Mr. Ozzard nominated Mr. Sandman for the office of permanent President of the Senate. Mr. Grossi seconded the nomination. The Secretary was directed to call the roll.

In the affirmative were—

Messrs. Bowkley, Deamer, Dumont, Farley, Forsythe, Grossi, Hillery, Hunt, Kelly, Lynch, Mathis, Ozzard, Sarcone, Scholz, Stamler, Stout, Waddington, Weber, Woolfenden—19.

In the negative—None.

Mr. Sandman was declared elected President of the Senate for the legislative year and was escorted to the rostrum by Messrs. Stamler, Lynch and Deamer.

The oath of office as President of the Senate was administered by Judge Anthony Cafiero, of Cape May County. After the oath of office was administered President Sandman addressed the Senate as follows:

New Jersey, like almost all of the States of this great union, must accept 1965 as a year of monumental decisions—a year that will live in the State's history as predominant to all other years, with the possible exception of the year 1776.

It is the year of the most drastic change in the constitutional government of the third oldest State in the nation. It is a year when the State will not only elect a Governor but will also elect an entire Legislature. The strength of each party will be tested in one of the most controversial elections of our time.

The validity of our State Constitution has been challenged and decided by the New Jersey Supreme Court. We have been directed by that court to reapportion our Legislature under a system of equal proportions. Whether or not we agree with the interpretation of our Constitution by the Court, we must as citizens and members of the Senate obey its mandate. To do this, the ability, integrity, and statesmanship of all of us in the Legislature will most certainly receive its acid test.

To do all that the Court orders within the assigned time, we must dispense with all partisan and selfish ideas and principles. In many instances Senators from both sides of the aisle may find themselves voting themselves out of office and depriving the counties that they represent of a whole seat in the State Senate. A more arduous task has never been assigned to any Senate that has ever occupied this chamber in its 189 years of existence.

Whatever we do, we must according to the Court's direction preserve the principle that every man's vote is equal and at the same time we must adopt a sensible and workable system of checks and balances. We must at all times protect the small against the winds of the mighty. We must forever maintain the separation of powers of the three branches of government. Let those who leave this Senate next year leave it with a confident feeling that we have maintained the Senate's operation according to the highest tradition and that we have never at any time divided or diminished its just and legal authority.

The former Speaker of the House and I have appointed a most outstanding committee to advise the Legislature on this issue of unparalleled importance. The Reapportionment Commission is bi-partisan. Its members come from both large and small counties. It contains a former Governor, a former Supreme Court justice and the most capable and representative group of citizens we could find. They were directed to report to this Legislature by February 1, 1965 with recommendations to reapportion legislative seats and congressional districts. Their recommendations will not be final or binding. However, they will carry great weight. The program finally adopted by the Legislature must not only be fair and workable, it must also be sound and lasting.

The Supreme Court has directed that a reapportionment plan must be adopted by the Legislature not later than April 1, 1965. However, under the present law, we must complete this work at an earlier date since the last date for candidates to file for public office expires in mid March—almost three weeks prior to the Court's deadline. Therefore, we must work with dispatch if we are to meet our obligations. A postponement of the Primary Election will be detrimental to many candidates since they will be running for the first time in newer and larger territories than ever before. The candidates for all legislative offices as well as those who seek to be candidates for Governor, are entitled to full exposure and the people are equally entitled to an adequate time to elect the best candidate. Let us today resolve to do this job—and not postpone it.

Of course the Governor if he chooses can automatically postpone the Primary Election by vetoing the reapportionment bills. But if this is attempted by the Governor for frivolous reasons only to set back the primary date to September, then his actions will be challenged by the Legislature and the public.

The issue of legislative reapportionment, therefore, is the number one priority in our Legislative program of 1965. The issue must be considered in detail and in depth. To do this properly, it is altogether possible that the Legislature will not have a winter recess this year.

Fiscal responsibility

When I addressed the Senate last year on opening day, I presented a program on behalf of the Legislature which said we would meet our fiscal responsibility. We said that we would balance the budget without an increase in any tax or by the imposition of any new tax and at the same time meet the capital needs of the State by presenting specific bond issue referendums for specific purposes and projects. It is now evident that we have completed that portion of the 1964 program.

It is our position that we can balance the fiscal year budget for 1965-66 without an increase in any existing tax or the imposition of any new tax provided there are no unforeseen increases in large amounts in the capital sections of the budget.

To balance the budget under this method, we must again honestly tell the people that this method will allow no monies for additional State aid to the counties, municipalities and school districts, nor will it provide any local tax relief. To do those things, the imposition of a broad base tax would be necessary. It is now well known that there is a great division of thought in both major parties as to the adoption of a broad base tax. However, it is safe to say that a broad base tax will not be adopted in 1965 unless there is a drastic need for a great amount of additional money for capital construction.

In 1964, our legislative program recommended four major changes for efficiency in government. Most of these have been accomplished after long and hard debate. We have given the State House Commission more authority in the handling of contracts for capital construction, the transfer of funds and the issuance of extra work orders.

We have established a Little Hoover Commission, even though it had to function without any money in 1964. The need for its existence is now apparent and money will be forthcoming for this commission in 1965. The Administration vetoed funds that were needed to do the job in 1964 and even blocked the commission from receiving the paltry sum of $4,000 for a preliminary survey. The Administration had finally seen the light and now we are told is willing to co-operate.

Last year, we recommended long range planning in all departments. The shortcomings in this area I will touch upon later.

We recommended a close scrutiny of building costs, pointing out that the day of underestimating capital contracts by as much as 40 percent must come to an end. And even though the Administration made some efforts to co-operate along this line, let me cite one example of how more than a half million dollars was completely wasted.

The first priority project in the $50 million bond issue for institutions is the second thousand-bed hospital for the mentally ill. This project was to be a duplication of the first thousand-bed hospital at Woodbridge. Even though the plans with the exception of the foundation were to be identical in almost all respects, no attempt was made by the Administration to use the same plans. In fact, we learned that we could not use the same plans. Despite the fact the State paid the architect 779 thousand dollars, the State did not own the plans for the purpose of their re-use.

This was bad enough. But then we learned that no attempt was made by the Administration to re-negotiate for the same architect. Instead, a new architect was hired to design the same building at a fee in excess of  $\frac{3}{4}$  of a million dollars. A procedure such as this would never be used in a normal business. A procedure such as this cannot be looked upon as sound. And if it is not sound business, it is not good government.

Capital Projects

Highway Department. We recommended in 1964 the expansion of existing toll roads. Only one such expansion was legislated and signed into law, that being an extension of the Garden State Parkway from Toms River to New Brunswick. This would bring through truck traffic North and South throughout the State. Our job is now to build that road and to make sure that it is built at the earliest possible date. I have today directed the Senate Highway Committee to make quarterly reports to the Senate as to its progress.

Throughout 1964, there has been much criticism of the New Jersey Highway Department. Most of it is contained in the Booz-Allen report. There is no question that many changes can be made in the Highway Department to render a greater degree of efficiency.

The report clearly tells us that the Highway Commissioner needs more help, especially in the skilled field. Now, it is real easy to promiscuously blame the Highway Commissioner for inefficiency. But if we are to be constructive and if we are to improve our operations, it seems to me that a close look must be given to the entire situation before the blame can be fixed. When a highway is not built as quickly as everyone would like to see it built, the first to be blamed is the Highway Commissioner.

Let me cite one glaring example which I think exemplified the major shortcomings.

Verrazzano-Narrows Bridge

New Jersey knew eight years ago that the Verrazzano-Narrows Bridge would be built. The year was 1956. That year the New Jersey Highway Commissioner recommended the construction of a super highway which would connect Route 1 with the Outer Bridge Crossing, giving a four-lane artery to service the accelerated traffic caused by the construction of the Verrazzano-Narrows Bridge.

The Highway Commissioner was stopped in his efforts to build this highway purely by political pressure emanating from the Governor's office. Even though he fought constantly for eight long years for this needed highway he was stopped by the Administration at every turn. In essence, what happened was that the most expensive bridge per mile in the world was built. Beautiful arteries to handle this traffic were built on the New York side but New Jersey throughout the eight-year period sat on its hands and did nothing—so that today the bumper-to-bumper traffic coming off the Verrazzano-Narrows Bridge into New Jersey has jammed all the city streets on the New Jersey side. It will take more than two years to construct this highway. And the construction costs today, from the best information available to us, is five million dollars higher than it was even six years ago. This is planning at its worst, and the most interesting thing about it all is that we learned today that only two weeks ago the Administration finally agreed to let the Highway Commissioner build Route 287 from Route 1 to Outer Bridge Crossing. The most amazing thing of all is that it will be built over exactly the same route that the Highway Commissioner recommended eight years ago.

Under this set of circumstances, can anyone justly accuse the Highway Commissioner for not building Route 287? I don't think so. I think the real blame for this and other situations of delay can be placed on political pressures coming from the Governor's office.

Our highway program must be accelerated, many parts of the Booz-Allen report should be implemented and all of this should be done on a constructive basis and not one which merely criticizes the Highway Commissioner.

Higher Education

In 1964 the Joint Legislative Education Committee, according to our program, recommended a 40 million dollar bond issue for higher education capital construction. This bond issue has been approved by the people and the money is now available. We appropriated monies in last year's budget to do the preliminary engineering and, from the best information available to me, we are ready to proceed with construction of these buildings. Now it is our job to get the building constructed at an early date.

So that the Legislature will at all times be informed as to the progress of construction, I have today directed the Senate Education Committee to make quarterly reports to the Senate on the progress of this work.

In 1964 we recommended a four-year College of Aeronautics to be built at Pomona in Atlantic County, the site of the large NAFEC installation. Much work has already been done in persuading the Federal Government to build this project. For the idea of the project and the work that has been done up to now, the State is greatly indebted to the Senator from Atlantic County.

Institutions and Agencies

In 1964 the Joint Legislative Committee on Institutions and Agencies, in line with our program, recommended a bond issue for 50 million dollars for new institutions according to a new list of priorities. The people have approved the referendum. The money is now available. In this year's budget we appropriated sufficient monies to do the preliminary engineering so that construction time could be shortened by one year.

From the best information available to me we are ready to proceed with construction of many of these needed buildings. The job that is ours in 1965 is to see to it that the projects get underway and completed at the earliest possible date. To accomplish this, I have today directed the Senate Committee on Institutions and Agencies to render quarterly reports to the Senate on the progress of this construction.

Economic Expansions

New Jersey has for too long a period of time spent too little money on the promotion of this State, its industries and its recreational facilities. It is far wiser to spend money in the endeavor of bringing new industry to our State to create more jobs for the people than it is to spend the same money for public relations staffs that are used primarily for political purposes.

We have recommended the opening of publicity offices in key cities such as New York, Philadelphia and Washington, D. C. to show the surrounding public what New Jersey has and the benefits of doing business with New Jersey. At long last the State has opened its first office in New York. This we agree is a step in the right direction. However, this is only the beginning if we are to exploit a far richer field of promotion and new business.

Equal Rights

The most cherished possession of any American citizen is the right to earn a good living for his family. Every person's right to learn and advance and to have the full enjoyment of his property must be protected. The best man or woman should in every case get the job regardless of prejudice of any nature.

Our greatest problem in 1965 in our attack upon prejudice and discrimination is the enforcement of existing laws and not creation of new laws that may be designed for use for window-dressing. New Jersey is a leader in the civil rights field. Its position can only be maintained and improved with adequate enforcement of the laws prohibiting discrimination in all fields of endeavor.

Lastly, we owe an obligation to the people to the extent that every person should keep and enjoy as much as possible of the fruits of his labors. We can best do this by restricting those unscrupulous people who unduly extract money from the pockets of our citizens. There is no need in the twentieth century for loan sharks or home improvement gyps. Their activities must be eliminated. Up to date banking and insurance laws are also of the utmost necessity.

Conclusion

There are many other points in our legislative program which are too lengthy for me to report at this time. However, those will be released and made available to the public today. The report that I have made I am convinced is constructive. It is critical only where it must be critical and, above all, it gives an honest representation of what the people can expect in 1965. It is an ambitious program which can only be accomplished with a maximum of cooperation from all parties concerned.

The task of the 189th Legislature is the most arduous and without parallel in the long history of our State. What happens to any of us who must make these great decisions is unimportant. The thing that is important is that we collectively reach the proper decisions. For the impact of what we do will have a long and lasting effect upon succeeding generations yet unborn.

Thank you.

Mr. Sandman moved to proceed to the election of a permanent Secretary. Mr. Stout nominated Henry H. Patterson, of the County of Monmouth. There being no further nominations President Sandman directed Mr. Roy Schleich to call the roll.

In the affirmative were—

In the negative—None.

Mr. Sandman declared Mr. Patterson elected permanent Secretary of the Senate and administered the oath of office to Secretary Patterson.

Upon announcement by Mr. Sandman that the Senate has organized and is now ready to proceed to business, the 1965 session was opened with prayer by Rev. W. Neal Raver.

Under the direction of the President, the Secretary called the Senate, when the following Senators appeared and answered the call:

Mr. Ozzard offered the following resolution, which was read and adopted:

Resolved, That a committee of 4 be appointed to await upon His Excellency the Governor and inform him that the Senate has organized and elected the Honorable Charles W. Sandman, Jr., of the County of Cape May, President, and Henry H. Patterson, of the County of Monmouth, Secretary, and is now ready to proceed to business and also to receive any communications that he may forward.

Mr. Sandman appointed Messrs. Weber, Waddington, Scholz and Forsythe to inform the Governor that the Senate has organized in accordance with said resolution.

Mr. Ozzard offered the following resolution, which was read and adopted:

THIRD ANNUAL MESSAGE

Mr. President, Madam Speaker and Members of the Senate and General Assembly:

We meet today in an atmosphere of change. This will be the final year of the New Jersey Legislature as presently constituted. Together, the Legislature and Governor have been called upon to take historic new action to revise the legislative branch of government in keeping with the mandate of the United States Constitution, as declared by the Supreme Court of the United States and the Supreme Court of New Jersey. While many respected viewpoints exist as to the wisdom of these decisions, there is no room for dispute as to the duty of obedience to the supreme law of the land.

This turning point for New Jersey coincides with what many people see as the opening of another era in the history of our great nation. In America, at this midpoint of the 1960's, a newly elected administration and Congress take office in an age which looks forward with real hope to the conquest of space, the achievement of peace for all men, and the equitable distribution of the fruits of man's genius.

In the same sense, as we write a close to one chapter in New Jersey history, we have the opportunity to begin to shape the story of New Jersey's future. The work before us will not be easy. The identification of our problems and needs is less difficult than the accomplishment of their solutions. This is not a time for political ease or political expedience, but a time for courage in coming to grips with the issues before our State. And this invokes a sense of responsibility for, as Theodore Roosevelt once said, "If we are to be a really great people, we cannot avoid meeting great issues. All we can determine is whether we shall meet them well or ill."

In New Jersey, the problems which confront most states appear in sharp focus. This is not a new concept. It was recognized 54 years ago when Governor Woodrow Wilson described New Jersey as a "laboratory" for the development of national solutions.

The years that since have passed have served only to intensify the problems he cited and to add many more to the list.

The problems of an adequate supply of pure water for human and industrial use; the assurance of pure air; the provision of adequate housing in our cities and the preservation of community life in these cities; planning the most useful development of our open land for industrial, residential and recreational use—these will be some of the major problems and challenges of the next 30 years and they will demand vigorous action before this decade ends if they are not to overwhelm us.

We must take action now—in the 1960's—to see that New Jersey does not become a grim preview of a polluted, congested world of the future.

We cannot permit our State to strangle in traffic congestion, to fail in its responsibilities to educate its children and provide jobs for them to make that education meaningful. We must assure that no Jerseyan be barred from the full exercise of his natural talents or his human rights because of his religion or race. We must build a framework of law and administration to protect the innocent against the unscrupulous. And we must ever bear in mind our duty, as a humane people, to provide for the needs of the ill, the handicapped, the disabled.

These indeed are imposing tasks. But we have been blessed with the means to meet them. We need only summon the will.

OUR HUMAN RESOURCES

EDUCATION—THE CORNERSTONE

Education is the cornerstone of the society in which we and those who follow us will live, and no part of the life of this State consumes more of the attention of our citizens than does the education of our children. We see in them the most priceless of assets, and thus we are united in the determination to build a first-class educational system, and have regularly dedicated to that effort the largest part of our spending, both on the State and local level. In many ways we have made substantial progress. Enrollment in the public schools has grown from 800,000 to 1¼ million in the past 10 years. Yet, today the supply of teachers needed is more nearly in balance with the demand than it has been during the past decade. This has been made possible through expanded enrollment in our State colleges and new programs of teacher-preparation in our private colleges and universities.

And commendable progress, too, has been made in the physical facilities of our public schools. A local school district building program averaging $100 million a year has decreased the number of pupils on half-sessions and in overcrowded buildings from 140,800 to 115,000 during the past year alone. The number of classes for the physically and mentally handicapped has increased, with more than 17,000 enrolled this year. New programs for the special training of teachers for handicapped children—a profession touched with a particular glory—have been instituted in many colleges. Our expanding efforts on behalf of the less fortunate can be a matter of pride to all New Jerseyans.

If we speak of higher education, significant increases in enrollment have been accompanied by curriculum additions and improvements. During the past decade, full-time enrollment in publicly supported colleges has risen from 10,000 to over 27,000. All six State colleges now offer full majors equivalent to those offered in any general college and have added special programs on the education of the handicapped, for school librarians, nurses, guidance specialists and remedial reading teachers. Last year, as an experiment, Newark State College and Jersey City State College made a special effort to orient a part of the senior class toward the needs of education in the disadvantaged sections of our large cities. As one result, 39 graduates of Newark State were offered and accepted positions in the Newark schools.

A CATALOGUE OF PROGRESS

The steady expansion of Rutgers—The State University has continued through a new Center for Information Processing for training and research in the use of computers, a new Radiation

Science Center, the addition of a chemical engineering curriculum, the dedication of the Center for Alcohol Studies, the installation of a huge Tandem Accelerator for research and training in nuclear physics, capped by the acquisition of 540 acres of Camp Kilmer land where eventually thousands of students will be accommodated with laboratories, classrooms and residential dormitories.

Additionally, I was pleased, in accordance with the Water Resources Act of 1964, to designate the University as the Water Resource Research Institute for the State of New Jersey. Moreover, this Administration is actively seeking the designation by federal authorities of Rutgers as the site for the Federal Water Pollution Laboratory for the Middle Atlantic States. The particular relevance of both of these Research Centers to the future of New Jersey is self-evident.

This year has seen, too, continued evidence of the partnership between University and government such as in the study of legislative procedures completed by the Eagleton Institute and the ongoing assistance of the Urban Studies Center to the Newark Community Action Program.

Last fall we dedicated the new Physics Building at the Science Center on the University's Piscataway Township campus. It is gratifying to note that this important Center is continuing to expand and not only contribute to the education of the State's undergraduate and graduate students but also to work cooperatively with industry in the State of New Jersey. The magnet-like effect of these developments has already been demonstrated in the decision of many industries to locate in the area, proof positive of the interdependence of advanced education and industrial progress.

TWO MEDICAL SCHOOLS

In a most heartening demonstration of cooperation for the public good, a bipartisan effort has made it possible for the State to take over the operation of the Seton Hall College of Medicine and Dentistry. At the same time, the State pledged additional future support of substantial nature for the further development of the two-year medical school at Rutgers. Thus, almost overnight, the State has made up for years of inaction and finds itself with two sorely needed medical schools, one of high reputation already in operation and the other in advanced stages of preparation.

On another subject, it seems to me that New Jersey, because of its preeminence in electronic manufacture, research in varied fields, and many other types of advanced technology, must be alert to special opportunities to develop educational resources to meet a particular need. As an example, there exists within our State borders the National Air Facilities Experimental Center at Pomona, in Atlantic County. Why should not this facility be complemented and a very great opportunity for New Jersey be realized by encouraging the establishment at that site of a four-year college program in the fields of aeronautical and air space sciences? A revised bill to lay the groundwork for this development will be offered to you for consideration.

One of the most exciting developments during my administration has been the providing of opportunities for higher education in the establishment of the two-year county colleges. Fifteen of our counties are now engaged in some state of county college development and five have been initiated already, having been approved by the State Board of Education. In 1966 the first of these will be opening their doors to new thousands of New Jersey boys and girls. Funds must be found for aggressive county college development, for we have made an outstanding start and cannot permit this program to founder.

NEW BLUEPRINTS

Research, experiment and self-analysis have continued to play an important part in our educational system. The past year has seen the publication of three education studies undertaken by the State—the Report on Higher Education, the Report on Special Education and the Report on Vocational Education. These are challenging and provocative studies and I commend them to your thoughtful attention. The Report on Higher Education has already induced a considerable amount of discussion and I hope that before any judgment is made on the recommendations it contains, there will be an even wider public discussion and an opportunity given to all who have an interest in the future of higher education in New Jersey to present their views to you.

Experimental demonstration projects have also been used to improve our system. For example, our Department of Education is presently engaged in an experimental nursery school program for four-year-olds in cooperation with the school system of Trenton. This program, known as the Junior Five Project, is designed to prepare children for a meaningful and successful school experience which such problems as mobility and low economic status would otherwise prevent. The program was started last year and now the first group is attending kindergarten. While the continuing study is not complete, the kindergarten teachers and other experts believe that those who were in the nursery school last year are more self-confident and independent, have greater language facility and physical coordination, participate more, and in general seem to have had great benefit through the nursery school year.

New Jersey was the first State to conduct a thorough statewide study of school dropouts and, through the use of data processing methods, a continuous flow of information is available concerning the number, the location and the cause of school dropouts. This information is used by the Department in follow-up studies to determine the fundamental causes underlying this problem.

New Jersey was a pioneer in instituting safety programs in such a peripheral area as school bus warning lights. The Society of Automotive Engineers has now mandated for the United States the broad beam flashing red light developed by this State. I am happy to report that since the installation of the New Jersey-developed flashing light system, accidents at our school bus stops have been reduced by 70 per cent. Suggested improvements in the enforcement aspects of these laws will be submitted to you.

While we have made progress, we should not be complacent. The needs in education of our fast-growing population are almost insatiable. As in many other areas, the crucial ingredient is money. The $40 million bond issue which was approved in November will provide additional needed facilities for our colleges, but it only begins to meet the needs. The Strayer Report estimated our minimal college needs between now and 1970 at $134 million. Unless provision is made for additional facilities in the very near future, a whole generation of college students will be lost. It is not a matter of pride for New Jersey to acknowledge itself to be at or near the bottom of the list of the states in degree of financial support of higher education.

A NEW PLAN FOR SCHOLARSHIPS

Rising costs of private colleges combined with inadequacies of space in State-supported institutions have rendered our program of scholarship assistance inadequate. To date the State has invested more than $14 million in scholarship aid—11,000 of our young people hold scholarships. In addition, more than 8,000 students are receiving the benefit of our student loan program. There is reason for pride in this situation, but we must note a serious shortcoming. Because of the disparity in admission fees between State-supported and private colleges, our $400 scholarship is realistic only in terms of attendance at the State-supported institutions. The recipient, faced with the substantially higher tuition costs of the private college, has little freedom of choice. Our State Board of Education, has, therefore, recommended a program of incentive grants which will provide the needed flexibility of choice. This plan goes beyond the present State scholarship program to provide additional tuition assistance to college students, to a maximum of $600 a year, related to the student's financial need and the cost of tuition at the college he selects. Such a program would enable a greater number of worthy New Jersey students to select private colleges and at the same time make a corresponding reduction in pressure of the demand for places in the State-supported institutions. This administration will propose appropriate legislation for your consideration in the near future.

TO LIGHTEN A BURDEN

The overwhelming burden for the cost of local public education continues to fall on the local property taxpayer, inasmuch as New Jersey's contribution by way of State aid to education (aside from teachers' pensions) is only 16 per cent of the cost of local public education. I have repeatedly called your attention to the proportionately small contribution made by the State to the local school districts. Although this amounted to $116 million in last year's budget and will be about $120 million this year, it still leaves a crushing burden of cost on the home owner and rent payer, and this burden should not and indeed cannot be carried much longer. To meet the recommendations of the State Tax Policy Commission, we should increase State aid by at least $90 million.

It has been ten years since the State aid formula was revised, and during that period changing conditions have rendered it inadequate. When the Foundation program was established at $200, the median per pupil cost was $262; today it is $476.94. The equalization factor has created an inequitable distribution of the tax burden which results in extremely wide differences in expenditure per pupil as between districts. In spite of the real efforts made by citizens in many low expenditure districts, the goal of equal educational opportunity is receding. In our older cities, particularly, the problem is acute. Almost all of them now find themselves imposing a high local tax rate yet achieving a program of per pupil expenditure which is inadequate for the special educational needs in this type of community. The local taxpayer has shown in his attitude toward a local bond referendum or the local school budget an increasing reluctance to go it alone. Unless we face up to our responsibility towards State aid, our educational system will be in jeopardy.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION—THE PROBLEM

In my last Annual Message I called your attention to the tragedy of our unemployed youth. It has been estimated that 50,000 of our young people between the ages of 16 and 21 are neither in school nor working. Even more alarming is the prediction that an average of 11,000 will be dropping out of school during each of the next five years. In a time when opportunities for the unskilled are almost non-existent, these young people face a life of unemployment, dependency and hopelessness, and present a stark and frightening problem with which the State must deal.

For many pupils, the academic, college-oriented school program often breeds frustration and despair. Handicapped by a home environment deficient in reading or conversational contact and faced with an educational program which has no meaning to them, they endure school only under the compulsion of law and drop out at the first opportunity—barely literate, untrained and unmotivated. Vocational education can and must serve the needs of the slow, the handicapped, the reluctant and the potential dropout, as well as those of high intellectual capacity who gravitate toward the practical type of life-work, if there is to be any meaning at all for the truism that “public education is for all of the children of all of the people.”

Young people vary widely in their abilities, interest and vocational goals. They also differ greatly in personality, emotional stability, family and home backgrounds and in physical and mental health. Recognition of these individual differences has led to the need for a very flexible and diversified program of secondary education in America.

Our Department of Education has recently completed a study of vocational education made by a distinguished group of business, labor and educational leaders. The findings of this committee are startling. Only 3 per cent of our secondary school youth were enrolled in federally reimbursed vocational programs in 1962. We ranked last among the states in the number of persons per 1,000 population enrolled in courses in vocational education and this program manifestly has not reached the disadvantaged to whom I refer. The committee expressed this thought:

“As important as general education is for the development of the individual and the preservation of our culture and way of life, it is not enough for the majority of New Jersey youth who will operate machines, shops, offices and provide our services * * * To the extent that secondary schools are not providing vocational opportunities, they share the responsibility for this situation.”

According to the Strayer Report, about 38 per cent of our secondary school graduates went on to college in 1962. For the remaining 62 per cent a pre-college program had limited utility; and for the 11,000 dropouts, no meaning whatsoever. Under these circumstances, vocational programs which embrace only 3 per cent of the school population are totally unacceptable.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION—A PLAN

The Vocational Educational Study Committee has urgently recommended that training for work be made an integral part of education; that vocational training or work experience be combined with meaningful, job-related general education. I will not take the time here to review the specific recommendations of the Committee, but I commend this study to you and all the citizens of our State.

The Commissioner of Education is deeply concerned about this problem and has been for many years. I have asked him to prepare a program to introduce such training into the regular school curriculum and thus to insure that every child, whatever be his needs, abilities or aspirations, receives from our educational system a meaningful experience which will prepare him for effective participation in society. There has now become available from federal grants under the Vocational Educational Act of 1963, and including State and local matching funds, the sum of $5,400,000 for vocational education. I have requested the Commissioner to consider using a portion of these funds to establish initial programs in appropriate school districts, those presenting a frighteningly high drop-out or youth unemployment rate. Some of these will provide for vastly enriched vocational programs in comprehensive schools and expanded counseling services where guidance will be balanced between the academic, college-oriented student and the occupational, job-oriented student.

The long-range program of the federal Vocational Educational Act of 1963 provides an outstanding opportunity for us to meet the needs of New Jersey youth. The broadened definition of vocational education to include the semi-skilled as well as the skilled—the service occupations as well as the technical occupations—will permit us for the first time to give training in such courses as appliance repair, dry cleaning, dental technician, heating and ventilation and nurse's aide. This new program also will permit a substantial expansion of the work-study concept which has been so successful in the few places where programs thus far have been inaugurated, and to which I made reference in my last Annual Message. These programs provide supervised work experience for persons enrolled in school and who, through a cooperative agreement between the school and employers, receive part-time vocational education in school and on-the-job training in industry.

It may be that further legislation will be required to implement the needed expansion of our vocational education program. I hope that at such time you will give such recommendations your earnest and urgent attention.

THE WAR AGAINST POVERTY

This year marks the opening of the full-scale national war on poverty declared by President Johnson, ratified by the Congress and relying on State and local governments to design the specific battle plans and carry the war to the front lines.

This unique legislation comes at an opportune time. It is unique because it creates self-help programs, not public assistance programs—projects aimed at eradicating the causes of poverty. It is not meant to be more of the same, more dole, more sympathy. It is meant to be for every individual and every family a real opportunity to escape from the vicious cycle of poverty.

It is also unique because it does not attempt to set broad national solutions for poverty problems, but rather puts that burden squarely on State and local government. The legislation recognizes that the causes of poverty and its consequences differ from state to state, from community to community, and calls for local initiative in determining what the problem is and what can be done about it.

It is unique legislation because it requires the involvement of the poor themselves in the planning and operation of these programs. It insists on broad community-wide representation—not doing for people, but people doing for themselves.

The war on poverty comes at a strategic time, because today, for the first time in our history, we in the United States have the resources and the knowledge to eradicate poverty. We know how to get at its roots, how to attack it through education, housing, health and welfare programs, and manpower training designed to meet today's needs.

A TEST OF FEDERALISM

Because it is unique, the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 has far-reaching implications not only for the forgotten families across the country and for New Jersey's 180,000 families living with incomes of $3,000 or less; it has far-reaching implications for the Federal System as well.

In effect, State and local government is being given a tremendous opportunity. The Federal government is saying, "We have marshalled the resources and we make them available to you. Can you mobilize community and State efforts to make a start on eradicating poverty in New Jersey?"

There are two alternatives: one is for New Jersey to sit back while the responsibilities we fail to meet are gradually and necessarily transferred to the Federal government; the other is to respond.

I propose that New Jersey face up to its responsibilities, and I contend that State government at its best is in a position to minister to the diverse needs of its constituents far better than impersonal national programs. I am not espousing archaic States-rightism, but a belief in a partnership under the Federal system which can be maintained and should be maintained only if the States face up to their responsibilities.

In this spirit, three months ago, I established by Executive Order a temporary Office of Economic Opportunity for our State. In those three months New Jersey has taken the leadership among the states in the war against poverty.

THE COMPONENTS OF LEADERSHIP

The principal effort here has been to coordinate the State's economic opportunity goals and to provide direct assistance to communities desiring to participate. By acting rapidly to take advantage of the Act, we have made substantial gain already, and every day sees more New Jersey communities launching programs:

- New Jersey was the first State to receive a grant under the Economic Opportunity Act.
- the Job Corps Center at Camp Kilmer, scheduled to open in mid-February, will be the first such center opened in the country.
- Newark was the first city in the country to sign a contract for a neighborhood youth corps program, providing experience for school dropouts age 16 through 21.

Thirty-one applications under this section of the Act from communities and State agencies have been filed in Washington, more than any other State. They will provide work opportunities and experience to young people in every section of the State, urban and rural.

Five community action programs are already under way. Soon this total will have grown to 12 fully approved community action programs functioning in New Jersey counties and communities.

The New Jersey Office of Economic Opportunity has developed a three-part program especially designed to stimulate anti-poverty efforts in rural New Jersey. The State Department of Health in cooperation with the Office has submitted a proposal for medical examinations and remedial help for school dropouts and draft rejectees taking part in New Jersey anti-poverty programs. The examinations and services will be provided on contract with community hospitals throughout the State. Our Department of Conservation and Economic Development and the Department of Institutions and Agencies have both applied for Federal funds to provide work-experience opportunities in State parks, forests and recreation areas and in State institutions.

New Jersey has already been allocated $561,000 for adult education programs aimed at the poverty population. Moreover, the sum of $1.2 million has been earmarked for New Jersey students in need of part-time and summer work to continue their higher education.

Already more than $14 million in Federal anti-poverty funds have been committed in New Jersey, and this is only a beginning. Given good programs, more than $20 million should be committed by June 30th.

The New Jersey Office of Economic Opportunity has met with more than 60 communities, 13 counties, and numerous private organizations. Its small staff, supplemented by the services of other State agency personnel, has provided major assistance in the development of every community action application from this State.

These new anti-poverty efforts are not written on a blank page. They are intended to expand to full fruition the basic social efforts which have been the concern of State and local government for many years. There are few departments of State government whose programs do not in some way involve New Jersey's poverty population.

If this new infusion of Federal funds is to make a significant beginning in the final eradication of poverty in New Jersey, however, we must not rely solely on our early enlistment in the war against poverty, but must continue our efforts until the final battle is won. Let us spell out new efforts to reach old problems and very serious ones.

TO BREAK A CYCLE

Next fall about 115,000 of our children will be starting school. Of that number, approximately 15,000 will come from the poverty population homes with family incomes of less than $3,000. On their first day of school, many of these children will be doomed to become eventual school dropouts; not because of low I.Q.'s or physical disability, but simply because the home-life which they have experienced has not prepared them for school. They may have the ability to learn but not the motivation. They may never have seen a book before, or never been engaged in any kind of meaningful conversation. Thrown into the school environment with little preparation, with vague and uncertain goals, little incentive, unable to keep up with better prepared classmates, they may be discouraged and frustrated from the very first day. School may become a bitter experience and the path which leads to the dropout may be clearly seen by the end of the first year.

The cost to all of us of this pattern is obvious. Modern technology will almost completely wipe out unskilled jobs by the time these children seek employment 12 years from now. When they do work, they will command low pay. Many will not be able to avoid unemployment and will have to depend on tax-supported public welfare for their subsistence. Left on their own, their children are likely to follow a similar pattern and repeat the unhappy cycle in the next generation.

If we do nothing, for many of these 15,000 five-year-old children, this is exactly the future they will face. But we have it in our power to do something—and do something we must.

I seek your support for a State-wide summer school preparedness program, to begin this summer, tied to the federal Economic Opportunity Act. We have already demonstrated what can be done in a pre-school program to identify and eliminate the problems these children will bring with them on the first day of school—the Trenton Five Project to which I have already referred. We owe it to these children and to ourselves to give them this opportunity.

Ten summer weeks of individualized attention and concentration on these weaknesses, may awaken a desire for success in school which will literally change a child's entire life.

FINANCIAL INCENTIVES

To launch this program which hopefully could reach in this next summer at least 5,000 of those disadvantaged who will be entering school next September, a minimum of funds will be required from State government. In most cases, the Federal government under the Economic Opportunity Act will pay 90 per cent of the costs involved in this program. Much of the remaining 10 per cent can be met by in-kind contributions from communities and the volunteer help we hope this program will induce. But the added incentive of some State dollars and guidance from the State Department of Education can be the spur which initiates local programs.

I will propose in my budget message that a sum of $200,000 be set aside to insure the State's full participation in Federal anti-poverty programs. When added to the $1.8 million in Federal Funds which this State money will generate, a total of $2 million will be available to communities for the following purposes:

- (1) to stimulate summer preparedness programs on the local level for disadvantaged children.
- (2) to provide funds to communities for the purpose of keeping schools in economically deprived areas open beyond the normal school day for the purpose of tutorial, vocational, recreational, adult education programs and other programs under the Economic Opportunity Act.

The New Jersey Office of Economic Opportunity will coordinate these programs with the Department of Education, communities participating in the war against poverty and other agencies which should be involved.

So that State agencies may take advantage of additional funds which are available under the Economic Opportunity Act, I propose that transfer of appropriated State funds be permitted where necessary to make up the required 10 per cent non-federal share. This would permit the New Jersey Office of Economic Opportunity to continue the development of programs such as I have described with the several State Departments.

The small state investment proposed here, with the help of the 90 per cent matching federal formula, on-going state programs, and local contributions, can multiply into a major effort, and the savings to the State in unemployment benefits and welfare programs in later years will make this outlay seem small by comparison.

NEEDED LEGISLATION

In order to give full impetus to the efforts of New Jersey's communities to organize Action Programs under the Economic Opportunity Act, I am submitting legislation to clarify existing State Law on the question of non-profit community corporations.

Many communities have chosen a non-profit corporation or organization as the vehicle through which to channel their anti-poverty efforts. The question has arisen whether local governments and county governments may contribute public funds to such organizations. I will propose that existing State Law be amended to provide that community action organizations recognized under the Federal Economic Opportunity Act are clearly eligible to receive support from municipal and county governments.

These immediate efforts related to the Federal Economic Opportunity Act are not isolated. I refer to many other programs in this message today which complement and supplement our endeavors. The expansion of our vocational education, revision of the ADC program, a State Health Aid Act, a more effective program of state aid to local school districts, and a vigorous program of revised labor benefits for our workers. These must all go hand-in-hand with the continuing responsibilities of State government for the education, health and social welfare of its citizens.

CIVIL RIGHTS—GOALS TO BE REACHED

We observe this year the 20th anniversary of the passage of the first modern civil rights law in New Jersey. The enactment of the landmark Civil Rights Act this past year has seen America pass a crucial milestone in its reach for a society in which citizens accept by their actions, as well as by their words, the self-evident truth that:

“All men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.”

It might be useful for us to reflect for a moment on the progress of human rights in our State and the goal we seek for all our people.

We in New Jersey have always shared the American dream of a better life for our children in a land where the doors of opportunity stand open to all; where our aspirations are limited only by our ability and talent; where hope is made tangible by a progressively more prosperous society. But this abundance has not been shared by all our citizens. Some New Jersey citizens, because of their color, their religion or their national origin—all purely chances of birth unrelated to ability—have been blocked from opportunity, frustrated from hope, and deprived of their share in the American dream.

Our goal is to assure to all citizens those rights we desire to be safeguarded for ourselves. When a citizen of New Jersey, because his skin is dark, cannot acquire the home he can afford, the property rights of all are threatened; if he cannot become a member of a union and thus gain a job for which he has the requisite background and skill, the job security of all workers is threatened; if he cannot attend a school whose standards are as high as any in his community, then all educational standards are lowered; if, in short, he is not free to pursue on equal terms the dream that is the American way of life, that dream itself is diminished.

THE MEASURE OF INEQUALITY

In New Jersey :

- 41 per cent of all non-white families earned less than $4,000 in 1960.
- 38 per cent of the non-white population in Trenton and 52 per cent of the non-white population in Newark were renting dwellings or habitations classified as deteriorating or dilapidated.

A Negro in New Jersey :

- has one-thirtieth the chance of becoming an apprentice in a labor union.
- has one-half the chance of becoming a primary or secondary school teacher.
- has one-ninth the chance of becoming an engineer or technician.
- has two times the prospect of becoming unemployed.

New Jersey has long been a leader in the field of guaranteeing by law the rights of its citizens. We do not intend to lose that leadership now. We are doing and must continue to do all within our means to guarantee equality of opportunity especially in the fields of public accommodation, education, housing and employment.

