The Clerk declared the Honorable John E. Boswell elected Speaker of the House of Assembly for the year 1942.

The Clerk then appointed the Honorable John G. Sholl, of Gloucester county; the Honorable Roscoe P. McClave, of Bergen county, and the Honorable Mattie S. Doremus, of Passaic county, to act as a committee to escort the Speaker to the rostrum of the House, where he took and subscribed to the oath of office, before the Honorable John M. Kerner, of Union county, and was escorted to the chair.

Upon assuming the chair, the Speaker addressed the House as follows:

Members of the General Assembly, Friends:

I do not have words with which to express, in any adequate or proper way, my gratitude and appreciation for your consideration in electing me to this position of trust and honor under the government of this State. I want you to know that I am grateful and I am also mindful of the task ahead. I pledge to you and the people my best efforts for the proper administration of this office.

I have certain matters on which I desire to speak briefly. It is my belief, that for the good of this State Government and of the people it represents, it is essential during these critical days that the Legislative and Executive branches should work in the closest harmony and co-operation. I know the Governor concurs in this view.

During the 1941 Legislative session, recently concluded, a very complete program of necessary and important legislation was enacted. While many vital matters will require our attention during the coming weeks of this session, I think I can safely say that there is no present indication of any need for the submission of the usual vast volume of legislative proposals for new laws.

We must be mindful that our nation is presently engaged in a great war and at such a time as this we should keep to a minimum, the volume of proposed legislation in order that we may be ready at all times to devote a full measure of consideration to those matters of national and State defense which are sure to confront us from time to time.

I therefore ask the co-operation of the members of the Assembly in holding to a minimum, your legislative proposals. Secondly, I ask that you introduce such measures as you may deem essential at the very earliest possible date so that we may progress with our work rapidly and keep the decks cleared for such emergencies as will arise from time to time.

You can see by these recommendations that I have in mind the desirability of a short session. We have certainly learned by now that interminably long sessions are not in the least desirable. True, we will not adjourn but must remain in session for emergency matters during the entire term, but that is no reason for prolonged unnecessary activity.

The Governor and President of the Senate will, I am quite sure, concur in this view.

A great responsibility rests upon us this year to carefully safeguard State expenditures. It is no secret that the anticipated revenues of this State already have fallen off considerably and there is every indication of even greater reductions in income.

It must be realized by all of us that the national debt is at a new peak, that war expenditures are increasing enormously and that the end is not in sight. The burden of Federal taxation which the people must bear will be heavy. Strict economy in ordinary expenses of State Government is indicated. It is your duty and mine to help keep nondefense expenditures of State Government at a minimum.

In this connection let me say that I have given careful consideration to the selection of the Assembly Appropriations Committee. I know that the members of this committee will fully recognize their great responsibilities during the emergency now confronting us. This year the work of the Appropriations Committee is more important than ever and I know its members will have your co-operation at all times.

I have already indicated that matters pertaining to the war are likely to occupy the greater portion of our term and to this end I have certain recommendations to make in order that we may be properly geared to meet these problems. Thus, I suggest that our present Defense Committee be changed to a State Defense Committee and that its work be such as may relate thereto.

Secondly, there should be a special committee on the subject of National Defense, to treat of such matters in a legislative way as may be necessary, in co-operation with the Federal Government.

Finally, allow me to say that I am determined that we shall have a business-like and orderly session. I realize that responsibility for this is, for the most part, my own but I seek your assistance in making it possible. During my brief legislative career, I have made certain observations concerning the operation of this legislative body. I want your help in making this House a credit to the State. We can attain this end by having business-like sessions.

While I have no groups or individuals to appease, yet in order not to offend anyone at a later date, a matter must be made clear now. The practice of persons, other than members of the House, milling around the floor is hereby declared ended, unless, for matters of essential business, consent is specifically granted. This plan will assist the members, prevent them from being disturbed and will give us all a better opportunity to do our work.

Proper places have also been provided for representatives of the press. They, too, are entitled to be undisturbed at their assigned places. I will see that this courtesy is accorded them and in turn I ask their assistance.

I again express my thanks and assure you of my earnest co-operation throughout the legislative year.

The Speaker announced the appointment of Mr. Nathaniel C. Smith, of Cape May county, as his secretary, and of Mr. Ralph Garwood, of Cape May county, as his assistant secretary, and of Mr. Rudolph Engisch, of Union county, as Parliamentarian.

Mr. Amlicke offered the following resolution, which was read by the Clerk and adopted:

Resolved, That the House do now proceed with the election of a Clerk of the House for the One Hundred and Sixty-sixth Session of the Assembly.

The Honorable Dominic A. Cavicchia, of Essex county, placed in nomination the name of Mr. Paul P. Williams, of Essex county, as Clerk of the House of Assembly, which nomination was seconded by the Honorable Roscoe P. McClave, of Bergen county, and was further seconded by the Honorable Vincent S. Haneman, of Atlantic county, and was further seconded by the Honorable John G. Sholl, of Gloucester county, and was further seconded by the Honorable Peter P. Artaserse, of Hudson county.

The Speaker then called for further nominations, and there being none, Mr. Amlicke moved that the nominations be closed.

Which motion, upon a viva voce vote, with the ayes and nays being called, was declared adopted.

Upon the roll being called by Mr. Max J. Husselrath, the former Assistant Clerk, Mr. Williams was elected unanimously.

Messrs. Amlicke, Artaserse, Beronio, Bertoni, Boswell (Speaker), Browne, Burton, Cavicchia, Cooney, DeVoe, Dignan, Dolbow, Doremus, Feller, Friedland, Glickenhaus, Griffiths, Haneman, Hanna, Hardy, Hargrave, Herbert, Hess, Howell, Kates, Kerner, Leonard, Lesko, Littell, MacCarthy, Mahr, Mathis, McClave, Meyer, Minard, Moore, Mudrak, Muir, Orben, Palese, Paulauskas, Platts, Preen, Rubacky, Sanford, Savage, Schaeffer, Shepard, Sholl, Stackhouse, Thompson, F. L., Thompson, M. H., Tierney, Towe, Vogel, Wagner, Warhol, Wegrocki, Wiss, Young—60.

In the negative—None.

The Speaker declared Mr. Paul P. Williams unanimously elected Clerk of the House of Assembly for the year of 1942.

The Clerk, Mr. Paul P. Williams, took and subscribed to the oath of office administered to him by the Honorable John M. Kerner.

At this time, Mr. Amlicke, Majority Leader, addressed the House as follows:

In assuming the rights and obligations of Majority Leader of the House of Assembly for the year 1942, at a time when our country is fighting for its very existence, I fully realize the seriousness of the task before us. Our course therefore shall be set in the direction of legislative accomplishment, which will insure for the people of this State, a sound, practical and economical government, fully prepared to meet any emergency.

The Republican majority has resolved to curtail all non-defense spending, without qualification or reservation, and I feel that the Democratic minority will lend its co-operation.

Our legislative program must provide for a short business-like session, to be held in the day time and with a definite schedule of work to be done. We must limit our efforts to the passage of only such bills as are absolutely necessary. We must have the word "economy" control our every act, so that it should not become necessary to impose any new taxes upon the people of this State—they already are bearing their full share of taxes to provide for the national defense. We must provide for more orderly sessions so that the business of the Assembly will not be interfered with or disrupted.

At this time and for the duration of our national emergency, we must act as a united body, forgetting our political affiliations and having in mind only the future well-being of our nation and State. Such unity depends upon mutual confidence and trust—confidence and trust between the Governor and the Legislature and confidence and trust in one another.

If our boys in the armed services are willing to sacrifice even their lives to protect us, we at least could set an example here by making them feel that we are doing everything in our power to protect them.

We solemnly pledge ourselves, as the duly elected representatives of the people, to accomplish those aims and nothing should be permitted to interfere with this objective.

Mr. Amlicke offered the following resolution, which was read by the Clerk and adopted:

Resolved, That the Speaker appoint forthwith a committee of six to wait upon the Governor and inform him that the House of Assembly has organized by the election of the Honorable John E. Boswell, of Cape May county, as Speaker, and of Paul P. Williams, of Essex county, as Clerk of the House, and is now ready to proceed to business and to receive any communications he may be pleased to make.

In accordance with the resolution, the Speaker appointed Messrs. Muir, Hess, Cavicchia, Herbert, Savage and Artaserse as a committee of six to wait upon the Governor and inform him that the House of Assembly has organized.

Mr. Amlicke offered the following resolution, which was read by the Clerk and adopted:

Resolved, That the Clerk of the House is hereby directed to inform the Senate that the House of Assembly has organized by the election of the Honorable John E. Boswell, of Cape May county, as Speaker of the House, and of Paul P. Williams, of Essex county, as Clerk of the House, and has proceeded to business.

Mr. Amlicke offered the following resolution, which was read by the Clerk and adopted:

Resolved, That the House proceed to fill the remaining several offices of the House, and the nominations be made and a vote taken for all of the offices at one and the same time.

Mr. Amlicke offered the following resolution, which was read by the Clerk and adopted:

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
January 13, 1942.

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Members of the Senate and of the Assembly:

I wish to thank the members of the Legislature for inviting me to deliver this annual message in person. The people of New Jersey may properly interpret this occasion as a symbol that this year we are going to strive our best for co-operation at Trenton. If we find ourselves in this session with differences of opinion about public policies, I hope we will get together and talk frankly. I think we can get more done by conference than by contention. In fact, I think we can very well adopt a slogan to guide us here at Trenton for the rest of the war: Let's fight the Japs and the Nazis, instead of each other.

The people of New Jersey, like the citizens of every other part of the United States, have one aching desire at present and that is to win this war, to smash the cheap desperadoes who aspire to make the whole world grovel before Berlin and Tokyo. A wise course has been set for the United States by President Roosevelt. He has warned us that the great effort we are called upon to make will mean severe dislocations of our economy and great personal sacrifices. On every side, we see and hear proof that the people of New Jersey are ready to work and suffer to follow the President's leadership and to achieve victory.

The nation's war plans are going to mean that many young men of New Jersey will leave their families and go to fight on every sea and every continent of the globe. Those plans will mean that many Jersey businessmen, such as the automobile dealers, will have to seek new ways of making ends meet.

They will mean that great factories, such as the Linden automobile plant, will shut down and their workers lose their jobs, temporarily at least. They will mean that all of us will have to meet Federal tax burdens such as we have never dreamed of, and that new demands for voluntary contributions to worthy causes will constantly press for our attention.

The nation's war plans may even mean that some Jersey communities will have to bear destructive raids by suicide bombing squadrons from across the ocean—bear such raids and not whimper because the planes and guns which might have protected us were being used on some vital battlefront in another part of the world.

We Jerseymen are ready to bear such anxieties and sorrow and sacrifice, I am convinced, to insure the continuance of a free and independent United States, which we regard as an ideal that is more important than the personal fortunes of all of us lumped together. Our primary considerations in the State Government throughout the war must be to help the war effort in whatever way we can, to impede it in no way whatsoever.

From conversations I have had with members of the Legislature since the attack on Pearl Harbor, I know we are agreed that we will take any action which the Federal Government requests of us to aid the war effort. There are no requests now pending which need to be called to the attention of the Legislature, but I will inform you promptly if any are received.

Certain general policies of the Federal Government may require some legislative action, notably the President's intention to speed up production to a full seven-day week. The Legislature has already given prompt attention to the request for exemptions from the laws prohibiting night work by women. Legislation allowing other exemptions of this type may be needed after the conclusion of studies now being made.

In general, the pattern of granting specific exemptions from labor and social laws, limited to definite periods of time, appears to be preferable to actual repeal of hard-won legislation. The plan of specific exemptions from the law concerning night work for women is working effectively. The State Labor Department has established a system of quick checking on all applications that are made to the Governor's office, and I have immediately signed each of the exemptions recommended thus far by Labor Commissioner John J. Toohey.

Further recommendations on the subject of industrial production for the war will be forthcoming shortly from a conference of leaders of business and labor which I have called. This conference will give attention, in all likelihood, to questions connected with the avoidance of work stoppages, the extension of the work week, the retraining for war industries of labor laid off in non-essential industries, prevention of industrial sabotage, and kindred subjects.

Incidentally, it would seem to be advisable to lay aside the so-called anti-sabotage bill, which has been before the Legislature, until the views of these conferees, who have had practical experience with this subject, are recorded. There is a fear on the part of labor that some civil rights might be abridged by the proposed legislation.

Another group which is working with me on a problem that has previously been considered by the Legislature is the Emergency Water Supply Commission. I expect that recommendations will be forthcoming, in a month or two, from this group, all of whom are officially connected with water control organizations. The results of this study will be forwarded to the Legislature, and until that time any action by the Legislature on this subject might well be held in abeyance.

Last month the Legislature centralized the authority over the State defense effort in my hands. I have since taken certain steps, such as the setting up of what has been called a War Cabinet.

It is my intention to build upon the good work that was done during the period before the United States was drawn into the war. It is too soon since these latest steps were taken, however, to determine if more legislation is needed to buttress the work for our home security. Accordingly, I suggest that no new legislation of this type be passed at present, since speedy action might only produce subsequent confusion.

To keep the Legislature informed on how these security efforts are progressing and to have the benefit of the Legislature's advice, I have invited the President of the Senate, I. Grant Scott, and the Speaker of the Assembly, John E. Boswell, to attend whenever possible the meetings of our War Cabinet. I am happy to announce they have accepted.

While we know that, as a result of the war effort, there will be dislocations in our lives, the extent of these upsets is not yet certain. It might develop, for example, that so many workers would lose their jobs during the shift to wartime production that we would temporarily have a new relief problem on our hands. For this reason, it would seem to be the course of wisdom to keep busy in the next two months disposing of our ordinary business, such as the appropriation bills. We may find it necessary later in the year to hold extra sessions to cope with problems caused by the war.

All of us must have misgivings about the effects which the war will have on our State finances. For protection of vital State facilities alone, the cost will probably be $1,000,000 a year. Because of rationing, motor vehicle and gasoline fees may drop $8,000,000 or more. Any budget we make is likely to be thrown out of kilter.

At such a time, the prudent course is to reserve any funds we can. Specific recommendations for these reserves will be made in the budget. I believe we can agree on the general policy that we should try to set aside considerable amounts of money to keep available for whatever expenses may be imposed by war conditions later this year and next.

In summary, what I have had to say is this: We intend to strive for co-operation. We should hold back emergency and defense legislation for a while until we have had more experience and completed certain studies. We ought to clear the decks quickly of the routine business of the State Government. We need to set aside unallocated funds to meet emergency strains on our budget.

While offering these views to you, I have not wavered in my old conviction that the form of our State Government needs improving through numerous Constitutional changes. We have, however, discussed these needs considerably, and there is a committee now studying the subject for us; so I will say no more at this meeting than to express my hope that we may make some definite progress at this session.

We who direct the course of a State Government during wartime should not give up working at such tasks as improving the structure of our government. If we can work out changes that will give the citizens a better and cheaper government in the future we should do so, because they certainly are going to need such service in the hard years ahead.

There is a great temptation on all Americans who are not actually in the fighting forces to let our own work idle along while we watch the war effort like a crowd of sidewalk superintendents beside a big construction job. Of course, that will not help the war effort and it will create new difficulties in civilian life which may unnecessarily interfere with the war effort.

