

NEW-JERSEY GAZETTE.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 8, 1781.

L O N D O N, April 17.
SIR George Rodney is determined to keep up a spirit of discipline through all ranks of the navy, as the best means of producing good consequences on every occasion. A mutiny, or rather a conspiracy, having been on board the Sylph, which was discovered time enough to prevent its being put into execution, Sir George ordered a court-martial to be held on the delinquents; in the course of which it appeared, that it was their intention to have seized the sloop, and to have carried her into some port of the enemy: The sentence, which is awarded by martial law, was accordingly passed upon them; and six of the most daring was immediately hung up at the yard arm. The remainder of the conspirators, who had been wrought upon by artifice, were distributed among other ships of the fleet.

The American agent, Curzion and his associates, are considered as state prisoners, and are on their way to England in his Majesty's ship Vengeance. The Dutch Governor, Mynheer Graaffe, who held a traffick with the Americans, Sir George has obliged to embark for England, and has seized his plantations for the use of his Majesty.

Advice is received from Scilly, that a Spanish transport called N. S. Xeres de la Frontera, laden with provisions and naval stores, bound from Bilboa to Cadiz, is taken by the Liberty privateer, and carried into St. Mary's.

His Majesty has, upon very mature consideration, determined to have a new survey of England, taken upon the plan of that of Doomidday-Book, by William the conqueror; the scheme has been more than once under consideration of the Cabinet Council. The Chancellor is of opinion that it may be done without any other authority than the privy Seal; but Lord North is strenuous for parliamentary authority; his Lordship's opinion prevails; and it is thought a bill will in consequence be brought into the House of Commons this session.

The fleet of observation now forming at Spithead is to consist of 20 capital ships, including the Victory, a first rate, all which are ordered to be completed by the first of next month.

East-India House, April 19, 1781.

The 24th of July, 1780, advice was received at Fort St. George, that Hyder Ali's cavalry had entered the Carnatic in different places, whereupon the troops in cantonments were ordered to assemble at St. Thomas's Mount; and a strong detachment under Colonel Baillie, who commanded in the Guntoor Circar, was ordered to the Perfidency, in the mean time Hyder himself, with the main body of his army, entered by the pass of Changamah, reduced Pollour, Chittapet, and Arnee, and on the 22d of August fat down before Arcot.

The 26th of August, Sir Hector Munro took the field and moved towards Conjevaram.

The 6th of September the General was informed, that a large detachment from Hyder's army had attacked Colonel Baillie at Perambancom, and been repulsed, but as Colonel Baillie was thereby weakened, he found it not in his power to join the General; it was therefore resolved to reinforce Colonel Baillie with a strong detachment, and Colonel Fletcher was ordered on that service.

The 10th of September the General was informed, that Colonel Baillie had been attacked and entirely defeated; whereupon it was resolved to fall back to Chingleput, and afterwards to St. Thomas's Mount, where General Munro arrived the 14th of September.

The loss sustained by the unfortunate defeat of Lieutenant Colonel Baillie's detachment amounts in killed, wounded and prisoners, to about 508 Europeans, and 3300 Seapoys.

So soon as intelligence of the above disaster reached Madras, requisition was made to Bengal for a suitable reinforcement to be sent from thence with all expedition; whereupon it was resolved, that a supply of money should be sent to the relief of Fort St. George, and that a large detachment of European infantry and artillery should also proceed thither immediately; and likewise that Lieutenant General Sir Eyre Coote should sail directly to take upon himself the command of the army on the coast.

It was also resolved to detach a large body of Seapoys for the further protection and defence of the country, so soon as the season should permit of their marching by land.

In consequence of the above resolutions, General Coote left Calcutta the 13th of October, 1780, and arrived at Fort George the 5th of November following, with two companies of European artillery, 660 Mafcars, six companies of European infantry, and one company of volunteers; but Arcot unfortunately surrendered to Hyder two days before the arrival of General Coote at Madras.

The army under General Coote was formed in three grand divisions on Choultry plain, between three and four miles southward of Madras, during the northeast monsoon. The General took up his residence with one of them, in order to be in readiness to embrace the first opportunity that should offer of gaining advantage over the enemy, and has given the strongest assurance that his utmost endeavours shall be used to re-establish the interest of the company, and to support the honour of the British arms on the coast, and he hopes by the next opportunity to be able to transmit more agreeable accounts.

