facsimiles of signatures will have the same force and effect as original signatures.

Amendment of Stipulation and Consent Order
Our File No. 3857

Dear Mr. Sumners:

Please let this letter serve to confirm that, upon countersignature of this letter, the Trenton Board of Education and Rocco DiMaggio (jointly, the "Parties") agree that the Stipulation and Consent Order be amended as follows:

Paragraph 1: Delete the words "CIE Coordinator" and substitute in their place the words "Teacher of Auto Mechanics/Small Engines at Central High School." Change the last sentence to read, "The Board will place DiMaggio on a preferred eligible list for Teacher-Specialist, CIE Coordinator and Job Placement Coordinator consistent with his tenure, seniority and qualifications."

Paragraph 2: The words "CIE Coordinator" are to be replaced with the words "Teacher of Auto Mechanics/ Small Engines."

It is the Parties' understanding that Mr. DiMaggio's placement in the Teacher of Auto Mechanics/Small Engines position is the result of involuntary transfer arising from the reduction in force. As a result, paragraphs three through eight of the Agreement remain in tact. The Parties further understand that this amendment in no way changes the need for determination of the outstanding salary issue pursuant to paragraphs two through three of the Stipulation and Consent Order.

The Parties also agree that upon execution of this letter, a copy may be forwarded directly to Administrative Law Judge Duncan so that she may conform the Stipulation and Consent Order accordingly. The parties understand that their agreement is subject to and dependent upon approval by the Commissioner of Education.

Please countersign below to acknowledge that this is your understanding of the Agreement as modified.

Very truly yours,

ROCCO DI MAGGIO,	:
PETITIONER,
V.		COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF TRENTON, MERCER COUNTY,	:	DECISION

The record and initial decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. Respondent's exceptions and petitioner's reply thereto were timely filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4.

Respondent's exceptions essentially reiterate those arguments contained in its Brief previously considered by the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ); therefore, they shall not be repeated herein. Additionally, respondent argues that the cases primarily relied on by the ALJ to reach her determination that prorating petitioner's salary was prohibited can each be readily distinguished from the facts in the instant matter. Consequently, it is respondent's position that the ALJ misapplied relevant standards to the matter and erroneously granted petitioner's motion for summary judgment. More specifically, respondent urges that Cinnaminson, supra, Swaluk, supra and Nazario, supra support its proposition that it is appropriate to prorate an employee's salary where his or her twelve-month position is abolished in connection with a bona fide reduction in force and the employee is reassigned to a ten-month position based on his or her seniority and certification.

As to the Piscataway matter relied upon by the ALJ, respondent argues, inter alia, that:

> Significantly, the [Piscataway] board did not take the challenged action pursuant to a bona fide reduction in force. Instead the involved board asserted that there was no material difference between the exercise of its right to cut the number of staff members pursuant to a reduction in force and its right to cut the number of months of service since both were motivated by economic concerns. The court specifically rejected the board's argument and found that the reduction of work hours (evidencing a change in the terms and conditions of employment) in the absence of a bona fide reduction of force violated the Employer-Employee Relations Act.  Clearly, the aforementioned decision is not inconsistent with those in which the Commissioner upheld pro-rated reductions in salary where a reduction in force resulted in a twelve-month employee being assigned to a ten-month position. In the instant matter, unlike the case in Piscataway, the facts clearly establish that the action taken by the Board was consistent with a bona fide reduction in force. Consequently, the Board did not deviate from the Commissioner's prior decisions. Moreover, given the court's finding that the Piscataway board did not act pursuant to a bona fide reduction in force, the ruling in Piscataway did not in any way undermine the Commissioner's prior holdings. (Respondent's Exceptions at pp. 4-5) (citations omitted)

Respondent further avers that an examination of Messick, supra confirms the above conclusions. It deems it significant that in the Messick case, which involved the reduction of a term of employment from twelve to ten months, the action was taken in connection with a bona fide reduction in force (Messick, supra at 624-625), as well as through negotiations with the petitioner's bargaining unit. As to this, respondent points out that in upholding the prorating of Messick's salary and the reduction in the months of her employment, the ALJ therein concluded that the action was consistent with N.J.S.A. 18A: 28-9 and the Employee-Employer Relations Act. Respondent further points out that the ALJ in Messick questioned the decision in Piscataway because it appeared inconsistent with the Commissioner's prior decisions since it seemed to require negotiations prior to a reduction in salary upon reassignment of an employee to a ten-month position. Respondent goes on to state that "it is the position of the Board that the decision in Piscataway did not require negotiation where the proportional decrease in salary resulted from a bona fide reduction in force. As such, Messick and Piscataway remain consistent with the prior decisions of the Commissioner of Education." (Id. at 6).

Petitioner characterizes the Board's exceptions as insubstantial and contends that the initial decision is a well-reasoned analysis which carefully balances the competing legislative purposes behind the statutes relevant herein (N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 and 28-9). He also asserts, inter alia, that respondent's position starts with the false premise that paying him 5/6 of his current salary is not a reduction in salary and rejects the Board's claim that as long as his monthly salary is not reduced, no reduction in compensation has occurred. Petitioner further maintains that the Board's exceptions overstate and mischaracterize Cinnaminson, supra, Swaluk, supra and Nazario, supra, averring that the ALJ herein recognized that those cases involved the abolishment of 12-month positions and the creation of 10-month positions, a circumstance which he argues did not happen herein. Moreover, it is respondent's contention that the ALJ's analysis of Avery, supra, Piscataway, supra, State v. Communications Workers, supra and Messick, supra is sound.

Upon a thorough, comprehensive review of the record in this matter, the broad array of seemingly inconsistent decisions related to the issues presented in the instant matter and the recommended decision of the ALJ, the Commissioner declines to adopt the ALJ's recommended decision granting summary decision to petitioner for the reasons set forth below.

Initially, the Commissioner would like to emphasize that the ALJ is absolutely correct when stating that it is simply impossible to reconcile all of the many inconsistent decisions set forth in the initial decision relative to a Board's alteration of an employee's work year and the impact such action has on salary entitlements, and he commends the ALJ for her comprehensive analysis of that body of case law which spans several decades.

In determining how to apply this diverse body of case law to the dispute herein, the ALJ opted for reliance primarily on the Commissioner's decision in Avery, supra. In that case, the Commissioner's holding was premised upon the conclusion that the petitioners therein had not been subject to a reduction in force but had merely been transferred from one full-time (twelve-month) teacher position to another full-time (ten-month) teacher position. Consequently, it was determined that they had impermissibly suffered a reduction of their salary when the respondent Board, which as it happens is the same as in the instant matter, had acted to prorate their salaries for ten months of employment based on their twelve-month salaries.

The instant matter, however, as well as the Commissioner's decision in Avery, supra, must now be viewed in light of the Appellate Division decision issued on June 29, 1999, subsequent to the filing of the initial decision, in the matter entitled Edward Carpenito v. Board of Education of the Borough of Rumson, Monmouth County, decided by Commissioner August 21, 1996, rev'd State Board February 4, 1998, rev'd New Jersey Superior Court, Appellate Division, Docket No. A-3731-97T3, wherein the court's determination refined the concepts of transfer and reduction in force to hold that when a board of education acts to abolish a teaching staff member's position pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9 and reassigns that individual to another position with no loss of tangible employment benefit, that action does not constitute a reduction in force, but is instead tantamount to a transfer.

Applying the court's holding to the fact pattern here, the Commissioner must conclude that petitioner was subject to a reduction in force and not, as might be concluded based upon Avery, supra, a transfer. Petitioner's teacher position was abolished pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9 and he was reassigned to another teacher position, but, unlike the petitioner in Carpenito, petitioner herein did in fact suffer a loss of tangible employment benefit, specifically, a reduction in his work year/hours and a concomitant reduction in his annual salary.

Consequently, under the principles articulated by the court in Carpenito, the Board's action herein cannot be deemed to be tantamount to a transfer, but must instead be construed as a reduction in force. Indeed, the parties themselves do not dispute that petitioner's position of Job Placement Coordinator was abolished by the Board pursuant to the authority granted by N.J.S.A. 18A: 28-9 as part of a legitimate reduction in force for reasons of economic efficiency.

The factual circumstances in the instant matter are likewise distinguishable from those in Williams, supra, and Piscataway, supra, again, because the petitioners in those matters were not subjected to a reduction in force pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A: 28-9, as has occurred herein. The petitioner in Williams was transferred by the Board therein from a twelve-month position as principal to a ten-month position as principal because of dissatisfaction with her performance, while the petitioners in Piscataway had their work hours reduced in the absence of an underlying reduction in force so that the board's action was found to have constituted an impermissible alteration of terms and conditions of employment.

As correctly argued by respondent, there is ample case law which supports the proposition that a reduction in a tenured staff member's salary/compensation and benefits is permissible when it is a result of a board's action to effectuate a reduction in force pursuant to its authority under N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9. Thus, it was permissible for respondent in the instant matter to reduce petitioner's annual salary, given that the position to which he was entitled based on his tenure and seniority was a ten-month position as opposed to a twelve-month one as held prior to the reduction in force effectuated by the Board, and particularly in light of the fact that the Board maintained petitioner's rate of salary based on his prior twelve-month position. See Casey v. Board of Education of the Township of Cinnaminson, 95 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 585.

Consequently, the Commissioner concurs with respondent's position that it was appropriate for it to prorate petitioner's salary upon abolishment of his twelve-month position and reassignment to a ten-month position. Accordingly, for the reasons expressed herein, the Commissioner grants summary decision to the City of Trenton Board of Education. [1]

IT IS SO ORDERED.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioning parent alleged respondent Board of Education of the Borough of Roselle Park (Roselle Park) improperly refused to provide or pay for transportation and tuition costs for her minor child to attend the Union County Magnet High School for Science, Mathematics and Technology (Union County Magnet High School). Union County Vocational-Technical Schools Board of Education (UCVTS), which operates the Union County Vocational-Technical Schools, including the Union County Magnet High School, and other parents, on behalf of their respective children who attend the Union County Magnet High School, were permitted to intervene.

At the OAL, intervenor UCVTS moved for summary decision, asserting that N.J.S.A 18A:54-20.1(a) requires respondent Roselle Park to pay the cost of tuition and school transportation for its pupils attending the Union County Magnet High School. The ALJ granted summary decision to UCVTS, concluding that Roselle Park does not maintain a vocational school and N.J.S.A. 18A: 54-20.1(a) requires that county pupils who attend a school of their county vocational school district shall have their tuition and transportation costs paid by their home school district unless that district maintains its own vocational school.

The Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that UCVTS is entitled to summary judgment, finding no evidence that Roselle Park offered a program comparable to that of Union County Magnet High School. Taking judicial notice of the New Jersey Department of Education's Directory of Verified Occupational Educational Programs, the Commissioner found that of the three vocational programs offered by Roselle Park, only one overlapped with the menu of approved vocational programs offered by UCVTS and that program was not the subject of the within controversy. Thus, the Commissioner ordered respondent Roselle Park to pay the tuition and transportation costs for petitioner's child and intervenors' minor children for the respective dates of their attendance.

BEFORE SEBASTIAN GAETA, ALJ:

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On October 24, 1997 D.F., on behalf of her minor child E.F., filed a petition with the Commissioner of Education to hear and determine controversies which had arisen with respondent, the Board of Education of the Borough of Roselle Park (Roselle Park). The issues, as framed by D.F., are:

1. E.F. was accepted for admission to the Union County Magnet High School for Science, Mathematics and Technology, and

2. The Roselle Park Board of Education has refused to transport and pay tuition for said E.F..

D.F. asserted that the refusal by Roselle Park was in direct conflict with N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1 and N.J.A.C. 6:43-3.11.

By separate Orders the Union County Vocational - Technical Schools Board of Education (Union County Vo - Tech) and other parents, on behalf of their respective children who attend the Union County Magnet High School for Science, Mathematics and Technology (Union County Magnet High School), were permitted to intervene pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-16.4.

On October 15, 1998, the Administrative Law Judge Ordered that the respondent, Roselle Park continue to provide school transportation for the children of the petitioner and the intervenor parents to the Union County Magnet School pending decision in this matter.

On April 13, 1999 intervenor, Union County Vo-Tech submitted a Motion for Summary Decision, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5. Respondent, Roselle Park submitted its letter brief in opposition to the Motion for Summary Decision.

Oral argument on the motion was heard on May 14, 1999.

FACTS

The undisputed material facts are:

1. Intervenor Union County Vocational-Technical Schools Board of Education operates the Union County Vocational - Technical Schools, 1776 Raritan Board, Scotch Plains, Union County, New Jersey.

2. The Union County Vocational - Technical Schools includes, inter alia, a Magnet High School of Science, Mathematics and Technology.

3. Respondent Roselle Park Board of Education operates the Roselle Park School District which is situated within the County of Union.

4. The pro se Petitioners herein are students residing in the Roselle Park School District who have applied for, have been accepted to, and who attend the Union County Vocational - Technical Schools Magnet High School, Mathematics and Technology.

5. The Roselle Park School District does not maintain a Vocational School.

6. The Roselle Park District has and continues to pay tuition and transportation costs for all students attending the Union County Vocational - Technical Schools, exclusive of the Magnet High School of Science, Mathematics and Technology.

7. The Roselle Park School District has refused to provide or pay for transportation and tuition for Roselle Park students attending the Union County Vocational - Technical Schools Magnet High School of Science, Mathematics and Technology.

DISCUSSION

Union County Vo -Tech asserts that N.J.S.A. 18A;54-20.1a requires that respondent, Roselle Park pay the cost of tuition and school transportation for its pupils attending the Union County Magnet High School. That statute provides in part:

> The Board of Education of each School District . . . in any County where there is a County Vocational District shall send to any of the Schools of the County Vocational School District each pupil who resides in the School District . . . and who has applied for admission to and has been accepted for attendance at any of the Schools of the County Vocational School District. The Board of Education shall pay tuition for each of these pupils to the County Vocational School District . . . the provisions of this section shall not apply to the Board of Educator of a School District. . . maintaining a Vocational School. . .

Inasmuch as the pupils are attending a county vocational school operated by Union County Vo-Tech and Roselle Park does not maintain its own vocational school, Union County Vo-Tech, on behalf of itself and the pro se parties, contend that the operation of the statute clearly requires respondent to pay the tuition and transportation costs of these pupils.

Roselle Park opposes summary decision. It argues that there are material issues of fact whether the Union County Magnet High School offers a true vocational program and qualifies as a county vocational school for which a board of education, without its own vocational school, must pay the costs of its pupils who attend that school. If the Union County Magnet High School does not qualify, then N.J.A.C. 6:43-3.11(a) applies. That regulation provides:

> (a) Pupils shall be permitted to enroll in programs of vocational instruction offered by district boards of education other than their resident district so long as the resident district board of education does not offer a comparable type of program and space is available for additional enrollees in the programs offered by the receiving district board of education

In his affidavit, William Clarke, Superintendent of Schools for Roselle Park School District states:

> I have reviewed the various course curriculae of both the Magnet School and the Roselle Park School District. The Roselle Park School district's curriculum provides more than a comparable program to that provided by the Magnet School and therefore, according to law, the Roselle Park School District does not have to send its students to the Magnet School.

A summary decision in administrative law cases under N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5 are essentially the same as for summary judgment in Superior Court. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b); See Judson v. People's Bank & Trust Co., 17 N.J. 67 (1954).

I CONCLUDE there is no genuine issue of fact and summary decision is appropriate.

Although there may be an issue of fact as to whether the Union County Magnet High School comports with the statutory standards and expectations for a county vocational school, any such issue does not affect the resolution of this matter.

N.J.S.A. 18A;54-20.1 requires that county pupils, who attend a school of their county vocational school district, shall have their tuition paid by their home school district, unless their home school district maintains its own vocational school.

Respondent, Roselle Park does not maintain a vocational school and the clear mandate of the statute requires that it pay tuition (and transportation) for the children of the intervenor parents who attend the Union County Magnet High School, operated by its County Vocational District. Any challenge that the Union County Magnet High School is not providing an appropriate vocational education is properly directed to the Commissioner of Education. Should the Commissioner agree, it is within the authority of the Commissioner to require that the Union County Magnet School conform its curricula to provide an appropriate vocational education.

ORDER

It is ORDERED that respondent, Board of Education of the Borough of Roselle Park, Union County pay the tuition and transportation costs for the minor child of petitioner and the minor children of the intervenor parents for the respective periods such children may attend the Union County Magnet High School.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

The record of this matter and the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Respondent's exceptions and a reply submitted on behalf of Intervenor Board of Education of the Union County Vocational-Technical Schools (UCVTS) are duly noted as submitted in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4.

Respondent maintains that the UCVTS failed to meet the standards necessary to support a motion for summary decision, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5, contending, inter alia, that there is a disputed issue of material fact as to whether it is mandated by law to pay tuition and transportation costs for its students attending the magnet school. (Respondent's Brief in Support of Exceptions at pp. 4, 5) In this regard, respondent posits that the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) failed to consider the factual disputes set forth in its prior argument raised before the OAL: namely, the UCVTS Magnet High School program does not fall within the definition of "vocational education," in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:54-1, and, therefore, neither N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1(a) nor N.J.A.C. 6:43-3.11 is applicable. Further, since the ALJ did not determine whether the UCVTS Magnet High School program falls within the statutory definition of "vocational education," respondent reasons that the ALJ improperly applied N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1(a), "since [the] statute requires payment for students attending a vocational program." (Id. at p. 5) Here, respondent > readily admits that Magnet Schools are not "inherently" outside of the definition of vocational education. Likewise, Respondent submits that Magnet Schools are not automatically found to be within the statutory definition of vocational education. In the present case, there is at least a factual dispute as to whether Intervenor  has properly linked its program to "advance preparation in specified vocational-technical fields." Respondent will present, and presently submits through the attached Affidavit of William Clarke,  testimony and documentary evidence indicating that Intervenor's Magnet School has represented itself as providing a program "that will prepare the graduate for a four-year baccalaureate degree program," without reference to "advance preparation in specified vocational/technical fields." (Respondent's Exceptions, Tab 1 at pp. 11-12, citing to portions of M.R., by his guardian ad litem, J.N., AND K.K., by his guardian ad litem, F.K. v. Board of Education of the Borough of Pompton Lakes, Passaic County, Commissioner Decision, July 29, 1997, remanded State Board of Education December 3, 1997)

Respondent additionally contends that its curriculum provides "more than a comparable program to that provided by the Magnet School and therefore, according to law, the Roselle Park School District does not have to send its students to the Magnet School." (Affidavit of William Clarke, Superintendent of Schools for the Roselle Park School District (Clarke Affidavit), Respondent's Exceptions, Tab 2 at p.2) That this issue remains a disputed material fact, is, according to respondent, reason to dismiss Intervenor UCVTS's Motion for Summary Decision. (Respondent's Brief in Support of Exceptions at p. 7)

In reply, the UCVTS asserts that the ALJ's decision was both straightforward and correct. The UCVTS reasons that, since it operates, as one of its schools, a Magnet High School for Science, Mathematics and Technology, N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1(a) mandates that respondent bear the tuition and transportation costs for those students who are accepted into its programs. The UCVTS recognizes that "[t]he sole exception would be if the sending District had its own Vocational School, which Roselle Park indisputably does not." (Intervenor's Reply at p. 1) The UCVTS urges, therefore, that the initial decision be affirmed in all respects.

Upon careful and independent review, the Commissioner concurs that Intervenor UCVTS is entitled to summary decision. As the parties note, petitioner's entitlement to attend the magnet school in question would be prohibited if the respondent Board offered "a comparable type of program." (N.J.A.C. 6:43-3.11(a)) In this analysis, the Commissioner takes judicial notice of the New Jersey Department of Education's Directory of Verified Occupational Education Programs, as revised for 1995, PTM No. 1123.00, which indicates, at page 38, that the respondent Board offers three vocational programs, approved in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6:43-8.1 et seq. Only one of those programs, Office Systems Technology, overlaps with the menu of approved vocational programs offered by the UCVTS.[1] Clearly, as the record herein indicates, the program in Office Systems Technology is not the program which is the subject of the within controversy, as offered through the Union County Magnet High School for Science, Mathematics and Technology.[2] Thus, notwithstanding respondent's assertion that it offers a "comparable program" to that of the magnet high school, there is no evidence that such a program has been so approved. Respondent cannot, therefore, invoke N.J.A.C. 6:43-3.11(a) to prevent petitioner from attending the Union County Magnet High School for Science, Mathematics and Technology,[3] and summary judgment, therefore, is properly granted to Intervenor UCVTS.

Accordingly, the initial decision of the ALJ is adopted for the reasons expressed therein and amplified above. Respondent is hereby ordered to pay the tuition and transportation costs for E.F., petitioner's minor child, as well as the minor children of the Intervenor parents for the respective periods of their attendance.[4]

IT IS SO ORDERED.

[1] Although the UCVTS identifies its program as "Word Processing," both the UCVTS program and the vocational program offered by the Roselle Park Borough School District carry the same Classification of Instructional Programs (CIP) code, 520401, and are, therefore, "comparable."

[2] It is noted that petitioner refers to the program as "Engineering and Design Technology." (Petition of Appeal at p. 2) Additionally, in the appendix to the Clarke Affidavit, the magnet high school's program is identified as including four years of laboratory science, four years of mathematics and four years of technology offerings, referenced as "Computer Aided Drafting and Design." (Clarke Affidavit, Appendix, at pp. 1, 4)

[3] However, respondent may arguably pre-empt a student's entitlement to attend the vocational program in Word Processing operated by the UCVTS.

[4] This decision, as the Commissioner's final determination in the instant matter, may be appealed to the State Board of Education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-27 et seq. and N.J.A.C. 6:2-1.1 et seq., within 30 days of its filing. Commissioner decisions are deemed filed three days after the date of mailing to the parties.

State-Operated School District for the City of Newark,

Respondent.

STIPULATION OF SETTLEMENT, WAIVER AND RELEASE

The State-Operated School District of the City of Newark ("Newark" or "District") and Fatemah Firoz ("Petitioner" or "Firoz") agree to the following terms in full resolution of this matter:

WHEREAS, Firoz disputes the bases for the increment withholding for the 1997-1998 school year, and

WHEREAS, Firoz also has outstanding litigation entitled Fatemah Firoz v. State-Operated School District for the City of Newark, OAL Docket No. EDUOR 11656-98N, Agency

Ref. No. 496-11/98, which is an appeal from an increment withholding for the 1998-1999 school year, and

WHEREAS, in November 1997 Firoz filed an EEOC Charge of Discrimination against Respondent District, and

WHEREAS, the parties further agree that it is in the public interest to enter into this agreement in resolution of said charges in order to avoid the uncertainty and expense of litigation,

NOW, THEREFORE, the parties agree as follows:

1. Upon approval of this Agreement, Firoz will withdraw her appeals of the 1997-1998 and 1998-99 increment withholdings, with prejudice.

2. The 1998-1999 increment withholding shall remain in effect until the end of the 1998-1999 school year, at which time Newark will review Firoz' observations and evaluations. If Firoz' annual summative evaluation reflects a satisfactory rating, Firoz shall be placed back on the appropriate level of the salary guide, effective September 1, 1999, as if neither increment (for the 1997-1998 and 1998-1999 school years) withholding had occurred. If her 1998-1999 annual summative evaluation reflects a satisfactory rating, Firoz will also have her 1998-1999 increment retroactively restored to September 1, 1998.

3. Upon request, the District will provide Firoz with resources during the remainder of the 1998-1999 school year, towards the goal of enabling Firoz to achieve a satisfactory level of performance, and will work cooperatively with Firoz, towards the goal of her achieving a satisfactory level of performance, which will benefit both parties in this matter. The District will not issue a 90-day inefficiency charge during this period, pending the results of Firoz' annual summative evaluation.

4. Upon approval of this Agreement, Firoz will withdraw her EEOC complaint of November 1997, and any pending matter in the New Jersey Division on Civil Rights, with prejudice, and will release any and all claims of discrimination she may have for any act or omission through the date of this Agreement.

This agreement is subject to the approval of the State District Superintendent and the Commissioner of Education.

ORDER DENYING MOTION FOR EMERGENT RELIEF

OAL DKT. NO. EDU 4490-99

AGENCY DKT. NO. 157-6/99

FRED M. SCHIAVONE CONSTRUCTION., INC.,

Petitioner,

v.

KINGSWAY BOARD OF EDUCATION and OGREN CONSTRUCTION COMPANY,

Respondents.

Charles R. Ianuzzi, Esq., for petitioner

Raymond Zane, Esq., for respondent Ocean Township School (Zane & Lozuke, attorneys)

Nathan Van Embden, Esq., for respondent Ogren Construction

BEFORE JOHN R. TASSINI, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner Fred M. Schiavone Construction, Inc., alleges that it is the lowest responsible bidder for public work to be performed for respondent Kingsway Board of Education (BOE). Petitioner claims that the BOE wrongfully awarded a contract for such work to respondent Ogren Construction and petitioner claims that it should be awarded the contract. Petitioner moves for emergent relief, i.e., orders restraining respondents from proceeding with activities and work pursuant to such award.

Respondents deny that the BOE acted improperly and they submit that petitioner has failed to meet its burden for emergent relief. More particularly, respondent Ogren submits that petitioner's bid for the BOE's contract, if added to petitioner's uncompleted contracts, would have exceeded its (petitioner's) classification and aggregate rating limit, so that it appeared that petitioner was not capable of performing the BOE's contract work, the contract should not have been awarded to petitioner and the BOE lawfully awarded the contract to it (Ogren). See N.J.S.A. 18A:18A-1 et seq., N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.5, N.J.S.A. 52:35-1 et seq., N.J.A.C. 17:19-1.1 et seq.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On June 11, 1999, petitioner's verified petition, notice of motion, exhibits, etc., were filed with the Department of Education. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9. The Department transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) where, on June 15, 1996, it was filed as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-2(b). On June 25, 1999, respondent Ogren's papers in opposition to the motion were filed in the OAL. On June 25, 1999, the motion was heard in the OAL in Trenton (Hamilton Township).

FINDINGS OF FACT

The BOE advertised for bids for construction (additions and renovation) on its school buildings by way of five prime contracts: 1. general construction, site work, and all work not included in other contracts; 2. heating, ventilation and air conditioning; 3. electrical; 4. plumbing, drainage and fire protection; and 5. structural and steel. General construction was to begin July 19, 1999. Bidders were required to list the total amount of uncompleted contracts. The BOE made bid information and forms available, including a from entitled, "Total of Uncompleted Contracts". Bids and three bid alternates were to be submitted by May 18, 1999. P-1, P-A.

Effective March 5, 1999, petitioner's rating limit classification for bidding on public contracts was $7,000,000. See N.J.S.A. 52:35-1 et seq., N.J.A.C. 17:19-1.1 et seq.

Petitioner timely submitted the following: base bid: $4,797,691, alternate 1: add $170,230, alternate 2: add $92,555, and alternate 3: add $31,000; for a total of $5,091,476. P-1, P-A, RO-1. On the "Total of Uncompleted Contracts" form, petitioner certified that its amount of uncompleted work on contracts was $1,888,517 (the amount was entered over "white-out"). P-C, RBOE-1. Respondent Ogren timely submitted the following: base bid: $4,876,000, alternate 1: $166,000, alternate 2: $90,000, alternate 3: $31,0000; for a total of $5,163,000. P-D. During the argument of this motion, the parties stipulated that petitioner's was the lowest bid and Ogren's was next lowest.

During the argument of this motion, petitioner represented that, on May 18, 1999, the BOE's architect telephoned Fred Schiavone, petitioner's president, and advised him that petitioner was the low bidder. However, the BOE represented that, seeing the petitioner's bid papers, e.g., the whited-cut amount of uncompleted work on contracts, and knowing that petitioner was involved in other substantial construction projects, the BOE's employees and architect were concerned that the award of the BOE's contract could exceed petitioner's rating limit, so they made inquiries in that regard.

Following the BOE's inquiries, by letter dated May 24, 1999, the North Wildwood Board of Education advised Andrew Eubanks, the BOE's business administrator, that petitioner had $1,000,274 in uncompleted contract work due to that district. RBOE-2. And, by FAXed message dated May 25, 1999, the Gloucester County Special Services School District advised Mr. Eubanks that petitioner had a total contract of $4,425,200 on which there were payments of $1,184,736, leaving a balance of $3,240,264. RBOE-3.

Mr. Schiavone alleges that, on June 1, 1999, Mr. Eubanks contacted him and advised him of the following: The BOE needed documentation relative to petitioner's statement of the total of uncompleted contracts and he (Eubanks) had contacted the Gloucester County Special Services School and North Wildwood in that regard. P-1.

Mr. Schiavone also alleges that, on the morning of June 1, 1999, petitioner forwarded a letter to Mr. Eubanks' attention:

> We understand that some question has been raised concerning the amount of our Total Amount of Uncompleted Contracts form submitted with our bid . . . . We provided no specific clarification with the bid because the documents indicate that any modifications or clarification shall be a basis for rejection of the proposal. In accordance with [N.J.A.C.] 17:19-2.12(b) . . . this letter shall serve as clarification of how we computed our Total of Uncompleted Contracts.

The Supplementary General Conditions, 02000 clearly indicate that the building pad is to be completed by the Site Contractor, no later that July 19, 1999. Therefore were will not be able to start our work until the pad is finished. Please refer to [N.J.A.C.] 17:19-2.12(c)1. which states ". . . where a contractor provides with its bid clear and convincing evidence that its outstanding balance of contracts will be within its aggregate rating limit by the time the bid project is scheduled to begin, the duration of the bid project and the risk that the State will encounter if the bid is accepted." As previously stated we could not submit any clarification with the bid as it would serve as a basis for rejection. Furthermore, [N.J.A.C.] 17:19-2.11(b) states "Where there is a question whether a contractor's aggregate rating limit can accommodate a given award, the contractor's bid for the contract shall be opened in the normal course, and the contractor's eligibility shall thereafter be computed.

In a telephone conversation with Mr. Charles Chell of the State of New Jersey Department of Treasury, Contractor Classification, . . . he confirmed that the Total Amount of Uncompleted Contracts form is to include only the actual cost to finish the project without overhead, profit or other indirect costs. I also discussed our most recent classification and the new evaluation procedures. Effective May 25, 1999 he raised our aggregate amount to $9,000,000.00 and he agreed to review our classification further if we submit additional documentation. Although the increased aggregate amount of our classification was not in effect as of the bid date, you can see that we did comply with the State requirements and the intent of the law at the time of the bid. Furthermore, we are bonded to $15,000,000.00 and Fred M. Schiavone is both qualified and capable of performing the General Construction work on your project. We look forward to working with you.

[P-E, emphasis added.]

During the argument of this motion, the BOE represented that, before the BOE's June 1, 1999 meeting - during which it would determine what bid would be accepted, Terrence Crowley, the BOE's superintendent of schools, advised Mr. Schiavone that, because of petitioner's uncompleted contract work, including that for North Wildwood and Gloucester County, petitioner was "in trouble." However, Mr. Schiavone denies that this occurred.

During the BOE's June 1, 1999 meeting, the BOE determined that petitioner was not the lowest responsible bidder and the BOE awarded the contract to Ogren. P-1. (The minutes of the BOE's meeting are not yet available.)

In petitioner's motion papers, petitioner's attorney represents that, on June 2, 1999, he contacted Mr. Eubanks and requested an explanation as to why petitioner had been disqualified and that Mr. Eubanks advised him that the BOE determined that petitioner's total of uncompleted contracts as of the bid date exceeded its aggregate amount available, i.e., $7,000,000. (Petitioner's Brief, ¶11.)

During the argument of this motion, petitioner represented that, on or about June 7, 1999, it had forwarded to the BOE a demand for a "responsibility hearing" to fairly determine whether it was capable of performing the BOE's contract work in addition to its uncompleted contract work.

During the argument of this motion, Ogren represented that, to perform the BOE's work in a timely manner, it has already entered into contracts to purchase materials, retain consultants, etc.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Public contracts laws are intended to encourage competition, guard against favoritism, improvidence, extravagance or corruption and obtain the best economic result for taxpayers. See Pucillo v. Mayor of New Milford, 73 N.J. 349, 356 (1977); Terminal Constr. Corp. v. Atlantic County Sewerage Auth., 67 N.J. 403, 409-10 (1975); In re On-Line Games Contract, 279 N.J. Super. 566, 589 (App. Div. 1995); A & S Transp. Co. v. Bergen County Sewer Auth., 133 N.J. Super. 266, 276 (Law Div.), aff'd, 135 N.J. Super. 117 (App. Div. 1975); Pied Piper Ice Cream v. Essex Cty. Park Comm., 132 N.J.Super. 480 (App. Div. 1975); In re DBC Project No. A0716-00, 303 N.J. Super. 384 (App. Div. 1997).

Consistent with the above principles, the Public School Contracts Law provides that a contract for work on a board of education project "shall be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder." N.J.S.A. 18A:18A-1 et seq. See particularly N.J.S.A. 18A:18A-37.

Consistent with the statutory requirement of award to the "lowest responsible bidder," the BOE required that bidders complete the "Total of Uncompleted Contracts" form, i.e. to demonstrate that they are capable of performing the BOE's contractual work. N.J.S.A. 18A:18A-27. See also, Bodies by Lembo, supra, 286 N.J. Super. at 305, citing D. Stamato & Co. v. Township of Vernon, 131 N.J. Super. 151, 157 (App. Div. 1974).

Statutory bid specifications have been described as mandatory and jurisdictional and a public entity may not waive a material or substantial variance between the conditions under which the bids were invited and the proposals submitted. A party who has failed to materially respond to such specifications may not be classified as a bidder, a bidder for a public contract who failed to comply with bid specifications may lack standing to bring a claim to upset the award of a contract to another bidder who did comply. Standing to bring a claim should be confirmed before proceeding to a decision on a claim's merits. See Travis v. Borough of Highlands, 136 N.J.L. 199, 201 (Sup. Ct. 1947), and Watkins v. Resorts International Hotel & Casino, 124 N.J. 398, 418 (1991); Bodies by Lembo, Inc., 286 N.J. Super. 298, 305 (App. Div. 1996). See also In re On-Line Games Contract, supra, 279 N.J. Super. at 589-90; In re Award of Contract for Constr. of Bayonne Park, 168 N.J. Super. 33, 39 (App. Div. 1979).

Rules governing classification and qualification of bidders provide that, in order to be an eligible bidder for a public contract, a contractor must receive from the Division of Building and Construction a valid classification and rating. N.J.A.C. 17:19-2.11.

The rules provide further:

> (a) A contractor shall not be awarded a contract which, when added to the uncompleted portions of all other currently held contracts from whatever source (public or private) sources, would exceed the contractor's aggregate rating limit. . . .
>
> (b) Where there is a question of whether a contractor's aggregate rating limit can accommodate a given award, the contractor's bid for the contract shall be opened in the normal course, and the contractor's eligibility shall thereafter be computed.
>
> (c) A contractor shall include with each bid a statement of the current value and status of its uncompleted work, and whether the award of the given contract would exceed the aggregate rating limit. Whether a contract is eligible for a given award shall be determined based on the dollar value of the contractor's uncompleted contract work as the bid due date.
>
> 1. However, where a contractor provides with its bid clear and convincing evidence that its outstanding balance of contracts will be within its aggregate rating limit by the time the bid project is scheduled to begin, the Director [of the DBC] shall base this determination on the complexity of the bid project, the duration of the bid project and the risk that the State will encounter if the bid is accepted.
>
> . . .
>
> (e) As a contractor completes existing contracts or discrete portions thereof, the contractor's eligibility for new contracts within its existing aggregate rating shall be adjusted accordingly.
> N.J.A.C. 17:19-2.12, emphasis added.]

Consistent with the general presumption that public entities act lawfully and in good faith, a BOE is presumed to have acted properly in exercising its discretion in awarding a public contract, a reviewing court will not substitute its judgment for that of a governing body that has exercised its discretion in awarding a public contract and the party that claims that a public entity acted unlawfully in determining a bidder unqualified or rejecting a bid for a public contract, a claimant must prove that public entity's action was arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable. Bodies by Lembo, Inc., 286 N.J. Super. 298, 309 (App. Div. 1996); In re On-Line Games Contract, supra, 279 N.J. Super. at 590, Colonnelli Bros., Inc. v. Ridgefield Park, 284 N.J. Super. 538, 541 (App. Div.), certif. denied, 143 N.J. 327 (1995). See also Van Itallie v. Franklin Lakes, 28 N.J. 258, 269 (1958); Fitzpatrick v. Civil Serv. Comm'n, 91 N.J. Super. 535, 539 (App. Div. 1966).

To succeed in a motion for a temporary restraint and interlocutory injunction, the movant must show, among other thiings, that, if the relief is not granted, it will suffer immediate and irreparable harm, i.e., that money damages would not be adequate compensation, and that, when the case is fully heard, it will probably succeed in its claim. See, e.g., N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.6; R. 4:52-1; Crowe v. DeGoia, 90 N.J. 126, 132-134 (1982).

In petitioner's representations (June 1, 1999 letter) relative to the total of its uncompleted contracts, contrary to the rules governing classification and qualification of bidders, instead of listing contract value as of the bid date (May 18, 1999), petitioner credited itself for "projected billing[s]", etc., up to and including July 1999. See N.J.A.C. 17:19-2.12. Even petitioner's figures: $1,938,633, as "Total Uncompleted Contracts," plus its $5,091,476, total bid on the BOE's project, give a sum ($7,030,109) which exceeds petitioner's $7,000,000 classification limit submitted with its bid. See P-B, P-E, RO-1. Also, the BOE had reports that petitioner had $1,000,274 in uncompleted contract work for North Wildwood and $3,240,264 in uncompleted work for Gloucester County and those amounts added to petitioner's $5,091,476, total bid on the BOE's project, give a sum ($9,332,014) which exceed petitioner's classification limit submitted after the submission of the bid and that alleged in the June 1, 1999 letter. RBOE-2, RBOE-3.

Given these circumstances, the BOE was reasonably concerned about petitioner's total of uncompleted contracts and its ability to perform and it cannot be said now that when the case is fully heard petitioner will probably succeed in its charge that the BOE acted in an arbitrary capricious and unreasonable way. To the contrary, it appears that petitioner failed to fairly meet the BOE's requirement of submitting a bid, properly listing the total amount of uncompleted contracts. That is to say, petitioner fails to meet its burden of proof for issuance of restraints.

ORDER

Consistent with the above, I DENY the motion for emergent relief.

The parties may serve discovery requests and a telephone conference to discuss the progress of the case and hearing dates will be set.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five (45) days following the entry of this order. If the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five (45) days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE HUDSON COUNTY AREA VOCATIONAL-TECHNICAL SCHOOLS, HUDSON COUNTY,

Respondent.

Alexander W Booth, Esq., for petitioner
(Brownstein, Booth & Barry, attorneys)

Horatius A. Greene, II, Esq., for respondent
(Winkler, Bevacqua, Greene, attorneys)

Record Closed: May 20, 1999 Decided: June 1, 1999

BEFORE ARNOLD SAMUELS, ALJ:

On May 19, 1997, the petitioner, Elbert Smith, filed a Verified Petition with the Commissioner of Education contesting the action of respondent, Board of Education of Hudson County Vocational Technical Schools, seeking to suspend the petitioner without pay for a period of 120 days, effective March 1, 1997.

The 120 day suspension represented the respondent's implementation of a prior decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) dated June 6, 1996, affirmed by the Commissioner of Education on July 26, 1996. That decision resulted from a contested tenure charge case that was initiated by respondent against petitioner in March 1994. The Final Decision ordered the petitioner to forfeit the 120 days pay that was withheld during his suspension, which began at the time the tenure charges were filed. However, the respondent did not seek to implement the aforementioned order for five or six months after the final decision was rendered and the petitioner returned to work.

In March 1997 the petitioner filed a verified complaint in lieu of prerogative writ in the Superior Court of New Jersey, Law Division, seeking to enjoin the respondent from suspending him for the 120 days referred to above. In addition, the complaint alleged that, after his return to employment following the tenure charge decision, petitioner was reassigned to an undesirable and unsafe position at the Hudson County Youth Correctional Facility.

On March 26, 1997 an Order was filed in the Superior Court of New Jersey transferring the matter to the OAL (through the State Department of Education) on jurisdictional grounds. The petition subsequently filed with the Commissioner of Education on June 27, 1997 solely appealed the respondent's action relating to the 120 day suspension. The petitioner asserted that he was not given proper notice of the Board of Education's hearing that implemented the suspension, and further stating that the Board's action was untimely. The issue relating to petitioner's placement in the Hudson County Juvenile Detention Center was omitted. On August 7, 1997 the Commissioner of Education transmitted the matter to the OAL for hearing and determination as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to 13.

A hearing was scheduled for May 19, 1998. The hearing was converted to a prehearing conference, and the plenary hearing was rescheduled to October 30, 1998. On that day the parties and their attorneys conferred for purposes of settlement; and an agreement was reached.

However, in subsequent correspondence, the petitioner expressed reservations and rejected the settlement. Another settlement conference was scheduled for December 29, 1998. Further discussions held on that date resulted in the petitioner's unqualified acceptance of the settlement. Mr. Smith agreed, on the record and under oath, that he voluntarily and knowingly accepted each term of the agreement. The terms of the settlement were incorporated into a written settlement agreement dated May 12, 1999 and signed by the petitioner. A copy of the settlement agreement is attached hereto and made a part hereof.

Having reviewed and considered the issues involved in this dispute, it is CONCLUDED that the parties have voluntarily and knowingly agreed to the settlement, as evidenced by the attached agreement. It is further CONCLUDED that the settlement is fair and fully dispositive of all issues in controversy.

It is therefore ORDERED that the settlement be approved and that this matter be DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

SYNOPSIS

The petitioning Board sought an order withholding the September 10, 1998-November 8, 1998 salary of respondent for neglect of or failure to perform duties and an order suspending respondent's teaching certificates for one year pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A: 26-10.

The ALJ concluded that respondent effectively abandoned or refused to perform her assigned work duties, thereby constructively abandoning her employment without the sixty days' notice required by her employment contract, and that, pursuant to *N.J.S.A.*18A: 26-10, respondent's teaching certificates should be suspended for one year for her unprofessional conduct.

The Commissioner affirmed the recommended decision of the ALJ for the reasons stated therein, suspending respondent's teaching certificates for one year from the date of this decision and authorizing the Board to withhold from respondent any unpaid compensation for service on and after September 10, 1998.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF LAWNSIDE,

Petitioner,

v.

JULIA HANKERSON,

Respondent.

Harvey C. Johnson, Esq., for petitioner

Julia Hankerson, respondent, pro se

Record Closed: May 14, 1999 Decided: June 1, 1999

BEFORE BRUCE R. CAMPBELL, ALJ:

The Lawnside Borough Board of Education (Board) sought an order withholding the September 10 - November 8, 1998 salary of Julia Hankerson, respondent, for neglect of or failure to perform duties and an order suspending the respondent's teaching certificates for one year pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10. Julia Hankerson, respondent, resisted and denied all allegations on which the Board rested its case and asked that the petition of appeal be dismissed.

The matter was opened before the Commissioner of Education and transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 through -13. Upon receipt of the file, I wrote to the Board's counsel and the respondent on January 5, 1999:

> This matter has been set down for hearing on Friday, May 14, 1999, at 9 a.m. at the Office of Administrative Law, 9 Quakerbridge Plaza, Mercerville.
> Enclosed are two standing prehearing orders. Please note their provisions as all parties are required to abide by them as well as all discovery requirements. See, Notice of Filing previously mailed to you and N.J.A.C. 1:1-10.1 through -10.6.

The Office of the Clerk prepared and sent hearing notices to the parties consistent with the judge's January 5, 1999 letter.

On May 12, 1999, the respondent called the Office of the Clerk stating she would not appear on May 14 and had no interest in the outcome of the case. The respondent called the judge the following day and made essentially the same statements.

I FIND and CONCLUDE that Julia Hankerson has abandoned defense of this matter. I further FIND that the respondent was employed by the Lawnside Board of Education as a social worker for the 1998-99 school year; on September 9, 1998, the Board approved the recommendation of its superintendent to terminate the respondent's employment upon sixty days' notice pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:27-5; the Board required that Hankerson perform her duties during the sixty-day period in order to receive her salary; the respondent refused to perform her duties and sat at her desk calling friends, doing personal business, handling outside social evaluations that she was performing for other employees and the like; the respondent disrupted the work of other members of the child study team by singing in a loud voice while sitting at her desk; the respondent further disrupted work of the child study team by shredding without authorization parts of student files that are needed for evaluations and the respondent has constructively abandoned her employment with the Board without providing sixty days' notice in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10.

Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that Julia Hankerson has effectively abandoned or refused to perform duties and has thereby constructively abandoned her employment without provision of sixty days' notice as required by her employment contract.

I further FIND and CONCLUDE that N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 provides

> Any teaching staff member employed by a board of education, who shall, without the consent of the board, cease to perform his duties before the expiration of the term of his employment, shall be deemed guilty of unprofessional conduct, and the commissioner may, upon receiving notice thereof, suspend his certificate for a period not exceeding one year.

Accordingly, I ORDER the teaching certificates of Julia Hankerson suspended for one year from the date of final decision in this matter pursuant to the provisions of N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10.

I further ORDER that, if the respondent received no compensation for service on and after September 10, 1998, that the Lawnside Board of Education not remit to her any monies therefor.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed.[1] No exceptions were filed by the parties.

Upon his independent review of the record, the Commissioner agrees with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) that respondent has effectively abandoned or refused to perform her assigned work duties, thereby constructively abandoning her employment without the sixty days' notice required by her employment contract. He further concurs with the ALJ that, pursuant to N.J.S.A.. 18A:26-10, respondent's teaching certificates should be suspended for one year for her unprofessional conduct.

Accordingly, the recommended decision of the OAL is affirmed for the reasons stated therein. The teaching certificates of Julia Hankerson are hereby suspended for one year from the date of this decision. Further, the Board is authorized to withhold from respondent any unpaid compensation for service on and after September 10, 1998.[2]

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Record Closed: May 12, 1999 Decided: June 3, 1999

BEFORE BARBARA A. HARNED, CHIEF ALJ:

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on August 21, 1998, for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

On December 10, 1998, the parties reached a settlement agreement which was placed on the record on that day. Subsequently the parties prepared and signed a Stipulation of Settlement indicating the terms thereof, which is attached and fully incorporated herein.

I have reviewed the record and the terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

3. The settlement is in the public interest in light of the Board's wish to provide a reasonable accommodation to Mr. Reid's handicap and to avoid the expenses of litigation. In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Kenneth Smith, School District of the City of Orange, Essex County, decided by the Commissioner, April 7, 1982, affirmed State Board of Education, April 6, 1983, 1990 S.L.D. 842, 846.

This Stipulation of Settlement is made by and between John Reid, Jr. (hereinafter "Mr. Reid") who resides at 339 74th Street, North Bergen, New Jersey, and the Board of Education of the Township of North Bergen (hereinafter "the Board"). In consideration of the mutual promises and undertakings contained in this Agreement, and for good and valuable consideration, the receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, the undersigned state:

WHEREAS, Mr. Reid has been employed as a custodian/boilerman by the Board since 1984; and

WHEREAS, the Board certified tenure charges against Mr. Reid to the Commissioner of Education by resolution of June 30, 1998; and

WHEREAS, the tenure charges against Mr. Reid allege unbecoming conduct by virtue of excessive absenteeism, conviction of a Class A Misdemeanor in the State of New York and dereliction of duties; and

WHEREAS, the parties agree that Mr. Reid's excessive and unbcoming conduct were caused, in part, by Mr. Reid's substance abuse; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Reid has expressed his willingness to enter a substance abuse rehabilitation program; and

WHEREAS, the Board is desirous of making a reasonable accommodation to Mr. Reid's handicap, i.e., substance addiction; and,

WHEREAS, Mr. Reid pled guilty to a Class A Misdemeanor and the parties agree that the offense does not constitute an offense which would require forfeiture pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2;

IT IS on this 28th day of April, 1999, agreed that:

1. Upon the approval of this Agreement by the Commissioner of Education, the Board shall impose a four-week unpaid suspension upon Mr. Reid. During said suspension, Mr. Reid shall not use any vacation, personal or sick leave in order to receive compensation from the Board. The time will not count toward any charge of excessive absenteeism which may be brought against Mr. Reid in the future. The unpaid suspension shall be imposed when the Commissioner approves the parties' settlement.

2. Mr. Reid shall attend a substance abuse treatment program on an in-patient or out-patient basis. The determination as to whether Mr. Reid attends on an in-patient or out-patient basis shall be made by the substance abuse treatment center. A copy of the written determination of the center shall be sent to the Board.

3. Mr. Reid shall participate in an on-going drug rehabilitation program, such as Narcotics Anonymous, on a continuing basis.

4. This Agreement is a last chance for Mr. Reid. The parties agree that no further opportunities for assistance with a disability shall be granted by the Board as Mr. Reid consents and agrees to a last chance document. The parties agree that the Board has on a previous occasion granted to Mr. Reid the requested and necessary accommodation to assist Mr. Reid with his disability and to improve his employment performance. Any future chronic absenteeism shall result in tenure charges being filed by the Board. In the case of Mr. Reid, chronic absenteeism shall be defined as follows:

(a) For six (6) months subsequent to Mr. Reid's return from the four (4) week unpaid suspension referred to in paragraph 1 above, other than employer-approved vacation days or employer-approved personal days, Mr. Reid shall not be absent without a doctor's note (medical evidence of illness). An absence without such a doctor's note shall be considered an unexcused absence and shall be cause for termination.

(b) After the expiration of the six (6) months referred to in 4(a) above, Mr. Reid shall have no more than three (3) unexcused absences per year.

(c) The failure to report for work without calling in shall be considered an unexcused absence.

5. The Board agrees to withdraw, without prejudice, the tenure charges which it certified to the Commissioner of Education and which form the basis of In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of John Reid, Jr. and The School District of the Township of North Bergen, Agency Ref. No. 373-8/98, O.A.L. Docket No. EDU 7623-98N, subject to the terms of this Agreement.

6. Mr. Reid agrees to waive and abandon any claims, counterclaims or actions which he may have against the Board and/or its officers, agents or representatives relating to or arising out of the proceeding entitled, In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of John Reid, Jr. and The School District of the Township of North Bergen, Agency Ref. No. 373-8/98, O.A.L. Docket No. EDU 7623-98N, and/or the facts underlying said proceeding.

7. The parties agree that the pursuit of this litigation through plenary hearing is not in the best interests of the students, parents or the community of the petitioner school district because litigation would entail the expense of public funds with the possible result being a 120-day suspension or an increment withholding because of Mr. Reid's handicap (drug addition) and the Board's desire to afford Mr. Reid a reasonable accommodation. Rather, this settlement is in the best interest of all concerned, and, in particular, is in the public interest. The parties have assiduously attempted to meet standards set forth In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Frank Cardonick, 1982 S.L.D. ___ (Commissioner of Education, April 7, 1982), aff'd. 1983 S.L.D. ___ (State Board, April 6, 1983).

8. Both parties have each had independent legal representation. They both fully understand the terms and conditions set forth in this Agreement as well as their respective rights to litigate the issues in this case with a final decision to be made by the Commissioner of Education as an alternative to settlement. The decision to enter into this Agreement rather than to avail themselves of the right to litigate has been made of their own free will without duress or coercion.

9. The parties acknowledge that this settlement must be recommended by the Honorable Barbara Harned, A.L.J. and approved by the Commissioner of Education. In the event such approvals are not forthcoming, the parties will be returned to the status quo pending at the time when this settlement was adopted, and this Agreement shall be null and void.

10. The stipulations and agreements set forth in this documents are made as part of this settlement. In the event this settlement is not approved by the appropriate authorities, it is agreed that nothing set forth herein may be used as evidence in any subsequent proceedings.

11. All terms of this Agreement are material and shall be subject to the laws of the State of New Jersey.

12. The parties signing below hereby acknowledge that they have been duly authorized to enter into this Agreement. A copy of the Board's resolution is attached hereto.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties have hereunto set their hands and seals the date and year aforesaid.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE :

HEARING OF TIMOTHY KASONY, : COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE TOWNSHIP : DECISION ON REMAND

OF LAWRENCE, MERCER COUNTY. :

Board certified tenure charges of incapacity and excessive absenteeism against respondent custodian.

Parties initially agreed to a settlement, which was rejected by the Commissioner. Matter was remanded for either revision of settlement agreement, mutual consent to hold matter in abeyance pending respondent's application to the Public Employees Retirement System for disability retirement, or for hearing on merits.

After a hearing on remand, the ALJ found that the stipulated absence of respondent has adversely affected the Board's ability to provide sanitary, clean and secure facilities and created a morale problem for other custodial staff who are subject to reassignment or demands for overtime or both. ALJ further found that respondent was incapacitated from performing his duties.

The Commissioner affirmed the initial decision of the ALJ. Respondent was dismissed from his position as a tenured custodian.

Record Closed: May 12, 1999 Decided: JUN 0 8 1999

BEFORE BRUCE R. CAMPBELL, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The Lawrence Township Board of Education certified tenure charges of excessive absenteeism and incapacity against Timothy Kasony, a custodian, to the Commissioner of Education. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on December 1, 1998, for a hearing pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 through -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 through -13.

After notice, a prehearing conference was held and prehearing and hearing schedules were established in accordance with the Tenure Employees Hearing Law, as amended, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 through -18.1.

Opening arguments were heard on February 4, 1999. The time for discovery was lawfully enlarged and a second day of hearing was set down for March 4, 1999. Upon reopening of the record, counsel presented a stipulation of dismissal without prejudice premised on Kasony's successful application for disability retirement to the Public Employees' Retirement System. I processed the matter as an Initial Decision Settlement and it was transmitted to the Commissioner of Education under date of March 5, 1999.

On April 22, 1999, the Commissioner rejected the proposed settlement in its then present form. The Commissioner held that "he cannot accept a term of a settlement which explicitly provides for the parties to waive the statutory requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 et seq. Further, to the extent the parties can agree to adjourn proceedings in this matter pending a review of respondent's application for disability retirement to the Public Employees' Retirement System (PERS), they may mutually consent to such an abeyance of proceedings before the OAL."

The Commissioner remanded for revision of the documents consistent with the concerns set forth or, if the parties concur, for an abeyance of proceedings pending a determination by PERS on respondent's disability retirement application. Of course, another alternative was to proceed to a hearing on the merits. This the parties choose to do.

On May 12, 1999, the matter proceeded to hearing. Counsel presented their closing arguments on that day and the record closed.

The Board asserts that the case is similar to two recent tenure matters involving custodians in Lawrence. The only issue is whether the stipulated extended absence has had a negative effect on the Board's ability to provide sanitary and secure facilities. The Board presented its Business Administrator-Board Secretary. Among other things, his responsibilities include buildings and grounds. The witness knows the respondent Kasony as a custodian on the day shift at the high school. He has been out of work because of injury for three years. It has been necessary to move other custodians into his slot from the night shift. Kasony's duties have been filled by many different substitutes.

As to safe and sanitary problems, the witness stated it is difficult to sustain quality over an extended period while using substitute workers. Substitutes tend to have no pride invested in the particular building or area within a building. A substitute tends to need more supervision and may have lesser skills. The witness stated that Kasony still is a tenured employee.

The Board's insurance carrier agrees that Kasony's injury is work-related. There are three day shift custodians assigned to the high school. The person filling in for Kasony is a contractual employee from the night shift. Therefore, the impact is felt on the night shift, when the bulk of classroom cleaning is accomplished.

The Board's Director of Facilities and Property also testified. He knows the respondent. The witness supervises all custodians and agrees with the Business Administrator-Board Secretary's testimony. A night custodian has been moved to fill Kasony's place on the day shift at the high school. Substitutes are used at night to fill in for the person moved to the day shift. If a substitute cannot be secured, it is necessary to require a day worker to work overtime.

Substitutes do not perform as well as "invested full timers." The night position is difficult to fill. There is a ripple effect in that the high school night shift is the most heavily manned. If it were necessary to cover another school, it was the witness' practice formerly to take a custodian from the high school and move that person to the school that needed coverage. He cannot do that now, because he is always one person short on the night shift.

The witness produced exhibit P-1, facility and property daily manning logs. He testified concerning moving a night person to the day shift to cover for Kasony. He testified about absences and costs attributable to Kasony's absence. His typical experience is to try to secure a substitute to fill in the night slot that was vacated in order for that person to move to the day shift. If a substitute cannot be secured, the witness must ask regular custodians to work overtime. Their work quality tends to diminish into the night and more so as subsequent days are involved.

His last resort is to ask regular employees to cover more area. This, too, produces poorer quality work.

Kasony's long absence has had an effect on cleanliness. The witness believes that if Kasony were no longer an employee, his spot could be filled by a full-time regularly contracted person. It is necessary virtually every day to secure substitutes for the night shift at the high school. This is something of a patchwork operation as the witness previously testified. Some substitutes are looking for permanent employment. They may try to perform well. The substitutes are evaluated monthly by principals and head custodians.

The Board asserts that it has shown more than a minimum impact on its facilities because of Kasony's long absence. Inasmuch as many cases approve the dismissal of a tenured employee for chronic or persistent absenteeism or both, there is no legal impediment to removing Kasony.

Kasony argues that this is an unusual situation. He is a tenured employee who has been out on compensation leave for an extended time. It would be poor policy to have situations in which a person is detenured while on compensation leave. A person can remain on compensation leave status only while improving physically.

This is an extreme case, but if decided in favor of the Board, could lead to shorter and shorter periods of inability to work leading to removal. Furthermore, treatment is controlled by the Board's carrier's medical personnel. So long as Kasony is improving, he should remain undisturbed.

The Board counters that policy arguments are for the Legislature to make. The Commissioner has said that tenure charges can be brought where a person is incapacitated. An absence of greater than one year establishes a prima facie case of incapacity. No one can say how long treatment can take. How long is too long?

DETERMINATION

Kasony's injury and subsequent absence are stipulated. In Passaic Board of Education v. James Vianni, 91 S.L.D. 2386, the administrative law judge (ALJ) held and the Commissioner affirmed

> It is well-settled that excessive absenteeism may constitute grounds for the removal or suspension of tenured employees. In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Marcus Miller, School District of the City of Trenton, OAL DKT. EDU 8409-86 (Mar. 6, 1987), adopted Comm'r of Ed. (Mar. 31, 1987). In Miller, a tenured assistant custodian was dismissed for excessive absenteeism and abandoning his position. The assistant custodian was absent from work during the period of July 4 to July 18 due to medical reasons. A doctor's note supplied by Mr. Miller indicated that he could return to work on July 21. However, Mr. Miller never returned to his position. The ALJ dismissed the assistant custodian on the grounds that his absences from July 4 to July 18 constituted excessive absenteeism and that he had abandoned his position.

The Commissioner has stated that he would not hesitate to dismiss a tenured employee for chronic, persistent absenteeism even when there is no charge of illegitimate use of sick leave. In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Patricia Marsden, School District of Toms River, OAL DKT. EDU 1188-84 (Aug. 26, 1985), adopted Comm'r of Ed. (Oct. 10, 1985).

In the Commissioner's adoption of Vianni, above, the Commissioner noted that a board's burden in a case seeking dismissal of a tenured janitor because of alleged excessive absenteeism is to demonstrate the extent of harm such performance of a custodial employee has on the provision of a thorough and efficient education in an adequately equipped, sanitary and secure physical facility. 97 S.L.D. at 2397. In the present case, the Board focused its testimony on this concept. The Business Administrator-Board Secretary and the Director of Facilities and Property tended to show that Kasony's absence made it difficult to schedule adequate custodial coverage not only in the high school to which Kasony is assigned, but also in other buildings in the district because of the so-called ripple effect. They also credibly testified to the effect that the morale of the rest of the custodial staff from frequent transfers of assignment to cover the continuing gaps left by Kasony's absence was negatively affected.

The Commissioner has recognized the position of school custodian as an important one.

> A school janitor occupies a position of trust and responsibility necessitating high standards of dependability and morality. His functions far exceed opening and closing the school house and keeping it clean and tidy. The safety and welfare of the children may depend on the property discharge of his duties. In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Joseph McDougall, 1974 S.L.D. 170, 178.

Under these circumstances, notwithstanding that Kasony is not receiving pay, he is having an effect on the assignment of custodians. Until the respondent returns or is removed from position, those responsible for assignment of custodians and the condition of buildings cannot know either that the work will be done to the necessary degree or that it cannot be done. However, in the case of removal, a new custodial person may be hired toward the end that the work will be accomplished.

The tenure laws are designed to protect employees from unwarranted political interference and from arbitrary and capricious treatment. They are not, however, infinite protection. There appears to be no statutory definition or classification of excessive absenteeism. However, there have been Commissioner of Education decisions that indicate excessive absenteeism may support a charge of unbecoming conduct. In In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Edith Trautwein, OAL DKT. EDU 9692-82 (Nov. 15, 1983), the Board certified five charges to the Commissioner against a tenured teacher. The first charge was that the respondent's continuous excessive absenteeism constituted conduct unbecoming a teacher or other good cause to terminate her employment or to reduce her salary. The respondent contended that the numbers of absences were an invalid ground upon which to seek her removal and moved for dismissal. The ALJ denied the respondent's motion to dismiss the first count. The judge found that the local board had the right to impose some discipline upon respondent because of her absences and the Board must be given the opportunity to present at hearing, through admissible evidence, the truth of the charge that respondent had adopted and maintained a pattern of excessive absences that constituted unbecoming conduct. The Commissioner affirmed the retention of that count. The administrative hearing of the matter did not reach the merits of the issue of unbecoming conduct, but held that the charge brought against the respondent by the Board was in retaliation for the respondent's exercise of free speech and thus the complaint was dismissed. The decision was on a basis other than excessive absenteeism. The Commissioner decided that excessive absenteeism can constitute a tenure charge. On the basis of Trautwein, the Commissioner's policy is not to let cases of excessive absenteeism go unpunished. His affirmation of the retention of a charge of unbecoming conduct based on excessive absenteeism in that case lends strong support to the subsequent use of that charge for similar conduct.

Having reviewed all the evidence, I FIND that:

1. A tenure charge of unbecoming conduct based on excessive absenteeism, substantiated by adequate proofs, is cause for removal;

2. The ability of the Lawrence Township Board of Education to maintain its schools has been hampered and adversely affected by the long absence stipulated here;

3. In addition to a negative effect on the ability to provide sanitary, clean and secure facilities as required, the long absence present here has created a morale problem for other custodial staff who are subject to reassignment or demands for overtime or both;

4. The long absence present here creates an administrative problem in that staff have to be reassigned virtually daily in order to cover all authorized custodial positions.

In consideration of these findings, I CONCLUDE that Kasony's stipulated absence has had negative effects on the operation of the Lawrence Public Schools above and beyond the criteria discussed in Vianni, above. The absences require frequent modification of other custodians' schedules which, in addition to having a negative effect on morale, requires the Head Custodian and his immediate superiors to devote time to the reassignments that might better be used otherwise. This decision does not say that the mere fact of Kasony's absence has led to cleanliness citations from local authorities. This decision does note that Kasony's absence can only exacerbate the circumstances leading to cleanliness citations.

Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the Lawrence Township Board of Education has shown by a preponderance of the credible evidence in the record that the extended absence of Timothy Kasony rises to the level of unbecoming conduct and I further CONCLUDE that the appropriate penalty for that unbecoming conduct is removal.

Finally, the Board argues alternatively that the respondent's in capacity has been established as a matter of law by his absence and he should be dismissed on those grounds unless he comes forward with evidence of his ability to return to work in the immediate future. In In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Phyllis Stanley, Board of Education of the Freehold Regional High School District, 95 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 495, the Commissioner adopted the ALJ's initial decision that incapacity was related to the inability to perform a duty despite the cause of the inability. In Stanley, the ALJ concluded that the Board had met its burden and established by a preponderance of the credible evidence that Stanley was incapacitated from performing her duties. The ALJ found that dismissal was the appropriate penalty and the Commissioner concurred. Id. at 499.