The very best service we can give to the United States at this time, as I see it, is to do a thorough and high-minded job on both the ordinary and emergency tasks of the State Government. Our young men are going away to risk their lives in defense of this country. Every day as we handle the affairs of New Jersey we should remind ourselves of those young men and ask ourselves the question: What are they fighting for?

Inevitably, we must realize that it is this—the kind of government which we elected officials are supplying to the people of New Jersey—which those young men are fighting for.

All of us, I know, want to be able to say at the end of this One Hundred and Sixty-sixth Legislature of New Jersey: What we did was not unworthy of those young Americans in uniform. What we did gives hope that our democracy can and will live forever.

Respectfully submitted,

[SEAL] CHARLES EDISON,
Governor.

Attest:

HARRY GILROY,
Secretary to the Governor.

A message was received from the Governor by the hands of his Secretary as follows—and was read by the Clerk:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
March 9, 1942.

To the Legislature:

A provision of the election law requires that the Governor appoint, as members of county boards of election, persons who are nominated by the respective chairmen of the State committees of the two major political parties. I wish to call to the attention of the members of the Legislature that this provision offers an opportunity for political bosses to exercise an undue influence over the voting machinery by designation of election board members without regard to local sentiment in the various counties.

The principle behind the election law is that honest voting is most likely to be obtained by giving the representatives of each of the major parties an equal opportunity to watch over the conduct of the elections. Insofar as the nominations by the State chairmen reflect the sentiments of the members of their respective parties within the several counties, the present law sticks to this principle.

When, however, the State chairmen submit nominations without regard to local sentiment within their parties, the voters can be deprived of their rightful safeguards over the sanctity of the ballot. This has happened in the past and the danger of it happening in the future will continue while the law remains unchanged.

I have proposed that the simplest remedy for the present fault in the law is to pass an amendment which will provide for the selection of county election board members by ballot of qualified party voters at the primary elections. This seems to be a sure way of permitting the voters themselves to protect the interests of their parties in elections.

However, other proposals have been made, including one that the civil service system be extended to cover election board members. There is a good deal of merit in some of these proposals, and I urge the Legislature to study them.

The method of appointing county election board members has been the subject of considerable public discussion and of court tests. The members of the Legislature, I am sure, have a good deal of information on this subject and are generally acquainted with the degree of boss rule over the election machinery which it makes possible. Accordingly, I trust that remedial action can be taken by the present Legislature.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES EDISON,
Governor.

Attest:

HARRY GILROY,
Secretary to the Governor.

NEW JERSEY DEFENSE COUNCIL

REPORT TO THE NEW JERSEY LEGISLATURE

Ladies and Gentlemen:

Some seven weeks ago I was asked by Governor Edison to accept appointment as Director of Civil Defense for the State of New Jersey. I want you to know that I approached the task with considerable misgivings. I determined to make as little disturbance as possible, but to appraise the defense effort soberly and clearly decide wherein I might be helpful. I had many conferences with mayors and local council chairmen throughout the State. Much of my time for the first four weeks was spent in appraising their criticisms and complaints to decide to what extent they were justified. It was apparent that the defense effort needed clarification, both of purpose and action.

None of the above is said with even the slightest suggestion of criticism of what has been done by the State Council. Major Stephan assumed the chairmanship of the New Jersey Defense Council more than a year and a half ago. He had no precedent for what he was undertaking. He had to blaze a new trail. He had to fight public apathy.

This defense effort is big business. The State has appropriated half a million dollars. The cities and towns of New Jersey are spending another half to a million. Over 170,000 people are enlisted to do some task, such as air raid wardens, auxiliary police, airplane spotters, first aid, Red Cross, etc. In each of the 563 municipalities there is some defense organization.

It must be apparent, then, that the defense of the State is a grave responsibility of the Governor and his War

Cabinet. I think that a large measure of responsibility is also upon the Legislature of the State to provide the machinery and support for the efficient and effective operation of this vast army of citizens enlisted for defense.

The New Jersey Defense Council, itself, is a very formidable body and was set up as a peace-time plan. It was, to a considerable degree, an advisory body suggesting a general pattern to local councils with little power of enforcement. Then came the Pearl Harbor bombing on December 7th, with everyone throughout the State galvanized into action. There was overnight demand from all of the municipalities for clear and concise instruction and guidance.

It would be easy for anyone to come into such a picture and criticize. I have tried my best to avoid that. At the same time, I soon realized that there was pressing need to secure many necessary decisions for community officials. Many important things had to be done. Heretofore, local councils had pretty much used their own judgment other than to try to conform to the general pattern. In many cases it has resulted in much confusion.

1. That the very obvious matter of air raids and all-clear alarm. Adjoining cities had confusing signals and air raid instructions. We have prepared a uniform numbered card for the guidance of the public to be printed immediately, to be standard for all communities. This card is to be displayed on the kitchen wall for the duration, and be placed nearest the dining room or living room door. These cards to be printed by the State and distributed by each council. The air raid wardens will deliver them to each household and get a receipt.

2. I find in some cities, and in many small communities, the mayor is not a member of his defense council, and in most instances not a member of its executive committee. In some localities, the previous mayor appointed the council, and the present mayor is not a part of their deliberations, other than to serve in an ex officio capacity and have veto power. Should the war last, this situation would be aggravated by future elections. Therefore, my recommendation is that by executive order the mayor shall be a full member of the defense council in each community, and a member of the executive committee of his council.

3. Very serious confusion exists in practically all communities as to who shall be Commander in the event of an emergency or catastrophe. I look upon the local defense council as the co-ordinator of all of the facilities necessary in the event of an emergency, but doubt exists as to who shall take command when the emergency arises. A letter has to be prepared to be sent to the mayor of each community, asking that he hold a special meeting of his council and that he, with them, decide upon the man who shall be in command in the event of an emergency. This man would be at the control center. He might be the chairman of the council, or the chief of police of the community, or a retired Army man who has the time for such responsibility. The selection would be up to the mayor in conjunction with his council. They to file with Trenton the name of the Commander and also the names of a second and third alternate. This would clear up a very important point that now badly needs clarification.

4. Many counties have a fine well-knit organization and are rightfully complaining that they have not been tied into the defense organization. Some have county police, some have traffic and park police. Two or three sheriffs and prosecutors have complained that the defense set-up goes right from the State to the municipalities without regard for their facilities and importance. I believe that something should be done to tie in the county forces, and I am giving this study.

5. I believe the council procedure needs simplification and I am planning to have a survey made of the whole State defense set-up. An important New Jersey accounting firm has volunteered its services in this connection without charge to the State. There have been set up seven regional offices, each with a citizen director serving without pay, a paid deputy, a clerk and two stenographers. It seems to me that inasmuch as we have these offices that as rapidly as possible much of the detail in Trenton should be transferred to them. First because it would build up the importance of the regional offices, and allow the communities to get quicker action; second, it would unload from Trenton vast machinery that is now burdensome.

6. The State Defense effort needs better interpretation to the public and to the communities in simple clear and concise terms. The Trenton offices have for months been swamped with correspondence. The general complaint is that decisive information must be made by the communities in order for them to act efficiently. The Trenton staff has been insufficient to cope with the suddenly expanded work since Pearl Harbor. I know that the members of the staff of the New Jersey Defense Council have worked fourteen to sixteen hours a day, and there have been many important matters upon which they were not in a position to give concise answers.

7. To help clarify some of the foregoing for the local councils and the public I have set up a Department of Public Information, under Mr. Becker Jamieson, a very competent newspaperman. It will be the duty of this department to keep the public informed of all phases of Civil Defense activity, to answer promptly all queries concerning Civil Defense, to use all of the forces of publicity—newspaper, radio, magazine, outdoor—not alone to awaken public interest, but to hold the interest of those already enrolled.

In this connection, let me state that the attitude of the Legislature is of prime importance in building public support, and therefore I bespeak your wholehearted co-operation. I intend to keep you completely informed as to our activities. I will welcome any constructive criticism, and I hope we will merit your active participation in this patriotic work that must be done for the protection of our citizens.

I believe we need to act swiftly to create Statewide rules and regulations for Defense procedure. The communities seem to be unanimous in their approval of such action. To this end, and to guide us in many puzzling legal decisions, I have appointed a law committee composed of the following gentlemen: Attorney-General David T. Wilentz, chairman; Judge Joseph J. Wolber; Thomas Glynn Walker, general counsel to the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company; Mr. Milton M. Unger, president of the New Jersey State Bar Association, and Mr. Benjamin C. Van Tine, legal advisor to the New Jersey Defense Council, secretary.

I think it would be helpful if you had some knowledge of the task that confronts the Director of Civil Defense. It is important that he personally contact mayors and local council chairmen to know their problems at first hand. It is important, too, that he make his appearance at any public gatherings in the interest of co-ordinating the Defense effort throughout the State.

Many conferences are required not alone with key Army officials, but with the heads of many organizations such as several veterans groups, Red Cross, important labor officials, social service agencies—the list is endless. Almost daily contact is necessary with Col. Schoeffel, as his police activity dovetails very closely with that of many of our divisions. Our work brings us in close touch with many of the State department heads, the F. B. I., and we must be in close and intimate touch with the developments in Washington in all of the Federal departments.

You Legislators know something of the mass of correspondence that comes to a man's desk such as are engaged in so public a task as mine. To temporarily assist me, I secured the services of Mr. Arnold H. Vey, Traffic Engineer of the Motor Vehicle Department, through the courtesy of Motor Vehicle Commissioner Arthur Magee. Mr. Vey has acted as my assistant.

So that you will have some appreciation of the magnitude of this task, let me state that under the Director of Civil Defense comes all protection of our citizens, the training of air raid wardens, first aid demolition units, bomb squads and a dozen other classifications such as these. In co-operation with Col. Schoeffel of the State Police, we have the tremendous task of organization and training auxiliary police and firemen through the State. There is the question of antisabotage, which is confidential and cannot be given in detail in this report. There is the vast machinery of rationing—at present of tires, sugar, and autos—and the Federal government indicates that we may expect this to expand materially. Under Civil Defense we are charged with the responsibility of fair rent administration. We must wrestle with the great problem of blackout procedure. We are charged with the responsibility of maintaining a Health and Nutrition Division, and have been asked by the Federal government to maintain a very efficient and State-wide salvage organization under a State Salvage Administrator, serving without pay, and a Deputy Administrator, paid for by the Federal government. And this is by no means a complete list of our mandatory activities.

It shall be my aim to simplify in every way the conduct of the State effort on Civil Defense. I firmly believe that our primary object is the protection of our citizens, that we should reroute into other channels all of the extraneous off-shoots that are not directly concerned with protection, or that are not vitally necessary. I think that some of the things that are now listed under Civil Defense can be cared for by other divisions of our State government, and I propose in the coming months to consult our State government heads to see if this cannot to a large degree be accomplished.

I think you should know the keen personal interest that Governor Edison has taken in Defense matters. Almost daily consultation is necessary. A weekly meeting of the Governor's War Cabinet has been held faithfully since he created that body, and no one has been absent from it, including the Governor. Its deliberation must, of course, of necessity be kept confidential.

The present Defense Council Act expires on the 30th of June and we must shortly give this legislation careful consideration. I have referred this to our Law Committee for study.

I bespeak for the entire Defense organization your approval of our program, and if you decide we merit it, then your enthusiastic support.

The foregoing paragraphs will give you some idea of the magnitude of our task. So quote Governor Edison, "This defense of our citizens is a costly business requiring great sums of money and time. But if we never use it, it will be the cheapest investment New Jersey ever made."

Respectfully submitted,

LEONARD DREYFUSS,
Director of Civil Defense,
New Jersey Defense Council.

A message was received from the Governor by the hands of his Secretary as follows—and was read by the Clerk:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
March 16, 1942.

To the Members of the Legislature:

Some months ago my attention was directed to the question of the sufficiency of water supplies in the State during the emergency, with particular regard to the probable increased demands. It appeared that there was no provision in our legislation effectively empowering any State agency to do anything. As a result, I appointed a commission, known as the Governor's Emergency Water Supply Commission, to advise me of the factual situation and to make such recommendations as seemed necessary. This commission has filed its final report, a copy of which I have already sent to each member of the Legislature.

The report contains a draft of legislation giving to the State Water Policy Commission authority to effect the correlation of water supplies through the establishment of interconnections among the several systems in the State. It also provides a revolving fund of $300,000, out of which the State will, in some instances, temporarily advance the cost of interconnections, while in others it will pay such part of the costs as shall be allocated to the State, the water companies themselves, whether private or public, paying such part of the costs as shall represent a benefit to them.

There is also provided in two separate bills additional funds for the State Water Policy Commission ($5,000 for the balance of this fiscal year, and $15,000 for the next fiscal year) for the administration of the additional work involved in this emergency.

The commission which I appointed consisted, in the main, of representatives of most of the larger water interests in the State, public and private. By reason of their experience they speak with authority, and it is to their credit that they have arrived at a unanimous report on this important problem.

If the suggestions of the commission are to be effective, they should be put into operation at once so that full use may be made of any spring rains.

The proposed legislation has my approval, and I recommend its prompt adoption.

Respectfully,

[SEAL] (Signed) CHARLES EDISON,
Governor.

Attest:
HARRY GILROY,
Secretary to the Governor.

Mr. Moore asked for the record on Assembly Bill No. 218, which was furnished by the Clerk.

Mr. Moore asked unanimous consent of the House to amend Assembly Bill No. 218 on third reading.

There being no objection, consent was granted.

Mr. Moore offered the following amendment to Assembly Bill No. 218 on third reading, which was read by the Clerk.

Proposed amendment to Assembly Bill No. 218:

Section 2, line 113, strike out the following words: "and the owner of such paid-up insurance in force at such termination shall be entitled, within two months after request therefor, to a cash surrender value not less in amount than the reserve thereon, including dividend additions thereto if any, and less any outstanding indebtedness to the company on or secured by such paid-up insurance." Substitute for the above words the following: "or, in lieu thereof, may issue a new certificate specifying particulars as to such paid-up insurance. Any cash surrender value payable to the employee on account of any such paid-up insurance shall be not less than the reserve held by the company on the portion of the paid-up insurance provided by the employee's contributions, including dividend additions thereto, if any, upon the specified mortality table and rate of interest adopted for computing the reserve thereon, less a specified percentage, not more than two and one-half per centum (2½%), of such portion of the paid-up insurance, and less any outstanding indebtedness of the employee to the company thereon or secured thereby."

Statement with reference to committee amendment—Assembly Bill No. 218:

The committee amendment to this bill makes permissive the cash surrender values provided for in the bill and provides for the relating of the minimum cash surrender values payable to the employee to the contributions of the employee and establishes a surrender charge thereon which is consistent with that provided for in insurance policies generally. In addition, the amendment provides for fixing the amount of reserve on which such surrender values are determined and provides an alternative method of giving the employee evidence of his paid-up insurance.

This amendment has the approval of the Department of Banking and Insurance.

Mr. Amlicke moved that report by the Assembly Committee on Agriculture in reference to Assembly Bill No. 71, which report was submitted to the House on March 30, 1942, be spread in full upon the Minutes.

Which motion was adopted.

