The appointing authority counters appellant's briefed criticisms by noting that it is not compelled by N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5 to submit a supporting affidavit with its motion for partial summary decision, that it has clearly specified the rules and regulations violated, and that its motion is based not on hearsay, but on the evidentiary record, including especially appellant's videoed interview statements.

Garden State denies that any protections to be afforded in a criminal investigation were denied appellant. It notes that after counsel demanded them by letter in December of 2015, they were provided, so long as the criminal investigation existed. When notified on March 8, 2016, by the Burlington County Prosecutor's office that the criminal investigation had ended, the appointing authority moved immediately to conduct an administrative interview. They did so on March 11, 2016. Appellant's union representative was present. He was advised that the proceeding was administrative, and given the usual Weingarten protections, as proven by the acknowledgement form which he signed (Respondent's Exhibit 3).

Finally, respondent believes the matter is ripe to impose a penalty of removal. Nonetheless, it accepts that if this tribunal concludes hearing on the question of penalty is necessary, it will not contest the ruling.

Appellant's cross-motion and opposition argument:

In reply, appellant, Steven Hotz, maintains that respondent Garden State's motion should be denied, and his cross-motion for dismissal should be granted. He reasons as follows:

First, the charges were ambiguous and lacking specificity. The appointing authority argues beyond the charge of falsification and into the charge of inmate abuse by labeling the alleged falsification "conduct unbecoming a public employee," this, even though its motion for partial summary decision rests solely on an accusation of falsification.

Second, the charge of falsification was not filed within the forty-five-day parameter imposed by N.J.S.A. 30:4-3.11a, once sufficient information has been obtained to file the matter upon which the complaint is based. Therefore, by the terms of that statutory section, the appointing authority's complaint must be dismissed in its entirety.

Third, the March 11, 2016, interview was constitutionally offensive. He was questioned without counsel of record, and without realizing that, after review, the Burlington County Prosecutor's Office had returned the file to the appointing authority for administrative disposition. This amounts to coercion of his statements. Consequently, these circumstances offend the fifth, sixth and fourteenth amendments of the U.S. Constitution. They also are violative of protocols in the Attorney General's Guidelines.

Fourth, respondent's motion for partial summary disposition lacks supporting affidavits to show that no material facts are in dispute. The deficiency leaves the entire record comprised of hearsay. This tribunal is therefore bereft of a basis on which to judge the weight and competence of the evidence as anticipated in N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.5, in particular where credibility must be assessed.

Fifth, with discovery still in process, this tribunal is without a complete record. Discovery is especially necessary to support appellant's defense of untimely charges being barred by N.J.S.A. 30:4-3.11a.

Sixth, drawing all inferences in favor of appellant, as summary decision requires, substantial factual issues remain to be resolved. There must be testimony as to interpretation of policy. This is needed to establish whether appellant's behavior was inappropriate. Any reliance on inmate hearsay would be without a residuum of competent evidence. There must be a hearing to provide it.

Seventh and eighth, a hearing must be held to establish credibility, thus denying the basis for summary decision. Likewise, there can be no summary decision where the defense is grounded on state of mind, with emphasis on duress, which can only be established through testimony.

Finally appellant insists that no penalty can be levied without a determination of its appropriateness. The totality of his employment record must be explored. Further, there must be a comparison with other penalties administered to the actors involved. This can only be accomplished through trial.

In its second brief, opposing respondent Garden State's earlier opposition to appellant's cross-motion, he states that his own cross-motion must be granted as a matter of law. In his view, this is so for reasons derived from N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5. Respondent has not raised issues of material fact and has not supported its motion with affidavit. This is a fatal shortcoming, appellant insists.

Analysis and Conclusions of Law:

The controlling rule in any motion for summary decision or partial summary decision is N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5. For the instant purposes, it is instructive to quote in pertinent part two relevant sub-sections, (b) and (c):

> (b) The motion for summary decision shall be served with briefs and with or without supporting affidavits. The decision sought may be rendered if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. When a motion for summary decision is made and supported, an adverse party in order to prevail must by responding affidavit set forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding . . .
> (c) If, on motion under this section, a decision is not rendered on all the substantive issues in the contested case and a hearing is necessary, the judge at the time of ruling on the motion, by examining the papers on file in the case as well as the motion papers, and by interrogating counsel, if necessary, shall, if practicable, ascertain what material facts exist without substantial controversy and shall thereupon enter an order specifying those facts and directing such further proceedings in the contested case as are appropriate. At the hearing in the contested case, the facts so specified shall be deemed established.
> [Emphasis added]

Any comparison of the videos recording the answers by appellant to questions posed by SID investigators on March 11 and May 26, 2016. makes clear beyond cavil that he lied in the first interview. On March 11, 2016, appellant denied any knowledge whatever of the event which occurred during the event in the barbershop on November 6, 2016, and insisted he was not present, and played no part in it. He knew this to be untrue, as his own statements in the second SID interview of May 26, 2016, confirm. At that time, he recanted his testimony in full. Beyond a reasonable dispute, the change can only be seen as contradictory. It was per se a disclosure of falsification on March 11. The deception fits within the charge of violating HRB 84-17, at C. (Personal Conduct) 8 as a clear intention to misstate material facts:

> Falsification: Intentional misstatement of material fact in connection with work, employment, application, attendance, or in any record, report or other proceeding.

Appellant's defenses against this charge relate to state of mind: i.e., influence exerted by SCO Collazo; anxiety over the possibility of dismissal from employment. It is not suggested that appellant did not comprehend the content of his false statements, or that he was compelled by the appointing authority to dissemble. Any other state of mind beyond this perspective may, or may not, have a bearing on penalty, and, as a consequence, testimony may still be elicited to attack penalty on those grounds at plenary hearing. Appellant's own video-recorded statements preclude any doubt, however, that it was his intention to deceive. Credibility is not a concern when only the content of appellant's answers is in issue, as here.

Therefore, consistent with N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(d), it is today specified and found to be facts which exists without substantial controversy as follows: Appellant's March 11, 2016, answers claiming that he had no knowledge of, or that he had no presence at, or that he had not participated in, the event involving inmate E.L which occurred November 6, 2015, in the prison barber shop, were false. These findings will be held as established during the upcoming plenary hearing.

The remaining defenses raised by appellant on his cross-motion are addressed below. They do not prevent granting the appointing authority's motion for a partial summary decision holding that appellant committed falsification:

The appointing authority's charges are not ambiguous. The specification of falsification in the amended[1] preliminary notice and the final notice of disciplinary action clearly state that appellant "admitted to providing false information in the initial interview." (Respondent's Exhibits 9 and 10.) This is the charge which he prepared to defend against on Garden State's present motion.

Whether or not the appointing authority's charges were filed within the time-frame of N.J.S.A. 30:4-3.11a is a dispute of fact to be resolved at plenary hearing, toward which discovery is continuing. So too, if found factually, is the dispute of law over whether the delay beyond that time obviates Garden State's case. Nevertheless, this tribunal is not barred from making today's identification of facts not in dispute. N.J.S.A. 1:1-12.5(d). If successful at plenary hearing on the factual and legal aspects of his claim of fatal untimeliness under N.J.S.A. 30:4-3.11a, appellant would not be barred from arguing at that time that today's order must be revisited.

There is no constitutional deficiency present in either the SID interview of March 11, 2016, or the supplemental interview of May 26, 2016. Neither the fifth amendment nor the sixth amendment of the U.S. Constitution, as applied to these facts, have been violated. Appellant submitted to both interviews with full knowledge that they were administrative, not criminal, interviews. (Respondent's Exhibits 3 and 4.) The due process mandate of the fourteenth amendment was likewise satisfied by the appointing authority's adherence to Weingarten[2] requirements. A union representative was present on March 11, 2016, and appellant did not request the presence of his attorney at that time. Appellant signed the customary Weingarten form confirming that the elements of the Court's holdings in the Weingarten case were satisfied. See also, Goldberg v. Kelly, 397 U.S. 254 (1970). These procedures consist of all that is required of the appointing authority when assuring the inherent safeguards of due process in an administrative disciplinary setting. Appellant's reliance on the Attorney General's Guidelines is misplaced. They do not apply to correction officers. In re Cox, Dkt. No. A-2471-14T4 (App. Div. December 7, 2016).

The absence of affidavits from the appointing authority's opposition to appellant's cross-motion is insufficient to grant his cross-motion. The shortcoming is offset by the appointing authority's motion itself, by its accompanying brief with exhibits, as well as by the entirety of the record. Facts must be found which a reasonable observer would see as devoid of substantial controversy and which would be material to a partial summary decision finding that falsification occurred. The record is more than ample for this purpose.

As to the interpretation of policy, over which appellant anticipates need for factual testimony, nothing of record discloses how that would be relevant to whether appellant falsified.

On the arguments submitted, it is difficult to understand why the dispositive written policy, HRB 84-17 C. (Personal Conduct) 8 should not be presumed to speak for itself. This is inescapably true where a severe disciplinary penalty hangs in the balance. The reading of the section must be narrow. It must be limited to the plain intent of the regulating words. Any ostensible breach thereof would not be a call for an interpretive, subjective search for meaning. Explanation by witnesses cannot stand between the clear expression of the determinative HRB 84-17 section, nor may witnesses filter the direct application of this section by the administrative law judge to the facts found.

Finally, testimony and argument to establish penalty, if any, to be imposed after de novo consideration here, must abide the full trial of the remaining charges and related factual issues. West New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500 (1962). Penalty cannot fairly be decided today.

ORDER

I ORDER, therefore, as follows:

1. Respondent's charge of falsification is affirmed, and appellant's continued factual or legal defense against that charge at hearing is foreclosed.
2. The penalty for the offense of falsification will be decided after opportunity during plenary hearing for both sides to provide argument addressing appropriate discipline.
3. Plenary hearing on the remaining portions of respondent's charges will now proceed.
4. Appellant during plenary hearing may pursue factual and legal argument in support of his affirmative defense grounded on N.J.S.A. 30:4-3.11a, to which respondent may reply similarly.

This order may be reviewed by the CIVL SERVICE COMMISSION, either upon interlocutory review pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.10 or at the end of the contested case, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6.

INITIAL DECISION

SETTLEMENT

OAL DKT. NO. CSV 19444-16

AGENCY REF. NO. 2017-1907

IN THE MATTER OF CARL MAGBY, JR., CITY OF HACKENSACK, DEPARTMENT OF SANITATION,

---

Ryan Lockman, Esq., for appellant (Mark B. Frost & Associates)

Raymond R. wiss, Esq., for respondent (Wiss & Bouregy, P.C.)

Record Closed: August 3, 2017 Decided: August 3, 2017

BEFORE KIMBERLY A. MOSS, ALJ:

This matter was received at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on December 27, 2016, for resolution as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F1 to -13. A prehearing conference was conducted wherein the parties agree on a hearing date. The matter was scheduled for hearings on April 5 and June 22, 2017. The April hearing date was adjourned at the request of appellant's counsel due to discovery issues. Prior to the June hearing date appellant's counsel advised that the matter is resolved. The June hearing date was cancelled and a status conference was conducted on July 31, 2017. On August 1, 2017 the undersigned received a copy of the Settlement Agreement, via fax. On August 3, 2017 OAL received the fully executed settlement agreement, by regular mail, which is attached hereto for reference.

Having reviewed the contents of the attached Settlement Agreement, I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures and/or the signatures of their representatives.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and, therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the MERIT SYSTEM BOARD for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the MERIT SYSTEM BOARD, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Merit System Board does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED, this _____ day of _____, 2017:

A.L.J.

AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE

This Agreement and General Release, dated as of June 15, 2017, is given by, the Releasor, Carl Magby, Jr., individually referred to as "Employee", to the City of Hackensack, referred to as the "City" including all of the City's elected and appointed officials, officers, agents, representatives and employees.

WHEREAS, Employee and the City desire to resolve issues and claims which may arise, or which may have arisen, out of Employee's employment with the City; and

WHEREAS, the parties to this Agreement agree that this Agreement is being entered into without any admissions of any liability or obligation on the part of the City; and

WHEREAS, Employee and the City (the "Parties") have engaged in discussions and reached agreement on certain matters which they wish to memorialize by way of this Agreement.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the foregoing recitals, which are expressly incorporated into this Release, and the mutual undertakings below, the Parties, intending to be now legally bound, agree as follows:

1. Release

   a. Employee understands that this Agreement includes a release of all claims (the "Claims") against the City, whether based on federal, state, common law, or Administrative claims, that in any way relates to his employment with the City, the events, circumstances, conduct, employment relations, complaints, grievances or claims that have been made by him, or that might have been raised or could have been raised in the future between the Parties based on any conduct which has happened up until now, including under the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, N.J.S.A. 10:5-1, et seq.; the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act, N.J.S.A. 34:19-2(a), et al; and the New Jersey Civil Rights Act, N.J.S.A. 10-6.2, et al. Employee specifically releases and gives up any and all claims and rights including, without limitation, any claims of age discrimination, gender discrimination and disability discrimination, and/or retaliation, including those claims of which Employee is not aware and those not mentioned in this Agreement.

   b. This Agreement applies to claims resulting from anything which has happened up to now. Employee warrants that no promise or inducement has been offered by the parties being released, except as herein set forth; that this Agreement is executed without reliance upon any statement or representation by the person or parties released or their representatives or physicians, concerning the nature and extent of the injuries and damages and legal liability therefore; and that Employee is of legal age, is legally competent to execute this Agreement, and accepts full responsibility for it. Employee agrees as further consideration and inducement for this compromise settlement that the settlement and release shall apply to all unknown or unanticipated injuries, claims and damages, including but not limited to claims for attorneys fees, resulting from this matter as well as to those now disclosed or which may be discovered in the future. It is Employee's intent, in executing this document to release and discharge the individual persons, entities, and corporations named in this Agreement.

c. This Agreement contains the entire agreement between the Parties hereto. The terms of this Agreement are contractual and not merely recital. Employee warrants as further consideration of said sum paid that no other person, firm, corporation, entity or government body is entitled to any claim whatsoever growing out of the aforesaid Claims. Employee will indemnify and hold harmless the party or parties released from any and all other claims which are presently known or might arise from the aforesaid Claims.

d. The City hereby releases Employee from all claims, whether based on federal, state, common law or administrative claims that in any way relate to his employment with the City, or otherwise or which might have been raised or could have been raised in the future between the Parties based on any conduct which has happened until now, including those claims of which the City are not aware and those not mentioned in this Agreement.

2. Resignation/Termination of Employee's Employment; Dismissal of PNDA; Payment of Accrued Unused Days

a. Employee hereby irrevocably agrees to retire from his employment with the City effective June 30, 2017 (the "Retirement Date"), and to file a retirement application with the New Jersey Division of Pensions effective July 1, 2017.

b. Employer agrees that Employee has retired in good standing and that there are no disciplinary proceedings pending against him as of the date of his retirement. Any disciplinary matters pending as of the date of this Agreement have been rescinded prior to the effective date hereof. Employee's personnel will reflect this fact. If an inquiry is made to the City as to Employee's employment history with the City, the City will provide a neutral reference and indicate that Employee has retired in good standing and that there were no disciplinary proceedings pending against him as of the date of his retirement.

c. Employee shall receive all salary payments and pension credits payable to him through December 31, 2016, as if he had worked full time from the date of his suspension of November 8, 2016 through December 31, 2016.

d. Within sixty (60) days of the date of this Agreement, and provided that Employee has submitted his retirement application effective July 1, 2017, Employer shall pay to Employee the following sums:

(i) Employee's accrued vacation time as permitted under the CBA. The City asserts that this amount is $2,524.75, representing 14.75 hours of accrued vacation time. The City will provide supporting documentation of same.

(ii) Back pay as set forth in paragraph 2(c) above.

e. Employer and Employee agree that Employee has no other accrued contractual entitlements.

f. Employer agrees to properly, accurately and promptly report all of Employee's accrued service time and/or pension time to the New Jersey Division of Pensions and Benefits.

3. Attorney's Fees and Expenses

It is specifically understood and agreed that any amounts payable under this Agreement includes all attorney's fees and costs to which Employee and/or his attorneys may be entitled and the settlement sum is specifically intended to be inclusive of all attorney's fees and costs. Employee understands that by executing this Agreement, he releases and waives any claim or right for attorney's fees and expenses in connection with the Claims. Neither Employee nor any counsel for Employee, nor anyone acting on their behalf, shall make application for additional monies in addition to the amounts set forth in this Agreement, nor shall any of them make any application for attorney's fees or costs as those amounts are included in the total payment being made herein.

4. Tax Consequences

The City makes no representation regarding the Federal or State tax consequences of any of the payments referred to herein and shall not be responsible for any tax liability, interest or penalty incurred by Employee, which in any way arises out of or is related to said payment. Employee shall pay the Federal or State taxes, if any, which are required by law to be paid by her with respect to this settlement. Employee agrees that she will be responsible for the payment of all applicable State, Federal and local taxes with respect to same. Employee further agrees that in the event the Internal Revenue Service or any other taxing authority deems any withholding tax, interest, penalties, or other amounts to be due from the City with respect to this settlement payment, Employee will fully indemnify and hold harmless the City for any sums that the City may be required to pay.

5. Who is Bound

Employee is bound by this Agreement. Anyone who succeeds to Employee's rights and responsibilities, including but not limited to Employee's heirs or the executor of Employee's estate, is also bound. This Agreement is made for the City's benefit and all who succeed to the City's rights and responsibilities.

6. Choice of Law

This Agreement is a by-product of arms length negotiations and it is the agreement of the Parties that any dispute regarding the interpretation of the Agreement will be determined by the application of New Jersey law.

7. Severability

Should any provision of this Agreement be declared or determined by any Court of competent jurisdiction to be illegal, invalid or unenforceable, the legality, validity and enforceability or the remaining parts, terms or provision, shall not be affected thereby and said illegal, unenforceable or invalid part, term or provision shall be deemed not to be part of this Agreement.

8. Negotiated Agreement: No Construction Against Any Party

This Agreement was not drafted by any of the Parties, but rather is the result of negotiations among the Parties with the benefit of their attorneys. Each Party to this Agreement read this Agreement and has freely and voluntarily executed it. No ambiguity that may arise in this agreement shall be resolved by construing the Agreement against any of the Parties as drafter of same.

9. Signatures

Employee understands and agrees to the terms of this Agreement. If this Agreement is made by a corporation, its proper corporate officers sign and its corporate seal is affixed.

10. Use of Release as Evidence

Neither the fact of this Agreement, nor any of its terms, nor the payment of the consideration hereunder, shall constitute or be deemed an admission of liability by Employee or of any violation of any duty, statute, law or regulation.

11. Voluntary Acceptance of Agreement

Employee represents that he has or has been given a reasonable opportunity to, fully discuss this Agreement with his attorneys, and has carefully read and fully understands its provisions. Employee further represents that he enters into this Agreement voluntarily.

12. No Publicity or Disparagement

(a) Employee and the City represent that, except as may be required by law or legal process, Employee will not disparage the City in any way nor suggest that the settlement in any way reflects any admission of liability on the City's part.

Mr. Anqiulo,

In response to your inquiry, please be advised that Mr. Magby's last day of employment with the City of Hackensack was December 31, 2016. While Mr. Magby may not have filed his retirement application until July 1, 2017, he was not employed by the City of Hackensack subsequent to December 31, 2106.

Hopefully, this fully responds to your inquiry.

Ray

Mr. Lockman and Mr. Wiss:

Per my telephone conversation with Mr. Lockman via telephone last week, we require all periods of time to be accounted for in an employee's personnel record. Thus, I indicated that we needed specific clarification as to how to account for the period of time between the end of Mr. Magby's receipt of back pay (January 1, 2017) and his retirement/resignation in good standing (July 1, 2017). While I assume that this period of time should be considered as an approved leave of absence without pay, I cannot present the matter for the Commission's acknowledgment without confirmation from the parties that this is correct. Please advise as soon as possible.
Thank you for your cooperation.

Mr. Lockman and Mr. Wiss:

I am the Deputy Director in charge of this agency's hearing unit. We have received the settlement regarding Carl Magby, Jr. from the Office of Administrative Law. However, prior to forwarding it to the Civil Service Commission for acknowledgment, clarification is required.

Specifically, the settlement indicates that Mr. Magby agrees to "retire from his employment" effective June 30, 2017 and receive back pay for the period from November 8, 2016 through December 31, 2016. However, the record does not reflect how to record the time period from January 1, 2017 through June 30, 2017 in his personnel record. For example, is that time period to be recorded as an approved leave of absence without pay, or something else?

Please let me know the intention of the parties as soon as possible. An e-mail reply is sufficient so long as agreed upon by the parties.

Sincerely,

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND RELEASE

This Settlement Agreement and Release (hereinafter referred to as the "Agreement") is made and entered into by and between Yhamile Rodriguez-Perez (hereinafter referred to as "Employee"); the Communications Workers of America, A.F.L.-C.I.O., Local 1032 (hereinafter referred to as "Union"); and the State of New Jersey Judiciary, Monmouth Vicinage (hereinafter referred to as "Vicinage").

W I T N E S S E T H:

WHEREAS, the Employee was employed by the Vicinage in the capacity of a Judiciary Clerk 2-Bilingual assigned to the Vicinage's Civil Division; and

WHEREAS, during her employment with the Vicinage, the Employee was a member of a collective negotiations unit represented by the Union; and

WHEREAS, the Vicinage terminated the Employee's employment, effective February 8, 2017, at the conclusion of an unsuccessful, extended working test period; and

WHEREAS, the Employee appealed the termination to the Civil Service Commission of the State of New Jersey (hereinafter referred to as "CSC"), which has transmitted the appeal to the Office of Administrative Law of the State of New Jersey (hereinafter referred to as "OAL"), which has scheduled the matter for a settlement conference on August 29, 2017; and

WHEREAS, the parties to this Agreement desire to fully and finally settle all matters in dispute between them regarding the Employee's employment and release at the end of the extended working test period; and

WHEREAS, in consideration for the settlement of all claims that have, or could have, been raised by the Employee and/or the Union relating to the Employee's employment with the Vicinage and her release at the end of the extended working test period, and for other good and valuable consideration, including the mutual promises and terms and conditions contained in this Agreement;

IT IS AGREED AS FOLLOWS:

1. The Vicinage will deem the Employee to have resigned from the above-referenced position, effective February 8, 2017. The Vicinage agrees that the Employee's records will reflect a general resignation, in accordance with N.J.A.C. 4A:2-6.3.

2. The Employee agrees not to seek or accept employment now or in the future, in any capacity, with the State of New Jersey Judiciary, including the Administrative Office of the Courts, all Vicinages and all municipal courts.

3. The Employee agrees to withdraw the pending appeal filed with the CSC, wherein she challenges the release from employment. The appeal, which is captioned Yhmaile Rodriguez-Perez v. Superior Court of N.J., Monmouth Vicinage, Agency Ref. No. 2017-2771; OAL Dkt. No. CSV 03975-2017S; is hereby withdrawn with prejudice.

4. The Employee and Union agree not to appeal any subject matter related to the Employee's employment by the Vicinage and the Employee's release from employment, in any other forum, including, but not limited to, a discipline, grievance or arbitration.

5. In the event that the Vicinage is contacted, in the future, by a prospective employer regarding the Employee, it will provide a neutral job reference consisting of the following information: (a) the Employee's dates of service in the Vicinage; (b) her job title; (c) her salary history and (d) that she resigned. The Vicinage will not comment on the Employee's job performance.

6. In consideration of the promises made herein by the Vicinage, the Employee agrees to release and forever discharge all potential and existing claims arising out of her employment with the Vicinage and release at the end of the extended working test period, including, but not limited to, any alleged violation of the Fair Labor Standards Act, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Section 1981 et seq. of Title 1974, the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967, the Occupational Safety and Health Act, the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act, the Family and Medical Leave Act, the New Jersey Family Leave Act, the New Jersey Employer-Employee Relations Act, each of the foregoing as amended, and any and all other federal, State or local wage and hour laws, civil or human rights laws, or any other alleged violation of any local, State or federal law, regulation, or ordinance, and/or public policy, collective negotiations agreement, contract or tort or common law claim and/or any claim for attorneys' fees having any bearing whatsoever on this matter that the Employee now has or may have as of the date of this Agreement. The Employee acknowledges and agrees that this release extends to anyone who succeeds to her rights and responsibilities, including but not limited to, heirs, assignees or successors in interest, and that this release is given for the benefit of the State of New Jersey Judiciary, the Vicinage and such entities' employees, agents and representatives.

7. In consideration of the promises made herein by the Vicinage, the Union agrees to release and forever discharge all potential and existing claims arising out of the Employee's employment by the Vicinage and release from employment at the end of the extended working test period, including, but not limited to, any alleged violation of the New Jersey Employer-Employee Relations Act, or any other alleged violation of any local, State or federal law, regulation, ordinance and/or public policy, collective negotiations agreement, contract or tort or other common law claim and/or any claim for attorney's fees having any bearing on these matters, which the Union now has, or may have, as of the date of this Agreement.

8. The Employee acknowledges that she has carefully read and fully understands all of the provisions of this Agreement, and she was afforded the opportunity to review and discuss each provision with an attorney and/or Union representative.

9. To the extent that the Employee utilized the services of an attorney and/or Union representative, she acknowledges that she is satisfied with the advice and services provided by said individual(s).

10. The Employee acknowledges that she is voluntarily executing this Agreement.

11. The parties acknowledge and agree that each party shall be responsible for their own attorney's fees and costs, if any.

12. The construction, interpretation and performance of this Agreement shall be governed by the laws of the State of New Jersey.

13. This settlement shall not be considered binding or serve as precedent in any other matter, except as set forth herein.

14. This Agreement contains the entire agreement between the parties and fully supersedes any and all prior agreements or understandings pertaining to the subject matter addressed in this Agreement. The parties represent and acknowledge that, in executing this Agreement, no one has relied upon any representation or statement not set forth herein with regard to the subject matter of this Agreement.

15. The parties acknowledge and agree that neither party is to be regarded as the prevailing party in the aforementioned proceeding. The parties further acknowledge and agree that nothing contained herein shall be construed in a court or agency of competent jurisdiction or in any other legal matter or proceeding to be an admission of liability or wrongdoing by either party, except as otherwise specifically provided herein.

16. This Agreement may be executed in any number of counterparts, each of which, when executed and delivered, shall be deemed an original, but all of which together shall constitute one and the same instrument. Any signatory hereto may indicate acceptance of this Agreement with a facsimile signature, provided that an original signature is provided to all other parties thereafter.

17. If any term or condition of this Agreement shall be declared invalid or unenforceable, to any extent or in any application, by a court or agency of competent jurisdiction, then such term or condition shall automatically, and without any further action, be reformed so as to retain the fullest extent of any restriction therein permitted by law and the remainder of this Agreement, and such term or condition, except to such extent or in such application, shall not be affected thereby, and each and every term and condition of this Agreement shall be valid and enforced to the fullest extent and in the broadest application permitted by law.

18. The parties understand and agree that this Agreement is subject to, and shall take effect upon, its approval by the OAL and the CSC. Both parties agree to waive the right to file exceptions and cross-exceptions in the above-referenced appeal.

In the Matter of Shirley Savage Ancora Psychiatric Hosptial, Department of Human Services	:	FINAL ADMINISTRATIVE ACTION OF THE CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

ISSUED: September 21, 2017 BW

The appeal of Shirley Savage, Human Services Assistant, Ancora Psychiatric Hosptial, Department of Human Services, two removals effective January 22, 2013, on charges, was heard by Acting Director and Chief Administrative Law Judge Laura Sanders, who rendered her initial decision on August 24, 2017. Exceptions were filed on behalf of the appellant, and a reply to exceptions was filed on behalf of the appointing authority.

Having considered the record and the Administrative Law Judge's initial decision, and having made an independent evaluation of the record, the Civil Service Commission (Commission), at its meeting of September 20, 2017, accepted and adopted the Findings of Fact and Conclusion as contained in the attached Administrative Law Judge's initial decision.

ORDER

The Civil Service Commission finds that the action of the appointing authority in removing the appellant was justified. The Commission therefore affirms that action and dismisses the appeals of Shirley Savage.

This is the final administrative determination in this matter. Any further review should be pursued in a judicial forum.

INITIAL DECISION
(CONSOLIDATED)

IN THE MATTER OF SHIRLEY SAVAGE, DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES, ANCORA PSYCHIATRIC HOSPITAL.

OAL DKT. NO. CSV 11496-13
AGENCY DKT. NO. 2013-2274

AND

IN THE MATTER OF SHIRLEY SAVAGE, DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES, ANCORA PSYCHIATRIC HOSPITAL.

OAL DKT. NO. CSV 11497-13
AGENCY DKT. NO. 2013-2273

William B. Hildebrand, Esq., for appellant (Law Offices of William B. Hildebrand, LLC)

Peter Jenkins, Deputy Attorney General, for respondent (Christopher S. Porrino, Attorney General of New Jersey, attorney)

Record Closed: March 1, 2017 Decided: August 24, 2017

BEFORE LAURA SANDERS, Acting Director & Chief ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE FACTS

Appellant Shirley Savage appeals the action by Ancora Psychiatric Hospital, effective January 22, 2013, terminating her from her position as a human services assistant on grounds of insubordination, conduct unbecoming, and violation of policies related to allegations she left her work assignment without authorization in October 2012. A second set of termination charges alleges that she left her assignment early and uncompleted on January 11, 2013. Ms. Savage contends that on both occasions other staff members failed to act in accordance with the hospital's relief protocols, and that in both instances she sincerely believed she had been relieved of duty.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On January 17, 2013, Savage was served with a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action. She requested a departmental hearing, which was held on June 24, 2013. On July 8, 2013, a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action sustaining the charges was issued. She timely appealed the action to the Civil Service Commission (CSC), which determined to transmit the contested case to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on August 13, 2013, and docketed as CSV 11496-13. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. A second PNDA related to the January 2013 allegations was served on January 17, 2013. Following a departmental hearing on June 5, 2013, a second FNDA removing her effective January 22, 2013, was issued. She again appealed the termination to the CSC, which transmitted the matter to the OAL. It was filed on August 13, 2013, and docketed as CSV 11497-13. Administrative Law Judge Patricia M. Kerins consolidated the matters by order dated December 19, 2013, and heard them on June 30, 2014, October 22, 2014, and September 1, 2015, and the record was left open to March 1, 2017, for closing statements. The record then closed. Following numerous extensions, an additional extension was granted to allow time to contact the parties pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.13 to determine if the parties could settle or wished to relitigate the matter upon transfer to a new judge. The answer having been in the negative, the undersigned was assigned the case. An additional extension was granted to allow time to review the record, and write the initial decision.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

The parties agree on some of the facts. Ancora Psychiatric Hospital is a facility of the New Jersey Department of Human Services that provides psychiatric, medical, and rehabilitation services to mentally ill patients. Patients who are at risk of harming themselves or others are sometimes placed on what is known as "one-to-one" monitoring, which involves continuous observation by a staff member placed from one to six feet away, depending on what the doctor has instructed. In such instances, the staff member is assigned solely to that one patient, and is expected to remain with that patient until another staff person relieves them of duty. They also are expected to periodically record their observations of the patient during the assignment. Ancora Psychiatric Hospital Nursing Policy and Procedure, Change of Shift, reviewed and revised July 10, 2012, includes in paragraph sixteen a statement that, "[S]taff working a double shift are relieved first." (R-2.) The initial disputed instance occurred on October 13, 2012, when Savage, who was completing a double shift, was assigned to one-to-one monitoring of a patient. The second contested incident happened on January 11, 2013. Beyond these limited facts, there is significant disagreement as to what exactly occurred on both evenings.

Respondent offered three witnesses to the October 13, 2012, incident. Remi Etokhana, who is a human services assistant, testified that she was working the 11:30-p.m.-to-7:30-a.m. shift on October 13, 2012. The charge nurse assigned Etokhana to relieve a staff member who had been monitoring a patient during the prior shift. Etokhana was not assigned to relieve Savage, but saw her sitting nearby with a patient to whom she was assigned. Although Etokhana said, "No I was not supposed to relieve you," (Tr. June 30, 2014, at 13) she saw Savage walk away from her patient. Etokhana proceeded to relieve the person she was assigned to replace, and did not see anyone come to relieve Savage. (Id. at 14.) A couple of seconds later, an aide named Patricia Greer appeared and took responsibility for Savage's patient. (Id. at 43.) Initially, Etokhana said nothing about an empty soda can sitting next to Savage's chair, but later said she did see one, and that soda is not permissible. (Id. at 43, 44.) Although she was aware that soda should not be there, because it was considered contraband, she did not pick it up, because, in her view, the can was the responsibility of the staff member who had left it.

Patricia Greer testified that she had arrived for the third shift and was coming out of the break room when she saw Savage leave through the exit door of the ward. (Id. at 52.) This was around 11:40–11:45 p.m. That particular night, she had no special assignment, so her job was to relieve whichever staff member she reached first. When she arrived in the ward for her one-to-one assignment, she saw that a clipboard holding the monitoring sheet for the patient had been left in front of the patient, but no one was there. (Id. at 57.) Greer immediately got another staff member named James to stand there, then went to locate the charge nurse. (Id. at 58.) At the time, the patient who was supposed to be monitored was snoring loudly. (Id. at 96.) Greer said her understanding of the priority for staff working double shifts meant that they are the first relieved after patient census was done. (Id. at 99.)

Adetutu Ogunleye,[1] who at the time of the OAL hearing had been a charge nurse at Ancora for about four years, testified that she worked with Savage from 7 p.m. to about 11 to 11:30 p.m. on some days. She described Savage as "aggressive verbally," given to arguing about assignments or arguing with other staff members. (Tr. October 22, 2014, at 8.) At the shift change, the outgoing charge nurse generally told Ogunleye what patients or staff needed to be relieved first, and then "you approach the one-to-one if you are going to relieve a one-to-one." (Id. at 9.) Responsibility for a patient is actually transferred from one employee to another when the incoming staff person takes the keyboard from the outgoing staff member, and both sign off. (Id. at 10.) When the entire formal transfer process fails to occur, it is a "big risk to the patient's safety." (Id. at 25.) Ogunleye's practice is always to ask the outgoing charge nurse which staff members should be relieved first. (Id. at 31.)

On October 13, 2012, Ogunleye assigned Remi Etokhana to relieve a pool nurse that had been working sixteen hours. Shortly afterward, she heard Etokhana yelling to her down the hall. When Ogunleye left the nurses' station and went to see why Etokhana was yelling, Etokhana said that Savage had just walked away from a one-to-one. (Id. at 11.) At that point, Ogunleye was able to reach Savage and ask that she please return because she had not been relieved, but "she looked at me and just ignored me and walked away." (Ibid.) Savage did mumble something, Ogunleye said, but she could not recall what it was. (Id. at 12.) Ogunleye checked on the one-to-one, then assigned another staff member, Patricia Greer, to watch him, returned to the nurses' station, and made a call to the nursing supervisor. She was certain that Savage had left the one-to-one patient alone, because when she arrived no one was watching him, and she had not yet assigned anyone to relieve Savage. (Id. at 13.)

Shirley Savage testified on her own behalf. She started employment at Ancora in November 2004 as a temporary employee, before becoming a full-time human services assistant. She said that sixteen-hour workers are supposed to be relieved first, both because they go into double-time payment after sixteen hours, and because they are generally expected to return to work eight hours later for their regular shifts. (Id. at 81.) She had previously experienced favoritism when it came to being relieved. "I never had a problem with anybody, . . . but soon as someone knows that I'm 16 hours, they'll go and relieve another staff because of favoritism . . . , that's my girl over there, that's my best friend over there, that's my cousin over there . . . ." (Id. at 82.) She said she filed complaints with the charge nurses about it, as well as complained to the supervisor, who told her to put it in writing. Once she had done so, she said, "all of them deliberately, intentionally started not relieving me on purpose . . . ." (Id. at 84.)

Savage said that Remi Etokhana "had this thing about linen," and would always go get linen first before relieving her. (The term "linen" here is used to describe a sheet or blanket.) In October 2012, Savage told Etokhana about the patient, who was sleeping, and that there was no other information to exchange. Savage said, "Here's the clipboard" and "See you later" to Etokhana, who came after her as she walked away, saying she was supposed to relieve the pool nurse (who had not been working sixteen hours). So Savage went to the supervisor's office, where the supervisor told her to go back and check. She did so, finding Patricia Greer sitting with the patient. (Id. at 92.) Savage said she knows full well that just walking away would endanger a patient's life, which is why she would not have left had she not thought Etokhana was relieving her. "I never left the patient unattended, because I left staff sitting there." (Id. at 93.) She also asked, "why are we having a conversation about the patient if she's not going to relieve me?" (Id. at 110.) Savage then returned to the supervisor's office, to complain about Etokhana. She asked that the camera recording for that night in the corridor be downloaded, because she felt that the camera would support her story that Etokhana was right there with the patient, and was aware that she, not one of the nurses, had worked sixteen hours and should be relieved.[2] (Id. at 106.) At the point at which Savage walked away, Etokhana had told her she was not there to relieve Savage, she intended to relieve a nurse named Norayda. That nurse, who was located next to Savage, had not worked sixteen hours, and told Etokhana that Savage was first. (Id. at 146.) From Savage's viewpoint, Etokhana was standing next to the patient to whom Savage was assigned, Savage was entitled to be relieved, she had signed off in front of Etokhana, and Etokhana was now responsible for the patient. (Id. at 147.)

With regard to the January 11, 2013, incident, respondent offered testimony from four staff members, along with identification of a video. (R-33.) On that January night, Etokhana testified, when she started work, she was assigned to relieve a nurse named James, who was preparing to leave after working the second shift. When she approached Savage, the appellant said she had been a working double, and wanted to go home. (Tr. October 22, 2014, at 34.) Etokhana said she had cleaned up after Savage on some other occasions, so she asked Savage whether she was going to remove the used linen from her chair when she left. To this, Savage replied, "No, that [sheet] doesn't matter," so Etokhana refused to sign Savage out because, as far as she was concerned, Savage was supposed to clean up before she left and had not done so. (Tr. June 30, 2014, at 20 and 34.) Asked why she did not just put her fresh linen right over the top of the sheet Savage had been sitting upon, Etokhana said it was not hygienic enough. (Id. at 35.) Although Savage walked away, Etokhana said she already had signed out another staff member, James, so even though this left Savage's patient with no coverage, she could not sign Savage out. (Id. at 36.) She

[2] Counsel for respondent stated that the facility does not permanently save video. Rather, after thirty days it records over the old video. He said more than thirty days passed before the investigative process related to the first incident reached the point of seeking the video, which by then had been recorded over. (Tr. October 22, 2014, at 70.)

acknowledged that she could have signed Savage out instead of James, but chose not to do so because she did not want to sit on the sheet on which Savage had been seated. (Id. at 37–38.)

James Ronchetti had been a nurse at Ancora for nine years at the time of the June 30, 2014, hearing date. He recalled being assigned to a one-to-one on January 11, 2013, on second shift between 3:15 p.m. and 11:45 p.m. (Id. at 102, 103.) He testified that he saw the one employee come to relieve Savage, then refuse because of the blankets on the chair. "Ms. Savage refused to take the blankets and then just left." Ronchetti said he yelled out to her, saying, "They're not signing you off," but the appellant continued to walk out. (Id. at 104.) He said Ms. Savage's exit was improper because staff are not supposed to leave one-to-one assignments, especially those like her patient, who were there on suicide concerns, because such patients "can hurt themselves at any time." (Id. at 104.) Ronchetti did not recall seeing Savage drink from a soda can, nor did he recall seeing a soda can anywhere near Savage or the patient. (Id. at 110.)

Ronchetti said that when Remi Etokhana approached Savage, she had no clean linen with her. (Id. at 111.) To Ronchetti's knowledge, Etokhana could have removed Savage's linen. Instead, she relieved him, and just sat on his chair, which had no linen upon it. (Id. at 113.)

Adetutu Ogunleye, the charge nurse, also testified in relation to the January 2013 incident. She recalled hearing Patricia Greer calling that she was needed to assess a patient. When she arrived in the hallway, a one-to-one patient who was a suicide risk was there, unsupervised. (Tr. October 22, 2014, at 17.) She determined that Shirley Savage was assigned to watch the patient, although she was not present. Etokhana told her that Savage had walked away. The outgoing-shift nurse also told her that Savage was not watching the one-to-one when she made the rounds at 11:30 p.m. (Id. at 18.) Ogunleye said the relief procedure was to start with relieving temporary staff members first, followed by those who had been working sixteen hours. (Id. at 19.) On this date, on realizing the patient was without supervision, she assigned another staff member, then returned to the nurses' station and called the nursing supervisor, the

Patricia Greer said that following a short in-service training, she arrived in the corridor off which the patients' bedrooms are located around 11:45 p.m. and saw an empty chair. On it was a clipboard and an empty can. (Tr. June 30, 2014, at 87.) She did not know where the can came from, and she saw no one monitoring the patient. (Ibid.) She removed the linen from the chair, placing it on the floor, and put the can in her case for disposal later. (Id. at 88.) Greer said that at some point she had received a memo directing staff not to put linen on the chairs. (Id. at 88–89.) A sign-in sheet from that night has a note she identified as hers stating that she signed off on the patient at 11:53, which she said means she took responsibility for him at that time. (Id. at 95.) On her arrival in the hallway, she saw Savage going out of the exit door in the hallway leading toward the supervisor's office. That particular corridor does not include either of the two hallways where patients are housed. (Id. at 64.) She did not speak to Savage at all. Rather, she notified Ogunleye. Greer also testified in relation to a video offered by respondent. (R-33.) The video, which carried a date of January 11, 2013, at a time identified as 11:42 through 11:43 p.m., shows Savage exiting through a rear door. It also shows Greer arriving at 11:44 p.m. Greer testified that when she signed in at twelve, which is shown on the official monitoring sheet (R-22, APH 40), no one was present. She would have received the prior sheet, APH 39 within R-22, which had Savage's name on it, at the time she was coming on. All of the time slots—11 p.m. through 11:45 p.m.—had information filled in.

Savage also testified about the January 2013 incident. On that particular evening, Remi Etokhana again was coming down that hall with linens, approaching a staff member named Oscar first, and then Jim. (Tr. October 22, 2014, at 111.) Savage asked why Etokhana "would deliberately not want to relieve me after [she] just left the nurses' station with . . . a report that says I'm 16 hours." (Id. at 112.) First, Etokhana put linen on the back of Oscar's chair, causing Oscar to point out that Savage had been working sixteen hours. Then, because Oscar is directing her, Etokhana approached Savage. The appellant recalled telling her, "The patient is fine, the patient is asleep. There is no incident. Here is the clipboard," because Etokhana's hands were full of linens. With this, Savage said, she initialed the form, and signed off. "They said I had not signed off and left at 11:45. That never happened. They said I left the patient unattended. That never happened." (Ibid.) She added that while she and Etokhana were standing there, Jim told her, "Shirley, she doesn't want to relieve you because of linen." (Ibid.) She also recalled him saying, "Shirley, just help her out by removing the linen. That's all she wants you to do." (Tr. October 22, 2014, at 153.) Savage contended that the relief procedure had nothing to do with linen, and that by allowing Etokhana to relieve him instead of her, Jim was violating the procedure mandating that sixteen-hour employees had priority for relief. (Id. at 113.)

Savage said she again asked for the camera record to be pulled because she was tired of being accused of doing something she had not. However, she said the video offered by the respondent could not actually be the one from that date because it shows her and Jim coming from the break room, which is not in the area of the dorms where the incident occurred. Rather, she and the patient were stationed across from Oscar, as was Jim. (Id. at 116.) Having re-reviewed it with another staff member on August 31, 2015, Savage amplified the reasons she did not believe the tape to be accurate. Both she and Jim had patients that night, and the tape shows them coming from an area in which it is not possible for both to have been watching patients, in part because one side has a fire door and the day room. (Tr. September 1, 2015, at 11.) Further, she and Jim were sitting across the hall from Oscar, who is shown sitting alone on the tape. (Id. at 13.) Savage also says one of the patients on the tape was not present at the facility in 2013; he was there in 2012. (Tr. October 22, 2014, at 117.) As regards to Savage drinking soda, Savage said that she did not have any, and that earlier in the evening another staff member had been drinking soda, but it was nowhere near where the can was supposed to have been located by her chair. (Id. at 120–21.)

Edmund Dillon, section chief at Ancora Hospital for twenty-nine years, was working in the office of employee relations at the time of both incidents. He explained that at shift change, staff members who are not on one-to-one assignments meet at the nurses' station to discuss what happened in the shift leaving and what might be expected during the coming shift. (Id. at 49.) If a staff person is assigned to relieve someone doing a one-to-one, that person goes to the patient and employee, briefly asks about what he or she should know, then takes a clipboard and signs off the outgoing person. "The person who is now going home signs the final time," and the incoming person signs the bottom of the sheet showing they've taken on that responsibility, and then the other person leaves. (Id. at 49, 50.) Dillon explained that the reason staff members cannot leave a one-to-one is that a patient left unattended could do anything. In one instance, an aggressive patient was left unguarded, and an employee was stabbed as a result. (Id. at 50.) He said that under the shift-change policy, outgoing staff will advise the incoming staff as to who has worked a double shift, because they should be relieved first. (Id. at 62.)

As the parties offer divergent views of what occurred during the two evenings, the determination of factual findings requires a weighing of the credibility of the witnesses, i.e., an overall assessment of the story of a witness "in the light of its rationality or internal consistency and the manner in which it hangs together with other evidence." Carbo v. United States, 314 F.2d 718 (9th Cir. 1963). "The interest, motive, bias, or prejudice of a witness may affect his credibility and justify the [trier of fact], whose province it is to pass upon the credibility of an interested witness, in disbelieving his testimony." State v. Salimone, 19 N.J. Super. 600, 608 (App. Div. 1952) (citation omitted), certif. denied, 10 N.J. 316 (1952).

Adetutu Ogunleye, the charge nurse, testified credibly that on the disputed October 13, 2012, night, she assigned Remi Etokhana to relieve a pool nurse that had been working sixteen hours. As it happened, Ogunleye was in error regarding the pool nurse, who I FIND was at that point starting the first portion of a two-shift night. So, Savage was correct in asserting that under the shift relief policy, she was the person who should have been relieved. The testimony from various parties made clear that there was some fluidity in the assignments, as staff members often took responsibility for the first person they saw. I FIND that Etokhana told Savage she was not assigned to relieve her, but Savage forced the issue by leaving anyway. I FIND that when Savage was told to go back and check the patient, she did so, and that by the time of her arrival, Greer had assumed responsibility for the patient.

With regard to January 11, 2013, I FIND that the fluidity in assignments was even more in play. Etokhana testified credibly both that she had been assigned to relieve Jim, and that she had a conversation with Savage about relieving her instead, due to the fact that Savage had worked sixteen hours. The various comments regarding whether linen did or did not belong on chairs and who was supposed to do what in relation to it remains somewhat confused, except for the obvious fact that some staff members attached more significance to it than others did. Jim Ronchetti testified credibly that Etokhana gave the impression that she would have relieved Savage if Savage had pulled the cover off the chair, but Savage instead left. This harmonizes with Savage's recollection that she recalled him telling her, "Shirley, just help her out by removing the linen. That's all she wants you to do." I FIND that Savage left, that Etokhana did not relieve her, and that no one was assigned to the patient when Greer arrived. I also find credible Ronchetti's testimony that he yelled after Savage that no one had relieved her.

The facility also charged Savage with neglect of duty in relation to signing a sheet up to 11:45 p.m. when she left at 11:40 p.m. As the time on the video (11:43) speaks for itself, the notation made beside the 11:45 time slot on the monitoring schedule must have been made earlier. Therefore, I FIND that the entry was not accurate.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

A civil service employee who commits a wrongful act related to his or her duties, or gives other just cause, may be subject to major discipline. N.J.S.A. 11A:2-6; N.J.S.A. 11A:2-20; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.2; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3. In an appeal from such discipline, the appointing authority bears the burden of proving the charges upon which it relied by a preponderance of the competent, relevant, and credible evidence. N.J.S.A. 11A:2-21; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-1.4(a); Atkinson v. Parsekian, 37 N.J. 143 (1962); In re Polk, 90 N.J. 550 (1982).

Here, the appellant is charged with conduct unbecoming and other sufficient cause, namely, violating various administrative policies and orders. Conduct unbecoming is a term that encompasses actions adversely affecting the morale or efficiency of a governmental unit or having a tendency to destroy public respect in the delivery of governmental services. Karins v. City of Atl. City, 152 N.J. 532, 554 (1998); see also In re Emmons, 63 N.J. Super. 136, 140 (App. Div. 1960). While Savage's frustration with not getting relieved promptly after sixteen hours of work is understandable, it does not negate her duty to ensure that patients who are a threat to their own safety and to others are being watched in accordance with a physician's orders. The time to take the error up with higher level staff was after Savage had been relieved. In October 2012, Remi Etokhana had been directed to relieve someone else. While the fluidity suggested that Etokhana did have some latitude to relieve Savage first, Savage walked away without confirming that this had occurred. There is some truth in Savage's argument that Etokhana is the one that opened the possibility of harm coming to the patient by deciding to go ahead and relieve the other nurse, thereby creating the gap in coverage. But two failures do not create a positive result. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that Savage violated the policy against leaving a one-on-one patient before another has signed onto the responsibility for that patient, and that in doing so she also exhibited conduct unbecoming by opening the patient and others to a risk of harm.

The January 2013 incident is worse because not one but two people—Etokhana and James Ronchetti—told Savage she had not been relieved. Further, even if Etokhana's linen-removal demand was unreasonable (which is not clear), it involved a minor effort that would not have significantly delayed Savage's departure. For whatever reason, Savage again placed her right to first relief above the patients' and other staff members' rights to a safe environment. Thus, I CONCLUDE that this action also amounted to conduct unbecoming and other sufficient cause in the form of violating facility-safety policies.

The facility also charged her with neglect of duty in relation to signing a sheet up to 11:45 p.m. when she left at 11:40 p.m. Since she left before 11:45 p.m., the entry was not accurate, and this action also amounted to conduct unbecoming.

The remaining issue is penalty. In her ten-year history at Ancora Psychiatric Hospital, Savage has received a three-day suspension in May 2008, a five-day suspension in April 2009, a reprimand in September 2010, a thirty-day suspension in 2010, and a five-day suspension in July 2012. The general rule for civil service cases is progressive discipline. W. New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500 (1962). Typically, the Civil Service Commission considers numerous factors, including the nature of the offense, the concept of progressive discipline, and the employee's prior record. George v. N. Princeton Developmental Ctr., 96 N.J.A.R.2d (CSV) 463. Nonetheless, progressive discipline is not a fixed and immutable rule to be followed without question. Carter v. Bordentown, 191 N.J. 474, 484 (2007). Some infractions are serious enough on their own to warrant termination. In re Herrmann, 192 N.J. 19, 33 (2007).

In Herrmann, our Supreme Court affirmed the removal of a worker from the Division of Youth and Family Services (now known as the Division of Child Protection and Permanency) who had waved a lit lighter in front of a child's face while asking about how the child set a fire. The Court noted the Division's need to rely on the demonstrated good judgment of its workers to protect the integrity of its system. Here, although Savage was correct in believing that the facility's policy prescribed relieving people who had worked sixteen hours first, her elevation of that right above the safety of the patients and staff marked a very serious lapse in judgment. For that reason, I CONCLUDE that termination is the appropriate penalty.

ORDER

The appointing authority's action terminating appellant is hereby AFFIRMED and her appeal DISMISSED with PREJUDICE.

I hereby FILE my Initial Decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, DIVISION OF APPEALS AND REGULATORY AFFAIRS, UNIT H, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, 44 South Clinton Avenue, P.O. Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

BEFORE JEFFREY WILSON, ALJ:

This matter was filed with the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on April 15, 2016, for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

The parties agreed to a settlement of all issues in dispute and have prepared a Settlement Agreement (J-1), which is attached and fully incorporated herein.

I have reviewed the record and the terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

IN THE MATTER OF MATTIE THOMAS

AND

DEPARTMENT OF MILITARY AND VETERANS AFFAIRS, NEW JERSEY VETERANS MEMORIAL HOME, VINELAND

SETTLEMENT AND LAST CHANCE AGREEMENT

J-1

The parties in this appeal, Appellant Mattie Thomas ("Appellant") and Respondent Department of Military and Veterans Affairs, New Jersey Veterans Memorial Home, Vineland ("Respondent") have voluntarily resolved all disputed matters and enter into the following Settlement and Last Chance Agreement ("Agreement"), which fully disposes of all issues in controversy between them.

A. The Final Notice of Disciplinary Action dated March 22, 2016 contained the following charges and proposed discipline:

Charge	Discipline	Dates Effective

1. N.J.A.C.4A:2-2.3(a)6 – Conduct unbecoming a public employee – Removal effective 2/24/16.
2. N.J.A.C.4A:2-2.3(a)7 – Neglect of duty – Removal effective 2/24/16.
3. N.J.A.C.4A:2-2.3(a)11 – Other sufficient cause – Removal effective 2/24/16.
4. B-2 – Neglect of duty, loafing, idleness, or willful failure to devote attention to tasks which could result in a danger to persons or property – Removal effective 2/24/16.
5. C-8 – Falsification – Removal effective 2/24/16.

6. C-20 – Discourtesy to public, visitors, patients, residents or clients – Removal effective 2/24/16.
7. D-7 – Violation of administrative procedure and/or regulations involving safety and security – Removal effective 2/24/16.
8. E-1 – Violation of a rule, regulation, policy, procedure, order, or administrative decision – Removal effective 2/24/16.

B. The parties have agreed to the following:

1. Appellant shall be reinstated to the position of Certified Nurse's Aide ("CNA") at New Jersey Veterans Memorial Home at Vineland.
2. The Final Notice of Disciplinary Action dated March 22, 2016 shall be modified as follows: six (6) months consecutive suspension without pay (time already served).
3. Appellant waives any and all claims for back-pay or attorney's fees from Respondent.
4. Any other days from the time of the last suspension day until reinstatement shall be recorded as Approved Leave of Absence Without Pay.
5. This settlement constitutes a final warning and last chance agreement arising from Appellant's conduct in this matter. Appellant shall be subject to discharge and/or removal by Respondent for any future conduct that results in violation of any of the regulations, policies or procedures cited in Paragraph A of this Agreement, including any violations of Respondent's policies regarding resident abuse and neglect.
6. Upon the parties' signing of this Agreement, and only after the Civil Service Commission approves this Agreement, Respondent shall begin procedures for reinstatement of Appellant.
7. After her reinstatement, Appellant shall be re-trained with regard to her job duties and responsibilities and applicable Departmental policies and procedures, including training on resident abuse and neglect.

8. After her reinstatement, Appellant's performance shall be monitored for a period of two (2) weeks in accordance with the New Jersey Veterans Memorial Home at Vineland's Resident Safety Policy and Procedures.
9. The parties acknowledge that there is a pending New Jersey Department of Health investigation of Appellant with regard to the incidents dated February 12, 2016. The parties agree that, if after the conclusion of the Department of Health investigation, the Department of Health revokes Appellant's nurse's aide license, Appellant shall be immediately discharged from her employment as a Certified Nurse's Aide with Respondent.

C. Appellant agrees to withdraw her appeal and request for a hearing.

D. The parties acknowledge that under N.J.A.C. 17:1-2.18(b), no pension or seniority time may be credited for periods for which the employee is not paid by the employer.

E. Respondent shall amend Appellant's personnel records to conform to the terms of the settlement. All internal records of the Department will be kept intact. Nothing herein shall preclude the Department from releasing information on this matter to anyone who has a release executed by appellant or as consistent with the law. Any information regarding the underlying charges will be provided to the Public Employees Retirement System pursuant to N.J.S.A. 43:1-3.3 as amended effective April 14, 2007.

F. Appellant waives all other claims against Respondent with regard to this matter, including any award of back pay, counsel fees or other monetary relief, except as may otherwise be provided herein.

G. Except for the assessment of Appellant's disciplinary record in any subsequent personnel disciplinary hearing, nothing in this agreement shall be deemed to be an admission of liability on behalf of either party. This agreement shall not constitute a precedent in matters involving other employees.

H. Appellant waives all claims, suits or actions, whether known, unknown, vested or contingent, civil, criminal or administrative, in law or equity against the State of New Jersey, Department of Military and Veterans Affairs, their employees, agents, or assigns, including but not limited to those which have been or could have been made or prosecuted on account of any conduct of any party occurring at any time with respect to the events, information or disputes giving rise to this action up to the date of this agreement, including, but not limited to, all claims under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Civil Rights Act of 1991, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Family Leave Act, the Family and Medical Leave Act, the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, the Equal Pay Act, the Conscientious Employee Protection Act, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, Title 11A - the Civil Service Act, the Older Workers Benefits Protection Act, the Occupational Safety and Health Act, the Public Employee Occupational Safety and Health Act, the New Jersey Smoking Act, New Jersey wages and hours law, public works statutes, unemployment compensation laws, disability benefits laws, the United States Constitution, the New Jersey Constitution, any workers compensation or common law claims and any contract express or implied. This waiver includes all claims involving any continuing effects of actions or practices which arose prior to the date of this Settlement Agreement and bars the use in any way of any past action or practice in any subsequent claims, except pending workers compensation claims.

I. The parties agree that if any portion of this Agreement is deemed unenforceable, the remainder of this Agreement shall be fully enforceable.

J. The parties waive the right to file exceptions and cross exceptions.

K. This agreement will become effective only if approved by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION. Any disapproval by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION shall not interfere with the rights of either party to pursue the matter further.

CITY OF NEWARK,	:	SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE
Respondent.	:

This Settlement Agreement and General Release ("Agreement") is made and entered into by Newark Police Officer Latoya Young ("Young" or "Appellant"), Newark Fraternal Order of Police, Lodge 12 ("Union") and the City of Newark ("City "or "Respondent") (collectively referred to hereinafter as the "Parties"). The Parties herein have voluntarily agreed to resolve all disputed matters arising from the disciplinary action taken against Young by the City. This Agreement is made and entered into by the Parties in full settlement of Young's appeal regarding the above matter.

On September 8, 2015, the Newark Department of Public Safety, Police Division ("Department of Public Safety") brought departmental disciplinary charges against Young in the form of a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action ("PNDA") stemming from her actions on August 26, 2015 in handling a prisoner. Young pled not guilty, waiving her opportunity for a Hearing before the Trial Board. On September 15, 2015, Final Notice of Disciplinary Action and Specifications (hereinafter referred to as "FNDA") were issued with the following charges: Safekeeping of Prisoners, in violation of Newark Police Department Rules and Regulations Chapter 18:20; Neglect of Duty (2 counts), in violation of Newark Police Department Rules and Regulations Chapters 18:6; New Jersey Civil Service Rule N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a). A copy of the September 15, 2015 FNDA is attached herein as Exhibit A. Based on these charges, the Department of Public Safety suspended Young for seven (7) days beginning August 31, 2015 to September 7, 2015 pursuant N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.4 (e).

After further negotiations, the Parties have agreed to resolve this matter as follows:

1. The charges listed in the FNDA are upheld.
2. Young's suspension is reduced from seven (7) to five (5) days. The City will amend her FNDA to reflect a five (5) day suspension.
3. The City will pay Young two (2) days and make the appropriate adjustments to her pension and seniority.
4. Young waives any and all right or claim which she has or may have to a hearing on the merits of the disciplinary action taken under this Agreement and/ or to challenge the suspension penalty imposed as a result of same, including, but not limited to, any right to a departmental hearing concerning the charges in the FNDA.
5. Young and the Union each agree not to appeal the terms and conditions of this Agreement to any agency or court, including, but not limited to the New Jersey Civil Service Commission and/or to any other New Jersey State Court or agency and/or to any United States Court or agency.
6. Young and the Union each further agree that there is no consideration due Young, her counsel and/or Union, including, but not limited to, any claim for additional back pay and/or counsel fees, arising from her employment and/or the execution of this Agreement, except as otherwise provided herein.
7. Except for the assessment of Young's disciplinary record in any subsequent personnel disciplinary hearing, nothing in this Agreement shall be deemed to be an admission of liability on behalf of either Party.
8. Young and the Union acknowledge that this Agreement precludes them from bringing any type of legal or contractual action in any forum including, but not limited to, filing a Complaint in New Jersey Superior Court or the United States Federal Court, filing any type of complaint with the City, Essex County, the State of New Jersey or the United States of America, and filing a grievance and/or requesting arbitration, that is in any manner grounded, based upon, or related to the FNDA.
9. Young is bound by this Agreement. Anyone who succeeds to Young's rights and responsibilities, such as heirs or the executor of her estate, shall also be bound.
10. This Agreement shall not constitute a precedent or practice in any matter involving the City or other City employees or the Union.

11. Young and the Union each agree that this Agreement shall not be offered, used or considered as evidence in any proceeding of any type against or involving the City, except to the extent necessary to enforce the terms of this Agreement, or as required by law.
12. This Agreement contains the sole and entire agreement between Young, the Union and the City, and fully supersedes any and all prior agreements and understandings pertaining to the subject matter hereof. Young specifically represents and acknowledges that in executing this Agreement, she has not relied upon any representations, with regard to the subject matter in this Agreement, which are not set forth herein. No other promises or agreements shall be binding unless in writing, signed by all the Parties, and expressly stated to be a modification of the Agreement.
13. Young agrees and acknowledges that she has been fully and fairly represented by her Union and counsel in this matter, and she is satisfied with that representation and with the terms and conditions of this Agreement.
14. Young agrees and acknowledges that she has had a full opportunity to review this Agreement with her counsel and/or union representative and she enters into this Agreement knowingly and voluntarily.
15. The Parties agree that if any portion of this Agreement is deemed unenforceable, the remainder of the Settlement Agreement shall be fully enforceable.
16. This Agreement will become effective only if approved by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION. Any disapproval by the Civil Service Commission shall not interfere with the rights of either Party to pursue the matter further.
17. By signing this Settlement Agreement, Young states that:

a) She has read it;

b) She understands it and knows that she is giving up important rights, and any and all other federal and state employment causes of any kind, including, but not limited to The New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, The New Jersey Equal Pay Law, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1967, as amended, The Conscientious Employee Protection Act, The Americans With Disabilities Act of 1990, the Fair Labor Standards Act, and any other constitutional, statutory or common law suit, attorney's fees and costs of this proceeding, and any public policy of the United States, the State of New Jersey, or other State;

OAL DOCKET NO. CVS 19738-2015N

c) She agrees with everything in it;

d) Her representative negotiated this Agreement with her knowledge and consent;

e) She has been advised to consult with her attorney prior to executing this Agreement, and has in fact done so;

f) She has been given at least twenty-one (21) days within which to review and consider this Agreement, although she may choose to sign it sooner, and thereafter, has seven (7) days to revoke that signature;

g) She understands that for a period of seven (7) days following the execution of this Agreement, she may revoke this Agreement; the Agreement shall not become effective or enforceable until the revocation period has expired; and

h) She has signed this Settlement Agreement knowingly and voluntarily.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Parties have caused this Settlement Agreement to be executed.

France Casseus, Esq., for respondent (Willie Parker, Corporation Counsel)

Record Closed: August 18, 2017 Decided: August 23, 2017

BEFORE KIMBERLY A. MOSS, ALJ:

This matter was received at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on January 31, 2017, for resolution as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F1 to -13. A prehearing conference was conducted wherein the parties agree on a hearing date. The matter was scheduled for hearings on September 21, 2017. Prior to that date, the parties resolved all issues in dispute and submitted the fully executed settlement agreement, which is attached hereto for reference.

Having reviewed the contents of the attached Settlement Agreement, I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures and/or the signatures of their representatives.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and, therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the MERIT SYSTEM BOARD for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the MERIT SYSTEM BOARD, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Merit System Board does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

VICTOR ZAMORA, Appellant, -v- CITY OF NEWARK, Respondent,	:	STATE OF NEW JERSEY OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATIVE LAW OAL DOCKET NO.: CSV 01465-2017 SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE

This Settlement Agreement and General Release ("Agreement") is made and entered into between Victor Zamora ("Zamora" or "Appellant"), Newark Council 21 ("Union") and the City of Newark ("City" or "Respondent") (Zamora, the Union and the City are collectively referred to hereinafter as the "Parties"). The Parties herein have voluntarily agreed to resolve all disputed matters arising from Zamora's removal from the City's Department of Neighborhood and Recreational Services ("NRS") on or about September 30, 2016.

In consideration of the promises contained herein, the parties have agreed to resolve all issues and herein referenced as follows:

1. Zamora hereby retires and resigns from his position with the City effective February 28, 2017. The City agrees Zamora's records will reflect a retirement effective date of March 1, 2017. Zamora's records will also reflect an approved leave of absence without pay from January 1, 2017 through February 28, 2017.
2. Zamora is entitled to all contractual and City benefits stemming from retirement, including but not limited to payments for accrued vacation leave and sick leave.
3. Zamora agrees he will receive payment of fourteen (14) vacation days. He also agrees pursuant to City policy and contractual agreement between the Union and the City, he is not entitled to any payment for accrued sick leave.

4. In consideration for the Settlement and General Release and other undertakings contained herein, the City agrees to pay to Zamora, as full and complete settlement and final satisfaction of all of Zamora's claims, Zamora's salary at the time that he was removed from NRS on or about September 30, 2016 through December 31, 2016.

5. The City will make its best efforts to ensure any payment that is due pursuant to this Agreement is made within forty-five (45) days from the date of signature from all parties.

6. In consideration of Zamora's retirement and resignation, the City shall withdraw the disciplinary charges and reverse Zamora's removal from the City's NRS on or about September 30, 2016.

7. In consideration for the payment, Zamora agrees to release and give up any and all claims and rights which he may have against the City, including those of which he is not aware and those not mentioned in this release.

8. Zamora agrees to release any and all claims of any type, nature or description, actions, causes of action, demands, rights, damages, costs, loss of service, expenses and compensation whatsoever, which the releasor now has or which may hereinafter accrue on account of or in any way arising out of any and all known and unknown, foreseen and unforeseen damages which allegedly occurred beginning on or about October 18, 2016 and which is the subject matter of the appeal filed in the Office of Administrative Law, Docket No. CSV 01465-2017.

9. Zamora further waives any and all rights and/or claims which he has and/or may have to: 1) A hearing on the merits of the removal and/or this Agreement; 2) To challenge the removal and/or this Agreement; 3) Initiate and/or partake in Grievance procedures; and/or 4) Initiate, pursue and/or partake in any and all litigation against the City in State, Federal and/or Administrative Courts.

10. Zamora and the Union each further agree that there is no consideration due Zamora, his counsel (if applicable) and/or the Union, including, but not limited to, any claim for back pay and/or counsel fees, arising from his employment and/or the execution of this Agreement, except as otherwise provided herein.

11. Zamora and the Union each agree not to appeal the terms and conditions of this Agreement to any agency or court, including, but not limited to the New Jersey Public Employee Relations Commission, the New Jersey Civil Service Commission and/or to any other New Jersey State Court or agency and/or to any United States Court or agency.

12. Zamora and the Union further acknowledge that this Agreement further precludes either of them from bringing any type of legal or contractual action in any forum including, but not limited to, filing a Complaint in New Jersey Superior Court or United States Federal Court, filing any type of complaint with the City, Essex County, the State of New Jersey or the United States of America, and filing a grievance and/or requesting arbitration, that is in any manner grounded, based upon, or related to this disciplinary action, , except to the extent necessary to enforce the terms of this Agreement, or as required by law.

13. The Parties are bound by this Agreement. Anyone and/or entity who succeeds to the Parties' rights and/or responsibilities, such as heirs, the executor/administrator of Zamora's estate, and purchasers and/or assignees of Zamora's, the City's and/or the Union's interests shall also be bound.

14. This Agreement shall not constitute a precedent or practice in any matter involving the City or other City employees.

15. Zamora and the Union further acknowledge and agree that this Agreement is based upon a unique set, combination and weighing of factors and shall not be used and/or construed as precedent and/or to in any way dictate, bind, limit and/or even guide the decisions that the City may make in future and/or currently pending disciplinary matters and/or labor negotiations.

16. Zamora and the Union each agree this Agreement shall not be offered, used or considered as evidence in any proceeding of any type against or involving the City, except to the extent necessary to enforce the terms of this Agreement, or as required by law.

17. This Agreement contains the sole and entire agreement between Zamora, the Union and the City, and fully supersedes any and all prior agreements and understandings pertaining to the subject matter hereof. Zamora specifically represents and acknowledges in executing this Agreement that he has not relied upon any representation or statement by the City, or City's counsel or representatives, with regard to the subject matter of this Agreement, which is not set forth herein. No other promises or agreements shall be binding unless in writing, signed by all the Parties, and expressly stated to be a modification of the Agreement.

18. Zamora agrees and acknowledges that he has been fully and fairly represented by his Attorney and the Union in this matter, and he is satisfied with that representation and with the terms and conditions of this Agreement.

19. Zamora agrees and acknowledges that he has had a full opportunity to review this Agreement with his Attorney and/or Union representative and he enters into same knowingly and voluntarily.

20. The Parties agree that if any portion of this Agreement is deemed unenforceable, the remainder of the Settlement Agreement shall be fully enforceable.

21. By signing this Settlement Agreement, Zamora states that:

    a. He has read it;

    b. He understands it and knows that he is giving up important rights, and any and all other federal and state employment related causes of any kind, not including potential Worker's Compensation claims, but including but not limited to The New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, The New Jersey Equal Pay Law, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, The Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967, as amended, The Conscientious Employee Protection Act, The Americans With Disabilities Act of 1990, the Fair Labor Standards Act, and any other constitutional, statutory or common law suit, attorney fees and costs of this proceeding, and any public policy of the United States, the State of New Jersey, or any other State;

c. He accepts everything contained in this Agreement;
d. His Attorney and Union representative negotiated this Agreement in his presence and with his knowledge and consent;
e. He consulted with his Attorney prior to executing this Agreement;
f. He has signed this Settlement Agreement knowingly and voluntarily.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Parties have caused this Settlement Agreement to be executed.

Dear Mr. Rudolph and Ms. Pinkas:

The appeals of William Green, a Motor Vehicle Operator 1 at Woodbine Developmental Center, Department of Human Services, of his 10 working day, 20 working day and 20 working day suspensions, on charges, were before Administrative Law Judge Lisa James-Beavers (ALJ), who issued her initial decisions on October 4, 2017 indicating that the parties had reached settlements.

The Civil Service Commission (Commission) received these matters on October 5, 2017. Accordingly, the time frame for the Commission to make its final decisions expires on November 19, 2017. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. In this regard, if the Commission could not decide these matters by that date, it would normally secure initial 45-day extensions of time to render its final decisions. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. However, currently one of the three Commission members must be recused from participating on these particular matters, thus, there is not a quorum of members available to vote. Until such a quorum is secured, or, in other words, until an additional Commission member is seated, these matters cannot be decided by the Commission. We have no timeframe as to when that may occur. Based on this information, and given the fact that these matters were settled by the parties and a review of the settlements by staff indicate that they are in compliance with Civil Service law and rules, there does not appear to be a basis to further delay a final disposition in these matters. Thus, the Commission has determined not to seek any extensions on these matters and, per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c), they are to be considered deemed adopted, effective November 20, 2017.

Sincerely,

Nicholas F. Angiulo
Deputy Director

SETTLEMENT

OAL DKT. NO. CSV 10785-17

AGENCY DKT. NO. 2018-97

IN THE MATTER OF WILLIAM GREEN,
DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES,
WOODBINE DEVELOPMENTAL CENTER.

Timothy Rudolph, President, Local 195 IFPTE, for appellant pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-5.4(a)(6)

Anita Pinkas, Director of Employee Relations, for respondent pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-5.4(a)(2)

Record Closed: September 28, 2017 Decided: October 4, 2017

BEFORE LISA JAMES-BEAVERS, ALJ:

This matter concerns the appeal of William Green from the action of the respondent/appointing authority. Upon receipt of the appellant's hearing request, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for determination as a contested case on July 31, 2017, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

As a result of a settlement conference, the parties agreed to a settlement of all issues in dispute and have prepared a settlement agreement, which is attached and fully incorporated herein.

I have reviewed the record and terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures on the settlement agreement.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy.

I CONCLUDE that this matter is no longer a contested case before the Office of Administrative Law. It is ORDERED that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

3.	E.1.2	20 days suspension	Not yet served

B. The Appellant William Green withdraws his/her appeal and request for a hearing, and the Respondent Department of Human Services agrees that the following result will occur with regard to each charge:

	Charge	Disposition	New Penalty
1.	C.9.1	Sustained	Official Reprimand →
2.	C.7.1 + C.25.1	Sustained	5 days suspension
3.	E.1.2	Sustained	5 days suspension

4. _____

5. _____

C. The parties have agreed to the following:

For Suspensions, Complete the Following:

1. To date, appellant has been suspended for a total of 0 days based upon the above charges.

2. The total number of days of back pay, if any, to be paid by the appointing authority to the Appellant is as follows: None. Appellant shall be scheduled to serve 10 days suspension.

3. Any other days from the time of last suspension day until return to work shall be treated as follows: N/A.

For Removals, Complete the Following

1. To date, appellant has served a total of _____ days without pay based upon the above charges.

2. The total number of days of back pay, if any, to be paid by the appointing authority to the Appellant is as follows: _____.

3. Any other days from the time of last suspension day until reinstatement shall be treated as follows: _____.

which shall be effective _____[date]. Any days from the effective date of removal to the effective date of resignation shall be treated as follows:

The parties acknowledge that under N.J.A.C. 17:1-2.18, no pension or seniority time may be credited for periods for which the employee is not paid by the employer.

D. Department of Human Services (Respondent) shall amend Appellant's personnel records to conform to the terms of the settlement. All internal records of the Department of Human Services will be kept intact. Nothing herein shall preclude the Department from releasing information on this matter to anyone who has a release executed by appellant or as consistent with the law. Any information regarding the underlying charges will be provided to the Public Employees Retirement System pursuant to N.J.S.A. 43:1-3.3 as amended effective April 14, 2007.

E. Appellant waives all other claims against Respondent Department with regard to this matter, including any award of back pay, counsel fees or other monetary relief, except as may otherwise be provided herein.

F. Except for the assessment of William Green 's disciplinary record in any subsequent personnel disciplinary hearing, nothing in this agreement shall be deemed to be an admission of liability on behalf of either party. This agreement shall not constitute a precedent in matters involving other employees.

G. Appellant waives all claims, suits or actions, whether known, unknown, vested or contingent, civil, criminal or administrative, in law or equity against the State of New Jersey, the New Jersey Department of Human Services, their employees, agents, or assigns, including but not limited to those which have been or could have been made or prosecuted on account of any conduct of any party occurring at any time with respect to the events, information or disputes giving rise to this action up to the date of this agreement, including, but not limited to, all claims under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Civil Rights Act of 1991, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Family Leave Act, the Family and Medical Leave Act, the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, the Equal Pay Act, the Conscientious Employee Protection Act, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, Title 11A - the Civil Service Act, the Older Workers Benefits Protection Act, the Occupational Safety and Health Act, the Public Employee

Occupational Safety and Health Act, the New Jersey Smoking Act, New Jersey wages and hours law, public works statutes, unemployment compensation laws, disability benefits laws, the United States Constitution, the New Jersey Constitution, any workers compensation or common law claims and any contract express or implied. This waiver includes all claims involving any continuing effects of actions or practices which arose prior to the date of this Settlement Agreement and bars the use in any way of any past action or practice in any subsequent claims, except pending workers' compensation claims.

H. The parties agree that if any portion of this Settlement Agreement is deemed unenforceable, the remainder of this Settlement Agreement shall be fully enforceable.

I. Appellant shall be referred and scheduled to attend Employee Advisory Servd and is required to follow all recommendations.

J. Appellant understands he must conduct himself at all times in a professional and respectful manner. Any concerns he may have should be directed to his supervisor or through the proper chain of command.

I. This agreement will become effective only if approved by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION. Any disapproval by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION shall not interfere with the rights of either party to pursue the matter further.

WOODBINE DEVELOPMENTAL CENTER.

Timothy Rudolph, President, Local 195 IFPTE, for appellant pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-5.4(a)(6)

Anita Pinkas, Director of Employee Relations, for respondent pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-5.4(a)(2)

Record Closed: September 28, 2017 Decided: October 4, 2017

BEFORE LISA JAMES-BEAVERS, ALJ:

This matter concerns the appeal of William Green from the action of the respondent/appointing authority. Upon receipt of the appellant's hearing request, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for determination as a contested case on July 31, 2017, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

As a result of a settlement conference, the parties agreed to a settlement of all issues in dispute and have prepared a settlement agreement, which is attached and fully incorporated herein.

I have reviewed the record and terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures on the settlement agreement.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy.

I CONCLUDE that this matter is no longer a contested case before the Office of Administrative Law. It is ORDERED that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY

In the Matter of Neal Armstrong
Cumberland County,
Department of Corrections

CSC DKT. NO. 2016-1367
OAL DKT. NO. CSV 199-16

DECISION OF THE CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

ISSUED: OCTOBER 5, 2017 BW

The appeal of Neal Armstrong, County Correction Officer, Cumberland County, Department of Corrections, 10 working day suspension, on charges, was heard by Administrative Law Judge John S. Kennedy, who rendered his initial decision on August 25, 2017 reversing the 10 working day suspension. No exceptions were filed.

Having considered the record and the Administrative Law Judge's initial decision, and having made an independent evaluation of the record, the Civil Service Commission (Commission), at its meeting on October 4, 2017, accepted and adopted the Findings of Fact and Conclusion as contained in the attached Administrative Law Judge's initial decision.

In adopting the initial decision, the Commission notes that it is not in any way persuaded by the appellant's contentions regarding "inattentional blindness." Regardless, the Administrative Law Judge's findings and conclusions are otherwise supported in the record.

Since the penalty has been reversed, the appellant is entitled to 10 days of back pay, benefits, and seniority, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.10. Further, since the appellant has prevailed, he is entitled to counsel fees pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.12.

This decision resolves the merits of the dispute between the parties concerning the disciplinary charges and the penalty imposed by the appointing authority. However, in light of the Appellate Division's decision, Dolores Phillips v. Department of Corrections, Docket No. A-5581-01T2F (App. Div. Feb. 26, 2003), the Commission's decision will not become final until any outstanding issues concerning counsel fees are finally resolved.

ORDER

The Civil Service Commission finds that the action of the appointing authority in suspending the appellant was not justified. The Commission therefore reverses that action and grants the appeal of Neal Armstrong. The Commission further orders that appellant be granted 10 days back pay, benefits, and seniority. The amount of back pay awarded is to be reduced and mitigated as provided for in N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.10. Proof of income earned shall be submitted by or on behalf of the appellant to the appointing authority within 30 days of issuance of this decision.

The Commission further orders that counsel fees be awarded to the attorney for appellant pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.12. An affidavit of services in support of reasonable counsel fees shall be submitted by or on behalf of the appellant to the appointing authority within 30 days of issuance of this decision. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2.12, the parties shall make a good faith effort to resolve any dispute as to the amount of counsel fees.

The parties must inform the Commission, in writing, if there is any dispute as to counsel fees within 60 days of issuance of this decision. In the absence of such notice, the Commission will assume that all outstanding issues have been amicably resolved by the parties and this decision shall become a final administrative determination pursuant to R. 2:2-3(a)(2). After such time, any further review of this matter shall be pursued in the Superior Court of New Jersey, Appellate Division.

INITIAL DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. CSV 199-16
AGENCY DKT. NO. 2016-1367

IN THE MATTER OF NEAL ARMSTRONG,
CUMBERLAND COUNTY
DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS.

Daniel Rosenberg, Esq., for Neal Armstrong, appellant (Daniel M. Rosenberg & Associates, LLC, attorneys)

Theodore E. Baker, Esq., County Counsel, for Cumberland County Department of Corrections, respondent

Record Closed: July 14, 2017 Decided: August 25, 2017

BEFORE JOHN S. KENNEDY, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Respondent, Cumberland County Department of Corrections (hereinafter Appointing Authority), suspended appellant Neal Armstrong for ten working days. The Appointing Authority alleges that appellant, a corrections officer, falsified an official document by not properly documenting the use of force on an inmate by another officer after an incident that occurred in the Cumberland County Jail on February 25, 2015.

Appellant was charged with violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12), "Other Sufficient Charges; Falsification of an Official Document" (J-8).

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On July 15, 2015, the Appointing Authority issued a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action setting forth the charges and specifications made against appellant. After a departmental hearing on September 9, 2015, the Appointing Authority issued a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action (J-8) on September 16, 2015, sustaining the charges in the Preliminary Notice and assessing a suspension of ten working days. Appellant appealed, and the matter was filed at the Office of Administrative Law on December 30, 2015, for hearing as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to 15 and 14F-1 to 13. The matter was heard on April 24, 2017. The parties submitted post-hearing brief and the record closed on July 14, 2017.

Neal Armstrong has been employed by the Appointing Authority as a Corrections Officer since 2008. He received training during the first three weeks of his employment but has never received training on how to write a use of force report. He drafts five to ten use of force reports every day. His understanding is that he is only responsible for documenting his actions and not force used by other officers. He has never before documented another officer's conduct in a use of force report and prior to this February 25, 2015 incident, has never been advised that he was incorrectly drafting his use of force reports. Armstrong did not prepare an incident report for the incident on February 25, 2015.

On February 25, 2015, Armstrong was called to C dorm in the old jail for assistance with a fight between inmates. Upon arrival, one inmate was observed to have visible signs of having been involved in a physical altercation. This inmate was handcuffed and taken to the medical wing. The other inmate involved in the fight was in the shower. Armstrong ordered him out of the shower and noticed his face was bleeding and swollen. Several other officers were also called to assist. The inmate took his time coming out of the shower and called the officers names. Although the inmate's bunk was inspected and no weapons were found, another inmate handed him something before he was handcuffed and taken to the medical wing. The inmate initially refused to comply when instructed to place his hands behind his back to be cuffed. Armstrong was standing in front of the inmate and was head butted by the inmate. The officers took him to the ground, handcuffed him and escorted him to the medical wing without further incident. Approximately ten minutes later, Armstrong prepared his use of force report (J-3). J-3 makes no reference to the head butt and only describes the actions taken by Armstrong and not the other officers involved.

A video of the incident was recorded and entered into evidence (J-1). It is clear from a review of the surveillance video that another officer struck the inmate during the altercation. There were a total of four officers involved in the incident and no one told Armstrong that the other officer struck the inmate. The inmate made a complaint to the Cumberland County Prosecutor's office and they investigated. The Prosecutor's Office declined to prosecute three of the four officers involved, including appellant (J-5).

When Armstrong prepared the use of force report, he followed the order of his supervisor and training officer to "write what you did". This has always been the instruction he has received when drafting use of force reports. He did not lie to protect the other officer and asserts that he did not observe the other officer strike the inmate. Appellant was aware at the time of the incident that there were surveillance cameras in C wing and he knew that the incident was being recorded. He did not view the surveillance video until his interview at the prosecutor's office. It was not until he viewed the video that he became aware that the other officer struck the inmate.

FINDINGS OF FACT

The record in this matter includes documentary evidence and the testimony of the individuals who prepared the documents or had knowledge of the incidents they described. After carefully reviewing the exhibits and documentary evidence presented and after having had the opportunity to listen to testimony and observe the demeanor of the witness, I FIND the following to be the relevant and credible FACTS in this matter:

On February 25, 2015, Armstrong was called to C dorm in the old jail for assistance with a fight between inmates. Upon arrival, one inmate was observed to have visible signs of having been involved in a physical altercation. This inmate was handcuffed and taken to the medical wing. The officers took him to the ground, handcuffed him and escorted him to the medical wing without further incident. Approximately ten minutes later, Armstrong prepared his use of force report, makes no reference to the head butt and only describes the actions taken by Armstrong and not the other officers involved. Armstrong did not prepare an incident report. It is clear from a review of the surveillance video that another officer struck the inmate during the altercation. There were a total of four officers involved in the incident. The Cumberland County Prosecutor's office declined to prosecute three of the four officers involved, including appellant.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

Appellant's rights and duties are governed by laws including the Civil Service Act and accompanying regulations. A civil service employee who commits a wrongful act related to his or her employment may be subject to discipline, and that discipline, depending upon the incident complained of, may include a suspension or removal. N.J.S.A. 11A:1-2, 11A:2-6, 11A:2-20; N.J.A.C. 4A2-2.

The Appointing Authority shoulders the burden of establishing the truth of the allegations by preponderance of the credible evidence. Atkinson v. Parsekian, 37 N.J. 143, 149 (1962). Evidence is said to preponderate "if it establishes the reasonable probability of the fact." Jaeger v. Elizabethtown Consol. Gas Co., 124 N.J.L. 420, 423 (Sup. Ct. 1940) (citation omitted). Stated differently, the evidence must "be such as to lead a reasonably cautious mind to a given conclusion." Bornstein v. Metro. Bottling Co., 26 N.J. 263, 275 (1958); see also Loew v. Union Beach, 56 N.J. Super. 93, 104 (App. Div. 1959).

Absence of judgment alone can be sufficient to warrant termination if the employee is in a sensitive position that requires public trust in the agency's judgment. See In re Herrmann, 192 N.J. 19, 32 (2007) (DYFS worker who waved a lit cigarette lighter in a five-year-old's face was terminated, despite lack of any prior discipline).

"There is no constitutional or statutory right to a government job." State-Operated Sch. Dist. of Newark v. Gaines, 309 N.J. Super. 327, 334 (App. Div. 1998). (NOTE: Gaines had a substantial prior disciplinary history, but the case is frequently quoted as a threshold statement of civil service law.) "In addition, there is no right or reason for a government to continue employing an incompetent and inefficient individual after a showing of inability to change." Klusaritz v. Cape May County, 387 N.J. Super. 305, 317 (App. Div. 2006) (termination was the proper remedy for a county treasurer who couldn't balance the books, after the auditors tried three times to show him how).

> In reversing the MSB's insistence on progressive discipline, contrary to the wishes of the appointing authority, the Klusaritz panel stated that "[t]he [MSB's] application of progressive discipline in this context is misplaced and contrary to the public interest." The court determined that Klusaritz's prior record is "of no moment" because his lack of competence to perform the job rendered him unsuitable for the job and subject to termination by the county.

Appellant's status as a corrections officer subjects him to a higher standard of conduct than ordinary public employees. In re Phillips, 117 N.J. 567, 576-77 (1990). They represent "law and order to the citizenry and must present an image of personal integrity and dependability in order to have the respect of the public." Township of Moorestown v. Armstrong, 89 N.J. Super. 560, 566 (App. Div. 1965), certif. denied, 47 N.J. 80 (1966). Maintenance of strict discipline is important in military-like settings such as police departments, prisons and correctional facilities. Rivell v. Civil Serv. Comm'n, 115 N.J. Super. 64, 72 (App. Div.), certif. denied, 50 N.J. 269 (1971); City of Newark v.

Massey, 93 N.J. Super. 317 (App. Div. 1967). Refusal to obey orders and disrespect of authority cannot be tolerated. Cosme v. Borough of E. Newark Twp. Comm., 304 N.J. Super. 191, 199 (App. Div. 1997).

> The need for proper control over the conduct of inmates in a correctional facility and the part played by proper relationships between those who are required to maintain order and enforce discipline and the inmates cannot be doubted. We can take judicial notice that such facilities, if not properly operated, have a capacity to become "tinderboxes."

[Bowden v. Bayside State Prison, 268 N.J. Super. 301, 305-06 (App. Div. 1993), certif. denied, 135 N.J. 469 (1994).]

Appellant was charged with "Other Sufficient Charges; Falsification of an official Document," N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12)." Other sufficient cause is an offense for conduct that violates the implicit standard of good behavior that devolves upon one who stands in the public eye as an upholder of that which is morally and legally correct.

Here, the Appointing Authority asserts that on February 25, 2015, appellant completed and submitted an incident report regarding an incident involving excessive use of force on an inmate by an officer. On June 19, 2015 appellant was interviewed regarding the incident and his verbal account was not consistent with his written account.

Appellant asserts that he did not falsify his use of force report and that he did not observe the other officer strike the inmate. In support of this assertion, appellant introduced two reports from Catherine M. Barber, Ph.D. (J-9a and J-9b). These reports contend that appellant's assertion that he did not see the other officer strike the inmate is consistent with the phenomenon of inattentional blindness, a known aspect of how the human visual perceptual process works. This phenomenon, according to Dr. Barber, is the failure to consciously perceive an otherwise salient object or event when attention and expectation are otherwise engaged; in other words, it is a failure to visually experience the appearance of an object or event that is easily seen once noticed. Inattentional blindness typically occurs when attention is diverted, such as when the observer engages in an attentionally demanding task elsewhere, and does not expect the appearance of the object or event. Respondent objects to the reliance upon inattentional blindness because it is a net opinion and appellant's attention should have been focused upon the inmate. The incident occurred directly in front of him, yet he asserts that he did not see the other officer strike the inmate.

"Falsification of an official Document" is not defined in either the Cumberland County Department of Corrections Policy regarding Agency Training (J-6) or the Basic Course for County Corrections Officers prepared by the Division of Criminal Justice Police Training Commission (J-7). Falsification has been defined by Merriam Webster to be similar to misrepresentation or to give a false or misleading representation of an event, usually with an intent to deceive or be unfair. I do not FIND, nor can I CONCLUDE that appellant intentionally made a false statement in his use of Force Report. Appellant testified that he prepares five to ten Use of Force Reports each day and has never included actions of other officers. He also testified that he had always been instructed by his supervisor to "write what you did" in Use of Force Reports. This is what he did in the incident.

Respondent asserts that the deficiencies in appellant's report are serious enough to warrant a suspension. In support of this assertion, appellant relies, in part, on an unreported Appellant Division decision in the matter of Michael Biazzo, et al, Docket No. A-3537-13T1, decided September 22, 2016. In that case officers appear to have omitted information and delayed reporting an altercation involving an off-duty police officer. The ALJ in that case concluded that the appellants violated operating procedures and engaged in conduct inappropriate for an officer and neglectful of duty. In the case before me, however, Armstrong is not charged with conduct unbecoming or neglect of duty. Rather, he is charged with Other Sufficient Cause; Falsification of an Official Document.

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.5(a), an employee must be served with a PNDA setting forth the charges and statement of facts supporting the charges and afforded an opportunity for a hearing prior to the imposition of major discipline. Perhaps if appellant were charged with conduct unbecoming or neglect of duty or a violation of a specific operating procedure or rule major discipline would be warranted.

I CONCLUDE that the Appointing Authority has not met its burden of proof that appellant falsified an official document. Appellant admittedly put the bare minimum in his use of force report but there is no evidence that other use of force reports, whether written by appellant or any other corrections officer, are more comprehensive.

Appellant has been charged with violating N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12), "Other sufficient cause. Appellant's conduct was not such that he violated this standard of good behavior. As such, I CONCLUDE that the Appointing Authority has not met its burden of proof on this issue.

DISPOSITION

I CONCLUDE that the Appointing Authority has not sustained its burden of proof as to the charge of violations of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12), "Other Sufficient Cause; Falsification of an Official Document."

Based upon the foregoing, it is hereby ORDERED that the determination to suspend the appellant in this matter be and hereby is REVERSED.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, DIVISION OF APPEALS AND REGULATORY AFFAIRS, UNIT H, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, 44 South Clinton Avenue, PO Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

J-1 Confidential Settlement Agreement and General Release

J-1

CONFIDENTIAL SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE

This Confidential Settlement Agreement and General Release (the "Agreement and Release") is made by and between Lawrence Bolden (hereinafter "Bolden") and Willingboro Township (hereinafter "The Township") and/or collectively "The Parties."

BACKGROUND

WHEREAS, Bolden was employed by the Township in the capacity of a Truck Driver and has elected to resign from his position with the Township effective May 2, 2017 ("Effective Date"); and

WHEREAS, the Township has accepted Bolden's resignation as outlined above; and

WHEREAS The Parties wish to completely release and forever discharge with prejudice any and all claims or potential claims, disputes or causes of action which Bolden has or may have against the Township and/or any other Released Party (as defined in Paragraph 2.3 below);

NOW, THEREFORE, in mutual consideration of the promises and covenants that hereinafter follow, The Parties agree that Bolden's wishes to end and extinguish any existing or potential disputes that Bolden has or may have against the Township which arose on or before the "Effective Date" of this Agreement and Release, in exchange for the valuable Consideration tendered by the Township (as set forth in Paragraph 1.1 below) solely and exclusively on the terms and conditions set forth below.

TERMS

1. Consideration in Exchange for Release

1.1 In exchange for and in consideration of Bolden's promises as set forth above and below, the Township, on behalf of all Released Parties, agrees as follows:

a) The Township shall tender a payment to Bolden in the lump sum of $50,000.00. The Township shall issue the appropriate IRS Forms 1099 in connection with this payment.

Bolden agrees that, to the extent that any federal, state or local taxes may be or becomes due or payable by him as a result of any of the above payment, Bolden shall be solely responsible for paying them. Bolden further agrees that he has not relied upon any representation made by the Township or any of its representatives concerning the tax treatment of said payment. Bolden shall indemnify the Township from, and hold it harmless against, any claims made by administrative agencies or courts of competent jurisdiction for such unpaid taxes.

Releases of Bolden's Existing or Potential Disputes

2.1 Bolden agrees that the consideration set forth above is adequate and valuable in exchange for his promises herein. Bolden furthermore acknowledges and expressly agrees that he shall not be entitled to any payment or other benefit from the Township or any of the Released Parties except that which has been outlined above in Section 1 entitled "Consideration in Exchange for Release," including but not limited to any wages, severance pay, benefits or benefit contributions, retirement plans, deferred compensation plans, bonuses, commissions, or any other remuneration, and that neither the Township or any other Released Party shall ever be required to make any further payment or provide any benefit to him or any other person or entity regarding other than normal pension if found as eligible any claim, right or status he may have arising on or before the Effective Date of this Agreement and Release. Bolden expressly warrants and represents that: (1) he has not assigned any interest in any claim or potential claim released by this Agreement and Release (2) he has not filed or caused to be filed or has otherwise participated in any claims, suits, charges, or other proceedings regardless of forum against the Township or any other Released Party other than the action pending before the Office of Administrative Law under Docket Number CSV 00363-2016 S and the action pending before the New Jersey Division on Civil Rights under Docket Number EC38WM-65704, and (3) he fully indemnifies and holds the Township and the Released Parties harmless from any such claims or damages, including attorney's fees, fines, costs, liquidated or punitive damages, asserted or awarded against the Township or any of the Released Parties where such claim was assigned by him or was otherwise based on his hiring, employment or separation from employment with the Township or any Released Party.

2.2 Bolden acknowledges that he has not been provided any legal or other advice by the Township, the Released Parties or anyone on behalf of the Township and/or the Released Parties including but not limited to legal counsel or advice regarding the tax or withholding consequences of this Agreement or Release, or the consideration he may receive hereunder, pursuant to any federal, state or local tax or withholding laws or regulations. Bolden also agrees to make no individual or class claims against the Township or other Released Party for payment of any taxes, including costs, attorney's fees or applicable interest or penalties.

2.3 In exchange for the benefits described in Section 1.1 above, Bolden, for full consideration as recited above, forever waives, releases, discharges and gives up any claim, demand, cause of action or damage that he, his spouse, family members, heirs, executors, administrators, successors and/or assigns may have against the Township, its employees, its managers, its elected officials, and its appointed officials, as well as all of their employee benefits plans and the trustees, fiduciaries, administrators and parties-in-interest of those plans, and any of the present or past employees, managers, elected officials, appointed officials, officers, directors, administrators, shareholders, agents, attorneys, insurance carriers and contractors of each of the foregoing person(s) or entity/entities along with the predecessors, successors, and assigns of each of them and including their families, estates, and executors (together "the Released Parties" as used throughout this Agreement and Release), based upon his recruitment, hiring, employment or separation from that employment, including but not limited to: any waivable claims for salary, bonuses, commissions, severance pay, vacation pay or any benefits under the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, 29 U.S.C. 201, et seq., ("FLSA"), the ~~Employee Retirement Income~~ other than retirement/pension, liability for which is not effected by this agreement

Security Act of 1974, as amended, 29 U.S.C. 1001, et seq. ("ERISA"), the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act, 29 U.S.C. §§ 1161 et seq ("COBRA"), the New Jersey Discrimination in Wages Law, N.J.S.A. 34:11-56.1, et seq.; the New Jersey Wage Payment Law, N.J.S.A. 34:11-4.1, et seq.; the New Jersey Wage and Hour Law, N.J.S.A. 34:11-56a, et seq., the New Jersey Family Leave Act, N.J.S.A. 34:11B-1, et seq., any waivable claims of harassment, discrimination or retaliation based upon, inter alia, race, color, ethnicity, national origin, sexual orientation, ancestry, religion, marital status, age, sex, gender, citizenship status, handicap, medical condition or disability under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended, 42 U.S.C. 2000(e), et seq. ("Title VII"), the Civil Rights Act of 1991, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967, 29 U.S.C.S. § 621 et seq., the Americans with Disabilities Act, 42 U.S.C. §12101, et seq. ("ADA"), the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2001, 15 U.S.C. §§7201, et seq., the Civil Rights Act of 1991, 42 U.S.C. §§ 1981, 1983, 1985, 1986 and 1988, or any other federal, state, or local law prohibiting discrimination, harassment or retaliation in employment, including but not limited to the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, N.J.S.A. 10:5-12, et seq. ("NJLAD"); any claims of breach of implied or express contract, breach of promise, misrepresentation, negligence, fraud, estoppel, defamation, intentional or negligent infliction of emotional distress, violation of public policy, wrongful or constructive discharge, or any other tort or claim, including but not limited to claims arising under the New Jersey Temporary Disability Benefits Law, N.J.S.A. 43:21-25, et seq., including as amended by the New Jersey Paid Family Leave Act; the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act, N.J.S.A. 34:19-1, et seq., the New Jersey Family Leave Act, N.J.S.A. 34:11B-1, et seq.; the New Jersey Millville Dallas Airmotive Plant Job Loss Notification Act, N.J.S.A. 34:21-2, et seq. and the New Jersey Civil Rights Act, N.J.S.A. 10:6-1, et seq., and any and all other claims for costs, fees or other expenses, specifically including but not limited to attorney's fees, expenses and expert fees; and all claims under any other federal, state, or local law, regulation, ordinance or judicial decision, or under the United States or New Jersey Constitutions, relating to any alleged violation of public policy, wrongful, retaliatory or constructive discharge, non-payment of wages, retaliation, assault, battery, defamation, or any other statutory, common law, or employment-related claim or tort. Bolden's release expressly includes a waiver of all claims existing on or before the date he signs this Agreement and Release as well as those he may not know about, and specifically includes the unconditional waiver of the right to proceed with any discovery concerning any such claim in any future litigation or proceeding between Bolden and the Township or other Released Party. Bolden acknowledges and affirms that he has been fully paid any wages owed to her including any overtime wages, and also acknowledges and affirms that as of the date of his execution of this Agreement and Release that he has been afforded all required periods of family or medical leave as well as any right to reinstatement upon conclusion of any leave taken.

2.4 Notwithstanding the release and waivers set forth in Paragraph 2.3 above, Bolden acknowledges that this Agreement and Release in no way waives or limits his right to take part in any investigation conducted by a state, federal, or local government agency. Nonetheless, Bolden understands and acknowledges that by signing this Agreement and Release, he has completely waived his right to receive monetary damages or other individual relief in connection with any charge he may file with any administrative agency that relates to a claim waived under this Agreement and Release and, if he is awarded monetary damages, hereby unconditionally assigns to the Township and Released Parties any right or interest he may have to receive such relief or damage.

3. Confidentiality

3.1 Bolden promises and agrees that he has not and will not disclose the terms of this Agreement and Release, that he received any payments from the Township or any allegations of alleged wrongdoing by the Township or any other Released Party, to any person or entity except (1) his attorney, (2) his professional tax advisors, the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") or other taxing authorities, (3) his spouse and/or immediate family; or (4) in response to a formal order from any judicial, governmental, regulatory, or self-regulatory agency or organization having competent jurisdiction. Bolden further agrees that if he does disclose the terms of this Agreement and Release to his spouse, immediate family, attorney, or to his professional tax advisors, he will insure that they will not further disclose the terms of this Agreement and Release. Bolden understands and agrees that he may, pursuant to subpoena or other legal process, be asked to provide testimony, documents and other information regarding his former employment with the Township. If Bolden receives a subpoena, formal order or other legal process from any judicial, governmental, regulatory, or self-regulatory agency or other organization as set forth in Paragraph 2.4 above, Bolden agrees to provide the Township, c/o Eric Berry – Township Manager, and/or his successor, with prompt notice of any such subpoena or process, hereby consents to the Township's intervention in any such proceeding to prevent the requested disclosure, and to cooperate with the Township in seeking to avoid the disclosure or, if ordered by the court, by giving truthful and complete testimony and information in response to such subpoena or legal process.

3.2 Notwithstanding anything else contained in this Agreement and Release, Bolden understands and agrees that the Township and the Released Parties will remain free to internally communicate, to those with a business or governmental need to know, any and all information concerning his employment history with the Township.

4. Reference-Related Communication

Bolden understands and acknowledges that, should he or any prospective employer wish to make any inquiries of the Township or any other Released Party into his employment history with the Township ("Reference Inquiries"), such Reference Inquiries must be directed exclusively to Eric Berry - Township Manager, and/or his successor. Bolden further agrees that the Township retains the absolute right, in its sole discretion, not to respond to Reference Inquiries in any other form. Bolden agrees that in the event the Township responds to Reference Inquiries properly directed to the Township Manager, the Township Manager will provide only Bolden's (1) dates of employment with the Township; and (2) his last position title. Bolden voluntarily consents to the Township's response to Reference Inquiries, and fully indemnifies and holds the Township and the Released Parties harmless from any and all claims, causes of action, damages and attorney's fees/costs in any way related to the Township's proper response to Reference Inquiries as described in this Section.

5. No Admission of Liability

Bolden also agrees that he is barred from seeking to introduce this Agreement and Release into evidence in any federal, state, or administrative proceeding or during any arbitration because this Agreement and Release is not in any way an admission by the Township or the Released Parties that they breached any legal duty owed to him, or are liable to him in any way. Bolden acknowledges that, by settling any and all actual or potential disputes and entering into this Agreement and Release, the Township and the Released Parties do not admit that they owe him any money, breached any duty they owed to him, have done anything wrong, or have treated him unlawfully or unfairly in any way. In fact, Bolden acknowledges that the Township and the Released Parties specifically deny that they have violated or abridged any federal, state, or local law, regulation or ordinance, or any right or obligation that they owe or may have owed to him.

No findings of fact have been made or issued by any administrative agency or court of law, and Bolden agrees that he is not the prevailing party in this cause of action involving the Township or the Released Parties.

6. Entire Agreement

6.1 Bolden also warrants and agrees that this Agreement and Release constitutes the entire agreement between himself and the Township or any other Released Party. Bolden understands and acknowledges that no other promise or agreements have been made to or with him or with any other person or entity on his behalf other than those set forth herein, and that there is no written or oral understanding or agreement between Bolden and the Township or any other Released Party which is not specifically recited or referenced herein. In deciding to sign this Agreement and Release, Bolden has not relied on any statement by anyone associated with the Township or any other Released Party that is not specifically and expressly set forth in this Agreement and Release. In fact, Bolden specifically acknowledges that he had the opportunity to review this Agreement and Release with his attorney prior to executing same.

7. Severability and Construction of Terms

Bolden agrees that the terms of this Agreement and Release are severable, and that if any provision of this Agreement and Release (other than the General Releases in Paragraph 2.3 above) is held to be illegal, invalid or unenforceable, that provision shall not be a part of this Agreement and Release but all other terms shall remain in full force and effect at the sole option of the Township. The legality, validity and enforceability of the remaining provisions of this Agreement and Release shall not be affected by a determination that any provision of this Agreement and Release (other than the General Releases in Paragraph 2.3 above) is illegal, invalid or unenforceable. The parties also agree that because Bolden was given an opportunity to be represented by counsel of his own choosing at his own cost to negotiate this Agreement and Release, the terms of this Agreement and Release shall not be construed against the Township or the Released Parties in any respect.

8. Assignment

This Assignment and Release shall not be assigned by Bolden but it shall be binding upon his heirs, executors, administrators, agents, and legal representatives. This Agreement shall be freely assignable by the Township without restriction, and shall be deemed automatically assigned by the Township with Bolden's consent. This Agreement and Release shall be binding upon, and shall inure to the benefit of, the Township's successors and assigns.

9. Governing Law

This Agreement is governed by, and shall be construed and enforced, in all respects, in accordance with the laws of the State of New Jersey, exclusive of any choice of law rules. Any dispute concerning this Agreement and Release shall be brought in, and the parties hereby consent to the personal jurisdiction of, the Superior Court of New Jersey

10. Acknowledgement

Bolden acknowledges that (1) he has carefully read this Agreement and Release; (2) he has had the opportunity to have his attorney explain the contents of the terms of this Agreement to him; (3) he fully understands what this Agreement and Release means; (4) he is physically and emotionally competent and of sound mind to execute this Agreement and Release; and (5) he is signing this Agreement and Release knowingly and voluntarily, of his own free will, act and deed.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, of sound mind and intending to be forever legally bound hereby, the parties have executed this Confidential Settlement Agreement and General Release, being ten (10) pages in length, and on the date(s) set forth below.

I am the Deputy Director in charge of this agency's hearing unit. We have received the settlement regarding Lawrence Bolden from the Office of Administrative Law. However, prior to forwarding it to the Civil Service Commission for acknowledgment, clarification is required.

Specifically, the settlement indicates that Mr. Bolden agrees to resign his position effective May 2, 2017 in exchange for, inter alia, a $50,000 lump sum payment. However, the settlement does not reflect how to record the time period from his original September 23, 2015 removal date to his May 2, 2017 resignation date. Before the matter can be acknowledged by the Commission, we require all periods of time to be accounted for in an employee's personnel record. In this regard, is that time period to be recorded as an approved leave of absence without pay, or something else?

Please let me know the intention of the parties as soon as possible. An e-mail reply is sufficient so long as agreed upon by the parties.

In the Matter of Thomas Caraccio,
Hudson County

CSC Docket No. 2016-4060
OAL Docket No. CSR 07931-16

FINAL ADMINISTRATIVE ACTION
OF THE
CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

ISSUED: OCT 19 2017 (DASV)

The appeal of Thomas Caraccio, a County Correction Officer with Hudson County, of his removal, effective May 13, 2016, on charges, was heard by Administrative Law Judge Ellen S. Bass (ALJ), who rendered her initial decision on September 5, 2017. Exceptions were filed on behalf of the appellant, and cross exceptions were filed on behalf of the appointing authority.

Having considered the record and the ALJ's initial decision, and having made an independent evaluation of the record, the Civil Service Commission (Commission), at its meeting on October 4, 2017, accepted and adopted the Findings of Fact and Conclusions as contained in the initial decision and the recommendation of the ALJ to uphold the appellant's removal.

DISCUSSION

The appellant was served with a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action, removing him from employment on charges of incompetency, inefficiency or failure to perform duties; insubordination; conduct unbecoming a public employee; neglect of duty; and other sufficient cause. Specifically, the appointing authority asserted that the appellant committed a willful act of insubordination by failing to comply with verbal and written orders from Kevin Dille, a County Correction Sergeant, to complete all of his outstanding Power Directive Management System (Power DMS) assignments by the end of his shift on September 27, 2015. The appointing authority alleged that while the appellant completed most of his assignments by 9:30 a.m. on September 26, 2015, the appellant failed to sign two documents, as required, until he was ordered to do so by John Geoghegan, a County Correction Lieutenant, on September 28, 2015. Upon the appellant's appeal to the Commission, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for a hearing as a contested case.

In the initial decision, the ALJ set forth that Power DMS is an electronic system which informs staff of policy adoptions and revisions. It also serves to train staff on the performance of their duties and as an e-mail system to allow staff to communicate with each other. In 2012, a revised "Written Directive System" policy was issued that all employees were to log into Power DMS "preferably at the beginning of his/her tour, on each scheduled work days." Employees were to digitally sign for each document which was posted on the site within 10 days of issuance of the document. If a directive was not understood by the employee, the policy indicates that the employee should contact his or her immediate supervisor for clarification. The ALJ found that the appellant received and reviewed this policy. However, the record revealed that the appellant, as well as many other officers, did not comply with signing posted documents within the required time period. As a result, Geoghegan had a protocol in place for follow-up with noncompliant officers. In the present case, Geoghegan delegated the task to Dille, who was not the appellant's regular supervisor, to follow-up with the appellant as to his compliance with the policy. On Saturday, September 26, 2015, by way of verbal order and written memorandum, Dille advised the appellant that he must complete outstanding assignments in the Power DMS by the end of his shift the next day. The appellant had eight outstanding assignments, which included documents to review, courses to take, and messages to read. The appellant completed six of the assignments, but did not acknowledge that he received and reviewed the policy on body armor nor complete an assignment regarding "GPS Programs Violations and Escapes." On Monday, Geoghegan discovered that the appellant did not complete the two assignments and contacted the appellant. The appellant indicated that he intended to call Geoghegan because he was unclear as to whether the two policies applied to him. Geoghegan told him that he was required to complete all eight assignments, which he then completed by noon that day. Thereafter, disciplinary charges were sought against the appellant for his untimely completion of the two assignments. At the OAL, the appellant "implied that retaliation was behind the decision to discipline him for this small infraction."

However, the ALJ found the appellant's testimony "not [to] hold together" and his excuses for noncompliance were unpersuasive. The ALJ indicated that the appellant had more than one opportunity to raise questions regarding his assignments to Geoghegan and Dille. Additionally, some of the six assignments he completed did not apply to his daily duties but yet he timely completed them. Thus, the ALJ determined that the appellant "willfully and knowingly failed to comply with the order." Moreover, the ALJ concluded that the appellant's failure to complete the two Power DMS assignments rose to insubordination, neglect of duty, and unbecoming conduct. The ALJ did not find persuasive evidence that the charges against the appellant were motivated by anti-union animus or that the appointing authority was "out to get him" given that the appellant was successful in a prior removal attempt. The ALJ noted that the prior removal was irrelevant as to whether the appellant was guilty of the present charges as that removal action "rose and fell on in its own merits."

Regarding the penalty, the ALJ reviewed the appellant's disciplinary history which revealed the following infractions: a three-day suspension in March 2006, a two-day suspension in July 2006, a three-day suspension in May 2010, a fine in May 2010, a fine in November 2011, a 20 working day suspension in January 2012, and a 120 working day suspension and demotion in December 2014. Based on the foregoing, the ALJ recommended upholding the removal. The ALJ stated that over 10 years, the appointing authority had attempted to redirect the appellant's conduct by steadily increasing the level of discipline. However, the appellant failed to comply with the rules of his workplace. Therefore, the penalty of removal was deemed appropriate.

In his exceptions, the appellant asserts that the ALJ's initial decision should be rejected, since the ALJ ignored and/or mischaracterized facts as to the appointing authority's burden of proof and her credibility determinations. Specifically, the appellant argues that the evidence presented cannot substantiate that he violated Civil Service law and rules by "seeking clarification with his immediate supervisor prior to acknowledging two policies." Rather, he alleges that the appointing authority violated the Civil Service Act in its "continued attempt to arbitrarily dismiss" him from employment. The appellant notes that the ALJ restricted the testimony of two appointing authority directors relating to anti-union activities, union leadership, and the appellant. He also contends that the ALJ "turned a blind eye" to Geoghegan's interactions with the appellant regarding union issues.

Moreover, the appellant maintains that the ALJ "was shockingly silent" regarding the credibility of Geoghegan. The ALJ ignored that Geoghegan attempted to place blame on Dille, asserting that it was Dille who brought the appellant's alleged noncompliance to his attention when in fact the charges were sought by Geoghegan. The appellant states that the "credibility issue is compounded by Dille's false report." In that regard, the ALJ noted that the report erroneously indicated that Dille reviewed the Power DMS list and noticed the appellant's noncompliance. Further, the appellant takes exception to the finding that Geoghegan had a "routine protocol" regarding Power DMS assignments. In that regard, the ALJ failed to address Geoghegan's lack of credibility in justifying why the appellant was never previously notified of his alleged noncompliance over the years when the appellant was under Geoghegan's direct supervision and why there was an "urgency of immediate compliance and the extreme sanction" against the appellant. In addition, the appellant contends that Geoghegan had no credible explanation as to why officers were not sanctioned over the years for noncompliance of the Power DMS policy. The appellant also argues that he did not intentionally disobey Dille's order to complete the outstanding assignments. He notes that he "was left on his own" and expected to complete the assignments while he performed his duties. Other officers were being supervised by Dille and received their orders to comply on the Wednesday prior to the appellant's order on Saturday. The appellant emphasizes that, although the ALJ indicted that the appellant could have reached out to Dille for clarification, Dille was not the appellant's direct supervisor and he was unaware as to which Power DMS assignments the appellant was required to complete. Additionally, the appellant asserts that the "Written Directive System" policy allowed for leniency. Geoghegan was not at work on Saturday or Sunday when the appellant was presented with the memorandum from Dille. The appellant stresses that it would not have been appropriate to communicate with Geoghegan when he was off duty nor to involve Dille because he was not his immediate supervisor. Moreover, the appellant emphasizes that less than 12 hours later, he immediately completed his assignments when his questions were addressed. He reiterates that the appointing authority was "looking for a reason to terminate" him and this was its first opportunity when he was reinstated back to work and was isolated in his unit.

In addition, the appellant maintains that he credibly testified as to what had occurred and why the two policies/assignments remained unsigned. He notes that the signing of the Body Armor and GPS policy had not been an issue over the years. Moreover, the ALJ disregarded witness testimony that if an officer does not understand a policy, "he is not blindly suppose[d] to sign the documents to just be done." The appellant submits that his alleged infraction should not be considered an egregious violation which warrants termination, especially given that he needed clarification from his immediate supervisor. His action also did not rise to insubordination, neglect of duty, or unbecoming conduct. Further, the appellant asserts that the charge of other sufficient cause should be dismissed as the appointing authority failed to provide any substance to that charge.

Furthermore, the appellant takes exception to the Commission's determination to decline interlocutory review regarding the ALJ's order to dismiss the appellant's civil rights complaint and recognize that anti-union animus was the motivation behind the "overzealous charges" against him. In regard to the former, the ALJ found, among other things, that the validity of the appellant's removal was the sole issue that could be reviewed in the OAL proceeding and the OAL was without jurisdiction to review claims pertaining to anti-union animus. Consequently, the appellant states that he was not given the opportunity to fully develop his anti-union animus claims and defenses pursuant to Winters v. North Hudson Fire and Rescue, 212 N.J. 67 (2012). Thus, he requests that the Commission order a new hearing.

Lastly, the appellant alleges that the Commission has taken a "pro-management position" as evidenced by its decisions relating to disciplinary matters since 2013. The appellant is allowed to defend against his removal in the disciplinary appeal by demonstrating that the disciplinary action was brought against him in retaliation for his exercise of legally protected speech or conduct as an employee. As such, he requests that the Commission take "the unprecedented action of decreasing" the penalty imposed and expanding the "1%" of cases where the Commission has reversed an employee's removal. Alternatively, the appellant requests that his discipline be reduced in accordance with progressive discipline principles. In that regard, the appellant maintains that he is a long-term employee of 23 years[1] and his alleged minor infraction should justify a penalty reduction. While the ALJ set forth his prior disciplinary history, the appellant notes that those violations did not involve insubordination and were "generally" during the years of his union activities. He stresses that five of the violations were minor disciplines. The 120 working day suspension and demotion related to a DWI violation and since that event, the appellant states that he has "turned his life around." Therefore, he requests that a suspension and remedial training of the Power DMS policy be imposed instead. He notes that the testimony at OAL revealed that no other officer was disciplined for their Power DMS delinquency.

In reply, the appointing authority contends that the appellant's exceptions to the Commission's determination to decline interlocutory review should be rejected. It indicates that the appellant raised an anti-union animus claim as part of his defense at the OAL hearing, and the ALJ correctly determined that the appellant's discipline was not motivated by such animus. Notably, the appointing authority states that the appellant did not testify as to anti-union animus by Dille, who initially recommended disciplinary action against the appellant. Moreover, the appointing authority submits that to the extent that the appellant seeks to claim harassment and discrimination, he should have filed such claims in the appropriate forum. Additionally, the appellant's allegation that the Commission is "pro-management" and biased "is nothing more than [the appellant's] attempt to avoid accountability for his conduct." As to the charges, the appointing authority maintains that the appellant had two days to complete his Power DMS assignments and to contact Dille or Geoghegan. However, he "unilaterally determined to 'pick and choose'" which assignments to complete even though he was given both a verbal and written order to complete all assignments by September 27, 2015. Furthermore, the appointing authority notes that the appellant's own witness testified that all officers were required to complete the Power DMS assignment regardless of their particular post since an officer could be reassigned to another post. In addition, it points out that the appellant on cross examination admitted that officers must comply with a superior officer's order. Thus, the appellant's

[1] Agency records indicate that the appellant was appointed provisionally pending open competitive examination procedures, effective June 13, 1994, as a County Correction Officer with Hudson County. He received a regular appointment on April 29, 1996.

"smoke screen" arguments that Dille was not his immediate supervisor should be rejected. The Commission should also disregard the appellant's challenge to the ALJ's credibility determinations, as the ALJ correctly found that the other assignments the appellant completed did not pertain to his unit. Thus, considering that noncompliance with a superior officer's order is a significant violation and the appellant has a prior disciplinary history, the appointing authority maintains that removal is the only appropriate penalty.

Upon its de novo review, the Commission agrees with the ALJ's assessment of the charges. There is no dispute that the appellant did not complete all of the outstanding Power DMS assignments in a timely manner. He was given a verbal and written order to do so by a certain date and failed to do so. While the appellant argues that he needed clarification from his supervisor pursuant to policy, the ALJ correctly evaluated that the appellant's excuses were not credible. In that regard, it is emphasized that the Commission acknowledges that the ALJ, who has the benefit of hearing and seeing the witnesses, is generally in a better position to determine the credibility and veracity of the witnesses. See Matter of J.W.D., 149 N.J. 108 (1997). "[T]rial courts' credibility findings . . . are often influenced by matters such as observations of the character and demeanor of the witnesses and common human experience that are not transmitted by the record." See In re Taylor, 158 N.J. 644 (1999) (quoting State v. Locurto, 157 N.J. 463, 474 (1999)). Additionally, such credibility findings need not be explicitly enunciated if the record as a whole makes the findings clear. Id. at 659 (citing Locurto, supra). The Commission appropriately gives due deference to such determinations. However, in its de novo review of the record, the Commission has the authority to reverse or modify an ALJ's decision if it is not supported by the credible evidence or was otherwise arbitrary. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c); Cavalieri v. Public Employees Retirement System, 368 N.J. Super. 527 (App. Div. 2004). Nevertheless, upon its review of the entire record, the Commission finds that there is sufficient evidence in the record to support the ALJ's credibility determinations.

The ALJ explicitly delineated her credibility findings as to the appellant's implausible testimony. The appellant could have raised his questions with Dille, who gave the direct order, or he could have contacted Geoghegan if he believed that only the latter could have answered his questions prior to the due date of the assignments. The appellant also did not contact Geoghegan on Monday, when they were both at work. Rather, it was Geoghegan who called the appellant regarding his delinquency. Moreover, the appellant's excuse that the two assignments did not pertain to his daily duties is clearly not credible, as he completed other assignments that did not apply. Further, although the appellant asserts that the ALJ restricted and disregarded testimony, it is clear that the ALJ took the appellant's claims of anti-union animus into consideration but did not find his claims persuasive given that the appellant committed the infraction as charged. Nothing in the record demonstrates that Geoghegan was untruthful as to the infraction, and which, contrary to the appellant's exceptions, would deem his testimony not credible. It is also of no consequence as to who actually discovered the appellant's noncompliance. The appellant's arguments in that regard are overreaching. Moreover, the appellant does not raise a meritorious claim with respect to the Commission's determination to decline interlocutory review of the ALJ's dismissal of his civil rights complaint. The ALJ correctly found that although the appellant could present claims of retaliation and discrimination as part of a defense to the disciplinary charges at issue, which he did, he cannot seek relief pursuant to the New Jersey Civil Rights Act because a civil rights cause of action is not within the scope of the OAL's jurisdiction in a disciplinary appeal. Moreover, there was not a procedural basis for the ALJ to have adjudicated the causes of action raised in the civil rights complaint in the context of the appellant's disciplinary appeal. In that regard, it is noted, that, under Winters, supra, the pursuit of such a defense during disciplinary proceedings would not automatically bar an appellant from separately pursuing a cause of action based upon retaliation or discrimination in a judicial forum, notwithstanding that the administrative determination on that issue could preclude the parties from rearguing the question of whether the disciplinary action was the product of discrimination or retaliation in a subsequent litigation. Accordingly, the ALJ correctly dismissed the appellant's complaint and there is no basis to remand this matter to the OAL for further proceedings.

Therefore, the Commission finds that the charges against the appellant have been sustained. It is noted that, even assuming, arguendo, that the charge of other sufficient cause was dismissed for lack of substance or deemed a duplicative charge, the appellant's infraction clearly rose to insubordination, neglect of duty, and unbecoming conduct and is worthy of discipline. See In the Matter of Alex Siniavsky (CSC, decided May 2, 2012) aff'd on reconsideration (CSC, decided March 6, 2013) (Appellant's admitted refusal to comply with his supervisor's direct order did not excuse his disobedience since employees are not permitted to select which orders to follow and which to ignore).

With regard to the penalty, the Commission's review is also de novo. In addition to considering the seriousness of the underlying incident in determining the proper penalty, the Commission utilizes, when appropriate, the concept of progressive discipline. West New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500 (1962). Although the Commission applies the concept of progressive discipline in determining the level and propriety of penalties, an individual's prior disciplinary history may be outweighed if the infraction at issue is of a serious nature. Henry v. Rahway State Prison, 81 N.J. 571, 580 (1980). It is settled that the principle of progressive discipline is not a "fixed and immutable rule to be followed without question." Rather, it is recognized that some disciplinary infractions are so serious that removal is appropriate notwithstanding a largely unblemished prior record. See Carter v. Bordentown, 191 N.J. 474 (2007). In the instant matter, while the Commission acknowledges that the appellant's infraction is not sufficiently egregious in and of itself to warrant his removal, the appellant possesses an abysmal prior disciplinary record. In that regard, the Commission emphasizes that a County Correction Officer is a law enforcement officer who, by the very nature of his job duties, is held to a higher standard of conduct than other public employees. See Moorestown v. Armstrong, 89 N.J. Super. 560 (App. Div. 1965), cert. denied, 47 N.J. 80 (1966). See also, In re Phillips, 117 N.J. 567 (1990). Moreover, the Commission is mindful that:

> The appraisal of the seriousness of [the appellant's] offense and degree which such offenses subvert discipline . . . are matters peculiarly within the expertise of the corrections officials. The appraisal is subject to de novo review by the [Commission] . . . but that appraisal should be given significant weight. Bowden v. Bayside State Prison, 268 N.J. Super. 301, 306 (App. Div. 1993), cert. denied, 135 N.J. 469 (1994).

The appellant clearly has not learned his lesson, despite that the appointing authority has progressively disciplined him through the years. Moreover, although the appellant indicates that no other officer had been disciplined for their Power DMS delinquency, he has not identified any specific individual nor has he presented that these unnamed officers have similar appalling disciplinary records. The Commission emphasizes that while career service employees are protected from arbitrary disciplinary actions and possess tenure rights, employment remains a privilege and not an absolute right, especially in the appellant's case where he has consistently not followed the rules of his workplace. Therefore, the Commission finds that the appropriate course of action is to remove the appellant from employment.

As a final comment, the Commission takes umbrage with the appellant's accusation that it is "pro-management" and biased. Each disciplinary appeal is reviewed on its own merits. The Commission carefully evaluates whether an employee has committed the violation as charged and if that violation is worthy of the employee's discipline, considering the seriousness of the offense and the employee's disciplinary history. In the present case, the appointing authority has met its burden of proof. The appellant has had ample opportunity to correct his behavior and has failed to do so. His removal is therefore necessary.

ORDER

The Civil Service Commission finds that the action of the appointing authority in removing the appellant was justified. The Commission, therefore, affirms that action and dismisses the appeal of Thomas Caraccio.

This is the final administrative determination in this matter. Any further review should be pursued in a judicial forum.

INITIAL DECISION
OAL DKT.NO. CSR 07931-16

IN THE MATTER OF THOMAS CARACCIO, HUDSON COUNTY CORRECTIONS DEPARTMENT.

Charles J. Sciarra, Esq., and Deborah Masker Edwards, Esq., for Appellant (Sciarra & Catrambone, attorneys)

Sean Dias, Esq., for Respondent (Scarinci and Hollenbeck, attorneys)

Record Closed: August 30, 2017 Decided: September 5, 2017

BEFORE ELLEN S. BASS, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Thomas Caraccio, a Correctional Officer formerly employed by the Hudson County Department of Corrections (the County), appeals from the termination of his employment. The County asserts that Caraccio failed to timely obey a written order directing that he complete on-line assignments related to policy review and training. Caraccio replies that he misunderstood the scope of the order, and completed the work expected of him once he obtained clarification.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On November 5, 2015, Hudson County served Caraccio with a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action; an amended notice was served on November 9, 2015. Following a departmental hearing conducted on May 9, 2016, the County served Caraccio with a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action dated May 13, 2016, sustaining charges of failure to perform duties, insubordination, conduct unbecoming a public employee, and other sufficient cause, and removing Caraccio from his position of employment.

Caraccio filed an appeal with the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on May 23, 2016. Hearing dates were scheduled for August 22 and 26, 2016, but were adjourned at the request of the County, and with appellant's consent, due to witness unavailability.[1] The hearing was rescheduled for September 26 and 27, 2016. On September 16, 2016, Caraccio filed a complaint directly with me in which he asserted various civil rights and unfair labor practice claims. He indicated that he was asserting his rights under Winters v. North Hudson Regional Fire and Rescue, 212 N.J. 67 (2012). Via letter dated September 20, 2016, the County raised objections to this newly filed complaint, and asked to adjourn the hearing dates so that it could more fully articulate its concerns.

I conferred with counsel, and with their mutual consent, adjourned the hearing until January 18 and January 25, 2017. Via letter dated September 23, 2016, counsel for Caraccio agreed to waive the 180-day provisions of N.J.S.A. 40A:14-201(a), and any back-pay entitlement for the period of the adjournment.[2] Via letter dated December 1, 2016, the County filed a Motion to Dismiss the Civil Rights complaint. Caraccio replied via letter dated December 23, 2016. Via Letter Order dated January 5, 2017, I granted the County's motion.

[1] Per N.J.S.A. 40A:14-201(b)(4), "[i]f the officer and the agency. . . agree to any postponement or delay of a hearing before the 181st calendar day, the calendar days that accrue during that postponement or delay shall not be used in calculating the date upon which that officer . . . is entitled to receive his base salary pending a final determination on his appeal . . ."

[2] December hearing dates were discussed and are referenced in counsel's letter, but were never scheduled as they proved to not be workable dates, again due to witness availability issues. Both parties agreed to schedule the hearing in January 2017.

Thereafter, via letter dated January 9, 2017, counsel for Caraccio again sought to adjourn the hearing so that he could appeal my January 5, 2017 Order interlocutorily to the Civil Service Commission. Counsel again stipulated that this adjournment was requested with the understanding that Caraccio would waive back pay until the next scheduled hearing date. With the consent of the County, the matter was adjourned until April 17, 2017. By letter dated January 19, 2017, the Civil Service Commission declined to review the interlocutory appeal.

Due to a substitution of attorney, the matter was again adjourned at the request of the County, with Caraccio's consent, until April 27, 2017, and July 11, 2017; with an ongoing agreement to waive the 180-day provisions of the statute. After the hearing concluded on July 11, 2017, the parties sought leave to file written submissions. Caraccio agreed to continue to waive back pay until the filing of these submissions on August 30, 2017, at which time the record closed. Ninety-one days countable toward the 180-day provision of N.J.S.A. 40A:14-201 elapsed between the filing of the appeal and closing of the record.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Caraccio has been employed by the County as both a Correctional Officer and a Sergeant, having worked for the Department of Corrections for over twenty years. The charges against him arise from the events of the weekend of September 26, 2015, and his failure to timely comply with an order that he complete eight assignments on an on-line system known as Power DMS. Caraccio was then serving as a correctional officer.[3] After returning to work after a period of disciplinary suspension, he had been assigned to the surveillance center at the Juno Unit, where his role was to observe activity on monitors and report concerns. Caraccio reported to Lieutenant John Geoghegan; this was the superior to whom Caraccio generally directed questions about training, time off, or vacation day requests. [4]

[3] Caraccio had previously been demoted from the rank of Sergeant. The circumstances of that demotion are irrelevant, except as part of an analysis of progressive discipline.
[4] Geoghegan testified at the hearing; he has since been promoted to Captain.

Power DMS is an electronic system designed to keep staff up-to-date on policy adoptions and revisions, and is used to train staff on information essential to the proper performance of their duties. Per the Deputy Director of the Department of Corrections, the intent behind the system is to ensure that all staff are well-versed in important local and state policies that govern the safe and efficient operation of the correctional facility. Power DMS includes an intranet system that functions like email and allows staff to communicate with each other. It is the subject of a policy revised on January 22, 2012, and entitled "Written Directive System." The policy specifies, quite unequivocally, that > it is the responsibility of each employee to log into the Power DMS system, preferably at the beginning of his/her tour, on each of their scheduled work days. All employees must digitally sign for each document posted to the site within ten (10) days of issuance and comply with any other directions as instructed to do so, i.e. provide feedback, complete tests, etc.

The policy moreover specifies that if "for some reason employees do not understand a particular directive, the employees should consult with their immediate supervisor for proper clarification." The policy was shared with staff, and I FIND that Caraccio received and reviewed it. The testimonial and documentary evidence made it clear, however, that the requirement to timely access Power DMS and sign for policies was observed more in the breach. I FIND that many officers did not fulfill this obligation; Caraccio did not do so either. And this noncompliance was confirmed in a report that summarized officer signatures for receipt of policies. This document revealed that on more than one occasion many months, sometimes even a year, would elapse between issuance of a policy, and evidence that the officer signed for it.

In 2015, some six sergeants reported to Geoghegan, which include Sergeant Kevin Dille. Noncompliance with the Power DMS requirements was so commonplace that Geoghegan had a protocol in place for follow-up. He would regularly print-out a log of unfinished work and direct his sergeants to address compliance with offending officers. The Wednesday prior to the weekend of September 26, 2015, Geoghegan received word from his Captain that several officers again were late in acknowledging receipt of policies. Per his normal protocol, Geoghegan delegated the task of following up to his Sergeants; Dille was directed to follow-up with Caraccio. Dille was not Caraccio's regular supervisor, nor was he his supervisor that day; although Caraccio was accountable to anyone of a higher rank. Generally, it was Geoghegan who was responsible for monitoring Caraccio's his compliance with requirements like signing into Power DMS.

Dille did as directed. On Saturday, September 26, 2015, he verbally advised Caraccio that he must complete his outstanding assignments on Power DMS, and do so by the end of his shift the next day, at about 1:45 p.m. Dille confirmed this order by memorandum dated September 26, 2015. Dille arranged for other derelict officers to be relieved of their duties so that they could have access to a computer, and have the needed time to complete any unfinished Power DMS assignments. But he suggested to Caraccio that he do the work at his post, as a computer was available to him there. Dille also gave Caraccio the option of going to the Computer Learning Center to complete his assignments. Dille's memorandum confirmed that Caraccio had eight outstanding assignments, which included documents to review, courses, and messages. It is uncontroverted and I FIND that Caraccio completed all but two: an acknowledgement that he had received and reviewed a policy on body armor, and an assignment pertaining to "GPS Programs Violations and Escapes." As for why there was a lag of some three days after the Captain spoke with Geoghegan before Caraccio was directed to comply, Geoghegan and Dille both noted that either they were not at work, or Caraccio was not, during the intervening days.

Geoghegan was not at work over the weekend, but on his return that Monday he discovered Caraccio's failure to complete two of the tasks assigned to him. Geoghegan contacted Caraccio, who told him that he had intended to call because he was unclear whether he needed to review these two policies since they had no relevance to his then current work responsibilities. Geoghegan told him that he was required to complete all eight assignments, and Caraccio complied; both uncompleted assignments were done by noon that day, and less than twenty-four hours after the deadline imposed by Dille. Importantly, Geoghegan agreed that Caraccio was not belligerent, rude or defiant during their conversation.

Dille confirmed that he did not have access to that aspect of Power DMS that would allow him to monitor the efforts of the correctional officers in completing assigned tasks. He checked with the officers he directly supervised before they left for the day on Sunday, but he did not do so with Caraccio. Hence, he learned from Geoghegan that Caraccio had not completed all eight assignments that Monday. At 10:30 a.m. that day, Dille drafted a report in which he noted the noncompliance, and asked for corrective action.[5] On October 1, 2015, Geoghegan completed a request for disciplinary action form, charging Caraccio with insubordination and neglect of duty, among other charges, and recommending major discipline, to include termination.

Caraccio readily acknowledged that Dille, although not his regular supervisor, directed him to complete his eight Power DMS assignments. And Caraccio promptly proceeded to complete all but two of the assignments. As for the two that he omitted, Caraccio explained that he was confused regarding whether these were applicable to him. One pertained to inmate work release programs, an area irrelevant to his current post. The second pertained to body armor; Caraccio explained that having never been issued body armor he did not believe that he needed to review training materials about its proper use. Caraccio insisted that he did not intend to be insubordinate. He indicated that he fully intended to reach out to Geoghegan on Monday, and could not do so sooner because Geoghegan was not at work on weekends. But it is concerning that Caraccio did not try Geoghegan at home; discuss his concerns with Dille; or email Geoghegan to alert him that he had a question that needed to be promptly discussed on Monday.

Caraccio reported for work on Monday at 5:45 a.m., and testified that he fully intended to contact Geoghegan about his need to complete the controverted assignments. He was simply waiting for Geoghegan to report to work and get settled. But as of 11:30 a.m., Caraccio still had not done so, and Geoghegan initiated contact himself. Caraccio's version of the conversation echoed Geoghegan's; Caraccio did not think that the controverted trainings were applicable to him; Geoghegan advised that they should be completed; and Caraccio promptly complied.

Caraccio shared the history of his work as a union leader, and implied that retaliation was behind the decision to discipline him for this small infraction. In late 2010, when he was serving as Vice-President of the Supervisors Local, a dispute arose about promotions; the County had proposed promoting some eleven individuals but asked to freeze their salaries at a lower level for a year. The union was adamantly opposed; Geoghegan was one of the effected individuals. Apparently, the Director and Deputy Director clandestinely signed an agreement to proceed with the promotions and salary freeze over the union's objections. The union was often at odds with the prison administration; Caraccio stressed his lack of respect for management and took pains to note that the then Deputy Director ultimately was convicted of wiretapping and sent to prison.

Our courts have held that "credibility findings . . . are often influenced by matters such as observations of the character and demeanor of witnesses . . . that are not transmitted by the record." State v. Locurto, 157 N.J. 463, 474 (1998). A credibility determination requires an overall assessment of the witness' story in light of its rationality, internal consistency and the manner in which it "hangs together" with the other evidence. Carbo v. United States, 314 F.2d 718, 749 (9th Cir. 1963). Caraccio's testimony did not hold together. His excuses for noncompliance were unpersuasive. Caraccio had more than one opportunity to timely raise questions about the need to complete the two controverted assignments. He could have emailed Geoghegan and at least registered his concern within the time frame for completion. Caraccio could have called Dille, who was not his regular supervisor but was the superior who issued the order, and received the clarification he sought. Moreover, Caraccio completed several outstanding assignments that day that were equally inapplicable to his daily duties in the Juno Unit. He is not involved with the transportation of inmates, but completed a module on that subject. He does not supervise inmates in their cells, but completed a suicide prevention module. I thus do not deem credible the explanation that Caraccio perceived that the two final modules, and only these two, were somehow inapplicable to him.

As for Caraccio's true motivation for completing all but two modules that day, the record offers no clear explanation. But the record is clear, and I FIND that he willfully and knowingly failed to comply with an order; and failed to timely seek clarification of any aspect of that order that he ostensibly misunderstood.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The Civil Service Act, N.J.S.A. 11A:1-1 to -12.6, governs a public employee's rights and duties. The Act is designed to attract qualified personnel to public service and is liberally construed toward attainment of merit appointments and broad tenure protection. Essex Council No. 1, N.J. Civil Serv. Ass'n v. Gibson, 114 N.J. Super. 576 (Law Div. 1971), rev'd on other grounds, 118 N.J. Super. 583 (App. Div. 1972); Mastrobattista v. Essex County Park Comm'n, 46 N.J. 138, 147 (1965). However, a Civil Service employee who commits a wrongful act related to his or her duties, or gives other just cause, may be removed or subject to major discipline. N.J.S.A. 11A:2-6; N.J.S.A. 11A:2-20; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.2; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3. The issues to be determined at the de novo hearing before an administrative law judge are whether the appellant is guilty of the charges brought against him and, if so, the appropriate penalty, if any, to be imposed. See Henry v. Rahway State Prison, 81 N.J. 571 (1980); W. N.Y. v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500 (1962). The appointing authority bears the burden of proving its charges by a preponderance of the credible evidence. See In re Polk, 90 N.J. 550 (1982); Atkinson v. Parsekian, 37 N.J. 143 (1962).

Correctional facilities operate through a rigidly hierarchical, almost "paramilitary," structure. Lockley v. Dep't of Corr., 177 N.J. 413, 425 (2003). Maintenance of strict discipline is critical in military-like settings such as police departments, prisons and correctional facilities. City of Newark v. Massey, 93 N.J. Super. 317 (App. Div. 1967). While insubordination is always a serious matter, it is especially so in a paramilitary context. Our courts have held that "[r]efusal to obey orders and disrespect cannot be tolerated. Such conduct adversely affects the morale and efficiency of the department." Rivell v. Civil Serv. Comm'n, 115 N.J. Super. 64, 72 (App. Div.), certif. denied, 59 N.J. 269 (1971).

Dictionary definitions have been utilized by our courts to define "insubordination" where it is not specifically defined in contract or regulation, explaining as follows:

> we are obliged to accept [the term "insubordination's"] ordinary definition since it is not a technical term or word of art and there are no circumstances indicating that a different meaning was intended.
> [Ricci v. Corp. Express of the E., 344 N.J. Super. 39, 45 (App. Div. 2001) (citation omitted).]

Black's Law Dictionary 802 (7th Ed. 1999) defines insubordination as a "willful disregard of an employer's instructions" or an "act of disobedience to proper authority." Webster's II New College Dictionary (1995) defines insubordination as "not submissive to authority: disobedient."