April 18. Nothing short of unconditional submission on one side, or total independency on the other, seems to be the bone of American contention at this day. All ideas of peace without some decisive blow are idle. For America will not yield without compulsion, nor Great-Britain give up the contest while she can maintain an army. The great political question then is, who can persevere the longest?

April 20. A letter from Brussels says, that Dr. Franklin is in very good health, and proposes to be at Vienna next month; that Mr. Dana, who came over Secretary to Mr. Adams, is gone, by order of Congress, to Russia, upon special service; that young Mr. Laurens, son of the gentleman in the Tower, is come to Europe upon special military business with the Court of France from General Washington; that he has nothing to do with Dr. Franklin's department, and is to return to America in a few days; that being a young man without much experience in business, Congress had sent Mr. Payne (author of the celebrated work called Common Sense) to be Secretary, &c. to Laurens.

Extract of a letter from Messina, dated March 18.

"Our last intelligence from Catania, a very populous and wealthy city, distant 60 miles from this place, brings the melancholy account of that part of Sicily being laid waste by a dreadful hurricane and earthquake, which proved very fatal to the inhabitants, several lives having been lost. Amongst the many public and noble edifices that have been destroyed, our correspondent reckons the ancient Castle of St. Alexis, which, it is supposed, was built so far back as the times of Compté Roger, and a fortress erected in the territories of Piazza; but the greatest loss is the destruction of the famous bridge of Aragon, the largest in the kingdom, situate on the river Simata. It was begun in 1765, and completed in 1777, at the expence of Prince Bilcari. Of the 31 arches, on which it was supported, seven only remain. The most considerable of those that have been destroyed, measured 120 palms in breadth, and another served to support an aqueduct which united the waters issuing from two neighbouring mountains. This bridge, in its height, measured 160 palms or hands breadth.

"The city of Catania, one of the most considerable in Sicily, is situated on a gulph at the mouth of the river Indicallo; but, unfortunately for its inhabitants, it is only 20 miles distant from mount Gibel, or Etna, by which they are exposed to frequent earthquakes. The city was totally destroyed in the year 1693."

April 23. A large packet of letters, the correspondence of various merchants of London, Liverpool and Ireland, with the enemy at St. Eustatia, were brought over by the Venus, and are deposited at the Admiralty for minute examination. Daily Adv.

The squadron ordered for the East-Indies, consists of one 74, two 64 gun ships, and two large frigates; they are to fail the first fair wind. Four East-India ships which are ready will go with them; the other part of the company's fleet to fail this year, will not be ready till June.

Sir Eyre Coote was at Bengal when Hyder Ali entered the Carnatic; he arrived at Madras in the beginning of November, and is of course Commander in Chief, in the room of Sir Hector Munro.

April 24. A proclamation will soon be published, to authorize private adventurers to make war on the dominions of Spain, in South America, and vest in them and their heirs for ever, the right of possession to whatever they shall conquer from the common enemy.

April 28. It is said the Royal Title of Duke of Lancafter will be revived in the person of Prince William Henry, and the revenues of the Dutchy of Lancafter, with the rents of sundry houses and lands in London and Westminster, which are parcels of that Dutchy, will be assigned to him.

The Title of Duke of Lancafter was last possessed by Lord John of Lancafter, Duke of Bedford, second son of King Henry IV. and Regent of France, in the reigns of his brother Henry V. and his nephew Henry VI. Henry IV. was son of John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancafter and Earl of Hereford, uncle to Richard the second.

May 2. Upwards of 1700l. worth of Spanish coin has been found in the ruins of the Bell alehouse at Colham. This treasure, which consists of 18s. 36s. 3l. 12s. and a few 7l. 4s. pieces, it is now discovered, had been concealed, curiously packed with cotton, under the false bottom of the chest belonging to the publican. The chest was taken out of a Spanish prize last war, and had stood for sale in a warehouse belonging to Mr. Wilkes, auctioneer, in Portsmouth, for upwards of 14 years. It was about eighteen months ago put into a sale of household goods, and disposed of for 3s. to a mariner, who the same day sold it to the landlord of the Bell, who happened then to be at Portsmouth, for 7s. and its being burnt with the rest of his furniture, brought to light its valuable contents.

Extract of a letter from Paris, April 27.