Report by the Assembly Committee on Agriculture in reference to Assembly Bill No. 71:

Assembly Bill No. 71 proposes to abolish in its entirety the Milk Control Act. The bill was referred to the Agricultural Committee for the purpose of study; and that committee held a public hearing in the Assembly Chamber on March 17, 1942. The committee also conferred with a number of persons interested in milk control. These persons represent various interests throughout the State. The individual members of the committee have also spent a considerable amount of time studying the information which has been made available and in consulting with various persons who have particular knowledge of the various phases of the milk industry. The committee has also received a number of briefs setting forth the arguments of the various groups. It has been very grateful for all of the information which has been made available to it; and it is thoroughly cognizant of the great public responsibility which is involved in the consideration of this bill.

The committee would like to emphasize that the sole question referred to it is whether or not milk control should be continued in New Jersey. It has not been within the jurisdiction of the committee to determine whether or not a semi-controlled milk industry would be desirable, although it was the contention of some of the groups at the hearing that the farmer-producer price should be controlled but that the consumer price should be left to competition. The committee would be pleased to consider this particular phase of the problem further, in which event, however, another bill, modifying the jurisdiction of the present Milk Control Board, would have to be prepared. Sufficient evidence on this particular point was not presented to the committee which would warrant it to draft a substitute bill along these lines.

This committee is of the unanimous opinion that milk control in New Jersey should continue. We appreciate that this question is at heart a conflict of social philosophies: unrestrained individual competition as against governmental regulations. This same conflict has appeared in many other phases of our social life; and there is respectable economic authority on both sides of the question. Those who are in favor of the laissez-faire method are against any regulation which would interfere with the economic laws of supply and demand. The theory of this group is that the individual acquisitive instinct will ultimately result in social welfare.

The committee believes, however, that a state of emergency still exists in the milk industry, and that to allow the laissez-faire doctrine to prevail would mean ruination to many of the farmers with a certainty that the consuming public would suffer ultimately. The committee believes that the milk industry is so closely related to social welfare that it must fall under public regulation, and that conditions now exist which make such regulation necessary.

In reaching this conclusion the committee has borne in mind the interest of the consuming public; and we have not allowed any individual interest of any particular group to influence this decision.

It was represented as a fact at the hearing that the present Milk Control Board is considering the desirability of changing the various methods of distribution; and the committee would suggest that a further study of these methods might be made and presented to the Milk Control Board in order to assist it in its final determination. The committee would also suggest that a further study might be made as to the desirability of the continuance of the present method of controlling consumer prices. If it would seem undesirable to control consumer prices, the present Milk Control Board could make regulations accordingly. The committee feels that these questions should be deeply probed by the Milk Control Board so that the consumer interests of the State shall be entirely satisfied as to the desirability and efficacy of this phase of milk control.

In view of these conclusions, the committee has decided not to report Assembly Bill No. 71 from the committee; but it will be pleased to receive at any time any further information which any person or interest in New Jersey may desire to present in connection with this complex social problem.

Respectfully submitted,

ALFRED B. LITTELL, Chairman
JOHN G. SHOLL,
A. MATLACK STACKHOUSE,
MAYHEW J. DOLBOW,
MILDRED A. PREEN.

Mr. Amlicke offered the following resolution, which was read by the Clerk and adopted:

The following communication was sent to the desk and read by the Clerk:

Statement submitted by the New Jersey Consumers Council, 30 Clinton Street, Newark, N. J., April 27, 1942.

We are for abolition of milk control in New Jersey, because we have come to the conclusion that people in the milk industry, particularly processors and distributors, take refuge under the status quo imposed by milk control, but refuse to assume public responsibility in return for public protection. As Dean Martin quoted from the Oregon Experiment Station Bulletin in his recent testimony, "a perpetuation of existing conditions is no justifiable basis for such regulation as the Oregon Milk Control Act." The same statement may be made concerning New Jersey milk control.

Aside from this general observation, we are now confronted with a grave national emergency, and the continuation of milk control is an attempt to force the continuation of "business as usual" in the milk industry upon the people of New Jersey.

We wish to point out that the retail price fixing feature of the milk control law protects inefficiency and profiteering. In his statement at a hearing dated March 23, 1942, Mr. J. O. Eastlack, Vice-President of Borden's Farm Products of N. J., Inc., and president of Sussex Milk and Cream Co., Inc., stated that his company paid $3.60 per hundredweight for Class 1 milk. The same statement shows that of the 107,450,406 lbs. of New Jersey milk purchased by the Sussex Co., only 23% or 25,162,120 lbs. was sold to Borden's Farm Products and paid for at the Class 1 price of $3.60 per hundredweight. The rest, or 77%, was sold to Borden's Farm Products Division of Borden Co., transported to the Company's New York City pasteurization plants and paid for at $2.85 per hundredweight under Federal Marketing Order No. 27. This Jersey milk which was pasteurized in New York City finds its way back to New Jersey and under the retail price fixing feature sells for the same price as milk paid for at the rate of $3.60 per hundredweight for Class 1. Jersey milk is pasteurized in Brooklyn and sells for 12½c to 13c a quart, with distributor still in business and making a profit; yet this milk must in New Jersey retail for 16c a quart.

New Jersey milk control does not control all the milk produced or consumed in New Jersey, but all milk sold at retail in New Jersey comes under the price fixing umbrella.

Milk control was designed for restricted production and the maintenance of high prices. We are now confronted with the need for expanding production. The system of norms is bringing chaos to milk production now because the more milk a farmer produces, the less he gets per hundredweight. This in the face of fixed minimum retail prices.

We herewith present approximately 20,000 signatures on a petition asking for passage of Assembly 71. These signatures represent a sampling of public opinion from all quarters of the State.

In addition, following are some of the organizations who have gone on record for Assembly 71, for whom the New Jersey Consumers Council has been empowered to speak.

the Joint Appropriations Committee of the New Jersey Legislature most respectfully makes these requests of the heads of all State departments, boards, commissions, institutions and agencies:

1. That immediate steps be taken to eliminate all non-essential spending for the remainder of this fiscal year as well as for 1942-43.

2. That where employees are called into the armed service from any department, efforts be made, so far as possible, to close ranks and provide necessary services with remaining employees.

3. That where the emergency results in temporarily reduced services in any department, steps be taken wherever practical to transfer any surplus workers to other departments or divisions that may need extra help.

This Committee recommends to the State House Commission that it grant no transfers from unexpended items in any departments for the duration of the emergency, unless such transfers be necessary to provide food or clothing for State wards or are needed for emergencies incidental to the war.

Messrs. Amlicke, Platts, Howell, Littell.

Mr. Platts, Speaker, pro tempore, in the Chair.

A message was received from the Governor by the hands of his Secretary as follows—and was read by the Clerk:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: May 4, 1942.

I am herewith returning, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 22, for the following reasons:

This bill does not have the approval of the Board of Fish and Game Commissioners.

It prohibits the sale in New Jersey of rabbits, whether taken within or without this State. Therefore, it deprives people of New Jersey of a cheap and wholesome food which can be obtained in New York and surrounding States.

Furthermore, this bill in its present form seems to be in direct conflict with section 23:4–28 of the Revised Statutes, which has not been repealed, and which authorizes the sale and possession in the State of New Jersey of rabbits and hares legally killed in another State.

Respectfully submitted,

[SEAL] CHARLES EDISON,
Attest: Governor.
HARRY GILROY,
Secretary to the Governor.

Mr. Amlicke moved that the communication be received, spread in full upon the Minutes and that Assembly Bill No. 22 lie over.

Which motion was adopted.

A message was received from the Governor by the hands of his Secretary as follows—and was read by the Clerk:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: May 4, 1942.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 40 for the following reasons:

While the purpose of the bill seems to me to be reasonable, there appears to be some doubt as to whether its language does not do more than was intended by its sponsor.

I am advised that it might be possible under the wording of this bill for a municipality to be reimbursed once a month, for, say $1,000.00, and over a year to expend $12,000.00 on an appropriation of $1,000.00. If this interpretation is correct, the bill would not set up sound budget practices, which require that a gross appropriation shall correspond with total anticipated revenues.

If these objections can be met by amendment or revision, I shall be glad to consider another bill on this subject.

Respectfully submitted,

[SEAL] CHARLES EDISON,
Attest: Governor.
HARRY GILROY,
Secretary to the Governor.

Mr. Amlicke moved that the communication be received, spread in full upon the Minutes and that Assembly Bill No. 40 lie over.

Which motion was adopted.

A message was received from the Governor by the hands of his Secretary as follows—and was read by the Clerk:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: May 4, 1942.

I am herewith returning, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 55, for the following reasons:

Early in the emergency, before the United States entered the war, I designated the New Jersey State Planning Board as the co-ordinating agency for the State to bring all plans for post-war together. They have been at work on this program, and I can see no reason for duplicating their efforts.

The New Jersey State Planning Board has been working with the Public Programming Office of the Federal Public Works Agency. More than thirty million dollars' worth of projects for State agencies in New Jersey have already been approved under this arrangement.

Matters affecting the planning of highways can best be studied by the Highway Department; matters affecting banking and insurance by that department; questions on relief by the Municipal Aid Department; and methods of stimulating industrial and business activity by the New Jersey Council. Working all their plans together is the State Planning Board, and another commission to do the same things would only result in confusion.

The Highway Commissioner, the Commissioner of Finance, the Director of the Department of Conservation and Development, and the Secretary of the Civil Service Commission are already members of the Planning Board. The Highway Commissioner has an engineering staff available and in the same way the other officials have employees under their immediate direction who can be and are used for planning work.

I notice that the proposed commission would be authorized "to employ such expert, technical and clerical assistants as may be required . . .". Apparently no limit is placed upon the size of the staff they may engage. I cannot approve of such loose legislation.

I notice further that the employees are specifically exempted from the provisions of the Civil Service law. Such an exemption is contrary to the announced public policy of the State.

No appropriation for payment of the employees to be engaged by this proposed commission is included in the bill. No one should doubt, however, that such a commission will cost money. If it should engage engineers, architects, real estate experts, and other technical assistants, the State would be obligated to pay them. The total costs of payment cannot even be estimated. I cannot approve of a bill that commits the State to an indefinite financial obligation.

Respectfully submitted,

[SEAL] CHARLES EDISON,
Attest: Governor.
HARRY GILROY,
Secretary to the Governor.

A message was received from the Governor by the hands of his Secretary as follows—and was read by the Clerk:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: May 6, 1942.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 145 for the following reasons:

In my opinion this is a good bill only if one assumes that the municipalities of New Jersey can get along without the professional buyer of tax title liens. I am advised that this time has not yet arrived.

When a property is exposed for public sale after advertisement and an outsider—that is, one other than the municipality— purchases the tax certificate, such purchaser must pay the tax lien in full. The municipality gets the taxes due it, plus interest and costs, promptly. If the municipality buys in the lien at the sale, nothing further may be done, and more often than not, nothing further is done, in the matter because the municipality is under no compulsion to foreclose the equity of redemption. If the municipality takes no further action, the delinquent taxpayer sits quietly by and allows subsequent taxes and penalties to accrue. The result is that in thousands of cases all over the State, there is no equity left in the property either for the owner or the municipality.

On the other hand, the professional buyer of tax title liens, as well as individuals interested in making a good investment, are not interested in vacant lands in which there is no substantial equity. There is, therefore, a reasonable probability that the property will be redeemed, or if not redeemed, it will be worthwhile going to the trouble and expense of foreclosing the tax certificate. The property thus gets back on the active tax lists of the municipality, which then continues to receive regular tax revenues.

Municipal finance officials inform me that if this bill becomes law it would discourage investors from buying at tax sales. As a result, municipalities which have benefited from their interested presence, would probably suffer financially.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: May 6, 1942.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 223 for the following reasons:

This bill makes it possible for fiduciaries to invest estate or trust funds in securities without disclosing the fact that the securities are held in a fiduciary capacity.

The law relating to fiduciaries, as it has been developed since earliest days by courts of equity, demands that the dealings of a fiduciary with funds entrusted to him, be at all times open and positively identified with the trust nature of the transaction.

It is wise policy to insist that investments made by a fiduciary continue, as heretofore, to indicate their trust quality. Not only will this serve to give notice to all who deal with such investments of their special character but will discourage possible manipulation of trust funds by an unfaithful fiduciary.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES EDISON,
Governor.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: May 6, 1942.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 305 for the following reasons:

The State of New Jersey has heretofore made liberal provision for public employees in military service far beyond any similar provision by private industry and business. The future drain on public treasuries under existing laws cannot presently be estimated.

The present bill would add to that drain by providing for pension payments on behalf of employees in the service under certain conditions. No provision for such payments has been made in existing budgets, and the amount involved is unknown.

I am in full sympathy with the idea of providing proper protection for those now in our country's fighting forces. The Fiscal Officers' Committee is now studying the entire problem in all its aspects. I feel that legislation such as this should be deferred until the committee has had an opportunity to submit comprehensive recommendations to me which will serve as a basis for needed legislation.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES EDISON,

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,

To the House of Assembly: May 6, 1942.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 319 for the following reasons:

A basic principle of the merit system of public employment is the separation of administration from politics. This bill would cut across that line of separation so that a career man could run for office without giving up his civil service status. If elected he could serve his term and return to his classified position.

It seems to me that a career man should make a clean break if he wants to run for office. Elective offices, in general, are for the determination of public policy; civil service offices for the carrying out of policy. To have a foot in both camps involves many dangers to the common good. It might be possible for the career man as candidate to influence his fellow civil service employees; if elected he might use his acquaintance to bring politics into the merit system; if he returns to his career job after a period in politics he can hardly do so without bringing back with him some of his political grudges and obligations with the inner urge to bide his time until another opportunity appears for him to run for office.

No doubt a bill such as this would do no harm in a few isolated cases, but if the practice became general it could open the door to many abuses in the civil service.

Respectfully submitted,

Governor.

Which motion was adopted.

A message was received from the Governor by the hands of his Secretary as follows—and was read by the Clerk:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: May 6, 1942.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 321 for the following reasons:

This bill amends R. S. 18:13–50, a section of the Teachers Pension and Annuity Fund Act. It changes from sixty-two to sixty-five years the age at which a local board of education may require the retirement of a teacher who is a member of the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund. The information at hand indicates that because of its recent introduction and quick passage in the Legislature, interested parties had little opportunity to become aware of the bill or to make their position known prior to its passage.

The bill would change the bilateral provision which has been in the statutes since 1919, when the present pension fund law was originally passed and which provides that either the teacher or the local board of education may effect a retirement at sixty-two years of age. Assembly Bill No. 321 retains this right for the teacher but alters it for the board of education by delaying for three years the time when the board could require the teacher's retirement.

One unfortunate feature of this bill is that it provides that it shall take effect immediately. Under these circumstances a number of boards of education, which had already planned to retire teachers under the old law at the end of this school year and which in some cases had already requested the Board of Trustees of the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund to arrange for such retirements as of June 30, are suddenly faced with an unforeseen situation.

Because this is an amendment to a statute, once it becomes law the result will be from that date on as though the amendment were always part of the law and boards of education whose application for retirement of teachers are now in the hands of the fund would necessarily be denied the right of retiring such employees who are over the age of sixty-two but under the age of sixty-five, notwithstanding that application for retirement was based on the old law and received prior to this date. Inasmuch as the effective date of the retirement would be at some date subsequent to this bill becoming law, such boards of education would have their applications nullified and would have to wait until such employees became sixty-five years of age.