In this case, I FIND and CONCLUDE that, unless Timothy Kasony can demonstrate to the contrary in the immediate future, he is incapacitated as the Commissioner contemplated that term in Stanley.

For the reasons stated, the removal of Timothy Kasony from his custodial position in the employ of the Lawrence Township Board of Education is ORDERED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF TIMOTHY KASONY,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE TOWNSHIP	:	DECISION ON REMAND
OF LAWRENCE, MERCER COUNTY.	:

The record of this matter and the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. Respondent's exceptions and the Board's reply thereto were considered by the Commissioner in his determination of this matter.

Upon review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner determines to affirm the initial decision of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ). Initially, the Commissioner notes it is undisputed that respondent has been out of work for three years (Initial Decision at p. 3). The Board's tenure charges assert, and respondent does not refute, that

> [o]n or about March 14, 1995 and again on March 20, 1997 [respondent] suffered injuries to his back and right leg, the first injury occurring during the course of his performing his duties. Respondent has not worked for the District since suffering that first injury. (Statement of Evidence, September 2, 1998 at p. 2)

The Board has demonstrated a negative effect from respondent's prolonged absence. Further, there is no indication in the record when, or even whether, respondent will be able to resume his duties. Thus, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the appropriate penalty under such circumstances is dismissal, notwithstanding that respondent's absenteeism constituted a legitimate use of sick leave and the possibility remains that he might ultimately, at some point not presently foreseeable, once again become physically capable of performing his duties.[1]

Further, to the extent respondent argues in exceptions that he has, as of May 1999, applied to the New Jersey Department of Treasury, Division of Pensions and Benefits, for a disability retirement, and the within decision should, therefore, accommodate the time period required to review his application (Respondent's Exceptions at p. 2), the Commissioner notes that not only is the record devoid of any evidence of respondent's application,[2] but the parties specifically chose to move forward to a plenary hearing in this matter, notwithstanding that they had an opportunity to consent mutually to an abeyance of proceedings before the OAL pending a review of any application respondent might submit to the Public Employees Retirement System. (Initial Decision at p. 2)

Accordingly, the initial decision of the ALJ is affirmed for the reasons expressed therein. Respondent is dismissed from his position as a tenured custodian as of the date of this decision.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[3]

[1] Although the ALJ appears to equate excessive absenteeism with unbecoming conduct (Initial Decision at p. 8), the Commissioner specifically observes that the Board did not charge respondent with unbecoming conduct.

[2] The Board expressly notes that, as of June 28, 1999, it has received no papers from the Division of Pensions and Benefits confirming that respondent has applied for disability retirement. (Board's Reply at p. 2)

[3] This decision, as the Commissioner's final determination in the instant matter, may be appealed to the State Board of Education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-27 et seq. and N.J.A.C. 6:2-1.1 et seq. within 30 days of its filing. For the Petitioner-Respondent, Carroll, Weiss & Josephson (James F. Schwerin, Esq., of Counsel)

For the Respondent-Appellant, Bergman & Barrett (Michael T. Barrett, Esq., of Counsel)

The decision of the Commissioner of Education is affirmed for the reasons expressed therein. We stress in that regard that the respondent has provided no evidence regarding his current medical condition or his ability to return to work. Nor has he provided any information regarding the status of his application to the Division of Pensions and Benefits for a disability retirement. We note further, as pointed out by the Commissioner, that the respondent chose to proceed to a hearing on the merits of this matter rather than requesting that it be placed in abeyance–an option offered by the Commissioner in his decision of April 22, 1999–pending a determination of the respondent's application for a disability retirement.

Record Closed: May 25, 1999 Decided: June 8, 1999

BEFORE JEFF S. MASIN, ALJ:

This matter arises from the filing of a Verified Petition by Nicholas Byczkowski, ("petitioner") with the Commissioner of Education on September 8, 1997, involving a dispute over counsel fees regarding attorneys who successfully defended employees of the Board of Education of the Borough of South River ("respondent" or "board") in a Municipal Court prosecution brought by the board. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on October 27, 1997, for a hearing pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

The board has now settled its dispute with each attorney, and the parties have prepared the attached Stipulation of Dismissal with Prejudice indicating the terms of settlement.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF SOUTH RIVER, MIDDLESEX COUNTY,	:	DECISION

The record and notice of withdrawal based on a joint stipulation of dismissal with prejudice of the parties transmitted to the Commissioner by the Office of Administrative Law pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.2 have been reviewed.[1] The Commissioner approves the withdrawal. Consequently, the matter is no longer deemed to be a dispute before him and is dismissed with prejudice.[2]

IT IS SO ORDERED.

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

[1] It is noted that this matter was characterized as a settlement, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, by the Administrative Law Judge in his initial decision. The Commissioner determines that because no settlement terms were brought to the record and the document signed by the parties was entitled a joint stipulation of dismissal this matter is more appropriately categorized as a withdrawal under N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.2.

[2] This decision, as the Commissioner's final determination in the instant matter, may be appealed to the State Board of Education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-27 et seq. and N.J.A.C. 6:2-1.1 et seq., within 30 days of its filing. Commissioner decisions are deemed filed three days after the date of mailing to the parties.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE :
HEARING OF MORRIS KIMBLE, SCHOOL: DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF TRENTON, :
MERCER COUNTY. :

STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION

DECISION

Decision on motion by the Commissioner of Education, July 27, 1999

For the Petitioner-Respondent, Sumners, George & Dortch (Thomas W. Sumners, Jr., Esq., of Counsel)

For the Respondent-Appellant, Robert M. Schwartz, Esq.

The decision of the Commissioner of Education denying the respondent's motion to summarily dismiss tenure charges of unbecoming conduct is affirmed for the reasons expressed therein. Like the Commissioner, we note that our decision does not preclude the respondent from arguing during the proceedings in the Office of Administrative Law that the charges against him constitute inefficiency rather than unbecoming conduct.

Whereas, the School Ethics Commission (Commission) has acted pursuant to the authority granted to it by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-21 et seq. to recommend removal of the above-named Board member from office for failure to attend the Board member training sessions required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33 and N.J.A.C. 6:3-9.4; and

Whereas, the Commission sent ample notice to the above-named Board member of her failure to attend such training sessions; and

Whereas, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:3-9.3(i), on April 26, 1999, the Commission issued an Order to Show Cause why a penalty should not be imposed for such failure; and

Whereas, the above-named Board member informed the Commission that she would attend a training session at the end of the year; and

Whereas, the Commission voted on May 26, 1999 that the above-named Board member's failure to attend Board member training from April 1998 to April 1999 constitutes a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-33; and

Whereas, the Commission further voted to recommend removal of the above-named Board member if she fails to attend a training session by the end of October 1999 and memorialized such decision through a resolution forwarded to the Commissioner of Education, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29; and

Whereas, on June 7, 1999, the above-named Board member was afforded an opportunity to submit to the Commissioner of Education a response to said resolution; and

Whereas, no response was forthcoming; and

Whereas, the Commissioner of Education has carefully considered the record of this matter and the decision of the Commission and concurs with and adopts as his own the recommendations of the Commission; now therefore

IT IS ORDERED that the above-named Board member is permitted to remain on the Board pending her attendance at the October 1999 training session, in that she is one of only two such members serving a small, nonoperating school district and her suspension would preclude the district from functioning as required by law, and should she fail to do so by the end of October 1999, she shall be removed from office effective November 1, 1999.*

HEARING OF ARLENE HARDER, : COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

SCHOOL DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON : DECISION

SYNOPSIS

Board certified tenure charges of unbecoming conduct, specifically abandonment of employment, incapacity and other just cause against respondent secretary.

Respondent chose not to contest the tenure charges. The ALJ sustained the charge of unbecoming conduct, specifically abandonment of employment, and dismissed without prejudice the incapacity and other just cause charges, finding that incapacity cannot be determined without expert medical testimony.

The Commissioner adopted as his own the recommendation of the ALJ which sustained the charges of unbecoming conduct relating to abandonment of position but reversed that portion of the ALJ's decision which dismissed without prejudice the charges of unbecoming conduct relating to incapacity and other just cause, finding that those charges were deemed admitted by respondent as a result of her withdrawal of opposition to the charges set forth by the Board. Respondent was removed from her tenured position as secretary.

Carl C. Bowman, Esq., for respondent

Record Closed: June 14, 1999 Decided: June 15, 1999

BEFORE M. KATHLEEN DUNCAN, ALJ:

This matter commenced on December 2, 1998, when the Board of Education of Washington Township, Gloucester County (hereinafter petitioner) filed tenure charges with the Commissioner of Education against Arlene Harder (hereinafter respondent), a tenured secretary in the district, charging respondent with unbecoming conduct, specifically abandonment of her employment, and incapacity. An answer on behalf of respondent was filed on December 17, 1998, and on December 22, 1998, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

A prehearing conference was conducted on January 14, 1999, at which time the hearing was scheduled for May 3, 4 & 5, 1999 at the Trenton office of the Office of Administrative Law. By letter dated March 31, 1999, counsel for respondent wrote to the undersigned with a copy to petitioner's counsel, as follows:

> With regard to the above matter, my client has indicated to me that she no longer feels capable to resume her position with the Washington Township Board of Education. She therefore has indicated that she will no longer contest the termination of her employment. For that reason she has directed me to request the dismissal of the above matter.

On May 4, 1999, the undersigned received a document entitled "Withdraw of Opposition Certification of Arlene Harder," signed by respondent on April 30, 1999. That document is attached hereto and made a part hereof as if set forth herein at length. By letter dated May 27, 1999, the undersigned wrote to both counsel as follows:

> I have received and reviewed the "Withdraw of Opposition Certification of Arlene Harder," dated April 30, 1999 and Mr. Bowman's letter to me dated March 31, 1999, wherein he states that Ms. Harder "will no longer contest the termination of her employment." Although I might be able to write some sort of initial decision based upon these two documents for the Commissioner to approve to close out this case, the usual way for resolving tenure cases without a hearing is a Stipulation of Settlement prepared by counsel setting forth all the reasons why the public interest does not require the case to go forward. See Cardonick v. Board of Education of the Borough of Brooklawn, EDU 7093-81, 7094-81 and 100-82, decided April 6, 1983 by the State Board of Education. In addition, if I do issue an initial decision removing respondent from her tenured position and the Commissioner approves it, Ms. Harder's pension rights may be adversely affected in accordance with N.J.S.A. 43:15A-38. See Uricoli v. Board of Trustees, 91 N.J. 62 (1982). Please advise in writing whether you will be submitting a signed Stipulation of Settlement discussing the considerations required by Cardonick or whether you wish me to proceed with an initial decision based upon the two documents submitted by Mr. Bowman.

Counsel for petitioner replied by letter dated June 1, 1999, requesting that an initial decision be entered in favor of petitioner substantiating the tenure charges as filed. To date, nothing further has been received from counsel for respondent.

Based upon the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that respondent has abandoned her tenured position and those charges are therefore hereby SUSTAINED. Whether or not respondent is incapacitated from performing her duties is a matter which cannot be determined without expert medical testimony and accordingly, those charges are DISMISSED WITHOUT PREJUDICE. Although the tenure charges also list "other just cause" for dismissing respondent from her tenured position, in fact the statement of evidence in support of the charges sets forth facts relating only to abandonment of employment or incapacity. Accordingly, the charges of unbecoming conduct, specifically abandonment of employment are SUSTAINED; the charges of incapacity and other just cause are DISMISSED WITHOUT PREJUDICE. It is hereby ORDERED that respondent is removed from her tenured position and the within proceedings are concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Petitioner,
vs.	AGENCY DKT. NO. 541-12/98
ARLENE HARDER
Respondent.	WITHDRAW OF OPPOSITION CERTIFICATION OF ARLENE HARDER

1. I am a tenured secretary employed by the Washington Township Board of Education.

2. On or about October 14, 1998 tenure charges were brought by the Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Robert Kern, against me pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-11 alleging Conduct Unbecoming a Public Employee, specifically abandonment of employment and incapacity, arising from my alleged failure of my to resume her duties as the Administrative Secretary to the Board Secretary.

3. On October 30, 1998 I submitted a written statement of position through my attorney, CarL C. Bowman, challenging said tenure charges.

4. On November 16, 1998 the Board adopted a resolution certifying tenure charges against me to the Commissioner of Education.

5. On March 31, 1999 my counsel submitted correspondence to Administrative Law Judge M. Kathleen Duncan stating that I will not contest the tenure charges.

6. I will not contest the change against me since I cannot currently return to my position at the Washington Township Board of Education because I am suffering from major depression. This depression was initiated by the harassment I was subjected to by the Secretary to the Board of Education, Margaret Meehan.

I certify that the foregoing statements made by me are true. I am aware that if any of the foregoing statements made by me are willfully false that I am subject to punishment.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF ARLENE HARDER,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
SCHOOL DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON	:	DECISION
TOWNSHIP, GLOUCESTER COUNTY.	:

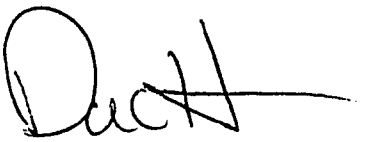
The record and initial decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. No exceptions were filed by the parties.

Upon examination of the record in this matter, the Commissioner notes that the document entitled "Withdraw of Opposition Certification of Arlene Harder" submitted by respondent expressly states that she "will not contest the tenure charges" notwithstanding her prior position to the contrary, and that, by reference to her attorney's letter of March 31, 1999, she "will no longer contest the termination of her employment." Given that this document was filed prior to the commencement of hearings and resulted, at respondent's behest, in the conclusion of proceedings at the Office of Administrative Law, respondent has by her certification, in effect, withdrawn her answer filed on December 17, 1998, wherein she contested the charges of unbecoming conduct, specifically abandonment of employment, incapacity and other just cause, certified by the Board. Accordingly, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.4(e), the Commissioner finds and determines that each count of the tenure charges set forth by the Board shall be deemed admitted by respondent, and the Commissioner shall issue his final determination by way of summary decision.

Thus, upon careful consideration of the record and initial decision, the Commissioner adopts as his own the recommendation of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) which sustains the charges of unbecoming conduct relating to abandonment of position. However, the Commissioner reverses that portion of the ALJ's recommended decision which dismisses without prejudice the charges of unbecoming conduct relating to incapacity and other just cause, finding instead that those charges are deemed admitted by respondent as a result of her withdrawal of opposition to the charges set forth by the Board. The Commissioner having determined that the instant charges were, if true, sufficient to warrant respondent's dismissal, and the charges having been deemed admitted, the Commissioner concurs with the recommended order of the ALJ dismissing respondent from her tenured employment.[1]

Accordingly, respondent is hereby removed from her tenured position as secretary in the Washington Township School District.[2]

IT IS SO ORDERED.



COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

[1] The Commissioner emphasizes that the final decision in this matter does not in any way signify that the Commissioner concurs with or accepts respondent's assertion, in the above-referenced certification withdrawing opposition to the tenure charges, that she is suffering from major depression which was initiated by the harassment of the Board Secretary.

[2] This decision, as the Commissioner's final determination in the instant matter, may be appealed to the State Board of Education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-27 et seq. and N.J.A.C. 6:2-1.1 et seq., within 30 days of its filing. Commissioner decisions are deemed filed three days after the date of mailing to the parties.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE HEARING OF ROBERT G. MORTON, SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF CAMDEN, CAMDEN COUNTY.	:
AND	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
ROBERT MORTON,	:	DECISION
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF CAMDEN, CAMDEN COUNTY,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

Board certified tenure charges of unbecoming conduct against Respondent Morton, an Industrial Arts Teacher, based on drug-related criminal charges. In consolidated matter, respondent challenged the Board's action suspending him without pay. He asserted that his suspension should have been with pay from November 1, 1996 until December 16, 1996, when the Board voted to certify tenure charges against him, and that he was entitled to continuation of his full salary effective April 16, 1997, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-8.3 and 6-14.

Having found respondent's testimony incredible, the Board determined that his possession of a controlled dangerous substance and possession of drug paraphernalia constituted conduct unbecoming a teacher even though the possession occurred off school premises. In 1988, the Board had reasonably accommodated respondent's drug addiction by supporting his inpatient drug program and by permitting him to return to work after completion of that program. Now, since respondent did not prove any mitigating circumstances, the ALJ concluded that the appropriate penalty for respondent's conduct unbecoming on the two charges brought by the Board was removal from his tenured position. Board argued that by virtue of respondent's conviction of possession of drug paraphernalia, he forfeited his position. However, the ALJ noted that neither the OAL nor the Commissioner has the jurisdiction to enter orders for forfeiture of public employment pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2, as amended by P.L. 1995, c. 250. ALJ ordered respondent dismissed from his position and ordered that the Board pay respondent his salary for the period between November 1, 1996 and December 16, 1996.

Having reviewed the record, including transcripts of the hearing, the Commissioner found no reason to challenge the ALJ's credibility determinations and adopted the findings and determination in initial decision as his own. Commissioner also affirmed the ALJ's Interlocutory Order of May 14, 1997 regarding the permissible scope of discovery and the procedures for disclosure of documents in the Board's possession. Commissioner ordered respondent dismissed as of the date of this decision and directed Board to pay respondent's salary for the period in question. Commissioner ordered a copy of this decision transmitted to the State Board of Examiners for action as it deems appropriate.

Record Closed: May 15, 1998 Decided: June 11, 1999

BEFORE BARBARA A. HARNED, CHIEF ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

These matters were transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) by the Commissioner of Education on January 15, 1997 and February 25, 1997 respectively for hearing as contested cases. In OAL Docket No. EDU 253-97S petitioner Board of Education of the City of Camden, Camden County (Board) filed tenure charges against respondent Robert G. Morton, a tenured teacher in the school district. In its petition, the Board charges that Mr. Morton engaged in conduct unbecoming a teacher and conduct that constitutes a forfeiture of his position by virtue of the following: (1) on May 11, 1995, Mr. Morton was charged with possession of cocaine and drug related paraphernalia and driving with a suspended license and (2) on July 11, 1996, Mr. Morton was arrested for possession of cocaine and drug related paraphernalia. Mr. Morton received a conditional discharge from the May 11, 1995 charge of possession of cocaine and drug related paraphernalia conditioned on one year of probation with random drug testing and a fine of $625.00. The July 11, 1996 charge of possession of cocaine and drug related paraphernalia was downgraded to a charge of use or possession with intent to use drug paraphernalia, to which Mr. Morton pled guilty and received probation for three years and a fine of $1,310.00. Mr. Morton's driving privileges were also revoked for one year. By letter dated November 4, 1996, the Superintendent of Schools notified Mr. Morton that he was suspended without pay effective November 1, 1996 as a result of his guilty plea, and pending the filing of tenure charges against him.

In OAL Docket EDU 956-97S, Mr. Morton is the petitioner and the Board is respondent. In this matter, Mr. Morton is challenging the Board's action in suspending him without pay. In his petition, Mr. Morton asserts that his suspension should have been with pay from November 1, 1996 until December 16, 1996, when the Board voted to certify tenure charges against him. Mr. Morton further asserts that he is entitled to continuation of his full salary effective April 16, 1997, pursuant to N..J.S.A. 18A:6-8.3 and N.J.S.A. 18A:6-14.

On March 12, 1997, an order was entered consolidating EDU 253-97S and EDU 956-97S. On that same day, a prehearing order was entered which established a schedule for the completion of discovery and scheduled the hearing for September 22, 23 and 24, 1997. The hearing was held on September 22, 23 and 24, 1997 and December 10, 1997. Post-hearing submissions were filed on February 9, 1998, April 16 and May 15, 1998, on which later date the record closed.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS

The parties stipulated to the following facts. Mr. Morton commenced work with the Board of Education of the City of Camden on September 1, 1975. He worked as an industrial arts teacher at East Camden Middle School during the 1994-1995 school year and at Woodrow Wilson High School during the 1995-1996[1] school year and was certificated to teach industrial arts. On August 13, 1996, the Board of Education suspended Mr. Morton with pay. Mr. Morton's suspension with pay was converted to a suspension without pay, effective November 1, 1996. On November 16, 1996, tenure charges were filed with the Board. On December 19, 1996, tenure charges were certified by the Board. Mr. Morton's suspension without pay was converted to a suspension with pay as of April 18, 1997, within 120 days of the certification of charges by the Board (J-1). This ends the stipulation of facts.

Officer Richard D. Kinkler testified on behalf of the Board. He has been a patrolman for the Hadden Heights Police Department for four years. On May 11, 1995, he observed Mr. Morton sitting in a car by himself on High Street in a non-residential area. Officer Kinkler testified that Mr. Morton looked at him "funny" and so he ran a "tag" or check on the car. In his written offense report Officer Kinkler stated that after Mr. Morton looked at him in a "suspicious manner" and due to recent criminal activity in the area, he ran a "tag" on Morton's car which was reported to be registered to an older female (P-4). While the officer was running the check, Mr. Morton moved his car to another area near the railroad tracks and parked again (P-4). Officer Kinkler followed; parked his car near Mr. Morton's and observed Morton's car for about five minutes during which Mr. Morton did not leave the vehicle (P-4). The officer then left his vehicle and walked over to Mr. Morton's vehicle. Mr. Morton got out of his car, approached the officer and, when asked what he was doing, told the officer he had just gone to get ice cream (P-4). Kinkler would have seen Morton if he had gone to the ice cream store because Kinkler was parked between Morton's car and the store. He never saw

[1] While the Stipulation signed by the parties states that Mr. Morton taught at Woodrow Wilson during both school years, the testimony of the witnesses made it clear that he taught there only during the 1995-1996 school years. See Transcript of September 24, 1997, page 46, lines 7 through 22.

Morton with ice cream that evening. Officer Kinkler asked Mr. Morton for his driver's license and was told that he did not have one. Mr. Morton offered his school identification with his picture. Officer Kinkler was then advised by the dispatcher that Morton's driving license was suspended and that a warrant was out for his arrest. The warrant was issued by the Pennsauken Municipal Court for a traffic violation (P-6). While Officer Kinkler did not have the actual warrant, the dispatcher from Haddon Heights Police Department confirmed with Kinkler that he had received it by fax. The officer searched Mr. Morton's vehicle but did not find anything. At that point, he arrested Morton and drove him to police headquarters.

At police headquarters, Mr. Morton was searched. Morton had a sweater on and when it was removed, Officer Kinkler observed two glassine bags in Morton's top front left hand pocket. The officer removed the two bags from Mr. Morton's pocket and saw that they contained a white substance. Officer Kinkler placed the glassine bags into evidence and entered a notation of the glassine bags as "containing what is believed to be cocaine" in the evidence log (P-8). He visually identified the substance as crack cocaine. The substance was also field tested for cocaine (P-4). During this test, a portion of the substance is placed on a clip and the clip is dipped in a chemical. If the chemical turns blue, the substance is cocaine. The substance taken from the bags in Mr. Morton's possession field tested positive for cocaine. Officer Kinkler completed a uniform arrest report in which he listed the charges against Mr. Morton as "Possession of CDS, Driving While Suspended, Warrant" (P-3). He also completed a Request for Examination of Evidence to be sent to the State Police for testing of the two bags (P-12). The request was received by the State Police on October 11, 1995. Officer Kinkler described the bags as small, heat-sealed bags, about one inch by one-half inch in size and of a dark green color. He has seen green glassine bags like that hundreds of time, although sometimes different colors are used.

On that same day, May 11, 1995, Officer Kinkler filled out a summons and complaint which was filed with the Municipal Court of Haddon Heights on the charge of driving while suspended (P-7). Officer Kinkler also filled out a complaint on the charge of possession of a controlled dangerous substance, stated to be a crime of the third degree in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:35-10a (P-5). Officer Kinkler's supervisor was Sergeant Giambrone, who reviewed the complaint and also signed it (P-5).

On this complaint, P/C or "probable cause" was described as "m/v stop, warrant and search incident to arrest producing contraband" (P-5).

On cross examination, Officer Kinkler testified that he had been on the Haddon Heights police force for four years and nine months and that he lived locally. He is well acquainted with Haddon Heights, having attended school in the town. The officer described the recent criminal activity referred to in his offense report as having occurred in the area of Eighth Street and Hyde Park and consisted of kids drinking in the area and performing acts of criminal mischief.

Officer Kinkler agreed that Mr. Morton did not speed nor drive erratically while he observed him. When questioned about the "suspicious" look of Morton's, the officer stated that it is not his general experience that people look at police officers with anxiety or suspicion and that Mr. Morton looked at him out of the corner of his eye as though Morton did not want Kinkler to see him looking at the officer. Officer Kinkler also agreed that Mr. Morton did not try to flee and that they had a cordial conversation.

The "tag" or check on the car revealed that it was not stolen but registered to an older woman whom Mr. Morton later identified as his mother-in-law. After Officer Kinkler ran the check, Mr. Morton moved the car about five blocks. Morton stopped his car and parked even after he saw Officer Kinkler. When the officer also pulled over, there were cars parked between the two vehicles and approximately sixty feet separated the two cars. An ice cream store was across the street. At the time it was dusk, almost nighttime and it was getting dark. Mr. Morton got out of his car and walked towards the officer. Kinkler asked Morton for his driver's license because of the suspicious look Morton had given him and because he lied about going for ice cream, since Kinkler had observed Morton during the time he was parked in the area and Morton had not left his car to go to the ice cream store. Officer Kinkler could not cite to any specific code, statute or regulation supporting his request for Mr. Morton's driver's license in these circumstances. However, the officer thought there might be some criminal activity occurring. Before arresting Mr. Morton, Officer Kinkler did not check at the ice cream store to determine if he had been there. To do so would require that he either leave Mr. Morton alone or take him to the store. Before the arrest, Kinkler did not detain Morton. Although the officer did not tell Morton he could go, if Mr. Morton had left, the officer would not have stopped him. Officer Kinkler arrested Morton only after he was told that the arrest warrant had been faxed to the police department.

Officer Kinkler found no drugs, drug paraphernalia or weapons in the car Mr. Morton was driving and did not see Morton throw anything out of the car. In searching the car, the officer looked only in the immediate area in which Mr. Morton sat in the car. When he took Morton to the police station, the car was left where it was parked because Mr. Morton told the officer that it belonged to his mother-in-law. The search of Mr. Morton at the police station revealed no drug paraphernalia.

When questioned as to the contents of P-5, the complaint for possession of a controlled dangerous substance, Officer Kinkler acknowledged that the description of probable cause he swore to in that document is not accurate in that he had written "m/v stop, warrant, and search incident to arrest producing contraband." (P-5). In fact there was no motor vehicle stop. He also agreed that the field test he performed on the substances found on Mr. Morton is not 100% accurate. Officer Kinkler could not testify as to whether Mr. Morton was under the influence or not at the time of the arrest because he did not take any blood or urine samples. Kinkle is aware that Mr. Morton was given a conditional discharge on the charge of possessing a controlled dangerous substance.

Mr. Morton gave a written statement at the police station (R-1). In his statement, Mr. Morton wrote that he "saw to small bag of what I thought was drug by four students. I pick it up and ask them what it was. They said they did not know. I replyed I'll find out. I put it in my pocket and got sidetrack and forgot about it" (R-1). Mr. Morton did not tell Officer Kinkler the names of the students, although he may have told the officer that he found the bags during the school day when he was supervising students. Officer Kinkler did not ask Morton for the names of the students as he generally does not ask follow-up questions to an arrestee's statements. Mr. Morton could have written in as much detail as he wanted in writing his statement.

Detective Sergeant Robert Griffith testified on behalf of the Board. He has been an officer with the Haddon Heights Police Department since 1974. He has held the positions of special officer, patrolman and, for the past nine years, detective sergeant. In his position as detective sergeant he is responsible for investigations of criminal acts and completion of uniform crime reports. He is also in charge of all evidence that is turned into the police department. The standard procedure for the collection of evidence calls for officers to place evidence in bags with identifying information. The evidence bags are then stored in an evidence locker which has a padlock. The key to the padlock is locked in Sergeant Griffith's desk. In addition, the Chief of Police has a key to the evidence locker. Within a day of evidence coming into the department, Sergeant Griffith will bring the evidence bag to his office, log the bag in, assign it a number which number is prefaced by NAR, put the number on the evidence bag and place the evidence bag into a vault. Three people have the combination to the vault: Detective Sergeant Griffith; the Captain and the Chief. When the evidence is narcotics it is placed in a locked cabinet in the vault to which only Sergeant Griffith and the Chief have a key.

Sergeant Griffith identified the Evidence Log Sheet for the glassine bags found in Mr. Morton's pocket (P-8). The number assigned to these bags by Griffith was NAR454 (P-8). The log sheet is kept with the case records. Sergeant Griffith also identified a Request for Examination of Evidence which was sent to the state police, asking for a quantitative and qualitative analysis for drugs in the two glassine bags (P-12). The Request for Examination of Evidence is a three-part form, with an original and two copies. The Request in this case had a Laboratory Number assigned to it of 148489H and went to the state police laboratory on October 11, 1995 at 11:16 a.m. when it was delivered with the glassine bags in a sealed package by Sergeant Griffith (P-12).

A Municipal Court Order was entered on November 14, 1995 on the charge of possession of a controlled dangerous substance (P-10). Pursuant to this Order, Mr. Morton was given a conditional discharge on the charge (P-10). Conditions for the discharge included payment of certain fines, probation for one year, compliance with random drug testing and payment of $5.00 per month to Probation (P-10).

Sergeant Griffith received a Certified Laboratory Report on Laboratory Number 148489H from the Forensic Science Bureau of the State Police (P-13). The Report is dated November 27, 1995 and was certified on November 29, 1995 (P-13). Sergeant Griffith did not know whether the charge against Mr. Morton had been determined before he sent the evidence for testing and received the Report, since he usually is not told about a conditional discharge. He testified that there is no specific schedule for when evidence is sent to the state lab for testing, although if a "not guilty" plea is entered, he would try to get testing for that case done first. A copy of Certified Laboratory Reports is provided to the court by Sergeant Griffith. It was stipulated by the parties that the Certified Laboratory Report in this matter shows that specimens 1 and 2 of Laboratory Number 148489H tested positive for cocaine at .22 G. On January 19, 1996, Sergeant Griffith received the glassine bags back from the state police laboratory in a sealed package with another copy of the Request for Examination of Evidence. He then placed the glassine bags back into the vault.

On cross examination, Sergeant Griffith agreed that he was not involved in the field testing of the glassine bags and did not know whether the bags had been opened before he retrieved them from the evidence locker.

On July 16, 1996, a second complaint was filed against Mr. Morton by Patrolman R. Long of the Haddon Heights Police Department (P-15). The complaint charged that on July 11, 1996, Mr. Morton "knowingly or purposely obtain[ed] or possess[ed] a controlled dangerous substance . . . specifically by possessing cocaine" in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:35-10(a)1 (P-15). On the first court appearance on this charge, Mr. Morton received a continuance until October 22, 1996 in order to obtain counsel (P-16). On October 22, 1996, Mr. Morton waived his right to counsel and pled guilty to a reduced charge of "use or possess with intent to use drug paraphernalia to inhale and process a controlled dangerous substance or controlled substance analog, specifically by possessing 'crack' pipes and a test tube" in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:36-2 (P-16). As a result of his guilty plea, Mr. Morton was placed on probation for three years and ordered to pay fines totaling $1310 (P-17). In addition, his driving privileges were revoked for one year (P-17) and he was ordered to attend an in-house treatment program at "My Brothers" (P-19).

On March 10, 1997, the May 11, 1995, charge against Mr. Morton for possession of a controlled dangerous substance was dismissed as the "conditional discharge is completed" (P-11).

Patricia E. Cook testified on behalf of the Board. She has been employed by the Camden Board of Education since 1964 in various capacities including Assistant Librarian, Administrative Assistant, Assistant Principal and Principal. Principal Cook holds certificates in Teacher/English; Teacher/Librarian and Principal/Supervisor. She obtained the Principal/Supervisor certificate in the mid 1970's. While currently Principal at the Veterans Middle School, Principal Cook was Principal of the Woodrow Wilson High School when Mr. Morton taught industrial arts at that school during the 1995/96 school year. The Camden school district has three high schools: Camden, Woodrow Wilson and Medical Arts.

When Principal Cook was principal at Woodrow Wilson High School between July 1994 and June 1997, her administrative team consisted of two assistant principals; a Dean of Students; two Administrative Assistants and a Scheduling Administrative Assistant. During the 1995/1996 school year, there were approximately 1400 students and 148 teachers at Woodrow Wilson.

Principal Cook testified that the Camden Board of Education has a two-volume policy manual, called a Governance Manual, which is kept in every principal's office. The policy manual is not distributed to every teacher but they are told of its existence and that they can come to the office to review the manual. Sections of this manual are distributed to teachers periodically. In addition, while Principal at Woodrow Wilson, Ms. Cook developed a Teachers Handbook which was distributed to the teachers. It included, inter alia, policies on attendance, lateness, dress code and a drug-free work place policy.

A section of the Board's Governance Manual is captioned "Smoking, Drinking and Use of Drugs on School Premises" (P-1). It bans the use of alcoholic beverages and the manufacture, distribution, dispensing, possession of, use of or sale of any controlled dangerous substance on or in school work sites and provides that violation of this ban may lead to disciplinary action, including termination (P-1). The manual further provides that "[t]he Board of Education, as a result of criminal convictions of any criminal drug statute violation by an employee occurring outside of the worksite, may discipline said employee. Disciplinary action may include, but is not limited to nonrenewal, suspension, or termination at the discretion of the board" (P-1). According to Principal Cook, this provision applies to all Board employees. Principal Cook included this manual section in the Teachers Handbook which she distributed to every teacher in September 1994, 1995 and 1996. The Handbook was distributed at the beginning of each school year during in-service training during which the morning is spent going over policies and new programs.

The Governance Manual also contains a provision concerning use of drugs or alcohol by students (P-2). This provision is part of the Student Handbook and provides, inter alia, that "[b]y joining with community agencies; hospitals; law enforcement; and providing a drug-free workplace, the Camden City Board of Education hopes to provide an atmosphere in which drug alcohol abuse will not have a negative impact on the students in the Camden City School District" (P-2).

Principal Cook testified as to the Board policy on drugs which is to instill abstinence in students. To accomplish this goal, several programs have been established. For example, the "Network 3" program is a year-long program with seminars, rallies and a trip to Washington, D.C., all designed to motivate students to stay away from drugs. The Tigers Lair is a health-based clinic in the school which is open to students, staff and the community and which makes presentations to staff on drug usage. There is also a Living Well program which brings professional athletes into the school to motivate students to stay away from drugs and stay in school. Each school has a Save our Students (SOS) team which, inter alia, is established to provide support and assistance to students in need of help (P-2). During the 1995/1996 school year, the Woodrow Wilson SOS team and the school nurse who attended a special program at Rutgers University on drug usage made presentations to the teachers. In Principal Cook's words, "abstinence" is the message given to the staff.

Principal Cook described a flyer from the Personnel Department which she posted on the bulletin board in the main office where all flyers are posted. It described the Employee Assistance Program(EAP) and gave a phone number to call for help if an employee had a drug problem. In addition to posting the flyer, Principal Cook advised staff of the program. If a staff member told Principal Cook he or she had a drug problem, Cook would refer him or her to the EAP. Mr. Morton never told Principal Cook that he had a drug problem or that he had been arrested even though she had an "open door" and he could have come to speak with her. Nor did the Superintendent of the district, Dr. Dawson, tell Principal Cook of a criminal problem involving Mr. Morton during the 1995/1996 school year.

On cross-examination, Principal Cook testified that she received on-going training from the district in the area of substance abuse and how to help staff with drug problems. She also had been a member of the SOS team. If an employee came to Principal Cook with a drug problem, she was instructed to refer him or her to the EAP or the school nurse and was not instructed to terminate such an employee. Principal Cook agreed that there was no requirement in the Board policies that an employee come to her with a drug problem.

Principal Cook acknowledged that the two volumes of Board policies kept in a bookshelf in her office were very thick but they had a Table of Contents and staff were told at the beginning of the school year that they were free to use them.

Robert Morton testified on his own behalf. He received an associate degree in Mechanical Engineering/Technology from Camden County College in 1971 and a bachelor of arts degree in Industrial Arts Education from Trenton State College in 1974. Mr. Morton holds a kindergarten through twelfth grade teaching certificate in Industrial Arts. He commenced employment with the Board in January 1975 as a permanent substitute teacher and in September 1975 he became a full-time teacher of Industrial Arts. Between September 1975 and September 1995, Mr. Morton taught at various middle schools in the district. Between September 1995 and June 1996, he taught at the Woodrow Wilson High School. Mr. Morton had ten month contracts of employment with the Board, from September 1 through June 30 of each year.

For most of his life, Mr. Morton has lived in Camden. In August, 1991, however, he moved to Haddon Heights and lived at 802 Station Avenue, one block from the Haddon Heights police station. While living in Haddon Heights, Mr. Morton walked frequently past the police station and knew Officer Kinkler by sight, having seen him many times. On May 11, 1995, Mr. Morton was teaching at the East Camden Middle School. He testified he found two bags laying on the floor in the Technology wing which he assumed was contraband. He saw four students in the area and, pointing down to the bags, he asked the students "whose is this?" The students looked at him as though he were "crazy." Mr. Morton identified one of the students as D.A., an eighth grader. Mr. Morton then picked up the bags, intending to turn them in at the main office. He had found contraband once before and brought it to the main office. Another teacher, Deborah Harris, had also found and turned in contraband at East Camden.

As Mr. Morton walked toward the main office, he saw a security guard who was having trouble with two students fighting. This was at the end of sixth period and there was a large crowd of students yelling "fight, fight, fight." Mr. Morton stopped to help the guard separate the students, putting the two bags in his front pocket. He had to wade through the crowd to get to the fighting students. Mr. Morton, the guard and another teacher pulled the students apart and brought them into Morton's classroom. There was another student also there for fighting in a separate incident and the principal came to the scene. It took forty-five minutes to resolve the matter and, therefore, Mr. Morton did not teach his seventh period class. He did teach his eighth period class followed by homeroom and a conference until 3:30 p.m. He then went home exhausted and fell asleep, forgetting about the bags in his pocket.

When Officer Kinkler asked him if he wanted to write a statement, Mr. Morton agreed to do so. The officer did not ask him any follow-up questions and did not seek any further information from him. Morton initially pled not guilty to the May 11, 1995 charge of possessing a controlled dangerous substance. He was never indicted on the charge because he was offered a conditional discharge.

Since 1974, Mr. Morton has been employed over the summer months by the City of Camden as a pool coordinator, including the summer of 1996. In that capacity, he supervises the lifeguards at one of the City's pools. He trains the lifeguards in CPR, First Aid and lifeguarding procedures. Mr. Morton has a lifeguard certification and certifications for Instructor of Lifeguard Training, First Aid and CPR Instructor. These certifications are issued by the Red Cross.

During the summer of 1996, Mr. Morton was living in the room in Haddon Heights. His fourteen-year old son, Austin, was living with him. Mr. Morton testified that he was not using drugs on July 11, 1996, but had done so four or five days earlier. He got very upset about taking the drugs and started throwing out everything he had connected with drugs. He looked through all the storage containers and threw out every drug-related item he found. His son helped him with this project.

On July 11, 1996, there was money missing from Mr. Morton's wallet. He "hemmed" Austin in the bathroom and asked him about the missing money, telling Austin that he would beat him.

Austin got around Morton and left. Mr. Morton returned to his room and started assembling a flying model rocket. He uses the models in teaching and assembling them is also a hobby of his, like therapy. While Mr. Morton was alone in the room working on the rocket, the door was ajar. He heard a knock and called out "come in." Officers Kinkler and Long and Austin came in. The officers did not draw their guns and did not have a search warrant. They told Morton that Austin had come to the police station and told them that Morton was getting "high." His son went to a milk container that was in the trash and pulled drug paraphernalia out of it. Mr. Morton was not told of his Miranda rights at this point. He told the officers that he did own some of the paraphernalia, that he had had a relapse and was throwing the "stuff" out. Mr. Morton was arrested and charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance and possession of drug paraphernalia. On October 22, 1996, Mr. Morton pled guilty to a downgraded charges of possession of drug paraphernalia.

Between July 1996 and October 1996, Mr. Morton was supervised by Probation Officer J. Petty on the conditional discharge resulting from the May 11, 1995 charge. He testified that she never asked him to submit to a drug test during this period and that he discussed his rehabilitation with her. He asked her to find a place for him to go because he could not do it on his own. She recommended My Brother's Keeper and he entered into a twenty-eight day in-patient rehabilitation program on October 2, 1996. While at My Brother's Keeper, he could not leave the facility without supervision. His entire day was planned with meetings, counseling and group sessions with an outside counselor. Mr. Morton described this program as a spiritual rehabilitation in which the goal was to learn how to live right. During the sessions, the group discussed subjects such as their "triggers," i.e. things that lead them to use drugs. Three evenings a week Mr. Morton attended an outpatient rehabilitation program at John F. Kennedy Hospital, accompanied by a senior member or counselor.

After completing the in-patient program at My Brother's Keeper, Mr. Morton went to ninety meetings of Narcotics Anonymous (NA) or Alcoholics Anonymous (AA) in ninety days. While he is not an alcoholic, he went to AA meetings sometimes because whether cocaine or alcohol "it's all a drug" and he had to learn to be abstinent from all drugs. Mr. Morton celebrated one year of sobriety on October 2, 1997. He continues to go to at least three and sometimes four NA or AA meetings a week. He described himself as a "recovering addict" rather than an "active addict" and that it is something he has to work on every day, one day at a time.

Mr. Morton testified that he never used drugs at school nor did he ever bring drugs to school. He was never accused of being under the influence at school. He had never seen the Board policies on drugs described by Principal Cook and marked as exhibits P-1 and P-2. The Board policies were never discussed in depth by the Principal or Vice Principal. Rather, they would distribute the teacher handbook and run through the index with the teachers and instruct them to read the handbook at their leisure.

After he was suspended by the Board, Mr. Morton started working for Clifford Industries, telemarketing for a home improvement business. He worked there in October and November, 1996; was laid off in December 1996; returned to work on January 6, 1997 and continued until June 1997 when he left for his Pool Coordinator job with the City of Camden. He found out about Clifford from his sister-in-law who told him it would be a good place to work because a number of recovering addicts worked there. Mr. Morton agreed that it was a good place to work but it only paid $7.00 per hour and he needed to earn more than that because he has seven children.

On cross examination, Mr. Morton testified he first used drugs while attending Trenton State College when he smoked marijuana. In approximately 1987, he started using crack cocaine. He has not used any other drugs. Between 1987 and 1996, he used crack cocaine occasionally. In 1988, he voluntarily entered a forty-five day residential program at Seabrook House for detoxification and rehabilitation because he realized his drug usage was uncontrollable. At the time, he was using crack cocaine every other weekend or so. Mr. Morton told the then superintendent Dr. Arnold Webster about his drug problem and that he needed some time off. Dr. Webster responded "take all the time you need." After he left Seabrook in November 1988, he attended a weekly NA meeting and abstained from crack cocaine until 1991 when he used again. He began using approximately once a month but eventually it was every other weekend. He did not use crack cocaine during the week.

Mr. Morton continued using crack cocaine on and off until he entered My Brother's Keeper in October 1996. While he was using, he would realize he was doing something he should not and would try to stop. After he left My Brother's Keeper, Mr. Morton went to live with his mother.

Upon questioning concerning the May 11, 1995 incident, Mr. Morton indicated that his classroom is on the main floor and only a minute or two away from the main office. Marilyn Allen was principal of East Camden Middle School on May 11, 1995. Mr. Morton found the bags at approximately 1:30 p.m., right at the end of the sixth period. Sixth period is the last lunch period and students were milling in an area near the cafeteria. Mr. Morton had seen similar bags which contained contraband and suspected that these bags contained contraband. He did not ask the students' names because they denied the bags were theirs and he did not see the bags fall out of any student's pocket. He therefore could not say to whom the bags belonged. Mr. Morton found drugs in school two times during his twenty years of teaching: on May 11, 1995 and one other occasion a few months earlier than May 11, 1995.

On May 11, 1995, Mr. Morton was wearing a white shirt and a sweater and he put the bags he found in his shirt pocket when he went to assist the security guard who was attempting to separate two students who were fighting in the central hallway. The guard pulled one student away while Morton pulled the other away. Mr. Morton took one of the fighters to his classroom to separate him from the other student whom the guard was taking to the principal's office. Mr. Morton put the student in his office to "chill out." By this time, students in Mr. Morton's seventh period class started entering the classroom when another incident occurred in the hallway. Mr. Morton had two of the larger students "stand guard" over the student who had fought earlier and went out to the hallway to help with the second disturbance. The intercom in his classroom was not working at the time and he did not have time to call the principal's office. According to Mr. Morton, there were fights almost every day in the school.

The second incident which occurred in the school on May 11, 1995 was described by Mr. Morton as a much larger altercation. There were four or five classrooms of students in the hallway. Some of the students were fighting; others were watching the fights. Security arrived and they got the fighters separated. Mr. Morton had two of the fighters in his classroom and he waited for them to be picked up. The principal arrived toward the end of the seventh period and the fighters were then removed from his classroom. Mr. Morton then taught his eighth period class and had by that time forgotten about the bags in his pocket. He finished the school day with home room and a conference. After signing out in the main office he took two buses home to Haddon Heights and fell asleep in his clothes, exhausted.

Mr. Morton left his room around 7:30 p.m., wearing the same clothes he had worn to school. "On paper" Mr. Morton did not own a car in 1995 but he shared the costs of a car with another individual. On May 11, 1995 he was driving his mother-in-law's car. He knew his license had been suspended but did not think it was for the incident set forth in the bench warrant (P-6). The bench warrant lists his address as on Thurman Street in Camden and Morton agreed that he used to live on Thurman Street. However, he was not aware of a bench warrant against him until Officer Kinkler told him of the warrant. Mr. Morton acknowledged driving between 1991 and 1995 even though he knew his license had been suspended.

When Officer Kinkler found the bags in his pocket, Mr. Morton uttered a swear word and then told the officer where he had found the bags. In giving his written statement on May 11, 1995, Morton did not refer to the fights at the school but rather stated he had gotten "sidetracked" (R-1). He testified, however, that he did tell Officer Kinkler about the fights. Mr. Morton had an attorney who advised him on the May 11, 1995 charge and the subsequent discharge.

In May of 1995, Mr. Morton was not in rehabilitation but testified that he was not using cocaine at the time. He could not recall when he had last used cocaine before May 11, 1995. Between November 1995 and July 1996, he also was not in any inpatient rehabilitation program. He acknowledged using crack cocaine during this period but denied doing so on a continuing basis. Mr. Morton did not tell anyone in the school district that his license had been suspended or about the arrest and the subsequent conditional discharge. Nor did he speak with any administrator in the district at this time to advise that he had a drug problem and needed rehabilitation or help in any way and did not participate in the EAP program. He was only vaguely aware of the EAP program.

Mr. Morton was aware of the Board's Drug Awareness Program and agreed that drugs are a major problem in urban schools. He did not personally teach students not to use drugs because that was not his job. As regards the Teacher's Handbook, Mr. Morton kept it throughout the school year but did not read it thoroughly because he did not have a lot of leisure time. He did not recall anything in the handbook on a drug policy.

As regards the July 11, 1996, incident Mr. Morton recalled that the argument with his son occurred while it was still daylight and it might have been early evening. He worked at the pool from Friday to Tuesday and had Wednesday and Thursday off and he thought July 11 may have been a Thursday. While denying that he used crack cocaine on July 11, Mr. Morton acknowledged using a few days earlier but not when he was working at the pool. He testified that he did not know if he was in violation of his conditional discharge when he used cocaine because no one had read him the rules. He denied ever seeing the order granting him the conditional discharge (P-10). Mr. Morton testified that he did not start seeing a probation officer (Jacqueline Petty) on his conditional discharge until August 1996. After that date, he met with Ms. Petty once a week with the meetings lasting up to thirty minutes.

When the officers came to Morton's room on July 11, his son gave them a milk container from the garbage. In the container was drug paraphernalia, including pipes, a clear glass tube and a black leather pouch. The officers also found a tube with a residue of crack cocaine. When the officers told Mr. Morton that he was arrested, they read him his Miranda rights.

Mr. Morton did not tell anyone at the pool or in the school district that he had been arrested on July 11, 1996. In August, 1996, he received a letter from the district suspending him with pay because of the pending drug charges. He did not enter rehabilitation until October 1996 because he was trying to do it on his own and testified that he has not used cocaine since he entered My Brother's Keeper in October 1996. Mr. Morton testified that he gave the court order in which he pled guilty to a reduced charge and was placed on suspension (P-17) to D. Parthema Cogdell, the district's Director of Personnel Services in October 1996 while he was in the My Brother's Keeper program.

On redirect, Mr. Morton explained that he now has a supportive network that he did not have before My Brother's Keeper. He calls a friend or goes to a meeting whenever a "trigger" urges him to use cocaine. The My Brother's Keeper program had a religious component that included bible study and Mr. Morton now goes to church every Sunday and to Bible Study every Tuesday evening. In his words, he is trying to live the way Christ wants him to live. In addition, his hobby of building rockets also helps his sobriety.

Mr. Morton usually has no contact with school administrators over the summer months. About a week before he went to court on the July 11, 1996 charges, he called Ms. Cogdell about coming back to work. She told Morton to get the paperwork from the court, bring it to her and she would get him back to work. He gave Ms. Cogdell the court order placing him on probation (P-17) because he thought he was going back to work.

As regards the bench warrant which led to his arrest on May 11, 1995, Mr. Morton testified that he had received a ticket and gave money to his wife to pay the fine and she failed to do so. He and his wife separated in 1991.

On re-cross, Mr. Morton clarified that he met in person with Ms. Cogdell and that Brother George from My Brother's Keeper accompanied him and that he had contacted her on the advice of Richard Lee, his supervisor in the Technology Department. He reiterated that Ms. Cogdell told him "to go to court, to take care of court, bring back the paperwork and she would see about getting him back to work." In addition to P-17, Mr. Morton also gave Ms. Cogdell a letter regarding his rehabilitation. Mr. Morton acknowledged that he received nothing in writing from Ms. Cogdell or any one else in the district regarding his coming back to work. He did receive an August 1996 letter suspending him with pay and a subsequent November 1996 letter from Dr. Dawson suspending him without pay pending the filing of tenure charges.

Mr. Morton further testified as to July 11, 1996, incident during re-cross. He stated that when the officers asked him if he had a drug problem, he replied yes. However, when they asked him if he had a pipe, he said no because his son had thrown it in the garbage. He also testified that he has been building rockets since 1974.

Wendy Bradin testified on behalf of Mr. Morton. She is the Assistant Manager of Telemarketing for the night shift of Clifford Industries, a home improvement company. The night shift starts at 3 p.m. and ends at 9 p.m. Mr. Morton worked at Clifford under her supervision during the spring of 1996 and the fall of 1997. At the time of her testimony, she had known Morton for at least one year. She described Mr. Morton as having a great work ethic. He was always there when he was supposed to be and had an "energy" about him. He was always happy and had a smile all the time. She summed him up as an "excellent employee." Although Mr. Morton took the summer of 1996 off from Clifford to do his job at the pool, he was eligible for re-employment.

Ms. Bradin testified that she has had experience with people who have been addicted to drugs and some of them have been open about it with her. She could tell by their behavior that they were abusing drugs. They were unreliable, with frequent absences and inconsistent performances. It looked as though they were high and strung out. Ms. Bradin never observed this behavior in Mr. Morton nor observed him under the influence of drugs.

On cross examination, Ms. Bradin testified that she had been employed as a telemarketer for Clifford's predecessor corporation, Eastern Home Improvement Company, for about four years, some of that on a part-time basis. In May 1996, she started working full-time as Assistant Supervisor of the night shift and worked Monday through Saturday. Mr. Morton started with Clifford in November 1996, when it was incorporated, after previously working for Eastern Home, starting in the early fall of 1996. Ms. Bradin supervised Morton while he worked for Eastern Home, but only as a back-up. Mr. Morton first started working the day shift and then went to the evening shift that Ms. Bradin supervised. He worked Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 3 p.m. to 9 p.m. and on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

As the evening Manager, Ms. Bradin is responsible for all employees on the shift, eight to ten telemarketers. All the telemarketers work in one room, while Ms. Bradin has a desk with a computer in a corner of the room. There are no children in the room and the company does not market to children. The telemarketers are paid $7.00 to $7.50 per hour but also get bonuses, although she did not know if

Mr. Morton had gotten any bonuses. There were no formal evaluations done of the employees in the last year and Ms. Bradin has not seen a written drug policy for Clifford.

Clifford does not have a drug counselor and keeps no records of employees with addiction problems, although employees would talk about such problems. Ms. Bradin never documented anyone's addiction nor dealt with any medical or rehabilitation issues. In the past year, she did not go to her supervisor with any drug problems involving employees, although in the past about five employees have spoken to her, telling her that they had a drug problem in the past. She has no education in drug counseling or rehabilitation. Ms. Bradin could not recall if Morton told her that he was addicted or that he was in a rehabilitation program. She did recall, however, that when she interviewed him for the position, he was very open and told her about prior charges and that he was in NA. Ms. Bradin was not aware of any written policy of the company regarding drug convictions. Mr. Morton did show her a summons or court complaint in the fall of 1996 regarding drug charges and showed her subsequent paperwork indicating the charges had been dismissed. Ms. Bradin did not know that Morton's driver's license had been suspended.

Ms. Bradin did not keep written records on employees' attendance. Rather, employees punch in at a time clock and payroll relies on the time cards in calculating their pay. Ms. Bradin testified that the telemarketing position is a high turnover job generally although some employees have been there two to four years and there is less turnover now than a year ago. In the year prior to her testimony, Ms. Bradin had no employees specifically discuss with her as Manager that they had a drug problem. Many of the telemarketers, up to fifty percent, are recovering addicts and most have been clean for a month to several years. There are sixteen to twenty telemarketers on the day and night shift and for a period of time she worked from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. and supervised all of them.

Cindy Haeffner testified on behalf of Mr. Morton. She is a Senior Probation Officer and has been with the Probation Department for six years. Since October 1996 she has been the Supervising Probation Officer for Mr. Morton on the charge of possession of drug paraphernalia. She was aware of the previous charge against Mr. Morton resulting from the May 11, 1995 incident and of the conditional discharge of that charge. The conditional discharge was completed while Ms. Haeffner was supervising Mr. Morton and the charge was dismissed. During her supervision of Mr. Morton, he has always appeared for their meetings and she has had no problems with him. Ms. Haeffner has not asked him to have drug tests because of the nature of the charge against him, i.e. it was not for possession or use of drugs. In addition, based on his appearance while in her office she felt no need to have him tested.

On cross-examination, Ms. Haeffner explained that a conditional discharge is a diversionary program run by the Probation Department and is not considered probation. She has seen the court order granting Mr. Morton a conditional discharge since the court sends probation a copy of the order. Mr. Morton's conditional discharge order called for random drug testing (P-10). Ms. Haeffner did not know if random testing was done on Mr. Morton because his conditional discharge was supervised by another Probation Officer, Jacqueline Petty. For a while, both Ms. Petty and Ms. Haeffner supervised Mr. Morton. Ms. Haeffner did not ask Ms. Petty if Mr. Morton had been tested under her supervision. While P-10 has a box checked that Mr. Morton would be placed on probation, Ms. Haeffner thought the wrong box had been checked. P-10 also indicates that Mr. Morton was to pay $5.00 per month for Probation. Ms. Haeffner explained that is a standard monthly supervisory fee. Ms. Haeffner was also asked about P-11, a Municipal Court Order dated March 10, 1997 which dismissed the May 11, 1995 charge against Mr. Morton. In the Whereas clause of that Order, it is stated that Mr. Morton was charged with violation of conditional discharge (P-11). Ms. Haeffner believes that clause refers to the new charge relating to the incident on July 11, 1996 being filed against Mr. Morton while his conditional discharge was still open. Despite the indication of a conditional discharge violation charge in P-11, Mr. Morton's conditional discharge was deemed complete and the May 11, 1995 charge was dismissed (P-11).

While Mr. Morton's probation commenced in October 1996, Ms. Haeffner did not have her first meeting with him until January 8, 1997. He had an earlier meeting with an Intake Officer on November 19, 1996 at which time the rules of probation were explained to him. Mr. Morton was not in a rehabilitation program at the time Ms. Haeffner started supervising him but in his conditional discharge file, there is a completion form for drug rehabilitation at My Brother's Keeper. The file indicates that Mr. Morton entered My Brother's Keeper on October 2, 1996 and was discharged on October 30, 1996 but does not indicate whether it was in-patient or out-patient treatment. The conditional discharge file does not contain copies of any urine screens, indicating that no drug tests had been taken of Mr. Morton.

Mr. Morton reports monthly to Ms. Haeffner and their meetings last five to ten minutes. At the time of her testimony, they had met ten times plus an additional meeting with her supervisor. Ms. Haeffner also tried to go to Mr. Morton's residence in December 1996 but he was not living at the address she had in his file. She did not attempt any further home visits and did not go to his place of employment or meet with any of his family members. She did know that Mr. Morton was working as a lifeguard with the City of Camden as of June 1997.

On redirect, Ms. Haeffner indicated that her notes do not reflect any treatment of Mr. Morton at JFK or any participation by him in groups.

D. Parthema Cogdell was called as a rebuttal witness by the Board. Ms. Cogdell is the Director of Personnel Services for the Board and has held that position since October 1992. Prior to 1992, she was the Bureau Director of Regional Day Schools and worked ten years with the Department of Education. In her position as Director of Personnel Services, Ms. Cogdell facilitates implementation of Board policy and due process for employees. Her staff maintains personnel files for all Board employees.

Sometime in 1996, Mr. Morton called her regarding the notice he received that he was being suspended. Ms. Cogdell did not recall any specifics from that conversation. On October 23, 1996, Ms. Cogdell spoke with Mr. Morton in person. He asked her about his suspension and whether he was being paid. Mr. Morton told her that the original charge had been downgraded and was no longer a drug charge and gave her the Municipal Court Order in which he pled guilty to the downgraded charge (P-17). There is a "sticky" note on Ms. Cogdell's copy of the Court Order which reflects what Mr. Morton told her during this conversation (P-19). Since part of the information did not show on P-17, Ms. Cogdell asked Mr. Morton for a more complete order. On October 24, 1996, Mr. Morton came to her office and gave Ms. Codgell's secretary P-20. Mr. Morton also gave her secretary a copy of instructions dated October 10, 1996 that he was to follow for the treatment program at Kennedy Memorial Hospital (P-21). Employees sign in when they come to Ms. Cogdell's office. Mr. Morton signed in on October 23, 1996 but did not sign in on October 24, 1996 (P-22).

Ms. Cogdell spoke with Mr. Morton either on October 24, 1996 or the next day. Morton asked her if he had his job back. Ms. Cogdell replied that she could not make that decision but that she would take the paperwork and review it. Ms. Cogdell testified that she has no authority to hire, fire or bring an employee back from suspension. She does not make recommendations to the Board on such issues and did not do so in Morton's case.

Ms. Cogdell had no involvement with Mr. Morton's rehabilitation. If an employee came to her and told her that he or she had a drug problem, Ms. Cogdell would give the employee the EAP phone number.

On cross examination, Ms. Cogdell testified that she was not expecting Mr. Morton to come to her office on October 23, 1996. Rather, he came on his own initiative. During their conversation, they did not discuss Mr. Morton's treatment program other than he told her he was in treatment with My Brother's Keeper. Ms. Cogdell did not recall Mr. Morton mentioning an evening treatment program at Kennedy Memorial Hospital. She did not contact My Brother's Keeper or Kennedy about the treatment Mr. Morton was receiving. To her knowledge, nobody in the administration followed up on his rehabilitation.

Although Ms. Cogdell does not make recommendations to the Board, she does make recommendations to the Superintendent on personnel matters. She did not make a recommendation in regard to Mr. Morton, however. Ms. Cogdell could not recall if she told the Superintendent that Mr. Morton was in treatment. She did recall, however, that she sent the Superintendent a packet which included the documents Mr. Morton gave her.

On redirect, Ms. Cogdell explained that it is against Board policy for her to contact a treatment program. Rather, the program notifies her when an employee completes the program. One of the requirements of the EAP program is that the program must notify Personnel when an employee completes the program. Ms. Cogdell did not receive anything from either My Brother's Keeper or Kennedy indicating that he had completed the treatment program. She acknowledged that there are no written documents indicating she asked Mr. Morton to supply completion data on his treatment program.

Ms. Cogdell had a telephone conversation with Mr. Morton after their October 23, 1996 meeting in which he asked if he could come back to work and she told him she could not respond.

When the facts of a case are contested, as herein, the trier of fact must weigh the credibility of the witnesses in order to make factual findings concerning the disputed facts. Credibility is the value that a fact finder gives to a witness's testimony, requiring an overall assessment of the witness's story in light of its rationality, internal consistency and manner in which it "hangs" together with other evidence. Carbo v. United States, 314 F. 2d 718 (9th Cir. 1963). Credible testimony must proceed from the mouth of a credible witness and must be such as common experience, knowledge and common observation can accept as probable under the circumstances. State v. Taylor, 38 N.J. Super. 6, 24 (App. Div. 1955). A fact finder is expected to base credibility decisions on common sense, which is also referred to as intuition or experience. Barnes v. United States, 412 U.S. 837, 93 S.Ct. 2357, 37 L. Ed. 2d 380 (1973).

Considering the testimony of the various witnesses under the above standards I found the testimony of Officer Kinkler and Sergeant Griffith to be entirely credible. Their demeanor while testifying was matter of fact and rational and their testimony was consistent, both internally and with each other. For similar reasons, I found the testimony of Principal Cook, Wendy Bradin and Cindy Haeffner entirely credible. However, while some of his testimony was credible, I found portions of Mr. Morton's testimony to be lacking credibility. I do not find it credible that he found the two glassine bags in school on May 11, 1995 and simply forgot about them because of altercations during school that day. On the one hand, he testified that there were fights almost every day in school but on the other hand he had only found "contraband" in the school on two occasions. While there very well may have been fights in the school on May 11, 1995, it strains credulity to believe that he would forget such an extraordinary find because of an everyday occurrence. I also note that Mr. Morton made no mention of a fight or fights in school in his written statement to Officer Hinkler (R-1). In addition, Mr. Morton's demeanor when he testified as to the May 11, 1995 and July 11, 1996 incidents was glib and sounded self-serving. Moreover, Mr. Morton's explanation for what he was doing in the area where Officer Hinkler observed him on May 11, 1995, i.e. buying ice cream, is contradicted by the credible testimony of the officer that Mr. Morton never went to the ice cream store. Similarly, I find Mr. Morton's explanation of why the officers found drug paraphernalia in his room on July 11, 1996 lacking credibility. His explanation that he had thrown all the drug related items out several days before is simply too "pat" and lacks common sense. If he had intended .o throw the paraphernalia out days earlier, why was it still in the garbage basket in his room on July 11, 1996? Finally, I found Mr. Morton's testimony concerning his drug usage inconsistent. On the one hand, he testified that at most he used crack cocaine every other weekend. On the other hand, he testified that his drug usage was so out of control that he had to enter an inpatient rehabilitation program twice because he could not stop using cocaine on his own.