"In consequence of the notice given by Mr. Maskelyne, the royal Astronomer in England, to Mons. Messier, Astronomer to the navy, and fellow of the academy of sciences, the latter desiered a comet on the 15th inst. and on the 23d determined its position. At eight o'clock 23 minutes 26 seconds in the evening, it had in its direct ascension 85 deg. 9 min. 48 sec. and of the northern declension 23 deg. 35 min. 26 sec. following in its motion the order of the signs in the Zodiack. This new comet is remarkable for its brilliancy, though its radiance is rather inclining to white, such as Jupiter appears in the telescope. At present no appearance of its tail can be traced."

May 5. Accounts have been received in Holland from the East-Indies, that the Chinese and other inhabitants, natives of the island of Java, to the number of 50 or 60,000, having formed themselves into a body, had come down to Batavia and entirely destroyed all the plantations of coffee, rice, &c. that belonged to the Dutch; that they are almost starved, as none of the natives will supply them with provisions, or even deal with them, on account of some recent acts of cruelty to the Chinese and other inhabitants of the island.

Yesterday a well dressed man, supposed to be in a state of insanity, for several hours ranged the Court-yards of St. James's palace till at length he got into the Guard Chamber, where his curiosity to see the King carried him to such extravagancies, that an officer was ordered to keep him under his notice; from the Guard Chamber he proceeded to the palace back gate, where his behaviour was so menacing and rude, that he was obliged to be taken to the Horse Guards.

May 1. The following military arrangements, we hear, have been agreed upon, and orders issued for their being immediately carried into execution, viz. a camp to be formed at Coxheath, under the command of Lieutenant General Gage, with a detached camp at Lexham, commanded by Lieut. General Frazer. A large camp also is to be formed at Harwich, under the command of Lieutenant General Parker, with a detached camp at Danbury, to be commanded by Major General Faucett.

The East Essex regiment, now quartered at Lynn, Swaffham, Durham, &c. have received orders to encamp on Herringsfleet-heath, where it is expected a considerable force will campaign this summer, for the protection of Norfolk and Suffolk.

Two regiments of dragoons have received orders to march to Coxheath, the only cavalry that will be appointed to that Camp.

B O S T O N, July 19.

A cartel is settled for an exchange of prisoners between the state of Vermont, and Canada; in consequence of which, numbers have lately been sent from thence to that quarter.

The Marquis La Fayette privateer, has sent into Newport, a prize ship bound from Bristol for New-York, said to be worth 30,000l. sterling.

July 23 Thursday last arrived at Newport a valuable prize, the voice of which amounts to 22,000l. sterling, captured by the privateer brig Marquis La Fayette off Charlestown bar.

W O R C E S T E R, July 26.

Last Friday a flag arrived at Boston from Antigua.

The enemy's privateers from Penobscot, which continue in our bay, have lately taken several homeward bound vessels that had valuable cargoes on board.

P R O V I D E N C E, July 14.

We learn that Admiral Arbuthnot lately sailed for England in a frigate, and that the command of the British fleet in America has devolved on Admiral Graves.

Wednesday last Capt. Alger, in the sloop Industry, arrived here, in 26 days from Grenada.—He informs, that his Most Christian Majesty's fleet, commanded by Count de Grasse, arrived there from Tobago on the 10th of June, and after landing the late Garrison of that island (consisting of between 4 and 500 British Troops) put to sea again on the 12th.

On Thursday arrived the sloop Humbird Captain Phineas Potter, in 16 days from Cape-Francois.

Last Week two of the enemy's armed boats, from Long-Island, entered the eastern sound. On Saturday they took a small sloop from Nantucket, and after plundering the hands, and a number of passengers that were on board, permitted her to proceed on her voyage. Col. Demmick, with some armed Boats from Falmouth, went in quest of the enemy, who had captured two or three vessels beside the sloop above mentioned, one of them a sloop from Grenada, bound to Salem, having some swivels mounted; on board this vessel the enemy had hoisted one of their boats. Col. Demmick came up with her, on Wednesday last, off Nantucket, and was briskly fired on; but he immediately boarded and carried her. The enemy had one man killed, and another wounded. The largest of the boats made her escape.

July 21. A Gentleman from Boston informs, that a flag of truce arrived there from Antigua on Thursday last, after a passage of 18 days, with a number of masters of vessels on board, who had been prisoners at that island. His Most Christian Majesty's fleet, under the orders of Count de Grasse, was said to be at Dominica when the above flag sailed, and the British fleet at Barbadoes.

