D.S. had hit another student on the head and kicked another student that morning before hitting respondent. D.S. was first attempting to hit respondent, and then he hit her and she hit him back with an open hand on the side of the face. D.S. went back to his seat and sat down. There were no visible injuries to D.S. After he sat down he tried to get up, and Duffy told him to stay in his seat. She did not recall respondent saying anything when the incident happened. Duffy was surprised because she had never witnessed something like that before. She had never seen a student smack a teacher as D.S. did to respondent.

Duffy believed respondent's slap was a reaction; there was barely any lapse in time, just a reflexive slap to the face by respondent. D.S. stayed in the classroom and was not crying, and she saw no injuries. Duffy worked with D.S. that day, and five minutes after the incident he was hitting her with his elbow. She did not touch him, and after repeating her directions a few times, D.S. responded.

Duffy was there from the beginning of the school day, but Wilson was not. Duffy saw Wilson come in to get her student. She did not recall seeing Sonia Thomas, a cafeteria aide, in the classroom that day. Respondent did not give D.S. a high five at 9:45 a.m.

Duffy's report was written after she went to her union representative, who said she had to put it in writing to the principal.

Dr. Donna S. Burnett, principal of the CRS for six years, was employed by the district for thirty-one years. She was familiar with D.S., and had known respondent for five years. Respondent had come to CRS in September 2010. She first became aware of the incident from Wilson, who had told the school's psychologist and was told to go to the principal's office.

Burnett interviewed Wilson at about 12:15 p.m. on November 1, 2010. Wilson said she saw respondent slap D.S., and Burnett told Wilson to write a statement. Burnett interviewed Wilson again on November 3 and prepared a summary report of that interview.

Burnett interviewed Duffy on November 2, 2010. She thought she should have been made aware of the incident immediately, so that Orvyl Wilson, the director of student advocacy and the lead administrator for this, could have been told. Burnett received a report from Sonia Thomas, who was also in the room. Burnett did not interview respondent, because, when the incident was reported, respondent said she was entitled to representation and said nothing further.

Burnett reported the matter to the Division of Youth and Family Services (DYFS) and to the local police department, but neither took any action. She would have been notified if DYFS had substantiated abuse.

Edith Craft has been employed by the Board as a special education teacher since January 5, 2004. She obtained tenure in January 2007.

She testified that she had been a special education teacher for twelve years, and that she loved the children and watching them progress, as well as the challenge of teaching.

There were seven children in her class. They would usually come in at 8:50 a.m. and there was always work on their desks to "Do Now." Early in the morning on November 1, 2010, respondent had spoken with Duffy and asked her for help with D.S., as he did not want to do anything but go on the computer. After the students came in, respondent was trying to take attendance on the teacher computer. D.S. would not sit down and was hitting, and then was hitting her on the right side and slapping at her head. She told him to sit down and do the "Do Now" work. D.S. continued to interfere. D.S. was hitting at her and Duffy helped divert him. Respondent is four feet, ten and a half inches tall, so she and D.S. are almost the same height.

The children sat in a semicircle, but D.S. sat against the wall. Respondent tried to keep the other six children (all boys) away from him. There was one tiny boy that liked D.S. and yet D.S. would kick him. On that morning, D.S. was bothering this boy, kicking and slapping him.

D.S. had hit respondent before that day, and on that day he had knocked off her glasses. D.S. was violent, unruly and non-compliant. That was why his timer was for only five minutes. Respondent was not able to calm him down that morning.

After the morning math meeting and announcements were concluded, respondent was trying to get D.S. to get up. He got up and then he slapped her. He was supposed to be answering questions at the board. They were doing calendar math and D.S. was successful. He answered questions but resisted getting back in his seat. Then he jumped up and slapped her.

Respondent agreed that Wilson's statement and the memo from Burnett to Brian Bonanno were accurate. But she was not seeking to punish D.S. Respondent dealt with D.S. as she usually had to get him to learn; she had no anger toward him.

The statement of Sonia Thomas accurately described what was happening in the classroom before the incident, that D.S. was very agitated that morning and tried to hit respondent a few times, that respondent tried to calm him down by speaking to him, and that after a while he calmed down somewhat and participated in the class. (R-6.) However, Thomas left the classroom before the incident happened.

Respondent was relieved of her teaching duties. Burnett told her to leave the classroom and requested her lesson plans for two days. Respondent went to the teachers' lounge and was alone for a while. She was told to get a representative and go see the principal. It was so emotional for her. (She was crying on the witness stand.) She did not want to talk. She stayed until the children went home, and then went to the classroom to prepare detailed lesson plans, as she wanted to make sure it was all done right.

She agreed that in her answers to interrogatories, in answer to the question asking why she denied the charges, she had stated that she had gently tapped D.S. and had given him a high five, and that this was not accurate. She was not attempting to give him a high five that morning. The slap was an action/reaction to D.S.'s slap to her face. She had been struck many times before by D.S. and she could not explain why she reacted as she did that day. He used both hands and had previously hit her many times.

Respondent was never interviewed by DYFS or the police, except for a brief talk that day. A few weeks later a detective called her and said there was no case against her.

On cross-examination, respondent repeated the day's events as follows:

The children arrived at 8:50 a.m.

D.S. came to her when she was working on the computer close to 9:00 a.m. taking attendance.

D.S. was under Duffy's observation. Respondent and Duffy had a conversation about the plans of the day before 8:50 a.m.

They did not discuss what to do if D.S. got agitated.

They would focus on trying to keep D.S. on task.

Duffy was supposed to help D.S. with the "Do Now" math worksheet.

D.S. wanted only the computer. He was on respondent's right side and then the other side, slapping and hitting her on her face. Then he turned off the computer and she rebooted it.

Duffy was responsible only for D.S. They used strategies of the timer to keep D.S. from the computer and to set up the laptop for him.

Duffy should have assisted D.S. with the "Do Now" work. She had a timer for him so he could earn computer credit.

D.S. was attempting to hit respondent and she put her arms up to keep him away.

After he hit her on the right side, he went to her left, but Duffy was able to get him to sit.

Then they were at the morning mat period, where they wait for public-address-system announcements. Duffy was with D.S.

Respondent was trying to help all the children; she was not focused on D.S. during the announcements because he was with Duffy.

The children come to the carpet for morning math on the mat. D.S. was in a bean bag chair, which kept him away from the other children and appealed to D.S.'s tactile issues.

At the morning mat period, there were usually stories, social stories, hurrays, and other social components.

On the bean bag chair that morning, D.S. was fidgeting.

Respondent called D.S. to the board, where each student makes a mini-presentation. Everyone was sitting on the carpet together.

D.S. was called up shortly before 9:45 a.m. Thomas had been present at the beginning of the school day, but she had not remained in the classroom.

D.S. jumped up and did not want to answer the questions.

D.S. was staring at respondent. He was always a concern. He was spontaneous and had to be watched, but respondent did not want to leave him out of class activities.

When D.S. was called up he did not want to answer questions, but he did, and he got them right, and then plopped down again.

Then everyone was told to return to their regular seats, including D.S.

D.S. jumped up and slapped respondent once, then she slapped her hand against his face and he walked away. She recalled saying, "I cannot take it anymore." She had been hit so many times by him and could not say what happened that day. She was immediately extremely remorseful. She felt that she had not handled the situation correctly, and that the strategies given to her to help the child did not work to help D.S. learn.

No previous disciplines against respondent were noted.

After reviewing the testimony and the written evidence, I make the following findings of facts.

I FIND that on the morning in question D.S. was acting out and was agitated for some reason. Efforts by both respondent and D.S.'s aide to redirect him were only partially successful. D.S. was kicking and hitting at another student and at respondent. When it appeared he had calmed down somewhat and was asked to participate in the class's opening lesson, he did so, but then became agitated again, striking out at respondent, who then struck back. D.S. reacted by sitting down. He was not upset, nor did he appear injured, and acted in his normal manner.

I FIND that respondent struck D.S. after he struck her. Not only did the respondent testify to that event, but the other witnesses in the classroom who had the opportunity to see what had occurred corroborated that, particularly Duffy, who was present for the entire morning and was in a position to see what had happened since the beginning of the school day.

I FIND that the action by respondent was a reflexive action after she had been struck in the face. The respondent and D.S. are about the same size, and respondent was not in a position to overwhelm or overpower the child. She was immediately remorseful for her conduct, feeling that she had failed the child in getting him to learn. Respondent was not punishing the child for any misbehavior but was reacting to repeated slaps to her face and head during the course of the morning. This was further substantiated by no criminal or DYFS charges being filed.

LEGAL ANALYSIS

The issue in this matter is whether a single, isolated incident in which respondent, a tenured special education teacher, reflexively slapped a student who slapped her warrants her dismissal and loss of tenure.

The purpose of teacher tenure laws is "to aid in the establishment of a competent and efficient school system by affording teaching staff members 'a measure of security in the ranks they hold after years of service.'" Carpenito v. Rumson Bd. of Educ., 322 N.J. Super. 522, 528–29 (App. Div. 1999) (quoting Viemeister v. Prospect Park Bd. of Educ., 5 N.J. Super. 215, 218 (App. Div. 1949)); N.J.S.A. 18A:28-1 to -18; N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 to -18.1 ("Tenure Employees Hearing Law"). As such, a tenured teacher may not be dismissed or reduced in compensation except for inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct, or other just cause, and then only after the procedural requirements under the Tenure Employees Hearing Law have been met.[1] N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5; N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10.

Physical Contact with Student

A teacher may not use corporal punishment on a student.[2] N.J.S.A. 18A:6-1. However, a teacher may use such force as is reasonable and necessary (1) to quell a disturbance, threatening physical injury to others; (2) to obtain possession of weapons or other dangerous objects upon the person or within the control of a pupil; (3) for the purpose of self-defense; and (4) for the protection of persons or property. Ibid. Such acts, or any of them, shall not be construed to constitute corporal punishment. Ibid.

[1] As ALJ Dubin explained in In re Watkins, 2003 N.J. AGEN LEXIS 14 (citing Laba v. Newark Bd. of Educ., 23 N.J. 364, 384 (1957); In re Grossman, 127 N.J. Super. 13, 28–29 (App. Div.), certif. denied, 65 N.J. 292 (1974)), while the education laws do not provide a definition of "unbecoming conduct," "the courts have considered unbecoming conduct on a case-by-case basis and determined that it can embrace a wide range of conduct that touches upon a teacher's fitness to discharge the duties and functions of the position."

[2] Corporal punishment is not defined in the school laws. See N.J.S.A. 18A:1-1 to 76-4. However, corporal punishment has been defined by the Commissioner as "any punishment causing or intended to cause bodily pain or suffering." Craze v. Bd. of Educ. of Allendale, 1938 S.L.D. 585, 586.

A review of judicial and administrative law cases supports the conclusion that Craft's conduct warrants a penalty short of removal. In In re Fulcomer, 93 N.J. Super. 404 (App. Div. 1967), the Appellate Division determined that a single, isolated instance of inappropriate physical contact with a student did not warrant the dismissal of a teacher.[3] As the Commissioner described the incident in a proceeding below, > while [Fulcomer] was teaching an eighth grade arithmetic class, a girl's pocketbook was passed among several pupils until it came to rest beside the desk of Donald Yowell. The teacher, becoming aware of inattention and discovering its source, dropped his textbook on the first pupil's desk, went to Donald and laid hands upon him. When released, the boy went to the front of the room, was directed to resume his seat by the teacher, made as though to do so, but instead ran toward the door in the rear to leave the classroom. The teacher pursued the boy, again laid hands upon him, and both of them fell to the floor.[4]

The Appellate Division agreed with the Commissioner that Fulcomer's behavior could not be condoned, but diverged with the Commissioner's holding, affirmed by the State Board of Education, that Fulcomer's misconduct warranted dismissal. The Appellate Division stated:

> We hold no brief for the teacher's conduct in this case. Other proper means were available to him to maintain discipline or compel obedience. Nor have we any doubt that unfitness to remain a teacher may be demonstrated by a single incident if sufficiently flagrant. See Redcay v. State Board of Education, 130 N.J.L. 369 (Sup. Ct. 1943), affirmed o.b. 131 N.J.L. 326 (E. & A. 1944).
> Here, however, there is no indication in the record that the teacher's acts were premeditated, cruel or vicious, or done with intent to punish or to inflict corporal

[3] This matter has a long procedural history. For the full history, see In re Fulcomer, 1967 S.L.D. 201, 215–17.

[4] The Commissioner noted conflicting testimony with respect to whether the teacher struck the boy with his fist or hand, but determined that such conflict was immaterial to the question of whether Fulcomer engaged in conduct unbecoming a teacher. In re Fulcomer, supra, 93 N.J. Super. at 420.

> punishment. Rather, they bespeak a hasty and misguided effort to restrain the pupil in order to maintain discipline.
> Although such action certainly warrants disciplinary action, the forfeiture of the teacher's rights after serving for a great many years in the New Jersey school system is, in our view, an unduly harsh penalty to be imposed under the circumstances.

The Appellate Division found that dismissal would have an adverse impact on Fulcomer's teaching career, and noted that Fulcomer had twenty-three years of teaching experience, that his "teaching record was good and his teaching ability unquestioned," and that he had not previously been disciplined by Holland Township during his seven years under its employ and had consistently received annual pay raises. Id. at 421–22. As a result, the Appellate Division held:

> The matter is therefore remanded to the Commissioner of Education for the purpose of making an affirmative decision as to the proper penalty to be imposed. Such penalty should be based upon the Commissioner's findings as to the nature and gravity of the offenses under all the circumstances involved, any evidence as to provocation, extenuation or aggravation, and should take into consideration any harm or injurious effect which the teacher's conduct may have had on the maintenance of discipline and the proper administration of the school system.

On remand, the Commissioner applied these factors for determining the proper penalty for Fulcomer's misconduct. The Commissioner first noted that "[t]he record discloses no indication of any particular aggravation or provocation or other extenuating circumstances which might serve to explain the teacher's conduct" and that "[s]uch childish behavior is not extraordinary and would be expected to have been controlled in simple and routine fashion by the teacher." In re Fulcomer, supra, 1967 S.L.D. at 217. The Commissioner found that "the use of such extraordinary physical restraint was unnecessary and inexcusable" and that Fulcomer's "act constituted a grave offense against the pupil and the good order of the school and as such it cannot be lightly excused." Id. at 217–18. The Commissioner next considered Fulcomer's twenty-three years of teaching service and noted that the charge against Fulcomer was "the only instance of improper conduct which has been established against" him. Id. at 218. The Commissioner also found that "there is no indication that the teacher's act was premeditated, cruel or vicious, or done with the specific intent to inflict corporal punishment," and that the teacher appeared to have "acted on impulse in the mistaken and misguided notion that physical restraint was called for." Ibid.

According to the Commissioner, Fulcomer's misconduct did not have "any lasting effect on the continued operation of the school"; however, the Commissioner noted that whether this would have occurred had Fulcomer been there was mere speculation because Fulcomer had been relieved of his teaching duties since the incident. Ibid. Thus, the Commissioner stated that "in the light of his prior record, length of service, approaching retirement and other factors considered ante, the fact of this single, isolated instance of misconduct does not, under all the circumstances, call for as severe a penalty as summary dismissal." Id. at 219. Instead, the Commissioner ordered Fulcomer reinstated to his teaching position. The Commissioner reasoned:

> The teacher has been suspended from his former employment since early in 1962. During that time he has had to seek work elsewhere, has inevitably suffered damage to his professional reputation, and has endured the mental anguish attendant upon the uncertainty of his future and his involvement in this protracted litigation. The Commissioner believes this to have been sufficient punishment for his one instance of misconduct.[5]

In In re Lomakin, 1971 S.L.D. 331, 333, the Commissioner of Education dismissed tenure charges against a gym teacher who "put his arms around [a] student, walked him into the equipment room despite his resistance and his attempt to 'hold his ground' and called the dean" after the student cut gym class and refused to report to the dean. In reaching his conclusion, the Commissioner explained that

> [s]ome adults react instinctively, under provocation of adolescents, in a purely physical manner. However, such reaction, as exhibited by respondent in the instant matter, is not responsible professional behavior and cannot be condoned. A major responsibility of the teaching profession is to demonstrate restraint in the face of child-like behavior on the part of those in their charge. In this instance respondent did not shoulder this responsibility in a manner which could be reasonably expected of a member of the teaching profession. . . .
> The Commissioner further finds, however, that no physical harm was done to the student, nor has there been established that there was any intent to inflict pain or suffering.

The Commissioner held that the teacher's misconduct did not warrant his dismissal or reduction of his salary, and ordered dismissed the charge against him. Ibid.

In In re Nogaki, 1984 S.L.D. 1986, the State Board of Education upheld the administrative law judge's (ALJ's) finding that a gym teacher engaged in corporal punishment and unbecoming conduct when he punched two students in the chest for failing to follow his instructions, and it adopted the ALJ's recommended penalty of the forfeiture of an annual salary increment and one month's pay. In adopting the ALJ's recommendation, the State Board rejected the Commissioner's holding that the teacher's unbecoming conduct warranted his dismissal. The State Board found persuasive the ALJ's findings that a gym class is a setting that allows for physical interaction between teachers and students, that the teacher did not intend to inflict corporal punishment, and that there was "no indication of premeditation, cruel or vicious actions" by the teacher. Nogaki, supra, 1984 S.L.D. 1986. The State Board also considered its "obligation to protect the children of this State from corporal punishment and a concomitant obligation to remove unfit teachers from the classroom" and "the individual interest of the Respondent in a career encompassing 13 years of service" with the school district. Id. at 1987. The State Board concluded that the incident was not "so egregious" or "sufficiently flagrant" as to warrant the teacher's dismissal, and held that the Commissioner's "dismissal of Respondent for this single, isolated incident is unreasonable and excessive." Id. at 1987–88.

In Board of Education of New Brunswick v. Murphy, 92 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 527, a teacher forfeited the 120 days' salary withheld during her suspension based on a finding that she engaged in two instances of corporal punishment of her students. In reaching his conclusion that the teacher engaged in corporal punishment but that her actions did not warrant removal, ALJ Masin explained the importance of intent in cases in which a teacher has engaged in corporal punishment:

> Where the teacher intended to inflict pain and suffering on a pupil with possible resulting physical harm the commissioner has viewed the matter severely. Where the circumstances indicate that the contact "was not of a punitive nature" then, depending upon all the circumstances, the commissioner has considered the matter to be less serious and to require a more measured response in terms of the penalty to be imposed.

With respect to the first of two incidents that formed the basis of the tenure charges brought against the teacher, ALJ Masin found that the teacher yelled at a student and touched her on the head with a book. ALJ Masin concluded that this touching constituted corporal punishment, but that "[t]he evidence is insufficient to support a conclusion that the intent was to 'inflict pain and suffering.'" Id. at 535. As for the second incident, ALJ Masin found that the teacher tried to control an unruly student by slapping the student in the face and shaking the student by her arms. ALJ Masin concluded that this incident also constituted corporal punishment, and that the teacher had no right "to physically assault the student in the absence of the kinds of threats and need for protection which constitute the exception to the definition of corporal punishment in N.J.S.A. 18A:6-1." Id. at 536.

However, ALJ Masin stated that "[w]hile the conduct was inexcusable, it nevertheless appears to be an isolated manifestation in an otherwise highly commendable career," and determined that the teacher was not feeling well physically or emotionally and "did not willfully and deliberately act in a manner calculated or intended to inflict pain and suffering and injury to the child." Ibid. As a result of his findings, ALJ Masin ordered that the teacher be reinstated to her position "at the same annual salary that she was paid during her suspension, without benefit of any adjustment or increment which might otherwise pertain." Ibid. The Commissioner of Education adopted ALJ Masin's findings of fact, but modified the recommended penalty. In reaching his conclusion on the appropriate penalty, the Commissioner stated:

> [w]hile the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that dismissal is not warranted in this matter, he disagrees with the ALJ's recommendation that withholding of increment is a sufficient consequence for respondent's behavior. Even though respondent's record is otherwise unblemished and it appears that there was no premeditation, cruelty or deliberate attempt to injure children in the actions underlying the charges against her, inappropriate touching and loss of control of the type demonstrated in this matter cannot be countenanced in public school teachers under any circumstances. Therefore, to impress upon respondent and others the seriousness of the conduct at issue herein, the Commissioner directs that in addition to the employment and adjustment increments recommended by the ALJ, respondent shall forfeit the 120 days' pay withheld from her during her suspension following certification of charges to the Commissioner.
> [Ibid. (citation omitted).]

In applying the factors set forth in the above cases, respondent undoubtedly engaged in unbecoming conduct. As the Commissioner stated in Lomakin, "[a] major responsibility of the teaching profession is to demonstrate restraint in the face of child-like behavior on the part of those in their charge." Here, respondent failed to demonstrate the necessary restraint when she was hit in the face by D.S. However, while her actions should not be condoned, the totality of circumstances supports the imposition of a penalty short of dismissal and loss of tenure.

First, similar to the actions of the teachers in Fulcomer, Lomakin, Nogaki, and Murphy, respondent's misconduct was not premeditated, cruel or vicious, or done with intent to punish or to inflict corporal punishment. She testified that she slapped D.S. as a reaction to an action and that she did not intend to slap D.S. Duffy, who witnessed the incident, attested that the slap by respondent appeared reflexive. Respondent acknowledged that the altercation was a situation that she did not handle correctly and that she was extremely remorseful. She said that she did not hit D.S. as punishment for hitting her and that she did not have any anger toward D.S. at the time she hit him; it was simply an immediate reaction to the slap in her face.

Second, as in Fulcomer, Nogaki, and Murphy, respondent has taught for many years without exhibiting a pattern of misconduct. Here, there was no evidence that respondent had engaged in any other misconduct while employed by the district. Instead, respondent's interaction with D.S. represented a single, isolated incident in a teaching career otherwise unmarked by wrongdoing.

Third, the Board has presented no evidence showing that respondent's conduct had an injurious effect on the maintenance of discipline and the proper administration of the school system. While none of the children present at the time of the incident testified at the hearing, speculation lends itself to the assumption that any child who witnessed the incident would have been at least somewhat shocked by what he or she saw. In addition, Wilson testified that she asked respondent if she needed to take off the rest of the afternoon, and Duffy testified that she was surprised to see such physical contact between a teacher and a student. However, as in Fulcomer, there was no indication that the altercation had a "lasting effect on the continued operation of the school" or a lasting effect on D.S.'s performance in school.

Fourth, the incident did not appear to have any immediate impact on D.S. According to Duffy, after respondent slapped D.S., D.S. simply returned to his seat.

Duffy stated that D.S. did not appear agitated or injured, and he did not cry. Instead, according to Duffy, D.S. went back to his seat and he sat there and sucked his thumb as he normally did on any other day. Thus, as with the teachers in Lomakin and Murphy, respondent's misconduct did not appear to physically or emotionally harm D.S.

Finally, there is some evidence here of provocation. While respondent's conduct is not acceptable behavior for a teacher, the evidence did show that the repeated slaps from D.S. that morning up to and including the last slap after the start of the school learning session caused the reaction from respondent in which she reflexively slapped D.S. Respondent was not angry with D.S. and did not intend to punish him for slapping her. Instead, respondent slapped D.S. as a reaction to his action.

Corporal Punishment

While respondent engaged in unbecoming conduct, she did not inflict corporal punishment on D.S. The Commissioner has defined corporal punishment as "any punishment causing or intended to cause bodily pain or suffering." Craze, supra, 1938 S.L.D. at 586. Here, as explained above, respondent did not act with intent to harm or punish D.S. Rather, respondent slapped D.S. as a reflex after she was slapped in the face by D.S. Thus, respondent's conduct should not be considered corporal punishment, and therefore there is no need to determine whether her actions could be characterized as force reasonable and necessary under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-1 for the purpose of self-defense or for the protection of persons.

While respondent should not have hit D.S., she did not inflict corporal punishment on him. She did not act with intent to harm or punish D.S.; rather, her reaction was an instantaneous one after being slapped. Moreover, none of the witnesses described D.S.'s behavior as changing. He did not appear to be upset; he was not crying. He returned to his seat and sucked his thumb as he usually did.

In all tenure matters, the moving party, in this case the Board, bears the burden of proving the charges by a preponderance of the competent, relevant, and credible evidence. Atkinson v. Parsekian, 37 N.J. 143 (1962). After having examined and considered all of the evidence and testimony presented, as well as after having considered all the arguments advanced, I CONCLUDE that the evidence supports the charges preferred against respondent, and that she engaged in conduct unbecoming a teacher and other just cause.

Penalty

The next issue to be determined is the appropriate penalty for respondent's conduct. In mitigation, respondent has been teaching for twelve years (almost seven years in the district) without incident. Her conduct did not contemplate harm or punishment to the child but was reflexive after being slapped in the face. The child did not appear to be upset or injured and he returned to his seat, behaving in his normal manner. Under these circumstances, dismissal would not be appropriate and would be an excessive penalty. While respondent's conduct was unbecoming a teacher, this single, isolated incident in an otherwise unblemished career was not sufficiently flagrant to demonstrate respondent's unfitness as a teacher or to warrant her dismissal.

However, such behavior by a tenured teacher does require an appropriate discipline. In lieu of dismissal, such a penalty would be a forfeiture of respondent's employment and adjustment increments as well as the pay withheld from her during her suspension. Such a result is supported by the Commissioner's decision in Murphy. In Murphy, a teacher was not dismissed from her position despite her involvement in two instances of corporal punishment and unbecoming conduct. Murphy, supra, 92 N.J.A.R.2d at 536–37. However, the Commissioner increased the ALJ's recommended penalty of withholding of a salary increment. Id. at 537. According to the Commissioner in Murphy, despite mitigating factors that militated against the teacher's dismissal, "inappropriate touching and loss of control of the type demonstrated in this matter cannot be countenanced in public school teachers under any circumstances." Ibid. As a result, the Commissioner imposed a penalty of forfeiture of employment and adjustment increments and forfeiture of the 120 days' pay withheld from the teacher during her suspension. Ibid.; see also Randolph Twp. Bd. of Educ. v. DiPillo, 93

N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 13, 25 (holding that appropriate penalty for teacher misconduct included loss of 120 days' pay and salary increment).

Accordingly, under the particular circumstances of this matter, the appropriate penalty would be the one suggested by the Board as an alternative to dismissal, namely, the loss of "employment and adjustment increments as well as [the forfeiture of] the 120 days' pay withheld from [respondent] following the certification of tenure charges to the Commissioner of Education." This penalty should impress upon respondent and other teachers the seriousness of respondent's misconduct, and that this type of conduct cannot be condoned by the Board.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing findings of fact and conclusions of law, this matter is decided in favor of petitioner and the charges against respondent are sustained. I ORDER that respondent be reinstated to her position as a tenured special education teacher in the district with restoration of any pay or benefits that have been withheld, except that she is subject to the loss of employment and adjustment increments as well as the forfeiture of the 120 days' pay withheld from her following the certification of the charges.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF MOUNTAINSIDE, UNION COUNTY, Petitioner, v. BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF BERKELEY HEIGHTS, UNION COUNTY, Respondent.	BEFORE THE COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION OF NEW JERSEY Agency Dkt. No. 25-1/08 OAL Dkt. No. EDU 03008-2008

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF MOUNTAINSIDE, UNION COUNTY, Petitioner, v. BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF BERKELEY HEIGHTS, UNION COUNTY, Respondent.	BEFORE THE COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION OF NEW JERSEY Agency Dkt. No. 34-2/10 OAL Dkt. No. EDU 03253-10 SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

Whereas, the Mountainside Board of Education ("Mountainside"), and the Berkeley Heights Board of Education ("Berkeley Heights"), have asserted various claims against each other in consolidated proceedings before the Commissioner of Education entitled Board of Education of the Borough of Mountainside v. Board of Education of the Township of Berkeley Heights, OAL Dkt. No.s EDU 03008-2008 and EDU 03253-10, Agency Dkt. No.s 25-1/08 and 44-2/10 ("the Action"), and

Whereas, the parties have amicably resolved their differences and desire to memorialize a settlement of the Action by this Agreement,

Now, Therefore, Be It Agreed, as follows:

1. All affirmative claims that were, or could have been, asserted by Mountainside or Berkeley Heights against the other in the Action shall be deemed dismissed, with prejudice, immediately upon the approval of this Agreement by the Commissioner of Education.

2. Commencing with school year 2011-2012, and for each school year thereafter that the parties remain in a sending-receiving relationship, charges by Berkeley Heights to Mountainside for resource room services to Mountainside-resident students shall be calculated pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-17.1(e)(5)(vi) and (e)(9), and Policy Bulletin 100-1; provided that a) such charges shall be calculated solely based on Berkeley Heights' costs related to provision of resource room services at Governor Livingston High School, and not at other schools in the Berkeley Heights School District, which costs shall be defined as employees' salaries, classroom supplies and materials, purchased services directly related to the class, and related costs and services such as field trips; and b) charges shall be based upon enrollment of Mountainside-resident students as reflected in their IEPs, not necessarily their actual daily attendance.

3. To enable Mountainside to make budgetary preparations to meet its responsibilities hereunder, and to facilitate the validation of Berkeley Heights' resource room charges to Mountainside, Berkeley Heights shall furnish to Mountainside, on a monthly basis, the following documentation concerning students for whom resource room services charges are assessed: a) a list of Mountainside-resident students, identified by initials, currently receiving resource room services; b) the weekly number of IEP-required resource room minutes for each student so identified; c) the actual salaries of teachers and classroom aides assigned to resource room classes at Governor Livingston High School; d) the actual scheduled pupil contact time for the teachers and classroom aides so identified; and e) the total number of resource room hours taught to all Governor Livingston High School students, regardless of residency. The parties agree that charges to Mountainside pursuant to this Agreement shall be invoiced on a monthly basis. To the extent the documentation suggests that the monthly budgeted amount should be adjusted, the parties shall agree on a modified amount to take effect with the February invoice.

4. Upon formal approval of this Agreement by the parties, and full execution and exchange hereof, Mountainside shall pay to Berkeley Heights the sum of $155,414.00, representing the amount budgeted by Mountainside for resource room services for school year 2010-2011. It is understood that the parties shall reconcile this amount to the actual costs incurred in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-17.1 and Policy Bulletin 100-1, following the completion of the annual audit report and review by the New Jersey Department of Education.

5. In addition to resource room charges assessed annually as provided for above, commencing with school year 2011-2012, and continuing through school year 2015-2016, Mountainside shall pay to Berkeley Heights a lump sum of $66,000.00 annually, no later than July 31st of each school year, for a total of $330,000.00, in full satisfaction of all claims that were or could have been asserted by Berkeley Heights against Mountainside in the Action. With respect to school year 2011-2012, said payment shall be made by July 31, 2011, or within 20 days of receipt of written approval of this Agreement by the Acting Commissioner of Education, whichever comes later. To the maximum extent permitted by law, Mountainside shall be entitled to an annual general fund tax levy CAP adjustment of up to $66,000.00, for the purpose of making the annual payments agreed-upon herein.

6. Berkeley Heights shall retain complete control over program and placement decisions regarding Mountainside-resident special education students enrolled in the Berkeley Heights School District as provided for by law; however, Berkeley Heights' staff involved with IEP development shall afford Mountainside's staff involved with IEP development a timely opportunity to review the IEP of each Mountainside-resident student prior to implementation. The purpose of said review shall be solely for the purpose of offering non-binding input based upon Mountainside's knowledge of the student, or specific Mountainside resources to assist in educating the student, and avoiding unnecessary expenditure of either party's funds.

7. This Agreement is entered into for the purpose of avoiding the expense and inconvenience of continued litigation, and does not reflect a concession by either party of the correctness of the other party's factual or legal positions in the Action.

8. Both parties shall execute such additional documents as may be necessary to effectuate the purposes hereof.

9. With the exception of the payment to be made pursuant to paragraph 4 hereof, this Agreement is otherwise subject to, and shall take effect immediately upon, approval: a) by the respective parties, by resolutions adopted at duly convened public meetings; b) by the Administrative Law Judge presiding in the Action; and c) by the Acting Commissioner of Education.

10. The parties agree that the venue for resolution of any disputes concerning the interpretation or enforcement of this Agreement shall be the Superior Court of New Jersey, Union County Vicinage. The parties further agree that any future disputes concerning their sending-receiving relationship, other than those concerning the interpretation or enforcement of this Agreement, shall be submitted to the Union County Executive County Superintendent for non-binding mediation prior to commencement of any litigation.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF LISA ROSA, SCHOOL	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF JERSEY CITY,	:	DECISION
HUDSON COUNTY.	:

SYNOPSIS

The petitioning Board certified tenure charges of chronic and excessive absenteeism, constituting unbecoming conduct and other just cause, against respondent – a middle school science teacher employed by the district in its accelerated program for high-performing students – for excessive absences over the four year period from the 2006-2007 school year through the 2010-2011 school year. The Board sought removal of respondent from her tenured position.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: the Board had provided respondent with ample warning of its dissatisfaction with her attendance through written evaluations and the withholding of three consecutive annual salary increments; petitioner's argument that she should not be terminated because none of the Board's communications specifically warned her in advance that she would be terminated if her record of attendance did not improve is without merit; and the Board sustained its burden of proving that respondent should be dismissed for unbecoming conduct and other just cause pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10. Accordingly, the ALJ ordered the tenure charges against respondent upheld.

Upon independent review of the record, the Commissioner adopted the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. Respondent was dismissed from her tenured employment, and a copy of this decision was forwarded to the State Board of Examiners for action against her certificate(s) as that body deems appropriate.

OAL DKT. NO. EDU 5602-11
AGENCY DKT. NO. 103-5/11

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF LISA ROSA, SCHOOL	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
HUDSON COUNTY.	:

The petitioning district certified tenure charges against respondent in consequence of four years of chronic and excessive absenteeism, as to which respondent had been both admonished in memoranda, observation forms and evaluations, and penalized by way of increment withholdings. Petitioner did not allege that the reasons for respondent's absences were inappropriate, but rather that the excessive absences hurt the students by consistently interrupting the continuity and coherence of instruction and destabilizing the classroom environment. Upon review of the record, Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) and respondent's exceptions,[1] the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge's recommendation to uphold the charges.

For each of the four years at issue, respondent was absent or tardy for over one quarter of the total days constituting the school year. In fact, during the 2009-10 academic year respondent missed over half of the 182 days of school. This level of absenteeism cannot fail to have a substantial and negative effect upon the quality of the students' education. Thus, the Commissioner and other authorities have previously found that an employee may properly be dismissed for excessive absenteeism, even where valid personal reasons such as illness underlie the absenteeism. See, e.g., In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Grace Folger, Board of Education of the Township of Orange, Commissioner Decision No. 147-00, decided May 15, 2000; In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Jerome Kacprowicz, State Operated School District of the City of Jersey City, Hudson County, 93 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU)152, aff'd, State Bd., 93 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 604, aff'd, App. Div., 95 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU)105; In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Vincent Pellecchio, State-Operated Sch. Dist. of Jersey City, 92 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 271, aff'd, State Bd., 93 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 30.

In her exceptions, respondent asserts that the problems that caused her excessive absenteeism are behind her, and she will now be able to perform her duties without the frequent interruptions which characterized the past four years. However, under the circumstances of this case, the Commissioner cannot find that petitioner's decision not to take a chance on further disruption is arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. In the record, examples of the negative effects of respondent's absenteeism are identified. Respondent's high-performing students fell behind their peers in accelerated science classes and had to be reassigned to other full-time science teachers. Parents registered complaints, and undue use of substitute teachers was necessitated.

In sum, the Commissioner finds that respondent has met the standards for termination of a tenured employee for excessive absenteeism as articulated in such cases as In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Lena White, State Operated School District of the City of Jersey City, Hudson County, 92 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 157, 161. More specifically, petitioner 1) considered both the number and the particular circumstances of the absences, (2) assessed the impact of the absences on the continuity of instruction, and (3) gave respondent warning that her supervisors were dissatisfied with the pattern of the absences.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL upholding the respondent's dismissal from her tenured position with the Jersey City School District is adopted as the final decision in this matter. This matter will be transmitted to the State Board of Examiners for action against respondent's certificate(s) as that body deems appropriate.

INITIAL DECISION
AGENCY DKT. NO. 103-5/11

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE HEARING OF LISA ROSA, SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF JERSEY CITY, HUDSON COUNTY.

R. Scott Eveland, Assistant General Counsel, for petitioner School District of the City of Jersey City (Paula Mercado-Hak, General Counsel)

Nancy I. Oxfeld, Esq., for respondent Lisa Rosa (Oxfeld Cohen, attorneys)

Record Closed: July 20, 2011 Decided: July 25, 2011

BEFORE JESSE H. STRAUSS, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The School District of the City of Jersey City (District) dismissed tenured teacher Lisa Rosa for unbecoming conduct and other just cause. A tenured employee of a public school system shall not be dismissed except for inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct or other just cause. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10. The District certified charges alleging that Rosa had been chronically and excessively absent from her duties as a middle school science teacher despite previous warnings and the withholding of three salary increments. The issues are whether Rosa engaged in the alleged conduct, and, if so, what is the appropriate penalty.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The District certified charges against Rosa to the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes of the Department of Education (Commissioner) on May 2, 2011. Upon the receipt of Rosa's Answer on May 16, 2011, the Director of the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes referred the tenure charges to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on May 17, 2011, as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. A hearing was scheduled for July 20, 2011.

Although Rosa's counsel appeared on the scheduled day of the hearing, Rosa did not appear, and she advised her counsel, when called, that she had discovered a flat tire on her motor vehicle outside her home. When I suggested, through counsel, that we would wait for her to appear later on July 20 after replacing the tire or taking public transportation, Rosa conveyed to her counsel that the offer was not feasible. Because of the mandate to expedite tenure proceedings, I declined to adjourn the hearing, but, with the consent of counsel and Rosa, the hearing proceeded with Rosa participating and testifying by telephone. Based on the issues raised in prehearing conferences, it became evident that the proposed testimony of Rosa would not turn on the need to make credibility determinations. I held a hearing on July 20, 2011, and closed the record that day.

FINDINGS OF FACT

The parties stipulated to the following, which I FIND as FACTS.

Rosa has been absent from her duties as a middle school science teacher in the Academy I Middle School in the following manner:

A. 2010–2011 school year—as of March 25, 2011, a total of 51 days absent

B. 2009–2010 school year—a total of 107 days absent

C. 2008–2009 school year—a total of 36 days absent and 22 days tardy

D. 2007–2008 school year—a total of 52 days absent

Rosa's number of absences from the 2007–2008 school year through the 2010–2011 school year, as of March 25, 2011, totaled 246 days. The school year for the District students consists of 182 days.

The District warned Rosa in writing that her attendance was unsatisfactory and needed improvement as follows:

October 18, 2010, Formative Observation Form—"Absenteeism interferes with continuity of instruction." Nine days of absence were noted from September 9, 2010, through October 4, 2010.

December 8, 2009, Formative Observation Form—"Ms. Rosa's attendance has come to the observer's attention due to the many times she has stopped by and Ms. Rosa is absent. Ms. Rosa has been absent 4 days in December . . . . This impacts the continuity of instruction."

November 12, 2009, Formative Observation Form—"Absenteeism interferes with continuity of instruction." Nine days of absence were noted from September 16, 2009, through November 10, 2009.

June 10, 2009, Summative Evaluation—"Areas Needing Improvement: Ms. Rosa has been absent 32 days this school year. The fact that Ms. Rosa has been excessively absent disrupts the continuity of instruction for her students. Ms. Rosa must be present on a consistent basis in order to develop an effective classroom environment."

June 22, 2008, Summative Evaluation—"Areas Needing Improvement: Ms. Rosa's complete disregard for the welfare of her students is evidenced by her excessive absence (49). The lack of continuity for teaching and learning is exacerbated by the fact that she is not present on a consistent basis in class to maintain an effective and nurturing classroom environment. Her students suffer because there are no formal expectations set to develop high standards for learning in her classes. . . . Because Ms. Rosa is frequently absent, she often does not attend the professional development offered in the morning . . . ."

The principal and acting principal of Academy I Middle School provided Rosa with memos on the following dates expressing disappointment with her attendance/lateness: January 14, February 1, February 16, and March 4, 2011; January 25, 2010; May 31, 2009; January 15, March 26, and November 5, 2008. Rosa did not receive the 2011 memos on the dates they were created because she was absent on those dates. She received the 2011 memos that were in her school mailbox upon her return from her absences.

The District withheld Rosa's salary increments for 2008–2009, 2009–2010, and 2010–2011 because of attendance.

I FIND additional FACTS based on the unrebutted testimony of Academy I Middle School (Academy I) principal Grace Moriarty. The school is one of the District's premier middle schools, providing an accelerated and enrichment program for high-performing students and a bridge program for students who need extra assistance. Rosa was a science teacher with a primary responsibility in the accelerated program, where the high-performing students needed to be challenged with an advanced curriculum. Rosa's absences impeded the continuity and coherence expected in the accelerated program. Moriarty received complaints from parents about Rosa's absences and students fell behind their peers because of her absences. Although Moriarty used substitute teachers for a long time when Rosa would be absent, she reassigned Rosa's students to other full-time science teachers in 2010–2011.

The District has not challenged the bona fides of Rosa's absences, but has instead limited its charge to that of chronic and excessive absenteeism. Therefore, although the numerosity rather than reasons for Rosa's absences is relevant, Rosa testified as to the cascade of issues that affected her admitted attendance record for the four school years raised in the Statement of Charges. She became pregnant in August 2006 and was diagnosed with a chemical imbalance and severe depression. She missed work for repeated periods of time during the pregnancy, and her doctor finally required her to stay out of work for the remainder of the pregnancy. Although her daughter was born on March 14, 2007, she remained at home for the rest of the 2006–2007 school year. She intended to return to school for the 2007–2008 year, with the anticipation that her retired husband would provide full-time childcare services. That autumn Rosa's husband was diagnosed with multiple sclerosis. His symptoms were unpredictable. Occasions of falling, temporary paralysis, and exhaustion rendered him incapable of providing the childcare. Rosa did not make alternate childcare arrangements until March 2008. She thereafter missed work to care for her daughter, who was exposed to the illnesses of other children in her daycare center. Rosa's long absences in 2009–2010 and 2010–2011 were due to the difficulty in stabilizing and controlling her severe depression. Rosa testified that, with therapy and appropriate medication, her condition of depression is now under control.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

The District has brought tenure charges against Rosa alleging unbecoming conduct. Under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10, tenured teaching staff members may be dismissed for inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct, or other just cause.

The District bears the burden of proving the charges upon which it relied by a preponderance of the competent, relevant and credible evidence. Atkinson v. Parsekian, 37 N.J. 143 (1962); In re Polk, 90 N.J. 550 (1982). The evidence must be such as to lead a reasonably cautious mind to the given conclusion. Bornstein v. Metro. Bottling Co., 26 N.J. 263 (1958). Therefore, the tribunal must "decide in favor of the party on whose side the weight of the evidence preponderates, and according to the reasonable probability of truth." Jackson v. Del., Lackawanna and W. R.R., 111 N.J.L.

487, 490 (E. & A. 1933). For reasonable probability to exist, the evidence must be such as to "generate belief that the tendered hypothesis is in all human likelihood the fact." Loew v. Union Beach, 56 N.J. Super. 93, 104 (App. Div. 1959). Preponderance may also be described as the greater weight of credible evidence in the case, not necessarily dependent on the number of witnesses, but having the greater convincing power. State v. Lewis, 67 N.J. 47 (1975).

The statutory status of a tenured employee may not be lightly removed. Tenure protects teachers from arbitrary dismissal for "unfounded, flimsy or political reasons." Spiewak v. Rutherford Bd. of Educ., 90 N.J. 63, 73 (1982) (citation omitted). It is designed to aid in the establishment of "a competent and efficient school system" by affording teachers a measure of security in the ranks they hold after years of service. Viemeister v. Prospect Park Bd. of Educ., 5 N.J. Super. 215, 218 (App. Div. 1949).

A school district should not be burdened with a part-time teacher in a full-time job. Other staff or substitutes cannot be expected to cover for absent colleagues for unreasonable periods of time or under unreasonable circumstances, as such circumstances cause hardship and dissension in the workplace and disrupt the continuity of instruction for that teacher's students. An employer has the right to expect a consistency of employee attendance in order to properly fulfill its mission. Attendance is an essential function of most jobs. See, e.g., Muller v. Exxon Research and Eng'g Co., 345 N.J. Super. 595, 605–06 (App. Div. 2001) (under the Law Against Discrimination, excess absenteeism need not be accommodated even if it is caused by a disability otherwise protected by the Act); Svarnas v. AT&T Commc'ns, 326 N.J. Super. 59, 78 (App. Div. 1999) ("reasonably regular, reliable, and predictable attendance is a necessary element of most jobs. An employee who does not come to work cannot perform any of [the] job functions, essential or otherwise.").

Chronic conduct is conduct that continues over a long time or recurs frequently. Good v. N. State Prison, 97 N.J.A.R.2d (CSV) 529, 531. "Excessive" is defined as "exceeding a normal, usual, reasonable, or proper limit." American Heritage Dictionary 638 (3d ed. 1992). Under any reasonable standard, absences totaling 246 days in a four-year period where the school year is but 182 days in duration are chronic and excessive.

The District has not accused Rosa of being a malingerer or of using specious excuses for her absences. Rather, it has limited its charges to conduct unbecoming a teacher through chronic and excessive absenteeism. It is unfortunate that Rosa and her family have suffered from various medical and childcare situations that required her to miss such a large amount of work days. However, excessive absenteeism constitutes valid grounds for dismissal of a tenured teacher even if the absences were excused or caused by legitimate reasons of personal illness and even if the teacher's classroom performance was sufficient. Orange Bd. of Educ. v. Folger, EDU 7379-99, Final Decision (May 15, 2000) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.shtml>; In re Kacprowicz, 93 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 147, aff'd, State Bd., 93 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 604, aff'd, App. Div., 95 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 105; State-Operated Sch. Dist. of Jersey City v. Pellecchio, 92 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 269, aff'd, State Bd., 93 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 30.

The Commissioner in Folger emphasized that, from the students' point of view, it does not matter whether their teacher is absent for an excessive amount of time for legitimate medical excuses or illegitimate excuses. The bottom line is whether a tenured teacher is present to teach or whether she is absent much of the time. Principal Moriarty aptly testified as to the loss of continuity and coherence in Rosa's classroom during her absences, particularly in view of the demanding curriculum in her school's accelerated program. Frequent absences by teachers from regular classroom activity surely disrupt the continuity of the instructional process. Regular contact of students with their assigned teachers is vital to the success of this instructional process. In re Reilly, 1977 S.L.D. 403.

The District had provided Rosa with ample warning of its dissatisfaction with her attendance through comments on her periodic Formative Observation Forms and Summative Evaluations. She was further put on notice with memos from 2008 through March 2011. It is of no moment that she did not receive the last four memos in 2011 until she returned to school because of her own absences. Finally, the withholding of three consecutive annual salary increments for the stated reason of attendance clearly put Rosa on notice that her attendance was not acceptable. In view of the repeated presentations of dissatisfaction with her attendance, I reject Rosa's argument that she should not be terminated because none of those communications specifically warned her in advance that she would be terminated if her record of attendance did not improve. The number of notices should have put any reasonable person on notice that the continuation of an unacceptable attendance record would jeopardize continued employment.

I CONCLUDE that the District has sustained its burden of proving that Rosa should be dismissed for unbecoming conduct and other just cause in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10.

ORDER

I ORDER that the tenure charges against Lisa Rosa be AFFIRMED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner, a tenured fourth grade teacher, appealed the Department's determination disqualifying her from school employment pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(c) following her guilty plea to assault by auto pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2C:12-1c(2). Such guilty plea was a consequence of a three car accident in which petitioner failed to maintain control of her vehicle, crossed over the center line into oncoming traffic, and caused a crash which resulted in injuries to five individuals, including serious internal injuries to a three year old child who was airlifted from the scene and hospitalized for 24 days as result of the trauma. Petitioner was found to have a blood alcohol level of .197%, more than twice the legal limit. Cross motions for summary decision were filed by both parties.

The ALJ found that: the facts in the matter are not in dispute, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; the crime petitioner was charged with – and pled guilty to – was a 3rd degree crime under N.J.S.A. 2C:12-1(c)(2), which involves serious bodily injury; her conviction falls within the purview of the disqualification statute, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(c)(1); reckless behavior can form the basis of a conviction of aggravated assault and manslaughter, crimes listed as disqualifiers under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(c)(1); the facts in Christopher Parshelunis v. New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Criminal History Review, are distinguishable from the instant case. Accordingly, the ALJ granted respondent's motion for summary judgment and affirmed petitioner's disqualification from school employment.

The Commissioner adopted the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter, and affirmed petitioner's disqualification from school employment.

NEW JERSEY STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, OFFICE OF CRIMINAL HISTORY REVIEW,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Petitioner's exceptions and respondent's reply thereto[1] were fully considered by the Commissioner in reaching his determination herein.

Petitioner's exceptions, in relevant part, recast and reiterate her arguments made before the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) below, again relying on Christopher Parshelunis v. New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Criminal History Review, Commissioner's Decision #458-08, decided November 25, 2008, as dispositive in this matter. As it is determined that petitioner's arguments were fully considered and addressed in the Initial Decision, they will not be revisited here.

Upon full review and consideration, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that petitioner is permanently disqualified from school employment, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-[1] It is noted that respondent sought and was granted an extension of time within which to file reply exceptions which were duly submitted in accordance with the extended timeline.

7.1(c)(1). In so concluding, the Commissioner notes the following uncontroverted facts: On August 13, 2010, petitioner pled guilty to third degree Assault by Auto in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:12-1c(2). Such guilty plea was a consequence of a three car automobile accident which occurred on August 18, 2009, where petitioner – who was ultimately determined to have a blood alcohol level of .197%, more than twice the legal limit – failed to maintain control of her vehicle, crossed over the center line of the road into oncoming traffic and crashed into a vehicle containing a woman and three young children, which vehicle then collided with a third vehicle containing only the driver. All five individuals were injured and required medical treatment. The most seriously injured were A.Y. – a three year old child – who was hospitalized for 24 days as a consequence of his injuries and his mother – the driver of the car initially struck by petitioner – who was hospitalized for 4 days. By letter dated August 17, 2010, the Department's Office of Criminal History Review advised petitioner that – as a result of her conviction – she was permanently disqualified from school employment pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1.

N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1, et. seq., in pertinent part, provides

> An individual...shall be permanently disqualified from employment or service under this act if the individual's criminal history record check reveals a record of conviction for any crime of the first or second degree or
> c. (1) A crime involving the use of force or the threat of force to or upon a person or property, including, but not limited to, robbery, aggravated assault, stalking, kidnapping, arson, manslaughter and murder...(emphasis added)

The Commissioner is in full accord with the ALJ's legal analysis of this statutory provision vis a vis the circumstances existing in this case:

> The disqualification statute enumerates a series of crimes representative of those the Legislature determined involved the use of force or threat of force that are automatic disqualifiers – robbery, aggravated assault, stalking, kidnapping, arson, manslaughter and murder. This is not an exhaustive list pursuant to the Statute, and these crimes are a sampling of the type of serious crimes the Legislature contemplated should act as automatic disqualifiers. The majority of these crimes > are all acts in which the actor affirmatively directs or threatens force upon a specific person or property. However, at least two of these crimes, aggravated assault and manslaughter, can be committed with the mens rea of recklessness, not requiring an affirmative direction of force or a specific intent to injure. A person is guilty of assault by auto in the third degree [N.J.S.A. 2C:12-1c(2)] when they drive a vehicle recklessly while in violation of N.J.S.A. 39:4-50, and cause serious bodily injury to another. A specific intent to injure, or the mens rea of intentional or knowing behavior, is not required.[2] In the same way, the mens rea of intentional or knowing behavior, is not required for a finding of guilt for aggravated assault [N.J.S.A. 2C:12-1b(1)] and manslaughter [N.J.S.A. 2C:11-4a(1)].[3] The facts in this record suggest that the type of reckless behavior committed by petitioner may form a connection between the act and injury that appears to be contemplated by N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(c)(1) as evidenced by the words "use of force or the threat of force to or upon a person or property," and by the choice of examples provided in the statute, especially the examples of aggravated assault and manslaughter.

> Petitioner was convicted of a crime, the elements of which are driving recklessly while intoxicated, and in the course of so doing, causing serious bodily injury. A third degree crime of assault by auto involving drunk driving and a resulting serious injury can be deemed to be on the same level as the crimes enumerated as representative of those that are automatic disqualifiers. These crimes also clearly involve the use of force or threat of force. There is no indication in this case that the petitioner intended to use force or threat of force, but she did act recklessly in using force upon another person or property. (Initial Decision at 6-7)

The Commissioner's determination here is not altered by petitioner's continued exception reliance on Parshelunis, supra, where that petitioner – under what petitioner in the instant matter asserts is a similar factual pattern – was not disqualified from school employment. Rather, the

[2] "[t]he intent element of assault by auto only requires a showing that the defendant caused serious bodily injury by driving the vehicle recklessly, which means defendant was aware that he or she was operating a vehicle in such a manner or under such circumstances as to create a substantial and unjustifiable risk of serious bodily injury to another. (Criminal Model Jury Charges, June 14, 2004)." (Respondent's Reply Exceptions at 5)

[3] "[T]he elements of Aggravated Assault, in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:12-1b(1), are: (1) that the defendant caused serious bodily injury to another; and (2) that the defendant acted recklessly under the circumstances acted purposely or knowingly or manifesting extreme indifference to the value of human life. (Criminal Model Jury Charges, May 16, 2005) (emphasis added)." (Respondent's Reply Exceptions at 4)

"The elements for Aggravated Manslaughter, in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:11-4a, are: (1) that the defendant caused the victim's death, and; (2) that [t]he defendant did so recklessly, and; (3) that the defendant did so under circumstances manifesting extreme indifference to human life. (Criminal Model Jury Charges, March 22, 2004) (emphasis added)" (Respondent's Reply Exceptions at 4-5)

Commissioner finds and concludes, as did the ALJ, that the operative facts of the Parshelunis, supra, matter are distinguishable from the instant case. Specifically,

> [the petitioner in that matter] pled guilty to a fourth degree offense, rather than the third degree offense for which the petitioner herein pled guilty. The petitioner in Parshelunis [was involved in a one car accident causing] minor injury to his passenger's ankle, and his blood alcohol level was 0.186%. The petitioner herein caused serious bodily injury to a mother and her toddler, requiring both to be airlifted from the scene. The toddler suffered severe internal injuries, and spent twenty-four days in the hospital. The mother suffered fractures and lacerations, requiring a four day hospital stay. Three others were also injured and required medical treatment as a result of the accident. Two independent eye witnesses stated that petitioner caused the accident by crossing over the center line and into oncoming traffic. The accident occurred during the late afternoon of a weekday. Petitioner's blood alcohol level was 0.197%, nearly two-and-one-half times higher than the legal limit of .08%. (Initial Decision at 7)

The Commissioner is additionally compelled to clarify that to the extent Parshelunis, supra, might be read as inconsistent with the opinion in the within matter, it is specifically disavowed.

Accordingly, the recommended decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter for the reasons expressed therein. Petitioner's disqualification from school employment is hereby AFFIRMED.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[4]

Record Closed: June 10, 2011 Decided: July 25, 2011

BEFORE EDWARD J. DELANOY, JR., ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner appeals from a determination that her guilty plea to assault by auto, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2C:12-1c(2), constitutes a disqualification from school employment pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(c). The matter was filed at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on November 30, 2010, for a hearing as a contested case, in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13 and N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15. The case was presented without hearing on a motion for summary decision submitted by petitioner, and a cross-motion for summary decision submitted by respondent. Upon receipt of all submissions, including an amended joint stipulation of facts, and oral argument on June 10, 2011, the record closed on June 10, 2011.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

Petitioner is a duly certificated, tenured fourth grade teacher employed by the Bedminster Township Board of Education. (See Verified Petition dated September 28, 2010, para. 1.) The parties have stipulated to the following amended statement of facts (J-13), and I therefore FIND the following as FACT:

1. On or about August 18, 2009, petitioner was involved in a three car automobile accident.

2. Officers from the Hillsborough Township Police Department were dispatched to the scene of the accident at 5:05 p.m.

3. The police investigation revealed that petitioner was traveling on Dukes Parkway West when she failed to maintain directional control of her vehicle and crossed over the center lines into oncoming traffic where she struck a Sports Utility Vehicle ("SUV"), driven by Emily Yap and carrying three minor passengers, M.Y. age 12, A.Y. age 3, and K.Q. age 6. (See Exhibits J-5 through J-9.)

4. As a result of the first collision, the SUV collided with the third vehicle, a BMW that was traveling behind the SUV. (See Exhibits J-5, J-7, and J-9.)

5. The BMW was driven by Penny Sweeney, the sole occupant of that vehicle. (See Exhibits J-5 and J-9.)

6. Two independent eye witnesses, Amy Richter and Nichole Miezejewski, reported to the police that petitioner caused the three car automobile accident. (See Exhibits J-5 through J-9.)

7. All persons involved in the accident were injured and had to receive medical treatment. (See Exhibits J-5 and J-6.)

8. Emily Yap and her toddler, A.Y., suffered the most serious injuries and had to be flown to the Robert Wood Johnson Hospital. (See Exhibits J-5 and J-6.)

9. A.Y. suffered blunt abdominal trauma, perforation of the upper portion of the small intestine requiring that portion to be cut away, blood clot in the inferior vena cava, and liquid in the left lung. Due to his injuries, A.Y. was hospitalized for 24 days, from August 18, 2009, through September 11, 2009. (See Exhibit J-12.)

11. M.Y. suffered from a laceration of the left elbow which required eight sutures, left wrist soft tissue swelling, and pain in the left hip and shoulder. (See Exhibit J-12.)

13. Penny Sweeney, the driver of the third vehicle, was treated for a neck strain. (See Exhibit J-12.)

14. At the hospital, petitioner had a blood test, which revealed that petitioner's blood alcohol content was .197%, more than twice the legal limit. (See Exhibits J-5, J-10 and J-11.)

15. On November 5, 2009, an Affidavit/Certification in support of Probable Cause was issued, charging petitioner with two counts of third degree Assault by Auto in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:12-1c(2) and two counts of fourth degree Assault by Auto in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:12-1c(2). (See Exhibit J-12.)

16. On November 9, 2009, petitioner was arrested by Hillsborough Township Police Department in Somerset County for causing the three-car motor vehicle accident on August 18, 2009, and driving while intoxicated. (See Exhibit J-4.)

17. On or about August 13, 2010, petitioner pled guilty to third degree Assault by Auto/Vessel in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:12-1c(2).

18. By letter dated August 17, 2010, the Department determined that petitioner was permanently disqualified from school employment with any school or contractor under the Department's supervision pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1.

19. Attached hereto as Exhibit J-1 is a true and accurate copy of the Department's letter dated August 17, 2010.

20. Attached hereto as Exhibit J-2 is a true and accurate copy of a letter sent to the Department on behalf of petitioner, dated September 14, 2010, disputing the disqualification.

21. Petitioner was sentenced on September 24, 2010. (Exhibit 1 at J-3, ¶3.)

22. On or about October 1, 2010, petitioner filed a Petition of Appeal challenging the Department's determination. A true and accurate copy of the Petition is attached hereto as Exhibit J-3.

LEGAL ANALYSIS

The facts relevant to a decision on this motion are not in dispute. Therefore, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b) and Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Co. of America, 142 N.J. 520, 523 (1995), I FIND that there are no genuine issues of material fact and that this matter is ripe for summary decision. The resolution of the within matter rests upon the interpretation of N.J.S.A 2C:12-1c(2) as applied to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1, the Criminal History Review statute.

In issuing the disqualification after the petitioner pled guilty to drunk driving and assault by auto, respondent relies upon the broad powers of the New Jersey Department of Education, State Board of Examiners, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1, to protect public school students from contact with individuals whom are deemed a danger to them. Petitioner pled guilty to the third degree crime of assault by auto, and respondent contends that the elements of assault by auto are similar to the elements of aggravated assault and manslaughter, crimes specifically listed as requiring the disqualification of a teacher from employment pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1. Respondent recites the necessary elements to a finding of guilt for aggravated assault: causing serious bodily injury to another, and under circumstances manifesting extreme indifference to the value of human life, recklessly causing such injury. N.J.S.A 2C:12-1b(1). Aggravated assault can also be committed by recklessly causing bodily injury to another with a deadly weapon. N.J.S.A 2C:12-1b(3). The elements for a finding of guilt for manslaughter are recklessly causing a victim's death, and doing so under circumstances manifesting extreme indifference to human life. N.J.S.A 2C:11-4a(1).

Respondent argues that the elements of assault by auto in violation of N.J.S.A 2C:12-1c(1) requires a showing that the defendant caused serious bodily injury by driving a vehicle recklessly. Therefore, there is a similar mens rea of recklessness for each of the aforementioned crimes of assault by auto, aggravated assault and manslaughter. Accordingly, the mens rea (recklessness) required for assault by auto in the third degree falls under the purview of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1, in the same way as does aggravated assault and manslaughter. Respondent also asserts that petitioner's blood alcohol level, in conjunction with the serious bodily injury and property damage caused by petitioner, makes her offense a disqualifying offense pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1. Finally, respondent argues that the facts in this case bring it under the purview of In the Matter of the Certificate of Bryan Scalzo, Dkt. No 0607-104 (Order of Revocation, March 29, 2007), in which the Examiners found that a "conviction of a crime such as assault by auto falls squarely within" the meaning of a disqualifying offense, and that the decision in Parshelunis v. New Jersey Dept. of Educ. Ofc. Of Criminal History Review, EDU 10282-07 (Oct.16, 2008), aff'd Comm'r Dec. No. 458-08 (Nov.25, 2008), can be distinguished because the defendant therein pled guilty to the fourth degree offense of assault by auto, rather than the third degree offense as set forth herein. In addition, the extent of injuries suffered to the victim in Parshelunis was substantially more insignificant than those suffered by the victims in this matter.

Petitioner asserts that the sole distinction between Parshelunis and this matter is that the individuals involved in the crash involving petitioner suffered from more serious injuries, making the crime one of the third, rather than fourth degree. There is no suggestion or proof that petitioner herein had any intention whatsoever to use or threaten to use force against the other persons involved in the crash, but that she recklessly operated a motor vehicle while intoxicated, and caused a serious injury. Therefore, the only distinction between the offenses in the two cases is the severity of the injury, and the severity of the injury is something which neither of the respective actors contemplated or controlled. As such, the decision in Parshelunis should be applicable and binding, and petitioner be allowed to maintain her teacher's license.

N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1, the Criminal History Review statute, provides in pertinent part, that an individual shall be permanently disqualified if the criminal history background check reveals a conviction for "a crime involving the use of force or threat of force to or upon a person or property including, but not limited to, robbery, aggravated assault, stalking, kidnapping, arson, manslaughter and murder." Petitioner pled guilty to N.J.S.A. 2C:12-1c(2), which provides that:

> Assault by auto is a crime of the 3rd degree if the person drives the vehicle while in violation of R.S. 39:4-50 . . . and serious bodily injury results.

The disqualification statute enumerates a series of crimes representative of those the Legislature determined involved the use of force or threat of force that are automatic disqualifiers – robbery, aggravated assault, stalking, kidnapping, arson, manslaughter and murder. This is not an exhaustive list pursuant to the Statute, and these crimes are a sampling of the type of serious crimes the Legislature contemplated should act as automatic disqualifiers. The majority of these crimes are all acts in which the actor affirmatively directs or threatens force upon a specific person or property. However, at least two of these crimes, aggravated assault and manslaughter, can be committed with the mens rea of recklessness, not requiring an affirmative direction of force, or a specific intent to injure. A person is guilty of assault by auto in the third degree when they drive a vehicle recklessly while in violation of N.J.S.A. 39:4-50, and cause serious bodily injury to another. A specific intent to injure, or the mens rea of intentional or knowing behavior, is not required. In the same way, the mens rea of intentional or knowing behavior is not required for a finding of guilt for aggravated assault [N.J.S.A 2C:12-1b(1); N.J.S.A 2C:12-1b(3)], and manslaughter [N.J.S.A 2C:11-4a(1)]. The facts in this record suggest that the type of reckless behavior committed by petitioner may form a connection between the act and injury that appears to be contemplated by N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(c)(1) as evidenced by the words "use of force or the threat of force to or upon a person or property," and by the choice of examples provided in the statute, especially the examples of aggravated assault and manslaughter.

Petitioner was convicted of a crime, the elements of which are driving recklessly while intoxicated, and in the course of so doing, causing serious bodily injury. A third degree crime of assault by auto involving drunk driving and a resulting serious injury can be deemed to be on the same level as the crimes enumerated as representative of those that are automatic disqualifiers. These crimes also clearly involve the use of force or threat of force. There is no indication in this case that the petitioner intended to use force or threat of force, but she did act recklessly in using force upon another person or property.

The Examiners' decision in Scalzo may not be dispositive of the case herein because the facts of that case are not completely known. However, it is certainly true, as the Examiners noted in Scalzo, that a teacher's behavior outside the classroom may be relevant in determining that person's qualifications and fitness to retain a certificate and that one incident, if sufficiently flagrant, is enough to demonstrate unfitness to hold a position in a school system. Scalzo, supra, citing In Re Grossman, 127 N.J. Super 13, 30 (Sup. Ct. 1943), aff'd, 131 N.J.L 326 (E&A 1944), Redcay v. State Bd. Of Educ., 130 N.J.L. 369,371 (Sup. Ct. 1943), aff'd, 131 N.J.L. 326 (E&A 1944).

On the other hand, the facts in Parshelunis are distinguishable because the defendant pled guilty to a fourth degree offense, rather than the third degree offense for which the petitioner herein pled guilty. The petitioner in Parshelunis caused minor injury to his passenger's ankle, and his blood alcohol level was 0.186%. The petitioner herein caused serious bodily injury to a mother and her toddler, requiring both to be airlifted from the scene. The toddler suffered severe internal injuries, and spent twenty-four days in the hospital. The mother suffered fractures and lacerations, requiring a four day hospital stay. Three others were also injured and required medical treatment as a result of the accident. Two independent eye witnesses stated that petitioner caused the accident by crossing over the center line and into oncoming traffic. The accident occurred during the late afternoon of a weekday. Petitioner's blood alcohol level was 0.197%, nearly two-and-one-half times higher than the legal limit of .08%.

The facts in this case represent a sufficiently flagrant incident that warrants a disqualification of petitioner from employment in public education, and warrants consideration outside of the analysis presented in Parshelunis. Petitioner cannot hide from, and is responsible for, the ultimate outcome resulting from her actions. While petitioner may be unfortunate in that her victims suffered serious bodily injury, she cannot escape that result, and her case must be examined in light of that outcome. Petitioner's conviction does fall within the purview of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(c)(1). While this single offense may not lead to the conclusion that petitioner cannot perform effectively as a classroom teacher, the Legislature has mandated that a crime involving the use of force upon a person or property may result in that individual's disqualification from employment. While the crime of assault by auto is not specifically mentioned, the law is clear that a disqualification is not limited to the crimes listed therein.

While petitioner may not have intended to cause the injury and harm that she caused, a mens rea of intent to harm is not a requirement of the statute. Reckless behavior is all that is required for a conviction for assault by auto, and petitioner admitted she was reckless by pleading guilty to the charge of assault by auto. Reckless behavior can also form the basis for a conviction of aggravated assault and manslaughter, crimes listed as disqualifiers under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(c)(1). Petitioner caused serious bodily injury by the use of force upon another. I CONCLUDE that a third degree conviction of assault by auto under these circumstances does warrant a disqualification of petitioner's employment in public education.

DECISION AND ORDER

Based on the foregoing, the motion for summary decision filed by the petitioner, Erin Markakis, is hereby DENIED, and the cross-motion for summary decision filed by the respondent New Jersey State Department of Education, Office of Criminal History Review, is hereby GRANTED. The disqualification of petitioner's school employment is hereby AFFIRMED, and I ORDER that the petitioner is disqualified from employment in public education.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF MIDDLETOWN, MONMOUTH COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner appealed the termination of her employment as a secretary in respondent Board's district as the result of a reduction in force (RIF). She contended that she had acquired tenure protection through her prior position in the school district as an assistant traffic coordinator (ATC), and was entitled to be retained over other non-tenured employees. The Board asserted that petitioner has no claim to employment as she did not acquire tenure in her prior position as ATC, and had not yet acquired tenure in the secretarial position.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: the central issue in this case is whether the duties of the position of ATC formerly held by petitioner could be considered secretarial or clerical in nature, such that petitioner would have obtained tenure in that position pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2; review of petitioner's responsibilities as an ATC reveals that she routinely exercised independent authority and coordinated the transportation department in her supervisor's absence; petitioner's duties in the ATC position went well beyond the role of a secretarial or clerical employee, whose function is to assist those in authority with carrying out their duties; and the preponderance of evidence proves that petitioner had more duties and responsibilities than a secretarial or clerical employee, and cannot be considered as having been employed as a secretary or clerk while in the ATC position. Accordingly, petitioner did not acquire tenure in her position as an ATC and has no claim to employment based upon tenure rights. The ALJ ordered the petition dismissed.

The Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that petitioner's position as an ATC cannot be characterized as secretarial or clerical in nature, and she therefore did not acquire tenure in this position. Accordingly, petitioner has no justified claim to employment with the Board based on a violation of her tenure rights. The Commissioner adopted the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter.

RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Petitioner's exceptions and the Board's reply thereto – filed in accordance with the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 – were fully considered by the Commissioner in reaching his determination herein.

Petitioner's exceptions essentially recast and reiterate her arguments advanced before the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) below. As it is determined that such arguments were fully considered and addressed by the ALJ in her decision, they will not be revisited here.

Upon his full consideration of the record in this matter, which included a transcript of the hearing conducted at the OAL on March 21, 2011, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ – for the reasons presented on pages 13-14 of her decision – that petitioner's position as an Assistant Traffic Coordinator with the Board cannot be characterized as secretarial or clerical in nature and, consequently, petitioner did not acquire tenure in this position. As such, petitioner has no justified claim to employment with the Board based on a violation of her tenure rights.

Accordingly, the recommended decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter and the instant petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

DELORES KOPKO,
Petitioner,
v.
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF MIDDLETOWN,
Respondent.

Christopher B. Parton, Esq., for respondent (Kenney, Gross, Kovats & Parton, attorneys)

Record Closed: June 10, 2011 Decided: July 25, 2011

BEFORE SUSAN M. SCAROLA, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner Delores Kopko appeals the termination of her employment as a secretary to the Child Study Team (CST) as the result of a reduction in force by respondent Middletown Township Board of Education, Monmouth County (Board). She alleges that she acquired tenure protection through her prior position in the school district as an assistant traffic coordinator (ATC), and would therefore be entitled to employment retention over other non-tenured employees who were retained. Respondent denies that appellant acquired tenure in her prior position, and therefore she has no claim to employment based upon any alleged tenure or seniority right.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On or about March 26, 2010, petitioner was advised by the Board that her employment with the CST was terminated effective June 30, 2010. On June 16, 2010, petitioner filed an appeal with the Department of Education. The contested case was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law, where it was filed on July 9, 2010. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. The hearing was conducted on March 21, 2011. The record remained open for the submission of briefs and reply briefs until June 10, 2011.

FINDINGS OF FACT

The parties stipulated to the following facts:

1. In May 2002, petitioner commenced employment with the Board in the twelve-month position of ATC, and served in that position in an exemplary manner.

2. The duties of the position included answering telephones, communicating with parents, preparing spreadsheets and using the time system and SASI computer systems.

3. In October 2007, petitioner was reassigned, at her request, to the position of secretary to the Child Study Team (CST), a ten-month tenurable position.

4. On or about March 26, 2010, petitioner was advised by the Board that her employment would be terminated as of June 30, 2010, as the result of a reduction in force. Petitioner worked through that date.

5. The petitioner would have been eligible for tenure in the position of secretary to the CST due to her employment from October 2007 to June 2010, but the amount of time she worked there was insufficient to confer tenure upon her.

6. If petitioner's employment from 2002 to 2007 as an ATC were characterized as a secretarial or clerical position, then she would have acquired tenure in that position, and would be considered as tenured for all relevant purposes.

The testimony

Delores Kopko is a high school graduate, with one year completed at Brookdale Community College. After college she became employed as a secretary at Coldwell Banker, later did telemarketing with another corporation, and worked as a dispatcher/secretary with a trucking company. In 2000 she started working for the Middlesex Regional Educational Services Commission as a secretary for student transportation, dealing with parents, obtaining information from school districts, and sourcing out the transportation.

Someone at one of the bus companies knew that Kopko had the credentials for a job that was opening at the Board in the transportation unit, and told her that she should apply. After being interviewed by Barbara Vining, she was hired by the Board as the ATC in May 2002 at a salary of approximately $27,000. She did not recall if she had a job description in writing. Although the district preferred a candidate to have a State certification in the ATC position, she did not.

Kopko's job duties consisted of answering the phones, speaking with parents, working with the computer systems, and talking to school administrators. At the beginning of the work day the unit was concerned with the students' arrival at school, and at the end of the day, it worked on departures.

When Kopko started with the transportation unit, it was just the transportation coordinator (Barbara Vining), a part-time secretary and her. About halfway through her time in the unit, the secretary became full-time. A review of the definitions of the job description indicated that as far as busing policy was concerned, everyone in the unit was responsible. Bus lists were also a joint effort. For student discipline, the bus drivers would let them know, and then the schools would be faxed the information. If a transportation vehicle broke down, the unit was notified and the schools were contacted. Kopko had no responsibility for operations, contractual programs, contract changes or any legal aspects. She typed up contracts and would input the contracts into the system, but she never actually prepared the terms of the contracts. The secretary took care of accident reports, but generally speaking the unit was not involved in those matters. Special trips by students and faculty were done by the secretary of the unit.

As to County and State reports, she and the secretary made sure the students were on the correct bus routes. She had nothing to do with purchasing recommendations, but she did order office supplies. She did not serve as an adviser, nor was she responsible for the budget. She did some payroll, including the spreadsheet and the mail merge. Kopko and the other people in the unit handled public relations and complaints, speaking with the schools, the bus companies, and the parents.

In general, her duties consisted of answering the phones, putting students in and out of the transportation system, dealing with the public, doing spreadsheets about the transportation, working on special education routes, and using the computer system for special education students to find out about them to assess their transportation needs.

Kopko never just added in a bus stop for a student, but she could prepare and make a change in the schedule. The routes had been developed prior to her appointment to the position. Basically she would look up the route and figure out where the child could get on. She would discuss with Vining whether she could add a stop to the route. She usually did not make any changes on her own, but discussed them first with Vining. She and Viking checked on school aides and who the drives were. She drove out to check on the buses, sometimes accompanied by Vining, and sometimes alone. But this was done only toward the end of her time on the unit.

