SOMETHING ABOUT CHESS.

Various interesting accounts are given of the origin of this game. Some Hindoo legends relate that it was invented by the wife of Ravanen, king of Lanca, or Ceylon, to amuse her husband with an image of war, when Rama, in the second age of the world, was besieging his capital.

According to another account, the occasion of this invention was as follows :

Behub, a young and dissolute Indian prince, oppressed his people in the most cruel manner. Nassir, a Brahmin, deeply affected by his ex-the new game, and assured him of his willingness to confer a liberal remuneration, if he would mention his own terms. Nassir demanded as many grains of wheat as would arise from allowing one for the first square, two for the second, four for the third, and so on, doubling for each square of the sixty-four on the chess-board. The king, piqued at the apparently trivial value of the demand, desired him, somewhat angrily, to ask a gift more worthy of a monarch to bestow. When, however, Nassir adhered to his first request, he ordered the required quantity of wheat to be delivered to him. On calculating its amount, the superintendents of the public cesses and the lamentations of his subjects, undertook to recall the tyrant to reason. With this view, he invented a game, in which the king, impotent by himself, is protected only by his subjects, even of the lowest class, and frequently ruined by the loss of a single individual.

The fame of this extraordinary invention reached the throne, and the king summoned the Brahmin to teach him the game, as a new amusement. The virtuous Brahmin availed himself of this opportunity to instil into the mind of the young tyrant the principles of good government, and to awaken him to a sense of his duties. Struck by the truths which he inculcated, the prince conceived an esteem for the inventor of granaries, to their utter astonishment, found the demand to be so enormous, that not Behub's kingdom only, but all Hindostan would have been inadequate to the discharge of it. The king now admired the Brahmin still more for the ingenuity of his request than for the invention, appointed him his prime minister, and his kingdom was thenceforward prosperous and happy.

The claim of the Hindoos to the invention has been disputed in favor of the Chinese, but as they admit that they were unacquainted with the game till 174 years before Christ, and the Hindoos unquestionably played it long before that time, the pretensions of the latter must naturally fall to the ground.

CLEANING COINS.

Boil the coins in pure water in which is dissolved a small quantity of potash; wash them and cleanse them by means of a common nail-brush; pass them through pure water and then dry them on a cloth, without rubbing them. When dry, they can be polished with a dry common nail-brush without incurring the risk of injuring the fine lines.

ECLIPSES IN 1889.

There will be five eclipses this year as follows:

I. A Total Eclipse of the Sun, January 1, visible in Northern California, just north of San Francisco, and thence northeastward through Dakota and Montana nearly to Hudson's Bay, and as a partial eclipse elsewhere in the United States, west of New York and Albany. In the States east of the 95th meridian and west of New York the eclipse will be on the Sun at sunset. In Texas and the Pacific States it will end before sunset. The eclipse will be total at Marysville, Point Arenas, Yuba City, California, and at Unionville, Nevada. Carson City and Virginia City are about on the southern limit of totality.

BOOKS OF MANY EDITIONS.

According to Sir David Dundas, an eminent authority, the books that, next to the Bible, have gone through the greatest number of editions, are the "Imitation of Christ," by Thomas à Kempis, Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress," and Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

"HOW DOES YOUR
 BLENDED TEA .
 SUIT YOU, TABBY?"
 TABBY-"GIMME SOME MORE!"

We hope and pray that plenty may
 Be found for all on Christmas Day.

With laurel and holly
 And mistletoe crowned,
 King Christmas again
 Is pursuing his round.
 The harper stands waiting
 The people to greet,
 With soul-cheering music
 And melody sweet.

So haste with the sirloins ;
 The turkeys prepare ;
 And stir up the puddings
 With speed and with care,
 That all may be ready,
 The moment he comes,
 To welcome him into
 Ten millions of homes.

For without distinction
 A visit he'll pay
 To marble-built mansions
 And huts built of clay.
 And though but a limited
 Time he will tarry.
 A blessing to all
 Let us hope he will carry.

Nor will he depart
 Without seeing the glasses
 Filled up to the brim
 To drink health to the lasses.
 Or, closing the day,
 As the chances may be,
 With a dance and a bowl full
 Of T. & B.'s Blended Tea.

Advice to Purchasers of Pianos and Organs.

It is a difficult matter for an innocent purchaser to tell the difference between a cheap, poor-made instrument and a first-class one; so perfect is the art of Staining, Varnishing and Polishing, that some of the cheaper made instruments look superior to a legitimate made article. It is only after a test of the different changes in temperature that fraud can be detected. The only real safeguard is to go to a respectable and reliable dealer and select a Piano or Organ that bears the name of an established manufacturer who has a factory.

