STATE DEPARTMENT OF INSTITUTIONS AND AGENCIES

The New Jersey Department of Institutions and Agencies operates the state's 22 hospital, charitable, and correctional and penal institutions; and under the Division of Welfare (with its Bureau of Assistance, State Board of Child Welfare and State Commission for the Blind) supervises the state's public assistance program for the needy in the community.

General supervision over the Department is exercised by a non-salaried non-partisan Board of Control, composed of nine residents of the state appointed by the governor with the consent of the Senate. One member is appointed annually for a term of eight years. The Commissioner is appointed by the Board of Control for an indefinite term. The Department functions in several divisions, with personnel appointed under Civil Service.

The law creating the State Board of Control of Institutions and Agencies provides that it "shall have power to determine all matters relating to the unified and continuous development of all institutions and non-institutional agencies within its jurisdiction; shall determine all matters of policy and have power to regulate the administration of any of the institutions and non-institutional agencies within its jurisdiction, correct and adjust the same so that each institution and agency shall perform its proper function as an integral part of the general system."

The following table shows (a) the number under care of the public assistance programs as of June 30, 1952 and the number which have been added to the rolls during the fiscal year 1952, (b) the number resident in state institutions on June 30, 1952 and the number who entered them during the fiscal year and (c) the number of persons in the community supervised by the hospital-type institutions and the Department's Division of Parole for adjustment to community living.

In addition, general assistance (also known as municipal aid) is available to needy persons who do not qualify for categorical assistance.

AID TO DEPENDENT CHILDREN (State Board of Child Welfare)

The State Board of Child Welfare provides as nearly as possible a normal home life for those children who need foster care as well as for those children who receive assistance in their own homes.

ASSISTANCE (Home Life Department): A program by which financial assistance is given for a child under 16, or under 18 and still attending school, if he has lived in New Jersey for at least a year and if he has been deprived of his father's support through death, desertion, physical or mental illness, imprisonment, deportation, or other cause for absence.

GUARDIANSHIP (Dependent Children's Department): A program by which a neglected, abused or delinquent child in New Jersey may be committed to the guardianship of the state, and may be placed in either a family home (foster, wage, work, free, relative, adoptive) or in an institution if he needs the type of care which only an institution can give. The Board assumes full responsibility, providing for shelter, food, clothing, and health care as required.

CARE AND CUSTODY FROGRAM: (Program of case work services for children not eligible through either the Dependent Children's Department or the Home Life Department). Providing case work services with or without maintenance to a child in his own home or in a foster placement. Legal surrender of custody of the child's person may be involved in certain situations.

PAROLE FROM CORRECTIONAL AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS

Parole is the final phase of the correction process. It is the instrument by which the offender is helped in bridging the gap between the regimented life of the institution and the freedom of normal community living.

Parole is granted by the boards of managers of the juvenile training schools and the reformatories. All of these sentences are indeterminate.

In the case of minimum-maximum (prison) sentences, parole is granted by the State Parole Board, created within the Department by the 1948 Legislature.
