JOINT COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

The Joint Committee, to whom was referred so much of the Governor's Message as relates to the Lunatic Asylum, beg leave to report, in part:

That they have visited the Asylum, and have made a careful examination of the buildings, furniture, and general condition of the patients.

The different apartments were scrupulously clean, and your committee take pleasure in stating, that, as far as they could judge, all the means, both moral and medical, which human zeal or scientific skill can devise, are brought into requisition by the physician and other officers of the institution, for bettering the condition and restoring the health of the unfortunate persons committed to their charge.

It will be seen, by the Superintendent's Report, that a part of the steam boilers for warming the hospital buildings, have been so long in use as to be considered unsafe, and we have had the testimony of scientific gentlemen, who concur in this opinion. We therefore recommend an appropriation of $3,500, for the purpose of replacing them with new ones, and suggest that they be of a larger size than the old ones, large boilers being found to produce a much greater amount of steam from the same quantity of fuel.

MANAGERS' REPORT.

To His Excellency, WILLIAM A. NEWELL,

Governor of the State of New Jersey:

THE Managers of the New Jersey State Lunatic Asylum beg leave to present their Annual Report:

This institution has been established for ten years and upwards, during which period thirteen hundred and seventy-seven patients have been under treatment, of whom eight hundred and sixty-three have been discharged either recovered or improved in their health.

By its adaptation to the purposes for which it was erected, and the admirable manner in which its internal management has been conducted, it has permanently established itself in the confidence of the citizens of our State.

In the quarterly and other visitations made by the Managers, they have uniformly found the same order and neatness in all its departments maintained as formerly. The patients have averaged during the past year above two hundred and eighty in number, and from the inspections made, they have appeared to receive due attention to their several conditions; and from the kindness with which they are treated, to be as comfortable as the nature of their malady would admit.

During the year, improvements have been made by the Superintendent, to facilitate and cheapen the expense of washing; also, to enlarge the apparatus for making gas for the institution.

Alterations and additions have also been made in several parts of the building, by which the comfort and health of the patients have been promoted—all of which the Managers approved.

The Managers have realized, by a loan, the appropriation made by the Legislature of 1857, with which they have liquidated the debts which were outstanding at the commencement of the year, and no new debts have been incurred, beyond the ability of the institution to pay. The improvements which were to be made from the appropriation will be fully completed, when the interest due thereon and provided for by act of 1858, shall be paid.

The Superintendent and other officers of the institution have performed the duties of their respective stations with a promptness, fidelity and success which demands and receives our hearty approval.

The alterations and improvements alluded to above, with the health of the inmates and other internal affairs of the institution, will be fully stated in the report of the Superintendent.

The state of the finances will also appear from the reports of the Treasurer and Steward.

The annual inventory of the personal property of the institution was made, agreeably to law, and amounts to twenty-five thousand five hundred and seventy-four dollars and twelve cents, showing an increase of two thousand one hundred and seven dollars and eighty-seven cents over that of the preceding year, and is, with the reports of the Superintendent and Treasurer, herewith submitted.

The Managers beg leave to call the attention of the Legislature to two important subjects, referred to in the Superintendent's Report, viz. the renewal of the steam boilers used for warming the building and other purposes, and the improved method suggested, for ventilating the building by mechanical means.

The Managers, through your Excellency, would again commend the institution to the benevolent sympathy of their fellow citizens.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS AND RESULTS.

The number of cases received and treated during the year, as shown by the foregoing table, was four hundred and twenty-six; discharged recovered, sixty-two; improved, fifty-one; unimproved, two; not insane, one; died, sixteen.

The causes of death were as follows: four from exhaustion of acute mania; one from softening of the brain; one from erysipelas; three from general or chronic exhaustion of system; three from consumption; and four from epilepsy.

Of the first four deaths it should be remarked, that they occurred, as deaths from acute exhaustive mania usually do, soon after admission, the disease having nearly run its course and exhausted the powers of life before the arrival of the patient at the institution.

In the preliminary treatment of such cases, it should always be kept in mind, that the high mental excitement, attended by extreme watchfulness and desire for muscular exertion, depends on a highly irritable, rather than on an inflammatory condition of the system.

Hence direct depletion, drastic purgatives, blisters, etc., tend rather to increase than to allay the effect of the primary injury.

The number of deaths has been small, considering the large proportion of persons under care, suffering either from acute physical and mental disorder, or worn and wasted by chronic disease of long standing.

