The President laid before the Senate the following communication from the State Printer, in reply to the resolution adopted during the morning session :

TRUE AMERICAN OFFICE,
TRENTON, February 3, 1864.

SIR :—The Resolution adopted by the Senate at this morning's session, complaining of the want of promptness on the part of the State Printer, in furnishing bills ordered to be printed, for which the Senate does not know the reason, renders it necessary for the undersigned to request you to make known to the Senate that there has been no want of promptness or endeavor on his part, to supply the bills to the Senate as fast as by the ordinary process of printing it can be done. The work has been steadily pursued by day and night and even on Sundays, and every diligence used to keep pace with the unusual and extraordinary rapidity with which the Legislature has been reading and disposing of bills, and the undersigned takes leave to remark that at no other session of the Legislature, has the same number of bills been introduced at the same stage of the session—bills, too, which seem to require no deliberation or discussion, and are not even subjected to the process customary to the Senate at least, of two full readings previous to engrossment. In order to show that there has been no lack of diligence on the part of the undersigned, he presents the following facts :

In addition to 1,500 copies of the Governor's Message, the Directories and Diagrams for the two Houses; of 60 bills sent from the Senate between the 20th and 28th of January, there have been completed and returned 44½ bills, contained on 32½ sheets, 13 copies each, or 4,225 printed sheets ; at the same time the House has sent 62 bills, of which 41 have been returned, contained on 33 sheets of 130 copies each, of an aggregate of 4,790 printed sheets, [one of these bills received 630 impressions.

In arranging the Legislative work it is necessary to attend to all branches of it, and the force of the office, larger than it ever was before, (except absences occasioned by sickness during the last week) has to be divided but in view of the unusual and unprecedented pressure of bills, we have added hands and a new press to the bill department, of which the effect will be seen in a day or two. The undersigned would regret that it was deemed necessary to remind him by resolution of what was clearly his duty, did it not afford him this opportunity for this public explanation, and to assure the Senate that whatever human industry can do in a mechanical work subject to various contingencies shall be done to expedite the work entrusted to him.

Very respectfully,

DAVID NAAR.

The same Senator, Chairman of Committee on State Prison, made the following report:

The Joint Committee on State Prison, Report,

That having made a careful examination of the accounts and vouchers of the Keeper of the Prison from the year ending November 30, 1863, they find them correct—and further having examined the Prison, its cells and workshops, they find all in good order; the wants of the prisioners are well and carefully provided for and every attention paid to neatness and clenliness, thus having a great bearing on the health of the Institution. Your Committee, however, cannot refrain from bringing to your notice the condition of those Lunatics now confined in this Prison, being three in number, as being in a place entirely unsuitable to persons in their situation; if the object of the institution is to reclaim and bring back to society those erring ones, then the object is entirely lost, as it is impossible to treat them in such an institution either morally or otherwise so as to insure recovery, and recommend that some action be taken in reference thereto.

Humanity demands it—there appears to your committee to be a necessity for a place of worship for the convicts, as they now hear instruction each are in his own cell, not seeing the Speaker, and not being seen by him, much of the moral force is lost; it is not known by the Speaker what effect the discourse has on his hearers and for aught that any one knows the time may be occupied in acts of mischief and would certainly be a favorable time to make preparations for means of escape. There is further, much inconvenience, in having the female convicts confined as they now are in the same wing and in the same neighborhood of male convicts; all of which in the opinion of your Committee might be remedied, by the building of a new wing so constructed as to contain the cells for the female convicts and a chapel for moral instruction on the second floor, of said wing, where the instructor and the instructed will be brought face to face in giving and receiving such instructions. Your Committee therefore recommend the erection of such wing.

Your Committee would further report that the abstract laid before the Legislature by the Governor has been carefully compared, and find the same to be a correct statement from the books of the Prison. Your Committee in closing their report would specially recommend that before balancing the books on the 30th day of November as now required by law, that all outstanding debts of the Prison should be obtained and made to appear before the books so that an exact balance might be obtained and a statement of the liabilities and assets of the Prison in each annual statement be fully presented.