We learn that a flag of truce from New-York, bound to Newport, arrived at Fisher's island last Wednesday evening, where she landed 2 persons belonging to Connecticut. She had on board about 20 other Americans, to be landed at Newport. The flag we are informed left New-York on Tuesday morning last.

N E W P O R T, July 4.

Head-Quarters, Phillipsburgh, Friday, July 6, 1781.

"The commander in Chief with pleasure embraces the earliest publick opportunity, of expressing his thanks to his Excellency the Count de Rochambeau, for the unremitting zeal with which he has prosecuted his march, in order to form the long wished for junction between the French and American forces.

"An event which must afford the highest degree of satisfaction to every friend of his country, and from which the happiest consequences are to be expected.

"The General entreats his Excellency the Count de Rochambeau, to convey to the officers and soldiers under his immediate command, the grateful sense he entertains of the cheerfulness with which they have performed so long and laborious a march at this extreme hot season.

"The regiment of Saintonge is entitled to peculiar acknowledgments for the spirit with which they continued and supported their march without one day's respite."

N E W - L O N D O N, July 27.

We hear, that last Wednesday se'night a frigate and several armed boats went up the North-River as far as Tarry-Town, where they landed a party of men, who set fire to a dwelling house and barn;—they were attacked by a party of Col. Sheldon's light horse, who beat them off and obliged them to embark: in the action Capt. George Huribut of this town, it is said, was dangerously wounded in the groin by a musket ball, and that several others of the party were wounded, and a sergeant killed.

Monday last, the sloop Randolph, Captain Peck, returned into port with the prize ship Polly, John Webb, late master, from Bristol, bound to New-York, 12 weeks out, which the Randolph captured near Sandy-Hook. Her cargo consists of about 1400 barrels flour, 100 boxes window glass, a quantity of dry goods, &c. the prize had on board the crew of the letter of marque ship Loyal Britain, who having met with a violent gale of wind in lat. 33, about the 1st inst. had foundered.—A quantity of goods were taken out of said ship.

By the above prize we have British papers to the 17th of April, but they contain no news of importance.

Last Sunday several large parties from General Washington's army, scoured the country from the encampment to Morrifania, Frogg's-point, &c. attacked and drove in the enemy's guards, took a number of prisoners, and brought off all the cattle and flock in that quarter.

Wednesday a cartel, sent from New-York with 39 American prisoners, arrived here. After landing the above prisoners the cartel proceeded to Newport, with several French gentlemen which came from New-York in the vessel.

The Rattlesnake privateer, belonging to the eastward, was carried into New-York about a fortnight ago.

Wednesday arrived the letter of marque schooner Arbuthnot, of 10 guns, bound from New-York to Newfoundland, laden with tobacco and salt, captured by the brig Minerva, Capt. D. Saltonstall, from this port, and the ship Rising-Sun from Philadelphia.

The sloop Conquest, Capt. Friars, from this port, is arrived at Cape Francois.

P O U G H K E E P S I E, July 30.

The following agreeable and interesting intelligence from Tryon county, from authority which renders it indisputable, would have been given to the publick last week, but the printer was disappointed in publishing a paper as he expected.

On the 10th inst. on the discovery of a great smoke, by Col. Willet, who commands the levies at Fort Rensselaer, towards the settlement of Corey's Town, Capt. Gros (who had been sent with a detachment of 35 men to Thurloch, about eleven miles from Corey's Town) was ordered immediately to repair to Corey's Town to make discoveries, at which place he arrived in time to extinguish several houses which the enemy had set on fire.—In the mean time Col. Willet ordered in such of the militia of the neighbourhood as he could collect, and having received particular information of the place where the enemy had lain the night before, and where they had left part of their baggage, marched with the militia and levies under his immediate command, in the evening, in hopes of reaching them before daylight; which he would have effected, had it not been for the darkness of the night, and his guide missing the way—this prevented his reaching their encampment before six in the morning. They having discovered him on his approach, took a more advantageous position and commenced an attack, which was returned with great spirit, and soon became general; and upon our troops advancing to close quarters, the enemy were compelled to give way; but shortly after, renewed the action on the right of our troops, where Capt. M'Kean, who commanded the reserve, met and opposed them with such spirit, that a total rout ensued—and the enemy dispersing in small parties, seeking safety in flight—The action lasted an hour and a half—the best account of the enemy's force is, that they consisted of upwards of 200—our's was far inferior to that number. Our loss in killed, was 5; missing and wounded 9; among the latter was the brave Capt. M'Kean, who is since dead of his wounds, deservedly much regretted—the enemy's loss cannot be ascertained, but it is not less than forty, as great part of that number, were found dead on and near the place of action. Col. Willet, and the officers and troops under his command, merit the highest applause, for their gallant and spirited behaviour on this occasion; and great advantages may be expected from the event, as it will tend to damp the spirit of enterprise in our savage enemy.

