The ALJ found, inter alia, that: in order to prevail, the petitioner must show that the decision of the Board to deny her request to permit M.S.'s participation in the HHS-West 2023 prom and graduation ceremony was arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable, and/or in violation of Board policy; petitioner failed to present any such evidence; actions within a school board's authority, including the adoption and implementation of policies for assignment of students, are entitled to a presumption of correctness and will not be upset without an affirmative showing that a decision is arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable; based on the factual record in this case, the Board had a strong basis for its decision to refuse to permit M.S. to participate in 2023 prom and graduation activities at HHS-West. Accordingly, the ALJ denied petitioner's request for M.S. to attend the HHS-West senior prom and to walk in the HHS-West graduation ceremony and dismissed the petition.

Upon a comprehensive review, the Commissioner concurred with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. The petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

Final Decision

D.S., on behalf of minor child, M.S.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Hamilton, Mercer County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge, for the reasons detailed in the Initial Decision, that the Hamilton Township Board of Education's decision to deny petitioner's request for her minor child to participate in the senior prom and graduation ceremony of a different high school within the school district was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

D.S. ON BEHALF OF M.S.,

HAMILTON TOWNSHIP BOARD OF EDUCATION, MERCER COUNTY,

D.S. petitioner, pro se

Record Closed: March 13, 2023 Decided: March 30, 2023

BEFORE TRICIA M. CALIGUIRE, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner D.S. on behalf of M.S. challenges the decision of respondent Hamilton Township Board of Education, Mercer County (Board) to deny her request that M.S. be permitted to participate in activities with the Class of 2023 at Hamilton High School-West (HHS-West), specifically to attend the HHS-West senior prom and to receive her high school diploma in the HHS-West graduation ceremony.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On July 18, 2022, D.S. on behalf of M.S. filed a petition of appeal with the New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Controversies and Disputes (DOE). On August 16, 2022, respondent Board filed an answer and motion for dismissal. The Commissioner of Education did not rule on the motion but transmitted it with the petition to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on August 22, 2022, for hearing as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15, and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

The matter was scheduled for a telephone prehearing conference on October 17, 2022. Prior to the telephone conference, respondent sent notice of a change in counsel, but respondent failed to appear. The telephone prehearing conference was rescheduled for November 2, 2022, during which a briefing schedule for respondent's motion to dismiss was issued. On December 16, 2022, the motion to dismiss was denied and the due process hearing was scheduled to coincide with the hearing in a related case between these parties, EDU 10144-22.[1]

As described in the summary of undisputed facts, below, since early 2021, I have presided over six matters involving these parties and prior to this hearing, had issued decisions in four of the matters. Based on the documents filed in both this matter and in EDU 10144-22, and the testimony and arguments made by both parties in prior matters over which I presided, I understood that the basis for petitioner's current requests for relief, and the grounds by which respondent denied both requests, were similar. In the interest of judicial economy and in an attempt to provide petitioner with resolution prior to the end of the current school year,[2] the hearings in both matters were conducted on March 6, 2023, at the OAL.[3] Following the hearing, petitioner submitted a handwritten letter accusing opposing counsel of specific improper conduct, which was vehemently denied by return letter of counsel. This correspondence was forwarded to Candice Hendricks,

FACTUAL DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS

The following background FACTS are not in dispute and accordingly, I FIND:

The Hamilton Township School District (District) operates three high schools and assigns students residing within the District to a specific high school based on pre-determined residential boundary lines. When M.S. began high school, in September 2019, she lived with her mother, D.S., at an address within the HHS-West zone and attended HHS-West.

During the 2019–2020 school year, M.S. was subject to discipline and removed from school on nine occasions.[5] She was charged with seven acts of harassment, intimidation and bullying (HIB) toward another HHS-West student. On July 27, 2020, D.S. filed a due process petition to challenge the Board's decision finding M.S. guilty of seven counts of HIB. After transmittal to the OAL, this matter was docketed as EDU 07830-20, and was assigned to the Honorable Jeffrey N. Rabin, ALJ.

On September 25, 2020, D.S. filed an emergent petition to challenge one of the seven findings of HIB and to also charge HHS-West Principal Brian Smith with harassment. The harassment charge triggered a separate internal investigation by the Board and therefore, the DOE transmitted only the HIB challenge, docketed at the OAL

[4] In all the proceedings before me, D.S. showed a complete lack of propriety and disregard for civility, insulted and denigrated witnesses, opposing counsel, my judicial support specialist, and myself, in correspondence, telephone conferences, and during hearings. One final example follows. After receiving respondent's post-hearing submission, D.S., apparently having forgotten my instructions from the bench, sent the following email to my chambers: "With all due respect; what is this? More testimony in cases that were already heard on 3/6/2023. If Judge Claigure [sic] permits this after me being verbally threatened by Rita Barons [sic] after Judge Caligula [sic] left the bench, I will be filing a reply[.] It saddens me that the HTSD is continuing to waste taxpayers money purposely continuing fighting for something that will cause absolutely NOONE any harm instead increases the moral and positive influence in My child's life and education. Isn't that what we should be focusing on and not continually try and break [M.S.] down even more[.] You disgust me[.]" as EDU 09096-20, and assigned to Judge Rabin. Before the emergent hearing, D.S. filed a motion for Judge Rabin's recusal, which was denied. On October 6, 2020, Judge Rabin issued a ruling denying emergent relief.

On October 21, 2020, D.S. filed a second motion for Judge Rabin to recuse himself in EDU 07830-20, which motion was also denied.

On March 2, 2021, while EDU 07380-20 was pending, D.S. filed a related emergent petition charging Principal Smith with continuing harassment of both D.S. and M.S. and appealing the decision of respondent to bar D.S. from HHS-West property due to her allegedly inappropriate behavior. The emergent matter, EDU 02205-21, was assigned to Judge Rabin, who conducted the emergent hearing and on March 10, 2021, issued a ruling denying emergent relief.[6] In his order on emergent relief, Judge Rabin found as fact that:

> [D.S.] had spoken derogatory and accusatory language against Principal Smith during the public portion of public school board meetings and in correspondence to various parties, included publicly accusing Principal Smith of being a racist. Because of these issues, and because of the litigation between the parties, Dr. James Altobello (the Board's Director of Secondary Education), in conjunction with the Board superintendent, created interventions to ensure that D.S. and Smith did not have direct interaction.

On March 10, 2021, D.S. on behalf of M.S. brought a lawsuit in Mercer County, New Jersey Superior Court against certain administrators and staff of HHS-West, alleging racial profiling, discrimination, harassment, and bullying.[7] This matter was resolved prior to trial.

[7] Somma on behalf of M.S. v. Smith, et al., MERL-L-528-21 (Mercer County Super. Ct. 2021).

On March 30, 2021, D.S. filed a third motion for Judge Rabin to recuse himself in EDU 07830-20, which motion was also denied.

M.S. withdrew from HHS-West in March 2021, and began the 2021–2022 school year (in eleventh grade) at Gateway High School in Florida. On or before November 1, 2021, M.S. moved with her mother, D.S., back to New Jersey and took up residence in Hamilton Township within the geographic zone assigned by the District to Hamilton High School-East (also known as Steinert).

On October 28, 2021, D.S. applied to the District for an attendance zone waiver by which M.S. would attend high school at HHS-West rather than Steinert. By letter dated October 29, 2021, the District denied petitioner's application. The District stated that its decision was supported by the earlier allegations made by D.S. on behalf of M.S. regarding HHS-West administrators and staff, the litigation that ensued, and D.S.'s conduct during the 2020–2021 school year (as described more fully in the order issued by Judge Rabin in EDU 02205-21).

On or about February 1, 2022, M.S. was suspended by the Steinert administration for fighting with another student and posting video of the fight on social media. M.S. is eligible for special education and related services but, after a manifestation determination meeting, respondent concluded that the conduct of M.S. constituted a disciplinary infraction neither related to nor caused by her disability. D.S. sought an expedited ruling overturning that decision and the discipline imposed on M.S. The expedited matter, EDS 01033-22, was assigned to me. Before the expedited hearing, D.S. filed an emergent petition directly with the OAL; on February 23, 2022, following a hearing, I issued an order denying emergent relief. The expedited hearing was held on March 4, 2022, and on March 15, 2022, I issued a final decision in favor of the respondent and D.S.'s petition was dismissed. D.S. obo M.S. v. Bd. of Educ. of the Twp. of Hamilton, OAL Dkt. No. EDS 01033-22, Final Decision (March 15, 2022).

On March 8, 2022, petitioner filed an appeal with the DOE of the first zone waiver denial. The matter was transmitted to the OAL, assigned to me, and on July 5, 2022, I issued an initial decision granting summary decision in favor of the District, which was affirmed by the Commissioner of Education. D.S. on behalf of M.S. v. Hamilton Township Board of Education, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 02521-22, Initial Decision (July 5, 2022), aff'd., Final Decision (August 15, 2022).

Before the decision on the first zone waiver appeal was issued, petitioner asked respondent if M.S. could participate in end-of-year activities at HHS-West with the rest of the HHS-West Class of 2023 and, on June 13, 2022, respondent denied that request. This appeal followed.

After this matter was filed, D.S. informed respondent that she had contracted to purchase (but not yet closed on) a home within the geographic zone assigned to HHS-West. Had the District permitted M.S. to enroll at HHS-West after moving to the new home, this matter (EDU 07264-22) would have been moot but on November 9, 2022, respondent stated that it would not permit M.S. to enroll at HHS-West in the event of a permanent change in residency. In making this decision, respondent relied on its November 5, 2021, letter to D.S. from counsel explaining the basis for respondent's denial of petitioner's first request for a zone waiver. This letter stated in pertinent part:

> [Y]ou, individually, and on behalf of [M.S.], have accused multiple administrators, including the Principal and the Athletic Director, and multiple certified staff members assigned to [HHS-West] of harassment and discrimination toward [M.S.] and you arising from [bullying], disciplinary incidents, and other circumstances. . . It is confounding that you would insist on having [M.S.] assigned to a school against which you have made such allegations. Nevertheless, while the District denies those allegations and avers that it has engaged in unbiased decisions toward you and [M.S.], those claims and past circumstances justify [M.S.'s] assignment to a high school other than [HHS-West] which is in the best educational interest of [M.S.] and the [HHS-West] staff.

On November 10, 2022, petitioner filed an appeal of her second zone waiver request. That matter was transmitted to the OAL by the DOE on November 10, 2022; the OAL docketed it as EDU 10144-22, and assigned it to me.

On December 21, 2022, petitioner filed a request for emergent relief, seeking the immediate transfer of M.S. from Steinert to HHS-West on the grounds that M.S. is unsafe at Steinert due to allegedly being the victim of HIB on or about December 19, 2022, and as a result of allegedly being subjected to excessive force by the school resource officer immediately following the December 19, 2022, incident. This emergent matter was docketed as EDU 11614-22, and assigned to me. The emergent hearing was held on January 4, 2023, and on January 5, 2023, I issued an initial decision denying emergent relief. D.S. on behalf of M.S. v. Hamilton Twp. Bd. of Educ., OAL Dkt. No. 11614-22, Initial Decision (January 5, 2023), aff'd., Final Decision (February 24, 2023).

Disputed Issue

To prevail in this matter, petitioner must show that the decision of respondent to deny her request to permit M.S. to participate in the HHS-West senior prom and graduation ceremony with the same rights and privileges as the other members of the HHS-West Class of 2023, was arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable, and/or in violation of Board policy.

Testimony

Petitioner testified and presented the testimony of her daughter, M.S. Respondent called one witness for the limited purpose of identifying pre-marked exhibits for introduction. The following is not a verbatim recitation of the testimony but a summary of the documentary and testimonial evidence I found relevant to the above-described dispute.

M.S. is an eighteen-year-old female in her senior year of high school. She started her testimony with a general description of the mental health issues she experienced while a middle school student in the District. Based on her testimony, it appears that incidents occurring outside of school contributed to M.S.'s condition.

M.S. described two incidents during the 2019–2020 school year, when she was a freshman, which resulted in her being disciplined by the HHS-West administration. The first occurred at a football game at which she participated as a cheerleader. M.S. stated that she was "jumped" from behind by another female student and she fought back. The next day, M.S. was told that she was removed from the cheer team for fighting while wearing her cheer uniform.

In the second incident, M.S. stated that she was trying to "de-escalate" a fight between other students when a security guard attempted to grab her by the wrists. She was sent to the nurse's office.

While at HHS-West, M.S. stated that she had problems with the cheerleading director, the athletic director, and the football coach. Further, she described her relationship with Principal Smith as "rocky," noting that he suspended her "a couple times," and that she did not want him involved in any disciplinary matters affecting her. M.S. stated that she was very upset about how she was treated at HHS-West by administrators and teachers. At the time, she told her mother, who took her complaints to the Board. M.S. also knows that her mother filed a lawsuit against Principal Smith and others in the administration, accusing them of racial discrimination.

M.S. recalled moving with her mother to Florida, where she completed tenth grade and started eleventh grade. She could not recall the reason her family moved to Florida and gave an incomplete explanation as to why they returned to New Jersey.

M.S. enrolled at Steinert in November 2021, and has since attended Steinert. She stated that she has no friends there and no relationship with her guidance counselor or other staff. On cross-examination, M.S. admitted that she has made a positive connection with her Steinert art teacher, Mr. Cooper, who she described as a sort of "older sibling." She also has a positive relationship with Ms. Leon, her support counselor. She stated that she continues to meet (by Zoom and in-person) with her HHS-West counselor, Edward Belfiore (Belfiore), who she has known since she was a young child. She described Belfiore as a mentor and the most significant adult presence in her life.

Shortly after M.S. enrolled at Steinert, she started the Black Students' Union (BSU) because no such extracurricular organization existed at Steinert. M.S. wanted to learn more about her culture. In the BSU, she has "cordial relationships," but no friends.

M.S. recalled being suspended for fighting in school on February 1, 2022. She stated that then-Steinert Principal Bridget O'Neil was not doing her job, evidence of which is the excessive suspension M.S. was given for fighting. M.S. stated that she was suspended for forty-five days and claimed that other male students were also suspended (for an unrelated fight), but for a much shorter period. This, she said, was proof of racial discrimination at Steinert, as the male students are white.

M.S. acknowledged that her actions in ninth and tenth grade, while at HHS-West, were the result of her own poor decision-making and were "not worth it." She stated that she has come a long way, has made the Honor Roll for the first time this past semester, and has applied to four colleges (for August 2023 admission). M.S. said that for the first time, she is proud of herself. She understands that respondent will not permit her to return to HHS-West because of her actions there, but it is important for her to walk the stage with the HHS-West graduating class because her older brother (who died prior to graduating high school) did not get that opportunity.

D.S. testified briefly on her own behalf.[8] She spoke of ongoing issues with the District and more than once, accused Superintendent Scott Rocco of denying her current requests for personal reasons. She and M.S. are tired, emotionally drained, and want to move on from the past.

D.S. stated that after respondent denied her request for M.S. to participate in end-of-year activities with the HHS-West Class of 2023, she attended the June 2022 regular meeting of the Board. While there, D.S. stated that she spoke with three Board members regarding the decision to deny her request and that these Board members were not aware of the request, which is evidence of Superintendent Rocco's bad faith.

[8] Petitioner was not initially sworn in as she stated that she would be presenting arguments in favor of her position, but when she began to describe incidents involving her daughter, she was asked to take the oath. Her testimony was still relatively brief as I recognized that M.S., who was present, would have first-hand knowledge of the incidents being described.

Dr. James Altobello, Director of Administration, testified on behalf of respondent. Among his other duties for the District, Dr. Altobello is responsible for administering requests such as to participate in events at other than the school of enrollment, and for students to change schools within the District, such as the zone waiver requests made by petitioner (and described above). He has communicated with petitioner regarding the request involved in this matter (and the zone waiver appeal involved in EDU 10144-22).

Dr. Altobello identified District Policy 5120, which provides in pertinent part:

> The Board of Education directs the assignment of pupils to the schools, programs, and classes of this district consistent with the best interests of pupils and the best uses of the resources of this district.
> Pupils shall generally attend the school located in the attendance area of their residence. The Superintendent may assign a pupil to a school other than that designated by the attendance areas when such an exception is justified by circumstances and/or is in the best interests of the pupil. (Every effort will be made to exercise sensitivity and reasonable judgment regarding student placement.)

Dr. Altobello stated that Board Regulation 5120 describes how Board Policy 5120 will be administered. He identified Board Regulation 5120, which provides in pertinent part:

> The Superintendent or Designee will review all requests for an "attendance zone waiver." Approval of all zone waivers is based upon the following criteria:
> 1. Legal mandates (court order, parental custody);
> 2. Child Study recommendations;

3. Homelessness, Department of Child Protection and Permanency interventions and

4. Students in good standing having attend Hamilton Township Schools for two consecutive years and entering 5th, 8th, or 11th grade who move within the Hamilton Township borders, may petition for a zone waiver to remain in their current school through graduation or promotion.

On October 25, 2021, and June 13, 2022, D.S. submitted zone waiver requests. (R5; R-12.) Dr. Altobello stated that both were denied as none of the specific criteria (shown above) were met. (R-6; R-14.)

Dr. Altobello stated that Policy 5120 does not specifically prohibit a student attending one of the District high schools from participating in graduation activities held at another of the three high schools. He stated his understanding that the right to participate in graduation activities is based on attendance, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:8-5.2.[9].

Finally, Dr. Altobello stated that Principal Smith will personally hand diplomas to the members of the HHS-West Class of 2023 as they cross the stage. He could, but has yet to, compel a principal at any of the District high schools to give a diploma to a student who does not attend that specific high school. Further, given the accusations that petitioner has leveled at Principal Smith, both personal and professional, in public and in the course of litigation, Dr. Altobello is not comfortable directing Principal Smith to award a diploma to M.S. He stated that such an order would not be appropriate.

Credibility Analysis and Additional Findings

For testimony to be believed, it must not only come from the mouth of a credible witness, but it also has to be credible in itself. It must elicit evidence that is from such common experience and observation that it can be approved as proper under the circumstances. See, Spagnuolo v. Bonnet, 16 N.J. 546 (1954); Gallo v. Gallo, 66 N.J. Super. 1 (App. Div. 1961). A credibility determination requires an overall assessment of the witness's story in light of its rationality, internal consistency, and the manner in which it "hangs together" with the other evidence. Carbo v. United States, 314 F.2d 718, 749 (9th Cir. 1963). Also, "'[t]he interest, motive, bias, or prejudice of a witness may affect his credibility and justify the [trier of fact], whose province it is to pass upon the credibility of an interested witness, in disbelieving his testimony.'" State v. Salimone, 19 N.J. Super. 600, 608 (App. Div.), certif. denied, 10 N.J. 316 (1952) (citation omitted).

The most important witness, M.S., is no longer a minor child, having turned eighteen prior to the hearing. In the past, M.S. had shown herself to me to be less than credible, but at this hearing, I found her to present an honest, if somewhat biased, account of her high school experience in the Hamilton Township school system. She is very soft spoken and appears shy.[10]

Most of M.S.'s testimony was coached by her mother, despite numerous attempts to direct D.S. to avoid leading questions and/or not to use questions to present her own testimony. Much of what M.S. stated on direct examination she willingly contradicted on cross. For example, she complained of no positive adult relationships at Steinert, making her relationship with Belfiore all the more important. She then spoke highly of Steinert teachers Cooper and Leon and how much they have helped her. She admitted to poor academic performance while at HHS-West and improved academic performance at Steinert, and I so FIND. Further, M.S. stated that had she stayed on the path she was on at HHS-West, she doubts she would be where she is today—on the Honor Roll, headed to college in the fall.

Significantly, M.S. understands that the decision made by respondent to keep her at Steinert rather than permitting her enrollment at HHS-West (the subject of EDU 10144-22), is the result of the actions she took while a student at HHS-West, and I so FIND. While M.S. admits that such actions were not worth it, she did not acknowledge as untrue the claims of racial discrimination, bigotry, bullying, and harassment brought on her behalf against teachers and administrators of HHS-West.

Between them, D.S. and M.S. only presented evidence of one incident in which a decision of respondent could be classified as unfair, that being M.S.'s testimony that in February 2022, she received greater discipline for the same violations of school policy than was given to other male, white students. But there was no evidence introduced to corroborate her hearsay statement, no certification, no eyewitnesses, not even cross-examination of respondent's witness. Further, a review of the record in EDS 01033-22, shows that M.S. was suspended in February 2022, for twenty-two days, not forty-five days (as she now recalls).

Similarly, on multiple occasions, D.S. stated that Superintendent Rocco acted out of personal spite when he denied the request to permit M.S. to participate in senior year activities at HHS-West but presented no evidence to support those speculative statements.[11] Though petitioner pointed out that the Board policy and regulation on which respondent based the decision in this matter does not specifically prohibit a student enrolled at one high school from walking in the graduation ceremony at another, she failed to present evidence that the Board has permitted other students to do so.[12]

Dr. Altobello appeared credible, and I believe that he is truly uncomfortable asking Principal Smith to hand a diploma to a student who has made very serious allegations of improper conduct against him, allegations that resulted in a Board investigation, civil litigation, and multiple administrative proceedings. As petitioner notes, the regulation Dr. Altobello cited to support his decision does not prohibit the award of diplomas based on residency and attendance at a particular high school. The regulation, N.J.A.C. 6A:8-5.2, addressed academic requirements for graduation that must be followed by district boards of education. Board Policy 5410, however, states in pertinent part:

[11] Petitioner did not name the Board members who allegedly support her request, and did not secure their testimony or introduce affidavits in which they confirmed their alleged statements.
[12] Petitioner's argument that both she and M.S. were welcomed to the stage at HHS-West in 2005 to receive the diploma of her deceased son is touching but is not evidence that respondent routinely makes exceptions to the stated policy.

> School attendance shall be a factor in the determination of a pupil's promotion or retention. In high school, only extenuating circumstances should permit the promotion of a pupil who has been in attendance fewer than ninety percent of the days during the school year.

That Dr. Altobello failed to identify the above policy while on the witness stand is not evidence that he violated it. His explanation for his decisions regarding where M.S. completes high school and receives her diploma are within the discretion afforded him by Board Policy 5120 and Board Regulation 5120. I FIND as FACT that petitioner presented no evidence to prove that the decision of respondent to deny her request for M.S. to participate in the prom and graduation ceremony at HHS-West was arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable, and/or in violation of Board policy.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

Actions within a school board's authority, including the adoption and implementation of policies for the assignment of students, are entitled to a presumption of correctness and will not be upset by the courts unless there is an affirmative showing that a decision is arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. Thomas v. Bd. of Educ. of Morris Twp., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965), aff'd., 46 N.J. 581 (1966). In general, a board of education's actions are entitled to a presumption of lawfulness and good faith.

D.S. argues that the Board did not meet its burden of proving that its decision was not arbitrary and capricious,[13] but where board actions are challenged, the challenger—D.S., not the Board—bears the burden of proving that such actions were unlawful, arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. Schuster v. Bd. of Educ. of the Twp. of Montgomery, 96 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 670, 676 [citing Schnick v. Westwood Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 448 (App. Div. 1960), and Quinlan v. North Bergen Twp. Bd. of Educ., 73 N.J. Super. 40 (App. Div. 1962)].[14]

[14] D.S. is critical of respondent for relying on cases which were decided as much as sixty years ago, calling such "insanity." See Br. of Petitioner at 3. Though dated, all cases cited here were determined to still be good law.

In matters involving the exercise of a board of education's discretion, the scope of the Commissioner's review is "not to substitute his judgment for that of those who made the evaluation but to determine whether they had a reasonable basis for their conclusions." Kopera v. West Orange Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 296 (App. Div. 1960). Our courts have held that "[w]here there is room for two opinions, action is not arbitrary or capricious when exercised honestly and upon due consideration, even though it may be believed that an erroneous conclusion has been reached." Bayshore Sewage Co. v. Dep't of Envtl. Prot., 122 N.J. Super. 184, 199–200 (Ch. Div. 1973), aff'd., 131 N.J. Super. 37 (App Div. 1974). To satisfy the arbitrary and capricious standard, petitioner must prove that respondent acted in either bad faith or in disregard to the circumstances and I CONCLUDE that she has done neither.

As the factual record detailed above makes clear, respondent has a strong basis for its decision to refuse to permit M.S. to participate in graduation activities at HHS-West. Those privileges are reserved for students who attend school at HHS-West and respondent will not permit M.S. to finish her senior year at HHS-West.[15]

Notwithstanding that M.S. claims to be more mature now, has maintained a productive relationship with her HHS-West guidance counselor, and has reconsidered her prior claims against Principal Smith,[16] respondent has decided that it is in the best interest of M.S. and the staff and administration of HHS-West for M.S. to finish her senior year at Steinert. It is not lost here that petitioner made seven separate claims against staff and administrators of HHS-West, alleging that those staff members bullied, harassed, and discriminated against, M.S. Even at the hearing in this matter, M.S. repeated her claims of racial discrimination by HHS-West administrators (and added a claim against the former Steinert principal), an unintentional reminder of the hardship to its employees that respondent seeks to prevent:

[15] The decision of the Board in EDU 10144-22 has been upheld by initial decision issued March 30, 2023, pending a final decision by the DOE.

[16] Petitioner attempts in her closing to reframe her history of litigation as actions against the District, Dr. Altobello and Superintendent Rocco, and not the HHS-West administration. Br. of Petitioner at 3. As set forth above, however, not counting the three recusal motions, of the ten claims filed by D.S., seven were against HHS-West staff and administrators.

> Placement [of M.S.] at West would invite a resurgence of the claims of harassment and conflict between D.S., M.S., and the school officials. It would be a hardship to the district administration and staff members at West, previously defendants against allegations of racism that they vehemently dispute, to have to scurry to accommodate M.S. with a program as she moves toward graduation all the while on eggshells that any decision to discipline M.S. or conflict between M.S. and her peers would again result in their professional reputations being attacked as they have been numerous times before.
> [Ltr. Br. of Respondent (March 13, 2023), at 6.]

Though petitioner may disagree with the decision made by Dr. Altobello, disagreement alone is not sufficient to prove that his decision was arbitrary, capricious and/or in violation of Board policy.

ORDER

For the reasons set forth above, I ORDER that the appeal of petitioner D.S on behalf of M.S. of the decision of respondent Hamilton Township Board of Education to deny her request for M.S. to attend the HHS-West senior prom and to walk in the HHS-West graduation ceremony is hereby DENIED and the petition is hereby DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." Final Decision

D.S., on behalf of minor child, M.S.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Hamilton, Mercer County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioner challenged the decision of the respondent Board to deny her request to transfer her daughter, M.S., from Steinert High School (Steinert) to Hamilton High School West (HHS-W) for the remainder of the 2022-2023 school year. The instant case is the latest in a series of challenges brought by the petitioner against the Board since 2021 involving demands that M.S. be allowed to finish her high school education at HHS-West despite the fact that M.S. was subject to discipline and removed from school at HHS-West on nine occasions for fighting and acts of harassment, intimidation and bullying against fellow students.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: to prevail in this matter, petitioner was required to prove that the Board's decision to deny her request to enroll M.S. at HHS-West for the remainder of the 2022–2023 school year was arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable and/or in violation of Board policy; petitioner failed to present any such evidence; the school administration must by law and Board policy act in the best interest of the student and there is no evidence that it is in M.S.'s best interest to return to HHS-West rather than complete her senior year at Steinert; M.S. admitted in testimony that she had poor academic performance while a student at HHS-West and had improved her performance at Steinert; further, M.S. testified that had she stayed on the path she was on at HHS-West, she would not be on the Honor Roll and headed to college in the fall; actions taken by a school board that fall within its authority, including the adoption and implementation of policies for assignment of students, are entitled to a presumption of correctness and will not be upset without an affirmative showing that a decision is arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable; and, based on the factual record in this case, the Board had a strong basis for its consistent decision to refuse to enroll M.S. at HHS-West. The ALJ concluded that the petitioner did not carry her burden of proof in this matter. Accordingly, the ALJ dismissed the petition.

Upon a comprehensive review, the Commissioner concurred with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. The petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

Respondent.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge, for the reasons detailed in the Initial Decision, that the Hamilton Township Board of Education's decision to deny petitioner's request for a transfer of her minor child to a different high school within the school district was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

Record Closed: March 13, 2023 Decided: March 30, 2023

BEFORE TRICIA M. CALIGUIRE, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner D.S. on behalf of M.S. challenges the decision of respondent Hamilton Township Board of Education, Mercer County (Board) to deny her request to transfer M.S. from Hamilton High School East (Steinert) to Hamilton High School-West (HHS-West), for the remainder of the 2022–2023 school year.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On October 7, 2022, D.S. filed a petition of appeal with the New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Controversies and Disputes (DOE), to challenge the decision of respondent Board to deny her request to enroll M.S. at HHS-West. On November 9, 2022, respondent filed a motion for summary decision in lieu of an answer on the grounds that petitioner did not live within the geographic boundaries of HHS-West. The Commissioner of Education did not rule on the motion but transmitted it with the petition to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on November 10, 2022, for hearing as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15, and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

On December 16, 2022, based on changed circumstances since the date of the petition, I directed petitioner to amend her petition with proof of her change of residence and permitted respondent to file an amended answer or amended motion for summary decision. On January 3, 2023, petitioner filed an amended petition. On January 13, 2023, respondent filed a second motion for summary decision. This motion was denied on the record on March 6, 2023, prior to the due process hearing, which was scheduled to coincide with the hearing in a related case between these parties, EDU 07264-22.[1]

As described in the summary of undisputed facts, below, since early 2021, I have presided over six matters involving these parties and prior to this hearing, had issued decisions in four of the matters. Generally, based on the documents filed in both this matter and in EDU 07264-22, and the testimony and arguments made by both parties in prior matters over which I presided, I understood that the basis for petitioner's current requests for relief, and the grounds by which respondent denied both requests, were similar. In the interest of judicial economy and in an attempt to provide petitioner with resolution prior to the end of the current school year,[2] the hearings in both matters were conducted on March 6, 2023, at the OAL.[3] Following the hearing, petitioner submitted a handwritten letter accusing opposing counsel of specific improper conduct, which was vehemently denied by return letter of counsel. This correspondence was forwarded to Candice Hendricks, OAL Assistant Director of Judicial Standards. The record remained open for simultaneous post-hearing submissions and on March 13, 2023, the record closed.[4]

The following background FACTS are not in dispute and accordingly, I FIND:

The Hamilton Township School District (District) operates three high schools and assigns students residing within the District to a specific high school based on pre-determined residential boundary lines. When M.S. began high school, in September 2019, she lived with her mother, D.S., at an address within the HHS-West zone and attended HHS-West.

During the 2019–2020 school year, M.S. was subject to discipline and removed from school on nine occasions.[5] She was charged with seven acts of harassment, intimidation and bullying (HIB) toward another HHS-West student. On July 27, 2020, D.S. filed a due process petition to challenge the Board's decision finding M.S. guilty of seven counts of HIB. After transmittal to the OAL, this matter was docketed as EDU 07830-20, and assigned to the Honorable Jeffrey N. Rabin, ALJ.

[4] In all the proceedings before me, D.S. showed a complete lack of propriety and disregard for civility, insulted and denigrated witnesses, opposing counsel, my judicial support specialist, and myself, in correspondence, telephone conferences, and during hearings. One final example follows. After receiving respondent's post-hearing submission, D.S., apparently having forgotten my instructions from the bench, sent the following email to my chambers: "With all due respect; what is this? More testimony in cases that were already heard on 3/6/2023. If Judge Claigure [sic] permits this after me being verbally threatened by Rita Barons [sic] after Judge Caligula [sic] left the bench, I will be filing a reply[.] It saddens me that the HTSD is continuing to waste taxpayers money purposely continuing fighting for something that will cause absolutely NOONE any harm instead increases the moral and positive influence in My child's life and education. Isn't that what we should be focusing on and not continually try and break [M.S.] down even more[.] You disgust me[.]"

[5] See D.S. obo M.S. v. Hamilton Twp. Bd. of Educ., OAL Dkt. No. 07830-20, Transmittal Documents (August 14, 2020).

On September 25, 2020, D.S. filed an emergent petition to challenge one of the seven findings of HIB and to also charge HHS-West Principal Brian Smith with harassment. The harassment charge triggered a separate internal investigation by the Board and therefore, the DOE transmitted only the HIB challenge, docketed at the OAL as EDU 09096-20, and assigned to Judge Rabin. Before the emergent hearing, D.S. filed a motion for Judge Rabin's recusal, which was denied. On October 6, 2020, Judge Rabin issued a ruling denying emergent relief.

On October 21, 2020, D.S. filed a second motion for Judge Rabin to recuse himself in EDU 07830-20, which motion was also denied.

On March 2, 2021, while EDU 07380-20 was pending, D.S. filed a related emergent petition charging Principal Smith with continued harassment of both D.S. and M.S. and appealing the decision of respondent to bar D.S. from HHS-West property due to her allegedly inappropriate behavior. The emergent matter, EDU 02205-21, was assigned to Judge Rabin, who conducted the emergent hearing and on March 10, 2021, issued a ruling denying emergent relief.[6] In his order on emergent relief, Judge Rabin found as fact that:

> [D.S.] had spoken derogatory and accusatory language against Principal Smith during the public portion of public school board meetings and in correspondence to various parties, included publicly accusing Principal Smith of being a racist. Because of these issues, and because of the litigation between the parties, Dr. James Altobello (the Board's Director of Secondary Education), in conjunction with the Board superintendent, created interventions to ensure that D.S. and Smith did not have direct interaction.

On March 10, 2021, D.S. on behalf of M.S. brought a lawsuit in Mercer County, New Jersey Superior Court against certain administrators and staff of HHS-West, alleging racial profiling, discrimination, harassment, and bullying.[7] This matter was resolved prior to trial.

On March 30, 2021, D.S. filed a third motion for Judge Rabin to recuse himself in EDU 07830-20, which motion was also denied.

M.S. withdrew from HHS-West in March 2021, and began the 2021–2022 school year (in eleventh grade) at Gateway High School in Florida. On or before November 1, 2021, M.S. moved with her mother, D.S., back to New Jersey and took up residence in Hamilton Township within the geographic zone assigned by the District to Hamilton High School-East (also known as Steinert).

On October 28, 2021, D.S. applied to the District for an attendance zone waiver by which M.S. would attend high school at HHS-West rather than Steinert. By letter dated October 29, 2021, the District denied petitioner's application. The District stated that its decision was supported by the earlier allegations made by D.S. regarding HHS-West administrators and staff, the litigation that ensued, and D.S.'s conduct during the 2020–2021 school year (as described more fully in the order issued by Judge Rabin in EDU 02205-21).

On or about February 1, 2022, M.S. was suspended by the Steinert administration for fighting with another student and posting video of the fight on social media. M.S. is eligible for special education and related services but, after a manifestation determination meeting, respondent concluded that the conduct of M.S. constituted a disciplinary infraction neither related to nor caused by her disability. D.S. sought an expedited ruling overturning that decision and the discipline imposed on M.S. The expedited matter, EDS 01033-22, was assigned to me. Before the expedited hearing, D.S. filed an emergent petition directly with the OAL; on February 23, 2022, following a hearing, I issued an order denying emergent relief. The expedited hearing was held on March 4, 2022, and on March 15, 2022, I issued a final decision in favor of respondent and D.S.'s petition was dismissed. D.S. obo M.S. v. Bd. of Educ. of the Twp. of Hamilton, OAL Dkt. No. EDS 01033-22, Final Decision (March 15, 2022).

On March 8, 2022, petitioner filed an appeal of the first zone waiver denial with the DOE. The matter was transmitted to the OAL, assigned to me, and on July 5, 2022, I issued an initial decision granting summary decision in favor of the District, which was affirmed by the Commissioner of Education. D.S. on behalf of M.S. v. Hamilton Township Board of Education, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 02521-22, Initial Decision (July 5, 2022), aff'd., Final Decision (August 15, 2022).

Before the decision on the first zone waiver appeal was issued, petitioner asked respondent if M.S. could participate in end-of-year activities at HHS-West with the rest of the HHS-West Class of 2023 and, on June 13, 2022, respondent denied that request. On July 18, 2022, petitioner appealed respondent's decision. That petition was transmitted by the DOE to the OAL, docketed as EDU 07264-22, and assigned to me. After that matter was filed, D.S. informed respondent that she had contracted to purchase (but not yet closed on) a home within the geographic zone assigned to HHS-West and, therefore, asked that M.S.'s enrollment be changed from Steinert to HHS-West. Had the District permitted M.S. to enroll at HHS-West after moving to the new home, EDU 07264-22 would have been moot but on November 9, 2022, respondent stated that it would not permit M.S. to enroll at HHS-West in the event of a permanent change in residency. In making this decision, respondent relied on its November 5, 2021, letter to D.S. from counsel explaining the basis for respondent's denial of petitioner's first request for a zone waiver. This letter stated in pertinent part:

> [Y]ou, individually, and on behalf of [M.S.], have accused multiple administrators, including the Principal and the Athletic Director, and multiple certified staff members assigned to [HHS-West] of harassment and discrimination toward [M.S.] and you arising from [bullying], disciplinary incidents, and other circumstances. . . It is confounding that you would insist on having [M.S.] assigned to a school against which you have made such allegations. Nevertheless, while the District denies those allegations and avers that it has engaged in unbiased decisions toward you and [M.S.], those claims and past circumstances justify [M.S.'s] assignment to a high > school other than [HHS-West] which is in the best educational interest of [M.S.] and the [HHS-West] staff.

On November 10, 2022, petitioner filed the present matter, an appeal of her second zone waiver request. The DOE transmitted this matter to the OAL on November 15, 2022; the OAL docketed it as EDU 10144-22, and assigned it to me.

On December 21, 2022, petitioner filed a request for emergent relief, seeking the immediate transfer of M.S. from Steinert to HHS-West on the grounds that M.S. is unsafe at Steinert due to allegedly being the victim of HIB on or about December 19, 2022, and as a result of allegedly being subjected to excessive force by the school resource officer immediately following the December 19, 2022, incident. This emergent matter was docketed as EDU 11614-22 and assigned to me. The emergent hearing was held on January 4, 2023, and on January 5, 2023, I issued an initial decision denying emergent relief. D.S. on behalf of M.S. v. Hamilton Twp. Bd. of Educ., OAL Dkt. No. 11614-22, Initial Decision (January 5, 2023), aff'd., Final Decision (February 24, 2023).

Disputed Issue

To prevail in this matter, petitioner must show that the decision of respondent to deny her request to enroll M.S. at HHS-West for the remainder of the 2022–2023 school year was arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable, and/or in violation of Board policy.

Testimony

Petitioner testified and presented the testimony of her daughter, M.S. Respondent called one witness for the limited purpose of identifying pre-marked exhibits for introduction. The following is not a verbatim recitation of the testimony but a summary of the documentary and testimonial evidence I found relevant to the above-described dispute.

M.S. is an eighteen-year-old female in her senior year of high school. She started her testimony with a general description of the mental health issues she experienced while a middle school student in the District. Based on her testimony, it appears that incidents occurring outside of school contributed to M.S.'s condition.

M.S. described two incidents during the 2019–2020 school year, when she was a freshman, which resulted in her being disciplined by the HHS-West administration. The first occurred at a football game at which she participated as a cheerleader. M.S. stated that she was "jumped" from behind by another female student and she fought back. The next day, M.S. was told that she was removed from the cheer team for fighting while wearing her cheer uniform.

In the second incident, M.S. stated that she was trying to "de-escalate" a fight between other students when a security guard attempted to grab her by the wrists. She was sent to the nurse's office.

While at HHS-West, M.S. stated that she had problems with the cheerleading director, the athletic director, and the football coach. Further, she described her relationship with Principal Smith as "rocky," noting that he suspended her "a couple times," and that she did not want him involved in any disciplinary matters affecting her. M.S. stated that she was very upset about how she was treated at HHS-West by administrators and teachers. At the time, she told her mother, who took her complaints to the Board. M.S. also knows that her mother filed a lawsuit against Principal Smith and others in the administration, accusing them of racial discrimination.

M.S. recalled moving with her mother to Florida, where she completed tenth grade and started eleventh grade. She could not recall the reason her family moved to Florida and gave an incomplete explanation as to why they returned to New Jersey.

M.S. enrolled at Steinert in November 2021, and has since attended Steinert. She stated that she has no friends there and no relationship with her guidance counselor or other staff. On cross-examination, M.S. admitted that she has made a positive connection with her Steinert art teacher, Mr. Cooper, who she described as a sort of "older sibling."

She also has a positive relationship with Ms. Leon, her support counselor. She stated that she continues to meet (by Zoom and in-person) with her HHS-West counselor, Edward Belfiore (Belfiore), who she has known since she was a young child. She described Belfiore as a mentor and the most significant adult presence in her life.

Shortly after M.S. enrolled at Steinert, she started the Black Students' Union (BSU) because no such extracurricular organization existed at Steinert. M.S. wanted to learn more about her culture. In the BSU, she has "cordial relationships," but no friends.

M.S. recalled being suspended for fighting in school on February 1, 2022. She stated that then-Steinert Principal Bridget O'Neil was not doing her job, evidence of which is the excessive suspension Principal O'Neill gave M.S. for fighting. M.S. stated that she was suspended for forty-five days and claimed that other male students were also suspended (for an unrelated fight), but for a much shorter period. This, she said, was proof of racial discrimination at Steinert, as the male students are white.

M.S. acknowledged that her actions in ninth and tenth grade, while at HHS-West, were the result of her own poor decision-making and were "not worth it." She stated that she has come a long way, has made the Honor Roll for the first time this past semester, and has applied to four colleges (for August 2023 admission). M.S. said that for the first time, she is proud of herself. She understands that respondent will not permit her to return to HHS-West because of her actions while a student at HHS-West, but it is important for her to walk the stage with the HHS-West graduating class because her older brother (who died prior to graduating high school) did not get that opportunity.

D.S. testified briefly on her own behalf.[8] She spoke of ongoing issues with the District and more than once, accused Superintendent Scott Rocco of denying her current requests for personal reasons. She and M.S. are tired, emotionally drained, and want to move on from the past.

[8] Petitioner was not initially sworn in as she stated that she would be presenting arguments in favor of her position, but when she began to describe incidents involving her daughter, she was asked to take the oath. Her testimony was still relatively brief as I recognized that M.S., who was present, had first-hand knowledge of the incidents being described.

D.S. stated that after respondent denied her request for M.S. to participate in end-of-year activities with the HHS-West Class of 2023 (which is the subject of EDU 07264-22), she attended the June 2022 regular meeting of the Board. While there, D.S. stated that she spoke with three Board members regarding the decision to deny her request and that these Board members were not aware of the request, which is evidence of Superintendent Rocco's bad faith.

Dr. James Altobello, Director of Administration, testified on behalf of respondent. Among his other duties for the District, Dr. Altobello is responsible for administering requests for students to change schools within the District, such as the zone waiver requests made by petitioner (and described above). He has communicated with petitioner regarding the request involved in this matter (and the request involved in EDU 07264-22).

Dr. Altobello identified District Policy 5120, which provides in pertinent part:

> The Board of Education directs the assignment of pupils to the schools, programs, and classes of this district consistent with the best interests of pupils and the best uses of the resources of this district.
> Pupils shall generally attend the school located in the attendance area of their residence. The Superintendent may assign a pupil to a school other than that designated by the attendance areas when such an exception is justified by circumstances and/or is in the best interests of the pupil. (Every effort will be made to exercise sensitivity and reasonable judgment regarding student placement.)

Dr. Altobello stated that Board Regulation 5120 describes how Policy 5120 will be administered. He identified Board Regulation 5120, which provides in pertinent part:

> The Superintendent or Designee will review all requests for an "attendance zone waiver." Approval of all zone waivers is based upon the following criteria:
> 1. Legal mandates (court order, parental custody);

2. Child Study recommendations;

3. Homelessness, Department of Child Protection and Permanency interventions and

4. Students in good standing having attend Hamilton Township Schools for two consecutive years and entering 5th, 8th, or 11th grade who move within the Hamilton Township borders, may petition for a zone waiver to remain in their current school through graduation or promotion.

On October 25, 2021, and June 13, 2022, D.S. submitted zone waiver requests. (R5; R-12.) Dr. Altobello stated that both were denied as the requisite criteria (shown above) were not met. (R-6; R-14.)

Credibility Analysis and Additional Findings

For testimony to be believed, it must not only come from the mouth of a credible witness, but it also has to be credible in itself. It must elicit evidence that is from such common experience and observation that it can be approved as proper under the circumstances. See, Spagnuolo v. Bonnet, 16 N.J. 546 (1954); Gallo v. Gallo, 66 N.J. Super. 1 (App. Div. 1961). A credibility determination requires an overall assessment of the witness's story in light of its rationality, internal consistency, and the manner in which it "hangs together" with the other evidence. Carbo v. United States, 314 F.2d 718, 749 (9th Cir. 1963). Also, "'[t]he interest, motive, bias, or prejudice of a witness may affect his credibility and justify the [trier of fact], whose province it is to pass upon the credibility of an interested witness, in disbelieving his testimony.'" State v. Salimone, 19 N.J. Super. 600, 608 (App. Div.), certif. denied, 10 N.J. 316 (1952) (citation omitted).

The most important witness, M.S., is no longer a minor child, having turned eighteen prior to the hearing. In the past, M.S. had shown herself to me to be less than credible, but at this hearing, I found her to present an honest, if somewhat biased, account of her high school experience in the Hamilton Township school system. She is very soft spoken and appears shy.[9]

Most of M.S.'s testimony was coached by her mother, despite numerous attempts to direct D.S. to avoid leading questions and/or not to use questions to present her own testimony. Much of what M.S. stated on direct examination she willingly contradicted on cross. For example, she complained of no positive adult relationships at Steinert, making her relationship with Belfiore all the more important. She then spoke highly of Steinert teachers Cooper and Leon and how much they have helped her. She admitted to poor academic performance while at HHS-West and improved academic performance at Steinert, and I so FIND. Further, M.S. stated that had she stayed on the path she was on at HHS-West, she doubts she would be where she is today—on the Honor Roll, headed to college in the fall.

Significantly, M.S. understands that the decision made by respondent to keep her at Steinert rather than permitting her enrollment at HHS-West is the result of the actions she took while a student at HHS-West, and I so FIND. While M.S. admits that such actions were not worth it, she did not acknowledge as untrue the claims of racial discrimination, bigotry, bullying, and harassment brought on her behalf against teachers and administrators of HHS-West.

Between them, D.S. and M.S. only presented evidence of one incident in which a decision of respondent could be classified as unfair, that being M.S.'s testimony that in February 2022, she received greater discipline for the same violations of school policy than was given to other male, white students. But there was no evidence introduced to corroborate her hearsay statement, no certification, no eyewitnesses, not even cross-examination of respondent's witness. Further, a review of the record in EDS 01033-22, shows that M.S. was suspended in February 2022, for twenty-two days, not forty-five days (as she now recalls).

Similarly, on multiple occasions, D.S. stated that Superintendent Rocco acted out of personal spite when he denied the request to enroll M.S. at HHS-West but presented no evidence to support those speculative statements. Though the specific Board policy and regulation on which respondent based the decision in this matter is known to petitioner, she presented no evidence (or argument) to support the claim that the Board is acting in violation of that policy.

I FIND as FACT that petitioner presented no evidence to prove that the decision of respondent to deny her request to enroll M.S. at HHS-West for the remainder of the 2022–2023 school year was unlawful, arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable, and/or in violation of Board policy.

Actions within a school board's authority, including the adoption and implementation of policies for the assignment of students, are entitled to a presumption of correctness and will not be upset by the courts unless there is an affirmative showing that a decision is arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. Thomas v. Bd. of Educ. of Morris Twp., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965), affirmed, 46 N.J. 581 (1966). In general, a board of education's actions are entitled to a presumption of lawfulness and good faith.

D.S. argues that the Board did not meet its burden of proving that its decision was not arbitrary and capricious,[10] but where board actions are challenged, the challenger—D.S., not the Board—bears the burden of proving that such actions were unlawful, arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. Schuster v. Bd. of Educ. of the Twp. of Montgomery, 96 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 670, 676 [citing Schnick v. Westwood Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 448 (App. Div. 1960), and Quinlan v. North Bergen Twp. Bd. of Educ., 73 N.J. Super. 40 (App. Div. 1962)].[11]

[11] D.S. is critical of respondent for relying on cases which were decided as much as sixty years ago, calling such "insanity." See Br. of Petitioner at 3. Though dated, all cases cited here were determined to still be good law.

In matters involving the exercise of a board of education's discretion, the scope of the Commissioner's review is "not to substitute his judgment for that of those who made the evaluation but to determine whether they had a reasonable basis for their conclusions." Kopera v. West Orange Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 296 (App. Div. 1960). Our courts have held that "[w]here there is room for two opinions, action is not arbitrary or capricious when exercised honestly and upon due consideration, even though it may be believed that an erroneous conclusion has been reached." Bayshore Sewage Co. v. Dep't of Envtl. Prot., 122 N.J. Super. 184, 199–200 (Ch. Div. 1973), aff'd., 131 N.J. Super. 37 (App Div. 1974). To satisfy the arbitrary and capricious standard, petitioner must prove that respondent acted in either bad faith or in disregard to the circumstances.

As the factual record detailed above makes clear, respondent has a strong basis for its consistent decision to refuse to enroll M.S. at HHS-West. Notwithstanding that M.S. claims to have matured and admits that her behavior as a freshman and sophomore at HHS-West was inappropriate, she was disciplined for fighting in school just three months ago. Any evidence that M.S. is without friends and more prone to being disciplined at Steinert is overwhelmed by her disciplinary record while at HHS-West.

The argument D.S. makes regarding the adult support M.S. will experience if she transfers to HHS-West is compelling as M.S. has maintained a productive relationship with her HHS-West guidance counselor and has reconsidered her prior claims against Principal Smith. But the preponderance of the evidence is that M.S. has performed better academically at Steinert than she did at HHS-West and has established at least two positive relationships with Steinert staff members. Other than speculating that Superintendent Rocco is acting out of personal animus, petitioner introduced no evidence to support her claim that respondent's decision was arbitrary and/or capricious.

