The Speaker then addressed the House briefly.

REMARKS BY HON. MANFIELD G. AMLICKE, SPEAKER OF THE NEW JERSEY HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY, DELIVERED TO THE ASSEMBLY UPON THE OPENING OF THE 1943 SESSION:

The great honor which you bestowed upon me and on the county of Passaic, when you elected me to lead you as the Speaker of the House of Assembly in the One Hundred and Sixty-Seventh Legislature of the State of New Jersey, shall always be cherished by me.

I wish to thank you and promise you that I shall keep my oath of office.

I accept the responsibilities and powers of this office with full knowledge that you shall, in great measure, be judged by what I say and do. I, therefore, solicit not only the co-operation of the majority but also that of the minority, to promote a program of sound legislation, based upon necessity and economy.

I am also looking forward to a practical co-operation, based on a simple understanding of the needs and problems of our State, between the Governor and the Legislature.

The routine State business, including the passage of the appropriation bills, should be concluded not later than March 31. Thereafter, we should meet only for consideration of legislation made necessary by an actual emergency.

For that reason, I urge you to introduce your bills during the six weeks' period provided for by the rules, and suggest to the Committee on Introduction of Bills to limit as far as possible the consideration of any other measures.

We should continue the short and businesslike day sessions put into effect in nineteen hundred and forty-two during the term of my immediate predecessor.

The Appropriations Committee, I am sure, will bear in mind that our State income will be substantially reduced. It should be the policy of the committee to eliminate all nonessential spending without any exceptions and to encourage the fixing of a minimum budget. Administrative needs should be adequately planned in advance and cut as much as possible, so that supplemental appropriations should not become necessary.

It must be our policy at this time to absolutely discourage all supplemental appropriations after the regular appropriation bills are adopted—except only in cases where funds are needed to provide for State defense or to carry on our war effort.

The various administrative heads can provide for greater economy by co-ordinating the operations of their several departments, within the scope of our present laws.

Those agencies that enjoy the use of dedicated funds should not feel that such funds must be spent—they might well be used for other State purposes to offset the lack of present income. We cannot afford to be generous with State funds at a time when they are so reduced. It is our solemn duty to preserve them.

We have seen the operation of bureaucracy and its results. Let us make up our minds therefore that the functions of our State government shall be kept as simple as possible—and that overbearing bureaucracy shall not become part of it. Administrative agencies should not attempt to control the legislature—they should merely recommend appropriate legislation.

We must reassure the people of this State, that no new taxes will be imposed and that every effort will be made to spend within the limits of curtailed income. Their tax burden is now overwhelming.

The sovereign rights of our State must be maintained against all attempts to impair or destroy them. We must preserve for the people of this State the benefits which we, through our foresight, provided for them—we should fight every effort on the part of the Federal executive or administrative agencies to take away any portion of our Unemployment Compensation Fund.

This fund, if kept intact, will increase and could eventually be used to tide us over the transition period after the war is ended, when we are transforming our military production to provide once again for our daily civil needs.

Our men are dying on far-flung battlefields so that we could continue to assemble and live as a free people. It should not be too difficult for us at home to continue to sacrifice more and more of our daily luxuries and comforts to provide greater safety for them and a better assurance for their return.

Our most important task next to the winning of the war, therefore, is to provide now for the future welfare of the men and women serving in the armed forces of this country.

It is our duty to make provisions for rehabilitation of injured and maimed veterans; to provide a program of vocational training to fit them to hold jobs in our new post-war industrial set-up; to limit permanent appointments to public employment so that the returning men and women would have a chance to fill some of them. I strongly urge that a committee be authorized to study these problems and report its findings to the Legislature in the earliest possible time.

We should consider the creation of a uniform State pension system, sound actuarially to insure the payments of pensions accruing hereafter.

We should set up machinery to provide, if possible, surpluses and reserves to assist municipalities in the period of transition from war to peacetime production.

The question of pay increases to State employees should be carefully scrutinized to provide similar pay for similar jobs. The evil of inequality in pay must be corrected so that it could not recur. The pay of all employees in the lower strata should be equitably increased to meet the present scale of living, either by way of periodic bonuses or by change in the base pay.

We must approach the problems of legislation knowing that we are dealing not with the richest or the poorest of the people but with the average being who has the combined virtues and vices of all.

Having this in mind, we should steer the course of conduct of our State business in the direction that would accomplish the end most desired—the greatest good for the greatest number.

We shall probably suffer criticism for some of our acts but if these acts are supported by our honest moral conviction we have little to fear. We can forget about being honest politicians as long as we practive honesty in politics.

If we respect the wishes of our constituents I am sure they will have full confidence in us and will rely upon the exercise of our judgment in their behalf.

Thank you.

Mr. Cavicchia offered the following resolution, which was read by the Clerk and adopted:

Resolved, That the House do now proceed with the election of a Clerk of the House for the One Hundred and Sixty-seventh Session of the Assembly.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
January 12, 1943.

Honorable Manfield G. Amlicke,
Speaker of the House of Assembly,
State House.

MY DEAR MR. SPEAKER—I am pleased to transmit herewith two official copies of Governor Edison's Annual Message to the Legislature of New Jersey.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

WANTED

God give us men! A time like this demands
Strong minds, great hearts, true faith, and ready hands;
Men whom the lust of office does not kill;
Men whom the spoils of office cannot buy;
Men who possess opinions and a will;
Men who have honor, men who will not lie;
Men who can stand before a demagogue,
And damn his treacherous flatteries without winking! . . .

—JOSIAH GILBERT HOLLAND.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
January 12, 1943.

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Members of the Senate and the Assembly:

Our country has been at war now a little more than a year. The first concern of every American is to win that war in the shortest possible time. The first concern of the people of New Jersey is to win the war.

From our factories, arsenals, and shipyards is coming a large proportion of the munitions, the planes, and the ships necessary to defeat the enemies of our country. We are proud of New Jersey industry at all times, but we are especially proud of what it has done in the year just passed. The production record of New Jersey would not be what it is except for the whole-hearted support that labor has given to the war effort. New production records have been set, and the Army-Navy "E" is everywhere to be seen.

Agriculture in New Jersey has also put forth its best efforts to provide food for our armed forces and for the civilian population. And our citizens in every walk of life have loyally co-operated in the war effort, buying bonds, collecting scrap, and serving on draft and rationing boards. About 600,000 of our citizens are now engaged in civilian defense work, almost all of them without any compensation. Their patriotism deserves our most hearty approval.

All the people of New Jersey are proud of the thousands of our young men who are in the fighting services, defending our country against its enemies. Many of them have already received citations for heroism. All of them are a credit to the State and to the Nation.

More than a year ago the Legislature passed a number of laws that strengthened the State's defense effort. These measures are now working with reasonable satisfaction. I am sure that the Legislature of 1943 will be as alert as its predecessors to the defense needs of the State.

The war has brought some financial problems to the State, though these problems have not as yet become as serious as many people a year ago expected. The income from some taxes is down, but the income from others, such as inheritance taxes and railroad taxes under the new law, has increased over previous years. At the same time demands on the State Treasury have been reduced. No new or additional taxes appear to be called for at this time. A fuller treatment of the State's fiscal situation will be found in my annual budget message.

War conditions have made it necessary for the State government, as for most other employers, to provide additional compensation to its employees. This was done in 1942 by means of a bonus, and where appropriations permitted, by increases for especially worthy cases. My budget message will deal with this continuing problem.

With the heavy burden on New Jersey taxpayers of federal taxes, all State departments are under unusual obligation to conserve funds wherever possible. Substantial savings of public funds have recently been reported by the Highway Department and the State Purchasing Department. The Commissioner of Finance has from time to time reported savings by other departments. These savings bear out the contention I have made before that the State government could be operated both more efficiently and more economically, even under the major handicap of our 1844 constitution.

The services performed by the States are essential to the maintenance of our democracy. These services are necessary both in war and in peace. The many constructive programs undertaken by the States must be continued and expanded even in wartime. But it is now necessary for us to learn to do more with less. Many officers must learn to perform their normal services with a smaller staff and lesser facilities. Certain types of trained or experienced personnel will simply be unobtainable for the duration of the war.

A large number of State employees have left for the war. Many other men and women have temporarily left the service of the State to carry on important war work. We owe it to them to carry on and to improve the State administration, particularly to improve our personnel practices and to revise and strengthen our financial program.

It is impossible for me to cover in this message all of the problems of the State. I wish on this occasion to consider only those that seem to me most pressing, and those that require legislation.

CIVIL SERVICE

Adequate management and effective handling of personnel matters are essentials of good public administration. Our civil service laws were enacted thirty-five years ago, and these laws do not take into proper account some of the newer problems that have arisen. Conditions today require that a public personnel agency shall assume and maintain leadership in dealing with the whole range of problems inherent in a positive civil service administration. Maintenance of a stable civil service, functioning with efficiency and good morale, will not just happen.

The Civil Service Commission needs to do more than to serve as umpire in differences arising between management and workers after these differences have reached a serious stage. It must go out to meet problems and deal with them. It should provide definite programs and policies designed to apply to the whole service for the use and guidance of the Budget Department, the Commissioner of Finance, and the Joint Legislative Appropriations Committee.

The circumstances which led to my appointment of a Committee to Study State Employer-Employee Relationships are illustrative of the point I want to make. The conditions at the State Hospital and in Newark indicated to me that adequate machinery did not exist for dealing with the matters involved. The report and findings of that Committee have confirmed my conclusions.

It is important that the problems with which workers are struggling shall be given serious consideration, and their grievances, whether fancied or real, be dealt with promptly and impartially. I recommend the setting up of a Public Employees' Appeal Board to serve as an appellate body for State workers, and a similar body or bodies to function in the same way at the local government level.

The war emergency has made acute other personnel problems in both the State and local governments. The manpower shortage, the rising living costs, the inequalities in salaries and working conditions, the failure in past years to provide merited salary increments for State employees, the loss in departmental personnel to the armed forces, to the federal Civil Service and to industry—all these present problems.

We cannot expect conditions to improve during the coming year. We must carry on essential public services, and we must pay to public employees a wage that approaches what is adequate. Care must be exercised that no steps be taken even in war time to break down our basic civil service principles or to bring into the service persons who are not qualified to perform the tasks to which they are assigned.

The Civil Service Commission has already presented to me a number of proposals designed to meet the emergency which we face. It is proposed that a minimum annual compensation of $1,200 be established for all full-time employees; that a system of priorities be established for essential public work in order that public personnel requirements be reduced to the minimum and that the workers we have shall be assigned most effectively. These and other proposals should be studied by the Legislature, and those that have merit should be enacted into law.

I have directed that all employees receiving less than the legal minimum pay for their class be brought up to that minimum effective January 1. This, I hope, will be the first step toward a complete, scientific reclassification in our civil service.

I recommend especially that the compensation of the Civil Service Commissioners be increased to an amount more in keeping with their responsibilities. The work of the Commission is now so great as to require the full time of the members, but their salaries are so low that the public cannot well expect to receive their full-time services. The time has come for the State to require full-time Commissioners and to compensate them adequately for their work.

LABOR

In my inaugural address, I proposed a seven-point labor program for New Jersey. A part of that program has already been enacted. We now have a State anti-injunction act, and a State Mediation Board has been established.

More funds have been provided for the Department of Labor. We have continued to provide public assistance for the unemployed. Fortunately, there are fewer and fewer unemployed each month.

But we have not yet provided a State wage and hour law. It is true that at the present moment the war-time shortage of labor has brought wages up. But a survey of one square mile in Newark, made for the State Department of Labor at my direction in 1940, and 1941, showed that there were in that area 3,028 persons subject neither to federal wage and hour laws nor to State wage orders who were being paid inadequate or oppressive wages. Of the total number, 176, or approximately 6 per cent, were being paid less than $5.00 a week; 474, or roughly 16 per cent, were paid more than $5.00 and under $10.00 a week; and 793, or 26 per cent, received more than $10.00 and less than $14.00.