"Neglect of duty" can arise from an omission or failure to perform a duty as well as negligence. Generally, the term "neglect" connotes a deviation from normal standards of conduct. In re Kerlin, 151 N.J. Super. 179, 186 (App. Div 1977). "Duty" signifies conformance to "the legal standard of reasonable conduct in the light of the apparent risk." Wytupeck v. Camden, 25 N.J. 450, 461 (1957). Neglect of duty can arise from omission to perform a required duty, as well as, from misconduct or misdoing. Cf. State v. Dunphy, 19 N.J. 531, 534 (1955). Although the term "neglect of duty" is not defined in the New Jersey Administrative Code, the charge has been interpreted to mean that an employee has neglected to perform and act as required by his or her job title or was negligent in its discharge. Avanti v. Dep't of Military and Veterans Affairs, 97 N.J.A.R.2d (CSV) 564; Ruggiero v. Jackson Twp. Dep't of Law and Safety, 92 N.J.A.R.2d (CSV) 214.

"Conduct Unbecoming a Public Employee" is an elastic phrase, which encompasses conduct that adversely affects the morale or efficiency of a governmental unit or that has a tendency to destroy public respect in the delivery of governmental services. Karins v. City of Atl. City, 152 N.J. 532, 554 (1998); see also In re Emmons, 63 N.J. Super. 136, 140 (App. Div. 1960). Such misconduct need not necessarily "be predicated upon the violation of any particular rule or regulation, but may be based merely upon the violation of the implicit standard of good behavior which devolves upon one who stands in the public eye as an upholder of that which is morally and legally correct." Hartmann v. Police Dep't of Ridgewood, 258 N.J. Super. 32, 40 (App. Div. 1992) (quoting Asbury Park v. Dep't of Civil Serv., 17 N.J. 419, 429 (1955)).

I CONCLUDE that Caraccio's failure to timely complete the two Power DMS modules rose to insubordination, neglect of duty, and conduct unbecoming a correctional officer. He was presented with an unequivocal order that contained clear timelines; he failed to comply. In the event an order is unclear or confusing to a subordinate, it is the subordinate's duty to seek clarification prior to the expiration of the time frame for completion of the assignment at issue. Caraccio failed to do so here.

I CONCLUDE that Caraccio has not presented persuasive evidence that the charges against him were motivated by anti-union animus. Caraccio also pointed out that a prior attempt to remove him, in 2014, was overturned by the Civil Service Commission, thus urging that the County is essentially "out to get him." This argument is equally unpersuasive; and indeed, that prior disciplinary incident rose and fell on its own merits, and is irrelevant to the case presently before me. Caraccio urged that the County failed to produce certain policies both at the local hearing and before me; but even if true, this did not evidence that the charges here were motivated by anything other than Caraccio's conduct. Moreover, the sought-after policies could have been obtained through an Open Public Record Act (OPRA) request; or via a discovery motion before me. Neither avenue appears to have been pursued here. And any failure by the County to provide discovery at the local hearing was cured by Caraccio's opportunity for a de novo hearing before me. See: Ensslin v. Tp. of N. Bergen, 275 N.J. Super. 352 (App. Div., 1994); In re Darcy, 114 NJ. Super. 454 (App. Div., 1971).

Finally, Caraccio raises for the first time in his post-hearing submission the somewhat novel argument that the Civil Service Commission is biased toward management, and that this should somehow factor into my decision making. In support of this contention, counsel attaches data and a certification, none of which was presented at hearing; and accordingly, none of which, will I consider or make a part of this record. And Caraccio's argument misapprehends my role, which is to make a recommendation to the Civil Service Commission in this specific case, and based on the facts developed at this hearing. It is not my role to comment or rule on how the Commission reaches its final decisions.

PENALTY

A system of progressive discipline has evolved in New Jersey to serve the goals of providing employees with job security and protecting them from arbitrary employment decisions. The core of this concept is the nature, number and proximity of prior disciplinary infractions evaluated by progressively increasing penalties. It underscores the philosophy that an appointing authority has a responsibility to encourage the development of employee potential. When determining the appropriate penalty to be imposed, the appointing authority must consider an employee's past record, including reasonably recent commendations and prior disciplinary actions. W. New York v. Bock, supra. Depending on the conduct complained of and the employee's disciplinary history, major discipline may be imposed. Id. at 522-24.

I have reviewed Caraccio's disciplinary record to determine whether the penalty of removal, as sought by the County, is reasonable under the totality of the circumstances. Clearly, standing alone, this minor infraction would not warrant termination of employment. But the law requires that I examine Caraccio's record in its entirety, and it reveals a troublesome record of disciplinary infractions:

1. In March 2006, Caraccio failed to report for a training session and received a three-day suspension.
2. In July 2006, Caraccio was late in reporting for duty and received a two-day suspension.
3. In May 2010, he was suspended for three days for using profanity and yelling at a co-worker.
4. Later that month, he was fined for lateness.
5. In November 2011, Caraccio was fined for altering a line-up without conferring with his superior.

6. In January 2012, disciplinary charges arising from use of profanity were settled with the parties agreeing to a twenty-day suspension, with five days to be held in abeyance.
7. And while Caraccio correctly pointed out that a prior attempt to remove him was overturned by the Civil Service Commission, an appeal of a demotion and a 120-day suspension for driving while intoxicated when off-duty was upheld by the Commission in December 2014.

This is an employer who has redirected Caraccio's conduct for over ten years, steadily increasing the level of discipline from fines and minor disciplinary suspensions, to major disciplinary suspensions of increasing length and duration. Caraccio nonetheless continues to fail to comply with the rules of his workplace. Our courts have recognized that "there is no right or reason for a government to continue employing an incompetent and inefficient individual after a showing of inability to change." Klusaritz v. Cape May County, 387 N.J. Super. 305, 317 (App. Div. 2006). I CONCLUDE that the penalty of removal should be upheld.

ORDER

Therefore, it is hereby ORDERED that the charges against Caraccio are SUSTAINED, and for the reasons set forth above, the penalty of removal is likewise SUSTAINED.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 40A:14-204.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, DIVISION OF APPEALS AND REGULATORY AFFAIRS, UNIT H, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, 44 South Clinton Avenue, PO Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

INITIAL DECISION

SETTLEMENT

OAL DKT. NO. CSV 03301-17

AGENCY DKT. NO. 2017-2410

IN THE MATTER OF FELICIA JOHNSON-STILL, STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF NEWARK.

Lesley Sotolongo, Esq., for appellant Felicia Johnson-Still (DeCotiis, Fitzpatrick, Cole & Giblin, attorneys)

Bernard Mercado, Esq. for respondent State-Operated School District of the City of Newark

Record Closed: September 5, 2017 Decided: September 5, 2017

BEFORE MARGARET M. MONACO, ALJ:

Appellant Felicia Johnson-Still filed an appeal from a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action dated January 17, 2017, issued by respondent State-Operated School District of the City of Newark. The Civil Service Commission transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law, where it was filed on March 8, 2017, for determination as a contested case. Prior to the hearing scheduled for September 28, 2017, the parties reached an amicable resolution and counsel for respondent submitted the attached Settlement Agreement, indicating the terms of agreement between the parties.

Having reviewed the record and the settlement terms, I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and, therefore, ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

FELICIA JOHNSON-STILL, Appellant, vs. STATE-OPERATED SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF NEWARK, Respondent.	:	OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATIVE LAW OAL DKT. NO. CSV 03301-2017N AGENCY REF. NO.: 2017-2410 SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

The parties in this appeal have voluntarily resolved all disputed matters and enter into the following Settlement Agreement that fully disposes of all issues and claims in controversy between Appellant Felicia Johnson-Still ("Appellant" or "Johnson-Still") and Respondent State-Operated School District of the City of Newark ("Respondent" or the "District"), and Appellant and Respondent intending to be legally bound, mutually agree as follows:

1. Appellant will withdraw, with prejudice, her appeal and request for a hearing filed under OAL Docket No. CSV03301-2017N, Agency Ref. No.: 2017-2410 including all claims which were raised or which could have been raised in relation thereto.

2. Appellant also agrees to withdraw, with prejudice, any and all other claims or suits that she may have previously filed against the District that are still pending in any and all other courts and/or before any and all other agencies, with the exception of workers compensation claims. This Settlement is intended to be the final resolution of all outstanding matters between the District and Appellant up to this point in time.

3. In exchange, the parties agree that the charges set forth in the Final Notice of Disciplinary Action dated January 17, 2017 are sustained but that Appellant's twenty (20) day suspension will be reduced to an ~~eighteen (18)~~ seventeen (17) day suspension. The ~~2~~ three (3) day reduction in suspension time shall be converted to and recorded as an "Administrative Leave Without Pay". The Final Notice of Disciplinary Action will be amended accordingly.

LS BM LS BM

Further, the only charge sustained will be sec. B 2. of the Neglect of Duty charge.

4. Appellant will not receive any back pay as part of this Agreement.

5. This Agreement shall not constitute a precedent in any matters involving other employees.

6. Appellant waives all claims of any nature, either known or unknown, against Respondent with regard to this matter including fees, back pay, front pay or any other monetary relief.

7. In exchange for the good consideration set forth in Paragraph 3 above, the sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged by the parties, Appellant releases and discharges the District, its Advisory Board of Education and its Advisory Board Members, State District Superintendent and any and all other officers, employees, agents, representatives, successors and assigns of the District (the "Released Parties") with respect to all claims or rights that she may have against the District and the Released Parties relating to his employment with the District up to this point in time. This includes, without limitation the waiver of any and all claims, charges, or demands, known or unknown, that have arisen or that may arise relating to Appellant's employment with the District up to this point, including but not limited to any and all rights or claims he may have regarding discrimination on any basis, or any federal or state civil rights law, or any alleged violation under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended; the Age Discrimination in Employment Act; the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act; the Americans with Disabilities Act; the Equal Pay Act; the Americans with Disabilities Act; the Rehabilitation Act; the Employment Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended; the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination; the Conscientious Employee Protection Act; the Fair Labor Standards Act; the National Labor Relations Act; the Family Leave Act or Family Medical Leave Act; the New Jersey Wage and Hour Law; the retaliation provisions of the New Jersey Workers' Compensation Law (and including any and all amendments to the above), the United States Constitution, the New Jersey Constitution and/or any other federal, state, or local statute or common law relating to employment, wages, hours, or any other terms and conditions of employment and/or termination of employment as well as any other alleged violations of any federal, state or local law, regulation or ordinance, and/or contract or implied contract or collective bargaining/contractual claim or tort law or public policy or whistleblower claim, having any bearing whatsoever on his employment with the District, including but not limited to, any claim for wrongful discharge, back pay, front pay, vacation pay, sick pay, wage, commission or bonus payment, attorneys' fees, costs and/or future wage loss, except for workers compensation claims. Appellant agrees to hold harmless and indemnify the District and the Released Parties for any costs or expenses associated with the enforcement of this Settlement Agreement and the covenants and representations contained therein should same become necessary.

8. Notwithstanding Paragraph 7 of this Settlement Agreement, it is understood by the parties that Appellant is not waiving her rights to workers compensation claims. Further, it is also understood and agreed that the parties are not prohibited from communicating with or participating in any administrative proceeding before the United States Department of Labor, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commissioner, or any other federal, state or local law agency. Should any entity, agency commission or person file a charge, action, complaint or lawsuit against the District based upon any of the above-released claims in Paragraph 7, Appellant agrees not to seek or accept any resulting relief whatsoever.

9. Nothing in this Settlement Agreement shall be deemed to be an admission of liability on behalf of either party. This Settlement Agreement shall not constitute a precedent in any matters involving other employees.

10. Appellant understands, agrees to and acknowledges that she is bound by this Release. Anyone who succeeds to Appellant's rights and responsibilities, such as Appellant's heirs or the executors of Appellant's estate, are also bound. This Settlement Agreement is made for the benefit of the Appellant and the District and all who succeed to their rights and responsibilities.

11. If any provision or portion of a provision of this Settlement Agreement is held by the Civil Service Commission or a court of competent jurisdiction or determined under applicable federal or state law to be invalid, void, or unenforceable, the remaining provisions or portions of the affected provision will remain and continue in full force and effect.

12. The parties respectively acknowledge that counsel has advised them regarding this Settlement Agreement and that each is signing this Settlement Agreement freely and voluntarily, without duress, coercion, or pressure from the other party. DM LS JS

13. Appellant agrees that ~~he~~ she has been fully and fairly represented by her Union, International Union of Operating Engineers Local 68.

14. This Settlement Agreement constitutes the full agreement between the parties and shall be construed and enforced in accordance with New Jersey Law.

15. This Settlement Agreement is subject to the approval of the State District Superintendent of the State-operated School District of the City of Newark and will only become effective on the District upon the approval of the State District Superintendent. Any disapproval by the Superintendent shall not interfere with the rights of either party to pursue the matter further.

16. This Settlement Agreement is subject to the final approval of the New Jersey Civil Service Commission and will only become binding on the parties upon the final approval of the Civil Service Commission. Any disapproval by the Civil Service Commission shall not interfere with the rights of either party to pursue the matter further.

CERTIFICATION

I, FELICIA JOHNSON-STILL, being the moving party in this matter, hereby certify that I have reviewed this Settlement Agreement and fully understand its meaning and terms. I acknowledge that my representative questioned my understanding and verified my acceptance of the terms of this Settlement Agreement. I am satisfied with my representation and I enter into this Settlement Agreement voluntarily.

I also understand that if this Settlement Agreement is approved by the Civil Service Commission, my claim against Respondent will terminate.

I certify that the foregoing statements made by me are true. I am aware that if any of the foregoing statements made by me are willfully false, I am subject to punishment.

(ON REMAND CSV 05916-17)

FINAL ADMINISTRATIVE ACTION OF THE CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

ISSUED: OCTOBER 5, 2017 BW

The appeal of Marjorie Londregan, Graduate Nurse, Passaic County, Preakness Healthcare Center, removal effective January 15, 2015, on charges, was heard by Administrative Law Judge Joann Lasala Candido, who rendered her initial decision on September 1, 2017. No exceptions were filed.

Having considered the record and the Administrative Law Judge's initial decision, and having made an independent evaluation of the record, the Civil Service Commission (Commission), at its meeting of October 4, 2017, accepted and adopted the Findings of Fact and Conclusion as contained in the attached Administrative Law Judge's initial decision.

ORDER

The Civil Service Commission finds that the action of the appointing authority in removing the appellant was justified. The Commission therefore affirms that action and dismisses the appeal of Marjorie Londregan.

This is the final administrative determination in this matter. Any further review should be pursued in a judicial forum.

INITIAL DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. CSV 05916-17

IN THE MATTER OF MARJORIE J. LONDREGAN, PASSAIC COUNTY PREAKNESS HEALTHCARE CENTER,

---

Samuel Wenocur, Esq. on behalf of appellant (Oxfeld Cohen, PC)

Jose Santiago, Esq. on behalf of respondent (Assistant County Counsel)

Record Closed: August 28, 2017 Decided: September 1, 2017

BEFORE JOANN LASALA CANDIDO, ALAJ:

Appellant, Marjorie Londregan, appeals her termination as a graduate nurse by respondent, the Passaic County Preakness Healthcare Center, by Final Notice of Disciplinary Action dated January 22, 2015.

Appellant requested a hearing on the matter, and it was transmitted as a contested case to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and filed on April 7, 2015 under OAL Docket Number CSV-04716-15. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-2(b); N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.8. Hearings were scheduled and adjournments were requested by appellant as follows: for adjournment of the September 24, 2015 hearing date for medical reasons; adjournment of the February 16, 2016 hearing date and waived back pay; adjournment of the May 2, 2016 hearing date because she was ill; adjournment of the September 21, 2016 hearing date because she would be out-of-state; the January 10, 2017 hearing date was adjourned because the parties reached a settlement; on February 16, 2017, a telephone conference was conducted requesting status of the settlement. No settlement was reached and on March 2, 2017 another telephone conference was conducted to obtain the status of settlement. No settlement was reached and appellant requested an adjournment of the March 16, 2017 hearing date because she was out-of-state and her home needed emergency repair. A peremptory date was scheduled for March 31, 2017 and appellant failed to appear at the peremptory hearing.

The matter was remanded to me April 28, 2017, "to allow the parties to explore further efforts at settling the mater." The Commission stated that if the appellant failed to appear on the next hearing date, "the appellant will not be afforded another opportunity".

On May 2, 2017, OAL sent a notice to the parties, including appellant, of a telephone prehearing scheduled for June 5, 2017 and hearing dates on July 10 and 12, 2017. The June 5, 2017 prehearing was rescheduled to June 23, 2017 at 3:00p.m. During the pendency of the conference counsel advised that the July 12, 2017 hearing was not needed. A new notice went out on June 23, 2017 with the July 10, 2017 peremptory hearing date only.

On June 27, 2017 appellant's counsel requested that the July 10, 2017 hearing be cancelled. He indicated that he informed appellant that her failure to appear at the hearing could result in the dismissal of her appeal. In response appellant reiterated that she would be unavailable to attend because she will be out of state for her reiki healing training and she would not accept a settlement. Appellant's adjournment request was denied.

On July 10, 2017 the hearing proceeded without appellant's presence. The undersigned offered July 12, 2017 for an additional hearing date to allow appellant time to travel to New Jersey for the hearing. The parties agreed that the July 12 date was not necessary. It was agreed by the attorneys that this matter will be decided on the papers rather than having appellant constantly not appear for the hearings. It was also confirmed at the hearing that appellant refused the settlement offer of returning to work because she chose to stay out of state to complete the reiki healing training ending sometime in the fall. The parties requested to submit post-hearing briefs.

Appellant, a registered nurse employed by respondent since December 9, 2011, was charged with chronic or excessive lateness and absenteeism, failure to follow leave of absence procedure and abandonment. She was removed from her position as a Graduate Nurse effective January 15, 2015 by Final Notice of Disciplinary Action dated January 22, 2015. Appellant was afforded a hearing at Preakness Healthcare Center on January 15, 2015.

The Civil Service Act and the regulations promulgated pursuant thereto govern the rights and duties of a civil service employee. N.J.S.A. 11A:1-1 to 11A:12-6; N.J.A.C. 4A:1-1.1 et seq. A civil service employee who commits a wrongful act related to his or her duties, or gives other just cause, may be subject to major discipline. N.J.S.A. 11:2-6; N.J.S.A. 11A:2-20; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.2; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3. Grounds for discipline include, among other things, insubordination, chronic or excessive absenteeism or lateness, conduct unbecoming a public employee, and neglect of duty. See N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(2), (4), (6), and (7). An employee may also be subject to termination for resignation not in good standing. If an employee is absent from duty for five or more consecutive business days, or has not returned to work for five or more business days following an approved leave of absence, without the approval of his superior, he shall be considered to have abandoned his position and shall be recorded as a resignation not in good standing. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-6.2(b)(c).

Although the Commission remanded the matter to me for the sole purpose of continuing settlement negotiations, I am going to address and decide on the merits of the appeal as agreed by counsel.

Based upon the Final Notice of Disciplinary action dated January 22, 2015, appellant was charged with chronic or excessive lateness or absenteeism because she failed to comply with producing documentation in support of her request for family leave effective December 30, 2014 through February 9, 2015. Appellant did not come to work and was therefore absent without authorization on December 30, 2014; January 2, 3, 4, 5 and 7, 2015. Appellant had also used her eligible sick days for 2014 through May 14, 2014 and then used an additional twenty-two uncompensated sick time days for the remainder of the year. Appellant asserts that she was not aware that she needed to call out sick after December 30, 2014, the date of her request for Family Leave. This contradicts her assertion that she followed the call-out procedures between December 25 and 29, 2014 when she obviously knew what procedure to follow when not coming to work. Appellant was also previously aware of policy and procedure when she took an extended leave of absence from November 10th through November 28, 2014. Her request for Family Leave was not approved and appellant failed to follow policy and procedure to call in when not reporting for work.

An employee may be subject to discipline for chronic or excessive absenteeism. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)4. While there is no precise number that constitutes "chronic," it is generally understood that chronic conduct is conduct that continues over a long time or recurs frequently. Good v. Northern State Prison, 97 N.J.A.R.2d (CSV) 529, 531. Appellant was absent without authorization for five consecutive days in January 2015. She had received verbal warnings for lateness on March 5 and May 12, 2012 as well as written warnings on March 5 and June 7, 2012. Appellant received a one-day suspension and subsequently received a three-day and five-day suspension for chronic or excessive absenteeism or lateness which were converted into fines.

Courts have consistently held that excessive absenteeism need not be accommodated, and that attendance is an essential function of most jobs. See, e.g., Muller v. Exxon Research and Engineering Company, 345 N.J. Super. 595, 605-06 (App. Div. 2001) (under the LAD, excess absenteeism need not be accommodated even if it is caused by a disability otherwise protected by the Act.); Svarnas v. AT&T Communications, 326 N.J. Super. 59, 79 (App. Div. 1999) ([a]n employee who does not come to work cannot perform any of her job functions, essential or otherwise). See, also, Dudley v. Calif. Department of Transportation, 2000 W.L. 328119 (9th Cir. 2000) (a diabetic with frequent absences who failed to provide adequate medical documentation and could not provide a definite return to work date was not a qualified individual).

Furthermore, in Hatcher v. Northern State Prison, 2002 W.L. 31731008 (N.J. Adm.) at p. 4, the court held that:

> [T]here is no way to reasonably accommodate the unpredictable aspect of an employees sporadic and unscheduled absences. Svarnas v. AT&T Communications, 326 N.J. Super. 59, 77 (App. Div. 1999). As noted by the New Jersey Supreme Court, 'just cause for dismissal can be found in habitual tardiness or similar chronic conduct.' West New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500, 522 (1962). While a single instance may not be sufficient, 'numerous occurrences over a reasonably short space of time, even though sporadic, may evidence an attitude of indifference amounting to neglect of duty.' Ibid. . Especially in times of budgetary constraint, it is important that management utilize existing staff efficiently and effectively. 'We do not expect heroics', but 'being there,' i.e., appearing for work on a regular and timely basis is not asking too much. State Operated Sch. Dist. Of Newark v. Gaines, 309 N.J. Super. 327, 333 (App. Div. 1998).

Appellant had been excessively absent from work sufficient to warrant disciplinary charges, and I so CONCLUDE. Appellant's employer had a right to expect that she would be present at work, willing and able to work. Certainly respondent is not obligated to continue to employ a person who either cannot or will not perform her job duties on a regular basis. Frequent absences cause disruption in the public work place and create a hardship for the remaining employees, who must absorb the job duties of a person who cannot or will not perform them. I therefore CONCLUDE that the respondent has met its burden of proof regarding excessive absenteeism. Furthermore, appellant failed to comply with policy and procedure by not providing the requested medical documentation for a family leave request. She failed to appear for her hearing as well as for all scheduled dates before me.

There is no definition in the New Jersey Administrative Code for other sufficient cause. Other sufficient cause is generally defined in the charges against appellant. The charge of other sufficient cause has been dismissed when "respondent has not given any substance to the allegation." Simmons v. City of Newark, CSV 9122-99, Initial Decision (February 22, 2006), adopted, Comm'r (April 26, 2006), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/final/csv9122-99.pdf>. The FNDA states that the charge for other sufficient cause is sustained for failure to follow leave of absence procedures. Because I find the respondent to have proven the above-named charges by a preponderance of the credible evidence, I therefore CONCLUDE that respondent has satisfied its burden of proving, by a preponderance of the credible evidence of other sufficient cause.

Based upon all of the foregoing, including the evidence and certifications submitted, I CONCLUDE that respondent has met its burden of proving, by a preponderance of the credible evidence, the charges against appellant. Furthermore, based upon the Commissioner's instruction that this matter be remanded for the sole purpose of appellant to appear for further settlement discussion, to which she refused, also warrants dismissal of this matter.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that the removal of appellant is hereby AFFIRMED and her appeal is DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, DIVISION OF APPEALS AND REGULATORY AFFAIRS, UNIT H, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, 44 South Clinton Avenue, PO Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

BEFORE JOANN LASALA CANDIDO, ALAJ:

This matter was received at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on June 9, 2017, for resolution as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F1 to -13 and assigned initially to ALJ Leland McGee. When reassigned to me, a telephone prehearing was conducted wherein the parties agreed on dates for hearing. During the pendency of the September 7, 2017 hearing, the parties resolved all issues in dispute. The parties prepared and submitted a Settlement Agreement, which is attached hereto for reference.

Having reviewed the contents of the attached Settlement Agreement, I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures and/or the signatures of their representatives.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and, therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

IN THE MATTER OF

Shirley Shea

AND

Sussex County

The parties in this appeal have voluntarily resolved all disputed matters and enter into the following settlement, which fully disposes of all issues in controversy between them.

A. The Final Notice of Disciplinary Action dated May 4 2017 contained the following charges and proposed discipline:

Charge	Discipline	Dates Effective
1. 1A Competency, 1efficiency or failure to perform duties	Termination
2. 1A Ability to Perform Duties	Termination
3. Conduct Unbecoming	Termination
4. Neglect of Duty	Termination
5. Misuse of Public Property	Termination
6. Other Sufficient Cause	Termination

B. The Appellant Shirley Shea withdraws his/her appeal and request for a hearing, and the Respondent appointing authority Sussex County agrees that the following result will occur with regard to each charge:

Charge	Disposition	New Penalty
1. 1A Competency, 1efficiency or failure to perform duties	withdrawn
2. 1A Ability to Perform Duties	withdrawn
3. Conduct unbecoming	withdrawn
4. Neglect of Duty	withdrawn
5. Misuse of Public Property	withdrawn

OAL DKT. NO. CSV 05188-17

C. The parties have agreed to the following:

~~For Suspensions, Complete the Following:~~

~~1. To date, appellant has been suspended for a total of _____ days based upon the~~ above charges.

2. The total number of days of back pay, ~~if any~~, to be paid by the appointing authortiy to the Appellant is as follows: _____.

3. Any ~~other days~~ from the time of last suspension day until return to work shall be treated ~~as follows:~~ _____.

For Removals, Complete the Following

~~1. To date, appellant has served a total of _____ days without pay based upon the~~ above charges.

2. The total number of days of back pay, ~~if any, to be~~ paid by the appointing authority to the Appellant is as follows: N/A.

3. Any other ~~days~~ from the time of last suspension day until reinstatement shall be treated ~~as follows:~~ _____.

4. (Strike if not applicable) The appellant agrees to a

✓ resignation in good standing

which shall be effective May 4 2017[date]. ~~Any days from the effective date of removal to the effective date of resignation shall be treated as follows:~~

She is withdrawing the appeal based upon her physical inability to perform her job duties as an omnibus driver for the County of Sussex and the County's withdrawal of

The parties acknowledge that under N.J.A.C. 17:1-2.18, no pension or seniority time may be credited for periods for which the employee is not paid by the employer.

D. Sussex County (Respondent) shall amend Appellant's personnel records to ~~conform~~ to the terms of the settlement. All internal records of the Appointing Authority Sussex County will be kept intact. Nothing herein shall preclude the Appointing Authority from releasing information on this matter to anyone who has a release executed by appellant or as consistent with the law. Any information regarding the underlying charges will be provided to the Public Employees Retirement System pursuant to N.J.S.A. 43:1-3.3 as amended effective April 14, 2007.

E. Appellant waives all other claims against Respondent Appointing Authority with regard to this matter, including any award of back pay, counsel fees or other monetary relief, except as may otherwise be provided herein.

F. ~~Except for the assessment of _____'s disciplinary record in any subsequent personnel disciplinary hearing,~~ Nothing in this agreement shall be deemed to be an admission of liability on behalf of either party. This agreement shall not constitute a precedent in matters involving other employees.

G. Appellant waives all claims, suits or actions, whether known, unknown, vested or contingent, civil, criminal or administrative, in law or equity against the Appointing Authority, Sussex County, their employees, agents, or assigns, including ~~but~~ not limited to those which have been or could have been made or prosecuted on account of any conduct of any party occurring at any time with respect to the events, information or disputes giving rise to this action up to the date of this agreement, including, but not limited to, all claims under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Civil Rights Act of 1991, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Family Leave Act, the Family and Medical Leave Act, the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, the Equal Pay Act, the Conscientious Employee Protection Act, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, Title 11A - the Civil Service Act, the Older Workers Benefits Protection Act, the Occupational Safety and Health Act, the Public Employee Occupational Safety and Health Act, the New Jersey Smoking Act, New Jersey wages and hours law, public works statutes, unemployment compensation laws, disability benefits laws, the United States Constitution, the New Jersey Constitution, any workers compensation or common law claims and any contract express or implied. This waiver includes all claims involving any continuing effects of actions or practices which arose prior to the date of this Settlement Agreement and bars the use in any way of any past action or practice in any subsequent claims, except pending workers compensation claims. Nothing in this provision is to be construed as a waiver of Shay's right to apply for a retirement application, including a disability retirement, which Sussex County will not oppose

H. The parties agree that if ~~any~~ portion of this Settlement Agreement is deemed unenforceable, the remainder of this Settlement Agreement shall be fully enforceable.

I. Shay waives her right to future employment with the County of Sussex, and the County can remove Shay from any employment lists based upon this Agreement.

OAL DKT. NO. CSV 08198-17

I. This agreement will become effective only if approved by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION. Any disapproval by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION shall not interfere with the rights of either party to pursue the matter further.

Anne E. Walters, Assistant County Counsel, for respondent (Christopher A. Orlando ,County Counsel)

Record Closed: September 14, 2017 Decided: September 18, 2017

BEFORE MARY ANN BOGAN, ALJ:

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on February 15, 2013, for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

The parties have agreed to a settlement and have prepared a Settlement Agreement indicating the terms thereof, which is attached and fully incorporated herein.

I have reviewed the record and the terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT & RELEASE

THIS SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT & RELEASE, is made on the 28 day of August June, 2017, between the CAMDEN COUNTY HEALTH SERVICES CENTER (CCHSC) (hereinafter referred to as "Employer") and OLEA WOODARD (hereinafter "Former Employee").

WHEREAS, Olea Woodard ("Former Employee") was previously employed by Camden County Health Services Center (CCHSC) as a Certified Nurse's Aide; and

WHEREAS, on or about August 12, 2012, Former Employee was involved with an incident while working for CCHSC, which lead to a disciplinary matter under Docket No. CSV-2213-13 and licensing matter under Docket No. HLT-11361-2013S; and

WHEREAS, on or about September 23, 2012, Camden County Health Services Center (CCHSC) issued a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action to Former Employee; and

WHEREAS, Camden County Health Services Center (CCHSC) subsequently issued a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action, dated January 25, 2013, to Former Employee; and

WHEREAS, because Camden County Health Services Center (CCHSC) ceased doing business as a health care facility in 2014, Former Employee was laid off on April 30, 2014; and

WHEREAS, The New Jersey Department of Health and Senior Services Online Public Registry indicates that Former Employee's Nurse's Aide license is active and there are no substantiated findings for Former Employee; and

WHEREAS, Former Employee has been represented throughout these proceedings by her Union Representative; and

WHEREAS, the parties by and through their respective representatives, have negotiated a resolution of all issues in controversy between them.

NOW THEREFORE, IT IS AGREED:

1. The consideration supporting this Settlement Agreement shall be the mutual covenants and terms contained herein.

2. Camden County Health Services Center (CCHSC) agrees that it will rescind the Final Notice of Disciplinary Action dated January 25, 2013.

3. Former Employee agrees to waive any and all claims for back pay and withdraw her appeal in this matter.

4. Former Employee agrees to withdraw her appeal at the Office of Administrative Law under Docket CSV-2213-13 upon the execution of this Settlement Agreement & Release and voluntarily agrees not to appeal the discipline/penalty in any other forum.

5. Each party acknowledges they have read this Settlement Agreement and that each of them fully understands all terms and provisions contained herein.

6. The Parties agree that they are voluntarily entering into this settlement agreement and release of their own free will without an duress or coercion and with no other representations of any kind having been made to induce either party to enter into this settlement agreement and release.

7. This settlement agreement and release constitutes the entire agreement between the Parties. No representations have been made by any party other than those set forth herein. This settlement agreement cannot be modified or amended except by written instrument executed by all the Parties to this settlement agreement and release.

Mr. Waite and Ms. Walters:

I am the Deputy Director in charge of this agency's hearing unit. We have received the settlement regarding Olea Woodard from the Office of Administrative Law. However, prior to forwarding it to the Civil Service Commission for acknowledgment, clarification is required.

Specifically, the settlement indicates that Ms. Woodard agrees to withdraw her appeal in exchange for Camden County's rescission of the 104 day suspension (from August 22, 2012 to January 13, 2013). However, while the settlement indicates that Ms. Woodard will not receive back pay, it does not specifically reflect how to record the time period from August 22, 2012 to January 13, 2013. Before the matter can be acknowledged by the Commission, we require all periods of time to be specifically accounted for in an employee's personnel record. In this regard, is that time period to be recorded as an approved leave of absence without pay, or something else?

Please let me know the intention of the parties as soon as possible. An e-mail reply is sufficient so long as agreed upon by the parties.

ISSUED: OCTOBER 5, 2017 BW

The appeal of Francisco Ponce, Police Officer, Township of North Bergen, Department of Public Safety, removal effective June 19, 2015, on charges, was heard by Administrative Law Judge Jude-Anthony Tiscornia, who rendered his initial decision on September 5, 2017. No exceptions were filed.

Having considered the record and the Administrative Law Judge's initial decision, and having made an independent evaluation of the record, the Civil Service Commission (Commission), at its meeting of October 4, 2017, accepted and adopted the Findings of Fact and Conclusion as contained in the attached Administrative Law Judge's initial decision.

ORDER

The Civil Service Commission finds that the action of the appointing authority in removing the appellant was justified. The Commission therefore affirms that action and dismisses the appeal of Francisco Ponce.

This is the final administrative determination in this matter. Any further review should be pursued in a judicial forum.

INITIAL DECISION

OAL DKT NO. CSR 01327-17

IN THE MATTER OF FRANCISCO PONCE, TOWNSHIP OF NORTH BERGEN.

Charles J. Sciarra, Esq., for appellant Francisco Ponce (Sciarra & Catrambone, LLC, attorneys)

Joseph E. Santanasto, Esq., for respondent Township of North Bergen (Chasan Lamparello Mallon & Cappuzzo, PC, attorneys)

Record closed: August 3, 2017 Decided: September 5, 2017

BEFORE JUDE-ANTHONY TISCORNIA, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Francisco Ponce (Ponce or appellant) was removed from his position as a police officer with respondent Township of North Bergen because he failed a random drug test. Ponce asserts that the test conducted at the New Jersey State Toxicology Laboratory was flawed and that the corresponding results are not reliable.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On May 5, 2015, appellant was served with a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action (PNDA) seeking a temporary suspension pending removal effective May 18, 2015. (R-1.) Appellant was charged with violating the following Department Rules and Regulations, in addition to the New Jersey Administrative Code:

1. Department Drug Screening For Law Enforcement (General Order 13-15);

2. Incompetency, inefficiency or failure to perform duties (N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(1))

3. Inability to perform duties (N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(3))

4. Conduct unbecoming a public employee (N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6))

A departmental hearing was conducted on August 11, 2016, at which time all charges were sustained. Appellant was served with a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action dated January 5, 2017, removing appellant from his position as a police officer. The incident that gave rise to the removal was Ponce's positive random drug test administered April 20, 2015.

The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case on January 24, 2017. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

I heard this matter on April 26, 2017, and April 28, 2017. The record was kept open pending receipt of transcripts and closing arguments. Closing arguments were received on July 31, 2017, at which time the record was closed.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

Undisputed Facts

The following facts are undisputed. I therefore FIND them to be the facts of this case.

Appellant was employed as a police officer for the Township of North Bergen (Township) in 2015. The Township has a random-drug-testing policy for all law-enforcement officers that was in effect in 2015. Appellant was selected to submit to a random drug test on April 20, 2015. Appellant provided a urine sample that was analyzed at the New Jersey State Toxicology Laboratory (State Lab). A second sample, known as a "split" sample, was also taken, but never analyzed.

The test results provided by the State Lab indicate that the Ponce urine sample tested positive for cocaine.

Testimony for Respondent

Dr. Robert Havier, Ph.D.

Dr. Robert Havier (Dr. Havier) is a forensic toxicologist and the acting director of the New Jersey State Toxicology Laboratory. He testified as an expert in toxicology. Havier oversaw the screening of the urine sample Ponce provided.

Havier testified that the State Lab is charged with conducting random drug tests for every law-enforcement authority statewide. Havier noted that the State Lab is the only such facility in New Jersey that provides toxicology testing for law-enforcement entities. The State Lab has been certified by the College of American Pathologists since October 2016, though it is not required to be certified by any governing body.

Dr. Havier first described the general procedure regarding receiving, identifying and processing an individual urine sample. Dr. Havier stated that each sample is given an initial screening (an amino-acid analysis), which identifies the presence of various drugs in the urine. If a urine sample is screened and evidence of a drug exists in the urine, the urine sample is transferred to a secure law-enforcement-testing portion of the lab for further testing and analysis known as a confirmation test.

Dr. Havier described the confirmation test as a chemical extraction and analysis performed using gas chromatography and mass spectrometry. Dr. Havier stated that this is the procedure used by most labs doing this type of drug testing on urine samples. This process will identify the specific drug and provide the amount of the drug present in the sample based on the principle of mass fragmentation. Dr. Havier explained that an extract of the sample is injected into a column and is vaporized. The time it takes for the vapor of the drug to leave the column (the retention time) is one of the identifying characteristics of the drug. Once the vapor leaves the column it enters into the mass detector, where it encounters a high electronic beam that fragments the vapor. The machine measures the weight of these fragments and the identity of the drug is determined. The amount of the drug present in the sample is used to determine the "cut-off level." The cut-off level refers to the amount of a drug present in a given sample and whether that amount is enough for the sample to be considered positive. The cut-off level is established by federal guidelines.

Dr. Havier testified that the State Lab conducted a test on appellant's urine sample (the sample) in April 2015. Dr. Havier then read from a document dated April 20, 2015, marked as "Ponce 8," which Dr. Havier described as the results of the initial test performed on the sample. Dr. Havier testified that these results indicated that the sample had tested positive for cocaine. Dr. Havier then testified that the positive sample was transferred for a confirmation test (gas chromatography/mass spectrometry (GCMS) test).

Dr. Havier then read from a document dated April 23, 2015, marked as "Ponce 9," which he described as an internal chain-of-custody form relative to the tests performed on the sample. He testified that the confirmation test was performed over two days: April 21, 2015, and April 22, 2015. Two aliquots were tested on the first day and three on the second. An aliquot is a small portion of the sample that is inserted into the GCMS machine for testing. He explained that each aliquot tested is diluted with a varying amount of neutral or "blank" urine. Certain dilutions will give a more accurate result based on the concentration of the drug in the original sample.

Dr. Havier stated that on the first day of testing the results were out of acceptable range due to a very large amount of cocaine present in the aliquots tested. The aliquots had to be further diluted to account for the large amount of cocaine present in the sample, and then re-tested.

Dr. Havier then read from documents marked as "Ponce 73" and "Ponce 74," respectively. He identified these as the results of the confirmation testing performed on the sample on April 22, 2015. He testified that the sample was found to contain cocaine, cocaethylene, and benzoylecgonine. He testified that cocaethylene is a metabolite formed in the body when cocaine is consumed in conjunction with alcohol, and that benzoylecgonine is the major metabolite of cocaine. Dr. Havier stated that there were 227 nanograms per milliliter of cocaine, 103 nanograms per milliliter of cocaethylene, and 3,662.4 nanograms per milliliter of benzoylecgonine present in the sample. He testified that the State Lab cut-off rate was 100 nanograms per milliliter for all three substances. Any sample found to contain 100 nanograms or more per milliliter is considered a positive result. The sample tested in the instant matter was found to contain well beyond the cut-off amount. Dr. Havier concludes that the sample was positive for cocaine. He stated that this conclusion was made within a reasonable degree of scientific certainty.

Testimony for Appellant

Dr. Lyle Hayes, Ph.D.

Dr. Lyle Hayes (Dr. Hayes) is a certified New York State forensic toxicologist. He testified as an expert in toxicology. Dr. Hayes reviewed the report and results of the test performed at the State Lab on the Ponce urine sample and he drafted a report based on his review. He did not conduct his own test on any urine sample.

Dr. Hayes testified that he reviewed the State Lab results in order to evaluate the standard operating procedures, chain of custody, operation of the instruments, and interpretation of the results. Dr. Hayes testified that the State Lab was not certified by any certifying agency at the time the test on the Ponce sample was performed, and that such certification is important to ensure proper testing.

Dr. Hayes testified that he found various procedural and reporting problems with the State Lab reports/results. Dr. Hayes drafted a report (A-1) based on his findings and conclusions.

Dr. Hayes then testified regarding Ponce 8 (previously described by Dr. Havier as the results of the initial test performed on the sample). He testified that this document showed that the corresponding sample screened positive for cocaine and its metabolites. Dr. Hayes testified that the date and time indicated on Ponce 8 is 13:49 (1:49 p.m.) on April 20, 2015. Dr. Hayes testified that according to another document he reviewed from the State Lab, the sample did not reach the State Lab until 1:56 p.m. Dr. Hayes concludes that this is a clear discrepancy with regards to the timing of the chain of custody, but notes that he failed to refer to this discrepancy in his report. (A-1.) Dr. Hayes does state in his report that there appear to be "a number of clerical and technical errors" in the State Lab records that call into question the reliability of the testing process.

Dr. Hayes then testified regarding the "unacceptable chromatographic results, as seen on pp. 378–380," and to "benzoylecgonine carryover in blank urine on p. 56" as described in his report. (A-1.) Dr. Hayes explained that pages 378–380 of the State Lab report (marked Ponce 378–80) reflect tests performed on March 24, 2015. He noted that the results did not have the proper ratios and were therefore questionable results. He added that remedial action would need to be taken to correct these flaws.

Ponce 56 indicates that on April 21, 2015, a test on blank urine detected benzoylecgonine at a concentration of -16.52. Dr. Hayes testified that he views two problems with this test. The first is that the concentration was a negative, which Dr. Hayes concludes is the result of the machine not being calibrated properly.

Dr. Hayes testified that this is not a major problem and can be corrected. The larger problem is that benzoylecgonine was found to be present at all in the blank urine tested. Dr. Hayes concluded that the testing column was "dirty" or contaminated when the test was conducted. A "dirty" column means there are residual elements of a prior sample remaining in the column. Dr. Hayes states that this is an issue that should be addressed by some sort of remedial action, and he saw no remedial action taken by the State Lab based on his review of the records.

Dr. Hayes then testified with regard to Ponce 9. He notes that on line three of the document the lab technician notes, "1:50, 1:20 & straight—qualifiers out." Dr. Hayes opines that this means that a test was performed on the Ponce sample at dilutions of 1:50, 1:20 and straight (meaning not diluted), and that the test did not return acceptable results. Dr. Hayes testified that under such circumstances the sample should be diluted further and retested for a more accurate result.

On cross-examination, Dr. Hayes testified that he has never been to the State Lab or inspected any of the equipment there. He testified that he had not conducted any of his own tests on either the sample tested at the State Lab or the split sample. Of the two labs he currently works at, neither perform such tests. He stated that the initial amino-acid test performed on the urine sample is not enough for a confirmation, and added that amino-acid tests will give a false positive approximately 20–40 percent of the time. He agreed that a confirmation test such as the one performed in this case is needed.

Dr. Hayes then testified to a series of documents included in the State Lab's report. He testified to a document identified as Ponce 133 and stated that he reviewed this document in preparing his report. Dr. Hayes agreed that this document shows the identification criteria for benzoylecgonine. He testified to a document identified as Ponce 130 and stated that he reviewed this document in preparing his report. Dr. Hayes agreed that this document shows the identification criteria for benzoylecgonine. Dr. Hayes testified to a document identified as Ponce 134 and stated that he reviewed this document in preparing his report. Dr. Hayes agreed that this document shows the identification criteria for cocaine. Dr. Hayes testified to a document identified as Ponce 135 and stated that he reviewed this document in preparing his report. Dr. Hayes agreed that this document shows the identification criteria for cocaethylene.

Dr. Hayes testified that the result of the Ponce test as per the report is positive (for cocaine), and that he cannot testify within a reasonable degree of scientific certainty that the result of the test performed on the Ponce sample was a false positive. (See Transcript of April 28, 2017, at 97, lines 1–3.)

Dr. Hayes then testified that with regard to Ponce 9, the notation "qualifiers out" does not mean the test sample is negative for cocaine, nor does it mean the test sample should have come back negative. Dr. Hayes testified that in his opinion "qualifiers out" means the test result is unreliable because the qualifiers were not in the acceptable range. Dr. Hayes testified that diluting the sample further could remedy this issue. Dr. Hayes also testified that he believed that "qualifiers out" referred to the tests performed at the 1:50 and 1:20 dilutions on April 21, 2015.

Dr. Hayes testified that the qualifiers were within the acceptable range on the April 22 test performed, and that he saw no problem with the results from the April 22 test (the results upon which the subject removal is predicated).

Dr. Hayes testified that the errors he identified in his expert report (A-1) are not sufficient to negate the entire test performed at the State Lab, but are sufficient to call the results into question. He further testified that he does not know if the positive result on the Ponce sample is a false positive.

Dr. Robert Havier, Ph.D.

Dr. Havier was recalled to rebut Dr. Hayes' testimony. Dr. Havier testified that the notation "qualifiers out" in Ponce 9 referred to the tests performed on the Ponce sample with the wrong dilutions on April 21, 2015, and not to the tests on the Ponce sample with the proper dilutions on April 22, 2015. Dr. Havier reiterated his prior testimony that certain dilutions will give a more accurate result based on the concentration of the drug in the sample tested.

With regard to the discrepancy between the time stamp on Ponce 1 and the time shown on Ponce 8, Dr. Havier explained that Ponce 1 is stamped with a Bates stamp by a receptionist at the front desk. He stated that this Bates stamp may be adjusted by the receptionist at any time and is not necessarily accurate. The time on Ponce 1 has no correlation to the functionality or times kept by any of the equipment in the State Lab. The time on Ponce 8 is the time recorded by the amino-acid testing machine and does not relate to the Bates stamp machine at the front desk. He testified that the difference in time between the Bates stamp on Ponce 1 and the time indicated on Ponce 8 in no way affects the outcome of either the amino-acid test or the confirmation test.

Arguments of the Parties and Additional Findings of Fact

Dr. Havier testified that the Ponce urine sample tested positive for cocaine, cocaethylene and benzoylecgonine, and that this conclusion was made within a reasonable degree of scientific certainty.

Appellant asserts that the test conducted on his urine sample at the State Lab was flawed and therefore produced a false positive. He relies on his expert's report (A-1) to illustrate these flaws. Exhibit A-1 was produced by Dr. Hayes, a forensic pathologist, who reviewed 480 pages of documents obtained from the State Lab (Ponce 1 through Ponce 480) and drafted a report based on this review.

Dr. Hayes first raises the issue that the State Lab is not certified by any governing body or institution, and argues that such certification is required to ensure proper testing. Dr. Havier testified that the Lab has been certified by the College of American Pathologists since October 2016, but noted that there is no law or regulation requiring the State Lab to be certified.

The issue of certifying the State Lab speaks to the internal policies and procedures of the lab as a whole, and calls into question the results of any and all tests performed at the State Lab. I reject this argument, as petitioner has failed to show how certification would change or in any way affect the State Lab or its policies and procedures. The general policies and procedures of the State Lab are not on trial, and this tribunal is not in a position to evaluate whether all tests performed at the State Lab are flawed.

On page 2, paragraph 6, of the expert report Dr. Hayes points to "unacceptable chronographic results, as seen on pp. 378–380" and to "benzoylecgonine carryover in blank urine on p. 56." (A-1.) The testimony of both expert witnesses confirms that pages 378–380 as referred to by Dr. Hayes correspond to a machine-calibration test run on blank urine done on March 24, 2015, almost one full month before the Ponce sample was tested. Dr. Havier testified that this March 24, 2015, calibration test performed on blank urine has absolutely no bearing on the April 21 and 22, 2015, tests performed on the Ponce sample at the State Lab. Since the "unacceptable chronographic results, as seen on pp. 378–380" do not refer to tests actually performed on the Ponce sample, I find they are not relevant in determining the validity of the tests performed on the Ponce sample at the State Lab on April 21 and 22, 2015.

With regard to "benzoylecgonine carryover in blank urine on p. 56," Dr. Hayes testified that this was a "red flag" because it showed that the testing machine used by the State Lab found traces of benzoylecgonine in "blank" or "clean" urine. Dr. Hayes testified that this false positive is likely due to the machine being "dirty," meaning there is residual benzoylecgonine present in the machine from a prior test. Dr. Hayes testified that in such an instance remedial action needs to be taken to ensure a good result on future tests.

Dr. Havier testified that the test highlighted here by Dr. Hayes was a calibration test routinely performed to ensure that the machine is functioning correctly. Dr. Havier testified that it is common for residual substances to be present in the machine from a prior test. Dr. Havier testified that in order to remediate this issue the standard procedure is to run a test on blank urine through the machine prior to testing an actual donor sample. The blank urine sample clears out any residual substances from the prior donor sample tested and insures that the next test will not have any residual substances present. Dr. Havier testified that this procedure was followed when testing the Ponce sample, and that there was therefore no residual cocaine or cocaine metabolite present in the testing column of the machine when the Ponce sample was tested.

Also regarding Ponce 56, Dr. Hayes notes that the benzoylecgonine concentration was recorded as -16.52. Dr. Hayes testified this reading was incorrect on its face since the machine recorded a concentration less than zero. Dr. Hayes subsequently testified that it was not a major problem and could be remediated by further dilution.

With regard to the test performed on the Ponce sample on April 21, 2015, Dr. Hayes testified that he understood "qualifiers out" as indicated on Ponce 9 to refer to a test performed at dilutions of 1:20 and 1:50 on April 21, 2015. As was explained in detail by Dr. Havier, "qualifiers out" as indicated on Ponce 9 referred to a 1:10 dilution performed on April 21, 2015, and was a notation made to show why the 1:10 dilution was insufficient and instructing further testing to be performed at 1:20 and 1:50. This further testing was performed on April 22, 2015, at the new dilutions. Dr. Hayes testified that this would constitute remedial action, and stated there is nothing wrong with the April 22, 2015, Ponce test results.

Dr. Hayes also testified that he does not know if the positive test result on the Ponce sample at the core of this case was a false positive.

Finally, appellant raises the issue of a discrepancy regarding the time recorded on the April 21, 2015, Bates stamp on Ponce 1 and the time recorded on the April 21, 2015, amino-acid-test computer-printout sheet (Ponce 8). While I find that there is a clear discrepancy between the two times indicated, I do not find that the discrepancy is a fatal flaw, nor do I find that the discrepancy tends to disprove the positive result of the confirmation test performed on April 22, 2015. The arguments against the validity of the test as presented by appellant fall into three general categories: 1) flaws in the testing procedures at the State Lab generally; 2) flaws regarding tests performed on the Ponce sample; and 3) flaws regarding tests performed on urine samples other than the Ponce sample. I FIND that the general testing procedures of the New Jersey State Toxicology Laboratory are adequate to perform a valid test on a urine sample and procure a result within a reasonable degree of scientific certainty. I therefore reject any argument predicated upon scrutiny of those procedures generally.

Appellant argues that if any test performed in the lab was flawed, then the test performed on the Ponce sample may, too, be flawed. I reject this argument for two reasons. First, I do not find that appellant did, in fact, prove that any past test was flawed, and, second, even if some test given at the State Lab on some other date was flawed, this would not disprove the validity of the test performed on the Ponce sample on April 22, 2015, the test upon which the subject removal is predicated.

In the case at bar, appellant has stipulated that the only issue before me is the validity of the test performed on the Ponce urine sample and whether any such flaw resulted in a false positive. The Township of North Bergen has shown by a preponderance of the credible evidence that the test performed on the Ponce urine sample at the State Lab was a valid test, and I FIND the result of that test to be a valid result.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The Civil Service Act and its associated regulations govern the rights and duties of a civil service employee. N.J.S.A. 11A:1-1 to 11A:12-6; N.J.A.C. 4A:1-1.1, et seq. A civil service employee who commits a wrongful act related to his or her duties, or gives other just cause, may be subject to major discipline. N.J.S.A. 11A:2-6; N.J.S.A. 11A:2-20; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.2; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3. Among the causes for major discipline are incompetency, inefficiency or failure to perform duties; inability to perform duties; and conduct unbecoming a public employee. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(1), (3), (6).

The issues to be determined at the de novo hearing are whether the employee is guilty of the charges brought against him/her and, if so, the appropriate penalty, if any, that should be imposed. Henry v. Rahway State Prison, 81 N.J. 571 (1980); West New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500 (1962).

This case is particularly sensitive because it involves law-enforcement officials.

> [A] police officer is a special kind of public employee. His primary duty is to enforce and uphold the law. He carries a service revolver on his person and is constantly called upon to exercise tact, restraint and good judgment in his relationship with the public. He represents law and order to the citizenry and must present an image of personal integrity and dependability in order to have the respect of the public . . . .

Even more troubling is the fact that illicit drugs may be involved. "Every police officer understands that an officer who uses or sells drugs is a threat to the public." Rawlings v. Police Dep't of Jersey City, 133 N.J. 182, 189 (1993).

In this matter, the Township bears the burden of proving the charges against appellant by a preponderance of the credible evidence. N.J.S.A. 11A:2-21; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-1.4(a). Thus, it is my duty to decide in favor of the party on whose side the weight of the evidence preponderates, and according to the reasonable probability of truth. Jackson v. Delaware, Lackawanna and W. R.R., 111 N.J.L. 487, 490 (E. & A. 1933). Evidence is said to preponderate "if it establishes 'the reasonable probability of the fact.'" Jaeger v. Elizabethtown Consol. Gas Co., 124 N.J.L. 420, 423 (Sup. Ct. 1940) (citation omitted). The evidence must "be such as to lead a reasonably cautious mind to the given conclusion." Bornstein v. Metro. Bottling Co., 26 N.J. 263, 275 (1958).

In the case at bar, appellant provided a urine sample that tested positive for cocaine. Appellant has attacked the general testing procedures of the State Lab and the results of a few isolated tests that his expert found to be "questionable" in order to raise a shadow of doubt over the test conducted on the urine sample. This tribunal is not swayed by the evidence presented by appellant. Appellant's own expert testified that he cannot opine within a reasonable degree of forensic certainty that Officer Ponce's positive test was a false positive. (See Transcript dated April 28, 2017, at 97, lines 1–3.) The preponderance of the credible evidence weighs in favor of the respondent Township of North Bergen.

The only remaining issue left to address is whether termination is the appropriate form of discipline for appellant's actions. In making this determination one must consider the nature of the misconduct, the nature of the employee's job, and the impact of the misconduct on the public interest. Depending on the conduct complained of, major discipline may be imposed. Major discipline may include removal, disciplinary demotion, or a suspension or fine no greater than six months. N.J.S.A. 11A:2-6(a), -20; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.2, -2.4. Nevertheless, the law is also clear that a single incident can be egregious enough to warrant removal without reliance on progressive-discipline policies. See In re Herrmann, 192 N.J. 19, 33 (2007) (Division of Youth and Family Services worker who snapped lighter in front of five-year-old), in which the Court stated:

> . . . judicial decisions have recognized that progressive discipline is not a necessary consideration when reviewing an agency head's choice of penalty when the misconduct is severe, when it is unbecoming to the employee's position or renders the employee unsuitable for continuation in the position, or when application of the principle would be contrary to the public interest.
> Thus, progressive discipline has been bypassed when an employee engages in severe misconduct, especially when the employee's position involves public safety and the misconduct causes risk of harm to persons or property. See, e.g., Henry v. Rahway State Prison, 81 N.J. 571, 580, 410 A.2d 686 (1980).

In the case at bar, respondent argues that North Bergen's drug policies comport with the New Jersey Attorney General Guidelines, which provide for termination in instances of a positive drug test. Appellant agreed, and stipulated on the record that if I find that the test results are reliable, then by way of statute the only possible resolution of the case is termination. (See Transcript dated April 26, 2017, at 7, lines 2–4.) I therefore CONCLUDE that removal is the appropriate discipline for a law-enforcement officer who used illegal drugs. For purposes of this administrative disciplinary proceeding alleging incompetency, inefficiency or failure to perform duties; inability to perform duties; and conduct unbecoming a public employee, I CONCLUDE that the North Bergen Police Department has proven by a preponderance of the credible evidence that its determination to remove appellant was proper.

ORDER

Accordingly, it is ORDERED that the disciplinary action entered in the Final Notice of Disciplinary Action of the North Bergen Police Department against appellant Francisco Ponce is hereby AFFIRMED.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, MERIT SYSTEM PRACTICES AND LABOR RELATIONS, UNIT H, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, 44 South Clinton Avenue, P.O. Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

FINAL ADMINISTRATIVE ACTION
OF THE
CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

ISSUED: OCTOBER 5, 2017 BW

The appeal of Perry Wooding, Security Officer, New Jersey City University, resignation not in good standing effective July 14, 2015, on charges, was heard by Administrative Law Judge Evelyn J. Marose, who rendered her initial decision on August 28, 2017. No exceptions were filed.

Having considered the record and the Administrative Law Judge's initial decision, and having made an independent evaluation of the record, the Civil Service Commission (Commission), at its meeting of October 4, 2017, accepted and adopted the Findings of Fact and Conclusion as contained in the attached Administrative Law Judge's initial decision.

ORDER

The Civil Service Commission finds that the action of the appointing authority in resigning the appellant not in good standing was justified. The Commission therefore affirms that action and dismisses the appeal of Perry Wooding.

This is the final administrative determination in this matter. Any further review should be pursued in a judicial forum.

INITIAL DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. CSV 16969-15
AGENCY DKT. NO. 2016-734

IN THE MATTER OF PERRY WOODING, NEW JERSEY CITY UNIVERSITY.

Perry Wooding, appellant, pro se

Jennifer Hoff, Deputy Attorney General, for respondent New Jersey City University (Christopher S. Porrino, Attorney General of New Jersey, attorney)

Record Closed: July 12, 2017 Decided: August 28, 2017

BEFORE EVELYN J. MAROSE, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Appellant Perry Wooding ("Wooding") appeals his termination from his position of security officer by respondent New Jersey City University ("University") for unauthorized absence and job abandonment.

The University mailed appellant a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action ("PNDA") on July 6, 2015. The PNDA was sent to an address where Wooding never resided, and the PNDA was returned to the University marked "Unclaimed, Unable to Forward." (R-3; R-5.) The University hand-delivered a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action ("FNDA") to Wooding on July 14, 2015. (R-4(a); R-4(b).)

In the FNDA, charges of unauthorized absence and abandonment of job as a result of absence from work as scheduled without permission for five consecutive days, in violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-6.2(b), were sustained, and Wooding was terminated effective July 14, 2015. On August 3, 2015, Wooding filed an appeal with the Civil Service Commission. Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on October 19, 2015. Hearings were conducted on March 9, 2016, June 15, 2016, and April 12, 2017. The record closed upon receipt of written summations on July 12, 2017.

TESTIMONIAL AND DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE

Denise Gourdine, Robert Piaskowsky, Nancy Mitchell, and John Griffin testified on behalf of the University. Perry Wooding testified on his own behalf.

Denise Gourdine

Denise Gourdine ("Gourdine") has been employed by the University for approximately twenty-six years. For the last two years she has been the assistant director of public safety. As part of her position she is involved with training, officers' scheduling, management operations, special events, emergency management, and discipline. She also works closely with the unions, and counsels and consoles employees. Prior to being assistant director, Gourdine was assistant supervisor for about nine years. In that role, she oversaw shift operations and assisted the shift supervisor. Prior to being assistant supervisor, she was a shift supervisor, and prior to being a shift supervisor, for about six years, she was a security officer. When Gourdine was shift supervisor, she supervised Wooding for day and midnight tours. As part of those supervisory duties she reviewed and approved his attendance log and signed off on write-ups.

Gourdine has personal knowledge of the procedures that employees must use to "call out" of work. Per their union contract and per policy of the University and the Public Safety Department, public-security staff must call out at least two hours prior to the start of their shift, unless their absence is caused by an emergency that prevents such notice. Should two hours' notice not be possible, a telephone call regarding the absence must still be made, as soon as possible, so that the shift supervisor can either find a replacement or reassign duties. It is the shift supervisor's job to document an employee's absence and to note the employee's return back to duty. Employees receive training in absentee procedures at the start of their employment, and the procedures are also memorialized in their union contract.

Employee absenteeism is recorded on two forms. One form is completed when an officer "calls out" or if a family member "calls out" for the officer. A secretary maintains another form that is a matrix chart of the whole department's absenteeism. That matrix form is submitted monthly to the director of human resources for review, so that problematic attendance can be addressed with those employees. Gourdine identified a Disciplinary Action Matrix for Wooding, which was made by the secretary of the Public Safety Department, based upon information that the secretary received from the associate director, Joseph Rodriguez. (R-1.) After the first day of hearing, Gourdine reviewed the Disciplinary Action Matrix initially submitted and compared it to the documents contained in Wooding's personnel file. Thereafter, on March 24, 2016, Gourdine submitted a revised Disciplinary Action Matrix, which she certified was accurate and consistent with the documents in Wooding's personnel file. (R-6(a), Exhibit C.)

Gourdine described Wooding's job duties as a security officer as demanding. Since the job is to protect and serve, attendance is vital. Security officers must not only come to work, they must arrive on time. They patrol buildings, and respond to medical calls, incidents, slip-and-fall accidents, and emergencies, including fire emergencies. They write reports. Most recently, Wooding was assigned to the midnight shift. Gourdine noted that the midnight shift is not more laid back than the day shift; however, it does have some unique characteristics. An officer who is assigned to the midnight shift must be visible and alert at all times in order to prevent non-authorized persons from entering the three residences halls where 262 students reside; to deter robberies and prevent transient persons from wandering the campus; and to handle emergency weather conditions. Since the midnight shift is staffed a little lighter, when someone is absent, especially without notice, it is "tough." Replacing a security officer on the midnight shift is especially problematic since overtime occurs on a voluntary basis, and some personnel find it difficult to stay awake all night, especially after their own eight-hour shift. The shift supervisor or another security guard might have to serve double duty if a replacement cannot be made.

Gourdine explained the duties of a tour supervisor. That staff person is in charge of a particular shift. He is responsible for officer training, attendance, scheduling, disciplinary issues, tour assignment, daily work assignment, vacation requests, and the review of his shift officers' reports.

If Wooding "called in" to provide the University with notice prior to being absent, an absenteeism form would have been created that would have included the anticipated number of days that Wooding would be absent, and his "rest days," for which no coverage would have been need. At the time of the "call-in" Wooding would have been asked to bring in supporting documents as to the reason for his absence. Since Alvin Agir and Robert Kline were Wooding's tour supervisors, it would have been their duty to complete an absenteeism report relating to any absent by Wooding.

In July 2015, Gourdine reviewed the documentation created by the University noting that Wooding had not reported to work for five days and had not "called in." She became concerned, and, on July 14, 2015, telephoned Wooding about his July absences. She was concerned since a five-day "no call" incident is usually automatic termination, and these July absences were not Wooding's first problem with absenteeism.

In their telephone conference, Wooding acknowledged that he did not come in to work. He said that he was not feeling well. Wooding told Gourdine that he realized that he had "messed up." He should have called or had someone call. He wanted to try to make it right. Wooding told Gourdine that he intended to come in and talk to the Human Resources (HR), to see if he had any options. Gourdine did not discourage Wooding from "coming in" and trying to rectify his behavior and explain to HR the details of his absence. Still, Gourdine was surprised when shortly after their telephone conference Wooding arrived at Gourdine's office. Gourdine contacted Sherry Thomas, Wooding's union president, so that Wooding could have union support, and Robert Piaskowsky, the director of HR, and asked them to come to her office so that they could discuss whatever options and resources were available to Wooding. In both their telephone and office conference, Gourdine advised Wooding that his actions had subjected him to termination by the University.

Gourdine stated that Wooding "realized that his absenteeism had been a problem over the years." She described Wooding as emotional. Wooding told them that he had a lot of personal issues and medical issues, and that lots of things were taking a toll on him. Gourdine does not remember that Wooding said he was hospitalized, and Wooding never offered to bring, or brought in, medical documentation detailing a medical reason for his absences.

In lieu of termination, which would be more detrimental to Wooding's job opportunities, the option of Wooding resigning in good standing was discussed with him. Wooding was also advised that he had the option of bringing in medical documentation in support of his absenteeism. In Gourdine's opinion, by the end of the meeting in her office, Wooding seemed to agree to provide the University with a written resignation.

Gourdine has no memory of any discussion of a leave of absence as another option. Gourdine further stated that she was not certain that Wooding would have qualified for a leave of absence at that time, based upon his prior absentee record and past leaves of absence. Gourdine is aware that another meeting occurred that same day, in the HR office, though she did not attend that meeting. She was told that during that meeting, an FNDA was hand-delivered to Wooding.

Gourdine said that Wooding's missing five consecutive days as a no show/no call would definitely have had a negative impact on the University's public safety. An absence of five days was difficult to cover with overtime and would have to have involved a tour supervisor taking a post and/or the doubling of post assignments.

Robert Piaskowsky

Robert Piaskowsky ("Piaskowsky") has been the director of HR since 1999. As part of his responsibilities he oversees all employee relations for classified staff, benefits, personnel records, and staffing. He is also familiar with the policies and procedures mandated for employees who want to request time off. Piaskowsky stated that all employees must call into their particular department should they require a day off. However, in accordance with the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA), if an employee requires any sort of medical treatment or hospitalization, the employee needs to submit a note to HR rather than to his department supervisor. The note should be from a medical practitioner, with a diagnosis and an approximate return-to-work date. These policies and procedures are memorialized in the union contract and the Administrative Code, and are also available on the University website and employee portal. Piaskowsky would only be aware of an employee's absenteeism were it to be associated with a disciplinary action.

In July 2015, Piaskowsky received a memorandum advising him that Wooding had been absent without "calling in" on July 1, 2015, July 2, 2015, July 4, 2015, July 5, 2015, and July 7, 2015. He did not receive copies of the daily Absentee Reports for those days.

Piaskowsky identified the PNDA, which he prepared on, after he received notice that Wooding had been absent without "calling in" for five consecutive days. He put the completed PNDA in his "outbox" on July 7, 2015, to be processed by the University mailroom for delivery via regular and certified mail. In accordance with the New Jersey Department of Personnel guide that describes disciplinary penalties, Piaskowsky noted the penalty of removal on the form for an unauthorized absence for five or more days. In accordance with normal University pattern and practice and union procedure, Piaskowsky also detailed a proposed time and date for a departmental hearing on the PNDA. Piaskowsky used a mailing address for Wooding on his PNDA that he obtained from the PeopleSoft system. He noted that employees have an obligation to make sure that the University has the correct address for them on file.[1]

Piaskowsky stated that while in most cases an FNDA will issue after a PNDA, if an employee resigns or retires or there is a settlement before a hearing of the charges, an FNDA might not issue. (R-3.) However, in this case, Piaskowsky authored, issued, and delivered an FNDA to Wooding on July 14, 2015. Piaskowsky stated that, during meetings with Wooding that day, Wooding told him "that he knew that he did wrong" and that he did not want a departmental hearing. Wooding wanted a Final Notice so that he could go to unemployment. (R-4.) Wooding "unequivocally" did not tell Piaskowsky that he suffered any sort of medical issue or hospitalization in July 2015, and never provided medical documentation so indicating to the HR director. Piaskowsky has no knowledge of any other meeting that Wooding might have had with another HR staff member, including any meeting wherein the possibility of Wooding taking family medical leave might have been discussed.

Nancy Mitchell

Since February 8, 2016, Nancy Mitchell ("Mitchell") has been a medical clerk at the University. Previously, beginning on July 5, 2011, she worked in the Public Safety Department, first as a security officer and then as a dispatcher. Her duties when she was a dispatcher involved taking calls from security guards affirming their location, handling requests by the guards for assistance, handling emergency requests, handling non-emergency requests (such as calls from faculty that they needed certain doors opened or closed), and processing absentee "call-ins" from security staff.

Mitchell stated that absences have to be "called in" to the dispatcher before a security staff person is out sick. A security officer cannot tell the dispatcher that they will be out indefinitely. When a security officer intends to remain out the next day, he or she needs to "call in" their intended absence each day. When a "call-in" is received, the dispatcher logs it into a book and completes a document called an "Absentee Report."

[1] Wooding testified that he never lived at the address where the PNDA was mailed.

The call is then transferred to the security officer's supervisor. If the supervisor is not available to pick up the call, the dispatcher must continue to reach out to the supervisor and forward the information regarding the absence to him, so that the supervisor can be aware if the next shift will be short. The dispatcher cannot go home without passing on the information to the supervisor. The dispatcher also places the Absentee Report on top of a clipboard so that the next shift supervisor will know who, if anyone, is going to be absent from their shift.

Mitchell stated that once a security officer determines that he or she will have to be out for a "length of time," the security officer must call HR rather than just "call in" to a dispatcher. In those cases, HR will advise the department of the security officer of the employee's need for a lengthy absence. The department will then advise the dispatcher that he or she will not be getting a call from that security officer because he or she will be out for a "length of time."

Mitchell is familiar with Wooding, who trained her when she was initially hired as a security guard. At times, after Mitchell was assigned to be a dispatcher, Wooding "called in" to Mitchell to report that he would be absent.

Mitchell identified the Absentee Report that she completed on June 29, 2015, in response to a telephone call from Wooding reporting that he would be absent June 30, 2015, because of sickness. (R-7.) Mitchell did not recall Wooding telling her that he would be out indefinitely. Mitchell remembered transferring Wooding's telephone call to John Griffin, his supervisor. If Mitchell were not able to reach Griffin, she would have noted in the log she maintained that the supervisor was not available to take the call. In this case, Mitchell did not make any such notation in the log. (P-7 at 3.)

John Griffin

For the last twenty-nine years, John Griffin ("Griffin") has been employed by the University. Initially, he was a security officer, and then a senior security officer, until he was promoted to be assistant supervisor, a positon that he still holds. As assistant supervisor, Griffin is responsible for twelve employees on his shift and the safety of the campus during that shift. Griffin has known Wooding since Wooding's initial employment by the University. During the period at issue, Griffin was responsible for supervising Wooding. Griffin opined that Wooding's attendance record was poor. He stated that, over the years, he had "received more than numerous calls from Wooding himself and also his wife stating that he would be out sick."

Griffin affirmed that if one of the employees that he supervised "called in" his intended absence to the dispatcher, after the dispatcher documented the call, the call would be transferred to him. Griffin would then confer with the employee regarding the absence. If appropriate, he would make notes on the Absentee Form of the information that he learned regarding the length or cause of the absence, such as that the security officer was really handling a household emergency rather than being sick or that a family member "called in" rather than the employee. Griffin defined a "timely call-in" as a call received at least an hour or two before a shift began. He affirmed that the security officer could not simply tell the dispatcher that the officer would be out "indefinitely." After the security officer informed his supervisor that he needed an extended absence, the officer would need to call HR, "because HR has to deal with everything that's going to be extended."

Griffin stated that he did not recall, since more than two years had passed, whether or not he spoke to Wooding on June 29, 2015. However, Griffin was certain that he was never advised by Wooding that he needed an extended absence. He was also never told by Mitchell, in accordance with her normal procedure, that Wooding had told her that he needed an extended absence. If Griffin had been so advised by Wooding, he would have directed Wooding to contact HR. If he learned that Wooding intended to be out several days, no matter how he obtained such information, he would have called or e-mailed that information to his assistant director, Joseph Rodriquez, and made notations on the Absentee Report regarding what he was advised and of any action he took, such as advising Wooding to contact HR. Griffin reviewed Exhibit R-7 and stated that he made no such notations on that form. It was also noted by Griffin that the Absentee Report indicated that Wooding would be out Tuesday, June 30, 2015. It did not indicate that Wooding intended to be out July 1, 2015, July 2, 2015, July 4, 2015, July 5, 2015, and/or July 7, 2017. It also did not indicate that Wooding would be out indefinitely.

Griffin also reviewed P-7, a copy of pages of the University log during the period at issue. He stated that he did not author any of those pages, which appeared to have been authored by Mitchell. Griffin again reviewed R-7, which he stated he would have seen at the end of his tour. Griffin noted that the Absentee Report was signed by the supervisor who supervised the midnight shift that night, in accordance with normal procedure. (P-7.) Griffin also acknowledged that the union book does not state that an employee has to "call in" every day if that employee already reported that he needed to be out for three days because of illness. However, he affirmed again that a daily "call-in" is required by Wooding's department unless that employee had processed a lengthy absence with HR.

Perry Wooding

The PNDA in this matter was addressed to Wooding at XX Virginia Terrace, Jersey City. However, Wooding never resided at XX Virginia Terrace. Accordingly, he was never served with a copy of the PNDA and had no knowledge that the PNDA indicated that if Wooding desired a departmental hearing, it would be held on July 16, 2015. (R-3.) Wooding acknowledged that he did receive a copy of the FNDA by hand delivery on July 14, 2015. (R-4(b).)

Wooding stated that he was an ideal employee of the University for over eleven years. (P-1.) He held numerous positions and received many promotions. Wooding stated that he had complained about other employees who came in late and fixed each other's schedules. He complained that those employees were not reprimanded, and based upon their supervisory positions, those employees were even able to reprimand other employees for the same infraction, coming in late. He speculated that he might have been terminated for whistleblowing rather than for the charges at issue.

Wooding personally telephoned the University dispatcher on July 29, 2015, and gave notice to the University that he would be out July 30, 2015, because of sickness.

He said that he told the dispatcher that he did not know when he would be able to return. He was having blurry vision, chest pain, dizziness, and numbness in his fingers at the time.

Since Wooding's doctor was not in the office, on July 1, 2015, Wooding went to Jersey City Medical Center, where he was admitted and retained overnight. (P-3.) Wooding asserts that, in accordance with University policy, he could not return to work after being out sick for three days or more without obtaining medical clearance. He could not obtain such clearance until July 16, 2015, when his doctor returned from vacation. (P-4.) Wooding acknowledged that he never provided the University with any medical documentation, or advised the University that such medical documentation existed in July 2015. (Transcript, dated June 15, 2016, page 115, lines 5–13.)

Wooding stated that on June 29, 2015, he was not only sick, he was going through a lot of "things in his personal life with his children." His personal circumstances, which were known by the administration, had caused him to take off work on numerous occasions. Among other things, his daughter had suffered burns and his grandson had brain surgery. At times, Wooding provided the University with documentation relating to him and/or his family. Wooding did not provide any documentation to the University relating to any family illness on the days at issue.

While Wooding completed an Application for Family Leave, he acknowledged that he had not yet confirmed with Trenton that he could be considered for family leave, based upon the timing of his last leave. Further, the asserted reason for his requested leave was to care for a family member, not because of any personal illness and not relating to the days when Wooding failed to "call in." (P-5.)

Wooding did not testify that he went to the University on July 14, 2015, relating to his Family and Medical Leave Application. He stated that he did not go to the University on July 14, 2015, to discuss a failure to "call in." He stated that he went to the University on July 14, 2015, as he was directed to do by Gourdine in a telephone conference that day, wherein she directed Wooding to bring in his equipment, his identification, his clothes, and his keys. Wooding denies going to the University to meet

Gourdine to discuss his options. He denies wanting to be terminated that day so that he could apply for unemployment benefits. He asserts that he was terminated that day by Piaskowsky and handed the FNDA.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS

Based upon the evidence presented at the hearing, and the opportunity to observe the witnesses and assess their credibility, I FIND the following pertinent FACTS:

The PNDA in this matter was addressed to Wooding at XX Virginia Terrace, Jersey City. However, Wooding never resided at XX Virginia Terrace. Accordingly, he was never served with a copy of the PNDA and had no knowledge that the PNDA indicated that if Wooding desired a departmental hearing, it would be held on July 16, 2015. (P-3.) Wooding acknowledged that he did receive a copy of the FNDA by hand delivery on July 14, 2015. (P-4.) Thus, while Wooding was not served with the PNDA, I FIND that upon appealing his FNDA he received a hearing on all charges against him, detailed in the PNDA and FNDA, at the OAL.

Wooding was employed by the University for more than eleven years. He was bound by the University attendance policies and the procedures in place in his department. Wooding personally telephoned the University dispatcher on July 29, 2015, and gave notice to the University that he would be out July 30, 2015, because of sickness. He said that he told the dispatcher that he did not know when he would be able to return. I FIND that Wooding acknowledged that he never "called in" his intent to be absent after July 29, 2015.

A careful analysis of credibility is necessary in order to make critical findings of fact. For testimony to be believed, it must not only come from the mouth of a credible witness, but it also has to be credible in itself. "'[T]he interest, motive, bias, or prejudice of a witness may affect his credibility and justify the . . . [trier of fact], whose province it is to pass upon the credibility of an interested witness, in disbelieving his testimony.'" State v. Salimone, 19 N.J. Super. 600, 608 (App. Div.) (citation omitted), certif. denied, 10 N.J. 316 (1952). A credibility determination requires an overall assessment of the witness's story in light of its rationality, internal consistency and the manner in which it "hangs together" with other evidence. Carbo v. United States, 314 F.2d 718, 749 (9th Cir. 1963).

After observing the testimony of the five witnesses and considering their interest, bias, and motivation, I FIND the University's witnesses' testimony as to the required procedure for "calling in" sick to be credible and Wooding's testimony to lack credibility. All four of the University's witnesses testified that an employee who intends to be out sick is obligated to call out at least one hour prior to the start of his work shift, every day that he intends to be out sick, unless the employee has processed his need for a lengthy absence through HR. The dispatcher, shift supervisor and assistant director of public safety all consistently testified that a daily "call-in" is essential in the Public Safety Department, where the absent employee's shift must be covered by another employee or by a doubling of duties of another security person. None of the University employees had anything to gain by incorrectly stating the "call-in" procedures. In contrast, Wooding is appealing his removal. He is an interested party, highly motivated to develop a factual basis to assert that he used proper procedure when he only "called in" sick one day to the dispatcher, and that based upon his conversation with the dispatcher he was able to remain out sick until he obtained a doctor's note clearing him to return to work. Accordingly, I FIND that Wooding's absence from work on July 1, 2015, July 2, 2015, July 4, 2015, July 5, 2015, and July 7, 2015, was not reported in accordance with the University Department of Public Safety's attendance policies. I further FIND that Wooding was absent from work as scheduled without permission for five consecutive days.

Wooding stated that on June 29, 2015, he was not only sick, he was going through a lot of "things in his personal life with his children." His personal circumstances, which were known by the administration, had caused him to take off work on numerous occasions. Among other things, his daughter had suffered burns and his grandson had brain surgery. At times, Wooding provided the University with documentation relating to him and/or his family. However, I FIND that Wooding did not advise the University of any family issue or difficulty that excused his failure to "call in" his absences on July 1, 2015, July 2, 2015, July 4, 2015, July 5, 2015, and July 7, 2015.

While Wooding completed an application for family leave, no evidence was presented that he ever advised any University member that he was seeking medical leave. In addition, no evidence was presented that Wooding would have qualified for consideration for family leave, based upon the timing of his leave. To the contrary, Wooding acknowledged that he needed more information from Trenton regarding the timing of his last leave in order to determine if he qualified to apply for leave. Further, the asserted reason for his requested leave was to care for a family member, not because of any personal illness and not relating to the days when Wooding failed to "call in." (P-5.)[2] Accordingly, I FIND that Wooding's preparation of a Family and Medical Leave Application did not excuse his failure to "call in" his absences on July 1, 2015, July 2, 2015, July 4, 2015, July 5, 2015, and July 7, 2015.

Wooding did not testify that he went to the University on July 14, 2015, relating to his Family and Medical Leave Application. Wooding stated that he did not go to the University on July 14, 2015, to discuss a failure to "call in." He stated that he went to the University on July 14, 2015, as he was directed to do by Gourdine in a telephone conference that day, to bring in his equipment, his identification, his clothes, and his keys. In contrast, Piaskowsky and Gourdine said that the purpose of their meeting with Wooding that day was to discuss his failure to "call in" and the charges filed against him detailed on a PNDA for those actions. Again, I FIND Wooding's testimony to be less credible than Piaskowsky's and Gourdine's consistent testimony. Both witnesses said that they discussed Wooding's failure to call in, and that he acknowledged that "he did wrong." Both stated that there was no mention of any family leave application or medical documentation relating to Wooding's unapproved absences.

I FIND Piaskowsky's assertion that Wooding asked that he receive his FNDA by hand delivery the day of their meeting on July 14, 2015, so that he could apply for unemployment more credible than Wooding's denial of such a comment. I also FIND that Piaskowsky's testimony "hangs together" better than Wooding's testimony. Wooding is appealing the charge that he abandoned his job; it would not present him in a "favorable light" if it appeared that Wooding wanted to hurry the process of his termination so that he could get unemployment benefits. In contrast, Piaskowsky had no motivation to misrepresent Wooding's desire to use the FNDA to qualify for unemployment. Further, Wooding testified that he was "going through a lot of things in his personal life" and wanted time off to care for his family, which he believed that he might not qualify to receive because of the timing of his last family leave.

[2] It should be noted that this application incorrectly states that Wooding's last day of work was July 11, 2015, a day that he never worked. It also notes that his leave should begin on July 14, 2015, the day he was terminated. In addition, the Family and Medical Leave Application does not reference any illness of Wooding, but rather requests "time off" for Wooding to care for a family member.

Wooding stated that he complained about University employees who were not reprimanded for coming in late, and who, based upon their supervisory positions, were even able to reprimand other employees for the same infraction, that is, coming in late. He speculated that he could have been terminated for whistleblowing rather than for the charges at issue. However, no credible evidence was presented that Wooding complained about anything or that he complained to Gourdine, Piaskowsky, Mitchell, or Griffin. Further, the Conscientious Employee Protection Act ("CEPA") protects an employee who objects to or refuses to participate in certain actions that the employee reasonably believes are illegal or in violation of public policy from retaliatory action. N.J.S.A. 34:19-1 to 34:19-14. A salutary limiting principle of CEPA is that the offensive activity must pose a threat of public harm, not merely private harm or harm only to the aggrieved employee. Mehlman v. Mobil Oil Corp., 153 N.J. 163, 188 (1998). Accordingly, even if credible evidence was presented of Wooding's complaints, and no such evidence was presented, objecting to failure to reprimand supervisors who come in late and yet reprimand others for coming in late is not the kind of activity that would be protected by CEPA.

Employees of the State of New Jersey are governed by Title 11A of the New Jersey Statutes, known as the Civil Service Act. N.J.S.A. 11A:1-1 et seq.; N.J.A.C. 4A:1-1.1 et seq. The objectives of our civil service laws are articulated in N.J.S.A. 11A:1-2. They include rewarding employees for "'meritorious performance' and

'separat[ing]' others whose conduct of their duties is less than adequate." City of Newark v. Gaines, 309 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1998). Any employee who is absent from duty for five or more consecutive business days without the approval of his or her supervisor shall be considered to have abandoned his or her position and shall be recorded as a resignation not in good standing. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-6.2(b).

As an employee for more than eleven years, Wooding had knowledge of the University's policies regarding absenteeism, and for the need to cover the duties of an absentee security officer for public safety. Nevertheless, Wooding failed, on numerous days, to advise the University in advance of the start of the work day that he would not be in to work, including on July 1, 2015, July 2, 2015, July 4, 2015, July 5, 2015, and July 7, 2015. Wooding did not have the approval of any supervisor for his absences on July 1, 2015, July 2, 2015, July 4, 2015, July 5, 2015, and July 7, 2015.

Based upon a preponderance of the credible evidence, I CONCLUDE that the University sustained its burden of proving the charges against Wooding of unauthorized absence and abandonment of job as a result of absence from work as scheduled without permission for five consecutive days. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-6.2(b).

PENALTY

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-1.4, the University bears of the burden of proving the appropriateness of the major disciplinary action taken against Wooding. Violations of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-6.2 constitute grounds for major discipline. Major discipline may include removal. N.J.S.A. 11A:2-6(a).

A system of progressive discipline has evolved in New Jersey to serve the goals of providing employees with job security and protecting them from arbitrary employment decisions. The concept of progressive discipline is related to an employee's past record. The use of progressive discipline benefits employees and is strongly encouraged. The core of this concept is the nature, number, and proximity of prior disciplinary infractions, evaluated by progressively increasing penalties. W. New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500, 523 (1962).

Since being hired on February 26, 2004, Wooding has received verbal warnings, written warnings, and disciplinary charges relating to his absenteeism. Attached hereto and made a part hereof is a copy of the "University Action—Perry Wooding," detailing numerous incidents relating to absenteeism. In early 2009 Wooding was charged with job abandonment and found to have resigned not in good standing. For approximately one year after being reinstated in November 2009, Wooding's incident record was "clean." However, thereafter, beginning on December 14, 2010, he was disciplined on numerous occasions because of his absenteeism. Absenteeism was also addressed on Wooding's Performance Assessments. During his assessment dated June 2015, policies and procedures and absenteeism were areas identified as needing development. It was expressly noted that he needed to improve his attendance record and to inform the Department dispatcher prior to being absent. Wooding was further instructed to continuously review the Policies and Procedures Handbook. Wooding executed the June 2015 assessment and noted his agreement to "do his best to improve." (P-1.)

While removal is the ultimate discipline, Wooding was on notice of his need to improve his attendance and comply with policies and procedures. Yet less than a month after his 2015 assessment, Wooding failed to "call in" to his department Dispatcher prior to five absences. His actions indicate a willful disregard of his obligation to comply with University policies and procedures and a lack of respect for the disciplinary process. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that removing Wooding from his position is warranted.

ORDER

It is ORDERED that the charges of unauthorized absence and job abandonment in violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-6.2 be AFFIRMED.

It is further ORDERED that the penalty of removal imposed by the University be AFFIRMED.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

AGENCY DKT. NO. 2016-2632

IN THE MATTER OF
MARYANN AGYARE,
HUNTERDON DEVELOPMENTAL CENTER, DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES.

Edward Berger, Esquire, for appellant, Maryann Agyare

Elizabeth Davies, Deputy Attorney General, for respondent, Hunterdon Developmental Center (Christopher S. Porrino, Attorney General of New Jersey, attorney)

Record Closed: August 31, 2017 Decided: September 29, 2017

BEFORE DEAN J. BUONO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on April 1, 2016, for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

Appellant appeals her removal as a practical nurse from the Hunterdon Development Center effective January 12, 2016. On August 31, 2017, the parties filed a fully executed Agreement in this matter. The Agreement is attached and fully incorporated herein. (J-1).

FINDINGS OF FACT

I have reviewed the terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures to J-1.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

IN THE MATTER OF
MARYANN AGYARE
AND
HUNTERDON DEVELOPMENTAL CENTER, DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES

The parties in this appeal have voluntarily resolved all disputed matters and enter into the following settlement, which fully disposes of all issues in controversy between them.

A. The Final Notice of Disciplinary Action dated November 1, 2016 contained the following charges and proposed discipline:

Charge	Discipline	Dates Effective
1. Admin. Order 4:08 B-7.4 Serious mistake due to carelessness which Would result in danger and/or injury to persons Or property	Removal	January 12, 2016
2. Admin. Order 4:08 E-1.4 Violation of a rule, regulation, policy	Removal	January 12, 2016
3. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)6 Conduct unbecoming a public employee	Removal	January 12, 2016
4. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)7 Neglect of duty	Removal	January 12, 2016
5. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)12 Other sufficient cause.	Removal	January 12, 2016

The Final Notice of Disciplinary Action dated January 12, 2016 contained the following charges and proposed discipline:

Charge	Discipline	Dates Effective
1. Admin. Order 4:08 B-7.3 Serious mistake due to carelessness which Would result in danger and/or injury to persons Or property	Removal	January 12, 2016
2. Admin. Order 4:08 E-1.3 Violation of a rule, regulation, policy procedure, order or administrative decision.	Removal	January 12, 2016

B. The parties have agreed to the following:

The Appellant agrees to a general resignation which shall be effective January 12, 2016. Appellant agrees not to seek or accept employment with the Department of Human Services or its subsidiaries at any time in the future.

1. To date, appellant has served a total of N/A days without pay based upon the above charges.
2. The total number of days of backpay, if any, to be paid by the appointing authority to the Appellant is as follows: 0.
3. Any other days from the time of last suspension day until reinstatement shall be treated as follows: N/A.

C. The Appellant Maryann Agyare withdraws his appeal and request for a hearing, and the Respondent Appointing Authority Department of Human Services agrees that the following result will occur with regard to each charge: The parties have agreed to a General Resignation as a resolution to the disciplinary appeal, as provided by N.J.A.C. 4A:2-6.3(b). The parties acknowledge that under N.J.A.C. 17:2-4.5(b) and (c), no pension or seniority time may be credited for periods for which the employee is not paid by the employer.

D. The Department of Human Services (Respondent) shall amend Appellant's personnel records to conform to the terms of the settlement. All internal records of the Department of Human Services will be kept intact. Nothing herein shall preclude the Department from releasing information on this matter to anyone who has a release executed by Appellant or as consistent with the law. Any information regarding the underlying charges will be provided to the Public Employees Retirement System pursuant to N.J.S.A. 43:1-3.3 as amended effective April 14, 2007.

E. Appellant waives all other claims against Respondent Appointing Authority with regard to this matter, including any award of back pay, counsel fees or other monetary relief, except as may otherwise be provided herein.

F. Except for the assessment of Appellant's disciplinary record in any subsequent personnel disciplinary hearing, nothing in this agreement shall be deemed to be an admission of liability on behalf of either party. This agreement shall not constitute a precedent in matters involving other employees.

G. Appellant waives all claims, suits or actions, whether known, unknown, vested or contingent, civil, criminal or administrative, in law or equity against the State of New Jersey, the New Jersey Department of Human Services, their employees, agents, or assigns, including but not limited to those which have been or could have been made or prosecuted on account of any conduct of any party occurring at any time with respect to the events, information or disputes giving rise to this action up to the date of this agreement, including, but not limited to, all claims under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Civil Rights Act of 1991, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Family Leave Act, the Family and Medical Leave Act, the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, the Equal Pay Act, the Conscientious Employee Protection Act, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, Title 11A - the Civil Service Act, the Older Workers Benefits Protection Act, the Occupational Safety and Health Act, the Public Employee Occupational Safety and Health Act, the New Jersey Smoking Act, New Jersey wages and hours law, public works statutes, unemployment compensation laws, disability benefits laws, the United States Constitution, the New Jersey Constitution, any workers compensation or common law claims and any contract express or implied. This waiver includes all claims involving any continuing effects of actions or practices which arose prior to the date of this Settlement Agreement and bars the use in any way of any past action or practice in any subsequent claims, except pending workers compensation claims.

H. The parties agree that if any portion of this Settlement Agreement is deemed unenforceable, the remainder of this Settlement Agreement shall be fully enforceable.

I. The parties waive the right to file exceptions and cross exceptions with regard to this matter.

J. This agreement will become effective only if approved by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION. Any disapproval by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION shall not interfere with the rights of either party to pursue the matter further.

ISSUED: OCTOBER 19, 2017 BW

The appeal of Terri Hannah, Human Services Assistant, Vineland Developmental Center, Department of Human Services, removal effective July 9, 2013, on charges, was heard by Administrative Law Judge John S. Kennedy, who rendered his initial decision on September 14, 2017. No exceptions were filed.

Having considered the record and the Administrative Law Judge's initial decision, and having made an independent evaluation of the record, the Civil Service Commission (Commission), at its meeting of October 18, 2017, accepted and adopted the Findings of Fact and Conclusion as contained in the attached Administrative Law Judge's initial decision.

ORDER

The Civil Service Commission finds that the action of the appointing authority in removing the appellant was justified. The Commission therefore affirms that action and dismisses the appeals of Terri Hannah.

This is the final administrative determination in this matter. Any further review should be pursued in a judicial forum.

SUMMARY DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. CSV 12708-13
AGENCY DKT. NO. 2014-516

IN THE MATTER OF TERRI HANNAH,
DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES,
VINELAND DEVELOPMENTAL CENTER.

Joseph Waite, Jr., Associate Director, AFSCME Council 71, for appellant, Terri Hannah, appearing pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-5.4(a)(6)

Christopher J. Hamner, Deputy Attorney General, for respondent, Department of Human Services, Vineland Developmental Center (Christopher Porrino, Attorney General of New Jersey)

Record Closed: September 12, 2017 Decided: September 14, 2017

BEFORE JOHN S. KENNEDY, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

On December 6, 2012, Vineland Developmental Center (Respondent) issued a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action (PNDA) against Terri Hannah (Appellant). Respondent charged appellant with violations of (1) Aggravated Assault, N.J.S.A. 2C:12-1B(1), (2) Possession of a Weapon for Unlawful Purpose, N.J.S.A. 2C:39-4d, (3)

N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6), conduct unbecoming a public employee; (4) N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12), other sufficient cause; and (4) E.1 violation of a rule, regulation, policy, procedure or administrative order.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The matter was transmitted, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13, to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on September 5, 2013. The matter was initially assigned to the Honorable W. Todd Miller, Administrative Law Judge (ALJ). After Judge Miller's appointment to the Superior Court, the case was transferred to this ALJ. The matter was twice placed on the inactive list, first by Judge Miller on February 16, 2016, and again by the undersigned on November 14, 2016, because an appeal of the underlying criminal conviction had been filed. On May 17, 2017, appellant's representative advised the court that the criminal charge had not been overturned and no more appeals were pending. The respondent filed a Motion for Summary Decision on May 18, 2017. Appellant did not file an Opposition to the Motion for Summary Decision.

STANDARD FOR SUMMARY DECISION

Summary decision may be granted "if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b).

The standard for granting summary judgment (decision) is found in Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Company of America, 142 N.J. 520 (1995). In Brill, the Court looked at the precedents established in Matsushita Electrical Industrial Co. v. Zenith Radio Corporation, 475 U.S. 574, 106 S. Ct. 1348, 89 L. Ed. 2d 538 (1986), Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, 477 U.S. 242, 106 S. Ct. 2505, 91 L. Ed. 2d 202 (1986), and Celotex Corporation v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 106 S. Ct. 2548, 91 L. Ed. 2d 265 (1986), wherein the Supreme Court adopted a standard that "requires the motion judge to engage in an analytical process essentially the same as that necessary to rule on a motion for a directed verdict: 'whether the evidence presents a sufficient disagreement to require submission to a jury or whether it is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law.'" Brill, supra, 142 N.J. at 533 (quoting Liberty Lobby, supra, 477 U.S. at 251-52, 106 S. Ct. at 2512, 91 L. Ed. 2d at 214). The Court stated that under the new standard, > a determination whether there exists a "genuine issue" of material fact that precludes summary judgment requires the motion judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to permit a rational fact-finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party. The "judge's function is not himself [or herself] to weigh the evidence and determine the truth of the matter but to determine whether there is a genuine issue for trial."

> [Brill, supra, 142 N.J. at 540 (quoting Liberty Lobby, supra, 477 U.S. at 249, 106 S. Ct. at 2511, 91 L. Ed. 2d at 212).]

The Brill standard contemplates that the analysis performed by the trial judge in determining whether to grant summary judgment should comprehend the evidentiary standard to be applied to the case or issue if it went to trial. "To send a case to trial, knowing that a rational jury can reach but one conclusion, is indeed 'worthless' and will 'serve no useful purpose.'" Brill, supra, 142 N.J. at 541.

In addressing whether the Brill standard has been met in this case, further guidance is found in R. 4:46-2(c):

> An issue of fact is genuine only if, considering the burden of persuasion at trial, the evidence submitted by the parties on the motion, together with all legitimate inferences therefrom favoring the non-moving party, would require submission of the issue to the trier of fact.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

As the appellant did not file an Opposition to the Motion for Summary Decision, I FIND that the following FACTS are not in dispute:

The appellant worked as a Human Services Assistant at the Vineland Developmental Center beginning December 20, 2008. On September 27, 2012, the appellant was arrested for Aggravated Assault, N.J.S.A. 2C:12-1b (1), and Possession of a Weapon for an Unlawful Purpose, N.J.S.A. 2C: 39-4d. She was issued a PNDA on December 6, 2012. The specifications of the PNDA stated:

> On or about 9/28/12, you were arrested for aggravated assault and possession of a weapon for unlawful purposes by the Vineland Police Department.

On December 6, 2012, a disciplinary hearing was held at the departmental level and the charges were sustained. As a result, appellant was suspended without pay effective December 6, 2012. The sanction of removal was also indicated. On July 8, 2013, appellant was convicted of Simple Assault. Appellant was issued a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action (FNDA) removing her from employment on July 9, 2013.

Following the Brill standard, after considering all papers and evidence filed in support of summary decision and considering that appellant failed to oppose the motion, I CONCLUDE that there are no issues of fact that require a plenary hearing and that this matter is ripe for summary decision.

LEGAL DISCUSSION

Respondent argues that appellant is disqualified from employment with respondent due to the offense she was convicted of pursuant to N.J.S.A. 30:4-3.5. This statute, commonly referred to as the "Codey" legislation, addresses the effect an individual's criminal history will have upon employment with respondent. The statute states in part:

> An individual shall be disqualified from employment under this act if that individual's criminal history background check reveals a record of convictions of any of the following crimes and offences:
> (1) In New Jersey, any crime or disorderly person's offense:
> > (a) Involving danger to the person, meaning those crimes and disorderly persons offenses set forth in 2C:12-1 et seq.

Appellant was convicted of simple assault, which falls within the list of crimes and offenses enumerated in N.J.S.A. 30:4-3.5. As a result, I CONCLUDE that the appellant is disqualified from employment with the respondent. The only exclusion from disqualification available to appellant is an affirmative demonstration of clear and convincing evidence of her rehabilitation. See N.J.S.A. 30:43.5(b). Appellant has not demonstrated any evidence of rehabilitation whatsoever. Appellant's behavior is clearly not the type of conduct expected of public employees who work with the developmentally disabled.

Appellant was also charged with violations of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6) conduct unbecoming a public employee; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12). "Conduct unbecoming a public employee" is an elastic phrase, which encompasses conduct that adversely affects the morale or efficiency of a governmental unit or that has a tendency to destroy public respect in the delivery of governmental services. Karins v. City of Atl. City, 152 N.J. 532, 554 (1998); see also In re Emmons, 63 N.J. Super. 136, 140 (App. Div. 1960). It is sufficient that the complained-of conduct and its attending circumstances "be such as to offend publicly accepted standards of decency." Karins, supra, 152 N.J. at 555 (quoting In re Zeber, 156 A.2d 821, 825 (1959)). Such misconduct need not necessarily "be predicated upon the violation of any particular rule or regulation, but may be based merely upon the violation of the implicit standard of good behavior which devolves upon one who stands in the public eye as an upholder of that which is morally and legally correct." Hartmann v. Police Dep't of Ridgewood, 258 N.J. Super. 32, 40 (App. Div. 1992) (quoting Asbury Park v. Dep't of Civil Serv., 17 N.J. 419, 429 (1955)).

In this case appellant was charged with aggravated assault and unlawful possession of a weapon. While these charges were later reduced to simple assault, appellant's actions do not constitute the level of conduct expected of one who works with developmentally disabled adults. I CONCLUDE that the charges of conduct unbecoming a public employee are sustained pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6).

Appellant has also been charged with violating N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12), "Other sufficient cause." Other sufficient cause is an offense for conduct that violates the implicit standard of good behavior that devolves upon one who stands in the public eye as an upholder of that which is morally and legally correct. Appellant's conduct was such that she violated this standard of good behavior. As such, I CONCLUDE that the charge of other sufficient case pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12) is sustained.

PENALTY

In determining the appropriateness of a penalty, several factors must be considered, including the nature of the employee's offense, the concept of progressive discipline, and the employee's prior record. George v. N. Princeton Developmental Ctr., 96 N.J.A.R.2d (CSV) 463. "Although we recognize that a tribunal may not consider an employee's past record to prove a present charge, West New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500, 523 (1962), that past record may be considered when determining the appropriate penalty for the current offense." In re Phillips, 117 N.J. 567, 581 (1990). Ultimately, however, "it is the appraisal of the seriousness of the offense which lies at the heart of the matter." Bowden v. Bayside State Prison, 268 N.J. Super. 301, 305 (App. Div. 1993), certif. denied, 135 N.J. 469 (1994). The question to be resolved is whether the discipline imposed in this case is appropriate.

In re Carter, 191 N.J. 474, 484 (2007), citing Rawlings v. Police Dep't of Jersey City, 133 N.J. 182, 197-98 (1993) (upholding dismissal of police officer who refused drug screening as "fairly proportionate" to offense); see also, In re Herrmann, 192 N.J. 19, 33 (2007) (DYFS worker who waved a lit cigarette lighter in a five-year-old's face was terminated, despite lack of any prior discipline):

> . . . judicial decisions have recognized that progressive discipline is not a necessary consideration when reviewing an agency head's choice of penalty when the misconduct is severe, when it is unbecoming to the employee's position or renders the employee unsuitable for continuation in the position, or when application of the principle would be contrary to the public interest.
> Thus, progressive discipline has been bypassed when an employee engages in severe misconduct, especially when the employee's position involves public safety and the misconduct causes risk of harm to persons or property. See, e.g., Henry v. Rahway State Prison, 81 N.J. 571, 580 (1980).

Here, it is clear that appellant was convicted of simple assault, which falls within the list of crimes and offenses enumerated in N.J.S.A. 30:4-3.5. After having considered all of the proofs offered in this matter, and the impact upon the institution regarding the behavior by appellant herein, I CONCLUDE that the removal of the appellant is appropriate.

ORDER

Accordingly, I ORDER that the action of the Appointing Authority is AFFIRMED, as set forth above.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR,

INITIAL DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. CSV 09884-12
AGENCY REF. NO. 2012-3624

IN THE MATTER OF LYNDON JOHNSON, CITY OF LONG BRANCH DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY.

Stuart J. Alterman, Esq., for appellant, Lyndon Johnson (Alterman and Associates, LLC, attorneys)

James L. Plosia, Jr., Esq., for respondent City of Long Branch Department of Public Safety (Plosia and Cohen Law Firm, attorneys)

Record Closed: July 10, 2017 Decided: August 23, 2017

BEFORE DEAN J. BUONO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The City of Long Branch (respondent) suspended Lieutenant Lyndon Johnson (appellant or Johnson) for 120 days. The discipline stemmed from an alleged violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6), conduct unbecoming a public employee. Specifically, respondent alleges that, "On two separate occasions, Johnson threatened and made inappropriate comments to Long Branch police dispatchers under his direct command and supervision." Appellant denies the charge.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On May 31, 2012, respondent prepared and served appellant with a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action charging appellant with a violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.5(a)(1) and including the specification set forth above. A departmental hearing was waived and, thus, a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action was issued on July 6, 2012, sustaining the charge and a 120-day suspension. An appeal was filed timely and the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case on July 23, 2012, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. Hearings were held on April 13, 2015, and May 19, 2015, and were conducted by the Honorable John Schuster, ALJ[1]. On the first day of hearing, it was acknowledged that the Notices of Disciplinary Action identified N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.5(a)(1) as the charge against appellant. Since that regulation concerns disciplinary procedures and not causes for discipline, an oral application was granted to amend the Notices to set forth N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6) as the charged offense. After the hearing, the parties requested an opportunity to submit closing summations and, upon the last received, the record closed on February 12, 2016.

On March 31, 2017, Judge Schuster retired before writing the decision. On April 21, 2017, the OAL sent correspondence to all parties notifying them of the retirement and requesting a telephone conference. A telephone conference was held on April 25, 2017, with the parties and the OAL assignment judge to discuss how the parties wished to proceed. This matter was reassigned to the undersigned on May 1, 2017. A telephone conference was held on May 8, 2017, wherein I requested that the record be reopened for submission of documents that were missing from the OAL file. The parties graciously agreed and submitted the requested documents. The record closed on July 10, 2017.

[1] Respondent brought four separate disciplinary actions against appellant. This was the first case to be heard.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

Dispatcher Sergio Chaparro

Sergio Chaparro (Chaparro) is currently employed with the Long Branch Police Department as a police officer. He became a police officer in January 2015, but prior to that time he worked as a dispatcher for the Long Branch Police Department. April 13, 2015 ("Tr.1",10.) Chaparro explained that he knew Johnson before he began working for Long Branch because Johnson "knows my family." (Tr.1, 14:12.) Chaparro also went to high school with Lyndon Johnson, Jr. (Tr.1, 14:15.)

Chaparro testified that he spoke to his father and brother, one retired and one a current Long Branch police officer, about statements that Johnson made to him. (Tr.1, 45:19–21.) On January 19, 2012, and January 20, 2012, Chaparro gave statements to the Long Branch Internal Affairs Division regarding the contact he had with Lyndon Johnson, Jr., and a matter concerning a stolen handgun. (Tr.1, 46:12–15.) Chaparro also testified that Johnson had not spoken to him about his son's stolen gun incident until April 5, 2012. (Tr.1, 46:16–19.)

In Chaparro's statement at the Monmouth County Prosecutor's Office, he said that on April 5, 2012, Johnson came into the dispatch area where Chaparro was working. At approximately 3:00 a.m., Chaparro and Johnson were alone in the dispatch area. Appellant opened the conversation by saying, "let me ask you a question, bro, is this the part where you act all buddy, buddy with me and joke around to my face and as soon as I turn my back you try to fuck me?" He continued, "I'm under the impression that the second I ask you to do something you run to the 'back' . . . and tell them what I ask you to do, and you can ask your dad[2] . . . that's not the way we run things around here. The way I run things is I am man-to-man, where if I have a problem I'll address you directly." The conversation continued for the next ten to fifteen minutes, but it was not disclosed what was discussed in that period. Then appellant said, "If I have to I will secure the TV . . . as well as the internet and cell phones. Is that what you want me to do?" (R-8.) Chaparro understood that Johnson was alleging that Chaparro had stabbed him in the back by giving the Internal Affairs statement. (Tr.1, 58:11–16.) The witness testified that he "didn't know how . . . to take" Johnson's statements. (Tr.1, 59:13.) Chaparro also testified that having the TV on or using cell phones during work can be a distraction, and there are times when shift commanders direct that they be turned off.

Chaparro further testified that he understood Johnson's comments to be threatening and to be intended to make the dispatchers' environment "a little bit of a[n] uncomfortable environment where we have to just pretty much sit there in silence, no TV and no cell phone." (Tr.1, 63:12–14.) The judge asked why somebody would do that, and the witness replied, "Retaliation." (Tr.1, 63:17.) Chaparro commented that the only reason for any retaliation was his statement in the "Junior" Internal Affairs investigation. (Tr.1, 63:20–25.)

Dispatcher Hope White

Hope White (White) has been employed as a dispatcher in Long Branch since 1999. (Tr.1, 106:17.) She has known Johnson since before she began working for Long Branch, and he has been her watch commander for several years. (Tr.1, 107.)

Sometime after 3:00 a.m. on March 8, 2012, Johnson came into the dispatch area where dispatchers White and Chaparro were working and said, "I know you were all called in the back." (Tr., May 19, 2015 ("Tr.2"), 32:5–7, 39:22–23.) White explained that, "when you are called in the back and you give a statement you are not supposed to talk about it. There is like a gag order." (Tr.2, 32:7–10.) White explained that Johnson did not say "you are not supposed to talk about it"; other officers told her that after she was questioned. (Tr.2, 32:11–19.) After Johnson said to White and Chaparro, "I know you were called in the back," he told White, "they are going after my kid." (Tr.2, 32:20–24.)

White testified that Johnson then said, "well things are going to get bad around here," and "we are not going to have TV, you are not going to be allowed to be on the internet, you are not going to be allowed to be on your cell phone." (Tr.2, 33:3–7.) Neither White nor Chaparro responded to Johnson's statement. White went home and wrote down the incident in her journal. She said, "I was really upset that he came in and did that." (Tr.2, 33:18–23.)

White identified Exhibit (R-11), which was a copy of her journal. (Tr.2, 34:3.) She noted Johnson's comments in her journal because, "I was just like furious, you know I was like livid." (Tr.2, 34:7–8.) The March 8, 2012, entry in her journal reads:

> Came into dispatch, when everyone was gone but me and Sergio. They are trying to go after my kid. He asked if we were pulled, called in the back. We both looked down and said yep. I said what I remembered. He said I know there is a gag order but things are going to get bad around here. He has to know every little thing we do, every little thing and that he, wait, every little thing . . . [t]hat we do. He threatened to keep the TV off and no internet and that things were going to get bad around here and [he] was probably being watched and taped. I told Sergio the next day that I couldn't sleep. We needed to speak to Shea. He said, "let's see what happens," and I said, "okay." I told Susan [one of White's senior partners] I think we were threatened but I am not sure.

White explained that she felt that Johnson's comments were unjustified or offensive, because she does her job. I FIND that Dispatcher White was taken aback or alarmed by appellant's comments, but not threatened.

White testified that the dispatchers have no right or entitlement to watch TV, use the internet for private purposes, or use cell phones while on duty. However, the practice has been that the dispatchers use them when they are not busy with police business. Johnson never told her she could not watch TV or use the internet or her cell phone. Also, he never asked her about anything concerning the interviews she gave to Internal Affairs, nor did he ever specifically threaten her well-being.

Dispatcher Chaparro was not called to testify about appellant's remarks of March 8, 2012.

FINDINGS OF FACT

For testimony to be believed, it must not only come from the mouth of a credible witness, but it also has to be credible in itself. It must elicit evidence that is from such common experience and observation that it can be approved as proper under the circumstances. See Spagnuolo v. Bonnet, 16 N.J. 546 (1954); Gallo v. Gallo, 66 N.J. Super. 1 (App. Div. 1961). A credibility determination requires an overall assessment of the witness's story in light of its rationality, internal consistency and the manner in which it "hangs together" with the other evidence. Carbo v. United States, 314 F.2d 718, 749 (9th Cir. 1963). Also, "'[t]he int erest, motive, bias, or prejudice of a witness may affect his credibility and justify the [trier of fact], whose province it is to pass upon the credibility of an interested witness, in disbelieving his testimony.'" State v. Salimone, 19 N.J. Super. 600, 608 (App. Div.), certif. denied, 10 N.J. 316 (1952) (citation omitted).

A trier of fact may reject testimony because it is inherently incredible, or because it is inconsistent with other testimony or with common experience, or because it is overborne by other testimony. Congleton v. Pura-Tex Stone Corp., 53 N.J. Super. 282, 287 (App. Div. 1958).

The testimony of respondent's witnesses was especially credible and persuasive. Their testimony was clear and concise. It was obvious that they had concerns regarding their contact with Johnson and had no axe to grind. In fact, it was apparent from the testimony that they simply wanted to do their jobs.

Conversely, Johnson did not testify. I cannot and will not make an adverse inference based upon that choice. However, I find the testimony from White and Chaparro about Johnson's comments to be clear.

Based upon the documents in evidence and the credible testimony, I FIND that on two separate occasions Johnson made comments to Long Branch police dispatchers under his direct command and supervision about an incident involving his son and a stolen gun. I FURTHER FIND that those same comments were made to dispatchers after Johnson had been under investigation by the Long Branch Police Department Internal Affairs Division. I FURTHER FIND that Johnson knew that dispatchers White and Chaparro were witnesses to the Internal Affairs investigation and gave statements to authorities.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Civil service employees' rights and duties are governed by the Civil Service Act and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto. N.J.S.A. 11A:1-1 to 11A:12-6; N.J.A.C. 4A:1-1.1. The Act is an important inducement to attract qualified people to public service and is to be liberally applied toward merit appointment and tenure protection. Mastrobattista v. Essex Cnty. Park Comm'n, 46 N.J. 138, 147 (1965). However, consistent with public policy and civil-service law, a public entity should not be burdened with an employee who fails to perform his or her duties satisfactorily or who engages in misconduct related to his or her duties. N.J.S.A. 11A:1-2(a). A civil-service employee who commits a wrongful act related to his or her duties, or gives other just cause, may be subject to major discipline, including removal. N.J.S.A. 11A:2-6; N.J.S.A. 11A:2-20; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.2. The general causes for such discipline are set forth in N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a).

This matter involves a major disciplinary action brought by the respondent appointing authority against the appellant. An appeal to the Civil Service Commission requires the OAL to conduct a hearing de novo to determine the appellant's guilt or innocence, as well as the appropriate penalty if the charges are sustained. In re Morrison, 216 N.J. Super. 143 (App. Div. 1987). Respondent has the burden of proof and must establish by a fair preponderance of the credible evidence that appellant was guilty of the charges. Atkinson v. Parsekian, 37 N.J. 143 (1962). Evidence is found to preponderate if it establishes the reasonable probability of the fact alleged and generates a reliable belief that the tendered hypothesis, in all human likelihood, is true. See Loew v. Union Beach, 56 N.J. Super. 93, 104 (App. Div. 1959), overruled on other grounds, Dwyer v. Ford Motor Co., 36 N.J. 487 (1962). Evidence is also said to preponderate "if it establishes 'the reasonable probability of fact.'" Preponderance may also be described as the greater weight of credible evidence in the case, not necessarily dependent on the number of witnesses, but having the greater convincing power. State v. Lewis, 67 N.J. 47 (1975). The evidence must "be such as to lead a reasonably cautious mind to the given conclusion." Bornstein v. Metro. Bottling Co., 26 N.J. 263, 275 (1958).

Here, respondent charges appellant with conduct unbecoming a public employee, N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6). "Conduct unbecoming a public employee" is an elastic phrase that encompasses conduct that adversely affects the morale or efficiency of a governmental unit or that has a tendency to destroy public respect in the delivery of governmental services. Karins v. City of Atl. City, 152 N.J. 532, 554 (1998); see also In re Emmons, 63 NJ. Super. 136, 140 (App. Div. 1960). It is sufficient that the complained-of conduct and its attending circumstances "be such as to offend publicly accepted standards of decency." Karins, supra, 152 N.J. at 555 (quoting In re Zeber, 156 A.2d 821, 825 (1959)). Such misconduct need not necessarily "be predicated upon the violation of any particular rule or regulation, but may be based merely upon the violation of the implicit standard of good behavior which devolves upon one who stands in the public eye as an upholder of that which is morally and legally correct." Hartmann v. Police Dep't of Ridgewood, 258 N.J. Super. 32, 40 (App. Div. 1992) (quoting Asbury Park v. Dep't of Civil Serv., 17 N.J. 419, 429 (1955)). Suspension or removal may be justified where the misconduct occurred while the employee was off duty. Emmons, supra, 63 N.J. Super. at 140.

It is difficult to imagine a more basic example of conduct that could adversely affect the morale or efficiency of a governmental unit or destroy public respect in the delivery of governmental services than the image of a public employee exercising his authority to intimidate and control subordinate employees for possible personal gain. To allow or ignore this behavior cloaked in the façade of a watch commander having authority to shut off the TV and restrict personal internet and cell-phone usage would be to ignore common sense and the provision of a safe work environment for the dispatchers.

Johnson claims that since Chaparro was unsure if he was threatened, it is conclusory that the charge should not be sustained. However, the fact that Chaparro was unsure if he was threatened is not conclusory to the outcome. Also, Johnson claims that White was unsure of being threatened and simply had an emotional reaction to his comments. A review of her remarks in live testimony and those given in a statement at the Monmouth County Prosecutor's Office reveals that she was clearly offended by his remarks. She believed she was a good employee and did her job faithfully. She was offended by the possibility of losing their common practice of TV, phone, and internet usage on their down time, through no fault of her own. Johnson's comment that he was going to make things "bad around here" was clearly made in an attempt to threaten and affect the behavior of the dispatchers.

Johnson makes the following arguments in support of his position that no threat was made. A watch commander has the authority to shut off the TV and restrict personal internet and cell-phone use at any time. Therefore, saying he would do it cannot be a threat. Also, he claims that a threat requires an intent to inflict harm or loss on another or another's property. I find those arguments to be unpersuasive, conclusory, and, as stated, absent common sense. Again, his comments can only be perceived as attempting to affect the behavior of the dispatchers.

Respondent's theory that appellant's comments were an attempt to scare the dispatchers from cooperating with an Internal Affairs investigation is logically supported by the credible evidence.

CONCLUSION

I CONCLUDE that respondent has met its burden of proof by demonstrating that appellant's actions were objectively threatening. I further CONCLUDE that for the reasons set forth herein, respondent has proven by a preponderance of the evidence that appellant acted in a manner that constituted unbecoming conduct by a public employee.

PENALTY

Where appropriate, concepts of progressive discipline involving penalties of increasing severity are used in imposing a penalty and in determining the reasonableness of a penalty. West New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500, 523–24. Factors determining the degree of discipline include the employee's prior disciplinary record and the gravity of the instant misconduct.

However, it is well established that where the underlying conduct is of an egregious nature, the imposition of a penalty up to and including removal is appropriate regardless of an individual's disciplinary history. See Henry v. Rahway State Prison, 81 N.J. 571 (1980). It is settled that the theory of progressive discipline is not a fixed and immutable rule to be followed without question. Rather, it is recognized that some disciplinary infractions are so serious that removal is appropriate notwithstanding a largely unblemished prior record. See Carter v. Bordentown, 191 N.J. 474 (2007).

Here, appellant has no prior disciplinary history. However, considering the nature of appellant's job duties, and the nature of his conduct in attempting to intimidate dispatchers under his command based on their cooperation with an Internal Affairs investigation, I CONCLUDE that the respondent's action suspending appellant for 120 days without pay was justified.

ORDER

I ORDER that appellant's appeal is DENIED and that the charges against Johnson are SUSTAINED. I FURTHER ORDER that respondent's imposition of a 120-day suspension without pay is AFFIRMED.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, DIVISION OF APPEALS AND REGULATORY AFFAIRS, UNIT H, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, 44 South Clinton Avenue, PO Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

FINAL ADMINISTRATIVE ACTION OF THE CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

ISSUED: OCTOBER 19, 2017 BW

The appeal of Lyndon Johnson, Police Lieutenant, City of Long Branch, Department of Public Safety, removal effective August 12, 2013, on charges, was heard by Administrative Law Judge Dean J. Buono, who rendered his initial decision on August 23, 2017. Exceptions were filed on behalf of the appellant and a reply to exceptions was filed on behalf of the appointing authority.

Having considered the record and the Administrative Law Judge's initial decision, and having made an independent evaluation of the record, the Civil Service Commission, at its meeting on October 18, 2017, accepted and adopted the Findings of Fact and Conclusion as contained in the attached Administrative Law Judge's initial decision.

ORDER

The Civil Service Commission finds that the action of the appointing authority in removing the appellant was justified. The Commission therefore affirms that action and dismisses the appeal of Lyndon Johnson.

Re: Lyndon Johnson

This is the final administrative determination in this matter. Any further review should be pursued in a judicial forum.

INITIAL DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. CSV 03234-13
AGENCY REF. NO. 2013-2321

IN THE MATTER OF LYNDON JOHNSON, CITY OF LONG BRANCH POLICE DEPARTMENT.

Stuart J. Alterman, Esq., for appellant, Lyndon Johnson (Alterman & Associates, attorneys)

James L. Plosia, Jr., Esq., for respondent, City of Long Branch Police Department (Plosia & Cohen, LLC, attorneys)

Record Closed: July 10, 2017 Decided: August 23, 2017

BEFORE DEAN J. BUONO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The City of Long Branch (respondent) recommended termination of Lieutenant Lyndon Johnson (appellant or Lt. Johnson) as a Police Officer employed by the City. Respondent argues that he violated: N.J.A.C. 4A:20-2.5(a)(1) Incompetency, Inefficiency, Failure to Perform Duties; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(3) Inability to Perform Duties; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6) Conduct Unbecoming; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(7) Neglect of Duty and N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12) Other Sufficient Cause. Specifically, respondent alleges appellant, Lt. Johnson improperly accessed the Criminal Justice Information System (CJIS), specifically by obtaining unauthorized information through the system on multiple occasions. Appellant contends he acted appropriately and did not violate any regulation, rule, policy or procedure.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On January 25, 2013, respondent prepared and served appellant with a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action because of his actions. A local hearing was not requested by the appellant and a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action was issued on August 12, 2013, removing him from service on that date. A timely appeal was filed and the matter was transmitted by the Civil Service Commission to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on March 6, 2013, as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

Hearings[i] were held on October 5, 2015, January 6, 2016, January 11, 2016, January 12, 2016, January 26, 2016, March 15, 2016 and June 14, 2016. After, post hearing briefs were received the record closed on October 21, 2016.

On March 31, 2017, the originally assigned Judge (Shuster) retired from the bench. On April 21, 2017, the OAL sent a correspondence to all parties notifying them of the retirement and requesting a telephone conference. A telephone conference was held on April 25, 2017, with the parties and Assignment ALJ Delanoy to discuss how the parties wished to proceed. This matter was re-assigned to the undersigned on May 1, 2017. A telephone conference was held on May 8, 2017, wherein the court requested that the record be re-opened so that the court may acquire all the closing submissions and documents that were missing from the record at OAL. The parties graciously agreed and the record was reopened on May 8, 20017, so the parties could submit the requested records.

[i] Respondent brought four separate disciplinary actions against appellant. This was the fourth and final case to be heard.

On June 15, 2017, the undersigned requested a telephone conference with the parties. The telephone conference was requested to clarify the discrepancy between the PNDA and FNDA. To be more specific, the PNDA listed the charges as: N.J.A.C. 4A:20-2.3(a)(1) Incompetency, Inefficiency, Failure to Perform Duties; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(3) Inability to Perform Duties; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6) Conduct Unbecoming; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(7) Neglect of Duty and N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12) Other Sufficient Cause. However, the FNDA only references N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.5(a)(1) as the final charge. This section references the opportunity for a hearing before the appointing authority which is frequently referred to as "Loudermill". The FNDA has no reference to any charges from the PNDA.

The discrepancy was not discussed at the initial hearing on October 5, 2015 and neither counsel raised it during the seven days of hearings. Several hundred pages of closing summations were submitted from both parties, none of which address the discrepancy. In fact, the Long Branch's summations list the charges from the PNDA and the appellant's summations list N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.5(a)(1), the Loudermill regulation. However, Lt. Johnson's October 7, 2017, Closing Summation and October 21, 2016, Reply Brief, specifically reference and defend the charge of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6) Conduct Unbecoming.

On June 19 and 20, 2017, the undersigned received email replies from both parties to my inquiry. The City of Long Branch argued that:

> "...the Final Notice fails to list the charges. However, ...Howard Woolley, ... found "Lt. Johnson guilty as charges of the specifications contained in the Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action", and determined that termination was the appropriate penalty (as checked off on the FNDA Form. Thus, although the "Sustained Charges" box in the 31B was not properly filled out, Mr. Woolley's decision clearly and unequivocally found Lt. Johnson guilty of each of the Charges and Specifications contained in the Form 31A (which Form was the first exhibit in the City's "NCIC look-up" exhibit book. The Court should also note (as per Mr. Woolley's decision) that Lt. Johnson and Mr. Alterman waived their right to a local hearing re the Preliminary Charges and requested the issuance of a Final Notice (Form > 31B). In so doing, there was obviously no doubt or dispute that the City would find, in the FNDA, that Lt. Johnson was guilty of the Charges and Specifications set forth in the PNDA. In addition, the Court is referred to page 8 of the 10/5/15 OAL transcript, in which this issue was explained to Judge Schuster, and the ALJ accepted that the City, after the waiver of the local hearing by Lt. Johnson, found Lt. Johnson guilty of the Charges and Specifications set forth in Form 31A. See lines 5-18.

I disagree. Similarly, the appellant argues that: "any reference to Wooly's local decision is violative of the law of the case and will result in my immediate application for a mistrial. The burden is on the charging party. Failure to properly charge Lt. Johnson endures to Lt. Johnson's benefit and to the Town's detriment. The transcripts speak for themselves." I also disagree.

First, the argument that because appellant "waived their right to a local hearing re the Preliminary Charges and requested the issuance of a Final Notice" somehow provides "no doubt or dispute that the City would find, in the FNDA, that Lt. Johnson was guilty of the Charges and Specifications set forth in the PNDA" is without merit. There is nothing in any record to support that thought. Furthermore, the transcript is void of any discussion of the charges. It discusses the "specifications" but not the "charges". I agree with appellant that any reference or consideration of Wooley's decision is impermissible. Therefore, in determining the charges, I must consider the law, history of the case and actions of the parties.

Appellants are entitled to due process in the disciplinary process. See N.J.S.A. 11A:2-13. More specifically, appellants are entitled to fair notice and an opportunity to be heard. Id. Fair notice means notice of the disciplinary charges and the basis upon which those charges are justified. Id. Generally, courts look to the content of the PNDA and FNDA to determine whether the stated specifications match the reasoning used to sustain the charges. See Hammond v. Monmouth County Sheriff's Dept., 317 N.J. Super. 199, 206 (App. Div. 1999). The standard, however, is ultimately whether an appellant had "plain notice" of the factual basis for the charges. See Pepe v. Twp. of Springfield, 337 N.J. Super. 94, 97 (App. Div. 2001).

Appellant, if not previously provided plain notice of the specific additional factual allegations, cannot be found guilty based on said specifications.

N.J.S.A. 11A:2-13 provides:

> [B]efore any disciplinary action in [regarding termination, suspension, removal, fine, or disciplinary demotion] is taken against a permanent employee in the career service or a person serving a working test period, the employee shall be notified in writing and shall have the opportunity for a hearing before the appointing authority or its designated representative. The hearing shall be held within 30 days of the notice of disciplinary action unless waived by the employee. Both parties may consent to an adjournment to a later date.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 11A:2-6(d), the Civil Service Commission adopts and enforces the regulatory rules governing disciplinary action. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-1.1–6.2. Pursuant to those rules, civil service employees may be subject to disciplinary action for:

> 1. Incompetency, inefficiency or failure to perform duties;
> 2. Insubordination;
> 3. Inability to perform duties;
> 4. Chronic or excessive absenteeism or lateness;
> 5. Conviction of a crime;
> 6. Conduct unbecoming a public employee;
> 7. Neglect of duty;
> 8. Misuse of public property, including motor vehicles;
> 9. Discrimination that affects equal employment opportunity (as defined in N.J.A.C. 4A:7-1.1), including sexual harassment;
> 10. Violation of Federal regulations concerning drug and alcohol use by and testing of employees who perform functions related to the operation of commercial motor vehicles, and State and local policies issued thereunder; and > 11. Other sufficient cause
> [N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)].

Removal, demotion, or suspension or fine for more than five working days at any one time constitutes "major discipline." N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.2(a). An agency seeking to impose major discipline upon a civil service employee must provide the employee written notice. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.5. To that end, prior to the imposition of major discipline, "[a]n employee must be served with [a PNDA] setting forth the charges and statement of facts supporting the charges (specifications), and afforded the opportunity for a hearing" except:

> An employee may be suspended immediately and prior to a hearing where it is determined that the employee is unfit for duty or is a hazard to any person if permitted to remain on the job, or that an immediate suspension is necessary to maintain safety, health, order or effective direction of public services. . . However, a [PNDA] with opportunity for a hearing must be served in person or by certified mail within five days following the immediate suspension.

This requirement reflects well established due process rights that attach to employment by state governments. When threatened with major disciplinary action, such as termination, the State cannot, without violating an officer's constitutional rights, deprive an officer of the position without due process of law. Cleveland Bd. of Educ. v. Loudermill, 470 U.S. 532, 538 (1985). Such a deprivation must "'be preceded by notice and opportunity for hearing appropriate to the nature of the case.'" Id. at 542 (citing Mullane v. Cent. Hanover Bank & Trust Co., 339 U.S. 306, 313 (1950)). "The tenured public employee is entitled to oral or written notice of the charges against him, an explanation of the employer's evidence, and an opportunity to present his side of the story. . . To require more than this prior to termination would intrude to an unwarranted extent on the government's interest in quickly removing an unsatisfactory employee." Id. at 546. (internal citations omitted). The Third Circuit has emphasized that constitutional due process requires that the notice provide the degree of specificity necessary for the employee to have "'the opportunity to determine what facts, if any, within his knowledge might be presented in mitigation of or in denial of the charges.'" McDaniels v. Flick, 59 F.3d 446, 457 (3d Cir. 1995) (citing Gniotek v. Philadelphia, 808 F.2d 241, 244 (3d Cir. 1986)). "Such notice need only be given so far in advance of the pre-termination hearing so as to allow the officer a chance to present his side of the story." Gniotek, supra, 808 F.2d at 244.

Relevant herein, "[o]n appeal to the Civil Service Commission from a departmental determination a hearing de novo is held at which all relevant testimony may be introduced. It is not a new hearing 'on the record' below, but a new plenary hearing at which evidence and testimony are presented." I/M/O Appeal of Darcy, 114 N.J. Super. 454, 459 (App. Div. 1971) (citations omitted). The importance of proper notice cannot be understated, however, even at the administrative level because "the Civil Service Act mandates review only of the adverse decision of the appointing authority as stated in the final notice of disciplinary action, since that is what the employee appeals to the Board." Hammond, supra, 317 N.J. Super. 199, 206 (App. Div. 1999). To otherwise allow a broadening of the charges beyond those contained in the Final Notice "would be to surcharge the right to appeal with a cost which violates any decent sense of due process or fair play." Id.

The courts have further interpreted the scope of the due process requirement as "plain" notice. "It is elementary that an employee cannot legally be tried or found guilty on charges of which he has not been given plain notice by the appointing authority." West New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500, 522 (1962). "'Plain notice' is the standard to be applied when considering the adequacy of disciplinary charges filed against public employees.... These principles emanate from the concept of affording due process and fairness to proceedings which impact so significantly on an employee." Pepe, supra, 337 N.J. Super. 94, 97 (App. Div. 2001). Where an appellant has plain notice of the basis of the charges a technical failure in the specifications does not, therefore, prevent that basis from consideration.

In Pepe, a firefighter was served with a PNDA which contained an expansive narrative specification. Pepe, supra, 337 N.J. Super. at 99–103. Therein, the PNDA broadly accused the firefighter of participating in a false-alarm call with two other firefighters. The hearing officer found him guilty as an accomplice by knowledge and association, a characterization that did not fully match the specifications. Id. at 96. On appeal, the Law Division dismissed the charges on that basis. Id. at 97. The appellate division reversed, however, finding that the firefighter had plain notice of the basis for the charges and therefore it was error to dismiss the charges on due process grounds. Id. at 98–99.

In Grasso v. Sea Isle City, 93 N.J.A.R.2d (CSV) 747, a police officer was served with vague specifications that could have implicated either the officer's behavior or an entirely different officer's acts. After being dismissed by the ALJ on that basis the Commission remanded under the principle that Grasso could be properly charged, despite vagueness in the PNDA, if he had actual (plain) notice of the charges. Id. at 750. Further, however, the Commission found:

> [T]he appointing authority issued an "amended and/or refiled" Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action on February 28, 1992, with detailed specifications of the charges at issue. The Board finds, however, that this attempt to now correct any deficiency in providing notice to appellant of the specifications of the charges against him is impermissible and....void. Id. (emphasis added).

On remand, the ALJ found that Grasso, though discovery and the hearing below, had been fully apprised of numerous more specific allegations and could be charged on the basis of those specifications. Id. at 757. Despite so finding, the ALJ ultimately found none of the plain-notice specifications had been sufficiently proven and dismissed the charges. Id.

Without plain notice of the basis of the charges, new specifications added at a late stage run afoul of, and must be dismissed under, the 45-day limit to bring disciplinary charges against police officers under N.J.S.A. 40A:14-147, which states that "[a] failure to comply with said provisions as to the service of the complaint and the time within which a complaint is to be filed shall require a dismissal of the complaint." N.J.S.A. 40A:14-147. In Fabian v. Town of North Bergen, CSV 3198-97, Initial Decision (August 24, 1998), adopted, MSB (October 14, 1998) < https://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/html/initial/csv3198-97.html>, a police officer was charged with leaving his assigned sector without authorization. However, during the administrative hearing the department argued that the officer failed to obey orders and failed to respond to radio calls, charges not contained within the PNDA. The ALJ held that "[n]either Fabian nor his attorney had knowledge that the real issue in this case was Fabian's alleged noncompliance with an order modifying his regular assignment." Id. at 4. Thereafter, because the actual basis for the charges had been introduced outside the 45-day period under N.J.S.A. 40A:14-147, the ALJ dismissed the charges.

In this case, the charges listed in the PNDA are clear, however, the FNDA fails to address any charge. Clearly, the appellant had "plain notice" of the factual basis for the charges in the PNDA, however, with the FNDA failing to address any charge, the subsequent actions of the appellant are critical. Again, the parties participated in seven days of hearings where the charges were never addressed. The parties also submitted several hundred pages of closing summations. In his closing submissions, the appellant references that he "was served with a PNDA alleging the appellant violated the N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.5(a)(1), seeking his removal...." Although factually incorrect, it likewise fails to provide guidance on notice of the charges that appellant defended over the seven days of hearings.

However, in his October 7, 2016, Closing Summation, appellant stated that, "...based upon the testimony and evidence in the record, the appointing authority has failed to demonstrat[e] by a preponderance of the competent, relevant and credible evidence that it had just cause to sustain the alleged violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6), conduct unbecoming a public employee, against the Appellant." Also, in their October 21, 2016, Reply Brief, "...based upon the testimony and evidence in the record, the appointing authority has failed to demonstrate by a preponderance of the competent, relevant and credible evidence that it had just cause to sustain the alleged violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6), Conduct Unbecoming a Public Employee, against the Appellant."

As such, I FIND as FACT that appellant had "plain notice" of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6) Conduct Unbecoming as a charge from the PNDA. I FURTHER FIND as FACT that the appellant specifically defended the charge of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6)

Conduct Unbecoming at the hearing and in his closing submissions. I FURTHER FIND as FACT that appellant did not have "plain notice" of N.J.A.C. 4A:20-2.5(a)(1) Incompetency, Inefficiency, Failure to Perform Duties; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(3) Inability to Perform Duties; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(7) Neglect of Duty and N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12) Other Sufficient Cause in the FNDA. As a result, I CONCLUDE that N.J.A.C. 4A:20-2.5(a)(1) Incompetency, Inefficiency, Failure to Perform Duties; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(3) Inability to Perform Duties; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(7) Neglect of Duty and N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12) Other Sufficient Cause are DISMISSED for improper notice in the FNDA. I likewise CONCLUDE that the sole sustained charge is N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6) Conduct Unbecoming.

The record closed on July 10, 2017.

TESTIMONY

For Respondent

Lieutenant Thomas Shea (Lt. Shea)

As a form of brevity, Lt. Shea's background and qualifications were stipulated by the parties. TR16:3. He explained that his Internal Affairs Investigation Report laid out that the investigation into this case began during his investigation of the "Witness Intimidation" allegations against Lt. Johnson. "There was a Church lookup case, which Lt. Johnson wasn't charged with." R-3, TR18:9. Lt. Johnson performed lookups for Church members from the Second Baptist Church in Long Branch. TR18:13. Dispatcher, Hope White, informed Lt. Shea that a former Long Branch dispatcher, now Officer O'Brien, had concerns about the lookups Lt. Johnson was asking them to perform. TR19:2.

Computer lookups are performed by a Long Branch Police Department dispatcher "under the authority of the Watch Commander". TR19:9. ATS/ACS lookups are for bench warrants and are done for traffic warrants in Municipal Court. TR20:12. Lt. Shea explained that Officers on the street would request an "all the way around" computer search, which includes a check of the driver's license, registration, and warrant search. TR23:16. They can be performed by police officers in their patrol cars or called into dispatch. TR24:1. Lt. Shea's practice was to call them in. TR24:23.

A NCIC check is used to ascertain whether there are any outstanding warrants on the person nationwide. TR25:17. The witness explained that the "all the way around" check requested by a police officer on the road through dispatch was to check the person's license, registration, the vehicle, and "you're also checking statewide warrants and if they have any, national". TR27:23. Thus, there are three types of "computer checks" in the "all the way around" search: license and registration; New Jersey warrants; and national warrants. TR28:7.

Lt. Shea also described a "criminal history check" or "CJIS" explaining that "[t]he police officers request a criminal history check if they're doing an investigation but they have to ask dispatch. And dispatch has to get approval from the Watch Commander before they can run it." TR31:7. The witness explained that a CJIS check "is more an in-depth investigation. It's not just checking someone for warrants." TR31:17. "[Y]ou can't –check their criminal history unless you're doing an active investigation into them." TR31:22. Lt. Shea explained the legal restrictions because "when a person first becomes a police officer in New Jersey, they are trained with the workings of CJIS and what's allowed and what's not allowed with respect to those lookups". TR33:2. Also:

> And you're asked to sign a memo that states you cannot run a CJIS criminal history checkup on any subject unless you're performing an investigation, have an investigation number attached that you can point to show there's an active investigation. You can't just run someone for no reason. TR33:5.

He explained that incoming police officers are told that an officer could face criminal charges if they conduct an improper criminal history check. TR34:16. Lt. Shea quoted R-8 stating that: "As per Title 28, Federal Code New Jersey CJIS Security Policy, employees of the Long Branch Police Department may only use information obtained directly or indirectly from the criminal justice information system, CJIS, for criminal justice purposes." TR35:13. Then, he read another sentence into the record: "Any employee found to violate this Order or improperly disseminate, improperly use CJIS information, or irresponsibly dispose of any form or copy of CJIS information, may be subject to federal, state, civil and/or departmental charges, the sanction for which may be incarceration, fines, punitive charges, suspension and/or termination." TR35:21; TR36:1.

Lt. Shea explained for a search to be valid, the necessity of a "criminal justice purpose" is paramount. "[C]ourts have decided that people have a right to privacy when it comes to their past criminal history. You can look at this information as long as there's an investigative purpose." TR37:16. Police Officers in New Jersey have been criminally charged for abusing access to the CJIS system "[a]ll the time." TR38:10.

Lt. Shea was posed with a hypothetical scenario in which a citizen was stopped for a motor vehicle violation, and an officer on the scene ascertained through ATS/ACS that there was an outstanding warrant. The person is thereafter brought into the Police Department and a CJIS can be legitimately be requested "if you're looking to release them on bail to see if they had any priors and they didn't show up for Court." TR39:17. Additionally, the person's criminal history could be relevant for whether or not they should be released or held for bail. TR39:21. In that case, a CJIS lookup would be authorized by the Watch Commander. TR40:7.

Lt. Johnson's "CJIS" lookups originally came into question when several dispatchers informed that Lt. Johnson had requested criminal history lookups for members of a church in Long Branch. TR41:23. Based on this information, Lt. Shea checked to see who Lt. Johnson was making criminal history background checks for, and learned that it was being done for members of the Second Baptist Church. TR42:14. This was a matter of concern to Lt. Shea; accordingly, the City initiated an investigation to ascertain why the lookups were being done. TR44:21. The proper procedure for criminal history lookups is to do a "CCH" lookup in the CJIS system. TR45:23.