Both D.S. and M.S. expressed the need to put the past behind them and move on, but rather than accept the predictable consequences of their actions while M.S. was enrolled at HHS-West,[12] they continue to use the DOE process to try and reverse the reasonable decisions of respondent to keep M.S. and her mother away from the staff and administrators who they claim treated both of them in a bigoted, discriminatory, harassing and bullying manner. Notwithstanding that all HHS-West personnel were cleared of wrongdoing; M.S. cannot dispute that she felt strongly enough in 2021 about her alleged mistreatment that her mother took legal action to protect her. In the words of Board counsel, "it is confounding that [D.S.] would insist on having [M.S.] assigned to" HHS-West.

The administration must by law and Board policy act in the best interest of the student, and there is no evidence that it is in M.S.'s best interest to return to HHS-West rather than complete her senior year at Steinert. Further, the administration must also act in the best interest of its employees, who are responsible for the education of hundreds of other students, not just M.S. Petitioner made seven separate claims against staff and administrators of HHS-West, alleging that those staff members bullied, harassed, and discriminated against, M.S. Even at the hearing in this matter, M.S. repeated her claims of racial discrimination by HHS-West administrators (and added a claim against the former Steinert principal), an unintentional reminder of the hardship to its employees that respondent seeks to prevent:

> Placement [of M.S.] at West would invite a resurgence of the claims of harassment and conflict between D.S., M.S., and the school officials. It would be a hardship to the district administration and staff members at West, previously defendants against allegations of racism that they vehemently dispute, to have to scurry to accommodate M.S. with a program as she moves toward graduation all the while on eggshells that any decision to discipline M.S. or conflict between M.S. and her peers would again result in their professional reputations being attacked as they have been numerous times before.

Though petitioner may disagree with the decision made by Dr. Altobello, disagreement alone is not sufficient to prove that his decision was arbitrary, capricious and/or in violation of Board policy. I CONCLUDE that petitioner has not carried the burden of proving that the action of respondent in denying the request to enroll M.S. at HHS-West for the remainder of the 2022–2023 school year was arbitrary, capricious and/or in violation of Board policy.

ORDER

For the reasons set forth above, I ORDER that the appeal of D.S. on behalf of M.S. of the decision of respondent Hamilton Township Board of Education to deny an attendance zone waiver and/or to refuse to enroll M.S. at Hamilton High School West for the remainder of the 2022–2023 school year is hereby DENIED and the petition is DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." Final Decision

In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Anselmo Girimonte, School District of the Town of Kearny, Hudson County.

For the Petitioner, Kenneth J. Lindenfelser, Esq.

No appearance by or on behalf of Respondent, Anselmo Girimonte

This matter was opened before the Commissioner of Education on February 23, 2023, through tenure charges of unbecoming conduct certified by Flora Encarnacao, Superintendent and Chief Administrator of the Kearny School District ("District"), together with supporting evidence against respondent, Anselmo Girimonte, a tenured teaching staff member in the District's employ. On February 23, 2023, the District provided respondent with the Sworn Tenure Charges and the Sworn Statement of Evidence with exhibits through a mailing to the respondent's current address, via certified mail and Federal Express overnight delivery.

This communication clearly provided notice to respondent that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.3 and 6A:3-5.4, an individual against whom tenure charges are certified "shall have 15 days from the day such charges are filed with the Commissioner to file a written response to the charges with the Commissioner," and that failure to answer within the prescribed period would – absent granting of an extension for good cause shown – result in the charges being deemed admitted. No reply to the tenure charges was received from or on behalf of the respondent.

The certified tenure charges and statement of supporting evidence filed by the District in this matter indicate that the respondent was employed by the District as a tenured teacher. The Certified Tenure Charges outline various violations of board policy by the respondent, including respondent's failure to report his March 4, 2022, arrest for the distribution of child pornography to the District. A federal grand jury indicted respondent on January 13, 2023, for two counts relating to the possession and distribution of child pornography.

Deeming the allegations to be admitted and noting that the respondent has failed to respond to the charges certified against him at the District level, the Commissioner finds that the District's charge of unbecoming conduct has been proven and overwhelmingly warrants the respondent's dismissal. Accordingly, summary decision is hereby granted to the District, and the respondent is dismissed from his tenured position with the Kearny School District. This matter will be transmitted to the State Board of Examiners for action against respondent's certificate(s) as that body deems appropriate.

Order on Emergent Relief

Petitioners,

v.

Angelica Allen Mc-Millan, Acting Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Education; New Jersey State Board of Education; and New Jersey Department of Education,

Respondents.

The motion for emergent relief filed by petitioners and the opposition thereto filed by respondents have been reviewed and considered.

In a 2014 petition[1] filed against the New Jersey Commissioner of Education, the New Jersey Department of Education (Department), and the New Jersey State Board of Education (collectively, "respondents"), petitioners alleged that the Lakewood Township Board of Education (Lakewood) is unable to provide its public school students with a thorough and efficient education (T&E) because it does not receive sufficient funding under the School

Funding Reform Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-43 to -70 (SFRA). Following proceedings at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the Commissioner issued a decision concluding that petitioners failed to meet the threshold inquiry of establishing Lakewood's failure to provide T&E; accordingly, the Commissioner did not reach the issue of the constitutionality of the SFRA. Alcantara v. Hespe, Commissioner Decision No. 149-21 (July 16, 2021). Petitioners appealed, and the Appellate Division reversed and remanded the matter with instructions for the Commissioner to consider petitioners' substantive arguments pertaining to the SFRA. Alcantara v. Allen-McMillan, 475 N.J. Super. 58 (App. Div. Mar. 6, 2023). On May 1, 2023, petitioners filed a motion for emergent relief, seeking an Order that the Commissioner would issue a final decision on the remand from the Appellate Division no later than May 15, 2023.

On May 12, 2023, the Commissioner issued a letter directing the Department to expedite the comprehensive review of the Lakewood school district referenced in Alcantara v. Hespe, supra. The Commissioner indicated that the information that comprised the record before the OAL, the Commissioner, and the Appellate Division is now outdated and found that an updated record is required in order to make an appropriately informed decision about the SFRA and its application to Lakewood. The comprehensive review, as well as an opportunity for petitioners and Lakewood to respond to the resulting report and recommendations, will occur prior to the issuance of a final agency decision on the as-applied constitutionality of the SFRA.

Upon review of petitioner's motion for emergent relief, and in light of the May 12, 2023 letter, the Commissioner concludes that the motion must be denied, as it is now moot. "A case is technically moot when the original issue presented has been resolved . . .". DeVesa v. Dorsey, 134 N.J. 420, 428 (1993). With the Commissioner's determination of a schedule for the proceedings in this matter, as outlined in the May 12, 2023, letter, there is no longer any question pertaining to the timing of her decision that requires resolution.

Accordingly, petitioners' motion for emergent relief is denied.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Final Decision

Francis Gavin,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Allamuchy, Warren County, and Lisa Strutin, Respondents.

Synopsis

In January 2021, pro se petitioner filed an appeal challenging the respondent Board's decision to appoint Lisa Strutin (Strutin) to a vacant seat on the Allamuchy Board of Education. The vacancy was created by the resignation of William Cramer on September 9, 2020, prior to the end of his term. The Board thereafter advertised the vacancy and petitioner submitted a statement of interest and resume on September 28, 2020. The Board interviewed petitioner at a meeting on October 26, 2020 but did not fill the vacancy and instead requested an extension of time from the Executive County Superintendent (ECS) to appoint a replacement member. Subsequently, at a Board meeting on November 23, 2020, Lisa Strutin (Strutin), who had recently lost her bid for reelection to the Board, was appointed to fill Cramer's unexpired term and was elected back to her former position as Board President. Petitioner contended that the Board violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15 when it appointed Strutin to fill the vacancy more than 65 days after the seat was vacated by the resignation of Cramer. The Board contended that this matter is moot as Strutin was subsequently reelected to a full term on the Board in 2021 and the vacancy created by the resignation of Cramer no longer exists.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue here and the matter is ripe for summary decision; the Board failed to appoint a replacement member within the statutory timeframe required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15 and therefore lost its authority to fill the vacancy; N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15 does not permit an ECS to grant a Board an extension of the 65-day window to fill a vacancy, so the extension in this case (which was later rescinded) was invalid; accordingly, Strutin's appointment was null and void as it was not authorized under N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15. The ALJ granted petitioner's motion for summary decision, denied the Board's cross motion, and ordered the ECS to appoint a Board member to the Allamuchy Board of Education.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that the Board did not have statutory authority to appoint Strutin to fill the Board vacancy created by Cramer's resignation. However, the Commissioner further agreed with the parties that petitioner's requested relief is now moot as the term created by that vacancy expired on December 31, 2021. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL was modified with respect to the remedy; petitioner's motion for summary decision was granted, but the requested remedy was dismissed as moot.

Agency Dkt. No. 4-1/21

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Francis Gavin,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Allamuchy, Warren County, and Lisa Strutin,

Respondents.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered, as have the exceptions filed by the respondents, Allamuchy Township Board of Education (Board) and Board member Lisa Strutin, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and the reply thereto submitted by the petitioner, Francis Gavin.

Petitioner filed this matter seeking to vacate the Board's appointment of Lisa Strutin to a vacant seat on the Board. On September 9, 2020, William Cramer resigned as a member of the Board, thereby creating a vacancy. The Board advertised the vacancy and petitioner submitted his written expression of interest and a resume on September 28, 2020. The Board interviewed petitioner at its regular Board meeting on October 26, 2020, but after a closed session, announced that it would not be filling the vacancy at that time.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15(f), a Board is authorized to fill a vacancy on a board of education. However, in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15(a), if the Board has not filled a vacancy within 65 days of its occurrence, the Executive County Superintendent (ECS) shall fill the vacancy.

On September 25, 2020, Strutin, who was president of the Board, contacted the ECS, Rosalie Lamonte, by email to discuss the possibility of taking longer than 65 days to appoint a Board member due to the upcoming school board election. On November 10, 2020 – three days before the 65-day deadline – the vice president of the Board wrote an email to the ECS, inquiring about an extension of the 65 days, and the ECS advised that the deadline would be extended to the November 23 Board meeting. Thereafter, on November 17, 2020, the Board attorney requested an extension to the December 21 Board meeting because the election results would not be certified until the November 23 meeting; the ECS granted this request. After the ECS informed petitioner that the deadline had been extended, petitioner inquired about the process. In response, on November 20, 2020, the ECS rescinded the extension in an email copied to the Board secretary, which stated:

> I am definitely aware of the statute to which you refer. The county office obviously prefers that the board makes the decision to fill a vacancy rather than the county superintendent. Nevertheless, since this appears to be generating some controversy, I have decided to ask the Allamuchy board to forward resumes of interested parties to me so that I can, consistent with my statutory authority as the county superintendent, fill the vacancy. The board may certainly advertise or otherwise post information about the vacant seat to generate interest in the position.
> After receipt and review of resumes, I will inform the board of my decision.

Notwithstanding the ECS's email, at a Board meeting held on November 23, 2020, Strutin – who had recently lost her bid for reelection – resigned from the Board and expressed interest in the vacant position created by Cramer's resignation. At the same meeting, the Board voted to appoint Strutin to the open seat and then elected her back to her former position as Board president. The ECS sent a letter to the Board on December 3, 2020, directing the Board to rescind Strutin's appointment to the vacant seat. The Board did not comply. As such, petitioner filed the instant petition challenging Strutin's appointment.

Following cross-motions for summary decision, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) found that the Board failed to appoint a member within the statutory timeframe and therefore lost its authority to fill the vacancy. The ALJ found that N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15 does not permit an ECS to grant a Board an extension of the 65-day window to fill a vacancy, so the extension in this case (which was later rescinded) was invalid. As such, the ALJ declared Strutin's appointment null and void as it was not authorized by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15, and further ordered the ECS to appoint a Board member to the Allamuchy Board of Education.

In their exceptions, the Board and Strutin argue that this petition is now moot as there have been multiple elections for the Board since the petition was filed. The Board explains that Strutin was reelected to the Board in 2021 and the vacancy created by Cramer's resignation in 2020 no longer exists. The Board contends that while a decision on the novel issues in this matter would be beneficial to help guide other Boards and ECSs through similar circumstances, the relief proposed by the ALJ should be rejected as any harm it would remedy concluded more than two years ago.

In reply, petitioner makes clear that the term for the vacancy created when Cramer resigned from the Board on September 9, 2020, ended on December 31, 2021. As such, petitioner agrees with the Board that the specific relief sought is now moot. However, petitioner clarifies that he alerted the ALJ prior to the expiration of the term but requested that a decision on the underlying issue be adjudicated, and the Board agreed. Petitioner argues that as this matter is of public importance and capable of repetition while evading judicial review, a decision should be rendered. Petitioner further contends that since appointed members typically only fill the position until the next election, judicial intervention will often become moot due to the short timeframe. As such, petitioner requests that the Initial Decision be adopted in all aspects except the requested relief.

Upon review, the Commissioner agrees with the ALJ that the Board did not have statutory authority to appoint Strutin to fill the Board member vacancy created by Cramer's resignation. N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15 provides:

> Vacancies in the membership of the board shall be filled as follows:
>
> a. By the county superintendent, if the vacancy is caused by the absence of candidates for election to the school board or by the removal of a member because of lack of qualifications or is not filled within 65 days following its occurrence.
>
> . . .
> f. By a majority vote of the remaining members of the board after the vacancy occurs in all other cases.

When interpreting a statute, the goal is to discern the legislative intent, which can be gleaned from the plain language contained therein. Board of Education of the City of Sea Isle City v. Kennedy, 196 N.J. 1, 12 (2008). The word "shall" in the first line of the statute indicates that the statutory scheme is mandatory. The statute makes clear that a Board has the legal authority to fill a vacancy by majority vote, but if the vacancy is not filled within 65 days, then that authority shifts to the ECS. The legislature clearly delineated who has the authority to appoint a Board member to a vacant seat and the statute leaves no room for interpretation. There is no ambiguity that prior to the expiration of 65 days, a Board may fill a vacancy by majority vote; but after 65 days, the Board no longer has that authority. Notably, the legislature did not provide any mechanism by which an ECS can extend the statutory timeframe beyond 65 days to fill a Board vacancy. Accordingly, here, the Board was not authorized to appoint Strutin to fill the vacancy as more than 65 days had passed since the resignation of former Board member Cramer. Any extension by the ECS was not permitted under N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15.

The Commissioner agrees with the parties, however, that petitioner's requested relief to nullify Strutin's appointment to the Board and to mandate that the ECS fill the vacancy is no longer viable as the term created by that vacancy expired on December 31, 2021. Nevertheless, considering that the issues in this case are capable of repetition, that such cases may often be rendered moot due to a short timeframe before an unexpired term ends, and considering the extensive delays in this matter, through no fault of the parties,[1] the Commissioner has addressed the underlying merits of this matter despite the lack of a remedy available at this late juncture.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is modified with respect to the remedy. Petitioner's motion for summary decision is granted, but the requested remedy is dismissed as moot.

Record Closed: February 1, 2023 Decided: February 21, 2023

BEFORE JULIO C. MOREJON, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, Francis Gavin (Gavin) seeks to vacate Respondent, Board of Education of the Township of Allamuchy's (the Board), decision to appoint Respondent, Lisa Strutin (Strutin), to a vacant seat on the Board.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On January 13, 2021, Gavin filed a petition with the Commissioner of Education of the State of New Jersey (Commissioner), challenging the decision of the Board appointing Strutin to a vacant board position as ultra-vires. Along with the petition, Gavin simultaneously filed with the Commissioner an application for emergent relief pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A-3-1.6. The matter was transferred to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) and received at the OAL on January 13, 2021, as an emergent and contested matter.

On January 19, 2021, the parties appeared remotely before the undersigned for oral argument concerning Gavin's application for emergent relied and on January 22, 2021, an Order was entered denying Gavin's application for emergent relief.

Thereafter, on February 24, 2021, the Board filed a motion for summary decision. On March 5, 2021, Gavin filed a cross motion for summary decision. On March 10, 2021, the Board filed its opposition to Gavin's cross motion. On March 30, 2021, the parties appeared remotely for oral argument. In accordance with Executive Order No. 127, as extended by N.J.S.A.26:13-32, all Agency Initial Decisions and Final Decisions were extended until January 1, 2022. I closed the record on February 1, 2023.

FINDINGS

The following facts are not in dispute and FIND the same as FACT herein.

The Board is a type II board of education pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:10-1 with nine members and governs the Allamuchy Township School District in Allamuchy Township, County of Warren and State of New Jersey. (Gavin's Brief in opposition to the Board's motion for summary decision, Statement of Facts; and the Board's Brief in support of its motion, Statement of Undisputed Facts and in opposition to Gavin's motion, Response to Petitioner's Statement of Facts). On September 9, 2020, William Cramer (Cramer) resigned as a member of the Board and a vacancy on the Board was created. Id.

The Board then advertised on their district website the existence of the vacancy. The Board required anyone interested in being appointed to the vacant seat to file a written expression of interest and a resume by October 16, 2020. Id. Gavin submitted to the Board Secretary a written expression of interest and resume on September 28, 2020. Id.

On October 26, 2020, in a public session of a regular board meeting, the Board interviewed Gavin. After conducting the interview, the Board moved into a closed session. Id. When the Board returned to public session, Strutin, the Board president, announced that the Board would not be filling the vacancy at that time. Id. The Board did not identify any other individuals who had expressed an interest in filling the vacant seat nor did the Board interview any other candidates for the seat. Id.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15f, the Board by a majority vote of the remaining members of the board after a vacancy, is authorized to fill said vacancy. Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12- 15a, the authority to fill a board vacancy shifts to the Dr. Rosalie Dr. Lamonte, Interim Executive County Superintendent of Schools for Warren County, (Dr. Lamonte) if the vacancy has not been filled by the local board within sixty-five (65) days following the occurrence of the vacancy. Id. The Board failed to fill the vacancy by November 13, 2020, a period of 65 days since the occurrence of the vacancy, and therefore, the county superintendent is authorized by N.J.S.A. 18A:12- 15a to appoint a board member. Id.

On September 25, 2020, Strutin contacted Dr. Lamonte to discuss the possibility of the Board needing more than 65 days to appoint someone to fill Cramer's vacant seat pending the results of the upcoming election in November. (Certification of James Schlessinger at ¶ 2, Exhibit A, attached to respondents' motion; Certification of Lisa Strutin at ¶¶ 4-5, attached to respondents' motion).

On November 10, 2020, Board Vice President Giovanni Cusmano (Cusmano) sent an email to Dr. Lamonte inquiring as to the deadline for the Board to fill the vacant seat. (Certification of Lisa Strutin at ¶ 6, attached to respondents' motion; Certification of James Schlessinger at ¶ 4, Exhibit B, attached to respondents' motion). In response, Dr. Lamonte informed Cusmano that the Board could have additional time beyond the 65 day period to fill the vacant seat. (Certification of Lisa Strutin at ¶ 6, attached to respondents' motion; Certification of James Schlessinger at ¶ 4, Exhibit B, attached to respondents' motion).

On November 17, 2020, Board Attorney Ari Schneider, Esq. sent an email to Dr. Lamonte seeking a further extension of time for the Board to fill the seat. (Certification of Lisa Strutin at ¶ 8, attached to respondents' motion; Certification of James Schlessinger at ¶ 5, Exhibit C attached to respondents' motion). Dr. Lamonte reiterated her approval of additional time for the Board to appoint a new member itself. Dr. Lamonte informed Gavin of her extension. (Certification of Lisa Strutin at ¶ 8, attached to respondents' motion; Certification of James Schlessinger at ¶ 5, Exhibit C, attached to respondents' motion)

In response to an email from Gavin on November 14, 2020, advising her that the 65-day time period within which the Board was authorized to fill the vacancy had elapsed and that he continued to be interested in the vacant seat, on November 17, 2020, Dr. Lamonte responded to Gavin in an email informing him that she had "... extended the timeline for the board to interview interested candidates and appoint someone until their December 21, 2020 meeting." (Gavin's Brief in opposition to the Board's motion for summary decision, Statement of Facts; and the Board's Brief in support of its motion, Statement of Undisputed Facts and in opposition to Gavin's motion, Response to Petitioner's Statement of Facts).

On November 18, 2020,Gavin sent an email to Dr. Lamonte inquiring about the circumstances that gave rise to an extension of time to fill the board vacancy and further outlining the statutory framework of relative authority between Dr. Lamonte and the Board. (Certified Petition, Exhibit D).

On November 20, 2020, in response to another inquiry from Gavin, Dr. Lamonte reversed her prior decision granting the Board until at least the December 21, 2020, Board meeting to fill the vacant Board position and informed Gavin that she would ask the Board to forward to her the resumes of individuals who had expressed an interest in the vacant board position. Dr. Lamont's email to Gavin stated:

> I am definitely aware of the statute to which you refer. The county office obviously prefers that the board makes the decision to fill a vacancy rather than the county superintendent. Nevertheless, since this appears to be generating some controversy, I have decided to ask the Allamuchy board to forward resumes of interested parties to me so that I can, consistent with my statutory authority as the county superintendent, fill the vacancy. The board may certainly advertise or otherwise post information about the vacant seat to generate interest in the position.
> After receipt and review of resumes, I will inform the board of my decision. [1]

It was not until Dr. Lamonte learned of Strutin's intention to seek appointment to the vacant seat that she attempted to rescind the extension she had previously granted. Dr. Lamonte claimed that the Board's anticipated appointment of Ms. Strutin "was a means to circumvent the results of the election, resulting in a lack of transparency and violation of the public's trust." (Certification of James Schlessinger, Exhibit F)

On November 23, 2020, the Board convened remotely for a regularly scheduled board meeting. At this meeting Strutin resigned from her position as a member of the Board and President and expressed interest in the vacant position created by Cramer's resignation. Strutin was a candidate for reelection at the November 2020 election but did not win reelection, and her term would conclude at the end of 2020. (Gavin's Brief in opposition to the Board's motion for summary decision, Statement of Facts; and the Board's Brief in support of its motion, Statement of Undisputed Facts and in opposition to Gavin's motion, Response to Petitioner's Statement of Facts).

[1] Dr. Lamont's email was copied to James Schlesinger (Schlesinger) , the Secretary of the Board regarding her decision of November 20, 2020.

The remaining Board members then went into executive session. When the Board returned to the public session the Board voted to appoint Strutin to fill Cramer's vacant board seat. Strutin was then sworn in as the replacement for Cramer and then the Board elected her as President of the Board. The Board's action in appointing Cramer was taken without public notice, as the agenda did not provide that the Board would consider Strutin to fill Cramer's vacant seat position, and before public comment was allowed regarding the same. Id.

Following the Board's decision, on December 3, 2020, Dr. Lamonte, directed the Board to rescind the appointment of Strutin to the Board not later than the Board's next regularly scheduled board meeting. On December 10, 2020, the Board convened for a special meeting with an agenda of executive session to discuss potential litigation with the Department of Education and a personnel matter. The only action taken by the Board on December 10, 2020 was to appoint an acting superintendent. The regularly scheduled meeting noticed for December 21, 2020 was cancelled due to the Board inability to have a quorum of members. Id.

The Board gave no reason for declining to fill the vacancy at the December 3, 2020, meeting. The Board did not identify any other individuals who had expressed an interest in filling the vacant seat nor did the Board interview any other candidates for the seat. At no time after Cramer's resignation, did the Board publicly discuss seeking an extension of time of the December 21, 2020 extension granted by Dr. Lamonte to fill the vacant seat on the Board after, or adopt a resolution to seek an extension of time of the December 21, 2020, extension provided by Dr. Lamonte. Id.

ARGUMENTS

The Board argues that its appointment of Strutin to fill the vacancy on November 23, 2020 was within its authority under N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15(a) upon Dr. Lamonte granting the Board an extension of the 65-day timeframe under the statute Id. The Board argues further that its decision is presumed valid as Dr. Lamonte's rescission of the granted extension could only be effective if said decision could be shown to be arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. The Board cites to following authority for this argument: Cell v. Zoning Board of Adjustment, 172 N.J. 75, 81 (2002). Furthermore, a "trial court . . . may not substitute its judgment for that of the governmental body being challenged." Miller v. Passaic Valley Water Commission, 259 N.J. Super. 1, 15 (App. Div.), certif. denied, 130 N.J. 601 (1992). The Board posits that since Gavin has failed to show the Board acted in an arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable manner, the Board's decision is valid.

The Board's main argument is contained in its brief in opposition to Gavin's cross-motion for summary decision as follows:

> This tribunal's decision on the parties' cross-motions ultimately comes down to one question: were the actions of the Board in appointing Lisa Strutin arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable? Cell v. Zoning Board of Adjustment, 172 N.J. 75, 81 (2002)?.

Gavin's main argument is that Dr. Lamonte did not have the statutory authority to grant an extension of the 65-dasy to the Board. Gavin argues that N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15(a) confers a mandatory duty on Dr. Lamonte through the word "shall" in N.J.S.A.18A:12-15(a), and that Dr. Lamonte had no authority to delegate this duty pursuant to N.J.S.A.18A:7-8.

Gavin argues further that while Dr. Lamont had the authority and discretion to grant an extension of 65-days to the Board it would be correct that Dr. Lamont also had the discretion to rescind such an extension in the present circumstances. Gavin cites to In re Election Inquiry, 92 N.J.A.R. at 222, for this authority, where the Superintendent only became aware of the potential conflict of interest after the deadline had passed and after she had granted the extension. After having the concern brought to her attention, the Superintendent rescinded the extension, thereby fully transferring the authority back to herself. Gavin thus argues that Dr. Lamont, like the Superintendent in In Re Election Inquiry, had the authority to invoke the mandatory duty, as prescribed by the word "shall" in N.J.S.A.18A:12-15(a), to rescind the extension.

Gavin argues that the Board's appointment of Strutin was ultra vires. In making this argument, Gavin points out that Schlessinger, the Board's Business Administrator, received Dr. Lamont's rescission at 5:33 pm on Friday, November 20, and there was ample opportunity to communicate this rescission to the Board before its meeting began at 7:30 pm on Monday, November 23. The Board's appointment of Strutin after Dr. Strutin rescinded the extension, Gavin argues, was therefore, ultra vires.

Gavin also argues that the arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable standard is not reached because Dr. Lamonte did not have authority to grant the extension, and therefore the Board's decision is not presumed to be valid, because the Board had no legal authority to make a decision after the expiration of the 65-day period. Gavin argues for the following relief herein:

1. Declaring the action taken by the Allamuchy Township Board of Education on November 23, 2020 to fill the vacant board seat to be ultra vires and null and void;

2. Vacating the purported appointment of Lisa Strutin on November 23, 2020 as a member of the Allamuchy Township Board of Education; and

3. Mandating the Executive County Superintendent to make an appointment from the citizens of Allamuchy Township to fill the vacancy on the Allamuchy Township Board of Education within a time certain.

DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b), summary decision "may be rendered if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." This rule is substantially similar to the summary-judgment rule embodied in the New Jersey Court Rules. See Judson v. Peoples Bank & Trust Co. of Westfield, 17 N.J. 67, 74 (1954). In Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Co., 142 N.J. 520, 540 (1995), the New Jersey Supreme Court addressed the appropriate test to be employed in deciding the motion:

> [A] determination whether there exists a "genuine issue" of material fact that precludes summary judgment requires the motion judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to permit a rational factfinder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party. The "judge's function is not . . . to weigh the evidence and determine the truth of the matter but to determine whether there is a genuine issue for trial." . . . . If there exists a single, unavoidable resolution of the alleged disputed issue of fact, that issue should be considered insufficient to constitute a "genuine" issue of material fact for purposes of Rule 4:46-2.

In evaluating the merits of the motion, all inferences of doubt are drawn against the movant and in favor of the party against whom the motion is directed. Judson, 17 N.J. at 75. However, "[w]hen a motion for summary decision is made and supported, an adverse party in order to prevail must by responding affidavit set forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). The New Jersey Supreme Court has cautioned that, "if the opposing party offers no affidavits or matter in opposition, or only facts which are immaterial or of an insubstantial nature, a mere scintilla, . . . '[f]anciful, frivolous, gauzy or merely suspicious' . . ., he will not be heard to complain if the court grants summary judgment, taking as true the statement of uncontradicted facts in the papers relied upon by the moving party, such papers themselves not otherwise showing the existence of an issue of material fact." Judson, 17 N.J. at 75 (citation omitted). Stated differently, "[b]are conclusions . . . without factual support in tendered affidavits, will not defeat a meritorious application for summary judgment." U.S. Pipe & Foundry Co. v. Am. Arbitration Ass'n, 67 N.J. Super. 384, 399-400 (App.Div.1961). Likewise, unsupported and self-serving statements, standing alone, are insufficient to create a genuine issue of material fact.

Heyert v. Taddese, 431 N.J. Super. 388, 413-414 (App. Div. 2013). And the "non-moving party cannot defeat a motion for summary judgment merely by pointing to any fact in dispute." Brill, 142 N.J. at 529. Disputed issues of fact that are immaterial or of an insubstantial nature will not suffice. Ibid.; Worthy v. Kennedy Health System, 446 N.J. Super. 71, 85-86 (App. Div. 2016), certif. denied, 228 N.J. 24 (2016). Rather, "[c]ompetent opposition requires 'competent evidential material' beyond mere 'speculation' and 'fanciful arguments,'" Cortez v. Gindhart, 435 N.J. Super. 589, 605 (App. Div. 2014), certif. denied, 220 N.J. 269 (2015) (citation omitted), and the party opposing the motion "'must do more than simply show that there is some metaphysical doubt as to the material facts.'" Alfano v. Schaud, 429 N.J. Super. 469, 474 (App. Div. 2013), certif. denied, 214 N.J. 119 (2013) (citation omitted).

Judged against these standards, I CONCLUDE that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the matter is ripe for summary decision in favor of Gavin.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15, on the occasion of a vacancy occurring on a local board of education, the statute vests the local board of education with authority to appoint a citizen of that municipality to fill such a vacancy. However, that authority exists for a period of 65 days from the creation of the vacancy. After the expiration of 65 days, on the failure of the local board of education to appoint, the authority shifts to the Executive County Superintendent. The statute states in relevant part:

> a. By the county superintendent, if the vacancy is caused by the absence of candidates for election to the school board or by the removal of a member because of lack of qualifications, or is not filled within 65 days following its occurrence;
>
> f. By a majority vote of the remaining members of the board after the vacancy occurs in all other cases.

[N.J.S.A.18A:12-15]

The Board raise the following arguments in an effort to justify the action that they took in contravention of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15. 1) Dr. Lamonte, the Executive County Superintendent granted an extension of the legislatively established time frame to appoint; and 2) the action of a local agency is not subject to review unless arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable on its merits. Each of these arguments is without merit, as Dr. Lamont did not have the authority to make said extension.

The Board argues that they sought from Dr. Lamonte an extension of the statutory time frame and that the request was granted. However, as discussed herein, the Legislature has established a clearly delineated grant of authority to appoint to fill a vacancy on a local board of education. N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15 grants no authority or provisions for extension or modification of that statutory scheme by anyone. The statute provides that the Executive County Superintendent has no authority to modify the unequivocal provisions of the statute. Id. The only authority granted by the statute to the Executive County Superintendent in the circumstance of a vacancy is to fill that vacancy after the passage of 65 days, the time frame in which the local board of education is authorized to fill the vacancy. Id. [emphasis supplied] There is no grant of authority to the Executive County Superintendent to extend or otherwise disregard the statutory directive.

In addition to the authority to appoint to fill a vacancy on a local board of education, the Legislature, in creating the statutory position of Executive County Superintendent, has defined both the jurisdiction and the general scope of the powers and duties of the position of the Executive County Superintendent. The jurisdiction of the Executive County Superintendent is defined in N.J.S.A. 18A:7-5 as follows:

> Each executive county superintendent shall devote his entire time to the duties of his office, and he shall have general supervision of all of the public schools of the districts of the county except those city school districts in which there shall have been appointed superintendents of schools.

Among the 24 specifically mandated powers and duties that the Legislature has vested in the Executive County Superintendent pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7-8, none grant the Executive County Superintendent the authority to extend statutory timeframes or to delegate her authority to a local board of education. Without some legislative grant of authority to modify the statutory scheme, Dr. Lamont, as the Executive County Superintendent had no power to grant an extension of time to appoint to the Board.

In this matter, the Board failed to appoint within the statutory time frame, and thus I CONCLUDE the Board lost its authority to appoint after the passage of the 65-days, under N.J.S.A.18A:12-15, and only Dr. Lamonte, the Executive County Superintendent can then appoint to fill the vacancy. The statute provides for no other relevant considerations, interpretations or exceptions. No further inquiry need be made. The fact that Dr. Lamonte granted the Board an extension after the 65-days, and then "rescinded" the same was done so in error, as it is not allowed by N.J.S.A.18A:12-15.

Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the appointment of Strutin by the Board on November 23, 2020 was not authorized by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15 and must be declared to be a nullity and I CONCLUDE that the Executive County Superintendent must be ordered to fulfill her statutory duty to appoint a board member.

I CONCLUDE that summary decision for Gavin under N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5, is appropriate herein because there are no genuine issues in dispute and the relief requested in his motion for summary decision, is GRANTED.

I CONCLUDE that the Board's motion for summary decision is DENIED.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that summary decision for Gavin under N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5, is appropriate herein because there are no genuine issues to dispute the relief requested in his motion for summary decision, and therefore his motion for summary decision is GRANTED; and it is further ORDERED that the relief requested therein by Gavin in his motion for summary decision, is GRANTED.

It is hereby ORDERED that the Board's motion for summary decision is DENIED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Final Decision

P.F., on behalf of minor child, D.F.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the High Point Regional High School District, Sussex County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered.[1] The parties did not file exceptions.

In this matter, petitioner challenges the Board's determination that her daughter was not the victim of harassment, intimidation, and bullying (HIB) when another student allegedly grabbed her by the arm and would not let go. Petitioner also alleged that the student had stolen D.F.'s Chromebook twice before turning it in, claiming that she had found it. Following an investigation in accordance with the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq., the Board found the incident was the result of a conflict between students that was not motivated by a distinguishing characteristic of D.F., and therefore concluded that the incident did not meet the definition of HIB. Nevertheless, to address the conflict, the Board had the students sign a no-contact order and adjusted class schedules as necessary.

Following a hearing on the merits, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) concluded that the petitioner had not met her burden of demonstrating that the Board's determination regarding the HIB allegations was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

Upon review, the Commissioner agrees with the ALJ that the Board did not act in an arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable manner in rendering its HIB determination, as the alleged actions were not motivated by a distinguishing characteristic of D.F. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition is hereby dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[2]

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, P.F., challenges the decision of the High Point Regional High School District Board of Education (Board) that the incident complained of did not constitute harassment, intimidation, and bullying (HIB).

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

By letter dated October 27, 2022, the Board notified petitioner that "the incident in question was properly determined to not have been a HIB." On November 15, 2022, petitioner filed with the New Jersey Department of Education (Department) a Pro Se Petition of Appeal (Petition) alleging that her "daughter [D.F.] was being bullied during the 2020/21 school year which has now carried over into the 2022/23 school year" and that the superintendent, administrators and board of education were not following policy, and requesting the following relief: "Superintendent and BOE to admit that this is indeed HIB"; "Have my daughter complete art work and a functional resume from the 2022/23 school year";[1] "Enforce HIB laws, policies, and safety for all students"; and "Stop the HIB incidences that are flowing over into the 2022/23 school year." On December 1, 2022, respondent filed its answer to the Petition.

The Department transmitted the case to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) under the Administrative Procedure Act, N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15, and the act establishing the office, N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -23, for a hearing under the Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules, N.J.A.C. 1:1-1.1 to -21.6, and the rules of procedure established by the Department of Education to hear and decide controversies and disputes arising under school laws, N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.1 to -1.17. The case was filed at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on December 6, 2022. The hearing was held on February 10, 2023. The record closed on February 21, 2023, after receipt of the parties post-hearing submissions.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

Preliminary Facts

P.F. testified on behalf of petitioner. School anti-bullying specialist (ABS) James Rice testified on behalf of respondent. Having had an opportunity to consider the evidence and to observe the witnesses and make credibility determinations based on the witnesses' testimony, I FIND the following preliminary FACTS:

[1] The matter transmitted to the OAL was a challenge to the Board's HIB investigation and therefore this relief falls outside the scope of the subject matter and is not addressed herein.

High Point Regional High School (HPRHS) Harassment—Intimidation—Bullying Report 33-21-22, initial referral date May 10, 2022 (May 2022 HIB Report), reflects that there was an investigation into an incident between D.F. and another student, P.D., that occurred in a school hallway on May 4, 2022.

James Rice, who previously worked as an active police officer for twenty-five years, is employed at HPRHS as the director of safety and security and as the school anti-bullying specialist (ABS). Rice was on vacation on May 4, 2022, so the incident was initially handled by the school assistant principal. Upon his return from vacation, Rice was directed by the school principal to conduct a HIB investigation. Rice prepared the May 2022 HIB Report and summarized his factual findings as follows:

> On 5/4/2022, it was reported to AP Schleer that an incident involving [redacted] and [redacted] had occurred in the 400 wing hallway near Room 409 at the top of the ramp. AP Schleer had conducted an investigation and reviewed video tape of the incident which involved the two students conversing, then [redacted] ["]grabbing" [redacted] left wrist and pulling [redacted] toward [redacted]. AP Schleer concluded that the arm pulling was an attempt by [redacted] to pull [redacted] towards her. [Redacted] did not come to school on 5/5/22, 5/6/22, or 5/9/22. The administration contacted [P.F.] about the absences, at which time [P.F.] said that she felt [redacted] was being bullied and that she was not allowing [redacted] to return to school until "something is done."
> On 5/10/2022, I was directed by Principal Tallamy to conduct an HIB investigation in reference to the conflict between the two students that had occurred on 5/4/2022 and what may have been going on prior to that incident.
> Myself, AP Schleer, and Mrs. Delaney (acting as Case Manager) now spoke to a witness to the incident, [redacted] who is [redacted] boyfriend.[2] [Redacted] told us that [redacted] and [redacted] are friends, but that there was an issue previous to 5/4 where [redacted] took [redacted] Chromebook. [Redacted] said that [redacted] brought the Chromebook to the office and said she "found it." [Redacted] said that [redacted] was not talking to [redacted] because of the Chromebook issue and planned to avoid her for 2 days. [Redacted] said that on 5/4, [redacted] came up to talk to [redacted] and that [redacted] wanted to hug [redacted] and that [redacted] grabbed [redacted] arm to give her the hug. [Redacted] said that he stepped between them and [redacted] let go. [Redacted] provided a written statement about what we talked about (see statement).

Myself, AP Schleer, and Mrs. Delaney (acting as Case Manager) now spoke to [redacted] about the incident. [Redacted] said that she took the Chromebook because [redacted] left it in the lunchroom and that she turned it into the Main Office so they could give it back to her. [Redacted] said that [redacted] is her friend and that she wanted a hug. [Redacted] said that [redacted] wouldn't give her a hug so she grabbed her arm to pull her towards her to get a hug. [Redacted] said that [redacted] stepped in and she let go of [redacted] arm. They all went to class after that.

At approximately 2:45 p.m., Myself and Mrs. Imhoff, (acting as Case Manager per Mrs. Delaney) spoke to [P.F.] and [redacted] via telephone in order to gather information from [redacted] about this incident. [Redacted] told me that Last week (Week of 5/2/22 through 5/6/22) that [redacted] "started acting different (explained different as weird). [Redacted] continued by saying that on Monday, [redacted] took her Chromebook and that it wasn't the first time. Then on Wednesday, [redacted] came up to her and [redacted] while they were walking in the hallway near Room 409. [Redacted] said that they met, and [redacted] grabbed her left arm and pulled her towards her. I asked [redacted] said anything, [redacted] said yes, but she forgets exactly what it was. [P.F.] added that someone should have talked to [redacted] sooner. I asked [redacted] why she did not come to school since that incident took place and [redacted] said that she was afraid that [redacted] would do that again. I then asked [redacted] if that incident made her feel uncomfortable, to which she replied yes. [P.F.] added that [redacted] wasn't uncomfortable, that she was afraid. I asked [P.F.] to have [redacted] email me a statement about the incident, to which she told me that [redacted] would. No email was ever sent.

On 5/11/2022, a meeting took place with [P.F.], [redacted], and School Administration. A No Contact Order was put in > place and signed by [redacted], [P.F.] and AP Schleer. I was not present at this meeting.

>
> On 5/13/2022, [redacted] came to school and she provided me with a written statement about the incident at that time. (see statement). Later this day, Myself, AP Schleer and Mrs. Delaney (acting as Case Manager) met with [redacted] signed the No Contact Order and Mrs. Delaney went over everything with her. [Redacted] said she understood.
>
> Based on the information gathered as part of this investigation, I have concluded that this incident is the result of a conflict between the two students and that no distinguishing characteristic is present at this time. This incident is classified as unfounded as a HIB. Report submitted by ABS Rice.

The May 2022 HIB Report reflects that Rice's investigation found no substantial disruption of or interference with operations of the school or rights of students, no actual or perceived distinguishing characteristic, no physical or emotional harm or fear of harm to a student or his or her property, no effect of insulting or demeaning a student or group of students, and no creation of "hostile educational environment" interfering with a student's education. The handwritten questions on the last page of the May 2022 HIB Report were from Superintendent Ripley and were answered by Rice and the assistant principal and resulted in no changes to the May 2022 HIB Report.

By email dated May 10, 2022, P.F. advised that before she would allow D.F. to return to school she required the following: P.D. to be removed from D.F.'s gym class; P.D. to be removed from the adjoining art room; P.D. to sit in a different area/room during lunch; D.F. to be allowed to use her cell phone or a school phone privately to immediately inform her of issues with P.D.; and a member of HPRHS administration to immediately advise her of any issue with P.D. (P-1.)

An HPRHS No-Contact Order, dated May 11, 2022, reflects that "[o]n the basis of information obtained in statements, interviews and incident report at this time it is found that there is reasonable cause to believe that the . . . students have been involved in a dispute that requires action by the [HPRHS] District" and ordering, inter alia, that the students: "shall have no contact of any nature, to include in person, by telephone, in writing, through e-mails, instant messages or [otherwise]," "shall not personally or through third parties (friends), threaten assault, stalk, attack, harass, bully, intimidate, or otherwise abuse in any nature each other," "shall be expected to keep a reasonable distance from each other while attending school," "shall avoid each other is [sic] the hallways, cafeteria, and classrooms," and "shall maintain distance from each other that will avoid any type of physical confrontation." (R-2.) The No-Contact Order reflects that it was effective immediately and would remain in effect unless modified or terminated "by the Main Office," that "a party that violates this order faces immediate disciplinary action," and that "[v]iolation may occur even if the parties consent to contact" because only HPRHS administration could release the parties from the No-Contact Order. (R-2.) P.F. and D.F. signed the No-Contact Order on May 11, 2022, and D.P. signed the No-Contact Order on May 13, 2022.

By email dated May 11, 2022, principal Jonathan Tallamy confirmed that P.D. had been "changed to a different PE period." (P-1.) By email dated May 15, 2022, P.F. advised that D.F. had seen P.D. in gym class. (P-1.) By emails dated May 16, 2022, and May 17, 2022, Principal Tallamy advised that the PE schedule is sometimes tricky with activities and locations, and that it was an issue due to weather, but there was no interaction between D.F. and P.D. and it would not be a problem in the future, regardless of weather. (P-1.) By email dated May 22, 2022, P.F. alleged that D.F. had been the victim of three HIB incidents and advised that if she did not receive written confirmation that P.D. was removed from D.F.'s gym class she would keep D.F. out of school. By email dated May 23, 2022, Superintendent Ripley advised that he was reviewing the May 2022 HIB Report and that he would contact her to discuss the process and management of the issue. (P-1.)

By email dated June 2, 2022, P.F. advised that there was an incident in school on June 1, 2022, wherein P.F. and her boyfriend were being made fun of and harassed in the auditorium and another student, D.M., said to them they were "special education kids," and that contrary to her agreement with the District, she was not notified. P.F. further advised that she was concerned about several enumerated changes in her daughter's demeanor. (P-1.) Superintendent Ripley replied, stating, inter alia, that he personally communicates with the director, D.F.'s case manager, and other administrators several times a week to monitor D.F.'s social, emotional, and academic health, and that a HIB investigation would be initiated. (P-1.) Rice investigated the June 1, 2022, incident and determined that it met the HIB criteria.

By letter dated July 1, 2022, Principal Tallamy notified petitioner that the District did not find evidence that D.F. was involved in an act of HIB or any other Code of Conduct violation with regard to the May 4, 2022,[3] incident, that a follow-up session had been conducted with D.F. and a school counselor, and that no administrative action was necessary at that time. (R-3.) The July 1, 2022, letter further reflects that the following services were offered for D.F.: "Met with ABS, Assistant Principal [and] Case Manager"; "No contact order in place"; "Guidance Counselor follow up as needed"; and "Reminder of student support resources." (R-3.) The July 1, 2022, letter advised petitioner that she could request a hearing before the Board. (R-3.) On July 13, 2022, petitioner emailed Principal Tallamy in response to the July 1, 2022, letter stating that she "would like to meet with the Board of Education regarding the incident" and that "[w]e can do it in executive session; however, the public does need to know about situations like this being swept under the carpet." (R-4.) On July 13, 2022, superintendent Scott Ripley emailed petitioner advising that she could present her concerns to the Board during public comments at the next meeting on July 26, 2022. (R-4.) Shortly thereafter, Superintendent Ripley again emailed petitioner, advising, "If however you are seeking an official appeal to a HIB determination, please provide the request and the context regarding the case in question." (R-4.) Petitioner replied that "this is an official appeal request" of a "harassment/assault incident" and subsequent emails confirmed that it was for the May 4, 2022, incident. (R-4.) The HIB appeal was scheduled for the Board's July 21, 2022, at 6:00 p.m. virtual meeting. (R-4.) Rice did not attend the Board meeting.

[3] The letter incorrectly states, "the incident of 5/10/22" (the date on which Rice's investigation was commenced).

A memorandum dated July 21, 2022, from anti-bullying coordinator Seamus Campbell to Superintendent Ripley summarizes events related to two situations that were investigated as possible HIB, to wit: 33-21-22 and 38-21-22.

> On 5/4/22, [redacted] notified Assistant Principal Mr. Michael Schleer of an incident involving herself and another student. [Redacted] communicated an allegation to Mr. Schleer that earlier that day, a student had physically assaulted her. Mr. Schleer began to investigate [redacted] allegations immediately. Mr. Schleer contacted High Point's Security Office in an attempt to obtain surveillance footage of the alleged incident. Mr. Schleer attempted to make contact with the student's parent, [P.F.], by phone on 5/4/22, but was unable to establish contact.

Mr. Schleer spoke with Mr. Tallamy and it was decided that [P.F.] should be invited to attend a meeting at her earliest convenience with the High Point Administration as well as Special Education Case Manager, Ms. Tess Roman. Mr. Tallamy directed Mr. Rice to conduct a H.I.B. investigation. Mr. Tallamy made several attempts to schedule a meeting with [redacted] and her mother, [P.F.] finally agreed to come in for a meeting on 5/9/22 at 3:30 p.m.

> [Redacted] was absent from school on 5/6, 5/9, 5/10, 5/11. An essential component of a H.I.B. investigation is obtaining a written statement from the alleged victim. [Redacted] persistent absences prolonged the time it took to complete this investigation.

NJ regulations stipulate that a "distinguishing characteristic" must be a component of a conflict in order for it to be considered a H.I.B. Mr. Rice's investigation concluded that no distinguishing characteristic existed, and thus the incident and related incidents amounted to a "conflict" among students and not a H.I.B.

As is always the case, High Point provides structured support and proactive measures to remediate such conflicts. For this conflict, a "no contact order" was developed and signed by students and parents which facilitated preventing further conflict. [Redacted] case manager, Ms. Roman, and other HP staff, consulted with her regarding ways in which to avoid future conflict. Other students involved in this conflict were provided with similar support. Also, one or more student schedules were changed in order to reduce contact between students having a conflict and several teachers were notified of the need to supervise specific students at specific times in order to prevent subsequent conflicts.

On 5/15/22, [P.F.] lodged a complaint to Mr. Tallamy claiming that [redacted] and another student might have been in the same gym class despite schedule changes. Mr. Tallamy responded to [P.F.] through email and explained that inclement weather sometimes causes Phys. Ed. classes to share facilities.

On 5/20/22, Mr. Tallamy signed Mr. Rice's H.I.B. report and forwarded it to Dr. Ripley.

On 5/23/22, Dr. Ripley signed the H.I.B. report affirming Mr. Rice's investigation.

This investigation was not completed in time to be submitted for Board review at the June meeting.

On 6/2/22, Mr. Rice was directed by Mr. Tallamy to initiate a HIB investigation into an incident that was reported to have occurred in the Auditorium on 6/1/2022. The report involved [P.F.], [redacted] mother, who alleged via email that [redacted] and her boyfriend, [redacted], were "being made fun of" "aka harassed" by another student who called them "special education kids."

On July 25, 2022, petitioner emailed, among others, Superintendent Ripley and various Board members. In the email, which was several pages long, petitioner apologized for abruptly ending the July 21, 2022, meeting, noted her frustrations with the meeting, and raised multiple concerns and complaints. (R-7.) Petitioner's email also stated that her daughter "is suffering emotionally, socially, and academically from this incident." (R-7.)

A letter dated October 27, 2022, from Superintendent Ripley to petitioner states as follows:

> Please accept this letter as an official notification and resolution of the HIB Appeal about which you met with the > Board of Education on Thursday July 21, 2022 at 6:05 p.m. During that meeting you presented your belief that your daughter had been "HIBed" by another student. It was your stated belief, as communicated to the Board of Education, that the district's determination that it was not a HIB was in error. During that meeting, you became frustrated that the Board communicated their belief that the matter did not meet the parameters of a HIB. Prior to resolving the matter your agitation resulted in your stating that you were withdrawing the HIB Appeal and then you promptly disconnected from the meeting. Therefore, this letter shall serve as official notice of the HIB Appeal meeting summary and Board determination supporting the district's determination that the incident in question was properly determined to not have been a HIB. Please let me know If you have any further questions.

Testimony

P.F.