Hourly earnings were also shown to be inadequate or oppressive. Of the 3,028 persons not subject to federal or State law, 71 received less than 15 cents an hour; 149 more than 15 cents but less than 20 cents; and 290 more than 20 cents but less than 25 cents.

Investigators discovered that many establishments kept no records of hours worked by employees. It may be assumed that in many of the instances in which low hourly rates were paid, the number of hours of work necessary to obtain a bare living was very great.

It may be taken for granted that another survey, if made today, would show these appalling conditions improved. But the time to provide safeguards against abuses is before the abuses occur, not while people suffer under them.

Our workmen's compensation act was passed in 1911. It does not cover many occupational diseases, notably many of those which recent medical science has shown to arise from industrial hazards. The administrative working of the act needs to be speeded up. I recommend that the Legislature set up a special committee to re-examine our workmen's compensation act, to hold hearings, to compare the New Jersey law with the acts of other industrial states, and to suggest as a result of their study specific amendments to modernize our law.

SOCIAL SECURITY

In my inaugural address, I also recommended that our present social security law should be broadened and its benefits extended to workers not now covered by its provisions. I recommended further that our State old age assistance be increased. I repeat both of these recommendations.

The great interest aroused by the Beveridge report, proposing the broadening of social security for post-war Britain, proves that people all over the world want better security as one of the objectives of this war. The mass of mankind does not want to win a victory only to return to want, unprotected old age, or the terrors of illness in poverty. Our democracy should prove its vigor and take the lead in improving and extending our social security now.

I recommend that the Legislature appoint a committee now to undertake an immediate study of our laws with a view to protecting our citizens against extraordinary hardships of all kinds—especially against the hardships that may occur in a difficult period of post-war adjustment.

TAXATION

The revision of the railroad tax laws, begun in 1941, was completed in 1942, and no further legislation appears to be called for at this time. I am convinced, and I believe the informed people of New Jersey are convinced, that this series of laws revising the taxation of railroad property brought a higher degree of justice to this important industry than it had received for many years.

When revision of the railroad tax laws was being discussed in the latter part of Governor Moore's third term and in the early part of mine, two major railroad systems were in bankruptcy. Two other major systems were on the verge of bankruptcy. Confiscatory taxation was, to an important degree, responsible for this condition. The properties were in as bad shape physically as they were financially.

Had the major railroad systems been forced into bankruptcy, and the others already bankrupt been forced to remain there, they could not have met the war demands now being made upon them.

Because of the operation of the franchise tax feature of the new law, the railroads are paying far higher taxes today than if the old law had remained in effect. Furthermore, they are actually paying the taxes, which was not the case under the old law. It is to be hoped that the litigation which is at present tying up this tax money may be decided at an early date.

In preparing and in passing the railroad tax laws, the Legislature co-operated with the Executive to improve our method of taxing railroad property in spite of the most vicious attacks and the most false allegations. This joint action of the two branches in resolutely proceeding to right an old wrong was a most heartening example of what democratic government can do when motives of party and personal interest are put aside.

I should like to see this co-operation continued to right some other tax wrongs. For years it has been widely recognized in New Jersey that real estate bears a disproportionate share of the costs of government. New Jersey ranks first among the States of the Union in the percentage of total taxes raised by the taxation of real estate. Taxes on farms are the second highest in the country. Although this condition is admitted by all who examine it to be economically unhealthy, unanimity has never been reached on what should be done about it. Although there will always be some people who will object to any solution that can be found, we must attack this problem with courage and determination.

We have another unhealthy condition in the haphazard collection of taxes on intangible personal property. Under the law as it stands, intangibles are subject to the same tax rate as real estate. But the rate which is applied to real estate is so high that if it were levied on intangibles it would drive them out of the State and drive with them many of the industries they represent. When occasionally some municipality undertakes to tax intangibles, they scurry away to another taxing district where their owners hope to make some deal with local officials. When officials change, they must scurry again.

The tax policy of New Jersey with regard to the taxing of intangibles—if anything so uncertain and haphazard may be called a policy—is a survival of those bygone days when all property was real property. It takes no account of the changes that have occurred in the nature of ownership. It does not keep modernized the tax structure of this State.

Worse, this policy must assume partial or complete disregard for the law by local officials. No assessor, no county tax board, can, under present circumstances, do an honest, completely legal job. If they suddenly did their jobs as the laws require, the effect upon the economy of New Jersey would be devastating—and they know it. The law as it stands makes lawbreakers out of a host of public officials. This situation seems to me intolerable and indefensible.

On October 26, last year, I proposed to the Legislature that the State assume the collection of the tax on intangibles; that a tax at the very low rate of 3½ mills be imposed by the State; and that the proceeds be used to relieve real estate of the State school tax. The details of the proposal are less important than the principle, which is that under this plan the threat of tax lightning may be removed from New Jersey business, and at the same time real estate may be relieved of part of its present burden. I hope that the Legislature of 1943 will take up these problems—the relief of real estate and the taxation of intangibles—and provide a solution to them both.

The administration of our tax laws has, over the years, developed certain difficulties that now call for legislative action. The first of these is the problem of equalization of assessments as between counties. The law requires the State Tax Commissioner to carry this out, but for a number of years insufficient funds have been appropriated to the department. Such information as is available leads me to think that property in some counties is much overassessed and property in other counties underassessed. This inequitable condition leads to a multitude of appeals to the State Board of Tax Appeals.

Since each tax year is regarded as separate from every other, local tax officials have come to disregard decisions of the State Board of Tax Appeals and to restore assessments that have been reduced by the State Board. Such an action compels the taxpayer to appeal every year. He has to pay his taxes on the original assessment, and if he is successful, he obtains a refund; but in the interval his money is used without interest. By disregarding decisions of the State Board and by restoring the assessments the Board has reduced, citizens may be compelled in effect to make forced loans without interest. This condition can be corrected by the passage of legislation that will bar increases in assessments for some reasonable number of years in the absence of an affirmative showing by the assessing district of a change in value.

A small filing fee for appeals of assessments to county boards of taxation is required of taxpayers in first-class counties. Courts and many quasi-judicial bodies require fees, on the theory that, while their services are available to all citizens, not all citizens have need of them, and those who do should bear a part of the special costs. I believe that the Legislature might well impose a small fee for the filing of appeals to the State Board.

The members of the State Board of Tax Appeals now have an immense amount of work to perform. They have to pass upon thousands of appeals from each county in the State. Membership on the board may once have been regarded as part time. It no longer can be. In addition, the responsibilities of the Board have been vastly increased. It has annually to pass upon appeals involving hundreds of millions of dollars. I recommend, therefore, that the salaries of the members be increased to a sum that will be more nearly appropriate for the amount of work and for the responsibility of the positions.

AGRICULTURE

The prosperity of a large part of New Jersey depends upon a favorable income for our farming people. During the past two years the farmers in New Jersey have enjoyed the greatest yields of crops and livestock products in the history of the State. Farm prices have been good.

In 1942 the federal government, in the interest of the war effort, called upon the farmers of the country to increase their production above the previous year. These higher production goals were met by New Jersey farmers with greater yields per acre and with the planting of a larger acreage of the more essential food crops. Our farmers are being asked for 1943 to produce food in even greater amounts. Regardless of less available labor and in spite of serious shortages of farm machinery, seed, fertilizer and supplies, I know that New Jersey farmers will make every effort to answer this demand for greater food production. I know that all the State agencies that are in a position to do so will assist our farmers in reaching these new goals.

The labor shortage is probably the most critical farm problem. Last year legislation was passed and approved establishing the State Commission on Student Labor. This new agency did much to assist farmers throughout the year. I expect this commission will go even further this year in its efforts to be of service to farmers.

The State Department of Agriculture, the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, and the Agricultural Extension Service have always been important agencies working in the interest of the farmers of New Jersey. They have my support in their programs of service to New Jersey agriculture during the coming year. I am confident that they will continue to be of even greater importance, especially in research and marketing.

HIGHWAYS

Real progress has been achieved by the present Highway Commissioner in meeting some of the criticisms of the Department contained in the report resulting from the recent Governor's highway investigation. He has carried out improvements in the administration of personnel problems involving, among other things, the proper reclassification of employees, salary adjustments, and the setting up of an effective grievance machinery. The morale within the Department has been raised to a high level.

The Highway Commissioner has introduced a new practice in right-of-way acquisition that meets some of the pointed criticism of the Department brought out in the course of the highway investigation. A revised appraisal procedure has resulted in fairer valuations and considerable savings to the State. A restudy of pending cases should result in savings comparable to that effected in the recent acquisition of the Wilkinson-Gaddis property in Newark.

Considerable economies in the administration of the Highway Department have resulted from such policies instituted by the new Commissioner as the discontinuance of hiring outside trucks, the correction of the over-manned condition of the Maintenance Division, the abolition of duplicate traffic counting, and the reduction in gasoline, tire and equipment expenditures by restricting the use of cars and trucks.

The Department has met the demands of the war effort. The Commissioner has subordinated all normal activities of the Department and directed every employee to give preference to the requirements of the federal government. Red tape has been cut to get the work of providing satisfactory access roads for war industries and the military establishments under contract and completed.

Not only have many of the former practices and policies of the Department been corrected, but the Highway Commissioner has already started on many of the constructive proposals contained in the recent Highway Report. He has made careful and extensive studies of the problem of reorganizing the Department on a more efficient basis. The process of reorganization has actually begun and will be carried forward with all reasonable speed.

PUBLIC CONSTRUCTION AND POST-WAR PLANNING

More than a year ago, I requested the State Planning Board to prepare projects looking toward post-war State construction. In order to permit the Board to carry out this work, I recommended to the Legislature last year that adequate funds be provided for it. This was not done, but I repeat the recommendation now. The spending of a little money at this time for an adequate plan may later well prevent the waste of substantial funds in hasty post-war work.

The War Production Board has asked that all public construction be suspended unless it contributes directly to the war effort. New Jersey, I am sure, does not wish to build any roads, buildings, or bridges if their construction takes away any materials or labor that are needed by our fighting forces. Necessary structures can now be planned and their construction undertaken at the end of the war to relieve any unemployment that may then exist.

PUBLIC HEALTH

In order to obtain an impartial survey of public health needs in New Jersey I requested the Surgeon-General of the United States, Dr. Thomas A. Parran, to undertake a study of the subject. Dr. Parran assigned Dr. R. C. Williams, District Director, United States Public Health Service, District No. 1, which includes the State of New Jersey, to make this survey and submit a report. Dr. Williams has completed his report, and I have referred it to the President of the State Board of Health. He has appointed a committee to study it and to make recommendations through the State Board of Health as to its application to the needs of the State. When the department acts upon the report, I may submit a special message if legislation is called for.

During the year 1941-42 the Industrial Hygiene Service was established in the State Department of Health. The Chief and certain members of the scientific staff of the Service have been loaned temporarily to the State of New Jersey by the United States Public Health Service. At present, the Service offers to industry co-ordination of consulting facilities in the field of industrial health. This includes general industrial medicine, industrial nursing, industrial dentistry, venereal disease control, environmental plant engineering and chemical analysis. Increased requests for assistance are being received from industrial physicians, management, nurses, workers and others. This work in industrial health is essential to the maintenance of production in New Jersey. It should be expanded and developed as rapidly as possible.

The State Department of Health is now carrying on a program of rural dental health aid. The Department has requested that this service be expanded. Many civic groups and professional agencies have expressed their support of this proposal. The expanded program of rural dental service has my whole-hearted approval and support.