A supplement to an act entitled "An act to incorporate the Hibernia Iron Company," approved February 15, 1856,

For the purpose of directing the attention of the Senate to an evident omission in the seventh line of the engrossed bill. The framer of the bill doubtless intended to insert after "purpose," the words "shall direct," or words to the same effect. Unless the omission be supplied, the preceeding part of the section is unmeaning and inoperative. As it now stands, it does not provide a mode for opening the subscription to the capital stock of the Company. The engrossed bill is a true copy of the printed bill and of the original manuscript,

Very respectfully,

At 3 o'clock P. M. the Senate met.

The Committee on Education to whom was referred the report of the State Superintendent of Public Schools respectfully report as follows:

The document submitted to us and the statement made by Town Superintendents which accompany it afford satisfactory evidence that our common schools are in a very prosperous condition at the present time, and we learn that the people are acting with a liberal spirit in their efforts for the encouragement of Education; it is the opinion of your Committee that the Legislature should do something liberal for these Institutions.

so dear to the people. Our public schools are represented as being destitute of nearly all the apparatus so essential to study and instruction, and we are respectfully asked by the people to furnish such aid as will be valuable in this direction. Your Committee have consulted together upon the subject and after running over the field of study usually marked out for our common schools have fixed upon Geography as one of the most important branches, in which the Legislature can render the service requested of them; by dilligent enquiry we find that there is a deplorable want of the aid so necessary to a profitable pursuit of this study. Very few of our public schools are furnished with Maps or Globes, and in those thus furnished the articles are antiquated and almost useless. Your Committee have decided that the most acceptable gift which could be made to our schools at the present time, would be a complete map of the United States. This map should combine as many advantages as possible for school purposes. Fortunately we need not go beyond the limits of our own State for the article so much needed.

Professor A. Guyott, of Princeton College, a gentleman whose name is received by the scientific world and whose reputation is a sufficient guarantee for the reliability of the work, has just compiled a map of the United States, which for information respecting our Country physically and descriptively is not equalled by anything of the kind, and your Committee truly believe that no measure of this body would be more gratifying to the people or more advantageous to the schools under your fostering care than to furnish each of them with a copy of this valuable map, and your Committee ask leave to report a bill for the said purpose, all of which is earnestly recommended and respectfully submitted.

JOHN BLANE,
GEO. D. HORNER.

Which was read and adopted.

A message was received from his Excellency, the Governor, by the hands of his private Secretary as follows:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
TRENTON, Feb. 17, 1864.

To the Senate:

I return to the Senate where it originated, Bill No. 15, together with my objections. The bill authorizes the laying out of an avenue, one hundred feet wide, in the township of East Orange, town of Orange, and township of West Orange, in the county of Essex. The first section appoints three commissioners to survey, lay out and locate said avenue, upon a route defined by the second section of the act. The fourth section gives to the said commissioners, or a majority of them, full power at their discretion, to allow damages for lands taken, and to charge the benefits upon owners of lands in the neighborhood, and their decision is made final. The powers thus vested in the commissioners, are of an extraordinary character, and infringe on the rights of land owners. Land may be taken for public use upon just compensation, but it should not be taken without the owners' consent, unless opportunity be given for full investigation of the question of damages. The power to take lands against the will of the owner, is somewhat arbitrary in its character, and the law should throw around the owner every reasonable guard and protection consistent with the public good. Such has uniformly been the course of legislation in this State. Wherever authority is given to a corporation to take lands for public improvement, or to the public for highways, provision is made in the law for the appointment of a sworn tribunal to assess damages. Notice of the meeting of the commissioners or surveyors of the highways, to determine the question of damages, is also required, and in most cases an appeal from the decision is given. The bill is deficient in all these requisites:

1st. The act does not require the commissioners to be sworn. I know of no instance in this State, in which land has been taken from the owner, and damages awarded for right of way, where the tribunal invested with the decision has not acted under oath or affirmation. Should objection be made, it is doubtful whether the courts would sustain the action of commissioners not sworn. This omission could not be obviated in the case by administering an oath, because an oath not authorized or required by the act, would be nugatory.

2d. The bill does not provide for notice to the parties interested, of the time and place, when and where the commissioners will meet to hear and determine the question of damages and benefits. I have no doubt that the commissioners would give notice, for they are gentlemen of high character; but so important a duty should not be left optional. The law should explicitly require the notice and specify the time and manner of the service.