D.F. was definitely singled out. Her Chromebook was stolen twice and when she asked the main office who found the Chromebook, she was told P.D. had found it both times. P.D. and her friends are continually harassing D.F. and HPRHS does not provide her with the required documentation. P.D. admitted that she also grabbed D.F.'s arm because she was mad. D.F.'s boyfriend's statement was that P.D. was told to stop five times before he stepped between them. She kept D.F. home after the May 4, 2022, incident because D.F. said she was afraid, not just uncomfortable. D.F. was smiling in the video, but because of her communication and multiple handicaps, D.F. smiles when she is in a stressful or uncomfortable situation.

Trooper Popeck, the school resource officer, told her in two separate conversations that he was upset that D.F. was being harassed and bullied. Nothing is being done to stop the HIB incidents. Since April 2022 there have been four HIB incidents, not including several other incidents that P.F. has let slide. On the last day of school there was an incident between D.F. and P.D. P.F. received a call from two administrators who advised that P.D. had violated the No-Contact Order and approached

D.F., and that if it had not been the last day of school D.F. would have been given detention because she answered P.D.'s question. So, somewhere along the line, we eliminated the No-Contact Order because, due to her communication and multiple handicaps, D.F. does not understand the No-Contact and had always been taught that if someone talks to her, to talk back.

She is trying to protect D.F. D.F. is still on home instruction because she has considered suicide and needs a safety plan, but no safety plan is being created. D.F. has been involved in four HIB incidents with P.D. D.F. is aware that she has other rights, but she is a single parent and has no money, so it is difficult for her.

James Rice

Rice determined that the May 4, 2022, incident was a student conflict as a result of the Chromebook situation and not a HIB incident because it did not meet the HIB criteria. P.F. had chosen to keep D.F. home, asserting that it was not a safe situation for her, but he was not able to determine if D.F. was actually in fear or if that was a parent choice. A no-contact order is entered for non-HIB situations for students involved in conflicts to separate them, allow time to cool off, and to avoid interaction that would further the incident. Students may choose to reenact a friendship, but, if not, it sets a clear boundary or line not to cross so the students may coexist without creating further conflict.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

It was the intent of the Legislature in enacting the "Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act" (ABR) to strengthen the standards and procedures for preventing, reporting, investigating, and responding to incidents of harassment, intimidation, and bullying of students that occur in school and off school premises. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.1; N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.2. Notwithstanding any provision of N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 et seq. or any other law to the contrary, the commissioner may adopt such rules and regulations as the commissioner deems necessary to implement the provisions of the ABR.

"Harassment, intimidation or bullying" means any gesture, any written, verbal or physical act, or any electronic communication, whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic, that takes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds as provided for in N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15.3, that substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:

> a. a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging the student's property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;
> b. has the effect of insulting or demeaning any student or group of students; or
>
> c. creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.

Each school district shall adopt a policy prohibiting harassment, intimidation or bullying on school property, at a school-sponsored function or on a school bus. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(a); N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.7(a). School districts have local control over the content of the policy, except that the policy must contain, at a minimum, the twelve components enumerated at N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b). See also N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.7(a)(2). A school district is not prohibited from adopting a policy that includes components that are more stringent than the aforesaid components. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(f); N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.7(b). The superintendent of schools shall appoint a district anti-bullying coordinator, and the principal in each school in a school district shall appoint a school anti-bullying specialist. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-20(a)–(b). The school anti-bullying specialist shall (1) chair the school safety team; (2) lead the investigation of incidents of harassment, intimidation, and bullying in the school; and (3) act as the primary school official responsible for preventing, identifying, and addressing incidents of harassment, intimidation, and bullying in the school. Ibid.

All acts of harassment, intimidation, or bullying must be reported to the school principal verbally the same day and in writing within two days of when the school employee or contracted service provider witnessed or received reliable information regarding any such incident. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(5). The written report must be on a numbered form developed by the Department of Education and must be submitted promptly by the principal to the superintendent of schools. Ibid. The school district must provide a means for a parent or guardian to complete an online numbered form to confidentially report an incident of harassment, intimidation, or bullying. Ibid. The principal must inform the parents or guardians of all students involved in the alleged incident, and keep a written record of the date, time, and manner of notification to the parents or guardians. Ibid. A redacted copy of the form that removes all student identification information shall be confidentially shared with the board of education after the conclusion of the investigation, if a hearing is requested by a parent or guardian pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(d). Ibid.

An investigation shall be initiated by the principal or the principal's designee within one school day of the report of the incident and shall be conducted by a school anti-bullying specialist. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(a). The investigation shall be completed as soon as possible, but not later than 10 school days from the date of the written report of the incident of harassment, intimidation, or bullying. Ibid. The results of the investigation must be reported to the superintendent of schools within two school days of the completion of the investigation, and in accordance with regulations promulgated by the State Board of Education pursuant to the "Administrative Procedure Act," P.L.1968, c.410 (C.52:14B-1 et seq.), the superintendent may decide to provide intervention services, establish training programs to reduce harassment, intimidation, or bullying and enhance school climate, impose discipline, order counseling as a result of the findings of the investigation, or take or recommend other appropriate action. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(b). The results of each investigation shall be reported to the board of education no later than the date of the board of education meeting next following the completion of the investigation, along with information on any services provided, training established, discipline imposed, or other action taken or recommended by the superintendent. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(c).

Parents or guardians of the students who are parties to the investigation are entitled to receive information about the investigation, in accordance with federal and State law and regulation, including the nature of the investigation, whether the district found evidence of harassment, intimidation, or bullying, or whether discipline was imposed or services provided to address the incident of harassment, intimidation, or bullying. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(d). This information must be provided in writing within 5 school days after the results of the investigation are reported to the board. Ibid. A parent or guardian may request a hearing before the board after receiving the information, and the hearing shall be held within 10 days of the request. Ibid.; N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.7(a)(2)(xi)(2). The board shall meet in executive session for the hearing to protect the confidentiality of the students. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(d). At the hearing the board may hear from the school anti-bullying specialist about the incident, recommendations for discipline or services, and any programs instituted to reduce such incidents. Ibid. At the next board of education meeting following its receipt of the report, the board shall issue a decision, in writing, to affirm, reject, or modify the superintendent's decision. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(e). The board's decision may be appealed to the Commissioner of Education, in accordance with the procedures set forth in law and regulation, no later than 90 days after the issuance of the board's decision. Ibid.

> The statutory definition of "bullying" does not include all violent or aggressive conduct against a student. The definition, both before and after adoption of the 2010 Anti-Bullying Act, refers to conduct that is "reasonably perceived as being motivated" by a "distinguishing characteristic" of the victim, such as, "race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory [disability]." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14. The statute has not limited "distinguishing characteristic" to those specifically enumerated, but it has consistently required such a perceived motivation.
> Thus, harmful or demeaning conduct motivated only by another reason, for example, a dispute about relationships or > personal belongings, or aggressive conduct without identifiable motivation, does not come within the statutory definition of bullying.

> [K.L. v. Evesham Tp. Bd. of Educ., 423 N.J. Super. 337, 350–51 (App. Div. 2011) (footnote omitted).]

Thus, an incident may even be physically, psychologically, or socially harmful, but still not meet the HIB criteria.

Petitioner argues that this is a HIB violation because of the language in the New Jersey Guidance for Parents on the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (Guidance), which reflects, "to set . . . apart from others . . . to single out," and P.D. has singled out P.F. two times prior—stole her Chromebook twice—and this third time grabbed her arm and did not let go. Specifically, the Guidance petitioner refers to states:

> The ABR does not explain the meaning of a "distinguishing characteristic." However, the dictionary (Webster's Ninth Collegiate Dictionary) defines the word "distinguish" as ". . . to perceive a difference in . . . to mark as separate or different . . . to separate into kinds, classes or categories . . . to set above or apart from others . . . to single out. . ." The same dictionary defines the word "characteristic" as ". . . something that identifies a person or thing or class. . ."

After an investigation by the ABS, the Board determined that this incident was ordinary student conduct—not HIB—as a result of a history of sporadic conflict between the two students. It found no substantial disruption of or interference with operations of the school or rights of students, no actual or perceived distinguishing characteristic, no physical or emotional harm or fear of harm to a student or his or her property, no effect of insulting or demeaning a student or group of students, and no creation of "hostile educational environment" interfering with a student's education. The Board thereafter took action reasonably calculated to remediate and end the conduct—the students signed a no-contact order, staff was alerted to the potential for conflict, and some schedule/class changes were made.

The decision of a board acting within the scope of its authority is entitled to a presumption of correctness and will not be upset unless there is an affirmative showing that such decision was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. Thomas v. Bd. of Educ., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965). Similarly, the action of a board which lies within the area of its discretionary powers may not be upset unless patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives. Kopera v. Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960). Although petitioner contends that her daughter is being set apart or singled out, the ABR nevertheless requires that it be the result of a distinguishing characteristic—such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national original, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, mental disability, physical disability, sensory disability—or other difference, and no such distinguishing characteristic or difference has been identified for the May 4, 2022, incident.

In view of the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that the Board's determination that the incident complained of did not constitute harassment, intimidation, and bullying was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable and further CONCLUDE that the Petition should be dismissed.

Additionally, it is noted that petitioner referenced social, emotional, and academic issues, and submitted numerous additional emails (P-1) relative to, inter alia, D.F.'s individualized education plan (IEP) and IEP meetings, an alleged November 2022 HIB incident, an alleged "hit list," home instruction, and a safety plan that post-date the May 4, 2022, incident. Petitioner also submitted text messages and social-media printouts (P-2; P-3) which post-date the May 4, 2022, incident. This matter involves only an appeal of the Board's HIB determination as to the May 4, 2022, incident and therefore those emails, text messages, and social-media printouts fall outside the scope of this hearing and are not otherwise referenced herein.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that petitioner's Petition is DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Decision

Stephen Eget,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Borough of Mountain Lakes, Morris County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

Petitioner seeks the release of his estranged daughter's student records from the high school that she attended. Petitioner's daughter is 18 years old and no longer a student in the Mountain Lakes School District (District), but petitioner sought the records because his ex-wife would not disclose if or where their daughter was attending college. According to petitioner, a 2018 court order from his divorce proceedings granted him "equal and unfettered access" to his child's health and education records. The Board denied petitioner's request, informing him that a parent does not have access to a graduate's student records once they have reached the age of majority. Petitioner filed the instant appeal challenging the denial of access to his daughter's records.

Following the Board's motion for summary decision,[1] the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) found that petitioner is not authorized to obtain his daughter's school records. N.J.A.C. 6A:32-7.5(e) provides, in relevant part:

[1] Petitioner did not file opposition to the motion.

> Organizations, agencies, and persons authorized to access student records shall include only the following: . . .
> 3. An adult student and/or a parent who has the written permission of an adult student, except that the parent shall have access without the adult student's consent, as long as the adult student is financially dependent on the parent and enrolled in the public school system, or if the adult student has been declared legally incompetent by a court of appropriate jurisdiction. The parent of a financially dependent adult student may not disclose information contained in the adult student's record to a second or third party without the adult student's consent;

The ALJ found that since petitioner's daughter is an adult who has graduated from the District, has not been declared legally incompetent, and has not provided written permission for the release of her student records, petitioner does not have the authority to access those records.

The Commissioner agrees with the ALJ, for the reasons stated in the Initial Decision, that petitioner is not entitled to access his adult child's student records. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter and the petition is hereby dismissed.

STEPHEN EGET,
Petitioner,
v.
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF MOUNTAIN LAKES, MORRIS COUNTY,
Respondent.

Steven Eget, petitioner, pro se

Robert D. Lorfink, Esq., for respondent (Fogarty and Hara, attorneys)

Record Closed: March 24, 2023 Decided: April 4, 2023

BEFORE SUSANA E. GUERRERO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner Steven Eget (Eget or petitioner) seeks the release of his eighteen-year-old daughter's school records. The Board of Education of the Borough of Mountain Lakes (the Board or respondent) has denied Eget's request for records.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner filed a Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner of Education on or around December 27, 2022, and the Commissioner transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law, where it was filed as a contested case on January 23, 2023. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

A prehearing conference was held on February 10, 2023, during which a hearing was scheduled for March 27, 2023. During the prehearing conference, counsel for the Board indicated that he intended to file a motion for summary decision. In the prehearing order filed on February 13, 2023, the pro se petitioner was informed that he had twenty calendar days to file a written opposition to the motion.

The Board filed a motion for summary decision on or around February 23, 2022. When the petitioner failed to file a timely response to the motion, the undersigned sent the parties a letter on March 20, 2023 adjourning the March 27, 2023 hearing date and informing the parties that the deadline to file an opposition to the motion would be extended to March 24, 2023. The petitioner never filed an opposition to the motion.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Based on the submissions presented, and the uncontroverted background facts, I FIND the following:

Petitioner's daughter, L.E., attended the Mountain Lakes School District. He is estranged from his daughter. L.E. is over eighteen years old.

On December 16, 2022, petitioner contacted the Director of School Counseling for the Mountain Lakes School District, to request disclosure of L.E.'s school records. Petitioner informed the Director that he was in a long and drawn out divorce matter with his former spouse who was refusing to disclose where L.E. was attending college, or even confirm that she was, in fact, attending college. Petitioner's request to access L.E.'s records was denied. The Director informed the petitioner: "When a graduate has reached the age of majority, her parents no longer have rights to her records; only she can request records and/or release those records."

The petitioner then cited to a provision of a 2018 court order stemming from his divorce proceeding that was issued by the Superior Court, Chancery Division of the County of Morris, that granted him "equal and unfettered access to both the children's health and education records." That court order was entered before L.E. even began high school. When petitioner made this request, L.E. was no longer attending the Mountain Lakes school district, and had reached the age of eighteen.

The Director again responded to petitioner's request, stating:

> Under state law, N.J.A.C. 6A:32-7.5, access to an adult student's records can only be granted to the parent if the parent has a written permission of the adult student, except that the parent shall have access without the adult student's consent, as long as the adult student is financially dependent on the parent and enrolled in the public school system, or if the adult student has been declared legally incompetent by a court of appropriate jurisdiction. Since your daughter is no longer enrolled in the Mountain Lakes School District, and you have not presented me with your daughter's written permission, you are not permitted access to her records.

The petitioner never provided the Board with L.E.'s written consent for her school records.

In his Petition of Appeal, Eget appears to rely on the aforementioned court order from 2018. He also references N.J.S.A. 9:2-4.2, and states that, to the best of his knowledge, the court has not emancipated L.E.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

In its motion, the Board asserts that there are no genuine issues of material fact in the matter, and that its motion for summary decision must be granted as a matter of law.

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b), summary decision "may be rendered if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." This rule is substantially similar to the summary judgment rule embodied in the N.J. Court Rules, R. 4:46-2. See Judson v. Peoples bank & Trust Co. of Westfield, 17 N.J. 67, 74 (1954). In connection therewith, all inferences of doubt are drawn against the movant and in favor of the party against whom the motion is directed. Id. at 75. In Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Co., 142 N.J. 520, 540 (1995), the New Jersey Supreme Court addressed the appropriate test to be employed in determining the motion:

> [A] determination whether there exists a "genuine issue" of material fact that precludes summary judgment requires the motion judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to permit a rational fact finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party. The "judge's function is not . . . to weigh the evidence and determine the truth of the matter but to determine whether there is a genuine issue for trial."

Having reviewed the Board's motion and supporting documents, I CONCLUDE that this matter is ripe for summary decision as there are no genuine issues of material fact. The facts presented by the Board are straightforward and undisputed.

The New Jersey State Legislature has conferred upon the Commissioner of Education "jurisdiction to hear and determine . . . all controversies and disputes arising under the school laws . . . or under the rules of the State board or of the commissioner." N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9. Here, to the extent that Eget seeks relief pursuant to an order that was issued five years ago by a Superior Court Judge in connection with a matrimonial matter, that clearly falls outside the scope of the Commissioner's jurisdiction as it does not involve a dispute arising under the school laws. The Commissioner lacks jurisdiction to enforce or interpret a Family Part court order.

Eget's Petition also references N.J.S.A. 9:2-4.2,[1] which addresses parental access to children's records. It appears that Eget maintains that he is entitled to L.E.'s school records because she has not been emancipated by any Court. Again, counsel for the Board is correct to note that the Commissioner lacks jurisdiction to enforce this statutory provision, as it does not arise under the school laws.

N.J.A.C. 6A:32-7.5, which addresses access to student records, applies here. It provides, in relevant part:

> (a) Only authorized organizations, agencies, or persons, as defined in this section, shall have access to student records, including student health records.
>
>
> (c) Each district board of education shall control access to, disclosure of, and communication regarding information contained in student health records to assure access only to people permitted by Federal and State statute and regulations or as stated at (e) below.
>
> . . .
>
> (e) Organizations, agencies, and persons authorized to access student records shall include only the following:
> 1. The student who has the written permission of a parent and the parent of a student under the age of 18, regardless of whether the child resides with the parent, except pursuant to N.J.S.A. 9:2-4;. . .
> 2. . . .
> 3. An adult student and/or a parent who has the written permission of an adult student, except that the parent shall have access without the adult student's consent as long as the adult student is financially dependent on the parent and enrolled in the public school system, or if the adult student has been declared legally incompetent by a court of appropriate jurisdiction. The parent of a financially dependent adult student may not disclose information contained in the adult

[1] N.J.S.A. 9:2-4.2 provides in relevant part: "Every parent, except as prohibited by federal and State law, shall have access to records and information pertaining to his or her unemancipated child, including, but not limited to, medical, dental, insurance, child care and educational records, whether or not the child resides with the parent, unless that access is found by the court to be not in the best interest of the child or the access is found by the court to be sought for the purpose of causing detriment to the other parent."

> student's record to a second or third party without the adult student's consent;
> . . .
>
> 14. Organizations, agencies, and persons from outside the school if they have the written consent of the parent or adult student. Organizations, agencies, and persons shall not transfer student record information to a third party without the written consent of the parent or adult student;
> 15. Organizations, agencies and individuals outside the school, other than those specified in this section, upon the presentation of a court order; . . .

Of the approximately sixteen categories of authorized agencies, organizations or persons who may gain access to student records, there is no evidence that petitioner would satisfy any of these categories. Since Eget's daughter is an adult who no longer attends school in the district; there is no indication that she has ever been declared legally incompetent by any court; and as she never provided written permission for the release of her school records, Eget is not authorized to obtain her records pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:32-7.5(e). Given the uncontroverted facts in this matter, and drawing all inferences of doubt in favor of the petitioner, and against the Board, as the moving party, I CONCLUDE that the Board must prevail as a matter of law.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that the motion for summary decision filed by the Board is GRANTED, and that the petition be dismissed.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." However, nothing herein shall be deemed to limit the Board's actions in compliance with the Open Public Records Act, or its obligation to respond fully and accurately to any and all inquiries from public entities, while maintaining the limits set forth in this Section. Timely, written notice to Thielman shall be made if OPRA inquiries are received by the Board related to her employment and disclosures are contemplated.

7. OLDER WORKER BENEFIT PROTECTION ACT OF 1990: To comply with the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act of 1990, if applicable, this Agreement advises Thielman of the legal requirements of the Act, and fully incorporates the legal requirements by reference into this Agreement. time within which to consider this Agreement, and (v) has seven (7) days from the date of the execution of this Agreement to revoke it. Thielman understands that she may rescind this Agreement within seven (7) calendar days of signing it, and such rescission must be in writing and delivered to counsel for the Board either by hand or by certified mail within the seven-day period. Thielman agrees that she has been given a reasonable period of time of at least 21 days within which to review and consider this Settlement prior to executing this Agreement, but Thielman may waive this 21-day period by signing the space provided at the end of this Settlement.

8. CONFIDENTIALITY: The parties agree that this settlement agreement shall be deemed confidential, except to the extent provided by law, and that neither party shall discuss, communicate, publish, publicize, disseminate, confirm or otherwise disclose or cause to be disclosed, communicated, published, publicized, disseminated, confirmed or discussed the terms of this settlement with any third party, organization, or entity, provided that this provision shall not preclude Ms. Thielman from disclosing the terms of this settlement agreement to her attorneys, accountants, tax advisors, employers, family members, or to the Administrative Law Judge, the Commissioner of Education, or any other tribunal as may be required to obtain approval of this settlement agreement.

9. ENTIRE AGREEMENT: This Agreement and Release contain the entire Agreement and understanding between the Parties and constitutes a full and final agreement in any and all issues relating to this matter, except that the Parties reserve their right to enforce this Agreement, if necessary.

10. CHOICE OF LAW: This Agreement shall be governed by the laws of the State of New Jersey.

11. SEVERABILITY: If, during the term of this Agreement, a specific clause of the Agreement is determined to be illegal or in violation of any Federal or State law, the remainder of the Agreement shall not be affected by such a ruling and shall remain in full force and effect.

12. BINDING EFFECT: The Parties shall be bound by the terms and conditions of this Agreement.

13. APPROVAL: The terms and conditions of this Agreement are subject to ratification and approval by the Board, Administrative Law Judge and the Commissioner of Education.

14. VOLUNTARY AGREEMENT: The Parties have entered into this Agreement freely and voluntarily with a full understanding of their rights and the contents of this Agreement.

WHEREAS, B.M. is classified as eligible for special education and related services under the category of "Other Health Impaired" in accordance with the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, 20 U.S.C.A. §1401, et seq., and the Federal Regulations pertaining to same, 34 C.F.R. §300.1, et seq., as well as the New Jersey Regulations pertaining to same, N.J.A.C. 6A:14-1.1, et seq. WHEREAS, the Parents also filed a Petition with the New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Controversies and Disputes, appealing the findings of an investigation conducted in accordance with the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, which matter was docketed before the Department of Education as Agency Reference No. 323-11/22, and the Office of Administrative Law as EDU-11105-22; and

WHEREAS, the Board and the Parents (the "Parties") desire to settle any and all outstanding claims, controversies, demands, actions or causes of action as set forth in the matter docketed before the Department of Education as Agency Reference No.: 2023-35132, and the Office of Administrative Law as Docket No.: EDS-11510-22; and the matter docketed before the Department of Education as Agency Reference No. 323-11/22, and the Office of Administrative Law as EDU-11105-22; and

WHEREAS, the Parties deem it in their best interests to set forth in a formal written agreement their respective rights, duties and obligations;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual promises, covenants and other good and valuable consideration set forth herein, it is hereby agreed by and between the Parties hereto as follows:

1. PROVISION OF EDUCATIONAL SERVICES:

   A. The Board agrees to place B.M. at Winston Preparatory School ("Winston"), located in Whippany, New Jersey, and pay for all regular and customary tuition and special education and related service costs associated with B.M.'s placement at Winston, as set forth in her most recent IEP, dated September 14, 2022, including, but not limited to door-to-door transportation to and from the Parents' home and Winston, provided that B.M. is accepted into the program, with her placement at Winston to commence as soon as Winston can accommodate her following the approval of this Agreement by the Board in accordance with paragraph 12 of this Agreement.

   B. The Parents shall remain financially responsible for any and all other additional costs associated with B.M.'s placement at Winston or any other fees incurred by the Parents in providing B.M. with additional educational services beyond those costs and fees that will be covered by the regular and customary tuition being paid by the Board for B.M. to attend Winston, as set forth in her IEP, including but not limited to, miscellaneous charges, recreation fees, activity fees, and all other costs not specifically provided for under her IEP or covered by the regular and customary tuition being paid by the Board for her to attend Winston.

   C. B.M.'s IEP, dated September 14, 2022, shall be amended by the District, without a meeting, within 7 days following the approval of this Agreement by the Board to incorporate the terms of this agreement and change in placement to Winston, and the execution of this Agreement by the Parents shall be considered written consent for the District to do so. All other provisions of the previous IEP shall remain in full force and effect. However, a "30-day review" IEP meeting will be conducted following B.M.'s placement at Winston. If a term or condition of this amended IEP conflicts with a term or condition of this Agreement, the term(s) and condition(s) of this Agreement shall control.

   D. Commencing retroactively from April 7, 2023 until such time as her placement at Winston can be effectuated, B.M. shall remain on home instruction with the understanding that B.M. shall be placed at Winston as soon as Winston can accommodate her following the approval of this Agreement by the Board in accordance with paragraph 12 this Agreement.

   E. Should B.M. not be accepted at Winston, or should she be accepted at Winston following the approval of this Agreement by the Board in accordance with paragraph 12 this Agreement B.M. shall be placed on home instruction pending her placement in an alternate out of district placement. If, instead, she is disenrolled or discharged from Winston in the future, the process and procedure outlined in paragraph 4 of this Agreement shall apply. However, should a dispute arise in the future between the Parties and B.M. can and does remain placed at Winston, meaning she has not been disenrolled or discharged, her placement at Winston shall be her Stay-Put placement in accordance with the IDEA subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement.

F. The parties understand and agree that B.M. shall not be entitled to Extended School Year ("ESY") services for the Summer 2023.

2. In further consideration of the promises and covenants set forth herein, the Parties further agree as follows:

A. The Parents shall withdraw with prejudice the matter docketed before the Department of Education as Agency Reference No.: 2023-35132, and docketed before the Office of Administrative Law as Docket No.: EDS-11510-22.

B. A. The Parents shall withdraw with prejudice the matter docketed before the Department of Education as Agency Reference No. 323-11/22, and docketed before the Office of Administrative Law as Docket No.: EDU-11105-22. The Parents shall execute the Stipulation of Dismissal in the form that is attached hereto as Exhibit "A".

C. The Parents shall withdraw their request for an appeal before the Wayne Township Board of Education contesting the three (3) day suspension imposed against B.M. through the date of the Parents' execution of this Agreement, and the Parents further agree that they will take no further action to contest this disciplinary action.

D. The District shall complete all open harassment, intimidation or bullying ("HIB") complaints through the date of the Parents' execution of this Agreement. To the extent that any open HIB investigation is concluded with a finding that B.M. committed an act of HIB, no consequences will be imposed against B.M. For all open HIB investigations in which B.M. is either the target or the aggressor, the Parents agree that they will not initiate any action to appeal such findings to the Wayne Township Board of Education and/or the Commissioner of Education.

3. This Agreement is made without any admission of liability or responsibility by the Board and shall not be construed as an admission by the Board that it did not, at all times relevant herein, properly perform its duties and obligations regarding evaluation, programming and placement for B.M. in accordance with law, including the IDEA, through the date of the Parents' execution of this Agreement.

4. The Board's prospective obligations under this Agreement shall cease if and when Parents fail to reside within the Board's geographic boundaries, pro-rated to the date of their departure; or (2) if any time B.M. is disenrolled or discharged from Winston, pro-rated to the date of B.M.'s disenrollment. In the event that B.M. is disenrolled or discharged from Winston, the Board shall immediately hold an IEP meeting to discuss B.M.'s program and placement, and B.M. shall be placed on home instruction until such time as an appropriate placement is mutually agreed upon by the parties or a placement is ordered by a court of law of appropriate jurisdiction.

5. MUTUAL RELEASE.

   A. The Parents, individually and on behalf of B.M. hereby release, acquit and forever discharge the Board, its current and former members, officers, directors, agents, servants, employees, successors, attorneys, assigns and affiliates, of and from any and all known claims, liabilities, demands, causes of action, damages, indemnities and obligations of every kind and nature, in law or equity, which have accrued regarding B.M.'s education from the date of her enrollment in the Wayne Township Public School District through date of the Parents' execution of this Agreement, including but not limited to, any and all claims and demands directly or indirectly arising from or in any way connected with the Board's obligation to provide B.M. with a free and appropriate education; any statutory or common law claims based upon the facts and circumstances upon which this Agreement is based, including but not limited to the IDEA, 42 U.S.C. §1983, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, the American with Disabilities Act, Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, or any other federal or state law.

   B. The Parties acknowledge and agree that this Agreement is in full and complete settlement of any and all claims that had been asserted, can be asserted, may be asserted or could be asserted by either party against the other up to the date of the Parents' execution of this Agreement, individually or on behalf of their minor child for compensatory damages, pain, suffering, emotional distress, stress, humiliation, embarrassment, mental anguish, medical expenses, punitive damages, interests, attorneys fees, costs of suit, loss of benefits, consequential damage, reputation damage, violation of civil rights, privileges and immunities secured by the Civil Rights Act of 1871, 42 U.S.C. §§1981, 1983, 1985, 1986, and 1988, the New Jersey Tort Claims Act N.J.S.A. Title 59, the Fourth and Fourteenth Amendments to the United States Constitution, the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, 20 U.S.C. § 1400, et seq.; N.J.S.A. 18A:46-1, et seq.; and N.J.A.C. 6A:14-1.1, et seq., the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, and any and all other federal, state and local constitutional, statutory, regulatory or administrative laws, ordinances or common law duties, whether enumerated herein specifically or not.

7. INDEMNIFICATION. the Parents agree to indemnify and hold harmless the Board, their current and former members, officers, directors, agents, servants, employees, successors, attorneys, assigns and affiliates, of and from any and all claims, liabilities, demands, causes of action, costs, expenses, attorneys' fees, damages, indemnities and obligations of every kind and nature, in law, equity, or otherwise, known and unknown, suspected and unsuspected, disclosed and undisclosed, initiated by B.M. upon reaching the age of majority arising out of or in any way related to agreements, events, acts, omissions or conduct which relate in anyway the claims raised in the matter docketed before the Department of Education as Agency Reference No.: 2023-35132, and the Office of Administrative Law as Docket No.: EDS-11510-22; and the matter docketed before the Department of Education as Agency Reference No. 323-11/22, and the Office of Administrative Law as EDU-11105-22 up to the date of Parents' execution of this Agreement.

8. COVENANT NOT TO SUE OR USE ALLEGATIONS. The parties covenant not to sue, initiate, or continue any legal or administrative proceedings or appeals with regard to any or all claims released herein, provided, however, that this shall not preclude any claims pertaining to a breach or alleged of this Agreement or with respect to any future claims that could be made by the Parents vis-à-vis B.M.'s rights under the IDEA or any other State of Federal law.

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the proposed Settlement Agreement (Agreement), and the Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner notes that paragraph 4 of the Agreement references an action that preceded the consideration of the settlement by the Commissioner of Education. The parties are reminded that a settlement of litigation before the Commissioner is not binding until the Commissioner approves the settlement.

In light of the foregoing, the Commissioner adopts the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter, provided that the parties have already implemented the settlement terms or have agreed upon mutually satisfactory alternate dates for the effectuation of the terms of the Agreement. Assuming same, the matter is hereby dismissed.

BEFORE MARGARET M. MONACO, ALJ:

On or about December 15, 2022, petitioner Y.W. on behalf of minor child S.H.L. filed a Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner of Education challenging the residency determination by respondent Board of Education of the Township of Pequannock (the Board). On or about January 6, 2023, the Board filed an Answer to Petition of Appeal, which included a request for tuition. The Department of Education transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law, where it was filed for determination as a contested case. Following telephone conferences with the parties, the parties amicably resolved the matter and counsel for the Board submitted the attached Settlement Agreement under letter dated April 18, 2023, along with a Resolution of the Board approving the Settlement Agreement.

Having reviewed the record and the settlement terms, I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement as evidenced by their signatures or their representatives' signatures.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Michael Cantatore,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Carlstadt-East Rutherford Regional High School District, Bergen County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Pro se petitioner, a teacher employed by the Carlstadt-East Rutherford Board of Education (Board), challenged the Board's adoption of the district's Grading Policy #2624, which has been in place – uninterrupted and unchanged – since it was established in April 2004. Petitioner alleged, inter alia, that Policy #2624 was modified on the Carlstadt-East Rutherford District website in February 2021, such that the policy's stated adoption date of April 2004 was falsified. The Board contended that no change has been made to the Board's Grading Policy since 2004, on the district's website or elsewhere.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue in this matter, and the case is ripe for summary decision; in order to bring a complaint to hear a controversy or dispute arising under the school laws, a person must be an interested party; N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.2 defines interested person to mean a person who will be substantially, specifically, and directly affected by the outcome of a controversy before the Commissioner; the Commissioner has consistently declined to hear cases brought by petitioners who would not be affected by the outcome in a direct and meaningful way; here, the petitioner lacks standing to bring the within complaint before the Commissioner as it is students within the school district who would be impacted by the policy in question, not the petitioner; further, the petition was untimely filed under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i). The ALJ concluded that the petition must be dismissed for lack of standing and untimeliness. Accordingly, the Board's motion for summary decision was granted. The petition was dismissed.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge that petitioner lacks standing and that the petition of appeal was untimely pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL was adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition was dismissed.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY AND STATEMENT OF CASE

Petitioner, Michael Cantatore, challenges respondent, the Board of Education of the Carlstadt-East Rutherford Regional High School District, Bergen County ("the Board") adoption of the District's Grading Policy. Petitioner is an employee/teacher of the respondent. On July 5, 2022, this matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law ("OAL") from the New Jersey Department of Education.

On July 25, 2022, pursuant to a telephone conference held with the undersigned and the parties, respondent was given leave to file a Motion for Summary Decision. On September 1, 2022, respondent filed same. On September 28, 2022, petitioner filed Opposition to the Motion for Summary Judgement. On October 11, 2022, respondent filed a Reply Brief and on October 31, 2022, petitioner filed a Reply Brief. On January 5, 2023, the final responsive papers were submitted, and the record closed.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

The facts as set forth by respondent by way of Certification of Dario Sforza, Ed.D and attached to respondent's Brief in Support of Summary Decision as Exhibit A, are as follows:

Petitioner is a teacher and an employee of the Carlstadt-East Rutherford Regional School District Board of Education.

The Board has adopted Policy Number 2624, "Grading System" (the "Grading Policy"), which was created in April 2004. The Board's Grading Policy specifically provides that:

> The Superintendent shall develop and continually review in consultation with teaching staff members, parent(s) or legal guardians(s), and pupils, a grading program appropriate to the course of study and maturity of pupils. The final decision on any contested grade will be the responsibility of the Superintendent. A pupil classified as disabled will be graded in accordance with his/her Individualized Educational Program (IEP) or the Section 504 Plan.

The Board states that the Grading Policy has been in place, uninterrupted, since its creation in April 2004 and was the Grading Policy that was in place at the time relevant to petitioner's claims. No changes have been made to the Grading Policy at any point in time since its creation in April 2004.

As the District's Superintendent, Dr. Sforza implements the Board's Grading Policy throughout the District. The implementation of the Board's Grading Policy is subject to flexibility and District practice. This includes the "no grade lower" practice by which there is a minimum threshold posted grade which might vary from a teacher's gradebook grade. Under this practice, a gradebook grade (which is reflective of the teacher's personal calculation of a student's average marking period performance in class) would warrant an automatic posted grade consistent with the "no grade lower" threshold number.

The "no grade lower" practice ranking has been the district's practice for over thirty years. Over the past two years, and in response to the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic, Dr. Sforza implemented the Board's grading policy in such a way that the threshold grade for the district's "no grade lower" practice was set at fifty-five (55). Under practice, the posted grades of fifty-five are automatically inputted as the lowest grade a teacher was permitted to give a student during the period covering January 1, 2021 through June 30, 2021.

Dr. Sforza made the decision to implement the Grading Policy in this manner consistent with his authority as Superintendent and in harmony with the Board's Grading Policy, which provides that "[t]he Superintendent shall develop and continually review in consultation with teaching staff members, parent(s) or legal guardian(s), and pupils, a grading program appropriate to the course of study and maturity of pupils." Difficulties facing District students as a result of the global pandemic, such as learning loss, led to the decision to implement the Grading Policy and its "no grade lower" District practice in this manner, as Dr. Sforza determined this course of action to best serve the district's students and their specific learning needs. This is not the only implementation practice enacted throughout the district in response to the COVID-19 pandemic. In fact, other practices enacted include the Road Back to Becton 1648 Restart Recover Plan 2020-2021, the Road Forward District Plan and Policy 1648, and the Safe Return to In Person Instruction and Continuity of Service pursuant to the Federal American Rescue Plan Act, Section 2001(i)Z – 2022-2023. However, petitioner took issue only with the implementation of the Grading Policy.

A teacher was permitted to request a lower grade than the required threshold in the past few years so long as they met the requirements on a "Request for Grade Lower than fifty-five" form and appropriately justified their reasons in a short narrative and checked off the interventions implemented to assist each child to succeed. Discretion for approval/denial of a teacher's request is made by the department supervisor and supervisor of guidance. Respondent alleges that the Petitioner attempted to utilize this practice to request lower grades but did not meet the minimum requirements stated above and altered the form to suit his needs, including after he was warned not to do so.

Moreover, Dr. Sforza's wide statutory authority to implement Board policies by virtue of his position as Superintendent is also reinvigorated in myriad in other Board policies. Specifically:

- Board Policy 1230, "Superintendent's Duties", states that:
    - ". . . Function: The Superintendent shall serve as Chief Executive and Administrative Officer of the district by implementing policies established by the Board of Education and by discharging the duties imposed on his/her office by law. . . ."
    - Board Policy 2200, "Curriculum Content", created in July 2016, provides: "The Superintendent is responsible for implementing the curriculum approved by the Board."
    - Board Policy 2210, "Curriculum Development", created in April 2004, provides: " . . As educational leader of the district, the Superintendent shall be responsible to the Board for the development of curriculum and shall establish procedures for curriculum development that ensure the effective participation of teaching staff members, pupils, the community, and members of the Board. . . ."

- Board Policy 2220, "Adoption of Courses", created April 2004, provides: "The Superintendent is responsible for the continuous evaluation of the courses of study against the educational goals of the Board and shall recommend to the Board such new or altered courses of study as are deemed to be in the best interests of the pupils of this district."

- Board Policy 2610, Educational Program Evaluation", created April 2004, provides: "The Board of Education directs the Superintendent to develop and implement a systematic plan for the continuous evaluation of the educational program against the educational goals established by this Board."

The Superintendent's intimate and extensive involvement in implementing the Board's policies, especially those which touch upon the academic performance of District students is well-documented throughout the Board's many policies.

However, Petitioner did not agree with the manner in which Dr. Sforza implemented the Board's Grading Policy in response to the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic, and thus filed a complaint with OFAC which resulted in Case #INV-010-21. OFAC's decision denied petitioner's complaint and noted that: "N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c) provides that boards of education have the authority to set policies for school districts. N.J.S.A. 18A:17-20 provides that Superintendents have the authority to implement those policies. Accordingly, the Superintendent has the authority to implement the Board's policy for its Grading System, Policy #2624."

Petitioner appealed to the Commissioner of Education the OFAC's decision because he alleges "the Board of Education never discussed and approved [an] updated" Grading Policy, and because Dr. Sforza "adopt[ed] a different policy, updat[ed] this policy on the district's website and implement[ed] it without approval of" the Board. According to Respondent, the Board's Grading Policy has not been updated. Dr. Sforza did not adopt a new policy nor update the district's website, and that implementing policies are expressly within the realm of the Superintendent's powers pursuant to statute, regardless.

Petitioner also raised instances of "grade falsification." However, these allegations are not before the Commissioner as, per petitioner's own admission, his complaint to OFAC was "solely based on the [assertion] that Board Policy #2624 (the Grading Policy], which was adopted on April 14, 2004, was changed on the district's website . . .".[1]

In February 2022, the District had a Policy Audit conducted by Strauss Esmay. According to the cover letter sent by Strauss Esmay to the District upon completion of the audit, the audit reviewed "existing bylaws, policies, and/or regulations. . . " Emphasis added. The Strauss Esmay Policy Audit Summary page generated as a result of the audit shows that the Board's Grading Policy reviewed during the audit was Grading System Policy 2624, adopted in April 2004 -- not some new policy from February 2021 as petitioner alleges. Moreover, the Strauss Esmay audit labeled the existing Grading System Policy #2624 from 2004 as "Good" with "Update Not Needed" for being in "compliance and does not need to be revised."

It is the Board's position that no change has been made to the Board's Grading Policy since 2004, on the district's website, or anywhere else.

Cantatore argues that in February 2021, he accessed both Policy #2624 and Regulation #2624 several times and they were the same document. The next time he accessed Policy #2624, he noticed that the detailed policy was replaced by a three-paragraph policy. See Ex. 6, attached to petitioner's Opposition to Motion for Summary Decision. Cantatore alleges that policy #2624 was modified on the Carlstadt-East Rutherford District website in February 2021, while possessing a falsified adoption date of April 2004. In addition, the three-paragraph policy replaced the original detailed Grading Policy and was never approved at a Board meeting.

[1] The issue of grade falsification was not made part of the Petition that was transmitted to the OAL.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

A party may move for summary decision under N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b), which "may be rendered if the papers and discovery, which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." This Motion shares similarities with the summary judgment rule established in New Jersey Court Rules, R. 4:46-2. See Judson v. People's Bank and Trust Co. of Westfield, 17 N.J. 67, 74 (1954). Pursuant to this standard, all inferences of doubt are drawn against the movant and in favor of the party against whom the Motion is directed. Id. at 75. Here, both the respondent and the petitioner are moving parties. Summary Judgment is precluded when it is determined that "there exists a genuine issue of material fact." Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Co., 142 N.J. 520 (1995).

Respondent argues that the Motion for Summary Decision should be granted because petitioner lacks standing. Standing is a threshold justiciability determination about whether a litigant is entitled to bring an action before a court or other tribunal. Herron v. Montclair Bd. of Educ., EDU 14067-13, Comm'r decision, (Jun. 2, 2014) (citing, Stubaus v. Whitman, 339 N.J. Super. 38, 47 (App. Div. 2001)). Restrictions on standing apply to those who initiate administrative proceedings before the Commissioner. The Commissioner has clarified through regulation as well as case law that only an "interested person," i.e., one who has standing, may initiate such proceedings. Bedminster Educ. Ass'n v. Bedminster Twp. Bd. of Educ., EDU 6720-05, Comm'r decision (June 16, 2006). "[I]n order to bring a complaint to hear a controversy or dispute arising under the school laws, a person must be an interested party." S.J. v. Mountain Lakes Bd. of Educ., EDU 7081-03, Initial Decision, (Oct. 7, 2003).

N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.2 defines "interested person(s)" to mean "a person(s) who will be substantially, specifically, and directly affected by the outcome of a controversy before the Commissioner." Consequently, petitioners must show that they will "be affected by the outcome in a direct and meaningful way" before they may proceed in a contested case. U.K. & G.K. ex rel D.K. v. Clifton Bd. of Educ., 93 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 71; Kenwood

v. Montclair Bd. of Educ., EDU 8858-81, Initial Decision, (Apr. 23, 1982), adopted, Comm'r (June 14, 1982)). Thus, to have standing, a complaining party must demonstrate "some measurable amount of detrimental impact on the complaining party's personal rights." S.J. v. Mountain Lakes Bd. of Educ., EDU 7081-03, Initial Decision, (Oct. 7, 2003) (citing, Salorio v. Glaser, 82 N.J. 482, 491 (1998)).

A deficiency in standing is fatal to a petition such as the one at issue here. "The dismissal of cases brought by litigants who will not be effected by the outcome in a direct and meaningful way is required by this regulation." S.J. v. Mountain Lakes Bd. of Educ., EDU 7081-03, Initial Decision, (Oct. 7, 2003) (citing, S.R. and E.D.R. o/b/o E.D.R., Jr. v. Montague Bd. of Educ., EDU 5300-03, 201 AGEN LEXIS 583 (Oct. 3, 2001)). Thus, the Commissioner has consistently declined to hear cases brought by petitioners who would not be affected by the outcome in a direct and meaningful way. See, e.g., U.K. & G.K. o/b/o D.K. v. Clifton Bd. of Educ., 93 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 73 (Nov. 20, 1992) (parents objecting to discipline of someone else's child); Kenwood v. Montclair Bd. of Educ., EDU 8858-81, Initial Decision, (April 23, 1982), adopted, Comm'r (June 14, 1982), aff'd, St. Bd. (Sept. 8, 1982) (concerned citizen seeking to rewrite school attendance policy); Lobis v. Maple Shade Bd. of Educ., EDU 3630-79, Initial Decision, (June 11, 1980), adopted, Comm'r (Aug. 11, 1980), aff'd, St. Bd. (Nov. 5, 1980) (parent whose child no longer attended school complaining about quality of education received by remaining students); Delaney v. Woodbridge Bd. of Educ., EDU 382-78, Initial Decision, (Dec. 12, 1979), adopted, Comm'r (June 11, 1980) (taxpayer questioning propriety of filling job vacancies); Ricardelli v. Newark Bd. of Educ., EDU 1894-79, Initial Decision, (Sept. 26, 1979), adopted, Comm'r (Nov. 16, 1979) (taxpayer challenging legality of school board's decision to transfer personnel); G.G. v. New Providence Bd. of Educ., 1975 S.L.D. 502 (parent of high school graduate challenging attendance policy).

Petitioner here cannot make the requisite showing of standing. To illustrate, even if the Board's Grading Policy, or a modification of it, did violate some provision of the school laws or the administrative code, it is not petitioner who would be harmed -- if anyone, it would be the district students who are negatively impacted by the violative policy. As such, petitioner lacks standing just as in Herron, where the Commissioner determined that a teacher advocating for District students who experienced academic problems, while "commendable", did "not add up to the concrete, personal stake in respondent's current actions which standing contemplates." The Commissioner further highlighted that no district student or parent had joined the petitioner in prosecuting the matter. Id. Thus, the Commissioner concluded, "there are no parties in this case with concrete interests adverse to the actions which respondent has proposed, and to which petitioner objects." Id.

I agree with the Respondent that the similarities between the circumstances at issue in Herron and the instant matter are eerily striking. Petitioner apparently has taken it upon himself to advocate on behalf of the students because he personally disagrees with the manner in which the Superintendent implemented the Board's Grading Policy. However, the result is, just as it was in Herron, then, that petitioner lacks standing. This deficiency is inexorably fatal to the instant Petition such that respondent's Motion for Summary Decision should be granted on this basis alone.

Cantatore argues that he does not lack standing because this matter involves a clear violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1c, which provides that boards of education have the authority to set policies for school districts. However, he argues that the Board failed to adopt the three-paragraph Grading Policy #2624 that currently appears on the website. Unfortunately, Cantatore cannot and does not dispute that any District student or parent has joined him in prosecuting this matter. Nor that he has had any concrete, personal stake in respondent's alleged actions which standing contemplates. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.2 defines "interested person(s)" to mean "a person(s) who will be substantially, specifically, and directly affected by the outcome of a controversy before the Commissioner." Consequently, petitioners must show that they will "be affected by the outcome in a direct and meaningful way" before they may proceed in a contested matter.

Petitioner cannot make the requisite showing of standing because it is not the petitioner who would be harmed even if the Board's Grading Policy, or modification of it, did violate some provision of the school laws or the administrative code. Rather it would be the district's students who would be negatively impacted by the violative policy. I CONCLUDE that petitioner lacks standing. Even though it has been concluded that the matter should be dismissed, and Summary Decision be granted in favor of the respondent because petitioner lacks standing, the issue of untimeliness will be addressed.

Respondent also argues that the Motion for Summary Decision should be granted because the petition is untimely. Even if petitioner had standing, the instant petition should be dismissed as untimely. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i) provides that a "petitioner shall file a petition no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling, or other action by the district board of education, individual party, or agency, which is the subject of the requested contested case hearing. . ." The purpose of this 90-day rule is to "provide a measure of repose and stability" and ensure "the proper and efficient administration of the school laws" because it "gives school districts the security of knowing that administrative decisions regarding the operation of the school cannot be challenged after ninety -days." Howell Tp., Mayor of Howell and Council of Tp. of Howell v. Freehold Regional School District, EDU 2427-06, Initial Decision (Oct. 5, 2006) (citing, Kaprow v. Bd. of Educ. of Berkeley Tp., 131 N.J. 572, 582 (1993)). Accordingly, the 90-day rule serves an important and "salutary purpose of discouraging dilatoriness and providing a measure of repose in the conduct of school affairs." C.G. and R.G. v. Brick Tp. Bd. of Educ., EDU 110-06, Comm'r decision, (Mar. 24, 2006) (citing, Farrell v. Votator Division of Chemtron Corp., 62 N.J. 111, 115 (1973); Ochs v. Federal Ins. Co., 90 N.J. 108, 112 (1982); Kaprow v. Berkeley Tp. Bd. of Educ., 131 N.J. 572, 588 (1993)). For example, in Howell, the petitioners' challenge to a board policy adopted on May 10, 2004 which was filed on February 17, 2006, was dismissed as untimely. Id.

The sole basis of Petitioner's complaint to OFAC was the alleged change to the Board's Grading Policy on the District's website. According to petitioner, this change took place in February 2021. Respondent argues that even if this change did occur, which respondent denies, February 2021 is far beyond 90-days prior to the filing of the instant petition on May 25, 2022. And, even if petitioner's complaint to OFAC could be considered the date by which to measure timeliness here, the letter requesting an OFAC investigation was sent on October 12, 2021 -- six months after the alleged February 2021 alteration. See, Certification of Weston J. Kulick, Esq., (Exhibit "A"), attached to Respondent's Brief in Support of Motion for Summary Decision. Whichever the measure respondent argues that the instant petition is untimely.

Cantatore argues that the response from the OFAC regarding OFAC Case #INV-010-21 was mailed on April 28th, 2022. See, Exh. #15 to petitioner's Opposition. The pro se petition for the appeal of OFAC Case #INV-101-21 was mailed out on May 25, 2022. See, Exh. #16 petitioner's Opposition. Thus, according to Cantatore, only twenty-seven (27) days elapsed from the day the OFAC response was received until the pro se petition was mailed out. I find Respondent's argument to be persuasive and factually correct as to the timing of the filing of Cantatore's Petition. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the instant petition should be dismissed as untimely pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i).

As the facts set forth above pertain to the arguments of lack of standing and untimeliness of filing, I CONCLUDE that there are no issues of material fact and Summary Decision should be granted in favor of respondent. There is no need to further address the argument raised by respondent pertaining to the joinder of indispensable parties.

Therefore, having reviewed both parties' submissions, I CONCLUDE that Summary Decision should be granted in favor of the respondent dismissing Cantatore's petition because he lacks standing and further because the petition was untimely pursuant to N.J.S.A. 6A:3-1.3(i).

ORDER

It is therefore ORDERED that the respondent's Motion for Summary Decision be and hereby is GRANTED.

I hereby FILE this Initial Decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

In the Matter of the Suspension of the Teaching Certificate of Jorge Castro, Board of Education of the Borough of East Newark, Hudson County.