The State Division of Civil Rights was transferred at the request of this administration to the Department of Law and Public Safety. Its current record of enforcement has vindicated the wisdom of this transfer. The Division in 1964 achieved corrective action in more than 100 cases, the highest in its history, and obtained affirmative implementation of equal opportunity in many additional cases where the specific complaint could then be dismissed.

The Division has used the broad investigatory powers recently granted to it and has established new working relations with many county and municipal human relations councils. It has issued educational materials and has counseled many fair employment, fair housing and other groups throughout the State.

FOR EXPANDED EFFORT

This expanding role of the agency is evidence of the beneficial impact it is having on the maintenance of better human relations and improved opportunity in New Jersey.

In my budget message, I will request additional funds to permit the expansion of the staff of the Division of Civil Rights. In contrast to New Jersey's small staff of 17 professionals, New York State has a professional staff of 200, handling a case load only slightly larger than New Jersey's. Pennsylvania recently augmented its civil rights staff from 53 to 85 professionals.

I also intend to request additional funds to permit this agency to publicize its activities and services more widely and make itself available to more of our citizens.

I am pleased to note the increase of local voluntary and official civil rights activities, especially in the efforts of community race and religion conferences, local private and official human relations councils and civil rights commissions. This administration, through the Civil Rights Division, will continue its efforts to stimulate the formation of similar groups in many more New Jersey communities.

The growing economic and social partnership between business, labor, civil rights and self-help organizations is one of the most enduring developments of the past year. Such partnerships will outlast the problems of the moment to become permanent instruments for better relations among all groups of our society.

This administration will continue to seek to expand employment opportunities through every means available to it. We must be sure that all those willing and able to work can seek employment on an equal basis with all other citizens.

A PATTERN IN SCHOOLS

During this period of rapid social change in New Jersey, we may take pride in the foremost decisions concerning school integration made by any state department of education in the nation. These decisions have been tested and upheld in the Courts and have taken their place in the law journals across the country as precedent-making opinions. Although much remains to be done in this area, a pattern has been established which is guiding local school districts in their efforts to provide full and equal opportunity to all children as guaranteed by the Constitution and statutes of this state.

For several years the Legislature has been urged to pass an amendment to our fair housing law which would represent the determination of this state that no person shall be deprived of the right to own a home because of his nationality, his color of skin or his religion. This important measure deserves your support and I recommend its adoption.

The single most encouraging development of the past year has been the development of machinery at the national and state levels to combat the root causes of much inequality of opportunity—I speak of the War Against Poverty.

As I have noted, the New Jersey Office of Economic Opportunity is already deeply involved in the development and encouragement of programs designed to break the vicious cycle of poverty and lack of opportunity that strikes hardest at the non-white citizen. This administration is committed to this great effort. I am convinced that it is the only way by which our most disadvantaged citizens, especially the young, can gain the skills and opportunities to enjoy fuller, more meaningful lives.

INSTITUTIONS AND AGENCIES—HUMAN IMPACTS

In no area is the impact of government on the individual citizen more profound than in the work of the Department of Institutions and Agencies. In one way or another—whether it be care for the mentally ill, work with retarded children, administration of a variety of welfare programs, rehabilitating young offenders, planning for local hospitals, or so many others—this Department touches directly the lives of some 200,000 of our fellow citizens every day.

Thus, I have sought during the last three years to emphasize, and even dramatize, the needs of our institutions and agencies. Here we are all involved—in cost, in conscience, in humanity. We have had successes, such as the recent institutional bond issue and our Purchase of Care Program for the mentally retarded and the completion of the Woodbridge State School project. We have had setbacks, such as the 1963 Bond Issue which would have provided $60 million for institutional construction to be repaid from the earnings of the New Jersey Turnpike. While a review will show considerable progress in these years, we must bear in mind that New Jersey's remarkable increase in population and urbanization has its most direct reflection in the additional demands placed upon our institutions and agencies. In this light, I would like to review in some detail the achievements and needs of state government in this area.

A major duty facing this Legislature is implementation of the report submitted in 1961 by the Mental Health Commission that was charged four years earlier with the task of reviewing the body of laws concerning the mentally ill and mentally defective. The recommended legislation failed of passage in the sessions since 1961 because of concern about the source of funds that would carry out the recommended changes. As a result, I asked the Department of Institutions and Agencies to work closely with citizens' groups to make new legislative recommendations in this area. I am pleased to report that the Department, working with the New Jersey Mental Health Association, the New Jersey Association for Retarded Children and the New Jersey Welfare Council, has submitted to me proposed legislation which would implement many of the major recommendations of the Mental Health Commission within present budgetary limitations.

We must be forewarned, however, that future amendments will be required to further carry out the recommendations of this outstanding report. And these amendments will require new expenditures of State funds.

A word about the Purchase of Care Program which I recommended and which you enacted last year. As a result of the $1 million appropriation, there now are more than 230 mentally retarded children placed in private care, and a total of 300 will be placed by the end of the fiscal year. We intend to sustain this program in the coming year.

HUMAN AND DOLLAR SAVINGS

Of equal significance in meeting the needs of the retarded is the Department's Day Care Program which began in fiscal 1964 and has been expanded in 1965. I shall recommend a further increase in the next fiscal year. This program permits care and training of retarded children who need not be forced into institutions. The public savings of such a program are obvious. But the human benefits are perhaps even greater: a loved child can remain in a family environment and hope can be maintained that a mentally handicapped human being can be trained for a more useful life which will give real meaning to his existence.

During the past year, the Department, in an effort to improve its services for mentally ill children, established specialized units for afflicted children below the age of 17 at each of our four State mental hospitals. In the last two years a total of 147 new staff positions have been authorized to partially fulfill the requirements of these facilities.

In its concern for the mentally ill and retarded and those otherwise handicapped, the State government is assisted in an important way by two special groups which correlate citizen and government interest and knowledge. These are the Governor's Interdepartmental Committee on Lifetime Disability and its Citizens' Advisory Council, and the Mental Health Planning Project. I want to commend the efforts of the citizens and State officials involved and to express the hope that we can continue to enjoy the fruits of their generous labors.

A SPECIAL EMPHASIS

In an urbanized State such as New Jersey, the demands of welfare programs take on special emphasis. The needs in this area have gained increasing recognition at the Federal level; this has had its impact on State government.

Let me cite a specific example: for three years New Jersey has not implemented the new Federal law which would make children of unemployed fathers eligible for Aid to Dependent Children. These amendments were designed to strengthen family life by eliminating the apparent advantage to a family whose father had deserted over a family with an unemployed father in the home. The existing inequity is apparent. Furthermore, these changes would bring an additional $6 million annually in Federal funds to New Jersey. Because the reduction in cost would benefit municipalities while counties would have to assume additional costs, the necessary legislation has faltered. Unless there is a change in legislative attitude, the solution to this difficulty would seem to lie in an increase in the present level of State aid for county welfare programs. Again, as in so many other vital areas, new state revenues would be a prerequisite.

We are looking in 1965 to bring to reality a number of important recommendations made in a survey by Federal authorities of the Division of Welfare at the request of the Department. The recommendations are designed to strengthen the organizational structure of the Division and they are being reviewed by the Board of Public Welfare and the State Board of Control, with a view toward making them effective at an early date.

NEW REHABILITATION EFFORTS

A major concern of the Department is, of course, in the field of correction. We must deal with the ever increasing pressure on institutional facilities resulting from a steady rise in commitments. To meet this problem, the Division of Correction has undertaken a number of new actions during 1964. The State's reformatories were brought together under a single Board of Managers and a single administrator. We have begun construction of a new 900-bed institution at Yardville. This institution will serve as a center to receive and scientifically classify all male youthful offenders to the end that their detention shall be in the most appropriate institution from the standpoint of security and rehabilitation. Yardville will eliminate the overcrowding of the male reformatories and, when properly staffed, will provide the State with a unique opportunity to gain new knowledge in the successful training and treatment of the young offender.

AN ACHIEVEMENT IN VETERANS' CARE

This year we will witness the beginning of an historic expansion of New Jersey's veterans care. Through funds made available under the 1961 bond issue, the State undertook construction of 80 infirmary and 120 dormitory beds in the Menlo Park Soldiers' Home. These will become available in early 1965. Even more significant for 1965 will be the implementation of the Department of Institutions and Agencies' priority for 400 new geriatric beds at the Vineland and Menlo Park Soldiers' Homes. This has become a reality as a result of the passage of the 1964 bond issue and, when construction is completed, New Jersey will have more than 900 beds for the care of veterans. This will be more than double our present capacity and it is an achievement to which we can all look forward with pride.

WOMAN'S OPPORTUNITY—NEW POTENTIAL

It was my privilege during the past year to establish a Governor's Commission on the Status of Women. For the first time in the history of this State, there is an official group of representative citizens of varied backgrounds concerning itself specifically with the needs and opportunities of the women of New Jersey. The work of the Commission comports with the national goal to assure equal opportunity as well as the full use of the talents of all Americans. Among its activities, this Commission is reviewing the possibility of legislation to assure that women will have the opportunity and means whereby they may fulfill their goals. Any recommendations developed by the Commission concerning this important matter will be promptly presented to you.

CONCERTED EFFORTS FOR THE AGED

The needs of our elderly citizens must always remain high on our list of social priorities and it is incumbent upon us to concern ourselves not only with the older people of today, but also the aged of tomorrow.

We have the solemn charge to provide the leadership for a concerted and continuing program to meet the challenge posed by the growing number of older citizens faced with such needs as income, housing, health, recreation, education and welfare.

Approximately 10 per cent, or 650,000, of our citizens are already 65 years of age or over. Our 1965 budget of $104,000 for the Division of the Aging can be broken down to an average expenditure of 16 cents per person for those of age 65 and over. It does not take into account services needed for those preparing to retire.

Our goal should not be a roster of isolated programs but the enlargement of existing programs so that they may include older people for whom we have been heretofore unable to provide services such as housing, health and community planning.

The Division of the Aging has most recently focused its immediate attention on the problem of suitable housing. Our Conference on Local Planning for Housing for the Elderly last year at Rutgers University was attended by more than 300 people and climaxed three years of cooperative effort by local planners, builders, architects and the State agencies. Progress in this field is marked by the fact that an additional 9,578 units of public housing for the elderly have been completed or are under planning by municipal housing authorities. I am pleased to note that there has also been an increased development of private housing for the elderly.

In the area of traffic safety, the Division has sponsored Older Driver Seminars with the Division of Motor Vehicles. These have given the elderly an updated concept of safety on the highway, and the overall program achieved national recognition at the Symposium on Senior Drivers and Pedestrians at the University of Denver College of Law in Colorado last year.

While significant strides have been made in the interest of the elderly, it must be noted that inadequate appropriations for urgently needed personnel have severely limited activity on priority programs. At least one request per day for help, especially from communities throughout the State, regrettably must be turned down because of staff cuts due to fiscal shortages.

Last year I submitted legislation to improve the structural makeup of the Division of the Aging in the interest of better public service. The bill was not passed by this body. I once again recommend that it receive your endorsement when it is resubmitted for your consideration this year. It will certainly enable us to do the best with what we have for our senior citizens.

YOUTH, A VARIETY OF PROGRAMS

Among the many current activities of our Youth Division is its work on the organization of Youth Guidance Councils to cooperate with juvenile and domestic relations courts in the municipalities. A conference sponsored by the Division at Rutgers last year has already shown results with the establishment of guidance councils in several communities.

I was privileged to sign the abused child legislation which was proposed and drafted by the Battered Child Committee of the Youth Division.

The Division has also established the Venereal Disease Committee which is at work on a pilot survey in the northern part of the State to determine the background of young people contracting these diseases.

The Division's Youth Fitness Committee is developing a project to encourage improved physical fitness programs in elementary schools.

I am sure that all of the people of New Jersey share a deep sense of appreciation for the work of a multitude of citizens with varying professional backgrounds who have lent their services to the activities of the Division with no rewards save the satisfaction of dedicated public service in the interest of our young people.

THE PUBLIC HEALTH

The State in the past several years has strengthened its efforts to protect the health of our citizens through improved and expanded public health programs. Some of the most dramatic work has been undertaken in the area of preventable diseases. Last year, the State Health Department, in conjunction with the medical societies and local groups, coordinated the greatest mass vaccination program in our history. As a result of this effort, more than 10 million doses of oral polio vaccine were administered to the State's population. The groups most susceptible to polio were effectively covered by the program and this has been reflected in the near elimination from the State of the disease of polio. During the past year only two cases were reported.

Less dramatic but equally significant efforts were carried on by the Department in other areas. The Crippled Children Program has approximately doubled during the past three years. In addition, a screening program for hearing and speech defects surveyed approximately 50,000 children. In the area concerning radiological health the Department has conducted more than 10,000 X-ray machine inspections since 1962 and has located more than 23,000 specific defects for which corrective instructions were issued. Continuing inspections are being made to insure compliance with the radiation protection code. Comparable reports could be made in regard to many other public health programs.

Notwithstanding this gratifying effort on behalf of our health officials, however, there remains the need for expanding and improving our health efforts. I am, therefore, recommending that the Legislature consider the adoption of three new basic programs necessary for the well-being of the people of New Jersey.

1. State Aid to Local Health Services

The basic health protection services which are provided by many municipalities of our State are admittedly inadequate. As a result, our citizens who live in or who visit these municipalities are continually subjected to unnecessary health hazards. In a small state such as New Jersey, it is to the immediate benefit of everyone to maintain health standards at the highest possible level. I, therefore, recommend that the Legislature give prompt attention to a program of State aid for local health services which has been developed by the State Department of Health in conjunction with the Public Health Council and the Rutgers University Bureau of Government Research. Legislation will be introduced shortly to provide for three separate, but equally important, types of state health aid:

(a) Basic state aid for county health services would provide $25,000 for each county and would require an annual State appropriation of $525,000.

(b) State aid for local health services would be made available on the basis of local need and ability to pay. The Department estimates that when the entire State participates approximately $3,350,000 in State appropriation would be required annually.

(c) State aid for emergency and special services would be made available for allotment by the Commissioner of Health for a limited period to cover emergency situations and in order to stimulate the development of health services. An annual State appropriation of $500,000 is suggested in the legislation.

2. Public Health Sanitary Sewerage Facilities Planning Act

It has been the policy of the State Department of Health, in line with the report of the State Advisory Committee on Sewage Disposal, to encourage multi-municipal regional and valley sewerage projects in contrast to the old program of providing sewage disposal facilities on an individual municipal basis. The experience of the State Department of Health in recent years indicates that, even though relatively small sums of money are involved, the lack of appropriations to provide for feasibility studies in order to lay the groundwork for regional sewerage projects is a major hurdle. The money involved usually amounts to only a few thousand dollars per municipal entity, but usually such funds are not provided for in municipal budgets because most municipalities do not anticipate or agree upon the necessity for making such an inter-municipal study. The State Department of Health is convinced that, if funds could be made available on a State grant basis for feasibility studies, a great stimulant would be provided toward the planning, design and construction of much needed regional sewerage facilities.

The proposed legislation would authorize grants for the preparation of inter-municipal feasibility reports and it would provide further for loans from the State to municipal entities for planning and engineering of such projects. It is suggested that the moneys for feasibility studies would be outright grants from the State. The moneys for planning and engineering would be loans payable at the time the project was placed under construction or, if construction was not initiated within a three-year period, the planning and engineering loans would be repaid to the State at a low interest rate.

The Department believes the grant section of such a program could become operative with an annual appropriation of $500,000. The loan program would eventually require the creation of a revolving fund perhaps as large as $15 million. It could be activated, however, for a substantially lesser amount.

Both of these programs have been designated by the Department as highest priority needs if the public health of this State is to be maintained in the face of terrific growth pressures. As can be seen from the cost figures I have cited, these programs will require the appropriation of considerable sums of money. Should you agree with me as to the need for these programs, it will be necessary for us, cooperatively, to work out the required finances.

3. Air Pollution Control

Although I have noted the extent to which the Department of Health has increased its activities in many of the critical areas under its jurisdiction, a particularly vigorous enforcement effort has been carried on with regard to air pollution control. Since July 1962, more than 6,000 initial and follow-up air pollution investigations have been conducted. Two thousand enforcement actions were undertaken during this period.

Last year an additional State appropriation permitted the Department to qualify for one of the largest Federal grants made to any State for air pollution control activities. As a result of the additional State and Federal money, the Department was able to increase its staff in this work from 21 to 51 persons. This has provided the means for a strengthened program. I cannot stress too strongly, therefore, how important it is to the success of our efforts for the State to continue to support financially our air pollution control program.

Again, the improvements of the past cannot justify a relaxation. The fight against air pollution demands new efforts and new authorizations. Unlike the previous programs I have discussed in the area of public health, the proposals for an expanded air pollution control program concerning motor vehicles will not require the immediate expenditure of large sums of money. If the Legislature is willing to act, this program can be adopted forthwith.

As you know, the New Jersey Air Pollution Control Commission has been conducting an extensive study of this problem for more than a year. Its report, issued last September, points out the immediate need to vest authority in the State to require the use of air pollution control devices as effective equipment is developed.

Throughout this message, I discuss the responsibilities imposed upon us by the growth of the State. In dealing with the protection of our most vital natural asset—the air we breathe—these responsibilities must be recognized and exercised, diligently and with dispatch. The recommendations of the Air Pollution Control Commission have been developed into a four-point program. Enactment of this program not only would provide the appropriate State agencies with the necessary authority to act but also would recognize that the science of air pollution control is still developing and that it may be some time before truly effective devices are produced to control certain air pollution problems. I, therefore, urge the Legislature to give every consideration to legislation to accomplish the following:

- (a) Authorize the Air Pollution Control Commission to adopt standards of emission of contaminants from motor vehicles; standards of quality of motor vehicle fuels; and standards for motor vehicle air pollution control systems; and authorize the Department of Health to review and approve such systems.

(b) Prohibit the registration of motor vehicles in this State unless they are designed, modified or equipped for the control of air pollution in conformity with standards adopted but providing that such a prohibition shall apply only to motor vehicles manufactured after the adoption of such standards.

(c) Enforce, through the motor vehicle inspection program, any requirements adopted that motor vehicles control the emission of contaminants in accordance with adopted standards.

(d) Make it a disorderly persons' offense (1) to operate motor vehicles emitting smoke in excess of standards adopted by the Commission; and (2) to sell motor vehicle fuel which fails to meet quality standards promulgated by the Commission.

ANOTHER NEED

In another health area, there is a need for action. Many of our counties and municipalities are confronted with increasing difficulties in finding adequate land areas for the disposal of garbage and other solid waste matter.

It has been suggested that a commission be established to study the availability of land sites and to consider various alternative methods for the elimination of this waste. I recommend the creation of such a commission.

PROTECTION OF THE CONSUMER

During the past fiscal year, the Consumers Fraud Bureau processed nearly 5,000 complaints and obtained refunds for consumers totalling nearly $400,000. While this worthwhile accomplishment attests to the effectiveness of our relatively new consumer protection program, unfortunately it is also symptomatic of the spread of sharp dealing by marginal operators.

New Jersey is in the forefront of those states which have adopted a progressive and enlightened approach to the age-old problems of consumer protection. Through a comprehensive system of licensing and regulation, we have branded unethical conduct also as unlawful conduct wherever abuses have appeared, and through a network of effective State agencies, we have enforced these laws with vigor and vigilance. The Bureau of Securities, another such agency, has put out of business most, if not all, of the "boiler shop" operations in this State and thereby has saved our citizens from the dangers inherent in illusory financial investments. Recent experience, however, has indicated that even more legislation in the field of consumer protection may soon be needed.

New Jersey does not, but should, have a law to require hotels, motels and other places of public accommodation to post their rental rates in each room. We should have a uniform and centralized system for the mandatory licensing and registration of door-to-door solicitors and peddlers. Our laws should require that used, reconditioned and rebuilt appliances, including radio and television tubes, be clearly labeled as such to eliminate deceptive guarantees and fictitious price reductions. There may be a need for regulatory legislation to protect prospective buyers of new homes from the consequences of contractors' defaults in performance. A model state securities registration act is now under review.

AN IMMEDIATE TARGET

Legislation in this area soon will be offered for your consideration. As to one particular target for corrective action, however, I urge your serious and immediate attention.

At my request, during this past year, the New Jersey Real Estate Commission has conducted an extensive investigation in the area of secondary financing commonly referred to as the "second mortgage" field. This investigation was occasioned by numerous and continuing complaints from individuals indicating the existence of a pattern of unethical and possibly unlawful conduct on the part of lenders. I am satisfied from my review of the Commission's report that there is a definite need for strong remedial legislation.

The investigation has revealed the existence of abuses with respect to certain aspects of secondary financing. There are those—and they should be distinguished from the established financial community—who engage in misleading advertising calculated to induce potential borrowers to consolidate their debts with the expectation that they will ease their financial plight. In a great many instances, the expectation of borrowers are defeated and their financial predicaments made worse. In most cases, hidden charges, unspecified fees and unfair interest rates result in a final indebtedness grossly in excess of the principal amount of the borrowing.

There is need, in many instances, for secondary credit and financing. Many people, despite existing primary obligations involving the mortgage payments on their homes and installments on automobiles and appliances, have continuing financial needs not the least of which may involve the cost of the college education of their children or the medical bills of their parents. Often, they can be met only by obtaining further credit.

In view of these circumstances, I have directed the Department of Banking and Insurance to work with the Attorney General and my legal staff toward the preparation of a new legislative program which will bring proper regulation and supervision to the field of "second mortgage" financing.

There is already established within the Department of Banking and Insurance a Division of Consumer Credit which now administers such important laws in this area as the Retail Installment Sales Act, the Home Repair Financing Act and the Small Loan Law. Through effective enforcement of these laws, this agency has obtained countless thousands of dollars worth of goods and services for consumers, and has collected thousands of dollars in penalties and fines from violators. The legislative program now contemplated will be a further step in the direction of assuring proper and safe practices in an area of financing which vitally affects the public.

THE PEOPLE'S SAFETY—DRINKING AND DRIVING

The relationship between consumption of alcohol and highway fatalities is now well known. A continuing program conducted by the Motor Vehicle Division and the Traffic Safety Council has shown that deaths of 56 per cent of drivers killed on the New Jersey highways each year involve an alcohol factor.

For the past two years, I have urged the Legislature to enact measures providing that the application for a driver's license implies the applicant's consent to submit to an alcohol determination test, when arrested on suspicion of drunkenness.

I feel that this legislation is imperative to the most effective enforcement of our motor vehicle laws. It could become a major factor in the reduction of the tragic death toll on our highways.

It is important that in considering this legislation you take equal care to protect the rights of the accused and the safety of those who use our highways. The measures I request take careful note of the constitutional rights of the accused as interpreted by the United States Supreme Court.

RENEWED EFFORTS

We persist in our efforts to persuade the State of New York to conform to a national standard by raising its minimum drinking age to 21. Rebuffed time and again, we have recently renewed our appeal to the Governor and the Legislature of our sister state in the name of those young people who we know must die on the highways because of the tragically unique law of New York.

I have heard many arguments, some of them inspired by dollars and cents considerations, that there is no causal connection between teenage drinking in New York and the carnage on our highways. In answer to these, I offer the unhappy statistics of death and serious injury among our youth who find easy access to alcoholic beverages across our borders.

As you know, I have named Ned J. Parsekian, former Director of Motor Vehicles, as my special consultant on the teenage drinking problem. It was Mr. Parsekian who prepared the excellent report which we presented to the New York State Joint Legislative Committee to study the Alcoholic Beverage Control Law. As my consultant, he will continue to put to use his unquestioned expertise and will serve as an effective representative in our dealings with the State of New York.

Let me make it clear that we shall never abandon what we believe is a just cause. In the coming months we shall enlist the support of civic, governmental and religious leaders in New Jersey as well as New York in our endeavor to bring to bear every moral force in a struggle we must continue if we are to save the lives—even one life—of our young people.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

A paramount consideration of government is the protection of the persons and property of all who live within the social compact. Effective law enforcement is not an ordinary governmental service, but an absolute obligation owing from the State to its citizens. It is a matter of record that New Jersey in recent years has discharged that obligation faithfully and well.

A network of liaison and communication has been established among the Attorney General, the county prosecutors, the local police departments and the law enforcement agencies of the Federal government. The resulting close contact and coordination of activities have left no room for regional rivalries and duplication of effort. In New Jersey law enforcement is becoming, more and more, a concerted quest for the detection and elimination of unlawful activity wherever it may be found. During the past year, the Criminal Investigation Section of the Division of Law has conducted numerous investigations and criminal prosecutions in conjunction with local officials, and has amassed much valuable information concerning gambling, narcotics, vice and persons with established criminal reputations. County Prosecutors and municipal police chiefs have requested and received enforcement assistance from State officials, and in turn have cooperated to the hilt with the Attorney General's office.

NEEDED LEGISLATION

But it would be no favor to our citizens to dwell further upon the good quality of our present law enforcement apparatus. This is an area in which we cannot afford to stand still. With increasing urbanization, there are new problems which require greater sophistication in the field of law enforcement. One remedy lies in alleviating the manpower problems of our State and local police forces. Another rests in the adoption of a mandatory police training program. There are needs for a uniform system of crime reporting, and for legislation to secure vital testimony in criminal proceedings through a grant of witness immunity.

I have recommended all of these measures to you before, and it goes without saying that the need for their adoption persists from year to year with increasing urgency. I hope that the new session at last will produce a response to this need, for the unexplained inaction of the past does not present a record of concern for the public good.

Last year I advised you that the Attorney General was preparing legislation to update our existing laws regulating the sale and possession of firearms. Such legislation will soon be introduced for your consideration. The proposed bill is intended to embody a fair and balanced approach to this subject. Whatever minimum restrictions upon individual convenience might be involved, they are more than warranted by the need to provide maximum protection to the general public.

NARCOTICS—A NEW APPROACH

Recently I approved the basic proposal of the Narcotic Drug Study Commission which represents a pioneer adventure in the area of narcotic addiction control. The new program is directed toward the prevention and elimination of drug addiction through treatment and rehabilitation.

The accomplishments of this Commission demonstrate, in the most vivid sense, the constructive results which bipartisan effort can achieve even in a controversial area. When I first proposed this study in 1962, I was supported by Senate President Sandman and others of both parties, and this agreement laid the basis for the results which we have now acclaimed, with all the new hope that it means for the future. The legislation so recommended fulfills the mission I expressed in December, 1962, when I asked the Commission to determine a "new approach to the overall narcotics problem * * *" and to "* * * seriously explore the benefits that can come from a comprehensive integrated program of treatment and prevention."

The Commission is continuing its study and we should all stand prepared to give prompt attention to the findings and recommendations they may submit.

The Department of Institutions and Agencies is now preparing to implement the new legislation. I have requested the Commissioner of the Department to prepare for submission to you a full report concerning the establishment of this program.

NEW CULTURAL HORIZONS

New Jersey lies between two of the world's great metropolitan centers of art and culture, New York City and Philadelphia, described 200 years ago as "The American Athens." This geographical fact has influenced greatly New Jersey's cultural development just as it has determined her development in other fields.

The proximity of these two great centers of art and learning provide for New Jersey citizens the opportunity to enjoy the theater, music of all types, great museums and libraries and all forms of popular entertainment with a variety and scope unequaled anywhere in the country and few places in the world.

The strong influence of and easy access to these great cities has in the past limited the development in New Jersey of more than a few great public institutions devoted to the arts. This lack has not, however, left New Jersey barren of culture or unresponsive to the arts. The converse is true. New Jersey citizens have long evidenced their involvement in the arts. Some of the nation's and the world's greatest poets, artists, writers, teachers and musicians have been Jerseymen.

And in New Jersey today there are tens of thousands of citizens engaged in the practice or active appreciation of one or more of the arts. It could be a member of a Garden Club arranging a floral display; an amateur actor on a suburban stage; a professional composing or interpreting music; or a stockbroker participating in a community orchestra. In our largest city, Newark, business and community leaders are working closely with the city administration to establish a cultural center in the former Mosque Theatre. And so on through an almost endless list.

As we enter our fourth century, however, New Jersey is preparing to assume a more active role for itself in the arts. We will seek to prove in the years ahead that a great industrial state can provide for its people the quality of cultural life as well as quantities of goods and services.

As a state often described as a single city-suburban complex, we will seek to show the nation that the elements of the aesthetic life can be made available not only to the wealthy patron of the arts but to those of modest means. We will attempt to demonstrate that the exaltation of art can inspire all people to achieve better than they had hoped for themselves, and thus recognize the hunger of the spirit as a part of the whole man.

We will open next month a new State Library, the first of the buildings in our new Cultural Center. This new structure will enable the State Library to exhibit properly the intellectual and cultural heritage of New Jersey. It will also provide adequate quarters for collections and services of great value to the three branches of our State government.

Within a few months, our new State Museum will open its doors. Its exhibitions will tell our citizens, especially our school children, the story of man's physical world and civilization. Our new planetarium will be one of the most modern in the country. It will unfold the new worlds of space and permit us to appreciate more graphically the scope and nature of the universe.

The State Museum will also undertake a program of support and acquisition in the fine arts, encouraging private donors to give or lend to its collection.

Our Art Commission created by this Legislature and including four of its members, is now conducting a definitive inventory of the arts in New Jersey. The Commission is ably assisted by a large and distinguished group of experts in all cultural fields, many of whom are men and women of national and international reputation. The Commission has already accumulated impressive evidence of the wealth and vitality of cultural activities now existent throughout New Jersey. The Commission's report, due at the end of this year, will help guide state action in this field. The modest financial needs of this Commission should be provided.

In his State of the Union Message last week, President Johnson outlined a new nationwide effort to "landscape our highways and provide places of relaxation and recreation wherever our roads run.”

New Jersey has always made an effort to keep our highways aesthetically pleasing as well as functionally adequate. The landscaping of the Garden State Parkway is a good example.

A MAJOR STEP

I am pleased to announce today that we are to take a major step beyond this goal. I speak of the establishment of a Garden State Arts Center at Telegraph Hill on the Garden State Parkway in Monmouth County.

This center will include an amphitheater for concerts and a drama playhouse to be designed by an internationally famous architect. This cultural center ultimately will include an historical mall, botanical gardens and nature trails. All these facilities will be easily accessible to our mobile population, centrally located in our State near our urban places.

I will release further details on this new cultural center within a few weeks, but in the meanwhile it is fair to say that the new center will rival any similar facility in this country, and will be a place where natural beauty and art will combine to offer enjoyment a few short minutes from our cities.

Matthew Arnold once called culture “the acquainting of ourselves with the best that has been known and said in the world, and thus with the history of the human spirit.” It is with this hope that I dedicate New Jersey to the pursuit of excellence in all fields. It is in this spirit that New Jersey must now seek to bring culture within the reach and into the lives of all our people.

OUR ENVIRONMENT THE DEVELOPMENT OF NATURAL ASSETS

Our forebears in a younger America were blessed with an abundance—even an overabundance—of natural resources. Land and the riches beneath it, the sea and its wealth, pure streams that laced the landscape, tall forests that spanned the horizon, all were theirs in seemingly inexhaustible supply. Today, we enjoy an abundance of another sort in the products of a technological civilization. But this is not an unmixed blessing, particularly in our urbanized New Jersey.

The resources that once appeared limitless now must be carefully treasured. Conscience and wisdom alike must dictate the public investment necessary to develop to the full our water supplies, to preserve our rapidly disappearing fields and woods and lakes, to develop these green areas for the enjoyment of our urban multitudes and to reclaim for community development the stretches of meadowland that were bypassed in the earlier growth of our cities and towns.

We have turned our strength in this direction, particularly in the last decade. For New Jersey, high among its assets, can list a public sense of prudence. Let us look now at some of the results of this foresight.

WATER—A SPECIAL CONCERN

Water supply has been a subject of special concern to this State. I am pleased to report to you some of the noteworthy progress that has been made in the past year to assure our future water resources.

The Spruce Run-Round Valley Reservoir system was originally designed to produce an expected dependable yield of 130 million gallons per day. At the termination of hearings before the Water Policy and Supply Council—and with ingenuity which deserves the compliments of every citizen of the State—our Conservation Department devised a distribution plan which will increase this potential output to 200 million gallons per day. The additional 70 million gallons which will result from the use of the Raritan River has the effect of providing another reservoir at no added cost to the State. The meaning of this vast water supply to the northeast metropolitan area of our State is obvious.

We anticipate that the Tocks Island Reservoir, to be developed by the Delaware River Basin Commission, can provide 150 million gallons per day as an additional source of water to Round Valley. Beyond this, New Jersey is seeking 150 million gallons per day to be taken from the River at Frenchtown for distribution out of Round Valley. Thus Round Valley may justly be described as the "hub of the waterwheel of the State." The initial storage of 55 billion gallons can be increased economically to 75 billion gallons for storage of pumped diversions of water from the Delaware River and other sources to increase the availability of stored water on a safe dependable yield basis to 300 million gallons daily or more.

In another significant development last year, a total of 2,000 of the 6,000 acres required for the Hackettstown Reservoir on the upper Musconetcong River was purchased under our open space program and our Conservation Department is actively negotiating to acquire the remainder. This was done in compliance with the comprehensive plan approved by the State and the Delaware River Basin Commission for optimum development of the water and related natural resources of the interstate Delaware River Basin. These lands have high immediate recreation potential and are necessary to eventual development of the water resources of the Musconetcong River for the future needs of that valley and adjacent areas. By maximum utilization of this site, a dependable gross supply of 58 million gallons daily can be developed for use in the valley.

SETTING ASIDE FOR THE FUTURE

With our State's continued growth, we find ourselves competing with other land uses for reservoir sites. For this reason I shall request from the Legislature in 1965 authorization to use funds dedicated in 1958 for site acquisition for the purchase of a major reservoir site on the Six Mile Run in the Millstone Valley. This reservoir will provide the storage necessary for maximum utilization of the 100 million gallon daily diversion from the Delaware River Basin authorized for our use by the 1954 United States Supreme Court decision. Through this storage, the year-round usable water from the Delaware and Raritan Canal can be increased by 28 million gallons daily. The total net dependable supply, including that developed by the natural runoff on Six Mile Run, will be 38 million gallons daily. We have been working closely with local and county officials in Franklin Township and Somerset County to develop this multi-purpose water and recreational facility which will produce great benefits for the entire area.

In parallel developments, preliminary engineering studies and land-value appraisals have been completed for a third reservoir system on the Manasquan River. This system is designed to meet the expanding needs of Monmouth and Ocean Counties. Also, the site of the lower intake reservoir adjacent to Allaire State Park is about to be acquired.

In addition to our State's reservoir program as such, three new reservoir projects approved by the State Council of Water Policy and Supply have been developed in recent years by local water supply interests to meet the demands of their respective service areas. The latest of these to be readied for service is the Point View Reservoir.

Progress has also been made in the state-wide investigation of ground water resources which is of special interest to the coastal plain areas of South Jersey. In this ground water survey the United States Department of the Interior is a full participant with New Jersey—another vivid example of the federal-state partnership which means so much to the people of New Jersey.

A CONTINUING DANGER

While New Jersey is blessed with rich ground water resources in the coastal plain area, such fresh resources are subject to contamination by salt water as a result of excessive pumping.

Three studies of salt water intrusion have been completed and released. One of these has revealed the need for immediate action in the Sayreville area. Preliminary engineering studies are near completion. At the appropriate time I shall request authorization by the Legislature to acquire the site and begin construction of a tidal dam and recharge pond on the South River. Early action on this project is essential to protect the Old Bridge formation from the salt water encroachment which destroyed much of the Farlington Sands water bearing strata more than three decades ago. This development will augment the natural yield of the Old Bridge Sands water bearing strata by an estimated 30 million gallons daily by recharge from the South River.

As has been true in other fields, New Jersey achieved another first when, by virtue of the Private Surface Water Diversion Act of 1963, we established 100 per cent regulatory right over our water resources. This Act has insured that these vital assets will be wisely and effectively utilized.

The comprehensive program of the States of New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Delaware and the Federal government to harness and conserve the waters of the Delaware River Basin has evidenced sustained progress by the Delaware River Basin Commission during the past year. Water supply policies adopted and budgetary actions recommended would insure the timely progress of construction of major multi-purpose dams and reservoirs within the Basin, including Tocks Island. This has protected New Jersey's interests on a truly state-wide basis. Tocks Island and the other Basin projects will guarantee the maintenance of adequate flow in the Delaware River and will protect South Jersey's water supply for generations to come.

Our State program of developing water resources is one of the most enlightened in the Nation. As Governor of New Jersey I have confidence that we have secured an adequate water supply for this State well into the 21st Century. We must, however, never forget our obligation to future generations to preserve our existing water resources and to continue the battle against the pollution of our streams and waterways. More and more we must use these streams as sources of supply and conduits to distribute water.

The bright hopes mentioned by our President for the purity of America's water supply we hope will come to fruition in New Jersey and be aided by the establishment here of a Federal water pollution laboratory for the Middle Atlantic States.

THE VISION OF GREEN ACRES

The past year was one of continued accomplishment in our State's Green Acres Open Space Land Conservation Program. During 1964, the State doubled the acreage acquired in the first two years of the program, bringing the total to 30,000 acres of land purchased or under contract for purchase. Last year, the number and amounts of grants paid to counties and municipalities under the Green Acres Matching Assistance Program was more than doubled.

Green Acres has already provided the people of New Jersey with many significant new park and other outdoor recreation areas. Lake Wawayanda, Greenwood Lake shore, Palisades-Alpine area, Corsons Inlet Beach, and the Collier's Mills addition among a number of others have been added to our State's impressive inventory of public parks and forests.

To help preserve the natural beauty of the Palisades and hand down to succeeding generations some knowledge of the historical fullness of the events which occurred there during the War for our Independence, we have moved promptly to acquire open space there which otherwise could be destroyed by commercial encroachment.

In 1964, Green Acres added to Shepard Lake tract to Ringwood State Park, the area at the lighthouse at Cape May Point, the Double Trouble tract, a major portion of Monmouth Battleground, and many conservation acres of wetland along the Atlantic and Delaware Bay coast.

Scheduled to be purchased in the coming months are such significant areas as Liberty Park, overlooking not only the Statue of Liberty but the recently recommended national historical site on Ellis Island in New York Harbor, Great and Little Piece Meadows, Troy Meadows, Hackettstown Reservoir and recreation site, Cedar Island, Higbee Beach, and many other natural areas.

NEW JERSEY—A MODEL

In fulfilling the mandate of the people, our State has demonstrated the leadership and foresight which has made our Green Acres Program a model for similar open space land conservation programs in the Nation. And the people are sharing in this leadership, in the form of the consultation and assistance the Department of Conservation and Economic Development is receiving from the Green Acres Citizens Advisory Committee.

Our pioneering efforts in this vital field have resulted in extra benefits under the provisions of the Federal Open Space Assistance Program of the HHFA. New Jersey presently has pending applications totaling nearly $7 million which will be used to make further State land acquisitions.

The total commitments of the Green Acres Program now include 122 projects involving approximately 5,000 parcels comprising 175,000 acres. Under the matching program, in addition to the grants paid, the State has given at least preliminary approval to 194 local applications. Nine of our counties and 83 municipalities have made one or more applications in this program.

It is now imperative that we act forthwith to implement and prepare our lands for early and multi-purpose use. The Federal government has recognized the outdoor recreation needs of our citizens in the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act of 1964. The Department of Conservation and Economic Development is actively pursuing the State's participation in this federal-state matching assistance fund for the development of these land areas.

The entrance, admission and recreation use fees that will accrue to the State as soon as these new areas can be opened to the public will help sustain and maintain these properties; but meanwhile, it is incumbent upon all of us to recognize and support the capital improvements and maintenance programming that will be required to continue New Jersey's progress in recreation.