Kopko loved her job, but transferred to the CST as a secretary after she had a baby, as she wanted the summers off. She took a pay cut, but it was not too bad because she worked only ten months per year and saved on childcare costs during the summer months. She chose to go to the CST because she thought it was a good fit for her life at the time. Although the job with the CST started in August 2007, she was asked to stay on at her old position of ATC until October to help with the new students coming into the transportation system at the start of the school year, and agreed to do so.

As a Category 2 (ten-month) CST secretary, she answered the telephones, dealt with the public, did spreadsheets, and inputted student information and their classifications. As far as her personal responsibilities, she performed secretarial duties. Although she did not open the mail, she distributed it. She kept records and kept schedules. She scheduled appointments and maintained a log of visitors. She ordered supplies. She thought many of her duties as an SCT secretary were the same duties she had as the ATC.

While in the position of ATC, she had once been told that they were trying to make her position tenured. She did not think that she could get tenure in the position, but she did not discuss this with anyone.

On cross-examination, she stated that she did not have the State certification preferred for the position of ATC. She thought the job description of what she did was rather outdated, as Middletown did not have its own school buses. She could make bus changes on her own. She dealt with classified students all the time. She made sure they were on the correct buses, and got the appropriate forms for the CST. She did all the special education students on her own. She did not need to review the individualized education plan (IEP), except for the classification and the transportation needs. If there was room in the bus, she could add a student to that route without difficulty.

As far as participating and changing routes, what really changed during the summer depended on the students. If a bus was not needed because of a change in the IEP, she would discuss it with Barbara Vining. Many times she handled student crises such as a non-pickup. She would have to call the bus company and find out what happened and try to resolve the dispute. At the end of her time as ATC, she and Barbara Vining would do spot-checks in the field. This was the result of a lawsuit that had been filed against the district. She would make sure that it was the same driver and the same aide. She also answered phones and spoke with the parents.

Kopko never had anything to do with the bidding and had no authority as far as bidding was concerned. As the ATC, she dealt with crises and calls from parents, and she also did that as a CST secretary when she would try to talk to the parents and get them to calm down. She was commended for her work.

Her contract for 2007–2008 said the contract could be terminated at any time by either party with sixty days' written notice. She did nothing to challenge her classification. She had spent six years in the district, and when she went to the CST, a lot of things were similar. She did not ordinarily spend any time with vendors as a CST secretary, but did spend time with them if a parent called concerning a bus driver. The Middletown Township Education Association (MTEA), which is the local bargaining unit of the New Jersey Education Association, represented certain employees who are under their contract. Petitioner was not a member of the union while in the position of ATC, but did join after becoming a CST secretary.

At one time the MTEA argued or tried to negotiate to include ATC's as part of the union and to try to make the position tenured. The Public Employment Relations Commission ruled on the issue and did not include ATC's as part of that union.

Barbara Vining has been the traffic coordinator since 2000. She has a State supervisor's certification for pupil transportation. Her job duties include interacting with parents and dealing with contractors, principals and school personnel. The school district has 10,500 students, of whom 75 percent are bused to seventeen different schools. She is also responsible for non-public school students' transportation needs, as well as for transportation to out-of-district placements for special education students, for a total of approximately 12,500 students under her direction.

The district has no school buses or drivers of its own, rather, private bidding is done by private bus companies for the routes. Vining constantly deals with the bus companies. She is involved in bidding, changing bus routes, handling parent complaints, and spot-checking drivers.

The ATC also deals with bus companies constantly. The majority of the ATC's work is not filing or typing or any kind of clerical work, as most of the work is interacting with schools and making changes to the bus routes to accommodate students' schedules.

The first contact that people have with the school transportation unit about busing is the unit's secretary. However, the secretary has no independent authority to make changes to the bus routes, nor does she have access to the computer system, which Kopko did.

Kopko was the ATC working with Vining from 2002 to 2007. Vining had hired her and knew her employment history. Kopko did not have a transportation certificate, which was preferred, but she was more than qualified for the position. Kopko's pupil transportation experience showed in a positive way. She was an outstanding employee and had superior telephone skills in dealing with parents. Vining presented a letter complimenting Kopko on how good she was in resolving a parent's complaint. Vining had no complaints about Kopko and noted that her evaluations were outstanding or satisfactory. Kopko stopped working in the unit in 2007 because she wanted her summers off after having a baby.

Viking described Kopko's job and her own job as similar. She would not classify Kopko as clerical, as Kopko was in constant communication with the bus companies. The bus routes are subject to change each year, and Kopko would coordinate these changes with the bus company. She would take care of special education routes and new routes by following the route books from the previous year. When the routing was complete, Kopko would send it to the contractor.

Kopko's personal attendance record was excellent. When Vining was not present, Kopko would be in charge. Kopko was very competent to make any changes that were necessary. Vining described Kopko as her best employee, the most independent, and the most effective in the position of ATC.

Vining was aware that the union (MTEA) had tried to include the ATC as a secretarial position, but was not successful.[1] She believed that the ATC position is not a secretarial position, as the work performed is similar to Vining's but without the added responsibilities Vining has for evaluating staff and handling bidding.

In addition to the stipulated facts, I FIND the following with regard to the work performed by the petitioner as an ATC: Her duties included answering the phones, putting students in and out of the transportation system, dealing with the public, doing spreadsheets about the transportation, working on special education routes, and using the computer systems for special education students to find out about them to assess and meet their transportation needs. Petitioner made bus changes on her own, and exercised independent authority. She made sure the classified students were on the correct buses. She dealt with crises and calls from parents. Petitioner (and Vining) also went off-site into the field to check on buses, drivers, and school aides. When Vining was not present, petitioner was in charge of the office. Petitioner handled the responsibilities of this position in an exemplary manner.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

The issue presented is whether the duties of the position of ATC performed by petitioner could be characterized as secretarial or clerical in nature, such that petitioner would have obtained tenure in that position under N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2, and therefore would have tenure for all relevant purposes.

[1] The PERC decision declining to add the title of ATC to the bargaining unit was entered on May 17, 2004.

N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2 provides as follows:

> a. Any secretary, assistant secretary, school business administrator or business manager of a board of education of any school district who has or shall have devoted his full time to the duties of his office and has or shall have served therein for three consecutive years, and
> b. Any person holding any secretarial or clerical position or employment under a board of education of any school district or under any officer thereof, after
>
> > 1. The expiration of a period of employment of three consecutive calendar years in the district or such shorter period as may be fixed by the board or officer employing him, or
> >
> > 2. Employment for three consecutive academic years, together with employment at the beginning of the next succeeding academic year, an academic year being the period between the time when school opens in the district after the general summer vacation and the beginning of the next succeeding summer vacation, and
> c. Any person, who has acquired, or shall hereafter acquire, tenure in any secretarial or clerical office, position, or employment under the board of education of a school district and has been appointed district clerk or secretary, or shall hereafter be appointed secretary of said district, as such secretary, > shall hold his office, position or employment under tenure during good behavior and efficiency and shall not be dismissed or suspended or reduced in compensation, except for neglect, misbehavior or other offense and only in the manner prescribed by subarticle B of article 2 of chapter 6 of this title.

Petitioner claims that the duties she performed in the position of ATC were predominantly those that were commonly performed by individuals in today's secretarial and/or clerical workforce, regardless of the title of the position or the fact that the position was not part of the bargaining unit represented by the local education association, and regardless of the fact that her supervisor found the characterization of that position as secretarial and/or clerical to be somewhat demeaning. Respondent contends that although some of the functions performed by the petitioner in her position as ATC could be characterized as those traditionally done by one denominated as a secretary or clerk (such as answering the phone, compiling spreadsheets, etc.), most of her duties went well beyond routine office functions. Thus, this matter turns on the nature of the work performed by petitioner in her position of ATC. If the facts show that the work was more like that of a secretarial position, then she would have gained tenure in that employment. If not, then she would not.

In Barnes v. Board of Education of Jersey City, 85 N.J. Super. 42, 45 (App. Div. 1964), the court noted that the tenure statute was to be construed liberally, and that it was the nature of the duties performed by an employee that determined whether tenure rights were acquired, and not the title of the position. Similarly, in Beaute v. Board of Education of North Arlington, Commissioner (September 14, 1981), aff'd, State Board (February 3, 1982), the petitioner claimed that she had obtained tenure as a clerical employee. She had begun employment on September 1, 1976, in a clerical position which included handling the telephone switchboard, attending to the mail, keeping attendance records, bookkeeping chores, ordering of supplies, etc. Although she was advised that a new telephone system would be installed and that her new job description would be that of receptionist-switchboard operator, she continued with most of her clerical duties until September 11, 1979, when she was advised that her job had been abolished. She appealed, and the administrative law judge (ALJ) ruled in her favor, stating, > the petitioner's employment should be viewed in light of the actual duties performed. A mere change in title or creation of a paper job description, without any substantial change in specific duties is an evasion that should not be permitted to erode an employee's right in the continuing accrual of tenure. The duties performed, rather than the title of the position, should be controlling, and we should look to the substance rather than the form.

Petitioner also relies on Mount v. Board of Education of Tinton Falls, Initial Decision, EDU 120-00 (December 29, 2000), adopted, Commissioner (February 7, 2001) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.shtml>. In this case, Mount was initially employed full time in the position of ATC from 1990 to July 1995. Her duties included organizing and scheduling the transportation program for the district, preparing the bus routes (including those of children with special needs), providing transportation for after-school functions, assisting with bids for various transportation needs, preparing reports, interacting with parents, and maintaining employee attendance records. She used computer systems and word-processing programs. She also maintained a filing system, drafted spreadsheets, typed memoranda, and photocopied documents.

In 1995 the position was reduced to half time and renamed transportation secretary. Mount continued in that position, performing many of the same functions. The position was abolished on December 31, 1999, and Mount was terminated. She contested her termination and claimed that the district had retained four non-tenured individuals in secretarial positions to which she was entitled. However, the issue in this case was not whether Mount had acquired tenure, as the Board agreed that she had as the result of her employment in the two positions. Rather, the Board contended that Mount was not qualified to perform the particular secretarial duties of the other positions. The ALJ concluded that tenure rights are not acquired as to a particular position, but as to the position of a secretary within the district. The ALJ and the Commissioner concluded that the duties of the disputed positions held by the non-tenured employees were not so specialized or unique that Mount was not capable of performing them, and so, as the result of her tenure status, she was entitled to one of them.

It should be noted that in Mount there was no dispute as to whether the petitioner was a secretary, as both parties agreed that Mount was; rather, it was whether Mount had tenure as a secretary within the entire school district, independent of the particular position held by her.

Respondent relies on Effenberger v. Board of Education of the Toms River Regional School District, Appellate Division, 96 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 690. In this case, Effenberger served as an ATC under the direction of the head of the department. In the Initial Decision, 95 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 66, the ALJ found that while the job performed by the employee contained some functions that could be classified as clerical, performing nominal clerical duties did not make the employee a clerical employee within the meaning of the statute. The ALJ noted that Effenberger had responsibility for the department in the absence of the department head, including the responsibility "for all aspects in the area of in-district special needs transportation." 95 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) at 70. Such responsibilities "evidenced duties encompassing great discretion and independence." Ibid. The Commissioner of Education adopted the Initial Decision, holding that Effenberger was not a clerical employee as defined by law, and the State Board of Education affirmed, 95 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 203.

On appeal, the Appellate Division, 96 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 690, 692, defined a clerical position as one "in which the employee performs the rote record-keeping duties that are typical of office operations, such as answering telephone calls, typing, photocopying and filing." The court found that Effenberger's day-to-day responsibilities went well beyond that definition, and included "handling parent complaints, substitute dispatching, and resolving various problems that would come into the office." 96 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) at 691. It was noted that Effenberger acted independently and had independent authority to resolve transportation issues.

In Hibo v. Board of Education of the West Essex Regional School Districts, EDU 1226-96, Initial Decision (November 12, 1997), aff'd, Commissioner (December 29, 1997), aff'd, State Bd. (June 3, 1998) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.shtml>, two part-time employees, who were employed under the job title of secretary and whose positions were eliminated, argued they were entitled to be hired by the district over other non-tenured secretaries. The ALJ found that they had been hired as secretaries, characterized in their jobs as secretaries, and evaluated as secretaries. They performed duties commonly associated with secretarial functions, including typing or word processing documents under the supervision of a boss, entering data into a computer, organizing files, greeting visitors and answering telephones.

And in Fink v. Board of Education of Hunterdon County Polytech, EDU 6435-06, Initial Decision (September 28, 2009), aff'd, Commissioner (November 2, 2009) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.shtml>, the ALJ and the Commissioner rejected the petitioner's claims that her time working as coordinator of adult education counted toward her tenure right as a secretary or clerk. The ALJ found that the position involved day-to-day responsibilities that far exceeded the clerical and supportive responsibilities of a secretarial position. The ALJ concluded:

> Because the duties of an adult education coordinator involve analysis, self-direction and similar higher-level responsibilities, they cannot in any way be considered equivalent to those of a secretarial position which, by its nature, involves assisting a person in authority in performing such higher-level duties and responsibilities.
> [Fink, supra, EDU 6435-06, Initial Decision (September 28, 2009) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.shtml>.]

Mount and Hibo were represented by their local bargaining units, which represented all secretaries in the district. Neither Effenberger nor Fink was represented by a bargaining unit. While this is not dispositive as to whether a position should be characterized as secretarial or clerical, in the present matter the local teachers' and secretaries' union (the MTEA) had previously sought to include the ATC as a member of the bargaining unit. This matter was litigated before the New Jersey Public Employment Relations Commission in 2004, and the MTEA lost. The final order of PERC excluded the position of ATC from the MTEA.

Applying the law to the facts presented herein, the only conclusion that can be drawn is that petitioner's position as an ATC cannot be characterized as secretarial or clerical in nature. The petitioner routinely exercised her independent authority in changing or accommodating bus routes, reviewing and implementing the transportation requirements of IEP's, addressing parent crises and concerns, performing field checks of bus routes and personnel, and running the department in her supervisor's absence. Petitioner performed her job in an exemplary manner, her supervisor noting that she could go on vacation with the confidence that petitioner would run the department well in her absence. Such authority would not be conferred upon a secretary or clerical employee whose role was to assist those in authority with carrying out their duties.

The independent problem-solving tasks designated to petitioner and the authority she held to handle crises on a day-to-day basis belie her argument that she could be classified as a secretarial or clerical employee. Although she did perform some routine office tasks, the additional responsibilities conferred upon her removed her position from one of a secretarial classification to one of authority. I CONCLUDE that given the facts stipulated and proven by a preponderance of the evidence, petitioner had more duties and responsibilities than a secretarial or clerical employee, and she cannot be considered as having been employed as a secretary or clerk. As a result, petitioner did not acquire tenure in her position as an ATC and has no claim to employment based upon an alleged violation of her tenure rights.

ORDER

I hereby AFFIRM the determination of the Board that petitioner did not acquire tenure in her position as an ATC and, therefore, she has no claim to employment based upon an alleged violation of her tenure rights. I ORDER that the appeal be DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Mark Zydiak, petitioner, pro se

Jennifer Paganucci, Esq., for respondents (Schwartz, Simon, Edelstein & Celso, attorneys)

BEFORE W. TODD MILLER, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On August 4, 2011, Marc Zydiak (petitioner) filed a petition with the Commissioner of Education (Commissioner) seeking a determination that the Board of Trustees of the Pleasantech Academy Charter School's (Pleasantech or district) decision to non-renew petitioner for the 2011-2012 school year was a violation of his tenure and seniority rights. A request for emergent relief was submitted with the petition. The Commissioner transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law ("OAL") for hearing as a contested case, where it was filed on August 11, 2011. For the reasons discussed below, petitioner's request for emergent relief is DENIED. The case is scheduled for a plenary hearing on August 30, 2011.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

Mark Zydiak was employed by Pleasantech on September 1, 2005. Petitioner holds the following Certifications/Endorsements[1]: Teacher of Science (May 1976); Principal/ Supervisor (October 1979); Business Administrator (November 1984); Affirmative Action – Next Phase (February 6, 1986); and Supervisory Management, successful completions of Levels 1, 2 and 3 of New Jersey Certified Public Manager Program (December 1986). (See petition for supporting exhibits).

The positions held by petitioner during the 2005-2011 timeframe were as follows: Supervisor/Curriculum Coordinator 2005-2006; Principal/Assistant School Administrator (2005-2011)[2]; Supervisor of Curriculum and Instruction 2006-2007; Director of Curriculum 2007-2009; Supervisor of Technology 2007-2009; and Supervisor of Planning Research and Evaluation 2009-2010, and , and Administrative Assistant to the Chief School Administrator for 2010-2011.

[1] There are only three categories of educational certificates, to wit: 1) instructional, 2) administrative, and 3) educational services. N.J.A.C. 6A:9-5.2. Certificates should not be confused with endorsements. Endorsements identify a specific area in which the certificate holder is authorized to serve. See N.J.A.C. 6A:9-9.1, et seq.

[2] Petitioner claims he periodically served in the capacity as a Principal in 2009-2011. The district employs a Principal but Pleasantech argued that petitioner never actually served in the capacity as Principal or Interim Principal. He was not employed or appointed in such capacity. Rather petitioner merely filled in when the Principal was not in the building, which is not tantamount to working in the position for the requisite period for tenure. N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5. Petitioner argues that during times when the actual Principal was absent (not on the property, on vacation, leave or otherwise) he was a de facto Principal as a matter of law. Consequently, petitioner argues that he has acquired tenure rights while a serving as a de facto Principal. See Petition, ¶¶ 17, 18.

By letter dated May 13, 2011, Cathy McDavid, the Chief School Administrator, notified petitioner that his contract would not be renewed for the 2011-2012 school year (H-6). Petitioner held the title of Administrative Assistant to the Chief School Administrator for 2010-2011 school year and was therefore not tenured in the promotional title.

Petitioner seeks emergent relief. He argues that he should be immediately put back to work with pay and/or the district should be precluded from filling any positions to which he may have acquired tenure or seniority rights, pending a plenary hearing.

Pleasantech asserts that petitioner's last position was Administrative Assistant to the Chief School Administrator. He held that position for the period 2010-2011. He was not tenured in that position because he only held it for one year. Consequently, petitioner was non-renewed in a position for which he was not tenured. Pleasantech is a small charter school. It only has about five administrative positions. Any position for which petitioner would hold tenure rights would be in the category of supervisor under an administrative certificate. Pleasantech thus argues that there are no other existing positions for which petitioner has seniority or reemployment rights.

Pleasantech advertised for a supervisor's position in August 2011. The requirements for the job included a Supervisor Certification, five years of supervisor experience in the education field, excellent communication skills, experience in writing curriculum data, [and] data analysis. (Petitioner's Emergent Brief, August 4, 2011, Exhibit M-1.) Pleasantech now argues that the position of Supervisor is no longer needed and will not be filled. (Certificate of Verna Foreman, ¶4.)

However, Foreman's Certification at ¶5 states that for the 2011-2012 academic year, the only anticipated supervisory position that will exist is for special education. Therefore, Pleasantech is hiring qualified individuals in the (Administrative) Supervisor's category. Petitioner's pleadings indicate that he holds a Principal/Supervisor [administrative] Certification since October 1979. (Petition, B2) Thus petitioner suggests he is tenured as a Supervisor because he has been with the district for over six years and held supervisory positions for at least two years. See N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6. At a minimum petitioner would hold seniority rights to the position of Supervisor of Special Education, even without any special endorsement.

LEGAL STANDARDS AND CONCLUSIONS

The Tenure Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:28-1 to -18, and N.J.A.C. 6A:11-6.1 (Charter Schools) specifically defines the conditions under which teaching staff members are entitled to the security of tenure. Spiewak v. Board of Educ. of Rutherford, 90 N.J. 63, 72 (1982). Zimmerman v. Newark Bd. of Educ., 38 N.J. 65 (1962), cert. den. 371 U.S. 956 (1963). Tenure arises only upon compliance with the precise conditions articulated in the statute. N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5. Picogna v. Board of Education of Cherry Hill, 143 N.J. 391, 400 (1996). See also, Howley v. Ewing Bd. of Educ., 6 N.J.A.R. (EDU) 509, 516 (1982). Sometimes special tacking rights apply but evidence of same must be presented at a plenary hearing N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5; -6.

N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.6(a) provides for the granting of emergency relief where authorized by law and where irreparable harm will result without an expedited decision granting or prohibiting some action or relief connected with a contested case. In such circumstances, emergency relief pending a final decision may be ordered upon the application of a party. Subparagraph (f) of this section provides that temporary relief may be granted if there is a finding that immediate and irreparable harm will probably result, if there is the likelihood that the moving party will prevail, and if the relief is as limited in scope and as temporary as possible.

The foregoing regulation embodies the principles of law announced by the court in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126, 132 (1982). These legal principles may be summarized as follows:

1. Emergency relief should not issue except when necessary to prevent irreparable harm. Harm is generally considered irreparable if it cannot be redressed adequately by monetary damages. In certain circumstances, severe personal inconvenience can constitute irreparable injury justifying issuance of injunctive relief. Pecuniary damages may be inadequate because of the nature of the injury or of the right affected.

2. Emergency relief should be withheld when the legal right underlying the claim of the requesting party is unsettled.

3. Emergency relief should not issue where all material facts are controverted. Thus, to prevail on an application for emergency relief, the party requesting the relief must make a preliminary showing of a reasonable probability of ultimate success on the merits. That requirement is tempered by the principle that mere doubt as to the validity of the claim is not an adequate basis for refusing to maintain the status quo. The point of emergency relief is to maintain the parties in substantially the same condition when the final decision is issued, as they were when the litigation began.

4. The final test in considering the granting of emergency relief is the relative hardship to the parties in granting or denying relief. The relief granted should be no broader than necessary to preserve the status quo pending a full hearing on the merits.

Irreparable Harm

There must be a showing of irreparable harm. Petitioner argues that his reputation, character, emotional state and household finances will be irreparable harmed if he is not immediately reinstated. Ordinarily monetary damages do not form the basis of irreparable harm. In the event that petitioner is successful, he will be awarded the appropriate remuneration, including back pay.

Petitioner further argues that if the administrative or supervisory positions he seeks are filled by the district, he would have waived his rights to those positions had he not filed for emergent relief. Since petitioner filed for emergent relief seeking to enjoin the district from filling any administrative/supervisory positions, he has procedurally protected his interest. Moreover, counsel for the district indicated on the record that if tenured or seniority rights are determined favorably for petitioner, any person hired hereafter would have to yield their position to petitioner. Thus, the district accepts that risk. On this basis, I CONCLUDE that petitioner will not suffer irreparable harm.

Rights to the Underlying Claim Must Be Settled

The second requirement is that the underlying claim of the requesting party must be settled. Stated differently, the petitioner must show that there is a clear body of law that favors a determination for petitioner. Here the rights underlying petitioner's claims are unclear and can only be determined by a full evidentiary hearing. The validity of the positions held by petitioner as a supervisor or principal, and whether he acquired tenure rights, need to be developed by an evidential hearing. I CONCLUDE therefore that the underlying claim asserted by petitioner is not settled.

Requirement to Show Reasonable Probability of Prevailing on the Merits

Here the party requesting relief must make a preliminary showing of reasonable probability of ultimate success on the merits. Again, petitioner asserts that he has established seniority as a supervisor and/or in the capacity of a principal. Some or all of these facts are contested, particularly as to petitioner's argument that he has acquired tenure or seniority in the capacity of a principal. Petitioner held various titles and positions with Pleasantech over a six year period. He was promoted or reassigned several times. This presents a complex overlay as to petitioner's seniority or promotional seniority claim. These claims must be presented at a plenary hearing so that the validity and credibility determinations can be made. That said, petitioner has made an initial demonstration that he would have a reasonable probability of success in establishing tenure as a supervisor, since he has been employed in such positions within the district during the past six years. See, Sahagian v. North Bergen Bd. of Educ., 1989 S.L.D. 2878, 2883-84 (holding that because petitioner was tenured as a supervisor, having served under the endorsement with his administrative certificate, he is entitled, by virtue of his tenure status as a supervisor, to any other supervisory position in the district over a non-tenured individual.) However, Pleasantech asserted through counsel that it is a small school with very few administrative positions. And any administrative/supervisory positions for which petitioner is qualified, do not exist. Again, these were arguments presented without supporting testimony. In the absence of evidence and testimony, petitioner's tenure or seniority rights cannot be determined at this time. I so CONCLUDE.

The parties should be mindful that the certification requirements for charter schools found at N.J.A.C. 6A:11-5.1(b)1 provide that:

> (b) the board of trustees of a charter school shall employ or contract with:
> 1. A lead person or another person who holds a New Jersey standard school administrator or supervisor certificate or a New Jersey standard or provisional principal certificate in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:9-8.6 to direct and guide the work of instructional personnel including but not limited to, the supervision and evaluation of staff and the development and implementation of curriculum...
> [Emphasis added]

These provisions seem to empower petitioner with authority to supervise special education staff. No endorsement appears necessary to supervise a Special Education Department in the same way a Principal or Superintendent may. See N.J.A.C. 6A:9-9.2(b)6. A Special Education endorsement is only required to instruct in class, provide consulting services, or supportive resources.

Relative Hardship to the Parties

The final test is whether the granting of emergent relief to preserve the status quo will impose a hardship on one of the parties. This action was filed in August 2011. The ensuing school year is only a few weeks away. Pleasantech is operating with an interim Superintendent. Denying Pleasantech the ability to fill its administrative positions would, without a doubt, impose a hardship (i.e. three weeks before school is scheduled to commence). On the other hand, if petitioner were to prevail at a plenary hearing, he would be reinstated with back pay. The harm to Pleasantech would be broad based. It would impact the daily operations of the school and potentially impact its students. The impact upon petitioner is personal and can be rectified by monetary remedies. I therefore CONCLUDE that the relative hardship favors Pleasantech.

CONCLUSION

Based upon the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has failed to establish existence of irreparable harm; that petitioner established some likelihood of prevailing on the merits as to a supervisor's position; and that the relative hardship will fall upon Pleasantech rather than petitioner. The relief sought by petitioner is therefore DENIED.

ORDER

For the reasons stated above, I ORDER that petitioner's request for emergency relief is DENIED. This case shall be scheduled for a plenary hearing on August 30, 2011, at 9:30 a.m. at the Office of Administrative Law, 1601 Atlantic Avenue, Suite 601, Atlantic City, New Jersey, before the undersigned ALJ.

I am mindful that this date is expedited and may present discovery problems for the parties. Therefore, I have also scheduled a telephone status conference call for August 29, 2011, at 10:00 a.m. to determine if the case can proceed on the scheduled plenary hearing date mentioned herein.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISIONER OF EDUCATION who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five (45) days following the entry of this order. If the COMMISIONER OF EDUCATION does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five (45) days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

DECISION

The record and notice of withdrawal transmitted to the Commissioner by the Office of Administrative Law pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.2 have been reviewed. The Commissioner approves the withdrawal of the instant tenure charges, since there is no basis on which they may proceed in the wake of respondent's unilateral resignation from employment with the Board and her application for retirement from the Teachers Pension and Retirement Fund. Consequently, the matter is no longer deemed to be a contested case before the Commissioner and is accordingly dismissed.

By copy of this decision, the State Board of Examiner is notified of the instant tenure charges, which involve allegations of excessive absenteeism, and the circumstances underlying its withdrawal.

Dear Dr. Epps:

It is with great sadness that I resign my position as a teacher with the New Jersey public school effective November 1, 2011.

Because of residual complaints from a serious motor vehicle accident, I cannot maintain a responsible work day schedule.

I have enjoyed my years working as a teacher but I must for reasons mentioned, resign as of November 1, 2011.

AGENCY DKT. NO. 28-2/11

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE HEARING OF SALVATORE PICCOLI, NEW JERSEY DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS, ALBERT C. WAGNER YOUTH CORRECTIONAL FACILITY

Christopher C. Josephson, Deputy Attorney General, for petitioner
Rosemarie Cipparulo, Esq. for respondent

BEFORE LISA JAMES-BEAVERS, ALJ:

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on January 30, 2007, for resolution as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F1 to -13.

Respondent Salvatore Piccoli was a tenured teaching staff member employed by the Albert C. Wagner Youth Correctional Facility, Department of Corrections (DOC) for approximately ten years. The DOC accused Piccoli of conduct unbecoming an employee, N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)6 and other sufficient cause, N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a)11.

A telephone conference was conducted on June 8, 2011, at which time a hearing was scheduled for July 21 and 22, 2011. Prior to the date of the hearing petitioner's counsel advised that the parties reached an agreement that resolves all issues in dispute and requested that the hearing dates be adjourned. I received the Stipulation of Dismissal on July 26, 2011.

In accordance with the decision of the State Board of Education in In re Cardonick, April 6, 1983 [1990 School Law Decisions (S.L.D.) 842, 846] and as codified by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6, the record of any proposed settlement must include:

> ...the nature of the charges, the length of the teacher's employment, circumstances justifying the settlement, consent or authorization by the Board of Education and the teacher to the proposed agreement, the administrative law judge's finding that the teacher entered into the agreement with a full understanding of his or her rights and [a finding] that the agreement is consistent with the public interest.

Based upon my review of the record I FIND, the proposed settlement is consistent with the public interest for the following reasons:

1. Mr. Piccoli shall apply for disability retirement; however, if his application is denied, the DOC agrees to modify his removal from service effective January 28, 2011, to a resignation in good standing, effective the date it is approved by the Commissioner of Education.
2. The Board agrees to withdraw the charges that are currently pending before the undersigned. Mr. Piccoli's retirement or resignation renders the tenure charges moot.
3. The Board will not pay Mr. Piccoli any back pay as he agrees to serve a 120-day suspension without pay and have the remaining time between the suspension and the date of his retirement or resignation considered a leave of absence without pay.

4. The parties agree that the resolution of this matter upon the terms set forth herein is both in their interest and in the public interest for the following reasons:
   a. to avoid disruption of the youth correctional facility required by having to call employed individuals to testify in these proceedings; and
   b. to avoid a lengthy, expensive hearing on the charges and any possible appeals; and
   c. to avoid the expenditure of additional public funds to pursue charges against an employee who is willing to relinquish his present employment position with the Department of Corrections and who is barred from obtaining employment with the Department of Corrections or Department of Human Services.
5. Mr. Piccoli was represented by counsel in the case and entered into this agreement with a full understanding of his rights.

Having reviewed the contents of the attached Stipulation of Dismissal, I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures and/or the signatures of their representatives.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and, therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of SALVATORE PICCOLI, Department of Corrections	OAL Dkt. No.: EDU 5328-2011S Agency Ref No.: 28-2/11
	STIPULATION OF SETTLEMENT

The Department of Corrections, Office of Educational Services (DOC), with offices located at Whittlesey Road, P.O. Box 863, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, represented by PAULA T. DOW, Attorney General of New Jersey, Christopher C. Josephson, Deputy Attorney General, appearing; and Salvatore Piccoli, a "Teacher I," and a tenured employee of the DOC who is assigned to the Albert C. Wagner Youth Correctional Facility (ACWYCF), as represented by Rosemarie Cipparulo, Esq. appearing; by way of this Stipulation of Settlement say:

WHEREAS, the DOC initiated the filing of tenure charges against Mr. Piccoli, having filed the charges with the Commissioner of Education on or about February 3, 2011; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Piccoli was charged in the tenure charges with Conduct Unbecoming a Public Employee and Other Just Cause; and

WHEREAS, the tenure charges alleged that Salvatore Piccoli brought his personal cell phone inside of the perimeter of ACWYCF and intentionally left the phone in an area of ACWYCF frequented by inmates, namely, under a box on top of the Institutional Mailboxes in the ACWYCF Front House Lobby; and

WHEREAS, the DOC sought the dismissal of Mr. Piccoli on the above charges, which were transferred to the Office of Administrative Law for a hearing; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Piccoli disputed the charges; and

WHEREAS, the matter was initially referred to the Office of Administrative Law for a hearing in July 2011; and

WHEREAS, the parties wish to enter into an amicable resolution of the tenure charges filed against Mr. Piccoli; and

WHEREAS, it is in the best interest of the parties and the public to enter into this Stipulation of Settlement;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual promises contained herein, the parties agree as follows:

1. DOC agrees to modify the disciplinary action contained therein, removal from service effective January 28, 2011, to a disability retirement, or, in the alternative, if Piccoli's application for a disability retirement is denied, a resignation in good standing, to be effective on the date that the Commissioner of Education approves settlement of this matter. The DOC will neither support or oppose Piccoli's application for a disability retirement.

2. Piccoli agrees to serve a 120-day suspension without pay, with credit for time already served, and will not receive any back pay, benefits, counsel fees, costs or any other monetary relief as a result of this settlement. Piccoli further agrees to no longer seek or accept future employment with the New Jersey Department of Corrections and New Jersey Department of Human Services.

3. Upon the effective date of his retirement or resignation, the Department of Corrections shall record Mr. Piccoli as having retired or resigned in good standing. Any time between the end of Piccoli's suspension and the date of his retirement or resignation will be considered a leave of absence without pay.

4. The Commissioner's approval of this Settlement Agreement shall constitute a withdrawal of the tenure charges brought by the DOC against Mr. Piccoli.

5. Settlement of this matter is justified and in the public interest because it obtains Mr. Piccoli's removal without the need for the parties to devote further substantial resources to a contested tenure hearing with an uncertain result. This settlement provides the relief that the DOC sought by bringing the charges.

6. This Agreement constitutes a final and complete resolution of the disciplinary action in this matter and fully disposes of all issues in controversy between the parties hereto except any pending Workers Compensation or Disability Retirement claims. Mr. Piccoli agrees not to appeal the terms of this Agreement in any administrative, arbitral or judicial forum.

7. This Agreement shall not constitute a precedent in any other matter involving Mr. Piccoli or any other employee.

8. Should the Commissioner fail to approve this Agreement, the parties shall make every reasonable effort to reform their Agreement to meet any objections.

9. Mr. Piccoli has been advised of the Commissioner's duty to refer tenure determinations resulting in loss of position to the State Board of Examiners for possible suspension or revocation of certificate (N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6(a)(6)).

10. Mr. Piccoli has been further advised of the DOC's legal duty, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 43:1-3.3, to disclose the within Settlement Agreement to the board of trustees of Piccoli's pension fund or retirement system so that it can determine whether to order the forfeiture of all or part of Piccoli's earned service credit, pension or retirement benefit.

11. This Agreement shall only become effective when the Commissioner of Education approves it. Any disapproval by the Commissioner shall not interfere with the rights of either party to pursue this matter further.

This Agreement is made in good faith. The parties have read the Agreement and freely and voluntarily agree to its provisions.

RESPONDENTS.	:

In this controversy, petitioner – the current mayor of West New York – charged that the appointment of respondents to the municipality's school board by the former mayor subsequent to his defeat for re-election is violative of the law, and sought removal of these individuals from the Board. Respondents contended that they were legitimately appointed by the outgoing mayor, and should be allowed to serve out their respective terms. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for an emergent relief hearing; however, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) determined to resolve the case on its merits rather than address it as an emergent relief issue.

The ALJ found that: the parties agreed that they are governed by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-7 and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-8, relevant sections of which provide that board members be appointed between April 1 and April 15 to terms that commence on May 16, and board vacancies be filled to the unexpired term of the departing member within thirty days; respondent Passante was appointed to a full term on May 13, 2011, which is plainly outside the statutory time frame; N.J.S.A. 40:73-5, which applies to Commission forms of government, makes unlawful any appointment between the first and third Tuesday in May of an election year; and respondent Locatelli's appointment falls within this time period. The ALJ concluded that the appointments of both respondents to the West New York Board of Education were improper and, accordingly, respondents must be removed from the school board.

Upon comprehensive review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's ultimate conclusion that the appointments of both respondents were improper and, consequently, they must be immediately removed from the Board. The Commissioner, however, found that N.J.S.A. 40:73-5 – the foundational premise for the ALJ's recommendation – is not relevant to the Town of West New York, and respondent Locatelli's appointment was invalidated by the fact that he was already a sitting Board member when he was appointed to another seat on the Board, which is clearly violative of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-7 and respondent Passante's appointment violated the express terms of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-8. Accordingly, the Commissioner ordered the removal of respondents as board members of the West New York Board of Education.

FELIX ROQUE, INDIVIDUALLY AND AS MAYOR OF THE TOWN OF WEST NEW YORK, HUDSON COUNTY,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
JANET PASSANTE AND ALEXANDER LOCATELLI,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENTS.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Primary exceptions of both petitioner and respondents, and respondents' reply exceptions – filed in accordance with the provisions of N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 – were fully considered by the Commissioner in reaching his determination herein.[1]

Petitioner's exceptions are in agreement with the ALJ's recommendation that both respondents should be immediately removed from the West New York Board of Education for the reasons stated in the judge's decision. He does, however, disagree with the ALJ's determination that an additional reason justifying the removal of Alexander Locatelli – i.e., that he was appointed by outgoing Mayor Vega on May 13, 2011 to fill the unexpired term of another Board member while he was already serving as a Board member under a term which was not due to expire until May15, 2011 – was inconsequential. Petitioner contends, as he did below, that Locatelli's May 13, 2011 appointment was invalid because he could not simultaneously hold two Board of Education seats. The ALJ erroneously rejected this argument, petitioner maintains, reasoning that because "Locatelli could have resigned the seat that was about to expire in favor of the seat held by Mr. Lopez...the error is minor and that the situation self-corrected on May 15, 2011, when Mr. Locatelli's earlier term expired." [Initial Decision at 2] (Petitioner's Exceptions at 2) Irrespective of the fact that Locatelli could have resigned, petitioner argues, the plain fact of the matter is that he did not do so. Petitioner cites to Georgia v. Suruda, 154 N.J. Super. 439, 445 (Law Division 1977) for the proposition that the law is clear that "a person could be appointed to a new position inconsistent with a former one, but only after a resignation from the former position had been accepted." (Id. at 2-3) Petitioner, furthermore, adamantly disagrees with the ALJ that "the error is minor." Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-7, he points out, the Mayor is limited to appointing "a qualified person to fill the vacancy..." At the time he was appointed, petitioner posits, Locatelli was not a qualified person. Formal requirements such as this exist in order that vacancies are filled in a measured manner to help insure that government functions effectively. It is without question, petitioner avers, that Locatelli was not eligible to be appointed on May 13, 2011 – the date of his appointment – and must, therefore, be immediately removed. (Id. at 3)

[1] It is noted that this matter was transmitted to the OAL for hearing and subsequent recommended Order on Emergent Relief. Apparently, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) on his own accord determined to resolve the case on its merits rather than address it as an emergent issue as requested by the Agency. Notwithstanding that the ALJ captioned his subsequent decision as an "Initial Decision on Emergent Relief," N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.6 makes no provision for the issuance of an Initial Decision on Emergent Relief. Accordingly, with the receipt of exception arguments of the parties, the Commissioner has reviewed this matter as a regular Initial Decision and any and all references to the prior emergent nature of this matter have been deemed irrelevant.

In reply, respondents argue that Mayor Vega's May 13, 2011 appointment letter which, in relevant part, stated "...I appoint you to a position of the West New York Board of Education, effective May 13, 2011 to finish the term vacated by Mr. Domingo Lopez. Your term will expire May 15, 2015," cannot reasonably be read to mean that Mr. Locatelli would occupy two positions simultaneously. Clearly, respondents maintain, the appointment was intended "to take effect on May 16, 2011 when the Board met," and after Mr. Locatelli completed his existing term on May 15, 2011. The overlap of only two days during which Mr. Locatelli was "technically" completing one term while already appointed to another term whose duties had not yet begun was, they argue – and as the ALJ recognized – a minor, self-correcting error, particularly in light of the fact that Mr. Locatelli did not engage in any Board business or meetings during this two-day overlap. (Respondents' Reply Exceptions at 1-6, quotation at 2)

Respondents' primary exceptions make two specific relevant exceptions to the Initial Decision: 1) N.J.S.A. 40:73-5 applies to "second class cities" and does not apply to the Town of West New York, and 2) The Town of West New York is governed by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-7 and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-8 under which the appointments of both respondents are legal. With respect to the first of these – the ALJ found that respondents' appointments were illegal because they were made between the first Tuesday in May and the third Tuesday in May – which is prohibited by N.J.S.A. 40:73-5. Such a finding is clearly erroneous, respondents argue, as – for the following reasons – this statutory provision is not applicable in this matter.

The heading of N.J.S.A. 40:73-5 specifically defines its applicability – this provision is entitled "Appointment in second class cities in certain years (emphasis added)." The language of this provision prohibits certain appointments "...in any city of the second class governed by the commission form of government (emphasis added)." West New York, respondents offer, is not a second class city, it is a Town, incorporated as such by an act of the New Jersey Legislature on March 2, 1898; the statute was adopted by the inhabitants on July 5, 1898 and the results were certified on July 6, 1898. Notwithstanding that West New York is a Town, respondents aver, the ALJ found that this statutory provision – which, pursuant to its own terms, is applicable only to second class cities – governed the Town of West New York. Respondents point out:

> The terms "city" and "town" have special well-recognized meanings. They are two (2) of several ways in which municipalities are classified in the State of New Jersey, including for example borough, town, township, city and village. N.J.S.A. 40:70-2. Cities themselves are further divided into four (4) classifications based upon population and location: (1) First Class (cities with a population over 150,000); (2) Second Class (cities with populations between 12,000 and 150,000); Third Class (other cities except Atlantic Ocean resorts cities); and Fourth Class (cities which are Atlantic Ocean resorts). N.J.S.A. 40A:6-4. The governance of towns such as West New York is set forth in N.J.S.A. 40A:6-4 through N.J.S.A. 40A:6-8.
> Certain laws, rules and regulations apply to all types of municipalities. Other laws, rules and regulations apply to only one type of municipality or a subset of municipalities. The decision with respect to what laws apply to what type of municipality is properly left to the legislature. (Respondents' Exceptions at 3-4)

Moreover, respondents advance, the Walsh Act, N.J.S.A. 40:70-3, which is entitled "An act relating to, regulating and providing for the government of cities, towns, townships, boroughs, villages and other types of municipalities governed by boards of commissioners or improvement commissioners of this state," does not specify, nor does it imply, that all legislative provisions under this Act apply uniformly to each type of municipality. To the contrary, that each type of municipality is listed separately acknowledges that all types of municipalities are not to be treated the same way for all purposes. Respondents submit that "[w]hen the legislature intends that a statute applies to all municipalities, it either uses the term 'municipality,' such as in N.J.S.A. 40:73-1 through N.J.S.A. 40:73-3, or it makes no governmental designation at all, such as in N.J.S.A. 40:73-4. However, they maintain, when the legislature intends that a law is to apply to a specific type of municipality, it says so," pointing to N.J.S.A. 40:71-9.1 "Boards of fire commissioners in townships"; N.J.S.A. 40:72-9 "Assignment of deputy by director in second class cities and certain forth class cities"; and N.J.S.A. 40:73-9 "Borough under 5000; tax collector or treasurer; waiver of residency requirement" as examples. A principal precept of statutory construction, respondents urge, is that the plain language of a statute should be used as the primary indicator of legislative intent. (Id. at 4-5)

Respondents point out that in this matter petitioner had the burden of proving that the statute at issue did not mean what it clearly says, a burden, they assert, he did not satisfy and the ALJ's conclusions based on petitioner's arguments are clearly erroneous, as evidenced by: 1) Neither petitioner nor the ALJ cite any legislative history or case law with respect to N.J.S.A 40:73-5 which would support their expanded interpretation of this provision; 2) the ALJ stated that "N.J.S.A. 40A:6-4 classifies for legislative purposes cities of the second class as having between 12,000 and 150,000 people" (Initial Decision at 3) From that and nothing more, he improperly concluded that a town with a population in that range is really a second class city; 3) the ALJ relied on N.J.S.A. 40A:70-2 which lists the various types of municipalities and bootstraps this listing to conclude that the term municipality "subsumes all of the various names taken by local government," and thus the legislature had no purpose for using the word "city" in N.J.S.A. 40:73-5; 4) the ALJ bolstered his expanded application of this provision by questioning at hearing whether respondents believed the legislature was concerned about lame duck appointments in second class cities but not in towns. In response to this – respondents offer – the short answer is that the legislature defines its concerns and has done so in this case in plain and unambiguous language. Utilizing the ALJ's leap of logic, N.J.S.A. 40:73-5 would also apply to first, third and fourth class cities along with townships, boroughs, villages, etc. (Id. at 6-7) Respondents conclude their arguments on this particular issue by re-emphasizing that the plain meaning of the words in the statute at issue here unequivocally demonstrate that its prohibitions were not intended to be applicable to Towns like West New York. (Id. at 9-10)

Respondents' second exception – i.e., that appointments in Type 1 School Districts like the Town of West New York are governed by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-7 and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-8, under which the appointments of both respondents are valid – may be summarized as follows. Preliminarily in this regard, respondents argue that the applicable statutory provisions do not prohibit appointments being made by a lame duck mayor. To the contrary, citing Cordasco v. Board of Education of the Town of West New York, 96 N.J.A.R. 2[d] (EDU) 661 which specifically dealt with this very issue, the ALJ in that case stated:

> Despite arguments engaged in by the parties dealing with their respective interpretations of related or collateral case law, the clear fact remains that the petitioner's appointment by [the outgoing mayor] was validly accomplished in strict compliance with the requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-7. The statute contains no condition or prohibition against being exercised by a lame-duck mayor. (emphasis added)

Respondents point out that such ruling was upheld by the Commissioner. (Respondents' Exceptions at 10-11)

With respect to the appointment of respondent, Alexander Locatelli, he was appointed by Mayor Vega – pursuant to a letter dated May 13, 2011 – to fill a vacancy, namely the unexpired term of Domingo Lopez. Mr. Locatelli's appointment is governed by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-7 which lists the requirements for such appointment, namely, 1) the vacancy must be reported to the mayor, and 2) the appointment of a qualified person is to be made by the mayor within 30 days thereafter. Respondents argue that Mayor Vega's appointment of Mr. Locatelli was in full compliance with the stated requirements of the statute and must be upheld. (Respondents' Exceptions at 11-12)

As to respondent Janet Passante, she was appointed by the outgoing Mayor on May 13, 2011 to a full five year term of office. N.J.S.A. 18A:12-8 – which initially governed her appointment – specifies that appointments to a full term of office are to be made between April 1 and April 15 for terms to begin on May 16. Although respondents concede that her appointment was made outside the statutory timeframe, they claim this was merely an "administrative oversight." They contend that case law dealing with the time periods specified in this statute is sparse. They, however, cite to Board of Education of the City of Orange, 233 N.J. Super. 242 (App. Div. 1989) for the proposition that this time period is unrelated to the outcome of municipal elections but, instead, was designed to conform to the schedule of school budget dates. Respondents argue that, nonetheless, on May 16, 2011 the Board position to which Mayor Vega intended to assign Ms. Passante became vacant, thus allowing this appointment to be made pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-7. The appointment of Ms. Passante, respondents posit – as was the case with Mr. Locatelli's – complied with the terms of this statute and must be permitted. (Id. at 12-13)

Upon his comprehensive review, the Commissioner agrees with the ALJ's ultimate conclusion that the appointments of both Alexander Locatelli and Janet Passante to the school board of West New York were improper and, consequently, these individuals must be immediately removed from the Board. In so concluding, however, the Commissioner rejects the ALJ's foundational premise of his recommendation, i.e., that the appointments are prohibited by N.J.S.A. 40:73-5. Rather, the Commissioner finds – for the reasons cogently presented by respondents in their exceptions – that this statutory provision, by its stated terms, applies solely to second class cities and, therefore, is not relevant to the Town of West New York.

It is noted that the record of this matter establishes the following uncontested facts:

- The Town of West New York operates under a Commission form of government

- West New York is a Type 1 School District where appointments to the board are made by the Mayor for a term of five years
- Municipal elections were held in West New York on May 10, 2011, and all incumbent commissioners, including Mayor Silverio Vega were defeated
- By letter dated May 13, 2011, Mayor Vega appointed Janet Passante to a full five year term, effective May 15, 2011
- By letter dated May 13, 2011, Mayor Vega also appointed Alexander Locatelli to fill the unexpired term of Domingo Lopez, who had resigned the previous day. This letter of appointment established an effective date of May 13, 2011
- On May 13, 2011 Alexander Locatelli was a sitting member of the West New York Board of Education whose term was due to expire on May 15, 2011
- The new Mayor took office on May 17, 2011

It is uncontroverted that board appointments in a Type 1 School District are covered by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-7 Boards; appointments; vacancies [addressing the handling of board vacancies] which, in pertinent part, specifies: "The boards of education shall be appointed by the mayor…of the municipality constituting the district. Any vacancy occurring in the membership of the board shall be reported forthwith by the secretary of the board to the mayor…, who shall within 30 days thereafter appoint a qualified person to fill the vacancy for the unexpired term," and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-8 When appointed; commencement of terms [addressing full term appointments] which, in pertinent part, specifies: "…the members of the board shall be appointed between April 1 and April 15 and their terms of office shall begin on May 16, next succeeding…"

The Commissioner determines that the appointments of respondents made by outgoing Mayor Vega on May 13, 2011 were violative of law and, therefore, void ab initio. Specifically, Janet Passante was appointed to a full five year term and, pursuant to the plain, unambiguous language of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-8, such appointment was required to be made between April 1 and April 15. As her appointment was clearly outside this requisite statutory period, it is invalid. (Orange Tp. Bd. of Educ. V. Brown, 233 N.J. Super. 242)[2] Similarly, the appointment of Alexander Locatelli – a sitting Board member on the appointment and effective date of May 13, 2011 – is also violative of the pertinent governing statute, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-7. As was pointed out in petitioners' exceptions, absent his resignation from his current board seat, it is an impossibility for an individual to occupy two board positions simultaneously (Georgia v. Suruda, supra.). Consequently, on May 13 Mr. Locatelli was not a "qualified person to fill the vacancy" pursuant to this statute. The Commissioner strongly disagrees with the ALJ's determination that the May 13th appointment was no more than a "minor" error which "self-corrected on May 15, 2011." (Initial Decision at 2) Rather, an appointment which is violative of law at its inception cannot "self-correct" by the passage of time no matter how short. At this point, however, the Commissioner is compelled to point out that if either or both of these appointments had been made by outgoing Mayor Vega on May 16, 2011, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-7, the results in this matter would have been altered.

Finally, the parties are hereby reminded that the fact that the two respondents were not legally able to serve on the Board subsequent to May 16, 2011 does not serve to nullify or invalidate any Board actions after that date on which these individuals voted. It is long-established law that – during this period – respondents were de facto board members "because they held office under color of a known election or appointment and their ineligibility was unknown to the public at the time they were seated." Maxine J. Pijeaux v. Board of Education of the City of Orange, Essex Co., 94 N.J.A.R. 2d 345, 346

Accordingly, the recommended decision of the OAL directing respondents immediate removal from the West New York Board of Education is adopted for its conclusion only. For the reasons detailed above, Janet Passante and Alexander Locatelli are hereby removed as board members of the West New York Board of Education.

DR. FELIX ROQUE, INDIVIDUALLY AND AS MAYOR OF THE TOWN OF WEST NEW YORK, HUDSON COUNTY,

Gerald L. Dorf, Esq., for respondents (Dorf & Dorf, attorneys)

BEFORE SOLOMON A. METZGER, ALJ t/a:

This matter arises out of a petition and motion for emergent relief filed with the Commissioner of Education on July 14, 2011, by Dr. Felix Roque, the current Mayor of West New York, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9. He seeks to oust respondents from their appointment to the school board, made in the last days of the prior administration. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to – 23. Briefs were submitted, and oral argument was heard on August 11, 2011. This opinion follows.

The facts for purposes of the motion are undisputed. The Town of West New York operates under a Commission form of government. Municipal elections were held on May 10, 2011, and all incumbent commissioners, including Mayor Silverio Vega were defeated. During this time period the Board of Education had five members and appointments were made by the Mayor for a term of five years. On May 13, 2011, Mayor Vega appointed respondent Janet Passante to a full term, effective May 15, 2011. On May 13, 2011, Mayor Vega also appointed respondent Alex Locatelli to fill the unexpired term of Domingo Lopez, who resigned the day before. The letter of appointment establishes an effective date of May 13, 2011. The new Mayor took office on May 17, 2011. This is the substance of the record.

The parties agree that they are governed by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-7 & 8. As relevant here these sections provide that board members be appointed between April 1, and April 15 to terms that commence on May 16. Board vacancies are to be filled to the unexpired term of the departing member within thirty days. Janet Passante was appointed to a full term on May 13, 2011, which is plainly outside the statutory time frame, see, Orange Tp. Bd. Of Educ. V. Brown, 233 N.J. Super. 242, (App. Div. 1989).

Mayor Vega's appointment of Mr. Locatelli to fill an unexpired term poses different questions. It appears that on May 13, 2011, Mr. Locatelli was already serving on the school board, filling an unexpired term that was to end May 15, 2011. Petitioner argues that there is in this an inherent conflict of interest that permanently taints the appointment, see, City of Wildwood v. DeMarzo, 412 N.J. Super.105, (App. Div. 2010). Respondents regard this as a small oversight. Had anyone attached import to the issue, Mr. Locatelli could have resigned the seat that was about to expire in favor of the seat held by Mr. Lopez, the term of which extends to May 2015. I agree the error is minor and that the situation self-corrected on May 15, 2011, when Mr. Locatelli's earlier term expired. Apparently the Board did no business during this overlap and I would not unseat an appointee on the strength of this argument.

Petitioner argues also that N.J.S.A. 40:73-5 prohibits both appointments outright. The section, which applies to Commission forms of government, makes unlawful appointments between the first and third Tuesday in May of an election year. Mayor Vega's May 13, 2011 appointment of Mr. Locatelli falls within this period. No conflict arises in this instance between N.J.S.A. 40:73-5 and N.J.S.A. 18A-12-7 because there was ample time for the new mayor to name a replacement. Respondents argue; however, that the section by its terms applies to cities of the second class, and West New York is not a city of the second class. There are no certifications as to the population of West New York, but counsel for petitioner represents it as 49,708 souls, according to the 2010 census. N.J.S.A. 40A:6-4 classifies for legislative purposes cities of the second class as having between 12,000 and 150,000 people. I see no disagreement with the population figure in any of the arguments presented by respondents. Thus, the only basis of disagreement seems to be that West New York is a town, not a city.

The Walsh Act, or Commission form of government, came into being in New Jersey in 1911 and its dips and turns are many, Grogan v. DeSapio, 11 N.J. 308 (1953). Briefs, hurriedly prepared, do not develop the issue at any depth. Nonetheless, it appears the point belongs to petitioner. Respondents do not suggest that West New York fails the population test for cities of the second class. They say simply that it is in name a town. This is not a substantive distinction and is of a type that has long been rejected, Schwartz v. Wachlin, 89 N.J.L. 39 (1916). The term municipality subsumes all of the various names taken by local governments, N.J.S.A. 40:70-2, and nothing in the arguments presented suggests any specialized abstruse purpose for the use of the word "city" in N.J.S.A. 40:73-5.

The moving party in a motion seeking emergent relief must establish; irreparable harm, that the law is settled, a likelihood of success on the merits, and on balance that the equities favor the action sought, Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982); N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6. To allow improperly appointed members to sit casts doubt on decisions taken and generally undermines public trust. Thus, the standard is met.

Based on the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that the Passante/Locatelli appointments were improper and that they be removed from the local school board. There appearing to be no additional issues of fact or law, the matter is being resolved in the form of an initial decision.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." K.N. on behalf of minor child A.N.,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE MAINLAND REGIONAL SCHOOL DISTRICT, ATLANTIC COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner appealed the determination of the respondent Board that her child, A.N., was not eligible for a free public education in the Mainland Regional School District during the 2010-2011 school year. The petitioner asserted that she and A.N. have been living at various addresses in Northfield – which is located within respondent's district – since she separated from her husband in 2006, and she has not established a permanent address because of continuing financial difficulties. Petitioner maintained that she and A.N. lived primarily with her sister in Northfield during the 2010-2011 school year, but sometimes stayed at the home of petitioner's parents in Ventnor. The Board contends that petitioner and her daughter were not domiciled within the district, and demanded reimbursement for tuition.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: based upon the credible evidence presented by the Board at the OAL hearing, petitioner and her daughter were not domiciled in the Mainland Regional district during the 2010-2011 school year, as they resided primarily in Ventnor with petitioner's parents; petitioner and her family, however, were homeless under New Jersey school law; and, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12(c), tuition for homeless students must be paid by the last district of residence for up to one year. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that the Board is not entitled to tuition reimbursement as the petitioner's last residence before becoming homeless was in Northfield.

Upon a full and independent review, the Commissioner found that petitioner and her daughter were homeless during the 2010-2011 school year. Thus, neither resolution of the factual dispute regarding exactly where they were residing during that period nor an analysis of their "domicile" during the 2010-2011 school year was necessary for the disposition of this controversy. Accordingly, the Commissioner reversed the Board's residency determination and concluded that no tuition is due from petitioner for the 2010-2011 school year.

K.N. on behalf of minor child A.N.,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE MAINLAND REGIONAL SCHOOL DISTRICT, ATLANTIC COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

This matter was initiated by a pro se petition challenging respondent's determination that A.N., petitioner's minor child, was ineligible to receive a free public education in respondent's district for the 2010-2011 school year. Although the petition lacks a specific request for relief and the file does not contain a transcript of the proceedings, the Commissioner concludes that petitioner seeks an order finding that respondent was responsible for A.N.'s education during the 2010-2011 school year. Upon review of the record and Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL),[1] the Commissioner finds that such an order is appropriate and modifies the decision of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) as follows.

The facts below are undisputed. In August 2006 – in consequence of a marital separation – petitioner and her two children[2] commenced residence with petitioner's sister in Northfield, a jurisdiction within respondent's school district. In December 2008 petitioner moved from her sister's residence to an apartment in Northfield, where she and her children remained until June 1, 2009. On or about that date petitioner was constrained to vacate the apartment for lack of funds, and return to her sister's Northfield residence. On November 1, 2009, petitioner and her children moved into another apartment in Northfield, but once again had to vacate same for lack of funds – in or about April 2010. Thus, it is established that from August 2006 through at least April 2010 petitioner and A.N. lived in Northfield.

[1] Neither party filed exceptions.

[2] This controversy concerns the younger of petitioner's two children, the older having completed high school prior to the 2010-2011 school year.

The factual dispute presented to the ALJ at the OAL related to where petitioner and A.N. resided after April 2010. Petitioner maintained that they returned to the home of her sister in Northfield. Respondent contended that surveillance by a third party investigator established that between November 30, 2010 and April 6, 2011, petitioner and A.N. lived with petitioner's parents in Ventnor – part of the Atlantic City High School District.

The Commissioner finds that resolution of the latter factual dispute is not necessary for the disposition of this controversy. Whether petitioner and A.N. were living with the sister in Northfield or the parents in Ventnor – or both – from November 30, 2010 through April 6, 2011 (the period of surveillance ordered by respondent), the fact remains that they were homeless during that period, i.e., they "temporarily lack[ed] a fixed, regular and adequate residence," N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12(c). As such, their district of residence was "the district in which the parent or guardian last resided prior to becoming homeless." Ibid. See, also, N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(f). That district was the respondent's district, since petitioner and A.N. had resided in a Northfield apartment before their return to living with relatives in 2010.[3]

In light of the foregoing, no tuition is due from petitioner for the 2010-2011 school year. The Commissioner makes no findings about the current school year, to which – depending upon facts not before the Commissioner – N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(d) may apply. As the ALJ noted, the pleadings did not raise that issue.

[3] As the petitioner was homeless, the issue of domicile does not come into play for the school year in question.

Accordingly, the petition is granted and respondent's determination that A.N. was ineligible for a free education in its district for the 2010-2011 school year is reversed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[4]

Mainland contends that petitioner's daughter did not properly reside in the District pursuant to school law and, therefore, must reimburse the District for tuition. For the reasons discussed below, the relief sought by petitioner is DENIED. Petitioner was not a domiciled in the Mainland district for the 2010-2011 school year. However, petitioner was homeless; therefore tuition is not awarded.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The petitioner requested a fair hearing and the matter was filed at the OAL on May 26, 2011, to be heard as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to 15 and 14F-1 to 13. The matter was heard on July 21, 2011, and the record closed.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Petitioner K.N. is the mother of A.N. A.N. was a student at Mainland High School for the 2010-2011 school year. Mainland seeks tuition from petitioner for A.N. for the 2010-2011 school year. K.N. also has a son, C.N. C.N. graduated from Mainland High School prior to the 2010-2011 school year. No action for tuition is pending for C.N. K.N. separated from her husband, T.N. in 2006.

K.N.'s separation from her husband in 2006 caused significant financial distress. Her living arrangements and employment subsequent to the separation have been chaotic.

From 2006 through 2008 petitioner stayed with her sister, B.M., at 104 [C.] Court in Northfield. Petitioner's daughter, A.N., and son, C.N., resided there as well. From 2006 through 2008 petitioner's daughter, A.N. attended the Northfield Middle School for grades seven and eight. Her son, C.N., attended Mainland Regional High School for grades nine through twelve. The Mainland Regional District encompasses Northfield, Linwood and Somers Point.

Petitioner became tired of residing with her sister in 2008. Everyone was getting on each the other's nerves. On October 16, 2008, petitioner entered into a lease for property known as 7 [J.L.] Drive, Northfield, New Jersey. The lease term was from December 1, 2008, through November 30, 2009 (P-1:7). Due to lack of adequate income, petitioner was unable to stay for the full lease term. She voluntarily vacated the property on or around June 1, 2009. She moved back in with her sister at 104 [C.] Court in Northfield, from June 1, 2009, through October 20, 2009.

In 2009 petitioner believed she had adequate income to again rent her own property. Petitioner entered into a lease for 4 St. [A.] Drive, Northfield. The lease term was from November 1, 2009, through October 31, 2010 (P-1:33). Again petitioner could not afford to stay for the full lease term. She vacated the 4 St. [A.] Drive property in April 2010. Petitioner asserts that she moved back in with her sister at 104 [C.] Court, Northfield, for the period April 2010 to present (encompassing the 2010-2011 year at issue).

Petitioner informed the Mainland Board of Education that she was separated and experiencing financial difficulties prior to the 2010-2011 school year. Mainland made accommodations for petitioner. Petitioner's son, C.N., was permitted to attend the Mainland Regional High School while petitioner sought to regain income and re-establish housing. Mainland believed that petitioner was staying with her sister in Northfield. Therefore, petitioner's son, C.N., attended Mainland Regional High School for four years. C.N. graduated and now attends college.

Mainland provided accommodations to petitioner's daughter, A.N. However, during the 2010-2011 school year, Mainland became suspicious that petitioner and/or her daughter were not residing at the sister's home in Northfield. Mainland hired an investigator to conduct a surveillance at the sister's home, as well as at the home of petitioner's parents. The parent's home was located at 512 [S.] Avenue, Ventnor, New Jersey. Ventnor is part of the Atlantic City High School district.

On Tuesday, November 30, 2010, the investigator arrived at the Ventnor address at 5:30 a.m. Initial observations were noted, including those individuals active around the property and the types of vehicles situated at or near the property. At 7:26 a.m., a teenage female was observed leaving the home with a backpack. The female walked a dog for several minutes and went back into the home. At 7:29 a.m., petitioner and her daughter were observed leaving the home. They entered a vehicle and proceeded through Margate, over the Margate Bridge, and on to Mainland Regional High School. They arrived at the Mainland High School at 7:52 p.m. Various photographs were taken of petitioner and her daughter on this date (R-1).

On Thursday, December 2, 2010, the investigator arrived at the same Ventnor address at 6:02 a.m. Initial assessments and observations were noted. A black PT Cruiser was noted outside the property. At 7:26 a.m., petitioner was observed walking a dog around the property. At 7:30 a.m., petitioner and her daughter were observed getting into the black PT Cruiser. They proceeded through Ventnor and Margate, over the Margate Bridge, and arrived and Mainland High School at 7:50 p.m. Various photographs were taken during this period (R-1).

On Tuesday, January 25, 2011, the investigator arrived at the Ventnor property at 6:00 a.m. Initial observations and notations were made. At 7:25 a.m., petitioner's daughter was observed leaving the home with a backpack. She walked a dog for a few minutes and went back into the home. Petitioner and her daughter exited the home and entered a yellow Ford at 7:28 a.m. They proceeded through Ventnor and Margate, went over the Margate Bridge, and arrived at the Mainland High School at 7:49 a.m. Again, photographs of petitioner's activities were obtained (P-1).

On Wednesday, January 26, 2011, the investigator arrived at the Ventnor property at approximately 6:00 a.m. Initial notations and assessments were made. At 7:26 a.m., petitioner and her daughter left the property in a yellow Ford. They went over the Margate Bridge at approximately 7:38 a.m. and arrived at the Mainland High School at approximately 7:52 a.m. Photographs of petitioner and her daughter were also obtained on this date (P-1).

On Monday, April 4, 2011, the investigator conducted a surveillance at the 104 [C.] Court property in Northfield, owned by petitioner's sister. The investigator arrived at the property at approximately 6:04 a.m. There were no familiar vehicles, including the yellow Ford or black PT Cruiser. At approximately 8:07 a.m., a female who appeared to be in her 40s exited the residence. She had dark hair. It was not petitioner. There was no student with her. The investigator remained at the Northfield property until 8:27 a.m. At no time during the surveillance period was a high school aged female transported from the Northfield property to Mainland Regional High School.

On Wednesday, April 6, 2011, the investigator again engaged in surveillance at the property at 104 [C.] Court, Northfield. He arrived at the property at approximately 6:08 a.m. Initial assessments were made. There were no familiar vehicles. At approximately 7:48 a.m., an unidentified male exited the property. He was removing trash from the home. The investigator remained at the property until 8:26 a.m. Neither petitioner nor her daughter were observed leaving the property or transported to the Mainland Regional High School.

Petitioner asserts that she resides and is domiciled at her sister's house at 104 [C.] Court in Northfield. Petitioner testified that she is at her sister's house the majority of the time. She also indicated that the majority of her belongings were at her sister's house. Evidence supporting petitioner's (Northfield) domicile claim include her driver's license, various bills and statements, tax returns, medical insurance statements, real estate license, and other miscellaneous and sundry items that contain the 104 [C.] Court address in Northfield. (P-1).

Petitioner's sister, B.M., testified. B.M. confirmed that her sister did reside with her at the 104 [C.] Court address for 2010-2011. B.M. was emphatic that sisters should take care of each other. Petitioner is in a time of need and B.M.'s house remains open to her sister whenever needed. B.M. has adequate resources. She has a six bedroom home and most of her children live outside the home. She has adequate living space for her sister and her children.

However, B.M.'s testimony noticeably differed from that of petitioner. B.M. confirmed that petitioner stays at her home only three or four days per week and resides at her parent's house in Ventnor approximately three days per week. Petitioner freely comes and goes with no particular certainty or schedule. The majority of petitioner's belongings are at her parent's home in Ventnor. This holds true for petitioner's daughter, A.N., as well. There is no formal arrangement, lease or other obligation tying petitioner to her sister's home in Northfield. No such agreement is necessary between sisters.

CONCLUSIONS

Petitioner filed a residency appeal contending that she and her daughter, A.N., were domiciled in Northfield for 2010-2011. Northfield is part of the Mainland school district. The district's investigation suggests that petitioner and her daughter were residing in Ventnor at least on school days for 2010-2011.

Public schools shall be free to persons over five and under 20 who are domiciled within the school district. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1. Domicile is the place of a person's abode where he or she has the present intention of remaining and to which, if absent, he intends to return. Mercadante v. City of Patterson, 111 N.J. Super. 35, 39 (Ch. Div. 1970), aff'd, 58 N.J. 112 (1971). A person may have multiple residences, but may have only one true or legal domicile. State v. Benny, 20 N.J. 238, 251 (1955). If there are several residences, domicile is that place which the person regards as his or her true and permanent home. In re Jaffe, 74 N.J. 86, 90-91 (1977). A domicile, once established, continues until it is superseded by a new one. In re Estate of Gillmore, 101 N.J. Super. 77, 87 (App. Div. 1968), certif. denied, 52 N.J. 175 (1968). The question of domicile is one of fact and must be determined on a case by case basis. Lea v. Lea, 18 N.J. 1, 7 (1955).

Some of the more important factors in determining the domicile of a person who has more than one residence are:

(1) The physical characteristics of each [residence],

(2) the time spent and the things done in each place,

(3) the other persons found there,

(4) the person's mental attitude toward each place, and

(5) whether there is or is not an intention, when absent, to return.

Mercadante, supra, 111 N.J. Super. at 39-40.

In the Matter of Unanue, 255 N.J. Super. 362 (Law Div. 1991), the court stated that it is "clear...that a choice of domicile by a person, irrespective of his motive, will be honored by the court, provided there are sufficient objective indicia, by way of proofs, supporting the actual existence of that domicile." Id. at 376. Persuasive evidence of actual domicile may include:

> Recitals as to domicile in a will, trust, tax return or other formal document, as well as statements to others as to domicile, are evidential of the actual domicile. But they are not all conclusive. They are of value evidentially to the extent that they are not intended to deceive and other proofs support such domicile. Id. at 377.

Intent is the decisive factor in establishing a domicile. It is the manifestation of a person's intent that converts a residence from a mere place in which a person lives to a domicile. State v. Benny, 20 N.J. supra, at 251. In the event a person divides her time between two places where she lives, it is her intention that makes one or the other her domicile. Ibid. A person's true intent is determined by the acts, statements and conduct of the individual as viewed in light of all the circumstances. Collins v. Yancey, 55 N.J. Super. 514 (Law Div. 1959).

Petitioner's conduct is dispositive of her intent. Petitioner and her daughter were confirmed leaving at the Ventnor home on four random occasions, early in the morning during the 2010-2011 year. They arrived at Mainland High School each time. Petitioner and A.N. were not at her sister's home in Northfield on two random occasions during the 2010-2011 year. The investigator performed a total of six random home visits, each on a school day. His findings, on a statistical basis, reveal that petitioner and her daughter were residing at petitioner's parents home in Ventnor. This data was reliable and the investigator's testimony was credible. His testimony was supported by photographs. Petitioner and B.M. confirmed that petitioner and A.N. stay with K.N.'s parents in Ventnor. Petitioner downplayed the amount of time she spent at her parents to one to two days per month. But the witnesses were sequestered and B.M. indicated that petitioner stays at her parents two to three time per week. According to B.M., the majority of their belongings (petitioner's and A.N.'s) are at the parents' home in Ventnor.

The record suggests that petitioner uses her sister's home as a residence for weekends, as well as for mail, bills and the like. But school days are spent at the Ventnor location. Petitioner admitted she uses her father's car (yellow Ford). Petitioner did not have her own vehicle most of the 2010-2011 school year. The Ventnor home has three bedrooms, sufficient space for petitioner and A.N. Petitioner's brother lives next door to his parents. Petitioner's daughter babysits for petitioner's brother in Ventnor. There is a broader family connection in Ventnor. These factors adequately establish that petitioner was domiciled in Ventnor for the 2010-2011 school year. There was a nexus between petitioner and A.N. living at the Ventnor and A.N. going to school. I am mindful that many of petitioner's records contain her sisters address in Northfield. But petitioner's 2010-2011 actions, conduct, and behavior outweigh the Northfield address on her license and tax returns in terms if domicile under school law.

I CONCLUDE that petitioner and her daughter A.N. were domiciled in Ventnor for the 2010-2011 school year.

TUITION REIMBURSEMENT AND HOMELESSNESS

Mainland seeks tuition reimbursement in the amount of $12,348 for the 2010-2011 school year. (R-2). I CONCLUDE that petitioner does not owe tuition for the 2010-2011 school year.

This record indisputably established that petitioner is experiencing financial problems. She is a realtor working in an extraordinarily poor economy and is separated. She has no home of her own. She is living between the homes of her parents and sister. This is not a tuition subterfuge case. Petitioner vacated two leased properties due to the lack of income. She has moved between the leased properties, her sister's home and her parent's home during the last two years.

A homeless child is one who lacks a fixed, regular and adequate residence. N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12; N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.3. If the child is determined to homeless, the district where the parent or guardian last resided shall be the district of residence. N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12(c).

N.J.S.A. 6A:17-2.3(a) sets forth several factors to be used in determining homelessness. One such factor is when the family resides with "relatives or friends with whom the homeless child is temporarily residing out of necessity because the family lacks a regular or permanent residence of its own." N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.3(a)3. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(d) sets forth the criteria for determining eligibility for a free public education when a child is homeless. The statute states, in part:

> d. Any person whose parent or guardian, even though not domiciled within the district, is residing temporarily therein, but any person who has had or shall have his all-year-round dwelling place within the district for one year or longer shall be deemed to be domiciled within the district for the purposes of this section;

Here, petitioner had no fixed or permanent home of her own in 2010-2011. She lived between her sister's home in Northfield and her parents' home in Ventnor. Indeed petitioner's last fixed and regular residence was in Northfield in 2009. Petitioner leased property at 4 St. [A.] Drive, Northfield on November 1, 2009, and vacated it in April 2010. Petitioner was a continuous Northfield resident for several years prior to 2009 as is evident from prior leases and temporary arrangements with her sister. As a homeless family in 2010-2011 tuition must be paid by the last district of residence for one up to one year. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(d); N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12(c). In this instance Northfield was the last district of residence.

This resolves petitioner's residency appeal as well as Mainland's claim for tuition for the 2010-2011 school year. The issue of A.N.'s high school arrangements for the 2011-2012 is not before me. She will be a senior. Ventnor City is in the Atlantic City High School district. A.N. may seek to attend Atlantic City or Mainland if she meets the residency/domicile requirements or homeless standards for the 2011-2012 school year. In the event a contested case ensues the Atlantic City and Mainland districts should be placed on notice with the right to intervene.