Lt. Shea identified the Garrity Statement taken at the Monmouth County Prosecutor's Office of Lt. Johnson on May 31, 2012. TR47, R-4. Lt. Shea testified that Lt. Johnson was not charged for the "Church" CCH lookups, and did not know why. TR47:17. Lt. Shea determined that Lt. Johnson had the Long Branch Police Department run a criminal history background check on his own son. TR49:3. Also, during the May 31, 2012 Garrity Statement, Lt. Shea asked Lt. Johnson if he ever ran criminal histories in his position as liaison to the Housing Authority and Lt. Johnson answered "no". TR49:15.

On June 3, 2003, Lt. Johnson was appointed as liaison between the Long Branch Police Department and the Long Branch Housing Authority. TR50:21, R-6. Then, on October 7, 2008, Lt. Johnson was transferred back into the patrol division. TR51:19, R-7.

Lt. Shea identified R-9, which is a list of criminal histories that Lt. Johnson ran during his time as the Long Branch Housing Authority liaison. TR52:22. Lt. Shea created the list with the assistance of Special Officer Phillips and Sergeant Shirley. TR53:3. Lt. Shea explained after the Garrity testimony, he audited the records to see what CCH lookups Lt. Johnson ran. TR53:18. He looked for searches including "Lt. Johnson" or "247" [Lt. Johnson's number]. TR55:10. As part of his investigation Lt. Shea spoke with Daniel Gibson, who is "second in command" at the Housing Authority under Tyrone Garrett, the Authority's Executive Director. TR61:13. Lt. Shea asked Gibson if he had ever requested Lt. Johnson run criminal histories for the Housing Authority. TR61:23. Lt. Shea explained that the Long Branch Housing Authority has their own screening process and actually obtains written consent from the applicant to do background checks. TR63:18. Gibson stated that he never asked Lt. Johnson to perform any criminal background check. TR64:21. In fact, Gibson told Lt. Shea that neither he nor Garrett ever asked Lt. Johnson to run a criminal history check for or on behalf of the Housing Authority. TR67:17.

The Housing Authority and Long Branch Police Department created a "trespass list". TR67:23, R-10. This was a list of people who were excluded from any Federal Housing Authority property. TR68:20. They were "known people within Long Branch ..." who had drug convictions. TR69:5. Lt. Shea explained that the Housing Authority does not have the right to request a CCH check of a visitor to the Long Branch Housing Authority to see if they are on or belong on that witness trespass list, TR69:10, and Lt. Johnson as the Housing Authority liaison could not legally request such a CCH check for a person visiting the Housing Authority. TR69:15.

Lt. Shea testified that an officer could request a CCH lookup from the New Jersey State Police if they were requesting a bail determination TR69:21 and during an active criminal investigation. TR69:25. Police officers will generally do many more "all the way around" lookups than CCH criminal history background lookups. TR71:15. He explained that a police officer may request a CCH lookup if, for example, he arrested someone in possession of a weapon. TR72-73. This would be appropriate because "convicted felons can't carry firearms legally." TR73:8. Accordingly, ascertaining whether the person brought into Headquarters with a firearm may have violated the "no carrying of firearms by convicted felons" law is a legitimate ongoing investigative purpose for a CCH lookup. TR73:12. As for someone arrested on a drug offense, a CCH lookup might be part of the legitimate "criminal investigative purpose" if the Police Department was considering using the person as a confidential informant. TR73:22. That decision would be made by the Patrol Officer's supervisor, who would obtain permission for the CCH lookup, if at all, from the Watch Commander. TR74:5.

Lt. Shea, referring to R-9, concluded there were "a whole bunch of individuals [who] were run [by Lt. Johnson] for no apparent reason that I could find." TR75:11. Lt. Shea found no "investigative reason" why these CCH lookups were requested by Lt. Johnson while he was the Housing Authority liaison. TR75:14. In order to ascertain if there had been any legitimate criminal investigative purpose for Lt. Johnson to conduct these lookups, Lt. Shea "compiled a list of all the people Lt. Johnson ran that didn't have an investigative number attached to it and then I looked through our computer system to see if there was any reason why he would performing an investigation or any report attached to that particular person, who the CCH was run for." TR76:6. Lt. Shea testified that if there was no "investigative reason" which can be found for the lookup, then there was no legal reason for the check to have been run. TR76:15.

When a CCH lookup is being done due to and consistent with an ongoing criminal investigation, an investigation number is attached to the CCH look-up list. TR77:12. Investigation numbers are obtained by the officers from dispatchers. TR79:14. Lt. Shea asserted in the Internal Affairs Report that investigation numbers were listed on many of the CCH lookups, noting that there was a legitimate investigation ongoing would justify the CCH lookup. TR80:3, R-11. The lookups themselves were performed either by dispatchers or police officers who had the ability to do the lookups because they used to be dispatchers; he testified that he would not have known how to do such a lookup. TR82.

Lt. Shea further checked into all CCH requests where Lt. Johnson was the receiving agent for the past five years when Lt. Johnson was the Housing Authority liaison. TR85:7. In one entry reviewed by Lt. Shea, there was a legitimate criminal investigation purpose listed on the entry "[f]or bail due to arrest authorized by 247 [Lt. Johnson's badge number]." TR83:12.

Lt. Shea explained the "IMC" computer system used by the Long Branch Police Department. In that system, a person can check any criminal history the person has within the Long Branch Police Department only. TR89. Lt. Shea conducted such an "IMC" search for Mr. T., the person listed on the CCH lookups, and nothing came up. TR90:11. The Lieutenant spoke to Daniel Gibson about Mr. T. Gibson informed him that Mr. T. was a former employee and resident of the Housing Authority. TR90:19. Neither of those facts, however, was sufficient to justify a CCH lookup for Mr. T. TR91:4. Even though another Police Officer, Fernando Sanders [No. "250"] had approved the lookup, it was Lt. Johnson's responsibility because he was the one who requested it. TR92:8. On occasion, Watch Commanders can investigate a request for CCH from officers however, it was the officer making the request who is responsible for the legitimacy of the request "because he's the one entrusted with the authority who asked for it in the first place." TR93:19. Lt. Shea explained that obtaining the Watch Commander's approval was simply a matter of asking the Watch Commander for permission to ask a dispatcher to run a CCH lookup. In many cases, the Watch Commander would not question the requesting officer on why the CCH was being sought. TR94:3.

The Court asked the witness about the significance of the Watch Commander giving approval for doing the CCH lookup. TR95-96. After listening to this colloquy, the witness responded that the Watch Commander would trust the officer making the request. TR97:1. In this case, it was the Watch Commander trusting a Lieutenant – Lt. Johnson. TR98:1. Sanders, the person whose number was on the lookup that had previously been reviewed, was a Sergeant and Watch Commander, and Lt. Johnson was a Lieutenant. TR98:11. Thus, a Sergeant who is subordinate to a Lieutenant trusts Lt. Johnson to understand the legal parameters of doing a CCH background check. TR98:20.

Lt. Shea testified that Lt. Johnson requested seventy-four CCH lookups during his five years as Housing Authority liaison for which there was no legitimate criminal investigative purpose. TR100:16. However, the Monmouth County Prosecutor's Office informed the Long Branch Police Department that the Prosecutor's Office was not going to treat this matter as criminal, instead, it was remanding to Long Branch to be handled administratively. TR101:21.

Lt. Shea "researched each one of these names [CCH lookups requested by Lt. Lt. Johnson] through our computer system, which is the IMC system" (TR24:7) to ascertain whether there was any legitimate criminal investigative purpose for Lt. Johnson to request CCH lookups. There were no investigation reports or ongoing criminal investigations for any of the seventy-four denoted CCH lookups Lt. Johnson had requested. TR24:13. The few lookups Lt. Johnson requested during the five-year period for which there were investigation numbers were excluded from the list of the seventy-four. TR24:25.

On cross-examination, Lt. Shea was asked about "training" Lt. Johnson received regarding R-8 and the Long Branch Police Department's policy on CCH lookups. Lt. Shea explained that as a Lieutenant in the Police Department you must have considerable knowledge of criminal statutes as part of your daily duties. TR146:1. Prior to a police officer signing off on R-8, they are required to attend a class, which instructs them what they can or cannot do with respect to CCH lookups. TR146:11.

For Appellant

Lieutenant Lyndon Johnson

Lt. Johnson testified that the January 25, 2013, Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action served on him was "vague" with respect to the specifications. TR14:12.

The witness testified that, having received the City's exhibit book, he "went through each and every name that Lt. Shea accused me of running illegally and utilized the information that they gave me to justify whether those names were ran". TR15:6. He justified them "name by name". TR15:11. Lt. Johnson became the Long Branch Housing Authority liaison from the Long Branch Police Department on June 3, 2003. TR16:11. The Housing Authority wanted its "no-trespassing policy" enforced by the Police Department. TR23:19. Lt. Johnson testified that the no trespass policy was "a way for us to get around a rush search and seizure, the 4th Amendment. We knew who the drug dealers. . .". TR24:1. Essentially, the purpose of the no trespassing policy was to "[k]eep the undesirables out of the projects." TR25:25.

Lt. Johnson identified A-13, which was the "LBHA Criminal History Log Notes". TR57:5. He typed it after going through each of the names the City claimed that he had illegally run. TR57:7. He was asked about the significance of his first entry, Mr. T., on Exhibit A-13, the witness testified as follows:

> The – I want to give a foundation of this that there were several, the way that information was asked of me came from several different sources meaning that the Housing > Authority manager could call me and say listen, we have reason to believe that J.S. was arrested on such and such date, can you find out because we want to take action. So the information could have come via newspaper clipping, phone call, sometimes anonymous phone calls, or an official request as there are some documents in here from the Housing Authority Director or other personnel that will stipulate that they specifically asked for information pertaining to a particular individual. So from Mr. T. from my recollection of taking from what the City provided me, he was a resident of the Housing Authority. There were no reports provided to me in their file. There was a case number generated when this criminal history was done and it was approved by a Sergeant.

TR59:11 –TR 60:1.

When asked why he looked up Mr. T. on the CJIS system, Lt. Johnson stated "I couldn't tell you because they didn't provide me with any reports. I mean I don't know. I could have gotten the call from the Housing Authority saying we suspect him of whatever, whatever ...". TR61-62. The witness testified that he did not look up Mr. T. "for some illegitimate purpose". TR63:7.

He then testified about A.M. TR63:8. He typed "unknown date when CCH was ran. No info or reports provided by LBPD." TR64:11, A-13. The third person is J.A. and Lt. Johnson testified that he was arrested in June 2004, on Long Branch Housing Authority property for domestic violence, and subsequently added to the no trespass list. TR64-65.

Lt. Johnson identified the Housing Authority Resolution authorizing a "vigorous enforcement policy" on Housing Authority property to improve the quality of life for residents. TR67:23, A-29. He and Natalie, a former Housing Authority employee, created the no trespass list. TR68:11. Attached to the Resolution is the "Criminal Trespassing/Barring Policy" which provides that "any person who has received a warning should not be allowed on the Authority's property as a guest of a resident or otherwise", and that such a person is "subject to arrest for criminal trespassing ...". TR70:6.

He understood the "no trespass" policy to provide "[t]hat is if you did not have a legitimate purpose for being on the property and you were involved in criminal activity or violation of quality of life issues or had a pass, the Housing Authority would bar you or member of the Long Branch Police Department". TR72:5.

Returning to A-13, Lt. Johnson's rationale for doing a CJIS lookup on H. was that he was on the no trespass list and he "has an extremely long, lengthy history of drug arrests and his mother was a resident of the Long Branch Housing Authority." TR73:7. Asked to explain how persons get on the no trespass list, he said:

> In order to justify putting him on the list we had to run a criminal history, because, just because someone is not, the IMC systems which is being referred to in all these proceedings, is a system that only deals with Long Branch reports. If someone committed a crime in Eatontown or Alabama, you are not going to see those crimes or anything that they were involved in-house system so therefore you have to run a CCH to get the full rap sheet on what they have been involved in and where at. That information would turn around and be used against them because just because we took it one step further with the policy, just because we said that H. committed this crime, that person was notified by mail and then we would give them a chance to appeal it because just because it is on a criminal history doesn't mean he may or may not have been convicted we could not follow through and add them to the list. So there was a whole process of how they came to be known on this list and maintained on the list.

The witness testified that the CJIS lookup he did would reveal convictions, as in the "disposition of the case." TR76:9. Lt. Johnson testified that his justification for doing a CJIS lookup on H. was "[t]o show that he qualified to be added to the trespass list." TR77:16.

Regarding the CJIS search on Mr. B., Lt. Johnson testified that he may have been involved in a domestic violence episode in May of 2004. TR77:23. " I was asked to find out what happened in that particular case." TR78:3. Lt. Johnson offered the same rationale for doing the lookup on Mr. N.. TR78:23. Explaining that :

> No, what would happen is, I could come in in the morning and I could have an e-mail that said, 'Lyndon, what happened at ... G. Court last night,' and I have to backtrack. I have to look into the police blotter, see who was involved and then I would have to get the investigative report. If it warranted I would go further and say, 'okay, well this person has a criminal history and this person doesn't.'
>
> Again, just because a person didn't commit a crime in Long Branch doesn't mean that they haven't committed a crime someplace else. We are at a zero-tolerance policy so anybody that we came into contact with, meaning any other officer not just Lyndon Lt. Johnson, we did a full work up on because that was the only way to address the problem.

The witness referred to the November 2004, lookup of D.A., and testified that she had been arrested for "endangering the welfare of a child." TR84:4. He performed this lookup because the Housing Authority requested that he do so "maybe for the disposition, was she found guilty and so forth, criminal justice purposes". TR84:8.

He testified that he did the lookup in December 2004, for J.S., who had been arrested five months earlier for domestic violence. TR84:17. He performed the January 2005, lookup on Mr. R. because he had been asked "specifically from the Housing Authority requesting that we deal with Mr. R." TR85:14. Robinson had a history of CDS arrests, and may have been living with his father on Housing Authority property. TR85:9.

He did a lookup on R.M. because he had been arrested on a weapons charge and "to justify adding him to the no trespass list." TR87:18. He performed a March 2005, lookup on N.G. because she had been arrested four months earlier on a bad check charge explaining that "[s]he would violate the one strike policy which involves criminal activity." TR88:2. The one strike policy is cause for evicting Housing Authority residents. TR88:5. A-28. The policy "clearly states that if you are involved in criminal activity you will be evicted." TR88.

The 13th person on A-13 no trespass list, D.J., "had a long history of drug arrests." TR91:3. Also, K.S., was on the Long Branch no trespass list and "has a long history of CDS arrests". TR6:7. Lt. Johnson proffered that the justification for doing this lookup was to potentially put K.S. on the Housing Authority no trespass list. TR6:14. Lt. Johnson testified that doing a CJIS lookup for this reason was legitimate. TR6:12.

Exhibit A-13A and A-13B, are emails concerning the "no trespass list" hearing. TR25-26. Lt. Johnson testified that those emails caused him to "run a criminal history" on people. TR27:23. Exhibit A-13D, are Lt. Johnson's handwritten notes concerning the "1-61" exhibits and A-14, is an exhibit that he believes shows that 152 of the 305 computerized criminal histories run during this period of time "contained no case number or had a CJIS or contained no information." TR31:11. Lt. Johnson's point was that other people failed to properly use the CJIS system and were not questioned or disciplined. TR33:20. One example he gave was a "background" investigation authorized by Sgt. Roebuck. TR38-39. Lt. Johnson referred to this entry in order to demonstrate that it is not fair for the City of Long Branch to charge him "... for violating a policy that I signed saying that every lookup will have a case number." TR40:18. Also, Lt. Johnson pointed out a lookup where the wrong purpose code was inserted. TR42. He explained that valid lookup code was "C" for criminal matters, "J" for criminal justice employment, "X" for expungement and "F" for firearms. TR43:5. The witness testified that twenty-six Officers had authorized CCH lookups without a companion case number. TR44-45.

Lt. Johnson asserted that is was permissible for him to do a CCH lookup on someone who had filed an appeal to be removed from the no trespass list. TR65-66. "Q: But you were gathering information [re-evictions] does that mean you would also be running criminal histories? A: Correct." TR67:5. Lt. Johnson went on to state that criminal histories were justified for persons who were being barred from Housing Authority property. TR69. Lt. Johnson explained that the "one-strike policy provided him authority for running criminal history or CCH checks because "I need to run criminal histories in the performance of my job to do my job. I couldn't provide them with the information that they needed if I didn't have that information." TR74:21. Lt. Johnson testified that the names for which he ran criminal histories would come to him from telephone calls, newspaper clippings, emails from the Housing Authority residents, etc. TR75:2. Also, Lt. Johnson testified that he had reason to run criminal history checks on persons on the no trespass list because, in his view, one had to have a "good reason to be put on the list." With respect to evictions, Lt. Johnson referred to Ms. B., who the Authority "was looking to evict due to criminal activity in and around her unit." TR95:3.

Exhibit A-45, concerns a "trespass sweep" and Lt. Johnson testified: "... it looks like here, there were numerous people with drug-related arrests. So, we definitely would have done criminal lookups for this." TR102:20. Also, he testified that A-47, a 2013 memo from Randy Phillips to Lt. Johnson provides justification for performing CCH lookups. Stating that "[d]epending on the matter involving the particular person that I found. If I did the IMC lookup and if he wanted to know on such and such date, they called up about J.S., what he was arrested for, what did he do, so forth and so on." TR104:7.

Lt. Johnson identified Exhibit A-48, which was advising Garrett of persons that the Long Branch Police Department had been arrested in and around Housing Authority property, and who were, accordingly, added to the trespass list. TR104:12. Lt. Johnson testified that he was asked to do this list, and that, in order to do so, he would have to "do the research, follow up and maybe run a criminal history or whatever, because all that may be in the file could be limited information, meaning the IMC file." TR104:11.

Lt. Johnson identified Exhibit A-50, which was a letter concerning a particular Housing Authority property seeking permission of the Police Department "to stop and question anybody that was around that property that didn't belong there." TR105:17. Remarkably, Lt. Johnson stated that this letter gave him justification to run a criminal history background check! TR106:2. Lt. Johnson testified with respect to two evictions, and stated that these were examples "of why I may run a criminal history on somebody". TR108:2.

On cross-examination, Lt. Johnson testified that the lookups he ordered to be done while he was Long Branch Housing Authority liaison were for a purpose related to Long Branch Housing Authority operations. TR6:14. When asked why he had denied doing so in his Garrity Statement R-4, he claimed that he was "mistaken". TR7:5. In fact, he found the City's charges against him in this case to be "ambiguous" even after he had read Lt. Shea's Internal Affairs Report. TR16:14.

His understanding of the IMC database in Long Branch Police Department was that it was "a self-contained system within the City of Long Branch that deals with reports and things of that – records of that nature." TR26:18. The IMC database contained only documents and information generated by the Long Branch Police Department. TR26:24. Asked if there was any information in the IMC database about someone's arrest record compiled outside of Long Branch, Lt. Johnson agreed that the information would be contained therein and in fact said: "It could be, yes." TR27:21. This was because an arrest report generated by a Long Branch Police Officer might make mention of a person's prior arrest record outside of Long Branch. TR27:22. He also agreed that it was possible someone could find out information about arrests outside of Long Branch in documents contained in the IMC system without having to access the CJIS system. TR28:13.

Lt. Johnson stated that A-29, the Long Branch Housing Authority trespass policy was in existence when he became the liaison in 2003. TR30:11. He agreed that there were five grounds set forth in the policy for putting someone on the Long Branch Housing Authority no trespass list. TR31:4. He was asked if a person would have to do one of those five things to be a trespass list, the witness stated: "I wouldn't say it's true, I would refer to F. 'No person should be added to the no trespass barring list without first, just cause. Said just cause will be stipulated by the executive director, director of management, or a member of the Long Branch Police Department.' " TR31:10. Asked if numbers one thorough five of the policy "involve conduct which occurs on or near Authority property", the witness responded: "I would say one through five deals more with residents and F could be non-residents." TR31:22. The witness agreed that the phrase "on or near Housing Authority property" is contained in paragraphs one through four of the policy. TR33:5. Asked about number five, which was damage to Authority property, the witness would not agree that a person had to be on Housing Authority property to cause damage. TR34:7.

He was asked to explain the "warning" language in the "no trespass" policy, Lt. Johnson stated that the warning consists of being told that you are on the no trespass list, and, if you violate the policy and are on Housing Authority property, despite being on the trespass list, you are subject to criminal prosecution. TR36:11. Asked if numbers one through five of the policy only describe conduct in Long Branch the witness would not agree to that either. TR36:16. However, when confronted with the fact that each of the five provisions states that the conduct which results being on the no trespass list must be "on or near" Housing Authority property meant that the misconduct has to occur in Long Branch, the witness then contradictorily stated: "I agree with that statement." TR37:3; 13. The witness then stated that a person cannot be on a no trespass list for an allegation, only for convictions. TR37:25. The witness was then asked if the no trespass list only included persons convicted of crimes in Long Branch, and replied (again contradictorily): "No, I'm not saying that." TR38:7. When asked to explain the discrepancy, he stated "IMC is only as good as the information being put into it" and that "[w]hat one officer may find important, another officer may not." TR39:10; 21. The witness went on to state that he did the CCH checks because he wanted to see if the person involved had "[a] certified conviction." TR40:11.

Lt. Johnson stated that it was not enough for a person to have allegedly engaged in misconduct to get on the no trespass list (TR40:25) and it was not necessary to have a conviction in order for someone to be put on the no trespass list. TR41:6.

When asked about the lookups he requested while Housing Authority liaison that Lt. Shea investigated and whether he performed the CCH lookups and did not do any IMC lookups, the witness replied: "No, I may have did a multitude of things, I may have re-dug out a criminal complaint, I may have dug out a DMV lookup, I may have dug out the IMC, I may have had a multitude." TR42:13. The witness agreed that, with respect to an IMC lookup, he could do this himself or he could have a dispatcher do it. TR42:20. Lt. Johnson agreed that the information in the Long Branch IMC system can be accessed by any Long Branch Police Officer at any time. TR43:12. He agreed that this was not true for the CCH lookup, which is an "investigative tool". TR43:17. The witness also agreed that access to the CCH system was limited to "criminal justice purposes." TR43:25. He further agreed that these lookups were done by dispatchers, not himself. TR44:3. Lt. Johnson specifically recalled doing IMC lookups on his own for Housing Authority issues. TR44.

Lt. Johnson was asked if the only way to find out about a person's convictions was to go through the CCH system, and answered that question in the negative. TR44:22. The witness immediately thereafter agreed, however, that he could not find out about criminal convictions in Long Branch Municipal Court by looking at the IMC system. TR46:18. Lt. Johnson then stated, however, that there could be information about prior convictions because a police officer investigating the current crime the person had been charged with might have conducted a CCH lookup. TR49:16. Lt. Johnson testified that he may have received information about prior convictions from another source, such as a parole officer. TR51:4.

Lt. Johnson testified that he "could have" put persons on a no trespass list for which he did not order CCH lookups. TR53:17. He explained that "I used a multitude of sources to justify someone being placed on the no trespass list." TR54:9. He did not recall whether he informed Tyrone Garrett that he was performing CCH lookups as a component of his recommending people to be placed on the no trespass list. TR55:8. Nor does he recall telling Garrett that he was doing IMC lookups for the same purpose. TR55:15. He does not believe he showed Garrett any "IMC" documents for anyone on the no trespass list. TR55:20. Asked several times whether he had any facts to dispute the assertion that only persons who engaged in misconduct on or near Housing Authority property were placed on the no trespass list, Lt. Johnson eventually answered that he did not have any facts to dispute this statement. TR58:2.

Lt. Johnson asserted that Section F of the "no trespass" policy provided additional "cause" for being placed on the list on top of the five provisions set forth in the policy. TR60:4. Asked if he recalled anyone going on the no trespass list for being arrested for drugs outside the City of Long Branch, Lt. Johnson replied: "I couldn't tell you." TR60:17. He was asked about the fifty-five persons for which he requested lookups, each of which he went through in incredible detail in his exhibit books, and whether any of these persons were arrested outside the City of Long Branch, Lt. Johnson replied: "I would say probably 92 to 95% of those crimes, if not more, where – these were things that were done in the City of Long Branch." TR61:1. When asked if any of the crimes for which these lookups were done occurred outside of Long Branch, Lt. Johnson answered: "I'm not sure." TR61:8.

The witness defined just cause as "the totality of the circumstances with everything involved." TR63:16. Lt. Johnson recalled that there may have been ten or fifteen appeals of persons to get off the no trespass list in the years he was the Housing Authority liaison. TR63:25. The witness stated he didn't have the appellant's criminal history background with him at these hearings, but had a "synopsis" of the history, which he would then summarize and present at the hearing. TR64:8; 11. Lt. Johnson testified that he was given the CCH reports in paper form, but may have looked at the computer screen as the dispatcher did the CCH lookup. TR65. Lt. Johnson testified that he made notes of these CCH "summaries", but did not save any of these notes "[b]ecause I did not find it relative." TR68:4. He was asked several times whether he had written or "summarized" the appellant's criminal history on the appeal form, the witness finally answered: "[s]ome of them I did, some of them I didn't." TR72:15. He did not know where the appeal forms were and he did not keep copies of those them. TR73:23; 25. Although Lt. Johnson initially stated he was not the "Prosecutor", he agreed that he was at these hearings "presenting evidence to support the recommendation that you should be on the no trespass list ...". TR75:13.

Lt. Johnson explained how a request to put someone on a no trespass list originally came about. TR79:3. It could occur because Lt. Johnson saw a police report that indicated someone had been involved in alleged criminal activity on or near Housing Authority property. TR79:21. Asked how he would proceed at that point, Lt. Johnson gave a number of answers which, when summarized, seemed to amount to "it depends." TR80. He stated that he may have started with the IMC system and looked at reports contained therein and perhaps interviewed the arresting officer about the episode which precipitated the criminal complaint. TR81:4. Lt. Johnson then reiterated that he would destroy his notes after the "no trespass" appeal hearing. TR85:8. He stated that he may also have listed criminal convictions or arrests on the appeal form. TR85:11. That form would be kept by the Housing Authority. TR86:3.

Lt. Johnson agreed that he was aware nationally of challenges to no trespass lists for housing authorities. TR90:9. Asked if some of the CCH lookups were for evictions, and the witness responded: "[t]hey could have been, I'm not sure." TR91:16.

Lt. Johnson was also asked about the CCH lookups he did for residents, and whether any of those were for purposes of eviction. TR91:24. Lt. Johnson was then asked to confirm that it wouldn't be for a "no trespass" reason that he did the CCH lookups for residents, and eventually agreed that made no sense. TR92. Asked if he recalled any Housing Authority official requesting that he do CCH lookups for purposes of evictions of Housing Authority residents, Lt. Johnson answered that he did not so recall. TR92:24. He also did not recall Mr. Garrett ever asking him to run a CCH for an applicant seeking to obtain housing. TR93:4. The witness agreed that applicants (as opposed to "trespassers") could be excluded for criminal conduct outside of Long Branch. TR95:9. In his view, it would justify performing a CCH lookup. TR95:14. He stated that he did not know how the Authority did these lookups, because "it wasn't my job" (TR95:20) and did not know if applicants had to sign a release in order to allow the Authority to do the CCH lookups. TR96L4.

Lt. Johnson agreed that, for purposes of eviction, a resident could engage in criminal conduct outside of Long Branch which might require a CCH lookup. TR97:7. Asked again if any of the fifty-five CCH lookups he reviewed from Lt. Shea's IA report involved evictions, and Lt. Johnson replied: "I would have to go back over them." TR97:22.

Lt. Johnson was asked whether any of these fifty-five lookups were for evictions (and after having confirmed that Lt. Johnson himself created the exhibit books in conjunction with his attorney's office), the witness continued to state that some of those fifty-five lookups "could have been" for eviction purposes. TR100:5; 14.

Thereafter Lt. Johnson was asked whether he ever request a CCH lookup for a victim in a domestic violence situation. TR101-103. He was then referred to R-3, at page 10 (Lt. Shea's IA report) and the entry for B.W. TR104. Lt. Johnson testified that he did a CCH lookup because B.W. was involved in a domestic dispute with his wife and was arrested. TR108:15. B.W. had not been arrested at the scene but was arrested for a prior incident, four months prior to the domestic violence incident. TR108:21. Lt. Johnson agreed that he had run a CCH check for B.W. TR111:21. Lt. Johnson testified that he was asked to investigate whether B.W. lived at P. Street or J. Avenue, TR112:17, and that he did the CCH lookup because of this address issue. TR113:2. Lt. Johnson then testified that he did not run this CCH lookup because of the address issue (TR113:13 but rather because B.W. "gave one address but as a previous address, he gave a Housing Authority address. TR114:12.

> Q: And is it your testimony that you're allowed to do a CCH lookup over a residency question for a Housing Authority purpose?
> A: If they're going to move for eviction.
>
> Q: So you think that's the law, you think you're allowed to do a CCH criminal history background check form someone because they may be illegally residing in the Housing Authority? That's what you – that's your understanding of this?
>
> A: And to - -
>
> Q: Could you answer my question, then you could explain, yes or no? Is that your understanding?
>

TR114:14-TR115:1.

Lt. Johnson then provided a second potential rationale for doing this lookup stating that B.W. "was involved in a domestic violence incident and his wife was an employee and the Housing Authority and wanted it investigated." TR117:23. Lt. Johnson testified that the Authority did not ask him to do a criminal history background lookup in this matter, TR118:6, but that he did this on his own as "part of my investigation." TR118:10. He stated that that was not part of his duties as liaison to conduct a criminal background check for employees or prospective employees of the Housing Authority. TR119:15. He was asked why he did a CCH lookup in this case when anything he wanted to know about the domestic violence incident could have been obtained by looking up an IMC, he replied that it "[d]epends on what I was looking for." TR120:10. Regarding the CCH lookup for B.W., Lt. Johnson finally stated that "[w]hat I said to you is that there are a multitude of reasons why I would run a criminal history." TR123:1.

Lt. Johnson was given a chance to clarify his testimony and stated:

> A: No, what I would like for you to do is not take a snippet of what I say and try to hone in on it. What I said is that he – if you look at the police report, his wife was accused of stabbing him, or using a weapon, or he was. So, I may have been doing an investigation, she may have been terminated as an employee, the Housing Authority can't come to the police department and do the investigation. That's why I believe I was entrusted with the position and the title.[ii]

TR123:21-TR124:5.

The witness did agree that it would not be legal for him to do a CCH lookup on B.W. (the husband) because the Authority was worried about whether his wife should continue to be employed by the Authority. TR127:3. He was then asked if it was legal for him to do a CCH lookup for B.W. to be evicted from Housing Authority property, and he testified that yes this was a legitimate criminal justice purpose. TR127:7; 9; 11. Lt. Johnson believes that this is criminal because B.W. might have "violated the one strike policy". TR127:14. Lt. Johnson testified that an eviction procedure is a criminal matter. TR127-128.

He testified that he ran criminal history checks at the Long Branch Housing Authority when he was the liaison, Lt. Johnson again responded: "... there was a multitude of reasons why I ran criminal histories." TR137:1. Sometimes he ran them just to see if someone should be on the no trespass list. TR137:9. Lt. Johnson reiterated that he did the run to put them on the no trespass list or for eviction. TR137:25. It was done for "quality of life issues and to get drugs out of the projects." TR139:11. The witness was then asked if he had ever done a CCH lookup for someone who was already on the no trespass list, and agreed that he had done so. TR140:9. Lt. Johnson testified that he did so because he wanted to see if they perhaps should have been taken off the list. TR140:19. Lt. Johnson's answers on this to this questioning was "could have been." TR140:21. He then testified that he also did the lookups to see if they should stay on the list. TR142:7. However, he never took someone's name off the no trespass list. TR142:21.

Lt. Johnson agreed that, for anyone arrested in the City of Long Branch, records concerning said arrest would be accessible through the Long Branch Police Department IMC system. TR6:5. The only exception would be that if someone was giving a "desk" appearance for disorderly person offense. TR6:17. Other than that exception, the witness agreed that any criminal involvement of a citizen within the environment of the City of Long Branch would be accessible in the Long Branch Police Department IMC system. TR7:5. Lt. Johnson testified that the IMC system provides information about arrests, etc., of residents of Long Branch, but not about criminal convictions. TR7:18.

The witness is not aware of any legal restrictions imposed by the State or Federal government with respect to a police officer's access to the Long Branch Police Department IMC system. TR8:7. Lt. Johnson agreed that a police officer can access the IMC system on his or her own, without any assistance or help from a dispatcher. TR8:18; 21. The only thing a police officer would need to do to gain this access would be a password. TR9:5.

Lt. Johnson stated that he never accessed the CJIS system, and did not know how to do it. TR9:21. He did, however, have a CJIS password. TR9:25. Lt. Johnson accessed the CJIS system via a Long Branch dispatcher. TR10:4. Lt. Johnson did not give his own password for the CJIS access; rather, the dispatcher would use his or her own password. TR10:7; 9.

Lt. Johnson understood that there were restrictions placed on a police officer's right of access to the CJIS system: "... you were supposed to only use it for criminal justice purposes, not for personal use." TR11:5. Lt. Johnson testified that his understanding of "criminal justice purpose" was "[i]f I'm conducting an investigation or anything I'm using in the course of the duties – my everyday duties I should say." TR11:10. Lt. Johnson stated that a criminal justice investigation was one example of a criminal justice purpose. TR13:3. Asked if his use of the word "investigation" meant investigation into violation of criminal laws, the witness replied: "[i]t could be, but it isn't limited to that." TR13:16. He again equated a "criminal justice purpose" with "the performance of my duties." TR13:20.

Lt. Johnson was asked if he had the authority to investigate criminal convictions for purposes of admission into the Housing Authority and eviction from said Housing Authority, and he responded that "[n]o, they did their own admission." TR15:25. Lt. Johnson agreed that he never requested any CJIS lookups for applicants for Housing Authority apartments. TR16. Lt. Johnson testified that he believed there was a legitimate "criminal justice purpose" to look up the criminal history of "visitor" to the Housing Authority property. TR16-17. Lt. Johnson stated that, for such "visitor" investigations, it was not sufficient for him to access the Long Branch Police Department IMC system. TR17:10.

He never determined, on his own as Housing Authority liaison, to do CJIS lookups on persons who were visiting the Housing Authority property. TRT19:12; 14. He then stated affirmatively that, for every single CJIS lookup he did for visitors, he spoke with someone at the Housing Authority before requesting such CJIS lookups. TR19:19. However, Lt. Johnson testified that there were times when he did request CJIS lookups based upon something that "I witnessed." TR20:14; 17.

He arrested "plenty of people" as Housing Authority liaison. TR21:4. He then clarified that some of the persons that he did CJIS lookups for were for persons he had arrested before he became Housing Authority liaison, and there are other persons that he arrested while he was working as the liaison. TR21:22; 25. When asked which of the "fifty-five" in Lt. Shea's IA investigation report Lt. Johnson had arrested as Housing Authority liaison, the witness replied, "I'm not privy to give you that information ... [b]ecause I would have to run through IMC with all those names, and print out every single one." TR22:3. The witness was then asked if Lt. Shea had not already done that, and testified that there were no active investigations for any of the fifty-five, and Lt. Johnson agreed that he had heard Shea testify that. TR22:15. He was then asked if he had the legal authority to do a CJIS lookup in 2004, for someone he had arrested in 2001, "[t]he mere fact that they got arrested in 2001, or you arrested them, did not give you the authority to do a CJIS lookup in 2004". He then answered: "That's not true." (TR23:24) stating that he had authority "if that particular individual was going to be barred". TR24:11. Putting a person on the "no trespass" list is a "criminal justice purpose" (TR24:14; 17) "[b]ased on the totality of things ... [m]y job is to make sure that there was a safe and secure environment." TR24:20.

He understood that he was not permitted to do a CJIS lookup for somebody on Housing Authority property whom he had arrested three years ago. TR25:9. He explained that he could only do this "[i]f there's an active – if there's a criminal justice purposes." TR25:14. To do a lookup on someone simply because they had been arrested (or even convicted) three years ago, would be a "violation" of the CJIS legal requirements. TR25:25; TR26:1. Only if they were engaged in current alleged criminal activity could you do a search. TR27:11; 14.

Lt. Johnson testified that he initiated a criminal investigation for some of the fifty-five persons on the list. TR27:17. Asked which ones, the witness replied: "[y]ou're asking me something ten years ago." TR27:19. When confronted with the fact that Lt. Shea testified his investigation revealed none of the fifty-five persons and had active criminal investigations, Lt. Johnson replied: "Okay and I would submit to you that every criminal investigation that was conducted by the Long – Branch Police Department was not documented. And if you're asking me if I documented every single inquiry, no. Nor does every other police officer." TR27-28. Putting someone on the "no trespass" list was a criminal justice purpose and allows him to conduct a CJIS lookup. TR39:6.

Lt. Johnson was asked about one A.H., who he testified that he personally arrested as Housing Authority liaison. TR40:19. He was referred to Exhibit R-3, Lt. Shea's investigative report, which showed that the CJIS lookup was ordered by Lt. Johnson nine months after he had been arrested. TR42. Asked if recalled when he arrested A.H. and/or when he did order the CJIS lookup for him, Lt. Johnson testified that he did not recall either of those events. TR43:23; 25. He testified, however, that he conducted a CJIS lookup to obtain A.H.'s "certified convictions" for the purpose of placing him on the no trespass list. TR44:6. The witness was then shown Exhibit A-10, which showed that A.H. was on the no trespass list as of June 2005 (Lt. Johnson ordered the CJIS look-up for A.H. in May of 2007). TR44:13. Lt. Johnson offered no explanation as to why A.H. would not have been placed on the no trespass list at the time of his arrest (as opposed to years later). TR45:11. Lt. Johnson stated that it was "not enough" A.H. had been arrested on Long Branch Housing Authority property to get him on the no trespass list. TR45:23.

Lt. Johnson did not recall testifying that he actually typed up the "no trespass" list. TR50:10. The witness agreed that A.H. was not on the no trespass list as of September 4, 2003 (as per A-34B). TR51:9. He was on the no trespass list as of June 24, 2005. TR51:25. A.H. was also on the list for 2006 and 2007. TR52:10. Lt. Johnson was then asked what possible justification there could be for doing a CJIS lookup on A.H. in 2007, when he had been on the no trespass list for the prior two years. TR52:16. In response, Lt. Johnson first said "[t]here could be several reasons." Then stated "[b]ased on the information I have here, I don't know." TR52:21; 24. Asked if there were any of the fifty-five persons on Lt. Shea's IA report list for whom arrests had occurred around the same time that they were placed on the no trespass list, the witness replied: "I never claimed that the lookups were done at the same time the arrests were done." TR53:6. The witness then (quite remarkably) testified that one reason he may have done a CJIS lookup was to find out an address for the person so that a "no trespass list letter" could be sent to the person. TR55:13. In fact, Lt. Johnson testified that it was legal for him to have done so. TR56:7. Lt. Johnson stated that one could obtain a person's address from a CJIS lookup, but that would be "[w]here they were arrested and what address they used". TR58:15.

The witness provided a second reason he would do a CJIS lookup: "[t]he gentleman was arrested and we wanted to see if he was illegally living there and we wanted to see, during his arrest time, if he had ever used that address before." TR59:22. He went on to say: "... one reason I would do that [do the CJIS lookup] would be to prove what address he might have used in the past." TR60:6. Another reason Lt. Johnson gave for the CJIS lookup was to ascertain the date of their convictions. TR60:16. Another reason the witness gave was: "The location of the crime. If it happened actually – it may not have happened at Long Branch Housing Authority. It could have happened in Asbury Park, it could have happened in Florida or at a housing authority anyplace. TR61:11.

The witness agreed that persons put on the no trespass list only get one "notice" of that action – when they are originally put on the list. They do not get an annual notice that they will continue to be on the list thereafter. TR63-64. Asked again if Mr. A.H. was on the no trespass list in 2005, why Lt. Johnson had done a CJIS lookup for A.H. in 2007, after he had already been on the no trespass list for two years prior, the witness responded: "I'm not privy to that." TR64:8. The witness was then asked if he agreed that there would be no reason to do a CJIS lookup for inclusion of someone on the no trespass list if they are already on the list (unless they filed an appeal), the witness responded: "Wrong." TR65:14. Lt. Johnson then testified that he might have been running A.H. to see if he should actually be taken "off" the list. TR67:8. Asked if he ever actually did this, the witness responded: "I can't tell you.", and "I don't recall". TR67:12; 15.

Asked about looking up someone's address, and whether, if they live in Long Branch, he simply could not do that through IMC, the witness agreed that he could have done so. TR70:14. Asked if he specifically recalled any of the fifty-five CJIS lookups he ordered to ascertain a person's addresses, the witness answered that some of them "may" have been done for this reason. TR71:5. Lt. Johnson agreed, however, that before he even thought about using the CJIS to find someone's address, he would have first done the driver's abstract and second an IMC lookup. TR71:14. Lt. Johnson went on to describe the case of the domestic violence victim, who may have used a Long Branch Housing Authority address on an arrest report, when he wasn't listed on a lease. TR73:12. Doing the CJIS lookup to check addresses was, in Lt. Johnson's mind, part of his investigation, on behalf of the Housing Authority, to ascertain whether the husband (domestic violence victim) was not legally living at a housing authority address. TR75:1. If that were the case, "[t]hat's a violation of their lease." TR75:9. Lt. Johnson agreed that he did not investigate the domestic violence incident, but that he might have investigated the incident to see if she should be evicted for the domestic violence episode or because she improperly allowed her husband to live on Housing Authority property. TR76. Lt. Johnson did not know if there was any "outcome" to this, in terms of the Authority either evicting or attempting to evict Sarah (a fictional name). TR77:10. When asked if it would have been inappropriate to do a CJIS lookup at the beginning to check someone's address, the witness replied: "No, because maybe the person doesn't have a driver's license." TR77:23. He refused to agree that, given the limited legal nature of access to CJIS information, a police officer such as Lt. Johnson should have done a driver's abstract and IMC search before going to CJIS. TR78:4; 8.

Lt. Johnson had never seen R-19, N.J.S.A. 53:1-20.6, which concerns dissemination of criminal history record background information (TR6:11) nor R-20, the definition of "criminal justice purpose" promulgated by the New Jersey State Police at N.J.A.C. 13:59-1.1. TR8:7. TR8:9. Lt. Johnson did not agree that the definition applied to access to CJIS records. TRTR8:13. The witness was then read the definition of "criminal justice purpose" for purposes of access to criminal history background records: "[t]he detection, apprehension, detention, pretrial and post-trial release, prosecution, adjudication, correctional supervision or rehabilitation of the accused persons or criminal offenders." TR9:6. After reading the definition (over objection of Lt. Johnson's counsel), the witness was asked if he agreed with that definition "in terms of your ability as a police officer in New Jersey to access CJIS records". The witness then replied in the affirmative. TR10:20.

The witness was then shown Exhibit R-34, which consists of various "no trespass" lists. TR11:3. Lt. Johnson was asked what "List A" means (which was one of the lists in the exhibit), and replied that he did not know. TR12:16. Lt. Johnson testified that he helped create the "no trespass" list. TR13:23. He also agreed that, at least for some of the lookups for which the City was disciplining him for, he did those lookups "in order to determine whether or not people should be on the no trespass list". TR14:3. The witness was again asked why he didn't do hundreds of CJIS lookups for persons on the no trespass list for a period of more than five years (TR14:4) and his answer could best be described as nonresponsive. TR14:12. The witness was then asked if he had placed anyone on the no trespass list for which a CJIS lookup was not performed; he replied "Couldn't tell you yes or no". TR15:3.

Lt. Johnson was referred to entries in A-13 and R-3 for Mr. T., as well as the language of A-3 the City of Long Branch which provided "no reports" regarding H.T. TR16:20. When asked if that meant that there was no information on H.T., he agreed. TR17:5. He was then asked if he had any reason to doubt the veracity that there was "no information" in the IMC system for H.T., Lt. Johnson answered "yes ... [because] I don't believe anything he has in his report." TR17:10. "I believe he omitted things that would benefit the City of Long Branch". TR17:17. He was asked if that meant that Lt. Shea had looked up H.T., found that he had been arrested for crack cocaine distribution in Long Branch, but intentionally did not include it in his report, Lt. Johnson provided the following answer:

> What I'm saying to you is that, throughout these proceedings, we have shown the [sic] Lieutenant Shea has done a one-sided investigation, so why would I believe that he would do anything to help me or to show that what he did? I had to create R-13 from his report and the mast name index that was provided to me, and there is [sic] several names on this list that there were no reports provided or no information.

Lt. Johnson explained it was not the case that "no reports existed", he believes that H.T. had a criminal history. Asked if that criminal history was in the City of Long Branch, Lt. Johnson replied that "I don't know where it is ...". TR18:14. Asked if he agreed that there would be no information in Long Branch's IMC system unless the person's criminal history occurred in Long Branch, Lt. Johnson stated: "[n]ot necessarily". TR18:17. It was possible that there might be written information in a police report in the City of Long Branch which could conceivably refer to criminal activity outside the City. TR19:1. When asked why, if there was no report generated by Long Branch Police Officer for H.T. for the City of Long Branch, there could be no information in the IMC system about H.T., Lt. Johnson disagreed stating that H.T. "could have been a victim ... could have been a Megan's Law registrar ...". TR19:10. Lt. Johnson was then asked why he did a CJIS lookup for H.T., and replied: "[c]an't tell you why ... no". TR19:20.

Lt. Johnson explained that H.T. was a former employee of the Housing Authority, and that he would do a CJIS lookup for Housing Authority employees "[i]f they – if a request was made of me by the Housing Authority." TR21:7. Lt. Johnson was then asked if doing a criminal history background check on someone because they worked for the Long Branch Housing Authority satisfied the statutory "criminal justice purpose", and he replied that it did not. TR23:19. The witness was then asked several times how a lookup could be justified if it did not satisfy a "criminal justice purpose" and he answered that "I would say that it's not – not limited to just those [criminal justice purposes as set forth in the statute]". TR26:13. "[A] missing or endangered person" is not covered in the statutory definition either. TR26:17. The witness testified that doing a criminal history background check for a missing person would meet the definition of the "criminal justice purpose". TR27:13.

Lt. Johnson was asked why he did a CJIS lookup for Mr. M., number fifty on the no trespass list (A-34A) and Lt. Johnson answered that he did not know why he did the lookup on Mr. M. TR41:10. In fact, he did not recall doing a CJIS lookup on anyone, and did not remember that person from the trespass list. TR41:15.

Lt. Johnson was questioned on why he did criminal history background checks on B. and M.N., both had been involved in a fight with B. as the suspect and M.N. as the victim. TR55:7. Lt. Johnson did not recall anything about the fight between the two parties (TR56:14) and explained that he did lookups on them "[b]ecause the Housing Authority requested information concerning these individuals." TR55:25; TR56:1. He said the Housing Authority had a right to request this information and he had a right to do the lookup based on the request. TR56:4. When asked if it was enough for B. to get on the no trespass list if he assaulted a Section 8 resident, Lt. Johnson answered: "No". TR56:14. Lt. Johnson, apparently seeking to explain why he did a lookup on B. and found out about a domestic violence incident in which he was the perpetrator, then inexplicably failed to put B. on the no trespass list, characterized the B. incident as his having being "involved" in a fight. TR57:1. Lt. Johnson then denied that the "fight" was a domestic violence incident, but was then shown Exhibit A-13, which stated that the incident was a "DVA", which he testified was domestic violence. TR57. The witness then testified that he had made a mistake, and that the B. incident was a domestic violence incident. TR59:1. Lt. Johnson testified that he did the lookup for M.N. "[b]ecause he was involved in the incident". TR60:9. Lt. Johnson agreed that M.N.'s name was not placed on any of the Exhibit A-34 "no trespass" lists. TR63:2.

Lt. Johnson was asked the lookup of C.W., who is only listed in the Long Branch IMC system as the victim of a theft. TR65-66. His answer was unresponsive. TR67:20.

Lt. Johnson was then asked again about running C.W., for whom the only entry in the Long Branch IMC system is a victim of a crime, and how he could justify a CJIS search for C.W. for a narcotics investigation. TR69:8. In response, Lt. Johnson questioned whether or not he was the person who made this request for a CJIS lookup. TR70:5. Asked about the lookup of D.A., Lt. Johnson said he did so because she had been arrested for endangering the welfare of a child. TR70:21. Asked whether, however, someone else was doing the investigation into that allegation, Lt. Johnson replied "No, you're wrong." TR71:3. He then immediately agreed that he didn't conduct a criminal investigation or write any reports about the child endangerment issue.

TR71:7. Lt. Johnson then speculated that the Housing Authority may have asked for the criminal history background check after D.A.'s arrest "... to see if she was convicted of this or whatever else, because that could jeopardize her lease and have her terminated." TR71:18. Lt. Johnson then testified (for the first time), that CJIS lookups may have been done to find out not only about convictions but arrests. TR72:10. Asked whether the arrest information couldn't have been more easily obtained through the Long Branch IMC system, Lt. Johnson said no, then clarified that this would only work if the arrest had taken place in Long Branch. TR72:14; 20. Asked if that was in fact true for D.A., Lt. Johnson replied "I'm not – I don't know. I didn't see the arrest report." TR72:22. He was then referred to a document which showed that she was arrested at G. Ct.; at that point, Lt. Johnson had agreed that she had been arrested in Long Branch. TR73:3. Asked again why information about the arrest could not have been and should not have been accessed through the IMC system, Lt. Johnson replied that doing so would have only revealed "part of the information". TR73:6. Asked if he had done the CJIS lookup despite the fact that he could have found everything he needed to know about the arrest in the IMC system, to find out if the woman had a prior criminal history, Lt. Johnson answered: "[i]t could have been". TR73:12. Lt. Johnson stated he would have done such a lookup "[i]f the Housing Authority wanted to ascertain if she had a criminal history." TR73:15.

Lt. Johnson was then asked the following questions and provided the following answers:

> Q: And you think they had the right to ask that any time they want, under your understanding of how this works? In the CJIS system? They can ask, anytime they want, and you would do it and that would be fine?
>
> A: Based on the definition for criminal justice purposes, yes.
>
> Q: And what was the criminal justice purpose in the Housing Authority wanting to know about whether she had a prior criminal history?
>
> A: I would say detection.
> Q: Detection of what?

> A: If she was a convicted criminal. What if she was a sex offender?

TR73:17 – TR74:3.

Lt. Johnson was then asked if he was saying that the Housing Authority requested the lookup after the woman had been arrested in Long Branch because, based upon the arrest, the Housing Authority wanted to find out if she had been convicted of some other offense, and replied: "[c]ould have been." TR74:14. Asked what he meant by "could have been", Lt. Johnson testified that he was just thinking that, and had no independent recollection thereof. TR74.

Lt. Johnson was then asked about J.S., whose lookup was done in December 2014, but who had been arrested in 2005 and 2006. TR74:20. Lt. Johnson was asked what he wrote in his notes concerning the Shea report that the City had not produced arrest records from 2005 or 2006 for a lookup that was done more than two years prior. TR75:21. Lt. Johnson disagreed with that conclusion; confronted again with the incongruity of the point, he then agreed that it made no sense for the City to provide arrest reports after the CJIS lookup was done, because subsequent arrests could not possibly serve as a justification for a previous CJIS lookup. TR76:24.

Lt. Johnson was then asked about an incident in July of 2004, in which J.S. was listed as a "domestic violence victim"; Lt. Johnson clarified that J.S. may not have been a victim but a perpetrator. TR77. Asked what the justification was for doing a lookup in December for an arrest that took place in July, Lt. Johnson replied: "[b]ecause that may have been when it finally made its way to my desk from the Housing Authority". TR77:24. Asked why J.S. had not been on a no trespass list, Lt. Johnson replied that he "[m]ay not have met the qualifications." TR79:23. Asked how being accused of beating up a resident was not enough to get a person on the no trespass list, Lt. Johnson then shifted gears again and sought to place all responsibility on the Housing Authority: "All I did was facilitate the information to the Housing Authority. They made the ultimate decision." TR80:1. He then stated that he did the CJIS lookups for them "[w]henever they requested." TR80:9.

Lt. Johnson was then referred to the R. lookup from R-3. TR80:10. Lt. Johnson did the lookup to "justify his criminal history to the Housing Authority". TR81:19. Lt. Johnson was again asked for the purpose of the lookup, and replied to "[m]ove for eviction for his father." TR81:22. When asked if that eviction had occurred, Lt. Johnson replied "I was just following orders" "I provided the information. What happened after that, I couldn't tell you, sir." TR81:24. Lt. Johnson testified that "sometimes" he would go to the eviction proceedings if he provided information (like a CJIS lookup to the Authority). TR82:25; TR83:1. Lt. Johnson had no explanation why R. was not on any of the no trespass lists. TR83:22. He then explained that R. was on the no trespass list under the name "M.R.". TR85:1. Lt. Johnson was then pointed to the fact that there were no entries in the IMC system until May of 2005, which was five months after Lt. Johnson authorized the CJIS lookup. TR85. He explained "that might have been when the IMC was installed." TR85:22.

Lt. Johnson was asked about his lookup for N.G., who was arrested for a bad check not on Housing Authority property. Lt. Johnson wrote in his report that: "[a]ccused is believed to be a section 8 resident". TR89:18. Lt. Johnson agreed that he had nothing to do with the investigation, charge, and arrest of N.G. for the bad check. TR90:9. He said the only possible justification for looking up N.G. is if she had been a Housing Authority resident. TR91:2. He did not recall her being a resident and assumed she was because he wouldn't have done the lookup otherwise. TR91:12.

Lt. Johnson was then asked about D.J.. D.J. was already on the Long Branch Housing Authority no trespass list when the lookup was done. TR91-92. He was asked if he did the lookup to see if the man should be removed from the no trespass list, and answered "[c]ould have been." TR92:12. Lt. Johnson stated that in order to be placed on the no trespass list, the person had to have the history of drugs or violent behavior anywhere – in Long Branch, New Jersey, or the United States. TR92:19-24. When asked if he had ever done a lookup to find out about crimes that persons might have committed other than the Housing Authority property, Lt. Johnson stated that: "[t]hat would be a reason to do a criminal history lookup." TR93:14. He was then asked if that meant if a person convicted of a crime in 2001 was put on the no trespass list in 2005, he said "[c]ould have been." TR93:19. Lt. Johnson did not remember making any recommendations to put a person on the no trespass list simply based solely on a prior criminal conviction. TR94:2.

Lt. Johnson was then pointed to the H. entry. The lookup was done on January 3, 2005, yet there was not a single piece of information in the IMC system as of that date. TR94-95. Lt. Johnson readily agreed that he did not possess any facts to dispute Lt. Shea's conclusion that there were no IMC entries for H. at the time the lookup was done. TR102-103.

Lt. Johnson was then directed to K.J., the next person on the list. Lt. Johnson refused to acknowledge that Lt. Shea was accurate in his statement regarding this lookup – "[t]he only incident that proceeded the CCH check, which happened on April 8, 2005, was an arrest for contempt, approximately seven months prior that occurred on Housing Authority property and Lt. Johnson had nothing to do with the arrest." TR107:19. Lt. Johnson's basis was for doing the CCH check was "[b]ecause the Housing Authority requested that information." TR108:15. Lt. Johnson remembered Natalie Turner, asking for the lookup; however, when asked if he specifically recalled her saying so, he replied no. TR108. He did testify that he remembered "someone" at the Housing Authority to look up this person – although he did not remember who it was, he "absolutely" recalled someone requesting it. TR109:2. Lt. Johnson testified that he did not do any lookups at his own initiative, but, rather, was simply "just following orders" of the Housing Authority. TR109:21.

With respect to the Housing Authority requests, Lt. Johnson stated he would do the lookup "[i]f it was a legitimate request." TR109:24. He then gave what Lt. Johnson asserted were "legitimate" reasons: "[t]hat they had reason to believe that this person was either living there illegally, committing crimes on the property, and they wanted to bar that person from their property." TR110:1. Lt. Johnson testified that he thought it was legitimate for the Housing Authority to do a criminal history background check on residents for purposes of eviction. TR110:9. He also thought it was legitimate to run a criminal history background check on persons who the Authority might want to put on a no trespass list. TR110:13. Another reason was if the Housing Authority had "reason to believe that a person was actually committing crimes on the property." TR110:17.

On redirect, Lt. Johnson testified that the lookups in question were not done for any purpose other than Housing Authority reasons. TR140:11. Lt. Johnson believed that he had the authority to perform these lookups. TR140:22. Lt. Johnson further testified that "[i]t was my understanding that I was to cooperate with the Housing Authority, based upon the federal act." TR144:6.

Natalie Turner

Natalie Turner (Turner) is the Assistant Executive Director at the Long Branch Housing Authority. TR148:14. Turner's understanding of Lt. Johnson's job as liaison was that he was the "point person for us to – to assist us with the cleaning up the area around the – the – public housing area in Long Branch." TR150:5. When Lt. Johnson was the liaison, she was the Director of Management at the Housing Authority and Mr. Garrett was still the Director at the time, and a Mr. Phillips was the Assistant Director. TR150:25.

She recalled that Lt. Johnson was trying to "clean up" the Housing Authority property by enforcing the Authority's "no trespass" policy. TR152:1. While Lt. Johnson was liaison, she asked him to look up individual's criminal backgrounds in the form of criminal convictions and arrests. TR154:23. She asked Lt. Johnson to do the criminal history background check for purposes of an individual's appeal of having been placed on the no trespass list. TR158:8. Lt. Johnson would provide Turner with summaries of the person's criminal history background, but not the actual computer generated criminal history form. TR160:6. She understood the one strike policy to mean that "... if a resident was found to be engaging in criminal activity ... they would be evicted." TR161:22. Lt. Johnson's role as a Housing Authority Liaison was to provide the Housing Authority with "criminal history information" on individuals. TR163:15.

The witness confirmed that the criminal history background checks for Housing applicants were conducted by the Housing Authority without any involvement of the liaison. TR166; TR167:25. She testified that she would ask him "[i]f this person has a criminal history, if they've been arrested." TR173:15. The information she received from Lt. Johnson might be used for eviction purposes or to be added to the no trespass list. TR174:8. Ms. Turner reiterated that she would ask Lt. Johnson about visitors to the Housing Authority property to see if the person "had a criminal background" or "if they've ever been arrested." TR178:14; 17.

On cross-examination, she testified that she did not know what CCH, CJIS or IMC were (TR180:5; 7; 10) nor did she know the difference between an arrest report and a criminal conviction history. TR180:13. The witness testified that she was not aware of any limitations on the Housing Authority's ability to access criminal history information, TR181:8, and never spoke to Lt. Johnson about them. TR181:14. Likewise, she was not aware of any restrictions that Lt. Johnson had as a Police Officer in terms of accessing this information. TR181:21. She had no idea if it was legal for Lt. Johnson to gather the information she was asking him to obtain. TR181-182.

She testified that a person who has a criminal conviction record anywhere in the country could be placed on the Long Branch Housing Authority no trespass list. TR182:21. The witness was then shown A-29 – the "no trespass" list (TR182:25) and testified that policy is a HUD policy. TR184:7; 11. She agreed that the five numbered paragraphs setting forth "misconduct" that can be the cause of placing someone on the no trespass list means "misconduct on or near Authority property." TR184:23. It was her understanding that, in order to be placed on the no trespass list, the misconduct had to occur on or near Authority property. TR185:3. When asked the question again the witness provided the following response: "I – I mean, probably, I mean, I don't know exactly where everyone that's on that list actually committed their crime." TR187:13.

Turner agreed that the "no trespass" policy was adopted pursuant to HUD law, TR189:5, and that the Long Branch Housing Authority had no choice but to adopt it. TR189:9. The "no trespass" policy is mandated for every single housing authority in the United States. TR189:15. Asked if the Housing Authority in Long Branch had the legal ability to go beyond the policy in terms of creating and enforcing the no trespass list or, alternatively, the Authority had to comply with the policy because it was a HUD mandate, the witness responded: "that wouldn't have been my call." TR190:15.

Turner testified that "I don't know of anybody that was on this list that didn't violate 1 through 5." TR190:22. The witness further agreed that persons were placed on the "no trespass" based upon criminal activity, not criminal conviction. TR191:3. She agreed that the typical way that a "no trespass" inquiry began is when she went to Lt. Johnson and said "could you check and see if this person got arrested?" TR191:18: "It could've been something that I heard or something I could have seen myself." TR191:20. The witness also responded that this would have been something that actually happened on Authority property. TR191:24. She agreed that, if there wasn't police activity based upon the incident or incidents in question, the person could not be put on the no trespass list. TR192:4.

The witness has never heard of anyone being charged criminally for providing an improper address to the Housing Authority. TR196:2; 20. The witness looked at a page from Lt. Johnson's exhibit book involving B.W., and testified that she had seen a "criminal history" before. TR199:5.

On re-direct, she explained that "just cause" in the "no trespass" policy would be determined by "the Executive Director, myself at the time, or a member of the Long Branch Police Department." TR202:1.

Randy Phillips

Randy Phillips (Phillips) was hired by the Long Branch Housing Authority in 1991, and retired in June 2015. TR98:10. He was the "Drug Elimination Coordinator", and his job was to eliminate the drug problem that existed in the Long Branch Housing Authority. TR99:2.

Phillips testified that it was the Housing Opportunity Program Extension Act of 1996 that provided him "with a pathway" to push to eliminate drug distribution and use on Housing Authority property. TR105, A-60. He was involved in requesting information, including criminal background checks, from the Police Liaison. TR108:14. The purpose of this was to keep "undesirables who had a history of drug activities from becoming residents at the Authority," TR108:16, and the second reason was to "keep them off of our property." TR108:20. He testified that the information he requested would concern "arrests" (TR109:15) and that "sometimes" he was provided information about convictions, but that was not his main focus. TR109:19. Phillips testified that prior convictions might be relevant in terms of evictions of residents. Id. Any criminal conviction within five years meant that the person would not be admitted to residency in the Housing Authority. TR110:11.

Phillips explained that he wanted information about convictions anywhere in the country on "applicants". TR112:24. If the Authority learned that the applicant had a criminal record, "[w]e would deny them the entrance into the Housing Authority." TR114-115. Asked if there were any reasons other than checking on applicant's criminal background history to do a criminal lookup, the witness answered: "No." TR116:9. Phillips also testified that both the police and an outside agency did criminal background checks on applicants. TR117.

When asked if he ever spoke with any police officials about the need for background checks, the witness stated that: "I don't recall doing that. No, because we were already getting the information we needed." TR128:10.

On cross-examination, Phillips confirmed that Lt. Johnson blacked out some information on the background searches and Phillips assumed that this was done because "I guess it was information he didn't want us to see, that he blacked it out." TR130:21. When asked if he was aware of any legal limitation on the ability of police officers to obtain information about citizens by way of computer, Phillips said that he was not aware of any limitations. TR131:7. In fact, he specifically asked Lt. Johnson, to obtain approximately 300 criminal background information checks about applicants for residency in the Long Branch Housing Authority. TR133:13. Mr. Phillips agreed that, as part of the application process, the applicants had to sign a release allowing the search to be done. TR133.

When confronted with Lt. Johnson's earlier testimony that he had never performed any lookups for Housing Authority applicants, the witness replied: "I was under the impression that when we ask for certain applicants, yea, that were looked up." TR134:7.

He understood the basis for the criminal background check would be in a situation in which "I would get some information that this person was arrested with – with drugs." TR137:14. Sometimes he would read about the arrest in the paper; TR137:16, and other times the police would tell Phillips about an arrest. TR137:20. He asserted that "eviction" searches were based on "probable cause". TR138:8.

Phillips confirmed that, in order for a person to be removed from the no trespass list, they would have to file an appeal, followed by a formal hearing. TR139:23. Mr. Phillips attended some of these hearings. TR140:8. He said conduct on or off Housing Authority property could get someone on a no trespass list. TR140-141. Phillips testified that he would only ask Lt. Johnson to do a criminal background check for persons thought by Phillips to be "known drug dealers." TR142:23.

Phillips asked Lt. Johnson to do a criminal history background check on visitors. TR145:8. However, when confronted with R-29, which set forth the five "behavioral" grounds for putting a person on the no trespass list, all of which stated on or near property of the Authority, (TR145:25) he agreed that the misconduct in question had to be on or near Authority property to justify placement of a person on a no trespass list. TR146:6. Similar to Turner, he did not know what NCIC, CJIS, or IMC stood for. TR146:7.

FINDINGS OF FACT

For testimony to be believed, it must not only come from the mouth of a credible witness, but it also has to be credible in itself. It must elicit evidence that is from such common experience and observation that it can be approved as proper under the circumstances. See Spagnuolo v. Bonnet, 16 N.J. 546 (1954); Gallo v. Gallo, 66 N.J.Super. 1 (App. Div. 1961). A credibility determination requires an overall assessment of the witness's story in light of its rationality, internal consistency and the manner in which it "hangs together" with the other evidence. Carbo v. United States, 314 F.2d 718, 749 (9th Cir. 1963). Also, "'[t]he interest, motive, bias, or prejudice of a witness may affect his credibility and justify the [trier of fact], whose province it is to pass upon the credibility of an interested witness, in disbelieving his testimony.'" State v. Salimone, 19 N.J. Super. 600, 608 (App. Div.), certif. denied, 10 N.J. 316 (1952) (citation omitted).

A trier of fact may reject testimony because it is inherently incredible, or because it is inconsistent with other testimony or with common experience, or because it is overborne by other testimony. Congleton v. Pura-Tex Stone Corp., 53 N.J. Super. 282, 287 (App. Div. 1958).

The testimony of Lieutenant Thomas Shea, was especially credible and persuasive. Even from simply reading the transcripts, the testimony was clear and concise. It was obvious that Lt. Shea had concerns regarding the "lookups" Lt. Johnson performed and he had no axe to grind. Likewise, was the testimony of Natalie Turner and Randy Phillips. It was apparent that they simply wanted to do their jobs.

Lt. Johnson's testimony was also somewhat credible. His explanation on why he performed the searches was that after 9/11 he was trained by the Department of Transportation. He was appointed the safety coordinator for the Long Branch Police Department. Under that title, he was granted permission to utilize CJIS to bring the Second Baptist Church into compliance with Federal Motor Carrier Act. Lt. Johnson explained that he believed this authority was still in place and he admitted to using it again in February 2012, for the same purpose. This explanation was not believable. It is not a lucid thought that a lieutenant with twenty years of experience believed that he still retained authority.

Also, his explanation of what constituted a "criminal justice purpose" to investigate individuals associated with the Housing Authority was even less clear and logical. I FIND, by a preponderance of credible evidence, that N.J.A.C. 13:59-1.1, states that "criminal justice purpose" means: 1. The detection, apprehension, detention, pretrial and post-trial release, prosecution, adjudication, correctional supervision or rehabilitation of accused persons or criminal offenders; 2. The hiring of persons for employment by criminal justice agencies or the granting of access to a criminal justice facility..." N.J.A.C. § 13:59-1.1 [Emphasis Added]. I FURTHER FIND, by a preponderance of credible evidence, the record and law supports that a CJIS search may only be performed by a police officer in New Jersey as part of a criminal investigation or to determine a criminal history background for purposes of bail. I FURTHER FIND, by a preponderance of credible evidence, that an officer will be in violation of the law if they perform a CJIS lookups without a "criminal justice purpose".

I FURTHER FIND, that Lt. Johnson testified he performed a CJIS lookup on B. "[b]ecause I was asked to find out what happened in that particular case" [a domestic violence episode]. TR78:3. Johnson testified that he believed he was legally authorized to conduct a CJIS criminal history background lookup for any person who may have been involved in an incident on or near Authority property (or, for that matter, anywhere else in the United States). TR79. Lt. Johnson offered the same explanation for the January 2005, lookup on R.R. TR85.

I FURTHER FIND, that Lt. Johnson repeatedly attempted to justify lookups in order to "potentially" put persons on the Housing Authority no trespass list. TR6:14; TR25-26. He testified that it was legally permissible to do a CJIS lookup for someone who filed an appeal to be removed from the no trespass list or to gather information for evictions of Housing Authority residents. TR62-67. However, that is not a "criminal justice purpose".

I FURTHER FIND, Lt. Johnson expanded his justification for CJIS lookups to in a "stop and question anybody that was around their property that didn't belong there" (TR105:17) as well as "a purpose related to Housing Authority operations". TR6:14.

I FURTHER FIND, as the Housing Authority Liaison, Lt. Johnson could not legally request a CJIS lookup for a visitor the Housing Authority to determine if the person belongs on the Authority's "no trespass" list because creation and/or modification of the list is not an investigative "criminal justice purpose". He continually changed his rationale and justification for the searches. That inconsistency was difficult to follow and understand. Moreover, it was not a lucid explanation. I found his efforts to explain these rationale as an attempt to "sell" his justification for the searches. It was not successful and detracted from any modicum of credibility.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Civil service employees' rights and duties are governed by the Civil Service Act and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto. N.J.S.A. 11A:1-1 to 11A:12-6; N.J.A.C. 4A:1-1.1. The Act is an important inducement to attract qualified people to public service and is to be liberally applied toward merit appointment and tenure protection. Mastrobattista v. Essex Cnty. Park Comm'n, 46 N.J. 138, 147 (1965). However, consistent with public policy and civil-service law, a public entity should not be burdened with an employee who fails to perform his or her duties satisfactorily or who engages in misconduct related to his or her duties. N.J.S.A. 1 1A:1-2(a). A civil-service employee who commits a wrongful act related to his or her duties, or gives other just cause, may be subject to major discipline, including removal. N.J.S.A. 1 1A:2-6; N.J.S.A. 11A:2-20; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.2. The general causes for such discipline are set forth in N.J.A.C. 4A:2- 2.3(a).

This matter involves a major disciplinary action brought by the respondent appointing authority against the appellant. An appeal to the Merit System Board requires the OAL to conduct a hearing de novo to determine the appellant's guilt or innocence as well as the appropriate penalty, if the charges are sustained. In re Morrison, 216 N.J. Super. 143 (App. Div. 1987). Respondent has the burden of proof and must establish by a fair preponderance of the credible evidence that appellant was guilty of the charges. Atkinson v. Parsekian, 37 N.J. 143 (1962). Evidence is found to preponderate if it establishes the reasonable probability of the fact alleged and generates a reliable belief that the tendered hypothesis, in all human likelihood, is true. See Loew v. Union Beach, 56 N.J. Super. 93, 104 (App. Div. 1959), overruled on other grounds, Dwyer v. Ford Motor Co., 36 N.J. 487 (1962).

The respondent sustained a charge of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6) Conduct Unbecoming. "Conduct Unbecoming a Public Employee" is an elastic phrase, which encompasses conduct that adversely affects the morale or efficiency of a governmental unit or that has a tendency to destroy public respect in the delivery of governmental services. Karins v. City of Atlantic City, 152 N.J. 532, 554 (1998); see also In re Emmons, 63 NJ. Super. 136, 140 (App. Div. 1960). It is sufficient that the complained-of conduct and its attending circumstances "be such as to offend publicly accepted standards of decency." Karins, supra, 152 N.J. at 555 (quoting In re Zeber, 156 A.2d 821, 825 (1959)). Such misconduct need not necessarily "be predicated upon the violation of any particular rule or regulation, but may be based merely upon the violation of the implicit standard of good behavior which devolves upon one who stands in the public eye as an upholder of that which is morally and legally correct." Hartmann v. Police Dep't of Ridgewood, 258 N.J. Super. 32, 40 (App. Div. 1992) (quoting Asbury Park v. Dep't of Civil Serv., 17 N.J. 419, 429 (1955)). Suspension or removal may be justified where the misconduct occurred while the employee was off duty. Emmons, supra, 63 N.J. Super. at 140.

It is difficult to contemplate a more basic example of conduct which could destroy public respect in the delivery of governmental services than the image of a Police Lieutenant performing more than fifty-five CJIS lookups without a "criminal justice purpose" when other avenues of searching were available. I CONCLUDE that appellant's actions constitute Unbecoming Conduct, and the charge of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6) is hereby SUSTAINED.

CONCLUSION

I CONCLUDE that respondent has met its burden of proof by demonstrating Lt. Johnson performed more than fifty-five CJIS lookups without a "criminal justice purpose".

I FURTHER CONCLUDE for the reasons set forth herein respondent has proven by a preponderance of the evidence that petitioner acted in a manner that constituted a violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6) Conduct Unbecoming and that charge is SUSTAINED. Likewise, I CONCLUDE for the reasons set forth herein respondent has not proven that appellant had notice of the charges in the PNDA and those charges are DISMISSED.

PENALTY

Where appropriate, concepts of progressive discipline involving penalties of increasing severity are used in imposing a penalty and in determining the reasonableness of a penalty. West New York v. Bock, supra, 38 N.J. 523-24. Factors determining the degree of discipline include the employee's prior disciplinary record and the gravity of the instant misconduct.

However, it is well established that where the underlying conduct is of an egregious nature, the imposition of a penalty up to and including removal is appropriate, regardless of an individual's disciplinary history. See Henry v. Rahway State Prison, 81 N.J. 571 (1980). It is settled that the theory of progressive discipline is not a fixed and immutable rule to be followed without question. Rather, it is recognized that some disciplinary infractions are so serious that removal is appropriate notwithstanding a largely unblemished prior record. See Carter v. Bordentown, 191 N.J. 474 (2007).

The record reflects that appellant has a significant prior disciplinary history. I somewhat agree with appellant when he argues that "if this Court were to find that some violation occurred, the reasonableness of appellant's conduct in the course of performing what he reasonably and honestly believed were proper lookups for a lawful purpose is not egregious or offensive." I do not agree that "remedial training or a verbal reprimand, or at most a suspension, would be far more appropriate."

It is settled that "[t]here is no constitutional or statutory right to a government job." State-Operated Sch. Dist. of Newark v. Gaines, 309 N.J. Super. 327, 334 (App. Div. 1998). (NOTE: Gaines had a substantial prior disciplinary history, but the case is frequently quoted as a threshold statement of civil service law.)

"In addition, there is no right or reason for a government to continue employing an incompetent and inefficient individual after a showing of inability to change." Klusaritz v. Cape May County, 387 N.J. Super. 305, 317 (App. Div. 2006) (termination was the proper remedy for a county treasurer who couldn't balance the books, after the auditors tried three times to show him how).

> In reversing the MSB's insistence on progressive discipline, contrary to the wishes of the appointing authority, the Klusaritz panel stated that "[t]he [MSB's] application of progressive discipline in this context is misplaced and contrary to the public interest." The court determined that Klusaritz's prior record is "of no moment" because his lack of competence to perform the job rendered him unsuitable for the job and subject to termination by the county.

Furthermore, police officers are held to a higher standard of conduct than ordinary public employees. In re Phillips, 117 N.J. 567, 576–77 (1990). Both police officers and correction officers represent "law and order to the citizenry and must present an image of personal integrity and dependability in order to have the respect of the public." Twp. of Moorestown v. Armstrong, 89 N.J. Super. 560, 566 (App. Div. 1965), certif. denied, 47 N.J. 80 (1966). Here, general progressive disciplinary standards make clear that removal can be imposed. Given the high standard of conduct required, I CONCLUDE that the Department has demonstrated that the removal is warranted.

The record in the above case coupled with commonsense reflects inexcusable Conduct Unbecoming. Considering the record in the present matter including the appellant's disciplinary record, the nature of the job duties and the nature of the charges, I CONCLUDE that the respondent's action Terminating and Removing appellant was justified.

DECISION AND ORDER

I ORDER petitioner's appeal be DENIED and the charge levied against Lt. Johnson, Conduct Unbecoming be SUSTAINED. I FURTHER ORDER respondent's imposition of removal is AFFIRMED.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, DIVISION OF APPEALS AND REGULATORY AFFAIRS, UNIT H, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, 44 South Clinton Avenue, PO Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

FINAL ADMINISTRATIVE ACTION
OF THE
CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

ISSUED: OCTOBER 19, 2017 BW

The appeal of Lyndon Johnson, Police Lieutenant, City of Long Branch, Department of Public Safety, demotion to Police Officer and 180 calendar day suspension, on charges, was heard by Administrative Law Judge Dean J. Buono, who rendered his initial decision on August 23, 2017. Exceptions were filed on behalf of the appellant and a reply to exceptions was filed on behalf of the appointing authority.

Having considered the record and the Administrative Law Judge's initial decision, and having made an independent evaluation of the record, the Civil Service Commission, at its meeting on October 18, 2017, accepted and adopted the Findings of Fact and Conclusion as contained in the attached Administrative Law Judge's initial decision.

ORDER

The Civil Service Commission finds that the actions of the appointing authority in demoting and suspending the appellant was justified. The Commission therefore affirms those actions and dismisses the appeal of Lyndon Johnson.

Re: Lyndon Johnson

This is the final administrative determination in this matter. Any further review should be pursued in a judicial forum.

INITIAL DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. CSV 11668-13
AGENCY DKT. NO. 2014-373

IN THE MATTER OF LYNDON JOHNSON, CITY OF LONG BRANCH POLICE DEPARTMENT.

Stuart J. Alterman, Esq., for appellant (Alterman & Associates, attorneys)

James L. Plosia, Jr., Esq., for respondent (Plosia & Cohen, LLC, attorneys)

Record Closed: July 10, 2017 Decided: August 23, 2017

BEFORE DEAN J. BUONO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The City of Long Branch (respondent) suspended Lieutenant Lyndon Johnson (appellant) for 180 days and demoted him from Lieutenant to Patrol Officer. The discipline stemmed from an alleged violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)1 Incompetency; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)6 Conduct unbecoming a public employee; and N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)7 Neglect of duty. Specifically, respondent alleges appellant 1. Failed to call out the detective bureau; 2. Failed to videotape an accused statement; 3. Failed to charge an accused with all offenses; 4. Ignored facts given by subordinates; and 5. Misled assistant prosecutor in conversation on how matter should be handled. Appellant contends he acted appropriately in his position as Watch Commander and did not violate any regulation, rule, policy or procedure.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On January 23, 2012, respondent prepared and served appellant with a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action because of his actions on September 25, 2011, while serving as Watch Commander. Following a local hearing before the City Administrator a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action was issued on August 6, 2013, sustaining the charges and penalty. An appeal was filed timely and the matter was transmitted by the Civil Service Commission to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case on August 14, 2013, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

Hearings[i] were held on June 12, 2014, September 10, 2014, September 30, 2014, October 20, 2014, October 21, 2014, November 13, 2014, November 25, 2014, and December 9, 2014. After post-hearing briefs were received the record closed on April 24, 2015.

On March 31, 2017, the originally assigned Judge (Shuster) retired from the bench. On April 21, 2017, the OAL sent a correspondence all parties notifying them of the retirement and requesting a telephone conference. A telephone conference was held on April 25, 2017, with the parties and Assignment ALJ Delanoy to discuss how the parties wished to proceed. This matter was re-assigned to the undersigned on May 1, 2017. A telephone conference was held on May 8, 2017, wherein the court requested that the record be re-opened so that the court may acquire all the closing submissions and documents that were missing from the record at OAL. The parties graciously agreed and submitted the requested records. The record closed on July 10, 2017.

[i] Respondent brought four separate disciplinary actions against appellant. This was the second case to be heard.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Based upon the documents in evidence and review of the testimony, I FIND the following facts undisputed:

This case concerns the way appellant handled the charging of a suspect in his capacity as the shift Watch Commander. The general protocol in the City of Long Branch was for the arresting officer to bring an accused to police headquarters for processing and the Watch Commander is to determine the charges to be filed and prepare the summons or warrant in accordance with those charges.

This matter started at a Section 8 public housing project (Seaview Manor) on the early morning hours of Sunday, September 25, 2011. A disturbance occurred at the home of Juan Suarez (Suarez) who was hosting a party. There is ample proof in the record that the participants had been drinking alcoholic beverages that evening. Prior to the events that give rise to this matter, Troyshon Phillips (Phillips) was involved in an altercation during the Suarez party and was injured. Later that evening Phillips learned of the injury and went to the Suarez residence to investigate. A verbal altercation took place between Phillips and Suarez and someone called the police. Officer Robert Bell (Bell) answered the call by going to the Suarez residence and Officer Thomas Hueston (Hueston) arrested Phillips after performing a Terry-Stop on the Phillips vehicle similar in description to one being driven by an individual involved in the Suarez altercation. All three police officers, Bell, Hueston and appellant were working the 11:00 p.m. to 7:00 a.m. shift with Hueston doing overtime.

When Officer Bell responded to the Suarez residence he spoke with Suarez and his companion, Ms. Precious Best (Best) at 12:42 a.m. Bell was told they were about to escort an intoxicated partygoer home and when they opened the side door Phillips was there holding a knife. Suarez told Officer Bell, Phillips asked what happened in the earlier altercation. Suarez said he slammed the side door closed and went to the front door and started yelling at Phillips. Suarez continued by saying Phillips responded by going toward him and threatening to cut him. Suarez then retreated into the house. Bell radioed into headquarters a description of Phillips and the Phillips's vehicle.

Officer Hueston was also responding to the same call as Bell when he observed a vehicle matching the description of the one Bell had called in and he proceeded to make a stop. Hueston had his service weapon drawn and after some initial discussion Phillips identified himself and gave Hueston his three-inch blade pocket knife. When originally asked, Phillips said he was coming from a convenience store but when advised the store was closed he admitted coming from the housing project where the Suarez incident occurred. Hueston then arrested Phillips, handcuffed him but did not Mirandize him and brought him to the police station. When coming into the station, Phillips said to appellant something to the effect "I only pulled the knife on him because he had a sword." Officer Hueston then made the statement that Phillips said something different during the road stop to the effect that the person went to get a sword, not that he had it. As there were multiple disturbances going on that morning and Johnson sent Hueston back on the street to deal with those events.

Bell and Hueston returned to the station between 3:00 a.m. and 3:30 a.m. and met with appellant. The officers wanted Phillips charged with several indictable offenses but Lieutenant Johnson was inclined to go with a lesser charge. Johnson then directed they do a joint interview of Phillips. The officers asked if the detective bureau be called out to do a video interview pursuant to Attorney General guidelines for first, second and third degree charges. Johnson declined.

The interview took place after Phillips was Mirandized shortly after 4:00 a.m. He said he went to the Seaview housing complex and was at the Suarez unit trying to speak with someone but the door was closed in his face. He then walked back to the parking area to speak with others there. Then Suarez came out the front door with his sword challenging him with, "you want some of me M_ _ _ _ _F_ _ _ER." Phillips said he returned to the side door with his knife out but then left the scene. The officers still could not agree on charges because of conflicting statements. As a result, Assistant Monmouth County Prosecutor James Jones (Jones) was called regarding the charges to be filed. The telephone receiver was held up by appellant as if on speaker mode and the call took place in a small closed room. Jones could hear everyone and everyone could hear Jones. Johnson was corrected by the patrol officers if they felt he misspoke and the officers spoke freely during the conversation. Officer Bell stated that appellant stressed his position but gave all the facts to Assistant Prosecutor Jones. Johnson advised Jones there were conflicting stories as to who pulled a weapon first. Assistant Monmouth County Prosecutor Jones said if there are questions go with the lesser charge.

Johnson directed the patrolmen to continue their investigation by interviewing Latoya Bland (Bland) who was with Phillips during the event. Also at the direction of Johnson, they also spoke with Suarez and Best again to get more information. Bland told the officers she and Phillips went to Seaview Manor so Phillips could find out what happened to his friend. Phillips had something in his hand when he approached the side door of the Suarez residence. Bland did not know what the object was. Suarez also had a long object in his hand but she could not identify it but she did say both Suarez and Phillips were yelling at each other. When Suarez came out of the residence with the sword and yelling, Ms. Bland said she left in a hurry. In the second interview with Suarez and Best they admitted Suarez had a sword but claimed it was only at the front door and was produced after being threatened by Phillips at the side door. Officers Bell and Hueston attempted to interview other witnesses but due to substantial intoxication they could not. Officers Bell and Hueston then returned to the police station and spoke with Johnson. Officer Hueston wanted Phillips charged with indictable offenses for two reasons. First, he felt Suarez and Best were more credible and Phillips was the aggressor. Second, Officer Hueston did not want to be named in a false arrest lawsuit.

I also make the following findings of fact:

1. Officer Hueston wanted Phillips charged with aggravated assault and various weapons charges all indicatable offenses.

2. Johnson ordered the non-indicatable offense of criminal trespass was the appropriate charge.

3. When doing the Phillips interview at police headquarters there was no one present who could operate the video recording equipment. Recording the interview of an accused is only required for persons charged with indictable offenses.

4. There were two incidents that took place on the morning hours in question. Suarez and Best reported Phillips had a three-inch blade pocket knife and was threatening at the side door of Suarez's unit. Phillips reported Suarez had a fourteen-inch machete-type weapon at the side door and brandished same and threatened Phillips at the front door. Bland confirmed Suarez had something long in his hand but didn't stay long enough to observe the details.

5. After the initial investigation is done and charges are filed a case goes to the detective bureau where the file is reviewed. Additional investigation may or may not occur. The bureau makes the final decision on whether the initial charges will be downgraded, up charged or remain the same. In this case the Phillips's charge was upgraded to an indicatable offense.

6. The indictable charge on Phillips was presented to the Monmouth County Grand Jury and was "no billed" by that body.

7. At 6:30 a.m. Lieutenant Roebuck arrived at headquarters to relieve Johnson as Watch Commander. Johnson, Bell and Hueston were continuing the debate on charging Phillips. Lieutenant Roebuck heard from both sides and agreed with Johnson's conclusion. He also suggested to let the detective bureau continue the investigation if they so chose.

8. Lieutenant Roebuck was not charged with a disciplinary action for not up charging Phillips's offense. He has now been promoted to the civilian position of Director of Public Safety.

9. The investigating and charging IA (IA) officer, Lieutenant Thomas Shea, did not believe the witnesses intoxication had any bearing on the accounts of events they gave to Officers Bell and Hueston.

10. In the past, the detective bureau has upgraded charges filed by Shift Commanders on numerous times and none of those Commanders have ever received disciplinary charges as in this case.

11. IA Officer Shea did not interview anyone involved in the Phillips case, either police officers or civilians. All information was gathered by reading reports, memos and written statements.

12. This case is the only time the IA officer is aware a Watch Commander was disciplined for failing to call out the detective bureau or failing to upcharge a suspect.

13. The IA officer believes Lieutenant Johnson acted with nefarious motives but can not explain why or what those motives are.

14. The IA officer did not speak with anyone in the detective bureau to find out why the Phillips charge was upgraded to an indictable offense.

15. The Long Branch Police Department does not have a Standard Operating Procedure (SOP) regarding charging criminal suspects. Watch Commanders have discretion.

16. The Long Branch Detective Bureau is ultimately responsible for handling all criminal investigations. The protocol is for the patrol division to be the first responders and gather the information relative to the event. The Watch Commander charges the individual and turns over the reports and charges to the detective bureau. Every morning the bureau reviews the files and then it is decided if additional investigation is needed and if charges should be modified.

17. Johnson stated that he believed Officer Hueston, who was the officer pushing hard for indictable charges, was acting prematurely as he made up his mind prior to assembling all the facts. Additionally, he believed Officer Hueston arrested Phillips without probable cause. He therefore believed that Officer Hueston was therefore exposing himself and the City to false arrest litigation.

18. Johnson stated that he did not charge Phillips with indictable offenses because he did not believe they could be substantiated.

19. Johnson stated that he believed there was no reason to call out the detective bureau because Phillips's statement to the officers did not have to be video recorded as he was not going to be charged with an indictable offense. Additionally, he thought the entire matter was going to be turned over to the detective bureau.

TESTIMONY

Respondent

Officer Robert Bell

Officer Bell (Bell) had been employed as a Police Officer in the City of Long Branch since 2005. TR23:7. After graduating high school, he attended Stockton College for a time, then joined the Marine Corps from 1998 to 2003. TR23:18. He was hired as a dispatcher by the City in 2004, and then as a Police Officer in 2005. TR23:22.

Bell's involvement in this matter began shortly after 12:42 a.m. on September 25, 2011, when a call was received from the residence of Precious Best and Juan Suarez. TR28:2. The two lived in an apartment at Seaview Manor, which is Section 8 housing located in Long Branch. TR29. When Bell responded to the call and arrived at the scene, he began speaking with two persons, who were later identified to him as Precious Best (Best) and Juan Suarez (Suarez). Best told him that they were about to walk out of the side door of their apartment in order to escort a family member home when they saw a male standing there, known to her as Troy, and he had a knife. R30:21. Suarez told him that he went to the side door to walk his uncle home, and then when he opened the door a male was standing at the side door holding a knife. TR40-41. As Suarez told Officer Bell these facts, Best was far enough away from their conversation so she could not hear what was being said. TR42:11. Bell arranged this purposely "[s]o that I could get their two stories without each one hearing what the other said." TR42:16.

Phillips began asking Suarez "[w]hat happened to my friend" and that "there was an altercation". Suarez told Bell that he shut the side door on Phillips because he was holding a knife. TR42:20. Suarez then went to the front door of the apartment, and began yelling at Phillips to get him away from the side door where his family was located. TR43:18 and TR44:5. Phillips then appears at the front door, holding the knife, and tells Suarez he was going to cut him in the face. TR44:15. Best then pulls Suarez back into the apartment. TR44:19. In his initial discussion with Officer Bell, Suarez did not mention that he had a weapon of any kind at the front door after the initial side door incident. TR44:24.

Bell testified that Best separately gave him "pretty much the same account" that Suarez had provided to him. TR45:6. Best stated that she knew that Troy was – Troyshon Phillips. TR45:24.

Bell then radioed a description of Phillips and the vehicle he occupied. TR47:8. He also radioed that Phillips may possibly be in possession of a knife. TR48:4. Bell then heard Officer Hueston (Hueston) and Officer Brown (Brown) on the radio that they had a vehicle matching Bell's description. TR48:8. As Bell heading back to Police Headquarters, he was informed on the radio that there "multiple large fights" in the City, so broke off headed to the fights. TR49:11.

At around 3:30 a.m., Bell arrived a Headquarters where he and Hueston briefed Johnson as to what happened at Seaview. TR50:12. Bell explained that it was the practice for any patrol officers who are going to institute criminal charges to explain those potential charges to the Watch Commander, who would be the one to type up the criminal complaint. TR51:3. Johnson "thought we needed to speak to more people because the charges that we had, he didn't feel that we had enough of that". TR52:4. Bell said that he expressed his opinion to Johnson during this conversation that there was enough evidence to charge Phillips with a criminal offense. TR53:10. At that time, Bell also learned from Hueston that Phillips had a weapon matching the Suarez/Best description in his car when stopped. TR54:9.

Officer Bell described the telephone conversation that Johnson had with Monmouth County Assistant Prosecutor Jones (Jones), and stated that, Jones wanted the Officers to obtain more information about the Suarez/Best incident. TR55:19. Bell explained that, during the telephone conversation Johnson had with Jones, there were a couple of times when he and Hueston corrected statements made by Johnson. TR56:16.

Bell, Hueston and Johnson all spoke with Phillips but before the interview, Bell asked Johnson if the Detective Bureau needed to be called to videotape Phillips's statement. TR58:16. Bell understood that a video interview had to be done for certain charges. TR58:22. Johnson, did not call the Detective Bureau. During the interview of Phillips at the station, Phillips claimed that he pulled a knife out only because "they pulled the sword" on me. TR 62:18. Hueston questioned the statement, pointing out to Phillips that this is not what he had stated to Hueston when first pulled him over. TR

67-68. Phillips also told the three officers he had been accompanied by a female companion – Latoya Bland – who was with him at the Seaview Apartments but left "when the whole thing started". TR 69:5. Based upon this information, Johnson told Hueston and Bell to go find Bland and interview her. TR 69:21.

Subsequently, Hueston and Bell spoke again to Suarez and Best, as well as speaking to Bland at her home. TR 71. Initially, Bland told Hueston and Bell that she did not know who they were talking about when they mentioned Troy, (TR 72:11), but then acknowledged that she knew who Troy was when her sister said "[y]ou know Troy, you were just out with him tonight." TR 72:12. Bland then explained to the officers that she and Phillips had been at a bowling alley earlier that night, TR 72:25, and that she and Phillips had dropped off a friend, Simon Puryear (Puryear), at the Seaview Avenue party. Puryear was a friend of Best and Phillips who had gotten into the incident at the Seaview Avenue apartment. TR 73. Bland told the officers that Phillips received a phone call that Puryear had gotten "jumped or beat up" at the party. TR 74:1. Phillips wanted to leave the bowling alley to go back to the party, and Bland argued with him to try and convince him to stay at the alleys. TR 74:5. Eventually the two left the bowling alley and drove to the Seaview Apartments. TR 74:7. She remembered that Phillips threw his keys in the car and went to the side door of the apartment with something in his hands, although she could not say what it was. TR 74:9. Bland was with him at the side door, but left when an argument began at the door, she walked away. TR 74:15. Bland stated that she had seen something in Suarez's hand but did not know what it was. TR74:20.

Bell recalled that when he and Hueston then went back to speak with Suarez and Best and they learned that, after the side door was closed in Phillip's face and Suarez went to the front door, he went to get a sword in his apartment and brought it to the front door. TR 78:4. Hueston and Bell collected the sword and brought it back to headquarters. TR 78:24.

Hueston and Bell related to Johnson what they found out in speaking with Bland, Best and Suarez. TR 92:7. Bell recalls that Hueston began to argue with Johnson that there is certainly sufficient evidence to charge Phillips with several criminal offenses, and Johnson was adamant that there was not enough evidence to justify the charges. TR93:13.

On cross-examination, Bell testified that there was a "discussion" between himself, Hueston and Johnson (TR51:23) and he disagreed with what Johnson told him. TR52:6. Bell heard the "Johnson" side of the conversation that Johnson had with AP Jones, and, on occasion, were able to hear AP Jones because Johnson held the phone up for them. TR52:17. Bell and Hueston corrected Johnson about the information he was conveying to Jones during the phone call and Johnson did not always relay the corrected information to Jones after Hueston and Bell had pointed it out. TR:53. Johnson did not always accurately convey information to Jones even after they corrected him. TR54:6.

Bell explained the difference between the information he got from Suarez in his first interview and the second interview: "Well, the facts did change, because Lt. Johnson was stating as a fact that Suarez came to the side door with the sword which is what Phillips was saying and that he [Phillips] produced the knife only because Suarez had the sword. Suarez didn't produce the sword at the second door until after Phillips was already at the side door with the knife." TR68-69. Johnson told Jones during the telephone conversation that Suarez opened the door to his apartment and confronted Phillips with the sword. Bell explained again that Johnson continued to convey incorrect information to Jones during the phone conversation about Suarez brandishing a sword, despite he and Hueston correcting him. TR77:23.

Bell explained that Bland essentially corroborated Suarez's story that Phillips went to the side door of the apartment with something in his hand and Suarez pushed Phillips away from the side door proceeding to the front door thereby confronting Suarez. TR83:4.

Bell and Hueston wanted Phillips to be charged with aggravated assault, possession of a weapon, possession of a weapon for an unlawful purpose, and second degree burglary. TR90:20. Johnson disagreed, and only justified a charge of criminal trespass. TR92:1. Bell testified that he could not understand that, and Johnson still would not budge off his "no charge greater than criminal trespassing" position. TR93:7.

Bell testified that he advised Johnson that the Detective Bureau should be called out for the Phillips matter and (TR117:22) that he was not conveying accurate information to Jones because Johnson was stressing Phillip's side of the "story" more than the actual facts. TR149:25.

Officer Thomas Hueston

Hueston has worked with as a Police Officer with the City of Long Branch Police Department for fifteen years. TR165:24. He recalled being dispatched to the Suarez residence earlier on the night of September 24 for Puryear. TR167. Around 10:30 p.m., (TR168:6) Hueston was dispatched to the scene, and found that Simon Puryear had been involved in a fight at Seaview Manor. TR168:11. An ambulance was at the scene, but Puryear did not go in the ambulance (TR168:23) and noted an "RMA", which means that Puryear refused medical assistance. TR169:4.

Hueston described responding to the dispatch call at 0:42 on September 25 (TR176:18) with lights and sirens on. In route, Hueston observed a small blue car coming in his direction. TR178:3. Based upon this description he received, Hueston stopped it (TR178:14) and asked the driver if his name was Troy, but Phillips did not respond. TR178-179. Hueston had his weapon drawn during this stop, because it was a "hot call" and Phillips had been described as a subject with a knife leaving the scene of a crime. TR179:9.

Phillips eventually confirmed that his name was Troy, and that he was in possession of a knife. TR179:20. Phillips handed him the knife (TR180:15) and told the officer that he was coming from a convenience store on North Broadway. TR181:18. Hueston was able to ascertain that the convenience store was not open (TR182:8) and asked Phillips if he had been over at Seaview Manor, and Phillips replied yes. TR182:19. Phillips was placed under arrest (TR182:24), but not Mirandized, and was brought to the Long Branch Police Department. TR184:22.

As Phillips was being escorted in the Police Department, he blurted out "Johnson, I only pulled the knife on him because he pulled – pulled the sword out on me". TR186:3. Hueston said to Phillips after he made his "guy pulled a sword" statement something to the effect that, "That's not what you said on the road", and pointed out that Phillips had said during the stop that Suarez had gone to get the sword, not that he actually pulled a sword. TR187:22. Johnson told Hueston that he would take charge of Phillips, because there were numerous fights going on and he needed police officers on the road. TR186:9.

At the scene of the stop, Phillips told Hueston that he had gone over to Seaview Avenue because "his friend had gotten jumped" (TR188:16) and that he had pulled his knife out at the Seaview Avenue apartment "because the guy was getting a sword. . .". TR189:3. This is why Hueston pointed out in the Police Department that Phillips was "changing his story" – from "Suarez getting a sword" at the scene to "guy pulled a sword on me" to Johnson in Headquarters. TR189:23. Hueston testified that he said to Johnson and Phillips in Headquarters, after Phillips made the "guy pulled a sword" statement: ". . . now you're changing the story to the guy getting it to now he has it." TR190:4.

Hueston returned to Headquarters sometime around 3:00 or 3:30 a.m. (TR191:8) and he and Bell spoke to Johnson about how Phillips should be charged. Hueston stated that the conversation eventually evolved into a dispute. TR192:6. Johnson told he and Bell that the evidence was "a little on the weak side". TR195:3. Hueston wanted to charge Phillips with aggravated assault, terroristic threats, possession of a weapon, and possession of a weapon for an unlawful purpose. TR195:5. The discussion about how to charge Phillips became heated at times (TR195:11) with Hueston explaining that if the suspect is to be charged with an indictable third degree offense or above, the interview must be recorded. TR196:11. Hueston could not work the videotape machine because he does not know how, (TR198:3) and he did not know if Johnson or Bell know how to work it. TR198. He said that Bell was adamant in with Johnson that they should not be interviewing without videotaping his statement (TR205:14) and Bell insisted that the Detective Bureau be called in order to run the videotape machine. TR206:8.

A statement was taken from Phillips and Hueston, which is identified as R-20, the Miranda form with Phillips' signature thereon. TR207:12. It was signed at 4:04 a.m. TR207:17. No record was made of statements Phillips made during the interview (TR207:20) but it took less than an hour. TR208:3.

When the interview concluded, the Officers went to the Watch Commander's area to further discuss charges against Phillips. TR232:3. Hueston testified that he "was just very adamant that he [Phillips] had broken the law by going there with a knife and produced it." TR232:14. Hueston was "100% positive that he [Phillips] had broken the law", he wanted to charge him and not let him go. TR232:17.

Hueston identified R-6, which is the transcript of the telephone conversation Johnson had with AP Jones. TR235:3. Hueston testified that the telephone portion of the call had a speaker phone capacity, but it was not used. TR236. Hueston was not able to hear what AP Jones was saying (TR238:11; 13) but said "[w]e were all talking." TR239:7.

Johnson never told AP Jones the prior statement of Phillips made when he was first pulled over by Hueston – "I pulled my knife out because the Spanish guy was going to get a machete." TR243:17. Hueston confirmed that, when he and Bell went back to speak with Suarez at around 5:00 a.m., both of them said that they came to the back door and Phillips was there with a knife out wanting to know what happened to his friend. TR244:17. This was consistent with Best's statement to Bell when he first arrived. Johnson never told this information to Jones. TR245:19; TR246:19. Johnson never conveyed the inconsistent statements Phillips had given and the spontaneous utterance he made to Johnson upon arrival at the station. TR247:18. This was important because it detracted from Phillips credibility (TR248:11) and Johnson knew about the contradictory statements but failed to relay that critical information. TR252:4.

Hueston explained that Johnson quoted Phillips as saying that Suarez came out of his house swinging a machete and then Johnson confirmed this when Jones repeated it to him. TR270:12. Johnson agreed to both of these statements that Jones made. TR277:21.

Hueston confirmed that Jones asked Johnson "if Phillips went to the Suarez house looking for trouble", Johnson replied, "[h]e went looking for answers." TR274:2. Hueston testified that if Phillips was telling the truth about leaving the Suarez home, then running back to the stoop to confront Suarez, he exacerbated the situation "[i]f in fact that's what happened." TR23:25. Hueston did not agree with Johnson's retort to AP Jones (who had said that Phillips went looking for trouble at the Suarez apartment), and that Phillips merely went looking to the apartment "for an answer". TR26:8. In his opinion, Phillips should have gone to the police, not to the Suarez's apartment with a knife. TR26.

He said he had a "cordial relationship" with Johnson, Hueston and in fact was personally indebted to Johnson – "because of him my brother is clean and sober today." TR172. Hueston testified that he did not believe he was being insubordinate to Johnson that night. TR173:20. In fact, that was the only time he had spoken to a superior officer as he did to Johnson in his entire career. He did so because "I just felt very strong[ly] that Troyshon broke the law and I really wanted to see that it was followed through with, that's all." TR174:2. Phillips was originally charged with criminal trespass, a petty disorderly offense, based on the orders of Johnson. TR174. If he had been charged like Hueston and Bell wanted him to be charged, Phillips would have had to posted bail. TR175:22. This was all based on the action taken by Phillips at the side door of the apartment, which constituted felony offenses, occurred before Suarez ever went to the front door of the apartment. TR190:24. Hueston stated unequivocally that the basis for the felonies that he and Bell wanted to charge Phillips with were Phillips's actions at the side door. TR193. Thus, based on the simple chronology of events, whatever Phillips had done at the front door was "after" the felony conduct at the side door, and has no impact on how Phillips should have been charged. TR191:8.

Lieutenant Thomas Shea

Lieutenant Thomas Shea (Shea), involvement in the Phillips "knife" case began when he received a memo from Captain Bucciero, about how Johnson handled the Phillips case. TR10:18. Shea began his investigation by contacting Hueston and asked him to write a "to/from memo" about what happened on the night of September 25. TR14;16. Shea made the same request of Bell, and received R-12 in response. TR15.

Shea identified Exhibit R-30 as his IA Report about the Phillips "knife" case (TR16:15) and identified R-18, which notified Johnson that an IA complaint had been made against him. TR18:8. Shea also contacted the Monmouth County Prosecutor's Office, as he is required to do if there is any allegation of any possible criminal offense on behalf of a police officer. TR18:14. The Prosecutor's Office informed Shea on October 18 that they were not going to proceed with their own investigation. TR21:12.

Johnson was interviewed on November 14, 2011 (R-19). At that time, Shea's understanding was that Phillips threatened someone with a knife and both Hueston and Bell believed that Johnson had not given the full version of events to AP Jones. In fact, Hueston and Bell strongly believed that more serious charges should have been lodged against Phillips than the petty disorderly offense of criminal trespass. TR22:13.

During the interview, Johnson repeatedly stated "it was unclear as to what [had] happened and that's why he didn't feel that. . . the charges that Hueston wanted to lodge against Phillips were warranted and that he felt that as a Watch Commander he should be more impartial." TR23:1. Shea did not agree with Johnson's statement that Phillips was entitled to meet "force with force", "[b]ecause Phillips was the one who initiated the confrontation at another person's house." TR25:5. In fact, Shea's investigation revealed that there were two incidents, the first was at the side door in which Phillips brandished his knife and threatened Suarez and his family, and the second at the front door. TR26:11. Phillips was the only one who alleged that Suarez had produced the sword first. TR27:1. Therefore, Shea explained that the there was no possibility of a "force with force" defense because Phillips produced the knife and threatened Suarez and his family at the side door. TR27:14. Shea testified that there was no basis for Johnson to state in his IA interview that the facts were "unclear" to him because the facts strongly supported the conclusion that "Phillips. . . initiated the confrontation at the door. . .". TR28:1.

Shea also explained that the recording device required to be used when suspects are to be charged with a criminal offense of a certain degree is located in the Detective Bureau. It is a mobile unit that is only operated by members of the Detective Bureau. TR28. Shea identified R-28, Attorney General Guidelines regarding videotaping statements (TR30) and quoted from the section on custodial interrogations: "Unless one of the exceptions set forth in paragraph D are present all custodial interrogations conducted in the place of detention must be electronically recorded." TR31:2. Shea explained that the policy originally only applied to first or second degree charges but was later expanded to include crimes in the third degree. TR31:15.

The charges that Hueston and Bell had requested Johnson to charge Phillips was a second-degree offense. TR31:24. Shea further explained that possession of a weapon for unlawful purposes is a third-degree offense. TR32:1. He also said that the Detective Bureau should have been called out that night by Johnson (TR39:24) to provide clarity about what had happened. TR40:1. In fact, after the Phillips matter was reviewed by the Long Branch Police Department Detective Bureau, Phillips was charged with possession of weapon, possession of a weapon for an unlawful purpose, terroristic threats, and aggravated assault. TR46. Shea had "no doubt" that if a detainee is potentially to be charged with an indictable offense any statement that the detainee gives to the police department must be videotaped. TR47:14; 16; 18.

The charges were presented to a Monmouth County Grand Jury, and were "no bill" due to "[l]ack of victim cooperation." TR51:20; 23. But, at the time Phillips gave his statement to Johnson, Hueston and Bell, he was under arrest, it was a custodial interrogation, and his statement should have been electronically recorded. TR56:10. Failure to memorialize the custodial interrogation constituted a violation of the IA Guidelines. TR58:12. He said that the failure to record made the statement an "illegal interrogation". TR58:17.

Shea said that there was no doubt based upon the investigation conducted in this matter that, other than Phillips's self-serving statement, all of the witness at the scene concluded that Phillips initiated the contact at the Seaview Avenue apartments. TR65:9. He also said all criminal charges are in fact allegations, until they are proved before a jury. TR67. Shea was aware that Hueston told Johnson the same thing on September 25, 2011 and he wasn't the "judge and jury". TR68:5. The standard for instituting criminal charges was whether the probable call existed to believe that the facts supporting the allegation were accurate and correct. TR72:14. Shea clarified that the "beyond a reasonable doubt" standard of proof which applies to a criminal jury trial is not the same as the "probable cause" that must be met to charge a person with a criminal offense. TR73. Shea explained that potential contradictory statements by witnesses do not preclude finding a probable cause for purposes of initiating a criminal charge against a Defendant. TR76L14. This was especially true if a perpetrator gives a statement which is inconsistent or disagrees with statements given by others that would support the criminal charge. TR76:19. Shea also explained that it was indeed "common" for criminal defendants to deny the allegations which were made against them. TR76:22. Denial of certain facts by a perpetrator does not preclude a finding of probable cause a criminal charge against a defendant. TR77:4.

Shea filed the Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action against Johnson because "it was my belief that Lt. Johnson purposely downgraded the charges on Phillips." TR81:20. Shea explained that Johnson had only given Phillips's version of events to AP Jones during their phone conversation. TR82:15. He was also charged for failing to call the Detective Bureau and failing to electronically record the statement of an accused while in a custodial interrogation. He was also charged with misinterpreting the statute for self-defense. TR83:7.

On cross-examination, Shea was asked what he meant when he said Johnson "purposely downgraded" charges against Phillips, and he replied "I meant that he had clear facts and probable cause from the investigation at that point that warranted more serious charges and Lieutenant Johnson for some reason chose not to charge Phillips with those charges." TR86:16. A police officer does not have discretion on whether or not to charge a person with a crime if he witnesses it. TR90:5.

Regarding the videotaping of Phillips' statement, Shea testified that he recalled that Lieutenant Johnson stated in his IA interview that he did not call the Detective Bureau because they would not have come out for this, and also stated that he did not know how to run the videotape machine. TR148:14. Hueston and Bell likewise said that they did not know how to run the videotape machine. TR149.

Regarding the issue of the drinking at the Seaview Avenue party on the night in question, Lieutenant Shea testified that Johnson never told him that the reason he did not want to charge anyone was because they were drinking at the party. TR152:24.

When asked about whether or not "all the witnesses were drinking", Shea acknowledged that the fact that the witnesses were drinking alcohol at the crime scene could impact on their ability to recite factual information, but this possibility does not mean that the witnesses should not be interviewed. TR169-170. Shea did not think the alcohol consumption issue was significant because that fact was not an issue to the officers at the scene. TR171:2.

Johnson was "supposed to sign a complaint based on probable cause, not find if it's true or not." TR178:2. Shea was asked if this was "a simple matter of you disagreeing with Lt. Johnson", Shea replied that it was not just himself, but the two Officers on the scene, and the entire Detective Bureau in the Long Branch Police Department who disagreed with Johnson as well. TR181:9.

Shea was asked if he believed Johnson had done something "nefarious" with respect to his refusal to charge Phillips, he replied that he believes that there was indeed something nefarious, "Based upon the fact pattern we have here, it's inexplicable to me why Johnson wouldn't charge this guy with more serious offenses, why he released a man accused of a violent act on a petty disorderly persons charge". TR37:15.

Appellant

Assistant Prosecutor James Jones

Jones worked as an Assistant Prosecutor in the Monmouth County Prosecutor's Office from 2005-2012; previously, he had been with the New Jersey Attorney General's Office for eighteen years. TR137:17. He said he was "professionally friendly" with Johnson in 2011. TR138:25.

Jones was asked to describe what Johnson had conveyed to him during the phone conversation on September 25, and he recalled that Johnson told him that Suarez had been armed with a "machete", (TR140:2) and that Phillips was armed with a knife that "he used in his capacity in whatever position he had his job, that he used to open up boxes. . .". TR140:16.

Jones did not recall whether or not people had been consuming alcohol at the scene. TR144;17. But when asked about whether it was necessary to charge as many charges as possible, Jones replied "I try to charge with the most serious charge when I'm consulted that I think will stand, because I have to take into consideration that there is going to be a bail hearing coming up." TR145:4. Anybody could be charged with an offense on "any given evening". TR145:25.

Jones testified that there appeared to be a "conflict" in that there may have been a "spontaneous" drawing of knife and sword (TR156) but criminal trespass charge satisfied "the interests of the State and Mr. Phillips". TR153:18. Jones also said that he would have spoken to either Hueston or Bell if they had called him that night. TR163:1.

On cross-examination, Jones testified that Johnson did not tell him that Phillips lied to Hueston when he was pulled over. TR174:6; 15. Nor did Johnson tell him about the inconsistent statements Phillips made about Suarez's actions – "going to get his sword" as opposed to "pull the sword". TR175:9.

Jones stated that Johnson told him that the story Phillips gave was that "Phillips approached the Suarez home and Suarez came out or opened the door brandishing a sword." TR176:17. Jones was then shown R-10, which was Officer Hueston's supplemental police report where Hueston wrote Phillips' version of events where Suarez did not open the door holding a sword. TR178:15. Jones agreed that it was not consistent with what Johnson told him. TR179:1. Jones further agreed that Phillips's statement that Suarez did not produce the sword until after the incident at the side door was also inconsistent with what Johnson told him. TR179:13. Jones was then shown Suarez's statement (R-13), and was asked if Johnson had conveyed any additional information during the phone call. Jones replied in the No. TR181:22. In fact, Jones testified that he would have given different advice to Johnson (TR182:1) and it may have been charged as an aggravated assault. TR182:4. Jones had no idea why Johnson did not convey this information to him. TR182:12.

Jones was about Phillips's credibility and he said "From the outset he had less credibility than anyone, because he is the person that had gone to someone else's house. . . in possession of a knife and obviously looking for trouble, in my mind." TR203:1. Based upon the statements given by Suarez and Best, Phillips should have been charged with indictable offenses (TR209:22 and TR208:4). In fact, after looking at page 3 of R-6, Jones said it would have been "natural" for Johnson to have told him that Precious Best corroborated Suarez's statement. TR208:9.

Jones was asked about videotaping Phillips's statement and testified that he was not aware that Johnson and the two Police Officers had actually questioned Phillips prior to calling him. TR221:23. In fact, if he had learned this, he would have been disappointed because the statements should have been videotaped. TR222:1. It also would not matter if the suspect was under the influence of alcohol "because quite frankly, if they're drunk, they are what they are." TR222:23.

Jones reiterated that, the timing of the "production" of weapons would have been important in terms of any conclusion as to who was lying about the incident. TR231:15.

Lieutenant Frank Rizzuto

Lieutenant Frank Rizzuto (Rizzuto), has been a Police Officer in the Long Branch Police Department for eighteen years. TR5:22. He is currently a Lieutenant. TR6:4.

In 2011 he was working in the Detective Bureau and reviewed the "Phillips" case. He assigned Detective Michael Decker to work on the case in order to conduct a follow up investigation. TR8-9. He said Detective Decker expressed "a certain discomfort" in investigating the matter, because he would be investigating the actions of a superior officer. TR11:1. and TR17:5. However, Phillips was eventually charged with possession of a weapon, possession of a weapon for an unlawful purpose, aggravated assault and armed burglary. TR12:18. He said that the New Jersey Criminal statutes should have been the guide post for determining what should be charged. TR20:21.

Rizzuto also testified that the videotape recording of statements of criminal suspects is mandated if the suspect is to be charged with a crime, or even if there is the "potential" of charging with a crime of third degree or higher. TR28:2; 18.

Jason Roebuck

Jason Roebuck (Roebuck), is currently the Director of Public Safety for the City of Long Branch. He is on a leave of absence from his position as Captain. TR34. On September 25, 2011, Roebuck was a Lieutenant (TR35:6) and worked as the Watch Commander for the day shift. TR35:11.

As a Watch Commander, he would determine what charges to bring against any suspect by examining if "there is the facts and you have to go with the facts". TR36:18. In determining what charge should be levied against a suspect should be based on 2C of the New Jersey statutes. TR36:25.

On September 25, Roebuck reported to work around 6:00 a.m. or 6:15 a.m. and recalled that there was a discussion going on between Johnson, Hueston and perhaps Bell. TR38:18. There was a debate about what Phillips should be charged with and Johnson asked Roebuck what he thought. Johnson gave Roebuck his version of what had happened. TR39:1. After that Roebuck had a discussion with Hueston in the locker room some ten minutes later. TR39:15.

Based on what Johnson told him, Roebuck thought the charge against Phillips "could have gone either way." TR42:1. Hueston, however, gave Roebuck a very different version of what had happened at the scene (TR42:10) which changed Roebuck's opinion about what should have happened. TR42:14. He told Hueston that it would make no sense for him to have any further discussion with Johnson but, rather, he should simply memorialize in writing the facts he had just recited to Roebuck, and the Detective Bureau would review the matter. TR43:1.

On cross-examination, the Director denied ever seeing a situation where the Detective Bureau ever "upcharged" a criminal defendant based upon the same facts that had been adduced during the initial investigation. TR48:4 and TR49:5; 8. The only "upcharging" will occur when the Detective Bureau uncovers additional facts, not based upon the same facts discovered by the initial investigating officer. TR49:12.

He explained if a fact pattern justified charging a defendant with aggravated assault, "then you don't really have any – a discretion on whether or not to charge him". TR52:13. He also explained that the legal obligation to charge exists even if the victim says one thing and the alleged perpetrator says another, TR53:8, and explained that sworn police officers have no discretion regarding charges based upon credibility judgments which may not be made as to witnesses. TR53:15.

A Watch Commander "doesn't override the facts. . ." if he does not "agree" with what he was hearing from his police officers. TR54:8. He "would tend to believe the officers on the street" (TR55:12) and has never declined to pursue charges against a criminal suspect "because you doubted the veracity, or credibility or honesty of your officers who actually did the investigation which was the basis for the proposed charge". TR56:5. "I've never had that happen where they went, you know, where they went, no, I want to indict him. . ., and I said, no, I'm going to let him go." TR59:20. "I just look at the facts that are there" and, if the facts fit into a 2C criminal violation, "then I'm going to charge them." TR62:1; 6. "I'm going to charge and I'm going to let someone else figure out later whether it should be, you know, downgraded. I would also tend to. . . do the higher thing [charge]." TR62:9.

Lieutenant Lyndon Johnson

Lieutenant Lyndon Johnson (Johnson) testified that he began his employment in the Long Branch Police Department in 1993 (TR6:1) and served in every unit in the Police Department. TR6:15. After discussing his career and achievements, he described that "at one time, we had 100 police officers, and the highest number we've ever had was 5 Black minority officers, and that created a lot of tension in the community." TR23:5. There are no black officers above a lieutenant. TR23:9.

Johnson testified regarding many of the undisputed facts above including Phillips's "unsolicited utterance" to Johnson, "Johnson, the only reason I pulled my knife was because the Spanish guy pulled a sword out on me." TR30:9. He recalled that after Hueston and Bell returned to Headquarters, Hueston "had a whole litany of charges he wanted to charge Phillips with, and as a supervisor, you learn that you have to decipher." TR30:22. Johnson explained "[a] lot of times, young officers, they will come in and think they have this, and they really don't, because they don't meet the elements of the crime, and they're excited. . . They want to charge as many charges as they can, but sometimes you just have to bring them back down that you just don't have it." TR30-31.

Johnson found it "odd" that Hueston had a list of charges even though he had not been at the scene to speak with the victim. Johnson suggested that the officer should speak to Phillips to get his side of the story because he thought that Hueston "just refused to think that Phillips could be telling the truth. . .". TR31-32. Johnson thought that there "wasn't enough to place Phillips under arrest, because Hueston had no probable cause of what took place." Johnson also doubted the existence of probable cause because he did not know if Hueston had ever spoken to Bell. TR33:2.

Johnson testified that he knew Phillips was "under the influence because of his physical appearance, and I could smell it on him", as well as given the fact that he already admitted that he had been at the Suarez party "where alcohol was flowing freely". TR34:15.

Johnson said that the watch commander "is intricately involved for figuring out how to charge someone in Long Branch". TR37:13. Johnson objected to Hueston's opinion on charging because he "hadn't even been at the scene". TR37-38. Johnson then testified that he explained to Hueston that "we represent the State, and we have the burden to prove whether someone committed a crime or not, and at that particular point, I said to him show me what proof do you have that Phillips committed this crime," and he could not do that. TR38:16.

Johnson did not believe that Phillips needed to have his statement videotaped because he had not yet been charged. TR39:7. He also testified that it was not "feasible" to videotape Phillips because "he or we did not have access to the equipment, nor did we have the proper training, and at this particular point, it wasn't an interview and interrogation." TR39:13. Johnson suggested that they call the on-call prosecutor and run the situation by him. TR40:11.

Johnson testified that he did not call out to the Detective Bureau because there was no crime scene (TR42:18) and referred to a memo on overtime which he believes justified him not calling the Detective Bureau. TR45:20. Johnson also referred to three cases where the Detective Bureau did not investigate. One was a case where a woman lost an engagement ring, and the Detective Bureau refused to "come out". TR49:11.

"Troyshon Phillips was not a flight risk" (TR54:4) that's why he was given the petty disorderly persons offense and "it's kind of confirmed that, you know, Phillips had some truth to what he was saying. . .". TR55:11. There were "credibility gaps" on both sides (TR56:3) and Hueston wanted to bring charges against Phillips that "did not meet the elements to any of the crimes that he wanted to charge Phillips with, and that's the most important thing." TR56:22. "I have to believe that they took place", and Johnson did not believe that they took place. TR57:2. He concluded this because "there's a lot of confusion. . .". TR57:4. Johnson also stated that he would have typed the complaint and swore Officer Hueston to it. TR57:12. Johnson did not want to swear Hueston to the criminal charges Hueston wanted to bring because "I believe we couldn't prove that what he was saying took place." TR57:23. Rather, he authorized only a criminal trespass charge. TR58:5; 8.

Sometime later, Johnson received a letter from Shea informing him that an IA investigation was initiated against him based on the Phillips incident. TR67:12. He testified about his interview in the IA investigation and that he was targeted because he had a poor relationship with the Director of Public Safety, Al Muolo. TR69-72.

Johnson again testified about videotaping Phillips's statements and spoke about the "feasibility" exception to the Attorney General Guidelines and the fact that Phillips "was not charged with anything", which, in Johnson's mind, meant that the Guidelines did not apply. TR83:2. Johnson also claimed that Phillips did not give a "statement". TR84:6.

On cross-examination, Johnson was asked about his testimony on direct how Hueston could know what had happened at the Seaview Avenue scene, when Bell had been there, not Hueston. He was also asked about whether he knew that Hueston and Bell had spoken to each other. TR103-104. Johnson stated "I said that I found it odd that an officer would have a list of charges and he never went to the scene to speak with the victims." TR104:6. Johnson was also asked if he believed that Hueston was simply making up the facts, Johnson replied that "It was not presented to me that the two had conversed about why he felt the way he did." TR105:5. Johnson also did not believe that police officers under his command conferred before they spoke to him about potential charges. TR105:12.

Johnson acknowledged that Hueston told him at 3:00 a.m. that Suarez and Best said Phillips banged on the side door of their Seaview Avenue apartment, and began cursing and threatening Suarez and wielding a knife. TR107:25. Johnson then acknowledged that this is precisely what Suarez and Best told Bell and what was reflected in Bell's written report. TR108:3. Johnson was asked if that was not what Suarez and Bell said in their formal statements and in fact, the three versions of events they gave were entirely consistent, Johnson replied "[a]bsolutely no". TR108:13. Johnson said it "just became a who is telling who". TR109:8. Johnson then claimed that what Bell told him at approximately 12:45 a.m., and what Hueston and Bell told him at 4:00 a.m., was inconsistent because Suarez initially indicated that he did not have a weapon or produce a weapon." TR115:17.

Johnson acknowledged that Suarez and Best gave the same account to Bell (TR120:11) and there has never been any inconsistency in their story. He said "I wasn't there. I don't know what was said at the door. I don't know what exactly directly what was said to Bell by Suarez. I wasn't there." TR123:10. Johnson said that as Watch Commander, he is never present when the incident takes place and information is only relayed to him later. TR123:19. Therefore, he must rely on what his officers say occurred, either as to what they personally observed or what was conveyed to them by witnesses, as the basis for what crimes if any a suspect should be charged with. TR123:24. Johnson said that it was very rare for a violent crime to occur in front of a police officer, and extremely rare to have a videotape of a criminal incident. TR124:12; 15. That was one of the reasons that he did not call the Detective Bureau that night because he knew there was no video to retrieve from the Housing Authority. TR125. Johnson finally acknowledges that the information Hueston conveyed to him at 3:00 a.m. was the same information which Bell had obtained at around 12:45 a.m., and that the two officers had done no other investigation on the matter between those two timeframes. TR133:16. Johnson believed that Hueston was insubordinate but did not charge him. TR133-134.

Johnson testified that he did have the 2C book in front of him when was having the discussion with Hueston and Bell. TR137:16. The charge of terroristic threats, did not fit with what Phillips had done "[b]ecause there was no evidence which was presented to me that Phillips went there with the purpose to make a terroristic threat on the victim." TR137-138. Asked if it was not true that at 12:45 a.m. and again at 3:00 a.m., Bell and Hueston informed him twice that Suarez and Best stated that Phillips went to the door of their apartment, knocked on the door, and yelled loudly at Suarez and Best "I'm going to fucking kill you", Johnson replied that "[t]hey said a lot of things", (TR138:8; 10) then stated "I can't recall", what Hueston and Bell told him at 12:45 and 3:00 a.m. that night. TR138:19.

Johnson denied that the "I'm going to fucking kill you" statement Suarez and Best told Bell about at 12:45 a.m. was not what Hueston and Bell presented to him at 1:00 a.m. and again at 3:00 a.m. on that night. TR139:3; 5. Johnson then denied the insubordinate conversation he allegedly had with Hueston at 3:00 in the morning. TR143:6. He claimed the inconsistency was created by Phillips' nine-word unsolicited utterance as he walked in the Police Department. TR143:19.

Johnson's version was that "you had an overzealous police officer that walked in the police department that wanted to overcharge someone for a crime that he had never been to the scene, and the end result showed exactly what it was, that the Long Branch Police Department brought forth a litany of charges which were all finally dismissed and pled out into municipal court for ordinance". TR152:23.

Johnson disagreed with the testimony by Lieutenant. Rizzuto and Director Roebuck, that, you should ere on the side of caution and charge with more serious offenses, with the possibility of downgrading later. TR160:24.

Johnson testified that Phillips smelled of alcohol and was slurring his words when he was brought into the Police Department, TR202, and that he appeared to be under the influence of alcohol in terms of being potentially impaired at the time he was brought in. TR203:4. Despite that fact, Johnson acknowledged that he interviewed Phillips anyway (TR203:6), but he considered that Phillips might not be telling the truth when interviewed. TR203:14. Johnson was asked if Phillips was required to be given a Miranda caution before he being interviewed and he replied, "I would say no." TR204:7. He justified the answer by stating that it was only an "investigation" at that point. TR204:9. Johnson said that there is a difference between an "interview" and a "statement" (TR205), a statement is only something that is recorded or handwritten. TR206:1. He was asked whether a suspect who has been arrested and is to give any form of statement about the alleged crime to police, must be given a Miranda warning first, Johnson answered "False". TR207:24. Johnson explained that he meant you are allowed to ask name, date of birth, etc., but then eventually agreed that a police officer cannot question an arrestee ". . . about the probable cause or the actions for which the arrest is based. . .". TR208:15. Phillips had to have been given Miranda if he or Hueston or Bell talked to him about anything that happened that night at the Suarez residence after Phillips had been arrested. TR208:22.

FINDINGS OF FACT

For testimony to be believed, it must not only come from the mouth of a credible witness, but it also has to be credible in itself. It must elicit evidence that is from such common experience and observation that it can be approved as proper under the circumstances. See Spagnuolo v. Bonnet, 16 N.J. 546 (1954); Gallo v. Gallo, 66 N.J. Super. 1 (App. Div. 1961). A credibility determination requires an overall assessment of the witness's story in light of its rationality, internal consistency and the manner in which it "hangs together" with the other evidence. Carbo v. United States, 314 F.2d 718, 749 (9th Cir. 1963). Also, "'[t]he interest, motive, bias, or prejudice of a witness may affect his credibility and justify the [trier of fact], whose province it is to pass upon the credibility of an interested witness, in disbelieving his testimony.'" State v. Salimone, 19 N.J. Super. 600, 608 (App. Div.), certif. denied, 10 N.J. 316 (1952) (citation omitted).

A trier of fact may reject testimony because it is inherently incredible, or because it is inconsistent with other testimony or with common experience, or because it is overborne by other testimony. Congleton v. Pura-Tex Stone Corp., 53 N.J. Super. 282, 287 (App. Div. 1958).

The testimony of respondent's witnesses, as well as James Jones, Assistant Monmouth County Prosecutor, Lieutenant Frank Rizzuto and Director Jason Roebuck, were especially credible and persuasive. Their testimony was clear and concise. It was obvious that they all had concerns regarding their interaction with Johnson and his actions on the date in question. It was also clear from reading the testimony they had no axe to grind. In fact, it was apparent from the testimony that they simply wanted to do their jobs.

Conversely, Johnson's testimony was not credible in the least bit. His own testimony assisted the respondent in proving the facts of the case by a preponderance of the evidence. He admitted to not being at the scene at the time and a Watch Commander "doesn't override the facts. . ." if he does not "agree" with what he was hearing from his police officers, he "would tend to believe the officers on the street". However, here, he claims that there "wasn't enough to place Phillips under arrest, because Hueston had no probable cause of what took place" was an uneducated opinion based on the facts Johnson had at the time. In fact, Bell and Hueston were the two individuals most aware of all of the facts and Johnson ignored them. The only reasonable explanation for Johnson not listening to the officers and properly charging Phillips was that Johnson knew Phillips and wanted to give him a break. Clearly, Phillips knew Johnson because he addressed him directly upon entering the Department and uttered "Johnson, the only reason I pulled my knife was because the Spanish guy pulled a sword out on me." Johnson believes that he used good judgment and did nothing wrong but unsuccessfully attempted to direct attention away from the facts of the case and claim that he was targeted because he had a poor relationship with the Director of Public Safety, Al Muolo.

Particularly glaring was the testimony of AP Jones who when confronted with Officer Hueston's supplemental report where Suarez did not open the door holding a sword and Jones agreed that it was not consistent with what Johnson told him. Equally inconsistent with what Johnson told him was the fact that Suarez did not produce the sword until after the incident at the side door. Jones was also shown Suarez's statement and said that Johnson had not shared any of that information during the phone call and would have given different advice to Johnson including charging aggravated assault.

Likewise, his explanation for not videotaping the interview began with that fact that Phillips was "under the influence because of his physical appearance, and I could smell it on him", as well as given the fact that he already admitted that he had been at the Suarez party "where alcohol was flowing freely". However, those facts were not supported by any other facts in the record. In fact, that would bring into question why Officer Bell did not question it when he was stopped while driving his vehicle. Also, Johnson's comment that the fact that a charge of terroristic threats, did not fit "[b]ecause there was no evidence which was presented to me that Phillips went there with the purpose to make a terroristic threat on the victim" is unsupported in fact and law.

It was obvious that Johnson attempted to "sell" his version of the facts to the trier of fact. Particularly, his recitation and demonstration of the contact with the officers and AP Jones not credible, but also not realistic to believe a competent police officer would ignore the facts of the case as presented. Particularly disturbing was Johnson's testimony about whether Phillips was required to be given a Miranda warning before being interviewed. Johnson replied, "I would say no." He justified the answer by stating that it was only an "investigation" at that point and there is a difference between an "interview" and a "statement". He said a statement is only something that is recorded or handwritten. TR206:1. When asked whether a suspect who had been arrested and is to give any form of statement about the alleged crime to police, must be given a Miranda warning first and Johnson answered "False" was particularly poignant.

Based upon the documents in evidence and testimony I FIND, by a preponderance of credible evidence, that on September 25, 2011, Johnson discounted the facts from two officers in charging Phillips. I FURTHER FIND, on the same date, Johnson did not properly charge Phillips. I FURTHER FIND, Johnson performed a suspect statement without videotaping it even though he was aware that a videotape was required and mandated by the NJAG Guidelines. I FURTHER FIND that Johnson relied solely on the suspects version of facts and relayed them to the on-duty AP thereby misleading him. I FURTHER FIND Johnson failed to notify the Detective Bureau of the events of September 25, 2011.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Civil service employees' rights and duties are governed by the Civil Service Act and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto. N.J.S.A. 11A:1-1 to 11A:12-6; N.J.A.C. 4A:1-1.1. The Act is an important inducement to attract qualified people to public service and is to be liberally applied toward merit appointment and tenure protection. Mastrobattista v. Essex Cnty. Park Comm'n, 46 N.J. 138,147 (1965). However, consistent with public policy and civil-service law, a public entity should not be burdened with an employee who fails to perform his or her duties satisfactorily or who engages in everity are used in o his or her duties. N.J.S.A. 1 1A:1-2(a). A civil-service employee who commits a wrongful act related to his or her duties, or gives other just cause, may be subject to major discipline, including removal. N.J.S.A.1 1A:2-6; N.J.S.A. 11A:2-20; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.2. The general causes for such discipline are set forth in N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a).

This matter involves a major disciplinary action brought by the respondent appointing authority against the appellant. An appeal to the Merit System Board requires the OAL to conduct a hearing de novo to determine the appellant's guilt or innocence as well as the appropriate penalty, if the charges are sustained. In re Morrison, 216 N.J. Super. 143 (App. Div. 1987). Respondent has the burden of proof and must establish by a fair preponderance of the credible evidence that appellant was guilty of the charges. Atkinson v. Parsekian, 37 N.J. 143 (1962) Evidence is found to preponderate if it establishes the reasonable probability of the fact alleged and generates a reliable belief that the tendered hypothesis, in all human likelihood, is true. See Loew v. Union Beach, 56 N.J. Super. 93, 104 (App. Div. 1959), overruled on other grounds, Dwyer v. Ford Motor Co., 36 N.J. 487 (1962).

The respondent sustained charges of violations of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(1) Incompetency, Inefficiency, Failure to Perform Duties; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6) Conduct Unbecoming; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(7) Neglect of Duty.

Initially, Johnson has been charged with a violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(1) Incompetency, Inefficiency, Failure to Perform Duties. Under N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(1), an employee may be subjected to major discipline for "incompetency, inefficiency, or failure to perform duties." Although progressive discipline is the general rule, sheer incompetency can be the grounds for firing without progressive discipline.

Absence of judgment alone can be sufficient to warrant termination if the employee is in a sensitive position that requires public trust in the agency's judgment. See, In re Herrmann, 192 N.J. 19, 32 (2007) (DYFS worker who waved a lit cigarette lighter in a five-year-old's face was terminated, despite lack of any prior discipline).

"There is no constitutional or statutory right to a government job." State-Operated Sch. Dist. of Newark v. Gaines, 309 N.J. Super. 327, 334 (App. Div. 1998). (Note: Gaines had a substantial prior disciplinary history, but the case is frequently quoted as a threshold statement of civil service law.)

"In addition, there is no right or reason for a government to continue employing an incompetent and inefficient individual after a showing of inability to change." Klusaritz v. Cape May County, 387 N.J. Super. 305, 317 (App. Div. 2006) (termination was the proper remedy for a county treasurer who couldn't balance the books, after the auditors tried three times to show him how).

> In reversing the MSB's insistence on progressive discipline, contrary to the wishes of the appointing authority, the Klusaritz panel stated that '[t]he [MSB's] application of progressive discipline in this context is misplaced and contrary to the public interest.' The court determined that Klusaritz's prior record is 'of no moment' because his lack of competence to perform the job rendered him unsuitable for the job and subject to termination by the County.

There is no definition in the administrative code of the term "inefficiency," and therefore, it has been left to interpretation.

In general, incompetence, inefficiency, or failure to perform duties exists where the employee's conduct demonstrates an unwillingness or inability to meet, obtain or produce effects or results necessary for adequate performance. Clark v. New Jersey Dep't of Agric., 1 N.J.A.R. 315 (1980).

The fundamental concept that one should be able to perform the duties of the position is stated in Briggs v. Department of Civil Service, 64 N.J. Super. 351, 356 (App. Div. 1960), which happens to be a probationary period case involving a nurse:

> Manifestly, the purpose of the probationary period is to further test a probationer's qualifications. Neither the Legislature nor the Commission has given the courts any guidance in determining the extent of assistance or orientation which a probationer must receive. Undoubtedly her duties must be explained to her and she must be given reasonable opportunity to perform the duties expected of her. But this does not mean she is entitled to on-the-job training in the manner of performing her duties. This is what she must be qualified for—the proper performance of her duties as outlined by the appointing authority.

Here, Johnson discounted the facts from two officers in charging Phillips, did not properly charge Phillips, Johnson performed a suspect statement without videotaping it even though he was aware that a videotape was required and mandated by the NJAG Guidelines, relied solely on the suspects version of facts and relayed them to the on-duty AP thereby misleading him and failed to notify the Detective Bureau of the events of September 25, 2011. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the respondent has met its burden in demonstrating support to sustain a charge of Incompetency, Inefficiency, Failure to Perform Duties. Charges of violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(1) are hereby SUSTAINED.

Respondent also sustained charges against appellant for Conduct Unbecoming a Public Employee, N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6). "Conduct unbecoming a public employee" is an elastic phrase, which encompasses conduct that adversely affects the morale or efficiency of a governmental unit or that has a tendency to destroy public respect in the delivery of governmental services. Karins v. City of Atlantic City, 152 N.J. 532, 554 (1998); see also In re Emmons, 63 NJ. Super. 136, 140 (App. Div. 1960). It is sufficient that the complained-of conduct and its attending circumstances "be such as to offend publicly accepted standards of decency." Karins, supra, 152 N.J. at 555 (quoting In re Zeber, 156 A.2d 821, 825 (1959)). Such misconduct need not necessarily "be predicated upon the violation of any particular rule or regulation, but may be based merely upon the violation of the implicit standard of good behavior which devolves upon one who stands in the public eye as an upholder of that which is morally and legally correct." Hartmann v. Police Dep't of Ridgewood, 258 N.J. Super. 32, 40 (App. Div. 1992) (quoting Asbury Park v. Dep't of Civil Serv., 17 N.J. 419, 429 (1955)). Suspension or removal may be justified where the misconduct occurred while the employee was off duty. Emmons, supra, 63 N.J. Super. at 140.

It is difficult to contemplate a more basic example of conduct which could destroy public respect in the delivery of governmental services than the image of a police lieutenant ignoring his officers' version of the facts, purposefully misleading an on-duty AP, improperly charging a suspect in a violent crime and not recording a suspect's statement. I CONCLUDE that appellant's actions constitute unbecoming conduct, and the charge of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6) is hereby SUSTAINED.

The respondent also sustained charges for a violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(7) (Neglect of Duty). Neglect of duty can arise from an omission or failure to perform a duty as well as negligence. Generally, the term "neglect" connotes a deviation from normal standards of conduct. In re Kerlin, 151 N.J. Super. 179, 186 (App. Div. 1977). "Duty" signifies conformance to "the legal standard of reasonable conduct in the light of the apparent risk." Wytupeck v. Camden, 25 N.J. 450, 461 (1957). Neglect of duty can arise from omission to perform a required duty as well as from misconduct or misdoing. Cf. State v. Dunphy, 19 N.J. 531, 534 (1955). Although the term "neglect of duty" is not defined in the New Jersey Administrative Code, the charge has been interpreted to mean that an employee has neglected to perform and act as required by his or her job title or was negligent in its discharge. Avanti v. Dep't of Military and Veterans Affairs, 97 N.J.A.R.2d (CSV) 564; Ruggiero v. Jackson Twp. Dep't of Law and Safety, 92 N.J.A.R.2d (CSV) 214.

Again, it is difficult to contemplate a more basic example of neglect of duty than the image of a police lieutenant as articulated above. I CONCLUDE that appellant's actions constitute neglect of duty, and the charge of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(7) is hereby SUSTAINED.

CONCLUSION

I CONCLUDE respondent has met its burden of proof by demonstrating that on September 25, 2011, appellant Johnson discounted the facts from two officers in charging Phillips, did not properly charge suspect Phillips, performed a suspect statement without videotaping it even though he was aware that a videotape was required and mandated by the NJAG Guidelines, relied solely on a suspects version of facts and relayed them to the on duty AP thereby misleading him and failed to notify the Detective Bureau of the events of September 25, 2011. I further CONCLUDE for the reasons set forth herein respondent has proven by a preponderance of the evidence that petitioner acted in a manner that constituted violations of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(1) Incompetency, Inefficiency, Failure to Perform Duties; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6) Conduct Unbecoming and N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(7) Neglect of Duty.