ENJOYMENT OF THE LAND

In our continuing efforts to provide parks and recreational facilities for the people of New Jersey, I am happy to list the following among our accomplishments during 1964:

1. Completion of more than 750 new campsites throughout the State to more than triple the number available.
2. Construction of a new bathhouse and 800-car parking lot at Sandy Hook State Park.
3. Completion of a new general utility building at Island Beach State Park.
4. Completion of a new Batsto Recreation-Reception Center Building and formal opening of the Revolutionary War Iron Center.

5. Completion of a new day use area with expanded picnic facilities and new bathing area at Stokes State Forest to accommodate 2,000 persons.
6. The acquisition of the new 541-acre Shepard Lake addition to Ringwood State Park under the Green Acres Program, and the opening of this Park to the public.
7. The opening of Wawayanda State Park, consisting of more than 4,000 acres for a variety of uses, including boating, hiking and fishing.
8. The addition of approximately 10,000 acres of land for development as hunting and fishing areas with suitable facilities.
9. Installation of ticket-dispensing machines at major park areas to speed up the flow of traffic and save operating costs.
10. As a result of thorough research, 376 historic roadside markers were placed throughout the State for the further enrichment of our citizens' understanding of its magnificent heritage.

Constantly seeking new ways to protect the State's existing resources, we have established a Conservation Law Enforcement Board to direct the overall enforcement of the conservation laws. This Board provides for maximum utilization of men and equipment, including the use of radar, helicopters, mobile and marine patrols on a coordinated basis. One significant result of its activities has been a marked decrease in the littering of our coast. This is an important factor in the protection of our seashore and our resort industry.

Strict enforcement of New Jersey's boating laws by paid marine patrolmen resulted in the safest boating season in our history last year. Despite the record number of 200,000 boats on New Jersey waters, the number of fatalities in 1964 dropped to 16 as compared with 32 in 1963. And we have fostered the continuing growth of recreational boating in another significant way. This administration encouraged and has signed into law a provision removing the threat of local property taxation from pleasure boats. The Legislature has indicated its intention to substitute a registration system, this yield of which would be used for the improvements of waterways.

URBAN AREAS—AN OPPORTUNITY FOR ACTION

New Jersey has set a national standard in the conservation and preservation of natural resources with our Green Acres program of open space acquisition, development of State parks and forests, and a far-reaching water resources development program. But it is equally essential and the opportunity is again present, for our State to seek leadership in the vital field of developing and conserving our urban resources.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMUNITY AFFAIRS

The need for a Department of Community Affairs becomes more urgent almost daily. President Johnson has spoken persuasively of the need for a similar agency on the federal level. And we, the most urban state in the nation, with 85 per cent of our citizens in urban areas, can no longer ignore the obvious need for the new department at the State level. It is needed to administer the many programs and bring together for better service the various agencies whose major responsibilities are directed toward serving our local communities.

I advanced the concept of this new Department in my campaign for the governorship in 1961. Early in this administration we began a careful effort to implement the idea. A painstaking study developed specific and well-documented recommendations. Last year, we introduced legislation carrying out the report of this study. The plan has won commendation from numerous groups concerned with the administration of local government. It has been discussed in a number of significant public forums. The Legislature has had extensive opportunity for review of the proposals.

The cost of this Department would be modest indeed when compared with the efficiency and service it could bring to local government and to State agencies serving the counties and municipalities.

To date, the Legislature has ignored this proposal. I call on you to take action in 1965 for a Department of Community Affairs on behalf of improved government on the level at which it is closest to the people.

MIDDLE-INCOME HOUSING

The present deficit in New Jersey's middle-income housing supply is estimated at 100,000 units and growing. It is obvious that this is the area of need that private enterprise has not been able to fill, and, therefore the State must take the initiative.

The middle-income housing program I proposed last year, using low interest, long-term State financing, would in effect permit private developers to construct housing which our middle-income families can afford. This program would aid the construction industry and set an example of cooperative effort by government and private industry to meet a serious need in our society. It would apply to all municipalities in the State and not be restricted only to first class cities. I again commend this matter to your attention.

HOUSING FOR THE ELDERLY

In the field of housing for the elderly, our State can indeed be proud of its accomplishment. We have more low-rent public housing for the elderly than any other state. A good beginning has been made in the middle-income housing for the elderly program administered by the Community Facilities Administration. Under this program, which provides low interest, long-term loans to private, non-profit corporations, consumer cooperatives and certain public agencies, three projects have been approved and several more are in planning.

But the need for this type of housing will continue to increase as our population grows older and medical progress prolongs life spans. We must be alert to our future needs and be prepared to provide this housing. I am therefore requesting the Bureau of Housing to analyze our future needs in this vital field and prepare a program of State participation to meet them.

URBAN RENEWAL

The Federal urban renewal program offers tremendous potential in revitalizing our cities, preventing and clearing blight, and correcting the effects of many years without planning. Close to fifty New Jersey municipalities have initiated 105 urban renewal projects, representing a gross investment of $370 million.

Under present federal legislation, one-third of the total cost must be borne by our local communities and two-thirds by the Federal government. In many communities, the one-third requirement poses a real deterrent and has resulted in deferment of many projects.

If we are to achieve the real potential of urban renewal in our State and develop the improved environment which will provide benefits for all aspects of our society—residential, commercial and industrial—the State must be prepared to invest in the future and render direct financial assistance to our local municipalities. Here again, an increased level of State revenues is vital. With new resources, the local financial burden could be eased, permitting acceleration of the program to rebuild our communities. The increased ratables resulting from urban renewal, the saving in municipal services, and the strengthening of our local economic opportunities would make State participation a unique investment for the future of all our citizens.

THE SEARCH FOR ECONOMIC STRENGTH

In the past three years, and particularly in 1964, our State and Nation have enjoyed one of the greatest periods of economic prosperity and expansion in our history. It can truly be said that we now are in the second industrial revolution. The birth of this great economic era has been fostered by our extraordinary scientific and technological achievements. New Jersey is among the leading states in research and development, international commerce and industrial investment for new plants and equipment—each a basic index of the new industrial era. As the most urban State in the nation and with our exploding population growth, with intensive automation in manufacturing, and with the essential need for new jobs, we must be quick to recognize the obsolescence of plant equipment and techniques, particularly in our urban centers; we must meet the challenge of competition from other states, and we must prepare the rapid and constant change of emphasis in defense-oriented industries and in almost every other field of industrial endeavor.

While we have achieved, over the years, considerable success within the present framework of our economic development structure, we should carefully scrutinize the structure itself to determine what changes are necessary to ensure that our State continues to remain the leader in these fields.

I believe we have demonstrated during the past year the ability to move in a decisive and positive manner. Among our achievements has been the establishment of an International Commerce Section in the Department of Conservation and Economic Development, a move vigorously supported by leading manufacturers. We have opened the first out-of-state commerce and promotional office at Rockefeller Center. We distribute at this center material and information on New Jersey's tourist and resort centers, industrial potential and commercial opportunities.

AN EXACTING SCIENCE

Industrial development is rapidly becoming an exacting science. To meet the ever-mounting competition, many state development agencies are analyzing in detail the components of their respective economies to determine their strengths and weaknesses. Industries today do not capriciously or arbitrarily locate their new facilities. Decisions of the magnitude that these moves entail are made only after months and, in many cases, years of research and analysis of all factors which could conceivably affect the companies. And these state industrial development agencies are being staffed and manned by personnel who can communicate convincingly and knowledgeably on these topics; and they are prepared to answer questions, often highly technical and complex, which industries need to make their decisions.

We must recognize that New Jersey's prominence in our nation's economic structure cannot be maintained, in the face of the present fierce competition for new industry and new job opportunities, without decisive action.

To meet this challenge I recommend the establishment of a full Division of Economic Development with broadly expanded responsibilities to replace the present Bureau of Commerce.

I further recommend the formation within this Division of a broadly representative New Jersey State Economic Development Council to aid and promote sound industrial development and expansion as part of this major reorganization of the State's economic effort. The Council would advise the Commissioner and the Division on policy relating to all phases of the State's development program, and would serve as liaison with all phases of private business endeavor within New Jersey.

BROAD REPRESENTATION

The Council would be composed of representatives of the top echelon of industry, labor, banking and finance, commerce, utilities and the professions. New Jersey would draw upon their expertise, experience and knowledge in their respective fields to promote a complete community of endeavor for the future economic well being of the State.

Within the Division a new convention and tourist bureau would be established to aid and assist New Jersey's largest single industry—the $2 billion-a-year resort and tourist trade which comprises the economic base for over one hundred New Jersey municipalities. Its function would afford effective coordination with the resort organizations to formulate publicity campaigns and convention and tourist attraction programs.

New Jersey must continue to advance decisively in the field of international commerce, finding new markets for New Jersey products and attracting overseas investments to our State. This would be another important operation of the new Division.

A prime function of the Division would encompass all phases of the State's industrial and commercial development. It would have major responsibility for the direct solicitation of firms and would assist prospective industries in finding suitable locations within the State. Experienced technical representatives would be assigned to work within specific industrial specialties such as research and development, chemicals, pharmaceuticals, electronics, and the many others that contribute to our total economic structure. Teams of specialists made up of industrial and labor representatives of the industry involved as well as State personnel, would act as economic task forces, bringing to each industrial mission the full economic resources of the State—public and private.

ANOTHER APPROACH

And I propose that we broaden those resources. The traditional approach of this and other states to industrial development has been in the area of advertising-related promotion. While I am convinced that we must continue to make known New Jersey's manifest advantages through these means, the sophisticated nature of today's competition for industry demands more.

I propose, therefore, that our State program be reoriented to encourage industries to find out the facts about New Jersey on an economically scientific basis. In this first year, I recommend that a special fund of $200,000 be established for a program in which the State would agree to pay up to 50 per cent of the cost of approved surveys which would explore the feasibility of contemplated private investment in New Jersey. The State, of course, would have to be satisfied that :

1. The proposed private investment would contribute to New Jersey's economy and to the creation of jobs here; and
2. There would have to be reasonable prospect that the survey would result in an investment.

The survey would normally explore and analyze the technical economic feasibility of proposed investments. This would include analysis of the potential market, plant location, raw material availability, zoning requirements, topographic characteristics, labor supply, profitability and other financial considerations.

If the prospective investor proceeds with the project following the survey and his undertaking is successful, he would be expected to repay to the State those funds which have been advanced to him. The investor would retain exclusive rights to the survey. But if the prospective investor does not undertake the investment under study, the survey would then become the property of the State government for use in other industrial development efforts.

I think you will agree that industries which take this business-like look at New Jersey will find our State attractive and will invest here. I believe this approach, which stresses a hard look where it counts, will represent a meaningful broadening of the promotional-type programs we are now conducting. Furthermore, the funds which we shall continue to appropriate for industrial promotion would be used to disseminate information on this new industrial survey program.

A STATISTICAL RESERVOIR

This intensified effort to win new industry would depend, in great part, on a full reservoir of economic data, especially statistical information. This material should be readily available to the industrial service information center that would be part of the new Division of Economic Development. Here would be a dramatic use for electronic data processing equipment to be employed by the State government on an interdepartmental basis. I discuss that program in fuller detail elsewhere in this message.

We are challenged today to provide a livelihood for new millions of New Jerseyans in coming decades. This requires an administrative structure that can meet and surpass our competition. I believe that the economic development program that I have proposed for your consideration will maintain and enhance New Jersey's leadership in this basic responsibility of government.

LABOR, A CHANGING DEMAND

Industry in New Jersey is strongly oriented toward research and the technical areas of manufacturing. Our county colleges promise to play an increasingly important role in meeting the need of numbers of skilled technicians. We must insure that the development of these institutions meets the particular requirements of our industry and the economy as a whole.

I would hope that labor and business will take an active interest in the development and direction of the colleges and their vital role in strengthening New Jersey manpower resources.

The Department of Labor and Industry will continue to work closely with New Jersey business and industry to obtain advanced notice of impending job displacements as insights into longer range manpower develops.

Defense Department policies are having a profound effect on employment patterns in defense-oriented industries and areas surrounding military installations. We will take every action to minimize the disruption of our labor force and the impact of these changes on our local economies.

I have repeatedly fought not only to retain existing defense work and installations but to bring additional Federal work into the State. I am pleased to report that where we have lost a Federal installation—such as the Raritan Arsenal—there have been developed by careful planning great new industrial parks which will create hundreds of new jobs.

TRENDS AND NEEDS

In the area of labor activity last year, there were exhibited the signs of growth and change which are the mark of this State. Current trends indicate continued expansion in 1965 with growth in personal income and employment matching or exceeding 1964.

Total employment, now nearly 2.5 million, is at an all-time high. Throughout 1964 the jobless rate was the lowest since 1956.

The Cabinet Economic Committee, created by the administration has documented the hallmarks of growth in almost every area of our economic life.

However, our record of accomplishment leaves much unfinished business. General prosperity is of little consequence to the workers displaced by automation and technological change, to the young worker ill-prepared to take his place in an increasingly competitive job market, or to the many thousands of workers who remain unprotected by legislation on our books. Over the years our labor laws have been riddled by exceptions and their floor of protection remains inadequate for the high cost of the basic American standard of living in the 1960's.

THE JOB AHEAD

This Legislature inherits from its predecessors the need to address itself to:

- * A meaningful minimum wage bill without those countless exceptions perennially proposed in the Senate so that full-time working heads of families do not remain on a roster of the working poor.
- * Prompt enactment of the modern comprehensive worker health and safety bill. Present law hampers modern industrial processes and leaves a million workers wholly unprotected in their work places.
- * Prompt action on the recommendations of the Joint Legislative Study Commission on Workmen's Compensation.
- * A review and adjustment of benefit rate schedules of workmen's compensation, unemployment insurance and temporary disability benefits in the light of current circumstances.
- * Development of a labor relations law which will facilitate and expedite peaceful settlement of labor-management disputes, including those in industries franchised by the State.

In many other areas our Department of Labor and Industry is working to improve opportunities for those who seek employment in New Jersey. The past year has seen substantial improvements in the housing of the migrant worker, with improved sanitation and heating facilities. Central heating systems have been installed in more than 80 camps, and indoor facilities for bathing and washing have replaced hand pumps.

Regulations governing the installation of heating facilities have been developed with safety experts and will be issued in 1965 as a further safeguard of lives and property.

Continued mechanization of farming will further reduce the number of jobs for migratory workers. If they are to be productive members of society, they must be equipped with the necessary skills to take their place in vastly different jobs. Our State Office of Economic Opportunity is working with the Department of Labor and Industry, the Department of Education, and the communities of the State to develop programs to train the migratory worker.

THE LINK OF THE ECONOMY—TRANSPORTATION

Few problems involve New Jersey citizens so immediately as their daily confrontation with inadequacies of transportation. The vexations of traffic congestion, insufficient parking facilities, uncertain commuter railroad service and the tragedy of a steadily rising highway death toll are constant concerns for all of us.

And nowhere in America are the problems of transportation more acute than in our State—the most highly urbanized and heavily traveled in the Nation. Our widely dispersed industry, combined with a growing urban mobile population, impose ever-increasing demands for an improved transportation system. We are a motorized society. The number of motor vehicles owned and driven by New Jersey residents has tripled in the past generation to almost 3 million this year. We now have almost one vehicle for every two residents. This trend shows no sign of leveling off. Estimates show that registrations a generation hence will reach almost 6 million. These figures speak for themselves and must concern all who live and work in our State.

Only through foresight and advance planning can we safeguard the established patterns of our community life against unnecessary disruptions and insure the most effective use of all forms of transportation. The present Federal Highway program makes no provision for sharing the costs of adapting our roads to recognize their impact on our communities and on the natural beauty of our countryside. The Congress will soon be considering new legislation to succeed the present Interstate Highway program. I will urge them to build into this new program provisions to permit us to plan our highways so as to harmonize with their environment. Transportation must advance our economy, but not at the cost of destroying our neighborhoods.

THE EFFORT TO KEEP PACE

During the past 10 years New Jersey has made strenuous and often pioneering efforts to meet the transportation challenge, yet the available financial resources have constantly been inadequate and the list of our needs has grown even longer. The State Highway Department has taken significant steps in the past three years in its all-out battle to modernize our overloaded highway system. For instance, the last two annual construction programs of the Department—totaling about $350 million—represent a major advance in fiscal planning. The Department achieved the difficult goal of matching all available Federal aid one year in advance of the time when some of it would ordinarily have become available. This was accomplished as a direct result of an accounting modernization program within the Highway Department which began shortly after this administration came into office. This management effort, among other things, permits faster and more effective use of available State funds.

Much has also been accomplished in the field of electronic highway engineering, utilizing machines installed in 1962. Engineering problems are being solved more rapidly with great savings. Another important development has been the use of electronically processed safety data to help establish priorities for remaining projects in the Department's present Master Plan. Roving teams of traffic engineers form a mobile safety division, to check continuously for highway design deficiencies at high-accident locations.

Recent years have seen increased emphasis on the planning which is so essential to the continuing development of adequate systems. We have recognized the importance of a balance of all modes of transportation and have developed programs designed to move people, rather than merely automobiles. At both ends of the State, executive leadership has played a crucial role in forging intergovernmental and interstate arrangements to secure comprehensive planning. The Penn-Jersey Transportation Study promises to provide a blueprint for sound transportation in the Philadelphia-Camden region and, in the New York metropolitan area, the Tri-State Transportation Committee has been engaged in the most comprehensive regional transportation study ever undertaken in this country. In other urban areas of our State, planning groups have been established by the Highway Department. Moreover, in order to create an overall transportation policy for the State, I have appointed an Advisory Committee on Transportation, consisting of Karl E. Metzger, Paul L. Troast and G. Raymond Wood, and I am pleased to report that this group has already made a start in its studies for a State plan.

METROPOLITAN GAINS

Through the efforts of our State government, regional mass transit improvements have been accomplished in both of our metropolitan areas—the Delaware River Port Authority's Kirkwood Transit Line in Camden County and the Port of New York Authority's acquisition and improvement of the Hudson and Manhattan Tubes. Rehabilitation of the Hudson Tubes is proceeding rapidly and some new cars are about to be placed in service. Only a few months from now, in June, with the delivery of 162 new cars—the only all-air conditioned rapid transit fleet in the Nation will be in use.

Continuance of railroad commuting service has been assured for the time being by passenger service contracts covering the principal commuter lines and a start has been made on reorganizing rail service on a sounder basis. The integration of the Boonton Line and Greenwood Lake Division on the Erie-Lackawanna was accomplished last year—not only benefiting the railroad substantially by reducing its operating costs, but providing better service for many commuters. Construction to consolidate the passenger facilities of the Pennsylvania and Central Railroads under the Aldene Plan is under way.

In highway construction we can also report progress. More than a quarter of a billion dollars worth of highway construction has been completed in New Jersey since January 1, 1962. Yet this amount plainly has been insufficient when one considers the towering cost of highway construction in this urbanized state. New Jersey ranks third among all the states, in fact, in the cost per mile of constructing its highways, and costs of $10 million a mile in our urban areas are not unusual as compared with an average nationwide cost $1 million a mile for interstate highways. Acquiring land for highways is also a major problem in a state such as ours where open space is being consumed rapidly.

As the demand for space builds up, the cost of land for highways skyrockets.

A YEAR'S DEVELOPMENTS

This past year has seen the opening of the Bergen Expressway from the George Washington Bridge to the Garden State Parkway. Significant sections of Interstate Routes 287 and 295 have been opened to traffic. Route 3, the major approach to the Lincoln Tunnel, has been greatly improved all the way to Route 20 and the bottleneck at the Hackensack River eliminated. In the southern part of the State the Atlantic City Expressway from Camden is now a reality, and purchase of right-of-way for the Route 55 Freeway has started. The Cape May-Lewes Ferry is in operation and the Gloucester-Chester Bridge has been approved. In the center of the State, planning has started on a Trenton spur to the Turnpike which will connect with a modernized and dualized Route 33 to give rapid and convenient access between Trenton and the Jersey Shore.

Progress has likewise been made in the area of research and traffic safety. Experiments are progressing with low-level lighting, special pavement protection and the development of pavement designs of greater strength and durability. The products of past research—center barriers, jug-handle turns and creeper lanes—are modernizing our highways throughout the State and saving lives.

None of these occurrences, however, detract from the fact that we face a transportation crisis in this State. If we move forward resolutely, our progress to date can provide a solid foundation for the solution of our problems. If, on the other hand, we dodge the issue, we face major risks the loss of new industry inconvenience and danger to our people and decline in our position as a leading business State. Despite our progress, our major shortcomings remain inadequate staff, inability to make advance purchases of right-of-way and lack of an adequate and stable source of construction funds to maintain a vigorous program.

—If we had sufficient funds, for example, it would be easier to come to agreement with local officials and residents more quickly on the alignment of the new freeways so badly needed in our urban areas. These local controversies have delayed many essential projects to the point of almost complete frustration.

- If we had sufficient funds to invest in advance purchase of right-of-way, the taxpayers of New Jersey would save many millions of dollars.
- If we had sufficient funds to invest in staff, much could be saved by eliminating the need to pay a fee, profit included, to engineering consultants.
- If we had sufficient funds, we could maintain a meaningful program of State aid to counties and municipalities which would enable these local governments to contend with the tremendous volumes of traffic entering and leaving the State highway system.

The successes and the failures of our highway program in meeting our transportation problems can be precisely measured by the degree of this State's willingness to spend money.

THE COMMUTER—SPECIAL NEEDS

In the area of mass transit, I have noted that our subsidy program has thus far preserved essential commuter service, but all who use these services recognize the precarious nature of this continuance. Most of our commuter railroads find themselves in financial straits and inevitably seek to eliminate or cut down these unprofitable services. These commuter services are essential and they must be continued. We must mutually resolve that the commuter lines continue to provide ample convenient service.

Last year I approved a new Railroad Passenger Service Law which permits us to tailor the allocation of our subsidies to meet the particular needs of each of our commuter lines. Under this program substantially greater help is being given to those railroads with more desperate financial need. We will continue this program, and even modestly increase it. But the railroads on their part must accept the responsibilities inherent in the public utility nature of their business. We offer help and encouragement with the consolidation and integration of commuter lines, but we shall fight with all our strength any attempts to seek curtailment of commuter service. We will cooperate in the projected reorganizations of the eastern railroads, but we shall insist that our railroads participate and benefit from these consolidations, as a matter of their survival.

The aid we have given to date has been substantial. Last year subsidy payments amounted to $7,240,000. Since the inception of the program, the railroads have received over $30 million from the State. Just last month I signed a bill which offered substantial savings to the railroads by the total elimination of Class I and Class III taxes. Consolidation of existing lines at State expense, as at Aldene, has and will result in substantial operating economies. Local communities are now permitted by law to share in the cost of maintaining and improving station facilities. Our efforts to date have been many and they have been resolute. I invite other suggestions from the Legislature, and I will give full consideration to any recommendations it cares to make.

Our task—which the State has carried out alone to date—is made the easier by the passage by Congress of the Urban Transportation Act of 1964. At my direction, our Division of Railroad Transportation is perfecting plans to have New Jersey fully participate in this program.

The integration of commuter rail and bus service must be encouraged. By the coordination of services and easy transfer between various modes of transportation, needed flexibility can be given to our fixed rail lines, making them convenient to the commuter and relieving rush-hour congestion on our highways. I have asked President Hyland and Commissioner Palmer to undertake the study and implementation of this proposal.

THE BROAD LOOK, REGIONAL PLANNING

Our accomplishments in the field of transportation planning have been substantial, yet unless we take affirmative action in the very near future our leading planning agency will be destroyed. The Tri-State Transportation Committee cannot much longer continue to operate under an informal executive arrangement. To insure the development of a truly satisfactory master plan for the development of transportation in the northern area of this State and to meet the requirements of the Federal Highway Act of 1962, it is imperative that a formal interstate arrangement be legislated.

Nine million dollars, principally from Federal funds, has already been spent in the most extensive regional planning investigation ever conducted in this Nation. This investment must not be lost. But beyond that, the money loss would be but a shadow of the resultant damage to the millions who live in this region.

I intend shortly to arrange a bipartisan meeting of Governor Rockefeller and the New York legislative leaders and our own legislative leaders to consider this vexing problem. It is my hope that this group will work out the final answer. When such a solution is presented, I hope you will give it your urgent and prompt consideration, for the crucial date of July 1, 1965—by which time our regional relationships must have been legislatively formalized—is almost upon us.

JETPORT, A CONTINUING SEARCH

We are all too familiar with the most recent developments concerning the proposed jetport to require the repetition of these facts. I remain firm in my conviction that a new major jetport is a necessity to the economic growth of this entire region and that New Jersey as a state represents the best possible location for such an installation.

I have therefore directed Commissioner Roe and his Bureau of Aeronautics to keep in close contact with all of the agencies that will be concerned in a final resolution of this matter, including the Port Authority, the Federal Aviation Administration and the military authorities who will determine the future utilization of McGuire Air Force Base.

I shall report promptly to you any developments concerning this most important project.

AN URBAN FRONTIER—THE MEADOWS

Continued progress was made this past year in our efforts to plan for the reclamation and development of the Hackensack

Meadows, one of the last large tracts of unused land within the metropolitan area.

The overall program is unique and is unquestionably one of the outstanding examples of regional, local and inter-governmental cooperation in our Nation. It is being coordinated by the Meadowlands Regional Development Agency (MRDA), consisting of 13 municipalities which share the Hackensack Meadows. Federal, State and private agencies are also deeply involved in the Meadowlands plan. When all the various agencies complete their studies, we shall be well on our way to realizing the age-old dream of putting these wetlands into productive use.

Although the planning and engineering solutions are necessary and important first steps, dependent upon each other for the development of a feasible and workable plan for reclamation and development, we also recognize the multitude of jurisdictional, fiscal and administrative problems which have impeded past attempts at development. Calling upon the varied resources and expertise of Rutgers, the State University, and with Federal financial assistance, a joint, area-wide plan of implementation is being formulated.

As part of the program, the Commission to Study Meadowland Development, consisting of outstanding private citizens and chaired by my predecessor, former Governor Robert B. Meyner, is insuring that the overall public interest is considered and that all efforts are coordinated in achieving the desired results, including the solution of riparian land problems, within the boundaries of legislation which might have to be adopted to meet this problem which is as old as New Jersey itself.

The dedicated efforts of all agencies at all levels of government will lend direction to this program for application in other areas of the State. The coordinated approach which has evolved for the development of the Meadowlands will result in great economic and social benefits not only to the Meadowlands communities but to the entire State and region as well.

FEDERALISM—THE FRUITS OF OUR PARTNERSHIP

New Jersey has nurtured a stronger partnership with the Federal Government and this has had tangible meaning for our people. In 1962, we gained for the recreational use of New Jersey and its visitors 460 acres of Sandy Hook. Our Department of Conservation and Economic Development moved quickly to develop this as a place of recreation and in its first year of operation hundreds of thousands of people were accommodated. In 1964, as Governor of New Jersey I had the honor of receiving from the hands of the President of the United States the transfer documents turning over 271 additional acres of magnificent beachfront and bay shore area, the last such land remaining in its natural state in this metropolitan area. This increased the size of the facility by 60 per cent and will enable Sandy Hook this year to serve more than a million citizens.

I think we all feel a sense of pride in this development of a playground for all the people.

The concern of New Jersey as a state and the action of the federal-state partnership which it invoked, has meant uncounted benefits for our seashore area upon which depends much of our first industry, travel and recreation. It meant salvation for seashore counties devastated in the worst storm in our history. The vigor of our municipalities in carrying their part of the burden has helped us write together a history of courage and accomplishment which will brighten the pages of New Jersey's future.

In 1965 we can look forward to financial assistance from the Federal Land and Water Conservation Fund, a grant-in-aid matching fund program to help states plan their recreational systems, acquire land and provide recreational facilities. This 25-year national fund would be a timely supplement to our Green Acres program.

Also, we shall continue to participate in the Federal Housing and Home Finance program for open space land acquisitions. We are aware of the opportunities for Federal assistance in geological surveys of our ground water resources and the ever-lurking threats in some areas of salt water encroachment. And we shall continue to work for development of off-the-right-of-way-parks along our highways for motorists to rest and relax amid nature's beauty.

The vistas before us are broad and they are bright. We move forward into years of further accomplishment.

PUBLIC UTILITIES—SENSITIVE REGULATION

In the past three years, the Board of Public Utility Commissioners has guided the accomplishment of utility reductions, refunds and other tariff revisions resulting in consumer savings of some $24 million. During this time, the Board also has taken decisive action in the area of public safety by investigating and initiating legislation to eliminate the hazards of explosions attributable to leaks from gas mains and distribution pipes. The safety measures proposed by the Board finally were enacted last year, and the Board has taken immediate steps to implement them.

The past several years have seen the growth of a new industry known as CATV, or community antenna television service. This is a television antenna system which receives signals transmitted by television broadcast stations, and redistributes them by wire or cable to members of the public who subscribe to the service. CATV systems flourish primarily in areas which receive marginal or intermittent TV service because of their distance from broadcasting stations. Since long stretches of coaxial cable used in CATV operations are subject to deterioration, resulting in progressively poorer TV signals, CATV systems often use common carriers to provide microwave links with their antennas in order to insure signal quality and to avoid cable failures.

An increasing number of these television systems are coming into operation in the southern portion of New Jersey, particularly along the Atlantic Coast. CATV companies are currently operating with a minimum amount of governmental control, and because of their current expansion, conflicts will result between competing companies over franchise rights. Thus we are presented with a classic example of the birth of a public utility, with all of the attendant hazards to the consumer of unrestrained competition and service without prescribed standards. Legislation will soon be introduced to regulate this new industry by bringing such companies within the present statutory definition of the term "public utility."

PRESERVING OUR AGRICULTURAL HERITAGE

It is the firm conviction of this administration that we must spare none of our efforts to preserve agriculture as a vital part of the economic and social life of New Jersey. With this in mind, we have taken significant steps which we believe are truly in the interest of those engaged in agricultural pursuits.

Among these was the approval of a constitutional amendment prepared by the Governor's Committee on Farmland Assessment. This amendment permitted the assessment of farmland for tax purposes on the basis of its use for agricultural purposes. Its adoption and passage of implementing legislation, which was also prepared by the Governor's Committee, comprised a significant move to preserve the agricultural industry and the family farm in New Jersey. It also will provide urgently needed "open space" for all citizens.

Another important legislative achievement has been the establishment of fur farming, a $2 million annual business as an added segment of agriculture. I am happy to report the reorganization of the Department's structure has resulted in streamlining in all of its operations for greater efficiency in serving the farms of New Jersey. Furthermore, the Department of Agriculture has worked closely with the Department of Health in the establishment of modern laboratory facilities to provide another essential and important service for those engaged in every phase of agriculture.

These achievements have strengthened the agricultural industry in New Jersey—a vital $300 million a year business—and will enable it to continue as an essential segment of the economy of the State.

A TRANSFER OF RESPONSIBILITY

With the completion of the new Health-Agriculture laboratory building, the time is appropriate to transfer from our State University certain responsibilities which are the proper function of a regulatory agency. I refer to the laws administered by the State Chemist and State Seed Analyst at the Agricultural Experiment Station.

I am pleased to report that a satisfactory agreement has been reached by the Board of Governors, the State Board of Agriculture, President Mason Gross and Secretary Alampi to make this transfer.

Consequently, I shall ask your approval of appropriate legislation to assign the offices of the State Chemist and State Seed Analyst to the State Department of Agriculture and to provide funds for laboratory facilities to accommodate the work in the new building of the Department.

THE FRAMEWORK OF GOVERNMENT

THE LEGISLATURE—PROFOUND CHANGES

On June 15, 1964, the Supreme Court of the United States signalled the end of the constitutional system of legislative representation to which New Jersey has adhered for many years. Our own Supreme Court has brought the message home to us by declaring that the legislative article of the New Jersey Constitution must be adjudged to be invalid insofar as it deals with the apportionment of the members of the Legislature. By order of the Court, this body soon must give way to a new Legislature to be elected next November under an apportionment plan which meets the newly enunciated Federal standard of equal representation for all the people of this State.

So profound an event in the history of our State and Nation could not possibly have occurred without producing divergent public reaction. Some have welcomed this basic change in the structure of State government, while others have decried it and have sought to nullify it. The responsible concensus, however, has recognized that the time for debate on the merits of the Supreme Court's action has passed, and that any attempt to turn back the clock would be out of step with the progressive traditions of this great Nation. In that spirit, the Legislature has established a bipartisan commission of distinguished public officials and private citizens to formulate a plan for the apportionment of the interim Legislature which must be elected this November.

At the same time, however, there remains in the Legislature an unfortunate but substantial undercurrent of negativism and opposition to any change in the status quo. A resolution calling for a constitutional amendment to permit states to apportion the membership of one legislative house "on factors other than population" recently was defeated in the Assembly by the narrowest of margins. The leadership of the Senate has indicated that a similar resolution will be introduced in that House during the forthcoming session. Such maneuvers are associated inescapably with certain efforts which have been made elsewhere to evade the force of the equal protection clause of the United States Constitution in related areas, and are entirely foreign to the heritage of New Jersey.

I would urge all legislators to abandon any further efforts in that direction, and to concentrate all their energies upon the adoption of a meaningful apportionment plan for the next election. It would be tragic if this, the last Legislature elected under our present system, were best remembered only for having presided reluctantly and bitterly over its own demise. This Legislature instead could live forever in our history as the body which paved the way for an orderly and constructive transition from the old way to the new way, in obedience to the supreme law of the land. The choice is yours.

TWO CONTINUING OBLIGATIONS

In addition to reapportionment, there are two other internal legislative matters which warrant early consideration by the Legislature this year. The first concerns the enactment of a workable conflicts of interest law.

During the past session, the two Houses for the first time were able to agree on the passage of legislation to define and prohibit conflicts between the official obligations and the private interests of members of the legislative and executive branches of government. This bill embodied the approach, long favored by the Senate, of granting to each House the exclusive power to hear and determine, in closed session, all charges of impropriety against its own members.

Primarily because of my conviction that no conflicts of interest law can be of value unless it provides the assurance of a full and fair public hearing on such charges by an impartial body, I found it necessary to return this measure to the Senate with certain recommendations to strengthen it in that regard. Specifically, I proposed that the State House Commission, as an appropriate independent tribunal composed of responsible members of the executive and legislative branches, be empowered to adjudicate the truth or falsity of complaints involving alleged violations by members and employees of both branches. This recommendation was offered as a possible compromise between the criminal sanctions preferred by the Assembly and the illusory enforcement provisions advocated by the Senate. To the gratification of many, there was some indication that the Legislature might repass the bill with the substance of my recommendations, thus breaking a long-standing deadlock between the two Houses and giving this State its first meaningful conflicts of interest law. Unfortunately, this responsible action failed to materialize during the past session. I am hopeful, however, that the Legislature in this session will accord early recognition to its responsibilities in this area, and that a new bill adopting my suggestions for certain and impartial enforcement of the law will soon be introduced and passed.

The second piece of unfinished internal business for this Legislature relates to the measure enacted last year to require the registration of "legislative agents," as that term is defined by the act, and the filing of quarterly reports by legislative agents and certain other persons engaged in the influencing of legislation by direct communication. As I observed when I approved this law, I was skeptical as to whether it would in fact establish an effective program of lobbyist control because of its rather imprecise definitions concerning those persons who are subject to its provisions. Because of my wholehearted agreement with its stated objectives, however, I signed this law with the understanding that it represented no more than an experimental first step which subsequently might be extended by the Legislature on the basis of actual experience if that experience should so warrant. While the first definite indication of this law's success or failure will not manifest itself until the advent of the first quarterly filing date, the signs so far have not been encouraging in terms of the number of persons who have registered as "legislative agents." I would urge the Legislature to watch closely the development of this situation, and to prepare to make any necessary clarification or extension of this law which may prove to be needed in the near future.

NEW DEMANDS ON THE COURTS

The framers of our 1947 Constitution conceived a new court system which soon achieved international recognition as a prototype for the swift and impartial administration of justice. Streamlined in its structure, evenhanded and efficient in its operation, distinguished by the services of many dedicated judges and incorporating new concepts such as pre-trial procedures, this court system converted the abstraction of equal justice under law into an everyday reality upon which our citizens have come to depend.

Perhaps it is ironic that while the New Jersey judicial system continues to be admired and emulated elsewhere, serious external pressures today threaten its continued effectiveness as an instrument of justice. The world has changed during the past 17 years, and the change has been reflected in the needs of every state. There has been a population explosion, and the personal and business affairs of the average person are more complex than ever before. New social and governmental relationships have emerged, and there are new concepts of civil duties, rights and liabilities. There has been an increase in the crime rate, in part due to the great increase in our population. The use of the automobile has become such a part of modern existence as to congest our highways and contribute to an alarming increase in injuries and property damage.

In another day and age, our existing court system might have functioned effectively for many years without need for re-examination or revision. The stresses of the unique time in which we live, however, are taking their toll and urgently suggest the need of a comprehensive study with a view toward determining those areas in which our judicial system should be adjusted to meet the new circumstances which could hardly have been envisioned even 17 years ago.

A BROAD REVIEW

After discussing this subject with the legislative leaders, I have requested Princeton and Rutgers to undertake a joint study of this problem. This analysis will be wide in scope, and will include questions of court structure; jurisdiction and procedure; the term, tenure, and qualification of judges; and salary and pension arrangements for members of the bench. While both universities are willing to undertake this review, a project of such magnitude will require some financial assistance by the State. I intend to request the Legislature to make a suitable appropriation for this purpose on the basis of cost figures which will be made available later. I am certain that the amount involved will be moderate, particularly in view of the benefits to be achieved, and I commend this problem to your urgent attention.

While the results of this study may not be forthcoming in time for early consideration by this Legislature, there are two immediate and urgent needs for improvements in the court system which no study is needed to establish, and which warrant early legislative response.

THE UNDENIABLE NEED FOR JUDGES

The first is the undeniable need for more Superior Court judges. An unprecedented surge of litigation has crowded the court calendars far beyond their capacity for timely disposition of law suits and criminal indictments. The people are being deprived of their right to prompt redress of their legal grievances, and the administration of criminal justice is lagging. The impending breakdown in the capacity of our present bench, despite the faithful hard work of our judges to deal with the case backlogs, threatens the administration of justice in a very real sense.

Last year I called for legislation to increase the number of Superior Court judges from 44 to 60, and a bill to that effect was introduced with bipartisan sponsorship. However, a committee substitute limited the number of new judgeships to eight. While I am gratified that the Legislature was partially responsive to the problem I must reiterate that the additional judges are urgently needed by the people of New Jersey. I am hopeful that the Legislature will act soon to provide them.

SALARY INCREASES—AN IMMEDIATE CONCERN

The bipartisan proposal last year also provided for comprehensive increases in the salary of judges with the necessary cost to be defrayed by increasing certain court fees, which had not been elevated since 1955. This request was not acted upon by the Legislature.

Meanwhile, in the Federal system substantial increases have been made in the salaries of all Federal judges, which brings into sharp focus the failure of our judicial salaries to be compensatory in terms of the rising cost of living.