ORDER

I ORDER that petitioner was domiciled in Ventnor under school law, for the 2010-2011 school year. I further ORDER that Mainland is not entitled to tuition reimbursement from petitioner as the family was homeless under school law, for the 2010-2011 school year. Petitioner's last residence before becoming homeless was in Northfield which is already part of the Mainland district.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner appealed the termination of her employment as a secretary in respondent Board's district as the result of a reduction in force (RIF). Petitioner was hired by the district as a secretary on August 13, 2007, and was employed under annual contracts for the 2007-2008, 2008-2009, and 2009-2010 school years. Her annual contract was renewed again for the 2010-2011 school year, but petitioner was notified by letter on July 21, 3010 that her employment would be terminated under the 30 day notice provision in her contract, effective August 26, 2010. She was further informed that her termination was part of a reduction in force (RIF) and that she was not to report to work subsequent to the date of the letter, July 21, 2010. Petitioner contended that she had acquired tenure in her position and had been improperly terminated. The Board filed a motion for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue in this matter, and the case is ripe for summary decision; the central issue is whether petitioner acquired tenure as a secretary under N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2, considering that the Board passed a resolution stating that petitioner's employment was being terminated effective August 26, 2010, but notified her on July 21, 2010 of the termination and directed her not to report to work after July 21, 2010; petitioner followed the directive not to report to work and did not perform any services for the Board after July 21, 2010; the Board effectively dismissed petitioner on July 21, 2010 and merely paid her through August 26, 2010 in accordance with the 30 day notice provision in her contract; petitioner did not work beyond July 21, 2010 and therefore did not satisfy the requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2(b)(1). Accordingly, petitioner did not acquire tenure in her position and has no claim to employment based upon tenure rights. The ALJ ordered the petition dismissed.

The Commissioner concurred with the ALJ, and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Petitioner's exceptions and the Board's reply thereto – filed in accordance with the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 – were fully considered by the Commissioner in reaching his determination herein.

Petitioner's exceptions essentially recast and reiterate her arguments advanced before the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) below. Because it is determined that such arguments were fully considered and addressed by the ALJ in his decision, they will not be revisited here.

Upon full review and deliberation, the Commissioner finds and concludes that summary decision is appropriately granted to the Board. For the reasons cogently presented by the ALJ on pages 4-10 of his decision, the Commissioner concurs that petitioner did not acquire tenure as a secretary because she did not satisfy the requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2 in that she did not serve as a secretary in the district for three consecutive calendar years.

Accordingly, the recommended decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter and the instant petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

BEFORE JOHN R. FUTEY, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This is an Initial decision issued relative to a summary decision motion filed by respondent, the Board of Education of the Township of Clinton (hereinafter " Clinton"). The matter was originally transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law as a contested case on October 20, 2010 under the provisions of N.J.S.A. 52:14B -1 through 15 and N.J.S.A. 14F – 1 through 13. A response to the motion was submitted by petitioner, Maureen Miller (hereinafter "Miller"), and a reply brief thereto was received from Clinton, as a result of which oral argument was heard on May 3, 2011. At that time, certain legal concerns at the hearing were further identified which required additional research. Upon completion of those issues, the matter closed for purposes of the instant motion on July 25, 2011. Further, based upon that analysis, an initial decision is being rendered since it is dispositive of all the relevant issues raised by the transmittal in this matter.

The essential issue is whether petitioner Miller, who was hired as a secretary with respondent Clinton on August 13, 2007, acquired tenure under N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2 due to the fact that Clinton passed a resolution stating that Miller's employment would be terminated effective August 26, 2010, even though Clinton notified her on July 21, 2010, that she would be terminated and directed her not to report to work after July 21, 2010, a direction which she followed. A determination of her entitlement to tenure will dictate whether or not she retains any employment rights relative to the instant matter.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

After having considered all of the evidence presented and the arguments advanced regarding the threshold issue in this matter, the following constitute the relevant facts adduced from both sides herein. This matter arises from petitioner Miller's appeal of respondent Clinton's decision to terminate her employment as a secretary with Clinton. On August 13, 2007, Miller began her employment as a secretary with Clinton. See Petition of Appeal, ¶ 1. Clinton renewed Miller's employment contract for the 2008-2009, 2009-2010, and 2010-2011 school years. (J-5). However, on July 21, 2010, the Superintendent of Schools for Clinton, Kevin J. Carroll, wrote a letter to Miller stating that "I am recommending to the Board of Education at its meeting on July 26, 2010 that your employment be terminated, subject to the 30-day provision in your contract. As we discussed, there has been a need to reduce support staff for reasons of economy." See Carroll Cert., Exhibit A. The notice also stated that "you are not to report to work after today (July 21, 2010)" and

"[a]ssuming that the Board accepts my recommendation, your last day of employment will be August 26, 2010, and you will continue to receive salary and benefits through that date." Ibid. On July 26, 2010, Clinton passed a resolution "terminat[ing] the employment of Maureen Miller effective August 26, 2010." (J-1). Miller did not report to work or perform any services for Clinton after July 21, 2010. See Carroll Cert., ¶ 4.

LEGAL DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

The tenure of secretarial employees of school districts is governed by N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2. Under that provision, a secretary shall hold her/his position under tenure after either "[t]he expiration of a period of employment of three consecutive calendar years in the district or such shorter period as may by fixed" by the employing school district or "[e]mployment for three consecutive academic years, together with employment at the beginning of the next succeeding academic year, an academic year being the period between the time when school opens in the district after the general summer vacation and the beginning of the next succeeding summer vacation."[i] Ibid. A secretary must meet the precise conditions of N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2 in order to acquire tenure. Given v. Bd. of Educ. of the East Windsor Reg'l Sch. Dist., 1978 S.L.D. 43.

The pleadings submitted and the oral argument received with reference to the instant motion center squarely upon whether or not Clinton acted appropriately in causing the denial of tenure for Miller. This being soley an issue of law, it is appropriate for summary disposition. Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520, 529 (1995). The inquiry is "whether the evidence presents a sufficient disagreement to require submission to [a fact finder] or whether it is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law. Liberty Surplus Insurance Corp., Inc. v. Nowell Amoroso, P.A., 189 N.J. 436 (2007). For the reasons stated hereinafter, I FIND that Clinton's motion for summary decision should be granted on the issue of whether Miller acquired tenure as a secretary because Miller did not satisfy the requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2. Moreover, I also FIND that leave of absence principles are inapplicable here.

[i] The New Jersey Supreme Court has interpreted "calendar year" in a similar statutory provision, N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5. as "compris[ing] any period of 365 days or 12 calendar months." Bd. of Educ. of Twp. of Manchester v. Raubinger, 78 N.J. 90, 99-100 (1963).

Clinton appropriately relies on Canfield v. Bd. of Educ. of the Bor. of Pine Hill, 51 N.J. 400 (1968), for the proposition that Miller did not acquire tenure in her secretarial position. In Canfield, the Supreme Court reversed the judgment of the Appellate Division in Canfield v. Bd. of Educ. of the Bor. of Pine Hill, 97 N.J. Super. 483 (App. Div. 1967) and instead adopted the dissenting opinion of Judge Gaulkin of the Appellate Division. In Canfield, Pine Hill appealed the decision of the State Board of Education granting tenure to a teacher, Gladys Canfield. Canfield, supra, 97 N.J. Super. at 485. Ms. Canfield had been employed by Pine Hill under four one-year contracts. Ibid. The first contract provided that her employment began on November 19, 1962. Ibid. The fourth and final contract provided for her employment from September 1, 1965, to June 30, 1966, and included a mutual clause for termination based on 60 days' notice to the other party. Ibid. On November 15, 1965, Pine Hill notified Ms. Canfield that Pine Hill was "terminating your teaching contract, to take effect immediately, with this District, giving you two months pay." Ibid. As the Appellate Division explained, Pine Hill did not dispute that because Ms. Canfield's "employment began on November 19, 1962, 'employment on November 20, 1965 would provide for her the equivalent of more than three academic years within the period of four consecutive academic years beginning with the 1962-1963 academic year" under the tenure statute, but instead argued that Ms. Canfield did not acquire tenure because her employment effectively ended on November 15, 1965, the date on which Pine Hill provided Ms. Canfield with 60 days' notice pursuant to her contract and five days before she would have acquired tenure if she had remained in Pine Hill's employ. Id. at 486. The Appellate Division affirmed the State Board's decision and determined that Ms. Canfield had acquired tenure, finding that Ms. Canfield's employment did not end on November 15, 1965, but instead 60 days from that date on which she received her termination notice, and that as such, Ms. Canfield was still employed and acquired tenure on November 20, 1965. Ibid. According to the Appellate Division,

> The notice served by the Pine Hill board on November 15, 1965 "terminating [petitioner's] teaching contract, to take effect immediately," clearly was ineffective to that end in face of the express contract provision permitting its termination only on 60-days' prior notice. There is no > suggestion or claim that there is any authority for terminating the contract other than the reserved right to terminate. To exercise that right on November 15, 1965 required service of notice of termination at least 60 days prior thereto.

> [Id. at 487.]

However, in his dissent, Judge Gaulkin, disagreed with the majority's reasoning:

> It seems to me that tenure and contract are two different concepts; tenure is statutory and arises only by passage of the time fixed by the statute, and the discharge of an employee before the passage of the required time bars tenure, even if the discharge is in breach of an employment contract which, if not breached, would have extended to a date which would have given tenure . . .
> I contend that the contract was properly cancelled (subject to plaintiff's right to 60 days' salary) when the notice of cancellation was given but, even if the contract did not become legally terminated until 60 days after the notice of dismissal, the notice itself barred tenure.
>
> Finally, I find nothing in the contract which justifies the conclusion reached by my Brothers that the dismissal was not effective on the date the notice of dismissal was given. If this were a dispute arising out of the breach of the contract itself in which the question of the date of termination of the contract became important, it might be held that the termination was not effective until 60 days after the notice of dismissal was given . . .
>
> But here we are concerned not with the contract or its breach, but with the status of the plaintiff - - i.e., tenure. It seems to me that the dismissal immediately stopped the running of the time to tenure.

While Canfield addressed a teacher's claim for tenure, and before me is a secretary's claim for tenure, the same principles enunciated by Judge Gaulkin apply. In particular, as Judge Gaulkin concluded in Canfield, "[t]he contract was properly cancelled (subject to plaintiff's right to 60 days' salary) when the notice of cancellation was given but, even if the contract did not become legally terminated until 60 days after the notice of dismissal, the notice itself barred tenure." Thus, Judge Gaulkin determined that the notice effectively barred Canfield from acquiring tenure. Here, as in Canfield, Clinton, through the letter from Superintendent Carroll, provided Miller with timely and unequivocally clear notice that she was going to be dismissed. She was told not to report to work after July 21, 2010, and in fact, she did not work after July 21, 2010. While Clinton passed a resolution on July 26, 2010, "terminat[ing] the employment of Maureen Miller effective August 26, 2010," Miller was timely notified of her dismissal on July 21, 2010 and did not work thereafter. That Clinton paid Miller through August 26, 2010 in accordance with her contract does not change the conclusion that, under Judge Gaulkin's reasoning, "the notice itself barred tenure." Thus, Miller could not have acquired tenure because she did not serve as a secretary for three consecutive calendar years.[ii]

Miller improperly relies on McGlynn v. Bd. of Educ. of the Twp. of Lumberton, 1972 S.L.D. 28, and Emmett v. Bd. of Educ. of the Twp. of Gloucester, EDU 2379-05, Initial Decision (October 27, 2005), rejected, Comm'r. (December 6, 2005) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal.search.html>, for her argument that she acquired tenure as a secretary. In McGlynn, the Commissioner held that McGlynn, a superintendent who had been promoted from his tenured position as principal, had acquired tenure as a superintendent under N.J.S.A. 18A:28-6 because he served as superintendent until after the "expiration of a period of employment of two consecutive calendar years in the new position" as then provided by the statute.[iii] Id. at 33. Under the facts of that case, McGlynn was employed as a superintendent by Gloucester under two one-year contracts, the first of which ran from July 1969 to June 30, 1970, and the second of which ran from July 1970 to June 30, 1971. Id. at 29. In April 1971, Gloucester notified McGlynn that he would not be offered a new contract for the 1971-1972 school year. However, McGlynn worked as superintendent until the end of the day on June 30, 1971. While Gloucester argued that the April notice effectively barred [ii] Moreover, Miller's 2010-2011 contract provides that "[i]t is hereby agreed by the parties hereto that this contract may at any time be terminated by either party giving to the other 30 days' notice in writing of intention to terminate the same." Thus, despite the wording of Clinton's July 26, 2010, resolution, the July 21, 2010, letter from Superintendent Carroll arguably terminated Miller's employment by providing her with 30 days' written notice in accordance with her contract. Either way, Clinton provided Miller with notice barred Miller's acquisition of tenure.

[iii] In 1991, the Legislature passed and Governor James Florio signed into law an act "concerning certain supervisory personnel in local school districts, amending N.J.S.A. 18A:17-15, N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5, and supplementing Title 18A of the New Jersey Statutes." L. 1991, c. 267. While that act replaced lifetime tenure with contract tenure for superintendents, N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20.4, which is part of that act, states that "[a] superintendent of McGlynn from acquiring tenure as a supervisor, the Commissioner found that "[t]he day of June 30 [1971] marked 'the expiration of a period of employment of two consecutive calendar years in the new position' that [McGlynn] held," and that McGlynn had acquired tenure by serving as superintendent through that date. Id. at 33. In reaching this conclusion, the Commissioner relied on Judge Gaulkin's opinion in Canfield, supra, and explained that:

> [Gloucester] could have removed [McGlynn] from the performance of his duties as Superintendent at any time prior to June 30, 1971, and thus barred a new tenure status for him, even though the contract was in full force and effect, if it had chosen to do so. Under such circumstances, [Gloucester] would have been obligated to pay [McGlynn's] salary according to the contracts terms, but [McGlynn's] service as Superintendent would have ceased and he would not have acquired a new tenure status. As Justice Gaulkin said, 'such a (discharge) before the "passage of the required time"' would have barred the new tenure right.
> However . . . [Gloucester] did not discharge petitioner from the performance of his duties. Tenure therefore accrued at the expiration of a period of two calendar years, and [Gloucester's] letter of April 27, 1971, in which it stated that [McGlynn] would 'not be offered' a contract for the 1971-1972 school year is of no effect.

Here, unlike in McGlynn, Clinton actually removed Miller from her position prior to the date on which she would have acquired tenure and she thus did not perform her duties for the required period under N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2. Thus, unlike in McGlynn, but consistent with Canfield, such a discharge barred Miller's right to tenure.

In Emmett, a secretary was employed by Gloucester under various contracts from January 1, 2002 to June 30, 2002; July 1, 2002 to June 30, 2003; July 1, 2003 to June 30, 2004; and July 1, 2004 to June 30, 2005. According to the facts found by Judge John Schuster III, "[o]n December 13, 2004, [Gloucester] adopted a resolution terminating [Emmett] from her secretarial position effective December 31, 2004.

schools promoted from within a district shall retain all tenure rights accrued in any position which was previously held by the superintendent in the district." Ibid.

[Emmett] physically worked until 2:00 p.m. on December 23, 2004 when the winter holiday commenced." Judge Schuster had concluded that Emmett "must be denied tenure benefits because she was noticed prior to her third year completion of employment that she was being terminated." The Commissioner disagreed, finding that,

> [T]he facts reveal that [Gloucester] – notwithstanding a clear intent to deny [Emmett] tenure by voting to terminate her employment on notice-concomitantly acted to establish an effective termination date that permitted [Emmett] to remain a [Gloucester] employee sufficiently long to complete the years of service required for her to obtain tenure pursuant to law, in this case N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2(b)1.

Here, like in McGlynn, the facts in Emmett are distinguishable. In Emmett, Gloucester allowed Emmett to work despite providing her with notice of her dismissal and she would have served in her position until December 31, 2004 but for the winter break. Thus, in Emmett, as determined by the Commissioner, "regardless of its intent, [Gloucester] in fact enabled [Emmett] to fulfill the statutory condition for tenure acquisition." Here, however, in the matter before me, Clinton prevented Miller from serving in her position for three years by both (1) providing her with notice of her dismissal and (2) by telling her not to report to work after July 21, 2010, more than three weeks before the date on which Miller would have satisfied the requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2(b)(1). [Emphasis supplied].

Based upon the foregoing,I FIND that the actions and intent of Clinton are the same. While the resolution indicated that Miller's employment was to be terminated effective August 26, 2010, on July 21, 2010, the Superintendent Carroll nonetheless notified her that she was being dismissed and directed her not to come in to work thereafter. Clinton merely paid Miller through August 26, 2010 in accordance with the 30 day notice provision in her contract. Thus, Superintendent Carroll effectively barred Miller from acquiring tenure through his notice and direction to Miller on July 21, 2010, and Miller did not meet the tenure requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2.

I further FIND that leave of absence principles are inapplicable here. In Kletzkin v. Bd. of Educ. of the Bor. of Spotswood, 136 N.J. 275 (1994), the Supreme Court addressed the effect of leaves of absence on tenure rights. In Kletzkin, the Court held that a teaching staff member who took a leave of absence pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1 acquired tenure under N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 despite actively serving as a learning disabilities teacher consultant and school psychologist for only twenty-eight months. In Kletzkin, petitioner served as a learning disabilities teacher consultant and school psychologist continuously from January 1986 until November 1988, when she took an involuntary leave of absence from her duties due to a work-related injury. Id. at 277. In April 1989, while petitioner was on her leave of absence, Spotswood terminated her employment. Ibid. In finding that petitioner had acquired tenure in January 1989 despite taking leave pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1 before she served thirty months, the Court stated that "[a] teacher's employment begins with the actual performance of service, not the date of hiring. Further, 'continuous employment' exists notwithstanding the 'mere occasional absence of a teacher by reason of illness or excuse.'" Id. at 279 (quoting Bd. of Educ. v. Wall, 119 N.J.L. 308, 309-10 (Sup.Ct. 1938)). The Court found support for its holding that petitioner remained employed during her involuntary sick leave from the language of N.J.S.A. 18A:30-2.1, stating that,

> [b]y referring to a teacher on sick leave as an 'employee,' and by requiring a school board to 'pay to such employee the full salary or wages for the period of such absence,' the statute recognizes that teachers are employed while on sick leave.

The Court also noted that,

> [w]e recognize the importance of a probationary period as a means of assessing a teacher's performance . . . [u]nder the unusual circumstances of this case, we conclude that Kletzkin's brief period of sick leave did not deprive the Board of its opportunity to evaluate her before she acquired tenure. In another case, a more extended leave of absence could lead to a different result.

In the instant matter, application of leave of absence principles would be inappropriate because Miller (1) did not take a leave of absence; rather, she was fired, (2) did not work after receiving notice of her termination, and (3) was paid after she stopped working at Clinton in accordance with her contract. The time between her last day of work and the last day on which she was paid is not comparable to "the 'mere occasional absence of a teacher by reason of illness or excuse.'"

CONCLUSION AND ORDER

Based on all of the foregoing and after having given deference to the arguments advanced by both sides, I CONCLUDE that respondent timely determined to terminate the employment of Miller and so notified her prior to the time when she would have otherwise been vested with school secretarial tenure accrual, notwithstanding the fact that she received employment benefits pursuant to her contract for a period of time thereafter. Miller did not acquire tenure as a secretary because Miller did not satisfy the time requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2.

I further CONCLUDE that Miller has failed to demonstrate any entitlement based upon leave of absence principles for the reasons stated hereinabove. I make all of these findings and form all of these conclusions by a preponderance of a credible evidence.

It is therefore, ORDERED that the motion for summary decision by Clinton is GRANTED and the appeal of Maureen Miller be, and hereby, is DISMISSED for all the reasons stated hereinabove.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

IN THE MATTER OF THE	:
REVOCATION OF THE CERTIFICATES	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
OF ERIN MARKAKIS BY THE	:	DECISION
STATE BOARD OF EXAMINERS.	:

Order of Revocation by the State Board of Examiners, May 12, 2011

For the Respondent-Respondent, Edward Cridge, Esq.

For the Petitioner-Respondent State Board of Examiners, Joyce D. Williams, Deputy Attorney General (Paula T. Dow, Attorney General of New Jersey)

The Commissioner has thoroughly reviewed the record and the papers filed in connection with respondent's appeal of the State Board of Examiners' Order of May 12, 2011, revoking her teacher of elementary school in grades K-5 certificate of eligibility with advanced standing and her teacher of elementary school in grades K-5 certificate. In her submission, the respondent does not dispute her conduct, but rather requests that the matter be transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law for hearing to determine if her conduct was a product of her psychiatric illness justifying a penalty less than revocation.

In reviewing appeals from decisions of the State Board of Examiners, the Commissioner may not substitute his judgment for that of the Board so long as the respondent received due process and the Board's decision is supported by sufficient credible evidence in the record. Further, the Board's decision should not be disturbed unless the respondent demonstrates that it is arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. N.J.A.C. 6A:4-4.1(a).

After full consideration of the record and all submissions, the Commissioner concludes that respondent received the due process to which she was entitled. In her November 24, 2010 response to the Order to Show Cause issued by the Board, the respondent argued that revocation was too severe a penalty based on her documented psychiatric illness that she alleges contributed to her conduct. The Board also provided the respondent with an additional opportunity to appear before the Board to provide testimony on the penalty issue or to submit further documentation, but the respondent declined to do so. The Board was fully aware of the respondent's psychiatric illness and its potential impact on her behavior when it issued the May 12, 2011 revocation Order; further, the undisputed evidence in the record provides ample support for the Board's revocation decision. Consequently, the Commissioner finds no basis upon which to disturb the decision of the State Board of Examiners.

Accordingly the decision of the State Board of Examiners is affirmed for the reasons expressed therein.*

IN THE MATTER OF	:	NEW JERSEY DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION
THE CERTIFICATES OF	:	STATE BOARD OF EXAMINERS
ERIN MARKAKIS	:	ORDER OF REVOCATION
_____	:	DOCKET NO: 1011-109

At its meeting of September 16, 2010, the State Board of Examiners (Board) reviewed information received from the Office of Criminal History Review indicating that respondent Erin Markakis was convicted in August 2010 of third degree Assault by Auto. Markakis currently holds a Teacher of Elementary School in Grades K-5 Certificate of Eligibility With Advanced Standing, issued in July 2006 and a Teacher of Elementary School in Grades K-5 certificate, issued in April 2007. Upon review of the above information, the Board voted at its meeting of October 28, 2010 to issue Markakis an Order to Show Cause why her certificates should not be revoked.

The Board sent Markakis the Order to Show Cause by regular and certified mail on November 3, 2010. The Order provided that Markakis must file an Answer within 30 days. Markakis responded on November 24, 2010.

In her Answer, Markakis indicated that she was currently serving 364 days in County jail as the result of her conviction. (Answer, p. 1.) She stated that she was ashamed about what had occurred and was thankful that those injured in the accident were able to recover. (Answer, p. 1.) Markakis also noted that she had apologized directly to those she had injured. (Answer, p. 1.) She added that even though she was guilty, she did not believe her teaching certificates should be revoked, since the accident did not take place during the school year and did not affect her teaching. (Answer, p. 2.) Markakis claimed that, at the time of the accident, she was suffering from an eating disorder that had resurfaced and that she was being treated for anxiety and depression. (Answer, p. 3.) She stated that the night before the accident, she drank all night and took medication for her depression. (Answer, p. 3.) She drank the next morning and took additional medication and got into her car three hours later. (Answer, p. 3.) After her accident, Markakis was diagnosed with Bipolar Disorder and began receiving treatment for her alcohol abuse, bipolar disorder and eating disorder. (Answer, p. 4.) She stated that she completed a total of six months of rehabilitation programs and planned to continue with AA and individual therapy. (Answer, p. 4.) She added that she never intended on hurting anyone. (Answer, p. 4.) Markakis stated that she was a very good teacher who had a wonderful relationship with students, parents and other teachers. (Answer, p. 5.) She added that many parents wrote letters of support for her when she was facing criminal charges. (Answer, p. 5.) She noted that revoking her certificates "would take a qualified and caring teacher out of the schools, and it would tear the life right out of me." (Answer, p. 6.) Markakis claimed that she did not know what she would do if she could no longer teach. (Answer, p. 6.) She reiterated that she was "a very good person who made a very poor choice" and had no intentions of ever hurting anyone. (Answer, p. 7.)

Thereafter, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.7(e), on December 10, 2010, the Board sent Markakis a hearing notice by regular and certified mail. The notice explained that it appeared that no material facts were in dispute. Thus, Markakis was offered an opportunity to submit written arguments on the issue of whether the conduct addressed in the Order to Show Cause constituted conduct unbecoming a certificate holder, as well as arguments with regard to the appropriate sanction in the event that the Board found just cause to take action against her certificates. It also explained that upon review of the charges against her and the legal arguments tendered in her defense, the Board would determine if her offense warranted action against her certificates. Thereupon, the Board would also determine the appropriate sanction, if any.

Markakis was also offered the opportunity to appear before the Board to provide testimony on the sanction issue. The certified mail receipt was signed and returned and the regular mail copy was not returned. Markakis did not file a response.

The threshold issue before the Board in this matter is whether Markakis' conviction constitutes conduct unbecoming a certificate holder. At its meeting of March 31, 2011, the Board reviewed the allegations in the Order to Show Cause and Markakis' Answer. The Board determined that no material facts related to Markakis' offense were in dispute since she admitted that she had been convicted of the offense charged and had been sentenced accordingly. Thus, the Board determined that summary decision was appropriate in this matter. N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.7(h). It is therefore ORDERED that the charges in the Order to Show Cause are deemed admitted for the purpose of this proceeding.

The Board must now determine whether Markakis' conviction, as set forth in the Order to Show Cause, represents just cause to act against her certificates pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.5. The Board finds that it does.

The Board may revoke or suspend the certification of any certificate holder on the basis of demonstrated inefficiency, incapacity, conduct unbecoming a teacher or other just cause. N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.5. The Commissioner has long held that teachers serve as role models for their students. "Teachers... are professional employees to whom the people have entrusted the care and custody of ... school children. This heavy duty requires a degree of self-restraint and controlled behavior rarely requisite to other types of employment." Tenure of Sammons, 1972 S.L.D. 302, 321. Moreover, unfitness to hold a position in a school system may be shown by one incident, if sufficiently flagrant. Redcay v. State Bd. of Educ., 130 N.J.L. 369, 371 (1943), aff'd, 131 N.J.L. 326 (E & A 1944). In this instance, Markakis' conviction for third degree Assault by Auto demonstrates behavior that falls far short of a role model.

Furthermore, her offense is egregious enough to warrant revocation. It is well established that the Board has the right to revoke a certificate where the teacher was involved in criminal activities, even if the activities were unrelated to the classroom. See Cox v. State Board of Examiners, (App. Div. Docket No. A-3527-81T3) (November 18, 1983); State Board of Examiners v. Krupp, 3 N.J.A.R. 285 (1981). In this case, Markakis has been convicted of a crime that is predicated upon her having knowingly driven while under the influence of drugs and alcohol and caused serious bodily injury to others. A teacher's behavior outside the classroom may be relevant in determining that person's qualifications and continued fitness to retain her certificates. In re Grossman, 127 N.J. Super. 13, 30 (App. Div. 1943), cert. denied 65 N.J. 292 (1974).

Finally, notwithstanding Markakis' contentions of rehabilitation, this is not the proper context for such considerations. The purpose of this proceeding is "to permit the individual certificate holder to demonstrate circumstances or facts to counter the charges set forth in the Order to Show Cause, not to afford an opportunity to show rehabilitation." See In the Matter of the Revocation of the Teaching Certificate of Gloria Jackson by the State Board of Examiners, 96 N.J.A.R. 2D (EDE) 1, 16 aff'd, App. Div. Dkt. No. A-1246-96T5 (September 9, 1997) citing In the Matter of the Revocation of the Teaching Certificate of James Noll, State Bd. of Examiners decision (February 7, 1990). Thus, the fact that Markakis has undergone treatment for her bipolar disorder, alcohol abuse and eating disorder, while a step in the right direction, has no bearing on the decision the Board of Examiners must make with regard to her certification.

Accordingly, on March 31, 2011, the Board voted to revoke Erin Markakis' Teacher of Elementary School in Grades K-5 Certificate of Eligibility With Advanced Standing and her Teacher of Elementary School in Grades K-5 certificate. On this 12th day of May 2011 the Board voted to adopt its formal written decision and it is therefore ORDERED that the revocation of Markakis' certificates be effective immediately. It is further ORDERED that Markakis return her certificates to the Secretary of the State Board of Examiners, Office of Licensure, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, NJ 08625-0500 within 30 days of the mailing date of this decision.

REMOND PALMER,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
NEW JERSEY STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, CRIMINAL HISTORY REVIEW UNIT	:	DECISION

For the Petitioner: Raymond L. Hamlin, Esq.
Hunt, Hamlin & Ridley

For the Respondent: Jennifer L. Campbell, Deputy Attorney General
(Paula T. Dow, Attorney General of New Jersey)

This controversy arose when petitioner challenged the 2008 determination of the Criminal History Review Unit of the New Jersey Department of Education (respondent) that, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A: 6-7.1, petitioner's 1989 South Carolina conviction for possession of cocaine disqualified him for school employment in New Jersey. On January 12, 2010, the Commissioner upheld respondent's determination. Petitioner filed an appeal with the Appellate Division of the Superior Court on February 25, 2010, and on April 28, 2011 respondent moved for a remand of the case to the Commissioner for supplementation of the record. The Appellate Division responded with an order granting remand on May 13, 2011.

On June 28, 2011, respondent submitted its brief. The only supplementation to the record to be found therein appears to be citations to certain South Carolina Statutes governing pardons. After being granted two extensions to file opposition papers, petitioner has failed to reply to respondent's brief.

The legal issue currently before the Commissioner is the same as it was in 2009, i.e., whether petitioner's South Carolina conviction bars him from school employment in New Jersey. The controlling statute – N.J.S.A. 18A: 6-7.1 – provides, in pertinent part, that:

> an individual . . . shall be permanently disqualified from employment or service under this Act if the individual's criminal history record check reveals a record of conviction for . . .
> b. an offense involving the manufacture, transportation, sale, possession, distribution or habitual use of a "controlled dangerous substance" as defined in the Comprehensive Drug Reform Act of 1987 . . .
> (Emphasis added.)

Since petitioner has a record of conviction for cocaine possession, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 bars him from employment in New Jersey schools.

In his 2009 arguments to the Commissioner, petitioner had contended that a 2002 pardon for the possession offense that he had received from the South Carolina Department of Probation, Parole and Pardon removed him from the reach of N.J.S.A. 18A: 6-7.1. The Commissioner, however, rejected that argument. Citing Donald v. Jones, 445 F. 2d, 601 (5th Cir), cert. den. 404 U.S. 992 (1971), the Commissioner noted that a pardon is an act of executive clemency – as opposed to a judicial determination of innocence – and does not render a person innocent of the offense for which he or she was convicted; nor does a pardon eliminate the record of conviction. Remond Palmer v. New Jersey State Department of Education, Criminal History Review Unit, Commissioner's Decision No. 8-10, decided January 12, 2010, at 1-2. See, also, Opinion of the South Carolina Attorney General, dated November 18, 1988 and entitled "Effect of Pardoned Conviction on Multiple Offender Acts." 1988 S.C. AG LEXIS 220.

Moreover, the Commissioner noted that South Carolina does not allow expungement of convictions for possession of such controlled dangerous substances as cocaine. Palmer, supra, at 2. Indeed, in South Carolina, where an individual has been pardoned, the underlying conviction still exists and will not be expunged. See, Opinion of the South Carolina Attorney General, supra, citing 1984 OP.ATTY.GEN. 268; 1980 OP.ATTY.GEN. 110. Petitioner consequently still has a record of conviction for drug possession, which New Jersey courts have no jurisdiction to expunge. That record of conviction triggers N.J.S.A. 18A: 6-7.1(b) and bars petitioner from employment in New Jersey Schools.

Thus, the record – as supplemented by respondent – still upholds the determination of the Criminal History Review Unit of the Department of Education that, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A: 6-7.1(b), petitioner's South Carolina conviction disqualifies him from obtaining a teaching certificate in New Jersey. The Commissioner once again determines that the petition must be dismissed.[1]

BEFORE KIMBERLY A. MOSS, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner challenges the Borough of Mountainside Board of Education's (Board) determination that Petitioner is an organization that is not qualified to use school athletic fields for free. On August 18, 2011, petitioner filed a Motion for Emergent Relief classifying petitioner as a "Group One" organization pursuant to Policy 7510 and granting it free use of school athletic fields. In support of the motion, petitioner submitted a verified petition, brief and certification of service. Respondents submitted a letter brief opposing petitioner's motion on August 25, 2011. Oral argument on the motion was held on August 26, 2011.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

I FIND the following to be the FACTS of this matter.

The Board is a Type II school district comprised of the all of the area within the municipal boundaries of the Borough of Mountainside. The Board has the authority to regulate the use of its land and facilities, including athletic fields, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:20-20. The Board has a policy to govern the use of school facilities, namely Mountainside Board of Education Policy 7510. "Policy 7510"

Policy 7510 classifies organazations seeking to use school facilities including athletic fields as Group One, Group Two, Group Three or Group Four. Group One organizations are defined as including school affiliated groups, "youth service groups and youth and recreation groups under the auspices of the township recreation program or other non-profit organazations ..." Group One organazations are permitted to use school facilities for free, provided that the membership of the group is comprised of not less than seventy five percent Mountainside residents and is open for participation by any Mountainside citizen.

Group Four organazations are defined as including "private, for profit organazations such as sports camps, private ball clubs and teams." Group Four organazations are accessed fees according to a fee schedule included in Policy 7510.

On March 22, 2011, at a public meeting, the Board granted petitioner Group One status under Policy 7510. Two of the board member's votes were qualified pending receipt of further documentation. At a subsequent public meeting on April 5, 2011, the Board decided to re-evaluate its decision to grant petitioner Group One status. At the conclusion of that meeting the Board revoked petitioner's Group One status and classified them as a Group Four organization because petitioner's selection process was not open to all Mountainside residents.

On April 18, 2011, Petititioner received a letter from Dr. Jeanette Baubles (Baubles), Chief School Administrator for Mountainside confirmining petitioner's Group Four status as well as stating the dates and times of availability for the field at Beechwood School. The letter also stated Petitioner would have to pay $100 per hour with a minimum of three hours use of the facility. Petitioner was not prohibited from using the field, but it was required to pay a fee.

Petitioner demanded the Board reconsider its decision in a letter dated April 28, 2011. Petitioner and Baubles communicated by email on May 2, 2011, May 3, 2011 and May 15, 2011. On May 19, 2011, petitioner was informed by email from David Rubin (Rubin), General Counsel for the Board, that the Board's saw no reason to revisit its decision. On August 18, 2011, petitioner filed a Motion for Emergent Relief.

LEGAL DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS

The Commissioner has specifically addressed the time in which a petitioner must initiate a contested case for the Commissioner's determination of a controversy or dispute arising under the school laws. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i) requires that:

> The petitioner shall file a petition no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling or other action by the district board of education, individual party, or agency, which is the subject of the requested contested case hearing.

Such a rule represents a fair and reasonably necessary requirement for the proper and efficient resolution of disputes under the school laws and falls within the scope of authority granted to the Commissioner. Kaprow v. Bd. of Educ. of Berkeley Twp., 131 N.J. 572, 582 (1993). The limitation period gives school districts the security of knowing that administrative decisions regarding the operation of the school cannot be challenged after ninety days. Ibid. Its purposes are to stimulate litigants to pursue a right of action within a reasonable time so that the opposing party may have a fair opportunity to defend and to penalize dilatoriness and serve as a measure of repose by giving security and stability to human affairs. Id. at 587.

The ninety-day requirement is to be strictly construed and is mandatory. Wise v. Bd. of Educ. of the City of Trenton, EDU 160-00, Comm'r (September 11, 2000), aff'd, State Bd. of Educ. (January 3, 2001), <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>. A petitioner must file a petition within ninety days from a notice of adverse action and not within ninety days of her exhaustion of other avenues and mechanisms she might have employed in seeking renewal of employment. Id. Informal attempts to resolve a dispute do not serve to toll the statute of limitations. See Kaprow supra at 588. Also, the ninety-day period for filing a petition of appeal commences when a petitioner learns of facts that would enable her to file a timely claim. Id. at 587. "Adequate notice must be sufficient to inform an individual of some fact that he or she has a right to know and that the communicating party has a duty to communicate." Ibid. (citation omitted).

Petitioner was informed by letter dated April 18, 2011, that the Board determined it was a Group Four organization and was required to pay fees to use the fields. Petitioner had until July 17, 2011 to file its petition within 90 days. Petitioner's demand for reconsideration does not toll the ninety days. The Board, in fact, did not reconsider petitioner's classification as a Group Four organization as stated in the email of David Rubin.

I CONCLUDE that the petition of appeal failed to comply with the requirements of N.J.A.C. 6A:3-11.3(i).

Even if the petition of appeal had been timely filed Petitioner did not meet the criteria of Crowe v. DeGioia for emergent relief. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b) sets forth the standards governing motions for emergent relief. The regulation instructs in salient part:

> A motion for a stay or emergent relief shall be accompanied by a letter memorandum or brief which shall address the following standards be met for granting such relief pursuant to Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982):

1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted;

2. The legal right underlying petitioner's claim is settled;

3. The petitioner has the likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and

4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

Petitioner has the burden of establishing each of the above requirements in order to warrant relief in his favor.

It is well settled that relief should not be granted except "when necessary to prevent irreparable harm." Crowe, supra 90 N.J. at 132. In this regard, harm is generally considered irreparable if it cannot be adequately redressed by monetary damages. Id. at 132-33. In other words, it has been described as "'substantial injury to a material degree coupled with the inadequacy of money damages.'" Judice's Sunshine Pontiac, Inc. v. General Motors Corp., 418 F. Supp. 1212, 1218 (D.N.J. 1976) (citation omitted). See New Jersey Dep't of Environmental Protection v. Circle Carting, Inc., 2004 N.J. AGEN LEXIS 968 (April 2, 2004) (finding no irreparable harm in connection with the revocation of respondent's solid waste license in that financial loss is generally insufficient to demonstrate this requirement). The moving party bears the burden of proving irreparable harm. More than a risk of irreparable harm must be demonstrated. Continental Group, Inc. v. Amoco Chemicals Corp., 614 F. 2d 351, 359 (D.N.J. 1980). The requisite for injunctive relief requires a "'clear showing of immediate irreparable injury,'" or a "'presently existing actual threat; (an injunction) may not be used simply to eliminate a possibility of a remote future injury, or a future invasion of rights, be those rights protected by statute or by common law.'" Ibid. (citation omitted.)

Petitioner claims that it will suffer irreparable harm because of the following: it has had significant difficulty finding practice fields for practice and games; the children have been excluded from community field use for the majority of the season: and petitioner has suffered and will continue to suffer significant financial harm.

Petitioner has not shown that it will suffer irreparable harm. Petitioner can use the the fields for a fee, Group Four organazations are not precluded from using the fields. Petitioner has been either paying for the use of facilities or has found facilities that are free. Petitioner has participated in organized baseball. If it is later determined that petitioner should be classified as a Group One organization, it could receive monetary compensation.

I CONCLUDE that petitioner has failed to shoulder its burden of proving that it will suffer irreparable harm.

Petitioner claims that there is a likelihood of prevailing on the metits of the underlying claim. The Petition of Appeal states that petitioner accepts every child. The Board's position, as stated in the letter of Rubin is that petitioner's selection process more closely resembled a private club than one truly open to all Mountainside youth. One reason for the Board's decision is that petitioner does not hold open try-outs for all interested Mountainside residents. The letter goes on to state that the Board based its decision on what was stated by the Mustang representatives at the meeting. There is an issue as to whether petitioner's selection process is open to all interested Mountainside residents. Based on the above, petitioner has not proved that it has the likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim.

I CONCLUDE that petitioner has failed to shoulder its burden of proving that it has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of his claims.

Based on the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has failed to meet the requirements set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b) warranting a stay or emergent relief. Accordingly, I ORDER that petitioner's application for such relief be and hereby is DENIED. I further ORDER that since the petition was not timely filed the peititon is DISMISSED.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five days following the entry of this order. If the Commissioner of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner sought to compel the respondent Board to set a school year start date on or after September 1 rather than the August 24, 2011 date which petitioner alleged was arbitrarily imposed. A motion for emergent relief in this matter was denied on July 8, 2011 as untimely. The case continued in the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) to determine whether any further issue needed to be decided, and to conclude the case.

The ALJ found that: the threshold matter in this case is the timeliness of petitioner's appeal; the Board took action at a public meeting on September 21, 2010 which established August 24, 2011 as the first day of school for the 2011-2012 school year; pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i), the 90-day window for filing a challenge to this action was December 20, 2010; and petitioner did not file the instant petition until June 3, 2011. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that the petition was clearly out of time, and dismissed the petition.

Upon consideration, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that the petition was not timely filed in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i) and dismissed the appeal.

Record Closed: August 4, 2011 Decided: August 9, 2011

BEFORE LISA JAMES-BEAVERS, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE and PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The Bethlehem Township Education Association, petitioner, sought emergent relief ordering respondent Bethlehem Township Board of Education to set a start date for the 2011-2012 school year after September 1, 2011. Petitioner filed a petition of appeal and brief with the Commissioner of Education Bureau of Controversies and Disputes on June 3, 2011. Petitioner simultaneously filed an Unfair Practice Charge with the Public Employment Relations Commission, which is still pending. On June 6, 2011, the Bureau transmitted the case to the Office of Administrative Law for hearing pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. On June 8, 2011, respondent filed a brief and certification in Answer to the petition. The case was scheduled for oral argument on the emergent relief application on June 9, 2011. On that date, I heard oral argument and closed the record.

On July 8, 2011, the Acting Commissioner of Education adopted the Order of the OAL and denied the requested relief. On July 22, 2011, counsel for the respondent Bethlehem Board of Education inquired as to whether the Acting Commissioner's decision dismissed the matter as time-barred. By letter dated July 22, 2011, Kathleen Duncan, Director of the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, responded that the case is still open and that the administrative law judge will need to issue an initial decision in order to resolve the entire case. On August 4, 2011, I held a conference call with counsel to provide them with the opportunity to state whether any other issue needed to be decided. This decision now concludes the case before the OAL.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

As a threshold matter, respondent argued that the petition is procedurally deficient and has been filed outside of the ninety-day limitations period within which claims may be brought before the Commissioner. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i) sets forth that the "petitioner shall file a petition no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling or other action by the district board of education, . . . which is the subject of the requested contested case hearing." I concluded that because the Board took the action at a public meeting, petitioner was aware as early as September 21, 2010, that the first day of school for Bethlehem students would be August 24, 2011. Ninety days from that date is December 20, 2010. When petitioner did not file the present petition until June 3, 2011, almost nine months after the petitioner had notice of the Board's action, the petition was clearly out of time.

Therefore, in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i), I CONCLUDED that the petition must be dismissed as out of time. By decision of July 8, 2011, the Acting Commissioner agreed and denied the application for emergent relief.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that petitioner's application for emergent relief is DENIED and the petition DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." SYNOPSIS

Petitioner – a school bus driver – appealed the Department's determination to suspend her school bus endorsement pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:39-28 after an alleged incident in which two children were left on her bus in September 2010 when petitioner failed to conduct the mandated visual inspection at the end of her route. Petitioner asserted that she could explain how the children came to be left on the bus during a hearing. Respondent filed a motion for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: on September 7, 2010, petitioner drove a school bus upon which several children had been placed; at the end of her route, petitioner failed to perform the mandated visual inspection of the vehicle's interior before exiting, as is required by N.J.S.A. 18A:39-28; as a result, petitioner failed to discover that two children remained on the bus; petitioner contended that she could explain how the children had come to be left on the bus, but presented no evidence in opposition to the facts showing that two children remained on the bus at the end of the route. Accordingly, the ALJ granted summary decision in favor of respondent, ordered a six-month suspension of the petitioner's school bus endorsement – which is the mandatory penalty for a first offense pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:39-28 – and dismissed the petition.

Upon full review and consideration of the record, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that the Office of Criminal History Review is entitled to summary decision in this matter. Accordingly, the petition was dismissed and the respondent was directed to notify the Motor Vehicle Commission of its obligation to suspend petitioner's school bus endorsement pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:39-28 et seq., and to notify petitioner's employer that she is ineligible for the period of suspension for continued employment as a school bus driver.

BEFORE IMRE KARASZEGI, JR., ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Respondent, the New Jersey Department of Education, Criminal History Review Unit, intends to suspend Ninoska L. Lazo's "S" endorsement on her driver's license, permitting her to drive a school bus. Respondent alleges that on or about September 7, 2010, Lazo left two children on the bus she had been driving after completion of her afternoon bus route. Lazo does not dispute that the children were in fact in the bus at the end of her route; however, Lazo contends that she should be provided an opportunity to be heard prior to her suspension.

On September 15, 2010, respondent advised Lazo by letter that it intended to suspend her "S" endorsement to operate a school bus, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:39-29(a). Lazo filed a Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner of Education on September 23, 2010. On November 8, 2010, the Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL).

Respondent has moved for summary decision, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5. In support of its motion, respondent has presented a brief and relied on the sworn petition of appeal submitted by Lazo. Respondent has also presented Lazo's handwritten statement in Spanish and its English translation provided by petitioner's counsel. In arguing on behalf of its motion, respondent contends that the sole factual issues material to the matter are that children were left on Lazo's bus at the end of her route on September 7, 2010. Respondent argues that the materials offered in support of the motion establish these facts and that Lazo has failed to affirmatively deny or dispute respondent's findings. As such, Lazo has failed to demonstrate the existence of any genuine dispute of material fact that might defeat summary decision and require a full evidentiary hearing.

Petitioner's response to the motion asserts that no conclusion can be made pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:39-29(a) without first providing petitioner with an opportunity to be heard. Petitioner's counsel argues in his opposition brief to respondent's motion to dismiss:

> Respondent hammers away at the fact that the Petitioner did not contest that the children were in the bus at the end of the route. Petitioner cannot contest this issue because the children were in fact in the bus. She was truthful in her statement and she answered the questions that were posed > to her at that moment, however, there were other facts that revolve around this issue and that have not yet been allowed to surface and that can only come to light at a hearing. If the Petitioner is allowed to testify she can explain how it came to be that the children were or had to be delivered by her at the school office and how it came to pass that she did not see the children in the bus even after a visual inspection.

SUMMARY DECISION

Summary decision, or as it is known in judicial matters, summary judgment, is a well-recognized procedure for resolving cases in which the facts that are crucial to the determination of the matters at issue are not actually in dispute and the application to that set of material facts of the applicable law and standard of proof lead to a determination of the case without the necessity of a hearing at which evidence and testimony need be taken. The procedure is equally applicable in judicial as well as executive-branch administrative cases. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5. The standards for determining motions for summary judgment are contained in Judson v. People's Bank and Trust Co. of Westfield, 17 N.J. 67, 74–75 (1954). The Supreme Court later elaborated on the motion and its standard in Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Co. of America, 142 N.J. 520 (1995). Under the Brill standard, as in Judson, a motion for summary decision may only be granted where there are no "genuine disputes" of "material fact." The determination as to whether disputes of material fact exist is made after a "discriminating search" of the record, consisting as it may of affidavits, certifications, documentary exhibits and any other evidence filed by the movant and any such evidence filed in response to the motion, with all reasonable inferences arising from the evidence being accorded to the opponent of the motion. In order to defeat the motion, the opposing party must establish the existence of "genuine" disputes of material fact. The facts upon which the party opposing the motion relies to defeat the motion must be something more than "facts which are immaterial or of an insubstantial nature, a mere scintilla, 'fanciful, frivolous, gauzy or merely suspicious.'" Judson, supra, 17 N.J. at 75 (citations omitted). The Brill decision focuses upon the analytical procedure for determining whether a purported dispute of material fact is "genuine" or is simply of an "insubstantial nature." Brill, supra, 142 N.J. at 530. Brill concludes that the same analytical process used to decide motions for a directed verdict is used to resolve summary decision motions. "[T]he essence of the inquiry in each is the same: 'Whether the evidence presents a sufficient disagreement to require submission to a jury or whether it is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law.'" Id. at 536 (quoting Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 251–52, 106 S. Ct. 2505, 2512, 91 L. Ed. 2d 202, 214 (1986)). In searching the proffered evidence to determine the motion, the judge must be guided by the applicable substantive evidentiary standard of proof, that is, the "burden of persuasion" that would apply at trial on the merits, whether that is the preponderance-of-the-evidence standard or the clear-and-convincing-evidence standard. If a careful review under this standard establishes that no reasonable fact finder could resolve the disputed facts in favor of the party opposing the motion, then the uncontradicted facts thus established can be examined in the light of the applicable substantive law to determine whether or not the movant is clearly entitled to judgment as a matter of law. However, where the proofs in the record are such that "reasonable minds could differ" as to the material facts, then the motion must be denied and a full evidentiary hearing held.

While Lazo claims that summary decision should not be granted because she has not had an opportunity to testify at a hearing, the very essence of the summary decision procedure is that in the appropriate case, the issues necessary to decide the case, that is, the material facts to which the applicable law must be applied to decide the matter, are not themselves the subject of any genuine dispute and, therefore, there is no need for a testimonial proceeding. If, instead, the examination of the affidavits, certifications, and documentary evidence offered for and against the motion shows that there is a genuine dispute about any of these material facts, the motion must fail.

The statutes that underlie the proposed suspension are very simple in form and there are few facts that must exist to form the basis for action thereunder. N.J.S.A. 18A:39-28 only requires that a driver perform a visual inspection at the end of a route. The reason for this is stated as the need to assure that no pupil is left on the bus. Thus, evidentially it is necessary to establish that Lazo was the driver of the bus in question. Neither party disputes the fact that Lazo was the driver of the bus. If a child is left on the bus at the end of the route, the driver is to be suspended. Evidentially, that a child is left on a bus at the end of a route is itself at the very least prima facie evidence of a failure on the part of the driver to properly inspect the bus at the end of the route. The evidence offered by the Department of Education, in the form of its brief, Lazo's petition of appeal and her statement, demonstrates that the children were placed on the bus, transported on the bus and later found on the bus at the end of petitioner's route. There is clearly a prima facie showing that the children were not properly removed from the bus. Taken together, this evidence leads to a seemingly inevitable conclusion that the children were left on the bus at the end of the route, obviously without having been discovered there by the driver whose duty it was to inspect the bus and assure that no child was left behind.

It is the responsibility of a party opposing a motion for summary decision to present certifications or other evidence to establish the existence of genuine disputes of material fact. Lazo has offered nothing in response to the respondent's evidence. Lazo simply asserts that she could explain how this situation "came to be" at a hearing. In the context of a motion for summary decision, the failure of the opposing party to offer any evidence whatsoever to support a dispute of material fact in opposition to the motion can itself support the grant of the motion. It is only where a properly pled motion is opposed by evidence of genuine dispute of the material issues that the motion is doomed. Lazo has not offered anything to suggest that there is any genuine issue as to the material facts of this case. She does not dispute that the children were in fact in the bus at the end of her route. Her contention that she should be provided an opportunity to be heard prior to her suspension because there are other facts that can "only come to light at a hearing" ignores the very purpose of a motion for summary decision.

Based upon the evidence offered by the respondent, and giving all reasonable inferences to the opposing party, Lazo, I FIND that on September 7, 2010, Ninoska L. Lazo drove a school bus upon which several children had been placed. I FIND that at the end of her route, Lazo failed to properly inspect the bus, as required by N.J.S.A. 18A:39-28. As a result, she failed to discover that two children remained on the bus. I FIND that the evidence presented by Lazo does not establish any material facts in dispute. Given the limited facts that must be established to support a violation of the duty imposed by the Legislature on a school bus driver to properly inspect the bus at the end of a route to assure that no child is left on the bus, the arguments offered by the respondent amply support summary decision in its favor. And given the mandatory nature of the penalty for a first-time violator of the mandate, the six-month suspension is the only outcome where the violation is proven. N.J.S.A. 18A:39-29(a). Respondent's motion for summary decision is hereby GRANTED and it is hereby ORDERED that the petitioner's "S" endorsement shall be suspended for six months.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Eric L. Harrison, Esq., for respondent (Methfessel & Werbel, attorneys)

BEFORE ANA C. VISCOMI, ALJ:

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on November 23, 2009, for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. Petitioners alleged that respondent's action to reduce their respective work hours was arbitrary and capricious and made in bad faith. They also alleged breach of contract, thereby creating a potential jurisdictional issue herein.

The parties have agreed to a settlement and have prepared a Settlement Agreement and General Release indicating the terms thereof, which is attached and fully incorporated herein. (J-1, J-2). A review of that agreement indicates that it is being submitted to resolve this pending matter as well as a complaint filed in the Superior Court of New Jersey, Ocean County, under Docket No. OCN-L-3668-09. This Initial Decision Settlement addresses the petition filed with Commissioner of Education and subsequently transmitted to the OAL. All other matters addressed in the agreement are not within the purview of OAL jurisdiction.

I have reviewed the record and the terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures. (J-1, J-2). The Board of Education has passed a resolution adopting the agreement. (R-1).

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

The record of this matter, the proposed "Settlement Agreement and Release" (Agreement) and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed.

The Commissioner approves the settlement terms and adopts the Initial Decision as the final decision in this case, with the following observation. Section 1 of the Agreement references actions that may have already taken place, and have therefore preceded consideration of the settlement by the Commissioner of Education. The parties are reminded that a settlement of litigation before the Commissioner is not binding until the Commissioner approves same.

Accordingly, the Commissioner adopts the Initial Decision as the final decision in this case, providing that the parties have either successfully implemented the settlement terms, or have agreed upon mutually satisfactory alternate dates for the effectuation of same. Assuming the foregoing, the matter is hereby dismissed, subject to compliance with the terms of the settlement.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE NORTHERN HIGHLANDS REGIONAL HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT, BERGEN COUNTY,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF SADDLE RIVER, BERGEN COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

Respondent has a sending-receiving relationship with petitioner, whereby Saddle River sends its students to Northern Highlands for grades nine through twelve. Petitioner's appeal, filed in 2010, sought a tuition rate adjustment to cover the cost of a full-time aide for T.F. – a special education student from Saddle River who graduated at the end of the 2005-06 school year – and reimbursement for the cost of one-to-one instruction in English for G.L. – a special education student from Saddle River who is currently enrolled at Northern Highlands. Respondent filed a motion for summary decision, which was opposed by petitioner.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts in dispute, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-17.1(f)(6), a receiving district must make a tuition-rate adjustment for a student enrolled in a special education class no later than the end of the second school year following the contract year, and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i) requires that a petition of appeal be filed within 90 days from the end of that time period; petitioner's appeal is clearly out of time as it relates to a tuition rate increase for T.F., who graduated in 2006; under the parties' current send-receive agreement, Northern Highlands cannot charge Saddle River for G.L.'s one-to-one instruction in English because it is part of his educational program and not a related service. Accordingly, the ALJ granted respondent's motion for summary decision and dismissed the petition.

Upon full consideration, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ and adopted the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE NORTHERN HIGHLANDS REGIONAL HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT, BERGEN COUNTY,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. Petitioner's exceptions – filed in accordance with the provisions of N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 – were fully considered by the Commissioner in reaching his determination herein. Respondent did not file reply exceptions.

Petitioner's exceptions, in relevant part, essentially recast and reiterate its arguments advanced before the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) below. In that it is determined that these were sufficiently considered and addressed in the ALJ's decision, they will not be revisited here.

Upon a contemplative review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that Summary Decision is appropriately granted to the respondent. In so determining, the Commissioner is in complete accord with the ALJ that the portion of the instant petition of appeal, filed in June 2010, which is seeking payment for special education student T.F.'s full-time aide for the 2003-04, 2004-05 and 2005-06 – some 4 years after this student graduated – must be dismissed because it was filed well outside the 90-day limitation period set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i), and the record provides no reason whatsoever for relaxation of this rule.[1] With respect to that portion of the instant petition of appeal which seeks to charge respondent for the provision of one-on-one English instruction for special education student G.L. for the 2008-09 and 2009-10 school years, the record reflects that one-on-one instruction is how G.L. is required to receive his mandatory English credits necessary for graduation. The Commissioner agrees with the ALJ – for the reasons presented on pages 6-7 of his decision – that petitioner cannot charge for that instruction under its send-receive agreement with Saddle River.

Accordingly, the recommended decision of the OAL is adopted and the instant Petition of Appeal is hereby dismissed.

BEFORE BARRY E. MOSCOWITZ, ALJ:

T.F.

T.F. was a special education student from Saddle River who graduated from Northern Highlands at the end of the 2005-06 school year. In 2010, Northern Highlands sought a tuition-rate adjustment. Is Northern Highlands out of time? Yes. Under the governing regulation, a receiving district must make a tuition-rate adjustment for a special education student no later than the end of the second school year following the contract year.

G.L.

G.L. is a special education student from Saddle River who is currently enrolled at Northern Highlands under a send-receive agreement through which he receives one-to-one instruction in English as part of his educational program. Is Northern Highlands entitled to reimbursement for that instruction? No. Under their send-receive agreement, Northern Highlands cannot charge Saddle River any additional tuition or other charges for Saddle River special education students.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Saddle River has a sending-receiving relationship with Northern Highlands by which Saddle River sends its students to Northern Highlands for grades nine through twelve. In 2009, Northern Highlands discovered that it had not billed Saddle River for the cost of a one-to-one aide for a student for the 2003-04, 2004-05, and 2005-06 school years. Similarly, Northern Highland discovered that it had not billed Saddle River for the cost of one-to-one instruction for a student for the 2008-09 and 2009-10 school years. Given these circumstances, Northern Highlands sought reimbursement from Saddle River.

When Saddle River refused to pay, Northern Highlands filed a Petition of Appeal with the Department of Education, which transmitted the case to the Office of Administrative Law under the Administrative Procedure Act, N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15, and the act establishing the Office of Administrative Law, N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -23.

After a prehearing conference, Saddle River filed a motion for summary decision, which Northern Highlands opposed.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Based upon the papers submitted, including the certifications or affidavits, I FIND the following as fact:

Saddle River has a sending-receiving relationship with Northern Highlands in which Saddle River sends its students to Northern Highlands for grades nine through twelve. This relationship began in 1998 under the first of two send-receive agreements. The first agreement covered the school years 1998 through 2008; the second agreement covers the school years 2008 to 2018.

T.F.

T.F. was a multiply disabled student from Saddle River who attended Northern Highlands from 2002 until his graduation in 2006. In November 2009, Northern Highlands discovered that it had not billed Saddle River for the cost of a one-to-one aide it had provided to T.F. for the 2003-04, 2004-05, and 2005-06 school years. The invoice totaled $98,177.

On March 15, 2010, Northern Highlands sent a letter to Saddle River requesting payment for the one-to-one aide.

G.L.

Similarly, Northern Highlands discovered that it had not billed Saddle River for the cost of one-to-one instruction it had provided to G.L. for the 2008-09 and 2009-10 school years.

Northern Highlands requested payment for that instruction as well.

G.L. is a multiply disabled student from Saddle River who has been attending Northern Highlands since 2008 and has been receiving one-to-one instruction in English by a Northern Highlands employee as part of his educational program since that time.

On June 9, 2010, Northern Highlands filed its Petition of Appeal with the Department of Education.

On August 2, 2011, the Department of Education determined that this one-to-one instruction in English is not a related service.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Summary decision may be rendered if the papers submitted, together with the affidavits, show that no genuine issue of material fact exists and the moving party is entitled to summary decision as a matter of law. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). In this case, no genuine issue of material fact exists. Accordingly, Saddle River is entitled to summary decision as a matter of law.

T.F.

Under N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-17.1(f)(6), a receiving district shall make a tuition-rate adjustment for a student enrolled in a special education class no later than the end of the second school year following the contract year:

> § 6A:23A-17.1 Method of determining tuition rates for regular public schools
>
> (f) The receiving district board of education and the sending district board of education shall establish by written contractual agreement a tentative tuition charge for budgetary purposes. Such tentative charge shall equal an amount not in excess of the receiving district board of education's "estimated cost per student" for the ensuing school year for the purpose or purposes for which tuition is being charged, multiplied by the "estimated average daily enrollment of students" expected to be received during the ensuing school year. Such written contract shall be on a form prepared by the Commissioner.
>
>
> 6. If the Commissioner later determines that the tentative tuition charge established by written contractual agreement, except for a contractual agreement for a student enrolled in a special education class, was greater than the actual cost per student during the school year multiplied by the actual average daily enrollment received, the receiving district board of education shall return to the sending district board of education in the second school year following the contract year the amount by which the tentative charge exceeded the actual charge as determined above, or, at the option of the receiving district board of education, shall credit the sending district board of education with the excess amount. The receiving district board of education shall make such adjustment for a contractual agreement for a student enrolled in a special education class no later than the end of the second school year, following the contract year.

In addition, N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i) requires that a petition of appeal be filed within 90 days from the end of that time period. See Lord Sterling Sch. v BOE of the Morris Sch. Dist., DOE Dkt. No. 129/4-02, Comm'r (July 19, 2002), <http://www.nj.gov/education/legal/commissioner/index.html>.

In this case, Northern Highlands had until the end of the 2005-06, 2006-07, and 2007-08 school years—or no more than 90 days from the end of those school years—to file its petition for the tuition rate adjustments for the 2003-04, 2004-05, and 2005-06 school years. Northern Highlands, however, did not seek reimbursement until 2010. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that its Petition of Appeal is out of time for each of those contract years.

G.L.

Under the Send-Receive Agreement for 2008-18, all Saddle River students in grades nine through twelve, who require the services of the Northern Highlands Child Study Team, shall receive such services at no additional cost:

> All Saddle River students in grades 9 through 12 requiring the services of the Northern Highlands Child Study Team shall receive such services at no additional expense to Saddle River . . . .
> [(Exhibit B, Certif. of John Keenan, Section 3.1 (June 2, 2010.)]

Similarly, Northern Highlands will not charge Saddle River any additional tuition or other charges for Saddle River special education students, except for related services—unless those services are provided by a Northern Highlands employee:

> Northern Highlands will not charge Saddle River any additional tuition or other charges for Saddle River special education students who are enrolled in the Northern Highlands Regional High School regular education program, except as provided below (related services). Northern Highlands will not charge Saddle River for the cost of providing related services to Saddle River special education students so long as such services can be provided by Northern Highlands employees. However, if such services cannot be provided by Northern Highlands staff, but rather must be provided by persons not working as Northern Highlands employees, Saddle River will be responsible for the full payment of such costs.
> [(Ibid.)]

In this case, G.L. required the services of a one-to-one instruction in English as part of his educational program. Under the Send-Receive Agreement for 2008-18, Northern Highlands cannot charge Saddle River for that instruction. Although Northern Highlands argues that the one-to-one instruction is a related service for which it can charge, such instruction was still provided by a Northern Highlands employee. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that Northern Highlands cannot charge for that instruction under its send-receive agreement with Saddle River.

Moreover, I note that the Department of Education has already determined that this instruction is not a related service—a determination with which I agree as a matter of law:

> Further, as it relates to the circumstances of this dispute, it should also be noted that the opinion of the Department of Education is that a "related service" as defined in 20 U.S.C. § 1401 is a supportive service (and not instruction) designed to enable a student with a disability to receive a free appropriate education as described in their IEP. One-to-one English instruction is part of the instruction program and not a related service.
> [(Exhibit A, Letter of Frederic J. Sirota, Esq. (August 4, 2011.)]

Therefore, I also CONCLUDE that Northern Highlands cannot charge for the one-to-one instruction in English even if it is not provided by a Northern Highlands employee.

ORDER

Given my findings of fact and conclusions of law, I ORDER that Saddle River's motion for summary decision be GRANTED and that this case be DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this Initial Decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF DONALD SALAAM,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE TOWNSHIP	:	DECISION
OF IRVINGTON, ESSEX COUNTY.	:

SYNOPSIS

In April 2011, the petitioning Board certified charges of conduct unbecoming against respondent – a tenured special education teacher employed in the District's Alternative Program – based on an incident during which respondent advised a group of male students on how to engage in sexual acts with women. Following transmittal of the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case, respondent submitted to the petitioning Board an irrevocable letter of resignation from his position.

The ALJ found and concluded that tenure charges against respondent have been rendered moot by his resignation, and accordingly the charges should be dismissed. In so determining, the ALJ noted that N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.4 requires that if a tenured staff member resigns while accused of unbecoming conduct, the Board – through its Superintendent of Schools – is obliged to notify the State Board of Examiners (State Board). Accordingly, the ALJ ordered the tenure charges dismissed as moot, and ordered the Board to notify the State Board that respondent resigned while tenure charges were pending against him.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that the tenure charges are moot based on the respondent's resignation, and accordingly adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. In so determining, the Commissioner noted that the inexcusable conduct alleged in this case, if true, would clearly amount to conduct unbecoming and demand significant consequences.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF DONALD SALAAM,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
OF IRVINGTON, ESSEX COUNTY.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed.[1] This case involves tenure charges brought by the Board against the respondent Donald Salaam, a teacher in the Irvington Township School District. The Board charged the respondent with unbecoming conduct based on an incident during which the respondent, who taught special education in the District's Alternative Program, advised a group of male students how to engage in sexual acts with women. The Administrative Law Judge ("ALJ") found that this matter was rendered moot by the respondent's resignation and that the tenure charges should be dismissed.

The Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the tenure charges are moot based on the respondent's resignation.[2] Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the tenure charges are dismissed as moot. This matter will be transmitted to the State Board of Examiners for action against respondent's certificate(s) as that body deems appropriate.

[1] The parties did not file exceptions.

[2] The Commissioner further notes that the conduct that was alleged in this case is extremely disconcerting. Undoubtedly, if the allegations are true there is very little analysis required to conclude that this type of inexcusable behavior amounts to unbecoming conduct which would demand significant consequences.

[3] This decision may be appealed to the Appellate Division of the Superior Court pursuant to P.L. 2008, c. 36. (N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9.1)

OAL DKT. NO. EDU 04486-11
AGENCY REF. NO. 74-4/11

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE HEARING OF DONALD SALAAM, SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE TOWNSHIP OF IRVINGTON, ESSEX COUNTY.

Ronald C. Hunt, Esq., for petitioner (Hunt Hamlin and Ridley, attorneys)

Sheldon Pincus, Esq., for respondent (Bucceri and Pincus, attorneys)

BEFORE ELLEN S. BASS, ALJ:

PROCEDURAL HISTORY AND FINDINGS OF FACT

Donald Salaam was employed by petitioner, the Irvington Board of Education (the Board), as a teacher under tenure, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5. On March 16, 2011, tenure charges were filed with the Board by Superintendent of Schools Ethel J. Hasty, and served on Salaam. On March 31, 2010, the Board determined that probable cause existed to credit the evidence in support of the charges, and that the charges, if so credited, warranted Salaam's dismissal from his employment. The Board suspended Salaam without pay, in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:6-14.

On April 1, 2011, the Board certified charges of unbecoming conduct against Salaam pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 et seq. An answer was filed and the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case on April 19, 2011. On July 11, 2011, I conferred via telephone with counsel who advised that Salaam had irrevocably tendered his resignation from the school district via letter dated July 7, 2011. (R-1) At its meeting of July 29, 2011, the Board formally accepted Salaam's resignation. (P-1)

I CONCLUDE that the tenure charges against Salaam have been rendered moot by his resignation, and that this matter should be dismissed. An action is moot when it no longer presents a justiciable controversy because the issues raised have become academic. For reasons of judicial economy and restraint it is appropriate to refrain from decision-making when an issue presented is hypothetical, judgment cannot grant effective relief, or the parties do not have a concrete adversity of interest. Anderson v. Sills, 143 N.J. Super. 432, 437 (Ch. Div. 1976); Fox v. Twp. of E. Brunswick Bd. of Educ., EDU 10067-98, Initial Decision (March 19, 1999), aff'd, Comm'r (May 3, 1999) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>; S.J. v. Bd. of Educ. of Mountain Lakes, EDU 07081-03, Initial Decision (October 7, 2003), aff'd, Comm'r (Nov. 17, 2003), aff'd, St. Bd. (Feb. 3, 2004) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>.

The Commissioner has uniformly held that a tenured staff member's resignation moots pending tenure charges. In Re Saez, EDU 11306-05, Initial Decision, (February 22, 2006), aff'd Comm'r (April 4, 2001) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>; In Re Castel, EDU 03428-07, Initial Decision, (February 7, 2008), aff'd Comm'r (March 17, 2008) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>. Salaam's resignation makes a determination whether to terminate his employment meaningless, and renders the issues raised by the pleadings academic. Accordingly, the charges should be dismissed.

Importantly, N.J.A.C. 6A:9-17.4 requires that if a tenured teaching staff member resigns while accused of unbecoming conduct, the district chief school administrator "notify the Board of Examiners." Ibid. See also: N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6 (d). Pursuant to the regulation, the Board, through its Superintendent of Schools, is obliged to notify the Board of Examiners that Salaam resigned during the pendency of tenure charges against him.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing, it is hereby ORDERED that the tenure charges are DISMISSED as moot. The Board, through its Superintendent of Schools, is ORDERED to notify the State Board of Examiners that Salaam resigned while tenure charges were pending against him.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

AGENCY DKT. NO. 542-9/10

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE HEARING OF DEANNA LOPEZ, SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE BOROUGH OF KEANSBURG, MONMOUTH COUNTY.	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION DECISION

The record of this matter, the proposed "Mutual Release and Settlement Agreement" (Agreement) and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed and found in compliance with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6.

The Commissioner approves the settlement terms and adopts the Initial Decision as the final decision in this case, with the following observation. Section 2 and other provisions of the Agreement reference actions that may have already taken place, and have therefore preceded consideration of the settlement by the Commissioner of Education. The parties are reminded that a settlement of litigation before the Commissioner is not binding until the Commissioner approves same.

Accordingly, the Commissioner adopts the Initial Decision as the final decision in this case, providing that the parties have either successfully implemented the settlement terms, or have agreed upon mutually satisfactory alternate dates for the effectuation of same. Assuming the foregoing, the matter is hereby dismissed, subject to compliance with the terms of the settlement.

Record Closed: August 19, 2011 Decided: August 19, 2011

BEFORE JOSEPH F. MARTONE, ALJ:

The Borough of Keansburg, petitioner, brings tenure charges against the respondent for conduct unbecoming a teacher as defined in N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10. This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on October 4, 2010, for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13 and assigned to the Honorable Israel D. Dubin. During the time that Judge Dubin presided over this matter, the parties negotiated a proposed settlement. An executed Mutual Release and Settlement Agreement indicating the terms of the settlement, which is attached, was submitted for Judge Dubin's approval on July 6, 2011. A copy of the Resolution of the Board of Education adopting the settlement was also attached.

Because of the retirement of Judge Dubin on June 30, 2011, prior to the settlement agreement being received, it became necessary to have this case reassigned to another judge. The matter was reassigned to me, and after I familiarized myself with the case record and with the terms of the settlement, and after conferring with counsel on August 19, 2011, I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by the parties' signatures on the Mutual Release and Settlement Agreement.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

MUTUAL RELEASE AND SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

This Mutual Release and Settlement Agreement (the "Agreement") is entered into by and between the Keansburg Board of Education (the "Board"), Deanna Lopez ("Employee") and is effective as of January 2, 2011.

WHEREAS, the Keansburg Board of Education ("Board") is currently engaged in litigation with regard to Deanna Lopez; and

WHEREAS, after due consideration both Parties believe that an amicable settlement is in the best interest of the school district; and

WHEREAS, the reason for the settlement in this instance was revealed after an exchange of discovery between parties. Though there was an initial statement made by the Board of certain conduct which was unbecoming by Deanna Lopez, sufficient evidence to support this statement is not available to the Board.

WHEREAS, it would appear that the ongoing and continuing course of conduct which was of significant concern to the Board would not be readily established at the time the tenure hearing. Though the Board believes that a portion of the charges would be sustained, the likelihood of the penalty of dismissal is substantially lessened.

WHEREAS, as a result of the above findings, the Board has made a determination that settling this matter would avoid potential protracted litigation and the time and cost savings would be a benefit to the public; and

WHEREAS, the Board of Education has been presented the above information and it has determined to withdraw the Tenure Charges previously Certified to the Commissioner of Education. It is the Board's considered opinion, in light of the settlement reached, that the Tenure Charges need not be pursued by the Board and the Board specifically requests that the Commissioner of Education allow the Board to withdraw its Certification of Charges in this instance.

WHEREAS, this matter will not result in a loss of position, Ms. Lopez is aware that the Commissioner may refer the matter to the Board of Examiners for possible suspension or revocation of her teaching certificate.

WHEREAS, Ms. Lopez enters into this agreement with a full understanding of her rights.

NOW THEREFORE, the parties hereto voluntarily resolve all disputed matters and enter into the following Settlement Agreement, which fully resolves and disposes of all issues in controversy between them:

1. Ms. Lopez's increment for 2010 would be withheld and the tenure charges are hereby withdrawn by the Board.

2. Ms. Lopez will return to classroom effective January 2, 2011.

3. Unpaid salary based on Ms. Lopez's rate of pay without her 2010 increment step would be paid in full to Ms. Lopez less any costs paid by the Board for unemployment benefits.

4. Ms. Lopez's Facebook account for students will be discontinued.

5. Although Ms. Lopez will not be advanced one step on the salary guide for the 2010-2011 school year she would receive the negotiated salary increase for the salary step that she is presently placed.

6. This agreement is being entered into in full compliance and incorporating the standards set forth in In re Cardonick, 1990 S.L.D. 842, 846: codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6(a).

7. The laws of the State of New Jersey, without regard to its choice of law provisions, shall govern this Agreement.

8. Neither this Agreement nor any act done or admitted in furtherance thereof, shall be construed as an admission by any party of any fact or claim, nor shall they be admissible into evidence in any action or proceeding to construe or establish any fact or claim, except in an action to enforce the provisions of this Agreement. This Agreement is made as a compromise to avoid expense and to terminate all controversies and/or claims for injuries or damages of any nature, known or unknown, including future developments thereof, in any way growing out of or in connection with the matters described above.

9. The Parties expressly waive and assume the risk of any and all claims for damages for the matters stated in this Agreement that may arise in the future, but which they do not know of or suspect to exist, whether through ignorance, oversight, error, fraud, negligence, or otherwise, and which, if known, would materially affect their decision to enter into this Agreement.

10. If, for any reason whatsoever, any part of this Agreement shall be declared void and invalid, by operation of law or otherwise, in any jurisdiction, then as to such jurisdiction only such parts shall be void and the remaining provisions of this Agreement shall remain in all other respects valid and enforceable and shall not invalidate or render unenforceable such provision in any other jurisdiction.

11. The Parties represent that they have full authority to enter into this Agreement and IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the authorized representatives of the Parties have executed this Agreement on the dates indicated below:

BEFORE CAROL I. COHEN, ALJ:

On March 21, 2011 this matter was received and filed with the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for hearing as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to-15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F1 to -13. A hearing was scheduled for June 14, 2011. However, prior to the hearing date, the parties asked to engage in settlement discussions. The parties met with Judge Gerson and were able to reach a settlement.