Respectfully submitted,

[SEAL] CHARLES EDISON,
Attest: Governor.
HARRY GILROY,
Secretary to the Governor.

Mr. Amlicke moved that the communication be received, spread in full upon the Minutes and that Assembly Bill No. 321 lie over.

Which motion was adopted.

A message was received from the Governor by the hands of his Secretary as follows—and was read by the Clerk:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: May 6, 1942.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 358 for the following reasons:

It seems to me that this bill confers too much power upon the park commission, although this bill was no doubt framed to meet a particular condition where it would be applied judiciously. Under its provisions the commission might order sidewalks to be laid and paid for without sufficient opportunity for objections by the property owners or for a review of the assessments.

This proposed legislation might lead to a conflict of jurisdiction between the municipality and the commission over the priority of the liens. Under our laws the municipality is the only body that has the power to sell real property for nonpayment of taxes, assessments, or other municipal charges. Even counties do not have the power to acquire a lien on property for unpaid taxes or other assessments. This policy, consistently followed for many years, has saved New Jersey from conflicts over liens; whereas in some other States there may be as many as three different liens on a given piece of property created in a single fiscal year, with doubts as to the priority of the respective liens.

Under the provisions of R. S. 40:65–13 what is proposed to be done may be done by the municipality under existing law.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: May 7, 1942.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 110 for the following reasons:

This bill affecting important pension rights of many employees of Essex county was introduced on April 28 without adequate notice to the employees. No hearings were held. Copies of the bill were not available for examination.

It appears that members of the Legislature were no more familiar with the effects of the bill than were the employees of Essex county and many must have voted for it without understanding its complicated provisions.

It may be that, after hearings are held, and this bill repassed, it will be acceptable to all parties. But in principle I cannot approve such sweeping alterations in the rights of employees on such short notice.

The five-day limit imposed by the constitution does not allow me sufficient time to examine this complicated matter to any satisfaction in view of the protests I have received amidst the multitude of bills passed by the Legislature in its closing hours.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,

To the House of Assembly: May 9, 1942.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 362 for the following reasons:

The present law provides that in municipalities containing more than ten thousand inhabitants the municipal attorney must have been admitted in the State of New Jersey to practice as a counselor.

This bill does not change the requirement for a municipal attorney in municipalities containing a population between ten thousand and forty-five thousand and over seventy-five thousand, but sets up a special requirement in cities having a population of not less than forty-five thousand and not more than seventy-five thousand inhabitants in which cities the municipal attorney may be an attorney-at-law who has been admitted to practice as such for a period of five years or more.

Certainly if municipalities having a population between ten thousand and forty-five thousand require a counselor to advise them, cities between forty-five thousand and seventy-five thousand inhabitants should obviously require the same caliber of advisers.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,

To the House of Assembly: May 4, 1942.

I am herewith returning, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 22, for the following reasons:

This bill does not have the approval of the Board of Fish and Game Commissioners.

It prohibits the sale in New Jersey of rabbits, whether taken within or without this State. Therefore, it deprives people of New Jersey of a cheap and wholesome food which can be obtained in New York and surrounding States.

Furthermore, this bill in its present form seems to be in direct conflict with section 23:4–28 of the Revised Statutes, which has not been repealed, and which authorizes the sale and possession in the State of New Jersey of rabbits and hares legally killed in another State.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,

To the House of Assembly: May 4, 1942.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 40 for the following reasons:

While the purpose of the bill seems to me to be reasonable, there appears to be some doubt as to whether its language does not do more than was intended by its sponsor.

I am advised that it might be possible under the wording of this bill for a municipality to be reimbursed once a month, for, say $1,000.00, and over a year to expend $12,000.00 on an appropriation of $1,000.00. If this interpretation is correct, the bill would not set up sound budget practices, which require that a gross appropriation shall correspond with total anticipated revenues.

If these objections can be met by amendment or revision, I shall be glad to consider another bill on this subject.

Respectfully submitted,

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: May 4, 1942.

I am herewith returning, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 55, for the following reasons:

Early in the emergency, before the United States entered the war, I designated the New Jersey State Planning Board as the co-ordinating agency for the State to bring all plans for post-war together. They have been at work on this program, and I can see no reason for duplicating their efforts.

The New Jersey State Planning Board has been working with the Public Programming Office of the Federal Public Works Agency. More than thirty million dollars' worth of projects for State agencies in New Jersey have already been approved under this arrangement.

Matters affecting the planning of highways can best be studied by the Highway Department; matters affecting banking and insurance by that department; questions on relief by the Municipal Aid Department; and methods of stimulating industrial and business activity by the New Jersey Council. Working all their plans together is the State Planning Board, and another commission to do the same things would only result in confusion.

The Highway Commissioner, the Commissioner of Finance, the Director of the Department of Conservation and Development, and the Secretary of the Civil Service Commission are already members of the Planning Board. The Highway Commissioner has an engineering staff available and in the same way the other officials have employees under their immediate direction who can be and are used for planning work.

I notice that the proposed commission would be authorized "to employ such expert, technical and clerical assistants as may be required . . .". Apparently no limit is placed upon the size of the staff they may engage. I cannot approve of such loose legislation.

I notice further that the employees are specifically exempted from the provisions of the Civil Service law. Such an exemption is contrary to the announced public policy of the State.

No appropriation for payment of the employees to be engaged by this proposed commission is included in the bill. No one should doubt, however, that such a commission will cost money. If it should engage engineers, architects, real estate experts, and other technical assistants, the State would be obligated to pay them. The total costs of payment cannot even be estimated. I cannot approve of a bill that commits the State to an indefinite financial obligation.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES EDISON,
Governor.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: May 6, 1942.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 145 for the following reasons:

In my opinion this is a good bill only if one assumes that the municipalities of New Jersey can get along without the professional buyer of tax title liens. I am advised that this time has not yet arrived.

When a property is exposed for public sale after advertisement and an outsider—that is, one other than the municipality— purchases the tax certificate, such purchaser must pay the tax lien in full. The municipality gets the taxes due it, plus interest and costs, promptly. If the municipality buys in the lien at the sale, nothing further may be done, and more often than not, nothing further is done, in the matter because the municipality is under no compulsion to foreclose the equity of redemption. If the municipality takes no further action, the delinquent taxpayer sits quietly by and allows subsequent taxes and penalties to accrue. The result is that in thousands of cases all over the State, there is no equity left in the property either for the owner or the municipality.

On the other hand, the professional buyer of tax title liens, as well as individuals interested in making a good investment, are not interested in vacant lands in which there is no substantial equity. There is, therefore, a reasonable probability that the property will be redeemed, or if not redeemed, it will be worthwhile going to the trouble and expense of foreclosing the tax certificate. The property thus gets back on the active tax lists of the municipality, which then continues to receive regular tax revenues.

Municipal finance officials inform me that if this bill becomes law it would discourage investors from buying at tax sales. As a result, municipalities which have benefited from their interested presence, would probably suffer financially.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 223 for the following reasons:

This bill makes it possible for fiduciaries to invest estate or trust funds in securities without disclosing the fact that the securities are held in a fiduciary capacity.

The law relating to fiduciaries, as it has been developed since earliest days by courts of equity, demands that the dealings of a fiduciary with funds entrusted to him, be at all times open and positively identified with the trust nature of the transaction.

It is wise policy to insist that investments made by a fiduciary continue, as heretofore, to indicate their trust quality. Not only will this serve to give notice to all who deal with such investments of their special character but will discourage possible manipulation of trust funds by an unfaithful fiduciary.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,

To the House of Assembly: May 6, 1942.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 305 for the following reasons:

The State of New Jersey has heretofore made liberal provision for public employees in military service far beyond any similar provision by private industry and business. The future drain on public treasuries under existing laws cannot presently be estimated.

The present bill would add to that drain by providing for pension payments on behalf of employees in the service under certain conditions. No provision for such payments has been made in existing budgets, and the amount involved is unknown.

I am in full sympathy with the idea of providing proper protection for those now in our country's fighting forces. The Fiscal Officers' Committee is now studying the entire problem in all its aspects. I feel that legislation such as this should be deferred until the committee has had an opportunity to submit comprehensive recommendations to me which will serve as a basis for needed legislation.

To the House of Assembly: May 6, 1942.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 319 for the following reasons:

A basic principle of the merit system of public employment is the separation of administration from politics. This bill would cut across that line of separation so that a career man could run for office without giving up his civil service status. If elected he could serve his term and return to his classified position.

It seems to me that a career man should make a clean break if he wants to run for office. Elective offices, in general, are for the determination of public policy; civil service offices for the carrying out of policy. To have a foot in both camps involves many dangers to the common good. It might be possible for the career man as candidate to influence his fellow civil service employees; if elected he might use his acquaintance to bring politics into the merit system; if he returns to his career job after a period in politics he can hardly do so without bringing back with him some of his political grudges and obligations with the inner urge to bide his time until another opportunity appears for him to run for office.

No doubt a bill such as this would do no harm in a few isolated cases, but if the practice became general it could open the door to many abuses in the civil service.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: May 6, 1942.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 321 for the following reasons:

This bill amends R. S. 18:13–50, a section of the Teachers Pension and Annuity Fund Act. It changes from sixty-two to sixty-five years the age at which a local board of education may require the retirement of a teacher who is a member of the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund. The information at hand indicates that because of its recent introduction and quick passage in the Legislature, interested parties had little opportunity to become aware of the bill or to make their position known prior to its passage.

The bill would change the bilateral provision which has been in the statutes since 1919, when the present pension fund law was originally passed and which provides that either the teacher or the local board of education may effect a retirement at sixty-two years of age. Assembly Bill No. 321 retains this right for the teacher but alters it for the board of education by delaying for three years the time when the board could require the teacher's retirement.

One unfortunate feature of this bill is that it provides that it shall take effect immediately. Under these circumstances a number of boards of education, which had already planned to retire teachers under the old law at the end of this school year and which in some cases had already requested the Board of Trustees of the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund to arrange for such retirements as of June 30, are suddenly faced with an unforeseen situation.

Because this is an amendment to a statute, once it becomes law the result will be from that date on as though the amendment were always part of the law and boards of education whose application for retirement of teachers are now in the hands of the fund would necessarily be denied the right of retiring such employees who are over the age of sixty-two but under the age of sixty-five, notwithstanding that application for retirement was based on the old law and received prior to this date. Inasmuch as the effective date of the retirement would be at some date subsequent to this bill becoming law, such boards of education would have their applications nullified and would have to wait until such employees became sixty-five years of age.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 358 for the following reasons:

It seems to me that this bill confers too much power upon the park commission, although this bill was no doubt framed to meet a particular condition where it would be applied judiciously. Under its provisions the commission might order sidewalks to be laid and paid for without sufficient opportunity for objections by the property owners or for a review of the assessments.

This proposed legislation might lead to a conflict of jurisdiction between the municipality and the commission over the priority of the liens. Under our laws the municipality is the only body that has the power to sell real property for nonpayment of taxes, assessments, or other municipal charges. Mr. Amlicke moved that the communication be received, spread in full upon the Minutes, and that Assembly Committee Substitute "B" for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 248 lie over.

Which motion was adopted.

A message from the Governor, delivered on May 9, 1942, by the hands of his Secretary as follows—was read by the Clerk:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: May 9, 1942.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 362 for the following reasons:

The present law provides that in municipalities containing more than ten thousand inhabitants the municipal attorney must have been admitted in the State of New Jersey to practice as a counselor.

This bill does not change the requirement for a municipal attorney in municipalities containing a population between ten thousand and forty-five thousand and over seventy-five thousand, but sets up a special requirement in cities having a population of not less than forty-five thousand and not more than seventy-five thousand inhabitants in which cities the municipal attorney may be an attorney-at-law who has been admitted to practice as such for a period of five years or more.

Certainly if municipalities having a population between ten thousand and forty-five thousand require a counselor to advise them, cities between forty-five thousand and seventy-five thousand inhabitants should obviously require the same caliber of advisers.

Respectfully submitted,

[SEAL] CHARLES EDISON,
Attest: Governor.
HARRY GILROY,
Secretary to the Governor.

THE CITY OF SUMMIT
NEW JERSEY

June 12, 1942.

To the Members of the House of General Assembly:

As the newly-elected president of the Young Republicans of New Jersey I submit herewith a copy of a resolution adopted at the annual meeting and convention held at Atlantic City, on Friday, June 12th.

I am also pleased to advise the members of your august body that the Young Republicans of New Jersey in convention assembled, passed a resolution praising the accomplishments of the 1942 New Jersey State Legislature.

Very truly yours,
FREDERICK G. SIGLER, JR.,
President Young Republicans of New Jersey

WHEREAS, The Commission on Revision of the New Jersey Constitution has filed a report, together with a proposed Constitution to replace that which has served our State for many years; and

WHEREAS, So important a change in governmental structure for the State of New Jersey necessitates both intensive and extensive preliminary study by all groups of New Jersey citizens preparatory to an intelligent vote upon the proposal's merits; and

WHEREAS, Thousands of New Jersey residents vitally affected by a shift from the State's present Constitution are now engaged in their country's armed service pursuing duties of more pressing importance than immediate change in the fundamental law of the State of New Jersey; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved, That the Young Republicans of New Jersey, although recognizing the necessity for changes in the Constitution, do hereby record themselves as favoring deferment of any move for constitutional revision until such time as our war effort is victoriously concluded and New Jersey residents of all groups can legitimately spare time for perusal of the proposed changes; and

Be It Further Resolved, That this action by the Young Republicans of New Jersey be made known to the Legislature.

The 166th Session of the New Jersey Legislature has practically completed the major portion of its work. Its accomplishments were outstanding and every effort was made to lay aside partisan politics and selfish interests.

The record of the session is one we can be proud of. The Legislature adhered strictly to the policy of scrutinizing expenditures so that the State's financial status could be maintained on an even keel. Bills calling for appropriations of more than $5,000,000 were killed and appropriations for general State and highway purposes were kept below those of last year. The Appropriations Committee deserves praise for the splendid job it performed.

Adequate authority was given the Governor to carry out necessary defense emergency measures; administrative costs for emergency relief purposes were curtailed, funds for the adequate maintenance of the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund were provided. Steps were taken to avoid a shortage in water for the State's industries; by interconnection of available supplies, authorization was given to assist in the transportation of defense workers to their jobs and in addition a program designed to relieve the shortage of labor on the farms of the State was adopted; therefore,

Be It Resolved, That the Young Republicans of New Jersey in convention assembled, commend the Republican Legislature for doing its part toward helping to bring victory in the National War effort by maintaining our State on a sound financial basis and continuing its record of outstanding accomplishments.

Mr. Amlicke moved that the communication and enclosed resolutions be received and spread in full upon the Minutes.

Which motion was adopted.