PENALTY

Where appropriate, concepts of progressive discipline involving penalties of increasing severity are used in imposing a penalty and in determining the reasonableness of a penalty. West New York v. Bock, supra, 38 N.J. 523-24. Factors determining the degree of discipline include the employee's prior disciplinary record and the gravity of the instant misconduct.

However, it is well established that where the underlying conduct is of an egregious nature, the imposition of a penalty up to and including removal is appropriate, regardless of an individual's disciplinary history. See Henry v. Rahway State Prison, 81 N.J. 571 (1980). It is settled that the theory of progressive discipline is not a fixed and immutable rule to be followed without question. Rather, it is recognized that some disciplinary infractions are so serious that removal is appropriate notwithstanding a largely unblemished prior record. See Carter v. Bordentown, 191 N.J. 474 (2007).

The record reflects that appellant has no prior disciplinary history. Despite this unremarkable disciplinary record, it is noted that a single charge of Incompetency, Inefficiency or Failure to Perform Duties by itself, can be sufficient grounds for termination in the absence of any other disciplinary history. Absence of judgment alone can be sufficient to warrant termination if the employee is in a sensitive position that requires public trust in the agency's judgment. See In re Herrmann, 192 N.J. 19, 32 (2007) (DYFS worker who waved a lit cigarette lighter in a five-year-old's face was terminated, despite lack of any prior discipline).

"There is no constitutional or statutory right to a government job." State-Operated Sch. Dist. of Newark v. Gaines, 309 N.J. Super. 327, 334 (App. Div. 1998).

(NOTE: Gaines had a substantial prior disciplinary history, but the case is frequently quoted as a threshold statement of civil service law.)

"In addition, there is no right or reason for a government to continue employing an incompetent and inefficient individual after a showing of inability to change." Klusaritz v. Cape May County, 387 N.J. Super. 305, 317 (App. Div. 2006) (termination was the proper remedy for a county treasurer who couldn't balance the books, after the auditors tried three times to show him how):

> In reversing the MSB's insistence on progressive discipline, contrary to the wishes of the appointing authority, the Klusaritz panel stated that "[t]he [MSB's] application of progressive discipline in this context is misplaced and contrary to the public interest." The court determined that Klusaritz's prior record is "of no moment" because his lack of competence to perform the job rendered him unsuitable for the job and subject to termination by the county.

The record in the above case coupled with commonsense reflects inexcusable Incompetency, Inefficiency and Failure to Perform Duties; Conduct Unbecoming and Neglect of Duty. Considering the record in the present matter including the appellant's disciplinary record, the nature of the job duties and the nature of the charges, I CONCLUDE that the respondent's action suspending appellant for 180 days without pay and a demotion to patrol officer was justified.

DECISION AND ORDER

I ORDER petitioner's appeal be DENIED and the charges levied against Lieutenant Johnson be SUSTAINED. I FURTHER ORDER respondent's imposition of a 180 days without pay and a demotion to patrol officer is AFFIRMED.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, DIVISION OF APPEALS AND REGULATORY AFFAIRS, UNIT H, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, 44 South Clinton Avenue, PO Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

FINAL ADMINISTRATIVE ACTION
OF THE
CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

ISSUED: OCTOBER 19, 2017 BW

The appeal of Lyndon Johnson, Police Lieutenant, City of Long Branch, Department of Public Safety, removal effective August 8, 2013, on charges, was heard by Administrative Law Judge Dean J. Buono, who rendered his initial decision on August 23, 2017. Exceptions were filed on behalf of the appellant and a reply to exceptions was filed on behalf of the appointing authority.

Having considered the record and the Administrative Law Judge's initial decision, and having made an independent evaluation of the record, the Civil Service Commission, at its meeting on October 18, 2017, accepted and adopted the Findings of Fact and Conclusion as contained in the attached Administrative Law Judge's initial decision.

ORDER

The Civil Service Commission finds that the action of the appointing authority in removing the appellant was justified. The Commission therefore affirms that action and dismisses the appeal of Lyndon Johnson.

Re: Lyndon Johnson

This is the final administrative determination in this matter. Any further review should be pursued in a judicial forum.

INITIAL DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. CSR 13474-13
AGENCY REF. NO. N/A

IN THE MATTER OF LYNDON JOHNSON, CITY OF LONG BRANCH

Stuart J. Alterman, Esq., for appellant, Lyndon Johnson (Alterman & Associates, attorneys)

James L. Plosia, Jr., Esq., for respondent, City of Long Branch (Plosia & Cohen, LLC, attorneys)

Record Closed: July 10, 2017 Decided: August 23, 2017

BEFORE DEAN J. BUONO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The City of Long Branch (respondent) removed Lieutenant Lyndon Johnson (appellant, Johnson or Lt. Johnson) as a Police Officer employed by the City. Respondent argues that he violated: N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(1) Incompetency, Inefficiency, Failure to Perform Duties; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(3) Inability to Perform Duties; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6) Conduct Unbecoming; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(7) Neglect of Duty and N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12) Other Sufficient Cause. Specifically, respondent alleges appellant Johnson knowingly and purposefully approved a report in which he and his son were listed as victims and aware that it contained false information. Appellant contends he acted appropriately and did not violate any regulation, rule, policy or procedure.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On December 10, 2012, respondent prepared and served appellant with a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action because of his actions on January 16, 2012, while serving as Watch Commander on the 11:00p.m. – 7:00a.m. shift. A local hearing was not requested by the appellant and a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action was issued on August 8, 2013, sustaining the charges and removing him from service on that date. An appeal was filed timely and the matter was simultaneously filed with the Civil Service Commission and the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case on September 13, 2013 pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

Hearings were held on February 13, 2015, February 24, 2015, March 24, 2015, April 7, 2015, April 13, 2015, May 19, 2015 and August 24, 2015. After post hearing briefs were received, the record closed on December 23, 2015.

On March 31, 2017, the originally assigned Judge (Shuster) retired from the bench. On April 21, 2017, the OAL sent a correspondence to all parties notifying them of the retirement and requesting a telephone conference. A telephone conference was held on April 25, 2017, with the parties and Assignment Administrative Law Judge Delanoy to discuss how the parties wished to proceed. This matter was re-assigned to the undersigned on May 1, 2017. A telephone conference was held on May 8, 2017, wherein the court requested that the record be re-opened so that the court may acquire all the closing submissions and documents that were missing from the record at OAL. The parties graciously agreed and submitted the requested records. The record closed on July 10, 2017.

[1] Respondent brought four separate disciplinary actions against appellant. This was the third case to be heard.

TESTIMONY

For Respondent

Lieutenant Thomas Shea

Lt. Shea (Shea), was the Internal Affairs Officer that investigated Johnson concerning theft of his son, Lyndon Johnson, Jr.'s (Junior) gun. He testified that the incident occurred on January 16, 2012 (TR22:21) and he became aware of it that morning when he reported to work. (TR24:16). Evidently, the handgun that Junior claimed was stolen from him was located at the Monmouth County Prosecutor's Office as evidence in a homicide case. (TR25:23).

Shea began his investigation by pulling reports, such as the CAD entries (Computer Automated Dispatch). The CAD documents how the call comes in to the department and to whom it is assigned. (TR28:1). On January 16, 2012, a CAD entry for the incident was made at 3:46 a.m. (TR30:13). Shea described that the CAD entry initiated by Dispatcher Hope White (TR31:4) displayed Johnson's address because he was the owner of the car from which the gun was stolen. (TR32:6). The CAD entry indicated that a backpack and a loaded Glock 9 mm was stolen from Johnson's car. (TR34:15).

Lt. Shea then testified about (R-10), which documented a "TRAX" message regarding this incident. (TR35:15). A TRAX message is a report of a serious crime that is broadcast to the surrounding agencies to notify them. (TR35:24). The TRAX message is R-11 (TR38:24) and includes a statement that the Glock was "loaded" when it was stolen from Johnson's car. (TR38-39). Lt. Shea testified that Dispatcher Sergio Chaparro typed the TRAX message. (TR40:19). Lt. Shea explained that, even though the CAD and TRAX message both indicated the gun was loaded, Junior gave a report to Officer Brown that the gun was not loaded. (TR41). Officer Brown's report, also indicated that the Glock had a trigger lock attached that was locked and a ten-round ammunition magazine in the backpack. The gun was not loaded. (TR43:1).

The vehicle from which the backpack was stolen was owned by Lt. Johnson (TR43:16) and that the weapon was registered through the Long Branch Police Department to Junior. (TR45:8). Lt. Shea testified that: "you're not allowed to carry a loaded handgun unless you're a police officer." (TR48:16). Shea further testified that you are not permitted to carry the weapon on your person unless you have a carry permit, (TR50:20), and Junior did not have one. (TR51:1). Any person who owns a firearm and who does not have a carry permit must transport the firearm in a case in the trunk of the car, unloaded, and the ammunition must be separated from the firearm. (TR51:4). Junior did not indicate that the firearm was located in the trunk when it was stolen. (TR51:10). In fact, he indicated that the weapon in the backseat of his father's car in a backpack, and, although he claimed it was not loaded, there was ammunition in the same backpack. (TR51:12). Any handgun owner who does not properly secure the handgun when transporting it is subject to a third-degree criminal offense for being in possession of a handgun. (TR52). In his report, Officer Brown noted that Junior told him that no ammunition had been taken with the backpack. (TR54:7). Also, Lt. Johnson was present when Officer Brown interviewed Junior (TR55:13) and Junior told Officer Brown that the gun was in the car because he was going to a shooting range the next day. (TR64:24).

Based on the results of his investigation, he contacted the Monmouth County Prosecutor's Office because "this something [he had] to do." (TR71:5). Lt. Shea called Lt. Mayo from the Prosecutor's Office and Mayo told Shea that under these facts it did not appear to justify criminal action against Lt. Johnson, only administrative charges. (TR71:9).

Lt. Shea identified (R-27), a witness statement Junior gave to Detective Verdadeiro and Sgt. Pallone on January 17, 2012. (TR75:10). That statement was the same as had been given to Officer Brown the prior night. (TR75:22). (R-16) is Detective Verdadeiro's report. (TR76).

Lt. Shea explained that there are audio recordings of some of the events that night, including the Watch Commander's telephone conversation and the dispatch calls. (TR78-79). (R-12), was identified as a transcript of Dispatcher White advising a neighboring jurisdiction of the stolen gun. (TR79L:19).

Shea testified that his investigation on the issue of whether the firearm was loaded or unloaded revealed that Lt. Johnson told Officer Bell that the gun was loaded. (TR85:9). As part of his investigation, Lt. Shea reviewed: (R-19), the statement of Dispatcher Sergio Chaparro, (TR86:19) (R-20) the supplemental statement of Dispatcher Chaparro, (TR87:2), and (R-21) the statement of Dispatcher Hope White. (TR87:6). After these statements had been taken, Lt. Shea had another conversation with Lt. Mayo at the Monmouth County Prosecutor's office, and sent the written statements to Lt. Mayo. Thereafter the case was reviewed by Assistant Prosecutor Schweers. (TR87:12). On January 27, 2012, Schweers sent a letter to the Long Branch Police Director of Public Safety Alphonse Muolo stating that "[t]here is insufficient evidence to support any allegation of criminal wrongdoing against Lyndon B. Johnson pertaining to this matter", and referring this case back to the City for administrative review and action if appropriate. (R-3). (TR87:25).

The witness then identified (R-13), the initial report by Police Officer Brown which was signed by Lt. Johnson. (TR88:6). The report did not specify if the gun was loaded or that there was ammunition in the backpack. (TR88-89). However, Junior told Brown that there was a magazine in the backpack, but that the magazine was not loaded with any ammunition. (R-14). Officer Brown wrote a memo to Lt. Shea dated January 18, 2012, that summarized his involvement in the "Junior" incident. (TR89).

There was a telephone conversation between Officer Bell and Lt. Johnson at 3:43 am where Johnson told Bell that the gun was loaded. (TR98:21). That conversation took place approximately six minutes after the conversation between Junior and his father. (TR98:25). Lt. Shea's investigation did not reveal whether, as of 3:43 a.m., Lt. Johnson had any knowledge of whether the stolen gun was loaded or not. (TR99:16); (TR100:3).

Lt. Shea confirmed that Dispatcher White conveyed to the dispatchers in neighboring towns that a loaded gun had been stolen out of Lt. Johnson's car. (TR101:20). She got the information about the gun being loaded from Lt. Johnson. (TR101:25). Sometime later, Lt. Shea confirmed that Junior told Officer Brown that the weapon was unloaded. (TR102-103). Having this information, Brown noticed the TRAX message and NCIC form both indicated that the gun was loaded, so he spoke to Lt. Johnson about this issue. (TR103). Lt. Shea testified that the discrepancy is critical because "if it's unloaded and loaded, it's the difference between charging him and not charging him, the son. If he's carrying a loaded handgun in the car, you would charge him with the possession of a weapon." (TR104:21). Lt. Shea clarified that a weapon that is locked with a trigger lock cannot be loaded with ammunition (TR107:23) and further explained that if Junior "were stopped by an officer and he had a loaded handgun in the car, he would be charged with a third-degree offense for possession of a firearm, because he doesn't have a permit to carry in the passenger compartment of the car." (TR108:22). If Junior was carrying an unloaded weapon in the car but it was not appropriately stored, that is not a criminal offense, but he could be reported to the State Police for inappropriate carrying with a possibility of revocation of license. (TR109:14).

When asked about what he would do as a Watch Commander if he had been working on February 12, he indicated that while Junior was a victim of burglary, "they would also be charged with carrying that handgun. If they made an admission they had a loaded handgun in their car, they'd be charged with [unlawful] possession of a weapon." (TR116:17). Interestingly, Lt. Shea was asked a hypothetical question that if his son was the person who had made the complaint about the stolen handgun while he was the Watch Commander, Lt. Shea testified that "I would immediately remove myself from the case as the Watch Commander [because] [t]here's a direct conflict. It's my son. I can't perform an official duty where it directly involves me and my family." (TR124:16). Although, Lt. Shea could not point to any policy that stated that principle, he testified that it was just "common sense". (TR125:2). In fact, one of the reasons Lt. Shea filed disciplinary charges against Lt. Johnson is that he continued to be involved in the case after he learned that his son had his weapon stolen. (TR125:17).

Lt. Shea confirmed that he had never heard of a situation where a Dispatcher in Long Branch issued information to other law enforcement agencies (or on an official police document) about whether a weapon was loaded without that information having been conveyed to them by a Watch Commander or police officer. (TR125:25). Lt. Shea also said he never had any issues with the credibility of either Hope White or Sergio Chaparro.

When confronted by Officer Brown about the "loaded vs. unloaded" discrepancy, Lt. Johnson told Brown that "we found out later on it's unloaded, and we'll correct it. We'll update [the TRAX]." (TR134:4). However, nothing was ever updated by Lt. Johnson or anyone else. (TR134:17; 19).

Lt. Shea was asked what if any "equipment" Junior would take to the shooting range besides the weapon and he testified that you take goggles and hearing protection (TR135:13) however, Junior did not claim any of this equipment was stolen from his car that night. (TR138:8).

The witness then identified Exhibit (R-5), which was a Watch Commander's report completed by Lt. Johnson for the shift in question. (TR139). No "matter of record" was noted on the form, although Lt. Shea testified that a claim of the theft of a weapon (loaded or not) from a car owned by the Watch Commander's son would have been important enough to notify the Patrol Commander. Exhibit (R-5). (TR140:6).

Lt. Shea identified (R-12), a transcript of the telephone call that Hope White made to the West Long Branch Police Department and (R-31), a DVD recording of that call from dispatch on that night. (TR6). He confirmed that Lt. Johnson told Hope White the gun was loaded. (TR8-9).

Next was R-30, a DVD of the transcript of Lt. Johnson's Internal Affairs statement. (TR9:16). When asked where he obtained the information that the gun was loaded, Lt. Johnson stated that "I assume it was my son". (TR12:12). Lt. Shea did not have an explanation where Lt. Johnson could have obtained information other than from Junior. (TR12:20).

Officer Brown learned from Junior that the gun was not loaded before he started typing his report at 4:04 a.m. (TR15:16; 19). Referring to his report (R-17), Lt. Shea confirmed that when Officer Brown arrived at the station to interview Junior, Junior was already present and standing at Lt. Johnson's desk. (TR22:15). Lt. Johnson did not change the TRAX message, NCIC information, or have the Dispatcher call the local Police Departments back to inform them that the gun was unloaded even after learning from Brown that Junior claimed the gun was unloaded. (TR23-24); (TR26:19).

Lt. Shea confirmed that, "[i]f Junior had told his father he was carrying a loaded handgun in the cabin of his car, he can be charged with possession of a weapon under the statute." (TR80:19) because Junior did not have a license to carry a handgun. (TR81:1). Interestingly, Lt. Shea noted that, twenty minutes after Junior told his father that he had had a loaded weapon in his car, he told Officer Brown that the gun was unloaded with a trigger lock on it. (TR81:19). Lt. Shea confirmed that Johnson should not have been involved in any way in the investigation of the theft of his son's weapon, because it was an obvious conflict, in addition to the fact that there were possible criminal charges against his son. TR84-85.

Lt. Shea testified that he would treat a suspect differently if he had been informed that the suspect was in possession of a stolen weapon which had been loaded, as opposed to the weapon being unloaded. (TR88:16). The witness explained the obvious reason for this difference: "[b]ecause if it's loaded, it can likely kill me if he fires it at me. If it's unloaded, it's not going to kill me – it's a piece of metal". (TR88:18). Lt. Shea's likelihood of using his own weapon in a street confrontation would be different based upon whether the gun was loaded or not. (TR89:1). Lt. Shea explained that, under Long Branch Police Department policy, a police officer "can use deadly force if you have an imminent belief that your life is in danger." (TR91:16).

Lt. Shea confirmed that the fact that a false report was issued at Lt. Johnson's direction is itself misconduct regardless of the potential significance of the false or misleading information. (TR97:15).

Lt. Shea testified concerning the use of Junior's weapon in a subsequent murder. (TR111-112). Lt. Shea explained that the weapon which had been stolen from Junior in Asbury Park was eventually recovered after it had been used in a fatal shooting. The shooter brought it to the Asbury Park Police Department and told them that "[t]his is a Long Branch Officer's gun, I used it to shoot somebody...." (TR120:18).

Anthony O'Blines, was arrested by the Long Branch Police Department and told Officer Yoo that he had information about how the weapon had actually been taken from Junior. (TR5:12). Lt. Shea interviewed O'Blines, but was not allowed to take a formal statement because the Monmouth County Prosecutor's Office did not permit it. (TR5:17). O'Blines told Shea that the gun was taken from Junior in Asbury Park and he was also robbed of money. (TR5:23). A few weeks after the interview, Lt. Shea learned that the weapon was used in a homicide. (TR6:7). This conclusion was subsequently confirmed by gun ownership records. (TR6:23). The original gun owner was Lyndon Johnson, Jr. (TR7:1).

Shea explained Exhibit (R-17), his Internal Affairs Report, and went through the events of the night in chronological order:

1. At 3:37 a.m., Junior calls his dad, and tells him that the gun had been taken from his car. (TR9:11).
2. At 3:43 a.m., Police Officer Bell called into Headquarters and asked if the gun was loaded. Lt. Johnson Senior stated, "yes." (TR9:21).
3. At 3:46 a.m., Dispatcher White, entered the CAD entry that the gun was loaded. (TR9:23; TR10:1).
4. At 3:48 a.m. on a dispatch line Hope White began calling other surrounding towns in the County to notify them that the gun had been stolen and was loaded. Lt. Johnson was heard in the background yelling someone, asking what was in the backpack. (TR10:3).

5. At 3:50 a.m., White called Ocean Township Police Department, informing them that a gun had been stolen and that it was loaded. (TR10:22).

6. At 3:51 a.m., White called Deal Police Department and Asbury Park Police Department. Johnson is heard in the background yelling at his son. (TR10:24). During one of these phone calls, Johnson is heard yelling: "[h]ow are you going to explain to someone who is going to hire you? How are you going to explain that?" (TR11:3). At that time, Junior was seeking a career in law enforcement, including seeking employment as a Police Officer in the City of Long Branch.

7. At 3:57 a.m., White, again on a taped dispatch line speaking with Monmouth County Dispatch telling them the gun was loaded. TR11:20.

8. At 4:04 a.m., Officer Brown began typing his report concerning the interview with Junior. (TR12:2). Shea later learned that Brown spoke to Lt. Johnson about whether the gun was loaded or not. Brown had heard the information being broadcast that the gun was loaded, but Junior told them the gun was not loaded. (TR12:6). As evidenced by Exhibit (R-14), Brown's conversation with Junior occurred around 3:45 a.m. In response to whether the gun was loaded or not, Lt. Johnson told Brown that TRAX message was wrong and that it was going to be corrected. (TR13:1). Lt. Shea testified, however, that the message was never corrected. (TR13:6). Dispatcher White sends an NCIC report that the firearm was loaded. TR13:9.

9. At 4:19 a.m., White sent the TRAX message that the gun was loaded after the Brown/Johnson conversation Shea had just testified about earlier. (TR13:14).

10. At 4:21 a.m., Brown informed Shamrock that the stolen weapon was unloaded based on Junior's statement. (TR13:22-TR14:6).

Based on this information, some of the Police Officers on patrol thought the weapon was loaded but Shamrock believed it was unloaded. (TR15-16). When asked why this is significant, Lt. Shea testified:

> Because it's a discrepancy of reported facts and also there's a loaded handgun on the street that's tied to a Long Branch

> Police Officer who was a Watch Commander and listed [as] a victim in the report and his son was listed [as] a victim in the report. So, discrepancies could lend one to believe that --that they're not telling the truth. TR17:5.

This was confirmed by Junior after the O'Blines statement, when Junior eventually told Chaparro and Palone the truth about what had happened. (TR17:16).

Shea further testified that it was inappropriate for Lt. Johnson to be involved in his son's case because Lt. Johnson was the owner of the car where the weapon had allegedly been stolen. (TR19). Lt. Shea testified that "[i]t's common sense that you don't get involved in cases that involve your family." (TR19:19). Lt. Shea stated that "I have never seen an officer correct a report in which they themselves are listed as the victim." (TR20:11). It was also inappropriate for Johnson to have approved a report done by Brown which involved Johnson's son and the theft of a gun from Johnson's vehicle. (TR26).

Interestingly, Lt. Shea explained that the vehicle was a crime scene. (TR27:25). As such, the car should have been secured, and the Detective Bureau called out and dusted the vehicle for fingerprints, which the Long Branch Police Department on most car burglaries. (TR28:3). That night however, the crime scene was contaminated because Junior drove the car to Headquarters at his father's direction. (TR29:14; 16; 21). In addition to taking fingerprints, Police Officers could have searched the area and looked for footprints or any other kind of physical evidence. (TR30). However, because the car was driven to Headquarters and because Johnson never called the Detective Bureau out, no such investigation ever took place. (TR31).

Sergent Jeffrey Palone

Palone testified that he has been employed by the Long Branch Police Department for twenty years. (TR8:19). He had previously worked as a corrections officer in the Monmouth County Sheriff's Department. (TR9:9). Palone was promoted to Sergeant in 2005 and since 2010, he has been head of the Detective Bureau. (TR10:6).

He testified that even though the Detective Bureau was not called the night of this incident (TR14:14), Junior provided information that his gun had been stolen from his father's car. (TR15:13). During the January 17th interview, Junior did not state that any of the equipment a person would be expected to possess and bring to a shooting range was reported to be in the car or stolen. (TR17). Palone thought that this was "very strange." (TR17:25).

Junior told the Detectives the magazine stolen from his car was empty. (TR21:13). Palone reiterated that if you are going to leave a weapon in a car it should be in the trunk simply because it is more secure and "least accessible". (TR22:13). "For an incident like this", the Detective bureau would have responded to a call involving a theft of a weapon from "one of our guys... or their son's". (TR26:5). "There is no normal theft of a gun." (TR26:15). "I think at that moment, anytime a gun is stolen out of a house or a vehicle, detectives should be called, forensics should be set up, at least give it a try. . .". (TR27:11). As a Supervisor "I would want to send somebody out". (TR27:18). The theft of Junior's gun should have been handled by a Detective. (TR28:19). Palone testified that Lt. Johnson "should have removed himself from that. .

.". (TR30:17). Palone stated that it would be "wrong for me to be involved" in a case in which his child was making a complaint of having had a weapon stolen. (TR35:2).

Junior's "veracity" was in question after he told the Detectives his story. (TR 38:21). In fact, "at one point, I had a hard time believing his story." (TR 39:9). "Taking the gun in the middle of the night out of his house, a secure area, and putting it--wrapping it in a towel or--or an article of clothing and putting it in the backseat of a car didn't make any sense to me." (TR39:22). Also, the absence of any equipment – headphones, magazines, ammunition, cleaning kit – did not make any sense. (TR40:3). "I don't know what he takes to the gun range." (TR40:5). Junior's story "just didn't sound right". (TR40:8). Also, he gleaned from Junior's body language during the interview, that "I didn't believe he was being honest with me." (TR40:25).

Sgt. Palone eventually learned that Junior's story was not true when Anthony O'Blonze was arrested. (TR41:7). O'Blonze was a "frequent flier" and told Lt. Ray Chaparro "a different version of things that happened" than Junior told the Long Branch Police Department. (TR42:9). O'Blines had a personal relationship with Lt. Johnson's ex-wife (Junior's mother), and knew Junior as well. (TR44). O'Blines told Chaparro that, in fact, Junior had the handgun stolen from him in Asbury Park that night. (TR46).

As a result, on July 27, 2012, Junior was re-interviewed and a videotape of that recording was introduced into evidence in Exhibit (R-52:7). Present during the interview was Junior's attorney. (TR58-59). Sgt. Palone explained that the stolen weapon had eventually turned up, when a person walked into the Freehold Police Department and handed over a gun saying "I just used this gun to kill someone". (TR60:17). That was the same gun stolen from Junior.

On cross-examination, Palone acknowledged that even though there are no rules and regulations in the Long Branch Police Department prohibiting police officers from being involved in investigating their own family members, it is simply a matter of "common sense". You should not be involved in a criminal investigation involving your family. (TR62:3).

Officer Marshall Brown

Brown has been employed by the Long Branch Police Department for thirteen years and is currently serving as a Detective. (TR64:13). In January of 2012, Brown was a Patrol Officer working the overnight shift, 11:00 p.m. to 7:00 a.m. (TR66:4).

He was working patrol and driving his patrol car when he received a call at 3:46 a.m. from Lt. Johnson requesting him to come to Headquarters to investigate a burglary and theft relating to a motor vehicle. (TR68:17).

When he got to the Police Department, he met with Junior and took a report from him regarding the stolen gun. (TR69:2). Before taking the statement, Lt. Johnson advised him that a vehicle had been broken into and items had been stolen. (TR69:24). Brown testified, that the vehicle from which the theft had occurred was registered to Lt. Lyndon Johnson and the report was ultimately approved in writing by Lt. Johnson. (TR71:7).

Officer Brown's report is (R-14). (TR72:17). Junior told him that the weapon was not loaded with a trigger lock (TR74:1) and that there was also one ten round magazine in the backpack but the magazine had no ammunition. (TR74:6). Junior told Brown that the handgun and magazine were in his car in preparation to go to the shooting range the next day. (TR78).

Officer Brown testified that, when transporting a weapon, a gun owner is required to do it in a safe manner – "either in a lockbox or in the trunk of his vehicle." (TR79:11).

Junior had not done so in this case. (TR79:15). When asked, who would have decided whether to charge Junior criminally for his failure to properly secure the weapon, Brown stated that it would have been either a Sergeant or Lt. Johnson who was working that night. (TR80:13). Also, if a criminal complaint was issued it would have been approved by the Watch Commander, who was again Lt. Johnson. (TR80:17).

After taking the statement and going back on the road that night, Brown looked at the TRAX message, which indicated that the weapon was loaded. (TR83-84). Brown then "asked Lt. Johnson whether the gun was in fact loaded, because the information I had received from Lyndon Jr. was that the gun was not loaded." (TR84:14). Officer Brown testified that Johnson replied that "the gun was not loaded and that the TRAX message that was put out was done so in error, and that it was going to be later changed." (TR84:19). However, the TRAX message was never changed. (TR84:23).

Officer Brown testified that he was not aware of any Police Department Rules and Regulations which would prohibit police officers from being involved in a criminal matter involving a family member. (TR87:4). He has had a handful of situations in which a relative was involved, and he would have someone else take the report so that he would not be involved. (TR87:12). Johnson did not include any other Supervisor in the case nor did he call the Detective Bureau and eventually approved Brown's report. (TR88:14-21).

Officer Sergio Chaparro

Chaparro is employed as a Police Officer for the City of Long Branch. At the time of the deposition he had been an officer for four months. (TR10:25). At the time of this incident, he worked as a Dispatcher for the Long Branch Police Department for three or four years. (TR11:11). Chaparro worked the midnight shift, and his Watch Commander was Lt. Johnson. (TR12:1).

On January 16, 2012, he recalled that, Junior called the dispatch line and asked to speak with his father. (TR15:13). Junior sounded a little "panicked" in his conversation, so Chaparro asked him if anything was the matter. Junior replied that someone had broken into his car. (TR16:4). Chaparro started to generate a CAD. (TR16:15) then transferred the call to Lt. Johnson. Shortly thereafter, Junior came to Headquarters. (TR17:8). Chaparro was able to overhear some of the conversation that Junior had with his father, and recalled that his father was "very, very angry and just was scolding his son". (TR18:16). "How could you be so stupid you left the gun in the car? What were you doing with the gun?" (TR19:12). Chaparro recalled Lt. Johnson asking his son if the gun was loaded but did not recall hearing Junior's answer. (TR19-20).

In the Internal Affairs statement (R-19), he recalled Lt. Johnson "venting and pacing" in the dispatch area, stating in a loud voice: "How could you be so stupid, why would you have a loaded gun in your car?" (TR21-22). Based upon this statement, Chaparro concluded that the stolen gun had been loaded with ammunition. (TR22:13). Chaparro recalls that Lt. Johnson told the Dispatchers "[h]ave everybody on the road call Headquarters or a 10-2." (TR23:6). A "call in for a 10-2" is ordered by the Watch Commander if there is something "sensitive you don't want to put out over the radio for anybody to have scanners." (TR24:10).

The TRAX message (R-10 and R-11) that was issued at Lt. Johnson's direction contained a picture of the Glock that had been stolen but the picture was taken off the internet. (TR28). Pursuant to departmental procedure, Chaparro gave Lt. Johnson the TRAX message for review and Johnson told him to include a better picture of the Glock. Then Chaparro asked Johnson if he wanted anything changed and Lt. Johnson replied: "No, it's okay, it's good." (TR30:21).

As Chaparro was creating the TRAX message, Officer Brown came in the station typed his report on the burglary of the vehicle. (TR31:24). Chaparro believes that he sent the TRAX message before Brown finished typing his report. (TR32:23). At no point after Chaparro sent out the TRAX (R-11) was he asked to amend it. (TR33:16). Chaparro recalls some conversation that night about whether the stolen gun had in fact been loaded or unloaded. (TR34:4). Chaparro recalls that he and Dispatcher White both asked Lt. Johnson whether the gun was loaded or unloaded. (TR34:10). Junior was standing in the area when this question was asked. Upon hearing the question, Lt. Johnson turned to Junior and asked if the gun was loaded; Junior didn't really answer, and Johnson reiterated the question: "Was the fucking gun loaded?" (TR34:20). Chaparro looked over at Junior, who picked up his head and responded yes to the question. (TR34:25).

On cross-examination, Chaparro reiterated that he heard "with his own ears" Junior say to Lt. Johnson that the gun was loaded. (TR36:19).

Dispatcher Hope White

White has been a Dispatcher with the Long Branch Police Department since November 1, 1999. (TR106). She has known Lt. Johnson before that date, when she was an EMT. She worked on the midnight shift, with Lt. Johnson as her Watch Commander, for more than four years. (TR107).

When asked about the events of January 16, 2012 she explained that the original call from Junior came into dispatch and Chaparro took the call. (TR111:11_. She sat six or eight feet from Chaparro so she could hear Chaparro's side of the conversation, but not the party on the other end. (TR11:20). Her first involvement came when Lt. Johnson told her and Chaparro to call other local law enforcement agencies to inform them that his son's vehicle was broken into and that "a gym bag was stolen with a loaded gun." (TR112:14). As White began to call various departments, she was asked by other dispatchers if the gun was loaded; so, she asked Lt. Johnson if the gun was loaded, and he replied, "yes". (TR114:1).

Lt. Johnson was standing behind her when she made these calls (TR114:8) before Junior ever got to headquarters. (TR114:14). White continued conveying that the gun was loaded (TR114) and began preparing the NCIC entry and TRAX message. (TR114:11). White testified that she was the one who created the NCIC message. (TR115:2).

White recalled that Officer Brown said to Johnson that his son claimed the gun was unloaded. (TR123). Once the information about the gun being loaded was changed the entries and TRAX message should have been modified "if that was the truth". (TR128:15). If the statement about the gun being loaded was not the truth, then the entry should have stayed the same. (TR129:1). She explained that there is a great deal of difference between issuing various messages about a stolen gun having been loaded as compared to unloaded. (TR129-130). White specifically testified that "We don't enter every gun that is loaded. . .[e]very gun is not entered as a loaded gun." (TR130:12-15). At no time was she ever directed by Lt. Johnson to change the information. (TR135:6).

For Appellant

Lieutenant Lyndon Johnson

Lt. Johnson testified that, on January 16, 2012, Dispatcher Chaparro transferred a call from his son and he could tell something was wrong by the tone of his son's voice. (TR5). According to Lt. Johnson, Junior told him that he "fucked up" and that his gun was stolen out of his car. (TR6:1). Lt. Johnson testified that he got "very limited basic information surrounding the events" and told him to get to the station immediately. (TR6:10). Thereafter, Lt. Johnson had the Dispatchers call "all surrounding towns" to convey the information. (TR6:23).

Lt. Johnson had Officer Brown come to Headquarters to interview Junior, and "I turn my son over to him. . .". (TR7:4). Lt. Johnson said that he told Chaparro to start a TRAX message and to get it out to all the other towns as to what had occurred. (TR7:8).

He recalled going "going back and forth" with the Dispatchers about the details of the case (TR7:12) and he was not "concerned" "whether the gun was loaded, unloaded, trigger locked, un-trigger locked". "I was concerned that there was a loaded possible gun out in the street and that someone could be the victim of a shooting." (TR7:17).

At some point, Officer Brown came to him with his report, and Lt. Johnson approved it, sending it along to the Detective Bureau. (TR8:1). "[A]t that point, I didn't care. I was just concerned with trying to locate this gun." (TR8:6). His first concern was the gun, and that, as a Long Branch Police Department Watch Commander, "[m]y second responsibility was to my son. I thought about his career, his future career. I thought about how this could possibly, you know, be devastating to his career." TR13:10.

Lt. Johnson testified that, as far as he was concerned, ". . . a handgun. . . is always considered loaded." (TR14:19). "I would treat a stolen gun if I was making a report or any officer, I would like to believe that he would think to treat the gun as if it were loaded, because I wasn't there when it was taken, so I don't know its condition. For the safety of the public and all parties involved, you treat it as loaded." (TR16:1). Lt. Johnson then testified that he had "no idea" if the gun was loaded or unloaded (TR17:8) despite speaking to his son. But they did discuss whether or not the trigger lock was on it. (TR19-20).

Lt. Johnson admitted that there was discussion between he, Brown and Chaparro whether the gun was loaded. (TR21:17). Lt. Johnson testified that, because his son told him the car had been unlocked, there was no evidentiary value to checking for fingerprints on the car, because there was no forced entry. (TR24:1). But, if a police officer working that night suggested they dust the car, Lt. Johnson would not have stopped them. (TR24:16).

Brown's report was factually accurate (TR29:25) and he conceded that he was the victim of a theft, because he owned the car. (TR31:23).

On cross-examination, Lt. Johnson did not recall if his son told him the gun was loaded. (TR55:8). When confronted with the fact that the dispatchers heard the conversation, Johnson replied: "[i]t could have been true." (TR55:16). He had no facts to indicate that the conversation had not taken place (TR55:24) and agreed that the only way he would have known if it was loaded was if his son had told him. (TR57:23).

When asked why he conveyed to White and Chaparro that the gun was loaded he testified "[b]ecause it was a stolen gun." (TR64:3).

Johnson agreed that if his son had told him that the gun was loaded he should have been charged criminally (TR64:10) for an improperly stored gun in a car, even if the gun was unloaded. (TR72:2 4). He stated that the ammo and the gun would have to be properly stored together (TR72:12) and insisted that his son storing an unloaded weapon in a backpack could meet the requirement of the statute, which states "securely tied package". (TR75-76).

Lt. Johnson acknowledged that if his son had told him the gun was loaded and he later approved a report that said the gun was unloaded, he would have been approving a false report. (TR110:19). Lt. Johnson acknowledged that he did not fix the TRAX message, and felt no need. (TR113:7-11). There was no need because he could not rely on what Brown had told him. (TR113-115).

Lt. Johnson was confronted with the fact that his son said that he had stored his firearm and equipment for the shooting range in his car, (TR133:25), yet the equipment was not reported in his backpack in the car. (TR134:8); 11. Lt. Johnson said that his son had his own ear and eye protection for shooting his weapon. (TR138:16).

When shown (R-5), in which he reported as Watch Commander that there were no major incidents on his shift, (TR140:21), he did not consider the theft of a handgun to be a "major incident". (TR140:25). He also agreed that it was a mistake to approve Brown's report. (TR141:25). Johnson agreed that the teletype message he authorized went out at 4:19 a.m., which was forty-two minutes after the first call from his son. (TR143). The time was later corrected to 4:09 a.m., meaning there was a thirty-one-minute difference. (TR145-146). The TRAX message was sent out at 4:19 a.m., which is forty-two minutes after the initial call from Junior to his father. (TR148:22). Lt. Johnson agreed that Officer Brown spoke to him after he saw the TRAX message. (TR149:1) but did not speak to Brown about what Junior had told Brown. Certainly, not before he conveyed information to the Dispatchers about the contents of the telex message. (TR149:22). Lt. Johnson also agreed that he never told Chaparro or White to change the information in the telex message or the TRAX message. (TR150:12). Johnson agreed that Brown's report was completed at 4:09 a.m. (TR152:11). In his opinion, it did not make any difference in terms of what his son said about the gun being unloaded (TR154:12) and believed his son's story. (TR157:10). The weapon was later used as a weapon in a murder. (TR158:8).

Lt. Johnson agreed that the Detective Bureau are experts in dusting for fingerprints (TR170:9) and did not call the Detective Bureau because "I felt that there was no evidential value to be retrieved." (TR171:17). Lt. Johnson immediately removed any conflict of interest when he "pushed enter on the computer." (TR171:25).

FINDINGS OF FACT

For testimony to be believed, it must not only come from the mouth of a credible witness, but it also has to be credible in itself. It must elicit evidence that is from such common experience and observation that it can be approved as proper under the circumstances. See Spagnuolo v. Bonnet, 16 N.J. 546 (1954); Gallo v. Gallo, 66 N.J.Super. 1 (App. Div. 1961). A credibility determination requires an overall assessment of the witness's story in light of its rationality, internal consistency and the manner in which it "hangs together" with the other evidence. Carbo v. United States, 314 F.2d 718, 749 (9th Cir. 1963). Also, "'[t]he interest, motive, bias, or prejudice of a witness may affect his credibility and justify the [trier of fact], whose province it is to pass upon the credibility of an interested witness, in disbelieving his testimony.'" State v. Salimone, 19 N.J. Super. 600, 608 (App. Div.), certif. denied, 10 N.J. 316 (1952) (citation omitted).

A trier of fact may reject testimony because it is inherently incredible, or because it is inconsistent with other testimony or with common experience, or because it is overborne by other testimony. Congleton v. Pura-Tex Stone Corp., 53 N.J. Super. 282, 287 (App. Div. 1958).

The testimony of respondent's witnesses: Lieutenant Thomas Shea, Sergeant Jeffery Palone, Officer Marshall Brown, Officer Sergio Chaparro and Dispatcher Hope White were especially credible and persuasive. Even from simply reading the transcripts, their testimony was clear and concise. It was obvious that they had concerns regarding their interaction with Lt. Johnson and his actions respecting his son. It was also clear from reading the testimony they had no axe to grind. In fact, it was apparent from the testimony that they simply wanted to do their jobs.

Conversely, Johnson's testimony was not credible. His own testimony appeared to support the respondent's arguments and assisted them in proving the facts of the case by a preponderance of the evidence. He admitted to being involved in the incident with his son and discussing the matter with him despite Junior possibly being subject to criminal prosecution.

Lt. Johnson approved the TRAX message that the gun was loaded and said, at that time, "I was concerned that there was a loaded possible gun out in the street and that someone could be the victim of a shooting." (TR7:17). Despite him failing to recall that while in the station, he asked Junior if the gun was loaded; Junior didn't really answer, and Johnson reiterated asking: "Was the fucking gun loaded?" (TR34:20). Chaparro testified that he looked at Junior, who picked up his head and responded, "yes" to the question. (TR34:25). This interaction was all witnessed by Chaparro. Clearly, Lt. Johnson knew early-on that the gun was loaded. Admittedly, "[m]y second responsibility was to my son. I thought about his career, his future career. I thought about how this could possibly, you know, be devastating to his career." (TR13:10). Then, Junior told Brown that the weapon was in a backpack in the backseat of his father's car and it was not loaded but there was ammunition in the same backpack. (TR51:12). Knowing this, the chronology of events surrounding this case provide clarity as to what Lt. Johnson knew or should have known.

- At 3:37 a.m., Junior called Lt. Johnson, and told him that his gun had been stolen. (TR9:11).

- At 3:43 a.m., Lt. Johnson told Bell the gun was loaded. (TR9:20).
- At 3:46 a.m., Dispatcher White, acting under the direction of Lt. Johnson, entered the CAD entry that the gun was loaded. (TR9:23; TR10:1).
- At 3:48 a.m., Hope White called surrounding towns notifying the gun was stolen and loaded. (TR10:3).
- At 3:50 a.m., White called Ocean Township Police Department, informing them that a gun had been stolen and it was loaded. (TR10:22).
- At 3:51 a.m., White called Deal Asbury Park Police informing them that a gun had been stolen and it was loaded. Johnson is heard in the background yelling at his son. (TR10:24). Johnson is heard yelling at his son: "[h]ow are you going to explain to someone who is going to hire you? How are you going to explain that?" (TR11:3).
- At 3:45 a.m., Brown interviews Junior who says the gun is not loaded.
- At 3:57 a.m., White, told Monmouth County that the gun was loaded. (TR11:20).
- At 4:04 a.m., Brown spoke to Lt. Johnson about whether the gun was loaded and heard information being broadcast that the gun was loaded. (TR12:6). As evidenced by Exhibit (R-14), Lt. Johnson told Brown that TRAX message was wrong and that it was going to be corrected. (TR13:1). Also, Dispatcher White sent an NCIC report that the firearm was loaded. (TR13:9).
- At 4:19 a.m., White sent out a TRAX message stating that the gun was loaded. (TR13:14).
- At 4:21 a.m., Brown informed Shamrock that Junior told him the weapon was unloaded. (TR13:22).

The appellant argues that he was not aware of any conflicting information while issuing the TRAX report. However, that is not the case. In fact, as of 4:04 a.m., Lt. Johnson had information that the gun was unloaded from his own son and he did nothing to correct the TRAX information. Uncontested is the fact that the person with the best knowledge of whether the gun was loaded or not was Junior and he told Brown the gun was not loaded at 4:04 a.m. The fact that some officers thought the gun was loaded and some thought that it was unloaded is extremely troublesome. Lt. Johnson's failure to act or permit an investigation by the detectives allowed incorrect information to be entered in TRAX thereby endangering the lives of countless officers and civilians. The fact that he "felt that there was no evidential value to be retrieved" (TR171:17) by notifying the detective bureau is extremely suspect and impeded an appropriate third party investigation on whether the gun was loaded.

Lt. Johnson believes that he used good judgment and did nothing wrong despite never correcting the TRAX message and not calling the detective bureau to properly investigate. (TR13:6). In fact, Lt. Johnson stated that he removed the conflict when he "pushed enter on the computer", this refers to approving Officer Brown's report. However, that is not supported by any fact in the record. I found those actions, at the time, to be a self-serving.

It was obvious that Johnson attempted to "sell" his version of the facts to the trier of fact. Particularly, his recitation and demonstration of the contact with the officers and his son was not credible. It was not realistic to believe a competent police officer would ignore the conflict in the case and remain involved in a case where he and his son were the victims of a crime, relay incorrect information to neighboring agencies about a stolen loaded firearm and not call the detective bureau to investigate. Again, the only explanation was self-preservation.

Based upon the documents in evidence and testimony I FIND, by a preponderance of credible evidence, that on January 16, 2012, Lt. Johnson and his son were the victims of a crime. I FURTHER FIND, on the same date, Lt. Johnson remained involved in the investigation, failed to contact the Detective Bureau and approved the report officer Brown took from Junior. I FURTHER FIND, Lt. Johnson knowingly and purposefully approved a report in which he and his son were listed as victims and knew that it contained false information.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Civil service employees' rights and duties are governed by the Civil Service

Act and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto. N.J.S.A. 11A:1-1 to 11A:12-6; N.J.A.C. 4A:1-1.1. The Act is an important inducement to attract qualified people to public service and is to be liberally applied toward merit appointment and tenure protection. Mastrobattista v. Essex Cnty. Park Comm'n, 46 N.J. 138, 147 (1965). However, consistent with public policy and civil-service law, a public entity should not be burdened with an employee who fails to perform his or her duties satisfactorily or who engages in misconduct related to his or her duties. N.J.S.A. 1 1A:1-2(a). A civil-service employee who commits a wrongful act related to his or her duties, or gives other just cause, may be subject to major discipline, including removal. N.J.S.A. 1 1A:2-6; N.J.S.A. 11A:2-20; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.2. The general causes for such discipline are set forth in N.J.A.C. 4A:2- 2.3(a).

This matter involves a major disciplinary action brought by the respondent appointing authority against the appellant. An appeal to the Merit System Board requires the OAL to conduct a hearing de novo to determine the appellant's guilt or innocence as well as the appropriate penalty, if the charges are sustained. In re Morrison, 216 N.J. Super. 143 (App. Div. 1987). Respondent has the burden of proof and must establish by a fair preponderance of the credible evidence that appellant was guilty of the charges. Atkinson v. Parsekian, 37 N.J. 143 (1962). Evidence is found to preponderate if it establishes the reasonable probability of the fact alleged and generates a reliable belief that the tendered hypothesis, in all human likelihood, is true. See Loew v. Union Beach, 56 N.J. Super. 93, 104 (App. Div. 1959), overruled on other grounds, Dwyer v. Ford Motor Co., 36 N.J. 487 (1962).

The respondent sustained charges of violations of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(1) Incompetency, Inefficiency, Failure to Perform Duties; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(3) Inability to Perform Duties; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6) Conduct Unbecoming; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(7) Neglect of Duty and N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12) Other Sufficient Cause.

Initially, Lt. Johnson has been charged with a violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(1) Incompetency, Inefficiency, Failure to Perform Duties. Under N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(1), an employee may be subjected to major discipline for "incompetency, inefficiency, or failure to perform duties." Although progressive discipline is the general rule, sheer incompetency can be the grounds for firing without progressive discipline.

Absence of judgment alone can be sufficient to warrant termination if the employee is in a sensitive position that requires public trust in the agency's judgment. See, In re Herrmann, 192 N.J. 19, 32 (2007) (DYFS worker who waved a lit cigarette lighter in a five-year-old's face was terminated, despite lack of any prior discipline).

"There is no constitutional or statutory right to a government job." State-Operated Sch. Dist. of Newark v. Gaines, 309 N.J. Super. 327, 334 (App. Div. 1998). (Note: Gaines had a substantial prior disciplinary history, but the case is frequently quoted as a threshold statement of civil service law.)

"In addition, there is no right or reason for a government to continue employing an incompetent and inefficient individual after a showing of inability to change." Klusaritz v. Cape May County, 387 N.J. Super. 305, 317 (App. Div. 2006) (termination was the proper remedy for a county treasurer who couldn't balance the books, after the auditors tried three times to show him how).

> In reversing the MSB's insistence on progressive discipline, contrary to the wishes of the appointing authority, the Klusaritz panel stated that '[t]he [MSB's] application of progressive discipline in this context is misplaced and contrary to the public interest.' The court determined that Klusaritz's prior record is 'of no moment' because his lack of competence to perform the job rendered him unsuitable for the job and subject to termination by the County.

There is no definition in the administrative code of the term "inefficiency," and therefore, it has been left to interpretation.

In general, incompetence, inefficiency, or failure to perform duties exists where the employee's conduct demonstrates an unwillingness or inability to meet, obtain or produce effects or results necessary for adequate performance. Clark v. New Jersey Dep't of Agric., 1 N.J.A.R. 315 (1980).

The fundamental concept that one should be able to perform the duties of the position is stated in Briggs v. Department of Civil Service, 64 N.J. Super. 351, 356 (App. Div. 1960), which happens to be a probationary period case involving a nurse:

> Manifestly, the purpose of the probationary period is to further test a probationer's qualifications. Neither the Legislature nor the Commission has given the courts any guidance in determining the extent of assistance or orientation which a probationer must receive. Undoubtedly her duties must be explained to her and she must be given reasonable opportunity to perform the duties expected of her. But this does not mean she is entitled to on-the-job training in the manner of performing her duties. This is what she must be qualified for—the proper performance of her duties as outlined by the appointing authority.

Lt. Johnson and his son were the victims of a crime and yet he remained involved in the investigation by directing the taking of statements and not calling the Detective Bureau. He knowingly and purposefully approved a report in which he and his son were listed as victims and aware that it contained false information. Lt. Johnson allowed incorrect information to be disseminated to the surrounding departments that could have endangered the lives of officers and civilians. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the respondent has met its burden in demonstrating support to sustain a charge of Incompetency, Inefficiency, Failure to Perform Duties. Charges of violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(1) are hereby SUSTAINED.

Respondent sustained charges of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(3) Inability to Perform Duties. An employee must be able to physically, intellectually, and psychologically perform his or her duties. Where an employer brings a charge under N.J.A.C. 4A:2-

2.3(a)(3) it is challenging the employee's ability to perform the duties associated with the position, and is seeking to remove the employee or demote him or her to a different position, but is bringing a charge that is not, strictly speaking, disciplinary in nature. However, from the employee's point of view, the outcome may be just as severe as if it were a disciplinary charge. Obviously, the outcome of this type of charge will turn on medical or performance based evidence. None of that was presented here. I CONCLUDE that the respondent has not met its burden in demonstrating support to sustain a charge of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(3) Inability to Perform Duties. The charge of violating of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(3) is hereby DISMISSED.

Respondent also sustained charges against appellant for Conduct Unbecoming a Public Employee, N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6). "Conduct unbecoming a public employee" is an elastic phrase, which encompasses conduct that adversely affects the morale or efficiency of a governmental unit or that has a tendency to destroy public respect in the delivery of governmental services. Karins v. City of Atlantic City, 152 N.J. 532, 554 (1998); see also In re Emmons, 63 NJ. Super. 136, 140 (App. Div. 1960). It is sufficient that the complained-of conduct and its attending circumstances "be such as to offend publicly accepted standards of decency." Karins, supra, 152 N.J. at 555 (quoting In re Zeber, 156 A.2d 821, 825 (1959)). Such misconduct need not necessarily "be predicated upon the violation of any particular rule or regulation, but may be based merely upon the violation of the implicit standard of good behavior which devolves upon one who stands in the public eye as an upholder of that which is morally and legally correct." Hartmann v. Police Dep't of Ridgewood, 258 N.J. Super. 32, 40 (App. Div. 1992) (quoting Asbury Park v. Dep't of Civil Serv., 17 N.J. 419, 429 (1955)). Suspension or removal may be justified where the misconduct occurred while the employee was off duty. Emmons, supra, 63 N.J. Super. at 140.

It is difficult to contemplate a more basic example of conduct which could destroy public respect in the delivery of governmental services than the image of a police Lieutenant disseminating incorrect information about a stolen firearm. Also, knowingly and purposefully approving a report in which he and his son were listed as victims while being aware that it contained false information. I CONCLUDE that appellant's actions constitute Unbecoming Conduct, and the charge of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6) is hereby SUSTAINED.

The respondent also sustained charges for a violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(7) (Neglect of Duty). Neglect of Duty can arise from an omission or failure to perform a duty as well as negligence. Generally, the term "neglect" connotes a deviation from normal standards of conduct. In re Kerlin, 151 N.J. Super. 179, 186 (App. Div 1977). "Duty" signifies conformance to "the legal standard of reasonable conduct in the light of the apparent risk." Wytupeck v. Camden, 25 N.J. 450, 461 (1957). Neglect of duty can arise from omission to perform a required duty as well as from misconduct or misdoing. Cf. State v. Dunphy, 19 N.J. 531, 534 (1955). Although the term "neglect of duty" is not defined in the New Jersey Administrative Code, the charge has been interpreted to mean that an employee has neglected to perform and act as required by his or her job title or was negligent in its discharge. Avanti v. Dep't of Military and Veterans Affairs, 97 N.J.A.R.2d (CSV) 564; Ruggiero v. Jackson Twp. Dep't of Law and Safety, 92 N.J.A.R.2d (CSV) 214.

Again, it is difficult to contemplate a more basic example of Neglect of Duty than the image of a police lieutenant, as articulated above. I CONCLUDE that appellant's actions constitute Neglect of Duty, and the charge of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(7) is hereby SUSTAINED.

Finally, the charge of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12) Other Sufficient Cause was sustained against Lt. Johnson. The definition of which is amorphous terminology taken literally constitutes insufficient notice to appellant of the charge faced and is impossible to prepare to defend. As such, standing alone without any other specifically lesser included offenses, I CONCLUDE that the respondent has not met its burden in demonstrating support to sustain a charge of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12) Other Sufficient Cause. The charge of violating of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12) is hereby DISMISSED.

CONCLUSION

I CONCLUDE respondent has met its burden of proof by demonstrating that on January 16, 2012, Lt. Johnson and his son were the victims of a crime, while Lt. Johnson remained involved in the investigation he failed to contact the Detective Bureau and allowed false information to be disseminated to surrounding police departments regarding the gun being loaded. Lt. Johnson knowingly and purposefully approved a report in which he and his son were listed as victims knowing that it contained false information

I FURTHER CONCLUDE for the reasons set forth herein respondent has proven by a preponderance of the evidence that petitioner acted in a manner that constituted violations of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(1) Incompetency, Inefficiency, Failure to Perform Duties; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6) Conduct Unbecoming; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(7) Neglect of Duty and those charges are SUSTAINED. Likewise, I CONCLUDE for the reasons set forth herein respondent has not proven by a preponderance of the evidence that petitioner acted in a manner that constituted violations of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(3) Inability to Perform Duties and N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12) Other Sufficient Cause and those charges are DISMISSED.

PENALTY

Where appropriate, concepts of progressive discipline involving penalties of increasing severity are used in imposing a penalty and in determining the reasonableness of a penalty. West New York v. Bock, supra, 38 N.J. 523-24. Factors determining the degree of discipline include the employee's prior disciplinary record and the gravity of the instant misconduct.

However, it is well established that where the underlying conduct is of an egregious nature, the imposition of a penalty up to and including removal is appropriate, regardless of an individual's disciplinary history. See Henry v. Rahway State Prison, 81 N.J. 571 (1980). It is settled that the theory of progressive discipline is not a fixed and immutable rule to be followed without question. Rather, it is recognized that some disciplinary infractions are so serious that removal is appropriate notwithstanding a largely unblemished prior record. See Carter v. Bordentown, 191 N.J. 474 (2007).

The record reflects that appellant has a prior disciplinary history. It is noted that a single charge of Incompetency, Inefficiency or Failure to Perform Duties by itself, can be sufficient grounds for termination in the absence of any other disciplinary history. Absence of judgment alone can be sufficient to warrant termination if the employee is in a sensitive position that requires public trust in the agency's judgment. See In re Herrmann, 192 N.J. 19, 32 (2007) (DYFS worker who waved a lit cigarette lighter in a five-year-old's face was terminated, despite lack of any prior discipline).

"There is no constitutional or statutory right to a government job." State-Operated Sch. Dist. of Newark v. Gaines, 309 N.J. Super. 327, 334 (App. Div. 1998). (NOTE: Gaines had a substantial prior disciplinary history, but the case is frequently quoted as a threshold statement of civil service law.)

"In addition, there is no right or reason for a government to continue employing an incompetent and inefficient individual after a showing of inability to change." Klusaritz v. Cape May County, 387 N.J. Super. 305, 317 (App. Div. 2006) (termination was the proper remedy for a county treasurer who couldn't balance the books, after the auditors tried three times to show him how).

> In reversing the MSB's insistence on progressive discipline, contrary to the wishes of the appointing authority, the Klusaritz panel stated that "[t]he [MSB's] application of progressive discipline in this context is misplaced and contrary to the public interest." The court determined that Klusaritz's prior record is "of no moment" because his lack of competence to perform the job rendered him unsuitable for the job and subject to termination by the county.

Furthermore, police officers are held to a higher standard of conduct than ordinary public employees. In re Phillips, 117 N.J. 567, 576–77 (1990). Both police officers and correction officers represent "law and order to the citizenry and must present an image of personal integrity and dependability in order to have the respect of the public." Twp. of Moorestown v. Armstrong, 89 N.J. Super. 560, 566 (App. Div. 1965), certif. denied, 47 N.J. 80 (1966). Here, the general principles of progressive disciplinary standards make clear that removal can be imposed. Given the high standard of conduct required, I CONCLUDE that the respondent has demonstrated that the removal is warranted.

The record in the above case coupled with commonsense reflects inexcusable Incompetency, Inefficiency, Failure to Perform Duties, Conduct Unbecoming and Neglect of Duty. Considering the record in the present matter including the appellant's disciplinary record, the nature of the job duties and the nature of the charges, I CONCLUDE that the respondent's action Terminating and Removing appellant was justified.

DECISION AND ORDER

I ORDER petitioner's appeal be DENIED and the charges levied against Lt. Johnson including Incompetency, Inefficiency, Failure to Perform Duties, Conduct Unbecoming and Neglect of Duty be SUSTAINED. I FURTHER ORDER respondent's imposition of removal is AFFIRMED.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 40A:14-204.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, DIVISION OF APPEALS AND REGULATORY AFFAIRS, UNIT H, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, 44 South Clinton Avenue, PO Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

IN THE MATTER OF ERIC MILLER
AND
EAST JERSEY STATE PRISON

The parties in this appeal, Appellant Eric Miller (hereinafter "Appellant"), and Respondent Appointing Authority Department of Corrections (East Jersey State Prison) (hereinafter "Respondent"), have voluntarily resolved all disputed matters and enter into the following Settlement Agreement, which fully disposes of all issues in controversy between them.

A. The Final Notice of Disciplinary Action, dated April 25, 2013, contained the following charges and proposed discipline:

Charge	Discipline	Dates Effective
1. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6) (conduct unbecoming an employee)	Removal	April 26, 2013
2. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12) (other sufficient cause)	Removal	April 26, 2013
3. Human Resources Bulletin 84-17 (as amended), Section (C)(11) (conduct unbecoming an employee)	Removal	April 26, 2013
4. Human Resources Bulletin 84-17 (as amended), Section (E)(1) (violation of a rule, regulation, policy, procedure, order, or administrative decision)	Removal	April 26, 2013

B. The parties have agreed to the following:

1. The total number of days of suspended pay Respondent has imposed on Appellant to date is as follows: N/A.

2. The total number of days of backpay, if any, to be paid by Respondent to Appellant is as follows: N/A.

3. Any other days from the time of last suspension day until reinstatement shall be treated as follows: N/A .

4. Respondent will accept a General Resignation from Appellant, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-6.3, effective April 26, 2013. Appellant agrees not to seek or accept employment with Respondent, or any of its subsidiaries, at any time in the future.

C. Appellant withdraws his appeal and request for a hearing, and Respondent agrees that the following result will occur with regard to each charge:
The parties have agreed to a General Resignation as a resolution to the disciplinary appeal, as provided by N.J.A.C. 4A:2-6.3(b). The parties acknowledge that pursuant to N.J.A.C. 17:1-2.18(b), no pension or seniority time may be credited for periods for which the employee is not paid by the employer.

D. Respondent shall amend Appellant's personnel records to conform to the terms of this Settlement Agreement. All internal records of the Department of Corrections will be kept intact. Nothing herein shall preclude Respondent from releasing information on this matter to anyone who has a release executed by Appellant or as consistent with the law. Any information regarding the underlying charges will be provided to the Public Employees Retirement System pursuant to N.J.S.A. 43:1-3.3 as amended effective April 14, 2007.

E. Appellant waives all other claims against Respondent with regard to this matter, including any award of back pay, counsel fees or other monetary relief, except as may otherwise be provided herein.

F. Except for the assessment of Appellant's disciplinary record in any subsequent personnel disciplinary hearing, nothing in this Settlement Agreement shall be deemed to be an admission of liability on behalf of either party. This Settlement Agreement shall not constitute a precedent in matters involving other employees.

G. Appellant waives all claims, suits or actions, whether known, unknown, vested or contingent, civil, criminal or administrative, in law or equity against the State of New Jersey, the New Jersey Department of Corrections, their employees, agents, or assigns, including but not limited to those which have been or could have been made or prosecuted on account of any conduct of any party occurring at any time with respect to the events, information or disputes giving rise to this action up to the date of this agreement, including, but not limited to, all claims under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Civil Rights Act of 1991, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Family Leave Act, the Family and Medical Leave Act, the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, the Equal Pay Act, the Conscientious Employee Protection Act, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, Title 11A - the Civil Service Act, the Older Workers Benefits Protection Act, the Occupational Safety and Health Act, the Public Employee Occupational Safety and Health Act, the New Jersey Smoking Act, New Jersey wages and hours law, public works statutes, unemployment compensation laws, disability benefits laws, the United States Constitution, the New Jersey Constitution, any workers compensation or common law claims and any contract express or implied. This waiver includes all claims involving any continuing effects of actions or practices which arose prior to the date of this Settlement Agreement and bars the use in any way of any past action or practice in any subsequent claims, except pending workers compensation claims.

H. The parties agree that if any portion of this Settlement Agreement is deemed unenforceable, the remainder of this Settlement Agreement shall be fully enforceable.

I. The parties waive the right to file exceptions and cross exceptions.

J. This Settlement Agreement will become effective only if approved by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION. Any disapproval by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION shall not interfere with the rights of either party to pursue the matter further.

In the Matter of Phillip Morris and Tony Coleman, Burlington County Jail

CSC DKT. NOS. 2016-971 & 2016-1017
OAL DKTS. NO. CSV 17361-15 & 177363-15
(Consolidated)

DECISION OF THE CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

ISSUED: OCTOBER 20, 2017 BW

The appeals of Phillip Morris, County Correction Sergeant, 60 working day suspension, on charges and Tony Coleman, County Correction Officer, Burlington County Jail, 10 working day suspension, on charges, were heard by Administrative Law Judge Lisa James-Beavers, who rendered her initial decision on September 15, 2017. No exceptions were filed.

Having considered the record and the Administrative Law Judge's initial decision, and having made an independent evaluation of the record, the Civil Service Commission (Commission), at its meeting on October 18, 2017, accepted and adopted the Findings of Fact and Conclusion as contained in the attached Administrative Law Judge's initial decision to modify the 60 working day suspension to a 30 working day suspension for Phillip Morris and uphold the 10 working day suspension for Tony Coleman.

Since the penalty for Phillip Morris has been modified, he is entitled to 30 days of back pay, benefits and seniority pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.10. However, neither he nor Coleman are entitled to counsel fees. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.12(a), the award of counsel fees is appropriate only where an employee has prevailed on all or substantially all of the primary issues in an appeal of a major disciplinary action. The primary issue in any disciplinary appeal is the merits of the charges, not whether the penalty imposed was appropriate. See Johnny Walcott v. City of Plainfield, 282 N.J. Super. 121, 128 (App. Div. 1995); James L. Smith v. Department of Personnel, Docket No. A-1489-02T2 (App. Div. March 18, 2004); In the Matter of Robert Dean (MSB, decided January 12, 1993); In the Matter of Ralph Cozzino (MSB, decided September 21, 1989). In the case at hand, although Morris' penalty was modified by the Commission, charges were sustained and major discipline was imposed. Thus, neither he nor Coleman have prevailed on all or substantially all of the primary issues of the appeal. Consequently, as they have failed to meet the standard set forth at N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.12(a), counsel fees must be denied.

ORDER

The Civil Service Commission finds that the action of the appointing authority in disciplining Phillip Morris and Tony Coleman was justified. The Commission therefore modifies Phillip Morris' 60 working day suspension to a 30 working day suspension and upholds Tony Coleman's 10 working day suspension. The Commission further orders that Phillip Morris be granted 30 days of back pay, benefits and seniority. The amount of back pay awarded is to be reduced and mitigated as set forth in N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.10. An affidavit of mitigation shall be submitted by or on behalf of Morris to the appointing authority within 30 days of issuance of this decision. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.10, the parties shall make a good faith effort to resolve any dispute as to the amount of back pay.

Counsel fees are denied pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.12.

The parties must inform the Commission, in writing, if there is any dispute as to back pay within 60 days of issuance of this decision. In the absence of such notice, the Commission will assume that all outstanding issues have been amicably resolved by the parties and this decision shall become a final administrative determination pursuant to R. 2:2-3(a)(2). After such time, any further review of this matter should be pursued in the Superior Court of New Jersey, Appellate Division.

(CONSOLIDATED)

Mark W. Catanzaro, Esq., for appellant Phillip Morris

Jeffrey N. German, Esq., for appellant Tony Coleman

Andrew C. Rimol, Esq., for respondent (Capehart and Scatchard, attorneys)

Record Closed: July 29, 2016 Decided: September 15, 2017

BEFORE LISA JAMES-BEAVERS, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Appellants Phillip Morris and Tony Coleman appeal their suspensions for sixty days and ten days, respectively, imposed by respondent Burlington County Jail (Jail) as a result of an incident of excessive force by another corrections officer that occurred on July 12, 2015. The Jail alleges that the appellants failed to intervene and failed to accurately report that the excessive force had occurred. Morris and Coleman are not charged with the excessive use of force. They argue that they had no knowledge of excessive force being used against an inmate at the time in question.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Phillip Morris

On July 15, 2015, the Jail served Morris with a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action charging him with incompetency, inefficiency or failure to perform duties; conduct unbecoming a public employee; neglect of duty; and other sufficient cause. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(1), (6), (7) and (12). "Other sufficient cause" includes violations of sections 1006, 1012, 1013, 1015, 1018, 1023, 1043, 1044, 1064, 1165, 1150 and 1170 of the Jail's Policy and Procedures Manual with regard to an incident that occurred at the Jail on July 12, 2015. On July 29, 2015, the Jail served Morris with an Amended Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action charging him with incompetency, inefficiency or failure to perform duties; conduct unbecoming a public employee; neglect of duty; and other sufficient cause, N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(1), (6), (7) and (12), specifically, violation of Policy and Procedures Sections 1006, 1012, 1013, 1015, 1018, 1023, 1043, 1044, 1064, 1065, 1150 and 1170, with regard to the above incident. On August 25, 2015, the Jail served Morris with a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action sustaining the charges and imposing a sixty working day suspension. On August 31, 2015, Morris appealed.

Tony Coleman

On July 21, 2015, the Jail served Coleman with a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action charging him with incompetency, inefficiency or failure to perform duties; conduct unbecoming a public employee; neglect of duty; and other sufficient cause, N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(1), (6), (7) and (12), specifically, violation of Policy and Procedures Sections 1021, 1023, 1036, 1043, 1044, 1065, 1150 and 1170, with regard to an incident that occurred at the Jail on July 12, 2015. On September 3, 2015, the Jail served Coleman with a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action, which sustained the charges and provided for a ten working day suspension. On September 9, 2015, Coleman appealed.

The Civil Service Commission transmitted the two cases to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) where they were filed as contested cases on October 28, 2015, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 11A:2-14, N.J.S.A. 52:14B-2(b), and N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.8. I held hearings on June 28, 2016. The record closed after receipt of written summations on July 29, 2016.

STIPULATIONS OF FACT

1. Tony Coleman (Coleman) began employment with the Burlington County Department of Corrections in the position of County Corrections Officer on August 28, 2006.
2. Phillip P. Morris (Morris) began employment with the Burlington County Department of Corrections in the position of County Corrections Officer on September 30, 2002, and was promoted to Sergeant on August 23, 2009.
3. The Burlington County Jail (Jail) is located at 54 Grant Street, Mt. Holly, New Jersey 08060.
4. On September 27, 2012, Coleman received and acknowledged receipt of the Jail's Standard Operating Policies and Procedures.
5. On September 27, 2012, Morris received and acknowledged receipt of the Jail's Standard Operating Policies and Procedures.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

The following facts are undisputed. On July 12, 2015, an inmate was brought in by the State Police to the Jail. The two appellants and Officer Salter were bringing him into the facility. The inmate became belligerent and the officers had to take him to the ground to restrain him. Officer Salter used excessive force while the inmate was on the ground. The incident was recorded by the jail cameras.

Respondent's Case

Captain Matthew Leith

Matthew Leith testified that he has been with the Burlington County Corrections Department for sixteen and a half years. He became administrative captain in June 2015 when he was promoted from administrative lieutenant. He handles disciplinary actions for the jail as well as handles department hearings, reviews incident reports and makes recommendations to the warden. He reviews video if it exists, reviews reports and makes recommendations of discipline.

On July 12, 2015, the medical department reported that an inmate said that he had been assaulted at the jail. The inmate had been taken to detention at night. Leith reviewed the video of the hallway in which the inmate said the incident occurred. (R-12.) He described what was shown on the video as the inmate was being led in through the sallie port. Booking is to the left at the entry way to the jail. Sergeant Morris was to the left of the screen and Salter was to the right. Trailing behind is Officer Coleman. After the mark of 1:21:08, the inmate began resisting the officers and Salter put his hand to the inmate's mouth. Sergeant Morris got the OC can out and sprayed. Salter, at 1:21:12, then applied his hand to the inmate's mouth a second time. Coleman was behind and Morris was trying to control the wrists of the inmate. They took the inmate down to the floor in a standard procedure. Salter was at the feet of the inmate and Morris was looking down toward the inmate when Salter delivered a kick to the inmate. That is the first incident of excessive force that Morris and Coleman witnessed. It is generally never necessary to kick or stomp an inmate except sometimes in self-defense. There was no legitimate purpose to Salter's deliberate kick to the midsection of the inmate at 1:21:14. The second kick delivered to the inmate he believes Morris saw. Again, there was no legitimate law enforcement purpose to the second kick. It appears that the inmate was sliding down the hallway on his back. Morris was stepping along with the movement of the inmate at 1:21:17. Morris then put away his OC can and, at 1:21:18, there was a third kick. Morris took a step to the left of the screen. It appears Morris could see the third kick since he was standing between Salter and the inmate. Morris did not engage with the inmate during the fourth kick; however, there was nothing obstructing Morris' view as the kick was delivered with Morris looking over the inmate. Morris then went down to the floor to secure the inmate at 1:21:22. That is what he should have done and was trained to do. A code was called and officers responded to the call. In all, there were four kicks to the inmate that he believed were excessive use of force. He never saw Morris attempt to stop the conduct while he was there. Captain Leith concluded after reading all the reports associated with the incident that Morris witnessed excessive use of force and failed to report it or take action. He believes that Morris left out of his report facts regarding the excessive use of force by Salter. (R-6.)

Captain Leith testified to the various policies and procedures that he believed Morris violated in connection with the incident. He believes Morris violated Paragraphs 6, 7 and 14 of Policy Section 1006. (R-8.) The sergeant is responsible for those under him. Morris also violated Sections 1012, 1013, 1015 and 1018. (R-9.) He also violated Section 1043, which requires an officer to prevent injury to other persons. (R-9.) He violated Section 1044 because based on the video the officer should have been stopped. He also violated Section 1065 because he cannot make a false or misleading report and Captain Leith believes that he witnessed Officer Salter kicking the inmate, but did not note such action in his report.

Captain Leith testified that Morris violated the use of force policy, Section 1150, that by not reporting that it happened, it was like he did it himself. (R-10.) Similarly, he violated the policy on reporting incidents, Section 1170, in that a sergeant must submit clear and concise reports and not leave out crucial facts. He also believed Morris neglected his duty to report the actions of his subordinates. There is no dispute that Morris received a copy of the policies in question. (R-13.) Morris' duties, according to Captain Leith, are to prevent abuse from occurring and stop it if he sees it. Morris failed to do so in this instance.

Captain Leith then viewed the recording of the incident with regard to Officer Coleman. Although Coleman was trailing the inmate and Morris initially, Coleman closed in to assist and restrain the inmate. Coleman was looking down toward the inmate as the kick was delivered. He did not appear to be doing anything that would prevent him from seeing the kick. When the second kick was delivered, Coleman was still bent over the inmate. When the third kick was delivered, he was still bending down over the inmate with no obstruction. The fourth kick was difficult to see where Coleman was as he was right behind Officer Salter. The video regarding Coleman starts at 1:21:07 and stops at 1:21:23. There were only six or seven seconds during which the actual action took place. He believed that Coleman had to see and, therefore, had an obligation to report excessive force. Coleman did not report any excessive use of force. Thus, Captain Leith believes that Coleman violated Policies 1021, 1023, 1036, 1043, 1044 and 1065. (R-9.) Coleman also should have reported the incident pursuant to Section 1150. (R-10.) He believes that Coleman omitted facts to cover up the excessive force. He has a duty to submit an accurate report under Policy 1170. (R-11.) There is no question that Coleman received the policies in question. (R-14.) Captain Leith testified that the primary task of the officers is the safety and security of the facility. The excessive use of force goes against that primary task. He and the warden discussed the penalties to be imposed for hiding that illegal activity took place. Morris had a greater duty to report than Coleman did. Coleman left out the use of force in his report. (R-7.)

Captain Leith further testified that the inmate was being moved to detention because he would not comply with questions being asked by Coleman. They were thus going to bypass the usual medical examination until the inmate calmed down. The Jail stresses the importance of inmates being checked out. It is also a crime for an inmate to cause bodily fluids to be placed on an officer due to possible infectious diseases. The inmate had threatened to spit on the officers. The inmate is shown in the tape turning his head to the left indicating a spitting motion. He agreed that there are approximately six or seven problematic seconds from 1:21:12 to 1:21:19 when the last kick is given by Salter. An officer or sergeant must pay attention to the inmate, the team and the other officers around. He agreed that at some point Morris used his left hand to call the Code 2 that there is a disruptive inmate. He does not know for sure what Morris saw; but he believes from the video that he saw the kicks.

Captain Leith testified that officers know that there is video throughout the jail and Morris knows that there were cameras especially at the point of intake where they were. The reports are made by the officers and sergeants involved and go up to the lieutenant, then to the captain's packet which contains all the reports. The other captain will also go over what occurred prior to Captain Leith coming on. The officers do not have access to the video prior to writing their reports. They have to prepare the reports by the end of their shift. A report by Nurse Mary Murphy indicates that following the Code 2 the inmate was brought to the infirmary, evaluated and returned to custody. Another nurse's report, that of Rachel Watson, notes that the inmate was pepper sprayed and also had a medium cut. Nothing in the report indicated that the inmate had been kicked or stomped. None of the parties to this incident were interviewed. The internal affairs department was disbanded in 2014, so interviews are not done. They are not trained investigators, so they do not investigate. He estimates he looked at the video three to five times before charging Morris and Coleman. When Captain Leith looked at the video he had already been told there was a potential problem. He agreed that reports are not always consistent with each other when an incident occurs and not every officer sees things that take place. He believes Morris was looking in the direction of the inmate being kicked.

Captain Leith testified that Coleman was not involved in the take down of the inmate. He watched the video three to five times because he wanted to be accurate. He saw the excessive use of force immediately upon watching the video. He agrees that Coleman's perspective is not the camera's perspective. Coleman's duty was to maintain control of the inmate and it appeared that he grabbed the back of the inmate's jumper. Coleman never said he was subject to OC spray. Coleman is not required to report what he does not see. He reviewed the recording again and it appears that at the time of the first kick, 1:21:14, Coleman's eyes are on the inmate and not on Salter. No one knows how the cut on the inmate's chin got there. He believes that it was part of Salter's kick of the inmate, but he does not know. Coleman did not report that the OC spray had any effect on his eyes. The facts set forth in Coleman's incident report are true, but he believes that there was an omission of the excessive use of force. He did report that the inmate was taken down and sprayed, which is use of force. Coleman's shift was 6:00 p.m. to 6:00 a.m., twelve hours. The inability to take statements came from a union decision saying that they are not trained investigators and should not interview. They were asked to disband the internal affairs department.

In order to make his recommendation, Captain Leith reviewed the video, incident reports, inmate file and medical file. He believed that based on those items, there was enough for him to charge Officer Coleman and Sergeant Morris. Neither Coleman nor Morris sought any medical attention as a result of the OC spray. He noted that the camera in the jail does not record like a videotape, rather it is a series of still shots.

Sergeant Philip Morris' Case

Sgt. Philip Morris testified that he has been with the Department of Corrections for fourteen years, seven years as a sergeant. On July 12, 2015, he worked the shift from 6:00 p.m. to 6:00 a.m. That night, there were two night supervisors and one lieutenant on duty. His duty is to assign duties to the shift officers and ensure the safety and the security of the facility.

On July 12, 2015, Morris received a call from Intake that a rowdy inmate was coming in to the facility. The procedure for a new inmate is that they place him into a holding tank while processing. He went to the area where the inmate is strip searched and changed into a jail uniform. The inmate was noncompliant, so he had to get taken to segregation. The inmate was angry and may have been on drugs. Segregation is a more restrictive form of punishment.

Due to his belligerence, the inmate was handcuffed to be taken to prehearing detention. He got argumentative with Officer Salter when the escort began. The officers must hold onto him when escorting. They told him to stop resisting. He tried to spin away from the wall and spit at one of the officers. Morris got the OC spray and administered it. The inmate was taken to the ground. He called a Code Two with his other hand on a radio. After being taken down, the inmate was still resisting restraint. The inmate had been on his feet when the OC was sprayed. The inmate was squirming and trying to resist the whole way. The inmate calmed down after several commands to do so. Sergeant Morris testified that he never saw Officer Salter kicking the inmate. He was aware that everything in that hallway was videotaped. He took the inmate straight to the clinic to be seen and evaluated for the OC spray. There were no injuries. After they finished in the infirmary, they took him to preliminary hearing segregation. He later submitted a report. (R-6.) He did not view the video, but wrote his report based on memory. The kick to the inmate was never reported to him either. He was never questioned about the event. The inmate only complained of the OC spray in his eyes.

Morris testified that if he witnessed excessive force being used, he would have an obligation to report it. He also would have an obligation to stop it. He was trying to call the code and control the inmate at the same time. When walking down the hall he was about one and one-half feet from the inmate. When Officer Salter's foot came down on the inmate, there was nothing blocking his view of the inmate. He agreed that the kicks to the inmate occurred at twenty-one minutes and fourteen seconds into the video going to approximately twenty minutes and eighteen seconds into the video. Thus, the whole incident took place within approximately four seconds. He agreed that his primary responsibility is the safety and security of the facility and that he has a duty to be aware of what is going on with his officers and inmates. He did not report any other person that was affected by the OC spray. He agreed that the inmate was treated for a cut on his chin, but does not agree that the inmate had actually complained of that. He heard the inmate complain only about the pepper spray. He only became aware of what he was accused of when the captain came to his house and served him with the charges. He then went to a hearing, but had never been questioned before that. As of the date of hearing, Salter had been suspended. (R-17.)

Appellant Tony Coleman's Case

Tony Coleman testified that he had been employed as a corrections officer for ten years. He was on workers' compensation at the time of the hearing. On July 12, 2015, he was working a 6:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. shift. He was assigned to the intake section called "Booking" where they process inmates. He travels with a team in order to get the inmate to a cell after taking him to the clinic. It was approximately 1:20 a.m. when the inmate in question was brought in. He was irate and kicking on the door. The State Police were arguing with him and the inmate was belligerent, yelling, screaming and cursing. He was not involved at that time. Once the sergeant opened the door and started speaking to him, the inmate refused to answer his questions. Sergeant Morris was unable to get him processed. As they were escorting the inmate, he was walking approximately six to eight feet behind. Coleman saw the resistance the inmate was giving and he heard an officer say the inmate tried to spit on him. Although he was looking in the direction of Officer Salter, he could not see in front of them. He ran up to assist when the OC was sprayed. The OC spray affected him and he was coughing and his eyes were watering. He was part of the take down and his head was down in order to focus on the inmate's head. He put his hand on the inmate's shoulder to keep from getting spit on. That is what he was trained to do. He was trained to focus on the head and shoulders. The inmate was still struggling and resisting and trying to turn his head. He did not want to get bitten or spit on by the inmate. He tried to hold his collar to keep him from moving around. He did not see any contact between Officer Salter and the inmate. He did not see Salter kick the inmate. The incident lasted only seconds. He went to the clinic with the inmate. He heard the inmate complain of being sprayed with the OC spray. He wrote his report after the shift. (R-7.) It reflects what he saw. If he saw more, he would have written it. He did not omit any facts and he knew that his supervisor would review the video of the hallway when it occurred.

Officer Coleman noted that at the time of the first kick, twenty-one minutes and fourteen seconds into the video, he was standing over the inmate's head and there was nothing in between his view of the inmate. He was trying to hold the inmate down and was looking at the inmate's head and his hand was on the inmate's collar. Again, there was nothing between him, the inmate and Officer Salter. He agrees that if he witnessed excessive force he would have had to report it. He did not reference the OC spray in his report. He did not find out what he was accused of until two days later.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Where facts are contested, the trier of fact must assess and weigh the credibility of the witnesses for purposes of making factual findings as to the disputed facts. Credibility is the value that a finder of the facts gives to a witness' testimony. It requires an overall assessment of the witness' story in light of its rationality, internal consistency and the manner in which it "hangs together" with the other evidence. Carbo v. United States, 314 F. 2d 718, 749 (9th Cir. 1963). "Testimony to be believed must not only proceed from the mouth of a credible witness but must be credible in itself" in that "[i]t must be such as the common experience and observation of mankind can approve as probable in the circumstances." In re Perrone, 5 N.J. 514, 522 (1950). A fact finder "is free to weigh the evidence and to reject the testimony of a witness . . . when it is contrary to circumstances given in evidence or contains inherent improbabilities or contradictions which alone or in connection with other circumstances in evidence excite suspicion as to its truth." Id. at 521-522. See D'Amato by McPherson v. D'Amato, 305 N.J. Super. 109, 115 (App. Div. 1997).

Although it is true that the camera view is not the view that Morris and Coleman had at the time of the incident, their duty was to know what the inmate was doing as well as what was being done to the inmate. The best evidence is still the video itself, which demonstrates that Morris and Coleman were looking down at the inmate while the kicks were being delivered and the excessive force was occurring. Therefore, the self-serving testimony of Morris and Coleman is not credible when they say that they did not see any excessive use of force. The fact that they knew the camera was there does not mean that they knew the captain would actually view the video footage. Captain Leith testified that he does not view it regularly.

Based on the evidence presented at the hearing as well as on the opportunity to observe the witnesses and assess their credibility, I FIND the following:

On July 12, 2015, Morris and Coleman became involved in an incident with an inmate where excessive force was used by Officer Salter. Officers Salter and Coleman were under Morris' command at the time of the incident. The video of the incident, which is actually a series of still photographs, shows Morris and Coleman looking toward the inmate while the inmate is being kicked by Officer Salter. The CD shows that the entire incident took about six seconds. Sgt. Morris' primary responsibility is the safety and security of the facility. As the supervisor, he has a duty to be aware of what is going on with his officers and inmates. Morris had to have seen Officer Salter kick the inmate because the video shows him looking toward the action and because it was his duty to see it. Morris did not stop the excessive use of force or report that it occurred.

Coleman was initially way behind the inmate, but he came up to the inmate when Sgt. Morris sprayed the O.C. He put his hand on the inmate's shoulder to keep from getting spit on as he was trained to do. He had to have seen Officer Salter kick the struggling inmate when he came up to subdue the inmate. Coleman has a duty to report another officer's excessive use of force if he sees it. He saw the use of excessive force, but did not report it. Coleman's testimony that he was affected by the OC spray makes his testimony even less credible as he did not mention that he was so affected in his report.

Captain Leith did not undertake any additional investigation other than reading the reports and viewing the video.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Civil service employees' rights and duties are governed by the Civil Service Act and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto. N.J.S.A. 11A:1-1 to 11A:12-6; N.J.A.C. 4A:1-1.1. The Act is an important inducement to attract qualified people to public service and is to be liberally applied toward merit appointment and tenure protection. Mastrobattista v. Essex County Park Comm'n, 46 N.J. 138, 147 (1965). However, consistent with public policy and civil service law, a public entity should not be burdened with an employee who fails to perform his or her duties satisfactorily or who engages in misconduct related to his duties. N.J.S.A. 11A:1-2(a). Such a civil service employee may be subject to major discipline. N.J.S.A. 11A:1-2(b), 11A:2-6, 11A:2-20; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.2, -2.3(a).

In appeals concerning major disciplinary actions brought against classified employees, the burden of proof is on the appointing authority. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-1.4(a). The standard of proof in administrative proceedings is a preponderance of the credible evidence. In re Polk License Revocation, 90 N.J. 550 (1982); Atkinson v. Parsekian, 37 N.J. 143 (1962). The evidence must be such as to lead a reasonably cautious mind to the given conclusion. Bornstein v. Metropolitan Bottling Co., 26 N.J. 263, 275 (1958). The preponderance may also be described as the greater weight of credible evidence in a case, not necessarily dependent on the number of witnesses, but having the greater convincing power. State v. Lewis, 67 N.J. 47 (1975).

Morris

The Jail charged Morris with: N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2-3(a)(1), incompetency, inefficiency, or failure to perform duties; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6), conduct unbecoming a public employee; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(7), neglect of duty; and N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12), other sufficient cause, specifically a violation of the BCDF Policy and Procedure Manual Section 1006, 1012, 1013, 1015, 1018, 1023, 1043, 1044, 1064, 1165, 1150 and 1170. Morris argues in his defense that the Jail's belief that Morris committed these violations does not equal proof. The Jail conducted no investigation other than Captain Leith replaying the video taken from another angle many times. Now, using hindsight that Morris did not have, the Jail seeks to find his actions in violation of his duties. Morris denies having seen and perceived excessive force being used and denies misrepresenting his report.

In general, incompetence, inefficiency, or failure to perform duties exists where the employee's conduct demonstrates an unwillingness or inability to meet, obtain or produce effects or results necessary for adequate performance. Clark v. New Jersey Dep't of Agric., 1 N.J.A.R. 315 (1980). Given that Morris had a duty to supervise the officers under his command and be aware of any actions taken against an inmate that is under his control, he failed to perform those duties in failing to stop Officer Salter and failing to report what he had done. Morris managed to see everything that the inmate was doing, so it is less than credible that he did not see Officer Salter kick the inmate when he was down on the ground. I therefore CONCLUDE that the Jail proved this charge by a preponderance of the credible evidence.

One of the grounds for discipline of public employees is "[c]onduct unbecoming a public employee." N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6). "Conduct unbecoming a public employee" is an elastic phrase, which encompasses conduct that adversely affects the morale or efficiency of a governmental unit or that has a tendency to destroy public respect in the delivery of governmental services. Karins v. City of Atlantic City, 152 N.J. 532, 554 (1998); see also In re Emmons, 63 NJ. Super. 136, 140 (App. Div. 1960). It is sufficient that the complained-of conduct and its attending circumstances "be such as to offend publicly accepted standards of decency." Karins, supra, 152 N.J. at 555 (quoting In re Zeber, 156 A.2d 821, 825 (1959)). Such misconduct need not necessarily "be predicated upon the violation of any particular rule or regulation, but may be based merely upon the violation of the implicit standard of good behavior which devolves upon one who stands in the public eye as an upholder of that which is morally and legally correct." Hartmann v. Police Dep't of Ridgewood, 258 N.J. Super. 32, 40 (App. Div. 1992) (quoting Asbury Park v. Dep't of Civil Serv., 17 N.J. 419, 429 (1955)).

In addition to the arguments above, Morris argues that it is patently unfair to judge his actions and charge him on the basis of a video that had to be replayed over and over in order to determine that he failed to stop or report the excessive use of force. I disagree. First, Captain Leith testified credibly that he saw the excessive use of force on his first viewing of the video. Further, his duty is to know what the officers under his command are doing and to secure the inmates in his custody. He cannot act like an uninterested bystander who is not trained to pay attention to all aspects of the jail. For a sergeant to fail to stop and report an officer who commits excessive use of force is conduct that has a tendency to affect the morale or efficiency of a governmental unit. I CONCLUDE that the Jail met its burden of proving by a preponderance of the credible evidence that Morris committed conduct unbecoming a public employee.

As neglect is a failure to perform duties or failure to provide the standard of care that the position requires, for the same reasons that the Jail proved failure to perform duties under N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6), I CONCLUDE that the Jail proved by a preponderance of the credible evidence that Morris neglected his duty as a sergeant pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(7).

Last, the Jail charged Morris with violating N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12), other sufficient cause, specifically a violation of the BCDF Policy and Procedure Manual Section 1006, 1012, 1013, 1015, 1018, 1023, 1043, 1044, 1064, 1165, 1150 and 1170. Rather than go through each of these policies, which seems a bit like overkill, I note the following to be the most relevant to the conduct alleged. Captain Leith explained Sergeant Morris violated Paragraphs 6, 7 and 14 of Policy Section 1006 because the sergeant is responsible for those under him and these provisions require him to ensure that the officers comply with the rules of the Jail, stop rule infractions as they occur and supervise all corrections officers and inmate activities. I CONCLUDE that the Jail sustained its burden of proving that Morris violated those provisions of Section 1006. Sergeant Morris is also alleged to have violated Sections 1012, 1013, 1015 and 1018. (R-9.) These provisions collectively require the sergeant to accept and not evade responsibility for the conduct of his subordinates. I CONCLUDE that the Jail proved these charges. Section 1018 adds the duty to report any instance of misconduct or violation of rules on the part of a subordinate. By reporting only on the conduct of the inmate and not the conduct of Officer Salter other than taking him to the ground, he violated this provision as well and I so CONCLUDE. Although Captain Leith went on to describe how Morris also violated Section 1043, which requires an officer to prevent injury to other persons; Section 1044, because based on the video the officer should have been stopped; and Section 1065 because he cannot make a false or misleading report and he witnessed Officers Salter kicking the inmate, but did not note such action in his report, these charges are so similar to those I have already concluded were violated that I decline to make rulings on them. Suffice it to say that the Jail proved by a preponderance of the credible evidence that Morris violated N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12), other sufficient cause.

Coleman

The Jail charged Coleman with: N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2-3(a)(1), incompetency, inefficiency, or failure to perform duties; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6), conduct unbecoming a public employee; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(7), neglect of duty; and N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12), other sufficient cause, specifically a violation of the BCDF Policy and Procedure Manual Sections 1021, 1023, 1036, 1043, 1044, 1065, 1150 and 1170.

As set forth above, incompetence, inefficiency, or failure to perform duties exists where the employee's conduct demonstrates an unwillingness or inability to meet, obtain or produce effects or results necessary for adequate performance. Although Coleman's duty to intervene was not as great as that of Morris since Morris was his supervisor as well as the supervisor of Officer Salter, he still had a duty to report the use of excessive force. If Coleman saw the inmate taken down as he reported, he saw the kicks of Officer Salter. By only reporting on the conduct of the inmate and not that of Officer Salter, Coleman failed to perform his duty to report the conduct of Officer Salter. I therefore CONCLUDE that the Jail proved by a preponderance of the credible evidence that Coleman violated N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(1).

Because conduct unbecoming a public employee is conduct that adversely affects the morale or efficiency of a governmental unit or that has a tendency to destroy public respect in the delivery of governmental services, Coleman also violated this provision. There is nothing more serious than the use of excessive force by those who have custody over inmates. Coleman saw his fellow officer's actions because it was his duty to see excessive use of force and report on it. The failure to report it certainly affects the efficiency of the Jail. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the Jail proved Coleman violated N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6).

The next charge, neglect of duty, is similar to that of incompetency, inefficiency or failure to perform duties. The video surveillance footage showed that Coleman had an unobstructed view of the inmate at the time that Officer Salter delivered the kicks. I CONCLUDE Coleman's failure to try to stop them and failure to report the excessive use of force was neglect of duty in violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(7).

The last charge, N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12), other sufficient cause, specifically refers to a violation of the BCDF Policy and Procedure Manual Sections 1021, 1023, 1036, 1043, 1044, 1065, 1150 and 1170. Captain Leith testified Coleman violated Policies 1021, 1023, 1036, which require an officer to conduct himself professionally; comply with all rules and policies; and be respectful to all individuals, respectively. Although these policies are rather general, based on my findings that Coleman was aware of the use of excessive force and did not try to stop it and did not report it, these charges are supported by the evidence. Section 1043 refers to the actual use of force, which Coleman was not alleged or proven to have used, so this charge is dismissed. Section 1044 requires officers to protect the rights of all individuals and perform their duties with honesty. The last sentence of the policy references mistreatment of an inmate, which also sounds like Coleman is being alleged to have committed the excessive use of force. Therefore, I think this charge is overkill and is not sufficiently supported.

Policy 1065 prohibits the making of false or misleading statements or written reports by intentional omission or misrepresentation of information known to an officer. I have found that Coleman saw the excessive use of force and did not include that information in his report. Whether he did so intentionally is hard to say, but he certainly neglected his duty to do so. The Jail has proven that Coleman violated N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)12, other sufficient cause. I am dismissing the violation of Section 1065.

The Jail charged that Coleman also should have reported the incident pursuant to Section 1150. Because this charge only speaks to the failure to report on the use of physical force, the Jail has proven this charge as set forth above. Policy 1170 requires that the report be "accurate, chronological and truthful." What Coleman's report said was accurate, but it left out that physical force was used on the inmate. This constitutes a violation of the policy, so this charge is sustained.

In summary, regarding the charge of "other sufficient cause," I CONCLUDE that the Jail proved by a preponderance of the credible evidence that Coleman violated Policy Manual Sections 1021, 1023, 1036, 1150 and 1170.

The primary duty of the officers and supervisors is the safety and security of the facility. This makes it all the more baffling that there is no current mechanism to professionally investigate incidents like this at the Jail when they occur. Viewing the video should be followed up with interviews. In the present case, the video was useful, but in many instances the video will be useless or at best, ambiguous. The Jail's current handling of situations like this is unsustainable and the Jail should rectify it as soon as possible. Nevertheless, in the present case, I CONCLUDE that it proved the charges against Morris and Coleman by a preponderance of the credible evidence in the record.

PENALTY

N.J.S.A. 11A:2-19 and N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.9(d) specifically grant the Commission authority to increase or decrease the penalty imposed by the appointing authority. In general, principles of progressive discipline apply to the discipline of officers. Town of W. New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500, 523 (1962). Typically, the Board (now the Commission) considers numerous factors, including the nature of the offense, the concept of progressive discipline and the employee's prior record. George v. N. Princeton Developmental Ctr., 96 N.J.A.R.2d (CSV) 463. "Although we recognize that a tribunal may not consider an employee's past record to prove a present charge, West New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500, 523 (1962), that past record may be considered when determining the appropriate penalty for the current offense." In re Phillips, 117 N.J. 567, 581 (1990).

Ultimately, however, "it is the appraisal of the seriousness of the offense which lies at the heart of the matter." Bowden v. Bayside State Prison, 268 N.J. Super. 301, 305 (App. Div. 1993), certif. denied, 135 N.J. 469 (1994).

Morris

The Jail suspended Morris for sixty days. Morris' conduct is worse than that of Coleman because he was the supervising officer at the time of the incident. As a command officer, he sets an example for the other officers in the facility and is responsible for carrying out the goals and ideals of the administration. See Marino v. County of Union, CSV 7159-98, Initial Decision (March 19, 2001), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>. His prior discipline consists of a letter reprimand and a five-day suspension for neglect in 2010.[1] (R-15.) In addition, he has many timeclock violations resulting in a letter. The Jail argues that Morris' conduct warrants a significant penalty that will both send a message that such conduct is not acceptable and deter any other officers from failing to report the use of excessive force on an inmate.

In West New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500, 523 (1962), the New Jersey Supreme Court stated that a public employee's prior disciplinary record may be referred to, where appropriate, in assessing the reasonableness of a penalty for a current offense. However, exceptions to the application of "progressive discipline" have been made where certain acts are "so egregious in nature and/or so detrimental to the public welfare that immediate termination is warranted, notwithstanding a good disciplinary history." Curtiss v. East Jersey State Prison, CSV 12007-96, Initial Decision (Dec. 17, 1997), aff'd., Merit System Bd. (Jan. 27, 1998) http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/. In addition, law enforcement officers are held to a higher standard than a civilian public employee. See Moorestown v. Armstrong, 89 N.J. Super. 560 (App. Div. 1965), certify. Den. 47 N.J. 80 (1966). The leap from a five-day suspension to a sixty-day suspension is a great one and does not lend itself to the term "progressive discipline." Nevertheless, allowing excessive use of force to occur without trying to stop it and failing to report it is very serious. Based on the foregoing I CONCLUDE that a thirty-day suspension meets the goals that the Jail set forth in arguing for the sustaining of the sixty-day suspension, while still adhering to the concept of progressive discipline.

Coleman

The Jail imposed a suspension of ten days on Coleman. The Jail argues that Coleman had an affirmative duty to take action to stop his fellow officer from using excessive force on an inmate and to report such an incident. Coleman's disciplinary history consists of four reprimands for abuse for incidents in 2009, 2010, 2013 and 2014 and a one-day suspension for abuse for an October 27, 2014 incident. In addition, he has several timeclock violations.

[1] It was agreed at the hearing that I would not look at the appellants' prior disciplinary history until I had concluded that they had violated N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3. I abided by that agreement.

As set forth above, using the concept of progressive discipline, I CONCLUDE that a ten-day suspension was an appropriate penalty for the violations that the Jail proved.

ORDER

I hereby ORDER that the charges in the Final Notice of Disciplinary Action against Phillip Morris be AFFIRMED. However, I ORDER the penalty modified from sixty days to thirty days.

I hereby ORDER that the charges in the Final Notice of Disciplinary Action against Tony Coleman be AFFIRMED except the charges that he violated Sections 1043, 1044 and 1065 of the BCDC Policy and Procedures Manual, which are DISMISSED. The suspension of ten days is AFFIRMED.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, DIVISION OF APPEALS AND REGULATORY AFFAIRS, UNIT H, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, 44 South Clinton Avenue, PO Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

FINAL ADMINISTRATIVE ACTION OF THE CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

ISSUED: OCTOBER 19, 2017 BW

The appeal of James Slyke, Human Services Specialist 1, Monmouth County, Department of Human Services, release at the end of the working test period, was heard by Acting Director and Chief Administrative Law Judge Laura Sanders, who rendered her initial decision on September 15, 2017. No exceptions were filed.

Having considered the record and the Administrative Law Judge's initial decision, and having made an independent evaluation of the record, the Civil Service Commission, at its meeting on October 18, 2017, accepted and adopted the Findings of Fact and Conclusion as contained in the attached Administrative Law Judge's initial decision.

ORDER

The Civil Service Commission finds that the action of the appointing authority in releasing the appellant at the end of the working test period was justified. The Commission therefore affirms that action and dismisses the appeal of James Slyke.

Re: James Slyke

This is the final administrative determination in this matter. Any further review should be pursued in a judicial forum.

INITIAL DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. CSV 17652-13
AGENCY DKT. NO. 2014-1419

IN THE MATTER OF JAMES SLYKE, MONMOUTH COUNTY DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES

James Slyke, appellant, pro se

Steven W. Kleinman, Special County Counsel, for respondent Monmouth County (Andrea I. Bazer, County Counsel)

Record Closed: February 2, 2016 Decided: September 15, 2017

BEFORE LAURA SANDERS, Acting Director and Chief ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

James Slyke (Appellant, Slyke) appeals his termination from his position as Human Services Specialist 1 (HHS-1), at the respondent Monmouth County Department of Human Services (the County), following the working test period (WTP). The termination was effective on November 15, 2013. He contends that he was terminated in bad faith, because he was evaluated based on a group of tests, rather than his actual work in the daily operation of the office. He also feels that all of the tests did not fairly represent his training.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Slyke was notified of the termination through a letter dated November 15, 2013. By letter dated November 17, 2013, he requested a fair hearing, and the Civil Service Commission transmitted the contested case to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. The matter was filed with the OAL on December 9, 2013, and heard on February 2, 2016 by Administrative Law Judge John Schuster, III. Thereafter, Judge Schuster, who conducted the hearing, did not issue an Initial Decision, and the initial forty-five day period for issuing an initial decision expired on March 18, 2016, for unknown reasons ALJ Schuster neither submitted any requests for an extension or issued an initial decision prior to his retirement. An additional extension was granted to allow time to contact the parties pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.13, to determine if the parties could settle or wished to relitigate it upon transfer to a new judge. The answer having been in the negative, the undersigned was assigned the case, and yet another extension was requested and received to allow time to request and receive the transcript and to review the entire record.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS

The following is not in dispute. Appellant began his ninety-day working test period or about August 19, 2013, when he signed a copy of the requirements for a successful completion of the WTP. Prior to transitioning to the position of HSS-1, Slyke served as a social service assistant at the County.

In order to successfully complete the WTP, a trainee must pass what the County characterizes as the performance-based examination, which comprises six sample cases. The candidate also must earn passing scores on a knowledge-based examination, and observations of interviews of actual clients. Additionally, the prospective employee must satisfactorily demonstrate the ability to accurately process and complete the work of a HHS-1 as outlined in the job description. (R-1.) If a trainee fails one of the four parts, he or she is not retained. Slyke passed the knowledge-based examination, but did not pass the performance-based examination, as he achieved passing scores on only two of the six sample cases. (R-12.) He was notified by letter and in person by Granville LeMeune (LeMeunne), human resources administrator for the MCBSS, on November 15, 2013, who explained to Slyke why he did not pass the WTP, told him he would not be hired on a permanent basis, and provided him with information on his recourse. In this meeting, LeMeunne provided Slyke with a hard copy of the letter, which terminated him at close of business that day.

The dispute centers on whether Slyke was terminated in bad faith. Kathleen Vitale (Vitale), assistant training supervisor at the County, testified on behalf of the respondent. She stated that the responsibilities of the HHS-1 position are to determine an applicant's eligibility for benefits, including food stamps, Medicaid or cash assistance. Slyke's class of trainees was divided in half, with his group supervised by Eileen Corliss (Corliss), human resources 3. Vitale stated that the training for Slyke's particular group of trainees was primarily focused on Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program benefits (food stamps). (Tr. at 15.)

The first three weeks of training were in a classroom environment where the trainees learned programs and general procedures, how to determine eligibility, and how to utilize the computer. After the classroom learning, the trainees began working under their immediate supervisor on the floor to learn the daily routine.

Vitale described the four criteria trainees need to meet to successfully complete the WTP. In the performance-based exam, trainees must achieve passing scores on four of six practical cases. On the knowledge-based examination, they must obtain a score of at least seventy-five to pass. In the interview observation, trainees are brought to the client intake and reception area, and their interviews are observed. Finally, trainees must satisfactorily demonstrate the ability to process and complete the daily work of an HSS-1.

The examinations are usually given within the last ten-days of the WTP, as occurred here. Vitale stated that performance examinations are utilized to demonstrate that HSS-1 can be self-sufficient. A HHS-1 must be able to take a case, go through the procedures, and determine if the person is eligible or ineligible. If this is not done correctly, the clients are very likely to suffer because they will be either receiving fewer benefits than they are entitled to receive, or too many, which they will eventually have to pay back. Vitale testified that the requirements have been a part of the program at least back to her hiring in 2000, when she went through the same process. The County does not deviate from this process. People have failed before, and none have been retained as an HSS-1. She added that anyone who is not retained following the WTP can always reapply.

Vitale stated that Slyke was surprised and not happy when he was informed that he did not pass the performance-based examination, never said whether the test was fair or unfair, and signed the final progress report. (R-3.) She added that there were interim progress reports for Slyke that were adequate, and trainees met with supervisors every two weeks to assess their progress. Finally, Vitale stated that Slyke was present for all training, except for the training on benefits, which he did not need as he was a current employee of the County.

Corliss testified that she supervised Slyke and dealt with him regularly. She trained appellant on the floor, set up packets, and live cases for trainees to go through. Corliss added that the main objective of the training was for food stamps, since the primary job responsibility for the trainees was to learn all the various aspects of the food stamp program.

Corliss explained the details of Slyke's performance examination, and why he did not pass. (R-12.) The first test case is the interim referring form (IRF), which she described as a form a client sends in reporting changes. The test requires the worker to review the form with the client to verify the information, and enter the information into the system. Corliss stated that the information is important as it will determine whether the client will continue to receive benefits. Slyke's errors in the IRF test included missing the certification period, which caused the client to not receive benefits. He received a non-passing score of sixty (R-5).

The second test case was for a prior General Assistance/food stamp client reapplying for food stamps only. (R-12.) Multiple errors led to deductions of thirty-five points for a non-passing score of thirty-five. In one calculation, the General Assistance income was left out, which would have led to a real-world consequence of a lower calculation for food stamp benefits. Other errors included incorrect segment and person types. (R-5.) By way of comparison, Corliss referred to an example of a passing score on the same test by one of Slyke's classmates. (R-9.)

Although Slyke passed tests three and four (R-12), he received a non-passing score of fifty-five on test five, which required him to put an application into the system in a way that if a client calls in, there would be an application pending. It was commonly referred to putting a new case in "app status." Because of the kind of errors Slyke made, the system would not have recognized that an application was pending, and eventually, the system would have deleted the application, such that the County would no longer have a record that a valid, pending application existed. In real life, this would have caused a deserving client to have to start a new application and to lose back benefits to which they were entitled. (R-7.)

The final test was an application for food stamps. Slyke received a non-passing score of sixty. Based upon Slyke's incorrect calculations, the applicant would not have received the correct benefits. (R-8.)

Corliss referred to examples of passing scores by one of Slyke's classmates for tests five and six to demonstrate that the trainees who received the same training during the WTP were able to obtain passing scores. (R-10, R-11.)

Corliss stated that no one else in Slyke's class failed this exam, but others have failed in the past. No one has ever been granted an exemption from the requirement to pass at least four of the six parts of the performance exam. Thus, Corliss, said, the appellant was treated in the same manner as any other trainee. Corliss acknowledged that she was surprised he did not pass the test. (Tr. at 67.) She added that there is only one correct way to pass the examination, and the examples of passing examinations were introduced only to demonstrate this, not to compare Slyke to others. On redirect, Corliss stated that everyone was trained on the subject matter that was tested on.

Appellant Slyke testified on his own behalf. He stated that he knows that this is an uphill battle, and wanted to have his opinion heard. As an example of unfairness, he pointed in particular to a test case in which "GA cases . . . (were) being turned into Food Stamp cases that they took back from us because they had to go to GA workers to try and figure out what the error was. We were told to do some a certain way, and when done on the test, it was considered wrong." (Tr. at 76, 77.) Additionally, he stated that, "because two of the six cases (were not) strictly food stamps, I just felt like I didn't have a fair advantage of passing all six." (Tr. at 77.) This is because he was trained primarily in food stamps. On cross examination, he admitted that he received the same training as everyone else, was not singled out unfairly, and was given the same opportunities as everyone else to pass the test.

Having heard the testimony of the witnesses and reviewed the documentary evidence, I FIND as FACT that Slyke did not pass the performance-based examination. I FIND that the County has established that others with the same training passed the examination. I FIND that the County has long used the four-part criteria without deviation, and therefore, I FIND that he did not successfully complete the working test period.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

The purpose of the working test period under the Civil Service system is to enable the appointing authority to evaluate an employee's fitness through observed job performance under actual working conditions. Cipriano v. Dep't of Civil Serv., 151 N.J. Super. 86, 89 (App. Div. 1977). On appeal to the Civil Service Commission, the only issue is whether the appointing authority exercised good faith in determining that the employee was not competent to perform satisfactorily the duties of that position. Briggs v. Dep't of Civil Serv., 64 N.J. Super. 351 (App. Div. 1960). Thus, it is up to the employee to demonstrate that the appointing authority has acted in bad faith. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-4.3(b); Devine v. Plainfield, 31 N.J. Super. 300 (App. Div. 1954); Fitzpatrick v. Civil Serv. Comm'n, 91 N.J. Super. 535, 539 (App. Div. 1966). Bad faith is "not simply bad judgment or negligence, but implies the conscious doing of a wrong because of dishonest purpose." Brown v. State Dep't of Educ., 97 N.J.A.R.2d (CSV) 537, 541 (citations omitted).

To prove "bad faith" in a working test period case, the employee must prove sinister motive or conscious doing of a wrong because of a dishonest purpose. The fact that the appointing authority's determination was not entirely accurate or even that the facts allow for a determination different than that of the appointing authority is not alone sufficient to prove bad faith. Broughton v. Woodbine Dev'l Ctr., CSV 4179-02, Initial Decision (Oct. 1, 2003), adopted, Merit System Board (Nov. 24, 2003), <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>.

The evidence does not support a conclusion of bad faith. While the appellant has offered general grievances with the performance-based examination, he has provided no evidence of unfair treatment. Rather, the County demonstrated that it utilized standard criteria, that all candidates were provided with the same training and the same opportunity to successfully complete the WTP.

A showing of bad faith by the appellant is a high standard to meet, and I CONCLUDE that Slyke has not been able to meet that burden.

ORDER

The termination at the end of the working test period is hereby AFFIRMED.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, DIVISION OF APPEALS AND REGULATORY AFFAIRS, UNIT H, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, 44 South Clinton Avenue, PO Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." BEFORE LISA JAMES-BEAVERS, ALJ:

This matter concerns the appeal of Evelyn Acevedo, from the action of the respondent/appointing authority. Upon receipt of the appellant's hearing request, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for determination as a contested case on August 18, 2017, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

As a result of a settlement conference, the parties agreed to a settlement of all issues in dispute and have prepared a settlement agreement, which is attached and fully incorporated herein.

I have reviewed the record and terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures on the settlement agreement.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy.

I CONCLUDE that this matter is no longer a contested case before the Office of Administrative Law. It is ORDERED that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE

THIS SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE (hereafter "Release") is made between Plaintiff James R. Boelhower ("Plaintiff or Releasor") and Defendant Board of Commissioners of Fire District No. 1 of Woodbridge Township, and its affiliates, former and present departments (including, but not limited to, its Fire Department), divisions, employees (both paid and voluntary), servants, agents, directors, officers, officials, elected officials, insurers, third party administrators, owners, managers, administrators, legal and personal representatives, and all predecessors, successors and assigns ("Fire District"), Defendant Todd Howell ("Howell") in his individual and official capacities, Defendant John Kenny ("Kenny") in his individual and official capacities, Howell's and Kenny's respective agents, legal and personal representatives, predecessors, successors, affiliates, assigns, heirs, executors, administrator (all collectively "Releasees"); the Fire District, Howell, Kenny collectively known as "Defendants"; Plaintiff and Defendants collectively known as "Parties".

RECITALS

WHEREAS, Plaintiff was an employee of the Fire District and asserted certain claims against the Defendants arising out of his dealings with Defendants in a lawsuit entitled James R. Boelhower v. Board of Commissioners of Fire District No. 1 of Woodbridge Township, Todd Howell, Individually, John Kenny, Individually, filed in the Middlesex County Superior Court, under Docket No.: MID-L-01199-16 ("Civil Lawsuit") and in an Office of Administrative Law proceeding entitled I/M/O James Boelhower, Woodbridge Fire District 1, OAL Docket No. CSR 00568-15 ("OAL Lawsuit"); the Civil Lawsuit and the OAL Lawsuit collectively referred to as the "Lawsuits";

WHEREAS, the Parties have reached an agreement to fully and finally settle all of the Plaintiff's claims, including those asserted and not asserted in the Lawsuits, against the Defendants arising out of Plaintiff's dealings with Releasees, and all other actions and claims, which the Plaintiff has, had or may have against the Releasees up to the date of this Release; and

WHEREAS, Plaintiff understands and agrees that the Defendants, by reason of payment and other terms made on behalf of the Releasees, do not admit any liability nor have they made any agreement to make any payment or to take any action not reflected in this Release. Further, Plaintiff understands that the allegations contained in these Lawsuits remain disputed and denied by Defendants and that the Fire District and its insurer underwent a cost benefit analysis, made a business decision, and have agreed to settle in order to avoid the inherent uncertainties associated with legal proceedings and the additional legal fees and expenses of continuing these disputes, but that this Release represents a compromise of disputed claims and any liability, wrongdoing, malfeasance, misfeasance or negligence on the part of Defendants is expressly denied.

NOW, IN CONSIDERATION, of the payment to the Plaintiff, provided for herein, and other good and valuable consideration and the promises and covenants contained herein, the receipt and sufficiency of which is acknowledged, the Plaintiff agrees as follows:

1. Subject to and contingent on the Fire District's approval, subject to and contingent upon the receipt of approval of the Settlement Agreement and General Release by and from the Office of Administrative Law and subject to and contingent upon receipt of approval of the Settlement Agreement and General Release by and from the Civil Service Commission pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, and not before sixty days after the Fire District's approval and the approvals by the Office of Administrative Law and the Civil Service Commission, receipt by defense counsel of this Release and attached Exhibits A and B duly executed by Plaintiff, receipt of an executed Stipulation of Dismissal with Prejudice from Plaintiff's counsel, receipt of W-9s from Plaintiff and Plaintiff's counsel, receipt of a negative Charles Jones Patriot Act search for Plaintiff and receipt of a negative Charles Jones Child Lien search for Plaintiff, the Plaintiff understands and agrees that payment shall be made on behalf of Releasees by checks made payable as follows: 1) a check in the amount of $258,333 made payable to Cashdan and Kane, LLC, with a 1099 to issue to the law firm with attorney box 14 checked; (2) a check in the amount of $258,333.50 made payable before December 15, 2017 to Plaintiff, with a 1099 to issue to the Plaintiff and recorded as "other income" on the 1099 for the tax year 2017; and (3) a check in the amount of $258,333.50 made payable after January 1, 2018 but before January 30, 2018 to Plaintiff, with a 1099 to issue to Plaintiff and recorded as "other income" on the 1099 for the tax year 2018. Neither Plaintiff nor Defendants shall file exceptions or otherwise appeal any Initial and/or Final Decision entered by the Office of Administrative Law and/or the Civil Service Commission approving the Settlement Agreement and General Release; and the above payments are strictly contingent on this provision.

The checks described in (1) and (2) will be sent to the law offices of Cashdan and Kane c/o Michael G. Kane, Esq. 226 St. Paul Street, Westfield NJ 07090 prior to December 20th 2017. The check described in (3) will be sent to Mr. Kane after January 1, 2018 but before January 31, 2018.

The Fire District will also provide a neutral reference letter for Plaintiff, setting forth only Plaintiff's dates of employment, titles held at the Fire District, salary and last date of employment. Plaintiff's point of contact for prospective employers in this regard will be the Career Chief.

The Fire District will not file the Stipulation of Dismissal with Prejudice until all of the checks described in (1), (2) and (3) have been received by Mr. Kane.

The Fire District will also segregate Plaintiff's PNDAs and FNDAs from Plaintiff's personnel file maintained by the Fire District and will keep Plaintiff's PNDAs and FNDAs in a separate file which the Fire District will keep confidential. Plaintiff's PNDAs and FNDAs will not be disseminated by the Fire District unless the Fire District is served with a lawfully issued subpoena, court/administrative order, OPRA request and/or any other valid legal mechanism. If the Fire District receives a subpoena, court order, OPRA request and/or other legal mechanism seeking Plaintiff's PNDAs and/or FNDAs, the Fire District will provide notice to Plaintiff via his email address, Boelhowers@gmail.com and by certified mail, return receipt requested to James Boelhower, 24 South Robert Street, Sewaren, NJ 07077 as soon as practicable prior to the release of such information.

The above payments/consideration to Plaintiff and Plaintiff's attorneys represent full, final and complete payment of all claims made in these Lawsuits, or that could have been made against Releasees including, but not limited to, claims for all related attorneys' fees, any potential fee shifting and/or any attorney fee enhancements.

Plaintiff understands and agrees that pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2A:17-56.23(b), the settlement sum will not be released until such time as Plaintiff provides defense counsel with a certified copy of a child support judgment search, performed by a private judgment search company, reflecting that Plaintiff is not a child support judgment debtor. Plaintiff further understands and agrees that in the event it is revealed that Plaintiff is a child support judgment debtor, Plaintiff will not receive any of the proceeds of the settlement until all outstanding New Jersey child support judgments are satisfied. Plaintiff also understands and agrees that if any child support judgment exceeds the net proceeds of the settlement sum, the entire settlement proceeds will be utilized to satisfy any outstanding child support judgment.

Plaintiff understands and agrees that pursuant to Executive Order 13224, as amended by Executive Order 13268 and Executive Order 13608, a settlement sum will not be released until such time as Plaintiff provides defense counsel with a certified copy of a Patriot Act Search, performed by a private judgment search company, reflecting that Plaintiff is not on the list of prohibited individuals as compiled by the federal government. Plaintiff further understands and agrees that in the event it is revealed that Plaintiff is on such list, Plaintiff will not receive any of the proceeds of the settlement.

Plaintiff further understands and agrees that he will have resigned his employment with the Fire District effective February 15, 2011, and will execute the resignation letter attached as Exhibit A to this Release contemporaneously with Plaintiff's execution of this Release.

Plaintiff further understands and agrees that any potential sick, vacation, compensatory and personal days remaining to Plaintiff, up to the date of Plaintiff's resignation from employment, i.e., February 15, 2011, will be extinguished and no monies will be paid to the Plaintiff by Releasees from extinguished sick, vacation, compensatory and personal days; that is, Plaintiff cannot obtain cash for any remaining sick, vacation, compensatory and personal time; and Plaintiff waives, without condition, any rights he may have against Releasees in this regard up to the date of Plaintiff's full execution of this Release and attached Exhibits.

Plaintiff further understands and agrees that any potential pension monies that may be owed to Plaintiff up to the date of Plaintiff's resignation, i.e., February 15, 2011, will be extinguished and no monies will be paid to the Plaintiff or any other applicable party by the Defendants in this regard now or in the future. This provision does not affect any monies to which Plaintiff may be entitled to receive from the Police and Firefighters Retirement System (PFRS) itself. Plaintiff waives, without condition, any rights he may have against Releasees in this regard up to the date of Plaintiff's resignation from employment.

Further, Plaintiff understands and agrees that any medical and health insurance coverage and/or fringe benefits to which Plaintiff may be entitled and/or any medical and health insurance coverage and/or fringe benefits that Plaintiff may currently be receiving from the Fire District ceases immediately for Plaintiff, any current/past spouse and any dependents. Plaintiff understands and agrees that the Fire District has no future obligation to Plaintiff, any spouse and any dependents with respect to coverage for medical and health insurance and/or fringe benefits and waives, without condition, any rights he may have against Releasees in this regard.

Further, Plaintiff acknowledges that he is ineligible pursuant to this Release to hold any position with the Fire District now or in the future, and shall not apply in the future for employment, either paid with the Fire District or voluntary with Woodbridge Fire Co. No.1. Plaintiff understands and agrees that should he apply for employment with the Fire District and/or Woodbridge Fire Co. No. 1, neither will have any obligation to hire or rehire him either for a paid position with the Fire District or voluntary position with Woodbridge Fire Co. No.1. Plaintiff understands and agrees that if he is denied employment, he will not initiate any type of legal action alleging discrimination or retaliation, given that this is a negotiated clause of this Release and not evidence of retaliation.

Plaintiff agrees to cooperate fully in having this matter dismissed with prejudice against the Defendants immediately after the final payment is made to the Plaintiff.

2. Plaintiff understands and agrees that the above payments made to Plaintiff and Plaintiff's attorneys by the Fire District and its insurer, on behalf of the Releasees as set forth in paragraph 1 above, shall be the sole and only payment on behalf of Releasees and shall not be enhanced or altered in any way by reason of any further imposition of taxes of any kind or type on the proceeds of Plaintiff's settlement for any reason. Plaintiff understands and agrees that the Releasees make no representations regarding the federal or state tax consequences of any of the payments referred to herein and shall not be responsible for any tax liability, interest or penalty incurred by the Plaintiff, which in any way arises out of or is related to said payments. The Plaintiff and/or Plaintiff's attorneys shall pay the federal and/or state taxes, if any, which are required by law to be paid by the Plaintiff and/or Plaintiff's attorneys with respect to this settlement. The Plaintiff shall indemnify the Releasees for any tax liability and related costs, penalties and interest incurred by the Plaintiff in connection with this settlement. Plaintiff has not relied upon any representations, expressed or implied, made by the Releasees as to the possible tax consequences of this Release and releases the Releasees from any and all liability in connection with such tax consequences.

3. Plaintiff, for himself, his heirs, executors, administrators, legal and personal representatives, agents, beneficiaries and assigns, does irrevocably and unconditionally release and forever discharge and dismiss the Releasees, from the beginning of time up to and through the date this Release is executed by Plaintiff, of and from any and all debts, obligations, grievances, claims, charges, demands, suits, judgments, or cause of action of any kind whatsoever, whether known or unknown, seen or unforeseen, which are raised or could have been raised against the Releasees in these Lawsuits, or in any other cause of action of any kind whatsoever, related to and/or arising out of these Lawsuits, in tort, contract, by statute or on any other basis for compensatory, punitive, treble or other damages, expenses, costs, reimbursements, disbursements, attorneys' fees, enhanced fees, fees resulting from fee shifting, damages and interest or costs of any kind including, but not limited to, all rights and claims, whether in law or in equity, in any federal, state, county, local or municipal court, administrative agency or board, which Plaintiff or anyone acting through or on behalf of Plaintiff have had, have asserted or could have asserted, including, but not limited to, claims under the Constitutions of the United States and the State of New Jersey, the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) guidelines, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Civil Rights of 1991, the Civil Rights Act of 1886, 42 U.S.C. § 1983, 42 U.S.C. § 1985, 42 U.S.C. § 1988, the Equal Pay Act, the Fair Labor Standards Act, the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, the National Labor Relations Act, the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Rehabilitation Act, the Occupational Safety and Health Act, the federal Family and Medical Leave Act, the Older Worker Benefit Protection Act, the Dodd-Frank Act, the federal Age Discrimination in Employment Act, the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act, the New Jersey Family Leave Act, the New Jersey Family Temporary Disability Act, the New Jersey Law Against superior, wanton misconduct, willful misconduct, intentional misconduct, negligence, negligence per se, carelessness, recklessness, gross negligence, negligent hiring and training, failure to accommodate a disability or to engage in the interactive process, which are raised or could have been raised against the Releasees in these Lawsuits.

4. Notwithstanding the provisions set forth in paragraph 3 above, Plaintiff understands and acknowledges that even though he is voluntarily executing this Release and dismissing both of his Lawsuits, he is not prohibited from filing a charge with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission or a comparable state agency, and that he is not prohibited from participating in any investigation or proceeding conducted by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission or a comparable state agency. In such case, however, Plaintiff agrees and voluntarily waives any right to monetary damages against the Releasees. Furthermore, nothing in this Release shall be construed to bar Plaintiff from reporting anything where the prohibition would be precluded by law.

5. Subject to the provisions set forth in paragraph 4 above, Plaintiff on behalf of himself, his heirs, executors, administrators, legal and personal representatives, agents, beneficiaries and assigns covenants and promises that neither he nor they will file or cause to be filed any charge, complaint, legal or administrative action of any nature before any court, board or administrative agency to assert any claim against the Releasees, arising out of Plaintiff's dealings with Releasees, except as may be necessary to enforce this Release.

6. Plaintiff understands and agrees that this Release expresses a full and complete statement of any and all alleged liabilities, which have been denied by Defendants and are not now admitted, and regardless of the adequacy of the compensation to be paid under this Release, this Release is intended to avoid any existing or future litigation, and Plaintiff as binding on himself, his heirs, executors, administrators, legal and personal representatives, agents, beneficiaries and assigns agrees that neither he nor they will seek any other payment whatsoever from Releasees.

7. Plaintiff understands and agrees that this Release does not constitute an admission by the Defendants of any wrongful action or violation of any federal or state Constitution, federal or state code, statute, regulation, policy or procedure, common law, public policy or contractual right and that this Release is a settlement of disputed claims so that neither this writing nor the fact of settlement constitutes an admission of liability or wrongdoing or breach of duty. It is understood and agreed by Plaintiff that the Releasees, by reason of the payment to Plaintiff, do not admit any liability, nor have they made any agreement to make any payment or take any action not reflected in this Release. Plaintiff understands that the Fire District and its insurer underwent a cost benefit analysis, made a business decision, and have agreed to settle in order to avoid the inherent uncertainties associated with legal proceedings and the additional legal fees and expenses of continuing these disputes, but that this Release represents a compromise of disputed claims and any liability, wrongdoing, malfeasance, misfeasance or negligence on the part of Releasees is expressly denied.

8. Plaintiff for himself, his heirs, executors, administrators, personal and legal representatives, agents, beneficiaries and assigns agrees to satisfy from the proceeds of this settlement and be solely responsible for any and all liens, rights of subrogation, defense claims, losses, liability, actions, damages, causes of action, judgments, costs and expenses, including attorneys fees or enhancements, whatsoever made by or sustained by or arising from any person, corporation, partnership, state or federal government, governmental agency including, but not limited to, the Social Security Administration, Medicare or Medicaid, any hospital, or any other medical provider, health care provider, disability or insurance benefits provider, workers compensation carriers, Medicare provider, Medicaid provider or any other entity arising in whole or in part out of these Lawsuits, or in any way connected to these Lawsuits.

Notwithstanding the above, Plaintiff affirms that Plaintiff was not enrolled in Medicare as of the date of Plaintiff's resignation from employment, i.e., February 15, 2011, has not enrolled in Medicare since his employment resignation and that Medicare has no lien, as set forth in Exhibit B. Accordingly, Plaintiff affirms that Medicare has no interest in the payments under this Release.

Nonetheless, if the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services or any related agency representing Medicare's interests determine that Medicare has an interest in the payment to Plaintiff under this Release, Plaintiff agrees to indemnify, defend and hold Releasees harmless from any action by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services relating to medical consultation/evaluation/treatment rendered to Plaintiff. Plaintiff further understands and agrees that satisfaction of any potential interest of Medicare from the proceeds payable under this Release shall be the sole and exclusive responsibility of Plaintiff and Plaintiff agrees to provide proof of such satisfaction to the Fire District and its insurer upon request. Plaintiff agrees that the duties stated in this paragraph are non-delegable and failure to perform such duties shall provide the Fire District and its insurer with a right to recover any monies paid caused by the failure to satisfy any potential interest of Medicare, including any additional expenses incurred and attorney fees and enhanced fees.

Specifically, Plaintiff agrees to indemnify and hold harmless the Releasees, their insurers, attorneys, third party administrators and other in privity with them from any claims by, through and/or under Plaintiff including, but not limited to, any past, present or future claims, private causes of action, liens, rights of subrogation, indemnification claims, contribution claims, defense claims, losses, actions, damages, demands, suits, liabilities, denial of coverage actions, protection of interest actions, judgments, costs and expenses, including attorneys fees and enhanced fees, whatsoever made by or sustained by or arising from any person, corporation, partnership, state or federal government, governmental agency including, but not limited to, the Social Security Administration, Medicare, Medicaid, any hospital, or any other medical provider, health care provider, disability or insurance benefits provider, workers compensation carrier, Medicare provider, Medicaid provider or any other entity arising in whole or in part out of these Lawsuits, or in any way connected to these Lawsuits, even though not a signatory to this Agreement.

Further, even though Plaintiff is not currently enrolled in Medicare, should Plaintiff so enroll in the future, then Plaintiff shall set aside funds necessary in an approved Medicare Set Aside Account, to pay for any anticipated future medical and/or health care needs of Plaintiff, if Plaintiff holds any belief that he may require treatment that is related to and/or arises from these Lawsuits, Moreover, Plaintiff avers and covenants that if Plaintiff determines not to set aside funds in an approved Medicare Set Aside Account then, in conjunction with his affirmations set forth above and in his Certification attached as Exhibit B, it is because he does not at all expect that he will require medical and/or health care treatment for any conditions related to and/or arising from these Lawsuits and/or for the exacerbation of any medical and/or health care conditions for which Plaintiff may currently receive medical benefits, which exacerbation is related to and/or arises from these Lawsuits. Further, should funds not be placed in an approved Medicare Set Aside Account for Plaintiff, and if care and treatment for conditions related to and/or arising out of these Lawsuits are subsequently sought, then Plaintiff covenants and represents to the Releasees, their insurers, attorneys, third party administrators and others in privity with them, that Plaintiff will not submit or seek payment, for said medical care, from Medicare and/or any other government funded program.

Finally, even though Plaintiff is not currently enrolled in Medicare, should Plaintiff so enroll in the future, Plaintiff agrees to reasonably cooperate with the Fire District upon request with respect to (1) any reporting requirements under Section 111 of the Medicare, Medicaid and SCHIP Extension Act of 2007 and (2) any claim that the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services may make for which Plaintiff is required, under this paragraph, to indemnify Releasees, their insurers, attorneys, third party administrators and others in privity with them.

Plaintiff further affirms that he was not enrolled in Medicaid as of the date of Plaintiff's resignation from employment, i.e., February 15, 2011; and has not enrolled in Medicaid since his employment resignation and that Medicaid has no lien, as set forth in Exhibit B.

Further, Plaintiff affirms that he has never applied for Social Security Disability Insurance for medical and/or health care conditions, and/or the exacerbation thereof, related to and/or arising out of Plaintiff's claims in these Lawsuits, as set forth in Exhibit B.

9. Plaintiff represents and warrants that no other person or entity has or has had any interest in the claims, demands, obligations, or causes of action referred to in this Release except as otherwise set forth in this Release, and that Plaintiff has the sole right and exclusive authority to sign this Release and receive the sum specified in it; and that Plaintiff has not sold, assigned, transferred, conveyed, or otherwise disposed of any of the claims, demands, obligations, or causes of actions referred to in this Release.

10. In exchange for the consideration received from Releasees, and from the date of the Mediation forward, Plaintiff for himself, and on behalf of his heirs, executors, administrators, legal and personal representatives, agents, beneficiaries, assigns and attorneys, agrees that neither he nor they will disclose the terms of settlement, any discussions and negotiations leading to the settlement or to this Release, or the underlying claims of these Lawsuits to any person or entity including, but not limited to, the news media, digital media, internet correspondence/website/blogs, or any other persons or entities other than to Plaintiff's spouse, accountant, attorneys, income tax preparer or similar professional or the Internal Revenue Service, unless otherwise requested to do so by a court, by subpoena or by an administrative agency of competent jurisdiction. If asked, Plaintiff may say that "the matter has been resolved."

Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, it is expressly understood and agreed that Plaintiff for himself, and his spouse, his heirs, executors, administrators, assigns, agents, servants, legal and personal representatives, beneficiaries and attorneys will not disparage Defendants and will not take any action to publicize the terms of settlement, any discussion and negotiations leading to the settlement or to this Release or the underlying claims of these Lawsuits.

If Plaintiff for himself, his spouse, his heirs, executors, administrators, assigns, agents, servants, legal and personal representatives, beneficiaries and attorneys discloses any information concerning the settlement, the discussion and negotiations leading to this Release, or the underlying claims of these Lawsuits, to the enumerated others set forth in this paragraph, the Plaintiff for himself, his spouse, his heirs, executors, administrators, assigns, agents, servants, legal and personal representatives, beneficiaries and attorneys, agrees to advise anyone to whom the information is disclosed that such information must be treated confidentially, pursuant to the terms of this Release.

Defendants, Howell and Kenny will not disparage Plaintiff. The Plaintiff understands and agrees that the Fire District is a public entity, and that Howell and Kenny are public employees, and as such, disclosure of this Release by the Fire District may be compelled under the Open Public Records Act, N.J.S.A. 47:1A-1, et seq. ("OPRA"), other statute or common law. The Fire District may also be required to disclose the Release in relation to its approval or in relation to its compliance with the terms of the Release. Notwithstanding any other term in this Release, the Plaintiff understands and agrees that the Fire District, as a public entity and employer of numerous public employees, cannot guarantee non-disclosure.

Plaintiff for himself, his spouse, his heirs, executors, administrators, assigns, agents, servants, legal and personal representatives, beneficiaries and attorneys, agrees that should he or they receive a demand for information, or are served with a subpoena, from the Internal Revenue Service, by an administrative agency, board or court of competent jurisdiction, notice of the demand or service of subpoena will be provided as soon as practicable prior to the release of such information. The notice of the request shall be sent by certified mail to Jacqueline A. DeGregorio, Esq., c/o Weiner Law

Group LLP, 629 Parsippany Road, P.O. Box 438, Parsippany, New Jersey 07054. Plaintiff for himself, his spouse, his heirs, executors, administrators, assigns, agents, servants, legal and personal representatives, beneficiaries and attorneys agrees to submit to the jurisdiction of the State of New Jersey in any action brought to enforce the confidentiality provision of this Release.

Further, unless required by law or legal process, Plaintiff for himself, his spouse, his heirs, executors, administrators, assigns, agents, servants, legal and personal representatives, beneficiaries and attorneys agrees that both he and they shall refrain from assisting, cooperating or participating in any manner in any lawsuit, administrative proceeding, arbitration, investigation or claim of any kind relating to any matter that involves the claims which were or could have been the subject of these Lawsuits. Plaintiff for himself, his spouse, his heirs, executors, administrators, assigns, agents, servants, legal and personal representatives, beneficiaries and attorneys agree that if he or they are asked for information in connection with any such matter or to assist, cooperate or participate in any manner in it, he and they will decline to communicate further with the inquirer and will immediately provide written notice to Jacqueline A. DeGregorio, Esq. advising her of the identity of the person who made the inquiry and the nature of the inquiry.

11. This Release shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit and obligation of the Plaintiff and any of the Plaintiff's heirs, executors, administrators, legal or personal representatives, beneficiaries, agents, servants, predecessors, successors and assigns.

12. Plaintiff understands and agrees that he shall bear his own attorneys fees and costs incurred in these Lawsuits up to and through the date of Plaintiff's execution of this Release. Should any Party seek to enforce the terms of this Release, the prevailing Party shall be entitled to reasonable attorneys' fees and costs expended.

13. The provisions of this Release are severable and if any part is found to be unenforceable, the other portion(s) shall remain fully validated and enforceable. This Release shall survive the terminations of any arrangements contained within the severed and/or unenforceable portions.

14. This Release shall be construed in accordance with the laws of the State of New Jersey, without regard to its conflict or choice of law rules.

15. Plaintiff represents and acknowledges as follows:

a. Plaintiff has carefully read and fully understands all of the provisions of this Release, which is written in a manner that Plaintiff understands and/or, if necessary as determined by counsel for Plaintiff, has been explained to Plaintiff through the services of an interpreter;

b. Through this Release, Plaintiff for himself and on behalf of his heirs, executors, administrators, assigns, agents, servants, legal and personal representatives, beneficiaries and attorneys, is releasing Releasees from any and all claims Plaintiff may have against the Releasees arising up to and through the date of Plaintiff's execution of this Release;

c. The compensation/consideration that Plaintiff receives from the Releasees pursuant to this Release is valuable consideration to which Plaintiff would not otherwise be entitled and the consideration is sufficient and adequate to support his promises, covenants and releases as set forth in this Release;

d. Plaintiff was advised to consult and has consulted with attorney of his choice, Michael G. Kane, Esq. prior to executing this Release;

e. Plaintiff had a reasonable time of at least 21 days (the "Consultation Period") within which to consider this Release before executing it. Plaintiff also acknowledges that he has been advised by his attorneys that any changes to this Release that may be agreed upon by the parties after he has received this Release, whether material or immaterial, do not restart this Consultation Period.

Moreover, Plaintiff represents that if he executes this Release at any time prior to the end of the Consultation Period, such early execution was a knowing and voluntary waiver of his right to consider the Release for 21 days, and was not induced by Releasees through fraud, misrepresentation, a threat to alter or withdraw the offer prior to the expiration of the 21 day period, or by providing different terms for signing the Release prior to the expiration of such period. Rather, Plaintiff agrees and represents that any early execution of this Release resulted from Plaintiff's desire to expedite the processing of the consideration/payment provided and to be timely paid herewith and Plaintiff's belief that he had ample time in which to consider and understand the Release and in which to review the Release with his attorneys;

f. Plaintiff for himself and on behalf of his heirs, executors, administrators, assigns, agents, servants, legal and personal representatives, beneficiaries and attorneys knowingly and voluntarily agrees to all the terms in this Release and intends to be legally bound by this Release.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY

In the Matter of Daryl Lindsey
Newark Police Department

CSC DKT. NO. 2013-96
OAL DKT. NO. CSV 10680-12

DECISION OF THE
CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

ISSUED: NOVEMBER 3, 2017 BW

The appeal of Daryl Lindsey, Police Officer, Newark Police Department, 45 working day suspension, on charges, was heard by Administrative Law Judge Leslie Z. Celentano, who rendered her initial decision on October 16, 2017, granting the appeal for the appointing authority's failure to prosecute and reversing the 45 working day suspension.

Having considered the record and the Administrative Law Judge's initial decision, and having made an independent evaluation of the record, the Civil Service Commission (Commission), at its meeting on November 1, 2017, accepted and adopted the Findings of Fact and Conclusion as contained in the attached Administrative Law Judge's initial decision.

Since the penalty has been reversed, the appellant is entitled to 45 days of back pay, benefits, and seniority, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.10. Further, since the appellant has prevailed, he is entitled to counsel fees pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.12.

This decision resolves the merits of the dispute between the parties concerning the disciplinary charges and the penalty imposed by the appointing authority. However, in light of the Appellate Division's decision, Dolores Phillips v. Department of Corrections, Docket No. A-5581-01T2F (App. Div. Feb. 26, 2003), the Commission's decision will not become final until any outstanding issues concerning back pay and counsel fees are finally resolved.

ORDER

The Civil Service Commission finds that the action of the appointing authority in suspending the appellant was not justified. The Commission therefore reverses that action and grants the appeal of Daryl Lindsey. The Commission further orders that appellant be granted 45 days back pay, benefits, and seniority. The amount of back pay awarded is to be reduced and mitigated as provided for in N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.10. Proof of income earned and an affidavit of mitigation shall be submitted by or on behalf of the appellant to the appointing authority within 30 days of issuance of this decision.

The Commission further orders that counsel fees be awarded to the attorney for appellant pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.12. An affidavit of services in support of reasonable counsel fees shall be submitted by or on behalf of the appellant to the appointing authority within 30 days of issuance of this decision. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.10 and N.J.A.C. 4A:2.12, the parties shall make a good faith effort to resolve any dispute as to the amount of back pay or counsel fees.