CONSTITUTIONAL REVISION

The most important problem before the State of New Jersey is an old one. It is a problem that almost every governor since the Civil War has recognized. As the years have passed, the problem has grown steadily worse, and new aspects of it have cropped up to plague each succeeding generation of citizens. The problem is how to obtain modern, effective, responsible, and economical State government under the constitution of 1844. That constitution was perhaps satisfactory for a rural, thinly settled state, such as New Jersey was a hundred years ago. There is absolutely no question that the constitution is unequal to the tasks of our present complex, urban, industrial society.

Both political parties in New Jersey have recognized the necessity for constitutional reform. In the last gubernatorial election, both candidates favored a constitutional convention. I urged a convention in my inaugural address. The Legislature, however, set up a Commission on the Revision of the New Jersey Constitution. That commission did an excellent job, and its unanimous report is the high point in the history of the long struggle for constitutional reform in New Jersey.

Some citizens thought the proposed constitution did not go far enough. Others objected to this provision or to that omission. But the prevailing judgment of all fair-minded students was that the proposed constitution would have gone a long way toward providing a more workable and less expensive State government.

The Legislature, however, set up a joint committee to examine the matter further. They held hearings throughout last summer. The overwhelming majority of those persons and organizations who appeared before the committee favored constitutional reform, and along the lines of the report of the commission. I heard of no one who defended our constitution as it stands. The record of the hearings, soon to be printed, will, I am sure, be the most complete and comprehensive statement in existence of what is wrong with the constitution of 1844.

The committee, in spite of the testimony it had heard, recommended that nothing be done about the constitution and gave the very specious reason that many citizens of New Jersey are now in the armed forces. That is to say, the committee felt that we should do nothing to improve democracy at home while our soldiers are fighting for it abroad. Or else the committee felt that the mothers and fathers of the men who are fighting for us could not be trusted far enough to allow them to vote on the question whether a new constitution should be submitted to them in 1943.

Many people deplore the concentration of power in Washington and profess to see in the increasing federal authority a threat to popular government. I do myself. But I realize that the growth of federal power dates back beyond the Civil War, and that it is constantly accelerated by the failures of the States themselves. When they insist upon attempting to operate under constitutions that are unequal to present-day needs, and when there is a national government aware of those needs and able to act, power is sure to flow to that government which will exercise it.

When the war ends, the States and the Nation will be faced with tremendous and complex problems. If we are honest with ourselves, we cannot expect that the haphazard, inefficient, and irresponsible State government that we have under the constitution of 1844 will be half-way competent to deal with the new problems it will have to face. Washington will once more be compelled to act.

Those who object to having all sovereignty gathered into Washington; those who believe that the States must be the base of representative democracy if it is to be maintained over such vast distances and over so many millions of people as there are in America; and those who fear that the national government has approached the point of growth where sheer size makes it inefficient and dangerous—all these people are under a moral obligation to do something about it.

Name calling is not enough. Deploring is not enough. Blaming some one man or some group of men, living or dead, is both absurd and ineffectual. The decline in the relative position of the States is due to causes, not to persons. We must remove the causes. Our responsibility here in New Jersey is to produce, under a reformed and modernized constitution, a State government able to meet the needs of our times. When we have done that, then—and only then—can we consistently say that there is no need to go to Washington, that our representative government in New Jersey can solve our problems.

The campaign, now more than fifty years old, to revise and modernize the constitution of New Jersey was not ended by the failure of the last Legislature to act. I have been much heartened by the expressions of confidence I have received in the last few months. I know that the campaign will continue, will increase in intensity. But I dread the possibility that a sudden crisis may find the government of New Jersey under its 1844 constitution unequal to its tasks before the inevitable reform is accomplished.

In these times when crisis follows crisis, you members of the one hundred and sixty-seventh Legislature of New Jersey have a great responsibility. It is in your hands to determine if our commonwealth is to stand still, or if it is to meet the post-war emergencies with a State constitution equal to any emergency.

Respectfully submitted,

MY DEAR MR. WADSWORTH—The President has received the certified copy of the resolution adopted by the General Assembly of the State of New Jersey. He appreciates your courtesy in sending this resolution to him.

EMERGENCY STATE COMMISSION ON STATE FISCAL AFFAIRS

February 19, 1943.

Assemblyman Manfield G. Amlicke, Speaker of the House of Assembly, State House, Trenton, New Jersey:

DEAR ASSEMBLYMAN AMLICKE—Complying with the provisions of chapter 2, Laws of 1943, I am directed by the Emergency State Commission on State Fiscal Affairs to advise you that, at the meeting of the commission held on February 16, 1943, at the State House, the following action was taken with reference to recommendations concerning bills pending in the Assembly on appropriations and revenues:

1. The commission recommends disapproval by the Legislature of the following bills:

(a) Assembly 30: An act appropriating $100,000 to the South Jersey Port Commission.

(b) Assembly 86: An act fixing the registration fees for motor vehicles at $8.00 and license fees for drivers at $1.00 per annum. This will have the effect of drastically reducing the now curtailed revenues of the Motor Vehicle Department and of upsetting the budget which has been computed on the basis of revenues to be realized from the fees at their present rate.

(c) Assembly 91: An act providing for an appropriation of $150,000 from the State Highway Fund to the Civilian Defense Director to purchase uniforms and equipment for the voluntary agents of the various local defense councils.

(d) Assembly 98: An act appropriating $110,000 from the State Highway Fund to the Board of Commerce and Navigation to construct and develop an anchorage area, marine basin or ship refuge at or near the mouth of Clam Creek in Atlantic City.

(e) Assembly 118: An act appropriating $10,850 to the Department of Conservation and Development to reimburse cottage owners at Parvin Park in Cumberland county.

2. The commission was in accord with the principle of the bill but voted to recommend disapproval of the appropriation in Assembly 113 creating the New Jersey Parkway Authority of four Commissioners and providing for an appropriation of $25,000.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) HERMAN CRYSTAL,
Secretary.

Notice was given by Mr. Griffiths as follows:

Pursuant to Rule No. 67 of the Rules of the House of Assembly, 24-hour notice is hereby given that I will move to relieve the Committee on Revision of the State Constitution of further consideration of Assembly Concurrent Resolutions Nos. 4 and 5.

Pursuant to a prior resolution Mrs. Gloanna W. McCarthy, National President of the Daughters of American Colonists addressed the Assembly on the subject, "George Washington."

GEORGE WASHINGTON

I am going to ask you to roll back the years, and to go with me down through the tidewaters of Virginia to Fredericksburg and its environs.

For it is there that we shall find the homes of George Washington, Wakefield, where he was born; Epping Forest and Pine Grove Farm, where he spent his childhood days; and Mount Vernon, the home of later years.

There is such an atmosphere of reverence surrounding these shrines, that one recalls the words spoken to Moses from the burning bush: "Put off the shoes from thy feet, for the place where thou standest is holy ground." Some one has said of George Washington—"God made a man more precious than fine gold." And we do know that for him prose and poetry and song have almost exhausted their vocabulary of praise and admiration.

But sometimes as we vision George Washington, he becomes a legendary, austere figure, retreating into the mists of heroic vagueness and we forget that he was really a living breathing entity—a man with human loves and aspirations and achievements.

It is this human side of George Washington that I wish to recall today.

His life story begins some 211 years ago at Wakefield when his father Augustine Washington took down the great family Bible and wrote:

"George Washington, son to Augustine Washington and Mary his wife, was born this 11th day of February, 1732, about 10 o'clock in the morning."

For February 11th was actually the day of the month when Washington was born, and it was not until 1752 after the change to the Gregorian calendar that the date was moved forward to February 22d. Many of his old friends would not relinquish the first date so he had two birthday celebrations each year.

When he was seven the family homestead at Epping Forest burned to the ground and they all moved to Pine Grove Farm, another Washington property on the banks of the Rappahannock and across from the city of Fredericksburg.

Here at Pine Grove Farm, George Washington spent happy childhood days, all unaware that the future held so many stirring events and so much fame. But he was never to forget these early days, and although he was to go far afield with his surveying and his military operations yet no future greatness was ever to change his regard for the old home place.

After his father's death, although only 11, George Washington virtually became the head of the family, and the cares and responsibilities which came to him at that time changed him into a sober, serious lad, and he began his career when other boys of his age were still at school.

When he was only 16 he was out on the Blue Ridge frontier surveying, returning home to plunge into the study of mathematics, labouring to fit himself for his first public position—official surveyor of Culpepper County.

In 1752 when George Washington was 20 years of age, he came into the possession of Mt. Vernon through the death of a half brother. Here he spent many happy, uneventful years, broken only by his participation in the French and Indian Wars and his career as a British officer.

Mount Vernon was very dear to Washington. He loved the glistening white villa and every inch of its fertile soil. His greatest wish was to live there in retirement—quietly and calmly as a country squire.

But then into the old Virginia life, full of the pleasant stir of business and the genial exchange of neighborly courtesies there crept shadows of discontent.

First came the Stamp Act which pressed hard upon the planter of Virginia—then the voice of Patrick Henry as of a prophet crying in the wilderness—followed by the years of the Revolution with Washington leading the fight for his country's independence.

In the deepest shadows grow the twin flowers of faith and courage. Never once in all the bitter years of the Revolution did Washington lose faith in the ultimate outcome. He possessed the faith, the courage, the endurance and the inflexible will necessary to achieve victory, and the greatest lesson he taught the American people was that only the brave deserve freedom, and only the strong can preserve it.

On one of the sad days of the retreat across the Jerseys with a ragged, tattered army, hungry and in despair he said: "No man, I believe ever had a greater choice of difficulties, and less means to extricate himself from them. However, with a full persuasion of the justice of our cause, I cannot entertain an idea that it will fail."

George Washington came into New Jersey many times during the Revolution, and some of the most decisive battles were fought on Jersey soil.

But of all the desperate years of the Revolution the winter spent at Valley Forge was probably the worst, and few episodes in American history are as heroic as the achievements of the Colonial Army there.

The miseries of this winter were augmented by an incompetent Congress, which handicapped affairs by withdrawing funds and reinforcements.

Washington's faith and courage sustained him through all the dark hours of the war and led him into the paths of victory and the Christmas of 1783 when he returned, a private citizen to Mount Vernon.

On the 4th of December he had parted with his officers at Fraunces Tavern in New York, and on December 23rd, as the clock struck noon, he had entered the old State House at Annapolis where Congress was assembled, and tendered his resignation as Commander-in-Chief of the Army.

It was a solemn scene as Washington arose and with simple eloquence took his final leave of Congress resigning the commission entrusted to him more than 8 years before.

On Christmas eve he reached Mount Vernon and rode up the winding path leading to his home. The snow was falling heavily as it had on those other two Christmas eves at Trenton and Valley Forge.

George Washington gazed over the icy waters stretching to the Maryland hills and expressed his deep satisfaction at being home at last. He said: "I feel myself eased of a load of public care and I hope to spend the remainder of my days in cultivating the affection of good men, and in the practice of the domestic virtues. I now expect to glide gently down the stream of life until I sleep with my forefathers."

He did not realize that now he belonged to his country, and that that country was going to call him five years later to render yet another service as the first President of these United States.

George Washington accepted the office of President most reluctantly, and wrote to a friend at the time: "I feel like a culprit who is going to the place of his execution—so unwilling am I in the evening of a life nearly consumed in public cares to quit a peaceful abode for an ocean of difficulties."

But like Cincinnatus he left his farm to head his country's civil affairs, to help a poverty-stricken, divided, frightened people give stability to an infant government.

He served cheerfully for the next 8 years, although faced with many problems and difficulties and when he retired from the Presidency we were already a proud nation ready to face the world unafraid.

In 1797 he left the pageantry of public office and came home to Mount Vernon to stay. His time for the next two years was filled with the contentment of managing his vast estate, receiving his guests, and making occasional trips to places near-by, and until the last December of the 18th century brought him his final peace.

It is well for us to remember that although we have had other great men—George Washington has been called the supreme benefactor of America.

He it was who through all the long weary years led the forlorn hope of the Revolution to the final victory that gave us our independence. He it was who made government under our Constitution a practical reality.