3d. An appeal from the decision of the commissioners is not given by this act. This alone might not be sufficient cause to return a bill for reconsideration, where the Legislature had decided that no appeal was necessary. There has been a departure from the almost uniform course of legislation in this respect, in a few instances of application to form turnpikes on the route of old roads, where damages to land-owners would necessarily be merely nominal. In cases of new routes, where the right of way had not previously been taken, and especially where the tribunal of original adjudication is not appointed on notice, it is due to the land owner to give him the privilege of a re-hearing. This, of course, should be so done as not unnecessarily to interfere with the progress of the proposed improvement. I do not doubt the good faith of the applicants for this law, nor that the proposed improvement would conduce to the public convenience. My objections relate entirely to the mode in which it is proposed to take the lands over which the road is designed to run. The bill was probably prepared in haste, and the usual guards to land owners were unintentionally omitted. If the bill should become a law in its present form, it would establish a precedent destructive to the rights of property.

JOEL PARKER.

Which was read, and on motion of Mr. Buckley, ordered to lie upon the table.

Gentlemen voting in the affirmative, were-

Messrs. Blane, Buckley, Garwood, Horner, Jenkins, Kennedy, Leaming, Little, Ludlam, Randolph, Reeves, Robins (President), Scudder, Smith, Stille, Trusdell—16.

Negative—none.

Under the direction of the President the Secretary carried the same to the House of Assembly, and informed them that the Senate had passed the same without amendment.

Mr. Randolph offered the following resolutions:

WHEREAS, The Legislature of this State has information of the death of the Hon. E. W. Whelpley, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of New Jersey, and whereas, it is eminently proper that the legislative bodies of this State should make distinct recognition of their appreciation of the distinguished services of the deceased, therefore be it Resolved, (By the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey,) That the State has suffered in the death of Chief Justice Whelpley, a loss most difficult to repair, whether considered with reference to his personal merits, his eminent legal ability, his logical powers, or the constant evidence of extraordinary powers, shown by his judicial career, and marked as it was by an exalted sense of justice, and that we mourn with unfeigned sorrow the death of one whose life had been of so much service to the State, and upon whom the State had delighted to bestow one of its brightest honors.

Be it Resolved, That as an evidence of our respect for the memory of the Chief Justice, a committee of two members of the Senate and three members of the Assembly be appointed to attend his funeral services at Morristown.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be entered at length upon the journals of the respective Houses, and that an engrossed copy of them be transmitted to the family of the late Chief Justice, with the assurance of the sympathy of the Legislative bodies of this State in their bereavement.

Mr. Randolph said that introducing these resolutions imperfect as they were as an adequate expression of the sorrow of the legislative bodies, still promptly recognizing the almost irreparable loss sustained by the State, they would perhaps be more fully appreciated than more studied words delayed in expression would be. Not himself of that learned profession to which the lamented deceased had belonged, it was not his purpose nor his province to refer to those legal and judicial traits of Judge Whelply's character, which had made him pre-eminent among his co-laborers at the bar and upon the bench. It was perhaps sufficient for him to say that what was almost universally conceded to be his distinguishing and noble traits of character by his professional colleagues was quite as universally endorsed by the people of the State from whom he held one of their chiefest trusts.

Residing for a time in his vicinity, he knew of him as a neighbor and a citizen, and he could say without fear of contradiction that in all relations of life he occupied a position that few men reach, and which it would be almost pardonable for most human kind to envy.

Mr. R. said he felt his incompetency to do more than offer these sincere resolutions with an undoubted faith in their meeting a unanimous response.

[Messrs. Scovel, Holsman and Scudder also spoke feelingly and eloquently of the deceased and his many excellent qualities.]

Which, after being read, were unanimously adopted, and Messrs. Randolph and Leaming appointed to attend the funeral on the part of the Senate.

Ordered, That the Secretary inform the House of Assembly and request their concurrence.

On motion of Mr. Randolph, the Senate then adjourned.

Also, Senate bill No. 119, entitled

Severally correctly engrossed.

A message from His Excellency, the Governor, was then taken up and read as follows:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
TRENTON, Feb. 23, 1864.

To the Senate:

I return to the Senate where it originated,

Senate bill No. 35, entitled,

A further supplement to the act entitled "An act to create from parts of the town of Orange, and the townships of Caldwell and Livingston, in the county of Essex, a new township, to be called the township of Fairmount," approved March 11, A. D., 1862.