The parties must inform the Commission, in writing, if there is any dispute as to back pay or counsel fees within 60 days of issuance of this decision. In the absence of such notice, the Commission will assume that all outstanding issues have been amicably resolved by the parties and this decision shall become a final administrative determination pursuant to R. 2:2-3(a)(2). After such time, any further review of this matter shall be pursued in the Superior Court of New Jersey, Appellate Division.

INITIAL DECISION
DISMISSAL
OAL DKT. NO. CSV 10680-12
AGENCY DKT. NO. 2013-96

IN THE MATTER OF DARYL LINDSEY,
CITY OF NEWARK, POLICE DEPARTMENT.

Anthony J. Fusco, Jr., Esq., for appellant (Fusco & Macaluso, attorneys)

France Casseus, Assistant Corporation Counsel, for respondent (Kenyatta K. Stewart, Acting Corporation Counsel)

Record Closed: October 2, 2017 Decided: October 16, 2017

BEFORE LESLIE Z. CELENTANO, ALJ:

Petitioner appealed his forty-five (45) working day suspension. Petitioner was suspended without pay on November 11, 2010, effective November 6, 2010, through November 24, 2010, and again from July 16, 2012 through until August 24, 2012. Following the first suspension, a suspension hearing was held on November 22, 2010 and petitioner was reinstated effective November 25, 2010. No Final Notice of Disciplinary Action (FNDA) was provided to or served upon petitioner for this fifteen (15) working day suspension. He was then suspended again without pay effective July 16, 2012 through August 24, 2012, pursuant to FNDA dated June 9, 2012.

The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on August 1, 2012 and scheduled for hearing on May 8, 2013. That date was adjourned at the request of the City and rescheduled for January 13, 2014.

The January 2014 hearing was adjourned, again at the request of the City which indicated that the attorney of record would be out of the office for eight weeks. Accordingly, the matter was rescheduled for July 21, 2014.

The July 21, 2014, date was adjourned, again at the request of the City which indicated that its chief witness and investigator, Sergeant Hill, would be on vacation until August 2014. The matter was rescheduled for hearing on March 6, 2015.

The March 6, 2015, hearing was then adjourned as none of the witnesses were available, according to a telephone conference held on that date. The matter was rescheduled for August 3, 2015. The August 2015 date was adjourned, again at the request of the City, as the assistant corporation counsel then assigned to the matter was attending to family matters.

The hearing was rescheduled for April 18, 2016, however that date was adjourned, again at the request of the City which indicated it "inadvertently did not calendar the matter for a hearing" and did not subpoena its witnesses to appear.

The matter was then rescheduled for October 25, 2016, on which date the parties appeared at long last for hearing. The City appeared with its witnesses, and petitioner's counsel also appeared but indicated that the subpoenaed witnesses had not appeared, and asked for an adjournment. The City represented that there had been extensive communications with counsel and no mention of communication issues with witnesses, and as such, the City objected to the adjournment. The adjournment was granted when petitioner's counsel indicated enforcement of the subpoenas would be sought, and also because until that time there had been no adjournment requests from petitioner. The parties were advised that the new dates assigned, February 16 and 17, 2017, were peremptory dates which would not be adjourned.

On January 17, 2017, correspondence was received from the City requesting an adjournment of the peremptory February dates, as the assistant corporation counsel then assigned to the matter, Mr. Saunders, indicated that he would be on a medical leave of absence from January 23, 2017 until March 3, 2017. The February dates were therefore adjourned, and the matter rescheduled for October 2, 2017, nearly eight months later.

By letter dated September 25, 2017 and faxed to the undersigned on September 26, 2017, the City yet again requested an adjournment, four (4) days before the scheduled October 2 date, indicating it "is not prepared to move forward on said trial date." The matter has now lingered for over five years and been adjourned nine times, and accordingly, the adjournment request was DENIED and all parties were ordered to appear on October 2, 2017, for hearing. On that date, petitioner appeared at 9:00 am ready to proceed. No one appeared on behalf of respondent, and there was no communication of any kind whatsoever explaining the failure to appear for hearing related to suspensions from seven (7) years ago.

Based upon all of the foregoing, I FIND that this matter should be and is hereby DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE. Appellant is entitled to back pay from November 6, 2010 through November 24, 2010, and from July 16, 2012 through August 24, 2012; and to seniority to the actual date of reinstatement, August 25, 2012.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, DIVISION OF APPEALS AND REGULATORY AFFAIRS, UNIT H, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, 44 South Clinton Avenue, PO Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

FINAL ADMINISTRATIVE ACTION
OF THE
CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

ISSUED: NOVEMBER 3, 2017 BW

The appeal of Erica Moffitt, Cottage Training Technician, Woodbine Developmental Center, Department of Human Services, removal effective March 3, 2016, on charges, was heard by Administrative Law Judge John S. Kennedy, who rendered his initial decision on September 1, 2017. Exceptions were filed on behalf of the appellant, a reply to exceptions was filed on behalf of the appointing authority and a cross reply was filed on behalf of the appellant.

Having considered the record and the Administrative Law Judge's initial decision, and having made an independent evaluation of the record, the Civil Service Commission (Commission), at its meeting of November 1, 2017, accepted and adopted the Findings of Fact and Conclusion as contained in the attached Administrative Law Judge's initial decision.

ORDER

The Civil Service Commission finds that the action of the appointing authority in removing the appellant was justified. The Commission therefore affirms that action and dismisses the appeal of Erica Moffitt.

This is the final administrative determination in this matter. Any further review should be pursued in a judicial forum.

IN THE MATTER OF ERICA MOFFITT,
DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES,
WOODBINE DEVELOPMENTAL CENTER.

William A. Nash, Esq., for appellant (Nash Law Firm, LLC, attorneys)

Nicole T. Castiglione, Deputy Attorney General, for appellant (Christopher S. Porrino, Attorney General of New Jersey, attorney)

Record Closed: July 18, 2017 Decided: September 1, 2017

BEFORE JOHN S. KENNEDY, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Cottage Training Technician (CTT) Erica Moffitt appeals the action by the Department of Human Services, Woodbine Developmental Center (Woodbine) terminating her employment on grounds of neglect of duty, serious mistake due to carelessness which would result in danger and/or injury to persons or property, conduct unbecoming and other sufficient cause, specifically.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

CTT Moffitt (appellant) was served with an Amended Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action (PNDA) on December 22, 2014 (R-13). A departmental hearing was held on March 1, 2016 and appellant was advised by a Notice of Final Disciplinary Action (FNDA) dated March 8, 2016, that she had been terminated effective March 3, 2016. Moffitt appealed the termination to the Civil Service Commission (CSC) and the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), as required under N.J.S.A. 40A:14-202(d). The matter was heard on April 27, 2017. The record closed after the parties filed written summations on July 18, 2017.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

Appellant, Erica Moffitt, was employed by Woodbine as a Cottage Training Technician ("CTT"). One of the residents appellant was assigned to care for "M.S.," an eighty-five-year-old woman with extremely fragile, paper-thin skin. Because M.S.'s skin was subject to tearing with any type of shearing or abrasion, an Injury Review meeting was held on November 18, 2014, to discuss ways to prevent further injury to her. It was decided at that meeting that a mechanical lift would now be used to lift her out of bed and a draw sheet would be used any time M.S. needed to be moved or repositioned while in bed. Padded bed rails were also used to protect M.S. from injury. (R-1; R-2).

M.S.'s client card was updated with the new information, and all staff members received in-service instruction regarding the use of a mechanical lift and draw sheet. A client card is a snapshot of each resident and sets forth a summary of what services and care they require. Staff members are expected to know and understand the information contained in a resident's client card, and, therefore, if they do not understand a service or the type of care described therein, they are instructed to ask their supervisor. Supervisors are present during every shift. (R-1; R-4).

During the in-service instruction, staff members were instructed to utilize two people and a draw sheet whenever M.S. needed to be moved. (R-4). A draw sheet is a bed sheet that is folded in half and placed underneath a resident. Because draw sheets do not require staff members to directly touch a resident, they are used to move residents who have fragile, thin skin. To move or reposition a resident, two staff members hold each end of the draw sheet.

On November 28, 2014, appellant was assigned to care for Group 1 in Cottage 18, which included M.S. (R-5; R-67). Appellant's shift began at 11:15 p.m. (R-67). As part of her assignment, appellant was given M.S.'s client card, which included the updated information regarding the use of a mechanical lift and a draw sheet. Appellant was familiar with M.S. and had cared for her on at least one other occasion after she received in-service instruction regarding the use of the draw sheet.

Appellant changed M.S. with the help of another staff member during the night. They did not use a draw sheet despite having to "rotate" M.S. to change her. Appellant also repositioned M.S. twice during the night without help from another staff member and without using a draw sheet. To reposition M.S., appellant had to move her from one side to the other and adjust the pillows underneath her head, shoulders, arms, knees, and lower legs. Appellant did not notice that one of M.S.'s padded bed rails was on backwards, leaving the metal bed rail exposed.

At approximately 6:25 a.m., appellant went into M.S.'s room to check on her and change her diaper. Appellant took down the bed rail closest to her, leaving the bed rail that was against the wall in place. Without the help of a second staff member or the use of a draw sheet, appellant "rolled" and "turned" M.S. from side to side to undress her and change her diaper. As appellant was rolling and turning M.S. to re-dress her, M.S. hit her head on the metal bed rail that was against the wall. At this point, seven hours into her shift, Appellant noticed that the padded bed rail was on backwards. Appellant alerted her supervisor and accompanied M.S. to Cape May Regional Medical Center. (R-67). M.S. required five sutures to treat the five-inch laceration on her head. (R-7; R-8; R-9; R-10; R-11). A CT scan was also taken of her head and x-rays of each of her knees. (R-9). Upon appellant's return to Woodbine, she was immediately suspended with pay. (R-12).

Testimony

Gene Meloy:

Meloy testified that he is a Charge Nurse at Woodbine for eight years. He described the population at Woodbine and provided examples of direct care duties. His duties are vast and include in-servicing (training) of staff. He conducts approximately five in-services per week. In-service instruction is an interactive process used to educate staff members about the services and standard of care at Woodbine. Staff members are encouraged to ask questions of their in-service instructors to ensure their understanding and comprehension of the subject matter. To document when staff members have received in-service instruction, each person must sign an Event Registration Roster Form. Appellant received in-service instruction on the use of a draw sheet on November 19, 2014. She signed the Event Registration Roster form documenting the in-service instruction.

Meloy provided a written statement (P-1) and testified that M.S. was delicate, and that her skin easily tore. She had to be repositioned in her bed every two hours. He was not working on the date of the incident and did not have any personal observations of the incident with M.S. During his direct examination, Meloy testified that he trained appellant. On cross examination, he corrected his testimony that he did not personally in-service appellant and that in-service of many staff was delegated to others. He did not know if the delegated in-service was simply handing R-4 to the trainees to read or whether the delegated trainer demonstrated the training. The in-service training reflected in R-4 was not a policy or procedure and did not constitute a training course.

Appellant reported the incident to her supervisor and an incident report was prepared (R-6). The recommendation on the Incident Report was for all staff to be more cautious in putting padding on bed rails. The Cape Regional Medical Center nursing notes stated there was no evidence of abuse or neglect.

Ryan Broughton:

Broughton is a Supervisor of Professional Residential services at Woodbine. He described the various duties of a direct care staff. Each patient has a direct care reference card (R-1) that gives instructions to employees on the needs of clients. These reference cards are kept in dorm watch binders along with a client turning schedule. Shift supervisors are responsible to ensure that employees on their shift understand what is required of each client. Employees are instructed to consult employees if they do not understand what is required to properly care for a patient. Broughton did not train appellant on the use of a draw sheet for M.S. and did not know who provided that training. He did not know whether or not the shift supervisor made sure that appellant was properly in-serviced on M.S.

Maggie Wallace:

Wallace worked for respondent as a CTT from 1978 to 2015. The first time assigned to a patient, staff is provided with the client cards. If a new procedure is implemented, sometimes a supervisor reviews the changes and other times, they are given a packet to review on their own while they work during the shift. If they do not understand, they are instructed to ask a supervisor. Supervisors are not always available to ask questions. Staff is required to follow what is stated on the in-service sheet and is not permitted to expand on it.

Erica Moffit:

Appellant is a graduate of Millville High School and has worked for the State of New Jersey since September 2000 at Woodbine. She was hired as a direct care staff. Her last title was cottage training technician (CTT). She was assigned the overnight shift from 11:15 p.m. until 7:00 a.m. the next morning. She mainly works with high functioning consumers. Here, she was assigned to M.S. who is a low functioning consumer. Prior to the date of the incident, she had worked with M.S. She was never in-serviced on M.S. but was provided her patient card prior to the date of the incident. She was never provided with M.S.'s revised card (R-1) and was never informed that it was revised. The prior card contained no provision for using a draw sheet to reposition M.S. in bed. Appellant testified that on the date of the incident, they were understaffed. She was provided a stack of in-service sheets including one (R-4) pertaining M.S. which she read and signed. She understood the in-service only to require a draw sheet to move M.S. "up and down in bed." She understood R-4 literally and did not believe it was confusing. Prior to the incident, she was not made aware that the IHP (R-3) existed for M.S. Prior to the incident, she was aware of the Physical Management sheet for M.S. (R-2) which did not require a draw sheet be used for M.S. She was never informed that the Physical Management sheet was revised. On the date of the incident, she rotated M.S. and asked another staff to assist her. She needed another staff because M.S. was tight and "balled up". At approximately 5:45-6:30 a.m., appellant entered the room and it was dim. She did not turn the lights on as another consumer was shared the same room and was sleeping. M.S.'s bed was up against the wall. She removed the pillows from the side and removed her diaper. There was no draw sheet underneath of M.S. No one trained appellant on what to do when there is no draw sheet on the bed. Appellant then began dressing M.S. As appellant was putting pants on M.S., this is when M.S. rolled and hit the bed rail. The padding side on the bed pad was facing the wall and not facing M.S. The padding color blended with the wall and in the dark, she did not notice that the pad had been improperly installed. M.S. has pillows around her and these cover up the bed pad and she had not noticed that the staff in the previous shift did not properly install the bed pad. She immediately notified her supervisor of what happened. She completed the Incident Report (R-6) and went with M.S. to the ER. She remained with M.S. the entire time even beyond her shift time for a few hours.

Appellant testified that she was never in-serviced by Meloy or anyone else face to face on the use of a draw sheet. She signed the Event Registration Roster form documenting the in-service instruction "because [she] read the in-service." During her shift with M.S., there was no occasion which required her to move M.S. up and down. After the injury occurred, appellant's supervisor did not mention anything about a draw sheet or whether or not a draw sheet was to be used. Prior to the incident, appellant had observed M.S.'s group leader change M.S. without using a draw sheet. Despite receiving in-service instruction regarding the use of a draw sheet on November 19, 2014, appellant apparently had no knowledge of what a draw sheet was until she was interviewed by Woodbine on December 5, 2014. Appellant did not ask her supervisor any questions about the in-service instruction or for clarification regarding when a draw sheet should be used to move M.S.

In order to resolve the inconsistencies in the witness testimony, the credibility of the witnesses must be determined. Credibility contemplates an overall assessment of the story of a witness in light of its rationality, internal consistency, and manner in which it "hangs together" with other evidence. Carbo v. United States, 314 F.2d 718 (9th Cir. 1963).

A trier of fact may reject testimony because it is inherently incredible, or because it is inconsistent with other testimony or with common experience, or because it is overborne by other testimony. Congleton v. Pura-Tex Stone Corp., 53 N.J. Super. 282, 287 (App. Div. 1958).

Having considered the testimonial and documentary evidence offered by the parties, I deem that the testimony offered by the appellant is not credible. She insists that she did not receive adequate in-service training on how to use a draw sheet or that a draw sheet was required when changing M.S. She admits that she read the in-service and signed the Event Registration Roster form documenting the in-service instruction. She understood that a draw sheet was only needed when moving M.S. "up and down" but not when turning her from side to side. On the date of the incident, she rotated M.S. and asked another staff to assist her. Appellant was familiar with M.S. and had cared for her on at least one other occasion after she received in-service instruction regarding the use of the draw sheet. Therefore, I FIND as FACT that the appellant received in-service training on how to use a draw sheet and should have understood that a draw sheet was required when changing M.S. I also FIND as FACT that if appellant had any question about the care of M.S., she was instructed to ask a supervisor.

Based upon due consideration of the testimonial and documentary evidence presented at the hearing and having had the opportunity to observe the demeanor of the witnesses and assess their credibility, I FIND the following additional FACTS:

M.S. is an eighty-five-year-old woman with extremely fragile, paper-thin skin. It was decided at an Injury Review meeting held on November 18, 2014, that a mechanical lift would be used to lift M.S. out of bed and a draw sheet would be used any time M.S. needed to be moved or repositioned while in bed. Padded bed rails were also used to protect M.S. from injury. M.S.'s client card was updated with the new information, and appellant received in-service instruction regarding the use of a mechanical lift and draw sheet. Staff members are expected to know and understand the information contained in a resident's client card, and, therefore, if they do not understand a service or the type of care described therein, they are instructed to ask their supervisor. Supervisors are present during every shift.

On November 28, 2014, appellant was assigned to care M.S. Appellant's shift began at 11:15 p.m. and she was given M.S.'s client card, which included the updated information regarding the use of a mechanical lift and a draw sheet. Appellant was familiar with M.S. and had cared for her on at least one other occasion after she received in-service instruction regarding the use of the draw sheet. Appellant changed M.S. with the help of another staff member during the night. They did not use a draw sheet despite having to "rotate" M.S. to change her. Appellant also repositioned M.S. twice during the night without help from another staff member and without using a draw sheet.

At approximately 6:25 a.m., appellant went into M.S.'s room to check on her and change her diaper. Without the help of a second staff member or the use of a draw sheet, appellant "rolled" and "turned" M.S. from side to side to undress her and change her diaper. M.S. hit her head on the metal bed rail that was against the wall. M.S. required five sutures to treat the five-inch laceration on her head.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

Appellant's rights and duties are governed by laws including the Civil Service Act and accompanying regulations. A civil service employee who commits a wrongful act related to his or her employment may be subject to discipline, and that discipline, depending upon the incident complained of, may include a suspension or removal. N.J.S.A. 11A:1-2, 11A:2-6, 11A:2-20; N.J.A.C. 4A2-2.

The Appointing Authority shoulders the burden of establishing the truth of the allegations by preponderance of the credible evidence. Atkinson v. Parsekian, 37 N.J. 143, 149 (1962). Evidence is said to preponderate "if it establishes the reasonable probability of the fact." Jaeger v. Elizabethtown Consol. Gas Co., 124 N.J.L. 420, 423 (Sup. Ct. 1940) (citation omitted). Stated differently, the evidence must "be such as to lead a reasonably cautious mind to a given conclusion." Bornstein v. Metro. Bottling Co., 26 N.J. 263, 275 (1958); see also Loew v. Union Beach, 56 N.J. Super. 93, 104 (App. Div. 1959).

Appellant was charged with "Conduct unbecoming a public employee," N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6). "Conduct unbecoming a public employee" is an elastic phrase that encompasses conduct that adversely affects the morale or efficiency of a governmental unit or that has a tendency to destroy public respect in the delivery of governmental services. Karins v. City of Atl. City, 152 N.J. 532, 554 (1998); see also In re Emmons, 63 N.J. Super. 136, 140 (App. Div. 1960). It is sufficient that the complained-of conduct and its attending circumstances "be such as to offend publicly accepted standards of decency." Karins, supra, 152 N.J. at 555 (quoting In re Zeber, 156 A.2d 821, 825 (1959)). Such misconduct need not necessarily "be predicated upon the violation of any particular rule or regulation, but may be based merely upon the violation of the implicit standard of good behavior which devolves upon one who stands in the public eye as an upholder of that which is morally and legally correct." Hartmann v. Police Dep't of Ridgewood, 258 N.J. Super. 32, 40 (App. Div. 1992) (quoting Asbury Park v. Dep't of Civil Serv., 17 N.J. 419, 429 (1955)).

The basis for the charge of conduct unbecoming was appellant's neglectful treatment of M.S. Though the term "neglect of duty" is not defined in the New Jersey Administrative Code, it has been interpreted to mean that an employee has neglected to perform and act as required by his or her job title or was negligent in its discharge. Avanti v. Dep't of Military & Veterans' Affairs, 97 N.J.A.R.2d 564; Ruggiero v. Jackson Twp. Dep't of L. & Pub. Safety, 92 N.J.A.R.2d 214. Neglect of duty can arise from omission to perform a required duty as well as from misconduct or misdoing. See generally State v. Dunphy, 19 N.J. 531, 534 (1955). "Carelessness" is similarly defined as "[t]he fact, condition, or instance of a person's either not having done what he or she ought to have done, or having done what he or she ought not to have done; heedless inattention." In re Leaks, CSV 03913-13, Initial Decision (Aug. 15, 2013), adopted (Sept. 18, 2013) (quoting Black's Law Dictionary (9th ed. 2009)).

Woodbine's policy governing the treatment of individuals served defines "neglect" as:

> The failure of a caregiver (person responsible for the individual's welfare) to provide the needed services and supports to ensure the health, safety, and welfare of the individual. These supports and services may or may not be defined in the individual's plan or otherwise required by law or regulation. This includes acts that are intentional, unintentional, or careless regardless of the incidence of harm. Examples include, but are not limited to, the failure to provide needed care such as shelter, food, clothing, supervision, personal hygiene, medical care, and protection from health and safety hazards. (R-16).

I CONCLUDE that appellant's behavior did rise to a level of conduct unbecoming a public employee. Appellant's conduct was neglectful, careless, and unbecoming of a public employee. Appellant received in-service instruction on the use of a draw sheet on November 19, 2014. She admitted that she received in-service instruction and signed the Event Registration Roster Form "because I read the in-service." Appellant also admitted that she was given, M.S.'s updated client card at the beginning of her shift. Appellant's conduct placed the patient at risk and was such that it could adversely affect the morale or efficiency of a governmental unit or destroy public respect in the delivery of governmental services.

Appellant has also been charged with violating N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12), "Other sufficient cause." Other sufficient cause is an offense for conduct that violates the implicit standard of good behavior that devolves upon one who stands in the public eye as an upholder of that which is morally and legally correct. Specifically, appellant has been charged with violating Woodbine policy B-2.1: neglect of duty, loafing, idleness, or willful failure to devote attention to tasks which could result in danger to persons or property, and B-7.2: serious mistake due to carelessness which would result in danger and/or injury to persons or property. Respondent asserts that as appellant violated both B-2.1 and B-7.2, she has also violated E-1.5: violation of a rule, regulation, policy, procedure, order or administrative decision. In re Fahnbulleh, CSV 6080-13, Initial Decision (Sept. 29, 2014), adopted, (Nov. 6, 2014). These violations likewise amount to a violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12), other sufficient cause. I CONCLUDE that the Appointing Authority has met its burden of proof that appellant committed an act in violation of B-2.1, B-7.2 and E-1.5.

PENALTY

In determining the appropriateness of a penalty, several factors must be considered, including the nature of the employee's offense, the concept of progressive discipline, and the employee's prior record. George v. N. Princeton Developmental Ctr., 96 N.J.A.R.2d (CSV) 463. "Although we recognize that a tribunal may not consider an employee's past record to prove a present charge, West New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500, 523 (1962), that past record may be considered when determining the appropriate penalty for the current offense." In re Phillips, 117 N.J. 567, 581 (1990). Ultimately, however, "it is the appraisal of the seriousness of the offense which lies at the heart of the matter." Bowden v. Bayside State Prison, 268 N.J. Super. 301, 305 (App. Div. 1993), certif. denied, 135 N.J. 469 (1994). The question to be resolved is whether the discipline imposed in this case is appropriate.

In re Carter, 191 N.J. 474, 484 (2007), citing Rawlings v. Police Dep't of Jersey City, 133 N.J. 182, 197-98 (1993) (upholding dismissal of police officer who refused drug screening as "fairly proportionate" to offense); see also, In re Herrmann, 192 N.J. 19, 33

(2007) (DYFS worker who waved a lit cigarette lighter in a five-year-old's face was terminated, despite lack of any prior discipline):

> . . . judicial decisions have recognized that progressive discipline is not a necessary consideration when reviewing an agency head's choice of penalty when the misconduct is severe, when it is unbecoming to the employee's position or renders the employee unsuitable for continuation in the position, or when application of the principle would be contrary to the public interest.
> Thus, progressive discipline has been bypassed when an employee engages in severe misconduct, especially when the employee's position involves public safety and the misconduct causes risk of harm to persons or property. See, e.g., Henry v. Rahway State Prison, 81 N.J. 571, 580 (1980).

The record reflects that appellant was suspended from duty without pay for six months from March 20, 2014, until September 20, 2014, following a separate incident where her alleged carelessness resulted in an injury to a patient. (R-19; R-20). Upon her return to duty on October 4, 2014, appellant was given several in-service instructions to educate her about the services and standard of care that the residents in the facility required. After having considered all of the proofs offered in this matter, and the impact upon the institution regarding the behavior by appellant herein and in light of the seriousness of the offense and her prior discipline carelessness which resulted in an injury to a patient, I CONCLUDE that the removal of the appellant is appropriate.

ORDER

Accordingly, I ORDER that the action of the Appointing Authority is AFFIRMED, as set forth above.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, DIVISION OF APPEALS AND REGULATORY AFFAIRS, UNIT H, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, 44 South Clinton Avenue, PO Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

BEFORE THOMAS R. BETANCOURT, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Appellant, Monday Ojemen, appeals a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action, dated October 12, 2016, providing for a penalty of removal.

The matter was referred to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) by the Civil Service Commission as a contested case where it was filed on December 27, 2016.

The matter was referred to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) by the Civil Service Commission as a contested case where it was filed on December 27, 2016.

Respondent filed a motion for summary decision with the OAL on April 5, 2017. Appellant filed his brief in opposition on May 11, 2017. The motion was denied by the Honorable Leland S. McGee by Order dated May 16, 2017.

A Consent Confidentiality and Protective Order was entered July 11, 2017.

A hearing was scheduled for November 2, 2017, whereupon the parties advised the undersigned that the matter was settled. A copy of the signed settlement agreement was submitted to the undersigned on September 20, 2017. On October 12, 2017 the undersigned was advised that the Settlement Agreement was provided with only electronic signatures, therefore an original signed Agreement was never sent. The record closed that day.

The parties have voluntarily agreed to resolve all disputed matters and have entered into a settlement as set forth in the attached settlement agreement.

I have reviewed the terms of the settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures and/or the signature of their respective representatives on the attached settlement agreement; and,
2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy between the parties.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that the parties comply with the terms of the settlement agreement; and

It is further ORDERED that Appellant's appeal is withdrawn with prejudice.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, DIVISION OF APPEALS AND REGULATORY AFFAIRS, UNIT H, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, 44 South Clinton Avenue, PO Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Other sufficient causes.

B. The parties have agreed to the following:

The Appellant, Monday Ojemen withdraws his appeal for a hearing and the Respondent Appointing Authority, Department of Human Services agrees that the following result will occur with regard to each charge:

The Final Notice of Disciplinary Action dated October 6, 2016

Charge	Disposition
1. Admin. Order 4:08 B-2	6 month suspension effective August 3, 2016.
2. Admin. Order 4:08 E-1	6 month suspension effective August 3, 2016.
3. Admin. Order 4:08 C-8	6 month suspension effective August 3, 2016.
4. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)6	6 month suspension effective August 3, 2016.
5. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)12	6 month suspension effective August 3, 2016.

C. The parties have agreed to the following:

The Appellant agrees to one 6 month suspension and shall not receive any back pay as a result of this agreement.

1. To date, appellant has served a total of 6 months without pay based upon the above charges.
2. The total number of days of backpay, if any, to be paid by the appointing authority to the Appellant is as follows: No back pay .
3. Any other days from the time of last suspension day until reinstatement shall be treated as follows: voluntary leave of absence without pay .
4. Appellant will return to the position of Human Services Technician.

The parties acknowledge that under N.J.A.C. 17:1-2.18(b), no pension or seniority time may be credited for periods for which the employee is not paid by the employer.

D. The Department of Human Services (Respondent) shall amend Appellant's personnel records to conform to the terms of the settlement. All internal records of the Department of Human Services will be kept intact. Nothing herein shall preclude the Department from releasing information on this matter to anyone who has a release executed by Appellant or as consistent with the law. Any information regarding the underlying charges will be provided to the Public Employees Retirement System pursuant to N.J.S.A. 43:1-3.3 as amended effective April 14, 2007.

E. Appellant waives all other claims against Respondent Appointing Authority with regard to this matter, including any award of back pay, counsel fees or other monetary relief, except as may otherwise be provided herein.

F. Except for the assessment of Appellant's disciplinary record in any subsequent personnel disciplinary hearing, nothing in this agreement shall be deemed to be an admission of liability on behalf of either party. This agreement shall not constitute a precedent in matters involving other employees.

G. Appellant waives all claims, suits or actions, whether known, unknown, vested or contingent, civil, criminal or administrative, in law or equity against the State of New Jersey, the New Jersey Department of Human Services, their employees, agents, or assigns, including but not limited to those which have been or could have been made or prosecuted on account of any conduct of any party occurring at any time with respect to the events, information or disputes giving rise to this action up to the date of this agreement, including, but not limited to, all claims under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Civil Rights Act of 1991, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Family Leave Act, the Family and Medical Leave Act, the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, the Equal Pay Act, the Conscientious Employee Protection Act, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, Title 11A - the Civil Service Act, the Older Workers Benefits Protection Act, the Occupational Safety and Health Act, the Public Employee Occupational Safety and Health Act, the New Jersey Smoking Act, New Jersey wages and hours law, public works statutes, unemployment compensation laws, disability benefits laws, the United States Constitution, the New Jersey Constitution, any workers compensation or common law claims and any contract express or implied. This waiver includes all claims involving any continuing effects of actions or practices which arose prior to the date of this Settlement Agreement and bars the use in any way of any past action or practice in any subsequent claims, except pending workers compensation claims.

H. The parties agree that if any portion of this Settlement Agreement is deemed unenforceable, the remainder of this Settlement Agreement shall be fully enforceable.

I. The parties waive the right to file exceptions and cross exceptions with regard to this matter.

J. This agreement will become effective only if approved by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION. Any disapproval by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION shall not interfere with the rights of either party to pursue the matter further.

OAL DKT. NO. CSV 03111-17

FINAL ADMINISTRATIVE ACTION OF THE CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

ISSUED: NOVEMBER 3, 2017 BW

The appeal of Marisha Penn, Human Services Specialist 4, Hudson County, Department of Family Services, 20 working day suspension, on charges, was heard by Administrative Law Judge Joann Lasala Candido, who rendered her initial decision on October 3, 2017. No exceptions were filed.

Having considered the record and the Administrative Law Judge's initial decision, and having made an independent evaluation of the record, the Civil Service Commission (Commission), at its meeting on November 1, 2017, accepted and adopted the Findings of Fact and Conclusion as contained in the attached Administrative Law Judge's initial decision to modify the 20 working day suspension to a 10 working day suspension.

Since the penalty has been modified, the appellant is entitled to 10 working days of back pay, benefits, and seniority, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.10. However, the appellant is not entitled to counsel fees. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.12(a), the award of counsel fees is appropriate only where an employee has prevailed on all or substantially all of the primary issues in an appeal of a major disciplinary action. The primary issue in any disciplinary appeal is the merits of the charges, not whether the penalty imposed was appropriate. See Johnny Walcott v. City of Plainfield, 282 N.J. Super. 121, 128 (App. Div. 1995); James L. Smith v. Department of Personnel, Docket No. A-1489-02T2 (App. Div. March 18, 2004); In the Matter of Robert Dean (MSB, decided January 12, 1993); In the Matter of Ralph Cozzino (MSB, decided September 21, 1989). In the case at hand, although the penalty was modified by the Commission, charges were sustained and major discipline was imposed. Thus, the appellant has not prevailed on all or substantially all of the primary issues of the appeal. Consequently, as the appellant has failed to meet the standard set forth at N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.12(a), counsel fees must be denied.

ORDER

The Civil Service Commission finds that the action of the appointing authority in disciplining the appellant was justified. The Commission therefore modifies the 20 working day suspension to a 10 working day suspension. The Commission further orders that appellant be granted 10 days of back pay, benefits, and seniority. The amount of back pay awarded is to be reduced and mitigated as provided for in N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.10. Proof of income earned shall be submitted by or on behalf of the appellant to the appointing authority within 30 days of issuance of this decision.

Counsel fees are denied pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.12.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY

In the Matter of Daryl Lindsey
Newark Police Department

DECISION OF THE
CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

CSC DKT. NO. 2013-96
OAL DKT. NO. CSV 10680-12

ISSUED: NOVEMBER 3, 2017 BW

The appeal of Daryl Lindsey, Police Officer, Newark Police Department, 45 working day suspension, on charges, was heard by Administrative Law Judge Leslie Z. Celentano, who rendered her initial decision on October 16, 2017, granting the appeal for the appointing authority's failure to prosecute and reversing the 45 working day suspension.

Having considered the record and the Administrative Law Judge's initial decision, and having made an independent evaluation of the record, the Civil Service Commission (Commission), at its meeting on November 1, 2017, accepted and adopted the Findings of Fact and Conclusion as contained in the attached Administrative Law Judge's initial decision.

Since the penalty has been reversed, the appellant is entitled to 45 days of back pay, benefits, and seniority, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.10. Further, since the appellant has prevailed, he is entitled to counsel fees pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.12.

This decision resolves the merits of the dispute between the parties concerning the disciplinary charges and the penalty imposed by the appointing authority. However, in light of the Appellate Division's decision, Dolores Phillips v. Department of Corrections, Docket No. A-5581-01T2F (App. Div. Feb. 26, 2003), the Commission's decision will not become final until any outstanding issues concerning back pay and counsel fees are finally resolved.

ORDER

The Civil Service Commission finds that the action of the appointing authority in suspending the appellant was not justified. The Commission therefore reverses that action and grants the appeal of Daryl Lindsey. The Commission further orders that appellant be granted 45 days back pay, benefits, and seniority. The amount of back pay awarded is to be reduced and mitigated as provided for in N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.10. Proof of income earned and an affidavit of mitigation shall be submitted by or on behalf of the appellant to the appointing authority within 30 days of issuance of this decision.

The Commission further orders that counsel fees be awarded to the attorney for appellant pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.12. An affidavit of services in support of reasonable counsel fees shall be submitted by or on behalf of the appellant to the appointing authority within 30 days of issuance of this decision. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.10 and N.J.A.C. 4A:2.12, the parties shall make a good faith effort to resolve any dispute as to the amount of back pay or counsel fees.

The parties must inform the Commission, in writing, if there is any dispute as to back pay or counsel fees within 60 days of issuance of this decision. In the absence of such notice, the Commission will assume that all outstanding issues have been amicably resolved by the parties and this decision shall become a final administrative determination pursuant to R. 2:2-3(a)(2). After such time, any further review of this matter shall be pursued in the Superior Court of New Jersey, Appellate Division.

INITIAL DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. CSV 03111-17
AGENCY DKT. NO. 2017 2632

IN THE MATTER OF MARISHA PENN, HUDSON COUNTY DEPARTMENT OF FAMILY SERVICES,

---

Merick Limsky, Esq., for appellant (Limsky Mitolo, attorneys)

John A. Smith, Esq., for respondent (Office of the County Counsel, Donato J. Battista, County Counsel), for respondent

Record Closed: September 6, 2017 Decided: October 3, 2017

BEFORE JOANN LASALA CANDIDO, ALAJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Appellant, Marisha Penn, a Human Service Specialist IV Supervisor, appeals a twenty-day suspension issued by respondent, Hudson County Department of Family Services (Respondent or County), effective February 14, 2017. Respondent alleges that appellant's conduct was unbecoming a public employee on December 13, 2016, when she raised her voice at her employee Marc Percella, resulting in a loud altercation. This conduct unbecoming interfered with the order and effective direction of public service thus constituting insubordination and a neglect of her duty to the respondent.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On January 10, 2017, respondent issued a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action against appellant and an administrative hearing was held on January 27, 2017. A Final Notice of Disciplinary Action issued on February 7, 2017 sustaining the charges of insubordination, conduct unbecoming a public employee and neglect of duty.

On March 6, 2017, the Civil Service Commission transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), for a hearing as a contested matter pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. The hearing scheduled for June 13, 2017 was adjourned at the request of the County. The hearing was then held on September 6, 2017, on which date the record closed.

ISSUE

Did the respondent carry its burden of proving the charges referenced above by a preponderance of the credible evidence? If so, what disciplinary action, if any, is appropriate?

TESTIMONY

The testimony of the witnesses presented is not intended to be a verbatim report. Rather, it is intended to summarize the testimony and evidence found by the undersigned to be relevant to the issues presented.

Roger Quintana

Roger Quintana, personnel officer with the Hudson County Department of Family Services, testified on behalf of respondent. He stated the policy for supervisors directs them not criticize employees in front of their peers or clients, but rather wait until the worker's interview. R-2 In the alternative, speak in a calm but firm manner and direct the employee to the office in as low as possible tone of voice. Quintana testified that appellant did not get along with a social worker, Marc Percella, and directed both employees to cease and desist any further contact with each other.

Regarding the verbal altercation between appellant and Percella on December 13, 2016, Quintana testified that he can only make a recommendation for a penalty. A hearing officer determines the discipline imposed. Appellant has not had any prior disciplines in her position as supervisor, but had received a written warning on February 9, 2010, while a social worker HSSI for insubordination, prior to her promotion. The substance of that prior charge was that appellant and two other employees did not leave an area when directed to do so. Appellant entered into a settlement agreement with Hudson County in September 2012 for a second charge accepting a reduction of a ten-day suspension to seven days for exhibiting a public disturbance when appellant slammed her hand on the reception desk and yelled at the security guard.

Debra Picariello

Debra Picariello, assistant administrator and appellant's supervisor, testified on behalf of respondent with regard to the incident on December 13, 2016. Picariello testified that she and appellant went into the office of assistant administrator Janet Wraga to discuss Percella being in appellant's office. The office door to Wraga's office was ajar when Percella entered and at which time he started yelling at appellant, calling her a baby. Percella and appellant left the office, yelling at each other. Percella exited first and appellant followed him. He yelled at her and she yelled back. There were workers and clients present.

Picariello testified that there are employment memoranda, which discuss the appropriate conduct of both employees and supervisors. She stated that this incident should never have escalated, and that appellant as a supervisor, should never have yelled back. She further stated that appellant and Percella always seemed to have an issue with each other.

Janet Wraga

Janet Wraga, assistant administrator with respondent, testified on behalf of respondent regarding the December 13, 2016 incident. She stated that appellant first went to Picariello's office to complain that Percella had entered her office. Both appellant and Picariello then went to Wraga's office to discuss Percella. Percella followed appellant into the office after which a loud argument ensued between appellant and Percella outside her office. Wraga stated that appellant could have handled the matter differently, despite Percella's conduct, which she felt was also inappropriate.

Jason Collazo

Jason Collazo, a Human Service Specialist I with the Hudson County Department of Family Services, testified on behalf of respondent. He stated that on December 13, 2016, he heard appellant and Percella yelling at each other from a distance. He noticed that appellant was following Percella, who was shouting at appellant that she should grow up and stop acting like a baby.

Marisha Penn

Appellant testified on her own behalf. She has been an employee of Hudson County for fourteen years and is currently a Human Service Specialist 4 Supervisor. Appellant stated that sometime in May 2015 an issue arose with Percella when he did not comply with her directive to handle many clients from her unit due which was understaffed. After that incident, both parties disliked each other to the point where a directive was put in place that each was not to have any contact with the other. At or about the same time, Percella's direct supervisor was placed in Penn's office to share space. Appellant advised the supervisor that she and Percella were not to have contact with each other and it was agreed that Percella would not come into the office unless his supervisor was present.

On December 13, 2016, when appellant was alone, Percella entered her office to drop off paperwork for his supervisor. Appellant immediately left the office and went to Picariello's office. Picariello and appellant then went to Wraga's office. Percella also entered Wraga's office and began yelling at appellant, calling her names. They both exited the office and appellant yelled at him to stay out of her office. There were clients and co-workers in the area. Appellant had, on several occasions, complained to her supervisors that Percella needed to stop coming into her office while she was alone or, in the alternative, to move his supervisor's basket or his supervisor elsewhere. Appellant has a written warning and a seven-day suspension, neither of which occurred while she was a supervisor.

I FIND the testimony offered by all witnesses to be consistent straightforward and uncontroverted.

FACTS:

Based on the evidence presented at the hearing and the testimony of all witnesses and appellant which testimony is essentially undisputed, I make the following findings of relevant fact in this matter:

1. Appellant is employed by respondent as a Human Services Specialist IV supervisor.
2. Appellant's supervisor had issued a cease and desist order of contact between appellant and social worker Percella since an argument ensued between them in 2015.
3. On December 13, 2016, Percella entered appellant's office while she was alone, in violation of the terms of the cease and desist order.

4. As a result, appellant and Percella became involved in a loud altercation with each other.
5. Appellant, a supervisor, inappropriately raised her voice with this employee in front of co-workers and clients, rather than attempting to quietly resolve their dispute.
6. Appellant was given a twenty-day suspension for her inappropriate conduct, effective February 14, 2017.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

An appointing authority may discipline an employee on various grounds, including insubordination, conduct unbecoming a public employee and other sufficient cause. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a). Such action is subject to review by the Merit System Board, which after a de novo hearing makes an independent determination as to both guilt and the "propriety of the penalty imposed below." W. New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500, 519 (1962). In an administrative proceeding concerning a major disciplinary action, the appointing authority must prove its case by a "fair preponderance of the believable evidence." N.J.A.C. 4A:2-1.4(a); Polk, supra, 90 N.J. at 560; Atkinson, supra, 37 N.J. at 149.

In the present matter, appellant was charged with insubordination and conduct unbecoming a public employee, violating Civil Service Rule N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6) for raising her voice at an employee in front of co-workers and clients in violation of respondent's policy and procedure, which reads in part:

> "Do not criticize any employee, especially subordinates, in front of their peers or clients. If possible wait until after the workers interview if not then instruct the worker in a non-judgmental tone of voice to report to you at the conclusion of the interview calmly explain your concerns/observations to the employee and ask for an explanation." R-3

I FIND that appellant failed to follow this procedure when she raised her voice at an employee in front of clients and employees, rather than take him aside and speak to him calmly.

"Unbecoming conduct" is broadly defined as any conduct that adversely affects the morale or efficiency of the governmental unit or that has a tendency to destroy public respect and confidence in the delivery of governmental services. In re Emmons, 63 N.J. Super. 136, 140 (App. Div. 1960). Conduct unbecoming need not be predicated on violations of the employer's rules or policies, but may be based merely upon the violation of the implicit standard of good behavior which devolves upon one who stands in the public eye as an upholder of that which is morally and legally correct. Karins v. City of Atlantic City, 152 N.J. 555 (1998). Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that appellant's inappropriate loud tone of voice and her following a worker into a common office with her voice raised, deviated from the "standard of good behavior" expected of every public employee.

Insubordination is defined as intentional disobedience or refusal to accept a reasonable order, assaulting or resisting authority; and disrespect or use of insulting or abusive language. Black's Law Dictionary 870 (9th ed. 2009) defines insubordination as a "willful disregard of an employer's instructions" or an "act of disobedience to proper authority." Id. at 802. Webster's II New College Dictionary (1995) defines insubordination as "not submissive to authority: disobedient." Such dictionary definitions have been utilized by courts to define the term where it is not specifically defined. Similarly, case law generally interprets the term to mean the refusal to obey an order of a supervisor. See e.g. Belleville v. Coppla, 187 N.J. Super. 147 (App. Div. 1982); Millan v. Morris View, 177 N.J. Super. 620 (App. Div. 1981); Rivell v. Civil Service Comm'n, 115 N.J. Super. 64 (App. Div. 1971), certif. denied, 59 N.J. 269 (1971). According to Webster's II New College Dictionary (1995) "insubordination" refers to acts of non-compliance and non-cooperation, as well as affirmative acts of disobedience. Stanziale v. County of Monmouth Bd. of Health and Merit Sys. Bd., 350 N.J. Super. 414 (App. Div. 2002), certif. denied, 174 N.J. 361 (2002).

Based upon the FACTS provided, the record does not show that appellant was willfully disobedient to a supervisor, and as such, I CONCLUDE that respondent has not demonstrated by a preponderance of the legally competent and credible evidence that appellant committed acts of insubordination.

Lastly, appellant was also charged with neglect of duty, violating N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(7). Neglect of duty can arise from an omission to perform a duty or failure to perform or discharge a duty and includes official misconduct or misdoing, as well as negligence. Steinel v. City of Jersey City, Initial decision, 7 N.J.A.R. 91, 95 (March 21, 1983), modified on other grounds, Civ. Serv. Comm'n, 7 N.J.A.R. 100 (May 12, 1983), modified on other grounds, 193 N.J. Super. 629 (App. Div. 1984), aff'd, 99 N.J. 1 (1985). Generally, the term neglect connotes a deviation from normal standards of conduct. In re Suspension or Revoc. of the License of Kerlin,151 N.J. Super. 179, 186 (App. Div. 1977).

I CONCLUDE that respondent has not met its burden of proving, by a preponderance of the competent and credible evidence, that appellant failed to perform her job duties. The only evidence and testimony in the record dealt with an altercation that occurred on December 13, 2016 and nothing else.

PENALTY

Factors determining the degree of discipline to be imposed include the employee's prior disciplinary record and the gravity of the misconduct in the instant case, as well as the concept of progressive discipline. W. New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500, 522-524 (1962). The New Jersey Supreme Court has recognized that the principle of progressive or incremental discipline is not a "fixed and immutable rule" that must be applied in every disciplinary setting. In re Herrmann, 192 N.J. 19, 33 (2007); In re Carter, 191 N.J. 474, 484 (2007). Rather, "some disciplinary infractions are so serious that removal is appropriate notwithstanding a largely unblemished prior record." Carter, supra, 191 N.J. at 484. Progressive discipline is not a necessary consideration "when the misconduct is severe, when it is unbecoming to the employee's position or renders the employee unsuitable for continuation in the position, or when application of the principle would be contrary to the public interest." Herrmann, supra, 192 N.J. at 33.

Under the facts presented, a suspension is appropriate. While appellant did have a prior discipline, it was not in her position as a supervisor. In light of appellant's inappropriate conduct and behavior as a supervisor when she followed an employee, raising her voice at him in front of employees and clients, a ten-day suspension is appropriate, and I so CONCLUDE.

ORDER

Based upon the above, I ORDER that appellant be suspended without pay for a period of ten days.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, DIVISION OF APPEALS AND REGULATORY AFFAIRS, UNIT H, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, 44 South Clinton Avenue, PO Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

2. The total number of days of back pay, if any, to be paid by the appointing authority to the Appellant is as follows: _____.

3. Any other days from the time of last suspension day until return to work shall be treated as follows: _____.

For Removals, Complete the Following

1. To date, appellant has served a total of without pay since 5/17/2017 days without pay based upon the above charges.

2. The total number of days of back pay, if any, to be paid by the appointing authority to the Appellant is as follows: NONE.

3. Any other days from the time of last suspension day until reinstatement shall be treated as follows: LEAVE WITHOUT PAY.

4. (Strike if not applicable) The appellant agrees to a _____resignation in good standing

_____ general resignation

which shall be effective _____[date]. Any days from the effective date of removal to the effective date of resignation shall be treated as follows:

The parties acknowledge that under N.J.A.C. 17:1-2.18, no pension or seniority time may be credited for periods for which the employee is not paid by the employer.

D. Department of Health (Respondent) shall amend Appellant's personnel records to conform to the terms of the settlement. All internal records of the Department of Health will be kept intact. Nothing herein shall preclude the Department from releasing information on this matter to anyone who has a release executed by appellant or as consistent with the law. Any information regarding the underlying charges will be provided to the Public Employees Retirement System pursuant to N.J.S.A. 43:1-3.3 as amended effective April 14, 2007.

E. Appellant waives all other claims against Respondent Department with regard to this matter, including any award of back pay, counsel fees or other monetary relief, except as may otherwise be provided herein.

F. Except for the assessment of Ericson Rivera 's disciplinary record in any subsequent personnel disciplinary hearing, nothing in this agreement shall be deemed to be an admission of liability on behalf of either party. This agreement shall not constitute a precedent in matters involving other employees.

G. Appellant waives all claims, suits or actions, whether known, unknown, vested or contingent, civil, criminal or administrative, in law or equity against the State of New Jersey, the New Jersey Department of Health, their employees, agents, or assigns, including but not limited to those which have been or could have been made or prosecuted on account of any conduct of any party occurring at any time with respect to the events, information or disputes giving rise to this action up to the date of this agreement, including, but not limited to, all claims under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Civil Rights Act of 1991, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Family Leave Act, the Family and Medical Leave Act, the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, the Equal Pay Act, the Conscientious Employee Protection Act, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, Title 11A - the Civil Service Act, the Older Workers Benefits Protection Act, the Occupational Safety and Health Act, the Public Employee

Occupational Safety and Health Act, the New Jersey Smoking Act, New Jersey wages and hours law, public works statutes, unemployment compensation laws, disability benefits laws, the United States Constitution, the New Jersey Constitution, any workers compensation or common law claims and any contract express or implied. This waiver includes all claims involving any continuing effects of actions or practices which arose prior to the date of this Settlement Agreement and bars the use in any way of any past action or practice in any subsequent claims, except pending workers' compensation claims.

H. The parties agree that if any portion of this Settlement Agreement is deemed unenforceable, the remainder of this Settlement Agreement shall be fully enforceable.

I. APPELLANT SHALL ADHERE TO TANCMA'S CELL PHONE USAGE POLICY. ANCMA SHALL PROVIDE A COPY OF THE POLICY UPON HIS RETURN.

J. APPELLANT UNDERSTANDS THAT ANY FURTHER INCIDENT OF NEGLECT WILL BE CAUSE FOR HIS REMOVAL AND IMMEDIATE SUSPENSION.

INITIAL DECISION

SETTLEMENT

OAL DKT. NO. CSV 12935-17

AGENCY DKT. NO. 2018-489

IN THE MATTER OF ERICSON RIVERA,
DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES,
ANCORA PSYCHIATRIC HOSPITAL.

Robert C. Little, AFSCME New Jersey, for appellant pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-5.4(a)(6)

Anita Pinkas, Director of Employee Relations, for respondent pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-5.4(a)(2)

Record Closed: October 17, 2017 Decided: October 18, 2017

BEFORE LISA JAMES-BEAVERS, ALJ:

This matter concerns the appeal of Ericson Rivera from the action of the respondent/ appointing authority. Upon receipt of the appellant's hearing request, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for determination as a contested case on September 5, 2017, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

As a result of a settlement conference, the parties agreed to a settlement of all issues in dispute and have prepared a settlement agreement, which is attached and fully incorporated herein.

I have reviewed the record and terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures on the settlement agreement.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy.

I CONCLUDE that this matter is no longer a contested case before the Office of Administrative Law. It is ORDERED that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Record Closed: October 3, 2017 Decided: October 6, 2017

BEFORE JEFFREY A. GERSON, ALJ:

On August 5, 2016, this matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for hearing as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F1 to -13. A hearing was scheduled for September 22, 2017, but was adjourned because the parties agreed to settle the matter. A Settlement Agreement and General Release indicating the terms of settlement was signed by parties and forwarded to the undersigned on October 3, 2017. A copy of the Settlement Agreement and General Release is attached hereto and made a part hereof.

I have reviewed the record and terms of the settlement and FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by the signatures of the parties or their representatives.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with law.

I CONCLUDE that the agreement meets the safeguard requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and, accordingly, I approve the settlement and ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be CONCLUDED.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Merit System Board does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

RECEIVED
CITY OF NEWARK, N.J.

This Settlement Agreement and General Release ("Agreement") is made and entered into by Newark Police Officer Angel Romero ("Romero" or "Appellant"), Newark Fraternal Order of Police, Lodge 12 ("Union") and the City of Newark ("City "or "Respondent") (collectively referred to hereinafter as the "Parties"). The Parties herein have voluntarily agreed to resolve all disputed matters arising from the disciplinary action taken against Romero by the City. This Agreement is made and entered into by the Parties in full settlement of Romero's appeal regarding the above matter.

On June 6, 2016, the Newark Department of Public Safety, Police Division ("Department of Public Safety") brought departmental disciplinary charges against Romero in the form of a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action ("PNDA") stemming from his actions on June 17, 2015 to June 25, 2015 making eighteen (18) cell phone communications with a person wanted in a shooting. Romero pled not guilty, waiving his opportunity for a Hearing before the Trial Board. On July 12, 2016, Final Notice of Disciplinary Action and Specifications (hereinafter referred to as "FNDA") were issued with the following charges: Disobedience of Orders, in violation of Newark Police Department Rules and Regulations Chapter 18:14; Management of Confidential Informants, in violation of Newark Police Department Rules and Regulations Chapters 97-6, specifically section VI, subsection G. A copy of the July 12, 2016 FNDA is attached herein as Exhibit A. Based on these charges, the Department of Public Safety suspended Romero for ninety (90) days beginning August 1, 2016 to December 2, 2016 pursuant N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.4 (e).

After further negotiations, the Parties have agreed to resolve this matter as follows:

1. The charges listed in the FNDA are merged into one charge, Responsibility for One's Own Actions, Newark Police Department Rules and Regulations Chapter 7, specifically section 7:2.
2. Romero's suspension is reduced from ninety (90) to fifteen (15) days. The City will amend his FNDA to reflect a fifteen (15) day suspension.
3. The City will pay Romero seventy-five (75), days back pay and make the appropriate adjustments to his pension and seniority.
4. Romero waives any and all right or claim which he has or may have to a hearing on the merits of the disciplinary action taken under this Agreement and/ or to challenge the suspension penalty imposed as a result of same, including, but not limited to, any right to a departmental hearing concerning the charges in the FNDA.
5. Romero and the Union each agree not to appeal the terms and conditions of this Agreement to any agency or court, including, but not limited to the New Jersey Civil Service Commission and/or to any other New Jersey State Court or agency and/or to any United States Court or agency.
6. Romero and the Union each further agree that there is no consideration due, his counsel and/or Union, including, but not limited to, any claim for additional back pay and/or counsel fees, arising from his employment and/or the execution of this Agreement, except as otherwise provided herein.
7. Except for the assessment of Romero's disciplinary record in any subsequent personnel disciplinary hearing, nothing in this Agreement shall be deemed to be an admission of liability on behalf of either Party.
8. Romero and the Union acknowledge that this Agreement precludes them from bringing any type of legal or contractual action in any forum including, but not limited to, filing a Complaint in New Jersey Superior Court or the United States Federal Court, filing any type of complaint with the City, Essex County, the State of New Jersey or the United States of America, and filing a grievance and/or requesting arbitration, that is in any manner grounded, based upon, or related to the FNDA.

9. Romero is bound by this Agreement. Anyone who succeeds to Romero's rights and responsibilities, such as heirs or the executor of his estate, shall also be bound.
10. This Agreement shall not constitute a precedent or practice in any matter involving the City or other City employees or the Union.
11. Romero and the Union each agree that this Agreement shall not be offered, used or considered as evidence in any proceeding of any type against or involving the City, except to the extent necessary to enforce the terms of this Agreement, or as required by law.
12. This Agreement contains the sole and entire agreement between Romero, the Union and the City, and fully supersedes any and all prior agreements and understandings pertaining to the subject matter hereof. Romero specifically represents and acknowledges that in executing this Agreement, he has not relied upon any representations, with regard to the subject matter in this Agreement, which are not set forth herein. No other promises or agreements shall be binding unless in writing, signed by all the Parties, and expressly stated to be a modification of the Agreement.
13. Romero agrees and acknowledges that he has been fully and fairly represented by his Union and counsel in this matter, and he is satisfied with that representation and with the terms and conditions of this Agreement.
14. Romero agrees and acknowledges that he has had a full opportunity to review this Agreement with his counsel and/or union representative and he enters into this Agreement knowingly and voluntarily.
15. The Parties agree that if any portion of this Agreement is deemed unenforceable, the remainder of the Settlement Agreement shall be fully enforceable.
16. This Agreement will become effective only if approved by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION. Any disapproval by the Civil Service Commission shall not interfere with the rights of either Party to pursue the matter further.
17. By signing this Settlement Agreement, Romero states that:

a) He has read it;

b) He understands it and knows that he is giving up important rights, and any and all other federal and state employment causes of any kind, including, but not limited to The New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, The New Jersey Equal Pay Law, Title VII of the

Civil Rights Act of 1967, as amended, The Conscientious Employee Protection Act, The Americans With Disabilities Act of 1990, the Fair Labor Standards Act, and any other constitutional, statutory or common law suit, attorney's fees and costs of this proceeding, and any public policy of the United States, the State of New Jersey, or other State;

c) He agrees with everything in it;

d) His representative negotiated this Agreement with his knowledge and consent;

e) He has been advised to consult with his attorney prior to executing this Agreement, and has in fact done so;

f) He has been given at least twenty-one (21) days within which to review and consider this Agreement, although he may choose to sign it sooner, and thereafter, has seven (7) days to revoke that signature;

g) He understands that for a period of seven (7) days following the execution of this Agreement, he may revoke this Agreement; the Agreement shall not become effective or enforceable until the revocation period has expired; and

h) He has signed this Settlement Agreement knowingly and voluntarily.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Parties have caused this Settlement Agreement to be executed.

Record Closed: September 29, 2017 Decided: October 2, 2017

BEFORE DEAN J. BUONO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on February 24, 2016, for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

The parties filed a fully executed Consent Order in this matter. The Order is attached and fully incorporated herein. (J-1).

FINDINGS OF FACT

I have reviewed the terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures to J-1.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

This matter arising from the investigation, determination, and discipline of T.M. for violation of the State Policy Prohibiting Discrimination in the Workplace, and this matter having been the subject of proceedings in the Superior Court of New Jersey, Appellate Division, Docket No. A-4628-11T1, on appeal from disciplinary action by the Department of Education upheld in part by the Civil Service Commission, and the Appellate Court, on May 28, 2013, having reversed the subject discipline and without retaining jurisdiction having remanded the matter for further proceedings in accordance with the Court's opinion, the Court also impounding the record on appeal, and on February 24, 2016, the Civil Service Commission having sent the matter for hearing before the Office of Administrative Law, a hearing date having then been scheduled, and the parties now wishing to resolve the matter amicably by terminating the proceedings and clearing the employment record of T.M., and the parties having agreed to the terms of settlement set forth below, and same being acceptable, it is

On this _____ day of _____, 2017,

ORDERED, upon the agreement of the parties, as follows:

1. All discipline of T.M. relating to events on November 15, 2010, as set forth in the letter to T.M. dated February 4, 2011 by Acting Commissioner Christopher D. Cerf (hereafter referred to collectively as "Discipline") is hereby rescinded.

2. The Department of Education shall ensure that T.M.'s employment record does not reflect the rescinded determination that T.M. violated the State Policy Prohibiting Discrimination in the Workplace or contain any reference to the investigation and determination thereof.

3. The Department of Education shall ensure that T.M.'s personnel file does not contain any documents relating to the investigation, determination, and the rescinded Discipline described in paragraph 1.

4. The Department will keep confidential any files of the Department of Education's Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action Officer relating to the investigation, determination, and the rescinded Discipline described in paragraph 1. The confidential EEO/AA file will be amended to include a copy of this agreement reflecting the rescission of the disciplinary action.

5. T.M. shall take such course in work place policies as the Department may determine.

6. This settlement is entered without admission of wrongdoing by either party

7. The settlement of this matter shall not constitute precedent in other pending or\ future litigation or controversy and nothing in this agreement shall constitute or be given precedential effect.

8. The parties agree that the consent order fully resolves all issues between them arising from the investigation, determination, and the rescinded discipline referenced in paragraph 1.

9. The parties acknowledge that this Consent Order is subject to approval by the Civil Service Commission.

Hon. Dean J. Buono, Judge

Luis Velez, Appellant,	:	STATE OF NEW JERSEY OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATIVE LAW
v.	:	OAL DOCKET NO.: CSV 07147-2015 N
CITY OF NEWARK, Respondent.	:	SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE

This Settlement Agreement and General Release ("Agreement") is made and entered into by Newark Police Officer Luis Velez ("Velez" or "Appellant"), the Newark Fraternal Order of Police ("FOP" or "Union") and the City of Newark ("City" or "Respondent") (collectively referred to hereinafter as the "Parties"). This agreement is made and entered into by the Parties in full settlement of Velez's appeal regarding the above matter.

The Department of Public Safety, Police Division brought disciplinary charges against Velez on February 11, 2015 by way of Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action ("PNDA"). The Final Notice of Disciplinary Action and Specifications dated April 21, 2015 (hereafter "FNDA"), contained the following charges: Conduct in Public and Private, Conduct Unbecoming a Public Employee and Neglect of Duty, in violation of Newark Police Department Rules and Regulations Chapters 3:1.1 and 18:6, as well as New Jersey Civil Service Rules N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a) 6 and 4A:2-2.3(a) 7; for which Velez was suspended fifteen (15) days beginning May 11, 2015 and ending May 29, 2015.

The parties have agreed to resolve this matter as follows:

1. The charges listed in the FNDA are upheld.
2. Velez's suspension is reduced from fifteen (15) days to seven (7) days. The City will amend his disciplinary record to reflect the 7-days suspension.

3. The City agrees to pay Velez eight (8) days back pay. Velez will receive the 8-days adjustment to his pension and seniority.

4. Velez waives any and all right or claim which he has or may have to a hearing on the merits of the disciplinary action taken under this Agreement and/or to challenge the suspension penalty imposed as a result of same, including, but not limited to, any right to a departmental hearing concerning the charges in the FNDA.

5. Velez and the Union each agree not to appeal the terms and conditions of this Agreement to any agency or court, including, but not limited to the New Jersey Civil Service Commission and/or to any other New Jersey State Court or agency and/or to any United States Court or agency.

6. Velez and the Union each further agree that there is no consideration due Velez, his counsel and/or Union, including, but not limited to, any claim for back pay and/or counsel fees, arising from his employment and/or the execution of this Agreement, except as otherwise provided herein.

7. Except for the assessment of Velez's disciplinary record in any subsequent personnel disciplinary hearing, nothing in this Agreement shall be deemed to be an admission of liability on behalf of either party.

8. Velez and the Union further acknowledge that this Agreement precludes either of them from bringing any type of legal or contractual action in any forum including, but not limited to, filing a Complaint in New Jersey Superior Court or United States Federal Court, filing any type of complaint with the City, Essex County, the State of New Jersey or the United States of America, and filing a grievance and/or requesting arbitration, that is in any manner grounded, based upon, or related to the FNDA.

9. Velez is bound by this Agreement. Anyone who succeeds to Velez's rights and responsibilities, such as heirs or the executor of his estate, shall also be bound.

10. This Agreement shall not constitute a precedent or practice in any matter involving the City, other City employees or the Union.

11. Velez and the Union each agree this Agreement shall not be offered, used or considered as evidence in any proceeding of any type against or involving the City, except to the extent necessary to enforce the terms of this Agreement, or as required by law.

12. This Agreement contains the sole and entire agreement between Velez, the Union and the City, and fully supersedes any and all prior agreements and understandings pertaining to the subject matter hereof. Velez specifically represents and acknowledges in executing this Agreement he has not relied upon any representation or statement by the City, or City's counsel or representatives, with regard to the subject matter of this Agreement, which is not set forth herein. No other promises or agreements shall be binding unless in writing, signed by all the Parties, and expressly stated to be a modification of the Agreement.

13. Velez agrees and acknowledges that he has been fully and fairly represented by his Union and counsel in this matter, and he is satisfied with that representation and with the terms and conditions of this Agreement.

14. Velez agrees and acknowledges that he has had a full opportunity to review this Agreement with his counsel and/or union representative and he enters into same knowingly and voluntarily.

15. The parties agree that if any portion of this Agreement is deemed unenforceable, the remainder of the Settlement Agreement shall be fully enforceable.

16. This agreement will become effective only if approved by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION. Any disapproval by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION shall not interfere with the rights of either party to pursue the matter further.

17. By signing this Settlement Agreement, Velez states that:

a) He has read it;

b) He understands it and knows that he is giving up important rights, and any and all other federal and state employment related causes of any kind, including, but not limited to The New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, The New Jersey Equal Pay Law, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, The Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967, as amended, The Conscientious Employee Protection Act, The Americans With Disabilities Act of 1990, the Fair Labor Standards Act, and any other constitutional, statutory or common law suit, attorney's fees and costs of this proceeding, and any public policy of the United States, the State of New Jersey, or any other State;

c) He agrees with everything in it;

d) His representative negotiated this Agreement with his knowledge and consent;

e) He has been advised to consult with his attorney prior to executing this Agreement, and has in fact done so;

f) He has been given at least 21 days within which to review and consider this Agreement, although he may choose to sign it sooner, and thereafter, has seven (7) days to revoke that signature;

g) He understands that for a period of 7 days following the execution of this Agreement he may revoke this Agreement and the Agreement shall not become effective or enforceable until the revocation period has expired; and

h) He has signed this Settlement Agreement knowingly and voluntarily.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Parties have caused this Settlement Agreement to be executed.

Re: Frank James v. Essex County (CSC Docket No. 2016-3573 and OAL Docket No. CSV 5746-16) - SETTLEMENT

Dear Mr. Palma and Ms. Gaccione:

The appeal of Frank James, a County Correction Officer Police Officer with Essex County, Department of Public Safety and Corrections, of his removal effective March 10, 2016, was before Administrative Law Judge Richard McGill (ALJ), who returned the matter to the Civil Service Commission (Commission) on November 13, 2017 indicating that the parties had reached a settlement.

The time frame for the Commission to make its final decision was to initially expire on December 30, 2017. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. Prior to that date, the Commission secured a 45-day extension of time to render its final decision no later than February 13, 2018. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. While this matter is now ready for presentation to the Commission, there is currently not a quorum of members available to vote. Based on this information, the parties were asked, as required, to consent to a second extension. However, the appointing authority did not provide consent. Under these circumstances, the ALJ's recommended decision will be deemed adopted, effective February 14, 2018, as the final decision in this matter per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c).

Sincerely,

Nicholas F. Angiulo

Record Closed: October 12, 2017 Decided: November 13, 2017

BEFORE RICHARD McGILL, ALJ:

Frank James appeals from a removal on charges from the position of Corrections Officer with the Essex County Department of Public Safety and Corrections. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on April 13, 2016, for determination as a contested case.

Prior to the hearing, the parties agreed to an amicable resolution of the matter and submitted a written Stipulation of Settlement and Last Chance Agreement. Having reviewed the record and the settlement terms, I FIND as follows:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or the signatures of their representatives.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. Accordingly, it is ORDERED that the parties comply with the terms of the settlement, and it is FURTHER ORDERED that proceedings in this matter be concluded.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

OAL DKT. NO.: CSV 05746-2016

STIPULATION OF SETTLEMENT AND LAST CHANCE AGREMEENT

It is hereby stipulated and agreed to by and between, the County of Essex (the "County") and Frank James, Jr. (the "Employee") (collectively the "Parties"), that the above-captioned matter be and same is hereby settled upon the following terms and conditions:

1. Employee hereby acknowledges being charged as specified in the Final Notice of Disciplinary Action dated March 11, 2016, which was duly served upon employee in accordance with the Civil Service Rules.

2. In lieu of Removal, the Parties hereby agree to allow the Employee to attend the next available Police Academy, if the appeal of the Employee's academy dismissal is successful. Employee agrees and understands that the County cannot guarantee where or when the next available Police Academy will take place; of which the cost of attendance shall be borne by the County. All expenses, including transportation, parking, tolls, etc., relating to the attendance at said Police Academy will be borne by employee. Employee understands that, prior to Police Academy admittance, s/he must also comply with the Police Training Commission's medical clearance requirements in accordance with N.J.A.C. 13:1-8.1(a)5.

3. Employee understands and agrees that the period which s/he has been out of work shall be deemed a leave of absence without pay and thus shall not seek back pay of any kind. Employee further understands that s/he will be permitted to return to work only upon successful completion of the Police Academy. The County will not make any back payment for any pension contributions during the period of time prior to his return to active duty.

4. Employee further understands and accepts that this is the employee's last and final opportunity to successfully attend and complete the Police Academy. Failure to be medically cleared to attend the Police Academy in accordance with N.J.A.C. 13:1-8.1(a)5 or dismissal from the Police Academy for any reason whatsoever, including but not limited to work related accident or injury, shall result in termination.

5. The Employee and the County agree that the terms and conditions of this Stipulation of Settlement and the discussions and negotiations leading up to it shall be kept absolutely confidential hereafter and shall not be disclosed by the employee to any other employee or former employee of the County or other persons or the general public unless compelled to do so by the judicial process. However, the employee may make disclosures to members of her immediate family, attorney, union representative and as may be required by her accountant in connection with the discharge of the latter's duties in preparation of tax returns or financial statements. Employee's failure to comply with the confidentiality provisions of this program may result in the dissolution of the within Stipulation of Settlement at the sole and exclusive option of the County.

6. In the event that an action is brought by the County for the employee's breach of the confidentiality conditions set forth in paragraph 5 hereof, in addition as to such other relief as is appropriate, the County shall be entitled to reasonable attorneys fees and costs.

7. This Stipulation of Settlement and General Release is not and shall not in any way be construed as an admission by the County of any violation of any federal or state constitutional prohibition or any federal or state or local law or ordinance or regulation, or any express or implied contract of employment, or in violation of any other legal duty owed to employee, but instead constitutes the good faith settlement of a disputed claim and the County specifically disclaims any liability to employee or any other person. The parties have entered into this Stipulation of Settlement and General Release with the County, both asserted and unasserted, in order to avoid the burden, expense, delay and uncertainties of litigation. No findings of any kind have been made or issued by any court and employee does not purport to be the prevailing party in any threatened or pending litigation.

8. Employee represents and certifies that s/he has carefully read and fully understands all of the provisions of and effects of this Stipulation of Settlement and General Release and has thoroughly discussed all aspects of this Stipulation of Settlement and General Release with his/her attorney. Further, the employee certifies that s/he has voluntarily entered into this Stipulation of Settlement and General Release and that the County has not made any representations concerning the terms of effects of this Stipulation of Settlement and General Release other than those contained herein.

9. This Stipulation of Settlement shall neither set a precedent nor constitute a past practice.

10. This Stipulation of Settlement and General Release is made and entered into in the State of New Jersey and shall in all respects be interpreted, enforced and governed under the laws of the State of New Jersey. The language of all parts of this Stipulation of Settlement and General Release shall, in all cases, be construed as a whole according to its fair meaning and strictly for or against any of the parties.

11. Should any provision of this Stipulation of Settlement and General Release be declared or determined by any court to be illegal or invalid, the validity of the remaining parts, terms or provisions shall not be affected thereby and said illegal or invalid part, term or provision shall be deemed not to be a part of this Stipulation of Settlement and General Release.

12. This Stipulation of Settlement shall not be considered binding and/or final until approved by and executed by the County Administrator.

13. Employee agrees that this Stipulation of Settlement and General Release shall operate as a complete and final disposition of this matter. Re: Alonzo Herran v. City of Newark (CSC Docket No. 2013-987 and OAL Docket No. CSV 15480-12) - SETTLEMENT

Dear Mr. Fusco and Ms. Clayborne:

The appeal of Alonso Herran, a Police Officer with the City of Newark Police Department, of his 45 working day suspension, was before Administrative Law Judge Leslie Z. Celentano (ALJ), who returned the matter to the Civil Service Commission (Commission) on November 15, 2017 indicating that the parties had reached a settlement.

The time frame for the Commission to make its final decision was to initially expire on December 30, 2017. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. Prior to that date, the Commission secured a 45-day extension of time to render its final decision no later than February 13, 2018. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. While this matter is now ready for presentation to the Commission, there is currently not a quorum of members available to vote. Based on this information, the parties were asked, as required, to consent to a second extension. However, the appointing authority did not provide consent. Under these circumstances, the ALJ's recommended decision will be deemed adopted, effective February 14, 2018, as the final decision in this matter per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c).

Sincerely,

Nicholas F. Angiulo
Deputy Director

INITIAL DECISION
SETTLEMENT
OAL DKT. NO. CSV 15480-12

IN THE MATTER OF ALONZO HERRAN,
CITY OF NEWARK, POLICE DEPARTMENT.

Anthony J. Fusco, Esq., for appellant (Fusco & Macaluso, LLC, attorneys)

Joyce Clayborne, Esq., for respondent (Kenyatta K. Stewart, Acting Corporation Counsel)

Record Closed: November 2, 2017 Decided: November 8, 2017

BEFORE LESLIE Z. CELENTANO, ALJ:

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on November 8, 2012, for resolution as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F1 to -13.

The attached Release and Settlement Agreement were submitted indicating the terms of agreement which are incorporated herein by reference.

Having reviewed the record and the settlement terms, I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures and/or the signatures of their representatives.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and, therefore, ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY
OFFICE OF ADMIN. LAW

ALONZO HERRAN,	:	STATE OF NEW JERSEY OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATIVE LAW
Appellant,	:
v.	:	OAL DOCKET NO. CVS 15480-2012N
CITY OF NEWARK,	:	SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE
Respondent.	:

This Settlement Agreement and General Release ("Agreement") is made and entered into by Newark Police Officer Alonzo Herran ("Herran" or "Appellant"), Newark Fraternal Order of Police, Lodge 12 ("Union") and the City of Newark ("City "or "Respondent") (collectively referred to hereinafter as the "Parties"). The Parties herein have voluntarily agreed to resolve all disputed matters arising from the disciplinary action taken against Herran by the City. This Agreement is made and entered into by the Parties in full settlement of Herran's appeal regarding the above matter.

On March 22, 2012, the Newark Department of Public Safety, Police Division ("Department of Public Safety") brought departmental disciplinary charges against Herran in the form of a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action ("PNDA") stemming from his actions on January 10, 2011, involving an alleged assault of a civilian with the butt of his gun and subsequent false statements made by Herran concerning the incident. Herran pled not guilty, waiving his opportunity for a Hearing before the Trial Board. On October 2, 2012, Final Notice of Disciplinary Action and Specifications (hereinafter referred to as "FNDA") were issued with the following charges: Conduct, in violation of Newark Police Department Rules and Regulations Chapter 5:1.1; New Jersey Civil Service Rule N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3 (a) 6; Disobedience of Orders, in violation of Newark Police Department Rules and Regulations Chapter 18:14; Official Inefficiency or Incompetency, in violation of Newark Police Department Rules and Regulations Chapter 18:29.1; New Jersey Civil Service Rule N.J.A.C 4A:2-2.3(a) 1; False Statement, in violation of Newark Police Department Rules and Regulations Chapter 18:22. A copy of the October 2, 2012, FNDA is attached herein as Exhibit A. Based on these charges, the Department of Public Safety suspended Herran for forty-five (45) days beginning October 22, 2012 to December 21, 2012 pursuant N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.4 (e).

After further negotiations, the Parties have agreed to resolve this matter as follows:

1. The charges listed in the FNDA are upheld.
2. Herran's suspension is reduced from forty-five (45) days to fifteen (15) days.
3. The City will amend his FNDA to reflect a fifteen (15) day suspension.
4. The City will pay Herran thirty (30), days back pay and make the appropriate adjustments to his pension and seniority.
5. Herran waives any and all right or claim which he has or may have to a hearing on the merits of the disciplinary action taken under this Agreement and/ or to challenge the suspension penalty imposed as a result of same, including, but not limited to, any right to a departmental hearing concerning the charges in the FNDA.
6. Herran and the Union each agree not to appeal the terms and conditions of this Agreement to any agency or court, including, but not limited to the New Jersey Civil Service Commission and/or to any other New Jersey State Court or agency and/or to any United States Court or agency.
7. Herran and the Union each further agree that there is no consideration due, his counsel and/or Union, including, but not limited to, any claim for additional back pay and/or counsel fees, arising from his employment and/or the execution of this Agreement, except as otherwise provided herein.
8. Except for the assessment of Herran's disciplinary record in any subsequent personnel disciplinary hearing, nothing in this Agreement shall be deemed to be an admission of liability on behalf of either Party.
9. Herran and the Union acknowledge that this Agreement precludes them from bringing any type of legal or contractual action in any forum including, but not limited to, filing a Complaint in New Jersey Superior Court or the United States Federal Court, filing any type of complaint with the City, Essex County, the State of New Jersey or the United States of America, and filing a grievance and/or requesting arbitration, that is in any manner grounded, based upon, or related to the FNDA.

10. Herran is bound by this Agreement. Anyone who succeeds to Herran's rights and responsibilities, such as heirs or the executor of his estate, shall also be bound.
11. This Agreement shall not constitute a precedent or practice in any matter involving the City or other City employees or the Union.
12. Herran and the Union each agree that this Agreement shall not be offered, used or considered as evidence in any proceeding of any type against or involving the City, except to the extent necessary to enforce the terms of this Agreement, or as required by law.
13. This Agreement contains the sole and entire agreement between Herran, the Union and the City, and fully supersedes any and all prior agreements and understandings pertaining to the subject matter hereof. Herran specifically represents and acknowledges that in executing this Agreement, he has not relied upon any representations, with regard to the subject matter in this Agreement, which are not set forth herein. No other promises or agreements shall be binding unless in writing, signed by all the Parties, and expressly stated to be a modification of the Agreement.
14. Herran agrees and acknowledges that he has been fully and fairly represented by his Union and counsel in this matter, and he is satisfied with that representation and with the terms and conditions of this Agreement.
15. Herran agrees and acknowledges that he has had a full opportunity to review this Agreement with his counsel and/or union representative and he enters into this Agreement knowingly and voluntarily.
16. The Parties agree that if any portion of this Agreement is deemed unenforceable, the remainder of the Settlement Agreement shall be fully enforceable.
17. This Agreement will become effective only if approved by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION. Any disapproval by the Civil Service Commission shall not interfere with the rights of either Party to pursue the matter further.
18. By signing this Settlement Agreement, Herran states that:

a) He has read it;
b) He understands it and knows that he is giving up important rights, and any and all other federal and state employment causes of any kind, including, but not limited to The New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, The New Jersey Equal Pay Law, Title VII of the

Civil Rights Act of 1967, as amended, The Conscientious Employee Protection Act, The Americans With Disabilities Act of 1990, the Fair Labor Standards Act, and any other constitutional, statutory or common law suit, attorney's fees and costs of this proceeding, and any public policy of the United States, the State of New Jersey, or other State;

c) He agrees with everything in it;

d) His representative negotiated this Agreement with his knowledge and consent;

e) He has been advised to consult with his attorney prior to executing this Agreement, and has in fact done so;

f) He has been given at least twenty-one (21) days within which to review and consider this Agreement, although he may choose to sign it sooner, and thereafter, has seven (7) days to revoke that signature;

g) He understands that for a period of seven (7) days following the execution of this Agreement, he may revoke this Agreement; the Agreement shall not become effective or enforceable until the revocation period has expired; and

h) He has signed this Settlement Agreement knowingly and voluntarily.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Parties have caused this Settlement Agreement to be executed.

CHARGES MAYBE ADDED OR AMENDED AT A LATER DATE

CHARGE I: Violation of Newark Police Department Rules and Regulations, Chapter 5:1.1 – CONDUCT – Police Officers must bear in mind that they symbolize the Dignity and authority of the City and State and shall conduct themselves in a manner that will not bring discredit, ridicule, or criticism to the Department.

CHARGE IB: Violation of Civil Service Rule 4A:2-2.3(a) 6.
An employee maybe subject to discipline for:
6. Conduct unbecoming a public employee;

SPECIFICATION: On January 10, 2011, at 399-443 Springfield Avenue, Newark, Home Depot, Police Officer Alonzo Herran, off duty, did conduct himself in such a manner, which brought discredit, ridicule and criticism to the Department when he engaged in a verbal dispute with Mr. Edwin Quainno, which led a physical altercation. After Mr. Quainno was subdued, several witnesses state that Officer Herran initiated a second altercation.

CHARGE II: Violation of Newark Police Department Rules and Regulations, Chapter 18:14 – DISOBEDIENCE OF ORDERS – Department members shall not willfully disobey lawful orders.

SPECIFICATION: Police Officer Alonzo Herran, did disobey a lawful written order from the Police Director to wit: General Order 63-2, SUBJECT: USE OF FORCE POLICY, in that Officer Herran removed his service weapon and did not instruct or say anything to the suspect. He then struck the suspect in the head because his gun was already in his hand. Police Officer Herran did not resort to any other methods written in the General Order under Constructive or Physical Force.

CHARGE III: Violation of Newark Police Department Rules and Regulations, Chapter 18:29.1 – OFFICIAL INEFFICIENCY OR INCOMPETENCY – Department members whose performance is demonstrably inadequate or inequitable and fails to meet, obtain or produce the effects or results mandated by Department orders, shall be deemed in violation of Department Rules and Regulations. Officers found guilty of official inefficiency or in competency shall be subject to departmental charges.

CHARGE IIIB: Violation of Civil Service Rule 4A:2-2.3(a) 1.
An employee may be subject to discipline for:
1. In competency or Inefficiency

POLICE DEPARTMENT

Newark, N. J., March 22, 2012

To the Honorable, the Police Director,

Sir:

I Hereby Charge POLICE OFFICER ALONZO HERRAN, PRISONER PROCESSING DIVISION, OPERATIONS BUREAU

CAP 2012-059 IOP 2011-033

SPECIFICATION: On March 19, 2012, during a video statement Sergeant Kennedy Almeida asked Police Officer Alonzo Herran to explain a key word he wrote in his incident report. Specifically, Police Officer Herran wrote that a suspect was "drawing" and if he did not stop he would be arrested. Police Officer Herran could not articulate in his statement what the word "drawing" entailed which ultimately led to the arrest of the suspect.

CHARGE IV: Violation of Newark Police Department Rules and Regulations, Chapter 18:22 – FALSE STATEMENT – Police officers shall not falsify any official report or record.

SPECIFICATION: On March 19, 2012, Police Officer Alonzo Herran, did falsify an Official Record, to wit: during a video statement he stated that "the suspect never reached for his gun while in his holster nor his hand", although knowing in truth that said information listed in his incident report was false and contrary to fact.

CHAPTER 6

5	STANDARDS OF CONDUCT
5:1	DEMEANOR
5:1.1	CONDUCT. Police officers must bear in mind that they symbolize the dignity and authority of the City and State and shall conduct themselves in a manner that will not bring discredit, ridicule, or criticism to the Department.
5:1.2	LANGUAGE. Police officers shall not use indecent, profane, uncivil or threatening language, regardless of provocation.
5:1.3	LENIENCY. Police officers shall not permit fear, favoritism or sympathy to sway them to illegal leniency or to neglect of duty.
5:1.4	PERFORMANCE. Police officers shall never place themselves under special obligation to any person who might affect the proper discharge of their duties. They shall remain free to perform their duties without hesitation at all times.
5:1.5	POLICE IMAGE. Police officers shall bear in mind that they symbolize the dignity and the authority of the City of Newark and the State of New Jersey, and that they are the representatives of the law to whose lawful demands all must submit, unless otherwise provided by law, and that such submission can be compelled when necessary.
5:2	APPEARANCE
5:2.1	CLEANLINESS. Police officers while on duty or in uniform shall maintain a neat, well-groomed appearance and shall adhere to the grooming standards.
5:2.2	UNIFORM. Police officers shall conform to all regulations set forth for the wearing of the uniform.
5:2.3	CIVILIAN CLOTHING. Unless otherwise directed, police officers assigned to work in civilian clothing shall be neat and clean. Their clothing shall be of a conservative nature.
5:2.4	PACKAGES AND BUNDLES. Police officers in uniform shall not carry packages or bundles except when necessary to accomplish a police purpose on the actual performance of duty.

18:14 DISOBEDIENCE OF ORDERS

Department members shall properly patrol their posts.

18:16 PAYMENT OF DEBTS

Department members shall neither neglect nor refuse to pay their just debts.

18:17 ASSISTING ESCAPE

Department members shall not communicate any information nor shall they aid a person to escape arrest nor shall they delay in taking action to apprehend an offender.

18:18 MALTREATMENT OF PRISONERS OR OTHER PERSONS

Police officers shall not willfully maltreat prisoners or other persons, nor allow any other officer to maltreat prisoners or others.

18:19 USE OF FORCE

Police officers shall treat all persons and prisoners in a fair and humane manner at all times as provided by law. Police officers shall exercise force only to the degree required by the circumstances necessary:

(1) To prevent escape
(2) To secure detention
(3) To subdue violence
(4) To prevent violence to another prisoner
(5) To defend their own lives and the lives of others.

18:20 SAFEKEEPING OF PRISONERS

Police officers shall be responsible for maintaining the safekeeping of any prisoner and preventing their escape. Police officers shall be responsible for maintaining the safe custody of any prisoner during such time as the prisoner is in their personal charge, whether such prisoner is confined to a cell, hospital room, detention room, court room, or building, or whether such person is in transit. The escape of a prisoner from a police officer shall be considered prima facie evidence of gross neglect of duty.

18:21 CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION

Police officers shall not reveal to any persons not members of the Police Department any proposed police action or movements, or the provisions of any official order, without first obtaining permission from the Police Director or Chief of Police.

18:22 FALSE STATEMENT

Police officers shall not falsify any official report or record

18:22.1 False Statements Defined. Police officers who deliberately depart from the truth by omitting, misrepresenting, or distorting any fact on any form, questionnaire, or report shall be charged with having made a false statement.

18:22.2 Pre-employment Statements. Police officers shall be held to have violated this Rule, retroactively, who had made false statements during their investigation for candidacy to the Police Department.

18:22.3 False Statements-Criminal Investigations. Police officers who submit false or misleading statements as the target or witness in an internal investigation involving criminal allegations against a police officer shall be subject to disciplinary action.

18:23 BRIBES

Police officers shall not solicit or accept bribes in money, or other valuable articles.

18:24 CRIMINAL LAW

Department members shall not violate any criminal law, any provision of the Disorderly Persons Act or of the City Ordinances. They shall commit no illegal act.

18:25 ACTS OF IMMORALITY

Department members shall not commit acts of immorality, indecency or lewdness

18:26 PERSONAL APPEARANCE

Department members shall be clean in both person and dress.

18:27 INDECENT LANGUAGE

Department members shall not use indecent, profane, or uncivil language

18:28 MISCONDUCT GENERALLY

Any violation or offense not properly chargeable against a Department member under any other Rules of Discipline shall be charged under Rule No. 18.

18:29 PERFORMANCE OF DUTY

18:29.1 Official Inefficiency or Incompetence. Department members whose performance is demonstrably inadequate or fails to meet, obtain or produce the effects or results mandated by Department orders and procedures, shall be deemed in violation of this Rule and Regulation and shall be charged accordingly.

18:29.2 Chronic Inefficiency or Incompetence. Department members charged with repeated violations of Rules and Regulations, which by their nature and frequency demonstrate an unwillingness or inability to meet, obtain or produce the desired effects or results necessary for adequate performance shall be charged with Chronic Inefficiency or Incompetence. Officers found guilty of chronic inefficiency or incompetence, shall be subject to dismissal from the Department.

18:29.3 Inefficiency or Incompetence of Superior Officers. Superior officers within the Newark Police Department shall be held accountable for their performance and the performance and actions of subordinate personnel. A superior officer shall be accountable for individual behavior and actions as defined with the Rules and Regulations as well as ensuring that subordinates comply with the duties, obligations and actions prescribed and/or prohibited by the Rules and Regulations, General Orders, Special Orders and all Departmental memoranda.

Superior officers shall be accountable for the performance, productivity, effectiveness, efficiency and specific functions assigned to subordinates as manifested in individual squad, section and command records including but not limited to: response time, conditions within assigned areas, arrests, interrogations, overtime, sick leave and all other indications of individual and command performance.

A superior officer shall be deemed derelict in his duty and in violation of this section whenever it is demonstrated that the cited superior officer has failed to identify deficiencies and/or failed to take corrective action when subordinate personnel exhibit an unwillingness or inability to meet Department standards, obtain or produce the results necessary for adequate performance and/or result in violations of established Department policy, order, rules, regulations or procedures.

Re: Hakiem Batemon v. City of Newark (CSC Docket No. 2017-1987 and OAL Docket No. CSV 00162-17) - SETTLEMENT

Dear Mr. Wenocur and Ms. Holmes:

The appeal of Hakiem Batemon, a Laborer 1 with the City of Newark, Department of Public Works, of his removal, effective October 13, 2016, was before Administrative Law Judge Thomas R. Betancourt (ALJ), who returned the matter to the Civil Service Commission (Commission) on November 15, 2017 indicating that the parties had reached a settlement.

The time frame for the Commission to make its final decision was to initially expire on December 30, 2017. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. Prior to that date, the Commission secured a 45-day extension of time to render its final decision no later than February 13, 2018. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. While this matter is now ready for presentation to the Commission, there is currently not a quorum of members available to vote. Based on this information, the parties were asked, as required, to consent to a second extension. However, neither party provided consent. Under these circumstances, the ALJ's recommended decision will be deemed adopted, effective February 14, 2018, as the final decision in this matter per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c).

Kimberly K. Holmes, Esq., for Respondent, City of Newark Department of Public Works

Record Closed: November 8, 2017 Record Decided: November 13, 2017

BEFORE THOMAS R. BETANCOURT, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Appellant, Hakiem Batemon appeals a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action, dated December 13, 2016, removing him from his position as Laborer 1 effective October 13, 2016 for conduct unbecoming a public employee, and other sufficient cause.

The Civil Service Commission transmitted this matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on January 4, 2017, as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to –15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to –13.

The parties have voluntarily agreed to resolve all disputed matters and have entered into a settlement as set forth in the attached settlement agreement.

I have reviewed the terms of the settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures and/or the signature of their respective representatives on the attached settlement agreement; and,
2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy between the parties.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that the parties comply with the terms of the settlement agreement; and

It is further ORDERED that petitioner's appeal is withdrawn with prejudice.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

HAKIEM BATEMON, Appellant, -v- CITY OF NEWARK Respondent.	STATE OF NEW JERSEY OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATIVE LAW OAL DOCKET NO.: CSV 00162-2017N LAST CHANCE SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE

This Last Chance Settlement Agreement and General Release ("Agreement",) is made and entered into between CDL Truck Driver, Hakiem Batemon ("Batemon" or "Appellant"), The LOCAL 617 SEIU ("Union") and the City of Newark ("City" or "Respondent") (Batemon, the Union and the City are collectively referred to hereinafter as the "Parties"). The Parties herein have voluntarily agreed to resolve all disputed matters arising from the disciplinary action taken against him by the City's Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action dated September 19, 2016 (PNDA) and Final Notice of Disciplinary Action dated December 13, 20167 (FNDA).

In consideration of the promises contained herein, it is agreed as follows:

1. On or about September 14, 2016, and September 16, 2016, Laborer 1 (Laborer Sanitation Truck), Hakiem Batemon, sent an unbecoming and unprofessional text messages to the management staff in response to a meeting held earlier that day regarding Batemon's time deletions (see PNDA dated 9/19/16 and FNDA dated 12/13/16).

2. From April 26 – September 2, 2016, Batemon has amassed over 50 unanticipated absences from work (see PNDA dated 9/19/16; and FNDA dated 12/13/15).

KS/MR

3. As a result of the conduct outlined in paragraphs one (1) through three (3) herein, a PNDA was issued and Batemon was brought up on disciplinary charges for removal at the close of business on 9/16/16 prior to a hearing (See attached PNDA).

4. On November 10, 2016, a departmental hearing was held and a finding was made that there was sufficient cause for removal based upon the two (2) text messages Batemon sent to the City employees and his chronic absenteeism from work.

5. Batemon was removed from City employment on October 13, 2016. The FNDA was issued on December 13, 2016(See attached FNDA).

6. Batemon appealed the decision on the FNDA to the Office of Administrative Law.

7. The parties have agreed to resolve all issues herein and referenced as follows:

   a. The Parties acknowledge and agree that Batemon is given a 'last chance' opportunity to return to employment with Newark as a Laborer 1 (Laborer Sanitation Truck) effective October 30, 2017.

   b. The Parties acknowledge and agree that Batemon has served a six (6) month suspension effective September 19, 2016 and that the balance of time after the suspension period will be deemed as an unpaid leave of absence through the execution of this Agreement.

   c. The Parties acknowledge and agree that Batemon is not entitled to any seniority, salary increase, bumping rights, and that he has waived and all back pay, counsel fees, and/or compensation of time and/or benefits of any sort from September 19, 2016 through the execution of this Agreement.

d. Batemon agrees that immediately upon his return to work, he may be subject to drug/alcohol testing.

e. Batemon agrees to submit to random drug/alcohol testing per Department of Transportation guideline and that the failure to submit to testing or a positive test will result in immediate termination.

f. Batemon further waives any and all rights and/or claims which he has and/or may have to: (1) A hearing on the merits of the disciplinary action taken under the PNDA, FDNA and/or this Agreement; (2) To challenge the PNDA, FNDA and/or this Agreement; (3) Initiate and/or partake in Grievance procedures; and/or (4) Initiate, pursue and/or partake any and all litigation against the City in State, Federal and/or Administrative Courts.

g. Batemon and the Union each further agree that there is no consideration due Batemon other than what is explicitly outlined herein, his counsel (if applicable) and/or the Union, including, but not limited to, any claim for back pay and/or counsel fees, arising from his employment and/or the execution of this Agreement.

h. Batemon and the Union each agree not to appeal the terms and conditions of this Agreement to any agency or court, including, but not limited to the New Jersey Public Employee Relations Commission, the New Jersey Civil Service Commission and/or to any other New Jersey State Court or agency and/or to any United States Court or agency.

i. Batemon and the Union further acknowledge that this Agreement further precludes either of them from bringing any type of legal or contractual action in any forum including, but not limited to, filing a Complaint in New Jersey Superior Court or United States Federal Court, filing any type of complaint with the City, Essex County, the State of New Jersey or the United States of America, and filing a grievance and/or requesting arbitration, that is in any manner grounded, based upon, or related to the FNDA.

j. The Parties are bound by this Agreement. Anyone and/or entity who succeeds to the Parties' rights and/or responsibilities, such as heirs, the executor/administrator of Batemon's estate, and purchasers and/or assignees of Batemon's, the City's and/or the Unions interests shall also be bound.

k. This Agreement shall not constitute a precedent or practice in any matter involving the City or other City employees.

l. Batemon and the Union further acknowledge and agree that this Agreement is based upon a unique set, combination and weighing of factors and shall not be used and/or construed as precedent and/or to in any way dictate, bind, limit and/or even guide the decisions that the City may make in future and/or currently pending disciplinary matters and/or labor negotiations.

m. Batemon and the Union each agree this Agreement shall not be offered, used or considered as evidence in any proceeding of any type against or involving the City, except to the extent necessary to enforce the terms of this Agreement, or as required by law.

n. This Agreement contains the sole and entire agreement between Batemon, the Union and the City, and fully supersedes any and all prior agreements and understandings pertaining to the subject matter hereof. Batemon specifically represents and acknowledges in executing this Agreement that he has not relied upon any representation or statement by the City, or City's counsel or representatives, with regard to the subject matter of this Agreement, which is not set forth herein. No other promises or agreements shall be binding unless in writing, signed by all the Parties, and expressly stated to be a modification of the Agreement.

o. Batemon agrees and acknowledges that he has been fully and fairly represented by his Attorney and the Union in this matter, and he is satisfied with that representation and with the terms and conditions of this Agreement.

p. Batemon agrees and acknowledges that he has had a full opportunity to review this Agreement with his Attorney and/or Union representative and he enters into same knowingly and voluntarily.

q. The Parties agree that if any portion of this Agreement is deemed unenforceable, the remainder of the Settlement Agreement shall be fully enforceable.

r. By signing this Settlement Agreement, Batemon states that:

1. He has read it;
2. He understands it and knows that he is giving up important rights, and any and all other federal and state employment related causes of any kind, not including potential Worker's Compensation claims, but including but not limited to The New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, The New Jersey Equal Pay Law, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, The Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967, as amended, The Conscientious Employee Protection Act, The Americans With Disabilities Act of 1990, the Fair Labor Standards Act, and any other constitutional, statutory or common law suit, attorney fees and costs of this proceeding, and any public policy of the United States, the State of New Jersey, or any other State;

3. He agrees with everything contained in this Agreement;
4. His Attorney and Union representative negotiated this Agreement in his presence and with his knowledge and consent;
5. He consulted with his Attorney prior to executing this Agreement;
6. He has signed this Settlement Agreement knowingly and voluntarily.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Parties have caused this Settlement Agreement to be executed.

Re: Kelly Diggs v. City of Newark (CSC Docket No. 2017-3762 and OAL Docket No. CSV 09615-17) - SETTLEMENT

Dear Mr. Cohen and Ms. Clayborne:

The appeal of Kelly Diggs, a Laborer 1 with the City of Newark, Department of Public Works, of his resignation not in good standing, effective April 3, 2017, was before Administrative Law Judge Barry E. Moscowitz (ALJ), who returned the matter to the Civil Service Commission (Commission) on November 15, 2017 indicating that the parties had reached a settlement.

The time frame for the Commission to make its final decision was to initially expire on December 31, 2017. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. Prior to that date, the Commission secured a 45-day extension of time to render its final decision no later than February 14, 2018. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. While this matter is now ready for presentation to the Commission, there is currently not a quorum of members available to vote. Based on this information, the parties were asked, as required, to consent to a second extension. However, neither party provided consent. Under these circumstances, the ALJ's recommended decision will be deemed adopted, effective February 15, 2018, as the final decision in this matter per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c).

Sincerely,

INITIAL DECISION
SETTLEMENT
OAL DKT. NO. CSV 09615-17

IN THE MATTER OF KELLY DIGGS, CITY OF NEWARK, DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS.

Arnold S. Cohen, Esq., for appellant (Oxfeld Cohen, P.C., attorneys)

Joyce Clayborne, Assistant Corporation Counsel, for respondent (Kenyatta K. Stewart, Acting Corporation Counsel)

Record Closed: November 1, 2017 Decided: November 13, 2017

BEFORE BARRY E. MOSCOWITZ, ALJ:

On July 10, 2017, the Civil Service Commission transmitted this case to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) under the Administrative Procedure Act, N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15, and the act establishing the OAL, N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -23, for a hearing under the Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules, N.J.A.C. 1:1-1.1 to -21.6.

Before the hearing, the parties settled the case. A copy of their agreement is attached to this decision. Having reviewed the terms of the settlement agreement, I FIND that the parties have entered into their settlement voluntarily, as evidenced by their signatures, the signatures of their representatives, or both.

Moreover, I CONCLUDE that the settlement agreement is consistent with the law, is fully dispositive of all issues in controversy between the parties, and is otherwise consistent with the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1.

Therefore, given my findings of fact and conclusions of law, I ORDER that the parties comply with the terms of their settlement and that these proceedings are now closed.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which is authorized by law to make a final decision in this case. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days, and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision under N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

OAL DOCKET NO. CSV 09615-2017N

KELLY DIGGS,	:	STATE OF NEW JERSEY
	:	OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATIVE LAW
Appellant,	:
v.	:	OAL DOCKET NO. CSV 09615-2017N
CITY OF NEWARK,	:	SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE
Respondent.	:

This Settlement Agreement and General Release ("Agreement") is made and entered into by Newark Sanitation Laborer, Kelly Diggs ("Diggs" or "Appellant"), Service Employees International Union, Local 617 ("SEIU" or "Union") and the City of Newark ("City" or "Respondent") (collectively referred to hereinafter as the "Parties"). The Parties herein have voluntarily agreed to resolve all disputed matters arising from the disciplinary action taken against Diggs by the City. This Agreement is made and entered into by the Parties in full settlement of Diggs's appeal regarding the above matter.

On March 6, 2017, the Newark Department of Public Works ("Department of Public Works") brought disciplinary charges against Diggs in the form of a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action ("PNDA") stemming from his actions on February 28, 2017, involving whereby he was out from work for five (5) consecutive days without approval in violations of the City of Newark policies and procedures. On March 23, 2017, a Departmental Hearing was held against Diggs; sustaining his resignation not in Good Standing. On, May 1, 2017, Final Notice of Disciplinary Action and Specifications (hereinafter referred to as ("FNDA") were issued with the following charges: Removal, in violation of New Jersey Civil Service Rule N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2 (a)1.

After further negotiations, the Parties agree to resolve this matter as follows:

OAL DOCKET NO. CSV 09615-2017N

1. The charges listed in the FNDA are amended to Chronic or Excessive Absenteeism or Lateness, in violation N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a) 4 and Other Sufficient Cause N.J.A.C. 4A2-2.3 (a) 12.
2. Diggs' will serve an unpaid suspension based on the charges reflected in the FNDA. His suspension period will be deemed as "Time Served" covering the period of February 28, 2017 to June 28, 2017, a maximum of six (6) months.
3. The Parties agree from June 29, 2017 to October 29, 2017 will be deemed an unpaid disciplinary leave of absence.
4. The Parties agree Diggs will refrain from the use of all illegal substances and abuse of alcohol pursuant to the attached Letter of Conditional Employment, which is attached hereto and is incorporated and made a part of this agreement.
5. Diggs must submit to random drug screenings pursuant to the Letter of Conditional Employment.
6. Diggs must comply with reporting requirements for calling out from work.
7. Diggs's return to work on Oct. 30, 2017 is subject to his performance of all obligations and conditions that are set forth in this Agreement.
8. Diggs shall waive and will not be entitled to any back pay from the date of his initial removal until the date of his return to work.
9. The Parties acknowledge pursuant N.J.A.C. 17:1-2.18 (b) and (c), no pension or seniority time maybe credited for periods for which the employee is not paid by the employer.
10. Diggs waives any and all right or claim which he has or may have to a hearing on the merits of the disciplinary action taken under this Agreement and/ or to challenge the suspension penalty imposed as a result of same, including, but not limited to, any right to a departmental hearing concerning the charges in the FNDA.
11. Diggs and the Union each agree not to appeal the terms and conditions of this Agreement to any agency or court, including, but not limited to the New Jersey Civil Service Commission and/or to any other New Jersey State Court or agency and/or to any United States Court or agency.
12. Diggs and the Union each further agree that there is no consideration due to him, his counsel and/or Union, including, but not limited to, any claim for additional back pay and/or counsel fees, arising from his employment and/or the execution of this Agreement, except as otherwise provided herein.

13. Except for the assessment of Diggs' disciplinary record in any subsequent personnel disciplinary hearing, nothing in this Agreement shall be deemed to be an admission of liability on behalf of either Party.
14. Diggs and the Union acknowledge that this Agreement precludes them from bringing any type of legal or contractual action in any forum including, but not limited to, filing a Complaint in New Jersey Superior Court or the United States Federal Court, filing any type of complaint with the City, Essex County, the State of New Jersey or the United States of America, and filing a grievance and/or requesting arbitration, that is in any manner grounded, based upon, or related to the FNDA.
15. Diggs is bound by this Agreement. Anyone who succeeds to Diggs' rights and responsibilities, such as heirs or the executor of his estate, shall also be bound.
16. This Agreement shall not constitute a precedent or practice in any matter involving the City or other City employees or the Union.
17. Diggs and the Union each agree that this Agreement shall not be offered, used or considered as evidence in any proceeding of any type against or involving the City, except to the extent necessary to enforce the terms of this Agreement, or as required by law.
18. This Agreement contains the sole and entire agreement between Diggs, the Union and the City, and fully supersedes any and all prior agreements and understandings pertaining to the subject matter hereof. Diggs specifically represents and acknowledges that in executing this Agreement, he has not relied upon any representations, with regard to the subject matter in this Agreement, which are not set forth herein. No other promises or agreements shall be binding unless in writing, signed by all the Parties, and expressly stated to be a modification of the Agreement.
19. Diggs agrees and acknowledges that he has been fully and fairly represented by his Union and counsel in this matter, and he is satisfied with that representation and with the terms and conditions of this Agreement.

OAL DOCKET NO. CSV 09615-2017N

20. Diggs agrees and acknowledges that he has had a full opportunity to review this Agreement with his counsel and/or union representative and he enters into this Agreement knowingly and voluntarily.
21. The Parties agree that if any portion of this Agreement is deemed unenforceable, the remainder of the Settlement Agreement shall be fully enforceable.
22. This Agreement will become effective only if approved by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION. Any disapproval by the Civil Service Commission shall not interfere with the rights of either Party to pursue the matter further.
23. By signing this Settlement Agreement, Diggs states that:

a) He has read it;

b) He understands it and knows that he is giving up important rights, and any and all other federal and state employment causes of any kind, including, but not limited to The New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, The New Jersey Equal Pay Law, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1967, as amended, The Conscientious Employee Protection Act, The Americans With Disabilities Act of 1990, the Fair Labor Standards Act, and any other constitutional, statutory or common law suit, attorney's fees and costs of this proceeding, and any public policy of the United States, the State of New Jersey, or other State;

c) He agrees with everything in it;

d) His representative negotiated this Agreement with his knowledge and consent;

e) He has been advised to consult with his attorney prior to executing this Agreement, and has in fact done so;

f) He has been given at least twenty-one (21) days within which to review and consider this Agreement, although he may choose to sign it sooner, and thereafter, has seven (7) days to revoke that signature;

g) He understands that for a period of seven (7) days following the execution of this Agreement, he may revoke this Agreement; the Agreement shall not become effective or enforceable until the revocation period has expired; and

h) He has signed this Settlement Agreement knowingly and voluntarily.

ADDENDUM

CITY OF NEWARK

v.

LETTER OF CONDITIONAL EMPLOYMENT

KELLY DIGGS

On March 6, 2017, KELLY DIGGS, hereinafter identified as "you," was served with a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action, which provided for your Resignation not in Good Standing from duties of employment as a "Sanitation Laborer" with the City of Newark ("City"). The matter was appealed and sent before the Office of Administrative Law ("OAL"). The Parties have since reached a settlement of Docket No. CSV: 09615-2017N. As a result of SETTLEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE, it is the decision of the City's Department of Public Works ("DPW") to adjust Major Disciplinary Action. Subsequently, you will be subjected to the following conditions as terms for your continued employment with the City of Newark:

1. Should your initial drug/alcohol testing yield a positive result, you must participate in and successfully complete a substance abuse rehabilitation program ("Program") and present confirmation of completion of same in writing to the Department and to the City's Personnel Department within seven (7) calendar days of completion. You will comply with all conditions set forth by the Program for your continued rehabilitation.

A. Failure to provide proof of enrollment and successful completion of substance abuse rehabilitation program, as stated above, shall be deemed sufficient reason for terminating the employment of Diggs with the City.

B. You must attend any/all aftercare sessions and/or outpatient treatment sessions of continued rehabilitation pursuant to the Program. If you fail to attend any of the continued rehabilitation sessions or treatments, you must substantiate your reason for not attending. On each occasion you are unable to attend said appointment (s) for continued rehabilitation, you will make arrangements within twenty-four (24) hours of missing said appointment(s) to reschedule said appointment(s) and you shall provide to the Department written confirmation of new appointment(s).

INITIALS KD

C. For all aftercare sessions and/or outpatient treatment sessions of continued rehabilitation, you must submit written proof of your attendance at each to the Department with seven (7) calendar days of the completion of your last continued rehabilitation aftercare and/or treatment appointment.

2. You will refrain from the use of illegal drugs, any mood altering substance and the abuse of alcohol for the duration of your career with the City. Further, you will refrain from the abuse of any prescription pharmaceuticals for the duration of your career with the City.

3. In the event you take internally, at the direction of a physician, any medicine or drugs, you will advise the Department of Child and Family Well-Being Medical Director's Office that you are taking such medication prior to its use or immediately thereafter. As described in paragraph three (3) hereinabove, you will refrain from the abuse of any medicine or drugs prescribed to you by a physician.

4. When absent for reasons stated or identified as personal illness, you will continue to advise your supervisor personally, via telephone, of the circumstances surrounding your absence and submit the appropriate documentation of same, when required.

5. You will continue to perform your job to satisfactory levels expected of all City employees. Any irregular work behaviors; failure to notify your supervisor of an absence (no call/no show); abuse of sick time (chronic/excessive absenteeism) without medical excusal will result in termination.

6. From this point forward, you will submit to unannounced mandatory drug testing when ordered to do so. Failure to submit to testing or testing that results in a positive reading will result in termination.

7. The terms of this Letter of Conditional Employment shall supersede any prior Letter of Conditional Employment.

8. The conditions outlined above are designed to assist you in your rehabilitation effort. If there is any evidence that you have returned to the cause of your problem or you violate the conditions stated above, you will be subject to immediate discharge.

SETTLEMENT

OAL DKT. NO. CSR 05352-17

AGENCY DKT. NO. N/A

IN THE MATTER OF AMEERAH ASKEW, PASSAIC COUNTY (SHERIFF'S OFFICE)

Anthony J. Iacullo, Esq., for appellant Ameerah Askew (Iacullo Martino, LLC, attorneys)

Jose Santiago, Assistant Corporation Counsel for respondent Passaic County Sheriff's Office (William J. Pascrell, III, County Counsel)

Record Closed: October 6, 2017 Decided: October 19, 2017

BEFORE ELISSA MIZZONE TESTA, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This matter concerns the appeal of Ameerah Askew from the action of the respondent, Passaic County Sheriff's Office. The appeal was filed with the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on April 17, 2017 pursuant to N.J.S.A. 40A:14-202(d).

The matter was scheduled for a hearing on September 26, 2017, but the date was adjourned because the parties reached a settlement of all issues in dispute. The signed Settlement Agreement indicating the terms of settlement was forwarded to the undersigned on October 6, 2017 and is attached and fully incorporated herein.

I have reviewed the record and terms of the settlement and FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by the signatures of the parties or their representatives.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with law.

I CONCLUDE that the agreement meets the safeguard requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and, accordingly, I approve the settlement and ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be CONCLUDED.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Merit System Board does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

This Settlement Agreement and General Release ("Agreement") is made by and between the Respondent, PASSAIC COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE("Sheriff's Office") and its employee, Petitioner, County Corrections Officer, Ameerah Askew, (Hereinafter Petitioner, or Ameerah Askew or Officer Askew)

WHEREAS On January 24, 2017, a 31A PNDA was served upon Petitioner Ameerah Askew, setting forth the following charges and seeking her removal from employment at the Passaic County Sheriff's Office,

> *4A:2-2.3(a)11.48 Failure to submit properly written required report within a reasonable or prescribed period of time as per regulations
> *4A:2-2.3(a)11.29 Failure to comply with Sheriff's orders directive, regulations etc. oral and wr4itn and also those of superiors or supervisions

*4A:2-2.3(a)11.36 failure to properly care for assigned equipment

*4A:2-2.3(a)11.47 Improper use handling or display of firearms

*4A:2-2.3(a)2 Insubordination Failure to cooperate in a I/A administrative investigation as per attorney general guidelines

*4A:2-2.3(a 6 Conduct unbecoming a public employee; and

WHEREAS, a civil service employee who commits a wrongful act related to his or her duties, or gives other just cause, may be subject to major discipline. N.J.S.A. 11A:2-6; N.J.S.A. 11A:2-20; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.2; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3; and

WHEREAS on April 10, 2017, a 31-B FNDA was issued, terminating Petitioner's employment with the Passaic County Sheriff's Office as a result of the charges listed above; and

WHEREAS, The Civil Service Act and the regulations promulgated pursuant thereto govern the rights and duties of a civil service employee. N.J.S.A. 11A:1-1 to 11A:12-6; N.J.A.C. 4A:1-1.1, et seq.; and

WHEREAS petitioner promptly appealed her removal to the Civil Service Commission, who transferred the matter to the OAL as a Contested case and

WHEREAS, the Parties wish to resolve this matter in accordance with the terms set forth herein rather than proceed with a hearing; and

WHEREAS, the proposed settlement is in the best interest of the Parties; and

NOW THEREFORE, intending to be legally bound hereby, The Passaic County Sheriff's Office, and Petitioner, have voluntarily resolved all disputed matters between them and enter into this Settlement and General Release, which fully disposes of all issues in controversy between them, and agree as follows:

A. Petitioner's termination shall be converted to a 90 day suspension, with 30 days being actively served and 60 days held in abeyance until the execution of this Agreement

B. Petitioner waives any and all claims to back pay, to the date of reinstatement. Any period of no pay shall be treated as a leave of absence without pay.

C. Petitioner shall be returned to work, immediately after acceptance of and issuance by Judge Testa of this Agreement as an Initial Decision and recommendation to the Civil Service Commission for acceptance as a Final Decision

D. Petitioner agrees to immediately contact the Office of Internal Affairs, in order to complete any and all required background and drug testing prior to beginning immediate employment.

E. The Passaic County Sheriff's Office shall amend its records and to conform to this agreement and Petitioner's disciplinary history shall be amended to reflect the 30 day suspension and a 60 day probationary period.

F. Petitioner waives all other claims against the Passaic County Sheriff's Office and all others as set forth above with regard to the instant charges, including any award of back pay, counsel fees or other monetary relief.

G. This Agreement shall not constitute a precedent in matters involving other employees.

H. Petitioner waives all claims, suits or actions, whether known, unknown, vested or contingent, civil, criminal or administrative, in law or equity against Passaic County, Passaic County Board of Chosen Freeholders, The Passaic County Sheriff's Office, all employees, agents or assigns, including but not limited to all claims under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Civil Rights Act of 1991, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Family Leave Act, the Family and Medical Leave Act, the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, the Equal Pay Act, the Conscientious Employee Protection Act, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, Title 11A - the Civil Service Act, the Older Workers Benefits Protection Act, the Occupational Safety and Health Act, the Public Employee

Occupational Safety and Health Act, the New Jersey Smoking Act, New Jersey wages and hours law, public works statutes, unemployment compensation laws, disability benefits law, the United States Constitution, the New Jersey Constitution, any workers compensation or common law claims and any contract, express or implied. This waiver includes all claims involving any continuing effects of actions or practices which arose prior to the date of this Agreement and bars the use in any way of any past action or practice in any subsequent claims, except pending workers compensation claims.

I. The Parties agree that if any portion of this Settlement Agreement and Release is deemed illegal, unenforceable, or ineffective, in a legal forum, such portions shall be deemed severable, such that all other portions of this Agreement shall remain valid and binding upon all Parties and shall be fully enforceable. No Party, shall act or seek to have this Settlement Agreement and Release declared illegal or unenforceable in any legal forum, specifically as to its terms and conditions, including the waiver of rights as set forth herein.

J. In the event that any party to this Settlement and Release, brings an action to enforce the terms of this Agreement or as a result of a breach of the Agreement by the opposite party, in addition to any remedies available at law or in equity, the non-breaching party shall be entitled to an award of reasonable attorneys' fees and costs incurred in connection with that enforcement or breach action in the event that any such breach is found by a court of competent jurisdiction.

K. This Agreement is executed voluntarily and without any duress or undue influence on the part or behalf of any and all Parties signing hereto, with the full intent of releasing all claims. They acknowledge that:

1. They have carefully read this Agreement and it has been explained to them in full;
2. They have been represented in the preparation, negotiation and execution of this Agreement by legal counsel of their own choice or that they have voluntarily declined to seek such counsel;
3. They fully understand the terms and consequences of this Agreement and of the releases it contains;
4. They are fully aware of the legal and final binding effect of this Agreement;
5. They freely and voluntarily enter into this Agreement without duress or coercion;
6. They are completely satisfied that this Agreement is fair, reasonable, and acceptable; and

7. They are satisfied with their respective counsel, if any, and believe their counsel has effectively represented their independent interests.

L. The Parties each represent that they have the authority to act on their own behalf and all who may claim through them, under the terms and conditions of this Agreement. Each Party warrants and represents that there are no actions filed or pending in state or federal court, liens or claims of lien or assignments in law or equity or otherwise of, or against, any of the claims or causes of action released herein.

M. Each executing Party represents that it has had the opportunity to consult with an attorney, and has carefully read and understands the scope and effect of the provisions of this Agreement. Neither Party has relied upon any representation or statement made by the other Party hereto, which are not specifically set forth in this Agreement.

N. This Agreement cannot be discharged, abandoned, supplemented, changed or modified in any manner, orally or otherwise except by an instrument in writing, of concurrent or subsequent date, signed by a duly authorized officer or representative of each of the Parties hereto. The Parties agree that they waive the rule of construction against the drafter of this Agreement.

O. The laws of the State of New Jersey shall govern this Agreement.

P. This Agreement is effective after it has been signed by all of the Parties set forth below and approved by Administrative Law Judge Testa.

Q. This Agreement may not be executed in counterparts.

R. This Agreement represents the complete and full understanding between the Parties, and is signed as their own free act and will.

S. The recitations set forth above in the Whereas clauses, are incorporated herein as substantive provisions and are not mere recitals.

BY SIGNING BELOW, THE UNDERSIGNED FURTHER INDICATE AND ACKNOWLEDGE THAT THIS IS A LEGALLY BINDING DOCUMENT AND THAT THEY ARE FREELY AND VOLUNTARILY GIVING UP CERTAIN RIGHTS TO FILE LEGAL CLAIMS AND TO RELEASE PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION AND INTEND TO ABIDE BY THE PROVISIONS OF THIS AGREEMENT WITHOUT EXCEPTION.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Parties have executed this Settlement Agreement on the respective dates set forth below.

Record Closed: October 26, 2017 Decided: October 27, 2017

BEFORE LISA JAMES-BEAVERS, ALJ:

This matter concerns the appeal of Christopher Calhoun, from the action of the respondent/appointing authority. Upon receipt of the appellant's hearing request, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for determination as contested cases on September 12, 2017, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

As a result of a settlement conference, the parties agreed to a settlement of all issues in dispute and have prepared a settlement agreement, which is attached and fully incorporated herein.

I have reviewed the record and terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures on the settlement agreement.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy.

I CONCLUDE that this matter is no longer a contested case before the Office of Administrative Law. It is ORDERED that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that this proceeding be concluded.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Occupational Safety and Health Act, the New Jersey Smoking Act, New Jersey wages and hours law, public works statutes, unemployment compensation laws, disability benefits laws, the United States Constitution, the New Jersey Constitution, any workers compensation or common law claims and any contract express or implied. This waiver includes all claims involving any continuing effects of actions or practices which arose prior to the date of this Settlement Agreement and bars the use in any way of any past action or practice in any subsequent claims, except pending workers' compensation claims.

H. The parties agree that if any portion of this Settlement Agreement is deemed unenforceable, the remainder of this Settlement Agreement shall be fully enforceable.

I. Payroll records shall be modified reflecting Approved absence without pay on:
1/21/2017
1/30/2017
2/6/2017

J. Appellant shall be removed from medical verification requirement effective today, 10/26/17.

I. This agreement will become effective only if approved by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION. Any disapproval by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION shall not interfere with the rights of either party to pursue the matter further.

SETTLEMENT

OAL DKT. NO. CSV 5919-17

AGENCY DKT. NO. 2017-3379

IN THE MATTER OF JOHN HAMMOCK, EWING TOWNSHIP DEPARTMENT OF ADMIN., FINANCE AND PUBLIC WORKS.

Debbie Parks, Union Representative, AFSCME Council 73, for appellant pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-5.4(a)(6)

Rocky L. Peterson, Esq., for respondent (Hill Wallack, LLP, attorneys)

Record Closed: October 30, 2017 Decided: November 2, 2017

BEFORE MARY ANN BOGAN, ALJ:

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on April 28, 2017, for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

The parties have agreed to a settlement and have prepared a Settlement Agreement indicating the terms thereof, which is attached and fully incorporated herein.

I have reviewed the record and the terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Settlement Agreement

On December 22, 2016 the Township of Ewing (hereinafter the "Township") served a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action (31-A) on its employee, John Hammock (hereinafter "Hammock"), a laborer employed with the Township since September 9, 2005, who was later rehired from a Special Re-Employment List (SRL) on September 4, 2012, for violations of the Township's Policy & Procedure Manual and the AFSCME Collective Bargaining Agreement ("CBA").

A hearing was scheduled for January 12, 2017 at which time the Township would seek termination as disciplinary action. Specifically, Hammock was charged with violation of Procedural Manual Section 1.22, Chronic or Excessive Absenteeism or Lateness, and Section 2.2, Violation of the Attendance Policy. On the date of the hearing, the Township and representative of AFSCME met and agreed to settle the pending disciplinary charges against Hammock as follows:

1. Hammock and his Association representatives have asked that this matter be settled and that all disciplinary actions be resolved amicably without the necessity of formal hearings.

2. Hammock agrees that he will serve a total of forty (40) consecutive unpaid suspension working days for the violations referenced in the December 22, 2016 preliminary notice. Hammock will not be paid for any holidays that fall within the 40-day suspension period.

3. Hammock will serve the total of forty (40) unpaid consecutive working suspension days from Wednesday, January 18, 2017 through Wednesday, March 15, 2017.

4. Hammock further agrees that after completion of the forty (40) working days of unpaid suspension time, he will enter a one (1) calendar year period of probation commencing March 16, 2017 in which any violation of a Township policy or rule will result in a recommendation of immediate termination by the Township.

5. Hammock further agrees that he will attend five (5) separate counseling sessions pursuant to the requirements of the Employee Assistance Program (EAP). Hammock will be responsible for contacting EAP to schedule the sessions. The EAP sessions must be completed within Hammock's 40-day suspension period and he must provide proof of attendance to the Personnel Director when he returns to work on March 16, 2017.

6. Hammock further agrees that during his period of suspension referenced herein, he will not accrue any paid time off days (i.e., vacation, personal or sick).

7. Hammock further agrees that the Township will deduct from his paycheck issued prior to implementation of the suspension, the monies required to continue Hammock's union dues, life insurance, health and/or medical insurance during the period of his unpaid forty (40) working days suspension. Hammock is to confirm the total amount of this deduction from his paycheck with the Chief Financial Officer.

8. On December March 15, 2017, Hammock was served with a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action (31-A) for violating the above settlement terms. A hearing was held on March 21, 2017 and he was terminated on March 28, 2017. Hammock appealed the termination to the Office of Administrative Law and a hearing was scheduled for October 31 and November 1, 2017.

9. Hammock has agreed to withdraw his appeal of the termination and resign from Ewing Township effective March 28, 2017.

10. Hammock agrees that he will not seek future employment with the Township.

11. The Township agrees to the above terms of the Settlement Agreement for the following reasons:

a. This matter is being resolved in the best interests of all parties involved and is an efficient use of the resources required to litigate this to conclusion.

b. This is a matter of progressive discipline in which there have been numerous verbal warnings, including an eleven (11) day suspension imposed on September 29, 2016 and a forty (40) day suspension imposed on December 22, 2016, involving the exact same violations referenced herein.

12. Hammock acknowledges that he voluntarily and knowingly waives any and all appeals of the discipline imposed herein and waives any and all claims against the Township, known or unknown, as a result of this Agreement or the violations referenced herein. Hammock also acknowledges that he voluntarily and knowingly enters into this Agreement and has had the representation of a Union member throughout this proceeding. Hammock is aware of his right to Union representation and was accompanied and discussed the within settlement agreement with a member of his Association who similarly agreed to the within terms.

13. The settlement is not an admission of any liability of the Township and should not be deemed a precedent in any subsequent proceeding, including any administrative, judicial or disciplinary matter. The Township agrees this settlement agreement resolves the disciplinary action brought against Hammock on March 15, 2017.

The parties acknowledge that under N.J.A.C. 17:1-2.18, no pension or seniority time may be credited for periods for which the employee is not paid by the employer.

D. Department of Human Services (Respondent) shall amend Appellant's personnel records to conform to the terms of the settlement. All internal records of the Department of Human Services will be kept intact. Nothing herein shall preclude the Department from releasing information on this matter to anyone who has a release executed by appellant or as consistent with the law. Any information regarding the underlying charges will be provided to the Public Employees Retirement System pursuant to N.J.S.A. 43:1-3.3 as amended effective April 14, 2007.

E. Appellant waives all other claims against Respondent Department with regard to this matter, including any award of back pay, counsel fees or other monetary relief, except as may otherwise be provided herein.

F. Except for the assessment of Larry Jones 's disciplinary record in any subsequent personnel disciplinary hearing, nothing in this agreement shall be deemed to be an admission of liability on behalf of either party. This agreement shall not constitute a precedent in matters involving other employees.

G. Appellant waives all claims, suits or actions, whether known, unknown, vested or contingent, civil, criminal or administrative, in law or equity against the State of New Jersey, the New Jersey Department of Human Services, their employees, agents, or assigns, including but not limited to those which have been or could have been made or prosecuted on account of any conduct of any party occurring at any time with respect to the events, information or disputes giving rise to this action up to the date of this agreement, including, but not limited to, all claims under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Civil Rights Act of 1991, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Family Leave Act, the Family and Medical Leave Act, the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, the Equal Pay Act, the Conscientious Employee Protection Act, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, Title 11A - the Civil Service Act, the Older Workers Benefits Protection Act, the Occupational Safety and Health Act, the Public Employee

Occupational Safety and Health Act, the New Jersey Smoking Act, New Jersey wages and hours law, public works statutes, unemployment compensation laws, disability benefits laws, the United States Constitution, the New Jersey Constitution, any workers compensation or common law claims and any contract express or implied. This waiver includes all claims involving any continuing effects of actions or practices which arose prior to the date of this Settlement Agreement and bars the use in any way of any past action or practice in any subsequent claims, except pending workers' compensation claims.

H. The parties agree that if any portion of this Settlement Agreement is deemed unenforceable, the remainder of this Settlement Agreement shall be fully enforceable.

1. This agreement will become effective only if approved by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION. Any disapproval by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION shall not interfere with the rights of either party to pursue the matter further.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE

THIS SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE ("Agreement"), made this 17th day of October, 2017 by and between the County of Union, Park Environmental Services ("County"), a governmental entity created under the laws of the State of New Jersey, whose principal offices are located at 10 Elizabethtown Plaza, Elizabeth, New Jersey 07207; and, Louis McKnight, with a mailing address of 458 W. 3rd Avenue, Roselle, New Jersey 07203 ("McKnight") sets forth the terms and conditions of this Settlement Agreement and General Release between all of the aforementioned parties of an outstanding disciplinary action brought against McKnight by the County as follows:

1. A. On or about September 6, 2016, the County brought disciplinary charges against McKnight related to issues involving his position as a Building Maintenance Worker with the County, most notably regarding excessive and chronic absenteeism. McKnight was charged by the County based on those issues with violations of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(1) (Incompetency, inefficiency or failure to perform duties); N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(3) (Inability to perform duties); N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(4) (Chronic or excessive lateness); N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6) (Conduct unbecoming a public employee); N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(7) (Neglect of Duty); N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12) (Other sufficient cause); and, violations of Union County Employee Handbook.

   B. On February 21, 2017, the County found McKnight liable as to all of the charges set forth in §1A above and terminated McKnight, effective February 28, 2017; said decision was amended on September 4, 2017 as per a decision of the Honorable Kimberly Moss, ALJ. McKnight appealed said termination to the Office of Administrative Law which was to be heard by Judge Moss on September 20, 2017.

2. Prior to the September 20, 2017 appeal hearing before Judge Moss, McKnight and the County agreed to the following:

   (a) McKnight's employment status is converted to a resignation in good standing, retroactive to February 28, 2017. An irrevocable letter of resignation is attached and executed by McKnight and shall be made part of this Agreement.

   (b) McKnight shall withdraw, with prejudice, his appeal before the Office of Administrative Law, OAL Docket No. 03574-2017-N and Agency Reference No. CSC Docket No. 2017-2750 as to the aforementioned charges.

   (c) McKnight acknowledges that he has been paid in full by the County and is owed no additional benefits, compensation and/or emoluments by the County in any way, shape or form whatsoever as to the past, present or future. The County agrees to waive any monetary claims it may have against McKnight.

   (d) McKnight acknowledges that he is not entitled to any back pay, leave, benefits and/or prerequisites and/or emoluments related to his employment with the County from his first (1st) day of employment through February 28, 2017 and beyond.

   (e) McKnight shall be entitled to have prospective employers contact the County, through Dawn Packan and only Ms. Packan. Upon inquiring, a prospective employer will be advised of the following information: (1) date of hire with the County; (2) date of resignation from the County; (3) job title at the time of resignation; (4) McKnight resigned to pursue other opportunities; and, (5) it is the County's policy not to provide any other employee information to any prospective employer.

(f) McKnight and the County agree not to contest in any judicial, quasi-judicial or administrative forum any of the terms and conditions of this Agreement, except to enforce any of the provisions of this Agreement, if necessary.

3. A. McKnight hereby releases, acquits, gives up and forever discharges the County and any and all of its officials (elected and/or appointed), officers, employees, associates, attorneys, directors, partners, agents, servants, executors, administrators, heirs, personal representatives, assigns and designees (past, present and/or future), from any and all claims and rights that he may have arising from his employment with the County, through full execution by all parties to this Agreement. This releases any and all claims, including those for which McKnight, his family, heirs, designees, representatives and assigns are not aware of and/or those not mentioned in this Agreement. This Agreement applies to any and all claims and/or potential claims resulting from anything that has happened from McKnight's first (1st) date of employment with the County through the final execution date of this Agreement by all parties. McKnight specifically releases any and all claims and/or potential claims, including but not limited to, those arising under the following:

   A. Any collective bargaining agreement with the County covering McKnight and/or any other resolution, ordinance, policy, practice and/or procedure addressing, specifically or general, McKnight's employment with the County;

   B. The National Labor Relations Act;

   C. Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964;

   D. Sections 1981 through 1988 of Title 42 of the United States Code (Civil Rights Act of 1871);

E. Civil Rights Act of 1991;

F. The Americans with Disabilities Act;

G. The Rehabilitation Act of 1973;

H. The Age Discrimination in Employment Act;

I. The Fair Labor Standards Act;

J. The Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA) and the New Jersey Public Employee Occupational Safety and Health Act (NJPEOSHA);

K. The Equal Pay Act;

L. The Employee Retirement Income Security Act;

M. The New Jersey Law Against Discrimination;

N. The New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act;

O. The Family Medical Leave Act (Federal) and the Family Leave Act (New Jersey);

P. The Federal and New Jersey State Wage and Hour Acts;

Q. The Federal and New Jersey State Equal Pay Law;

R. The New Jersey Civil Rights Act;

S. The New Jersey Employer-Employee Relations Act;

T. Any other Federal, State and/or local civil rights law or any other local, State or Federal laws, regulations, statutes or ordinances involving labor/employment or other applicable matters;

U. Any public policy, contract (express, written, implied or oral), tort and/or common law;

V. Any claims for terminal, vacation, sick and/or personal leave with or without pay or payment pursuant to any practice, policy, handbook or manual of the County;

W. Any allegation for costs, fees or other expenses, including but not limited to attorneys' fees; and/or,

X. ANY AND ALL DAMAGES, WHICH ARE KNOWN AT THIS DATE ARISING FROM OR RELATING TO ANY AND/OR ALL PORTIONS OF HIS EMPLOYMENT WITH THE COUNTY. This covers any and all amendments and supplements to any and/or all such laws, statutes, rules and/or regulations.

3. B. The County hereby releases, acquits, gives up and forever discharges McKnight and any and all of his family (by blood relation and/or marriage), executors, heirs, administrators, assigns and designees from any and all claims and rights that the County may have as to McKnight's employment through full execution by all parties to this Agreement. This releases any and all claims including those for which the County and any of any and all of its officials (elected and/or appointed) are not aware of and/or those not mentioned in this Agreement. This Agreement applies to any and all claims and/or potential claims resulting from anything that has happened from McKnight's first (1st) date of employment with the County through the final execution date of this Agreement by all parties.

4. McKnight agrees that the within waiver and release in favor of the County shall also include his waiver and release from joining or being included in any class in any case in which any claim is asserted against the County, involving any event that has occurred on or before his execution of this Agreement, unless McKnight is found to be an indispensable party and ordered by a court to become a party to any such action. A copy of any such Order will be provided to the County for its records and response.

5. The waiver by McKnight and the County of a breach of any provision hereof shall not operate or be construed as a waiver of that breach by the other or as a waiver of any subsequent breach by the other.
6. This Agreement shall not set a precedent standard or practice between any party hereto and shall not be enforceable by any party hereto except to enforce the terms contained herein.
7. If any term, provision or condition of this Agreement is held invalid or unenforceable by a court of competent jurisdiction, such holding shall be without effect upon the validity, enforceability or any other clause, sentence, paragraph, section, provision, term and/or condition of this Agreement, provided that the essential consideration received by each party is not eliminated or materially reduced as a result of such declaration of invalidity.
8. This Agreement shall be construed, interpreted and applied in accordance with the laws of the State of New Jersey.
9. McKnight agrees that he has been fully and fairly represented by counsel.
10. McKnight and the County shall each bear all of their own costs and expenses arising from the actions of their own self or counsel in connection with this Agreement.
11. This Agreement contains the entire agreement between the parties hereto with regard to the matters set forth herein and shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of their officials (elected and/or appointed), officers, employees, associates, attorneys, directors, partners, agents, servants, executors, administrators, heirs, personal representatives, assigns and designees (past, present and/or future), except as may be set forth herein or as may be agreed to in a further writing between the parties hereto.

12. In entering into this Agreement, McKnight has had an opportunity to rely upon the legal advice of an attorney, if he so chooses, who is the attorney of his own choice. McKnight acknowledges that he is not under the influence of any drugs (illicit or prescription or non-prescription) or alcohol or both or is mentally incapacitated to the extent that he is unable to form rational thoughts and make rational decisions. McKnight also acknowledges that he was satisfied by the representation of his attorney in this matter.

13. McKnight acknowledges and agrees that: (a) he has carefully read this Agreement and fully understands its meaning, intent and terms; (b) he has full knowledge of its legal consequences; (c) he agrees to all of the terms of this Agreement and is voluntarily signing below; and, (d) other than as stated herein, McKnight attests that no other promises or inducements have been offered for him approval/execution of this Agreement.

14. McKnight understands that he has twenty-one (21) calendar days from his receipt of this Settlement Agreement and General Release to decide whether to sign this Settlement Agreement and General Release, although he need not wait the full twenty-one (21) calendar days to sign and deliver the Settlement Agreement and General Release to the County. By his signature below, McKnight represents and acknowledges that he had or could have had twenty-one (21) calendar days to consider the terms of this Settlement Agreement and General Release with any attorney/ representative of his choice prior to its execution and that he has voluntarily waived any unexpired portion of the twenty-one (21) calendar day review period. If McKnight signs this Settlement Agreement and General Release, he will have seven (7) calendar days from the date he signs the Settlement Agreement to withdraw his consent to the terms of this Settlement Agreement and General Release by submitting a signed written statement to Labor Counsel to the County by 5:00 p.m. on the seventh (7^{th}) calendar day stating: "I revoke my consent to the Settlement Agreement and General Release I signed with the County of Union, dated _____, 2017." If McKnight signs this Settlement Agreement and General Release and does not notify the Labor Counsel to the County in the manner set forth herein that he wishes to rescind such Settlement Agreement and General Release within seven (7) calendar days of him signing, then this Settlement Agreement and General Release will be deemed a binding and enforceable contract according to its terms. McKnight's rejection of this Agreement will result in a reinstatement of the termination of employment by the County of McKnight.

15. This Agreement is subject to County approval and execution by same and execution by McKnight.

16. Any notices as to any issues regarding this Agreement shall be sent to the following, by regular mail and certified mail, return receipt requested:

INITIAL DECISION
SETTLEMENT
OAL DKT. NO. CSV 14363-16
AGENCY DKT. No. 2017-269

TRINA R. PERRY,
Appellant,

v.

COUNTY OF BERGEN, DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES,
Respondent.

Matthew P. Rocco, Esq., for Appellant (Rothman, Rocco, La Ruffa, LLP, attorneys)

Eric M. Bernstein, Esq., for Respondent (Eric M. Bernstein & Associates, LLC, attorneys)

Record Closed: October 20, 2017 Decided: October 30, 2017

BEFORE JOHN P. SCOLLO, ALJ:

The Civil Service Commission transmitted this matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) and filed on September 21, 2016, for determination as a contested case. A telephone prehearing conference was held on October 21, 2016 and a hearing date was scheduled for May 22, 2017, but later rescheduled to June 12, 2017.

The parties mutually negotiated and agreed to the terms of a Settlement Agreement ("the Settlement Agreement"), which was signed by Trina Perry on July 25, 2017 and by Bergen County's authorized representative, Julian X. Neals, County Counsel and Acting County Administrator on August 10, 2017. Attached to the Settlement Agreement is a letter dated July 13, 2017 from Trina Perry to the New Jersey Department of Law and Public Safety, Division on Civil Rights with a copy also sent to the United States Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. In this July 13, 2017 letter, Trina Perry withdrew all charges of discrimination. The Settlement Agreement and the July 13, 2017 letter were presented to the Tribunal on September 26, 2017 by John Kaplan, Esq. of Eric Bernstein and Associates on behalf of Bergen County. On September 27, 2017, the Tribunal asked both counsel for proofs of mailing of the July 13, 2017 letter to both Civil Rights entities- the New Jersey Department of Law and Public Safety, Division of Civil Rights and the United States Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. On October 20, 2017, both counsel appeared at the OAL and assured the Tribunal that the July 13, 2017 letter was sent to both of the aforementioned Civil Rights entities. With the parties' consent, the tribunal marked the July 13, 2017 letter as Exhibit 'A' and as Exhibit 'B' to the Settlement Agreement.

Having reviewed the record and the settlement terms, I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by the signatures of the parties and/or their representatives.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and, therefore, ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

PLEASE CONSULT WITH AN ATTORNEY PRIOR TO SIGNING THIS SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE. BY SIGNING THIS DOCUMENT, YOU GIVE UP AND WAIVE IMPORTANT LEGAL RIGHTS THAT YOU MAY HAVE.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE

THIS SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE (hereinafter referred to as the "AGREEMENT"), is made this ___ day of _____, 2017 by and among the County of Bergen, a governmental entity created under the laws and Constitution of the State of New Jersey, whose principal offices are located at One Bergen County Plaza, Hackensack, New Jersey 07601 (hereinafter referred to as the "COUNTY") and Trina Perry, a former employee of the COUNTY with a mailing address of 56 Laurel Street, City of Paterson, State of New Jersey 07522 (hereinafter referred to as "PERRY").

1. The COUNTY, as defined and used throughout this Agreement, shall at all times mean the COUNTY OF BERGEN, its divisions, subdivisions, departments, agencies, affiliates, designees, predecessors, successors and assigns of any and all of them, their past, present and future directors, officers, officials (elected and/or appointed), representatives, employees, agents, attorneys and/or representatives, heirs, executors and administrators, whether in their individual or official capacities, in the past, present and future.

2. PERRY, as defined and used throughout this Agreement, shall mean TRINA PERRY, her family (by marriage and/or blood relation), relatives, heirs, representatives, designees, privies, executors, administrators, representatives, assigns, successors-in-interest and predecessors-in-interest.