Synopsis

This matter was opened before the Commissioner of Education on December 6, 2022, by way of an Order to Show Cause served by the petitioner, the East Newark Board of Education (Board), upon the respondent, Jorge Castro, a Teacher of Social Studies, requiring respondent to show cause why an order should not be entered suspending his teaching certificate for unprofessional conduct pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 after he resigned his position without giving the sixty-day (60) notice required by his contract with the petitioner. Respondent was duly advised that – pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(e) – failure to respond would cause each allegation raised by the Board to be deemed admitted and might result in summary decision by the Commissioner. The respondent failed to answer the order.

Upon review, the Commissioner found that, although respondent resigned without providing 60-days' notice, the circumstances in this matter do not warrant suspension of his teaching certificate. Respondent was hired to teach middle school social studies. A short time after he signed a contract with the Board as a Teacher of Social Studies, petitioner informed respondent that he was expected to become certified in science through a pilot program, and to teach science as well as social studies. Subsequently, several weeks prior to the start of the school year, respondent resigned because he did not want to teach science. The Commissioner noted that respondent was hired with the understanding that he would teach social studies, was later informed that he would be expected to teach science (a subject he was not certified to teach) and thereafter resigned prior to the start of the school year. As such, the Commissioner found that a suspension of respondent's teaching certificate is unjustified. Accordingly, the Commissioner declined to exercise her discretion to suspend respondent's certificate and granted summary decision in his favor. The petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Decision

In the Matter of the Suspension of the Teaching Certificates of Jorge Castro, Board of Education of the Borough of East Newark, Hudson County.

For petitioner, Frances L. Febres, Esq.

No appearance by or on behalf of respondent

This matter was opened before the Commissioner of Education on December 6, 2022, by way of an Order to Show Cause served by petitioner (East Newark Board of Education) upon respondent (Jorge Castro), requiring respondent to show cause why an order should not be entered suspending his teaching certificate pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 for resigning without giving the notice required by his teaching contract. By notice dated December 9, 2022, the Office of Controversies and Disputes (Office) acknowledged proof that the Order to Show Cause had been served upon respondent and directed respondent to answer within 20 days.

No answer having yet been received, on January 18, 2023, the Office sent respondent a second and final notice – via certified, regular, and electronic mail – directing that he file an answer within ten days. The notice advised that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(e), failure to answer would cause each allegation in petitioner's papers to be deemed admitted and might result in summary decision by the Commissioner. The certified mail tracking indicates that the notice was left with an individual on January 21, 2023. No answer to the Order to Show Cause has been filed as of this date.

The following facts are demonstrated by the petition and supporting exhibits submitted by petitioner in this matter. Respondent is a certified social studies teacher who entered into a contract to teach at the East Newark Middle School for the 2022-23 school year. On July 10, 2022, the superintendent informed respondent that social studies teachers at East Newark Middle School are traditionally certified in both social studies and science. The superintendent then offered to have respondent certified to teach middle school science as part of a state pilot program if he agreed to take the Praxis, which he indicated that he would. On August 10, 2022, respondent submitted a letter to the Board resigning from the social studies teacher position, effective that day. The letter indicated, in part: "This was a difficult decision to make, but I believe it is what is best for the students and myself. I am passionate about teaching social studies. I cannot say that I am passionate about teaching science, and this position was going to require me to teach science, a subject that I am not strong in." Thereafter, the superintendent informed respondent that he was contractually obligated to provide 60-days' notice of his resignation, or else a petition for suspension of his certificates would be filed. On September 2, 2022, respondent did not show up for the start of the school year. Respondent received a text that day indicating that he was expected at school and he replied reiterating that he had resigned, effective August 10, 2022. Respondent has not submitted a response to these allegations; therefore, the Commissioner deems such allegations to be admitted pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(e).

Upon review, the Commissioner finds that, while respondent resigned without providing 60-days' notice, the circumstances in this matter do not warrant suspension of his teaching certificates. N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 provides:

> Any teaching staff member employed by a board of education or an approved private school for the disabled, who shall, without the consent of the board . . . cease to perform his duties before the expiration of the term of his employment, shall be deemed guilty of unprofessional conduct, and the commissioner may, upon receiving notice thereof, suspend his certificate for a period not exceeding one year.

According to the statute, the Commissioner has the discretion to suspend a teacher's certificates for a year when a teaching staff member resigns without providing the notice required under his teaching contract. In this matter, it is clear that respondent was hired to teach middle school social studies, as evidenced by his certification in social studies. Only a short time after he signed the contract – not before – did petitioner inform respondent that he was expected to become certified in science through a pilot program and teach science.[1] Thereafter, several weeks prior to the start of the school year, respondent resigned because he did not want to teach science. The Commissioner notes that, given that respondent was hired with the understanding that he would teach social studies, was later informed that he would be expected to teach science (a subject he was not even certified to teach at that time), and resigned prior to the start of the school year, the Commissioner finds that a suspension of his teaching certificates is unjustified. As such, the Commissioner declines to exercise her discretion to suspend respondent's teaching certificates.

[1] It does not appear that that respondent ever took the Praxis and obtained his certification in science.

Accordingly, summary decision is entered in favor of respondent. The petition is hereby dismissed.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Order on Emergent Relief

Robert Zywicki,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Mount Olive, Morris County,

Respondent.

The record of this emergent matter, the sound recording of proceedings at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the recommended Order of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) have been reviewed.

This matter arises from tenure charges certified by the Mount Olive Board of Education (Board) against petitioner, who is the district's superintendent. Petitioner alleged that the Board improperly invoked the Doctrine of Necessity to certify the tenure charges, such that the Board's vote should be vacated. Following oral argument on petitioner's motion for emergent relief, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) issued an Order dismissing the petition because jurisdiction over petitioner's claims lies with the School Ethics Commission, not the Commissioner.

Upon review, the Commissioner concludes that it was improper for the ALJ to dismiss the petition in an Order. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.7, the disposition of a motion which completely concludes a case shall be by initial decision. This requirement is critical because, when an initial decision is issued, the parties can file exceptions pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4.[1] While the ALJ could have issued an initial decision dismissing the case for lack of jurisdiction, he did not do so. Dismissing the case in its entirety through an Order, without affording the parties the opportunity to file exceptions, deprived them of an important protection built into the applicable regulatory scheme. Accordingly, the Commissioner rejects the ALJ's Order.

However, the Commissioner finds that the record contains sufficient information to rule on petitioner's motion for emergent relief. Pursuant to Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126, 132-134 (1983), and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6, there are four prongs the Commissioner must consider when emergent relief is sought: 1) whether the petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted; 2) whether the legal right underlying petitioner's claim is settled; 3) whether the petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and 4) whether, when the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

The Commissioner concludes that petitioner has failed to demonstrate that he will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted. Irreparable harm is defined as harm "that cannot be redressed adequately by monetary damages." Crowe, supra, 90 N.J. at 132-33. Petitioner claims that he will suffer based on the loss of his salary and health benefits, but those are precisely the types of harm that can be redressed by monetary damages. To the extent that petitioner alleges damage to his reputation, the Commissioner concludes that petitioner has presented only conclusory and speculative arguments and has failed to demonstrate that his reputation will be damaged irreparably if he is not immediately reinstated.

As all four Crowe factors must be met for emergent relief to be granted, it is not necessary to address the remaining factors. The Commissioner also does not reach the issue of whether jurisdiction over this matter lies with the School Ethics Commission. The Commissioner, however, concurs with the ALJ that her referral of this case to the OAL does not constitute a decision that jurisdiction over the matter lies with the Commissioner, for the reasons detailed in the Order.

Accordingly, the Order dismissing the petition is rejected. Petitioner's motion for emergent relief is denied. This matter shall continue at the OAL with such proceedings as the parties and the ALJ deem necessary to bring it to closure.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

ROBERT ZYWICKI,
Petitioner,
v.
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF MOUNT OLIVE, MORRIS COUNTY,
Respondent.

Stephen J. Edelstein, Esq. for petitioner (Weiner Law Group, LLP, attorneys)

Joseph L. Roselle, Esq. for respondent (Schenck, Price, Smith & King, LPP, attorneys)

BEFORE: JOHN P. SCOLLO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, Robert Zywicki filed a Verified Petition of Appeal and a Motion for Emergent Relief with the Commissioner of Education's Office challenging and seeking to overturn two actions (i.e., votes) of the Mt. Olive Board of Education (hereinafter MOBOE), which took place during the MOBOE's March 13, 2023 meeting. In the first action, the MOBOE voted to invoke the Doctrine of Necessity, and subsequently, in the second action, the MOBOE voted to certify tenure charges against Robert Zywicki, the Superintendent of Schools.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On or about March 22, 2023, the Petitioner, Robert Zywicki (hereinafter "Zywicki" or the "Superintendent"), through his attorney, Stephen J. Edelstein, filed a Petition of Appeal with an accompanying Motion for Emergent Relief. On March 23, 2023, Attorney Edelstein filed his supporting Brief. On March 23, 2023, the Office of Controversies and Disputes in the Department of Education (hereinafter the "DOE" or the "Commissioner") transmitted the case to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) where it was filed on March 24, 2023 as a contested case. The matter was then assigned to John P. Scollo, ALJ, who ordered the parties to submit Opposition papers, Reply papers, Briefs and supporting materials by March 30, 2023. Oral argument via Zoom was conducted on April 3, 2023 with concerned citizens and a member of the press[1] in attendance.

After the hearing, the judge ordered the attorneys to submit their written summation Briefs by April 5, 2023 with clarifications of their arguments and additional materials.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION ASCERTAINED FROM THE PARTIES' SUBMISSIONS

In support of Petitioner Zywicki's position, Attorney Edelstein first explained what the Doctrine of Necessity is. He noted at the outset that of the nine people who constituted the MOBOE on March 13, 2023, four of them were conflicted on the issue of voting on tenure charges against Zywicki due to their involvement in pending litigation with Zywicki (who initiated the litigation is not entirely clear to this Tribunal). The four BOE members claimed to be conflicted by Edelstein are: Mr. Antoine Gayles, Mr.

[1] The Tribunal welcomes the participation of the press in this matter. While this Judge does not know the parties, their histories, their affiliations, their personal biases or prejudices, or their feelings towards each other, it is evident that these parties have engaged in multiple actions and lawsuits against each other over matters which directly or indirectly affect the schools. The taxpayers will likely bear the costs of these legal matters. The newspaper's thorough and objective investigation, probing into the origins and causes of these multiple actions, would render a great service to the people of Mt. Olive.

Anthony Strillacci, Ms. Elizabeth Ouimet, and Dr. Anthony Giordano. Attorney Edelstein also noted that the Doctrine of Necessity could only be invoked if there were at least five BOE members who were genuinely conflicted. Edelstein claims that enemies of Zywicki (including the above four people and Christopher Zeier and the MOBOE's attorney, Marc Zitomer), improperly and in bad faith manipulated the issue of conflicts in order to bring the number of purportedly "conflicted" BOE members to at least five so that all MOBOE members, including the four previously listed above, would be able to vote on the tenure charges thus making it virtually certain that said charges would be certified. Edelstein argued that if the machinations of Zywicki's "enemies" in manipulating the number of "conflicted" people had not been successful, then there would have still been a quorum (five people) available to vote on the tenure charges and that the effort to certify the tenure charges against Zywicki would have failed. Attorney Roselle argued to the contrary.

ANALYSIS OF THE ARGUMENTS

The following is not a verbatim account of the arguments and documents presented, but rather it encompasses points that the Tribunal found to be most important.

Petitioner's and Respondent's Arguments Regarding Emergent Relief

Attorney Edelstein argued that the MOBOE's improper invocation of the Doctrine of Necessity and its improper certification of tenure charges against Zywicki, and its concomitant suspension of Zywicki's salary and benefits calls for emergent relief. He argued that Zywicki meets the standards (i.e., the four prongs) set forth in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982) and thus qualifies for emergent relief. Attorney Roselle argued to the contrary claiming that emergent relief would not be justified and that Zywicki meets none of the criteria for emergent relief as set forth in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982). This will be addressed further below.

The Parties' Arguments Regarding Jurisdiction

Both sides agree that the threshold issue before me is the question of whether the OAL has jurisdiction over this matter.

The Parties' jurisdictional arguments with respect to the Commissioner's decision to refer the matter to the OAL

Zywicki's Petition of Appeal and Motion for Emergent Relief were filed with the Commissioner of Education, who immediately referred the matter to the Office of Administrative Law.

Attorney Edelstein notes that the Commissioner of Education could have dismissed the Petition of Appeal and the Motion if she believed that she lacked jurisdiction. Therefore, he argues that the very fact that the Commissioner referred the matter to the OAL demonstrates that the Commissioner believes he has jurisdiction.

Attorney Roselle, the Respondent's counsel, notes that jurisdiction properly lies with the School Ethics Commission and that the Commissioner of Education's acceptance of Zywicki's papers does not automatically mean that she acknowledged that jurisdiction was proper and was no longer an issue. Attorney Roselle argues that issues dealing with Board member conflicts of interest or the proper invocation of the Doctrine of Necessity belong before the School Ethics Commission. The Respondent relies on previous OAL rulings in Gilliam Gardner v. Board of Education of the City of Hackensack, Bergen County and James Montesano, Patricia Aquino-Lozano and Celso King, Intervenors, OAL Docket No.: EDU 09421-12 (2013) and Castriotta v. Board of Education of the Township of Roxbury, Morris County, OAL Docket No. : EDU 09217-10 (2011), reversed on other grounds, 427 N.J. Super. 592 (App. Div. 2012)

The Parties' jurisdictional arguments with respect to whether this matter arises under the School Laws or under the School Ethics Act (N.J.S.A.18A:12-21, et seq.)

Attorney Edelstein argues that this case contains a valid and important issue which arises under the school laws and therefore jurisdiction belongs to the Commissioner of Education and thus to the OAL. For support, he points to the wide scope of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9, where is says:

> The commissioner shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine, without cost to the parties, all controversies and disputes arising under the school laws....

That being so, Edelstein argues, the case clearly belongs under the jurisdiction of the Commissioner of Education.

The issue Edelstein refers to is whether or not the MOBOE failed to follow Board Policy 0163, a bylaw, when on March 13, 2023 it allegedly failed to post notice of its intent to invoke the Doctrine of Necessity. Attorney Edelstein maintains that this is a school law issue and therefore it brings this matter into the jurisdiction of the Commissioner of Education. He concludes that the Board's invocation of the Doctrine of Necessity fails because the Board did not announce (by posting, as required by the bylaw) its intention to invoke the Doctrine of Necessity.

Attorney Edelstein's other argument is that when the Board ignored one of its own bylaws, it was acting beyond the scope of its bylaws when it went ahead with the vote to invoke the Doctrine of Necessity and when it went ahead with the vote on the tenure charges. The bylaw (Board Policy number 0163) covers the invocation of the Doctrine of Necessity and says:

> "When the Board announces the Doctrine of Necessity is being invoked, the details, parameters and / or other pertinent facts of the matter to be voted should be revealed on an agenda for the public meeting in which the matter is to be voted upon."

Edelstein argues that the ignoring of a bylaw raises a school law issue because boards of education must follow procedures set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:11-1(for making, amending, or repealing bylaws) if they intend to act outside the bounds of their present bylaws. Attorney Edelstein argues that the Board was only empowered to make, amend or repeal its bylaws by following N.J.S.A. 18A:11-1 and that any such changes must appear in the Board's minutes. Edelstein says, "That did not occur" on March 1, 2023.

The Respondent does not concede that the Board acted beyond the scope of its bylaws because it simply did not ignore or set aside the bylaw. Instead, the MOBOE acted within the scope of its bylaws. It concedes that advance posting of its intent to invoke the Doctrine of Necessity did not take place before the March 13, 2023 Board meeting. However, the Respondent argues that no advance posting could possibly be made of its decision to invoke the Doctrine of Necessity because the MOBOE only received advice regarding the invocation of the Doctrine of Necessity from its attorney during the actual Board meeting of March 13, 2023. Moreover, the Board did announce that it was invoking the Doctrine of Necessity during the Board Meeting. The Respondent argues that its action was fully in keeping with the wording of Board Policy 0163 for the following reasons because it did announce its decision to invoke the Doctrine of Necessity at its earliest opportunity to do so at the Board meeting to those in attendance;

because the announcement itself constituted the required posting of an agenda;

because there is no requirement in the bylaw for any minimum amount of posting time that must pass before the Board may vote on a matter under the Doctrine of Necessity; and because the very wording of the bylaw allows a posting to be simultaneous with the vote, as demonstrated by the words "for the public meeting in which the matter is to be voted upon.

APPLICABLE LAW

Jurisdiction of the Commissioner of Education

N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9 provides

> The commissioner shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine, without costs to the parties, all controversies and disputes arising under the school laws ....

The New Jersey School Ethics Act

The New Jersey School Ethics Act is found at N.J.S.A. 18A:12-21 through N.J.S.A. 18A:12-34. N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24 sets forth prohibited conduct pertaining to all school officials. The Code of Ethics for School Board Members is found therein at N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1. In addition to the requirements of the School Ethics Act, it imposes additional rules governing the conduct of School Board Members. The establishment of the School Ethics Commission is set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:12-27. The School Ethics Commission's (or "S.E.C.'s") powers and duties are set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:12-28 and -29. The jurisdiction of the School Ethics Commission is set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29 where the statute says that the S.E.C. accepts complaints alleging a violation of the School Ethics Act or of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members. The S.E.C. then determines whether or not probable cause exists to credit the allegations of the complaint. If the S.E.C. determines that probable cause does not exist, then it shall dismiss the complaint. If the S.E.C. determines that probable cause exists, then it shall refer the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL). Once the OAL hears the matter, the S.E.C. determines by majority vote whether the conduct complained of constitutes a violation of the School Ethics Act (i.e., it decides whether to accept or reject the ALJ's Initial Decision). If the S.E.C. finds that a violation has occurred, it shall, by majority vote, recommend a sanction (reprimand, censure, suspension, or removal) to the Commissioner of Education, who then shall act on the S.E.C.'s recommendation regarding the sanction.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

Decision on whether the Commissioner of Education's decision to refer the matter to the OAL manifests a decision on his part that jurisdiction lies with the Commissioner rather than with the School Ethics Commission

While that is true that the Commissioner could have dismissed the Petition of Appeal and the Motion for Emergent Relief if she believed she lacked jurisdiction, the Commissioner was not under any obligation to do so. Her decision to refer the matter to the OAL was proper and, in most cases, the usual course; but her referral does not necessarily decide the question of jurisdiction. To believe otherwise would mean that the issue of determining jurisdiction can never be decided by the OAL. Obviously, that is not true. The parties, in their arguments, have not taken such a position and they have vigorously argued the pros and cons of jurisdiction.

I CONCLUDE that the Commissioner of Education's referral of the matter to the OAL does not manifest a decision on her part that jurisdiction lies with the Commissioner of Education's Office.

Decision as to whether the bylaw's (Board Policy 0163's) requirement for a posting is or is not a school law issue

I have evaluated the arguments of both counsel. Attorney Edelstein's argument is that the Board's alleged ignoring of its own bylaw raises a school law issue because boards of education must follow procedures set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:11-1 (for making, amending, or repealing bylaws) if they wish to act outside the bounds of their present bylaws. This, he argues, is a matter of school law. His purpose is to characterize this matter as a school law case. The Respondent's position is that the thrust of Attorney Edelstein's allegations, indeed his entire case, is that the Board "improperly and in bad faith" invoked the Doctrine of Necessity in order to certify tenure charges against Mr. Zywicki. The Respondent argues that Zywicki's allegations are all School Ethics issues, which belong under the jurisdiction of the School Ethics Commission.

The applicable law was stated by Margaret Monaco, ALJ in Clarissa Gilliam Gardner v. Board of Education of the City of Hackensack, Bergen County and James Montesano, Patricia Aquino-Lozano and Celso King, Agency Docket No. 146-5/12 (2013)

> "The Commissioner's jurisdiction is defined by statute and is limited to controversies and disputes arising under the school laws." N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9. Our courts have held that, "[w]here the controversy does not arise under the school laws, it is outside the Commissioner's jurisdiction even though it may pertain to school personnel." Bd. of Educ. Of E. Brunswick v.Twp. Council of E. Brunswick , 48 N.J. 94, 102 (1966). It is recognized that "the sweep of the Department's interest and the Commissioner's jurisdiction does not extend to all matters involving boards of education." Archway Programs, Inc. v.Pemberton Twsp. Bd. of Educ., 352 N.J. Super. 420, 424-425 (App. Div. 2002).

In my analysis, Attorney Edelstein's words tell it all. By his use of the words, "improperly and in bad faith", Attorney Edelstein makes it clear that he is arguing that the members of the MOBOE engaged in unethical conduct. The issue of whether the MOBOE ignored the bylaw is only part and parcel of the larger ethical claims. Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the allegation that the MOBOE ignored its bylaw does not transform the matter into a school law case.

Decision Regarding Jurisdiction

The Petitioner, Robert Zywicki, submitted his Petition of Appeal and Motion for Emergent Relief and later submitted his supporting Brief and Exhibits to the Office of Controversies and Disputes in the New Jersey Department of Education. Zywicki did not file his papers with the School Ethics Commission (the "S.E.C.").

While the Commissioner of Education has jurisdiction over "all controversies and disputes arising under the school laws", it is also clear that jurisdiction over School Ethics matters belongs with the School Ethics Commission (i.e., that ethics matters are to be initiated by a complaint filed with the S.E.C., not with the Commissioner, and then the S.E.C. decides the threshold issue of probable cause). Zywicki's allegations are that the MOBOE "improperly and in bad faith" invoked the Doctrine of Necessity in order to "manipulate" the vote on the certification of the tenure charges against him. The essence of Zywicki's allegations (bad faith manipulation of who was or was not "conflicted" in order to invoke the Doctrine of Necessity, and bad faith manipulation of the vote certifying tenure charges) is that certain members of the MOBOE acted unethically and conspired to strip him of his position, his compensation and his family's health benefits. Therefore, by his own words, Zywicki states that the matter presents ethical issues rather than school law issues.

Since it is clear that Zywicki himself has characterized this matter as an ethics matter, it follows that pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-28 and 29, jurisdiction lies with the S.E.C. rather that the Commissioner of Education. See Castriotta v. Bd. of Educ. Of Roxbury, EDU-09217-10, Final Decision (May 18, 2011), http://www.nj.gov/education/legal/, rev'd on other grounds, 427 N.J. Super. 592 (App. Div. 2012), where the Commissioner of Education re-affirmed that the "review and adjudication of allegations of Code of Ethics For School Board Members violations is solely within the purview of the School Ethics Commission."

In his filed papers, Zywicki does not raise a valid school law issue; the issues he raises are ethical issues. If this were a matter arising under the school laws, then the Commissioner (and subsequently, at his discretion, the OAL) would have jurisdiction. However, the nature of the allegations, set forth in Zywicki's own words, demonstrates that they are ethical matters and not matters arising under the school laws. As stated above, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-28 and -29 provide that complaints regarding ethical matters fall within the jurisdiction of the S.E.C. rather than the jurisdiction of the Commissioner of Education. I CONCLUDE that jurisdiction belongs with the S.E.C. and Zywicki should have brought his grievance by way of a Complaint filed with the S.E.C. It follows, and I CONCLUDE that this OAL matter, having been transmitted to the OAL by the Commissioner of Education, who lacked jurisdiction, cannot be maintained, and must be DISMISSED for lack of jurisdiction.

Legal Analysis Of The Arguments Concerning The Crowe Factors

Since the matter has been decided on jurisdictional grounds, there is no need for this Tribunal to make an analysis of the Crowe factors.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that Zywicki's Petition of Appeal is DISMISSED and his Motion for Emergent Relief seeking an Order immediately vacating the MOBOE's vote to invoke the Doctrine of Necessity and immediately vacating the MOBOE's certification of the tenure charges brought against Zywicki must be, and hereby is, DENIED; and it is further ORDERED that a copy of this ORDER shall be transmitted by email from the OAL to both attorneys, Stephen J. Edelstein and Joseph L. Roselle, and that receipt of same shall be acknowledged immediately by the attorneys.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who is authorized by law to make the final decision in this case. The final decision shall be issued without delay but no later than forty-five days from the entry of this order. If the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION does not adopt, modify, or reject this order within those forty-five days, this recommended order shall become the final decision on the issue of emergency relief under N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Before Deborah M. Gaines, Esq., Impartial Arbitrator

Decision

THE Lopatcong Township Board of Education (the "Board") certified tenure charges against Suzanne Chew ("Respondent" or "Chew"), a tenured teacher in the Lopatcong Township school district. Tenure Charges alleging various claims incapacity to perform her duties were filed with the Commissioner of Education of the State of New Jersey; the Commissioner received the charges on February 19, 2021. Respondent, by her counsel, Sandford Oxfeld, Esq. filed an Answer with the Commissioner, denying the allegations and asserting various defenses. The Commissioner of Education, having reviewed the Tenure Charges and the Respondent's Answer, determined that the charges were sufficient, if true, to warrant dismissal or reduction in compensation and, therefore, referred the matter to arbitration. These charges were referred to the undersigned Arbitrator on April 13, 2021, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-16, as amended by P.L. 2012, c. 26. A timely request for an extension of time was granted.

The hearing was originally scheduled for August 11, 2021, and at the request of the parties adjourned pending Respondent's attending a fitness for duty examination.

The parties entered settlement discussions and have advised the undersigned there is no longer a controversy at issue as the Respondent.

Final Decision

Board of Trustees of People's Prep Charter School,

Board of Education of the City of Newark, Essex County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the proposed Settlement Agreement (Agreement), and the Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner notes that Paragraph 1 of the Agreement references an immediate effective date for the terms of the settlement; such action, however, preceded the consideration of the settlement by the Commissioner of Education. The parties are reminded that a settlement of litigation before the Commissioner is not binding until the Commissioner approves the settlement.

In light of the foregoing, the Commissioner adopts the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter, provided that the parties have already implemented the settlement terms or have agreed upon mutually satisfactory alternate dates for the effectuation of the terms of the Agreement. Assuming same, the matter is hereby dismissed.

February 22, 2023

The parties agree to resolve their differences in the above referenced matter as follows:

1. Effective immediately, student S.S.'s placement will be at the Essex Valley School, conditioned on Essex Valley School re-confirming acceptance and sending an acceptance letter to the Newark Board of Education. Respondent Newark Board of Education ("NBOE") will assume fiscal and transportation responsibility for the placement per N.J.S.A. 18A:36A-11 and not challenge this initial placement at Essex Valley School.

2. People's Prep Charter School ("PPCS") shall remain S.S.'s local education agency with respect to providing S.S. case management services.

3. A 30-day IEP review of the S.S.'s current program will take place.

4. Continuation of this program will be determined at the annual review.

5. Upon full execution of this Agreement, PPCS will withdraw its petition for due process and request for emergent relief.

6. Al parties will pay for their own attorney's fees and costs.

Decision

S.H. and C.H., on behalf of minor children, C.H., S.H., and S.H.,

Petitioners,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Alloway, Salem County,

Respondent.

On March 26, 2019, a final agency decision was rendered in this matter, wherein the Commissioner found petitioners S.H. and C.H. liable for tuition in the amount of $36,333.60 for a period during the 2017-2018 and 2018-2019 school years in which petitioners' minor children were ineligible to attend school in the Alloway Township school district. The Alloway Township Board of Education (Board) subsequently requested that the Commissioner seek entry of the assessment on the judgment docket of the Superior Court pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2A:58-10.

Petitioners opposed the request, arguing that because the Board has received funds for the children's attendance through State Aid and property taxes, the Board has already collected tuition in full and the assessment should not be entered on the judgment docket. However, N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1b provides for the assessment of tuition against a parent or guardian without regard to any other source of funds received by the district. The Commissioner's decision assessing tuition has been upheld by the Appellate Division and the New Jersey Supreme Court, such that there is no question that petitioners owe tuition to the Board. S.H. and C.H., o/b/o C.H., S.H., and S.H. v. Bd. of Educ. of the Twp. of Alloway, Salem Co., 2022 N.J. Super. Unpub. LEXIS 857 (App. Div. May 20, 2022), cert. denied May 2, 2023. Furthermore, petitioners do not contend that they have personally paid the Board any portion of the amount assessed against them.

Accordingly, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2A:58-10, Stephen Horwell and Christy Horwell are now subject to entry of a judgment by the court in the amount of $36,333.60, which represents the payment ordered by the Commissioner, with interest to accrue as provided by law.

Final Decision

In the Matter of the Suspension of the Teaching Certificate of Jessica Ryan,
Board of Education of the Township of Piscataway, Middlesex County.

Synopsis

The petitioning Board sought the suspension of the teaching certificate of respondent – a non-tenured English teacher – following her resignation without providing the notice required under N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8. Respondent sent a letter to the Board on July 14, 2022, indicating that she was resigning and was providing her 60 days' notice but was also requesting an early release from her contract for the 2022-2023 school year. Respondent was advised by district staff that if a replacement could be found within 60 days, she would be provided early release, but otherwise she should expect to be held to her contractual obligations. When the district was unable to hire a replacement before the start of the school year, the respondent refused to report to work on September 1, 2022. Respondent did not deny these allegations but attempted to explain her early resignation by citing to alleged harassment and other difficulties with her work environment.

Respondent failed to appear at an OAL hearing in this matter scheduled for April 11, 2023, and the case was returned to the DOE without the issuance of a decision. As the party that failed to appear in this case was the respondent – not the petitioner – the Board is entitled to a decision on the merits. The Commissioner therefore deems the allegations contained in the order to show cause to be admitted and further deems them sufficient to justify suspension of respondent's teaching certificates pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8.

Accordingly, the Commissioner granted summary decision to the petitioner, and respondent's teaching certificates were suspended for a period of one year from the filing date of the decision, a copy of which has been forwarded to the State Board of Examiners for implementation of the suspension.

Agency Dkt. No. 261-9/22

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

In the Matter of the Suspension of the Teaching Certificate of Jessica Ryan, Board of Education of the Township of Piscataway, Middlesex County.

This matter was opened before the Commissioner of Education on September 22, 2022, by way of an Order to Show Cause served by petitioner Piscataway Township Board of Education (Board) upon respondent Jessica Ryan, requiring respondent to show cause why an order should not be entered suspending her teaching certificates pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8 for resigning without giving the notice required by law. On November 29, 2022, the Department of Education (DOE) received respondent's answer. The case was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on December 6, 2022.

By notice dated April 19, 2022, and received by the DOE on April 24, 2022, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) advised of respondent's failure to appear at a scheduled hearing in the OAL on April 11, 2023, and indicated that the case was being returned to the DOE. The party that failed to appear in this case, however, was the respondent – not the petitioner. Accordingly, the petitioner remains entitled to a decision on the merits.

The petition and supporting exhibits submitted by petitioner in this matter indicate that: respondent entered into a contract to work as a teacher for the 2022-23 school year; the contract provides that it can be terminated by either party upon sixty days' written notice; on July 14, 2022, respondent sent correspondence indicating that she was resigning and was providing her 60 days' notice but was requesting an early release from her contract; district staff indicated that if a replacement could be found within 60 days, respondent would be provided early release, but otherwise she should expect to be held to her contractual obligation; the district was unable to hire a replacement before the start of the school year; and on August 31, 2022, respondent refused to report to work on September 1, 2022. In her answer, the respondent does not deny these allegations, but only attempts to explain her early resignation by citing to alleged harassment and other difficulties with her work environment. Therefore, the Commissioner deems such allegations to be admitted and further deems them sufficient to justify suspension of respondent's teaching certificates pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8.

Accordingly, summary decision is hereby granted to petitioner, and respondent's teaching certificates are suspended for a period of one year from the filing date of this decision, a copy of which shall be forwarded to the State Board of Examiners for implementation of the suspension.

Order on Emergent Relief

T.H., on behalf of minor child, A.E.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Jersey City, Hudson County,

Respondent.

The record of this emergent matter, the sound recording of proceedings at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the recommended Order of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that petitioner has failed to demonstrate entitlement to emergent relief pursuant to the standards enunciated in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982), and codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6. Accordingly, the recommended Order of the OAL denying petitioner's application for emergent relief is adopted for the reasons stated therein.

However, the ALJ mistakenly indicated in the Order that the New Jersey Department of Education (NJDOE) only transmitted the appeal for emergent relief and that there is no underlying merits application pending. While the NJDOE's transmittal indicated that the petitioner sought emergent relief, it did not indicate that emergent relief was the only issue being transmitted. Nonetheless, to the extent clarification is necessary, the Commissioner deems the petition of appeal to be both a request for emergent relief and a merits petition regarding the issue of A.E.'s transfer.[1] Accordingly, this matter shall continue at the OAL with such proceedings as the parties and the ALJ deem necessary to bring it to closure.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Date of Decision: June 5, 2023

[1] Petitioner's request for a "federal audit in order to physically examine [her] child's records" was not transmitted to the OAL, as the NJDOE is not a federal agency and is therefore without authority to transmit or adjudicate that issue. The Commissioner further notes that a document entitled "OCR Electronic Appeals Form" was attached to the petition of appeal. The ALJ referred to this document as a complaint filed with the "DOE Office of Civil Rights." However, the NJDOE does not have an "Office of Civil Rights" and the only "complaint" filed with the NJDOE was the petition of appeal seeking a federal audit and the transfer of A.E. The NJDOE cannot confirm whether the OCR Electronic Appeals Form was filed with the United States Department of Education, where petitioner was directed to file her complaint based on correspondence from the United States Department of Health and Human Services Office for Civil Rights that was also attached to the petition of appeal, nor would the NJDOE have any authority to transmit a complaint filed with a federal agency to the OAL.

ORDER ON EMERGENT RELIEF
OAL DKT. NO. EDU 03234-23
AGENCY DKT. NO. 99-4/23

T.H. ON BEHALF OF A.E.,
Petitioner,
v.
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF JERSEY CITY, HUDSON COUNTY,
Respondent.

T.H., on behalf of A.E. petitioner pro se

Cherie L. Adams, Esq., for respondent Board of Education of the City of Jersey City (Adams, Gutierrez and Lattiboudere, attorneys)

BEFORE GAIL M. COOKSON, ALJ:

Petitioner T.H. filed a Petition of Appeal with the Department of Education on or about April 14, 2023, seeking emergent relief against the Board of Education of the City of Jersey City (Jersey City or District) in the form of a (1) "federal audit" of her fourteen-year-old daughter A.E.'s records to verify proper academic placement; and, (2) an out-of-district placement for her at Bayonne High School with tuition paid for by Jersey City for alleged failure to implement and execute A.E.'s Section 504 Plan, 34 C.F.R. §104.36.

The State Department of Education, Office of Controversies and Disputes (DOE), transmitted the Application for Emergent Relief to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on or about April 17, 2023. The matter was assigned to the undersigned for oral argument and was scheduled for April 24, 2023. On that date, discussions were held off-the-record, and the matter was continued until April 28, 2023, in order to allow counsel for the District the opportunity to consult with her client because the prior week had been spring break. Oral argument was held on April 28, 2023, and thereafter, I took the emergency petition under advisement.

UNDISPUTED FACTS ON EMERGENT PETITION

1. Petitioner has one daughter, A.E., who is fourteen and is presently in ninth (freshman) grade at James J. Ferris (Ferris) High School. In September, A.E. was accepted into a special Finance Student Learning Center program at Ferris but was not placed in the advanced math class her mother expected her to be.

2. Previously, A.E. attended P.S. 5 and graduated from its eighth grade with a strong academic record.

3. As reported by petitioner, A.E. suffers from severe asthma, migraines, chronic gastro-reflux with a risk of aspiration, a congenital orthopedic disease that makes ambulation and physical activity difficult, and several other medical conditions.

4. At P.S. 5, there was no formal 504 Plan in place or supporting medical documentation for A.E., but petitioner indicated that the nurse and administrators knew how to handle any medical issues that came up. As a result, however, there was no 504 Plan in place to transfer to the high school at the start of the school year.

5. The Ferris 504 team, led by Ethan Norlander, initiated formal 504 Plan considerations and, as medical documentation was submitted, a plan was put in place and then revised twice: November 2022, February 17, and March 15, 2023. Petitioner agreed to each of these 504 Plans.

6. Over the course of those revisions, A.E. was granted an exemption from physical education and sports, an allowance to leave class early, an elevator pass, additional time for tests and assignments, printed copies of lectures or PowerPoint presentations, the right to turn away from computer screens, access to the bathroom without restriction, and referral to the nurse if she had headaches, vomiting, or airway restriction.

7. On April 4, 2023, petitioner filed a separate complaint with the DOE Office of Civil Rights (OCR) alleging a long history of issues with accessing A.E.'s school records, as well as allegations of bullying, racism, "premeditated terrorism," homophobia and other discrimination being directed at her daughter by teachers and administrators. This complaint was not transmitted by DOE and is not before the OAL, but I have deemed it incorporated herein.

8. During oral argument, petitioner reiterated her complaints about a lack of proper grading and/or accountability of A.E.'s work; refusal by administrators and teachers to communicate with her; and asserted some undefined HIPAA violations.

9. Petitioner was concerned that the school nurse did not call her directly on March 31, 2023, when A.E. reported to that office feeling dizzy and nauseous. Instead, A.E. was told to call her mom, who was then put on speaker phone and instructed the nurse to administer the medication as directed by the child's neurologist.

10. This was the only recent[1] incident involving the nurse and A.E. set forth in the OCR complaint which alleged a health safety issue. There is no documentation before me as to any hospitalizations needed by A.E. during this school year, either at the direction of and from the school, or privately from their home during off-school hours.

11. In addition to the communication, schedule, placement, and record issues described above, petitioner's allegations concern her health, her HIPAA rights (only with respect to advising about a conflict with medical and school appointments), her civil rights

[1] Petitioner also set forth that an incident occurred on September 14, 2022, when the school nurse failed to properly execute A.E.'s Asthma Rescue Plan, which plan was apparently not produced by P.S. 5 to Ferris, for which petitioner believed the nurse had a medical obligation to call for an ambulance.

to be free of terroristic and discriminatory threats, and the disrespect shown her by staff, security, and administrators.

LEGAL DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

For the reasons set forth below after due consideration of the written submissions and oral argument received, I CONCLUDE that petitioner's request for emergent relief must be DENIED.

Petitioner's petition for emergent relief may only be granted if she satisfies the well-known factors set for in Crowe v. DeGoia, 90 N.J. 126 (1986), and I determine that the balance of equities favors granting said relief, to wit:

> 1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted;
> 2. The legal right underlying the petitioner's claim is settled;
>
> 3. The petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and
> 4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

The touchstone of emergent relief is whether irreparable harm will befall the petitioning party prior to the ability of a forum or agency to hear the underlying merits. In the within matter, DOE only transmitted the appeal for emergent relief and there is no underlying merits application pending.

Respondent argues that petitioner cannot be granted in the form of a mandatory, unilateral out-of-district placement to another public high school because the relief sought cannot be supported, there is no send-receive relationship between Jersey City and Bayonne, and the requested relief is not justified.

I start with the factor of irreparable harm and CONCLUDE that the removal of A.E. from Ferris High School with less than eight weeks remaining in the school year will be very disrupting to her education and do more harm than good. Certainly, the emergent appeal to have her transferred to Bayonne High School where her mother works, even if Jersey City could be ordered to provide for and pay for such relief, is also unusual and would be disrupting. The assertions by petitioner are replete with incidents that have made her stressed and angry at the school staff and administrators about her child's placement and grades, but the only genuine 504 Plan health safety issue was resolved without hospitalization or apparently any medical follow-up.

Moreover, the Crowe factor of irreparable harm blends with the likelihood of success on the merits in this matter. Other than the allegations that the District has not communicated or cooperated with petitioner throughout the school year, petitioner's main concern on this emergency petition is that her daughter is not safe at the high school because she might stop or have difficulty breathing, and the nurse might not respond with medication and/or actions appropriately and quickly enough. It is clear that A.E. was not denied admission into the special finance program due to her medical disabilities because, in fact, she was admitted. Similarly, there is simply no support in this record that a math placement back in September was determined on the basis of discriminatory considerations. Moreover, a school action taken eight months ago is not an appropriate basis for emergent relief.

The factor of likelihood of success on the merits also favors the District on the issue of the requested relief of an alternative public high school placement. As stated, on April 4, 2023, petitioner filed a separate complaint with the DOE Office of Civil Rights alleging a long history of issues with accessing A.E.'s school records, as well as allegations of bullying, racism, "premeditated terrorism," homophobia and other discrimination being directed at her daughter by teachers and administrators. This complaint was not transmitted by DOE and is not before the OAL, but I have deemed it incorporated herein. Nor does it appear that there are allegations that the District denied A.E. a fair and appropriate public education (FAPE). The same should be said of the present matter. There is no support for petitioner's assertions that A.E.'s schoolwork or grades have been impacted by violation of her 504

Plan. Moreover, if I found that respondent had violated Section 504, the administrative action would be to refer the matter to the OCR for a remedy. 34 C.F.R. § 104.6 (a). Accordingly, on this central concept, petitioner does not have a strong likelihood of success on the merits.

The other Crowe factors require the balance of equities and public interest. These must include the parent's interest in the safety of her child's medical condition and of her daughter's interest in her continued freshman education. At this time and on this record, there is simply too little a basis to mandate a transfer to an out-of-district high school, especially this late in the school year. The single medical incident in March is not evidence of an ongoing emergency or a pattern and practice of failing to abide by A.E.'s 504 Plan.

Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that petitioner's application for emergent relief seeking a federal audit, over which I have no jurisdiction, and a paid transfer to an out-of-district public high school must be denied on this emergent appeal because petitioner has failed to satisfy the Crowe factors. Nevertheless, I take this opportunity to also make the following observations and suggestions. First, petitioner is always free to relocate into another public school district, or to locate and timely apply for access to a charter school or choice school district. Second, it was apparent during the oral argument that emotions have run high and tempers have flared between the parties during the school year.

I can only recommend that the District procure the services of an independent community dispute resolution professional to convene a mediation session(s) where the parent, child, and appropriate school personnel can be encouraged to communicate valid concerns in a safe and productive space. The District could also diffuse some of petitioner's concerns by assuring that all tests, assignments, grades, and reports are accessible to her, if not already, and that A.E. is receiving all lesson materials in accessible formats. I would also remind petitioner that discourse is better heard when conveyed politely, and action is more likely at the local school level than to involve every person in the district and county-wide education bureaucracy.[2]

ORDER

ACCORDINGLY, it is ORDERED that petitioner's application for emergent relief is and the same is hereby DENIED.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who/which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five days following the entry of this order. If the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Final Decision

In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Tracie Sims, School District of the City of East Orange, Essex County.

For the Petitioner, Ramon E. Rivera, Esq.

No appearance by or on behalf of Respondent, Tracie Sims

This matter was opened before the Commissioner of Education on April 19, 2023, through tenure charges of unbecoming conduct and other just cause certified by AbdulSaleem Hasan, Superintendent of the East Orange School District ("District"), together with supporting evidence against respondent, Tracie Sims, a tenured teacher in the District's employ. The District provided respondent with written notice of such certification at the respondent's current known address, via UPS Next Day Air. The District also provided a copy of the certification to respondent's attorney, via email.

On April 21, 2023, the Commissioner issued a notice to respondent's attorney via email, directing respondent to file an answer to the charges. This communication provided notice to respondent that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.3 and 6A:3-5.4, an individual against whom tenure charges are certified "shall have 15 days from the day such charges are filed with the Commissioner to file a written response to the charges with the Commissioner," and that failure to answer within the prescribed period would – absent granting of an extension for good cause shown – result in the charges being deemed admitted. On May 15, 2023, the Commissioner sent a second email to respondent's attorney. No reply to the tenure charges has been received from or on behalf of the respondent.

The certified tenure charges and statement of supporting evidence filed by the District in this matter indicate that the respondent was employed by the District as a tenured teacher. The tenure charges indicate that during a conversation with a student, respondent grabbed the student and shoved her against a group of lockers; after respondent released the student and the student began to walk away, respondent struck the student in the back of her head. The District's filing includes video surveillance footage showing the incident.

Deeming the allegations to be admitted and noting that the respondent has failed to respond to the charges certified against her before the Commissioner, the Commissioner finds that the District's charge of unbecoming conduct has been proven and overwhelmingly warrants the respondent's dismissal. Accordingly, summary decision is hereby granted to the District, and the respondent is dismissed from her tenured position with the East Orange School District.

Introduction

This matter arises from tenure charges against Respondent Celeste Thatcher of incompetency, inefficiency, conduct unbecoming and other sufficient cause by the New Jersey Department of Corrections Edna Mahan Correctional Facility (the Department) and a March 31, 2023 referral of the tenure charges to the undersigned by the New Jersey Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes pursuant to P.L. 2112, c. 26.

The Tenure Charges

In its nine Tenure Charges against Respondent the Department asserted that Respondent engaged in: (1) Incompetency, inefficiency, failure to perform duties; (2) Conduct unbecoming a public employee; (3) Neglect of duty; (4) Other sufficient cause; (5) Neglect of duty, loafing, idleness or willful failure to devote attention to tasks which would not result in danger to persons or property; (6) Failure or excessive delay carrying out an order which would not result in danger to persons or property; (7) Incompetence or inefficiency; (8) Falsification: Intentional misstatement of material fact in connection with work, employment application, attendance, or in any record, report, investigation or other proceeding; and (9) Conduct unbecoming a public employee.[1] The Department asserted that due to the severity of the conduct alleged the Department sought removal of Respondent.

Respondent Thatcher filed a timely answer to charges denying the Department's Tenure Charges.

[1] Charges 1 - 4 reference N.J.A.C. 4A:2-2.3(a), and charges 5 - 9 reference H.R.B. 84-17 as amended.

Settlement

The hearing in this matter began on June 9, 2023 via Zoom, at which time the parties notified the undersigned of their proposed settlement of the Charges, the terms of which settlement were stated on the record. The parties provided the undersigned a copy of their fully executed Settlement Agreement for my review and approval.

At the June 9, 2023 hearing the Respondent, Celeste Thatcher, testified under oath that she read and reviewed the terms of the Settlement Agreement with counsel, and that she understood the terms of, and freely entered into, the Settlement Agreement. The Settlement Agreement (attached) settles all of the outstanding charges filed against Respondent by the Department, the Settlement Agreement – executed by all parties - reflects that Respondent entered into the Agreement with a full understanding of her rights; and that each party consented to the Settlement.[2] Additionally, the Settlement Agreement reflects the approval of the Agreement by the Department as indicated by the signature of Department of Corrections Legal Specialist Kathleen Krieger, Esquire, on behalf of the NJ Department of Corrections (the Department).

Approval of the Settlement is in the public interest as the parties have voluntarily entered into the Settlement and its approval avoids the expenditure of limited public resources.

[2] At the June 9, 2023 hearing, Counsel for the Department represented that Respondent's obligation under paragraph B of the Settlement "...to retire within thirty (30) days..." has already been satisfied by Respondent, as: (a) the Settlement contemplates only that Respondent will apply for retirement within the referenced 30-day time period and (b) Respondent, as of the date of the hearing, had already applied for retirement.

Based upon such considerations. I find that the Settlement meets the standards established by the State Board of Education in the matter of In re Cardonick. State Board Decision of April 6, 1983 (1990 School Law Decisions (S.L.D.) 842, 846).

Conclusion

The Settlement of the instant Tenure Charges is Approved.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education
Decision

T.Y. and A.Y., on behalf of minor child, S.Y.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Gateway Regional High School District, Gloucester County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioners disputed the respondent Board's finding that their daughter, S.Y., committed an act of harassment, intimidation or bullying (HIB) against a fellow student pursuant to New Jersey's Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.2 et seq (the Act). After an investigation by the school's anti-bullying specialist, the Board determined that S.Y. had committed an act of HIB against B.B. when she made racial comments that were reasonably perceived to be motivated by B.B.'s African American ancestry. The petitioners sought to reverse the Board's HIB determination, contending that the determination was arbitrary, unreasonable, and in disregard of the circumstances surrounding the alleged HIB incidents. The Board asserted that S.Y.'s conduct satisfied all of the elements of the statutory definition of HIB under the Act and must therefore be upheld, as its actions were not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: an action by a board of education is entitled to a presumption of correctness unless it is proven to be arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable; under the Act, "harassment, intimidation, or bullying" is broadly defined as any gesture, any written, verbal, or physical act, or any electronic communication that is reasonably perceived as motivated by any actual or perceived distinguishing characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical, or sensory disability, that takes place on school property and substantially disrupts the orderly operation of the school; in the instant case, S.Y.'s actions constituted HIB as the term is defined by law; her racial comment at the lunch table and her injection of race into an encounter with B.B. in a crowded hallway were reasonably perceived by B.B. to be motivated by the distinguishing characteristic of race; the incidents occurred on school property during the regular school day and substantially interfered with the rights of another student; B.B. left the lunchroom upset and her reaction to S.Y.'s comments disrupted her next class to the extent that she had to be removed from class by her teacher. The ALJ concluded that the petitioners failed to meet their burden to prove that the Board's actions in determining that S.Y. committed acts of HIB against B.B. were arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable; accordingly, the Board's HIB determination was affirmed, and the petition was dismissed.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that the Board did not act in an arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable manner in rendering its HIB determination. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL was adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition was dismissed.

T.Y. AND A.Y. ON BEHALF OF S.Y.,

Petitioners,

v.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE GATEWAY REGIONAL HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT, GLOUCESTER COUNTY,

Respondent.

Jeremiah J. Atkins, Esq., for petitioners (Hoffman and DiMuzio, attorneys)

Kelli A. Prinz, Esq., for respondent (D'Arcy Johnson Day, P.C., attorneys)

Record Closed: April 3, 2023 Decided: May 4, 2023

BEFORE KATHLEEN M. CALEMMO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioners, T.Y. and A.Y., challenged the determination of respondent, the Gateway Regional High School District Board of Education, (the Board) that their daughter, S.Y. engaged in behavior statutorily defined as harassment, intimidation, and bullying (HIB). Petitioners maintained that the respondent failed to consider the behavior of the alleged victim and compared the situation to a conflict between students rather than an act of HIB. Petitioners maintained that the Board's determination was arbitrary, unreasonable, and in utter disregard of the circumstances before it and must be reversed.

The Board replied that its actions complied with all the procedural mandates of the statute and its regulations. The Board further maintained that because its actions were not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable, its determination must be upheld.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner filed a petition of appeal with the Commissioner of Education (the Commissioner) on April 5, 2022. After respondent filed its answer, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on May 10, 2022.