Accompanied by my objections to the bill.

The first, second and third sections of the act relates to the raising of money to pay bounties to volunteers; the fourth section provides for the holding elections; while the fifth section extends the benefits and provisions of the act entitled "An act to authorize the trustees of Saint Mark's School District in the town of Orange, in the county of Essex, to sell and convey certain real estate," approved March 7, 1861, to the trustees of Saint Mark's School District in the township of West Orange;

the object of the 5th section is entirely different from that expressed in either of the other sections of the act. There is not the most remote connection between the subjects, nor does the title of the bill indicate in the slightest degree the purpose of the fifth section. If in a bill to amend the charter of the City of Trenton, a section should be incorporated to renew the charter of one of the excellent banking institutions, located within the limits of the city, the subjects of the act would not be more incongruous than in the case now under consideration; nor would such a law be a clearer violation of the Constitution of the State.

The fourth paragraph of the 7th section of Article II, of the Constitution, reads as follows, viz.: "To avoid improper influences which may result from intermixing in one and the same act, such things as have no proper relation to each other; every law shall embrace but one object, and that shall be expressed in the title."

Each of the objects contemplated in this act is right in itself, and I will cheerfully sign separate bills to accomplish what is desired by the applicants. But in the face of an express prohibition of the organic law, I cannot sign this bill, although its provisions are limited and not general in their application. It is very certain that the sale of lands under an unconstitutional act, would not convey title; but even if no mischievous results would directly follow, yet it would stand upon the Statute Book as a precedent to be deprecated.

JOEL PARKER.

On motion of Mr. Buckley, the vote by which

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
TRENTON, March 22.

Gentlemen of the Senate and General Assembly:

At the extra session of 1861, a law was passed providing that the sum of six dollars per month be paid by this State to the families of the militia who should be mustered into the services of this State or of the United States.

In order to relieve the wants of those whom circumstances render most in need, some amendment to the law is necessary. If a soldier is killed or dies from wounds or disease, his pay from the United States of course ceases, and the bereaved family is also suddenly cut off from receiving the monthly bounty provided by the State. It is true that the laws of the United States authorize pensions in such cases, but many months elapse before the pension is received, and in the meantime the family must suffer for the necessaries of life. Many such instances have come to my notice.

Where the wife and children, or widowed mother, lose by death the staff of their support, they not only need but deserve increased aid. I therefore recommend that a supplement to said law be passed, authorizing the continuation of the payment of six dollars per month to the families of married men and the widowed mothers of single men, militia of this State, who die while in the military service of this State or of the United States for six months after the death of the soldier, unless a pension be sooner received.

JOEL PARKER.

A message was received from His Excellency, the Governor, by the hands of his Private Secretary, as follows:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
TRENTON, March 23.

Gentlemen of the Senate and General Assembly:

The following bill reported by the Committee on Military Affairs of the House of Representatives of the United States, is now pending in that body, viz:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress Assembled, That the railroad of the Camden and Atlantic Railroad Company, and the branches thereof, built and to be built, and the railroad of the Raritan and Delaware Bay Railroad Company, and the branches thereof, built and to be built, are hereby declared to be lawful structures and public highways of the United States.

"SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the said railroads and branches, with a ferry or ferries from Camden, in the State of New Jersey, to Philadelphia, in the state of Pennsylvania, and steamboats and other vessels from Port Monmouth, in the state of New Jersey, to the city of New York running in connection with said roads, and hereby established and recognized as a post route, military road, and public highway of the United States for the purpose of transmission of the mails, troops, and munitions of war of the United St tes, and for the transportation of goods, wares, and merchandise of foreign growth across the state of New Jersey, under permits granted by the collectors of ports of the United States authorized to grant the same, and for commerce among and between the several states of the United States.

"SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That the Camden and Atlantic Railroad Company, and the Raritan and Delaware Bay Railroad Company, chartered by the State of New Jersey, or either of them, or their assigns, are hereby authorized and empowered to complete, maintain, and operate the said railroads and branches, and to establish, maintain, and run the said ferries, steamboats and other vessels as a line of transportation for goods, wares and merchandise of all descriptions, and passengers between the cities of New York and Philadelphia, and between the intermediate places and said cities, respectively, and for commerce between and among the several states of the United States, anything in any law or laws of the above-named States to the contrary notwithstanding."