3. The parties agree that this AGREEMENT is contingent upon and subject to execution by PERRY and approval and execution by the COUNTY.

Exhibit "B"

4. In consideration of the mutual promises of this AGREEMENT and for other good and valuable consideration, the sufficiency of which the parties hereby acknowledge, the parties agree to resolve all disciplinary actions between them under the terms of this AGREEMENT.

a. PERRY was formerly employed by the COUNTY in the title of Juvenile Detention Officer.

b. On or about June 7, 2016, the COUNTY served PERRY with a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action (hereinafter referred to as the "PNDA") in which the COUNTY charged PERRY with violations of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(1) (Incompetency, inefficiency or failure to perform duties); (a)(3) (Inability to perform duties); (a)(6) (Conduct unbecoming a public employee); (a)(7) (Neglect of duty); (a)(9); (a)(12) (Other sufficient cause); and, N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.5 and N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.7, immediately suspending PERRY from duty without pay based upon a determination that: (1) PERRY's suspension was necessary to maintain safety, health, order and/or effective direction of public services; (2) PERRY was formally charged with a crime of the second (2nd) degree; and, (3) based on the ongoing investigation of PERRY's situation, there existed a pending criminal complaint/indictment against PERRY.

c. On or about June 15, 2016, a hearing was held based upon PERRY's immediate suspension without pay only.

d. On or about June 29, 2016, a disciplinary hearing was held based upon the allegations set forth within PERRY's PNDA.

e. On or about July 17, 2016, PERRY's occupational status was changed to an administrative leave with pay.

f. On or about July 22, 2016, while still on unpaid administrative leave, and prior to the issuance of a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action (hereinafter referred to as an

"FNDA") PERRY filed a Major Disciplinary Appeal with the New Jersey Civil Service Commission, Division of Merit System Practices and Labor Relations.

g. On or about July 29, 2016, PERRY filed a verified complaint with the New Jersey Department of Law & Public Safety, Division on Civil Rights, Docket Number: EB62WK-66059, Federal Charge Number: 17E-2016-00378, claiming discrimination against her by the COUNTY.

5. On or about August 10, 2016, PERRY was served with an FNDA suspending her without pay for forty (40) working days to be served pending the resolution of her appeal and maternity leave and the completion of mandatory Juvenile Detention Officer Training.

6. On or about November 6, 2016, PERRY submitted formal paperwork changing her occupational status to an unpaid family medical leave pursuant to the Federal Family Medical Leave Act and the New Jersey Family Leave Act.

7. On or about March 17, 2017, PERRY submitted a written formal resignation to the COUNTY resigning her position as a Juvenile Detention Officer effective immediately.

8. PERRY's appeal of her disciplinary suspension was scheduled for a hearing in the Office of Administrative Law before the Honorable John Scollo, A.L.J., on June 12, 2017.

9. In order to avoid the time and expense of proceeding with the hearing, PERRY and the COUNTY, through their respective attorneys and/or representatives, agreed to enter into the within AGREEMENT upon the following terms and conditions, which are as follows:

a. PERRY's March 17, 2017 resignation from the County would remain and would be considered to be a resignation in good standing, dismissing the charges against her as set forth in her PNDA and FNDA.

b. The COUNTY shall pay to PERRY Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00) as back wages subject to a W-2 and all applicable income taxes and other applicable deductions.

c. PERRY shall not be paid for any accrued leave time (sick leave, personal leave, vacation leave, holiday leave, etc.) and only compensated for any back wages referenced in paragraph 9.b.

d. In consideration of the COUNTY's payment of Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00) to PERRY, PERRY shall send a letter to the United States Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, a copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit A, and the State of New Jersey Department of Law & Public Safety, Division on Civil Rights, a copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit B, formally withdrawing any and all claims of discrimination alleged by her against the COUNTY. The COUNTY shall receive a copy of Exhibit A and Exhibit B executed by PERRY with evidence it was sent to the respective governmental entities at the time PERRY executes this Agreement.

e. PERRY agrees that the within waiver and release in favor of the COUNTY shall also include her waiver and release from joining or being included in any class in any case in which any claim is asserted against the COUNTY, involving any event that has occurred on or before his execution of this Agreement, including, among other actions, any action involving the New Jersey Division on Civil Right and the United States Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, unless PERRY is found to be an indispensable party and ordered by a court to become a party to any such action. A copy of any such Order will be provided to the COUNTY for its records and response.

f. PERRY agrees not to contest, in any judicial, quasi-judicial or administrative forum, any of the terms and conditions of this AGREEMENT.

g. PERRY shall withdraw with prejudice her appeal before the Office of Administrative Law, CSC Docket No.14363-2016 N, Agency Reference No. 2017-269 and provide the COUNTY with a copy of same with evidence it has been transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law within ten (10) calendar days of PERRY's execution of this AGREEMENT.

10. PERRY releases, acquits, gives up and forever discharges any and all claims and rights that she may have against the COUNTY and any and all of its officials (past, present and future) (elected and/or appointed), officers, employees, representatives, assigns, successors and designees (past, present and future as to all categories listed), up to the time of complete execution of this AGREEMENT by all parties. This releases any and all claims, including those that PERRY, her family, designees, representatives and assigns are not aware and those not mentioned in this Agreement. This AGREEMENT applies to claims resulting from anything that has happened from PERRY's first (1st) date of application for employment with the COUNTY through the date of complete execution of this AGREEMENT by all parties. PERRY specifically releases the following claims:

a. Any collective bargaining agreement with the COUNTY covering PERRY and/or any other resolution, ordinance, policy, practice and/or procedure addressing, specifically or generally, PERRY's employment with the COUNTY;

b. The National Labor Relations Act;

c. Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964;

d. Sections 1981 through 1988 of Title 42 of the United States Code (Civil Rights Act of 1871);

e. Civil Rights Act of 1991;

f. The Americans with Disabilities Act ("ADA");

g. The Rehabilitation Act of 1973;

h. The Age Discrimination in Employment Act ("ADEA");

i. The Fair Labor Standards Act ("FLSA");

j. The Occupational Safety and Health Act ("OSHA") and the New Jersey Public Employee Occupational Safety and Health Act ("NJPEOSHA");

k. The Equal Pay Act;

l. The Employee Retirement Income Security Act ("ERISA");

m. The New Jersey Law Against Discrimination ("LAD");

n. The New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act ("CEPA");

o. The Family and Medical Leave Act (Federal) and the Family Leave Act (New Jersey);

p. The Federal and New Jersey State Wage and Hour Acts;

q. The Federal and New Jersey State Equal Pay Law;

r. The New Jersey Civil Rights Act;

s. The New Jersey Employer-Employee Relations Act;

t. Any other Federal, State and/or local civil rights law or any other local, State or Federal laws, regulations, statutes or ordinances involving labor/employment or other applicable matters;

u. Any claims under public policy, contract (express, written, implied or oral), tort and/or common law;

v. Any claims for terminal, vacation, sick and/or personal leave with or without pay or payment pursuant to any practice, policy, handbook or manual of the COUNTY;

w. Any allegation for costs, fees or other expenses, including but not limited to attorneys and/or representatives' fees; and/or,

x. ANY AND ALL CAUSES OF ACTION, CLAIMS OR DAMAGES, WHETHER KNOWN OR UNKNOWN AS OF THE DATE OF EXECUTION OF THIS AGREEMENT, ARISING FROM OR RELATING IN ANY WAY TO ANY AND/OR ALL PORTIONS OF PERRY'S EMPLOYMENT WITH THE COUNTY, FROM THE FIRST (1st) DATE OF HER EMPLOYMENT WITH THE COUNTY

THROUGH AND INCLUDING THE DATE OF COMPLETE EXECUTION OF THIS AGREEMENT BY ALL PARTIES.

This covers any and all amendments and supplements to any and/or all such laws, statutes, rules and/or regulations.

11. The waiver by PERRY and the COUNTY of a breach of any provision hereof shall not operate or be construed as a waiver of that breach by the other or as a waiver of any subsequent breach by the other.

12. This AGREEMENT contains the full agreement of PERRY and the COUNTY and may not be modified, altered, changed or terminated, except upon the express prior written consent of PERRY and the COUNTY, which consent must be in writing and signed by PERRY and the COUNTY and/or their duly authorized agents.

13. If any term, provision or condition of this AGREEMENT is held invalid or unenforceable by a court of competent jurisdiction, such holding shall be without effect upon the validity or enforceability of any other provision, term or condition of this AGREEMENT.

14. This AGREEMENT shall be construed and interpreted in accordance with the laws of the State of New Jersey.

15. This AGREEMENT shall become effective immediately as to PERRY following execution by PERRY and shall become effective upon the COUNTY after approval and execution by all applicable COUNTY officials.

16. PERRY and the COUNTY shall bear all costs and expenses arising from the actions of their own counsel and/or representatives in connection with this AGREEMENT.

17. This AGREEMENT contains the entire agreement between PERRY and the COUNTY with regard to all matters and shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of their officials (elected and/or appointed), officers (elected and/or appointed), directors, attorneys and/or representatives, representatives, employees, associates, partners, agents, servants, executors, administrators, personal representatives, heirs, successors and assigns of each and all other persons, firms, corporations, associations or partnerships or any other entity or persons connected therewith, except as set forth herein or as may be agreed to in writing between the parties.

18. All notices, demands and requests that are required and desired to be given shall be in writing and shall be sent regular mail and pre-paid, registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, addressed as follows:

19. PERRY understands and agrees that the COUNTY could have given her twenty-one (21) calendar days from the date of her receipt of this AGREEMENT to consider and review this AGREEMENT with her attorney and/or representative. By her signature below, PERRY agrees to waive the twenty-one (21) calendar day provision. Following her execution of this AGREEMENT, PERRY has a period of seven (7) calendar days to revoke this AGREEMENT. Revocation of the AGREEMENT must be undertaken by advising the COUNTY's attorney in writing at his address set forth in Paragraph 15 above by 5:00 P.M. of said seventh (7th) calendar day that she rescinds her agreement to same. Failure to revoke such AGREEMENT shall be considered an acceptance of the AGREEMENT. If the AGREEMENT is revoked, the COUNTY will pursue the disciplinary charges against PERRY at the Office of Administrative Law.

20. In entering into this AGREEMENT, PERRY has relied upon the legal advice of her attorney and/or representative, who is the attorney and/or representative of her own choosing, as to the terms of this AGREEMENT, which have been completely read and explained by her attorney and/or representative and those terms are fully understood and voluntarily accepted by PERRY. By executing this AGREEMENT, PERRY also warrants and affirms that, at the time of said execution, she was not suffering from any mental or psychological disorder, nor was she under the influence of alcohol or any drug and/or medication, prescribed by a physician or otherwise, which would prevent her from understanding the terms of this AGREEMENT. Furthermore, PERRY, by executing this AGREEMENT, warrants and affirms that she was not under any mental duress and was not coerced by any individual or other party to enter into this AGREEMENT. PERRY expressly acknowledges, represents and warrants that: (a) she has carefully read this AGREEMENT; (b) she fully understands the terms, conditions, and significance of this AGREEMENT; (c) she has had ample time to consider and negotiate this AGREEMENT; (d) she has had a full opportunity to review this AGREEMENT; (e) she is able to make an informed decision and is not physically, medically or mentally incapacitated so that she is able to make an informed decision to accept the AGREEMENT; (f) she has executed this AGREEMENT voluntarily and knowingly, and with the advice of her own counsel and/or representative, if applicable; (g) she agrees that she has been fully, fairly and adequately represented by her union, Local 655 USWU IUJAT, its officers, employees, agents, attorneys and parent unions in all matters relating to her employment and separation therefrom, including the negotiations and execution of this agreement; and, (h) she releases the aforementioned entities from any claims and remedies assertable in connection with her employment with Bergen County and separation therefrom.

Docket No.: EB62WK-66059

Dear Mr. Sashihara:

I wish to withdraw my charge of discrimination in this matter. With the help of my labor union, and in connection with another quasi-judicial proceeding I had initiated against Bergen County, I have globally resolved all the issues relating to my employment separation therefrom.

I also wish to withdraw the Charge of discrimination which was administratively, and simultaneously, filed with the U.S. EEOC.

I thank you very much for your Agency's attention to my case.

Sincerely,

Trina Perry

Record Closed: October 12, 2017 Decided: October 26, 2017

BEFORE DEAN J. BUONO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on April 12, 2016, for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

Appellant, a sherrif's officer with the Gloucester County Sheriff's Department, appeals a fifteen-working-day suspension effective March 8, 2016. On October 12, 2017, the parties filed a fully executed Settlement Agreement in this matter. The Agreement is attached and fully incorporated herein. (J-1).

FINDINGS OF FACT

I have reviewed the terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures to J-1.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10..

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

BETWEEN

THE GLOUCESTER COUNTY SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT

AND

GEORGE URBAN

This Settlement Agreement is made by and between the Gloucester County Sheriff's Department ("GCSD") and Sergeant George Urban ("Urban") (collectively, the "parties") as follows:

WHEREAS, the GCSD charged Sergeant Urban with insubordination pursuant to GCSD Rules of Conduct Rule 1.4 and N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(2) regarding an email sent by Sergeant Urban to his superior, Lieutenant Barry Fell, on April 6, 2014;

WHEREAS, Urban waived a departmental hearing and appealed the discipline to the Office of Administrative Law ("OAL"), Case No. CSV 056072016S, Agency No. 2016-3114; and

WHEREAS, the parties appeared for trial on May 3, 2017 at the OAL before the Honorable Dean Buono, A.L.J.; and

WHEREAS, the parties desired to amicably resolve the above controversy without the need for further legal proceedings; and

WHEREAS, as a result of further negotiations prior to trial, the parties reached the terms of a settlement, with such terms being placed on the record prior to the start of trial on May 3, 2017;

NOW THEREFORE, in consideration of the covenants, conditions, and promises herein, the parties agree as follows:

1. Terms of Settlement

    1. The charges in the Final Notice of Disciplinary Action dated February 23, 2015, and attached hereto as Exhibit A shall be sustained.

    2. The penalty for the foregoing charges shall be reduced from a 15-day suspension without pay to a 6-day suspension without pay.

3. As Sgt. Urban previously served ten (10) days of suspension, the GCSD agrees to pay four (4) days of back pay to Sgt. Urban within thirty (30) days of this Agreement.

4. Sgt. Urban releases all procedural and substantive challenges with regard to all disciplinary matters referenced herein. This release includes the right to appeal or otherwise challenge the disciplinary charges and penalty therein. This release further includes any claims, suits, grievances, unfair practice charges, arbitration demands, or other legal action arising from the events underlying these disciplinary charges. This release is intended to be a full general release with regard to these disciplinary charges, and Urban therefore waives all claims, causes of action, or demands against the Sheriff and/or the County of Gloucester and/or any of its agents, officers, or employees arising under any contract (express or implied), common law, federal or State constitutional provision, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Civil Rights Act of 1991, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Family Leave Act, the Family and Medical Leave Act, the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, the Equal Pay Act, the Conscientious Employee Protection Act, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, Title 11A- the Civil Service Act, the Older Workers Benefits Protection Act, the Occupational Safety and Health Act, the Public Employee Occupational Safety and Health Act, the New Jersey Smoking Act, the New Jersey Civil Rights Act, New Jersey wages and hours law, public works statutes, unemployment compensation laws, and disability benefits laws.

5. The parties acknowledge that under N.J.A.C. 17:1-2.18, no pension or seniority time may be credited for periods for which the employee is not paid by the employer.

6. GCSD shall amend Sgt. Urban's personnel records to conform to the terms of the settlement. All internal records of the GCSD will be kept intact. Nothing herein shall preclude GCSD from releasing information on this matter to anyone who has a release executed by Sgt. Urban or as consistent with law.

2. Dismissal and Covenant Not to Demand, Arbitrate or Sue

Sergeant Urban agrees to the dismissal with prejudice of the matter of George Urban v. Gloucester County Sheriff's Department, CSV 05607-2016 S. Agency Ref. No. 2016-3114. Sgt. Urban further agrees that no other demands, arbitration, or lawsuits shall be filed in connection with the events which underlie this matter.

3. Entire Agreement

This agreement contains the sole and entire agreement between the parties hereto and fully supersedes any and all prior agreements and understanding pertaining to the subject matter hereof. The parties represent and acknowledge that, prior to executing this agreement, they consulted their attorneys, that they had ample time to do so, that they obtained the advice of counsel prior to making the decision to execute the agreement, and that they have not relied upon any representation or statement not set forth in this agreement made by counsel or representatives with regard to the subject matter of this agreement. No other promises or agreements shall be binding unless in writing, signed by the parties hereto, and expressly stated to represent an amendment to this agreement.

4. Severability

The parties agree that if any court declares any portion of this agreement unenforceable, the remaining portion shall be fully enforceable.

5. Effective Date

This Agreement will become effective on the date on which all parties have signed the agreement.

6. Not Admissible/No Past Practice or Precedent

This agreement is not intended to be used and shall not be used as evidence or for any other purpose in any other action or proceeding, other than evidence of the parties' compromise as set forth herein or to enforce the terms of this agreement. Nothing in this agreement shall be used, considered, construed, or interpreted to constitute a past practice or precedent of any kind.

7. Counterparts

This agreement may be executed in one or more counterparts, each of which shall be fully effective without the others, and all of which shall collectively constitute an original of this agreement. Facsimile or .pdf signatures shall be treated as originals for all purposes applicable hereto but the parties agree to exchange fully executed (non-facsimile) originals as soon as they are reasonably able to do so.

8. Sufficient Review

By signing this agreement, Sgt. Urban acknowledges:

A. HE HAS READ IT;

B. HE UNDERSTANDS IT AND KNOWS HE IS GIVING UP IMPORTANT RIGHTS, INCLUDING THE RIGHT TO PURSUE THE MATTER AT A TRIAL BEFORE THE OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATIVE LAW OR TO PURSUE THE MATTER AT ANY LEVEL OR THROUGH ANY OTHER FORUM CONCERNING THIS MATTER;

C. HE AGREES WITH EVERYTHING IN IT;

D. THE SGT. URBAN'S ATTORNEY NEGOTIATED THIS AGREEMENT WITH HIS KNOWLEDGE AND CONSENT;

E. HE HAS BEEN ADVISED TO CONSULT WITH HIS ATTORNEY PRIOR TO EXECUTING THIS AGREEMENT; AND

F. HE HAS SIGNED THIS SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE KNOWINGLY AND VOLUNTARILY AND WITHOUT ANY UNDUE INFLUENCE OR PHYSICAL OR MENTAL IMPAIRMENT.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, GCSD and Sgt. Urban hereto knowingly and voluntarily execute this Agreement:

Re: Gabriel Rivera v. City of Newark (CSC Docket No. 2016-2774 and OAL Docket No. CSV 3286-16) - SETTLEMENT

Dear Mr. Fusco and Ms. Holmes:

The appeal of Gabriel Rivera, a Police Officer with the City of Newark Police Department, of his six working day suspension, was before Administrative Law Judge Joann LaSala Candido (ALJ), who returned the matter to the Civil Service Commission (Commission) on November 21, 2017 indicating that the parties had reached a settlement.

The time frame for the Commission to make its final decision was to initially expire on January 12, 2018. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. Prior to that date, the Commission secured a 45-day extension of time to render its final decision no later than February 26, 2018. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. While this matter is now ready for presentation to the Commission, there is currently not a quorum of members available to hold a meeting. Based on this information, and since we have no information as to when a quorum will be convened and the settlement complies with Civil Service law and rules, the Commission has determined that there is no reason to delay the final disposition of this matter any further by requesting any additional extensions of time. Under these circumstances, the ALJ's recommended decision will be deemed adopted, effective February 27, 2018, as the final decision in this matter per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c).

Sincerely,

AGENCY DKT. NO. 2016-2774

IN THE MATTER OF GABRIEL RIVERA, CITY OF NEWARK POLICE DEPARTMENT,

---

Anthony J. Fusco, Esq. for appellant (Fusco & Macaluso, LLC)

Kimberly K. Holmes, Esq., for respondent (Assistant Corporation Counsel, attorney)

Record Closed: November 13, 2017 Decided: November 21, 2017

BEFORE JOANN LASALA CANDIDO, ALAJ:

This matter was received at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on February 29 2016, for resolution as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F1 to -13 and assigned initially to ALJ Joan Bedrin-Murray. When reassigned to me, a telephone prehearing was conducted wherein the parties agreed on dates for hearing. During the pendency of the November 2017 hearing, the parties resolved all issues in dispute. The parties prepared and submitted a Settlement Agreement, which is attached hereto for reference.

Having reviewed the contents of the attached Settlement Agreement, I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures and/or the signatures of their representatives.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and, therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Re: Ermath Albery v. Morris County, Department of Human Service (CSC Docket No. 2017-2546 and OAL Docket No. CSV 2611-17)

Dear Mr. Wenocur and Mr. Harrington:

The appeal of Ermath Albery, an Institutional Attendant with Morris County, Department of Human Services, of her removal on charges, was before Administrative Law Judge Thomas R. Betancourt (ALJ), who rendered his initial decision on November 27, 2017, recommending upholding the removal. Exceptions were filed on behalf of the appellant and a reply to exceptions was filed on behalf of the appointing authority.

The time frame for the Commission to make its final decision was to initially expire on January 11, 2018. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. Prior to that time the Commission secured a 45-day extension of time until February 25, 2018, and since if does not currently have a quorum, requested consent of the parties, as required, for an additional 45-day extension to render its final decision no later than April 11, 2018. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. However, the appointing authority did not provide consent for a further extension. Under these circumstances, the ALJ's recommended decision will be deemed adopted as the final decision in this matter per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c), effective February 26, 2018.

INITIAL DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. CSV 02611-17
CSC DKT. NO. 2017-2546

IN THE MATTER OF ERMATH ALBERY, MORRIS COUNTY DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES.

Samuel B. Wenocur, Esq., for Appellant Ermath Albery (Oxfeld Cohen, attorneys)

John P Harrington, Esq., for Respondent Morris County Department of Human Services (Trimboli & Prusinowski, attorneys)

Record Closed: November 2, 2017 Decided: November 27, 2017

BEFORE THOMAS R. BETANCOURT, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Appellant, Ermath Albery, appeals a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action (FNDA), dated January 18, 2017, providing a penalty of removal effective the same date.

The Civil Service Commission transmitted the contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14f-1 to -13, to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on February 22, 2017.

A hearing was held on September 1, 2017. The record remained open to November 2, 2017, to afford the parties the opportunity to submit written summations.

ISSUES

Whether there is sufficient credible evidence to sustain the charges set forth in the Final Notice of Disciplinary Action; and, if sustained, whether a penalty of removal is warranted.

SUMMARY OF RELEVANT TESTIMONY

Respondent's Case

Sharon Crooks, testified as follows:

She is employed as a Clerk III at Morris View Healthcare Center (Morris View). She is responsible for scheduling of Certified Nurse's Aides (CNA), does their time cards and payroll, among other things. She also maintains a spreadsheet to track expiration dates for the CNAs' certifications. The expiration dates are obtained from the CNA's certification card when they are first hired.

She periodically checks the PSI website to check on certification status. PSI is a service contracted by the New Jersey Department of Health (NJDOH or State) to do CNA recertification.

A valid and current CNA certification is required to work as a CNA at Morris View.

A CNA would usually receive a renewal form in the mail from the State of New Jersey within two to three months prior the certificate expiration. The forms would be brought to Ms. Crooks, who would then complete the employee information, give the form to the Administrator for signature, and return to the CNA to take to the PSI office to complete the renewal process. No examination is required to renew a CNA certification.

There was one previous instance where a CNA had an expired certification. The CNA had moved and did not receive the renewal notice. She was notified by Morris View, taken off the schedule, and given time to complete the renewal process.

Ms. Crooks had discussions with Appellant in October 2016 regarding the renewal of her CNA certification prior to its expiration. Ms. Crooks advised Appellant that her certification was about to expire. Appellant acknowledged she was aware of the matter and that she would attend to it. Appellant's certification was due to expire on November 12, 2016.

Appellant had requested time off to attend to the recertification. She did not hear from Appellant after she requested time off. Appellant was called to Ms. Crooks office on Monday, November 14. 2016, and was told by Appellant that the recertification was not done. Appellant advised she would complete it by November 16, 2016. Elizabeth Wheelan, assistant director of nursing, was also present at this time.

Ms. Crooks did not hear from Appellant by November 17, 2016. Ms. Crooks checked the NJDOH website and discovered that Appellant's certification was revoked. Ms. Crooks then informed Ms. Wheelan and the Director of Nursing by email.

On November 21, 2016, Appellant telephoned Ms. Crooks to advise her that there was something on her certification from her other employment. Appellant advised she had an appointment with NJDOH on November 29, 2016. Appellant did not advise Ms. Crooks that her certification was revoked.

Appellant again telephoned Ms. Crooks on December 8, 2016, and advised she needed to retake the CNA course to become recertified. She further advised she was enrolled in the class for recertification and should be recertified on December 29, 2016, when the class is finished. Appellant did not advise Ms. Crooks her certification was revoked during the telephone conversation.

Appellant was not reinstated on December 29, 2016. Ms. Crooks had no further communication with Appellant thereafter.

Appellant was given the option to resign, or be terminated, and to reapply for employment after she became recertified. Appellant chose to request a hearing.

Elizabeth Wheelan, Assistant Director of Nursing, testified as follows:

Her responsibilities include hiring and staffing.

There is a difference between revocation of a certification and expiration of a certification. Revocation is the removal of a certification in good standing. Abuse or neglect are the biggest causes of revocation. It is important to know the reason for a revocation.

Ms. Wheelan met with Appellant on November 14, 2016, to discuss Appellant's failure to renew her certification. She was advised that it would be done by November 16, 2016. There was no discussion about her certification being revoked.

Ms. Wheelan again met with Appellant on December 14, 2016. Appellant requested being placed in another department as she could not work as a CNA. Appellant was asked about the revocation of her certification at this meeting. Appellant only said it was related to another job. Appellant was advised that her request to work in another department could not be accommodated as they did not know the reason for the revocation.

At this time the County advised that incentive checks were being issued to employees. Appellant was due for an incentive check but had not been working. Therefore, Jennifer Carpentiery, the Director of Human Resources at the County of Morris, became involved. This then caused Ms. Wheelan to contact the State Department of Health and Senior Services.

Ms. Wheelan contacted the State on December 15, 2016, and spoke to one Jodi Nocks, who was the person handling Appellant's matter regarding the revocation. Ms. Nocks informed Ms. Wheelan that Appellant's certification had been revoked on April 14, 2016. Ms. Nocks advised she was not able to provide details regarding the revocation.

Ms. Wheelan had a second conversation with Jodi Nocks on December 16, 2016, to request written confirmation regarding Appellant's revocation. Ms. Nocks advised in an email that no such letter could be issued.

No one at Morris View received any notification regarding Appellant's certification revocation.

Ms. Wheelan had no further communication with Appellant after the two conversations with Ms. Knox.

Ms. Wheelan was aware of a letter from the State advising Appellant that abuse charges against her were dismissed and the revocation was removed. Ms. Wheelan first became aware of this letter at the departmental hearing on removing Appellant from employment on disciplinary charges.

Appellant would not be able to work as a CNA whether her certification was revoked or expired.

Ms. Wheelan was not involved in the decision to issue the Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action (PNDA).

Appellant's Case

Ermath Albery, Appellant, testified as follows:

She was hired on August 17, 2015, by Morris View to work as a CNA. Her CNA certification is current and expires on March 6, 2019. CNA certifications must be renewed every two years. Ms. Albery recounted the certification renewal process. The State send out the renewal package about two months prior to expiration. The employer is required to complete the form. The completed form, together with a fee of $30, is submitted to PSI. This is the only item received every two years for recertification.

Ms. Albery stated her mail was sent to her parent's home address. She does not live with her parents, but this was the address on file with the State. She further stated that her parents usually leave for Haiti every year from March to October and therefore, did not receive her mail. She stated she did not receive mail from the State prior to 2016 as her parents were away.

Ms. Albery stated she established her own residence in May 2016 and notified the State of her new address in August 2016.

She was aware of the certification revocation allegation. They stemmed from a patient-abuse incident at a facility in Oakland, New Jersey, where she was also employed. That facility in Oakland never advised her of the allegation. She was never interviewed by the State regarding the allegation. She was not aware of an investigation. She never received a letter from the State regarding the same.

Ms. Albery did receive the recertification form from the State in August 2016 and provided it to Ms. Crooks for the employer section to be completed. The recertification documentation did not contain a reference to her certificate being revoked. The only other mail she received from the State was in December 2016.

Ms. Albery spoke to Ms. Crooks on October 27, 2016, to arrange to take off on Monday, October 31, 2016, to renew her certification. However, she did not take that day off and worked sixteen hours. She then asked for November 7, 2016, off for the same purpose. She was still unaware her certification was revoked. She did not renew her certification on November 7, 2016, as her mother was ill. On November 8, 2016, she was in the office to speak with Ms. Crooks regarding her recertification. Ms. Albery stated she was still unaware of the revocation at this time. On November 11, 2016, she spoke with Ms. Paula Howard from the State and was informed for the first time her certification was revoked.

Ms. Albery again spoke with Ms. Crooks on November 14, 2016, who advised that her certification was expired and she was still working. Ms. Albery advised Ms. Crooks that there was something on her license. She did not work thereafter.

On November 29, 2016, she met with Ms. Howard, Jody Nocks, and another person from the State. She showed them all the certified mail that was not delivered. She was not told she was revoked at this meeting. She spoke with Ms. Crooks the day after and advised Ms. Crooks she had to retake the CNA course to regain certification.

She reviewed an undated letter she sent to Paula Howard acknowledging receipt of Ms. Howard's letter to her dated November 3, 2016. Ms. Albery stated she did not receive Ms. Howard's letter of November 3, 2016. Ms. Albery also stated she did not know where Ms. Howard's letter of November 3, 2016, is as it was misplaced. The November 3, 2016, letter from Ms. Howard informed Ms. Albery of the allegation of patient abuse. Ms. Albery did not inform anyone at Morris View as to the content of the letter.

Ms. Albery stated she was terminated at the Oakland facility in June 2015 and knew the reason for the termination was an allegation of patient abuse. She did not inform anyone at Morris View of her termination, or the reason for it, at the Oakland facility. She started working at Morris View in August 2015.

Ms. Albery completed her recertification class and took the exam on March 6, 2017.

CREDIBILITY

When witnesses present conflicting testimonies, it is the duty of the trier of fact to weigh each witness's credibility and make a factual finding. In other words, credibility is the value a fact finder assigns to the testimony of a witness, and it incorporates the overall assessment of the witness's story in light of its rationality, consistency, and how it comports with other evidence. Carbo v. United States, 314 F.2d 718 (9th Cir. 1963); see In re Polk, 90 N.J. 550 (1982). Credibility findings "are often influenced by matters such as observations of the character and demeanor of witnesses and common human experience that are not transmitted by the record." State v. Locurto, 157 N.J. 463 (1999). A fact finder is expected to base decisions of credibility on his or her common sense, intuition or experience. Barnes v. United States, 412 U.S. 837, 93 S. Ct. 2357, 37 L. Ed. 2d 380 (1973).

The finder of fact is not bound to believe the testimony of any witness, and credibility does not automatically rest astride the party with more witnesses. In re Perrone, 5 N.J. 514 (1950). Testimony may be disbelieved, but may not be disregarded at an administrative proceeding. Middletown Twp. v. Murdoch, 73 N.J. Super. 511 (App. Div. 1962). Credible testimony must not only proceed from the mouth of credible witnesses but must be credible in itself. Spagnuolo v. Bonnet, 16 N.J. 546 (1954).

Both Ms. Crooks and Ms. Wheelan were credible. They both testified in a direct and straightforward manner. They were professional and composed. They did not hesitate when answering. Nothing about their testimony would lead anyone to believe they were not credible.

Ms. Albery's testimony was less forthcoming. She at times hesitated in her answers. Most compelling was her denial of having received a letter from Ms. Howard at the State dated November 3, 2016. This denial was maintained even though she acknowledges receipt of said letter in her undated letter in response thereto. She knew of the allegation of patient abuse at the Oakland facility had been lodged with the State at the very least by the time she received this letter.

Further, she stated the first time she was aware of the allegation of patient abuse was when she met with Ms. Howard, Ms. Nocks, and another person from the State on November 29, 2016. This is simply not true based upon her later testimony when she stated she knew when she was discharged by the Oakland facility in May 2015; it was due to an allegation of patient abuse.

I deem Ms. Albery not credible.

FINDINGS OF FACT

I FIND the following FACTS:

1. Appellant was employed by Morris View as a CNA.
2. A CNA receives certification from the State which must be renewed every two years.
3. At the time of Appellant's employment with Morris View her CNA certification was due to expire on November 12, 2016. (R-12.)
4. Prior to the date set for the expiration of her CNA certification Appellant received a renewal form from the State.
5. Appellant provided the renewal form to Morris View who are required to complete the same. Morris View completed the employer portion of the form.
6. Appellant did not renew her certification in a timely manner and her CNA certification expired on November 12, 2016.
7. Prior to the expiration of her certification it was revoked by the State based upon an allegation of patient abuse at Appellant's prior employment in Oakland, New Jersey. The revocation date was April 14, 2016. (R-4, R-7, and R-8.)

8. Appellant knew at the time of her discharge from the Oakland facility that the discharge was based upon an allegation of patient abuse.

9. Appellant failed to inform Morris View that her certification was revoked.

10. Appellant failed to timely renew her certification.

11. The charges of patient abuse were ultimately removed from Appellant's record and her status was changed from revoked to expired. This was effective December 6, 2016. (R-11.)

12. Appellant knew at some time prior to her termination from Morris View that her certification was revoked and did not inform Morris View of the same.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

The Civil Service Act, N.J.S.A. 11A:1-1 to -12.6, governs a civil service employee's rights and duties. The Act is an important inducement to attract qualified personnel to public service and is to be liberally construed toward attainment of merit appointments and broad tenure protection. See Essex Council No. 1, N.J. Civil Serv. Ass'n v. Gibson, 114 N.J. Super. 576 (Law Div. 1971), rev'd on other grounds, 118 N.J. Super. 583 (App. Div. 1972); Mastrobattista v. Essex County Park Comm'n, 46 N.J. 138, 147 (1965). The Act also recognizes that the public policy of this state is to provide appropriate appointment, supervisory and other personnel authority to public officials in order that they may execute properly their constitutional and statutory responsibilities. N.J.S.A. 11A:1-2(b). In order to carry out this policy, the Act also includes provisions authorizing the discipline of public employees.

A public employee who is protected by the provisions of the Civil Service Act may be subject to major discipline for a wide variety of offenses connected to his or her employment. The general causes for such discipline are set forth in N.J.A.C. 4A:2 2.3(a). In an appeal from such discipline, the appointing authority bears the burden of proving the charges upon which it relies by a preponderance of the competent, relevant and credible evidence. N.J.S.A. 11A:2-21; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-1.4(a); Atkinson v. Parsekian, 37 N.J. 143 (1962); Polk, supra, 90 N.J. 550. The evidence must be such as to lead a reasonably cautious mind to a given conclusion.

Bornstein v. Metro. Bottling Co., 26 N.J. 263 (1958). Therefore, the judge must "decide in favor of the party on whose side the weight of the evidence preponderates, and according to the reasonable probability of truth." Jackson v. Del., Lackawanna and W. R.R., 111 N.J.L. 487, 490 (E. & A. 1933). This burden of proof falls on the agency in enforcement proceedings to prove violations of administrative regulations. Cumberland Farms v. Moffett, 218 N.J. Super. 331, 341 (App. Div. 1987).

This forum has the duty to decide in favor of the party on whose side the weight of the evidence preponderates, in accordance with a reasonable probability of truth. Evidence is said to preponderate "if it establishes 'the reasonable probability of the fact.'" Preponderance may also be described as the greater weight of credible evidence in the case, not necessarily dependent on the number of witnesses, but having the greater convincing power. State v. Lewis, 67 N.J. 47 (1975). The evidence must "be such as to lead a reasonably cautious mind to a given conclusion." Bornstein, supra, 26 N.J. at 275. The burden of proof falls on the appointing authority in enforcement proceedings to prove a violation of administrative regulations. Cumberland Farms, supra, 218 N.J. Super. at 341. The respondent must prove its case by a preponderance of the credible evidence, which is the standard in administrative proceedings. Atkinson, supra, 37N.J. at 143. The evidence needed to satisfy the standard must be decided on a case-by-case basis.

An appeal to the Merit System Board requires the Office of Administrative Law to conduct a de novo hearing and to determine appellant's guilt or innocence as well as the appropriate penalty. In the Matter of Morrison, 216 N.J. Super. 143 (App. Div. 1987).

The sustained charges in the Final Notice of Disciplinary Action (R-2) are set forth as: incompetency, inefficiency or failure to perform duties; inability to perform duties; conduct unbecoming a public employee; neglect of duty; and, other sufficient cause. These charges are set forth in N.J.A.C. 4A:2.3(1), (3), (6), (7) and (12) respectively.

Nothing in the factual record supports a finding of incompetency, inefficiency or failure to perform her duties. No testimony or documentary evidence was presented to support the allegations contained in this charge. Accordingly, Respondent has not carried its burden as to the first charge set forth in the FNDA.

Respondent has more than carried its burden by a preponderance of the credible evidence that Appellant was unable to perform her duties. Appellant was legally barred from performing her duties as her certification had expired on November 12, 2016. Appellant was not recertified until March 6, 2017. From the time of expiration to the time of her discharge from Morris View Appellant was legally unable to perform the duties of a CNA.

I cannot conclude that Respondent has demonstrated by a preponderance of the credible evidence that Appellant is guilty of conduct unbecoming a public employee. Merely not renewing a certification does not amount to conduct unbecoming.

"Conduct unbecoming a public employee" encompasses conduct that adversely affects the morale or efficiency of a governmental unit or that has a tendency to destroy public respect for government employees and confidence in the operation of governmental services. Karins v. City of Atl. City, 152 N.J. 532, 554 (1998). It is sufficient that the complained-of conduct and its attending circumstances "be such as to offend publicly accepted standards of decency." Id. at 555 (citation omitted). Such misconduct need not necessarily "be predicated upon the violation of any particular rule or regulation, but may be based merely upon the violation of the implicit standard of good behavior which devolves upon one who stands in the public eye as an upholder of that which is morally and legally correct." Hartmann v. Police Dep't of Ridgewood, 258 N.J. Super. 32, 40 (App. Div. 1992) (citation omitted).

I can conclude that Respondent has met its burden on the charge of neglect of duty. It was certainly the duty of Appellant to maintain her certification. Without it she could work. Appellant did not maintain that certification and permitted her certification to expire.

There is no definition in the New Jersey Administrative Code for neglect of duty, but the charge has been interpreted to mean that an employee has failed to perform and act as required by the description of their job title. Neglect of duty can arise from an omission or failure to perform a duty and includes official misconduct or misdoing, as well as negligence. Generally, the term "neglect" connotes a deviation from normal standards of conduct. In In re Kerlin, 151 N.J. Super. 179, 186 (App. Div. 1977), neglect of duty implies nonperformance of some official duty imposed upon a public employee, not merely commission of an imprudent act. Rushin v. Bd. of Child Welfare, 65 N.J. Super. 504, 515 (App. Div. 1961).

The penalty of removal was the only option available to Respondent as Appellant was not legally permitted to perform her job.

I CONCLUDE that the respondent has carried its burden to prove by a preponderance of the credible evidence that that appellant was guilty of the charges of inability to perform duties and neglect of duty set forth the Final Notice of Disciplinary Action.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that appellant's appeal is DENIED;

It is further ORDERED that charges contained in the Final Notice of Disciplinary Action dated May 5, 2015, of inability to perform duties in violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2.3(3), and neglect of duty in violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2.3(7) are SUSTAINED, and penalty of removal, effective January 18, 2017, is AFFIRMED.

I hereby FILE my Initial Decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, DIVISION OF APPEALS AND REGULATORY AFFAIRS, UNIT H, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, 44 South Clinton Avenue, P.O. Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Re: Yvonne Ellis v. Jersey City Public Schools (CSC Docket Nos. 2016-2483 and 2017-2373; OAL Docket Nos. CSV 1656-17 and 4261-16) (Consolidated)

Dear Mr. Wenocur and Ms. Moore:

The appeals of Yvonne Ellis, a Community Aide Schools with the Jersey City Public Schools, of her nine working day suspension and removal on charges, were before Administrative Law Judge Michael Antoniewicz (ALJ), who rendered his consolidated initial decision on November 27, 2017, recommending upholding the suspension and removal. Exceptions were filed on behalf of the appellant and a reply to exceptions was filed on behalf of the appointing authority.

The time frame for the Commission to make its final decision was to initially expire on January 12, 2018. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. Prior to that time the Commission secured a 45-day extension of time until February 26, 2018, and since if does not currently have a quorum, requested consent of the parties, as required, for an additional 45-day extension to render its final decision no later than April 12, 2018. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. However, the appointing authority did not provide consent for a further extension. Under these circumstances, the ALJ's recommended decision will be deemed adopted as the final decision in this matter per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c), effective February 27, 2018.

Record Closed: October 13, 2017 Decided: November 27, 2017

BEFORE MICHAEL ANTONIEWICZ, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

On August 6, 2007, appellant Yvonne Ellis, was hired by the City of Jersey City, Public Schools (respondent) as a Community Aide. Her disciplinary history indicates disciplinary actions were taken on July 19, 2010, and March 5, 2012. On December 10, 2015, respondent issued to appellant a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action (FNDA) for the following charges: Violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(7), neglect of duty; violation of

N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(11), other sufficient cause; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6), insubordination; and N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(5), failure to perform duties. On September 18, 2013, respondent reported specifications for the PNDA in the form of a letter, in pertinent part, as follows:

> Between June 17, 2013 and September 18, 2013, you have been absent a total of twenty-one and a half day (21½) from work. You have exhausted all of your sick time and presently have been placed on salary deletion. You were given a Memorandum on June 21, 2013 regarding Departmental Time and Attendance Policy.
> Despite repeated warnings you have shown a frequent nature of absenteeism and lateness, which demonstrates an unwillingness to meet, obtain or produce the effects necessary for adequate or satisfactory performance.
> As of September 11, 2013, you have been absent without official leave for five (5) consecutive days and you have failed to follow the Leave of Absence Procedure.

Appellant was notified that the disciplinary action against her for the charges in the PNDA may be removal or resignation not in good standing effective September 11, 2013. Appellant requested an internal hearing on the PNDA charges, which was held on October 2, 2013.

On January 20, 2017, respondent issued a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action (FNDA) that sustained all charges set forth in the PNDA the charges include chronic and excessive absenteeism, neglect of duty, conduct unbecoming, and other just cause. The disciplinary action against appellant is removal effective January 29, 2017. On January 23, 2017, appellant requested an appeal of the FNDA disciplinary action.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The New Jersey Civil Services Commission Division of Appeals and Regulatory Affairs transmitted the matters to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where they were filed on March 18, 2016 (as to CSV 04261-16) and February 3, 2017 (as to CSV 01656-17), for a hearing pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to B-15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to F-13. The undersigned was assigned and an Order of Consolidation was issued on March 2, 2017, consolidating the matters. The matters were scheduled for hearing dates on May 30, 2017, June 7, 2017, June 13, 2017, June 23, 2017, and June 28, 2017.

TESTIMONY

Maribell Rivera

Maribell Rivera (Rivera) is employed by the Jersey City Public School District as an attendance counselor for four years, but worked for the Jersey City School District for seventeen years, overall. Prior to being an attendance counselor, Rivera was an attendance clerk in the attendance department, in the central office. Rivera's duties in her current job is to oversee the community aides (CA) from all the schools which were assigned to her and PS 38 is one of her schools. Rivera does home visits and gives out legal notices. Rivera works with parents regarding truancy. Rivera also trains all the CAs in the school district. Rivera trains the CAs to use Infinite Campus, which is a system that the school district uses in order to track students' attendance and tardiness. Through this system a CA has access to print out a daily attendance record and has access to students' records, parents' names, telephone numbers, and other information. Rivera believes that it was first used in the 2013-2014 school year. Prior to this program, the school used the AS 400. The training for the CAs on Infinite Campus was held once a year, when the employees came back to their school. In a conference room, there is a training session teaching the CAs to handle this program. The CAs have hands-on training with this program.

Rivera stated that at the beginning, in 2013-2014, Ellis attended the Infinite Campus training sessions twice. In addition, training is offered to all CAs who request additional training. Rivera would be notified and go to the appropriate school to train them or the CA could go to the central office and train there. There came a time when Rivera gave Ellis personal training in Infinite Campus. Rivera provided this training twice at the central office and a couple of times at the school level. The training in the central office was done with other CAs. The other two times, Rivera gave Ellis two one-on-one trainings. When Rivera went to the school to train with Ellis, it was at PS 38. Rivera went to PS 38 because Ellis requested additional training. This training took place in October 2015.

There was one time when Rivera went to train Ellis at PS 38 and Ellis rejected her training. When Rivera appeared to assist Ellis with training, Ellis responded by saying: "You don't have an appointment." Rivera replied: "I don't need an appointment to come to the schools that I'm assigned to." Ellis then refused her training, so Rivera left the building. Rivera told her supervisor what had happened in PS 38. Rivera went to PS 38 because Ellis had requested training. Rivera sent Ellis an e-mail alerting her that she was coming to PS 38 for training. Apparently, Ellis did not read the e-mail before Rivera appeared at the school. A copy of a notice, dated October 8, 2015, to Ellis from Rivera was admitted into evidence. (R-1.)

Ellis started working at PS 38 as a CA in the 2011-2012 school year and thus was trained on AS 400 as the computer program. CAs must send out the following reports: weekly reports for tracking truancy; homeless reports; home visits reports; and parent notification letters. Rivera helped create these forms with her supervisor. These forms were given to the CAs as part of the training packet each year and were used at least since the 2011-2012 school year. These reports are on paper and in the computer. The CAs submit these reports in paper and electronically.

On cross-examination, Rivera confirmed that she started as an attendance counselor in 2014. Rivera stated that she dealt with Ellis prior to 2013 as a clerk for attendance. Rivera stated that Ellis was a parent liaison before she came into the system. Rivera had no interaction with Ellis when Ellis was a parent liaison. Rivera said that there were about forty to fifty people at the training in the beginning of the 2013-2014 school year.

Rivera said that she had managed up to forty CAs at one point and at the present time only twelve CAs. At one point, there was about forty CAs, one for each school. The difference between the AS 400 and the Infinite Campus was that in the AS 400, a person can only look up the information, which cannot be altered, but with Infinite Campus, the CAs could work independently.

Rivera described the Infinite Campus training sessions as lasting from morning until afternoon and sometimes all day (i.e., seven hours). If a person was out on the day of the training, there was an automatic make-up session. (R-1 was based on a make-up session for an original training session.) Ellis made a request for additional training to Rivera's supervisor, who then told Rivera to go to the school. Regarding the one-to-one training appointment with Ellis, Rivera's supervisor received an e-mail from Ellis and the supervisor told Rivera to adjust her schedule and go to PS 38, which was before her normal daily tasks. Rivera stated that Ellis was not conducting assignments when she got to the school. Rivera described the interaction as Ellis verbally pushing her away. Rivera stated that Ellis responded to her by saying: "You cannot train me unless my union rep is here." Rivera stated that she was appalled by appellant's statement. Rivera confirmed that she was not appellant's supervisor. Rivera said that she asked Ellis, "why?" and Ellis responded by saying "It's complicated."

On re-direct, Rivera stated that she wrote an e-mail after leaving Ellis, when she would not meet with Rivera, because she characterized appellant's behavior as insubordination. Rivera explained that she went over to PS 38 to train Ellis and Ellis disrespected her.

On re-cross-examination, Rivera confirmed that Ellis did not use any obscenities or curses. Rivera just stated that Ellis was rude. Ellis also told Rivera that she would have allowed the training if a union representative was there.

John Ross

John Ross (Ross) was the student attendance supervisor for the Jersey City Public Schools and the educational stability liaison for the district and the homeless liaison for the district. His duties include supervising CAs at each building and the attendance counselors in the district. Ross also supervises the police officer who are part of the truancy task force. As the educational stability liaison, Ross maintains students who are displaced through DYFS.

Ross holds an elementary education certification, a psychology certification, and a supervisor certification. Ross also has a principal certification. Ross holds a Masters of Education in administration and supervision.

Ross stated that there are about 38,000 students in the Jersey City Public Schools. Ross stated that regular student attendance is important because students need to be in school to learn and achieve. Jersey City Schools have an issue with attendance. In a report, it was determined that they had over 3,000 students. The district has an initiative in use in the district to improve student attendance. They have a goal to reach a ninety-seven percent rate of attendance in the district.

Ross stated that they have a computer program called Infinite Campus that tracks attendance in the school. The teachers take attendance and the information is inputted into the computer program. The CAs then take the record of attendance and make phone calls to the home. They seek to find out why they are absent if a parent has not called the school to begin with. If there is a trend of consecutive absences, then letters are sent home and home visits are made. In the event the trend continues, and they can't resolve same, the CA then refers the case to an attendance counselor for further investigation. For the most part, there is one CA per school. The CA will issue a Did Not Report (DNR) form to be issued.

Ross stated that a work day for a CA is 8:00 a.m. to 2:55 p.m. Ross stated that his office does provide training to the CA. In terms of training, at the beginning of the school year, usually the second day back, Ross has attorneys come from Legal One and train the CAs, attendance counselors, and service brokers. After a break for lunch, they gather and Ross works with the CAs and the attendance counsellors with reference to goals in the school year. If training is needed, they do that thereafter. It is a full day of training, from 8 until 2:55.

Ross stated that he started in this current position in 2012. Ross stated that computer training is part of the training for the CAs. People like Rivera would do one-on-one training, when requested. Ross recalled that he and Rivera worked with Ellis with her use of Infinite Campus. Ross identified a packet of documents, which are given to the CAs in their training. (R-2.) The packet contains the duties of a CA, which was created by Ross with HR. There is also a DNR report. This report is done at the beginning of the school year. After ten consecutive absences, we need to know the information about the student so an investigation can be done. There is also included other different forms used by a CA. There is also include truancy tracking forms.

There is also a form used to be a snapshot of what a CA has done at school. This tracking form is due once a week. It tells Ross the phone calls that are made, home visits completed, letters sent home, and court referrals regarding truancy. This form is a snapshot of what's going on since Ross is not there day to day. They are called weekly activity log report which must be submitted by every CA each week. Ross testified that a CA should fill out the weekly summary form and the back-up on a weekly basis. Ross's office tracks whether it receives weekly reports from each CA. Ross reviews each form to see if there are any issues and then gives it to his clerk. The clerk maintains a file for each CA with their reports. In addition, there are monthly reports which need to be submitted by the CAs. These reports include the homeless reports.

Ross also created a comprehensive list of duties for the CAs with the input of HR. (R-3.) These duties explained the day to day duties of the CAs. They include civil service job specifications. Ross described the principal duties of a CA as: to figure out how many students are absent at school; seek medical information and conferencing and home visits. CA must report to their administrator (building principal and assistant principal) and the central office (Ross).

Ross first met Ellis at a workshop in September 2013. Ross stated that the building principal and HR track appellant's attendance. Ross testified that at no time while he was the director of attendance did Ellis submit her weekly reports. He stated that Ellis did not hand in her weekly reports. These reports come to Ross and he opens them up and reviews them. His clerk makes a spreadsheet once a month to confirm the submission of reports. Ross also testified that Ellis never submitted the homeless reports and the home visit reports. After refreshing his recollection with reference to a spreadsheet regarding submitted reports by the CAs, Ross recalled that Ellis did submit reports on two dates, i.e., October 9 and October 18, 2015. In addition, Ellis failed to submit reports in the 2016/2017 school year. Ross testified at the departmental hearing for a five-day suspension for neglect of duty and chronic absenteeism and at the hearing for a nine-day suspension for neglect of duty and chronic absenteeism. His office did not receive a DNR report from Ellis from September to November 2015.

In the Fall of 2015, Ross attempted to meet with Ellis. Ross described it as an informal meeting to discuss DNRs and the goals and objectives regarding attendance at PS 38. Ross went to the school and was in the main office. Ellis asked to have a union representative at the meeting. Ross sent an e-mail to Ellis to say that he would be appearing at the school on a future day. His plan was to meet with all personnel. Ross wanted to meet with Ellis, Ms. Jones (principal), or one of the assistant principals in order to discuss attendance goals at the school. Ms. Jones was not available on this date, so Ross met with Mr. Ileya, the assistant principal. When Ross got to the school Ellis asked for a union representative, which Ross approved even though it was not a disciplinary meeting. The meeting had nothing to do with discipline. They were on their way to Mr. Ileya's office on the second floor. Ross advised Ellis that they were just going to discuss attendance goals. When they got to the office, Ellis did not appear at the meeting. Ileya then made a call through the intercom asking for Ellis to report to his office. Thereafter, a phone call came to Ileya that Ellis left the building. Everyone was waiting at the meeting and they did not hear from Ellis. The meeting went on without Ellis and they discussed attendance issues and goals with the assistant principal.

Ross saw Ellis later that day at the union office. Ross had some other issues that he needed to discuss with some union representatives at the union office and he was standing at the entrance and he saw Ellis come into the building. This occurred in the afternoon, around 3:00/3:30 p.m. Ross stated that Ellis did not return to PS 38 that day. "The following day I wrote an e-mail to Ellis and copied the division director and the assistant principal, expressing his shock at appellant's behavior." (R-4.) The e-mail recounts the fact that Ellis stated to Ross that she needed to get her notebook and then never returned to the meeting. Ellis stated to Ileya that she left the building because she was not feeling well. On October 8, Rivera went to see Ellis in order to give Ellis some one-on-one training. Ross was the individual sending Rivera to train Ellis.

There was a disciplinary hearing in the Fall of 2015 which lead to a nine-day suspension of Ellis. Ellis did not submit any reports except for two in the Fall of 2015. In the 2016/2017 school year Ellis came to work the first day of school and on the second day, when there were workshops and training, she did not come to work. In the Fall of 2016, Ellis did not submit a DNR. In addition, the respondent did not receive any weekly reports, DNR, home visit reports, or homeless reports from Ellis in the Fall of 2016.

Ross supported the discipline of Ellis for neglect of duty and chronic absenteeism because it was his position that he doesn't ask a lot from his employees and the weekly reports aren't hard to complete. Ross gave Ellis many, many opportunities but Ellis gave him no other choice but to bring charges against her. Ellis asked for and received an extension to submit her reports and they were still not submitted.

On cross-examination Ross stated that an attendance counselor is a supervisor or a superior to a CA; however, they do not have the ability to issue discipline over a CA. Accordingly, Rivera was not a superior or a supervisor to Ellis. Ross confirmed that Infinite Campus was first used in the 2011/2012 school year.

Ross recalled that Ellis appeared for work on the first day of the 2016/2017 school year and thus was not on a leave of absence. Ross stated that if an employee is on an approved leave of absence, there is no expectation for that employee to perform her tasks. Ross explained that he does not ask for daily reports and only weekly reports must be submitted to his office. Ross explained that there is one DNR report to be submitted each year. It is due about the third week of September. If someone is on a leave of absence, there was no expectation for that employee to submit a DNR.

The meeting with Ileya, Ross, and Ellis was not being held at a set time. Ross said that Ellis appeared apprehensive because she wanted a union representative at the meeting. Ross said that Ellis was not loud or aggressive in asking for a union representative, but Ellis was adamant, even though was wasn't needed. The union stated that they didn't need to be there, but they wanted to accommodate her. Ross confirmed that he was of the belief that some of appellant's leaves of absence were not legitimate.

On redirect, Ross stated that the reason for questioning appellant's leaves of absence, was that he knows sick people. Ross knows people who are dying of cancer and still go to work every day. Ross is also aware of people who take leaves of absence when they are not truly ill. Ross also believes that people with depression or anxiety should still go to work, because he suffers from such conditions and still goes to work.

On re-cross, Ross stated that if someone needs to go for inpatient treatment for depression and they have to miss work, it is appropriate to receive inpatient treatment. In addition, Ross went to the union in order to ask about an employee asking for union representation for almost any meeting with management. It was a general question and had nothing to do with Ellis herself.

Sandra Jones

Sandra Jones (Jones) is the principal of PS 38 since September 2004. Prior to that, Jones was an elementary teacher in all departments. Jones worked for Jersey City Public Schools for thirty-three years. Jones holds a degree in elementary education and a Master's Degree in educational Leadership. Jones has a certificate in elementary education grades K through 8 and one in supervision. Jones also holds a certificate in principalship and as a reading teacher. Jones also holds a certificate in business administration, school leadership, and superintendency and below.

PS 38 is a pre-K-8 school with 1,000 students. The school has eighty instructional staff members. The school also has non-instructional staff members from teacher's aide to CA to custodians and security and food service employees. There are about twenty non-instructional staff, including clerical staff. There are two assistant principals and one principal (Jones).

Jones stated that student attendance is important in order to provide the children with a quality education. The students must be in the classroom in order to learn. This is the foundation of being productive citizens and go on to college and career opportunities. However, the number one priority is safety. If the child is not in the school building, the school district has no ability to track the child and he could be in a situation which is not safe. In the event that a child is exceeding eighteen days away from school, he is in jeopardy of being retained. On any given day, Jones stated that there was a range of thirty to fifty students not attending school. In addition, there are between twenty to thirty students late on a general day. Jones stated that the number of students late or absent has reduced because of the employees calling the students' homes. Jones noticed that the new CA in the 2016/2017 school year has made a difference in getting the numbers down.

Jones was the principal at PS 38 since 2004. Ellis joined the school around 2012. Ellis was assigned by the Board of Education. Appellant's hours were 8:00 to 2:55. p.m. Appellant's tasks were: to identify the students who were absent; put the information regarding students' notes into the system or given to the nurse; facilitate that schools coming in late have signed the book and obtained a late pass. At 8:00 a.m. Ellis was assigned to duties such as hall duty, door duty, or cafeteria duty. Those duties were until 8:45 a.m. when the late bell rang. Ellis would then head upstairs to the lobby where students would appear after the late bell in order to make sure the students would sign the late book. Ellis would remain in the lobby until about 9:10 a.m. After that Ellis would go downstairs to her office where she would document and call parents on the late list. There are multiple rooms on the basement level including a second-grade class, a third-grade class, a computer lab, library, two guidance counsellor offices, and a literary room. In addition, there is a ESL replacement room, cafeteria, and a custodial office. The main office is on the first floor.

When Ellis first entered the PS 38, there was a discussion between Jones and Ellis regarding her job duties and expectations. Jones advised Ellis that she expected Ellis to keep a log book of information pertaining to attendance. Jones expected her to keep her paperwork in order. Jones testified that she was unable to find a log book from Ellis when she wanted it. At no time was such a log book ever available. Appellant's first year was a learning curve since she was not a CA prior to that year. They provided assistance to Ellis through the use of DG who was an employee in the computer area. Jones sent Ellis to be trained by DG. Jones stated that Ellis was always approved for additional training every time she requested it.

Jones was presented with an e-mail (R-6) dated December 11, 2013, which was sent by Jones. The basis behind the email is that Jones met with Ellis with an inquiry about her reports. Jones told Ellis that she needed information. Ellis responded that she was not really sure how to work the program and that she needed more help. Jones stated "No problem. I'll get in contact with DG and I'll let you know when you can visit his office . . . ." This reflected one of the times Jones set Ellis up for additional training.

Jones testified regarding the issue of Ellis's attendance becoming an issue, for example during the 2014/2015 school year. (Exhibit R-7 was the records of Ellis's attendance while working as a CA in PS 38.) Attendance records for employees are kept based on those employees signing in an attendance book on each work day. This book is located on the counter in the main office. A secretary will also input the information in the event when an employee calls out. The secretary will then input this information. The secretary will then input this information into the computer.

At one point in time, a letter was sent to Ellis from Jones regarding her chronic absence. (R-8.) The letter was dated March 4, 2016. The letter was typed on February 29. Ellis never reported to Jones regarding the contents of this letter. It was confirmed that there was a previous disciplinary matter where Ellis was charged with chronic absenteeism, neglect of duty, and insubordination, which resulted in a five-day suspension.

Jones reviewed appellant's attendance records for the 2014/2015 school year. The records show a PB, which is a personal business day (allotted three days), and does not count against the employee and PI which is personal illness. There were numerous days showing PI/NP, which stands for personal illness/no pay. That means she ran out of sick days. There was one day with the designation PI/SUS/NP which means personal illness/suspended/no pay. It also shows that Ellis was out in 2014 on September 3, 4, 5, 8, 9, 10, 11, and 12 for personal illness. Based on these records, Ellis rarely showed up for work in September 2014.

In December 2014 Ileya wrote a reprimand to Ellis. (R-9.) Jones received a copy of this memorandum. The basis of this memo was the allegation that Ellis went to the wrong house regarding a student's attendance at school and the person was very upset. This event occurred in December 2014 where Ellis was looking for a child who was in fact in school. There was a parent at school who was very upset by saying that she sent her child to school and she got a phone call saying she was not in school when in fact she was in school. Jones was able to calm the woman down by confirming that the child was in fact in school. The CA (Ellis) came to the office and advised that it was a mix up. Jones advised Ellis that this was a serious matter and this part of her job had to be handled correctly.

In the 2015/2016 school year, Jones was on a leave of absence in the beginning of the year, i.e., from September 2015 through part of January 2016. Jones recalled that when she returned in January 2016, Ellis was in work for a week or two and then out for pretty much the rest of the school year. Jones was shown a letter, dated March 4, 2016, (R-8) which was written because Ellis had not done certain reports which needed to be submitted. Jones wrote the letter to HR and a copy to her immediate supervisor and assistant principals. The letter addressed chronic absences in 2015/2016. Jones reviewed the attendance records for Ellis for the school year 2015/2016. The March 4 letter was written to Jones' supervisor requesting a meeting about appellant's attendance. Jones' school was without a CA and she needed help. To address this problem, Jones asked if she could keep the sub (Ms. Frasier) they assigned to her school. Certain photos of appellant's office were attached to Jones' memo of March 4. Jones wanted HR to see the state of Ellis's office. Jones described this office as disorderly and unsanitary. Jones did not feel that a narrative would completely describe the state of the office.

In September 2016, Ellis failed to appear on the first day of work. Ellis also failed to contact Jones that she was not returning to work. In fact, at no time in September 2016 did Ellis contact Jones to advise her that she was not coming into work and she was out the entire month of September 2016. In October 2016, Ellis reported for work on the 3rd and then did not return for the balance of the week. This was described by Jones as being a very critical time because DNRs are to be submitted.

At around this point, Jones spoke with Celeste Williams (Williams) who is the director of HR for the district. The letter from Williams to Ellis advised her to return to work by September 30. Ellis returned on October 3. Jones described appellant's attendance between October 3 and her termination in January 2017 as "in and out." In appellant's absence, Jones patch-worked a group of employees to handle appellant's job.

There were charges against Ellis for chronic absenteeism and neglect of duty. A hearing on these charges was held on November 16, 2016. Jones stated that she supported that Ellis be disciplined for chronic absenteeism and neglect of duty. Jones also supported her termination for these offenses. Jones stated that this was because Ellis was not doing her job and this could result in harm to the students. The district's main concern is the student's safety.

Jones testified that she would ask Ellis to do things and Ellis would respond by saying: "No, I'm not doing it." Jones would give her verbal reprimands and Ellis would not do the requested tasks. Jones stated that she never asked Ellis to do something that was not within her duty duties. Jones gave her an annual performance evaluation and Ellis would not sign it. The evaluation states on it that even if you don't agree with the evaluation, you still must sign it.

On cross-examination, Jones stated that PS 38 received an award for attendance called the "Full House Attendance Award." Jones reviewed the written duties of a CA. (R-2.) Appellant's first daily assignment was cafeteria and door duty. This duty is to ensure that the students enter the building in a safe manner. Thereafter

Ellis was assigned to the lobby to handle students coming to the school late. During her lobby duty or hall or cafeteria duty, Ellis would not have access to Infinite Campus. In order to identify which assigned duties if covered by these tasks, Jones pointed to "other duties as deemed appropriate by the principal or supervisor."

Jones confirmed that daily absences at PS 38 was between thirty and fifty. Jones confirmed that when she spoke with Ellis, Ellis did not curse at her. Jones said she spoke firmly but did not yell at Ellis. Jones confirmed that she helped with an appointment between Ellis and DG to get her further training on the computer. Jones confirmed that Ellis was on leave of absence on March 4, 2016. Jones stated that there ia a requirement for an employee to sign their evaluation form even if they don't agree with it. Jones stated that at some point in time Ellis stopped submitting the homeless reports.

On redirect, Jones confirmed that all staff members at PS 38 get assigned early morning duty. Ellis got assigned cafeteria duty in the early morning. Afterwards, Ellis was assigned to lobby duty. Being in the lobby is considered part of attendance tracking. It was part of the process of getting students to arrive at school on time. Prior to Ellis taking a leave of absence Ellis never advised Jones that she was going to request a leave of absence. Jones stated that notifying her was not required, but was only a courtesy.

Jones was shown a memo dated March 15, 2016, from Donna Carrappa at central office to Ellis. The memo addressed a leave of absence requested by Ellis. The leave of absence was from February 22 through May 22, 2016. Jones also testified about appellant's evaluation for the 2014/2015 school year. (R-11.) Jones rated appellant's appearance as satisfactory and that was the only area rated satisfactory. Everything else was below satisfactory or needs improvement.

On re-cross, Jones confirmed that a union representative was there at the meeting. Employees are permitted to have a union representative there during an evaluation if requested.

As a follow-up on redirect, Jones stated that Ellis would not meet with her even when it had nothing to do with discipline. There were times when Jones had to meet with Ellis to discuss her work duties and nothing to do with discipline. Despite this scenario, Ellis would insist on the involvement of a union representative.

Hani Ileya

Hani Ileya (Ileya) was the assistant principal at PS 38 for the previous six years. Ileya's duties are: oversee curriculum, make sure the teachers and students are safe, evaluate staff members, ordering, budget, and overseeing facets of the building running smoothly. Ileya has a Master's Degree in special education and administration and supervision. He holds certificates in teacher of the handicapped, supervisor, and principal license. Ileya has a role in student attendance in reviewing those students who are chronically absent (more than ten percent of the school days). When a student is chronically absent, a CA contacts the parents. Both Ileya and Jones supervised the CA at the school. Ileya confirmed the importance of student attendance in the educational process.

When Ellis did not come to work, Jones or Ileya would have to fill in and meet with the parents of those students who were absent. In addition, Rivera (Ross's assistant) would also assist the school when Ellis was out. Ileya reviewed appellant's attendance records. (R-7.) When there is a notation of PI/TA, it means Personal Illness and Teacher Assistant. TA means, non-instructural staff. It the designation says PI/NP, it means non-paid day. Ileya also testified that YE did not inform him when she was taking a leave of absence. The information would come from HR to Jones.

When Ellis was out for extended periods of time, the Board would send a clerk to assist the school in the 2014/15 and 2015/16 school years. Ileya stated that Ellis did show up for work on September 2, 2014, but left on a half-day. Thereafter, Ellis did not show up for work on September 3, 4, and 5, 2014.

Ileya also had a recollection of Ellis visiting the wrong house in the 2015/16 school year. Jones was on leave at that time and Ileya was the acting principal. Ellis went to the wrong house due to the fact that a student was not at school. The parent then came to school in order to make sure that their child was in school. This parent was very irate. Ileya then escorted the parent to the classroom to make sure that their child was in fact in the building. Based on this event, Ileya wrote-up Ellis in order to ensure that Ellis checked her work and goes to the correct house. Ileya wrote a memo, dated December 12, 2014, referring to this incident. (R-12.) Ileya spoke with Ellis when the parent complained about this incident. Ileya recalled that Ellis came into his office very irate the day after she received the write-up. Ellis stated that the facts in the memo were not true and that she didn't need to be written up. After Ellis came to Ileya's office, she went to the nurse to have her blood pressure checked and she left early that day. Ellis left for one-half day as PI/NP, personal illness, non-pay.

There was a disciplinary hearing for YE in December of 2014, which resulted in a five-day suspension. Ileya was presented with an email he received from Ellis. (R-14.) Ileya received this email on or about September 17, 2015. In the e-mail, Ellis is requesting a number of things including: 1) training in Infinite Campus; 2) ink for a printer; 3) telephone; 4) bulletin board, etc. Ileya stated that he took action to address these items. Ileya gave her a telephone number and training from Rivera. They could not provide Ellis with air conditioning. Ileya verified that appellant's computer was working fine. Ileya advised Ellis that her computer was working fine.

Ileya also received an email from Ellis on or about October 7, 2015. (R-15). The email was sent to Ross and Ileya received a copy. Ileya stated that there were not any school-wide problems logging onto Infinite Campus.

Ileya also testified regarding the attempted meeting between Ellis, Ross and himself. Ileya said that Ross was making his rounds at the schools to meet with CAs. Ellis was called into the office and she stated that she needed a union representative and she was informed that the meeting was not disciplinary in nature. They called a union rep named Gaines into the meeting. They pulled Gaines from her duties to attend the meeting. Ellis stated that she needed a notebook. They waited for Ellis to return to the meeting. Ileya paged Ellis over the PA system. Ellis called Ileya on the office phone and said that she was not feeling well and that she was going home. Ellis then left the school. Ellis did not participate in the meeting with Ileya and/or Ross at this time. This meeting never occurred.

Ileya was presented with a letter of reprimand. (R-16.) Ileya never asked for training which was denied. Ileya stated that in every case when Ellis asked for training it was provided to her. In October 2015, the school district requested discipline against Ellis. There charges against Ellis were: failure to perform duties, neglect of duties, insubordination, chronic and excessive absenteeism. This was based on the 2014/2015 and the 2015/2016 school years. This resulted in a nine-day suspension being issued.

Ileya testified regarding appellant's office. Ileya described it as an office with a chair, desk, computer, filing cabinets, phone, and a fax machine. Ileya stated that the office was very sloppy. He stated that it was always disorganized and very messy. Ileya spoke with Ellis regarding the condition of her office. Ileya told her that it should be neater. Ileya took photos of the office. There was created a memo (R-8) with those photos attached. Ileya said that he took those photos. His testimony stated that these photos accurately depicted the state of appellant's desk for the 2014/15 and 2015/16 school years.

Ileya stated that Ellis did not return on the first day of the school year on September 6, 2016. In fact, Ellis did not return the whole month of September 2016. Ileya recalled that the district sought to discipline Ellis to have her removed from employment. Ileya agreed with the position of having her removed from employment because Ellis was incompetent in doing her job, was hardly ever there, and made mistakes when doing her job. The charges were: chronic and excessive absenteeism, neglect of duty, conduct unbecoming, and other just cause. The hearing was held on November 16, 2016. Discipline was imposed effective January 20, 2017.

Evaluations were conducted regarding Ellis while she worked at PS 38. The last evaluation was conducted in June 2016 in which Ileya rated her job performance as unsatisfactory. (R-20.) Upon presenting the evaluation to Ellis, she refused to sign same because she disagreed with the evaluation. A union representative was present at that time. Ileya stated that Ellis never made Ileya aware of any medical conditions which she had and affected her ability to do her job.

On cross-examination, Ileya confirmed that Ellis was responsible to call parents when a child was absent and was responsible to file paperwork with Ross's office and appear in court when needed. When taking a leave of absence, an employee has to submit paperwork to the central office. Ileya confirmed that there was no requirement for Ellis to contact Ileya regarding taking a leave.

Ileya reviewed R-12, which was an email from the parent regarding Ellis going to the wrong house. It stated that Ellis rang the doorbell of the neighbor's house. Ileya did not interview the neighbor. Ellis denied the basis for the complaint but did not give specifics.

Ileya also stated that he had no medical expertise. He was unable to determine what is high or average blood pressure. Ileya was given R-14, which is an email dated September 17, 2016, and he stated that he did not respond in writing to that email. Ileya admitted that Ellis had only one training session with DG. Ileya did not believe that requesting a union representative was a hostile act but he did believe that appellant's tone of voice was hostile. Ellis did not curse or yell. Rivera did go to PS 38 to train Ellis on Infinite Campus.

Ileya looked at R-16 which was Ileya's September 30 memo. Ellis first went to the main office when Ross set up a meeting to go over the attendance policy. Ellis stated that she needed a notebook and she left. Thereafter, she did not return and Ileya paged her to come to the office. Ellis called him and stated that she was not feeling feel and she was leaving.

Ileya stated that he had zero discretion or authority to grant or deny a request for training. Ileya stated that Ellis would get training whenever she requested it. Such a request was granted by either himself or Jones.

Ileya reviewed the PNDA (R-17) which set forth five charges and in the FDNA three charges were sustained. The two charges which were removed were chronic and excessive absenteeism and other sufficient cause. Appellant's suspension was then scheduled about two to three months after the FNDA.

Ileya testified that there were no locks on appellant's office. In picture R-18D, Ileya identified cards in the picture in the far left as cards when a student comes in late, for the student to fill out. It was like a late pass. Ellis was supposed to contact the parent to advise them that their child came to school late. Ileya reviewed R-19, with the first page dated January 20, which set forth charges of chronic and excessive absenteeism, neglect of duty, conduct unbecoming, and other just cause.

Ileya admitted that Ellis was given an evaluation on the first day after about a five-month absence. Ileya stated that the evaluation was based on the first five months when she was in work. Ileya said that it was appropriate to do such an evaluation. It was his position that Ellis was evaluated on the first five months of her work until the time she took leave.

On re-direct, Ileya stated that Ellis returned to school on June 21 after her leave. Ileya confirmed that he did not have any role in drafting the discipline charges against Ellis. However, Ileya, along with Ross, did provide information that supported those charges. This information was submitted to Williams, the director of talent. Ileya also confirmed that employees are entitled to one emergency personal business day per year.

Ileya also testified regarding the meeting in September 2015 where Ellis did not show up and left the building. Ileya did a write-up after that meeting. (R-16.) Ileya stated that Ellis returned to school after the school day at about 4:30 p.m. on the same day as the meeting. Ileya stated that he saw Ellis on that date at the school (PS 38).

Lakesha Oliver

Lakesha Oliver (Oliver) works for the Jersey City Public Schools as a teacher's assistant. Oliver is assigned to PS 38 and has been working for about ten years. Oliver and Ellis discuss attendance and students who are excessively late or absent. They would speak once every couple of weeks and sometimes every month. Oliver stated that the teacher's assistants or teachers keep track of the attendance on a card and then input the information on Infinite Campus. In the event the system is down, we would make a note of the students' absence and forward information over to Ellis.

Oliver starts her shift at 8:00 a.m. and the students begin to come in at 8:30 a.m. Between 8 and 8:30 a.m., Oliver would attend morning meetings or professional development. From 8:30 a.m., Oliver would be assigned door duty and greet the students coming in. She would be on door duty for about ten to fifteen minutes. After that time frame, they lock the doors and the students must come in through the front door to sign and obtain a late pass. Afterwards Oliver would then be in her classroom assisting the teacher. They serve breakfast in the classrooms. Oliver stated that it was her belief that Ellis would be at door duty at 8:30 a.m. and at 8:40 a.m. Ellis was at the security desk assisting with students filling out late passes. There was then a stipulation between the parties that an employee was not required to sign an evaluation form.

On cross-examination, Oliver admitted that she had an issue with absenteeism. Oliver also admitted that she was bought up on disciplinary charges for not attending work on a regular basis. The charges were bought up about five years ago. These charges resulted in a suspension for two days. There was a second disciplinary hearing which she did not attend.

On re-direct Oliver described her relationship with Jones as close to non-existent. Oliver described her relationship with Jones as not very welcoming. Oliver testified that when she would say good morning to Jones, Jones would not say good morning back.

Corinne Decker Gingles

Corinne Decker Gingles (Gingles) is a teacher assistant for the Jersey City Board of Education for about eleven years. Gingles works at PS 38 and is a member of the union and is a union representative. As a union rep, she will interact if there is an issue or answer questions when presented with same. Gingles stated that she was called into a meeting with Ellis in June of 2016 in order to discuss here evaluation. Present at the meeting were: Jones, Ileya, Ellis, and Gingles. The evaluation was for the 2015/2016 school year. (R-20.) Gingles remembers that Ellis refused to sign the form because of the low evaluation she received.

Gingles stated that in the morning she has meetings or could be assigned to cafeteria and/or pick up bus students. Gingles said that she was not assigned to cafeteria often. She got students off the bus five days a week. At 8:30 a.m. Gingles would go to the classroom and assist with giving the students breakfast. Instructional learning began at 8:45 a.m. Gingles is currently in sixth, seventh and eighth grades. It is a transitional class for special ed.

On cross-examination, Gingles stated that she did not know why she didn't receive a performance evaluation for the 2015/2016 school year. Gingles was on a leave of absence that school year from October 1 until February of 2016. Gingles did admit that she filed a grievance against Ileya while at PS 38. The grievance involved a field trip and a student leaving the building and Gingles was unaware that she was going on the field trip. Ileya told her that she was going on the field trip and Gingles said she wasn't going on the trip. Gingles said she was not dressed properly for a field trip as she was wearing dress clothes and uncomfortable shoes. Gingles stated that this event made her upset. Gingles then spoke to Buzby, the assistant principal, who gave her permission to leave. Ileya's demeanor made Gingles file her grievance.

On re-direct Gingles stated that she was upset regarding the field trip incident that because she was unaware about going on this trip and she was not properly dressed for such a trip. Gingles stated that she was never suspended from her employment.

Maggie Leahy

Maggie Leahy (Leahy) is a clerk in the main office at PS 38. Her original date of hire was November 2011 and then laid off and rehired on July 1, 2015. Leahy said that there were three clerks and one CA (YE) in PS 38. Leahy stated that Ellis would come into the main office two to five times a day. The clerks would make copies for Ellis. The policy was that Ellis was not allowed around the front counter. Leahy was aware that there were copy machines on each floor. There was a teacher assigned to each copier with a code. In order to have a copy made, Ellis had to fill out a copy request form. There was a two-day turn around on copies. All teachers are also required to fill out a form for copies.

Leahy observed interaction between Jones and Ellis during the 2016/2017 school year. These occurred about three times a week. Jones demonstrated frustration that Ellis was in the office. Leahy recalled one incident where Ellis said good morning to Jones and Jones turned around and looked up and down at her and Ellis said how are you today and Jones responded, "how do I like with." Leahy called the response very passive aggressive. Otherwise, Leahy stated that Jones would otherwise ignore Ellis.

Leahy testified that she never witnessed any disrespectful or inappropriate behavior by Ellis toward Jones. Leahy recalled that Jones sent out an e-mail to her and other clerks and the nurse telling them to stop communication with Ellis. Jones stated that Ellis was no longer employed in the district. Leahy had no role in the student drop off or students going to their classroom.

On cross-examination, Leahy stated that Ellis called her one day outside of work in order to let her know what was going on. The email from Jones regarding not communicating with Ellis was dated January 20, 2017. Leahy acknowledged that the principal of the school is the school leader and oversees the school. Jones has the right to direct employees' actions at school, including making copies.

Leahy confirmed that she had write-ups in the 2016/2017 school year by more than one administrator. Buzby wrote her up because of Leahy's tone. The basis of the write up was conduct unbecoming. In addition, Leahy was supposed to arrange a field trip but there was a problem with that trip. Jones wrote a memo to Leahy in connection with the field trip, which indicated that Leahy did not follow through with an administrative directive. In addition, there was another eighth-grade field trip on May 25 and there was a problem with the bus arrangements. The problem was that Leahy arranged for a school bus rather than a private bus. Leahy was written up to ordering the wrong type of bus.

Furthermore, in June there was an interaction between Jones and Leahy which resulted in Ellis being written up. Jones instructed Leahy to put away her cell phone and Leahy put the phone in her open drawer. Leahy was written up for conduct unbecoming and insubordination. Leahy admitted that she had her own share of negative interactions with administrators.

There was a review of the email form Jones to the clerks. (P-1.) The email wen tot McCoy (nurse) with copies to Ileya, Buzby, and the clerks (Camillo, B. Ellis, and Leahy). The email stated: "FYI, Ms. Yvonne Ellis is no longer employed here. Please avoid corresponding with her. Any questions see me."

Leahy described the layout of the main office as follows: there is a wide counter and behind it is Leahy's desk with another clerk's desk. There are two desks back there with two offices off to the side. With regard to the copiers, Leahy had the code for same in the main office and a specific teacher has the code for a copier on each floor. Accordingly, only certain people have the codes for the copiers.

On redirect, Leahy confirmed that she was never suspended for any past disciplinary action. Leahy filed a grievance after receiving a disciplinary letter in May. Leahy filed an affirmative action complaint for a hostile work environment against Jones. The basis for the complaint was the way Jones spoke to Leahy. Leahy stated that Jones would yell at her like she was a child in front of everyone. Leahy stated that on May 11, she had an anxiety attack because of Jones. Jones yelled at Leahy in an office filled with children and staff members. Leahy missed work on May 11 and 12 because of this incident. After filing this complaint Jones treated her differently, said Leahy. Leahy stated that Jones would then nitpick at every little thig. Leahy said that Jones now ignores her, the way she ignored Ellis. Thereafter, Leahy filed another complaint for retaliation after she filed the first complaint. When Leahy saw that Ellis was fired, Leahy felt that Ellis was targeted by the administration. Leahy wanted to reach out to help Ellis. What prompted Leahy to testify at this hearing was the way she was treated in the past month.

On re-cross-examination, Leahy confirmed that the email from Jones (P-1) regarding communication with Ellis, was directed to her even though it was sent to the nurse with copies to Leahy and other clerks. It was Leahy's belief that there was a hostile work environment at PS 38 because she did not like the way she was treated by Jones. It was her opinion that Ileya was great. Leahy stated that she liked Jones as a person but not as an administrator. Leahy admitted that she knew very little about appellant's job duties, yet she had an opinion as to whether Ellis did her job. Leahy is not appellant's supervisor.

Adrienne Lois Palmer

Adrienne Lois Palmer (Palmer) is currently in private practice in Clifton and will be starting as the clinical supervisor at Bethany Christian Services shortly. Palmer supervisors the clinical staff at the agency and she also will be the head of the adoption and foster care department. Palmer works with individuals from children to adults providing therapeutic services. She provides therapy in a relationship process to enable clients to learn about themselves and alleviate symptoms. Palmer deals with people with depression, bipolar depression, unipolar depression, anxiety, obsessive compulsive disorder, and post-traumatic stress disorder. Her practice began in November 2003. Palmer discusses with her client what is bothering them and then determine a treatment plan.

Palmer stated that Ellis made an intake appointment in August 2011. Thereafter Palmer consistently treated Ellis since August 2011. Palmer did assign homework to Ellis as part of the treatment. Thereafter, Palmer reviewed progress. The client would come in and they would discuss current events as well as underlying causes.

Palmer saw Ellis consistently since 2011. Palmer noticed changes in appellant's condition. These changes occurred about two years into treatment. Palmer described appellant's condition as depressive symptoms. Palmer stated that she was not a doctor but was a licensed clinical social worker. Palmer has a Master's Degree in social work. Palmer found Ellis to have a major depressive disorder recurrent with a hoarding disorder. This was determined in September 2011. Palmer also admitted that she is not qualified to prescribe medication.

Palmer testified that when Ellis experienced an incident at work, she experienced anxiety and became more symptomatic. Palmer stated that Ellis reported incidents at work she found disturbing which made it hard for her to focus on anything else. Ellis advised Palmer that she would have trouble getting to work or functioning at work.

In the first two years of therapy, Ellis was not talking about work at all. They were focused on Ellis, herself. Palmer set up a plan for Ellis to use when she became anxious. Maintaining her ability to work became a main focus for Ellis. There also became a time when Ellis asked about the possibility of seeking accommodations at work. Ellis asked Palmer to fill out some forms for this purpose. Palmer was presented with a form which was filled out for that purpose. (P-2.) The form was entitled: "Request For Reasonable Accommodations and Medical Authorization Form." Palmer signed this document. The form was dated February 15, 2016. The form requested three separate accommodations: 1) extra training and support, especially with computer skills; 2) regular schedule reminders of report due dates and extra time for completion; and 3) permission for early departure when necessary to attend doctor's appointments. The form also requested prior notice and preparation for all administrative meetings and permission to be excluded from any school related task outside of the primary responsibilities of CA unless undertaken voluntarily. No one from the district ever got back to her regarding this request.

Palmer stated that when Ellis returned from her leave of absence, she was very proactive in using self-maintenance tools in an effort to function better and not be as symptomatic. Ellis has contained these self-maintenance tools from her return until the present time.

On cross-examination, Palmer stated that by maintaining appellant's own mental health, she was seeking to function at a better level. Palmer stated that the process of self-maintenance occurred after she returned from treatment in Illinois. Ellis started to develop the ability to self-monitor, which means to become aware of when your anxiety level is rising. This ability started in 2013.

Palmer stated that she was able to draft the request for accommodations through her conversations with Ellis. Palmer admitted that she had no prior experience in developing workplace-related accommodations and never did it before for another client. Palmer was also unaware that Ellis had a regular schedule of reminders of various tasks that she was expected to do but that she was told by Ellis that she had a regular schedule of reports to be done. Palmer still recommended a series of reminders to Ellis, which could be a system generating prompts. Palmer also recommended that Ellis have additional time to do reports, for example, if the report if due on September 13, Ellis could have an extra week if necessary. Palmer also recommended prior notice and preparation for all meetings involving her job performance discipline. Palmer stated that she became aware that Ellis was on the medication, Cymbalta, which is an anti-depressant. This was prescribed as of August 2011.

On re-direct, Palmer stated that Ellis received additional tools in her in-patient care while she was in Illinois. Ellis received a technique called mindfulness which is like self-meditative technique. Palmer also stated that Ellis was diagnosed with post-traumatic stress disorder. The diagnosis was made by a psychiatrist at Timberline Homes in Illinois. This condition was based on multiple traumas.

Yvonne Ellis

Yvonne Ellis (Ellis) was first hired in 1997 as a substitute teacher in the district until about the year 2000. In 2000, Ellis was hired as a full-time teacher assistant. Ellis worked as a teacher assistant for two and half years and she then resigned because she was supposed to move out of town. In 2004, Ellis came back as a substitute teacher for a little over a year. Then Ellis was hired as a parent liaison at PS 34. In that position Ellis would do family field trips after church and got parents involved with the school. In this position, she had little to do with attendance, but would occasionally assist a CA with attendance calls.

Appellant's most recent position with the district was as a CA in about 2011 at PS 38. Ellis reviewed R-2 which set forth the duties of a CA. Ellis confirmed the duties of a CA. As a CA, Ellis worked Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. until 2:55 p.m. and was a ten-month position. For students the school day began at 8:30 a.m., however, classes begin at 8:45 a.m. Appellant's first assignment when she starts her day at 8:00 a.m. is cafeteria duty, where she monitors students in the cafeteria until they leave for class at 8:30 a.m. Ellis acted in cafeteria duty for four to four and a half years. For the first two years in cafeteria duty, Ellis worked alone. At one point appellant sent an e-mail to Ileya and told him that it was impossible for her to monitor fifty students alone and then four teacher aides were sent to assist her. Appellant testified that there was nothing in the job duties for a CA which references cafeteria duty.

At one point in time, Ellis spoke to Jones and Ileya and told them that it would be beneficial for her to be in the office answering the phone calls from parents because that was the time parents called. Jones and Ileya responded to Ellis by telling her to remain in the cafeteria duty. Ellis stated that other schools (for example 34) the CA did not have such an 8:00 a.m. assignment like she had. While Ellis was doing the cafeteria assignment, she did not have access to Infinite Campus. From 8:45 to 9:00 a.m. Ellis was assigned to door duty. From 8:30 until 8:45 a.m., Ellis did hall duty, making sure students make it to class safely. Jones assigned Ellis to hall/door duty. There is nothing written in the duties of a CA which specifically state anything about hall/door duty. Ellis was assigned to front door/security desk duty from first being assigned to PS 38. Door duty was from 8:45 until 9:15 a.m.

After door duty was completed, appellant would go downstairs and she would start with Infinite Campus. Ellis would get to her office at about 9:30 or so. This was the first opportunity to work in Infinite Campus. After checking Infinite Campus, Ellis would call teachers who did not complete their attendance.

Once attendance was done, Ellis would print the summary report. Ellis would also go up to the security desk and get the names in a logbook of the students who were late. After confirming attendance, Ellis would print out the caller report to make the daily phone calls for students who were absent and late. Late students numbered from twenty to thirty and absent students would number thirty to fifty. If parents call ahead of time, there was no need for Ellis to call. Ellis stated that it would take about ninety minutes to make all of the calls. Ellis would finish around 11 to 12 or even 1:00 p.m.

With regard to chronic absenteeism, Ellis would have to do a home visit. Appellant would have to keep a record of the home visit and who she spoke to, etc. Ellis would then have to send out parent notification letters. Ellis had to do home visits two to three times a week.

In addition, from 2:00 to 3:00 p.m. Ellis had to be at the security desk. Ellis would require parents sign in when they come to the school. At this time Ellis did not have access to Infinite Campus. Ellis was assigned to this job every day. Ellis also had to do other duties which were not explicitly on the duties chart, including community board with letters. This process took around five to seven hours per marking period. Jones would also ask Ellis to deliver stuff to teachers and pick stuff up from teachers. Ellis also assisted with the Thanksgiving drive. Ellis recalled that PS 38 received attendance awards. The school received such awards twice a year.

The phased out the position of parent liaison so when there was an opening for CA, the district placed the liaisons into these positions. When Ellis first got to PS 38, she spoke Jones of her prior experience and how Ellis was never a CA before. Ellis asked for help on how to handle the position of CA. Ellis testified that she required help on the computer and "after a few years" Ellis got help with Infinite Campus with DG. Ellis sent an email to Jones and Ross was copied on the email requesting training. This resulted in Rivera coming to give Ellis training. This training was in October 2015. Ellis also had training in a workshop at the Board of Education.

Appellant testified regarding Rivera attempting to give Ellis training. Ellis described Rivera as appearing at her door without prior notice. Ellis saw the notice after Rivera arrived. The notice was sent by Ross one hour prior to Rivera's arrival. Ellis asked Rivera why she was there and she responded that she was there to train her. Ellis then asked for a union representative. The reason that Ellis asked for a union rep was because she was being sent to hearing. Ellis was concerned about discipline. Ellis stated that she did not raise her voice or use profanity.

There was also testimony regarding the allegations of Ellis going to the wrong parent's house. Ellis denied trying to enter the parent's house. Ellis stated that she knocked on the neighbor's house, but she never talked about those parent's children. Ellis recalled the meeting with Ileya afterwards, where she told him that she was not looking for that child but rather another child but that she wrote the address wrong. During the meeting with Ileya, Ellis stated that she did not yell, curse or threaten.

Thereafter, Ellis sent an e-mail regarding this meeting with Jones. (R-22.) Ellis asked Jones if they could go into a side office to discuss this. Ellis claimed that union rules and regulations state that you are not supposed to address employees in front of other people when dealing with job duties. Accordingly, Ellis requested a union rep. Ellis was concerned that this could lead to discipline. Ellis also recalled that she asked for a union rep prior to this e-mail from Jones. When Jones approached Ellis, she felt anxious and embarrassed and belittled by talking in front of other staff.

At one point Ellis sent out an e-mail dated September 17. (R-14.) The purpose of this email was so they she could do her job effectively. In this e-mail, Ellis requested more ink; needed a phone for herself (she shared a phone with Ms. Carter); requested a bulletin board; requested a window shade; requested Infinite Campus training; request to sit down with another CA; requesting a forty-eight-hour notice before a meeting with the supervisor or other people (including Ross, Ileya); and request for air conditioning. It was Ellis's position that none of these items were properly addressed.

Ellis then reviewed the events of September 24, when she was to meet with Ross and Ileya. Ellis stated that she was in the main office collecting messages from the clerks. Ellis said she saw Ross in that office, who she was not expecting to see. Then Ileya told Ellis that they wanted to meet with her. Ellis did not believe that they explained why they wanted to meet; however, Ellis requested a union representative because it was not clear what they wanted to talk about. Based on this meeting request, Ellis felt unsettled and anxious. Thereafter, Ellis told them that she had to go downstairs to get a notebook. Because of how she felt, she went to see the nurse, who was not there. She then saw Ileya and told him she didn't feel well and was going to leave. Ellis signed out for an early dismissal and she called Ileya and left the school for the day.

Ellis then sat in her car and then went to the union office. First, she called her doctor and he was not available. She went to the union office to discuss lack of notice prior a meeting was set up with her. Later in the day, Ellis returned to PS 38. She did so because she had taken a personal business day and she needed her notebook for a legal matter the next day. Ellis went to the school around 4:30 p.m.

Ellis confirmed that she remembered times when Jones refused to talk to her. Ellis thought the interaction with Jones was strange. Jones spoke to her in an odd tone. When Ellis first started at PS 38, she had access to the copiers in the main office. Then at one point, Ellis no longer had the copier code and access in 2014. Jones made the decision to no longer give her access to the copier. Ellis did have access to the copier in Carter's office, but most of the time it was broken. Ellis had to make copies on a regular basis. Ellis recalled other select times when Jones would yell at her.

Ellis identified P-3, which was an application for a leave of absence. The term of this absence was February 11, 2016, to May 22, 2016. This application was approved by the district. (P-4.)

Ellis testified that prior to February 2016, she was seeing a psychiatrist and talking to a therapist in Colorado over the phone. A doctor recommended that she go to High Focus Center (P-5). Ellis went to High Focus from February until April 2016. Thereafter, there was a request and then an approval to extend her leave through June 2016. (P-7.)

Ellis also reviewed P-2 was a document for ADA accommodations in her role as a CA, dated March 2. The decision for accommodations was made by Palmer, Ellis, and High Focus. Ellis reviewed the list of the requested accommodations. It was her belief that these accommodations would ease her stress and anxiety. No one from the district responded to her request for accommodations.

There was also an evaluation meeting in June 2016. No one addressed the accommodation request during the evaluation meeting. Ellis reviewed a letter from Timberline Knolls to the nurse, confirming her enrollment in the program. Ellis entered the program around August 17. Ellis also made a request for a leave of absence from September 6 to September 24. The basis for the leave request was that Ellis was a patient at a residential treatment facility. The leave was approved by the district. (P-10). Ellis then had another extension of leave and returned to work on October 3.

On cross-examination, Ellis confirmed that she has one session of training in Infinite Campus with DG. Ellis also received training in a workshop in September 2013 and September 2015. Ellis also met with Rivera in October 2015 and the fall of 2016. Ellis admitted that she knew how to print out caller reports. Ellis stated that she still had some problems with attendance reports, including how to put in the codes. Each separate reason for a student absence has a different code that Ellis has to input. Each code is listed in the Infinite Campus program. In answering why, the process was difficult, Ellis stated "Because it was." Ellis stated that she was responsible for printing out reports of students who don't show up and there is no contact with the parent and a report of those students who are late and the comments made by the parents. Ellis stated that she was familiar with the forms. Ellis was aware that she had to submit these forms every week to Ross and his clerk. The weekly report was supposed to be submitted in paper.

In addition, Ellis stated Rivera went over homeless reports with her. Ellis acknowledged that she had an understanding of how to create same. Ellis stated that she had some difficulty in emailing the report so she would either get help or submit it in a paper copy. Ellis stated that homeless reports should be submitted on a monthly basis. The homeless reports were to be submitted to Ross and Jones. There was also a form for a truancy task force matter. This referred to a court referral for a student that has excessive absences. Ellis stated that she sometimes had difficulty with that form. Ellis also received assistance from computer teacher Carter at PS 38.

Ellis reviewed R-14 on cross-examination, which is an email, dated September 17, 2015, written by Ellis. Ellis told Jones that she didn't have an answering machine and a phone number and Ileya that she didn't have ink. Ellis asked for additional training. Ellis confirmed that one time Rivera came to PS 38 to train her and she did not receive the training because she asked for a union rep. Ellis reviewed an email chain (R-25) where Rivera stated to Ellis that she arrived at PS 38 to give her training on November 25, 2014. In the email Rivera characterize the encounter as Ellis being uncooperative and refused her assistance to train her on Infinite Campus. Despite Ellis's inconsistent testimony where she stated that she did not refuse training unless a union rep was present and then that she did not have training because a union rep was not present. Ellis stated that she asked for a union rep because she was surprised at Rivera coming to see her and she didn't know what it was going to lead to.

In addition, Ellis confirmed that she received a schedule for her daily tasks from Jones and Ileya and Ellis requested time to review the schedule with union management and then will respond to same. In additional Ellis received an email addressing business cards and if you run out of cards, contact Rivera and she will stop by to place another order. Ellis refused to meet with Rivera because Ellis wanted a union rep to be present.

Ellis testified that she was entitled to have a union rep present when a person from the district shows up. Ellis learned this from the JEA conference in Atlantic City. Ellis's position is that whenever she is meeting with any type of authoritative person for any type of job-related duty, she is entitled to a union rep to be present.

Ellis testified that she did submit some of the weekly activity reports in the 2016/17 school year. Ellis testified that she submitted these reports in November and December in 2016. With reference to the 2015/16 school year, she stated that she submitted some reports from September 2015 to January 2016. Ellis stated that she did not have any of the reports to prove that she submitted such reports. Ellis also testified that she submitted some reports in the 2014/15 school year. Ellis also testified that despite Ross's testimony to the contrary, Ellis said that she submitted several monthly homeless reports.

Ellis also testified that she did keep a logbook with information in it. The information included home visits, addresses, phone number, absences, and parent excuses. This book was never shown to Jones because she did not ask to see it.

Ellis referred to R-2 which set forth her job duties. Ellis conferred that they were the job duties set forth in that document. Ellis confirmed that she was expected to track student attendance and make home calls when the students were late or absent. In addition, Ellis was expected to make home visits from time to time. Ellis was also expected to make weekly activity reports. Ellis admitted that she received reminders to file reports from Ross's office and also got reminders from Rivera. Ellis was shown exhibit which was an email which told Ellis that activity logs and summary reports are due every Friday but could be handed in by Ellis on Monday due to Ellis's request for more time. This email was received by Ellis on September 22, 2015. (R-5.)

On the day when Ellis was supposed to meet with Ileya and Ross to discuss procedures, Ellis fell ill and left the building without attending the meeting. Ellis then ate in her car, collected herself, and then went to the union office later that day. Ellis stated that she felt overwhelmed and did not have prior notice about the proposed meeting.

Ellis was hoping to clarify having notice given when she was being trained with the union. Ellis admitted that at this point, she did not tell anybody at PS 38 that she had an illness.

Ellis reviewed a memo from Ileya about the meeting of September 24, 2015, received by Ellis on September 30, 2015. (R-16.) Ellis also reviewed an email from Jones to Ellis, dated January 20, 2015. R-21. Ellis stated that she did receive this email. Ellis also confirmed that she had a working telephone shared with Carter who was a teacher next to her. Ellis admitted that she received training from DG and Rivera at least once each on Infinite Campus. Ellis also received ninety-minute training at the central office. In addition, Ellis was never refused training.

Ellis also confirmed that she was brought up on disciplinary charges three times. The last two charges are the subject of this hearing. The first charge lead to a suspension for five days. (R-27).

Ellis reviewed her health and medical department file. (R-28). Ellis stated that she took several leaves of absence over the time of her employment at PS 38. Ellis confirmed that before she took those leaves she did not notify either Jones or Ileya. There was a memo dated September 30, 2016 from Nurse Carrafa, which states that the leave of absence for Ellis was approved from September 6 through 24, 2016. It goes on to say that these absences will count for her overall record of attendance with the district. This reference was contained in all of the approvals for a leave of absence.

Ellis also reviewed a letter from Dr. Aftell which stated that Ellis has no medical history and has a prior psychiatric history of depression since the 1980s. Ellis stated that this doctor was the Board's doctor. Ellis confirmed that she was diagnosed with depression since March 2007.

Ellis's doctor cleared her to come back to work on June 16, but she did not come back to work until June 21 because Ellis maintained that the 21st was the day she was cleared to return to work.

For purposes of therapy, Ellis went to Timberline in Illinois in August 2016. However, Ellis stopped going to High Focus in Cranford in April 2016. Ellis did not directly from High Focus to Timberline because of a lack of income which she needed for transportation to Timberline.

Ellis was presented with an email from Rivera sent on or about October 30. (R-29.) Ellis could not recall if she received this email. Ellis served as a parent liaison at PS 34 and was a teacher assistant in 2000 in Jersey City. Ellis resigned from the teacher assistant position in November 2002. During this time as a teacher assistant Ellis was charged with chronic absenteeism. The result of the discipline was multiple day suspension.

On redirect, Ellis confirmed that Infinite Campus was not in use when she started the position as a CA. Ellis stated that Infinite Campus was related to classroom monitor; daily attendance, and summary and call reports. In addition, the weekly reports go through Infinite Campus. Ellis also wanted help with Blackboard Connect which connects with an answering machine and sends out robo calls to all the parents telling them that the child was absent. Ellis testified that she did not receive any stipend from the District for any outside training on computers or technology.

Ellis sent an email to Jones and Ileya stating that she did not have a telephone to make phone calls or business calls. (R-25.) Ellis stated that her phone was removed when she was on medical leave. Ellis did not get her own telephone line between November 2014 and September 2015. In addition, Ellis requested that she sit down with another CA to go over her schedule. This request was never completed.

Ellis reasserted her belief that an employee is allowed to have a union rep for any meeting with administration for job related duties. This position was never clarified by any in the District. Ellis also stated that if she removed copies of her reports from the building, she would be subject to discipline. Ellis stated that when she told Ross and Ileya that she needed to obtain a notebook prior to the meeting she did not attend, she was getting the notebook simply to take notes. Ellis filled out an early dismissal form in order to leave early on that date. When Ellis put in her ADA form, she stated that her requests for additional training were not addressed. There were a series of leaves of absence from February 1 to 19; then February 20 to March 1 and then March 5 to 17, which Ellis acknowledged as her leave of absence.

Ellis stated that her understanding about getting a union rep for any job-related duties was from a card she received when she was at a convention from a representative from the union. It was agreed that UE would produce a copy of that card for the record.

On re-cross Ellis confirmed that she got reminders from time to time to submit her weekly reports. Ellis referred to her ADA request form for accommodations which included extra computer training and the district did not provide such training. This request was made toward the beginning of an extensive leave of absence in the spring of 2016. Ellis was not there for the balance of the 2015/2016 school year. Thereafter Ellis was then out on a leave in September 2016 through October 2016. Not long after her return from the leave in October 2016, Ellis then received a notice of disciplinary charges in November 2016. Ellis stated that the District should believe that she would work as a CA thereafter because she would no longer be working in a hostile work environment and she would be in a new school with a new administrator with a new position with a fresh start and a new beginning.

John Ross (recalled to testify)

Ross described the system set up for his department for CA's to submit reports as at the end of the week on Friday every CA is required to submit a weekly report via intra office system so he could receive it by Monday morning. In addition, Ross also was to receive a report with phone calls to home when students were absent; home visits by CAs and information regarding letters which were sent to home. Ross considered this a snapshot of CAs activity. Ross then stated that the homeless report is to be filled out at the end of the month. In addition, a DNR report is due in September. It is the duty of the CA to submit all these reports. Ross reviews all these reports and he then hands them off to his clerk who files them. The clerk then puts them on a spreadsheet. The spreadsheet is a list of all CAs and an accounting of the weeks and the reports submitted from September to June. It shows who submitted the reports and who has not submitted the reports. The spreadsheets are updated once a week. (R-32). Ross reviewed the spreadsheets submitted as evidence as R-32.

Upon his review, Ross stated that Ellis did not submit any reports for the 2016/2017 school year. In the 15/16 school year, Ellis handed in two reports and in the 14/15 school year Ellis handed in no reports. R-33 is a spreadsheet which is a report for CA which covers weekly activity log reports and home visits. Ross stated that there was an initiative to increase home visits because they were more effective in addressing attendance. This was created in the 15/16 school year. This showed that Ellis made no home visits in that school year. There was also another spreadsheet (R-34) which reflected homeless reports, which are monthly reports. This report showed that Ellis submitted a homeless report in September and October 2016; however, Ross testified that this does not mean that Ellis herself submitted the reports as someone could have submitted them on her behalf. However, for a number of months afterwards there was a designation that the reports were not submitted.

Ross stated that he organized workshops in early September in the 13/14 school year. Ross created workshops every year thereafter. Ross stated that Ellis attended the first workshop in the 13/14 school year. In addition, Ellis received separate training. Ross said that the district offered a workshop the day after Labor Day in 2015. Ross recalled that Ellis did not attend the workshop at that time.

Ross testified that Infinite Campus was started in the beginning of the 10/11 school year. Ross said that there was training for staff by the educational tech department. Ross also spoke about the attempted meeting with Ellis and Ileya to be held on September 24, 2015. Ross advised the principals and CAs that he would stop by the schools in the beginning of the year. The purpose is to meet with staff to speak about attendance and forms associated with that and the district's goals. There was not a set date, but rather it would be just in the month of September. Ross did not rearrange this meeting with Ileya.

On cross-examination, Ross stated that Ellis's last day of employment was January 20, 2016. The district hired a per diem CA after Ellis no longer worked there. If no homeless report is submitted it is the responsibility of the principal, ultimately. Ross had a specific recollection that Ellis did not attend the workshop in September 2015. This workshop was held in the central office. Ross had no idea as to whether Ellis was at some other Board meeting on that date.

Ross also arranged for Rivera to assist Ellis in her computer training on October 8, 2015. The charges written up in the PNDA was not created by Ross but rather by Human Resources.

Sandra Jones (on recall)

Jones testified on rebuttal as a wittiness for the District. Jones stated that she gave Ellis a schedule of her duties. Jones gave her a schedule because Ellis was informing her that she did not have enough time to do all her tasks. She gave Ellis this schedule between 2013 and 14/15 school year. Jones also reviewed an email from Ellis to Ileya and Jones, dated November 25, 2014. (R-25.) This email was in response to the schedule give to Ellis from Jones. Jones also gave Ellis an outline to help her organize her work duties. (R-35). It addressed the following duties: cafeteria (8-8:30); lobby duty (8:45-9:00); daily calls for absences (9:05-9:45); contacting parents of students with excessive lateness and absences (9:45-10:45); then a ten minute break (10:45-10:55); home visits (11:00-11:45);update documentation logs (11:45-12:30); then lunch break; check with nurse for medical documentation (2:00-2:15); at which point the schedule ends even though Ellis's work day ended at 2:55. Jones confirmed that Ellis would be at the security desk from 2:30-2:55.

Jones stated that she was unaware of any medical conditions that Ellis had during her employment. Jones did recall that there was an accommodation hearing on December 20, 2016, at which time some issues were raised. Jones denied that she yelled and/or screamed at Ellis regarding student uniform shirts. When Jones intervened in the "shirt" discussion between Ellis and Jones's clerk Maritza, Ellis responded to Jones by saying that I am not talking to you. Jones also discussed an incident which took place on Election Day where there was a problem with Ellis having a chair. Jones questioned why Ellis took a chair from another area when there were already chairs in the lobby. Ellis failed to explain why she took the chair.

Jones also addressed the testimony by Leahy, who stated that Jones yelled at her like a child. Jones explained that at some point during testing Leahy leaned over and exposed her breast. Jones told Leahy to please stand up. Jones said that there were children in front of the counter when this occurred. Jones confirmed that Ellis was not permitted behind the counter to use the copier. This also applies to teachers, aides, and teacher assistants.

FINDINGS OF FACT

1. Ellis was first hired by the Jersey City School District in 1997 as a substitute teacher and then became a full-time teacher's assistant in 2000.
2. Ellis had two prior discipline charges for chronic and excessive absenteeism while working as a teacher's assistant.
3. In 2001, Ellis received a warning and in 2002, a twenty-day unpaid suspension based on her excessive absences.
4. Ellis then resigned from the respondent in 2002 in anticipation of an expected move.
5. Thereafter in 2005, Ellis was re-hired by the respondent as a Community Aide/Parent Liaison and worked from 2005-2011 at Public School number 34.
6. As a Parent Liaison, Ellis's involvement with attendance was limited to assisting the school's Community Aides make calls a couple times per month.
7. As of 2011, the School District eliminated the position of Community Aide/Parent Liaison throughout the district. As a result of such action, Ellis was offered and accepted work as a Community Aide at Public School number 38.
8. Public School number 38 is an elementary school with less than 1,000 students in grades pre-kindergarten through eight.
9. The job description for a Community Aide includes making daily calls to all student absentees; documenting student absences in a weekly log activity log to be submitted thereafter to the Central Office Attendance Supervisor; home visits to chronic absentees; sending "Parental Notification Forms" to certain parents; when a student has fifteen absences, preparing Student Period Attendance Detail and Truancy Tracking Forms for court referral; and completing the Did Not Report report on the tenth day of school.

10. The above duties are consistent with the Civil Service job specifications for "Community Aide Schools." It also included a provision of duties "other duties deemed appropriate by the principal or supervisor." Thus all of the duties performed by Ellis were within the duties set forth in the list of responsibilities.
11. The School District provided annual training for all Community Aides every September generally after Labor Day when the employees returned to work after summer break.
12. The training consisted of a full-day workshop at the central office and addressed computer training and other related training including a demonstration on a "Smart Board" of how to look up student information (Absence and attendance information); use of "Infinite Campus." Community Aides were given their own laptops to use during the training.
13. Maribell Rivera, an Attendance Counselor, provided the training to the other employees of the District.
14. The employees were trained on the reports that the employees were required to submit to the Central Office and they were given a packet that contained blank forms for use in their reports and for daily logs of their activities. Ellis attended at least two of these workshops.

    It is important for the School to track student attendance at the Jersey City Schools because of academic achievement (quality education/to learn and achieve) and most importantly, student safety.
15. John Ross became the Supervisor of Attendance to whom Ellis and other Community Aides reported.
16. Community Aides were required to submit the following reports to Ross's office throughout the school year: a) weekly student absence reports; b) weekly home visits reports (in the weekly absence reports); c) monthly homeless reports and d) DNR (Did Not Report) report by the tenth day of each September.
17. In the 2012-2013 school year, Ross did not change any of the Community Aide reporting procedures that were in place prior to that time.

18. The Weekly Reports were to be submitted on paper to Ross's office and the Monthly Homeless Student Reports can be submitted by hard copy or electronically by the Community Aide or someone else designated to do so at each school.
19. Ross's clerk maintained a file for each Community Aide of every report submitted. The clerk also maintained a spreadsheet that documented the student absence and homeless reports that each Community Aide submitted.
20. Community Aides are expected to keep a daily log of their work tracking student absences.
21. A daily log form is included in their annual training packet. The daily logs were used to create the weekly reports in order to be submitted to the Central Office.
22. Jones gave Ellis a binder in which Jones instructed Ellis to keep her logs for easy reference by others, in the event the information is needed.
23. Ellis conducted her job duties during the first couple of years adequately.
24. Ellis attended the annual training held at the Student Attendance Office in September 2013, which included training in Infinite Campus.
25. Ellis requested additional computer training and in December 2013, Jones authorized one on one training for Ellis with the School District's Information Systems coordinator and also permitted Ellis to have a follow-up appointment approximated one week later.
26. Ellis was never refused training from the time Ross became supervisor in December 2012.
27. Ellis continuously neglected to prepare the daily and weekly student absence logs which were, without dispute, a necessary part of her job.
28. Ellis submitted no reports to Ross's office for the entire 2013-2014 school year.
29. Ellis was absent from her job on 32.66 days for personal illness or personal business, inclusive of the final two weeks of the school year.
30. The respondent's written acknowledgement of Ellis's leave of absence, informed Ellis that her absences would count toward her overall attendance record with the School District.
31. Ellis was previously charges with discipline for failure to perform duties, chronic and excessive absenteeism, neglect of duty, conduct unbecoming a public employee, insubordination and other just cause, which was sustained at a departmental hearing and ultimately an unpaid suspension of five days was imposed.

32. Ellis failed to report to work during the last two weeks of the school year (2013-2014), Ellis requested a medical leave of absence at the beginning of the 2014-2015 school year from September 3, 2014, through October 6, 2014.

33. Once again Ellis was informed that her absences would count toward her overall attendance record with the respondent.

34. Based on these absences, Ellis failed to prepare and submit the annual DNR report for Public School 38.

35. After Ellis's return to work in October 2014, Ellis failed to prepare or submit any weekly student attendance reports.

36. Jones provided Ellis with a schedule of daily tasks in order to assist her organize her day and complete her work. Ellis provided input into the creation of that schedule.

37. Ellis requested additional training on using Infinite Campus and how to complete weekly reports and in response Rivera was sent to Public School 38 to provide Ellis with re-training.

38. When Rivera arrived at Public School 38 to see Ellis, Ellis refused to permit Rivera to train her without a union representative being present.

39. In addition, Ellis refused to speak to Jones about any job-related topics unless a union representative was present.

40. It was Ellis's belief that she was exercising her "Weingarten Rights," which she believed applied when she was meeting with any authoritative figure for any type of job-related duty.

41. Ellis also had job duties of making visits to the homes of students who were excessively absent in order to determine the reason for their absence.

42. In December 2014, a mother of a student complained that Ellis visited a neighbor's house and advised the neighbor that she was looking for the parent's kindergarten daughter. As a result of this visit, the mother rushed to Public School 39 to find that her daughter was in school and fine.

43. Ellis failed to prepare or submit any weekly student attendance reports or monthly homeless reports for the entire 2014-2015 school year.

44. Ellis was absent on 41.3 days for personal illness and other personal reasons including 25 days based on a leave of absence.

45. Ellis's job performance in the 2014-2015 school year was unsatisfactory. Ellis refused to sign the evaluation report, even though an employee's signature confirmed that the contents were reviewed and discussed with the appropriate Department Head. At Ellis's request, her union representative attended her evaluation conference, even though it was non-disciplinary in nature.

46. Ellis returned to work in September 2015 and did not attend the annual workshop for Community Aides at the Office of Student Attendance on September 8, 2015, and did not submit the annual DNT report.

47. Ellis wrote email to the respondent with a large list of requests including additional training in Infinite Campus. All items in the list were provided except for air conditioning.

48. On September 22, 2015, Ellis made a request for printer ink and an extension of time to meet weekly reporting deadlines. Ross extended her weekly reporting deadlines by one day and arranged for Rivera to give Ellis one-on-one training on Infinite Campus which was provided on October 8, 2015.

49. On September 24, 2015, Ross was making rounds of the schools and opted to visit Ellis for a general meeting on student attendance for that coming school year. Ross asked to meet with Ellis and Ileya. Ellis demanded that a union representative be present at the meeting. Ileya authorized that a union representative be present even though no disciplinary action was contemplated.

50. Ellis advised the administers that she would attend the meeting after getting a notebook from her office. Ross, Ileya, and the union representative waited in the office, but Ellis did not appear. Ileya paged Ellis to appear at this meeting. Ellis called Ileya to advise that she was not feeling well and was leaving the building.

51. Ellis sat in her car to process what was going on and the meeting did not take place. Ellis attempted to meet with her doctor, however, he was not available. Later that day, Ross saw Ellis at the union office in Jersey City as Ellis felt good enough to attend the union office.

52. Both administrators reprimanded her for refusing to attend the meeting.

53. In fall of 2015, Ellis received numerous reminders to submit weekly activity reports to the Central office.

54. Ross sent to Ellis an email on October 15, 2015, because the Student Attendance Department had not received any weekly activity reports from her at that point in time.

55. Ellis did submit a report for the week of October 9, 2015. Except for this report, Ellis failed to submit any Weekly Attendance Reports during the 2015-2016 school year, nor any monthly homeless reports or weekly home visit logs.

56. Ellis was charged with discipline for failure to perform duties, chronic and excessive absenteeism, neglect of duty, insubordination and other sufficient cause. After a departmental hearing on November 12, 2015, the charges were upheld and Ellis was suspended without pay for nine days.

57. By January 2016, Ellis had taken 14.7 personal days and by the end of February 2016, she had taken an additional 14 personal days.

58. Jones sent a letter to Ellis warning her of her excessive absenteeism on February 29, 2016.

59. In addition, Ellis failed to report to work in March 2016 as Ellis requested a medical leave of absence for the three-month period from February 22, 2016, through May 22, 2016.

60. Ellis requested an accommodation for her disability described as "major depressive disorder—recurrent, moderate severity, hoarding disorder—a type of obsessive compulsive condition."

61. Palmer, a licensed social worker diagnosed Ellis with depression and hoarding.

62. The request for accommodations included: a) extra training; b) regular schedule of reminders of report due dates; c) extra time for completion; d) permission for early departure; e) assistance with establishing and maintaining office organization; f) prior notice and preparation for all administrative meetings and permission to be excluded from any school related tasks outside of primary responsibilities of a Community Aide unless undertaken voluntarily.

63. The leave of absence was extended through June 15, 2016.

64. Ellis returned to work on June 21, 2016, and worked for three half-days through the last day of school on June 23, 2016.

65. Ellis's evaluation in June 2016 was an unsatisfactory overall performance. Once again, Ellis refused to sign the annual evaluation report and once again a union representative accompanied her to the evaluation conference.

66. In August 2016, Ellis entered Timberline Knolls in Illinois for further treatment of her condition.

67. Ellis did not report to work on September 6, 2016, the first day of the 2016-2017 school year. On or about September 9, 2016, Ellis requested a medical leave of absence, retroactively for the period: September 6, 2016 through September 24, 2016.

68. The respondent advised Ellis that her absences would count toward her overall attendance record. Due to this absence, Public School # 38's DNR report was not completed.

69. At the end of the above leave, Ellis did not report to work on Monday, September 26, 2016, or for the next several days thereafter.

70. The respondent's Chief of Talent forwarded a letter to Ellis questioning Ellis's unexplained absence and directing her to return to work no later than September 30, 2016.

71. Ellis reported to work on October 3, 2016, and on October 4, 2016, Ellis left by noon claiming illness. Ellis did not report to work from October 5 to October 12, 2016. Thereafter Ellis reported to work on and off for a couple of weeks and the whole month of November without submitting weekly reports.

72. From the beginning of the school year in 2016 through November 7, 2016, Ellis was absent from work for 35.5 days.

73. Additional disciplinary charges were brought against Ellis for chronic and excessive absenteeism, neglect of duty, conduct unbecoming and other just cause, seeking Ellis's removal. The charge of conduct unbecoming was not pursued in this hearing.

74. Ellis did not submit any weekly reports during the 2016-2017 school year, nor any monthly homeless reports or the home visit reports.

75. After receiving a notice for disciplinary charges for removal, Ellis submitted a second request for accommodations for depression, anxiety and insomnia. Ellis requested a transfer to a teacher aide position, necessary aides/assistance in current position and time to clean her office.

76. On January 19, 2017, the Board of Education voted to remove Ellis from her employment, as the hearing officer had recommended and her employment was terminated, effective January 20, 2017.

LEGAL DISCUSSION

This matter involves two major disciplinary actions brought by the respondent appointing authority against appellant. An appeal to the Merit System Board requires the OAL to conduct a hearing de novo to determine appellant's guilt or innocence as well as the appropriate penalty. In re Morrison, 216 N.J. Super. 143 (App. Div. 1987). Respondent has the burden of proof and must establish by a fair preponderance of the credible evidence that appellant was guilty of the charges. Atkinson v. Parsekian, 37 N.J. 143 (1962). Evidence is found to preponderate if it establishes the reasonable probability of the fact alleged and generates a reliable belief that the tendered hypothesis, in all human likelihood, is true. See Loew v. Union Beach, 56 N.J. Super. 93, 104 (App. Div. 1959), overruled on other grounds; Dwyer v. Ford Motor Co., 36 N.J. 487 (1962).

Ellis was charged with insubordination, conduct unbecoming a public employee, neglect of duty and other sufficient cause, in violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(2), (6), and (11).

Conduct unbecoming a public employee constitutes grounds for major discipline under N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6). Although the term is undefined under the New Jersey Administrative Code, the charge has been interpreted to include any conduct that adversely affects the morale or efficiency of the bureau or that "has a tendency to destroy public respect for municipal employees and confidence in the operation of municipal services." In re Emmons, 63 N.J. Super. 136, 140 (App. Div. 1960) (citation omitted). The employee need not violate the criminal code or a written rule or policy of the employer.

> Nor need a finding of misconduct be predicated upon the violation of any rule or regulation, but may be based merely upon the violation of the implicit standard of good behavior which devolves upon one who stands in the public eye as an upholder of that which is morally and legally correct.

When such conduct creates a hostile and potentially dangerous environment, it also constitutes just cause for major discipline. Perry v. Mercer County Dep't of Pub. Safety, 96 N.J.A.R.2d (CSV) 834, 837.

Insubordination may consist of refusing or failing to follow the instructions of a supervisor. See Eaddy v. Dep't of Transp., 208 N.J. Super. 156, 158-59 (App. Div.), certif. granted, 104 N.J. 392, order vacated, appeal dismissed, 105 N.J. 569 (1986).

The question, therefore, becomes whether the appellant's actions on the date in question amounted to insubordination, conduct unbecoming a public employee and other sufficient cause.[1]

In deciding what penalty is appropriate, the courts have looked toward the concept of progressive discipline. In West New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500, 523-24 (1962), the New Jersey Supreme Court held that evidence of a past disciplinary record, including the nature, number and proximity of prior instances of misconduct, can be considered in determining the appropriate penalty. Also, where an employee's misconduct is sufficiently egregious, removal may be warranted and need not be preceded by progressive penalties. In re Hall, 335 N.J. Super. 45 (App. Div. 2000), certif. denied, 167 N.J. 629 (2001); Golaine v. Cardinale, 142 N.J. Super. 385, 397 (Law Div. 1976), aff'd, 163 N.J. Super. 453 (App. Div. 1978), certif. denied, 79 N.J. 497 (1979). The penalty imposed must not be so disproportionate to the offense and the mitigating circumstances that the decision is arbitrary and unreasonable.

ANALYSIS

The New Jersey Civil Service Law protects classified employees from arbitrary dismissal and other onerous sanctions. Prosecutor's, Detectives and Investigators Ass'n v. Hudson County Bd. of Freeholders, 130 N.J. Super. 30, 41 (App. Div. 1974);

[1] Misconduct under N.J.S.A. 40A:14-147 and the charges of insubordination, conduct toward a superior officer and conduct in general are basically similar in nature to the charge of insubordination and conduct unbecoming.

Scancarella v. Dep't of Civil Serv., 24 N.J. Super. 65, 70 (App. Div. 1952). The law provides relief to civil service employees from public employers who may attempt to deprive them of their rights. Prosecutor's, supra, 130 N.J. Super. at 41. To this end, the law is liberally construed. Mastrobattista v. Essex Cty. Park Comm'n, 46 N.J. 138, 147 (1965). Consistent with this policy of civil service law, there is a requirement that in order for a public employee to be fined, suspended, or removed, the employer must show just cause for its proposed action. The Merit System Board is charged with the duty of ensuring that the reasons supporting disciplinary action are sufficient and not arbitrary, frivolous, or "likely to subvert the basic aim of the civil service program." Prosecutor's, supra, 130 N.J. Super. at 42 (quoting Kennedy v. Newark, 178 N.J. 190 (1959)).

Public employees' rights and duties are governed and protected by the provisions of the Civil Service Act, N.J.S.A. 11A:1-1 to 12-6, and the regulations promulgated pursuant thereto, N.J.A.C. 4A:1-1.1 to 4A:2-6.2. However, public employees may be disciplined for a variety of offenses involving their employment, including the general causes for discipline as set forth in N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a). An appointing authority may discipline an employee for sufficient cause, including failure to obey laws, rules and regulations of the appointing authority. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12). If sufficient cause is established, then a determination must be made on what is a reasonable penalty.

Determinations often turn on credibility. Credibility is the value that a finder of the facts gives to the testimony of a witness. The process of evaluating the credibility of witnesses entails: (a) observing demeanor; (b) evaluating the ability to recall specific details; (c) considering the consistency of the testimony under direct and cross-examination; (d) determining the significance of any inconsistent statements or evidence; and (e) otherwise developing a sense of the witness's candor. This requires an overall assessment of the witness's story in light of its rationality, internal consistency and the manner in which it "hangs together" with the other evidence. See Carbo v. U.S., 314 F.2d 718 (9th Cir. 1963), cert. denied sub. nom., Palermo v. U.S., 377 U.S. 953, 84 S. Ct. 1625, 12 L. Ed. 2d 498 (1964). In evaluating the weight, trustworthiness and reliability of the evidence, factors such as motive, bias, confirming witnesses or statements, corroborative evidence, and common sense must be considered. Frequently, the trier of fact relies on the innate sense of whether the testimony has the ring of truth.

Credible testimony must proceed from the mouth of a credible witness and must be such as common experience, knowledge, and common observation can accept as probable under the circumstances. State v. Taylor, 38 N.J. Super. 6, 24 (App. Div. 1955); Gilson v. Gilson, 116 N.J. Eq. 556, 560 (E. & A. 1934). A fact finder is expected to base credibility decisions on his or her common sense and life experiences. State v. Daniels, 182 N.J. 80, 99 (2004). Credibility is not dependent on the number of witnesses who appeared, State v. Thompson, 59 N.J. 396, 411 (1971), and the finder of fact is not bound to believe the testimony of any witness. In re Perrone, 5 N.J. 514, 521-22 (1950).

In assessing the testimony and exhibits in this case, I CONCLUDE that the testimony of Ross and Jones were particularly credible. Jones seemed to be professional and genuinely truthful about having to testify against Ellis. Generally, her testimony of what occurred corroborated that of Ross and Ileya and the documentary evidence. While Ellis and her witnesses attempted to impeach the testimony of Jones and Ross by saying that Jones had a grudge against Ellis. These witnesses' testimony displayed personal hostility. I believe that running of such a large school must be a challenge and requires that she demand and expect all employees to meet the requirements of their job. It appeared that Jones's goal was to have Public School 38 run effectively and efficiently and protect the students' safety. Ellis's testimony was self-serving and in conflict with other submitted documentary evidence. Ellis was able to present only a few documents which supported her testimony, but were unable to contradict or refute the underlying charges. I have concerns regarding Ellis's testimony because I find it to be inconsistent. Ellis presents a case whereby she made requests for additional training, yet either did not take advantage of the training offered to her or all employees or set up roadblocks to receive one-on-one training by improperly demanding a union representative to be present during training. Such a position is well beyond the scope of any reasonable interpretation of Weingarten rights and not supported by the evidence of the case. Despite the above, Ellis did receive a number of group and individual training sessions. Particularly concerning was the fact that Ellis admitted that she was aware that she was required to send weekly reports and monthly homeless reports to the central office, yet without a credible and cogent reason, she clearly failed to submit those reports on countless occasions. Therefore, I did not find Ellis's testimony particularly persuasive in the defense of the charges in this case.

The three other employees presented by Ellis in support of her case included Decker Gingles, Oliver, and Leahy. All three witnesses appeared to me as harboring resentment toward Jones and the administration in general. Oliver herself was disciplined for chronic absenteeism.

Leahy demonstrated a clearly blatant hostility toward the administration and Jones in particular. Her testimony showed a near paranoid state whereby she interpreted many of the actions around her as directed toward or about her. I find her testimony as lacking credibility and give it little of no weight in this case.

Ellis's personal therapist, Adrienne Palmer, who was offered as a fact wittiness by the appellant, offered almost no first-hand knowledge of the relevant facts on this case. Any information regarding the conditions at work were obtained by Palmer directly from Ellis, herself. Therefore, Palmer testimony was not compelling regarding the crux of this case.

Nine-Day Suspension and Termination of Employment

During the years when Ellis served as a Community Aide she failed to take any concrete steps to address the lack of abilities which she complained of during employment. Ellis failed to take advantage of the training offered and in fact placed barriers when approached with individuals to provide training.

The respondent offered to Ellis and other employees annual training sessions on how to create and submit weekly and monthly reports. Despite this, Ellis clearly failed to prepare these reports and further failed to report to work on a regular basis. When Ellis first failed to submit these reports, the respondent imposed a five-day unpaid suspension in the 2013-2014 school year. In addition, Ellis failed to submit reports for the 2014-2015 school year and in the autumn of 2015 (save for one report). In addition, Ellis was chronically absent (note that all leaves of absence count against her record of attendance). Ellis's failure to correct her attendance record resulted in an imposition of a nine-day unpaid suspension.

There is no doubt that Ellis committed a neglect of duty therefore the 2014-2015 and 2015-2016 school years. Such behavior is sufficient cause to suspend (and terminate) employment. In re Carter, 191 N.J. 474, 486 (2007); see also In re Reynolds, Twp. of Irvington, A-0 (App. Div. Nov. 23, 2015), http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/courts/ (which affirmed the CSC decision to consider a police officer's past disciplinary history of repeated misconduct and to remove him for neglect of duty and conduct unbecoming); In re Vena, A-4128-05T1 (App. Div. Oct. 26, 2007), http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/courts/ (the Appellate Division affirmed the fifteen-day suspension of an emergency medical technician who failed to perform duties critical to his position).

In this case, the facts proven in the hearing clearly show Ellis's failure to perform the duties critical to her position by failing to continually prepare and submit reports and failing to report to work for extended periods of time. Despite evidence of a medical condition, Ellis failed to advise the respondent of any medical condition that affected here ability to do her job. Ellis failed to improve her performance in 2015-2016 and 2016-2017 school years, despite additional training and offers of additional training. In addition, Ellis received warnings regarding her job performance and two prior suspension.

As cited by the respondent:

> There is no constitutional or statutory right to a government job. Our laws, as they relate to discharges or removal, are designed to promote efficient public service, not to benefit errant employees. The welfare of the people as a whole, and not exclusively the welfare of the civil servant, is the basic policy underlying our statutory scheme.

> [State-Operated Sch. Dist. of Newark v. Gaines, 309 N.J. Super. 327, 334 (App. Div. 1998).]

I FIND that the penalty of removal was reasonable under the facts proven in this case. The respondent provided sufficient training and sufficient offers of training. The respondent also provided Ellis with adequate warning regarding her behavior. Even though Ellis requested and was provided with lengthy periods of leaves of absence, the respondent was not obligated to continue to take additional leaves of absence, all of which counted against her attendance history.

Chronic absenteeism by an employee is a proper basis for an appointing authority to terminate an employee. In re Wiley, Rowan University, CSV 48-13, Initial Decision (Nov. 3, 2014), adopted, CSC (Dec. 17, 2014), http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/. In the Wiley case, the employee appealed a fifteen-day suspension and removal from employment for chronic absenteeism and neglect of duty. The ALJ found that an employer has a right to expect that an employee will report for work as scheduled. The ALJ further stated "added to this is the neglect he showed for his responsibilities even at work, which, in a sense, is no more than another form of 'absence', at least from the responsibilities of the work." Id. at slip op. at 8.

Chronic absenteeism although not defined in the Civil Service Act, is generally understood to be conduct that continues over a long time and recurs often. In re Ciuppa, CSV 04702-11, Initial Decision (Apr. 24, 2014), adopted, CSC (Jun. 4, 2014), http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/. Similarly, Ellis history of reoccurring absences of a number of years can only be defined as chronic absenteeism. Ellis was fully aware, every time she took a leave of absence, that her time off counted toward her history of attendance.

As a result of the above absences, the respondent operated at reduced efficiency and was required to patchwork an employee team through the use of other employees and/or temporary help.

> An institution functions only through the actions of its employees. Where an employee regularly absents himself > or fails to follow guidelines in connection with attendance such as to cause the institution difficulties in obtaining the necessary staffing . . . . such actions tend to affect the morale of the employees and cause administrative problems which an institution should not be required to bear.

> [Brown v. Trenton State Prison, 13 N.J.A.R. 466, 471 (1988).]

The importance of attendance of students and advising the respective parents is an extremely important function of a school. The safety of the students is of the highest importance of a school which even surpasses the educational function of the school, which is the core purpose of the school system in New Jersey. The concerns set forth in the Brown case is equally applicable in this case.

Conduct Unbecoming a Public Employee

"Conduct unbecoming" a public employee is an elastic phrase, which encompasses conduct that adversely affects the morale or efficiency of a governmental unit or that has a tendency to destroy public respect in the delivery of governmental services. Karins v. City of Atl. City, 152 N.J. 532, 554 (1998); see also In re Emmons, 63 NJ. Super. 136, 140 (App. Div. 1960). It is sufficient that the complained-of conduct and its attending circumstances "be such as to offend publicly accepted standards of decency." Karins, supra, 152 N.J. at 555 (quoting In re Zeber, 156 A.2d 821, 825 (Pa. 1959)). Such misconduct need not necessarily "be predicated upon the violation of any particular rule or regulation, but may be based merely upon the violation of the implicit standard of good behavior which devolves upon one who stands in the public eye as an upholder of that which is morally and legally correct." Hartmann v. Police Dep't of Ridgewood, 258 N.J. Super. 32, 40 (App. Div. 1992) (quoting Asbury Park v. Dep't of Civil Serv., 17 N.J. 419, 429 (1955)).

I CONCLUDE that Ellis engaged in conduct unbecoming a public employee.

Insubordination

Ellis is also charged with insubordination. The Civil Service Commission utilizes a more expansive definition of insubordination than a simple refusal to obey an order. In re Chaparro, Initial Decision (November 12, 2010), modified, CSC (March 18, 2011) (citing In re Stanziale, A-3492-00T5 (App. Div. April 11, 2002), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/courts/> (appellant's conduct in which he refused to provide complete and accurate information when requested by a superior constituted insubordination)); In re Lyons, A-2488-07T2 (App. Div. April 26, 2010), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/courts/>; In re Moreno, CSV 14037-09, Initial Decision (June 10, 2010), modified, CSC (July 21, 2010), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>; In re Bell, CSV 4695-09, Initial Decision (May 12, 2010), modified, CSC (June 23, 2010), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>; In re Pettiford, CSV 8804-07, Initial Decision (March 13, 2008), modified, Merit System Board (May 21, 2008), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>. (Moreno, Bell, and Pettiford all concerning disrespect of a supervisor.)

The Civil Service Commission also has determined that an appellant is required to comply with an order of his or her superior, even if he or she believed the orders to be improper or contrary to established rules and regulations. See Palamara v. Twp. of Irvington, A-5408-05T3 (App. Div. February 28, 2005), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/courts/>; Compare, In re Allen, CSV 11160-04, Initial Decision (May 23, 2005), remanded, Merit System Board (July 14, 2005), CSV 09132-05 Initial Decision, (November 22, 2005), adopted, Merit System Board (January 26, 2006) <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/> (in which the Board determined that the appellant's disobedience was justified by concerns for the safety of the clients on a bus and reversed his removal).

In this case, there is sufficient evidence that Ellis was insubordinate in dealing with Ross and Jones. There is no dispute that Ellis received a clear directive from Ross and that she decided not to obey that directive by not attending the meeting and simply leaving the school with making an insufficient effort to attend the meeting. This is by definition insubordination.

I further CONCLUDE that Ellis engaged in conduct that amounted to insubordination.

Neglect of Duty

Neglect of duty is not defined under the New Jersey Administrative Code, but the charge has been interpreted to mean that an employee has failed to perform and act as required by the description of their job title. Generally, the term "neglect" connotes a deviation from normal standards of conduct. In re Kerlin, 151 N.J. Super. 179, 186 (App. Div. 1977). It has been applied both to not fully carrying out duties and to acting incorrectly. See, e.g., In re Marucci, CSV 07241-09, Initial Decision (January 1, 2010), modified, CSC (March 6, 2010), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>, aff'd, A-3607-09T1 (App. Div. January 3, 2012), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/courts/> (removal of a police officer with no disciplinary record where he failed to remove drugs from under a sewer grate and then lied about his actions); see also In re Dona, CSV 10782-08, Initial Decision (August 3, 2009), modified, CSC (August 8, 2009), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/> (affirming twenty-day suspension for failing to pat down inmate properly, missing a wooden shank). Certainly, the failure to submit her weekly reports, annual reports and monthly reports as set forth in the CA's duties constitutes a significant omission, and, thus, I further CONCLUDE that the respondent has met its burden with regard to the charge of neglect of duty.

Chronic and Excessive Absenteeism

The District has charged Ellis with violating N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(4), chronic and excessive absenteeism. The Courts have indicated that "Just cause for dismissal can be found in habitual tardiness or similar chronic conduct." Bock, supra, 38 N.J. at 522. While a single instance may not be sufficient, "numerous occurrences over a reasonably short space of time, even though sporadic, may evidence an attitude of indifference amounting to neglect of duty." Ibid. Thus, conduct that occurs over a period of time, or frequently recurs, is considered "chronic," and may be the basis of discipline or dismissal. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(4).

In this case, it is undisputed that Ellis had been put on notice and was aware of her punctuality and attendance problems soon after she was hired by the District. The District utilized progressive discipline, first suspending Ellis, and later suspending her again for six days in February 2012. Despite numerous warnings, Ellis's attendance problems continued. Jones, the principal of the District's public-school number thirty-eight, noted in her testimony, that if someone was absent, the work needed to be "picked up" by the other employees in the absent employee's group. Ellis's attorney at the hearing, while not disputing the accuracy of the District's records, noted that the District's disciplinary action for removal in this case is "too severe." However, there is no dispute to Ellis's long history of punctuality and attendance problems while employed by the District. In Gaines, supra, 309 N.J. Super. at 334, the court noted, "There is no constitutional or statutory right to a government job. Our laws, as they relate to discharges or removal, are designed to promote efficient public service, not to benefit errant employees."

The evidence presented at the hearing confirms that during the five and one-half years while Ellis was a CA, she was absent for personal illness and personal business reasons for at least one month and at times up to five months in each of her ten-month work years. In addition, Ellis was absent for other reasons such as a work-related accident and a funeral. The evidence clearly showed that Ellis had the following absents: 2011-12-PI 16 and PB 3 for a total of 19; 2012-13-PI 22.5 and PB 3 for a total of 25.5; 2013-14 PI 30.6 and PB 2 for a total of 32.6; 2014-15-PI38.3 and PB 3 for a total of 41.3; 2015-16-PI 102.7 and PB 1 for a total of 103.7; and 2016-17(half year through 1/19/17)-PI 47.5 and PB 2 for a total 49.5. The evidence demonstrates that her absences from work generally steadily increased.

Therefore, based upon the foregoing facts and applicable law, I CONCLUDE that the District has proven, by a preponderance of the competent, credible evidence, the charge of chronic and excessive absenteeism.

There was presented no basis to support the fact that the District was obligated to accommodate Ellis's extensive absences. New Jersey Courts have held that attendance is an essential function of most jobs and need not be accommodated. Gaines, supra, 309 N.J. Super. at 333 (which stated that "appearing for work on a regular and timely basis is not asking too much)"; Muller v. Exxon Research and Eng'g Co., 345 N.J. Super. 595, 605-06 (App. Div. 2001), certif. denied, 172 N.J. 355 (2002) (which found that under the Law Against Discrimination, excess absenteeism need not be accommodated even if caused by a disability otherwise protected by the Act); Svarnas v. AT&T Comm'n, 326 N.J. Super. 59, 79 (App. Div 1999) (which found that an employee who does not come to work cannot perform any of her job functions, essential or otherwise).