Independent of all manufacturers' guarantees, I warrant all my instruments for 5 years. All Pianos I keep in tune for one year free of charge.

LADIES' HAIRDRESSING
IN 1763.

The hairdresser began operations by dexterously separating from the rest six hairs near the crown of the head. He twisted them between his thumb and finger, rolled them up from the points to the root, and locked them fast in a square inch of paper. He then took the next six hairs towards the front, papering them up in the same manner, and thus proceeded in a straight line from the crown of the head towards the nose, till he had completed a row of ten papers. He then gradually descended towards the right ear, which exactly completed a row of thirty papers. Thus supposing both ears to be equidistant from the crown, he made a row of sixty papers, and multiplying these by the depth gave a total of 600. These were separately burnt with hot irons. The papers being now taken off, the head was daubed with at least half a pound of grease, to which one pound of meal was added. The meal and grease were then worked up together until thoroughly incorporated, after which the hair was bent over the fingers, and fastened with about a thousand pins; so firmly was it fastened that neither time nor weather had power to alter its position. The hair thus dressed was expected to last for about three months, during which time it was not in the lady's power to comb her hair. No doubt, when newly done, the head was very effective as an ornament. What it was at the end of three months must be left to the imagination of the modern reader.

FROM
CHRISTMAS IN THE OLDEN TIME.
 BY SIR WALTER SCOTT.

The fire, with well-dried logs supplied,
 Went roaring up the chimney wide ;
 The huge hall table's oaken face,
 Scrubbed till it shone the day to grace,
 Bore then upon its massive board
 No mark to part the squire and lord.
 Then was brought in the lusty brawn,
 By old blue-coated serving-man ;
 Then the grim boar's-head frowned on high,
 Crested with bays and rosemary.
 Well can the green-garbed ranger tell,
 How, when, and where, the monster fell ;
 What dogs before his death he tore,
 And all the baiting of the boar.
 The wassail round in good brown bowls,
 Garnished with ribbons, blithely trowls.
 There the huge sirloin reeked ; hard by
 Plum-porridge stood, and Christmas pie ;
 Nor failed old Scotland to produce,
 At such high-tide, her savory goose.
 Then came the merry masquers in,
 And carols roared with blithesome din ;
 If unmelodious was the song,
 It was a hearty note, and strong.

BIG THINGS.

The largest theatre in the world is the new opera house in Paris. It covers nearly three acres of ground; its cubic mass is 4,287,000 feet; it cost about 100,000,000 francs. The largest suspension bridge is the one between New York city and Brooklyn; the length of the main span is 1,595 feet 6 inches; the entire length of the bridge is 5,980 feet. The loftiest active volcano is Popocatepetl—"smoking mountain"—thirty-five miles south-west of Puebla, Mexico; it is 17,748 feet above the sea level, and has a crater three miles in circumference and 1,000 feet deep. The longest span of wire in the world is used for a telegraph in India over the River Kistnah. It is more than 6,000 feet in length and is 1,200 feet high. The largest ship in the world is the Great Eastern; she is 680 feet long, 83 feet broad, and 60 feet deep, being 28,627 tons burden, 18,915 gross, and 13,345 net register.

The biggest cavern is the Mammoth Cave in Edmondson county, Kentucky. It is near Green River, about six miles from Cave City, and 28 from Bowling Green.

The longest tunnel in the world is that of the St. Gothard, on the line of railroad between Lucerne and Milan. The summit of the tunnel is 900 feet below the surface at Andermatt, and 6,000 feet beneath the peak of Kastelhorn of the St. Gothard group. The tunnel is $26\frac{1}{2}$ feet wide, and is 18 feet 10 inches from the floor to the crown of the arched roof. It is $9\frac{1}{2}$ miles long— $1\frac{3}{8}$ mile longer than the Mont Cenis Tunnel.

The biggest trees in the world are the mammoth trees of California. One in a grove in Tulare county, according to measurements made by members of the State Geological Survey, was shown to be 276 feet in height, 108 feet in circumference at base, and 76 feet at a point 12 feet above ground. Some of the trees are 376 feet high and 34 feet in diameter. Some of the largest that have been felled indicate an age from 2,000 to 2,500 years.

The greatest pyramid is that of Cheops, one of the three pyramids forming the Memphis Group, situated on a plateau about 187 feet above the level of the highest rise in the Nile. Its dimensions have been reduced by the removal of the outer portions to furnish stone for the city of Cairo. Its masonry consisted originally of 89,028,000 cubic feet, and still amounts to 82,111,000 feet. The present vertical height is 450 feet, against 479 feet originally. The total weight of the stone is estimated at 9,316,000 tons.