The fact that one of the important committees of Congress, has reported a bill so seriously affecting the rights of this State, and the additional fact that its passage is urged with great pertinancy by interested parties, apparently with some hope of success, require that I should bring the subject to the attention of the Legislature.

In the consideration of this question, two inquiries naturally arise. First, would the proposed action of Congress, if consumated, affect the pecuniary interests of this State? Second and chiefly, would such action infringe upon the sovereignty of the State?

At an early day, the State of New Jersey, for a consideration, made a contract with certain companies, during a specified time, not to construct or authorize others to construct, any railroad across this State, to be used for the transportation of passengers or merchandise, between the cities of New York and Philadelphia, without consent of said companies. This privilege was granted partly as an inducement to the investment of private funds, in what was then considered a hazardous enterprize, and partly in consideration of the transfer, to the State, of a portion of their capital stock, and the agreement annually to pay the amount of certain transit duties, in the State Treasury. Whether such a contract was wise, and calculated to advance the public welfare, is a question not involved in the consideration of the subject now presented. The contract, as it stands, has been sustained by the courts, and whatever difference of opinion may exist, as to the policy that dictated it, our solemn agreement cannot now be repudiated without the violation of law, nor without dishonor. It is for you to inquire whether the proposed action of Congress, would affect the interest of the State in the stock, dividends or transit duties, derived from said companies.

But the pecuniary interest of the State is of little importance in comparison with the principle involved; and I therefore direct your attention, particularly, to the second inquiry before mentioned. New Jersey is a sovereign State, and it is our duty, by every lawful means, to protect and defend her sovereignty; and transmit, unimpaired to posterity, all her rights as they were received by us from our fathers. In the exercise of her rightful powers she may build, maintain and manage lines of public travel within her territory; or she may grant to others the right to construct such works, under such regulations and upon such conditions as she may see fit to impose. When the States entered into the national compact they yielded to the General Government the right to establish post roads for the conveyance of mails, and the power to construct military roads in time of war, for the transportation of troops; but even these roads must be operated by the government, and not through the agency or for the benefit of private corporations. A law of Congress proposing to exceed the powers granted by the States, infringes upon their reserved rights, and detracts from the State Legislatures a portion of their rightful authority. The roads which Congress proposes to invest with such extraordinary powers are already post routes; and the President has been authorized by law to use any railroad in the country for military purposes. Therefore, no additional legislation is needed to make these roads, post or military routes; nor has any been asked for by the President, the Secretary of War, or by the Post-master General. The third section of the bill declares the real object of its originators, which is to empower the companies, therein named, not merely to carry the mail, or to convey troops and munitions of war, but to transport goods, wares and merchandise of all descriptions, and passengers, between New York and Philadelphia, notwithstanding any law of this State to the contrary. And not only is this authority to be given on the main line of the roads, but the proposition before Congress is, to grant the power to carry freight and passengers on all branches thereof, built and to be built. If such a law be valid, the Legislature of the State is a powerless body, and our citizens must hereafter beg Congress for the privilege of constructing works of public improvement on our own soil. The passage of such an act (although of no binding force, because unconstitutional) would be an insult to the people of New Jersey. It would take the creatures of our law, now under the ban of judicial injunction for violation of our statutes, and, in direct opposition to the decision of our courts, attempt to make them independent of and superior to the power that created them. Such action deserves, and should receive, the strongest legislative remonstrance. Let it be distinctly understood, by those who would inflict this wrong and indignity upon our State, that while New Jersey will comply with every legal obligation, and will respect and protect the rights of all, she will not permit any infringement of her rights without resorting to every lawful means to prevent it.

JOEL PARKER.

WHEREAS, Said bill authorizes and empowers the said Companies chartered by the State of New Jersey, to complete and operate the said railroads and branches, and to establish, maintain and run ferries, steamboats and other vessels in connection therewith, as a line of transportation for goods, wares and merchandize of all descriptions, and passengers between the cities of New York and Philadelphia, and between intermediate places and cities, anything in the laws of this State to the contrary notwithstanding; and

JAMES JENKINS,
J. F. LEAMING,
E. W. SCUDDER,
} Senate Committee.