No court system can be better than the judges who are called upon to exercise its functions. Thus far we have been fortunate, perhaps more fortunate than we could expect, in the high caliber of men who have forsaken lucrative law practices to ascend to the bench. The fact that such men have subordinated material rewards to the ideal of public service cannot excuse us from compensating them on a scale which will enable them to meet their reasonable personal and family requirements and expenses. Judicial salaries in New Jersey have fallen markedly out of step with today's cost of living. For this reason, it has become increasingly difficult to attract the best qualified and otherwise willing attorneys to a judicial service which entails so much financial sacrifice. Although public service traditionally and properly is not the road to wealth, it should never become a calling in which only those of independent means or fortune can participate, or a sinecure for those who do not meet the high qualifications which we expect of our judges. I seriously urge that the Legislature consider this problem with realism and wisdom during this session.

THE SERVICE OF THE PUBLIC

State government exists for the benefit of nearly seven million citizens. But it has a special relationship to employees at local as well as State level—those people responsible for the effective functioning of government. And like any employer, the State has a responsibility for the reasonable protection of those public servants who in turn show loyalty to the State through their industry and efficiency.

We have instituted, through our Department of Civil Service, a variety of modern personnel programs to enhance the capability of public employees. One result is the fact that, in the State service, our employees render a professional performance that has helped New Jersey achieve the lowest per capita cost of government of any of the fifty states.

It is appropriate to review a number of personnel programs undertaken by the Department in recent years to demonstrate the variety of its accomplishments. They include:

Major expansion in the use of practical performance tests for technically skilled positions instead of the former complete reliance on written examinations.

A broadening of the program for Civil Service examinations for all levels of government. Instead of limiting tests to Friday evenings and Saturdays, they are being held throughout the week, thus permitting quicker scheduling after public announcement, shorter waiting periods for issuance of employment lists and, as a result, maintenance of interest by applicants for public employment.

A wide ranging program of classification and salary surveys for government at all levels. Over the past three years, sixty-six such surveys were made by the Department, reviewing the duties of more than 23,000 employees. In the last fiscal year, one of these projects included classification or reclassification of 5,200 positions in the State service.

A GOAL OF EXCELLENCE

A sharp growth of in-service training programs conducted by the Department. In fiscal 1962, 275 executive employees were involved in such training courses. The following year there were 625, and in 1964 we trained 844. This rise was achieved with no increase in training staff. Semi-annual meetings of graduates of the Management Training Seminar have been instituted to reinforce the original training. Based on the success of this seminar with State officials, a similar program was begun for county and municipal executives in 1963. This is the only program of its type in the Nation.

Stepped up recruitment efforts among college seniors and recent graduates which resulted in an increase in graduates attracted to our college classification tests from 900 in 1962 to 1,438 in 1964.

A helpful factor in the Expansion of the State Employees' Suggestion Program was an increase from $1,000 to $1,500 in the maximum award. Last year these suggestions saved the State more than $144,000.

These activities comprise a major aspect of our personnel program. But as every businessman recognizes, an employer must manifest a concern for the material welfare of the men and women who staff his enterprise if that enterprise is to succeed.

EMPLOYEE BENEFITS

The State government has been engaged in a continuing effort to shape a program of public employee benefits in an era when such employer concern is a daily fact of life. We believe that improvement of benefits has kept pace with developments in private industry.

Pensions have received particular attention. In 1962, we enacted legislation to restore to certain disadvantaged members of the Public Employees' Retirement System and Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund pension benefits which they had been led to expect but which had been foreclosed by abrupt changes in Federal law. In 1963, also in fulfillment of a pledge to the people, I was privileged to sign into law a bill permitting members of the retirement systems to purchase substantial supplemental retirement benefits based on the variable annuity concept. Last year, we took further action to improve inadequate pensions.

The entire benefit and contribution schedules of the Police and Firemen's Retirement System and the Consolidated Police and Firemen's Fund were revised only last month. Also in 1964, we took action to protect widows' pensions in the Prison Officers' Pension Fund. Other recent legislation permitted increases in the contributory insurance programs of the several systems and allowed the purchase or grant of additional prior service credit.

Last year we extended the State Health Benefits Program to provide basic hospitalization and medical-surgical coverage, as well as major medical insurance protection to teachers and other county and municipal employees, while extending the program to retired employees for the first time.

These achievements, however, should not becloud the need for continued improvement of employment conditions. At one time, the security and other benefits connected with public service made it highly competitive with private employment, although public salaries frequently were lower. Today, the situation has changed. Security is a major consideration with private firms, and many of our latest "fringe benefits" are modeled on existing private programs.

COMPETITIVE SALARIES

There is a further competitive factor—the attraction of the Federal service. This has been enhanced by the recent action of Congress in voting a substantial salary increase for the entire Federal establishment.

Although salary adjustments have raised average State salaries from $4,800 in 1962 to $5,300 in 1964, and the minimum State salary from $2,500 to $3,042 in that period, we have not kept pace with salary improvements in private industry and with the Federal government.

Therefore, in my fiscal message, I will make detailed proposals to bring State salaries into better line with changing conditions.

This consideration must include the principal executives of State government, the department heads whose salary levels are disproportionately low compared with those with comparable responsibilities in the Federal government or in neighboring states. Similarly, we must take steps to maintain the traditional high quality of the judiciary. I outline elsewhere in the message my suggestions concerning the courts.

Thus, the Legislature and Governor are called on to assume the obligations of a responsible employer. I am most hopeful that we will not shirk that responsibility.

ADVANCES IN ELECTRONIC DATA PROCESSING

To improve the administrative efficiency of State government, a significant effort is being made to expand the use of electronic data processing. This effort yields a double benefit. First, the use of the data processing technique has enabled us to forestall immediate additional costs. But more importantly, it has made it possible for the State to meet growing workloads with minimum additional costs.

In the current fiscal year the State budget has provided $1,178,222 for data processing equipment rentals and purchased services, to enable the speedy and economical issuing of our driver licenses and vehicle registrations, auditing tax returns, preparing hospital patient billings, issuing our employee paychecks, designing highways, issuing unemployment benefit checks, maintaining our pension records, compiling the Table of Equalized Valuations, and a growing list of other vital tasks.

At present the State is conducting advanced data processing studies in the following areas:

1. The Division of Motor Vehicles is seeking to reduce traffic deaths through electronic correlation of driver records, driver licensing, and traffic accident reports.
2. The efficiency of the State Police communications system is being increased through electronic message switching.
3. The Department of Labor and Industry is considering the possibility of getting New Jersey's unemployed back to work sooner through an electronic system to match unemployed skills with job opportunities.
4. Initial steps have been taken to utilize electronic data processing techniques in legislative research and bill drafting.
5. The Treasury Department is actively studying the feasibility of integrating, through electronic data processing, present budgeting, accounting, and procurement operations.

In planning for the future use of this effective administrative and management tool, the State is proceeding on two fronts. First, we will continue to evaluate and coordinate data processing installations for better utilization. Second, we will continue to analyze and to select other activities in the State government that offer feasibility and opportunity for improved efficiency through the application of electronic data processing.

FISCAL RESPONSIBILITY THE BASIC QUESTION

I cannot close without commenting specifically upon what most responsible people agree is the outstanding problem confronting State government today: the need for sufficient revenue to enable the State to meet the requirements of its people.

Although it is customary to withhold from the legislative message discussions relating to fiscal problems, because of the importance of this problem, I do not think a candid statement on it should be delayed. I have, therefore, undertaken throughout this message a discussion of many programs which will require strong financial support in order to be implemented. The programs which I have detailed or recommended are clearly essential to the health and welfare of our people and to the proper functioning of our governmental agencies both State and local. These proposals range through the entire gamut of State activities—from education to public health, from increased State aid to local government to accelerated capital construction needed by the State.

In addition to these programs, I shall submit within the next several weeks, a report on the proposed capital improvement program prepared by the Interdepartmental Committee for State Planning which projects the capital requirements of State government for the next five years. Some of the proposals in this report are touched upon in this message. Others will be commented upon more fully in the Budget Message which I will deliver on February 1st. It is my hope that the budget I present on that date will provide the funds necessary to carry out our present programs, somewhat expanded and enriched, within the existing fiscal structure. The satisfaction of a balanced or near-balanced budget, however, should not encourage us to ignore the price which we must pay for such an accomplishment.

THE COST OF PROGRAMS

Many of the new programs I have set forth today are not and cannot be paid for within the framework of our existing fiscal structure. Their detailed costs can be calculated only after the passage of specific legislation.

It should be apparent to all, however, that even a modest beginning on these programs will require substantial sums. The capital requirements for highways, higher education and mass transportation alone must be considered on a multi-year basis before the amounts available under any approach can be viewed as adequate.

Any revision or expansion of the existing aid programs to municipalities, counties and school districts can be meaningful only if they approach, in total, an annual expenditure of about $100 million. All of this points to the inevitable conclusion that no matter how conservative, no matter how skeptical we are as to our total needs, even the most restrictive concepts of these needs require a recognition that they can be satisfied only through an expansion of the State's revenue base. This should come as a surprise to no one.

In my Inaugural Message, three years ago, I commented that "we must make our contribution to the common good * * * by a willingness to accept the cost of the many services required by the people of their State and local governments."

Two years ago, I approached the Legislature, in my Special Message on the Bond Issue, to report on the need for additional revenue and to suggest a method to provide the revenues required short of the broad based taxation we have all sought to avoid. I must say in candor that this proposal although adopted by the Legislature, was repeatedly attacked by the political party which now controls both Houses of this Legislature and the bond issue was rejected by the people.

Last year, I repeated what I believe we now have come to accept—the continued need of this State for a means to satisfy the just demands of the people. As you know, I suggested a personal income tax capable of raising the sum of approximately $155 million a year. Again the majority party in this Legislature, while not seriously disputing the existence of these needs, resisted that proposal. Some of you, individually, and in response to the dictates of conscience, recognized a need for action and suggested an alternative broad based tax. I remarked then and I say now that I stand ready and willing to approve any reasonable and responsible revenue-producing measures which can provide the means for satisfying the legitimate expectations of our people for services and for better government.

I am not able to offer any magic or painless solution to the fiscal problems of this State. I know of no easy way to escape the responsibility which is ours. I have sought, in a manner which I believe to be in keeping with my responsibilities as the Governor of this State, and in fulfillment of my pledge to the people, to encourage the Legislature to meet our situation in a forthright manner. I shall continue my efforts to convince this Legislature that we have a joint responsibility to provide the revenue needed.

In light of the record, however, I feel that it is not unrealistic for me to state quite frankly that the next move belongs to the Legislature. During the past year I have been reminded by some members of this body that it is the function of the Legislature to legislate and that the Executive should not intrude upon this province. I respect the separation-of-powers concept and have no wish to arrogate to myself those powers which rightfully belong to you. But it is self-evident that those who would seek to have power must accept with it the responsibility to use that power wisely and for the benefit of the people they represent.

CHAPTER 51

There is one aspect of the fiscal problem which is, perhaps, more acute than any other at this moment. I refer to the local taxation of business personal property under Chapter 51. As you know, Chapter 51 was a legislative proposal designed to end the difficulties encountered in local property taxation as a result of the court decision in Switz v. Middeltown. It was a law enacted prior to my term of office. By legislative action, it was postponed for three successive years. Last year the Legislature determined that this law should go into effect despite repeated attempts by some legislators, supported by the elected officials of many of our municipalities, to again effect a postponement or a repeal of this law.

We are all aware that much of the thrust behind this effort to avoid the imposition of Chapter 51 is the fact that this law will place the taxation of business personalty on a uniform basis for the first time in the history of the State. While uniformity, as an abstract concept, has much to commend it, the practical effect of placing our local property tax system on a uniform basis will be to shift, in some cases drastically, the tax liabilities of our businesses and industries. Some businesses may benefit; many others stand to incur a substantial increase in their local property taxes. Justified though such a revision in the tax structure may be, the adjustment in a single tax period of tax inequities built up over many years undoubtedly will result in hardship in many individual cases. In addition, the business personalty tax, as I pointed out at the time that I approved the only amendments to Chapter 51 that the Legislature would pass last year, is fundamentally a poor one. It is in no way related to the capacity of business to pay and may bear more heavily on taxpayers who are less capable of paying while it leaves virtually untouched many more prosperous businesses.

My recent industrial trip to Europe only served to reemphasize the pressing need for stability in the area of business taxation. I was questioned time and again by knowledgeable European business leaders about the local business tax situation in New Jersey. These gentlemen know of our problems and are following our actions.

I am convinced from discussions I have had with business leaders in New Jersey and elsewhere that we are jeopardizing our impressive record of industrial growth through the uncertainty that has been created as a result of our local property tax disputes. In many cases the concern of businessmen has been directed not so much to the level of the taxes as it has been to the uncertainty of the burden. Chapter 51, by imposing a uniform and relatively well-defined method for establishing the local business tax level, may serve a useful function. It may have to suffice until more appropriate methods of taxing business personalty or taxing our businesses and industries can be derived.

Chapter 51, by virtue of your decision last year and in view of the Supreme Court's decision last week, is an accomplished fact with which we must expect to live, at least for the immediate future. I have, therefore, appointed a representative Committee on Local Property Taxation for the specific purpose of considering the impact that this tax will have upon our communities and our local property taxpayers. Pending their findings, we face the stark fact that we cannot avoid the fundamental problem of Chapter 51; namely, the tax shift and the resultant hardship that must occur as we change from the previous system to the uniformity dictated by Chapter 51.

This, therefore, is another compelling reason why the Legislature should consider this year, expanding our existing State aid formulas. Our municipalities will require additional revenues to cushion the shock of such a tax shift. Without the assistance of such revenues, many of our local property taxpayers, especially the small businessman, will be adversely affected.

CONCLUSION

The executive article of our Constitution requires that "the Governor shall communicate to the Legislature, by message at the opening of each regular session * * *, the condition of the State and shall in like manner recommend such measures as he may deem desirable." Too often the ceremonial aspects of this annual occasion tend to obscure the fact that it represents the observance of a solemn and functional constitutional obligation.

Our forefathers imposed this obligation with the hope that the coming together of Governor and Legislature at the start of each legislative session might spark an annual renewal of our mutual dedication to the cause we serve together. Today I have communicated to you the condition of the State as I see it, and I have recommended to you the important measures which I deem desirable at this juncture of our quest for a better way of life for all the people. If I have communicated a sense of accomplishment, it is because New Jersey today stands as a strong and progressive State in many respects. Let us work together to maintain these strengths. If I have communicated a sense of frustration and urgency, it is because we have much unfinished business and many unsatisfied needs. Let us work together to eliminate these weaknesses.

Each of you has my best wishes for a happy and productive year.

BUDGET MESSAGE

Mr. President, Madame Speaker, Members of the Senate and General Assembly:

I present to you today a budget which is balanced and which requires no new taxes. Of the four budgets which it has been my duty to draft, this is the third which maintains taxes at existing levels.

Within New Jersey's manifest fiscal limitations—limitations which I have discussed at length in my Third Annual Message—this 1965-66 fiscal program not only will continue our present programs in an effective manner, but it will provide necessary expansion for many of them. Furthermore, it will undertake a number of new programs which this administration considers essential to the progress of our vital State. Our present fiscal framework, however, cannot encompass all the aspirations, and even many of the basic needs of New Jersey. For instance, we cannot undertake a long-needed revision of our State school aid formulas to relieve the evermore burdensome weight of local property taxes. Nor can we fully meet New Jersey's obligation to its youth through the needed major expansion of our colleges and universities.

But this program does provide for the taxpayer a dollar's worth of services for every dollar spent; and this is reflected in statistics that give New Jersey the lowest cost of State government per capita<sup>1</sup> and the lowest number of State employees per capita<sup>1</sup>.

With prudence imposed by necessity as well as principle, we have applied strictest priority in determining the public needs.

Thus, I have recommended reductions in the budgets of some departments. I feel that these reductions will not detract from the departments' abilities to function effectively next year. But in the majority of programs, particularly those that deal with fundamental human problems—education, welfare, institutions, transportation, health and conservation—this budget provides for broadened and enriched activity.

This budget is $56.6 million higher than appropriations for the current fiscal year. This results from our rising population, improved State services and from the changing character of our society—a society which demands better education and training for the young, better provision for the increasing number of aged, new opportunities for the deprived and handicapped and, above all, full participation by our people in the continuing development of the greatest society of free men our world has ever known.

Most of the increased resources available to balance this budget are attributable to two factors: the above-average growth of New Jersey business, and the general prosperity of the Nation. But we should not overlook a continued striving for economy in the various State departments which turned back to the treasury some $7.8 million in unspent appropriations as of last June 30. On that date our surplus was $29.1 million. On next July 1, we expect our surplus to be a gratifying $32.5 million, principally as the result of revenue overruns of $17.3 million during the current year. Revenues for the fiscal year covered by this budget can be expected to be $623 million so that, altogether, total resources of more than $655.5 million will be available to cover the expenditures I am recommending.

Because certain recommendations which I am making are of a non-recurring, investment nature, the anticipated revenues include a sum of $11.5 million to be derived by requiring the payment of taxes on insurance premiums in the fiscal year in which they are earned. By adopting this pay-as-you-go principle, a non-recurring yield of $11.5 million will be produced in 1965-66 only.

Fiscal responsibility demands that we should not apply non-recurring revenues to recurring or continuing expenditures, else we pyramid such expenditures into future years without a known tax base to support them. Hence, I recommend that this item of non-recurring revenue finance non-recurring expenditures only.

While I discuss these non-recurring expenditures in the pages which follow, I want to summarize them at this point:

Sanitary Sewerage Revolving Fund .....	$5,000,000
Advance Purchase of Right-of-Way Revolving Fund ..	4,000,000
Acquisition of New Commuter Railroad Cars .....	2,000,000
Addition to Highway Office Building .....	980,000

BUDGET REQUESTS

Department heads formally requested of the State Budget Director $869.7 million for fiscal 1965-66. Had our revenue structure been geared to seriously consider these requests, my recommendations would have been considerably higher than those presented today. Quite obviously, the area in which the greatest cuts were made was in that of capital construction. Very little latitude existed for reductions in either the General State Operations or the State Aid area.

I have trimmed approximately $222 million from the requests in arriving at the amount recommended in this budget. Of this total, approximately $34.2 million was pared in the General State Operations section, and State Aid requests were reduced by approximately $28.4 million. Requests for Capital Construction were reduced by $159.4 million. The greater part of the cut made in the capital construction area was in the highway field. Our need for additional funds to accelerate our highway program has been documented on many occasions in the past, and I see no need for reiterating what has been stated heretofore.

REVENUES

As I have noted, we have enjoyed unprecedented revenue collections this year. It may be remembered that last year doubts were expressed in several quarters as to our ability to earn the sums which we anticipated for the current fiscal year. From the results of tax collections for the first six months of the current fiscal year, we can see that these doubts were unfounded.

As examples, overruns are expected as follows: $4 million from corporation taxes; $2 million from inheritance taxes; $2.8 million from cigarette taxes; $3.7 million from motor fuels and motor vehicle receipts; and $1.5 million in earnings on investments.

These, added to similar overruns in other areas, will produce the $17.3 million in unanticipated revenues during the current year. The estimates of revenues for 1965-66 have been developed on the foundation of 1964-65 and the trend which has been apparent over the past 10 years.

Therefore, we see that New Jersey, despite the growth in our fiscal structure, stands in a most favorable position when compared with other states, particularly our neighbors.

Nevertheless, there are certain segments of our revenue raising structure that require further review. In the next fiscal year, we anticipate $1.5 million from our recently enacted Motor Carrier Tax. The administrative costs to collect this tax, in my opinion, are excessive when viewed against the actual amount collected. I have directed the Division of Taxation to undertake this review.

Another area which should be studied with the ultimate purpose of granting relief, since such relief seems to be equitable, is in the field of premium taxes applicable to our domestic life insurance industry. Among the 50 states, New Jersey stands second—exceeded only by New York—in the amount of assets held by domestic life insurance companies. Present taxes assessed on premiums earned by our domestic life insurance companies place them at a disadvantage with competitors who can develop annuity, pension and group health plans on which such a tax is not applicable.

I recommend that this weakness in our tax structure be seriously studied by the Legislature so that taxes assessed against such companies might be revised to assist our domestic life insurance industry in retaining the enviable position it now enjoys in this most competitive field.

THE BUDGET IN BRIEF

Estimated Surplus, July 1, 1965 (after providing for supplementals) .....	$32,544,690
Estimated Revenue for 1965-66 .....	623,025,454
Total Resources for 1965-66 .....	$655,570,144

Recommendations
General State Operations .....	$297,925,996
State Aid .....	275,785,681
Capital Construction .....	73,118,072
Total Recommendations .....	$646,829,749
Reserved .....	2,200,000
Estimated Surplus, June 30, 1966 .....	$6,540,395

In arriving at the indicated net surplus of $6.5 million, there is reserved $2.2 million for two important contingencies. I am sure that all of us will wish to provide for them when our responsibility to undertake them unfolds.

The largest portion, $1.5 million, is for the State's share of training and re-training of unemployed and underemployed persons under P. L. 8-415 of the 87th Congress, otherwise known as the Manpower Development and Training Act. This program is now 100 per cent federally-financed and is being operated through our State Departments of Labor and Industry and Education. Last year, more than $2 million was spent under MDTA and it is expected that expenditures in the current fiscal year will reach $2.5 million. In the year ahead, expenditures are expected to climb to at least $4.5 million. It now appears that the Federal government may require one-third of this cost to be matched by the State in the next fiscal year. I shall, however, make every effort, in co-operation with New Jersey's delegation in the Congress, to convince the Federal government that it should continue this program without requiring State matching funds. Many of those who will be beneficiaries of this program have emigrated from states which have had severe unemployment problems. New Jersey's taxpayers should not be compelled to bear costs which primarily are a national obligation. Should we fail to obtain 100 per cent Federal funds, not only will we need one-third in State funds, but an amendment would be needed to our State law which now prohibits State financial participation.

The remainder of the reserve—$700,000—is for a contingent deficit in next year's operations of our New Jersey College of Medicine and Dentistry. We have no basis on which to make an appropriation as of this date, particularly since the Board of Governors who will be responsible for contract agreements must be given sufficient opportunity to formulate a budget request.

The $6.5 million net surplus, approximately 1 per cent of our total budget, is a reasonable amount to meet any additional costs arising from future legislation, or to compensate for any unforeseen reductions in revenue collections.

EDUCATION

This administration will continue to assure that education receives the first priority in New Jersey budget making. This we owe to our future. Recommendations in this budget for educational purposes total $257 million, an increase of $18.2 million, not counting the non-recurring appropriation of $4.3 million made last December for purchase of the facilities of the New Jersey College of Medicine and Dentistry. Of this increase, $8.9 million is allocated to General State Operations for education; $8.2 million for State aid to local education, and $1.1 million for capital construction.

HIGHER EDUCATION

A major component of this increase in General State Operations for education is $3.5 million for the State colleges. Essentially, this represents the increased cost to enroll an additional 8,100 students next year in our six State colleges, bringing the total number of enrollments to 55,400. Of the increase, about 1,900 will be full-time undergraduate students; the other 6,200 will be part-time students taking both undergraduate and graduate work. Full-time undergraduate students enrolled next year in the six State colleges will aggregate 16,780.

This number is a milestone. It approximates 250 per cent of the number enrolled in the State colleges in 1958 and indicates that the goal set by the State's 1959 Educational Bond Issue, which was to double enrollments by 1965, will be surpassed when our colleges open their doors next Fall. But we must do more—much more—if we are to meet even the conservative objectives for the year 1970 as outlined in the Department of Education's Strayer Report.

The expected full-time undergraduate enrollments at the colleges call for an additional 119 faculty members to maintain a faculty-student ratio of 1-16. But more enrollments mean more costs in areas other than instruction. It will be necessary to include 103 additional employees to cope with the expanded administration, maintenance and supervision problems which a larger student body generates. Because of the expansion in the graduate work in the State colleges, recognition has been given to an increase of 12 academic positions as State support of the graduate program. Moreover, full provision has been made for the self-supporting part-time, extension and summer programs.

To meet the pressure of increased applications for enrollment, we have decided to rent classroom facilities adjoining the campus of the Newark State College. Were it not for the availability of this rented space, we could not enroll 400 of the 1,900 additional full-time undergraduate students projected for all six colleges. Use of these facilities for perhaps the next two years will permit the College to advance, by at least two years, enlargement of the student body as contemplated in the bond issue of 1964.

The increase in appropriations for the operation of Rutgers totals $2.9 million. Of this, $2.6 million is for the University in general; $125,000 is for Douglass College and $146,000 for the Agricultural Experiment Station. The recommendations for General University purposes include some $400,000 for the new two-year medical school in preparation for the admission of the first class in the Fall of 1966. It should be noted that we make provision, with total recommendations of $24.5 million, for two-thirds of the State University's operating costs, exclusive of self-supporting enterprises.

One million dollars of the Rutgers increase results from the fact that, in the current fiscal year, an equal amount became available for operating purposes to the University from an insurance dividend account. This circumstance permitted an offsetting reduction in the appropriation made by the State for 1964-65. This fortuitous condition will not recur in 1966.

Our appropriations to the University next year will provide for the education of the equivalent of 510 additional full-time students. To continue the well-established standard of one teacher for every 12.6 students at the University, funds are recommended for 40 additional faculty members. The larger student body will require 48 other employees to provide related services.

For the Newark College of Engineering, I am recommending an increase of $400,000 to purchase higher education at this fine institution. Its enrollment next year will total 3,357, an increase of 153 when equated to full-time attendance.

The increase in the college age population is very evident in New Jersey's publicly-supported institutions of higher education. In all, 115,155 full and part-time students will be enrolled, an increase of 10,718 over the current year. Of that rise, 8,100 will be in the State colleges, 1,752 at the University, 271 at Newark College of Engineering and 595 at Trenton Junior College.

We can expect that the new structures authorized under the recently enacted bond issue will permit us to enroll increasingly larger numbers of young people who are able to benefit from a college education. But we also know that the pressure of the high school graduates justifiably seeking places in colleges and universities will become even greater than it is today. We must seek to honor our obligations to these young people in two ways:

First, we must plan and, hopefully, provide college facilities in addition to those included in the 1964 bond issue.

Second, we must encourage full utilization of higher educational opportunities in colleges other than our public institutions where costs are higher than in the State-supported institutions. Toward this objective, as I indicated in my Third Annual Message, I am recommending $600,000 to permit awards of at least 1,000 incentive scholarships for students in colleges whose costs necessarily are greater than those in New Jersey's public institutions.

Our continuing program of scholarships and student loans, now entering the sixth and fifth years, respectively, is given additional impetus in this budget. I am asking for an increase of $370,000 to provide a total of $4.5 million to finance 13,000 scholarships next year—exclusive of the incentive grants. I am recommending an even more dramatic increase of $950,000 to bring to $1.5 million the statutory 20 per cent reserve for new student loans. This will enable some 10,275 students to obtain $8.4 million in loans of as much as $1,500 each from lending institutions with repayment guaranteed by the State. In my opinion, the loan program has particular merit in that it enables youngsters to provide for their own futures and instills in them a serious desire to complete their college education.

AID TO SCHOOL DISTRICTS

The increase in this budget for State aid to education is $8.2 million. Too often overlooked in judging the amount of State aid available for education is the State's contribution for teachers' pensions, life insurance premiums and social security. Only a few states budget these costs at the state level; most leave these costs to the local districts. The total contribution of the State government to local education in the next fiscal year is $188 million, of which $64.5 million represents the State's contribution to the Teachers' Pension Fund and costs of social security. This item alone reflects an increase of over $5 million.

The formula requirements for contributing to operating costs and school construction reflect an increase of $3 million. This includes the cost of classes for the emotionally disturbed and for adult education.

NEW AID FOR LIBRARIES

An indispensable component of any system of education—public or private—is the public libraries. Traditionally, our public libraries have provided the books and other learning materials which have served Americans of all ages in achieving educational and cultural objectives. In recent years, we have seen a vastly increased use of our library resources as the knowledge explosion and the changing curricula of our schools and colleges have sent students in ever-increasing numbers to the libraries. This unprecedented demand for library books speaks well for the vigorous spirit of inquiry in America.

In 1959, we adopted the State Aid to Libraries Act establishing a formula of State assistance for these invaluable facilities. Since then, however, we have not been able to meet the requirements of this formula and a great many public library systems perennially have been handicapped by lack of funds.

This year, I am proud to recommend the full amount of State assistance under the 1959 State Aid to Libraries Act. This will increase the State's appropriation from $800,000 this year to $1.4 million in 1965-66. These funds, together with the construction funds being made available under the Federal Library Services and Construction Act, will give a much-needed boost to institutions which cannot be allowed to stagnate in an education-based society.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION

In my Third Annual Message to the Legislature, I outlined a series of proposals for the expansion and improvement of vocational education opportunities for the 62 per cent of our youth who are not college-bound. One million dollars was appropriated this year to make a start on a program whose importance the Committee to Study the Needs of Vocational Education in New Jersey has since described with these words: "No investment carries a higher priority for New Jersey today than vocational education." The Federal Vocational Education Act of 1963 will make available approximately $6.5 million to New Jersey by the end of 1966 to improve and expand existing programs and to establish new programs and facilities. I am recommending $1 million in State funds in fiscal 1966, which together with funds already appropriated, will provide $2 million to help local school districts obtain the substantial Federal assistance available.

In the near future, I will present to you recommended legislation which will enable us to carry forward this very vital part of our educational endeavors along the lines recommended by the Vocational Education Study Committee.

COMMUNITY COLLEGES

Funds in the amount of $1.9 million for construction of county community colleges have heretofore been appropriated by the State. This is still available for expenditure in 1965-66. I am recommending an additional $1 million in the next fiscal year which, together with the unspent State funds and $2.6 million in Federal funds, will enable the State to participate in the development of five county colleges that will cost approximately $13.3 million. The State's appropriations should be adequate to provide the State's share of cash needed to meet costs of construction as the work progresses in the next fiscal year. This plan has met with acceptance by representatives of the county Boards of Chosen Freeholders. I stand ready to recommend to you all payments that will be required in succeeding years. This obligation we cannot neglect.

EDUCATIONAL CONSTRUCTION

The Department of Education and the State University are embarking on a major construction program financed by the College Bond Issue of 1964. Therefore, I have not recommended any major construction for the State Colleges or the State University in this budget. However, since we adopted legislation late in 1964 providing that the State University establish a medical school, I am including an amount of $1 million for planning and initial construction activity for this unit of the State University. This is the first part of $6 million in capital aid the State will provide for the Rutgers Medical School.

DEPARTMENT OF INSTITUTIONS AND AGENCIES

To maintain the State's highly personal responsibility for the very lives of thousands of citizens in its care, I am recommending increased appropriations of $8.9 million for the Department of Institutions and Agencies, of which $5.5 million is for operating costs, $2.9 million is for State aid for welfare and $500,000 is for capital costs.

MENTAL RETARDATION

One year ago I disclosed to you plans for a four-front attack on the tragic problem of mental retardation. Today

I can report to you that substantial progress has been made in the last 12 months toward providing more adequate care for the retarded—both within the State institutions and in the community.

The new Woodbridge State School began the admission of severely retarded patients on January 4 of this year. It is expected that by the end of this budget year, Woodbridge will be filled to capacity, admitted both from the waiting list and by transfer from other State institutions which, in turn, will admit from the waiting list. Full activation of the Woodbridge facility requires an additional $1.5 million and 338 more positions.

The program to purchase care for the severely retarded in private facilities has developed rapidly. As of mid-January, 1965, a total of 275 retarded persons were receiving care under this plan. I am recommending new appropriations of $500,000 next year which, together with anticipated unexpended balances available from the current year, will continue this valuable service.

Several notable improvements are under way in our existing institutions for the mentally retarded. At New Lisbon, 12 new resident cottages are nearing completion. These cottages will replace six old and inadequate structures and help relieve overcrowding in the remaining cottages at this institution. I am recommending 33 new positions at New Lisbon to staff the replacement cottages.

At the Edward R. Johnstone Training and Research Center, a new 118-bed Readjustment Unit is scheduled to open in July, 1965. This will be the first facility in the State specifically oriented toward the care and treatment of retardates with major behavior problems. I have recommended $232,000 to activate this unit and operate it during 1965-1966.

At the remaining institutions, I am recommending 92 new positions primarily for the purpose of providing adequate care for a steadily increasing proportion of severely retarded patients who require substantially more staff-time and effort than do the less retarded residents.

The day care program for the retarded has continued to expand. Currently over 150 retardates, who can reap particular benefit by remaining in the community, are enrolled in day care centers receiving partial support from State funds. But more remains to be done. Surveys reveal that a total of more than 500 retardates are in need of day care services. And in those cases where the State is providing no support, individual day care programs may be terminated upon exhaustion of local resources. Accordingly, I am recommending $225,000 to triple this year's appropriation so that we can strengthen this much-needed service.

In sum, we can be justifiably proud of our accomplishments in the field of mental retardation. But we also must work to improve these programs in the next fiscal year. I think that the recommended increase of $2.5 million in this area is meaningful from a humanitarian as well as an economic standpoint.

MENTAL HEALTH

With the addition of 54 new positions in this field, we continue to emphasize more effective medical-surgical and children's services.

Improved staffing is provided to implement a balanced program of rehabilitation and specialized services to expedite the release of children to the community. The State hospitals are emphasizing comprehensive active treatment in order to cope with increasing admissions. Through regional decentralization of clinical services, the hospitals are concentrating and unifying their efforts. Training programs, at all levels, are supplemented by Federal funds. The State hospitals are faced, however, with significant care problems involving the geriatric patient population.

We can, however, take pride in the reduction of 564 in the patient population, from 13,974 in 1963 to 13,410 in 1964 and we expect a further reduction this year. The Department is devoting particular attention this fiscal year to the completion of its two-year project to develop a plan for comprehensive mental health services for New Jersey. This should point the way for more effective community services for those individuals who seek and need treatment.

CORRECTION

The Youth Reception and Correction Center at Yardville, now under construction, will be a unique institution when it opens in July, 1966. It will provide central reception and classification of all reformatory commitments and a special treatment unit for seriously disturbed reformatory inmates. Under Chapter 65, P. L. 1963, the existing reformatories are grouped into a single administrative system to provide centralized planning for the youthful offender to develop the greatest potential for rehabilitation. The Yardville institution will help relieve overcrowding which now is of serious proportions at the existing reformatories. Funds and positions are allowed in this budget for Yardville, to begin staff build-up in preparation for the opening, to plan and develop programs and procedures, to recruit and train personnel, and to purchase initial operating supplies.

NEW FACILITIES

This budget also provides for other new facilities. Two new cottages, a special treatment unit, and a work camp to be located in the Wharton Tract, for inmates of the State Home for Boys will relieve that institution's overcrowded cottages, provide for more selective treatment of the young offender and present an opportunity for proper classification.

Construction is progressing on the Stokes State Forest Work Camp to accommodate 60 boys. It will provide relief from overcrowding and overmanned work details at Annandale Reformatory.

A program has been conceived for a new 200-bed training school for boys 13 years of age and under, and funds are recommended in this budget for personnel to aid the architects in planning this facility. This training school will provide safe custody and adequate classification and treatment for these children and will minimize the extreme contrasts in age, offense, and social and psychological backgrounds which now exist among the boys in the State Home at Jamesburg.

PUBLIC WELFARE ADMINISTRATION

The past year has seen a continued rise in the number of welfare assistance recipients carried on the rolls of the Division of Public Welfare. As these increases continue, if even at a slower rate than heretofore, the requirements for administrative personnel, caseworkers and supervisors must keep pace. Budget recommendations for Public Welfare operations aggregate an increase of $846,000 over current appropriations. For the Bureau of Assistance, which administers public welfare programs at the State level, I am recommending 10 new positions to strengthen the administration of the Division and provide more adequate staff for the quality review program required by the Federal government as a prerequisite to financial assistance.

Considerable improvements in the welfare program during the coming year must be concentrated in the Bureau of Children's Services. Although the number of caseworkers authorized this year was intended to provide a stable case load of 53 per worker, the sustained growth in the number of new cases added each month has already resulted in a case load of 70 per worker and threatens to rise even higher.

I am recommending 114 new positions for the Children's Services program in an all-out effort to reduce the case load, based on current projections, to the 1 to 53 level. Anything less would be inadequate and might easily set the stage for virtually uncontrollable conditions inconsistent with the objectives of the Children's Services program.

STATE AID FOR WELFARE

Appropriations in the current year for State aid for welfare were geared to an estimated 177,040 welfare recipients. The amount and number were predicated upon what had been a clear trend in case load. Fortunately, the expected case load and the average cost of grants have not materialized. These conditions result from the improved economy of the State and Nation. Because the rate of increase in the case load and cost of grants were not as high as expected, there should be $3.6 million in unexpended welfare appropriations as of June 30, 1965.

We must, however, recognize that there will be a continued increase in the numbers of recipients during the next fiscal year, even though the increase is at a lower rate than that experienced in the past. Therefore, I am recommending an increase in appropriations for welfare of only $2.9 million which, together with the unexpended balance of $3.6 million in the present year, should be adequate for our needs.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH

The impact of New Jersey's position as the most urbanized state in the Union is perhaps felt most sharply in the field of public health. Our State Department of Health, with the report of the State Advisory Committee on Sewage Disposal as a foundation, has outlined a bold and imaginative attack on the problem of inadequate sewage disposal facilities. In my Annual Message I gave details of this program of grants and loans designed to foster sewerage projects on the more efficient basis of inter-municipal action.

So essential do we regard this co-operative action, that I have made provision in this budget for a $5 million appropriation so this inter-municipal activity can begin on a meaningful basis. Of the total, $4.75 million will constitute a revolving fund from which loans will be made for the planning and engineering of regional sewerage projects. The loans would be repayable at a low interest rate to be spelled out in legislation.

The remainder, $250,000, will constitute a fund for the preparation of inter-municipal feasibility reports on these projects. Such reports would be financed on a State-local matching basis. When the districts or regions have decided upon construction plans, and funds are made available for such construction, we can anticipate additional funds from the Federal government. The funds loaned by the State then will flow back to the revolving fund, to be used to underwrite needed sewerage projects in other areas.

In my Annual Message I stated that the Department of Health estimates that the loan fund should realistically be in the amount of $15 million. Should funds in that amount become available, I would not hesitate to recommend that they be placed at the disposal of the Department for local allotment. By recommending $5 million for both grants and loans, we will be making a start on a program which is vital to the health of New Jersey's residents.

And it is a good start. This $5 million appropriation should generate an annual expenditure for sewerage construction of between $60 and $70 million. This would represent a substantial annual attack on the pollution which remains an ever-present threat in areas that are not served by sewerage systems. This $5 million is the major portion of the $5.3 million increase I am recommending for operation of the State Department of Health. Total recommendations for the Department are $9.9 million.

This includes funds for 31 new positions for air sanitation, for identification of tuberculosis and other preventable diseases, for radiological health, for food and drug inspection and for other necessary health services. The control of tuberculosis requires an increased effort if this deadly and costly disease is to be eliminated. It is disturbing to know that 15,000 persons are carried on tuberculosis case registers in our State, and that there was an increase in reported cases in 1964 over the prior year. This budget also includes funds to expand tuberculosis case-finding activities and provides for anti-tuberculosis drugs.

I am asking for $75,000 to maintain vigilant surveillance throughout the State of arbor viruses which threaten the public health. Last summer, modest funds available to the Department enabled it to detect an outbreak of St. Louis encephalitis which was not previously recognized in the northeastern part of the country. We must have funds to continue studies of the thousands of specimens of mosquitoes and blood samples of wild birds and animals in order to determine the control measures needed to stop the spread of these viruses. Linked to this effort is the State program of control which is conducted by the Department of Conservation and Economic Development. I am recommending an additional $50,000 to augment the State's appropriation which is used to encourage the various counties to apply mosquito control measures.