Either achievement merits immortality.

He left us the priceless heritage of his unselfish devotion to the public good.

Could George Washington be with his country again today, he would find deep cause for rejoicing. He would see his people fighting again, this time to preserve the liberty and democracy he gave us.

He would find that the spirit of Valley Forge still lives in the hearts of our American forces who are out on far-flung battle-fronts fighting as bravely as the men of Saratoga and Yorktown.

It is most fitting on the birthday anniversary of this great American, that we pause a moment to rededicate ourselves to the principles for which he stood and that we recall the words he spoke so long ago, but words strangely relevant to the problems of today when he said: "The cause of America and liberty is the cause of every virtuous American citizen, whatever his religion or descent. Now or never is the time for every American to exert himself for his country. The preservation of the sacred fire of liberty is entrusted to the hands of the American people."

Of all the many tributes paid to George Washington, I should like to leave with you the words of Abraham Lincoln —words spoken with solemnity and deep meaning.

Lincoln said:

"Washington is the mightiest name on earth,
On that name no eulogy is expected. It cannot be.
To add brightness to the sun, or glory to the name of Washington is alike impossible. Let none attempt it.
In solemn awe pronounce the name, and in its naked, deathless splendour leave it shining on."

The Speaker extended the thanks of the Assembly to Mrs. McCarthy.

State House, Trenton, N. J.

DEAR ASSEMBLYMAN AMLICKE:

Complying with the provisions of chapter two, laws of 1943, I am directed by the Emergency State Commission on State Fiscal Affairs to advise you that, at the meeting of the commission held on March 2, 1943, at the State House, the following action was taken with reference to recommendations concerning bills pending in the Assembly on appropriations and revenues:

1. The commission recommends disapproval by the Legislature of the following bills:

(a) Assembly 24: An act creating a commission to study and to approve and submit for the consideration of the Governor and Legislature measures which may be taken by the State of New Jersey to guard against and forestall the effects of a possible depression following the termination of the present war emergency. This bill provides for the incurring of commitments but does not set any limitation as to the cost or provide an appropriation.

(b) Assembly 43: An act to provide work scholarships for a limited number of students of the New Jersey State Teachers Colleges and supplementing Title 18 of the Revised Statutes.

(c) Assembly 75: An act fixing the fees payable for the registration on passenger motor vehicles and licenses to drive motor vehicles during the present war emergency and for a certain period thereafter. This will have the effect of drastically reducing the now curtailed revenues of the Motor Vehicle Department and of upsetting the budget which has been set up on the basis of revenues to be realized on the basis of fees at their present rate.

(d) Assembly 111: An act increasing the allowance for funeral expenses for recipients of Old Age Assistance from $100 to $150. The effect of the passage of this legislation would be to increase the cost of Old Age Assistance by approximately $50,000 per annum.

(e) Assembly 119: An act increasing the salary of county superintendents of schools from $5,000 to $6,000.

(f) Assembly 140: An act concerning rate of mileage reimbursement allowance to officers or employees of the State in certain cases.

2. The commission requests that action be deferred on the following bills pending the receipt of additional information and further study by the commission:

(a) Assembly 55: An act changing the Highway Department accounting basis from a calendar year to a fiscal year.

(b) Assembly 82: An act to amend "An act providing for the retirement of certain prison officers of this State and providing a pension for such retired prison officers and their dependents."

(c) Assembly 132: An act creating the New Jersey Electrical Examining Board.

Respectfully submitted,

HERMAN CRYSTAL,
Secretary.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
SENATE CHAMBER,
March 15, 1943.

Mr. Speaker:

I am directed by the Senate to inform the House of Assembly that the Senate has passed the following bill:

Senate Bill No. 6, entitled "An act concerning alcoholic beverages, and supplementing chapter one of Title 33 of the Revised Statutes,"

The objections of the Governor thereto notwithstanding.

Senate Bill No. 6, entitled "An act concerning alcoholic beverages, and supplementing chapter one of Title 33 of the Revised Statutes,"

Was read for the first time by its title and ordered to have a second reading, the objections of the Governor thereto notwithstanding.

The following message, which was read by the Clerk, was received from the Governor:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
February 22, 1943.

Honorable George H. Stanger,
President of the Senate.

SIR—I am returning herewith Senate Bill No. 6 to the Senate without my approval.

Last year I vetoed Senate Bill No. 81, which was a similar bill for the following reasons:

"The bill would authorize the State Commissioner of Alcoholic Beverage Control to compromise any violation or alleged violation of Title 33 of the Revised Statutes, or the regulations adopted pursuant thereto, either before or after hearing or determination, upon payment of such compromise penalty as might be approved and accepted by the Commissioner.

"The Alcoholic Beverage Act has been ably and wisely administered by both the present commissioner and his predecessor in office. Both of them have recognized the dangers incident to the adoption of the proposed legislation. The possibility exists that a compromise penalty in lieu of a suspension of license will become established as the price for violations of the act. The bill, if approved, would open the door to unwelcome pressure on the commissioner to impose the compromise penalty where suspension for a longer or shorter period is richly merited by the offending licensee.

"The liquor trade has historically been one which requires the most careful supervision. The administration of the act in its present form has shown that the penalty of suspension is a salutary one, heeded and feared by every licensee. I feel that compromise penalties will, in time, result in licensees looking upon payment as the necessary price for an extraordinary license permitting them to violate the law."

I am vetoing Senate Bill No. 6 for the same reasons.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) CHARLES EDISON,
Governor.

The following message was received from the Governor.

TRENTON, NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: March 22, 1943.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 13.

The title of this bill is defective in that it states that a holder of a New York fishing license need not take out a New Jersey license to fish in that part of Greenwood lake lying within New Jersey, so long as persons holding New Jersey licenses are not required to have a New York license to fish in the same part of the lake.

The title should be corrected to indicate what was obviously meant and what is clearly stated in the body of the bill, namely, that the reciprocal privilege is extended so long as the holder of a New Jersey license is not required to take out a New York license to fish in the New York side of Greenwood lake.

Respectfully submitted,

Attest: CHARLES EDISON,
C. THOMAS SCHETTINO, Governor.
The Secretary to the Governor.

The following message was received from the Governor:

A message was received from the Governor as follows—and was read by the Clerk:

TRENTON, NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: March 29, 1943.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 47.

This bill would eliminate the requirement that municipal tax collectors annually file with the governing body a statement of the amount of taxes for the preceding years then remaining unpaid, the names of the delinquents, the amount due from each, the description of the property assessed, and the reason why the tax has not been collected.

I do not consider the repeal of these provisions in the public interest, which is now protected by requiring the tax collector to account to the governing body for his failure to collect delinquent taxes.

Respectfully submitted,

Attest: CHARLES EDISON,
C. THOMAS SCHETTINO, Governor.
The Secretary to the Governor.

Mr. Cavicchia moved that Assembly Bill No. 47 lie over.

A message was received from the Governor as follows—and was read by the Clerk:

TRENTON, NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: March 29, 1943.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 124.

This bill is another example of piecemeal tinkering with the tax problem. It is the latest step in the gradual whittling away of our ratables.

Legislation such as this might logically invite pressure by industry for the exemption of goods "in process" that have not yet reached their finished manufactured state.

What is needed is a comprehensive revision and modernization of our entire tax structure.

Respectfully submitted,

TRENTON, NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: March 29, 1943.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 124.

This bill is another example of piecemeal tinkering with the tax problem. It is the latest step in the gradual whittling of our ratables.

Legislation such as this might logically invite pressure by industry for the exemption of goods "in process" that have not yet reached their finished manufactured state. What is needed is a comprehensive revision and moderation of our entire tax structure.

Respectfully submitted,

Attest: CHARLES EDISON,
C. THOMAS SCHETTINO, Governor.

A message was received from the Governor as follows—and was read by the Clerk:

TRENTON, NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: March 29, 1943.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 47.

This bill would eliminate the requirement that municipal tax collectors annually file with the governing body a statement of the amount of taxes for the preceding years then remaining unpaid, the names of the delinquents, the amount due from each, the description of the property assessed, and the reason why the tax has not been collected.

I do not consider the repeal of these provisions in the public interest, which is now protected by requiring the tax collector to account to the governing body for his failure to collect delinquent taxes.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY

EMERGENCY STATE COMMISSION ON STATE FISCAL AFFAIRS

Trenton, N. J., April 2, 1943.

Hon. Manfield G. Amlicke,
Speaker of the House of Assembly,
State House,
Trenton, New Jersey.

DEAR MR. SPEAKER—Complying with the provisions of Chapter 2, Laws of 1943, I am directed by the Emergency State Commission on State Fiscal Affairs to advise you that, at the meeting of the Commission held on April 2, 1943, at the State House, the following action was taken with reference to recommendations concerning financial bills pending in the Senate:

1. The Commission reconsidered its action of April 1, 1943, on the following bills and voted to recommend approval:

   (a) Senate 176: To provide that the Department of Agriculture shall award suitable flags, banners or other forms of recognition of any Grange, Farm Bureau or other agricultural or co-operative marketing association whose members have evidenced a greater total production during 1943 than 1942; makes further provision that where less is produced and is caused by labor shortage due to entry in the armed forces that such awards may be made; appropriates $2,000.

The Commission approved the activity contemplated in the bill with the understanding that the $2,000 appropriation requested be provided out of existing appropriations in the Department of Agriculture.

(b) Senate 177: To provide for suitable forms of recognition, flags, banners, etc., for high schools or private institutions, of learning where 25% or more of the students over 14 years of age work 15 days or more, eight hours a day on farms; appropriates $2,000.

The Commission approved the activity contemplated in the bill with the understanding that the $2,000 appropriation requested be provided out of existing appropriations in the Department of Agriculture.

(c) Senate 181: Appropriates $25,000 for expenditures of Senate Investigating Committee created under S. R. 1 to inquire into operations of State Departments.

The primary reason for the original disapproval was that the Joint Committee on Appropriations had sought this year to include in the general appropriations bill all necessary expenditures. No request had been made to the Appropriations Committee for the appropriation contemplated by Senate 181. The information being brought out before the Senate Investigating Committee in their current building and loan hearings appears to be beneficial to the public interest and the Commission does not wish to hamper the Committee or to keep it from bringing before the people all of the important facts concerning the management and practices of those building and loan associations being investigated. The Commission hopes that the findings of the Senate Investigating Committee will result in corrective legislation to protect the savings of shareholders.

(d) Senate 186: To appropriate $12,800 to the Department of Labor for the enforcement of sections 5:3–22 to 29 of the Revised Statutes affecting the inspection of buildings used for public entertainment.

2. The Commission went on record to approve an appropriation up to $75,000 for a proper post-war planning program pending drafting of suitable legislation and the designation of the proper agency to carry out such a program.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK E. WALSH,
For the Commission.

Mr. Cavicchia moved that the communication be received and filed.

Which motion was adopted.

The following communication was sent to the desk and read by the Clerk:

TRENTON, NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly April 12, 1943.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 103.

The feature of the bill which permits contributions to be paid into the State Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund during the period a teacher, who has been granted a leave of absence, is engaged in Red Cross work, carries with it the liability for the State to maintain adequate reserves for the paying of a pension at retirement on account of this Red Cross service.

It is anyone's guess how long the war will last and how long missionary work in the reclamation of foreign peoples will be carried on by such an organization as the Red Cross after the war is over. It is not sound practice to attach to our law a provision such as this bill carries, for the incurring of liabilities the amounts of which cannot be determined or measured from year to year in the annual valuations by the actuary of the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund.

The benefit provisions of the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund are now so clearly stated that they can be measured in determining its liabilities from year to year. It would be most difficult, if not impossible for the actuary of the fund to measure the potential liabilities incurred under the bill in question.

Respectfully submitted,

Attest: CHARLES EDISON,
C. THOMAS SCHETTINO, Governor.
The Secretary to the Governor.