1. Because it proposes to divest the State of its local territorial jurisdiction over its own citizens, within its own limits, over its own soil; and would be the unprecedented and unnecessary exercise of a power, not belonging to the United States, and never before claimed by the general government.

2. Because it proposes to empower these corporations to extend branch railroads anywhere within the State, wholly within the jurisdiction of New Jersey, to the injury of the State and every railroad interest therein, and in direct defiance of the authority and rights of the State.

3. Because it proposes to empower corporations, created by the Legislature of this State, to do what the Legislature never gave then power to do—to make the creatures superior to the creator, and allow them with impunity to violate the laws of New Jersey, by which they exist, and to defy the process of her Courts.

4. Because such special legislation, aimed only at New Jersey, would be a wanton insult to the dignity of the State, in derogation of her reserved rights, and in violation of the contracts she has made, and which have been pronounced by the Courts to be constitutional and binding; be it further

Resolved, That a copy of the foregoing resolution be forwarded to the Senators and members of Congress from New Jersey, and they be requested to use all proper exertions to prevent the passage of a bill so injurious to the rights of our State, and offensive to her citizens.

A message was received from the House of Assembly by the hands of their Clerk, announcing that the House of Assembly had adopted the following Resolutions, occasioned by the announcement to the House of Assembly, of the death of their late Speaker, made to them by the Honorable Robert Hamilton their Speaker pro tem.

WHEREAS, Since the last adjournment of the Legislature, the Honorable Joseph N. Taylor, of the County of Passaic, late Speaker of the House of Assembly, has suddenly and unexpectedly departed this life, and

WHEREAS, This body has listened with deep interest and regret to the announcement just made of this solemn event, therefore:

Resolved, That in view of an occurrence so impressive, removing the deceased in the vigor of his days from the duties of a conspicuous official position, we recognize with humility and awe the inscrutable Providence that governs the world. And mourning as we do the loss which the event has occasioned to the family and friends of the deceased, to the House over which he presided, and to the State at large, we bow to the decree and acknowledge the righteousness and wisdom of Him "in whose hands our life is, and whose are all our ways."

Resolved, That the ability, frankness and courtesy displayed by the deceased as Speaker of this House, and no less in the genial intercourse and duties of life, both official and social, deservedly secured to him, while living, an unusual share of influence and regard; and gave promise, had that life been prolonged, of still greater usefulness and honored in the future.

Resolved, That in testimony of our grief and respect, the Sergeant-at-Arms be directed to cause this Hall to be draped in mourning for the remainder of the present session, and that as a body we will attend the funeral of the deceased.

Resolved, That the Sergeant-at-Arms be directed to have the flag on the State House displayed at half mast from sunrise to sunset to-morrow.

Resolved, That the foregoing resolutions be enrolled on the minutes of this House, and that a copy thereof be transmitted by the Clerk to the widow and family of the deceased, as an expression of our sympathy and regard.

Resolved, That the resolutions just adopted by the House b- transmitted to the Senate, with the request on the part of the House that the President and members of the Senate will join with the members of this body in attending the funeral ceremonies.

Mr. Holsman offered the following preamble and resolutions :

Resolved, That the Senate has heard with deep sensibility the announcement of the death of the Hon. JOSEPH N. TAYLOR, the Speaker of the General Assembly.

Resolved, That as a testimony of respect for the memory of the deceased, the members and officers of the Senate will wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

Resolved, That the proceedings of the Senate in relation to the death of the Hon. JOSEPH N. TAYLOR be communicated to his friends by the Secretary.

Resolved, That as a further testimony of respect the Senate will attend his funeral to-morrow at 2 P. M. and that the Senate do now adjourn.

Which being read, the same Senator addressed the Senate in substance as follows :

MR. PRESIDENT :

On this side and on that, men see their friends drop off like leaves in autumn ; yet launch out into fantastic schemes, which the long livers of the world's hale and undegenerate days could scarcely have leisure for.