Based on the foregoing, I make the following FINDINGS OF FACT:

(1) Robert Morton received an associate degree in Mechanical Engineering/Technology from Camden County College in 1971 and a bachelor of arts degree in Industrial Arts Education from Trenton State College in 1974. He holds a kindergarten through twelfth grade teaching certificate in Industrial Arts. Mr. Morton commenced employment with the Board of Education of the City of Camden in January 1975 as a permanent substitute teacher and in September 1975 he became a full-time teacher of Industrial Arts. From 1988 to June 1995, Morton was assigned to teach at East Camden Middle School. Morton was transferred to Woodrow Wilson High School for the 1995-1996 school year. He had ten month contracts of employment with the Board, from September 1 through June 30 of each year.

(2) On August 13, 1996, the Board of Education suspended Mr. Morton with pay. Mr. Morton's suspension with pay was converted to a suspension without pay, effective November 1, 1996 (J-1).

(3) On November 16, 1996, tenure charges were filed with the Board. On December 19, 1996, tenure charges were certified by the Board. Mr. Morton's suspension without pay was converted to a suspension with pay as of April 18, 1997, within 120 days of the certification of charges by the Board (J-1).

(4) Mr. Morton has lived most of his life in Camden. In August, 1991, however, he moved to Haddon Heights and lived at 802 Station Avenue, one block from the Haddon Heights police station.

(5) On May 11, 1995, Officer Richard D. Kinkler of the Haddon Heights Police Department observed Mr. Morton sitting in a car by himself in a non-residential area of Hadden Heights. Mr. Morton knew Officer Kinkler by sight, having frequently walked past the police station. After Mr. Morton looked at Officer Kinkler in a suspicious manner and because of recent criminal activity in the area, the officer ran a check on the automobile Mr. Morton was driving. The check showed the car was not stolen and was registered to an older female, whom Mr. Morton later identified as his mother-in-law. The recent criminal activity in the area consisted of kids drinking and performing acts of criminal mischief.

(6) While the check was being run on the automobile, Mr. Morton drove it to another location about five blocks away, near the railroad tracks, and parked the car. Morton stopped the car and parked after he had seen the officer. Officer Kinkler followed and parked his car about sixty feet from Mr. Morton's, with some other cars parked between the two vehicles. At this time it was dusk, almost nighttime and getting dark. During the period he observed Morton, Officer Kinkler could see Mr. Morton at all times and Mr. Morton did not leave his car to go to a near-by ice cream store. Mr. Morton did not speed nor drive erratically while the officer was observing him. Nor did Mr. Morton meet with anybody or throw anything out of the car while the officer was observing him.

(7) After about five minutes of observing Mr. Morton, Officer Kinkler left his vehicle and walked over to Morton's vehicle. At that point Mr. Morton got out of his car, approached the officer and told him he had just gone to buy ice cream.

(8) Officer Kinkler asked Mr. Morton for his driver's license because of the suspicious look Morton had given him and because Morton lied about going for ice cream. Morton told the officer that he did not have a license and showed him his school picture identification instead. Officer Kinkler was then advised by the police dispatcher that Mr. Morton's driver's license was suspended and there was a warrant for his arrest issued by the Pennsauken Municipal Court for a traffic violation, which warrant the dispatcher had just received by fax. Mr. Morton did not try to flee and he and Officer Kinkler had a cordial conversation. Officer Kinkler did not check at the ice cream store to ask whether Mr. Morton had gone there before he arrested Morton.

(9) Officer Kinkler searched the car Mr. Morton was driving in the immediate area in which Mr. Morton had sat, but did not find any drugs, drug paraphernalia or weapons. He then arrested Mr. Morton and drove him to police headquarters.

(10) Mr. Morton was searched at police headquarters. When his sweater was removed, Officer Kinkler saw two, sealed, glassine bags in Morton's top front left hand pocket which the officer removed from Morton's pocket, observing that they contained a white substance. Officer Kinkler visually identified the substance as crack cocaine and field tested the substance with a positive result for cocaine. The field test for cocaine is not 100% accurate. The officer then placed the glassine bags into evidence bags and entered a notation of the bags as "containing what is believed to be cocaine" in the evidence log. The search of Mr. Morton at police headquarters revealed no drug paraphernalia in his possession. There were no blood or urine samples taken from Mr. Morton at the time and therefore Officer Kinkler could not say whether Morton was under the influence at the time.

(11) Officer Kinkler completed a uniform arrest report in which he listed the charges against Mr. Morton as "[p]ossession of CDS, Driving While Suspended, Warrant" (P-3). He also filled out a summons and complaint to be filed with the Haddon Heights Municipal Court on the charge of driving while suspended and a complaint on the charge of possession of a controlled dangerous substance, stated to be a crime of the third degree in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:35-10a (P-7, P-5). In addition, the officer completed a Request for Examination of Evidence to be sent to the State Police for testing of the two bags (P-12). Probable cause on the possession of a CDS complaint was described by Officer Kinkler as "m/v stop, warrant and search incident to arrest producing contraband" (P-5). Officer Kinkler acknowledged that the description of probable cause in the complaint is not accurate since there was no motor vehicle stop.

(12) Mr. Morton gave a written statement at the police station in which he wrote that he "saw to small bag of what I thought was drug by four students. I pick it up and ask them what it was. They said they did not know. I replyed 'i'll find out.' I put it in my pocket and got sidetrack and forgot about it" (R-1). Mr. Morton did not tell Officer Kinkler the names of the students, although he may have orally told the officer that he found the bags during the school day when he was supervising students. Officer Kinkler did not ask Morton for the names of the students as he generally does not ask follow-up questions to an arrestee's statements. Mr. Morton could have written as much detail as he wanted in his statement.

(13) The glassine bags found in Mr. Morton's pocket on May 11, 1995, which Officer Kinkler placed in labeled evidence bags on that date, were placed in a padlocked evidence locker. Within one day, Sergeant Robert Griffith brought the evidence bags to his office, logged them in, and assigned them a number of NAR454 (P-8), which he placed on the bags before storing them in a locked cabinet within a locked vault. On October 11, 1995, Sergeant Griffith delivered a Request for Examination of Evidence, with a Laboratory Number of 148489H, and the sealed evidence bag numbered NAR454 to the state police laboratory. A Certified Laboratory Report on Laboratory Number 148489H from the Forensic Science Bureau of the State Police, dated November 29, 1995, found that specimens 1 and ~~2~~ of Laboratory Number 148489H tested positive for cocaine (P-13) and the parties so stipulated to that finding.

(14) Mr. Morton initially pled not guilty to the May 11, 1995 charge of possessing a controlled dangerous substance and was never indicted on this charge. Rather, on November 14, 1995, a Municipal Court Order was entered on the charge of possession of a controlled dangerous substance.

Pursuant to this Order, Mr. Morton received a conditional discharge of the possession charge. Conditions for the discharge included payment of certain fines, probation for one year, compliance with random drug testing and payment of $5.00 per month to Probation.

(15) On March 10, 1997, the May 11, 1995, charge against Mr. Morton for possession of a controlled dangerous substance was dismissed as the "conditional discharge is completed" (P-11).

(16) On July 11, 1996, Haddon Heights Police Officers R. Long and Kinkler knocked on Mr. Morton's door and he told them to come in. They entered along with Mr. Morton's son, Austin. Austin gave the officers a milk container that was in the garbage. In the container was drug paraphernalia, including pipes, a clear glass tube and a black leather pouch. The officers also found a tube with a residue of crack cocaine. Mr. Morton was arrested by the officers and read his Miranda rights. On July 16, 1996, a complaint was filed against Mr. Morton by Officer Long (P-15). The complaint charged that on July 11, 1996, Mr. Morton "knowingly or purposely obtain[ed] or possess[ed] a controlled dangerous substance . . . specifically by possessing cocaine" in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:35-10(a)1 (P-15). On the first court appearance on this charge, Mr. Morton received a continuance until October 22, 1996 in order to obtain counsel (P-16).

(17) Mr. Morton did not tell anyone in the school district that he had been arrested on July 11. 1996. In August 1996, he received a letter from the district suspending him with pay because of the pending drug charges.

(18) On October 22, 1996, Mr. Morton waived his right to counsel and pled guilty to a reduced charge of "use or possess with intent to use drug paraphernalia to inhale and process a controlled dangerous substance or controlled substance analog, specifically by possessing 'crack' pipes and a test tube" in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:36-2 (P-16). He gave a copy of the court order in which he pled guilty to D. Parthema Cogdell, the district's Director of Personnel Services.

(19) As a result of his guilty plea, Mr. Morton was placed on probation for three years and ordered to pay fines totaling $1310.00 (P-17). In addition, his driving privileges were revoked for one year (P-17) and he was ordered to attend an in-house treatment program at "My Brothers" (P-19).

(20) For reasons not clear in this record, supervision of Mr. Morton's probation on the conditional discharge resulting from the May 11, 1995 charge did not commence until July 1996. Between July 1996 and October 1996, he was supervised by Probation Officer Jacqueline Petty. She never requested that he take a drug test during this period. At some point, Mr. Morton asked Ms. Petty for assistance in seeking a rehabilitation program and she recommended My Brother's Keeper.

(21) On October 2, 1996, Mr. Morton entered a twenty-eight day in-patient rehabilitation program at My Brother's Keeper. While at My Brother's Keeper he could not leave the facility without supervision. His day was planned for him with meetings, counseling and group sessions with an outside counselor. Three evenings a week Mr. Morton attended an outpatient rehabilitation program at John F. Kennedy Hospital, accompanied by a senior member or counselor.

(22) After completing the in-patient program at My Brother's Keeper, Mr. Morton attended ninety meetings of either NA or AA within ninety days. He celebrated one year of sobriety on October 2, 1997. He continues to go to at least three and sometimes four NA or AA meetings a week and describes himself as a "recovering addict" which is something he has to work on every day, one day at a time. He has a supportive network and goes to church every Sunday and to Bible Study every Tuesday evening. His hobby since 1974 of building rockets helps with his sobriety.

(23) Mr. Morton was never charged with bringing to or using drugs at school and was never charged with being under the influence of drugs at school.

(24) Mr. Morton did not tell anyone in the school district that his license had been suspended or about the May 11, 1995 arrest and subsequent conditional discharge. He did not tell anyone in the school district about the July 11, 1996 arrest until after he entered My Brother's Keeper on October 2, 1996. Nor did he speak with any administrator in the district at the time to advise that he had a drug problem and needed rehabilitation or help in any way. Mr. Morton was aware of the Board's Drug Awareness Program and agreed that drugs are a major problem in urban schools. He acknowledged receiving a Teacher's Handbook every year, which he kept throughout the year but did not read thoroughly because of a lack of time. He did not recall anything in the Handbook on a drug policy.

(24A) Mr. Morton first used drugs while attending Trenton State College when he smoked marijuana. In approximately 1987, he started using crack cocaine.

(25) In 1988, Mr. Morton voluntarily entered a forty-five day residential program at Seabrook House for detoxification and rehabilitation because he realized his drug usage was uncontrollable. He told the then Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Arnold Webster, about his drug problem and that he needed some time off from teaching. Dr. Webster told him to "take all the time you need."

(26) After leaving Seabrook in November 1988, Mr. Morton attended a weekly NA meeting and abstained from crack cocaine until 1991 when he started using again. Mr. Morton continued using crack cocaine until he entered My Brother's Keeper in October 1996. After leaving My Brother's Keeper, Mr. Morton moved from his room in Haddon Heights into his mother's home.

(24) After he was suspended by the Board, Mr. Morton started working for Clifford Industries, doing telemarketing for a home improvement business. He found out about Clifford from his sister-in-law who told him it would be a good place to work because a number of recovering addicts worked there. Morton worked for Clifford in October and November 1996; was laid off in December, 1996; returned to work on January 6, 1997 and continued until June 1997 when he left for a Pool Coordinator job with the City of Camden. Mr. Morton has held the job of Pool Coordinator during the summer months since 1974. In his capacity as Pool Coordinator Mr. Morton supervises lifeguards at one of the City's pools, training them in CPR, First Aid and lifeguarding procedures. He holds certifications in all three fields from the Red Cross.

(25) While employed at Clifford, Mr. Morton was supervised by Wendy Bradin, the Assistant Manager of Telemarketing for the night shift. He had a great work ethic, was never absent, always had a smile and an "energy" about him. Ms. Bradin considered him an excellent employee and Clifford would rehire him if he applied again for work. There was no formal written evaluation of Mr. Morton's performance, however.

(26) Ms. Bradin could not recall if Mr. Morton told her he was addicted or that he was in a rehabilitation program. When she interviewed him for the job, he did tell her about prior charges and that he was in NA. In the fall of 1996, Mr. Morton showed her a summons or court complaint regarding drug charges and subsequent paperwork indicating the charges had been dismissed. Ms. Bradin did not know that Morton's driver's license had been suspended.

(27) Ms. Bradin has had experience with employees in the past who have had problems with drug addiction. By their behavior of unreliability, absences and inconsistent performances, she could tell that they were abusing drugs. They would sometimes appear high and strung out. Ms. Bradin never observed this behavior in Mr. Morton nor observed him under the influence of drugs.

(28) Ms. Bradin has never seen a written drug policy for Clifford and has never documented any employee's addiction nor dealt with any medical or rehabilitation issues. She was not aware of any company policy regarding drug convictions. Ms. Bradin has no education in drug counseling or rehabilitation. Clifford does not have a drug counselor and keeps no records regarding employees with addiction problems. During the past year, no employee specifically discussed with her as Manager that he or she had a drug problem and Ms. Bradin did not go to her supervisor with any drug problems involving employees during the proceeding year. Prior to the proceeding year, about five employees have spoken to her, telling her that they had a drug problem. Up to fifty percent of the telemarketers are recovering addicts and most have been sober for a month to several years.

(29) Cindy Haeffner, a Senior Probation Officer, has been Mr. Morton's supervising Probation Officer on the charge of possession of drug paraphernalia since October 1996. On November 19, 1996, Mr. Morton met with an Intake Officer and had the rules of probation explained to him. His first meeting with Ms. Haeffner was on January 8, 1997. Mr. Morton was not in a rehabilitation program when Ms. Haeffner supervised him but there is in his conditional discharge file a completion form for drug rehabilitation at My Brother's Keeper. There was nothing in the file regarding any treatment of Mr. Morton at John F. Kennnedy Hospital or his participation in any groups. During Ms. Haeffner's supervision of Mr. Morton, he always appeared for their meetings and she had no problems with him. Ms. Haeffner has not asked him to have drug tests because of the nature of the conviction, i.e. it was not for possession or use of drugs. In addition, based on his appearance while in her office she felt no need to have him tested.

(30) Mr. Morton reports monthly to Ms. Haeffner and their meetings last five to ten minutes. At the time of her testimony, they had met ten times plus an additional meeting with her supervisor. She tried to visit Mr. Morton's residence in December 1996 but he was not living at the address she had in his file. She did not attempt any further home visits and did not go to his place of employment or meet with any of his family members. Ms. Haeffner was aware that Mr. Morton was working as a lifeguard with the City of Camden as of June 1997.

(31) A conditional discharge is a diversionary program run by the Probation Department but is not considered probation. Although Ms. Haeffner has seen Mr. Morton's conditional discharge order which called for random drug testing, she did not know whether random drug testing was done because his conditional discharge was supervised by Probation Officer Petty and Haeffner never asked Petty whether testing had been done. Mr. Morton's conditional discharge file contains no copies of urine screens, indicating that no drug tests had been taken of him.

(32) Sometime in 1996, Mr. Morton called D. Parthema Cogdell, the district's Director of Personnel Services, regarding the notice he received that he was being suspended. Ms. Cogdell did not recall any specifics from that conversation.

(33) On October 23, 1996, Ms. Cogdell spoke with Mr. Morton in person. He came to her office on his own initiative and asked about his suspension and whether he was being paid. Mr. Morton told Ms. Cogdell that the original charge had been downgraded and was no longer a drug charge and gave her the Municipal Court order in which he pled guilty to the downgraded charge (P-17). He also told her that he was in treatment at My Brother's Keeper but she could not recall whether he mentioned Kennedy Hospital. Ms. Cogdell made notations of what Mr. Morton told her on a "sticky" note which she placed on her copy of the court order (P-19). Since some information did not show on the copy of the court order, Ms. Cogdell asked Mr. Morton to provide a more complete copy.

(34) On October 24, 1996, Mr. Morton came to Ms. Cogdell's office and gave her secretary another copy of the court order (P-20). He also gave the secretary a copy of instructions dated October 10, 1996, that he was to follow for the treatment program at Kennedy Memorial Hospital (P-21).

(35) Employees sign in when they come to Ms. Cogdell's office. Mr. Morton signed in on October 23, 1996 but did not sign in on October 24, 1996 (P-22).

(36) On either October 24 or 25, 1996, Ms. Cogdell spoke with Mr. Morton. He asked if he had his job back and she replied that she could not make that decision and could not further respond but that she would take the paperwork and review it. Ms. Cogdell has no authority to hire, fire or bring an employee back from suspension. She does make recommendations to the Superintendent on personnel issues but did not do so in Mr. Morton's case. Ms. Cogdell could not recall whether she told the Superintendent that Mr. Morton was in treatment but she did send him a packet which included the documents Mr. Morton gave her.

(37) Ms. Cogdell had no involvement with Mr. Morton's rehabilitation. It is against Board policy for her to contact a treatment program so she did not contact either My Brother's Keeper or Kennedy Hospital about his treatment. Rather, the program notifies her when an employee completes a rehabilitation program. She did not receive anything from either My Brother's Keeper or Kennedy indicating that he had completed the treatment program. There is no documentation that Ms. Cogdell asked Mr. Morton to provide completion data on his treatment program. To Ms. Cogdell's knowledge, nobody in the administration did any follow-up on Mr. Morton's rehabilitation.

(38) If an employee told Ms. Cogdell that he or she had a drug problem, she would give the employee the number for the Employee Assistance Program.

(39) Patricia E. Cook was Principal of the Woodrow Wilson High School when Mr. Morton taught Industrial Arts there during the 1995-1996 school year. During that school year, there were approximately 1400 students and 148 teachers at Woodrow Wilson.

(40) The Camden Board of Education has a two-volume policy manual, called a Governance Manual, which is kept in every principal's office. The policy manual is not distributed to every teacher but they are told of its existence and that they can come to the office to review the manual. Sections of the manual are distributed to teachers periodically. In addition, while Principal at Woodrow Wilson, Ms. Cook developed a Teachers Handbook which was distributed to the teachers. The handbook included, inter alia, policies on attendance, lateness, dress code and a drug-free work place policy.

(41) A section of the Board's Governance Manual is captioned "Smoking, Drinking and Use of Drugs on School Premises" (P-1). It bans the use of alcoholic beverages and the manufacture, distribution, dispensing, possession of, use of or sale of any controlled dangerous substance on or in school work sites and provides that violation of this ban may lead to disciplinary action, including termination (P-1). The manual further provides that "[t]he Board of Education, as a result of criminal convictions of any criminal drug statute violation by an employee occurring outside of the worksite, may discipline said employee. Disciplinary action may include, but is not limited to nonrenewal, suspension, or termination at the discretion of the board" (P-1). This provision applies to all employees and was included in the Teachers Handbook distributed at the beginning of each school year during in-service training in which the morning is spent going over policies and new programs.

(42) The Governance Manual also contains a provision concerning use of drugs or alcohol by students (P-2). This provision is part of the Student Handbook and provides, inter alia, that "[b]y joining with community agencies; hospitals, law enforcement; and providing a drug-free workplace, the Camden City Board of Education hopes to provide an atmosphere in which drug alcohol abuse will not have a negative impact on the students in the Camden City School District" (P-2).

(43) The two volumes of Board policies are kept in a bookshelf in Principal Cook's office. They are very thick but have a Table of Contents and staff are told they are free to use the volumes.

(44) The Board policy is to instill abstinence in students. To accomplish this goal, several programs have been established including seminars, rallies, and a trip to Washington D.C. A health-based clinic in the school, the Tigers Lair, makes presentations to staff on drug usage and the Living Well program brings professional athletes into the school to motivate students to stay away from drugs and stay in school. Each school has a Save Our Students (SOS) team which provides support and assistance to students in need of help (P-2). During the 1995-1996 school year, the SOS team and school nurse attended a special program at Rutgers University on drug usage and then make presentations to the Woodrow Wilson teachers. "Abstinence" is the message given to the staff.

(45) Principal Cook posted a flyer from the Personnel Department on the bulletin board in the main office which described the Employee Assistance Program (EAP) and gave a phone number to call for help if an employee had a drug problem. She also advised staff of the program's existence. If an employee told Principal Cook that he or she had a drug problem, she would refer the employee to EAP or the school nurse and would not terminate that employee. There is no requirement in the Board policies, however, that an employee must go to Principal Cook with a drug problem.

(46) Mr. Morton never told Principal Cook that he had a drug problem or that he had been arrested even though she had an "open door" and he could have come to speak with her.

(47) Principal Cook received on-going training from the district in the area of substance abuse and how to help staff with problems. In the past, she was a member of the SOS team.

LEGAL DISCUSSION

N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 provides that no tenured teacher shall be dismissed or reduced in compensation "except for inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct or other just cause." In this case, the Board asserts that Mr. Morton forfeited his position, an argument which will be discussed infra. In addition, the Board asserts that Mr. Morton's conduct constitutes unbecoming conduct sufficient to justify his removal. It is well settled that the Board has the burden of proving the charges of unbecoming conduct against Mr. Morton by a fair preponderance of the credible evidence. In re Polk License Revocation, 90 N.J. 550, 560 (1982); In re Tenure Hearing of Grossman, 127 N.J. Super. 12 (App. Div. 1974); Borough of Park Ridge v. Salimone, 36 N.J. Super. 485, 488 (App. Div. 1955). In a case involving allegations of unbecoming conduct, all of the facts and circumstances surrounding the employee's actions are deemed relevant and material, including whether there are mitigating circumstances. In re Tenure Hearing of Robert Ferenz, 1987 S.L.D. 2602 (State Board of Education), aff'd App. Div. DKT. No. A-1309-87 (April 18, 1989).

Based on Findings of Fact 10, 13, and 16 supra, it is clear that on May 11, 1995 Mr. Morton possessed two glassine bags containing crack cocaine,[2] a controlled dangerous substance, and that on [2] While respondent does not specifically argue that the crack cocaine was found as a result of an illegal search, I note that even if the search had been illegal, the evidence is admissible in this administrative proceeding. Delguidice v. New Jersey Racing Commission, 100 N.J. 79 (1985); In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of McIntyre, 96 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 718, aff'd, Appellate Division Docket No. A-5942-94 (July 10, 1996).

July 11, 1996 he possessed drug paraphernalia and a tube with a residue of crack cocaine. Since I found Mr. Morton's testimony that he found the bags in school on May 11, 1995 and forgot them and that he had thrown out the drug paraphernalia days before July 11, 1996 to be not credible, there are no mitigating circumstances surrounding his possession of the crack cocaine or the drug paraphernalia.

There is no doubt that possession of a controlled dangerous substance and possession of drug paraphernalia constitutes conduct unbecoming a teaching staff member and subjects the teacher to penalty under the tenure law. That possession of the controlled dangerous substance or paraphernalia occurred off school premises has no bearing on the determination that the possession, in and of itself, constitutes unbecoming conduct.. Willingboro Board of Education v. Lott, 93 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 516, aff'd State Board of Education, 94 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU); In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of McIntyre, 96 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 718, aff'd, Appellate Division Docket No. A-5942-94 (July 10, 1996); In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Jeffrey Wolfe, School District of the Township of Randolph, 1980 S.L.D. 721, aff'd Appellate Division 1981 S.L.D. 1537. 1539. Nor does the fact that Mr. Morton received a conditional discharge and eventual dismissal of the May 11, 1995 drug possession charge preclude a finding of unbecoming conduct as to that incident. In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Jeffrey Wolfe, School District of the Township of Randolph, supra.

While Mr. Morton's conduct clearly constitutes unbecoming conduct under the tenure laws, the nature of the penalty to be imposed requires a balancing of interests. In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of McIntyre, supra, 96 N.J.A.R. 2d at 725. In McIntyre, however, the Commissioner determined that "with respect to the possession of controlled dangerous substances by an educator, analyses which consider quantity or measure shades of misconduct are inappropriate" because the Legislature and the State Board of Education have "assigned to the school districts of New Jersey a fundamental role in the prevention and intervention of substance use and abuse among students (see N.J.S.A. 18A:40A-1 et seq. and N.J.A.C. 6:29-6)." Ibid. That the Board herein takes this responsiblility very seriously is shown by the testimony of Principal Cook and the above findings of fact 42 through 47. Teachers serve as role models, "'a heavy duty [which] requires a degree of self-restraint and controlled behavior rarely requisite to other types of employment.'" Ibid. at 726 (quoting In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Jacques L. Sammons, School District of Black Horse Pike Regional, Camden County, 1972 S.L.D. 302, 321). Accordingly, "possession of a controlled dangerous substance by an educator, absent mitigating circumstances, . . . is sufficiently flagrant conduct to warrant dismissal," even if it reflects only one instance of misconduct. Ibid. See also, Willingboro Board of Education v. Lott, supra.

The mitigating circumstances referred to by the Commissioner in McIntyre could include evidence of an exemplary record as a teacher. For example, in The Tenure Hearing of Robert P. Valenti, School District of the Township of Monroe, OAL DKT. NO. EDU 4926-89, Commissioner's Decision 177-89 (March 6, 1990), the teacher was arrested for possession of one marijuana joint and an additional 2.5 grams of marijuana. A principal, teacher and guidance counselor, all employees of the Board, testified as to the teacher's exemplary record over twenty years as a teacher, his rapport with his students and his integral part in the school community. While the Commissioner increased the penalty recommended by the Administrative Law Judge from forfeiture of 120 days pay to forfeiture of 180 days pay, the Commissioner did not order Valenti removed from his tenured position.

In the instant matter, however, respondent has not proven any mitigating circumstances. He presented no testimony or documents to establish an exemplary record as a teacher other than he has been so employed for twenty-one years. Moreover, as found above, his testimony as to the circumstances surrounding the two incidents is not credible and thus does not constitute mitigating circumstances. "{E]ducators who flaunt the law, especially in the area of illicit involvement with drugs, must be prepared to pay a very heavy price for their lack of lawfulness." Willingboro Board of Education v. Lott, supra, 93 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) at 522. Accordingly, I conclude that the appropriate penalty for respondent's conduct unbecoming on the two charges brought by the Board is removal from his tenured position.

Respondent argues, however, that to remove him from his position would violate the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination (LAD) because he is a handicapped individual, i.e. a drug addict, and the Board failed to provide him a reasonable accommodation. Firstly, it is not as well settled as respondent asserts that drug addiction is a handicap under the LAD. Compare, The Matter of Henry Jackson, 294 N.J. Super. 233, 236 n.1 (App. Div. 1996) with Matter of Cahill 245 N.J. Super. 397, 400, 401 (App. Div. 1991) and In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Sondra Yanniello, Board of Education of the City of Millville, Cumberland County, 95 N.J.A.R.. 2d (EDU) 262, 271, aff'd State Board of Education, 97 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 250, 251, aff'd Docket Number A-3482-96 (App. Div. 1998) (slip op. at 9) (State Board of Education and Appellate Division hold that "drug addiction is a handicap within the protections of" the LAD). Assuming, arguendo, that drug addiction is a handicap, it is clear that the Board has provided Mr. Morton a reasonable accommodation. It is undisputed that in November, 1988 the then Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Arnold Webster, approved Mr. Morton's absence from school so that he could attend a forty-five day residential program at Seabrook House for rehabilitation from drug abuse and that Dr. Webster told Mr. Morton to "take all the time you need." As in Yanniello, supra, the Board has reasonably accommodated Mr. Morton by supporting his forty-five day inpatient drug program in 1988 and permitting him to return to work after he completed that program.

In addition to charging Mr. Morton with conduct unbecoming the Board argues that by virtue of Mr. Morton's conviction of possession of drug paraphernalia he forfeited his position. A public employee convicted of a crime may forfeit his position pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2. That statute provides in pertinent part that

> A person holding any public office, position, or employment, elective or appointive, under the government of this State or any agency or political subdivision thereof, who is convicted of an offense shall forfeit such office or position if:
> (1) He is convicted under the laws of this State of an offense involving dishonesty or of a crime of the third degree or above or under the laws of another state or of the United States of an offense or a crime which, if committed in this State, would be such an offense or crime;
>
> (2) He is convicted of an offense involving or touching such office, position or employment; or
>
> (3) The Constitution or a statute other than the code so provides.
> [N.J.S.A. 2c:51-2(a)].

Mr. Morton was not convicted of a crime of dishonesty or a third degree or higher crime and there is no Constitutional or statutory provision that applies. Accordingly, whether he forfeited his position by pleading guilty to the disorderly persons offense of possessing drug paraphernalia would be determined by the second above-quoted provision, i.e. whether that offense "involve[d] or touch[ed]" Morton's position as a teacher.

In Arocha &. Gonzalez v. Board of Education of The Hudson County Area Vocational-Technical Schools District, Hudson County, the State Board of Education concluded that a school janitor's guilty plea to the crime of conspiracy to possess marijuana "touched" his employment and justified forfeiture of his position under the statute. (State Board of Education Docket No. 95-84, April 8, 1985). In so concluding, the Board reasoned that an "employe[e] in the public school system who [is] charged with the care of students or ha[s] significant contact with students serve[s] as [an] adult role mode[l] and contribute[s] to the student's education . . . [and] is under a duty to conduct himself in a manner that in no way encourages or condones the use of drugs." Ibid., slip op. at 6-7. The Board continued that "when such an employee is convicted of a drug related offense, he has violated that duty and, therefore, the conviction 'touches' his position within the meaning of N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2a(2)." Ibid., slip op. at 7.

Were it not for a 1995 amendment to N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2, I would conclude that Mr. Morton forfeited his position under the holding of Arocha v. Gonzalez, supra. However, in 1995 the Legislature amended the cited statute by, inter alia, adding a new subsection. That subsection provides, in pertinent part, that

> In any case in which the issue of forfeiture is not raised in a court of this State at the time of a finding of guilt, entry of guilty plea or sentencing, a forfeiture of public office, position or employment required by this section may be ordered by a court of this State upon application of the county prosecutor or the Attorney General or upon application of the public officer or public entity having authority to remove the person convicted from his public office, position or employment. [N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2g] (emphasis added).

In the instant case, the issue of forfeiture was apparently not raised at Mr. Morton's sentencing. However, neither the Office of Administrative Law nor the Commissioner of Education is a "court." See, In Re Tyler, 236 N.J. Super. 478 (App. Div. 1989). Accordingly, neither the OAL nor the Commissioner has the jurisdiction to enter orders for forfeiture of public employment pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2, as amended by P.L. 1995, c. 250. In the Matter of Vitacco, 97 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 454, 455. Rather, should the Board wish to pursue forfeiture, it will have to make application to the appropriate municipal court.

In his cross appeal, Mr. Morton argues that, since there was no judicial declaration of forfeiture of his position when he was sentenced on his guilty plea, the Board had no authority to convert his suspension to one without pay effective November 1, 1996. Accordingly, he seeks judgment in his favor for his salary between November 1, 1996 and December 16, 1996 when the Board voted to certify tenure charges against him. The Board contends that since Morton forfeited his position as of the date of his conviction, he is not entitled to any back pay. As discussed above, the OAL and the Commissioner lacks jurisdiction to enter a forfeiture order. If the Board applies to the appropriate court and receives a forfeiture order, the effective date of forfeiture would be the date of conviction and Mr. Morton would not be entitled to any back pay. In the absence of such a forfeiture order, Mr. Morton's suspension should have been with pay until the Board certified tenure charges against him. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-8.3.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing, it is ORDERED that respondent Robert Morton be dismissed from his tenured employment with Board of Education of the City of Camden, Camden County. It is further ORDERED that the petitioner Board pay Mr. Morton his salary for the period between November 1, 1996 and December 16, 1996 unless petitioner applies for and obtains an order of forfeiture of Mr. Morton's position from the appropriate municipal court.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE HEARING OF ROBERT G. MORTON, SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF CAMDEN, CAMDEN COUNTY.	:
AND	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
ROBERT MORTON,	:	DECISION
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF CAMDEN, CAMDEN COUNTY,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Respondent Morton's exceptions and the Board's reply thereto are duly noted as submitted in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and were considered by the Commissioner in rendering the within decision.

Upon careful and independent review of the record in this matter, which included transcripts from the four days of hearing conducted at the OAL, the Commissioner finds no cause to disturb the findings and conclusions of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ).[1] To the extent the ALJ's factual findings omit details which respondent argues are relevant, the Commissioner determines that such information is inconsequential to the within matter.

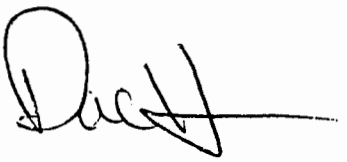
[1] In his affirmance, the Commissioner neither explicitly accepts nor rejects the ALJ's discussion on pages 37 and 38 regarding whether respondent's criminal conviction would have been sufficient to warrant forfeiture under the pertinent statute, prior to its 1995 amendment.

Moreover, the Commissioner observes that the record before him provides no basis to challenge the ALJ's credibility determinations.

Concurring that the Board has proven the charges of unbecoming conduct, the Commissioner affirms the initial decision of the ALJ recommending a penalty of dismissal, for the reasons clearly and effectively expressed in the initial decision. Additionally, in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.10(j), the Commissioner affirms the ALJ's Interlocutory Order of May 14, 1997 regarding the permissible scope of discovery and the procedures for disclosure of documents in the Board's possession.

Accordingly, respondent is deemed dismissed from his tenured position as of the date of this decision. The Board is directed to pay respondent's salary due for the period November 1, 1996 to December 16, 1996, the date upon which the herein charges were certified to the Commissioner, as per N.J.S.A. 18A:6-14, unless, as the ALJ notes, the Board successfully obtains an order of forfeiture pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2, as amended by P.L. 1995, c. 250. A copy of this decision will be transmitted to the State Board of Examiners for action as it deems appropriate, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6.[2]

IT IS SO ORDERED.



COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

[2] This decision, as the Commissioner's final determination in the instant matter, may be appealed to the State Board of Education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-27 et seq. and N.J.A.C. 6:2-1.1 et seq., within 30 days of its filing. Commissioner decisions are deemed filed three days after the date of mailing to the parties.

WILLIAM BUCKLEY,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF TRENTON, MERCER COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner, a teaching staff member, alleged that respondent Board violated his tenure and seniority rights when it reassigned him from a 12-month position to a 10-month position and prorated his annual salary to reflect his 10-month work schedule as opposed to the 12-month work schedule in his prior assignment.

The ALJ granted petitioner's motion for summary decision, following the rationale of her initial decision in Rocco DiMaggio v. Board of Education of the City of Trenton, Mercer County, issued prior to the Appellate Division's recent decision in Edward Carpenito v. Board of Education of the Borough of Rumson, Monmouth County.

In light of Carpenito, supra, the Commissioner reversed the decision of the ALJ and granted summary decision to respondent, finding that, as in DiMaggio, it was permissible for the Board to reduce petitioner's salary upon abolishment of his 12-month position and reassignment to a 10-month position as part of a bona fide reduction in force.

SUMMARY DECISION

OAL DKT. NO. EDU 6586-97

AGENCY DKT. NO. 275-7/97

WILLIAM BUCKLEY,

Petitioner,

v.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF TRENTON, MERCER COUNTY,

Respondent.

David L. Rosenberg, Esq., for petitioner (Klausner & Hunter, attorneys)

Thomas W. Sumners, Jr., Esq. and Giuffre M. Hollinsgworth, Esq., for respondent (Sumners, George & Dortch, attorneys)

Record Closed: October 28, 1998 Decided: June 11, 1999*

BEFORE M. KATHLEEN DUNCAN, ALJ:

This matter commenced on July 25, 1997, when William Buckley (hereinafter petitioner) filed a petition of appeal with the Commissioner of Education seeking a determination that the Board of Education of the City of Trenton (hereinafter respondent) had violated his tenure and seniority rights when its reassigned him from a 12-month position to a 10-month position, effective September 1, 1997. An answer on behalf of respondent was filed on August 1, 1997 and on August 11, 1997, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

The matter was assigned originally to administrative law judge Solomon Metzger, but was reassigned to the undersigned when counsel for petitioner advised that consolidation with a number of other matters being handled by the undersigned might be appropriate. A prehearing conference was scheduled and was conducted on November 10, 1997, together with the other matters which were being consolidated for determination. An amended answer was filed on behalf of respondent on December 15, 1997. A separate supplemental prehearing conference was scheduled in the above-captioned matter on January 14, 1998, at which time it was determined that consolidation with the other cases was not appropriate because of issues present in the within matter which were not present in the others. Thereafter numerous telephone conference calls took place to ascertain the status of this matter while the parties were engaged in settlement negotiations. On July 31, 1998, petitioner submitted a motion for summary decision together with supporting papers. A brief in opposition to petitioner's motion was submitted on behalf of respondent on August 31, 1998. Oral argument on the motion took place by telephone conference call on October 28, 1998, whereupon the record closed.

FINDINGS OF FACT

The facts relevant to a determination of this matter are not in dispute and I therefore FIND the following as uncontested facts.

Petitioner has been continuously employed as a teaching staff member by respondent since January 1973. Beginning in September 1974 and continuing through April 28, 1986, petitioner was employed as a full-time, 10-month teacher of industrial arts-machine shop, an assignment for which he held the appropriate endorsement on his New Jersey Instructional Certificate. Commencing April 28, 1986, and continuing until July 1, 1997, he was assigned to the position

Job Developer - OSR, a full-time 12-month position. By letter dated May 1, 1997, respondent notified petitioner as follows:

> Due to economy and a Reduction In Force, the Board of Education, on Monday, April 28, 1997, approved the Superintendent's recommendation to reassign you from the position of Teacher Specialist, assigned to Trenton High Vocational School, to Industrial Arts Teacher, location to be determined, effective September 1, 1997.

Following his reassignment to Industrial Arts Teacher on a 10-month basis, respondent maintained petitioner's rate of salary and level of monthly compensation. In effect, however, petitioner's annual salary was reduced because his compensation was prorated to reflect his 10-month work schedule as opposed to the 12-month work schedule in his prior assignment.

Although the petition of appeal and the prehearing order set forth an additional issue with respect to petitioner's allegations that respondent violated his rights by contracting with the Children's Home Society of New Jersey, an independent agency, to provide the services which petitioner previously provided as Job Developer within the district, in the within motion petitioner seeks only a summary decision that respondent was required to maintain petitioner's annual salary frozen or "red-circled" at its former level until the annual salary on the salary guide for Industrial Arts Teacher becomes equal to or greater than his last annual salary for the 12-month assignment as Job Developer.

APPLICABLE LAW AND DISCUSSION

The once classic statement of the standard for granting or denying summary judgment set forth in Judson v. Peoples Bank and Trust Co. of Westfield, 17 N.J. 67 (1954), was recently modified in Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of America, 142 N.J. 520 (1995). Therein the Court held that the standard to be applied is now the same as the standard for determining motions for involuntary dismissal under R. 4:37-2(b) and for determining motions for judgment under R. 4:40-1 and R. 4:40-2. Trial courts considering motions for summary judgment are now required to engage in the same type of evaluation, analysis or sifting of evidential materials in light of the burden of persuasion that applies if the matter goes to trial. The Court explained:

> Under this new standard, a determination whether there exists a "genuine issue" of material fact that precludes summary judgment requires the motion judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to permit a rational factfinder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party. The "judge's function is not himself [or herself] to weigh the evidence and determine the truth of the matter but to determine whether there is a genuine issue for trial.". . . Credibility determinations will continue to be made by a jury and not a judge. If there exists a single, unavoidable resolution of the alleged disputed issue of fact, that issue should be considered insufficient to constitute a "genuine" issue of material fact for purposes of Rule 4:46-2. . . . The import of our holding is that when the evidence "is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law, . . ., the trial court should not hesitate to grant summary judgment. (citations omitted) Id. at 540.

The Court noted that to send a case to trial knowing that a rational decision-maker could reach but one conclusion was indeed "worthless" and would "serve no useful purpose." The purpose of this new standard, the decision explained, was to encourage trial courts not to refrain from granting summary judgment when the proper circumstances present themselves.

In the present matter, the parties stipulate that none of the material facts are in dispute and accordingly, this matter is ripe for summary decision.

On May 24, 1999, I issued an initial decision in Rocco DiMaggio v. Board of Education of the City of Trenton, EDU 6389-97, wherein the motion for summary decision had set forth arguments and facts almost identical to those in the within matter. There are some differences, however. Although respondent in its May 1, 1997 letter to petitioner herein characterized his position as "Teacher Specialist" as it did Mr. DiMaggio's in the other case, in the within matter the documents submitted indicate that petitioner's position "Job Developer" in fact required an Educational Services Certificate with a "Valid N.J. Teacher-Coordinator, Cooperative Vocational Technical Education Program Certificate." (sic-should say endorsement). See, N.J.A.C. 6:11-11.20 for description and prerequisites. Under the Educational Services Certificate there is also an endorsement entitled "Vocational-Technical Coordinator; Cooperative Industrial Education Programs." See, N.J.A.C. 6:11-11.3. Petitioner obtained this endorsement in December 1977. Petitioner does currently hold the endorsement entitled "Teacher Coordinator of WECEP," (work experience career exploration program), but it was not issued until May 1997. I CONCLUDE that the endorsement pursuant to which petitioner held his Job Developer position must have been the endorsement Coordinator, Cooperative Industrial Education on the Educational Services Certificate which petitioner obtained in December 1977. The two endorsements are similar and both entitle the holder to teach similar subjects and to act as coordinator between school and industry. Since he held the Job Developer position commencing in 1986, it could not have been held pursuant to the endorsement he did not obtain until May 1997. Accordingly, petitioner herein is in a slightly different situation from the petitioner in DiMaggio, since the tenured position which he held at the time of the RIF was not simply "teacher," the position title to which tenure attaches for any service under the Instructional Certificate, but rather was teacher-coordinator (or perhaps Job Developer*) the position title to which tenure attaches under petitioner's Educational Services Certificate.

In my DiMaggio opinion, a copy of which is attached hereto for convenient reference, after reviewing the relevant statutory and case law, I CONCLUDED:

> It is simply not possible to reconcile all of the foregoing inconsistent decisions. What does appear from a composite analysis, however, is that although at first blush there would seem to be no logical explanation for regarding a reduction from full-time employment to part-time employment as a RIF and refusing to consider a twelve-month position to a ten-month position in the same regard, in fact there is justification for the disparate treatment. As noted by Judge Errickson in his opinion in East Brunswick Education Association, supra, a ten-month position is not considered in the operations of schools to be part-time or less than a full-time position. See also N.J.A.C. 6:3-5.1(f) which provides in > pertinent part "For purposes of calculating seniority entitlement, there shall be no distinction between academic years and calendar years." Accordingly, when a teaching staff member is reassigned within the scope of his tenured position from twelve-month employment to ten-month employment, he moves from one full-time assignment to another full-time assignment. Accordingly, there has been no reduction in the number of teaching staff members. This legitimate distinction between full-time employment and part-time employment is emphasized by the decision of the Commissioner in Adele Vexler v. Board of Ed. of Red Bank, 1980 S.L.D. 272. Therein the Commissioner determined that refusal by a school psychologist of part-time employment after her full-time position was abolished did not free the Red Bank Board of Education of its obligation to place Vexler on a preferred eligibility list.

* Whether the position title job developer was submitted to the county superintendent for approval pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.3 is not evident from the record herein.

> Based upon all of the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that the approach which best balances the competing interests of teaching staff members and boards of education is the one adopted most recently by the Commissioner in Avery, supra, and directed by Judge Errickson in the East Brunswick Board of Education case, supra, i.e., if the full-time assignment to which petitioner's tenure and seniority rights entitle him is a ten-month employment as opposed to previous twelve-month employment, N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9, when read in conjunction with N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5, prevents the Board of Education from reducing the annual salary of that teaching staff member. This approach implements the intention of the statutory scheme to provide teaching staff members with both job security and salary protection and at the same time permits the board to make adjustments required by reasons of economy or changing enrollments. As pointed out during oral argument by petitioner's counsel, the board has still accomplished savings by eliminating the salary of the previous holder of the 10-month teacher of auto mechanics position who was "bumped" by petitioner and by eliminating the requirement of future salary increases to petitioner for a substantial period of time until the 10-month guide reaches his prior compensation.

As previously noted hereinabove, there are some differences in the within matter from the facts in DiMaggio and Avery. Petitioner herein held his position Job Developer pursuant to his Educational Services Certificate and accordingly, his tenured position title was not simply "teacher" as in DiMaggio and Avery. Therefore, respondent could not have transferred petitioner from his 12-month tenured position to the 10-month position Teacher of Industrial Arts in the absence of a valid reduction in force. The parties herein agree, however, that petitioner's employment as Job Developer was abolished as part of a legitimate reduction in force for reasons of economic efficiency. When petitioner's particular employment was abolished there was no other full-time position within the same category. Accordingly, petitioner reverted to the category in which he had held employment prior to his employment as Job Developer and was again assigned to teach Industrial Arts, a 10-month assignment. I CONCLUDE that the slight factual differences in this case do not warrant a different conclusion concerning the salary issue, however. In Stolte v. Willingboro Board of Education, 1981 S.L.D. 770, discussed at pages 10-11 in the DiMaggio opinion attached, Stolte's salary was frozen at its existing level (but he was not advanced on the guide) after he was bumped from his principal position back to a teaching position. In that case the salary distinction resulted from different salary guides for administrators and teachers. In the present matter petitioner would still be paid on the same salary guide, but respondent would prorate the salary to reflect a 10-month work year as opposed to a 12-month work year. In this regard petitioner herein is exactly the same as the petitioners in DiMaggio and Jeanette Williams. Like those teaching staff members petitioner herein could not have refused his current 10-month assignment and requested placement on a preferred eligibility list, and still have maintained his tenure rights in the district.

Respondent's brief in the within matter makes one additional argument which was not made in the DiMaggio case, i.e., that a valid reduction in force for reasons of economy constitutes "good cause" pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5. That statute, as noted at page 5 in the DiMaggio opinion attached hereto, defines the tenure rights of teaching staff members who have satisfied certain conditions and have obtained tenure in the district and provides in pertinent part that those persons:

> . . . shall be under tenure during good behavior and efficiency and they shall not be dismissed or reduced in compensation except for inefficiency, incapacity, or conduct unbecoming such a teaching > staff member or other just cause and then only in the manner prescribed by (N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9 et seq.) . . .

The words which directly follow the phrase "other just cause" make it perfectly clear, however, that even with "other just cause" the procedures set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 must be followed. That statute provides:

> No person shall be dismissed or reduced in compensation,
>
> (a) if he is or shall be under tenure of office, position or employment during good behavior and efficiency in the public school system of the state, or
>
> (b) if he is or shall be under tenure of office, position or employment during good behavior and efficiency as a supervisor, teacher or in any other teaching capacity in the Marie H. Katzenbach school for the deaf, or in any other educational institution conducted under the supervision of the commissioner;
>
> except for inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct, or other just cause, and then only after a hearing held pursuant to this subarticle, by the commissioner, or a person appointed by him to act in his behalf, after a written charge or charges, of the cause or causes of complaint, shall have been preferred against such person, signed by the person or persons making the same, who may or may not be a member or members of a board of education, and filed and proceeded upon as in this subarticle provided.
> Nothing in this section shall prevent the reduction of the number of any such persons holding such offices, positions or employments under the conditions and with the effect provided by law. (emphasis added)

The last paragraph in the above-quoted statute provides further support for the Commissioner's determination in Avery and for the opinion in DiMaggio, attached hereto: a valid reduction in force can result in a tenured teaching staff member losing his or her full-time position, but as long as a full-time position is maintained, that staff member's then current compensation cannot be reduced.

For all of the foregoing reasons, it is hereby ORDERED that petitioner's motion for summary decision is GRANTED. Respondent is ordered to restore petitioner's salary and benefits to those he received during the 1996-97 school year and to reimburse petitioner for back pay and benefits. Such salary and benefits must be maintained until such time as petitioner's salary level corresponds with the salary guide for the assigned position on a 10-month basis.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, P. O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

WILLIAM BUCKLEY,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF TRENTON, MERCER COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record and initial decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. Respondent's exceptions and petitioner's reply thereto were timely filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4.

Respondent's exceptions and petitioner's reply essentially reiterate those arguments previously considered by the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) in the instant matter and also in DiMaggio, supra, the initial decision which the ALJ incorporates as part of the present initial decision; therefore, they shall not be repeated herein. Additionally, petitioner's reply raises the argument that the recent Appellate Division decision in the matter entitled Edward Carpenito v. Board of Education of the Borough of Rumson, Monmouth County, decided by the Commissioner August 21, 1996, rev'd State Board February 4, 1998, rev'd New Jersey Superior Court, Appellate Division, Docket No. A-3731-97T3,[1] supports the correctness of the ALJ's recommended decisions in this matter and in DiMaggio.

[1] The Appellate Division decision in Carpenito, supra, was issued on June 29, 1999, subsequent to the filing of the initial decisions in DiMaggio, supra, and the instant matter. Consequently, the ALJ who issued the initial decision in both these matters did not have the court's decision in Carpenito before her for consideration.

Petitioner's reply exceptions aver that:

> In Carpenito, the Appellate Division reiterates the principles stated in Avery, DiMaggio, and this matter, that "[a] tenured teacher may be involuntarily transferred to another position within his or her Certification where no loss of salary or other reduction in employment is suffered and the teacher is not singled out for the transfer on a prohibited basis." (Opinion, p. 8.) In its opinion, the Appellate Division cited Williams v. Plainfield Board of Ed., 1979 S.L.D. 220, reversed State Board of Ed. 1980 S.L.D. 1552, affirmed 176 N.J. Super. 154 (App. Div. 1980), as did [the ALJ], holding that the transfer of a high school principal to the position of elementary principal without any reduction in compensation or a reduction in rank did not violate the principal's tenure rights. (Petitioner's Reply Exceptions at p. 5)

Upon thorough review of the record of the present matter, the initial decision and the parties' exceptions, the Commissioner declines to adopt the recommended decision of the ALJ granting summary decision to petitioner for the following reasons. Subsequent to the filing of the initial decision in this matter, the Commissioner issued his final decision in DiMaggio, supra, on July 8, 1999. In that decision, the Commissioner noted that the ALJ, in determining how to apply the diverse and inconsistent body of case law spanning several decades to the dispute therein, had opted to rely primarily on the Commissioner's decision in Avery, supra. The same has occurred in the instant matter as well. However, as noted by the Commissioner in DiMaggio, the Commissioner's holding in Avery was premised upon the conclusion that the petitioners therein had not been subject to a reduction in force but had been merely transferred from one full-time (12-month) teacher position to another full-time (10-month) teacher position. Consequently, it was determined that petitioners had impermissibly suffered a reduction in their salary when the Board acted to prorate their salaries for 10 months of employment based on their previously held 12-month positions.

Significantly, however, the Commissioner's decision in DiMaggio held that both that matter and Avery now had to be viewed in light of the Appellate Division decision in Carpenito, wherein the court's determination refined the concepts of transfer and reduction in force to hold that when a board of education acts to abolish a teaching staff member's position pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9 and reassigns that individual to another position with no loss of tangible employment benefit, that action does not constitute a reduction in force, but is instead tantamount to a transfer.

The petitioner in DiMaggio was found to have suffered a tangible loss of employment benefit in the form of a reduction in work year/hours and a concomitant reduction in annual salary as a result of the Board's actions taken pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9. Therefore, in view of the court's decision in Carpenito, the Commissioner held that DiMaggio had been the subject of a reduction in force, not a transfer. Moreover, because the factual circumstances were thus distinguishable from prior court rulings involving transfers, such as Williams, supra, and Piscataway, supra, the Commissioner further concluded that > it was permissible for respondent  to reduce [DiMaggio]'s annual salary, given that the position to which he was entitled based on his tenure and seniority was a ten-month position as opposed to a twelve-month one as held prior to the reduction in force effectuated by the Board, and particularly in light of the fact that the Board maintained petitioner's rate of salary based on his prior twelve-month position. See Casey v. Board of Education of the Township of Cinnaminson, 95 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 585. (DiMaggio, supra, at p. 20)

In the instant matter, petitioner has suffered the same loss of tangible employment benefit as occurred in DiMaggio, i.e., a reduction in work year/hours and a concomitant reduction in annual salary. Consequently, the Commissioner finds and determines that under the factual circumstances presented herein, petitioner was the subject of a reduction in force, not a transfer as the Board avers. Moreover, consistent with his holding in DiMaggio, the Commissioner finds and concludes that because the Board acted pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9 to abolish petitioner's 12-month position and reassigned him to a 10-month position in accordance with his tenure and seniority entitlements, its action to reduce petitioner's annual salary is permissible, particularly because his 10-month salary is prorated based upon the salary for his prior 12-month position and his rate of salary has been maintained (Casey).

Accordingly, for the reasons expressed herein, the Commissioner grants summary decision to the City of Trenton Board of Education. [2]

IT IS SO ORDERED.

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

[2] This decision, as the Commissioner's final determination in the instant matter, may be appealed to the State Board of Education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-27 et seq. and N.J.A.C. 6:2-1.1 et seq., within 30 days of its filing. Commissioner decisions are deemed filed three days after the date of mailing to the parties.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner, a teaching staff member, alleged that respondent Board violated his tenure and seniority rights when it reassigned him from a 12-month position to a 10-month position and prorated his annual salary to reflect his 10-month work schedule as opposed to the 12-month work schedule in his prior assignment.

The ALJ granted petitioner's motion for summary decision, following the rationale of her initial decision in Rocco DiMaggio v. Board of Education of the City of Trenton, Mercer County, issued prior to the Appellate Division's recent decision in Edward Carpenito v. Board of Education of the Borough of Rumson, Monmouth County.

In light of Carpenito, supra, the Commissioner reversed the initial decision of the ALJ which granted petitioner's motion for summary decision, finding that, as in DiMaggio, it was permissible for the Board to reduce petitioner's salary upon abolishment of his 12-month position and reassignment to a 10-month position as part of a bona fide reduction in force. Matter was remanded to the OAL for further proceedings strictly limited to any remaining issues in the record which have not been decided by way of the instant decision.

AMENDED DECISION

RESPONDENT.	:

The record and initial decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. Respondent's exceptions and petitioner's reply thereto were timely filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4.

Respondent's exceptions and petitioner's reply essentially reiterate those arguments previously considered by the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) in the instant matter and also in DiMaggio, supra, the initial decision which the ALJ incorporates as part of the present initial decision; therefore, they shall not be repeated herein. Additionally, petitioner's reply raises the argument that the recent Appellate Division decision in the matter entitled Edward Carpenito v. Board of Education of the Borough of Rumson, Monmouth County, decided by the Commissioner August 21, 1996, rev'd State Board February 4, 1998, rev'd New Jersey Superior Court, Appellate Division, Docket No. A-3731-97T3,[1] supports the correctness of the ALJ's recommended decisions in this matter and in DiMaggio.

[1] The Appellate Division decision in Carpenito, supra, was issued on June 29, 1999, subsequent to the filing of the initial decisions in DiMaggio, supra, and the instant matter. Consequently, the ALJ who issued the initial decision in both these matters did not have the court's decision in Carpenito before her for consideration.

Petitioner's reply exceptions aver that:

> In Carpenito, the Appellate Division reiterates the principles stated in Avery, DiMaggio, and this matter, that "[a] tenured teacher may be involuntarily transferred to another position within his or her Certification where no loss of salary or other reduction in employment is suffered and the teacher is not singled out for the transfer on a prohibited basis." (Opinion, p. 8.) In its opinion, the Appellate Division cited Williams v. Plainfield Board of Ed., 1979 S.L.D. 220, reversed State Board of Ed. 1980 S.L.D. 1552, affirmed 176 N.J. Super. 154 (App. Div. 1980), as did [the ALJ], holding that the transfer of a high school principal to the position of elementary principal without any reduction in compensation or a reduction in rank did not violate the principal's tenure rights. (Petitioner's Reply Exceptions at p. 5)

Upon thorough review of the record of the present matter, the initial decision and the parties' exceptions, the Commissioner declines to adopt the recommended decision of the ALJ granting summary decision to petitioner for the following reasons. Subsequent to the filing of the initial decision in this matter, the Commissioner issued his final decision in DiMaggio, supra, on July 8, 1999. In that decision, the Commissioner noted that the ALJ, in determining how to apply the diverse and inconsistent body of case law spanning several decades to the dispute therein, had opted to rely primarily on the Commissioner's decision in Avery, supra. The same has occurred in the instant matter as well. However, as noted by the Commissioner in DiMaggio, the Commissioner's holding in Avery was premised upon the conclusion that the petitioners therein had not been subject to a reduction in force but had been merely transferred from one full-time (12-month) teacher position to another full-time (10-month) teacher position. Consequently, it was determined that petitioners had impermissibly suffered a reduction in their salary when the Board acted to prorate their salaries for 10 months of employment based on their previously held 12-month positions.

Significantly, however, the Commissioner's decision in DiMaggio held that both that matter and Avery now had to be viewed in light of the Appellate Division decision in Carpenito, wherein the court's determination refined the concepts of transfer and reduction in force to hold that when a board of education acts to abolish a teaching staff member's position pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9 and reassigns that individual to another position with no loss of tangible employment benefit, that action does not constitute a reduction in force, but is instead tantamount to a transfer.

The petitioner in DiMaggio was found to have suffered a tangible loss of employment benefit in the form of a reduction in work year/hours and a concomitant reduction in annual salary as a result of the Board's actions taken pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9. Therefore, in view of the court's decision in Carpenito, the Commissioner held that DiMaggio had been the subject of a reduction in force, not a transfer. Moreover, because the factual circumstances were thus distinguishable from prior court rulings involving transfers, such as Williams, supra, and Piscataway, supra, the Commissioner further concluded that > it was permissible for respondent  to reduce [DiMaggio]'s annual salary, given that the position to which he was entitled based on his tenure and seniority was a ten-month position as opposed to a twelve-month one as held prior to the reduction in force effectuated by the Board, and particularly in light of the fact that the Board maintained petitioner's rate of salary based on his prior twelve-month position. See Casey v. Board of Education of the Township of Cinnaminson, 95 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 585. (DiMaggio, supra, at p. 20)

In the instant matter, petitioner has suffered the same loss of tangible employment benefit as occurred in DiMaggio, i.e., a reduction in work year/hours and a concomitant reduction in annual salary. Consequently, the Commissioner finds and determines that under the factual circumstances presented herein, petitioner was the subject of a reduction in force, not a transfer as the Board avers. Moreover, consistent with his holding in DiMaggio, the Commissioner finds and concludes that because the Board acted pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9 to abolish petitioner's 12-month position and reassigned him to a 10-month position in accordance with his tenure and seniority entitlements, its action to reduce petitioner's annual salary is permissible, particularly because his 10-month salary is prorated based upon the salary for his prior 12-month position and his rate of salary has been maintained (Casey).

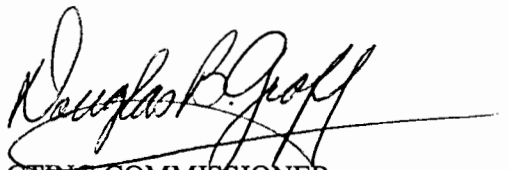
Accordingly, for the reasons expressed herein, the Commissioner reverses the initial decision issued by the ALJ which grants summary decision to petitioner and, because there are remaining issues in the record which have not as yet been heard by the ALJ, the Commissioner remands the matter to the OAL for further proceedings strictly limited to those issues specified in the record which have not been decided by way of the instant decision. [2]

IT IS SO ORDERED.



ACTING COMMISSIONER

[2] This decision, as the Commissioner's final determination with respect to those issues set forth in petitioner's motion for summary decision, may be appealed to the State Board of Education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-27 et seq. and N.J.A.C. 6:2-1.1 et seq. Commissioner decisions are deemed filed three days after the date of mailing to

SYNOPSIS

Petitioners challenged the Board's residency determination.

The ALJ dismissed the petition, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.14, due to petitioners' failure to comply with the May 17, 1999 discovery order of the Court and granted the Board's counterclaim for $7,600, representing the annual tuition for W.O.'s attendance in the District's schools during the 1997-98 school year, together with pre- and post-judgment interest.

The Commissioner concurred with the determination of the ALJ except for the award of pre- and post-judgment interest. The Commissioner did not accept that pre-judgment interest should be awarded since he concluded that the record was insufficient to persuade him definitively that the actions or inactions of petitioners were ascribable to bad faith or a deliberate violation of law or regulation. Similarly, the Commissioner determined that an award of post-judgment interest was inappropriate since a claim for such interest would only arise if petitioners fail to satisfy the judgment awarded in this decision within 60 days of its award, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.16(c)2.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE SOUTH ORANGE AND MAPLEWOOD SCHOOL DISTRICT, ESSEX COUNTY,

Respondent.

Olubukola O. Adetula, Esq., for petitioners

Joanne L. Butler, Esq., for respondent (Schenck, Price, Smith and King, attorneys)

Record Closed: May 24, 1999 Decided: June 10, 1999

BEFORE JEFF S. MASIN, ALJ:

This matter was originally filed at the Office of Administrative Law on July 23, 1998, after having been transmitted from the Commissioner of Education. Petitioners K.O. and O.O. sought an order granting the petitioner child, W.O., admission into the school district of South Orange and Maplewood as a student eligible for free public education and reversing a decision of the respondent boards of education which had denied the student eligibility for a free public education within the school district. The Board of Education filed an answer and a counter-claim seeking the dismissal of the petition and seeking by way of counter-claim an order granting judgment to the Board against K.O. removing W.O. from the school district and ordering that tuition be paid for the period of ineligible attendance of W.O. as well as attorneys fees, costs of suit, pre- and post-judgment interest and such further relief as deemed appropriate. Following transmittal the matter was assigned to the Honorable Linda Baer, ALJ, and discovery commenced. Judge Baer became ill and resigned from the Office of Administrative Law and the matter was reassigned to this judge.

In the interim on February 17, 1999, counsel for the board filed a notice of motion seeking to dismiss the petition and to award the counter claim due to the petitioners' failure to answer interrogatories. By letter of May 5, 1999, this judge advised counsel for petitioners that unless a response was received by Friday, May 14, 1999, respondent's motion would be granted. Thereafter, counsel for petitioners advised counsel for the board on May 13, 1999, that he would be sending answers to interrogatories, but that petitioner O.O.'s certification would not be signed because he was not in town. On May 17, 1999, Ms. Butler advised that there was a question concerning the certification date for the answers of petitioner K.O. as they reflected a certification date of May 12, 1999, although according to Mr. Adetula, K.O. was coming to his office of May 13, 1999, to sign the answers. In addition, no documents had been provided in the answer to discovery and the answers allegedly prepared to O.L. were uncertified. Thereafter, by letter of May 17, 1999, this judge advised counsel that although he was appreciative of Ms. Butler's concerns as to the lengthy delay in obtaining certified answers to interrogatories, he was reluctant to see the case resolved other than on the merits. The judge therefore ordered Mr. Adetula to provide a certified set of answers to interrogatories from Mr. O. no later than 12:00 Noon on May 24, 1999, and in addition to provide Ms. Butler with an explanation as to why the answers certified by K.O. reflected a certification date of May 12, 1999, rather than May 13, 1999. The letter to counsel dated May 17, 1999, which is attached hereto, specifically noted "If the certified answers to Mr. O.'s interrogatories and the explanation of the certification date for K.O.'s interrogatories are not in Ms. Butler's office by Noon on May 24, 1999, I will grant Ms. Butler's motion to dismiss and will grant her counter-claim."

By letter dated May 21, 1999, Ms. Butler advised that the board was questioning the veracity of the answers to interrogatories because of the indication that the certification bore an incorrect date.