Mr. Feller offered the following resolution, which was read by the Clerk and adopted:

WHEREAS, The Young Republicans of New Jersey at their eleventh annual convention at Atlantic City, held on June 12, 1942, by acclamation, elected Frederick Sigler, Jr., of the city of Summit, Union county, New Jersey, State Chairman of their organization for the ensuing year; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Sigler devoted his efforts for many years last past to the cause of the Republican Party by serving as Chairman and organizer of the Union County Young Republican organization, member of the Union County Republican County Committee and its executive committee; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Sigler is also at present a Republican member of the City Council of the City of Summit where he has served for several successive terms; therefore,

Be It Resolved, By the House of Assembly of the State of New Jersey that it offer its congratulations to Mr. Frederick Sigler, Jr., on his recent selection as State Chairman of the Young Republicans of New Jersey and that he be commended upon this signal honor that has been conferred upon him; and

Be It Further Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Assembly extend to the said Mr. Sigler the privileges of the floor.

The Speaker greeted and congratulated Mr. Frederick Sigler, Jr., and he appointed Messrs. Minard, Leonard and Meyer as a committee to escort Mr. Sigler to the rostrum.

Mr. Sigler addressed the House briefly.

Mr. Amlicke offered the following resolution, which was read by the Clerk and adopted:

WHEREAS, The Honorable Thomas M. Muir, dean of the House of Assembly, has served as a member of the Crippled Children's Commission continuously since its creation; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Muir's services on this commission have been noteworthy and he has contributed generously and unselfishly of his time and other resources on behalf of the crippled children; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Muir's term on the commission has expired; therefore

Be It Resolved, That the Honorable Thomas M. Muir be reappointed to the Crippled Children's Commission for the term prescribed by law.

Mr. Muir addressed the House briefly.

A message was received from the Governor by the hands of his Secretary as follows—and was read by the Clerk:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: May 27, 1942.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 341, for the following reasons:

Ordinarily, out of regard for the judgment of the legislative body and for the reasons assigned to me by letters from legislators in the localities principally involved, I would be inclined to approve this legislation.

However, I have considered the recent decision of the Board of Public Utility Commissioners, which has been affirmed by the Supreme Court, and more particularly a communication received by me from Mr. Joseph B. Eastman, Director of the Office of Defense Transportation, strongly disapproving of this specific bill on the ground it is not in accord with the national transportation policy.

It has been suggested that the bill should be approved so as to be operative during the present emergency. I think the contrary is true.

In respect to transportation, the national needs are uppermost at this time and should not be impeded by inflexible legislation such as this.

In view of the avowed policy of the Office of Defense Transportation and the likelihood that the effect of this legislation would be nullified under its emergency powers, this bill is disapproved.

Respectfully submitted,

[SEAL] CHARLES EDISON,
Governor.

Attest:
HARRY GILROY,
Secretary to the Governor.

The following report was sent to the desk and read by the Clerk:

REPORT OF THE COMMISSION CREATED FOR THE PURPOSE OF STUDYING THE PRESENT ELECTION LAWS OF THE STATE OF NEW JERSEY AND FORMULATING COMPREHENSIVE PLAN FOR THE CLARIFYING THEREOF.

To the Members of the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

After the appointment of the Commission created for the purpose of studying the present election laws of the State of New Jersey and formulating a comprehensive plan for their codification, the Commission met and elected Senator Howard Eastwood as Chairman, Anthony P. Miele, Commissioner of Registration and Superintendent of Elections of Essex county, Secretary; Mrs. Pearl Bridgegum, member of the County Board of Elections, Burlington county, Assistant Secretary; Jacob Levey, Esq., Counsel to the Commissioner of Registration of Hudson county, Chief Counsel; Philip A. Donnelly, Esq., Aide to the Union County Board of Elections, Irving Eisenberg, Esq., Counsel to the Superintendent of Elections, Hudson county, Mr. Alex. Denbo, all as Assistant Counsels.

The Commission met from time to time and invited before it representatives of the County Clerks Association, County Board of Elections Association, Municipal Clerks Association, the Adjutant-General, and the Secretary of State in order that these administrative officers, who have had a vast amount of experience in administering election laws, could give the Commission the benefit of their experience and set forth what they think should be done in order to generally strengthen their election laws so that elections could be run on a more honest and economical basis. Testimony was taken, ideas exchanged, and as a result, the Commission has come to the conclusion that New Jersey, at the present time, has an election law which is easy to administer and that very few new principles need be legislated into it. The Commission has concluded, however, that the law needs clarifying in some instances and that all the laws pertaining to the election should be codified so that they could be more easily understood and the conflicts removed. The Commission has decided, however, that the law permitting men in the armed forces of this country to vote should be changed in some degree to make it more easy for them to become registered voters and also to decrease the time limit within which ballots may be sent to men in the armed forces. Legislation is being prepared to accomplish these purposes. The Commission realizes the difficult problem of getting ballots to men who are serving overseas due to army regulations and army censorship. The Commission is of the opinion that the Adjutant-General of the State of New Jersey has done all in his power to ascertain the whereabouts of all the men in the service, and the county clerks have done all in their power to send a ballot to them. No legislation which the Senate and the General Assembly of the State of New Jersey might pass can become binding on the Federal authorities, and the Commission is of the opinion that through the co-operation of the Adjutant-General with the regular army authorities that men in the armed forces who are not registered voters may become so registered at the main induction center at Camp Dix. The Commission is of the further opinion that in New Jersey our law assists the soldier in casting his vote to a greater degree than the laws of our neighboring States.

Insofar as the balance of our election law is concerned, the task of clarifying and codifying same is an enormous one. The counsel for the Commission are rewriting the law and legislation will be presented just as quickly as it can be prepared.

The Commission desires to extend its thanks to Commissioner Anthony P. Miele, of Essex county and Commissioner William Sewell, of Hudson county for their kind offer providing the stenographic service necessary for carrying on the work of the Commission.

Respectfully submitted,

LESTER E. MAHR
CHARLES BROWNE
HOWARD EASTWOOD
LLOYD L. SCHROEDER
ROCCO PALESE

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the Senate: May 18, 1942.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 89 for the following reasons:

The first section of the bill in prohibiting any person, firm, or corporation from selling to any of its employees any articles not of his or its own production or not handled in his or its regular course of trade goes entirely too far. I am aware of the evils sometimes connected with company stores, but this bill strikes down good and bad practices alike.

The well-established public policy of this State is to allow the widest freedom of action to private business consistent with normal requirements of health and good conditions of employment. Subject to such licenses as may be necessary to the accomplishments of these purposes any person may engage in retail trade. Our public policy seems to me still a desirable one, and I do not wish to see it limited or abridged.

It appears to me further that this bill is very loosely drawn and might lead to difficult problems of enforcement. The phrase "not handled in his or its regular course of trade" is not defined in the bill, and indeed seems to me very difficult of definition. A company may, and sometimes should, change its products and its ways of doing business. A certain flexibility is necessary to business success. No limit is set in this bill on what is regular or when some kind of business becomes so irregular as to fall within the intended prohibitions.

Nor are those tools and materials used or worn by employees named or adequately defined in the bill. Many articles are used both in a factory or office and at home, so that in a given instance it might be impossible to determine with the certainty that a law ought to have whether a sale comes within the act. It does not seem to me just to impose penalties for acts which cannot be clearly understood as illegal.

As a general principle, I do not like to see unenforceable legislation placed in the statutes for such acts always permit the persecution of businesses with a multiplicity of suits.

Respectfully submitted,

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,

To the Senate:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 129 for the following reasons:

Adequate provision is made for commissions to executors, administrators with the will annexed, and trustees under the existing law relating to the administration of estates, R. S. 3:11–2.

The present bill permits the court to include the reasonable value of the testator's unsold real estate in determining the commissions to be allowed on corpus receipts, or corpus coming into the hands of these fiduciaries. This amounts to additional compensation for services rendered and places an increased burden on the estate.

It should also be noted that the "reasonable value" of the real estate not sold during the administration of the estate or trust, is not defined, nor are adequate controls placed upon the determination of the value.

A fiduciary who feels that he will not be adequately compensated under the present schedule of commissions, has the privilege of refusing the responsibility of administering the estate, or of stepping down from his position once he has undertaken his duties.

If the Senate should not be in session or if for some other reason it should fail to confirm, the executive would be barred from fulfilling the constitutional requirement to see that the laws be faithfully executed.

If some hamlet, in the hope of encouraging real estate development, laid out a street two hundred feet wide, the State would be obligated to participate in its maintenance, regardless of the over-optimism of the developers. It seems to me that State participation should be determined by necessity, as shown by traffic counts or road conditions, rather than by blanket legislation of this type.

The bill makes the proceeds from the sales of such lands trust funds, to be invested and the income dedicated to the care and maintenance of the balance of the lands acquired under the same gift, grant or devise. Under this provision it is possible, where all or practically all the lands have been sold, to tie up funds which might otherwise serve a useful purpose.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the Senate: May 18, 1942.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 238 for the following reasons:

The proposed bill would permit all clerical employees in State penal institutions to withdraw their contributions and to join the prison officers' pension fund.

The act of 1941, which set up the separate fund for prison officers, is so liberal in its provisions that the five per cent salary deduction paid by the State will be insufficient to provide the benefits to which the members will be entitled, and the Legislature in future years will have to make up the deficit. This bill would make the deficit greater.

The withdrawal of a considerable number of members from the State Employees' Retirement System will naturally weaken that fund, now sound, and require either a reduction in benefits or an increase in contributions if the fund is to remain actuarily sound.

The setting up of separate pension funds for different groups of State employees seems to me an undesirable policy. It leads to a splintering of assets, to increased risks, and to a duplication of costs of administration.

If the surplus from the fees is not to be used for general State purposes, I should favor its being used to acquire the motor vehicle testing and inspection stations now rented at various points in the State so that the State would save money on rent.

Though the bill does not mention any sum, I am informed that about $50,000.00 is available in the account. If the investigation of a whole industry is to be undertaken at all, I am confident that that amount would be spent because the investigation would be intricate.

This is a large sum to be spending at a time when Federal price controls would affect the analysis.

The Governor's veto message upon Assembly Bill No. 55 was read by the Clerk.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: May 4, 1942.

I am herewith returning, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 55, for the following reasons:

Early in the emergency, before the United States entered the war, I designated the New Jersey State Planning Board as the co-ordinating agency for the State to bring all plans for post-war together. They have been at work on this program, and I can see no reason for duplicating their efforts.

The New Jersey State Planning Board has been working with the Public Programming Office of the Federal Public Works Agency. More than thirty million dollars' worth of projects for State agencies in New Jersey have already been approved under this arrangement.

Matters affecting the planning of highways can best be studied by the Highway Department; matters affecting banking and insurance by that department; questions on relief by the Municipal Aid Department; and methods of stimulating industrial and business activity by the New Jersey Council. Working all their plans together is the State Planning Board, and another commission to do the same things would only result in confusion.

The Highway Commissioner, the Commissioner of Finance, the Director of the Department of Conservation and Development, and the Secretary of the Civil Service Commission are already members of the Planning Board. The Highway Commissioner has an engineering staff available and in the same way the other officials have employees under their immediate direction who can be and are used for planning work.

I notice that the proposed commission would be authorized "to employ such expert, technical and clerical assistants as may be required . . .". Apparently no limit is placed upon the size of the staff they may engage. I cannot approve of such loose legislation.

I notice further that the employees are specifically exempted from the provisions of the Civil Service law. Such an exemption is contrary to the announced public policy of the State.

No appropriation for payment of the employees to be engaged by this proposed commission is included in the bill. No one should doubt, however, that such a commission will cost money. If it should engage engineers, architects, real estate experts, and other technical assistants, the State would be obligated to pay them. The total costs of payment cannot even be estimated. I cannot approve of a bill that commits the State to an indefinite financial obligation.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES EDISON,

The Governor's veto message upon Assembly Bill No. 305 was read by the Clerk:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: May 6, 1942.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 305 for the following reasons:

The State of New Jersey has heretofore made liberal provision for public employees in military service far beyond any similar provision by private industry and business. The future drain on public treasuries under existing laws cannot presently be estimated.

The present bill would add to that drain by providing for pension payments on behalf of employees in the service under certain conditions. No provision for such payments has been made in existing budgets, and the amount involved is unknown.

I am in full sympathy with the idea of providing proper protection for those now in our country's fighting forces. The Fiscal Officers' Committee is now studying the entire problem in all its aspects. I feel that legislation such as this should be deferred until the committee has had an opportunity to submit comprehensive recommendations to me which will serve as a basis for needed legislation.

The Governor's veto message upon Assembly Bill No. 319 was read by the Clerk:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: May 6, 1942.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 319 for the following reasons:

A basic principle of the merit system of public employment is the separation of administration from politics. This bill would cut across that line of separation so that a career man could run for office without giving up his civil service status. If elected he could serve his term and return to his classified position.

It seems to me that a career man should make a clean break if he wants to run for office. Elective offices, in general, are for the determination of public policy; civil service offices for the carrying out of policy. To have a foot in both camps involves many dangers to the common good. It might be possible for the career man as candidate to influence his fellow civil service employees; if elected he might use his acquaintance to bring politics into the merit system; if he returns to his career job after a period in politics he can hardly do so without bringing back with him some of his political grudges and obligations with the inner urge to bide his time until another opportunity appears for him to run for office.

No doubt a bill such as this would do no harm in a few isolated cases, but if the practice became general it could open the door to many abuses in the civil service.

The Governor's veto message upon Assembly Bill No. 362 was read by the Clerk:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: May 9, 1942.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 362 for the following reasons:

The present law provides that in municipalities containing more than ten thousand inhabitants the municipal attorney must have been admitted in the State of New Jersey to practice as a counselor.

This bill does not change the requirement for a municipal attorney in municipalities containing a population between ten thousand and forty-five thousand and over seventy-five thousand, but sets up a special requirement in cities having a population of not less than forty-five thousand and not more than seventy-five thousand inhabitants in which cities the municipal attorney may be an attorney-at-law who has been admitted to practice as such for a period of five years or more.

Certainly if municipalities having a population between ten thousand and forty-five thousand require a counselor to advise them, cities between forty-five thousand and seventy-five thousand inhabitants should obviously require the same caliber of advisers.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the Senate: May 18, 1942.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 266 for the following reasons:

The costs of this proposed investigation are not specifically set forth in the bill, but an unexpended balance in one of the accounts of the Department of Agriculture is to be used for the purpose. I cannot approve this vague and loose way of appropriating money.

Though the bill does not mention any sum, I am informed that about $50,000.00 is available in the account. If the investigation of a whole industry is to be undertaken at all, I am confident that that amount would be spent because the investigation would be intricate.

This is a large sum to be spending at a time when Federal price controls would affect the analysis.

Respectfully submitted,

[SEAL] CHARLES EDISON,
Governor.

Attest:
THOMAS SCHETTINO,
Acting Secretary to the Governor.

The Governor's message vetoing Senate Bill No. 129 was read by the Clerk:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the Senate: May 18, 1942.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 129 for the following reasons:

Adequate provision is made for commissions to executors, administrators with the will annexed, and trustees under the existing law relating to the administration of estates, R. S. 3:11–2.

The present bill permits the court to include the reasonable value of the testator's unsold real estate in determining the commissions to be allowed on corpus receipts, or corpus coming into the hands of these fiduciaries. This amounts to additional compensation for services rendered and places an increased burden on the estate.

It should also be noted that the ''reasonable value'' of the real estate not sold during the administration of the estate or trust, is not defined, nor are adequate controls placed upon the determination of the value.