Increased State appropriations last year made it possible for the Department of Health to receive a $250,000 grant under the Federal "Clean Air Act" to assist its efforts to this important program. The funds recommended in this budget will permit an expansion of the air monitoring system established this year and also will permit the establishment of a field laboratory in the northeastern area of the State where half the State's population and two-thirds of its industry are located.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR AND INDUSTRY

Of the $700,000 increase in the $8.5 million Department of Labor and Industry budget, 73 per cent is for the costs of rehabilitation services to the disabled. To accommodate the increasing case load of rehabilitation clients, 13 new positions are provided. Further, I recommend an additional $350,000 for the cost of medical, physical and other outside services to be rendered to such clients. I am also asking $145,000 for research and demonstration projects which are designed to show how new approaches to rehabilitation can be implemented. Last year, 2,890 persons were returned to the labor force by our Rehabilitation Commission. We hope that with the funds recommended next year, 3,510 can be placed in a useful occupation.

I am asking for a total of 11 additional positions for the Bureau of Engineering and Safety and the Wage and Hour Bureau. Some of these positions will aid in the enforcement of the Construction Safety Act so that the frequency of worker injuries can be reduced. Some will help to insure compliance under the Prevailing Rate statute passed last year.

The number of workmen's compensation claims which require processing in the State Division of Workmen's Compensation continues to outstrip the pace at which they can be heard. To manage this case load and help reduce it, I am asking for the approval of two additional judges of compensation.

DEPARTMENT OF LAW AND PUBLIC SAFETY

In the Department of Law and Public Safety, with its varied enforcement programs, I am asking for a total of $26.4 million, an increase of $1.4 million over appropriations in the current year.

DIVISION OF STATE POLICE

One million dollars of this increase is for the Division of State Police. Increased efforts in highway safety, made mandatory by the shocking increase in highway deaths, call for more uniformed personnel. Therefore, I am recommending 50 additional State troopers to bring the total State Police force to 928. This is in addition to 227 State Police paid from toll road revenues. The new positions will require an expenditure of $315,000, including salaries, clothing, automobiles and related costs. It should be noted, however, that these funds are included with the understanding that we may not fully absorb the additional personnel into the force until October.

It has been the State's policy over the years to pay State Police a daily allowance for meals which they must consume away from home while on duty. I am proposing, in this budget, that the present daily allowance of $4.50 be raised to $5 and have included the sum of $135,000 for this purpose.

About $188,000 of the State Police increase results from the fact that the current year's appropriation included funds for 60 troopers for six months. Those positions are filled, or will soon be filled, so that next year's budget reflects the cost for a full year.

New Jersey has been justly proud of its pioneering efforts in police communications which have gained us a nationwide reputation in this field. To maintain our position as a leader in this important area, I am recommending $100,000 to modernize the State Police teletype network. These funds will permit the installation of the most modern computer-controlled teletype switching system available. It will increase vastly both the speed and effectiveness of the network and, as an added dividend, will permit the return to road duty of 10 troopers by releasing them from communications work.

The remainder of the increase is accounted for by normal increments and for other non-salary operating costs.

POLICE TRAINING COMMISSION

Last year, I asked for an appropriation of $25,000 for the Police Training Commission to establish a course in police administration at the State University. The Legislature did not see fit to grant funds for this purpose. It should be apparent to all that professional upgrading of our local police departments is a necessity. I hope you will see fit to appropriate the modest funds needed for such a course.

DIVISION OF MOTOR VEHICLES

In the Division of Motor Vehicles, this budget also provides for more vigorous measures against the mounting toll of traffic accidents and deaths. We are strengthening the inspector force programs of driver testing, driver improvement and driver safety education by recommending 10 additional inspectors and by stepping up the recruitment and training effort in this unit. The vehicle inspection activity is also being supplied with funds aggregating $110,000 for additional facilities and night hours in order to speed up the detection and rejection of unsafe vehicles, which are now averaging almost one in every three examined.

Finally, as a further move against the problem of driver irresponsibility, we are recommending additional staff for closer controls over the convictions and accident information flowing into the new driver licensing-driver record computer system. This system, which is now operational after a three-year conversion period, is one of our most important weapons against unsafe and reckless driving on our roads.

The total staff increase of 77 positions being recommended in this Division's budget includes the initial permanent complement of 48 positions for the Motor Carrier Road Tax program which the Division administers.

DIVISION ON CIVIL RIGHTS

I am asking for an appropriation of $250,000 next year to operate this Division, so involved in one of the central questions of our time. This agency has important duties in the complementary areas of enforcement and education. As I indicated in my Annual Message, this budget includes a significant additional sum—$61,000—to help the Division meet the requirements of a dynamic civil rights program.

CAPITAL CONSTRUCTION—LAW AND PUBLIC SAFETY

The growth of the State Police organization has resulted in extremely crowded conditions in the departmental headquarters in West Trenton. Therefore, I am recommending $385,000 for an addition to the Division headquarters building and for sewage disposal facilities that will meet the modern sanitary criteria.

For the Division of Motor Vehicles, I am recommending an amount of $160,000 for purchase of land necessary to establish a new three-lane motor vehicle field installation in Morris County.

Plans of the City of Newark to renew an urban area around the downtown motor vehicle station make it desirable to relocate this activity. Therefore, I am including $55,000 for advance planning and design of this new station.

STATE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT

The funds which I am recommending for the State Highway Department next year total $101.3 million, representing an increase of $7.6 million over 1964-65. But cold figures stating the amount recommended for this Department, and the increase which it represents, would hardly do justice to the new programs and many changes which are reflected in the Highway budget.

ADVANCE PURCHASE OF RIGHT-OF-WAY

My recommendations include $4 million as the start of a revolving fund for the advance purchase of right-of-way—a purpose for which a manifest need has existed for years. From this fund, the State will be able to purchase rights-of-way at a cost which will be a fraction of that which we would otherwise spend if, as in the past, we were forced to buy after the lands were improved. When this property is used for highways to be constructed out of joint Federal-State matching funds, we shall be able to replenish the revolving fund from these matching funds and be able to continue the process of buying land in advance of immediate needs. Furthermore, the Federal Bureau of Public Roads recognizes the need to plan ahead in acquiring rights-of-way as long as seven years prior to the need to place the property in a roadbed. We should take advantage of the Federal government's willingness to co-operate with us in such acquisitions.

MAJOR REVISIONS

Management studies conducted by consultants hired by the State Highway Department indicate a number of areas in which the Department may improve its operations, its organization and its efforts to construct highway construction activities. On the one hand, these studies have suggested directions which the State should take to increase its potential to accelerate highway construction. On the other hand, the studies have pointed to savings which the Department can effect in its existing appropriations.

Accordingly, this budget eliminates 100 positions in the maintenance and operating force while, at the same time, it provides an increase in staff necessary for the Department's expanded highway construction program. Thus, in large measure, staff needs of the Department are being met in this budget by savings in areas which our survey determined were over-staffed. The studies also point out that we should make more effective use of personnel now available for highway maintenance and operation by revising existing performance standards. This is being done.

One of the areas to which we will devote these savings is that of highway research. In this budget, it is proposed to begin the expansion of the research program to a point where it engages in all phases of highway research including pavements, bridges, traffic surveys, foundations, safety features and highway capacities, among others. New Jersey is justified in developing a more extensive research program at this time. It is hoped that improvements in methods as well as materials of construction will result in better highway construction techniques at considerable public savings.

Appropriations to operate the State Highway Department give effect to further reorganization whereby long-standing vacancies have been eliminated in favor of establishing positions needed to decentralize the Department's operations. With this decentralization, authority to act will be delegated to personnel who will be able to make non-policy decisions on the spot.

CAPITAL CONSTRUCTION

Let us now consider recommendations for the capital construction program of the Highway Department. To implement our construction program, first things must come first. The acquisition of right-of-way is obviously a prerequisite to any highway construction program. In order to acquire the lands upon which we will build the roads, I am recommending an appropriation of $362,000 for 56 additional positions to process their acquisition. Recent studies of our construction program indicate that the Right-of-Way Division must acquire as many as 6,000 parcels of land per year to keep far enough ahead of the Department's construction force, and thus assure an orderly construction program. That is not to suggest that this workload level can be obtained in one year. It may require several years.

Other sums for new positions are recommended to give effect, in the construction program, to the decentralization policy which I already have described in the area of highway maintenance.

Over the last decade, and particularly since the implementation of the current federally-financed interstate highway program, the State Highway Department has relied to a considerable extent on outside engineering firms to provide the skills necessary to plan and design the interstate highway system. For the most part, the decision to follow that course was well chosen. When the interstate highway system became a reality in 1956 and the multi-millions of dollars from Federal sources became available, the Department was under a compulsion to construct highways as fast as possible in order that those Federal funds could be utilized in the years for which they were made available.

The Commissioner made a considered judgment that the construction program could be implemented quickly only with reliance on professional engineering firms because the State could not possibly have hired and trained enough competent technical employees to expedite the program as rapidly as could professional firms. The fact was that civil engineers were not available for hire by the State at salaries which the State could afford to pay.

The Highway Commissioner and I share the opinion that we have now reached a point where the State can hire more of its own staff—not all at one time, but over a period of several years—so that a staff of State employees will be available to produce approximately 50 per cent of the total amount of planning and design work necessary for the construction program. It is clear that we must continue to rely on professional engineering firms for the balance of the planning and design work involved in the program. Such a distribution of work between State staff and independent professional engineers will give us desirable flexibility to cope with the fluctuating nature of the work.

Accordingly, I am recommending that funds which may be required for planning and design services related to the highway construction program be made available to the Department either for professional engineering services or for staff services as the Highway Commissioner may determine.

The funds recommended for highway construction include $28.3 million to match the Federal allocation of funds for the fiscal year 1966-67; thus we are matching Federal funds one year beyond the fiscal year for which this budget is being submitted.

NEW COMMUTER CAR PROGRAM

In 1960, this State adopted a policy that essential rail passenger services must be preserved as an integral part of the State's transportation system. Since that time, trains have continued operating under contracts between the State and the railroads. Nevertheless, it always has been recognized that one of the major factors in any long-range solution of the rail transportation problem must be the acquisition of new equipment. Of the cars presently in New Jersey suburban service, 99 per cent are more than 30 years old. They are expensive to maintain, uneconomical to operate and certainly uninviting to the traveling public. The numerous equipment failures have adversely affected schedule dependability—the most cherished characteristic of railroad transportation.

First priority is the acquisition of new multiple unit electric commuter cars to be operated in the suburban services provided by the Pennsylvania Railroad. The cars will be leased to the railroad at a token rental. The railroad will assume all maintenance costs for the cars. This carrier has indicated that, if New Jersey adopts a car acquisition program, it would agree to provide commuter services for a period of 15 years without cash subsidy. In 1964-65 subsidy payments of $1.8 million were made by the State to the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The enactment of the Federal Mass Transportation Act of 1964 provides matching funds. If this Act is supported by adequate appropriations, some assistance can be anticipated in the financing of new cars. In order to initiate acquisition of this much-needed equipment, I have recommended that $2 million of the money that would otherwise be appropriated for carrying out the passenger service contracts be earmarked specifically for acquiring new cars—provided that no less than an equal amount is made available from the Federal government. The total of $4 million would then purchase 16 of the most modern, high-density, high-performing passenger cars that today's technology has been able to produce. This will be the beginning of a program for all commuter railroads that the Railroad Transportation Division estimated in 1962 would involve costs totaling $85 million. Hopefully, there would be substantial Federal participation in these costs.

CONSERVATION AND ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

The total amount recommended for the Department of Conservation and Economic Development is $18 million or approximately $2.8 million more than the current fiscal year. Of this increase, $1.6 million constitutes amortization payments on the bonds issued for Green Acres and for water supply resources at Round Valley and Spruce Run. As I announced in my Annual Message, I am including $200,000 for co-operative economic development studies in which the State would pay up to 50 per cent of the cost of feasibility studies for private industries interested in locating in our State.

I am asking an additional $100,000 to strengthen our program to promote New Jersey's industrial, commercial, recreational, agricultural, educational and residential advantages. While many promotional efforts are being made in the private sector on behalf of New Jersey, the State has an obligation to strengthen its own activity in this area.

CONSTRUCTION AND IMPROVEMENTS

Added sums for capital construction include $350,000 for the rehabilitation of the Shark River Inlet jetties and concrete wall. With the rebuilding of these installations, we will be able to turn over to the Federal government their maintenance as part of the Federal waterway program.

For improvements at the various State parks and recreational areas, some of which were acquired under the Green Acres program, I recommend an increase of $117,000.

SHELLFISH INDUSTRY

Additional funds have been recommended to better enable our shellfish industries to combat disease and over-harvesting. These funds should also permit the Department to participate in Federal programs by which additional seed beds can be developed and the means found to prevent shellfish diseases.

WATER RESOURCES

Revenues expected to be derived from the sale of water in Spruce Run and Round Valley during 1965-66 are estimated to be sufficient for the operation of these facilities. In 1966-67, these revenues should be sufficient not only to provide for operation but, in addition, to begin repayment to the State for the debt service payments already advanced and for at least part of the payment to be made in the future.

WORLD'S FAIR PAVILION

Upon the expiration of the New Jersey Tercentenary Commission's term on December 31, 1964, we transferred the operation of the World's Fair Pavilion to the Department of Conservation and Economic Development. To operate New Jersey's Pavilion to the close of the Fair by November of 1965, we estimate that $150,000 will be required.

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

There is recommended for the Department of the Treasury the sum of $21.6 million or $1.9 million more than that appropriated this year. The increase includes $980,000 for construction of an addition to our present State Highway Building in order to meet the needs of that growing department and to relieve its present overcrowding. The other major increase represents an additional $500,000 to be returned to the counties as their share of increased inheritance tax collections.

There also is included $50,000 to begin a permanent inventory of personal and real property owned by the State. You will recall that in my recent veto message of a bill proposing a State property inventory, I indicated that an inventory as contemplated by the bill would be too costly. I proposed that more careful guide lines be established for the inventory system. This sum will permit an inventory—with efficiency and economy as its objective—to begin with needed criteria.

I am asking for $35,000 to study the feasibility of establishing a computerized file for use in State planning. This would give us an opportunity to improve our State's capability to make long-range planning and managerial decisions.

ADVANCE PLANNING

The benefits of having a fund available for advance planning and design of building construction was amply demonstrated this year when the Legislature provided $400,000 in anticipation of passage of the Educational and Institutional bond issues. As a result, we are much farther advanced toward construction of those facilities. Therefore, to prepare for future construction, I am recommending that $250,000 be appropriated as a revolving fund for costs of advance planning and architectural services. These expenditures should be returned to the revolving fund from appropriations which will be made for the projects' construction.

DEPARTMENT OF CIVIL SERVICE

To finance the ever-increasing workload of the Department of Civil Service there is allotted $1.8 million, approximately $70,000 more than the current budget. The number of counties, municipalities and other autonomous bodies covered by Civil Service is constantly increasing, as is the number of employees in these local governments.

To aid in handling the mounting workload $61,200 is recommended for rent of data processing equipment, an increase of $40,000 over the current year. But use of this equipment will enable the Department to eliminate seven positions.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

The sum of $1.8 million is recommended for the Department of Agriculture. This is $43,000 more than was granted in the current year. Except for two new items, amounting to $120,000, this Department's budget decreases from 1964-65. The two new items are: $100,000 for Thoroughbred Breeders' Awards; and $20,000 for Standardbred Breeders' Awards.

It is the considered opinion of the Racing Commission that the establishment of this new program of awards for New Jersey bred horses will help to maintain the high level of tax receipts—$28.5 million in 1964—from our tracks. These award funds, to be administered through the Department of Agriculture, are designed to stimulate the breeding of New Jersey stock.

Nearby states have recently provided strong financial incentives designed to encourage the production of more and better horses, resulting in marked increases in revenue. Such programs have seriously affected the availability of horses needed to fill New Jersey races to best advantage. Since racing revenue is highly dependent upon the quantity of horses available, steps must be taken to ensure an abundance of native racing stock.

DEPARTMENTAL BUDGET REDUCTIONS

I am pleased to report that in three departments I have been able to reduce total recommendations below the level of expenditures in 1964-65. And these reductions, I feel, will not impair the quality or the extent of services rendered by these agencies—Banking and Insurance, Defense and Public Utilities.

While these cuts are modest in size, it should be remembered that the recommendations, nevertheless, provide for normal salary increments, as well as a number of necessary increases in operating costs. The reductions we have been able to make, however, more than offset these rises. We shall continue to make similar cuts—in the interests of a full dollar's value for the taxpayer—wherever and whenever they can be done without impairment of service.

DELAWARE RIVER BASIN COMMISSION

New Jersey's share of operating costs of the Delaware River Basin Commission is $126,000 in the year ahead, a modest increase of only $9,000 over the current year. In the Capital Construction section of the budget, however, there is a relatively minuscule amount of $1,000 which I am asking you to appropriate as evidence of the State's intent to participate in the long-range plan of this Commission. This will eventually cost New Jersey $26.4 million as its share of the water supply portion of multi-purpose dams which will be constructed from funds being advanced by the Federal government. These developments represent real provision for future generations.

JUDICIAL ADMINISTRATION

In addition to salary increases for members of the State's court system, which I discussed elsewhere, there is a need to recognize the constant rise in proceedings which the courts' employees must process. Those of you who are lawyers have special knowledge of the vast amount of paper work that must be performed in connection with court proceedings. To accommodate this ever-increasing workload I am recommending 25 new positions at a cost of $112,000 to help the courts keep abreast of the demands placed upon them.

STATE EMPLOYEES' PENSIONS

Amounts required for our various pension funds (not including the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund) total $22.3 million. This is an increase of $2.3 million over the amount required for the current year. Of this increase $1.5 million is allotted to the Public Employees' Retirement System and $470,000 additional is required for the State's share of Social Security taxes. An increase of $300,000 is allotted to grant pension improvements under our present Pension Increase Act.

STATE EMPLOYEES' HEALTH BENEFITS

Our Health Benefits program will be entering its fifth year in this budget. The appropriation recommended for State employees' health benefits in 1966 is $200,000 greater than in 1965. This increase represents: (1) a rise to 33,250 in the number of employees who are expected to participate in the program and (2) a small increase anticipated in premium rates.

RENT

I am recommending an increase of $470,000 in general fund appropriations for rent. The bulk of this increase, $370,000, is for payments to our pension funds which were used to construct our new Education, Cultural Center, and Health and Agriculture buildings. Other major increases for rent are to be found at locations outside of the downtown Trenton area. They cover space for such agencies as State Police, Workmen's Compensation, Children's Services and the Highway Department.

THE STATE EMERGENCY FUND

Traditionally we have appropriated $200,000 as a State Emergency Fund to cover unforeseen contingencies. In this budget I am requesting an additional $200,000 to assist the various agencies of the State in meeting the State's share to match funds available from the Federal government under the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964. This sum is to be utilized only when in-kind contributions are inadequate to provide the 10 per cent of the cost of the program which the State must finance.

SALARIES IN THE STATE SERVICE

In my Annual Message, I discussed the State's obligation, as a responsible employer, to compensate adequately the men and women who administer and give life to the laws we have enacted. At my direction, the Civil Service Commission made a comprehensive survey of wages and salaries paid in private industry and in comparable public service. This survey disclosed that there is a gap of approximately 13 per cent between compensation levels in the State service and those in private industry and other governmental jurisdictions. To narrow this gap for the rank and file of State employees, I recommend an across-the-board salary increase which will elevate each employee's salary by one range grade, effective on July 5. This will cost $9.4 million. In addition, those eligible for normal increments will receive them on their anniversary dates.

While we are reducing the average discrepancy between State government salaries and those for comparable jobs elsewhere, there still remain sharp differentials in specialized positions. These include many career executive, administrative and professional posts and many classes of technical, clerical and service work. Because of this continuing gap, we find it increasingly difficult to hire and retain such specialists as doctors and nurses, engineers, accountants, technicians and skilled craftsmen. Therefore, I also recommend $2 million to implement a program of selective range revision for many titles that come within specialized categories.

JUDICIAL PAY

There is no more urgent need for an increase than in the salaries of our judges. As noted in my Annual Message to the Legislature last month, "No court system can be better than the judges who are called upon to exercise its functions. Thus far we have been fortunate, perhaps more fortunate than we could expect, in the high caliber of men who have forsaken lucrative law practices to ascend to the bench. The fact that such men have subordinated material rewards to the ideal of public service cannot excuse us from compensating them on a scale which will enable them to meet their reasonable personal and family requirements and expenses. Judicial salaries in New Jersey have fallen markedly out of step with today's cost of living. For this reason, it has become increasingly difficult to attract the best qualified and otherwise willing attorneys to a judicial service which entails so much financial sacrifice."

New Jersey, for many years, had the reputation of paying its judiciary well. Unfortunately, this is not so today. Judges of comparable courts in the Federal government and the States of New York and Pennsylvania are paid substantially higher than their counterparts in New Jersey. In New York State, a salary of $45,000 is paid the Chief Judge of its Court of Appeals and $42,500 for associate judges. In New York's next lower Court, judges receive from $34,500 to $39,000. These salaries compare with $27,000 paid New Jersey's Chief Justice of the Supreme Court and $26,000 paid our Associate Justices.

The Federal District Court judge is paid $30,000. In the State of New York, trial judges are paid salaries ranging from $29,000 to $34,500. They are comparable to New Jersey's judges in the Superior Court who are paid $22,000. Similar adverse comparisons exist with respect to Pennsylvania.

Therefore, I am recommending a $5,000 increase to all judges in the Supreme, Superior and County Courts. This will cost $441,000.

SALARIES OF TOP OFFICERS

The pay level of Cabinet officers in the State government does not reflect the responsibility and obligations of these offices. Decisions made by the department heads in State government have far-reaching effects; most executives in private industry face no greater problems. Comparing the salaries of our Cabinet with their counterparts in industry becomes an academic exercise since comparable private pay would, in most cases, be at least double. Cabinet salaries for both the Federal government and New York State have recently been raised substantially, Federal to $35,000, New York State to $29,875. The majority of New Jersey's Cabinet salaries are $20,000. These salaries have not been included in pay programs for State employees for some years. As a result, there is now relatively little differential between top career employees and the heads of their departments. Good salary administration requires the establishment of logical steps from career salaries to executive compensation. The total cost of the recommended increases for Cabinet officers in New Jersey will be $64,000.

These same considerations apply to division directors whose salaries are treated as line items in the budget. For these directors, I am proposing increases of $1,000 to $2,000, totaling $50,000. The specific amount requested is noted in the budgets of each department.

I am sure that similar comments could be made concerning salaries paid to officers within the Legislative Branch. While recommendations in this area are the prerogative of the Legislature, I stand ready to give sympathetic consideration to such recommendations.

SUPPLEMENTAL RECOMMENDATIONS

I am recommending $1 million for supplemental appropriations in the current fiscal year. Additional State aid to county mental hospitals, required by statute, accounts for $640,000; $100,000 will provide for equipping the new State House Cafeteria; $75,000 will make it possible to activate utility systems and miscellaneous facilities for use by Rutgers at Camp Kilmer; $100,000 is required for the salaries of the eight additional Superior Court judges authorized by the 1964 Legislature, and for whom no appropriation was made; and $85,000 will provide for additional fire fighting costs during the current fiscal year.

CONCLUSION

The budget, more than any other public document, reflects the broad spectrum of responsibility of the State government. In New Jersey, we are put to a particular test: making the most limited revenues<sup>1</sup> of any State stretch to cover the diverse needs of this, the most urbanized State in the Nation.

We have met this test without resort to new or increased taxes. Where we have not been able to undertake broad new programs in full, we have made a start. Where choices had to be made, we have chosen the highest priorities. We have made full provision for contingencies by retention of a working surplus.

There continue, of course, many unmet needs and many inequities in distributing the financial burden of government. During my term in office, I have discussed this question at length and will continue to make known my views in clearest terms.

But, in broad perspective, government in New Jersey continues to do its duty to the people. And if we set duty as a standard, New Jersey, for increasing millions, will be a State in which they can build a meaningful future.

Respectfully submitted,

RICHARD J. HUGHES,

Following is the transcript of the debate and record of the Senate proceedings relative to Senate Bills Nos. 156, 172 and 173, pertaining to reapportionment and redistricting.

Senator Charles W. Sandman, Jr. (President of the Senate): Senate Bill 156 on third reading and final passage, one of the bills affecting reapportionment of the State Legislature. The bill will be read by its title.

Mr. Henry H. Patterson (Secretary of the Senate): Mr. President, Senator Forsythe, Chairman of the Committee on Printed Bills, reports Senate Bill 156, Senate Bill 172 and Senate Bill 173 correctly printed.

President Sandman: Senate Bill 156 on third reading and final passage. The secretary will read the bill by its title.

Mr. Patterson: Senate Bill No. 156 by Senator Ozzard, "An act providing for the representation of the people of the State in the Senate and General Assembly of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey."

President Sandman: I recognize the majority leader.

Senator Ozzard: Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate: This is the second bill of the two-bill package for redistricting the Congress and reapportioning the New Jersey Senate and Assembly.

First of all, I would like to apologize to the minority leader for my failure on the previous bill to give him the details of its content and to describe the districts. I thought this was understood by the membership; it is the reason I didn't explain it in detail. I would like to offer just a little detail on this bill, Mr. President.

First of all, this bill is based on the same Congressional districts as contained in Senate 157 and follows the thinking in large part of the Legislative Reapportionment Commission. We do one thing, however, in 157 that is a step beyond the Commission's recommendation and was contained in the minority report as to this portion of the report, at least, and that is, we have subdivided the districts into Legislative or Senatorial districts so that we would have 30 Senatorial districts in the State of New Jersey.

Now if you look at the plan, you will find that we have tried as much as possible to accomplish two things. One, we have sought to make certain that the area of representation is meaningful to the district that is contained therein. Second, we have tried through the subdistricting to place the representation on an area basis.

Let me explain both, please. Number one, where we have set up the individual districts, we have looked at the possibility of the community of interest that might be involved. That is why, for example, the City of Newark is a single district. To me it has never made sense that there should be three Congressional districts tied into the City of Newark and for the first time we have an opportunity here to take a single political entity and make it a single Congressional district. The City of Elizabeth tied in with the lower half of Hudson County—and someone has said to me that this doesn't make sense because of the water in between. I wonder at what point the width of water makes a difference because my county happens to be cut in half by a river that at one point is a quarter of a mile wide and there are other places in the State where this is so.

The community of interest here happens to be a very simple one, the development of the Newark Bay, the development of the dock areas, the shipping interests and so forth. And when the Congressional representative from that district is in Congress, individually he can represent the interests of most of the Bay area but, best, he and the representative of the one district of the City of Newark. And you are fully aware of the fact that the Federal Government's interest in the waterways and shipping in the Bay areas, in the port areas, particularly in the New York and New Jersey complex, is a continuing one, a vital one, and a very expensive one. So there is meaning in the development of that area into a single district.

If you look at the new Seventh, which starts at Sussex and comes down to Mercer County—Sussex, Mercer, Hunterdon and Warren—for the first time, the Seventh makes some sense. Before the thing started just above Mercer and it stretched up across the top part of the State and reached and almost made the Hudson River. If anybody could spell out any sensible community of interest in that one, I wish they would explain because up to this moment I am stupid about it. But right now, you will find, looking at the new Seventh, that this is the area within which the Federal Government, this State, and Pennsylvania will in the next decade spend hundreds of millions of dollars in developing the water resources, water supply, for New Jersey and Pennsylvania. So the new Seventh makes sense—the tie-in all the way down to Trenton, the Delaware Valley.

For the first time we have the County of Passaic out from the rest of the areas. What interests Passaic may have had with Hunterdon County, I will never know, but it was there. Now Passaic, due to its population and location, forms a separate district. And so on down, as you look at this thing, you realize that there is a pattern, there is a meaning, and there is a purpose in developing the districts the way we did.

Now why subdistrict—the second point. Well, perhaps in a single district such as Passaic-Middlesex, the two Senators at large and four Assemblymen at large would be perfectly acceptable. But I think that these areas are going to have to look at their sister areas throughout the State and you are going to have to realize that you can talk “one man and one vote” all you want, but I think there is another concept that is inherent in proper representation and that is the concept of area representation. In other words, how close to the people, how close to the persons being represented, can you locate the representatives? So when you start to subdistrict, you find that you can do this. It is the only way you can do it that is meaningful.

For example, in the Seventh District which reaches from Trenton to High Point, if you look at the political complexion, you will know that both of the representatives in the Senate and all four in the Assembly could be chosen right from the City of Trenton and possibly would be. So if you don't subdivide, you cut off that whole northern area from close association with representation.

Look at the—I believe it is the Fourth of Atlantic and Cumberland and you get the same situation. Then look down at the one down in the most southern part of the State that stretches clean out across from Cape May all the way over up and around the Delaware Bay and through Salem and Gloucester County. Why shouldn't this properly be subdivided so that representatives will come from each half? And I know why it shouldn't be because now more than before in Bill 157 we are dealing with individuals. Now we are stepping on toes in the Legislature and this is always a dangerous thing. Now we are dealing with individuals who don't want to run against other people if they have a choice, who don't want to come head on with other members of this Senate and in the Assembly, other members of the Assembly, who look at the voting records of all the municipalities in their districts and their sub-districts and they say, "This is not the way I want it. I want the big, fat cushion. I want the protection that I have now because this is the way my district developed." And they are not going to get it.

I am going to tell you something. Whether you like this plan or whether you don't, whether this becomes law or whether it doesn't, not one man is going to run the same way he ever did before. I don't know what the Supreme Court is going to do if the Governor has his way as expressed in this morning's paper, that this go to the Supreme Court and let them chop up the State for the elections for office for the next two years. But I know this, that we looked at plan after plan after plan and there is no plan that leaves every member of both Houses of this Legislature the way he was before or for that matter, the way he wants to be. So you just better make up your minds that you are going to be living in a different house from now on. Some of the houses may not be as comfortable or commodious as they have been in the past. But this is the way you are going to live politically and I didn't do it and you didn't do it. But we have to do something about making the structure as sensible as possible.

Now I read this morning—and I must bring the Governor in because he insists on saying things that I disagree with—I read in this morning's paper that the Governor made a statement to the press yesterday—and I took down the quote—he referred to this as “a brutal package which tears down county government and muffles the voice of the small counties.” And with this, I suggest that the small counties join shoulder to shoulder and march to the wailing wall. Suddenly, I hear the leader of the Democrat Party voicing concern for the plight of the small counties in reapportionment. But I would have him know and you know that the small counties lost their manhood on June 15, 1964. There is nobody that is about to do anything about it, particularly the United States Congress.

It is not this package—it is not 156 and 157 that did anything to the small counties. It happened a long time before that. What we are trying to do is piece together some sort of decent pattern of legislative representation and I still don't understand what he means by “muffles the voice of the small counties.” Also I don't understand what is meant by tearing down county government because, if you look at the pattern of the districts as we developed them, you will find that we have done everything possible to retain county lines. You will find the Seventh, the First, the Second, the Third, the Fourth, the Fifth, the Fifteenth, the Eighth; all the way down the line, we stayed within county lines. And only in that area of the Hudson-Essex-Union complex did we vary it.

A very simple factor was involved here and that was that you couldn't do anything about those lines because you had a numerical factor to work with and you had roughly 600,000 population in Hudson, which meant one and one-half Congressmen and the equivalent of Senators and Assemblymen. You had Union with 500,000 plus, which meant 100,000 more than they should have for proper representation there. And you had 900,000 plus in Essex, which meant 100,000 more there. It is interesting that the pattern did work out even in that area because you shift 100,000 from Union and 100,000 from Essex, which both of them have to give up, and shift them into the Hudson Congressional districts and you bring Hudson back to the balance of 800,000 that brings in two Congressional districts, in part at least.

This is the only area in the State within which we had to disregard county lines. So there is no meaning in the statement that we are attempting to tear down county government.

Now there was something said this morning and there has been a lot said in the press that this Legislature shouldn't do much of anything except go home, I guess. We shouldn't redistrict. We are not doing the right job in the reapportionment—in approaching the reapportionment problem—and we had better leave this up to a constitutional convention. This Legislature was charged by the Court to do a job of reapportionment and we have attempted to do that job.

I have heard that the Governor's Office thinks that we are going to go to a constitutional convention—this morning's press quotes him as saying so—that the Court will have to decide what we are going to do for the next year or two years and then a constitutional convention on top of that. You know as I heard that, I thought of something that happened to me around 1955 or '56 in the New Jersey Assembly when I was pressing for certain legislation and it was not to the liking of the Democrats in the House at that time and Assemblyman Musto was the spokesman. And Assemblyman Musto took the floor and he said one thing. He looked at me across the room and he shook his finger and he said, "Shame on you," and sat down. And I say, shame on us and shame on the Governor if we have to let the Court do a reapportionment job of the New Jersey Legislature. And you are not going to get the job done unless we get some co-operation from both sides of the aisle and the front office. If anyone thinks we haven't sought to get the co-operation from the front office, they are wrong, because I went to the Governor and the Majority Leader of the Assembly went to the Governor and we asked him to discuss this and we couldn't even get a discussion on the bills that are before you today. All we got was a fixed position that the plan that the Minority Leader has submitted in this House is the only plan that is workable.

Let me tell you about that plan—forty Senators, county lines, multiple representation—and you sell that one and you are hell bent for a unicameral Legislature and don't think you are not. You might as well add the other twenty and forget about it and wrap it up. It doesn't make any sense when you are talking about bicameralism—you talk about the plan the Minority Leader has submitted here.

Also, I would have you know that the twelve-member Commission had that plan before it. They had the author of that plan come in and explain it and try to sell it. Then we unanimously, including the Senator from Middlesex and I, unanimously rejected it. And I repeat, as I said this morning, that that twelve-member Commission, I think, is better informed about the problems of reapportionment and the many, many plans that have been submitted than any other individual or group in the State.

One last thought on the constitutional convention—this is something that is easy to talk about and it captures the popular imagination and the editorial writers think it is great stuff, as one of them did this morning, to say, "This is the way the people shall have their voice in the reconstruction of their State government." And I say that is plain, unadulterated hogwash. They know it and I know it. If they don't know it, they had better study something about the constitutional setup or the setup of constitutional conventions in the past. You can talk all you want about the niceties of the popular voice through a convention and that it should be taken away from the Legislature and let the people decide how a constitution shall be amended and how the Senate and the Assembly shall be structured. And I will then remind you there is a procedure to follow in setting it up and that is by the ballot. You can take your 112, 120, whatever you want, and I will guarantee you that 81 of them will be Assemblymen and Senators that sit at the constitutional convention because who in your county and my county has been to the people more times and corralled the number of votes and could still, to be representatives, and can convince the people that they are the persons who, at least among the members of most counties, are best informed as to the needs of constitutional structure than the Assemblymen and Senators?

So when you are talking constitutional convention, this is a sop. This is something to put your foot in the switch with and see if you can derail the train that you can't stop anyway. This is something to confuse the people. This is double talk just as we heard double talk here this morning because when you get the constitutional convention, you still won't have anything different than you can get out of an intelligent group of men and women sitting in two Houses of the Legislature with an intelligent approach by a Chief Executive who wants to do something about reapportionment.

A constitutional convention, as far as I am concerned, is a misleading approach to the problem. That is why, while it is not here today, I have a proposal to amend the Constitution without it, in Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 13. That is another issue. We will talk about it another day.

As for now, the thirty-member Senate recommended by the Commission is in Bill 156. The use of Congressional districts throughout the State, as the majority wanted them in the Commission, is in Senate Bill 156. There is but one variance with the Commission and that variance is in the subdistricting of the fifteen Congressional districts to better space, to better appropriate, the thirty members of this body throughout the State.

This is good legislation. That doesn't mean some of you will vote for it. But I urge your support. I move the bill.

President Sandman: I recognize the Minority Leader.

Senator Weber: Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate: I listened, of course, with great interest to the Majority Leader's remarks on all aspects of this bill.

The Congressional district part of his remarks, I think we can dispose of rather quickly. There is no surprise at our position. There is no thought of saying that the Governor was not co-operative. The Meyner Commission wrote him on January 18th and he replied on January 27th as to how he felt about Congressional districts.

The Majority Leader said in a previous debate some words to the effect that we want to roll the dice in the hope that next year we will be the majority party in both Houses. Well the concept of "one man, one vote" means an expression of will of the majority of the people by either an election or a constitutional convention and we do not happen to think that going to the people for an election is correctly described as rolling the dice. We think it is compliance 1,000 per cent with the "one man, one vote" concept of this decision.

Now as to the senatorial districts, we are in complete accord, of course, as was the Governor on January 27th, that we must redistrict on a Senate basis.

We are in complete accord with the U. S. Supreme Court decision that said any redistricting at any level ought to be compact, the districts ought to have a similarity of interests and they should be contiguous. We were glad to hear the Majority Leader say that they had considered this. Not only were we pleased, we were surprised.

The Association of the New Jersey Board of Freeholders has said that the concept of maintaining county lines is a good concept. This is a group that represents local government closest to the people. They in effect endorsed another plan to which the Majority Leader referred, the plan that we introduced, consisting of forty Senators.

Now what did we accomplish under this bill, under Senate 156, to comply with the Supreme Court as to similarity, compactness, contiguous boundaries? Burlington—and we will forget personalities of members of this Legislature—but in the County of Burlington, the Burlington County Board of Freeholders, those supposedly closest to the people, divided three to two, with Democrats and Republicans, and passed a resolution unanimously that Burlington had more in common with Ocean County than it did with Atlantic County.

So what does Senate 156 do? Senate 156 put Burlington with Atlantic County and with a possibility, mind you, a remote one, but nonetheless a possibility under this bill, that Atlantic County could in itself have no Senator whatsoever. But under the plan that was arbitrarily rejected, Atlantic County would be guaranteed one Senator of its own.

Camden County—what did we do with Camden County? We did not divide Camden County under this plan into its industrial complex and its suburban complex. Rather, we divided it lengthwise to the end that both the urban voice and the suburban voice in Camden County are diluted, to the end that both segments of Camden County under this plan suffer.

In Cape May, our neighboring county, neighboring to Cumberland, where we have a community of interest—we share portions of the bay—under the Coffee Plan, Cape May and Cumberland would look together to solve their common problems. But under this plan, Senate 156, Cape May must now also look to Salem County. I hardly call this compliance with the United States Supreme Court admonition that they should have a similarity of interests.

And Bergen County—Bergen County is divided strictly on one basis with no thought of industrial complexes or divergence of interests. Bergen County is divided strictly on the basis of what is politically expedient, no other basis whatsoever, in an attempt to please two opposing factions.

Senate 156 is no attempt to solve the problem. It is no attempt to consult the people under the “one man, one vote” principle. The Board of Freeholders Association has rejected it. The people will reject it if it goes on the ballot. I will urge the Governor to reject it and I suggest that this body reject Senate 156, which is nothing more nor less than a political blitzkrieg.

President Sandman: I recognize the Senator from Atlantic.

Senator Farley: Will the Senator from Cumberland submit to a question?

Senator Weber: I will.

President Sandman: He will.

Senator Farley: Senator, do you believe in home rule?

Senator Weber: I do, sir.

Senator Farley: It is my understanding you have a bill calling for a certain distribution of the districts and forty Senators. Is that correct?