The parties had agreed to and submitted the attached Settlement Agreement and Release indicating the terms of the agreement. The matter was forwarded to the Department of Education who remanded it back to the Office of Administrative Law on July 28, 2011 in order to have the handwritten portions of the settlement initialed by the parties. Counsel had their respective clients initial the handwritten modifications of the settlement agreement and returned it to the undersigned on August 16, 2011.

Having reviewed the record and the settlement terms, I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures on the attached document.
2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy between them and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and, therefore, ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

OAL DKT. NO. EDU 03151-11

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

This Agreement is made by and between the Jefferson Township Board of Education (hereinafter "Board"), having its principal offices at 28 Bowling Green Parkway, Lake Hopatcong, New Jersey, and Kirsten Smith (hereinafter referred to as "Smith"), residing at 3 North Glen Circle, Oak Ridge, New Jersey, in an effort to resolve the Tenure Charges pending before the Commissioner of Education, for hearing at the Office of Administrative law, and the Superior Court litigation bearing Docket Number MRS-L-001391 10, and to resolve all remaining issues between the parties.

WHEREAS, the parties have determined that resolution of this matter without proceeding further in the pending tenure dismissal hearing pursuant to the Tenure Employees Hearing Law, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10, et seq., and the pending Superior Court action, is in the interests of the public and consistent with furthering the public good, since the Petitioner District will obtain its goal of no longer employing Respondent as a tenured teacher, without having to resort to a lengthy hearing to address twenty-three tenure charges, the anticipated number of witnesses to be produced (which may include student and former student witnesses), the anticipated time and expense of the hearing, the loss of services of three top District administrators during the course of the preparation and hearing, as well as the uncertainty of completing the case in the five hearing dates currently scheduled; and

4. During the term of said suspension, and in perpetuity following the approval of this Agreement by the Commissioner, Smith will not volunteer for, be a participant in, or attend any program, event, or activity which is at all related to the Jefferson Township Public Schools, which shall include, but not be limited to, any program, event or activity which is sponsored by the Jefferson Township Public Schools, any co-curricular or extra curricular program, event or activity involving the students of the Jefferson Township Public Schools (regardless of location), any program, event or

This shall not include Smith's participation in or attendance at any program related to her children during such time as they attend District schools.

5. In consideration of the foregoing, the Board will not prosecute the tenure changes against Smith.

6. In consideration of the foregoing, Smith hereby releases and forever discharges the Board and its present and former affiliates, subsidiaries, officers, directors, agents, employees, and their successors and assigns, from any and all actions, causes of action, suits, claims, charges or complaints which Smith may have or may have had, or may claim to have or have had, in the past, currently, ~~or in the future~~, against any of them, except as may be necessary to enforce this Agreement. Smith acknowledges that this general release specifically waives and releases all claims including. but not limited to, claims arising under federal, State, and local laws prohibiting employment discrimination, claims arising under the State education laws, N.J.S.A. 18A:1-1, et seq., including but not limited to the "Tenure" laws set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:28-1, et seq., and the "Tenure Employees Hearing Law," set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10, et seq., as well as any and all claims or rights arising under the Civil Rights Acts of 1964 and 1991, 42. 12. Smith acknowledges that she has carefully read and fully understands all of the terms of this Agreement, and has fully discussed the terms hereof, including the general release contained herein, with her attorney, Sanford Oxfeld, Esq., that she has had a reasonable period of time to consider the terms hereof, and that she enters into this Agreement voluntarily and with the advice of counsel.

13. EDWARD A. KLISZUS	:
COMPLAINANT,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
RHONDA WILLIAMS BEMBRY, HACKENSACK BOARD OF EDUCATION, BERGEN COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter contains a Consent Order and supporting Affidavit of Rhonda Williams Bembry, a member of the Hackensack Board of Education, that sets forth the terms and conditions of a proposed settlement agreement of the parties resolving all issues raised by the instant ethics complaint against her, wherein the parties agree that respondent has violated the Code of Ethics for School Board Members and shall be subject to the penalty of reprimand. Such agreement further specifies that by agreeing to this penalty, the respondent agrees to waive any and all hearings to which she is entitled and further agrees not to oppose or appeal the reprimand. At its meeting of August 23, 2011, the School Ethics Commission ("Commission") determined to accept the parties' proposed settlement and forwarded its decision along with the record to the Commissioner for review of the recommended sanction.

Upon his thorough review, the Commissioner accepts – for the reasons succinctly presented in the Commission's decision – that a sanction of reprimand is the appropriate penalty in this matter.

Accordingly respondent Rhonda Williams Bembry is hereby reprimanded as a school official found to have violated the School Ethics Act.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This matter arises from a complaint filed on October 4, 2010 by Dr. Edward A. Kliszus, Superintendent of Schools, against Rhonda Williams Bembry, a member of the Hackensack Board of Education alleging that the respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(b), (c), (d), (e), (f), (g), (h) and (i) of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members. After being granted an extension for good cause shown, on January 19, 2011, a Motion to Dismiss in Lieu of Answer was filed on behalf of the respondent. The motion included an allegation that the complaint was frivolous pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(e). Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:28-8.2(a), a responsive statement was filed on behalf of the complainant on February 3, 2011.

At its meeting on February 22, 2011, the Commission voted to grant the respondent's Motion to Dismiss the allegations in Counts 1, 2, 3 and 4 that the respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(h) and the allegations in Counts 2 and 3 that the respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c). The Commission voted to deny the motion as to all other allegations and further found that the complaint was not frivolous, in accordance with the standard set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:28-1.2. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:28-10.8(a), the Commission voted to transmit this matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for hearing, after the respondent filed her answer to the remaining claims.

After transmittal of this matter to the OAL, the parties submitted a Consent Order and supporting Affidavit of Rhonda Williams Bembry which sets forth the terms and conditions of a proposed settlement of the issues raised in the complaint. The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) concluded that the Consent Order meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and the matter was returned to the Commission for review. Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8 and for good cause shown, the Commission was granted an extension of time in which to issue its final decision in this matter.

The Initial Decision of the ALJ approving the Consent Order was reviewed by the Commission at its July 26, 2011 meeting. The Commission determined to accept the proposed settlement.

In her affidavit, the respondent acknowledged: (1) that she engaged in communication both publicly and by email that was improper for a Board member; (2) that she made improper comments at Board meetings on June 8, 2010 and August 23, 2010; and (3) that she engaged in conduct and communication regarding the hiring of personnel that was improper. The respondent further acknowledged that her conduct violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(b), (d), (e), (f), (g) and (i) of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members. (Affidavit of Rhonda Williams Bembry at pp. 1-2) The Consent Order states that the settlement of the within matter "shall not constitute precedent or be considered an admission of guilt in other pending or future litigation." (Consent Order at p. 2) The parties agree that the respondent shall be subject to a penalty of reprimand and that by agreeing to this penalty, the respondent agrees to waive any and all hearings to which she is entitled; she further agrees not to oppose or appeal the reprimand. (Id.)

While the Commission takes note of the numerous allegations that were raised by the complainant in this matter and is admittedly troubled by the complainant's willingness to consent to a resolution which includes a penalty inconsistent with the Commission's prior rulings, given the multiple violations acknowledged by the respondent in this matter,[1] the Commission also recognizes:

> the strong public policy of this State favoring the settlement of litigation, including contested cases before the OAL. Settlements permit parties to resolve disputes on mutually acceptable terms rather than exposing themselves to the uncertainties of litigation. See Morris County Fair Hous. Council v. Boonton Township, 197 N.J. Super. 359, 366, 484 A.2d 1302 (Law Div. 1984), aff'd o.b., 209 N.J.Super. 108, 506 A.2d 1284 (App. Div. 1986). "Settlements also save parties litigation expenses and facilitate the administration of the courts by conserving judicial resources." Ibid. Consequently, settlements are generally upheld absent clear and convincing evidence of fraud or other compelling circumstances. See Nolan v. Lee Ho, 120 N.J. 465, 472, 577 A.2d 143 (1990) Ocean County Walton League v. DEP, 303 N.J.Super. 1, 10 (App. Div. 1997).

Additionally, where the parties to the matter are school officials, the conservation of public resources necessarily becomes a compelling factor to be weighed.

DECISION

For the reasons set forth above, the Commission adopts the Initial Decision of the ALJ accepting the Consent Order signed by the parties in this matter.

PENALTY

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c), this decision shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of Education for review of the recommended sanction of reprimand.

Re: In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Rena Graves, School District of the City of Pleasantville, Atlantic County

Dear Parties:

I have reviewed the petition and answer filed in the matter referenced above and, having done so, have determined to dismiss the appeal for failure to state a claim cognizable before the Commissioner of Education.

In its petition, the school district, seeks dismissal of respondent Graves by way of tenure charges alleging excessive absenteeism. By way of answer, respondent points out that she has been serving in petitioner's district as an instructional aide and is therefore not a statutorily tenured employee.

After a review of the supporting documents, it is clear that the inapplicability to respondent of the school laws governing tenure leaves me with no issue or claim within my jurisdiction or upon which I may grant relief.

I hereby decline to continue with contested case proceedings and dismiss the petition of appeal.*

Record Closed: July 25, 2011 Decided: August 25, 2011

BEFORE LISA JAMES-BEAVERS, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The Cinnaminson Board of Education (Board) brought charges against respondent Kathryn Cornforth, a tenured teacher in the District, alleging incapacity, conduct unbecoming, insubordination and excessive absenteeism. Kathryn Cornforth also filed a petition against the Board charging that the Board's determination to withhold her increment for the 2009-2010 school year was arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable and in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:29-14.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On August 31, 2009, the Board filed charges against Ms. Cornforth with the New Jersey Commissioner of Education. On September 10, 2009, Ms. Cornforth filed an Answer. The petition and answer were transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law where they were filed on September 17, 2009, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13 for determination as a contested case. On October 9, 2009, Ms. Cornforth filed a petition of appeal with the New Jersey Commissioner of Education. On October 9, 2009, the Board filed an answer. The petition and answer were transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law where they were filed on October 14, 2009. On November 4, 2009, Administrative Law Judge Israel Dubin issued an Order consolidating the two cases for hearing. On March 8, 2010, Judge Dubin signed a Consent Protective Order protecting the confidentiality of the information designated as such during the course of discovery and trial.

Hearing dates were scheduled for June 2010 and September 2010, but adjourned to allow counsel time to reach a settlement. Subsequently, several status conferences were held on the case, the last of which was scheduled for June 16, 2011. Prior to that status conference, counsel for the Board and counsel for Ms. Cornforth wrote separate letters, attached hereto as P-1 (Board) and P-1 (Cornforth) on June 13, 2011, advising that Ms. Cornforth had passed away and asking that the petitions be dismissed as moot. Subsequently, Judge Dubin retired and the case was transferred to bring to a conclusion. After being assigned, I convened a telephone conference on July 25, 2011, to discuss the case and counsel were in agreement that there were no further issues pending and the cases could be dismissed based on the statements in their letters.

CONCLUSION AND ORDER

The only issue to be determined is whether the two petitioners' claims should be dismissed as moot due to the untimely death of Ms. Cornforth. It is well settled that "questions that have become moot or academic prior to judicial scrutiny generally have been held to be an improper subject for judicial review." Anderson v. Sills, 143 N.J. Super. 432, 437 (Ch. Div. 1976). See Oxfeld v. New Jersey State Bd. of Education, 68 N.J. 301 (1975) (proceeding challenging the constitutionality of a school regulation governing student distribution of pamphlets on school grounds was moot where petitioners were no longer students at the school). An action is moot when it no longer presents a justiciable controversy because the issues involved have become academic, or when a decision is sought on a matter which, when rendered, will have no practical effect on the existing controversy. Victoria v. Woodbridge Twp. Bd. of Educ., 1982 S.L.D. 1, 5.

Applying these standards, I agree with the Board's and Ms. Cornforth's positions as set forth in their letters of June 13, 2011, that there is no longer a justiciable controversy and the decision initially sought will have no practical effect. Further, since Ms. Cornforth is now deceased, there is no concern pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6 regarding her license. I therefore CONCLUDE that the Board's tenure charges and Ms. Cornforth's challenge to the Board's determination to withhold her increment are now moot. I therefore ORDER that the above-captioned petitions be DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

M.E.M. on behalf of minor child L.A.V.,	:
PETITIONER,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
V.	:	DECISION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF SOUTH PLAINFIELD, MIDDLESEX COUNTY,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner appealed the determination of the respondent Board that her grandson, L.A.V., was not eligible for a free public education in the South Plainfield school district between March and September 2011, when L.A.V. was living with his grandparents. The respondent contended that L.A.V. did not meet the requirements for enrollment as a non-resident affidavit student, and filed a counterclaim for tuition.

The ALJ found that: the testimony of M.E.M. and her daughter, G.M.T. – L.A.V.'s mother – was believable, credible and persuasive; G.M.T. does not contribute anything to the support of L.A.V.; petitioner has proven by a preponderance of the credible evidence that she supports L.A.V. gratis; L.A.V. was removed from his mother's care by petitioner because of the violence she witnessed and the emotional strife that L.A.V. was inflicting upon his mother and siblings; the emotional discord and financial insecurity experienced by the family resulted from the long illness and subsequent death of L.A.V.'s stepfather, and clearly qualified as family hardship. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that petitioner had met her burden to prove family hardship, and that L.A.V. is entitled to a free public education in the district as an affidavit student. Subsequent to the issuance of the ALJ's initial decision, the respondent Board submitted a motion to reopen the record in which it advised that L.A.V. had gone to live with his biological father in New York State and inferred that this turn of events negated any finding of economic hardship and precluded L.A.V.'s entitlement to a free public education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1b.

Upon a full and independent review, the Commissioner denied respondent's motion to reopen the record and granted petitioner's appeal with respect to the time period from March to September 2011. In so doing, the Commissioner found, inter alia, that: respondent's motion was heavily dependent on speculation; L.A.V. was removed from the family home because of behavioral problems that resulted from emotional and financial problems in the wake of the death of his stepfather; and the hardship that justifies a free education for affidavit students is not limited to economic hardship.

M.E.M. on behalf of minor child L.A.V.,	:
PETITIONER,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
V.	:	DECISION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF SOUTH PLAINFIELD, MIDDLESEX COUNTY,	:
RESPONDENT.	:

This controversy arose when the respondent school district determined that L.A.V. – who lived in South Plainfield with his grandparents between March and September 2011 – was not entitled to a free public education in its district during that period of time. Upon review of the record and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) – including the witness credibility determinations made therein – the Commissioner adopts the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) determination that L.A.V.'s move to his grandparents' home in South Plainfield was the result of hardships that he, his mother, and his siblings were experiencing, and that his situation met the standards set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b) warranting a free public education for "affidavit" students.

The Commissioner acknowledges the motion to reopen the record which respondent filed on September 14, 2011. In that motion, respondent: 1) advised that L.A.V. has gone to live with his biological father in New York State; 2) urged the Commissioner to presume that L.A.V.'s father could have cared for him from March 2011 forward; 3) inferred that L.A.V. did not, then, live with his grandparents as a result of economic hardship; and 4) concluded that L.A.V. was consequently not entitled to a free public education in its district under N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b). No response to the motion has been filed on behalf of petitioner.

At the outset, the Commissioner notes that respondent's motion is heavily dependent upon speculation. Equally significant, however, is the fact that – separate and apart from the financial capabilities of L.A.V.'s biological father – the record indicates that M.E.M. removed L.A.V. from his mother's home because he was exhibiting behavioral problems in the wake of his stepfather's death. That death was clearly hard on the family, emotionally and financially, and appeared to precipitate aggressive behavior by L.A.V.

Nothing in respondent's motion refutes those facts, which were proffered by testimony that the ALJ found to be credible.[1] Moreover, the hardship that justifies a free education for an affidavit student is not limited to economic hardship. The child's parent is required to file a sworn statement that "he is not capable of supporting or providing care for the child due to a family or economic hardship." N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(1) (emphasis added). Such was the case here.

Accordingly, respondent's motion to reopen the record is denied. The ALJ's determination that L.A.V. qualified for a free public education under N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1 is adopted, the petition is granted with respect to the time period from March to September 2011, and respondent's counterclaim is dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[2]

BEFORE CARIDAD F. RIGO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner, M.E.M., appealed the determination by respondent, Board of Education of the Borough of South Plainfield (Board/District), that her minor grandson, L.A.V., was not entitled to a free public education in the District. Petitioner claimed that the minor child was entitled to a free public education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b).

Respondent answered that the application had not shown family or economic hardship or otherwise satisfied the requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1b(1). On or about March 2011, the Board denied petitioner's application to have her grandson, L.A.V., admitted to school in the District. On or about March 25, 2011, the petitioner filed a residency appeal pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1 concerning this residency dispute. The Board filed an answer denying the allegations in the petition, with a counterclaim for tuition.

On April 25, 2011, the Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law for a hearing as a contested case. A hearing was scheduled for August 11, 2011, at which time the matter was heard. The record remained open for the submission of post-hearing briefs. Post-hearing submissions were received by August 30, 2011 and the record was closed.

ISSUE

Is L.A.V., eligible to attend the South Plainfield Public School District free of charge in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)?

FACTS

M.E.M.

M.E.M. is the petitioner and the grandmother of L.A.V. M.E.M. is seventy-seven years old, she and her husband, the minor's grandfather who is eighty-one years of age, have lived in South Plainfield for more than fifty-five years. She raised all four of her children in South Plainfield; all of her children attended the South Plainfield schools. They own their home. Her husband suffers from dementia and diabetes and needs constant care.

M.E.M. said that L.A.V. came to live with them in March 2011 because he was physically aggressive with his mother and younger siblings; he was disrespectful to his mother and was otherwise acting out. M.E.M. testified that in March 2011, she actually saw L.A.V. push his mother up against a wall and really rough her up. M.E.M. said that immediately after that incident she told her daughter that she was taking L.A.V. with her to South Plainfield. According to M.E.M., L.A.V. developed a pattern of misbehaving and aggressive acting out in late 2010, shortly after his father died.

M.E.M. testified that she went to the South Plainfield High School to complete the necessary paper work to properly enroll L.A.V. in the high school, and it was during this enrollment process that the current issue developed.

She stated that L.A.V. lives in the house with her and her husband. According to petitioner L.A.V. is her child. She does not consider him a grandchild but actually her child. She cares and attends to him as if he were her minor child. She does not receive any money from L.A.V.'s mother, who is her daughter, for L.A.V.'s care and maintenance. She said that she did not provide any checks or receipts for any expenses for L.A.V. because she has not kept any records of what she spends and has spent on L.A.V. L.A.V. is her child now and she is not keeping track of how much money she spends on him. She gives L.A.V. money every day for his lunch. She also gives him cash for whatever else he needs.

At home M.E.M. said L.A.V. has his own room. He does his chores around the house and helps her out with the care of her husband, his grandfather. L.A.V. mows the lawn, does the laundry for the house, cleans the house; she said L.A.V. is like having a child around the house again. She said L.A.V. has not given her a bit of trouble. L.A.V. attends school regularly and is doing well in school. She has not received any negative reports from South Plainfield High School about L.A.V.

L.A.V. spends the weekends at home with her in South Plainfield, he has visited his mother in Willingboro once or twice since moving to South Plainfield.

M.E.M. testified that she did not ask her daughter to move L.A.V. to South Plainfield with her because of the school district but because of the emotional and financial hardship her daughter was experiencing since the death of her daughter's husband. It was not the school district that prompted the move but the situation in her daughter's home. M.E.M. said her daughter is struggling financially having to support three young children on Social Security. She believes the death of her son-in-law after a long illness from cancer emotionally destroyed L.A.V. She also believes that seeing his mother stressing over the death and financial affects resulting from his father's long illness caused L.A.V. to have a breakdown of sorts.

M.E.M. stated that she needed to help her daughter and by removing L.A.V. from her care she was able to ease some of her daughter's burdens. And, at the same time she would be helping L.A.V. L.A.V. is happy in school, does odd jobs for neighbors, stays home and has not exhibited any of the negative behaviors he had when in Willingboro with his mother.

M.E.M. testified that L.A.V. was always very respectful to her and his grandfather. She said she know L.A.V. loves her and his grandfather and would never do or say anything inappropriate to them. She testified that she has never had to call L.A.V.'s attention to anything. In fact, she said that when she saw L.A.V. attack his mother she was taken aback and could not believe her own eyes or ears. She said that was the first and last time she witnessed or heard about such actions about L.A.V.

Gustavia Karen Tirado

Gustavia Karen Tirado is the mother of L.A.V. and the daughter of M.E.M. She lives in Willingboro, New Jersey. She has three children ages seven, nine and L.A.V. who is sixteen. Tirado testified that her husband, L.A.V.'s stepfather, died of cancer after being seriously ill for three years.

Tirado said L.A.V. began acting out shortly after her husband died. She said prior to this L.A.V. was a model child. She said L.A.V. was angry with his stepfather's death. L.A.V. was attending Willingboro High School. According to Tirado, L.A.V. would yell, scream and curse at her and his younger siblings. She said L.A.V. stole money out of her purse, locked his seven year old sister out of the house on a cold winter evening, and he locked her out as well. He fought his nine year old brother to the point that she was scared that L.A.V. would really physically hurt him. She said L.A.V. ran away from her house twice and she had to call the police. L.A.V. actually picked her up and pinned her against the wall. He picked her up and threw her on the floor and was about to strangle her when her mother, M.E.M., who was visiting, stopped him. It was that very day that her mother took L.A.V. with her to South Plainfield. She said that day she decided that L.A.V. could no longer stay in the house with her and the other children. She said the police had to be called to her house numerous times because of L.A.V.'s behavior.

She and L.A.V. tried to work things out by attending anger management classes and counseling but it was of no help.

Tirado stated that she worked as a customer service representative for nine years. She had to reduce her hours to part-time when her husband's illness took a turn for the worse and needed more home care. She said ultimately she had to stop working to care for her husband full-time. She owns a house in Willingboro however she is two months in arrears with the mortgage. Her only source of income is $2,200 from Social Security. Her mortgage is $1,200. She stated that her husband had a small life insurance policy and with those proceeds she purchased a car, prior to that the family did not have a car. She said she used the balance of the proceeds of the life insurance policy to pay mostly medical bills. She is on Family Care-Medicaid.

Tirado testified that she sees L.A.V. on the weekends when she goes to South Plainfield.

Tirado said she does not contribute anything towards L.A.V.'s living expenses. She said her parents have not asked her for any money nor have they asked her to reimburse them. She says she wants to care for her son but at the moment she just cannot. She wants to do what she is supposed to do for her children but she can not and needs the help from her parents.

Since attending South Plainfield High School L.A.V. has not fought or been suspended in school; he attends school regularly and is doing well. She says all reports about L.A.V. have been positive. She envisioned having to put L.A.V. in some sort of out of home placement because she could not handle him but then her parents took him and it has worked out very well.

LEGAL DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSION

The statute governing this matter, N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, provides in pertinent part as follows:

Public schools shall be free to the following persons over five and under twenty years of age:

> a. Any person who is domiciled within the school district;
> b. (1) Any person who is kept in the home of another person domiciled within the school district and is supported by such other person gratis as if he were such other person's own child, upon filing by such other person with the secretary of the board of education of the district, if so required by the board, a sworn statement that he is domiciled within the district and is supporting the child gratis and will assume all personal obligations for the child relative to school requirements and that he intends so to keep and support the child gratuitously for a longer time than merely through the school term, and a copy of his lease if a tenant, or a sworn statement by his landlord acknowledging his tenancy if residing as a tenant without a written lease, and upon filing by the child's parent or guardian with the secretary of the board of education a sworn statement that he is not capable of supporting or providing care for the child due to a family or economic hardship and that the child is not residing with the resident of the district solely for the purpose of receiving a free public education within the district. The statement shall be accompanied by documentation to support the validity of the sworn statements, information from or about which shall be supplied only to the board and only to the extent that it directly pertains to the support or nonsupport of the child. If in the judgment of the board of education the evidence does not support the validity of the claim by the resident, the board may deny admission to the child.

Accordingly, the "affidavit student" provision authorizes boards of education to challenge the validity of affidavits submitted by parents and relatives or friends to determine if the pupil is entitled to a free education in the particular district.

Based upon the "affidavit student" law, petitioner is required to satisfy a four-prong test by demonstrating that (1) petitioner is domiciled within respondent's school district; (2) petitioner is supporting L.A.V. gratis; (3) Tirado is not capable of supporting or providing care for L.A.V. due to family or economic hardship; and (4) L.A.V. is not residing with petitioner solely for the purpose of receiving a free public education in respondent's school district. The burden of proof is on the petitioner to demonstrate each and every element. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b).

The first prong is not at issue in this dispute, as the record is clear that M.E.M. resides within the respondent's school district. Moreover, there is no evidence in the record even suggesting that L.A.V. is residing with M.E.M. solely for the purpose of receiving a free public education in respondent's school district. Accordingly the first and fourth prongs of the statutory requirements have been satisfied and I so FIND.

With regard to the second prong, the term "gratis" is not defined within the statute. Black's Law Dictionary 708 (7th ed. 1999) defines "gratis" to mean "free; without compensation." in the context of N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(1) the term means that a person undertakes the support of a child without charging or seeking reward. I FIND that M.E.M. is caring for L.A.V. free, without compensation.

In the matter of E.L. v. Board of Education of Morris Hills Regional School District, EDU 3172-97, Initial Decision (January 3, 2000), aff'd and modified, Comm'r (February 15, 2000) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>, the administrative law judge held that although the mother had ample means to support her daughter and contributed $200 per month to the grandparents for the child's living expenses, the petitioner nevertheless met the "gratis test," finding that the motivation of the grandparents "arose solely out of love and concern for their grandchild and was not dependent on making money." In the within matter the motivation of M.E.M. appears to be the same.

CREDIBILITY FINDINGS

It is the obligation and responsibility of the undersigned to weigh the credibility of the witnesses in this matter in order to make a determination. Credibility is the value that a fact finder gives to a witness's testimony. The word contemplates an overall assessment of a witness's story in light of its rationality or internal consistency, and the "manner in which it hangs together" with other evidence. Carbo v. United States, 314 F.2d 718, 749 (9th Cir. 1963). Credible testimony is testimony that must not only proceed from the mouth of a credible witness but must be credible in itself. It must be such as common experience, knowledge, and common observation can accept as probable under the circumstances. State v. Taylor, 38 N.J. Super 6, 24 (App. Div. 1955). A fact finder is expected to base decisions of credibility on his or her common sense, intuition or experience. Barnes v. United States, 412 U.S. 837, 93 S.Ct. 2357, 37 L.Ed.2d 380 (1973).

There is no mechanical formula for determining the truth. One factor to determine which party's version of the incident has the "reasonable probability of truth" is that the "interest, motive, bias, or prejudice of a witness may affect his credibility and justify the [trier of fact], whose province it is to pass upon the credibility of an interested witness, in disbelieving his testimony." State v. Salimone, 19 N.J. Super 600, 608 (App. Div. 1952). Further, "[a] trier of fact may reject testimony because it is inherently incredible, or because it is inconsistent with other testimony or with common experience, or because it is overborne by other testimony." Congleton v. Pura-Tex Stone Corp., 53 N.J. Super 282, 287 (App. Div. 1958). Also, it is the function of the trier of fact to determine credibility based on the internal consistency or improbability of the witnesses' testimonies using experience and everyday affairs to give additional guidance. Whether petitioner has met the burden of proving each element of the statute depends on the credibility of the evidence. Thus, I have also considered factors such as the witnesses' demeanor, as well as external measures of credibility.

In the within matter the District's determination was based on M.E.M.'s affidavit to the District marked Exhibit J-1., where Tirado states that she will provide financial support for L.A.V. Tirado testified that such a comment was not to be taken literally. She meant to convey that L.A.V. would not be a financial burden to the public or to the school district. She also stated that it was her pride that prevented her from stating outright that she could not afford to care for her children. I FIND the testimony of M.E.M. and Tirado to be believable, credible and persuasive. I CONCLUDE that Tirado does not contribute anything to the support of L.A.V. and that petitioner has proven by a preponderance of the credible evidence that she supports L.A.V. gratis, thereby satisfying the second prong of the statute.

The remaining requirement is that a family or economic hardship exist that prevents Tirado from supporting or providing care for L.A.V. The District contends that petitioner has not proven that a family hardship exists. In the matter of K.M. v. Board of Education of Ocean Township, 96 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 632, a fourteen-year-old student had been living with her mother and brother in a two-bedroom apartment in Neptune, N.J. The student and her brother shared a bedroom, which was deemed inappropriate by the family as the student reached her teenage years. The student's mother could not afford a three-bedroom apartment, so the student moved into the grandmother's home in Ocean Township. The commissioner, in these circumstances, found that a sufficient economic hardship existed to justify the student's enrollment in the Ocean Township district schools. In the matter of McClean v. Board of Education of Township of Ocean, 96 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 632, it was found to be inappropriate for a child entering adolescence to share a bedroom with her brother when their parents could not afford a larger apartment. Under the circumstances a hardship was found to exist. In the matter of Y.I.S. v. Northern Valley regional High School District, EDU-10964-97, Initial Decision (December 6, 2001), adopted, Comm'r (January 8, 2002) aff'd., State Board (May 2, 2002), the travel schedule and working hours of a single parent were found to constitute a hardship on a parent.

In the case at bar, L.A.V. was removed from his mother's care by M.E.M. because of the violence she witnessed and the emotional strife L.A.V. was inflicting on his mother and siblings. M.E.M., as a mother and a grandmother made the decision that it was best for the family if L.A.V. was not living with his mother in Willingboro. She moved L.A.V. out of Willingboro and in with her in South Plainfield. I FIND that this highly charged emotional situation, resulting from the long illness and subsequent death of L.A.V.'s stepfather, coupled with the consequential financial problems all clearly rise to the level of saying that this is a family going through a hardship.

Based upon all of the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has met the burden of proving that these circumstances constitute a family hardship, thereby satisfying the third prong of the test.

Therefore based upon all of the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that L.A.V. is entitled to a free public education in the District.

ORDER

It is ORDERED that L.A.V. is eligible to receive a free public education in the South Plainfield School District.

ORDER

I hereby FILE this Initial Decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF SUSAN PAREZO,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE BOROUGH	:	DECISION
OF LAKEHURST, OCEAN COUNTY.	:

SYNOPSIS

The petitioning Board certified two charges of unbecoming conduct against respondent – a physical education teacher employed by the district – for a June 2010 incident during which the respondent allegedly balled up pieces of clear tape, placed them on the person of J.H., one of the second graders in her gym class, and allowed and/or encouraged other students to follow her lead, thereby humiliating and embarrassing said student. Respondent also allegedly placed a piece of tape on J.H.'s mouth, and subsequently made false statements denying her role in the incident. The Board sought removal of respondent from her tenured position.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: the incident upon which these tenure charges are based was disturbing and serious; respondent failed to properly consider the consequences of her actions and the impact upon J.H. and the other second graders in the class; respondent's assertions that her actions were innocent, spontaneous, and in the spirit of fun fail to justify the unsettling behavior that subjected a young student to ridicule and embarrassment; respondent has taught for 21 years, and should have realized that her actions were inappropriate and unacceptable for a teaching professional; respondent's unwillingness to either own up to her responsibility for her behavior or to appropriately apologize to the victim and his family further demonstrate her failure to maintain her proper role as a leader in the school setting. Accordingly, the ALJ found that – based on the evidence and testimony presented at hearing – the Board met its burden of establishing by a preponderance of the credible evidence that respondent is guilty of unbecoming conduct, and concluded that her behavior warrants dismissal from her tenured employment.

Upon independent review of the record, the Commissioner adopted the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. Respondent was dismissed from her tenured employment, and a copy of this decision was forwarded to the State Board of Examiners for action against her certificate(s) as that body deems appropriate.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE	:
HEARING OF SUSAN PAREZO,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. At the request of the respondent, the parties were granted a significant extension of time within which to file exceptions and reply exceptions to the Initial Decision.[1] Both submissions were filed within the extended timelines.

Respondent's exceptions are essentially a replication of her Post Hearing and Post Hearing Reply Briefs advanced before the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) below, recasting the arguments therein to support her contention that the ALJ erroneously found the Board had established its charges against her. Respondent additionally challenges the ALJ's credibility determinations which found the Board's witnesses to be credible – particularly the young children who testified to different versions of the alleged incident – while finding her testimony unpersuasive. Finally, respondent maintains that the ALJ's recommended penalty of removal from her tenured position is severe and disproportionate to the charges against her which were "limited to one incident that lasted mere minutes involving an activity that was conducted in a fun and playful atmosphere." (Respondent's Exceptions pages 1-70, quote at 63)

[1] The grant of these extensions necessitated the Commissioner seeking an extension of time for the completion of his decision in this matter.

In reply, the Board argues that the ALJ's findings and conclusions were reasonably reached and founded on sufficient credible evidence in the record. As to penalty, the Board concedes that the recommended penalty, while severe, is fully warranted because:

> [t]he Respondent is an educated professional who has a duty, not only to educate her students, but to set an example of proper conduct. Such a position requires the trust of the school district who employs her; the trust of the parents whose children she is teaching; the trust of her co-workers; and most importantly, the trust of her students.
> The Respondent violated this trust. She used her position to single out and belittle a student in front of his peers; she encouraged her students to stick tape on a fellow student; and she placed tape over the mouth of a child. Perhaps most importantly, when confronted with her conduct unbecoming, the Respondent lied to her supervisors, her peers, her students, and to the trial court. Such a serious violation of trust conduct warrants dismissal. [sic] (Board's Reply Exceptions, pages 1-11, quote at 11)

Upon comprehensive review and consideration of the entire record of this matter, which included transcripts of the proceedings at the OAL,[2] together with exhibits, post-hearing briefs, and the parties' exception and reply arguments, the Commissioner agrees with the conclusion of the ALJ that the District has established that respondent is guilty of unbecoming conduct warranting removal from her tenured position.

In so determining, the Commissioner finds respondent's exceptions unpersuasive, largely reflecting arguments and objections raised before the ALJ below and clearly taken into account by him in weighing the testimony and evidence, and in concluding that the record overwhelmingly supported the Board's charges. Based on his overall assessment of the Board's witnesses, the ALJ found them to be "highly credible and worthy of belief." It is also especially evident from his decision that the ALJ recognized his obligation with respect to the care which must be taken in evaluating testimony provided by young students. Specifically he explained:

[2] The record contains transcripts of proceedings conducted on April 1 (including a second transcript containing the testimony of J.H. only, which took place in a separate hearing room on the same day), April 5, April 8 (including a second transcript containing the testimony of C.C. only, which took place in a separate hearing room on the same day), April 11 and April 20, 2011.

> (A)fter having considered and closely scrutinized the oral statements made at hearing by J.H., C.C. and Z.W., and the testimony of Bixby, as well as having considered under the residuum rule the largely corroborating statements made by the fellow students A., J., A., and J. to Hamilton and Davis in their respective investigations..., the much greater weight of the evidence supports the conclusion that Parezo specifically, intentionally and unequivocally affixed tape to the mouth of J.H. and then removed it as Bixby entered the area. The activity was observed by the students, who were clearly in the best position to observe what had happened. As part of the analysis, I carefully considered the answers provided at hearing by J.H. and C.C., neither one of whom had any vested interest in the outcome other than to tell me the truth. Their answers were refreshing and straightforward. I detected absolutely no hesitation on the part of either one of them regarding what they had observed and/or experienced. Similarly, although to a slightly lesser degree I afforded credibility and appropriate weight to the statements of Z.W. as well, even though her vantage point was not nearly as good as the two second graders who were immediately in front of Parezo. (Initial Decision at 51)

In contrast, the ALJ found that respondent's "account of the events is not credible and is not worthy of belief." (Initial Decision at 50) The ALJ having had the opportunity to assess the credibility of the various witnesses who appeared before him, and having made findings of fact based on their testimony, the standard governing the Commissioner's review is clear and unequivocal:

> The agency head may not reject or modify any findings of fact as to issues of credibility of lay witness testimony unless it is first determined from a review of the record that the findings are arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable or are not supported by sufficient, competent, and credible evidence in the record. [N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c)]

Notwithstanding respondent's arguments to the contrary, the Commissioner finds no basis whatsoever in the record to reject the ALJ's recitations of testimony, his determinations of witness credibility, or his fact finding analysis and conclusions as to the truth of the Board's allegations and the characterization of respondent's behavior as unbecoming conduct.

Turning to the appropriate penalty to be imposed in this matter, the Commissioner is mindful that the "[f]actors to be taken into account in making a penalty determination include the nature and circumstances of the incidents or charges, the individual's prior record and present attitude, the effect of such conduct on the maintenance of discipline among the students and staff, and the likelihood of such behavior recurring." In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Deborah Suitt-Green, State-operated School District of the City of Newark, Essex County, decided by the Commissioner October 14, 1997, slip. Op. at 32, citing In re Hearing of Ostergren, Franklin School District, 1966 S.L.D. 535, 541; In re Fulcomer, 93 N.J. Super. 404 (App. Div. 1967).

While duly considering respondent's 21 years of apparently unblemished service in the District,[3] the Commissioner, nonetheless, is in full accord with the ALJ's evaluation as to the "disturbing and serious" nature of the incident here:

> Based upon all of the relevant proofs, I FIND that [respondent] inappropriately singled out one student, J.H. and made him the butt of her "fun" time in the presence of all of his classroom peers plus the eighth grader Z.W. She then placed tape on his shoulders and fostered and encouraged the opportunity for his fellow students to do the same on him. She then placed a piece of flat tape over his mouth as well as at or immediately near his cheek. And then, at or about the time of the arrival of Kathleen Bixby, the second grade teacher, she removed the tape from the mouth of J.H., all of this being witnessed by the students and Bixby. The tape briefly left a red rectangular mark on the child's face. Her role in this process as the adult leader was deplorable, whether she felt it was a fun activity or not. The child even received some taunts from his classmates, such as "tape boy." Despite what Parezo contends, the child J.H. expressed clearly that he was humiliated by the experience and then, as he described it at the hearing, he then felt anger at his teacher for having done what she did. This is hardly a reason to instill confidence in children or their families in the community by the adult educational leadership. [sic] In fact, the child was so upset that he feared going > back to school. The impact on the child was significant and distinguishes it from other cases in which innocent play got out of hand. This definitely indicates that damage had been done to the child, whether or not Parezo personally felt it was neither punitive, bullying or malicious. Also, his parents were appropriately and understandably upset with the misconduct by Parezo. Curiously, for all of that, Parezo never even truly apologized to the child for what she had done. Her "apology", such as it was, was lame and feeble at best. All she had to really say at that time was what Mrs. H. had requested, which was the two magic words: "I'm sorry." Instead, she gave a response which indicated that she was only sorry for the matter having gone to that point. That hardly sounds like an apology for misconduct, especially where she violated the child so deliberately in front of his peers. The activity may have been fun for Parezo and the other students, but it definitely did not impact similarly for J.H., who was the victim. As a result, she violated the interests of J.H., as set forth in the first charge in this matter...The parent's reactions demonstrate how upset the entire family was by the incident. And yet, for all that, she never really apologized.

[3] The Commissioner notes with interest the ALJ's observation that respondent's long service in the District might in some measure be viewed as a negative factor in light of her behavior. "There was absolutely no excuse for [her]conduct. Perhaps a less experienced teacher could be given some margin of leniency based upon the rationale or justification of immaturity. This was not the case here, however. Given the evolving nature of awareness and sensitivity to such violations of individual rights and the increasingly focused efforts in school districts to address such improprieties against children generally, this experienced teacher should have known much better under the circumstances." (Initial Decision at 54)

> And then, to further compound her inappropriate conduct, Parezo was not truthful with either Superintendent Hamilton or Principal Davis when they conducted their respective investigations with her, which has been set forth specifically in Charge #two herein. (Initial Decision at 49-50)

Finally, particularly disturbing here is respondent's refusal – even at this late date – to recognize the seriousness of her actions or take responsibility for them. Rather, she continues to view the whole incident as de minimus in nature and scope and remains adamant that the Board's witnesses lied, for one reason or another, about what they saw. Given her steadfast attitude in this regard, the Commissioner is not persuaded that such conduct would not be repeated in the future. Under these circumstances, the Commissioner cannot entertain the prospect of respondent's return to the District and the resultant potential for the perpetration of an unhealthy educational environment.

Accordingly, the recommended decision of the OAL is adopted for the reasons comprehensively detailed therein. Respondent is hereby dismissed from her tenured teaching position with the School District of the Borough of Lakehurst. This matter will be transmitted to the State Board of Examiners for action against respondent's certificate(s) as that body deems appropriate.

OAL DKT. NO. EDU 13216-2010
AGENCY DKT. 646-11/10

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE HEARING OF SUSAN PAREZO, SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE BOROUGH OF LAKEHURST, OCEAN COUNTY.

Steven A. Zabarsky, Esq., appearing for petitioner, Lakehurst Borough Board of Education, (Citta, Holzapfel and Zabarsky, attorneys)

Jason E. Sokolowski, Esq., appearing for respondent, Susan Parezo, (Zazzali, Fagella, Nowak, Kleinbaum and Friedman, attorneys)

Record Closed: June 27, 2011 Decided: August 8, 2011

BEFORE JOHN R. FUTEY, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

In this matter, Petitioner, the Lakehurst Board of Education (hereinafter "Lakehurst" or the 'Board' ") charges respondent, Susan Parezo (hereinafter "Parezo") a tenured teacher, with unbecoming conduct and seeks her removal. Parezo appealed the action.

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law ("OAL") on December 6, 2010, for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. It was assigned to this administrative law judge on December 9, 2010. On January 4, 2011, a prehearing conference was scheduled and held in the above captioned matter, after which, by agreement, the case was scheduled for hearing and to be heard on March 2, April 1, 5, 8 and 11, 2011 at the OAL, Mercerville, New Jersey, after the original dates of February 21 and 28, 2011, were rejected by respondent's counsel due to personal family reasons. Notwithstanding the specific agreement of the parties regarding the scheduling of the matter, the first day of hearing (March 2, 2011) was converted into a case management conference at the request of the parties, who advised that they needed an additional opportunity to complete discovery. At that time the additional date of April 20, 2011 was added to the calendar. The remaining dates on the scheduling calendar remained the same, however.

At the conclusion of the testimony on April 20, 2011, the parties sought transcripts in accordance with statute. However, upon their receipt of those transcripts, the parties then advised they did not have transcripts from the in camera examinations of two minor students who had appeared in this matter. After obtaining those additional transcripts, the briefing schedule was set and, upon receipt of those briefs, the hearing record was to be closed on June 24, 2011. The reply brief by respondent was not received until June 27, 2011. However, in the interest of justice, the hearing record closed at that time after a full consideration of that reply brief.

CHARGES AGAINST PAREZO

Two charges were preferred against Parezo by Theresa M. Hamilton, Interim Superintendent, on September 30, 2010, to wit:

(1.) Unbecoming conduct: That on or about June 11, 2010, Parezo, a tenured physical education teacher with Lakehurst, placed a piece of clear tape on the mouth and shoulder of J.H., a student in the second grade, during school hours. Further, that Parezo, on the same date, caused or allowed to be caused at least one or more students to place tape on the person of J.H., a student in the second grade during school hours and that, further, that conduct by Parezo caused the student J.H. to be humiliated and embarrassed.

(2.) Unbecoming conduct: That on or about June 14, 2010, Parezo, a tenured physical education teacher with Lakehurst, did knowingly, intentionally and willfully making false statements to Theresa M. Hamilton, interim superintendent of Lakehurst, when questioned about the incident involving J.H., a second grade student, occurring on or about June 11, 2010, by denying placing tape on the mouth of J.H.. Further, when she was questioned about that incident by Carmen M. Davis, principal of the Lakehurst School on a separate occasion, did knowingly, intentionally and willfully making false statements by denying placing tape on the mouth of J.H., a second grade student.

BASIC FACTS

The basic facts in this matter reveal that Parezo was employed by Lakehurst for 21 years as a teacher of health and physical education for students in kindergarten through grade eight. During 2010, she shared such teaching and instructional responsibilities with Bryan Vargas, a fellow teacher at Lakehurst, during which time they mostly alternated teaching the two components to all of the grades assigned to them at the Lakehurst School (hereinafter the "School"). For example, during any one marking period Parezo would teach the physical education sessions to the various grade levels, while Vargas would teach health to them. And then they would switch those assignments periodically.

On Friday, June 11, 2010, which was at the end of the school year, she conducted a gym class for Kathleen Bixby's second grade class, during which time she engaged them in "line up kick ball" in the exercise yard adjacent to the school gym. At the end of that class, she brought the students back into the gym through the back door, at which time she observed an eighth grade student whom she knew, Z.W., across the way near her office in the gym. She then proceeded to ask four or five of her students to help her remove the various colored "shapes" which she had lining the gymnasium walls since the school year was coming to an end. One of those students was J.H. The shapes had been affixed to the wall by single-sided tape which was looped around to make it double sided. As she stood in the center of the gym, those students brought the shapes to her. Each of them had four or more of the shapes, which tape they proceeded to remove. Since there were no trash cans available in the immediate area, she proceeded to stick the used tape on her arm. It was at that point that, as Parezo described it at the hearing, she started "being silly" with those students, at which time she stuck tape on J.H., followed by two or three of the other students who also stuck tape on him. She viewed this as being a fun time, even though J.H. was the only one who got tape placed on him. She then claimed that she only "pretended" to stick tape on the face of J.H. It was at or about that point that the classroom teacher, Kathleen Bixby came to the gym to pick up her class, at which time she made certain observations about that activity, which she ultimately and eventually reported to interim superintendent Theresa Hamilton. It was that activity which was the subject of the charges which were brought by Lakehurst in this matter.

TESTIMONY OF THE WITNESSES

In addition to the above recited basic facts, twelve witnesses testified in this matter and their relevant testimonies are summarized as follows.

Carmen Maria Davis

Carmen Maria Davis (hereinafter "Davis") has served as the principal of the School since August 8, 2007, after having previously served as a music teacher in the High Bridge Elementary School. She obtained her bachelor's degree in music education from Morgan State University, Baltimore, Maryland, in 2000 and her Master of Arts degree in educational leadership from Fairleigh Dickinson University in 2005.

Upon arrival at the School, she became involved with all issues related to the management of the school environment. The School has a student population of pre-K through eighth grade and comprises between 450 and 470 students. The Lakehurst Naval facility, which is now part of the Joint Base McGuire/Dix/Lakehurst, is located approximately one mile away from the School.

On a Monday in June, 2010, a situation was brought to her attention by Interim Superintendent Theresa Hamilton, who advised her that a problem had happened between one of her teachers and a student the previous Friday while she was out of the school environment. At that time she received an informal directive from Hamilton to conduct a formal investigation. She proceeded to meet separately with members of the adult staff which included Parezo, Bixby, and Marianne Capasso (a teacher's aide) regarding an incident which had happened at the school gym while Parezo was conducting a "special", which included members of Bixby's second grade class, along with some other students. She first met with Parezo in Davis's office along with two representatives on behalf of Parezo, who were Barbara DeCicco, president of the Teachers Association of Ocean County and Susan Tatlow, a grievance representative on behalf of the local teachers union. The date of that initial meeting escaped her. At that time Davis wanted to know what had happened with Bixby's class on June 11, 2010. Parezo indicated that, as the class was ending, a small group of second grade students helped to remove some wall art or shapes that some students had created the week before. As a result, she asked several of the students to take them down which she viewed as being a routine task. The process was a "fun activity" which the pupils seemed to really enjoy. The pupils peeled the tape away from the shapes. Then one of the pupils made an attempt to place tape on J.H.'s mouth near to his lips but before he was able to actually do it she was able to stop it from happening. Then several of the students began to place tape balls on J.H., who was the only student who it was being done to. All of the students were just "joking around." (What was lost in the story told to Hamilton was that the students had been joking around. In her discussions with Parezo, Hamilton had asked if the pupils had ended the day as they ordinarily would have, to which Parezo indicated was a bit chaotic but not unusual.) In response to what happened next, Davis said:" I don't' really remember specifics, but I know she also said that, " The kids had peeled the tape from the plastic shapes that were stuck on the gym walls," and that she had –I'm just going to stop there. I just need to read. Yes. I'll stop there." (T-C.D.-43-3).

She separately interviewed Capasso and Bixby and later met separately with five or six of those children who were identified as having been in the center of the gym with Parezo at the time. Those meetings with the children occurred in either the counseling room of Mrs. Hughes or the lunchroom. She did not automatically recall the children's names. As part of that process she spoke to J.H. and got his statement. In her affidavit which was submitted in support of the tenure charges (P-10), she then stated "I interviewed J.H. and he said he didn't like having tape placed on his shoulders because the tape was attached to the wall." He stated that Ms. Parezo and several students placed it on his shoulder. He stated that he did not understand why this happened. J.H. also stated that he noticed a few students were laughing at him while Ms. Parezo placed a piece of tape over his lips. J.H. stated that he was upset but did not say anything." (P-10 at 2).

In addition, on that same page of that report she indicated that several of the students had advised her that Parezo had directed several of them to "place the tape on J.H.", that several of them were consistent with their observation that she had also placed a piece of tape on J.H.'s lips and that some of them had also recalled calling out the name "tape boy" to J.H. She submitted her report to Hamilton (which was undated) and later signed the above-noted affidavit on September 29, 2010.

On cross-examination, she acknowledged that she actually had had two separate, independent meetings with Parezo before the end of that school year. The first meeting was a standard "end of year" meeting to review activities from the previous year. The incident was not discussed at that time since she felt that the topics were separate in nature. The second meeting focused on the incident, however. She did not recall any joint meeting with Hamilton and Parezo.

She also noted that her board of education gave her an instruction under policy #3218 about how to conduct a full investigation if there was an allegation of misconduct, which there was in this case. She only gave her report to Hamilton, however.

When asked how she conducted the interview with the various children, she indicated that she did not interview them in the classroom because she did not want to bring attention to it. Her focus was on the six or seven students who had been involved in removing the shapes and not the twelve or fifteen children who were otherwise in Bixby's class since they had been apparently on the other side of the gym doing other activities at the time of the shapes removal. On further cross-examination, she once again confirmed that all of those interviewed students had said that Parezo had put the tape on J.H.'s lips and had directed them to place "tape on [J.]". In addition, Bixby said in her interview that she had only observed Parezo remove the tape from J.H.'s lips and that she had noticed at the time that his face was red. Bixby also told her that she made her observation while she was standing in the doorway of the gym to, which was approximately 15 to 20 feet away from the center of the gym where Parezo stood with those children. In further questioning on cross-examination, she reiterated that Bixby saw what happened, which was that Parezo ripped the tape off the child's mouth. But Bixby admitted that she never reported it for three days. She did not know why, although the incident had occurred on a Friday but she only reported it the next Monday.

Davis acknowledged that Z.W., an eighth grader, was also present in the gym at the time, so she also interviewed her during the same week. Z.W. told her that she had seen the second grade students in the central area of the gym where they were playing with the tape and removing it from the construction paper (aka shapes). She did not see Parezo put any tape on J.H.'s mouth. However, she understood that Z.W. had not been in the gym during the class. Instead, she had gone down to the gym in order to confirm her attendance for a field trip and needed the approval of Parezo in that regard.

She was also questioned on cross-examination about J.H.'s progress report (R-31, which is the same as P-27), which indicated that J.H. exhibited "poor self-control" in the physical education/health class during one reporting period. That class, as she previously indicated, was teams taught by Parezo and Vargas. Bixby contended that Parezo authored those comments and not Vargas.

She was also examined about her understanding regarding an incident which involved Parezo during the 2009-2010 school year with a kindergarten child and which involved a lunch time incident at which time Parezo had chastised the child for having worn sandals during the recess phase of a lunch period. It was Davis' understanding that Parezo did not allow the child to finish her lunch first. Instead, she had taken her to the nurse to see if there were any extra shoes. The child had been upset and thought that Parezo had been very mean to her. As a result, the child did not want to go back to school and was quite upset about the incident. Parezo later apologized and the incident was resolved "happily." Davis felt that Parezo has handled herself professionally and wrote that in an e-mail response to her. (R-11.) She never got disciplined for that incident.

She was also aware that Parezo had been involved in another incident in March, 2010 with another student when she determined that a student had lied about not having lunch money. Parezo, who was then acting as a luncheon monitor, reported him and gave him three days of recess detention. Davis supported her in that action. (R-10.) Further, Davis completed a teacher evaluation regarding Parezo on June 25, 2010, which has two weeks after the incident with J.H. and gave her a positive review. (R-27.) Davis also signed off on her professional development plan at the same time. (R-28.) She also noted that she had previously observed Parezo on January 25, 2010, at which time she viewed her as being an asset to the school. (R-29.) However, she noted that placing tape on a child would not make her an asset under the circumstances.

Kathleen Bixby

Kathleen Bixby is employed by Lakehurst as a second grade teacher, where she has been so employed since approximately 1989. She received her bachelor's degree in education (K to 8) in 1979 from Georgian Court University and her teaching certificate (K to 8) in the same year. She previously taught seventh and eighth grade science at Saint Dominic's Elementary School, Brick, New Jersey in 1979-1980, and reading/language arts at Saint Vincent's Elementary School (Petaluma, California) for five or six years before becoming employed at Lakehurst.

At Lakehurst she teaches all of the core subjects except for the "specials" which includes art, music, physical education and library. Her classroom is located in a different wing of the school from the gymnasium. As a result, it has been her practice to walk her children to the gym in a straight line, where she would wait for the gym teacher, get the "high sign" and then leave. She then picks up the children and takes them back in a reverse procedure. During the 2009-2010 school year she had fourteen students in her class. Parezo and Vargas were the physical education/health teachers. They were together approximately ten years, to her knowledge.

On a Friday in early June, 2010, at approximately 1:40 PM, she went to the gym to pick up her class upon the completion of that session with Parezo. She stopped at the door of the gym and could see well into it. Her class was in a noisy huddle and not in line. She saw the whole class and saw Parezo with them. (See P-31 at point B of her diagram.) She heard "chaotic sounds" which was like laughing and talking, although she did not make out any specific words. J.H. and a couple of other students were apart from the main body, however. Then she observed Parezo remove tape from the mouth of J.H. She admitted that she never saw Parezo put the tape on him. She immediately turned away in disbelief, uncertainty and confusion and walked down the hall for approximately 30 seconds but then she returned to her original spot (see P- 31 at point A.) and announced loudly two times (with the second command louder than the first), "Mrs. Bixby's class, line up!". The class came out in "drips and drabs" with J.H. and a female student, "A." coming out last and together. She observed that they they were talking to each other but J.H. appeared to be quite shy with his head down and embarrassed. She decided to talk to him quietly at the back of the line and she asked him what had happened. Before he could respond, A. responded and said that Parezo had taken tape off of the mouth of J.H. This was consistent with her own observations. She then indicated that Parezo had put it there. Then J.H. said "maybe because [he] talked too much." She then finished up her class for the day, since that was the last part of the school day before they were released for home, and she immediately went to the principal's office to report the incident to Davis, at which time she was told that Davis was not in that day. So she packed up and went home and only spoke to a friend about it over the weekend. She did not sleep well over the weekend because of what had happened to one of her students and she wondered what she should do as a result. On the next Monday, she went back to the office to report to Superintendent Hamilton on her prep period about what happened, which she said was "probably morning." (T-K.B.-192-211.) Hamilton listened and took notes. Bixby did not speak directly to Parezo about it. She noted that although J.H. is generally shy, he appeared be a little bit "less bubbly" after the incident.

On further direct examination, she was asked about the progress report which had been generated regarding J.H. earlier in the year in which it was stated in physical education that J.H. had had "poor self-control." She ascribed that comment to Parezo and not Vargas since she had received an e-mail from the mother of J.H. (P-14) who had complained that Parezo had been responsible for chastising J.H. in class but had failed to give her a thorough explanation in the progress report and, further, that J.H. had told his mother that Parezo was a "little mean" to him in gym. The mother asked Bixby to look into it all. Bixby then emailed Parezo about the mother's concerns regarding self control in gym and also put a copy of it in her mailbox. Within a day or two, Bixby spoke to the mother and suggested that she should take up the issue directly with Parezo. She never recalled speaking directly to Parezo about that Incident and she stepped away from the matter. She also indicated that the comment in the progress report (P-27) could have been either from Vargas or Parezo. She also noted that she had never witnessed poor self control by him in her own class.

On cross-examination she conceded that her diagram made at the due process hearing (P-31), may not be much to scale. However, she indicated that she was approximate 30 to 32 feet away from the center of the activity between Parezo and the children in the gym. After she saw Parezo remove the tape, she walked away because she did not want to be part of it. She could not imagine any student having anything removed from his mouth. She did feel that J.H. was in distress when she then saw him walking out with A. She felt that he was "quite humiliated" at the time and possibly distressed but she was unable to address him immediately because of her class requirements and commitments. She tried to get the children engaged in their lesson in order to refocus their energies before they were released, this being near to the end of the school day. Thus, although she did not send him to a nurse at the time, she did try to report it to Davis immediately after the class was released for the day. When she could not get through to Davis, she later spoke to Kathy Hughes, a guidance counselor at the school, at the end of the day who encouraged her to report it, although Hughes did not volunteer to have J.H. sent to her at the time. (School had already been let out.) She reported it to Hamilton the next Monday morning, however.

J.H.

J.H. was interviewed in camera by this administration law judge in the presence of only his father (his mother being excused from the interview) and OAL legal intern staffer Lori Glover while the parties listened in the hearing room on the other side of the building. He is eight years old and presently in the third grade. In June, 2010 and three other pupils in his then second grade class were told by Parezo to remove shapes from the walls of the gym, at which time they assembled around her with those shapes and proceeded to take the tape off of the shapes. At that time Parezo was the first to take a piece of the tape and stick it on to him, first on his arm and then another piece on his left shoulder. He indicated that he was initially "surprised" but then he began to feel

"afraid" and "scared" when she applied the second piece of tape because he thought that she was going to do even something else to him at that point. Instead, at that point another second grade student took a piece of the used tape which Parezo had given him and also stuck it on J.H.'s shoulder "because he thought it was a joke and stuff." (Transcript (hereinafter "T")-J.H.-36-13). Then Parezo proceeded to put another piece of tape on his mouth and pressed it there over his whole mouth. He explained that it was clear tape, which was the same type that had been placed on his shoulders. He demonstrated the size of the tape which was verbally identified and confirmed by this tribunal as being 5 or 6 inches wide and approximately an inch and a half to 2 inches high, based upon his physical demonstration at the interview. When asked how he then felt he said that he was "angry at Ms. Parezo" (T-J.H.-40-4) because she put the tape on his mouth. He could not move his lips under the tape and, as result, could not talk at all. Then Bixby came in and Parezo removed the tape from his mouth. It had been on his lips for about ten seconds, according to J.H., before Parezo removed it. He said that it hurt when she took it off. It was kind of a fast motion by her. He said "Oww." (sic).(T-J.H.-41-25). Two of the other students, who were not really his friends, were giggling and pointing at him and laughing, although he did not know why other than the fact that they thought he looked funny once he had the tape on his mouth. He did not think it was funny, however. She did not put any tape on anyone else. After the incident he "felt pretty mad at Ms. Parezo and embarrassed and kind of sad." (T-J.H.-46-19). He was sure that she had deliberately put it on his lips and had not placed it there accidentally by trying to put it near his cheek area. When asked why Parezo removed the tape when Bixby arrived, he stated "so she wouldn't get in trouble, but she did it at the wrong time." (T-J.H.-47-10). The rest of the class was approximately 30 feet away from him standing in line when the incident occurred and that is where he rejoined them upon the arrival of Bixby. He told his mother about it when she confronted him during the evening. When he was later questioned about it, he cried "like once sort of" (T-J.H.-56-10To) after he and his mother had told their story to Mrs. Hamilton.

C.C.

C.C. was also interviewed in camera by this tribunal in the same setting separate and apart from the litigants in this matter, this occurring on a day separate from the interview of J.H.. Present were C.C's mother, F.F. and the OAL's Ms. Glover once again. C.C. is now nine years old and in the third grade. She was in the same class with J.H. in June, 2010 at which time Parezo had her remove the shapes along with J. H. and other students in the gym class. She recalled that the tape was flat and in strips. Parezo told several students to put the tape on J.H.'s shoulder, so they did, including C.C. but she did not think that it was right to do that. (T-C.C.-35-10). Parezo did not instruct C.C. or any other student to put it on themselves. She was surprised that J.H. was singled out to have tape stuck on him. Then Parezo put a flat piece straight across his mouth. (T-C.C.-38-20). Parezo it took the used tape, stretching out the tape straight across his mouth. She was surprised that she did that "because she's a very nice teacher, I didn't think she would do that." (T-C.C.-39-19). Parezo never told them why she was doing it. J.H. tried to talk with the tape on and was laughing at that point but he did not laugh when she pulled it off, which motion she described as being in the "middle", that is to say, between fast and slow. She initially indicated that J.H. did not say anything at that point. But then she corrected herself by saying he did say "Ow." (T-C.C.-42-9). C.C. saw a red mark on the mouth of J.H. after the tape was removed. (T-C.C.-40-2). She also then saw Bixby in the hallway as they "catched up to the class." (sic). (T-C.C.-43-5). Bixby also saw the red mark on the mouth of J.H. She also indicated she was surprised that Parezo put tape on J.H. since there was a garbage can in her office and she did not know why she could not put in there. She also did not believe that it was a good idea to put any tape even on the shoulder of J.H. The tape that Parezo put on J.H.'s was not balled up. It was flat. In fact, when she pulled her tape off of her shape, it was still flat and it was not crunched up or balled up. But then she and the others crunched them up to stick them on the shoulder of J.H. The tape on his mouth was flat, however.

Z.W.

Z.W. was interviewed by telephone and on speaker phone by this tribunal on April 8, 2011, with all the principle parties in attendance in the original hearing room. It was also recorded. She presently lives in a town approximately twenty miles south of Houston, Texas, and was in the office of and in the presence of principal, Daryl Alexander of the Manville High School during the telephone interview. She is presently fifteen years old and is in the ninth grade. In June, 2010 she was then an eighth grader at the School and thereafter moved to Texas in July, 2010. Sometime in June, 2010, she was in the gym when she observed Parezo and several "kids" take tape off the back of the shapes and stick it on to "one kid... and they were playing around. The kid was laughing and everything." (T-Z.W.-89-17). She then indicated that she saw Parezo put a piece of tape "next to the kids cheek, like kind of on it but not really." (T-Z.W.-89-24). She then observed another teacher (later identified as Bixby by her) in the doorway, "and she looked at her kind of in a dirty look like she was upset with something. Bixby called out Parezo's name indicating they were late and they were supposed to be lined up and leaving. And then, Ms. Parezo had the kids take the tape off him and hand it to her, and then, the kids left." (T-Z.W.-90-1). Upon further questioning, Z.W. indicated that the whole class was engaged in the process of removing the shapes from the walls of the gym, which she further acknowledged could have been potentially fifteen students. She never actually heard Parezo instruct them to put the tape on a certain student. But they were all "kind of playing around and one kid put it on and then the other kid decided to do it." (T-Z. W.-93-18). But Parezo never stopped them since they were all playing around. They were not doing it in a mean or bullying way, however. She then joined them in that play and she then touched his cheek, but the tape wasn't stuck to his cheek. However, Z.W. then admitted that Parezo did remove it from his cheek after being then asked if she had actually put it on his cheek. (T-Z.W.-9419). She estimated that she was twelve to fourteen feet away from the scene of the action between Parezo and the students.

However, in her handwritten statement dated June18, 2010, she stated, in relevant part, "I walked into the gym and saw Mrs Perso (sic) asking some of her little kids to help take the shapes off the wall. About five of them did then (sic) the kids and Mrs. Perso (sic) were taking the tape of (sic) the back and placing it on one kids (sic) shoulder. As a playing around kind of thing Mrs. Perso (sic) placed a piece of balled up tape on his cheek. And right before that Ms. Bixby walked in and saw what she was doing. She stared at Mrs. Perso (sic) for a little bit then asked the kids to go with her. (R-6). Thereafter, in another handwritten note, dated as being received by someone on June 22, 2010, which was apparently attached to an affidavit of Susan Parezo and submitted to Lakehurst's Barry Parliman (R-11), Z.W. repeated essentially what she had stated in her prior note except that, this time, she stated that, "in a joking around kind of way Mrs. Perso (sic) put a ball of tape on the side of the kids (sic) face." In that same note, Z.W. stated that Parezo had asked some of the little kids to help her take down the shapes on the wall and asked four of them to help her take the tape off the back of them.

Theresa M. Hamilton

Theresa M. Hamilton has served as the interim superintendent of Lakehurst since June 1, 2009. A graduate of Saint Peter's College with a bachelor of science degree in natural science and recipient of a certificate of natural sciences in 1974 as well as certificated as a teacher in grades K. through 12, she then attended Jersey City State College (now, Jersey City State University) where she received her master of arts degree in education administration and supervision in urban school districts in 1996. Prior to her current job, she previously served as a part time instructor at Lacey Township, a science teacher in grades seven through twelve at the Pinelands Regional schools (seven years), vice principal in the Keyport schools (two and a half years), assistant superintendent at Point Pleasant Beach (two and a half years), superintendent in Seaside Park (seven years) and interim superintendent at Seaside Park (one year). In her most recent job at Lakehurst, served as the chief administrator of the district and reported directly to its board of education. During 2009-2010, Carmen Davis was the principal, whose office was adjacent to hers. Davis reported directly to her.

On Monday, June 14, 2010, an incident was brought to her attention regarding Parezo, who was a health/physical education teacher there. Late in the day but during school hours, Kathleen Bixby came to her, appeared upset and wanted to speak to her. Bixby's demeanor suggested that something was on her mind but appeared to be uncomfortable to initially tell her. So she stood next to Hamilton's desk and proceeded to tell her that something had happened on Friday which upset her because it had involved another staff member. Bixby told her that the previous Friday, June 11, 2010, as she went to pick up her students at the gym, she observed Parezo remove tape from the mouth of a student identified as J.H., who was a second grade student in her class. Bixby was surprised by what she saw, so much so that she walked away initially down the hall but then returned to retrieve her students. She was very concerned for the child and what happened to him and it had bothered her all weekend.

Hamilton immediately commenced her investigation regarding inappropriate conduct by a staff member pursuant to board of education policy. As a starting point she determined to speak to Parezo immediately and as soon as she would be free. She found out that she was in her office in the gym so she advised her that she had to speak to her in her office that day and suggested that she bring a representative with her. Parezo said she would try to get someone. Hamilton enlisted Dr. Clifford Barnaman, director of the special education program to also sit in, since Principal Davis was out at the time. Parezo brought Barbara DeCicco. The meeting took place at approximately 2:45 PM at the end of the school day. At that time she advised them all about the Friday incident. Parezo's initial response was that she was not aware about what Hamilton was referencing.

Hamilton then explained that it involved the shapes on the walls of the gym, at which point Parezo seemed to recollect the incident. She then said that she asked several students to remove the shapes from the walls after a gym class was concluding from an outside activity. As part of that process, they were taking pieces of tape which they all were playing with in a "fooling around sort of way by putting stick tape on students." (T-T.H.-31-25.) J.H. had tape put on him by several of his classmates, which consisted of balled up pieces of the tape. Parezo admitted that she put a piece of balled up tape on J.H.'s shoulders, along with some of the other students. They were all "fooling around."

Hamilton asked her if she had put any tape anywhere else and Parezo said "no." She denied putting it on J.H.'s mouth and only indicated that she had been playing with the tape in a balled up matter. Hamilton asked her again if she put it on J.H. at which time she said "no" once again but this time she indicated that she made a motion in front of his mouth with a flat piece of tape which was approximately 5 inches long. Once again, she said that they were all fooling around. She never indicated that she ever ever removed any tape from the mouth of J.H.. The conversation ended on that note.

After that session, Hamilton then called the mother of J.H. that same afternoon, at which time the mother told her that J.H. never said anything to her about any incident. The mother called back ten minutes later and indicated that she talked her son, who admitted to her that he did get involved in an incident that prior Friday, which involved a fellow male student, [J.], having put a piece of tape on him, followed by Parezo putting tape on his mouth and shoulder. The other students were laughing at that. Mrs. H. related to her about a prior incident she had had with Parezo about a month before regarding J.H.'s progress report in which she had gotten a form sent home from Parezo with "blatant disrespect" indicated. Hamilton asked to speak to J.H. the next day.

She met with J.H. alone on June 15, 2010 at approximately 9:30 a.m. (Immediately prior to that meeting, at 9:20 a.m. Mrs. H. had called to indicate that J.H. was nervous about seeing her.) J.H. was initially very quiet when she spoke to him. She asked him to describe what has happened at which time he indicated that he was the only one that Parezo put tape on. She put tape on his shoulder and his mouth. The tape was clear tape. The tape on his mouth was there for a couple of seconds, at which point she took it off. At that point, J.H. noticed his teacher Kathleen Bixby come in and look upset. Other students were laughing at him at the time.

As a result of that discussion with J.H., Hamilton determined to conduct her initial investigation by speaking with some of the other students. She spoke to fellow student C.C. a short time after her discussion with J.H. The student C.C. told her that some of the students had put tape on the shoulders of J.H.. She then saw it on his mouth. Although J.H. was initially laughing when the tape activity began, he was not laughing when the tape was on his mouth. Then C.C. confirmed that she saw Parezo take the tape off the mouth of J.H., but she did not see who had put it there. She did notice, however, a red outline around the lips of J.H. when they were leaving the gym.

Hamilton also spoke to other students. A female student [A.] told her that after the students put tape on the shoulders of J.H., she saw Parezo put the tape on his mouth, at which time the other students who were involved with the taping were laughing. A male student [J.] confirmed that there was tape on the shoulders and mouth of J.H. but he did not know how it got on the mouth. He then reported that, as they were leaving the gym, J.H. asked him "Did you see the big red rectangle by my mouth?" Another female student [A.A.] told her that she saw Parezo putting tape on J.H.. He remained standing there laughing. Other students were calling him "tape boy." Another male student [J.J.] mentioned that he saw Parezo put tape on J.H.'s mouth but that J.H. removed it himself. He saw a rectangle on his mouth when it was removed. He told his mother about the incident later that day after school. (P-1 at pages 2 and 3). Hamilton did not interview any other students since she felt that she had enough information in order to make a determination. Further, she concluded there were no inconsistencies from those who had seen Parezo put the tape on J.H.'s mouth. She had a follow-up meeting with Parezo, DiCicco and Kim Lambusta, (the local education association representative), and Davis, at which time she advised them regarding the results of those interviews. DiCicco advised Parezo not to respond. Hamilton then told them that Mr. and Mrs. H. were very upset, so she suggested that a meeting be set up in order to address the situation "face-to-face."

However, when she contacted the mother the next day, June 16, 2010, Mrs. H. said that she saw no reason for the parties to meet. She did not want her son to be in Parezo's class and did not feel that he should be the one who should be removed. She also did not need to hear any apology from Parezo at any such meeting since she stated "my son had tape put on his mouth." (P-1 at 3). She later held an informal meeting with DiCicco and Mary Novotny, the UniServe field representative, regarding what steps would take place next. The next day, June 17, 2010, Hamilton was contacted by Susan Tatlow, an LEA representative, who indicated that there were two other people in a gym who should be interviewed, eighth grade student Z.W., and Mrs. Maryanne Capasso, a classroom assistant. She interviewed Z.W. on Friday, June 18, 2010, at which time Z.W. told her that she saw Parezo and some other students put tape on the shoulders of a student and that Parezo then put a ball of tape on the student's cheek. At that time, Z.W. did not indicate where everyone was standing. She only knew that it was "a kid" but she did not know his name. She thought they were all playing around until the cheek taping. Right before the cheek taping, she saw Bixby enter the area, observe what was going on, and then stare at Parezo before escorting her class out of the gym. Hamilton had Z.W. write up her statement at that time. (P-6). Z.W. never told her that any other students had tape placed upon them.

She also interviewed Bixby on June 18, 2010 at which time she asked her to supply details regarding what had happened. She did not have much further to add to her prior statement about having witnessed Parezo removing the tape from the mouth of J.H. when she entered the gym to retrieve her class. Her interview with Mrs.Capasso took place on June 23, 2010. Capasso is an aide for the autistic class which shared the gymnasium with the Bixby second grade class on June 10, 2010. She was accompanied by Tatlow. When she entered the gym with her class, Capasso saw Z.W. in the gym asking Parezo for permission forms and heard Parezo ask several students to help her take down the shapes. She left the gym at that point. On the same day, Hamilton called and advised Mrs. H. that, pursuant to School Policy 3281, (Inappropriate Staff Conduct-P-23) a full investigation had been initiated and would be performed by Principal Carmen Davis. She provided a copy of the policy to the father, Mr. H., later that evening at the spring concert. On August 13, 2010, the parents of J.H.

requested a meeting with her which was held at 11:30 on that day. At that time they indicated that they were concerned that their son had expressed fears to return to school and was afraid that Parezo would pull J.H. aside out of a line and say something to him about what had happened. Mrs. H. was adamant that Parezo should not be in contact with her son or any children. Hamilton determined to assign Vargas specifically to J.'s class as the teacher in charge as a result. The parents also agreed to a meeting with Parezo present as long as an apology was given to J.H. Thereafter, on August 17, 2010, Mrs. H. gave Hamilton a letter to be presented to the school board in which she expressed those same fears. In relevant part, she stated "Mrs. Parezo's abusive and humiliating approach in discipline is unconscionable." (P-13).

The meeting was held on August 18, 2010. Present were Mrs. H., J.H., Parezo and Tatlow. Parezo explained to J.H. that she wanted him to have a good year and she never specifically referred to anything she had done. Yet, when she started to say it was "just in fun" Mrs. H. and Hamilton both stopped her. At the end of the meeting, Mrs. H. only wanted Parezo to utter the two "magic words", at which point Hamilton stated in her report that Parezo "apologized saying she was sorry." (P-1 at 6). She presented the findings of her investigation to the Board of Education on August 24, 2010, relative to her violation of Policy 3281, at which time Parezo was suspended with pay pending further action by the board. Her findings were coupled with the formal findings by Davis (P-2) and were both the subject of her presentation to the board of education on that date. She noted that she had commissioned Davis to initiate the formal investigation on June 15, 2010. She submitted the tenure charges on September 30, 2010, consisting of the two above-cited charges of unbecoming conduct.(P-30).