A plenary hearing was conducted via Zoom platform on December 20, 2022. After receipt of the closing summations on April 3, 2023, the record closed.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS

TESTIMONY

Petitioners

S.Y. is currently a tenth-grade student at Gateway. At the beginning of nineth grade, S.Y.'s friend O. asked if B.B. could sit at their lunch table and everyone agreed. B.B. was new, but she was friends with O.

S.Y. stated that when things did not go B.B.'s way, B.B. would say it was racially motivated. B.B. called the other girls racists. S.Y. described everyone else at the table getting ice cream and B.B. commented after not getting any that it was because she is black. After calling the other girls racist, she usually laughed. S.Y. did not take it seriously, and B.B. never appeared upset. B.B. would also call her "cracker." She would just say "cracker" over and over for no reason, but always seemed to be joking because she would be laughing. S.Y. laughed along and claimed it did not bother her at first, but it started to when it turned serious.

The first incident occurred when they were leaving history class and walking to physics class. S.Y. was annoyed because middle school students were blocking the hallway. B.B. asked her if she was mad. When S.Y. said she was, B.B. asked her if it was because "I'm black" and S.Y. answered "yes" jokingly because that was the nature of their relationship. S.Y. described that comment as B.B.'s usual response to everything. S.Y.'s yes answer was sarcastic. She said it to appease B.B. and make her stop asking. During her interview, S.Y. told this to Ms. Little and Mr. Raba.

S.Y. also recalled the lunchtime finger incident. S.Y.'s friend, C., sent a picture of her bruised finger to S.Y. via Snap Chat application on her cell phone. S.Y. showed the picture of the bruised finger to the girls at the lunch table. When S.Y. said that C.'s finger was black and blue, B.B. chimed in with "like me." S.Y. sarcastically answered "yes, like you." She never said it's black like B.B. S.Y. claimed it was B.B. who brought race into the conversation. According to S.Y., the mood at the table was happy, B.B. was laughing when she made her comment. After B.B. made the comment and S.Y. sarcastically responded, B.B. left the table but she came back laughing.

After these incidents, S.Y. and B.B. only saw each other in class, everyone from the lunch table moved to different tables.

All the girls at the table had been friends before B.B. started sitting at their lunch table. They never used the term "cracker" until B.B. joined the group. S.Y. claimed that B.B. used the term first, but then they all used it. Prior to her statement during this investigation, S.Y. never reported that the term "cracker" was being said at her lunch table.

T.Y. testified that after conversations with his daughter, he felt the HIB determination was wrong. He requested a meeting with Dr. Pierro, Mr. Raba, and Ms. Little. During the meeting, he took contemporaneous notes. (P-3.) He was surprised by Mr. Raba's statement that even though S.Y. had no malicious intent, her statements were offensive to another student. T.Y. was also confused by the administrations' lack of reaction when they were informed of the racial comments being made at the lunch table. After months of engaging in this behavior, how were the girls to know when the joking stopped, and the comments became HIB?

Respondents

S.J. is B.B.'s mother. B.B. had just started school at Gateway at the beginning of the year. The family had moved from Camden; this was B.B.'s first year in a new school district.

S.J. had never heard B.B. mention S.Y.'s name until the incident. S.J. knew that the girls sat in the same group at lunch because B.B. said she did not want her lunch moved because of this incident. B.B. sat at this table because it is where her friend O. sat. B.B. had told her mother about two incidents where S.Y. had made comments to her about the color of her skin, which upset her. B.B. told her that S.Y. referred to another girl's black and blue finger as the color of B.B. and made a comment referring to being angry and being black.

Although B.B. was hurt by these comments, she did not have any difficulty going to school and her grades did not suffer. It can be a struggle for B.B. being a minority student, but S.J. attempted to reassure her daughter that she is beautiful. Her daughter does not like to talk about the incident.

S.J. had no knowledge of any racially related comments made by her daughter. Had she known, S.J. would not have condoned it. The school district kept her informed of the investigation but never mentioned anything about B.B. making racial comments.

Aimee Little is the Anti-Bullying Specialist (ABS) at Gateway Regional High School. She has served in that capacity since 2011. As the ABS, Ms. Little must be familiar with the Anti-Bullying Act, its regulations, and the Board's HIB Policy 5512. She also served as the primary investigator for HIB complaints.

The first time that Ms. Little met B.B. was during her investigation. She only knew of S.Y. because of a previous investigation that she conducted.

Ms. Little was made aware of the incident after school hours on a Friday by the vice principal, Mr. Raba, who received an email that B.B.'s teacher removed her from English class because she was upset.

The first step in any investigation is to secure the principal's approval. After the principal's approval, Ms. Little and Mr. Raba, working as a team, conduct the investigation. Mr. Raba asks the questions and Ms. Little types the answers on her computer. Ms. Little also observes the body language of the student being interviewed. The school instituted an online anonymous reporting system called "Stop It."

B.B. filed a "Stop It" report which was reviewed prior to her interview. She reported two primary incidents. The first one occurred on a Wednesday during a change of class when the hallway was crowded with students. B.B. was walking near S.Y., who was agitated by the crowds. B.B. asked her why she was so mad. According to B.B., S.Y. responded, "Shut up. That's why you're Black." Then on Friday during lunch, while a group of four students were looking at a picture of another girl's very black and blue finger, B.B. reported that S.Y. stated, "Look, it's black and blue like you, B.B."

According to Ms. Little, B.B. was not comfortable retelling this story. She was sitting on the edge of her seat and gripping her chair. Ms. Little described B.B. as being upset.

Part of the process is to identify the parties who witnessed the event. For the hallway incident, the parties were just S.Y. and B.B. Although the hallway was crowded with students, B.B. did not think anyone heard S.Y.'s comment. In the lunchroom there were four students sitting at the table when the comment was made. All four girls were interviewed.

After B.B., O. was the first witness interviewed. O.'s recollection matched B.B.'s. O. said that S.Y. referenced the bruised finger as being the same color as B.B.'s skin. This comment upset O., and she got up and left the table. She stated that she was shocked by the comment and did not know how to respond.

The questions posed to O. were generic. She was only told that there was a report on "Stop It" about an incident that occurred on Friday at the lunch table. O. easily recalled the bruised finger and volunteered S.Y.'s comment. In response to the question of how it made O. feel, she said upset and shocked and stated that B.B. was also upset.

J. was the other witness at the table, but she had little recollection. She recalled that people at the table looked upset. However, she also recalled laughter. After hearing B.B. calling S.Y. a racist, J. said that both girls were laughing. J. described B.B. as agitated and talking loudly. In response to a question of whether the laughter stemmed from joking and being funny or nervous laughter, J. thought B.B.'s laughter sounded more like nervous laughter.

S.Y. was the last girl interviewed. Her recollection of the comments about the picture differed from O. and B.B. S.Y. attributed the racial comment about the finger to being made by B.B.'s who asked, "black like me" and S.Y. responded "yes." Ms. Little did not judge whether S.Y.'s comment was sarcastic or mean spirited.

S.Y. also recalled the hallway incident. She was annoyed by students blocking access as she walked to her next classroom. B.B. asked her if she was mad because B.B. is black and she responded yes, because you are black. The perception of this incident between the two girls was different.

S.Y. also volunteered that B.B. calls her a "cracker" but it did not bother her.

After S.Y.'s interview, Ms. Little and Mr. Raba had a second interview with B.B. They specifically asked B.B. about the "cracker" reference. B.B. admitted to using that term and to all the girls saying it at the lunch table. B.B. denied ever discussing her race with S.Y. B.B. admitted that all the girls joke about race at the lunch table. She also recalled the incident where she said that everyone got ice cream except the black girl. B.B. was upset about the ice cream but she did not want to make a big deal about it. She acknowledged saying "that's because I'm black" but only to her friend O.

These four interviews comprised the totality of the investigation. The next step in the investigation was to review the statements in the context of the HIB criteria. In this instance, race was a motivating factor, the incidents occurred at school and disrupted B.B.'s school day by her removal from class. The incident met all the HIB criteria. After determining that the HIB criteria were satisfied, the findings were presented to the principal, Dr. Pierro, for his review and assessment.

As the ABS, Ms. Little wrote the HIB report. Her report was reviewed by the principal, Dr. Pierro and the superintendent, Dr. Whalen. After their approval, the report went to the Board for final approval.

Part of the interviews was to learn about the relationship among the girls, who sat together at the lunch table. B.B. stated that she was only close friends with O. With regards to the other girls, including S.Y., B.B. stated that they follow each other on social media, but do not see each other outside of school.

Ms. Little clarified that B.B. did not want to change her lunch table because she wanted to be with O. She was fearful that she would be moved from the lunch table and lose her only friend at the school. Ms. Little believed that because of this fear, B.B. downplayed the incident and how it made her feel.

Ms. Little receives annual training in conflicts versus bullying.

Louis C. Raba has been in public education for almost thirty years. He started his career as a teacher and for the last twenty years, he has been a school administrator. He has served as the assistant principal of Gateway Regional High School for the past seven years. He also serves as the Anti-Bullying Coordinator (ABC) for the district. Mr. Raba is a certified anti-bullying coordinator through New Jersey Public Schools Administrators (NJPSA). He attends yearly workshops on HIB investigations.

Before the incident in December 2021, Mr. Raba had no previous interaction with B.B. S.Y. had been a student at Gateway since seventh grade. Mr. Raba had never met her personally but knew she had a prior HIB violation during eighth grade.

Mr. Raba was alerted about the incident by another assistant principal, who sent him an email saying that B.B. was very upset about a racial comment made by S.Y., during the school day. B.B. was sent to his office and Mr. Raba briefly met with her that afternoon. When B.B. came into the office, she was crying. Because the timing was so close to dismissal, Mr. Raba asked her to go onto the "Stop It" platform and report what happened. Later that same day, B.B.'s mother called him to make sure he knew that her daughter was upset and asked what was going to be done.

On Monday, December 13, 2021, the guidance counselor helped B.B. complete the "Stop It" report. The "Stop It" report generates notification to the administration to begin the investigation process. Mr. Raba explained how he works as a team with the ABA, Ms. Little. At the conclusion of the interview, the student is asked to read their statement to make sure that it was transcribed correctly and accurately reflected their words. The students are encouraged to cross out words or make changes to the statement, if needed.

Mr. Raba recalled that B.B. did not consider S.Y. a close friend. They do not see each other outside of school. They do not text one another. B.B. stated that on multiple occasions S.Y. has said hurtful things to her. One of the incidents involved a situation when the girls were leaving class and walking in the hall. Mr. Raba and Ms. Little could not find any witnesses to the hallway exchange and relied on B.B.'s and S.Y.'s statements. The other issue occurred at the lunch table. The girls were looking at a picture of another girl's bruised finger and S.Y. allegedly commented that the finger was black like B.B. There were two other girls present during the incident involving the finger.

B.B. appeared distressed and uncomfortable during her interview. They gave B.B. the option of changing her lunch table but B.B. refused. She wanted to continue to have lunch with O., who was her only friend in the school.

S.Y. was also interviewed. The best way that Mr. Raba could explain S.Y.'s comments was that the context was completely different from the way B.B. described it. The topic was the same, but the verbiage used by the girls was very different.

S.Y. alleged that B.B. called her a "cracker." The use of the term was discussed but no HIB investigation was initiated. It was described that there were multiple girls at the table, including B.B., using the term to describe each other. Mr. Raba gave S.Y.'s parents the opportunity to request a HIB investigation over the use of the word "cracker" but they declined. S.Y. reported that the term was used at the table but that it did not bother her. The first mention of the girls at this lunch table using the term "cracker" was made by S.Y. during this HIB investigation.

Before determining that the matter between B.B. and S.Y. constituted a HIB, Mr. Raba and Ms. Little analyzed all three key components of the Anti-Bullying Act. The first component requires a distinguishing characteristic. This was met because the comments involved B.B.'s race. The second component, a disruption to the student's school day, was met. B.B. was so upset she had to be removed from class and sent to the assistant principal's office. Any time that a student is crying in a classroom and the teacher acknowledges it, there is a disruption to the learning environment. The third component involved whether the alleged behavior occurred. The determination was that certain things were said to B.B. involving her race that offended her and caused her distress.

The investigation consisted of four student interviews. The determination that the conduct constituted HIB was a collaborative decision involving Mr. Raba, Ms. Little, and the school principal, Mr. Pierro. The superintendent makes the final approval before it is sent to the Board.

The use of inappropriate language is a code of conduct violation. None of the girls were disciplined for a code of conduct violation for their talk at the lunch table. S.Y. was disciplined for a violation of HIB.

Jeffrey Pierro is in his eighth year as the principal of Gateway Regional High School. Dr. Pierro is familiar with the Board's HIB policy and the district's code of conduct policy. Although Dr. Pierro is familiar with HIB investigations, his role is to review the investigation report, discuss its findings with Mr. Raba and Ms. Little, and make the determination.

Dr. Pierro was present at a meeting with S.Y.'s father. He recalled that Mr. Y. disagreed with the results because he thought the situation was more of a back and forth among the girls. Dr. Pierro disagreed.

There was a discussion among Dr. Pierro, Mr. Raba, and Ms. Little about the use of the term "cracker" by the girls at the lunch table. Although such language was inappropriate, none of the girls reported it as offensive. All the students at the table could have been disciplined for a code of conduct violation but under the circumstances herein, no discipline was instituted against any of the girls for the use of the word "cracker."

Shannon Whalen is the superintendent of Gateway Regional, Westfield School District, and Notional Park School District. Dr. Whalen is familiar with the Board's 5512 HIB Policy and the District's code of conduct.

Generally, Dr. Whalen reviews HIB reports to make sure the required information is provided, and the procedures have been followed. However, after learning of the concerns of S.Y.'s father, Dr. Whalen discussed the matter with Dr. Pierro, Mr. Raba, and Ms. Little. She supported their findings and recommendations.

Dr. Whalen informed S.Y.'s family that they were welcome to attend the Board meeting in executive session and present any information they wanted the Board to consider. At the conclusion of the meeting, the Board held the matter so they could hear from the alleged victim's family. The Board's personnel committee held a zoom meeting with B.B.'s mother and thereafter rendered their decision to uphold the HIB determination at the January meeting.

Although Dr. Whalen played no role in the investigation, she did review the student summaries. When asked about B.B.'s alleged racial comments, Dr. Whalen said she recalled that statements were made by all the girls at the lunch table that were inappropriate. However, she had no concern about how the investigation was conducted.

Having heard the testimony presented at the hearing, and having reviewed the documentary evidence, I FIND:

On December 10, 2021, B.B. was removed from class by her teacher because she was upset. B.B.'s teacher, Jill Reichman reported to Assistant Principal, Dana DeGeorge that B.B. was upset because another student, S.Y., made racial comments to her. Ms. DeGeorge alerted Mr. Raba by email of the incident and sent B.B. to his office. (J-1.)

When B.B. appeared in Mr. Raba's office, she was crying. As it was near dismissal, Mr. Raba advised B.B. to make her report on "Stop It." B.B. was still upset when she got home, prompting her mother to call Mr. Raba.

On December 13, 2021, B.B., with the help of a guidance counselor, reported the incidents on "Stop It." All HIB incidents are referred to Ms. Little, the school's ABS and Mr. Rapa, the ABC, for investigation.

B.B. reported two incidents. The first incident occurred on December 8, 2021, as the students were walking in a crowded hallway between class periods. B.B. asked an agitated S.Y. why she was so angry. According to B.B., S.Y. told her to "shut up" and made a comment about her race. According to S.Y., B.B. asked her if she was angry because B.B. is black. No other student witnessed this exchange.

The second incident occurred on Friday, December 10, 2021, in the cafeteria, at the lunch table. S.Y. displayed a picture of a friend's finger that was badly bruised. There were two witnesses present at the lunch table. O. corroborated B.B.'s statement that S.Y. said the finger was turning black like B.B. Neither of the two witnesses corroborated S.Y.'s version. J. did not recall the finger conversation but corroborated that B.B. called S.Y. a racist.

The incident at the lunch table caused B.B. to be so upset that her teacher removed her from class and contacted an assistant principal. The assistant principal sent B.B. to the ABC's office. When B.B. returned home, her mother witnessed how affected she was by the incident and her mother contacted Mr. Raba, the ABC.

After the interviews of the four students, Ms. Little prepared the Investigative Findings Report Form. (J-3.) The incident was verbally reported to Mr. Raba on December 10, 2021, and reported on "Stop It" on December 13, 2021, which was the date the investigation began. The alleged victim B.B. is an African American female in ninth grade. The alleged offender S.Y. is a Caucasian female in ninth grade. The two incidents occurred during the school day and on school property. "Race" was deemed the motivational factor for the two HIB incidents.

The school principal, Jeffrey Pierro, reviewed the report and approved the HIB determination on December 17, 2021, and sent the report to the superintendent. A meeting occurred on December 20, 2021, with S.Y.'s father, Dr. Pierro, Mr. Raba, and Ms. Little in attendance. On December 21, 2021, Superintendent of Schools, Shannon M. Whalen, sent a letter to the parents of S.Y., informing them that the district investigation had concluded that S.Y. had engaged in conduct that fell under the definition of HIB, based on the perceived characteristic of race with the consequence of a one day in-school suspension. They were informed of their right to appeal the administration's determination to the Board. (J-5.)

On December 22, 2021, the petitioners requested a hearing before the Board to appeal the HIB determination. On January 5, 2022, in executive session, the Board heard the petitioner's appeal. At the conclusion of the hearing, the Board adjourned the meeting so it could hear testimony from the alleged victim's mother. The Board reconvened in executive session at its next regularly scheduled meeting. After hearing from and questioning the alleged victim's mother via Zoom platform, the Board voted to affirm the district's finding that S.Y.'s conduct constituted an act of HIB.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

In accordance with the Anti-Bullying Law, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14, HIB is defined as:

> [A]ny gesture, any written, verbal or physical act . . . whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic such as race, color . . . or by any > other distinguishing characteristic . . . that takes place on school property . . . substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:

> a. a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging a student's property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;
>
> c. creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or be severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.

In accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.7, Gateway developed, adopted, and implemented HIB Policy 5512 that mirrors the above statute. (J-4 at 014-105.)

I CONCLUDE that S.Y.'s actions constituted HIB as that term is defined by law. Her racial comment at the lunch table and injecting race into her encounter with B.B. in the crowded hallway were "reasonably perceived" by B.B. as being motivated by race, a "distinguishing characteristic." The incidents occurred on school property during the regular school day. S.Y.'s racial comments substantially interfered with the rights of another student. B.B. left the lunchroom upset and her physical reaction to S.Y.'s comments disrupted her next class to the extent that she had to be removed from class by her teacher. The racial statements could reasonably be perceived as offensive, insulting, and demeaning.

The regulations that accompany and amplify the requirements of the Anti-Bully Law state that consequences for students found to have violated the HIB policy should be "varied and graded according to the nature of the behavior . . . and the student's history of problem behaviors and performance." N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.7(a)(2)(vi)(1). I CONCLUDE that the actions of school personnel relative to this incident were consistent with the letter and spirit of N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14 and N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.7. S.Y. was not a chronic troublemaker, and no one contends otherwise. But her comments were offensive, insulting, and unkind, and the school district's response was designed to redirect her behavior in a measured manner while recognizing this was a second offense.

Petitioners disagree, urging that the actions of the Board were unfair and one-sided. The Commissioner will not overturn the decision of a local board in the absence of a finding that the action below was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. T.B.M. v. Moorestown Bd. of Educ., EDU 2780-07, Initial Decision (February 6, 2008), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/> (citing Thomas v. Morris Twp. Bd. of Educ., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965), aff'd, 46 N.J. 581(1966)). The Commissioner will not substitute his judgment for that of the board of education, whose exercise of its discretion may not be disturbed unless shown to be "patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Kopera v. W. Orange Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960). Our courts have held that "[w]here there is room for two opinions, action is not arbitrary or capricious when exercised honestly and upon due consideration, even though it may be believed that an erroneous conclusion has been reached." Bayshore Sewage Co. v. Dep't of Envtl. Prot., 122 N.J. Super. 184, 199-200 (Ch. Div. 1973), aff'd, 131 N.J. Super. 37 (App. Div. 1974). Thus, to prevail, the petitioner must demonstrate that the Board acted in bad faith, or in utter disregard of the circumstances before it. T.B.M., EDU 2780-07. It is a weighty burden; one which I CONCLUDE these petitioners have not met. This record has presented me with no evidence that would suggest that the actions of this Board, or its personnel, were taken in bad faith or in utter disregard of the circumstances presented.

Nor has the petitioner convinced me that the Board, through its administration, was biased or unfair to S.Y. in its investigation. The investigation was procedurally compliant with the requirements of N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.7. Districts are required by law to adopt comprehensive policies prohibiting HIB and outlining expectations for student behavior; setting forth consequences for inappropriate behavior; and creating procedures for reporting HIB related concerns. Id. A school anti-bullying specialist must be assigned to each school, and the results of the HIB investigation shared with the Superintendent of Schools. The results of each investigation must likewise be shared with the Board of Education. Parents are entitled to receive information about the investigation, in writing, within five school days after the results of the investigation have been reported to the board. The parent may request a hearing before the board, to be conducted within ten days of the request. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6). Comprehensive regulations promulgated by the Department of Education further guide districts in complying with these statutory requirements. N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.7.

School personnel promptly responded to B.B.'s HIB complaint; began their investigation within one day; and completed it within ten school days, as required by law. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(a). T.Y. urged that the initial investigation of the complaint against his daughter failed to take into consideration the racial comments made by B.B. However, S.Y. freely admitted that she was not offended by B.B. calling her a "cracker" or any of the racial comments allegedly made by the students at the lunch table. B.B. was not only the new student, but she was also the only African American student at this lunch table. She sat at this table because she was clinging to her one and only friend at her new school. O., who was also friends with S.Y., corroborated B.B.'s interview statement and S.Y.'s racial comment. O. also told the investigators how the statement made her feel, lending credence to B.B.'s distress. O. stated she was so uncomfortable she got up and walked away. Even J. acknowledged to the investigators that B.B.'s laughter could have been nervous laughter. S.Y.'s interview and testimony appeared to deflect from her own conduct to portray B.B. as the instigator of her own distress. B.B.'s conduct away from the lunch table, apart from S.Y., and in her next class, demonstrated the harmful continuing affect that the comment caused her. B.B.'s distress caused her teacher to remove her from class and send her to the ABC to report a racial incident.

Petitioners argued that the decision in W.D. & J. v. Bd. of Educ. of Jefferson, 2020 N.J. Super. Unpub. LEXIS 1787, was like the situation between S.Y., B.B., and the other girls at the lunch table. I disagree. The girls in W.D. were all playing the same game, while texting in iMessage "group chat" outside of school. It appeared that this group of friends were of diverse ethnic backgrounds. The "pretend fight" they were engaging in was vulgar, crude, and inappropriate. After one of the participants used the "N-word" the game ended, leaving one of the participants, G.D., in tears. The ensuing HIB investigation did not find any disruption or interference with the school day or the rights of other students. The incident was deemed a conflict because the girls had been mutually engaged and fully involved in using inappropriate, abhorrent, and egregious language as a game. The use of the "N-word" stemmed from this deplorable game where everyone had been an equal and willing participant. In addition, after the episode, G.D. appeared unaffected. The friendship among the group and the mutuality of the conduct sets the case, herein, apart from the scenario in W.D.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing, I ORDER that the appeal be DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

In the Matter of the Suspension of the Teaching Certificates of Julia Hinlicky, Board of Trustees of the Camden's Promise Charter School, Camden County.

This matter was opened before the Commissioner of Education on February 22, 2023, by way of an Order to Show Cause served by petitioner (Camden's Promise Charter School) upon respondent (Julia Hinlicky), requiring respondent to show cause why an order should not be entered suspending her teaching certificates pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8 for resigning without giving the notice required by law. By notice dated March 7, 2023, the Office of Controversies and Disputes (Office) acknowledged proof that the Order to Show Cause had been served upon respondent and directed respondent to answer within 20 days.

No answer having yet been received, on May 9, 2023, the Office sent respondent a second and final notice – via certified and regular mail, and email – directing that she must file an answer within ten days. The notice advised that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(e), failure to answer would cause each allegation in petitioner's papers to be deemed admitted and might result in summary decision by the Commissioner. On May 19, 2023, the Office received a letter from respondent, stating that she does not feel the need to defend her decision to leave her teaching position as it was the right decision for her and her family.

The petition and supporting exhibits submitted by petitioner in this matter indicate that: respondent entered into a contract to work as a teacher for the 2022-23 school year; the contract provides that it can be terminated by either party upon sixty days' written notice; and on January 24, 2023, respondent sent correspondence indicating that she was resigning, effective February 10, 2023, thereby providing less than the required 60 days' notice. The respondent has not denied these allegations; therefore, the Commissioner deems such allegations to be admitted pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(e) and further deems them sufficient to justify suspension of respondent's teaching certificates pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8.

Accordingly, summary decision is hereby granted to petitioner, and respondent's teaching certificates are suspended for a period of one year from the filing date of this decision, a copy of which shall be forwarded to the State Board of Examiners for implementation of the suspension.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[1]

Order on Emergent Relief

A.I., on behalf of N.I.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Ocean, Monmouth County,

Respondent.

The record of this emergent matter, the sound recording of proceedings at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the recommended Order of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that petitioner has failed to demonstrate entitlement to emergent relief pursuant to the standards enunciated in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982), and codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6.

Accordingly, the recommended Order of the OAL denying petitioner's application for emergent relief is adopted for the reasons stated therein. This matter shall continue at the OAL with such proceedings as the parties and the ALJ deem necessary to bring it to closure.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

A.I. ON BEHALF OF N.I.,
Petitioner,
v.
OCEAN TOWNSHIP BOARD OF EDUCATION
Respondent.

A.I., petitioner, pro se

Michael J. Gross, Esq., for respondent (Kenney, Gross, Kovacs & Parton, attorneys)

BEFORE: WILLIAM T. COOPER III, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

A.I. (petitioner) brings an action for emergent relief against the Board of Education of the Township of Ocean (respondent) challenging the imposition of a long-term suspension from school from March 9, 2023, to June 20, 2023, against her minor child, N.I. and seeking his immediate reinstatement. The suspension imposed by respondent was because of N.I.'s involvement in incidents that occurred on March 2 and 3, 2023, against other students.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On April 18, 2023, a formal hearing was conducted by respondent pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a)(10). On April 19, 2023, respondent provided a written determination of discipline imposed against N.I. On April 25, 2023, the petitioner filed a request for emergent relief at the Department of Education Office of Controversies and Disputes (OCD) challenging the discipline imposed and seeking the immediate reinstatement of N.I. On April 27, 2023, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case seeking emergent relief for petitioner. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

Oral argument regarding the application for emergent relief was conducted on May 12, 2023.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

The following facts are not in dispute therefore, I find the following as FACT:

Petitioner

N.I. is a seventeen-year-old eleventh-grade student attending Ocean Township High School (OTHS).

On March 2, 2023, a female student reported that she was in her vehicle waiting to exit the student parking lot when the occupants of a black colored Jetta vehicle, shot gel balls at her vehicle. The student identified N.I. as the driver of the Jetta and observed another student in the Jetta stick a "gun" out the rear window. She was unsure of what was being shot at her vehicle but believed it to be an Orbeez toy gun that shoots "gel balls".

On March 3, 2023, two female students reported that as they were leaving school grounds walking on the sidewalk along West Park Avenue, a black colored Jetta slowed down, they heard shouting and then observed a rear seat passenger aim a gun and then shoot at them. They realized it was a toy gun when they saw the residue on their legs and backpacks.

When questioned, N.I. readily admitted his involvement and confirmed he was the driver of the Jetta involved in both incidents. N.I. also admitted that he owned the Orbeez toy guns used in both incidents and brought them to school in his vehicle. The other occupants, who were also OTHS students, readily admitted that they used the toy guns to shoot at cars and the two female students.

On March 8, 2023, N.I. was issued an initial out-of-school suspension. The notice of the suspension advised that the investigation into these incidents was on-going and that a longer suspension may be warranted.

On March 10, 2023, OTHS principal Dawn C. Kaszba issued a ten-day suspension to N.I. effective March 9, 2023. The notice of suspension noted that "at the conclusion of the investigation a recommendation could be made to the superintendent and to the BOE for an additional long-term suspension."

On March 16, 2023, Dr. James Stefankiewicz, Ed.D., (Stefankiewicz) the school superintendent confirmed the ten-day suspension, and noted that the "actions of this nature jeopardize the safety, security, and well-being of the school and its students." The confirmation notice referenced OTHS Student Handbook and Policies Section 8467-Weapons. Finally, the confirmation notice advised that in addition to the ten-day suspension the matter was being referred to the BOE for a long-term suspension.

On March 21, 2023, Stefankiewicz issued a formal notice of a disciplinary hearing to be held by the BOE on April 11, 2023. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3 the notice advised the basis for the proposed long-term suspension, the officials to be called at the hearing and the documents that would be relied upon. The notice also properly advised petitioner as to the right to be represented by legal counsel and the ability to enter a defense on N.I.'s behalf.

Petitioner retained Michael Weiss, Esq., who contacted BOE attorney Michael Gross, Esq. and attempted to negotiate a disciplinary penalty, resulting in the hearing scheduled for April 11, 2023, being adjourned to April 18, 2023.

On April 18, 2023, the BOE heard the matter and rendered its decision, to continue N.I.'s suspension through June 20, 2023.

Petitioner

Petitioner argues that respondent has violated N.I.'s due process rights in that the disciplinary hearing did not occur within thirty days of the initial suspension issued on March 9, 2023. Further, the petitioner argues that N.I. has not been provided with adequate educational support or home instruction, and that what has been provided is limited. The lack of educational support has had a negative impact on N.I.'s grade point average. Regarding the two incidents, she blamed the passenger of the vehicle because he shot the toy gun, claiming he is not an individual with whom N.I. normally "socializes" with. She maintains that no damage was done to any vehicle, and no one was injured by the gel balls. Overall, she feels that N.I. is a bright child who made a "big mistake," but that the penalty being imposed is excessive because N.I. does not have a prior disciplinary history that would support such a harsh penalty. Finally, she is very concerned that N.I. is depressed due to the lack of socialization with his friends and classmates.

Petitioner has provided documents that support N.I.'s good character. In addition to those documents Assistant Football Coach James Simonelli testified at the hearing that N.I. is a good person who maintains his temper and composure in tough situations. He further offered that N.I. is a kind individual, loyal teammate, and a good student who always shows up for practice. He also believes that the penalty is excessive under the circumstances.

Petitioner requests the immediate reinstatement of N.I. to OTHS.

Respondent

Respondent maintains that N.I.'s due process rights were not violated as the parents and student were properly apprised in writing as to the specific charges, as well as the facts that were relied upon by the BOE in rendering its decision. Any delay in conducting the disciplinary hearing was the direct result of legal counsel employed by the petitioner, attempting to negotiate a lesser penalty. Regarding the penalty imposed the respondent believes that the severity of the two incidents justifies a long-term suspension.

Respondent maintains that the incidents occurred over a two-day period and more than likely would have continued had the individuals not been caught. Further, it was noted that the female students who were shot at while walking home suffered injury from being struck by the gel balls. Further, the incident understandably caused emotional distress to the students who were struck. Respondent offers that the penalty imposed is consistent with school policies, is justified by the very nature of the offenses and a lesser penalty could result in similar conduct in the future.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

N.J.A.C. 1:6A-12.1(a) provides that the affected parent(s), guardian, district, or public agency may apply in writing for emergent relief. An emergent relief application is required to set forth the specific relief sought and the specific circumstances that the applicant contends justify the relief sought. Each application is required to be supported by an affidavit prepared by an affiant with personal knowledge of the facts contained therein and, if an expert's opinion is included, the affidavit will specify the expert's qualifications.

Emergent relief shall only be requested for the following issues pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:14-2.7(r):

i. Issues involving a break in the delivery of services;

ii. Issues involving disciplinary action, including manifestation determinations and determinations of interim alternate educational settings;

iii. Issues concerning placement pending the outcome of due process proceedings; and

iv. Issues involving graduation or participation in graduation ceremonies.

Here, the issue involves disciplinary action, thus, emergent relief can be considered.

The standards for emergent relief are set forth in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982), and codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b):

1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted;

2. The legal right underlying petitioner's claim is settled;

3. The petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and

4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

The petitioner bears the burden of satisfying all four prongs of this test. Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. at 132-134.

The first consideration is whether petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted. "Irreparable harm is shown when money damages cannot adequately compensate plaintiff's injuries." Hornstine v. Twp. of Moorestown, 263 F. Supp. 2d 887, 911 (D.N.J. 2003) (citing Sampson v. Murray, 415 U.S. 61, 90 (1974)). "More than a risk of irreparable harm must be demonstrated." Cont'l Grp., Inc. v. Amoco Chemicals Corp., 614 F.2d 351, 359 (3d Cir. 1980). "The requisite for injunctive relief has been characterized as a clear showing of immediate irreparable injury . . . or a presently existing actual threat; [an injunction] may not be used simply to eliminate a possibility of a remote future injury, or a future invasion of rights protected by statute or by common law." Id. This was further explained by the New Jersey District Court:

> "A party seeking a preliminary injunction must make a clear showing of immediate irreparable injury . . . Establishing a risk of irreparable harm is not enough. A plaintiff has the burden of proving a clear showing of immediate irreparable injury. Mere speculation as to an injury that will result, in the absence of any facts supporting such a claim, is insufficient to demonstrate irreparable harm." See Spacemax Int'l LLC v. Core Health & Fitness, LLC, No. CIV.A. 2:13-4015-CCC, 2013 WL 5817168, at 2 (D.N.J. Oct. 28, 2013) (internal citations and quotations omitted).

Here, irreparable harm has not been established by petitioner. The petitioner believes that her son is currently suffering from depression, and that his grades have been negatively impacted due to the long-term suspension. However, these assertions alone are insufficient to support a claim of irreparable harm. A long-term suspension may have a negative impact upon N.I., however, that fact alone does not support the conclusion that he has or will suffer irreparable harm.

I CONCLUDE that the petitioner has not met its burden of establishing irreparable harm.

The second consideration is whether the petitioner has shown her claim to be well settled. Petitioner challenges the discipline rendered by respondent because of N.I.'s involvement in two incidents involving the use of a toy gun to shoot gel balls. The first incident involved shooting the toy gun at a vehicle in the student parking lot. The second incident involved shooting the toy gun at two female students who were walking home.

Local boards of education are responsible for protecting the health, safety and welfare of its students and ensuring the orderly conduct of the academic process. Gross v. Lopez, 419 U.S. 656 (1976). To accomplish this, such boards are empowered to establish rules of conduct and impose discipline to enforce such rules. It is established law that the actions of a board of education which lie within the area of discretionary powers, especially as it relates to matters of student discipline, cannot be upset unless there is a showing that the discipline imposed was arbitrary, capricious, without a rational basis, or was induced by improper motives. J.M. v. Hunterdon Central Reg. H.S., 96 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 415, 419 (citing Kopera v. West Orange Bd. Of Educ., 60 N.J. Super 288 (App. Div. 1960).

Here, the petitioner argues that the discipline imposed is excessive while respondent counters that it is consistent with school policy.

Based upon the limited record at this stage of the proceedings I cannot conclude that the discipline imposed was arbitrary, capricious, without a rational basis, or was induced by improper motives.

I CONCLUDE that the petitioner has not shown that the discipline imposed was arbitrary, capricious, without a rational basis, or was induced by improper motives.

The third consideration is whether petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits. It is well settled that the decisions of local boards of education are to stand undisturbed unless shown to be patently "arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives. J.M. By His Guardian, D.M. v. Hunterdon Central Regional High School District, Hunterdon County, 96 N.J. (EDU) 415, 419; R.A.M. and C.A.M. v. Board of Education of the Township of Tabernacle, 94 N.J.A.R. (EDU) 573, 576 (citing Kopera v. West Orange Bd. Of Educ., 60 N.J. Super 288 (App. Div.1960).

Here, the petitioner argues that the discipline imposed is excessive. Respondent argues that the incidents N.I. was involved in, together with the need to deter such incidents in the future, justifies the significant discipline rendered here. Petitioner has failed to show that respondents actions were arbitrary, capricious, without rational basis or induced by improper motives.

I CONCLUDE that petitioner has not shown a likelihood of prevailing on the merits at this point in the proceedings.

The fourth requirement for emergent relief entails a balancing of the interests between the parties. Petitioner argues that the discipline issued by respondent is excessive and will have a detrimental impact upon N.I. However, the respondent has an obligation to all the students, and the petitioners' arguments fail to recognize that N.I.'s actions had a harmful impact upon other students. Further, petitioner fails to recognize respondent's need to deter similar behavior in the future.

Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the equities weigh in favor of respondent.

Having considered the parties' arguments and submissions, I CONCLUDE that the petitioner has not met all four prongs of the standard for the entitlement to emergency relief. For the foregoing reasons, I CONCLUDE that the request for emergent relief is denied.

It is ORDERED that petitioner's motion for emergent relief is DENIED. The parties have advised me that no other issues remain once the emergent relief matter is resolved.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who/which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five days following the entry of this order. If Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Final Decision

David Searfoorce,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the proposed Settlement Agreement (Agreement), and the Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner notes that Paragraph 2 of the Agreement references an action that preceded the consideration of the settlement by the Commissioner of Education. The parties are reminded that a settlement of litigation before the Commissioner is not binding until the Commissioner approves the settlement.

In light of the foregoing, the Commissioner adopts the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter, provided that the parties have already implemented the settlement terms or have agreed upon mutually satisfactory alternate dates for the effectuation of the terms of the Agreement. Assuming same, the matter is hereby dismissed.

THIS SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND LIMITED GENERAL RELEASE (hereinafter referred to as the "Agreement") is entered into by and between J.G., S.G., and A.G..[1], individually and jointly (hereinafter collectively referred to as "Petitioners"), and the Freehold Regional High School District Board of Education (hereinafter referred to as the "Board") to resolve and settle certain outstanding claims and disputed issues as follows:

RECITALS

WHEREAS, a disagreement arose between Petitioners and the Board (hereinafter collectively referred to as the "Parties"); and

WHEREAS, the Board has denied the allegations contained in the Petition and/or raised affirmative defenses thereto; and

WHEREAS, the Parties, after the opportunity for consultation with and between their respective legal counsel and following negotiations, desire to resolve certain aspects of the dispute raised in the Petition efficiently and amicably by entering into this Agreement so as to avoid the uncertainty, expenditure of time and resources, and the incurring of costs and expenses associated with further proceedings and/or litigation; and

WHEREAS, neither of the Parties admits or acknowledges, either explicitly or implicitly, any misconduct, wrongdoing, and/or liability, but through and by this Agreement are taking this action solely as a matter of a business judgment and at the recommendation of their respective legal counsel; and

THUS, the Parties, in view of the aforementioned premise and in consideration of the mutual promises and covenants contained herein, and other good and valuable consideration, the receipt and sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged by the Parties, enter into this Agreement to outline their agreement, release certain claims, and express the full and complete terms of same; NOW, THEREFORE, THE PARTIES HEREBY AGREE:

1. Education Services: The Parties agree and understand that a one-time payment in the amount of eight thousand two hundred dollars ($8,200.00) will be made on behalf of the Board for A.G.'s educational services. The payment will be made in the form of a check made payable to Davis & Mendelson LLC, as legal counsel for Petitioners in this matter, to be mailed within thirty (30) days following approval of this Agreement by the Court. The Parties understand and agree that Petitioners, within five calendar (5) days following approval of this Agreement by the Court, shall provide the Board with a written revocation of consent for A.G.'s eligibility as a student with a disability eligible for special education and/or related services. The Parties further understand and agree that the Board shall in no way be responsible, and shall have no obligation, to evaluate or assess A.G., nor shall the Board be responsible, and shall have no obligation, to prepare, administer, case manage, monitor, meet regarding and/or implement an Individualized Education Plan (IEP) and/or a program of special education and/or related services for A.G.

2. Further Board Responsibilities: Consistent with their stated desires, Petitioners agree and understand that A.G. will not participate in and/or be present at school-related events (such as the prom and graduation ceremonies), and the Parties shall have as little interaction with one another as is practicable; however, the Parties understand and agree that the Board, as part of the settlement of this matter, shall:

    a. FRHSD diploma: Upon completion of A.G.'s Health, English, and Physical Education courses, A.G.'s FRHSD graduation requirements will be deemed to be satisfied and completed and A.G. will receive a diploma from the Freehold Regional High School District.

    b. FRHSD transcript: A.G.'s transcript will be from the Freehold Regional High School District. The transcript will reflect the LPS courses taken by A.G., as well as A.G.'s home instruction courses during the 2021-22 and 2022-23 school years (including the Health course), however, the transcript will not reflect that A.G. attended courses through home instruction. If so requested by Petitioners, the transcript will include A.G.'s decile rank.

    c. College Recommendations: A.G. will receive the standard recommendation from the FRHSD guidance department as provided to other FRHSD students. A.G. will also be able to request recommendations from FRSHD teachers through the same online portal available to other FRHSD students; however, Petitioners understand and agree that the Board cannot and will not compel or require any FRHSD teacher to provide such recommendations.

d. District Employee Liaison: A district employee shall be designated for the purpose of serving as a liaison between the Parties (hereinafter "Liaison"). The Liaison will address and attempt to resolve any school-related issues between the Parties for the remainder of the 2022-2023 academic year. Issues to be addressed by the Liaison will include, but not be limited to, issues such as issues related to grades, report card errors, transcript requests, and diploma concerns. The Parties recognize that the purpose of the appointment of the Liaison is to reduce counsel fees to the parties by addressing, and hopefully, resolving minor issues amongst themselves. Petitioners understand that they shall direct any such issues to the Liaison and the Board shall be afforded a reasonable opportunity to address and resolve any such issues prior to involving counsel to address any such issues.

3. Counsel Fees: The Parties agree and understand that a one-time payment in the amount of $15,000.00 (fifteen thousand dollars) will be made on behalf of the Board to Davis & Mendelson LLC, as legal counsel for Petitioners in this matter, to be mailed within thirty (30) days following approval of this Agreement by the Court.

4. Payment Documents: Petitioners will efficiently and without delay provide, through their counsel, all documents (such as a W-9 form and/or purchase order) which may be needed by the Board for processing of the above-referenced settlement payments. These payments are made as part of the settlement of this matter and neither Party shall be deemed or considered, either explicitly or implicitly, to be a prevailing party and/or entitled to any counsel and/or expert fees or costs and/or other expenses related to litigating the issues raised in the Petition, other than as specified in this Agreement. The Board makes no representations or warranties regarding the taxability of any portion of the settlement payments referenced above. Petitioners and their attorneys understand and acknowledge that the Board is not paying or withholding taxes on the settlement payments set forth above. Petitioners agree to assume full liability for any applicable state, federal, and/or local taxes that may be required by law to be paid with respect to any portion of this Settlement Agreement. Given the Board is not withholding any taxes from the settlement payments, in the event the Internal Revenue Service, the New Jersey Division of Revenue, and/or any taxing authority may assess the Board with any taxes or penalties for failure to withhold any taxes from the settlement payments, Petitioners agree to indemnify, hold harmless, and be fully responsible for any such taxes or penalties arising from the failure to withhold taxes from the settlement payments.

5. Withdrawal of Petition: As and in consideration for this Agreement, Petitioners understand and agree that the pending Petition shall be voluntarily withdrawn by way of a written request to the Court, to be submitted by counsel for Petitioners within five (5) business days of receipt of the fully executed Agreement.

6. Waiver and Limited General Release: Other than those claims specifically reserved and/or preserved herein, by entering into this Agreement, Petitioners release the Board from claims regarding A.G.'s educational program and placement arising from the facts and/or events as described within the Petition, including, but not limited to, any counsel fees for services performed by Davis & Mendelson, L.L.C. or other claims that were asserted in the Petition. Petitioners hereby forever and fully waive and release the Board from any claims seeking the specific relief sought in the Petition. However, the Parties understand and agree that nothing herein shall prevent Petitioners (either individually and/or jointly) from (a) seeking enforcement of the terms of this Settlement Agreement before a tribunal of competent jurisdiction and/or (b) asserting claims (other than those released by this Agreement) against the Board, its members, employees, agents and/or representatives for negligence and/or the negligent handling of any incidents taking and/or having taken place on school grounds; and/or (c) from asserting claims (other than those released by this Agreement) against the Board, its members, employees, agents and/or representatives for any alleged violations of the New Jersey Civil Rights Act and/or the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination for any acts and/or omissions taking place and/or having taken place, in a separate action in Superior Court. Nothing set forth in this provision shall be construed as a release or waiver of any other and/or additional claims between the Parties not otherwise specifically reserved and/or preserved that may arise after the date of this Agreement. Nothing set forth in this provision shall be construed as a release or waiver of any claims between the Parties seeking to enforce any term or provision of this Agreement or as a release or waiver of any claims specifically reserved and/or preserved in this Agreement.

7. Prevailing Parties and Attorney's Fees: Neither Party will be considered to be a "prevailing party" for any purpose and, other than as specified in this Agreement, each Party shall be responsible for their own attorney's fees, expert costs, and any other costs and/or expenses incurred in connection with this matter and/or with the development of this Agreement.

8. Confidentiality and Non-Disparagement: Each of the Petitioners, individually and jointly, including A.G., as well as the Board and all of its members understands and agrees that this Agreement, including its terms, must remain confidential to the full extent allowed by law as a material term of this Agreement. As such, the Parties further understand and agree that the terms and existence of this Agreement are and shall remain confidential to the extent permitted by law and shall not be disclosed by any of the Petitioners, individually and/or jointly, or the Board to any other individual or entity, other than counsel, financial professionals and/or services providers, without the written consent of the other Party, unless enforcement of this Agreement is sought by the non-breaching Party in a court of law. No Party shall engage in disparaging and/or negative comments or statements regarding any other Party and/or their conduct, with regard to the claims covered by this Agreement, this Agreement and/or the terms thereof, and/or the settlement process for this Agreement, in any forum or media, including, but not limited to, any and all social media statements or posts of any kind on any platform, website or application such as, but not limited to, Facebook, Instagram, YouTube, Twitter, or any other platform(s), website(s) or application(s). The above notwithstanding, however, the Parties specifically agree that no interpretation of the word "disparagement" shall pertain to any evidence or testimony which may be offered or adduced by the Parties in any court proceeding or administrative agency proceeding which arises from either (a) a need to enforce any provision of this agreement, or (b) any further administrative proceeding or legal proceeding commenced by, or participated in by the Parties.

9. Review of Agreement: The Parties acknowledge that they have read and understand the terms of this Agreement, have had an opportunity to have had the Agreement reviewed by legal counsel (if they so choose), are satisfied with the advice of such counsel, and that they are entering into this Agreement knowingly, freely, voluntarily, without coercion, and not under the influence of anything or anyone.

10. Board Approval: Petitioners understand and agree that this Agreement is subject to approval by the Board at its next regularly scheduled meeting following the execution of this Agreement by Petitioners. If so approved, a fully executed copy of this Agreement and accompanying Board resolution shall be provided to Petitioners within ten (10) calendar days of such approval.

11. Binding Agreement: Petitioners, individually and jointly, represent, verify, and affirm to the Board that they have understood and agree that this Agreement is binding on Petitioners, individually and/or jointly.

12. Interpretation of Agreement: This Agreement shall be interpreted, enforced, and governed under the laws of the State of New Jersey, without regard to that jurisdiction's choice-of-law doctrines. The language of all parts of this Agreement shall in all cases be construed as a whole, according to its fair meaning, and not strictly for or against any of the Parties. The Parties understand and agree that that this Agreement is the product of mutual draftsmanship and any rule or law requiring that it be construed against the drafter shall not apply.

13. Entire Agreement: This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement of the Parties with respect to the subject matter hereof and supersedes all prior written or oral and all contemporaneous oral agreements, understandings, and negotiations. This Agreement may only be amended in writing by way of a document signed by all Parties.

14. Counterparts: This Agreement may be executed in one (1) or more counterparts, all of which shall be considered a single and the same and shall become effective when one (1) or more counterparts have been signed by each Party. It is understood and agreed that the Parties need not sign the same counterpart, and this Agreement shall be fully valid, legally binding, and enforceable whether executed in a single document or in such counterparts.

INTENDING TO BE legally bound hereby and IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Parties hereto hereby execute this Settlement Agreement and Limited General Release as witnessed by their signatures below.

Decision

Gene Queval,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Trenton, Mercer County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioner – formerly employed by the respondent Board's school district – claimed that the Board violated his tenure rights under N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2 when it terminated him from his position as an Account Payables Specialist (APS) without filing tenure charges. The Board contends that petitioner was not a tenured employee when he was terminated, as he had voluntarily relinquished any tenure rights he had acquired under N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2 when he accepted a promotion in 2009 to APS – a position that is neither a secretarial nor a clerical position – and, therefore, the filing of tenure charges was not necessary.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: the issue here is whether the duties of petitioner's position as an APS could be characterized as secretarial or clerical in nature, such that petitioner would have obtained tenure in that position under N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2, and therefore would have held tenure at the time of his termination; petitioner voluntarily accepted a promotion to the position of APS from his previous position as APC in 2009; the work performed by the petitioner as an APC required only general office work; when he accepted the APS position, petitioner was required to audit, analyze, examine, and reconcile documents and prepare contracted purchase orders and invoices for payment on behalf of the Board; petitioner was also assigned a new function of tracking utilities; the APS position involved independent problem solving and exercising discretionary authority when performing his duties; further, while serving as APS, the petitioner was disciplined for failing to perform all of his duties. The ALJ concluded as a matter of law that petitioner relinquished the tenure rights he had acquired as an APC by voluntarily accepting the APS position and attendant salary increase. Accordingly, the ALJ affirmed the Board's action to terminate petitioner's employment and dismissed the petition.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's well-reasoned findings of fact and conclusions of law and adopted the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. In so doing, the Commissioner found, inter alia, that tenure rights are statutory, not contractual; tenure can only be secured when the precise conditions articulated in the applicable statute are met; and the burden of proving entitlement to tenure protections falls on the employee. DiNapoli v. Bd. of Educ. of Twp. of Verona, 434 N.J. Super. 233, 237 (App. Div. 2014). Accordingly, the petition was dismissed.