On May 28, 1999, Ms. Butler wrote advising that a copy of a Certification of O.O. and certified answers to interrogatories were received by her firm at 2:14 P.M. on May 24, 1999. She therefore requests that the petition be dismissed and the counterclaim granted as "Petitioners have not complied with Your Honor's deadline with regard to receipt of certified answers to interrogatories."

As emphasized in the letter to counsel for the petitioners on May 17, 1999, the discovery process in this matter has gone on for a great length of time. Mr. Adetula did not see fit to respond to the motion originally filed before Judge Baer on February 17, 1999, and only filed a response thereto by way of letter of May 13, 1999, in which he merely indicated that he had sent discovery (although as it turned out, far from complete) and requested that the motion be withdrawn. Thereafter, despite having ample opportunity to do so, and fair warning of the consequences, the petitioners' counsel failed to assure that the answers and certifications were appropriately in the hands of Ms. Butler by the deadline of Noon on May 24, 1999. This was even more egregious given the indication in the letter of May 17 that while a further stretch was permitted in order to allow the matter to be resolved by the merits, there had to be a limit even to the tribunal's patience.

It is obviously most appropriate that cases be resolved on their merits. At the same time, there is a point at which a party must comply with the requirements of discovery. Counsel and clients cannot blithly ignore motions, receive the advantage from the delay in processing a pending motion caused by the unfortunate illness and resignation of the motion judge, then file incomplete certifications and answers, and then string out the response even further. In this case the petitioners were given more than ample opportunity to comply with the discovery requirements and the deadline to do so and of the consequences. Their failure to comply by the set time is not excusable. Therefore, I FIND that the petitioners failed to comply with the discovery order of May 17, 1999, and that pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.14 the petition is DISMISSED and the counterclaim of the board of education is GRANTED. It is therefore ORDERED that the petitioners shall pay to the board of education annual tuition for Columbia High School for the 1997-1998 school year in the amount of $7,600 as well as pre and post-judgment interest thereon.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

OAL DKT. NO. EDU 07084-98N
AGENCY DKT. NO. 150-5/98

Dear Counsel:

I have reviewed your correspondence of the last several days regarding the above matter. Although I am appreciative of Ms. Butler's concern as to the lengthy delay in obtaining certified answers to interrogatories, I am reluctant to see this case resolved other than on the merits. Mr. Adetula must provide a certified set of answers to interrogatories from Mr. Oduwole no later than 12:00 Noon on May 24, 1999. In addition he must provide Ms. Butler with an explanation as to why the answers certified by petitioner K.O. reflect a certification date of May 12, 1999, rather than May 13, 1999, as noted in the May 17, 1999, letter from Ms. Butler. If the certified answers to Mr. O.'s interrogatories and the explanation of the certification date for K.O.'s interrogatories are not in Ms. Butler's office by Noon on May 24, 1999, I will grant Ms. Butler's motion to dismiss and will grant her counter-claim.

Mr. Adetula must be aware that this discovery process has gone on too long and there has been more than sufficient opportunity to respond to the interrogatories. While I am prepared to give a bit of a further stretch in order that the matter can be resolved on the merits, there is a limit. I trust that there will be no further problems with regard to discovery in this case. However, if there is, the matter will be brought to a close.

Yours very truly,

Jeff S. Masin

The record of this matter and the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. No exceptions were filed by the parties.

Upon his independent review of the record, the Commissioner concurs with the determination of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) that the within Petition of Appeal be dismissed, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.14, due to petitioners' failure to comply with the May 17, 1999 discovery order of the Court. He further concurs with the ALJ that the Board's counterclaim in the amount of $7,600, which represents the annual tuition for W.O.'s attendance in the District's schools during the 1997-98 school year, is appropriately awarded. The Commissioner does not, however, accept that pre-judgment interest should be awarded to the Board in this matter, since he concludes that the record before him is insufficient to persuade him definitively that the actions or inactions of petitioners in this matter are ascribable to bad faith or a deliberate violation of law or regulation. Similarly, he determines that an award of post-judgment interest in the instant matter is inappropriate, since a claim for such interest would only arise if the petitioners fail to satisfy the judgment awarded in this decision within 60 days of its award. See N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.16(c)2.

Accordingly, the initial decision of the OAL, as amended above, is affirmed for the reasons stated therein. The instant Petition of Appeal is dismissed and petitioners are hereby directed to pay the Board tuition in the amount of $7,600.*

IT IS SO ORDERED.

* This decision, as the Commissioner's final determination in the instant matter, may be appealed to the State Board of Education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-27 et seq. and N.J.A.C. 6:2-1.1 et seq., within 30 days of its filing. SYNOPSIS

District certified tenure charges against respondent teacher for unbecoming conduct and insubordination/neglect of duty.

The ALJ found that the District sustained its tenure charges of unbecoming conduct and neglect of duty and concluded that the appropriate penalty was a permanent reduction in compensation of one step on the salary guide and forfeiture of 120 days' salary already withheld.

The Commissioner affirmed the findings and conclusions of the ALJ but, in light of respondent's unprofessional, uncooperative and defiant conduct, modified the penalty to include, in addition to the permanent reduction of one step on the salary guide and the 120 days' salary already withheld, an additional forfeiture of two months' salary and concomitant emoluments.

Statement of the Case

This is a teacher tenure proceeding under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 to -18. Tenured teaching staff members hold employment in the public school system "during good behavior and efficiency." Petitioner State-Operated School District of the City of Newark ("District") has brought charges of unbecoming conduct and neglect of duty against respondent Charles Motley ("Motley") arising out of a series of incidents that occurred in February 1996 and during the 1996-97 academic year.[1] Specifically, the District accuses Motley of exhibiting disrespectful behavior toward other teachers or students on six separate occasions and of failing to provide any instruction to his class on numerous occasions.[2] Basically, the outcome of this dispute depends on an assessment of the witnesses' credibility. If any of the tenure charges is sustained, the Commissioner of Education ("Commissioner") must determine whether dismissal or some lesser penalty is warranted.

[1]Although the tenure charges also accused Motley of yelling at students and staff and in 1993-94 and 1994-95, the District failed to elicit any evidence in support of these allegations.

Procedural History

On May 1, 1997, Motley's building principal filed tenure charges, together with a sworn statement of supporting evidence, with the district superintendent. Motley filed a timely response. Upon review of these papers, the district superintendent determined that there exists probable cause to credit the supporting evidence and that the charges, if true, warrant some type of disciplinary action.[3] Accordingly, on June 16, 1997, the district superintendent certified the tenure charges to the Commissioner. Thereafter, on July 18, 1997, Motley filed an answer in which he denied all the charges.

Subsequently, on July 29, 1997, the Commissioner transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law ("OAL") for hearing as a contested case. The OAL held eight days of hearing ending on December 3, 1998. Both parties submitted post-

Findings of Fact

General Background Facts

Most of the background facts are undisputed. Charles Motley has been a teacher in the Newark school system for nearly twenty-six years. He holds a bachelor's degree in elementary education from Shore University, a master's degree in administration from Kean College, and is certified as both an elementary teacher and a supervisor. Before coming to Newark, he taught summer school at a junior high school in Brooklyn, New York. In September 1971, Motley began his employment as an elementary-school teacher in Newark. While teaching in the Newark school system, Motley actively participated in union activities as an officer of the Newark Teacher's Union and a trustee of the supplemental fringe-benefit fund. He also helped to set up a personal hygiene program for young students and donated his own money to buy shirts and ties for third grade boys. In addition, he participated in a counseling program whereby teachers would "adopt" a student and work with him or her after school.

During the 1995-96 academic year, he was assigned as a "Title I"[4] or "basic skills" teacher for the first and fourth grades at Alexander Street School. His duties were to provide remedial instruction in reading, writing and mathematics to children identified as deficient in those areas. As a result of complaints about his conduct from other staff members, Motley was transferred in mid-September 1996 to the 13th Avenue School, where he performed similar duties for the fourth, seventh and eighth grades. When school administrators continued to receive complaints from teachers about Motley's conduct in their classrooms, the District suspended him without pay, effective June 9, 1997, and instituted the present charges.

[4]Teachers of compensatory education are known as "Title I" teachers because funding for basic skills improvement programs in New Jersey derives from amendments to Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, 20 U.S.C.A. §2701 et seq. Improving America School Act of 1994

Prior to 1994-95, the Newark school system employed a "pull-out model" for delivery of basic-skills instruction, in which small groups of students would leave the regular classroom to receive compensatory education services in a separate room. Starting in 1994-95, the State mandated that the District switch to an "in-class model," where the Title I teacher comes into the regular classroom to assist selected students. In order for the in-class model to work, the two teachers must coordinate their activities and agree on the objectives of the lesson.

Transition to the in-class model in the District did not go smoothly, in part because the school administration failed to provide adequate training to those expected to implement it. While Title I teachers received training on the in-class model as early as October 1994, the District did not begin training groups of classroom teachers until two years later in October 1996. Moreover, the District's handbook on the in-class model was not ready for distribution until sometime in 1996-97. Some of the classroom teachers regarded the in-class model as an implicit criticism of their job performance. As Motley put it, "they did not welcome the idea of another teacher being assigned to work with them." Several of the regular teachers apparently viewed him as a "spy," who would report any problems in their classrooms to the central office. Of course, this delicate situation made it all the more imperative for Motley to work cooperatively with the classroom teachers and be sensitive to their concerns.

Conduct Unbecoming a Teacher

Each separate instance of unbecoming conduct will be discussed under an appropriate heading.

(1) Belittling a New Teacher in Front of Her Students

Dawn Levin had recently graduated from college and was in her first year of teaching. She began in September 1996 as a substitute teacher at the 13th Avenue School and was soon given a fourth-grade class of her own. At the hearing, Levin came across as an enthusiastic and sincere young woman who is genuinely interested in the welfare of her students. Originally, the District had assigned another Title I teacher, Joyce Thompson, to her classroom. Levin and Thompson worked harmoniously together. They would meet either before or after class or during a preparation period to prepare their lessons and review each other's plans. Levin praised Thompson as being "wonderful with my children" and as helping with whatever lesson she was working on.

In late December 1996 or early January 1997, Motley replaced Thompson as the Title I teacher in Levin's class. From the outset, their relationship was strained and uncomfortable. Motley was assigned to Levin's classroom for one period every Monday. Unlike Thompson, Motley refused to meet with Levin outside of class time to plan lessons in advance. Instead, he demanded that Levin put a copy of her lesson objectives and worksheets in his mailbox by the preceding Thursday or Friday. He also asked Levin to gather educational materials for him, claiming that she had more resources available than he did. Suspicious that Motley was trying to avoid having to write his own lesson plans, the building principal, Glenda Johnson-Green, instructed Levin that she did not have to make separate plans for Motley, but she should share her plan book with him.

During his first few visits to her class, Levin related, Motley would patrol the perimeter of her classroom and openly make critical comments to her, such as "Why aren't your children writing in cursive" or "Why do you have work on your wall that is not corrected?" Often he would yell at her in front of her students. It got so bad that Levin "hate[d] coming to school on Mondays because he's coming to my room." On February 28, 1997 Levin complained to Principal Johnson-Green about Motley's treatment of her. At the hearing, Johnson-Green testified that it is unhealthy and "very negative" for children to see their teachers quarreling with each other in the classroom. Although Motley introduced testimony suggesting that Levin had difficulties with classroom management and sought help from other staff members, the record does not support the contention that Levin required more guidance than any other first-year teacher. Indeed, Levin appeared perfectly capable of handling her fourth-grade students, her problem was dealing with Motley's efforts to undermine her authority.

Events culminated in a "confrontation" between Levin and Motley in the presence of her students on March 3, 1997. Significantly, Motley admits that Levin had deposited in his mail box on Friday February 24, 1997 a copy of her teaching objectives and study materials consisting of short biographies of famous African Americans and a related set of written exercises. Nonetheless, Motley came to her class on Monday March 3, 1997 unprepared to teach a lesson or assist the children in completing their desk work. Since he had missed the prior two Monday sessions (on February 17, 1997 school was closed and on February 27, 1997 he had been out sick), Motley maintained that he did not know what material had already been covered or the specific subject matter on which she wanted to focus that day. He made no effort, however, to contact her before class to clarify the scope of the lesson or to review her plan book.

Levin testified that Motley began yelling at her from across the room so that the whole class could hear what he was saying. He reportedly made disparaging remarks about her abilities as a teacher, such as "You don't get the program, you just don't want to teach" and "You're just wasting time." Additionally, he demeaned her role as the classroom teacher, asking "Who are you that I should have to come look at your plan book." Levin was so upset at Motley's conduct that she left the classroom and reported the incident to Vice Principal Brenda Jack-Watkins. A memorandum that Levin prepared on March 5, 1997 corroborates her testimony at the hearing. A few days later, Jack-Watkins removed Motley from Levin's classroom. For his part, Motley denied that he raised his voice or made any discourteous comments. According to his version, "all [he] was trying to do was get her to continue with her lesson," and he offered to discuss the study materials with her "at a later date."

I FIND that on March 3, 1997, as well as several prior occasions, Motley belittled and humiliated Levin by making critical comments about her teaching style and attitude in the presence of her students. As a more experienced teacher sent into her classroom to provide compensatory instruction, Motley should have been supportive of Levin's efforts rather than ridiculing her and downplaying her abilities. Certainly he knew better than making negative statements about a teacher in front of her students. Moreover, if he truly did not understand Levin's teaching objectives for a particular day, Motley should have contacted her for clarification rather than come to class unprepared to teach.

(2) Criticizing Another Teacher's Homework Assignments

Steven Cooper, another new teacher at 13th Avenue School, also complained about Motley's public denunciation of his teaching methods. He holds a bachelor of science degree in finance and obtained his teaching certificate through the alternate route. In 1996-97, Cooper taught reading and language arts to seventh-grade students. Although it was his first year as a teaching staff member, Cooper had previously worked for four years as a substitute in the District. Motley was assigned to Cooper's classroom on Wednesdays. None of the administrators told him about Motley's duties, but Cooper believed that Motley's responsibility was to teach basic skills to children who were below grade level. From the date that Motley first entered his classroom in September 1996, the two of "didn't get along" and "didn't see eye to eye on many issues." At times their relationship was so bad that the two of them were not on speaking terms.

Shortly after his arrival, on September 24, 1996, Motley advised Cooper that he was "assign[ing] too much homework to the students" and "should take into consideration that other teachers give [his] students homework as well." This encounter occurred at the rear of the classroom, where Cooper was arranging the bulletin board. Cooper took offense because Motley only visited his class once a week and had never sat down with him to go over the issues. Motley explained that it was Cooper who initially raised the topic of his students not doing their homework. Responding to Cooper's concern, Motley recommended various "strategies" and reminded Cooper to consider "the amount of work other teachers were assigning." He offered his advice "in a professional way" and was not intentionally "negative or critical." In its tenure charges, the District implied that Motley told Cooper's students "not do the homework assigned." In fact, however, the conversation took place between Motley and Cooper and was never communicated to the class. On cross-examination, Cooper admitted that Motley did not challenge him "in front of the children," but only "in front of Mrs. Johnson, my in-service mentor." Evelyn Johnson, a retired teacher serving as Cooper's mentor, was in the back of the room, but she did not hear what Motley was saying. M.M., then a twelve-year-old student seated in the front of Cooper's classroom, recalled an "altercation" between Motley and Cooper, both of whom were near Ms. Johnson.[5] While M.M. sensed that Cooper was "upset" because his face was "turning red," she did not hear the substance of their conversation.

I FIND that Motley was trying to help Cooper solve the problem of getting children to do their homework and that Cooper overreacted by treating Motley's advice as a personal criticism of his performance. Indeed, the record indicates that Motley may reasonably have believed that Cooper was soliciting his advice about homework problems. Motley's recommendation to check the amount of homework assigned by other teachers was a constructive suggestion intended to give Cooper the benefit of Motley's greater experience. Undoubtedly, it would have been preferable for Motley to have made his suggestion outside of the classroom. However, none of the other witnesses present in the classroom overheard their conversation, and there is no reason to believe that Motley intended to embarrass Cooper in front of his class.

[5]Although M.M. did not know the date of this event, she was certain that Evelyn Johnson was also present. Ms. Johnson testified that she served as Cooper's mentor for only twenty days at the beginning of 1996-97. Thus, it is likely that M.M. was talking about the incident which occurred on September 24, 1996.

(3) Blaming Another Teacher for His Own Inadequacies

A second incident, which Cooper regarded as "the worst day of all," occurred on November 6, 1996. That particular day, a child from sixth grade was temporarily placed in Cooper's seventh-grade class for disciplinary reasons. Cooper had to interrupt his lesson and leave the classroom in order to retrieve more work for the sixth grader. During his absence, Motley was in charge of Cooper's class. Cooper estimates that he was gone only "three to five minutes." While Cooper was gone, however, the students were disruptive and uncooperative. Upon Cooper's return, Motley appeared to him to be "highly upset" and "very emotional." In front of the entire class, Motley blamed Cooper for causing the problem and accused him of being the reason why the kids were misbehaving. Motley's critical comments were made "in front of [the] students" and "the kids heard [what was said.]" Cooper admits that he "retaliated" and that their dialogue degenerated into what Motley described as "an exchange of words."

I FIND that both Motley and Cooper acted unprofessionally by arguing with each other during a lesson, but that Motley provoked the incident by blaming Cooper for his own inability to control the class. If Motley had anything negative to say about Cooper's classroom performance, he should have waited until after the class was over.

(4) Yelling at a Colleague

Violet Kee Chee, who taught seventh grade science at 13th Avenue School in 1996-97, had served the Newark public schools for twenty-five years and was nearing retirement. Motley was assigned to enter her class to deliver Title I services. Accustomed to the pull-out model, Kee Chee felt it would be "much easier" if Motley did not come into her classroom because she taught science and he taught basic skills.

In or about the second week of the 1996-97 school year, Motley approached Kee Chee in the hallway while classes were changing. Her classroom was empty, although there were children passing in the halls. Kee Chee thought that Motley had a scheduling problem, but Motley insisted that he was scheduled to teach in her class. Their conversation started "in a normal tone of voice," but Kee Chee said that Motley got "a little loud." Motley was holding an activity schedule and, at one point, he allegedly "flung the paper in [her] face." Kee Chee stated that she could understand his frustration at trying to figure out a schedule involving so many classes and conflicting lunch periods. She did not consider the incident serious enough to report to any supervisor.

Motley presented a different version of what occurred. By the time of this incident, his scheduling problems had been resolved and he was supposed to be in her class. Kee Chee was standing outside the door to her classroom when Motley appeared and introduced himself. Saying that she didn't need Title I services, Kee Chee refused to let him come into her room. When Motley tried to explain that he was just following the schedule, Kee Chee responded, "Don't yell at me." Motley maintains that he never yelled at her, although he may have spoken loudly enough to be heard above the noise made by the children changing classes. He denies that he tossed any papers in her face. Since Kee Chee was close to retirement anyway, the administration relented and directed Motley to stop coming to her class. Therefore, the children in Kee Chee's class were deprived of Title I services.

I FIND that Motley and Kee Chee had a misunderstanding over whether he should be allowed to teach her class. Kee Chee is an experienced teacher and did not believe that his assistance was necessary. In the course of their discussion outside her classroom, Motley raised his voice to an unacceptably loud level. Kee Chee was not a totally objective witness, and there is insufficient independent proof that Motley threw any papers at her.

(5) Referring to Students in Derogatory Terms

Motley was also assigned to provide Title I services to Gail Holiday's self-contained fourth grade class during the 1996-97 school year. Ms. Holiday was a relatively new teacher who had been in the district for less than three years. Purportedly she had experienced some difficulty with classroom management. Motley acknowledges that the boys in her room were "pretty rough [and] pretty tough" and that he was put into her room to help control her class. Often his mere presence was enough to cause the children to settle down. He tried to assist Holiday by suggesting management techniques, such as contacting parents or changing the seating arrangements or determining whether a particular child needed medication. There came a time, however, when Motley grew weary of working with "children who acted up on a consistent basis." Not all of these children happened to be eligible for Title I services and some of the children who were eligible for Title I did not receive services. One day, when Holiday sent a group of children to work with him, Motley announced that he did not want "those problem kids" or "the kids with problems." According to Holiday, Motley spoke those words, or words to that effect, within earshot of the children. She felt uncomfortable because "you don't say those things in front of the kids, even if you've got a problem." Motley never denied that he openly discussed "problem children" with Holiday in her classroom. Instead, he defended his conduct by maintaining that he should not have been expected to work only with the disruptive students.

I FIND that, on an unknown date during the 1996-97 school year, Motley used the pejorative phrase "problem children" to refer to certain students in the classroom. Regardless of the merits of his disagreement with Holiday, it was indefensible for Motley to stigmatize his students by using such harsh language in front of their peers. Motley's labeling was particularly destructive to children of such a young age, who are apt to form their own feelings of self-esteem and worth from the attitude taken by important adults in their life. As an experienced teacher with an awareness of his influence over children under his control, Motley clearly knew better. Again, he should have waited until an appropriate time to discuss his grievance with his fellow teacher outside the presence of the students.

(6) Pulling the Arm of a First Grade Student, Yelling at Students and Pushing Their Teacher

While these are the most serious charges against Motley, they have already been dealt with in a prior disciplinary action that resulted in letter of reprimand. Thus this incident cannot form the basis of the current tenure charges against Motley, but rather are part of his past disciplinary record which should be considered in determining the appropriateness of any penalty. The record shows that on February 8, 1996, while assigned to Carol Guddy's first grade class at Alexander Street School, Motley got into a dispute with the teacher over seating arrangement in the classroom. This argument ended in a virtual tug-of-war over one hapless young girl, with Guddy holding onto the child's left arm and Motley grabbing her right arm. In a written report, the District's hearing officer found that Motley and Guddy "engaged in a heated argument" in a classroom filled with children. Further, the report continues:

> Ms. Guddy stepped between Mr. Motley and one of the students that Mr. Motley sought to separate and teach. Mr. Motley called the student's name. Ms. Guddy told the student to remain in her seat. Mr. Motley moved Ms. Guddy aside and took the student by the arm. Thereafter both teachers taught their students. Vice Principal Josephine McDowell was immediately summoned to the room and told Mr. Motley to go to another room.

As a consequence of this incident, Motley's annual evaluation report directed him to "continue to refine and expand skills in the area of behavior management." Motley was able to avoid more substantial punishment only because, as of that time, he had a "twenty five year employment history without prior disciplinary problems."

Neglect of Duty
Failing to Provide Instruction

Various witnesses reported that Motley frequently sat at the back of the classroom without doing any teaching or performing any school-related activity. In general, Motley claimed that the classroom teachers had not provided him with the lesson objectives in sufficient time for him to prepare his own lesson plans, as if that excuse, even if true, somehow absolved him of the responsibility to do his own job. For example, Steven Cooper recited that on four consecutive Wednesdays during October 1996, Motley "would come in the room and go straight to the back of the room and sit there." M.M., one of the students in Cooper's class, verified that on two or three occasions Motley didn't do any teaching, but "just sat in the back of the room doing paperwork." When Cooper and his mentor asked Motley to work with students who had received low scores on standardized achievement tests, he refused. Part of the blame must be shared by the administration, which never clearly defined the Title I teacher's role, in particular whether Motley was to work with small groups of students or to assist Cooper in teaching the whole class. Notwithstanding genuine confusion about their working relationship, however, no one can seriously argue that Motley was being paid to sit there and not do any teaching.

Glenda Johnson-Green, principal of 13th Avenue School, observed Cooper's class on November 20, 1996 and confirmed that Motley "sat in the rear of the room the entire period" and engaged in "no interaction with the students." In a written admonition, Johnson-Green pointed out that Motley was the only basic skills instructor who acted this way and reminded him of his responsibility to work with students. Motley insisted that he was performing an accepted technique known as "in-class observation," which involved observing the students' behavior, attitudes and performance during regular classroom instruction. Nonetheless, he failed to produce notes or any other record of the observations he purportedly made on that date.

Rosa Ramos, director of the Title I Program in Newark, testified that a Title I teacher might take a day or two at the beginning of the academic year in September to see how the children are functioning, but that, after such initial observation period, "it should never happen." Another administrator, Josephine McDowell, a vice principal who supervised the Title I program at Alexander Street School when Motley taught there in 1995-96, agreed that it would be inappropriate for a Title I teacher to sit in the back of the room and observe a class for an entire period, other than "to get the feel of the class" at the outset of the year.

Other teachers made similar complaints that Motley often sat in their classrooms without providing any instruction to students. Dawn Levin, the fourth-grade teacher at 13th Avenue School, testified that, on March 3, 1997 and two prior occasions, Motley came to her classroom, but failed to provide any instruction. Levin and Motley "never sat down together and prepared a lesson." Unless Levin provided him with her objectives by Thursday or Friday of the preceding week, Motley refused to teach the children in her class. When she put items in his mail box, Motley would complain that the material was "too much" or "unclear. Several times, while Levin was teaching, Motley would be "at the back of the room" not engaging in any educational activity. Similarly, Gail Holiday recounted an instance where Motley was so upset that "he just went and sat at another table" and Holiday "wasn't able to get his assistance[.]"

I FIND that, at numerous times throughout 1996-97, Motley failed to provide any teaching services to children he was supposed to be teaching. Principal Johnson-Green, building administrator of 13th Avenue School, personally saw Motley sitting at the back of the room and doing nothing for an entire class period. Severa; teachers, including Cooper, Levin and Holiday, reported similar instances where Motley simply sat in the back of their classrooms or walked around its perimeter, without providing any instruction. Motley's explanations do not justify his failing to provide any educational services. Proofs show that Motley was unprepared to teach even when he received copies of the classroom teacher's lesson plans or objectives. If he needed more information to prepare his lessons, it was Motley's responsibility to confer with the classroom teacher before or after class or at some other mutually convenient time. In the event that he was unsure of his appropriate role, Motley should have consulted an administrator for guidance. Motley's claim that watching from the back of the room is a recognized method for delivery of services is contrary to the unanimous expert opinion that Title I teachers are expected to interact with their students.

Conclusions of Law

Based on the foregoing facts and the applicable law, I CONCLUDE that the District has sustained its tenure charges of unbecoming conduct and neglect of duty against Motley and that the appropriate penalty is a reduction in compensation.

Tenure protects teachers from arbitrary dismissal for "unfounded, flimsy or political reasons." Spiewak v. Rutherford Bd. of Educ., 90 N.J. 63, 73 (1982). It is designed to aid in the establishment of "a competent and efficient school system" by affording to teachers a measure of security in the ranks they hold after years of service. Viemeister v. Prospect Park Bd. of Educ., 5 N.J. Super. 215, 218 (App. Div. 1949). Toward that end, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 provides that no tenured teacher shall be dismissed or reduced in compensation "except for inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct or other just cause." Additional procedural safeguards, including the right to a list of charges, a sworn statement of evidence and an impartial hearing, are written into the law.

"Unbecoming conduct" is an elastic term broadly defined to included any conduct "which has a tendency to destroy public respect for [government] employees and competence in the operation of [public] services." Karins v. City of Atlantic City, 152 N.J. 532, 554 (1998). Behavior rising to the level of unbecoming conduct "need not be predicated upon the violation of any particular rule or regulation, but may be based merely upon the violation of the implicit standard of good behavior which devolves upon one who stands in the public eye as an upholder of that which is morally and legally correct. Hartmann v. Police Dep't of Ridgewood, 258 N.J. Super. 22, 40

(App. Div. 1992). Despite the apparent vagueness of this standard, "it fairly and adequately conveys its meaning to all concerned." Laba v. Newark Bd. of Educ., 23 N.J. 364. 384 (1957). In the context of a school tenure case, "the touchstone is fitness to discharge the duties and functions of one's office or position." In re Tenure Hearing of Grossman, 127 N.J. Super. 13, 29 (App. Div. 1974), certif. den. 65 N.J. 292 (1974).

Motley was involuntarily transferred from Alexander Street School to 13th Avenue School after complaints about his conduct from colleagues and an incident in which he got into a pulling match over a first-grade child. Having been given the opportunity for a fresh start, one might expect that Motley would avoid future conflicts with his co-workers and students. Unfortunately, the record reflects a repeated pattern of instances where Motley exhibited his contempt for other teachers in the presence of their students. Although the District has been unable to prove all of its allegations, it has presented compelling evidence that Motley belittled Dawn Levin in front of her students, provoked an argument with Cooper during a lesson, yelled at Kee Chee in the hallway, and referred to impressionable children in derogatory language. Sent into the classroom to assist in educating children at risk, Motley undermined the authority of the classroom teachers and sapped the self-confidence of students who looked to him for support. He was particularly rude and disrespectful to younger and less experienced teachers, who needed his help. Such a gross distortion of his appropriate teaching function represents unfitness to discharge his duties and responsibilities amounting to "unbecoming conduct."

As if this were not serious enough, Motley is also guilty of neglect of duty constituting "other just cause" for dismissal. Generally, the term "neglect" connotes a deviation from normal standards of conduct. In re Kerlin, 151 N.J. Super. 179, 186 (App. Div. 1997). "Duty" signifies conformance "to the legal standard of reasonable conduct in light of the apparent risk." Wytupeck v. Camden, 25 N.J. 450, 461 (1957). A teacher who does not teach is worse than useless, because funds used to pay his salary could be put to better use for the benefit of the children. In addition, the children in his class are deprived of educational services to which they are legally entitled.

Factors to be considered in assessing penalty include the nature and gravity of the offense; any extenuating or aggravating circumstances; and the effect on the maintenance of discipline and the proper administration of the school system. In re Fulcomer, 93 N.J.Super. 404, 420-422 (App. Div. 1967). Getting paid for not teaching is a major offense, particularly in a special-needs district like Newark where many of the children require extra help to overcome socioeconomic obstacles to their success.

In terms of extenuating circumstances, several of Motley's colleagues testified that they got along well with him and were satisfied with his services. Felicia Petway, a fourth-grade teacher at 13th Avenue School in 1996-97, said that Motley "motivated and challenged" her students and that at no time did he sit around doing nothing in her class. Annette Walker Long, another fourth-grade teacher at 13th Avenue School, stated that she and Motley worked well together and that he never sat in the back of the room and did nothing. Mildred Moss, a guidance counselor at 13th Avenue School, described Motley as very professional, supportive and courteous and stated that she saw him going from desk to desk working with students individually. Maurice Hill, a second grade math teacher at 13th Avenue School, agreed that Motley came to his class well prepared and never sat down without doing any work. Iris McMurray-Matthews, a behavior-modification teacher at 13th Avenue School, worked cooperatively with Motley to develop a program to improve fourth-graders' writing scores on the early warning test. Barbara Jenkins, a fifth grade teacher at Alexander School in 1995-96, regards Motley as a good teacher who "seemed to do a little extra." Likewise, some of the parents had positive experiences with Motley. Lisa Shelton, the mother of a seventh-grade student at 13th Avenue School, credits Motley with raising her son's reading skills to grade level. She praised him for taking the trouble to stop at her house to make sure that her son was progressing. Thus, it appears that Motley was not always derelict in his duties and is capable of performing valuable service to the children of Newark.

In light of his many years of satisfactory service, his willingness to volunteer for extracurricular duties and the fact that Motley's prior disciplinary record consists of only one written reprimand, the ultimate penalty of removal would be too harsh. To suspend him for any length of time would be disruptive to the system and might further widen the recent estrangement between Motley and some of his colleagues. Under all of the circumstances, the most appropriate penalty is a reduction in compensation.

Order

It is ORDERED that Motley suffer a permanent reduction of one step on the salary guide.

If is further ORDERED that Motley forfeit all salary and all benefits that would otherwise have accrued during the first 120 days of his suspension pending the disposition of this tenure proceeding.

And it is further ORDERED that, before resuming his teaching duties, Motley shall, at the District's option, satisfactorily complete an in-service or continuing education program covering his professional relationships with staff and his responsibilities to his students.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 225 East State Street, CN 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, marked "Attention: Exceptions." IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF CHARLES MOTLEY,	:
STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF NEWARK,	:	DECISION
ESSEX COUNTY.	:

The record of this matter and the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Both respondent's and the District's exceptions are duly noted as submitted in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and were considered by the Commissioner in deciding the within matter.

Having conducted his own careful review of the entire record in this matter, including transcripts from the eight days of hearing at the OAL, all exhibits brought to the record, as well as each of the exceptions advanced by the parties, the Commissioner determines to affirm the findings and conclusions of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ), with modification as set forth herein. In so doing, the Commissioner notes that these findings and conclusions are well grounded in the record before him, and such record provides the Commissioner with no cause to disturb the weight ascribed to evidence or the credibility assessments made by the ALJ.

Initially, the Commissioner determines that the testimonial and documentary record amply supports the ALJ's finding that the District has proven by a preponderance of credible evidence that respondent is guilty of unbecoming conduct by virtue of his: (1) belittling

Ms. Levin, a new teacher, in front of her students;[1] (2) refusing, on November 6, 1996, to teach students in Mr. Cooper's classroom;[2] (3) raising his voice to an unacceptable level when addressing a colleague, Ms. Kee Chee; and (4) using the pejorative phrase "problem children" to refer to students in Ms. Holiday's class.[3] Additionally, although not identified as a specific finding by the ALJ, yet nevertheless listed by the District as one of its charges (Statement of Charges at p. 3), the Commissioner finds that the record supports the conclusion that the poor interpersonal skills displayed by respondent in working with other staff members was a significant reason, if not the sole basis, for Principal Arthur Hooper's recommendation that he be transferred from the Alexander Street School to another school. (Exhibit P-19)

Further, the Commissioner concurs that the District has proven that respondent is guilty of neglect of duty and insubordination for, inter alia, the reasons set forth in the initial decision at pp. 13-15.[4] Here, the Commissioner concurs with the District's view that insubordinate behavior need not necessarily manifest itself in an "overt exhibition of disrespect or verbal refusal to perform duties required of his position," In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Peter Loria, State-Operated School District of the City of Newark, Essex County, January 26, 1998 slip. op. at p. 69, aff'd State Board August 7, 1998, but, rather, may be found

[1] Although respondent objects to the ALJ's characterization of Ms. Joyce Thompson as a "Title I teacher," rather than "a staff developer assigned to teachers having problems" (Respondent's Exceptions at p. 5), the distinction, to the extent one actually exists, is not necessarily significant. Even if Ms. Thompson's role was, as respondent urges, designed to be supportive of teachers rather than students, thereby explaining her harmonious working relationship with Ms. Levin, the Commissioner finds that, in view of the total record, respondent cannot credibly rely on this role differentiation to in any way justify his unbecoming conduct.

[2] The ALJ appropriately captions this behavior, "Blaming Another Teacher for His Own Inadequacies." (Initial Decision at p. 9)

[3] Here, respondent finds it relevant that there is no evidence that he was yelling at the time, or that any children overheard his exchange with Ms. Holiday. (Respondent's Exceptions at p. 21) However, it is not relevant. As the ALJ noted, given respondent's experience as a teacher, it is indefensible that he would use such language in front of the students, and then attempt to characterize the exchange as a professional collaboration. (Respondent's Exceptions at p. 21, asking, "Isn't it reasonable that peers, having to work collaboratesly (sic), would discuss such subjects professionally in class?")

[4] The District identifies its second charge as "Insubordination/Neglect of Duty" (Statement of Charges at p. 2) and objects to the ALJ's notation on page 2 of the initial decision that the "[c]harges relating to failure to teach are best handled under the general category of neglect of duty" rather than insubordination. (District's Exceptions at p. 4) In either event, the ALJ properly states that these charges constituted "other just cause." (Initial Decision at p. 16)

by an employee's "willful and intentional disregard of the lawful and reasonable directives of [an employee's] duly authorized supervisor ." (Id.) In the instant matter, the Commissioner notes that, even after the letter of reprimand issued to respondent following the February 8, 1996 incident in Ms. Guddy's class (Exhibit R-16), respondent continued to exhibit inappropriate conduct toward his colleagues (see findings of unbecoming conduct, supra), thereby intentionally disregarding the District's reasonable expectation that he should work in partnership with the classroom teachers in order to effectuate the goals of the Title I program. (Transcript of September 28, 1998 at p. 87) Moreover, the Commissioner finds respondent's own writing to Ms. Johnson-Green, Principal of the 13th Avenue School, to be fairly illustrative of his attitude at the time these events occurred, and, also, consistent with his demeanor at the within hearing. Specifically, following Ms. Johnson-Green's November 20, 1996 classroom observation of Mr. Motley in which she notes he "sat in the rear of the room the entire period with no interaction with the students," and that it was his "responsibility to 'work' with the students " (Exhibit P-5), Mr. Motley responded, in pertinent part:

> As you can well observe I was not just sitting for the period. My presence indicates to the classroom teacher and to the students that I come to assist in any way I can. Previous lessons had classroom teacher's mentor, students, and myself engaged in the lesson when classroom teacher deemed necessary.
> I regret that you were unaware of Room 407's procedures, however I hope this clears your understanding of the matter.
>
> I have worked with teachers and students in Grades 4, 7 and 8  covering subject matter of Reading, Writing, Mathematics, Social Studies, and Science. So when you refer that it's my responsibility to work with students, I hope you would observe a little more carefully before you jump to irrational conclusions after only observing one period in one class. (Exhibit R-13)

Respondent's memorandum to his principal goes beyond that which may be considered a professional rebuttal or justification of his pedagogical techniques, being both disrespectful and insolent. It is also noteworthy that Ms. Johnson-Greene testified that, upon meeting with respondent to discuss the problems he was having with the classroom teachers, respondent yelled at her, until it became necessary for her to end the conversation. (Transcript of September 25, 1998 at pp. 40-41)

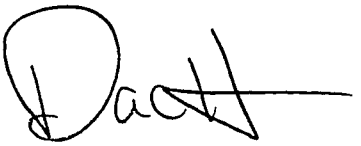
Finally, although the Commissioner agrees that the circumstances herein do not warrant dismissal of respondent from his tenured position for the reasons set forth in the initial decision,[5] he recognizes that, under certain circumstances, it is necessary to impress upon a respondent the seriousness of his actions. Cf. In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of William Morales, Board of Education of the City of Trenton, Mercer County, decided by the Commissioner July 7, 1997, wherein the Commissioner, in order to impress upon respondent the seriousness of the charges proven, increased respondent's penalty from loss of 120 days' salary and two increments to include a six-month loss of salary, notwithstanding that the Board did not prove all of its charges; In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of DiPillo, School District of the Township of Randolph, Morris County, 95 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 206, 208, wherein the State Board of Education increased the penalty assigned by the Commissioner to respondent, noting the need to impress upon respondent the seriousness of her actions. In the instant matter, finding that respondent's conduct was both repeated and unrepentant, and noting that such unprofessional and defiant conduct cannot be tolerated, the Commissioner herein orders that respondent shall suffer a permanent reduction of one step on the salary guide, and shall forfeit the 120 days' salary already withheld, together with an additional two months' salary and concomitant emoluments. In so determining, the Commissioner also notes that, although he is without the authority to compel respondent to attend training classes as noted by the ALJ (Initial Decision at

[5] It is herein noteworthy that the District acknowledges that either removal or an eight-month suspension without pay is an appropriate penalty in this matter. (District's Exceptions at p. 2)

p. 18), the District may elect to do so, within the confines of respondent's tenure and contractual rights.

Accordingly, the initial decision of the ALJ is affirmed, with modification, as set forth above.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[6]



COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

[6] This decision, as the Commissioner's final determination in the instant matter, may be appealed to the State Board of Education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-27 et seq. and N.J.A.C. 6:2-1.1 et seq., within 30 days of its filing. The record, settlement agreement and initial decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner approves the settlement terms and adopts the settlement as the final decision in this matter, which included a request for emergent relief, notwithstanding that the Board did not approve the agreement prior to its submission to the Administrative Law Judge, as per N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1(a).[1] The matter is hereby dismissed.[2]

SYNOPSIS

Petitioning parent appealed minor child's expulsion.

The ALJ dismissed the petition as untimely filed. The Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that the within matter was untimely filed, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c). The Commissioner further agreed with the ALJ that even assuming, arguendo, the petition was timely filed, petitioner failed to satisfy her burden of proving that the Board's decision to expel B.S. was arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable, or otherwise taken in bad faith. The petition was dismissed.

Record Closed: June 18, 1999 Decided: June 23, 1999

BEFORE LILLARD E. LAW, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner appeals from an action by the Atlantic City Board of Education (Board) to expel her son, B.S., from the Board's public school. Petitioner contends that the Board's expulsion of her minor child was arbitrary, capricious and/or unreasonable and, therefore, seeks his reinstatement.

The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

Petitioner file her Petition of Appeal before the Commissioner, dated August 3, 1998, and was received by the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes (Bureau) on August 6, 1998. By way of letter, dated September 22, 1998, the Director of the Bureau advised petitioner that on August 7, 1998 and again on September 3, 1998, petitioner was in receipt of notice from the Director that the petition of appeal would not move forward until petitioner had submitted proof that she had served a copy of the petition upon the respondent Board, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(a). The Director of the Bureau provided petitioner ten days in which to served the necessary proof of service.

A telephone prehearing conference was held by this tribunal on March 12, 1999, at which, among other things, the issues to be determined by this tribunal were agreed upon as follows:

Issues:

1. Whether the Board's expulsion of B.S. from its schools was arbitrary, capricious and/or unreasonable?

2. Whether petitioner is time-barred from seeking the reinstatement of B.S. pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c)?

Pursuant to the Prehearing Order, the hearing was held on June 18, 1999, at the Atlantic City OAL, Atlantic County Civil Courthouse, Atlantic City, New Jersey. The hearing record closed on June 18, 1999.

Prior to the hearing, the Board propounded and served a Notice of Motion to Dismiss Petition for Failure to File a Timely Appeal. Petitioner did not respond to the Board's Motion. Therefore, the undersigned reserved decision until such time as petitioner had the opportunity to respond.

At the hearing, the Board set forth its Statement of Facts on the record as follows:

Statement of Facts

This matter arises out of a decision by the Atlantic City Board of Education (Board) to expel minor child B.S. from the Atlantic City Public Schools.

B.S. was charged with being involved in a group fight on Monday, February 23, 1998, at the end of the school day. It is further alleged that the incident involved bricks and sticks and physical assault on at least one student. It is further alleged that this was the fourth incident involving students in this group, including the petitioner's minor child. (See Exhibit A, Charge Sheet).

Thereafter, on or after March 23, 1998, P.S. was forwarded a Notification of Students Rights Concerning Expulsion/Suspension Hearings. (See Exhibit B, Notification of Students Rights). This notice advised P.S. that an expulsion/suspension hearing had been scheduled for her minor child, B.S., on April 7, 1998. The notice further advised her of her rights at the hearing. Specifically, the notice advised P.S. of her right to counsel. The notice also advised that the hearing would be conducted pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2.4 (See Exhibit B).

The hearing took place on April 7, 1998. P. S. appeared with B.S. and was given an opportunity to cross-examine all witnesses and an opportunity to be heard in defense of the charge. After deliberation, the Board voted that the minor child B.S. should be placed on home instruction until age sixteen at which time he would be expelled.

Thereafter, on or about April 8, 1998, P.S. was forwarded notification of the Board's decision concerning her child. In that notice she was advised of her right to appeal the Board's decision to the Commissioner of Education. (See Exhibit C, Notice of Decision dated April 10, 1998). The instant appeal is signed by the petitioner on August 3, 1998. (See Exhibit D, Petition).

Petitioner admits that she was properly noticed of her son's rights concerning the expulsion hearing. The Notice is set forth below as follows:

> Please be advised that B.S. has been recommended for expulsion. B.S. may be expelled or further suspended.
>
> You have the right to a hearing before the Board which has been scheduled for April 7, 1998, at 5:00 p.m. at 1809 Pacific Avenue, Atlantic City, NJ, second floor Board Conference Room.
>
> B.S. has a right to be notified of the charges against him and attached is a charge sheet doing so.
>
> You and B.S. have a right to copies of the statements and affidavits of those adverse witnesses; those may be obtained by contacting Mr. Michael Epps, Esquire/General Counsel or by telephone at 343-7300 extension: 106.
>
> B.S. has a right to be heard in his own defense at the hearing scheduled above, and the right to present witnesses on his behalf.
>
> B.S. has a right to cross examine all witnesses presented on behalf of the Board of Education.
>
> You and B.S. have a right to the opportunity to be represented by counsel. If you wish the hearing postponed, to have additional time so as to obtain your own attorney you must notify Mr. Epps, Atlantic City High School, 1400 Black Horse Pike, Atlantic City, New Jersey 08401 five (5) days before the hearing. If you do not do this, no postponement will be granted.
> This hearing is being brought pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2.4. In the event that you and the student fail to appear at the hearing the hearing will be conducted in your absence and adverse action may be taken. (Board's Exhibit B)

Petitioner admits she attended the Board's hearing on April 7, 1998, where teaching staff members and the principal of the school appeared and testified as to petitioner's son's behavior and conduct. Petitioner further admits that she did not call any witnesses nor offer any proofs to counter the Board's witnesses. Nevertheless, petitioner asserts that the Board's expulsion hearing of her son was unfair. She stated on this record that she believed her son was not involved in any alleged assault upon a fellow pupil in the school. Petitioner further admits she was not present when the alleged incident of physical assault on the pupil occurred.

The Board sets forth its legal arguments as follows:

Legal Argument

In the Notification of Students Rights Concerning Expulsion/Suspension Hearings the petitioner was advised that the hearing would be conducted pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2.4. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2.4(c) provides as follows:

> The decision of the Board shall be made within five days after the close of the hearing. Any appeal of the Board's decision shall be made to the Commissioner of Education within 90 days of the Board's decision.

Petitioner was informed of the Board's decision immediately following the hearing. Thereafter, she was given written notice of the decision. Any appeal of this decision should have been filed not later than July 8, 1998. The instant petition was filed on or about August 3, 1998 and received by the Board on or about August 6, 1998. (See Exhibit D Petition). In the body of the petition the petitioner acknowledges that the petition is not timely filed.

The Board requests that its action be sustained by the Commissioner.

DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS

The charges against petitioner's son are set forth in the Board's Charge Sheet, as follows:

> 1. The above named student, upon information supplied by other, is liable to punishment, suspension or expulsion from school, in that on or about:
>
> Day: Monday Date: February 23, 1998 Time: 2:35p.m.
>
> The above named student: Was involved in a group fight on Monday, February 23, after school. Several students ran back and forth across Route 40 chasing another student. Bricks and sticks were used to assault the student they were chasing, and the student was hit in the face with a brick. This group of students have been involved in continued and willful disobedience with four separate incidents of this nature occurring during the school year. Two of these incidents occurred on the above date.

> 2. These facts if established would constitute a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2(d) and P.L. 12979, Chapter 189.
> (Board's Exhibit A)

Petitioner, without any proofs, asserts that the Board's action against her son was unfair. As the Commissioner observed and stated in the matter of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Capri and their son, Sam Capri v. Board of Education of the City of Burlington and Robert F. Dotti Superintendent of Schools, Burlington County, 1972 S.L.D. 67, the guidelines of a pupil's right to due process were set down in State ex rel. Sherman v. Hyman, 180 Tenn. 99, 171 S.W. 2*d.* 822 (1942), cert. den. 319 U.S. 748 (1943), in answer to the question, "What form must such hearing take?" The Court said:

> We think the student should be informed as to the nature of the charges as well as the names of at least the principal witnesses against him when requested, and given a fair opportunity to make his defense.  The testimony against him may be oral or written, not necessarily under oath, but he should be advised as to its nature, as well as the persons who have accused him.

> Also, in Dixon v. Alabama State Board of Education, 294 F. 2*d.* 150 (5th Cir. 1961), the Court provided an elaboration of some of the guidelines as enunciated, ante, and said, " If these rudimentary elements of fair play are followed in a case of misconduct of this particular type, we feel that the requirements of due process of law will have been fulfilled." 1972 S.L.D. 67

Consequently, I FIND and CONCLUDE that petitioner's son's due process rights were preserved by the Board where he was confronted with those who accused him of his misdeeds and, every opportunity was afforded him to present any defenses available to him.

During the 1997-98 school year, the Board was faced with an extraordinary amount of violent behaviors on the part of some of its pupils. As a consequence, the Board established a low tolerance for such violent behavior. Parents and pupils were advised that such conduct would not be condoned and that serious consequences could result. Petitioner's son did not heed the Board's advice.

The Board further asserts that petitioner's Petition of Appeal was untimely filed with the Commissioner. In support of its assertion, it cites N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2.4(c) which held that:

> The decision of the board shall be made within five days of the close of the hearing. Any appeal of the board's decision shall be made to the Commissioner of Education within 90 days of the board's decision.

The Facts demonstrate that petitioner was advised by letter, dated April 8, 1998, of the Board's action to place her son on home instruction until April 29, 1998, and his expulsion from its schools upon his achieving his sixteenth birthday, on April 27, 1998. Ninety days from April 8, 1998, fell on July 7, 1998. Petitioner did not file her Petition of Appeal until August 3, 1998, nor had she perfected her appeal by October 8, 1998, through her failure to properly serve the Board.

Our Supreme Court has held that the Commissioner and the State Board have the authority to adopt regulations establishing a 90 day limitation for tenured personnel to file disputes under the school law. Kaprow v. Board of Educ. of Berkeley Twp. 131 N.J. 527 (1993).

In the instant matter a statutory rather than a regulatory 90 day limit is in place in which the aggrieved must file its appeal with the Commissioner. Petitioner failed to do so within the statutory constraints. I, therefore, FIND and CONCLUDE that petitioner failed to file her appeal in a timely matter under N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2.4(c).

I CONCLUDE that petitioner has failed to carry her burden of proof, by a preponderance of the reliable and credible evidence, that the Board's action against her son was arbitrary, capricious and/or unreasonable. I CONCLUDE, for all of the reasons set forth above that the herein Petition of Appeal should be dismissed and the Board's actions sustained.

ORDER

Accordingly, it is ORDERED that the herein Petition of Appeal be and is hereby DISMISSED and the Board's action to expel petitioner's son is SUSTAINED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, CN 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

The record of this matter and the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs, for the reasons set forth in the initial decision, that the within matter was untimely filed, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c). However, even assuming, arguendo, that the petition was timely filed, the Commissioner agrees with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) that petitioner has failed to satisfy her burden of proving that the Board's decision to expel B.S. was arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable, or otherwise taken in bad faith.

Accordingly, the initial decision is affirmed and the Petition of Appeal is hereby dismissed.*

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner, tenured school social worker and substance awareness coordinator, contended that the Board's assigning her to be an in-class support instructor was violative of law and code since she did not possess certification as a teacher. She sought appointment to one of two positions for which she was qualified.

ALJ determined that because the relief requested by petitioner could no longer be granted in this matter due to changed circumstances since petitioner was no longer assigned to the position of in-class support instructor, the case did not present any issue of great public importance compelling a definitive resolution. ALJ granted the Board's motion to dismiss this matter as moot.

Noting that there was clearly a reasonable potential for recurrence of the alleged improper assignment, the Commissioner reversed the ALJ's initial decision dismissing the matter as moot. Commissioner remanded matter to the OAL for a determination on petitioner's underlying claim that the Board's assignment of her to an in-class support instructor position was improper.

Record Closed: June 22, 1999 Decided: June 23, 1999

BEFORE JOSEPH F. MARTONE, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

In this matter, petitioner holds certificates and has attained tenure with respondent as a substance awareness coordinator and as a school social worker, and she contends that respondent's assignment of her as an in-class support instructor in the Health Program for school year 1998-1999 constitutes an assignment for which a teaching certificate is required and which petitioner does not possess. Therefore, she seeks a determination that this assignment is a violation of the law and she requests an assignment to a position compatible with her certificates.

Petitioner filed a petition on October 13, 1998, respondent filed an answer on November 2, 1998, and the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on November 20, 1998, for hearing as a contested case. The matter was assigned to Honorable Jeff S. Masin, ALJ on January 4, 1999, and was scheduled for a prehearing conference on February 3, 1999. Following this prehearing conference, a prehearing order was entered by Judge Masin on February 10, 1999, and the matter was scheduled for hearing on April 27, 1999. The hearing scheduled for April 27, 1999, was adjourned because of attorney for respondent's maternity leave and the matter was rescheduled for hearing on June 22, 1999. At the hearing scheduled for June 22, 1999, attorney for petitioner made a motion to dismiss for reasons of mootness. After consideration of the arguments of counsel and the taking of testimony on this issue, the motion to dismiss the matter as moot was granted on June 22, 1999, whereupon the record closed.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

At the commencement to the hearing in this matter, attorney for respondent moved to dismiss the petition on the basis of mootness. After hearing the representations of the attorney for respondent, respondent was directed to produce testimony or documentary evidence with respect to its factual contentions supporting its motion. As a result, respondent produced Dr. Arthur Travlos, respondent's Superintendent of Schools, to testify in this matter.

Dr. Travlos testified that he is Superintendent of Schools for the School District of the Borough of Dunellen, Middlesex County. He testified that during the 1998-1999 academic year, petitioner was assigned duties as a substance abuse coordinator and was also assigned to help support the Health Program. He indicated that petitioner's assignment as an in-class support instructor in the Health Program was for the purpose of supporting health teachers in those areas of the health curriculum where petitioner has expertise. He testified that petitioner was advised when this assignment was made that it was a limited assignment for the purpose of assisting health teachers in the Health Program until they became fully familiar with the subject area within petitioner's area of expertise. She was advised that when it was determined that her expertise and assistance were no longer necessary she would be reassigned.

Dr. Travlos indicated that the decision was made in April 1999 by Dr. Burkhart, the building Principal, that petitioner's expertise would no longer be needed for the next school year. As a result, it was determined that petitioner would be taken out of this in-class support instructor position for the 1999-2000 School Year. Dr. Travlos emphasized that if petitioner's expertise and assistance had been needed for the 1999-2000 school year, her assignment would have continued. However, based upon the determination having been made that her assistance was no longer needed, the assignment was ended.

Dr. Travlos testified as to petitioner's School Year 1999-2000 assignment. He confirmed that she has been removed from the assignment as in-class support instructor and she will not be returned to the program. For School Year 1999-2000 petitioner will be assigned as a school social worker to conduct small group counseling sessions. He testified that as a courtesy petitioner was advised of her reassignment by Dr. Burkhart approximately one and half weeks ago. He indicated that this is not an assignment that requires Board of Education approval, because such approval is necessary only for transfers between buildings or in matters involving transfers between areas which are the subject of certificates. Thus, the Board will not take formal action with respect to this action, and the action of assigning petitioner to small group counseling sessions is his decision. He testified that he has made this decision.

On cross-examination, Dr. Travlos admitted that this reassignment of petitioner could be changed, and he emphasized that petitioner would still be in the Health Program as an in-class support instructor if she was needed, or if she is needed in the future. However, that is not his present intention. He further testified that the assignment for the 1999-2000 school year to conducting small group counseling sessions is presently planned for participation by seventh and ninth graders, although he is not ruling out the participation of eighth graders in the program. He admitted that this is a new program that has never taken place before. He also indicated that he anticipates sitting down with petitioner in September to further define the small group counseling program.

Petitioner did not present any testimony or documentary evidence challenging this testimony on the part of Dr. Travlos.

LEGAL DISCUSSION

It has been held that court-fashioned doctrines for the handling of litigation do have some genuine utility and relevance in administrative proceedings. City of Hackensack v. Winner, 82 N.J. 1, 29 (1980). One of those court-fashioned doctrines is the doctrine of mootness, see, 1A C.J.S., Actions, §§38-45, which may be found to apply in cases in which no effective relief can be granted. Handabaka v. Division of Consumer Affairs, 167 N.J. Super. 12 (App. Div. 1979) (case ruled as moot where applicant sued for a civil service appointment but no longer desired the appointment).

In Anderson v. Sills, 143 N.J. Super. 432, 437 (Ch. Div. 1976), it was stated that there are two basic reasons for the doctrine of mootness.

> First, for reasons of judicial economy and restraint, courts will not decide cases in which the issue is hypothetical, a judgment cannot grant effective relief, or the parties do not have concrete adverse of interest. Second, it is a premise of the Anglo-American judicial system that a contest engendered by genuinely conflicting self-interests of the parties is best suited to developing all relevant material before the court.

An issue is "moot" when a determination is sought on a matter which, when rendered, cannot have any practical effect on the existing controversy and where the conflict between the parties has become merely hypothetical. In re Conroy, 190 N.J. Super. 453, 458 (App. Div. 1983); Barshatky v. Freehold Regional High School District Board of Education, 95 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 73. The courts and the Commissioner of the Department of Education ordinarily will refuse to review questions which become academic prior to the issuance of a decision out of reluctance to render a legal decision in the abstract and a desire to conserve judicial or administrative resources. In re Conroy, supra at 459; Carolyn Henry v. Board of Ed. of the City Wildwood, 1975 S.L.D. 1, 3. On the other hand, as was made clear in Conroy, the courts will decide a moot case that presents issues of great public importance or is based on a controversy capable of repetition, yet evading review because of the short duration of any single plaintiff's interest.

In the present case, the positions of the parties were clearly adversarial during the 1998-1999 school year, and it appears that their dispute was a contested case, as defined by N.J.S.A. 52:14B-2(b). The relief being sought by petitioner in this matter is: (1) a determination that respondent violated the law when it assigned petitioner to the position of in-class support instructor, a position for which she asserts that is not certified; and (2) directing that the petitioner be assigned to a position compatible with her certificate and endorsements. However, the relief being requested by petitioner can no longer be granted in this matter because of changed circumstances since petitioner is no longer assigned to the position of in-class support instructor

Attorney for petitioner argues that a ruling on this issue would be helpful in assuring that such illegal assignments are not made in the future and will greatly assist future boards of education by providing guidance as to this issue. However, I can see no compelling reason which would require a determination of an issue which will have no practical impact on the rights and responsibilities of the parties. In this matter, I FIND that this case does not present any issue of great public importance compelling a definitive resolution. See, In re Conroy, supra at 459; Oxfeld v. New Jersey State Board of Examiners of Education, 68 N.J. 301 (1975). Based on the foregoing I intend, by this Initial Decision, to grant respondent's motion to dismiss this matter as moot.

DECISION AND ORDER

For the reasons stated above, it is hereby ORDERED that respondent's motion to dismiss the petition as moot is hereby GRANTED, and the petition is hereby DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 225 East State Street, CN 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF DUNELLEN, MIDDLESEX COUNTY,	:	DECISION

The record of this matter and the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Petitioner requested and was granted an extension of time within which to file exceptions to the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) decision. Such exceptions and the Board's reply thereto were submitted in accordance with the modified schedule.

Petitioner's exceptions aver that, although the ALJ correctly recounted the law with respect to mootness, he, nonetheless, misapplied it to the within matter. (Petitioner's Exceptions at p. 3) In this regard, she claims that the ALJ failed to recognize that because the Board maintains that it has the right to assign petitioner to the in-class support position in the future if it so chooses, "we have a situation that is likely of repetition, a reason relied upon by the courts in determining that an issue is not moot." (Id.) Petitioner cites a number of New Jersey Supreme Court and Appellate Division cases which were dismissed for mootness for the proposition that central to each of them was the court's determination that the particular situation challenged was not likely to recur. (Id. at p. 4) Such is not the case here, she argues, since "the Superintendent of Schools clearly testified at the hearing that he would reassign the Petitioner to the in-class support position at any time he deemed it necessary," and, therefore, by the Board's own admission, the situation is capable of repetition. (Id. at pp. 5-6) Petitioner further buttresses her argument that the instant matter is not moot by observing that, considering the customary time lag in the adjudication of administrative matters, "a challenge to any assignment of a year's duration would always be rendered moot simply by the passage of time, allowing repeated assignment of Petitioner outside the scope of her certificate and endorsements, so long as each assignment was of no more than one year's duration." (Id. at p. 3) Petitioner, therefore, urges that the initial decision be reversed and this matter returned to the OAL for hearing.

In reply the Board attempts to discount petitioner's argument and her cases cited for the proposition that a finding by the court that an action is not capable of repetition is a prerequisite to a finding that an issue is moot, asserting that none of the cases identified specifically so states. (emphasis added) (Board's Reply Exceptions at p. 5) As an example, it points to Gayder v. Spiotta, 206 N.J. Super. 556 (App. Div. 1985) where it posits "the memorandum being challenged could have been re-adopted, but the court found there was 'nothing to suggest that the substance of that memorandum [was] likely to be adopted.'" (emphasis in text) (Id.) The Board further urges that even if the Commissioner were to agree with petitioner and accept such a finding as a requisite for mootness, affirmance of the ALJ's decision is still mandated here. It argues, "[d]espite Petitioner's attempt to overstate the testimony of Dr. Travlos, there is absolutely no foundation in the record on which to base a finding that the situation involved is one that is likely of repetition. This is pure surmise and speculation by Petitioner and cannot serve as the basis for rejecting the ALJ's Initial Decision."

(emphasis in text) (Board's Reply Exceptions at p. 7) Moreover, it advances, just because the Board contends that it has the right to reassign petitioner to this position in the future does not create a current controversy. Clearly, it advances, if such an assignment were to occur in the future, and petitioner continued to believe it was inappropriate, it could be addressed at that time. (Id. at pp. 7-8) The Board, therefore, urges adoption of the initial decision.

Upon careful and independent review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner determines to reverse the initial decision of the ALJ, finding, instead, that petitioner's reassignment does not render moot her action challenging the Board's assignment of her to an in-class support instructor position since this alleged improper action, under the circumstances here, is one capable of repetition yet evading review. Cain v. New Jersey State Parole Board, 78 N.J. 253, 255 (1978), citing State v. Allen, 73 N.J. 132, 138-139 (1977). The Commissioner's review persuades him that requisite to a finding of mootness in this matter must be a conclusion that there is no reasonable expectation that the act complained of will be repeated. See Galloway Township Board of Education v. Galloway Township Education Association, 78 N.J. 25 (1978). Such is not the case here. Notwithstanding the attestations of the Board with respect to the remoteness of the possibility, nothing in the record of this matter provides any assurance that the specific action of the Board complained about will not be repeated in the future. To the contrary, because of the existence of a continuing relationship between the parties and the specific admission of the Superintendent that he would not hesitate to assign petitioner to the in-class support position anytime he deemed it necessary, the Commissioner is persuaded that there is clearly a reasonable potential for recurrence of the alleged improper assignment.

Accordingly, the initial decision of the OAL dismissing this case as moot is reversed and this matter is remanded to the OAL for a determination on petitioner's underlying claim that the Board's assignment of her to an in-class support instructor position was improper.*

IT IS SO ORDERED.

DECISION

On April 15, 1999, the Manchester Regional High School District Board of Education certified tenure charges against Barbara Dirk and suspended her without pay. On May 5, the Commissioner of Education referred the matter to the Office of Administrative Law for disposition.

On April 22, 1999, the Manchester Regional High School District Educational Secretaries Association filed an unfair practice charge with the Public Employment Relations Commission alleging that the tenure charges were filed to interfere with Dirk's role as Association president and to discriminate against her because of her protected activity.

On May 4, 1999, the Board advised Dirk that she would be denied her salary increments for the 1999-2000 school year. On May 14, the Association amended the unfair practice charge to include the increment withholding. On May 18, an appeal of the increment withholding was filed with the Commissioner of Education.

On June 10, 1999, a Complaint and Notice of Hearing on the unfair practice charge issued.

On June 14, 1999, Dirk filed a motion for consolidation and predominant interest determination. The motion sought consolidation of the tenure charge matter, the unfair practice charge, and the appeal of the increment withholding. The motion also sought a finding that the Commission has the predominant interest in these cases.

On June 25, 1999, the Board filed a response supporting consolidation but arguing that the Commissioner has the predominant interest.

On July 1, 1999, Dirk filed a reply.