On cross examination, she was asked her opinion regarding the wrongdoing by Parezo. She stated that even the act of applying tape to the shoulder of J.H. was inappropriate. And, even though she never specifically asked J.H. if he had been laughing during the event, she felt that the important issue was Parezo's violation of J.H.'s sensitivity, which was wrong. Parezo was the professional. Yet, the child was singled out by her. In the process, she violated his health, welfare and safety. Her concern about the embarrassment to J.H. was based upon him telling her that the other students were laughing at him. She felt that it was inappropriate for Parezo to put tape on him at all but, in addition thereto, in front of his peers. She also noted that in her first contact with Bixby, she told Hamilton that J.H. appeared upset at the time. She did not interview all the students in the class because she had enough information from the selected students to warrant the investigation going forward, even though Capasso later advised her on June 23 that another male student [J.] was also present. Her answer was that her preliminary investigation had already been completed. And, of the students' statements given to her, only one was inconsistent with the rest, to wit, that he had claimed that J.H. took the tape off his mouth himself. She also believed the statement by Z.W., who had stated that she saw Parezo place a ball of tape on the cheek of J.H. She did not find it to be in conflict with the other statements. By contrast, she was concerned that Parezo had denied putting any tape on any place other than the shoulder of J.H. In fact, at no time did Parezo tell her that she put a piece of tape in front of his face and then on to his cheek. At that same time, she noted that, in a statement which Parezo later submitted to her, dated June 24, 2010, (R-2) Parezo claimed that she started sticking tape both on her arms and on another student's shoulder which, according to Hamilton, she had never said to her previously. Further, Parezo claimed that, in a "joking way", she pretended to stick a tape ball on to the lips of J.H. but never actually touched his lips. In that same statement, however, she made absolutely no reference to having put either tape or a tape ball on or near the cheek of J.H.

Karen Robinson

Karen Robinson has been employed by Lakehurst for thirteen years as a paraprofessional, in which capacity she assists teachers and students as well as participating in the luncheon duty. During the 2009-2010 school year she was one of three parprofessionals in the autistic program, and she was assigned to one of four children. In that capacity she worked along with all teachers, including the "specials" except for health. During that year they participated in physical education on Thursdays and Fridays with Parezo and other classes. Friday was "inclusive" gym with grades kindergarten through third grade. She was assigned to be inclusive with Bixby's second grade class.

On June 11, 2010, her inclusive class was playing kickball outside. Also present were Capasso and Parezo. It was very hot outside. She knows J.H. and observed that he was involved in the kickball activity. He was not disciplined by anyone that day. After kick ball they all walked into the gym to line up for departure. As they entered, Parezo asked some students to take down the shapes, at which time they then balled up the tape and then she left. During the activity that she briefly observed, all of the students were laughing. She then left with her students on her arm and before the departure of Capasso and her student, Bixby and her class, and some substitute with another artistic child. She saw no one put tape on anyone before she left and nor she ever see Bixby upon her departure. She never saw Parezo embarrass, single out or discipline J.H. that day or anytime that year.

Maryanne Capasso

Maryanne Capasso has been employed by Lakehurst as a paraprofessional for 9 years. On June 11, 2010, she was part of a team for four autistic children in order to assist in their socialization. Their physical education was on Wednesdays and Fridays (T.-M.C.-245-12), (it being noted that this is in contrast to the testimony by Robinson about that schedule, who stated they met on Thursdays and Fridays (T.-K.R.-215-2) as indicated in her testimony hereinabove). Friday was the inclusive class with Bixby. It was a "beautiful day" so they participated in kick ball outside the gym. No one got disciplined that day. Upon re-entering at the end of that activity, she heard Parezo ask Z.W. what she was doing there, to which the student replied that she had been sent down there by Principal Davis. Parezo then called out to J.H., C.C., J. and A. to take down the shapes. Z.W. entered the gym and was directed to sit by Parezo's office until Parezo was done with the second graders. Capasso then left with two of the autistic children. She saw Bixby down the hall when she left the gym who asked if she was late to get her class. Her statement, which was given to Hamilton after a meeting with her on June 23, 2010, was typed up by SusanTatlow. (R-3).

Kevin Joseph Carroll

Kevin Joseph Carroll was previously the superintendent of the Lakehurst school district between 2005 and 2009. Prior thereto he was its principal between 2003-2005. In his principalship capacity, he was the direct supervisor over Parezo for both years and had the opportunity to observe her. She easily made learning available to all students. She assumed various additional responsibilities, including the area of student activities as well as, at his request, being chair of the No Child Left Behind Program and the breakfast program. She was also a certified substance abuse counselor and served in the absence of any guidance counselor at the school. He wrote a professional recommendation on her behalf in February 2011. (R-25).

Bryan Vargas

Bryan Vargas is employed by Lakehurst in the areas of health, physical education and basic skills. He also runs the soccer program between September and October of each year. He is now tenured as of the completion of school in June, 2011. In 2009-2010, there were three second grade classes so there were times when not all would meet at the same time. The assignments were split up depending upon the class schedules. He shared teaming responsibilities with Parezo. During that year, if there were two full classes, both would teach, but if there was only one full class, only one would teach. So there were times during the year when they separately taught the health and physical education components. On Fridays, they had only Bixby's class and the autistic class.

He knows J.H., whom he taught last year and this year. During the 2009-10 school year there would be times when J.H. and others would have to be spoken to because of their disruptiveness, which most occurred in the case of J.H. during the health class. He would admonish J.H. for talking, who would "understand for the moment" but then resort to his prior actions. He knows about progress reports, which are sent out in the middle of each marking period pursuant to a schedule posted at the beginning of the year. In order to issue progress reports, they use the Internet based system known as "Power Teacher." The remarks are "stored" in the students "folder", which he thought was a file on line. The teacher then either e-mails or verbally tells Mrs. Cecilia Ward in the main (or front) office that all progress reports are in. There is no requirement to send out progress reports, and they are sometimes utilized to note an exceptional or commendable comment, although mostly negative comments are generated. He does not keep any copies of his progress reports and knows of no requirement to do so. By entering a new comment in any marking period, they must erase the old ones.

At this point in the hearing, Vargas was shown Exhibit R-31, this being an example of a progress report which he has never seen before. He explained that he never sees progress reports that are sent out. By contrast he has seen report cards before, where one can also make teacher comments . But unlike the progress reports, one does not have to go back and erase the previous comments in the report card. He acknowledged that there was no way that any parent could even know which marking period was the subject of the comments from the teachers because of the way the program has been set up.

He noted that in the 2009-10 school year, he sent a progress report out regarding J.H. for "excessive talking" in his health class, which he denoted under the, standardized drop down menu on Power Teacher as being "poor self-control." He thought it was for the third marking period. He believed that Bixby wanted to know whom the mother could speak to about that comment. He met with the mother over the telephone and he felt that the session ended positively after a ten minute conversation. She accepted the fact that it was happening. They never had any face to face meeting. He was asked about the fact that Mrs. H. had sent a letter to Bixby in which she complained about Parezo being a "little mean to him in gym". (P-14.) He stated that he had never seen that letter before. He was also shown a series of emails from Bixby to Parezo in March, 2010 in which it was ultimately clarified that Vargas was the author of those comments and not Parezo. (R-9). In his telephone discussion with Mrs. H., he did not recall any mention of Parezo or in bringing up anything about gym class at that time.

On cross-examination, he was asked about what procedures are followed during the luncheon period. He noted that he was not a lunchroom monitor last year since it was a stipended position and voluntary. (This year, by contrast, it is neither voluntary or stipended.) He was ,however, generally aware of the procedures involved during the luncheon period, in which recess follows the luncheon portion of that scheduled time for the students. Last year, the students could not access the gym during the recess because the gym was not available due to scheduling commitments. Instead, they were sent to their classrooms during recess. If recess involving gym at any time, however, sneakers would be required. Otherwise, a child could read a book or do some other activity. If the child had no sneakers he indicated he would not stop the child from completing one's lunch in order to get sneakers before engaging in recess activities. He acknowledged that he has not always seen "eye to eye" with Parezo, such as what activity to do each week with the children. But he has had no real disagreements with her. At the same time, although he was "sure" that he would periodically discuss the conduct of some students with Parezo, including J.H., he did not recall ever telling her that he had to do a progress report regarding J.H. talking in class. When asked further about denying a child the ability to complete the luncheon meal, he indicated that, as a health teacher, he would not feel it was appropriate to stop a child from eating. And he also acknowledged that a piece of tape stuck on a wall is not sanitary.

Barbara DiCicco

Barbara DiCicco has been employed for 38 years at Lakehurst, having served as a second grade teacher, a basic skills teacher, a third grade teacher, and most recently and once again a seventh and eighth grade language arts teacher, having previously taught that grade level for sixteen years. She has served as the president of the Ocean County Council of Education Associations for ten years.

On June 14, 2010, Parezo asked her to go to a meeting after school at the office of Superintendent Hamilton. Parezo told her that she thought that she had been late for "door duty" that morning. Upon meeting with Hamilton, however, they were told that Hamilton wanted to know about an incident that she had heard about Parezo having put tape on a child's mouth, which incident had occurred on Friday, June 11, 2010. Hamilton did not indicate how she found out the information other than having heard about it from "someone." Hamilton never said that it involved Parezo removing tape from a child's face.

Parezo proceeded to explain that the incident related to the taking down shapes off the wall and removal of the tape from the back of the shapes. The children were making tape balls or "tape flowers", as they call them. She said it was a fun atmosphere and that all the children were laughing. She then said that the children were also sticking tape (i.e., the flowers or tape balls) on her arm and that she jokingly went to a child, J.H., and pretended to put a tape on him and then "she demonstrated this, like almost like a claw, and approached the child [J.H.] and said "Oops" and stuck the tape ball instead on the child's shoulder. Someone then said "Oh, look you have a flower on your shoulder." (T-B.D.-134-22). At that point, Parezo reiterated that it was a playful, joking atmosphere. DiCicco then asked if a nurse, guidance counsellor or social worker had been involved, to which Hamilton said "no." DiCicco was concerned that a red mark would have required the need for a nurse. The meeting ended with Hamilton indicating she was going to look further into it. But Parezo agreed that it was not a good idea to have done what she did, in response to that question raised by Hamilton at that time. DiCicco typed up a memo of those handwritten notes of that meeting in her capacity as a member of the local education association and not in her capacity as president of the county council. (P.-32) Yet, she reduced some of her comments to a letter she sent to Mary Novotny, N.J.E.A. UniServ, on June 14, 2010, at which time she added that Parezo had attempted to put it a tape on a child's lips but never made contact. It was a playful atmosphere. (R-34).

On cross-examination, she admitted that the letter to Novotny did not contain all of the information she had set forth in her own memo, particularly with reference to a child observing that the tape ball looked like a flower growing on one's shoulder or that the tape at least went to the shoulder of J.H.. She indicated that she was merely attempting to put the N.J.E.A. on potential notice regarding the fact that something had gone on in their school and that it was her understanding that the N.J.E.A. needs documentation from "day number one." She then claimed that the letter to Novotny was only a general overview of that meeting. She admitted that it is not appropriate for a teacher to put one's hands on a child, except for emergency purposes.

Susan Parezo

Susan Parezo has been employed by Lakehurst for 21 years as a teacher of health and physical education in grades K. through 8. She has a bachelor of science degree in health science from Brooklyn College (1975) and teaching certificates as a teacher of health and physical education in grades K. through 12 having obtained them respectively in 1975 in New York and 1984 in New Jersey. In approximately 1993 she became a New Jersey certified substance awareness coordinator and a basic skills teacher in 2010. (R-1). She retains approximately seventeen credits toward her master's degree having obtained fourteen of them from Jersey City State College and three of them from Monmouth University. Prior to her present employment, she was employed by St. Dominick's School, Brick, New Jersey, in 1989. In her present job she teaches physical education to all students in the school from grades K. through 8 and also teaches one half of the year in health education in grades K. through 5, in which latter capacity she teaches them in the student's classrooms. During the 2009-10 school year, she shared those responsibilities with fellow teacher Bryan Vargas. She also became a lunch duty monitor starting in 1992, and has coached various girls and boys volleyball and soccer programs there since approximately 1992. She has also been the intramural coordinator, which involves preschool activities programs for the grades 5 through 8. These are all posted positions. The lunch duty has become a split, assignment with monitoring the eating component followed by a twenty minute recess, which is held outside if the weather permits. She also served as a student activities coordinator for approximately three years and prior thereto was a student activities adviser. (R-12.) She was not a student activities coordinator in 2009-2010, but she served as a "family fun night" presenter (a paid position) in 2010, which consisted of three nights of activity at the school. (R-27.) She also implemented an archery program starting in 2006 (R-36) and also implemented various interscholastic athletic teams such as soccer, basketball, and volleyball starting in approximately 1992. She also voluntarily started an archery program, implemented a physical education idea exchange, and trips to adventure activities at Rowan University. She also served as a Title IV Coordinator pursuant to a Drug Free Schools grant in approximately 2002, which lasted for a couple of years. She also implemented a USTA tennis program approximately fifteen years ago which is still incorporated into the school curriculum.

She was initially asked about progress reports. She indicated that she would use this process to encourage the students to bring in their sneakers or to wear appropriate clothing to gym. Or, she and her colleague (Vargas) would send pre-printed blank notes or have child planners sent to the parents to remind them as to what their child should bring for such activities. Mostly, this method was used for the younger children in the pre-K. through ,perhaps, third grades. The planner was also used to address some basic conduct problems and notes were sent home via the home room teacher. Last year they began to employ the use of Power School with other systems known as Grade Book and Power Teacher in order to document behavior problems. During 2009-10, she and Bryan Vargas "team taught" two or three classes assigned during any given physical education marking period. During health, they taught gym and health, respectively. A "cum" folder follows the child's career at school and is kept in the main office, although the progress reports are not put in those folders.

Before the current case, she never saw J.H.'s progress report, although she did recall a discussion with Vargas sometime in March, 2010 after the progress reports were out. At that time, Mrs. H. had contacted the school and wanted to know if Parezo had sent out a progress report for J.H. relative to gym class. Vargas only told her about having written up the progress report after the fact. She understood that he then called Mrs. H. after Bixby had contacted him about it. She indicated that she had had an exchange with Bixby herself prior thereto in order to clarify who was responsible for that note. (R-9.) She had no interaction with the parents at that time and she never sent home any progress notes regarding J.H. that entire year. And, although there are parent/teacher conferences twice a year, she recalled no conversation with either parent that school year until the results of an incident in June which propelled a meeting in August, 2010. In fact, she only saw a note from Mrs. H., dated June 25, 2010, during the course of this litigation (P-3.) In which Mrs. H. complained about her son being cited with "blatant disrespect" by Parezo during a class. But there had been no explanation given to support it. Mrs. H. also complained that she received another progress report in the mail from Parezo in June, 2010 who claimed that J.H. was "very talkative." She denies that she had any such conversation with Mrs. H. in approximately April, 2010 or any other time about J.H. excessively talking in class. Parezo claimed there was also an issue regarding lunchroom detention instead of recess for J.H. but nothing came of it.

She then described what happened on June 11, 2010. Since Vargas taught basic skills on Friday, they did not team teach then. She solely had the Bixby class that day. She thought there were twelve students there along with the students from the special education autism class, which was mainstreamed with Bixby's class. It was her belief that on that day, one of Bixby's students, I.B., was absent, even though the attendance sheet for that day indicates that she was not absent. (R-8.) Her response was that some students go home early and are marked in for full attendance anyway. She recalled no discipline incidents and there were no negative behaviors during the class between students. They played outside that day with "line-up kick ball."

Upon reentry into the gymnasium the paraprofessionals took their autistic children hand in hand. Upon her entry through the playground doors, (R-37 – her diagram) she saw Z.W., so she called out to her and asked her what she wanted. Z.W. told her that she needed to get a permission slip for a safety patrol field trip and had been directed there by Principal Davis. Although they approached each other, Parezo told her that she had to complete her class before she could get the permission slip. She did not specifically recall where Z.W. went because she became refocused on her class. She had some of the students put the equipment in the storage room, which consisted of four bases and the kick ball. She asked the remaining students to help her out and remove the shapes and colors off the walls. She remembers that the female students A. and C.C. and the male students J. and J.H. were the ones who did the activity. She called them out since they had not been carrying any equipment. Those four students then grabbed the shapes at which time the paraprofessionals started to walk out with their autistic students. They exchanged parting pleasantries.

As she stood pretty much in the center of the gym, the four students came to her and they all started to remove the laminated pieces of construction paper, which consisted of triangles, squares and circles as well as different colors, which she calls "shapes". The shapes had been secured with one sided tape which was looped by her previously so that they would remain secure on the walls of the gym. It was clear tape but wider than standard scotch tape. She did not use straight or flat tape across each shape to secure them, however. She had looped them instead. The shapes were used in a game which was primarily meant for the pre-K through second grade classes.

She proceeded to stick the tape on her right arm with her left hand while she held the shapes. Then, a couple of students began to stick tape on her arm as well as on their own arms, although she didn't recall who was doing that. But those students "crunched" up the tape. Then, the male student, J., put a piece of balled up tape on J.H.'s left shoulder. Then, she thinks, that female student A., who was standing next to her, also did it to J.H., who was standing in front of Parezo. She then also joined in and placed a piece of the sticky ball of tape on J.H.'s left shoulder. The other students were already back around them by that point. She then "jokingly" went by the side of J.H.'s face and in front of his mouth and said "Oops" and she proceeded to put a piece of tape, not on his mouth but on his left shoulder. J.H. was laughing as was everyone else. He was not in distress. Then student A. said: "[J], It looks like you have a flower growing out of your shoulder." And they all laughed about it.

Parezo denied using a straight piece of tape in front of J.H.'s lips. She only "pretended" to put it on his cheek. As a result, she disputed the version given by Z.W.

She indicated that she had no malicious intent. She contended the J.H. put tape on his shoulder too. Then female student V.C. tried to put the tape, like her, to J.H.'s lips or face. But she stopped her and V.C. complied. The mood was playful but not chaotic. Bixby had arrived by then at the hallway door. She saw Bixby look into the gym and then walk out of her vision. She then saw her again almost immediately in the same spot which was at about the time that Parezo took the ball of tape off of J.H.'s shoulder. She could not recall any expression on the face of Bixby at that point. She never heard the term "tape boy" used or any indication of any child in distress or any complaints of a mark on anyone's face. The children then all lined up on the "big blue line", although she did not recall Bixby calling out for her students, either then or at any time during the year. In any case, Bixby's class did line up properly. During the time that she was removing the tape, she indicated she never told J.H. to stand still. Z.W. was still in the gym and they completed their conversation. The school day ended without anything further.

She saw J.H. in her class that next Monday and also saw him at recess. She recalled nothing more specific about him on June 14, 2010, except that later in the day she was approached by Hamilton told her to report to her office to speak to her and advised her to bring representation too. Parezo thought that she had been late for her breakfast duty at school and was in trouble because of that. Although she attempted to get a representative from the Lakehurst Education Association, she was only able to find Barbara DiCicco, who was still in her classroom. Parezo knew that DiCicco was very active in the local union and was also president of the Ocean County Education Council.

They went to Hamilton's office where Dr. Barneman was also in attendance. Hamilton asked her if she recalled any incident from the previous Friday which possibly involved the second grade physical education class since a staff member had reported about her having put tape on a student's mouth. Parezo denied it and then explained about putting tape on the shoulder of J.H. and jokingly putting it on his shoulder after passing it across his lip area. She demonstrated that act to Hamilton but she denies that she then demonstrated the act by putting both of her hands up and then as if affixing a straight tape to his face. Hamilton explained that she would have to investigate the matter further and contact the child's parents. She also directed Parezo not contact the parents, which was not consistent with prior practice where the teachers were encouraged to be the first contact person with parents. She nonetheless abided by the instructions from Hamilton. In addition, Hamilton did not require any written statements from her at that meeting. She admits that she agreed with Hamilton that her playing around with tape wasn't such a good idea.

A second meeting was held on June 15, 2010, with Hamilton, Davis, DiCicco and Kim Lambusta (president of the local education association) in attendance. This meeting was held at Davis' office although Hamilton conducted the meeting once again. Hamilton advised them that she had met with the various students from the Bixby class and some had confirmed something had happened with the tape by Parezo. She said that it was unspecific, while other students recalled nothing. There was no verification of Parezo having placed tape on J.H.'s mouth. Parezo assumed from that statement that Hamilton meant that Parezo and the students had been fooling around. Hamilton confirmed that one of the students had mentioned the "flower on the shoulder" comment. Hamilton also then said that her part of the investigation was complete and that Davis would carry on her own investigation next. Hamilton never said that she had concluded that Parezo had put tape on the face or shoulders of J.H.

She engaged in two further meetings with Hamilton. On June 22, 2010, she met with Hamilton who told her that J.H.'s parents did not want her to teach J.H.'s class. As a result, that class was reassigned to Vargas. Parezo and Susan Tatlow (LEA representataive) were given the opportunity to review her personnel file at that time although they could not get a copy since it was too voluminous. Parezo then noted that she had also been told on June 16, 2010, that she would not be able to attend the school bowling trip for the safety patrol which she had arranged but Parezo thought that Hamilton refused to let her go because she was still investigating the matter. (But it is observed by this tribunal that Parezo had just testified that Hamilton had advised her on June 15, 2010, that her own investigation had been completed, which was one day before Parezo learned of her inability to attend that bowling trip.)

Another meeting was held with Hamilton on June 24, 2010 with Tatlow and DiCicco also in attendance. It is noted that the notes taken from that meeting (R-4 - and presumably written by DeCicco (?)) indicated it was held on September 24, 2010. However, according to Parezo, the date should have been June 24, 2010. She received a copy of her personnel file and the Board of Education policies at that time. Hamilton also suggested that she provide a written statement, which she did provide on the same day. (R-2 at page 3).

She met with Davis on June 28, 2010, which was also attended by Tatlow and DiCicco. Davis wanted her to give her statement that time since she was doing her part of the investigation so she recited what she had previously told Hamilton. Parezo thought that Bixby had jumped to a conclusion about the incident without having asked any questions from her. Davis asked if it was a problem class, to which she replied that she never had a problem with that class for the entire year. They were a "nice class." (T-S.P.-164-15). By contrast, she did recall an incident she had with a first grade student in March, 2010, at which time she had written to Davis about that student having lied about the status of his lunch and lunch money, even though he had already eaten his lunch. She also knew that he had a problem with stealing. She gave him a recess detention, which was supported by Davis at the time. (R-10.)

And, in an unrelated incident, on April 16, 2010, she observed a kindergarten student, M., during lunch who had sandals on, which would have been a problem with playing in recess immediately thereafter. She asked M. if she was done with her lunch and the child said "yes." So she directed her to Mrs. Hess, the school nurse, to see if she had some sneakers available in her size. But she had none available so instead of sending her back to her classroom during the luncheon recess, Hess directed M. to Davis' office, which ultimately upset M. and her parents. Parezo denied that the child had not completed her lunch prior to her sending the child to the nurse. Parezo exchanged a series of emails with Davis and thanked her for her support with the parents at a meeting which followed that incident. Davis responded that she had handled herself "very professionally." (R-11.)

Parezo then stated that the first time she met Mrs. H. regarding this incident was in August, 2010 and not before. Hamilton had told her that J.H. was somewhat apprehensive about returning to school in September. Hamilton set up the meeting and held it on August 18, 2010 in her office, which was also attended by Tatlow. Hamilton started the meeting and talked to J.H. about some sleep over. When Parezo tried to explain about the class, Mrs. H. stopped her immediately and indicated that she did not want to hear about it. She only wanted an apology from her and nothing more. So Parezo told J.H. that she was sorry that "it has gotten to this point where we're sitting here..." (T-S.P.-198-10). She then stated that she felt badly about the fact that he was a little bit scared about coming back to school in September so she wished him a "fabulous third grade year" (T-S.P.-198 14) and she looked forward to seeing him in September in third grade. Mrs. H. said nothing and Hamilton concluded the meeting, which had lasted a mere five minutes. Hamilton was also given a Manila envelope by Mrs. H. at that time, who wanted it read at the Board of Education meeting the next week. (P-13.) Hamilton said that the family was still very upset with her. When Parezo finally saw that letter, it upset her due to the mischaracterizations in it. For example, she had no idea what "abusive" situations she was accused of.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, she received her "welcome back" letter from the school thereafter and she anticipated returning to school on September 1, 2010, in order to participate in one of two in-service days. However, on August 31, 2010, at 3:40 PM, Hamilton called her and advised her she would be suspended with pay, this occurring after Hamilton told her to come in early the next day. She also told her that the Board of Education had voted on its actions relative to her seven days earlier on August 24, 2010, but no one told her anything about that action until that phone call. She wrote a confirming e-mail to Hamilton about not going to school the next day. (R-19.) Hamilton sent her a notice of the anticipated next Board meeting to discuss proposed Board action regarding her matter, which was set for September 21, 2010. (R-20.)

She was also asked on direct examination regarding any prior problems she may have had with Bixby to which she replied that, during the 2009-10 school year, she and Bixby had had an early conflict regarding the times of their respective lunch duty as between the first and second grades. Parezo wanted to be the first grade monitor as did Bixby who said she did not want to be with the second graders all day long. Parezo did not logistically want to be late for her 1:00 PM class, which would have occurred by her taking on the second grade lunch period. After discussing all this, however, Bixby won out with Davis and got the first grade assignment. This caused Parezo to have only five minutes to get to her 1:00 PM gym class. She claimed that she did not have a problem with that determination. Davis was "the boss" so she did what she was told to do.

Another incident arose in March, 2010 regarding J.P. in the lunch room setting when she was forced to give luncheon detention to that first grader even though Bixby had already received the first grade luncheon assignment (and, it can be inferred therefrom, that Parezo resented having to be responsible for the discipline of that child instead of Bixby.) The weather was inclement on that particular day, which meant that all of the six regular education classes plus the autistic class were in the lunchroom at the same time, all of this happening while she was forced to discipline the first grader. On top of all of that, Bixby, on the other hand, walked out of the lunchroom two times during that period and left her alone with the seven classes plus the discipline problem. She acknowledged that she never discussed the matter with Bixby but claimed that after the luncheon recess scheduling problem at the beginning of the school year, they really did not have a "really cordial type of relationship." (T-S.P.-220-6). She did however, complain to Davis right after the incident about being left alone with seven classes, which was an unruly setting, even though Bixby left twice, presumably to go to the bathroom on each occasion.

After she complained to Davis, Parezo was confronted by Bixby approximately a week later in the lunchroom near the teachers' refrigerator just as Parezo was awaiting the arrival of kindergarteners to come in for lunch. At that time, Bixby said that she was very upset that Parezo had gone to complain to Davis and further said "How dare I do that and she has perfect control the lunchroom..." (T-S.P.-223-6.) Those comments were made in the presence of a cafeteria staff member. Parezo contended that she did not respond because she did not want to make a scene in front of others. When further asked about this, Parezo stated that it was not right that Bixby would leave the lunchroom every single time to go to the bathroom since it was only a 40 minute luncheon period. Parezo had no similar problems with any other teachers. The only other conversation she had with Bixby involved Mrs. H. having questioned Bixby about whether Parezo had issued a progress report regarding J.H., this conversation occurring as they passed in the hallway sometime around March 16, 2010. (R-10.) Parezo's response was that she did not recall anything off hand but that she would further look into it.

She had not been friendly outside of work with Bixby at any time even previous to the 2009-10 school year. Yet, she acknowledged that in 2002, Bixby hired her daughter to teach tennis for one season at the Point Beach recreation program, which Bixby ran.

Parezo pointed to various commendables she has received over time, including a letter from then superintendent Karl Calderone to her in 1997 in which he thanked her for her efforts regarding a sports banquet (R-23), a professional recommendation which she got from Kevin Carroll, previously of Lakehurst, dated February, 2011 (R-25), a letter from a parent and substitute school nurse on her behalf, dated February 28, 2011 (R-26), and various performance reviews which she received between 1989 and 2009 (R-30.) She also received good feedback regarding her girls' and boys'soccer programs from Theresa Hamilton in 2010 (R-13 and 14), a similar acknowledgement by Hamilton of her willingness to be involved in school activities in August, 2010, even though she did not get appointed to the job as the boys soccer coach for the 2010-11 school year (R-16), and further commendables from Hamilton in late June, 2010, for her role on behalf of the intramural sports program. (R-17.) She was also selected by Hamilton as a Family Fun Night facilitator in March, 2010 (R-18), and received a positive, satisfactory sign off by Davis on January 25, 2010 (R-29) and June 25, 2010 (R-27), regarding her most recent evaluations. She also pointed to her professional development log for 2009-2010, which indicated that she had undertaken significant training during those periods of time. (R-28.)

On cross-examination, she acknowledged that teaching a first or second grader is more "fun-based" than teaching older students due to their general lack of maturity. Accordingly, there are less sports skills to be developed with younger children. They are also more impressionable and the teacher is more of a role model accordingly. She admitted that J.H. was always willing to participate and help out. He was also athletic. However, she then stated that J.H. was a "typical second grader" and once or twice a year she would have to tell him about excessive talking, like most, but not all of the students. But she would not agree that he is an excessive talker or having poor self-control, as indicated by the art teacher Conrad Cote who had noted "excessive talking" in the 2009-10 school year report card (P-28) or by Vargas who noted "poor self-control" in a progress report issued relative to J.H.. (R-31.)

Upon further cross examination, she maintained that there were no flat pieces of tape in the gym on June 11, 2010, despite the fact that both J.H. and C. C. testified that they saw a flat tape. The statements reported to Hamilton by the students A. and J. about Parezo putting the tape on the mouth of J.H. were also incorrect. (P-1 at pages 2 and 3). She also contended that when Bixby saw the flat tape, she was also incorrect. She admitted that when one of the male students, J., put a piece of tape on the shoulder of J.H., she did not tell him to stop. Nor did she advise the students that they should all put the tape on themselves as a fun activity. Instead, she thought they were all having fun but she immediately only stuck tape onto J.H.. At that point the other students, A., and C.C., as well as J.H. himself put tape only on him. Upon reflection of that incident, she acknowledged that it was not appropriate to put any tape on any student. Children should not be touched.

Although she continued to maintain that she only put a tape in front of J.H.'s lips, said "Oops" and then stuck it to the shoulder of J.H., she conceded that in her June 24, 2010 typed statement which was given to Hamilton (P-8), she failed to make any mention about putting any tape by his cheek or by the side of his face or about having said the word "Oops." At most, she admitted that in her statement she only indicated that she pretended to stick the tape onto the lips of J.H.. Nor did she indicate in that statement that the other students put tape on themselves. She offered no explanation in her testimony to explain those omissions.

In addition, in her affidavit, dated October 8, 2010, (P-11) Parezo denied that she ever put anything on his cheek either. Yet, in the handwritten statement supplied by Z. W., dated June 21, 2010, (R-6), Z.W. had stated that Parezo had put "a ball of tape on the side of the kids (sic) face." Parezo contends that Z.W. was wrong even though she was only 10 to 15 feet away from them. And, C.C. and A. were also wrong even though they were right next to her.

She also ultimately conceded (at the final day hearing on April 20, 2011) that, although she only affixed a circular set of tapes to the back of the shapes, the tapes did become flat when they were removed from the shapes, although they all then "balled them up" by themselves by squeezing them into balls. She claims that she put the tape on J.H. just to be "silly." She admits this was not part of any lesson plan. She also then admitted that she put three or four pieces of tape on the shoulder of J.H. but she once again denied touching the mouth of J.H.. Although she brushed by his cheek as she placed it on his shoulder. Once again, she disagreed with the claim by Z.W. that it was stuck to his cheek by stating "it didn't happen" even though Z.W. had provided two separate handwritten statements regarding the placement of the tape on the cheek. (P-6 and P-11). Her contention was that she only held next to the cheek.

Similarly, Parezo said that C.C. had been correct when she said that Parezo put the tape on the shoulder of J.H. but was incorrect when she stated that Parezo had also put it on his face. She believed that C.C. changed her story from what she had told Hamilton versus what she testified to even though C.C. had confirmed at the due process hearing that which she had previously told Hamilton, which was that Parezo took the tape off J.H.'s mouth. (P-1.) In addition, she contended that the female student A. and a male student J.B. were also wrong in their statements about that event. She denied doing anything wrong at all.

She acknowledged that the performance review which was completed by Davis regarding her on June 25, 2010 (R-27) was completed before Davis conducted the investigation in this current matter. However, Davis did sit in on the June 15 meeting regarding this matter. She conceded that she received only a "satisfactory" rating on the section entitled "enforces school rules/discipline", which was the only "satisfactory" which she had ever received in 21 years. Parezo stated that she did not challenge that rating specifically since Davis instead had moved on into a discussion about the need to wear sandals at recess versus the use of the sandals at gym class.

When asked about the meeting with the mother of J.H. in August, 2010, Parezo said she was precluded from explaining what had happened in class that day by the mother. However, she never apologized to J.H. relative to having allowed other students to put tape on his shoulders, or that she had put it on his mouth, or that she "pretended" to put the tape on his mouth. At most, she only stated that she was sorry that it had gone that far, i.e., "to this point" and "everything had gotten so confusing." By that she meant that things had gotten taken out of context. She contended that she had been called into the meeting to allay J.H.'s fears about returning to school in September. Then, after she was able to make her brief remarks, J.H. shook his head and gave her a smile. That was it.

Finally, she claimed that the notes that were taken by DiCicco regarding the June 14, 2010 initial meeting (P-32) did not reflect all that she had said at that meeting. She then once again stated that J.H. had not been embarrassed at all during the fun activity. She saw that he was laughing but then admitted that she could not know what he was thinking.

Respondent, Susan Parezo is a tenured teacher at the Lakehurst School in the Lakehurst Borough School District. (See Petitioner's Statement of Tenure Charges and Statement of Evidence Under Oath at P-30.) Respondent has worked in the Lakehurst public school system for 21 years and currently serves in the capacity of teacher of health and physical education for students in grades kindergarten through 8. Respondent is accused by petitioner, the Lakehurst Board, of violating her professional responsibilities as a tenured teacher by (1) placing a piece of clear tape on the mouth and shoulder of J.H., a second grade student, during school hours, on June 11, 2010, as well as causing or allowing to be caused at least one or more students to also place tape on the person J.H., all of which thereby caused the student J.H. to be humiliated and embarrassed and (2) knowingly, intentionally and willfully making a false statement to Theresa Hamilton, interim superintendent of the Lakehurst school district, when questioned about the incident involving the student J.H.. Further, when questioned about the incident by Carmen Davis, principal of the Lakehurst School on a separate occasion and as part of her official investigation, she did knowingly, intentionally and willfully make a false statement to Davis by denying the placement of tape on the mouth of J.H.. Both of these charges are noted as being conduct unbecoming. In the process, Petitioner alleges that respondent Parezo ignored and violated the Lakehurst Board of Education policy # 3281, which is entitled" Inappropriate staff conduct." (P-23.)

That policy states, in relevant part:

> "The Board of Education recognizes its responsibility to protect the health, safety and welfare of all pupils within this school district. Furthermore, the Board recognizes there exists a professional responsibility for all school staff to protect a pupil's health, safety and welfare. The Board strongly believes that school staff members have the public's trust and confidence to protect the well being of all pupils attending the school district.

In support of this Board's strong commitment to the public's trust and confidence of school staff, the Board of Education holds all school staff to the highest level of professional responsibility in their conduct with all pupils. Inappropriate conduct and conduct unbecoming a school staff member will not be tolerated in this school district.

The Board recognizes and appreciates the staff-pupil professional relationship that exists in the school district's educational environment. This Policy has been developed and adopted by this Board to provide guidance and direction to avoid actual and/or the appearance of inappropriate staff conduct and conduct unbecoming a school staff member toward pupils.

School staff's conduct in completing their professional responsibilities shall be appropriate at all times. School staff shall not make inappropriate comments to pupils or about pupils and shall not engage in inappropriate language or expression in the presence of pupils. School staff shall not engage in inappropriate conduct toward or with pupils...

A school's staff member is always expected to maintain a professional relationship with pupils and to protect the health, safety and welfare of school pupils. A staff member's conduct will be held to the professional standards established by the New Jersey State Board of Education and the New Jersey Commissioner of Education. Inappropriate conduct or conduct unbecoming a staff > member may also include conduct not specifically listed in this policy, but conduct determined by the New Jersey State Board of Education, the New Jersey Commissioner of Education and/or appropriate courts to be inappropriate or conduct unbecoming a school staff member..."

The New Jersey Legislature established tenure for public school teachers. The legislative design of the statutory tenure provisions is "to aid in the establishment of a competent and efficient school system by affording to principals and teachers a measure of security in the ranks they hold after years of service." Viemeister v. Borough of Prospect Park Bd. of Education, 5 N.J. Super. 215, 218 (App. Div. 1949). Tenure protects competent and qualified teachers during good behavior and guards them against "dismissal for 'unfounded, flimsy or political reasons.'" Spiewak v. Rutherford Bd. of Education, 90 N.J. 63, 73 (1982) (citation omitted). "No person shall be dismissed or reduced in compensation, if he is or shall be under tenure of office, position or employment during good behavior and efficiency in the public school system of the state, . . . except for inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct, or other just cause." N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10(a).

The Board bears the burden of establishing the truth of the charges by a preponderance of the credible evidence. Atkinson v. Parsekian, 37 N.J. 143, 149 (1962). This tribunal has the duty "to decide in favor of the party on whose side the weight of the evidence preponderates, and according to the reasonable probability of truth." Jackson v. Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad Co., 111 N.J.L. 487, 490 (E & A 1933). Evidence is said to preponderate "if it establishes the reasonable probability of the fact." Jaeger v. Elizabethtown Consolidated Gas Co., 124 N.J.L. 420, 423 (Sup. Ct. 1940) (citation omitted). In other words, the evidence must "be such as to lead a reasonably cautious mind to a given conclusion." Bornstein v. Metropolitan Bottling Co., 26 N.J. 263, 275 (1958). See Loew v. Union Beach, 56 N.J. Super. 93, 104 (App. Div. 1959). Precisely what is needed to satisfy this burden necessarily must be judged on a case by case basis.

Conduct unbecoming a public employee has been described as an "elastic" phrase that includes "any conduct which adversely affects the morale or efficiency" of the public entity or "which has a tendency to destroy public respect for . . . [public] employees and confidence in the operation of . . . [public] services." In re Emmons, 63 N.J. Super. 136, 140 (App. Div. 1960) (citation omitted); see Karins v. City of Atlantic City, 152 N.J. 532 (1998). Behavior rising to the level of unbecoming conduct need not be predicated upon a violation of any particular rule or regulation and may be based simply upon a violation of the implicit standard of good behavior. City of Asbury Park v. Dep't. of Civil Service, 17 N.J. 419, 429 (1955); In re Tuch, 159 N.J. Super. 219, 224 (App. Div. 1978). In the context of a tenured teacher, the contours for dismissal set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 have been found to provide a sufficient standard which, while "general in terms," when "measured by common understanding . . . fairly and adequately conveys its meaning to all concerned." Laba v. Newark Bd. of Education, 23 N.J. 364, 384 (1956). Succinctly stated, "the touchstone is fitness to discharge the duties and functions of one's office or position." In re Grossman, 127 N.J. Super. 13, 29 (App. Div.), certif. den. 65 N.J. 292 (1974). In an educational setting, unbecoming conduct has been held to be demonstrated by a series of incidents indicating a pattern of behavior, or by a single incident if sufficiently flagrant. See Redcay v. State Bd. of Education, 130 N.J.L. 369 (Sup. Ct. 1943), aff'd o.b. 131 N.J.L. 326 (E.&A. 1944). In that matter, a school principal was found guilty of the charges of inefficiency, incapacity, insubordination, lack of cooperation, unfitness and conduct generally unbecoming a principal. 128 N.J.L. 281, 282 (Sup. Ct. 1942).[i] The court held,

> Unfitness for a task is best shown by numerous incidents. Unfitness for a position under the school system is best evidenced by a series of incidents. Unfitness to hold a post might be shown by one incident, if sufficiently flagrant, but it might also be shown by many incidents. Fitness may be shown either way.

[i] This citation concerns the original case, in which the court remanded back to the board. The board's decision in the remanded matter was subsequently appealed and that opinion is the one published at 130 N.J.L. 369 (Sup. Ct. 1943), aff'd o.b. 131 N.J.L. 326 (E.&A. 1944).

The type of conduct that the Commissioner of Education has determined constitutes "conduct unbecoming" varies significantly, from verbal/physical altercations and threats of both students and colleagues to failing to comply with school policies. The following are a few recent examples of cases involving conduct which demonstrates the range of such misconduct which can allow for the removal from office, some of which is similar to the conduct in the present case. In these cases, the ALJ's found the conduct of the tenured teachers to constitute insubordination and conduct unbecoming.

In I/M/O The Tenure Hearing of Carl A. Hill, EDU 5979-06, initial decision, (April 2, 2007), adopted, Comm'r. (May 15, 2007), adopted State Bd. (Oct. 17, 2007), <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.shtml>, the ALJ found a teacher guilty of both insubordination and unbecoming conduct for refusing to accept letters from supervisors, failing to timely submit roll and grade books, using inappropriate language toward a student, and using disrespectful language and vulgar gestures towards colleagues on multiple occasions.

In I/M/O The Tenure Hearing of Paul Ash, EDU 2799-03, EDU 2658-04 and EDU 2861-06 (consolidated), initial decision, (May 30, 2008), <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.shtml>, adopted Comm'r. (July 18, 2008) <http://www.state.nj.us/education/legal/index.html>. In that case, the ALJ found a teacher guilty of insubordination and unbecoming conduct for, among other things, failing to adhere to the district's attendance and leave policies, failing to comply with verbal warnings from supervisors, and failing to turn in required lesson plans.

In I/M/O the Tenure Hearing of Christopher Molokwu, EDU 9650-04, initial decision, (Oct. 26, 2005), adopted Comm'r., (Dec. 12, 2005) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.shtml>, the Commissioner found that a teacher was guilty of conduct unbecoming for, among other things, failing to report to a period assignment, obtaining medical leave under false pretenses, pushing a female student, lying to his supervisor about attending a mandatory training program, threatening comments to the building principal, and telling a ninth grade female student that she was "acting like a street girl." The Commissioner found that, together, these instances of conduct, "constitute[d] an ongoing pattern of conduct unbecoming a teacher and/or other just cause for dismissal."

In I/M/O the Tenure Hearing of April Renee Bradley, 1990 S.L.D. 790, adopted Comm'r. 1990 S.L.D. 818, adopted State Bd. of Education 1991 S.L.D. 2521, a teacher was found to have demonstrated conduct unbecoming and insubordination for "defying Board administrative directives," failing to comply with call-in/sign-in policies, and refusing to speak with a supervisor who approached her about a previous incident that had occurred.

Some cases have demonstrated that Inappropriate touching may result in certificate revocation.

In a case previously before this tribunal, a teacher's certificates were revoked following an incident where he had instructed and directed some students in the spirit of fun to tape a fellow student up and he then instructed two other students to drag him down a short hall while another student videotaped it. Dep't. of Educ. v. Stocker, EDE 4669-02, Initial Decision, (Feb. 10, 2004), adopted, State Bd. of Exam'rs, (April 1, 2004), <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>, affirmed, State Bd. of Educ. (Sept. 1, 2004) <http://www.state.nj.us/education/legal/sboe/2004/>. Some factors that this tribunal considered in making the determination were that the teacher did not act out of malice, he only helped the students because it was their intent to make a funny video for an after-school project, the student who was taped participated initially voluntarily, no one was presumptively hurt, and it was supposed to be spontaneous and fun. Although initially engaging in the activity and the frivolity that attended it, the student who was the subject of that activity nonetheless changed his tune as the activity progressed. Despite these mitigating circumstances, the teacher admitted he should have used better judgment. This ALJ, the State Board of Examiners and the State Board of Education found that even though this was a single incident, it was sufficiently flagrant to revoke the teacher's certificates.[ii]

Another case involving certificate revocation was I/M/O the Certificate of Chavez, EDE 11443-03, Initial Decision, (Nov. 28, 2005), adopted, State Bd. of Exam'rs, (May 15, 2006), modified as to penalty,[iii] State Bd. of Educ. (Apr. 4, 2007) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>. The unbecoming conduct consisted of two inappropriate comments of a sexual nature and inappropriate horseplay with a female student in front of the entire class. The horseplay incident, most relevant here, had to do with the teacher and the student trying to put ice down each other's shirts. Although the ALJ found that the touching was not sexual in nature, it could have appeared that way to the students who observed it. He determined that this constituted conduct unbecoming because he "compromised his own dignity as a teacher and reduced himself to a teenager's mentality all while being responsible for a class of impressionable students." Chavez, supra, EDE 11443-03.

Some inappropriate touching may warrant dismissal. If a teacher inappropriately touches a student through either corporal punishment or some other unacceptable form of touching, dismissal may be warranted. Fulcomer, supra, 93 N.J. Super. at 428 (teacher was dismissed for unbecoming conduct because he grabbed a student twice to try to get him to resume his seat); I/M/O the Tenure Hearing of Powell, EDU 1425-06, Initial Decision, (Feb. 2, 2009), adopted, Comm'r. (Mar. 18, 2009) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html> (a special education teacher was dismissed because he inappropriately touched students on several occasions asking them to rub or push his shoulder or back); I/M/O the Tenure Hearing of Cooper, EDU 6550-00, Initial Decision, (Feb. 2, 2000) adopted, Acting Comm'r. (Mar. 22, 2001) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html> (A teacher was removed from her tenured position after she told two disruptive students that if they intended to go on the class trip, they would have to kiss her butt. She did not mean this in the literal sense and intended the incident as a joke yet presented her buttocks to the students, and they both kissed her buttocks in front of the entire special education class. Even though the teacher intended the incident as a joke, one of the students was embarrassed and shameful following the incident.); I/M/O Tenure Hearing of Tiefenbacher, 1982 S.L.D. 142, aff'd with modification, Comm'r. (teacher was dismissed for pulling a student from his chair, pushing him so that he hit a cabinet, grabbing him by the neck and throwing him to the back of the room where he hit a table).

[ii] A finding of whether the teacher committed unbecoming conduct was never made at a prior hearing because the teacher resigned before the school board of education could certify tenure charges against him. He moved on to another school district, at which time the licensing issue arose.
[iii] The State Board of Education modified the penalty determining that the teacher's certification should be suspended for two years instead of revoking the teacher's license.

Inappropriate touching has been found to warrant a penalty other than dismissal at times. In the following three cases, the tenure charges were dismissed because the unnecessary or inappropriate physical contact was not egregious enough to warrant dismissal. In an attempt to defend herself, the teacher in I/M/O the Tenure Hearing of Starling engaged in a physical fight with a sixth grade student. EDU 11679-96, Initial Decision, (Feb. 3, 1998), modified as to penalty,[iv] Comm'r. (June 15, 1998) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>. Even though the ALJ found that the teacher exceeded the force required to defend herself and determined the conduct was unbecoming, it was not sufficiently flagrant to warrant dismissal. Mitigating factors the ALJ considered were that the teacher did not intend to inflict bodily harm, there was provocation by the student (the student struck the teacher first), it was an isolated incident, there were no injuries, and there was no prior or subsequent conduct. In I/M/O the Tenure Hearing of Kulp, 96 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 636, a special education teacher unintentionally struck an aggressive student after she observed him approaching a frail and undefended student who she thought would be harmed without her intervention. Corporal punishment may be used under certain circumstances such as when a student is found to be threatening physical injury to others. Despite this exception, the ALJ and Commissioner did not find evidence of corporal punishment here because the teacher's actions were not intended to punish the aggressive student but to protect the frail student and neither student was harmed. Kulp, 96 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) at 640. The tenure charges were dismissed.

[iv] The Commissioner cannot require the teacher to take a course in crisis management/classroom control as the ALJ recommended but urged the Board to consider the teacher's involvement in such a program.

In some circumstances, a teacher will be penalized for unbecoming conduct by a salary withholding for the period of suspension, forfeiture of salary for the approaching school year(s), or forfeiture of adjustment increments. The teacher in Morris v. State Operated Sch. Dist. of Newark engaged in unbecoming conduct that resulted in a withholding of his salary increment. EDU 9472-05, Initial Decision, (Oct. 17, 2006) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>, adopted, Comm'r. (Dec. 1, 2006) <http://www.nj.gov/education/legal/commissioner/2006/>[v] affirmed, State Board of Educ. (Oct.17, 2007) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>. The ALJ determined that the teacher committed an act of corporal punishment when he struck a student on the wrist with a ruler. The ALJ found the testimony of the student who was hit by the teacher and another student witness credible; it was also consistent with observations by several staff members who observed the welt shortly after the incident. Another case, involved an isolated incident of a teacher kicking a student who refused to listen to her instructions. I/M/O the Tenure Hearing of Miller, EDU 5812-01, Initial Decision, (December 27, 2001), modified, (April 8, 2002) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>. The teacher was penalized with a one-year salary increment withholding. Ibid. Lastly, in I/M/O the Tenure Hearing of Boyd, a teacher forced open a classroom door that two students were blocking to prevent another student from leaving, which caused her to impel a student, striking him in his shoulder area. EDU 6394-91, Initial Decision (May 21, 1992), adopted, (July 10, 1992), 1992 N.J. AGEN LEXIS 5255.[vi] The ALJ recommended forfeiture of the next year's salary and adjustment increments and 120 days' pay withheld, rather than the harsher penalty of dismissal, after considering mitigating factors such as the unbecoming conduct being a single incident, the teacher's actions were rash but not premeditated or cruel, there was no lasting effect on the school or students involved, the teacher had twenty-five years of unblemished service, and the teacher already suffered professional and personal embarrassment. Ibid.

As indicated hereinabove pursuant to this analysis, in tenure matters, as in all other matters which are the subject of due process, the moving party, which in this case is the Board, bears the burden of proving the charges upon which it relies by a preponderance of the competent, relevant, and credible evidence. Atkinson v. Parsekian, 37 N.J. 143 (1962). After having examined and considered all of the evidence and testimony presented, as well as after having considered all the arguments advanced, I FIND that the overwhelming evidence supports the ongoing concerns raised by the district as to both of the charges preferred against Parezo.

Her arguments and proofs about her longstanding good service do not give her leave to be excused for her misconduct in this matter either as it applied to the incident or subsequently in her denial of the occurrence of the events. Based upon all of the relevant proofs, I FIND that she inappropriately singled out one student, J.H., and made him the butt of her "fun" time in the presence of all of his classroom peers plus the eighth grader Z.W.. She then placed tape on his shoulders and fostered and encouraged the opportunity for his fellow students to do the same on him. She then placed a piece of flat tape over his mouth as well as at or immediately near his cheek. And then, at or about the time of the arrival of Kathleen Bixby, the second grade teacher, she removed the tape from the mouth of J.H., all of this being witnessed by the students and Bixby. The tape briefly left a red rectangular mark on the child's face. Her role in this process as the adult leader was deplorable, whether she felt it was a fun activity or not. The child even received some taunts from his classmates, such as "tape boy." Despite what Parezo contends, the child J.H. expressed clearly that he was humiliated by the experience and then, as he described it at the hearing, he then felt anger at his teacher for having done what she did. This is hardly a reason to instill confidence in children or their families in the community by the adult educational leadership. In fact, the child was so upset that he feared going back to school. The impact on the child was significant and distinguishes it from other cases in which innocent play got out of hand. This definitely indicates that damage had been done to the child, whether or not Parezo personally felt it was neither punitive, bullying or malicious. Also, his parents were appropriately and understandably upset with the misconduct by Parezo. Curiously, for all of that, Parezo never even truly apologized to the child for which she had done. Her "apology", such as it was, was lame and feeble at best. All she had to really say at that time was what Mrs. H. had requested, which was the two magic words: "I'm sorry." Instead, she gave a response which indicated that she was only sorry for the matter having gone to that point. That hardly sounds like an apology for misconduct, especially where she violated the child so deliberately in front of his peers. The activity may have been fun for Parezo and the other students, but it definitely did not impact similarly for J.H., who was the victim. As a result, she violated the interests of J.H., as set forth in the first charge in this matter. In the process, I find very little merit to her contention that she was summarily cut off by the parent before she could really explain herself. The parent's reactions demonstrate how upset the entire family was by the incident. And yet, for all that, she never really apologized.

And then, to further compound her inappropriate conduct, Parezo was not truthful with either Superintendent Hamilton or Principal Davis when they conducted their respective investigations with her, which has been set forth specifically in Charge # two herein. Her denials about the happenings and occurrence of the event have not been supported by the credible evidence. In fact, in the statement which Parezo presented to Hamilton, dated June 24, 2010, (P-8) she made absolutely no reference to having put a ball of tape on the cheek of J.H., despite the observations by student Z.W., who testified as Parezo's own witness in this matter. Nor had she mentioned that she had said the word "Oops" at the time. One would have thought that had she actually only brushed by the side of the face of J.H. and not even, as Z.W. indicated she placed it on his cheek, she would have made reference to a cheek brushing incident or her accidental and faked act of saying"Oops" in that report to Hamilton and, absent any viable explanation to the contrary, I FIND that Parezo's account of the events is not credible and is not worthy of belief. Here was her first best opportunity to correctly and fully explain herself and she neglected to indicate relevant factors which could have addressed the problem. Those extra factors did not come out until later on. That suggests at a minimum, that those added-on statements were contrived at best. And she never offered any explanation for those ommissions. Her stake in the outcome of these proceedings is obvious.

By contrast, and after having considered and closely scrutinized the oral statements made at hearing by J.H., C.C., and Z.W., and the testimony of Bixby, as well as having considered under the residuum rule the largely corroborating statements made by the fellow students A., J., A., and J. to Hamilton and Davis in their respective investigations (P-1 and P-2), the much greater weight of the evidence supports the conclusion that Parezo specifically, intentionally and unequivocally affixed tape to the mouth of J.H. and then removed it as Bixby entered the area. The activity was observed by the students, who were clearly in the best position to observe what had happened. As part of the analysis, I carefully considered the answers provided at hearing by J.H and C.C., neither one of whom had any vested interest in the outcome other than to tell me the truth. Their answers were refreshing and straightforward. I detected absolutely no hesitation on the part of either one of them regarding what they had observed and/or experienced. Similarly, although to a slightly lesser degree I afforded credibility and appropriate weight to the statements of Z.W. as well, even though her vantage point was not nearly as good as the two second graders who were immediately in front of Parezo. Curiously, however, Parezo discounted the testimony and two handwritten notes even of her own witness, Z.W., who professed that she had seen Parezo place a balled up piece of tape of the cheek of J.H.. At a minimum and whether or not the tape was actually eventually affixed by Parezo also to that cheek, Z.W's observations demonstrate that Parezo was intimately engaged in some close-quarter activity with J.H., and his facial area to his detriment. Parezo's denial of that event has not been supported or corroborated in any form whatsoever. And her statements to Hamilton and Davis were clearly inaccurate, incorrect, and not truthful. That steadfast denial in the face of the overwhelming evidence to the contrary is equally disturbing and most significant since it demonstrates a lack of honesty and truthfulness which cannot be tolerated.

In addition, I FIND little merit in her contention that Bixby had a bias or motive against her. Rather, the reverse appears to be the case in as much as it strongly appears that Parezo resented the fact that Bixby had won out in getting the first grade assignment for lunch duty monitoring, while Parezo got the second graders, which made it logistically inconvenient for her to get to her next class period. Then, Parezo resented having to deal with a first grader's problem because she saw Bixby taking two bathroom breaks during the luncheon periods. Her complaints to Davis thereafter corroborate that fact. If Bixby had any problem with or resentment for Parezo over time, why did she nonetheless hire Parezo's daughter to teach tennis one or more summers? As a further example of Bixby's lack of bias, she testified that she was so affronted by what she had seen in the gymnasium on June 11, 2010, she initially immediately walked away from it in order to extricate herself from what could have been seen as a problem. The reasonable conclusion is that in all probability she did not want to get her fellow teacher in trouble and also wanted to diffuse the embarrassment for J.H. However, after anguishing over it the entire weekend, she nonetheless realized that it was her professional obligation to have it reported to the proper authorities. At the same time, although Bixby was conflicted, it appears that she should have taken more affirmative steps on that Friday to address the needs of J.H., particularly by taking him to the school nurse immediately, her professional obligations to the rest of her students notwithstanding.

Further, none of the witnesses who appeared on behalf of Parezo provided any meaningful or relevant testimony which could shed any different light regarding what had happened between Parezo and J.H. on June 11, 2010. The two paraprofessionals Robinson and Capasso were not even witness to the events with J.H. since they were charged with responsibility over their respective autistic children and left with them at the time. Furthermore, they couldn't even agree on what days of the week they shared gym classes with Parezo. And, as to DiCicco, even Parezo maintained that the various notes by DiCicco were not completely accurate, thereby further diminishing their significance and usefulness at hearing. Nor could they detract from the thorough investigations conducted by Hamilton and Davis, whom I found to be highly credible and worthy of belief. In both cases, Parezo was not truthful or forthcoming with them. Her claim that she first believed that she was in trouble with Hamilton only because of some morning duty lateness issue is a weak response in light of the startled reaction by Bixby the previous Friday afternoon and also in light of the suggestion by Hamilton to her that she bring her union representative to that meeting. It seems hardly likely that a union representative would have been required to sit in on such a minor infraction as lateness for breakfast duty.

At the same time, I FIND that Parezo has satisfactorily explained the authorship of the progress note regarding J.H. as having been vested in Vargas, and not her, although it is understandable how the parent could have previously believed that Parezo may have been responsible for the note since they both team-taught her son and there is some basic indication that Mrs. H. was somehow aware of Parezo's negative confrontations with two other students earlier in the year to which Parezo herself even testified and also heard prior complaints by her son about Parezo. Apparently, the Lakehurst community is not so large so as to avoid such knowledge. This also raises concerns about the long-term impact upon the community if she is retained since it is quite logical that other parents may be constrained to have their children taught by her in the future. By her own actions in this matter, Susan Parezo has emasculated her leadership, her trust and her confidence within the school community.

In that same regard, I feel compelled to observe that the current use of progress reports and the Power Teacher system should be revisited by the district. Its usefulness in this matter was very limited since it was difficult to assess the time frame within which negative actions by a child could have been effectively pinned down, other than by the independent recollection of the parties. Unlike the apparent running record of report cards, which lists ongoing comments from one marking period to another during the class year and which can be retained in the student's cum folder as a permanent record, any progress report notes from preceding marking periods must be deleted or erased before new entries can be made. And they are neither kept by the teachers nor stored by the district for future purposes. It is understandable that a parent could be confused about the status of one's child if there is no base line in the progress report from which to reference a potential problem during any part of the year. Thus, if the intent of the progress report is to alert a parent to those problems, the current practice falls very short of the mark. And, additionally, at least in the case before me, there was an obvious confusion by Mrs. H. regarding which team-teacher wrote the negative remarks about J.H. in March 2010. That type of ambiguity must be addressed in the future to help the school community and families timely and accurately assess any potential student concerns.

As indicated hereinabove, the incident itself was most disturbing and serious. Parezo failed to properly consider the consequences of her actions and the impact upon J.H., as well as the other students present. Her claim that everything was done in innocence and fun fails to justify the despicable and unsettling nature of her actions under the circumstances. The child J.H. was subjected to ridicule and embarrassment. One also wonders the long-term impact upon the other children who witnessed the actions by her. In addition, by placing the tape on J.H.'s mouth, and most likely also his cheek, she exposed him to a potential health hazard by having an unsanitary piece of tape placed there. In all those respects, she violated the district's policy #3281. And I so FIND. In the process, it is noteworthy that her 21 years of teaching worked totally against her this matter. There was absolutely no excuse for that conduct. Perhaps a less experienced teacher could be given some margin of leniency based upon the rationale or justification of immaturity. This was not the case here, however. Given the evolving nature of awareness and sensitivity in our society to such violations of individual rights and the increasingly focused efforts in school districts to address such improprieties against children generally, this experienced teacher should have known much better under the circumstances. And her failure to either own up to that responsibility or appropriately apologize to the victim and his family adds to the disturbing nature of her actions when the matter was discovered and reported by Bixby and demonstrated her failure to maintain a proper role as a leader in the school setting.

In the matter of In re Tenure Hearing of Rosa Sardury, App. Div Dkt. No. a-5913-0323 (December 13, 2005), the Court held that even though the teacher had had numerous years of service, her insubordinate behavior and unbecoming conduct actions had so severely compromised her role as to justify her employment relationship with the board to be severed. This is precisely the problem with the actions by Parezo. Under the circumstances of this matter, her irresponsible actions and singling out of J.H. as she did and the reactions of the child and his parents to that inappropriate conduct warrant significant discipline. The withholding of any increments or any protracted suspension do not appear to adequately serve the best interest of the community in light of what she had done or salvage the damage which she has caused. One also questions how she will be able to effectively teach in this district any longer in light of the incident and its impact upon the child and his family. It is also reasonable to assume that she will otherwise be watched and scrutinized at every turn by the community and the district leadership, thereby challenging, if not crippling, her ability to teach there. In addition, her steadfast denial of her responsibility over the misconduct in the face of such overwhelming evidence to the contrary demonstrates that she is no longer trustworthy, thereby also warranting removal. She has divested herself of her tenure protections by the sum total of her actions accordingly.

In the last analysis, a thorough review of this incident involving Parezo in the Lakehurst district illustrates a classic example of a board attempting to come to grips with unsettling and inappropriate behavior by a member of its staff against one of its students and its impact in the community which it serves. In the process, I am satisfied and FIND that Lakehurst employed appropriate procedures in order to intercept the problem as soon as possible, as evidenced by the significant number of meetings conducted and contacts made by Hamilton and Davis in a relatively short period of time. All of this occurred despite the unequivocal and unwavering denial by Parezo of having engaged in any wrongdoing. Her untruthfulness is intolerable and her failure to recognize her responsibility under the circumstances is inexcusable. How could one ever trust her again under the circumstances? Her job was to be a positive role model and to instill in the public and in the community a level of trust and confidence as well as to protect the well being of her pupils, which she failed to miserably do under the circumstances. As stated hereinabove, unbecoming conduct constitutes grounds for dismissal of a tenured teacher. Thus, while I am acutely aware of the entitlements which attach to tenure status under our present law and I diligently sought to scrutinize the evidence in light of the impact it will have upon her future, Parezo has nonetheless offered no viable explanation whatsoever to justify her unbecoming conduct on either June 11, 2010 or her own untruthfulness thereafter during the course of the investigation in this matter. And I so FIND.

CONCLUSION AND ORDER

Based upon all of the foregoing, I have thoroughly considered all of the extensive proofs offered in this matter. Although there are no explicit bright-line rules as to what may be considered "conduct unbecoming" in cases involving teachers facing tenure charges, the determination must be made on a case by case basis. As a result, in the present case, the petitioner Board has presented consistent and corroborated evidence in the form of extensive testimony, investigative reports and district policy regarding the proper role which must be conducted by a teacher. As a result I FIND and CONCLUDE that all of the allegations against respondent, Susan Parezo, as to the each of the two charges cited against her in the Statement of Tenure Charges and Statement of Evidence Under Oath by Theresa Hamilton, dated September 30, 2010, are sufficient to constitute conduct unbecoming and that she is GUILTY of both of the charges contained therein relative to same. I make all of these findings and form all of these conclusions by a preponderance of the credible evidence.

It is ORDERED that respondent Susan Parezo be DISMISSED and REMOVED from her tenured employment with the Lakehurst Board of Education.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

SYNOPSIS

The petitioner certified tenure charges of chronic and excessive absenteeism constituting unbecoming conduct and other just cause against respondent – a teacher of culinary arts at the Juvenile Justice Commission's (JJC) New Jersey Training School – for, inter alia, allegedly failing to return from an approved leave of absence without authorization, refusing to comply with requests to return to work or voluntarily resign from his position, and for chronic and excessive absences that constitute abandonment of his position. Respondent contends that his absences were due to a work-related injury, and that petitioner failed to warn him of its displeasure with his absences. Petitioner sought removal of respondent from his tenured position, and filed a motion for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: the undisputed facts in this matter are sufficient to support the dismissal of the charge of abandonment of position; on the charge of excessive absenteeism, the petitioner appropriately considered the circumstances of respondent's absences and not just their sheer number; the fact that JJC knew respondent's absences were the result of knee replacement surgery and the recovery thereafter, and continued to consider them excessive does not make its consideration of his absences unreasonable; respondent's absences for nearly nine months of authorized and one month of unauthorized leave negatively impacted the continuity of JJC's culinary program; JJC provided sufficient warnings to respondent and appropriately relied upon them when certifying the tenure charges of excessive absenteeism; JJC asserts that respondent's attendance record prior to the most recent leave of absence contributed to its decision to file the instant tenure charges; however, respondent's attendance record prior to his leave in 2009-2010 is in dispute and it can therefore not be determined from the evidence submitted whether respondent engaged in a pattern of absenteeism prior to October 2009 as JJC alleges; further material facts are needed to resolve the issue of whether dismissal is warranted; accordingly, although petitioner has established that respondent's absences were excessive, it has not established that the excessive absences justify his dismissal. Accordingly, the ALJ granted petitioner's motion for summary decision on the issue of respondent's excessive absences, but denied petitioner's motion for summary decision on the issue of dismissing respondent based on his excessive absenteeism. The ALJ further granted respondent's motion seeking a determination that he had not abandoned his position and denied petitioner's request for summary decision on this issue.

Upon independent review of the record, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that petitioner had not proven that respondent abandoned his position. The Commissioner agreed that a school district may, under certain circumstances, terminate the employment of a staff member whose absences have been prodigious – even where those absences have been caused by work-related injuries – but found that the factual record must support such a termination by harmonizing with the legal principals in In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Lena White, State-Operated School District of the City of Jersey City, Hudson County, 92 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 157 and similar cases. Accordingly, the Commissioner: denied petitioner's motion for summary decision, granted respondent's motion for a ruling that he did not abandon his position; and ordered that the record of this matter be developed to allow a full application of the legal analysis in Lena White, supra – confined, however, to the time period specified in the within tenure charges.

AGENCY DKT. NO. 575-9/10

	:	DECISION

In this matter, petitioner alleges that the absences of the respondent – a culinary arts teacher – have been excessive to a degree warranting dismissal. Respondent counters that because his absences were due to a work-related injury, and because petitioner did not disclose its displeasure with his absences, the tenure charges for excessive absenteeism and abandonment of position must fail. Before the Commissioner is a recommendation for disposition of some – but not all – of the issues raised by the parties. Upon review of the record, partial Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and parties' exceptions, the Commissioner determines as follows.

First, the ALJ's conclusion that respondent did not abandon his position at the New Jersey Training School (NJTS) is adopted for the reasons set forth in the Initial Decision. Petitioner's reliance, in its exceptions, upon N.J.A.C. 4A:2-6.2(b) – a civil service regulation which provides that absences of five or more days without employer approval constitute abandonment of position – is misplaced. At the outset, the Commissioner notes that the regulation itself requires that leave requests must not be unreasonably denied, and petitioner's bald assertion – on page eleven of its exceptions – that its denial was reasonable is not sufficient to support a finding in its favor on that point.

To the contrary, the record suggests that long before July 2010, petitioner was made aware – by two doctors selected by petitioner – that respondent needed a knee replacement. (See, e.g., Email from Manzer in State Department of Treasury to Velez in petitioner's Human Resources Department, marked "JJC Amodei 266" in Exhibit A to certification of Lisa F. Bell; report of W. Thomas Gutowski, M.D., dated December 17, 2009, attached as Exhibit 5 to respondent's May 20, 2011 brief.) Respondent maintained that one of the doctors advised him that failure to correct his knee would undo the multiple repairs that he had undergone to mend the ankle that had been injured on the job in November 2004. The record also suggests that respondent disclosed to petitioner that without a knee replacement he would not be able to stand for the extended periods required by his culinary classes. Nonetheless, petitioner decided to end the series of leave approvals that it had given respondent on a date – July 7, 2010 – that it knew fell between respondent's knee surgery and his in-patient rehabilitation. This decision was made notwithstanding the provisions in N.J.A.C. 4A:6-1.10(a) which allow agencies to extend unpaid leave beyond the period of one year – with the approval of the Department of Personnel. In view of the foregoing, a question of fact is raised as to the reasonableness of petitioner's denial of respondent's request for leave for his knee replacement.

Further, the facts suggest that respondent's decision to undergo a knee replacement was driven, at least in part, by his desire to restore his ability to physically handle his teaching position. It would thus be counterintuitive to conclude that his actions signified an intent to abandon that position.

The determination that respondent did not abandon his position, however, does not dispose of the ultimate issue in this case. Frequent or prolonged absences can, regardless of the reason, warrant dismissal from a position. See, e.g. State-Operated School District of Jersey City, Hudson County v. Vincent Pellecchio, 92 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 267, 270.[1] The ALJ found that respondent's absences were excessive, but that the record thus far is insufficient to resolve the question of whether dismissal is warranted. The Commissioner concurs with the latter finding.

The appropriate legal analysis can be found in such cases as In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Lena White, State-Operated School District of the City of Jersey City, Hudson County, 92 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 157; and Kelsey v. Board of Education of the City of Trenton, Mercer County, Commissioner Decision No. 127-89, May 11, 1989. In those cases, three factors were examined in determining the appropriateness of dismissal for absenteeism: 1) the particular circumstances of the absences and not merely the number of absences; 2) the impact that the absences had on the continuity of instruction during the period of time the absences occurred; and 3) whether some warning had been given to the employee that his or her supervisors were dissatisfied with the pattern of absences. Lena White, supra, at 161.

As to these factors, only those allegations contained in the tenure charges which were certified to the Commissioner herein may be considered. Those charges reference only absences between July 7, 2010 and the date of the tenure charges. Earlier absences could have been included in the charges; they were not, however, and therefore they may not be used to establish the within charges.[2] The case upon which the ALJ relies for his view that the earlier

[1] Accordingly, it is well settled that absences due to work-related injuries will not be excluded from consideration in determining whether absenteeism is excessive and warrants dismissal. In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Phyllis Stanley, Board of Education of the Freehold Regional High School District, Monmouth County, 95 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 495, 498; In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Sonia Velez, School District of the Hudson County Schools of Technology, Commissioner Decision No. 162-06 (April 27, 2006); Malone v. Aramark Services, Inc., 334 N.J. Super. 669, 676-77 (2000). Thus, respondent cannot argue that the leave related to his ankle surgeries must be disregarded when evaluating his attendance.

[2] The Commissioner further notes that tenure charges may not be amended by motion. If a board wishes to make additional charges, it must comply with the requirements of the entire process and then seek to consolidate the subsequent case with the first if it is still pending.

absences may be considered, i.e., Trautwein v. Board of Education of the Borough of Bound Brook, Somerset County, 1980 S.L.D. 1539 (App. Div. 1980), certif. den. 84 N.J. 469 (1980), is an increment withholding case and consequently does not provide any guidance on this issue.

Accordingly, petitioner's motion for summary decision – requesting that the Commissioner find that respondent abandoned his position and may be dismissed from employment – is denied. Respondent's related motion seeking a finding that he did not abandon his position is granted. The Commissioner further orders that the record be developed to allow a full application of the legal analysis in Lena White, supra, to the time period specified in the tenure charges. Pending such an analysis, the OAL's finding that petitioner has established that respondent's absences were chronic and excessive is premature. Finally, the Commissioner adopts the OAL's order placing certain documents under seal.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[3]

Michael J. Engallena, Deputy Attorney General, for petitioner (Paula T. Dow, Attorney General of New Jersey, attorney)

Jason L. Jones, Esq., for respondent (Weissman and Mintz, LLC, attorneys)

BEFORE DENNIS P. BLAKE, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

In a letter dated August 31, 2010, Tremaine Harrison ("Harrison"), Assistant Director of the Office of Education within the Juvenile Justice Commission ("the JJC" or "petitioner") notified Giuseppe Amodei ("respondent"), a teacher of Culinary Arts at the JJC's New Jersey Training School ("NJTS"), that the JJC intended to file tenure charges against him and to seek his dismissal as Teacher 2 in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 & 60-2 and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.4. Respondent was suspended immediately.[1] Attached to the notice were a Statement of Charges, a Statement of Evidence, and an Appendix of Exhibits.

[1] Until January 24, 2011, respondent was suspended without pay. In a letter dated January 28, 2011, Lisa Bell, JJC's Human Resources Manager, notified respondent that his 120 day suspension without pay

Respondent was charged with chronic and excessive absenteeism, conduct unbecoming, and other just cause under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 & 60-2. The Statement of Charges identified three separate charges. Charge One alleged that he engaged in chronic and excessive absenteeism, conduct unbecoming, and other just cause on the basis that:

> 1. He has failed to return from an approved leave of absence from his position without authorization since July 6, 2010[,]
> 2. He exhausted his Family Medical Leave entitlement and he was advised that management would not approve a leave of absence beyond July 6, 2010; and > 3. He refused to comply with directives to return to work or resign from his position.

Charge Two alleged that "[h]e has refused to comply with the requests to return to work or voluntarily resign from his position which has had an adverse impact upon the students of [NJTS] under his jurisdiction." Charge Three stated that "[h]is absences during this unauthorized period from July 6, 2010 [sic] to present are chronic and excessive and constitute abandonment of his position." Five exhibits accompanied the Statement of Charges. They consisted of letters to respondent dated June 17, 2010; June 18, 2010; August 9, 2010; and August 20, 2010. These exhibits will be discussed in the factual discussion below.

The charges were filed against respondent on September 2, 2010. Respondent did not respond to the charges within the fifteen-day time period provided by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.4(b). On September 27, 2010, the JJC's Director of the Office of Education, LaCoyya Weathington, determined that there was probable cause to credit the charges filed against respondent and that the evidence was sufficient to warrant his dismissal from services. This determination was served on respondent that same day. The certified charges were filed with the Commissioner of the Department of Education on had expired on January 24, 2011, and that he had been placed on suspension status with pay effective January 25, 2011. (Engallena Decl. Ex. E.)

September 28, 2010. On November 1, 2010, the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes within the Department of Education received respondent's letter directed to Commissioner Hendricks contesting the charges. The matter was then transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law ("OAL") where it was received on November 3, 2010.

On December 14, 2010, a pre-hearing conference was held. On January 20, 2011, the JJC served on respondent discovery requests in the form of interrogatories, a request for production of documents, and a request for admissions. (Engallena Decl. Ex. D.) In a letter dated February 22, 2011, respondent's attorney requested an extension of time until March 21, 2011, to respond to the JJC's discovery requests. (Engallena Decl. Ex. F.) Respondent did not meet that deadline. (Engallena Decl. ¶ 10; Jones Cert. ¶ 7.)

On April 25, 2011, the JJC filed a motion for summary decision and to file certain records under seal. The JJC asserted in its motion for summary decision that the undisputed facts support that it properly determined that respondent's absences were excessive, that respondent had abandoned his position, and that dismissal was warranted. In its motion to file certain records under seal, the JJC requested that respondent's personnel and medical documentation it was submitting into evidence be kept under seal to protect respondent's privacy interests. After an extension to respond was granted, respondent's response brief was received on May 20, 2011. Respondent disputes the number of days petitioner asserts he was absent, that petitioner considered the circumstances of his absences, that petitioner warned him that it was dissatisfied with his absences, and that his absences negatively impacted the continuity of culinary arts instruction at NJTS. Respondent also asserts that the undisputed facts support that he did not abandon his position and also that issues of material fact exist in determining whether respondent had just cause for removing him from his position. Respondent's brief addresses only the motion for summary decision. Hence, the motion to file certain records under seal is uncontested. In its reply letter, received on June 3, 2011, the JJC reiterated its original arguments regarding the motion for summary decision.

