EDMUND T. HUME, COMMISSIONER

October 15, 1970

To the Honorable William T. Cahill, Governor of the State of New Jersey, and the Members of the New Jersey State Legislature:

I am pleased to transmit the Thirty-Second Annual Report of the Division of Local Finance.

As required by state law, the report includes comparative financial statistics of municipalities and counties throughout the State. The statistics are tabulated to show the cost of government, the costs of principal services, the amount of debt and other pertinent data.

Respectfully submitted,

Edmund T. Hume
Commissioner

FOREWORD

This report is the thirty-second in a series which has been published consecutively since 1938.

This statistical series has been of particular value to the legislature, to various state departments, investors, research groups and students of local finance. Although changes have been made over the years, care has been taken to preserve the comparability of data and to present statistics in convenient form without diminishing the value of these reports as an historical series.

This is the second year of the computer prepared report. We have modified the previous format to include more information about taxation and the tax base. We also included a new line for human resources, and added the Standard and Poor Rating.

The financial statistics contained in this report come from budgets, financial statements, debt statements and other documents prepared by the chief financial officer of the local unit and from real property tax data filed with the state by the county boards of taxation. It is important to note that the fiscal year for all New Jersey local units is the calendar year. All New Jersey local units operate by law on a cash-basis budget.

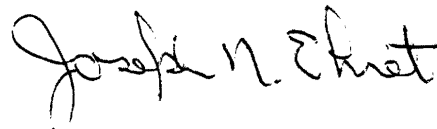

Because the necessary information is not reported to the state, this report does not include detail on: special districts; public authority expenditures; welfare trust fund expenditures; urban renewal, model cities, or housing expenditures funded from other than the budgeted revenues; state aid programs for which funds are dedicated; or expenditures on antipoverty or community development programs operated by Community Action Agencies.

In addition to the municipal and county data there are a number of special tables comparing revenues, expenditures, tax rates and debt trends over the current decade. One special table shows which units operate under special forms of government. Another special table shows equalized general tax rates for each municipality since 1963. A glossary of terms providing essential information for the proper use of specific data is presented to assist those who may be unfamiliar with municipal finance and its terminology.

The statements of revenues and expenditures show costs of various governmental functions and activities. Although some units are susceptible to further breakdown, uniform expenditure classifications have been used for both municipalities and counties throughout the report. A classification index is included in the Glossary.

This report was prepared by the Bureau of Research and Analysis of the Division of Local Finance, headed by Aileen Cavanagh. Francis Maimona, Anthony Celentano, Arlene Bogdan, David Grimm, Robert Rhodes and William Harrington all made substantial contributions to the work. The willing cooperation of other state agencies is recognized with deep appreciation, particularly the Division of Taxation of the Treasury Department for providing input in computer-readable format. Special thanks are also due to Maria Berardo, who patiently typed everything the computer didn't.