On July 7, 1999, Administrative Law Judge Thomas R. Vena recommended that the motion for consolidation be denied. He found that the salary increment and unfair practice proceedings would be much different from the tenure charge case. He noted that the Association is the moving party in the unfair practice case; the Board does not have the burden of proof in the unfair practice and increment withholding cases; and the standard of proof differs between the increment withholding case and the tenure charges. Lastly, he found that L. 1998 c. 42 requires that the tenure case be handled expeditiously.

On July 16, 1999, Dirk and the Association filed exceptions. They argue that the cases should be consolidated and that the Commission should be found to have the predominant interest.

On July 20, 1999, the Board filed exceptions. It also argues that the cases should be consolidated, but that the Commissioner should be found to have the predominant interest.

Having independently evaluated the record and considered the Administrative Law Judge's order, the Commissioner of Education on ~~July~~ August 9, 1999 and the Chair of the Public Employment Relations Commission, acting pursuant to authority delegated to her by the full Commission, on ~~July~~ August 3, 1999, made the following determination in this matter.

The unfair practice charge and the tenure charges should be consolidated. The parties are identical; the principal factual and legal issues overlap; consolidation will save time and expense, avoid duplication, and prevent inconsistency; and dissimilar questions of fact and law will cause some delay but not prejudice or confuse any party. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-17.3. We share the Judge's concern about the timelines in L. 1998, c. 42, but both matters can be handled expeditiously. The danger of inconsistent results and concomitant protracted litigation outweigh the possibility of some delay in the initial proceedings.

Ordinarily, we would consolidate the cases to be heard in a single proceeding. The record would then be forwarded to the Commission to determine whether Dirk engaged in activity protected under the New Jersey Employer-Employee Relations Act, N.J.S.A. 34:13A-1 et seq. and whether the activity, if protected, was a substantial or motivating factor in the bringing of tenure charges and the withholding of her increment. See In re Bridgewater Tp., 95 N.J. 235 (1984). The Commission's decision and the complete record would then be sent to the Commissioner to determine whether the adverse personnel actions were for legitimate business reasons and were otherwise warranted under education law. However, the Commissioner of Education does not have jurisdiction to review Dirk's increment withholding under N.J.S.A. 18A:29-14 since that statute covers only teaching staff members. The Commission should therefore consider all issues relevant to the unfair practice charge concerning the increment withholding, including whether legitimate business reasons motivated the withholding and whether it would have occurred for such reasons absent Dirk's protected activity. And since the same analysis would have to be made concerning the tenure charges, the Commission should do that analysis at the same time. Accordingly, in addition to determining whether protected activity motivated increment withholding and tenure charges, the Commission will determine whether those actions were also motivated by legitimate business reasons and would have occurred absent Dirk's protected activity. The consolidated matter will then be sent to the Commissioner to determine whether the tenure charges were otherwise warranted under education law. The increment withholding petition filed before the Commissioner shall separately proceed to dismissal based upon the Commissioner's lack of jurisdiction over withholdings of increments for persons who are not teaching staff members.

ORDER

The unfair practice charge and the tenure charges are consolidated for hearing before an Administrative Law Judge. The Administrative Law Judge will first offer recommended findings of fact and conclusions of law to both the Public Employment Relations Commission and the Commissioner of Education disposing of all issues in controversy through a single initial decision under N.J.S.A. 1:1-18.3 and consistent with N.J.A.C. 1:1-17.8(a); and

Upon transmittal of the initial decision to both agencies, the underlying record will be forwarded to the Commission to determine whether the bringing of the tenure charges and the withholding of the increment violated the New Jersey Employer-Employee Relations Act, N.J.S.A. 34:13A-1 et seq.; and

The Commission's decision and the complete record will then be sent to the Commissioner of Education to determine whether the tenure charges were otherwise warranted under education law.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner, a tenured teaching staff member, alleged that the Board failed to recognize his tenure rights as a principal with the school district and his entitlement to the vacant position of principal in the Board's high school.

The ALJ granted summary decision to petitioner, concluding that petitioner was entitled to the position of high school principal by virtue of his tenure rights as principal.

The Commissioner affirmed the recommended decision of the ALJ, particularly in light of the court's holding in Schienholz et al. v. Board of Education of the Township of Ewing, Mercer County.

BEFORE LILLARD E. LAW, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner, Gregory T. Donahue, a tenured teaching staff member with the Board of Education of the Ocean City School District (Board) alleges, among other things, that the Board has failed to recognize his tenure rights as a principal with the school district and his entitlement to the vacant positions of principal in the Board's High School in violation of the school laws in general and including, but not limited to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-1 to -14.

The matter was transmitted from the Commissioner of Education (Commissioner) to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. Subsequent to a prehearing conference and settlement negotiations, which were unsuccessful, petitioner propounded a Motion for Summary Decision, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5.

Having carefully considered the criteria for summary judgment as established by our Supreme Court in the matter of Judson v. Peoples Bank & Trust Co. Of Westfield, 17 N.J. 67 (1954) and, having considered the entire record before me, I FIND and CONCLUDE that the instant matter is ripe for summary decision.

PETITIONER'S POSITION

STATEMENT OF FACTS

The facts in this matter have been stipulated and are set forth as follows:

1. Petitioner, Gregory T. Donahue, is a tenured teaching staff member in the Ocean City School District having been continuously employed since on or about February 16, 1971.

2. Petitioner's employment history in the Ocean City School District is as follows:

   Special Education Teacher
   February 16, 1971 - June 30, 1974

Director of Special Education
July 1, 1974 - August 14,1989

Principal - Intermediate School
August 15, 1989 - June 30, 1992

Assistant Principal - Intermediate School
July 1, 1992 - Present

3. Effective July 1, 1992, respondent abolished the position of T&E Administrator, held by Lyle Alverson. Mr. Alverson was petitioner's predecessor as principal of the Intermediate School and has greater seniority than petitioner to the position.

4. When the position of T&E Administrator was abolished, Mr. Alverson was reassigned as Intermediate School principal in accordance with is tenure and seniority rights.

5. Petitioner had tenure and seniority rights to the position of Director of Special Education. At the time, respondent had recently employed a minority female as Director of Special Services and wished to continue her employment.

6. Respondent approached petitioner about its desire to retain the incumbent Director of Special Education who was non-tenured in the school district. Respondent and petitioner agreed that petitioner would accept the position of vice principal at the Intermediate School, effective July 1, 1992, but that he would continue to be paid as a principal and retain his tenure rights. (The Agreement is attached as Exhibit A.) To date, respondent continues to pay petitioner as a principal.

7. Effective February 1, 1998, the high school principal retired. The retirement of the high school principal resulted in the first vacancy of principal in the school district since the abolishment of the position of T&E Administrator.

8. Currently, respondent has employed an interim principal at the high school pending a decision in this matter.

ARGUMENT

PETITIONER IS ENTITLED TO THE POSITION OF HIGH SCHOOL PRINCIPAL BY VIRTUE OF HIS TENURE RIGHTS AS A PRINCIPAL

It is uncontroverted that petitioner was a tenured principal in the Ocean City High School District when the position of T&E Administrator was abolished effective July 1, 1992, resulting in a reduction in force (rif) and petitioner being assigned as a vice principal. On or about February 1, 1998, the first vacancy in the position of principal since the 1992 rif occurred when the high school principal retired. Respondent's failure to employ petitioner in the aforesaid position is volatile of his tenure right.

The overwhelming body of decisional law clearly holds that non-tenured personnel cannot be retained or hired over a tenured individual with reference to a position for which the individual has attained tenure. Capodilupo v. West Orange Twp. Ed. Bd., 218 N.J. Super. 520 (App. Div. 1987); Bednar v. Westwood Bd. of Ed., 221 N.J. Super. 239 (App. Div. 1987). In Capodilupo, supra, the Appellate Division affirmed the reemployment of a high school teacher who had attained tenure as a teacher with an endorsement in Physical Education to the position of elementary school Physical Education teacher despite the fact that the teacher had no demonstrable experience in the elementary school position over a non-tenured, certified teacher with actual experience in the position. In its decision, the Appellant Division upheld the State Board of Education's determination that:

> seniority provides a mechanism for ranking all tenured teaching staff members so that reduction among the tenured force can be effected in an equitable fashion and in accordance with sound > educational policies. See Lichtman v. Ridgewood Bd. of Ed., supra, 93 N.J. at 368. 218 N.J. Super. at 514.

The Court further averred "a tenured teacher, however, is entitled to retention as against a nontenured teacher under the tenure law. To hold otherwise would be to defeat the purpose of tenure which was to give a measure of security to teachers after the prescribed number of years of service. See Viemeister v. Prospect Park Bd. of Ed., 5 N.J. Super. 215, 218 (App. Div. 1949)." 218 N.J. Super. at 514-15.

Subsequent to the Bednar and Capodilupo decisions, school law decisions have consistently and emphatically held that tenured individuals are entitled to positions held by non-tenured individuals within the position that an individual attained tenure. In Mirandi v. Bd. of Ed. of Twp. of West Orange, Essex County, 1988 S.L.D. 1988 aff'd, as mod. State Bd. 1989 S.L.D. 3057, petitioner, a tenured assistant principal at the high school who was "riffed" and reassigned to a position of high school social studies teacher, was held to be entitled to the position of middle school assistance principal despite having had no experience in the latter position as against a non-tenured individual with actual experience.

Likewise, in Burke v. Bd. of Ed. of Boro. of Union Beach, 1988 S.L.D. 1318, petitioner, a tenured school social worker who had been "riffed," was found to be entitled to the position of student assistance counselor as opposed to a non-tenured individual who was employed in that position. Moreover, in Burke, the Commissioner recognized that where a petitioner has "a statutory entitlement to [a] position by virtue of her tenure states . . . [i]t[s] the Board's duty to recognize her tenure status and notify her of the fact it was available to her."

Other noteworthy decisions are Schaeffer v. So. Orange-Maplewood Bd. of Ed., 1988 S.L.D. 553, aff'd State Bd. 1989 S.L.D. 3077 and Herbert v. Middletown Bd. of Ed., 1989 S.L.D. 2148, aff'd State Bd. 1990 S.L.D. 1759, aff'd App. Div. A318-90T1, May 22, 1991. In Schaeffer, supra, petitioner, a tenured junior high school and middle school department chairperson for English who had been "riffed" and reassigned to a classroom teaching position, w as found to be entitled to the district-wide position of Director of Language Arts/English (K-8) as opposed to a non-tenured individual who was employed in that position. While in Herbert, supra, the Commissioner affirmed the decision that a tenured Supervisor of Elementary Education who had been "riffed" was entitled to the position of Supervisor of Special Services, a highly regulated and substantially complicated area, as against a non-tenured supervisor. As the Administrative Law Judge determined.

> As the line of cases discussed above makes clear the tenure law grants the tenured teaching staff member a right over a non-tenured teaching staff member to any position for which the tenured staff member qualifies him or her. The tenure laws do not contain any exemptions or exceptions. The legislature has determined that a person who obtains an endorsement is qualified for all positions under that endorsement. To allow subjective educational reasons to override the tenure law is to ignore the law and is clearly impermissible.
>
> The incumbent undoubtedly is qualified for the position. The Board may believe that she would perform better than the petitioner as Supervisor of Special Services. But the law gives the petitioner an unequivocal right to the position. He cannot be deprived of his tenure rights by virtue of the Board's impression that the incumbent would do the job better. This approach may not be the best educational policy, but it is the law, and only the Legislature can change the law. That the position in this case may differ from the petitioner's prior positions more than the positions at issue in Bednar or Mirandi does not alter the outcome. The tenure laws cannot be modified by a board's belief that a particular position is somehow unique. The point of Bednar and Mirandi is that the tenure laws must apply despite the particular experience or inexperience of the person involved. Not only is there no measurable way of determining when a position is unique to a degree that would allegedly exempt it from the strictures of the tenure law, the law simply does not permit that type of analysis or exemption.
>
> The petitioner is entitled as a matter of law to the position held by the non-tenured incumbent. He must be instated, with retroactive seniority, to that position with all back pay.

As it is uncontroverted that petitioner is tenured as a principal, it is convincingly clear that he is entitled to the position of principal of Ocean City High School as opposed to a non-tenured person.

While in each of the above reference decisions, the Commissioner of Education found Bednar, supra and Capodilupo, supra to hold that a non-tenured person cannot be employed over a tenured person. The case directly on point to this matter is Schienholz et al v. Ewing Bd. of Ed., 1989 S.L.D. 1860 aff'd State Bd. 1990 S.L.D. 1809, aff'd App. Div. A-2905-89T3 (Nov. 19, 1990), cert. denied _____ N.J. _____ (March 5, 1991). In Schienholz, supra, the Board of Education closed three elementary schools in 1982 and 1983 resulting in the Fuller and Wayne Pickering. Schienholz and Fuller accepted teaching positions, while Pickering resigned his teaching position for an administrative position in another school district.

In 1988, there was a vacancy for a high school principal. The board decided to appoint a highly qualified candidate from outside the state. Before the out of state candidate was formally appointed, the three riffed elementary principals claimed the position of high school principal. In the Initial Decision, the ALJ determined that one of the three petitioners was entitled to the position based on his tenure rights as principal. However, the ALJ further determined that the petitioners were barred from asserting their rights based on waiver and estoppel. The Commissioner affirmed the Initial Decision that the petitioners were entitled to the high school position, but rejected the finding that Schienholz and Fuller were barred by waiver and estoppel. The Commissioner decided that Pickering was barred because he resigned from the school district. The Commissioner ordered the Board to choose between Schienholz and Fuller for the position of high school principal.

On appeal, the State Board of Education affirmed that the petitioners were entitled to the position and that Schienholz and Fuller were not barred. The State Board reversed the Commissioner and held that Pickering also had entitlement to the position. The State Board reasoned that Pickering resigned from his teaching position, but remained on the preferred eligible list for principal. The Appellate Division affirmed the decision of the State Board in all respects. (A copy of the decisions are attached hereto as Appendix B.) See also Williams v. Plainfield Bd. of Ed., 176 N.J. Super. 163 (App. Div. 1980), cert. den. 87 N.J. 306 (1981) wherein the Appellate Division held that the transfer of a high school principal to an elementary school as principal was proper because Mrs. Williams' tenure rights were as a principal and thus, the transfer was to a position of equivalent rank. See also N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 which clearly lists "principal" as the position one may attain tenure and not high school principal or elementary principal.

In this matter, as in Schienholz, supra, petitioner is a tenured principal who was removed from his position of principal as a result of a rif in 1992. At that time, he could have asserted his tenure and seniority rights to his former position of Director of Special Education. However, he was approached by respondent and asked to accept a position of vice principal. In accepting the position of vice principal, respondent and petitioner agreed that petitioner "shall retain all of his tenure rights and will not lose any tenure rights whatsoever by his accepting the position of Vice Principal at the Intermediate School" (Appendix A). The vacancy in the position of high school principal was the first vacancy in the position of principal since the rif in 1992. N.J.S.A. 18A:28-12 and Schienholz, supra, require respondent, Ocean City Board of Education, to reemploy petitioner in the position of principal now that a vacancy has occurred in said position. The fact that the vacancy has occurred in the position of high school principal does not diminish petitioner's entitlement to the position. Schienholz, supra.

For all the foregoing, it is respectfully requested that the ALJ find and determine that petitioner, as a tenured principal, is entitled to the position of principal at the Ocean City High School rather than a nontenured principal and order respondent to employ petitioner as the high school principal with all salary, benefits and emoluments, retroactive to February 1, 1998.

THE BOARD'S POSITION

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

In this matter, petitioner, Gregory T. Donahue, contends that he is entitled to the position of the high school principal or some other position of principal by virtue of his tenure. The respondent, Ocean City Board of Education (the "Board"), contends that petitioner is not so entitled because of a written agreement made between the parties on July 25, 1992.

ISSUES

1. Whether the Board failed to recognize petitioner's tenure rights as a principal.
2. Whether petitioner is entitled to a vacant position as a principal.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The petitioner filed a petition on or about April 29, 1998. The respondent filed an answer on or about June 3, 1998. A telephone prehearing conference in this case was held on August 27, 1998. A prehearing order was signed on September 2, 1998. On March 12, 1999, the hearing was scheduled and at that time the petitioner and respondent agreed on stipulation of facts which was signed off on by the parties.

Briefs were ordered to be submitted on or before April 30, 1999.

LEGAL ANALYSIS

At issue is whether the petitioner is entitled to a position of principal by virtue of his tenure. After a review of all the facts, especially the Memorandum of Agreement dated July 25, 1992, and executed by the petitioner and respondent (the "Agreement") (see Agreement attached as Exhibit A to the Stipulation of Facts), it is clear that the petitioner is not entitled to the position of high school principal.

The respondent is fully aware of the matter of Schienholz v. Ewing Township Board of Education, decided by the Commissioner June 19, 1989, affirmed in part, State Board of Education, February 2, 1990, affirmed by the Appellate Division, November 19, 1990. In that matter, two former principals who had served as principals only at the elementary and middle school levels were found to have greater entitlement to the high school principalship than did the nontenured holder of the position whose experience as principal was primarily at the secondary level. However, that case is not dispositive of this matter. The respondent is not arguing that the petitioner is not entitled to the high school principalship because his experience is primarily at elementary and middle school levels.

The respondent's position is quite simple and that is that agreement settles the issue. As set forth in the Stipulation of Facts, paragraph 6, the petitioner as part of the agreement agreed to accept the position of vice principal at the Intermediate School as long as he remained at the principal salary guide and retained all of his tenure rights. The respondent performed pursuant to the agreement by compensating the petitioner as a principal and petitioner has retained his tenure rights as though he was the principal at the Intermediate School. Accordingly, the petitioner's transfer to the Intermediate School did not result in a reduction of salary and did not affect his tenure status.

Petitioner has brought this action in an attempt to receive more rights than he would otherwise possess. Respondent argues that the petitioner is not entitled to more rights than any other principal within the district. For instance, there is no question that Dr. Alverson, Principal at the Intermediate School, is not entitled to the high school principal's position. Accordingly, the petitioner is not entitled to the position. If petitioner had not entered into the agreement, had not remained on the principal's salary guide, and had not retained his tenure rights as principal, then he would be so entitled.

At the time petitioner entered into the agreement and at the time he accepted the position of vice principal, he chose not to exercise his tenure rights to the position of Director of Special Services, a position in which he had previously held and in which he had seniority (Stipulation of Facts, paragraph 5). Petitioner is now attempting to exercise those rights even though he remained on the principal salary guide and has retained all of his tenure rights. The respondent in good faith entered into the agreement when the petitioner and respondent has lived up to and will continue to abide by its obligation under the agreement. It is quite evident that there has been no violation of petitioner's tenure rights. He has been treated as a principal and will continue to be so treated.

Respondent has not taken action relative to petitioner's employment which violated his rights under applicable law, including, but not limited to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 et seq., and N.J.A.C. 6:3-5.1 et seq.

Respondent has not failed to recognize petitioner's tenure rights as a principal and petitioner is not entitled to a vacant position as a principal.

CONCLUSIONS

New Jersey education laws afford protection to those teaching staff members who meet the precise conditions for a tenure status with a board of education. Zimmerman v. Newark Bd. of Ed., 38 N.J. 65 (1962). The court has held that the tenure statutes, N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 to -12, "should be liberally construed to further its beneficial purpose of affording seniority to teaching staff who meet its standard of length of service." Bednar v. Westwood Board of Education, 221 N.J. Super. 239, 241 (App. Div. 1987). The Bednar court continued to say that "the tenure provisions in our school laws were designed to aid in the establishment of a competent and efficient school system by affording to principals and teachers a measure of security in the ranks they hold after years of service." Viemeister v. Board of Education of Prospect Park, 5 N.J. Super. 2115, 218 (App. Div. 1949).

In the instant matter, the Board relies upon an agreement entered into between it and petitioner, dated July 25, 1992, and which provides as follows:

> MEMORANDUM OF AGREEMENT
> BACKGROUND
>
> Gregory T. Donahue is presently employed by the Ocean City Board of Education as a Principal at the Intermediate School.
>
> Mr. Donahue and the Board of Education have discussed at length the concerns which each of them has, and believe it is in the best interest of both the Board of Education and Mr. Donahue that Mr. Donahue be transferred to the position of Vice-Principal at the Intermediate School under the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth.

AGREEMENT

1. Mr. Donahue shall remain on the principal salary guide, Classification II, said guide being set forth in the Professional Employees Agreement between the Ocean City Administrators' Association and the Board of Education of Ocean City.

2. Mr. Donahue shall retain all of his tenure rights and will not lose any tenure rights whatsoever by his accepting the position of Vice-Principal at the Intermediate School.

Thus, the agreement between the Board and petitioner was a form of a contract, i.e., the Board persuaded petitioner to forbear his superior claim to the position of Director of Special Education in consideration for his assignment as vice principal of the Intermediate School and remain on the principal's salary guide. Our Supreme Court addressed the issue of a teaching staff member's tenure status and contract, in Spiewak v. Rutherford Bd. of Ed., 90 N.J. 63 (1982). In Spiewak, the Court overturned an Appellate Division decision which held that certain remedial and Title I teachers were not "teaching staff members" as defined by N.J.S.A. 18A:1-1 and, therefore, not eligible for tenure protection under N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5. The court stated, at 72, that:

> . . . The Tenure Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:28-1 to -18, specifically defines the conditions under which teachers are entitled to the security of tenure. The statute makes a mandatory term and condition of employment. It therefore supercedes [sic] contractual terms (citations omitted).

The Court continued, at 76 to hold:

> It is now well settled that public employees and employers may not agree to contractual terms that contravene a specific term or condition of employment set by a statute. "If the Legislature establishes a specific term or condition of employment that leaves no room for discretionary action, then negotiation on that term is fully preempted." In re IFPTE Local 195 v. State, 88 N.J. at 403. We have specifically stated that the tenure provisions of N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 constitute a mandatory contractual term that may not be waived or bargained away.

And, at 77:

> . . . Tenure is a "statutory right imposed upon a teacher's contractual employment," Zimmerman v. Newark Bd. of Ed., 38 N.J. at 72. It may not be forfeited or waived, Red Bank Ed. Ass'n v. Red Bank Bd. of Ed., 78 N.J. at 141.

Thus, the agreement, or contract, entered into between the Board and petitioner may not contravene petitioner's tenure rights. The Board's argument that petitioner is seeking more tenure rights than he possesses is misplaced. Rather, petitioner seeks only those seniority and tenure rights to which he is entitled.

I CONCLUDE, therefore, by virtue of petitioner's superior seniority and tenure rights, and pursuant to Capodilupo, supra, Bednar, supra, and Spiewak, supra, that petitioner is entitled to the position of high school principal in the Board's employ.

ORDER

Accordingly, it is ORDERED that summary decision be and is hereby ENTERED on behalf of petitioner. It is further ORDERED that the Board of Education of the Ocean City School District place petitioner in the position of high school principal beginning for the 1999-2000 school year.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, P.O. BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF OCEAN CITY, CAPE MAY COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record and initial decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. No exceptions were filed by the parties.

Upon review of the record, the Commissioner agrees with the recommended decision of the Administrative Law Judge granting summary decision to petitioner based upon his tenure rights as a principal, particularly in light of the court's holding in Schienholz et al., supra. Moreover, even accepting arguendo that the agreement, entered into by the parties as a result of a reduction in force in 1992 which "bumped" petitioner from his tenured position as principal, is the only factor controlling this matter as the Board asserts, the Commissioner concludes that the plain wording of the agreement does not in any way contravene the relief sought by petitioner. The agreement explicitly states that petitioner "will not lose any tenure rights whatsoever by accepting the position of vice-principal at the Intermediate School." (emphasis supplied) In 1998, when the first principal's position came open to which petitioner was entitled by virtue of his tenure rights, he chose to exercise his right to that position because, in accordance with the terms of the agreement, he had not lost any of his tenure rights when he acquiesced to the Board's desire to retain a nontenured staff member in the position to which he had been entitled in 1992.

Accordingly, summary decision is hereby granted to petitioner.[1]

IT IS SO ORDERED.

BEFORE JOHN R. TASSINI, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

This case concerns the petitioners' domicile and the parties' rights and duties under N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1.

This matter is the subject of the contested case docketed as EDU 6951-98 which was the subject of a February 24, 1999 initial decision and an April 12, 1999 Commissioner of Education Decision, remanding the case. As shown in the attached "Settlement Agreement," the case has been settled.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This matter is the subject of the contested case docketed as EDU 6951-98 which was the subject of a February 24, 1999 initial decision and an April 12, 1999 Commissioner of Education Decision, remanding the case. The procedural history set forth in the initial decision is adopted and supplemented by the following: Pursuant to the April 12, 1999 Commissioner of Education Decision the case was remanded to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) where, on April 29, 1999, it was filed as a contested case bearing docket number EDU 2706-99. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-11, N.J.S.A. 52:14B-2(b). The case was scheduled for a hearing on June 17, 1999 in the Point Pleasant Beach municipal building. At that time and place, the attorneys and I engaged in a settlement conference; the parties entered into the Settlement Agreement, subject to approval by the Point Pleasant Beach Board of Education (BOE); and a taped record was made, during which the Settlement Agreement was marked "J-1" and described and F.P. stated that he had voluntarily and intelligently entered into the Settlement Agreement, etc. On the record closed date, I received the BOE's attorney's letter wherein he represented that, during the BOE's June 29, 1999 meeting, it had adopted a resolution approving the settlement.

FINDINGS OF FACT

The attorneys, both of whom are experienced and competent, particularly in education law, represent and I find that the parties have intelligently, voluntarily and lawfully agreed to the Settlement Agreement. J-1.

Substantial and complicated issues of fact and law remained in this case, including issues relating to the domicile of the petitioners and their responsibility for tuition that may be owed to the BOE. The Settlement Agreement will avoid the time and expense that both parties would incur if the case were to be fully litigated.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Given the above-noted Substantial and complicated issues of fact and law, the Settlement Agreement is reasonable and lawful; will avoid time and expense for both parties which would be incurred in full litigation; disposes of all issues in controversy; and is in the public interest. N.J.A.C.1:1-19.1.

ORDER

I ORDER the parties to comply with the settlement agreement.

The petition will be deemed withdrawn and the case transmitted back to the Department of Education.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 225 East State Street, CN 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioning Board appealed determinations made by respondent Department of Education, Division of School Finance, providing that two individuals, T.J. and A.B., be assigned to the Board's district for the 1998-99 school year pursuant to the State Facilities Education Act of 1979, N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-1 to –13.

As to T.J., the ALJ granted summary decision to respondent, finding that because the present district of residence cannot be determined, the district of residence shall be the district in which the child resided prior to admission or placement, namely the Lower Camden County Regional High School District. As to A.B., the ALJ determined that the State has fiscal responsibility because the custodial parent for A.B. on October 15, 1997 was his mother, who resided in Philadelphia.

The Commissioner adopted the ALJ's recommended decision granting summary decision to respondent as the controversy pertains to T.J. for the reasons set forth in the initial decision. As to A.B., the Commissioner determined that the ALJ appropriately found N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12(d) to be controlling, and the statute's plain meaning is that the State has fiscal responsibility for the tuition of a student placed in a State facility when the district of residence is identified to be outside of New Jersey.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY, DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, BUREAU OF SCHOOL FINANCE,

Respondent.

Barry Chatzinoff, Esq., for petitioner (Weinberg, McCormack, Chatzinoff & Paul, attorneys)

Arlene Goldfus Lutz, Deputy Attorney General, for respondent (John J. Farmer, Jr., Attorney General of New Jersey, attorney)

Record Closed: June 4, 1999 Decided: June 28, 1999

BEFORE BRUCE R. CAMPBELL ALJ:

The Lower Camden County Regional High School District No. 1 ("Board" or "petitioner") appeals determinations made by the Department of Education, Office of School Finance ("Department" or "respondent"), providing that two individuals, T.J. and A.B., be assigned to the Board's district for the 1998-99 school year pursuant to the State Facilities Education Act of 1979, N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-1 through -13.

These matters were opened by verified petitions of appeal filed before the Commissioner of Education. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9. The Board contests the assignments of T.J. and A.B. to it based upon the Board's investigation establishing that the current residences of these individuals' parents or guardians, with whom they lived prior to their most admission to a State facility, were not in the Lower Camden County Regional High School District. The matters were transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for determination as contested cases, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 through -13. The appeals were consolidated for hearing. A prehearing conference was held by telephone on January 12, 1999. It was determined that the issues would be considered upon the filing of dispositive motions. Both parties have propounded and responded to interrogatories.

Counsel timely filed all papers and, with receipt of the Department's reply on April 13, 1999, I considered the record closed.

STIPULATED FACTS

The parties stipulate the following facts. T.J. was born on July 5, 1981. The parties disagreed as to the date of his first placement in a State penal institution. The Department maintained it occurred on May 13, 1997 and the Board maintained it occurred on June 17, 1997. Upon discovering this discrepancy, I wrote to counsel stating > Inasmuch as I have been unable to hold a conference of counsel this week to resolve a factual issue, I have had to keep the record open in these cases until we can discuss and resolve the problem.

>
> In your submissions, I find disagreement as to the placement dates for both A.B. and T.J. Concerning A.B., Mr. Chatzinoff says he was placed on or about April 1, 1997 (petitioner's memorandum at > 4). Mrs. Lutz says he was placed on June 3, 1997 (respondent's brief, unpaginated). Obviously, the more than two month discrepancy could be important.

>
> Concerning T.J., Mr. Chatzinoff says he was placed on June 17, 1997 (petitioner's memorandum at 8). Mrs. Lutz says he was placed on June 3, 1997 (respondent's brief, unpaginated). Although a lesser gap, this time also could be important.

Counsel responded in writing and by telephone. After discussing the matter with counsel, I am satisfied that A.B. was placed on June 3, 1997 (see respondent's exhibit G) and T.J. was placed on May 13, 1997 (see respondent's exhibit A).

The sole issue to be determined is whether the named pupils were bona fide residents of the Board's district on the last school day prior to October 16 of the relevant year.

The Board argues that A.B. was first placed at the Camden/Lakeland Preparatory Facility on or about April 1, 1997. At that time, the custodial parent was his father, A.B., Sr., who resided at X. Street in a municipality that is within the petitioner's district. After the respondent notified the petitioner of the assignment of A.B. to the Board, on or about December 17, 1997, the petitioner indicated its rejection of the assignment. It provided information supplied by A.B.'s stepmother, J.C. Ms. J.C. indicated that prior to A.B.'s most recent placement, custody of him had been transferred to his mother, D.D., who resided with A.B. in Philadelphia.

On June 24, 1998, the Director of the Office of School Finance wrote to the Board's Superintendent indicating

> This is in response to your rejection of assignment of [A.B.] to your district in accordance with the provisions of the State Facilities Education Act of 1979. The Department of Law and Public Safety-JJC has indicated that the child was in the Camden/Lakeland preparatory facility as of April 15, 1997. His legal guardian, [A.K.B., Sr.] was a resident at [X Street, in a certain municipality] as of that date.
>
> In view of this information the assignment of [A.B.] to the Lower Camden County Regional High School District will stand for the > 1998-99 school year. A district board of education desiring to appeal this determination may initiate a formal proceeding by filing a Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner pursuant to the provisions of N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.1 et seq.

The petitioner's Director of Security conducted an investigation. This was provided to the Department. In pertinent part, this report provides

> On August 4, 1997, [A.] appeared in Court in reference to Docket No. . . . . Various issues were addressed during that hearing. According to Mrs. [B.], [A.B.'s] stepmother, custody of [A.] was granted to his natural mother, [D.D.] and he was released to live with her at her residence located in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Mrs. [B.] indicated that Mrs. [D.] currently resides on [C.] Street in Philadelphia, but was not sure what street she lived on during the time custody was transferred. Mrs. [B.] said that [A.] has not lived with her and her husband since then.

Further investigation showed Mrs. D.D.'s exact address was N. Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on August 4, 1997.

An affidavit submitted by A.'s stepmother has also been supplied to the Department. Petitioner's exhibit D. In pertinent part, the affidavit provides

> 3. On August 4, 1997, there was a hearing before Judge Thomas A. Brown, Jr., at the Superior Court of New Jersey, Camden County. At this hearing, Judge Brown transferred custody of [A.B.] to his natural mother, [D.D.]. Ms. [D.D.'s] address is [N.] Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.
>
> 4. Following the August 4, 1997 hearing, [A.B.] was replaced in the facility at Lakeland. On the date of this placement, [A.B.'s] custodial parent was [D.D.] and [A.B.] had lived with [D.D.] from the date of August 4, 1997.
>
> 5. After [A.B.] was replaced at Lakeland, he left that facility. Thereafter, on or about October 1, 1997 until a date late in February 1998 or early March 1998, [A.B.] was detained in the Camden County Jail. Thereafter, [A.B.] was sentenced to three years incarceration. [A.B.] has been in either

> Yardville State Prison or Trenton State Prison since that time. He is currently at Yardville.

The documentation the Board submitted to the Department confirms that A.B.'s custodial parent was D.D. on the date of his last placement in a State facility and that D.D. lives in Philadelphia. Despite receiving this information, the Department has remained unwilling to change the assignment of A.B.

The Department has conceded, in its response to interrogatories, the following

> 6. Describe the manner in which the Commissioner of Education, and those persons acting on his behalf, determines the district of residence for children pursuant to the obligations as set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12.
>
> Answer - As the facts differ with each student, decisions are made on a case by case basis, based upon information provided to the respondent by the agency responsible for the student.
>
> 7. What action, if any, does the Commissioner of Education, and those persons acting on his behalf, take to ensure the residency of the children?
>
> Answer - See answer to No. 6.
>
> 8. Describe what action, if any, the Commissioner of Education, and those persons acting on his behalf, took with respect to the determination of the residency of [A.B.] and/or [A.B., Jr.], prior to his most recent admission to a State facility or most recent placement by a State Agency.
>
> Answer - The determination was based upon information provided by the agency that was responsible for the student. When the district rejected the determination, respondent requested additional information from the agency. The agency verified the address as stated previously, and respondent affirmed its determination that petitioner is responsible for the tuition.
>
> 9. What was the date of the most recent admission of [A.B.] to a State facility or most recent placement by a State agency?

Answer - Respondent has no knowledge whether A.B. has been placed by a State agency since the placement at issue.

14. Does the State admit that custody of [A.B.] was granted to his natural mother, [D.D.], on or about August 4, 1997?

Answer - No.

15. If the answer to the preceding interrogatory is in the negative, set forth all facts in support of the State's respondent.

Answer - Respondent has no knowledge regarding the allegation.

16. What investigation, if any, has the State performed to determine whether custody of [A.B.] was transferred to [D.D.] on or about August 4, 1997?

Answer - None.

17. Does the State admit that [A.B.] resided with [D.D.] from August 4, 1997 through December 1, 1997 in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania?

Answer - No.

18. If the answer to the preceding interrogatory is in the negative, set forth all facts in support of the State's response.

Answer - Respondent has no knowledge regarding this allegation.

19. What investigation, if any, did the State perform to determine whether [A.B.] resided with [D.D.] from August 4, 1997 through December 1, 1997?

Answer - None.

20. Has the Commissioner of Education, or someone acting on his behalf visited the [X Street], New Jersey, residence?

Answer - No.

Concerning T.J., the Board says he was placed at the Lakeland Preparatory Facility on June 17, 1997. At that time, his custodial parent was his mother, G.G., who resided at Y. Street in the municipality located within the Board's district. Subsequently, G.G. moved from that address to Z. Street, which is located in Gloucester Township. This is not within the Board's district. Information that G.G. moved from the Y. Street address was submitted to the Department, along with the Board's rejection of the assignment of T.J. dated December 17, 1997. Petitioner's exhibit F. On June 12, 1998, the Director of the Office of School Finance wrote to the Board's Superintendent, indicating

> Our office has been unsuccessful in its attempts to reassign T.J., a child who was in the Camden/Lakeland prep facility as of October 15, 1997. Since we are unable to determine the present address of the legal guardian, G.G., our determination will be based on the second criteria [sic] utilized in determining the district of residence (N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12) which is the address of the parent or legal guardian at the time of initial placement.

Following receipt of that letter, the petitioner provided the Department with verification from Gloucester Township that G.G. is the owner of the property at Z. Street. The verification from Gloucester Township also indicated that children at the junior and senior high school levels attend the Black Horse Pike Regional School. Petitioner's exhibit H.

The Board also has provided the Department with a Complaint for Custody filed by T.J.'s maternal grandmother dated October 26, 1998. The Complaint indicates that, at that time, T.J. resided with his mother at the Z. Street address. The Board also provided the Department a copy of a student registration form completed by T.J.'s maternal grandmother on October 26, 1998 as she enrolled T.J. in the Lower Camden County district. The petitioner supplied the Department a copy of the student transfer card and a copy of T.J.'s student transcript from Highland Regional High School, which demonstrates that from the time that T.J. was released from the Lakeland facility until October 19, 1998, he was enrolled in the Highland Regional High School and that his address was the Z. Street address. Petitioner's exhibit I.

The Board also submits the Department's answers to interrogatories concerning T.J. They are virtually identical to the answers provided above as to A.B.

The Department asserts that A.B. was placed at the Camden/Lakeland facility on June 3, 1997. He was seventeen years old at the time. The Office of Education in the Juvenile Justice Commission requested that the Department determine which school district was financially responsible for A.B.'s education. The Office of Education submitted a form to the Department that identified D.D. as A.B.'s parent/guardian and noted that she resided at [a certain street] in a municipality within the Lower Camden County Regional District. Respondent's exhibit F.

The Department determined that the Board was the responsible district by virtue of the parent's residency in that particular municipality. Respondent's exhibit G.

The Board rejected the assignment. A district employee indicated that A.B.'s mother was his legal guardian. Because she was a resident of Philadelphia, the district was not responsible for A.B.'s tuition.

Because the Board rejected the assignment, the Department employee sought further information from the Office of Education. On January 28, 1998, an education program specialist with the Office of Education advised the Board that A.B. resided with his father in a municipality within the Board's district. As proof, she provided a document prepared for the Superior Court, Family Part in Camden County. According to the report, A.B. lived with his father at the particular address and in the particular municipality before his incarceration. Respondent's exhibit J. Because the evidence indicated the father resided in the particular municipality on October 15, 1997, the Department's Director of School Finance notified the district on June 24, 1998, that it remained financially responsible for A.B.'s education.

The Department argues similarly as to T.J. The Department asserts T.J. was placed in the Camden/Lakeland facility on May 13, 1997. At that time, he was not quite sixteen years old. In accordance with standard procedures, the Office of Education in the Juvenile Justice Commission, which is responsible for providing T.J. with education services, sought a determination from the Department concerning which school district would be responsible for the cost of education services. Respondent's exhibit A. The district of residence of the parent or legal guardian on October 15 is the district assigned financial responsibility for the individual. This is true even if the pupil never attended the school in the district. The form prepared by the Office of Education and submitted to the Department identified G.G. as T.J.'s parent/legal guardian and gave her address in a municipality which is a constituent of the Regional District.

After reviewing the information, the Department assigned responsibility for T.J. to the Board. Respondent's exhibit A. Upon notification, the district rejected it. By memorandum to the district's Director of Special Education of December 17, 1997, the Director rejected the assignment because she could not verify that the mother resided at the stated address on October 15, 1997. Respondent's exhibit B.

A Department employee sought confirmation of the address from the Juvenile Justice Commission. By memorandum dated January 28, 1998, an education program specialist in the Office of Education confirmed that T.J.'s residence was in the Board's district. Respondent's exhibit C. As proof, she provided a copy of a Juvenile Pre-disposition Report. In the report, the intake office determined that T.J. was living with his mother, G.G., in the constituent municipality at the time of his disposition. Respondent's exhibit D.

The Director of the Office of School Finance again assigned T.J. to the district. He noted that because the Department was unable to determine the address of G.G. as of October 1, 1997, the assignment of residence would be based on the second criterion of N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12. The address of the pupil on the date of the initial placement, which in this case was May 13, 1997, was used because the Office of Education document showed the mother was a resident of the constituent municipality on that date. Therefore, the district remained financial responsible for T.J. for the school year. Respondent's exhibit E.

The district, through its attorney, responded to the Director's letter and provided a copy of a letter dated July 23, 1998, from the Gloucester Township Tax Office. The letter indicated that G.G. owned a property in the township and the children living at that location attended the Black Horse Pike Regional School for secondary education. Respondent's exhibit F. The Department refused to accept this letter as proof that Lower Camden was not responsible for T.J.'s tuition. The letter did not prove that the mother resided at the particular address on October 15, 1997. Any residency after that date has no effect for purposes of N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12 for the year at issue. The district then filed the present petition.

The Board argues that although A.B. was placed at Lakeland on August 4, 1997, custody was transferred to his natural mother, D.D., a resident of Pennsylvania and he was released to his mother's custody. Following that date, A.B. was replaced at Lakeland and remained there until on or about August 1, 1997. Based on N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12, the Commissioner of Education shall determine district residence as follows ". . . b. The district of residence for children who are in residential State facilities, shall be the present district of residence of the parent . . . with whom the child lived prior to his most recent admission to a State facility. . . ."

Because the parent's present district of residence can be determined, the second part of the statute is not relevant. Furthermore, based upon the applicable Administrative Code section, the Department is directed to determine "present district of residence" as the "district of residence of the child's parent(s) or guardian(s) as of the last school day prior to October 16."

It is unrefuted that on October 15, 1997, A.B.'s custodial parent, D.D., resided in Philadelphia. Further, it does not appear that A.B. was even placed at the Lakeland facility on October 15, 1997.

It is clear that the Department has failed to perform any investigation to determine the "present district of residence" of A.B.'s custodial parent as mandated by statute and regulation. Instead, the Department has relied on information supplied at the time of the original Disposition and placement at the Lakeland facility, dated April 1, 1997, when A.B.'s father was the custodial parent. The Department ignores the information supplied by the petitioner's investigator and the child's stepmother that A.B. was released from Lakeland on or before August 4, 1997, custody was transferred to D.D., and there was a more recent placement at Lakeland after custody was transferred. There was no investigation or any attempt whatsoever to confirm the information supplied by the Board's investigator and A.B.'s stepmother. The responses to the petitioner's interrogatories confirm that the Department has failed to investigate and determine the district of residence of A.B. as required by N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12. The Board requests that A.B. be reassigned as required by the State Facilities Education Act of 1979.

As to T.J., the Department is charged with the same responsibility. It must determine the district of residence and that residence shall be "the present district of residence of the parent with whom the child lived prior to his most recent admission to a State facility. . . ." The second criterion (the district of residence shall be the district in which the child resided prior to such admission) should only be used when the present district of residence of the custodial parent cannot be determined. Through the petitioner's efforts, the Department has received information that confirms that G.G. moved from an address within the district to a Gloucester Township address and that she remained the custodial parent until at least October 26, 1998, the date that the maternal grandmother filed a custody complaint with the Superior Court of New Jersey. The Department made no attempt to determine the present residence of G.G. It is clear that the Department relies solely on the information supplied at the time of placement. The Department concedes, in its interrogatory answers, that it has no knowledge of G.G.'s address when T.J. was last placed in a State facility. It performed no investigation other than receiving information from the agency indicating that T.J. resided with his mother in a municipality within the district.

The statute requires that the Department determine the present district of residence of the parent or guardian with whom the child lived prior to his most recent admission. Based upon the information supplied by the Board, G.G.'s present address is in Gloucester Township. Children at the high school level residing at this address attend a regional high school in the Black Horse Pike Regional School District. The Board requests that its appeal be affirmed and that T.J. be reassigned to the appropriate school district.

The Department counter-argues that the Board wrongly believes that because it could identify where T.J.'s parent lived in 1998, it has no responsibility for T.J. After-the-fact information is not relevant in determining the responsible district. Only the parent's residence on October 15 is significant. In this case, the Department was unable to determine the mother's residency on October 15, 1997. As the letter from the Department advised the Board, when the Department is unable to determine the parent's address as of October 15 of the year at issue, the statute compels the district in which the child resided prior to the initial placement to assume the obligation. Because the Department could not identify a residence for G.G. on October 15, 1997, it correctly relied on and applied the second part of the residency test. The Department concluded that the mother lived within the petitioner's district at the time of the initial placement, May 13, 1997. The Board thus was responsible for T.J.

The Board has provided no documentation to counter the Department's finding that the juvenile lived with his mother within the district at the time of his initial placement.

A.B. was incarcerated in the Camden/Lakeland facility on October 15, 1997 because his name appears on the State facility's pupil count for that date. The Board's arguments concerning A.B. seem to be based on a misunderstanding of the operation of the statute and regulation. As in the T.J. matter, the Board misconstrues the phrase "present district of residence of the parent."

As the Department has already argued, the present district of residence of the parent is the New Jersey residence of the parent on October 15 of the school year in which the student is in a State facility. The Board alleges that A.B.'s mother was his custodial parent when he was placed in Lakeland Prep and that she resided in Philadelphia. If that is true, then she had no New Jersey district of residence on October 15. Thus, the Department was required to apply the second part of the statutory test, and determine the New Jersey district in which he resided at the time of the initial placement. It is undisputed that A.B. lived with his father within the Board's district at the time of his initial placement on June 3, 1997.

The Board insists the Department fails to recognize the proper burden of persuasion. The Department argues that the Board has the burden of proving its claims that the Department's determinations assigning responsibility for educational costs was wrong. The Department relies on a Tax Court decision to support the statement, "burden of proof is on the party asserting a claim." However, the case law indicates otherwise. The approach for the assignment of burdens of proof, producing evidence and persuasion are laid out in Board of Education of the City of Atlantic City v. New Jersey Department of Education, 92 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 545 (1992). In that matter, the burden was placed on the petitioner to show by a preponderance of the credible evidence that the respondent's determination was contrary to mandate or was arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable. The Board insists that the Department here acted contrary to the mandates established by the statute. It failed to attempt to determine the present districts of residence of the children's parents or guardians. The Department's determinations were based on the residences of the respective parents on the date of placement, while ignoring the credible evidence the Board supplied that T.J.'s parent's residence changed and the custodial parent changed prior to the most recent placement in the A.B. matter. The credible evidence in the A.B. matter also shows that the child was not placed in a State facility on October 15, 1997. The respondent's actions therefore were arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable.

The Board further argues that when the Department received the Board's proofs, the burden should have shifted to the Department to demonstrate that its assignments were correct. In J.E. on behalf of G.E. v. State, 131 N.J. 552 (1993), the Supreme Court held

> We generally have imposed the burdens of persuasion and production on the party best able to satisfy those burdens. [citations omitted.] Our decisions have recognized that the party with greater expertise and access to relevant information should bear those evidentiary burdens. [citations omitted.] That result is particularly sound in less adversarial settings in which both parties maintain a common objective. In those circumstances, the goal of the parties is not so much to win as to reach the correct result.

With regard to T.J., the Department's brief indicates

> When, as in this case, the parent's residency is unknown on the date of the school census, the responsible district is the one in which the child resided at the time of its initial placement.

However, the Department cannot rely on its failure to ask the appropriate questions of the State facility and its failure to perform any investigation as a basis for concluding that the "parent's residency is unknown." N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12 does not provide for the use of the second criterion because the parent's residency cannot be identified. Rather, the language provides for use of the second criterion when the district of residence cannot be determined. Clearly the intent of that clause is to provide for cases in which the parent's present location cannot be determined.

The Board has supplied sufficient information to the Department to allow the Department to perform the necessary investigation. Its failure to do anything with this information cannot be excused by its argument that the present residence of the parent cannot be identified and, therefore, the information as of the time of the placement should be used. This would allow the Department to base its assignment on the residence as of the date of placement in every case and is not what the Legislature intended.

Concerning A.B., the Department has accepted the argument that there was a change in the custodial parent and that there was a subsequent placement, prior to October 15. However, the Department now argues that since the child's parent's present residence is not in New Jersey, the second criterion must be applied. In making this argument, the Department first concludes that an assignment must be made for the first placement of A.B. even though he was not placed on October 15, 1997. Because A.B. was not placed on this date, there should be no issue of assignment for this pupil to the Board or any other school district. N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-2 provides the statutory authorization for deductions from State aid for children in State facilities. Section a of that statute provides

> For each State-placed child who is a resident in a district and in a State facility on the last school day prior to October 16 of the prebudget year, and for each district-placed child who is a resident in a district and in a State facility on the last school day prior to October 16 of the budget year, the Commissioner of Education shall deduct from the State aid payable to that district an amount equal to the approved per pupil cost established pursuant to the provisions of section 24 of P.L. 1996, c. 138 (C. 18A:7F-24).

Thus, the statutory framework provides that if a pupil is not placed on the last school day prior to October 16, there should be no assignment. The unrefuted testimony of the Board's investigator and the testimony of the child's stepmother clearly show that from the time of October 1, 1997 through February 1998, A.B. was detained in the Camden County Jail. He was not in a State facility.

Further, N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12 does not discuss the issue of determination of the present district of residence of the parent with whom the child lived prior to his first placement. Rather, the statute directs the Commissioner of Education to determine the present district of residence of the parent or guardian with whom the child lived prior to his most recent admission to a State facility. The unrefuted testimony shows that A.B. was placed a second time after custody was granted to his mother and that placement is the "most recent placement" by a State agency.

The Department's argument inappropriately chooses to insert the words New Jersey into the legislative directive. If the respondent's argument were correct, it is clear that the statute would have specified that if a New Jersey district of residence cannot be located, then the second criterion would be applied.

The Department's failure to investigate cannot equate to an inability to determine any of these issues. The Board has come forward with information that provides the basis for its argument that both of these pupils were inappropriately assigned for the 1998-99 school year. The petitioner Board requests that these children be reassigned to the appropriate district of residence or to the State.

DETERMINATION

Burden of Persuasion

The Board misapprehends its burden. The Department receives official communications concerning placements from the Office of Education in the Juvenile Justice Commission. N.J.A.C. 6:20-5.3(b). That information carries a presumption of correctness. The presumption is rebuttable. This means that the party challenging the presumption must produce enough evidence that would support a finding of its nonexistence. Stated another way, once evidence tending to rebut the presumption is introduced, the presumption loses all its force.

In addition, an administrative agency's interpretation of its regulations is entitled to substantial weight. Simon v. Board of Trustees, 233 N.J. Super. 186, 195 (App. Div. 1989); Petition of Adamar of New Jersey, 222 N.J. Super. 464, 469 (App. Div. 1988).

The Department properly relied on the information it received from the Juvenile Justice Commission. If the Board wishes to challenge the accuracy or sufficiency of the information on which the Department relied, it is the Board that must do the digging and the production. This judge knows of no requirement upon the Department to determine whether the information provided by the Juvenile Justice Commission is correct. As in virtually all other cases involving a statute or regulation of this type, the burden to show lack of accuracy or lack of sufficiency rests on the Board.

N.J.A.C. 6:2-5.3(b) clearly provides that "The Commissioner shall determine the 'present district of residence' or 'district of residence' referred to in N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12(b) based upon the address submitted by the Department of Corrections or the Department of Human Services on forms prepared by the Department of Education."

A district contesting the determination of district residence must provide written notification that a dispute exists to the Assistant Commissioner, Division of Finance, within thirty days of receiving a final notice that a child has been determined to be a resident of the district. N.J.A.C. 6:20-5.3(d). The notice must include a written statement of the effort the district made to verify the Commissioner's determination, a written rationale for rejecting the determination, and any other information the district has obtained that might assist in redetermination of the district of residence. Ibid.

If, within ninety days of the written notification, the Assistant Commissioner cannot resolve the matter, a district may initiate a formal proceeding, as herein, before the Commissioner.

As in all administrative proceedings, the Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules, N.J.A.C. 1:1-1.1 through :21-18.1, provide hearsay evidence is admissible in the trial of contested cases. N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.5 provides that hearsay "shall be accorded whatever weight the judge deems appropriate taking into account the nature, character and scope of the evidence, the circumstances of its creation and production, and, generally, its reliability." Outrageous and improbable assertions will receive little weight. Evidence that responsible persons are accustomed to rely on in the course of important affairs or official business may be given equal weight with non-hearsay evidence, even if technically hearsay. See, Weston v. State, 60 N.J. 36 (1972).

Although hearsay is generally admissible even though no evidential rule exception is applicable, it is subject to the judge's overriding right to exclude it under N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.1(c). If the probative value is slight, it is more likely that evidence may be ruled inadmissible under that rule. Many of the theories underlying exceptions to the hearsay rule relate to probative value. For example, declarations against interest are based on the theory that a person making such a statement would most likely be speaking the truth. Thus, it serves a party offering hearsay in an administrative proceeding to try to qualify the evidence under any exception that increases probative value.

Another reason hearsay exceptions are important is the residuum rule, N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.5(b). If evidence would be admissible in a court of law, the residuum rule does not come into play. The rule does apply to evidence that is inadmissible under court rules of evidence, but is allowed into evidence in an administrative hearing where the strict rules of evidence do not apply. Although hearsay evidence is admissible in an administrative hearing, the residuum rule requires that some legally competent evidence exist to support each ultimate finding of fact to an extent sufficient to provide assurances of reliability and to avoid the fact or appearance of arbitrariness. Hearsay "may be employed to corroborate competent proof, or competent proof may be supported or given added probative value by hearsay testimony. But in the final analysis for a court to sustain an administrative decision, which affects the substantial rights of a party, there must be a residuum of legal and competent evidence in the record to support it." Weston v. State, at 51.

A.B.

I FIND that A.B. was placed in a State facility on April 1, 1997. At that time, he was in the custody of his father. The father lived within the district. However, custody changed on or about August 4, 1997, and was given to A.B.'s mother, D.D. In an affidavit dated January 27, 1999, the father's present wife certified that A.B. had not lived with his father and her since August 4, 1997. On or about October 1, 1997, A.B. was detained in the Camden County Jail. ~~In~~ February or March 1998, he was sentenced to three years' incarceration. He is currently in the correctional facility at Yardville.

T.J.

No affidavits are supplied concerning T.J. The assertions of the Board's investigator are contained in Exhibit F. I FIND that T.J. was placed in a State facility on June 17, 1997. He was in the custody of his mother, G.G., who lived in a constituent municipality at that time. However, G.G. moved at some time before late October 1997. A Board out-of-district child study team member was told by the present owner, who did not identify herself, that the previous owner, G.G., moved before the present owner took occupancy at the end of October 1997. G.G. moved to Gloucester Township. It is not possible on this record to say when she did so.

CONCLUSIONS AND ORDER

As in Board of Education of the City of Atlantic City v. New Jersey Department of Education, OAL Dkt. Nos. EDU 6179-91, 6176-91, 6251-91 and 6253-91 (May 27, 1992), adopted, Comm'r of Ed. (July 15, 1992), the Board in one case has met its burden of meeting the residuum rule through the affidavit, under oath, of A.B.'s stepmother. In the case of T.J., however, the evidence does not rise to that level and, in any event, is insufficient to determine G.G.'s residence as of October 15, 1997. In the first instance, A.B.'s stepmother would have little reason to misrepresent the facts. No responsibility would accrue to her or her husband if A.B. were still in the husband's custody and they continued to reside at an address within the district. In the second instance, there is no such reliable evidence and what was told to a Board agent by the present owner of a property within the district becomes double hearsay, without an exception.

N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12 provides statutory guidance to the Commissioner for determining district of residence. At section b, the statute provides

> The district of residence for children who are in residential State facilities, or who have been placed by State agencies in group homes, private schools or out-of-State facilities, shall be the present district of residence of the parent or guardian with whom the child lived prior to his most recent admission to a State facility or most recent placement by a State agency.

> If this cannot be determined, the district of residence shall be the district in which the child resided prior to such admission or placement.

At section d, the statute provides

> If the district of residence cannot be determined according to the criteria contained herein, or if the criteria contained herein identify the district of residence outside of the State, the State shall assume fiscal responsibility for the tuition of the child.

The administrative code elaborates on the statutory scheme. N.J.A.C. 6:20-5.3(a) provides that the present district of residence referred to in section b of the statute shall mean the New Jersey district of residence of the child's parent(s) or guardian(s) as of the last school day prior to October 16. The rule further provides that the district of residence referred to in the second paragraph of section b shall mean the New Jersey district of residence in which the child resided with his or her legal guardian immediately prior to his or her initial admission to a State facility.

Further, N.J.A.C. 6:20-5.3(b) provides that, "The Commissioner shall determine the 'present district of residence' or 'district of residence' referred to in N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12(b) based upon the address submitted by the Department of Corrections or the Department of Human Services on forms prepared by the Department of Education."

Present district of residence means the New Jersey district of residence of the child's parent or guardian as of the last school day prior to October 16. If this cannot be determined, the district of residence shall be the district in which the child resided prior to such admission or placement. In the case of A.B., the district of residence is sufficiently identified as Philadelphia. Because this is a district of residence outside of the State, the State shall assume fiscal responsibility for the tuition of the child. N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12(d). In the case of T.J., the present district of residence cannot be determined. Therefore, the district of residence shall be in the district in which the child resided prior to admission or placement, namely, the Lower Camden County Regional High School District. N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12(b).

The Department, having done what was required of it by statute and having not done anything not authorized by statute, has not acted arbitrarily, capriciously or unreasonably. And, earlier this year, it was held that it is not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable for the Department to rely on Division of Youth and Family Services records. State Operated School District of the City of Newark v. New Jersey Department of Education, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 1370-98 (Dec. 16, 1998), adopted, Comm'r of Ed. (Mar. 22, 1999). The semantic twists suggested above notwithstanding, I CONCLUDE that the petitioner is successful as to A.B. and its motion to that effect is hereby GRANTED and the Department is successful as to T.J. and its motion to that effect is GRANTED.

Words should be given their ordinary meanings unless the context clearly indicates otherwise. In this case, not only are the words used in their ordinary senses, but the cited regulation also defines "present district of residence" and "district of residence." The regulation does not reach outside the boundaries created by N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12. The context of the entire statute supports this interpretation.

In accord with the above, it is ORDERED that the summary motion of the Lower Camden County Regional High School District is GRANTED and it is hereby DETERMINED that the State shall assume fiscal responsibility for the tuition of A.B. In accord with the above, it is ORDERED that the summary motion of the State Department of Education is GRANTED and it is hereby DETERMINED that the Lower Camden County Regional High School District shall assume fiscal responsibility for the tuition of T.J.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF LOWER CAMDEN COUNTY REGIONAL SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 1,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
STATE OF NEW JERSEY, DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, DIVISION OF SCHOOL FINANCE,	:	DECISION

The record and initial decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. Respondent's exceptions were timely filed in accordance with the provisions of N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, as was petitioner's reply thereto.

Respondent's exceptions urge that the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) correctly found that the Department acted appropriately in assigning petitioner financial responsibility for T.J.'s education because it provided no evidence proving where his mother resided on October 15, 1997. Consequently, respondent asserts, the ALJ properly relied on the second prong of N.J.A.C. 6:20-5.3 (where the custodial parent resided at the time of the initial placement) to reach a determination regarding T.J. Petitioner's reply exceptions urge reversal of the ALJ's determination insofar as T.J. is concerned, maintaining, inter alia, that it has come forward with credible evidence to dispute respondent's determination to assign it fiscal responsibility for T.J.'s tuition and incorporates by reference those arguments set forth in Petitioner's Memorandum in Support of Motion to Grant Petitioner's Appeal and its Reply Brief, which were considered by the ALJ.

As to A.B., respondent urges reversal of the ALJ's determination, maintaining that the fundamental flaw in the ALJ's analysis is that he missed a step in the test for determining financial responsibility, i.e., the initial decision ends at the first prong of the test for residency when it should have applied both prongs. Consequently, respondent argues that the Commissioner must reject the ALJ's finding that the State is responsible for A.B.'s tuition because his mother lived in Philadelphia, contending that the correct analysis should be the following:

> 1. In applying the first prong of the test, because the mother's residency was in Philadelphia, there is no New Jersey district of residence responsible for the child.
>
> 2. As the regulation states, when the New Jersey district of residence cannot be determined, it is necessary to go to the second prong of the test, or the New Jersey district of residence at the time of the initial placement. This is the missing step in the court's analysis.
>
> 3. The district in which the parent resided when [A.B.] was initially placed was petitioner, so it is responsible for A.B.'s tuition. (Respondent's Exceptions at p. 3)

Respondent also reiterates its position that a custodial parent living out-of-state does not terminate the analysis for determining district of residence, arguing that the State becomes the guarantor of tuition only if there is no New Jersey district of residence at the time of the initial placement.

Petitioner's reply exceptions regarding A.B. urge that it is respondent who is misreading the initial decision, contending that the State's characterization that the ALJ "missed a step" is incorrect. Petitioner further maintains that it is clear on pages 14-15 and page 19 of the initial decision that the ALJ squarely dealt with the arguments presented in respondent's exceptions. It argues that the State is erroneously equating the finding of a residence outside the State of New Jersey to be a finding that "the present district of residence" of the parent cannot be determined. However, in the instant matter the ALJ correctly determined that the district of residence for A.B. was sufficiently identified as Philadelphia; thus, based on N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12(d), the ALJ concluded that the State had responsibility for A.B.'s tuition. Petitioner further argues:

> Moreover, as noted in the Commissioner's decision in Board of Education of the City of Wildwood, Cape May County v. New Jersey State Department of Education, [decided December 30, 1996, appeal pending State Board], if the Petitioner (Wildwood) had been better able to establish the child's mother's residence in the State of Florida on October 15 [of the year in dispute], then the State would have been responsible for the educational costs of the child pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12(d). In the instant matter, based upon this section of the statute, the ALJ ruled that the State is to be responsible for the educational costs for A.B. As argued by Petitioner [herein] and as adopted by the ALJ in his opinion, "the Department's argument inappropriately chooses to insert the words New Jersey into the legislative directive." (Petitioner's Reply at pp. 2-3)

Upon review of the record, the Commissioner agrees with and adopts the ALJ's recommended decision granting summary decision to respondent as the controversy pertains to T.J. for the reasons set forth in the initial decision. As to A.B., the Commissioner determines, notwithstanding respondent's arguments otherwise, that the ALJ appropriately found N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12(d) to be controlling because the custodial parent for A.B. on October 15, 1997 was his mother, who resided in Philadelphia. Consequently, the ALJ was correct in determining that, under the circumstances set forth in this matter, the State has fiscal responsibility for A.B. N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12 states in pertinent part:

> For school funding purposes, the Commissioner of Education shall determine district of residence as follows:
>
> b. The district of residence for children who are in residential State facilities shall be the present district of residence of the parent or guardian with whom the child lived prior to his most recent admission to a State facility or most recent placement by a State agency.
>
> If this cannot be determined, the district of residence shall be the district in which the child resided prior to such admission or placement.
>
> d. If the district of residence cannot be determined according to the criteria contained herein, *or if the criteria contained herein identify a district of residence outside of the State, the State shall assume fiscal responsibility for the tuition of the child. (emphasis supplied)

As correctly stated by the ALJ on page 20 of the initial decision, "[w]ords should be given their ordinary meanings unless the context clearly indicates otherwise." Upon review of the pertinent statutes and regulations, the Commissioner finds and concludes that the wording of N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12 is plain in its meaning that the State has fiscal responsibility for the tuition of a student placed in a State Facility when the district of residence is identified to be outside of New Jersey. Respondent's arguments to the contrary are deemed unpersuasive. Moreover, petitioner's reliance on Wildwood, supra, to bolster its position in the instant matter has merit. Although the factual circumstances in the Wildwood matter differ from those herein, the holding of the Commissioner in that matter is consistent with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ and the Commissioner in the instant matter. The decision in Wildwood states:

> [T]he Commissioner cannot confidently rely on the record as it stands to determine, with any degree of certainty, that V.M. resided in Florida on October 15, 1993, so as to absolve the Board from responsibility for tuition payments in this matter. (Slip Opinion at p.11)

Accordingly, the initial decision which orders that financial responsibility rests with petitioner for T.J. and with the State for A.B., is adopted for the reasons set forth therein.*

IT IS SO ORDERED.

PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF DUMONT, BERGEN COUNTY,	:	DECISION

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner filed a petition inquiring: (1) whether the school is under a duty to notify the parents/guardians or include them in a meeting regarding the questioning of students; (2) whether the school and/or guidance counselor is under a duty to disclose to the parents discussions between the school counselor and the student regarding potentially dangerous situations; and (3) whether a school is allowed to destroy student files without parents' consent.

At the OAL the respondent Board moved for summary decision and dismissal. After concluding that circumstances warranted relaxation of the 90-day rule for filing a petition, the ALJ determined that the decision of the building administrator to question E.N. outside the presence of his parents was not unreasonable or an abuse of his discretion. In addition, the ALJ concluded that the school counselor who met with E.N. had a duty to inform petitioner that E.N. was or may have been contemplating suicide. Finally, the ALJ found that the Board destroyed E.N.'s school records in violation of N.J.A.C. 6:3-6.8(c)2.

The Commissioner modified the initial decision as follows. The Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's decision to relax the 90-day filing limitation and conclusion that there is no general requirement in either statute or regulation which obligates a local administrator to notify the parent or guardian of a student prior to questioning that student regarding a disciplinary incident. The Commissioner held that a local board may not destroy, without parents' consent, mandated pupil records during the time of the student's enrollment, or any pupil records existing at the time of the student's graduation or permanent departure from the district. He noted, however, that the board may destroy, with no prior notice, permitted records during the time of the pupil's enrollment consistent with the requirements of N.J.A.C. 6:3-6.2(i). The Commissioner further concluded that the factual record of the instant matter did not permit a determination of whether E.N.'s records were destroyed subsequent to his permanent departure from school or not, but that determination is unnecessary to provide the declaration sought by petitioner. Finally, notwithstanding the ALJ's analysis, the Commissioner determined that he is without the legal authority to render a determination as to a counselor's duty of care.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF DUMONT, BERGEN COUNTY,

Respondent.

M.N., pro se

Sidney A. Sayovitz, for respondent (Schenck, Price, Smith and King, attorneys)

Record Closed: June 23, 1999 Decided: June 23, 1999

BEFORE MUMTAZ BARI-BROWN, ALJ:

Petitioner, M.N., filed a petition before the Commissioner of Education seeking a declaratory ruling. Specifically, petitioner seeks the Commissioner's ruling on the following issues: whether the school is under a duty to notify the parents/guardians or include them in a meeting regarding the questioning of the student; whether the school and/or the guidance counselor is under a duty to disclose to the parents discussions between the school counselor and the student regarding the student's suicidal tendencies; and whether the Board acted appropriately when it destroyed the pupil records of petitioner's son, E.N.

On December 17, 1998, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. Respondent moved for summary decision and dismissal.

UNDISPUTED FACTS

The Board has accepted as true for purposes of its Motion for Summary Decision petitioner's factual allegations. (Respondent's Motion at 1-2). Therefore, based on the petition and moving papers including the uncontroverted facts I FIND as FACT:

On June 4, 1997, Mr. Konigsberg, vice principal of Dumont High School, questioned petitioner's 16 year-old son, E.N., about money missing from school vending machines.[1] Konigsberg informed E.N. that if a satisfactory explanation was not forthcoming the police would be called to investigate the matter.[2] After the meeting, E.N. attended his last class, but he left the class early to search for his friend, N.H., who was in another class. E.N. found N.H. and told him what had transpired earlier in Konigsberg's office. Also, E.N. told N.H. "that he would rather throw himself in front of the train than face the shame." Petition at 1. Then, E.N. left the school. N.H. reported E.N.'s threat to Konigsberg, who called E.N.'s house at approximately 3:15 p.m. Konigsberg reached petitioner at her

[1] E.N. "was accused, without proofs, of stealing money from the soda machines that he was filling." Petition at 1.

[2] "Mr. Konigsberg gave [E.N.] until three o'clock to admit it, or else the police will be called." Ibid.

place of employment, and he "stressed that [E.N.] had stolen money and should be punished." Ibid. Konigsberg did not inform petitioner of E.N.'s "state of mind" or the discussions between N.H. and Konigsberg. Soon after leaving the school that day, E.N. carried out his threat and threw himself in front of a train, which resulted in his death.

After E.N.'s death, petitioner discovered that E.N. had had several conversations with the high school guidance counselor. He had been provided with brochures dealing with suicide and cards containing telephone numbers. However, the counselor had not contacted E.N.'s parents or reported the problem to other school officials. Also, petitioner learned that about two weeks prior to E.N.'s suicide, he and other classmates had watched a movie in their health class "dealing with suicide on the railroad tracks."

Approximately one year after E.N.'s death, petitioner wrote a letter to the school counselor to obtain information pertaining to E.N. In particular, petitioner asked the counselor to release all of E.N.'s records to her and to explain why she had not been contacted or informed of his problems. The superintendent of Dumont Public Schools responded by instructing petitioner to forward all inquiries to the legal department of the school's insurance carrier because of the Notice of Tort Claim that had been received by the Board. Further, petitioner requested E.N.'s file from the school and was provided with his grades and SAT results. She was informed that all other documents had been destroyed in accordance with the school's standard procedure.

Petitioner describes the relief sought:

> Mr. Commissioner, I would like you to determine if the school is allowed to question minors without parents' consent and force them to admit their mistakes, if the school is allowed to destroy students' files without parents' consent, if the school counselor is allowed to keep from parents a potentially dangerous situation > and a minor's state of mind. I would like to make sure that nothing like what happened to my son would happen to anyone.

>
> [Petition at 2.]

DISCUSSION

Summary Decision

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b), summary decision is appropriate

> if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law.

Summary decision in administrative proceedings parallels summary judgment in the courts. Summary judgment is > designed to provide a prompt, businesslike and inexpensive method of disposing of any cause which a discriminating search of the merits in the pleadings, depositions and admissions on file, together with the affidavits submitted on the motion clearly shows not to present any genuine issue of material fact requiring disposition at a trial.

>
> [Judson v. Peoples Bank and Trust Company of Westfield, 17 N.J. 67, 74 (1954).]

In administrative proceedings, as in the courts, it is "the movant's burden to exclude any reasonable doubt as to the existence of any genuine issue of material fact." Id. at 74. Thus, "[a]ll inferences of doubt are drawn against the movant in favor of the opponent of the motion. The papers supporting the motion are closely scrutinized and the opposing papers indulgently treated." Id. at 75.

The New Jersey Supreme Court in Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Co., 142 N.J. 520, 539-40 (1995), applied the summary judgment standard employed by the federal courts. Under Brill, once the movant has presented competent evidence tending to show the absence of any genuine issue for trial, the nonmovant must do more than simply create some doubts as to the material facts. Moreover, the nonmoving party cannot rely on disputed issues of fact that are insubstantial. Rather, Brill requires the nonmovant to raise a factual issue substantial enough to sustain a reasonable conclusion in the nonmovant's favor if a hearing were held. If the evidence, along with reasonable inferences, could sustain a judgment in favor of the nonmovant the motion must be denied.

Since the underlying facts are not in dispute, I CONCLUDE that this matter is ripe for summary decision.

Declaratory Ruling

The Administrative Procedure Act permits an agency to make a declaratory ruling. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-8. Specifically, N.J.A.C. 6:24-2.1 provides:

> Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-8, any interested person(s) may petition the Commissioner for a declaratory ruling with respect to the applicability to any person, property or state of facts of any statute or regulation enforced or administered by the Commissioner. The determination to entertain such petitions for declaratory judgments shall be within the sole discretion of the Commissioner. If upon receipt and review of the answer such request is granted, the matter shall proceed in accordance with these regulations as they pertain to petitions. A declaratory judgment shall be binding upon the Commissioner and all parties to the proceedings on the specific statement of facts set forth therein.

The regulation explicitly grants the Commissioner of Education authority to render declaratory rulings. The Office of Administrative Law, an administrative agency designated to hear disputes transmitted from other agencies, derives its jurisdiction from the transmitting agency. N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.6(h). Therefore, the Commissioner's jurisdiction to make declaratory rulings is transferred to the administrative law judge (ALJ). Ibid.

Whether to issue a declaratory ruling is a matter of judicial discretion. Utility Blade & Razor Co. v. Donovan, 33 N.J. Super. 566 (App. Div. 1955). In Ridgewood Education Association v. Board of Education of the Village of Ridgewood, 94 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 137, reversed on other grounds, 284 N.J. Super. 427 (App. Div. 1995), the ALJ determined that a declaratory ruling was appropriate under the circumstances of the case. To warrant a declaratory ruling, a justiciable controversy between adverse parties must exist. Bress v. L. F. Dommerich & Co., Inc., 94 N.J. Super. 282 (App. Div. 1967); Unsatisfied Claim and Judgment Fund Bd. v. Concord Ins. Co., 110 N.J. Super. 191 (Law Div. 1970); 37 New Jersey Practice, Administrative Law and Practice § 83 (Steven L. Lefelt) (1988). The controversy must be real, not a hypothetical or speculative controversy. Unsatisfied Claim and Judgment Fund Bd., supra, 110 N.J. Super. at 196. The declaration sought should serve a tranquilizing function to help terminate the controversy between the parties. Id. at 196-97.

I CONCLUDE that the issues presented in this matter pose a true controversy; they are not hypothetical or speculative. Petitioner raises factual allegations regarding the impropriety of the Board's conduct. In opposition, the Board avers that it acted appropriately. The parties are adversaries. A controversy exists where a tribunal is asked to consider the propriety of a school board's action when such action or inaction may have caused injury to a party. Further, a declaratory ruling would terminate the controversy between petitioner and the Board.

Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that it is an appropriate exercise of judicial discretion to render a declaratory ruling in this matter.

The 90-Day Rule

The Board avers that petitioner's action should be dismissed because it was filed beyond the period established for filing actions arising under the school laws. (Respondent's Motion at 2.) This provision, commonly referred to as the "90-day rule," N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c), provides that:

> The petitioner shall file a petition no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling or other action by the district board of education, individual party, or agency, which is the subject of the requested contested case hearing.

I have considered the timeline of events and the facts to determine if petitioner timely filed the petition under N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c). I reject petitioner's position that the notice requirement, N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c), was satisfied because she filed a Notice of Claim upon the Board within 90 days of E.N.'s death and that her original petition was sent within 90 days of her receipt of a letter which she believed was a Notice of Final Order. Petitioner relies on a letter dated June 24, 1998, from Thomas W. Roberts, the superintendent of schools. The letter acknowledges petitioner's request for records and instructs her to submit future inquiries to the legal department of the insurance carrier. Petitioner asserts that this letter was the Notice of Final Order. Thus, she avers that the original petition, sent to the Commissioner on September 15, 1998, satisfied the 90-day rule.

The transmittal file reflects that on September 22, 1998, the Commissioner acknowledged a letter from petitioner dated September 15, 1998. Further, the Commissioner advised petitioner that "in order to appeal a local school board's decision before the Commissioner of Education, an interested party may file a Petition of Appeal in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2 and 6:24-1.3."

Based on the evidence, I CONCLUDE that the petition was filed on October 19, 1998, after the expiration of the 90-day period.

I have considered carefully whether the circumstances warrant a relaxation of the 90-day rule. The Commissioner is authorized to relax the 90-day rule. N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.15 provides as follows:

> The rules herein contained shall be considered general rules of practice to govern, expedite and effectuate the procedure before, and the actions of, the Commissioner in connection with the determination of controversies and disputes under the school laws. They may be relaxed or dispensed with by the Commissioner, in his or her discretion, in any case where a strict adherence thereto may be deemed inappropriate or unnecessary or may result in injustice.

Although the statute of limitations set forth in N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c) is to be strictly applied, the 90-day rule may be relaxed under exceptional circumstances or if there is a "compelling" reason. The authority to relax or waive the 90-day rule is invoked only where strict adherence would be inappropriate, unnecessary or where injustice would occur. DeMaio v. Board of Educ. of New Providence, 96 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 449, 453, citing Gordon v. Passaic Board of Educ., 1985 S.L.D. 1929, 1931-32; see also Shokey v. Board of Educ. of Cinnaminson, 1978 S.L.D. 919 (Commissioner held that dismissing a petition for untimeliness would result in injustice inasmuch as it would place form over substance). Further, the 90-day rule may be relaxed "where a matter of significant public interest is involved." Bey v. Board of Educ. of Newark, 93 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 288, 294; see Bogart v. East Orange Bd. of Educ., OAL Dkt. No. EDU 6245-82 (January 26, 1983), adopted, Comm'r of Educ. (March 14, 1983). Indeed, in Bey, the Commissioner adopted an ALJ's conclusion that because the issue involved the possible mishandling of public school funds, it was of sufficient public interest to relax the 90-day rule. 93 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) at 294.

I CONCLUDE that the issues involved in this matter are of significant public interest. The propriety of a school board's actions when confronted with students who suffer from emotional and mental problems and have sensitive states of mind is of utmost concern not only to the students' parents, but to society in general. Petitioner attempted to obtain answers to her questions regarding E.N.'s suicide immediately following his death. She communicated verbally and in writing with local and state school officials. When her questions were unanswered, she wrote a letter to the Governor of New Jersey. Petitioner did not sleep on her rights. To dismiss her petition as untimely would result in an injustice. Further, the public policy considerations behind the 90-day rule are unaffected because petitioner is not seeking a monetary award. Petitoner merely seeks whether "the school counselor is allowed to keep from parents a potentially dangerous situation and a minor's state of mind. I would like to make sure that nothing like what happened to my son would happen to anyone". Petition at 2. See Kaprow v. Board of Educ. of Berkeley, 131 N.J. 572, 582 (1993) ("The limitation period gives school districts the security of knowing that administrative decisions regarding the operation of the school cannot be challenged after ninety days. Moreover, because local school boards operate on a cash basis, claims must be filed promptly so that the local board can anticipate any back-pay requirements.")

I CONCLUDE that the circumstances warrant relaxation of the 90-day rule under N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.15.

Pupil Questioning

Petitioner asserts that E.N. was questioned by the vice principal regarding missing funds from school vending machines. She challenges the propriety of such action since she was not notified about the questioning or present when it occurred.

The Board asserts that in the routine administration of school affairs, students may be questioned without first seeking the consent of the parents. The Board submits that the building administrator performed his job responsibly and exercised reasonable discretion when he questioned E.N. about the missing funds and advised him that the police would be called if a satisfactory explanation was not forthcoming.

I agree with the Board. School authorities were not required to inform petitioner that E.N. was going to be questioned regarding the missing money. School administrators maintain wide discretion in ascertaining whether a particular situation warrants the presence of a pupil's parent. Such discretion, however, is not unbounded. When questioning students about matters that could result in serious disciplinary measures being imposed against them, school administrators must exercise sound judgment in deciding whether to call the parents. Once the determination has been made to sanction a pupil, notification to the parents is premised on the severity of the discipline sought to be imposed.

For example, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2 to -12 expressly provides the right to a hearing for a student removed from the school system on a charge of assault on a teacher, administrator or other school employee, or because the student is adjudicated delinquent for possession of a firearm or charged with knowingly possessing a firearm on school property. Moreover, the courts have held that a student facing expulsion or suspension from school for other disciplinary reasons is entitled to due process requirements pursuant to the United States Constitution, i.e., notice of the charges against him and a fair opportunity to be heard. Goss v. Lopez, 419 U.S. 565, 95 S. Ct. 729, 42 L. Ed. 2d 725 (1975); see St. John Dixon v. Alabama State Bd. of Educ., 294 *F.*2d 150 (5th Cir.), cert. denied, 368 U.S. 930, 82 S. Ct. 368, 7 L. Ed. 2d 193 (1961); R.R. v. Board of Educ. of the Shore Regional High Sch. Dist., 109 N.J. Super. 337 (Ch. Div. 1970); G.F. v. Board of Educ. of Washington Township, 1 N.J.A.R. 55 (Department of Education 1979); Scher v. Board of Educ. of the Borough of West Orange, 1968 S.L.D. 92; see also C.F. v. Board of Educ. of the City of Wildwood, 96 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 619 (order to reinstate a student who was suspended without being noticed of the charges against her or a timely hearing).

In the routine administration of schools, officials may question students regarding academic and non-academic school-related occurrences. To require school administrators to question students exclusively in the presence of their parents would impose an onerous burden upon school personnel. For example, in F.H. v. North Warren Regional High School District, 93 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 580, a student, G.H., was questioned outside the presence of his parents by the vice principal regarding charges of endangering the safety and welfare of other students and of hitting a teacher. Thereafter, the vice principal called the parents and informed them that G.H. would be subject to discipline and asked them to meet him the next day for a conference. School officials then disciplined G.H. by suspending him for nine days. The parents appealed the suspension, alleging that G.H.'s due process rights were violated. The ALJ concluded that "the entire school matter was properly handled by school administration and that G.H. was fully accorded his due process rights to be given notice of charges against him, to know evidence of involvement and to have opportunity to explain it." 93 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) at 584. The Commissioner adopted the Initial Decision of the ALJ.

Similarly, E.N. was questioned by the vice principal about a serious matter outside the presence of his parents. Thereafter, the vice principal called petitioner and informed her of the charges against E.N. I CONCLUDE that E.N.'s due process rights were not violated because he was provided the opportunity to present his version of the story and deny the charges against him.

I have also considered whether the vice principal should have notified E.N.'s parents before questioning him about the missing money. There was no obligation to first call the parent. However, given the severity of the charges against E.N., e.g., theft of school property, the decision was within the discretion of the building administrator. The scope of review is whether the preponderance of the evidence establishes that the Board exercised its discretion unreasonably, arbitrarily, capriciously, or in bad faith. There is no evidence that the building administrator was aware of E.N.'s state of mind or his suicidal tendencies. Thus, there was no reason to treat the situation as anything other than the routine questioning of a pupil regarding a school matter. Indeed, the Board pointedly argues:

> During the course of every school day, pupils are questioned about various matters. . . . It would be an administrative nightmare to require that a board of education or school administrator first call a parent before a question is asked of a minor pupil. In the present circumstances, an administrator allegedly questioned a student about funds missing from vending machines. . . .
>
> When a school official has reason to believe that a student has engaged in activities which may be inappropriate or that a student has information about other students, a school official has the right and obligation to inquire of a student. It is simply impractical to require that a school administrator first call the parent before speaking to students. To impose special obligations upon school officials, whether Miranda type warnings or otherwise, puts officials in the position of being second-guessed, at any time, and of being hesitant to do their job.
>
> [Respondent's Motion at 3-4.]

Based on the whole of the evidence, I CONCLUDE that the decision of the building administrator to question E.N. outside the presence of his parents was not unreasonable or an abuse of his discretion.

School Counselor's Duty to Disclose Suicidal Tendencies of the Student

The crux of petitioner's claim is that school officials improperly failed to inform her of E.N.'s suicidal tendencies. Petitioner asserts that the omission resulted in her inability to obtain and provide E.N. with appropriate counseling for his mental problems.

Based on the foregoing conclusions, I reject the Board's argument that a declaratory ruling is inappropriate regarding the duty of school officials to notify parents of a minor's state of mind or a dangerous situation.

Guidance counselors advise students regarding choices relating to educational, vocational, social and personal planning. Moreover, school counselors identify students with social and emotional problems. See Edison Township Educ. Ass'n v. Board of Educ. of the Township of Edison, 94 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 301, 302, aff'd, 94 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 592, aff'd, 96 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 463. Guidance counselors can be the persuasive voice in a student's decisions about matters of importance. Thus, they are in a position to mold students' attitudes. Indeed, counselors hold positions of public trust. See In re Tenure Hearing of Marrero, 97 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 104, 108, aff'd, 97 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 319.

There is a recognized privilege between the substance-abuse guidance counselor and the student. In re L.P., 250 N.J. Super. 103 (Ch. Div. 1991). Moreover, N.J.A.C. 6:29-6.3(b)(2) requires that schools comply with federal guidelines of confidentiality requirements. Ibid. Further, a psychologist-patient privilege is recognized in N.J.S.A. 45:14B-28. Kinsella v. Kinsella, 150 N.J. 276 (1997). However, the court will pierce the psychologist-patient privilege under a "best-interest-of-the-child" analysis. Fitzgibbon v. Fitzgibbon, 197 N.J. Super. 63

(Ch. Div. 1984). In Fitzgibbon, the court noted that the paramount concern is the preservation and protection of a child's welfare. Id. at 67-68.

Similarly, confidential communications between a school counselor and a pupil will be disclosed if disclosure is in the best interest of the student. Indeed, the Dumont Public Schools policy manual provides as follows:

> [T]he counselors enter into professional relationships with three segments of the school community; students, school personnel, and parents or guardians. . . . [T]he counseling relationship is, in most instances, confidential, . . . it may have to be violated in the best interests of the student.
>
> [Petitioner's Brief at 3.]

Under its own policy, Dumont acknowledges that the safety of children may require counselors to disclose their confidential communications with students if disclosure is in the students' best interest.

Based on the evidence presented, I CONCLUDE that the school counselor who met with E.N. had a duty to inform petitioner that E.N. was or may have been contemplating suicide. I CONCLUDE that the omission was improper even if prompted by confidentiality considerations. Although there is no recognized guidance counselor-student privilege, where a privilege does exist, the breach of confidentiality is permitted when done in the best interest of the student.

Pupil Records

Petitioner seeks a ruling on whether a school board may destroy pupil records without obtaining parental approval. Petitioner maintains that the Board destroyed E.N.'s school records absent her knowledge or consent.

Since the Board has accepted petitioner's factual allegations for purposes of its motion, it concedes that the Board destroyed E.N.'s files. However, the Board argues that its action was appropriate pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:3-6.2(i). (Respondent's Motion at 4-5.) The regulation provides that certified school personnel will perform an annual review of pupil records to determine the educational relevance of the materials and will delete information that no longer describes the pupil or the educational situation. Prior notice must be given for classified students. N.J.A.C. 6:28.[3] Thus, the Board submits that because E.N. was not a classified student, it was not required to provide notice to his parents of its intent to destroy his school records. (Respondent's Motion at 5.)

Petitioner counters that N.J.A.C. 6:3-6.8(c)(2) controls, not N.J.A.C. 6:3-6.2(i). N.J.A.C. 6:3-6.8(c)2 provides:

> (c) Upon graduation or permanent departure of a pupil from the school system: . . .
> 2. Information in pupil records, other than that described in (e) below, may be destroyed but only in accordance with the Destruction of Public Records Law, N.J.S.A. 47:3-15 et seq. Such destruction shall be accomplished only after written parental or adult pupil notification and written parental or adult pupil permission has been granted, or after reasonable attempts at such notification and reasonable attempts to secure parental or adult pupil permission have been unsuccessful.

Petitioner correctly invokes the controlling regulation. N.J.A.C. 6:3-6.2(i), on which the Board relies, authorizes the deletion of materials that are deemed irrelevant for the education purposes of currently enrolled pupils. N.J.A.C. 6:3-6.8(c)(2) authorizes the destruction of pupil records upon permanent departure of a pupil from the school system. E.N. was no longer enrolled in the Dumont public high school at the time his records were destroyed; he had permanently departed from the school system.

[3] Chapter 28, Special Education, was repealed by *R.*1998, *d.*334, effective July 6, 1998. The rule was changed to N.J.A.C. 6A:14.

I CONCLUDE that N.J.A.C. 6:3-6.8(c)(2) applies. The destruction of E.N.'s records should have been performed only after the Board notified petitioner in writing and after her permission was obtained in writing. The Board failed to abide by these requirements. Thus, I CONCLUDE that the Board improperly destroyed E.N.'s records and violated N.J.A.C. 6:3-6.8(c)(2).

CONCLUSIONS

I CONCLUDE that this matter is ripe for summary decision since issues of material fact do not exist.

I CONCLUDE that a declaratory ruling may be issued pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:24-2.1.

I CONCLUDE that the decision of the vice principal to not call petitioner prior to questioning E.N. about the missing funds did not violate statutes or regulations and did not constitute an abuse of his discretion.

I CONCLUDE that school administrators/personnel had a duty to disclose E.N.'s mental state and his suicidal tendencies to petitioner.

I CONCLUDE that E.N.'s school records were destroyed in violation of N.J.A.C. 6:3-6.8(c)(2).

ORDER

It is ORDERED that the motion for summary decision filed by the Board of Education of the Borough of Dumont on the issue of pupil questioning is GRANTED.

It is further ORDERED that the motion for summary decision filed by the Board of Education of the Borough of Dumont on the remaining issues is DENIED.

The foregoing conclusions and orders have terminated the controversy between the parties. Therefore, it is hereby ORDERED that the petiton be DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 225 East State Street, CN 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

AGENCY DKT. NO. 476-10/98

M.N.,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF DUMONT, BERGEN COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. The Board's exceptions and petitioner's reply thereto are duly noted as submitted in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4.

The Board in its exceptions contends that: (1) the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) erroneously concluded that relaxation of the 90-day time limit for filing a petition was warranted; (2) the ALJ failed to address the issue of whether the Commissioner has the subject matter jurisdiction to adjudicate petitioner's claim of negligence; (3) the ALJ improperly ruled on the merits of the issue that the Board failed to disclose to the parents that E.N. was, or may have been, contemplating suicide, since the Board did not admit these facts, did not move for summary decision on this issue, and received no hearing with respect to petitioner's allegations; and (4) the ALJ erroneously concluded that N.J.A.C. 6:3-6.8(c)2 applies to the circumstances of this case.

In reply, petitioner affirms that her petition should not be deemed untimely, since she filed her notice of tort claim within the requisite 90-day period and was also "denied access to the NJ School codes" by the Board, thereby, presumably, thwarting her attempts to determine her rights and duties. (Petitioner's Reply at p. 2) Moreover, petitioner claims that the Board had the opportunity, contrary to its assertion, to develop an evidentiary record in connection with the issue pertaining to a counselor's duties. In this regard, petitioner maintains that she knew E.N.'s record contained information about his meetings with his middle school counselor. "I assumed," petitioner continues, "that the High School counselor would pick up where Mrs. Bowan left off. Even if these informations [sic] were not descriptive of [E.'s] educational situation, they were descriptive of his mental state and should not have been destroyed at any time." (Id. at p. 3)

Upon careful and independent review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner determines to modify the initial decision of the ALJ, for the reasons set forth below. Preliminarily, although the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the petition herein is untimely, he determines to relax the 90-day filing limitation because he finds the within circumstances to be sufficiently compelling and extraordinary.[1] N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.15.

For the reasons set forth in the initial decision, the Commissioner first affirms there is no general requirement in either statute or regulation which would obligate a local administrator to notify the parent or guardian of a student prior to questioning that student regarding a disciplinary incident.

[1] In so determining, the Commissioner notes that there is no indication on the record before him what contact, if any, petitioner may have had with "state school officials" prior to her letter to the Governor. (Initial Decision at p. 9) However, once she communicated with Governor Whitman, petitioner's (undated) letter was transmitted to the Department of Education for review and response. The Assistant Commissioner of the Division of Executive Services responded to petitioner by letter dated August 5, 1998. Petitioner's second letter, dated August 26, 1998, was addressed directly to the Assistant Commissioner, which letter was answered by him on September 1, 1998. Finally, petitioner wrote a third time, by letter dated September 15, 1998 addressed to the Commissioner, which letter specifically referenced a dispute with her local board and was, therefore, answered by the Director of the Next, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that, at the time of a student's graduation or permanent departure from a local district, a board is obligated to notify, in writing, the student's parents, or the adult pupil, and obtain written parental or adult pupil permission before pupil records, other than those required to be kept by the district in perpetuity, may be destroyed, N.J.A.C. 6:3-6.8(c)2. However, as also recognized by the ALJ, this does not prevent a board from destroying pupil records prior to that time in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6:3-6.2(i) and N.J.A.C. 6:3-6.8(b). The former provides that mandated records may be destroyed once they are no longer educationally necessary, but only after parental consent has been obtained or reasonably attempted; the latter provides that, without prior notice except in the case of classified students, "the chief school administrator or his designee shall require all permitted pupil records of currently enrolled pupils to be reviewed annually by certified school personnel" and that records deemed no longer relevant shall be destroyed and not recorded elsewhere. The factual record in the instant matter does not enable the Commissioner to conclude, as did the ALJ, that the documents sought by M.N., assuming arguendo that they did, in fact, constitute permitted pupil records (clearly, they were not mandatory records), were destroyed subsequent to E.N.'s permanent departure from the district, rather than prior to it. However, that determination is unnecessary to provide the declaration sought by petitioner, i.e., an answer to the question of whether a district may destroy a student's file without parental consent.

Finally, notwithstanding the ALJ's analysis, the Commissioner finds and declares that petitioner's request for a determination as to whether "the school counselor is allowed to keep from parents a potentially dangerous situation and a minor's state of mind" (Petition of Appeal at p. 2) calls for an analysis of duties in relation to a body of law which is not within his jurisdiction, since it is "the Commissioner's 'primary responsibility to make certain that the terms and policies of the School Laws are being faithfully effectuated .'" (Jenkins, et al. v. Tp. of Morris School Dist. and Bd. of Ed., 58 N.J. 483, 494 (1971) (citations omitted). See also Picogna v. Board of Educ., 249 N.J. Super. 332, 335 (App. Div. 1991), citing Board of Ed., E. Brunswick Tp. v. Township Council, E. Brunswick, 48 N.J. 94, 102 (1966) for the proposition that "[w]here the controversy does not arise under school laws, it is outside the Commissioner's jurisdiction even though it may pertain to school personnel.") The Commissioner so finds, notwithstanding that the Board appears to have adopted a policy contemplating that it may be necessary for a counselor to set aside confidentiality considerations when it is in the best interest of a student.

Accordingly, in summary, the Commissioner declares in response to petitioner's inquiry that: (1) a school administrator may question minor students without parents' consent; (2) a local board may not destroy, without parents' consent, mandated pupil records during the time of the student's enrollment, or any pupil records existing at the time of the student's graduation or permanent departure from the district, but may destroy, with no prior notice, permitted records during the time of the pupil's enrollment consistent with the requirements of N.J.A.C. 6:3-6.2(i); and (3) the legal authority to render a determination as to a counselor's duty of care does not rest with the Commissioner of Education.[2]

Ned P. Rogovoy, Esq., for respondent (Waltman, Reilly & Rogovoy, attorneys)

Record Closed: July 1, 1999 Decided: July 8, 1999

BEFORE JOSEPH F. MARTONE, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

In this matter the Board of Education of the City of Atlantic City brought charges against a tenured custodian for misuse of school funds and official misconduct. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on June 17, 1998, for hearing as a contested case. The matter was assigned to the undersigned Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) on July 2, 1998, and was scheduled for a telephone prehearing conference on August 26, 1998. The telephone prehearing conference was adjourned because of the availability of the attorney for petitioner, and was rescheduled for September 9, 1998. The matter was then scheduled for hearing on June 30 and July 1, 1999.

By letter dated February 5, 1999, attorney for petitioner notified the undersigned ALJ that respondent had resigned his position and his resignation was accepted by the Board of Education, and it was indicated that there was no need for a hearing. However, attorney for petitioner was advised that it was necessary that a formal written withdrawal be submitted by the parties.

By letter dated June 28, 1999, attorney for respondent advised that unknown to him, respondent had tendered his resignation as an employee of the Atlantic City Board of Education and that he has been unable to reach respondent but indicated that his resignation made the tenure charges moot. However, in the absence of a formal withdrawal of the hearing request, the ALJ declined to adjourn the hearing.

On the first scheduled hearing date, June 30, 1999, respondent failed to appear. More than 24 hours have passed since the scheduled hearing date. During that period, the respondent has not contacted the OAL to offer any explanation for the nonappearance. Under these circumstances I FIND that respondent has abandoned and withdrawn his defense to the tenure charges in this matter, and it is ORDERED that the Clerk shall return the matter to the Department of Education as the transmitting agency for appropriate disposition.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

The record of this matter and the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon careful and independent review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner determines to adopt the initial decision of the ALJ, noting that respondent has resigned his position as a custodian for the Atlantic City School District and has, therefore, abandoned his tenure acquired with the Board, which had charged him with improper use and/or theft of school funds and official misconduct.[1]

Accordingly, in that respondent has unilaterally resigned prior to conclusion of tenure proceedings, the Commissioner adopts the recommendation of the ALJ that this matter be dismissed.[2]

Re: Essex County Educational Services/Eagle Rock Bus Company

Dear Judge Springer:

This letter shall serve to confirm the representations that Mr. Watson and I placed on the record on the afternoon of July 1, 1999, in your Honor's court room regarding the settlement reached between Eagle Rock Bus Company and the Essex County Educational Services Commission.

As Mr. Watson and I indicated at that time, respondent is waiving all penalties previously assessed against Eagle Rock. Accordingly, the sum of $35,422.40 will be returned to petitioner in the form of a check payable to Eagle Rock Bus Company in that amount. The check shall be delivered to my office within ten working days of the above date. I will hold that check in escrow pending the Commissioner's approval to the settlement.

This letter shall also confirm that Mr. Watson represented that although an executive meeting of respondent was not held, that the appropriate personnel consented to this settlement and provided Mr. Watson with the authority to represent that settlement to your Honor and myself.

Upon receipt of the aforementioned check payable to Eagle Rock Bus Company, Inc., I shall advise Mr. Watson that I have, in fact, received same and I am holding the check in escrow pending the Commissioner's approval of the settlement. Thereafter, I shall forward the check to my client.

This correspondence shall also confirm that the only issue raised in this administrative proceeding related to the appropriateness of the imposition of certain fines against petitioner Eagle Rock. The resolution of this matter does not, to any degree, affect the rights and liabilities of either Eagle Rock or the Essex County Educational Services Commission with regard to any other matter outside the scope of this proceeding.

Once again, I wish to thank your Honor for allowing us sufficient time to resolve this matter without the necessity of proceeding through a full hearing. I also wish to thank Mr. Watson for his professionalism and courtesy.

Respectfully yours,

RE: EAGLE ROCK BUS COMPANY V. ESSEX COUNTY ED. SERVICES COMMISSION
OAL DOCKET NUMBER EDU 7608-97

Dear Judge Springer:

I am in receipt of a copy of the letter dated July 6, 1999 setting forth the settlement placed on the record in the above matter. I am in agreement with the terms set forth in the letter sent by counsel with the exception of one item. I cannot agree that this settlement does not effect the rights and liabilities of either Eagle Rock or the Essex County Educational Services with regard to any other matter outside the scope of this proceeding. I believe that it is an issue of an issue of law as to whether or not this settlement affects other proceeding outside of the scope of this proceeding. I do agree, however, that the only issued raised in this proceeding was that of the imposition of the fines imposed upon Eagle Rock.

Very truly yours,

John H. Watson, Jr.

The record, including the parties' letters with respect to settlement of the matter, and the initial decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed.

Upon review, the Commissioner approves the settlement terms and adopts the settlement as the final decision in this matter. However, in so doing, the Commissioner does not make any judgment as to whether or not this settlement affects the parties' rights and liabilities with regard to any other matter outside the scope of the instant proceedings, given the parties' apparent lack of agreement on this point as indicated in the letters of settlement.

Accordingly, the matter is hereby dismissed, subject to compliance with the terms of the settlement.*

SYNOPSIS

Petitioners challenged Board's residency determination.

The ALJ concluded that petitioners satisfied the residency requirements pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)1 because they are domiciled within the district and supporting H.I.L. gratis, the parents are presently not capable of supporting him due to family hardship, and H.I.L. is not residing with petitioners solely for the purpose of receiving a free public education in the district.

The Commissioner adopted the decision of the ALJ for the reasons expressed therein and ordered the Board to continue to admit H.I.L. into its public school system, free of charge, so long as there is no change in circumstances that would alter H.I.L.'s entitlement.

INITIAL DECISION

OAL DKT. NO. EDU 3341-99

AGENCY DKT. NO. 43-3/99

D.K.S. AND K.S.S. ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILD, H.I.L.,

Petitioner,

v.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF FORT LEE, BERGEN COUNTY,

Respondent.

Michael Song, Esq., appearing for petitioner

Robert Tessaro, Esq., appearing for respondent

Record Closed: May 18, 1999 Decided: July 8, 1999

BEFORE MARGARET M. HAYDEN, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioners contest respondent's determination that minor child, H.I.L., was not entitled to a free public education in the Fort Lee School District (District). Petitioners claimed that the minor child was entitled to a free public education pursuant to N.J.S.A.

18A:38-1(b)1, as he was living in the home of a person domiciled within the school district and was supported by that person. Respondent claimed that H.I.L. was living in petitioners' home for the sole purpose of attending school in the District. Respondent District filed a counterclaim for payment of tuition.

On or about February 9, 1999, the District informed the petitioners that the Board of Education had reviewed the evidence submitted for H.I.L. to support his application to attend middle school in the District and rejected that application. On or about March 6, 1999, the petitioners filed a request for a hearing. On March 24, 1999, the Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for a hearing as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. The hearing was held on May 18, 1999.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

The following facts are essentially undisputed on the record and I FIND them FACTS in this case.

Petitioners resided in Fort Lee and have been supporting H.I.L. since January 1999 as if he was their own child with no contribution from his parents. The child, born December 18, 1985, will live with the petitioners two or three years, not merely through the school term.

The petitioners belonged to the same church as H.I.L.'s parents, who were now missionaries for that church in Uzbekistan in Central Asia. For the first few years of the missionary work H.I.L, as well as his younger sister, had lived in Uzbekistan with their parents. When the family came back for a brief vacation in 1998, H.I.L. had made it known how unhappy he was in Uzbekistan, which resulted in an offer by the petitioners to keep the child in their home.

According to the parents of H.I.L., the social and political situation in Uzbekistan was so unstable that it had reached the level of frequent threats to foreigners such as the parents. Every since Uzbekistan became an independent nation the country has suffered from chronic corruption. One place the widespread corruption manifested was in the schools where the teachers were not paid unless bribed by parents in order to allow the children in school. Additionally, as Uzbekistan was an Islamic nation, the country as a whole was hostile to Christians. The family was a constant target of religious and physical persecution including threats. In addition they were subjected to racial discrimination against minorities such as the parents. Both H.I.L. and his sister had been targets of physical danger. The parents felt, especially since H.I.L. had become a teenager, he needed stability in a nurturing environment which was nonexistence in Uzbekistan. The parents felt that the harsh reality of Uzbekistan was exceedingly difficult for the children to overcome. Additionally as missionaries the parents were required to travel constantly and had to leave the children unattended in the home. Various solutions to better the circumstances in Uzbekistan were tried and failed. During their 1998 visit the parents came to feel that because H.I.L. was overwhelmed physically and emotionally, he should remain the United States. They were also looking for guardians for their daughter but have not found one yet.

The petitioners also supplied to the District the report by the United States Department of State on human rights practices in Uzbekistan for 1998. That report corroborates much of the parents' claim concerning the instability in Uzbekistan. The report specified that the government had often harassed Christian groups who openly tried to convert Muslims to Christianity, which was the parents' goal as missionaries.

When the District considered the application it did not contest that the petitioners were residents of the District and that they were keeping the child in their home and had assumed all personal obligations for the child. However, the District turned down the application because it determined that there was no evidence of a hardship that prevented the parents from caring for the child.

DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSION OF LAW

The applicable statute, N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)1, reads in pertinent part:

> Any person who is kept in the home of another person domiciled within the school district and is supported by such other person gratis as if he were such other person's own child, upon filing by such other person with the secretary of the board of education of the District, if so required by the board, a sworn statement that he is domiciled in the District and is supporting the child gratis and will assume all personal obligation for the child relative to school requirements and that he intends so to keep and support the child gratuitously for a longer time than merely through the school term, and a copy of his lease if a tenant, or a sworn statement by his landlord acknowledging his tenancy if residing as a tenant without a written lease, and upon filing by the child's parents or guardian with the secretary of the board of education a sworn statement that he is not capable of supporting or providing care for the child due to a family or economical hardship and that the child is not residing with the resident of the District solely for the purposes of receiving a free public education in the District. The statement shall be accompanied by documentation to support the validity of the sworn statement, information from or about which shall be supplied only to the board and only to the extent that it directly pertains to the support or nonsupport of the child. If in the judgment of the board of education the evidence does not support the validity of the claim by the resident, the board may deny admission to the child.

Thus, the proofs in this matter must show that: 1) petitioners are domiciled within the District; 2) petitioners are supporting H.I.L. gratis; 3) H.I.L.'s parents are not capable of supporting or caring for him due to family or economic hardship; and 4) H.I.L. is not residing with petitioners solely for the purpose of receiving a free public education in the District.

Here the claims of the parents were uncontradicted that as a result of the instability in Uzbekistan the children had been subjected to physical and emotional harassment. It was out of concern for H.I.L.'s emotional and physical well-being, which included but was certainly not limited to educational well-being, that the parents agreed to have the petitioners care for their son. The petitioners point out that in their culture it was very unusual for children to live apart from their parents and it was only being done in this instance because of the difficulties faced by the child under the extreme circumstances of the parents' missionary work. Based on the evidence I FIND that a family hardship has been demonstrated which made it difficult for the parents to properly provide care and stability for the child.

It is important to note that hardship under N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)1 need not be merely financial. For example, family discord has been found to constitute hardship entitling the student to public education under the statute. R.H. v. Ocean Co. Bd. Of Ed., 96 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 628. It follows that the unique and compelling circumstances in this case rise to at least the same level of family hardship as did the circumstances in R.H. and thus meets the standard of the statute. "To hold otherwise harms a party the Legislature never meant to penalize . . . and overlooks the substantial State interest in ensuring the education of all its children . . . ." Gundersen v. Bd. Of Ed. of the City of Brigantine, Atlantic Co., 95 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 39, 42. In finding compelling circumstances that rise to the level of family hardship in a child's reaction to serious marital and parental conflict, the Commissioner, overruling the ALJ, quoted his previous decision with approval:

> In interpreting a statute, the Commissioner must look to the fundamental purpose for which the legislation was enacted, and where a literal reading will not accord with that purpose, the spirit of the law will control over its letter . . . . Moreover, the meaning of a statute is to be gathered from the mischief sought to be eliminated as well as the proposed remedy . . . .
>
> The amendments to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1 . . . were intended to ease the burden on local boards of education attempting to remove illegally enrolled students, specifically those living with a parent or guardian who claims to be, but is not, domiciled within the district, and those living with a person other than the > parent or guardian in order to obtain the benefit of a free public education in a district other than that of their entitlement by parental domicile . . . .

>
> The intent of the "affidavit student" law is not now, and never has been, to deny an education to a child whose living arrangements may not be as contemplated by the statutory scheme. . . .

I FIND that the evidence demonstrates that the petitioners generously took H.I.L. into their home to provide him the nurturing and stability his parents were unable to give him due to their difficult missionary assignment. I further FIND no evidence that this arrangement was entered into fraudulently to obtain a free public education in the District.

Based on the above, I CONCLUDE that petitioners satisfied the residency requirements pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)1 in that the petitioners are domiciled within the District, the petitioners are supporting H.I.L. gratis, the parents are presently not capable of supporting him due to family hardship, and H.I.L. is not residing with petitioner solely for the purpose of receiving a free public education in the District. Consistent with the above, I CONCLUDE that petitioners are not liable for tuition to the Board during the period of time that H.I.L. attended school in the District.

ORDER

I ORDER that the petitioners' petition to allow H.I.L. to attend school in the District is hereby GRANTED. I ORDER that the District's counterclaim for payment of tuition is hereby DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

The record of this matter and the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon careful and independent review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner concurs that petitioners have demonstrated that the minor child, H.I.L., is entitled to attend school in the Board's district, free of charge, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1b(1). Accordingly, the initial decision of the OAL is adopted for the reasons expressed therein. SYNOPSIS

Petitioning teachers alleged the District improperly withheld their salary increments for the 1996-97 school year.

The ALJ concluded that Petitioner Sullivan (Petitioner Blazakis having withdrawn her petition) did not demonstrate by a preponderance of the credible evidence that the withholding of her salary increment was arbitrary, capricious or otherwise contrary to law and dismissed the petition. The Commissioner agreed with and adopted the recommended decision of the ALJ dismissing the petition for the reasons set forth in the initial decision.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This case comes by way of verified petition filed with the Department of Education on September 16, 1996. An answer was filed on October 2, 1996 and on October 21, 1996 the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for determination as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

A prehearing conference was held in the matter on October 7, 1997 and hearing dates were scheduled for January 26, 27 and 28, 1998. The hearing dates were adjourned at the request of petitioner's counsel with the consent of respondent. New dates were given however prior to the hearing petitioner Blazakis withdrew her action by way of letter dated May 18, 1998. As a result the hearing itself deals only with the case of petitioner Margaret Sullivan.

*The hearings took place on October 6 and 7, 1998 at which time the record remained open for submission of copies of an exhibit used by petitioner until November 20, 1998. The time for filing an Initial Decision in this matter was extended by Order issued for good cause until July 6, 1999 due to the ilness of the undersigned.

ISSUE

This matter comes by way of a petition filed challenging an increment witholding to the salary of the petitioner who was a tenured teacher with respondent district at the time.

BURDEN OF PROOF

In this case the burden of proof remained with petitioner to be proved by a preponderance of the credible evidence that the decision to withhold the increment was arbitrary, capricious or otherwise contrary to law.

Although the burden of proof remained with the petitioner at all times the burden of going forward with the evidence rested with the respondent.

TESTIMONY

The respondent Board presented the testimony of Anna Maria Mistral who was an employee of the Board for twenty five years and had been supervisor of instruction – bilingual ESL since 1980. She holds elementary, ESL, Supervisor and principal certificates and was working on her superintendent certificate at the time of her testimony.

She testified that as a supervisor she was required to go to schools and evaluate teachers routinely numbering from 50-60. In 1995 she evaluated petitioner by observing her teaching senior Spanish at Snyder High School. On December 15, 1995 she observed the petitioner and filled out an Instructional Observation report. (R-1) She observed a 45 minute instructional period. She rated each of the five performance factors as follows:

1) Demonstrates proficiency in subject matter. Satisfactory.
2) Assesses needs and evaluates progress of pupils. Unsatisfactory.
3) Employs effective organization and planning. Unsatisfactory.
4) Utilizes effective instructional techniques. Unsatisfactory.
5) Addresses affective domain. Needs improvement.

Additionally the witness reviewed petitioner's roll book. (R-2) She observed that several students did not have test grades or scores. There was also no average computed. In some cases the witness computed the scores reflected and came up with discrepancies. There was also no indication as to whether absences were excused or not excused. It is necessary to make the distinction to determine if the student gets credit. She also found no tests or quizzes given between November 15, 1995 and December 5, 1995. According to the witness this is a problem in teaching language because you must keep up with where the students are performing. The witness also observed that October 11, 1995 was listed as a quiz but there were no grades posted. Also no numerical grades were ever posted and are necessary because to compute a final grade of a student 70% would be average. For an October 16 test there was only one numerical grade listed. A November 16 test did not have test scores for all students and students numbers 9, 13, and 33 were listed as absent but did have test scores. Student number nine also had listed an 80 and a 73 but had a grade of B reflected. This would be incorrect as they would average to a C. The witness also photocopied other classes to see if these were rare occurrences or fairly regular. She found this to be fairly regular.

The witness also found that petitioner did not have the required lesson plans and of the eleven weeks she found incomplete planning for five weeks and no plans for four weeks. (R-3) There was no plan listed for the week of the observation or the week after. Plan books are mandated by the district and each box is to be filled in with "SWAT" or "students will be able to". These have been required since the witness began at the district in 1971 and are important. She pointed out each week where the plan was incomplete or not listed at all. According to the witness this was absolutely unacceptable.

The witness also explained that she gave petitioner an unsatisfactory for utilizing effective instructional technique because expectations were higher and the students should have been actively participating but were not. Both she and petitioner signed the evaluation. She also prepared a planning overview/pacing for the petitioner. (R-4) This was so that her students would be able to pass the test.

The witness She stated that she was unaware that the letter v meant late in petitioner's book. She also stated that she was aware that the petitioner had been absent the week before the evaluation. She stated that during the lesson petitioner sat on her desk and wrote two words on the board, There was no interaction with the students.

She also acknowledged that she recommended that petitioner teach a special class for native speakers of Spanish. In that class the point was literature and not communication. Since petitioner had excellent command of the Spanish language she thought that petitioner would be able to teach that course. The witness did not have any active part in the present increment withholding.

James J. Burke also testified. He had been employed by the district for twenty eight years and had been serving as a vice principal since 1986 with a two year hiatus when he served as school business administrator. He is vice principal and supervises instruction, oversees student curriculum and evaluates teachers. In the 1995-1996 school year he evaluated about thirty seven teachers. Petitioner was one of the teachers he evaluated while she was teaching Spanish. This took place on February 12, 1996 between 11:20 and 12:00. Of the five proficiencies he rated her as follows:

1) Demonstrates proficiency in subject matter. Needs Improvement.
2) Assess needs and evaluates progress of pupils. Unsatisfactory.
3) Employs effective organization and planning. Unsatisfactory.
4) Utilizes effective instructional techniques. Unsatisfactory.
5) Addresses affective domain. Needs improvement.

With respect to number 1 he stated that she was a veteran teacher but claimed she had no knowledge of the district mandated guidelines. He indicated that all teachers received the guidelines when they began. At no time had petitioner come to her regarding these proficiencies.

He also stated that proficiency number two dealt mostly with record keeping and hers was lacking and at times inaccurate. This was the second semester and only one grade was reflected and no numerical grades were listed. Proficiency number three was also record keeping in nature. This included lesson plans and attendance records. Upon review there were days when no plan was listed at all.

The witness also testified that her attendance records were inadequate. Only four of thirteen students were present and there was no indication of which absences were excused and which were not. He also stated that three latenesses would equal one unexcused absence.

The witness went over the evaluation with petitioner on March 7, 1996 and she signed it. This witness also observed petitioner on October 13, 1995 and a professional Improvement Plan was developed and rated her on the basis of both observations.

The witness acknowledged that this was petitioner's first year at Snyder High School. The witness provides orientation to all teachers and the code and documents are also placed in the teachers' individual mailboxes. He indicated that one of the major problems is with her record keeping regarding students grades and absences. According to the Code of conduct teachers must differentiate between excused and unexcused absences. There were also no pupil progress indicators. He indicated that the markings in her book did not differentiate and there was no key in her book to assist him. It was not enough that she knew what she meant but it must be easily understood by the building administrator. The lack of any code or key to assist in markings which might be individual to petitioner made the book unacceptable. Also if a student is out it is up to the teacher to check the absent student list. He indicated there is also a nurse's list and a suspension list.

On May 22, 1996 the principal sent petitioner a letter indicating that it was recommended that her 1996-1997 increment be withheld. In June she received notification that it was withheld.

Petitioner testified as of the 1995-1996 school year she had already been with the district for 9 years. She had also had a four year leave. Prior to being at Snyder High School she was at Lincoln School and prior to that the Ferris School. She has a certificate in Spanish as well as ESL. She has always taught Spanish.

On the first day of school for the teachers she was given one student textbook and assigned five Spanish 1 classes. She identified her role book and states that this is the way she kept hers in the other schools. She testified that A is absent without excuse while "A" with a circle around it was excused absence. Markings, which appear to be "V" or a check mark, are, in fact, "L" for late. A small dot signifies present. She states that her role book was never discussed with her prior to October 13, 1995By either Burke or Mistral. She indicates that prior to October 13, 1995 she had not been notified of any deficiencies. She states that since she was teaching five classes of Spanish 1 she had only one plan since each class was the same. She says she had no materials at the beginning and she brought her own materials and copied them and it was only later in the year that she received the necessary materials.

On the December 5, 1995 evaluation day she was back for the second day after an illness. At that time she was collecting the students' work and going over it. There were approximately six students in and they were not on the same level. She indicated that one was very bright, two were average and the others never responded.

With respect to her planning book she testified that she only planned a few days in advance as to the specifics. On occasions were there was nothing written they were continuing the prior lesson. By way of example she stated that on September 11 the students did not have books yet. On September 12 she had written activity but they were still working on what had been for September 11. As a result she wrote nothing for September 13, 14 and 15. (R-3) The week of October 2, she also wrote nothing on any of the days plan. She admitted that she probably should have written "something" but that she knew what she was carrying over. She states that she did plan except for the week of November 13, 1995 when she was ill. From that date until December 8, 1995 there were no plans listed although there were several notations on the remark column.

On cross examination she stated that her plan for September 11 and 12 carried over through September 18 thereby having a two day plan take six class days. She stated that her plan book was never meant to be used by anyone but her although she conceded that she is mandated to keep the book. She also acknowledged that she had been reviewed in the past and her book had been reviewed. According to her she has no idea why a supervisor would review a plan book, did not know why Burke wrote incomplete on the pages and feels he doesn't know how to read a plan book. She also acknowledged that the word "carryover" was not anywhere in her plan book. When questioned about what she did on specific days where nothing was written she could only say it was a carryover. She also says that in November the days with nothing listed were carry over days making three planned days carry over an extra ten days. She also acknowledged that she had no idea what the substitute did when she was out because she only had one day's emergency plan. She felt that she overestimated the students and they required more time.

The witness testified that she did not recall ever being criticized for her plan book before however when confronted with a 1988 evaluation (R-11) and one from 1990 (R-12) she acknowledged her signature on each and that each criticized her planning. She left the district in 1991 on maternity leave and at that time she was aware that there were supervisors who felt her planning was inadequate. She also acknowledged that by the time she had met with Burke on October 13, 1995 she was aware that he felt her planning was inadequate. She conceded that she continued, even after October 13, to keep her plan book in the same manner making no changes. With respect to the roll book she felt it was clear to her.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Having heard the testimony of the witnesses, and having assessed their credibility as well as having reviewed the documentary evidence I FIND the following to be fact:

1. During the 1995-96 school year petitioner, an experienced school teacher, began teaching Spanish 1 at Snyder High School.
2. She taught five classes of Spanish 1.
3. On October 13, 1995 she had an evaluation by James Burke who indicated to her that her plan book was inadequate.
4. On December 5, 1995 Petitioner was evaluated by Anna Maria Mistral who, in the instructional observation report (R-1), at length explained the deficiencies in petitioner's roll book, plan book, recording of grades and other factors.
5. Prior to this school year petitioner was on notice by two adverse evaluations, one in 1998 and the other in 1990, that supervisors had a concern about her lack of planning.
6. After the October 13, 1995 evaluation petitioner did not change the manner in which she kept her plan book or roll book.
7. After her December 5, 1995 evaluation, even with its detailed criticism of planning and roll book, petitioner did nothing to change her manner of record keeping.
8. It is insufficient that petitioner know what her entries mean. Her entries must be easily discernible by the building supervisor. This could have easily been done by merely providing a key in the front of the book. Even after the evaluations no steps were made to come in line with the input of the evaluators.
9. The roll book revealed inconsistencies in grades and attendance.
10. The lack of adequate lesson plans also continued through the February 12, 1996 evaluation by Burke. Once again the same problems were noted. Nothing was done by the petitioner to resolve these issues.

LEGAL DISCUSSION

The only issue in this case is whether or not the petitioner has proved, by a preponderance of the credible evidence, that the withholding of her annual teaching salary increment was arbitrary, capricious or otherwise contrary to law. In this case the proof fail to show any suggestion that the withholding was arbitrary, capricious or otherwise contrary to law. Here petitioner was on notice as early as 1988 that her lack of planning and discrepancies in record keeping were found not to be acceptable. In 1990 once again she was made aware. On the October 13, 1995 evaluation by Burke she was made aware that her planning and record keeping were unacceptable. By the time of the evaluation of December 5, 1995 by Mistral her plan book was nearly devoid of entries for the month of November and the week of the evaluation. At the time of this evaluation a detailed list of deficiencies was provided to her and she met with Mistral.

Even after the December evaluation and all of the input regarding what was considered deficient she did not make changes in the manner in which she kept her records and planned. This went on through the February evaluation and on to the final evaluation of the year.

What is particularly striking is that petitioner testified that she felt that there was nothing incorrect in the way she had been doing things and it was the evaluators fault for not being able to read her roll book or understanding that the long gaps in her lesson plans was due to carrying over prior lessons. At no time did she seem to come to a realization that her manner of doing things required changing. As a result she made no effort to comply with the recommendations of the evaluators. Those changes were not overly burdensome. The problem of the roll book would need only a key in the beginning for the evaluator's benefit and for the benefit of the building superintendent if it was really as clear as she claimed. Nothing was ever done about keeping numerical grades so they could be reconciled with final grades. Lesson plans never changed character or indicated multiple days for carry over or any different pace from class to class.

Petitioner was given every chance to improve and did not do so. The withholding of the teaching salary increment was entirely appropriate. There was absolutely nothing arbitrary, capricious or otherwise contrary to law that has been shown by petitioner.

CONCLUSION

Based upon the foregoing I hereby CONCLUDE that petitioner has not met the burden of proof applicable here, that of a preponderance of the credible evidence, that the withholding of her salary increment was arbitrary, capricious or otherwise contrary to law.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that petitioner's claim be and hereby is DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision on this matter. FRANK CARNEY,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF UNION CITY, HUDSON COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner, a tenured custodian, sought to overturn the respondent Board's attempt to consider his employment forfeited due to his having been found guilty of harassment, N.J.S.A. 2C:33-4C, a petty disorderly persons offense. The details of the offense involved verbal remarks, solicitations and physical gestures of a sexual or sexually suggestive nature directed by petitioner to a fellow employee at the work site.

At the OAL the respondent Board moved for summary decision. The ALJ dismissed the Board's motion and granted summary decision to petitioner, noting that, because the municipal court judge declined at sentencing to rule on the issue of forfeiture since he believed that the matter was not properly before him, N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2 mandates that the Board seek removal of petitioner through the tenure removal procedure of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10.

The Commissioner determined that the ALJ correctly concluded that if a court declines to order forfeiture of public employment, then the only means for a Board to seek removal of an individual from its employ is through the certification of tenure charges pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 et seq. The Commissioner did not adopt that portion of the ALJ's order directing payment by the Board within 15 days of any monies and benefits owed to petitioner. The Commissioner ordered payment by the Board within a reasonable period of time, noting that petitioner may invoke the regulations for payment of post-hearing interest, N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.16 should the Board fail to satisfy the award within 60 days.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF UNION CITY, HUDSON COUNTY,

Joan M. Damora, Esq., for respondent (Murray, Murray & Corrigan, attorneys)

Record Closed: June 1, 1999 Decided: July 14, 1999

BEFORE JEFF S. MASIN, ALJ:

Petitioner Frank Carney, a tenured custodian who was employed by the respondent Board of Education ("Board"), petitioned the Commissioner of Education, seeking to overturn the Board's attempt to consider his employment position forfeited. The petition was filed on August 8, 1997. The Board filed an answer on August 26, 1997. The matter was transferred to the Office of Administrative law as a contested case on September 10, 1997. After completion of discovery, the Board filed a motion for summary decision on September 23, 1998. Mr. Carney filed a brief in opposition to the motion on October 7, 1998, and at the same time cross-moved for summary decision. The Board replied to the motion and to the opposition to its own motion by letter of October 16, 1998. On October 19, counsel for Carney replied to the Board's response and subsequently on December 31, the Board filed a short letter supplementing its position[1]

In his petition, Mr. Carney asserts that while employed as a tenured custodian for the Board, he received a letter from the Board Secretary dated July 2, 1997, which notified him that effective July 1, 1997, the Board deemed him to have forfeited his job due to his having been found guilty of an offense which touched upon his employment. In fact, the record does establish without dispute that Mr. Carney was found guilty on June 11, 1997, of harassment, N.J.S.A. 2C:33-4C, a petty disorderly persons offense, after a trial held before Weehawken Municipal Court Judge Emil A. Del Baglivo. (Venue had been changed from the Union City Municipal Court). He was sentenced on July 1, 1997. An appeal of the conviction to the Superior Court was denied by Superior Court Judge Camille M. Kenny on February 18, 1998. The allegations of harassment which Judge Del Baglivo sustained were made by an employee of a food service working at the same school where Mr. Carney was employed. The events which were the subject of her allegations occurred within the Robert Waters School, in which both she and Carney were employed during the 1995-96 school year.

Mr. Carney asserts in his petition that the Board acted in violation of his tenure rights when it deemed him removed from his tenured position by virtue of a supposed forfeiture. He based his claim upon the refusal of the sentencing judge to impose the penalty of forfeiture. In his view, the refusal of the judge to order forfeiture leaves the Board no alternative but to file tenure charges if it wishes to seek Carney's removal based upon the incidents between he and the complaining fellow employee.

The Board's motion for summary decision argues that the undisputed facts demonstrate that the petitioner was convicted of an offense which touches and concerns his employment and

[1] The procedural history of this case within the OAL is unfortunately quite complicated and has resulted in considerable delay in the processing of the matter. The matter was originally assigned to a judge who departed for the Superior Court prior to discovery being completed and the file was then reassigned. A substitution of counsel for the Board was filed in June of 1998. The assignment judge then reassigned the file to another judge who was not able to reach a decision in the matter before she unexpectedly became ill and, after a period of uncertainty as to her status, she eventually resigned. As a result the case was again reassigned to this judge and counsel were advised of the reassignment on June 1, 1999. A considerable rush of emergency and other hearings and other pending decisions has unfortunately delayed this decision to this date.

therefore, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2, as a matter of law Mr. Carney forfeited his position. The Commissioner of Education is without jurisdiction to decide matters arising under this statute and therefore the petition must be dismissed.

In response to the Board's motion and in support of his cross-motion, Mr. Carney points out that at one time the language of N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2 did provide that a person convicted of an offense which touched his employment forfeited his position upon conviction. However, a rather recent amendment of the statute has significantly altered the process which results in a forfeiture. As a result of that change and the Municipal Court Judge's negative response to the Board's attempt to obtain an order of forfeiture, no forfeiture has occurred. Since, in the absence of forfeiture, the sole means available to the Board to effectuate Mr. Carney's removal for his conduct in relation to the fellow employee is a tenure charge brought pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10, and since the Board has not even pursued such a charge, he is entitled to be reinstated to his position with full recovery of salary and benefits lost. Therefore, the Board's motion must be denied and his motion granted.

N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2 is at the heart of this matter. In its current form it reads in pertinent part > a. A person holding any public office, position, or employment, elective or appointive, under the government of this State or any agency or political subdivision thereof, who is convicted of an offense shall forfeit such office or position if:

>
> (1) He is convicted under the laws of this State of an offense involving dishonesty or a crime of the third degree or above . . .
>
> (2) He is convicted of an offense involving or touching such office, position or employment; or
>
> (3) The Constitution or a statute other than the code so provides.
>
> b. A court of this State shall enter an order of forfeiture pursuant to subsection a.
>
> (1) Immediately upon a finding of guilt by the trier of fact or a plea of guilty entered in any court of this State unless the court, for good cause shown, orders a stay of such forfeiture pending a hearing on the merits at the time of sentencing; . . .

> e. Any forfeiture . . . which is based upon a conviction of a disorderly persons or petty disorderly persons offense may be waived by the court upon application of the county prosecutor or the Attorney General and for good cause shown.
>
> g. In any case in which the issue of forfeiture is not raised in a court of this State at the time of a finding of guilt, entry of guilty plea or sentencing, a forfeiture of public office, position or employment required by this section may be ordered by a court of this State upon application of the county prosecutor or the Attorney General or upon application of the public officer or public entity having authority to remove the person convicted from his public office, position or employment. The fact that a court has declined to order forfeiture shall not preclude the public officer or public entity having authority to remove the person convicted from seeking to remove or suspend the person from his office, position or employment on the ground that the conduct giving rise to the conviction demonstrates that the person is unfit to hold the office, position or employment.