Senator Weber: It is.

Senator Farley: That's on the basis of home rule?

Senator Weber: Yes.

Senator Farley: Would you say that your argument against subdistricting within the Congressional district is contrary to that—

Senator Weber: No. I would suggest that it supports it.

Senator Farley: How can you argue before this body that all of the people in an area should have a voice if you are opposing subdistricting? Isn't it more logical and sensible that there should be a division of a district so as to have more home rule for each Senator to represent his immediate district? Do you agree with that?

Senator Weber: Yes.

Senator Farley: How can you oppose subdistricting then?

Senator Weber: I say that subdistricting, in complete accordance with the remarks of the distinguished Senator from Atlantic County—that it is desirable for each county to have a voice, for the seashore counties, the small counties, to be represented in any new Legislature. But necessarily, because of the Supreme Court decision, we are all in accord that the larger counties will have to have a superior voice. Nonetheless, the small counties are entitled to a voice, a guaranteed voice, from that county. And I suggest that the forty-Senator plan will accomplish that to a far greater extent. I suggest that the only argument I have heard against the forty-Senator plan is that it will lead to a unicameral Legislature, and I do not believe that will be so.

Senator Farley: Will you submit to a further question?

Senator Weber: I will, sir.

President Sandman: He will.

Senator Farley: Do you recognize that presently South Jersey, including Burlington, Camden, Salem, Cumberland, Gloucester, Cape May and Atlantic, have one Senator in this body? You recognize that, do you not, Senator?

Senator Weber: That Camden, Gloucester, Cumberland—

Senator Farley: —under the present setup—

Senator Weber: —has one Senator?

Senator Farley: Yes, under the present setup of the Legislature today.

Senator Weber: Oh, yes, one apiece.

Senator Farley: Seven Senators.

Senator Weber: I thought you were referring to yourself. (Laughter.)

President Sandman: All right. Let's have it quiet. The Senator from Atlantic has the floor.

Senator Farley: Thank you for the compliment. Seven Senators represent one-third of twenty-one. Is that correct? South Jersey represents one-third of the Senate body today.

Senator Weber: Yes.

Senator Farley: Under your proposed plan of forty, there will be eight Senators from South Jersey. Is that correct?

Senator Weber: There will be three from Camden County, one from Atlantic County, one from Cumberland and Cape May, and one from Salem and Gloucester.

Senator Farley: A total of eight, correct?

Senator Weber: I make it six.

Senator Farley: According to your plan—May I examine your plan a minute, please.

(Senator Weber hands Senator Farley his plan.)

Senator Weber: I would suggest that this is the first time that any member of the majority has examined it.

Senator Farley: Three from Camden and two from Burlington are five, one from Gloucester—

Senator Weber: I didn't include Burlington, Senator.

Senator Farley: I am sorry. Burlington is part of South Jersey.

Senator Weber: You are right.

Senator Farley: So that South Jersey under your plan will have eight Senators; is that correct?

Senator Weber: That is true.

Senator Farley: And eight in relation to forty is one-fifth representation for South Jersey in this new proposed body by you. Is that correct?

Senator Weber: This is true.

Senator Farley: And under the proposed plan, under Senate 156, South Jersey would have six Senators. Is that correct?

Senator Weber: This is true.

Senator Farley: And six Senators in relation to thirty is one-fifth. Is it not?

Senator Weber: This is true.

Senator Farley: How can you distinguish between your plan and Senate 156 with respect to the representation of South Jersey, which is your own area and my own area of the State?

Senator Weber: Because I feel this way—that like any other geographical area, southern New Jersey is not necessarily composed of a single interest. We have the agricultural interests represented by Salem County and Cumberland County and parts of Burlington County. We have the industrial interests of Camden and we have the individual interests of Atlantic and Cape May as seashore counties. It is not necessarily a geographical distribution that counts in this House; it is a distribution as to interest. Southern New Jersey, while we have many, many problems in common, like any other section of this State, at times we are not all concerned with a Southern New Jersey problem, per se. We are concerned with a seashore problem, an agricultural problem or an industrial problem. And I would suggest that under this plan, the Senators would be more directly related to the county which they represent and to the problem which that county has within its boundaries.

Senator Farley: Under your subdistricting, wouldn't they have a personal opportunity to not only be more familiar, but have an intimate knowledge of problems than they would have if elected at large?

Senator Weber: I feel not, sir. I feel that a Senator from Cumberland and Cape May, serving that area from Cape May or Cumberland, whatever it might be, would have a greater opportunity to become more familiar with these problems. We do have mutual problems to an extent. Salem and Gloucester have a greater community of interest. Certainly a single Senator from Atlantic County can become more familiar with its problems. Three Senators from Camden serving that industrial complex, and two from Burlington and Ocean—and the Burlington County Board of Freeholders, not Senator Weber, said that Burlington and Ocean have a greater community of interest than Burlington and Atlantic.

Senator Farley: Well, that may be their viewpoint, but we are very happy to be associated with Burlington County.

And my concluding remark is that the Senator from Cumberland, the Minority Leader, has made a presentation to this body that the plan is not, may I say, on a home-rule basis and not as intimate as he would like it to be, and thus he presents his proposed representation of forty Senators. When you compare the plans, Mr. President, you will find that there are eight Senators under his program, one-fifth of forty, and likewise under Senate 156, in that program of subdistricting, you again have six in relation to thirty, which is one-fifth. And as far as our area of the State is concerned, there is not any difference whatsoever with respect to the proportion of representation. I can't conceive in my thinking how he can differentiate between forty with respect to home rule and in the same breath say that they should elect at large. It is so inconsistent, so incongruous, and certainly beyond my conception.

President Sandman: I recognize the Minority Leader.

Senator Weber: Mr. President, I would make merely one observation, that eight Senators is one-fifth of forty and six Senators is one-fifth of thirty.

Senator Farley: That is exactly what I said.

President Sandman: I recognize the Senator from Salem.

Senator Waddington: Mr. President, it is with great reluctance that I arise today. I hope that the members of this body will observe that I consciously have worn a necktie today which has symbols of both political parties on it because in my judgment I am not speaking as a member of a particular political party. I am here on behalf of a county which Senate 156—and I say it is an infamous plan—which will destroy forever, if the will of the majority of this body is carried out—it will destroy forever any voice in the Legislature in either House from the County of Salem which has a history which goes back to 1655.

Last night I received a copy of the plan. I had expected that the Senate would be dismembered as far as Salem County goes. But I never conceived that you would even go further and dismember Salem County in the Assembly. It is just an incredible thing. I couldn't sleep. I made notes off and on all night and all day today. They may not be coherent, but I am sure they represent the views of everybody in Salem County, everybody. And I say to you who are running for Governor that if this plan takes effect, there will not be a Republican in Salem County. There can't be. You are destroying the two parties in our county by splitting us.

The Majority Leader has said that you have tried in your plan to maintain county lines. I have looked at the map and I find, if I can read this small print properly, that eleven counties are split under this plan, Senate 156. Eleven counties are split. I don't know how good you did in trying, but the results are impossible. The majority of the counties, if my count is correct, are split under this so-called home-rule plan.

But worse than that, there are five small counties in this State. Four of the voting populaces have decided to elect Republican members to this House. The fifth—and I say this humbly and gratefully—the fifth county, with support of people from both parties, happened to elect Democratic legislators. Under this plan, one county is split of those five. I say it is a strange coincidence that four counties which have Republican members in this House are not split. One county which happens to have a Democrat is split. I hope and pray that this is not personal and I hope and I suspect from the remarks that were made at lunch that this is true.

Nevertheless, if a sin has been committed by the people of Salem County, it is that in recent years they have been voting in majority for a Democratic Senator and apparently a Democratic Assemblyman.

I say this is an incredible plan because you move into the Assembly also. Under the Senate's own lawyer, a good friend of all of us, Senator Lance, his principal point as I read his brief—and again I am stepping into a legal area, but I read it—his principal point to the Supreme Court was that a percentage of 49.9 per cent of the voters of New Jersey could elect a majority in the Assembly—49.9 per cent. I only know two bodies who believe that their product is more pure than that. One is the long-standing Ivory Soap Company and the other is the Senate Republican caucus.

This week we heard in sonorous tones a voice in this body say that murder is a heinous crime, even if it is perpetrated by a seven-year-old boy. This is murder, murder of a county which has been in existence for 188 years, a county which recently has had a tercentenary committee which has done everything in its power to put before our people those things which will make everybody in our county proud of the great and really glorious history of Salem County since 1655, in conjunction with our schools, our Freeholders, our municipal governing bodies, and our service clubs.

And here in this one bill, by splitting our county in half, you are destroying this community of interest, you are destroying all of the living together, socially, economically, and every other way that our people have had since 1655. I say this is murder.

I do not believe that any member of this body has a mind which would run in this direction. I cannot believe that any one of you would do this to Salem County. So I can only conclude that the rumor that has been running around here is true, that this must be a product of the Republican State Committee. And I say to you, this is an evil thing. It is an evil thing and I am doing my best, and I hope successfully, to follow the injunctions of the great Judaic-Christian tradition, to love the sinner and hate the sin. I love you, but I hate the sin that you are trying to commit against Salem County. You are dismembering us. A way of phrasing this would be that Salem County, after it is dismembered, would be a small tail on two dogs. We are rendered impotent and I ask you as gentlemen which of you would like to be rendered impotent? None of you, I am sure.

It seems to me that we have a new meaning for these words which have been written and put into a movie called "Fail Safe." This plan, as I see it, is "fail safe" for Republicans. This is a gerrymander of all gerrymanders in a decade of gerrymandering.

I am afraid this can only be the result of some impersonal calculation by somebody on the Republican State Committee who does not know the people, who does not know their problems, who does not know their history, who does not know their traditions, who cares less, who only looks at this from one point of view—how best can we arrive at a conclusion that is "fail safe" for Republicans in the next election.

So I say to you, murder is a heinous crime and this is political murder in Salem County.

Of all the possible plans that I have seen—and I cannot pose to be an expert on anything, certainly not on reapportionment—but I have read at least 15 plans—of all the plans, I have only seen one other that was as bad as this one and this was generated by two gentlemen from Essex County who obviously merely took the political results and added them together to arrive at this.

Even worse, it seems to me from the point of view of Salem County, it is arrogant, and I use the term reluctantly. It is arrogant for this body to even try to place a plan like this in perpetuity by making it a part of the Constitution of New Jersey. It does violence to every concept, except one of political arithmetic.

I have with me today a history of Salem County which just now has been published and it is for sale. And if I thought it would do any good, I would buy, myself,—and we Quakers are generally known to be a frugal people—it is seven dollars a copy—I would buy copies for each member of this body and send it to you. It tells the long and glorious history of Salem County and its importance in the history of New Jersey and the history of the United States. It tells about the time when Salem County farm people fed the Colonial army at Valley Forge. These are the kinds of things we have been trying to get our people to be proud of—to be proud of as a county. Yet you have the audacity to tell those same people that this is home rule, that this plan is good for Salem County and New Jersey. It cannot be.

I have an editorial written by perhaps the most widely-read editorial writer in any paper in our county and what's his headline?—"Let's secede." Salem County was once claimed by the Dutch from New Castle in now the State of Delaware and he says, "We shall have to give serious consideration to reverting back to the days of Governor Prince, who was the Dutch Governor of New Castle. Let's secede from New Jersey and ask the State of Delaware to resume its ancient jurisdiction here." This is what's happening.

Here is the headline on yesterday's paper, and the only one that has come out so far this week in Salem County, "Salem County may be carved up by Senate reapportionment." How can anyone claim that this is home rule, that this is good for Salem County?

If you want to split the district, certainly it is not too far removed from logic to say, we'll retain the county, as I did the calculation within the four-county, so-called, congressional district. This would give a variation of no more than plus or minus 14 per cent. Why does Salem County have to be split? I don't know except "fail safe" for Republicans. Perhaps someone feels that it would be safer if we split this little county which is already weakened by being joined with larger counties.

Here is a whole tragedy of errors beginning first with the Supreme Court of the United States, which takes an extremist's position and supports a political theory which has no experience anywhere in the United States to my knowledge, and says we must live with it. Then we come, following this—the New Jersey Supreme Court, which like a school boy says, "I'll follow your instructions, teacher, and we'll do it fast. We'll move in rapidly." Then we appoint a Reapportionment Commission, appointed by leaders of this Legislature who both belonged to one political party. But then finally it culminates in a bill which ignores the recommendations of its own Reapportionment Commission and says, "We are going further and this is merely a minor deviation"—no pun on the chairman—M-I-N-O-R deviation"—"in which the minor deviation splits eleven counties of New Jersey." And then says, "This is home rule."

I say to you that locally this is good. My wife is happy. I can retire and perhaps a newly-reelected Democratic Governor could be convinced to appoint me as a lay judge in New Jersey. Locally for Democrats this would be good because after last year's debacle on the Republican National organization, then this year with this debacle under the New Jersey Republican organization, how can anyone say, "I'm a Republican in Salem County?" I think you are shaming your own people with this plan.

I heard on the radio this morning while I was coming to Trenton a statement by one member of this body who called this a statesman-like approach. This is what we have to take, a statesman-like approach? I was reminded immediately of the title of a book that was published some years ago, written by a professor at the University of Georgia. The title of the book was, "An Unbiased Account of the War Between the States from the Southern Point of View." This is the kind of a bill we have here.

I not only urge the Governor to veto it, but in this newspaper I have urged everybody in Salem County, every political leader of both parties, every organization, to write to the Republican leadership of this body and of the State Committee and to the Governor and say, this is murder, which is a heinous crime, even if perpetrated by a seven-year old.

I close with a legal statement as a lay lawyer. I am reading from the Reynolds v. Sims decision written, I understand, by a former Republican Governor of California. Here is what it says—this is page 1390 of 84 Supreme Court Reporter. I quote, “A state may legitimately desire to maintain the integrity of various political subdivisions insofar as possible and provide for compact districts of contiguous territory in designing a legislative apportionment scheme. Valid considerations may underlie such aims. Indiscriminate districting”—I don’t know how they knew you were going to do this, but apparently they did—“Indiscriminate districting, without regard for political subdivision or natural or historical boundary lines, may be little more than an open invitation to partisan gerrymandering.” Then they go on and say in this same section, “So long as the divergences from a strict population standard are based on legitimate considerations incident to the effectuation of a rational state policy, some deviations from the equal-population principle are constitutionally permissible”—constitutionally permissible—“with respect to the apportionment of seats in either or both of the two houses of a bicameral state legislature.”

I say to you gentlemen, under that decision, written by Chief Justice Warren, even you, even your State Committee, can’t find justification for splitting Salem County.

Senator Hillery: Mr. President.

President Sandman. I recognize the Senator from Warren.

Senator Hillery: The Senator from Salem referred to conversations made at the luncheon table and used them, I believe, as the basis of his argument and his thinking, and I would recommend, having been a member of that group at the luncheon table, for the protection of members of both parties on this floor, that the conversation be stricken from the record.

The Senator also referred to the history of Salem County, but it is too bad that he did not present the members of the New Jersey Supreme Court with a copy of that history before we got in this present plight.

There was reference made to Mr. Earl Warren, who was the Governor of California and a candidate for the office of Vice President, saying that redistricting would be a bad thing. He also said in the State of California when he was running that he did not propose or want the Senate of California redistricted because it was the most dangerous thing that could happen to the State of California. In fact, as a result of this, it would bring back boss rule to New Jersey—rather to California, and also to New Jersey.

President Sandman: I recognize the Senator from Atlantic.

Senator Farley: I agree with the Senator from Salem that Salem County is not only a historic county in New Jersey, but one of the greatest in the Nation. I will now ask him to submit to a few questions.

President Sandman: He will.

Senator Farley: Through you, Mr. President, does the Senator from Salem County and his county—do they favor reapportionment?

Senator Waddington: Obviously, no.

Senator Farley: Did the Senator co-sponsor a bill to importune Congress to amend the present interpretation or the decision of the Supreme Court to permit redistricting of Senate seats?

President Sandman: Senator.

Senator Waddington: The question confuses me, but I will relate what actually did happen last May. I was the principal sponsor—there were, as I remember, twelve members of this body who co-sponsored it with me—a resolution which was passed, which was sent to the Senate and the President, urging the Senate to amend the United States Constitution to permit one House of bicameral legislatures to be apportioned on factors other than population.

Senator Farley: That's correct. Now, Senator, did you receive a notice from the Majority Leader or the President of the Senate, inviting your suggestions as to any recommendations concerning the revision of the districting in New Jersey before a Commission headed by Governor Meyner? Did you receive such a notice?

Senator Waddington: I received an invitation from Governor Meyner to present any views that I might have before that Commission.

Senator Farley: Did you appear before that Commission?

Senator Waddington: I did not.

Senator Farley: Did you think it would be advantageous and, may I say, vital and important to make the presentation to that Commission that you have made this morning to this Senate body? Did you think it was important?

Senator Waddington: I don't know how to answer the question, sir. The fact is that the Commission majority never recommended—and I had studied the report of the Commission—the Commission never recommended dividing Salem County, never.

Senator Farley: You didn't receive an invitation from this body to appear with any recommendations to this Commission or to this body concerning reapportionment?

Senator Waddington: Did I receive an invitation from this body? No, I did not receive an invitation from this body.

Senator Farley: Well, I can recall distinctly calling the attention of the Senate in executive session by the President of this Senate, this august body, that if you have any recommendations, make sure that you appear and present them to this Commission. Do you recall that, Mr. President?

President Sandman: I do. I made the announcement, if that's the answer.

Senator Farley: Submitting a further question to you, Senator, didn't you think it was vitally important and a matter of necessity involving your own county to appear before that Commission and give the presentation that you gave to this august body today?

President Sandman: Senator.

Senator Waddington: At no time was I aware that the Reapportionment Commission was considering a plan which would subdivide their congressional districts into senatorial districts and at no time was I under any apprehension that the majority or even anybody on that Commission had planned to split the ancient and honorable County of Salem. I say to you the Commission didn't do it in majority. This is not the Commission's report and no matter what statements are made here on the floor or off the floor by some members who are proposing this plan, there is no way that you can make it legitimate, at least to me and to Salem County, by trying to tie in the authenticity of some of the people on that Commission with this perverted plan.

Senator Farley: Mr. President, through you, there is not any member of this body who had any knowledge, any thought, any design, as to the conclusions that may have been in the minds of those men who constituted this Commission. We were apprised, every member of this body, in addition to the announcement by you that I heard very clearly and very distinctly, to submit any thoughts or any ideas to this Commission personally or through the medium of correspondence. I must admit I am at loss why the distinguished Senator didn't make that presentation to that Commission.

President Sandman: I recognize the Majority Leader.

Senator Ozzard: Mr. President and gentlemen: I am most thankful to the Senator from Salem for the history lesson. It strikes me there was a place named Salem where they used to burn witches and I gather now the preoccupation is a similar activity with Republican State Committees and Republican State Chairmen, and it is just about as meaningful as when they used to burn them at the stake up in Massachusetts because I can tell the Senator through you, Mr. President, that the plan was not prepared by the Republican State Committee. I would also remind the gentleman that a little political homework might be very revealing as to who is getting what advantage in the sub-districting.

I heard about the loss of Republicans in Salem and apparently the loss of a Salem seat to the Senator from Salem—and again I refer back to my opening remarks that so many men seem to think it is necessary to reduce any argument to themselves. The Supreme Court of the United States and the Supreme Court of this State didn't say that each Senator shall reapportion the State to accommodate himself and his county. They told us to reapportion the State of New Jersey and they used the collective word, "the Legislature," shall do it.

I don't remember the Senator from Salem submitting any plan to the Commission, which is what he said. But I do remember the Commission at several times before its final report, stating publicly that there was a great deal of thinking about subdistricting.

Now when he says that we didn't follow the county lines, he is correct only in the subdistricting. When I said we followed the county lines, I thought I was very clear in saying that the principal districts recognized county lines throughout the State, with the exception of the area of Hudson, Union and Essex.

I am sorry if the Supreme Court and the County of Salem don't agree. It so happens I don't agree with them either. But when you start to put together a plan for the State of New Jersey, you have to work with population factors and you can't do anything else. And when you have arrived at the 400,000 which happens to be the Congressional district within which Salem is located as with the other fourteen, and then subdivide it for legislative purposes, there is only one way with a slight variation that you can do it. You start from any population area and work out and just keep adding towns until you come to 200,000. Maybe you can shift one or two, but you are pretty well boxed in.

Now I would like to just point out the emptiness, total emptiness, of the argument about the Republicans putting this together to assure Republican elections. I have a book in my office which the Senator from Salem or anyone else is invited to examine. In fact, you can borrow it. It has a breakdown of the last senatorial election and the last two Assembly elections and the last gubernatorial election, town by town, for the whole State of New Jersey, and it shows the Democrat-Republican majorities in every town. I suggest to you that you take this book, as I did, and apply it to this plan and you might be surprised to find out that the so-called safe seats, if there is any such thing in politics today—the so-called safe seats come out fourteen Republicans and fourteen Democrats and two marginal.

I will take the plan that was submitted by the Minority Leader, which has forty Senators, and I'll show you that between twenty-seven and twenty-eight are certain—I mean dead certain—Democrat seats.

So when somebody tells me that we are playing politics with the redistricting, they just don't know what they are talking about. Get the figures, apply them, and then get up on this floor and talk sense because, without doing that, you are making unfounded charges against people who have tried very hard to do a decent job, to get a balance and get a sensible districting plan. Fourteen-fourteen-two—if this is something that leans toward the Republicans, I just don't understand politics. And if this was the product of the State Committee of the Republican Party, we had better clean them out and get new ones. They should be able to do better than that.

President Sandman: I recognize the Senator from Essex.

Senator Sarcone: Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate. I had the opportunity earlier to rise and speak with reference to the Majority Leader's Senate 157 and therefore will not repeat all which I said at that time, except to say that while I support the proposition very strongly that the New Jersey Legislature should realign the Congressional districts of our State since they are badly malapportioned, I could not support Senate 157 due to the fact that in the Essex County, Hudson County and Union County area, the manner in which these Congressional districts were formed were not as compact and did not have as much community interest as that which I offered to the Legislature under Senate 172. However, the principle of basing the Senatorial and Assembly districts on the Congressional districts which now is presented in Senate 156 is one with which I agree, but I differ as to the alignment of the districts in the Hudson County, Union County and Essex County area.

May I say at the outset, much has been said about county lines. While I would have to agree that the court indicated, as was read by the Senator from Salem directly from the opinion by Chief Justice Warren, a former Republican Governor and former Republican candidate for Vice-President—nonetheless, if you read the entire opinion, it appears that the principle enunciated in Reynolds v. Sims, that which we must have paramount in our minds and in our thinking, is not county lines or the political subdivisions. This is a consideration, but the paramount consideration, my colleagues in the Senate, I believe, as enunciated by that doctrine of "one man, one vote," is people—people, no matter where they may live, no matter within what political subdivision they may live.

I happen to have the honor of representing a county which now has within its borders almost one million people. I would have liked it if we could have come up with a plan during these weeks of struggling which could have totally preserved county lines. But obviously no reasonable plan that could meet the "one man, one vote" doctrine has been presented to date and it is a question of doing the best that we can in following the doctrine of "one man, one vote" and attempting to preserve our county lines.

Now the Senator from Salem—I didn't intend to get into this—mentioned that these lines were drawn by some people from the Republican State Committee. Then he referred to two people from Essex. He didn't name them. But may I say, if Republicans had anything to do with the present plan, if it were done on a partisan basis—let me tell you a little bit about what happens to the almost one million people in the County of Essex. As we now are represented today—and I believe it is proper—in the Assembly, we have nine Assemblymen. The New Jersey Supreme Court did not go into whether or not the Assembly as it presently exists meets the "one man, one vote" doctrine. As I understand it, the court said, so long as the Senate as it now exists is unconstitutional, we need not go into a determination as to the Assembly—the entire Legislature falls. But nonetheless, I think as long as we are going to talk about people, we all recognize as a result of the 1960 Census there were then 923,000 people in Essex County and since then there has been a population growth whereby we now approach one million. The norm for Assemblymen, as I understand it, using mathematics, is that we would have—that is, all people in the State, not only people from Essex or Hudson or Union or Salem, but people, no matter where they are—one Assemblyman for approximately 101,000 people.

Now if we were to accept the lines as they have been drawn by Senate 156, the Congressional lines as recommended by the Commission—and I do not charge or even attempt to infer that this was intentional, but this is the result and, after all, we are struggling with a very serious problem—the result is that the County of Essex would have representing it in the new Assembly eight Assemblymen, not nine. The County of Union, which now has five, would have representing it four Assemblymen. And the County of Hudson, which now has six Assemblymen presently, would have eight under the new plan. I respectfully submit that this would not meet in my opinion the "one man, one vote" doctrine in the New Jersey Assembly; that is, the new proposed Assembly under the temporary plan.

I could also now, in view of the fact that I have gone through the Assembly, go through what would result in the Senate. Again I indicate this is not intentional, but the result would be that the Senate alignment in the proposed plan under Senate 156 would be malapportioned. It would not be predicated on the population of the counties of Union, Hudson and Essex. I don't believe anyone—and I don't think this Commission sat down with a pen with an intent to emasculate Essex—but the result is that the people in Essex and Union would not be receiving the "one man, one vote" representation to which they are entitled.

I have attempted in the bills which are on the board and which I trust will come to a vote later in the afternoon to cure this inequity. I agree with the principle of the bill as proposed by the Majority Leader which came as a result of the Commission's study. I agree with the principle of districts for the Senate and subdistricts for the Assembly. But in view of the inequitable representation, in view of the fact that it would not meet the "one man, one vote" doctrine in the areas to which I have pointed, I cannot support this bill.

President Sandman: Any further remarks? The Senator from Gloucester.

Senator Hunt: Mr. President and members of the Senate: I rise in view of the remarks that have been made. I had intended to remain silent today.

The history lesson was not lost on me nor were some of the other remarks that were made today on this floor which were not applicable to this particular bill. I thought we were confining ourselves to reapportionment.

I would remind the members of this Senate that history will show to you that Gloucester County where I live at the present time had its first settlement at the mouth of the Big Timber Creek, which is totally in Gloucester County, in 1623. I would be most happy to purchase the books outlining the history of Gloucester County at a price of $10 for any gentleman of the Senate who cares to receive it. I am not quite that frugal.

Much has been said about the Supreme Court and I want to reiterate what I said on this floor before, that I was not in favor of reapportionment. I was in favor of the counties maintaining their integrity. I was in favor of the old rules and law predicated upon one Senator from each county and Assemblymen to be elected in accordance with the population recorded by the census.

The decision of Mr. Warren, our Chief Justice, when he was the Governor of California, is well known. His views then, of course, differ from his views now. I would think this was perhaps his prerogative to change his mind, which he has done, much to our dissatisfaction.

Reapportionment will, of course, create many hardships and will deprive some of our counties of their Senators.

I want to tell you right now I am not in favor of depriving any county of its representation or of its Senators. The other twenty men who are in the Senate body with me, I take to be my friends. I have grown to know them and I like them and I wish they would stay. However, the Supreme Court has ruled that we must reapportion and if we are to be considered law-abiding citizens, we must then meet its mandate.

There was a resolution in this House to memorialize Congress to amend the Fourteenth Amendment. I was one who supported that. If it comes back again, I shall again support it. I believe that the people of the State should be entitled to govern their own State.

In so far as splitting Salem County is concerned, I do not favor splitting Salem County. I think Salem County is one of the finest counties in the State of New Jersey. I might also tell you that I am a property owner in the County of Salem and during the summer months I spend my time with my family on a lake not too far from the esteemed Senator from Salem County. I like it down there and I like their people. It is a very beautiful county. I would not, under any circumstances, advocate that it be carved up, except the Supreme Court has indicated that we must reapportion by population.

However, nobody has made any mention as to what happens to my county under Senate 154, which carves up the County of Gloucester. Up until this time, I haven't been screaming about any murder on this floor. I am very happy to have the tone of my voice referred to as sonorous rather than musical because I don't know a note.

From time to time, the discussion here sounds like a broken record of distorted facts so I want to set the record clear. I have never and never will advocate the charging of a seven-year-old youth with murder at any time. This is the prerogative, as I understand it, of the courts of the State of New Jersey. Men who sit in this body have been those who have confirmed the judiciary and the prosecutors and I am quite sure that no prosecutor in this State or in any other State or no judge possessed of his mental faculties would ever condone such a thing. But the facts have been distorted purely for press reception. This appears to be one of the main factors here today. Once more I arise to defend my position, that I am not a party to any such action, never have and never will be. The courts will decide what shall happen to juveniles and I am content to let it rest with our judiciary system, with our prosecutors, with our grand juries and our petit juries, which are age old. I did not coin the phrase that murder was a heinous crime. This had been coined by the judiciary and the people of this country, not by myself, realizing, of course, that certain people are opposed to the use of the word.

Now in so far as seceding from the Union is concerned, I might say that members of my family who preceded me may have thought that way. But in so far as I am concerned, no matter how the reapportionment lines are drawn, if they draw one through the middle of John Hunt's home, it makes no difference to me. As a law-abiding citizen, I shall remain a part of the Union, a part of the State of New Jersey and a part of the County of Gloucester. I have no thoughts of secession because this in my estimation is the thought of an anarchist.

Debacles have been spoken about. We have had many debacles. I heard no mention about a debacle except after the last election. I don't know whether you could call it a debacle or not. It has been referred to by many other terms, such as "landslide," "victory for the great society," etc. We might remind some people also that not too many years back we had a similar situation which was of the reverse political party.

Now in the County of Gloucester, if we are cut in half by the so-called Coffee-Weber-Hughes Plan, then I would lose the county seat of the county in which I reside. There is no certainty that I shall run in my county again for the Senate. Whether I do or whether I don't is entirely up to the people of my county at the primary election and I think this holds true for everyone in this body. No one here is certain that he will be on that ticket with the blessings of his own political party. We have to take our chances on that. I would be most happy to run in Salem County if I could get on the primary ballot down there and if I were to qualify. I don't think that anybody would murder me either.

We talk about similarity of interest. I noticed when they were talking about this similarity of interest, they got to talking about agriculture. And, strange as it may seem, they completely omitted any reference to the County of Gloucester, which is one of the greatest agricultural centers in the entire State of New Jersey. Many of our products go into Salem County for processing. Many of theirs come into our county for processing. We have the great Seabrook Plant in Cumberland County. Much of our produce goes down there. We have a similarity of interest, very much so. If we did not, we would not be joined together in many common ventures of agriculture and of industry. So we do have mutual interest in the three counties, Gloucester, Salem and Cumberland. I have said many times that the populace of these three counties are so similar in nature and thought that they could very easily be contained in one county. This is how close we are in beliefs. Although we argue from time to time upon the floor, I am quite sure there is nothing personal in this.

I think the gentlemen who have spoken here spoke with sincerity. I commend the Senator from Salem County for his remarks and his fortitude in standing up and saying he was not in favor of reapportionment. However, I do recollect that we were all invited to attend and speak before the Commission that was to figure out a plan under the Supreme Court mandate. I took advantage of that opportunity and I was one of two Senators appearing before that body to testify. The other Senator who testified the same day that I did was the Senator from Warren County, Senator Dumont. We took out time to come up and listen to the testimony. At that time I indicated I was not in favor of reapportionment, but that I would go along with the plan and for many days prior to that and following that, we were apprised by newspaper articles, by radio and television of former Senator Lance's One-Two-Four Plan and most certainly, if anybody in this body had any objections to that, they should have voiced their opinions before the Commission at that time and not made the belated effort that has been made here today in this body to becloud the issue and smoke up the scene, because we all have a common interest and that is to preserve as much as possible our county lines.

I shall vote for this bill somewhat reluctantly because I feel so strongly that county lines should be preserved. I have a strong feeling for my neighbors to the south, the people in Salem County. I likewise have a strong feeling for my friends in Cumberland County. If there were any way possible by population to maintain the county structure, I would be the first person to subscribe to it.

President Sandman: Any further remarks?

President Sandman: Mr. Minority Leader.

Senator Weber: Thank you, sir. I would like to merely sum up our position very briefly out of respect for the legislators here and the stenographers here.

First of all, I would like to call to everybody's attention that this is the first time we have publicly discussed this bill where there has been a free exchange of ideas. I grant you that it has been discussed in the press and I grant you that it has been discussed before the Meyner Commission. But this is the first time in the whole proceedings that there has been an exchange of thought about this bill, about any bill—the first time we have sat down as legislators, meeting our responsibilities for exchange of ideas. Out of it, I think, has come a very interesting thing, the concern of the Senator from Salem County for his people. And we were pleased to hear the concern of the Senator from Essex County for proper representation under "one man, one vote" for over one million people in Essex County. I suggest to him that this legislation is not being passed under the "one man, one vote" and he should join us on behalf of the one million people in Essex County in urging upon this body a constitutional convention as the Supreme Court on behalf of the people of the State, speaking for them, indicated and they said in the Jackman-Bodine Case: "As a practical matter, the Legislature must be held to have the power to legislate an interim solution in time for that election,"—an interim solution. Here we are today with a permanent package.

It goes on to say: "The more difficult question is how a permanent plan may be devised, more specifically whether the plan may be proposed only by a constitutional convention or whether the Legislature may initiate some other process to that end." And it goes on to say ". . . the machinery whereby the people can meet in convention through their delegates in pursuit of their 'right at all times to alter or reform' the government."

I suggest the remarks of the Senator from Essex strengthen our position. Today in this Legislature, the Senator from Essex speaks with a voice one-twenty-first in strength. In the Assembly they have approximately thirteen per cent. But under a constitutional convention the people of Essex County, one million strong, would have seventeen delegates, approximately fifteen per cent of the vote.

I concur with the Senator from Essex that the "one man, one vote" method is the way to solve this body by a constitutional convention and I urge that we all go along with him and that he go along with us.

President Sandman: I recognize the Majority Leader.

Senator Ozzard: Mr. President, I don't want to prolong this. But two things have been said here that are so incorrect for the record, they have to be corrected.

Number one, the statement that we are legislating a permanent solution is totally incorrect. If the Minority Leader has read this bill at all, he will note that it is keyed to the Jackman decision that it is a two-year Legislature, exactly what the Supreme Court said it should be. It has nothing to do with Senate Concurrent Resolution 13, which is a different approach and which we will approach later, I trust, in this legislative session.

Number two, when the Minority Leader says this is the first time that we have sat down as legislators and discussed this, I presume, with both parties, he is apparently suffering from a faulty memory because it was only a couple of weeks ago that we sat up in the Majority Leader's Office, both Republicans and Democrats, and attempted to discuss this. I was informed, as were the others of the majority party, that this plan which they apparently were familiar with was not acceptable, that they would not vote for it, and that they would only go for the plan that the Minority Leader was going to put in himself. So what is the point of discussing something when you have been told that they won't go for it, they don't want to talk about it, and that's the end of it? One attempt was made. It was fruitless. We are here today. Let's vote on it.

President Sandman: Any further remarks?

Senator Weber: One minor remark, Mr. President. I did not say it was the first time we had discussed it. I said this is the first time we have discussed it in front of the people of the State of New Jersey and that is a fact.

President Sandman: The Senator from Camden.

Senator Scholz: Mr. President, frequent reference has been made to the murder that has been committed. I couldn't agree more. This legislative body was murdered. It was murdered by the United States Supreme Court on June 15, 1964.

Our job is to recreate the body. We must become creators. What has happened, we can't undo. We have agreed that we are not going to be anarchists and go against the decisions of the United States Supreme Court and the Supreme Court of the State of New Jersey.

I can't feel for the life of me that county lines or any other lines are more important than the people of this State. The Supreme Court has ruled that we must approach the "one man, one vote" concept if we are to be constitutional.

Reference has been made to the remarks that undoubtedly I made this morning and were broadcast by the radio stations in the Camden County area, in which I said we should take a statesmanlike approach to the entire problem. Maybe I am too new as a legislator to get into the field where I have to deal with this important subject as a political tool. I refuse to do it. I hope that I never change. I hope that as long as I am in this body I will look to the people, to all the people, for the good that I can do for each and every one of them. I feel that this is truly the feeling of the majority, if not all, of the gentlemen in this body.

So I think that we are wrong when we talk about what will happen politically—what will happen to us individually. I think we have to look ahead and I said that this morning. If my colleague had quoted me entirely, he would have said that I referred not to today, but ten years, twenty years, forty years from now. None of us can reasonably expect that we will be in positions of public trust and responsibility forty years from now. But I for one would like to leave behind me a system of government that is representative of the people and responsible to the people and not a system of government that is responsible and under the will and control of a political organization or a group of political bosses.

I think that the political considerations should be completely submerged. The county lines were not defined as the boundaries by the courts. The representation here is for the “one man, one vote” principle. I feel that we should come as close to that as possible. The ideal, of course, would be one Congressman representing 400,000 people, one Senator representing 200,000 people and one Assemblyman representing 100,000 people. In this way each group, regardless of its makeup, whether it is a mixture of industrial or residential, agricultural, resort areas, whatever you might have—at least each group would have a representative. They would have a voice in one of the legislative bodies in this great State of ours.

People are what counts and this is what the courts have said. I believe that this is the approach that we should take.

We have under Senate 156 the conception that we do have contiguous, compact units which do meet the tests set by the United States Supreme Court decisions. I feel that the divisions that have been made in my own particular county, which were referred to here today as being improper because they do not embrace the industrial section and on the second section that of the urban area—that that concept is wrong. I believe that the lines that have been drawn are proper because it allows for an orderly growth in each of the two divisions represented under this plan which in turn will insure that we are not going to be subjected to continual changes in the districts as we go on through the years.

Now that relates only to Camden County and I don't want to be accused of being so provincial in my thinking that only Camden County is the county to be considered. I believe that all of us, no matter from which county we are elected, which county we represent, must look to the entire State and what would be good for our State long after we are gone.

I strongly urge the support of Senate 156.

President Sandman: If there are no further remarks, the Secretary will call the roll. Those who are in favor will vote Aye, those opposed will vote No.

[Roll call by Secretary Patterson.]

In the affirmative were:

Messrs. Bowkley, Deamer, Dumont, Farley, Forsythe, Hunt, Ozzard, Sandman, Scholz, Stout, Woolfenden—11.

In the negative:

Messrs. Hillery, Lynch, Ridolfi, Waddington, Weber—5.

Mr. Patterson: Eleven in the affirmative, five in the negative.

President Sandman: Senate Bill No. 156 having received eleven votes in the affirmative and five in the negative, I declare it passed.

I recognize the Majority Leader.

Senator Ozzard: Mr. President, I move that we have a ten-minute recess to allow the secretaries to rest.

President Sandman: All those in favor say Aye, opposed No. The Ayes have it. We will take a recess for ten minutes so the secretaries can take a rest.

[Ten-Minute Recess.]

AFTER RECESS

Under the direction of the President, the Secretary called the Senate, when the following Senators appeared and answered the call:

Messrs. Bowkley, Deamer, Dumont, Farley, Forsythe, Hillery, Hunt, Kelly, Lynch, Mathis, Ozzard, Ridolfi, Sandman (President), Sarcone, Scholz, Stout, Waddington, Weber, Woolfenden—19.

President Sandman: Senate Bill No. 172 on third reading and final passage.

Secretary Patterson: Senate Bill No. 172 by Senator Sarcone: "An Act providing for the representation of the people of this State in the House of Representatives of the United States, revising the Congressional districts of the State and repealing section 19:46-1 of the Revised Statutes."