The causes of death, also, indicate that we have had a complete exemption from any epidemic or other virulent disease, except what is incident to insanity.

It is proper to mention in this connection, however, that two valued female attendants have died during the year, though from causes quite dissimilar, and not indicating either the unhealthiness of the place or their vocation. These deaths were the first that have occurred amongst the attendants and assistants since the opening of the institution, a period of more than ten years.

We have been much gratified and encouraged by the recovery of several cases during the last year deemed well nigh hopeless, either from the duration and degree of the mental disorder, or from the great physical prostration that existed at the time of their admission. One case of the former appears worthy of special mention, as it illustrates so well the propriety of continued hope and effort in behalf of those who have been long insane.

Mrs. ———, aged about forty-five, had an attack of derangement in early life, which continued seven years, but from which she recovered quite perfectly, and remained well a number of years, during which she married. In February, 1848, she was admitted to this asylum, having recently had a second attack. She was then in a highly excitable state of mind, and so remained much of the time for nine years, having only short intervals of comparative quiet once in a few weeks. She constantly held the delusion that she was a queen, and that those about her were her subjects. Her speech and motions were rapid, and her habits generally filthy and destructive, especially in regard to clothing. She slept very little at night, and usually passed her time in re-arranging the straw in her bed, talking, or rather chattering, pounding, etc. Would sleep or doze for brief periods during the day, often in the sitting posture, which seemed sufficient to prepare her for the labor of the next night.

During the early part of the year, and occasionally before, she had longer intervals of quiet and comparative rationality, which encouraged us that she might finally be restored, especially as, during all the previous years, her bodily and mental powers appeared strong, though the latter were so utterly disjointed and arranged.

In the month of March she had a severe illness, which lasted several weeks, and reduced her to the verge of the grave. This illness was characterized by a feverish state, loss of appetite, flesh and strength.

There finally appeared in various parts of her body and limbs, and about her head, a series of sloughing boils, which seemed the climax of her physical disease. From this state she slowly improved, having only now and then slight indications of her former mental disorder.

She remained with us several months after she appeared quite well, to make sure of a permanent restoration. She then left in full flesh, health and hope, having nearly completed her tenth year in the asylum.

Of the thirteen hundred and seventy-seven who have received care in the asylum since it was opened in 1848, eight hundred and sixty-three have been discharged as recovered or improved; showing how large a number of individuals, families and communities have been benefitted by the institution; and also how well and wisely the State has acted in founding and sustaining it.

The number of patients now under care is larger than at any former period, and about twenty-five more than is consistent with the easy accommodations of the house. So great has been the demand for room, however, for both recent and chronic cases, that we have felt obliged to permit its wards to be crowded to the extent now reached.

A serious question presents itself at this point, however, as to what shall or can be done in future. If in the same liberal policy heretofore practiced by the counties, of keeping the chronic and incurable cases in the asylum, be continued, it will become necessary, at a very early day, to limit or prohibit the admissions of private and recent cases, or to provide further accommodation of both.

For the present, it is believed that the managers have all the power needed to enable them to control and regulate the number of the respective classes of inmates, though they cannot allow a farther increase of numbers, without destroying or materially disturbing the proper classification of the patients, on which so much of the benefit of asylum treatment depends.

The usual employments on the farm, garden and grounds have been attended with their usual results as to crops and improvements, such as the extension of walks, planting of trees, &c., &c.

The healthful occupation of many of the male patients in these pursuits, is a point constantly kept in mind, and from which much advantage of a curative or comforting character is gained.

We still desire and hope, at no distant day, to be able to extend our means for usefully employing convalescent as well as chronic cases, thus increasing the chances of restoration to the curable, and preventing, as far as practicable, all classes from sinking lower through lack of mental stimulus.

Two beautiful billiard tables, at a cost of $376 90, have been added to our means for furnishing amusing employment, and are found to answer well for some patients of both sexes. That used by the men is placed in a room in the main building, and the other, for women, in the Calistheneum, or exercise room devoted to their use. I may add, also, that arrangements have been made for warming this building by exhaust steam, so as to make it available in cold weather.

This game is believed to be among the most useful for insane patients, by supplying healthful exercise to the body and limbs, and thoroughly arousing and concentrating the attention of the mental faculties of many spectators, as well as those directly engaged in it.