In the absence of the Senator from Passaic it becomes my melancholy duty to communicate officially to this House that which is already known to each individual member—the death of the Hon. JOSEPH N. TAYLOR, Speaker of the General Assembly. It is proper for me to make this announcement, who of all Senators present, knew him best. On Tuesday morning last, Mr. Taylor asked permission of the House to absent himself for a few days on important private business; he left this city in possession of his usual high degree of health; before the night came he was struck with that disease which terminated only with his life. On Wednesday morning with barely sufficient vitality left to drag his wearied feet, the one after the other, he reached his home and sank upon his couch. In a few hours he became unconscious, and, surrounded by his family, minute by minute his breath became less, and at one o'clock on Saturday morning he was dead. MR. TAYLOR was born in the city where he died, forty-two years ago. His father was a native of Ireland and for many years a respectable merchant of Paterson. MR. TAYLOR entered as a clerk one of the oldest houses of that city, and in a few years succeeded his employer as its head. Of the departed it is said "de mortuia nil nisi bonum," but his excellencies of character and disposition were so many, that it requires no wide extended mantle of friendship to cover up his faults. His hand was ever open to the poor and distressed, and it is not too much to say that he contributed in a material degree to the prosperty of his native city.

No struggling mechanic or embarrassed merchant ever left him with ungranted requests, and many now in flourishing business, will bear willing testimony to the truth of what I say. Alas! how true it is, Mr. President, that men consider all mortals save themselves. In the presence of this new admonition, aspirations and ambition sink into nothingness. Let us then reflect how vain are the personal strifes and partisan contests in which we daily engage, in view of the great account which we may so soon be called upon to render! As Cicero exclaimed in considering the death of Crœssus "O fallacem hominum spem, fragilem que fortenum, et inanes nontros contentiones." It is painful for me to speak of one I knew so well, for my heart is sorrowful and sad, but I would not do justice to my own feelings did I not drop into his open grave the chaplet of friendship and esteem. He is gone—the place which knew him will know him no more forever.

All at rest now—all dust—wave flows on wave;
But the sea dries not—what to us the grave?
It brings no real homily; we sigh
Pause for a moment, and murmur "all must die."
Then rush to pleasure. action, sin once more,
Swell the broad tide, and put unto the shore.

Mr. Scovel, Senator from Camden, said:

The touching and tender eulogy of the Senator from Bergen, leaves me but few words to say upon this melancholy occasion.

One of the purest and greatest of German poets has said, "Death is not an evil because it is universal."

It seems but yesterday we grasped the hand of JOSEHH N. TAYLOR of Passaic. To-day he is dead. He is gone to that far off country, where in fancy we can follow him, but we must make a solemn pause as we stand by his open grave before the mystic power of the "something after death."

It was my privilege to be associated with the late Speaker of the House during the memorable winter of 1863. Many a time have we talked about the dangers which threatened the land we loved. And never by any word of his could I discern any lack of sympathy for a suffering country. For these sentiments such as become a man, a gentleman and a patriot, I honored him while he lived, and being dead, for this I revere his memory.

As a legislator Mr. Taylor was remarkable in this, that his practicalness brought him directly in the presence of the thing to be done or undone. If he could not untie the Gordian knot, he could cut it. He had a will which nothing could conquer but the grave. As I honored him for his courage, as I respected him for his talent, as I think of him with tenderness since he is dead, I am taught that the "paths of glory lead but to the grave." As I remember him, I forget all the asperities of politics, and I am taught (a lesson to be unforgotten by us all) that we should moderate the heat of party strife when we find how quickly from the ashes of the tomb kindle only the purest and tenderest recollections.

He is gone, but we will not forget him. It seems but yesterday he went away. And sad as the morrow's scenes must be to us, they will be sadder still to those whose hearts which beat at home, responsive to his own. May God's tender care shelter them.

As we remember, in the years to come, the strifes and rivalries of these Halls—in the near future in which we too, may follow him—there shall come to all of us, only pleasant recollections of our departed friend.

I call him friend, though I never knew him as some of my brother Senators did; but I knew him long enough to find that in the midst of his own ambitions, he had time to encourage and to cheer others who looked at "Fame's proud temple which

My lastr."

suggesti conversation with him gave me a kindly and timely on unusual and remarkable because it came from a political opponent who, differing in opinion had the generosity to agree with me in sentiment.

JOSEPH N. TAYLOR was the architect of his own fortunes, and, had he been blessed with early wealth and culture, he might have shown the world "the thews of Anakin with the pulses of a Titan's heart."