At the time of JJC's motions, respondent had not answered the JJC's discovery requests. (Engallena Decl. ¶ 10.) The JJC requested that its request for admissions be deemed admitted by respondent. (Pet'r's Mot. for Summ. D. 3 n. 1.) However, respondent included, as part of his response, his answers to the JJC's request for admissions. No other responses to the discovery requested were submitted. Respondent's attorney certified that he "inadvertently overlooked" the JJC's request for admissions and that respondent "does not admit to the veracity of any statements contained in said [request] except as indicated in [respondent's] attached [response]." (Jones Cert. ¶ 7.) Furthermore, he indicated that the "other requests for discovery will be completed and served upon [petitioner] by the filing deadline contained in the [OAL's] Procedural Rules." (Jones Cert. ¶ 7.) In its reply letter, the JJC asks that the requests for admissions be deemed admitted because respondent's response was served out of time.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

The NJTS is a secure facility, operated by the JJC. (Harrison Decl. ¶ 4.) It provides "care, treatment and custody for juveniles committed by the courts to the JJC's custody" and "career and technical education opportunities and training for the juveniles housed there." (Id. at ¶ 7.) "Juveniles committed to the JJC who are assigned to [NJTS] live on site." (Id. at ¶ 5.) NJTS programs allow them to "develop technical skills they can used [sic] to obtain jobs and careers once they re-enter society; develop and utilize communication and interpersonal skills; develop critical thinking and problem solving skills; interact with others in positive, non-confrontational methods of interaction; build self-confidence, self-esteem, and character; all of which helps prepare them to become positive, beneficial members of their communities once released from [NJTS]." (Id. at ¶ 8.) A fiscal school year at NJTS "consists of a minimum of 220 days in which all JJC teachers employed there are expected to be present and working." (Id. at ¶ 12.) Juveniles at NJTS have a twelve-month school year. (Id. at ¶ 13.)

The Culinary Arts/Commercial Baking Program ("the culinary program") is "[o]ne of the career and technical programs offered . . . at [NJTS]." (Id. at ¶ 9.) Teaching culinary arts requires a special teaching certification. (Id. at ¶ 22.) From 2004 until 2009, the culinary program consisted of an introductory and intermediate phase. (Id. at ¶ 18.) "The introductory phase provided . . . basic training" and "[i]t was primarily book-oriented, with only limited exposure to hands-on training." (Id. at ¶ 31.) "The intermediate phase provided opportunities for prep work in a small kitchen setting." (Id. at ¶ 32.) In June 2010, the JJC planned to expand the culinary program by adding an advanced phase where students "would function to a large extent as independent chefs, with responsibility for baking, overseeing inventory, and operating the Campus Shop[, a short-order restaurant,] for students and staff, including selling the baked goods they produced." (Id. at ¶ 33.) The advanced phase would give the students "primary exposure to the kitchen and the majority of the hands-on experience" out of all three phases. (Id. at ¶ 34.) The expansion of the culinary program was expected "to make the . . . program comparable to those offered by culinary school and local union shops, and to allow students to accumulate qualifying apprenticeship hours to apply for membership in local union shops or culinary schools." (Id. at ¶ 36.)

Respondent was hired on May 3, 2004, to serve as a Teacher II for the culinary program. (Harrison Decl. ¶ 10; Bell Decl. ¶ 16, Ex. K.) Harrison states that the position was full-time, "requiring a minimum of 35 hours of work per week, 12 months per year," (Harrison Decl. ¶ 11.); however, the JJC's personnel request action indicates that respondent was requested to work part-time for a total of six hours per week, 12 months per year, (Bell Decl. Ex. K.). It is unclear when he became a full-time, 35 hour-per-week employee, but his status had changed to such as early as January 2005 as demonstrated by a sick leave injury request form for January 3, 2005, to January 21, 2005. (Bell Decl. Ex. A (JJC Amodei 42).) From 2004 until 2009, respondent's responsibilities included teaching the intermediate phase of the culinary program. (Harrison Decl. ¶ 19.) Respondent achieved tenure during that time. Beginning in June 2010, respondent's responsibilities changed to providing instruction and supervision to facilitate the advanced phase of the culinary program. (Harrison Decl. ¶ 33.)

When respondent was hired, he was provided with the JJC's policies regarding leaves of absence ("LOA"), sick leave ("SL"), and sick leave injury ("SLI"), and told where to find them and that he was required to comply with them. (Bell Decl. ¶¶ 17 & 18, Ex. L; Resp't's Admis. ¶ 2.) He was also given a "Department of Law & Public Safety (LPS) Handbook and a Notice to All Employees of LPS Work-Related Standards of Conduct." (Bell Decl. ¶ 19, Ex. L; Resp't's Admis. ¶ 2.) He "signed an acknowledgement agreeing to review all JJC and LPS policies." (Bell Decl. ¶ 20, Ex. L.) The JJC regularly distributed these policies throughout his employment. (Bell Decl. ¶ 21.) "Prior to October 2009, [respondent] read the JJC's Human Resources Policies regarding [LOA], [SL], and [SLI]." (Resp't's Admis. ¶ 7.) Between October 2009 and September 2010, Sick Leave, Policy 07H-11.7 ("SL Policy"), Work Related Injury/Illness and Requesting Sick Leave Injury (SLI) PR-4, PR-6, Policy 09H-14.1 ("SLI Policy"), and Leaves of Absence PR-2, Policy 08H-11.1 ("LOA Policy"), were in effect. (Bell Decl. ¶ 22.)

The SL Policy promotes "regular attendance" and allows SL to be used for personal illness, work-related injury, or medical appointments. (Bell Decl. Ex. H at 1 & 2.) It provides instructions on how to request SL and explains that when SL is exhausted, "employees may request their supervisor's approval to use vacation or administrative leave if an illness should occur." (Id. at 2-3.) It further provides that employees may be subject to discipline for, among other things, abuse of sick leave or chronic absenteeism. (Id. at 4.)

The SLI Policy allows employees to, in accordance with contractual agreements and N.J.A.C. 4A:6-1.6, request SLI benefits if they are disabled due to a work-related injury or illness. (Bell Decl. Ex. I at 1.) It provides instructions for requesting SLI and explains that "SLI benefits are limited to a period beginning on the initial date of injury and ending one year from that date." (Id. at 1 & 2.) When SLI is exhausted or denied, an employee should contact HR "to discuss eligibility for Temporary Disability Insurance or Temporary Workers' Compensation benefits." (Id. I at 2.)

The LOA Policy provides step-by-step instructions for employees requesting a "leave of absence of five or more consecutive working days or when requesting intermittent family leave." (Bell Decl. Ex. J at 1.) Part of those instructions provides that "[e]mployees must not allow a medical leave to expire. An additional [Application for Leave of Absence] PR-2 must be completed to extend the leave when the employee is unable to return to work. . . . If a leave expires without an approved extension, the repercussions may be severe." (Id. at 3.) "Permanent employees may receive approval for medical leave of absence for a maximum of six months. Employees requesting leave beyond six months may be subject to an independent medical evaluation as requested by management or as determined by the Human Resources Manager. Employees who have exhausted FMLA and/or FLA entitlements may be disapproved for further leave." (Id. at 4.) In bold face type, the policy states: "Employees entering into an unauthorized leave of absence jeopardize their employment benefits and are subject to termination." (Id. at 4.)

Respondent's use of SLI appears to have begun after November 16, 2004, when he was injured in a work-related accident whereby he reportedly sprained his ankles. (Bell Decl. Ex. A (JJC Amodei 37).) Thereafter, he had a series of surgeries related to the accident. On February 11, 2005, Dr. David Hertzog performed surgery to repair a hernia, for which respondent was cleared to return to work four-to-six weeks afterwards. (Resp't Br. Ex. 1; Bell Decl. Ex. A (JJC Amodei 40).) On February 24, 2006, Dr. Pagliaro performed ankle surgery on respondent. (Resp't Br. Ex. 2.) On May 24, 2006, Dr. Pagliaro performed arthroscopic knee surgery. (Resp't Br. Ex. 3.) It is unclear from the evidence provided exactly how many days respondent was absent from his position during this time; however, an SLI worksheet indicates that he missed 2.5 hours during the remainder of 2004, was absent from January 3 until April 28, 2005, as supported by (Bell Decl. Ex. A (JJC Amodei 41, 38, 33, & 30.), and returned to work on April 29, 2005. (Bell Decl. Ex. A (JJC Amodei 26 & 28.) Any time missed as a result of the 2006 surgeries has not been verified. In dispute is the number of days respondent missed between May 3, 2004, and October 23, 2009. Respondent denies missing the 600 school days that JJC asserts he missed between May 3, 2007 and July 7, 2009. (Resp't's Admis. ¶ 22.)

From May 2004 until August 2008, respondent received evaluations. (Resp't Br. Ex. 15.) In his first rating cycle of 9-1-03 to 8-31-04, he had an overall commendable rating. (Ibid.) Nothing was written about absences. (Ibid.) The rating cycle paperwork for rating cycles 9-1-04 to 8-31-05 and 9-1-05 to 8-31-06 provided in respondent's exhibits are packets presented to respondent without any notations. (Ibid.) The rating cycle paperwork for 9-1-06 to 8-31-07 indicates that respondent passed all of his job expectations and, therefore, had received a satisfactory rating. (Ibid.) Comments made by the ratee did not include anything with regard to respondent's absences. (Ibid.) For his rating cycle 9-1-07 to 8-31-08, the ratee also made no comments about his absenteeism and gave him a satisfactory rating. (Ibid.) Respondent certifies that he "was never advised by the JJC or its representatives that the absences I took to treat and recover from the injuries I sustained as a result of the November 16, 2004, incident at the NJTS, would subject me to disciplinary action." (Amodei Cert. ¶ 25.)

It is undisputed that respondent last appeared for work on October 23, 2009. Respondent states that "[f]rom October 2009 to July 2010, [he] was not aware that being absent due to work-related injury that was covered under an approved leave of absence could be grounds for termination." (Resp't's Admis. ¶ 8.) It is undisputed that respondent's absence from work since July 7, 2010, has been unauthorized. (Resp't's Admis. ¶ 18.) Respondent states that he "was aware that an unauthorized leave of absence could subject [him] to a resignation." (Resp't's Admis. ¶ 9.)

Harrison states that from 2009 until June 2010, only one other teacher, Judy Mulligan, taught in the culinary program as the teacher of the introductory phase. (Harrison Decl. ¶¶ 20 & 23.) She was frequently absent for prolonged periods of time during this time, and the JJC had a difficult time finding substitute teachers because of the needed certification. (Id. at ¶¶ 21 & 24.) Furthermore, the JJC could not reassign teachers from other JJC facilities and, due to budgetary constraints, could not hire another teacher between October 2009 and June 2010. (Id. at ¶¶ 23 & 26.) Consequently, between those dates, only the introductory phase of the program was operational. (Id. at ¶ 27.) JJC did assign a third teacher, Rodney Karp, to the program in June 2010 with the intention that he would contribute to the program's expansion, likely as its intermediate phase teacher. (Id. at ¶ 29 & 30 (the statement in ¶ 30 is not complete).) Ms. Mulligan continued to be absent for periods from June 2010 through August 2010, and respondent remained absent continuously during that entire time. (Id. at ¶ 37.) Harrison states in his declaration that respondent's "continued absences are a significant cause of why [NJTS] has frequently been unable to assign students to any intermediate or advanced phase classes . . . and why the advanced phase . . . was ultimately eliminated." (Id. at ¶ 38.) Moreover, he states that "the effect of [respondent's] absences on [the program] has resulted in the lack of any programmatic continuity; an inability to consistently plan for the program; an inability to prepare students for either transition to a residential program or effective pre-release training; and an inability to coordinate activities that would take students from a beginner's phase through the intermediate and advanced phases of the program." (Id. at ¶ 40.) At the time of his declaration, the program was only offering introductory courses, which is a significant disadvantage to the student when they attempt "to gain acceptance into culinary schools or culinary unions." (Id. at ¶ 41.)

Respondent's LOA began when he reopened a workers' compensation claim related to the 2004 injury in September 2009 for further treatment. (Statement of Charges Ex. 2). According to an email from Kim Szanger ("Szanger"), the Supervisor of Education at NJTS, to Dolly Velez ("Velez") of JJC's Human Resources ("HR"), on October 26, 2009, respondent contacted Szanger informing her that he had "forwarded medical documentation to Dolly Velez for a medical condition requiring him to be on light duty for the next 2-weeks. He also explained that the light duty restrictions would most likely have him out of work for 2 weeks." (Bell Decl. Ex. A (JJC Amodei 282).) He further "asked if he should still come to work [on October 27, 2009]." (Ibid.) Szanger then contacted Velez with this information, and Velez "contacted Horizon Casualty Insurance (Workers' Compensation Insurance) for clarification." (Ibid.) Velez received a response that respondent could "not be on 'light duty.' He must be completely cleared of all medical restrictions prior to returning to work.'" (Ibid.) At that time, respondent "was not eligible for Sick Leave Injury time . . . because . . . SLI time cannot be utilized more than one-year [sic] from the date of injury, under N.J.A.C. 4A:6-1.6(b)(3)." (Bell Decl. ¶ 25.)

In a letter dated October 27, 2009, Lisa Bell ("Bell"), the JJC's HR manager, provided respondent with instructions that he should follow to protect his benefits and pay status while being treated by a State-authorized physician due to a work-related injury. (Bell Decl. Ex. A (JJC Amodei 277).) In relevant part, the letter notified respondent that his responsibilities while on temporary workers' compensation included providing HR with an ongoing schedule of medical and physical therapy appointments, contacting HR immediately following each medical appointment to advise of work status and providing them within twenty-four hours the medical documentation indicating work status and date of next appointment, advising a supervisor of work status as it extends or changes, and immediately notifying HR when a physician clears the employee for return to work. (Ibid.)

In a letter dated October 28, 2009, Bell submitted information to Manzer Hussain ("Hussain"), a claims investigator with the State's Division of Risk Management ("Risk Management"), for a determination of respondent's eligibility for temporary workers' compensation benefits. (Bell Decl. Ex. A (JJC Amodei 283).) In another letter dated October 28, 2009, Bell notified respondent that his LOA from October 26, 2009, until November 16, 2009, was approved by the Civil Service Commission as leave without pay and would be recorded as workers' compensation. (Bell Decl. Ex. A (JJC Amodei 276).) On November 2, 2009, Hussain notified Bell that respondent's workers' compensation claim was accepted as a result of the injury occurring on November 16, 2004, and that it was providing workers' compensation disability payments to respondent for the period of October 26, 2009, through November 6, 2009. (Bell Decl. Ex. A (JJC Amodei 291).) Consequently, on October 26, 2009, respondent began using HR-approved LOA time that was covered under workers' compensation because the time was based on the work-related injury, as determined by Risk Management. (Bell Decl. Ex. A (JJC Amodei 276).)

Whether respondent's leave time between November 6 and 16, 2009, was considered workers' compensation time is unclear from the exhibits provided. It is further unclear whether HR approved respondent's leave time between November 17 and December 17, 2009, because no such document has been submitted to support this. Nevertheless, that these LOAs were covered under workers' compensation and approved appears to be undisputed.

It is clear that from December 18, 2009 until June 15, 2010, HR continued to approve LOA for respondent. (Bell Decl. Ex. A (JJC Amodei 258, 251, 247, 241, 237, 231, 214 & 225).) It is also clear that each time he was approved he was notified that he should not allow his "leave to expire without requesting an extension and providing medical documentation" and that pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-6.2(c), "An employee who has not returned to duty for five or more consecutive business days following an approved leave of absence shall be considered to have abandoned his or her position and shall be recorded as resignation not in good standing." (Ibid.) Nevertheless, none of these notices touched on the subject of dissatisfaction with his absences.

At some point before December 17, 2009, Dr. Pagliaro, a State-appointed physician, recommended that respondent undergo a total knee replacement to prevent undoing the surgeries performed on his left ankle, tendon, and foot. (Amodei Cert. ¶ 8.) On December 17, 2009, respondent was sent to Dr. Thomas Gutowski for a second medical opinion regarding that surgery. (Bell Decl. Ex. A (JJC Amodei 266); Resp't Br. Ex. 5.) In a letter dated December 17, 2009, Dr. Gutowski provided a medical opinion to Tennese Taitt of Horizon Casualty Services regarding respondent's left knee. (Bell Decl. Ex. A (JJC Amodei 263-265).) He stated that respondent required a full knee replacement but that the conditions in the knee which called for the replacement were not related to the injury occurring on November 16, 2004, but instead to preexisting degenerative arthritis which had been noted by his previous treating physicians and by Dr. Pagliaro. (Ibid.)

On December 22, 2009, Velez contacted Hussain regarding respondent's continuous inquiries concerning his visit to Dr. Gutowski and his concern that he had not been given any paperwork to send to HR. (Bell Decl. Ex. A (JJC Amodei 266).) Hussain told Velez to advise respondent "not to worry about lapse in [workers' compensation] coverage." (Ibid.) It is not clear from the evidence what respondent was told and whether he was given any documentation to send to HR. However, HR did approve his LOA from December 18, 2009 to January 8, 2010; from January 9 to 29, 2010, and from January 30 to February 5, 2010. (Bell Decl. Ex. A (JJC Amodei 258, 251, & 247).) Each approval notified respondent that if he allowed his leave time "to expire without requesting an extension and providing medical documentation" and did not return to duty for five or more consecutive days he would be considered to have abandoned his position pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-6.2(c), but they did not mention anything about dissatisfaction with his absences. (Ibid.)

On February 5, 2010, respondent underwent tarsal tunnel surgery by Dr. Pagliaro on his left ankle. (Resp't Br. Ex. 6.) HR approved his leave from February 6, 2010, until March 23, 2010. (Bell Decl. Ex. A (JJC Amodei 241).) On March 2, 2010, Dr. Pagliaro updated respondent's status regarding his tarsal tunnel release to his left foot. (Resp't Br. Ex. 4.) He was doing extremely well, but was unable to work until further notice. (Ibid.) Dr. Pagliaro noted that Dr. Gutowski had given a second opinion regarding respondent's knee and had concurred with his need for a total knee replacement, but that Dr. Pagliaro had not received his record and reports yet. (Ibid.)

It is unclear when respondent was notified that his total knee replacement would not be covered under workers' compensation. The submitted documents demonstrate that Hussain stated in an email on June 25, 2010, and in a letter dated August 25, 2010, that a letter was sent to respondent's attorney on March 8, 2010. (Statement of Charges Ex. 2; Bell Decl. Ex. A (JJC Amodei 213).) Respondent disputes that either he or his attorney received this notification. (Resp't's Admis. ¶¶ 10 & 11.) Furthermore, no such notice has been produced. Respondent asserts that he was told in June 2010 by Risk Management that his knee replacement surgery would not be covered by workers' compensation. (Amodei Cert. ¶ 11.) This is consistent with Hussain's email of June 15, 2010, wherein Hussain states that respondent had just called and Hussain advised him that he would not be extending his workers' compensation beyond June 15, 2010. (Bell Decl. Ex. A (JJC Amodei 215).)

Nonetheless, respondent's LOA was approved by HR for the dates of March 24 to 30, 2010; March 31 to April 20, 2010; April 20 to May 18, 2010; and May 19 to June 15, 2010. (Bell Decl. Ex. A (JJC Amodei 237, 231, 225, & 214).) He was also notified through such approval that if he allowed his leave time "to expire without requesting an extension and providing medical documentation" and did not return to duty for five or more consecutive days he would be considered to have abandoned his position pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-6.2(c). (Ibid.)

Respondent filed a temporary disability insurance claim on June 16, 2010, for his knee surgery. (Amodei Cert. ¶ 13; Resp't Br. Ex. 8.) A form signed by a JJC personnel assistant on June 17, 2010, attached to respondent's paperwork, indicated that respondent was separated from work due to personal illness, that the disability was not in connection with his occupation, and that JJC expected to pay respondent for the period of June 16, 2010, until June 18, 2010, with regular vacation pay. (Resp't Br. Ex.

8.) On the claim forms, he indicated that his injury was not caused by his job. (Ibid.) Also attached to the paperwork was a Medical Certificate signed by a doctor (name illegible) on May 26, 2010, certifying that respondent had been under his care for this period of disability from June 16, 2010, to the present, had last been treated on May 26, 2010, by him, had been unable to perform his regular work duty due to this disability starting on June 16, 2010, and was expected to recover on the estimated date of September 9, 2010. (Ibid.)

Respondent states that in June 2010, when he requested that HR authorize his request to take LOA until September 2010 while he was rehabilitating from his knee surgery, he was subsequently told that his request was approved and to submit the requisite paperwork to the State. (Resp't's Admis. ¶ 9.) No such documentation has been submitted, however, to indicate that such leave time was approved; however, he had written to Bell later that he was told this as well. (Resp't Br. Ex. 7.)

Bell does state that respondent requested additional leave on June 15, 2010. (Bell Decl. ¶ 17.) However, Bell's response letter differs from what respondent claims to have been told. In a letter dated June 17, 2010, Bell notified respondent that his request for an extension of LOA had been approved by the Civil Service Commissioner. (Statement of Charges Ex. 1; Bell Decl. Ex. G (JJC Amodei 317); Resp't Br. Ex. 9; Resp't's Admis. ¶ 13.) She stated that his leave with pay from June 16 through June 18, 2010, and his leave without pay from June 19 through July 6, would be recorded as personal illness. (Ibid.) She also notified him that as of July 8, 2010, his "Federal Family Leave entitlements were exhausted and management has advised no further leave beyond July 6, 2010 [sic] will be authorized. You will be expected to return to work on July 7, 2010. If you are not medically released by that time and are unable to return to work on that date, you may resign from your position in good standing by completing the enclosed Separation Form (PR-3) and returning [sic] to Human Resources no later than June 25, 2010." (Ibid.) Respondent states that he received this letter on June 24, 2010. (Amodei Cert. ¶ 14.)

In a letter dated June 22, 2010, Bell notified respondent that his treating physician for the work-related injury had released him "to return to work, full duty, effective June 15, 2010," and that temporary workers' compensation benefits would be discontinued as of that date. (Bell Decl. Ex. A (JJC Amodei 212).)

In response to Bell's letter dated June 17, 2010, respondent states that he left a voicemail and sent an email to Bell. (Amodei Cert. ¶ 15.) In the email dated June 24, 2010, respondent explained why he needed the knee surgery; that he could not walk or stand without it; that the surgery was scheduled for July 1, 2010; that he would be hospitalized until July 7, 2010; that the surgeon ordered two weeks of in-patient therapy; and that he would not be able to return to full duty status on July 7, 2010. (Resp't Br. Ex. 7.) He stated that when Risk Management denied the knee surgery, he contacted HR for permission to proceed on "Temporary State Disability and was told that it was approved." (Ibid.) He further noted, "I am well aware of my prior attendance issues but they are being contested as work related injury absences concerning the Tarsal Tunnel surgery that just occurred." (Ibid.) He requested "some leniency" because he was in "dire straights [sic] and just need a little time to get better, but with no monies or health care benefits, I will not be able to survive in my current condition." (Ibid.) Respondent asserts that Bell never responded to his call or this email. (Amodei Cert. ¶ 16.)

On June 25, 2010, HR staff member Marie Kraus ("Kraus") forwarded respondent's email to Hussain and asked for clarification of whether the knee surgery would entitle him to further temporary workers' compensation. (Statement of Charges Ex. 2.) She expressed that respondent "has exhausted his leave entitlements with the State and we are going to terminate his employment. However I do not want to enter into this if there is any room for Risk to reconsider the knee surgery." (Ibid.) Hussain replied that when Dr. Pagliaro recommended the total knee replacement, Risk Management sent him to Dr. Gutowski for a second opinion, and, based on his report and clarification from Dr. Pagliaro, Risk Management denied the replacement, and "a letter to this effect was sent to [respondent's] attorney on 03/08/10 explaining the State's position regarding the surgery." (Ibid.) Furthermore he stated that "[a]ny treatment that [respondent] receives for his knee will not entitle to WC." (Ibid.)

On June 28, 2010, Kraus informed respondent through email that Risk Management had confirmed that his knee surgery would not be covered by workers' compensation benefits, he had exhausted his federal leave entitlements, JJC management would not approve further leave, and that he was to return to work on July 7, 2010, or resign in good standing by June 25, 2010. (Statement of Charges Ex. 2; Resp't's Admis. ¶ 15.) Although respondent admits that he was ordered to return to work, the letter does not indicate that any "ordering" occurred.

Respondent denies that he exhausted all medical leave time premised on the assertion that N.J.A.C. 4A:6-1.10(a) and Article 24(A) of the contract between the State and the Communication Workers of America provide eligibility for LOA without pay while rehabilitating from his total knee replacement. (Resp't's Admis. ¶ 16.) However, respondent admits that he had exhausted all authorized LOA time permitted by the JJC. (Resp't's Admis. ¶ 17.)

On July 1, 2010, respondent underwent a total knee replacement on his left knee by Dr. J. Schnell. (Resp't Br. Ex. 11.) Respondent asserts that his need for the total knee replacement was caused by the injury he sustained on November 16, 2004, although the surgery was covered by his health insurance. (Amodei Cert. ¶¶ 18 & 20.) Respondent was released from the hospital after his knee surgery on July 7, 2010. (Bell Decl. Ex. L; Resp't Br. Ex. 12.) Afterwards he entered in-patient therapy. (Amodei Cert. ¶ 5.)

In a letter dated August 9, 2010, Bell advised respondent that his absence since July 7, 2010, had been unauthorized and he could resign by August 16, 2010, in good standing. (Resp't's Admis. ¶ 20.) The letter stated that his LOA had "expired effective July 6, 2010, resulting in [his] unauthorized absence. In order to protect your employment history, a Separation Form (PR-3) is enclosed for your completion and return to my attention no later than August 16, 2010. If you do not respond, there will be no recourse but to pursue your resignation not in good standing." (Statement of Charges Ex. 3.)

Respondent asserts that Harrison came to his home on August 20, 2010, and "attempted to force him to resign." (Amodei Cert. ¶ 21.) Harrison informed him that he "could resign in good standing and seek reemployment in the future, but that this was the JJC's final attempt to contact [him]." (Resp't's Admis. ¶ 21.)

In a letter dated August 20, 2010, Bell notified respondent again that he had been absent without authorization since July 7, 2010, and that he was not eligible for health benefits through the State Health Benefits Program as his current coverage has been terminated effective August 14, 2010. (Statement of Charges Ex. 4.)

On August 24, 2010, Harrison sent an inter-office memorandum to Bell describing his communication with respondent. (Statement of Charges Ex. 5.) He explained that he had called respondent on August 20, 2010, to get his follow-up on the status of his employment with the JJC and reminded him that the JJC had notified him multiple times that he was on unauthorized leave. (Ibid.) He explained to respondent that this was the JJC's last attempt to contact him. (Ibid.) He again expressed to him that he should resign in good standing. (Ibid.) He expressed that "his lack of communication leaves us with no recourse but to pursue his resignation not in good standing." (Ibid.) He further stated that he told respondent that if his health status should change and he did resign in good standing he could certainly reapply for employment with the JJC in the future. (Ibid.) He reiterated that respondent's response was that his injury was work-related, that his legal counsel told him not to respond to any correspondence from the JJC, and that he would not resign. (Ibid.)

A September 1, 2010, report by Dr. Schnell indicates that he recommended that respondent continue therapy for his knee, and referred him back to sedentary work for September 1, 2010. (Resp't Br. Ex. 11 & 13.) Respondent certifies he was able to return to work on September 1, 2010. (Amodei Cert. ¶ 23.)

LEGAL ANALYSIS

The JJC now moves for summary decision requesting that the charges against respondent be upheld for it properly determined that respondent's absences were excessive, respondent abandoned his position, and dismissal is warranted. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5, governing motions for summary decision, permits early disposition of a case before the case is heard if, based on the papers and discovery which have been filed, it can be decided "that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). The provisions of N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5 mirror the language of R. 4:46-2 of the New Jersey Court Rules governing motions for summary judgment. An adverse party does not bear an obligation to oppose the motion, but to survive summary decision, there must be "a genuine issue which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding." Ibid. The non-existence of one entitles the moving party to summary decision. Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520 (1995). Moreover, even if the non-moving party comes forward with some evidence, this forum must grant summary decision if the evidence is "so one-sided that [the moving party] must prevail as a matter of law." Id. at 536. I am required to do "the same type of evaluation, analysis or sifting of evidential materials as required by Rule 4:37-2(b) in light of the burden of persuasion that applies if the matter goes to trial." Id. at 539-40. Like the New Jersey Supreme Court's standard for summary judgment, the language for summary decision is designed to "liberalize the standards so as to permit summary [decision] in a larger number of cases" due to the perception that we live in "a time of great increase in litigation and one in which many meritless cases are filed." Id. at 539 (citation omitted). Consequently, it must be determined whether any issues of material fact exist before it can be determined whether the charges can be upheld and respondent dismissed.

I. Whether Respondent Abandoned His Position and Should Be Determined to Have Resigned Not in Good Standing.

Charges Two and Three in the Statement of Charges filed against respondent certify that respondent failed to return to work or comply with requests to resign in good standing and that he had abandoned his position. In its brief, the JJC analyzes both of these charges in the context of whether respondent abandoned his position pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-6.2(b) and (c). N.J.A.C. 4A:2-6.2(b) and (c) provide that:

> (b) Any employee who is absent from duty for five or more consecutive business days without the approval of his or her superior shall be considered to have abandoned his or her position and shall be recorded as a resignation not in good standing. Approval of the absence shall not be unreasonably denied.

> (c) An employee who has not returned to duty for five or more consecutive business days following an approved leave of absence shall be considered to have abandoned his or her position and shall be recorded as a resignation not in good standing. A request for extension of leave shall not be unreasonably denied.

Therefore, although the JJC filed tenure charges requesting respondent's dismissal, its charges would be read to include that if respondent has abandoned his position he should be considered to have resigned not in good standing.

In cases wherein an individual has been denied leave time and subsequently charged with abandonment, two issues are often analyzed. First, ALJs have analyzed whether the denial of requested leave time was reasonable. Sykes v. NJ Judiciary, CSV 4461-04, initial decision, (July 12, 2005), adopted, Merit System Bd. (September 7, 2005) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>. Second, ALJs have analyzed whether the employee intended to abandon his position. In re Smith, CSV 241-09, initial decision, (June 26, 2009), adopted, Civil Serv. Comm'n (October 21, 2009) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>; In re Richardson, EDU 5560-97, initial decision, (June 1, 1998), aff'd, Comm'r. (July 15, 1999), adopted, St. Bd. (January 8, 1999) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>; Smith v. Dep't of Personnel, CSV 2568-01, initial decision, (July 15, 2002), adopted, Merit System Bd. (September 25, 2002) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>.

In determining whether leave was reasonably denied, the starting point is recognizing that "it is within the discretion of [the employer] to determine whether to grant or deny a leave of absence without pay or an extension of such leave;" however, it cannot be unreasonably denied. Sykes, supra. While "[a] chronic medical condition does not require that an employee be continued in a position by extended leaves of absences until the employee is able to return to work . . . [t]he only requirement is that such requests not be unreasonably denied." Ibid. (citing Mercado v. Dep't of Human Servs., 94 N.J.A.R.2d (CSV) 557, 560). Consequently, the employer should provide a valid reason for its denial.

Determinations of whether an employee intended to abandon his position have included looking at how responsive he was to the employer's requests to return to work or notify it of his status, and whether the employee was medically able to return to work or respond. In re Stanley, 95 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 497. In Stanley, supra, a school board argued that Stanley abandoned her position on the basis that she failed to return to work after her request for leave was denied. It was determined that she did not abandon her position because she "responded to each and every communication from the Board" and was medically unable to return to work. Ibid. However, it is clear that, while a failure to respond to an employer's request to return to work or update one's status can "legitimately be taken as intent to abandon [one's] position," Troiano v. Dep't of Health, CSV 8266-00, initial decision, (December 14, 2001), adopted, Merit System Bd. (January 29, 2002) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>, failure to respond alone would not demonstrate the needed intent to abandon, particularly when the employer knows the employee is experiencing a hardship, In re Givens, CSV 4385-10, initial decision, (December 20, 2010), <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>, adopted, Civil Serv. Comm'n (February 2, 2011). It is further clear that even when an employee's leave request is reasonably denied and he continues to fail to respond or report to work, if his illness prevents him from doing so, he may not have intended to abandon his position. Sykes, supra. Consequently, the totality of the circumstances surrounding such facts should be weighed before determining whether one intended to abandon his position. See Westfield Bd. of Educ. v. McLear Poffenberger, EDU 7612-97, initial decision, (January 20, 1998), <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>, adopted, Comm'r. (March 6, 1998) (finding abandonment for failing to return to work, failing to contact District concerning status, and failing to respond to District's efforts to contact her, after employee had been cleared to return to work).

In the instant matter, it is undisputed that respondent was absent from work for more than five consecutive business days without approval. This would constitute abandonment if the facts demonstrate that the JJC reasonably denied him further leave and that he intended to abandon his position.

Significantly, here, respondent did not formally request additional leave time past July 6, 2010; rather, HR notified him that its approval of leave time until July 6, 2010, would be its last. Respondent's response was essentially an informal request that it grant further leave, and the JJC essentially denied this request. This denial followed a period of time where respondent had not reported to work for almost eight months due to a work-related injury that had occurred about five years prior. During that time HR had approved about eight requests for leave time. In its letter notifying respondent that it would deny additional leave time requested, the JJC does not provide a reason for its denial. It is suggested by the letter that the basis was respondent's exhaustion of his leave entitlements and that he was cleared to work on June 15, 2010, by his physician. However, no clear basis is provided. Furthermore, nothing in the exhibits or declarations submitted demonstrates who made this decision and why. Although a reasonable explanation for the denial can be inferred from Harrison's declarations that respondent's absences had a significant negative impact on the culinary program and any further absences would continue to do so, it would be premature to determine that the denial was reasonable without a direct explanation as to why the denial was made. Consequently, a material issue of fact exists concerning whether the JJC reasonably denied respondent's leave.

However, the existence of this issue of fact need not be resolved because the undisputed facts support that respondent did not intend to abandon his position. He essentially requested leave time in June 2010 and explained to HR that he would be undergoing a total knee replacement on July 1, leaving the hospital on July 5, and participating in in-patient therapy for two weeks thereafter. Consequently, his lack of responses for the month of July can be understood. His lack of responsiveness during August 2010 raises questions as to whether he intended to abandon his position; yet, those questions do not amount to a showing of the intent needed to demonstrate one has abandoned his position. Rather, they are answered by Harrison's statement provided in the exhibits attached to the Statement of Charges that respondent had told him that his legal counsel advised him not to respond to any correspondence from the JJC. (Statement of Charges Ex. 5.) While this statement is hearsay and on this motion lacks assurances of reliability, discovery of its truth would not significantly affect the determination that respondent did not abandon his position particularly because it is undisputed that respondent's medical condition prevented him from returning to work when he was initially asked to return. This coupled with a lack of responsiveness is typically not enough to demonstrate abandonment as shown by the case law cited above. Thus, the undisputed facts in this matter are sufficient to support the dismissal of the charge of abandonment brought against respondent and also to refute the charge that respondent has not resigned from his position not in good standing.

II. Whether Respondent's Absences Were Excessive and, If So, Whether They Warrant Dismissal.

Charge One in the Statement of Charges alleges that respondent engaged in excessive absenteeism. The Motion for Summary Decision focuses most on this charge and the facts related to it for its basis in arguing that respondent should be dismissed. Consequently, the determination of whether respondent should be dismissed would not be resolved by a finding that respondent did not abandon his position. Respondent may still be dismissed if his absences are determined to be excessive and the circumstances surrounding them warrant dismissal.

A. Whether Respondent's Absences Were Excessive.

Tenured status protects persons in the public school system from being dismissed for reasons other than "inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct, or other just cause." N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10. "[I]t is well settled law that a teacher's chronic and excessive absenteeism may constitute both 'unbecoming conduct' and 'incapacity' such as to amount to 'just cause' which warrants the termination or suspension of a teacher under N.J.S.A. 18A:6[-]10." State-Operated Sch. Dist. of Newark v. Gillespie, EDU 399-03, Order, (April 27, 2007) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html> (citing In re Kacprowicz, 93 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 147, 151). "The point at which the absenteeism is judged to be excessive falls within the reasonable judgment and discretion of the [employer]." Kacprowicz, supra, 93 N.J.A.R.2d at 151 (citing Trautwein v. Bound Brook Bd. of Educ., 1980 S.L.D. 1539, 1542, (App. Div. Apr. 8, 1980), certif. denied, 84 N.J. 469 (1980); State-Operated Sch. Dist. of Jersey City v. Pellechio, 92 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 267, 270). That judgment and discretion, however, must consist of a consideration of "1) the particular circumstances of the absences and not merely the number of absences; 2) the impact that the absences had on the continuity of instruction during the period of time the absences occurred; and 3) that there [was] some warning given to the employee that his or her supervisors were dissatisfied with the pattern of absences." Kacprowicz, supra, 93 N.J.A.R.2d at 152 (quoting In re White, 92 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 157, 161, aff'd, Comm'r, 92 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 162, dismissed, St. Bd., 92 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 163). The Commissioner is not to substitute his judgment for that of the employer but to determine whether a reasonable basis existed for the decision. Trautwein, supra, 1980 S.L.D. at 1541 (citing Kopera v. West Orange Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288 (App. Div. 1960)). Consequently, a petitioner seeking to dismiss a tenured teacher must demonstrate that these considerations were appropriately addressed. Kacprowicz, supra, 93 N.J.A.R.2d at 152 (quoting White, supra, 92 N.J.A.R.2d at 161). Of course, the review before the Commissioner is de novo and he is to make an independent decision on the facts. Trautwein, supra, 1980 S.L.D. at 1542 (citing In re Masiello, 25 N.J. 590, 606 (1958)).

1. Whether the JJC Appropriately Considered the Particular Circumstances of the Absences and Not Merely Their Number.

So long as a school considered the circumstances of a teacher's absences and not just their sheer number, the first prong is met even if the absences were caused by illness or work-related injuries. Excessive absenteeism has been properly determined even when the absences were approved or excused, or "caused by legitimate reasons or personal illness." Kacprowicz, supra, 93 N.J.A.R.2d at 151 (citing Pellechio, supra, 92 N.J.A.R.2d at 269-70; White, supra, 92 N.J.A.R.2d at 161; In re Booth, 1985 S.L.D. 722, 744, 760-61; In re DeKrafft, 1981 S.L.D. 1308, aff'd, St. Bd., 1982 S.L.D. 1470, aff'd, No. A-4641-81T2 (App. Div. May 4, 1983); In re Reilly, 1977 S.L.D. 403, 413-15). "Action [has] also [been] taken against a teacher for excessive absenteeism . . . [when] her absences were the result of work-related injuries." Gillespie, supra, (citing Irvington Twp. Bd. of Educ. v. Pearson, 97 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 329); see also Faccone v. Jersey City Bd. of Educ., EDU 220-90, initial decision, (April 20, 1993), adopted, Comm'r (June 3, 1993), aff'd, St. Bd. (July 6, 1994) (increment withholding appropriate on basis of excessive absenteeism even though absences caused by work-related injury).[2] The Commissioner has held that it is of no consequence in a matter concerning excessive absenteeism that the absence may be related to a claim of work-related illness or injury. In re Velez, EDU 3255-05, final decision, Comm'r (April 27, 2006 <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>. However, if the teacher raises an inference of doubt as to the legitimacy of the school's considerations, summary decision as to whether the school has met this prong is premature. Gillespie, supra (summary decision unripe because unclear whether school impeded teacher's attempt to return to work or told teacher to fill out improper paperwork for requesting leave).

In the instant matter, the JJC appropriately considered the circumstances of respondent's absences and not just their sheer number. The charges asserted that he had "failed to return from an approved leave of absence," that he had "been absent from his position without authorization since July 6, 2010," that he "exhausted his Family Leave entitlement," that "he was advised that management would not approve a leave of absence beyond July 6, 2010," and that "[h]e refused to comply with directives to return to work or resign from his position." As these assertions suggest, the JJC was considering first the undisputed fact that respondent's absences between July 6 and August 31, 2010, had been unauthorized. They demonstrate that the JJC was further considering the undisputed facts that respondent was advised that his absences would not be approved beyond July 6, 2010, and that he failed to return to work or resign from his position. As mentioned above, that the JJC knew that his absences were the result of knee replacement surgery and his recovery period thereafter and continued to consider them excessive does not make its consideration of his absences unreasonable. Respondent's arguments that his knee replacement surgery was a result of his work-related injury or that he did not exhaust the leave he was entitled to under the CWA contract, while agreeing that he exhausted the leave he was entitled to by the JJC, do not raise issues of fact, for even absences caused by work-related injuries or approved as leave can be considered excessive. Furthermore, respondent does not raise any inferences of doubt that the circumstances considered by the JJC were illegitimate. As such, it is evident from the Statement of Charges, as well as the supporting documentation attached to it, that the JJC considered the circumstances of respondent's absences and not just their sheer number.

2. Whether the JJC Appropriately Considered that the Absences Negatively Impacted the Continuity of the Culinary Program.

Though "a school district has a responsibility to teachers who are plagued with illness and have medical problems . . . the overarching responsibility of the Commissioner . . . is to the children." In re Green, 1991 S.L.D. 1103, 1119 (citations omitted). When a teacher's absences disrupt "the required continuity of instruction necessary to provide for a pupil's maximum educational progress," a school's "responsibility to . . . a teacher who is plagued with illness and medical problems is far outweighed by [his] excessive number of absences." Kacprowicz, supra, 93 N.J.A.R.2d at 152. Consequently, a finding that the students have been negatively impacted by a teacher's absences weighs strongly in favor of a finding that a teacher absences were excessive.

The second prong of the excessive absenteeism test has been considered the "touchstone" of cases wherein absences have occurred for legitimate reasons. Ibid. Regardless of the reasons for the absences, however, this prong is essential in determining whether absences were excessive because > Frequent absences of teachers from regular classroom learning experiences disrupt the continuity of the instruction process. The benefit of regular classroom instruction is lost and cannot be entirely regained, even by extra effort, when the regular teacher returns to the classroom. Consequently, many pupils who do not have the benefit of their regular classroom teacher frequently experience great difficulty in achieving the maximum benefit of schooling. Indeed, many pupils in these circumstances are able to achieve only mediocre success in their academic program. The entire process of education requires a regular continuity of instruction with a teacher directing the classroom activities and learning experiences in order to reach the goal of maximum educational benefit for each individual pupil. The regular contact of the pupils with their assigned teacher is vital to this process.

While the weight of the impact on students may rest on the instruction needed, see Pellechio, supra, 92 N.J.A.R.2d at 270 (basics skills teacher's attendance especially significant because students need services more than the average child), "[c]ommon sense dictates that a teacher's continued absences must, at some point have a negative impact upon her pupils even if a board of education is unable to prove the relationship between a teacher's attendance and pupil progress." Green, supra, 1991 S.L.D. at 1119 (quoting Meli v. Burlington County Vocational-Technical Sch. Bd. of Educ., 1984 S.L.D. 906, aff'd, St. Bd. 921); see also Kacprowicz, supra, 93 N.J.A.R.2d at 152 (common sense dictates that 262 days missed over the period of eight school years, even if for legitimate reasons had a negative impact on instruction). Therefore, a prolonged history of absenteeism and tardiness is sufficient to find that continuity of student instruction was adversely impacted. Id. at 1120. Consequently, "it is not necessary for a district to prove a direct correlation between student achievement and teacher attendance in order to validate concerns . . . about the effect of a teacher's absence on the educational program of the district." Kacprowicz, supra, 93 N.J.A.R.2d at 153. "[A]t some point the sheer magnitude of the absences can support a [conclusion] that continuity of instruction has been negatively impacted, regardless of the particular circumstances of the case." Camden Bd. of Educ. v. Rucker, 94 N.J.A.R. (EDU) 190, 190. Notably, when absences are so numerous, it is appropriate to apply the principle of res ipsa loquitur, finding it "unnecessary to provide testimony of an administrator that the absences have adversely impacted the students." Rucker, supra, 94 N.J.A.R. at 193 (applying principle when teacher had been absent 263 school days out of 655 school days—62 the first year, 77 the second, 92.5 the third, and 115 in only a portion of the fourth).

In the instant matter, the Statement of Charges demonstrates that the JJC considered the negative impact that respondent's absences had on the students in the culinary program. Charge Two specifically states, "He has refused to comply with requests to return to work or voluntarily resign from his position which has had an adverse impact upon the students . . . ." Consequently, the undisputed evidence supports that the JJC made this consideration, and, as discussed below, that this consideration was appropriate.

Respondent takes issue with the JJC's failure to produce proofs supporting Harrison's declarations that the culinary program was negatively impacted by the respondent's absences. In his declaration, Harrison avers that it was difficult to find a person to replace respondent particularly in that the other culinary teacher was absent and also states that the plan to expand the program for advanced students was ultimately discontinued because of respondent's absences. Respondent's issue with Harrison's declaration, though noted, is meritless. Here, common sense dictates that respondent's absences negatively impacted the continuity of the culinary program: respondent was absent from his classroom for nearly nine months of authorized leave and one month of unauthorized leave by the time the charges were filed; any students starting the program with respondent in September 2009 no longer had him as an instructor for the remainder of the year. Furthermore, because these absences were so numerous, application of the principle of res ipsa loquitur is appropriate, and, as such, the declarations made by Harrison are simply unnecessary to find that the absences negatively impacted the continuity of the culinary program.

Nevertheless, Harrison's declarations are quite helpful in establishing why respondent's absences made it difficult for the JJC to mitigate their impact. Respondent's teaching position was distinctive not only in that one needs a special certificate to provide culinary arts instruction but also in that the JJC students are in a unique position of reliance on their teachers to provide them with skills that will help them re-enter society. Respondent's position is not one that can be or should be simply filled on any given day or week by a person holding the appropriate certificate. His relationship to the students and importance in the program, as described by Harrison and uncontested by respondent, enhances the weight of the impact his absences had on the continuity of instruction. Declarations such as Harrison's, wherein he avers that "the use of substitute teachers has been ineffective for culinary courses, as the result is a lack of continuity and the opportunity for hands-on learning is significantly reduced," (Harrison Decl. ¶ 25.), help further support what common sense dictates. See Elizabeth Bd. of Educ. v. Segall, EDU 1077-00, initial decision, (February 25, 2000), adopted, Comm'r. (April 17, 2000) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html> (affidavit of school principal that school is understaffed and continuity destroyed supports satisfaction of second prong in favor of excessive absenteeism).

3. Whether the JJC Appropriately Considered that Respondent Had Been Given Some Warning that It Was Dissatisfied with His Pattern of Absences.

Case law illustrates that several forms of warnings may be deemed sufficient under this prong. For example, frequent contact by a school principal regarding absences constitutes sufficient warning that the number of absences is not satisfactory. Segall, supra. Evaluations indicating a need for improvement in attendance, advising a person that his record of absences could not continue, and increment withholding for absences, have amounted to sufficient warning. Kacprowicz, supra, 93 N.J.A.R.2d at 152. Moreover, an increment withholding has been deemed such an obvious warning of the seriousness of the absenteeism for which the increment is withheld that it alone is sufficient. White, supra, 92 N.J.A.R.2d at 162. More pertinently, however, is the sufficiency of warnings in letters sent by a school to a teacher seven months prior to and one month after tenure charges were filed notifying her that she was considered absent without leave and requesting that she notify the district in writing of her intentions regarding her employment status and that failure to do so would result in disciplinary action. Gillespie, supra. The Commissioner has also agreed that when a person's absences are for medically legitimate reasons, the sufficiency of a warning need not be based on whether school employees specifically notified a teacher that his absences were unacceptable:

> Although the Commissioner has said on numerous occasions that a tenured employee should have some warning that his or her supervisors are dissatisfied with the attendance record, . . . an increment withholding or a formal warning is unnecessary as a prerequisite sanction because [when] absences were medically legitimate . . . a sanction or warning could not be expected to produce improvement in attendance. The law should not require frivolous acts.
> [Rucker, supra, 94 N.J.A.R.2d at 193.]

The undisputed facts of the instant matter demonstrate that the JJC considered the warnings that respondent had received before filing tenure charges against him. It is evident from the Statement of Charges and the exhibits attached that the JJC considered the letters that had been sent to respondent regarding his unauthorized leave and relied upon them in determining that tenure charges were warranted. The question is, however, whether these warnings were sufficient and whether the JJC appropriately relied upon them.

The letters indicating any dissatisfaction with respondent's absences began in June 2010, about two months before the tenure charges were filed. In late June 2010, Bell notified respondent that "management" had advised that no further leave beyond July 6, 2010, would be authorized. She further provided that if his medical status prevented him from returning to work on July 7, 2010, he could resign in good standing. Respondent responded to this warning, requesting that some leniency be provided because of his need for the knee replacement surgery. Respondent received a second warning in response to his email on June 28, 2010, when Kraus reiterated what Bell had told him in the previous letter. The evidence does not indicate that respondent contacted the school again after this. He was again notified on August 9, 2010, that his absence had been unauthorized and that he could resign by August 16, 2010, but this time he was warned that if he did not respond the JJC would pursue his resignation not in good standing. The evidence indicates that he was also unresponsive to this warning. His final warnings prior to the filing of the charges were provided in person by Harrison and in letter by Bell on August 20, 2010, when he was again told that he could resign in good standing but told that this would be the JJC's final attempt to contact him. It appears from the evidence that respondent told Harrison that he had been unresponsive on advice of counsel but also that he would not resign.

The letters provided to respondent should be considered sufficient and reasonably relied upon by the JJC when it certified tenure charges against him for excessive absenteeism. First, letters similar to those provided to respondent have been deemed sufficient warnings upon which a school could rely on to bring tenure charges. Second, the Commissioner has indicated that warnings would not have been necessary in this case because they would have been frivolous, as respondent would not have been able to return to work even if he chose to opt out of his knee surgery because he would not have been able to walk and the evidence infers that, due to respondent's unique teaching position, he could not return to work with restrictions. Third, although respondent replied to the earliest warning, his unresponsiveness to all other warnings reasonably indicated to the JJC that it would need to move forward with tenure charges.

Finally, although it is not apparent that the JJC relied upon this when bringing the tenure charges, the JJC has established that respondent was aware, prior to the letters sent to him, that the leave policies he was required to abide by indicated that employees who took leave time beyond that which was authorized would be subject to termination and that when an employee is unable to return to work after leave time has expired the repercussions may be severe. Therefore, while it is undisputed that HR consistently approved respondent's leaves of absences from October 2009 until June 2010 without indicating to him that they were problematic, and while the evidence submitted does not indicate that anyone other than HR notified respondent that the school was dissatisfied with his absences, the JJC provided sufficient warnings to respondent and appropriately relied upon them when certifying tenure charges for excessive absenteeism against him.

It should be noted, however, that respondent asserts that he was told his request for LOA from July until September 2010 would be approved. Had the evidence demonstrating that he was formally notified that it was not approved not been submitted, this might create a dispute of material fact. However, regardless of what respondent may have been told, he was warned not long after he would have been told of the approval that no further leave would be approved. Hence, any doubt raised by respondent's assertion does not change that respondent did, in fact, receive warnings that his absences were unauthorized and would subject him to termination and that the JJC considered these warnings when certifying the charges against him.

B. Whether Dismissal is Warranted.

Dismissal on the basis of excessive absenteeism may be warranted for several reasons. It may be warranted when the facts demonstrate that a future pattern of absences can be reasonably anticipated because the medical problems or the circumstances underlying the absences are expected to continue. Kacprowicz, supra, 93 N.J.A.R.2d at 153; Toms River Reg'l Sch. Dist. Bd. of Educ. v. Marsden, 1985 S.L.D. 1572, 1591. A teacher's poor attendance record prior to a lengthy LOA coupled with current serious injuries has supported that his absences would reasonably continue. Kacprowicz, supra, 93 N.J.A.R.2d at 152. Dismissal may also be warranted when facts support that a teacher has shown an unwillingness to improve absences despite repeated warnings or disciplinary action. In re Meade-Stephens, 92 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 550, 554, appeal dismissed, St. Bd., 93 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 134, aff'd, No. A-3076-92 (App. Div. Jan. 10, 1994), certif. denied, 137 N.J. 167, cert. denied, 513 U.S. 991, 115 S. Ct. 491, 130 L. Ed. 2d 403 (1994); Pellechio, supra, 92 N.J.A.R.2d at 270 & 71; Green, supra, 1991 S.L.D. at 1121; Marsden, supra, 1985 S.L.D. at 1595. Nonetheless, an excessive amount of absences alone has warranted removal in cases, for instance, where a respondent's illness was in remission, but a degree and repetitiveness of absenteeism, amounting to 403 school days during a ten-year period, along with disobedience, warranted removal. In re Pellagatti, 93 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 121, 124.

When determining whether dismissal is warranted, it is irrelevant that a teacher's performance was good, Kacprowicz, supra, 93 N.J.A.R.2d at153; Pellechio, supra, 92 N.J.A.R.2d at 270, or that the teacher used sick leave time legitimately, Marsden, supra, 1985 S.L.D. at 1595. Nevertheless, "[a]lthough excessive absenteeism may be found to warrant dismissal of a tenured staff member when the absences in question were for legitimate medical or health reasons," it should not be ignored that a teacher's absences were the result of work-related injuries and the treatment thereof, particularly if the record supports that the employee is capable of performing the job and has returned to work or is gradually returning to work. Vereen, supra. Moreover, if a teacher can show he had a willingness to improve attendance or that his record reflects that the necessary improvement will come, he may be able to avoid dismiss al. Pellechio, supra, 92 N.J.A.R.2d at 270. It is the teacher's burden, however, to prove that his absenteeism record improved. Trautwein, supra, 1980 S.L.D. at 1542.

Respondent asserts that the JJC's facts regarding his attendance record prior to 2009 are outside of the scope of the tenure charges because he was charged only with being chronically and excessively absent from July 6, 2010 to the present. However, the Commissioner may take into account a teacher's absences during the school years prior to the ones in issue when determining whether disciplinary action based on excessive absenteeism is warranted. Trautwein, supra, 1980 S.L.D. at 1542. The case law cited above further supports this.

However, at this point, respondent's attendance record prior to his LOA for work-related injuries is in dispute. Therefore, it cannot be gleaned from the evidence submitted whether respondent engaged in a pattern of absenteeism prior to October 2009, as the JJC alleges. Because a majority of respondent's absences were for work-related injuries, consideration must be given to further evidence regarding his prior absenteeism record, whether anyone from the JJC repeatedly warned respondent about his absences, and respondent's willingness to improve his absenteeism record. Also relevant, because of respondent's position as a teacher for the JJC, is whether or not he would have been able to return to work and the effect on that determination of any required medical clearance. If there was such a requirement, the JJC's initial request that he return to work would have been impossible to fulfill. This fact, however, may also shed light on whether respondent would have been able to return to work on September 1, 2010, as he claims, or at any time thereafter, a factor that should be considered in a determination for dismissal. As further material facts are needed to resolve the issue of whether dismissal is warranted, I cannot grant the JJC's motion seeking summary decision that respondent be dismissed. However, partial summary decision that respondent's absences were excessive is appropriate at this time.

III. Whether to Grant the JJC's Request to Seal Certain Documents.

The JJC has also filed a motion for an order to seal certain records it has submitted as exhibits on the basis that they contain respondent's personnel and medical information, particularly those records attached as exhibits A through G, K, and L to Bell's declaration. Initially, it should be underscored that exhibits C, D, E, and G contain the Statement of Charges and accompanying exhibits, all which were transmitted to OAL by the Department of Education and made part of the transmittal packet.[3] As tenure charge documents are "public documents," Williams v. Bd. of Educ. of Atlantic City Public Schools, 329 N.J. Super. 308, 318 (App. Div.), certif. denied, 165 N.J. 488 (2000), these exhibits have already been produced, not under seal, before the public and need not be protected. As for the remaining documents, since they contain medical and personnel information and respondent has not opposed the motion to seal, I have discretion to protect them pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.1(b).

[3] Furthermore, those same documents were submitted not under seal in respondent's exhibit 14.

The Uniform Administrative Procedure Rule ("UAPR") governing protecting records under seal provides that

> In considering whether to . . . seal a record, the judge shall consider the requirements of due process of law, other constitutional and statutory standards and matters of public policy. The judge shall consider the need to protect against unwarranted disclosure of sensitive financial information or trade secrets, to protect parties or witnesses from undue embarrassment or deprivations of privacy, or to promote or protect other equally important rights or interests.
> [N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.1(b).]

There exists a recognized "right to privacy in one's medical information." Doe v. Delie, 257 F.3d 309, 315 (3d Cir. 2001) (citing United States v. Westinghouse Elec. Corp., 638 F.2d 570, 577 (3d Cir. 1980)). A person's personnel files are also protected from public disclosure pursuant to R. 1:38-5(e), a rule that is applicable because no UAPR speaks to the issue. N.J.A.C. 1:1-1.3(a). Nevertheless, "it is almost always the case that once privileged material is disclosed, the privilege of non-disclosure is waived as to that matter." Biunno, Current N.J. Rules of Evidence, cmt. on N.J.R.E. 530 (2011).

The documents contained in Bell's exhibits A, B, K, and L, consist of medical and personnel files that respondent has a privacy interest in protecting from public disclosure. In that both parties agree they should be sealed and in that a privacy interest exists in their non-disclosure, the JJC's request to seal them should be granted. However, respondent has produced as his own exhibits not under seal certain documents identical to those also in the exhibits sought to be protected. A comparison of these submissions reveals that Bell's exhibit L is identical to respondent's exhibit 12, and respondent's exhibit 5 is identical to JJC Amodei 263 in Bell's exhibit A. In the interest of convenience and also, judicial economy, all of Bell's exhibit A will be sealed, although respondent's exhibit 5, which was willingly produced for public disclosure, will not be. Bell's exhibit L, however, will be protected. Thus I will require that Bell's exhibits A, B, and K, remain under seal, while C through G and L do not need such protection.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Based on the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that, although petitioner has established that respondent's absences were excessive, it has not established, for purposes of Summary Decision that the excessive absences justify his dismissal. I further CONCLUDE that, on the issue of respondent's abandonment of his position, Summary Decision is appropriate in favor of respondent. While the undisputed facts support, in favor of respondent, that he did not abandon his position, and, in favor of the JJC, that respondent's absences were excessive, issues of material fact exist must be resolved before determining whether respondent's absences warrant dismissal.

As for the remaining issues, I will accept respondent's answers to petitioner's request for admissions. Although respondent answered them well after the March 21, 2011, extended deadline and well beyond the fifteen-day time frame required under N.J.A.C. 1:1-10.4(c), respondent should not suffer as a result of his attorney's oversight. However, considering that respondent's attorney's failure to submit the requested discovery could not have been as "inadvertent" as he suggests in light of his February request that he be granted an extension to answer them, I will order respondent to answer the remainder of the discovery requests strictly within 15 days of the date of this Order or face a dismissal of the matter in favor of the JJC for failure to respond to discovery.

All of the documents in Exhibit A attached to Bell's Declaration will be sealed, although respondent's exhibit 5, which was willingly produced for public disclosure, will not be. Bell's exhibit L, however, will be protected. Thus I will require that Bell's exhibits A, B, and K, remain under seal, while C through G and L do not need such protection.

ORDER

I hereby ORDER that petitioner's motion for Summary Decision seeking an order that respondent's absences were excessive is GRANTED. I further ORDER that petitioner's motion for Summary Decision seeking an order granting its request to dismiss respondent based on this excessive absenteeism is DENIED. I further ORDER that petitioner's motion for Summary Decision seeking an order that respondent had abandoned his position is DENIED and that respondent's motion seeking an order that he had not abandoned his position is GRANTED.

I further ORDER that respondent's answers to admissions should be accepted, and that respondent will comply with all outstanding discovery requests within fifteen days of the date of this Order. Finally, I ORDER that the JJC's exhibits A, B, and K should be sealed.

This order granting and/or denying partial summary decision is being submitted under N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(e) for immediate review. This recommended order may be adopted, modified or rejected by COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who/which by law is authorized to make the final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended order shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this order was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Record Closed: August 31, 2011 Decided: September 2, 2011

BEFORE ELLEN S. BASS, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner appeals the determination of the respondent, Orange Board of Education ("the Board"), that she is not domiciled in its district. The Board seeks to remove petitioner's child, B.N.W., from its schools pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2).

Petitioner filed an appeal with the Department of Education ("the Department") on May 16, 2011. The Board filed an answer on June 15, 2011. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law as a contested case on June 16, 2011. A hearing was scheduled for August 31, 2011, and counsel for the Board appeared. Petitioner failed to appear.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

I FIND as follows:

1. A formal notice of hearing was forwarded to petitioner by the Clerk of the OAL on June 27, 2011. The notice was sent to petitioner at the address indicated on her petition of appeal. The OAL received no return of the notice as undeliverable.

2. Additionally, via letter dated June 27, 2011, I advised both petitioner and counsel for the Board that the hearing would take place on August 31, 2011, at the OAL offices in Newark, New Jersey. My letter confirmed that an appearance at the hearing is mandatory and that if petitioner does not appear her petition may be dismissed. That letter was likewise sent to the address noted on the petition of appeal. The OAL received no return of the letter as undeliverable.

3. Petitioner did not appear and has not contacted my office to explain her non-appearance.

4. A review of the pleadings reflects that the Board has not filed a counterclaim in this matter; counsel for the Board likewise confirmed on the record that there is no pending counterclaim.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Based on the foregoing facts and the applicable law, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has abandoned this matter and that it should be returned to the transmitting agency.

N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4(a) provides that, if, after appropriate notice, a party does not appear in any proceeding scheduled by a judge, the judge shall hold the matter for one day before taking any action. If the judge does not receive an explanation for the nonappearance within one day, the judge may direct the Clerk to return the matter to the transmitting agency for appropriate disposition. A.B. failed to appear and she failed to timely provide an explanation for her nonappearance. Accordingly, the Clerk should return this matter to the Department of Education.

ORDER

It is ORDERED that the Clerk return this matter to the Department of Education for appropriate disposition.

I hereby FILE this Initial Decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

I.C.W., on behalf of minor child, J.W.,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF MOUNTAIN LAKES, MORRIS COUNTY,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner appealed the Board's determination that her child, J.W., was not eligible for membership in the National Honor Society as the result of a disciplinary suspension during his ninth grade year. Petitioner initially filed a motion for emergent relief, which was denied. The case was heard on its merits in August 2011. During the pendency of the proceedings, it was learned that J.W. had turned 18 and thereby attained adult status and standing to pursue this matter in his own right. Accordingly – because J.W. did not participate in the appeal process in any way – the respondent Board moved to dismiss the matter since I.C.W. lacks standing to bring the action on behalf of her adult son.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: despite being advised by counsel for the petitioner that he is the only person with standing to pursue this matter, J.W. did not elect to submit a Certification of Substitution or appear at the OAL hearing to place on the record his desire to have his mother proceed as his representative; the non-notarized letter purportedly from J.W. indicating that he authorized his parents to act on his behalf was not convincing evidence that it was J.W.'s idea or intention to assert his rights in this case and to demand induction into the National Honor Society. Accordingly, the ALJ granted the Board's motion to dismiss for lack of standing.

Upon comprehensive review and consideration, the Commissioner adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. Accordingly, the petition was dismissed.

PETITIONER,	:

RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law ("OAL") have been reviewed, as have the exceptions filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 by the petitioner[1] and the Board of Education's reply thereto.[2]

In her exceptions, the petitioner argues that the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) erroneously dismissed the petition in this matter based on lack of standing. Petitioner contends that the ALJ's dismissal was based upon nothing more than an assumption that J.W., who turned 18 in the middle of the case, had no interest in pursuing the matter. The petitioner also maintains that it is unreasonable to expect J.W. to proceed with this case on his own because he is profoundly deaf and language impaired. Petitioner further points out that although it was not notarized, J.W. signed a statement authorizing his parents to proceed on his behalf. Finally, the petitioner emphasizes that all of the testimony was completed prior to the ALJ's decision to dismiss the case, and as such, there would be no prejudice or undue expense to the Board if the Commissioner were to require that the matter be decided on the merits. Therefore, the petitioner

[1] The exceptions filed by counsel for the petitioner state that I.C.W. and G.W. (J.W.'s father) are both petitioners in this matter; however the only petitioner of record is I.C.W.

[2] The record included the transcript from the hearing conducted at the OAL on August 1, 2011 as well as the emergent relief hearing. The record did not include a transcript from the hearing on August 15, 2011, during which the parties argued the Board's motion to dismiss based on a lack of standing.

contends that J.W. is entitled to a determination as to whether the Board acted in an arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable manner when it denied his induction into the National Honor Society.

In reply, the Board urges the Commissioner to adopt the ALJ's determination that the petition should be dismissed based on a lack of standing. The Board maintains that it is undisputed that during the course of the appeal it was discovered that J.W. had turned 18, and when an individual reaches the age of 18 in New Jersey he must sue and be sued in his own name as an adult pursuant to N.J.S.A. 9:17b-1 and b-3. Additionally, the Board notes that J.W. has not participated in any of the proceedings involving the dispute in this matter, including the board meeting where his parents challenged the decision not to admit him into the National Honor Society; the emergent relief hearing; the first day of the hearing on the merits; or even the oral argument where the Board argued that the case should be dismissed based upon a lack of standing. The Board further stresses that after the ALJ advised the petitioner of the steps necessary for J.W. to continue with this matter, he also declined to exercise those options. Therefore, the Board argues that based upon the circumstances it was reasonable for the ALJ to conclude that J.W. had no interest in pursuing the appeal.

Upon a comprehensive review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ's recommendation that this case be dismissed based on a lack of standing. The Commissioner is in accord with the ALJ's determination that once J.W. turned 18, petitioner I.C.W. no longer had standing to pursue this claim. The ALJ afforded the petitioner and J.W. the option of having J.W. file a Certificate of Substitution or appear before the ALJ and inform him that he would like his parents to proceed on his behalf. J.W. did not exercise either option, and as a result it was appropriate for the ALJ to conclude that J.W. did not intend to proceed with the appeal.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter and the petition of appeal is dismissed.

BEFORE LELAND S. McGEE, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On May 23, 2011, petitioner filed an application for emergent relief with the New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Controversies and Disputes. On the same day, this matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for a hearing on the requested emergent relief. On May 31, 2011, the application for emergent relief was heard at the OAL, 33 Washington Street, Newark, New Jersey, and the record closed.

On June 1, 2011, the undersigned issued an Order denying the motion for emergent relief; and on or about June 24, 2011, the Commissioner of Education issued a Decision on Application for Emergent Relief affirming said Order. The Commissioner returned the case to the undersigned for a determination on the merits.

On July 1, 2011, the undersigned issued a Prehearing Order scheduling this matter for an evidentiary hearing on July 13, 2011. At the request of both parties, this matter was adjourned to July 20, 2011.

On or about July 6, 2011, petitioner filed a Motion of Summary Decision and on or about July 12, 2011, respondent filed a Cross-Motion for Summary Decision. On or about July 18, 2011, petitioner filed a response to respondent's cross-motion and on July 22, 2011, the undersigned denied both the motion and cross-motion. Following several telephone-conference conversations, the parties agreed to a hearing schedule of August 1, 2011, and August 15, 2011.

A hearing was held on August 1, 2011. During the week of August 8, 2011, the parties learned that J.W. turned eighteen (18) during the course of this proceeding. At the hearing of August 15, 2011, respondent moved for dismissal of this matter for failure of standing to sue. The undersigned granted the motion to dismiss and the record closed.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

The pertinent facts of this case are not in dispute and I FIND the following to be the FACTS of this case.

J.W. is a resident of Kennelon, New Jersey, and a rising twelfth-grade out-of-district high school student in the Mountain Lakes School District. He has attended school in this district pursuant to an Individualized Education Program (IEP) since he was four years old. J.W. wears a cochlear implant to assist with his hearing impairment.

On or about May 6, 2009, the end of J.W.'s ninth-grade year, two students reported an incident involving J.W. to Stephen W. Ryan, the assistant principal at Mountain Lakes High School. The investigation of this incident resulted in an out-of-school suspension.

In the spring of 2011, J.W. satisfied the initial academic-proficiency threshold for receiving an invitation to apply for membership in the National Honor Society. J.W.'s application was considered by a five-member Local Faculty Council (LFC), which was comprised of five teachers selected by the school prinicipal.

On or about April 11, 2011, the LFC met to consider applicants for induction into the NHS and determined not to select J.W. The council concluded that his "disciplinary record did not meet chapter selection standards" as a result of the five-day suspension.

Petitioners appealed the decision of the LFC to the principal of the high school who affirmed the decision. After becoming aware of the incident and appeal, the superintendent of the school district discussed the matter with petitioners and also affirmed the decision of the LFC.

Petitioners appealed the decision to the Mountain Lakes Board of Education (BOE). They attended the BOE meeting of May 16, 2011, to present their appeal in "closed session." Following the presentation made by J.W.'s mother, the BOE went into "open session" but took no action on the requested appeal.

On or about May 27, 2011, respondent held an induction ceremony for students selected for membership in the National Honor Society. A less-formal induction ceremony will be held in October 2011, for eligible students not inducted during the spring ceremony.

Petitioner filed a timely motion for emergent relief, contesting the decision of the LFC, and the failure of respondent to take any action to reverse that decision. The undersigned denied the motion, and retained jurisdiction of the merits of this case following the Commissioner's affirmation of the denial of emergent relief. A hearing on the merits was commenced on August 1, 2011, and continued on August 15, 2011.

DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

New Jersey law "[e]xtend[s] to persons eighteen years of age and older the basic civil and contractual rights and obligations heretofore applicable only to persons twenty-one years of age or older, including the right to contract, sue, be sued and defend civil actions . . ." N.J.S.A. 9:17b-1. The law affirmatively states that "every person 18 or more years of age shall in all other matters and for all other purposes be deemed to be an adult and, notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, shall have the same legal capacity to act and the same powers and obligations as a person 21 or more years of age." N.J.S.A. 9:17b-3. The parties in this matter stipulated that J.W. turned eighteen on June 26, 2011, thereby reaching the age of majority and attaining standing to pursue the within matter.

The undersigned is faced with a motion to dismiss for failure of standing to sue as a result of a child reaching adulthood under New Jersey law. In the absence of precidential legal authority, the undersigned relied upon the aforementioned statutory authority and the absence of any evidence that J.W. wished to have his parents procede with this matter on his behalf.

It is undisputed that J.W. did not participate in the administrative appeals that occurred at the local level. He did not attend or otherwise participate in the appeal to the school principal, the superintendent of schools, or the Board of Education. J.W. has not attended any of the hearings scheduled in this matter and was not a proposed witness. In fact, only one of the two-named petitioners has appeared in this matter—namely J.W.'s mother.

Counsel for petitioner represented that he advised petitioner of the law pertaining to her son attaining the age of majority and that J.W. is therefore the only person with "standing" to pursue this matter. Further, petitioner was advised that there were two options for proceeding in this case: either J.W. could submit a formal Certification of Substitution relieving petitioners of their status as parties and substituting himself in as the petitioner; or J.W. could appear before this court and place on the record his desire to have his parents proceed as his representative. He did not elect to exercise either of these options.

During the hearing held on August 15, 2011, a non-notarized letter was presented purportedly from J.W. indicating that he authorized his parents to act on his behalf. However, I am not convinced that it was J.W.'s idea or intention to assert his rights in this case, and to demand induction into the National Honor Society. It was his mother who made the formal appeal before the Board of Education and submitted her written remarks. I believe that it was his mother who filed the initial request for due process, which does not include any statement by J.W. that he is in any way interested in proceeding with this appeal. In addition, his mother stated that she refused to allow J.W. to participate in these proceedings. Finally, there is no evidence that J.W. authorized counsel for petitioners to continue as the attorney of record.

For the foregoing reasons, I CONCLUDE that the motion to dismiss by respondent must be granted for lack of standing to sue. Accordingly, it is ORDERED that this appeal be and is DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this Initial Decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, P.O. The record of this matter, the proposed settlement agreement and general release (Agreement), and the Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed. According to the Agreement, the settlement became effective prior to the consideration of the settlement by the Commissioner of Education. The parties are reminded that a settlement of litigation before the Commissioner is not binding until the Commissioner approves the settlement.

In light of the foregoing, the Commissioner adopts the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter, provided that the parties have already implemented the settlement terms, or have agreed upon a mutually satisfactory alternate date for the effective date of the settlement. Assuming same, the matter is hereby dismissed, subject to compliance with the terms of the settlement.

Petitioner,

v.

LEAP ACADEMY UNIVERSITY CHARTER SCHOOL, CAMDEN COUNTY,

Respondent.

Nicholas J. Repici, Esq., for respondent (Genova, Burns & Giantomasi, attorneys)

Record Closed: July 11, 2011 Decided: August 18, 2011

BEFORE ELIA A. PELIOS, ALJ:

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on November 23, 2009, for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

The parties have agreed to a settlement and have prepared a Settlement Agreement indicating the terms thereof, which is attached and fully incorporated herein.

I have reviewed the record and the terms of settlement and I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures.

I CONCLUDE that this agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the settlement should be approved. I approve the settlement and therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded. It is noted that despite references in the agreement to confidentiality between the parties except where required by law, the parties have not requested nor does my approval of this agreement in any way constitute a conclusion that the record in this matter should or is to be sealed under the criteria enumerated by N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.1.

It is further noted that although the resolution of the Board of Trustees of the LEAP Academy Charter School approving the settlement was signed by Wanda Garcia, "Board Liaison," rather than the secretary of the Board, counsel has provided Ms. Garcia's certification (attached) wherein she states that as Board Liaison she is the individual responsible for preparing the agenda and resolutions for all Board meetings; that she is responsible for taking minutes of the meetings and recording all roll call votes in consideration of resolutions; and that the individual identified as "Board Secretary" on the Board's letterhead is in fact an appointed voting member of the Board and not an employee of the school's administrative offices.

Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the resolution provided by Counsel memorializing the approval by the Board of the settlement agreement is a validly executed resolution of the Board and should be accepted as evincing the Boards approval of this settlement.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Re: In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Edith Craft, School District of the Township of Franklin, Somerset County. Agency Dkt. No. 24-2/11.