A fiduciary who feels that he will not be adequately compensated under the present schedule of commissions, has the privilege of refusing the responsibility of administering the estate, or of stepping down from his position once he has undertaken his duties.

Respectfully submitted,

[SEAL] CHARLES EDISON,
Attest: Governor.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
May 18, 1942.

To the Senate:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 131 for the following reason:

This bill, in providing that members of the Board of Shell Fisheries, who are appointed by the Governor by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall hold office until their successors are qualified, weakens the executive power of appointment. If the Senate should not be in session or if for some other reason it should fail to confirm, the executive would be barred from fulfilling the constitutional requirement to see that the laws be faithfully executed.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES EDISON,
Governor.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
May 18, 1942.

To the Senate:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 134 for the following reason:

It appears to me that this bill is intended to circumvent the Civil Service Act by taking certain employees, temporarily employed, into the classified service without their passing civil service examinations. The bill, while using general terms, still seems intended for three individuals.

While I am aware that this practice has been common in the past, I still think that it violates the spirit, if not the letter, of the Civil Service Act.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES EDISON,
Governor.

The Governor's veto message upon Senate Bill No. 135 was read by the Clerk.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the Senate: May 18, 1942.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 135 for the following reason:

This bill would require the State to participate in the costs of building and maintaining the curbs and gutters of a street regardless of its width. If some hamlet, in the hope of encouraging real estate development, laid out a street two hundred feet wide, the State would be obligated to participate in its maintenance, regardless of the over-optimism of the developers. It seems to me that State participation should be determined by necessity, as shown by traffic counts or road conditions, rather than by blanket legislation of this type.

Respectfully submitted,

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the Senate: May 18, 1942.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 157 for the following reasons:

This bill permits a county to sell public lands acquired by gift, grant or devise, at private sale, for cash or upon credit, without restriction. Besides encouraging a loose practice, it opens the door to favoritism.

The bill makes the proceeds from the sales of such lands trust funds, to be invested and the income dedicated to the care and maintenance of the balance of the lands acquired under the same gift, grant or devise. Under this provision it is possible, where all or practically all of the lands have been sold, to tie up funds which might otherwise serve a useful purpose.

Respectfully submitted,

The Governor's veto message upon Assembly Bill No. 341 was read by the Clerk.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: May 27, 1942.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 341, for the following reasons:

Ordinarily, out of regard for the judgment of the legislative body and for the reasons assigned to me by letters from legislators in the localities principally involved, I would be inclined to approve this legislation.

However, I have considered the recent decision of the Board of Public Utility Commissioners, which has been affirmed by the Supreme Court, and more particularly a communication received by me from Mr. Joseph B. Eastman, Director of the Office of Defense Transportation, strongly disapproving of this specific bill on the ground that it is not in accord with the national transportation policy.

It has been suggested that the bill should be approved so as to be operative during the present emergency. I think the contrary is true.

In respect to transportation, the national needs are uppermost at this time and should not be impeded by inflexible legislation such as this.

In view of the avowed policy of the Office of Defense Transportation and the likelihood that the effect of this legislation would be nullified under its emergency powers, this bill is disapproved.

Respectfully submitted,

[SEAL] CHARLES EDISON,
Governor.

Attest:
HARRY GILROY,
Secretary to the Governor.

Mr. Howell moved that the Governor's veto message be received and spread in full upon the Minutes.

Which motion was adopted.

Assembly Bill No. 341, entitled "An act concerning railroads,"

Was taken up, the Governor's objections were read by the Clerk, and

Mr. Howell moved that the same do pass, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding.

L., Thompson, M. H., Wagner, Young—32.

In the negative were—

Messrs. Cavicchia, Minard, Platts—3.

The Clerk was directed by the Speaker to carry said bill to the Senate and inform that body that the House of Assembly has passed the same, and requests its concurrence therein, notwithstanding the Governor's objections thereto.

Report of the Joint Legislative Committee constituted under Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 19, entitled "A Concurrent Resolution creating a joint legislative committee to ascertain the sentiment of the people of the State as to the various proposals and recommendations for change in the New Jersey Constitution made by the Commission on Revision of the New Jersey Constitution and to report thereon to the Legislature," adopted June fifteenth, one thousand nine hundred and forty-two.

To the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

The Joint Legislative Committee constituted under Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 19, adopted June fifteenth, one thousand nine hundred and forty-two, submits the following report:

Under Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 19, the Report of the Commission on Revision of the New Jersey Constitution, constituted under Joint Resolution No. 2, approved November eighteenth, one thousand nine hundred and forty-one, was referred to this committee and it was made the duty of this committee "to hold public hearings to ascertain the sentiment of the people of the State as to the various proposals and recommendations made by said commission in its report and to ascertain also the sentiment of the people of the State as to whether or not they desire the fundamenal law of the State to be changed."

Public hearings have been held by the committee throughout the summer in the Assembly Chamber at Trenton, New Jersey, and much valuable testimony has been received in favor of, in opposition to, and suggesting modifications of the various proposals made in the Report of the Commission on Revision of the New Jersey Constitution.

In the course of the public hearings it has been suggested to the committee that the committee recommend to the Legislature that, by the enactment of appropriate legislation, a question should be framed and placed upon the ballot to be used at the 1942 general election to ascertain whether or not the people desire the 1943 Legislature to formulate a Revised Constitution and to submit the same to the people at the general election to be held in the year 1943.

At the public hearings it became evident that the questions as to what changes should be made in the present Constitution and the question as to whether or not these changes should be determined upon and submitted to the people during the present crisis are of highly controversial character.

In determining whether or not the sentiment of the people is in favor of making changes in the present Constitution at the present time or in the near future, it is necessary for the committee to take into consideration the fact that we are now a nation at war; that many thousands of our citizens and voters are now serving in the armed forces of the United States; and that the State as a whole is engaged in an "all out" war effort.

It is estimated that upwards of two hundred and fifty thousand citizens of the State will be serving in the armed forces of the United States on the date of the 1942 general election, and it is apparent that a large number of these will be unable to express their opinions upon any questions then submitted and to participate in the election and vote upon them.

It is estimated further that if the war continues, perhaps one-third of the voters of the State will be so engaged, at the time of the 1943 general election, many of whom likewise will be denied opportunity for expression of opinion and voting upon a revised Constitution, if it should be submitted at that time.

Because of the absence of voters serving in the armed forces of the United States and the lack of interest in elections in wartimes, as shown by the small vote cast in the last primary election, the submission of the question suggested, at the 1942 general election, and the submission of a proposed revised Constitution at the 1943 general election, might well result in the adoption by a minority of the voters of the State of a Constitution which would not be agreeable to the majority of the voters.

The committee is of the opinion also that the submission to the people, during wartimes, of such controversial questions as are involved in changing the State Constitution will detract from the "all out" war effort of the State and cause disunity among its citizens at a time when unity of thought and purpose is essential.

The committee therefore recommends that no further action for change in the New Jersey State Constitution be taken until after the termination of the present war.

Minority report of Manfield G. Amlicke, one of the members of the Joint Legislative Committee constituted under Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 19, adopted June 15, 1942.

To the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

The following minority report is submitted by Manfield G. Amlicke, one of the members of the Joint Legislative Committee constituted under Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 19, adopted June fifteenth, one thousand nine hundred and forty-two, entitled "A Concurrent Resolution creating a joint legislative committee to ascertain the sentiment of the people of the State as to the various proposals and recommendations for change in the New Jersey Constitution made by the Commission on Revision of the New Jersey Constitution and to report thereon to the Legislature,"

Under Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 19, the Report of the Commission on Revision of the New Jersey Constitution, constituted under Joint Resolution No. 2, approved November eighteenth, one thousand nine hundred and forty-one, was referred to this committee and it was made the duty of this committee "to hold public hearings to ascertain the sentiment of the people of the State as to the various proposals and recommendations made by said commission in its report and to ascertain also the sentiment of the people of the State as to whether or not they desire the fundamental law of the State to be changed."

Public hearings have been held by the committee throughout the summer in the Assembly Chamber at Trenton, New Jersey. It was there strongly urged upon the committee that a question should be framed and placed upon the ballot at the ensuing general election to ascertain whether or not the people desire the 1943 Legislature to formulate a revised Constitution and to submit the same to the people at the general election to be held in the year 1943.

These hearings disclosed that there was a strong sentiment among the people for certain changes in our basic law. There was opposition to some of the specific proposals and recommendations made by the commission. These objections can be considered and met by the 1943 Legislature if the people should ask them to act.

During the hearings there were many speakers who felt that some changes should be made but that such changes should not be effected during the present war emergency. They argued that those men and women who are in our armed services should not be precluded from voting on such changes. In view of the fact that those who remain to vote are the mothers and fathers, brothers and sisters, relatives and friends, of those men and women who are now and will later be in the armed services of this country, it is my considered thought that it is only fitting for them to say, at the next general election, whether or not the 1943 Legislature should submit a revised Constitution. They certainly have the welfare of those men and women at heart. If they feel that such action should not be taken at the present time and that we should wait until those men and women return, they will vote emphatically "No!" If, on the other hand, they should feel that our fundamental law should be changed to make it more efficient and to provide for the future well-being of the returning veterans, so that these returning veterans can get the help and assistance which they will most certainly require, they will vote "YES."

The commission has given much of its talents and time to prepare a proposed revision. The legislative committee patiently heard arguments for and against a change. I feel that their efforts should not be dissipated. The people of this State are the government and can make changes in the fundamental law of the State through the orderly processes of the ballot. It is for them to say how they wish to be governed.

It is my conviction, therefore, that the question proposed should be submitted, and that such submission will clearly indicate to the members of the present Legislature whether the 1943 Legislature should prepare a revised Constitution or whether it should wait until the war emergency is over.

Minority report of Dominic A. Cavicchia, a member of the Joint Legislative Committee constituted under Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 19, adopted June 15, 1942, entitled "A concurrent resolution creating a joint legislative committee to ascertain the sentiment of the people of the State as to the various proposals and recommendations for change in the New Jersey Constitution made by the Commission on Revision of the New Jersey Constitution and to report thereon to the Legislature."

To the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

Pursuant to Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 19, adopted June 15, 1942, a joint legislative committee consisting of four members of the Senate and four members of the General Assembly was appointed by the President and Speaker of the respective Houses. I was among the four appointed by the Speaker.

The joint committee was charged with the duty of holding public hearings "to ascertain the sentiment of the people of the State as to the various proposals and recommendations" of the Commission on Revision of the New Jersey Constitution, made in its report submitted to the Governor, the Legislature, and the People of New Jersey in May, 1942; and "to ascertain, also, the sentiment of the people of the State as to whether or not they desire the fundamental law of the State to be changed."

The joint committee was directed, in the resolution under which it was created, "to keep a record of its hearings and proceedings" and to "report to the Legislature the result thereof to the end that the Legislature may be informed of the public sentiment of the State as to the various proposals for changes in the fundamental law of the State made in said report of said Commission and in the course of said hearings."

The time spent by the joint committee in holding hearings, and in giving consideration to the testimony and to the briefs and memoranda additionally submitted, covered a period of three months.

The record of the proceedings is unusual and impressive. It is worthy of official preservation as a State archive that will invite ready reference by all citizens in their consideration of the solemn and momentous purpose towards which the proceedings were directed.

The suggestion has been made that because the hearings were held only in the State capitol, they were not illustrative of widespread public opinion. To this I reply, however, that the hearings were conducted according to traditional legislative practice, that they were well publicized in advance of each date upon which they were held, that all citizens were given an opportunity either to be heard or to submit written statements at any time, and that in most instances those who testified orally or in writing represented large groups of people throughout the State.

The record clearly shows that there was considerable favorable comment on the Revision Commission's proposals generally, and on the Commission's draft of a revised Constitution particularly. In all fairness, however, it must also be said that there was much sentiment for modification of several of the articles in the Commission's document. But it is also true that in many instances those who spoke for modification expressid themselves as satisfied that, at all events, the Commission's revised instrument of government was preferable to our present Constitution.

It is difficult to escape the conclusion that the joint committee's proceedings were productive of a fair cross-section of public opinion in this State on the question of constitutional revision. The record clearly shows a preponderance of public feeling for a revised Constitution framed according to twentieth century standards of State government.

In the course of the hearings, attacks were made upon the "legality" of the procedure recommended by the Revision Commission for effecting constitutional revision, and upon the timeliness of any revision while the country is at war.

These are the two features before the committee which are presently important in a consideration of this question. It is to a treatment of these points that I shall confine the details of this report.

I. ON PROCEDURE

In principle, the procedure recommended by the Revision Commission is: That the people be given the opportunity to direct the Legislature to draft a revised Constitution, and that following such a popular mandate, the Legislature's document be submitted for adoption or rejection by the people.

What is really a simple fundamental problem treating with the making of a State constitution—whether original or revised—has been made complicated and involved over the years by the ingenious arguments of lawyers, scholars and statesmen. There is more than a suspicion that many who have sought by legalistic and complex reasoning to show a distinction between the power underlying the original formation of a State constitution, on the one hand, and that controlling subsequent revision, on the other hand, have suited their contentions to preconceived notions or conclusions. That these complexities have in turn served to confuse those who were innocent of ulterior motives in their presentations, but who were guilty of further intricacies of argument in order to overcome the weight of authorities cited for the opposite view, may account for the labyrinth of involved technicalities which has led only to public bewilderment rather than to general enlightenment.

This fact alone should make all men of sound judgment ponder. When the sovereignty of a free people must be extricated from a maze of conflicting legalisms in order to give it expression, something must be wrong. The sooner this simple truth is recognized, the sooner will this controversy be resolved upon the same simple philosophy of free government that inspired the statesmen of 1776.

It is absurd to believe that there should apply to subsequent revision a philosophy different from that applicable to the formation of a State constitution in the first instance. The Declaration of Independence is still the Bible for the people's inherent political power in the United States, and the United States Constitution is still the supreme law of the land.

It may be recalled that as a member of the Committee on Resolutions of the 1941 New Jersey Republican State Convention, I filed a minority report dealing with the subject of constitutional revision. In that report I said in part:

> Our own 1844 Constitution enunciates not only the cardinal rule that "all political power is inherent in the people," but also its corollary that "government is instituted for the protection, security, and benefit of the people, and they have the right at all times to alter or reform the same, whenever the public good may require it." This was not an original declaration; it was a restatement of what was contained in the Declaration of Independence proclaimed at Philadelphia nearly seventy years earlier.
> If the people of New Jersey have lost the power to change their basic government in the interest of the common good, then it can no longer be true that, as Jefferson wrote in 1776, "governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness."

The Federal Constitution itself, adopted in 1789, was framed upon the same colonial concepts of free government. The Bill of Rights, added in 1791 and comprising the first ten amendments, was the constitutional embodiment of the inalienable rights of the people in relation to the Federal government.

Now, Section IV of Article IV of the United States Constitution provides:

> The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a republican form of government, and shall protect each of them against invasion; and, on application of the legislature or of the executive (when the legislature cannot be convened), against domestic violence. (Italics added.)

And the Tenth Amendment (Article X of the Bill of Rights) reads as follows:

> The powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people. (Italics added.)

Thus, the scope within which the people of the respective States have the right to adopt for themselves, at any time, fundamental structures of government is to be drawn from the principles of popular government as expressed in the Declaration of Independence, from the powers explicitly reserved to the people by the Tenth Amendment, and from the limitations contained in Section IV of Article IV, and in Article VI of the Federal Constitution.