Subsection g. was added to the statute in 1995, L. 1995, c.250, §1, eff. Sept. 12, 1995. In addition, that amendment added that portion of subsection b. which requires the entry of an order of forfeiture. Previously, section b. had provided that > b. The forfeiture set forth in subsection a. shall take effect

> (1) Upon finding of guilt by the trier of fact or a plea of guilty . . . .

The record demonstrates that the issue of forfeiture was in fact raised at Mr. Carney's sentencing on July 1, 1997. The transcript of the discussion between Mr. Carney's defense counsel John D. Lynch and the Judge discloses that the Court had been notified about the forfeiture question prior to the sentencing proceeding, apparently during closing remarks at trial and in correspondence. When Mr. Lynch rose to address the issue, the Judge said

> The Court: You may address that issue. We did note it in the closing argument and some other papers that we received. But, before we rule on that very issue, we'll hear you. We might say in advance that that issue is not properly before this Court.

> Mr. Lynch: Well, Judge, that was my point.
>
> The Court: No one has the right to ask the Court to forfeit somebody's job. That is not a - - not only - - the Court has no authority to do that. Not statutory or not by case law. So, maybe that dispels your argument.
>
> Mr. Lynch: It certainly does, Judge.
>
> The Court: All right. You can ask the Court to fly you to the moon but that doesn't mean we're going to put you there.
>
> Mr. Lynch: That's fine, Judge.
>
> The Court: We have no such authority and I think that was an improper request to be made in the first place. Whatever happens, of course, is not within the province of this Court but certainly it is not this Court's authority to do that. All right.
>
> Mr. Lynch: Then, I'm not going to belabor the issue, your Honor.
>
> [State of N.J. v. Frank Carney Transcript of Sentencing, 7/1/97, Union City Municipal Court, Hudson Co., Dkt. No. S1996-002596-0910, pages 3-4]

Examination of the record establishes that Mr. Carney was convicted of an offense which involved harassing a fellow employee at the work site. As the Municipal Court Judge determined in his oral decision of June 11, 1997, the details of the offense involved verbal remarks, solicitations and physical gestures of a sexual or a sexually suggestive nature directed by Carney toward the victim "time and time again . . . frequently, periodically, as often as possible." There can be no reasonable dispute that the offense did touch his employment. That said, the question is whether the Board could legitimately determine that Mr. Carney no longer was an employee of the District even though it had not filed and successfully prosecuted a tenure charge against him.

The difficulty with the Board's position lies in the details of the current version of N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2. As noted above, prior to 1995, the statute provided that where an offense touched upon the perpetrator's employment, he forfeited his position when convicted of the offense. Further, it stated that the forfeiture took effect "upon finding of guilt . . . unless the court, for good cause shown, orders a stay of such forfeiture . . . ." There was no requirement in the statute that a court enter an order for the forfeiture to become effective. The amendment added this procedural step to the process which results in an effective forfeiture. As the statute now reads, without the order being issued the mere conviction for an offense touching employment is not sufficient to effectively forfeit the employment.

The statute does permit a court to stay a forfeiture for good cause pending a hearing on the merits. The law also permits a waiver of a forfeiture where the conviction is for a disorderly or petty disorderly offense, as here. In Mr. Carney's case, no stay was entered of the forfeiture. Additionally, no waiver of the forfeiture was issued. However, no order of forfeiture was entered which had then to be stayed.

Subsection g. addresses situations where forfeiture is either not raised in the court at the time of the finding of guilt or the sentencing, or where it is raised and the court declines to forfeit. In the Carney matter, the issue of forfeiture was clearly raised and addressed, albeit in a curious way. As the judge noted, he was aware that the prosecution might seek forfeiture because of reference to that subject in a letter between attorneys which reached the court, perhaps inadvertently, but in a manner he apparently felt improper. Nevertheless, when it came time for sentencing, the Judge took the definitive position that the issue of forfeiture was not one properly before him. Strangely, given the wording of N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2, which specifically calls for an order from the court, he espoused the view that "[N]o one has the right to ask the Court to forfeit somebody's job." Here was a case in which it seems abundantly clear that the forfeiture was mandated by the fact that the offense surely touched upon Carney's employment, yet the judge did not even believe that the subject of forfeiture was a fit one to raise and that he was without authority to forfeit the position. It is entirely unclear why he took this position, nevertheless, he did. Perhaps he thought that the reference in the statute to a "court" did not refer to a municipal court, but only to the Superior Court. Thus, the determination of these motions must be made knowing that this is not a situation where the issue was not raised, but is instead a case where, as subsection g. anticipates, a court has declined to order forfeiture, even though he clearly had the authority to issue the required order, or if he was convinced to do so, to stay a forfeiture and hold a hearing on whether forfeiture was warranted under the terms of the statute and the facts of the case.

It is exceedingly unfortunate that the issue of the entry of an order of forfeiture of Mr. Carney's position, which on its face seems to be a matter which the record before the municipal court would have made an almost ministerial act given the clear connection of the offense to the employment milieu, was not decided on the merits by the judge. However, since he did have the issue before him and did "decline" to order forfeiture, albeit apparently upon a mistaken belief that he had no authority to do so, the now amended 2C:51-2 mandates that the Board, as a public entity having authority to remove (albeit actually only to seek removal from the Commissioner), seek removal by establishing Mr. Carney's misconduct through the tenure removal procedure of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10. As the municipal court findings would likely serve to estop any dispute over the facts of the harassment and serve to support an application for summary decision, the tenure removal process before the OAL and Commissioner may not be lengthy. However, it is unfortunately necessary if the Board intends to remove this miscreant.

The Board's motion for summary decision is DISMISSED. The petitioner's motion for summary decision is GRANTED. As there has been no indictment of Mr. Carney, and he has not been suspended pending the resolution of tenure charges certified to the Commissioner, he is entitled to receive back pay and benefits for such period as he has not been paid, less any amounts actually earned during that period. The Board shall pay him all moneys due within 15 days of the issuance of the final decision of the Commissioner of Education, unless a stay is granted.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

FRANK CARNEY,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF UNION CITY, HUDSON COUNTY,	:	DECISION

The record and initial decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. Respondent's exceptions, which, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, were due to be filed with the Commissioner no later than August 2, 1999, were erroneously filed with the Director of the Office of Administrative Law. The exceptions were accepted for consideration by the Commissioner on August 12, 1999 so that the Board would not be prejudiced by the erroneous filing. See State Board of Education decision, Arthur Krupp v. Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District No. 1, Union County, 1991 S.L.D. 2568. Petitioner's reply exceptions were filed in accordance with the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4.

Respondent's exceptions aver that the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) erred in concluding that "[a]s the [public forfeiture] statute now reads, without the order being issued the mere conviction for an offense touching employment is not sufficient to effectively forfeit the employment." (Initial Decision at p. 6) The Board argues that this interpretation ignores the clear language of the forfeiture statute, N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2 et seq., that the court was mandated to order forfeiture and reiterates its legal position that the Commissioner has the authority and responsibility to correct the municipal court judge's refusal and/or failure to order petitioner's forfeiture. In support thereof, respondent cites a number of decisions issued by other State agencies, such as the Department of Human Services and the Department of Corrections, which, respondent avers, continue to litigate issues of public forfeiture.

Respondent also excepts to the ALJ's conclusion on page seven of the initial decision that "[The tenure process] is unfortunately necessary if the Board intends to remove this miscreant," maintaining that this conclusion of law ignores the inherent authority of the Commissioner to terminate employment of a tenured employee found guilty of a forfeitable offense. With respect to the aforementioned, respondent contends, inter alia, that to require tenure removal proceedings in this matter would be nothing more than a waste of public funds, with the subsequent cost being borne by educational programs. It states:

> Although [the] tenure law (N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 et seq.) demands an administrative hearing prior to a tenured employee's termination, the criminal statute (N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2 et seq.) does not. The filing of tenure charges to effectuate the obvious conclusion that Carney committed a forfeitable offense is legally unnecessary and burdensome. The only purpose to be served by requiring a tenure hearing under the circumstances of this case would be to impose a two year back pay burden on the school system. (Respondent's Exceptions at p. 7)

Petitioner's reply exceptions, which incorporate those arguments previously set forth in the original brief to the ALJ in this matter, aver, inter alia, that respondent appears to be arguing that "common sense" requires that forfeiture be automatic, notwithstanding the specific language of N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2(g), enacted in 1995, which states:

> The fact that a court has declined to order forfeiture shall not preclude the public officer or public entity having authority to > remove the person convicted from seeking to remove or suspend the person from office, position or employment on the ground that the conduct giving rise to the conviction demonstrates that the person is unfit to hold the office, position or employment.

> (Reply Exceptions at pp. 1-2)

Of this, petitioner states "[b]y the theory argued by Respondent, even in a situation such as that herein, where a prosecutor seeks a ruling that an individual convicted of a violation has forfeited his public employment, and the court declines to issue such a ruling, employment is forfeited regardless, rendering the amendment to N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2 in Subsection (g) meaningless." (Reply Exceptions at p. 2)

Upon review of the record and pleadings of the parties, including the exceptions filed by the parties, the Commissioner concurs with and adopts the recommended decision of the ALJ granting petitioner's motion for summary decision, with the exception of one modification indicated below. In affirming the grant of summary decision to petitioner, the Commissioner notes for the record that the ALJ's conclusions of law are consistent with the holdings of the Commissioner in prior cases such as In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Robert Morton, School District of the City of Camden, Camden County, decided July 30, 1999; In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Alan P. Tighe, School District of the Township of Old Bridge, Middlesex County, decided May 3, 1999; In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Neal Ercolano, School District of the Township of Branchburg, Somerset County, decided June 25, 1998; In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Robert R. Vitacco, School District of the Borough of Lincoln Park, Morris County, 97 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 449, appeal pending State Board; In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Leonard J. Marano, School District of the Borough of Lincoln Park, Morris County, decided February 13, 1997, appeal pending State Board, and others, all of which determined that the Commissioner does not have jurisdiction under N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2 to enter orders for forfeiture of public employment. Notwithstanding respondent's vigorous legal arguments otherwise, the Commissioner finds and determines that the ALJ correctly concluded that if a court declines to act to order forfeiture of public employment, then the only means for a board to seek removal of that individual from its employ is through the certifying of tenure charges pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 et seq. To hold otherwise would be contrary to the express statutory language of N.J.S.A. 2C:51-2(g).

The Commissioner does not, however, adopt that portion of the ALJ's order which directs that any monies and benefits owed to petitioner be paid within 15 days of the issuance of the Commissioner's final decision. Certainly, any back pay and benefits which may be owed to petitioner must be paid by the Board in a reasonable period of time; however, to place a requirement that such payment be made by the Board within 15 days is simply too restrictive. Once the precise amount of the award is determined, petitioner may invoke the regulations for payment of post-hearing interest, N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.16, should the Board fail to satisfy the award within 60 days.

Accordingly, summary judgment is granted to petitioner, except as modified herein relative to the time frame for payment of back pay and benefits.*

IT IS SO ORDERED.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioning parent challenged Board's residency determination.

The ALJ concluded that petitioner met her burden of proof that during the relevant time she and the minor child, H.D., have been domiciled in respondent's District.

The Commissioner concurred with and adopted the recommended decision of the ALJ for the reasons set forth in the initial decision and determined that H.D., having been found to be domiciled in Mullica Township, is entitled, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, to attend school in respondent's District free of charge.

OAL DKT. NO. EDU 4213-99

AGENCY DKT. NO. 74-4/99

A.W. & H.D.,

Petitioners,

v.

MULLICA TOWNSHIP

BOARD OF EDUCATION,

Respondent.

A.W., mother of H.D., for petitioners

William S. Cappuccio, Esq., for respondent

Record Closed: July 2, 1999 Decided: July 13, 1999

BEFORE JOHN R. TASSINI, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

This case involves whether petitioners A.W. and H.D., her daughter, have been "domiciled" in the district served by the respondent Board of Education of the Township of Mullica (BOE) as that word is used in N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Consistent with N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, on March 22, 1999, the BOE held a hearing during which it considered whether petitioners were domiciled in the district; petitioners were afforded an opportunity to be heard, etc.; and the BOE determined that petitioners were not so domiciled. The BOE notified petitioners of its determination and that it would exclude H.D. from its schools and petitioners appealed to the Commissioner of the Department of Education, staying the BOE's action. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2). The BOE's answer was filed with the Department of Education and the Department transmitted the contested case to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on June 2, 1999. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9; N.J.S.A. 52:14B-2(b). On June 23, 1999, the case was assigned to me, and on July 2, 1999, the case was heard in the OAL, Atlantic City Civil Courthouse.

FINDINGS OF FACT

A.W. and her witness Praxeves Samson were credible witnesses, and based on their testimony, I find the following facts:

A.W. was born on October 16, 1972, and raised in Ocean City, New Jersey. On November 26, 1991, she and M.D., to whom she was not married, became parents of H.D. and they resided together in Ocean City. In 1993, A.W. and M.D. separated and A.W. rented an apartment in Egg Harbor City, where she resided with H.D. (but not with M.D.).

Beginning in 1994, A.W. rented a house in Wharton Park, a development in Mullica Township, where she resided with H.D. Since 1994, A.W.'s official records, e.g., her driver's license, voter registration card, etc., have shown Mullica Township as her address and she has received mail by way of post offices, e.g., "Elwood," in Mullica Township. See, e.g., P-1; P-2.

During the 1996-97 school year, H.D. began school, entering the BOE's preschool, and, since that time, H.D. has been a student in the BOE's school system.

During the summer of 1998, because A.W. could not afford the Wharton Park house, she and H.D. began to reside in The Homestead at 317 Weymouth Road in Mullica Township. The Homestead, owned by Ms. Samson, is a home for the elderly. A.W., a certified nurse's aide (CNA), was employed there 40 hours per week, providing care for the elderly residents, cooking and cleaning. A.W. received an apartment relative to her employment because she was regularly required to be available at The Homestead overnight in case a resident needed assistance. In the apartment A.W. kept all their personalty, e.g., clothing, pictures, a television, etc. When A.W. has a visitor, e.g., her father, he visits A.W. and H.D. at The Homestead. Ms. Samson testified credibly that The Homestead obtained an extension for preparation and filing of tax records, including those related to A.W.'s employment, but that those records will show petitioners' address as Mullica Township, i.e., The Homestead.

In an effort to earn additional income, when not required to work at The Homestead, A.W. has had private patients. For example, A.W. provided occasional private care for D.F. at his home in Egg Harbor City. Because he required someone to be available at his home overnight in case he needed assistance, A.W. and H.D. sometimes packed a bag and stayed overnight in the bedroom in D.F.'s home used by CNAs for that purpose. In the morning, when she was relieved by another CNA, A.W. then drove H.D. to school (in the BOE's system). For this reason, on the mornings of February 2, 3, 9, 10, 11 and 12, 1999, Catherine Guischard, the BOE's attendance officer, observed A.W. and H.D. traveling from Egg Harbor City to the BOE's school, where A.W. dropped off H.D.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The State, by way of local school districts, provides "for the maintenance and support of a thorough and efficient system of free public schools for the instruction of all children in the State between the ages of five and eighteen years." N.J. Const. art. VIII, § 4, ¶ 1.

N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1 states, in pertinent part:

> Public schools shall be free to the following persons over five and under 20 years of age:

a. Any person who is domiciled within the school district;

b. . . . .

(2) If the superintendent . . . of a school district finds that the parent or guardian of a child who is attending the schools of the district is not domiciled within the district and the child is not kept in the home of another person domiciled within the school district and supported by him gratis as if the child was the person's own child as provided for in paragraph (1) of this subsection, the superintendent or administrative principal may apply to the board of education for the removal of the child. The parent or guardian shall be entitled to a hearing before the board and if in the judgment of the board the parent or guardian is not domiciled within the district or the child is not kept in the home of another person domiciled within the school district and supported by him gratis as if the child was the person's own child as provided for in paragraph (1) of this subsection, the board may order the transfer or removal of the child from school. The parent or guardian may contest the board's decision before the commissioner within 21 days of the date of the decision and shall be entitled to an expedited hearing before the commissioner and shall have the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence that the child is eligible for a free education under the criteria listed in this subsection. The board of education shall, at the time of its decision, notify the parent or guardian in writing of his right to contest the decision within 21 days. No child shall be removed from school during the 21-day period in which the parent may contest the board's decision or during the pendency of the proceedings before the commissioner. If in the judgment of the commissioner the evidence does not support the claim of the parent or guardian, the commissioner shall assess the parent or guardian tuition for the student prorated to the time of the student's ineligible attendance in the schools of the district. Tuition shall be computed on the basis of 1/180 of the total annual per pupil cost to the local district multiplied by the number of days of ineligible attendance and shall be collected in the manner in which orders of the commissioner are enforced. Nothing shall preclude a board from collecting tuition from the parent or guardian for a student's period of ineligible attendance in the schools of the district where the issue is not appealed to the commissioner.

[Emphasis added.]

"Domicile" is defined as "1. A residence; a home. 2. One's legal residence." American Heritage Dictionary 550 (3d ed. 1996). Domicile has been described as "the place of [a person's] abode where he has the present intention of remaining and to which, if absent, he intends to return." Mercadante v. City of Paterson, 111 N.J. Super. 35, 39 (Ch. Div. 1970) (citation omitted), aff'd, 58 N.J. 112 (1971). "A person may have several residences or places of abode. However, he can only have one domicile at one time." Collins v. Yancey, 55 N.J. Super. 514, 520 (Law Div. 1959). Between residences, factors used to identify the domicile include: (1) the physical characteristics of each residence, (2) the time spent and things done in each residence, (3) other persons found in each residence, (4) the person's mental attitude about each residence, and (5) whether, when absent, the person has an intention to return. Mercadante, supra, 111 N.J. Super. at 39-40. Acts, statements and documents may be relevant in determining domicile.

Consistent with N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, and consistent with the usual presumption that public entities act lawfully, reasonably and in good faith, in these circumstances, petitioners bear the burden of proof by a preponderance (the greater weight) of the competent and credible evidence that the BOE's determination was incorrect and that they were domiciled in the district.

Consistent with my "Findings of Fact," petitioners have met their burden of proof and have proven that, during relevant times, they have been "domiciled" in the district. Therefore, petitioners are not liable for tuition.

ORDERS

(1) The petitioners' claim is GRANTED. H.D. may continue to attend the BOE's school without liability for tuition.

(2) The BOE's counterclaim for tuition is DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 225 East State Street, CN 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

DENYING EMERGENT RELIEF

Petitioner,

v.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF CHESTER, MORRIS COUNTY

Respondent.

Martin R. Pachman, Esq., for petitioner

Joseph R. Morano, Esq., for respondent
(Schwartz, Simon, Edelstein, Celso & Kessler, attorneys)

BEFORE MUMTAZ BARI-BROWN, ALJ:

On August 18, 1999, petitioner, Donald Beatty, moved before the Commissioner of Education for an Order that respondent, Board of Education of the Township of Chester (Board), "grant him access to the application materials for non-employee candidates and the relevant personnel file data for the employee/applicants, sufficiently in advance of the August 24 meeting to make the review meaningful," and to provide such other relief as the Commissioner deems appropriate.

OAL DKT. NO. EDU 9333-99

On August 20, 1999, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL). Additionally, petitioner's prior motion for emergent relief was transmitted. The matters were consolidated and scheduled for hearing on August 24, 1999 at 1:30 p.m. Prior to the hearing, the parties discussed settlement and at approximately 3:00 p.m, the parties announced that they could not resolve the matter.

Based upon a careful consideration of petitioner's request for emergent relief, the prior petition filed in July 1999, and the position of the parties, I denied petitioner's request for emergent relief.

Thereafter, the parties agreed to file stipulation of facts and cross-motions for summary decision. Further, a hearing was scheduled for September 22, 1999 to permit testimony and cross-examination on any disputed facts.

In his July 8, 1999 petition, petitioner sought in part an Order:

- providing a correct interpretation of Honner v. Bd. of Kingsway Regional H.S., 1990 S.L.D. wherein Board members are permitted to review all applications for a position of employment and to review employee records of those subject to employment action requiring a vote of the Board.
- directing the Chester Township Board of Education to delay the action proposed for the Special Board of Education meeting scheduled for July 13, 1999, during which the Board of Education is scheduled to vote on the recommendations for hiring and/or transferring of school personnel and other school personnel matters. Said special meeting was approved at the Regular Board meeting of June 29, 1999.
- directing the Superintendent of the Chester Township School District to make available immediately all of the applications and resumes of any and all persons who seek employment within the Chester Township School District and whose employment is subject to the vote of the Chester Township Board of Education.
- directing the Superintendent of the Chester Township School District to continue the past procedure of allowing all Board Members to review all applications and resumes of all persons applying for employment within the Chester Township School District until all aspects of the challenge to the interpretation by the Attorney for the Chester Township Board of Education of Horner v. Kingsway are resolved.

Although the Board has denied petitioner full access to all information, it stated that petitioner could review the resumes/application material of every candidate that was considered by the personnel committee, including those recommended for employment by the Superintendent.

On July 13, 1999, Douglas B. Groff, Acting Commissioner of Education, denied petitioner's motion for emergent relief and stated:

> Petitioner asks that I enjoin the Board from taking any personnel actions at its meeting scheduled for this evening, and that I enter an order directing the Board and Superintendent immediately to return to their purported past practice with regard to Board member review of applications for employment and personnel records.
> In order to warrant the extraordinary remedy of emergent relief, an applicant must meet each of the standards of Crowe v. Degioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982). In reviewing Petitioner's application, I find that he has not met such standards. Initially, petitioner and the Board appear to be making substantially conflicting representations as to what action the Board will, in fact, be taking at the meeting in question and what the Board's policies and procedures actually are with regard to access to employment information. Therefore, I cannot conclude that irreparable harm will result if the meeting is not enjoined and an immediate order is not granted regarding the Board's policies, nor can I conclude that petitioner has demonstrated a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of his claim. Moreover, the balance of equities in this matter with respect to injunctive action clearly lies with the Board, whose need for the ongoing operation of the district outweighs any request for extraordinary restraints in the absence of a specific showing of harm. Finally, to the extent that petitioner seeks an emergency declaration with respect to the meaning of a prior Commissioner's decision, no such declaration may be fairly made in the absence of a clearly defined state of facts to which to apply the decision.

The purpose of emergent relief is to preserve the status quo pending the outcome of a full hearing on the merits. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.6 (a) provides that "where authorized by law and where irreparable harm will result without an expedited decision granting or prohibiting some action or relief connected with a contested case, emergency relief pending a final decision on the whole contested case may be ordered upon the application of a party". In Crowe v DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982), the court was guided by "certain fundamental principals" to determine whether emergent relief should be granted. Emergent relief will be granted upon proof that (1) the movant will suffer irreparable harm, (2) the movant has a reasonable probability of success, and (3) the balance of the equities weighs in favor of the movant.

Petitioner's current request for emergent relief is to review all personnel applications received by the district. The request is identical to his prior request which the Commissioner considered and denied. Moreover, the current request raises essentially the same issues and arguments as the prior motion for relief. Indeed, petitioner has not withdrawn his prior petition, agency docket number 255-8/99, in which he seeks an order that the Board "continue the past procedure of allowing all Board Members to review all applications and resumes of all persons applying for employment" within the District. Further, petitioner requested the Commissioner to provide a "correct interpretation of Honner v. Bd. of Kingsway Regional H.S., 1990 S.L.D," and to grant a "delay the action proposed for...the meeting scheduled for July 13, 1999."

The consolidated petitions contain the same conflicting presentations between the parties regarding the identity of the Board's actions at its next meeting, the Board's past procedure regarding access to employment information, and the appropriateness of the Board's policies under the Commissioner's decision in Honner. The Commissioner denied the relief requested. Petitioner did not appeal. Instead, petitioner filed another request for emergent relief five days before the Board scheduled meeting on August 24, 1999.

Therefore, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has not demonstrated that irreparable harm will result if an immediate order is not granted. Further, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has not demonstrated a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of his claims.

Additionally, considering the timeliness of his motion, I CONCLUDE the equities do not weigh in petitioner's favor. An order that the Board provide petitioner all employment information, which is in the possession of different personnel, could be granted only after the close of the Board's business day and hours before the Board's scheduled meeting. The likelihood that the Board could obtain all "the application materials for non-employee candidates and the relevant personal file data for the employee/applicants, sufficiently in advance of the August 24 meeting to make the review meaningful" is slim to non-existent. The consequence of granting petitioner's motion would delay the Board's meeting. The need for ongoing operations of the district outweighs the need of petitioner's request.

Therefore, it is ORDERED that petitioner's request for emergent relief is DENIED.

This order may be reviewed by the Department of Education either upon interlocutory review, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.10 or at the end of the contested case, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6.

OAL DKT. NO. EDU 9333-99
AGENCY DKT. NO. 255-8/99 and 191-7/99 (CONSOLIDATED)

DONALD BEATTY,	:
PETITIONER,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
V.	:	DECISION ON MOTION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF CHESTER, MORRIS COUNTY,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the initial order of the ALJ on motion for emergent relief have been reviewed by the Assistant Commissioner, to whom this interim matter has been delegated pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:4-34, as have the parties' papers in response to the order.

Upon review, the Assistant Commissioner determines to set aside the decision of the ALJ and, instead, to order interim relief to the extent set forth below. Initially, the Assistant Commissioner notes that the instant application differs from petitioner's prior attempt to obtain emergent relief in two crucial ways. First, it is undisputed on this record that the Board's granting of Board member access to employment applications is, in fact, limited to the applications of candidates considered by the personnel committee. Second, the Board does not refute petitioner's contention that Board action to appoint at least some personnel is imminent, if not necessarily to occur on a particular date. Therefore, although petitioner's ultimate claim is the same as that of his prior application, the two most important bases for the prior denial of emergent relief are absent in the present application. Thus, a new analysis is warranted.

As stated in response to petitioner's prior application and recognized by the ALJ, in order to warrant the extraordinary remedy of emergent relief, an applicant must meet each of the standards of Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982). In reviewing petitioner's present application in light of these standards, the Assistant Commissioner finds that the most compelling factor favoring petitioner's motion is his likelihood of success on the merits. The clear language of prior decisional law with respect to the central issue in this matter, the responsibility and authority of individual board members to cast informed votes with regard to accepting or rejecting the recommendations of the superintendent in filling district positions, creates a reasonable likelihood that petitioner will ultimately be found to be entitled to the fundamental relief he seeks. Marilyn L. Horner v. Board of Education of the Kingsway Regional High School District, Gloucester County, 1990 S.L.D. 752

The Assistant Commissioner further finds that, once lost, petitioner's opportunity to cast an informed vote cannot be recaptured or remedied, so that he would, indeed, sustain irreparable harm if interim relief were not accorded. Having thus demonstrated specific harm and a reasonable likelihood of success, the equities in this matter now generally rest with petitioner, given the Board's ability to prospectively ensure that Board member access to application materials submitted by all candidates for employment need not impede the ongoing operation of the district pending the outcome of the underlying dispute on the merits. In so holding, the Assistant Commissioner stresses that the Board has full authority to place reasonable limitations on the times and places for review of applicant materials by individual Board members, so that the orderly administrative operation of the district and the timely filling of vacancies will not be compromised by demands for access on the part of individual Board members.

However, to the extent that there are indications in the record that the Board may be taking action on the date of this decision, August 31, 1999, to fill vacancies for which petitioner has not had the opportunity to review applications other than those considered by the personnel committee, the Assistant Commissioner finds, as did the ALJ with reference to the meeting of August 24, 1999,[1] that the specific equities in this one instance lie with the Board so as to preclude relief for petitioner. As stated by the ALJ, it is extremely unlikely at this late point that petitioner could reasonably be provided with all application materials sufficiently in advance of the meeting to permit meaningful review consonant with the basis for the granting of emergent relief herein, and the Assistant Commissioner will not, on the basis of the present record, conclude that any appointments scheduled for consideration at this meeting should be delayed in deference to petitioner.

Accordingly, it is ORDERED that, except as specifically noted herein and subject to the policies of the Board with respect to time and place of access, the Board of Education shall, pending determination on the merits of this matter, accord petitioner access to application materials consistent with the Commissioner's holding in Horner, supra, notwithstanding that such applications are not considered by the Board's personnel committee.[2] The matter shall next proceed to hearing as recommended by the ALJ.

ASSISTANT COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

[1] Although the written order of the ALJ was prepared on August 27, 1999 and filed with the Commissioner, via facsimile, on August 30, 1999, the hearing on emergent relief was conducted on August 24, 1999.

[2] This decision, as the Commissioner's final determination in the emergent aspect of this matter, may be appealed to the State Board of Education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-27 et seq. and N.J.A.C. 6:2-1.1 et seq., within 30 days of its filing. Commissioner decisions are deemed filed three days after the date of mailing to the parties.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioning parents sought an order compelling the respondent Board to admit their daughter as a non-resident tuition student.

The ALJ determined that, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-3(a), a board of education may permit a nonresident to be admitted to a district's schools, but the statute does not require the board to allow this type of admission. Concluding that the respondent Board's discretionary authority to make determinations in this situation must be the overriding consideration, the ALJ dismissed the petition.

The Commissioner concurred with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ and agreed that petitioners failed to satisfy their burden of proving that the Board's decision to refuse to admit A.S. was arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable or otherwise made in bad faith. Commissioner also found that petitioners did not demonstrate entitlement to equitable estoppel of the Board's action. Petition was dismissed.

J.S. and L.S. filed a petition with the Commissioner of Education seeking an order compelling the Mountain Lakes Board of Education (respondent) to admit their daughter, A.S., to the Wildwood School as a non-resident tuition student. Respondent opposes petitioners' request.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

After an initial filing of a complaint in lieu of prerogative writ in Superior Court, the matter was transferred to the Commissioner of Education on August 25, 1998. The matter was then transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on August 27, 1998, for determination as a contested case. The transmittal included an application for emergent relief.

The application for emergent relief was denied by Order dated September 4, 1998, and that denial was affirmed by the Commissioner of Education in a Decision on Motion dated October 7, 1998. The plenary hearing in this matter was held on May 24, 1999, at the Office of Administrative Law in Newark, New Jersey, and the record closed on June 3, 1999, upon receipt of briefs.

ISSUE

The issue in this proceeding is whether A.S. should be admitted to respondent's Wildwood School as a non-resident tuition student.

FACTS

Each party to this proceeding called one witness. L.S. testified for petitioners, and respondent's witness was John Sakala, its Superintendent of Schools. Both witnesses were credible, and their testimony is accepted as true. Based upon the evidence presented at the hearing, I FIND as follows.

J.S. and L.S. moved to Denville, New Jersey, in or about 1987. At that time, they contacted Briarcliff, which is respondent's middle school, and spoke with the principal, James Bagli, concerning attendance by their daughter, D.S., as a non-resident tuition student. J.S. and L.S. mentioned their second daughter, Am.S., and Mr. Bagli said that there was a policy not to separate siblings. J.S. and L.S. decided to enroll D.S. in the Briarcliff School with the understanding that future siblings would be admitted to respondent's schools. D.S. graduated from respondent's high school in 1994.

Am.S. was admitted to the first grade at respondent's Wildwood School, which is a K to 4 school, in September 1992 as a non-resident tuition student. The principal of Wildwood School, Robert J. Reid, stated that Am.S. was admitted to avoid breaking up a family. Children without siblings in respondent's school system were not being admitted as non-resident tuition students at that time.

Respondent's written policy with respect to non-resident pupils directs the Superintendent to establish a procedure for admission of non-resident students within certain guidelines. Those written guidelines do not mention a policy in regard to siblings. Rather, this circumstance was a factor that was taken into consideration.

In or about 1997, respondent sought voter approval to construct major improvements to the Mountain Lakes schools. One of the major concerns was overcrowding especially at the elementary school. In October 1997, the voters approved a referendum allowing respondent to spend in excess of $7 million to construct additional facilities particularly at the Wildwood School, which had experienced a sixty percent increase in enrollment. In addition to the construction of new facilities to deal with the problem of overcrowding, respondent limited non-resident admission to the elementary school.

L.S. spoke with Superintendent Sakala in June 1997 concerning admission of A.S. to respondent's schools. Superintendent Sakala informed L.S. of the change in respondent's policy in regard to non-resident students, but he said that he would take the matter to the Board. Superintendent Sakala encouraged L.S. to wait until first grade before seeking to admit A.S. to respondent's schools. Following Superintendent Sakala's advice, J.S. and L.S. decided to send A.S. to a private kindergarten and seek admission of A.S. to respondent's schools for the first grade beginning in September 1998.

Superintendent Sakala made the suggestion to defer enrolling A.S. because the policy was to limit kindergarten class size to sixteen. With more than sixteen pupils, respondent hired an aide. However, in the first grade, respondent did not hire an aide unless there were more than twenty children in a class.

In early February 1998, L.S. called Superintendent Sakala concerning registration of A.S. for the first grade. Superintendent Sakala said that he was not sure that the District was accepting tuition students because of the referendum, but he said that he would take the matter to the Board members.

The question of non-resident tuition students was discussed at a Board meeting on February 2, 1998. Superintendent Sakala advised the Board that no tuition students had been accepted at Wildwood School in recent years, but he urged the Board to allow siblings of non-residents to attend school there. Nonetheless, the Board decided to maintain the policy of not accepting any additional tuition students at the elementary level.

Thereafter, Superintendent Sakala advised L.S. that A.S. would not be accepted for the first grade. At the same time, Superintendent Sakala advised L.S. to speak with individual Board members, and he agreed to bring the matter up for a specific vote. Superintendent Sakala advised L.S. that a vote of the Board would be necessary.

J.S. and L.S. sent a letter dated February 23, 1998, to Superintendent Sakala, expressing their disappointment with the decision not to accept A.S. as a tuition student. In the letter, J.S. and L.S. suggest that the Board members may not have been fully aware of all the circumstances. In essence, J.S. and L.S. state that respondent should honor the commitment to accept siblings of non-resident tuition students and not break up families.

Thereafter, Superintendent Sakala discussed A.S. with the Board during an executive session on February 24, 1998, and determined that five of the nine members would vote to admit A.S. to the first grade. Satisfied with the representations from the five Board members, Superintendent Sakala sent a letter dated February 26, 1998, to J.S. and L.S. confirming that A.S. would be accepted as a tuition student in the first grade for the 1998-99 school year. In the same time frame, L.S. received a telephone call from Superintendent Sakala, who said that the approval was a mere formality.

In the meantime, J.S. and L.S. considered sending A.S. to a private school. They completed the application for the private school at which A.S. had attended kindergarten, and they initiated the process at another. After receiving Superintendent Sakala's letter dated February 26, 1998, they advised both schools that A.S. would not be attending but would instead be going to Mountain Lakes.

A meeting of the Board was held for March 16, 1998, and a motion was made to admit A.S. as a tuition student. Some Board members maintained that no non-resident tuition students should be admitted, while others thought that exceptions should be made based on individual circumstances. One Board member who was expected by Superintendent Sakala to vote in favor of the motion was absent. As a result, the motion was defeated by a four to four vote. Still believing that the fifth vote would be available at a later date to admit A.S., Superintendent Sakala advised personnel at the Wildwood School to proceed with the enrollment of A.S.

In March 1998, L.S. received a telephone call from the Wildwood School and was told to bring in A.S. and her health records for registration. A.S. was welcomed at Wildwood and toured the school. A.S. was told that they would see her in September.

Admission of A.S. as a non-resident tuition student was discussed again at a Board meeting on March 30, 1998. The motion to admit A.S. was held pending discussion of an additional first grade section. By creating a fifth section, the number of students per section would remain within the class size guidelines with seventeen to eighteen pupils. Without the fifth section, there would be approximately twenty-four pupils in each classroom. Superintendent Sakala thought that there might be room for a tuition student with the creation of a fifth section. At a Board meeting on April 13, 1998, no action was taken in regard to A.S. or creation of a fifth first grade section. Superintendent Sakala thought that the vote would be against A.S. without a fifth section.

At a meeting on May 18, 1998, the Board approved a fifth first grade section. This action reduced the size of each section to eighteen pupils, and it also necessitated a relocation of a special education class to a smaller room. However, by this time, an election had been held, and one Board member who was expected to vote in favor of the admission of A.S. was no longer on the Board. The prevailing view was that it would be inconsistent to seek funding for an expansion of the schools while admitting non-resident tuition students. The new member of the Board was opposed to admission of non-resident tuition students.

In June 1998, the Wildwood School sent two letters to J.S. and L.S. as parents of a first grader entering in September 1998. During the entire period from February to June 1998, J.S. and L.S. were under the impression that A.S. would enter the Wildwood School in September 1998.

On June 17, 1998, L.S. received a telephone call from Superintendent Sakala, who advised her that the Board had decided not to admit A.S. L.S. contacted one of the private schools that were previously under consideration, but it no longer had any openings.

J.S. sent a letter dated June 19, 1998, to respondent. In the letter, J.S. emphasizes that it would be unfair to deny A.S. admission after she had already registered to enter the first grade. J.S. stated that class size was no longer an issue, that the Superintendent and the principals were in favor of the admission of A.S. and that other options that were previously under consideration were no longer available. In July 1998, J.S. and L.S. circulated a petition which was signed by forty other parents to admit A.S. to the first grade.

J.S. and L.S. appeared at a Board meeting on July 13, 1998, and requested that the Board make an exception to its policy in regard to non-resident tuition students at Wildwood

School and admit A.S. to the first grade. J.S. stated that two of his children had been accepted and that it was his understanding at the time that these children were enrolled that his youngest child would also be accepted. A Board member stated that the Board previously gave preference to siblings of tuition students over other non-resident tuition applicants. However, in 1992, because of increasing enrollment, the Board decided to discontinue the acceptance of non-resident students and staff member children in the lower grades. Another Board member said that many people wanted to send their children to Wildwood and that the only fair policy was to be totally consistent and not admit any tuition students. J.S. again requested that the Board reconsider its decision, and the Board members agreed to discuss the matter in closed session. In an executive session, the Board decided to continue its current policy not to admit additional non-resident students.

With the Board firm in its policy not to admit any non-resident tuition students in the early grades, the addition of a fifth first grade section did not make a difference. With the addition of the fifth section, each first grade class was not overcrowded, but the school was still overcrowded. The Board also had to consider the enrollment relative to other areas such as the gymnasium and the cafeteria as well as the growth pattern. In fact, the enrollment in the first grade grew by five pupils during the school year. With the addition of a fifth section, there was less room for special education students and one less opportunity to add an additional section in the future.

By letter dated August 12, 1998, Principal Robert J. Reid advised J.S. and L.S. that the Board had determined that no tuition students would be allowed to enter the Wildwood School. Principal Reid further stated that he was sorry that A.S. would not be attending the Wildwood School. When A.S. and Am. S. were told that A.S. would not be going to the Wildwood School, they both felt terrible and were crying. A.S. could not understand why she was not going to the Wildwood School after she had been welcomed there. A.S. actually attended first grade at the Riverview Elementary School in Denville.

J.S. and L.S. were under the impression that respondent had a policy to allow younger siblings of non-resident tuition students to enter its schools. If it were not for this policy, they would not have enrolled D.S. and certainly not Am.S. in respondent's schools.

In prior years, J.S. and L.S. received written contracts for D.S. and Am.S. However, the contracts were received as late as September.

LAW AND ANALYSIS

A board of education may permit a non-resident to be admitted to a district's schools. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-3(a). However, the statute does not require a board of education to permit this type of admission.

Petitioners present three main arguments in support of their position. First, respondent's representatives stated at the times that J.S. and L.S. decided to send D.S. and Am.S. to respondent's schools that younger siblings of non-resident tuition students would be allowed to attend and that those statements amounted to an agreement between petitioners and respondent. Second, petitioners maintain that there was no rational basis not to admit A.S. and that therefore the decision to deny admission was arbitrary and capricious. Third, petitioners contend that they relied to their detriment on the statements made at the time that they enrolled D.S. and Am.S. in respondent's schools and subsequently when they withdrew A.S.'s applications to various private schools. Additionally, petitioners contend for the first time in their brief that respondent violated the Sunshine Law in regard to an executive session following the regular meeting on February 24, 1998.

Petitioners' arguments in regard to the Sunshine Law are unpersuasive. Preliminary, petitioners raised this issue for the first time in their post-hearing brief. As a result, respondent did not have notice of this contention or the opportunity to present evidence or argument in regard to this issue, and in fact, respondent did not do so. Under the circumstances, it would be unfair to respondent to find a violation of the Sunshine Law. Additionally, petitioners' argument does not appear to be meritorious.

The Open Public Meetings Act (the Act), N.J.S.A. 10:4-6 to -21, insures that citizens have adequate advance notice of and the right to attend all meetings of public bodies at which any business of the public is discussed or acted upon in any way, subject to exception only in those circumstances where the public interest would be endangered or the personal privacy rights of individuals or guaranteed rights of individuals would be in danger of unwarranted invasion. N.J.S.A. 10:4-7. The meeting must be open to the public in accordance with N.J.S.A. 10:4-12(a), unless the public is excluded pursuant to exceptions listed in N.J.S.A. 10:4-12(b). An action by a public body not in conformity with the Act may be voided pursuant to N.J.S.A. 10:4-15(a). However, there is no provision in the Act which would cause a discussion or informal vote which was not in conformity with the Act to become official action. Therefore, without consideration of the possibility that the Board's discussion fell within an exception set forth in N.J.S.A. 10:4-12(b) or the effect of subsequent Board action against admission of A.S., I CONCLUDE that the alleged violation of the Act, if found to have occurred, would not support admission of A.S. to respondent's schools as a non-resident tuition student.

Petitioners' next argument is that they were told when they enrolled D.S. and Am.S. that respondent had a policy to admit siblings of non-resident tuition students in order not to break up families. Petitioners contend that there was in effect an agreement and that respondent should honor its commitment. This argument is unpersuasive for several reasons. First, there was no written policy of the Board concerning siblings of non-resident tuition students. This circumstance was only a factor considered by the Board that was decisive in some instances. Moreover, petitioners' argument would be unconvincing even if there was such a policy. Policies by their nature represent choices within an entity's range of discretion. Policies may change with circumstances over a period of time. Finally, any such representation did not amount to an agreement between petitioners and respondent. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that this argument is without merit.

Also unpersuasive is petitioners' contention that the decision not to admit non-resident tuition students is unsupported by a valid reason and is therefore arbitrary and capricious. The facts as set forth above show that respondent had a reasonable concern about overcrowding in the Wildwood School in the context of a growth trend in the number of students. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that this argument is without merit.

Petitioners' next argument is that they relied to their detriment on representations by respondent's employees. There are two aspects to this argument. First, petitioners contend that they relied upon representations by respondent's employees to the effect that respondent had a policy to admit younger siblings of non-resident tuition students in making the decision to enroll D.S. and Am.S. in respondent's schools. Second, petitioners maintain that in February 1998, they were considering private schools for A.S. in addition to Wildwood. However, when they were advised in late February 1998 by respondent's Superintendent of Schools that A.S. would be admitted to the Wildwood School, they withdrew the other applications. By the time that petitioners were informed in June 1998 that A.S. would not be admitted to the Wildwood School, it was too late to enroll her in any of the private schools.

While petitioners do not identify any specific legal theory, but their argument is essentially equitable estoppel. In Carlsen v. Masters, Mates & Pilots Pension Plan Trust, 80 N.J. 334 (1979), the Court set forth the following definition of equitable estoppel:

> * * * the effect of the voluntary conduct of a party whereby he is absolutely precluded, both at law and in equity, from asserting rights which might perhaps have otherwise existed * * * as against another person, who has in good faith relied upon such conduct, and has been led thereby to change his position for the worse * * *. [Id., at 339.].

Two elements of equitable estoppel are good faith reliance and change in position for the worse. Here, petitioners relied in good faith on representations by respondent's employees that there was a policy to admit younger siblings of non-resident tuition students to respondent's school. However, petitioners' claim that they really changed their position for the worse by sending D.S. and Am.S. to respondent's schools is unconvincing. Petitioners also relied in good faith on the representation of the Superintendent of Schools that A.S. would be admitted to the Wildwood School, and they changed their position for the worse by withdrawing their applications to other schools.

It is noteworthy, however, that equitable estoppel is rarely invoked against a governmental entity, particularly when the estoppel would interfere with essential government functions. O'Malley v. Department of Energy, 109 N.J. 309, 316 (1987). However, equitable considerations are relevant in assessing governmental conduct and may be invoked to prevent manifest injustice. Ibid. Here, respondent made a judgment that in view of overcrowding in the schools and a growth trend in the number of pupils, no non-resident tuition students should be admitted to the elementary school This is the type of governmental function to which it is inappropriate to apply the doctrine of collateral estoppel. Further, the creation of a situation where A.S. had to attend school in her home district does not rise to the level of manifest injustice. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the doctrine of equitable estoppel should not be applied in this situation.

While I recognize the disappointment which petitioners must experience as a result of the decision not to admit A.S. to the school which her sisters attended and while I sympathize with their situation, respondent's discretionary authority to make determinations in the best interests of the other students in the district must be the overriding consideration. Under the circumstances, I CONCLUDE that the petition in this matter must be dismissed.

Accordingly, it is ORDERED that the petition in this matter be dismissed.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

PETITIONERS,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF MOUNTAIN LAKES, MORRIS COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the initial decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. Petitioners' exceptions are duly noted, and were considered by the Commissioner in rendering the within decision.[1]

Upon careful and independent review of the record, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that petitioners have failed to satisfy their burden of proving that the Board's decision to refuse to admit A.S., a nonresident, to its schools, was arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable, or otherwise made in bad faith.[2] However, as the ALJ notes, that finding does not end the present inquiry. Petitioners additionally argue that, since they relied to their detriment on representations made by the Board's employees, the Board should be equitably estopped from

[1] The exceptions essentially reiterate arguments which were presented in papers previously considered by the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ).

[2] In so finding, the Commissioner notes, as did the ALJ, that petitioners alleged a violation of the Open Public Meetings Act for the first time in their post-hearing brief. This issue was not included in the ALJ's Pre-hearing Order, issued December 4, 1998 and petitioners, apparently, did not object to the exclusion of same in the Order. Accordingly, the Commissioner does not address this issue.

precluding A.S.'s attendance in the District notwithstanding the validity of the Board's underlying policy decision.[3]

In assessing this claim, the Commissioner recognizes that the burden of proving entitlement to equitable estoppel rests on the petitioners, as they seek the benefit of the estoppel. Virginia Construction Corp. v. Fairman, 39 N.J. 61, 72 (1962); Newark v. Natural Resource Coun. Dept. Env. Prot., 82 N.J. 530, 545 (1980); Miller v. Miller, 97 N.J. 154, 163 (1984). The Court has held that, to establish a claim of equitable estoppel, the claimant must initially show a knowing and intentional misrepresentation by the party sought to be estopped under circumstances in which the misrepresentation would probably induce reliance. O'Malley, supra, at 317, citing Horsemen's Benevolent & Protective Ass'n v. Atlantic City Racing Ass'n, 98 N.J. 445 (1985). The Court has also recognized, however, that such representation may be made, if, not "intentionally," then "under circumstances where it was both natural and probable that it would induce action." Miller, supra, at 163. Additionally, the party seeking estoppel must have relied upon the act to his or her detriment. O'Malley, supra, at 317; Miller, supra, at 163. Petitioners, therefore, must show a [mis]representation, reliance and detriment. They must also show that their reliance was both justified and reasonable. Palatine I v. Planning Bd., 133 N.J. 546, 563 (1993). Moreover, as the ALJ properly recognizes, equitable estoppel is rarely invoked against a governmental entity, where the estoppel would interfere with essential governmental functions. (Initial Decision at p. 11, citing O'Malley, supra)

[3] The Commissioner recognizes that a party may also assert the theory of promissory estoppel, requiring him/her to show "that (1) there was 'a clear and definite promise'; (2) the promise was 'made with the expectation that the promisee will rely on it' (3) 'the promisee must reasonably rely on the promise,' and (4) 'the promisee must incur a detriment in reliance thereon.'" Peck v. Imedia, Inc., 293 N.J. Super. 151, 165 (App. Div. 1996). An analysis under this standard would not differ in substance from the within analysis, and the outcome would be the same as that herein.

Here, there are two aspects to petitioners' claim. One is based on petitioners' understanding, at the times they enrolled their two older children in the District, that their third child, A.S., would also be allowed to attend when she reached the appropriate age; the other is based on the conduct of District staff in the months immediately following petitioners' attempt to enroll A.S. in the District's elementary program. With respect to the first aspect, to the extent that petitioners may have relied on their understanding and District practices as they existed at the times of their older children's enrollments in 1987 and 1992, respectively, such reliance cannot be considered reasonable. The Commissioner so finds, both for the reasons expressed by the ALJ, and because it is manifestly clear that a board of education always has the ability to change its past practices over time, during the course of fulfilling its responsibility to perform all acts and do all things, consistent with law and State Board rules, necessary for proper conduct, equipment and maintenance of the public schools. N.J.S.A. 18A:11-1.

With respect to the second aspect, working against petitioners' claim is the fact that petitioners knew from the start that their daughter, as a nonresident, had no statutory entitlement to attend school in the Board's District. Neither were they without knowledge that the Board might look unfavorably upon their request to admit her, notwithstanding her siblings' attendance in the schools of the District. Indeed, petitioners were informed by Superintendent Sakala as early as June of 1997 that the Board had changed its policy with respect to nonresident students (Initial Decision at p. 3) and they were aware that the Board had signaled as early as February 2, 1998 that it would not accept any additional tuition students at the elementary level. (Id. at p. 4)

On the other hand, the Board's administrators made representations to petitioners which clearly led them to act, reasonably and naturally, under the belief that A.S. was accepted as a nonresident student for the 1998-99 school year, notwithstanding Superintendent Sakala's apparent knowledge that the Board's position was not completely or consistently aligned with his own. By letter dated February 26, 1998, Sakala informed petitioners that A.S. was accepted as a tuition student in the first grade for the 1998-99 school year. (Initial Decision at p. 5) Thereafter, L.S. was contacted by someone at the Wildwood School and told to bring in A.S., together with her health records, for registration. (Id.) In June of 1998, the Wildwood School sent two letters to petitioners indicating that A.S. would be attending the first grade in its District. (Id. at p. 6) Thus, petitioners appear to have met a central criterion for grant of equitable estoppel.

However, even granting that petitioners' reliance upon the administration's representations was justified and reasonable under the circumstances, in order to prevail in their claim, petitioners must also demonstrate that such reliance was to their detriment. Where a party reasonably relies upon the actions of another, changes his position in reliance, and incurs actual damages or harm as a result, equity will protect that party's interests. Div. of Social Services v. C.R., 316 N.J. Super. 600, 610 (Chan. Div. 1998), citing Royal Assoc. v. Concannon, 200 N.J. Super. 84, 490 (App. Div. 1985). Here, petitioners do not claim that A.S. will not have access to a thorough and efficient system of education if she is not admitted to the Board's schools. Rather, the detriment shown on the record is that, for the 1998-99 school year, petitioners' opportunity to send A.S. to the private school of their choosing was effectively thwarted by petitioners' reliance on the administration's actions. Additionally, petitioners allege that it is a "manifest injustice to a seven year old girl who cannot understand why she is not allowed to attend the school where her older sister goes." (Petitioners' Exceptions at p. 4) Recognizing that "[t]he doctrine of equitable estoppel is applied 'only in very compelling circumstances'." Palatine, supra, at 560, citing Timber Properties, Inc. v. Chester Township, 205 N.J. Super. 273, 278 (Law Div. 1984) and Gruber v. Mayor of Raritan Township, 39 N.J. 1 (1962), the Commissioner cannot find that the loss of one year's opportunity to attend a preferred private school, or the inability of siblings to attend the same school, constitutes harm or "manifest injustice" sufficient to warrant equitable remedy in light of the high standard to be met in invoking equitable estoppel against a governmental entity as set forth in O'Malley, supra.

Accordingly, the initial decision is affirmed for the reasons expressed therein and amplified above. The Petition of Appeal is hereby dismissed.[4]

BEFORE EDGAR R. HOLMES, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The parents of J.C. a kindergartner, moved before the Commissioner of Education (Commissioner) for an Order reversing the decision of the Board of Education of Woodbine (Board) to promote their daughter to the first grade. The Board asserts that the child should be promoted to the first grade. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

The child, J.C., has been in the Woodbine Elementary School as both a pre-schooler and kindergartner. She was evaluated by the Child Study Team (CST) in May of 1998. It concluded that J.C. should be in "a mainstreamed kindergarten classroom with counseling for her behavioral issues." J.C. would scream in class and try to manipulate adults by crying. Her peers treated "her as a baby." J.C. is immature. She was born on September 25, 1993. She was barely five years old when she entered kindergarten. In the Woodcock Johnson Tests of Achievement - Preschool Battery, she scored age appropriate or near age appropriate in all subtests except Letter Word identification in which she was measured at three years, zero months. J.C.'s mother desires that J.C. be retained in kindergarten so that her motor skills can catch up with other kindergartners and because J.C. is age appropriate for kindergarten. She has several friends and playmates who will be in kindergarten at Woodbine this September. J.C.'s teacher also recommends that J.C. be retained in kindergarten.

J.C.'s pediatrician reports that she is undersized for her age. At her five year well child checkup she was only in the fifth percentile in height and weight. J.C. takes Melatonin for her insomnia which is now under control, and as a result, her crying and screaming episodes have been reduced.

The Board asserts that it is prepared to educate J.C. as a first grader and that J.C. is ready for first grade. The Board is one of the school districts which have voluntarily adopted the "whole school reform program." The Board explained that it has not adopted a "no retention" policy as claimed by the mother of J.C. However, it asserted that it did not believe in retention, that most of the current literature did not favor retention and that it has not retained any students in three years. It also asserted that it does not favor social promotion.

The Association of California School Administrators' position paper concerning social promotion and retention recognizes the vast differences in the United States between these two responses. Some favor one response, some the other. The Association points out however, that neither policy: retention or social promotion, "requires a change in pedagogy, content and curriculum." R-1 tab 4.

The Board described the educational plan for the coming year's first grade. The children in the first grade will be divided by skill level into working groups. These groups will be fluid since children will be more or less capable in different subjects. J.C.'s Language Arts program will be comprised of five children and will be taught by J.C.'s kindergarten teacher who was also her pre-school teacher who is certified in both elementary education and special education.

In math class J.C. will be with 17/20 other students with two teachers. In J.C.'s other subjects there will be 17/20 students with one teacher.

Language Arts will consist of two 50 minute periods per day and will be conducted in the resource room.

There is no provision at this time for summer school or tutoring although they may be available to J.C. as it appears they are needed.

It is difficult to see how the Board can insist that it has not adopted a no retention policy. It has not retained a child in three years. It fears that retention at this time would indicate failure of the effective programs of the Woodbine Board of Education. This was asserted by the Board in its statement of response to the request to retain J.C.

J.C. is described by everyone as immature. Her classmates view her as a baby. She will still be five years old when she enters her next grade. If she is retained she will be age appropriate for kindergarten and among friends and playmates. Both J.C.'s mother and her teacher who has been J.C.'s teacher for two years, believe that retention is in the best interest of J.C. What this amounts to is a social retention.

While I am sure that the Board's whole school reform system is in good hands and will be successful for the vast majority of students entering its system, no system or program can be effective in every possible instance. This may be one such.

Because of J.C.'s age, her immaturity and the recommendation of her mother and teacher, those who know her best, I REVERSE the decision of the Board to promote J.C. to the first grade.

I ORDER the Board to retain J.C. in the kindergarten class for the school year beginning in September 1999.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five (45) days following the entry of this order. If COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five (45) days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

The record of this emergent matter and the recommended decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed.

Upon his independent and careful review, the Commissioner determines to affirm the conclusion of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) granting emergent relief in this matter. Initially, in his consideration of this matter the Commissioner is fully cognizant that the granting of emergent relief is considered an extraordinary remedy which can only be awarded when the movant has satisfied the requisite standards for the granting of such relief pursuant to Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982), i.e., the existence of irreparable harm absent the requested relief, settled legal principles governing the right to relief in the controversy, a reasonable probability of ultimate success on the merits, and a balancing of the relative hardships to the parties favoring the grant of temporary relief pending the outcome of a final hearing. The Commissioner's review persuades him that, under the particular circumstances existing here, petitioners have satisfied their burden of establishing these required standards.

With respect to irreparable harm, the within record establishes that J.C. is a child who is significantly undersized for her age, immature, viewed as a baby by her peers, and who has a history of crying and screaming episodes in class. In that the within record strongly evidences that J.C. may not be emotionally or academically suited for first grade, promotion under these particular circumstances could prove seriously detrimental to her developmental progress. Such a conclusion is further buttressed by the fact that both J.C.'s mother and the teacher she has had for the past two years believe that it is in the child's best interest to be retained in kindergarten.

In considering petitioners' likelihood of success on the merits, the Commissioner finds that, although it is well-settled that a board determination of student advancement may not be upset unless it can be demonstrated that such a determination is arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable, (see Kopera v. West Orange Bd. of Education, 60 N.J. Super. 288 (App. Div. 1960)), under the circumstances existing in this matter, petitioners have advanced at least a prima facie showing of prevailing on the merits given the Board's assertion that it did not believe in retention (Initial Decision at p. 2), that it has not retained any students in three years, (Id. at p. 3) and that, the reason it apparently gave for denying the request to retain J.C. was that "[i]t fears that retention at this time would indicate failure of the effective programs of the Woodbine Board of Education." (Id.)

Finally, the Commissioner finds that the harm which might inure to J.C. by her advancement into first grade during the pendency of this matter outweighs any harm which may be experienced by the Board in allowing her retention in kindergarten during this interim period.

Accordingly, the recommendation of the ALJ that emergent relief be granted is hereby affirmed. This matter shall proceed at the OAL for a hearing on its merits.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

OAL DKT. NO. EDU 5698-98
AGENCY DKT. NO. 142-5/98

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE HEARING OF COREY YOUNGER, STATE OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF JERSEY CITY,

---

Charlotte Kitler, Esq., for petitioner, Jersey City School District

Phillip Feintuch, Esq., for respondent
(Feintuch, Porwich & Feintuch, attorneys)

Record Closed: July 9, 1999 Decided: July 20, 1999

BEFORE IRENE JONES, ALJ:

The Jersey City School District (District), Hudson County certified charges of unbecoming conduct against the respondent, Corey Younger (Younger). Younger is a tenured teacher employed by the District. On May 14, 1998, the District found probable cause to certify the tenure charge of unbecoming conduct which, if true, would warrant Younger's termination. On May 4, 1998, the District filed the written charges with the Commissioner of Education.

The Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law on June 25, 1998 for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to 15 and 52:14F-1 to 13. Hearings were held on May 13, 17 and June 16, 1999.

During the hearings, the parties agreed to settle this matter. A stipulation of settlement was filed on July 9, 1999 which is attached hereto. In accordance with the decision of the State Board of Education in Cardonick v. Brookline Board of Education, 1990 S.L.D. 842, the record of any proposed settlement must include:

> [T]he nature of the charges, circumstances justifying the settlement, consent or authorization by the board of education and the teacher to the proposed agreement, the Administrative Law Judge's findings that the teacher entered into the agreement with a full understanding of his rights and that the agreement is consistent with the public interest. See Cardonick at 850-51.

At the hearing, Younger was carefully examined by his attorney wherein he was advised that the settlement agreement was subject to the approval of the Commissioner of Education. Cardonick v. Brookline Board of Education, 1990 S.L.D. 842. Further, that the Commissioner could refer this matter to the State Board of Examiners for further action. Thereafter, Younger acknowledged that he fully understood the charges and the consequences of this settlement.

After a review of the entire record, I FIND that the proposed settlement is consistent with the public interest because it will save legal expenses and costs as well as time expended by administrative and witnesses. I further FIND that Younger had full opportunity to consult with legal counsel prior to entering into the agreement. He is aware that pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.6, the Commissioner may refer this matter to the State Board of Examiners for any action which he may deem appropriate. Further, Younger was informed by counsel that notwithstanding the parties agreement to settle this matter, the Commissioner may not approve the settlement agreement. Thus, any execution of the settlement prior to the approval by the Commissioner is done at the peril of the parties.

I CONCLUDE that the proposed settlement fully disposes of all issues and controversies. I further CONCLUDE that the terms of this settlement are in the public's interest.

It is therefore ORDERED that upon approval by the Commissioner that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that the proceedings are hereby CONCLUDED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

HUDSON COUNTY.	:

The record, stipulation of settlement and initial decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed.

Upon careful and independent review of the record, the Commissioner is unable to approve the settlement as it is currently structured since he is not satisfied by the present record that the proposed settlement meets the Cardonick standards for review of settlements in tenure matters. It is well established that, having once taken up the burden of tenure charges, the Board may not lay it down without spreading forth on the record a reasonably specific explanation of why such charges need no longer be pursued or why it is now in the public interest not to pursue them. In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Kenneth Smith, School District of Orange, Essex County, decided by the Commissioner March 22, 1982, decision on remand June 16, 1983, aff'd with modification by the State Board of Education November 2, 1983, aff'd Superior Court January 30, 1986. This mandate is particularly true when, as in the instant matter, the tenure charges filed with the Commissioner allege very serious instances of unbecoming conduct involving students. Although the initial decision correctly recites the Cardonick standards, the record itself is completely devoid of any explanation as to how the settlement in fact meets those standards in light of the specific tenure charges filed against Mr. Younger.

While the Commissioner does not preclude the possibility of settlement in this matter, he stresses that in order for him to meet his own obligation to the schools and children of New Jersey, he must be assured that any settlement is consistent with appropriate standards for setting aside tenure matters as expressed in Cardonick, supra. The mere fact that a respondent's resignation may be one of the terms incorporated into a proposed settlement does not in and of itself assure that the Cardonick standards have been met. See In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Wende Stuart, Board of Education of the Township of Irvington, Essex County, decided by the Commissioner March 26, 1998.

Accordingly, the proposed settlement is rejected for the reasons expressed herein. The Commissioner hereby remands this matter to the OAL for further explication of how this settlement is in accord with the Cardonick standards and the concerns expressed herein. If the parties are unwilling or unable to agree to a settlement consistent with the decision herein, the matter shall proceed to plenary hearing.*

SYNOPSIS

Petitioning teacher contended that the Board wrongfully failed to pay her salary for time lost due to a work-related injury in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1.

At the OAL this matter was consolidated with two other matters involving the Board in which the identical issue was raised. All three matters were placed on the inactive list until such time as a workers' compensation judge rendered a decision on whether petitioners' injuries arose out of and in the course of their employment. Pending that decision, petitioner resolved her workers' compensation case with the Board and requested dismissal of this matter with prejudice. The ALJ determined that it is no longer appropriate to consolidate the three cases and ordered the cases severed. Additionally, the ALJ dismissed this matter with prejudice since the issue involving the education laws has been resolved as a result of the decision in the companion workers' compensation case.

The Commissioner adopted the recommendation of the ALJ severing the matter herein from several other matters with which it was previously consolidated and dismissing the instant matter with prejudice for the reasons set forth in the initial decision.

BEFORE BARBARA A. HARNED, CALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law by the Department of Education for hearing as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. In her petition, Ms. Yaffee alleged that she had been disabled as a result of a work related injury and that she had filed a workers compensation claim. Petitioner further alleged that during the period of her disability respondent Board did not pay her the statutory sick leave salary she is entitled to pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1 and improperly charged her accumulated sick leave for absences caused by her injury.