The Governor's message was then taken up, and

Mr. Cavicchia moved that the message be received and spread in full upon the minutes.

Which motion was adopted.

The bill will lie over in accordance with the terms of the Constitution.

A message was received from the Governor by the hands of his Secretary as follows—and was read by the Clerk:

TRENTON, NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: April 12, 1943.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 82, for the following reasons:

The sponsors of the original Prison Officers' Pension Act (Chapter 220, P. L. 1941), passed over my veto, wrote into it the provision that any employee eligible for membership in the pension fund created by that law who, at the time of joining the Prison Officers' Pension Fund, was a member of the State Retirement System, could demand and receive the payments made into that system, without interest.

It is now proposed that employees withdrawing from the State Retirement System to enter the new Prison Officers' Pension Fund be paid not only the principal amount contributed to the system, but interest thereon as well. This is in direct conflict with the provision of the original act, and constitutes an additional draft upon the State Employees' Retirement System.

It should further be noted that contributions withdrawn from the system by a member desiring to join the Prison Officers' Pension Fund will not necessarily go toward setting up reserves in the new fund, nor would the interest payments, if granted. On the contrary, these moneys can be used by the members for their personal purposes.

It is to be noted that the Fiscal Affairs Committee disapproved this bill on March 19, 1943.

Respectfully submitted,

Attest: CHARLES EDISON,
C. THOMAS SCHETTINO, Governor.
The Secretary to the Governor.

The Governor's message was then taken up, and

Mr. Cavicchia moved that the message be received and spread in full upon the minutes.

A message was received from the Governor by the hands of his Secretary as follows—and was read by the Clerk.

TRENTON, NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: April 12, 1943.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 140, for the following reasons:

The establishment of travel regulations for State employees has always been an executive function. The Comptroller originally fixed the mileage rate, but since 1939 it has been controlled by travel regulations issued under executive orders. To change to legislative control would freeze the mileage rate and would not permit the flexibility that changing costs and conditions may demand. The Comptroller concurs in this reasoning.

I find no fault in the purpose of this bill to establish the mileage rate at five cents a mile. Amended travel regulations have been prepared by the Budget Office in which the five-cent rate has been used. I intend to issue an executive order making all these regulations effective as of May 1, 1943. In the event that conditions change, these regulations can be further amended without the necessity for new legislation.

Respectfully submitted,

Attest: CHARLES EDISON,
C. THOMAS SCHETTINO, Governor.
The Secretary to the Governor.

Mr. Cavicchia moved that the message be received and spread in full upon the Minutes.

TRENTON, NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly April 12, 1943.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Committee Substitute for Assembly Bill No. 177, for the following reasons:

The bill is expressly limited to counties of the second class, having a population of not less than 270,000 and not more than 320,000.

Passaic is the only county fitting this description in New Jersey. The bill is obviously special legislation.

In addition, it is mandatory legislation, imposing upon this one county the financial burden of paying a chief court attendant a salary of $3,000 to $3,500 a year.

Respectfully submitted,

Attest: CHARLES EDISON,
C. THOMAS SCHETTINO, Governor.
The Secretary to the Governor.

TRENTON, NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly April 12, 1943.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 198, for the following reasons:

The bill is unconstitutional.

It is special legislation of the most obvious sort.

Section 1 of the bill authorizes the creation of a pension fund "in all towns in counties of the first class of this State whose charter was granted between the years one thousand eight hundred and eighty and one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine and also still have a councilmanic form of government and in which towns have established by referendum under subtitle three, Title 11, Civil Service." The language is confusing, but the municipality intended to be benefited is the Town of Kearny.

The pension fund that the bill sets up would be actuarially unsound in its very inception. The pension provisions are extremely liberal. The bill would permit employees who join the fund to retire at the age of sixty, after having served continuously or in the aggregate for twenty years. The pension paid would be fifty per cent. of the salary received at retirement. The benefits provided for employees who have served for a shorter period of time, or who have been injured, or who have died as the result of injury or illness received or incurred in the performance of duty, or who have become permanently and totally disabled as a result of such injury or illness, are equally liberal.

If such a fund were set up, it would be sure to impose upon the taxpayers of Kearny ever-increasing future burdens in the form of appropriations to meet the obligations of the new fund. It is important that pension funds, and especially new pension funds, be sound. This is no time to create a new type of unsound local employees' fund, which, sooner or later, must be abandoned because of the inability of local taxpayers to bear the burden.

It is to be observed that statutory authority exists for enrolling the public employees of any municipality in the sound, fair and well-administered State Employees' Retirement System.

Respectfully submitted,

Attest: CHARLES EDISON,
C. THOMAS SCHETTINO, Governor.
The Secretary to the Governor.

TRENTON, NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly. April 12, 1943.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 224.

This bill is objectionable because of its special nature. I am advised by the Attorney-General's office that it is of questionable constitutionality.

The bill would give tenure to certain veterans who hold the office, position or employment of city engineer in a city, if the city is governed under the Municipal Manager Act. Furthermore, this tenure is accorded such city engineer if he has held, hereafter shall hold, or heretofore and hereafter shall have held his office, position or employment continuously for a period of fifteen years from the date of his original appointment, either under an indefinite term, or under a fixed term, or under both indefinite and fixed terms, while the city was governed under the Municipal Manager Law, or any other law, or both.

TRENTON, NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: April 12, 1943.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 228, for the following reasons:

The bill is unconstitutional, in that the body of the bill—specifically, sections 8 and 11—deals with subject matter other than that indicated in the title.

In addition, the bill imposes a mandatory salary schedule on counties having a population over three hundred and twenty-five thousand. It fixes the minimum and maximum annual salaries to be paid to supervisors, identification officers, identification clerks and junior identification clerks in the criminal identification bureaus in the offices of sheriffs. Separate salary schedules are set up for first-class counties and for all other counties within the population limits of the act.

This legislation clearly trespasses upon a field of action that should be reserved to the boards of freeholders, who are the responsible governing bodies of these counties.

Respectfully submitted,

TRENTON, NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
To the House of Assembly: April 12, 1943.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 259, for the following reasons:

While this measure has a most worthy purpose, it is wholly inadequate to attain the objectives for which it is designed. By its provisions, it seeks to establish a commission of ten members to study the State's post-war needs and to blueprint a plan to guard against possible economic upheavals that are likely to follow in the wake of the present war.

The major fault which may be found in this measure is that it fails to provide any appropriation whatsoever to enable the commission to meet any part of the costs that are certain to be necessary to the proper functioning of the commission. It is safe to say that no more important undertaking has ever been contemplated in the history of the State. To assume that the technical and statistical studies and surveys which such an important and comprehensive program will require, can be obtained without cost to the State, is equivalent to undertaking the construction of a great engineering project without funds with which to even pay the engineer.

The bill indicates that the technological and statistical work will be done for the commission by the Princeton Surveys without cost or expense to the State. The Princeton Surveys has, on repeated occasions, contributed much to the improvement of government in New Jersey. It deserves every possible commendation for the unselfishness that prompted this latest offer to further contribute to the well-being of the people of our State. In fact, the appreciation of the State should be indicated by an immediate acceptance of the offer so that the splendid facilities which are available at this source, can be reserved for the tremendous task that lies ahead in the development of a program of post-war planning sufficiently comprehensive to meet the need.

But the people of New Jersey cannot expect its private institutions, or any of them, to so staff so important a commission that it will be able to do justice to a project of such magnitude. Moreover, we should be courageous enough to meet the financial aspects of the question here involved squarely, now. We know from long experience that we cannot expect a job of this sort to be done well without the expenditure of substantial sums of money, and this reasoning applies whether proper use will be made of the facilities or not.

New Jersey has spent more than $300,000,000 since the beginning of the depression. It may safely be said that many millions of dollars—one estimate places the figure at $100,000,000—could have been saved had we invested a little more money in the beginning in sound planning, so that every agency and facility in the State could have been pressed into action to absorb the continuing shocks of unemployment. In the light of our experience, adequate appropriations to provide the tools necessary to the commission's labors should cause no real concern.

The bill is deficient in another important respect. It fails to give sufficient recognition to those groups and agencies within the State representative of the forces that can insure the kind of post-war program we need. The number of commissioners and the manner of their selection so limits the opportunity to assemble on a commission of this character a proper cross-sectional representation of the State, that the whole plan and program will be confined and narrowed accordingly. If sound and lasting results are to be achieved, then as nearly as it is possible to do so, proper recognition must be given to the important groups and agencies that have a great interest and stake in effective post-war planning.

A third objection to the bill is that it does not sufficiently define either the commission's objectives or its duties.

Respectfully submitted,

Attest: CHARLES EDISON,
C. THOMAS SCHETTINO, Governor.

STATE OF ILLINOIS
SECRETARY OF STATE

SPRINGFIELD, June 30, 1943.

Presiding Officer,
State House of Representatives,
Trenton, New Jersey.

DEAR SIR:

Pursuant to the provisions of Senate Joint Resolution No. 11, you will please find enclosed herewith copy of said resolution, which is self explanatory.

Very truly yours,

EDWARD J. HUGHES,
Secretary of State.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 11

WHEREAS, On March 10, 1943, there were presented to the Congress of the United States two Plans devised by the National Resources Planning Board, which Plans make proposals for fundamental changes in almost every phase of the American way of life; and

WHEREAS, These Plans have been transmitted to the Congress with the request that they be given consideration during the present session of the Congress; and

WHEREAS, Millions of American citizens, who would be vitally affected if these Plans were to be adopted into legislation, are absent from their homes at this time as members of the Army, Navy or Marine Corps or in associated services, and, during such absence, are unable effectively to express their views on this subject; and

WHEREAS, It would be manifestly unfair to enact into law, during their absence, any Plan designed to change that same system of government which our citizens in the armed forces are fighting to preserve; and

WHEREAS, The task of winning all of the wars in which we are presently engaged is so gigantic that it requires the concentrated effort of every citizen; and

WHEREAS, This is not the time for the people or the Congress to be distracted, by the injection of controversial proposals concerning theoretical social gains, from the single purpose of winning the war; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the Senate of the Sixty-third General Assembly of the State of Illinois, the House of Representatives concurring herein, That we hereby petition the Congress of the United States to refuse to enact any legislation which has for its purpose any change in the fundamental concept of the constitutional form of American government, as expressed in the Constitution of the United States and Amendments thereto, particularly those Amendments known as the "Bill of Rights", at least until such time as the members of our armed forces and associated services have been brought home, demobilized, and given an opportunity to express their views; and, be it

Resolved, Further, That copies of this preamble and resolution be transmitted by the Secretary of State to the presiding officers of both Houses of the Congress, and to each of the Senators and Representatives therein from the State of Illinois, and to the Legislatures of all other States of the Union, that those of the same view may take similar action.

Adopted by the Senate, March 18, 1943.

WISCONSIN LEGISLATURE
SENATE CHAMBER
MADISON, April 27, 1943.

Speaker of the House,
State Capitol,
Trenton, New Jersey.

DEAR SIR:

I am transmitting herewith an enrolled copy of a Joint Resolution adopted by the 1943 Wisconsin Legislature entitled, "Directing the Wisconsin commission on interstate cooperation to study the effects of the enlargement of the activities of the Federal Government in various fields of taxation and regulation and to report to the Legislature its findings and recommendations as to the restoration to the State of Wisconsin of its rightful powers and duties as a sovereign State."

Very truly yours,

LAWRENCE R. LARSEN,
Chief Clerk, Senate.

STATE OF WISCONSIN

Joint Resolution No. 14, S.

No.————, 1943.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Directing the Wisconsin commission on interstate cooperation to study the effects of the enlargement of the activities of the Federal Government in various fields of taxation and regulation and to report to the Legislature its findings and recommendations as to the restoration to the State of Wisconsin of its rightful powers and duties as a sovereign State.