I have long maintained—and I repeat here—that the political power which inheres in a people is a continuing authority which can never be exhausted or curtailed by those who by force of circumstances happen to comprise the body politic in any generation or era. It is unfortunate that learned men should belabor constitutional revision and surround it with legal precedents which are actually foreign to the real problem.

In the first place, sovereignty requires no precedent for self-expression; nor does the people's natural political power subserve the government which the people at any time see fit to shape for the governance of themselves and, hopefully, of posterity. W. W. Willoughby, former professor of political science at Johns Hopkins University, has said that "a State and its government is but an instrument humanly devised for a people's good. It, therefore, has to be justified by its works." In other words, the people—not governments—are supreme in the United States.

In the second place, constitutional or basic governmental revision by direct political action of the people is not a legal matter. It is purely a question of political science, and one in which the courts have no authority to intervene.

Elements of legality can surround only that form of revision which is based on provisions contained in the fundamental law of a State, although no provisions in any State constitution could be so framed, I submit, as to deny to the people of any later period the same political rights which underlay the framing of the document and its adoption in the first instance. And this will continue to be so in the United States unless, by prescribed processes or otherwise, the Federal Constitution should ever be changed to incorporate other restraints upon the people of the respective States.

For instance, legality can surround a clause in a State constitution which sets forth procedures for amendment. Interpretation of such a clause would be proper subject matter for the courts. But I know of no rule or logic that invests a State judiciary with the power to interfere with the people's exercise of their inherent political rights. State courts themselves derive their authority from the people, by whose consent the judiciary is itself one of the three coordinate branches of the State government.

Having criticized the resort to legalisms in this connection, I do not propose to be guilty of the same error. Yet it is imperative to show by what reasoning the courts have eliminated themselves as the arbiters of political controversies involving the formation and ordination of State constitutions.

In the case of Brickhouse v. Brooks, 165 Fed. 534, it was definitely determined that the ordainment of a State constitution which has been promulgated and recognized by the legislative and executive departments cannot be made the subject of judicial inquiry. In that case the validity of the Virginia Constitution was attacked. But the United States Circuit Court for the Eastern District of Virginia said:

> This court will not decree concerning the policy of public measures, nor will it pass on the expediency of the action of the legislative and executive departments of the government, but will construe and apply the enactments of the one and the acts of the other after those departments have discharged the duties assigned them. It will not hesitate to decide all judicial questions properly before it, but it will decline to enter the political domain, and will refuse to attempt by its decree to dispose of matters confided to the official action of others.

That the Constitution of the United States and the laws of the Congress passed in conformity thereto are supreme throughout the nation, and that it is the duty of all judges to so decree, anything in the Constitution or laws of any of the states to the contrary notwithstanding, is conceded by all whose opinions are worthy of consideration. Will it not also be universally conceded that, before it can be decided by the courts whether or not the Constitution of any state has incorporated therein anything contrary to the Constitution of the United States, in cases where unfortunately there is a controversy as to which of two instruments is the valid Constitution of a state, it must first be determined which is the Constitution of that state, to which the people thereof owe their allegiance? It is concerning this ascertainment—whose duty it is to decide it—that I find myself compelled to differ with the insistence of the plaintiff * * *.

Whether or not the people of the State of Virginia have duly adopted the Constitution in controversy in this case is a political question, not to be disposed of by this court, but by the legislative and executive departments of the government of that state. Those departments having recognized and promulgated that Constitution, having declared it valid and in force, it consequently is the fundamental law of Virginia, so to remain until it is changed by the people of that state, or overthrown, not by the courts, but by revolution. * * *

Whether or not this Constitution of Virginia is consistent with the requirements of the federal Constitution, relating to a republican form of government, is a question to be determined by the legislative and executive departments of the government of the United States. In regard to such matters the courts will not take the initiative, but will await the action of the departments mentioned, and when they have acted will be bound by the conclusion they have reached. If such > action has not been taken by those departments of the government, the presumption is that the necessity for it did not exist, and the courts will not infer that they have either refused or neglected to promptly and efficiently discharge the duties imposed upon them.

Suffice it to say that this principle is fully substantiated by the decisions in the United States Supreme Court cases of Luther v. Borden, 7 How. 1, 12 L. Ed. 581; and Pacific States Tel. and Tel. Co. v. Oregon, 223 U. S. 118, 56 L. Ed. 377.

Having thus identified the real nature of the problem of adopting a revised constitution, we are faced with two simple questions: If the people are inherently sovereign, is it possible for those of one period to be more sovereign than their posterity? If all political power is inherent in the people, were the people who chanced to live within the geographical boundaries of New Jersey in 1844 more politically powerful than we who are its citizens in 1942?

The colonial conception was, as we have seen, that sovereignty resides in the people—in the social community of which government is the convenient and orderly instrument. I am not aware that between 1776 and the present day this concept has ever lacked in fundamental importance.

There has been an evident lack, however, in the ability of later generations to conceive of this doctrine in contradistinction to the limited aspects of constitutional amendment which finds sanction only in the established constitution of the State. Beyond that sanction is the consent of the people and their inalienable right to frame or reform their organic law according to the standards of the times.

One need only to refer to the reports of the Constitutional Convention of 1844 to learn the opinion of Chief Justice Hornblower, who was a delegate from Essex County, and who was reported in the Newark Daily Advertiser of that period to have substantially contended:

> That if the rule * * * that the adoption of one mode of amendments, excludes all others, it is entirely at war with the article in our bill of rights, that we have made so much parade about, that the people are sovereign, and may change their form of government when they choose.

Indeed, there has been a common failure among men of learning, contemporaneous and past, to distinguish between the purport of government and the import of the people's basic power—between the significance of the outward expression of government and the substance of the people's inherent rights which are reiterated in our own New Jersey Constitution. The one deals generally with the various powers of government and their distribution among the three independent but co-ordinate branches; the other deals with political foundations and asserts human rights as distinguished from the machinery of government.

I believe this discrimination to be fundamental to a clear conception of the whole problem of constitutional revision. With such an understanding, then, two other questions follow in logical sequence:

First, in revising our Constitution shall we employ the mode prescribed in our fundamental law for the government itself—the Legislature—to initiate specific amendments? Or, second, shall we exercise the power which inheres in us as a sovereign people to alter or reform the whole structure of government as we think the public good may require?

So far as I know, this pointed distinction has yet to be fully developed in our public thinking. But it becomes logical and understandable in the light of American constitutional history generally, and of what is historically interpreted to have been the intent of the people of 1844 in New Jersey.

It has been pointed out by students of political science that in America there have been four periods in the development of State constitutions. At this point, however, reference need be made only to the first two, in order to show how a shift in public attitude towards State Legislatures, from one of complete confidence to one of distrust, dominated the drafting of the New Jersey Constitution in 1844.

During the first period—between the Revolution and the War of 1812—the people of the Union still had uppermost in their minds the harassing experiences they, as colonists, had suffered at the hands of Royal Governors. Naturally, then, they had come to regard the office of Governor with suspicion. Thus, when drafting their own State constitutions, they clothed the Executive with the least possible constitutional authority; and they made supreme the Legislature, which they had come to regard as the protector of popular rights and as the safest and best agency of government in which to repose the people's power.

But between 1812 and the Civil War—the second period—Legislatures had fallen into disrepute because of their tendency toward public neglect, and because of their bestowal of favors upon private interests at public expense and against the common welfare. This was the day of legislative lavishness and improvidence. Thus, in the making of State constitutions during this period, there was reflected the people's determination to curb legislative significance and power.

It was during this second period—in 1844—that the present New Jersey Constitution was framed and adopted. And this general public distrust of the Legislature was even more pronounced in this State:

By 1844 the people had become weary of long years of controversy which had disturbed the then rural peace of New Jersey, and which had centered on whether the Legislature, because the 1776 Constitution contained no provision for revising the basic law, possessed absolute power to amend it without the people's ratification. It was only natural that at the earliest opportunity the people should obviate any possibility that the Legislature might succeed in its attempted usurpation of their inherent political power.

This, then, was the purpose behind the difficult amending process in the Constitution of 1844. Passage of a proposed amendment by only one Legislature would not, the framers thought, give the people ample protection against that body's attempt to change the organic law. They thus surrounded amendment proposals with additional safeguards, providing for publication, after passage by one Legislature, sufficiently in advance of the next general election, so that the people could have the opportunity of knowing where candidates for the Senate and General Assembly stood with respect to constitutional amendments initiated by the current Legislature and which must pass the ensuing Legislature before reaching the people for a vote. Thus, the amending process was kept within the interim—as well as within the final—control of the people.

Can there, then, be any honest doubt that the people of 1844 were satisfied that, while providing a mode of amendment by legislative initiative, they nonetheless were retaining for themselves their inherent power to alter or reform the Constitution?

I submit that this discrimination I have traced between constitutional restraint upon the power of government to originate revision through piece-meal amendment, on the one hand, and the sovereign right of the people to effectuate complete reformation or alteration, on the other hand, is a logical demarcation which defies successful contradiction; and that a clear understanding of the issue under consideration rests upon this distinction.

I must, therefore, disagree with those who question what they erroneously call the "legality" of the procedure for revision proposed by the Commission in its report. When the political power of the people is invoked, it is limited only by the United States Constitution, by the rules of human behavior and order characteristic of our American civilization, and by the will to perform a task so high in purpose that no considerations other than those affecting the common welfare will sway any of us.

II. ON TIMELINESS

From the standpoint of timeliness, the issue specifically resolves itself into whether the present Legislature shall submit to the people at the 1942 general election in November the following question: Shall the 167th (1943) Legislature be directed to submit, for adoption or rejection by the people at the 1943 general election, a revised Constitution altered and reformed as the Legislature deems the public good requires?

Now, I have already discussed two periods of constitutional development in America. The third and fourth of the four traced by students of political science were marked by readjustments in the fundamental structures of State governments to bring them into consonance with increasing involvements of public affairs induced by increasingly complex industrial, economic and social problems in this country. The third period covered the years between the Civil War and the late 1890's; the fourth, from the 1890's to the present day.

So far as New Jersey is concerned, the transition from the second period, during which our present Constitution was ordained, is best illustrated by the startling difference in the cost of State government in 1844 and in 1942. In 1844 the yearly cost was less than $100,000; today the annual cost approaches 125 million dollars.

I suggest that today we are entering a fifth period of constitutional development in the United States—a period replete with modern complexities and with multiple and difficult problems of modern governmental activity and finance.

Now the exigencies of war have been offered as the legitimate reason for delaying action on constitutional revision in New Jersey. Specifically, it has been charged that to take steps to revise the organic law of this State while so many of our citizens are away on the scattered battle-fronts of the world will unjustly deprive them of a vote upon the question.

I submit that, on the contrary, it is unfair to the men in the service, and to their families at home, not to effectuate constitutional changes now. With Federal taxation pyramiding every day because of the demands of war, there is every need to eliminate inefficiency and extravagance in New Jersey's State government, which now proportionately affects the families of the men in service, and which will affect the men themselves when, upon their return from the war, they resume their status as taxpayers.

Shall New Jersey, then, preserve the same outmoded, extravagant, inefficient and irresponsible form of government for the men serving in this world war to support when they return to civilian life? Or shall the people reform and alter that government—without disturbing the substance of the Bill of Rights—along lines that will conduce to economy, efficiency and responsibility in public affairs, so that the veterans of this war will not be forced to bear the burdens imposed upon them by inadequate and deficient government?

Aside from the exigencies of war, for the last half-century there has been increasing assumption in Washington of responsibility for a multiplicity of governmental services which the State governments have been unwilling or unable to render, or have been prevented from rendering by forces of federalization.

From a practical standpoint, these Federal encroachments upon the domain of State governments have actually relieved the States of many services they should have been performing for the people. Whether or not this has been a cause or an effect of partisan policies, it nonetheless remains that the respective State governments, thus unburdened of the responsibilities attending the powers so usurped, have never been pressed to their maximum administrative capacities.

The Federal government, however, itself burdened beyond capacity, may find it necessary after the war to hand back to the States the powers taken away from them. In those States having more modern structures of government, the increased responsibilities accompanying these powers may possibly be assumed without too much difficulty. But in New Jersey, since there is general agreement that some measure of revision is needed even on the basis of our present governmental activities, we shall find ourselves unprepared unless we shall have thoroughly modernized our structure by the time that day arrives.

We can prepare at once to equip ourselves by adequate constitutional revision to that end; or we can postpone the day of reckoning until the enormity of these increased problems actually overwhelms us and adds to the burdens of postwar readjustment upon demobilization of our armed forces. In short, shall the people at home, entrusted with the powers of sovereignty, shirk their duty to those who are offering their lives to preserve the very fundamentals of American democracy?

CONCLUSION

In the United States, the people have come to take government too much for granted. Unfortunately, there has been a tendency to lose track of the philosophy which underlies free government and which caused the American colonists so much anxiety and bloodshed. It is no exaggeration to say, generally, that the American people have come to regard government as a static organism rather than as one which may be altered by themselves for their common good.

It is nowadays not too difficult to arouse public interest in legislation which is viewed with favor or disfavor, as the case may be. Current legislation, because of the widespread publicity given it in the newspapers, is closer to the daily lives of the people. They are thus more conversant with the making of statutory law than they are with the making of fundamental law or constitutions.

Readily, but without consciousness of the origin and import of their power, the people have become accustomed to the elective process for voting upon important public questions and for ousting from public office those representatives who have served them inefficiently, extravagantly or irresponsibly. But they have not found it necessary to concern themselves with basic concepts of popular government, as did the American colonists in those long years of struggle against tyranny.

It is understandable that grievances which do not spring from invaded personal or property rights are slow in forming.

In New Jersey, however, the people are gradually becoming aware of the righteousness of many grievances which public-spirited and civic-minded citizens and groups have advanced against a Constitution which has countless times been criticized as a barrier to efficient, economical and responsible government.

And when the people are made to realize that such grievances necessarily strike at the very roots of State government, they take cognizance of fundamentals. They demand to know about their sovereignty and all the political power which accompanies it. It is then that they give heed to the basic import of the philosophy of government as proclaimed in the Declaration of Independence, as defined by implication or specification in the Constitution of the United States, and as restated in the present New Jersey Constitution. Indeed, they take warning from the "Virginian Declaration of Rights, 12 June 1776," which, in part, states:

> (XV) That no free government, or the blessing of liberty, can be preserved to any people, but by a firm adherence to justice, moderation, temperance, frugality and virtue, and by a frequent recurrence to fundamental principles.

Today, we have come to the point in New Jersey where public interest is wakened to the crying need for constitutional revision more extensive in scope than is possible of accomplishment through the restricted, tedious and costly medium of the amendment clause.

Today, State Legislatures are no longer suspect by the public. Their historical frailties have long since given way to stability and sound conduct of the public business. The record of legislative achievements—especially during the last ten years—affords much to commend the Legislature to the public trust.

Hence, the people of New Jersey do not today shy away from their Legislature as did the people of 1844. The people of 1942 may be willing to entrust to the members of the 1943 session the solemn and momentous task of drafting a new Constitution.