Dear Counsel,

I have reviewed the materials filed in connection with the Franklin Township School District's Motion for Reconsideration of the Acting Commissioner's September 1, 2011 decision finding respondent guilty of unbecoming conduct and imposing a suspension without pay plus the loss of her salary increment for the 2011-2012 school year. The District is seeking to have the penalty in this case reconsidered because on March 16, 2011 the District and the Franklin Township Education Association entered into a Memorandum of Agreement in which it was agreed that all salaries for the 2011-2012 school year would be frozen at the 2010-2011 rate. The District now argues that because of that agreement the respondent will not be penalized with the loss of an increment since her salary was already frozen at the 2010-2011 level.

Upon review of the parties' submissions, I find that on September 23, 2011 the respondent filed a Notice of Appeal with the Appellate Division. Pursuant to R. 2:9-1 once a Notice of Appeal is filed, the Appellate Division automatically acquires supervision and control over the matter. Accordingly, the Commissioner does not have jurisdiction to decide the Board's Motion for Reconsideration; therefore no further action will be taken on this matter.*

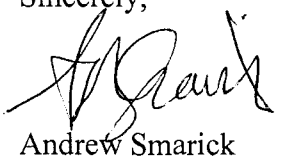
Sincerely,



Andrew Smarick
Acting Commissioner

PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE	:	DECISION
CITY OF GARFIELD, BERGEN COUNTY, RESPONDENT.	:

SYNOPSIS

Petitioner – a tenured teacher holding a standard instructional certificate with endorsements as an Elementary School Teacher and a Teacher of Italian – appealed the determination of the respondent Board to non-renew her contract for the 2010-2011 school year, alleging violation of her tenure and seniority rights. Petitioner was continuously employed by the Board as a Teacher of Italian from September 2002 through June 2010. She contends that her tenure extends to her Elementary School Teacher endorsement, and that she was illegally terminated because no resolution was adopted by the Board to abolish her position or to dismiss her from its employ. The Board argues that petitioner is not entitled to an elementary education position in the school district after the abolishment of the elementary World Language Program.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there is no genuine issue of material fact challenged in this matter, and the case is ripe for summary decision; N.J.S.A. 18A:28-1 to -18 authorizes the tenure of educational personnel; petitioner had attained tenure under both her Elementary School Endorsement and her Teacher of Italian endorsement; petitioner does not dispute that her seniority – pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:29-9 et seq. and N.J.A.C. 6A:32-5.1 – is limited to the subject area and grade levels she actually taught, nor does she dispute that she does not have sufficient seniority to claim a position as Teacher of Italian from tenured teachers currently employed as such in the district's secondary grades; at the same time, the Board does not dispute that it has retained non-tenured elementary school teachers following petitioner's nonrenewal; N.J.S.A. 18A:27-4.1 sets forth the procedure by which a certificated employee may be removed, namely upon the recommendation of the chief school administrator and by a recorded roll-call majority vote of the full membership of the Board, which appears not to have happened in this case; however, even if petitioner's position was legally terminated pursuant to a reduction in force, petitioner should have been retained as an elementary school teacher based upon the tenure law. Accordingly, the ALJ granted summary decision in favor of petitioner, and ordered that respondent shall reinstate petitioner as a full-time employee; compensate her for monetary damages, including loss of salary and medical, dental and prescription insurance coverage; and restore her seniority rights and pension credit.

Upon comprehensive review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's conclusion that summary decision is appropriately granted to petitioner, and adopted the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. The Commissioner ordered respondent to immediately reinstate petitioner to a full-time teaching position, reimburse her within 60 days for lost salary and payments made for medical, dental, and prescription insurance coverage, provide her with seniority credit, and make the requisite contributions to the pension fund and Social Security for the entire period of petitioner's illegal termination.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE	:	DECISION
CITY OF GARFIELD, BERGEN COUNTY, RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions to the Initial Decision.

Upon his considered review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) that summary decision is appropriately granted to petitioner. For the reasons cogently presented in the ALJ's decision, it is without question that petitioner's tenure rights – pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5, et seq. – were violated, as a matter of law, when the Board abolished her teaching position and continued to employ non-tenured individuals as elementary teachers for the 2010-11 school year.

Accordingly, the recommended decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter. Respondent is hereby directed to immediately reinstate petitioner to a full-time teaching position within the scope of her endorsements; reimburse her within sixty days of the date of this decision for lost salary and payments she made for medical, dental and prescription insurance coverage; provide her with seniority credit; and make the requisite contributions to the pension fund and Social Security for the entire period of her illegal termination.

ERICA B. GILLIKIN,
Petitioner,
v.
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF GARFIELD, BERGEN COUNTY,
Respondent.

Louis P. Bucceri, Esq., for petitioner (Bucceri and Pincus, attorneys)

Amy E. Lefkowitz, Esq., for respondent (Law Offices of Curt J. Geisler, attorneys)

Record Closed: June 16, 2011 Decided: September 1, 2011

BEFORE KELLY J. KIRK, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner Enrica Gillikin (Gillikin), a teacher, appeals the determination of respondent, Board of Education of the City of Garfield, Bergen County (Board), that her contract would not be renewed for the 2010–2011 school year, alleging violation of her tenure and seniority rights.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On July 13, 2010, Gillikin filed a Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner of Education. On August 13, 2010, the Board filed a Verified Answer. On August 16, 2010, the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes (Bureau) of the Department of Education (Department) transmitted the contested case to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on August 31, 2010. The parties filed a Joint Stipulation of Facts and Documents and cross-motions for summary decision. Oral argument was heard on June 16, 2011, on which date the record closed.

STIPULATIONS OF FACT

Gillikin has held a standard instructional certificate in New Jersey with an "Elementary School Teacher" endorsement since May 2001, and a "Teacher of Italian" endorsement since September 2002. (J-1; J-2.)

Gillikin was continuously employed by the Board as a Teacher of Italian from September 18, 2002, through June 30, 2010, as follows:

a) 09/18/2002–2003, full-time Teacher of Italian, grades 1–5;
b) 2003–2004, full-time Teacher of Italian, grades 2–6;
c) 2004–2005, full-time Teacher of Italian, grades 2–6;
d) 2005–2006, full-time Teacher of Italian, grades 2–6;
e) 2006–2007, full-time Teacher of Italian, grades 2–6;
f) 2007–2008, full-time Teacher of Italian, grades 1–5;
g) 2008–2009, full-time Teacher of Italian, grades 1–5;
h) 2009–2010, full-time Teacher of Italian, grades 1–5.

By virtue of her term of service with the Board, petitioner achieved tenure in the Garfield School District (District) pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5.

On May 12, 2010, the Board met in a special public session. During the special public session, the Board considered multiple resolutions, including Resolution #05-418-10, to abolish three positions of full-time Teacher of Italian for economic reasons, effective July 1, 2010, and Resolution #05-440-10, to dismiss Gillikin, as a result of the abolishment of the position of Teacher of Italian, and to place her on a preferred eligible recall list. (J-3.) By a recorded roll-call vote of 8-0 (with one member absent), the Board voted not to adopt the consent agenda of personnel actions. (J-3.)

By letter dated May 14, 2010, from the superintendent of schools, Gillikin was advised that the full-time positions of "Italian Teacher Elementary" would be abolished for economic reasons, effective July 1, 2010, and that she was dismissed from the position of "Teacher of Italian" and placed on the preferred eligible recall list for the category of "Italian Teacher Elementary," effective July 1, 2010. (J-4.)

Petitioner was not employed by the Board for the 2010–2011 school year. The Board did not adopt a resolution to abolish a Teacher of Italian or to terminate Gillikin's employment, and the Board continues to employ full-time nontenured teachers in positions requiring an endorsement as a Teacher of Elementary School for the 2010–2011 school year, in grades K–5. The Board did not employ petitioner in place of one of the full-time nontenured elementary school teachers.

The Board has not employed anyone to teach Italian in its elementary grades for 2010–2011. Petitioner is less senior as a Teacher of Italian than any Teacher of Italian employed in the District's secondary grades.

For the 2009–2010 school year, Gillikin's wages were $51,384. (J-5.) If Gillikin had been employed by the Board for the 2010–2011 school year her gross salary would have been $54,706. She has been maintaining her family's health insurance coverage since September 1, 2010, by payment of $1,174.70 per month for medical insurance and by payment of $1,908.64 every four months for dental and prescription coverage pursuant to her rights under the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1985 (COBRA). (J-5; J-6.)

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

Gillikin argues that her tenure in Garfield extends to her Elementary School Teacher endorsement, and that Gillikin was illegally terminated because no resolution was adopted by the Board to abolish her position or to dismiss her from its employ. Conversely, the Board argues that Gillikin was not entitled to an elementary education position in the District after the abolishment of the elementary World Language Program.

Tenure and Seniority

Tenure of educational personnel is authorized by the Tenure Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:28-1 to -18. An employee of a board of education is entitled to tenure if the employee (1) works in a position for which a teaching certificate is required; (2) holds the appropriate certificate; and (3) has served the requisite period of time. Spiewak v. Bd. of Educ., 90 N.J. 63, 74 (1982); N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5. Teaching staff members shall be under tenure during good behavior and efficiency and they shall not be dismissed or reduced in compensation except for inefficiency, incapacity, or conduct unbecoming such a teaching staff member or other just cause and then only in the manner prescribed by subarticle B of article 2 of chapter 6 of Title 18A. N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5; Zimmerman v. Newark Bd. of Educ., 38 N.J. 65, 72 (1962).

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-2, any person employed as a teaching staff member by a district board of education shall hold a valid and appropriate certificate. N.J.A.C. 6A:9-5.1(a). The Board of Examiners issues three categories of educational certificates: Instructional, Administrative and Educational Services. N.J.A.C. 6A:9-5.2. Additionally, the State Board has designated "special endorsements" under each type of certificate, which identify the educational subjects or assignments that share common traits. Nelson v. Old Bridge Bd. of Educ., 148 N.J. 358, 363 (1997). "Endorsement" means the specific subject area in which a certificate holder is authorized to serve. N.J.A.C. 6A:9-2.1.

In Dennery v. Passaic County Regional High School District #1 Board of Education, 131 N.J. 626, 634 (1993), the Supreme Court opined that a tenured staff member may not be subject to a reduction in force if a nontenured person has been retained in a position within the scope of the tenured staff member's certificate:

> To acquire a particular certificate and endorsement, an educator is also required to fulfill certain academic requirements. N.J.A.C. 6:11-5.1 to 5.2. Those most often include the completion of coursework or the acquisition of a relevant higher degree. On the satisfactory completion of all requirements, the Division of Teacher Preparation and Certification will certify the educator. N.J.A.C. 6:11-3.19.
> An educator who has attained tenure by virtue of the requisite service in a specific position will have tenure with respect to all positions under the particular certificate. Ellicott v. Board of Educ., 251 N.J. Super. 342, 349, 598 A.2d 237 (App. Div. 1991). Tenure under any one endorsement entitles an educator to tenure under all endorsements obtained under his or her certificate. Id. at 350, 598 A.2d 237; Bednar v. Westwood Bd. of Educ., 221 N.J. Super. 239, 534 A.2d 93 (App. Div. 1987) (holding that tenured teacher with instructional certificate and endorsement in art also entitled to tenured post requiring secondary art endorsement), certif. denied, 110 N.J. 512, 541 A.2d 1371 (1988); Capodilupo v. West Orange Township Bd. of Ed., 218 N.J. Super. 510, 528 A.2d 73 (App. Div.) (holding that teacher with both elementary and secondary physical education endorsements was tenured under both endorsements), certif. denied, 109 N.J. 514, 537 A.2d 1300 (1987); Grosso v. Board of Educ., 1990 S.L.D. 1750.

The Board argues that Capodilupo v. West Orange Township Board of Education, 218 N.J. Super. 510 (App. Div.), certif. denied, 109 N.J. 514 (1987), is distinguishable because Capodilupo had certificates in elementary physical education and secondary physical education, and though he had not taught elementary education, he taught secondary physical education, while Gillikin has taught only Italian and would be teaching all elementary education subjects without any prior training, knowledge or experience in teaching reading, writing, spelling, science, math, or other subjects within the elementary education curriculum. Citing dicta in Capodilupo, the Board argues that allowing petitioner to take the position of a nontenured elementary school teacher would violate public policy, proposed tenure reforms, and the requirements to provide a thorough and efficient education, and that it would be detrimental to the needs of the District's students. The Board argues that it was educationally appropriate to retain the nontenured teacher over Gillikin. However, this same argument was addressed by the Appellate Division in Ellicott v. Frankford Township Board of Education, 251 N.J. Super. 342, 351 (App. Div. 1991):

> Lastly, the Local Board argues even if petitioner had tenure entitlement to the LDTC position, it had "sound educationally-based reasons" for its decision to employ a nontenured person rather than petitioner. In Capodilupo, we observed in dictum that:
> > We recognize that, in upholding the [Local] Board's decision to retain [a nontenured teacher], the State Board also made a finding that the Board's obligation to consider tenure in a RIF could be balanced by "sound educationally based reasons for its decision to retain a non-tenured teacher."
>
> 218 N.J. Super. at 515–16, 528 A.2d 73. However, we found it "both unnecessary and inappropriate" to address the merits of this portion of the State Board's opinion because the Local Board had advanced "no educationally based reasons" to retain the nontenured teacher, beyond his experience, as an elementary teacher. Id. at 516, 528 A.2d 73.
> We now question whether, at least in the context before us, there can be any "sound educationally based reasons" for retaining a nontenured over a tenured teaching staff member in the event of a RIF, once the statutory right to tenure is fixed. Indeed, in Bednar, the State Board had concluded that tenure did not permit a teacher to claim an assignment in a job category against a nontenured teacher who had seniority in that category. 221 N.J. Super. at 242, 534 A.2d 93. We held that while the State Board's approach may or may not represent "sound educational policy," it erodes tenure rights "which appear plain on the face of the statute, which we are bound to recognize and which can be removed only by the Legislature." Id. at 243, 534 A.2d 93.

Additionally, in Bednar, the court opined that seniority does not purport to create employment rights for nontenured employees, and that Chapter 28 surely does not contemplate use of the concept of seniority to justify retaining a nontenured teacher in a position within the certificate of a dismissed tenured teacher. Bednar v. Westwood Bd. of Educ., 221 N.J. Super. 239, 242 (App. Div. 1987) (citing Capodilupo). The court continued that N.J.S.A. 18A:28-10 declares only the rights inter sese of tenured teachers in a RIF, among whom seniority is determinative, but the statute does not authorize regulatory dilution of tenure rights by affording a nontenured teacher "seniority." Id. at 243.

Additionally, in Grosso v. Board of Education, 1990 S.L.D. 1750 (State Board of Education), appeal dismissed, Nos. A-4359-89T5 and A-4360-89T5 (App. Div. 1990), the Commissioner of Education agreed that the petitioner had achieved tenure as a "teacher" by virtue of his service teaching business education for the requisite period of time under N.J.S.A. 10A:28-6, and that the scope of his tenure protection extended to all of the endorsements on his instructional certification. The Commissioner concluded that since the petitioner was authorized and qualified to serve as an elementary teacher by virtue of his elementary education certification, under N.J.A.C. 6:11-6.2(a)(6), he had entitlement as a result of his tenure status to employment as an elementary teacher as against nontenured individuals, regardless of whether he had previously served under that endorsement.

Gillikin was employed as a Teacher of Italian in the District for the equivalent of more than three academic years within a period of four consecutive academic years, and the parties stipulated that Gillikin acquired tenure pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5. Petitioner has attained tenure both under her Elementary School Teacher endorsement and her Teacher of Italian endorsement. The standards for determining seniority are set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:32-5.1. Seniority, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:29-9 et seq., is determined according to the number of academic or calendar years of employment, or fraction thereof, as the case may be, in the school district, in specific categories. N.J.A.C. 6A:32-5.1. One such category is "elementary," which provides, in pertinent part, that any person employed at the elementary level in a position requiring an educational services certificate or a special subject field endorsement shall acquire seniority only in the elementary category and only for the period of actual service under such educational services certificate or special subject field endorsement. N.J.A.C. 6A:32-5.1(l)(18)(ii). In the present matter, petitioner does not dispute that her "seniority" is limited to the subject area and grade levels she actually taught, nor does she dispute that she does not have sufficient seniority to claim a position as Teacher of Italian from the tenured teachers currently employed as such in the secondary grades in the District. However, the District does not dispute that it has retained nontenured elementary school teachers. Thus, based upon applicable case law, I CONCLUDE that Gillikin's tenure rights extend to her endorsement as Elementary School Teacher and required her full-time employment in place of a nontenured elementary teacher for the 2010–2011 school year.

Termination

Nothing in Title 18A or any other law relating to tenure of service shall be held to limit the right of any board of education to reduce the number of teaching staff members employed in the district whenever, in the judgment of the board, it is advisable to abolish any such positions for reasons of economy or because of reduction in the number of pupils or of change in the administrative or supervisory organization of the district or for other good cause upon compliance with the provisions of this article. N.J.S.A. 18A:28-9. A local board of education has the authority to reduce its teaching force as long as that reduction is for reasons of economy. Impey v. Shrewsbury Bd. of Educ., 142 N.J. 388, 398–99 (1995); Klinger v. Cranbury Bd. of Educ., 190 N.J. Super. 354, 357 (App. Div. 1982), certif. denied, 93 N.J. 277 (1983); Maywood Bd. of Educ. v. Maywood Educ. Ass'n, 168 N.J. Super. 45, 55 (App. Div.), certif. denied, 81 N.J. 292 (1979). Dismissals resulting from any such reduction shall be made on the basis of seniority according to standards to be established by the commissioner with the approval of the state board. N.J.S.A. 18A:28-10.

N.J.S.A. 18A:27-4.1 sets forth the procedure for certain personnel actions as follows:

> Notwithstanding the provisions of any law, rule or regulation to the contrary,
>
> a. A board of education shall appoint, transfer or remove a certificated or non-certificated officer or employee only upon the recommendation of the chief school administrator and by a recorded roll call majority vote of the full membership of the board. The board shall not withhold its approval for arbitrary and capricious reasons.
>
> b. A board of education shall renew the employment contract of a certificated or non-certificated officer or employee only upon the recommendation of the chief school administrator and by a recorded roll call majority vote of the full membership of the board. The board shall not withhold its approval for arbitrary and capricious reasons. A nontenured officer or employee who is not recommended for renewal by the chief school administrator shall be deemed nonrenewed. Prior to notifying the officer or employee of the nonrenewal, the chief school administrator shall notify the board of the recommendation not to renew the officer's or employee's contract and the reasons for the recommendation. An officer or employee whose employment contract is not renewed shall have the right to a written statement of reasons for nonrenewal pursuant to section 2 of P.L.1975, c.132 (C.18A:27-3.2) and to an informal appearance before the board. The purpose of the appearance shall be to permit the staff member to convince the members of the board to offer reemployment. The chief school administrator shall notify the officer or employee of the nonrenewal pursuant, where applicable, to the provisions of section 1 of P.L.1971, c.436 (C.18A:27-10).
> c. The provisions of this section shall not apply to the appointment, transfer, removal, renewal or nonrenewal of a person who is a treasurer of school moneys, election officer, board auditor, board attorney or board secretary, except a board secretary who performs business administration functions.

Gillikin was a tenured employee. Accordingly, removal of a certificated employee may only be made upon the recommendation of the chief school administrator and by a recorded roll-call majority vote of the full membership of the Board. It is not disputed that the roll-call majority vote of the full membership of the Board voted not to adopt the resolution abolishing the position of Teacher of Italian and dismissing Gillikin from her employment. Nevertheless, the Board argues that as a result of the recent financial crisis and lack of funding to New Jersey school districts, the World Language Program in the District's elementary school was abolished, and that the District had the authority to employ a reduction in force in order to comply with the 2010–2011 budget that was approved by the Bergen County executive superintendent. Although no certification or affidavit was submitted, the Board argues that during the April 2010 school election, the City of Garfield voted not to accept the proposed budget, but with limited State aid and tax revenue, reductions in force were necessary for reasons of economy, and that the executive county superintendent allowed the passing of the proposed budget, as was submitted to the Board prior to the election date, which budget included the elimination of the World Language Program. Thus, the Board argues that the World Language Program was terminated in accordance with the budget for the 2010–2011 school year that was struck by the executive county superintendent. Petitioner argues that the introduction of a letter dated March 29, 2010, from the county executive superintendent to the Board president is contrary to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.4(a), as no affidavit or certification was submitted in connection with the letter. Petitioner further argues that the letter only refers to the Board's failure to approve a FY11 preliminary budget at its March 22, 2010, meeting, and that the Board's claim that the budget required elimination of the World Language Program has no basis in fact, as it was likewise unsupported by an affidavit or certification.

The Board's arguments that the budget was passed and thereby eliminated the World Language Program may have raised an issue of fact if supported by an affidavit or certification. However, even if petitioner's position was legally terminated pursuant to a reduction in force, it does not change that case law provides that Gillikin should have been retained as an elementary teacher based upon tenure law. As such, an issue of fact as to whether or not Gillikin's position was ever legally terminated pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:27-4.1(a) is not a material issue.

Summary Decision

Applications for summary decision after a matter has been transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law shall be filed with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) in accordance with applicable rules of the OAL. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.12(b). A contested case before the Office of Administrative Law "can be summarily disposed of before an ALJ without a plenary hearing in instances where the undisputed material facts, as developed on motion or otherwise, indicate that a particular disposition is required as a matter of law." In re Robros Recycling Corp., 226 N.J. Super. 343, 350 (App. Div.), certif. denied, 113 N.J. 63 (1988).

N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b) provides, in pertinent part:

> The motion for summary decision shall be served with briefs and with or without supporting affidavits. The decision sought may be rendered if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. When a motion for summary decision is made and supported, an adverse party in order to prevail must by responding affidavit set forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding.

Initially, the parties cross-moved for summary decision. The District subsequently argued in its reply that the matter was not ripe for summary decision because the Board must be permitted to produce through testimony the reasoning and justification for Gillikin not having been assigned to an elementary education classroom. However, in order for Gillikin to have acquired the "Elementary School Teacher" endorsement, she would have been required to fulfill certain academic requirements, and would have been certified only upon satisfactory completion of all requirements. Further, the case law provides that tenure rights may not be diluted by affording a nontenured teacher "seniority," and further provides that arguments of "sound educational policy" erode tenure rights conferred by statute which can be removed only by the Legislature. Thus, based upon the foregoing, there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged, and I CONCLUDE that this matter is appropriate for summary decision.

Based upon the totality of the facts and circumstances, I CONCLUDE that petitioner should be reinstated as a full-time employee; she should be compensated for monetary damages, including loss of salary and medical, dental and prescription insurance coverage; and her seniority rights and pension credit should be restored.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that summary decision is GRANTED in favor of the petitioner, and that respondent shall reinstate petitioner as a full-time employee; reimburse petitioner within sixty days of the effective date of this decision for her lost salary and the payments she made for medical, dental and prescription insurance coverage; and restore petitioner's seniority rights and contributions to the pension fund and Social Security for the period in question.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF BURLINGTON, BURLINGTON COUNTY,	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
PETITIONER,	:	ORDER
V.	:
T.C. AND R.C.,	:
RESPONDENTS.	:

On July 22, 2011, a final agency decision was rendered in this matter, wherein the Commissioner granted summary decision to the Board on its complaint seeking reimbursement from respondents T.C. and R.C. of the costs of tuition pertinent to the period of ineligible attendance of their child, Y.C., in its schools during the 2010-11 school year. Respondents had been directed to submit an answer to the Board's complaint and were informed that if no answer was submitted, each count of the complaint would be deemed admitted and the matter could then be decided on a summary basis. As no answer was subsequently submitted, the Commissioner granted summary decision in favor of the Board, and ordered respondents to remit to the Board tuition in the amount of $7,527.80 for the 140 days that Y.C. attended school in the District during the 1010-11 school year. The Board subsequently notified the Commissioner that the respondents had failed to comply with his decision, and it requested that the Commissioner seek entry of the assessment on the judgment docket of the Superior Court pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2A:58-10. Respondents offered no reasons why the judgment against them should not be so docketed, although given an opportunity by this agency to do so.

Accordingly, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2A:58-10, Tyrone and Raqia Crawley are now subject to entry of a judgment by the court in the amount of $7,527.80, which represents the payment ordered at the conclusion of the contested case before the Commissioner, with interest to accrue as provided by law.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE HEARING OF KERRI POTTER, SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE TOWNSHIP LITTLE EGG HARBOR.

Joseph D. Coronato, Esq., for the petitioner, School District of the Township Little Egg Harbor (Coronato, Brady & Kunz, attorneys)

William F. Koy, Esq., for respondent Kerri Potter

Record Closed: September 9, 2011 Decided: September 12, 2011

BEFORE EDWARD J. DELANOY, JR., ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, Board of Education of the School District of the Township Little Egg Harbor ("District"), brings charges of incapacity, insubordination and unbecoming conduct against respondent, Kerri Potter, a tenured employee holding the position of intermediate schoolteacher. Petitioner alleges that respondent is guilty of incapacity, in that she was excessively absent during the 2007-2008 and 2008-2009 school years; insubordination, in that she failed to comply with the board directive to be re-evaluated by Dr. Theodore Zalesky within the two week period required; and unbecoming conduct, in that she attended her duties under the influence of narcotic controlled dangerous substances in the presence of minor children in the district, thereby jeopardizing their safety and security. Petitioner has certified these charges under the Tenure Employees' Hearing Law, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10-18.1. This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on January 5, 2010, for determination as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

Prior to commencing a hearing, the parties engaged in discussions in an effort to resolve the matter amicably. The parties reached a settlement of the matter, and the settlement has been reviewed and approved by their respective clients.

On September 9, 2011, the parties submitted the fully executed Settlement Agreement accompanied by an original resolution of the Board of Education of the Township of Little Egg Harbor adopted on August 15, 2011, authorizing the execution of the Settlement Agreement. The Settlement Agreement is attached and fully incorporated herein.

I have reviewed the record and the terms of settlement and I make the following FINDINGS:

1. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6(a) provides that once tenure charges are certified to the Commissioner, such charges may be withdrawn or settled only with the Commissioner's approval, and that any proposed withdrawal or settlement, whether submitted to the Commissioner or to the ALJ, shall address the standards established in In re Cardonick, 1990 S.L.D. 842, 846 (State Board decision, April 6, 1983). N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6(a) further provides that any proposed withdrawal or settlement be accompanied by documentation as to the nature of the charges, explain the circumstances justifying settlement or withdrawal, be consented to by both the charged and charging parties, indicate that the charged party entered into the agreement with a full understanding of his or her rights, and contain a showing that the agreement is in the public interest. In addition, where the charged party is a teaching staff member, the documentation must show that the teaching staff member has been advised of the Commissioner's duty to refer tenure determinations resulting in loss of position to the State Board of Examiners for possible suspension or revocation of certificate. After a careful review of the Settlement Agreement, I FIND that it fully complies with the foregoing requirements. I specifically FIND that Kerri Potter has agreed to this settlement with a full understanding of her rights, and that Kerri Potter was advised of the Commissioner's duty to refer tenure determinations to the State Board of Examiners for possible revocation of any certificates held by her. I also FIND that it is in the public interest to conclude this matter in the manner agreed to by the parties for the following reasons: Kerri Potter had previously been involved in a serious car accident, which accident caused residual pain and injuries requiring the use of painkilling drugs. The painkilling drugs were not taken in the presence of the classroom children, and there is no indication that Potter's teaching was negatively impacted by the use of the pain killers. Potter made several attempts to return to teaching but was unable to do so. Potter agreed to drug testing, and there were no positive findings. There was no negative impact on the children in her class. It is anticipated that the hearing in this matter would be protracted and costly. If the tenure matter proceeds to hearing, both parties would incur costs of paying their attorneys for a likely lengthy hearing. Litigation of the charges would lead to the disruption of the District's educational program due to the great amount of time lost by administrators and other personnel who would be required to testify to the incidents which led to the filing of the tenure charges against an employee who has resigned her teaching position.

2. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6(b) provides that where tenure charges have been certified to the Commissioner by a district board of education, any proposed settlement shall indicate, by signature of the board attorney or inclusion of a district board of education resolution authorizing settlement, that the district board of education has consented to the terms of the settlement. I FIND that the submitted Settlement Agreement is signed by the board attorney and is accompanied by resolution of the Board of Education of the Township of Little Egg Harbor authorizing the board attorney to enter into the Settlement Agreement.

3. I FIND that the settlement is with the consent of all parties and that the parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures.

4. I FIND that the settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that the terms of the agreement are in the public interest, the agreement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, and the settlement should be approved. I APPROVE the settlement and therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

(attached hereto as Exhibit A); and

WHEREAS, the parties acknowledge that the merits of the controversy are in dispute and that neither the Board nor the Respondent admits any liability to either, but both have reasons to desire a resolution of the matter, and have freely and impartially agreed to resolve same; and

WHEREAS, the Board believes that, based on the Respondent's medical condition, the Board may have insufficient proofs to sustain the charge as set forth.

WHEREAS, the Board and Respondent specifically recognize and acknowledge that any settlement is contingent upon approval by the Commissioner as required by and consistent with New Jersey Administrative Code 6A:3-5.6 and In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Frank Cardonick, State Board of Education decision of April 6, 1983 (1990 School Law Decisions, S.L.D. 842, 846); and

NOW THEREFORE, in consideration of the agreements, promises, covenants and conditions contained herein, the adequacy and sufficiency of which are expressly acknowledged by the parties hereto, the parties agree as follows:

(e) The Petitioner shall execute a letter of reference for the Respondent and the contents of the letter shall be mutually agreed upon between the parties.

(f) The Board discussed the proposed settlement at its December 20th meeting, at which time the Board approved the settlement. The Board shall authorize in a resolution that the Board President shall execute the Consent Order of Settlement and the Board Secretary shall attest to same.

(g) The Respondent shall execute a release in favor of the Board for all legal issues arising out her employment by the Board.

(h) The parties and their counsel, shall execute a Stipulation of Dismissal in the civil law suit filed in Ocean County, entitled Potter v. Little Egg Harbor Board of Education, bearing Docket No. OCN L-722-10 and release the Little Egg Harbor Board of Education for all issues arising out of an Office of Administrative Law action bearing Docket No. EDU 9-10.

(i) Upon the approval of the Commissioner of Education of this Agreement, the Board will withdraw and dismiss the Statement of Charges and the Respondent's resignation will be effective September 1, 2011, and the Board's letter of reference will become operative.

2. RELEASE. Respondent, personally and for her assignee, estate and/or heirs, waives, releases and gives up any and all other claims, demands, obligations, damages, liabilities, causes of action and rights, in law or in equity, known or unknown, that she may have against the Board and any and all of its officers, directors, agents, representatives and employees (present and former) and their respective successors and assigns, heirs, executors and legal or personal representatives, based upon any act, event or omission occurring before the execution of this Agreement including, but not limited to, any events related to, arising from or in connection with Respondent's employment with the Board or the Statement of Charges. Respondent specifically waives, releases and gives up any and all claims arising from or relating to her employment and/or association with the Board based upon any act, event or omission occurring before the execution of this Agreement including, but not limited to, any claim that was asserted or could have been asserted under any federal or state statutes, regulations, or common law or Board policies or regulations.

3. NO CLAIMS PERMITTED/COVENANT NOT TO SUE. Respondent waives her right to file any charges or complaint in her own behalf, to participate as a complainant, a plaintiff or a charging party in any charges or complaint, or to collect damages as a result of any charges or complaint which may be made by any other person or organization on her behalf, with respect to anything which has happened up to the execution of this Agreement, before any federal, state or local court or administrative agency against the Board except as such waiver is prohibited by law.

4. ATTORNEYS' FEES. The parties agree that each party will bear its own costs and attorney's fees which have been incurred in connection with the within matter and in conjunction with the negotiation and preparation of this Agreement.

5. NO ADMISSION OF LIABILITY. It is expressly understood that neither the execution of this Agreement, nor any other action taken by the Respondent in conjunction with the Board's claims or this settlement, constitute admission by the Respondent of any violation of any law, duty or obligation. It is also understood that the acceptance of this settlement does not constitute any representation by the Board as to the merits of its claims or lack thereof.

6. ENTIRE AGREEMENT. This Agreement contains the sole and entire Agreement between the parties hereto. Each party represents and acknowledges that, prior to executing this Agreement, they consulted with or had an opportunity to consult with counsel, has had ample time to do so and that no party relied upon any representation or statement not set forth in this Agreement made by any other party hereto, or their counsel or representatives, with regard to the subject matter of this Agreement.

7. BOARD RESOLUTION. Attached hereto as Exhibit C is a true copy of a Resolution of the Board adopted in compliance with the laws of the State of New Jersey, including the Open Public Meetings Act, duly ratifying this agreement and authorizing the Board's signatory to sign this Agreement on its behalf.

8. COMMISSIONER'S APPROVAL. It is expressly understood that this Settlement Agreement, and the settlement pursuant to the terms above must first be approved by the Commissioner of Education and must meet the following standard as enumerated in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6(a):

(a) Accompaniment by documentation as to the nature of the charges (see Exhibits A and B).

(b) Explication of the circumstances justifying settlement or withdrawal: The parties acknowledge the seriousness of the charges. The Board represents and asserts that a withdrawal of the Statement of Charges is appropriate. The Board acknowledges that the Respondent was involved in a serious automobile accident which caused pain and, thereafter, residual pain. The Respondent made several attempts to return to teaching but was unable to do so. Despite the numerous absences, the Board had employed substitute teachers. Respondent did consume pain medication and did agree to drug testing, and with no positive findings and there has been no negative impact on the students. There are no proofs that pain medication was taken in front of children. The Respondent has agreed to submit her resignation to the Board. The Board believes that it is in the public interest not to proceed in this matter and the proofs are insufficient as they relate to Respondent's medical condition as to not warrant the charges as set forth.

(c) Consent of both the charged and charging parties is evidenced by this Agreement.

(d) Indication that the Respondent entered into this Agreement with a full understanding of her rights is evidence by this Agreement.

(e) A showing that the Agreement is in the public interest as evidence by this Agreement, the separation of the parties, the cost associated thereto by the public which is significantly less than the cost associated with prosecuting the Statement of Charges.

(f) The proof are such, in light of the Respondent's medical condition, that it is in the best interest of the parties to resolve same.

9. NON DISCLOSURE. Except as may be otherwise required by the Board pursuant to the Open Public Records Act and/or Open Public Meeting Act, as such obligations may be modified by federal or state statutory or administrative provisions as to the privacy of personnel records, no party will broadcast or publicize financial or other elements of this settlement to any third party. The parties are free to respond to inquiries made of them by indicating that the matter has been amicably resolved or satisfactorily settled, and recognize that the Board may disclose the substantive details of this settlement pursuant to a lawful request by providing a copy of this Settlement Agreement.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties have set their hands and seals as of the day and year first written.

I, Paul J. Carr, Esq., Attorney for the Little Egg Harbor Board of Education hereby certify as follows:

1. I am an Attorney at Law in the State of New Jersey representing the Little Egg Harbor Board of Education and I am fully familiar with the facts herein.

2. Kerri A. Potter is a staff member employed by the Little Egg Harbor Board of Education holding tenure and is so during all the times mentioned herein.

3. Kerry A. Potter was assigned to teach the 5th grade in a class support program at the Little Egg Harbor Intermediate School with Lori Zettlemoyer, a staff member employed by the Little Egg Harbor Board of Education in the 2008-2009 school year.

4. On or about September, 2009 the parents of a classified student complained to Kerri A. Potter's case manager. The student's mother complained that he was coming home depressed daily and did not want to return to school. He complained that Ms. Potter yelled and screamed all day.

5. Subsequent to this occurrence, the case manager referred the student's mother to the district administration.

6. The student's mother decided to wait until Back-to-School Night to discuss the issues with Ms. Potter.

7. The student's mother attended Back-to-School Night and reported that Ms. Potter appeared, in her words, "spaced out." When the parent and her husband tried to speak to Ms. Potter, they reported that she was unable to follow the conversation, she shuffled through papers while they were speaking, and she did not appear to be coherent of anything they were saying.

8. After the meeting at Back-to-School Night, the student's mother scheduled an appointment with Building Principal Troy Henderson to discuss the problem. Her son was still depressed and still complaining about the yelling. She reported that Ms. Potter would yell at the students for not putting papers where they were supposed to put them and then both the students and Ms. Zettlemoyer would go to the basket to look for the papers and they would be there.

9. Mrs. Hudak, another staff member reported to the administration that several other parents started complaining about Ms. Potter and the situation was becoming uncontrollable.

10. Subsequent to the parental complaints, Ms. Potter went on leave and Mrs. Cuisamano was assigned to take her place. The student's mother reported that once again, her son was a happy and enthusiastic student.

11. As a result of learning of the foregoing conduct by Kerri A. Potter, the Superintendant of Schools, Dr. Frank Kasyan, in consultation with the school board president and the school board attorney placed Ms. Potter on administrative leave with pay and required her to undergo an evaluation by a physician to be determined by the administration at the school board's expense.

12. On or about January 8, 2009 Dr. Theodore G. Zaleski, M.D., F.A.C.S. conducted an initial evaluation and concluded within a reasonable degree of medical certainty that Ms. Potter's condition will not spontaneously improve to an acceptable degree, and that given her continuing symptoms, she will require continued use of potent narcotic analgesics for pain control, as well as further diagnostic evaluation and treatment which would result in additional time away from her job. A copy of Dr. Zaleski's report dated January 8, 2009 is included herein.

13. Subsequent to Dr. Zaleski's opinion, an agreement was reached between Richard Friedman, Esq., Ms. Potter's then attorney, whom she subsequently released in favor of her current attorney, William F. Koy, Sr., and the administration, wherein she would be reevaluated in 120 days and would not be able to return to the district as a staff member until she underwent blood and urine screening in addition to a psychiatric evaluation.

14. On or about July 17, 2009, Dr. Zaleski performed a reevaluation of Ms. Potter and concluded within a reasonable degree of medical certainty that Ms. Potter's condition will not spontaneously improve to the extent that she can perform the duties required of a teacher. Furthermore, her condition is such that reasonable accommodations will not render her capable of performing those duties. Because of her continuing symptoms, she still requires continued use of potent narcotic analgesics for pain control. A copy of Dr. Zaleski's report dated July 17, 2009 is enclosed.

15. Ms. Potter attended her duties as a teacher of minor children while under the influence of narcotic controlled dangerous substances. This presented a clear and present danger to herself and to the students she was responsible for.

16. Ms. Potter failed to comply with the directive of the administration to perform a reevaluation within the 120 days of the initial evaluation and she further failed to undergo a psychiatric evaluation and blood and urine testing within the time required by the administration.

17. The foregoing conduct on the part of Ms. Potter constitutes insubordination.

18. During Ms. Potter's 2006-2007 school year, she missed 183 days of school. During Ms. Potter's 2007-2008 school year, she missed 164 days. During the 2008-2009 school year, Ms. Potter missed 120 days of school. A copy of Ms. Potter's attendance records is enclosed.

19. Paragraph 18 above constituted incapacity on the part of Ms. Potter.

20. The conduct on the part of Ms. Potter in attending her responsibilities while under the influence of narcotic controlled dangerous substances in the presence of minor children, jeopardizing their safety and security, constitutes unbecoming conduct.

It is respectfully requested that the Little Egg Harbor Board of Education consider this supporting certification in determining whether to certify charges for tenure dismissal of Kerry A. Potter.

Respectfully submitted,

DENIAL RESPONSE TO ALLEGED CHARGES

To the Members of the Little Egg Harbor Board of Education:

My position to these allegations is twofold: the first is a lack of compliance to the notice and procedural provisions by the Board as well as defending the allegations against me. First, there is a complete breach of the standards to be followed. I enclose two fax transmissions from my attorney, Mr. Koy to Board attorney, Mr. Carr for clarification of same.

Notwithstanding the above, and I do not waive my rights regarding these procedural deficiencies. I provide my position as to the allegations against me in effort to have these charges nullified and to grant my return to the classroom.

In addition to the commentary herein, I include exhibits which substantiate my position attached hereto.

As to the allegations that I was excessively absent during the 2007-08 and 2008-09 school years, I at no time, was notified by administration that my job was in jeopardy. In fact, it was quite the contrary. As identified in Mr. Carr's no. 11, the Superintendent, Board President and Board Attorney placed me on administrative leave with pay. In no terms is this administrative leave disciplinary in nature.

Be advised that this had nothing to do with items no. 4 through 10, as these circumstances have never been conveyed to me. It is only now that I see these allegations. As a result thereto, I disavow any and all allegations as to student/staff/parental concerns. If there was a problem/concern, I am sure that I would have been notified of such. More specifically, as to no. 4, I do not have a case manager; only classified students do.

As to no. 7, this obviously is not true. Administration repeatedly, year in and year out reminds us that back to school night is not a time for conferences or individual discussions about students. We barely know the students two weeks into the school year; however, I never have or would turn a parent away if they had any concerns to discuss with me. As far as not being coherent and shuffling through papers is ridiculous.

As to no. 8, nothing was ever brought to my attention by Troy Henderson, Principal or anyone else.

Per no. 12, I did go for testing by Dr. Zaleski, and his report stands on its own merit, to which I do not agree. The subsequent medical reports clearly do not confirm Dr. Zaleski's conclusion that I will be required to use "potent narcotic analgesics" for pain control. One such report is a blood test from my physician, Dr. Bruce Coplin; the second is a urinalysis report scripted by Dr. Zaleski himself. These reports, especially that prescribed by Dr. Zaleski, confirm that I should be back teaching. The reports came back "negative" and I am bewildered why there is such a continued vendetta against me. I repeat, the contrived parental concerns have never been conveyed to me via words or writings. There is nothing of such in any communication to me or any of my observations/evaluations. For the Board to rely on these representations, with the evidence to be conveyed herein, would be a travesty.

As to no. 13, there was never an agreement of such with my former attorney. There were only non-conclusory dialogue back and forth, but never an agreement. No agreement has ever been provided to me by an administrator or anyone representing the district. There was never a mention of a psychiatric evaluation, nor was there any agreement of any kind. Again, for the Board to rely on these representations, with the evidence to be conveyed herein, would be a travesty.

As to no. 14, I did visit Dr. Zaleski again in July. The record shows that his conclusions in January and July are no longer current per the referenced testing results noted above. For the Board to disregard the current results, solely because they came out negative, would be most discriminatory. Again, it was Dr. Zaleski's scripted testing that I passed, as well as the one prescribed by Dr. Coplin.

Per no. 15, I have never attended my teaching duties under the influence of narcotic controlled dangerous substances. This has never been represented to me until now. Again, no oral or written notice whatsoever. If I was a "clear and present danger to myself and to the students" I am sure that there would be a written record of such. For the Board to rely on these representations, with no evidence of same and the evidence I convey herein, would be a travesty.

Per no. 16, I never failed to comply with any conveyed directive. The only time a psychological evaluation was ever mentioned, was on August 19, 2009, as Mr. Carr sent a letter stating, among other things that, "Based upon her conduct in returning to school and the observations made by parents and staff member, it will be necessary that she undergo a psychological evaluation as well. "Complaints by parents" are referenced in Mr. Carr's letter of August 24, 2009 and reiterates Plaintiff's "suspension" for 120 days. (See Exhibit G, to my Certification).

Needless to say, my attorney immediately confronted Mr. Carr with this new condition with no prior notice (See Exhibit H, to my Certification). Mr. Koy asked for "... the names of the parents and staff member (who complained), the date of the complaint, and the text of the complaint. Also, why Ms. Potter was not notified in any way, shape or form. Also, why there is no writing as to these instances in the form of progressive discipline, observations or performance appraisal.

It is noted that the Superintendent was questioned at the Board Meeting of October 7, 2009 as to why he did not notify me as to any alleged complaints. He simply stated, "It wasn't the time for that". Again, for the Board to rely on these representations, with the evidence to be conveyed herein, would be a travesty.

On September 5, 2009, Mr. Carr writes, that, "He (the Superintendent) has requested that a meeting take place among you (Mr. Koy), me, your client and Dr. Kasyan in the administration building to determine the next step in this saga." There was never a followup to this meeting request. Please remember that at the Board meeting, the Superintendent stated he never saw this letter, nor did Mr. Carr remember sending this. I ask the Board to review Exhibit K, to my Certification) for validation of same.

Lastly, on September 10, 2009, Mr. Carr ordered me to take a school designated screening at the National Safety Compliance, script to be provided by the Board's physician, Dr. Zaleski. On that fax transmission to Mr. Koy, Mr. Carr writes, "Bill, Please have Kerri do this so we can receive Dr. Zaleski's clearance" (See Exhibit M , appended hereto). The direction to me could not be any clearer. For the Board to rely on these representations, with the evidence to be conveyed herein, would be a travesty.

Per no. 17, it is obvious that I followed the direction of the Board and there was no insubordination.

Per no. 18, days missed, I was told that I was on leaves of absence and never had my job in jeopardy. As long as I would receive medical clearance, which I did, I could return to my teaching position, as I should. For the Board to rely on these representations, with the evidence to be conveyed herein, would be a travesty.

Per no. 19, nothing herein represents any incapacity on my part. I was never noticed of such allegations until I read them here. For the Board to rely on these representations, with the evidence to be conveyed herein, would be a travesty.

Per no. 20, a blatantly false statement, there is no unbecoming conduct on my part.

The Parties agree that the Board makes no representations or warranties regarding any tax issues relating to the lump sum payment provided for above, and acknowledge that she has not relied upon any advice from the Board concerning the taxability of the amounts to be paid under this Agreement. Releasor(s) therefore agrees, upon prompt presentation of any such claims and/or liens, to defend Releasees against any such claims and/or liens, and to indemnify and hold Releasees harmless against any judgment entered against Releasees based on such claims and/or liens, including the payment of any fines, charges and attorneys fees incurred as a result of any such lien. Failure to satisfy any such lien shall be considered a breach of this Agreement and Releasor(s) agree to pay all costs, interest and attorneys fees relative to any such lien."

This Release expressly reserves all rights of the person or persons on whose behalf the payment is made and the rights of all persons in privity or connected with them and reserves to them their right to pursue their legal remedies, if any, including but not limited to, claims for contribution, property damage and personal injury against the undersigned or those in privity or connected with the undersigned.

Petitioner filed a pro se residency appeal on behalf of her son in May 2011. A hearing at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) was scheduled for September 7, 2011, but petitioner failed to appear despite having received appropriate notice and provided no explanation for her nonappearance. No counterclaim was filed by the respondent Board.

There being no explanation filed for petitioner's nonappearance, the matter is no longer deemed to be a contested case before the Commissioner. Accordingly, the Commissioner dismissed the petition with prejudice.

Petitioner filed an appeal challenging the discipline imposed upon him for allegedly instigating a "swirly" incident, carried out by other students on a fellow high school hockey player. Specifically, the petitioner sought expungement from his record of a one-day out-of-school suspension, immediate reinstatement to the school's hockey team, and permanent and immediate removal from his school record of all disciplinary actions relative to the "swirly" incident. Petitioner filed a motion for emergent relief, which was denied. The matter was scheduled for a hearing on the merits at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on September 23, 2011, but petitioner and his counsel failed to appear. Counsel for respondent Board appeared at the hearing and requested that a final order be entered dismissing the petition.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: this matter had been pending in the OAL for more than six months and had been adjourned twice; petitioner received notice more than six weeks in advance of the scheduled hearing, yet failed to appear; counsel for petitioner provided a written explanation, namely that he did not want to appear because his request for an adjournment and his request to brief an issue – which may or may not have been raised at hearing – had been denied; this rationale for non-appearance does not rise to good cause to excuse the failure of either petitioner or counsel to appear; and the failure to appear in this case was intentional and deliberate. The ALJ concluded – pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1.1-14.4(c)2 – that, under the circumstances herein, there was no good cause for failure to appear. Accordingly, the Board's motion to dismiss the petition was granted.

Upon full review and consideration, the Commissioner agreed with the ALJ that this matter is appropriately dismissed. Accordingly, the recommended decision of the OAL was adopted for the reasons fully presented therein, and the petition was dismissed.

Record Closed: September 23, 2011 Decided: September 26, 2011

[1] Neither Mr. Farsiou nor petitioner, Richard J. Mancini, Jr., appeared at the hearing. Ms. Behn appeared for respondent.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On January 24, 2011, Richard J. Masini, Jr. (petitioner) filed a due process petition with the Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, seeking expungement from his record of a one-day out-of-school suspension; immediate reinstatement to the school's hockey team; and permanent and immediate removal from his school record of all disciplinary actions relative to a "swirly" incident.[2]

Petitioner also filed a request for emergent relief, seeking immediate return to the varsity hockey team pending resolution of the due process petition.

The Board of Education of the Hunterdon Central Regional High School, County of Hunterdon (respondent), opposed the request for emergent relief, contending that petitioner failed to satisfy the requirements for such relief. It also alleged that petitioner's due process rights were not violated and discipline was properly imposed by the school; that the petition should be dismissed and judgment entered in respondent's favor; and that counsel fees and costs should be awarded to it.

The petition and the request for emergent relief for reinstatement to the hockey team were transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on January 27, 2011, for determination as a contested case. The parties were advised that the emergent matter would be heard at the OAL on February 1, 2011.

At a telephone conference on January 31, 2011, petitioner advised that he had also filed a Verified Complaint and Order to Show Cause in the Superior Court, Law Division, Hunterdon County, under Docket No. L-49-11, which was scheduled to be heard on February 2, 2011, before the Honorable Peter A. Buchsbaum, J.S.C. Due to the matter pending in the Superior Court, the petition for emergent relief was rescheduled to the afternoon of February 4, 2011.[3]

[2] The gravamen of the underlying discipline concerned an incident involving three hockey players who gave another teammate a "swirly" [sticking the head in the toilet bowl and flushing] for violating a "team pact" to not cut their hair for a certain number of games, in which it is alleged that the petitioner, although not a direct participant, incited the others to action.

[3] The adjournment in the OAL was due to the postponement of the Order to Show Cause in the Superior Court to the morning of February 4, 2011, and to accommodate counsel's trial calendar.

On the morning of February 4, 2011, the Order to Show Cause was heard in the Superior Court. That afternoon, the parties appeared at the OAL and provided a copy of the order entered by Judge Buchsbaum denying plaintiff's (petitioner's) request for temporary restraints and for immediate reinstatement to the hockey team. The other claims set forth in petitioner's Verified Complaint remain pending in the Superior Court.

At the OAL hearing, respondent argued that the matter should be dismissed because, although the Commissioner of Education has primary jurisdiction, it is not the sole jurisdiction, and having chosen to proceed in Superior Court, petitioner was barred from re-litigating the same issue in the OAL. Petitioner argued that Judge Buchsbaum stated that he did not have primary jurisdiction but that the Commissioner and the OAL did, although the Commissioner's and the OAL's jurisdiction was not sole and exclusive. Therefore, the issue was not precluded from being heard in this forum.[4] Counsel also argued the matter on the merits.

The request for emergent relief was denied in the OAL by order dated February 7, 2011, which was adopted by the Acting Commissioner of Education on March 14, 2011. According to the Acting Commissioner, "petitioner – having chosen to assert his right to be heard on this emergent matter in Superior Court and having proceeded to a decision in that court – is precluded from re-litigating the identical issue at the OAL." The Acting Commissioner ordered that "[t]his case shall proceed at the OAL for such further proceedings as may be required to bring it to conclusion." The matter was scheduled for hearing on July 7, and August 2, 2011.[5]

On July 27, 2011, respondent filed a motion to dismiss the OAL claim filed by petitioner on the basis that the matter is presently docketed in the Superior Court, and, having chosen that forum, the petitioner is precluded from further litigation in the OAL. Petitioner responded by letter filed July 29, 2011, that he is seeking relief not available in the Superior Court, namely, expungement of his record, and that those issues remain pending in the OAL for ultimate determination by the Commissioner of Education. This

[4] Due to the emergent nature of the proceedings, no transcript of the Superior Court proceedings was provided.
[5] The July hearing date was adjourned due to the unavailability of the Board's witnesses during the summer recess. The August hearing date was adjourned and the matter rescheduled to September 23, 2011, at the request of petitioner who wanted additional time to respond to the motion.

motion was denied on August 23, 2011, as "the Commissioner of education has primary jurisdiction over student records and because the issue had not yet been decided [in Superior Court]." The matter was scheduled for hearing on September 23, 2011.

On September 20, 2011, petitioner requested an adjournment of the hearing date for two reasons: one, that he had had difficulty in communicating with his client for the past few weeks; and two, the mother of one of his witnesses had been going through cancer treatment, and another witness was away at college. Respondent objected to the adjournment and indicated that he had ten witnesses scheduled to appear, one of whom, former Superintendent Brady, had arranged his calendar to appear as he was coming from out-of-state.

A conference call was held at approximately 4:00 p.m. on September 23, 2011. Petitioner repeated his request for an adjournment. He acknowledged that his client had received notice of the hearing in sufficient time to be able to appear and was in the local area so no long distance travel was necessary. He said his client had not returned his calls and that there may be family issues. Petitioner was advised that this was not an acceptable reason for an adjournment. He was also advised that he need not be concerned about the availability of his witnesses as it was likely that none of them would be reached on the scheduled hearing date due to the number of respondent's witnesses. Moreover, the second date of hearing could be scheduled to accommodate his witnesses' schedules.

Also discussed whether the relief petitioner was seeking – namely the expungement of his school record, which purportedly included the one-day suspension, and a suspension from the hockey team -- was within the remedies this forum could entertain pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:32-7.1 and N.J.A.C. 6A:32-7.7, which concern student records and the conditions under which they can be supplemented, corrected or expunged, as well as the procedural process to follow when a student record is challenged.

Counsel then acknowledged that he did not know what was contained in the relevant school record of petitioner as he did not have a copy of it, but that he had previously been told that the record contained the disputed information. Counsel also requested an opportunity to brief the issue prior to the hearing and again stated he wanted to adjourn the matter. He was advised that not every issue needs to be briefed, and moreover, there would be adequate time to do that following the hearing if, indeed, it were an issue. Respondent was then ordered to provide a copy of the school record to petitioner by 11:00 a.m. on September 22, 2011, so counsel could review same and determine the nature of the material contained therein. He would then be able to ascertain whether to pursue his petition for relief. The request for an adjournment on the basis of additional briefs was denied and the hearing continued to be scheduled for September 23, 2011.

On September 22, 2011, petitioner faxed correspondence which was received on September 23, 2011.[6] In his letter, counsel stated:

> . . . Although I advised Your Honor of several issues which we believe warranted an adjournment of the hearing scheduled for September 23, 2011, you have denied our request. In addition, you advised that you were not sure if you had the authorization or jurisdiction to grant plaintiff's [petitioner's] request for relief, which is to have all disciplinary action stemming from the respective incident expunged. This is the first time we learned of this issue, and we do not agree with this position. . . . Due to this development, we requested permission to brief the issue, especially since defense counsel stated he intended to bring a motion at the hearing. Your Honor denied this request notwithstanding the fact that any such motion is dispositive.
> Based upon the above, we will not be appearing for the hearing on September 23, 2011. [Emphasis added.] If Your Honor is inclined to dismiss the case then we request a final order be entered.

Respondent replied with correspondence of the same date indicating that since counsel for the petitioner and the petitioner would not be appearing, he would not be producing his witnesses, and that he would request that a final order be entered dismissing the petition. Counsel from respondent's office appeared as scheduled on September 23, 2011, and renewed that application.

[6] Review of the correspondence was on September 23, 2011, as all administrative law judges were out of the office on September 22, 2011, for training.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

The issue presented is whether this matter should be dismissed for petitioner's and his counsel's failure to appear at the hearing scheduled on September 23, 2011.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9, the Commissioner of Education "shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine . . . all controversies and disputes arising under the school laws." The Commissioner's authority is plenary. Archway Programs, Inc. v. Pemberton Twp. Bd. of Educ., 352 N.J. Super. 420, 424 (App. Div. 2002). Under N.J.A.C. 6A:32-7.8, "[a] student record is considered to be incomplete and not subject to the provisions of the Destruction of Public Records Law, N.J.S.A. 47:3-15 et seq., while the student is enrolled in the school district" and "[s]tudent records of currently enrolled students . . . may be disposed of after the information is no longer necessary to provide educational services to a student."

A parent or adult student may challenge the student record and seek to expunge inaccurate, irrelevant or otherwise improper information; or to insert additional data and comments as to the meaning and/or accuracy of the records; or to request a stay on disclosure pending final determination of the challenge. N.J.A.C. 6A:32-7.7(a) – (d). Petitioner has the right to challenge the contents of his student record, to seek modification of same, and to place a statement in his record commenting upon the information contained therein.

In adopting the OAL decision denying emergent relief, the Acting Commissioner ordered that "[t]his case shall proceed at the OAL for such further proceedings as may be required to bring it to conclusion." The issues of expungement and modification of the school record were pled in petitioner's due process petition, and therefore further proceedings were necessary in the OAL to resolve these remaining issues. This does not mean, as petitioner's counsel would suggest, that such relief is automatic. Rather, petitioner must comply with the administrative code provisions concerning a challenge to the contents of student records.

This matter has been pending in this forum for more than six months and has been adjourned twice. Notice was provided more than six weeks ago of the hearing scheduled on September 23, 2011. Counsel for petitioner acknowledged his client had notice. No reasonable excuse has been provided for petitioner's failure to appear. Petitioner's response to a denial of his request for an adjournment was to ignore this forum and not to appear at all. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-3.3, "a case shall be returned to the transmitting agency by the Clerk . . . if, after appropriate notice, neither a party nor a representative of the party appears at a proceeding scheduled by the Clerk or a judge (see N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4)."

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4, "if, after appropriate notice, neither a party nor a representative appears at any proceeding scheduled by the Clerk or judge, the judge shall hold the matter for one day before taking any action. If the judge does not receive an explanation for the nonappearance within one day, the judge shall, unless proceeding pursuant to (d) below, direct the Clerk to return the matter to the transmitting agency for appropriate disposition pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-3.3(b) and (c)."

In this matter, petitioner had more than appropriate and sufficient notice of the scheduled hearing date yet failed to appear. Moreover, counsel for petitioner provided a written explanation for his failure to appear, namely, he did not want to appear because his request for an adjournment had been denied, and his request to brief an issue (which may or may not have even been raised at hearing) was denied. This does not rise to good cause to excuse the failure of either petitioner or counsel to appear. In fact, the failure to appear here was intentional and deliberate.

Accordingly, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4 (c)2, I CONCLUDE that, under the circumstances presented herein, there was no good cause for the failure to appear. Based upon petitioner's intentional failure to appear and pursue this matter, the motion to dismiss shall be granted.

ORDER

I hereby ORDER that the motion to dismiss the petition is GRANTED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

The record of this emergent matter, the sound recording of proceedings at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the recommended Order of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ – for the reasons set forth in the recommended Order – that petitioner has failed to demonstrate entitlement to emergent relief pursuant to Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982), and codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6. The Commissioner finds, however, that – pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.6(c)(1) and 6A:17-2.8(d) – where there is a dispute regarding homelessness, the homeless child shall be enrolled immediately in the school in which enrollment is sought until the disputed matter is resolved.

Accordingly, the Commissioner – subject to the rules cited herein – modifies the recommended Order of the OAL denying petitioner's application for emergent relief and orders the immediate enrollment of petitioner's children in the City of Burlington School District, pending a resolution on the merits herein. This matter shall continue at the OAL with such proceedings as the parties and ALJ deem necessary to bring it to closure.

TRENNANCE HARRIS,

Petitioners,

v.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF BURLINGTON and BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF BEVERLY, BURLINGTON COUNTY,

Respondent.

Trennance Harris, petitioner, pro se

Sharon D. Larmore, Esq., for respondent Board of Education of Burlington (Parker McCay, attorneys)

No appearance by or on behalf of Beverly Board of Education

BEFORE ELIA A. PELIOS, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Trennance Harris (petitioner) appeals Burlington City Board of Education's (respondent's) determination that she does not reside within the Burlington City district, and that as such her children should not be enrolled in the Burlington City schools.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On or about October 6, 2011, petitioners' petition of appeal was filed with the Office of Controversies and Disputes of the New Jersey Department of Education, along with a request for emergency relief seeking an order compelling respondent to enroll petitioner's three children. On October 7, 2011, the emergent matter was filed with the Office of Administrative Law for oral argument, which was held on October 13, 2011.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

Petitioner enrolled her three children, S.K., S.H., and S.H., all school aged, in the Burlington City Public Schools for the 2009-2010 and 2010-2011 school years. After conducting an independent investigation, respondent determined that the family did not reside in Burlington city and that the children were ineligible to attend Burlington City Schools. Petitioner appealed this decision and the district filed counterclaim seeking repayment of tuition.

On July 21, 2011, a hearing was scheduled in that matter at the Office of Administrative Law under OAL docket Number EDU 13213-10. At the hearing, petitioner provided testimony in which she acknowledged and admitted that at all relevant times she and her children resided in Beverly City and as such her children were never eligible to attend Burlington City Schools during the 2009-2010 and 2010-2011 school years. The Administrative Law Judge ordered the petitioner's appeal dismissed and the petitioner liable for $131,922 in tuition for the years in question (respondent's papers, Exhibit C).

That same day, the parties then entered into a signed settlement agreement whereby petitioner acknowledged and admitted the same facts regarding her residency and her children's eligibility. Petitioner agreed to immediately enroll her children in the Beverly City School District, and respondent agreed to not pursue repayment of the tuition so long as petitioner did not seek to reenroll her children in Burlington City Schools (respondent's papers, Exhibit D). The Administrative Law Judge then issued an initial decision approving the settlement agreement (respondent's papers, Exhibit E).

In September, 2011, petitioner again attempted to enroll her children in the Burlington City Schools. She Indicated that she and the children were homeless and in transition. The children were enrolled and the district performed another investigation. Respondent obtained a City of Beverly Landlord Registration (R-1) which lists petitioner and her children as occupants of 619 C___ Street Apartment _ in Beverly, NJ. On September 23, 2011 respondent requested that petitioner withdraw her children from the Burlington City Schools. (Certification of Craig H. Wilkie, School Business Administrator).

On September 29, 2011, Peggy Nicolosi, the Burlington County School Administrator, issued a determination that petitioner and her children are residents of Beverly City; that the children should be immediately enrolled in Beverly City Schools; and that Beverly City is responsible for the children's education (respondent's papers, Exhibit F). Petitioner appealed this decision by filing the underlying petition in the current matter and the emergent relief request currently at issue, seeking placement of her children in Burlington City schools pending the outcome of the due process proceeding.

The preceding statements are not in dispute and are hereby FOUND as FACT.

At the oral argument for the emergent relief application, petitioner testified that she is currently residing with her children in Burlington city, at the residence of her great grandmother and great aunt. She stated that this is a temporary situation while she tries to find permanent residence. She alternately stated that she vacated the premises in Beverly City around August 15, 2011 or in July, 2011. She was not evicted but her lease was expiring. Her landlord had indicated his intent to sell the property. Petitioner did not feel comfortable remaining in the apartment while realtors came through so she quit the premises and moved in with her relatives in Burlington. Petitioner argued that since she lived in Burlington it was respondent's responsibility to provide her children's education.

R.H., petitioner's mother, testified that petitioner's children would suffer irreparable harm if enrolled in Beverly during the pendency of the proceedings in that one of the children is in high school and would have to travel to Palmyra (Beverly students attend high school in Palmyra.) Citing the length of the commute as inflicting irreparable harm, R.H. testified that the Commute from Burlington to Palmyra would take thirty minutes while the commute from Beverly to Palmyra is a twenty minute commute.

Craig Wilkie, School Business Administrator/Board Secretary for the respondent, testified as to the chronology outlined in his certification. He indicated that petitioner was provided with the appropriate paperwork for a family in transition and her children enrolled pending a due diligence investigation. With reference to the Landlord Certification (R-1), Wilkie noted that Michael Thompson of the Beverly Housing Department noted on the form that an inspection was conducted on September 21, 2011 wherein petitioner's occupancy of the premises was verified.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The standards which must be met by the moving party in an application for emergent relief in a matter concerning a special needs child are embodied in N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.6 and Crowe v. DeGoia, 90 N.J. 126, 132-34 (1982). Emergency relief may only be granted if the judge determines that:

1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the relief is not granted;

2. The legal right underlying the petitioner's claim is settled;
3. The petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and
4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

The petitioner must satisfy all four prongs of the Crowe test.

Petitioner argues there will be irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted due to the length of the commute to school for one of the children to Palmyra. By petitioner's witness's testimony, this would be a commute ten minutes longer in duration than that of a student residing in Beverly and attending High School in Palmyra. While this could conceivably present some inconvenience, a thirty minute commute hardly constitutes irreparable harm. In any event, whether at Beverly or at Burlington, which respondent notes are contiguous communities, educational services would be available and provided to the children during the pendency of these proceedings. As such, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has failed to demonstrate that irreparable harm will be suffered if emergent relief is not granted.

As respondent notes petitioner has not provided a piece of documentary evidence that she has vacated Beverly City and is in fact living in Burlington. She has only offered her own testimony to that fact. Given that she signed an agreement in July, 2011 wherein she admitted that she enrolled her children in Burlington City while residing in Beverly City, her credibility can certainly be called into question as to this issue. As such, petitioner's testimony on this matter is not by itself sufficient to overcome the documentary evidence provided by respondent verifying her residence in Beverly pursuant to an inspection of the premises on September 21, 2011.

Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has not demonstrated a likelihood of success on the merits of the underlying claim. A full plenary hearing is likely necessary to ascertain the underlying facts before the full merits of their claim can be determined.

The petitioners' request for emergency relief is DENIED.

DECISION AND ORDER

For the foregoing reasons, I CONCLUDE that petitioners are not entitled to the requested emergent relief and that the Petitioners' request for emergency relief is DENIED.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who/which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five days following the entry of this order. If Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

The record of this emergent matter, the sound recording of proceedings at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the recommended Order of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ – for the reasons set forth in the recommended Order – that petitioner has failed to demonstrate entitlement to emergent relief pursuant to Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982), and codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6.

Accordingly, the recommended Order of the OAL denying petitioner's application for emergent relief is adopted for the reasons expressed therein. This matter shall continue at the OAL with such proceedings as the parties and ALJ deem necessary to bring it to closure.

IT IS SO ORDERED.*

REMOND PALMER,
Petitioner,
v.
NEW JERSEY DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, CRIMINAL HISTORY REVIEW UNIT,
Respondent.

Ronald J. Ricci, Esq, for petitioner (Ricci and Fava, LLC, attorneys)

Daniel F. Dryzga, Jr., DAG., for respondent (Paula T. Dow, Attorney General of New Jersey, attorney)

BEFORE JOHN R. FUTEY, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

In this matter, petitioner, Remond Palmer (hereinafter "petitioner") seeks emergent relief in which he challenges the August 22, 2011, finding of respondent, the New Jersey Department of Education, Criminal History Review Unit (hereinafter "respondent" or the "Department"), in which it determined that petitioner was disqualified from serving on the Asbury Park Board of Education (hereinafter the "Board") because of a prior criminal conviction in South Carolina from which he received a pardon.

On September 19, 2011, the Office of Controversies and Disputes within the Department of Education ("Department") received a verified petition from the petitioner challenging the finding of the respondent and alleging that it failed to properly consider the South Carolina pardon granted to the petitioner. The Department also received a motion for emergent relief with accompanying brief from the petitioner for an order enjoining respondent's decision of August 22, 2011, wherein respondent disqualified the petitioner from further service on the Asbury Park School Board. The matter was transmitted without an answer to the Office of Administrative Law (hereinafter "OAL") on September 23, 2011. A response from the Department was received on September 27, 2011. The matter was argued at an emergent relief hearing on September 29, 2011. The hearing record closed for purposes of emergent relief at that time and this order is issued pursuant thereto.

FACTS

Based upon the information supplied by the parties and argument received at the emergent relief hearing, the following constitute the relevant facts adduced in this matter. Petitioner was convicted of possession of cocaine in the State of South Carolina on November 27, 1989. He was 21 years old at the time. He received a suspended sentence with a two (2) year probation and $2,000 fine. On January 11, 2002, petitioner received a pardon regarding the conviction from the South Carolina Board of Probation, Parole, and Pardon Services. Petitioner has served as a member of the Asbury Park Board of Education since being elected in April 2010.

On May 26, 2011, New Jersey Governor Chris Christie signed into law a requirement that all current (emphasis added) and future members of boards of education must undergo criminal history background investigations to determine if they have been convicted of certain criminal acts that would disqualify them from serving as a member of a school board. (emphasis added.) N.J.S.A. 18A:12-1.2. Pursuant to this statute, the respondent conducted an investigation of petitioner. On August 22, 2011, the respondent notified petitioner that he was permanently disqualified from serving on a school board because of the criminal conviction from South Carolina, and notwithstanding his procurement of a pardon there.

Petitioner seeks emergent relief to stay his removal from the school board pending his appeal on the basis that his pardon serves to preclude any legal liability as a result of the conviction.

Separate from the case at hand, the petitioner also has had another appeal pending involving his disqualification for employment as a substitute teacher, under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1, after a criminal background check by the respondent identified the same conviction at issue. In that case, the petitioner similarly argued that the pardon precludes any liability for the conviction. ALJ John Schuster upheld the respondent's action in disqualifying the petitioner as a substitute teacher. Palmer v. New Jersey Department of Education, Criminal History Review Unit, EDU 4145-09, Initial Decision, (November 30, 2009), <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/html/initial/edu4145-09_1.html>, adopted, Comm'r. (January 12, 2010), <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>.

On April 28, 2011, while pending appeal of that matter to the New Jersey Appellate Division, the Department of Education ordered a remand of EDU 4145-09 for the purpose of re-examining its interpretation of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 as it relates to the pardon in question. On September 22, 2011, the Department, after further review, reaffirmed its January 12, 2010, decision that the pardon from South Carolina did not eliminate the record of conviction and petitioner was disqualified from working as a substitute teacher under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1. Palmer v. New Jersey Department of Education, Criminal History Review Unit, EDU 4145-09, revised, Comm'r. (September 22, 2011), <http://www.nj.gov/education/legal/commissioner/2011/sep/395-11R.pdf>. Since that record of conviction was not expunged, it triggered N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 and barred petitioner from employment in New Jersey schools. Ibid.

DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

In order to obtain emergency relief the requesting party must show that without relief there will be irreparable harm, that the legal right underlying the claim is settled, that the material facts are uncontroverted and there is a reasonable probability of ultimate success on the merits. The relative hardship to the parties in granting or denying relief must also be considered.

N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6 provides the standard for granting emergent relief for controversies subject to the Commissioner of Education's jurisdiction:

> (b) A motion for a stay or emergent relief shall be accompanied by a letter memorandum or brief which shall address the following standards to be met for granting such relief pursuant to Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982):
>
> 1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted;
>
> 2. The legal right underlying petitioner's claim is settled;
>
> 3. The petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and
> 4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

Petitioner must meet all four criteria to prevail on this motion. See Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982); DEC Electric, Inc. v. Bd. of Educ. of the S. Gloucester County Reg'l High Sch. Dist. and USA Elec. Contractors, Inc., 96 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 789, 790 (citing DEC Electric, Inc. v. S. Gloucester County Reg'l High Sch. Dist. Bd. of Educ. and USA Elec. Contractors, Inc., EDU 10833-95, Order Denying Emergent Relief (Dec. 6, 1995) adopted, Comm'r (Dec. 26, 1995) (denied unsuccessful bidder's request for emergent relief because it was unable to establish that it would suffer immediate and irreparable harm, although it was able to establish a reasonable likelihood of success on the merits and that the parties opposing the motion would not suffer undue harm). The moving party bears the burden of proving each of the elements for emergent relief "clearly and convincingly". Waste Mgmt of N.J. v. Union County Util. Auth., 399 N.J. Super. 508, 520 (App. Div. 2008).

Based upon the foregoing and after having considered all of the arguments advanced as set forth more fully below, the petitioner's motion for emergent relief must be DENIED because he fails to satisfy the elements required under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6. Specifically, he has not shown irreparable harm, nor that the law concerning pardoned convictions is well settled in his favor, nor a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of his claim, nor that, on balance, he will suffer greater harm than will respondent if his relief is not granted. Those elements are considered henceforth.

A. There must be irreparable harm to the petitioner for emergent relief to be warranted.

One of the principles for injunctive relief is that relief should only be ordered to prevent irreparable harm to the petitioner. Crowe v. DeGioia, supra, 90 N.J. at 132-332. Further, harm is irreparable when it cannot be addressed with monetary damages. Ibid. This standard contemplates that the harm also be both substantial and immediate. Subcarrier Communications, Inc. v. Day, 299 N.J. Super. 634, 638 (App. Div. 1997). Furthermore, courts have held that speculation cannot prove irreparable harm. Peregoy v. Peregoy, 358 N.J. Super. 179, 183 (App. Div. 2003). In discussing an allegation of irreparable harm made by the defendant in his application for emergent relief, the court said that "concerns that 'may' lead to irreparable harm are not enough." Id. at 203. Speculation and opinions about possible harm, absent direct evidence, were not sufficient to show irreparable harm. Id. at 203-4.

In the present case, the facts set forth in the petitioner's motion do not identify any specific or irreparable harm that he will incur if emergency relief is denied. The petitioner stated in his motion that the Monmouth County Superintendant was, at the time of the filing of that motion, already receiving resumes and planning to interview for petitioner's replacement. Subsequently, at the hearing on this motion, petitioner informed this tribunal that the Superintendant has already and actually selected a replacement and attempted to install the replacement at a Board meeting on September 28, 2011, which was one day before the oral argument on this motion.

However, there has been no evidence presented to demonstrate how this action will actually harm the petitioner, much less in any substantial or immediate way. Recognizing that school board members serve in a volunteer capacity, the petitioner will not suffer any adverse employment loss from this decision. Further, should there be any incidental income loss, that is exactly the type that can be redressed by monetary damages. Therefore, while the petitioner may be inconvenienced, he has failed to establish irreparable harm and does not meet the first prong for emergent relief required under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6. And I so FIND.

B. The legal right underlying the petitioner's claim must be settled for emergent relief to be warranted.

The second principle for emergent relief is that temporary relief should only be issued when the legal right essential to the petitioner's claim is settled. Crowe v. De Gioia, supra, 90 N.J. at 133. In that regard, New Jersey case law clearly demonstrates that a pardon is treated differently from expungement. Therefore, and based upon the following, the petitioner has failed to show clear legal evidence supporting his claim that a pardon should equal an expungement and prevent application of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-1.2. Expungement is a legislatively authorized remedy, expressly limited to certain prescribed criminal, quasi-criminal, juvenile and other enumerated offenses. N.J.S.A. 2C:52-2 to -6. For many purposes, once an offense has been expunged, it is deemed not to have occurred. N.J.S.A. 2C:52-27. Thus, unlike a pardon, the expungement will erase the record of a conviction.