F I S H - K I L L, July 26.

On Sunday evening, the 15th inst. two sloops of war, two tenders and one galley, all British, came up Hudson's river, with intention, as is supposed, to destroy the stores then moving from West-Point to the army. There were at that time two sloops going down the river, laden with cannon, powder, &c. As soon as they discovered the enemy, they put about and stood in for Tarry-Town, where they ran aground; the enemy having a fair wind and tide, came up the river so fast that it was impossible to march infantry down, in time to unload or protect the stores; there were no troops at Tarry-town, except a sergeant's guard of the French infantry. Col. Sheldon (whose regiment lay at Dobb's ferry) immediately marched his mounted dragoons to the place, where he ordered his men to dismount and assist to unload the stores, which was done with great dispatch: By this time, the enemy having come to anchor off Tarry-town, began a heavy cannonade, under cover of which, they sent two gun boats and four barges to destroy the vessels, &c. Capt. Hurlbert, of the 2d regiment light dragoons, was stationed on board one of them with twelve dragoons, armed only with pistols and swords; he kept his men concealed till the enemy were along side, when he gave them a fire, which they returned and killed one of his men: Capt. Hurlbert finding himself surrounded, ordered his men to jump overboard and make for the shore, which they did, he following: The enemy immediately boarded and set fire to the vessels; but were obliged immediately to retire, owing to the severe fire that was kept up by the dragoons and French guard. Capt. Hurlbert, Capt.

Lieut. Miles, quartermaster Shaylor, and others, jumped into the river and made for the sloops, in order to extinguish the fire; which they did, and saved the vessels: While in the water, Capt. Hurlbert received a musket-ball through the thigh, but is now in a fair way to do well.—About day-light Gen. Howe arrived with a division of troops and some artillery; a battery was opened on the enemy, which obliged them to slip their cables and fall down the river about two miles, where they continued till Tuesday about noon; when Gen. Howe again opened a battery on them, and obliged them to make fail up the river: They continued near Tally's point till Thursday, during which they sent their gun-boats on shore, and burnt the elegant house of Capt. Robert, at Haverstraw. About noon, the enemy, taking advantage of a fair wind and tide, made fail and flood down the river; when coming near Dobb's ferry, (where we had erected a battery of two 18 pounders, two French brass 12, and 7 half inch howitz) we commenced a heavy fire on them from the works, on both sides of the river; they returned the fire, but did not the least damage. The largest of the enemy's ships sustained the greatest damage; many shot were fired through her; one of our shells bursting on board her, threw them into great confusion; 18 or 20 of their men jumped overboard, three or four of whom swam on shore, and the rest are supposed to be drowned.

Last Saturday Col. Sheldon's dragoons went to Frog's Neck and Morifania, and brought off upwards 200 horned cattle; a considerable number of horses, hogs, sheep, &c. said to be Col. Delancey's property, which he had plundered from the inhabitants, in order to fatten and sell to the New-York butchers; a profitable trade he has practised a long time.

B A L T I M O R E, July 24.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Capt. Moor's troop of Baltimore light-dragoons, dated Head-Quarters, Holt's-Forge, New-Kent county, Wednesday, July 11, 1781.

