

Anizya
Blackman

2-1-2021

(3) The hardest challenge for me during this pandemic was, moving to a different area and maintaining stability. Finding jobs with a weekly pay and an hourly wage of at least $13.00 hourly. Staying away from the ones I love the most because I was always busy and I ~~wasn't~~ didn't want to risk getting them sick. (If I were to be sick). This was the hardest challenge ~~of~~ for me during this pandemic.

(4) What surprised me about the pandemic was, the population change. Death. Yesterday, for example, there were 29 deaths in New Jersey. Covid 19 cases are at 4,288 in just one day. These days a common cold can make you lose a job. A sniffle, sneeze, cough ect. is a bad look. This is what surprised me the most.

(ii) My greatest fears moving forward are, Overcoming what ever battles I have to fight and losing it behind covid, regular accident or death. Finally getting where I want to be in life and losing it all. Or reaching my success and some how some way watching it go down the drain. These are my greatest fears of moving forward.