Many or Ellis's absences were based on extended leaves of absence. The District allowed Ellis to take those leaves of absence and return to her job thereafter, but Ellis was notified repeatedly that the absences would count toward her record. See In re Pribramsky, CSV 11877-14, Initial Decision (July 23, 2015), adopted, CSC (Sept. 2, 2015), http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/, wherein the municipal Department of Roads tolerated a number of excessive lateness and absents from a laborer and then imposed a ten-day suspension for excessive absenteeism. After the employee took all of his paid sick days for two years and then failed to timely report his absence on one day, the employer removed him. The Administrative Law Judge found that the employer had just cause to terminate the employee for excessive absenteeism regardless of its past accommodation of the behavior.

In Svarnas, supra, 326 N.J. Super. at 77, the Superior Court of New Jersey, Appellate Division stated: "[T]here is no way to reasonably accommodate the unpredictable aspect of an employee's sporadic and unscheduled absences." In addition, the Court found:

> [J]ust cause for dismissal can be found in habitual tardiness or similar chronic conduct." West New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500, 522 (1962). While a single instance may not be sufficient, "numerous occurrences over a reasonably short space of time, even though sporadic, may evidence an attitude of indifference Amounting to neglect of duty.
> [Ibid.]

The lack of attendance at work by Ellis speaks for itself and there is no doubt that the District had no duty to further tolerate such behavior given the rippling effect on other employees and the District itself. The District was well within its rights to bring disciplinary charges against Ellis. A fundamental duty of each and every employee is to appear for work and conduct the duties of their job.

Appellant's Request for Accommodations

In the appellant's submission, she claims that her requests for accommodations should have been addressed by the District. In March 2016, both Ellis and Palmer filled out an accommodation request. (P-2.) This request was based upon Palmer's conversations with Ellis. Ellis then filled out a second request for accommodations in November 2016.

The above argument made by the appellant is hereby rejected as this case is not and was not heard as a failure to accommodate case which would be brought under the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination or the Federal Americans with Disabilities Act. Such a position falls outside a Civil Service case and the only issue here is whether the District had just case to discipline Ellis and whether the discipline was reasonable.

Appellant's Position Regarding Her Weingarten Rights

It is Ellis's position that based on her understanding of the applicable law, she was entitled to a union representative when she was meeting with administrators for job-related duties. Incredibly Ellis testified that she was entitled to have a union representative present for any meeting (including training) concerning her job-related duties. This not only misrepresents her Weingarten rights, but served as a barrier to the proper functioning of her duties and it also prevented the District from providing a remedy (i.e. training) to some of the complaints asserted by the appellant.

It is beyond reason for Ellis to state that many of her meeting would result in discipline. The meetings included training and well as review of the procedures and general policies in the District. For Ellis to demand a union representative for nearly every meeting would result in the efficiency of the District to be negatively affected and cause the District to have other employees fail to properly handle their jobs.

The case of NLRB v. Weingarten, 420 U.S. 251, 95 S. Ct. 959, 43 L. Ed. 2d 171 (1975), the United States Supreme Court held that public employees have the right to request union representation at investigations where the employees reasonably believe that the investigation will result in disciplinary action. The belief must be reasonable and the result of an investigation. Neither of those factors are applicable in this case. They do not apply to "run-of-the-mill shop-floor conversations, as for example, the giving of instructions or training or needed corrections of work techniques." Id. at 257-58, 95 S. Ct. 963, 43 L. Ed. 2d 178. The decision as to whether the belief is reasonable is determined on an objective basis. Non-investigative meetings do not implicate an employee's right to union representation. See Mitchell v. Brough of Roseland Police Dept., A-3046-15T3 (App. Div. Mar. 15, 2017), http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/courts/, in which the Appellate Division analyzed whether a meeting between a police officer and his supervisor constituted an investigation for Weingarten purposes. Id. at *14-15. The Appellate Court found that the meeting was not investigatory because the meeting was held to afford the officer an opportunity to sign a reprimand to indicate his receipt, and not his agreement, with the reprimand. Ibid. That case is akin to Ellis requesting a union representative at numerous meetings with management which could not reasonably lead to discipline.

Weingarten rights do not attach to such business-related conversations as giving instructions, training employees or correcting techniques. New Jersey Dep't of Law and Public Safety, Div. of State Police, 27 NJPER 32119 (July 27, 2001), which found that a union representative was not required, where the meeting is supervisory in nature and was designed to show the employee how to improve his work performance.

There is no rational basis to find that Ellis was entitled to the presence of a union representative during training, or other meetings with supervisors wherein that were discussing policy and procedure. Thus, at no time were Ellis's Weingarten rights violated during the course of her employment.

CONCLUSION

What becomes clear is that Ellis failed to properly do numerous tasks which were assigned to her. Although she claims to have alerted her superiors as to her inability to do her job, nowhere was she able to present written evidence that she took full advantage of the offerings of training to address any possible shortcomings. In addition, Ellis was given notices that she should have done certain tasks and they were not done and nor were her supervisors advised that these tasks were not her responsibility or outside the properly assigned duties. Without any countervailing testimony, I must CONCLUDE that the appellant's behavior was conduct unbecoming a public employee, was insubordinate, and neglect of duty. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that respondent has sustained its burden of proof as to all the charges filed against the Ellis.

As for the penalty phase, I must consider whether there is prior disciplinary action that should be considered in deciding the progressive-discipline factor. I CONCLUDE that exhibits R-2, R-3, and R-6 are relevant; establish prior progressive discipline. The charges contained in the Final Notice of Disciplinary Action (J-1) resulted in a suspension for 120, with forty-five days held in abeyance for one year. Considering the list of prior disciplinary events, I CONCLUDE that the nine-day suspension and the termination of employment are appropriate.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing, it is ORDERED that all charges against Ellis are AFFIRMED. It is further ORDERED that Ellis's nine-day suspension and removal are AFFIRMED and the appeals are DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE my Initial Decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B 10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, DIVISION OF APPEALS AND REGULATORY AFFAIRS, UNIT H, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, 44 South Clinton Avenue, P.O. Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Re: Dana Spivak v. Monmouth County, Department of Police Radio (CSC Docket No. 2017-2872 and OAL Docket No. CSV 4601-17) - SETTLEMENT

Dear Mr. Sposito and Mr. Kleinman:

The appeal of Dana Spivak, a Public Safety Telecommunicator with Monmouth County, Department of Police Radio, of her removal effective March 3, 2017, was before Administrative Law Judge Jacob S. Gertsman (ALJ), who returned the matter to the Civil Service Commission (Commission) on November 29, 2017 indicating that the parties had reached a settlement.

Sincerely,

Nicholas F. Angiulo

AGENCY DKT. NO. 2017-2872

IN THE MATTER OF DANA SPIVAK, MONMOUTH COUNTY
DEPARTMENT OF POLICE RADIO.

Timothy C. King, Esq., and Eric B. Sposito, Esq., for petitioner, Dana Spivak

Steven W. Kleinman, Special County Counsel, for respondent Monmouth County (Andrea I. Bazer, County Counsel)

Record Closed: November 16, 2017 Decided: November 29, 2017

BEFORE JACOB S. GERTSMAN, ALJ:

This matter, concerning petitioner's appeal of her removal as a Public Safety Telecommunicator with the Monmouth County Department of Police Radio, was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on April 3, 2017, for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

Following several settlement conferences and continued discussion, the parties have settled this matter and have filed a settlement agreement indicating the terms thereof, which is attached and fully incorporated herein.

I have reviewed the record and terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures on the settlement agreement, attached hereto as Exhibit J-1.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and, therefore, ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Director of the Division of Consumer Affairs does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

SEPARATION AGREEMENT AND COMPLETE RELEASE

This Separation Agreement and Complete Release ("Agreement") is entered into this 8 day of November, 2017, and is by and between Monmouth County and the Monmouth County Sheriff's Office (collectively, "County") and Dana Spivak ("Spivak" or "Employee").

RECITALS

WHEREAS, Spivak has been employed by the County as a Public Safety Telecommunicator; and,

WHEREAS, on January 9, 2017, the County issued Spivak a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action (DPF-31A) (the "Disciplinary Action"); and,

WHEREAS, the Disciplinary Action charged Spivak with violating N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(2), (a)(6), (a)(7), and (a)(12); County Policies 110, 507, and 701; and various policies, procedures, rules and regulations of the Monmouth County Sheriff's Office; and,

WHEREAS, based on the charges and specifications contained in the Disciplinary Action, the County determined that removal from employment, on a date to be determined, was the appropriate penalty; and,

WHEREAS, following a departmental hearing conducted on February 14 and February 24, 2017, the charges and proposed penalty of removal, effective at the close of business on Friday, March 3, 2017, were sustained; and,

WHEREAS, following her removal, Spivak timely filed an appeal of the Disciplinary Action to the New Jersey Civil Service Commission ("Commission"), which was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law ("OAL") for hearing as a contested case under docket number CSV 04601-2017S; and,

DMS

WHEREAS, prior to the scheduling of a hearing date at the OAL on the Disciplinary Action, the parties engaged in settlement discussions; and,

WHEREAS, the County and Spivak now desire to resolve all outstanding issues with respect to the Disciplinary Action and agree upon the terms of Spivak's amicable, permanent separation from employment with the County via this Agreement.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the promises and conditions set forth herein, the adequacy of which is hereby acknowledged, the County and Spivak hereby agree as follows:

1. RESOLUTION OF THE DISCIPLINARY ACTION; GENERAL RESIGNATION OF DANA SPIVAK; TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF SAME.

   a. The Disciplinary Action shall by resolved by Spivak permanently and irrevocably resigning from her County employment. However, her final date of employment shall be adjusted from Friday, March 3, 2017, to Friday, March 31, 2017. For that period of time, Spivak shall be recorded as having been on a paid administrative leave. The compensation she is owed as a result of this adjustment, reflecting four (4) weeks of additional service at the salary rate she was earning as of March 2017, shall be paid within thirty (30) days after this Agreement is approved by the Commission.

   b. Spivak's resignation, which shall be recorded as taking effect at the close of business on Friday, March 31, 2017, shall be recorded as a "general resignation" as defined in N.J.A.C. Title 4A.

   c. The parties acknowledge that no final determination had been reached as to whether or not the charges contained in the Disciplinary Action were ultimately sustained or the proposed penalty was appropriate.

d. Spivak, by signing this Agreement, does not concede or admit in any way to any of the allegations contained in the Disciplinary Action.

e. Spivak agrees that she will not be eligible for any future employment with the County or any of its agencies or instrumentalities, and will not apply for any such employment, unless this provision is later waived by the County in its sole discretion. Any such waiver shall be in writing and shall make express reference to this Agreement. However, this provision is not intended to limit in any way Spivak's ability to seek either public or private employment other than with the County or its agencies or instrumentalities.

f. Spivak waives any and all claims arising from or relating to the Disciplinary Action, including, but not limited to, back pay, benefits, seniority, and attorneys' fees and/or costs.

g. The County will ensure its records conform to the terms of the Agreement, including specifically that Spivak resigned from County employment, rather than was removed as a result of disciplinary action. All internal County records will remain intact.

h. Spivak agrees to immediately withdraw, with prejudice, the Unfair Labor Practice she filed with the Public Employment Relations Commission, which has been assigned docket number CI-2017-033.

i. The parties agree to execute any further documents and to take any further action required to effectuate the purposes and intent of this Agreement.

2. COMPLETE RELEASE AND RELINQUISHMENT OF CLAIMS.

In consideration of the settlement hereinabove, and to the fullest extent permissible by law, Spivak, along with her successors, assigns, heirs, representatives and estates (collectively, "Releasor"), agrees to irrevocably and unconditionally relinquish any and all causes of Action, demands or claims, including claims for attorney's fees and costs, Releasor had, has or may have from the beginning of time up to the date this Agreement is executed against the County of Monmouth, the Monmouth County Sheriff's Office and all of their elected and appointed officials, officers, agents, employees, agencies and instrumentalities (collectively, "Releasees"), regardless of whether such claims are presently known or unknown to Releasor. This full and unconditional relinquishment and release of claims includes, but is not limited to, any causes of action, demands or claims relating in any way to Spivak's employment with the County, including the events, information or disputes giving rise to this matter, the Disciplinary Action, or the Agreement.

This full release also specifically includes, but is not limited to, matters arising at common law, such as breach of contract, expressed or implied, promissory estoppel, wrongful discharge, tortious interference with contractual rights, infliction of emotional distress, defamation and any other common-law tort.

This full release also specifically includes, but is not limited to, matters arising under federal, state or local laws, statutes, regulations, ordinances, orders or policies, including, but not limited to, the United States Constitution, the federal Fair Labor Standards Act, the federal Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA), the federal Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA), the federal Equal Pay Act, the federal Civil Rights Act of 1866, Title VII of the federal Civil Rights Act of 1964, the federal Civil Rights Act of 1991, the federal Age Discrimination and Employment Act (ADEA), the federal Older Workers Benefit Protection Act (OWBPA), the federal Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the federal Americans With Disabilities Act (ADA), the New Jersey Constitution, the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act (CEPA), the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination (NJLAD), the New Jersey Family Leave Act, and the New Jersey Civil Rights Act.

This full release also specifically includes, but is not limited to, claims for reemployment by contract or recall rights, compensatory damages, punitive damages, reinstatement, back pay, overtime compensation, back benefits, back emoluments, seniority credit, attorneys' fees, equitable relief, or any other relief.

This full release also specifically includes, but is not limited to, the right to receive any monetary relief in connection with the prosecution of a charge or suit brought on the Releasor's behalf by a third party, including any federal, state or local governmental agency or entity.

Nothing in this release shall apply to any vested benefits or any claim to determine or enforce rights with respect to said benefits, nor with respect to any claim filed under the New Jersey Workers Compensation Act.

3. OLDER WORKERS BENEFIT PROTECTION ACT REVOCATION PERIOD.

This Agreement is intended to comply with the federal Older Workers Benefit Protection Act (OWBPA), and Spivak acknowledges she specifically is waiving rights and claims under the OWBPA. Therefore, this Agreement and Release shall not be effective nor shall any payments hereunder be made, until the expiration of the seven (7) day revocation period set forth in the OWBPA.

4. ACKNOWLEDGEMENT.

Spivak acknowledges that this Agreement shall resolve all issues related to the Disciplinary Action and that she has had the right and opportunity to discuss all aspects of this Agreement with her legal counsel prior to entering into it and that she has availed herself of this right, that she has carefully read and fully understands all of the provisions of this Agreement, and that she is entering into this Agreement knowingly and voluntarily in exchange for good and valuable consideration.

5. REPRESENTATION.

Spivak acknowledges that was she has been advised by her legal counsel of her options in this matter, including her right to further pursue the appeal of her removal to the Commission through the OAL. Understanding the foregoing, Spivak certifies that (1) she is satisfied with the representation her counsel has provided her in this matter, (2) her counsel has not made any representations concerning the terms or effects of this Agreement other than those contained herein; and (3) she has been advised by her counsel that by entering into the Agreement, she is irrevocably giving up her right to further pursue the appeal of her removal to the Commission through the OAL. Spivak has informed her counsel that with these understandings, she wishes to resign pursuant to the terms of the Agreement.

6. GOVERNING LAW AND FORUM.

The parties agree that the laws of the State of New Jersey shall govern this Agreement and Release and the parties will submit to the jurisdiction of the state and/or federal courts located within the State of New Jersey for the resolution of any dispute that may arise hereunder.

7. HEADINGS.

The headings contained in the Agreement are for reference purposes only and shall not in any way affect the meaning or interpretation of this Agreement.

8. SEVERABILITY CLAUSE.

Should any provision of this Agreement be declared or determined by any court of competent jurisdiction to be illegal, invalid or unenforceable, the legality, validity, and enforceability of the remaining parts, terms, or provisions shall not be affected thereby and said illegal, unenforceable or invalid part, term, or provision shall be deemed not part of this Agreement.

9. AMBIGUITIES.

Each party and their counsel have participated fully in the review and revision of this Agreement. Any rule of construction to the effect that ambiguities are to be resolved against the drafting party shall not apply in interpreting this Agreement. The language in this Agreement shall be interpreted as to its fair meaning and not strictly for or against any party.

10. MODIFICATIONS TO BE IN WRITING.

The parties agree that this Agreement and Release may not be altered, amended, modified, superseded, canceled or terminated except in writing and duly executed by all the parties, or their attorneys on their behalf, which makes specific reference to this provision.

11. ENTIRE UNDERSTANDING.

This Agreement and Release sets forth the entire understanding between Spivak and the County, and fully supersedes any and all prior agreements or understandings between them pertaining to the subject matter thereof, if any.

12. NON-ADMISSION.

Nothing in this Agreement shall be construed as an admission by any party that any action taken was unlawful or wrongful, or that any action constituted a breach of contract or violated any federal, state, or local law, policy, rule or regulation.

13. AGREEMENT NON-PRECEDENTIAL.

The parties agree that this Agreement shall be non-precedential, is limited to specific, unique facts and circumstances, and is not intended to create a past practice nor shall it be binding with respect to any other employee of the County.

14. NON-DISPARAGEMENT.

Spivak agrees that, unless required by legal process or applicable law, she will not say anything to any person or entity that disparages or defames the County, or any of its officers, employees, agents, agencies or instrumentalities. The County [and anyone acting in an official capacity on the County's behalf] agrees that, unless required by legal process or applicable law, it will not say anything to any person or entity that disparages or defames Spivak.

Additionally, Spivak agrees that: (i) she will not advise or encourage any person or entity to bring a claim against the County, or any of its officers, employees, agents, agencies or instrumentalities; and (ii) she will not assist any person or entity in connection with any such claim unless required to do so by law.

If it is contacted by any person or entity regarding Spivak's employment with the County, including, but not limited to, a request for a job or other reference, the County will only confirm the information required to be made public by the New Jersey Open Public Records Act ("OPRA"), more specifically, Spivak's title, position, salary, payroll record, length of service, date of separation, the amount and type of any pension received, and that Spivak resigned her employment with the County.

15. CONFIDENTIALITY.

The parties agree that this document constitutes a confidential personnel record under OPRA and/or the common law governing public records, and will not be publicly disclosed, except as consistent with law. However, the parties specifically acknowledge that the County will disclose this agreement to the New Jersey Public Employees' Retirement System if so required by N.J.S.A. 43:1-3.3. Spivak agrees that she will not, in another action or proceeding before any state, federal or local court or any governmental or administrative agency or during any arbitration or mediation, obtain discovery or offer evidence, unless required by law or court order (in which case she agrees to notify the County before doing so to provide for an opportunity to oppose such a request), relating to the terms or execution of this Agreement.

16. APPROVALS.

The parties acknowledge that this Agreement is subject to approval by the Commission and shall be provided to the Commission and/or the assigned Administrative Law Judge for approval. Any disapproval by the Commission shall not interfere with the rights of either party to pursue the matter further.

17. Dana Spivak agrees to and acknowledges the following:

(a) I agree and acknowledge that I was represented by and consulted with an attorney of my choosing throughout the negotiation and execution of this Agreement and Release. I further acknowledge and agree that I was given a reasonable and sufficient amount of time within which to consider the Agreement and Release before signing it.

(b) I agree and acknowledge that I have the right to reflect upon this Agreement and Release for a period of twenty-one (21) days before executing it, and I will have an additional period of seven (7) days after executing the Agreement and Release to revoke it under the terms of the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act by notifying in writing: Steven W. Kleinman, Special Monmouth County Counsel, Hall of Records, 1 East Main Street, Freehold, NJ 07728.

(c) I understand and acknowledge that if I sign this Agreement and Release, along with the waiver attached hereto, prior to the expiration of the twenty-one (21) day review period, I am voluntarily and knowingly waiving the twenty-one (21) day review period.

18. ACKNOWLEGEMENT.

By signing this Agreement and Release, Dana Spivak acknowledges:

i. I HAVE READ THIS AGREEMENT AND RELEASE COMPLETELY.

ii. I HAVE HAD AN OPPORTUNITY TO CONSIDER THE TERMS OF THIS AGREEMENT AND RELEASE.

iii. I ACKNOWLEDGE I HAVE BEEN ADVISED BY THE COUNTY TO CONSULT WITH AN ATTORNEY OF MY

CHOOSING PRIOR TO EXECUTING THIS AGREEMENT AND RELEASE TO EXPLAIN THE LEGAL CONSEQUENCES OF SIGNING THIS DOCUMENT AND REPRESENT THAT I HAVE IN FACT CONSULTED WITH AN ATTORNEY.

iv. I KNOW THAT I AM GIVING UP IMPORTANT LEGAL RIGHTS BY SIGNING THIS AGREEMENT AND RELEASE.

v. I UNDERSTAND AND MEAN EVERYTHING THAT I HAVE SAID IN THIS AGREEMENT AND RELEASE, AND I UNDERSTAND AND AGREE TO ALL ITS TERMS.

vi. I HAVE NOT RELIED UPON ANY REPRESENTATION, WRITTEN OR ORAL, NOT SET FORTH IN THIS AGREEMENT AND RELEASE.

vii. I HAVE SIGNED THIS AGREEMENT AND RELEASE VOLUNTARILY AND ENTIRELY OF MY OWN FREE WILL.

viii. I REPRESENT AND AGREE THAT I AM FULLY ABLE TO UNDERSTAND AND ENTER INTO THIS AGREEMENT IN ITS ENTIRETY. I UNDERSTAND IT AND KNOWINGLY AND VOLUNTARILY AGREE TO IT.

ix. I AGREE AND ACKNOWLEDGE THAT THIS AGREEMENT IS NOT THE RESULT OF ANY FRAUD, DURESS OR UNDUE INFLUENCE EXERCISED UPON ME BY THE COUNTY OR BY ANY THIRD PARTY.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, and intending to be legally bound hereby I, Dana Spivak executed the foregoing Agreement this 8 day of November 2017.

Sworn and subscribed to before me this 8 day of November 2017

Re: Nyreek Ali-Uthmar v. City of Newark (CSC Docket No. 2017-3665 and OAL Docket No. CSV 10348-17) - SETTLEMENT

Dear Mr. Hannan and Ms. Holmes:

The appeal of Nyreek Ali-Uthmar, a Truck Driver with the City of Newark, Department of Public Works, of his removal, effective May 8, 2017, was before Administrative Law Judge Elissa Mizzone Testa (ALJ), who returned the matter to the Civil Service Commission (Commission) on November 29, 2017 indicating that the parties had reached a settlement.

Sincerely,

Nicholas F. Angiulo

OAL DOCKET NO.: CSV 10348-2017
AGENCY REF. NO.: 2017-3665

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE

This Settlement Agreement and General Release ("Agreement",) is made and entered into between CDL Truck Driver, Nyreek Ali-Uthmar ("Uthmar" or "Appellant"), The LOCAL 617 SEIU ("Union") and the City of Newark ("City" or "Respondent") (Uthmar, the Union and the City are collectively referred to hereinafter as the "Parties"). The Parties herein have voluntarily agreed to resolve all disputed matters arising from the disciplinary action taken against him by the City's Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action dated January 30, 2017 (PNDA) and Final Notice of Disciplinary Action dated May16, 2017 (FNDA).

In consideration of the promises contained herein, it is agreed as follows:

1. On or about January 20, 2017, CDL Truck Driver, Nyreek Ali-Uthmar, gave a urine specimen to an employee of Ironbound Medical Services as he was randomly selected under the Federal Regulations concerning drug and alcohol use by and testing of employees who perform functions related to the operation of commercial motor vehicles and state and local polices issued there under.

2. When the employee of Ironbound dropped a temperature strip into the specimen provided by Uthmar, it did not register a temperature. Accordingly, Uthmar was advised by the employee of Ironbound to remain at the facility to provide another specimen. Uthmar was also advised that if he left the facility that day, the prior urine specimen he gave earlier that day would constitute a positive reading for the randomized drug test.

3. Despite those instructions, Uthmar left the facility and advised the employee of Ironbound that he had to go to another job.

4. On January 20, 2017, Uthmar went to another facility that was not authorized by the City for a second urine test. The results from that facility proved to be negative.

5. Prior to the January 20, 2017 incidents, Uthmar was terminated and reinstated to the City. At that time, Uthmar signed a Letter of Conditional Employment dated February 12, 2012.

6. Pursuant to the terms of that Conditional Employment Letter, paragraph 3 stated that Uthmar "[would] refrain from the use of un-prescribed drugs, alcohol, or any mood altering substance for the duration of [his] career with the City of Newark."

7. As a result of the conduct outlined in paragraphs one (6) through six (6) herein, a PNDA was issued and Uthmar was brought up on disciplinary charges for an immediate suspension prior to a hearing (See attached PNDA).

8. On March 23, 2017, a departmental hearing was held and a finding was made that there was sufficient cause for removal based upon the Federal Regulations concerning drug and alcohol use by and testing of employees who perform functions related to the operation of commercial motor vehicles and state and local polices issued there under.

9. Uthmar was removed from City employment on May 8, 2017. The FNDA was issued on May 15, 2017(See attached FNDA).

10. Uthmar appealed the decision on the FNDA to the Office of Administrative Law.

11. The parties have agreed to resolve all issues herein and referenced as follows:

a. The City agrees to Uthmar's request to resign in good standing from employment as a CDL Truck Driver effective May 8, 2017 (See attached FNDA).

b. Uthmar agrees that he is barred from future employment with the City in any capacity.

c. Uthmar further waives any and all rights and/or claims which he has and/or may have to: (1) A hearing on the merits of the disciplinary action taken under the PNDA, FDNA and/or this Agreement; (2) To challenge the PNDA, FNDA and/or this Agreement; (3) Initiate and/or partake in Grievance procedures; and/or (4) Initiate, pursue and/or partake any and all litigation against the City in State, Federal and/or Administrative Courts.

d. Uthmar and the Union each further agree that there is no consideration due Uthmar, his counsel (if applicable) and/or the Union, including, but not limited to, any claim for back pay and/or counsel fees, arising from his employment and/or the execution of this Agreement.

e. Uthmar and the Union each agree not to appeal the terms and conditions of this Agreement to any agency or court, including, but not limited to the New Jersey Public Employee Relations Commission, the New Jersey Civil Service Commission and/or to any other New Jersey State Court or agency and/or to any United States Court or agency.

f. Uthmar and the Union further acknowledge that this Agreement further precludes either of them from bringing any type of legal or contractual action in any forum including, but not limited to, filing a Complaint in New Jersey Superior Court or United States Federal Court, filing any type of complaint with the City, Essex County, the State of New Jersey or the United States of America, and filing a grievance and/or requesting arbitration, that is in any manner grounded, based upon, or related to the FNDA.

g. The Parties are bound by this Agreement. Anyone and/or entity who succeeds to the Parties' rights and/or responsibilities, such as heirs, the executor/administrator of Uthmar's estate, and purchasers and/or assignees of Uthmar's, the City's and/or the Unions interests shall also be bound.

h. This Agreement shall not constitute a precedent or practice in any matter involving the City or other City employees.

i. Uthmar and the Union further acknowledge and agree that this Agreement is based upon a unique set, combination and weighing of factors and shall not be used and/or construed as precedent and/or to in any way dictate, bind, limit and/or even guide the decisions that the City may make in future and/or currently pending disciplinary matters and/or labor negotiations.

j. Uthmar and the Union each agree this Agreement shall not be offered, used or considered as evidence in any proceeding of any type against or involving the City, except to the extent necessary to enforce the terms of this Agreement, or as required by law.

k. This Agreement contains the sole and entire agreement between Uthmar, the Union and the City, and fully supersedes any and all prior agreements and understandings pertaining to the subject matter hereof. Uthmar specifically represents and acknowledges in executing this Agreement that he has not relied upon any representation or statement by the City, or City's counsel or representatives, with regard to the subject matter of this Agreement, which is not set forth herein. No other promises or agreements shall be binding unless in writing, signed by all the Parties, and expressly stated to be a modification of the Agreement.

l. Uthmar agrees and acknowledges that he has been fully and fairly represented by his Attorney and the Union in this matter, and he is satisfied with that representation and with the terms and conditions of this Agreement.

m. Uthmar agrees and acknowledges that he has had a full opportunity to review this Agreement with his Attorney and/or Union representative and he enters into same knowingly and voluntarily.

n. The Parties agree that upon inquiry from a third party regarding Uthmar's employment, that the City will confirm only his employment, position, salary and resignation.

o. The Parties agree that Uthmar's personnel records will be amended to conform to this Agreement.

p. The Parties agree that if any portion of this Agreement is deemed unenforceable, the remainder of the Settlement Agreement shall be fully enforceable.

q. By signing this Settlement Agreement, Uthmar states that:

1. He has read it;
2. He understands it and knows that he is giving up important rights, and any and all other federal and state employment related causes of any kind, not including potential Worker's Compensation claims, but including but not limited to The New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, The New Jersey Equal Pay Law, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, The Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967, as amended, The Conscientious Employee Protection Act, The Americans With Disabilities Act of 1990, the Fair Labor Standards Act, and any other constitutional, statutory or common law suit, attorney fees and costs of this proceeding, and any public policy of the United States, the State of New Jersey, or any other State;
3. He agrees with everything contained in this Agreement;
4. His Attorney and Union representative negotiated this Agreement in his presence and with his knowledge and consent;
5. He consulted with his Attorney prior to executing this Agreement;
6. He has signed this Settlement Agreement knowingly and voluntarily.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Parties have caused this Settlement Agreement to be executed.

Re: Michael Lindeborn v. Ancora Psychiatric Hospital, Department of Health (CSC Docket Nos. 2019-751 and 753 and OAL Docket Nos. CSV 15506-18 and 15508-18) – (Consolidated) - SETTLEMENT

Dear Mr. Pinto and Ms. Brown:

The appeals of Michael Lindeborn, a Senior Repairer at Ancora Psychiatric Hospital, of two removals, effective May 24, 2018 on charges, were before Acting Director and Chief Administrative Law Judge Lisa James-Beavers (ALJ), who issued her consolidated initial decision on November 29, 2018 indicating that the parties had reached a settlement.

The Civil Service Commission (Commission) received this matter on December 1, 2018. Accordingly, the time frame for the Commission to make its final decision expires on January 15, 2019. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. In this regard, if the Commission could not decide the matter by that date, it would normally secure an initial 45-day extension of time to render its final decision. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. However, as one of the three Commission members must be recused from participating on this matter, there is not a quorum of members available to vote. Until such a quorum is secured, or, in other words, until an additional Commission member is seated, this matter cannot be decided by the Commission. We have no timeframe as to when that may occur. Based on this information, and given the fact that these appeals were settled by the parties and a review of the settlement by staff indicates that it is in compliance with Civil Service law and rules, there does not appear to be a basis to further delay a final disposition. Thus, the Commission has determined not to seek any extensions on this matter and, per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c), it is to be considered deemed adopted, effective January 16, 2019.

Sincerely,

Nicholas F. Angiulo

Record Closed: November 29, 2018 Decided: November 29, 2018

BEFORE LISA JAMES-BEAVERS, Acting Director and Chief ALJ:

These matters concern the appeal of Michael Lindeborn from the actions of the respondent/appointing authority. Upon receipt of the appellant's hearing requests, the matters were transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for determination as contested cases on October 25, 2018, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

As a result of a settlement conference, the parties agreed to a settlement of all issues in dispute and have prepared a settlement agreement, which is attached and fully incorporated herein.

I have reviewed the record and terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures on the settlement agreement.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy.

I CONCLUDE that these matters are no longer contested cases before the Office of Administrative Law. It is ORDERED that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

IN THE MATTER OF

Michael Lindeborn

AND

Department of Health / Ancora Psychiatric Hospital

The parties in this appeal have voluntarily resolved all disputed matters and enter into the following settlement, which fully disposes of all issues in controversy between them.

A. The two Final Notice of Disciplinary Action dated 8/20/2018 contained the following charges and proposed discipline:

	Charge	Discipline	Dates Effective
(1)	1. NJAC 4A:2-2.3(a)6	Removal	5/24/18
	2. NJAC 4A:2-2.3(a)2
	3. NJAC 4A:2-2.3(a)12
(2)	4. AO-C.9.1/E.1.2/C.19.1
	5.

B. The Appellant Michael Lindeborn withdraws his/her appeal and request for a hearing, and the Respondent Department of Health agrees that the following result will occur with regard to each charge:

Charge	Disposition	New Penalty
1. NJAC 4A:2-2.3(a)6	Dismissed	General Resignation
2. NJAC 4A:2-2.3(a)12	Sustained	(no reemployment w/ Dept. of Health)
NJAC 4A:2-2.3(a)2
AO-C.9.1/E.1.2/C.19.1

3. _____

4. _____

5. _____

C. The parties have agreed to the following:

For Suspensions, Complete the Following:

1. To date, Appellant has been suspended for a total of _____ days based upon the above charges.

2. The total number of days of back pay, if any, to be paid by the Appointing Authority to the Appellant is as follows: _____.

3. Any other days from the time of last suspension day until return to work shall be treated as follows: _____.

For Removals, Complete the Following:

1. To date, Appellant has served a total of _____ days without pay based upon the above charges.

2. The total number of days of back pay, if any, to be paid by the Appointing Authority to the Appellant is as follows: 0.

3. Any other days from the time of last suspension day until return to work shall be treated as follows: _____.

4. (Strike if not applicable) The Appellant agrees to a _____ resignation in good standing

✓ general resignation (No reemployment w/ Dept. of Health) which shall be effective 5/24/18 [date]. Any days from the effective date of removal to the effective date of resignation shall be treated as follows:

The parties acknowledge that under N.J.A.C. 17:1-2.18(b) and (c), no pension or seniority time may be credited for periods for which the employee is not paid by the employer.

D. Department of Health (Respondent) shall amend Appellant's personnel records to conform to the terms of the settlement. All internal records of the Department of Health will be kept intact. Nothing herein shall preclude the Department from releasing information on this matter to anyone who has a release executed by Appellant or as consistent with the law. Any information regarding the underlying charges will be provided to the Public Employees' Retirement System pursuant to N.J.S.A. 43:1-3.3 as amended effective April 14, 2007.

E. Appellant waives all other claims against Respondent Department with regard to this matter, including any award of back pay, counsel fees or other monetary relief, except as may otherwise be provided herein.

F. Except for the assessment of Michael Lindhorn 's (Appellant's) disciplinary record in any subsequent personnel disciplinary hearing, nothing in this agreement shall be deemed to be an admission of liability on behalf of either party. This agreement shall not constitute a precedent in matters involving other employees.

G. Appellant waives all claims, suits or actions, whether known, unknown, vested or contingent, civil, criminal or administrative, in law or equity against the State of New Jersey, the New Jersey Department of Health, their employees, agents, or assigns, including but not limited to those which have been or could have been made or prosecuted on account of any conduct of any party occurring at any time with respect to the events, information or disputes giving rise to this action up to the date of this agreement, including, but not limited to, all claims under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Civil Rights Act of 1991, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Family Leave Act, the Family and Medical Leave Act, the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, the Equal Pay Act, the Conscientious Employee Protection Act, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, Title 11A—the Civil Service Act, the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act, the Occupational Safety and Health Act, the Public Employees' Occupational Safety and Health Act, the New Jersey Smoking Act, New Jersey wages and hours law, public works statutes, unemployment compensation laws, disability benefits laws, the United States Constitution, the New Jersey Constitution, any workers' compensation or common law claims and any contract express or implied. This waiver includes all claims involving any continuing effects of actions or practices which arose prior to the date of this Settlement Agreement and bars the use in any way of any past action or practice in any subsequent claims, except pending workers' compensation claims.

H. The parties agree that if any portion of this Settlement Agreement is deemed unenforceable, the remainder of this Settlement Agreement shall be fully enforceable.

I. This agreement will become effective only if approved by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION. Any disapproval by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION shall not interfere with the rights of either party to pursue the matter further.

Re: Rana Williams v. Cumberland County Department of Corrections (CSC Docket No. 2016-2359 and OAL Docket No. CSR 871-16)

Dear Mr. Ziegelheim and Mr. Baker:

The appeal of Rana Williams, a County Correction Officer with Cumberland County, of her removal, on charges, was before Administrative Law Judge John S. Kennedy (ALJ), who rendered his initial decision on November 29, 2017, recommending dismissing the appeal. No exceptions were filed by the parties.

The time frame for the Commission to make its final decision was to initially expire on January 13, 2018. See N.J.S.A. 40A:14-204 and N.J.A.C. 1:4B-1.1(d). Prior to that time the Commission secured one 15-day extension of time, and since if does not currently have a quorum, one additional 15-day extensions with the consent of the parties, as required, to render its final decision no later than February 12, 2018. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. However, the appointing authority did not provide consent for a further extension. Under these circumstances, the ALJ's recommended decision will be deemed adopted as the final decision in this matter per N.J.S.A. 40A:14-204, effective February 13, 2018.

INITIAL DECISION

DISMISSAL

OAL DKT. NO. CSR 00871-16

IN THE MATTER OF RANA WILLIAMS, CUMBERLAND COUNTY DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS.

Jeffrey S. Ziegelheim, Esq., for Rana Williams, appellant (Alterman & Associates, LLC, attorneys)

Theodore Baker, Esq., County Counsel for County of Cumberland, Department of Corrections, respondent

Record Closed: November 3, 2017 Decided: November 29, 2017

BEFORE JOHN S. KENNEDY, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Appellant appeals Cumberland County Department of Corrections' (County) Final Notice of Disciplinary Action (FDNA), dated January 5, 2016, terminating her employment for conduct unbecoming a public employee. She filed a timely appeal and the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13, and perfected on January 12, 2016. The matter was originally assigned to the Honorable William T.

Miller, ALJ and later reassigned to the undersigned upon Judge Miller's transition to Superior Court. On June 2, 2016, appellant filed a waiver of the 180-day rule to allow this matter to continue to a full hearing. On May 8, 2017, the parties appeared before this tribunal and placed a settlement on the record. Appellant was present and approved the terms of the settlement. The parties agreed to submit a fully executed settlement agreement for consideration and approval. No agreement was ever produced.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

On September 11, 2017, notice was sent advising of a telephone conference scheduled for October 12, 2017 at 4:00 p.m. The purpose of the call was to determine the status of the signed agreement memorializing the settlement placed on the record on May 8, 2017. No one participated in the call for either appellant or respondent.

On October 23, 2017, counsel for respondent advised that the settlement agreement was forwarded to appellant but she did not return it and could not be reached. On October 31, 2017, counsel for appellant advised that since the settlement was placed on the record and appellant is neither available, non-responsive and/or refusing to cooperate, there would be no objection if the matter was dismissed.

Based on the foregoing, I FIND as FACT that appellant has not been in contact with her representative and has failed to return the signed copy of the Settlement Agreement.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.14(a), an Administrative Law Judge "may grant or deny a motion, suppress a claim or defense, or take other case-appropriate action against a party who unreasonably fails to comply with any order of an ALJ or with any requirements of the Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules." Navarro v. The B. Manischewitz Co., LLC, OAL No. 1884-99, 2001 WL 34604601, *2 (N.J. Adm. January 22, 2001) (citing N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.14(a)); see also Statlend v. Dept. of Community Affairs, Sandy Recovery Division, OAL No. CAF 10794-14, 20114 WL 5834274 (N.J. Adm. October 10, 2014) (dismissing appeal where appellant failed to pursue appeal and contact number was "no longer in service").

Similarly, the Merit System Board has affirmed the dismissal of an appeal where the facts presented "a clear indication of [the] appellant's intent to abandon her appeal." See In the Matter of Rebecca Oliver, OAL No. CSV 9504-96, 1999 WL 33883392, *2 (N.J. Adm. January 12, 1999). There, the appellant failed to provide her new address to counsel and had not been in contact with her counsel for more than six months.

Appellant has not shown any interest in pursuing this matter since she agreed to the terms of the settlement on the record on May 8, 2017. The OAL regulations and case precedent demonstrate that an appeal will be dismissed with prejudice when an appellant shows no intention of pursuing his or her appeal. See Navarro and Statlend, supra. Here, appellant has not responded to his counsel's attempts to contact her, nor has appellant returned the Settlement Agreement memorializing the settlement placed on the record.

Like the claimant In the Matter of Rebecca Oliver, appellant has not been in contact with her counsel for over six months. Moreover, if appellant has moved over the last six months, she has failed to advise counsel or the Court of her new address. See also In the Matter of Rebecca Oliver, 1999 WL 33883392 at *2. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that appellant has abandoned her appeal and the appeal is DISMISSED.

Appellant's appeal would require a determination on the merits of the case without conducting a hearing. OAL regulations require a hearing be conducted and an initial decision be based exclusively on the testimony, documents and arguments accepted by the judge. See N.J.A.C. 1:18.1(a). Civil Service regulations authorize an award of back pay only where a disciplinary penalty has been reversed. See N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.10(a). As a result of appellant's lack of involvement in this appeal, no hearing can be conducted and no record can be established upon which to rely in order to reverse appellant's removal from employment. As a result, I CONCLUDE that the appellant has not established any facts whatsoever to permit this tribunal to reverse her removal from employment. Therefore, appellant's appeal is DENIED.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing, it is hereby ORDERED that the appeal in this matter is DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 40A:14-204.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, DIVISION OF APPEALS AND REGULATORY AFFAIRS, UNIT H, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, 44 South Clinton Avenue, PO Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Re: Linda Moore v. Paterson City Public Library (CSC Docket No. 2016-1335 and OAL Docket No. CSV 857-17) - SETTLEMENT

Dear Mr. Gollin and Ms. Goldstein:

The appeal of Linda Moore, a Senior Library Assistant with the Paterson City Public Library, of her removal effective October 5, 2015, was before Administrative Law Judge Joan Bedrin Murray (ALJ), who returned the matter to the Civil Service Commission (Commission) on November 30, 2017 indicating that the parties had reached a settlement.

The time frame for the Commission to make its final decision was to initially expire on January 26, 2018. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. Prior to that date, the Commission secured a 45-day extension of time to render its final decision no later than March 12, 2018. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. While this matter is now ready for presentation to the Commission, its next scheduled meeting is March 21, 2018. In this regard, the Commission has determined that, since the settlement complies with Civil Service law and rules, it finds no reason to delay the final disposition of this matter further. Thus, it will not request consent from the parties, as required, for an additional extension of time. Under these circumstances, the ALJ's recommended decision will be deemed adopted, effective March 13, 2018, as the final decision in this matter per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c).

Dear Mr. Mackey and Mr. Carbone:

The appeal of Amanda Vincent, a Public Safety Telecommunicator with the City of Jersey City, of her removal effective February 1, 2017, was before Administrative Law Judge Ellen S. Bass (ALJ), who returned the matter to the Civil Service Commission (Commission) on December 4, 2017 indicating that the parties had reached a settlement.

The time frame for the Commission to make its final decision was to initially expire on January 22, 2018. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE

This Settlement Agreement and General Release ("Settlement Agreement" or "Agreement") is by and between: (1) Amanda Vincent ("Vincent"); and (2) City of Jersey ("Jersey City"). Vincent and Jersey City will sometimes collectively be referred to herein as "the Parties."

WHEREAS, Vincent was served with Preliminary Notice of Discipline ("PNDA") seeking her termination by Jersey City on August 1, 2016; and

WHEREAS, a disciplinary hearing was held on December 29, 2016 after which the hearing officer issued a written decision ("Hearing Officer's Decision") on January 24, 2017 sustaining the charges in the PNDA and imposing a penalty of termination; and

WHEREAS, on February 17, 2017, Jersey City issued a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action ("FNDA") terminating Vincent's employment;

WHEREAS, Vincent filed an Appeal ("Appeal") of her termination with the New Jersey Civil Service Commission, Agency Ref. No.: 2017-2812, which was transmitted to the New Jersey Office of Administrative Law for a hearing as a contested case bearing OAL Docket No.: CSV-04240-2017N; and

WHEREAS, the PNDA, the Hearing Officer's Decision, the FNDA and the Appeal are incorporated herein by reference; and

WHEREAS, Jersey City disputes the merits of the Appeal, and further denies that Jersey City, or any of its subsidiaries, affiliates, divisions, agents, servants, officers, directors, employees, insurers, or successors are liable for any allegations made by Vincent; and

WHEREAS, the Parties now mutually desire to resolve all of their disputes.

NOW THEREFORE, in consideration of the foregoing, and of the promises and mutual covenants herein contained, the Parties agree as follows:

1. CONSIDERATION TO VINCENT

In consideration for Vincent's agreement to all of the terms, conditions and promises in this Agreement, Jersey City shall issue a check payable to "Amanda Vincent" in the amount of $5,000 (no tax deductions or withholdings) in full and complete satisfaction of all of Vincent's claims, including any claims for attorneys' fees, costs, and other legal expenses, and this payment shall be reported as income on IRS Form 1099 ("Settlement Payment"). The Parties agree that the Settlement Payment constitutes damages for Vincent's emotional distress, including any physical manifestations and medical expenses related thereto. The Parties further agree that no part of any Settlement Payment constitutes: (a) a fine or penalty under any law; or (b) a payment to settle any actual or potential liability for a fine or penalty under any law.

Separate and apart from the Settlement Payment, the Parties agree that Vincent shall be compensated by Jersey City for a retroactive union wage increase under Article 30(F) of the Collective Negotiations Agreement between Jersey City and Local 246 as amended by the Memorandum of Agreement dated February 2, 2017 ("Article 30 Payment"). The Article 30 Payment shall be based on Vincent's actual hours worked from January 1, 2015 through the date of her resignation as set forth below. The Article 30 Payment shall be considered wages and will be subject to all applicable taxes and withholdings. Jersey City shall issue the appropriate W-2 form to Vincent for the Article 30 Payment.

Within 60 days of the execution of this Settlement Agreement, and full performance of all obligations thereunder by Vincent, Jersey City shall deliver checks representing (a) the Settlement Payment and (b) the Article 30 Payment to Vincent's attorney at the following address: Paul W. Mackey, Esq., 406 Second Avenue, Spring Lake, NJ 07762.

2. TAX LIABILITY

Vincent agrees that she shall be liable for the payment of all federal, state and local taxes which may be due as the result of the consideration received in the Settlement Payment described above, and that such Settlement Payment is made for the settlement of disputed claims as set forth herein. Vincent represents that she shall pay such taxes at the time and in the amount required by law. In addition, Vincent agrees fully to defend, indemnify and hold Jersey City harmless from any liability for payment of taxes, penalties, withholding obligations and interest that are required of her by any government agency due to the Settlement Payment.

3. WITHDRAWAL OF APPEAL

Vincent agrees that upon execution of this Agreement, she shall withdraw, with prejudice, the Appeal, and further agrees to take all steps to facilitate the withdrawal with prejudice of the Appeal, if necessary. Vincent represents that, other than the Appeal, she is not a party in any pending administrative charge, lawsuit, civil action, collective action, class action, or claim of any kind against Jersey City, including Jersey City or any of its subsidiaries, affiliates, divisions, agents, servants, officers, directors, employees, insurers, benefit plan, fiduciaries or successors.

4. SUFFICIENCY OF CONSIDERATION

Vincent recognizes that Jersey City disputes the allegations in the Appeal and that the consideration provided in this Agreement accordingly confers upon her a benefit to which she is otherwise not entitled. Therefore, Vincent acknowledges and agrees that the consideration provided by Jersey City to her pursuant to this Agreement constitutes good and valuable consideration for the general release and the other promises and terms in this Agreement. Vincent understands and agrees that she is not eligible for or entitled to any other benefit or consideration from Jersey City, except as provided in this Agreement.

5. GENERAL RELEASE

In exchange for the consideration set forth above in Paragraph 1, Vincent agrees, intending to be legally bound, to the maximum extent permitted by law, to release and forever discharge Jersey City, including its subsidiaries, affiliates, divisions, agents, servants, officers, directors, employees, insurers, benefit plan fiduciaries, or successors (collectively, the "Released Parties") individually and collectively, from any and all claims, causes of action, complaints, lawsuits or liabilities of any kind (collectively "Claims"), which Vincent, her heirs, agents, attorneys, administrators or executors may have against the Jersey City or any of the other Released Parties.

A. RELEASED CLAIMS - By agreeing to this General Release, Vincent is waiving, to the maximum extent permitted by law, any and all causes of action, lawsuits, proceedings, complaints, charges, debts, contracts, judgments, damages, claims, and attorneys' fees against the Released Parties, whether known or unknown, which Vincent ever had, now has or which Vincent or Vincent's heirs, executors, administrators, successors or assigns may have prior to the date this Agreement is signed by Vincent, due to any matter whatsoever relating to Vincent's employment, compensation and/or benefits of Vincent's employment with Jersey City (collectively, the "Released Claims") including but not limited to the following:

- any Claims relating to or arising out of Vincent's employment with Jersey City and/or any of its departments, agencies and/or affiliated entities;
- any Claims for unpaid or withheld wages, severance, benefits, bonuses, commissions and/or other compensation of any kind;
- any Claims for reimbursement of expenses of any kind;
- any Claims for attorneys' fees, costs or expenses;
- any Claims of discrimination and/or harassment and/or retaliation based on age, sex, race, religion, color, creed, disability, handicap, citizenship, national origin, ancestry, sexual orientation, or any other factor protected by Federal, State or Local law (such as the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, 29 U.S.C. §621 et. seq. (ADEA), Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Equal Pay Act and the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination) and any Claims for retaliation under any of the foregoing laws;
- any Claims regarding leaves of absence under federal, state or local law including any Claims under the Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) and the New Jersey Family Leave Act (FLA);
- any Claims under the National Labor Relations Act;
- any Claims under the Sarbanes-Oxley Act;
- any Claims for violation of public policy;
- any Claims for retaliation and/or any whistleblower Claims (including any Claims under the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act);
- any Claims for emotional distress or pain and suffering;
- any other statutory or common law Claims, now existing or hereinafter recognized, known or unknown, asserted or unasserted, including, but not limited to, breach of contract, libel, slander, fraud, wrongful discharge, promissory estoppel, equitable estoppel and misrepresentation; and/or
- any Claims for unemployment compensation benefits or disability benefits under New Jersey law

B. NON-RELEASED CLAIMS - It is important that Vincent understand that this General Release includes all Claims known or unknown to her, including those that she may have asserted or raised previously as well as those that she has not raised or asserted previously. The General Release above does not apply to:

- Any Claims for vested benefits under any City retirement and/or 401(k) plan;
- Any Claims to require Jersey City to honor its commitments set forth in this Agreement;
- Any Claims to interpret or to determine the scope, meaning or effect of this Agreement;
- Any Claims relating to any conduct, matter, event or omission occurring after she signed this Agreement;
- Any past, pending or future claims for Worker's Compensation benefits and awards; and/or
- Any claim which cannot be waived as a matter of law.

6. RESIGNATION; TEMPORARY REINSTATEMENT; PROMISE NOT TO REAPPLY; DISPOSITION OF DISCIPLINARY ACTION

Contemporaneous with the execution of the Settlement Agreement, Vincent agrees to submit a retroactive and irrevocable letter of resignation to Jersey City dated and effective February 17, 2017 and, further agrees not to apply for employment with Jersey City at any time in the future. Upon receipt of Vincent's irrevocable letter of resignation, Jersey City shall reinstate Vincent's employment through February 16, 2017 and shall amend any applicable records to indicate that Vincent's separation from Jersey City, effective February 17, 2017, was a Resignation in Good Standing under New Jersey Civil Service Commission Regulations. The Parties acknowledge that Vincent shall not be entitled to any pay or other compensation for February 16, 2017 or February 17, 2017. Upon Vincent's full and complete performance of all her obligations under this Settlement Agreement, the PNDA, the Hearing Officer's Decision and the FNDA shall be considered null and void.

7. COVENANT NOT TO SUE

Vincent agrees not to file or initiate a lawsuit in any court, initiate any grievance or arbitration proceeding, or opt into any collective action or class action, asserting any of the Released Claims against any of the Released Parties. Vincent further agrees that she will not permit himself to be a member of any class in any court or in any arbitration proceeding seeking relief against the Released Parties based on claims released by this Agreement, and that even if a court, arbitrator, or government agency rules that she may not waive a claim released by this Agreement, she will not accept or be entitled to any money damages or other relief in connection with any other action or proceeding asserting any of the Released Claims against any of the Released Parties. Nothing herein is intended to or shall interfere with Vincent's right to participate in a proceeding with any appropriate federal, state or local government agency enforcing federal or state discrimination laws and/or cooperating with said agency in its investigation. Vincent, however, shall not be entitled to receive any relief, recovery or monies in connection with any complaint or charge brought against any of the Released Parties, without regard as to who brought any such complaint or charge.

8. NO FAIR LABOR STANDARDS ACT CLAIM

Vincent represents that she is not aware of any facts that would support a claim against any of the Released Parties for unpaid overtime or any other alleged violation of the Fair Labor Standards Act or comparable state or local law.

9. NON-DISPARAGEMENT

Vincent agrees that she will not make any negative comments or disparaging remarks, in writing, orally or electronically, about Jersey City, including any other Released Party. However, nothing in this Agreement shall be interpreted to restrict her right and obligation: (a) to testify truthfully in any forum; (b) to cooperate fully and provide information as requested in any investigation by a governmental agency or commission or as required by law; or (c) to exercise her First Amendment rights to participate in public discourse about public issues unrelated to her employment with Jersey City.

10. NO ADMISSION OF WRONGDOING

The Parties acknowledge that this Agreement does not constitute an admission by Jersey City or any of the Released Parties of any of the matters alleged in the Appeal or of any violation by them of any federal, state or local law, ordinance or regulation, or of any violation of any policy or procedure, or of any liability or wrongdoing whatsoever. Neither this Agreement nor anything in this Agreement shall be construed to be or shall be admissible in any proceeding as evidence of liability or wrongdoing by Jersey City or the Released Parties. This Agreement may be introduced, however, in any proceeding to enforce this Agreement.

11. GOVERNING LAW

This Agreement shall be governed by and conformed in accordance with the laws of the State of New Jersey without regard to its conflict of law jurisprudence.

12. COUNTERPARTS

This Agreement may be executed, by the Parties or their attorneys, in counterparts and each counterpart will be deemed an original.

13. UNDERSTANDING OF AGREEMENT BY VINCENT

Vincent agrees and represents that:

- she has read carefully the terms of this Agreement, including the General Release;
- she has had an opportunity to and has been encouraged to review this Agreement, including the General Release, with an attorney;
- she understands the meaning and effect of the terms of this Agreement, including the General Release;
- her decision to sign this Agreement, including the General Release, is of his own free and voluntary act without compulsion of any kind;
- No promise or inducement not expressed herein has been made to her; and
- she has adequate information to make a knowing and voluntary waiver.

14. SEVERABILITY

Should any term or provision of this Agreement be declared illegal, invalid or unenforceable by any court of competent jurisdiction and if such provision cannot be modified to be enforceable, such provision shall immediately become null and void, leaving the remainder of this Agreement in full force and effect. The language of all parts of this Agreement shall in all cases be construed as a whole, according to its fair meaning, and not strictly for or against any of the parties.

15. ENTIRE AGREEMENT

This Agreement sets forth the entire agreement between the Parties hereto and fully supersedes any and all prior and/or supplemental understandings, whether written or oral, between the Parties concerning the subject matter of this Agreement. Vincent acknowledges that she has not relied on any representations, promises or agreements of any kind made to her in connection with the decision to accept the terms of this Agreement, except for the representations, promises and agreements herein. Any modification to this Agreement must be in writing and signed by Vincent and Jersey City's Corporation Counsel.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Parties knowingly and voluntarily executed this Settlement Agreement and General Release as of the date set forth below.

Re: Tiffany Dabney v. Hudson County, Department of Health and Human Services, Meadowview Psychiatric Hospital (CSC Docket No. 2017-283 and OAL Docket No. CSV 11827-16)

Dear Mr. Cohen and Ms. Pallitto:

The appeal of Tiffany Dabney, a Keyboarding Clerk 1 with Hudson County, Department of Health and Human Services, Meadowview Psychiatric Hospital, of her removal effective June 13, 2016 on charges, was before Administrative Law Judge Joan Bedrin Murray (ALJ), who rendered her initial decision on December 6, 2017, recommending modifying the removal to a seven working day suspension. Exceptions were filed on behalf of the appointing authority and a reply to exceptions was filed on behalf of the appellant.

The time frame for the Civil Service Commission (Commission) to make its final decision was to initially expire on January 23, 2018. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. Prior to that time, the Commission secured one 45-day extension of time and requested consent of the parties, as required, for an additional 45-day extension to render its final decision no later than April 22, 2018. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. However, the appellant did not provide consent for a further extension. Under these circumstances, the ALJ's recommended decision will be deemed adopted as the final decision in this matter per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c), effective March 9, 2018.

Since the appellant's removal has been modified, she is entitled to be reinstated with back pay, benefits and seniority for the period seven working days after the onset of her separation until she is actually reinstated. The amount of back pay awarded is to be reduced and mitigated as provided for in N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.10. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.10, the parties shall make a good faith effort to resolve any dispute as to the amount of back pay. However, under no circumstances should the appellant's reinstatement be delayed based on any pending back pay dispute. Proof of income earned and an affidavit of mitigation should be submitted to the appointing authority within 30 days of said reinstatement. Additionally, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.12, as charges have been upheld and major discipline imposed, the appellant is not entitled to counsel fees.

Sincerely,

Nicholas F. Angiulo

INITIAL DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. CSV 11827-16
AGENCY DKT. NO. 2017-283

IN THE MATTER OF TIFFANY DABNEY,
HUDSON COUNTY, HEALTH & HUMAN SERVICES
MEADOWVIEW PSYCHIATRIC HOSPITAL.

Arnold Shep Cohen, Esq., for appellant Tiffany Dabney (Oxfeld Cohen, P.C., attorneys)

Georgina Giordano Pallitto, Assistant County Counsel (Donato J. Battista, Hudson County Counsel)

Record Closed: June 6, 2017 Decided: December 6, 2017

BEFORE JOAN BEDRIN MURRAY, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Respondent Hudson County (respondent or the County), removed appellant Tiffany Dabney (appellant or Dabney), from her employment as a Clerk Typist in the Department of Health and Human Services at Meadowview Psychiatric Hospital (Meadowview), effective June 13, 2016. The basis for the removal is two-fold, to wit: appellant was absent from work for five consecutive days due to her arrest and incarceration in a non-work-related matter. Respondent asserts that her failure to "call out" each day prior to the start of her shift constitutes conduct unbecoming a public employee. Also, appellant was late on four occasions and absent five days during a certain five-week period of time beginning September 2014. Appellant does not dispute this record, but contends that it does not merit termination. In addition, appellant contends that her failure to report her absence from work during the week she was incarcerated does not constitute unbecoming conduct.

At issue is whether appellant's conduct warrants termination from her employment.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On May 16, 2016, the County issued a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action (PNDA) informing appellant of the charges of conduct unbecoming a public employee, neglect of duty, insubordination, failure to perform duties, resignation not in good standing, and other sufficient cause against her. N.J.A.C. 4A:2- 2.3(a)(2), (8), (12).

After a departmental hearing, the County issued a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action (FNDA) dated June 30, 2016, sustaining the charges of conduct unbecoming a public employee relative to appellant's arrest in a non-work-related matter, and chronic and excessive absenteeism and lateness. The FNDA provided for appellant's removal effective June 13, 2016. Appellant requested a hearing, and the Civil Service Commission transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on August 5, 2016, for hearing and determination as a contested matter. A pre-hearing telephone conference was held on September 21, 2016. The initial hearing date of January 25, 2017, was adjourned at the request of respondent with the consent of appellant. The matter was heard on April 25, 2017. The record remained open to permit the parties to file post-hearing memoranda, and closed on June 6, 2017, upon receipt of the last submission.

THE CHARGES

At the hearing, the parties stipulated to the following:

1. Evidence of appellant's absenteeism before July 21, 2014, would not be considered as part of the absenteeism charges.

2. Evidence of appellant's lateness before July 18, 2014, would not be considered as part of the lateness charges.

Respondent tailored the charges at the hearing accordingly. In short, the specifications attached to the May 16, 2016, PNDA [1] were limited to only those charges contained in Paragraphs 3(a), 3(b), 3(c) and 4(a) as follows:

3. Chronic and Excessive Absenteeism and Lateness:

Employee has a pattern of calling out and taking unplanned ½-days off, in general, and there is a pattern of this occurring on Mondays and Fridays. Further, this was an ongoing problem that was addressed in previous discipline, but the performance never improved.

a. Absenteeism: [Appellant] was absent on Wednesday 9/17/14, Thursday 9/18/14, Friday 9/19/14, and Monday 9/22/14.

b. Absenteeism: On 10/16/14 [appellant] informed the Hospital Administrator at the time that she had a family emergency. She was advised to take a half a personal day and she replied that she would be in early the next day. Because she had no benefit time remaining, she was absent that afternoon and was out the next day as well, 10/17/16. (See attachments.)

c. Chronic Lateness: The employee continued to show up late for work: 9/23/14, 9/24/14, 10/21/14, 10/22/14, 1023/14, and 10/24/14.

4. Conduct Unbecoming a Public Employee:

a. The employee was arrested for child endangerment charges and subsequently for failing to attend a court appearance.

[1]The FNDA does not contain the specifications for the sustained charges; these are found in the attachment to the PNDA. (R-1.)

> As a result of her arrest the hospital and County learned of the extent of the charges, which had not been shared previously. These behaviors are deemed unbecoming a public employee and especially given the vulnerable population the Hospital serves.

In addition, respondent clarified that the conduct unbecoming charge, Paragraph 4(a) above, was limited to appellant's failure to notify the County of her absence during her incarceration from October 27, 2014 to October 31, 2014.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS

The facts in this matter are undisputed; as such, I FIND them to be the FACTS of this case. Marissa Feldman (Feldman), Quality Assurance Director for Meadowview and the sole witness at the hearing, was appellant's supervisor for approximately one year. Appellant's job was to take meeting minutes, file them, and maintain certain binders in an organized manner. The binders needed to be prepared in the event of a state or federal review of the hospital. Without appropriate documentation, Meadowview could risk losing funding or licensing. She testified that appellant had one-half of a vacation day remaining at the time of the first absence on September 17, 2014. As mentioned above, appellant does not dispute that she was absent on Wednesday, September 17, 2014, Thursday, September 18, 2014, Friday, September 19, 2014, and Monday, September 22, 2014. Nor is there a dispute as to appellant's absence on Friday, October 17, 2014, the fifth absence in this matter. (See Exhibit R-2, Attendance Record.) While there was no testimony as to the reasons for the earlier absences, Feldman stated that appellant notified her the day before that she had a family emergency. Appellant was advised to take a half-day and leave early. She was expected to return to work on October 17, 2014, but did not report in. Ibid. Feldman noted that appellant had a number of absences on Mondays and Fridays, and that she counseled her about this issue.

Regarding the issue of lateness, appellant's work hours were from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. Feldman referred to respondent's Bi-Weekly

Attendance Sheet as evidence of appellant's late arrival and early departure on four consecutive days, as follows:[2]

	Time In	Time Out
Tuesday, October 21, 2014	8:21 a.m.	3:58 p.m.
Wednesday, October 22, 2014	8:15 a.m.	3:58 p.m.
Thursday, October 23, 2014	8:31 a.m.	3:52 p.m.
Friday, October 24, 2014	8:15 a.m.	3:54 p.m.

(R-3.)

The conduct unbecoming charge stems from appellant's arrest on a warrant on October 27, 2014, for failing to attend a court appearance. Feldman testified that she does not recall seeing appellant on that day; however, appellant advised her that the arrest was effectuated that morning at the Meadowview security desk. Feldman stated that according to County policy, an employee must call out approximately one hour before the start of her shift, and that appellant failed to call out or otherwise notify the County of her incarceration until she was released. Feldman did not offer a written policy regarding absences, nor did she aver that one existed. She stated that she tried to find out what happened to her, calling County Investigator Steve Krywinski for assistance. Krywinski advised Feldman on October 28, 2014, that appellant was incarcerated. Regardless, Feldman marked appellant "no call, no show" for Monday, October 27, 2014, and Tuesday, October 28, 2014. When asked how she would handle a situation in which an employee is hospitalized and unable to contact the County, Feldman testified that she would permit the employee to submit a medical note upon returning to work, with no attendant disciplinary action.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

A civil service employee who commits a wrongful act related to his or her duties, or gives other just cause, may be subject to major discipline. N.J.S.A. 11A:2-6, -20;

[2] Although the early departures were noted by Feldman, the sustained charges as amended do not include allegations that appellant left work early. Further, as mentioned above, appellant does not dispute that she arrived to work after 8:00 a.m. on those four days.

N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.2, -2.3. In an appeal from such discipline, the appointing authority bears the burden of proving the charges upon which it relied by a preponderance of the competent, relevant and credible evidence. N.J.S.A. 11A:2-21; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-1.4(a); Atkinson v. Parsekian, 37 N.J. 143 (1962); In re Polk, 90 N.J. 550 (1982). The evidence must be such as to lead a reasonably cautious mind to a given conclusion. Bornstein v. Metropolitan Bottling Co., 26 N.J. 263 (1958). Preponderance may also be described as the greater weight of credible evidence in the case, not necessarily dependent on the number of witnesses, but having the greater convincing power. State v. Lewis, 67 N.J. 47 (1975).

Appellant has been charged with chronic and excessive absenteeism and lateness, and conduct unbecoming a public employee.

"Unbecoming conduct" is broadly defined as any conduct that adversely affects the morale or efficiency of a governmental unit or that has a tendency to destroy public respect in the delivery of governmental services. Karins v. City of Atl. City, 152 N.J. 532, 554 (1998); see also In re Emmons, 63 NJ. Super. 136, 140 (App. Div. 1960). It is sufficient that the complained-of conduct and its attending circumstances "be such as to offend publicly accepted standards of decency." Karins, supra, 152 N.J. at 555 (quoting In re Zeber, 156 A.2d 821, 825 (1959)). Such misconduct need not necessarily "be predicated upon the violation of any particular rule or regulation, but may be based merely upon the violation of the implicit standard of good behavior which devolves upon one who stands in the public eye as an upholder of that which is morally and legally correct." Hartmann v. Police Dep't of Ridgewood, 258 N.J. Super. 32, 40 (App. Div. 1992) (quoting Asbury Park v. Dep't of Civil Serv., 17 N.J. 419, 429 (1955)).

Here, appellant was arrested on a warrant for failing to appear at a scheduled court hearing. Initially, the specifications underpinning this particular charge pertained to the nature of the criminal charges against appellant, which were non-work related. However, respondent offered no evidence in this regard, instead modifying the basis for the charge of conduct unbecoming to appellant's failure to notify the County of her incarceration and absence. The arrest took place at Meadowview's security desk. It is unlikely that appellant had an opportunity to plan in advance for her incarceration, or give notice of her pending absence to Meadowview. Moreover, Feldman was informed of appellant's incarceration by Hudson County Investigator Krywinski on the second day of her failure to appear at work. While she conceded that she would excuse a hospitalized employee from the obligation to call out, she did not extend the same accommodation to appellant, who was in custody for a number of days and less likely to have access to a telephone.

Based on the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that the County has not met its burden of proving by a preponderance of the credible evidence that appellant engaged in conduct unbecoming a public employee.

Turning to the remaining charge of chronic and excessive absenteeism and lateness, it is undisputed that appellant was absent for four consecutive days and on a fifth unrelated day. Also, she was late to work on four consecutive days. I CONCLUDE that her behavior constitutes excessive absenteeism and lateness. I note, however, that there is insufficient evidence to sustain the charge that appellant took half-days off, particularly on Fridays and Mondays.

The sole remaining issue concerns the penalty that should be imposed. When dealing with the question of penalty in a de novo review of a disciplinary action against a civil service employee, the Civil Service Commission is required to reevaluate the proofs and penalty on appeal based on the charges presented. N.J.S.A. 11A:2-19; Henry v. Rahway State Prison, 81 N.J. 571 (1980); West New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500 (1962). Depending on the conduct complained of and the employee's disciplinary history, major discipline may include removal, disciplinary demotion, suspension or fine no greater than six months. N.J.S.A. 11A:2-6(a), -20; N.J.S.A. 4A:2-2.2, -2.4. Removal may be supported by habitual tardiness or other similar chronic conduct, even if such conduct takes place over a reasonably short period of time. West New York, supra, 38 N.J. at 522. Yet, "such conduct is particularly serious on the part of employees whose job is to protect the public safety and where the men serve precise shifts to afford continuous protection." Ibid. Here, while appellant's conduct took place over a short period of time and reasonably caused a disruption to the flow of the workplace, her dereliction of duty did not compromise the public safety.

Further, a system of progressive discipline has evolved in New Jersey to serve the goals of providing employees with job security and protecting them from arbitrary employment decisions. The concept of progressive discipline is related to an employee's past record. The use of progressive discipline benefits employees and is strongly encouraged. The core of this concept is the nature, number and proximity of prior disciplinary infractions evaluated by progressively increasing penalties. It underscores the philosophy that an appointing authority has a responsibility to encourage the development of employee potential.

In the instant matter, appellant concedes that she was suspended on two prior occasions for a period of one day and three days. Yet, respondent offered no documentation of these suspensions; as a result, the nature and proximity of these disciplinary infractions are unknown. Our Supreme Court in Bock discussed the weight afforded to an employee's disciplinary history in determining an appropriate penalty, stating that fully presenting such a history at the hearing promotes fairness to both sides. Id. at 524.

Based on the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that removal of appellant from her position as Clerk Typist is not warranted. Although the nature and proximity of her two prior suspensions are unknown, I CONCLUDE that her absences and lateness, seemingly without explanation, are serious enough to merit a major discipline. While not charged with protecting the public safety or well-being, appellant's job was nonetheless important. Feldman credibly testified that the binders in appellant's care needed to remain in proper order to meet with state and federal review standards, and to ensure the continuing funding and licensure of Meadowview. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that a seven-day suspension is warranted in this matter.

ORDER

It is ORDERED that the charge by the appointing authority of conduct unbecoming a public employee be and hereby is DISMISSED.

It is ORDERED that the charge by the appointing authority of chronic and excessive absenteeism and lateness be and hereby is AFFIRMED, and that a seven-day period of suspension issue with regard to said sustained charge.

It is also ORDERED that the penalty imposed by the appointing authority of removal of appellant from the position of Clerk Typist be and hereby is REVERSED.

It is also ORDERED that appellant, Tiffany Dabney, be reinstated and that back pay and other benefits be issued to her in accordance with N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.10.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, DIVISION OF APPEALS AND REGULATORY AFFAIRS, UNIT H, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, 44 South Clinton Avenue, PO Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." Re: Kenyetta Williams v. Gloucester County, Department of Social Services (CSC Docket No. 2014-2978; OAL Docket No. CSV 915-14)

Dear Mr. Szymanski and Ms. O'Hearn:

The appeal of Kenyetta Williams, a Human Services Specialist 2 with Gloucester County, Department of Social Services, of her removal effective December 2, 2013 on charges, was before Administrative Law Judge Elia A. Pelios (ALJ), who rendered his initial decision on December 7, 2017, recommending upholding the removal. No exceptions were filed on behalf of the parties.

The time frame for the Commission to make its final decision was to initially expire on January 22, 2018. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. Prior to that time the Commission secured a 45-day extension of time until March 8, 2018 to render its final decision. However, since the next scheduled meeting is March 21, 2018, it requested consent of the parties, as required, for an additional 45-day extension to render its final decision no later than April 22, 2018. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. However, the appointing authority did not provide consent for a further extension. Under these circumstances, the ALJ's recommended decision will be deemed adopted as the final decision in this matter per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c), effective March 9, 2018.

AGENCY DKT. NO. 2014-2978

IN THE MATTER OF KENYETTA L. WILLIAMS,
GLOUCESTER COUNTY,
DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL SERVICES.

George R. Szymanski, Esq., for appellant (The Law Offices of George R. Szymanski, attorneys)

Christine P. O'Hearn, Esq.,[1] for respondent (Brown & Connery, LLP, attorneys)

Record Closed: June 9, 2016 Decided: December 7, 2017

BEFORE ELIA A. PELIOS, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Respondent, Gloucester County Department of Social Services (respondent, County), removed Human Service Specialist 2, Kenyetta L. Williams (appellant, Williams) for a violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12) (Other Sufficient Cause). Specifically, respondent alleges that appellant refused to comply with a mandatory directive that she enroll in the county Employee Assistance Program "EAP" after respondent observed what it determined to be bizarre and aggressive behavior exhibited by appellant. Appellant believes the EAP referral was an act of harassment on the part of the respondent.

[1] Eric D. Milavsky, Esq., attorney of record for the hearing and on the brief.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On December 3, 2013, appellant received a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action (31-B) removing the appellant. On December 26, 2013, appellant requested a hearing. On January 23, 2014, the Civil Service Commission transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) where it was filed as a contested case.

Hearing dates were scheduled for and held on August 7, 2014 and July 27, 2015. The second hearing date was adjourned during cross examination of appellant due to a medical emergency. After a number of attempts to reschedule, a peremptory hearing date was scheduled for January 7, 2016.

On January 4, 2016, counsel for the appellant notified the undersigned of appellant's inability to attend the hearing due to her worsened emotional condition, and stated his intent to withdraw as counsel. On January 7, 2016, the undersigned issued an order adjourning the hearing for that date and allowing appellant to be heard on her attorney's request to withdraw and to state her plans for proceeding with the hearing. On February 2, 2016, appellant's mother submitted a letter objecting to her counsel's withdrawal after two hearing dates had been completed but also noting her daughter's inability to participate in the proceedings at the time.

On April 4, 2016, a conference call was held between the undersigned and counsel for both parties. It was determined that appellant was not going to be able to present herself for conclusion of her cross-examination. As she was the only remaining witness, it was determined that the parties would submit written closing arguments on the record as constituted at that time. Respondent's written summation was received June 3, 2016. No summation was received from appellant. On June 9, 2016, the record was deemed closed. Orders were entered in this matter to allow for the extension of time in which to file the initial decision.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS

The County called Deborah Cox (Cox) as its first witness. Deborah Cox (formerly Debra McCall) is a human service specialist for the Department of Social Services. She is in the adult Medicaid division and has been there for five years. She supervises eight caseworkers and specialists and one clerk. She noted that appellant often took hostile actions and would often become hostile when approached by her supervisor. Appellant did not want to complete tasks. Cox repeatedly asked her to empty her voicemail and she would not. When she did not check her voicemail she would not return calls.

Cox supervises human service specialists 2. She reviewed the job description for that position. She reviewed examples of their work and described their expected knowledge and abilities. She is familiar with the appellant in this matter, and was aware of performance problems that appellant experienced. Williams was disorganized and did not want to take advice. She would take a long time completing applications and could not keep up with the work.

Appellant would often sit at her desk and stare at the blank computer screen. She would also sit on the phone not talking to anyone. Cox believed this was to deter people from approaching her. Cox also described odd behavior by the appellant toward a male colleague who was getting married. Cox spoke to her supervisor, Edward Smith (Smith), who contacted human resources.

Cox also described two disciplinary matters involving the appellant, one in 2011 and the other in 2012. She reviewed a disciplinary memo (R-2). Appellant was accused of using abusive language outside the building and directing it toward a coworker. Williams pulled up in a vehicle with her mother outside, and verbally assaulted an employee for insulting her mother.

Cox also described another disciplinary memo (R-3). Appellant refused to discuss that matter with her supervisors and received a three day suspension.

Cox stated that most employees in the department came to tell her that they were afraid to work with the appellant, and afraid to walk to their cars at night. Some had difficulty sleeping because of the impact appellant had on the workplace. There are eleven employees in the division. Ms. Cox again notified Mr. Smith who notified human resources.

On cross-examination, Cox indicated that there were many instances involving emptying the voicemail. Cox stated that employees are required to retrieve their voicemail once a day. She indicated that appellant would often make rude comments to the unit clerk who would hand her working assignments. Cox personally observed this. Cox never listened in on appellant's phone calls, but it appeared that no one was on the other end. Cox considered it strange that appellant was so concerned that another employee was getting married. She stated that appellant believed she had a relationship with that employee.

The employee that was verbally assaulted outside was Loretta Driver (Driver). Carolyn Rapp (Rapp) was also involved. Loretta Driver did not insult appellant's mother. Appellant had identified and verbally assaulted the wrong employee. The second disciplinary matter involved an incident with Sally Heidi (Heidi). Appellant was on lunch break, Cox was not present. Cox only knows the incident because Heidi told her about it.

Cox never spoke to Smith about the appellant being referred to the employee assistance program. Smith referred the matter to human resources. Cox does not know who he spoke to in that department.

Edward Smith, the superintendent of the division of social services, also testified on behalf of respondent. He is familiar with the appellant as she worked for the division in 2011. He became aware of her problems. He described them as performance and behavioral problems. Smith tries to keep up with all employees in the division, but relies on twenty-two supervisors. Appellant's supervisor brought her problems to Smith's attention. Appellant was disciplined on two occasions; once for threatening a fellow employee and once for being insubordinate.

One day, appellant had a discussion with Cox after which appellant left sick for the remainder of the day, and called out sick the next day. Appellant told Smith that it was because Cox and another employee had hacked her telephone and set up a website attacking her. She refused to provide the web address to Smith. She told Smith that he did not need the web address as she had already informed the FBI and complained to the EEOC. Smith called County Counsel for direction in the matter, and afterwards contacted human resources. Human resources took action.

Smith reviewed an email from Kathleen McMahon (A-4). He received the email before he called the County Counsel. He forwarded the email to human resources and a request for mandatory employee assistance program referral was made by human resources. He noted that he did not impose discipline—only the County can impose discipline. He can only recommend discipline. He said he made no recommendation regarding appellant.

On cross-examination, Smith acknowledged he was not witness to either of the incidents appellant was disciplined for. He never contacted law enforcement as he saw no need to. He noted that with regard to the first incident, appellant drove up to Ms. Driver and asked her "are you the piece of shit disrespecting my mother this morning." Driver said that she was not and left. Driver went straight to Smith's office to report the incident. Appellant was reprimanded for that matter.

Michelle Pandolfo (Pandolfo), special projects manager for Gloucester County human resources, also testified on behalf of the County. She is aware of the appellant and her problems. She became aware when a complaint came to her to address the EAP referral. Concerns have been raised about bizarre and abnormal behavior on behalf of appellant. The EEO officer was also involved. He came to human resources with specific examples and concerns about things that appellant said. Consideration of this, coupled with contact from Edward Smith and the email that had been provided, caused Pandolfo to make an Employee Assistance Program (EAP) referral.

EAP referrals are contracted out. Quantum Service is the provider to the County. A notice is sent to the employee who is asked to contact Quantum to set-up an appointment. The County directed a mandatory EAP referral. Appellant did contact Quantum and made an appointment. However, she canceled the appointment and did not make another. Follow-up was sent requiring that appellant comply with the EAP referral within five days. Again, appellant did not comply. The County then took disciplinary action to terminate appellant for failing to comply with the EAP referral. The County was contacted by the union, and after speaking with the union president, issued a third chance to comply to appellant. They held the disciplinary matter in abeyance, and issued the third notice. Once again appellant did not comply. The County received a noncompliance letter from the vendor and sent a new hearing notice for the disciplinary matter. A hearing date was set and appellant did not show.

Pandolfo is aware that appellant did ask for a reasonable accommodation. She requested a specific supervisor, and to not have to answer phones. An accommodation that was made was to offer appellant a position as a human services specialist one, which required less telephone work. The County denied the request for specific supervisor. A request was also made for a specific unit. That unit had no vacancies and the request was denied. The committee that reviewed the reasonable accommodation requests was comprised of Pandolfo, the County administrator, and the County Counsel. The decision for the EAP referral was made by the County Counsel and human resources. The human resources department reports the County administrator. Pandolfo agrees with the decision. Milton Hanna, the EEO officer, also had concerns. Pandolfo noted that EAP procedures are addressed consistent with the provisions the collective bargaining agreement regarding fitness for duty requirements, and can be grieved. Appellant did not grieve the referral, she just did not comply.

Barbara J. Williams (B. Williams), the mother of appellant, testified on her behalf. She is seventy-years old, and lives in Glassboro, New Jersey. She noted that in September 2006 the appellant had a car accident before she started working. The accident resulted in permanent brain damage and cognitive disabilities. The injury did not prevent appellant from working.

B. Williams then described an incident occurring on December 22, 2011, with Carolyn Rapp. The witness was at the appellant's work. She went to use the restroom while appellant went to get files. Appellant was going to work off-site at the Kennedy Hospital. The witness was on the phone with the appellant, and a woman came out of the office yelling at the witness to get out. The woman who was yelling was Carolyn Rapp, who was Edward Smith's assistant. She was yelling at the witness and waving her arms. Still on the phone, the appellant told her mother not to do anything and just come outside. The witness did enter the building again later because she had to use the restroom again. A woman came out and yelled again, and appellant told the woman that it was her mother. The woman remarked she thought the witness was a client. B. Williams stated that her daughter was bullied and harassed at work.

Appellant testified on her own behalf. She is forty-years old, and currently lives in Glassboro, New Jersey. She attended Rutgers University, and got her B.A. in 1997. At this time in her testimony it was noted that she was under stress. Appellant displayed a bit of a physical tick, and she appeared to be having physical difficulty answering questions.

In April 2011, appellant began working at the Gloucester Board of Social Services. An accident in September 2006 left her with a cognitive disability and neurological deficits. She began her employment as a human service specialist two. She was working with adult Medicaid taking applications. She enjoyed her job very much. She reviewed a note from her doctor (A-5). McCall's Supervisor was Sally Heidi, technically a coequal who had been there longer. The doctor's note was provided to human resources.

Appellant stated that she was bullied by coworkers in her unit and in the recovery unit. She believes that she was good at her job, and her first review was excellent. She also reviewed several statements from her clients that were praising her. (A-6 through A-9.) She noted that she received favorable evaluations at first (A-10).

She stated that her mother's story about being attacked while trying to use the restroom at appellant's office was accurate. She stated that Carolyn Rapp called to apologize about what happened to her mother the same day of that incident at about 3:00 p.m. The complaints were still made. Appellant stated that she previously worked with the Division of Youth and Family Services (DYFS) for about eighteen months. She had issues with a sheriff's officer who was the sister of the woman who hit her with the car in 2006. The sheriff's officer came to the appellant's desk with a coworker and tried to pull her gun on her. The sheriff's officer was subsequently fired.

Pursuant to union contract the workday ends at 4:00 p.m. Appellant would often stay late without pay due to her caseload. She noted that Sally Heidi had asked her about her disability, and told her that if she could not do the job that she should not work at that location.

One day during lunch break, Ms. Heidi came to her in a rage and said she needed to talk about a case. The case was already on her desk. Appellant responded that she did not appreciate being harassed. She stated that her immediate supervisor was married to Edward Smith.

Williams stated that as a result of her injuries and the car accident she had difficulty multitasking, speaking on the telephone, and performing case management at the same time. She stated that she was threatened to be demoted to human services specialist one. She stated that a coworker called her retarded. People would give her the finger in the hallway. Although she was suffering prejudice, she did not believe it was racial prejudice. She believes that it was religious prejudice noting that she is a Seventh-Day Adventist. Williams noted that overtime was only made available on Saturdays, and that the office was refusing to give her a religious accommodation and she could not work on her Sabbath. On August 13, 2013, there was an incident with her keyboard. It was on a Tuesday as she had been out Monday. She came in and her station was a mess from a state auditor visit the day before. She noted there was something that appeared to be like peanut butter on the keyboard. She wiped the keyboard clean, but noticed that her hand was shaking and so her mother brought her vitamins. She went to get the vitamins from the car and someone was taking pictures of her and was repeatedly threatening to have her fired.

The appellant noted that she was out eight days for a heart issue. She believes that whatever was on the keyboard had given her a reaction. She stated she was sprayed on September 2013 by Deborah Cox. It was tetra hydroxyzine which burned her for five days. She notified the FBI.

She was referred to the EAP. It was recommended that she see a psychologist. The appellant refused to go. She noted that Deborah Cox and Deb McCall were trying to kibosh any transfer to a different department. Appellant stated that she refused a psychological appointment because she believes it was part of the harassment that was directed toward her.

Appellant took the stand for the purpose of cross-examination. After an initial question from the attorney for the County, she responded that for the record that she was a judge and that Mr. Milavsky was not an attorney. She then stated that she is a Supreme Court justice. She then refused to respond to subsequent questions, stated again that she is a Supreme Court judge, and noted that this current case matter had a Hague docket reference number.

A break was taken at that time so that counsel could speak with his client and affirm the importance of answering the questions of on cross-examination. After the break, the witness was back on the stand. Once the questioning began from the County Counsel the witness began to develop a tick, almost seizure-like, and struggled to answer. This continued for several moments. From the hearing room, 911 was called. Emergency responders arrived, appellant was taken away by ambulance, and the proceedings were adjourned for the day. As discussed in the procedural history, attempts to reschedule and continue appellant's testimony were unsuccessful.

Considering the documentary and testimonial evidence, I FIND that on a number of occasions respondent observed or became aware of bizarre and aggressive behavior exhibited by appellant. I further FIND that in response to this behavior, and after several attempts to address the matter through progressive discipline, respondent referred appellant to the County's EAP. I further FIND that appellant never complied with the EAP and never presented herself for the scheduled appointments.

As to appellant's claims that the referral was merely an act of harassment by the respondent, it is noted that appellant's inability to complete her testimony, specifically to not engage in any substantive testimony on cross examination, constrains this tribunal to not give weight to her testimony. Although fundamental fairness and empathy for appellant's medical situation demanded that she be given opportunity to conclude, several attempts were made to no avail over the course of more than ten months.

Between appellant's mother's testimony, which in large measure was a relating of what she had heard from her daughter, and appellant's incomplete testimony, there is simply insufficient credible, competent evidence upon which to base a finding that the respondent's actions were a form of harassment. It is noted that even though not subject to cross-examination, and therefore not ascribed any weight, appellant's direct testimony did not appear to justify such a finding.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

In an appeal from a disciplinary action or ruling by an appointing authority, the appointing authority bears the burden of proof to show that the action taken was appropriate. N.J.S.A. 11A:-2.21; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-1.4(a). The authority must show by a preponderance of the competent, relevant, and credible evidence that the employee is guilty as charged. Atkinson v. Parsekian, 37 N.J. 143 (1962); In re Polk, 90 N.J. 550 (1982). When dealing with the question of penalty in a de novo review of a disciplinary action against an employee, it is necessary to reevaluate the proofs and "penalty" on appeal, based on the charges. N.J.S.A. 11A:2-19; Henry v. Rahway State Prison, 81 N.J. 571 (1980); West New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500 (1962).

In the present matter, respondent has charged appellant with a violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12) (Other Sufficient Cause). Specifically, respondent alleges that appellant refused to comply with a mandatory directive that she enroll in the County EAP after respondent observed what it determined to be bizarre and aggressive behavior exhibited by appellant. The record reflects that appellant did engage in bizarre and aggressive behavior, that the respondent did make a mandatory referral of appellant to the EAP, and that appellant did not comply with the referral. Further, the record reflects that even though such referrals are governed by the collective bargaining agreement, appellant did not grieve the referral. She merely did not comply with it and then challenged the removal for failure to comply. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE respondent has demonstrated, by a preponderance of credible evidence, that appellant's conduct constitutes with a violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12) (Other Sufficient Cause), and that such charge must be SUSTAINED.

PENALTY

The Civil Service Commission's review of penalty is de novo. N.J.S.A. 11A:2-19 and N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.9(d) specifically grant the Commission authority to increase or decrease the penalty imposed by the appointing authority.

General principles of progressive discipline apply. Town of W. New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500, 523 (1962). Typically, the Board considers numerous factors, including the nature of the offense, the concept of progressive discipline and the employee's prior record. George v. N. Princeton Developmental Ctr., 96 N.J.A.R.2d (CSV) 463.

"Although we recognize that a tribunal may not consider an employee's past record to prove a present charge, West New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500, 523 (1962), that past record may be considered when determining the appropriate penalty for the current offense." In re Phillips, 117 N.J. 567, 581 (1990).

Ultimately, however, "it is the appraisal of the seriousness of the offense which lies at the heart of the matter." Bowden v. Bayside State Prison, 268 N.J. Super. 301, 305 (App. Div. 1993), certif. denied, 135 N.J. 469 (1994).

Some disciplinary infractions are so serious that removal is appropriate notwithstanding a largely unblemished prior record. In re Carter, 191 N.J. 474, 484 (2007), citing Rawlings v. Police Dep't of Jersey City, 133 N.J. 182, 197-98 (1993) (upholding dismissal of police officer who refused drug screening as "fairly proportionate" to offense); see also, In re Herrmann, 192 N.J. 19, 33 (2007) (DYFS worker who snapped lighter in front of five-year-old):

> . . . judicial decisions have recognized that progressive discipline is not a necessary consideration when reviewing an agency head's choice of penalty when the misconduct is severe, when it is unbecoming to the employee's position or renders the employee unsuitable for continuation in the position, or when application of the principle would be contrary to the public interest.
> Thus, progressive discipline has been bypassed when an employee engages in severe misconduct, especially when the employee's position involves public safety and the misconduct causes risk of harm to persons or property. See, e.g., Henry v. Rahway State Prison, 81 N.J. 571, 580 (1980).

The Commission has authority to increase the penalty beyond that established by the appointing authority's Final Notice of Disciplinary Action, but not to removal from suspension. N.J.S.A. 11A:2-19. The Civil Service Commission may increase or decrease the penalty imposed by the appointing authority, but removal shall not be substituted for a lesser penalty. See, Sabia v. City of Elizabeth, 132 N.J. Super. 6, 15-16 (App. Div. 1974), certif. denied, Elizabeth v. Sabia, 67 N.J. 97 (1975).

In the present matter, the record reflects that respondent issued appellant a mandatory referral to the EAP. When appellant repeatedly failed to comply with the referral, respondent removed appellant from employment. The record further reflects that the referral was based upon observations and reports of erratic bizarre and aggressive behavior, and that respondent made several attempts to address these behaviors through corrective action and progressive discipline, to no avail. Respondent's actions were motivated by concern for the health and safety of appellant and her coworkers and, as candidly stated in summation, potential liability, and were not arbitrarily pursued. As appellant's repeated refusal to comply leaves the respondent without the benefit of information to address their concerns, I CONCLUDE that the penalty of removal was appropriate, and should be SUSTAINED.

DECISION AND ORDER

The appointing authority has proven by a preponderance of credible evidence the charges against Williams with a violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12) other sufficient cause, specifically, failure to comply with referrals to the EAP. I ORDER that these charges be and are hereby SUSTAINED. Furthermore, I ORDER that the penalty of removal is hereby AFFIRMED.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, DIVISION OF APPEALS AND REGULATORY AFFAIRS, UNIT H, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, 44 South Clinton Avenue, PO Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Re: Quan Stewart v. Department of Human Services (CSC Docket No. 2017-3256 and OAL Docket No. CSV 9994 -17) - SETTLEMENT

Dear Mr. Nash and DAG Saxon:

The appeal of Quan Stewart, a Human Services Technician with Trenton Psychiatric Hospital, Department of Human Services, of his removal effective December 8, 2016, was before Administrative Law Judge Tama B. Hughes (ALJ), who returned the matter to the Civil Service Commission (Commission) on December 8, 2017 indicating that the parties had reached a settlement.

The time frame for the Commission to make its final decision was to initially expire on January 25, 2018. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. Prior to that date, the Commission secured a 45-day extension of time to render its final decision no later than March 11, 2018. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. While this matter is now ready for presentation to the Commission, its next scheduled meeting is March 21, 2018. In this regard, the Commission has determined that, since the settlement complies with Civil Service law and rules, it finds no reason to delay the final disposition of this matter further. Thus, it will not request consent from the parties, as required, for an additional extension of time. Under these circumstances, the ALJ's recommended decision will be deemed adopted, effective March 12, 2018, as the final decision in this matter per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c).

Sincerely,

Nicholas F. Angiulo
Deputy Director

B. The parties have agreed to the following:

1. To date, appellant has served a total of N/A days without pay based upon the above charges.
2. The total number of days of backpay, if any, to be paid by the appointing authority to the Appellant is as follows: N/A.
3. Any other days from the time of last suspension day until reinstatement shall be treated as follows: N/A.
4. Respondent, Department of Human Services/Department of Health, will accept a General Resignation from Appellant, Quan Stewart, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-6.3(b), effective December 8, 2016. Appellant, Quan Stewart, agrees not to seek or accept employment with the Department of Human Services/Department of Health, or any of its subsidiaries, at any time in the future.

C. The Appellant, Quan Stewart, withdraws his appeal and request for a hearing, and the Respondent Appointing Authority Department of Human Services/Department of Health agrees that the following result will occur with regard to each charge: The parties have agreed to a General Resignation as a resolution to the disciplinary appeal, as provided by N.J.A.C. 4A:2-6.3(b).

The parties acknowledge that under N.J.A.C. 17:2-4.5 (b) and (c), no pension or seniority time may be credited for periods for which the employee is not paid by the employer.

D. The Department of Human Services/Department of Health shall amend Appellant's personnel records to conform to the terms of the settlement. All internal records of the Department of Human Services/Department of Health will be kept intact. Nothing herein shall preclude the Department from releasing information on this matter to anyone who has a release executed by appellant or as consistent with the law. Any information regarding the underlying charges will be provided to the Public Employees Retirement System pursuant to N.J.S.A. 43:1-3.3 as amended effective April 14, 2007.

E. Appellant waives all other claims against Respondent, Department of Human Services/Department of Health with regard to this matter, including any award of back pay, counsel fees or other monetary relief, except as may otherwise be provided herein. Any other disciplinary matter pending is considered moot as a result of this settlement agreement.

F. Except for the assessment of Appellant's disciplinary record in any subsequent personnel disciplinary hearing, nothing in this agreement shall be deemed to be an admission of liability on behalf of either party. This agreement shall not constitute a precedent in matters involving other employees.

G. Appellant waives all claims, suits or actions, whether known, unknown, vested or contingent, civil, criminal or administrative, in law or equity against the State of New Jersey, the New Jersey Department of Human Services/Department of Health, their employees, agents, or assigns, including but not limited to those which have been or could have been made or prosecuted on account of any conduct of any party occurring at any time with respect to the events, information or disputes giving rise to this action up to the date of this agreement, including, but not limited to, all claims under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Civil Rights Act of 1991, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Family Leave Act, the Family and Medical Leave Act, the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, the Equal Pay Act, the Conscientious Employee Protection Act, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, Title 11A - the Civil Service Act, the Older Workers Benefits Protection Act, the Occupational Safety and Health Act, the Public Employee Occupational Safety and Health Act, the New Jersey Smoking Act, New Jersey wages and hours law, public works statutes, unemployment compensation laws, disability benefits laws, the United States Constitution, the New Jersey Constitution, any workers compensation or common law claims and any contract express or implied. This waiver includes all claims involving any continuing effects of actions or practices which arose prior to the date of this Settlement Agreement and bars the use in any way of any past action or practice in any subsequent claims, except pending workers compensation claims.

H. The parties agree that if any portion of this Settlement Agreement is deemed unenforceable, the remainder of this Settlement Agreement shall be fully enforceable.

I. The parties waive the right to file exceptions and cross exceptions with regard to this matter.

J. This agreement will become effective only if approved by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION. Any disapproval by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION shall not interfere with the rights of either party to pursue the matter further.

Re: Careem Yarborough v. City of Newark (CSC Docket Nos. 2016-1237 and 1542; OAL Docket Nos. CSV 19741-15 and 19742-15) – SETTLEMENTS (consolidated)

Dear Mr. Fusco and Ms. Clayborne:

The appeals of Careem Yarborough, a Police Officer with the City of Newark Police Department, of his 12 calendar day and 10 working day suspensions, were before Administrative Law Judge Richard McGill (ALJ), who returned the matter to the Civil Service Commission (Commission) on December 8, 2017 indicating that the parties had reached a settlement.

The time frame for the Commission to make its final decision was to initially expire on January 28, 2018. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. Prior to that date, the Commission secured a 45-day extension of time to render its final decision no later than March 14, 2018. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. While this matter is now ready for presentation to the Commission, its next scheduled meeting is March 21, 2018. In this regard, the Commission has determined that, since the settlement complies with Civil Service law and rules, it finds no reason to delay the final disposition of this matter further. Thus, it will not request consent from the parties, as required, for an additional extension of time. Under these circumstances, the ALJ's recommended decision will be deemed adopted, effective March 15, 2018, as the final decision in this matter per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c).

Sincerely,

Nicholas F. Angiulo
Deputy Director

OAL DKT. NOs. CSV 19741-15 and CSV 19742-15

AGENCY DKT. NOs. 2016-1237 and 2016-1542

IN THE MATTER OF CAREEM YARBOROUGH,
CITY OF NEWARK POLICE DEPARTMENT.

Anthony J. Fusco, Jr., Esq., for appellant (Fusco & Macaluso, attorneys)

Joyce Clayborne, Assistant Corporation Counsel, for respondent (Kenyatta K. Stewart, Acting Corporation Counsel, attorney)

Record Closed: December 7, 2017 Decided: December 8, 2017

BEFORE RICHARD McGILL, ALJ:

Careem Yarborough appeals from a suspension on charges from the position of Police Officer with the City of Newark. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on December 2, 2015, for determination as a contested case.

Prior to the hearing, the parties agreed to an amicable resolution of the matter and submitted a written Settlement Agreement and General Release. Having reviewed the record and the settlement terms, I FIND as follows:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or the signatures of their representatives.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. Accordingly, it is ORDERED that the parties comply with the terms of the settlement, and it is FURTHER ORDERED that proceedings in this matter be concluded.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

CSV 19742-2015N

CAREEM YARBOROUGH,	:	STATE OF NEW JERSEY
	:	OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATIVE LAW
Appellant,	:
v.	:	OAL DOCKET NO. CSV 19741-2015N
	:	CSV 19742-2015N
CITY OF NEWARK,	:	SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT
	:	AND GENERAL RELEASE
Respondent.	:

This Settlement Agreement and General Release ("Agreement") is made and entered into by Newark Police Officer Careem Yarborough ("Yarborough" or "Appellant"), Newark Fraternal Order of Police, Lodge 12 ("Union") and the City of Newark ("City "or "Respondent") (collectively referred to hereinafter as the "Parties"). The Parties herein have voluntarily agreed to resolve all disputed matters arising from the disciplinary action taken against Yarborough by the City. This Agreement is made and entered into by the Parties in full settlement of Yarborough's appeal regarding the above matter.

On August 24, 2015, the Newark Department of Public Safety, Police Division ("Department of Public Safety") brought initial departmental disciplinary charges and Specifications against Yarborough in the form of a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action ("PNDA")[1] stemming from his actions on August 26, 2015 in handling a prisoner:

- N.J.S.A. 2C:51: Forfeiture of public office, position, or employment.
- Newark Police Department Rules and Regulations Chapter 18:20 violation of Safekeeping of Prisoners.

[1] All PNDA(S) and FNDA(S) are annexed as exhibits to the Stipulation Agreement dated 10/19/17, See, Exhibit B herein.

- Newark Police Department Rules and Regulations Chapters 18:6 violation of Neglect of Duty.
- N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a) 7, violation of Civil Service Rule- Neglect of Duty. See, Ex. A (Specifications).

As a result of the initial PNDA, on August 26, 2015, Yarborough was indefinitely suspended without pay on August 26, 2015.

On September, 8, 2015, a Limited Purpose Hearing was conduct for Yarborough's indefinite suspension and he was ordered to return to work effective immediately. On the same date, a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action ("FNDA") and Specifications were issued with disciplinary charges:

- Newark Police Department Rules and Regulations Chapter 18:20 violation of Safekeeping of Prisoners.
- Newark Police Department Rules and Regulations Chapters 18:6 violation of Neglect of Duty.
- N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a) 7, violation of Civil Service Rule- Neglect of Duty. See, Ex. A

On September 8, 2015, Yarborough received a second PNDA, for removal. On September 15, 2015, Yarborough pled not guilty, waiving his opportunity before the Trial Board. However, based upon the underlying evidence the Trail Board found Yarborough guilty. On September 15, 2015, a second FNDA and Specifications was issued with the following charges:

- Newark Police Department Rules and Regulations Chapter 18:20 violation of Safekeeping of Prisoners.
- Newark Police Department Rules and Regulations Chapters 18:6 violation of Neglect of Duty.
- N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a) 7, violation of Civil Service Rule- Neglect of Duty. See, Ex. A.

Based on these charges, the Department of Public Safety suspended Yarborough for ten (10) days pursuant N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.4 (e), from October 13, 2015 to October 13, 2015, consisting of one (1) day. The Yarborough's disciplinary record is vacant regarding him serving one (1) day suspension from October 13, 2015 to October 13, 2015. His record indicates nine (9) days served under indefinite suspension. See, Exhibit B (Stipulation Agreement).

After further negotiations, the Parties have agreed to resolve this matter as follows:

1. The charges listed in the FNDA are upheld.
2. Yarborough's suspension is reduced from nine (9) days to eight (8) days. The City will amend his FNDA to reflect an eight (8) day suspension.
3. The City will pay Yarborough one (1) day and make the appropriate adjustments to his pension and seniority.
4. Yarborough waives any and all right or claim which he has or may have to a hearing on the merits of the disciplinary action taken under this Agreement and/ or to challenge the suspension penalty imposed as a result of same, including, but not limited to, any right to a departmental hearing concerning the charges in the FNDA.
5. Yarborough and the Union each agree not to appeal the terms and conditions of this Agreement to any agency or court, including, but not limited to the New Jersey Civil Service Commission and/or to any other New Jersey State Court or agency and/or to any United States Court or agency.
6. Yarborough and the Union each further agree that there is no consideration due Yarborough, his counsel and/or Union, including, but not limited to, any claim for additional back pay and/or counsel fees, arising from his employment and/or the execution of this Agreement, except as otherwise provided herein.
7. Except for the assessment of Yarborough's disciplinary record in any subsequent personnel disciplinary hearing, nothing in this Agreement shall be deemed to be an admission of liability on behalf of either Party.
8. Yarborough and the Union acknowledge that this Agreement precludes them from bringing any type of legal or contractual action in any forum including, but not limited to, filing a Complaint in New Jersey Superior Court or the United States Federal Court, filing any type of complaint with the City, Essex County, the State of New Jersey or the United States of America, and filing a grievance and/or requesting arbitration, that is in any manner grounded, based upon, or related to the FNDA.

9. Yarborough is bound by this Agreement. Anyone who succeeds to Yarborough's rights and responsibilities, such as heirs or the executor of his estate, shall also be bound.
10. This Agreement shall not constitute a precedent or practice in any matter involving the City or other City employees or the Union.
11. Yarborough and the Union each agree that this Agreement shall not be offered, used or considered as evidence in any proceeding of any type against or involving the City, except to the extent necessary to enforce the terms of this Agreement, or as required by law.
12. This Agreement contains the sole and entire agreement between Yarborough, the Union and the City, and fully supersedes any and all prior agreements and understandings pertaining to the subject matter hereof. Yarborough specifically represents and acknowledges that in executing this Agreement, he has not relied upon any representations, with regard to the subject matter in this Agreement, which are not set forth herein. No other promises or agreements shall be binding unless in writing, signed by all the Parties, and expressly stated to be a modification of the Agreement.
13. Yarborough agrees and acknowledges that he has been fully and fairly represented by his Union and counsel in this matter, and he is satisfied with that representation and with the terms and conditions of this Agreement.
14. Yarborough agrees and acknowledges that he has had a full opportunity to review this Agreement with his counsel and/or union representative and he enters into this Agreement knowingly and voluntarily.
15. The Parties agree that if any portion of this Agreement is deemed unenforceable, the remainder of the Settlement Agreement shall be fully enforceable.
16. This Agreement will become effective only if approved by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION. Any disapproval by the Civil Service Commission shall not interfere with the rights of either Party to pursue the matter further.
17. By signing this Settlement Agreement, Yarborough states that:

a) He has read it;
b) He understands it and knows that he is giving up important rights, and any and all other federal and state employment causes of any kind, including, but not limited to The New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, The New Jersey Equal Pay Law, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1967, as amended, The Conscientious Employee Protection Act, The Americans With Disabilities Act of 1990, the Fair Labor Standards Act, and any other constitutional, statutory or common law suit, attorney's fees and costs of this proceeding, and any public policy of the United States, the State of New Jersey, or other State;
c) He agrees with everything in it;
d) His representative negotiated this Agreement with his knowledge and consent;
e) He has been advised to consult with his attorney prior to executing this Agreement, and has in fact done so;
f) He has been given at least twenty-one (21) days within which to review and consider this Agreement, although his may choose to sign it sooner, and thereafter, has seven (7) days to revoke that signature;
g) He understands that for a period of seven (7) days following the execution of this Agreement, he may revoke this Agreement; the Agreement shall not become effective or enforceable until the revocation period has expired; and
h) He has signed this Settlement Agreement knowingly and voluntarily.

Dear Counsel:

Enclosed please find a signed Statement of Undisputed Facts in regard to the above-mentioned matter.

Very truly yours,

Richard McGill
Administrative Law Judge

Enc.

CAREEM YARBOROUGH, Appellant, v. CITY OF NEWARK, Respondent	:	STATE OF NEW JERSEY OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATIVE LAW OAL DOCKET NO. CVS 19741-2015N CVS 19742-2015N STIPULATION AGREEMENT

STATEMENT OF UNDISPUTED FACTS

1. On or about August 26, 2015, Officer Careem Yarborough, ("Yarborough") badge #9448, was responsible for the escape of a prisoner undergoing medical treatment at University Hospital. The prisoner was in Yarborough's custody when he escaped out of an alternate exit from a men's bathroom at the hospital's radiology department. Yarborough failed to immediately notify Newark Police Department Communication Supervisors of the escape. Instead, the Newark Police Department Communications Supervisors heard a broadcast via radio from the New Jersey State Police Emergency Network, Rutgers University Police Division.
2. Subsequently, a preliminary investigation ensued and the prisoner was later apprehended at his sister's home. As a result, disciplinary charges were initiated against Yarborough.
3. On August 24, 2015, Yarborough received an initial Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action ("PNDA") with an indefinite suspension effective August 26, 2015.
4. On September 8, 2015, Yarborough received an initial Final Notice of Disciplinary Action ("FNDA") indicating on September 8, 2015 an Indefinite Suspension Hearing determined he return to duty effective immediately.
5. On September 8, 2015, Yarborough received a second (FNDA) for removal. A departmental hearing was scheduled for September 15, 2015.
6. On September 15, 2015, Yarborough received a second FNDA charging him with the Safekeeping of Prisoners, a violation of Newark Police Department Rules and Regulations Chapter 18:20, Neglect of Duty, (two counts), a violation of Newark Police Department Rules and Regulations, Chapters 1B:6 and New Jersey violation of Civil Service Rules N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a) 7 (two counts). He waived his opportunity for hearing before a Trial Board with the intention of filing an Office of Administrative Law appeal. He was found guilty and suspended for ten (10) days. He already served his nine days under his indefinite suspension. However, needed to complete one addition suspension day which was ordered from October 13, 2015 to October 13, 2015.

7. There are no records indicating that Yarborough served October 13, 2015 to October 13, 2015 suspension for one day.
8. All FNDA(s) and FNDA(s) possess identical CAP 2015-108 and IOP 2015-440 numbers. Exhibit A.
9. Yarborough's disciplinary record indicated on September 15, 2015, the Trial Board suspended him for ten (10) days indicating the following: "must serve one day-nine days served under indefinite suspension." Exhibit B
10. According to Newark Request for Personnel Action record, Yarborough was suspended on August 26, 2015 to September 7, 2015. He returned to work effective September 8, 2015. A total of nine (9) days of suspension served. Exhibit C
11. According to City of Newark Police Finance Division, Yarborough's nine (9) day suspension was unpaid. Exhibit D
12. Two separate actions were generated by OAL under: CSV 19741-2015, for a twelve (12) days suspension, which does not exist. It is unknown how the twelve (12) day suspension was generated. The second action being OAL docket CSV 19742-2015N for a ten (10) days suspension existed, however nine (9) days were served rather than ten (10) days.

IT IS HEREBY STIPULATED AND AGREED by the Parties, herein are the Statement of Undisputed Facts for this matter.

Re: Heather DiBlasi-Domalewski v. Middletown Township (CSC Docket No. 2017-2703 and OAL Docket No. CSV 3373-17) - SETTLEMENT

Dear Ms. DiBlasi-Domalewski and Mr. Goodman:

The appeal of Heather DiBlasi-Domalewski, a Social Worker Substance Abuse with Middletown Township, of her removal on charges effective February 9, 2017, was before Administrative Law Judge Carl V. Buck, III (ALJ), who returned the matter to the Civil Service Commission (Commission) on December 11, 2017 indicating that the parties had reached a settlement.

The time frame for the Commission to make its final decision was to initially expire on January 26, 2018. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. Prior to that date, the Commission secured a 45-day extension of time to render its final decision no later than March 12, 2018. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. While this matter is now ready for presentation to the Commission, its next scheduled meeting is March 21, 2018. In this regard, the Commission has determined that, since the settlement complies with Civil Service law and rules, it finds no reason to delay the final disposition of this matter further. Thus, it will not request consent from the parties, as required, for an additional extension of time. Under these circumstances, the ALJ's recommended decision will be deemed adopted, effective March 13, 2018, as the final decision in this matter per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c).

Sincerely,

Nicholas F. Angiulo

Kenneth B. Goodman, Esq., for Township of Middletown, Department of Health Welfare and Inspections, respondent (O'Toole Scrivo, attorneys)

Record Closed: December 11, 2017 Decided: December 11, 2017

BEFORE CARL V. BUCK, III, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on March 9, 2017, for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

This case concerns the appeal of appellant, Heather DiBlasi-Domalewski from the action of the respondent, Township of Middletown, Department of Health Welfare and Inspections. On November 27, 2017, the parties filed a fully executed Settlement Agreement. (J-1).

I have reviewed the record and the terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures and/or their representatives' signatures.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

J-1

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT, MUTUAL NON-DISPARAGMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE

THE SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT, MUTUAL NON-DISPARAGEMENT AGREEMENT, AND GENERAL RELEASE ("Agreement") is entered into by and between HEATHER DIBLASI-DOMALEWSKI ("DiBlasi-Domalewski"), and THE TOWNSHIP OF MIDDLETOWN (the "Township") to settle all claims that DiBlasi-Domalewski may have against the Township, any related entities, and any of its subsidiaries, affiliated companies, benefit plans or their respective predeccessors, successors and assigns, as well as their respective past or present governing bodies, officers, directors, agents, representatives or employees.

Parties

"Heather DiBlasi-Domalewski" or "DiBlasi-Domalewski" as used herein, means her estate, heirs, representatives, privies, executors, administrators, assigns, successors-in-interest and predecessors-in-interest. "The Township of Middletown," or "the Township" as used herein, means the Township of Middletown, its parents, subsidiaries, related, affiliated and predecessor entities, the present and former trustees, present and former committee members, directors, officers, attorneys, employees or agents of all of them, in their official and individual capacities, and any pension, welfare or other benefit plan applicable to the employees or former employees of the Township as defined herein, and the current and former trustees and administrators of any and all such plans. DiBlasi-Domalewski and the Township are collectively referred to herein as the "Parties".

1. Assignment of Claims

DiBlasi-Domalewski and the Township hereby warrant that they have not assigned any claims that any of them may have against each other to any other person or entity.

2. Settlement

In full and complete settlement of any claims arising out of DiBlasi-Domalewski's employment with the Township and any other causes of action between the Parties, the Parties agree as follows:

WHEREAS on or about February 1, 2017 the Township served DiBlasi-Domalewski with a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action ("PNDA") charging DiBlasi-Domalewski with improper conduct in connection with the performance of her duties as a Social Worker-Substance Abuse, in her employment with the Township; and

WHEREAS the PNDA sought for DiBlasi-Domalewski to be removed from her employment effective February 8, 2017; and

WHEREAS DiBlasi-Domalewski did not request a hearing in connection with the PNDA; and

WHEREAS on or about February 13, 2017 the Township served DiBlasi-Domalewski with a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action ("FNDA"), removing DiBlasi-Domalewski from her employment effective February 9, 2017;

WHEREAS DiBlasi-Domalewski disputes and denies the charges as specified in the PNDA and FNDA; and

WHEREAS DiBlasi-Domalewski appealed her removal to the Civil Service Commission, which transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law ("OAL"), where the matter was assigned to the Honorable Judge Carl V. Buck III, A.L.J., and captioned, IMO HEATHER DIBLASI-DOMALEWSKI, TWP. OF MIDDLETOWN, DEPT. OF HEALTH WELFARE AND INSPECTIONS; OAL DOCKET NO.: CSV-03373-17; and

WHEREAS Judge Buck held a telephone conference with the parties, with said telephone conference conducted on April 24, 2017 and wherein the parties indicated they sought an amicable resolution to the matter; and

WHEREAS Township conveyed an offer to DiBlasi-Domalewski in which the Township would agree to granting DiBlasi-Domalewski a resignation not in good standing; and

WHEREAS Judge Buck conducted a second telephone conference call on May 22, 2017, wherein DiBlasi-Domalewski accepted the Township's offer to accept a resignation not in good standing and to enter into this Agreement; and

WHEREAS Judge Buck conducted additional telephone conferences to attempt to resolve the outstanding issues;

THE PARTIES THEREFORE AGREE:

(1) DiBlasi-Domalewski shall withdraw her appeal and agree not to pursue any further appeal of the disciplinary action brought against her; and

(2) Upon receipt of the executed Agreement from DiBlasi-Domalewski and following the expiration of DiBlasi-Domalewski's revocation period as described in paragraph 12 of this Agreement, the Township shall withdraw the February 13, 2017 FNDA and file an amended FNDA indicating that DiBlasi-Domalewski resigned not in good standing, effective February 9, 2017.

(3) The Township shall issue a check in the amount of three hundred dollars ($300.00), in full and complete settlement of all claims DiBlasi-Domalewski may have against the Township related to her employment with the Township, including but not limited to her reimbursement for filing cabinets.

3. Release

a. In consideration of the mutual promises and other consideration set forth in the Agreement, DiBlasi-Domalewski waives, releases and gives up any and all claims and rights arising out of DiBlasi-Domalewski's employment relationship with the Township from the commencement of her employment with the Township on June 26, 2015, through the date of execution of this Agreement, which she may have against the Township or its parent and any of its subsidiaries, affiliated companies, benefit plans or their respective predecessors, successors and assigns, as well as their respective past or present committee members, officers, directors agents, representatives or employees (hereinafter referred to as "Releasees") from any and all manner of action and actions, cause and causes of action, suits, claims, grievances, debts, sums of money, wages, compensation, bills, claims for attorneys' fees, interest, expenses and costs, controversies, agreements, promises, variances, trespasses, damages, judgments, executions, claims and demands of any nature whatsoever known and unknown, suspected or unsuspected, vested or contingent, which DiBlasi-Domalewski ever had or now has against the Releasees arising out of DiBlasi-Domalewski's employment relationship with the Township which were asserted or could have been asserted by DiBlasi-Domalewski under any state or federal statute, Township ordinance, constitution, contract or the common law, including without limitation the following:

i. Any claims of retaliation or harassment based upon any alleged acts of whistle blowing and any claims of retaliation under the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act ("CEPA");

ii. Any claims of discrimination or harassment based upon race, creed, color, national origin, ancestry, age, marital status, civil union status, domestic partnership status, affectional or sexual orientation, genetic information, sex, gender identity or expression, medical condition, disability or atypical hereditary cellular or blood trait, or genetic information and any claims of retaliation under the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination;

iii. Any claims for violation of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act; the Civil Rights Act of 1991; the Americans with Disabilities Act; Sections 1981 through 1988 of Title 42 of the United States Code;

iv. Any claims alleging violations of the First Amendment of the United States Constitution;

v. Any claims alleging violations of the New Jersey Constitution;

vi. The National Labor Relations Act; the Employee Retirement Income Security Act; the Fair Credit Reporting Act; the Immigration Reform Control Act; the Rehabilitation Act; the Age Discrimination in Employment Act; the Occupational Safety and Health Act; the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act; the Federal Family Medical Leave Act; Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act; the Employee Polygraph Protection Act; the Ledbetter Fair Pay Act; the Federal and State Equal Pay Acts;

vii. Any and all claims pursuant to the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act ("CEPA"), N.J.S.A. 34:19-1 et seq.; New Jersey Law Against Discrimination ("LAD"), N.J.S.A. 10:5-1 et seq., New Jersey Wage and Hour Laws; New Jersey Equal Pay Act, New Jersey Laws Regarding Political Activities of Employees, Lie Detector Tests, Jury Duty, Employment Protections and Discrimination; any other federal, state or local civil rights law, whistleblower law or any other local, state or federal law, regulation or ordinance.

viii. DiBlasi-Domalewski expressly understands and acknowledges that it is possible that unknown losses or claims exist or that present losses may have been underestimated in amount or severity. DiBlasi-Domalewski expressly accepts and assumes the risk of such unknown or underestimated losses or claims and acknowledges and agrees that the benefits to be provided to her pursuant to this Settlement Agreement and General Release fully compensate her for such risks. DiBlasi-Domalewski acknowledges that none of the benefits given to her pursuant to the Settlement Agreement and General Release have been assigned or are subject to alienation (i.e. personal bankruptcy).

b. The Township waives, releases and gives up any and all claims and rights arising out of the following matters;

i. DiBlasi-Domalewski's absence from work during the period 1/26/2017 to 2/7/2017;

ii. Any claims related to the half-day of work Plaintiff worked on 1/27/2017;

iii. Any claims related to Plaintiff working two hours for an outside employer on 2/1/2017 and the Township's allegation that Plaintiff worked for an outside employer after calling in sick on 2/1/2017;

iv. Any claims arising from DiBlasi-Domalewski's telephone contact with the New Jersey Department of Labor and Workforce development on 2/7/2017;

v. Any claims arising from the Township's allegation that DiBlasi-Domalewski worked for an outside employer after her request for approval for outside employment had been denied;

vi. Any claims arising from the Township's allegation that Plaintiff falsely reported that her Township assigned vehicle would not start on December 16, 2016;

vii. Any claims arising from the Township's allegation that DiBlasi-Domalewski failed to properly administer Township and/or State purchasing requirements during calendar year 2016.

c. The Settlement Agreement and General Release contains a waiver of claims that DiBlasi-Domalewski knows about and claims that she may not know about relating to her employment with the Township up to the date of this Settlement Agreement and General Release.

d. DiBlasi-Domalewski agrees not only to release and discharge the Township from any and all claims to the extent enforceable by law and that DiBlasi-Domalewski could make on her own behalf, but also those that may have been or may be made by any other person, organization or administrative agency on DiBlasi-Domalewski's behalf regarding any acts or events occurring before the execution of the Agreement in related to DiBlasi-Domalewski's employment with the Township. DiBlasi-Domalewski waives any right to become, and promises not to become, a member of any class in a case in which a claim or claims are asserted against the Township involving any act or event occurring before the execution of the Agreement related to her employment with the Township. If any claim is brought on behalf of DiBlasi-Domalewski against the Township involving any events related to her employment with the Township occurring before the execution of the Agreement, or if DiBlasi-Domalewski is named as a member of any class in a case related to her employment with the Township, which claim or claims are asserted against the Township and that relate to events prior to the execution of the Agreement, DiBlasi-Domalewski agrees that she will immediately notify the Township, in writing, of the same to Juan C. Fernandez, Esq., O'Toole Scrivo Fernandez Weiner Van Lieu, LLC, 14 Village Park Road, Cedar Grove, New Jersey 07009. DiBlasi-Domalewski agrees that if she is compelled to testify through a valid subpoena or order of a court of competent jurisdiction in any pending or future matter filed by anyone other than DiBlasi-Domalewski (or other than any person, organization or administrative agency on behalf of DiBlasi-Domalewski) she will immediately notify the Township, in writing, of the same to Juan C. Fernandez, Esq., O'Toole Scrivo Fernandez Weiner Van Lieu, 614 Village Park Road, Cedar Grove, New Jersey 07009.

4. Covenant Not to Sue

a. DiBlasi-Domalewski hereby represents and warrants to the Township that she has not: (A) filed, caused or permitted to be filed any pending proceeding (nor has DiBlasi-Domalewski lodged a complaint with any governmental or quasi-governmental authority) against the Township other than the matter docketed, OAL Docket No.: CSV-03373-17, nor has DiBlasi-Domalewski agreed to do any of the foregoing; (B) assigned, transferred, sold, encumbered, pledged, hypothecated, mortgaged, distributed, or otherwise disposed of or conveyed to any third party any right or Claim against the Township that has been released in this Agreement; or (C) directly or indirectly assisted any third party in filing, causing or assisting to be filed, any Claim against the Township. In addition, DiBlasi-Domalewski represents and warrants that she shall not encourage or solicit or voluntarily assist or participate in any way in the filing, reporting or prosecution by herself or any third party of a proceeding or Claim against the Township.

b. The Township hereby represents and warrants to DiBlasi-Domalewski that it has not: (A) filed, caused or permitted to be filed any pending proceeding (nor has the Township lodged a complaint with any governmental or quasi-governmental authority) against DiBlasi-Domalewski, nor has the Township agreed to do any of the foregoing; (B) assigned, transferred, sold, encumbered, pledged, hypothecated, mortgaged, distributed, or otherwise disposed of or conveyed to any third party any right or Claim against DiBlsasi-Domalewski that has been released in this Agreement; or (C) directly or indirectly assisted any third party in filing, causing or assisting to be filed, any Claim against DiBlasi-Domalewski.

5. Non-Admission

DiBlasi-Domalewski recognizes that the Township denies any and all claims of retaliation, employment discrimination, harassment, or of any other wrongdoing or acceptance of liability for any alleged damages suffered by DiBlasi-Domalewski of whatever nature with regard to her employment with the Township. DiBlasi-Domalewski expressly agrees that she shall not be considered a prevailing party in this matter.

The Parties are entering into this Agreement solely because they are desirous of avoiding further expense and inconvenience, and putting to rest any matters between the Township and DiBlasi-Domalewski relating directly and/or indirectly to DiBlasi-Domalewski's employment with the Township and/or the termination employment.

6. Mutual Non-Disparagement

a. DiBlasi-Domalewski agrees that she will not disparage or encourage or induce others to disparage the Township in any way. For purposes of this Agreement, the term "disparage" includes without limitation, comments or statements to the press and/or media, and/or to any individual, customer, client or entity with whom the Township or DiBlasi-Domalewski have a business, employment or professional relationship, if such statement would adversely affect in any manner the conduct of business of the Township or the reputation of the Township, its officers, employees and/or former employees, as applicable. Nothing in this paragraph is intended to prohibit or restrict DiBlasi-Domalewski from providing truthful information to any government, regulatory or self-regulatory agency or pursuant to a valid subpoena issued by a court of competent jurisdiction.

b. The Township agrees that it will not disparage or encourage or induce others to disparage DiBlasi-Domalewski in any way. For purposes of this Agreement, the term "disparage" includes without limitation, comments or statements to the press and/or media, and/or to any individual, customer, client or entity with whom the Township or DiBlasi-Domalewski have a business, employment or professional relationship, if such statement would adversely affect in any manner DiBlasi-Domalewski's employment, employability, or her reputation. Nothing in this paragraph is intended to prohibit or restrict the Township from providing truthful information to any government, regulatory or self-regulatory agency or pursuant to a valid subpoena issued by a court of competent jurisdiction.

7. References

Any inquiries from third parties regarding DiBlasi-Domalewski's employment with the Township will be directed to the appropriate person within the Township responsible for Human Resources. In response to any such inquiry, the Township will provide only a neutral reference to include DiBlasi-Domalewski's dates of employment, position(s) held, and whether or not she is eligible for re-employment.

8. Employment Rights

DiBlasi-Domalewski hereby waives any and all rights to employment with the Township and specifically promises not to knowingly apply for employment or re-employment with the Township or any parent, subsidiary, affiliate or successor of the Township (hereinafter "Related Entities"). DiBlasi-Domalewski agrees that Township and Related Entities have no obligation, contractual or otherwise, to employ or re-employ her, now or in the future, either directly or indirectly, on a full-time, part-time or temporary basis, including but not limited to utilizing DiBlasi-Domalewski's services as a temporary employee, worker or contractor through any temporary service providers, vendors or agencies. DiBlasi-Domalewski agrees that any attempt to obtain employment with Township or any Related Entities will constitute a breach of this Agreement, and that Township or any Related Entities may rely upon the breach in refusing to employ, re-employ or contract with DiBlasi-Domalewski, or in discharging her from employment

9. Entire Agreement

The Settlement Agreement, Mutual Non-Disparagement Agreement and General Releases contain the entire agreement between the parties. This document completely and fully supersedes and replaces any and all prior contracts, agreements, discussions, representations, negotiations, understandings and any other communications between the parties pertaining to the subject matter hereof. DiBlasi-Domalewski represents and acknowledges in executing the Agreement that she has not relied upon any representation or statement not set forth in the Agreement made by the Township or their counsel or representatives with regard to the subject matter of the Agreement. No other promises or agreements shall be binding unless in writing, signed by the parties hereto, and expressly stated to represent an amendment to the Agreement.

10. Successors and Assigns

The Agreement is binding on, and is made for the benefit of, the parties and all who succeed to their rights and responsibilities, such as any successors and/or assigns.

11. Confidentiality/Non-disclosure

The Parties, while acknowledging that this Agreement is a public document, agree that they will not discuss or disclose the facts and terms of this Agreement, except as provided for herein and as provided for by law. The Parties agree not to disclose this document, its contents or subject matter to any person other than their attorneys, accountants or income tax preparers and, where applicable to healthcare providers. This provision shall not prohibit either party from providing information regarding this matter to any person or regulatory body in response to a lawful request for information or government record, or prohibit either party from disclosing such information to the extent required by law.

12. Full Knowledge of Terms and Review Period

The Township advises DiBlasi-Domalewski to consult with an attorney of her choice and her expense prior to executing this Agreement. DiBlasi-Domalewski hereby represents and warrants that, prior to executing this Agreement, she has fully discussed its meaning and effect with an attorney of her choosing, or that she has waived her right to consult with an attorney, and she fully understands its meaning and effect. DiBlasi-Domalewski has twenty-one (21) days from the date it is provided to her to consider it before signing it.

DiBlasi-Domalewski represents and warrants that her attorney has explained to her, and/or she fully comprehends the meaning of each of the provisions of this Agreement and that she has entered into this Agreement voluntarily. DiBlasi-Domalewski's signature also acknowledges that (1) the Township advised her to consult with an attorney before signing this Agreement; (2) she has up to twenty-one (21) days from the date she receives this Agreement to consider it before signing it; and (3) if DiBlasi-Domalewski signs this Agreement less than twenty-one (21) days after receiving it, she does so knowingly and voluntarily, and waives any right she might have under the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, as amended, to the full twenty-one (21) days to consider this Agreement.

DiBlasi-Domalewski has seven (7) days after signing this Agreement in which to revoke her acceptance by delivering written notice revoking her acceptance to Juan C. Fernandez, Esq., O'Toole Scrivo Fernandez Weiner Van Lieu, 14 Village Park Road, Cedar Grove, New Jersey 07009. Accordingly, this Agreement shall not become effective or enforceable until the expiration of the seven (7) day revocation period. If DiBlasi-Domalewski does not revoke this Agreement during the seven (7) day revocation period, it shall be deemed accepted. DiBlasi-Domalewski agrees that she made an informed and voluntary decision to sign this Agreement on the date she has done so, because she did not need any additional time to decide whether to sign this Agreement.

13. Severability

The parties agree that if any court declares any portion of the Agreement unenforceable, the remaining portions shall be fully enforceable. To the extent permitted and possible, the invalid term shall be deemed replaced by a term that is valid and enforceable and that comes closest to expressing the intention of such unenforceable term.

14. Counterparts and Applicable Law

The Agreement may be executed in counterparts and shall be construed and interpreted in accordance with the laws of the State of New Jersey. The parties agree that any action to enforce or interpret the Agreement shall only be brought in a court of competent jurisdiction of the State of New Jersey.

15. Enforcement

Parties agree that if it is proven in a court of competent jurisdiction by clear and convincing evidence that a party to this Agreement has willfully breached the Agreement, that party will pay any attorneys' fees and costs expended in enforcing the Agreement. This is a material, bargained for provision of the Agreement.

YOU HAVE BEEN ADVISED TO CONSULT WITH AN ATTORNEY PRIOR TO SIGNING THE SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE. BY SIGNING THE SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE YOU GIVE UP AND WAIVE IMPORTANT LEGAL RIGHTS.

BY SIGNING THE AGREEMENT, the Parties state that they have carefully read the Agreement, fully understand it and are signing it voluntarily.

THEREFORE, the Parties to this Settlement Agreement, Mutual Non-Disparagement Agreement, and General Release now voluntarily, freely and knowingly execute the Agreement.

Re: Oswald Robetto v. City of Newark Fire Department (CSC Docket No. 2014-1089; OAL Docket No. CSV 16483-13)

Dear Mr. Gumpel and Me. Holmes:

The appeal of Oswald Robetto, a Fire Fighter with the City of Newark Fire Department, of his $4,005.86 fine on charges, was before Administrative Law Judge Richard McGill (ALJ), who rendered his initial decision on December 11, 2017, recommending upholding the imposition of the fine. No exceptions were filed on behalf of the parties.

The time frame for the Commission to make its final decision was to initially expire on January 26, 2018. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. Prior to that time the Commission secured a 45-day extension of time until March 12, 2018 to render its final decision. However, since the next scheduled meeting is March 21, 2018, it requested consent of the parties, as required, for an additional 45-day extension to render its final decision no later than April 26, 2018. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. However, the appointing authority did not provide consent for a further extension. Under these circumstances, the ALJ's recommended decision will be deemed adopted as the final decision in this matter per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c), effective March 13, 2018.

Sincerely,

Nicholas F. Angiulo

INITIAL DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. CSV 16438-13
AGENCY REF. NO. 2014-1089

IN THE MATTER OF OSWALD ROBETTO, CITY OF NEWARK FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Craig S. Gumpel, Esq., for appellant

Kimberly K. Holmes, Assistant Corporation Counsel, for respondent (Kenyatta Stewart, Acting Corporation Counsel, attorney)

Record Closed: October 30, 2017 Decided: December 11, 2017

BEFORE RICHARD McGILL, ALJ:

Oswald Robetto ("appellant") appeals from a fine of $4,005.86 imposed by the City of Newark Fire Department ("respondent") in regard to his work as a firefighter. The charges against appellant are as follows: (1) incompetency, inefficiency or failure to perform duties; (2) neglect of duty; and (3) other sufficient cause, referring to violations of respondent's Rules and Regulations and General Orders. The specification states that appellant failed to properly secure and maintain a portable radio assigned to him with the result that it was unaccounted for.

Appellant denies the charges and seeks dismissal thereof. Alternatively, appellant seeks relief from the fine, which he maintains is excessive and otherwise unwarranted.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Respondent notified appellant of the charges by Notice of Minor Disciplinary Action dated October 1, 2013. Appellant requested a hearing by letter dated October 25, 2013, and the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on November 14, 2013, for determination as a contested case. The hearing was conducted on September 22, 2014, and April 13, 2017, at the Office of Administrative Law in Newark, New Jersey. The record closed on October 30, 2017, upon receipt of appellant's brief.

ISSUES

The issues in this proceeding are whether the charges should be sustained and, if so, whether the disciplinary action imposed by respondent is warranted.

FACTS

There is no real dispute as to the facts in this matter, and I FIND as follows. Appellant was employed by respondent as a firefighter. As of August 28, 2013, appellant was an aide to a deputy chief. Appellant's duties included driving an SUV for a deputy chief.

Respondent had a program going back to the 1970's designed to provide firefighters with radios. Older radios cost respondent $1,500 each. Article 40 of respondent's Rules and Regulations provides that a member shall not handle Department property, apparatus, equipment or supplies in a careless, reckless or wasteful manner. At least five firefighters were disciplined for lost, misplaced or unaccounted for radios. These firefighters were fined $500 each as an estimate of the appropriate restitution for the radios based upon the original cost and the age of the radios from five to ten years.

In or about August 2013, respondent issued new digital radios to firefighters. The cost of the type of radio assigned to appellant was $4,352. When the radios were issued, firefighters were sent a reminder as to the policy with respect to safekeeping of Department equipment.

Appellant would typically be assigned to a twenty-four-hour shift from 8:00 a.m. on one day to 8:00 a.m. the following day. At the beginning of his shift, appellant would check his equipment including the digital radio, which was assigned to the deputy chief's aide. Other firefighters had to sign for a radio at the beginning of their shifts, but the practice with the deputy chief's aides was different in that there was no set procedure for the transfer. The radio could be placed in one of three chargers. Two charges were in the firehouse, and one was in the SUV. Alternatively, the aide on one shift could simply hand the radio to the aide on the next shift. In practice, appellant left the radio in the cupholder in the SUV.

On August 28, 2013, appellant was assigned to a firehouse on Springfield Avenue in Newark. This location was in a high crime area, and property had been stolen from the firehouse and from employee's personal vehicles. In August, the garage door would typically be open, and the doors to the SUV were left unlocked.

On August 28, 2013, appellant responded to several alarms with the last one at 5:00 p.m. There were no alarms through the remainder of appellant's shift. Appellant last saw the deputy chief aide's radio, when he left it in the cupholder in the SUV at approximately 5:00 p.m. Appellant's shift ended the following morning, and he went home.

The deputy chief's aide for the shift beginning at 8:00 a.m. on August 29, 2013, was unable to locate the radio. Appellant received a telephone call at home advising him of the situation, and he returned to the firehouse. Appellant searched for the radio, but he was unable to locate it.

Because the radio was unaccounted for, respondent fined appellant $4,005.86. This amount represented restitution for the cost of the radio less an allowance for the use of the radio for approximately one month.

LAW AND ANALYSIS

An appointing authority may discipline an employee for various causes including incompetency, inefficiency or failure to perform duties; neglect of duty; and other sufficient cause. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a). The appointing authority's action is subject to review by the Civil Service Commission, which after a de novo hearing makes an independent determination as to both the charge and the penalty. West New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500, 519 (1962). In an appeal concerning a major disciplinary action, the burden of proof is on the appointing authority. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-1.4(a). The appointing authority must prove its case by a fair preponderance of the believable evidence. In re Polk License Revocation, 90 N.J. 550, 560 (1982); In re Darcy, 114 N.J. Super. 454, 458 (App. Div. 1971).

The first charge against appellant is incompetency, inefficiency or failure to perform duties. To the same effect, Article 59 of respondent's Rules and Regulations provides that a member whose performance is demonstrably inadequate or unsuitable and fails to meet, obtain or produce the effects or results mandated shall be in violation of the Department Rules and Regulations.

The second charge against appellant is neglect of duty. Two of respondent's Rules and Regulations are to similar effect. Article 40 provides that a member shall not handle Department property, apparatus, equipment or any supplies in a careless, reckless or wasteful manner. Article 58 provides that a member shall not commit any act or omission that constitutes neglect of duty.

Here, appellant was responsible for the deputy chief's aide's radio during his shift from 8:00 a.m. on August 28, 2013, to 8:00 a.m. on August 29, 2013. Appellant left the radio in a cupholder in an SUV at approximately 5:00 p.m. on August 28, 2013. The SUV was parked in the garage of the firehouse. The garage door was open, and the doors to the SUV were left unlocked. The firehouse was located in a high crime area, and the risk of theft of the radio is apparent. The fact that it was standard practice to leave the radio in the cupholder of the SUV does not make the risk any less obvious or provide an excuse. Appellant took an undue risk by leaving the radio in the cupholder of the SUV. Under the circumstances, appellant neglected and failed to perform his duty by failing to secure the radio in question. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the following charges must be sustained: (1) failure to perform duties; (2) neglect of duty; and (3) other sufficient cause in the form of violations of Articles 40, 58 and 59 of respondent's Rules and Regulations.

Disciplinary Action

An appointing authority may impose a fine as a form of restitution. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.4(c)1. Here, the fine of $4,005.86 represents a reasonable amount of restitution for a radio that had an original cost of $4,352 and was in service for approximately one month. Appellant's reliance on the $500 fines imposed previously is misplaced in that the cost of those radios was only $1,500 and they had been in service for much longer periods of time. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that a fine of $4,005.86 is a reasonable disciplinary action under the circumstances of this case.

Accordingly, it is ORDERED that:

1. All charges in this matter be sustained.
2. The disciplinary action is a fine of $4,005.86

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, DIVISION OF APPEALS AND REGULATORY AFFAIRS, UNIT H, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, 44 South Clinton Avenue, PO Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Re: Vince Saputo v. Voorhees Township Police Department (CSC Docket No. 2018-431 and OAL Docket No. CSR 11777-17)

Dear Mr. Quinlan and Mr. Riso:

The appeal of Vince Saputo, a Police Officer with Voorhees Township, of his removal on charges, was before Administrative Law Judge Sarah G. Crowley (ALJ), who rendered her initial decision on December 11, 2017, recommending upholding the removal. Exceptions were filed on behalf of the appellant and a reply to exceptions was filed on behalf of the appointing authority.

The time frame for the Commission to make its final decision was to initially expire on January 25, 2018. See N.J.S.A. 40A:14-204 and N.J.A.C. 1:4B-1.1(d). Prior to that time the Commission secured one 15-day extension of time, and since if does not currently have a quorum, requested consent of the parties, as required, for an additional 15-day extension to render its final decision no later than February 24, 2018. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. However, the appointing authority did not provide consent for a further extension. Under these circumstances, the ALJ's recommended decision will be deemed adopted as the final decision in this matter per N.J.S.A. 40A:14-204, effective February 25, 2018.

OAL DKT. NO. CSR 11777-17
AGENCY DKT. NO. N/A

IN THE MATTER OF VINCE SAPUTO, VOORHEES TOWNSHIP POLICE DEPARTMENT.

Timothy J.P. Quinlan, Esq., for appellant (Quinlan & Nigro, LLC, attorneys)

Eric J. Riso, Esq., for respondent (Platt and Riso, attorneys)

Record Closed: October 30, 2017 Decided: December 11, 2017

BEFORE SARAH G. CROWLEY, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Appellant, Vince Saputo, is a police officer for the Voorhees Township Police Department (Voorhees). On August 4, 2017, after waiving a preliminary hearing, Officer Saputo was served with a final notice of disciplinary action terminating him effective August 5, 2017. He was charged with incompetency, inefficiency for failure to perform duties, insubordination, neglect of duty, and other sufficient cause. He was also charged with violating several department rules. He appealed and on August 8, 2017, the matter was transmitted the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case. N.J.S.A.

52:14B-1 to -15 and 14F-1 to -13. The matter was heard on October 16, 2017, and the record closed after submissions by the parties on parties October 30, 2017.