WHEREAS, Employment in the federal service in the numerous boards, bureaus and commissions, according to latest available figures for October 1942, has run into an all-time high of 2,687,093 persons; and

WHEREAS, The monthly pay roll of the numerous employes of such boards, bureaus and commissions for the month of October 1942, was the sum of $445,135,852, and the total pay roll for the period October 1941 through October 1942 for such federal employes reached the staggering sum of $4,199,653,711; and

WHEREAS, There have been created by executive order during the last calendar year up to September 1 a total of 19 boards, bureaus and commissions; and

WHEREAS, The concentration in Washington of the numerous boards, bureaus and commissions has created a problem of grave concern to each individual state; and

WHEREAS, It will be necessary after the termination of the present world-wide emergency to end the functions of all of the various and numerous temporary boards, bureaus and commissions and to cut the expenditures of our federal government to peace-time needs; and

WHEREAS, The federal government has in recent years by taxation, regulation, proclamation and executive decree, assumed responsibilities and the regulation of approximately every kind of business and human activity, practically all of which subjects and responsibilities were heretofore reserved to the various states; and

WHEREAS, The collection of all taxes by the federal government in Wisconsin has increased from approximately 95 million dollars in 1940 to the record total of more than 305 million dollars in 1942, the largest collection being the federal income tax which jumped from 67 million dollars in 1941 to 206 million dollars in 1942; and

WHEREAS, The extension of the tax bases by the federal government and the imposition of unprecedented high rates of taxes, particularly on income, leaves little if any opportunity for the states which have the same or similar bases to look to those sources for additional revenue; and

WHEREAS, It is necessary in the maintenance of a united nation, that the individual states maintain the rights reserved to them, and that further encroachments by the federal government in the field of regulation and social legislation be considered in the light of rights of individual states; and

WHEREAS, The states of this nation by integrated and aggressive action can stop the growing centralization of power in Washington and effect a return to the states of state powers and functions and the re-establishment of state sovereignty; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That the Wisconsin commission on interstate cooperation be and it is hereby directed to study and report its findings to the next regular or special session of the legislature as to:

(a) The specific fields entered, and for all practical purposes taken over, by the federal government during the past 10 years.

(b) The most effective means available by which Wisconsin can apprise the federal government of the need of reserving to the states their just rights, powers and responsibilities and such recommendations as it may deem necessary for the formation of an organization of states in which each state will be represented to formulate a program to prevent further encroachment by the federal government upon the rights, duties and powers of the states of the union. Be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to the presiding officer of each branch of the other 47 state legislatures and to the council of state governments at Chicago and that they be invited to participate in a program designed to have restored to the individual states their just duties and powers. Be it further

Resolved, That the representatives in the Congress from Wisconsin be invited to participate in the deliberations of this committee and that copies of this resolution be transmitted to each such representative from Wisconsin.

CONRAD SHEARER,
President Pro Tempore of the Senate.

LAWRENCE R. LARSEN,
Chief Clerk of the Senate.

VERNON W. THOMSON,
Speaker of the Assembly.

ARTHUR F. MAY,
Chief Clerk of the Assembly.

Mr. Cavicchia moved that the following communication be received, spread on the Minutes and filed, and referred to the Committee on Interstate Co-operation.

STATE OF NEW YORK
JOINT LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE ON INTERSTATE CO-OPERATION

ATTICA, NEW YORK, July 17, 1943.

Hon. Manfield G. Amlicke,
Speaker of the Assembly,
Trenton, New Jersey.

MY DEAR MR. SPEAKER:

Enclosed herewith you will find copy of a resolution relating to legislation to facilitate and provide means whereby the various municipalities in the State of New Jersey may raise funds for the construction of sewage treatment works, as adopted at the Annual Executive Conference of the New York Committee on Interstate Cooperation held in New York City July 8, 9, 10, 1943.

We shall appreciate your cooperation in this matter, and we hope that the Legislature of the State of New Jersey will take favorable action when next assembled in November 1943 to encourage, assist and provide ways and means for municipalities and other subdivisions of the State so desiring to finance sewage treatment works and to otherwise be in a position to cooperate with the Interstate Sanitation Commission in their program of pollution abatement and plant construction.

Sincerely yours,

HAROLD C. OSTERTAG,
Chairman.

Resolution unanimously adopted by the New York Joint Legislative Committee on Interstate Cooperation, in Executive Session, Roosevelt Hotel, New York City, July 8, 9, 10, 1943.

WHEREAS, The sovereign governments of New Jersey, Connecticut and New York, in anticipation of mutual and far-reaching benefits to the people of their respective states, pledged each to the other, faithful cooperation in the control of future pollution, and agreed to provide for the abatement of existing pollution in the tidal and coastal waters in the adjacent portions of their territory; and

WHEREAS, The New York-New Jersey-Connecticut Sanitation Compact embodying this pledge created the Interstate Sanitation Commission to cooperate and advise with the respective states and district authorities in the preparation of plans for the most practical and economical method of securing conformity with the standards of the Compact; and

WHEREAS, Active participation in the program by certain municipalities in the State of New Jersey is now desirable and necessary to effect the objects of the Compact, and is restricted because of financial limitations to enter into and join in the cooperative program of the Interstate Sanitation Commission; and

WHEREAS, The necessity exists for having all plans and blueprints drawn and ready for post-war construction; and

WHEREAS, The State of New York by statute in 1940 granted consent to such use of the Interstate Sanitation Commission as New Jersey might require of that Commission; and

WHEREAS, The aforementioned Compact pledges the several states to enact suitable legislation which will accomplish effectively the objects of the Compact; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved, That the New York Joint Legislative Committee on Interstate Cooperation in Executive Session assembled do strongly recommend and urge that the Legislature of the State of New Jersey take favorable action when next assembled in November 1943 to encourage, assist and provide ways and means for municipalities and other sub-divisions of the State so desiring, to finance sewage treatment works and to otherwise be in a position to cooperate with the Interstate Sanitation Commission in their program of pollution abatement and plant construction;

Be It Further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the Assembly, and the Chairman of the Commission on Interstate Cooperation, all of the State of New Jersey.

The following communication was sent to the desk and read by the Clerk:

PROGRESS REPORT TO THE COMMISSION TO STUDY PERSONNEL EMPLOYED BY VARIOUS STATE DEPARTMENTS, BOARDS, COMMISSIONS AND AGENCIES, BY WILLIAM S. CARPENTER AND JOHN F. SLY.

The purpose of this study, as recited in the Act of the Legislature (P. L. 1943, Ch. 162), is to recommend:

> such adjustments of salaries, civil service and other classifications and duties as may be requisite in order to effectuate as nearly as may be an equalization of compensation for the performance of similar duties and the payment of salaries commensurate with the work performed.

Attention has been confined largely to employees in the classified service, since these persons alone benefit from precise specifications of their duties, salary ranges attached to their positions, and stated increases in their compensation. At the same time, general consideration has been given to unclassified personnel in case the Legislature may wish to transfer to the classified service any positions at present outside this field.

The coverage of employees in the classified service by questionnaire has been complete. Duties statements have been returned from almost everyone (about 12,000 State employees), except those on leaves of absence from their posts. The employees have been cooperative and were in nearly all cases glad to state fully and precisely the tasks which they perform. The result is that your Commission now possesses a complete and exhaustive compilation of the duties performed by State employees.

The payrolls of June 15, 1943, listed the names of 14,395 employees, of whom 2,089 were unclassified and 12,306 classified. The total of classified employees included almost 1,000 names of persons on leaves of absence from their jobs. In fact, it is impossible to give exact employment figures for any given day because of the constant fluctuations caused by separations from the service, new appointments, and the effect of seasonal activity in several of the departments. The work of the Department of Motor Vehicles, for example, is especially heavy during certain peak periods, and much use is made of summer personnel for routine clerical work. Departments which provide considerable outdoor work have larger payrolls in summer than in winter. The data used in this study may, therefore, vary slightly from those taken from some other payroll period, and may also vary from the yearly average of all payroll periods.

The unclassified service comprises those positions held by officers and employees enumerated in R. S. 11:4–4. In addition, the Legislature has provided that in certain departments and agencies employees shall serve at the pleasure of the director. This is the case in the State Municipal Aid Administration (P. L. 1940, Ch. 151) and employees of the Palisades Interstate Park Commission hold their positions at the pleasure of the Board (R. S. 32:14–4). When the Office of Civilian Defense Director was created (P. L. 1942, Ch. 251), the Governor was authorized to appoint assistants and fix their compensation, title, powers and duties. The Alcoholic Beverage Commissioner appoints inspectors and, for short periods, experts and specialists who are not subject to Title II, Civil Service (R. S. 33:1–4). These and other legislative exemptions from civil service classifications have resulted in numerous positions falling within the unclassified service.

The 12,306 classified employees listed on the payrolls of June 15th include 9,935 who are paid annual salaries and 1,266 who are paid an hourly or daily wage. In addition, there are 83 employees whose compensation is on either a piece-rate or a quarterly basis. The remainder includes 629 on military leave, 347 on leave of absence without pay, and 46 for whom no salary was listed. About 88 per cent of the active classified employees as of June 15th receive annual salaries.

The classified service has been arranged by the Civil Service Commission into 1,805 titles with accompanying salary ranges. That is to say, there is one title for about every seven employees. For these titles, 1,312 specifications have been written by the Civil Service Commission. In some cases one specification is made to cover more than one title, while in other cases there is a close if not exact copy of specifications for similar titles. For example, titles and salary ranges for the position of Auditor number twenty-one, but only ten specifications have been written for the position. These inconsistencies arise from the practice of fixing titles and salary ranges and writing specifications for positions in particular departments, or even for particular individuals, instead of regarding the function in New Jersey government to be performed by the position as the basis upon which the qualifications and duties of the incumbent are set forth. There should be one title, one salary range, and one specification for the position of Auditor. Variations in the duties to be performed in different departments should be stated in the appropriate place in the specification.

The specifications now in use by the Civil Service Commission must be rewritten. Most of them were prepared long ago and are obsolete; they give no guidance to present incumbents in defining their work. Others are a handicap to department heads in adapting positions to changed requirements. In a very large number of instances, the specifications do not conform to the duties statements which the employees have submitted. Many of the older specifications are defective because educational qualifications have not kept pace with the development of the public school system. There was a time when elementary school training was all that could reasonably be required for entrance to much of the State service. But school attendance is now compulsory for everyone between the ages of seven and sixteen years (P. L. 1940, Ch. 154), which means that boys and girls of average intelligence will proceed beyond the eighth grade. Unless educational requirements for State employment are raised, the State service will tend to become a refuge for the misfits and failures of the public school system.

A preliminary estimate indicates that the present number of payroll titles for classified personnel may be reduced by one-half. There would then be one specification for about every twelve to fifteen employees. This regrouping of positions involving similar work is a fundamental exercise in establishing economy and efficiency in government service. Until this revision is made, accurate salary ranges which provide equal compensation for similar duties cannot be undertaken.

The problem of salary adjustments in recent years has been approached through blanket increases by the Legislature. Increases of this kind were made in 1937 and 1943. The total payments for salaries as a result of the 1937 increase (P. L. 1937, Ch. 177), rose in the next fiscal year $3,606,269. The recent increases (P. L. 1943, Ch. 124) do not show a corresponding rise in total salary costs because there has been a decrease of 2,051 in the number of State employees in the fiscal year in which the increase became effective.

Despite these reductions in State employment, which reflect the war influences, the total salary payments for the year ending June 30, 1944, will be greater than in the preceding fiscal year.

Of course, the average salary paid to State employees has risen after each legislative increase. As a result of the 1937 increase, the average annual salary moved from $1,526 to $1,669. The recent increase has brought the average annual salary from $1,638 in 1942 to $1,859 at the present time.