President Sandman: I recognize the Senator from Essex.

Senator Sarcone: Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate: As I have indicated previously in debate on Senate Bills 156 and 157, the proposals which I advanced under Senate 172 and 173 follow generally the principles as advanced under Senate 156 and 157.

Now, Senate 172 as it relates to congressional districts differs from Senate 156 in that the congressional district lines which I have proposed for what will be the new 10th, 11th and 13th districts are in fact different. I would, therefore, conclude that the argument which has been advanced in favor of the congressional districts outside the three that I have referred to and the arguments which have been advanced in opposition to those lines other than those which I have referred to, will obtain, and I do trust that we will limit the debate and I, therefore, will confine my remarks to the congressional redistricting for the 10th, 11th and 13th districts to be proposed.

At the outset may I say again that I urge very strongly that this Legislature act at this time to cure the inequities that exist insofar as the malapportioned congressional districts are concerned.

In our attempt to present to the citizens of our State congressional districts which will be approximately 400,000 people each, which is the norm when you consider the population of our State, and in considering the area in and about Union, Essex and Hudson, I would propose that the City of Elizabeth, which is contiguous to Newark and has been contiguous to Newark for many, many years—As a matter of fact, I was just reminded by someone, a great authority, "Boley" Schwartz—"Boley" reminds me, and I know when I say this you are going to have to accept it and you won't be able to debate it,—that Elizabeth at one time was a part of Newark and was a part of Essex. Elizabeth and part of Union were taken away from Essex when Union was made a county.

As a matter of fact, "Boley" Schwartz, the authority, reminds me that back in the early 1800's there was a serious contest as to which of these cities should be the capital of Essex County—Elizabeth or Newark—and, as I understand it, Newark prevailed. So right at the outset we have this closeness between Elizabeth and Newark. As I pointed out previously, not only are they contiguous, side by side, but there are thoroughfares that connect them—Highway Route 1 that I referred to and Frelinghuysen Avenue. The citizens who travel to and from these cities by the thousands each day shopping, going to and from work or to the Newark Airport, the citizens of Elizabeth and of Newark in the area adjacent to or near the Airport, have common problems, whether it be the noise from the airplanes or the flying at low ceiling, and also there is the common or mutual interest in any problems that might relate to the Port of Newark area.

I submit that whether you live in Elizabeth or Newark you are in a relatively large city and you are city dwellers and it makes sense, when you consider a compact congressional district, to make those cities part of the same congressional district.

I submit that the northern section of Newark, which is now in the present 10th congressional district and which is very close and is not only contiguous to Belleville and Bloomfield but there is a great community of interest of the citizens who reside in that section, be made a part of 10, and I don't believe that the fact standing alone that there is water between Elizabeth and Bayonne is a factor. This isn't a river. This isn't a river. This is two miles of water and there is no going to and from Bayonne and Elizabeth as there is between Newark and Elizabeth.

For these reasons, I say it would be better, it would make more sense, it would make for a more compact district to include Elizabeth with Newark as a congressional district and, therefore, I urge the support of Senate 172 as being a more reasonable plan for congressional districting.

Senator Farley: Any further remarks? I recognize the Senator from Cumberland.

Senator Weber: Mr. President, the Senator from Essex gave me a bad scare there for a minute when he started off. I thought he was going to say that Boley Schwartz had put his blessing on one particular plan and thereby all debate would be ended. (laughter)

Mr. President, everything that we have said here today about one man, one vote, the Governor meeting his responsibilities, and a desire to see the Congress apportioned at the right time, we said sincerely and we said in good faith, and we won't go through it all again except to make that one statement—but it is particularly applicable to this particular situation when the Senator from Union is not with us, we do not know for sure his feelings on it, and if there were a Constitutional Convention, of the 101 delegates, 37 of them elected by the people, over one-third would be solving this particular problem—not 21 Senators sponsored by 1/21st with a representative Senator absent.

Senator Farley: I recognize the Senator from Warren.

Senator Dumont: Very briefly, Mr. President, this bill of the Senator from Essex makes a lot of sense to me and the fact that it does take Elizabeth with a portion of Newark in the same congressional district and the North Ward of Newark with other communities in Essex north of there and a portion of Hudson in the proposed new 10th District.

I voted for the reapportionment bill, the congressional redistricting, this morning and I intend to support this one also. I think we are not remiss here in any way in presenting two alternatives in this situation. I might point out that the New York Legislature passed four alternative plans in the hope that one of them would be upheld. I am sure that either one of these plans is sufficiently good to be upheld and to meet the one man, one vote mandate laid down by the courts, and I am happy to support this bill as I was with Senate Bill 157 this morning, sponsored by the Majority Leader.

Senator Farley: Any further remarks? If not, all in favor of the passage of Senate Bill 172 will answer Aye as their names are called, those opposed No. The Secretary will please call the roll.

(Roll call by Secretary Patterson)

Messrs. Bowkley, Deamer, Dumont, Farley, Forsythe, Hunt, Sandman, Sarcone, Scholz, Stout, Woolfenden—11.

In the negative:

Messrs. Hillery, Kelly, Ridolfi, Weber—4.

Senator Farley: Senate Bill 172 having received 11 votes in the affirmative and 4 in the negative, I declare the bill passed, and it will take the usual course of passed bills.

I recognize the Senator from Cape May.

President Sandman: On a point of personal privilege, I would like to make a couple of remarks for the record.

Since this bill has already passed, it would have nothing to do with what I have to say. However, I feel it is altogether proper to say for the record—and I am glad we are having a record taken today on these important measures so that nobody can be misquoted or told that perhaps they didn't fight the hardest that they could for their county, and I think it is proper to do it that way. But I think it is also proper to mention in this record that Senate Concurrent Resolution 21 of 1964 directed the Reapportionment Commission to study and review the congressional districts insofar as reapportionment is concerned and insofar as redistricting is concerned.

As President of the Senate I made an announcement at the beginning of the year that this was not going to be an easy thing to do in any of these regards because in many cases lots of us will lose our seats, and we are trying to do the best job we can.

I think it was proper the way the Commission functioned, I think it was proper for the Commission to ask the Governor for his remarks and his ideas, and I think it is highly improper for the Governor of this State to send a letter such as the one he sent to the Commission on the night of January 27th, because in that letter he urged this Commission to do something contrary to what Senate Concurrent Resolution 21 directed that Commission to do. This is a complete, unauthorized invasion of legislative authority.

The Senate Concurrent Resolution carries with it all the force and effect of a Senate Joint Resolution or even a statute insofar as the Commission's obligation to do something as directed by a Senate Concurrent Resolution, the only difference being that in this connection the Commission was to report to the Legislature. It did not require the Governor's signature to do this. A Joint Resolution would have. And, again, the only difference there is that their report would be to the Legislature and the Governor.

I think that the record should show a resentment, at least so far as I am concerned as Senate President, that the Governor has invaded the prerogative of the State Senate and the Legislature in his letter of January 27th to the Commission.

Senator Farley: I recognize the Senator from Cumberland.

Senator Weber: Mr. President—

Senator Farley: Is this on personal privilege or as Minority Leader?

Senator Weber: Both.

A very quick observation: The debate is going on so long, I guess we are all getting confused, because it was not too long ago that the Majority Leader in a debate, speaking for the majority party, said in defense of congressional redistricting, "Remember, we did not direct that Meyner Commission to do anything about congressional redistricting; we told them that it was a proper field to study," and he said, not I, that it would be entirely proper for them to come back and say that they had studied it and there was nothing to be done, or so on and so forth.

So we have two schools of thought on the majority side—one that they were directed to do congressional redistricting and the other one that says, "Oh, no, we did not direct them. They chose to do it themselves." And I don't know what they said, and I don't really care what it meant. It was a resolution passed by the Republican Majority. I do know and I do care that we have a Governor who, when he is asked a question about reapportioning this State after 180 years, has an opinion, and he should have.

Senator Farley: I recognize the Senator from Somerset.

Senator Ozzard: Mr. President, for the Minority Leader's information, all he is saying proves that the Majority may be ambidextrous but it is at least productive. [Laughter].

Senator Farley: I recognize the Senator from Cape May.

Senator Sandman: The remarks of the Senate Majority Leader and the remarks that I made here a few moments ago are identical. Reading the simple language of Senate Concurrent Resolution 21, the beginning of Paragraph 3, on page 2, it states: "It shall be the duty of said commission,"—that's mandatory. The Governor says, "Pay no attention to them. Chop up the Republican-controlled Senate but let two guys from Hudson represent half as many people as Camden." And that is pretty inconsistent.

Senator Weber: Mr. President, I should be out of this. The debate is between the President of the Senate and the Majority Leader. One of them represents the minority of the majority.

Senator Farley: Senate Bill 173 on third reading and final passage. Will the Secretary please read the bill by its title.

Secretary Patterson: Senate Bill No. 173 by Senator Sarcone, "An Act providing for the representation of the people of this State in the Senate and General Assembly of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey . . ."

Senator Farley: I recognize the Senator from Essex.

Senator Sarcone: Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate: The plan for Senate and Assembly districting for reapportionment of the New Jersey State Legislature which I propose under Senate Bill 173 insofar as the area outside of Essex, Union and Hudson is concerned—since it is the same as that which was recommended by the Commission and was offered by the Majority Leader on the bills which were just debated, I would accept for the record the arguments advanced in favor of the previous bills as to the areas outside the three to which I referred, and the the arguments advanced in opposition I believe should be made part of the record.

Now I offer Senate 173 as a temporary plan under the "one man, one vote" doctrine of Reynolds v. Sims, which has more recently been mandated by the New Jersey Supreme Court. Whether or not this plan, if passed by the Legislature and signed by the Governor, would ever become permanent, I submit would depend on what course will be followed for a permanent plan.

As I understand our New Jersey Supreme Court in the Jackman Case, the court indicated that if we do it by constitutional convention, then we, the Legislature, can proceed. However, if we choose another method other than by constitutional convention, then we must appear before the court by April 1st to present that plan and obtain the court's approval. What course will be followed, I believe is for future action. But I present this as the temporary plan in accordance with the court's mandate. I feel the permanent plan will ultimately have to be decided by the people.

Now I have mentioned several times the reasons why I felt Elizabeth has a great community of interest with Newark and I felt that this should obtain in Congressional districting and therefore it should obtain in Senate and Assembly districting.

As I pointed out previously in the debate on the previous bills, certainly I think our objective—and this is what the courts told us, both the United States Supreme Court and the New Jersey Court—is to follow the “one man, one vote” doctrine. So we are concerned with representation, voice, in the New Jersey Legislature and with seeing to it that people of the respective counties shall have the same voice, the same vote, regardless of where they might live and regardless of who their neighbors are. I believe that mathematically it has been recognized generally that every 101,000 people are entitled to an Assemblyman in the New Jersey Legislature, that every 404,000 people are entitled to a Congressman in the United States House of Representatives, and every 202,000 people are entitled to a State Senator.

Now under the plan which I propose—and I am directing my remarks to the area of the three counties to which I have referred—I submit the proper representation will be maintained in the proposed Assembly; that is, the County of Essex will continue to have nine Assemblymen running from the Senate sub-districts, which we will refer to as Assembly districts. Hudson County will have six Assemblymen, to which it is entitled, of course, and Union, I submit, will have five Assemblymen. Anything short of this would not meet the “one man, one vote” test.

And under the plan which I propose, which divides the Congressional Districts into two Senate districts, each, Essex County, as I indicated, with a population of close to a million, would have representing it in the Senate five Senators; Hudson County, with some 660,000 people or 670,000 people, will have representing it in the proposed Senate, running from Senate districts, three Senators; and Union County will have representing it, two Senators.

I believe the lines which I have proposed are compact and there is community of interest. As we divide the 10th Congressional District to make from that two Senatorial districts, the line will be the Passaic River, which happens to be the line that divides Hudson County from Essex County and which would make the population in each of the senatorial districts approximately about 200,000 people. And, of course, as was presented by Senator Ozzard, I submit that in each senatorial district, two Assemblymen will run. I offer this as a very reasonable, temporary plan under the "one man, one vote" doctrine for the proposed new Legislature to be elected this coming November.

Senator Farley: Any further remarks?

I recognize the Senator from Salem.

Senator Waddington: Mr. President, I am reminded by my distinguished and very fine friend from Essex County that perhaps an hour or so ago, as I understood his remarks, those of us who were disagreeing with the plan then being voted upon, were somehow doing it for political reasons and this is reprehensible. But when members of the same party, particularly if the Senator happens to have some support in the Assembly, disagree, this is merely intelligent men who see things differently, but nevertheless are only dealing with the same facts.

However, from Salem County's point of view, this is another infamous plan to remove forever any voice of this county—and I suggest again that murder is a heinous crime and this is political murder.

Senator Farley: Any further remarks? If not, all in favor of the passage of Senate 173 will answer Aye as their names are called, those opposed, No. The Secretary will please call the roll.

(Roll call by Secretary Patterson.)

Messrs. Bowkley, Deamer, Dumont, Farley, Forsythe, Hunt, Sandman, Sarcone, Scholz, Stout, Woolfenden—11.

In the negative were—

Messrs. Hillery, Lynch, Ridolfi, Waddington, Weber—5.

Secretary Patterson: Eleven in the affirmative, five in the negative.

Senator Farley: Senate 173 having received eleven votes in the affirmative, and five in the negative, I declare the bill passed, and it will take the usual course of passed bills.

RECORD OF THAT PORTION OF THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE NEW JERSEY SENATE RELATING TO SENATE BILLS NOS. 270 AND 275
(Reapportionment Bills)

on

April 12, 1965

Senator Charles W. Sandman, Jr. (President of the Senate): Senate Bill No. 270.

Mr. Henry H. Patterson (Secretary of the Senate). Introduction of bills. Senate Bill No. 270 by Senator Ozzard: An Act providing for the representation of the people of this State in a temporary New Jersey Legislature.

President Sandman: I recognize the Majority Leader.

Senator Ozzard: Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate: A couple of months ago we made an attempt to pass legislation concerning reapportionment. Today I believe we are going to make our final attempt—at least all indications are that it will be final.

I am asking that this bill have your support on a voice vote to advance it to second reading and then I am going to ask you to vote with me on an emergency resolution to put it on the board for final vote and discussion here today.

At this time, Mr. President, I move that the bill be advanced to second reading without reference.

Mr. Patterson: Senate bills on second reading. Senate Bill No. 270 by Senator Ozzard: An Act providing for the representation of the people of this State in a temporary New Jersey Legislature.

President Sandman: The title of the bill is open to amendment, the first section is open to amendment, the second section is open to amendment, the bill is open to amendment in all its parts—having been twice read and considered section by section, is ordered to have a third reading.

Mr. Patterson: Resolution by Senator Ozzard: Be it resolved by the Senate by the vote of three-fourths of all its members, signified by yeas and nays entered on the Journal of the Senate that Senate Bill No. 270 is an emergency measure and may proceed forthwith from second to third reading.

President Sandman: I recognize the Majority Leader.

Senator Ozzard: Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, this is the Emergency Resolution and, with your permission, Mr. President, I want to speak on the Bill so there can be no misunderstanding as to the vote on the Emergency. I have that permission.

I said before that this is probably the last time we are going to vote on a reapportionment bill. I say that not with any assurance that this is going to pass both Houses but rather with a reasonable certainty that if we fail today, with the closing in of the Primary filing date, with the direction of the Court, and with the, perhaps, hundred futile attempts that preceded this one to come up with a practical and workable solution of reapportionment in New Jersey—if we fail today the Courts are going to have to take over.

This doesn't mean, nor do I mean to infer, that this plan is everything everybody wants it to be. I repeat what I said a month ago in this chamber, that the only ideal plan in this House, for these Senators, and for most of the people in our counties, is the plan that's in effect here today, 21 Senators from 21 counties. But you don't have any choice, and you know it. We haven't had any choice for a long time.

So you are going to vote for a plan that you don't like; you are going to vote for something that may inconvenience some of you and may unseat others. And probably after you get through voting, if it gets through this House and then the Assembly, you are going back home and be criticized and, if you are again a candidate, you are going to find some people who will turn against you because they don't like what you had to do.

I have been making speeches about reapportionment for at least six months and everywhere I go I run into lots of people who say, "Leave it as it is. We like it this way." and they mean it and they think you can do it, and you know you can't. So you have a bill today that is in part already approved by the New Jersey Supreme Court, and in the balance is something that I think, at least, is the least inconvenient, the least unsettling of any of the plans that we have been able to devise that we think can get through the front office.

Now, the first part of the Bill deals with the Assembly and, as you know, at the time of the hearing on the President's motion before the Supreme Court the Court told us that the Assembly, as presently constituted, was satisfactory as an interim body, but made no ruling on a permanent body; but it said, as an interim branch of this Legislature it was all right as presently set up. It, in effect, in actuality, said that some pretty wide variances, some pretty wide deviations were acceptable—something we didn't know before, we were not sure because we had no guide lines.

For example, they authorized the 2-year Legislature with this Assembly to have a variance of 150,000 in my county with 1 Assemblyman, and 50,000 in counties like Hunterdon and Cape May, a three-to-one ratio. But since they said it was all right, and since the people of this State have been living with this Assembly, with this structured Assembly, for about 188 years, I don't think that this body nor the Assembly has any right to change that structure for the next 2 years.

They can talk about all sorts of plans, and there have been many talked about since the Supreme Court handed down its decision, but in face of the popular acceptance of the Assembly in its present form for so many years, in the face of the Supreme Court's decision, I think we are obliged to pass legislation that continues to structure that Assembly as it has been and that's exactly what Senate Bill No. 270 does.

It provides, in its early paragraphs, for an Assembly in the State of New Jersey to run for 2 years, election this November, and distribution on a county basis exactly as it is set up at the present time. I doubt if we will hear much debate on that this afternoon.

The next part of this Bill is something that I am sure we will have some debate on. I just trust that it keeps well below the emotional level that it has reached at other times in the last five or six days because this is an emotional type bill. We are dealing with the seats of some of the men in this chamber, and everybody in this chamber has suddenly become a political analyst, a political seer, including me; we know how the election is going to turn out in November 1965 from Cape May to Sussex; we've got the votes counted; we know where the seats are; we know who is going to lose and who is going to win and who is going to control. The only problem that we have at the moment is agreement on any of these things because there are 21 opinions in this chamber as of this moment.

The fact is that this Bill, unlike some of the others that have been floating up and down the halls in the past week or two weeks, was not drawn hurriedly on Sunday night to hand to the Republican and Democratic caucuses on Monday morning. This is a bill that at least attempts to overcome most of the problems that previous bills have embodied and faced.

Number one, it's a bill that, at this moment at least, has the approval of the Governor. He has said that if we pass it, he will sign it. This is the first bill that the Republican majority in this House has agreed upon, at least, that the Governor has said that about.

Number two, it tries in every aspect of its distribution of seats to recognize incumbents—I said, recognize. There isn't a guarantee written into any one of the many paragraphs in the 4 pages of the bill. If anybody wants that, I don't know how to write it. The only guarantees that I can offer you today would be that you look back on your record and look forward to what you are going to do the rest of this session, and then go out and tell the people about it. This is the best guarantee you have.

But it does recognize the fact that there are certain Senators who have served long and well and should not be just written off merely because we have to set up a two-year legislative body, an interim body.

I know the Senator from Salem and the Senator from Cumberland can say, "Well, what about us? We're put together and one of us has to go." And this is true in just about every plan that's been devised so far. You just can't do anything about it.

I said, so far as possible we have recognized incumbents of present seats.

Number three, so far as possible, the plan is balanced. As of this morning, with a lot of people contributing ideas as to how the votes would go in the various counties, we come up with—so far as we can count, at least, 12 Republicans, 12 Democrats, and 4 marginal. Better than this, I don't think we can do.

Now, I would like very much to be sponsoring a bill of 28 Senators that had something like 26 Republicans and 2 Democrats to give it flavor. But I can't do this because it so happens that there are counties that just don't like voting Republican, and there are counties that don't like voting Democrat; also, I don't think the Governor would like it.

So you have a plan that at least is politically balanced. And I am sure the Senator from Gloucester will take me on in a few minutes to tell me that one of the votes I'm counting won't be there, but I disagree with him too.

The Bill provides for 14 districts, 28 senators. We spotted them around as best we can to keep a numerical balance, and the deviation here is a little greater than it was in the earlier bills. The deviation here runs up to 23-24%. We feel this is valid and acceptable because of what the Supreme Court said about the Assembly.

We have done something else that I think is important, that during the 2-year period this legislative body, particularly this Senate, will be in operation I think it's essential that insofar as possible we keep the representation distributed as widely as possible.

For example, in the district of Ocean and Monmouth, the northern one-third of Monmouth could easily elect the two Senators that are assigned to Ocean and Monmouth, so I have had written into the legislation a provision that we think assures distribution, and that is a provision that prohibits any political party from nominating more than one candidate for such an office from that particular county. In other words, in Ocean-Monmouth, for example, the Democrats or Republicans could only nominate one each from Ocean and one each from Monmouth.

We hope through this, at least, to be able to give Ocean a representative and Monmouth a representative, but both could be elected at-large from within the district.

This, in substance, is all there is to the bill. You've heard reapportionment until you are sick of it. But I want you to realize that this bill is, I think, a good alternative to running at-large in the State.

I think it's a bill that has some meaning and some sense. It is a bill that the Governor, at least, finds acceptable. It is a bill on this floor today because a majority of both parties, at least in conference, thought it was acceptable.

I will answer questions on it, I'll defend it. I don't like it but it's the best that could come out of a long series of talks and conferences and compromises, and we can live with it, the State of New Jersey can live with it. The people will be well represented under it and for the next two years you will have a functioning body that, I'm sure, will do the job it's supposed to do.

I move the Emergency Resolution.

I recognize the Minority Leader.

Senator Weber: Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate: The Majority Leader said several things with which I agree, many things with which I agree. The statement that occurs to me, with which I am one hundred per cent in accord, is when he said, "I do not like it." But I am also in accord with his statement that this bill is the last opportunity we are going to have to debate and discuss reapportionment.

Obviously, this bill is not one hundred per cent in accord with everything that the Minority would like, and it should be even more obvious that it is not in accord with what I or the Senator from Salem County would like to see. Nonetheless, we are face to face with reality.

Bill number 270—270 might also be the number of reapportionment plans that I have heard discussed. Whether it is or whether it isn't, it is the last one, I feel, the last opportunity for us to meet our responsibilities. The Governor is meeting his, the Majority Leader has met his, and we of the Minority are prepared to meet our legislative responsibility, reluctantly, but we will meet it.

President Sandman: Any further remarks?

The Senator from Essex.

Senator Sarcone: Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate: Certainly every member of this body desires to support a plan whereby the Legislature will fulfill its function and adopt a plan which the Governor will sign, and which will become a temporary plan whereby the citizens of our State will be governed in the State Legislature for the next two years. But above this and paramount in everyone's mind is not what will satisfy the Governor or what will satisfy either party politically. I think paramount in our minds is what plan will be adopted, what plan will meet that which caused all of this to come about, Reynolds vs. Sims, wherein the Court enunciated the one man, one vote doctrine. And I couldn't care less what the Governor thinks or anyone thinks, when you consider this decision. I think our consideration must be people, the people, wherein the Court indicated no matter where people might live, no matter who their neighbors are, their vote should be equal to that of citizens throughout the State.

Now, I would like to think that this is a plan that meets the one man, one vote doctrine. Of course, when you consider whether or not a plan will or will not meet the one man, one vote test, I realize that since this is new, since we have very little by way of legal decisions, a great deal of it is your best opinion, a guess, it may not even be called an educated guess since we have very little to go by.

But nonetheless, the Court did indicate that we must deal with people and at the outset, as the representative of the County of Essex, certainly as we are presently constituted, I realize that I have but one vote, as has the Senator from Cape May, but the Court has indicated that this shall no longer attain. So we are attempting to ascribe a plan whereby the citizens of my county, as well as the citizens of the other 20 counties, will have an equal vote.

Right at the very outset I would like to hear the answer to this. The county of Essex has 923,000 people living in that county while the neighboring county of Bergen has 780,000 and some odd, and by this plan each of them will receive 4 Senators. Now, I would like to know—I believe there's 143,000 people difference, that is by population—143,000 more people in Essex than there are in Bergen. So it happens to be about the population of the county of Somerset. I wouldn't expect the Senator from Somerset to go back to Somerset County and say to 143,000 people, "You shall not be represented." Or, if you want to look at it another way, your vote should be diluted.

I think this raises a very serious question. It's a legal question and I believe a court is going to have to decide it in the very near future.

Now let's consider some of the other areas. I talked about Essex County, I talked about it comparing it with Bergen County. I could have even compared it with Hudson which has some 610,000 and they have 3 Senators. I think this is a serious question as to whether or not these are properly apportioned.

Now we get down to what is designated as the 14th District. Salem and Cumberland are combined and there a population of 165,000 gives a Senator. Of course, up in Essex 143,000 more couldn't give us a Senator. I realize that perhaps 22,000 votes might make a difference. But here, Salem and Cumberland with 165,000 for 1 Senator. The county of Mercer, 266,000, 1 Senator. And if we consider those two counties by percentage of deviation from the norm—these are the statistics that were furnished together with the proposed plan—Salem and Cumberland, a minus of 23.6%, and Mercer plus 22.9%. If you add the minus to the plus it's a deviation of 46.5%. A serious question—is this proper apportionment.

Now, I haven't read the bill. I haven't seen the bill but, nonetheless, I understand there is a residency requirement. And as I understand it, where more than two Senators are to be elected from a designated district where you have more than one county, there is a requirement that each of the major parties shall not nominate more than one from a particular county.

Well, at the outset I think there's a question. What about those who are neither Republican or Democrat? What about people who regard themselves as independents? What should they do?

Then I believe that with this residency requirement—if I can take the northernmost area, the area of Morris, Sussex and Warren, which are joined together for one district to give two Senators. If we were to look at that and use it as an example, as I understand it, the Republican Party and the Democrat Party shall nominate no more than 1 from, let's assume, Morris County. Now I don't know what other area is going to receive the benefit of the nomination, Warren or Sussex, but obviously one of these areas cannot have a representative, as such, because we can only have two. Let's assume that it would go to Warren County and each of the parties should designate a Senator from that area, and that the election is now held and, after all, we are now considering representation. Now, while I realize they are going to be elected at large, who can tell what the result is going to be? Why could not a Republican who resides in Morris be elected, and why could not a Democrat who resides in Morris be elected? And what happens to the representation of the persons who reside in Sussex and in Warren counties?

I believe, and again this is an opinion, that this, of course, in the very near future will be before a court. We have in this residency requirement set up districts within the districts. And by that I mean, in these areas in which I am talking about—Morris County, Sussex and Warren—in effect, with alligned counties we have set up districts indicating that we can only have one nominated from a particular district.

Now, the case of Fortson vs. Dorsey, a Georgia case, wherein the Court indicated or ruled that this could be done. And as I understand the fact in Fortson vs. Dorsey some of the counties in Georgia were combined, the less populous counties, to make the senatorial district. And in the more populous counties, the counties were districted and a legislator was designated or nominated from each of these districts and yet they were elected at large throughout the county.

However, in Fortson vs. Dorsey each of these districts was, by way of population, properly apportioned. They were properly apportioned, whereas what we have here—the county of Morris has 261,000 people, and Sussex has 49,000, and Warren has 63,000. So, therefore, indirectly they are becoming districts and these districts will be malapportioned.

I believe that there are very serious questions here. And when we consider that we are attempting to resolve or meet this one man, one vote test, this might be something that the Governor likes, this might be something that a number of persons in the majority or minority might like. I think what they like is really unimportant. I think what we should support is that which meets the one man, one vote test and I believe there are very serious legal questions in this, and I could not in all good conscience support this plan.

President Sandman: I recognize the Senator from Morris.

Senator Hillery: Mr. Chairman and members of the Senate: I have been listening with a great deal of interest to the distinguished Senator from Essex talking about my home territory and my neighbors. I might say that, out of this Sears Roebuck Catalog of proposals that we have been considering since last November, I felt that the bipartisan Commission had made a proper recommendation as far as Morris County was concerned. We are in a congressional district in Morris. We presently have the Congressman, Peter Frelinghuysen, representing both the counties of Morris and Somerset in the 5th District, and for many years there was a great alliance between Somerset and Morris because the Congressman, the distinguished Charlie Eaton represented the District for many years when it also included a small section of Middlesex.

So, I will vote on an Emergency to permit both bills to come on the floor for a vote but I am not giving my vote of affirmation for either of these because I think the distinguished Senator from Essex has raised a point about residency requirements which I feel would be knocked out by the Court. I am not an Attorney but I have been around these halls long enough to know what holds and what doesn't hold. I think I know that. And I would feel that our best association in any permanent plan would be with our in-laws—let me put it that way—over in Somerset County but I cannot see how we can be associated with in-laws in Somerset and cousins in Warren County, and we are being spread out into an area which makes it almost impossible to campaign for the position of Senator.

I wanted my position explained here. I am not putting my vote of affirmation on either of these plans because I do not want to give that affirmation that any future State convention might feel that this was something that they should use as a permanent plan.

President Sandman: The Senator from Passaic.

Senator Grossi: Mr. President, I rise not to talk to the substance of the bill because admittedly it is not the perfect plan and certainly admittedly I think that a Constitutional Convention will have to deal with a permanent plan. This is an interim plan that will only be for two years.

I rise merely to take exception to a few of the remarks of the Senator from Essex and I can understand partisan feeling with respect to a Democratic Governor when a Senator is Republican and I imagine it would be the same if it were vice versa. However, the Senator from Essex several times in his discourse made rather disparaging remarks with respect to the Governor.

First of all I would like to point out that he is in error when he indicates that we are met here to conform to the Supreme Court's plan in Reynolds versus Sims. We are not. We are under a mandate by the New Jersey Supreme Court to come up with an interim plan that will be satisfactory to them and comply with the one man, one vote principle in so far as it is practicable. He says too he doesn't care what the Governor thinks or what the Governor says. I was over at the Supreme Court hearing on our plan to put off for two years and the Supreme Court very distinctly in answer to one of the counsel's questions or arguments said that the Governor is an integral part of this plan or any plan because this is in the nature of a statute and, as such, he has the power to veto it or to sign it. And if he should veto this, we will be right back where we started and back before the New Jersey Supreme Court and not the United States Supreme Court.

So the Governor is part of any plan because he must approve it and both sides of the aisle realize this. The Majority Leader is to be commended, I think, for the position that he took in sitting down with the members of this side of the aisle, together with the Governor, in an attempt to try and hammer out some plan that would have a semblance of meeting the mandate of the New Jersey Supreme Court so that we might be able to get the show on the road, so to speak. So any remarks with respect to the Governor's participation or any snide references to what he thinks or what his opinions might be, I think are completely out of order in view not only of what the Supreme Court said, but the citizens of the State of New Jersey. The Supreme Court said in answer to an argument of one of the members of the Assembly that the fact is you are malapportioned and the Governor is well apportioned.

President Sandman: Before we hear any more remarks, I just received a message from the Speaker of the House and she has requested that all Assemblymen please report to the Assembly for a roll call vote. If all Assemblymen will please leave, we will go on with our business.

The Senator from Essex.

Senator Sarcone: Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate: If I said I didn't care what the Governor thinks, period, I didn't intend to say that. I thought my remarks went towards the thought with reference to whether or not a plan meets the one man, one vote test. And if he should like a plan and the plan doesn't meet the one man, one vote test, I thought I indicated that this should be paramount in our consideration.

I agree the Governor is an integral part of the statutory process. There is no question about that. If I gave the distinguished Senator from Passaic the wrong impression, I trust that I have cleared that point.

Just one more comment, the Senator from Passaic indicated that we are not to answer Reynolds against Sims, but a mandate of the Supreme Court of New Jersey. I would respectfully acknowledge that we are under a mandate of the New Jersey Supreme Court, but that which gives rise to that mandate is the decision of the United States Supreme Court which enunciated the one man, one vote doctrine. As I understand it, any of these plans could become the subject of a test before the Federal court because we are dealing now with the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution and whatever plan is adopted, even if it were to be approved by the New Jersey Supreme Court, I respectfully submit, if it is violative of the Fourteenth Amendment of the one man, one vote doctrine, it could very well be reviewed even at the instance of a citizen of any one of these malapportioned areas and it could be reviewed by the Supreme Court of the United States. So the final say in matters affecting one man, one vote is the Federal court under Reynolds against Sims and not the New Jersey Supreme Court.

President Sandman: I recognize the Senator from Salem.

Senator Waddington: Mr. President, I rise to speak very briefly as one of those who is least favored by this plan or the plan which apparently is going to accompany it.

I suspect I can make a number of comments in answer in part to the distinguished Senator from Essex. I suspect that the people of Salem and Cumberland Counties could say in part, "We have real quality down there. We should amount for more per vote than the people of Essex or any other county." But the previous plans that have been considered by the Republican majority and that one which was passed sometime ago did violence to county lines in about half of the counties and completely destroyed the voice of the County of Salem in both Houses. So in comparison with that worst of all plans, this plan looks much better.

I am convinced that this is a true emergency. I am convinced of that in part because I see serious harm again potentially arriving to many of the less populous areas of New Jersey if we should be faced this November with an at-large election which conceivably could result in the heavily populated counties electing the candidates of both parties from their areas, leaving the less populated counties in the State with no representation in this body for the next two years. This to me is a very serious and potential danger and I don't think it is in the best interest of all the people to permit such a situation to develop.

Now from the point of view parochially of Salem County, if we have to be merged, and I believe we do under the Supreme Court decision—if we have to be merged with a larger unit, then Cumberland County from our point of view—the majority of our people feel is favorable. There is a great community of interest. There is a great similarity of economics, social, historic background. For those of you who don't know, at one time Cumberland County was a part of Salem County. Already we have areas of interest that are well established and I will give you just two illustrations: The Cumberland-Salem County Soil Conservation District has been in existence for many years. The Salem-Cumberland Unit for Retarded Children is another area where the people of our two counties have been working together for many years.

So it seems to me that from the long-range view, if the people of Salem County cannot keep a Senator to itself in this body, then there is merit in the Majority Leader's proposal of combining these two counties which are similar in many respects.

However, diametrically opposed to this is the personal problem faced by the distinguished Senator from Cumberland and myself. I suspect at this point we would both like to remain as representatives of the people of our respective counties in this body. But it seems to me that I have, speaking only for myself, a very hard decision to which there is no good answer. On the one hand, I see the best long-range interest of my county served under this plan better than under any other plan that has been given serious consideration by the majority party in this House.

So this leads me to the reluctant conclusion, Mr. President and members of this body, that I must put what seems to be the long-range interest of my people in the County of Salem ahead of any personal concerns of my own. Therefore, I am going to vote for this measure.

President Sandman: I recognize the Senator from Gloucester.

Senator Hunt: Mr. President and members of the Senate: I shall probably be the last speaker prior to your moving the bill. But I want to refer to a newspaper article this morning indicating that the Reapportionment Bill calling for a 28-member Senate is expected to be rushed through the State Legislature on Monday, possibly passing both Houses by nightfall. Then it goes on to say: "There are complaints on the measure, small but vocal, from Camden, Gloucester and Essex County Republicans." So I shall represent today that small, but vocal objection from the County of Gloucester that has sent me up here.

There has been some comment made that we hope we don't get into any emotional display. I most sincerely believe we shall not. Prior to this, some reference has been made to bills having been hastily drawn, floating up and down the halls. But the esteemed Majority Leader has said that this plan has balance.

I am not endowed to any degree with the art of clairvoyancy so I am not able to read the minds of the people and know how they shall vote in November or even on the first Tuesday in June. So I say to you quite simply I would like to know how anyone can arrive at a possibility of the electorate of this State returning 12 Republicans, 12 Democrats and having 4 in the marginal column. I submit to you that when they get through, this may be entirely out of balance. It is only a matter of conjecture that any party shall have an even number, an uneven number or who shall be in the majority. This shall be decided by the people of the State of New Jersey and most certainly I believe that the people of the State of New Jersey should be the ones to decide what they think is best.

I most certainly agree with the Majority Leader that we should pass a bill in this House. We have passed several bills here. In fact, on February 17, 1965, we passed 156, 172 and 173, all Senate Bills, and I believe the Majority Leader received considerable support on those measures. They arrived in the Assembly. Many of us would have liked to have seen them passed and put on the Governor's desk.

I have been one of those persons in this House and in the State of New Jersey who have been objecting to reapportionment, per se, but recognizing the mandate of the Supreme Court, we bow to it and now today try to help bring it to a conclusion. I think most of the men in this body would have liked to have seen the representation remain as it is, the Senators representing areas and Assemblymen representing population. But the Supreme Court has deemed otherwise and we bow to their wisdom. I for one am not one who would like to see any at-large voting in the State because I don't think this would be good for any county or any place. But I do want to take exception to the statement that this plan is balanced. The County of Gloucester from which I come has 134,820 people, not voters, people, by the 1960 Census which we are dealing with. If we were to deal with the present population today, you would find that the County of Gloucester has around 160,000 people. We are growing and growing very rapidly.

If we are to be coupled with the County of Camden that had a population figure in 1960 of 392,036, this would give us a total, as I read it, of close to 535,000, actually 526,856, to be specific.

Now looking at this so-called balanced plan, I find that this combination gives us a plus of 21.6 and looking at the plan in another place, I find that we have a disparity situation from this one man, one vote rule as handed down by the Supreme Court of minus 23.6. Now how can we reconcile ourselves to having in one area a representative body of 165,000 as in the County of Salem for one Senator, whereas in the other, we are going to have 250,000 or 260,000? This does not meet the criterion of a balance. It cannot under any wide stretch of the imagination indicate a balanced plan. I am not going to vote for the 28-member plan for the Senate. I have indicated that I would support the 29-member plan. There are other plans in the Assembly calling for 33 Senators; you have some calling for 30.

So I think today they are moving wisely to get something in line and I would recommend to this body, as I have right along, that they not just present one plan to the Governor for his consideration so that it might be passed on to the Supreme Court. I have recommended that they pass three, four, five or as many as six bills, giving the Governor an opportunity to look them over so he might decide what he thinks would meet the mandate of the Supreme Court.

At this particular point, I am not going to become emotional. I have no intention of becoming so. But I am opposed to having the County of Gloucester underrepresented.

The County of Camden, one of our fine counties north of us, has a population of almost 400,000 people and I have said in debate on other bills on this floor that the County of Camden should have two Senators. However, under the plan whereby they combine Camden and Gloucester Counties, we still have only two, so someone is being short-changed. I would suspect it would be the County of Gloucester.

President Sandman: Any further remarks? I recognize the Senator from Union.

Senator Stamler: Mr. President and gentlemen: I note for the first time the tension in the Chamber and I would suggest that we are not here to make anybody happy. Unfortunately, we are here to live by the law. And fortunately for the people of New Jersey, whether we agree with it or not, the Supreme Court has ruled on a particular case and it is on the basis of that that this bill has been drawn.

I have no idea what the Governor would have done nor will I, with all due respect to the Senator from Passaic, make any comment on his comments. I have no idea either what we could have done with all this package of bills about which Senator Hunt speaks. But I do know this, that I live in a county of some 504,000 people—that is as of 1960—but we are prolific and we are getting there. We may be first class before some of the first-class counties are first class. But in this instance, the Majority Leader has performed a very, very great job in a very difficult position. It is interesting that I am speaking on an emergency resolution upon which I don't normally vote and in this case again, even though I intend to vote for Senate Bill 270, I cannot vote for an emergency resolution which so involves the integrity of the Legislature and the integrity of the State.