SUMMARY

Appellant has been employed by Voorhees for approximately seven years. He was on duty the evening on January 5, 2017, when he conducted a pedestrian stop on Evesham Avenue at approximately 2:00 a.m. Appellant conducted a pedestrian stop of an African American woman walking on Evesham Avenue. The purported reason for the stop was due to the time of day. He states that there had been some recent motor vehicle burglaries in the area. The women inquired as to why she was being stopped to which Saputo advised that he wanted to know what she was doing walking down the street at that hour. After she declined to provide identification, he advised her that he would arrest her for obstruction if she did not provide identification. Saputo ultimately cuffed and arrested the women and took her down to the station. She fell and was injured while he was cuffing her. Saputo is also recorded on the video at the station calling the victim a "fucking bitch." Saputo concedes that he had no probable cause to stop or arrest this woman. These facts are also corroborated by the video of the stop and at the station. The foregoing facts are undisputed.

TESTIMONY

For appellant:

Vince Saputo concedes that he did not have probable cause to stop, detain or arrest the women on the night in question. He indicated that there had been some car burglaries in the area, and that she looked suspicious. The video of the stop does not demonstrate any suspicious activity or that the victim was in distress. Saputo does not indicate how she looked suspicious, except that she was wearing dark clothes and was walking in the area where there are not normally people walking at that hour of the night. He acknowledged that he had no probable cause and that he was wrong to stop, interrogate and ultimately arrest her. Saputo attempts to rationalize the stope under the guise of community caretaking. However, the video recording does not indicate and care or concern with the victim, nor did she appear to be in distress. Saputo also conceded his comment to her at the station was inappropriate. He denied that he ever drove by her house or attempted to intimidate her after the incident.

The foregoing facts are undisputed and I FIND them as FACT.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

The Civil Service employee's rights and duties are governed by the Civil Service Act, N.J.S.A. 11A:1-1 to 12.6. The Act is an important inducement to attract qualified personnel to public service and is to be liberally construed toward attainment of merit appointment and broad tenure protection. See Essex Council Number 1, N.J. Civil Serv. Ass'n v. Gibson, 114 N.J. Super. 576 (Law Div. 1971), rev'd on other grounds, 118 N.J. Super. 583 (App. Div. 1971); Mastrobattista v. Essex County Park Commission, 46 N.J. 138, 147 (1965). The Act also recognizes that the public policy of this State is to provide public officials with appropriate appointment, supervisory and other personnel authority in order that they may execute properly their constitutional and statutory responsibilities. N.J.S.A. 11A:1-2(b). A public employee who is thus protected by the provision of the Civil Service Act may nonetheless be subject to major discipline for a wide variety of offenses connected to his or her employment. The general causes for such discipline are enumerated in N.J.A.C. 4a:2-2.3. The standard of behavior for police and correction officers is set higher than that of other civil service employees, meaning that infractions will lead to major discipline of officers than otherwise may not have warranted severer discipline for some other position. See Moorestown Township v. Armstrong, 89 N.J. 560, 566 (App. Div. 1965).

This matter involves a major disciplinary action brought by the respondent appointing authority against appellant seeking his removal. Specifically, appellant was charged with violation of N.J.S.A. 4A:2-2.3 General Causes, (a) 1 Incompetency, inefficiency or failure to perform duties, Insubordination, Neglect of Duty and Other Sufficient cause. Appellant is also charged with violating Voorhees Township Police Department Rules: Rule 8: Failure to comply with chief orders, directives, regulation; Rule 31: Neglect of Duty; Rule 36: Using rude or insulting language or conduct offensive to the public; Rule 40: Conduct subversive of good order and discipline of the Department; and Rule 45: Failure to conduct proper, thorough and complete investigations.

Saputo has argued that there was a community caretaking reason for stopping this woman and that the issue of probable cause is not always clear. However, no factual argument was made as to how a woman just walking down the street at night could constitute probable cause, unless there was a suspect fitting that description. Moreover, Saputo has conceded that he had no probable cause to stop and/or arrest this woman. With respect to the community caretaking defense, Saputo never once asked her if she was alright or expressed any concern for her safety. The video of the entire incident was viewed by the undersigned. In addition to the lack of probable cause to stop, detain and arrest this woman, Saputo proceeded to call the women a "fucking bitch" down at the station when she was being processed. The foregoing facts are undisputed and were captioned on the body camera as well as the processing videos which were produced and viewed on the undersigned.

Based upon the testimony and findings, I CONCLUDE that the respondent has satisfied its burden of proving that appellant engaged in incompetency, inefficiency, neglect of duty and other sufficient cause under the Civil Services Rules by stopping, interrogating and arresting someone without probable cause and without a proper investigation. I also CONCLUDE that respondent has satisfied its burden of proving that appellant violated several department rules by this same conduct. I further CONCLUDE that Voorhees did not demonstrate by a preponderance of the credible evidence that the appellant drove by the victim's home and pointed at her house.

The issue then becomes, not whether the charges have been sustained, as appellant has acknowledged his conduct was improper but rather, the level of discipline to be imposed. Voorhees urges removal and the appellant urges that some level of discipline less than removal is appropriate.

PENALTY

Once a determination is made that an employee has violated a statute, regulation or rule concerning his employment, the concept of progressive discipline must be considered. When dealing with the question of penalty in a de novo review of a disciplinary action against a civil service employee, the Merit System Board (i.e. now the Civil Service Commission) is required to evaluate the proofs and penalty on appeal, based on the charges. N.J.S.A. 11A:2-19; West New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500 (1962). With respect to the discipline, under the precedent established by Town of West New York v. Bock, supra, courts have stated, "[a]lthough we recognize that a tribunal may not consider an employee's past record to prove a present charge, West New York v. Bock, Id. at 523, that past record may be considered when determining the appropriate penalty for the current offense." In re Phillips, 117 N.J. 567, 581 (1990). Ultimately, however, "it is the appraisal of the seriousness of the offense which lies at the heart of the matter." Bowden v. Bayside State Prison, 268 N.J. Super. 301, 305 (App. Div. 1993), certif. denied, 135 N.J. 469 (1994).

"[W]here the underlying conduct is of an egregious nature," an individual may be removed regardless of disciplinary history. In re Glenn, CSV 5051-03, Initial Decision (February 25, 2005), adopted as modified, Merit Sys. Bd. (May 23, 2005), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>; see Henry, supra, 81 N.J. 571. Counseling, warnings, meetings, etc., do not constitute discipline under Civil Service rules. See N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.2; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-3.1. The appellant has prior charges of Neglect of Duty and failure to comply with Chief's orders. The respondent urges removal due to egregious nature of the current charges. The petitioner seeks something less than removal.

I CONCLUDE that the penalty of removal was appropriate for the egregious conduct of the appellant in stopping this women for no apparent reason. Moreover, he proceeded to arrest her even after she pointed out that there was no probable cause. I further CONCLUDE that there are several aggravating factors as well. One factor is that appellant continued to try to justify detaining and arresting someone for merely walking down the street at night throughout the hearing. Petition has also asserted a community caretaking concern, but never once asked if the women was in distress or needed assistance. Finally, I FIND that the conduct and language used toward the victim after her unlawful arrest was also an aggravating factor.

ORDER

The charges of incompetency, inefficiency, insubordination, neglect of duty and violations of the Voorhees rules have been sustained. I therefore, ORDER the action taken by the Voorhees in removing appellant from his position as a Voorhees Township Police Officer is AFFIRMED.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 40A:14-204.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, DIVISION OF APPEALS AND REGULATORY AFFAIRS, UNIT H, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, 44 South Clinton Avenue, PO Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." Re: Peter Zampella v. Hudson County (CSC Docket No. 2017-3368; OAL Docket No. CSV 6846-17) – SETTLEMENT

Dear Mr. Brannigan and Mr. Auteri:

The appeals of Peter Zampella, a Senior Maintenance Repairer with the Hudson County Department of Roads and Public Property, of his removal effective February 14, 2017, was before Administrative Law Judge Julio C. Morejon (ALJ), who returned the matter to the Civil Service Commission (Commission) on December 11, 2017 indicating that the parties had reached a settlement.

The time frame for the Commission to make its final decision was to initially expire on January 28, 2018. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. Prior to that date, the Commission secured a 45-day extension of time to render its final decision no later than March 14, 2018. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. While this matter is now ready for presentation to the Commission, its next scheduled meeting is March 21, 2018. In this regard, the Commission has determined that, since the settlement complies with Civil Service law and rules, it finds no reason to delay the final disposition of this matter further. Thus, it will not request consent from the parties, as required, for an additional extension of time. Under these circumstances, the ALJ's recommended decision will be deemed adopted, effective March 15, 2018, as the final decision in this matter per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c).

Sincerely,

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND RELEASE

This Settlement Agreement and Release (hereinafter referred to as the "Agreement") is entered into this 27 day of November, 2017 between the County of Hudson (hereinafter referred to as the "County") and Peter Zampella (hereinafter referred to as "Zampella" or the "Employee").

WHEREAS, the Employee was employed with the County as a Senior Maintenance Repairer; and

WHEREAS, the County instituted a disciplinary action against Zampella in a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action dated August 29, 2016, (hereinafter referred to as the "Disciplinary Action"), charging the following violations: conduct unbecoming a public employee; neglect of duty; insubordination; and other sufficient cause; and

WHEREAS, the Employee requested a departmental hearing on the Disciplinary Action which occurred on September 7, 2016 and October 7, 2016; and

WHEREAS, the charges of conduct unbecoming a public employee; neglect of duty; insubordination; and other sufficient cause were sustained by the Hearing Officer at the conclusion of the departmental hearing; and

WHEREAS, the Hearing Officer set forth a penalty of removal, effective February 14, 2017; and

WHEREAS, a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action dated October 18, 2016 was issued to the Employee following the outcome of the departmental hearing; and

WHEREAS, Zampella filed an appeal of the Hearing Officer's determination to the Office of Administrative Law, Docket No. CSV 06846-17; and

WHEREAS, the County and Zampella desire to resolve all outstanding issues with respect to the Disciplinary Action and the appeal filed in the Office of Administrative Law;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration for the promises and conditions set forth herein, the County and Zampella agree as follows:

1. DISCIPLINARY ACTION

   a. Zampella agrees to a general resignation from his employment with the County, effective February 14, 2017, which the County agrees to accept.

   b. In exchange for his general resignation, the County agrees not to further pursue a termination of Zampella based upon the Disciplinary Action.

   c. Zampella agrees to waive any and all claims to back pay, benefits, and any and all other monetary claims including, but not limited to, attorney's fees with respect to the Disciplinary Action.

   d. Zampella agrees never to seek and/or accept future employment with the County or any of its independent, but related agencies.

2. COMPLETE RELEASE

   In further consideration of the settlement herein above, the Employee, his heirs, assigns and agents (hereinafter referred to collectively as "Releasor") voluntarily enter into this Agreement, and certify that Releasor has not been threatened or coerced into signing this Agreement, on the terms which follow:

   a. Releasor hereby releases, waives and discharges the County, its affiliated departments, and its officers, trustees, agents, employees, successors and assigns (hereinafter collectively referred to as the "Releasees") from each and every claim, demand, cause of action, obligation, damage, complaint, or action or writ of any kind, nature, character or description that Releasor had, now has, or may in the future have against the Releasees on account of or arising out of the Disciplinary Action. This Complete Release includes, but is not limited to, any claim, demand, cause of action, obligation, claim for damages of any kind, complaint, expense, compensation, or action or writ of any kind, nature, character or description arising out of or under Federal, State or municipal statute or ordinance and any other law (whether such be common law, decisional law or statutory law), rule, regulation, executive order or guideline, and any and all claims for attorney's fees and costs arising from the above acts including, but not limited to:

i. Any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of or under the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination (NJLAD) which, among other things, prohibits discrimination in employment on the basis of an individual's race, creed, color, religion, sex, national origin, ancestry, age, marital status, affectional or sexual orientation, familial status, handicap, atypical hereditary cellular or blood trait or liability for service in the Armed Forces of the United States.

ii. Any federal claim, cause of action demand or complaint arising out of or under the Federal Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (Title VII) or the Civil Rights Act of 1991, as amended, which, among other things, prohibit discrimination in employment on account of a person's race, color, religion, sex or national origin.

iii. Any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of or under the Federal Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967, as amended (ADEA), which among other things, prohibits discrimination in employment on account of a person's age.

iv. Any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of or under the Federal Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), which, among other things, prohibits discrimination in employment on account of a person's disability or handicap.

v. Any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of or under the Federal Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) which, among other things, entitles an employee to take reasonable leave for medical reasons for the birth or adoption of a child, and for the care of a child, spouse or parent who has a serious health condition and any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of or under the New Jersey Family Leave Act (NJFLA).

vi. Any claim, cause of action demand or complaint arising out of or under the Federal Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended, which among other things, prohibits discrimination in employment by Federal contractors against individuals with disabilities.

vii. Any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of or under the Federal Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended (ERISA), which among other things, regulates pension and welfare plans and prohibits interference with individual rights protected under that statute.

viii. Any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of or under the Federal Older Workers Benefit Protection Act (OWBPA) which, among other things, amends provisions of ADEA and prohibits discrimination in employment and employment benefits on account of a person's age.

ix. Any claim, cause of action, demand or complaint arising out of or under the Conscientious Employee Protection Act (CEPA) which, among other things, prohibits retaliatory action by an employer against an employee who objects to practices that he/she reasonably believes are incompatible with a clear mandate of law or public policy concerning public health, safety or welfare.

The aforesaid list shall not be deemed exhaustive but by way of example and the recitation of a release of all claims as set forth in 2a. shall not be diminished thereby.

b. Releasor has not and shall not hereafter seek money damages against the County or the Releasees in any matter lodged within the New Jersey Division on Civil Rights, the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) or with any Federal, State or local court or agency which has been settled herein. Nothing herein shall be construed as limiting any individual's right to file a charge of discrimination should s/he feel that s/he was a victim of unlawful discrimination.

c. If Releasor violates this Complete Release by filing any claim, charge or complaint as prohibited above, Releasor agrees to pay all costs and expenses of defending against the suit incurred by County and/or the Releasees, including reasonable attorney's fees.

3. NON ADMISSION OF LIABILITY.

This Agreement is executed and all consideration is given in final settlement of disputed claims, and shall not be construed as an admission of any allegation or of liability by the County, by whom any such obligation or liability is expressly denied.

4. CONSULTATION WITH ATTORNEY.

Employee has consulted with an attorney and/or Union Representative with respect to this Agreement and to review with his Union Representative and/or attorney all of the terms and conditions of this Agreement prior to executing this Agreement.

5. REASONABLE PERIOD OF TIME.

Employee agrees that he has been given a reasonable period of time of at least twenty-one (21) days within which to review and consider this Agreement prior to executing this Agreement, but that Employee may waive this twenty-one (21) day period by signing in the space provided at the end of this Agreement.

6. COMPLETE AGREEMENT.

This Agreement contains the entire agreement between the Employee and the County, and each of them, with respect to the subject matter and supersedes all prior agreements or understandings dealing with the same subject matter. There is no agreement on the part of the County to do anything other than as is expressly stated in this Agreement. This Agreement shall in all respects be interpreted, enforced and governed by the Laws of the State of New Jersey.

7. MODIFICATION.

No modification or amendment of this Agreement will be enforceable unless it is in writing and signed by the party to be charged.

8. SEVERABILITY.

Should any provision of this Agreement be declared or determined by any court of competent jurisdiction to be illegal, invalid or unenforceable, the legality, validity, and enforceability of the remaining parts, terms, or provisions shall not be affected thereby.

9. EMPLOYEE ATTESTS

Employee represents and warrants that he has carefully read each and every provision of this Agreement and that he fully understands all of the terms and conditions contained in each provision of this Agreement. Re: Loretta Ogle v. Department of Human Services (CSC Docket No. 2018-1030 and OAL Docket No. CSV 15803 -17) - SETTLEMENT

Dear Mr. Little and Director Pinkas:

The appeal of Loretta Ogle, a Human Services Assistant with Ancora Psychiatric Hospital, Department of Human Services, of her 30 working day suspension, was before Administrative Law Judge Lisa James-Beavers (ALJ), who returned the matter to the Civil Service Commission (Commission) on December 12, 2017 indicating that the parties had reached a settlement.

The time frame for the Commission to make its final decision was to initially expire on January 29, 2018. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. Prior to that date, the Commission secured a 45-day extension of time to render its final decision no later than March 15, 2018. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. While this matter is now ready for presentation to the Commission, its next scheduled meeting is March 21, 2018. In this regard, the Commission has determined that, since the settlement complies with Civil Service law and rules, it finds no reason to delay the final disposition of this matter further. Thus, it will not request consent from the parties, as required, for an additional extension of time. Under these circumstances, the ALJ's recommended decision will be deemed adopted, effective March 16, 2018, as the final decision in this matter per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c).

Sincerely,

Record Closed: November 30, 2017 Decided: December 12, 2017

BEFORE LISA JAMES-BEAVERS, ALJ:

This matter concerns the appeal of Loretta Ogle from the action of the respondent/ appointing authority. Upon receipt of the appellant's hearing request, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for determination as a contested case on October 24, 2017, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

As a result of a settlement conference, the parties agreed to a settlement of all issues in dispute and have prepared a settlement agreement, which is attached and fully incorporated herein.

I have reviewed the record and terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures on the settlement agreement.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy.

I CONCLUDE that this matter is no longer a contested case before the Office of Administrative Law. It is ORDERED that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

_____.

The parties acknowledge that under N.J.A.C. 17:1-2.18, no pension or seniority time may be credited for periods for which the employee is not paid by the employer.

D. Department of Health (Respondent) shall amend Appellant's personnel records to conform to the terms of the settlement. All internal records of the Department of Health will be kept intact. Nothing herein shall preclude the Department from releasing information on this matter to anyone who has a release executed by appellant or as consistent with the law. Any information regarding the underlying charges will be provided to the Public Employees Retirement System pursuant to N.J.S.A. 43:1-3.3 as amended effective April 14, 2007.

E. Appellant waives all other claims against Respondent Department with regard to this matter, including any award of back pay, counsel fees or other monetary relief, except as may otherwise be provided herein.

F. Except for the assessment of Loretta Ogle 's disciplinary record in any subsequent personnel disciplinary hearing, nothing in this agreement shall be deemed to be an admission of liability on behalf of either party. This agreement shall not constitute a precedent in matters involving other employees.

G. Appellant waives all claims, suits or actions, whether known, unknown, vested or contingent, civil, criminal or administrative, in law or equity against the State of New Jersey, the New Jersey Department of Health, their employees, agents, or assigns, including but not limited to those which have been or could have been made or prosecuted on account of any conduct of any party occurring at any time with respect to the events, information or disputes giving rise to this action up to the date of this agreement, including, but not limited to, all claims under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Civil Rights Act of 1991, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Family Leave Act, the Family and Medical Leave Act, the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, the Equal Pay Act, the Conscientious Employee Protection Act, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, Title 11A - the Civil Service Act, the Older Workers Benefits Protection Act, the Occupational Safety and Health Act, the Public Employee

Occupational Safety and Health Act, the New Jersey Smoking Act, New Jersey wages and hours law, public works statutes, unemployment compensation laws, disability benefits laws, the United States Constitution, the New Jersey Constitution, any workers compensation or common law claims and any contract express or implied. This waiver includes all claims involving any continuing effects of actions or practices which arose prior to the date of this Settlement Agreement and bars the use in any way of any past action or practice in any subsequent claims, except pending workers' compensation claims.

H. The parties agree that if any portion of this Settlement Agreement is deemed unenforceable, the remainder of this Settlement Agreement shall be fully enforceable.

I. In addition to recording the suspension of 35 days beginning 9/27/2017, following, an additional 21 days suspension will be recorded consecutively. These 21 days satisfy suspension time for 3 disciplines that were settled between Appellant, her representative, and Ancora at Ancora, prior to her termination but before she could be scheduled to serve. These 3 disciplines were reduced from 25 days to 12 days, involving attendance, 15 days to 7 days and 7 days to 2 days. The 21 days are to be served and the remaining 21 days are recorded as record suspension.

J. Appellant acknowledges she must report to work as scheduled which is paramount to her continued employment. Any breach will be cause for further discipline.

K. Appellant acknowledges she MUST FOllow all policies and procedures regarding emergency exists and security of the work unit and buildi

I. This agreement will become effective only if approved by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION. Any disapproval by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION shall not interfere with the rights of either party to pursue the matter further.

Re: Evan Scott v. City of Newark, Department of Neighborhood and Recreational Services (CSC Docket No. 2016-3893 and OAL Docket No. CSV 8923-16)

Dear Mr. Wenocur and Ms. Clayborne:

The appeal of Evan Scott, a Laborer 1 with the City of Newark, Department of Neighborhood and Recreational Services, of his removal effective September 11, 2015 on charges, was before Administrative Law Judge Ellen S. Bass (ALJ), who rendered her initial decision on December 12, 2017, recommending modifying the removal to a 30 working day suspension. Exceptions were filed on behalf of the appointing authority and exceptions and a reply to exceptions was filed on behalf of the appellant.

The time frame for the Civil Service Commission (Commission) to make its final decision was to initially expire on January 27, 2018. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. Prior to that time, the Commission secured one 45-day extension of time to render its final decision no later than March 13, 2018. Subsequently, it requested consent of the parties, as required, for an additional 45-day extension of time. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. However, the appellant did not provide consent for a further extension. Under these circumstances, the ALJ's recommended decision will be deemed adopted as the final decision in this matter per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c), effective March 14, 2018.

Since the appellant's removal has been modified, he is entitled to be reinstated with back pay, benefits and seniority for the period 30 working days after the onset of his separation until he is actually reinstated. The amount of back pay awarded is to be reduced and mitigated as provided for in N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.10. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.10, the parties shall make a good faith effort to resolve any dispute as to the amount of back pay. However, under no circumstances should the appellant's reinstatement be delayed based on any pending back pay dispute. Proof of income earned and an affidavit of mitigation should be submitted to the appointing authority within 30 days of said reinstatement. Additionally, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.12, as charges have been upheld and major discipline imposed, the appellant is not entitled to counsel fees.

Sincerely,

Nicholas F. Angiulo

INITIAL DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. CSV 08923-16
AGENCY DKT. NO. 2016-3893

IN THE MATTER OF EVAN SCOTT, CITY OF NEWARK, DEPARTMENT OF NEIGHBORHOOD AND RECREATIONAL SERVICES.

Samuel Wenocur, Esq., for appellant, Evan Scott (Oxfeld Cohen, attorneys)

Joyce Clayborne, Esq., for respondent, City of Newark (Newark Corporation Counsel, attorneys)

Record Closed: November 14, 2017 Decided: December 12, 2017

BEFORE ELLEN S. BASS, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The City of Newark, Department of Neighborhood and Recreational Services, (Newark) seeks to terminate Evan Scott, who was employed as a sanitation worker. It contends that Scott engaged in conduct unbecoming a public employee when he accepted a gift of alcohol from a local citizen, and thereafter provoked a physical altercation with a coworker while on the job. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a). Scott admits receiving a six-pack of beer from a resident on his trash-collection route, but denies that he instigated a fight with his coworker. He urges that the penalty sought by Newark is excessive.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Newark issued a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action (PNDA) on September 11, 2015, and a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action (FNDA) on March 15, 2016. Scott appealed to the Civil Service Commission on March 21, 2016, and the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on June 14, 2016. A hearing was conducted at the OAL on October 11, 2017.[1] Post-hearing submissions were filed on November 14, 2017, at which time the record closed.

FINDINGS OF FACT

This case concerns the events of September 11, 2015. Scott was working the 6:00-a.m.-to-2:00-p.m. shift with a driver, Nyreek Ali-Uthmar, and another sanitation worker, Tony Edwards. Scott admitted, and I FIND, that during the route a resident handed him a black bag, which he initially thought was garbage. But it jingled in a way that made Scott realize that the bag contained bottles; the bottles contained alcohol. The workers continued on their route uneventfully until its end; indeed, a supervisor, Amani Shukar, encountered them at some point later, and all seemed cordial between them.

From here, the story diverges. Edwards, who was the senior sanitation worker on the route, urged that when he discovered Scott had accepted a gift, he told him that doing so was highly improper, and could cause all of them to lose their jobs. In fact, according to Edwards, he would remind coworkers of the rule prohibiting gifts at the start of each and every route. Edwards testified that Scott became belligerent, and told Edwards he would "knock him out." According to Edwards, it was only the second time the two had worked together, so he did not know Scott well. Scott was a large man, and had some experience as a professional boxer, so Edwards felt intimidated and frightened. He called a supervisor, and reported that Scott was becoming aggressive.

[1] The hearing was adjourned several times to allow a related criminal proceeding to run its course, and due to several changes in counsel for Newark.

But a fight ensued, with Scott hitting him in the face, and the two men scuffling on the ground. Edwards stated that he had no weapons of any kind. After approximately thirty minutes Edwards returned to his car so that he could flee the scene, because Scott was still approaching him, threatening to kill him, and shouting obscenities and racial slurs. Eventually, Edwards did drive away, although, curiously, not until he took five to ten minutes to open his trunk and change clothes. According to Edwards, he suffered a broken ankle in the scuffle with Scott. But he admitted that this was a self-diagnosis; that his ankle was not x-rayed; and that he did not receive any formal medical treatment.

The altercation resulted in the filing of criminal charges; the parties stipulated and I FIND that Edwards was acquitted of aggravated assault and other criminal charges arising out of the incident after a trial. Charges against Scott apparently are still pending; Edwards seemed unclear about the status of these charges, which were filed by him.

Our courts have held that "credibility findings . . . are often influenced by matters such as observations of the character and demeanor of witnesses . . . that are not transmitted by the record." State v. Locurto, 157 N.J. 463, 474 (1999). A credibility determination requires an overall assessment of the witness's story in light of its rationality, internal consistency, and the manner in which it "hangs together" with the other evidence. Carbo v. United States, 314 F.2d 718, 749 (9th Cir. 1963). Edwards' testimony was inconsistent with that of other witnesses, or simply did not ring true. He stated that he had only worked with Scott one other time. Scott indicated that they had shared a route together many prior times. Their supervisor, Shakur, agreed with Scott, and, indeed, seemed a bit surprised when told that Edwards had testified otherwise. Edwards testified quite firmly that he broke his ankle during the altercation; he then admitted that no physician had rendered this diagnosis. Edwards testified both on direct and cross-examination that he called his supervisor to the scene, but Shakur was quite clear that it was not Edwards who summoned him, rather, it was the driver of the garbage truck, Ali-Uthmar. And Edwards did not quickly flee a situation that he contended frightened him, rather, he took time to change his clothes. I thus am unable to credit Edwards' version of the altercation, which portrays him as an innocent victim, and Scott as a belligerent aggressor.

Conversely, Scott's testimony was consistent, forthright, and believable. Indeed, he admitted that he accepted a gift of beer from a resident, notwithstanding his duty not to do so. And the injuries he sustained, which were verified by medical documentation, support Scott's contention that Edwards was the aggressor, and used a bat as a weapon during their fight. I FIND that Scott gave the beer to Edwards because, as he put it, "I don't drink." But at the end of the route, Edwards told Scott that since he was the more senior employee, he was entitled to keep any gifts of alcohol received on the route. An argument ensued, because, as Scott put it, this seemed unfair, as, indeed, although he himself was a teetotaler, he might want to share such gifts with family members who do consume alcohol.

I FIND that Edwards tried to cut Scott with a razor, and then went to the trunk of his car, where he retrieved a bat. Edwards struck Scott's right side with the bat, and then threatened to hit him in the head. Scott blocked his head with his left arm; as a result, the arm received the blows. Scott was able to grab the bat from Edwards, but his arm felt numb, and he could not hold on to it. The two men scuffled for a bit on the ground. Edwards threatened to kill Scott, and left. Scott went to a nearby firehouse to seek help. He never struck Edwards, noting that he did not have a chance to, and could not do so once his arm was injured.

Both Shakur and a police officer who was summoned to the scene, detective Stacey Pickett, shared that by the time they had arrived, Edwards was gone. Pickett did not recall that Scott was terribly bloodied, or that he complained about pain in his arm. She described him as coherent. Shakur remembered Scott as being "out of it," and Shakur remained on the scene to ensure Scott received appropriate medical attention. Scott was transported by ambulance first to University Hospital in Newark.

When he did not receive timely attention in the emergency room, his sister transported him to Saint Barnabas Medical Center in Livingston. Hospital records support Scott's claims that he was injured, and confirm that the arm Scott used to block Edwards' blows with the bat was fractured. Although he had been struck as well on the right side, x-rays revealed no rib fractures.

Newark produced no formal policy prohibiting receipt of gifts. But Shakur confirmed, and I FIND, that this is standard City policy, and that employees are well aware of the policy.[2] While he used the phrase "zero tolerance," both in regard to gifts and fighting on the job, Shakur indicated that he is not responsible for disciplinary determinations, and could offer no clarification as to what that term meant relative to the measure of discipline to be imposed in the event of an infraction.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

A Civil Service employee who commits a wrongful act related to his or her duties, or gives other just cause, may be subject to major discipline. N.J.S.A. 11A:2-6; N.J.S.A. 11A:2-20; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.2; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3. In an appeal from such discipline, the appointing authority bears the burden of proving the charges upon which it relied by a preponderance of the competent, relevant, and credible evidence. N.J.S.A. 11A:2-21; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-1.4(a); Atkinson v. Parsekian, 37 N.J. 143 (1962); In re Polk, 90 N.J. 550 (1982). The evidence must be such as to lead a reasonably cautious mind to the given conclusion. Bornstein v. Metro. Bottling Co., 26 N.J. 263, 275 (1958). Preponderance may also be described as the greater weight of credible evidence in the case, not necessarily dependent on the number of witnesses, but having the greater convincing power. State v. Lewis, 67 N.J. 47 (1975).

[2] Scott urges that absent production of a written policy prohibiting receipt of gifts, Newark has failed to meet its burden of demonstrating that such conduct is prohibited. I disagree, because, indeed, such a prohibition is quite usual for public servants. Scott's argument is persuasive, however, relative to the penalty to be imposed; absent a formal policy, or some competent testimonial explanation of the phrase "zero tolerance" as it is intended by Newark policy, traditional concepts of progressive discipline must govern my determination of the penalty, if any, to be imposed.

Newark contends that Scott is guilty of "[c]onduct unbecoming a public employee." N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6). "Conduct unbecoming a public employee" is an elastic phrase, which encompasses conduct that adversely affects the morale or efficiency of a governmental unit or that has a tendency to destroy public respect in the delivery of governmental services. Karins v. City of Atl. City, 152 N.J. 532, 554 (1998); see also In re Emmons, 63 N.J. Super. 136, 140 (App. Div. 1960). It is sufficient that the complained-of conduct and its attending circumstances "be such as to offend publicly accepted standards of decency." Karins, supra, 152 N.J. at 555 (quoting In re Zeber, 156 A.2d 821, 825 (1959)). Such misconduct need not necessarily "be predicated upon the violation of any particular rule or regulation, but may be based merely upon the violation of the implicit standard of good behavior which devolves upon one who stands in the public eye as an upholder of that which is morally and legally correct." Hartmann v. Police Dep't of Ridgewood, 258 N.J. Super. 32, 40 (App. Div. 1992) (quoting Asbury Park v. Dep't of Civil Serv., 17 N.J. 419, 429 (1955)).

I CONCLUDE that Newark has met its burden of demonstrating that Scott was guilty of conduct unbecoming a public employee. By Scott's own admission, he accepted a gift of beer from a resident and then argued with a coworker about who would be able to enjoy the gift. The rationale behind the policy against accepting gifts is obvious; taxpaying members of the public should feel confident that City employees will provide garbage-collection services equally for every citizen, and not differently, or better, for those who sweeten the workers' compensation with gifts. A violation of the gift policy thus clearly negatively implicates the public's trust in governmental services.

But the escalation of the argument between Scott and Edwards was not Scott's fault. The credible testimony makes it plain that Edwards was the aggressor who escalated the dispute to a physical level, and that he left the scene without alerting a supervisor, the police, or medical help, leaving a bloodied, injured coworker behind. Scott simply tried to defend himself. I CONCLUDE that Newark did not meet its burden of demonstrating that Scott engaged in conduct unbecoming a public employee relative to the physical altercation that took place on September 11, 2015.

PENALTY

In this de novo review of the County's disciplinary action I am required to reevaluate the penalty on appeal. N.J.S.A. 11A:2-19; Henry, supra, 81 N.J. 571; Bock, supra, 38 N.J. 500. Depending on the conduct complained of and the employee's disciplinary history, major discipline may be imposed. Bock, supra, 38 N.J. at 522–24. Major discipline may include removal, disciplinary demotion, or suspension or fine of no greater than six months. N.J.S.A. 11A:2-6(a), -20; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.2, -2.4. A system of progressive discipline has evolved in New Jersey to serve the goals of providing employees with job security and protecting them from arbitrary employment decisions. Progressive discipline is not "a fixed and immutable rule to be followed without question." Carter v. Bordentown, 191 N.J. 474, 484 (2007). The question to be answered is "whether such punishment is 'so disproportionate to the offense, in the light of all the circumstances, as to be shocking to one's sense of fairness.'" Ibid. (quoting Polk, supra, 90 N.J. at 578).

I CONCLUDE that the penalty imposed here was excessive. The parties stipulated that although employed by Newark as a sanitation worker since 2010, Scott has no prior disciplinary record. Removal is thus too harsh a penalty for this first infraction, and is inconsistent with the concept of progressive discipline. Considering all the circumstances, removal is shocking to my sense of fairness. In so determining, I reiterate that Newark supplied no written document that explained the parameters of its "zero-tolerance" policy, nor did it offer a witness who was able to clarify the penalty envisioned by that policy. Nor would I be bound, in this de novo review, by any such policy. In re Columbo, CSV 1324-11, Final Decision (September 23, 2011), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>. Scott should not have accepted a gift from a member of the public, but I CONCLUDE that an appropriate penalty for this first offense is a thirty-day suspension.

ORDER

It is ORDERED that the charges against Scott relative to accepting gifts on the job are AFFIRMED. It is further ORDERED that the charges against Scott relative to fighting on the job are DISMISSED. It is further ORDERED that the penalty of removal is REDUCED to a thirty-day suspension. The amount of back pay shall be mitigated in accordance with the guidelines set forth in N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.10(d)(3).

I hereby FILE my Initial Decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, DIVISION OF APPEALS AND REGULATORY AFFAIRS, UNIT H, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, 44 South Clinton Avenue, P.O. Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Re: Judith Coles v. Department of Human Services (CSC Docket No. 2018-1266 and OAL Docket No. CSV 16997-17) - SETTLEMENT

Dear Mr. Richter and Director Pinkas:

The appeal of Judith Coles, a Senior Income Maintenance Worker with the Department of Human Services, of her release at the end of her working test period effective October 23, 2017, was before Administrative Law Judge Lisa James-Beavers (ALJ), who returned the matter to the Civil Service Commission (Commission) on December 13, 2017 indicating that the parties had reached a settlement.

The time frame for the Commission to make its final decision was to initially expire on January 29, 2018. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. Prior to that date, the Commission secured a 45-day extension of time to render its final decision no later than March 15, 2018. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. While this matter is now ready for presentation to the Commission, its next scheduled meeting is March 21, 2018. In this regard, the Commission has determined that, since the settlement complies with Civil Service law and rules, it finds no reason to delay the final disposition of this matter further. Thus, it will not request consent from the parties, as required, for an additional extension of time. Under these circumstances, the ALJ's recommended decision will be deemed adopted, effective March 16, 2018, as the final decision in this matter per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c).

Sincerely,

Re: Robert Laracuente v. Department of Transportation (CSC Docket No. 2018-1136 and OAL Docket No. CSV 16000-17) - SETTLEMENT

Dear Mr. Scorzetti and DAG Wagner:

The appeal of Robert Laracuente, a Highway Operations Technician 2 with the Department of Transportation, of his 15 working day suspension on charges, was before Administrative Law Judge Lisa James-Beavers (ALJ), who issued her initial decision on December 13, 2017 indicating that the parties had reached a settlement.

The Civil Service Commission (Commission) received this matter on December 15, 2017. Accordingly, the time frame for the Commission to make its final decision expires on January 30, 2018. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. In this regard, if the Commission could not decide the matter by that date, it would normally secure an initial 45-day extension of time to render its final decision. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. However, currently one of the three Commission members must be recused from participating on this particular matter, thus, there is not a quorum of members available to vote. Until such a quorum is secured, or, in other words, until an additional Commission member is seated, this matter cannot be decided by the Commission. We have no timeframe as to when that may occur. Based on this information, and given the fact that the matter was settled by the parties and a review of the settlement by staff indicates that it is in compliance with Civil Service law and rules, there does not appear to be a basis to further delay a final disposition in this matter. Thus, the Commission has determined not to seek any extensions on this matter and, per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c), it is to be considered deemed adopted, effective January 31, 2018.

Sincerely,

Nicholas F. Angiulo

Re: Martha Mendoza v. Ancora Psychiatric Hospital, Department of Health (CSC Docket No. 2018-1207 and OAL Docket No. CSV 16369-17) - SETTLEMENT

Dear Mr. Scorzetti and Ms. Brown:

The appeal of Martha Mendoza, a Senior Building Maintenance Worker at Ancora Psychiatric Hospital, Department of Health, of her removal, effective October 23, 2017, on charges, was before Administrative Law Judge Lisa James-Beavers (ALJ), who issued her initial decision on December 13, 2017 indicating that the parties had reached a settlement.

The Civil Service Commission (Commission) received this matter on December 15, 2017. Accordingly, the time frame for the Commission to make its final decision expires on January 30, 2018. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. In this regard, if the Commission could not decide the matter by that date, it would normally secure an initial 45-day extension of time to render its final decision. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. However, currently one of the three Commission members must be recused from participating on this particular matter, thus, there is not a quorum of members available to vote. Until such a quorum is secured, or, in other words, until an additional Commission member is seated, this matter cannot be decided by the Commission. We have no timeframe as to when that may occur. Based on this information, and given the fact that the matter was settled by the parties and a review of the settlement by staff indicates that it is in compliance with Civil Service law and rules, there does not appear to be a basis to further delay a final disposition in this matter. Thus, the Commission has determined not to seek any extensions on this matter and, per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c), it is to be considered deemed adopted, effective January 31, 2018.

Sincerely,

Nicholas F. Angiulo

I have reviewed the record and terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures on the settlement agreement.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy.

I CONCLUDE that this matter is no longer a contested case before the Office of Administrative Law. It is ORDERED that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

For Removals, Complete the Following

1. To date, appellant has served a total of Since 5/10/17 days without pay based upon the above charges.

2. The total number of days of back pay, if any, to be paid by the appointing authority to the Appellant is as follows: None.

3. Any other days from the time of last suspension day until reinstatement shall be treated as follows: leave of absence without pay.

4. (Strike if not applicable) The appellant agrees to a _____resignation in good standing

_____ general resignation

which shall be effective _____[date]. Any days from the effective date of removal to the effective date of resignation shall be treated as follows:

_____.

The parties acknowledge that under N.J.A.C. 17:1-2.18, no pension or seniority time may be credited for periods for which the employee is not paid by the employer.

D. Department of Human Services (Respondent) shall amend Appellant's personnel records to conform to the terms of the settlement. All internal records of the Department of Human Services will be kept intact. Nothing herein shall preclude the Department from releasing information on this matter to anyone who has a release executed by appellant or as consistent with the law. Any information regarding the underlying charges will be provided to the Public Employees Retirement System pursuant to N.J.S.A. 43:1-3.3 as amended effective April 14, 2007.

E. Appellant waives all other claims against Respondent Department with regard to this matter, including any award of back pay, counsel fees or other monetary relief, except as may otherwise be provided herein.

F. Except for the assessment of Donald Robinson 's disciplinary record in any subsequent personnel disciplinary hearing, nothing in this agreement shall be deemed to be an admission of liability on behalf of either party. This agreement shall not constitute a precedent in matters involving other employees.

G. Appellant waives all claims, suits or actions, whether known, unknown, vested or contingent, civil, criminal or administrative, in law or equity against the State of New Jersey, the New Jersey Department of Human Services, their employees, agents, or assigns, including but not limited to those which have been or could have been made or prosecuted on account of any conduct of any party occurring at any time with respect to the events, information or disputes giving rise to this action up to the date of this agreement, including, but not limited to, all claims under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Civil Rights Act of 1991, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Family Leave Act, the Family and Medical Leave Act, the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, the Equal Pay Act, the Conscientious Employee Protection Act, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, Title 11A - the Civil Service Act, the Older Workers Benefits Protection Act, the Occupational Safety and Health Act, the Public Employee

Occupational Safety and Health Act, the New Jersey Smoking Act, New Jersey wages and hours law, public works statutes, unemployment compensation laws, disability benefits laws, the United States Constitution, the New Jersey Constitution, any workers compensation or common law claims and any contract express or implied. This waiver includes all claims involving any continuing effects of actions or practices which arose prior to the date of this Settlement Agreement and bars the use in any way of any past action or practice in any subsequent claims, except pending workers' compensation claims.

H. The parties agree that if any portion of this Settlement Agreement is deemed unenforceable, the remainder of this Settlement Agreement shall be fully enforceable.

I. Appellant acknowledges Vineland Developmental Center is a drug free workplace. It is expected Appellant not use drugs and it is acknowledged Appellant is subject to random drug testing.

J. Appellant shall be scheduled for counseling at the Employee Advisory Service and shall follow all requirements. This referral is mandatory.

K. Any further incidents of a similar nature shall result in Appellant's removal.

L. Appellant acknowledges his failure to provide medical verification as required on 3/9/17, 3/15/17, 3/23/17, 3/27/17, 3/28/17 and 5/7/17. Any further incidents of this nature will result in disciplinary action up to and including removal.

I. This agreement will become effective only if approved by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION. Any disapproval by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION shall not interfere with the rights of either party to pursue the matter further.

Re: Donald Robinson v. Vineland Developmental Center, Department of Human Services (CSC Docket No. 2018-971 and OAL Docket No. CSV 16981-17) - SETTLEMENT

Dear Mr. Scorzetti and Ms. Pinkas:

The appeal of Donald Robinson, a Residential Services Worker at Vineland Developmental Center, Department of Human Services, of his indefinite suspension, on charges, was before Administrative Law Judge Lisa James-Beavers (ALJ), who issued her initial decision on December 13, 2017 indicating that the parties had reached a settlement.

The Civil Service Commission (Commission) received this matter on December 15, 2017. Accordingly, the time frame for the Commission to make its final decision expires on January 30, 2018. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. In this regard, if the Commission could not decide the matter by that date, it would normally secure an initial 45-day extension of time to render its final decision. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. However, currently one of the three Commission members must be recused from participating on this particular matter, thus, there is not a quorum of members available to vote. Until such a quorum is secured, or, in other words, until an additional Commission member is seated, this matter cannot be decided by the Commission. We have no timeframe as to when that may occur. Based on this information, and given the fact that the matter was settled by the parties and a review of the settlement by staff indicates that it is in compliance with Civil Service law and rules, there does not appear to be a basis to further delay a final disposition in this matter. Thus, the Commission has determined not to seek any extensions on this matter and, per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c), it is to be considered deemed adopted, effective January 31, 2018.

Sincerely,

Nicholas F. Angiulo

Re: Debra Irving v. Newark Public School District (CSC Docket No. 2017-3595 and OAL Docket No. CSV 7192-17) - SETTLEMENT

Dear Mr. Liss and Mr. Mercado:

The appeal of Debra Irving, a Teacher Aide with the Newark Public School District, of her removal effective March 24, 2017, was before Administrative Law Judge Michael Antoniewicz (ALJ), who returned the matter to the Civil Service Commission (Commission) on December 14, 2017 indicating that the parties had reached a settlement.

The time frame for the Commission to make its final decision was to initially expire on January 29, 2018. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. Prior to that date, the Commission secured a 45-day extension of time to render its final decision no later than March 15, 2018. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. While this matter is now ready for presentation to the Commission, its next scheduled meeting is March 21, 2018. In this regard, the Commission has determined that, since the settlement complies with Civil Service law and rules, it finds no reason to delay the final disposition of this matter further. Thus, it will not request consent from the parties, as required, for an additional extension of time. Under these circumstances, the ALJ's recommended decision will be deemed adopted, effective March 16, 2018, as the final decision in this matter per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c).

Sincerely,

DEBRA IRVING, Appellant, vs. NEWARK PUBLIC SCHOOL DISTRICT, Respondent.	:	OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATIVE LAW OAL DKT. NO. CSV: 07192-2017N AGENCY REF. NO.: 2017-3595 SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

The parties in this appeal have voluntarily resolved all disputed matters and enter into the following Settlement Agreement that fully disposes of all issues and claims in controversy between Appellant Debra Irving ("Appellant" or "Irving") and Respondent State-Operated School District of the City of Newark ("Respondent" or the "District"), and Appellant and Respondent intending to be legally bound, mutually agree as follows:

1. Appellant will withdraw, with prejudice, her appeal and request for a hearing filed under OAL Docket No. CSV 07192-2017N, Agency Ref. No.: 2017-3595 including all claims which were raised or which could have been raised in relation thereto.

2. Appellant also agrees to withdraw, with prejudice, any and all other suits or claims that she may have previously filed against the District that are still pending in any and all courts and/or before any and all agencies with the exception of workers compensation claims. This Settlement is intended to be the final resolution of all of Appellant's outstanding claims against the District related to her employment. It is understood by the parties that this Settlement Agreement will serve as a formal letter of withdrawal for any other suits or claims, except for workers compensation claims, should Appellant fail to submit a formal letter of withdrawal for each suit or claim.

3. In exchange, and for good consideration as hereby acknowledged by the the parties, the District will permit Appellant to resign her former position with the District in good standing so that Appellant's separation from employment effective March 24, 2017 will be converted to and deemed to be a voluntary and permanent "Resignation in Good Standing" Appellant's personnel records will be amended to conform to the terms of the settlement.

4. Other than permitting Appellant to resign her former position, Appellant will not receive any monies or emoluments from the District as part of this Settlement Agreement.

5. Appellant agrees that she will not apply for reemployment with the District at any time. If Appellant does apply for reemployment with the District and is approved for employment, the terms of this Settlement Agreement will control and shall be grounds for immediate termination of Appellant's employment.

6. As of the date of her resignation, all of Appellant's employment rights, including, but not limited to salary, insurance coverage, tenure and seniority, will permanently end.

7. Appellant waives all claims of any nature, either known or unknown, against Respondent with regard to this matter including all fees, back pay, front pay or any other monetary relief, except for workers compensation claims.

8. In exchange for the good consideration set forth in Paragraph 3 above, the sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged by the parties, Appellant releases and discharges the District, its Advisory Board of Education and its Advisory Board Members, State District Superintendent and any and all other officers, employees, agents, representatives, successors and assigns of the District (the "Released Parties") with respect to all claims or rights that she may have against the District and the Released Parties relating to her employment with the District and/or separation from the District. This includes, without limitation the waiver of any and all claims, charges, or demands, known or unknown, that have arisen or that may arise relating to Appellant's employment with and separation from the District, including but not limited to any and all rights or claims she may have regarding discrimination on any basis, or any federal or state civil rights law, or any alleged violation under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended; the Age Discrimination in Employment Act; the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act; the Americans with Disabilities Act; the Equal Pay Act; the Americans with Disabilities Act; the Rehabilitation Act; the Employment Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended; the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination; the Conscientious Employee Protection Act; the Fair Labor Standards Act; the National Labor Relations Act; the Family Leave Act or Family Medical Leave Act; the New Jersey Wage and Hour Law; the retaliation provisions of the New Jersey Workers' Compensation Law (and including any and all amendments to the above), the United States Constitution, the New Jersey Constitution and/or any other federal, state, or local statute or common law relating to employment, wages, hours, or any other terms and conditions of employment and/or termination of employment as well as any other alleged violations of any federal, state or local law, regulation or ordinance, and/or contract or implied contract or collective bargaining/contractual claim or tort law or public policy or whistleblower claim, having any bearing whatsoever on her employment with and separation from the District, including but not limited to, any claim for wrongful discharge, back pay, front pay, vacation pay, sick pay, wage, commission or bonus payment, attorneys' fees, costs and/or future wage loss, except for workers compensation claims. Appellant agrees to hold harmless and indemnify the District and the Released Parties for any costs or expenses associated with the enforcement of this Settlement Agreement and the covenants and representations contained therein should enforcement of this agreement become necessary.

9. Notwithstanding Paragraph 8 of this Settlement Agreement, it is understood by the parties that Appellant is not waiving her rights to workers compensation claims. Further, it is also understood and agreed that the parties are not prohibited from communicating with or participating in any administrative proceeding before the United States Department of Labor, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commissioner, or any other federal, state or local law agency. Should any entity, agency commission or person file a charge, action, complaint or lawsuit against the District based upon any of the above-released claims in Paragraph 8, Appellant agrees not to seek or accept any resulting relief whatsoever.

10. To comply with the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act of 1990, if applicable, this Agreement advises Appellant of the legal requirements of the Act, and fully incorporates the legal requirements by reference into this Agreement. Accordingly, by executing this Agreement, Appellant acknowledges that she: (i) fully understands the terms and conditions of this Agreement; (ii) has consulted with an attorney to review the Agreement; (iii) specifically waives his right to pursue any current claims she may have under the Age Discrimination in Employment Act; (iv) has been given sufficient and adequate time within which to consider this Agreement; and (v) has seven (7) days from the date of the execution of this Agreement to revoke it. Appellant understands that she may rescind this Agreement within seven (7) calendar days of signing it, and such rescission must be in writing and delivered to counsel for the District either by hand or by certified mail within the seven-day period.

11. Nothing in this Settlement Agreement shall be deemed to be an admission of liability on behalf of either party. This Settlement Agreement shall not constitute a precedent in any matters involving other employees.

12. Appellant understands, agrees to and acknowledges that she is bound by this Release. Anyone who succeeds to Appellant's rights and responsibilities, such as Appellant's heirs or the executors of Appellant's estate, are also bound. This Settlement Agreement is made for the benefit of the Appellant and the District and all who succeed to their rights and responsibilities.

13. If any provision or portion of a provision of this Settlement Agreement is held by the Civil Service Commission or a court of competent jurisdiction or determined under applicable federal or state law to be invalid, void, or unenforceable, the remaining provisions or portions of the affected provision will remain and continue in full force and effect.

14. The parties respectively acknowledge that counsel has advised them regarding this Settlement Agreement and that each is signing this Settlement Agreement freely and voluntarily, without duress, coercion, or pressure from the other party.

15. This Settlement Agreement constitutes the full agreement among the parties and shall be construed and enforced pursuant to New Jersey Law.

16. This Settlement Agreement is subject to the approval of the State District Superintendent of the State-operated School District of the City of Newark and will only become effective on the District upon the approval of the State District Superintendent. Any disapproval by the Superintendent shall not interfere with the rights of either party to pursue the matter further.

17. This Settlement Agreement is subject to final approval by the Civil Service Commission and will only become final and binding on Appellant and Respondent upon the approval of the Civil Service Commission. Any disapproval by the Civil Service Commission shall not interfere with the rights of either party to pursue the matter further.

Re: Bijoy Rodriguez v. City of Paterson (CSC Docket No. 2018-248 and OAL Docket No. CSR 11238-17)

Dear Mr. Gray and Mr. Glickman:

The appeal of Bijoy Rodriguez, a Police Officer with the City of Paterson, of his removal on charges, was before Administrative Law Judge Kimberly A. Moss (ALJ), who rendered her initial decision on December 14, 2017, recommending reversing the removal. Exceptions were filed on behalf of both parties.

The time frame for the Commission to make its final decision was to initially expire on January 29, 2018. See N.J.S.A. 40A:14-204 and N.J.A.C. 1:4B-1.1(d). Prior to that time the Commission secured one 15-day extension of time, and since it does not currently have a quorum, requested consent of the parties, as required, for an additional 15-day extension to render its final decision no later than February 28, 2018. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. However, the appellant did not provide consent for a further extension. Under these circumstances, the ALJ's recommended decision will be deemed adopted as the final decision in this matter per N.J.S.A. 40A:14-204, effective March 1, 2018.

Since the appellant's removal has been reversed, he is entitled to be reinstated with back pay, benefits and seniority for the period from the onset of his separation until he is actually reinstated. The amount of back pay awarded is to be reduced and mitigated as provided for in N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.10. In this regard, the appellant is not entitled to any back pay for any period of time he was disabled from working as a Police Officer. See N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.10(d)9. Additionally, the appellant is entitled to reasonable counsel fees. Proof of income earned and an affidavit in support of reasonable counsel fees should be submitted to the appointing authority within 30 days of this determination. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.10 and N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.12, the parties shall make a good faith effort to resolve any dispute as to the amount of back pay and/or counsel fees.

Sincerely,

Nicholas F. Angiulo
Deputy Director

INITIAL DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. CSR 11238-17
AGENCY DKT. NO. N/A

IN THE MATTER OF BIJOY RODRIGUEZ, CITY OF PATERSON.

Christopher A. Gray, Esq., and Frank C. Cioffi, Esq., for appellant (Sciarra & Catrambone, attorneys)

Steven S. Glickman, Esq., and Gregory S. Glickman, Esq., for respondent, (Steven S. Glickman, attorney)

Record Closed: December 1, 2017 Decided: December 14, 2017

BEFORE KIMBERLY A. MOSS, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Appellant, Bijoy Rodriguez (Rodriguez or appellant), appeals his removal by respondent, City of Paterson (Paterson or respondent), on charges of conduct unbecoming a public employee; incompetency, inefficiency, or failure to perform duties; chronic or excessive absenteeism or lateness; neglect of duty; and other sufficient cause, relating to not returning to work on June 5, 2017, and the accuracy of the doctor's note and report. At issue is whether Rodriguez engaged in the alleged conduct, and, if so, whether it constitutes conduct unbecoming a public employee; incompetency, inefficiency, or failure to perform duties; chronic or excessive absenteeism or lateness; neglect of duty; and other sufficient cause that warrants removal.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On June 12, 2017, Paterson served Rodriguez with a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action. A departmental hearing was held on June 27, 2017. Paterson served Rodriguez with a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action on July 14, 2017, sustaining charges of incompetency, inefficiency, or failure to perform duties, chronic or excessive absenteeism or lateness, neglect of duty, conduct unbecoming a public employee and other sufficient cause. Rodriguez requested a hearing and forwarded simultaneous appeals to the Civil Service Commission and the Office of Administrative Law (OAL). The appeal was filed with the OAL on July 28, 2017. Appellant agreed to waive back pay for the period October 5, 2017, to October 19, 2017. The hearing was held on November 20, 2017, and November 22, 2017. Closing briefs were submitted on December 1, 2017, after which I closed the record.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

Testimony

Gustave Seden

Gustave Seden (Seden) is the commander in charge of the Paterson Police Department Internal Affairs (IA) unit. Rodriguez was on suspension in the beginning of 2017. The suspension was to end in June 2017. On June 5, 2017, Rodriguez gave Seden a note from Dr. Gazzillo which stated that Rodriguez was disabled and could not work. Seden contacted the officer in charge that day, Deputy Chief Troy Oswald (Oswald), and Director Jerry Speziale (Speziale) and gave them a copy of the note. He did not know that the note came from Rodriguez's workers' compensation doctor. IA sent a letter to Dr. Gazzillo on June 6, 2017. Dr. Gazzillo responded to the letter the next day. A few days later Seden told Rodriguez to come in regarding Dr. Gazzillo's note. Seden had not received Rodriguez's medical files before requesting that he come in. IA attempted to contact the risk manager, Samir Goow (Goow), but had difficulty reaching him. Rodriguez came into headquarters to write the report. He was using a cane, but did not appear to be in pain.

Once Rodriguez provided his report on June 12, 2017, he was suspended. He was advised to contact counsel and draft charges for the suspension of Rodriguez. At the meeting, there was no discussion of Rodriguez's medical condition or if he was taking prescription opioid medication.

Seden was not part of the surveillance of Rodriguez. At that time IA was processing an upcoming academy class. Oswald and Speziale conducted the surveillance. He does not know why they conducted the surveillance and does not know of any other case where Oswald and Speziale conducted a surveillance.

Seden was never directed to do an investigation of Rodriguez or get his medical records. He did not write a report regarding Rodriguez.

Jerry Speziale

Speziale is the police director of Paterson. The deputy police chiefs are responsible for the day-to-day operations of the police department. In June 2017 he was informed by Oswald that Rodriguez had returned to work for one day after a suspension and stated that he was completely disabled. Speziale does not know what Rodriguez's injuries are. He saw a note stating that Rodriguez was disabled. He does not know how or when Rodriguez was injured. He does not know what medications Rodriguez was taking. He did not speak to appellant's doctor and never saw any of his medical records. He does not recall if he saw the questionnaire filed out by Dr. Gazzillo.

It was decided that based on Rodriguez's prior discipline, the claim needed to be investigated. Internal Affairs could not do the surveillance because of a recruit class. Speziale cannot direct Internal Affairs to investigate. Speziale contacted Goow about getting an investigator for the surveillance. It was decided by Speziale, Oswald, and Deputy Chief Rodriguez that Oswald and Speziale would conduct the surveillance ofaAppellant Rodriguez. The surveillance took place on June 11 and 12, 2017, using a high-speed camera with a zoom lens. Photos of the surveillance show Rodriguez at his home, opening the garage door and entering his jeep, backing the jeep out of the garage, walking around the front of the vehicle, closing the garage door, loading the rear of the jeep, and leaning into the jeep. While he was doing this, he had complete mobility. He did not use a cane or other aides to assist him with walking. His movements were fluid and he used both hands. Rodriguez was not in visible pain. Speziale was fifteen to twenty feet away from Rodriguez when he took the pictures.

Speziale next took pictures of Rodriguez picking his daughter up from school. These photos show Rodriguez opening the vehicle door with both feet on the curb, grabbing his daughter's hand, squatting to assist his daughter into the car, and picking up his daughter to put her in the car. Rodriguez did not use a cane or any other devise to assist him with walking.

Speziale then took pictures of Rodriguez when he returned home. Rodriguez exited the vehicle carrying two water bottles in his arm that was in a sling and his daughter's backpack in his other hand. Rodriguez then entered the house. He did not use a cane or any other device to assist him with walking. Speziale does not know how old Rodriguez's daughter is or what was in her backpack.

Speziale took pictures of Rodriguez as he was entering police headquarters on June 12, 2017. At that time the photos show Rodriguez's wife assisting him out of the car; Rodriguez is limping and using a cane. Speziale does not know why Rodriguez's arm was in a sling.

Someone is placed on modified duty who is recovering from an injury or surgery—an officer who cannot be on the street. Modified duty includes answering phones or watching cameras, working in the radio and records room. Speziale testified that Rodriguez could have done modified duty. There have been officers on modified duty who were taking painkillers. Rodriguez was previously terminated for fraud but he was given a second chance.

Dr. David Weiss

Dr. David Weiss is board certified in orthopedics. He evaluated Rodriguez on September 15, 2017. As part of the evaluation, he reviewed Rodriguez's medical records. The MRI revealed a disc herniation at C5/C6 and C6/C7, protruding type. This type of herniation causes pain going down the body, a pins-and-needles feeling, and weakness in the arm. The EMG revealed that Rodriguez had radiculopathy, a pins-and-needles feeling, and pain going down his arm.

Rodriguez could no longer preform as a police officer. As of September 2017 he could only do sedentary work. The use of his weapon is curtailed in his left arm. Rodriguez has a permanent nerve injury, as per the EMG.

In a June 19, 2017 letter, Dr. Gazzillo stated that Rodriguez had started to drive short distances. Rodriguez had to be careful when driving because he was taking Vicodin.

Troy Oswald

Oswald is the deputy police chief of Paterson and the chief of detectives. On June 5, 2017, he became aware that appellant was not returning to work. He spoke to Deputy Chief Rodriguez, Speziale, and Seden regarding appellant. It was decided that there would be an investigation due to appellant's prior discipline. Oswald was involved in appellant's prior investigation. Oswald did not talk to Risk Management. He did not know appellant's diagnosis or what medications he was taking. There was no discussion of speaking with the doctor. He did not review medical records and did not know that Rodriguez had been receiving treatment since October 2016. Oswald and Speziale did the surveillance. They parked down the street from Rodriguez's house. Oswald did not see Rodriguez use any walking aides during the surveillance. He did not notice any problem with Rodriguez's neck or torso. Rodriguez's left arm was in a sling, but he was using it. Rodriguez showed no signs of pain or discomfort.

Once the surveillance concluded, Oswald met with Deputy Chief Rodriguez and Seden to discuss the pictures that were taken and what Oswald had observed. It was decided to call Rodriguez to headquarters. When Rodriguez arrived at headquarters he was hobbling, walking gingerly, and using a cane. Rodriguez was not hobbling, walking gingerly, or using a cane when the surveillance pictures were taken.

Modified duty or light duty consists of working in the communication room entering information into the computer, which Rodriguez would be able to do. Oswald did not draft the preliminary charges or discuss what charges would be filed against Rodriguez.

Bijoy Rodriguez

Rodriguez became a Paterson Police patrolman on October 24, 2003. He was assigned to the cellblock on October 24, 2016. At that time, he was advised that there was a combative prisoner. The prisoner's behavior escalated and Rodriguez and another officer were assigned to do a cell extraction. Rodriguez grabbed the prisoner's arm. The prisoner resisted, sweeping Rodriguez off his feet. This caused Rodriguez to strike his neck and arm on the end of the steel bunk in the cell, and then fall to the floor.

Rodriguez felt like his arm blew up when it hit the steel bunk. He felt pain in his back and lost feeling in his left arm. He reported the injury to the sergeant. He was sent to ImmediCenter for medical treatment. Rodriguez did not return to work after the injury. Appellant testified that if he sits too long or walks long distances his legs feel numb. He uses a cane for support.

On December 16, 2016, Rodriguez was terminated from Paterson Police Department for a previous incident. The termination was changed to a six-month suspension. From October 24, 2016, to December 16, 2016, Rodriguez was not required to come in on modified duty. Dr. Gazzillo was his Paterson-assigned workers' compensation doctor. Rodriguez began treating with Dr. Gazzillo one week after the incident in lockup. In May 2017 he discussed with Dr. Gazzillo that his suspension was ending and he had to return to work on June 5, 2017. Dr. Gazzillo told him that he could not return to work on full or modified duty. He gave Rodriguez a letter to this effect, which Rodriguez gave to Seden. Rodriguez was told by Seden to go to IA on June 12, 2017. He reported to IA as requested. His wife came with him. He brought the cane to the meeting because he knows that the elevator does not work and he would have to use the stairs.

Rodriguez agreed with Dr. Gazzillo's responses on the questionnaire. He was asked to write a report regarding his agreement with the questionnaire. Dr. Gazzillo told him that he would never go back to full-duty work. IA never requested his medical records. He applied for disability retirement on June 15, 2017. Rodriguez is still being treated by Dr. Gazzillo, through Paterson's workers' compensation insurance. He has completed physical therapy. He is still taking medication. Rodriguez told Dr. Gazzillo about his right arm going numb and pain in his neck while driving. Dr. Gazzillo told him that he should only occasionally drive short distances. Rodriguez last saw Dr. Gazzillo on October 16, 2017.

FINDINGS OF FACT

In light of the contradictory testimony presented by respondent's witnesses and appellant and his witness, the resolution of the charges against appellant requires that I make credibility determinations with regard to the critical facts. The choice of accepting or rejecting the witness's testimony or credibility rests with the finder of facts. Freud v. Davis, 64 N.J. Super. 242, 246 (App. Div. 1960). In addition, for testimony to be believed, it must not only come from the mouth of a credible witness, but it also has to be credible in itself. It must elicit evidence that is from such common experience and observation that it can be approved as proper under the circumstances. See Spagnuolo v. Bonnet, 60 N.J. 546 (1974); Gallo v. Gallo, 66 N.J. Super. 1 (App. Div. 1961). A credibility determination requires an overall assessment of the witness's story in light of its rationality, internal consistency, and the manner in which it "hangs together" with the other evidence. Carbo v. United States, 314 F.2d 718, 749 (9th Cir. 1963). A fact finder "is free to weigh the evidence and to reject the testimony of a witness even though not contradicted when it is contrary to circumstances given in evidence or contains inherent improbabilities or contradictions which alone or in connection with other circumstances in evidence excite suspicion as to its truth." In re Perrone, 5 N.J. 514, 521–22 (1950); see D'Amato by McPherson v. D'Amato, 305 N.J. Super. 109, 115 (App. Div. 1997).

Having had an opportunity to observe the demeanor of the witnesses, I FIND Dr. Weiss and Rodriguez to be credible. Rodriguez described his injury and was told by Dr. Gazzillo, a Paterson workers' compensation doctor, that he could not return to work. This was confirmed by a letter and questionnaire filed out by Dr. Gazzillo. Dr. Weiss agreed with the medical questionnaire and letter of Dr. Gazzillo. I FIND Oswald and Speziale less credible. Their testimony as to what they saw was credible, but the determinations that they made that Rodriguez could return to work did not consider Dr. Gazzillo's opinion, Rodriguez's medical records, or the medication that Rodriguez was prescribed.

Having reviewed the testimony and evidence and the credibility of the witnesses, I make the following FINDINGS of FACT.

Rodriguez became a Paterson police officer in 2003. There was an incident in 2016 that resulted in his termination. Rodriguez and Paterson entered into an agreement on or about March 20, 2017, reducing the termination to a six-month suspension.

On October 24, 2016, prior to the termination, Rodriguez was injured during a cell extraction of a prisoner. He struck his neck and arm on the steel cell bunk. Upon impact, he felt like his arm blew up and had pain in his neck and arm. He began treatment with ImmediCenter, where he was treated by Dr. Gazzillo. Dr. Gazzillo is his workers' compensation doctor provided by Paterson. To date, Rodriguez is still being treated by Dr. Gazzillo.

In May 2017, Rodriguez told Dr. Gazzillo that his suspension would end on June 5, 2017, and he was scheduled to return to work. He was given a note by Dr. Gazzillo stating that he was disabled and was not able to function on full duty or light duty. Rodriguez provided this note to Seden on June 5, 2017. Dr. Gazzillo sent a letter to the workers' compensation claims resolution department dated June 5, 2017, stating that Rodriguez was still taking Vicodin and that he was unable to work full time or light duty. Dr. Gazzillo completed a questionnaire from Paterson regarding whether Rodriguez would be able to return to work in various capacities. Dr. Gazzillo answered that Rodriguez could not do the work in any of the capacities.

Speziale, Oswald, Seden, and Deputy Chief Rodriguez met regarding appellant not returning to work in June 2017. It was decided that there would be an investigation as to whether Rodriguez could return to work. The surveillance was conducted by Oswald, who was a deputy chief, and Speziale, who was the police director. The surveillance took place on June 11, 2017, and June 12, 2017. Speziale took photos with a high-power camera with a zoom lens. Photos of the surveillance show Rodriguez at his home, opening the garage door and entering his jeep, backing the jeep out of the garage, walking around the front of the vehicle, closing the garage door, loading a skateboard into the rear of the jeep, and leaning into the jeep. He did not use a cane or other aides to assist him with walking. His movements were fluid. Speziale was fifteen to twenty feet away from Rodriguez when he took the pictures.

Speziale next took pictures of Rodriguez picking his daughter up from school. These photos show Rodriguez opening the vehicle door with both feet on the curb, grabbing his three-year-old daughter's hand, squatting to assist his daughter into the car, and picking up his daughter to put her in the car. Rodriguez did not use a cane or any other device to assist him with walking.

Speziale next took pictures of Rodriguez when he returned home. Rodriguez exited the vehicle carrying two water bottles in his arm that was in a sling and his daughter's backpack in his other hand. Rodriguez then entered the house. He did not use a cane or any other device to assist him with walking. Rodriguez was not doing any strenuous activity in the surveillance photos. Speziale took pictures of Rodriguez as he was entering police headquarters. At that time the photos show Rodriguez's wife assisting him out of the car; Rodriguez is limping and using a cane.

Speziale and Oswald never contacted Dr. Gazzillo regarding Rodriguez's medical condition. They did not review the medical records of Rodriguez. There was no testimony that Paterson had a doctor review Rodriguez's medical records or Dr. Gazzillo's reports. Speziale did not know what Rodriguez's injuries were or what medication he was on.

Rodriguez has herniated discs at C5/C6 and C6/C7, protruding type, which caused pain radiating down his body, a pins-and-needles feeling, and weakness in his arm. An EMG confirmed radiculopathy. Rodriguez was prescribed Vicodin, which is a class-two opioid. The sides effects include: dizziness, nausea, impairment of judgment, and passing out. Rodriguez's gait is wider than it should be. His gate function is not normal. He had spasms in his neck and restricted motion. An adequate grip-strength test could not be done on Rodriguez's left side. He had sensory deficit in his left upper extremities. Rodriguez has chronic cervical sprain and strain and two cervical herniated discs with a radicular component confirmed by an EMG.

If Rodriguez sits too long or walks too long his legs feel numb. He uses a cane for support. Rodriguez told Dr. Gazzillo that his right arm goes numb and he has pain when he drives. Dr. Gazzillo told him to only drive occasionally and only short distances. Rodriguez is still treating with Gazzillo. As of June 2017, Rodriguez was taking Vicodin as prescribed by Dr. Gazzillo.

In a workers' compensation context, treating physicians generally determine when an employee should return to work and whether the employee should return to full duty, part-time duty, or modified duty. The type of medication that the employee is taking can determine if he can go back to work.

Rodriguez applied for disability retirement on June 15, 2017. Dr. Weiss is an expert in orthopedics, impairment disability, and workers' compensation disability.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

Based on the foregoing facts and the applicable law, I CONCLUDE that the charges of conduct unbecoming a public employee; incompetency, inefficiency or failure to perform duties; chronic or excessive absenteeism or lateness; neglect of duty; and other sufficient cause are not sustained.

The purpose of the Civil Service Act is to remove public employment from political control, partisanship, and personal favoritism, as well as to maintain stability and continuity. Connors v. Bayonne, 36 N.J. Super. 390 (App. Div.), certif. denied, 19 N.J. 362 (1955). The appointing authority has the burden of proof in major disciplinary actions. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-1.4. The standard is by a preponderance of the credible evidence. Atkinson v. Parsekian, 37 N.J. 143 (1962). Major discipline includes removal or fine or suspension for more than five working days. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.2. Employees may be disciplined for insubordination, neglect of duty, conduct unbecoming a public employee, and other sufficient cause, among other things. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3. An employee may be removed for egregious conduct without regard to progressive discipline. In re Carter, 191 N.J. 474 (2007). Otherwise, progressive discipline would apply. W. New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500 (1962).

Hearings at the OAL are de novo. Ensslin v. Twp. of N. Bergen, 275 N.J. Super. 352 (App. Div. 1994), certif. denied, 142 N.J. 446 (1995).

Under N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(1), an employee may be subjected to major discipline for "incompetency, inefficiency, or failure to perform duties."

Absence of judgment alone can be sufficient to warrant termination if the employee is in a sensitive position that requires public trust in the agency's judgment. See In re Herrmann, 192 N.J. 19, 32 (2007) (DYFS worker who waved a lit cigarette lighter in a five-year-old's face was terminated, despite lack of any prior discipline). "There is no constitutional or statutory right to a government job." State-Operated Sch. Dist. of Newark v. Gaines, 309 N.J. Super. 327, 334 (App. Div. 1998). "In addition, there is no right or reason for a government to continue employing an incompetent and inefficient individual after a showing of inability to change." Klusaritz v. Cape May County, 387 N.J. Super. 305, 317 (App. Div. 2006) (termination was the proper remedy for a County treasurer who couldn't balance the books, after the auditors tried three times to show him how).

> In reversing the MSB's insistence on progressive discipline, contrary to the wishes of the appointing authority, the Klusaritz panel stated that "[t]he [MSB's] application of progressive discipline in this context is misplaced and contrary to the public interest." The court determined that Klusaritz's prior record is "of no moment" because his lack of competence to perform the job rendered him unsuitable for the job and subject to termination by the county.
> [In re Herrmann, 192 N.J. 19, 35-36 (2007) (citations omitted).]

There is no definition in the administrative code of the term "inefficiency," and therefore, it has been left to interpretation. In general, incompetence, inefficiency, or failure to perform duties exists where the employee's conduct demonstrates an unwillingness or inability to meet, obtain or produce effects or results necessary for adequate performance. Clark v. New Jersey Dep't of Agric., 1 N.J.A.R. 315 (1980).

The fundamental concept that one should be able to perform the duties of the position is stated in Briggs v. Department of Civil Service, 64 N.J. Super. 351, 356 (App. Div. 1960), which happens to be a probationary-period case involving a nurse:

> Manifestly, the purpose of the probationary period is to further test a probationer's qualifications. Neither the Legislature nor the Commission has given the courts any guidance in determining the extent of assistance or orientation which a probationer must receive. Undoubtedly her duties must be explained to her and she must be given reasonable opportunity to perform the duties expected of her. But this does not mean she is entitled to on-the-job training in the manner of performing her duties. This is what she must be qualified for—the proper performance of her duties as outlined by the appointing authority.

Conduct that occurs over a period of time, or frequently recurs, is considered "chronic," and may be the basis of discipline or dismissal. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(4). "Just cause for dismissal can be found in habitual tardiness or similar chronic conduct." W. New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500, 522 (1962). While a single instance may not be sufficient, "numerous occurrences over a reasonably short space of time, even though sporadic, may evidence an attitude of indifference amounting to neglect of duty." Ibid.

However, approval of an absence shall not be unreasonably denied. N.J.A.C. 4A:2-6.2(b).

In Cumberland County Welfare Board v. Jordan, 81 N.J. Super. 406 (App. Div. 1963), a classified employee who was granted a leave of absence was improperly denied an extension of that leave because of the appointing authority's failure to provide proper notice of the denial; the appointing authority knew she was absent, was aware that she was confined to a hospital, and had previously granted the leave.

"Unbecoming conduct" is broadly defined as any conduct which adversely affects the morale or efficiency of the governmental unit or which has a tendency to destroy public respect and confidences in the delivery of governmental services. The conduct need not be predicated upon the violation of any particular rule or regulation, but may be based merely upon the violation of the implicit standard of good behavior, which devolves upon one who stands in the public eye. In re Emmons, 63 N.J. Super. 136, 140 (App. Div. 1960).

Neglect of duty can arise from an omission or failure to perform a duty as well as negligence. Generally, the term "neglect" connotes a deviation from normal standards of conduct. In re Kerlin, 151 N.J. Super. 179, 186 (App. Div. 1977). "Duty" signifies conformance to "the legal standard of reasonable conduct in the light of the apparent risk." Wytupeck v. Camden, 25 N.J. 450, 461 (1957). Neglect of duty can arise from omission to perform a required duty as well as from misconduct or misdoing. Cf. State v. Dunphy, 19 N.J. 531, 534 (1955). Although the term "neglect of duty" is not defined in the New Jersey Administrative Code, the charge has been interpreted to mean that an employee has neglected to perform and act as required by his or her job title or was negligent in its discharge. Avanti v. Dep't of Military and Veterans Affairs, 97 N.J.A.R.2d (CSV) 564; Ruggiero v. Jackson Twp. Dep't of Law and Safety, 92 N.J.A.R.2d (CSV) 214.

In this matter Rodriguez was injured at work on October 24, 2016. He is still being treated by Dr. Gazzillo, his workers' compensation doctor provided by Paterson. Dr. Gazzillo wrote a note and filed out a questionnaire stating that Rodriguez could not return to full or light duty on June 5, 2015. At that time Rodriguez was taking the opioid medication Vicodin. The surveillance showed Rodriguez getting into a vehicle, leaning into a vehicle, walking around a vehicle, putting a skateboard into the vehicle, lifting his three-year-old daughter into the vehicle, putting her backpack into the vehicle, and holding bottles of water with the sling on his arm. He was not using a cane during the time these photos were taken. The surveillance did not show any strenuous activity that was undertaken by Rodriguez.

Paterson attempts to substitute the observations of Speziale and Oswald for medical documentation that Rodriguez can return to work. Dr. Gazzillo wrote that Rodriguez was unable to return to full or light-duty work on June 5, 2017. This was also the opinion of Dr. Weiss. Paterson has provided no medical testimony to refute Dr. Gazzillo or Dr. Weiss. There was no indication that Paterson ever asked what medication Rodriguez was taking.

I CONCLUDE that appellant's conduct by following the instructions of his Paterson provided workers' compensation doctor, Dr. Gazzillo, did not constitute conduct unbecoming a public employee, incompetency, inefficiency or failure to perform duties; chronic or excessive absenteeism or lateness, neglect of duty and, other sufficient cause.

In his closing brief Rodriguez submitted a motion to dismiss the charges pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:17B-243. N.J.S.A. 52:17B-243 provides:

> a. A State, county, or municipal law enforcement officer who has been injured in the performance of the officer's duties shall not be discharged from employment as a result of a determination, based upon a medical examination by a physician designated by the employer of the officer, that the officer is physically incapacitated, due to the injuries, for the performance of the officer's usual duties or any other available duties in the department which the employer is willing to assign to the officer.
>
> b. Pending retirement, the employer of the law enforcement officer shall maintain health insurance for the > officer at the level that coverage was provided prior to the injury.

>
> c. The provisions of this section shall apply only when the law enforcement officer has filed an application for retirement with the Police and Firemen's Retirement System, the State Police Retirement System, or the Public Employees' Retirement System and the officer has sick leave or workers' compensation time available.
> d. The provisions of this section shall apply to both civil service and non-civil service jurisdictions.

In this matter, Rodriguez was not terminated because of a determination based upon a medical examination by a workers' compensation physician that he is physically incapacitated due to the injuries for the performance of the officer's usual duties or any other available duties in the department which the employer is willing to assign to the officer. It is not a case that Paterson, believing Rodriguez was disabled, terminated him. Paterson did not believe that he was disabled from performing other available duties. Paterson believed that Rodriguez could work on modified duty. In addition, Rodriguez received his Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action on June 12, 2015, prior to his application for disability retirement.

I CONCLUDE that Rodriguez was not terminated as a result of a determination, based upon a medical examination by a physician designated by the employer of the officer, that the officer is physically incapacitated due to the injuries for the performance of the officer's usual duties or any other available duties in the department which the employer is willing to assign to the officer.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing findings of fact and applicable law, it is hereby ORDERED that the determination of respondent that appellant, Bijoy Rodriguez, be removed from employment is REVERSED.

I further ORDER that appellant be reinstated to his position as a police officer and that back pay and other benefits be issued to appellant as may be dictated by N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.10.

I hereby FILE my Initial Decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, MERIT SYSTEM PRACTICES AND LABOR RELATIONS, UNIT H, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, 44 South Clinton Avenue, P.O. Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Re: Margarette Jean-Baptiste v. Department of Military and Veterans Affairs (CSC Docket No. 2017-193; OAL Docket No. CSV 11504-16) - SETTLEMENT

Dear Mr. Montgomery and Ms. Sweeney:

The appeal of Margarette Jean-Baptiste, a Recreation Assistant with the New Jersey Veterans Memorial Home at Menlo Park, Department of Military and Veterans Affairs, of her 117 working day suspension, on charges, was before Administrative Law Judge Danielle Pasquale (ALJ), who issued her initial decision on December 19, 2017 indicating that the parties had reached a settlement.

The Civil Service Commission (Commission) received this matter on December 27, 2017 and received one 45-day extension of time, as required, to make its final decision no later than March 27, 2018. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. In this regard, if the Commission could not decide the matter by that date, it would normally request consent from the parties for a second 45-day extension of time to render its final decision. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. However, currently one of the three Commission members must be recused from participating on this matter, thus, there is not a quorum of members available to vote. Until such a quorum is secured, or, in other words, until an additional Commission member is seated, this matter cannot be decided by the Commission. We have no timeframe as to when that may occur. Based on this information, and given the fact that this matter was settled by the parties and a review of the settlement by staff indicates that it is in compliance with Civil Service law and rules, there does not appear to be a basis to further delay a final disposition. Thus, the Commission has determined not to seek any further extensions on this matter and, per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c), it is to be considered deemed adopted, effective March 28, 2018.

Sincerely,

Nicholas F. Angiulo

IN THE MATTER OF MARGARETTE JEAN-BAPTISTE, NJ VETERANS MEMORIAL HOME - MENLO PARK,
DEPARTMENT OF MILITARY & VETERANS AFFAIRS.

Raymond Montgomery, Staff Representative, AFSCME, for Appellant, Margarette Jean-Baptiste, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-5.4(a)6

Susan Sautner-Sweeney, Esq, for Respondent, NJ Department of Military & Veterans Affairs

Record Closed: December 5, 2017 Decided: December 19, 2017

BEFORE DANIELLE PASQUALE, ALJ:

On August 1, 2016, the above referenced matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for hearing as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F1 to -13. An In-Person Conference was held for December 13, 2017 and the parties agreed to settle the matter. An executed copy of the Settlement Agreement indicating the terms of the settlement was signed on said date and is attached hereto.

I have reviewed the record and terms of the settlement and FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by the signatures of the parties or their representatives.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with law.

I CONCLUDE that the agreement meets the safeguard requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and, accordingly, I approve the settlement and ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be CONCLUDED.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

For Removals, Complete the Following

1. To date, appellant has served a total of _____ days without pay based upon the above charges.

2. The total number of days of back pay, if any, to be paid by the appointing authority to the Appellant is as follows: _____.

3. Any other days from the time of last suspension day until reinstatement shall be treated as follows: _____.

4. (Strike if not applicable) The appellant agrees to a _____resignation in good standing

____ general resignation

which shall be effective _____[date]. Any days from the effective date of removal to the effective date of resignation shall be treated as follows:

_____.

The parties acknowledge that under N.J.A.C. 17:1-2.18, no pension or seniority time may be credited for periods for which the employee is not paid by the employer.

D. DMAVA (Respondent) shall amend Appellant's personnel records to conform to the terms of the settlement. All internal records of the Department of M. Jean-Baptiste will be kept intact. Nothing herein shall preclude the Department from releasing information on this matter to anyone who has a release executed by appellant or as consistent with the law. Any information regarding the underlying charges will be provided to the Public Employees Retirement System pursuant to N.J.S.A. 43:1-3.3 as amended effective April 14, 2007.

E. Appellant waives all other claims against Respondent Department with regard to this matter, including any award of back pay, counsel fees or other monetary relief, except as may otherwise be provided herein.

F. Except for the assessment of M. Jean-Baptiste's disciplinary record in any subsequent personnel disciplinary hearing, nothing in this agreement shall be deemed to be an admission of liability on behalf of either party. This agreement shall not constitute a precedent in matters involving other employees.

G. Appellant waives all claims, suits or actions, whether known, unknown, vested or contingent, civil, criminal or administrative, in law or equity against the State of New Jersey, the New Jersey Department of DMAVA, their employees, agents, or assigns, including but not limited to those which have been or could have been made or prosecuted on account of any conduct of any party occurring at any time with respect to the events, information or disputes giving rise to this action up to the date of this agreement, including, but not limited to, all claims under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Civil Rights Act of 1991, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Family Leave Act, the Family and Medical Leave Act, the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, the Equal Pay Act, the Conscientious Employee Protection Act, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, Title 11A - the Civil Service Act, the Older Workers Benefits Protection Act, the Occupational Safety and Health Act, the Public Employee

Occupational Safety and Health Act, the New Jersey Smoking Act, New Jersey wages and hours law, public works statutes, unemployment compensation laws, disability benefits laws, the United States Constitution, the New Jersey Constitution, any workers compensation or common law claims and any contract express or implied. This waiver includes all claims involving any continuing effects of actions or practices which arose prior to the date of this Settlement Agreement and bars the use in any way of any past action or practice in any subsequent claims, except pending workers' compensation claims.

H. The parties agree that if any portion of this Settlement Agreement is deemed unenforceable, the remainder of this Settlement Agreement shall be fully enforceable.

OAL DKT. NO. CSV 11504-16

1. This agreement will become effective only if approved by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION. Any disapproval by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION shall not interfere with the rights of either party to pursue the matter further.

Re: Joseph Sanger v. City of Newark Police Department (CSC Docket No. 2015-242; OAL Docket No. CSV 9287-14)

Dear Mr. Toscano and Ms. Casseus:

The appeal of Joseph Sanger, a Police Officer with the City of Newark Police Department, of his 10 working day suspension on charges, was before Administrative Law Judge Thomas R. Betancourt (ALJ), who rendered his initial decision on December 19, 2017, recommending upholding the suspension. No exceptions were filed on behalf of the parties.

The time frame for the Civil Service Commission (Commission) to make its final decision was to initially expire on February 2, 2018. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. Prior to that date the Commission secured a 45-day extension of time until March 19, 2018 to render its final decision. Since the next scheduled meeting was March 21, 2018 (rescheduled to March 27, 2018), it requested consent of the parties, as required, for an additional 45-day extension to render its final decision no later than May 3, 2018. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8. However, neither party provided consent for a further extension. Under these circumstances, the ALJ's recommended decision is deemed adopted as the final decision in this matter per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c), effective March 20, 2018.

SUMMARY DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. CSV 09287-14
AGENCY DKT. NO.: CSC 2015-242

JOSEPH SANGER,
Petitioner,

vs.

CITY OF NEWARK POLICE DEPARTMENT,
Respondent.

Patrick P. Toscano, Esq., for Appellant (Toscano Law Firm, LLC, attorneys)

France Casseus, Assistant Corporation Counsel, for Respondent

Record Closed: December 18, 2017 Decided: December 19, 2017

BEFORE THOMAS R. BETANCOURT, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Appellant, Joseph Sanger, appeals a Final Notices of Disciplinary Action, dated June 17, 2014, providing a penalty of ten days suspension.

The Civil Service Commission transmitted the contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to 15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14f-1 TO 13, to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on July 24, 2014.

A prehearing conference was held on December 8, 2014, with the Honorable Joan Bedrin-Miurray, ALJ, and a prehearing Order, dated December 12, 2014, was entered by Judge Bedrin-Murray.

Appellant filed a motion for summary decision on May 4, 2015 (dated April 30, 2015). Respondent filed a responsive brief on May 27, 2015 (dated May 21, 2015). Respondent in its brief asserts that there are no disputed facts, which is correct, and that the matter is ripe for summary decision. While Respondent does not specifically ask for summary decision, I am treating the responsive brief as a cross motion for summary decision.

The matter was transferred to the undersigned on December 18, 2017, as Judge Bedrin-Murray was confirmed by the New Jersey Senate to be a Judge of the Tax Court.

There does not appear to have been a request for an extension of time within which to render a decision on the motion for summary decision.

FINDINGS OF FACT

The following facts are undisputed:

1. Appellant, Joseph Sanger, was placed on Medical Certification on September 19, 2013. (Toscano certification, Exhibit D)

2. Medical Certification is set forth in Newark Police Department General Order No. 94-4. (Exhibit A, Respondent's brief)

3. After being placed on Medical Certification Appellant booked off work ten (10) days within a six month period from September 19, 2013 to March 19, 2014.

4. Each time Appellant took off work for a medical reason he provided medical documentation for each day.

5. Based upon the ten sick days aforesaid, Respondent filed a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action (PNDA), dated March 24, 2014, containing three charges: Charge A, Chapter 18:29.1 – Official Inefficiency or Incompetency; Charge B, Chapter Violation of Civil Service Rule 4A:2-2.3(a)1, Incompetency or Inefficiency. (Toscano Certification, Exhibit A)

6. The specification for the two charges in the PNDA were as follows: "On September 19, 2013, Police Officer Joseph Sanger, was placed on the Medical Certification List. Since being placed on Medical Certification, he has been out sick a total of ten (10) days, thus, failing to show any significant improvement during the six month period. Though (through?) his excessive six leave, he demonstrates an unwillingness and/or inability to meet, obtain or produce results necessary for a satisfactory performance." (Toscano certification, Exhibit A)

7. An Investigative Submission was prepared by Lieutenant Eugene M. Ballard which found that Appellant failed to show improvement in his sick time usage, after being placed on Medical Certification, in violation of Newark Police Rules and Regulations – Sick Leave Policy and Procedures, and Civil Service Rule 4A:2-2.3(a)4, chronic absenteeism. (Toscano certification, Exhibit C)

8. The charges set forth in the PNDA were sustained by Final Notice of Disciplinary Action (FNDA), dated June 17, 2014, which provided a penalty of a ten day suspension. (Toscano certification, Exhibit B).

9. Appellant has received the following discipline while a Newark Police Officer:

a. Disobedience of Orders – found guilty and served a three day suspension.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

A motion for summary decision may be granted if the papers and discovery presented, as well as any affidavits which may have been filed with the application, show that there is no genuine issue of material fact and the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). If the motion is sufficiently supported, the non-moving party must demonstrate by affidavit that there is a genuine issue of fact which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding, in order to prevail in such an application. Ibid. These provisions mirror the summary judgment language of R. 4:46-2(c) of the New Jersey Court Rules.

The motion judge must "consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party . . . , are sufficient to permit a rational fact finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party." Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520, 523 (1995). And even if the non-moving party comes forward with some evidence, this forum must grant summary decision if the evidence is "so one-sided that [the moving party] must prevail as a matter of law." Id. at 536 (citation omitted).

Having read the briefs and certification, and having reviewed the exhibits attached thereto, it is clear that there are no issues as to material fact and that the matter is ripe for summary decision.

The Civil Service Act, N.J.S.A. 11A:1-1 to -12.6, governs a civil service employee's rights and duties. The Act is an important inducement to attract qualified personnel to public service and is to be liberally construed toward attainment of merit appointments and broad tenure protection. See Essex Council No. 1, N.J. Civil Serv. Ass'n v. Gibson, 114 N.J. Super. 576 (Law Div. 1971), rev'd on other grounds, 118 N.J. Super. 583 (App. Div. 1972); Mastrobattista v. Essex County Park Comm'n, 46 N.J. 138, 147 (1965). The Act also recognizes that the public policy of this state is to provide appropriate appointment, supervisory and other personnel authority to public officials in order that they may execute properly their constitutional and statutory responsibilities. N.J.S.A. 11A:1-2(b). In order to carry out this policy, the Act also includes provisions authorizing the discipline of public employees.

A public employee who is protected by the provisions of the Civil Service Act may be subject to major discipline for a wide variety of offenses connected to his or her employment. The general causes for such discipline are set forth in N.J.A.C. 4A:2 2.3(a). In an appeal from such discipline, the appointing authority bears the burden of proving the charges upon which it relies by a preponderance of the competent, relevant and credible evidence. N.J.S.A. 11A:2-21; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-1.4(a); Atkinson v. Parsekian, 37 N.J. 143 (1962); In re Polk, 90 N.J. 550 (1982). The evidence must be such as to lead a reasonably cautious mind to a given conclusion. Bornstein v. Metro. Bottling Co., 26 N.J. 263 (1958). Therefore, the judge must "decide in favor of the party on whose side the weight of the evidence preponderates, and according to the reasonable probability of truth." Jackson v. Del., Lackawanna and W. R.R., 111 N.J.L. 487, 490 (E. & A. 1933). This burden of proof falls on the agency in enforcement proceedings to prove violations of administrative regulations. Cumberland Farms v. Moffett, 218 N.J. Super. 331, 341 (App. Div. 1987).

This forum has the duty to decide in favor of the party on whose side the weight of the evidence preponderates, in accordance with a reasonable probability of truth. Evidence is said to preponderate "if it establishes 'the reasonable probability of the fact.'" Preponderance may also be described as the greater weight of credible evidence in the case, not necessarily dependent on the number of witnesses, but having the greater convincing power. State v. Lewis, 67 N.J. 47 (1975). The evidence must "be such as to lead a reasonably cautious mind to a given conclusion." Bornstein v. Metro. Bottling Co., 26 N.J. 263, 275 (1958). The burden of proof falls on the appointing authority in enforcement proceedings to prove a violation of administrative regulations. Cumberland Farms v. Moffett, 218 N.J. Super. 331, 341 (App. Div. 1987). The respondent must prove its case by a preponderance of the credible evidence, which is the standard in administrative proceedings. Atkinson, supra, 37N.J. 143. The evidence needed to satisfy the standard must be decided on a case-by-case basis.

Newark Police Department General Order No. 94-4, at section IX, sets forth the procedures for Medical Certification. Section IX(E)(1)(a) provides, "If, after a three month period, the sick record of a member on Medical Certification has not significantly improved, the individual shall be considered for disciplinary charges under Chapter 6, of Rules and Regulations, Section 6:29-2, Official Inefficiency or Incompetency and/or Civil Service Rules 4A:2-2.3, Section (a) 4, Chronic Absenteeism."

N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)4 sets forth that an employee may be disciplined for excessive absenteeism. This is the "Civil Service Rules" which Section IX of the Newark Police Department General Order No. 94-4 refers. However, The PNDA, in Charge B, alleges a violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)1, Incompetency, inefficiency or failure to perform duties. The PNDA does not allege a violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)4, excessive absenteeism. As Newark Police Department General Order No. 94-4, Section IX, does not authorize a charge of violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)1, Incompetency, inefficiency or failure to perform duties, the same cannot be sustained as it is not a permissible charge under this section. Only charges under Chapter 6, of Rules and Regulations, Section 6:29-2, Official Inefficiency or Incompetency and/or Civil Service Rules 4A:2-2.3, Section (a) 4, Chronic Absenteeism.

The PNDA does charge Appellant with a violation of Newark Police Department Rules and Regulations, Section 18:29.1, which states: "Official inefficiency or incompetence. Department members whose performance is demonstrably inadequate or fails to meet, obtain or produce the effects or results mandated by Department orders and procedures shall be deemed in violation of this Rule and Regulation and shall be charged accordingly."

It is clear from the undisputed facts herein that Appellant showed little, if any, improvement in his use of sick time by booking out ten days in a six month period after being placed on Medical Certification. The fact that the Appellant provided medical documentation each time does not negate his non improvement. Newark Police Department General Order No. 94-4, at section IX clearly anticipates improvement in use of sick time. This simply did not occur during the relevant period. Clearly the evidence preponderates in favor of Respondent as the first charge in the PNDA.

Having determined that Appellant is guilty of the first charge in the PNDA it become necessary to determine if the ten day suspension called for in the FNDA is appropriate.

Unless the penalty is unreasonable, arbitrary, or offensively excessive, it should be permitted to stand. Ducher v. Dep't of Civil Serv., 7 N.J. Super. 156 (App. Div.

1950). Appellant's entire record of performance must be considered when attempting to determine if the judgment of the appointing authority was unreasonable, arbitrary or capricious. See Bock,supra, 38 N.J. 500.

Appellant has one minor disciplinary action in his record, having served a three day suspension in 2013 for Disobedience of Orders. I do not consider a ten day suspension in the present matter to be unreasonable, arbitrary or offensively excessive, and therefore the same should stand. See Ducher, supra.

Based on the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that Appellant's motion for summary decision should be DENIED; and that Respondent's cross motion for summary decision should be sustained as to the first charge in the PNDA, and denied as to Charge B in the PNDA, and that the ten day suspension set forth in the FNDA should be sustained.

ORDER

It is ORDERED that Respondent's motion for summary decision is GRANTED in part and DENIED in part, as follows:

1. The first charge in the PNDA is dismissed; and,
2. Charge B in the PNDA is sustained; and
3. The ten day suspension is sustained.

It is further ORDERED that Appellant's motion for summary decision is DENIED, and Appellant's appeal is dismissed with prejudice.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, DIVISION OF APPEALS AND REGULATORY AFFAIRS, UNIT H, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, 44 South Clinton Avenue, PO Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Re: Kile Johnson v. Mercer County Correction Center (CSC Docket No. 2017-2480 and OAL Docket No. CSV 2550-17)

Dear Mr. Catanzaro and Ms. Ruggieri-D'Amico:

The appeal of Kile Johnson, a County Correction Officer with the Mercer County Department of Public Safety, of his 25 working day suspension, on charges, was before Administrative Law Judge Mary Ann Bogan (ALJ), who rendered her initial decision on December 21, 2017, recommending modifying the 25 working day suspension to a 15 calendar day suspension. No exceptions were filed on behalf of the parties.

The time frame for the Civil Service Commission (Commission) to make its final decision was to initially expire on February 4, 2018. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. Prior to that date the Commission secured a 45-day extension of time until March 21, 2018 to render its final decision. This matter was to be heard at the scheduled March 21, 2018 Commission meeting. However, that meeting was cancelled due to the closing of State officers. Under these circumstances, the ALJ's recommended decision is deemed adopted as the final decision in this matter per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c), effective March 22, 2018.

Since the appellant's suspension has been modified, he is entitled to back pay, benefits and seniority. The amount of back pay awarded is to be reduced by any amounts earned by the appellant during that time. See N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.10. Proof of income earned should be submitted to the appointing authority within 30 days of receipt of this letter.

Sincerely,

Nicholas F. Angiulo
Deputy Director

INITIAL DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. CSV 2550-17
AGENCY DKT. NO. 2017-2480

IN THE MATTER OF KILE JOHNSON, MERCER COUNTY CORRECTION CENTER.

Mark W. Catanzaro, Esq., for appellant (Law Offices of Mark W. Catanzaro)

Stephanie R. D'Amico, Assistant County Counsel, for respondent (Arthur R. Sypek, Jr., County Counsel)

Record Closed: November 8, 2017 Decided: December 21, 2017

BEFORE MARY ANN BOGAN, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Respondent, Mercer County Correction Center, (MCCC) suspended appellant Kile Johnson for twenty-five working days. MCCC alleges that appellant, a corrections officer, was verbally and mentally abusive to an inmate on July 26, 2016, and that a suspension for a period of twenty-five working days was the appropriate penalty.

Appellant was charged for this offense with violations of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6), conduct unbecoming a public employee; and N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12), other sufficient cause; C3- Physical or mental abuse of a patient, client, resident or employee; C4- Verbal abuse of patient, client, resident or employee; D6- Violation of administrative procedures and/or regulations those involving safety and security (Step 3); SOP 004 Employee Handbook; SOP 238 Post Orders Corrections Officer (general); and D-16 Intentional abuse or misuse of authority. Appellant maintains that he did nothing wrong and submitted that he acted appropriately when he used profanity to control the inmate who he was escorting.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On August 1, 2016, the MCCC issued a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action charging the appellant. (R-4.) After a departmental hearing on December 16, 2016, MCCC issued a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action on January 24, 2017, sustaining the charges in the Preliminary Notice, except for the Mercer County Public Safety Table of Offense C8-Falsification, intentional misstatement of material fact in connection with work, employment, application, attendance or in any record. The appellant was suspended from employment for twenty-five working days. (R-5.) Appellant appealed on February 3, 2017, and on February 22, 2017, the matter was filed at the Office of Administrative Law for hearing as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to 15 and N.J.S.A. 14F-1 to 13. The matter was heard on October 24, 2017. The parties filed post-hearing briefs and the record closed on November 8, 2017.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS

Deidre Burgess (Burgess) is a corrections officer at MCCC. Burgess works in the 106-room, and is responsible for overseeing inmates while they wait to meet with the doctor who is located in that office. The Office of Internal Affairs is also located in the 106-room and is used to interview cooperating inmates when they have useful information for a case.

On July 26, 2016, Burgess called for an inmate to be transported to the mental health office because the inmate threatened to kill himself. Appellant was the escort officer assigned to bring the inmate to the 106-room. When they arrived at the 106-room, Burgess heard the inmate complaining that his handcuffs were too tight. She heard the appellant respond to the inmate by saying, "sit your bitch ass back down". The inmate sat down, and did not use profanity.

Phyllis Oliver came out from the Captain's office, which is also located in the 106-room, stepped in between the inmate and the appellant, and told the appellant to step back. Then Burgess heard the inmate threaten to spit on the appellant, and use profanity for the first time.

Burgess prepared an incident report on the same day of the incident. She acknowledged that she documented that "upon them entering the door, profanity was being exchanged." Burgess urged that the exchange between the appellant and the inmate was the appellant using profanity, and the inmate complaining about the handcuffs being too tight. (R-1.)

Tangela Wright (Wright) has been employed by the Appointing Authority for twelve years as a senior clerk. She was working in the 106-room with the Deputy Warden when she heard the inmate complain that his cuffs were too tight, and she heard the appellant respond by saying to the inmate "shut the fuck up and sit down." She then heard the inmate respond by saying to the appellant, "pussy ass cop." Wright submitted an incident report to Oliver on the same day. (R-2.)

Phyllis Oliver (Oliver) has worked at the Correction Center for thirty years, and has served as Deputy Warden since January 2015. Oliver was working in the Captain's office, next to the mental health office, when she heard someone enter the 106-room saying, "shut the fuck up" and "sit your bitch ass back down." She exited the Captain's office, and saw the appellant standing in front of the inmate. Oliver went in between the appellant and the inmate, and directed the appellant to leave. Appellant left the room. Oliver called the appellant back and told him to write an incident report. At that point, the inmate started yelling profanities at the appellant. When Oliver checked the inmate's handcuffs, she noticed marks on the inmate's wrist, and adjusted the handcuffs because they were too tight.

Oliver prepared an incident report on the same day as the incident. (R-3.) Oliver also drafted the preliminary notice of disciplinary action recommending that appellant be suspended for forty-five days. (R-4.) After a departmental hearing, a final notice of discipline was issued suspending appellant for twenty-five days. (R-5.)

Oliver found the twenty-five day suspension appropriate since this is a Step 3 discipline. Appellant has previously been issued a Step 2 D6 safety violation, and served a six-day suspension. (R-10.)

Kile Johnson, appellant, testified that he has been a corrections officer for more than sixteen years. He was assigned to escort the inmate to the 106-room. This was the first time that appellant met and escorted this inmate. This inmate was confined to the area of the prison for inmates who require complete lockup because they committed infractions while in prison. When Johnson arrived at the transport area, the inmate was arguing with an officer about wearing handcuffs. The inmate was not on suicide watch, and appellant was not informed that the inmate was a mental health inmate.

Appellant handcuffed and shackled the inmate according to policy. The inmate complained the handcuffs were too tight. Appellant checked the inmate's handcuffs and determined the fit was appropriate. Appellant used profanity in a verbal "exchange" with the inmate because the inmate continued to curse at the appellant as they exited his cell area. Appellant reasoned that officers engage in verbal exchanges using profanity because the inmate only knows the "language of the street", and the use of profanity helps to control the inmate.

The inmate and the appellant continued their verbal exchange using profanity, when they entered the 106-room. When the appellant told the inmate to sit down, the inmate continued to curse at him. When the inmate began to stand back up, the inmate said he would spit on the appellant. The appellant put his hand on the inmate's shoulder, and responded with profanity.

Oliver came between them, and directed the appellant to leave. After the appellant exited, he received a radio message, and returned. Oliver directed him to prepare an incident report. He "assumed" she was asking for a report about the inmate's conduct because she said, "write an incident report." His omission of his own use of profanity was not intentional, and he did not think the language he used was abusive. Rather he used profanity to control the inmate without force, and its use continued in the 106-room because the inmate threatened him, and spit on him.

After carefully reviewing the documentary evidence presented, and after having had the opportunity to listen to testimony and observe the demeanor of the witnesses, I FIND the following to be the relevant and credible FACTS in this matter:

Appellant has been a corrections officer at the Mercer County Correction Center for more than sixteen years. On July 26, 2016, appellant was the escort officer assigned to escort a mental health inmate to the 106-room to be evaluated by a mental health professional because the inmate threatened suicide. Appellant used profanity while speaking to the inmate, as he transported the inmate to the 106-room. Appellant continued to use profanity towards the inmate in the 106-room. The inmate also used profanity towards the appellant in the 106-room. Oliver, Burgess and Wright heard the appellant and inmate use profanity. Appellant admits that he used profanity while escorting the inmate to the 106-room, and while in the 106-room. Appellant was directed to complete an incident report. Appellant reported the inmate's use of profanity but he did not report his own use of profanity when reporting the incident.

I FIND that the appellant's use of profanity while speaking to the inmate, as he escorted him, and in the 106-room, was not in accord with the Standing Operating Procedures, and the use of profanity by a corrections officer is misconduct. I further FIND as FACT that appellant did not fully and accurately report his own use of profanity while speaking to the inmate, and I FIND that the incident report prepared by him was not accurate and complete.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

A civil service employee who commits a wrongful act related to his or her duties, or gives other just cause, may be subject to major discipline. N.J.S.A. 11A:2-6; N.J.S.A. 11A:2-20; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.2; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3. In an appeal from such discipline, the appointing authority bears the burden of proving the charges upon which it relied by a preponderance of the competent, relevant, and credible evidence. N.J.S.A. 11A:2-21; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-1.4(a); Atkinson v. Parsekian, 37 N.J. 143 (1962); In re Polk, 90 N.J. 550 (1982). The evidence must be such as to lead a reasonably cautious mind to the given conclusion. Bornstein v. Metro. Bottling Co., 26 N.J. 263, 275 (1958). The preponderance may also be described as the greater weight of credible evidence in a case, not necessarily dependent on the number of witnesses, but having the greater convincing power. State v. Lewis, 67 N.J. 47 (1975). Testimony, to be believed, must not only proceed from the mouth of a credible witness, but it must be credible in itself. Spagnuolo v. Bonnet, 16 N.J. 546, 554–55 (1954). Both guilt and penalty are redetermined on appeal from a determination by the appointing authority. Henry v. Rahway State Prison, 81 N.J. 571 (1980); W. New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500 (1962). An appeal to the Civil Service Commission requires the Office of Administrative Law to conduct a de novo hearing and to determine the appellant's guilt or innocence, as well as the appropriate penalty. In re Morrison, 216 N.J. Super. 143 (App. Div. 1987); Cliff v. Morris Cnty. Bd. of Soc. Servs., 197 N.J. Super. 307 (App. Div. 1984).

As a corrections officer, appellant is held to a higher standard of conduct than ordinary public employees. In re Phillips, 117 N.J. 567, 576-77 (1990). They represent "law and order to the citizenry and must present an image of personal integrity and dependability in order to have the respect of the public." Township of Moorestown v. Armstrong, 89 N.J. Super. 560, 566 (App. Div. 1965), certif. denied, 47 N.J. 80 (1966). Maintenance of strict discipline is important in military-like settings such as police departments, prisons and correctional facilities. Rivell v. Civil Serv. Comm'n, 115 N.J. Super. 64, 72 (App. Div.), certif. denied, 50 N.J. 269 (1971); City of Newark v. Massey, 93 N.J. Super. 317 (App. Div. 1967). Refusal to obey orders and disrespect of authority cannot be tolerated. Cosme v. Borough of E. Newark Twp. Comm., 304 N.J. Super. 191, 199 (App. Div. 1997).

> The need for proper control over the conduct of inmates in a correctional facility and the part played by proper relationships between those who are required to maintain order and enforce discipline and the inmates cannot be doubted. We can take judicial notice that such facilities, if not properly operated, have a capacity to become "tinderboxes."

[Bowden v. Bayside State Prison, 268 N.J. Super. 301, 305-06 (App. Div. 1993), certif. denied, 135 N.J. 469 (1994).]

Based on the specifications in the charges, appellant was charged with conduct unbecoming a public employee, in violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6); and other sufficient cause, in violation of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12). In addition, appellant was charged with violations of the Mercer County Public Safety Table of Offenses, C3 physical or mental abuse of patient, client, resident or employee; C4 verbal abuse of a patient, client, resident or employee; D6 Violation of Administrative procedures and/or regulations those involving safety and security (Step 3), and D16 Intentional abuse or misuse of authority. Appellant was also charged with violating the following Standing Operating Procedures; SOP-004 Employee Handbook; SOP238 Post Orders Correction Officer (general).

N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6), conduct unbecoming a public employee is often described as an elastic phrase that includes any conduct that adversely affects the morale or efficiency of a governmental unit or that has a tendency to destroy public respect for governmental employees and confidence in public entities. Karins v. City of Atl. City, 152 N.J. 532, 554 (1998); see also In re Emmons, 63 N.J. Super. 136, 140 (App. Div. 1960). A finding or conclusion that a public employee engaged in unbecoming conduct need not be based upon the violation of a particular rule or regulation, and may be based upon the violation of the implicit standard of good behavior governing public employees consistent with public policy. City of Asbury Park v. Dep't of Civil Serv., 17 N.J. 419,429 (1955); Hartmann v. Police Dep't of Ridgewood, 258 N.J. Super. 32, 40 (App. Div. 1992).

I CONCLUDE that appellant's use of profanity with the inmate did rise to a level of conduct unbecoming a public employee. The basis for the charge of conduct unbecoming was the verbally abusive manner in which the appellant spoke to the inmate. Appellant's conduct was such that it could adversely affect the morale or efficiency of a governmental unit or destroy public respect in the delivery of governmental services. Such behavior does not reflect the implicit standard of good behavior governing public employees consistent with public policy. Therefore, as to this charge, respondent has met its burden of proof that appellant did commit an act of unbecoming conduct.

Appellant has also been charged with violating SOP 238 and SOP 004. (R-7,6.) SOP 238 provides in relevant part as follows:

> Correction officers are required to submit accurate and complete written reports as directed, and to immediately report, both orally and in writing, all incidents of an unusual nature.

In addition, SOP 004 provides in relevant part as follows:

> 1.03.1 Officers/Correctional Employees have the right to be treated with respect by their Superior Officers, as well as by their peers, inmates, subordinates, and the public. Although it is recognized that respect cannot be mandated by rules or regulations, nevertheless, it is required that Officers/Correctional Employees show proper courtesy, attention, and consideration in their interactions with respect to Superior Officers, other employees, inmates, and with people in the community.
>
> 1.03.5 Officers/Correctional employees shall not mistreat persons who are in their custody, but shall handle such persons in accordance with the law and departmental procedures. Inmates shall be protected by adult county correctional facility staff from personal abuse, corporal punishment, personal injury, disease, property damage and harassment. In accordance with the Federal Prison Rape Elimination Act of 2003 (PREA), 42 U.S.C., et. seq., zero tolerance for the incidence of sexual assault shall be > maintained at adult county correctional facilities. Appropriate disciplinary action shall be taken against facility staff who engages in abusive behavior and, when necessary, these cases will be referred to the county prosecutor.

I CONCLUDE that appellant's conduct violated SOP 238 as he did not fully and accurately report his own use of profanity during the incident with the inmate, and that the incident report was not accurate and complete. I also CONCLUDE that appellant's conduct violated SOP 004 as he did not show proper courtesy, attention, and consideration in their interactions with respect to . . . inmates, as outlined in 1.03.1. I also CONCLUDE that appellant conducted himself in a manner that rises to the level of verbal abuse when he used profanity when speaking with the inmate as outlined in 1.03.5.

Appellant has also been charged with violating N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a) (12), "Other sufficient cause." Other sufficient cause is an offense for conduct that violates the implicit standard of good behavior that devolves upon one who stands in the public eye as an upholder of that which is morally and legally correct. As to the charge of other sufficient cause, appellant conducted himself in a manner that violated standards of good behavior. As such, I CONCLUDE that the respondent has met its burden of proof on this issue.

Appellant has been charged with violations of C3 physical or mental abuse of patient, client, resident or employee. As to this charge, the appellant's use of profanity was serious, offensive, and inappropriate, however the respondent did not demonstrate that the appellant's use of profanity, both in content and manner, rose to the level of mental abuse. Furthermore, SOP 004 and SOP 238 provide insufficient guidelines of the kinds of conduct that are considered mentally abusive. The respondent did not meet its burden of proof that appellant's use of profanity while speaking to a mental health inmate rose to the level of an act of mental abuse of an inmate. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the respondent has not met its burden of proof on this issue.

Appellant has been charged with violations of C4 verbal abuse of a patient, client, resident or employee. As to this charge, respondent has met its burden of proof that appellant used profanity while speaking to a mental health inmate thereby committing an act of verbal abuse. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the respondent has met its burden of proof on this issue.

Appellant has been charged with D6 Violation of Administrative procedures and/or regulations involving safety and security (Step 3) for creating a safety and security risk by using profanity while speaking to the inmate. While the use of profanity in a closed office environment, such as the 106-room, may less likely create a safety risk in the correction center, the appellant used profanity while escorting the inmate from his cell to the 106-room, and therefore created a risk of inciting prisoners, and created a safety risk. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the respondent has met its burden of proof on this issue.

Appellant has been charged with D16 Intentional abuse or misuse of authority by his conduct. Appellant, who was in a position of authority, used profanity when speaking to and directing the inmate while he escorted him shackled and handcuffed. This is clearly an abuse of his authority. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the respondent has met its burden of proof on this issue.

PENALTY

A civil service employee who commits a wrongful act related to his duties may be subject to major discipline. N.J.S.A. 11A:1-2(b), 11A:2-6, 11A:2-20; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.2, -2.3(a). As previously set forth, this is a de novo review of appellant's disciplinary action. In determining the appropriateness of a penalty, several factors must be considered, including the nature of the employee's offense, the concept of progressive discipline, and the employee's prior record. George v. N. Princeton Developmental Ctr., 96 N.J.A.R.2d (CSV) 463. Pursuant to West New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500, 523–24 (1962), concepts of progressive discipline involving penalties of increasing severity are used where appropriate. See also In re Parlo, 192 N.J. Super. 247 (App. Div. 1983). The question to be resolved is whether the discipline imposed in this case is appropriate.

In his sixteen-year history at Mercer County Correction Center, appellant has been issued multiple corrective actions for lateness beginning in 2005, and unsatisfactory attendance and chronic and excessive absenteeism beginning in 2003. He has also been issued four major suspensions beginning with a seven-day suspension in November 2011, for conduct unbecoming, lateness and chronic absenteeism; a five-day and a ten-day suspension for insubordination in June 2012, and December 2013, respectively; and similar to the charges in this case, a six-day suspension for violating administrative procedures, those involving safety and security, in June 2015.

For his actions arising out of this incident, appellant has been found to have violated N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6), "Conduct unbecoming a public employee" and N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(11), "Other sufficient cause." In addition, appellant has been found guilty of violations of SOP 004 Employee Handbook and SOP 238 Post Orders for failing to submit an accurate and complete written report. Appellant was given a twenty-five day suspension.

This suspension is not consistent with the disciplinary process outlined in MCCC's table of offenses. After having considered all of the proofs offered in this matter, and the impact upon the institution regarding the behavior by appellant herein, and after having given due deference to the impact of and the role to be considered by and relative to progressive discipline, I CONCLUDE that appellant's violations are significant enough to warrant a penalty, which, in part, is meant to impress upon him, the seriousness of the use of profanity and any further infractions by him in that regard, and it is of no consequence whether or not the inmate used profanity. Appellant's history of major discipline includes a six-day suspension penalty relating to the safety of the institution, in addition to three previous major disciplines. Furthermore, I do not find that he mentally abused a mental health inmate by using profanity. A reasonable calculation of progressive discipline in the presence of the prior disciplinary actions, the conduct of the appellant, and the current violation is a fifteen-day suspension.

I CONCLUDE that a fifteen-day suspension is appropriate and consistent with progressive discipline.

ORDER

It is ORDERED that the charges against the appellant for violations of N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(6), conduct unbecoming a public employee; and N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)(12), other sufficient cause; C4- Verbal abuse of patient, client, resident or employee; D6- Violation of administrative procedures and/or regulations those involving safety and security (Step 3); SOP 004 Employee Handbook; SOP 238 Post Orders Corrections Officer (general); and D-16 Intentional abuse or misuse of authority are AFFIRMED. The charge of C3 physical or mental abuse has not been sustained and is REVERSED. Accordingly, I ORDER that the action of the Appointing Authority is MODIFIED. Appellant will receive a fifteen-calendar day suspension.

Since the penalty has been modified, I ORDER that appellant is entitled to back pay, benefits, and seniority pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.10. The amount of back pay awarded is to be reduced and mitigated for that period of time when back pay was waived. However, the appellant is not entitled to counsel fees. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.12(a), the award of counsel fees is appropriate only where an employee has prevailed on all or substantially all of the primary issues in an appeal of a major disciplinary action. The primary issue in any disciplinary appeal is the merits of the charges, not whether the penalty imposed was appropriate. See Johnny Walcott v. City of Plainfield, 282 N.J. Super, 121, 128 (App. Div. 1995); James L. Smith v. Department of Personnel, Docket No. A-1489-02T2 (App. Div. March 18, 2004); In the Matter of Robert Dean (MSB, September 21, 1989). In the case at hand, while the penalty was modified and one of the charges was dismissed, the Commission has sustained the remaining charges and imposed major discipline. Therefore, the appellant has not prevailed on all or substantially all of the primary issues of the appeal. See In the Matter of Bazyt Bergus (MSB, decided December 19, 2000), aff'd, Bazyt Bergus v. City of Newark, Docket No. A-3382-00T5 (App. Div. June 3, 2002); In the Matter of Mario Simmons (MSB, decided October 26, 1999). See also, In the Matter of Mario Simmons (MSB, October 26, 1999). See also, In the Matter of Kathleen Rhoads (MSB, decided September 10, 2002) (Counsel fees denied where removal on charges of insubordination, inability to perform duties, conduct unbecoming a public employee and neglect of duty was modified to a 15-day suspension on the charge of neglect of duty).

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, DIVISION OF APPEALS AND REGULATORY AFFAIRS, UNIT H, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, 44 South Clinton Avenue, PO Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Re: Harold Kewer, Jr. v. Township of West Milford, Department of Public Works (CSC Docket No. 2016-977 and OAL Docket No. CSV 15155-15)

Dear Mr. Gollin and Mr. Corrigan:

The appeal of Harold Kewer, Jr., Laborer 1, Township of West Milford, Department of Public Works, of his removal effective August 6, 2015 on charges, was before Administrative Law Judge Thomas R. Betancourt (ALJ), who rendered his initial decision on December 22, 2017, recommending upholding the removal. No exceptions were filed on behalf of the parties.

The time frame for the Civil Service Commission (Commission) to make its final decision was to initially expire on February 5, 2018. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6. Prior to that date the Commission secured a 45-day extension of time until March 22, 2018 to render its final decision. This matter was to be heard at the scheduled March 21, 2018 Commission meeting. However, that meeting was cancelled due to the closing of State officers. Under these circumstances, the ALJ's recommended decision is deemed adopted as the final decision in this matter per N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c), effective March 23, 2018.

Sincerely,

Nicholas F. Angiulo

Kathleen F. Mazzouccolo, Esq., AFSCME NJ OC 963, and Seth Gollin, Union Representative, AFSCME NJ, appearing for Appellant

David F. Corrigan, Esq., appearing for Respondent

Hearing Date: October 20, 2017 Decided: December 22, 2017

BEFORE THOMAS R. BETANCOURT, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Appellant, Harold Kewer, Jr., appeals a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action (FNDA), dated August 6, 2015, providing a penalty of removal effective the same date.

The Civil Service Commission transmitted the contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to 15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14f-1 TO 13, to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on September 28, 2015.

The Honorable Joan Bedrin-Murray, ALJ, conducted a prehearing conference on December 15, 2015, and issued a prehearing order dated December 21, 2015.

A hearing was held on August 4, 2016. The record remained open for submission of post hearing briefs. Several extensions were granted for the filing of post hearing briefs. Respondent filed its brief on December 21, 2016. The post hearing brief for Appellant was not filed until April 2, 2017. The file indicates that the record was closed on October 20, 2017.

The matter was transferred from Judge Bedrin-Murray to the undersigned on December 18, 2017, as Judge Bedrin-Murray was confirmed by the New Jersey Senate to be a Judge of the Tax Court.

The undersigned conducted a telephone conference with Respondent's counsel and Seth Gollin of AFSCME NJ, (Appellant's previous counsel, Ms. Mazzouccolo retired) on December 20, 2017. Both consented to the undersigned issuing this Initial Decision without need to request an extension of time to do the same.

The undersigned reviewed the file, the transcript of proceedings, all exhibits, Respondent's and Appellant's post hearing briefs, and listened to the recording of the hearing prior to issuing this Initial Decision.

ISSUE

Whether there is sufficient credible evidence to sustain the charges set forth in the Final Notice of Disciplinary Action; and, if sustained, whether a penalty of removal is warranted.

SUMMARY OF RELEVANT TESTIMONY

Appellant's Case

Steve Vizzi, testified as follows:

He is employed by the Township of West Milford (Township), and has been for twenty-nine years. His title is sewer repairman, but he performs other tasks such as driving trucks and operating equipment. He holds a commercial driver's license (CDL) and has since 1991.

He failed a drug test last year and he had a Driver While Intoxicated (DWI) conviction in November 2009.

For the DWI the Township did not discipline him. He lost his CDL for one year and his driving privileges for seven months as a penalty for the DWI. The Township placed him in Borough Hall to do maintenance and then in the garage to assist with mechanic work. When his driving privileges were restored he was then able to drive cars and pick-up trucks as part of his duties. The DWI occurred in a private vehicle and not while working for the Township.

The drug test he failed was in July 2015. For this he received a sixty day suspension, which was a negotiated settlement of disciplinary charges. As part of the disciplinary settlement he signed a last chance agreement where he would be terminated in the event of a subsequent failed drug test. He was also required to see David Peterson, the Township's substance abuse professional. Mr. Peterson recommended he attend a thirty day outpatient rehabilitation program. The fee was $550.

Harold Kewer, Jr., Appellant testified as follows:

Mr. Kewer worked for the Township's Department of Public Works (DPW) for approximately eight years. He stated he never received a memo from Joanne Fantry regarding when his health insurance would end.

He never contacted Mr. Peterson for counseling. He stated the reason was he thought he had no health insurance and could not afford to pay Mr. Peterson's fee. He signed the letter of referral on July 30, 2015 and was terminated on August 6, 2015. During his previous suspension he had not contacted Mr. Peterson until after a month went by. After being terminated he no longer felt there was a need to contact Mr. Peterson.

He did not request a departmental hearing as the PNDA had a 180 day suspension set forth. He thought by not requesting a hearing he was accepting the suspension. No one from the Township contacted him to advise him to the contrary. He would have accepted a 180 day suspension. He would have attended substance abuse counselling and agree to additional testing.

When questioned about the PNDA and that the document also read that removal was also a disciplinary option, Mr. Kewer stated he thought that meant the removal was the immediate removal from the job leading to the suspension.

He understood from the referral letter that he was required to contact Mr. Peterson. He did not receive the FNDA until at least two weeks after it was issued. During that time he did not contact Mr. Peterson.

The first time he tested positive he did not contact Mr. Peterson for a month. He knew there was a fee from that experience.

He knew he had health insurance during the two weeks from the date of the FNDA until he received notice. He did not contact anyone at the Township to inquire as to health insurance. He assumed it ended with his termination. He never received the letter from Ms. Fantry advising him health benefits would expire on September 30, 2015. He stated he did not know who to contact to inquire about health insurance.

He did speak with Ms. Fantry regarding a paycheck he thought he was due, but was not told about the health insurance expiration date.

When he was advised from the testing agent he had tested positive for cocaine he did not inform the Township. He was under the assumption the testing agent would do so.

He did attend some type of substance abuse program through his father's church. He denies a substance abuse problem, but admits to alcohol consumption.

Respondent's Case

Catherine Shanahan testified as follows:

She is employed by the Township and has been for eighteen years. Her present position is administrative secretary. Her duties include designated employer representative which is the contact person for drug testing. She receives drug test results. When there is a positive result the employee must be immediately removed from the position.

When Mr. Kewer first tested positive for marijuana in 2012 Ms. Shanahan, after receiving the results of the drug test, contacted Mr. Kewer's supervisor to remove Mr. Kewer from his position. As a result of the failed drug test Mr. Kewer was required to attend substance abuse program. While in the program Mr. Kewer was required to abstain from alcohol. He was found to be positive for alcohol during the program. As a result of the positive alcohol finding Ms. Shanahan prepared a memorandum wherein she indicated she received a call from the nurse with the results; and, that she then contacted Mr. Peterson who recommended Mr. Kewer complete an additional two weeks in the program.

Mr. Kewer again tested positive, this time for cocaine in 2015. The results of the test were first told to Mr. Kewer by Valley Health, the drug test provider for the Township. Afterward Ms. Shanahan was notified by Valley Health. Mr. Kewer did not inform Ms. Shanahan of the positive test.

A Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action (PNDA) was prepared and mailed to an incorrect address. This address was the address on file with the personnel department and the address provided by Mr. Kewer. The mail was returned undelivered. The personnel department then ascertained Mr. Kewer's correct address through DMV and mailed the PDNA to that address. Mr. Kewer received the PDNA as the Township received a return receipt from the postal service.

Mr. Kewer signed a letter of referral. This document is required for anyone who has a positive drug test. Ms. Shanahan personally witnessed Mr. Kewer sign the letter as he came to borough hall to do so. Mr. Kewer was referred to Mr. Peterson. Mr. Kewer never contacted Mr. Peterson.

Mr. Kewer never requested a hearing after receiving the PNDA. Thereafter a Final Notice of Disciplinary Action (FNDA) was issued.

Mr. Kewer was sent a letter from Joanne Fantry, the Township's then personnel clerk, which advised Mr. Kewer his health insurance through the Township would end on September 30, 2015.

Ms. Shanahan prepared a time line of Mr. Kewer's history as an employee of the Township. The time line was prepared from records maintained by her.

Mr. Kewer is the only employee that has tested positive more than once.

Ms. Shanahan is familiar with the Township's alcohol and drug policy.

STIPULATED FACTS

1. On January 1, 2008, the Township of West Milford (Township) hired Harold Scott Kewer (Kewer) in the Department of Public Works.

2. In his position, he was required to possess a Commercial Driver's License (CDL). As a result, Kewer was subject to random drug testing.

3. On October 16, 2012, Kewer tested positive for marijuana (J-1). He was immediately suspended without pay. Ultimately he was suspended for 43 working days without pay (J-2). As a result of the positive drug test, he was subject to mandatory counseling and treatment. On December 27, 2012, Kewer returned to work. On January 2, 2013, in violation of his treatment program, Kewer tested positive for alcohol (J-3). Nevertheless, Kewer was permitted to continue working for the Township.

4. On June 29, 2015, Kewer tested positive for cocaine (J-4). Accordingly, on July 15, 2015 a Preliminary Notice of Disciplinary Action (PNDA) was issued and he was suspended without pay pending a hearing (J-5). This PNDA was sent to 100 Ridge Road, the address Kewer had on file in the Personnel Department. On July 21, 2015, the PNDA was re-sent to Mr. Kewer's correct address, 644 Warwick Turnpike, which the Personnel Department had tracked down through the DMV site. It was signed on July 29, 2015 after two attempts (J-5a). Again, Mr. Kewer neglected to notify his supervisor or Administration of his positive drug test even though he had been advised of same on June 29, 2015. He instead submitted a doctor's note to be excused from work from July 13, 2015 to July 17, 2015, and continued to call in sick (J-6).

5. On July 30, 2015, Kewer came to the Administrator's office and signed the "Substance Abuse Professional Letter of Referral" stating that he would call Mr. Peterson, the Township's substance abuse professional (J-7). However, Kewer did not contact Mr. Peterson

6. Kewer did not request a departmental hearing. Therefore, on August 6, 2015, the Final Notice of Disciplinary Action (FNDA) was issued (J-9). Kewer signed for the FNDA on August 17, 2015.

7. Kewer has the following history of accidents: Mr. Kewer had one accident in March 2013; two in December 2013; and, one in January of 2014, as follows:

Scott Kewer/History of Accidents

March 8, 2013 – hit truck while plowing. Claimant: Joseph Ragonese, $4,599.62

December 12, 2013 – overturned salt truck - $38,821.33

December 13, 2013 – truck slid and hit claimant's vehicle. Claimant: Kevin Vriesma, $7,972.34

January 21, 2014 – Backed up with salt spreader, hit boulder approximate $3,000 in damage. It was repaired in house.

Total: $54,353.29

However, Kewer was not disciplined for any of these accidents.

8. Township records show Kewer remained on Health Insurance until September 30, 2015 (J-8). Kewer states he was unaware of continuation of benefits and therefore did not attend substance abuse counselling due to lack of ability to pay.

9. PNDA set forth 180 days suspension without pay as options and /or removal. Kewer would have accepted the 180 day penalty.

LEGAL ANALAYSIS AND CONCLUSION

The Civil Service Act, N.J.S.A. 11A:1-1 to -12.6, governs a civil service employee's rights and duties. The Act is an important inducement to attract qualified personnel to public service and is to be liberally construed toward attainment of merit appointments and broad tenure protection. See Essex Council No. 1, N.J. Civil Serv. Ass'n v. Gibson, 114 N.J. Super. 576 (Law Div. 1971), rev'd on other grounds, 118 N.J. Super. 583 (App. Div. 1972); Mastrobattista v. Essex County Park Comm'n, 46 N.J. 138, 147 (1965). The Act also recognizes that the public policy of this state is to provide appropriate appointment, supervisory and other personnel authority to public officials in order that they may execute properly their constitutional and statutory responsibilities. N.J.S.A. 11A:1-2(b). In order to carry out this policy, the Act also includes provisions authorizing the discipline of public employees.

A public employee who is protected by the provisions of the Civil Service Act may be subject to major discipline for a wide variety of offenses connected to his or her employment. The general causes for such discipline are set forth in N.J.A.C. 4A:2 2.3(a). In an appeal from such discipline, the appointing authority bears the burden of proving the charges upon which it relies by a preponderance of the competent, relevant and credible evidence. N.J.S.A. 11A:2-21; N.J.A.C. 4A:2-1.4(a); Atkinson v. Parsekian, 37 N.J. 143 (1962); In re Polk, 90 N.J. 550 (1982). The evidence must be such as to lead a reasonably cautious mind to a given conclusion. Bornstein v. Metro. Bottling Co., 26 N.J. 263 (1958). Therefore, the judge must "decide in favor of the party on whose side the weight of the evidence preponderates, and according to the reasonable probability of truth." Jackson v. Del., Lackawanna and W. R.R., 111 N.J.L. 487, 490 (E. & A. 1933). This burden of proof falls on the agency in enforcement proceedings to prove violations of administrative regulations. Cumberland Farms v. Moffett, 218 N.J. Super. 331, 341 (App. Div. 1987).

This forum has the duty to decide in favor of the party on whose side the weight of the evidence preponderates, in accordance with a reasonable probability of truth. Evidence is said to preponderate "if it establishes 'the reasonable probability of the fact.'" Preponderance may also be described as the greater weight of credible evidence in the case, not necessarily dependent on the number of witnesses, but having the greater convincing power. State v. Lewis, 67 N.J. 47 (1975). The evidence must "be such as to lead a reasonably cautious mind to a given conclusion." Bornstein v. Metro. Bottling Co., 26 N.J. 263, 275 (1958). The burden of proof falls on the appointing authority in enforcement proceedings to prove a violation of administrative regulations. Cumberland Farms v. Moffett, 218 N.J. Super. 331, 341 (App. Div. 1987). The respondent must prove its case by a preponderance of the credible evidence, which is the standard in administrative proceedings. Atkinson, supra, 37N.J. 143. The evidence needed to satisfy the standard must be decided on a case-by-case basis.

An appeal to the Merit System Board requires the Office of Administrative Law to conduct a de novo hearing and to determine appellant's guilt or innocence as well as the appropriate penalty. In the Matter of Morrison, 216 N.J. Super. 143 (App. Div. 1987).

The sustained charges in the Final Notice of Disciplinary Action (R-2) are set forth as: inability to perform duties; conduct unbecoming a public employee; violation of Federal regulations concerning drug and alcohol use by and testing of employees who perform functions related to the operation of commercial motor vehicles, and State and local policies issued thereunder; and, other sufficient cause – violation of West Milford Rules and Regulations. These charges are set forth in N.J.A.C. 4A:2.3(a) (3), (6), (10) and (12) respectively.[1]

"Conduct unbecoming a public employee" encompasses conduct that adversely affects the morale or efficiency of a governmental unit or that has a tendency to destroy public respect for government employees and confidence in the operation of governmental services. Karins v. City of Atl. City, 152 N.J. 532, 554 (1998). It is sufficient that the complained-of conduct and its attending circumstances "be such as to offend publicly accepted standards of decency." Id. at 555 (citation omitted). Such misconduct need not necessarily "be predicated upon the violation of any particular rule or regulation, but may be based merely upon the violation of the implicit standard of good behavior which devolves upon one who stands in the public eye as an upholder of that which is morally and legally correct." Hartmann v. Police Dep't of Ridgewood, 258 N.J. Super. 32, 40 (App. Div. 1992) (citation omitted).

Use of illegal drugs clearly encompasses conduct unbecoming. See Ronald Stuiso v. Borough of Rutherford, CSV 11869-04 (Initial Decision) June 7, 2006, http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/html/initial/csv11869-04_1.html; Shannon v. City of Newark, CS 05034-05 (Initial Decision) April 4, 2006, http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/html/initial/csv05034-05_1.html. In the instant matter Petitioner does not contest that he tested positive for illegal drugs twice (marijuana in 2009 and cocaine in 2015). Petitioner also does not contest that he tested positive for alcohol in 2012 in violation of his treatment program.

[1] The charge of "violation of Federal regulations concerning drug and alcohol use by and testing of employees who perform functions related to the operation of commercial motor vehicles, and State and local policies issued thereunder "is incorrectly cited as N.J.A.C. 4A:2.3(a)(11) in the FNDA.

Appellant also does not contest that he violated federal regulations concerning drug and alcohol use or that he violated the Township's rules and regulations.

It is without question that the Township has carried its burden by a preponderance of the credible evidence. Most of the facts relating to this matter have been stipulated.

The only issue needed to be decided is whether the penalty of removal is warranted herein.

Appellant has three violations during his tenure as an employee of the West Milford DPW, as follows:

1. Positive test for marijuana in 2012 and was ultimately suspended for 43 days. He was also required to undergo mandatory counseling and treatment;
2. During the course of this mandatory treatment Petitioner tested positive for alcohol, a violation of his treatment program; and,
3. Positive test for cocaine in 2015.

Appellant also has a history of vehicle accidents while working, the damages from which total in excess of $50,000.

Appellant argues that he should be given a second chance and be suspended for 180 days and be allowed to return to employment, undergo the necessary treatment and ultimately be returned to his job. He bases this argument on a nonsensical position that he failed to contact Mr. Peterson initially after the positive cocaine result as he thought he no longer had health insurance and could not afford. He was previously suspended and underwent treatment for a positive marijuana test. Further, he made no effort to contact Mr. Peterson, or to ascertain whether or not health insurance coverage was still in effect. It seems clearly a self-serving position.

Although the focus is generally on the seriousness of the current charge as well as the prior disciplinary history of the appellant, consideration must also be given to the purpose of the civil service laws. Civil service laws "are designed to promote efficient public service, not to benefit errant employees . . . The welfare of the people as a whole, and not exclusively the welfare of the civil servant, is the basic policy underlining the statutory scheme." State Operated School District v. Gaines, 309 N.J. Super. 327, 334 (App. Div. 1998). "The overriding concern in assessing the propriety of the penalty is the public good. Of the various considerations which bear upon that issue, several factors may be considered, including the nature of the offense, the concept of progressive discipline, and the employee's prior record." George v. North Princeton Developmental Center, 96 N.J.A.R. 2d. (CSV) 463, 465.

In West New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500, 522 (1962), which was decided more than fifty years ago, our Supreme Court first recognized the concept of progressive discipline, under which "past misconduct can be a factor in the determination of the appropriate penalty for present misconduct." In re Herrmann, 192 N.J. 19, 29 (2007) (citing Bock, supra, 38 N.J. at 522). The Court therein concluded that "consideration of past record is inherently relevant" in a disciplinary proceeding, and held that an employee's "past record" includes "an employee's reasonably recent history of promotions, commendations and the like on the one hand and, on the other, formally adjudicated disciplinary actions as well as instances of misconduct informally adjudicated, so to speak, by having been previously brought to the attention of and admitted by the employee." Bock, supra, 38 N.J. 523–24.

As the Supreme Court explained in In re Herrmann, supra, 192 N.J. at 30, "[s]ince Bock, the concept of progressive discipline has been utilized in two ways when determining the appropriate penalty for present misconduct." According to the Court:

> . . . First, principles of progressive discipline can support the imposition of a more severe penalty for a public employee who engages in habitual misconduct. . . .
> The second use to which the principle of progressive discipline has been put is to mitigate the penalty for a current offense . . . for an employee who has a substantial record of employment that is largely or totally unblemished by significant disciplinary infractions. . . .

> . . . [T]hat is not to say that incremental discipline is a principle that must be applied in every disciplinary setting. To the contrary, judicial decisions have recognized that progressive discipline is not a necessary consideration when . . . the misconduct is severe, when it is unbecoming to the employee's position or renders the employee unsuitable for continuation in the position, or when application of the principle would be contrary to the public interest.
> [In re Hermann, supra, 192 N.J. at 30–33 (citations omitted).]

In the matter of In re Stallworth, 208 N.J. 182 (2011), a Camden County pump-station operator was charged with falsifying records and abusing work hours, and the ALJ imposed removal. The Commission modified the penalty to a four-month suspension and the appellate court reversed. The Court re-examined the principle of progressive discipline. Acknowledging that progressive discipline has been bypassed where the conduct is sufficiently egregious, the Court noted that "there must be fairness and generally proportionate discipline imposed for similar offenses." In re Stallworth, supra, 208 N.J. at 193. Finding that the totality of an employee's work history, with emphasis on the "reasonably recent past," should be considered to assure proper progressive discipline, the Court modified and affirmed (as modified) the lower court and remanded the matter to the Commission for reconsideration.

In deciding what penalty is appropriate, the courts have looked toward the concept of progressive discipline. In Bock, supra, 38 N.J. at 523-524, The New Jersey Supreme Court held that evidence of a past disciplinary record, including the nature, number, and proximity of prior instances of misconduct, can be considered in determining the appropriate penalty. Also, where an employee's misconduct is sufficiently egregious, removal may be warranted and need not be preceded by progressive penalties. In re Hall, 335 N.J. Super. 45 (App. Div. 2000), certif. denied, 167 N.J. 629 (2001); Golaine v. Cardinale, 142 N.J. Super. 385, 397 (Law Div. 1976), aff'd, 163 N.J. Super. 453 (App. Div. 1978), certif. denied, 79 N.J. 497 (1979). The penalty imposed must not be so disproportionate to the offense and the mitigating circumstances that the decision is arbitrary and unreasonable.

In the instant matter, Appellant has three failed tests, one for marijuana, one for alcohol (in violation of his treatment program for the positive marijuana test) and one for cocaine. Further, Appellant has a substantial history of vehicle accidents while working. The penalty herein of termination is not so disproportionate to the offense and mitigating circumstances as to be arbitrary and unreasonable.

I CONCLUDE that the respondent has carried its burden to prove by a preponderance of the credible evidence that that appellant was guilty of the charges set forth in the Final Notice of Disciplinary Action; and, that the penalty of removal is warranted.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that appellant's appeal is DENIED;

It is further ORDERED that sustained charges contained in the Final Notice of Disciplinary Action dated August 6, 2015 are AFFIRMED, and the penalty of removal, effective August 6, 2015, is AFFIRMED.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Civil Service Commission does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the DIRECTOR, DIVISION OF APPEALS AND REGULATORY AFFAIRS, UNIT H, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, 44 South Clinton Avenue, PO Box 312, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0312, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.