The increases of 1937 and 1943 did nothing "to effectuate . . . an equalization of compensation and the payment of salaries commensurate with the work performed." An employee who was already receiving a higher salary than his work merited was increased, while the underpaid employee continued, after the increase, to be underpaid in relation to other State employees. Moreover, those inequalities in salaries paid to employees doing similar work in different departments remained unadjusted.

At present about 80 per cent of the classified employees on annual salaries receive less than $2,400. Only four per cent are paid annual salaries in excess of $3,600.

There are large numbers of clerical and custodial employees for whom only moderate or small salaries can be justified. But the efficiency of these people, and of the State service as a whole, depends upon the imagination and skill of those who direct subordinate employees. If adequate salaries are not paid men and women in the specialized and supervisory positions, the State service will be impaired. The intelligent and enterprising young people of New Jersey will not enter the service, and the higher positions will be filled by the mediocre and the unimaginative whose only recommendation is that they have clung through long years to the State payroll.

Because the existing salary ranges have not been revised upward to take into account the ten per cent increase in 1943, it was found that of the 9,247 classified employees receiving annual salaries in positions for which a salary range exists, 3,044 (or about one-third) are receiving compensation in excess of the maximum of their range. When 1,497 of these employees were found to remain over the legal maximum, even after the maximum was considered to be ten per cent higher than that authorized in the ranges used by the Civil Service Commission, it was further proof that the present salary scales had become obsolete.

Ordinarily employees are expected to enter the State service at the minimum salary for the position to which they are appointed. Special circumstances sometimes necessitate exceptions to the rule. There must be, however, a minimum below which no State salary will be paid. An employee has a right to expect that his position will yield a decent living. There are today about ten per cent of the State employees receiving incomes of less than $1,200 a year. Present high costs of living and high taxes are accompaniments of the war, but it is doubtful whether living costs or taxes will decrease at any predictable date in the future. They may go higher. The State must therefore fix a minimum salary representing a living wage under present conditions—a salary below which no appointment to a permanent position will be made.

* * * * * * *

The final report to the Commission will contain two important contributions to sound personnel administration for New Jersey:

1. A complete set of job specifications covering all of the State's classified personnel; and
2. A list of salary ranges for all positions, accompanied by provisions for salary increments.

Each new specification will contain a concise definition of the position and a careful statement of its distinguishing characteristics, that is, the amount of supervision received or exercised, or the degree of responsibility which distinguishes each position from another in the class. This section of the new specification is aimed at preventing the kind of "promotion-through-tenure" compensation increases which have in the past seen incumbents of low-grade positions pass into higher-grade positions without any increase in the level of responsibility or the degree of difficulty of the work.

The third part of the new specification will be a listing of examples of work performed by the employee. The material for this section is being obtained from many sources: from the duties statement contained in the questionnaire submitted by each employee; from information concerning the position furnished by bureau chiefs, division heads, and other key employees; and from first-hand observation of the activities of the employees through work audits.

The qualifications necessary for appointment to the position comprise the final section of the new specification. Here will be set forth both the minimum qualifications (education and experience) and certain desirable qualifications (personal traits, special abilities, added specialization through education or other special training).

These new specifications, so fundamental to the efficient conduct of the State service, should be made available not only to the Civil Service Commission for their use in recruitment, certification, and classification, but should also be distributed to the various operating departments to be used as a valuable tool of administration.

The second important section of the final report will be the list of salary ranges. These ranges will answer the mandate of equalization and will be fixed only after comparative study of salaries paid in other states and in private business.

One of the most important features of a well-ordered civil service system is provision for automatic increases within the salary range. This is not less important than a scheme of promotional examinations leading to higher positions. Public employees expect their employment to provide careers which are dignified as well as remunerative. Nobody thinks he will grow rich through public service, but everyone has a right to expect increased rewards for greater skill in performing his work. There is no greater detriment to working morale than that which arises from the feeling that there is a denial of adequate returns for intelligent and faithful service.

At the same time, care must be exercised that increases are not given for years of service alone. Seniority in the public service is important, but it is not the sole measure of an employee's worth. Indeed, the security of tenure and salary which goes with public employment may in some cases lead to stagnation and the deterioration of the individual. Employees who do not strive for improvement in their work must expect to be outdistanced by the more intelligent and industrious among their associates. There is no more certain method of vitalizing a civil service than the development of a sound compensation plan.

The problem of fixing salary ranges becomes complicated in the case of the 3,454 State employees who receive non-cash payments in the form of maintenance. If inequalities are to be removed—indeed, lest they be created by the establishment of the new ranges—the value of these non-cash payments will have to be deducted from the salary paid to these employees. For example, if a range of $1,600 to $2,000 were to be set for the position of Laboratory Technician, an incumbent in the Health Department receiving the maximum salary of $2,000 could not be expected to look with favor upon the practice of paying a Laboratory Tech- nician who works in one of the State institutions a salary of $2,000 plus maintenance which might vary from a single meal upward to full maintenance valued at almost $400 annually. This problem must be solved before any changes can be made in institutional salaries.

When the salary ranges have been set, each position will have a legal minimum, or entrance salary, and a legal maximum beyond which the salary for that position cannot advance. Within the range, the incumbent's salary should be increased in stated amounts by some carefully determined procedure.

The elimination of approximately one-half of the existing payroll titles, and the determination and definition of some nine hundred new titles, cannot proceed without the tentative reclassification of individuals whose present titles are being eliminated in the development of the new scheme. The research involved in the writing of these new specifications and in the setting of the new salary ranges is inseparable from the final and essential phase, which is the fitting of the several thousand State employees to the new specifications—determining for each his new title and salary range. The Legislature should not overlook the need for the careful execution of this work and, ultimately, the need of a continuing administration of the classification plan.

The work of the Commission in the reordering of the classification and compensation plans in the State service of New Jersey is being watched by many other States. Several of them have given helpful cooperation. Many have submitted copies of their salary scales and job specifications; some have pointed out weaknesses and strong points of their own plans in a willing effort to give the benefit of their failures and their successes. The final report will undoubtedly attract widespread attention at the same time that it provides needed readjustments in the New Jersey State service.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY
STATE BOARD OF TAX APPEALS
Trenton, N. J., January 3, 1944.

Honorable Manfield G. Amlicke,
Speaker of the House of Assembly,
State House, Trenton, New Jersey.

MY DEAR MR. AMLICKE:

I herewith send you a copy of my report to the State Board of Tax Appeals on the railroad tax appeals that came before me for hearing during 1942 and 1943.

Accompanying the copy of the report is a copy of my letter transmitting the report to the State Board of Tax Appeals.

Respectfully yours,

(Signed) DONALD M. WAESCHE.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY
STATE BOARD OF TAX APPEALS

Trenton, N. J., January 3, 1944.

State Board of Tax Appeals,
State House, Trenton, New Jersey.

GENTLEMEN:

Respectfully submitted herewith is an analytical report on the railroad tax appeals you assigned to me for hearing as a member of the State Board of Tax Appeals.

As far back as last September and several times since then, I have spoken to you about the vital public need for such a report. At that time I did not realize the amount of study the preparation of such a report would require and this partly accounts for the delay in getting this report into your hands.

The many and difficult unsettled problems facing the State Board of Tax Appeals in 1942 created such a serious condition in the taxing system of our State that they at least threatened, if they did not actually cause, great injury to the public good. Since 1942 the situation confronting our Board has become much worse. There can no longer be any reasonable doubt but that the public welfare demands that we make a full and complete report to our Legislature and to the Governor on all appeals before our Board, the manner in which appeals are heard, and the disposition made of them.

The heavy and unequal tax burden on real estate in New Jersey constitutes a serious threat to the private home and to free enterprise in our State. It is our duty as members of the State Board of Tax Appeals to do all we can to help meet this challenge to democratic processes within our own State.

The railroad appeals represent a very important part of the work of our Board. Therefore, this report on these appeals is submitted to you as part of my duty as President of the State Board of Tax Appeals and in the interest of the public. Copies of this report will, therefore, be filed with the House of Assembly, with the Senate, and with the Governor.

Respectfully yours,

DONALD M. WAESCHE, President
State Board of Tax Appeals.

Mr. Cavicchia moved that the communications be received and filed.

Which motion was adopted.

The Clerk read the following communication:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY

STATE BOARD OF TAX APPEALS

January 6, 1944.

Hon. Philip C. Wadsworth,
Clerk of the Assembly,
Glen Rock, New Jersey.

DEAR MR. WADSWORTH:

Enclosed herewith is a statement by Commissioners Huegel, Harrigan, Sharp, Hoff and Smith, in answer to Mr. Donald M. Waesche's report, dated January 3, 1944.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) CHAS. E. COOK,
Secretary.

Mr. Cavicchia moved that the communication be received and filed.

Which motion was adopted.

STATE BOARD OF TAX APPEALS

January 5, 1944.

Honorable Charles Edison, Governor of New Jersey,
State House,
Trenton, N. J.

The Honorable Members of the General Assembly and the Senate of the State of New Jersey,

State House,
Trenton, N. J.

GENTLEMEN—The undersigned, members of the State Board of Tax Apeals, have been handed a report on the subject of the handling of railroad tax appeals, copies of which have been filed with you. The report is signed by Donald M. Waesche, president of the board.

Inasmuch as the report is and deliberately intends to be an intemperate, untrue and scurrilous attack upon the handling of railroad tax appeals by the board since 1936, and particularly upon the handling and disposition of the appeal on the 1943 tax assessment made by the State Tax Commissioner of Central Railroad of New Jersey property, filed by the railroad company and by the city of Jersey City, it requires this response.

1. Mr. Waesche charges that when he became a member of the board in July, 1942, railroad tax appeals were pending for the years 1940 to 1942. on which no hearings had been held. The withholding of hearings on these appeals was due to the fact that the railroad companies involved had filed discontinuances with the State Treasurer, pursuant to the Railroad Tax Settlement Acts of 1941 and 1942, and counsel for the railroad companies repeatedly appeared before the board after July, 1941, to request that no hearings be held pending the outcome of litigation in the Court of Chancery of the constitutionality of the Settlement Acts. Hearings prior to July, 1941, were not held, again at the request of the railroad companies, as well as the municipalities, because hearings were still proceeding before the board with respect to the appeals for the years of 1937 to 1939, and counsel were unwilling to try the appeals for the later years until the board had determined the cases for the earlier years. The hearings in the 1937-1938 cases, and in the 1939 case, each took approximately one year, as the board was then of the opinion that it was its duty to continue with these hearings as long as counsel required, regardless of the passing of the statutory date for termination of the appeals in each year. The board always felt, and in this they were supported by the opinion and conduct of railroad counsel, as well as the Attorney-general, that the statutory date was directory and not mandatory.

2. Mr. Waesche criticizes the action of the members of the board in giving independent consideration and judgment to the merits of the appeals by the Central Railroad Company and the city of Jersey City, for the tax year 1943. He points out that the board concurred in his recommendation for slashing the Class I and Class II valuations of the Central Railroad Company in 1942 by one-third (33%) (not 30% as stated by Mr. Waesche), and he infers that the action of the undersigned in affirming the 1943 assessment on Central Railroad Company property is unjustifiable and inconsistent. Our opinion in the 1943 case (Pitney and Gardner vs. Kelly, 21 N. J. Misc. 406) fully explains the unfortunate circumstances under which the 1942 case was decided. We there point out that the decision of the board in that case was practically the one-man ruling of Mr. Waesche, who submitted his opinion and conclusions on November 4, 1942, and demanded that the board concur therein that day, which was done. The board had no alternative at that time but to accept Mr. Waesche's legal opinion, that the November 5 date for the determination of railroad tax appeals was mandatory. His further statement that an extra copy of the testimony was made available for perusal by the members of the board is also untrue. He did order an extra copy of the testimony but this was not for the members of the board, but for the use of Dr. Harley L. Lutz, of Princeton. He directed the secretary of the board to deliver daily copy to Professor Lutz and he conferred constantly with Professor Lutz with respect to the hearings in the 1942 case and at no time with the board members. At the conclusion of the case he submitted bills by Professor Lutz and by Mr. Mark Sullivan, of Jersey City, for assistance in the decision of the case. We have since determined that Mr. Waesche's conclusions and opinion were the result of his acceptance of the economic theories of Dr. Lutz and in entire disregard of the law and the facts, on the subject of railroad valuation. Dr. Lutz has frequently gone on record as being of the opinion that assessed valuations of railroad property in New Jersey were always excessive. This board and the courts of this State have frequently held to the contrary in many cases decided between 1933 and 1941.

