

Delaware Governor Matt Meyer
Illinois Governor JB Pritzker
Indiana Governor Mike Braun
Kentucky Governor Andy Beshear
Maryland Governor Wes Moore
Michigan Governor Gretchen Whitmer
New Jersey Governor Phil Murphy

North Carolina Governor Roy Cooper
Ohio Governor Mike DeWine
Pennsylvania Governor Josh Shapiro
Tennessee Governor Bill Lee
Virginia Governor Glenn Youngkin
West Virginia Governor Patrick Morrisey

NOTICE OF MULTI-STATE TECHNICAL CONFERENCE

IN THE MATTER OF STATE PARTICIPATION IN PJM INTERCONNECTION AND GOVERNANCE REFORM

September 23, 2025 at 9:00 A.M.

National Constitution Center, Philadelphia, PA

The states of Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, New Jersey, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Virginia, and West Virginia served by PJM Interconnection LLC (PJM) give notice of a multi-state technical conference regarding regional involvement in PJM wholesale market design and implementation to enhance accountability and transparency to state ratepayers.

As PJM grapples with and as states confront the cost crisis in the wholesale market and the need for responsive regional planning that adapts to new transformative system conditions including a changing resource mix, new and improved grid technologies, extreme weather events, supply chain and interconnection disruptions, and other conditions, reform is necessary to bolster states' ability to engage to ensure the safe, affordable, and reliable delivery of electricity to consumers.

The purpose of this technical conference is to initiate a public process that considers necessary organizational and mission changes in PJM governance to establish an active participatory role for member states and jurisdictions, by:

1. Investigating and addressing gaps in state roles in current PJM stakeholder, voting, planning, board engagement, filing rights, and other processes.
2. Establishing a defined role for a Governors Group in PJM's governance structure as the representative of States and jurisdictions, including proposals for formal recognition and funding within the PJM tariff.
3. Addressing the role of states in ensuring resource adequacy.
4. Exploring the evolution of RTO/ISO mission statements, governance models, and decision-making processes to respond to cost and resource adequacy concerns, increasing load growth, market demands, and state legal and policy requirements.
5. Exploring and adopting the successes of expanded state roles in other RTOs, ISOs, and regions

Individuals or parties that wish to participate as panelists during the technical conference should nominate themselves to speak. To self-nominate, please fill out this short form to provide the following information by August 15, 2025, at 5:00 P.M. EST:

1. Name, title, affiliation, email, phone number
2. Short description (no more than 500 words) explaining why you should be selected.

Nominees will be notified by September 8, 2025, that they have been selected as a speaker. A supplemental notice and agenda will be published shortly.

If you are interested in attending the conference as an attendee, rather than a speaker, please sign up for our email list here and we will notify you when conference registration opens.

The states are receiving organizational support for this technical conference from the National Governors Association and Great Plains Institute.

If you have any organizational or logistical questions, please contact
PJMStatesGroupLogistics@gpisd.net

Report Abuse