President Sandman: Any further remarks? I recognize the Senator from Camden.

Senator Scholz: Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate: I believe that I am on record as having consistently favored the plan of reapportionment that would most nearly meet my interpretation—and I am sure the interpretation of many others—of the one man, one vote concept and that would be to reduce to as low a number as possible the relationship between the population of a given area, district or county and the legislator, be it Assemblyman, Senator or Congressman.

The logical conclusion, based upon present population of our State, is that we would have 100,000 people represented by one Assemblyman, 200,000 of our people represented by one Senator and 400,000 of our people represented by one Congressman.

The emergency nature of the business at hand dictates that I must have a change in my position. Camden is not being treated fairly under S-270. We have the greatest disparity in the relationship of population to Senators of any county in the State. For example, you have almost 400,000 people as compared with a districting plan for the Salem-Cumberland area of 166,000. The combined figure of the Camden and Gloucester area, with two Senators, shows a disparity with a plus of 21.6 per cent, which is not in our favor.

Now despite this unfortunate disparity we suffer in Camden County, I intend to vote for this bill for the following reasons: One, this is temporary legislation. Two, we can't get a bill passed over the veto of the Governor and he has repeatedly insisted that he would not take a districting plan similar to the one I would prefer.

The New Jersey Supreme Court—and that is the court that gave the decision that we are acting under—has accepted a disparity in the Assembly as high as three to one. They have accepted this on a temporary basis and this is what we are voting for today, a temporary legislative body, and I believe, therefore, that the courts will not look with disfavor upon this present plan, even though it does have considerable disparity and particularly as it relates to Camden versus some of the other counties.

Failure to pass this bill at this time would place the entire matter in the hands of the courts and if we were to place it in the hands of the courts, it is the considered opinion of many of my colleagues in the Legislature, as well as constitutional lawyers with whom I have spoken, that the courts would likely hold that it would be necessary for the Senators to run at large throughout the State of New Jersey. To me, this would be the most crippling, paralyzing and destructive thing that could happen to Camden County, to Southern New Jersey, and to the entire State because it would place in the hands of a very small group of political bosses who control the larger cities the power to dictate who is going to run for office and because of the population and their control, they would in effect control the Legislature.

For these reasons and awaiting the further wisdom of the people of the State of New Jersey or some other plan that can be resolved which would give us a permanent Legislature, one that we could work with and live under, I trust, for another 188 years, I am going to vote for this bill.

President Sandman: Any further remarks?

Senator Ozzard: Mr. President.

President Sandman: I recognize the Majority Leader.

Senator Ozzard: In conclusion I have two things I think it's important to say, Mr. President. Number one, I have heard comments from several of the Senators about this plan not meeting the one man, one vote rule. If you mean to the last percentage point, that's correct. It wasn't intended to because as an interim body there were other factors to be considered. For example, I may sympathize with the Senator from Essex in not having a 5th Senator apportioned to the county of Essex but I think with 4 Senators representing that county they should struggle along fairly well in this body; whereas with Salem and Cumberland, going below the average or the mean, having a Senator, I felt that these two total counties should at least have separate representation, their economic complexion, their voting complexion, everything about them. So, it was not intended to be perfect. It's not intended to be something that will be accepted as a permanent plan.

Secondly, I would like to point out that the President of the Senate said that following this legislation, or following the action on this bill, there would be another bill—it has now been given a number, it's S 275—which will also be offered. The only difference between the two bills is in the carving up, if you will, of the area of Cape May, Atlantic, Gloucester and Camden. In this bill Camden and Gloucester are a district, and Atlantic and Cape May are a district, Atlantic and Cape May having 1 Senator, Camden and Gloucester having 2 Senators. Bill 275 will be on the board, maybe, creating a district for Camden, alone, with 2 Senators, and a district for Gloucester, Atlantic and Cape May with 2 Senators. This makes it a 29 member Senate instead of 28.

The reason for the "maybe" is this: We are asking for a vote on an emergency resolution. I realize some of you don't want to support the bill. I am asking at this moment for a vote, a procedural vote for getting this bill into position. I will tell you now that there are 11 votes in this House for S 270 and there are 11 votes in this House for S 275.

I don't want to play procedural games here today. I am asking, whether you like this bill or not, that you give those of us who have worked on it, those of us who support it, those of us who want to pass it and send it to the Assembly today, the vote on the emergency so that it can be passed to the other House. You can do what you want when it gets to the regular vote on the regular bill.

I move the Emergency Resolution.

The Senator from Gloucester.

Senator Hunt: Mr. President and members of the Senate: In deference to the Majority Leader, I think he is absolutely correct. I will not oppose the Emergency Resolution, in fact I will vote for it, as I have voted consistently in this body, because I think the members of this body are entitled to vote on every measure that comes before them once it is cleared and comes on the floor from the Committee. This does not indicate that I am in favor of 270. I will oppose 270 but I will vote for the Emergency so as not to bring the gentlemen comprising this body back here for an extra day this week to pass this measure or disapprove it.

President Sandman: Any further remarks? If not, we will have a roll call on the Emergency Resolution, 16 votes required.

(Roll call by Secretary Patterson.)

In the affirmative were:

Messrs. Dumont, Farley, Forsythe, Grossi, Hillery, Hunt, Kelly, Mathis, Ozzard, Ridolfi, Sandman, Scholz, Stout, Waddington, Weber, Woolfenden—16.

In the negative—None.

President Sandman: The Emergency Resolution having received the required number of votes, the bill is directed to have a third reading.

Mr. Patterson: Senate bills on third reading. Senate Bill No. 270 by Senator Ozzard: An Act providing for the representation of the people of this State in a temporary New Jersey Legislature.

President Sandman: I recognize the Majority Leader.

Senator Ozzard: Mr. President, everything has been said. I move the bill.

The Senator from Atlantic.

Senator Farley: Not to be repetitive, in view of the fact that there is a recording taking place today, I think this bill certainly merits a little bit of history of not only the State of New Jersey but of these United States.

Basically, I do think that you all know that the greatest document written was the Constitution of these United States.

I think, fundamentally, you and I appreciate, all of us, that what has happened in the South was so unfair, to deny people the right to vote, and that something must be done for the purpose of correcting this unjust situation. But at the same time, in New Jersey not one, single, solitary person has ever been denied the right of vote. As a matter of fact, in 1947 this body and the Assembly, with the Governor, passed a Civil Rights Bill that's probably greater than that which is in the United States today, in Congress.

I must take you back to the record of New Jersey. The original 13 Colonies, in their zeal to protect the respective farmers and merchants in Massachusetts, Vermont and Rhode Island, had barriers to make sure that a toll was paid.

Many, many attempts were made to accomplish the confederation of states and after, may I say, relentless efforts by the people of this Country to colonize to fight England because of unjust taxation, they finally had the key meeting in Annapolis, Maryland. And the irony of this particular situation is that in the presentation made by these respective states the New Jersey plan was accepted, not in toto but the key part involving the creation of the legislature.

Those men were so zealous at the time that Thomas Jefferson went to Europe and researched every type of government to insure that there was proper representation. And when he came back to discuss the ten amendments he talked to the then President, George Washington, and asked George Washington why he had in his mind that there should be division of representation by population and not by district.

Well, in the early days of this Country, not too many years ago, when people drank coffee they would tilt the cup and pour the coffee in the saucer for a cooling period. And George Washington said to Thomas Jefferson, "That's the reason they have a saucer." The cooling period—in order to let them examine the content of a bill that may emanate from one House.

Likewise, back in 1844 the people of this State, before they had automobiles, marched to Trenton and made a demand that the Legislature and all of the people revise this Constitution, and at that time insisted on a lay court in the court system to make sure there was representation of the little people.

The voice medium of the people today, all through these United States, is the Legislator, not the Court, not the Governor, because this is so basically fundamental to home rule.

The people of the State of New Jersey, in 1947, elected 81 Delegates to the Constitutional Convention, of which I had the pleasure and honor of being one, to represent the entire State, and we spent three hot summer months in New Brunswick during which time many views were voiced. At the conclusion of that period a document was prepared and presented to the people. And I point out to you, as the election returns will show, that every sizeable city of this State—Jersey City, Newark, Paterson, Passaic, Camden, Trenton—voted for that document.

Early in the history of this State, East and West Jersey, this situation had arisen on three occasions, before the creation of the Constitution in 1776, and on those occasions the people again determined that there should be representation by population in the lower house, and by district in the upper house.

This country is built on tradition. This country is so anxious to help the little man. And the people today in this country are unconscious of what is happening. This is a great State—47th in size, 6th in income, 5th in industry—and our Constitution in this State has enjoyed a tremendous reputation for 189 years and, likewise, in Washington for 188 years, before this decision. And if this had happened in 1860 you would have never heard the name of Abraham Lincoln.

When California was admitted to the Union they had a few people and they had one Congressman. Today they are the largest state in these United States—changing times, changing economics. And so it is all through the history of our great State. And when the people who walk in the street are awakened to what is about to happen they will say that someone should have spoken up.

I am a Lawyer. I respect the Court. I respect its attitude on the South. But, likewise, I should expect the Court to recognize that in 1844, and again in 1947, the people of this State spoke—as they did in Colorado in 1962 when they patterned their state government after New Jersey—and all the large cities adopted that document. But the Court says, "No. No. This shall not be." And the only way for the people of this country to be heard is through you, you, and you, the Legislators.

So I must voice my objections, even though I will support the bill because it is a mandate of the Court. But it's a sin and a shame that the little people—the little people who have contributed so much to this State—from Salem, Cumberland, Hunterdon, Sussex, Warren, Cape May, Gloucester, and many sections—who have worked so arduously dedicating their lives, because they do not live in a populous area, are denied the opportunity to seek office as a State Senator.

I say to you, so sincerely, that this is historic today, but it is casting aside the work of hundreds of thousands of people who enjoy the tradition of being the State that created the government of these United States and now that creation is being discarded by this legislation.

It's time to think. We have no alternative, but I think it should be on the record so that the people in years hence will know how we, in the small counties, feel about this general situation.

I intend to support the bill.

President Sandman: Any further remarks? Roll call on the Bill.

(Roll call by Secretary Patterson)

In the affirmative were:

Messrs. Dumont, Farley, Forsythe, Grossi, Kelly, Mathis, Ozzard, Ridolfi, Sandman, Scholz, Stamler, Waddington, Weber, Woolfenden—14.

In the negative was:

Mr. Hunt—1.

President Sandman: Senate Bill No. 270 having received 14 votes in the affirmative and 1 in the negative, I declare it passed.

Senator Ozzard: Mr. President, I respectfully request that the Bill be signed and transmitted forthwith to the Assembly.

President Sandman: That will be done.

President Sandman: On the introduction of the second reapportionment bill, Senate Bill No. 275.

Mr. Patterson: Introduction of bills. Senate Bill No. 275 by Senator Ozzard: An Act providing for the representation of the people of this State in a temporary New Jersey Legislature.

President Sandman: I recognize the Majority Leader.

Senator Ozzard: Mr. President, I move the Bill be advanced to second reading without reference.

(Motion adopted by voice vote.)

Mr. Patterson: Senate bills on second reading. Senate Bill No. 275 by Senator Ozzard: An Act providing for the representation of the people of this State in a temporary New Jersey Legislature.

President Sandman: The title of the bill is open to amendment, the first section is open to amendment, the second section is open to amendment, the bill is open to amendment in all its parts—having been read twice and considered section by section, is ordered to have a third reading.

Mr. Patterson: Resolution by Senator Ozzard: Be it resolved by the Senate by the vote of three-fourths of all its members, signified by yeas and nays entered on the Journal of the Senate that Senate Bill No. 275 is an emergency measure and may proceed forthwith from second to third reading.

President Sandman: I recognize the Majority Leader.

Senator Ozzard: Mr. President, everything that has been said on 270 is repeated here. This is the second reapportionment bill which would provide for the districts I spoke of before, that is, Camden with 2 Senators, and Gloucester, Atlantic and Cape May with 2 Senators.

It is a bill that at least incorporates a pattern of counties that was discussed with the Governor last week. I have talked with the Minority Leader and this time he finds it acceptable.

The only reason we are passing two bills is the simple fact that the Assembly is undecided as to the district that's involved here, or the two districts involved, and rather than have the bill, 270, sent to the Assembly and have it returned later today and possibly get into complications at another session later in the week—not that I have been hesitant about asking this body, nor has this body been less than cooperative in coming back for additional sessions, the fact is that time is short, the Secretary of State is being crowded, he has 3 days in which to act on either one of these bills, and we would like to get this package finished today. The only reason for the second bill is so that the Assembly may make a decision, not a choice but a decision because either plan is workable, either plan has merit, and the slight change is not that staggering or that important that it wouldn't be acceptable to both parties and to the Governor.

I move the Emergency Resolution.

President Sandman: I recognize the Minority Leader.

Senator Weber: Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate: At the risk of being repetitious and accused of being a little thick, I would like to just review, not in a question form but the Majority Leader may confirm what I think Bill 275 is, which we have not seen. It is my understanding that it is identical to 270 with these changes only in Southern New Jersey in that Gloucester, Atlantic and Cape May will now have 2 Senators, and Camden will have 2 Senators, and Cumberland and Salem will have 1 Senator. Is my understanding correct?

Senator Ozzard: Cumberland and Salem—incidentally, I see some maps have been passed out. These are wrong. They are not the maps. This is some plan that someone drew up this morning and circulated. I'm sorry, I apologize. I thought they were circulating the maps that belong to 275.

Senator Weber: There is a map on my desk, Mr. President.

President Sandman: The answer to your question, Senator Minority Leader, is yes. I just read the bill.

Senator Ozzard: The provision is for 1 Senator from Salem and Cumberland; 2 Senators from Camden; and 2 Senators from the combined district of Gloucester, Atlantic and Cape May. That is in the Bill, regardless of what kind of a map has been delivered to you.

Senator Weber: Thank you for your patience in bearing with me. And while I am on my feet, probably for the last time on reapportionment, I would like to compliment the Senator from Atlantic County for so eloquently and sincerely expressing the emotions and the sincere beliefs of most of us from the small counties.

President Sandman: I concur. It is only natural that the senior Senator should make an historic speech.

Any further remarks? Roll call on the Emergency Resolution.

(Roll call by Secretary Patterson.)

In the affirmative were:

Messrs. Dumont, Farley, Forsythe, Grossi, Hillery, Hunt, Kelly, Mathis, Ozzard, Ridolfi, Sandman, Scholz, Stout, Waddington, Weber, Woolfenden—16.

Mr. Patterson: Senate bills on third reading. Senate Bill No. 275 by Senator Ozzard: An Act providing for the representation of the people of this State in a temporary New Jersey Legislature.

President Sandman: I recognize the Majority Leader.

Senator Ozzard: I move the Bill, Mr. President.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,	}
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,	}

SENATE BILL No. 99

To the Senate:

Pursuant to Article V, Section I, paragraph 14(b) of the Constitution, I herewith return Senate Bill No. 99, with my objections, for reconsideration.

Senate Bill No. 99 would amend the law concerning the Newark City retirement system to liberalize the retirement and disability pension benefit structure. For example, it would increase the maximum annual salary upon which benefits are computed by $2,000.00. The bill would also reopen the system to all present employees, otherwise eligible, who are not now members and would permit all members to purchase prior service credit for certain service rendered in municipal employment for which they cannot now receive pension credit.

The bill would make one further significant change by requiring the City of Newark to pay the entire cost of hospitalization, medical, surgical and major medical insurance for all retired employees who retire after the effective date of this new law and their dependents. No other governmental employer in New Jersey is obligated to provide such benefits to retirants and their dependents.

I am not unmindful of the responsibility of governmental employers to modernize and improve the benefits available to their employees. I believe the State in this regard in recent years has undertaken to meet its responsibilities and I certainly would not wish to prevent our local employers from doing likewise. All increases in State benefits, however, were accompanied by the appropriation of the necessary funds. In addition, the State pension systems are on a solid actuarially sound basis. In contrast, Senate Bill No. 99 fails to make any provision for having the City meet the considerable cost of the increased benefits contemplated. This is a serious omission since the Newark system already has incurred a substantial accrued liability for pensions. In 1954, the State informed the Newark system that the then accrued liability was more than $22 million. Without considering the increases in salaries and employees that have occurred since that date, this liability, with interest, now exceeds $30 million. Undoubtedly, the actual liability is substantially greater in amount.

The seriousness of the situation is further demonstrated by the fact that at the present time the system is paying out approximately $250,000.00 more than it is receiving by way of contributions or earnings on its assets.

It may be argued by some that this is a local problem and that the State should not prohibit the municipality from taking whatever action it may desire. Forgetting the mandatory aspects of this legislation, I would point out to such observers that in the past when the State has permitted local systems to reach the point of insolvency, it has been called upon to assume substantial responsibility for revising these systems and protecting the benefits promised to local employees. For example, not too many years ago the 212 local police and firemen's pension funds reached the point of financial insolvency. Local employers were unable to meet their commitments to local employees. The State, therefore, was forced to underwrite a considerable portion of the accrued liabilities of these funds although not a single member involved was a State employee. In fact, under the arrangement entered into in the early 1950's the State obligated itself to pay  $\frac{1}{3}$  of this deficiency and the value of the State's contribution in the past decade, to guarantee these local benefits, is approximately \$65 million.

During the current year, a number of the members of this Legislature have shown considerable interest in economy and efficiency in government. For those truly interested in this most important subject, I would suggest attention be given to pension legislation since the State now expends almost $100 million for this purpose and local employers many million more. It should require no great insight on the part of any interested participant in government to realize that in the space of several years the State may again be called upon to underwrite local obligations of considerable magnitude because of Senate No. 99. Unless steps are immediately taken to insure the solvency of this system, it will be impossible to guarantee both the local employees of the City and the taxpayers of the City a systematic method of satisfying this local obligation. Without such action, the increased benefits proposed by this bill may be largely illusory; promises written by check on an overdrawn account.

I, therefore, suggest that this bill be amended to provide that in each fiscal year following the effective date of the liberalization in benefits, the City increase its contribution by an additional 1% of the salaries of all participating city employees until the actuary of the fund certifies to the municipality that the City's contribution, together with the contributions of the members are sufficient to meet the liabilities of the system on a fully funded reserve basis. Once the system has achieved a fully funded status on the basis of such increased contributions by the municipality, the actuary would certify a rate of contribution which would be necessary in order to continue the system on a fully funded basis. This will protect the pension benefits of the members of the system while providing to the municipality a means of gradually accomplishing financial solvency for the system.

With respect to the matter of payment of health insurance premiums, which the bill would make available only to future retirants and their dependents, it would appear that this aspect of the legislation requires further consideration. As I have indicated, no other governmental employer in the entire State would have the financial obligation that would be placed upon the City of Newark by this provision. Indeed, this obligation runs exactly counter to the provisions contained in the laws governing the health benefits programs which are available to State and local employees generally. It was only last year that this Legislature, on two separate occasions, specifically provided that public employers, both State and local, could not underwrite the entire cost of health benefits to the retired employee himself, let alone his dependents. P. L. 1964, c. 125; P. L. 1964, c. 259.

Unquestionably, public employers have to face directly the question of what is fair and appropriate treatment for retired persons in the area of health benefits. I do not believe, however, that the policy in this area should be establishment on a piecemeal basis by the enactment of isolated provisions such as those contained in this legislation. In addition, the probable enactment of a Federal medicare program in the very near future will undoubtedly influence the ultimate conclusions to be reached by the Legislature on this subject. I would, therefore, suggest that a study commission be established as quickly as possible for the purpose of determining what are the proper obligations of public employers in regard to providing health insurance benefits to existing as well as prospective retired employees and their dependents. A uniform approach to this subject should be developed which would be applicable to all public employees in the State and not merely the members of the Newark system. Only in this manner can the State be assured of approaching this problem on a basis which is business-like in regard to the economic implications and yet responsible in terms of an employer's obligation to its employees.

Accordingly, I herewith return Senate Bill No. 99 for reconsideration, with the recommendation that it be amended in the following respects:

On pages 6 and 7, Section 6, lines 1 through 8, delete Section 6 in its entirety and insert in lieu thereof:

“6. In addition to the contributions of the City prescribed in the act to which this act is supplementary, in fiscal year 1966 the City shall increase its contribution by 1% of the amount of the salaries paid to all members of the pension fund in 1965 and in each fiscal year thereafter the contribution of the City required by the provisions of this act shall be increased over the previous percentage by an additional 1% of the salaries paid to all members of the pension fund in the immediately preceding year until the actuary shall certify to the City that the total of the contributions made by the City, together with the contributions of the members and all earnings, is sufficient to meet the liabilities of the fund on a fully funded, reserve basis.

“The actuary of the fund shall then certify the rate of contribution, expressed as a proportion of the compensation of the members, which shall be made by the City to the fund in order to continue the fund on a fully funded, reserve basis once the fund has achieved a fully funded status on the basis of increased contributions by the City and the members.”

Respectfully,

[SEAL]

Governor.

JAMES J. McLAUGHLIN,

Acting Secretary to the Governor.

SENATE BILL No. 81

To the Senate:

Pursuant to Article V, Section I, paragraph 14(b) of the Constitution, I herewith return Senate Bill No. 81, with my objections, for reconsideration.

Senate Bill No. 81 would undertake to define and prohibit conflicts between the official obligations and the private interests of members, officers and employees of the legislative and executive branches of government. This measure, unfortunately, is but a repetition of Senate Bill No. 40 of last year, which would have reserved to each House of the Legislature the exclusive power to hear and determine all charges of impropriety against its own members. This feature of Senate Bill No. 40 constituted a nullification of the basic intent of the law and I was constrained to return that bill to the Senate with recommendations designed to provide the assurance of a full and fair hearing on such charges by an impartial body. Since Senate Bill No. 81 was deliberately amended by the Senate caucus to remove the provision relating to an impartial review of the Legislature's activities, I see no alternative but to return this bill in the hope that the conscience of the Senate will move it to pass a realistic conflicts measure. To accept Senate Bill No. 81 as a "first step" or as "half a loaf" would, I fear, remove from public view for the foreseeable future the question of a meaningful conflicts of interest law. I think it is to the advantage of the people of this State that public insistence be maintained on behalf of a law that has meaning and effect.

As you know, I proposed last year that Senate Bill No. 40 be amended to empower the State House Commission, as an appropriate independent tribunal composed of responsible members of the executive and legislative branches, to adjudicate all complaints involving alleged violations by members, officers and employees of both branches. This suggestion was offered as a possible compromise between the criminal sanctions preferred by the Assembly and the illusory deterrent of secret self-examination long advocated by the Senate. The proposal deferred to the ultimate right of each House to judge the qualifications of its own members, for it would have constituted the State House Commission only as a fact-finding body with no authority to impose any penalties upon members and employees of the Legislature. The paramount aim of such an approach is not to punish the Legislature but to maintain public confidence in the governmental process by assuring certain and impartial enforcement of a conflicts law in broad daylight. Without such assurance a conflicts law can have no meaning. As I noted in my message on Senate Bill No. 40:

"For good cause or not, public attention to the subject of conflicts of interest long has been focused primarily upon the activities of the Legislature. In order to assure the confidence of our citizens in their government, it is imperative that no suspicion concerning the bonafides of the Legislature be given a basis for existence. In a society which derives its order from the consent of the governed, men in public office not only should do justice but also should satisfy the people that justice has in fact been done. If Senate Bill No. 40 were approved, it could increase rather than dispel public cynicism toward the Legislature. It is not difficult to forecast that the exoneration of an accused legislator by the membership of his House would be attended by suspicion that the charge was neither diligently investigated nor disposed of on its merits. The recent United States Senate investigations indicate the insurmountable obstacles any body must face when it seeks to judge itself."

For these reasons, I cannot in conscience approve Senate Bill No. 81 unless the Senate will agree to authorize a disinterested body such as the State House Commission, rather than the Legislature itself, to hear and determine complaints against members of the legislative branch as well as members of the executive branch.

I am returning this bill to the Senate with a sense of total frustration in dealing with a Senate caucus which can choose to act irresponsibly although the individual members of that body can proclaim their own support for measures they know the people want. When I returned Senate Bill No. 40 last year, my recommendations to strengthen that measure drew an immediate and largely favorable reaction from the sponsor and many others. There was some indication during the 1964 session that the Legislature might re-pass the bill with the substance of my proposed amendments and thereby give this State its first meaningful conflicts of interest law. Although this responsible action failed to materialize, there was reason to expect that the Legislature, and particularly the Senate, would meet this fundamental obligation to the people in 1965.

On January 18, 1965, Senate Bill No. 81 was introduced with bipartisan sponsorship and was referred to the Senate Judiciary Committee. The bill had been prepared with the full cooperation of the sponsors and embodied most of my recommendations concerning Senate Bill No. 40 of last year, including the vital provision for a hearing of charges against members of the legislative and executive branches by the State House Commission. Despite this promising start, the measure languished in committee until May 10, 1965, when it was decided in the caucus to strip the State House Commission of its jurisdiction over charges involving legislative members and employees and vesting that authority exclusively in the Legislature itself. As thus amended, the bill was immediately given a second reading and passed by the Senate under "emergency" resolution on the same day. The emasculated measure was then passed by the Assembly on May 17, just one legislative meeting short of the previously announced adjournment date of May 24, 1965.

This precipitous action, coming at the end of a session marked by disinterest in conflicts legislation, makes it clear that some legislators hope to face the electorate in November with the claim of having produced a conflicts bill which rectifies the generally acknowledged deficiencies of last year's Senate Bill No. 40. Although the amended version of Senate Bill No. 81 does embrace some of my proposals, it does not meet the fundamental problems which inhere in permitting the Legislature to act as its own and only judge and jury. No new legislation is required to empower the Legislature to discipline errant members and to establish internal procedural machinery for that purpose. This power has long existed, but has not been used in recent times and the problem persists. It can hardly be alleviated by a law which, in application to members of the legislative branch, adds not a single whit to the powers now held by that body.

As much as I desire the enactment of a viable conflicts of interest law, I cannot and will not be a party to the enactment of a measure which may delay the adoption of a meaningful conflicts law for many years. As I said last year, I am well aware that it would be pointless to insist upon perfection in this highly sensitive area. At the same time, the people of this State are entitled to at least a minimal showing of good faith, characterized by legislation which does not insult their intelligence.

Accordingly, I am returning Senate Bill No. 81 to the Senate today, with the earnest hope that it will be repassed today, prior to the summer recess of the Legislature, with the following amendments:

On page 8, section 13, lines 2 and 3, delete "by officers or employees of a State agency or State appointees in the Executive Branch of the State Government" and insert in lieu thereof "except as limited by the provisions of section 10(c) of this act".

On page 8, section 13, line 13, delete "The" and insert in lieu thereof "In the case of any person other than a member or appointee of the Legislature, the".

On page 8, section 13, after line 20, insert the following new subsection:

"(c) In the case of a member or appointee of the Legislature, the commission shall report its findings to the House of the Legislature in which such person shall be a member or appointee and shall recommend to such House such action, as in its opinion, shall be appropriate under the circumstances. It shall be the sole responsibility of such House of the Legislature to determine what action, if any, shall be taken against such member or appointee."

On page 9, section 16, lines 1 through 14, delete section 16 in its entirety.

On page 9, section 17, line 1, delete "17" and insert in lieu thereof "16".

Respectfully,

/s/ RICHARD J. HUGHES,
Governor.

[SEAL]

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,	}
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
June 16, 1965

SENATE BILL NO. 300

To the Senate:

Pursuant to Article V, Section I, paragraph 15 of the Constitution, I appended to Senate Bill No. 300, at the time of signing it, a statement of certain items, or parts thereof, to which I objected, so that such items, or parts thereof, should not take effect.

Senate Bill No. 300 is the general appropriation bill for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1966. After carefully reviewing the measure in its entirety, I was constrained to disapprove the items discussed below.

I

The first items to which I objected would have appropriated $130,500 to the Senate, and $90,000 to the General Assembly, as salaries for "members' staff services". Compared to the amounts expended last year for the salaries of "members' secretaries", these items would have raised the personal staff allowance of each Senator from $1,000 to $4,500, and that of each Assemblyman from $750 to $1,500.

This unprecedented increase of legislative perquisites comes as a rather anomalous climax to a session marked by many expressions of legislative devotion to the cause of economy and efficiency in government. In contrast to the close scrutiny given by the Legislature to most budget requests this year, little or no real study appears to have attended the adoption of the items in question. The very vagueness of the term "members' staff services" indicates that these items were tacked onto the appropriation bill as an afterthought, and that the exact nature of such "staff services" remains to be formulated.

It is by no means clear whether the Legislature meant to use this term only as a broader euphemism for the phrase "members' secretaries" which appeared in last year's appropriation bill, or to connote a new and more ambitious concept of full-time professional staff. If the projected "staff services" are to be identical with those rendered by "members' secretaries" in previous years, I can discern no reason why the salaries paid for such services should suddenly be increased by 350% in the case of the Senate, and by 100% in the case of the Assembly. If, on the other hand, these "staff services" were intended to encompass other and more demanding functions related to the full-time assistance of legislators in the performance of their duties, I would suggest that such functions be clearly specified and defined before a blank check is written to pay for them.

In this aspect, many questions arise. How, if at all, would such "staff services" be related to the work of the Law Revision and Legislative Services Commission, for which more than $250,000 has been appropriated this year? By what standard is a staff allowance of $4,500 suitable for each Senator, while an Assemblyman devoting an equivalent amount of time and effort to his legislative obligations would receive only $1,500? These and other matters obviously need to be thought out before the Legislature next undertakes any move toward the establishment of a professional staff.

These observations should not be taken to mean that I am unsympathetic toward the idea of upgrading and professionalizing the quality of legislative staff assistance. Such a project, if approached properly and with the requisite preliminary study, could result in a measurable improvement in the legislative process. Because the creation of a professional staff for legislators would be a new and permanent step, however, I feel that the task should await the installation of the Legislature to be elected on a permanent basis in 1967, and should not fall to an interim body. With that reservation, any sincere and knowledgeable effort toward the establishment of such a staff would receive my full support.

For the reasons stated above, I determined that it would not serve the public interest to grant each Senator an additional $3,500, and each Assemblyman an additional $750, for so vague and unspecified a purpose as "members' staff services". I accordingly reduced the staff allowance of each Senator to $1,000, and that of each Assemblyman to $750, thus preserving the status quo until such time as a proper study of staff needs is conducted by a new Legislature constituted under a permanent method of apportionment.

II

The next items to which I objected would have appropriated $50,000 to each House of the Legislature "[f]or transfer to Legislative Commissions for administrative expenses, when resolutions as the case may be, provide therefor." These two funds were intended to be available for the financing of legislative investigations, as and when the investigative mood might have struck either or both Houses this year.

Identical items were vetoed in 1956, 1958 and 1960. In disapproving these expenditures, Governor Meyner repeatedly observed that no such general fund for legislative investigations has ever existed in the past, that it has always been the practice to request and appropriate specific amounts for specific commissions on the basis of actual need, and that it would be an unsound budgetary practice to first appropriate $100,000 of tax money and then determine whether and for what it is to be used. Additionally, in his message concerning the 1958 appropriation, Governor Meyner pointed out that:

“* * * funds appropriated in such a general and vague manner are subject to use in ways that may be unwise or otherwise not in the public interest. Judging from past experience, this risk seems to be especially high in the months preceding the November elections, when some commissions tend to become unusually active.”

My own experience in office has disclosed nothing to detract from the wisdom of my predecessor's views on this subject. No justification has been advanced which would warrant the consignment of $100,000 in State money to so amorphous a purpose as unspecified legislative investigations which may or may not ever be required. If the need arises for the Legislature to exercise its legitimate investigative function, the cost can be met by a specific appropriation commensurate with the nature and extent of the particular study involved.

In that connection, I have never been reluctant to approve suitable appropriations for bona fide legislative commission studies. In 1964 I approved expenditures totalling over $246,000 for such studies, and so far this year I have approved similar appropriations of more than $107,000. Even in objecting to the items now before me, I determined that the reduced sum of $10,000 should be appropriated to the Assembly in the hope that it will be applied to continue the work of the Commission on Efficiency and Economy in State Government. I accordingly reduced that item from $50,000 to $10,000. While I cannot restrict the use to which these funds will be applied, I have approved this sum so that it will be available for this specific purpose, thus continuing my effort to assist this Commission in the performance of its duties.

III

The final item to which I objected would have increased the salary of the Governor from $35,000 to $40,000 per annum. This increase was intended to take effect upon the inauguration of the next Governor in January of 1966.

I cannot agree that the contract of employment between the Governor and the people of New Jersey warrants such a salary increase at this time. It has been traditional in recent years to limit reconsideration of the Governor's compensation to those intervals when it was certain that the incumbent would not succeed himself and therefore could not benefit personally from the increase. Thus my predecessor approved a $5,000 increase in the Governor's salary which became effective the day I took office.

I assumed this office with a full understanding of its compensation and with a realization that it would not be appropriate for me to accept any salary raise during my tenure. I am now standing for reelection to the Office of Governor and there is a possibility that I would be the immediate beneficiary of the projected salary increase to $40,000. Since I believe such a circumstance would violate the spirit of my contract with the people, I have disapproved this item.

IV

For these reasons, I objected to the items, or parts thereof, noted above in Senate Bill No. 300 and I am attaching hereto a copy of my statement in connection therewith.

Respectfully,

[SEAL]

/s/ RICHARD J. HUGHES,
Governor.

SENATE BILL NO. 126

To the Senate:

I herewith return Senate Bill No. 126, without my approval, for the following reasons:

Senate Bill No. 126 would establish a mandatory procedure for an annual central inventory of "all property, both real and personal, owned by the State". Like Senate Bill No. 54 of last year, this measure would require the Director of the Division of Purchase and Property to compile an annual master list of all State holdings on the basis of yearly departmental inventory reports. Although the proponents of last year's bill then insisted that no specific appropriation would be needed to finance such a project, Senate Bill No. 126, introduced by the same sponsor, would appropriate $30,000 for this purpose.

Last year I returned Senate Bill No. 54 to the Senate, with certain recommended amendments, for the reason that the absolutely exhaustive inventory program visualized by the bill could have been accomplished, in the estimation of the Director of the Division of Budget and Accounting, only at the prohibitive cost of $330,000 for the first year of its operation and $130,000 for the following year. As an alternative, I suggested that the bill be amended to empower the State Treasurer to establish those categories of State-owned property which should be covered by an effective inventory program to be conducted at a reasonable cost commensurate with the advantages of such a program to the State. This recommendation was not adopted and Senate Bill No. 54 died with the expiration of the 1964 legislative session.

On February 1, 1965, in my Annual Budget Message to the Legislature, I repeated my belief that a central inventory program conducted along realistic lines could be useful to the State, and I requested an appropriation of $50,000 for the development of such a program. In urging the Legislature to provide this sum, I stated:

“There also is included $50,000 to begin a permanent inventory of personal and real property owned by the State. You will recall that in my recent veto message of a bill proposing a State property inventory, I indicated that an inventory as contemplated by the bill would be too costly. I proposed that more careful guide lines be established for the inventory system. This sum will permit an inventory—with efficiency and economy as its objective—to begin with needed criteria.”

While the Legislature has seen fit to disregard my suggestion, it has not advanced any explanation for what I consider to be an unworkable proposal. The burden placed upon State administration would far outweigh any advantage to the State from having the type of inventory contemplated by this bill.

Respectfully,

RICHARD J. HUGHES,

Governor.

SENATE BILL No. 212

To the Senate:

I herewith return Senate Bill No. 212, without my approval, for the following reasons:

This bill would permit active members of recognized volunteer fire companies to display blue flashing or revolving turret lights on their privately owned motor vehicles for use in the performance of fire or emergency duty.

The present law limits the use of flashing or turret light equipment to official emergency vehicles. This is based upon the concept that the effective use of this equipment, as a means of assuring the rapid passage of official emergency vehicles on our streets and roads, is directly related to the number of vehicles authorized to use this equipment. A widespread use of flashing or turret lights would only increase traffic chaos and impede the movement of official emergency vehicles.

Senate Bill No. 212, by permitting each individual volunteer fireman to use such equipment, would drastically increase the number of vehicles authorized to use flashing or turret lights. It could also be used as a precedent by other groups of equal stature who are seeking the use of such equipment.

Undeniably, volunteer fire companies perform many services throughout the State. I concur with those who would assist the members of these companies in the performance of their services. After a consideration of the objections raised to this bill by numerous traffic safety groups, the State Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, the State Firemen's Mutual Benevolent Association and others, however, it would appear that the possible benefits of this bill are outweighed by the detrimental effect these additional flashing or turret lights would have on the traffic in our streets.

Respectfully,

RICHARD J. HUGHES,
Governor.

SENATE BILL No. 263

To the Senate:

I herewith return Senate Bill No. 263, without my approval, for the following reasons:

This bill would extend civil service protection to persons who had served in the position of special officer for a period of time prior to the date of the filing of a petition for the adoption of civil service in a municipality.

Assembly Bill No. 598 of 1965 is identical to this measure. It was approved by me on May 11, 1965 and is now P. L. 1965, chapter 46.

SENATE BILL No. 335

To the Senate:

I herewith return Senate Bill No. 335, without my approval, for the following reasons:

This bill would require each commissioner of the Delaware River Port Authority from the State of New Jersey to be a resident of the Authority's port district.

I recognize the very real interest of those counties which comprise the port district area of the Delaware River Port Authority. And, all the present New Jersey members of this Authority now are residents of the port district. I would point out, however, that this agency is a bi-state agency and its actions are matters of concern to areas and people beyond the port district itself. It would, therefore, be most inappropriate to bar from this important agency persons of ability simply because they do not reside within this stipulated area. State government would be severely handicapped in its relationship with its own agency if it were prevented from having some representation thereon which reflected the policies and programs of an incumbent administration. It was for this reason that I nominated the State Treasurer to serve on this agency because he could reflect the concern and interest that the entire State shares in the development by this Authority of port facilities, river crossings and the Kirkwood high speed line.

It is most important that local sentiment be represented on an agency such as the Delaware River Port Authority. This representation, however, should not require the exclusion of all other interests and voices in the operation of the agency. Such provincialism does not serve any legitimate purpose.

Accordingly, I am returning Senate Bill No. 335 without my approval.

Respectfully,

RICHARD J. HUGHES,

Governor.

SENATE BILL No. 342

To the Senate:

I herewith return Senate Bill No. 342, without my approval, for the following reasons:

This bill would require the New Jersey Commissioners of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission to be residents of any one of the Counties of Sussex, Warren, Hunterdon, Mercer or Burlington. This bill is similar in concept to Senate Bill No. 335 which would have imposed a comparable residency requirement on commissioners of the Delaware River Port Authority.

I have today also returned to the Legislature Senate Bill No. 335, pointing out that the importance of representing local interests on such bi-state agencies should not be construed to require the exclusion of all other interests and voices in the operation of such agencies. As is the case with the Delaware River Port Authority, all present members of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission now actually reside within the counties named in Senate Bill No. 342. Since the past practice, both by myself and by my predecessors in office, has been to select most of this agency's commissioners from among the residents of the river counties, the restrictive provisions of Senate Bill No. 342 do not seem calculated to serve any substantial public purpose.

For these reasons and the reasons expressed in the message attached to Senate Bill No. 335, I am returning Senate Bill No. 342 without my approval.

Respectfully,