Agency Dkt. No. 208-8/18

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Gene Queval,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Trenton, Mercer County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the exceptions filed by petitioner pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and the Board's reply thereto, have been reviewed and considered.

This matter concerns petitioner's claim that the Board violated the tenure rights he acquired under N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2 when it terminated him from his position as Accounts Payable Specialist (APS). The Board contends that while petitioner acquired tenure under N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2 in his previous position as Accounts Payable Clerk (APC), he voluntarily relinquished those tenure rights when he accepted a promotion to APS in 2009 – a title is which is neither a secretarial nor a clerical position – and thus was not a tenured employee when he was terminated. Petitioner also alleges that the Board violated the New Jersey Open Public Meetings Act (OPMA), N.J.S.A. 10:4-6 to -21, when it terminated him on June 26, 2018, without discussing his employment during the public session.

The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) concluded that because the APS position was neither secretarial nor clerical in nature, petitioner did not acquire tenure as an APS under N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2. In her analysis, the ALJ carefully compared petitioner's job duties as an APC with his job duties as an APS. The ALJ found that the APS position required petitioner to perform tasks beyond routine clerical work including auditing, analysis, independent problem solving and the exercise of discretionary authority when determining whether invoices should be paid. The ALJ further concluded as a matter of law that petitioner relinquished the tenure rights he acquired as an APC by voluntarily accepting the APS position and attendant salary increase. Finally, the ALJ found that petitioner did not offer any evidence to support his OPMA claim and no longer wished to pursue it.

In his exceptions, petitioner argues that the ALJ ignored witness testimony which established that the APS position was "a tenure-eligible clerical position" in which he acquired tenure because he continued to perform clerical duties that involved little to no independent judgment or discretionary authority. He also argues that the ALJ erred as a matter of law by concluding that he surrendered his tenure rights by accepting the APS position because he never knowingly or voluntarily waived those rights. He further argues that the ALJ's dismissal of his OPMA claim on the basis that he failed to pursue it is contradicted by the record.

In reply, the Board asserts that the ALJ correctly assessed the record, including the witness testimony, when she concluded that the APS position was not clerical in nature and thus not tenure-eligible under N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2. It also asserts that the ALJ appropriately rejected petitioner's argument that he still held tenure rights to the APC position despite having voluntarily accepted the promotion to the APS position. It further asserts that because petitioner has offered no evidence to support his OPMA claim, the ALJ properly dismissed it.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ's well-reasoned findings of fact and conclusions of law. "Tenure rights are statutory and not contractual." DiNapoli v. Bd. of Educ. of Twp. of Verona, 434 N.J. Super. 233, 237 (App. Div. 2014). "To acquire the security of tenure, the precise conditions enunciated in the applicable statute must be met." Id. at 237-38. "The employee shoulders the burden of establishing entitlement to tenure protection, which ordinarily must be clearly proven." Id. at 238. "A mere overlap in duties . . . does not mean that two positions are equivalent for tenure purposes." Dennery v. Bd. of Educ. of Passaic Cnty. Reg'l High Sch. Dist. #1, 131 N.J. 626, 640 (1993). "If a newly-created position is similar to a tenure holder's abolished position but also requires additional duties or different responsibilities, then the newly-created position is not considered to be substantially similar to the former position." Ibid.

Petitioner's claim that the APS position is a tenure-eligible clerical position, substantially similar to the APC position, is not supported by the facts in evidence. It is uncontested that petitioner acquired tenure in the APC position pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2(b)(1), which provides that "[a]ny person holding any secretarial or clerical position or employment under a board of education of any school district" acquires tenure following three years of employment. However, effective July 1, 2008, the Board reclassified petitioner's position from an APC to an APS, and abolished the APC position. Although petitioner's former supervisor testified that he approached her twice about reclassifying his position, he denied doing so. She further testified that she initially declined to request a reclassification but did so once petitioner agreed to take on additional responsibilities, including conducting audits, authorizing vendor payments, and tracking school utilities. In any event, petitioner never objected to the reclassification. On the contrary, he signed an employment contract on May 14, 2009, agreeing to employment as an APS for the 2009-2010 school year and signed similar contracts annually through May 2018. There is nothing in the record to indicate that he was informed that his tenure rights would be impacted by the reclassification.

The documentary and testimonial evidence in the record support the ALJ's finding that the APS position was neither secretarial nor clerical in nature. In particular, the APC job description states that the employee is responsible for, among other duties, "assist[ing] in the payment of purchase orders" and "assist[ing] in the auditing, and reconciling receipts and invoices to purchase orders." The APS job description, by comparison, states that the "job goal" is "performing audit and preparation of contracted purchase orders and invoices for payment on behalf of the [Board]." More specifically, the employee is "[r]esponsible for auditing, reconciling invoices to Purchase Orders (POs), shipping documentation and preparing all purchase orders for payment" as well as "reconciling vendor statements quarterly." The job descriptions establish that while the APC had a supportive, secondary role in these tasks, the APS is responsible for completing them independently.[1]

The testimony from three of petitioner's former supervisors bolsters this conclusion. They each testified that petitioner's duties as APS were not primarily clerical in nature. Instead, petitioner was expected to review, analyze, and audit documents including purchase orders, invoices, and vouchers for accuracy to determine whether a vendor should be paid. If petitioner discovered a discrepancy, he was expected to resolve it. Based upon the status of the documentation, petitioner was tasked with independently determining whether to approve or refuse payment to vendors. He was also expected to apply discounts or other price adjustments when appropriate. This differed substantially from his role as an APC, in which he did not analyze or audit purchase orders or related documentation and lacked authority to determine whether a vendor should be paid.

[1] Additionally, per the job descriptions, APC candidates were required to have a high school diploma or GED, plus at least five years of experience in data entry or a two-year technical/college degree, while APS candidates need a high school diploma plus five years of experience in accounts payable, among other experience.

Although much of petitioner's testimony consisted of self-serving, blanket denials of any change in his duties following the reclassification, he admitted that: (1) he analyzed open purchase orders as an APS; (2) how he handled purchase orders as an APS became more complicated and involved investigation; and (3) he had authority to pay vendors. Contrary to his assertions, the fact that he continued to perform incidental clerical tasks such as filing and data entry as an APS, along with the new analytical, auditing, and discretionary functions, does not support the conclusion that the APS position is predominantly clerical in nature or substantially similar to the APC position.

Next, petitioner's claim that he did not knowingly and voluntarily waive his secretarial tenure rights by accepting the APS position is contradicted by both the plain language of N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2 and controlling appellate case law. N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2(b)(1) states that "[a]ny person holding any secretarial or clerical position or employment under a board of education of any school district . . . shall not be dismissed or suspended or reduced in compensation, except for neglect, misbehavior or other offense and only in the manner prescribed by . . ." applicable tenure laws.

In DiNapoli, 434 N.J. Super. at 239-40, citing the statute's plain language, the Appellate Division concluded that "N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2 authorizes tenure to be maintained only while the employee serves in a secretarial position, office or employment." Consequently, it held that a Board employee who voluntarily transferred from a secretarial position to a distinct, non-secretarial position "abandoned" her secretarial tenure rights and "relinquished her right to 'bump back' into a secretarial position." Id. at 240-241, 246. It rejected the petitioner's arguments that something more "than [her] acceptance of a non-tenurable position" was required "to demonstrate an intention to relinquish her clerical tenure rights." Id. at 246-49. Here, petitioner's attempt to distinguish DiNapoli on its facts by claiming that it did not involve an employee who changed positions but continued to perform the same duties is unavailing. As discussed herein, petitioner did not continue to perform the same duties once he became an APS.

Petitioner asserts that Quinlan v. Board of Education of the Township of North Bergen, 73 N.J. Super. 40 (App. Div. 1962), is analogous to the present matter because the employee there changed positions but continued to perform the same duties and therefore retained her secretarial tenure rights. However, Quinlan is distinguishable on its facts. There, the Board appointed the employee, who initially worked solely as a tenured clerk, to a "hybrid position of clerk-attendance officer" in which she then worked "as both a clerk and an attendance officer." Id. at 45-46. The court reasoned that under this arrangement, the Board "chose to preserve [the employee's] status as a clerk, and to give her the additional post of attendance officer." Id. at 46. By contrast, in this case, the Board in no way preserved petitioner's status as an APC; it abolished that position as part of the reclassification. Furthermore, nothing in the record establishes that the APS position encompassed all of petitioner's APC duties and responsibilities. As demonstrated by the job descriptions, the APS position was an entirely distinct position with different duties and qualifications. Additionally, petitioner's employment contracts make clear that he ceased holding the position of APC once he signed an employment contract in May 2009, agreeing to work as an APS for the 2009-2010 school year; he went on to sign similar contracts thereafter.

Petitioner's reliance upon Keaney v. Board of Education of the Township of Bloomfield, Essex County, EDU 5881-03, Agency Dkt. No. 128-4/03, Initial Decision at 6-7 (July 28, 2005), adopted by Comm'r (Aug. 31, 2005) is unpersuasive. There, the Commissioner agreed with the ALJ that a tenured janitorial employee who voluntarily accepted a promotion to maintenance supervisor did not "knowingly and intelligently waive[] his tenure as a janitorial employee when he assumed the title of supervisor" because "[h]is duties remained in the field of maintenance and skilled trades." Id. at 11-12. At the outset, Keaney is distinguishable because it concerns the janitorial employee tenure statute, N.J.S.A. 18A:17-3, which is inapplicable here. Moreover, the ALJ in that case found that, as a result of the promotion, the employee "assume[d] greater responsibility in his area of tenure." Id. at 19. Here, however, the record establishes that petitioner took on additional responsibilities outside his area of tenure. The auditing, problem-solving, and discretionary functions he assumed were neither secretarial nor clerical in nature.

In addition, petitioner's reliance on the Appellate Division's opinion in Parsells v. Board of Education of Borough of Somerville, 472 N.J. Super. 369, 378-80 (App. Div.), aff'd as modified, ____ N.J. ____, ____ (2023), slip op. at 2-21, is misplaced. There, the Appellate Division held that school boards had a duty to notify tenured full-time teachers who consider switching to a part-time teaching position about the impact such a decision would have on their tenure status. Parsells, 472 N.J. Super. at 378-79. However, on June 12, 2023, the Supreme Court disagreed and "reject[ed] the imposition of a duty on school boards to 'notify, in advance, full-time teachers who consider voluntarily transferring to part-time teaching positions that they may not have a right to return to their full-time position.'" Parsells, slip op. at 21. The Court held that neither its opinion in Bridgewater-Raritan Education Association v. Board of Education of Bridgewater-Raritan School District, 221 N.J. 349 (2015), nor "the mere existence of the Tenure Act" provided a basis for such a duty. Parsells, slip op. at 2. Thus, Parsells does not support petitioner's assertion that he did not knowingly and voluntarily waive his secretarial tenure rights when he accepted the APS position because he was never directly notified by the Board about a change to his tenure status. The Board had no legal duty to provide such notification, and DiNapoli controls.

While the Supreme Court in Parsells nonetheless agreed with the Commissioner that the petitioner in that case had not knowingly waived her tenure rights to a full-time teaching position by voluntarily accepting a part-time teaching position, the facts in this matter are distinguishable for several reasons. In Parsells, slip op. at 14-15, the Court cited the fact that the petitioner never provided notice of her intention to relinquish her tenured position as is required by N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8; N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8 applies only to teaching staff members and is not applicable here. Furthermore, the Court recognized that the evidence in Parsells clearly showed that the petitioner intended to return to full-time teaching once it was in the best interest of her family, which bolstered its conclusion that she had not knowingly waived or abandoned her tenure rights. Parsells, slip op. at 18. By contrast, here, the record is devoid of evidence that petitioner viewed the promotion to APS as a temporary opportunity and intended, at some future time, to forego the promotion and return to a tenured secretarial position. Indeed, petitioner was aware that the APC position was abolished as a result of the reclassification, and he consistently held the APS position for approximately nine years prior to his termination. In sum, Parsells, which does not concern secretarial tenure rights, fails to support petitioner's assertion that he did not knowingly and voluntarily waive his secretarial tenure rights when he accepted the APS position.

As for petitioner's OPMA claim, the Commissioner has "incidental jurisdiction to determine issues arising under the Open Public Meetings Act as they relate to controversies under the school laws." Sukin v. Northfield Bd. of Educ., 171 N.J. Super. 184, 187 (App. Div. 1979). N.J.S.A. 10:4-12(b)(8) permits boards of education to "exclude the public from that portion of a meeting at which the public body discusses any matter involving" a board employee's "termination of employment" unless the employee "request[s] in writing that the matter . . . be discussed at a public meeting." This exception "provides employees with the right to move a private discussion into the sunshine of a public discussion." Kean Fed'n of Teachers v. Morell, 233 N.J. 566, 586 (2018).

Although petitioner claims in his exceptions that the "uncontested facts" demonstrate that he requested in writing that his employment be discussed at the Board's June 26, 2018, meeting, the record is devoid of documentation to establish that fact. Indeed, petitioner never testified that he made this request in writing. He testified only that he asked to have his employment discussed in open session. Moreover, he failed to establish that the Board violated OPMA by discussing his employment in Executive Session. The Board minutes state that Board counsel announced at the meeting that "no discussion" was anticipated regarding petitioner's employment during Executive Session and that if the need for discussion arose, the Board would return to open session to conduct it. Therefore, the record supports the ALJ's finding that petitioner failed to provide sufficient evidence to support his OPMA claim.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

GENE QUEVAL,

BOARD OF EDUCATION, CITY OF TRENTON, MERCER COUNTY,

Record closed: March 20, 2023 Decided: May 4, 2023

BEFORE MARY ANN BOGAN, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, Gene Queval, alleges that the termination of his employment as a result of his job performance as an Accounts Payable Specialist (APS), a position he maintains is clerical with tenure rights, was a violation of tenure rights. Petitioner contends that the Board was obligated to bring tenure charges before a Teacher Effectiveness and Accountability for the Children of New Jersey (TEACHNJ) Act arbitrator. Respondent, the Trenton Board of Education (Board), contends that petitioner was terminated from a non-tenured position and the filing of tenure charges before a TEACHNJ arbitrator was not necessary.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On August 27, 2018, petitioner filed a verified petition with the Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Education for the non-renewal of his employment that violated his tenure rights under N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2. Petitioner seeks his reinstatement to the position of APS, as well as full back pay with interest and benefits, including pension credit retroactive to August 1, 2018, the effective date of the purported non-renewal by the Board. The petitioner also alleges that the Board violated the Open Public Meetings Act (OPMA). Respondent filed its response on September 26, 2018. The Board denied that petitioner remained tenured after the position was reclassified from Accounts Payable Clerk (APC) to APS. The Board also denied that it violated the OPMA. Subsequently, on October 1, 2018, the petition was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for hearing as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. At the time the case was ready for hearing, the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) was closed to in-person hearings due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The parties jointly requested a delay of the hearing until after normal operations resumed. The hearing took place on September 13, 2022, and January 11, 2023. Following receipt of the parties' post-hearing briefs and the transcripts, the record closed on March 20, 2023.

Testimony

Petitioner

Gene Queval (Queval) testified that when he began working for the Board, the Accounts Payable Department consisted of the comptroller, the business services coordinator, the APC position that Queval held, and two secretarial positions. He was initially supervised by the comptroller and later by the business services coordinator. Queval stated that he remained in a tenured position and performed similar job functions after what he referred to as a job-title change to APS. As an APC, Queval performed clerical duties like typing, filing, answering phones, entering data, and pulling document requests. Queval also cleared purchase orders and paid vendors. In the year 2000 he began using EduMet, a computer program that allowed him to pull up purchase-order numbers, clear purchase orders, and pay vendors. (P-7.) Everyone in the department used EduMet. The major responsibilities set forth on Queval's APC annual employee evaluations include: remediates, expediates, and routes information regarding accounts payable; has contact with vendors regarding invoices, deliveries, corrections, and discrepancies; works with the warehouse and schools regarding shipments and problems; reconciles vendor statements; maintains filing system for non-cleared purchase orders; assists with reconciling and expediting payments of buildings-and-grounds billings and data entry for transportation-aid reimbursement. (P-2 to P-12; R-1 to R-8.) Queval's responsibilities did not include customizing computer programs, creating forms, or entering data in different categories. He had no direct reports and could not assign work to any other staff members.

The job posting for the APC included three main qualifications: high-school graduate or GED equivalent; at least five years' job experience in data entry, or a two-year technical/college degree may be substituted; possess excellent communication skills. (P-1.)

After the job title changed from APC to APS, Queval sat at the same desk and worked with the same people. In his view, the annual performance evaluation for the APS position did not include job duties that were significantly different from the job duties he performed in the clerk position. (P-19.) Queval acknowledged that the evaluation indicates that he took on more responsibilities, in particular as it relates to auditing and reconciling invoices to purchase orders. He pointed out that the only new job responsibility was tracking utility payments, although the volume of work increased. Queval was never told that his job duties in the retitled position no longer included clerical duties, no administrator indicated to him that he would be required to waive his tenure rights, nor was a change to his tenure eligibility ever mentioned. As far as he was concerned, he was still tenured when the job title changed.

Queval testified that in 2008, Shawn Mitchell, who served as the business services coordinator and supervised Queval, informed him that due to a reorganization in the accounting department, his job title would change to APS. This title change did not require an application or an interview, and Queval was not asked to resign from his position as an APC in order to be rehired as an APS. Queval did not take part in the reclassification process, although he did recall that as part of the reorganization, Mitchell's position as business services coordinator was abolished, as was one of the two secretarial positions. Mitchell then became the interim payroll supervisor, and Queval continued to be supervised by Mitchell until 2013. Queval believed that employees whose job duties include clerical duties like answering the phones and typing letters were clerical employees. Queval acknowledged that he knew he was getting more duties and responsibilities. He stated, "there was changing of the way that work was being done," and "they were pushing back the tasks of the business services coordinator back into the department."

Ultimately, it was the Board's general counsel, James Rolle, Jr., who told Queval that his employment was being terminated. Queval responded that he had a contract and was tenured. Thereafter, Queval was notified via a Rice notice issued by the respondent that his employment would be discussed during the Board meeting open session. Queval attended that meeting and spoke on his own behalf. He recalled that the Board did not engage in a discussion at that time. Subsequently, the Board voted not to renew his employment contract.

Queval is currently employed by the Hamilton Township Board of Education as a secretary in the Accounts Payable Department.

Respondent

Shawn Mitchell (Mitchell) is currently employed by the Board as the assistant business administrator/comptroller. She worked as the business services coordinator from 2005 to 2008, when she became the payroll supervisor. In 2010 she became the comptroller, and then assistant business administrator/comptroller. Mitchell is a certified public accountant.

Mitchell supervised Queval in his roles as an APC and APS in the Accounts Payable Department. At the time she became the business services coordinator, Queval was employed in the department as an APC. In the position of business services coordinator, she was the head of the Accounts Payable Department and supervised all employees. She was primarily responsible for ensuring the payment of all District invoices, which included tuition, utility bills, and charter-school aid. While performing her duties she reviewed purchase orders, analyzed and examined them for accuracy, and ensured that any required adjustments were made. Even though her position was not a clerical position, and she was not eligible for tenure, she did perform "clerk-type" duties such as filing and answering phones.

Mitchell became familiar with Queval's APC duties through the outgoing business services coordinator, and during a one-on-one meeting with each staff member. She understood that his APC duties were accurately set forth in his performance evaluations, and that Queval would maintain the purchase orders that were sent from the Purchasing Department, file them in chronological order, and stamp each purchase order as cleared when he was told the item had been received. (P-11; R-7.) As the APC he did not conduct an analysis or perform an audit. Moreover, he did not have authority to determine if an invoice should not be paid and he did not perform any duties other than office-type work.

Mitchell denied notifying Queval that his job title would change. Rather, she was approached by Queval about reclassifying his position. At that time, Mitchell was not yet familiar with the procedure for reclassification. Queval provided her with some information on the process. After reviewing the information, Mitchell told Queval that she was unable to do a reclassification since he continued to perform the same job duties. When Mitchell began working as the interim payroll supervisor, Queval approached her again and agreed that he would learn additional responsibilities, including reviewing and examining documentation for the purchase orders, conducting audits of financial records, ensuring that purchase orders and invoices were reconciled, and authorizing payments. These were duties that Mitchell performed as the business services coordinator and not duties that Queval performed in his role as APC. In addition to the APS position, Queval would track utilities, a new responsibility that involved setting up a spreadsheet to keep track of the utilities at each school.

Eventually Mitchell spoke with the business administrator, created an APS job description, and completed the Job Reclassification Form, consistent with Board Policy 4113-4114. (P-13; P-14; R-24.) The Board policy permits reclassification when the job duties and the job title change. The reclassification form states, in part:

> Gene has taken on increased responsibility as it relates to auditing and reconciling invoices to purchase orders. In his current position, it requires only that he assist, however, in the past year he has been given more responsibility for the processing of payment of purchase orders. In addition, he has begun working with Purchasing in attempts to resolve issues relating to outstanding purchase order differences.

Additional responsibilities added to this position that Queval began handling included preparing purchase orders for payment, reviewing or assisting with the review of the bill list and dissemination of bills, tracking aid-in-lieu-of-transportation invoices, and processing special-services tuition invoices. He is now responsible for working with external auditors for the timely retrieval of documents requested.

Mitchell also proposed the abolishment of the business services coordinator position, the absorption of those duties by members within the department, and the creation of a senior accountant position. (P-13.)

In conjunction with the Board policy regarding reclassification, Mitchell submitted a new job description for a new position of account specialist; the job qualifications and job duties—including the level of responsibility, the complexity of the work, and the knowledge and skills required to perform those duties—differed significantly from those of the APC. As a result of the reclassification, Queval received a new job title, a new job description, and a pay raise. Mitchell acknowledged that the Job Reclassification Form did not mention tenure and she did not discuss with Queval that by taking the APS position he would be surrendering his tenure rights. (See P-13; R-24.) Mitchell agreed that Queval was never asked to resign from his APC position, apply for a new position, or interview for the APS position.

Mitchell testified that Queval refused to perform many of the higher-level functions of the APS position, and as a result he received a number of written memos; reprimands, including an increment withholding; and a thirty-day suspension without pay. Ultimately, he was terminated. (R-27; R-28; R-29; R-30; R-31.)

Nisha Goyal (Goyal), accounting manager, is a certified public accountant. She began working for the Board in 2015. In 2016 she assumed the manager's position and began supervising the employees in the Accounts Payable Department, including Queval, who worked as an APS. (R-19.) Goyal did not supervise Queval when he served in the APC position. She became aware of his job duties by reviewing the job description for his position. She stated that as an APS, Queval was expected to financially examine the purchase orders, process the purchase orders, audit financial documents, and compare the semi-monthly bill list with the checks to be generated in order to ensure accuracy. Queval was also expected to reconcile all accounts payable and pay any credits and excesses involved while determining whether there was a discrepancy on a vendor bill. This meant Queval had the authority to decide whether or not an invoice should remain unpaid. She further explained that auditing meant a financial examination of the documents. Although Queval performed some clerical duties, the APS position did not primarily involve clerical duties. (R-19; P-14.)

Goyal also indicated that Queval was responsible for utility expenditures. Queval was in the chain of payment authorization; this meant he had the authority to approve or disapprove a vendor payment.

For much of the time that Goyal worked with Queval, she had difficulty in ensuring that Queval performed his job duties. Multiple times she reiterated the APS job duties in writing. Goyal increased her level of supervision over Queval's performance due to his refusal to perform all of the duties. She explained that instruction and guidance to an employee on how to perform job duties does not mean the job is clerical, especially here, where he was expected to exercise independent judgment.

As a result of his ongoing performance issues, Goyal issued a corrective action plan for Queval. (P-23; R-35.) This plan set forth that "an APS works with all facets of the accounting system, principally the validation, processing and filing of invoices." She then submitted a request to withhold his increment, and ultimately recommended that his contract not be renewed. (R-28 to R-30; R-35; R-36; R-37; R-38; R-39.)

After Queval was terminated, some of his duties were added to the senior accountant position. (R-19.)

Todd Schechter (Schechter) was employed by the Board as the assistant comptroller since 2011. He began supervising the Accounts Payable Department in 2012 to 2013. In 2013, Goyal was hired as the accounting manager and Schechter was promoted to the comptroller position. Schechter supervised all employees in the department and completed their performance reviews. At that time, Queval worked as the APS. (R-19; P-14.) Schechter testified that as part of the specialist position, Queval made decisions regarding purchase orders. His decision making consisted of conducting an analysis of the data he decided to enter and the authority he had to "clear" a purchase order. After interpreting the data, Queval had decision-making authority to determine whether a bill would be paid or held back. Only a small portion of his responsibilities included clerical-type work. Schechter pointed out that he also performed some clerical functions like answering the phone, typing, and email, but his position was not clerical.

Additional Findings of Fact

In addition to the stipulated facts, I FIND that petitioner voluntarily accepted the position of APS from his previously held position of APC. The APS position was partly created to take over some of the business services coordinator duties. With regard to the work performed by the petitioner as an APC, it did not require analysis or auditing and he did not perform duties beyond general office work. When petitioner accepted the APS position he was responsible to audit, analyze, examine, and reconcile documents and prepare contracted purchase orders and invoices for payment on behalf of the Trenton Board of Education. The petitioner was also assigned a new function of tracking utilities. The position involved independent problem solving and exercising discretionary authority when performing his duties. While serving as an APS, the petitioner was disciplined for failing to perform all of his duties.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

The issue presented is whether the duties of petitioner's reclassified position of accounts payable specialist could be characterized as secretarial or clerical in nature, such that petitioner would have obtained tenure in that position under N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2, and therefore would have tenure for all relevant purposes. Moreover, was petitioner protected from summary termination under the tenure laws such that he would have the right to be returned to his position with back pay from July 30, 2018?

N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2, "Tenure of secretaries, assistant secretaries, school business administrators, business managers and secretarial and clerical employees," provides as follows:

> a. Any secretary, assistant secretary, school business administrator or business manager of a board of education of any school district who has or shall have devoted his full time to the duties of his office and has or shall have served therein for three consecutive calendar years, and
> b. Any person holding any secretarial or clerical position or employment under a board of education of any school district or under any officer thereof, after
> > 1. The expiration of a period of employment of three consecutive calendar years in the district or such shorter period as may be fixed by the board or officer employing him, or
> > 2. Employment for three consecutive academic years, together with employment at the beginning of the next succeeding academic year, an academic year being the period between the time when school opens in the district after the general summer vacation and the beginning of the next succeeding summer vacation, and
> c. Any person, who has acquired, or shall hereafter acquire, tenure in any secretarial or clerical office, position or employment under the board of education of a school district and has been appointed district clerk or secretary, or shall hereafter be appointed secretary of said district, as such secretary, shall hold his office, position or employment under tenure during good behavior and efficiency and shall not be dismissed or suspended or reduced in compensation, except for neglect, misbehavior or other offense and only in the manner prescribed by subarticle B of article 2 of chapter 6 of this title.

The petitioner argues that he was tenured even after he became the APS. A claim of tenure in situations such as this one imposes upon the petitioner the burden of presenting sufficient competent and credible evidence of facts essential to his claim. Here, the petitioner must prove by a preponderance of the competent and credible evidence that the respondent employed him in a clerical position in order for his claim for tenure to succeed. Wright v. E. Orange Bd. of Educ., 99 N.J. 112, 118–19 (1985); see also DiNapoli v. Bd. of Educ. of Verona, 434 N.J. Super. 233, 238 (App. Div. 2014).

The court in Barnes v. Board of Education of Jersey City, 85 N.J. Super. 42, 45 (App. Div. 1964), noted that the tenure statute was to be construed liberally, and that it was the nature of the duties performed by an employee that determined whether tenure rights were acquired, and not the title of the position. In Beaute v. Board of Education of North Arlington, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 295-80, Initial Decision (July 28, 1981), adopted, Comm'r (September 14, 1981), aff'd, State Bd. (February 3, 1982), the ALJ noted that "[a] mere change in title or creation of a paper job description, without any substantial change in specific duties is an evasion that should not be permitted to erode an employee's rights in the continuing accrual of tenure. The duties performed, rather than the title of the position, should be controlling, and we should look to the substance rather than the form."

The petitioner claims that the duties he performed in the position of APS were predominantly those that are commonly performed by individuals in today's secretarial and/or clerical workforce, like he performed as an APC. Respondent contends that although some of the functions performed by the petitioner in his position as APS could be characterized as those traditionally done by one denominated as a secretary or clerk (such as answering the phone, filing, etc.), most of his duties of the position went well beyond routine office functions, and required verification, analysis, self-direction, and independent problem solving with some authority, duties that Queval refused to perform after receiving a new job with a new title and job duties, and increased pay. Thus, this matter turns on the nature of petitioner's duties as an APS. If the facts show that the work was more like that of a secretarial position, then he would have gained tenure in that employment. If not, then he would not be tenured.

In Kopko v. Board of Education of Middletown, 2011 N.J. AGEN LEXIS 391 (July 25, 2011), adopted, 2011 N.J. AGEN LEXIS 878 (September 7, 2011), the issue was whether Kopko's duties as an assistant traffic coordinator were clerical within the meaning of N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2. The ALJ reasoned:

> The independent problem-solving tasks designated to petitioner and the authority she held to handle crises on a day-to-day basis belie her argument that she could be classified as a secretarial or clerical employee. Although > she did perform some routine office tasks, the additional responsibilities conferred upon her removed her position from one of a secretarial classification to one of authority.

Similarly, in Fink v. Board of Education of Hunterdon County Polytech, 2009 N.J. AGEN LEXIS 691 (September 28, 2009), aff'd, 2009 N.J. AGEN LEXIS 1194 (November 2, 2009), the ALJ and the Commissioner rejected Fink's claims that her time working as coordinator of adult education counted toward her tenure right as a secretary or clerk. The ALJ found that the position involved day-to-day responsibilities that far exceeded the clerical and supportive responsibilities of a secretarial position. The ALJ concluded:

> Because the duties of an adult education coordinator involve analysis, self-direction and similar higher-level responsibilities, they cannot in any way be considered equivalent to those of a secretarial position which, by its nature, involves assisting a person in authority in performing such higher-level duties and responsibilities.

Also "[t]he fact that an employee has a supervisor and is assigned work does not make him a clerical employee within the meaning of the [tenure] statute." Effenberger v. Toms River Reg'l Schs. Bd. of Educ., 95 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 66.

The petitioner also asserts that he was not advised of a change in tenure potential when the APC position was reclassified to a non-tenurable APS position. In essence, the petitioner asserts that a local school board may not sidestep tenure rights by simply renaming the position or tacking on additional meaningless requirements. The local board must extend the staff member's tenure rights to the newly created position. See Marbut v. Bd. of Educ. of S. Brunswick, 97 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 99 (determination of tenure eligibility depended upon whether the employee's duties were "predominantly clerical in nature" and whether any additional non-clerical duties were therefore "minimal and incidental to the predominantly and primarily clerical duties"); Viemeister v. Bd. of Educ. of Prospect Park, 5 N.J. Super. 215, 218 (App. Div. 1949) (wherein it was held that a tenured principal should be reinstated because his position had not in fact been abolished when the local school board created the position of "teaching" principal); Vogel v. Bd. of Educ., SB #95-83, State Bd. of Educ. (June 5, 1985), slip op. at 5–6 (explaining that a "[b]oard's decision to abolish a position is not sacrosanct and will be disturbed if it is found upon examination that the duties of the abolished position essentially have been transferred to another position so as to defeat the rights of a tenured employee to the abolished position"); Luppino v. Bayonne Bd. of Educ., 1980 S.L.D. 1028, 1035–36 (ruling that the duties of an administrator of home instruction and a principal of home instruction "were substantially the same" and a change of title "did not involve the meaningful addition of extra duties").

However, mere overlap in duties does not mean that two positions are equivalent for tenure purposes. If a newly created position is similar to a tenure holder's abolished position but also requires additional duties or different responsibilities, then the newly created position is not considered to be substantially similar to the former position. Santarsiero v. Bd. of Educ. of Parsippany-Troy Hills, 1984 S.L.D. 854, 879; see also Sandri v. Bd. of Educ. of Bergen Cnty. Vocational Sch. Dist., 1986 S.L.D. 1501 (ruling that duties of abolished position of supervisor of guidance/shop were similar but of greater nature and scope than newly created position of director of special needs and student services); Rufalo v. Bd. of Educ. of Livingston, 1986 S.L.D. 1699 (ruling that despite overlap of duties between post of vice principal and newly created supervisor position, positions were "substantially different").

Finally, in the case at hand, the parties do not dispute that Queval acquired tenure pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:17-2 while working as an accounts payable clerk. However, the petitioner claims that he cannot be "de-tenured" by the Board without a knowing and voluntary waiver of his tenure rights. Bridgewater-Raritan Educ. Ass'n v. Bd. of Educ. of Bridgewater-Raritan Sch. Dist., Somerset Cnty., 221 N.J. 349, 361 (2015). Citing Bridgewater, the court in Parsells v. Board of Education of Somerville, 472 N.J. Super. 369, 379 (App. Div. 2022), noted that "[t]he Board is best positioned to have accurate information about the consequences of a decision by . . . a tenured full-time teacher" transitioning to a different job.

Respondent asserts that Queval extinguished his tenure protections after he accepted the position of accounts payable specialist. Consequently, respondent argues that Queval was not tenured when the Board voted to terminate him effective July 20, 2018.

Under these facts, upon the voluntary acceptance of a non-tenurable position, a school-district employee typically relinquishes any protections associated with the previously tenured title. See, e.g., Colon-Serrano v. Plainfield Bd. of Educ., 2008 N.J. AGEN LEXIS 252 (January 28, 2008) (finding that an employee who had earned tenure as an attendance aide lost the protections associated with the position when she accepted the non-tenurable position of classroom aide); see also DiNapoli, 434 N.J. Super. at 240 (holding that a secretary relinquished her tenure rights when she voluntarily transferred to the position of assistant school business administrator, thus giving up her right to "bump" a non-tenured secretarial employee when the administrator position was eliminated).

Here, petitioner relinquished his tenure protections when he voluntarily accepted a promotion to APS. As a result, when the Board voted to terminate him, he was not entitled to tenure rights.

Finally, petitioner included in his verified petition of appeal a claim under the New Jersey Open Public Meetings Act, N.J.S.A. 10:4-15, regarding the Board's alleged conduct at the meeting on June 26, 2018, when petitioner was terminated. The petitioner did not offer testimony or evidence in support of this claim. Moreover, the record reflects that the petitioner no longer wished to pursue this claim.

I CONCLUDE that given the facts stipulated and proven by a preponderance of the evidence, petitioner had more duties and responsibilities as an APS than a secretarial or clerical employee, and he cannot be considered as having been employed as a secretary or clerk. As a result, petitioner did not acquire tenure in his position as an APS and has no claim to employment based upon an alleged violation of his tenure rights.

ORDER

I hereby ORDER that the petitioner's appeal be DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. Petitioner,
v.
BOROUGH OF TENAFLY BOARD OF EDUCATION,
Respondent.

H.G., petitioner appearing pro se

Stephen Fogerty, Esq. for respondent (Fogarty and Hara, attorneys)

BEFORE KIMBERLY A. MOSS, ALJ:

Petitioner, H.G. on behalf of minor child E.G., brings this action seeking E.G., be allowed to walk at the graduation ceremony although she does not have enough credits to receive a diploma.

On June 6, 2023, the Office of Special Education Programs transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for emergent relief. A telephone conference was held on June 14, 2023. Oral arguments were held on June 19, 2023.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

After carefully considering the documentary evidence presented, and having had the opportunity to hear oral arguments, I FIND the following FACTS:

E.G. and her family moved to Tenafly in mid-February 2020 from Israel. E.G. has a twin brother. When E.G. entered the district twenty-nine of her school credits from Israel were transferred. E.G. began having mental health difficulties. In May 2020 it was determined that E.G was eligible for special education services. From March 2020 through June 2020 the District provided remote learning. E.G. had difficulty with remote learning. E.G. did not receive any credits toward graduation from the District from March 2020 to June 2020. E.G. did not receive any credits toward graduation for the 2020-2021 school year. Petitioner decided to home school E.G, who was disenrolled during the 2021-2022 school year. Petitioner in homeschooling E.G. concentrated on her mental health difficulties more than academics. E.G. received no credits toward graduation for the 2021-2022 school year. E.G. returned to the District in January 2022. From January 2022 to the present E.G. has audited classes rather than taking classes for credit. E.G. has received no credits toward graduation from January 2022 to the present.

E.G. would be scheduled to graduate in June 2023 if she had the requisite credits. As of now, E.G. still only has twenty-nine credits. One hundred and twenty credits are required for a student to graduate from high school. She is classified by the District as a sophomore. The District allowed E.G. to attend the prom and other senior activities.

Petitioners want E.G. to take part in the graduation ceremony. The District allows students to take part in the graduation ceremony when the student has no more than two classes to complete and will have the required amount of credits by completing summer school the summer of the graduation. E.R. is not going to summer school. In July 2023 she is returning to Israel for a gap year after which she will continue her education in Israel. E.G. had forty unexcused absences while she was auditing classes in the 2022-2023 school year.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

The standards for the granting of emergent relief are set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b). Emergent relief may be granted if the judge determines from the proofs that:

1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted;
2. The legal right underlying the petitioner's claim is settled;
3. The petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and
4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

In this matter, the petitioner has not shown that E.G. will suffer irreparable harm if she is not allowed to participate in the graduation ceremony. Petitioner has provided no documentation of E.R.'s medical condition.

Petitioners have not shown that they have a likelihood of prevailing on the merits or that the petitioners' underlying claim is settled. N.J.S.A. provides:

> The board of education of a school district and the board of trustees of a charter school shall permit a student who has been classified as eligible for special education programs and services pursuant to chapter 46 of Title 18A of the New Jersey Statutes and whose individualized education program prescribes continued special education programs beyond the fourth year of high school to participate in commencement ceremonies with his graduating class and to receive a certificate of attendance, provided that the student has attended four years of high school.

E.G did not attend four years of high school. She was home schooled for one year and audited classes without credit from January 2022 through June 2023. E.G does not intend to come back to the District. E.G. will leave for Israel in July 2023, have a gap year, and then complete her high school education in Israel.

After hearing the arguments of petitioner and respondent and considering the documentation submitted, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has not met the requirements of N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(b).

ORDER

Accordingly, it is ORDERED that the petition for emergent relief is hereby DENIED.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who/which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five days following the entry of this order. If (title of agency head) does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

ORDER ON EMERGENT RELIEF

OAL DKT. NO. EDU 05399-23

AGENCY DKT. NO. 165-6/23

E.C.-G. ON BEHALF OF A.J.G.,

Petitioner,

v.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF JERSEY CITY, HUDSON COUNTY,

Respondent.

E.C.-G., petitioner pro se

Cherie L. Adams, Esq., for respondent Board of Education of the City of Jersey City (Adams, Gutierrez & Lattiboudere, attorneys)

BEFORE GAIL M. COOKSON, ALJ:

Petitioner E.C.-G. filed a Petition of Appeal electronically with the Department of Education on Sunday, June 18, 2023, and perfected it on June 20, 2023, seeking emergent relief against the Board of Education of the City of Jersey City (Jersey City or District) in the form of an Order requiring the District to allow her son A.J.G. to graduate with a diploma and at the commencement ceremony scheduled for tomorrow, Friday, June 23, 2023.

The Department of Education, Office of Controversies and Disputes (DOE), transmitted the Application for Emergent Relief to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on June 20, 2023. The matter was assigned to the undersigned for oral argument and was scheduled for June 22, 2023. On that date, I entered an oral decision on the record in order to facilitate expedited review by the Commissioner. This decision now memorializes that ruling.

UNDISPUTED FACTS ON EMERGENT PETITION

1. Petitioner has a son, A.J.G., who is now eighteen and was a senior at Henry Snyder High School. The 2022-2023 school year has now been concluded and graduation for eligible seniors in scheduled for tomorrow, Friday, June 23, 2023.

2. During his senior year, A.J.G. took a full-year, five-credit class in Sculpture. That class was the first period of the day. Eligibility for graduation requires completion of 120 credits. A.J.G. needed these five credits to fulfill that requirement.

3. The District has a Student Code of Conduct that contains its attendance policies. It states that a student cannot miss more than 10% of the school days on unexcused absences, or 18 days out of the school calendar. The policies also define that lateness to class counts as a "tardy" unless the student arrives after the half-way point of the class, in which case it counts as an "unexcused absence." Teachers mark it accordingly on a daily, real-time, basis. [See Certification of Acting Principal Iguana Leftwich.]

4. Over the course of the year, A.J.G. was marked tardy a total of twenty-four times to Sculpture class, and marked absent as a very late tardy approximately thirty-one times. In April 2023, he was given the opportunity to remove up to ten of those days by participating in what the District refers to as "seat time recovery." A.J.G. availed himself of most of that opportunity, earning back eight of the days. Yet, his tardiness continued unabated into June. He ended the school year with twenty-three unexcused absences, twelve excused absences, and twenty-four tardies in Sculpture.

5. Petitioner and her husband had been advised about their son's poor attendance and tardiness on numerous occasions during the school year, including in November, January, March, April, May and June. In fact, by June 2, 2023, both the student and his parents were advised that he had missed his chance to make himself eligible for graduation. They were advised that he would be required to make-up the missing five credits during the summer and that he would not be allowed to walk at the commencement ceremony.

6. On oral argument, petitioner reiterated her complaints about a lack of proper notice and/or warnings concerning A.J.G.'s poor attendance record, the consequences of same, and the lack of any plan to help him complete his graduation requirements.

7. A.J.G. apparently constructed enough pottery in the time he was in the Sculpture classroom to have a passing grade, but for the number of unexcused absences.

8. This emergent relief petition was not filed until two weeks after the student and the parents were advised that he would be ineligible for graduation or commencement, thus exacerbating the time crunch of hearing this case before tomorrow's ceremony.

LEGAL DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

For the reasons set forth below after due consideration of the written submissions and oral argument received, I CONCLUDE that petitioner's request for emergent relief must be DENIED.

Petitioner's petition for emergent relief may only be granted if she satisfies the well-known factors set for in Crowe v. DeGoia, 90 N.J. 126 (1986), and I determine that the balance of equities favors granting said relief, to wit:

> 1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted;

2. The legal right underlying the petitioner's claim is settled;

3. The petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and

The touchstone of emergent relief is whether irreparable harm will befall the petitioning party prior to the ability of a forum or agency to hear the underlying merits. In the within matter, I CONCLUDE that A.J.G. will not be irreparably harmed by the denial of a diploma and participation in tomorrow's graduation ceremony. The District has the rare practice of scheduling a full cap-and-gown graduation ceremony with speakers, the principal, parents, guests, and other students who also earn their diploma over the summer. Moreover, his acceptance to college is not in jeopardy although I recognize that the summer course might overlap with the start of college football practice. I address this potential concern below but I also note that the college he will be attending is in Reading, Pennsylvania, which is not an excessive distance from New Jersey.

There also does not seem to be any likelihood of success on the merits of petitioner's emergent request. The Student Code of Conduct is a clearly stated policy and is consistent with the District's obligations to have an attendance policy. Therein, it is set forth that a student cannot be so late to class that they miss more than half of the class period. Such tardiness counts as an absence and is marked contemporaneously as such by the teacher each day on the attendance sheet. As demonstrated by the undisputed facts, A.J.G. was tardy to his first period Sculpture class over fifty times, with over thirty of those being marked as unexcused absences, inclusive of the eight days he did makeup with "seat time recovery." Even if he had earned the maximum ten days back, he still would have exceeded the number of allowed absences. Accordingly, on this central concept, petitioner does not have a strong likelihood of success on the merits. He violated the attendance policy to an excessive degree; he and his parents were warned several times[1]; and, I CONCLUDE that he must accept the consequences of that behavior.

The other Crowe factors require the balance of equities and the individual and public interests. Again, and as I stated on the record, to excuse A.J.G. from the attendance policy, notwithstanding all these days late to class, so he can graduate with his friends and attend football camp in August without having to make up the five credits over the summer is to allow him to skirt an important life lesson: showing up is part of his responsibility as a student, and it will be at college and at any future employment. It is of no moment to my consideration that he could complete some pottery in half the time.

For the same reason, excusing A.J.G. from the consequences of his tardiness will send the wrong message to other students and parents, and would be inherently unfair. Therefore, the public interest weighs against granting the relief sought as well.

Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that petitioner's application for emergent relief seeking an Order allowing A.J.G. to graduate with a diploma and attend the main commencement ceremony with his classmates must be denied.

I recommend that the District work with the parents and the student to schedule a summer course during which he can make up the five credits for graduation that will also not interfere, to the greatest extent possible, with college football practices.

ORDER

ACCORDINGLY, it is ORDERED that petitioner's application for emergent relief is and the same is hereby DENIED.

[1]There is no obligation that the District must contact the parents each time a high school student shows up late to class but attends the remainder of the class and school day.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND GENERAL RELEASE

This Settlement Agreement and General Release (hereinafter Agreement) is entered into between the State-Operated School District of the City of Camden (hereinafter the District), with an address of 1033 Cambridge Street, Camden, NJ 08105 and Ramadan M. Bayyan (Bayyan) with an address of P.O. Box 13095, Philadelphia, PA 19101 (the District and Bayyan are sometimes collectively referred to as the Parties or individually as a Party).

WHEREAS Bayyan was employed as a tenured Industrial Arts teacher by the District;

WHEREAS the District terminated Bayyan's employment as the result of a reduction in force (RIF);

WHEREAS Bayyan filed a Petition of Appeal (Petition) with the New Jersey Commissioner of Education (Commissioner) challenging the termination of his tenured employment;

WHEREAS the Petition is pending before the New Jersey Office of Administrative Law (OAL) under the caption Ramadan Bayyan v. State-Operated School District of the City of Camden, Camden County, Agency Docket No. 192-7/15, OAL Docket No. EDU 16977-15;

WHEREAS the Parties mutually desire to consensually resolve the matter;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual covenants and promises contained herein, the legal sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged by the Parties, the District and Bayyan hereby agree as follows:

1. Effective Date. This Agreement shall be deemed ratified by the State District Superintendent as authorized representative of the District in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:7A-35. The District agrees to fully execute this Agreement within seven (7) to ten (10) days from the date of Bayyan's partial execution thereof. The Agreement will then be submitted to the New Jersey Division of Pensions and Benefits (Division of Pensions) and/or the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund Board of Trustees (TPAF Board) for approval. Following approval by the Division of Pensions and/or TPAF Board, this Agreement shall take effect on the date it is approved by the Commissioner.

2. Payment by the District. In full and final settlement of this matter, the District will pay a total of $392,086.93 to Bayyan, representing full back pay for the period from July 1, 2015 through and including February 29, 2020, less $12,286.79 earnings in mitigation. Payment will be subject to the standard payroll deductions, including but not limited to any employee pension contributions. Payment will be due within thirty (30) days following approval of this Agreement by the Commissioner. The District will issue an IRS form W-2 to Bayyan. The Parties mutually understand that the State will pay the pension amount required by the Division of Pensions and/or TPAF for the employer. Should the Parties' mutual understanding be incorrect and the employer contribution must be made by the District, the Parties agree in advance to adjust any pension calculations to reflect the required employer pension contribution. Following payment of all required contributions, Bayyan will then have the opportunity to apply to the Division of Pensions for pension credit and/or the reopening of his pension account and/or modification of his pension amount. In the event that the Division of Pensions and/or TPAF determines that the District is responsible for paying the employer pension contribution, the Parties mutually agree to make any modifications necessary to this Agreement; however, the Parties understand that the total amount paid by the District to Bayyan (or, if necessary, to the Division of Pensions on Bayyan's behalf) is fixed at $392,086.93.

3. Agency Approval. This Agreement is subject to review and approval by the Commissioner and the Division of Pensions and/or the TPAF Board. Should the Commissioner and/or the Division of Pensions and/or the TPAF Board fail to approve the Agreement for any reason, the Parties agree in advance to reform the Agreement to the extent necessary to meet any objections and secure approval. Neither the District, legal counsel for either Party, nor anyone else has made any representation or guarantee that the Division of Pensions will approve Bayyan's application for pension credit and/or the reopening of his pension account and/or modification of his pension amount. The Parties understand and acknowledge that only the Division of Pensions can approve such credit, reopening, or modification. In the event that any application is not successful and the Division of Pensions returns the employee pension contribution for Bayyan to the District, the District will promptly return the contribution to Bayyan.

4. General Release. The Parties agree that this Agreement shall act as a release of any and all claims that each may have against each other, their respective dependents, heirs, shareholders, directors, officers, members, employees, agents, attorneys, affiliates, parents, subsidiaries, predecessors, successors, assigns, and all persons acting by, through, under, or in concert with any of them, from the beginning of time up to and including the effective date of this Agreement, such claims including but not limited to all known and unknown charges, complaints, claims, grievances, liabilities, obligations, promises, agreements, controversies, damages, actions, causes of action, suits, rights, demands, costs, losses, debts, penalties, fees, and expenses (including attorneys' fees and costs actually incurred) of any nature whatsoever that Bayyan has, ever had, or may have had, against the District, whether or not apparent, yet to be discovered, or which may hereafter develop, for any acts or omissions relating to or arising from anything that has happened up to the effective date of this Agreement. This release specifically includes, but is not limited to, any claims that Bayyan asserted, or may have asserted, under the National Labor Relations Act; the Civil Rights Act of 1964; Sections 1981 through 1988 of Title 42 of the United States Code; the Employment Retirement Income Security Act; the Immigration Reform Control Act; the Americans with Disabilities Act; the Age Discrimination & Employment Act; the Fair Labor Standards Act; the Occupational Safety & Health Act; the Family & Medical Leave Act; the Equal Pay Act; the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination; the New Jersey Wage Payment Law; the New Jersey Minimum Wage Act; the New Jersey Family Leave Act; the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act; the Education Laws (Title 18A); and the Education Regulations (Title 6A), with the exception of the claims mentioned in Paragraph 6 below; any present and/or future constitution, statute, regulation, ordinance, executive order, public policy, or common law; any written, verbal or implied contract, policy, plan, and/or procedure; and any other authority or basis for seeking damages or relief of any kind. Bayyan acknowledges that this is a full, complete and general release of any and all claims against the District, and that this release applies to the District, all departments and subdivisions of the District, and all of the District's

5. Covenant Not to Sue. Other than the Petition, Bayyan warrants that he has not commenced any legal proceedings of any type (including but not limited to charges filed with any governmental agency) against the District. Bayyan further agrees that he will not commence any legal proceedings against the District arising from or relating to anything that has happened up to the effective date of this Agreement. Should any such legal proceedings be commenced on Bayyan's behalf, Bayyan agrees that he will not seek or accept any relief or recovery therefrom. In the event of a violation of this paragraph, Bayyan agrees that the District shall be entitled to immediate dismissal of the legal proceedings. Should any entity, agency, commission, or person file a charge, action, complaint, or lawsuit against the District based on any of claims released under Paragraph 3 above, Bayyan agrees not to seek or accept any resulting relief whatsoever in accordance with this paragraph.