"Cornwallis having encamped near James-Town, the Marquis sent General Wayne, with the Pennsylvania line, to take their station within a small distance of the British army, and watch their motions. About 300 riflemen occupied the ground between General Wayne and Lord Cornwallis, who were directed to scatter themselves in the woods, without order, and annoy the enemy's camp. This they did with such effect, that a small party was sent out against them, to dislodge them; each side continuing to reinforce, at length the whole of General Wayne's division were engaged; they drove the advanced detachments back to their lines, and without stopping there, attacked the whole British army, drawn up in order of battle, and charged them with their bayonets.—The action was obstinate for the little time it lasted; but the disproportion of numbers was too great.—The Marquis arrived in person, time enough to order a retreat, and to bring off the Pennsylvania troops, before they were surrounded, which the enemy were endeavouring to effect, being able greatly to outflank them.—Cornwallis did not pursue them more than about half a mile in the retreat, apprehending that the rest of our army were near enough to support them, and not choosing to risk a general engagement.—We lost two field pieces, which could not be brought off, all the horses belonging to them being killed. Captain Savage did great execution with a third field-piece under his command, situate in such a manner as to rake, with grape-shot, a solid column of the enemy on their march, with which he cut lanes through them, and repeatedly drove them back with the utmost confusion.—The riflemen and light-infantry were of great service, and gave the enemy some very heavy and well directed fires.—The whole of our troops which were engaged that day, did not amount to more than 1100.—Wayne's division lost 107 privates and non-commissioned officers, killed, wounded and missing, and 12 commissioned officers; among the last Capt. Stakes, wounded in the leg, and Capt. Cunningham in the foot, both slightly. Of about 40 of the wounded, whom I have seen, but one is thought dangerous. We suffered no loss of any consequence, except in General Wayne's division.

"The British, immediately after the action, which ended about 9 o'clock in the evening, crossed James-River. The whole army were crossed over by the morning excepting a part of their light-horse, for which they had boats ready to bring them over instantly, in case of an emergency.—Saturday afternoon, or evening, they crossed also.

"Those of our wounded, who were left on the field, to the number of about 25, were treated by the enemy with more humanity than usual, and were left behind.

"Cornwallis finding, among the killed and wounded, none but the Pennsylvania line, from that circumstance, and the information of his prisoners, learned, that only that line, with a few riflemen and light-infantry, had been in the action, and found greater cause of chagrin, that such a handful of men should have made so spirited an attack on his army, than of exultation for having repulsed them.

"It is said a part of their troops are embarking for New-York, that a garrison will be left at Portsmouth, and the rest probably go to the Southward. The Marquis is moving up James-River.

"I had the pleasure of seeing the Marquis at most amiable point of view, visiting the wounded officers and soldiers, going from man to man, examining into their situation, their attendance, their wants, and giving every possible care that all things necessary should be furnished—A conduct, which while it does honour to the humanity and goodness of his heart, cannot fail to engage him the affections of the soldiery, and endear the name of La Fayette to every American."

The citizens of Annapolis, at a late meeting, (Charles Wallace, Esq. in the chair) taking into consideration the Act of the General Assembly, for the emission of £ 200,000, to defray the expences of the campaign; and the subscription and association recommended by the Legislature, came to several spirited resolutions, one of which is as follows,

"Resolved unanimously, That as the credit of the said paper money depends solely on the publick opinion, and must receive its value from the association of the principal Merchants and inhabitants of Baltimore-Town, and the principal farmers in the several counties, to receive it at par with specie, that this meeting will enforce faithful obedience to the association, agreeable to its true spirit and intention, so long as the counties and other towns shall act with like good faith and honour, and this meeting will support the paper money at the value of specie, in all dealings, until the determination of Baltimore-Town, and the other towns, and the counties shall be known."

PHILADELPHIA, August 1.

Extract from GENERAL ORDERS, July 19, 1781.

"THE Commander in Chief is exceedingly pleased with the conduct of Major General HOWE, for marching with so much alacrity and rapidity to the defence of the stores at Tarry-Town, and repulsing the enemy from thence: He requests General Howe, and all the officers and soldiers of the American and French armies, who were employed on the occasion, to accept this publick acknowledgment of their services.

"The gallant behaviour, and spirited exertions of Col. Sheldon and Capt. Harbut, of the 2d regiment of dragoons; Capt. Lieut. Miles, of the artillery, and Lieut. Shayler, of the 4th Connecticut regiment, previous to the arrival of the troops, in extinguishing the flames of the vessels which had been set on fire by the enemy, and preserving the whole of the ordnance and stores from destruction, entitle them to the most distinguished notice and applause of their General."

Monday last came up to town a flag of truce, from St. Augustine, with a number of virtuous citizens of South-Carolina, who had the misfortune to fall into the enemy's hands at the surrender of that place; and afterwards cruelly separated from their families and friends, and sent prisoners to Augustine. Another flag, with several more gentlemen under the like circumstances, may be looked for every hour, as she failed at the same time.