One interesting circumstance in regard to these tables remains to be stated, and which is nothing less than the important fact, that they are not yet fully paid for. There is, therefore, yet an opportunity for a few of our friends to invest funds in a "stock" that is sure to pay good dividends, in happiness and health, to many of our household.

The experience of a year in the new laundry referred to in my last report, has fully justified the expectations then expressed in regard to the utility of that work.

Among other important fixtures introduced to economize and facilitate the labor therein, was an "Improved Shaker Washing Machine," driven by steam power, and which is found to answer the purpose of its construction in a most admirable manner, done its work rapidly, thoroughly, and with much less tendency to injure clothing than even hand washing.

During the last year, the generating and containing fixtures of the gas works have been renewed, and so materially extended, that we are now able to make, in one day, a supply for a whole week in winter, instead of for a single night, as heretofore. This improvement, which has been accomplished without incurring debt, is found to add very much to the economy and convenience of the institution in supplying gas for lighting.

Considerable work has also been done in the way of substantial repairs, and some needful changes in and about the building, to protect it from decay and to extend its capacity to meet the increased and increasing demand for room in almost all parts. Much in this line remains to be done, though we hope to accomplish all that is most urgently needed within the next year or two. In the mean time we claim indulgence for deferring repairs that would be accomplished at once, were the requisite means at hand.

One of the most important and expensive items of prospective repairs, is the renewal and perhaps enlarged capacity of the steam boilers for warming the building and other purposes. These are five in number, and are of the tubular or locomotive form. One of them was procured at the time of the removal of the heating fixtures from the main building, and has consequently been in use but three years. The other four, which are of smaller size, have been in constant use between ten and eleven years, and can scarcely be considered safe much longer, if, in fact, the time has not already arrived when they should be replaced, to avoid the danger of accident or of inconvenience or suffering from the want of means for supplying the amount of heat required in so large a building. It is believed, also, that when this work is done, that a material reduction in the amount of fuel required, can be effected by using boilers of larger size, fewer in number, and somewhat different in construction.

It is feared, however, that a renewal of these important fixtures can scarcely be effected from current income, or without an appeal to the state treasury.

Another improvement, and one believed to be of great importance in a sanitary point of view, is the introduction of means for securing a forced mechanical ventilation of the building at all times.

The importance of this measure can, perhaps, only be fully appreciated by persons having practical knowledge, from observation, of the wants of insane people in this respect.

Many who even appear in good bodily health, who are strong and active, are affected during some stage of their malady with a morbid state of the secretions of the skin, producing a very sensible effect upon the air in their vicinity, or at a still greater distances; while others suffer from the most degraded and disgusting tendencies to filthy habits, making the rapid and frequent change of air, in the room or department where they are situated, absolutely essential to the health and comfort of themselves and others.

When heating fixtures are in successful operation in air chambers beneath the building in winter, to rarify and move the air, or when the external temperature and winds are such as to favor, and the state of the sick will allow of natural ventilation, but little comparative annoyance from impure air is experienced. There are, however, many days and nights during every year when these favorable conditions or influences do not exist; that is, when the heating apparatus is not required or in use, and when from the state of the weather externally, it is impracticable to open doors and windows for natural ventilation; or if opened, there is no motion in the air without to effect change within.

To secure the presence of pure air at all times in all parts of a large house, occupied by insane or sick people, and in large assembly and concert rooms, resort has of late been had to the use of mechanical means, in the shape of revolving fans, and I am convinced, from considerable personal attention given to the subject, with the best results, in the improved health or increased comfort of those who reside in or resort to them.

The object is accomplished by placing a fan, to be driven by an engine, so as to force fresh air through the warm air chambers and flues into every part of the building, and foul air from thence through the ventilating openings and flues outwards.

Buildings are thus more surely and equably warmed in winter, and more perfectly supplied with fresh wholesome air at all seasons. With the addition of this improvement, this building will be quite perfect, and will compare very favorably in its appointments for comfort and health, with those of more recent construction.

As instances of the adoption of mechanical or forced ventilation, I may mention that fans are in use at the State Asylum at Utica, N. Y.; at the State Lunatic Hospital at Worcester, Mass.; at the Northampton and Taunton Asylums in that State; at the Butler Hospital for Insane at Providence, R. I.; at the U. S. Naval Hospital, Brooklyn, N. Y.; at the Cooper Institute in, and at the Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb near the city of New York; also at the Capitol at Washington, D. C., where there are four in use in different sections of the building. One is also being provided for the new Penn Hospital for insane men near Philadelphia, and under the direction of Dr. T. S. Kirkbride.