The District reserves its right to assert any and all defenses to the claims listed in this paragraph. Bayyan is not aware, as of the date of the execution of this Agreement, of any bases for any of the above claims not released.

7. Older Workers Benefit Protection Act. The general releases in Paragraph 4 above include a waiver and release of all claims under the Age Discrimination in Employment Act (ADEA) and Older Workers Benefit Protection Act (OWBPA). Under the requirements of the ADEA and OWBPA, Bayyan specifically acknowledges that:

Board of Education of the Township of Bedminster, Somerset County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the proposed Settlement Agreement and Release (Agreement), and the Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner notes that paragraph 2 of the Agreement references actions that preceded the consideration of the settlement by the Commissioner of Education. The parties are reminded that a settlement of litigation before the Commissioner is not binding until the Commissioner approves the settlement.

In light of the foregoing, the Commissioner adopts the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter, provided that the parties have already implemented the settlement terms or have agreed upon mutually satisfactory alternate dates for the effectuation of the terms of the Agreement. Assuming same, the matter is hereby dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Payment shall be made to the Bedminster Township Board of Education's business office by the 5th day of each month after the initial $2000.00 payment is made within thirty (30) days of Board Approval of this Agreement. In the event that any payment is late, the Respondent's business office will send a letter within 20 days to Petitioner Lisa Nicolau via regular and certified mail to cure the default. If the default is not cured within 10 days thereafter, the Respondent shall immediately move to enforce the Settlement Agreement and seek Judgement as set forth in paragraph 14 below.

the signing of this Settlement Agreement and Release.

7. No Admission of Liability:

(a) Respondent expressly denies liability for any and all of the Petitioners' claims, whether known or unknown, alleged in the Petition of Appeal. It is understood and agreed between the Petitioners and Respondent that this Agreement will not be construed at any time or for any purpose as an admission by the Respondent of any act or omission alleged by Petitioners, or any acts or omissions that could have been alleged by Petitioners, or any liability or responsibility for any wrongdoing of any kind;

(b) The Parties expressly agree that neither of them shall be considered to be a "prevailing party" as a result of this Agreement; and

It is the Parties' understanding, agreement and expectation that this confidentiality provision shall apply to the fullest extent permissible by law, and shall preclude the Petitioner, their agents or representatives, from voluntarily or otherwise testifying at or participating in any proceeding, hearing, trial or preparation for hearing or trial, concerning the matters covered by this confidentiality provision, unless compelled to do so by law or by court order. The sole consideration for this confidentiality provision is the mutuality of the obligations of the Parties with respect thereto.

Not by way of limiting the foregoing, the interpretation of any provision (in part or in whole) of this Settlement Agreement and Release shall not, in any manner, be interpreted against the drafter.

13. Entire Agreement:

This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement between the Petitioner and the Respondent with respect to the Petition of Appeal and supersedes all prior written or oral agreements, statements, offers or understandings between the Parties. New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Jennifer Rome,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Willingboro, Burlington County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioner alleged that the respondent Board violated her tenure rights by terminating her employment at the end of her contract term in June 2022. Petitioner asserted that she obtained tenure as the result of her four years of non-consecutive employment within a five-year period with the Board, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5. The Board contended that petitioner did not obtain tenure because her initial short-term employment was to fill an absence, which is an exception to the tenure accrual statute and not entitled to credit towards tenure. The Board filed a motion for summary decision, which was opposed by the petitioner.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue here, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; petitioner was hired as a computer teacher on August 30, 2017, to fill a long-term absence; the contract for this temporary position provided that it could be terminated by either party upon thirty days' notice; petitioner served in the position as computer teacher until January 2018; in a subsequent application for employment with the school district, petitioner indicated that her prior position with the Board had been as a "long-term sub"; petitioner was retained as an elementary school teacher on October 15, 2018; and her employment continued under annual contracts for the 2019-2020, 2020-2021, and 2021-2022 school years; petitioner was advised on April 22, 2022 that the District would not renew her contract for the following school year; and N.J.S.A. 18A:16-1 specifically addresses the tenure acquisition rights of employees filling long-term substitute positions, providing in relevant part that "no person so acting shall acquire tenure in the office or employment in which he acts pursuant to this section when so acting." The ALJ concluded that the petitioner did not obtain tenure rights in the District through benefit of the long-term substitute contract in the 2017-2018 school year, and therefore did not have sufficient time to acquire tenure in the district.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that petitioner did not acquire tenure because her position during the 2017-2018 school year as a long-term substitute cannot be included in the calculation of her years of service pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:16-1.1. Accordingly, the Board's motion for summary decision was granted, and the petition of appeal was dismissed.

Petitioner,
v.
WILLINGBORO TOWNSHIP BOARD OF EDUCATION, BURLINGTON COUNTY,
Respondent.

Jennifer Rome, petitioner, pro se

Mark W. Starsle, Esq., for respondent (Madden & Madden, PA, attorneys)

Record Closed: April 12, 2023 Decided: May 17, 2023

BEFORE SARAH G. CROWLEY, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, Jennifer Rome alleges the respondent, Willingboro Township Board of Education (Board or District) violated her tenure rights by terminating her at the end of her contract term in June 2022. Petitioner alleges that she obtained tenure due to her four years of non-consecutive employment within a five-year period with the Board pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A: 28-5. The Board counters that the petitioner did not obtain tenure due to her initial short-term contract to fill an absence, which is an exception to the tenure accrual statute, and not entitled to credit towards tenure. The petitioner filed a due process complaint and the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed for hearing as a contested case on August 29, 2023, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to 3. The Board filed a motion for summary decision on March 21, 2023. Opposition was filed by the petitioner and oral argument was heard via Zoom on April 12, 2023, and the record closed.

Based on the documents and certifications filed in this matter, I FIND the following as FACTS:

1. Petitioner was retained by the District on August 30, 2017, to fill a long-term absence as a computer teacher.

2. The contract provides that it may be terminated by either party upon thirty-days' notice.

3. The petitioner served in this position from August 30, 2017, until January 2018.

4. In a subsequent application for employment with the District, petitioner indicated that her prior position was a "long-term sub."

5. Thereafter, on October 15, 2018, petitioner was retained as an elementary school teacher. Subsequent elementary school teacher contracts were executed for the 2019–2020, 2020–2021, and 2021–2022 school years.

6. Petitioner worked for less than four years in a tenure eligible position for the District.

7. On April 22, 2022, the District advised the petitioner of its intention not to renew petitioner's contract for the following school year.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

It is well-established that if there is no genuine issue as to any material fact, a moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. Brill v. The Guardian Life Insurance Co. of America, 142 N.J. 520, 540 (1995). The purpose of summary decision is to avoid unnecessary hearings and their concomitant burden on public resources. Under the Brill standard, a fact-finding hearing should be avoided "when the evidence is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law." Brill guides us thusly:

> [A] determination whether there exists a "genuine issue" of material fact that precludes summary judgment requires the motion judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to permit a rational factfinder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party.

In this case, the petitioner argues that she obtained tenure under N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5. The petitioner argues that the time in which she was retained for the short-term contract for a long-term substitute constitutes time toward her tenure. The District argues that her time as a long-term substitute does not court towards the accrual of tenure under the language of N.J.S.A. 18A:16-1.1.

The petitioner has argued that she obtained her tenure under N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5, and that her long-term substitute position should count toward her accumulation of time for tenure. She argues, without any support, that this was a full-time position which should count toward tenure. However, she was terminated at the end of the contract period in December 2018, and acknowledged in her application for a new position with the District that she was "a long-term substitute" during the 2017–2018 school year. N.J.S.A.18A:16-1 specifically addresses the tenure acquisition rights of employees filling long-term substitute positions. The statute provides in relevant part that "no person so acting shall acquire tenure in the office or employment in which he acts pursuant to this section when so acting. Spiewak v. Bd. of Education of Rutherford, 90 N.J. 63 (1982).

Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the petitioner did not obtain tenure rights in the District due to the long-term substitute contract in the 2017–2018 school year, and accordingly insufficient time to acquire tenure.

ORDER

For the foregoing reasons, I ORDER that the motion of respondent Willingboro Township Board of Education is GRANTED, and the petition is DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

B.A. and R.R., on behalf of minor child, E.A.,

Petitioners,

v.

Board of Education of the West Essex Regional School District, Essex County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioners appealed the decision of the respondent Board to suspend their child, E.A., for five days after a substitute teacher observed E.A. in the student restroom with a vaping device in her mouth, and a subsequent urine drug screen collected the following day yielded a "negative dilute" result. The Board assumed that the dilute test result indicated tampering with the sample and interpreted the test as a "presumptive positive" result. Based on this, the Board determined that E.A.'s alleged use of a vaping device warranted a suspension under the Board's Substance Abuse Policy (R 5530). Petitioners alleged that the Board repeatedly violated school policy in its disciplinary actions relating to their daughter and sought, inter alia, to have the suspension expunged from E.A.'s student record.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: E.A.'s testimony lacked credibility, while the testimony of the Board's witnesses was straightforward and direct; school board policies are entitled to a presumption of correctness and will not be upset by the courts unless there is an affirmative showing that such decision is arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable; the Board admitted that it did not immediately send E.A. for a urine drug screen as its policy requires, however petitioners' assertion that this error rendered the suspension arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable is without merit; likewise, petitioners' contention that the interpretation of the dilute negative urine test as a presumptive positive result was arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable, was unconvincing given the Board's ample demonstration that it had followed this practice for many years; petitioners bears the burden of showing that the respondent's actions were arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable and failed to do so. The ALJ concluded that the five-day suspension was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable; accordingly, E.A.'s suspension was affirmed, and the petition was dismissed with prejudice.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings of fact and credibility determinations but did not concur with all the ALJ's conclusions of law, determining, inter alia, that the Board's decision to suspend E.A. for five days based solely upon a negative dilute urine screen was unreasonable and unsupported by the Board's Substance Abuse Policy (R 5530) or the 2021-2022 Student Handbook. Accordingly, the Commissioner directed the Board to remove from E.A.'s student records all information pertaining to the unreasonable disciplinary action taken against her in May 2022.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader and has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

B.A. and R.R., on behalf of minor child, E.A.,

Petitioners,

v.

Board of Education of the West Essex Regional School District, Essex County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the exceptions filed by the petitioners pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and the Board's reply thereto, have been reviewed and considered.

This matter involves the Board's decision to suspend E.A. for five days. A substitute teacher familiar with E.A. observed her in the student restroom with a blue vaping device in her mouth, and a urine drug screen she took the following day yielded a "negative dilute" result. Assuming tampering had occurred, the Board interpreted the dilute result as a "presumptive positive" result and determined that it warranted a suspension under the Board's Substance Abuse Policy (R 5530). The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) concluded that the five-day suspension was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

Although the Board admitted that it did not immediately send E.A. for a urine drug screen as its policy requires, the ALJ rejected petitioners' contentions that the Board's misstep rendered the suspension arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable, and declined to find that the Board acted in bad faith. The ALJ also rejected petitioners' assertion that the Board's decision to interpret the dilute result as a presumptive positive result was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable, finding that the Board "amply demonstrated this practice going back to at least 2007." Finally, the ALJ rejected petitioners' claim that a subsequent urine drug screen from E.A., which yielded a positive result for marijuana metabolite, should be disregarded because the threshold used to interpret the result did not conform to United States Department of Transportation (DOT) guidelines utilized by the district.

In their exceptions, petitioners again argue that: (1) the Board's actions to suspend E.A. were arbitrary and committed in bad faith; (2) the Board failed to follow its own policy in that it did not send E.A. for a drug screen until the day after she was allegedly observed vaping; and (3) the Board arbitrarily interpreted the negative dilute result as a presumptive positive result. In addition, petitioners contend that it was unreasonable for the Board to require E.A. to produce a clean urine drug screen before returning to school after she had served the five-day suspension because marijuana is known to stay in the body for up to thirty days.

In reply, the Board argues that its actions were reasonable given the circumstances and were not undertaken in bad faith. While it acknowledges that Board policies did not state that a negative dilute result would be considered a presumptive positive result warranting a suspension, it maintains that its actions were reasonable given the objective nature of the testing and its past practice of interpreting dilute results in this fashion for approximately fifteen years. Moreover, the Board asserts that petitioners' reliance on DOT guidelines is misplaced as the Commissioner does not require districts to follow them. Finally, the Board contends that because petitioners did not raise the school "re-entry" claim before the ALJ, their argument on that issue should be disregarded.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ's findings of fact and credibility determinations while partially concurring with the ALJ's conclusions of law. Initially, the Commissioner agrees with the ALJ that it was reasonable for the Board to refer E.A. for a urine drug screen the day after she was observed with the vape pen. However, the Commissioner disagrees with the ALJ's conclusion that the Board's decision to suspend E.A. for five days because her drug screen yielded a negative dilute result was reasonable.

The Legislature granted local boards of education sweeping authority to enact rules regarding operation of their public schools. N.J.S.A. 18A:11-1(c), (d); Bd. of Educ. of City of Plainfield v. Cooperman, 105 N.J. 587, 596 (1987). Board action conducted within the ambit of its broad discretionary authority "may not be upset unless patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Kopera v. W. Orange Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960). Board determinations are "entitled to a presumption of correctness." Thomas v. Bd. of Educ. of Twp. of Morris, 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965), aff'd, 46 N.J. 581 (1966). The Commissioner may not substitute her judgment for that of the Board. Schinck v. Bd. of Educ. of Westwood Consol. Sch. Dist., 60 N.J. Super. 448, 476 (App. Div. 1960).

Boards may suspend a student from school if the student's conduct constitutes "good cause" for suspension. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2. While the statute lists several examples of conduct that satisfy the good cause standard, boards may suspend a student for other reasons so long as the good cause standard is met. State education regulations require boards to implement a code of student conduct, aimed at "foster[ing] the health, safety, and social and emotional well-being of students," which must establish parameters for discipline and include a description of conduct that will result in suspension. N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.1(a), N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.1(b), N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.1(c).

Additionally, in the interest of student health and safety, boards are required to implement "a comprehensive substance abuse intervention, prevention and treatment referral program" in their elementary and secondary schools to "identify pupils who are substance abusers, assess the extent of these pupils' involvement with these substances and, where appropriate, refer pupils and their families to . . . professional treatment." N.J.S.A. 18A:40A-10. The statute defines "substances" to include "[a]ny chemical or compound that releases vapor," and the policies apply to "students who consume or are suspected of being under the influence of or who possess" substances on school grounds. N.J.S.A. 18A:40A-9; N.J.A.C. 6A:16-4.1(a).

To satisfy this legislative mandate, boards must "adopt and implement . . . policies and procedures for the evaluation, referral for treatment and discipline of pupils involved in incidents of possession or abuse of substances . . . on school property." N.J.S.A. 18A:40A-11; N.J.A.C. 6A:16-4.1(a). The Board's Substance Abuse Policy (R 5530) provides that students found in possession of or using a "vape product" on school grounds "will be assessed to determine if the student is under the influence of drugs or other substance." Additionally, it states that "[s]tudents who violate the substance abuse rules will be disciplined as per the Code of Conduct outlined in the Student Handbook."

The Board's 2021-2022 Student Handbook states that conduct involving "Tobacco Products Electronic cigarettes/Vaping products (paraphernalia) (and) Smokeless Tobacco Items containing Nicotine" violates the student code of conduct and will result in a two-day suspension for a student's first offense. The Student Handbook distinguishes this conduct from conduct involving "possession of drug or drug paraphernalia or use of an illegal substance." If a student is found to be in "possession of an illegal substance or paraphernalia while in school," a suspension "not less than ten days" is imposed. If a student is found to be "under the influence" of an illegal substance while at school, a suspension "not less than five days" is imposed for a first offense.

In this case, a substitute teacher deemed credible by the ALJ testified that she saw E.A. in the student restroom with a blue vape pen in her mouth on May 12, 2022. E.A., found to be "not credible" by the ALJ, denied vaping in the restroom but claimed that she used marijuana the night before and generally consumes a lot of water. The substitute teacher did not report the incident until the end of the school day.[1] Consequently, E.A. was not interviewed by the assistant principal or drug screened until the following day, May 13, 2022. At that point, E.A. was not in possession of the vape pen. However, the assistant principal – deemed credible by the ALJ – testified that she explained to E.A. that "a staff member . . . saw her in the bathroom the previous day vaping" and that E.A. "acknowledged that it had happened." The assistant principal further testified that a decision was made to send E.A. for a urine drug screen the following day because it was not known what substance the vape pen contained.

At the outset, the ALJ's credibility findings are entitled to deference. In re Young, 202 N.J. 50, 71 (2010). The Commissioner agrees with the ALJ that there is nothing in the record to establish that the Board acted in bad faith by sending E.A. for a drug screen the day after the incident in the restroom. Given the circumstances, it would have been unreasonable and contrary to the Board's Substance Abuse Policy to decline to refer E.A. for a urine drug screen solely because the substitute teacher did not immediately report the incident. As noted, the purpose of the referral program is to identify pupils who may need substance abuse treatment. N.J.S.A. 18A:40A-10; N.J.S.A. 18A:40A-11. The Board's actions reasonably comport with that important goal.

[1] N.J.S.A. 18A:40A-12(a) requires that such incidents be reported to the school nurse or student assistance counselor (SAC) and the principal or designee "as soon as possible."

However, the Commissioner finds that the Board's decision to suspend E.A. for five days based upon a negative dilute urine screen result was arbitrary and lacked a rational basis. Credible testimony from both the assistant principal and the Student Assistance Counselor (SAC) confirmed that the Board chose not to suspend E.A. for possession of a vape pen. Rather, the Board suspended E.A. following its receipt of the negative dilute urine screen result on May 19, 2022. On that same date, petitioners were informed in writing that "a DILUTE result is considered positive according to [Board] policy" and thus warranted a five-day suspension for E.A. But neither the Board's Substance Abuse Policy (R 5530) nor the 2021-2022 Student Handbook indicate that students will receive a five-day suspension if their urine drug screen yields a negative dilute result, or that such a result will be treated as a presumptive positive.[2]

On the contrary, the Board's Substance Abuse Policy (R 5530) states that once a student is referred for a screening to determine whether she is under the influence, "the student shall be allowed to return to school until such time as a positive determination of alcohol or other drug use is received from the examining physician, unless the student was also removed for violating the Code of Student Conduct." It also states that "[i]f the written report of the medical examination verifies that alcohol or other drugs do not interfere with the student's physical and mental ability to perform in school, the student will be immediately returned to school." The Substance Abuse Policy (R 5530) makes no mention of either the significance or ramifications of a dilute result.

The record indicates that E.A. was medically cleared to return to school by a physician on May 13, 2022—the same day she completed the initial urine drug screen. And yet, the Board imposed the five-day suspension beginning on May 20, 2022, upon its receipt of the negative dilute urine screen result absent any evidence that she deliberately tampered with the sample. While the Student Handbook contemplates a suspension of not less than five days for a first offense if a student is found to be "under the influence" of an illegal substance while at school, the negative dilute urine screen result—collected the day after E.A. was observed with a vape pen in the student restroom—failed to establish that E.A. was under the influence of drugs or other substances on school grounds on May 12, 2022.

It is not known from the record whether the vape pen contained an illegal substance. The fact that a subsequent urine sample collected during E.A.'s suspension on May 24, 2022 yielded a positive result for marijuana metabolite fails to support the conclusion that E.A. was under the influence of marijuana at school on May 12, 2022, when she was observed with the vape pen in her mouth.[3] The Board's SAC, qualified as an expert by the ALJ, conceded that "it's impossible to tell exactly when someone inhaled marijuana, how you, how many metabolites

In addition, credible testimony from the assistant principal and the Board's SAC undermines the Board's position that it was reasonable to interpret the negative dilute urine screen result as a presumptive positive. The assistant principal credibly testified that she informed E.A. that if the drug screen "comes back positive, yes you're going to be suspended. If it comes back negative, then no." Moreover, the SAC testified that he informed E.A. and her stepfather before they departed school grounds to attend the drug screening that she "should not drink copious amounts of water because it could render the [drug screen] results inconclusive." While it would have been reasonable for the Board to view the negative dilute urine screen result as inconclusive and to request that E.A. provide another urine sample, it was unreasonable for the Board to treat it as a presumptive positive result warranting a five-day suspension absent any basis for same other than apparent past practice in the district dating back to 2007.

As for petitioners' contention that it was unreasonable for the Board to require E.A. to produce a clean urine drug screen before returning to school because marijuana is known to stay in the body for up to thirty days, the Commissioner finds that petitioners failed to offer any competent evidence to support their position.

In sum, the Commissioner holds that the Board's decision to suspend E.A. for five days based solely upon a negative dilute urine screen was unreasonable and unsupported by the Board's Substance Abuse Policy (R 5530) or its 2021-2022 Student Handbook. The Board is hereby directed to remove all information pertaining to the unreasonable disciplinary action taken against E.A. from her student record.

Record closed: February 10, 2023 Decided: April 6, 2023

BEFORE THOMAS R. BETANCOURT, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioners filed a pro se Petition of Appeal seeking Emergent Relief with the Office of Controversies and Disputes in the New Jersey Department of Education (DOE) on July 27, 2022.

Said emergent motion sought an order removing a disciplinary suspension imposed upon E.A.; compensatory education; a review of School Policies, procedures and staff training; and such other relief deemed appropriate by the Commissioner.

Respondent Board filed its Answer to the Petition, a brief in opposition to the request for emergent relief, and the Certification of Anthony V. Emering, with Exhibits 1 through 8.

Oral argument via Zoom was held on August 2, 2022. The emergent application was denied orally from the bench and memorialized in an Order.

A telephone conference was held on September 16, 2022, to discuss scheduling of oral argument on a motion for summary decision filed by Respondent, scheduling of the hearing should the motion be unsuccessful, and to address the student's status pending a decision on the instant matter. An Order was entered the same date directing Respondent to stay E.A.'s status as "not in good standing" until the entry of an Initial Decision in the within matter.

Respondent filed a motion for summary decision on September 9, 2022. Petitioner filed his response thereto, and a counter motion for summary decision, and a motion to compel discovery on September 21, 2022. Respondent filed its brief in opposition to the counter motion for summary decision on October 10, 2022. Petitioner filed his reply thereto on October 23, 2022. Oral argument on the motions was held on November 17, 2022. An Order was entered on November 18, 2022 denying the motion for summary decision and the cross motion for summary decision.

The undersigned reserved on the motion to compel discovery and directed the parties from the bench, at the conclusion of oral argument on the cross motions, to work out the discovery issues, as set forth in said order.

The hearing was held on December 20, 2022. The parties were granted time to obtain transcripts of the proceedings and to submit written summations. Each party submitted their written summations on February 10, 2023, whereupon the record was closed.

SUMMARY OF RELEVANT TESTIMONY

E.A. testified as follows:

Direct Examination

She was in the bathroom on May 12, 2022, between classes. Suddenly all the kids in the bathroom scrambled. She was unsure of how many kids were in the bathroom. A substitute teacher, Ms. Caria, walked into the bathroom. E.A. was unsure at what time that occurred.

The next day she was taken to the office by Mr. Emering. In the office were Westervelt and Hoebee. They were asking her questions. She was told she was in the office because she was vaping. She responded "oh".

Her mother was then called, who was at work. She was not sure if her father, B.A., was called. Her stepfather, J.R., was called. He picked her up from school and took her home.

When in the office she was told she would be drug tested. She admitted to using marijuana the night before, terming it "one tiny hit".

She further explained that she drinks a lot of water, and did so the morning of Friday, May 13, 2022.

Cross Examination

She has applied to several colleges, nine in total. She has been accepted at the University of Arizona, the University of Delaware, Penn State, Ohio State and Indiana. She has not heard from the other schools, as yet.

While she was suspended she had access to Google Classroom.

She reviewed her grades and report card. She did well, except for Latin. She received a D- on the final. She received a D+ on the Latin mid-term exam.

Her cumulative GPA is 4.2024.

Violet Capria testified as follows:

DIRECT EXAMINATION

She is employed by West Essex Regional High School as a permanent substitute teacher. She knows E.A. who was in her proctoring for make up assignments. She spent a whole week with E.A. This was during E.A.'s junior year (2021/2022 school year).

On May 12, 2022 she entered the bathroom and went into a stall. When she left the stall she saw there were a group of students there. She saw E.A. and saw a blue vape in her mouth. The students "jaws dropped" when they saw her. She then washed her hands and left. E.A. was the only one she observed vaping. She estimated six other girls in the bathroom.

Ms. Capria knew she had to tell someone what she saw. However, she had a classroom full of students and went there. She advised the office of what she saw at the end of the day. She told Ms. Kim Westervelt, who is her supervisor. This occurred about 2:35 p.m.

CROSS EXAMINATION

When she told Ms. Westervelt what occurred, she was advised that next time she is to report it right away.

She did not make a written report.

BY THE ALJ

Ms. Capria had no doubt that it was E.A. she observed with a vape pen in her mouth.

B.A., Petitioner, testified as follows:

The school did not follow their own policies. The policy does not state that a negative dilute is presumed a positive test. There is no school nurse to examine the student. There was no official report.

The first drug screen was "negative dilute". The second was "interference". The next test was "negative (less than a 5ngl level). The last test was negative in his view as it was below school mandated levels.

CROSS EXAMINATION

B.A. has no experience or training in interpreting drug screen results. He has no experience in writing or interpreting school policies.

Kimberly Westervelt testified as follows:

She is the Assistant Principal at West Essex Regional High School. She is familiar with the school substance abuse policy and regulations. She has implemented this protocol probably twenty to thirty times in the past two years.

She had no reason to doubt Ms. Capria when she advised she saw E.A. using a vape pen. Ms. Westervelt knows Ms. Capria had proctored mid-term exams for E.A.

Ms. Westervelt put the time Ms. Capria advised her of what she saw at around 3:30 p.m., not the 2:35 p.m. Ms. Capria had stated.

After she spoke with Ms. Capria she wrote down what was told to her. She then called the Principal, who was no longer in the office. The other assistant principal had left for the day. Ms. Westervelt then made a decision to speak with them the next day in the morning.

The next day she spoke with the Principal and the other assistant principal. They decided to enact the protocol and send E.A. for drug screening. Vaping requires drug screening as it is unknown what may be in the vape pen.

E.A. was brought into Ms. Hoebee's office. She was told her bag was to be searched. Nothing was found. E.A. was then told she would be sent for a drug screening, and that her parents would be called. At this point E.A. became visibly upset. E.A. stated that she had smoked marijuana the night before. She was told if the drug screen comes back positive she would be suspended; if negative, she would not be. E.A.'s mother was called and it was arranged that her stepfather would pick her up. In the room at this time were Ms. Westervelt, Ms. Hoebee, Mr. Emering and E.A.

When E.A. left with her stepfather Ms. Westervelt was under the impression that they would proceed to a Doctor's Care Facility for the drug screening.

About one hour later B.A. called the school and was advised that E.A. had to go for drug screening or would be immediately suspended. E.A. did later on that day receive a drug screening.

CROSS EXAMINATION

Moving forward, Ms. Westervelt stated that the protocol would be enacted at the end of the school day. She was not aware that E.A. was in the school until 4:00 p.m. on May 12, 2022.

She tried to call Mr. Diliberto on May 12, 2022, but was unable to speak with him.

The protocol for E.A. began at 10:45 a.m. on May 13, 2022.

If a student is out of compliance with the substance abuse policy they cannot be in school unless they are in treatment.

E.A. was not suspended immediately. The drug screening results were received about a week later. That is when the suspension began.

E.A. did not get suspended for vaping as she was not in possession of a vape pen when in the office the next day. This was a unique case.

Ms. Westervelt recalled speaking with B.A. later in the day on May 13, 2022.

E.A. was suspended for five days and medically excused for four days. The reason for being medically excused was that she had not been medically cleared to return to school. Medically excused is not in the school policy. It is a consistent practice of the school.

B.A. was combative when he called. He was advised that E.A. was not suspended. The drug screening results were needed first.

BY THE AJL

Ms. Westervelt stated that a "negative dilute" has been viewed as a positive test for purposes of suspension. That has been the school policy during her tenure of three plus years as vice principal. E.A.'s parents were not informed that a negative dilute would result in a suspension.

Ms. Westervelt was not aware that school policy had been changed, after the incident with E.A., to interpret a negative dilute result as a positive result.

Antony Emering testified as a student assistance counselor, as follows:

He is employed by West Essex Regional High School as the student assistance counselor, and, secondarily, as the coordinator of Section 504 accommodations.

Part of his duties is to read and interpret drug screening results.

He is always consulted when a student may be sent for drug testing so he can coordinate preparation of forms, and also alert the testing facility that a student may be coming.

He was with Ms. Westervelt and Ms. Hoebee the morning of May 13, 2022, when they were discussing whether or not to have E.A. go through the substance abuse protocol. He was on board with the decision to do so.

He knows E.A. and explained to her the process. He also spoke with her stepfather, and informed him of what needed to be done. He advised that E.A. should not drink copious amounts of water as it could render the results inconclusive.

Two validity markers come into play with a urine sample: creatine and specific gravity. Specific gravity has to be above 1.000. This is the cutoff threshold. Both are looked at by a medical review facility. There is the collection facility. The sample is sent to a lab. A doctor independent of the testing facility reviews the results and sends a report to the school. He determines whether the results are positive, negative, dilute or any other potential issues. E.A.'s sample was negative dilute. Her sample had a specific gravity of 1.0011. Anything under 1.0030 is a potential issue. The creatine was 10.7 milligrams per deciliter. Anything under 20 milligrams per deciliter is considered a potential dilution.

Mr. Emering then described marijuana testing. A June 2, 2022 drug screen done by High Focus showed a positive test for marijuana (21 nanograms per milliliter). A prior test result from High Focus (5/28/22) shows a result of "interference". Mr. Emering had never before seen a test with this result. This means the sample was untestable. E.A.'s mother was correct to have her retested immediately after the "interference" result was obtained. The second test showed the 21 nanograms per milliliter result.

The first test of E.A. (Friday, May 13, 2022) was delayed for about four hours. The district did not enforce its two hour rule for testing. A clean, non-dilute, non adulterated urine screen is needed. The first test didn't qualify. The blood test she took, the fourth test, was acceptable for her to return to school. High Focus, where the test was done, recommended a treatment program for E.A. They recommended an intensive out patient program in their letter dated June 7, 2022.

E.A. was allowed to return to school without being enrolled in the program. She was re-evaluated by Charlie Health. They indicated E.A. should continue with her out patient provider.

Mr. Emering emailed the Petitioner with the return to school policy. He also had some telephone conversations with the Petitioner.

Mr. Emering was surprised that E.A. did not go directly to be tested after leaving school with her stepfather on May 12, 2022. He termed it "disconcerting". Not going is considered a presumptive positive.

CROSS EXAMINATION

He is aware of the school policies regarding substance abuse. They are based on model policies in the State of New Jersey.

He is aware of the requirements under N.J.S.A. 18A:48-12 to test students suspected of being under the influence.

Mr. Emering stated that once you are reposed with information you have an obligation to send the student for testing. He further stated that it would be most ideal to test sooner, agreeing that testing on Thursday, May 12, 2022 would be the most ideal.

He did not receive a telephone call from Ms. Westervelt or Ms. Capria on May 12, 2022.

E.A. did not get suspended for vaping because the administration was trying to be even handed.

School policy was not followed. E.A. was not immediately sent for testing.

The Department of Transportation (DOT) guidelines are followed with their testing. The DOT would consider a negative dilute as a negative, or require a retest.

The DOT cutoff is 50, which is what the school uses. The High Focus result was 21, which is below 50. It is still a positive test. High Focus uses 20 as a cutoff level. The school can't dictate to High Focus what their cutoffs should be.

The first test was collected on May 13, 2022 at 3:58 p.m. The results came back on May 19, 2022. He called E.A.'s mother at 6:50 p.m. as that is when he received the results.

The third test was administered on June 1, 2022.

Mr. Emering would prefer a urine test to a blood test, as urine is more accurate in terms of substance abuse. The benefit of a blood test is that it is more difficult to doctor a blood test. The problem with a blood test is that it does not have validity markers.

The school policy was amended in August 2022 regarding a negative dilute result. Mr. Emering stated that he always considered a negative dilute unacceptable as a clean test. This since he began employment with the district in 2007. It is considered a positive test.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION

It is the past practice of the school to treat negative dilute test results as positive, and has been since he began his employment.

The school is not required to follow DOT guidelines. DOT guidelines relate to employees who are usually drivers.

CREDIBILITY

When witnesses present conflicting testimonies, it is the duty of the trier of fact to weigh each witness's credibility and make a factual finding. In other words, credibility is the value a fact finder assigns to the testimony of a witness, and it incorporates the overall assessment of the witness's story in light of its rationality, consistency, and how it comports with other evidence. Carbo v. United States, 314 F.2d 718 (9th Cir. 1963); see Polk, supra, 90 N.J. 550. Credibility findings "are often influenced by matters such as observations of the character and demeanor of witnesses and common human experience that are not transmitted by the record." State v. Locurto, 157 N.J. 463 (1999). A fact finder is expected to base decisions of credibility on his or her common sense, intuition or experience. Barnes v. United States, 412 U.S. 837, 93 S. Ct. 2357, 37 L. Ed. 2d 380 (1973).

The finder of fact is not bound to believe the testimony of any witness, and credibility does not automatically rest astride the party with more witnesses. In re Perrone, 5 N.J. 514 (1950). Testimony may be disbelieved, but may not be disregarded at an administrative proceeding. Middletown Twp. v. Murdoch, 73 N.J. Super. 511 (App. Div. 1962). Credible testimony must not only proceed from the mouth of credible witnesses but must be credible in itself. Spagnuolo v. Bonnet, 16 N.J. 546 (1954).

When facts are contested, the trier of fact must assess and weigh the credibility of the witnesses for purposes of making factual findings. Credibility is the value that a finder of fact gives to a witness's testimony. It requires an overall assessment of the witness's story in light of its rationality, its internal consistency, and the manner in which it "hangs together" with the other evidence. Carbo v. United States, 314 F.2d 718, 749 (8th Cir. 1963).

The testimony of E.A. appeared to be rehearsed. Her flat denial of vaping did not ring true. It was a self serving statement that was in direct opposition to the credible testimony of Ms. Capria. Further, I found her description of how much water she drinks to be merely an attempt to explain away the results of the first test, which came back as negative dilute. She had admitted that she smoked marijuana the night before the drug screen was administered. I otherwise found her to be a pleasant, articulate, and bright young woman. However, I cannot deem her testimony as to the crucial issue in this matter as credible.

B.A. was credible. However, he did not witness what transpired in the bathroom. He mostly argued that the school did not follow its own policy. He further argued that the test results should have been interpreted as negative.

Violet Capria was straightforward and direct in her testimony. She knows E.A. and was positive that it was E.A. she saw in the bathroom vaping. She had no doubt as to her observation. I deem her credible.

Kimberly Westervelt also was straightforward and direct in her testimony. She credibly stated the reasons for not strictly following school policy on May 12, 2022. I deem her credible.

Anthony Emering I found to be credible. His knowledge of substance abuse and testing was informative and helpful. He readily admitted that the best practice would have been to have E.A. tested on May 12, 2022, the day of the incident, as opposed to the next day. His explanation that it was still the better practice of testing the next day, as opposed to not all, was well stated.

FINDINGS OF FACT

1. E.A. is a student in the West Essex Regional School District. On May 12, 2022 she was a high school junior.

2. Petitioners, B.A. and R.R. are her parents.

3. On May 12, 2022, full time substitute teacher Violet Capria, was using the student bathroom. Upon exiting her stall she saw E.A. using a vaping device.

4. Ms. Capria did not report this incident to the school administration until the end of her school day, contrary to school policy which requires it be reported immediately. When she did report the incident, she did so to Kimberly Westervelt, assistant principal.

5. Kimberly Westervelt, upon receiving the information of E.A. vaping from Ms. Capria, attempted to contact the Principal and was unable. The other vice principal had left for the day. At this point, Ms. Westervelt made a decision to speak with them the next day. This is also contrary to school policy.

6. On May 13, 2022, Ms. Westervelt spoke with the principal and other assistant principal. It was decided to initiate the school protocol and send E.A. for drug screening. E.A. was brought to the office and met with Ms. Westervelt, Ms. Hoebee and Mr. Emering.

7. When told she would need to have a drug screen E.A. admitted to having smoked marijuana the night before and feared the test would be positive.

8. The school determined not to suspend E.A. for vaping, which carries a two-day suspension, as no vape pen was found in her possession on May 13, 2022.

9. The initial drug screen was delayed several hours as petitioner, B.A., did not immediately agree to have E.A. tested. Eventually, E.A. was tested on May 13, 2022 at The Doctor's Office of West Caldwell. The result was Negative Dilute. (P-6 and R-16)

10. The past practice of the district has always considered a Negative Dilute result as a positive result, at least as far back as 2007.

11. The initial drug screen results were received on May 19, 2022. (P-6 and R-16)

12. E.A. was suspended for five days after receipt of the initial drug screen. E.A. was also medically excused from school for an additional four days, pending receipt of a negative drug screen.

13. E.A. had four drug screens in total, as follows:

a. The initial drug screen with a Negative Dilute result, sample taken May 13, 2022.

b. High Focus – sample taken May 24, 2022 – with a result of Interference.

c. High Focus – second sample taken on May 24, 3033 – with a positive result for THC

d. June 6, 2022 – private blood test by E.A. physician – with a negative result

(R-24, Certification of Anthony Emering, Exhibits 4, 5, 6 and 8)

14. The student handbook provides for a two-day suspension for the use of vaping products. (R-3)

15. Student Discipline/Code of Conduct (R 5600) sets forth that suspension may be imposed for use of controlled dangerous substances. (R-5)

16. Substance Abuse is addressed in 5530 Substance Abuse, which sets forth that discipline can be imposed, and the procedures to be followed. (R-6)

17. School policy, as set forth in R-6, is for the student to be immediately referred to the principal, or other designated school official.

18. E.A. was not immediately referred to the principal. That was not done until the next day.

19. Regulation 5610 sets forth suspension procedures. (R-9)

20. Policy 5530 and Regulation 5530 (R-6 and R-7) in effect on May 12, 2022, do not mention a dilute screen test result.

21. Policy 5530 was amended in September 2022 to include a "dilute screen is a presumptive positive test result."

22. E.A.'s grades did not suffer due to the suspension. She maintained good grades, with the exception of Latin, which she showed difficulty with prior to the suspension. (R-30 and R-31)

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

School Board policies are entitled to a presumption of correctness and will not be upset by the courts unless there is an affirmative showing that such decision is arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. Thomas v. Bd. of Educ. of Morris Twp., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965), affirmed, 46 N.J. 581 (1966). In general, a board of education's actions are entitled to a presumption of lawfulness and good faith.

Where board actions are challenged, the challenger bears the burden of proving that such actions were unlawful, arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. Schuster v. Ed. of Educ. Montgomery Twp., 96 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 670, 676 (citing Schnick v. Westwood Ed. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 448 (App. Div. 1960), and Quinlan v. Bd. of Educ. of North Bergen Twp., 73 N.J. Super. 40 (App. Div. 1962)). In matters involving the exercise of a local board of education's discretion, the scope of the Commissioner's review is "not to substitute his judgment for that of those who made the evaluation but to determine whether they had a reasonable basis for their conclusions." Kopera v. West Orange Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 296 (App. Div. 1960). Therefore, petitioner must demonstrate much more than simply a difference of opinion over the action taken by respondent. In order to satisfy the arbitrary and capricious standard, petitioner must prove that respondent acted in either bad faith or in disregard to the circumstances.

N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2 states that, "Conduct which shall constitute good cause for suspension or expulsion of a pupil guilty of such conduct, shall include but not be limited, to any of the following: . .(j)Knowing possession or knowing consumption without legal authority of alcoholic beverages or controlled dangerous substances on school premises or being under the influence of intoxicating liquor or controlled dangerous substances while on school premises.

Petitioner contends that the Respondent's failure to follow its policy should result in the suspension being vacated. Respondent's witnesses all admit the failure to follow policy. Ms. Capria did not report the vaping incident immediately but waited until her school day had ended. Ms. Westervelt did not contact the principal or other vice principal (each had left for the day); did not bring E.A. into the office assuming she had left school by the time she was informed of the vaping incident; did not contact E.A.'s parents; and, did not have E.A. immediately tested. The school did not do any of the above until the following day. However, this delay does not make the school's actions arbitrary, unreasonable, or capricious. E.A. violated school policy by vaping. The school could not simply ignore this because it failed to follow its protocol.

The Respondent did not act in bad faith or in disregard to the circumstances. See P.S. o/b/o T.S. v. Bd. of Educ. Township of East Brunswick, et al., 10-1, 2019 WL 4928823, at *6 (N.J. Adm. Aug. 28, 2019). Respondent, via Ms. Westervelt, made a decision to address the incident the next day as she was unable to locate the principal and other vice principal. Nothing in this action is arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. It was not ideal pursuant to their policy, but was certainly understandable given the lateness in the day when Ms. Westervelt received the information, coupled with her inability to reach the principal and other vice principal.

West Essex Regional School District Policy 5610 Suspension sets forth that "conduct which shall constitute for suspension ... shall include.. the conduct defined in N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2 and the school district's Student Discipline Code of Conduct Policy and Regulation in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.1."

The Respondent decided, given the circumstances of the instant matter, not to suspend E.A. for vaping. However, the Respondent determined that it should follow its protocol and send E.A. for a drug screen. That result was Negative Dilute, which the Respondent had interpreted as a positive result from at least 2007. This resulted in the suspension of E.A. for five days. E.A. continued out of school as being medically excused pending the receipt of a negative drug screen. Nothing about these actions, while not ideal, render them arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable.

Petitioner asserts that the Respondent's amendment to its Policy 5530 Substance Abuse to include a dilute result as unacceptable should render their past practice of interpreting such a result as a positive void. The Respondent has amply demonstrated this practice going back to at least 2007. That the Policy was amended to now include this past practice does not render it arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable.

Petitioner also asserts that the Respondent's interpretation of the drug screens were inappropriate. As to the drug screen that was positive for THC Petitioner claims that it does not conform to DOT guidelines. DOT guidelines have the cutoff for marijuana at 50. The positive THC test has it at 20. As Mr. Emering stated in his testimony it was a positive test and the school is not bound by the DOT guidelines. Interpreting a positive test as just that cannot be deemed arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable.

Petitioner bears the burden of showing that the Respondent's actions were arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. See Schuster v. Ed. of Educ. Montgomery Twp., 96 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 670, 676 (citing Schnick v. Westwood Ed. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 448 (App. Div. 1960), and Quinlan v. Bd. of Educ. of North Bergen Twp., 73 N.J. Super. 40 (App. Div. 1962)).

Petitioners have failed to carry their burden.

Based upon the above, I CONCLUDE that the facts support the Respondent's imposition of a five-day suspension of E.A., and that the same is not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable.

ORDER

It is ORDERED that Respondent's suspension of E.A. is AFFIRMED; and, it is further ORDERED that Petitioner's petition is dismissed with prejudice.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Order on Emergent Relief

D.P., on behalf of minor child, D.V.P.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Borough of North Arlington, Bergen County,

Respondent.

The record of this emergent matter, the sound recording of proceedings at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the recommended Order of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that petitioner has failed to demonstrate entitlement to emergent relief pursuant to the standards enunciated in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982), and codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6.

Accordingly, the recommended Order of the OAL denying petitioner's application for emergent relief is adopted for the reasons stated therein. This matter shall continue at the OAL with such proceedings as the parties and the ALJ deem necessary to bring it to closure.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Eric Harrison, Esq., for respondent (Methfessel & Werbel, PC, attorneys)

Record Closed: May 8, 2023 Decided: May 23, 2023

BEFORE WILLIAM J. COURTNEY, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, D.P., seeks emergent temporary relief on behalf of her son D.V.P. compelling respondent to take all steps necessary to protect D.V.P. from harassment, intimidation, and bullying ("HIB") including removing four of his classmates from all classes that D.V.P. attends for the remainder of the school year. Petitioner alleges that respondent violated The Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-1 et seq., and Board Policy #5512 titled, "Harassment, Intimidation and Bullying" by failing to open an HIB investigation or taking any other actions to protect D.V.P. from ongoing harassment, intimidation, and bullying. Petitioner claims that there is a reasonable likelihood that D.V.P. will suffer immediate and irreparable harm if the requested Emergent Relief is not granted.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner filed a Verified Petition of Appeal on April 25, 2023 seeking Emergent Relief to protect her minor child, who is an eight-grade student within the North Arlington School District ("District") from ongoing harassment, intimidation, and bullying. On April 28, 2023, respondent filed a Verified Answer along with opposition to the Motion for Emergent Relief and a Cross-Motion to Dismiss petitioner's appeal, without prejudice. The request for Emergent Relief and Motion to Dismiss was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law by the New Jersey Department of Education for consideration. The parties' written submissions were considered followed by oral argument of counsel beginning on May 1, 2023 and continuing, at the request of counsel, on May 8, 2023. The record was closed on May 8, 2023 after the oral arguments were presented.

LEGAL ANALYISIS

A: RESPONDENT'S CROSS-MOTION TO DISMISS

Respondent's Cross-Motion can be broken into two distinct arguments. The first argument is that this tribunal lacks jurisdiction to hear this matter because petitioner failed to exhaust her administrative remedies prior to filing a petition of appeal with the Commissioner of Education . The second argument is that petitioner's claims against four school employees (Yurchak, Russo, Kenny and Keim) and four of D.V.P.'s fellow classmates (L.M., J.R., V.H. and E.Z.) must be dismissed with prejudice because the Anti-

Bullying Bill of Rights Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-1 et. seq., does not permit a direct action against a school employee or other students.

THE JURISDICTION ISSUE:

In its opposition to the petitioner's Verified Petition of Appeal and Motion for Emergent Relief, respondent asserts that this tribunal lacks jurisdiction to hear the Appeal to the Commissioner of Education. In support of its position, respondent interprets N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.7 (a)(2)(ix)(1)(A) as requiring an aggrieved student or parent to first exhaust administrative remedies by seeking a hearing before the board of education before appealing to the Commissioner of education. What the regulation actually states however is that an aggrieved party "may" appeal to the district board of education and not that such party "must" appeal to the district board of education prior to appealing to the Commissioner.

As petitioner points out in her Reply Brief, this issue was addressed by Acting Commissioner McMillan in her June 23, 2022 Final Decision in R.C and B.C. on behalf of A.C. v. Bd. of Ed. of the Twp. of Galloway. In that decision, the Commissioner notes:

> ... a party challenging a board's HIB decision is not required to request and participate in a hearing before the board of education prior to filing a petition of appeal with the Commissioner. N.J.S.A.18A:37-15(6)(d) provides that a parent may request a hearing, but nothing in the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act requires a board hearing. Accordingly, the ALJ's conclusion that the petitioners failed to exhaust administrative remedies is incorrect.

The Commissioner, however, citing N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(e) goes on to emphasize that "the Board of Education must have issued a decision affirming, rejecting, or modifying the Superintendent's decision for the matter to be ripe for review by the Commissioner, as it is the Board's decision - not the Superintendent's decision - that is appealable to the Commissioner" Id. at footnote 1.

It is unclear from the papers submitted or from oral arguments of counsel whether respondent, North Arlington Board of Education issued a decision in this matter. However, based upon respondent's admission of this tribunal's jurisdiction in paragraph 1 of its Verified Answer, Opposition to the Motion for Emergent Relief and Cross-Motion to Dismiss, I FIND that this Court has jurisdiction to hear and decide petitioner's Motion for Emergent Relief and DENY respondent's Cross-Motion to Dismiss. I CONCLUDE, however, that my denial of respondent's Cross Motion to Dismiss on jurisdictional grounds is without prejudice to respondent's right to renew said Motion if there is evidence that the North Arlington Board of Education did not issue a decision affirming, rejecting or modifying a decision of the Superintendent regarding the results of the investigation of petitioner's claims, services provided, training established, discipline imposed or other action taken or recommended. See, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(c)-(e).

CROSS MOTION TO DISMISS CLAIMS AGAINST SCHOOL EMPLOYEES AND STUDENTS

While there may indeed be some merit to respondent's Cross Motion concerning the applicability of N.J.S.A. 18A:37-1 et seq. to individuals such as school employees and students, this Motion is inappropriate at this time. Petitioner's application for Emergent Relief is being heard on an expedited basis because it is alleged that irreparable harm will result if this matter is not resolved. The same cannot be said for respondent's Cross Motion. This tribunal is without sufficient information at this time to decide these aspects of respondent's Cross Motion and will decide these Motions if and when they are sufficiently briefed, and appropriate factual determinations can be made. Accordingly, these aspects of respondent's Cross Motion are DENIED, without prejudice.

B. PETITIONER'S APPLICATION FOR EMERGENT RELIEF

1. Standard for Emergent Relief

A litigant seeking emergent relief must comply with the requirement of N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6 which provides, in relevant part:

> (B) a motion for a stay or emergent relief shall be accompanied by a letter memorandum or brief which shall address the following standards to be met for granting such relief pursuant to Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982):
> 1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted;
> 2. The legal right underlying petitioner's claim is settled;
> 3. The petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits the underlying claim;
> 4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

I agree with respondent's argument that it is the petitioner's burden to demonstrate a clear right to Emergent Relief by addressing these components of Emergent Relief (See, e.g., Hamilton Twp. Bd. of Educ. V. L.E. and A.E. o/b/o J.E., OAL Dkt. No. EDS 14744-18 (N.J. Adm. Oct. 2022, 2-18), and I also agree with respondent's contention that petitioner has failed to do so. I FIND that petitioner has failed to satisfy all four of the required standards necessary for Emergent Relief to be granted.