The sole test, I maintain, of any procedure which gives expression and effect to sovereignty on the issue before us is whether the people themselves have the opportunity to adopt or reject whatever Constitution is proposed. I believe it advisable to seek public direction in the matter without delay. Only in this manner can we resolve any doubts about sentiment among the people for the Legislature to undertake the task.

Mr. Amlicke offered the following resolution, which was read by the Clerk and adopted:

Be It Resolved by the House of Assembly of the State of New Jersey (the Senate concurring):

That on Monday, October 26, at 4:15 P. M., Eastern War Time, both Houses of the Legislature convene in joint session for the sole purpose of hearing an address by His Excellency, Charles Edison, Governor of New Jersey, and for no other purpose.

In which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

The House and Senate met in joint session for the purpose of hearing an address by His Excellency Charles Edison, Governor of New Jersey.

His Excellency, Charles Edison, Governor of New Jersey, addressed the joint session as follows:
Ladies and Gentlemen of the Legislature:

It was one of my objectives when I became Governor to revise the tax structure of the State of New Jersey in order to obtain a higher degree of justice in all taxation and especially to lighten the excessive burden now on the shoulder of the small property owner. For reasons that are well known to all of you, it has been possible thus far to enact into law only part of the program.

In spite of difficulties, progress has been made in an important sector of this tax problem—a revision of the method of taxing intangible property in New Jersey. A study of the problem under my direction has been conducted for more than a year.

It seems to be agreed on all sides that the present system—or lack of system—for the taxation of intangible property in New Jersey is indefensible; but the problem was highlighted by the passage on September 28, 1942, of the bill that became Chapter 281 of the Pamphlet Laws of 1942. You found, and I agreed, that it was necessary to postpone the assessment day for this year beyond the usual date of October 1st.

The date of November 10th, fixed in Chapter 281, has proved to be unsuitable. No business balances its books on the tenth of the month, and the assessment date should fall on the first or on the last day of a calendar month.

Consideration has been given to postponing the date to December 1st, but I am advised by the chairman of the Local Government Board that such a date is too late for the assessment of real property, and that it would throw out of timing the entire local assessing procedure for 1943.

The importance of the matter has led me to call the Legislature into special session to change the date of assessment of real and tangible personal property to November 1st. A bill is submitted herewith to accomplish this purpose.

In this bill, November 1st for this year and October 1st for future years is made the assessment day as to real and tangible personal property. In this bill December 31st for this year and October 1st for future years is made the assessment day as to intangibles.

This separate treatment of intangible personal property is suggested in order that the Legislature may have additional time beyond November 1st to consider a comprehensive plan for the separate assessment and taxation of intangible personal property. Pending its disposition of that problem, it is necessary that no assessment of this class of property shall vest by reason of the occurrence of an assessment day.

If passage of the bill herewith submitted is delayed, the Legislature will be powerless for another full year effectively to treat the broader problem of taxation of intangibles. I therefore strongly recommend immediate passage of the bill which is submitted herewith.

The second purpose for this special session is the presentation for your consideration and study of a principal bill and two supplementary bills designed to accomplish a sound and comprehensive revision of the method of taxation of intangible personal property. As a matter of law, intangible personal property in New Jersey is now assessable in the same manner and at the same rate as tangible personalty and real estate.

If the law were enforced to the letter, the disastrous results to the economy of the State would be incalculable. We know from actual experience that intangible property or wealth can and does move from the taxing district in which the tax levied is excessive in comparison with taxes in other districts.

If the State as a whole actually assessed intangibles and taxed them at local rates as is done with other classes of property, intangibles would no longer merely move from taxing district to taxing district, but would move from New Jersey entirely. Not only would these intangibles be lost as a source of taxes in any amount but enterprise would tend to follow. There would be as well other incalculable losses to our general economy.

The fact that intangibles are not assessed and taxed in every taxing district of the State as required by law gives rise to the erratic tax treatment which has received the name of "tax lightning." This phrase is used to describe the sudden and unpredictable levy of a heavy tax upon intangibles. By the use of the device known as petitions for omitted assessments, the lightning may be made to strike not only for the current year but for one past year in addition.

In many taxing districts in this State, the sudden imposition of such taxes may amount to as much as fifteen per cent of the true value of a security. Such destructive taxation can result only in the taxpayers insolvency.

A particularly obnoxious form of tax lightning practiced in some taxing districts is the imposition of a tax upon the intangible property of decedents' estates at the full local rate. This, in practical effect, amounts to an additional and unpredictable inheritance tax.

Under present conditions, no taxpayer can predict the time, place, or extent of tax lightning, and consequently it is difficult to persuade new industries to locate in this State. It is becoming increasingly difficult to keep the industries we have. Harried from one municipality to another, they have cause to lose patience and to leave New Jersey altogether.

The State and its subdivisions meanwhile fail to receive, except in isolated instances, the taxes which intangible property could and should produce at a reasonable rate. Taxpayers who may be potential victims of tax lightning get small comfort from any temporary exclusion of their intangible ratables from the tax rolls.

At least since 1880, the possibility of relieving local assessors from the responsibility of seeking and evaluating intangible property and of reaching it for taxation by the machinery of the State Government has been considered. Numerous legislative committees and commissions have reported on the problem, and many organizations within the State have urged the desirability of a change.

Because of the existence of these evils, I was moved to initiate the study of this problem to which I have referred. As a result of this study, there are submitted herewith a principal bill and two supplemental bills which will, in my opinion, successfully accomplish the necessary change in a manner that is highly desirable and consistent with the interest of the citizens as taxpayers as well as with the interest of the State as a tax collector.

This measure is not designed to raise added revenue. It is neither a new tax nor an additional tax. It is a change in taxing procedure. The proceeds of the tax will relieve in a measure the crushing burden to which real estate is now subject, and will benefit the home owners of the State.

The State Tax Commissioner will administer the proposed law. He will require returns from all individuals and corporations owning taxable intangible personal property in excess of $500. He will determine the true value of such property and assess a tax against it at a flat rate of 3½ mills per dollar. This troublesome problem will be removed from the jurisdiction of local assessors.

The proceeds of the tax will be used to furnish the funds now supplied by the State school tax raised locally on all ratables, and no further assessment will be made on real and tangible personal property for the State school tax, except in case the yield of the proposed tax on intangibles is insufficient.

This program provides for the general, State-wide assessment and taxation of intangible personal property. There has been a minimum of change in any of the presently existing provisions of law. For example, there is no change whatever in the taxation, exemption, or rates applicable to property of special types of corporations such as insurance companies, banks, etc.

It is not necessary for me at this time to do more than to outline the type of legislation which I recommend and submit for your consideration. You will wish to study carefully the texts of the bills. These bills are presented at this time so that, if you agree with me, they may be enacted when you meet again on November 16th. If this program is to become applicable for the tax year 1943, there should be no delay in the passage of this legislation.

A study of these proposals will, I believe, convince you that the suggested method of assessment and taxation is legally sound; that it is administratively practicable; and that it equitably apportions the tax imposed upon the classes of property taxed.

A change may be made at this time from a local to a State tax plan with a minimum of dislocation to the fiscal situation in a vast majority of the taxing districts. Most of them will show some net gain and none will be required to assume an excessive burden by reason of lost ratables.

The taxing districts will lose the right to assess a class of property which, by and large, they do not now assess, but they will receive in exchange a reduction in their mandatory levies of all or part of the 2.9 mill State school tax.

The recent happenings which have called attention once more to the intangible tax muddle emphasize the need for prompt disposition of this problem. Unless the Legislature provides a solution, local taxing authorities will have no legal alternative but to enforce the law as it now stands with devastating effects upon our State economy and upon other State taxes.

W. in distributing to the families of those in the armed forces Service Stars. The following petition was received from the Aircraft Workers of America:

AIRCRAFT WORKERS OF AMERICA
PATERSON, NEW JERSEY

December 14, 1942.

To the New Jersey State Legislature:

The following petition is being signed by thousands of women workers throughout the Wright Aeronautical Plants in Paterson and its vicinity.

We, the Officers and Executive Committee of the Aircraft Workers of America are presenting this petition and supporting their efforts.

Respectfully submitted:

DANIEL J. O'SHEA,
FRANK C. SLATTERY,
WALTER C. SEIWELL,
JOSEPH HAIRE,
HAROLD NETTLETON,
EDWARD CRAIG,
WILLIAM GRIMES.

To the New Jersey State Legislature:

The undersigned are all female employees of the Wright Aeronautical Corporation, who work in its plants at Paterson and vicinity.

We are filing this appeal and petition because the company is applying the New Jersey Labor Laws to us in such a way as to bring about discrimination and many hardships.

With respect to women employees, the company insists that they cannot work seven days a week because of the New Jersey law. Therefore, the company has demanded that female employees take off one day during the week so that they can work on Sundays. As a result, women are deprived of the companionship of their families on Sundays and there is also withheld from them the possibility of obtaining double time for the seventh day, such as is given to men employees under the President's Executive Order.

The company has just advertised for 20,000 additional female employees. The company is obviously determined to make women work on the seventh day so that they will not have to pay the double time required by law. The women workers have already been deprived of the possibility of earning other premiums because of the President's Executive Order. The company's policy of shifting women around in this fashion has created so many hardships and so much dissension that production in the all-important war plants is being seriously affected.

We appeal to you to give the women workers of the Wright Aeronautical Corporation the opportunity of earning what the men get, namely, double time on the seventh day. We women would regard it as a privilege to work seven days a week during the present national emergency. Since it is becoming Government policy to replace men on the production front as rapidly as possible, we believe that no company should be permitted to profit by something which is a consequence of our country's great need. Please help us by giving us permission to work seven days a week.

In view of the fact that the Legislature meets today, we implore this honorable body to take whatever immediate action it sees fit to obtain results.

Mr. Amlicke moved that the petition be received and filed and spread in full upon the Minutes.

Which motion was adopted.

Mr. Amlicke offered the Report of the Joint Legislative Committee to inquire into the subject of personal property taxation.

Mr. Cavicchia moved that the report be received and spread in full upon the Minutes.

Which motion was adopted.

To the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

The Joint Legislative Committee constituted under the Senate Concurrent Resolution adopted October twenty-sixth, one thousand nine hundred and forty-two, was directed to report to the present session of the Legislature. This concurrent resolution directed that all communications, reports and data addressed to the Legislature concerning the personal property tax question should be delivered to this Joint Committee.

The Committee made a public request that all proposals for changes in our personal property tax law be submitted to the Committee.

At its organization meeting, the Committee received a copy of the message of Governor Charles Edison, which was delivered to the Legislature on October twenty-sixth, one thousand nine hundred and forty-two, a copy of Governor Edison's proposed intangible personal property tax bill with statement attached, a copy of the Governor's proposed assessment date bill, a copy of the Governor's bill proposing amendments to the school tax fund and a copy of the Governor's proposed bill concerning the abstract of ratables. No other proposals were received by the committee.

The committee gave public notice that it would conduct public hearings beginning Thursday, December third, one thousand nine hundred and forty-two, in the Assembly Chamber at the State House, Trenton, New Jersey, until all persons, who attended and wished to speak on the subject of personal property taxation in this State, could be heard. Pursuant to the notice, a public hearing was held by the committee at which all persons, who attended and expressed a desire to speak, were given full opportunity to express their views.

The public hearing developed that there is general opposition to the adoption of the Governor's proposed bills as presented to the Legislature; the most common ground being that they would impose new and additional taxes, which is objectionable in itself and is made doubly objectionable at this time by the fact that our people are subjected to tremendously increased Federal taxes arising out of our needs in prosecuting our present wars.

The nature of the objections to the Governor's bills was such that no amendments could overcome them.

The Committee, therefore, recommends that no favorable action on the Governor's proposed bills be taken by the Legislature.

Respectfully submitted,

HOWARD EASTWOOD, Chairman,
WESLEY L. LANCE,

MINORITY REPORT

We agree with the conclusion reached by the majority report that the bill proposed by Governor Edison does not solve the intangible personal property tax problem which presently confronts us. We do so with great reluctance because we recognize that the objective which the Governor's proposal sought to attain is highly desirable. We emphatically disagree, however, with the conclusion that satisfactory amendments to the proposed bill are not possible.

If the present tax laws mean what they say, the Governor's proposal does not involve new or additional taxes. The existing law imposes a tax on intangible personal property in exactly the same manner and at the same rates at which real estate is taxed. The difficulty, of course, arises from the fact that such a tax rarely, if ever, has been enforced against individual taxpayers, and we must recognize that the passage of the Governor's bill would in its practical effect subject individual taxpayers to a tax which they have never been called upon to pay. We believe, however, that by an amendment providing for a sufficiently high exemption, practically all individuals could be eliminated from the operation of the tax, and that no constitutional requirement would thereby be violated.

A serious objection to the Governor's bill is that it subjects to taxation types of intangible personal property which are exempt under the existing tax laws, e.g. shares of stock of domestic (and to a large extent) foreign corporations. We are fearful that the inclusion of corporate stock as taxable property would impose upon corporations an excessive tax burden and one which would tend to drive many of them out of the State. We feel that all of the exemptions contained in the present tax laws should be retained. It may be that under such a law sufficient revenue would not be raised to replace municipal contributions to the State School Tax. We do not think that this is an insuperable objection, however, and are of the opinion that some other equitable method of distribution of the tax among the municipalities could easily be devised.

Furthermore, we do not feel that the committee has discharged the full duty imposed upon it by the resolution by merely finding that the Governor's proposal does not solve the difficulty. The resolution provides:

> "The committee is charged with the duty of inquiring into the subject of personal property taxation in this State, and any proposals for changes in the method of the assessment and collection of personal property taxes."

We feel that the committee should not take a purely negative position but should, if possible, offer some constructive suggestions for a solution of the problem. At the very least, it should attempt to impress upon the Legislature, the necessity for prompt action.

The public hearing held on December third demonstrated quite clearly that the existing law is indefensible. The flight of a large number of important corporations to comparatively inaccessible rural communities has earned for this State an unenviable reputation which must be corrected at the earliest possible moment if we hope to preserve whatever corporate business remains, or to attract new corporations to the State.

Whatever the solution may be, in our judgment, it should be based upon two propositions. First, since we are in competition with neighboring states, the rate of taxation should be sufficiently low to make New Jersey an attractive State for corporate domicile. Second, by fixing an exemption sufficiently high, or by some other means, the great mass of individual taxpayers of the State should not be required to pay a tax on intangible personal property.

It should be remembered that this State is almost alone in its policy of imposing practically the entire tax burden on real estate. In most other states, the real estate tax is supplemented by either an income tax, a sales tax or a limited millage tax on intangible personal property. It is unfair and inequitable that real estate should bear the entire burden, and we feel that a moderate millage tax on intangible personal property is a practical and fair method of supplementing the real estate tax.

We urge upon the legislature the necessity of finding a speedy remedy for existing conditions. The business of the State is suffering greatly because of the nonsensical and unenforceable tax laws which now exist. Every day's delay in correcting them is causing a serious loss to banks, trust companies and individual businessmen of the State. What is of even greater importance is that the law as it exists is obviously unenforcible. We do not think that the Legislature should condone the evasion of the statute which the taxing authorities are now forced to employ. If it fails to amend the law, it might justly invite the criticism that it is doing so.

Respectfully submitted,

EDWARD J. O'MARA,
BERNARD W. VOGEL.
