Part II - Major Long-Term Care Issues

A. Describe the priority long-term care issues which your program identified and/or worked on during the reporting period. For each issue, briefly state: a) the problem and barriers to resolution, and b) recommendations for system-wide changes needed to resolve the issue, or how the issue was resolved in your State. Examples of major long-term care issues may include facility closures, planning for alternatives to institutional care, transition of residents to less restrictive settings, etc.

The Office of the Ombudsman for Institutionalized Elderly (OOIE) has identified the need to increase the number of volunteer advocates placed in nursing homes. Over the last two years, the number of "active" volunteers has increased from 150 in the beginning of calendar year 2011 to 208 as of the end of calendar year 2012. Ombudsman McCracken has focused on improving volunteer advocate recruitment in the southern part of the state by recruiting a strong regional volunteer coordinator for that area. In addition, the Volunteer Advocate Program in the last year implemented a criminal history background check and fingerprinting program that has proven highly successful. The OOIE is currently working in conjunction with other state Ombudsman programs and the National Ombudsman Resource Center to implement a partial on-line training program.

The OOIE and other state agencies had identified the slow pace of nursing home transitions under the state's existing Money Follows the Person (MFP) program as an issue. In an effort to provide greater public awareness about home and community based services, the OOIE is assisting the NJ Department of Human Services with marketing the MFP program. OOIE is currently hiring staff under a 100 percent federal grant to outreach residents in nursing homes, work with families and to educate nursing facility staff and the general public that "a nursing home may not be...the only option."

Studies have shown that New Jersey lags behind other states in the number of individuals who have advance care

Part III - Program Information and Activities
A. Facilities and Beds:
ALERT: AoA recommends that your program regularly enter into your data collection system all licensed facilities and beds in your state covered by your program and keep this information updated. In the event this is not being done in your program, the totals for Part III.A should be obtained from an outside source, such as the state licensing agency, and entered into the ORT manually.

If no change from previous year, type "no change" at space indicated.