He possessed ability, magnanimity and power. But he is dead. As we give him a lasting and a tender place in memory, we will say of him with justness and truth, he was a

"Gifted man
Whose life in low estate began,
Who grasped the skirts of happy chance,
Breasted the blows of circumstance,
And made by force his merit known."

Mr. Chandler arose, and with deep emotion said:

"This is no occasion of common occurrence. It is the first time death has ever snatched away the presiding officer in this Legislature during the performance of his duties. Besides it strikes us all as most remarkable, because of all others he was the last one we could have expected would have fallen—it exceeds all human calculations. My acquaintance with the deceased had strengthened my respect, and I regarded him as one of the most active and energetic men I ever knew, with a character that strove to assist and elevate. But alas he has died—he has quickly drawn the drapery of his couch about him and laid himself down to his rest.

The President laid before the Senate, the following communication:

NEW JERSEY RAILROAD AND TRANSPORTATION COMPANY,
NEW YORK, April 2, 1864.

Hon. Amos Robins, President of the Senate of the State of New Jersey.

DEAR SIR:—It is with deep regret that we have heard of the death of the HON. JOSEPH N. TAYLOR, late Speaker of the Assembly.

It will afford us gratification, as a tribute of respect to the memory of the late Speaker, and for the accommodation of the members of the Senate and Assembly, to have an extra train on Tuesday morning, to enable such as may desire, to attend the funeral services at Paterson. The train will leave New Brunswick on its delivery to us, by the Camden & Amboy Railroad Company, and we will make arrangements to connect with the Erie Railway.

Very respectfully yours,

F. WOLCOTT JACKSON,
General Superintendent.

Mr, Ludlam, Chairman of the Special Committee to wait upon his Excellency, the Governor, to enquire as to the non-presentation of flags to the 12th regiment, reported by the following communication from the Governor:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
TRENTON, Mar. 31, 1864.

Hon. P. Ludlum, and Hon. I. Doughty, Committee of the Senate.

GENTLEMEN:—In reply to your inquiries made this morning in reference to a supposed omission by the State anthorities, to furnish flags to the 12th regiment, New Jersey Volunteers, I have the honor to make the following statement:

The Legislature has not passed a resolution requesting or authorizing the Governor to present flags to that regiment. In March, 1862, concurrent resolutions were adopted in the House of Assembly, commending the courage and endurance of the 9th New Jersey Regiment, evinced in the recent battles of Roanoke and Newburn, and requesting the Governor to prepare and forward a standard to that regiment.

In the Senate, on motion of the Hon. Mr. Buckley, the following resolution was added:

Resolved, That the Governor of this State be authorized to present to all our regiments now in the field, a like testimony of appreciation.

At that time there were only eleven Regiments of New Jersey Volunteers in existence, and the 12th Regiment was not raised until nearly six months afterwards. No authority has been given by the Legislature to present flags to any of the Regiments subsequently organized, and should an appropriation be made for that purpose, I would be happy to present in the name of the State, Standards to all the New Jersey Regiments, who have not heretofore received them. Each regiment is entitled to National and Regimental colors from the general Government, independent of those that may be presented by the State. The practice has been for the State authorities to procure them, and charge the United States in the war account. Soon after the 12th Regiment took the field flags were prepared for it, and Major Acton of Salem, was sent by Governor Olden, to deliver them. Upon arriving at the front, he found that the 12th Regiment had a set of colors, which had been presented by the Hon. Mr. Starr, and therefore did not need for present use those forwarded with him, with the acquiesence of the Colonel then commanding, the flags intended for the 12th Regiment were left with another New Jersey Regiment, that had never received any colors, with the understanding that others would be forwarded upon requisition.

All this occurred during the administration of my immediate predecessor.

A few weeks since a requisition was made for new flags for the 12th Regiment, this was the first intimation I had that they were needed. The order had been given for them by the Quartermaster General of this State, and I am informed that they will soon be completed, as soon as finished they will be forwarded. The names of the battles in which this gallant regiment has been engaged will be inscribed upon the colors.

I am very respectfully
Your obedient servant,
JOEL PARKER.

Which was read,

Whereupon Mr. Ludlam then withdrew the resolution offered by him upon said subject.

Mr. Reeves presented a petition from the voters of the county of Salem, asking that soldiers in the field may enjoy the rights of suffrage,