By reference to the steward's abstract of accounts from December 29, 1857, to December 30, 1858, and herewith presented, it will be perceived that the receipts from all sources have been forty-seven thousand ninety-seven dollars and fifty-three cents, and the payments forty-seven thousand ninety-seven dollars and forty-six cents.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS.

As in the previous year, we have been laid under obligations to the clergymen of Trenton and the vicinity, for their kindness in conducting the exercises of our chapel on Sunday.

From the American Tract Society, through R. T. Haines, of Elizabeth, and one of your Board, we have received one hundred volumes for the patients' library, and for which we would express our thanks.

To the Hon. G. R. Robbins, member of Congress, we are indebted for public documents, and among them, eight quarto illustrated volumes, published under direction of the War Department, and comprising explorations and surveys for railroad route from the Mississippi river to the Pacific ocean.

These are valuable books of reference, as they give reliable and important information in regard to the geography, geology, botany, natural history, &c., &c., of the extensive region between the points mentioned.

From Dr. J. Taylor, of Burlington, one hundred and ninety shade trees, which added to former contributions from him, will materially assist in furnishing our grounds.

The following sums have been received and applied in part payment for the two billiard tables before alluded to, and for which we are duly grateful:

From A. Lemassena, of Newark, $100; from James Ewing, Esq., of Trenton, $20; from J. S. Scudder, Trenton, $10; Thos. J. Stryker, $5; J. Vanderveer, Somerville, $1; from a friend, $10.

From W. H. Hamlin, of Utica, New York, $20, for ornamental fountain in one of the wards for female patients; and from a "friend" $20, for the same object.

From a friend, $50, towards the erection of a green house and vinery. From various persons, through Miss McCall of Trenton, $30; through Miss A. Groff, of Swedesboro', $9, for the same object. We hope to receive, at an early day, a sufficient amount to accomplish this most desirable object.

To S. C. Bowles, publisher, of Boston, we are under obligations for regular numbers of Monthly Religious Magazine.

From the publishers of the following daily and weekly papers, we have received gratuitous copies, viz.: Daily True American and State Gazette and Republican, Trenton; Press, Princeton; Herald and Mirror, Mount Holly; Dollar Newspaper, Burlington; Messenger, Somerville; Journal, Elizabeth; Inquirer and Herald, Freehold; Banner, Morristown; West Jerseyman, Camden; New York Commercial Advertiser, at half price. From Fowler & Wells, New York, Water Cure Journal. From Capt. John Roberts, a beautiful model of a ship, made of glass and presented to the Museum. From other friends of the institution we have received various articles for the same purpose.

As in all former years, we have been duly and kindly remembered by Miss Dix, who has presented books, prints, pamphlets, papers, patterns, articles for the Museum, &c., &c., &c.; beside has given much cordial and encouraging sympathy and support in the arduous work of caring for a household of disordered minds.

May she have her reward.

From Mr. James S. Earle, Philadelphia, through Miss Dix, two large steel engravings.

To those, toward whom I have occupied the relation of physician and friend during periods of sickness and sorrow, and who, with their relatives, have expressed kindly confidence in the institution and myself, I beg to return my grateful thanks, and the assurance that their kindly offerings are most highly appreciated.

To the board of managers, I beg to renew the expression of my sense of obligation for their kindness and courtesy, and for their manifested interest in the welfare and progress of the institution.

From the other resident officers I have received cordial support, and from many faithful attendants and assistants, efficient aid in carrying out the benevolent and important purposes of the institution.

Respectfully submitted,

H. A. BUTTOLPH.

JOINT COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

The Joint Committee to whom was referred so much of the Governor's Message as relates to the State Lunatic Asylum, ask leave to report:

In addition to what has been stated in a former very brief report, they desire to call the attention of the Legislature to several topics of much practical importance to the institution and its inmates, as well as to the insane of the State who are not under its care.

By a reference to the last annual report of the superintendent of the asylum, it will be perceived that notwithstanding the recent enlargement of the building, increasing its total capacity for the reception of two hundred and seventy-five patients, with their necessary attendants, it is already full and crowded; the number of inmates at the close of the last year being two hundred and ninety-three, or about twenty more than was consistent with the easy accommodation of the house.