On June 3, 1996, a conference call was conducted during which counsel for both parties requested that this matter be held in abeyance pursuant to the decision of the State Board of Education in Jacques Verneret v. Board of Education of the City of Elizabeth, Union County, 95 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 134. In addition, counsel for petitioner advised that she was representing petitioners in two other matters involving the Board in which the identical issue was raised and requested that those two matters be consolidated with the instant case. On June 18, 1996, an Order was entered consolidating this case with the two other matters, Betty Shereshewsky v. Board of Education of the Township of Woodbridge, Middlesex County, OAL DKT. NO. EDU 803-96S and Cynthia McDay v. Board of Education of the Township of Woodbridge, Middlesex County, OAL DKT. NO EDU 2987-96S. That Order also placed all three matters on the inactive list until such time as a workers compensation judge rendered a decision on the issue of whether petitioners' injuries arose out of and in the course of their employment. All three matters remained inactive until July 6, 1999 when counsel for petitioner Yaffee advised the undersigned that Yaffee's workers compensation case had been resolved and that petitioner received compensation for the days which the Board had deducted from her sick leave account (P-1). Accordingly, counsel for petitioner requested that the pending OAL matter be dismissed with prejudice (P-1).

LEGAL DISCUSSION

In Jacques Verneret v. Board of Education of the City of Elizabeth, Union County, supra, the State Board of Education held that "[t]he question of whether an injury 'arose out of and in the course of employment' within the meaning of N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1 is controlled by the standards established under the Workers Compensation Act." 95 N.J.A.R. 2d at 134. In such cases, "the State Board has held that the Commissioner of Education should refrain from exercising his jurisdiction pending a determination of that issue by the Division of Workers Compensation." Id. at 135. While the Commissioner may decide to refrain from acting until a determination by the Division of Workers Compensation, a petitioner is nevertheless required to file his/her petition under the school law with the Commissioner of Education within the 90-day filing period provided by N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2. Accordingly, the State Board concluded that "the proper course for the Commissioner to follow when he confronts [such] a case . . . is to hold the matter in abeyance, rather than to dismiss the petition, while awaiting the determination by the Division of Workers' Compensation." Ibid.

Pursuant to Verneret, supra, the three consolidated cases were placed on the inactive list. However, two of the matters have now been resolved while the third matter remains pending. Accordingly, it is no longer appropriate to consolidate the three cases and they are hereby severed from each other. Additionally, since the issue in Yaffee involving the education laws has been resolved as a result of the decision in the companion workers compensation case, this matter will be dismissed with prejudice.

ORDER

For the above stated reasons, it is ORDERED that the consolidated cases of Betty Shereshewsky, Sally Yafee and Cynthia McDay vs. Board of Education of the Township of Woodbridge, Middlesex County, OAL DKT. NOS. EDU 803-96S; EDU 2984-96S and EDU 2987-96S are hereby severed. It is further ORDERED that the matter captioned Sally A. Yaffee v. Board of Education of the Township of Woodbridge, Middlesex County, OAL DKT. NO. EDU 2984-96S is hereby dismissed with prejudice.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

BEFORE BARBARA A. HARNED, CALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law by the Department of Education for hearing as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. In her petition, Ms. Shereshewsky alleged that she had been disabled as a result of a work related injury and that she had filed a workers compensation claim. Petitioner further alleged that during the period of her disability respondent Board did not pay her the statutory sick leave salary she is entitled to pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1 and improperly charged her accumulated sick leave for absences caused by her injury.

On June 3, 1996, a conference call was conducted during which counsel for both parties requested that this matter be held in abeyance pursuant to the decision of the State Board of Education in Jacques Verneret v. Board of Education of the City of Elizabeth, Union County, 95 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 134. In addition, counsel for petitioner advised that she was representing petitioners in two other matters involving the Board in which the identical issue was raised and requested that those two matters be consolidated with the instant case. On June 18, 1996, an Order was entered consolidating this case with the two other matters, Sally Yaffee v. Board of Education of the Township of Woodbridge, Middlesex County, OAL DKT. NO. EDU 2984-96S and Cynthia McDay v. Board of Education of the Township of Woodbridge, Middlesex County, OAL DKT. NO EDU 2987-96S. That Order also placed all three matters on the inactive list until such time as a workers compensation judge rendered a decision on the issue of whether petitioners' injuries arose out of and in the course of their employment. All three matters remained inactive until July 6, 1999 when counsel for petitioner Shereshewsky advised the undersigned that Shereshewsky's workers compensation case had been resolved and that the Board had reinstated days which it had deducted from petitioner's sick leave account (P-1). Accordingly, counsel for petitioner requested that the pending OAL matter be dismissed with prejudice (P-1).

LEGAL DISCUSSION

In Jacques Verneret v. Board of Education of the City of Elizabeth, Union County, supra, the State Board of Education held that "[t]he question of whether an injury 'arose out of and in the course of employment' within the meaning of N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1 is controlled by the standards established under the Workers' Compensation Act." 95 N.J.A.R. 2d at 134. In such cases, "the State Board has held that the Commissioner of Education should refrain from exercising his jurisdiction pending a determination of that issue by the Division of Workers Compensation." Id. at 135. While the Commissioner may decide to refrain from acting until a determination by the Division of Workerss

Compensation, a petitioner is nevertheless required to file her petition under the school law with the Commissioner of Education within the 90-day filing period provided by N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2. Accordingly, the State Board concluded that "the proper course for the Commissioner to follow when he confronts [such] a case . . . is to hold the matter in abeyance, rather than to dismiss the petition, while awaiting the determination by the Division of Workers' Compensation." Ibid.

Pursuant to Verneret, supra, the three consolidated cases were placed on the inactive list. However, two of the matters have now been resolved while the third matter remains pending. Accordingly, it is no longer appropriate to consolidate the three cases and they are hereby severed from each other. Additionally, since the issue in Shereshewsky involving the education laws has been resolved as a result of the decision in the companion workers compensation case, this matter will be dismissed with prejudice.

ORDER

For the above stated reasons, it is ORDERED that the consolidated cases of Betty Shereshewsky, Sally Yafee and Cynthia McDay vs. Board of Education of the Township of Woodbridge, Middlesex County, OAL DKT. NOS. EDU 803-96S; EDU 2984-96S and EDU 2987-96S are hereby severed. It is further ORDERED that the matter captioned Betty Shereshewsky v. Board of Education of the Township of Woodbridge, Middlesex County, OAL DKT. NO. EDU 803-96S is hereby dismissed with prejudice.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

SOMERSET COUNTY EDUCATIONAL SERVICES COMMISSION,	:
PETITIONER,	:

NORTH PLAINFIELD BOARD OF EDUCATION, SOMERSET COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

Petitioning Commission contended that respondent Board's refusal to pay for tuition and services rendered to L.G., a child under the age of 16 enrolled in the Alternative to Incarceration (ATI) Program pursuant to order of the Superior Court, Chancery Division, Family Part and residing in the District, was arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable and violative of the law. Commission sought tuition and pre- and post-judgment interest. Board denied obligation for tuition for L.G., contending that it had no obligation to provide any educational services to L.G., who had been expelled, and, further, that the Commission did not follow the necessary legal procedures to approve its involvement in operating the ATI.

ALJ found that the Commission did violate the law (N.J.S.A. 18A:6-63) since at no time did the Representative Assembly ever vote upon a proposal for the Commission to participate in the ATI Program. However, the ALJ determined that even though the lack of a direct approval by the Representative Body was a flaw in the procedural background, the violation was purely technical and such a detail, which the Commission argued was a matter of form over substance, should not stand in the way of the Commission recovering the tuition for services rendered to a student domiciled within North Plainfield. Moreover, the ALJ found that the fact that a local board expels a student under 16 does not necessarily mean that it should be permitted to escape any reasonable financial obligation toward the education of that child in whatever alternative school program he enters, whether with board input or here at the order of the Family Court. Expulsion need not be considered a financial issue. In the circumstances of this case, where the District was a constituent member of the Educational Services Commission (ESC) and the child in question was educated under the ATI Program under the auspices of the ESC, it was not at all improper for the local District, the child's domicile, to pay its mandated financial obligation pursuant to the contract approved by the county superintendent. It would be inappropriate to shift the cost of the services rendered to the other constituent members of the ESC, while excluding any fiscal responsibility for the domiciliary District. Thus, the ALJ ordered that respondent pay petitioner the sum of $20,050, plus post-judgment interest.

Commissioner adopted the initial decision with modification. Commissioner adopted that portion of the initial decision ordering respondent to pay petitioner the sum of $20,050. Commissioner found and determined that a board of education's action to expel a student, even when lawfully taken pursuant to the authority granted by N.J.S.A. 18A:37-1 et seq., does not absolve a board from responsibility for a child's tuition when, as herein, the school placement was controlled by the statutory provisions of N.J.S.A. 18A:47-1 et seq. Further, the Commissioner emphasized that he rejected arguments advanced by petitioner, or otherwise conveyed by the ALJ, that there was any obligation whatsoever on the part of a board to provide or pay for educational services for a student after it has lawfully acted to expel a student pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-1 et seq., except, where as here, a court of appropriate jurisdiction ordered the student's school placement or there exists a statutory or regulatory provision mandating such an obligation. Commissioner found that the fact that an expelled student may be under 16 does not alter this holding. Commissioner rejected award of post-judgment interest.

Record Closed: July 8 , 1999 Decided: July 26, 1999

BEFORE JEFF S. MASIN, ALJ:

The Somerset County Educational Services Commission ("Commission"), a body corporate organized pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-51 et seq., filled a petition with the Commissioner of Education ("Commissioner") alleging that the respondent North Plainfield Board of Education ("Board") had failed and refused to pay to the Commission the tuition payments due and owing to the Commission for educational services rendered to L.G., a child under the age of 16 residing in the respondent district. These services were provided after the child was enrolled in the Commission's Alternative to Incarceration ("ATI") Program pursuant to the order of the Family Court. The Commission seeks to recover the tuition costs and pre- and post-judgment interest.

The Board denies that it is obligated to the Commission for tuition for L.G., contending that it had no obligation to provide any educational services to L.G., who had been expelled, and further that the Commission did not follow the necessary legal procedures to approve its involvement in operating the ATI and therefore it cannot seek to collect tuition for this student's attendance therein.

The Commission's petition to the Commissioner was filed with the Department of Education on March 16, 1998. An Answer with affirmative defenses was filed on March 30, 1998. After the case was transferred to the Office of Administrative Law ("OAL") as a contested case a prehearing conference was held on June 16, 1998. Hearings were held on October 15 and 16, 1998, and thereafter counsel filed briefs and reply briefs. The record closed upon receipt of the last reply on January 20, 1999. On March 10, a letter was sent to the parties regarding the possible application of the 90-day rule, N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.2(c), as a bar to the Board's challenge.[1] Counsel were asked to respond to this inquiry and the record was reopened. Thereafter, on May 7, 1999, counsel were again solicited to present any additional information available regarding the communication of the action of the Board of Directors to the members of the Representative Assembly. After receipt of counsels' submissions and a conference call held on July 8, 1999, the record again closed.

The Commission is comprised of 18 member school districts, including the respondent. A local board of education must approve membership in the Commission. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-51(g). Each member district elects a person to represent it on the Commission's Representative Assembly. The member from a district may be a member of the local board or the board's chief

[1] The 90 day rule issue was raised because the North Plainfield Board's objection to paying the bill rendered to it, or its objection to the Commissioner's undertaking the ATI Program, was not filed with the Commissioner within 90 days of the Board of Director's approval or the receipt of the bill. However, since the Board's rejection of the bill did not automatically mean that the Commission would press for payment, it is not entirely clear that the Board had to seek the Commissioner's involvement until the Commission itself filed in order to force payment. While imposition of the 90 day rule against the Board may be appropriate in these circumstances, the better and more certain procedure is to decide the case on its merits.

school administrator. N.J.S.A. 18:6-53. The Representative Assembly elects a Board of Directors from its membership, and by statute that Board of Directors must number at least fifteen (15) members. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-51(i); N.J.S.A. 18A:6-55. In the case of this Commission, its Board of Directors numbered 16.

N.J.S.A. 18A:6-62 provides that the Representative Assembly is responsible for adopting the annual budget. Significantly for the issues in this proceeding, it "shall from time to time determine what services and programs shall be provided by the commission, subject to approval of and pursuant to rules of the State Board of Education." N.J.S.A. 18A:6-63a. Commissions are authorized to "enter into contracts with other public and private agencies for the provision of approved services and programs to participating public school districts and nonpublic schools." N.J.S.A. 18A:6-63b. The Board of Directors are "members elected by the representative assembly to act on commission business on behalf of the assembly." N.J.S.A. 18A:6-51(i). Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-57 a written record of all action taken by the Board of Directors shall be forwarded to the Representative assembly after each meeting of the Board.

The ATI Program was formerly operated jointly by a private organization known as Middle Earth and by the Somerset County Vocational and Technical School. The program is designed to provide an intensive day treatment and aftercare program for teenage males ages fifteen to eighteen from Somerset County whose involvement in the juvenile justice system has been such that they face incarceration. By order of the Family Court, these youths may be placed in the ATI Program as an alternative to incarceration. They are given a suspended sentence with the condition that they complete the program. According to the testimony received from former County Superintendent Novembre, the Commission became involved in the ATI Program at his behest, when it was determined that it could better provide the educational component of the program and collect payment for its services from the school districts of residence of the participating students.

The undisputed evidence demonstrates that at no time did the Representative Assembly ever vote upon a proposal for the Commission to participate in the ATI Program. The record also establishes that the Board of Directors did approve the Commission's participation. The provisions of the application for approval submitted to the County Superintendent for his approval contained Section VIII which provided in pertinent part that

> A student's local district is ultimately responsible . . . for the tuition established by the Board of Directors of the Somerset County Educational Services Commission. . . .

This provision appears reflective of N.J.S.A. 18A:47-5, which, as a provision of legislation authorizing the creation of special schools of instruction for dependent and delinquent children under 16 years of age, N.J.S.A. 18A:47-1 et seq., provides that the board of education of a receiving district "shall" be entitled to collect and receive from the board of education of the sending district the agreed upon sum for the tuition and maintenance of the student. The annual tuition rate approved by the Board of Directors was $22,100, which figure was prorated to September 17, 1997. The Commission entered into an agreement with Middle Earth and the Vocational-Technical School to operate the ATI Program in conjunction with them and the Board of Directors approved this agreement by virtue of its ratification and approval on September 25, 1997, of the minutes of the Commission's Executive Committee Meeting of September 15, 1997.

The record establishes that L.G. was a student in the respondent district as a ninth grader until suspended on January 31, 1997. He was expelled by vote of the board on March 6, 1997. He was then 15 years old. In a court order dated November 20, 1997, Honorable Graham T. Ross, Presiding Judge of the Family Part, Chancery Division of Superior Court, placed L.G. in the ATI Program, in lieu of incarceration. He was also placed on probation and as a part of the probation conditions was required to attend the ATI Program. L.G. was enrolled in the ATI Program November 20, 1997. The respondent has been billed for his attendance, but it has declined to pay. The petitioner seeks $20,000.50, based upon attendance from November through October 22, 1998, with November, 1997 and October, 1998 prorated and no charge for the months of July and August, 1998.

Initially, the Board challenges the jurisdiction of the Commissioner, and thus of OAL, to determine the Commission's claim. The Board argues that the Family Court has exclusive jurisdiction to the exclusion of the Commissioner. The Board cites language from State in Interest of F.M., 167 N.J.Super. 185 (N.J. Juv. & Dom. Rel. 1979) and N.J.S.A. 2A:4A-24.

There the court states that it "is clothed with exclusive jurisdiction in all cases where it is charged that a juvenile has committed an act of delinquency or is in need of supervision." Id. at 191. Within this authority is the power to order placement of such juveniles into an educational setting, and the court makes it clear that it is not bound by the rules and procedures of the State Board of Education and the New Jersey Administrative Code when it exercises that authority. In fact, the court relates that it "may order a local board of education to subsidize the tuition of a juvenile domiciled in its municipality." Id. at 193. This power follows upon the authority of the court to order a placement of the juvenile in an appropriate facility that will provide the necessary education. However, while counsel for the Board writes in the Board's brief that the court in F.M. has the "exclusive power to order a local board to bear the cost of tuition at a particular facility," nowhere does the court say that. Indeed, while it "may" do so, and while it may even do so without necessarily complying with regulations, the court does not assert that its power to do so is exclusive. Its power is not to be disputed, but the court never suggests that the Commissioner of Education cannot also exercise authority over the issue of tuition responsibility for the district in which a juvenile placed in an educational facility is domiciled. Presumably the court's authority to act may be paramount, given its need to effectively and often promptly deal with the needs of the juvenile who comes within its purview, but at least where the court has not acted, the Commissioner can act, commensurate with his jurisdiction over matters affecting the educational process in this State and in accord with the rules and regulations of the State Board. The court and the Commissioner thus each have jurisdiction to act. The respondent's assertion of a lack of jurisdiction in the Commissioner and, by extension in the OAL, fails.

In part, the respondent contends that since the Representative Assembly is the body designated by statute to determine the programs and services which the Commission will offer and it never exercised that authority to approve the Commission's participation in the ATI Program, the Commission has acted in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-63 and cannot seek to recover from the Board for services which were provided to L.G. without proper authority and therefore without any binding effect upon the Board as a member of the Commission. In response, the Commission argues that the action of the Board of Directors was adequate in itself to constitute the necessary approval for the Commission's participation of the ATI Program, as the Board is authorized by the statute to conduct Commission business on behalf of the representative assembly. In addition, even if the lack of a direct approval by the representative assembly is a flaw in the procedural background, the violation is purely technical and such a detail, which the Commission argues is a matter of form over substance, should not stand in the way of the Commission recovering the tuition it rightly deserves for services rendered to a student domiciled within North Plainfield, services which, it argues, fulfilled the "laudable" goal of the ATI Program. In support of its position, the Commission cites case law which emphasizes the need to construe statutes in such a manner as to uphold "the objectives of legislation and the commonsense of the situation." Jersey City v. City Council, 55 N.J. 86, 100 (1969).

As the statute presently is constructed, the Board of Directors of the Commission is empowered to carry out the business of the Commission. However, while the Directors at one time had the authority to determine which programs the Commission is to undertake, since the statute was amended by L. 1989, c. 254, §13, that responsibility is most definitely placed with the Representative Assembly. The statutory direction to the Assembly is clear. Once the Assembly determines that the Commission will operate a particular program or provide a particular service the Board of Directors has the authority and responsibility to carry out the mandate of the Assembly and to enter into contracts, hire personnel, obtain necessary space, equipment, etc., and to establish the details of the program in a way which effectuates the concept approved by the Assembly. There is no way to read the statute as delegating to the Directors the role of the Assembly in determining the services and programs to be offered by the Commission, particularly after the Legislature decided in 1989 to change the previous structure. Thus, since the Representative Assembly did not act, if the decision to become involved in the ATI Program constituted a determination to offer a service or program which the Commission was not previously involved in, then the Commission did not adhere to statutory requirements for the establishment of new services and programs. While the Commission points out that it has been involved in alternative educational programs prior to the institution of its involvement with the ATI Program, nevertheless, a decision to enter into this program, to do so with Middle Earth, a private enterprise, and the Vo-Tech School, appears to be the sort of fundamental decision on programs and services which the statute now dictates be made by the Representative Assembly, and not by the Directors, whose role is to carry out the business of effectuating the decision reached by the Assembly to enter into the venture.

The question then is whether, because the Commission failed to follow the statute in regard to the decision to involve itself in the ATI Program, it has forfeited any right to collect from the respondent Board for services rendered to the student. The Commission argues that such an outcome would be "absurd" and in fact would call into question the need for any Board of Education who may have had a student in the ATI Program to pay for the services. The Commission argues that even if, as here determined, the Commission did fail to follow the statute, the Directors acted as a de facto Representative Assembly and therefore the Commission's role in the ATI Program was lawful.

The concept of "de facto" has been recognized by the Commissioner and State Board as a legitimate basis for approving actions when there was a flaw affecting the makeup of a Board of Education which on its face threatened the de jure legitimacy of the body. Thus, in cases such as Pijeaux v. Bd. of Ed. of the City of Orange, 94 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 345 (Comm. Ed. 1994) and Williams v. Cilberto, 96 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 990 (Comm. Ed 1996), the ALJ and the Commissioner upheld the actions of school boards on which sat members whose membership thereon was legally inappropriate. In Pijeaux, supra., the Board terminated an employee. It was later determined that two members of the Board were ineligible for membership because one was not a registered voter in the county and the other was not a citizen of the United States. In Williams, supra., the board appointed a new attorney, but one board member who voted in favor of the appointment was later deemed to be ineligible to sit on the board. In each case the Board's action was upheld because the members who acted despite their disqualifying conditions were nevertheless acting under color of title and at a time when the ineligibility affecting each was unknown to the public. The members were de facto members, despite the flaws affecting their de jure status.

The Commission asserts that in the current matter, the Board of Directors, made up of 16 members, acted to approve what should have been approved by a body, the Representative Assembly, which had 18 members. There is no claim that the Board of Directors was anything other than the legitimate board. Its status as such is unchallenged. It simply acted upon a subject which it no longer had the authority to act upon, but it did so nevertheless, with no indication that it was aware that it was not the authorized body. It undertook to approve the Commission's involvement in the ATI Program, and the Commission thereafter did enter into the Program and operate it with its partners. The public was not aware that the approval of the Directors was not sufficient to meet the statute's requirements. The approval of the Program was carried out by a body acting under the color of law. "Under these circumstances the acts of the" (Commission), "in which third persons are interested, cannot be impugned on the ground that the" authority of the Board was defective. Pijeaux, supra., Initial Decision at 346, quoting Kimball v. Hendee, 57 N.J.L. 307, 309 (S.Ct. 1894).

The problem posed by the de facto argument is that while the Boards whose actions were deemed to be authorized de facto in Pijeaux and Williams were the very bodies otherwise authorized to perform the acts whose validity was questioned due to the ineligibility of members of the board, in this case, the law did not permit the Board of Directors to approve the new program, at least not the necessary statutory approval. Only the Representative Assembly could do so. Thus, the Board of Directors could not really claim to be acting under color of authority to perform an act which it had the power to perform, as the boards in Pijeaux and Williams could claim. Thus, the de facto concept really is inapplicable. However, that does not mean that the Commission's case is any weaker.

The Board of Directors which voted to approve the minutes of the Executive Committee and thereby approve the entry of the Commission into the ATI Program consisted of 16 members. In the case of this particular ESC the entire membership is 18 districts. Thus, the Board of Directors membership is virtually identical with the Representative Assembly membership. While in other cases the numerical difference in the membership of the Representative assembly vis a vis that of the Board of Directors may be greater, even significantly so, in the case of the Somerset ESC there is very little difference in composition between the two bodies. Thus, the Board of Directors, while not legally the same as the Representative Assembly, and not factually the same as well, is nevertheless substantially a mirror of the membership of the Representative Assembly. In addition, Mr. Stuart Malin, the North Plainfield Board representative to the Representative assembly, was a member of the Board of Directors and in fact the very member who moved the approval of the Executive Committee minutes on September 25.

The Commission's response to the request regarding any written report to the Assembly pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-57 reveals that there was apparently no specific written report as such delivered to the Assembly as a body. Superintendent of Schools Thomas F. Boyle does report that formal notification of the approval and commencement of the ATI Program by either himself or former Superintendent Roberta Kanarick of 17 of the 18 members of the Assembly through written Superintendent's monthly reports. Only one member was not definitively notified.

While Mr. Malin posited that he did not view himself as a representative of the North Plainfield Board while sitting in his capacity as a Director of the ESC, as opposed to sitting as a member of the Assembly, such distinctions cannot hide the fact that at the time that he moved to approve the Executive Committee's actions of September 15, he most assuredly knew that the Commission was well on its way to undertaking the ATI Program. He never objected to this, never requested that the Representative Assembly vote on the idea, and apparently no other member of the Board or the Assembly did so either. This could perhaps be simply because in a situation where the membership of the two bodies was so virtually identical, a unanimous vote in favor of the idea by the Directors was tantamount to a vote in favor by the Representatives. In such a situation, it would substantially favor form over substance to void the actions of the Commission and deny it compensation for services rendered simply because a second vote of the nearly identical body of persons did not occur. Under the specific facts of this case, the failure of the Commission to obtain approval by vote of the Assembly is not a basis for defeating its claim for payment.

In addition to its objections to paying based upon the lack of a vote by the Representative assembly, the Board also objects that, having expelled L.G. in March, 1997, it should not have any financial responsibility for his education thereafter and should not be required to pay for an alternative placement ordered months later by the Family Court.

There is no state statute which mandates that a local board of education pay for the education of a student who has been expelled from the district. The Commissioner of Education has never determined whether there is any residual financial obligation for a local district which has taken the extreme step of expelling a student, especially one under the age of 16, who, by state law, is mandated to attend school. Decisions by the Commissioner have on occasion mandated that the board provide an alternative program such as home instruction for a student who has been expelled, but the Commissioner has reviewed these situations on a case by case basis and no distinct pattern has emerged.

In the present case, the local district expelled L.G. There is no evidence where or if he attended school after his expulsion. The Family Court later saw fit to order the child, still under the age of 16, into the ATI Program in order to attempt to avoid his incarceration while still attempting to provide him with the benefits of education. While it clearly has the authority to order the district of domicile to pay for the costs of the education, the court did not do so, and did not mention anything about a funding source. The provisions of the ATI Program as approved by the county superintendent and as reflective of the legislative direction afforded by N.J.S.A. 18A:47-5, place the ultimate financial responsibility for the cost of educating a child in the ATI Program on the local district. Here, the child remained domiciled within North Plainfield. While the school board had acted to cut the child off from attendance within the district and to thereby avoid the necessity of its students and personnel having further contact with him, one presumes that expulsion was imposed based upon safety, security and other considerations which the child's conduct had implicated and which were deemed so severe that he needed to be physically separated from the district and its personnel, and was not imposed because the Board sought to save money by excluding a child. The fact that a local board expels a student under the age of 16 does not necessarily mean that it should be permitted to escape any reasonable financial obligation toward the education of that child in whatever alternative school program he enters, whether with Board input or here at the order of the Family Court. Expulsion need not be considered a financial issue. In the circumstances of this case, where the District was a constituent member of the ESC and the child was educated under the ATI Program under the auspices of the ESC, it is not at all improper that the local district, that is the district of the child's domicile, pay its mandated financial obligation pursuant to the contract approved by the county superintendent. It would be inappropriate to shift the cost of the services rendered to the other constituent members of the ESC, while excluding any fiscal responsibility for the domiciliary district.

For the reasons expressed, it is ORDERED that the respondent pay to the petitioner the sum of $20,050, plus post-judgment interest as permitted by Court Rules.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

SOMERSET COUNTY EDUCATIONAL SERVICES COMMISSION,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
NORTH PLAINFIELD BOARD OF EDUCATION, SOMERSET COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record and initial decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed. No exceptions were filed by the parties.

Upon a comprehensive and independent review of the record, the Commissioner adopts that portion of the initial decision which determines that, under the specific facts of this matter, the failure of the Commission to obtain approval of the Alternative To Incarceration (ATI) Program by vote of its Representative Assembly is not a basis for defeating petitioner's claim for tuition payment. However, notwithstanding such adoption, the Commissioner strongly admonishes petitioner that its Board of Directors is to refrain from carrying out any functions which by statute have been designated to the Representative Assembly, not the Board of Directors.

Further, the Commissioner adopts, with clarification and modification, that portion of the initial decision which orders respondent to pay petitioner the sum of $20,050. Given the factual circumstances of this matter, the Commissioner is in full agreement with petitioner's legal position that the provisions of N.J.S.A. 18A:47-1 et seq. obligate respondent to pay tuition for L.G., an unclassified child, who at age 15 was placed into petitioner's ATI program by court order. N.J.S.A. 18A:47-1 authorizes a board of education to establish and maintain a special school of instruction for the purpose of restraining, instructing and caring for dependent and delinquent children under age 16 who are committed to the school by the Superior Court, Chancery Division, Family Part. N.J.S.A. 18A:47-4 reads in pertinent part that "[s]uch special school shall receive, restrain, and instruct dependent delinquent children, and children under the age of 16 years, committed to such school by the Superior Court, Chancery Division, Family Part..." (emphasis supplied). Further, N.J.S.A. 18A 47-5 is clear and unambiguous as to the obligation of a board of education to pay for such court-ordered school commitments of juveniles who reside in its district. It reads:

> Children who are dependent and delinquent, or who are habitually truant or incorrigible, or who shall be found by the court to require special instruction, and who reside in a school district in which there is no such special school of instruction may be committed to such a special school of instruction maintained in another district. The board of education of the receiving district shall be entitled to collect and receive from the board of education of the sending district such sum for the tuition and maintenance of such children as the boards agree to, but not in excess of the actual cost per pupil as determined according to rules of the commissioner approved by the state board. The board of education of the sending district shall issue an order, payable from any funds available for current expense, for such sum in favor of the custodian of school moneys of the school district maintaining the school to which the child shall have been committed.

As correctly argued by petitioner, it is undisputed that the above-cited statutory criteria have been satisfied in the instant matter; i.e., L.G. was adjudged delinquent by Superior Court, Chancery Division, Family Part (Petitioner's Exhibit 12); L.G. was committed by order of that court and as a condition to his probation (Petitioner's Exhibits 12 and 13) to petitioner's

ATI Program, a school for delinquent children approved by the State Board of Education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:47-1 et seq.; respondent does not argue that it has such an approved school/program; and L.G. was 15 years old at the time the court committed him to the ATI Program (Petitioner's Exhibit 12).

With regard to respondent's legal position that its action to expel L.G. terminated any obligation on its part to provide him educational services or to pay his tuition in the ATI Program, the Commissioner finds and determines that a board of education's action to expel a student, even when lawfully taken pursuant to the authority granted by N.J.S.A. 18A:37-1 et seq., does not absolve a board from responsibility for the student's tuition when, as herein, the school placement is controlled by the statutory provisions of N.J.S.A. 18A: 47-1 et seq. In so holding, however, the Commissioner expressly rejects arguments advanced by petitioner, or otherwise suggested by the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) in the initial decision, that there is any general obligation on the part of a board of education to provide or pay for educational services for a student after it has lawfully acted to expel the student pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-1 et seq., notwithstanding that the student may be under 16 years of age; the exception occurs only where, as here, a court of appropriate jurisdiction has ordered the student's school placement or there exists a statutory or regulatory provision mandating such an obligation.[1] The Commissioner stresses, though, that this holding does not prevent, nor is it in any way intended to dissuade, boards of education from providing continued educational services to a student whom it has expelled, if the board so desires.

Lastly, the Commissioner clarifies the ALJ's order that respondent pay post-judgment interest to petitioner. Consistent with the regulations governing award of post-judgment interest, N.J.A.C. 6:24-1.16, petitioner may apply for such interest should the Board fail to satisfy the award within 60 days as provided by rule.

[1] For example, under certain circumstances, a continuing obligation for the provision of a free appropriate public education may exist for a disabled student who is expelled.

Accordingly, as clarified and modified herein, the Commissioner adopts the initial decision of the ALJ.[2]

IT IS SO ORDERED.

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

[2] This decision, as the Commissioner's final determination in the instant matter, may be appealed to the State Board of Education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-27 et seq. and N.J.A.C. 6:2-1.1 et seq., within 30 days of its filing. Commissioner decisions are deemed filed three days after the date of mailing to the parties.

PENNSVILLE EDUCATION ASSOCIATION,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF PENNSVILLE, SALEM COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

Petitioning Education Association contended the Board violated the provisions of N.J.A.C. 6:11-11.6, and statutory and decisional law, by operating its school library at the Pennsville Middle School without a properly certified professional librarian in place. It argued the Board replaced the retired librarian at the library with an aide, who was performing several professional functions formerly performed by the school's librarian without the education, experience or educational services certificate with an educational media specialist endorsement as required by law. The aide held a county substitute certificate; she was neither certificated as a professional librarian nor as an educational media specialist. Board contended the aide performed clerical duties, not professional duties, and aided the principal of the Middle School, who oversaw the operation of the library.

In light of the testimony of witnesses, the ALJ found and concluded that the aide only coordinated the library services; the building principal was totally responsible for the supervision of the library and the Librarian Aide. Moreover, the County Superintendent was fully aware of the scope of the position of Librarian Aide, the Board's job specifications and the certificate required (county substitute certificate). ALJ concluded the middle school building principal was responsible for supervision; the aide neither supervised the library nor conducted instruction while there. ALJ determined the aide performed clerical and custodian functions under her Board-adopted job description. Citing Lippincott Appellate Division decision, the ALJ noted the principal has the authority to develop and coordinate the educational media services of a school. Thus, the ALJ concluded the Board's action creating and filling the position of Librarian Aide was proper and in accordance with the law. Petition was dismissed.

Upon careful and independent review of the record, and even accepting the ALJ's credibility assessments, the Commissioner determined to reverse the initial decision. Initially, the Commissioner affirmed that the Board was not compelled to employ the services of an individual with a standard educational services certificate and endorsement in educational media services (EMS) (N.J.A.C. 6:11-11.17) or an endorsement as an Associate EMS (N.J.A.C. 6:11-11.18). The Board, however, may not assign duties which are professional in nature to a paraprofessional aide. Commissioner found that there was ample evidence to support the conclusion that the aide, for all practical purposes, operated independently and performed educational media services, which did not involve the genuine, consistent involvement of a properly certified individual. Moreover, the Commissioner found that notwithstanding the aide's possession of a substitute certificate, she substituted for no one. Commissioner directed the Board to modify, within 90 days of the issuance of this decision, its job description for Librarian Aide to conform with applicable regulations, as well as this decision. A copy of the revised job description shall be submitted to the County Superintendent for review and approval in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6:11-4.6. Commissioner directed Board to append to its proposed job description for the Librarian Aide a job description for Principal, clearly setting forth that position's role in the delivery of educational media services in the middle school.

Record Closed: June 9, 1999 Decided: July 20, 1999

BEFORE LILLARD E. LAW, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner, the Pennsville Education (PEA) alleges, among other things, that the Pennsville Township Board of Education (Board) violated and continues to violate the regulatory provisions at N.J.A.C. 6:11-11.6, statutory and regulatory law and decisional law of the Commissioner of Education (Commissioner), by operating its school library at the Pennsville Middle School without a properly certified professional librarian in place. Petitioner seeks, among other things, an order from the Commissioner directing the Board to immediately employ a properly certificated professional librarian. The Board denies the allegation that it is in violation of N.J.A.C. 6:11-11.6.

The PEA initiated this case by petition for a Declaratory Ruling alleging that the Board has violated and continues to violate the statutory and regulatory law and the decisional law of the Commissioner by operating the library without having a properly certificated librarian (educational media specialist) in place.

The petition initially named Mark Elwell, County Superintendent of Schools (County Superintendent) as a respondent as well. By letter dated July 17, 1998, the Commissioner granted the County Superintendent's motion to dismiss. The Commissioner also decided not to consider the matter as one for declaratory ruling, and transmitted the case to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 14F-1 to -13. The hearing was held on March 8, 1999, at the Atlantic City OAL, Atlantic County Civil Courthouse, Atlantic City, New Jersey. The parties requested and were granted leave to submit posthearing briefs and proposed findings of fact. The last submission was received by the undersigned on June 9, 1999, which constitutes the closing of the hearing record.

UNCONTESTED FACTS

Based upon the testimony and other evidence adduced at the hearing, I FIND the following FACTS to be uncontested. Therefore, they form a basis of my FINDINGS OF FACT.

Mr. Richard Blocksom was employed by the Board for approximately 35 years and served as a school librarian during his employ. At all times, Mr. Blocksom was appropriately certificated for the position of librarian. (educational media specialist).

Mr. Blocksom retired from the Board's employ in June 1997, as the Board's Middle School librarian. Prior thereto, at the request of the Board's Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Robert Peddle, Mr. Blocksom provided the Superintendent with two job descriptions; i.e., librarian (J-1) and librarian aide. The original draft for the position of librarian aide was not available for this hearing.

Thereafter, Superintendent Peddle revised Mr. Blocksom's job description of Librarian Aide and executed J-2 in evidence. The job description for the position of Librarian Aide was forwarded to the Salem County Superintendent of Schools, Michael R. Elwell, for his approval. The position of Librarian Aide was posted and advertised. Superintendent Peddle interviewed all interested candidates and Ann Marie Bell was selected as the successful candidate.

The Board adopted the job description for Librarian Aide on a date not set forth on this hearing record. Ms. Bell commenced her duties as Librarian Aide in the Board's Middle School on or about September of 1997. The Salem County Superintendent of Schools approved the position on or about October 15, 1997.

Ms. Bell holds a County Substitute Certificate. She is neither certificated as a professional librarian nor as a educational media specialist.

POSITION OF THE PARTIES

Petitioner's Position

Preliminary Statement

No board of education has authority to replace the duties of a teaching staff member by assigning such duties to an aide. In violation of statutory and regulatory law and the decisional law of the Commissioner, the Board has replaced the librarian at the library with an aide. The Board's denials to the contrary, the aide is performing several professional functions formerly performed by the school's librarian without the education, experience or educational services certification with an educational media specialist endorsement as required by law.

Proposed Findings of Disputed Fact

Overview of Disputed Facts. Substantially all of the material facts in dispute center upon the job duties actually performed by the librarian aide from September of 1997 to date. As to duets one through 4[1] in the petition and the accompanying affidavit of Mr. Blocksom dated April 28, 1998, the PEA contend that: (a) these duties are predominately professional in nature, requiring the exercise of professional judgment; (b) these duties are customarily performed by properly-certificated educational media specialists and (c) Mr. Blocksom actually performed these duties during this career with the Board. (Petition, ¶6F.) In its answer, the Board admitted contention (c) (that Mr. Blocksom had performed these duties) but denied contentions (a) and (b) (that these duties are predominately professional in nature, requiring the exercise of professional judgment and that they are customarily performed by properly-certificated educational media specialist). (Answer, ¶6F.)

[1] These tasks are "supervise[ing] class research," "evaluate[ing] collection when necessary," "select[ing] and order[ing] books," and catalog[ing] and classify[ing] books when indicated," respectively.

Proposed Findings of Fact:

1. Ms. Bell does not serve as an aide. This finding is supported by Ms. Bell's own testimony that there is no librarian in the library for her to aide and that her job is not simply to assist an educational media specialist by relieving him or her in the performance of easy or repetitive tasks. This finding is further supported by the testimony of Dr. Peddle, who had a difficult time identifying precisely who Ms. Bell is supposed to be aiding. Dr. Peddle's testimony on this point is telling:

> Q: Who is she aiding?
>
> A. (pause) Who is she aiding?
>
> Q. That's right. Is there a professional who she aides?
>
> A. (pause) Ultimately, the principal of the building she is aiding to run that library.

If Ms. Bell were, in fact, aiding a professional who was coordinating the use of the library, these questions would not have been difficult to answer. Dr. Peddle's equivocal responses to these questions demonstrates that he understands that Ms. Bell is not really serving as an aide to anyone.

This conclusion is also supported by the job title itself, referring to the position as "Librarian Aide" as opposed to "Library Aide," and the specific duties listed in the job title. The Board's protestations to the contrary, it is clear that the adoption of the job title was little more than an attempt to merge the professional duties of a librarian with the clerical duties of an aide.

Additionally, the Board is paying the Librarian Aide a starting salary of slightly more than one and one-half times the starting salary of other aides. (Peddle Testimony; Bell Testimony). This is strong evidence that the Librarian Aide is functioning as something more than an aide.

2. The tasks of coordinating the use of "educational media services," curating a library's collection, and instruction in research are professional in nature. This finding is supported by the uncontested testimony of Mr. Blocksom, an educational media specialist with more than 35 years of experience, who testified extensively as to the specific education and experience necessary to perform each of these tasks.

3. In the absence of a librarian, for the library to properly function, someone must be performing each of these tasks. This finding is supported by the testimony of Mr. Blocksom.

4. Ms. Bell is coordinating the use of "educational media services, curating the library's collection, and providing instruction on research. This finding is supported by the following subordinate findings of fact:

A. Ms. Bell coordinates the use of the library services at the library. This finding is supported by the testimony of Ms. Bell and, to an extent, by the testimony of Dr. Peddle. Although Dr. Peddle attempted to downplay Ms. Bell's role in coordinating the use of the library by contending that she operates the library "in consultation with" Principal Idarolla, her testimony on this issue clearly establishes that she, alone, coordinates the use of its equipment, schedules its use, decides who uses it, and decides when they use it. She testified that she does all of this without approval of any professional. The library has been open and operating since September of 1997, educational media are being selected, processed upon receipt, cataloged and shelved. Library services are being provided to the school on a daily basis. As the only person on site, she is running the library.

B. Ms. Bell is performing several curatorial functions in the library. Although the Board attempted to downplay the amount of professional discretion exercised by Ms. Bell, her testimony reveals that she exercises considerable discretion in performing a number of curatorial functions;

(1) For example, she selects and orders books. She tried characterize to the selection process as a rote one by discussing how she uses several "rules of thumb" in proposing the selection of books. Even though she looks to lists of Newberry Award winners, selections by the American Librarians' Association and requests by teaching staff and students, she alone is the person who proposes the selections of materials. Although she testified that she makes the selections in consultations with teaching staff members, Mr. Blocksom explained that an aide would lack the education and professional background necessary for such consultation to be meaningful and to make a professional assessment of the library's needs given the classroom curriculum. While Ms. Bell also testified that Mr. Idarolla signs each purchase order, the Board has not dared to suggest that he carefully sifts through each selection before signing a given purchase order. Indeed, such a contention would be incredible given the day-in, day-out time pressures a building principal faces.

(2) Ms. Bell also exercises considerable discretion in discarding books. Again, she attempted to minimize the scope of her discretion by citing "rules of thumb" she uses in determining which books would be discarded. She noted that during the summer of 1998 she evaluated the library's nonfiction section. In reviewing the collection, she used a "rule of thumb" that "if a book is more than ten years old, you think about replacing it." If a book is dated after 1980 and has not been used in the last five to ten years, it would be placed in the discard pile. She also testified that she made the discard pile available and teachers were able to retrieve the books from that pile for classroom use. Significantly, her testimony failed to identify any input by a qualified educational media specialist or other properly certificated person in adopting or implementing her "rules of thumb." A fair inference arises that such a single minded approach of looking to currency of materials and frequency of use has diminished the scope of the library's collection, to retrieve books from the discard pile may have allowed the individual teacher to ensure that his or her own class had the use of a valuable book. Nonetheless, the practice undoubtedly deprived the school population as a whole of the use of any given book which was consigned to the discard heap.

(3) Ms. Bell also exercises considerable discretion in deciding which books will be placed on the library's shelves. Ms. Bell explained how she tries to avoid the need to catalog books by ordering from major suppliers who sell books complete with catalog cards. She testified that, in one case, she had a book which Mr. Blocksom ordered before his retirement. When the time came to process the book for shelving, it did not have a catalog care. Instead of consulting with the librarian at the high school, she made the judgment call that it was not worthwhile to catalog the book. Instead, she chose to give the book to a teacher, removing it from school-wide circulation.

C. Ms. Bell is also engaging in the instruction of students. At hearing, the Board tried to narrowly define the term "instruction" to "direct instruction," attempting to limit the term to mean the teaching of classes in research techniques or Library Science. However, Mr. Blocksom testified that, in a library setting, instruction also includes formal one-on-one instruction of students in how to use the library's materials. While Ms. Bell was careful to note that she had been instructed not to engage in the "direct instruction" of students, she indicated that students come to the library during study hall. Her testimony reveals that she does not simply serve as a study hall monitor. Instead, she helps students with research by directing them to materials when they ask. Mr. Visalli who also testified that he has seen Ms. Bell perform the same function when he has brought his class to the library. In short, as the only staff member in the library, Ms. Bell cannot help but to field students' research questions, especially during study hall. She is fielding such question and is, therefore, providing informal instruction to students.

5. Neither Ms. Bell nor Mr. Idarolla has an Educational Services Certification with an educational media specialist endorsement. This finding is supported by the uncontested testimony of Dr. Peddle and Ms. Bell.

6. Ms. Bell does not have the education and experience necessary to obtain such a certification and endorsement. This finding is supported by the uncontested testimony of of Dr. Peddle and Ms. Bell.

LAW AND ARGUMENT

I. The Board is Engaging in an Ongoing Violation of N.J.A.C. 6:11-11.17 and the Decisional Law of the Commissioner.

The State Board of Education (State Board) has promulgated the Education Regulations which appear at Title 6 of the Administrative Code. In particular, at N.J.A.C. 6:11-11.17, the State Board has determined that any person who is assigned to "develop and coordinate educational media services" in the public schools must have an Educational Services Certification with an educational media specialist endorsement. N.J.A.C. 6:11-11.17(a). The regulation defines "educational media" as "all print and nonprint resources and the equipment needed for their use." Id.

The State Board has also seen fit to require candidates for such endorsements to have extensive education and experience. N.J.A.C. 6:11-11.17(b). The holder must possess:

1. A master's degree from an accredited institution;

2. A standard New Jersey teacher's certificate or associate educational media specialist endorsement;

3. One year of successful teaching or one year of experience as an associate educational media specialist.

4. Successful completion of one of the following:

   i. A graduate curriculum approved by the New Jersey State State Department of Education as the basis for issuing this endorsement; or

   ii. A minimum of 30 semester hours credits of post-baccalaureate studies. Courses completed in the candidate's graduate degree program may be applied toward fulfilling these requirements. The following areas of study must be included in either separate or integrated courses:

   (1) Organization and coordination of school media services and materials;

   (2) Application of learning theory in reading, listening and viewing educational media materials;

   (3) Design and development of educational media programs;

   (4) [illegible]velopment of educational media materials;

   (5) Integration of educational media through the school curriculum;

   (6) Evaluation, selection and utilization of educational media;

   (7) Development of individual and group processes in the media program;

   (8) Field experience in a school media program. Id.

Mr. Blocksom was a duly qualified and certificated educational media specialist. Unfortunately, ever since Mr. Blocksom's retirement, the Board has had Ms. Bell, an individual who possesses only a county substitute certificate, to develop and coordinate the "educational media services" being provided in the library. As is set forth in the Proposed Findings of Fact above, Ms. Bell coordinates the use of "educational media services," curates the library's collection, and provides informal instruction in research to students. This is a plain violation of the regulation.

The Board's best argument is that because Mr. Idarolla is supervising Ms. Bell, she functions as an aide and is not performing the work of professional. This argument is flawed in two fundamental ways. First, as is set forth in the Proposed Findings of Fact above, Ms. Bell has served as the de facto librarian. Her testimony, the testimony of Dr. Peddle, her job description, and her job title all demonstrate that in reality: (a) she serves as an aide to no one; (2) she coordinates the use of the library's services on a day-to-day basis; (c) she orders, processes, shelves and removes media materials and, (d) she assists students in research thereby providing informal instruction in the process. She has performed each of these discretionary tasks without the education, experience or certification required by the State Board's regulations. What is more, as is set forth in the Proposed Findings of Fact above, the proofs in this case demonstrated that she has performed some of these tasks with little supervision and other tasks with no supervision at all.

Second, if one were to ignore these proofs and assume for the sake of argument that Mr. Idarolla coordinates the use of library services, he does not have an Educational Services Certification with an educational media specialist endorsement either. As the holder of a Supervisory Certification with a Principal's Endorsement, he has the power to supervise everything in his building, including the power to supervise the coordination of "educational media services.' However, under N.J.A.C. 6:11-11.17, he does not have the power to develop and coordinate those services himself unless he also has an Educational Services Certification with an educational media specialist endorsement. As set forth in the Proposed Findings of Fact above, it is undisputed that Mr. Idarolla lacks such a certification and endorsement.

In promulgating N.J.A.C. 6:11-11.17, the State Board has determined that if a person is to coordinate "educational media services" in a public school, he or she has to have the educational media specialist endorsement. In short, someone is coordinating the use of "educational media services" in the library. N.J.A.C. 6:11-11.17 requires such a person to have an educational media specialist endorsement. However, neither Mr. Idarolla nor Ms. Bell has this certificate or endorsement. Accordingly, under the regulatory law of the State Board, neither is qualified to develop and coordinate "educational media services" at the school. Regardless of whether either is or both are coordinating such services, the Board is engaging in an ongoing violation of N.J.A.C. 6:11-11.17.[2]

II. The Librarian Aide Job Title is a Sham Title Because the Aide is Serving as Librarian

Under the decisional law of the Commissioner, an Aide is someone who assists a properly-certificated teaching staff member in supervising student activities. Roach vs. School District of South Orange-Maplewood, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 8315-93, Agency Docket No. 287-7/93, 96 N.J.A.R. 2*d.* (EDU) 370 (citing Rossi vs. Willingboro Tp. Bd. of Ed., Agency Docket No. 294-8/78 (Sept. 24, 1980), adopted (Comm'r. Nov. 7, 1990), aff 'd. (St. Bd. Aug. 5, 1981)) (Emphasis supplied). In other words, "[a library aide] is a paraprofessional who assists the librarian and teaching staff, much like a classroom aide helps certified teachers or a nurse's aide helps a licensed school nurse. As the name applies, an aide's primary function is to aid

[2] The PEA notes is passing that the situation presented by the present case is distinct from that in Lippincott v. Board of Education of Watchung Hills Regional High School District, OAL Docket No. EDU 5339-92, Agency Docket No. 248-6/92, 94 N.J.A.R. 2*d.* (EDU) 430 (St. Bd.), aff'd., App. Div. Docket No. A-5592-92T5, 95 N.J.A.R. 2*d.* (EDU) 304, certif. den. 142 N.J. 518 1995). In Lippincott, the librarian at the Watchung Hills Regional High School held an Educational Services Certificate with an Educational Media Specialist Endorsement. She argues, in essence, that the power to develop and coordinate "educational media services" included the power to supervise the non-certificated support members employed within the library. The ALJ, the Commissioner, the State Board and the courts all rejected this contention, finding that the vice principal was properly assigned to supervise the media center. In contrast, the present case does not contest a principal's or vice principal's power to supervise library personnel where the school district already has a properly certificated Educational Media Specialist in place. The present case involves a school district's attempt to provide "educational media services" without having a qualified person in place to develop and coordinate such services in violation of N.J.A.C. 6:11-11.17. In short, the PEA does not dispute that Mr. Idarolla would have the power to supervise an Educational Media Specialist. However, under N.J.A.C. 6:11-11.17, neither he nor Ms. Bell is qualified to develop and coordinate use of "educational media services" without an Educational Medial Specialist Endorsement.

professionals by relieving them of easy or repetitive tasks which do not require extensive training and expertise." (Emphasis supplied).

However, as set forth in the Proposed Findings of Fact above, the librarian aide in the present case is the only full-time employee assigned to the library. She does not act as a "paraprofessional who assists the librarian" because there is no librarian working in the library. Instead, as is set forth in Proposed Findings of Fact above, Ms. Bell exercise considerable discretion in performing a number of tasks which are professional in nature, including coordinating the use of "educational media services," curating the library's collection, and providing informal instruction in research to students.

Under the circumstances, Ms. Bell is an aide in name only. She is functioning as the librarian and is performing the job duties of an educational media specialist without possessing the Educational Services Certification and the Educational media specialist endorsement required by the State Board.

III. The Board Failed to Prove it Obtained Approval of the Librarian Aide Position from the County Superintendent. Even if proven, such Approval Would be Ineffective to the Extent it Would Contravene the State Board's Regulations.

In the Board's case, the Board presented the testimony of Dr. Peddle that, before filling the position of Librarian Aide, he wrote to the County Superintendent and requested approval of the position. Dr. Peddle then provided hearsay testimony that the County Superintendent approved the creation of the position. Yet, the Board failed to present any other proofs to substantiate this claims and, as a result, the only evidence of record that the County Superintendent approved the creation of the position is Dr. Peddle's hearsay claim. To substantiate this claim, the Board could have provided competent proof in the form of live testimony by the County Superintendent approving the creation of the position certified by him or her as an official record or, at the very least, a truce copy of such a letter. Unfortunately, the Board has failed to introduce any competent proofs to substantiate its claim that the County Superintendent approved the creation of the position.

Under the circumstances, the Board has failed to present a residuum of competent, credible proof of support this defense and the defense must fail as unsubstantiated. Weston v. State, 60 N.J. 36, 51 (1972) (although hearsay is admissible in an administrative proceeding, for the court to sustain an administrative decision which effects the substantial rights of a party, there must be a residuum of legal and competent evidence on the record to support it). See also, In the Matter of Allegations of Sexual Abuse at East Park High School, Slip Op. (Superior Ct. of NJ., App. Div. Appeal No. A-3715-93T5 decided July 21, 1998) (administrative issue preclusion depends, among other things, upon the existence of competent, credible evidence on the record in an administrative hearing.)

Even if the Board had proven it received approval from the County Superintendent, the Board still would not have established a complete defense. First, the mere fact that the County Superintendent's approved the creation of the position does not mean that the County Superintendent approved the Board's use of the librarian aide to staff the library by herself and to coordinate "educational media services" in the process. Second, although a County Superintendent has the authority to approve a paraprofessional position where none exists, he or she does not have the power to create a title in contravention of the certification requirements promulgated by the State Board.

The Commissioner has long held that a local board of education cannot use aides to perform job functions which the State Board has determined are professional in nature. In such cases, it makes no difference whether the local board seeks and receives approval from the County Superintendent to approve the creation of the aide position.

For example, in Scrupinski v. Bd. of Ed. of Warren Tp., 1977 S.L.D. 1051, the local board eliminated two nursing positions and created five "school health aide" positions. In the process, the local board sought and received the approval of the County Superintendent for the creation of the aide positions. The job descriptions for the aide positions required the aides to be registered nurses and to hold county substitute certificates. The petitioners in that case claimed that the aides had assumed some of the duties of the school nurse title recognized by the State Board's regulations. The Commissioner agreed, holding:

> The Board's requirement that its school health aide applicants be registered nurses establishes, in the Commissioner's judgment, the attempt by the Board to provide "full nurse coverage" through the use of the less than fully trained school nurses who meet the State Board of Education's academic requirements set forth in [the regulations].
>
> The Commissioner has reviewed the job description . . . of the school health aides, the hearing examiner's finding that such duties more properly are assigned to school nurses, and the Board's objections thereto. The Commissioner opines that if the assigned duties were solely of a clerical nature, as the Board insists, then there would be no sound reason why the aide must also be a registered nurse. In reality, the school health aides are assigned the duties of providing nursing services to pupils, which duties are reserved for properly certified school nurses. 1977 S.L.D. at 1055.

The Commissioner concluded "[n]o board of education has authority to replace the duties of a teaching staff member by assigning such duties to an aide." 1977 S.L.D. at 1056.

More than 20 years later, the Board in this case is trying to do the same thing. Like Scrupinski, the job description in the present case requires the aide to have more education than other aides and to hold a county substitute certificate. As is set forth above, the record in this case plainly reveals that the aide has assumed some of the duties originally contained in the draft librarian job description and is coordinating "educational media services" on a day-to-day basis, a task for which the State Board's regulation plainly require an educational services certificate. The analysis is the same:

> . . .if the assigned duties were solely of a clerical nature, as the Board insists, then there would be no sound reason why the aide must also [have an associate's degree and a county substitute certificate]. In reality, the [librarian aide is] assigned the duties of providing [educational media services] to pupils, which duties are reserved for properly certificated [educational media specialists]. Id.

Moreover, the librarian aide description also fails under the State Board's regulations providing for the issuance of a county substitute certificate. Those regulations authorize the holder of such a certificate to substitute teach on a temporary basis, not permanently. The regulation provides:

> (a) Persons who do not hold a standard instructional certificate issued by the State Board of Examiners but who can present a minimum of 60 semester hour credits completed in an accredited college, may be granted a county substitute certificate for a day to day substitute teaching in the county which grants the certificate.
> (c) The certificate will be issued for a three year period, but the holder may serve for no more than 20 consecutive days in the same position in one school district during the school year. Such certificates, which are issued by the County Superintendent of Schools, are to be granted only when the supply of properly certificated teachers is inadequate to staff the school. They carry none of the accr[illegible] benefits, such as pension and tenure, to which a regularly employed teacher is entitled, and [such certificates are intended only for persons temporarily performing the duties of a fully certificated and regularly employed teacher.(Emphasis supplied).

In clear violation of this regulation, Ms. Bell plainly does not serve as a day to day substitute teacher. In further violation of this regulation, the uncontested record in this case demonstrates that she has worked since September of 1997 in the same position -- far more than the 20 consecutive days permitted by the regulation. Such service also contravenes the stated intention of the regulation that such certificates be used only for persons temporarily performing the duties of a fully certificated and regularly employed teacher. Ms. Bell substitutes for no one.

IV. The Board is Engaging in a Continuing Violation N.J.A.C. 6:11-11.6 by Operating the Library Without Having a Professional Librarian in Place.

N.J.A.C. 6:11-11.6 reads:

Professional librarian

> (a) This certificate is required for employment as a professional librarian in libraries supported in whole or in part by public funds, serving communities of 10,000 population and above.
>
> (b) The requirements include a master's degree in library or information science in an approved library program.

Accordingly, the regulation requires that a library serving a community of 10,000 or more which is supported in whole or in part by public funds to have a professional librarian with an appropriate certificate.

It is uncontested that the population of Pennsville Township, Salem County is greater than 10,000 (petition and answer, ¶5.) and that the library is operating without a professional librarian with a professional librarian certificate or a master's degree in place. This constitutes a continuing violation of N.J.A.C. 6:11-11.6.

Conclusion

For the foregoing reasons, the Board has violated and continues to violate the statutory and regulatory law and the decisional law of the Commissioner by operating the Pennsville Middle School Library without having a properly certificated educational media specialist in place. Your Honor should:

A. Find and declare that the Board has violated and continues to violate statutory and regulatory law and the decisional law of the Commissioner by providing "educational media services" at the library at the Pennsville Middle School without having a properly certificated educational media specialist in place to develop and coordinate them;

B. Order the Board to immediately hire a properly certificated person to perform these tasks, and

C. Award such other and further relief as this tribunal deems appropriate.

The Board's Position

Statement of Facts

At the end of the 1996-97 school year, Mr. Richard Blocksom, retired as the librarian of the Pennsville Township Middle School which serves grades sixth, seventh and eighth. Prior to his retirement, Mr. Blocksom, at the request of Dr. Robert Peddle, provided job descriptions for two positions, those being librarian and librarian aide. Dr. Peddle reviewed the job descriptions provided to him by Mr. Blocksom and made some alterations or melded some of the duties. Thereafter, the position of librarian aide was advertised within the school district and Mrs. Anne Marie Bell responded by applying for said position.

Dr. Peddle forwarded a copy of the job description and job title to Michael R Elwell, County Superintendent of Schools for his review and comments as required when a new position is created. This application for approval of school aide position was approved by Michael R. Elwell on October 15, 1997. Reference to this approval is made in the letter dated February 20, 19997, from Michael R. Elwell to Mr. Thomas G. Myers, of the NJEA which was attached to petitioner's Petition for Declaratory Ruling pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6:24-2.1 as Exhibit B.

Anne Marie Bell began serving as librarian aide in the Fall of 1997-98 school year. She continues to the present time in that position. Anne Marie Bell holds a county substitute certificate.

Petitioner contends that Anne Marie Bell in her position as librarian aide performs the duties of a librarian and educational medial specialist in violation of statutory and regulatory law and the decisional law of the Commissioner. The position of the respondent, Pennsville Township Board of Education is that Anne Marie Bell performs clerical duties not professional duties and aides and the principal of Middle School, Mr. Idarolla who is responsible for overseeing the operation of the library.

LAW AND ARGUMENT

I. The Pennsville Township Board of Education is not in Violation of N.J.A.C. 6:11-11.17 nor is it in Violation of Decisional Law of the Commissioner

The respondent agrees that there are specific requirements to be designated an Educational media specialist which are set forth at N.J.A.C. 6:11-11.17(b). If the Board had decided to replace Richard Blocksom with an individual who was responsible for developing and coordinating educational media services in the Board's Middle School Library, it is admitted that that person would be required to be an educational media specialist. However, the Board decided instead to hire a librarian aide or library aide as the full time employee for the Middle School Library with the clerical functions of the library being assigned to that person.

The issues in dispute as to the job description for librarian aide centers on the first four subheadings under Duties, Responsibilities and Authority. Exhibit J-2. Mrs. Bell testified that she does not supervise class research. She stated that it was made very plain to her when she was hired that she would not be supervising class research and that she was not permitted to supervise class research. The testimony of Mr. Anthony Visalli and Mrs. Bell was consistent in regard to this issue. Mrs. Bell testified that normally a student had already been told what resources to use for research by their teacher before the student came to the library. Upon being asked for help from a student, Mrs. Bell would direct them to the card catalogue and if they still experienced difficulty, she would direct the to the area of that subject matter on the shelves. Mr. Anthony Visalli, one of petitioner's witnesses testified that he typically supervises research for his class when he takes them to the library. He was asked if he ever saw Mrs. Bell assist one of his students and he answered affirmatively. Upon more specific questioning on cross examination, he stated that he had seen students walk up to Mrs. Bell to ask questions. He went on to state that this interaction related to their inquiries regarding video disks which had to be signed out by her. Upon being asked whether this wasn't a clerical function, Mr. Visalli stated, "yes, I would say so."

The second area objected to by the petitioner concerns "Evaluating the collection when necessary." Mrs. Bell testified that there is no specific evaluation process. Mr. Blocksom testified that due to the small size of the library that books needed to be "weeded out" to make room for new books. The rule of thumb followed by Mrs. Bell was that if the book was printed prior to 1980 and had not been used in the last five to ten years that it would probably make the discard pile. It is submitted that this method of checking the printing date of a book and the card for the date of last usage as a method of "weeding out" books is a clerical function. This does not involve a professional evaluation of the collection.

The third area of contention is that of "Selecting and ordering books." The testimony of Mrs. Bell was that she followed student preferences for particular authors or sorts of books as well as teacher recommendations. She also placed Newberry Medal winning books as well as books recommended by the American Library Association on her list of proposed purchases. The procedure after completing a list of recommended purchases of books was that the list then went to the building principal for review and thereafter Dr. Robert Peddle for review. It is admitted that Mr. Blocksom or a comparable professional would be capable of doing a more in depth evaluation and analysis of what books should be purchased for the Middle School Library. The method of taking teacher and student recommendations and the recommendations of two reputable associations and placing them on an order form is clerical in nature. Mrs. Bell also testified that when there was a shortage of a poplar title she would go to Borders Books or Waldman Books to purchase additional copies. It is submitted that these purchase decisions are also clerical in nature in that a shortage of a book is observed and the situation is remedied.

The fourth and last area in dispute is that of cataloguing and classifying books when indicated. Mrs. Bell testified that all major book sellers precatalogued books so that there is no need to determine how to catalogue them when they come into the library. With the books precatalogued, the entry of the book into the inventory of the library is a clerical function. For those book sellers that do not offer cataloguing, Mrs. Bell testified that there is a service available that will catalogue a book at the cost of 95 cents per book. Mrs. Bell testified that on one occasion when she first began working in the library, there was at least one book left uncatalogued by Mr. Blocksom. Rather than attempt to catalogue this book she gave it to a teacher for his classroom library.

The testimony of Mr. Blocksom is enlightening on the subject of clerical v. professional duties. On re-direct, Keith Waldman, Esquire, asked Mr. Blocksom if some of the tasks in 1-4 of duties on Exhibit J-2 could be clerical and Mr. Blocksom responded "Aspects of each 1-4 could be clerical." Keith Waldman, Esquire, then asked if each and every aspect of 1-4 could be considered clerical and Mr. Blocksom stated, "yes it could be, to a certain extent." In summary, the testimony of Mrs. Bell was consistent with the position of the Board that her position is clerical in nature and does not cross over into the professional duties of a librarian.