In any case, in both South Carolina and New Jersey, a pardon does not equal an expungement. Opinion of South Carolina Attorney General, 1996 S.C. AG LEXIS 75 ("This Office has frequently recognized ... that a conviction is not expunged by virtue of a pardon."); Storcella v. State, Dept. of Treasury, Div. of State Lottery, 296 N.J. Super. 238, 243 (App.Div. 1997) ("A pardon relieves the guilty person from the burden of the crimes forgiven so that the legal disabilities attendant upon the convictions are removed. A pardoned person is restored to all rights of citizenship, and may vote, and may serve on a jury, but not all consequences of the conviction are erased by the pardon.") (internal citations omitted).

As a general rule, an "expungement" is the process of legally destroying, obliterating or striking out records or data in files, computers and other depositories relating to criminal charges. (http://definitions.uslegal.com/e/expungement/). Its availability and requirements are determined by the states, thus the effect of an expungement is not functionally equivalent from state to state. South Carolina's legislature has restricted and determined the availability of an expungement to the following specific circumstances:

1. Simple Possession of Marijuana: Any person who has been sentenced to a "Conditional Discharge" for their first offense of simple possession of marijuana, may, upon completion of the sentencing requirements, apply to the court for an order to expunge from all official records all information relating to his arrest, indictment, trial, finding of guilty, and dismissal and discharge pursuant to this section. S.C. Code Ann. § 44-53-450(a). No person as to whom such order has been entered shall be held thereafter under any provision of any law to be guilty of perjury or otherwise giving a false statement by reason of his failures to recite or acknowledge such arrest, or indictment or information, or trial in response to any inquiry made of him for any purpose. Ibid.

2. Successful Completion of Pre-Trial Intervention: Pre-trial Intervention is a diversion program for first-time non-violent criminal offenders. Participants are required to perform, among other things, community restitution and make monetary restitution to their victims. Upon successful completion, the offender may apply to the court for "an order to destroy all official records relating to his arrest and no evidence of the records pertaining to the charge may be retained by any municipal, county, or state entity". S.C. Code Ann. § 17-22-150(a). The effect of the order is "to restore the person, in the contemplation of the law, to the status he occupied before the arrest. Ibid. "No person as to whom the order has been entered may be held thereafter under any provision of any law to be guilty of perjury or otherwise giving a false statement by reason of his failure to recite or acknowledge the arrest in response to any inquiry made of him for any purpose." Ibid.

3. Magistrate Court Offenses: Records of first offense convictions in magistrate or municipal court may be expunged if no other conviction for 3 or 5 years. S.C. Code Ann. §§ 22-5-910, 34-11-90.

4. Fraudulent Checks: After a first offense conviction of fraudulent intent in drawing check, draft or other written order, the defendant may, after one year from the date of the conviction, apply, or cause someone acting on his behalf to apply, to the court for an order expunging the records of the arrest and conviction. S.C. Code Ann. § 34-11-90(e).

5. Dismissal or Non Conviction of Offense: If charges dismissed or person found not guilty, all records must be destroyed and "no evidence of such record pertaining to such charge shall be retained by any municipal, county or State law enforcement agency". S.C. Code Ann. § 17-1-40.

6. Failure to Stop: Records of first misdemeanor offense for failure to stop for a blue light may be expunged if no other conviction for 3 years. S.C. Code Ann. § 56-5-750.

As a general rule, a "pardon" is the process to forgive an individual of the legal consequences of a crime. (http://definitions.uslegal.com/p/pardon/). In South Carolina, the governor has authority to grant reprieves and commute death sentences, but all other clemency authority (i.e. "pardon") is vested by statute in the Probation, Parole, and Pardon Board. S.C. Const. Art. IV, § 14; S.C. Code Ann. § 24-21-920. (Transferred by constitutional amendment from Governor in 1949.)

"'Pardon' means that an individual is fully pardoned from all the legal consequences of his crime and of his conviction, direct and collateral, including the punishment, whether of imprisonment, pecuniary penalty or whatever else the law has provided." S.C. Code Ann. § 24-21-940. A pardon shall fully restore all civil rights lost as a result of a conviction, including but not limited to the right to:

(1) register to vote;
(2) vote;
(3) serve on a jury;

(4) hold public office, except as provided [by law];
(5) testify without having the fact of his conviction introduced for impeachment purposes to the extent provided by Rule 609(c) of the South Carolina Rules of Evidence;
(6) not have his testimony excluded in a legal proceeding if convicted of perjury; and
(7) be licensed for any occupation requiring a license.

[S.C. Code Ann. § 24-21-990.]

In South Carolina, it is settled law that a pardon does not expunge a criminal record. State v. Baucom, 334 S.C. 371, 378 (S.C. Ct. App. 1999)

> "Since the very essence of a pardon is forgiveness or remission of penalty, assessed on the basis of the conviction of the offender, a pardon implies guilt. ... It does not obliterate the fact of the commission of the crime and the conviction thereof, nor does it 'wash out the moral stain'. Thus, a pardon involves forgiveness and not forgetfulness. The 'ambit of the pardons statute must be confined to a restoration of civil rights; it cannot have the effect of eliminating consideration of a prior conviction in a subsequent judicial proceeding'."
> [Ibid. (internal citations omitted).]

See also the opinion of South Carolina Attorney General: ("This Office has frequently recognized this general doctrine in determining that a conviction is not expunged by virtue of a pardon." 1996 S.C. AG LEXIS 75.)

Like South Carolina, a pardon in New Jersey does not equal an expungement. Storcella v. State, Dept. of Treasury, Div. of State Lottery, 296 N.J. Super. 238, 243 (App.Div. 1997) ("A pardon is a matter of executive grace. A pardon relieves the guilty person from the burden of the crimes forgiven so that the legal disabilities attendant upon the convictions are removed. A pardoned person is restored to all rights of citizenship, and may vote, and may serve on a jury, but not all consequences of the conviction are erased by the pardon.") (internal citations omitted). New Jersey has also clearly delineated laws, relevant to this matter, which prohibit individuals who possess certain types of convictions from either working in or serving on a school board in a school environment. This is not at all dissimilar to the above-cited South Carolina law, which allows one, even under a pardon, to hold public office, except as otherwise provided by law.

At the same time it is important to note that, unlike South Carolina, New Jersey does not operate a Board of Pardons. Instead the power to pardon is vested solely in the Governor, except in cases of treason and impeachment. N.J. Const. Art 5, § 2, cl.1[1]. The Constitution allows for the creation of a commission to assist and advise the governor on pardons, but no such single-purpose panel exists as it does in South Carolina. The Governor may also act to restore civil and all other rights, except the right to hold office. N.J.S.A. 2A:167-5.

As noted here in above, under N.J.S.A. 18A:12-1.2, the presence of a conviction for an enumerated offense identified during a criminal history record check disqualifies one from holding the office of member of a school board. N.J.S.A. 18A:12-1.2. That law is clear. Among the enumerated offenses is any "offense involving the manufacture, transportation, sale, possession, distribution or habitual use of a 'controlled dangerous substance'". N.J.S.A. 18A:12-1. Cocaine is a controlled dangerous substance. N.J.S.A. 24:21-6. As agreed to herein, Petitioner was convicted of possession of cocaine. Since this conviction has not been expunged, it remains on his record and the plain language of the statute warrants petitioner's disqualification. And I so FIND. At a minimum, the petitioner has also not shown well settled law that the pardon by South Carolina should equate to an expungement and prevent the Department from enforcing N.J.S.A. 18A:12-1.2.

It is further noted that South Carolina treats the pardon process as an integral part of their criminal justice process by issuing a substantial number of pardons each year and granting a high percentage of the applications filed. http://www.pardonlaw.com/materials/HireArticlesI-IV.5.10.pdf. It was represented at hearing that it confers pardons in approximately 60% of its reviewed matters. However, the pardon does not remove the fact or the record of a conviction, but merely restores to the defendant his civil rights. S.C. Code Ann. § 24-21-990. At the same time, the pardon does not seal, erase, or expunge the conviction from an individual's criminal record. When applying for a job or license, an individual may indicate on the application that he was pardoned of a particular crime, but he cannot deny that he was convicted of the crime because the conviction will still appear on a criminal history background check. South Carolina has no standard prohibiting employment discrimination by public or private employers based on a conviction record.

[1] Under the 1844 Constitution, a court of pardons consisting of the Governor, the Chancellor, and six judges of the court of appeals, had authority to issue pardons. See In re Court of Pardons, 129 A. 624 (N.J. Pardons 1925). The power was placed with the Governor alone in the 1947 Constitution.

On the other hand, and despite the urgings and representations of petitioner's counsel at the emergent relief hearing in which he stated that it does not have an expungement law, South Carolina legislature has determined that expungement is nonetheless actually available in certain enumerated situations. S.C. Code Ann. § 34-11-90(e) (first offense misdemeanor fraudulent check); S.C. Code Ann. § 44-53-450(b) (conditional discharge for simple possession of marijuana or hashish); S.C. Code Ann. § 22-5-910 (first offense conviction in magistrates court); S.C. Code Ann. § 22-5-920 (youthful offender act); S.C. Code Ann. § 56-5-750(f) (first offense failure to stop when signaled by law enforcement vehicle); S.C. Code Ann. § 17-22-150(a) & 530(a) (pretrial intervention); S.C. Code Ann. § 17-1-40 (dismissal or non conviction of offense). By defining and limiting expungement to such narrow situations, the South Carolina legislature has clearly shown that it does not want criminal convictions to be broadly erased. It is noted that possession of cocaine is not one of them, which prohibition is consistent with New Jersey. At the same time, it can be reasonably inferred there from that South Carolina has made a deliberate and conscientious evaluation of expungement and has applied it to reflect its unique preferences and legislative mandates within that state. While demonstrating a desire to restore civil rights through the pardon process, that legislature has presumptively also protected the ability of public and private entities to discover and act upon an individual's criminal history by limiting the availability of expungement. Accordingly, in order to provide due respect and credit to those laws of South Carolina, this tribunal shall not contradict the intent of its legislature by equating a pardon with an expungement. To do so would impart upon the petitioner a benefit in New Jersey that he could not receive in South Carolina and for which the South Carolina legislature has clearly indicated it does not want to confer. Equally importantly, however, and in any case, South Carolina law is nonetheless in accord with New Jersey law which states that a pardon does not remove a record of a conviction. Storcella v. State, Dept. of Treasury, Div. of State Lottery, 296 N.J. Super. 238, 243 (App.Div. 1997).

C. Petitioner must have a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim for emergent relief to be warranted.

The third principle for emergent relief requires that all material facts are uncontroverted and that for a party to get relief he "must make a preliminary showing of a reasonable probability of ultimate success on the merits." Crowe v. De Gioia, supra, 90 N.J. at 133. The most difficult requirement for the moving party to establish or in order to show entitlement to emergency relief is this third factor. In order to prevail on one's application for emergency relief, the party requesting the relief must make a preliminary showing of a reasonable probability of ultimate success on the merits. If the point of emergency relief is to maintain the parties in substantially the same condition at the final decision as when this matter began, it must be established by the moving party that it will probably win on the merits. It is with respect to this that petitioner has great difficulty. Petitioner must show that respondent's actions in this matter are arbitrary and capricious and unreasonable. This he has failed to do for the reasons stated herein.

The facts are uncontroverted and both parties acknowledge that petitioner was previously a duly elected member of the Asbury Park Board of Education and that he has a criminal conviction from South Carolina for which he has received the subject pardon. However, in light of the Department's reaffirmation on September 22, 2011 of Judge Schuster's initial decision that the criminal conviction disqualifies the petitioner under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 from working in any school in New Jersey (and that the instant board of education law mirrors that law) Palmer cannot show the reasonable probability that he will have success in this case since the legislative intent in protecting children in both settings is identical.

The respondent determined that petitioner was disqualified from serving on the school board under N.J.S.A. 18A:12-1.2. Once again, this statute is virtually a mirror image of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1, which applies to school employees and volunteers while N.J.S.A. 18A:12-1.2 applies to school board members. Both statutes list possession of a 'controlled dangerous substance' as a disqualifying conviction. Thus, based upon the denial of petitioner's substitute teacher license, and without contrary appellate guidance, petitioner cannot make a preliminary showing of a reasonable probability of ultimate success on the merits in this case.

D. Emergent relief is only warranted when the equities and interests of the parties are balanced and the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

The last test to be considered in determining whether to issue emergency relief is the "relative hardship to the parties in granting or denying relief." Crowe v. De Gioia, supra, 90 N.J. at 134. Here, when one balances the equities, I FIND that the respondent's need to limit the contact and influence that individuals with criminal convictions have with school-aged children outweighs the petitioner's desire to continue to serve on the Asbury Park School Board. By contrast, any harm to the petitioner is compensable with monetary damages subject to a showing by him of such actual damages, if any at all. Further, the petitioner's argument that the will of the electorate will be frustrated ignores the fact that the electorate will continue to be served by the elected school board. The electorate can address any dissatisfaction with future school board actions in the next election and further provided that the candidates comply with all appropriate state law regarding their legal ability and qualification in that regard. In the mean time, the respondent's interest in protecting the public and school children in Asbury Park outweighs any interest that petitioner has in serving on the board. Further, any argument about lack of equal protection must also fail since New Jersey and South Carolina have made deliberate and specific determinations regarding the impact of the pardon process and the expungement process in their respective jurisdictions. The fact that one state treats the "forgiving" (ie. pardon) process and expungement options differently does not create an unequal treatment under the law. New Jersey cannot dictate South Carolina law, and, importantly, neither can South Carolina do it in reverse.

And, in any case, they both exclude possession of cocaine from their individual expungement processes.

CONCLUSION AND ORDER

Based upon the foregoing and after having considered all the arguments advanced as well as the proofs offered by both sides, I therefore FIND and CONCLUDE that the right underlying petitioner's claim is clearly settled against the petitioner's position, thereby foreclosing any need for any more deliberative administrative proceeding at this level. He has not shown irreparable harm, nor that the law concerning pardoned convictions is well settled in his favor, nor that there is a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of his claim, nor that on balance he will suffer greater harm than shall the respondent. I also FIND and CONCLUDE that petitioner has failed to establish the right to relief and has failed to show that the action of respondent is arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable, this having occurred after having given petitioner all due deference and a full and a complete opportunity to present such arguments at the emergent relief hearing.

In view of the fact that petitioner has failed to establish the requirements for emergency relief, I CONCLUDE that petitioner's request must be DENIED.

I have made all these above findings and have formed all of these conclusions by a preponderance of the credible evidence.

Based upon the foregoing, it is hereby ORDERED that petitioner's request for emergency relief is DENIED. Any action by respondent against him in this matter shall not be stayed. It is so ORDERED.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISIONER OF EDUCATION who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five (45) days following the entry of this order. If the COMMISIONER OF EDUCATION does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five (45) days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

JOHN R. FUTEY, ALJ

#451-11

SYNOPSIS

Petitioning school district certified four tenure charges against respondent – a tenured custodian – alleging neglect, misbehavior and other offense including insubordination and chronic absenteeism. These charges stem from the Board's contentions that respondent: frequently left early or missed work without properly reporting his absence; was on two occasions found to be asleep on the job; and was frequently absent from his position. The Board sought to terminate petitioner's tenured employment. Petitioner acknowledged absences that he contended were legitimate, but denied all of the Board's allegations and asserted that no disciplinary action was warranted.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: for a Board to remove a tenured custodian, a showing must be made of the harm the employee's poor performance has had on the provision of a thorough and efficient education in adequately equipped, sanitary and secure facilities; additionally, the Board must show that the tenured custodian was adequately warned and failed to correct the unacceptable attendance and/or behaviors; in the instant case, the Board has produced sufficient evidence to support all four of the tenure charges; specifically, respondent repeatedly failed to follow procedures related to requesting and reporting time off, was twice caught sleeping on the job, and was chronically absent, and this conduct amounted to an ongoing pattern of misbehavior and neglect; however, the Board failed to provide timely warning to respondent that he needed to improve his attendance patterns; and respondent's unacceptable performance was not generally a significant problem for the overall safety and security of the school. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that the appropriate penalty in this matter is not termination, but rather a suspension of six months and the withholding of any salary increment to which respondent would otherwise be entitled.

Upon careful review and consideration, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's finding that the tenure charges are supported by the record, but disagreed regarding the penalty to be imposed. The Commissioner concluded that: respondent had reason to be aware of the district's required rules and procedures, and the expectations of his supervisors, but persisted in rejecting them; there is no statutory mandate in tenure matters to impose progressive discipline; and the record is sufficient to support respondent's dismissal from employment. Accordingly, the tenure charges were affirmed, and the respondent was dismissed from his employment as of the date of this decision.

OAL DKT. NO. EDU 1839-11

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE HEARING OF DONALD DUDLEY, SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE TOWNSHIP OF NEPTUNE, MONMOUTH COUNTY.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION DECISION

Four separate charges against respondent Donald Dudley, a tenured custodian in petitioner's district, are at issue in the instant tenure matter: 1) failure to follow attendance and reporting procedures, 2) sleeping on the job, 3) chronic absenteeism, and 4) persistent pattern of neglect, misbehavior and other offenses. Upon careful review of the record, Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the parties' exceptions – which contain arguments similar to those contained in the post-hearing briefs – the Commissioner concludes that the record supports the charges.

As to CHARGE I, concerning attendance and reporting procedures, the Commissioner agrees with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) that the record supported the following facts: 1) respondent left work early on October 27, 2007 without reporting same to the appropriate supervisor; 2) respondent took June 21, 2010 off without reporting the absence to the appropriate supervisor or AESOP (the automated system that enters absences into the district's payroll records and calls substitute custodians to replace the absentees); 3) respondent left early on August 13, 2010 without contacting the appropriate supervisor or AESOP; 4) respondent took August 19, 2010 off without reporting the absence to the appropriate supervisor or AESOP; 5) respondent left early on August 24, 2010 without reporting to the appropriate supervisor or AESOP; 6) respondent took August 27, 2010 off without reporting to AESOP; 7) respondent left early on September 9, 2010 without notifying the supervisor or AESOP; and 8) respondent applied for and took vacation without having received approval for the week before the opening of the 2010-2011 school year – a period of time where vacation is prohibited under the terms of the applicable collective bargaining agreement.

In addition to the foregoing, the Commissioner finds that respondent signed in but could not be found in petitioner's high school on two occasions during the week that included March 12, 2004. A business record, P-2, was presented memorializing the incidents. The business record was signed by the high school building principal, whose signature was identified by respondent's custodial supervisor, Donald Frangipane, who was familiar with same. (T20)[1] Under New Jersey's rules of evidence, bona fide business records may be regarded as exceptions to the hearsay rule. N.J.R.E. 803 (c) (6). Further, under the rules of evidence, a writing/signature may be authenticated by one who is not the signator, but is familiar with the signature. See, N.J.R.E. 903.

In summary, and particularly in light of the fact that the rate of respondent's reporting infractions increased in August and September of 2010, the Commissioner upholds CHARGE I.

As to CHARGE II, the charge that respondent slept on the job on two separate occasions (November 2, 2007 and January 27, 2010), the Commissioner agrees with the ALJ that the underlying facts are virtually undisputed. The charge is upheld.

As to CHARGE III concerning absenteeism, a review of the record reveals that the dates of absences identified in the charge are largely accurate. What remains to be evaluated is whether said absenteeism warrants discipline.

As the ALJ noted, excessive absenteeism may constitute sufficient independent grounds for the removal or suspension of a tenured employee. Passaic Bd. of Ed. v. Viani, 92 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 76. In fact, chronic or excessive absenteeism may warrant removal even when the sick leave is taken for legitimate medical or health reasons. State-Operated School District of Jersey City v. Pellechio, 92 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 269; In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Marsden, OAL Docket Number EDU 1188-84; Kelsey v. Board of Education of the City of Trenton, Mercer County, 1989 SLD 1622. Excessive absenteeism may also be found to constitute incapacity, unbecoming conduct, and other just cause for removal. Ibid.

A custodian is not held to the same attendance requirements as a teacher. Passaic Bd. of Ed. v. Viani, supra, 92 *N.J.A.R.*2d 76. Nevertheless, a school custodian holds a position of trust and responsibility requiring high standards of dependability. In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Joseph McDougall, 1974 S.L.D. 170. Regular attendance is essential because repeated absences may make it difficult to keep the building clean and possibly jeopardize the health and safety of the students and staff members of the school. State-Operated School District of Paterson v. Watson, 93 *N.J.A.R.*2d (EDU) 362.

The point at which absenteeism is so chronic as to warrant dismissal falls within the prerogative and discretionary authority of the local board of education, subject to review pursuant to the Commissioner's general authority to hear and determine controversies and disputes arising under the school laws. In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Sheets, 1980 S.L.D. 1536, rev'g 1979 S.L.D. 790. The nature of any warnings given to an employee and any corrective action taken by the board, as well as the reasons for the absences, are relevant to the question of whether discipline should be imposed. Passaic Bd. of Ed. v. Viani, supra, 92 *N.J.A.R.*2d 76. There must also be a showing of the harm the custodial employee's absences have had on the provision of a thorough and efficient education. Ibid. And, as the ALJ noted, the coupling of absenteeism with other significant problems has served as a basis for dismissal. See, e.g., In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Fabio Jiminez, Woodbridge Township School District, Middlesex County, Commissioner Decision No. 123-10 (March 8, 2010).

Application of the foregoing principles to respondent's record of absences reveals factors that mitigate both for and against discipline. On the one hand, many of the absences appeared to be for medical reasons, including an August 2010 work-related injury. (R-14) On the other hand, head custodian William Jenkins and custodian Gregory Bacon testified that Dudley's many absences – especially when no substitute materialized – had a significant negative impact on the rest of the staff and the cleanliness of the building. (3T156-57; 3T183; 3T186-87) The ALJ noted that there were a limited number of exhibits memorializing advice or warnings to respondent about his general absenteeism. However, the record does include evaluations from 2006 and 2008 which memorialized dissatisfaction with respondent's attendance, as well as many instructional memoranda and written and verbal warnings issued to respondent about absences in the second half of his shift. Those notices and warnings did not appear to ultimately curb respondent's absenteeism – which included half days as well as full days.

Upon consideration of the foregoing, the Commissioner finds that the level and nature of respondent's absenteeism – referenced in CHARGE III – combined with his other performance deficiencies, warrants discipline.

Finally, as to CHARGE IV, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the incidents referenced in the first three charges can be deemed to cumulatively constitute a pattern of neglect, misbehavior and other offenses, providing that the record shows that respondent was aware of, or should have known about the attendance and reporting procedures that he was violating, and was on notice about petitioner's dissatisfaction with such issues as respondent's absenteeism and sleeping on the job The Commissioner concludes that respondent did indeed have notice of those procedures, rules and issues.

In the record, for example, is a written evaluation from March 2006 in which respondent received below average grades for reliability/dependability due to his excessive absences. (P-3; R-10) Building Principal Smith wrote: "Mr. Dudley's excessive absences have put quite a burden on those he works with. Substitutes are not readily available, which has often resulted in day custodians cleaning his area the next morning." Respondent signed this evaluation.

A disciplinary notice from Facilities Supervisor Frangipane – dated October 27, 2007 – warned respondent that another early departure without notifying his supervisor could subject him to dismissal. (P-5) The notice further stated that respondent had been verbally warned about the same problem in September 2007.

After an incident on November 2, 2007 where respondent was found sleeping on the job, respondent was issued a written warning signed by Building Principal Mark Alfone, Evening Custodial Supervisor Dawn Corbin, Custodial Supervisor Frangipane and respondent, that another sleeping incident could result in dismissal. (P-14)

In April 2008, respondent's evaluation by Frangipane noted attendance deficiencies. Respondent signed this evaluation. (P-47; T76-78) And on April 3, 2008, Frangipane issued a memorandum to all custodians – including respondent – reminding them of the requirement to call the appropriate supervisor[2] before leaving work early. The memo also instructs that lunches must be taken mid-shift. (P-15; R-4, at 6)

In March of 2009 all employees, including respondent, were given instructions and training on using the AESOP attendance reporting system. (P-51; P-52; T194-95; T227)

On October 27, 2009, then evening custodial supervisor Edward Russell distributed a memorandum to all custodians, including respondent, concerning attendance and reporting. It directed, inter alia, that all absences be reported on AESOP, and that leaving early would not be permitted without prior authorization from a custodian's building administrator (principal), custodial supervisor or the facilities engineer (Frangipane). (P-16; R-4 at 7)

After respondent failed to report an August 27, 2010 absence on AESOP, and failed to contact a supervisor before leaving work early on September 9, 2010, Frangipane sent respondent a letter dated September 14, 2010 directing him to attend a meeting – with union representation – to discuss, inter alia, those incidents. (P-43) The letter warned that the meeting could impact respondent's continued employment in petitioner's district.

On September 21, 2010, Frangipane distributed yet another memorandum to all custodians, including respondent, reminding them about the previously distributed procedures for reporting absences, leaving before the end of the shift, and the prohibition against saving lunch or breaks until the end of the shift. (R-4 at 3-4; T187-189; P-15)

Finally, Frangipane testified that on several occasions he personally counseled respondent about his performance issues – such as sleeping on the job – his attendance, and his noncompliance with reporting procedures. For example, Frangipane testified that he advised Dudley verbally (as well as via memo P-5) that he needed to notify a supervisor whenever he needed to leave early. (1T37) Frangipane also recalled that Dudley had been specifically told on August 24, 2010 by head custodian Jenkins that it was Dudley's responsibility to call his supervisor about leaving early. (At that time there was no evening custodial supervisor, so a call to Frangipane was required.) (T162-63) And Frangipane verbally reminded Dudley that sleeping in the building was prohibited, referred to the fact that he had done it before, and warned that it could lead to termination. (T70; T204) The Commissioner notes, moreover, that it should be self-evident to any employee that sleeping on the job is unacceptable.

[2] According to Frangipane , head custodians – such as William Jenkins – were not supervisors and had no authority to approve early departures from work. Nor did a head custodian ever try to give such approvals. (T210-11)

As regards proper reporting through the AESOP system, Frangipane testified that Dudley had blamed some of his unreported absences on an alleged failure of the system to register the correct day. However, after checking the AESOP printouts, Frangipane determined that there had been no problem attributable to AESOP. (T214-15) He verbally reprimanded Dudley. (T215)

In light of the foregoing, the Commissioner concludes that respondent had reason to be aware of the required rules and procedures, and the expectations of his supervisors, but persisted in rejecting them. Thus, CHARGE IV is supported by the record.

The Commissioner is mindful of the ALJ's concern that respondent did not receive many written warnings about his shortcomings – which concern led to the recommendation that respondent receive a six-month suspension as opposed to separation from service. In that vein, the Commissioner finds it somewhat surprising that respondent's March 2010 evaluation included no reference to the January 27, 2010 incident where respondent slept on the job. But it is noteworthy that the March 2010 evaluation was not completed by

Frangipane, the individual who had been most responsible for supervising and disciplining respondent.[3]

The March 2010 evaluation notwithstanding, the Commissioner finds that the record is sufficient to support respondent's dismissal from employment. More specifically, the Commissioner finds that over the course of respondent's six or seven years of permanent employment – despite some periods without documented infractions – the same problems concerning attendance and reporting were manifested by respondent. In August and September of 2010 the problems accelerated. The Commissioner is not persuaded that further warnings would have cured respondent of his pattern of ignoring district procedures.

Nor is there, in tenure matters, any statutory mandate to impose progressive discipline. See, e.g., In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Marcelino Basulto, School District of the Town of West New York, Hudson County, Dkt. No. A-1493-09 (App. Div. July 23, 2010). Had petitioner, for example, chosen to seek respondent's removal after the second sleeping incident, no progressive discipline would have been required.

Accordingly, the tenure charges are affirmed and respondent is terminated from his employment in petitioner's district.

OAL DKT. NO. EDU 01839-11
AGENCY DKT. NO. 30-2/11

IN THE MATTER OF THE TENURE HEARING OF DONALD DUDLEY, SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE TOWNSHIP OF NEPTUNE, MONMOUTH COUNTY.

Nicholas Celso III, Esq., for petitioner School District of the Township of Neptune, Monmouth County (Schwartz, Simon, Edelstein & Celso, attorneys)

Stephen B. Hunter, Esq., for respondent Donald Dudley (Detzky & Hunter, attorneys)

Record Closed: August 9, 2011 Decided: September 6, 2011

BEFORE LAURA SANDERS, ACTING DIRECTOR & CHIEF ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Donald Dudley (or respondent) is employed by the Board of Education of the Township of Neptune (or Board) in the position of tenured custodian. On February 1, 2011, the Board, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-11 and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.1, certified charges of neglect, misbehavior, and other offenses, including insubordination and chronic absenteeism, constituting cause for dismissal and reduction in salary. Although Dudley acknowledges absences that he contends were legitimate, he denies all of the Board's allegations and contends that no disciplinary action was warranted, much less loss of tenure.

The Board's action encompasses four separate charges. The first, failure to report and follow procedures, alleges that on nine occasions Dudley either left early or missed work without properly reporting his absence. The second charge involves two instances of sleeping on the job. The third, chronic absenteeism, alleges that Dudley was absent from his position on sixty-two days in one three-month period, and fifty-three days in another eight-month period. The fourth charge, an ongoing pattern of neglect, misbehavior, and other offenses, alleges that the three charges, taken altogether, constitute a pattern of conduct that warrants dismissal. The matter was heard on May 11, 2011, June 8, 2011, and June 23, 2011. The record closed on August 9, 2011, with the submission of briefs.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

The first charge centers on failure to follow procedures and directives, and therefore the Board offered extensive evidence concerning proper procedure for the reporting of absences.

Donald Frangipane, facility engineer for the district, is the administrator responsible for the custodial staff, among other things. He testified that since at least 2006 the district has required custodians to seek prior approval from either the custodial supervisor or Frangipane for absences. A written notice to Dudley after an incident that occurred on October 27, 2007, stated, "In the past, I have met with you and warned you that the building must not be left unattended. You were instructed to notify an administrator if you had to leave the premises." (P-5.) In that period the person Dudley should have contacted, according to Frangipane, was the custodial supervisor for the night shift, Dawn Corbin. The district offered P-15, a memo dated April 3, 2008, from Frangipane to All Custodians, which stated, "Please remember in the event you must leave your school for any reason other than your regularly scheduled lunch you must contact a supervisor and must leave a voice message if you do not reach someone." The memo gives a phone number for reaching Frangipane after hours for supervisor assistance, implies that his approval is needed, and makes that explicit for substitute custodians. However, for the full-time custodians, it does not state explicitly who the other supervisors are. It also states that if a problem in the building does not necessarily require a supervisor, the custodians should call the head custodian for the building, Frangipane, or another employee, named Dennis Chenolli. The sign-in sheets do not go to payroll. (Tr. 2, June 8, 2011, at 74, 77.)

The second absence reporting procedure involves the system known as Aesop. Frangipane stated that sometime in 2007 the district implemented Aesop, an automated phone system for absences, which allows a person to either call in digitally entering that person's school identification number, or go online and enter the absence. There was general agreement among witnesses that Aesop will not accept contacts for a particular date after a period approximating twenty-four hours. Once that time period has passed, an employee is to contact the Human Resources office, and report the absence. It is then up to Human Resources to make the Aesop entry. Employees may call several days after an absence and advise Human Resources, which will then go in and correct the person's Aesop account. (Tr. 2 at 78.) David Mooij, school superintendent, explained that it is the Aesop record that connects to the payroll system and provides the fundamental accounting for sick, vacation, workers compensation, and other kinds of leave.

For custodians, upon an employee reporting an absence, the Aesop system would then automatically begin dialing a list of substitute custodians, until it found one to accept the assignment. A memo to all custodians dated October 27, 2009, states:

> If for any reason you are going to be absent you are required to follow the normal reporting procedures using the ASEOP [sic] system.
> . . . . .
>
> You are not permitted to leave prior to your normal completion time unless you have prior authorization from a > Building Administrator, the Custodial Supervisor or the Facilities Engineer.

> [P-16.]

A related rule, Frangipane stated, was a prohibition on consolidating the two fifteen-minute breaks with the one-hour lunch break to allow one to leave early.

The third procedure requires custodians to sign into and out from work. For many years, this meant signing the paper rosters maintained at the main office in the facility (see P-24 at 16). Frangipane stated that the paper system did not require custodians to report leaving the premises during lunch hour, which was acceptable. Beginning on September 1, 2010, all school district employees were required to use a new card-swipe system. With the implementation of that system also came the requirement to swipe in and out when leaving the premises at lunchtime.

District superintendent David Mooij, who has spent thirty-eight years in the Neptune School District, many of them involving responsibility for facilities, acknowledged that there is a difference between the union contract and the school district policy regarding sign out. Where the union contract requires signing in, it has no such requirement regarding signing out. Nonetheless, Mooij said, there have been many, many memos to employees explaining why Board policy calls for signing out, which is important to safety for everyone, and to ensuring proper coverage of the building for cleaning purposes. When the swipe-in, swipe-out system was implemented in July 2010, the district asked employees to voluntarily cooperate so that problems could be identified before the system became mandatory on September 1, 2010. Mooij also testified extensively to the interplay between the sign-in sheets and Aesop with regard to other custodial employees on the relevant dates, and based on that testimony, I am persuaded that both systems were generally in use, that the manual sign-in system was reliable, that the sign-out system was less reliable, and that the interplay between Aesop and the sign-ins could be utilized reliably to determine when employees started work. As sign-out was not required, the onus was entirely on the employee to self-report absences.

Charge One

The Board alleges that on numerous occasions Dudley either left early or failed to come to work without reporting his absence in the manner required. The Board also alleges that he took a vacation during a period specifically prohibited per the union contract. The incidents are addressed separately below.

1. October 8, 2002. The evidence concerning October 8, 2002, an alleged failure to appear during the time he worked as a substitute custodian, consists of a photocopy of a post-it note affixed to a copy of his resume. While the Board argues this is an official part of his record, since no one could testify as to who created the note, when it was put there, or how the determination was made that the incident had occurred, the note is hearsay. As there is no competent evidence in support of the charge, I FIND that the failure to report on that date has not been proven.

2. March 12, 2004. Respondent was the subject of a "Substitute Check List" report dated March 12, 2004. (P-2.) The document states, "Signed in at the High School. Could not be found all day. Second time this week. I do not want him back in this building." The signature is illegible, and the transcript identifies the signer as "Mr. Debber (phonetic)." (Tr. 1, May 11, 2011, at 20.) Donald Frangipane, facility engineer for the district, identified the signer as "our building principal at the time." (Ibid.) Frangipane also stated that the check list form serves as a notice to the central office that a scheduled employee did not show up for work and did not report the absence. (Id. at 19.) Dudley, who was not yet permanent in March 2004, testified that he had no recall of failing to report during the time he was a substitute. Although the document is arguably a business record, and therefore evidence that the incident occurred, the signature is illegible, the signer was not called, there was no evidence that it was brought to Dudley's attention at the time, and it is so stale that Dudley has virtually no ability to defend against the charge, making it unfair to utilize in this proceeding.

3. October 27, 2007. Frangipane testified that he supervises the Board's facilities and its custodial staff. In that role, on October 27, 2007, at 4 a.m., he personally visited the middle school to which respondent was assigned for the purpose of locating him. Frangipane decided to visit the school because both he and the school principal had noted times when Dudley was not present, but Dudley always offered an excuse, such as lunch hour. On this date, Frangipane said, he walked the entire building without seeing a custodian. He rang the fire alarm for about ten minutes to see if he could raise anyone. At the time he entered, the rear door was unlocked, the lights were on, and the burglar alarm was off. Frangipane remained until 6:30 a.m., the end of the shift, without seeing anyone. David Mooij, superintendent, testified that during a meeting held on December 6, 2010, Dudley admitted he had left early. Dudley testified that he had to leave early on that date, tried unsuccessfully to reach his immediate supervisor, and could not turn the alarm on because he did not have the security codes for it. Dudley received a written notice of discipline, which stated, "You are now being placed on notice that if you leave work prior to the end of your shift without properly notifying an administrator with reasons, or leave the premises unattended during your shift, you may be immediately dismissed." (P-5.) Based upon the essentially uncontroverted testimony, I FIND as FACT that respondent left work at least two hours early without reporting it on October 27, 2007. With regard to the alarm, William Jenkins, head custodian at the middle school, testified that the last custodian in the building is supposed to set the alarm before leaving. (Tr. 3, June 23, 2011, at 162.) Jenkins said that the system does not require a code to turn the alarm on; it is only necessary to follow the instructions on the pad, which tells one what to do. (Ibid.) There is a code required to turn the alarm off, but not to turn it on. (Ibid.) Based on Jenkins' credible testimony, I FIND that Dudley had the ability to set the alarm but failed to do so.

In relation to the October 27, 2010, incident, Mark Alfone, school principal, sent Dudley a memo directing him to attend a meeting in his office on Thursday, November 1, 2007, along with his union representative. Frangipane testified that when Dudley failed to appear, they scheduled a second meeting, at which he also failed to appear. According to Frangipane, Dudley ran into unexpected transportation problems the first time, and the second time went to the wrong room, waited fifteen minutes, and then left. A memo from David A. Mooij, superintendent of schools, dated December 6, 2007, confirmed that Dudley did appear at a meeting with the superintendent and his union representative. (P-13.) While his non-appearance at the first two meetings was unwise, and wasted the time of those waiting for him, I FIND that his excuses for failing to appear were legitimate, if ill-advised, and therefore do not constitute a separate failure to follow procedures.

4. June 21, 2010. The evidence consists of two documents, the first being a school sign-in sheet dated June 21, 2010, indicating that respondent was scheduled to work from 10 p.m. to 6:30 a.m. and did not sign in. (P-21.) The second is what Frangipane stated was the official district printout of leave taken on that date, generated from Aesop. (P-22.) Although the names of twelve custodians appear in relation to absences, Dudley is not listed as having been absent. Dudley testified that he has no recollection of having taken the day off, but if he did so, he would have contacted Will Jenkins, as the head custodian, to advise him of his absence. Although Jenkins recalled not being contacted by Dudley concerning absences, he could not state with any certainty that Dudley failed to contact him on June 21. I find it difficult to believe that Dudley worked without signing in, and the documents are official records that fall within an exception for hearsay. Based on the records, I FIND as FACT that Dudley was absent and failed to report it properly. Since the time and leave reporting system automatically contacts substitute custodians, I further FIND that the unreported absence deprived the Board of the opportunity to employ a substitute on that date.

5. August 13, 2010. In relation to the various early-leaving dates in August, Dudley testified that he was injured on the job on August 9, 2010, and, as a result was on light duty, restricted to tasks with no bending, lifting, or pulling. The record includes an Accident Investigation Report dated August 16, 2010, reporting that on August 9, 2010, Dudley had suffered back pain as a result of moving furniture and stripping floors. (R-14.) A Patient Visit Summary from Meridian Occupational Health dated August 17, 2010, diagnosed a lumbosacral sprain and imposed the light-duty regimen. (R-16.) Other documentation establishes that treatment for the sprain continued through January 6, 2011. Three documents related to Friday, August 13, 2010, were offered. The first is a sign-in sheet for August 13, 2010, reflecting that respondent signed in at 3 p.m. and signed out at 7 p.m. with a notation of "half-day." (P-25.) The second, an Aesop printout for August 13, 2010, shows thirteen custodians absent for various reasons, but does not include a reflection that Dudley missed any time. (P-26.) The third, P-20, is a compilation of absences entitled, "Multi Year Absence Report Listing" for the period July 1, 2010, to March 31, 2011. It shows four absences in August 2010, but none on August 13. Frangipane testified that he visited the middle school on that date, and could not find Dudley. He spoke with others in the building, and none had seen him. Dudley testified that he did leave work early because he visited the physician for an epidural shot related to the August 9 back injury. (Tr. 2 at 169.) I credit Dudley's testimony that he told Jenkins he was leaving. However, he did not contact Frangipane to notify him, and the documents establish that he also failed to report the absence to Aesop, and I so FIND.

6. August 19, 2010. Frangipane testified that on Thursday, August 19, 2010, he left work, went home for dinner, and then visited the middle school. He could not locate Dudley, which was consistent with the fact that the school sign-in sheet for that date did not show any sign-in by him. (P-32.) The Multi Year Absence Report Listing shows no absence on that date. (P-20.) At this point, Frangipane said, he was becoming very concerned because this was the third time he had visited without finding respondent. Dudley testified that he has no independent recollection of where he was on August 19, 2010, but that he had a practice of calling in and reporting, and would have contacted both Aesop and his immediate supervisor, William Jenkins. I am not persuaded that Dudley called Aesop or any superior. Rather, based on Frangipane's testimony and the documents, I FIND that Dudley did not report for work, did not advise any superior that he would not be coming in, and further failed to report his absence to Aesop. Additionally, as he did not report his absence, the District was deprived of the opportunity to employ a substitute custodian on that date.

Dudley's normal assignment was the two gymnasiums, the boys' and girls' locker rooms, two bathrooms, and all of the hallways in the three-floor building. (Tr. 2 at 148; Tr. 3 at 159.) In his absence, these had to be covered by either the other two custodians assigned to the building or a substitute. (Tr. 3 at 159.) William Jenkins characterized Dudley's unreported absences as having "a big . . . impact" because it would leave Jenkins and a substitute to cover Dudley's work as well as their own. (Tr. 3 at 156.) "[A]fter doing 26 classrooms and six bathrooms you're kind of tired, and you get wore out . . . [and] when we do his run we didn't do everything Mr. Dudley would do, but we'd do it where it looks presentable, but it's not everything we could do on that run." (Tr. 3 at 156–57.) Jenkins also talked about the periods when no substitute was located. (See, e.g., P-20, showing no substitute on numerous dates in July and August 2010.) He explained that sometimes no substitute is available because there are openings in other buildings as well. But even if substitutes were located, in Jenkins' opinion, their work was not of the same quality as Dudley's. (Tr. 3 at 183.)

7. August 24, 2010. On that date, the sign-in sheet shows Dudley working from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m., and then bears the notation "sick." (P-34.) Dudley stated that the notation is not his handwriting, but appears to be that of his supervisor, William Jenkins. He did recall telling Jenkins that he was ill and needed to leave. Jenkins testified that he was aware of the district policy requiring a custodian who needed to leave work early to do two things—tell the head custodian, and also call the supervisor, whose number was posted in the office. (Tr. 3 at 146, 148.) While Dudley followed the first part of the procedure, there was no evidence that he followed the second part, and therefore I FIND that he did not contact Frangipane on that date. Although the Multi Year Absence Report Listing shows that Dudley was out sick on August 25 and August 26, it has no indication that he was absent for a half day on August 24. (P-20.) Therefore, I FIND that he also failed to report his absence to Aesop.

8. August 27, 2010. Similarly, on August 27, Dudley recalled calling into Jenkins, and testified that the "out sick" on the sign-in sheet appeared to be Jenkins' handwriting. (P-35.) Based on the absence of an Aesop record for that date, I FIND that Dudley did notify the head custodian but failed to call into the system that tracks leave and assigns temporary custodians. This failure to provide notice prevented the district from using the automated calling system to contact a substitute.

9. September 9, 2010. Frangipane stated that Dudley left four hours early on Thursday, September 9, 2010, without notifying a supervisor that he was leaving. Frangipane stated that he personally visited the building and could not locate Dudley, and there is a video showing Dudley leaving. (See also P-45.) The printout from the alarm-monitoring system indicates that Dudley swiped his card at 7:59 p.m. (P-8), which would be mid-shift, or about the time he would be expected to leave for lunch. (Tr. 1 at 82.) The report gives no indication that he swiped in, either initially or upon return from lunch. The Aesop daily report for September 9, 2010, records other custodial absences, but not Dudley's. (P-42.) Dudley testified that he spoke to Jenkins about not returning that day because of illness. (Tr. 2 at 176.) While he may have spoken to Jenkins, based on Frangipane's testimony and the video, I FIND that Dudley left early and did swipe out, but did not report his absence to the time-leave reporting system and did not advise Frangipane of his need to leave early.

10. Vacation during a prohibited period. A substantial component of the "failure to follow procedures" charge is the failure to follow appropriate procedures in taking a vacation the week before school. Some facts related to this charge are undisputed. The union contract for the period July 1, 2009, through June 30, 2012, states in Article VII—Work Hours, Holidays and Vacation in Paragraph E, Custodians, subparagraph (e), that "Vacation requests shall not be granted during the first week after the close of school in June, or during the last two weeks prior to the reopening of school in September." (P-24.) Dudley submitted a vacation request for August 30, 2010, through September 3, 2010, (P-23) which was the week immediately before school opened. (Tr. 1 at 65.) The union contract states, "A vacation application must be approved or rejected by Administration within ten work days of submission." (P-24.) It does not state what happens if the approval or rejection is not given, and does not state whether it requires a verbal or written denial.

Dudley testified that he turned the request into Mark Alfone, principal of the middle school, on August 11. Frangipane explained that the usual practice is for a school principal, who has authority to approve, to respond to the request. However, where, as in this instance, the principal believes there is a problem, the request is forwarded to Human Resources, which then sends it to Frangipane. Having received the request on August 16, Frangipane began trying to visit Dudley to talk with him about the request. When he kept not finding him, he began reviewing additional documentation, which is how he discovered the multiple August sign-in irregularities. Finally, on August 30, the effective date of the vacation request, he called Dudley's home at 10:58 a.m., well before the beginning of his late-day shift. He received no answer, as Dudley already had left home on vacation. Outside of that phone contact, Frangipane did not otherwise call Dudley. He also did not utilize email, regular mail, a notice posted at Dudley's work station, or a notice in Dudley's mail slot in the middle school, and did not ask head custodian Will Jenkins, who worked the same shift as Dudley, to advise Dudley that his request was not approved. Frangipane testified that he considered a written response to be outside of the contract requirements, and said it has never been his practice to call custodians at home in relation to their vacation requests. In his view, the vacation became an unauthorized absence on August 30, 2010. The Board contends that Frangipane's call on August 30, following the August 16 receipt of the request meant that the administration responded within nine days. Respondent contends that the August 30 call came on day nineteen, putting the response outside the contract.

David Mooij, superintendent of schools, testified that the district and the union split the cost of printing a copy of the union contract for every individual. (Tr. 2 at 40.) The Board sends out one copy per person per building. (Tr. 2 at 40.) Dudley testified that he was not aware of the black-out period. (Tr. 2 at 165.) He also testified that in all the years he has worked for the district, he never looked at the collective bargaining agreement. (Tr. 3 at 85, 86.) Jenkins, the head custodian, testified that he was aware of the black-out period. (Tr. 3 at 157.) Gregory Bacon, who has been a custodian with the district for twenty-seven years, also testified that vacation has been prohibited during the two weeks before school as long as he can recall. (Tr. 3 at 189.)

Based upon the actual vacation request and Dudley's statement, I FIND that he turned in the vacation request on August 11, which means that Frangipane's denial did not come until day nineteen, which is outside the time required by the union agreement. Given the language of the agreement, I do not find credible Dudley's assertion that he did not worry about it because he never received responses to his requests. (Tr. 3 at 66.) While he may well not have bothered to look at the union agreement, his failure to inform himself does not relieve him of his responsibility to understand the terms and conditions of employment. The testimony by Jenkins and Bacon establishes that the two-week prohibition was longstanding and well known. Therefore, I FIND as FACT that respondent failed to comply with the policy.

Charge Two

The record includes a written warning to Dudley for having been discovered asleep in the faculty lounge during his shift on November 2, 2007. (P-14.) Dudley said he had taken some medicine before taking his normal break in the faculty lounge. He does not believe he dozed any appreciable amount of time before Supervisor Dawn Corbin entered the lounge. They then discussed work matters for a considerable period of time. (Tr. 2 at 176-177.)

In relation to the second incident, Donald M. Frangipane testified that he personally found Dudley asleep on January 27, 2010, in the teacher's lounge, and that a video camera outside the lounge recorded Dudley's entrance into the lounge around 3 a.m., and Frangipane's entry at 5:20 a.m., about an hour before the shift ended at 6:30 a.m. As there is no real dispute that Dudley was sleeping for a period of time on both occasions, the two sleeping incidents are FOUND as FACT.

Charge Three

The third, chronic absenteeism, alleges that Dudley was absent from his position fifty-three days in an eight-month period, and sixty-two days in one three-month period. The first lengthy leave, between July 1, 2007, and March 31, 2008, was occasioned by major surgery to Dudley's shoulder. The record includes Board approval of sick leave termination dates of January 30, 2007, and December 19, 2007, for Dudley (R-33; R-36), as well of medical evidence regarding inability to work from June 15, 2007, through July 23, 2007, when return was possible excluding heavy lifting and overhead reaching. (R-34; R-35.) The sixty-two days were taken between June 10, 2009, and September 30, 2009. Dudley does not contest the fact that he was out, but emphasizes that the reason was major back surgery. He submitted medical evidence to show that he properly requested leave, and was treated with a lumbar fusion on June 12, 2009. (R-37 to R-40.) Except for four days, the Multi Year Absence Reporting Listing indicates that the Board was able to locate substitutes. (P-18; P-19.) As there is no dispute as to the absences or the reasons for them, they are found as FACT.

Charge Four

The fourth charge essentially collapses all of the incidents in question into a charge of an ongoing pattern of neglect, misbehavior, and other offenses, including repeated and deliberate abandonment of assigned duties, disregard of procedures, sleeping on the job, chronic absenteeism and general failure to follow instructions.

Dudley became employed full-time by the Neptune School District in September 2003. (Tr. 2 at 145.) He acquired tenure on October 22, 2007. (Tr. 2 at 146.) Five days after acquiring tenure, he left work early, leaving the building completely unattended and without the protection of an active alarm system. About a week after that, he was found sleeping on the job. In about this same time period, he had undergone major surgery to his shoulder, such that he missed fifty-three days due to illness between July 1, 2007, and March 31, 2008.

Dudley has experienced two other significant health problems. He was out sixty-two days, for back surgery, between June 10, 2009, and September 30, 2009. Then, about a year later, on August 9, 2010, he suffered back pain as a result of moving furniture and stripping floors. He was diagnosed with a lumbosacral sprain and was required to follow a light-duty regimen. Documentation establishes that treatment for the sprain continued through January 6, 2011.

Dudley has not managed an event-free year since acquiring tenure, although to be fair, 2008 was only marred by the lingering absences related to the shoulder surgery. In January 2010, he was caught sleeping on the job, and that summer marked a significant deterioration in compliance with procedures. For whatever reason, he began to disregard them routinely. While everyone, including the school superintendent, acknowledges that the sign-out rule was shaky at best, and therefore Dudley's failures to sign-out are not actionable, the record establishes that a call (or a computer entry) into Aesop, the District's time and leave reporting system, was required. Dudley's background included prior employment in computers, so it is clear he had the technical ability to use the computer. Further, it was also permissible to call Human Resources and have personnel adjust the record. Since Aesop is the system by which the usage of the time off entitlements is recorded, routine failure to contact Aesop amounts to granting oneself additional time off with pay. Additionally, since Aesop includes a feature that automatically seeks a substitute custodian, the repeated failure to provide notice routinely deprived the district of the opportunity to secure a replacement for the shift.

With regard to the vacation during the black-out period, I do not believe Dudley knowingly set out to violate the black-out policy; rather, I am convinced that by that point, Dudley had lost all awareness of the district's actual leave policies. But the district had a contractual obligation to reply within ten days, which it did not meet. Whether an immediate negative response would have prevented the absence is a matter of speculation, but it at least would have provided timely notice that there was a problem. By the time respondent returned, he was on notice through the phone call made by Frangipane that the District had actually denied the vacation, based on violating a policy. Apparently this knowledge did not result in any additional care with regard to following procedures, since on September 9, 2010, he left mid-shift and failed again to report his absence to Aesop. Therefore I FIND as FACT that there was an ongoing pattern of failure to comply with procedure. I also FIND that the absences related to the three injuries, plus the vacation during the period that school was being prepared to reopen, plus the unreported absences amount to chronic absenteeism. Further, leaving the school unattended and unlocked with no alarm, sleeping on the job, awarding himself extra sick time by failing to report what he took, and depriving the Board of the opportunity to call substitutes, taken together, amount to a pattern of neglect of duty and misconduct.

LEGAL ANALYSIS

A tenured employee may only be dismissed if the District shows "inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct, or other just cause[.]" N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10. Tenured janitorial employees may not be "dismissed or suspended or reduced in compensation . . . except for neglect, misbehavior or other offense[.]" N.J.S.A. 18A:17-3. The Board has the burden of proof in relation to the charges it has brought. In re Polk, 90 N.J. 550 (1982).

In the instant matter, the Board has produced sufficient evidence to support all four of the charges. The Board has established: (1) that respondent repeatedly failed to follow procedures related to requesting and reporting time off; (2) that he twice was caught sleeping on the job; (3) that he was chronically absent; and (4) that his conduct amounted to an ongoing pattern of misbehavior and neglect. The remaining issue is the appropriate discipline.

The Board urges dismissal is the appropriate remedy, as it is well-established that excessive absenteeism in and of itself may constitute sufficient grounds for the removal or suspension of a tenured employee. Passaic Bd. of Educ. v. Viani, 92 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 76; Jiminez v. N.J. State-Operated Sch. Dist. of Paterson, 96

N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 600. Additionally, the Commissioner on numerous occasions has removed custodians where absenteeism was coupled with some other significant problem. See In re Jiminez, EDU 09298-09, Initial Decision (March 8, 2010), adopted, Comm'r (April 22, 2010) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>, where a custodian was not only frequently absent but had behaved toward other employees in ways that were disrespectful, offensive, and intimidating.

However, in seeking to remove a tenured custodian for absenteeism, the Board must demonstrate "the extent of harm such performance of a custodial employee has on the provision of a thorough and efficient education in adequately equipped, sanitary and secure physical facilities . . . ." Passaic Bd. of Educ., supra, 92 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 76. Moreover, the cases affirming removal virtually always include some showing that the custodian had been adequately warned, and failed to correct the unacceptable attendance. For example, in In re Tenure Hearing of Riddick, 93 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 345, 346, 347, then Chief Administrative Law Judge Jaynee LaVecchia wrote that she was "left with the impression that Riddick used any excuse to explain his lack of dedication to attend his work." There was also evidence that "[d]uring each of the two times he was put on notice that his attendance would be focused upon during a certain time period . . . his attendance . . . was virtually flawless," but invariably returned to unacceptable levels. In In re Tenure Hearing of Isaac, 97 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 27, a custodian had been notified repeatedly that his attendance and performance were unacceptable over a period of at least three years. His increment was withheld twice, and he had been suspended, but his performance continued to deteriorate. In In re Tenure Hearing of Basulto, No. A-1493-09 (App. Div. July 23, 2010) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/search.shtml>, a custodian was warned in January 2006 about leaving early and advised that further infractions would result in termination. In January 2008 he received a second written warning for failure to maintain rooms properly over a three-day period. See also In re Tenure Hearing of Marsden, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 1188-84, Initial Decision (August 26, 1985), adopted, Comm'r (October 10, 1985). Consequently, the nature of any warnings given to an employee and any corrective action taken by the board, as well as the reasons for the absences, are relevant to the questions of whether discipline should be imposed. Passaic Bd. of Educ., supra, 92 N.J.A.R.2d 76.

Here, Dudley received two written reprimands. The first was in relation to leaving the building without any security measures on October 27, 2007, and the second for sleeping on the job on November 2, 2007. Dudley did not receive a written reprimand for the sleeping incident of January 2010. (Tr. 1 at 152). With regard to his overall performance, an evaluation from March 2006 stated that respondent's "excessive absences have put quite a burden on those he works with. Substitutes are not readily available which has often resulted in day custodians cleaning his area the next morning." (R-10.) The evaluation for April 2008 stated, "Overall[,] Mr. Dudley is not meeting our expectations as a custodian." (R-11.) It noted the October 27 and November 2 incidents, and stated that, "Mr. Dudley must improve the cleanliness of his run and his attitude towards work in the coming year. Failure to do so can affect future employment." Nonetheless, it recommended advancement on the salary scale. (Ibid.) The March 31, 2009, evaluation noted improvement in both cleanliness and overall attitude. (R-12). The March 15, 2010, evaluation made no reference to the January sleeping incident and praised respondent for "improvement in the cleanliness of his run" and for great improvement in his conduct "as well as his attitude towards work" and his co-workers. (R-13.) While Dudley did receive warnings, they were old, and the positive 2010 evaluation encompassed a period when he was out sick for sixty-two days and was caught sleeping on the job. Praise for improvement in such circumstances cannot be said to have warned him that he needed to alter his attendance patterns.

Respondent relies upon the absence of progressive discipline for the proposition that discipline should be limited to a minor disciplinary penalty. Respondent points to the presence of a Board policy for support staff, which states, in pertinent part:

> Discipline will include as appropriate, verbal and written warnings, transfer, suspension, freezing wages and dismissal; discipline will provide, wherever possible, for progressive penalties for repeated violations.
> [P-65.]

As a general proposition, there is no statutory support for progressive discipline in the tenure arena. (Basulto, supra, No. A-1493-09 (App. Div. July 23, 2010) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/search.shtml>) But the Board has formulated a policy, which indicates that it will apply progressive penalties as appropriate.

Although respondent's failures were very serious, the lack of recent warning in the face of some significant occurrences, indicates that a penalty short of dismissal is warranted. Additionally, although the October 27, 2007, incident jeopardized the security of the school, the other incidents were shown to be burdensome for the other custodians but not a significant problem for the overall safety and security of the school. Taking a vacation right before school started did violate the union contract—and was symptomatic of a disconnection from the needs of the school in general—but the negative response was also in violation of the contract, as it was not timely. Weighing all the factors, I CONCLUDE that termination is not appropriate. However, I CONCLUDE that a significant penalty is warranted for the purpose of making clear that attendance is a primary duty, as is compliance with all of the Board's policies and procedures.

ORDER

The Board's action is OVERRULED, and I hereby ORDER a suspension of six months (excluding the time served to date), plus the withholding of any increment that might otherwise be due.

SYNOPSIS

Petitioning Board sought to invalidate its April 2009 resolution establishing two consecutive two year salary schedules for the school years from 2007-2008 to 2010-2011, contending that the resolution violates the requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:29-4.1, which limits the adoption of salary policies and schedules by boards of education to not more than three years from the effective date of said policies. Respondent teachers association asserted that the action of the Board was consistent with the law, and that the Board is obligated to pay unit members all salary increases promised in the salary schedules. The parties filed cross motions for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there were no material facts in dispute, and the matter was ripe for summary judgment; N.J.S.A. 18A:29-4.1 allows adoption of salary policies, including salary schedules, for terms of one, two or three years; such policies are binding upon the adopting board and future boards for one, two, or three years from the effective date of the policy; in 2009, the petitioning Board retroactively agreed upon salary adjustments for 2007-2008 and 2008-2009, as well as the two forthcoming years, 2009-2010 and 2010-2011; accordingly, the 2009 Board bound successor boards for only two years, and its actions were therefore fully compliant with N.J.S.A. 18A:29-4.1. The ALJ concluded that during the 2011-2012 school year, the Board must honor the salary guides adopted in 2009 and pay any increments earned under the 2010-2011 salary guide.

The Commissioner rejected the Initial Decision of the OAL, finding, inter alia, that the petitioning Board exceeded its authority under N.J.S.A. 18A:29-4.1 by binding itself and future boards for a total of four years, despite the fact that the salary schedules for the first two years were distributed in a lump-sum retroactive payment. In so determining, the Commissioner rejected the ALJ's conclusion that the salary policy was consistent with the statute because the Board only bound future boards for two years; such a conclusion creates an exception that would allow for retroactive payments as a means to circumvent the three year limit mandated in N.J.S.A. 18A:29-4.1. Accordingly, the fourth year of the petitioning Board's policy that provides a salary schedule for 2010-2011 is null and void.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF RAMSEY, BERGEN COUNTY,	:
PETITIONER,	:
V.	:	COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION
THE RAMSEY TEACHERS ASSOCIATION,	:	DECISION
RESPONDENT.	:

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed, as have the exceptions filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 by the Board.[1]

The Board takes exception to the Administrative Law Judge's determination that the Board did not bind itself beyond the three year limit imposed by N.J.S.A. 18A:29-4.1. The Board argues that it is irrelevant that the Board adopted two separate collective bargaining agreements rather than one four year agreement because the Board still effectively bound itself to four years in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:29-4.1. As a result the Board contends that the Initial Decision should be rejected, and that the fourth year of the salary policy should be null and void – precluding the Board from paying the salary increments to teachers based thereon for the 2011-2012 school year.

In support of its argument, the Board cites to an unpublished Appellate Division Opinion in Bogota Educ. Ass'n. v. Bogota Bd. of Educ., Docket No. A-4708-97T2

[1] The respondent filed reply exceptions out of time without requesting an extension for filing, and as a result they were not considered.

(May 24, 1999).[2] The Board maintains that the facts in Bogota, supra, are analogous to the facts in this case and therefore the Commissioner should adopt the legal reasoning in Bogota, supra. In its exceptions the Board contends that in Bogota, supra, the Appellate Division addressed whether a collective bargaining agreement that provided for a lump-sum retroactive salary payment covering a two year period – and also prospectively established a pay scale for the following two years – was in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:29-4.1. The Appellate Division held that such an agreement was inconsistent with N.J.S.A. 18A:29-4.1 because the time period affected by the memorandum was four calendar years despite the ratification date of the agreement.

The Board also contends that the ALJ erred by concluding that N.J.S.A. 18A:29-4.1's prohibition on salary guides longer than three years was prospective only. In its exceptions, the Board stresses that the statute does not limit its prohibition to the prospective adoption of teaching salaries, but rather it simply provides that the adopted salary schedules can only be binding upon the adopting board and upon all future boards for a period of one, two or three years. Finally, the Board argues that the intent or good faith of the Board in adopting its resolution is irrelevant to assessing whether the resolution is consistent with N.J.S.A. 18A:29-4.1.

Upon a comprehensive review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner finds that the salary policy adopted by the Board pursuant to the April 28, 2009 Resolution (April 2009 Resolution) is in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:29-4.1. Under N.J.S.A. 18A:29-4.1, a board of education may adopt a one, two or three year salary policy that shall be binding upon the adopting board and upon future boards for a period of one, two or three years from the effective date of the policy. The plain meaning of N.J.S.A. 18A:29-4.1 expressly limits salary schedules to no more than three years; further, any contract that establishes a salary schedule beyond the third year is not binding. Board of Educ. of the Tp. of Neptune v. Neptune Tp. Teacher's Ass'n, 144 N.J. 16, 26-29 (1996).

In this case, it is undisputed that the April 2009 Resolution established salary guides for 2007-2008, 2008-2009, 2009-2010, and 2010-2011. Additionally, the effective date of the salary policy was July 1, 2007, despite the fact that the resolution approving the salary guides was not passed until April 29, 2009. Therefore, when the Board adopted the April 2009 Resolution, it exceeded its authority by binding itself and future boards for a total of four years regardless of the fact that the salary schedules for the first two years were distributed in a lump-sum retroactive payment. [3] The ALJ's determination that the salary policy was consistent with the statute simply because the Board only bound future boards for two years provides an exception allowing for retroactive payments as a means to circumvent the three year limit that is not contained in the statute.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is rejected; the fourth year of the policy that provides a salary schedule for 2010-2011 is null and void.

BEFORE ELLEN S. BASS, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, the Board of Education of the Borough of Ramsey (the Board), seeks to invalidate its April 28, 2009, resolution establishing salary schedules for the years 2007-2011, contending that the resolution violates the requirements of N.J.S.A. 29-4.1.

The Ramsey Teachers Association (the Association) urges that the action of the Board was consistent with law, and that the Board is obligated to pay unit members all salary increases promised in those salary schedules.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The Board filed a petition for a Declaratory Ruling before the Commissioner of Education (the Commissioner) on February 23, 2011. Via letter dated March 25, 2011, the Commissioner advised that he had determined to process the matter as a Petition of Appeal, pursuant to his discretionary authority under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-2.1(a). The contested case was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on March 25, 2011. The parties filed a joint Stipulation of Facts on June 7, 2011, and cross-motions for Summary Decision on July 22, 2011. Simultaneous replies were filed on August 3, 2011, at which time the record closed.

FINDINGS OF FACT

The material facts are not in dispute, and I FIND:

The Association is the duly certified majority representative for all non-supervisory certificated employees of the Board. The Association and the Board were parties to a collective bargaining agreement that was to expire on June 30, 2007. In early 2007, the Board and the Association began to bargain over the terms of a successor collective bargaining agreement. The process did not go smoothly; impasse was declared, and an unsuccessful mediation conducted. In accordance with N.J.A.C. 19:12-4.2, Factfinder Thomas Hartigan was assigned by the Public Employment Relations Commission (PERC). He issued a Report and Recommendations on February 2, 2009. By that point, the professional staff of the Ramsey Public Schools had been "working without a contract" for close to two years. Hartigan recommended as follows:

> The Association has proposed and I would suggest that the parties consider the addition of a fourth year to the agreement. As noted earlier these negotiations have gone on now for two years, and the addition of [a] fourth year and some additional time away from the bargaining table may be in the interest of all concerned.
> [(Exhibit A to the Partial Stipulation of Fact.)]

After receiving the Factfinder's Report and Recommendations the parties successfully reached agreement on the terms of a successor agreement. A Memorandum of Agreement was executed by Association representatives and two members of the Board. An addendum to the Memorandum of Agreement included salary guides for the school years 2007-2008, 2008-2009, 2009-2010, and 2010-2011. (Exhibit C to Partial Stipulation of Fact.) On April 28, 2009, the Board adopted a resolution "to approve the Memorandum of Agreement . . . for the period July 1, 2007 through June 30, 2009, and for the period July 1, 2009 through June 30, 2011." (Exhibit D to Partial Stipulation of Fact.)

On July 1, 2009, the Board president executed two separate collective bargaining agreements, one extending from July 1, 2007, through June 30, 2009, and the second from July 1, 2009, through June 30, 2011. (Exhibits E and F to Partial Stipulation of Fact.) Each of these agreements contained a two-year-salary schedule. The latter of those agreements has again expired, and the parties are again negotiating for a successor collective bargaining agreement.

The Board submitted the certification of Assistant Superintendent for Business Robert Marcotulli, which outlined the financial constraints faced by the school district. It is uncontroverted, and I FIND that during the 2009-2010 school year, and following execution of the Memorandum of Agreement, the district was advised that it would lose State aid, and that it would be required to utilize budget surplus to fund district programs. The 2010-2011 school year saw further cuts in State aid—approximately $2.2 million dollars. The district was forced to cut staff and programming, increase class sizes, and postpone needed capital expenditures. Marcotulli noted that these financial setbacks will continue to impact the district during the 2011-2012 school year.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The parties cross-move for summary decision. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5 provides that summary decision should be rendered "if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." Our regulation mirrors R. 4:46-2(c), which provides that "the judgment or order sought shall be rendered if the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment or order as a matter of law."

A determination whether a genuine issue of material fact exists that precludes summary decision requires the judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to permit a rational fact finder to resolve the allegedly disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party. Our courts have long held that "if the opposing party offers . . . only facts which are immaterial or of an insubstantial nature, a mere scintilla, 'fanciful frivolous, gauzy or merely suspicious,' he will not be heard to complain if the court grants summary judgment." Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520 (1995) (citing Judson v. Peoples Bank and Trust Co., 17 N.J. 67, 75 (1954)).

The "judge's function is not himself [or herself] to weigh the evidence and determine the truth of the matter but to determine whether there is a genuine issue for trial." Brill, supra, 142 N.J. at 540 (citing Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, 477 U.S. 242, 249, 106 S. Ct. 2505, 2511, 91 L. Ed. 2d 202, 212 (1986)). When the evidence "is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law," the trial court should not hesitate to grant summary judgment. Liberty Lobby, supra, 477 U.S. at 252, 106 S. Ct. at 2512, 91 L. Ed. 2d at 214.

It is clear from the submissions of the parties that they do not disagree as to the underlying facts; only as to how the relevant law affects the validity of the controverted salary schedules. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that this matter is ripe for summary decision.[1]

The Board argues that the Memorandum of Agreement adopted on April 28, 2009, was ultra vires because it contained four salary schedules. It asserts that the 2010-2011 salary guide must be voided, and that as a result, salary increments may not be paid to staff members during the 2011-2012 year. N.J.S.A. 18A:29-4.1 provides as follows:

> A board of education of any district may adopt a one, two or three year salary policy, including salary schedules for all full-time teaching staff members which shall not be less than those required by law. Such policy and schedules shall be binding upon the adopting board and upon all future boards in the same district for a period of one, two or three years from the effective date of such policy but shall not prohibit the payment of salaries higher than those required by such policy or schedules nor the subsequent adoption of policies or schedules providing for higher salaries, increments or adjustments.

By permitting salary schedules to be adopted that will extend beyond the life of the adopting board, the legislature has determined to create an exception to the well-accepted rule that a board of education is a non-continuous body whose authority is limited to its own official life. The actions of a sitting school board can bind its successors only in those ways and to the extent expressly provided by statute. Skladzien v. Bd. of Educ., 12 N.J. Misc. 602, 604-605 (Sup. Ct. 1934), aff'd, 115 N.J.L. 203 (E. & A. 1935). Such statutes recognize that, at times, it is "politic" that local boards be enabled to act in the manner of a continuous body. Rall v. Bd. of Educ., 104 N.J. Super. 236, 244 (App. Div. 1969).

[1] The parties filed a document captioned "Partial Stipulation of Facts," but their submissions set forth no additional contested facts that might preclude summary disposition of the claims raised by the pleadings. The Board supplemented its submission with the Marcotulli certification, which contained additional but nonetheless uncontroverted facts.

Since salaries for school district employees are established through collective bargaining, the legislature wisely recognized that annual salary negotiations would be inefficient and not in the overall best interest of school districts and their students. Indeed, N.J.S.A. 18A:29-4.1 was amended in 1987 precisely because the Commissioner had construed its language to invalidate the third year of a salary schedule under earlier statutory language limiting salary guides to only two years. The Assembly Education Committee Statement read:

> On September 6, 1984, the Commissioner of Education held (Orlando v. Mercer County Vocational-Technical Schools) that the third year of a salary schedule, even if negotiated in good faith, was not binding and would have to be renegotiated since N.J.S.A. 18A:29-4.1 specifically provides for a two year salary schedule only. This bill gives a board the option of adopting or negotiating a three year salary schedule.
> [Assembly Education Committee Statement, Assembly No 2045 - L. 1987, c. 123.]

But the desire to minimize the need to continuously bargain collectively must be balanced with the need to base salary agreements on sound fiscal considerations; hence, the legislature likewise understood that salary agreements cannot be boundless. Indeed, a board sitting today has a limited ability to predict the economic indicators that must guide economically prudent decisions about teacher salaries.

It was this latter concern that was the focal point of the seminal judicial interpretation of N.J.S.A. 18:29-4.1. Neptune Bd. of Educ. v. Neptune Educ. Ass'n, 144 N.J. 16 (1996). The Neptune court strictly construed the statutory language, and determined that N.J.S.A. 18:29-4.1 prohibited a board of education from paying its staff members the increments contained in an expired three-year agreement.[2] The court held that per the plain language of the statute, no collective bargaining agreement's salary schedule could be binding on a board of education beyond three years, holding that "[b]y enacting N.J.S.A. 18A:29-4.1, the Legislature intended to allow schools to properly manage their budgets in conformance with the New Jersey Constitution and current economic realities." Neptune, supra, 144 N.J. at 25.

[2] In so ruling, the Neptune court departed from the standard labor-relations notion that the parties must maintain the "status quo" pending negotiation of a successor agreement. The "status quo" was traditionally viewed as "dynamic," thus requiring payment of increments despite the expiration of a collective bargaining agreement.

The sitting Ramsey Board relies heavily on Neptune in support of its contention that the two separate two-year-salary guides adopted in 2009 run afoul of N.J.S.A. 18A:29-4.1. But I CONCLUDE that the Board is compelled to honor the bargain struck with its Association and that requiring that it do so in no way contravenes either Neptune or N.J.S.A. 18A:29-4.1. In 2009, the Board and the Association had been negotiating for a successor agreement for close to two years. The clear intent behind the Board's April 2009 resolution was to retroactively agree upon salary adjustments for the years that had already passed, 2007-2008 and 2008-2009, and to also purchase labor peace for two years moving forward. Accordingly, the 2009 Board bound successor boards for only two years. Its actions were fully compliant with N.J.S.A. 18A:29-4.1, which allows a sitting board to establish staff salaries prospectively for up to three years.

Unit members are again working under an expired contract, and I CONCLUDE that during the 2011-2012 school year the Board must pay any increments earned under the 2010-2011 guide. Doing so would not contravene N.J.S.A. 18A: 29-4.1, as 2011-2012 is the "third year" contemplated by the statute. If the parties are unable to agree to a successor agreement before June 2012, then and only then, would continued payment of increments under the 2010-2011 guide violate the requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A: 29-4.1.

The Marcotulli certification was offered to demonstrate that the district is struggling to function in difficult financial times, and I have no doubt that the concerns expressed in that certification are valid and sincere. But the relevant law does not permit me to grant the Board the relief it seeks merely because it is experiencing economic exigencies. The Neptune court pointed out that one of the purposes of allowing multi-year-salary schedules under N.J.S.A. 18A:29-4.1 was "to prevent local boards from using the budget process to avoid salary schedules they had already agreed to in collective-bargaining negotiations." Neptune, supra, 144 N.J. at 22. The court stated that "[e]ssentially, in 1965, the Legislature, to protect teachers, granted a limited power to boards to bind further boards." Ibid. (emphasis supplied). Thus, the district's financial concerns, however real, do not permit it to rescind an arm's-length agreement made in good faith with its Association, particularly when that agreement falls squarely within the parameters of N.J.S.A. 18A:29-4.1.

Labor relations in the public sector falls under the specialized purview of PERC, the agency statutorily empowered to interpret and implement the New Jersey Public Employment Relations Act. N.J.S.A. 34:13A-1 et seq. But when the employment setting is a school, the Commissioner has a concomitant interest in labor harmony. School Board members, administrators, and teachers who work under settled contracts are better able to focus on their essential mission; the educational success of district children. Simply put, labor strife is bad for kids. The 2009 Ramsey Board apparently knew this, and acted within the boundaries of the law to settle the terms and conditions of employment for district professional staff for the longest term possible. This record presents me with no cause to disturb the contract it entered into, in good faith, with its professional staff.