Three of the undersigned members of this board were members of the board in 1933 when railroad valuations considerably in excess of those levied for the years 1942 and 1943 were affirmed by the board and by the Supreme Court, as not excessive.

3. The statement by Mr. Waesche of the proceedings before the board in connection with the 1943 Central Railroad and Jersey City appeals is intentionally misleading. Mr. Waesche attempts to give the impression that the board gave no greater consideration to the merits of the 1943 case than to the 1942 case. He well knows that not to be true. The hearing of the 1943 case was concluded in July, 1943, three months prior to the decision of the case by the board. Several copies of the testimony were ordered and furnished currently to each of the members of the board in the 1943 case. Each of the undersigned read and considered the testimony in full. Briefs of counsel running to over several hundred pages were printed and furnished to each of the members of the board early in September, 1943. An oral argument was ordered and heard by the full board over a period of two days in the month of September. A very intimate knowledge of the valuation problem in the 1943 case was thus brought home to each of the members of the board. In the 1942 case there was no such knowledge, or opportunity for such knowledge. As a result of examining the proofs and briefs of counsel and hearing oral argument, the undersigned members of the board came to the conclusion that the assessed valuation made by the State Tax Commissioner for the year 1943 on property of the Central Railroad Company should neither be reduced as requested by the railroad company, or increased, as requested by the city of Jersey City. Detailed proofs were offered by counsel for the city of Jersey City in an attempt to obtain increases both in land and structure valuations. The board concluded that these requests were unjustified at the same time that they arrived at the conclusion that the request for reductions by the railroad were unjustified.

4. The testimony in the 1943 Central Railroad case shows without question that Mr. Waesche undertook the hearing of the case with a fixed and determined intention to force the same reduction in the assessment for 1943 as he had recommended in 1942. What is more, from the very beginning of the hearings and continuing through to the end, he indulged in an unjudicial and undignified attack on the efforts of the Assistant Attorney-General and of counsel for the city of Jersey City to present their proofs and to cross-examine the railroad company witnesses. He deliberately hampered the Assistant Attorney-General in ligitimate cross-examination. This was similar to his rushing and hurrying of a different Assistant Attorney-General, Mr. Walsh, when he tried the State's case in the 1942 Central Railroad appeal. He shielded the witnesses for the railroad company. He volunteered comments designed to bolster and assist the railroad experts. He invariably commented favorably at the conclusion of the testimony of each railroad witness and on several occasions stated that cross-examination of said witnesses had only strengthened their testimony. In the course of cross-examination of one railroad witness, when counsel was checking the knowledge of the witness on certain sales to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company of nearby property in Jersey City, at rates as high as $290,000 per acre, Mr. Waesche stated from the bench that if the Pennsylvania Railroad Company ever paid such prices "they should be investigated by the Grand Jury." This was at a time when Mr. Waesche had never heard of these sales.

When the State and the city of Jersey City offered their rebuttal witnesses, Mr. Waesche constantly criticized and cross-questioned them, frequently in the middle of direct examination, seeking to break down their testimony even before it was concluded. He submitted both Mr. Kelly, the State Tax Commissioner, and Mr. Focht, Deputy State Tax Commissioner, to cross-questioning in the middle of direct examination. This had the obvious purpose and intent of impugning the qualifications, knowledge and administration of the assessment functions by these officials. He could not have more effectively fought in defense of the railroad case had he been of counsel for the railroad company.

He submitted the Assistant Attorney-General and counsel for the city of Jersey City to unreasonable demands to commence their cases at times when neither of them had any reasonable expectation of commencing their proofs. He demanded that the Assistant Attorney-General proceed immediately with his defense at a time when it had been understood that the Jersey City case was to proceed for at least a week. The Assistant Attorney-General not being ready to proceed and requesting at least an opportunity of advancing the preparation of his witnesses, Mr. Waesche unreasonably refused the request and charged from the bench without any provocation whatever, that counsel was "guilty of outrageous abuse of privilege." During the cross-examination of a railroad witness by the Assistant Attorney-General, Mr. Waesche threatened to remove counsel from the case "unless he changed his tactics." His conduct was so unfair that Judge Glavin, counsel for the city of Jersey City, was forced to make a motion to disqualify Mr. Waesche from continuing with the hearings for prejudice, which motion was immediately denied by him.

At the meeting of the board for the voting on the appeals of the city of Jersey City and of the railroad company, a motion to affirm the assessments and dismiss both the appeals of the city and the railroad company was carried by a vote of five to two. The views of Mr. Waesche are set forth in a dissenting opinion filed by him.

Commissioner Kreamer voted against the motion to affirm, but did not concur in the opinion of the president and has taken no further position in the matter. Mr. Waesche's reference to the fact that the board affirmed the assessments of all of the property of the Central Railroad Company in the State, whereas only Class I and Class II properties in Hudson county were under appeal, is untrue. The petition of appeal of the railroad requested a reduction in the valuations of all of the property of the company throughout the State and the judgment of the board necessarily had to dispose of the petition of appeal as framed by the petitioner.

5. Mr. Waesche states that it was necessary for him to hear appeals on locally assessed railroad property in Jersey City involving the tax years 1936 to 1942, inferring that the board was at fault in not determining these appeals earlier. This statement is made with deliberate disregard of the fact that these cases were repeatedly set down for hearing, but were continued from time to time at the request of counsel for the railroads and counsel for the municipalities interested in the appeals, who were too busily engaged in the trial of Class I and Class II railroad property appeals to move their appeals on locally assessed railroad property.

6. Mr. Waesche charged that the majority opinion of the board in the 1943 Central Railroad Company case was adopted by the board with no knowledge or understanding of the statements and conclusions contained therein. Mr. Waesche himself had absolutely no knowledge or understanding of railroad valuation problems prior to July, 1942. Four of the undersigned members of the board, however, have sat in hearings on railroad appeals on numerous occasions with either former President Weaver, or former President Quinn, and some of us with both of them at one time or another, in railroad tax hearings from 1933 to 1941. These members of the board have kept fully conversant with the tax history of railroad assessments since that time. In the 1933 railroad tax case, the board voted by three to two to overrule the conclusions of President Weaver, to the effect that the railroads had proven discrimination in the assessment of their property. All five members of the board concurred in the determination that the assessed valuations of railroad property for that year were not in excess of true value. Their decision on all points was affirmed on appeal by the New Jersey Supreme Court. Their knowledge of railroad tax matters antedates that of Mr. Waesche's by a number of years.

On November 8, 1943, Mr. Waesche reported to the board his recommendations in the matter of an appeal by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for a deduction in its Jersey City Class I and Class II property and that of the city of Jersey City for an increase in the Class II assessments of that company. Not having had sufficient time to read the testimony, or familiarize themselves fully with that case, the board laid over its determination of the appeal. Mr. Waesche stated to the board that on many of the parcels of property involved he was unable to form any conclusions or make any recommendations. On other properties involved he made recommendations to the board, but stated, to use his own language, that in his opinion his own recommendations "stink" and that the board could either take them or leave them. The use of this language by Mr. Waesche can be proven to the satisfaction of anyone interested by inspecting the stenographic transcript of the meeting of the board on that occasion, which is in the possession of the secretary. The presence of a stenographer at that meeting was ordered expressly by Mr. Waesche.

7. Mr. Waesche charges that the mapority opinion of the undersigned in the 1943 Central Railroad Company case was written by Mr. Milton B. Conford, assistant to the Attorney-General. This we know of our own knowledge to be untrue. The undersigned members of the board, concurring in a determination contrary to the president, engaged as a legal assistant to assist them in formulating their conclusions and opinion, Mr. Joseph L. Lippman, a Newark lawyer, who has for many years specialized in the practice of law pertaining to taxation. Mr. Lippman was co-compiler of the tax laws of the State of New Jersey under the direction of the board in 1938 and of the annotated opinions of the board in 1939. His reputation as an expert in the field of taxation is known throughout the State and particularly to the undersigned members of this board. After the formulation of the views of the undersigned, and some time prior to the meeting of the board, at which these appeals were voted upon, the undersigned instructed the secretary of the board to engage Mr. Lippman for the purpose stated. The president and past presidents of the board for many years past have had available a legal assistant to the president. Mr. Waesche now has such an assistant. In view of the difference of opinion with respect to the Central Railroad Tax case the undersigned preferred to engage an independent assistant rather than use the services of Mr. Waesche's assistant. The conclusions arrived at by the undersigned with respect to this matter were communicated to Mr. Lippman and he was directed to formulate a draft of an opinion incorporating such conclusions. This work was done by Mr. Lippman and conferences were held on several occasions at which Mr. Lippman reported to the undersigned and submitted his work as ordered by the board. This work was revised, changed, and altered in a number of particulars by the members of the board and the final opinion which is on file, bearing the names of the undersigned, has been properly and deliberately adopted by them as representing their true conclusions and determinations in the matter after reading all of the testimony over a period of months, examining the briefs of all counsel in the case and hearing extended oral argument.

It is our conclusion that Mr. Waesche's habits of mind, his prejudgment on the valuation of railroad property almost immediately upon taking office as President of the board, his conduct in the handling of railroad tax hearings and, finally, the issuance of the vituperative and unjustified report to which this is a response proves beyond any reasonable doubt that he is absolutely lacking in the proper judicial attitude.

JUDICIAL COUNCIL OF NEW JERSEY

80 Park Place,
Newark 1, New Jersey,
December 3, 1943.

House of Assembly of the State of New Jersey,
State House, Trenton, New Jersey.

HONORABLE SIRS—In the light of the important function which the mandate of the people of the State of New Jersey in the recent election has imposed upon the Legislature of the State, and of the desire of the Judicial Council of the State to perform its full statutory functions in this and in all other matters within its scope and jurisdiction, I, as chairman of the Council, am sending to each branch of the Legislature this communication.

The Judicial Council was created by the Legislature of the State in 1930. Sections 2:17–1 through 2:17–10, N. J. S. A., set forth its personnel, powers, and duties. It is a permanent State commission of fourteen members. Those comprising this membership are by the statute as follows:

The chairman of the Judicial Council is charged by the said statute with the duty of carrying out the provisions of the statute.

In pursuance of my duty aforesaid, and of the law, and as the result of a unanimous resolution adopted at the last meeting of the Judicial Council held in Newark, New Jersey, on November 19, 1943, at which all the members of the Council, with the exception of the Attorney-General, who was unavoidably unable to be there, were present, I am informing the Legislature that the Judicial Council proffers its fullest co-operation with the Legislature and its committees, and, upon its or their request, is prepared to aid and advise the Legislature and its committees upon any subject of law or procedure which may be before the Legislature for action.

This proffer is in conformity to the express provisions of N. J. S. A. 2:17–10, which reads as follows:

"Co-operation with Legislature. The council shall co-operate with the Legislature and its committees, and shall, from time to time, upon request, aid and advise the Legislature and its committees upon any subject of law or procedure which may be before the Legislature for action."

It is not the desire of the Council to intrude where its aid or advice is not desired or needed, but merely to be of the fullest aid and assistance in whatever matter the Legislature or its committees may deem that it can be advantageously employed.

Most respectfully submitted,
(Signed) WILLIAM H. SPEER,
Chairman of the Judicial Council of New Jersey.