August 4. A small open boat was brought into our port the beginning of this week by two American seamen. She was employed by a number of the piratical villains, called Refugees, to plunder in the bay and coast. These two men, lately prisoners with the enemy, entered on board the above boat; but watching their opportunity, while the rest of the crew were on shore near Sandy-Hook, brought her off safe.

Thursday evening another flag arrived here from Charlestown, with a number of the families of the gentlemen already in this city, belonging to South-Carolina, but who have left their all for the sake of the glorious cause of their country.

A second flag from St. Augustine is come up as high as Chester, with more of the worthy inhabitants of the state of South-Carolina.

Late accounts from the southward inform us, that the enemy have destroyed their works at Ninety-six, in South-Carolina, and retired to Monk's Corner, 26 miles from Charlestown; and it was supposed they would shortly be obliged to retreat into that capital, as considerable bodies of American forces were near them; some, indeed, were posted between Monk's Corner and Charlestown, but not in such a position as effectually to prevent the enemy's retreat. That our affairs in that quarter wear an agreeable aspect, some parties of our troops being within three miles of Charlestown, and almost the whole country submitted to the victorious arms of General Greene.—Our advices add, that numbers of the reinforcement of troops, lately arrived at Charlestown, had perished with excessive fatigue, added to the great difference of the climate from that of their own country.

From the New-York Gazette, July 25.

Part of the fleet from St. Eustatius for England we hear was arrived; it is said some of them have been captured within twenty leagues of the land, by the French Admiral La Motte Picquet; and that Admiral Digby was sent in quest of him and them with ten sail of the line.

NEW-YORK, (City) July 31.

General Washington's position is from Dobb's Ferry to the Bronx, 12 miles from King's Bridge, and the reports there, are, that he is waiting for the arrival of a French fleet to attack New-York by sea, when he will immediately commence hostilities by land, with all his force. The French fleet in the West-Indies consists of 26 sail of the line, and it is probable some of them may pay Rhode-Island a visit in the hurricane months: But is it to be supposed that Sir George Brydges Rodney, who has under his command 22 ships of the line, will not keep a vigilant eye over the motions of the Count de Grasse, and wherever he may steer, send a force after him sufficient to defeat his intentions? The publick may be assured he will; and that an addition to our naval force is shortly expected from more quarters than one.

The Congress, 'tis said, had given orders for the capturing all the Spanish flags that had any of the garrison of Pensacola on board as by the capitulation of that place, the troops taken there might act against the Americans, as the Spaniards were not in alliance with the United States.

TRENTON, AUGUST 3.

We are informed that General Clinton lately sent an order to Lord Cornwallis to detach Simcoe's corps, and the light-infantry of his army, to New-York; but his Lordship objecting against this requisition, in his present situation at Sleepy-Hole, Clinton repeated his order in the most positive terms; but the result of his Lordship has not yet come to our knowledge.

The troops lately embarked at New-York were invalids, bound to Halifax, to relieve the garrison there, which is ordered to New-York.

At a special court lately held in Burlington, a certain Joseph Mulliner, of Egg-Harbour, was convicted of high treason, and is sentenced to be hanged this day. This fellow had become the terror of that part of the country. He had made a practice of burning houses, robbing and plundering all who fell in his way, so that when he came to trial it appeared that the whole country, both whigs and tories, were his enemies.

THE Printer of the New-Jersey Gazette has long experienced the perplexities and losses attending outstanding accounts, and the want of punctual payments. Although the price is now as low as the expences of paper, wages, &c. will admit, yet for the sake of avoiding these inconveniences, he would be willing to make an extraordinary abatement, were the price of a year paid by advance within a reasonable time. He therefore proposes to set the paper for a year at TEN SHILLINGS, gold or silver, provided the same be advanced at any time within three months from the 25th of last month, when the year commenced, and the whole of a packet be on that footing. He will also in this case take produce at the current market rates. If by any means whatever the paper should be discontinued, the money or produce will be returned in due proportion. Those subscribers for the present year, who do not prefer these terms will be considered under those mentioned in this Gazette the 25th ult. No. 187.

The Printer earnestly requests the packet-masters and others who are in arrear, to pay off their respective balances immediately.