It is further stated in the report, that so large a number of the present occupants belong to the chronic and incurable classes, who cannot be essentially relieved by remaining in the asylum, that it is with much difficulty that room is found for the proper accommodation of persons whose disease is recent in its character and who might therefore be benefitted. In view of this state of things the alternatives are suggested that the State should either provide still further accommodation for its insane, or that a policy be adopted that shall limit the action of Judges in sending the indigent at the public expense to those of a recent and supposed curable character, and that shall favor the withdrawal, by the county authorities, of those who have for some time enjoyed its benefits, but who are not likely to be improved by remaining.

Presuming that the present will not be a favorable time, either for enlarging the building, or for establishing a second institution elsewhere, it is suggested by your committee, that the original law requiring the several counties to support the pauper and indigent classes, while in the asylum, be restored, and releasing the State treasury from the liability of an annual expenditure for this object.

While it would be hoped that this policy would not prevent the counties from sending to and retaining those individuals in the asylum who were probably curable, or who were manifestly too dangerous to go at large, the re-payment from the county treasuries of two dollars and seventy-five cents, the entire cost per week for their board and attendance, would operate as an inducement to the county officers to discriminate in regard to the character of cases (whether curable or otherwise,) to be kept in the asylum. It is believed that by the adoption of this course the total number of patients supported by the counties in the asylum, would be so far diminished that the annual expenditure for their benefit would not much exceed the amount now paid, and that thereby room would be gained for the better accommodation of recent cases, and the necessity for the extension of the present building, or the establishment of a second institution by aid of State appropriations, would be saved, or could at least be for some time deferred.

The reasons given in the report in favor of replacing a portion of the old steam boilers with new ones of larger size and improved construction, (viz: to give security against accidents from explosion and to economise the use of fuel,) are such it is believed as fully justified the committee in heretofore recommending an appropriation for that object. Many of the hospitals of the country have introduced a system of forced ventilation, with great advantage to the comfort and health of the patients, and when crowded with inmates, as ours now is, the necessity is obvious. The new boilers asked for will, in addition to heating the building with steam, be able to produce all the power requisite, not only for the blowing apparatus for such ventilation, but can be applied to such other machinery as can be employed in furnishing useful occupation to many of the patients. Labor being the most useful adjunct in the curative treatment of insanity, every appliance should be resorted to to make it both attractive and useful.

The farm, garden, and out-door exercises are seldom available in winter. Reading, lectures, bowling alley, &c., &c., afford a partial resource; but substantial employment, even hard manual labor, are more likely to be effectual in curing these diseases.

The mind thus becomes diverted from its morbid condition—an interest is excited, and reality soon begins to take the place of hallucination. Men and women return to their homes and usefulness in life, who otherwise would have been burthens to themselves and society.

Before closing this report, your committee would call the particular attention of the members of the Legislature, to the statement in the last report of the Asylum, that the large number of thirteen hundred and seventy-seven cases have participated in the benefits of the institution, since its opening in 1848, and that of this number, eight hundred and sixty-three have been discharged as recovered or improved. Surely the knowledge that this institution has relieved so great an amount of physical suffering, of mental and moral distress, as is implied by this statement, should quicken the pulse and gladden the heart of every friend of humanity, and lead all to be devoutly thankful, that the state, through the influence of a christian sentiment and age, has made such wise and efficient provision for the relief of a class of her most afflicted citizens.

If we look back to the period of half a century, we will find that the poor lunatics, as they were improperly called, were the objects of cruelty and neglect—chains, and fear and beating were then the ordinary treatment. And we are proud to know that the advancement in the care and treatment of the insane has kept pace with the boasted advancement in all other respects of our age of the world.

It may well become us all to remember, that the strongest and most favored amongst us, have no more immunity from diseases of the mind, than we have from the diseases of the body. And it is well here to remind our whole community, that this institution is equally open to all, and that every judicious physician will say, that the earlier it is resorted to when such calamities do befall us, the more certain and speedy will be the cure.

Our Hospitals for the Insane contrast favorably with any in the country, and with the exception of the portion of the expense of the county patients, voluntarily paid by the State, it is self-sustaining.

But as it seldom receives legacies or contributions, like some of our neighboring institutions, if it is to be kept up to the position of equality of others in usefulness, the State will be obliged to render occasional aid.

In conclusion, the committee take pleasure in saying that they have reason to know, that the managers and superintendent have made the most judicious use of the funds entrusted to them by the State.