The petitioner maintains that the district has done "absolutely nothing" to stop ongoing harassment, intimidation and bullying of her son by other students. She claims that four students that she has identified in her Verified Petition of Appeal have, over the past two years, sexually harassed D.V.P., called him names and physically assaulted him by slapping him in the chest, legs, and buttocks all because of a distinguishing characteristic, his size and weight. Most recently, D.V.P. was shot by one of the four identified students with a rubber band from a rubber band gun causing injury to his eye. Petitioner claims that when the child who shot the rubber band was disciplined, the three other students subjected D.V.P. to more harassment in the form of retaliation.

The primary support of petitioner's claim that Emergent Relief is necessary is laid out in an April 5, 2023 letter from petitioner's attorney (Mark A. Tabakin, Esq.) to Stephen Yurchak, Superintendent of the North Arlington Board of Education. The letter details a history of complaints by petitioner to the district concerning the treatment of her son along with sweeping allegations that no action was taken or being taken to ensure D.V.P.'s safety.

Respondent denies not taking action in response to concerns raised by petitioner about how D.V.P. was being treated by his classmates in the past and/or present. In support of its denial, respondent offers an April 6, 2022 letter from Principal Nicole Cambell Russo ("Russo Letter") to petitioner. The Russo letter is in response to a voicemail message left by petitioner on the school's attendance line, the day after her lawyer wrote to Superintendent Yurchak.[1] The Russo Letter documents that actions were taken in response to petitioner's concerns and that the district was willing to meet with petitioner and/or her attorney as soon as the following day to discuss her concerns regarding her son's safety. While petitioner relies heavily upon Superintendent Yurchak's failure to respond to an email as evidence of the lack of concern for D.V.P.'s safety, she provides no reason why she did not respond to Ms. Russo's offer to meet with her and her attorney to discuss her concerns the day after her attorney sent his letter complaint regarding the same alleged safety concerns. The Russo Letter stated:

[1] The letter written by petitioner 's attorney on April 5, 2023 was sent via email only to Superintendent Yurchak. The email was not responded to by the Superintendent or anyone else because it was directed to the Superintendent's spam folder. Accordingly, no one was aware that a letter had been sent until the Verified Petition of Appeal was filed accusing the Superintendent of ignoring the letter.

> While we are always willing to meet with parents to discuss concerns regarding their children's education, we do not believe that an unsafe situation exists at [the school for D.V.P.] or any other student. The Administration has addressed every concern that has been raised related to [D.V.P.], and we see no reason why he cannot attend school. [D.V.P.'s] teachers have been instructed to be alert for any issues with [D.V.P.], and we have implemented measures to eliminate unstructured interactions between [D.V.P.] and the students who have been identified in previous complaints. Steps will prevent any issues from occurring and allow [D.V.P.] to attend school in a safe and secure learning environment.

The letter went on to specifically offer petitioner and her attorney an immediate opportunity to meet to discuss her concerns.

> Should you be in the area tomorrow, we can arrange a time to meet in my office to discuss your concerns. However, if you insist on meeting with your attorney present, please provide some dates and times that you and your attorney are available so I can ensure that the district's attorney is also available to be present at the meeting.

There is no indication in the record that petitioner took any action to respond to Ms. Russo's offer to meet with her and/or her attorney and discuss her concerns.

Respondent denies petitioner's allegation that D.V.P. has been the victim of a sustained pattern of harassment, intimidation, and bullying ("HIB") throughout much of the past two years. In its Verified Answer, the district indicated that,

> [O]n a grand total of approximately four occasions over the past two years, D.V.P.'s mother has complained that he has been mistreated by fellow students. All of these complaints were addressed appropriately, though not all were treated as instances of alleged harassment, intimidation and bullying due to the absence of a complaint or evidence that the offending students was motivated by a real or perceived characteristic of D.V.P.

On one of those four occasions, D.V.P.'s mother called to report that D.V.P.'s brother was struck by another student at a recreational football game after school. D.V.P.'s mother expressed concern that D.V.P. might be harassed by the fellow students who had punched his brother and/or one of that student's friends. The classroom teacher and counselor monitored the situation and D.V.P. reported that he was not harassed by these students. (R-1 at ¶ 11).

Most recently, in March of 2023, when D.V.P. was struck by a rubber band, the student who shot the rubber band was, according to respondent, appropriately suspended for two days for a Code of Conduct violation. The incident was not investigated as an HIB event because there was no evidence (or complaint by D.V.P.) at the time that the misconduct was motivated by a real or perceived characteristic[2]. Petitioner did not object to the absence of an HIB investigation, or to how the incident was resolved. Id.

When petitioner reported the alleged retaliation against D.V.P. after the student was disciplined for shooting the rubber band, the school investigated the retaliation claims and disciplined the offending students. Additionally, Principal Russo worked with the guidance counselor to arrange different travel routes between classes to guard against further contact between D.V.P. and the students at issue. The district also asserts in the Verified Answer that when Principal Russo met with D.V.P. and his mother and the school nurse after the rubber band incident (and presumably after D.V.P. returned to school after the spring break), she asked D.V.P. whether any of these students continued to bother him and he responded" no". Id. at ¶13. The district also points out that D.V.P. returned to school after spring break (on or about April 17th) without incident. Id. at ¶ 17.

[2] Respondent did advise the tribunal during a telephone conference that after receiving the Verified Petition of Appeal and learning of the allegations that the rubber band incident is now claimed to have motivated by a real or perceived characteristic of D.V.P., a HIB investigation has been initiated.

Finally, the district provided copies of handwritten notes from the school nurse (Addison Keim) who was speaking with petitioner and D.V.P. at or around the time of the alleged retaliation. The note from April 4, 2023 documents a conversation with petitioner concerning the rubber band incident. Ms. Keim reports that the petitioner indicated that she was surprised that there was no HIB investigation because the incident involved a student who called D.V.P. names. Ms. Keim informed petitioner that the matter was handled as a Code of Conduct violation and that it had never been reported that the other students called D.V.P. names. When petitioner was asked specifically what was said to her son, she responded "I would have to ask [D.V.P.]". R-1 at p.18. After speaking with petitioner, Ms. Keim spoke with D.V.P. and informed him that she had reached out to all teachers to keep an eye on the situation and asked him to let her know if anything else happened. There was nothing contained in Ms. Keim's notes that would indicate that anyone called D.V.P. names at the time of the rubber band incident, and she specifically noted that "D.V.P. did not report feeling unsafe at school". R-1, p.19.

(A) IRREPARABLE HARM

Based upon the facts presented I cannot FIND that D.V.P. will suffer irreparable harm in the event Emergent Relief is not granted. While petitioner alleges that she unilaterally removed her son from school for safety reasons two days before spring break, she also returned him back to school after the break and he has been attending classes for more than a month without incident. Shortly after the rubber band incident, D.V.P. spoke with the school counselor and did not report that he was feeling unsafe.

The school Principal, Ms. Russo also indicated in a letter to petitioner dated April 6, 2023 that the district had implemented measures to ensure D.V.P.'s safety, such as instructing his teachers to be alert of any issues concerning D.V.P. and limiting his interactions with students identified in petitioner's complaints. This tribunal has also been informed that the district has now opened an HIB investigation, after the filing of this Motion for Emergent Relief, concerning petitioner's claim in the Verified Complaint that comments concerning her son's weight were made while the alleged HIB was taking place.

Given that the district has taken actions to protect D.V.P. and those actions appear to be working, I CONCLUDE that it is unlikely that immediate irreputable harm is likely to occur if relief is not granted.

(B) THE LEGAL RIGHT UNDERLYING PETITIONER'S CLAIM

It is undisputed that D.V.P. has a legal right to a HIB-free school environment. I FIND, however, that actions being taken by the district during the pendency of this litigation to protect that right are sufficient.

(C) THE LIKELIHOOD THAT PETITIONER WILL PREVAIL ON THE MERITS OF THE CLAIM

While I believe that there is some evidence that petitioner may have suffered harassment, Intimidation and or bullying, I cannot FIND, at this stage of the litigation, that there is a likelihood that petitioner will prevail on the merits of such a claim. Given the facts presented in support and opposition to this Motion for Emergent Relief, it is evident that more discovery needs to be conducted in order to make any type of prediction as to who might ultimately prevail on the merits of the claims being made.

(D) BALANCING OF THE EQUITIES

After considering all of the facts presented, I do not FIND that the petitioner will suffer greater harm than respondent if the requested relief is not granted. Petitioner is asking this Court to remove students from D.V.P.'s classrooms, which will undoubtedly have a substantial impact on the students being removed. The facts presented to this tribunal indicate that since the school implemented measures to address petitioner's concerns, there have been no further HIB incidents. Accordingly, there does not appear to be any indication that petitioner will suffer greater harm than respondent if the other children are not removed from D.V.P.'s classes.

Regarding the remaining relief sought by petitioner, a balancing of the equites does not weigh in petitioner's favor. Petitioner asks this tribunal to direct the school district to take all steps necessary to protect D.V.P. from ongoing HIB and to prevent the situation from getting worse. The district is already required pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-1 et seq. and District Policy 5512 to protect D.V.P. from HIB. Moreover, I FIND that the district has taken actions to protect D.V.P. from ongoing HIB and that those actions appear to be working.

CONCLUSION

Based on the forgoing, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has not sustained her burden to demonstrate a clear right to the Emergent Relief requested and therefore,

It is on this 23rd day of May, ORDERED:

1. That petitioner's application for emergent relief be and hereby is DENIED;
2. That respondent's Motion to Dismiss petitioner's claims for failing to exhaust administrative remedies be and hereby is DENIED, without prejudice; and
3. That respondent's Motion to Dismiss petitioner's claims against school employees and students is DENIED, without prejudice.

The parties have advised me that no other issues remain that need to be addressed once the emergent relief issue is resolved.

This Order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who/which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay but no later than forty-five days following the entry of this order. If the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

INTRODUCTION

On September 8, 2022, Petitioner, Ridgefield Board of Education filed with the New Jersey Commissioner of Education a Statement of Tenure Charges and Statement of Evidence Under Oath, with supporting documents and Certification Supporting the Charges. Petitioner's filing included Respondent, Jeffrey Silberman's response to the Charges and a summary of anticipated witnesses and their testimony. The Sworn Tenure Charges, which define the permissible scope of this proceeding, state verbatim as follows:

Facts Common To All Charges

1. Jeffrey Silberman, has been employed by the Board as a Technology Teacher since September 1, 2003. As a member of the teaching staff, teachers at all times are expected to conduct themselves in a professional manner, in accordance with the law, District policies, regulations and provisions; and to exhibit high standards of behavior, integrity, and sound judgment, as well as to refrain from inappropriate behavior with students. In turn, Mr. Silberman is to maintain a high degree of self-restraint, composure, and controlled behavior in the classroom and especially serving students.

2. Board Policy 3281, Inappropriate Staff Conduct, states in relevant part:

> The Board recognizes there exists a professional responsibility for all school staff to protect a student's health, safety, and welfare. The Board strongly believes that school staff members have the public's trust and confidence to protect the well-being of all pupils attending the school district.
>
> In support of the Board's strong commitment to the public's trust and confidence of school staff, the Board of Education holds all school staff to the highest level of professional responsibility in their conduct with all pupils. Inappropriate conduct and conduct unbecoming a school staff member will not be tolerated in this school district.
> The Board recognizes and appreciates the staff-pupil professional relationship that exists in a school district's educational environment. This Policy has been developed and adopted by this Board to provide guidance and direction to avoid actual and/or the appearance of inappropriate staff conduct and conduct unbecoming a school staff member toward pupils.
> School staff's conduct in completing their professional responsibilities shall be appropriate at all times. School staff shall not make inappropriate comments to pupils or about pupils and shall not engage in inappropriate language or expression in the presence of pupils. School staff shall not engage in inappropriate conduct toward or with pupils.
> A school staff member is always expected to maintain a professional relationship with pupils and to protect the health, safety, and welfare of school pupils. A staff member's conduct will be held to the professional standards established by the New Jersey State Board of Education and the New Jersey Commissioner of Education. Inappropriate conduct or conduct unbecoming a staff member may also include conduct not specifically listed in this Policy, but conduct determined by the New Jersey State Board of Education, the New Jersey Commissioner of Education, an arbitration process, and/or appropriate courts to be inappropriate or conduct unbecoming a school staff member.

3. Mr. Silberman's Employment Contract dated August 27, 2003 states that he "accepts the employment aforesaid and agrees faithfully to do and perform duties under the employment aforesaid and to observe and enforce the rules prescribed for the government of the school by the Board of Education." See Dr. Pantoliano's Statement of Evidence, Exhibit B (J. Silberman Employment Contract, September 2003).

4. Mr. Silberman's Employment Contract dated July 12, 2021, for the 2021-2022 school year, similarly states that he "accepts the employment aforesaid and agrees faithfully to do and perform duties under the employment aforesaid and to observe and enforce the rules prescribed for the government of the school by the Board of Education." See Dr. Pantoliano's Statement of Evidence, Exhibit C (J. Silberman Employment Contract, July 2021).

5. Jeffrey Silberman is a tenured teacher with the District with over 19 years of employment with Ridgefield Public Schools.

6. He currently holds certifications as an Elementary School Teacher, Teacher of Business Administration/Office Systems Technology, Teacher of Business: Finance/Economics/Law, Teacher of Business: Keyboarding and Data Entry.

7. Despite his acknowledged duty to comply with Board Policy and faithfully perform the duties of his position, that require him to support, engage, motivate and protect the students in his care, on at least three occasions, Mr. Silberman displayed anger and frustration towards students, which manifested in inappropriate physical contact with students.

8. He has received reprimands for his conduct towards students in the past, however, his conduct persists despite interventions and reminders of the expectations for his position. The care and protection of students is one of the Board's most important responsibilities, and as such, Mr. Silberman's uncorrected pattern of conduct cannot be tolerated. The Board must be proactive in ensuring its students' protection and well-being; the Commissioner of Education should similarly place the care and well-being of students ahead of an adult, especially where Mr. Silberman has had several opportunities to correct his behavior but has shown an inability and failure to do so.

9. On November 14, 2007, Mr. Silberman received a ranking of "needs improvement" in the Learning Environment and Teacher/Student Interaction domains for the following categories: 1) creating and environment of respect and rapport; 2) treating students in a fair and consistent manner, 3) establishing an atmosphere of cooperation, mutual respect and concern, and 4) creating a learning environment in which others feel free to express themselves respectfully." See Dr. Pantoliano's Statement of Evidence, Exhibit D (November 14, 2007 Observation Report).

10. On May 1, 2015, then-Vice-Principal Gerard Angelo Bellizzi notified the principal of an incident that occurred during his second period Digital Photography class. The details of the events were summarized in a correspondence dated May 4, 2015. See Dr. Pantoliano's Statement of Evidence, Exhibit E (Correspondence dated May 4, 2015 from Principal John W. Coviello to Jeffrey Silberman).

11. In that correspondence, then-Principal John W. Coviello wrote to Mr. Silberman about an incident where a student made a claim that Mr. Silberman became angry and kicked his chair in order to have him comply with the teacher's directive to speak to him outside of the classroom. It was reported that the student became visibly upset and described that Mr. Silberman kicked the student's chair. See Dr. Pantoliano's Statement of Evidence, Exhibit E (Correspondence dated May 4, 2015 from Principal John W. Coviello to Jeffrey Silberman).

12. Similarly, and most recently, Mr. Silberman has displayed anger yet again towards two students in his technology class, which resulted in physical harm inflicted upon one of the students.

13. The most recent events giving rise to these tenure charges all relate to Mr. Silberman's conduct on or about April 27, 2022, during a lockdown drill that occurred in class. I memorialized my understanding of the events to Mr. Silberman in correspondence dated June 16, 2022. In that correspondence, I indicated that two students from the same class reported that, during or around the time of the lockdown drill, Mr. Silberman made inappropriate physical contact with them. One student reported that he was forcibly pulled out of his chair, with such force that a bruise was left on the student's arm. The other student reported that Mr. Silberman slapped his hand and pulled his hand off the computer mouse. See Dr. Pantoliano's Statement of Evidence, Exhibit F (Correspondence dated June 16, 2022 from Dr. Letizia Pantoliano to Mr. Silberman).

14. On April 28, 2022, Principal Timothy Yang had a parent meeting with the parents of two students from Mr. Silberman's technology class.

15. One student's parents lodged a formal complaint against Mr. Silberman on behalf of their son, a fifth grader.

16. The student was called into Mr. Yang's office and asked to describe the incident that took place on April 27, 2022. According to the student, during a lockdown drill on April 27, 2022, every student was told to be quiet. The student moved his chair back which made a loud squeaking noise. The student reported that Mr. Silberman came behind him and grabbed him by his upper left arm and ushered him forcibly up and moved his chair. Mr. Silberman made the student stand during the duration of the drill. See Dr. Pantoliano's Statement of Evidence, Exhibit G, (Slocum Skewes School Investigation Summary Report).

17. At the meeting, there was no bruise or laceration visible on the student's arm. However, the next day, on Friday, April 29, 2022, the student's parents returned to meet with Mr. Yang and showed there was a visible bruise consistent with Mr. Silberman's grabbing of the student's arm on April 27, 2022. See Exhibit G.

18. Thereafter, the student was sent to the nurse's office who confirmed that the student had an oval-shaped bruise consistent with the incident. See Exhibit G, photos of student's visible bruise on arm, attached to exhibit.

19. After meeting with the first student's parents, another student's father had a meeting with Mr. Yang and former Assistant Principal Lauretta Allen.

20. The second student's father also lodged a formal complaint against Mr. Silberman.

21. The second student was called into Mr. Yang's office and described that during the lockdown drill, as he was using his mouse, Mr. Silberman slapped the student's hand and pulled his hand off the mouse. Mr. Silberman said to the student, "Why are you clicking so loudly? I'll see you in detention." See Exhibit G.

22. The second student told Mr. Yang that Mr. Silberman has a short fuse and is not a nice man. See Exhibit G.

23. Other students were interviewed as part of the administrative investigation.

24. Eight students observed and made statements that Mr. Silberman touched/hit/slapped the student's hand and moved it from the placement of the mouse. See Exhibit G.

25. Four students observed and made statements that Mr. Silberman "threw" another student's hooded sweatshirt onto another table. See Exhibit G.

26. Fourteen students observed and made statements that Mr. Silberman grabbed/touched the student's arm and lifted him from the chair. See Exhibit G.

27. Fourteen students observed and made statements that Mr. Silberman moved the student's chair. See Exhibit G.

28. During the investigation, Mr. Silberman claimed that he pulled the one student out of his chair because he had lifted two feet off the ground, however, fourteen students contradicted Mr. Silberman's account. See Exhibit F.

29. Mr. Silberman alleged that he was concerned for the student's safety and grabbed the back of the chair and the student, holding him up so he wouldn't fall. All students who observed the incident with Mr. Silberman and the student were asked if the student moved his chair or was leaning back on his chair. All students report that the student moved his chair. See Exhibit G.

30. The Department of Children and Families Institutional Abuse Investigation Unit ("IAIU") conducted an investigation after the incident and the findings were consistent with the administrative investigation. See Dr. Pantoliano' s Statement of Evidence, (Redacted IAIU Findings dated June 27, 2022) Exhibit H.

31. Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 9:6-8.11, the Department of Children and Families, IAIU generally conducts investigations into the allegations of abuse and neglect occurring in various out-of-home settings.

32. On or about April 29, 2022, the school nurse examined a student who alleged he was injured as a result of Mr. Silberman's actions. See Exhibit G, photos of student's visible bruise on arm, attached to exhibit.

33. On June 27, 2022, the IAIU submitted a findings report where they concluded: "IAIU has determined, in accordance with N.J.S.A. 9:6-8.21 that the child was not abused by Teacher Jeffrey M. Silberman. However, some information indicates that the child was harmed or placed at risk of harm." See Dr. Pantoliano's Statement of Evidence, Exhibit H, (Redacted IAIU Findings dated June 27, 2022).

34. This evidence that the child was harmed or placed at risk of harm is sufficient for a recommendation that the Board consider tenure charges for dismissal against Mr. Silberman, especially considering that Mr. Silberman has created a practice of inappropriate and reckless conduct with students that cannot be tolerated.

35. It is clear that Mr. Silberman disregarded the professional obligations imposed on him as a member of the professional teaching staff and has engaged in a pattern of conduct that demonstrates that he is not fit to perform the duties as a public school educator and an employee of the District.

36. Mr. Silberman cannot return to the classroom with the chance that he will continue to conduct himself in the manner described and harm another student.

37. Each child who comes to the school should feel a level of comfort where they feel safe from harm, especially in the supervision of teaching staff. The safety of every student is the school's priority and a teacher who digresses from this priority should be immediately removed from the classroom setting. School boards cannot take chances with students' safety, nor should the Commissioner of Education risk students' safety by allowing Mr. Silberman's return to the classroom.

CHARGE ONE

NEGLECT OF DUTY: VIOLATION OF BOARD POLICIES

38. The facts set forth above are hereby repeated and incorporated herein by reference.

39. Mr. Silberman, on at least three occasions, was reminded of his obligation to adhere to District policy and protocols.

40. On at least one occasion during the 2007 school year, Mr. Silberman was advised of the Board's concerns with his conduct and rapport with the students.

41. In 2015 and again in 2022, Mr. Silberman violated District Policy 3217 by his use of force or fear in the treatment of pupils in his classroom.

42. District Policy 3217 – Use of Corporal Punishment provides that "[t]he Board of Education cannot condone an employee's resort to force or fear in the treatment of pupils, even those pupils whose conduct appears to be open defiance of authority. Each pupil is protected by law from bodily harm and from offensive bodily touching. See Dr. Pantoliano's Statement of Evidence, Exhibit I (District Policy 3217).

43. District Policy 3217 also provides:

> Teaching staff members shall not use physical force or the threat of physical force to maintain discipline or compel obedience except as permitted by law, but may remove pupils from the classroom or school by the lawful procedures established for the suspension and expulsion of pupils.

44. A teaching staff member who 2) touches a pupil in an offensive way even though no physical harm is intended and . . . 4) punishes pupils by means that are cruel or unusual will be subject to discipline by this Board and may be dismissed. See Dr. Pantoliano's Statement of Evidence, Exhibit I.

45. Back in May 2015, the Board addressed concerns when Mr. Silberman first kicked a student's chair as a response to a student's defiance and insubordination. Mr. Silberman's response by kicking the student's chair is a violation of District Policy 3217. See Exhibit E.

46. Silberman was interviewed by then-Vice Principal Angelo Bellizzi and REA Representative Lauren Lavelle. When asked about your conduct in 2015, you stated that the student was not completing his assigned work. You also noted that the physical contact with the chair was meant "to get [the student's] attention" and move the chair out the way because you were in a hurry to speak with him in order to remove the situation from your classroom. See Exhibit E.

47. Eight students were also interviewed as part of the May 2015 investigation. They noted that they witnessed Mr. Silberman kick the student's chair and the students all expressed concern when they observed Mr. Silberman's physical contact with the student's chair.

48. Kicking the student's chair, as a response to the student's defiance, is a direct violation of District Policy 3217.

49. Mr. Silberman's conduct in April 2022 led to physical harm to a student. This conduct is unacceptable and as stated in District Policy 3217 will lead to discipline and dismissal from the Board.

50. Mr. Silberman also failed to adhere to District Policy 3281. Mr. Silberman's actions run afoul of the Board's strong commitment to the public's trust and confidence of school staff and the protection of all pupils attending the school district.

51. Mr. Silberman's displays of anger and physical aggression towards students in his classroom does not provide for a healthy, safe educational environment for students.

52. Although the of the April 27, 2022 IAIU investigation related to Mr. Silberman's interaction with one student, the IAIU's findings revealed that Mr. Silberman placed students in harm.

53. During the District's investigation of the incident of April 27, 2022, two students also reported that Mr. Silberman made inappropriate physical contact with them. See Dr. Pantoliano's Statement of Evidence, Exhibit F.

54. When interviewed as part of the investigation, Mr. Silberman denied that he inappropriately touched students. Instead, he claimed that he was demonstrating the proper position of a hand on the computer mouse. Yet eight other students contradicted his account of the events in his classroom. See Exhibit F.

55. Accordingly, Mr. Silberman's conduct is not simply a result of an isolated incident or circumstance involving a de-escalation event requiring Mr. Silberman to make physical contact with students. Rather, Mr. Silberman has a pattern of displaying anger and frustration towards his students in an aggressive manner.

56. As explained herein, District Policy 3281 was violated on numerous occasions. See Exhibit A.

57. District Policy 3281 provides that [t]he Board recognizes there exists a professional responsibility for all school staff to protect a student's health, safety, and welfare. The Board strongly believes that school staff members have the public's trust and confidence to protect the well-being of all pupils attending the school district. See Exhibit A.

58. In support of the Board's strong commitment to the public's trust and confidence of school staff, the Board of Education holds all school staff to the highest level of professional responsibility in their conduct with all pupils. Inappropriate conduct and conduct unbecoming a school staff member will not be tolerated in this school district. See Exhibit A.

59. Mr. Silberman has created a classroom environment where students do not feel safe or supported by him.

60. As a result, the next necessary step is to dismiss Mr. Silberman from employment with the Board.

CHARGE TWO

CONDUCT UNBECOMING: CREATING A RISK OF HARM TO STUDENTS

61. The facts set forth above are hereby repeated and incorporates herein by reference.

62. Mr. Silberman's physical contact with students in the manner reported by students and observed by other teaching staff demonstrates that he creates has created a risk of harm to students.

63. Mr. Silberman creates a risk of harm to students both physically and emotionally.

64. During the 2015 incident, students had expressed "genuine concern" when they observed Mr. Silberman kick a student's chair. See Exhibit E.

65. Additionally, both the students involved and the witnesses to the 2015 incident were reported to be "disturbed to varying degrees." See Exhibit E.

66. Mr. Silberman's behavior has been a concern to the Board and other administrative staff over the course of his time at the District.

67. Principal John W. Coviello warned Mr. Silberman that any subsequent actions involving physical contact with students may result in further discipline. See Exhibit E.

68. As noted in the June 16, 2022 correspondence to Mr. Silberman, this was not the first time that his anger and inappropriate physical conduct, creating a risk of harm to students, had been addressed. See Exhibit F.

69. It is well-established that the New Jersey Commissioner of Education recognizes that a pattern of conduct may constitute unbecoming conduct.

70. The course of misconduct set forth herein constitutes a pattern of conduct unbecoming a teaching staff member.

CHARGE THREE

OTHER JUST CAUSE: ABUSE OF POWER

71. The facts set forth above are hereby repeated and incorporated herein by reference.

72. The aforementioned misconduct of Mr. Silberman has occurred over multiple occasions over an extended period of time. As noted by reference to his actions in 2007, 2015, and 2022, this most recent event was not an isolated incident of poor judgment or a mistake, rather, it was yet another example of Mr. Silberman's abuse of power and inability to exercise self-control or restraint, to the danger of the students in his care.

73. Mr. Silberman engaged in unprofessional conduct and failed to properly discharge his responsibility for the supervision of pupils with the highest level of care and prudent conduct which resulted in a neglect of his duties and a violation of District policies as well as the standards of professional conduct.

74. For all the reasons set forth herein, Mr. Silberman's actions demonstrate that he is no longer able to perform the duties as a school teacher and dismissal is warranted.

On September 9, 2022, Respondent filed an Answer with the Commissioner.

On September 12, 2022, the Director, Office of Dispute and Controversies deemed the Tenure Charges, if true to be sufficient to warrant dismissal or other lower-level penalties and assigned Arbitrator Jay Goldstein to hear and decide the dispute pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-16.

On September 22, 2022, Respondent, through Counsel, filed a "Motion to Bar" certain documents and testimony from being admitted into the arbitration record. Petitioner filed an opposition brief on September 30, 2022. Respondent filed a reply brief on October 3, 2022.

However, after Arbitrator Goldstein informed Counsel that he would defer ruling on Respondent's motion until Petitioner attempted to introduce the evidence at arbitration and Respondent raised an objection, he returned the file to the Office of Bureau and Controversies and removed himself from the matter. Thereafter, on December 28, 2022, the Director assigned the undersigned Arbitrator to hear and decide the dispute pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-16.

In advance of the first day of hearing, I decided Respondent's motion on January 30, 2023, and filed the decision with the Director of the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, Office of the Commissioner, New Jersey Department of Education. The January 30, 2023 motion decision is incorporated herein by reference. Subsequently, hearings were held on February 23, 27 and March 6, 2023. The proceedings were transcribed before a certified court reporter and both sides and the undersigned received the transcripts for use in this proceeding.

On February 23, 2023, Petitioner called as a witness, Ali Huda, a police officer employed by the Borough of Ridgefield, and father of M.H.. Huda testified that his son informed both him and his wife that Respondent grabbed M.H. by his arm out of a chair from a seated position and then made him stand for the remainder of a lockdown drill on April 27, 2022. It is alleged that Respondent believed that M.H. intentionally screeched his chair by moving backward on the floor during the lockdown drill. On the same day, Petitioner called as a witness, Timothy Yang, Principal of Slocum Skewes School, who testified about his conversations with students M.H. and M.V., their parents and Respondent. On the same day, Petitioner called John Coviello. Coviello is the former Principal of Slocum Skewes School who testified about a letter of reprimand he issued to Respondent on May 4, 2015 for kicking the chair of a student.

On February 27, 2023, Petitioner called Hiyoung Kim, who is the school nurse at Slocum Skewes School. Ms. Kim examined M.H. on April 28, 2022, and then again on April 29, after being advised by M.H.'s parents that on the eve of April 28 they noticed a bruise on the inside of M.H.'s upper arm. Petitioner also called Domenico Vaccaro, the father of student M.V. Mr. Vaccaro testified that Respondent slapped M.V.'s hand, roughly pulled his hand off the computer mouse, and yelled at him for allegedly smacking the mouse down on the desk during the lockdown drill.

Petitioner next called Lauretta Allen, Vice Principal of Slocum Skewes School who testified that she overheard students talking about Respondent's actions during the lockdown drill and that she sat in and took notes of Principal Yang's interviews of the parents of M.H. and M.V. and M.V. Lastly, Petitioner called Dr. Letizia Pantoliano, Superintendent of Schools, who testified about her review of all the reports and notes gathered about Respondents' behaviors during the lockdown drill and the factors she took into consideration in recommending the filing of tenure charges to the Board of Education.

After the testimony of Dr. Pantoliano, Petitioner rested its case, at which time Respondent made a Motion for Directed Verdict (or judgement) due to the failure of Petitioner to introduce the testimony of any witness having firsthand knowledge of the events of April 27, 2022, and the alleged deprivation of Respondent's right to confrontation under the Sixth Amendment to the United States Constitution (to be discussed in more detail).

On March 6, 2023, Respondent called Darla Ferdinand, President of the Ridgefield Teacher's Association. Ms. Ferdinand testified that she began teaching the same year as Respondent, and has known him for the entirety of his career as a teacher as Slocum School. Ms. Ferdinand also testified that she accompanied Mr. Silberman to the investigatory meeting conducted by Principal Yang and Vice Principal Allen on April 28, 2022.

Lastly, Respondent testified on his own behalf.

THE ISSUE

Did Petitioner have just cause to support the tenure charges for dismissal of Respondent, Jeffrey Silberman or, in the alternative only, to suspend him for six months without pay based upon his conduct during an April 27, 2022 active shooter lockdown drill?

FINDINGS

Respondent, Jeffrey Silberman is a tenured teacher with the District with over 19 years of employment with Ridgefield Public Schools. He currently holds certifications as an Elementary School Teacher, Teacher of Business Administration/Office Systems Technology, Teacher of Business: Finance/Economics/Law, Teacher of Business: Keyboarding and Data Entry. The only discipline on his record, albeit potentially significant in relation to this proceeding is the letter of reprimand issued on May 4, 2015 by former school principal John Coviello.[1]

[1] In the undersigned's January 30, 2023 decision on Respondent's Motion to Bar evidence, I held that the letter of reprimand may be relied on by either party to establish whether and to what extent the letter of reprimand placed Respondent on notice as to what conduct he must improve, and whether or not the notice provided is sufficient to have encompassed the alleged misconduct for which Respondent has been currently charged. Due to a lack of closure on the duration of the letter (related to Mr. Coviello's apparent failure to close it out before leaving the District), the weight to be accorded the letter is the same as one issued with an intent to remove it in two years. It cannot be deemed expunged, however, because the letter still remained in Respondent's file and any dispute over that fact should have been processed through the contractual grievance procedures.

Dr. Letizia Pantoliano, who has attained her doctorate in Educational Leadership from Columbia University in 2005, has been serving as the Interim Superintendent of Schools for the Ridgefield School District since 2020.

Dr. Pantoliano recommended to the Ridgefield Board of Education the filing of tenure charges against Respondent based on incidents transpiring on April 27, 2022 inside Respondent's computer and technology class/lab during an approximate five-minute, annual active shooter lockdown drill. Given the importance of the drill in this day and age, both staff and students are expected to take it seriously, i.e., as if it was the real thing. The Ridgefield Police Department had previously visited the school and provided a list of instructions for a Lock Down, dated November 21, 2018:

Lock Down

1. Announcement will be made over the public address system

   "Lock Down, Lock Down, Lock Down"

2. Quickly evaluate hallway are outside room door
3. Shelter any occupants in hallway near doorway inside room
4. Remove "Sorry-Pin" from door jam, confirm door is locked and close door
5. Place the door shade to the DOWN position
6. Quietly move items to block the interior doorway
7. Turn all room lights OFF and all computer monitors OFF
8. Move all occupants inside room to the Hard Corner
9. Turn all cell phones to Silent or Vibrate
10. Check attendance
11. Keep all occupants as quiet as possible

12. Prepare the "Shelter-In-Place" Bucket to be used

13. Wait for further instructions over public address system

14. Be prepared for Law Enforcement to enter the room utilizing the door key

If in a LOCK DOWN condition and the FIRE ALARM is activated, Remain in the LOCK DOWN until advised by Administration (Ex. P8).

Principal Timothy Yang testified that there is no specific policy in the Ridgefield School District regarding the technology lab procedure. Rather, the principal confirmed that Mr. Silberman was supposed to make his own lockdown drill because his classroom is different than other classrooms. Unlike other classrooms, Respondent's classroom is much larger and does not have a "hard corner" for students to take cover. Exhibit R3 is a color photograph of Respondent's classroom, which shows a line of desks to one side facing computer monitors and backed by a wall. Across the classroom are other student desks, observed not in a linear row but, rather, adjacent to one another on a 45-degree angle. At the bottom center of the photograph are monitors on top of Respondent's desk were he can see the entire classroom and monitor the work of students accordingly.

Although the tenure charges did not include criticism of Respondent's method of conducting an active shooter drill, Respondent testified that he has his students work quietly through the drill and some even wearing headphones. Regarding whether or not the students know they are supposed to be quiet, Principal Yang said he assumes they do. He indicated that lockdown drills are short, about five, ten minutes, so all of the facts related to this investigation would have occurred in that short period of a few minutes. Principal Yang testified, and common sense dictates, that students are to remain quiet during the active shooter lockdown drill. Since the events in question took place within the confines of the active shooter lockdown drill on April 27, 2022, it was a relatively short duration in which Respondent's alleged misconduct occurred.

Moving past the end of Respondent's class on April 27, 2022, at approximately 2:45 p.m., Vice Principal Lauretta Allen stood at the 5th grade door during dismissal and students approached her asking if she heard what happened. Principal Yang received an e-mail the night of the incident around 8:00 p.m. from Inase Mansour, mother of M.H. On April 28, 2022, parents of M.H. arrived to make a complaint against Respondent. The parents complained about Respondent's treatment of their son during the active shooter lockdown drill. During the April 28, 2022 meeting with the Huda family, Vice Principal Allen took notes. Mr. Huda testified that on April 27, 2022, M.H. came home from school and asked his dad, "If a teacher touches you inappropriately, can you sue?" Mr. Huda responded, "Well, depending on how he touched you. Please further elaborate what had happened... That's when he told me that his teacher grabbed him out of the chair without any due cause" (Tr. 1, p. 17).

During the meeting, Principal Yang and Vice Principal Allen called M.H. to join the meeting with the parents. M.H. explained that during the lockdown drill, M.H. moved his chair. Respondent became annoyed, grabbed M.H. by his arm, lifted him up, moved the chair, and placed him up against the wall to stand during the rest of the drill. Vice Principal Allen had M.H. demonstrate the incident on her, and show her from his point of view what happened. During the meeting with M.H. and his parents, Principal Yang asked Mr. Huda to inspect M.H. for any bruises or signs of injury. Mr. Huda, a police officer, checked his son for any signs in the presence of Principal Yang. There were no physical marks seen on M.H.

In Principal Yang's May 3, 2022 disposition of the investigation, based on Vice Principal Allen's notes primarily, Yang recorded the following statements from M.H.:

- During the lockdown drill about 2 pm on April 27, 2022, every student was told to be quiet.
- Mohamad moved his chair back which made a loud squeaking noise.

- According to Mohamad, Mr. Silberman came behind him and grabbed him by his upper left arm-ushered him "forcibly" up and moved his chair, and had him stand during the duration of the drill.
- According to Mohmad, Mr. Silberman didn't say a word or gave a warning.
- During the meeting, Ms. Allen and Mohamad re-enacted the incident in front of Mr. Yang and Mr. and Mrs. Huda.
- Mohamad demonstrated how he was grabbed on his arm ushered to stand and removed from the chair.
- During this meeting, Mohamad was checked by Mr. Huda to see if there were any bruises or lacerations to his arm. There were no visible marks during this meeting.

In addition, Domenico Vaccaro, father of M.V., recalls going to the school on or about April 28, 2022 and speaking with Principal Yang about what happened to M.V. Mr. Vaccaro testified that he initially learned that there was a situation with M.V. and his teacher from his wife. He then went to meet with the Principal and he learned that there was a lockdown and the children were continuing their work and Mr. Silberman struck M.V. in his hand. Mr. Vaccaro testified that he reported the incident because "he struck my son."

However, Mr. Vaccaro conceded that he had never seen M.V.'s statement prior to his testimony. A part of M.V.'s statement was read to Mr. Vaccaro which stated that "[Mr. Silberman] randomly smacked my hand and roughly pulled my hand up," "then he yelled at me for smacking the mouse." Mr. Vaccaro did not recall M.V. saying that Mr. Silberman yelled at him when he first reported the incident to his parents. Rather, Mr. Vaccaro testified that M.V. said that M.V. told him Mr. Silberman approached him and said not to click his mouse.

Principal Yang called M.V. down to the office to provide his description of the incident. Principal Yang testified that M.V. said he was using his computer mouse loudly, then Mr.

Silberman slapped his arm and removed M.V.'s hand from the mouse, demonstrating on his father that Mr. Silberman placed his hand over M.V.'s hand. Yang brought his mouse over and M.V. demonstrated what happened using his father as himself in the demonstration. During the demonstration, it was noted that Respondent made contact with his hand that made a "pop". M.V. also demonstrated the forcefulness he experienced by using his father's hand.

In Principal Yang's May 3, 2022 disposition report, he more contemporaneously memorialized (as contrasted with his testimony) as to what M.V. and his father reported during the meeting with both himself and Vice Principal Allen.

On April 28, 2022, at 10:30 am, Mr. Vacarro had a meeting with Mr. Yang and Vice Principal Allen lodging a formal complaint against Mr. Silberman (Technology Teacher) on behalf of his son Mario Vaccaro (5th grade). Mr. Vacarro had several questions regarding Mr. Silberman.

- Mr. Vacarro stated there was an incident with his son Mario (5th grade) in the same class as Mohamad.
- Curious was this a recurring incident?
- Mr. Yang and Vice Principal Allen at this time stated we were not aware of any prior incidents.

Mario was called into Mr. Yang's office and was asked to describe the incident that took place on April 27. Mr. Vaccaro was present during the interview as per his request. According to Mario:

- During the lockdown drill, Mr. Silberman told the students to continue working. He walked around the room locking the door and pulling the window shades.
- Mario said he was using his mouse and Mr. Silberman said he was clicking it loudly and Mr. Silberman slapped his hand and pulled his hand off the mouse.
- Mr. Silberman said, "Why are you clicking so loudly? I'll see you in detention."
- Mr. Silberman never assigned a date or time for detention and Mario stated he would not attend either way.
- Mario was hit on the right hand however, there were no markings or bruising.

- Mr. Yang, asked, "Do you have a different mouse than everyone else?"
- Mario responded, "No, Mr. Silberman said I was slapping the mouse not clicking the mouse."
- Mario demonstrated to Mr. Vacarro how Mr. Silberman slapped and grabbed his hand.
- Mario stated Mr. Silberman has a short fuse, not a nice man. Mr. Vacarro stated he has heard other students say the same thing.
- Mario was shocked about what happened he didn't expect a teacher to do that nowadays.
- Mario stated the last 20 min. of class, the students were chatting during the period as normal.
- Mario stated that students were holding in their laughter they thought it was funny that he got hit and Moe was standing.
- It is also noted that "Erickson's" hooded sweatshirt was thrown across the room by Mr. Silberman .
- It was asked, "Before the drill was Mr. Silberman upset?" Mario responded, "No, he was normal."
- Mario stated after the drill, Mr. Silberman tried to explain to him the importance of the drill.
- Mr. Silberman told Mario to be quiet and do what was practiced. It was asked what does that look like? Mario stated he doesn't remember because they only practiced it once at the beginning of the school year.
- Mr. Vacarro asked Mario, "Have you ever seen him strike another student?"
- Mario responded, "No, never."

Principal Yang and Vice Principal Allen next called Respondent to be questioned.

Respondent's statements made during the investigation

On April 28, 2022, Principal Yang and Vice Principal Allen next asked Respondent to report to the main office for an interview. Respondent, together with Union Representative Darla Ferdinand, arrived to the main office at approximately 11:30 a.m. Vice Principal Allen testified that Respondent described that M.H. was leaning back in his chair with two of the four legs of the chair being off the ground. Respondent claimed to have feared for M.H.'s safety, so he went behind M.H., grabbed the back of the chair and M.H.'s arm, and "lifted" M.H. out of the chair, holding him up so that M.H. would not fall. Principal Yang echoed Vice Principal Allen's testimony with respect to what Respondent told him during the interview.

During the interview, Respondent insisted that he did not hit M.V.'s hand. Instead, as M.V was "swatting" the mouse, Respondent covered his hand in order for him to stop and then reposition it to show him how to properly use the computer mouse.[2]

Taken from Principal Yang's May 3, 2022 disposition report, which was informed, in large part, by Vice Principal Allen's notes, Respondent provided the following input:

April 28, 2022, at 11:25 am Mr. Silberman, Mrs. Ferdinand(Union Rep), Mrs. Gryotoo(Union Rep), Mr. Yang and Vice Principal Allen met.

- It was stated two parents the Huda's and Vaccaro's were lodging a complaint concerning an incident that took place in Technology class on April 27, 2022, during the drill.
- Mr. Yang summarized M. Huda's version.
- Mr. Yang summarized M. Vaccaro's version.

Mr. Silberman 's account of events:

- When the drill was announced students have 15 seconds to get chairs in place and for him to pull the pin from the door.
- Mr. Silberman stated Mario was swatting the mouse-demonstrated how hard and loud Mario was swatting the mouse.
- Mr. Silberman stated he repositioned Mario's hand.
- Mr. Silberman stated, Mario looked confused-he was swatting the mouse. Mr. Silberman repositioned Mario's hand to stop.
- Mr. Silberman asked, "Do you know what you're doing?" Mario, stopped, and responded, "No what am I doing?"

[2] Vice Principal Allen testified that unless the students have special needs or other type of handicap, it is not appropriate for a teacher to physically model anything, especially in a lockdown drill when everyone is supposed to be quiet. No work should be occurring but rather, students should be quietly waiting for the next announcement.

- This is where Mr. Silberman took his wrist and showed Mario how to place his hand on the mouse.

- Mr. Silberman stated, "Moe" was kicking off the wall in the chair, leaning back on the chair, the two front legs of the chair were in the air. (Demonstrated).

- Concerned for his safety-grabbed the back of the chair and Moe, holding him up so he doesn't fall.

- To support Moe, Mr. Silberman grabbed his arm and the back of the chair. He lifted Moe out of the chair and told him to stand until the end of the lockdown drill. According to Mr. Silberman Mohamad was standing no more than a minute.

- It was asked did you contact the parents?: "Mr. Silberman said didn't think I needed to call parents."

- This is the 1st incident for both students and he felt since he addressed the behaviors with the students it didn't have to go further.

- Mr. Silberman stated he didn't notice anything, did not notice students laughing, making fun of, etc.

- Mr. Silberman was told to go home until further notice. He will get a call to return once the investigation is completed.

Principal Yang and Vice Principal Allen then had the students come to the main office individually to be questioned and to provide a written statement as to what transpired during the April 27, 2022 active shooter lockdown drill. Set forth in the header to Principal Yang's May 3, 2022 disposition report is the following:

Student interviews began on Thursday, April 28, 2022, and concluded on Friday, April 29, 2022. Every student in Ms. Mendoza's homeroom was interviewed except for Julius Colo who was absent on the day of the incident and Elliot Pyo was as absent on the day of the interview.

All students were asked if they observed any interaction between Mr. Silberman and Mario, and Mr. Silberman and Mohammad on April 27, during the lockdown drill. Students filed out a statement if they observed an interaction between Mr. Silberman and Mario, and/or Mr. Silberman Mohammad.

A verbatim summary of the student statements provided to Vice Principal Allen are set forth below, with the exception that initials have been substituted by the undersigned for actual student names in order to protect their privacy.

So, the lockdown started, and before that the class was loud and everybody was laughing. Mr. S. was in a bad mood because everone was fooling around. During the drill Mr. S was roaming the classroom, making sure everone was doing work, And he said, "guys make sure your quiet." Then about 20 seconds later I adjust my chair and then it squeaked. I heard loud foot steps running toward me the he grabbed me by my arm and takes me out of my seat and, drags my chair to the door and, says "since you don't know how to act on a chair your standing for the rest of the drill." I was confused because he did not even say anything he just grabbed me out of my chair. Then after the drill I sat back down.

Moe: Mr. Sliberman picked up Moe from his arms and made him stand for the rest of the lockdown for moving his chair a bit.

I saw Mr. Silverman pick up Moe his arm and pull back his chair. I heard him (Mr. Silberman) scream at him for making noise. I also saw Mr. Silberman grab Mario by his hand or arm. It seemed a bit aggressive to me.

TC 4/29/2022

What I saw was mr. Silberman pulling mohhamed chair backwards while [illegible] standing Then Mohumad had to stand for the rest of the lockdown.

JPP 4/29/2022

When my class were in technology class, there was a lockdown. When Mario Vaccaro was on the computer he was smacking the mouse or something like that. And then mario went under his desk. Mr. Silberman was kind of mad but he just told him to go back to his seat. After that happened, Moe accidentally squeaked his chair and mr. silberman got mad so he lifted moe up with one hand.

ER 4/29/22

I saw Mr. Silberman throwing my sweater across the room. Next, I saw Mr. Silberman slapping Mario's hand and putting his hand away from the mouse because mario was playing with the mouse. Lastly, I saw Mr. Silberman grabbing Moe's arm and liftin him up, and putting his chair to another table.

ZMZR 4/29/22

So there was a lockdown and mario hid under the desk mr s got a little mad and told him to sit back to his desk then moehammad scoted his chair and MR S grabed him and pick him up by the hand and put his chair to the side then mario was clicking his mouse agresively and MR S came and I heard a slapping sound also he threw erickson's hoodie.

MV 4/29/

The announcement for the drill had gone off and Mr. S said to continue with our work. He went off to lock the doors and we were doing brainpop. Then a little later, he got up and randomly smacked my hand and roughly pulled my hand up. He then yelled at me for "smacking the mouse and interupting the class." He then said "see you in detention." After that he blabbled some other stuff that I didn't really puck up and went back to his seat.

A little later, Mr. S got up and picked up Moe by the arm out of His seat for "making noise during the drill." The rest of that class it was only just whispers and other little noises.

So when there was a lock down and my friend mario was sitting next to me and he was clicking his mouse and mr. Silberman grab his hand really hard and lift it up. The lockdown was almost done moe tryed fixing his seat mr. Silberman came from behind and grabe his arm and lift moe and took hes chair.

TWSM 4/29/22

All I saw was mr s slid the chair back from Mohamed

DY 4/29/22

When the lockdown started Mr. Silberman walked out of the room and closed the door. Then mario went under the table and stayed there. Then mr silberman told him to get up, and he went up and sat back down. Then later on moe accidentally squeaked his chair and mr silberman went to moe and picked him up and took his chair so moe had to stand up and do his work.

When I was doing brainpop with my friend next to me, the speaker announced that there was a lockdown. Mr. Silberman started unrolling the thing on the door for so people cannot see in. After we continued to do the brainpop, when Mr. Silberman started walking around. When Moe, my friend, moved his chair making a squeak, Mr. Silberman grabbed Moe by the shoulders a little forcefully he moved the chair. After around 4 minutes, he got back his chair to Moe. After Mario started to click his mouse, which made Mr. Silberman very mad. After the lockdown he said to log out of the computer, then the bell rang (Ex. P-5).

On April 29, 2022 meeting, the Huda family returned to the school to report that M.H. had a bruise in the general area as to where he claimed Respondent grabbed him. Mr. Huda testified that on the preceding evening, they filed a report with the Ridgefield Police Department after discovering the bruise. Mr. Huda is employed as a police officer by the Borough. As it turns out, members of the Police Department came to Huda's home and took the report from M.H. (Ex. P3). In the report, M.H. told the investigating police officers that he was unsure as to whether the bruise was caused by Respondent. The bruise in the photo introduced in this proceeding reflected a yellowing, as opposed to dark blue, appearance.

School Nurse Hiyoung Kim testified that on the morning of April 29, 2022, that the parent of M.H. reported there was a marking on his son's arm and they asked the nurse for it to be documented. Ms. Kim examined M.H. Principal Yang requested that Ms. Kim document everything and photograph the bruise, which she did (Ex. P3A and B). Ms. Kim testified that her notes contain information as to the details MH provided pertaining to the bruise. Namely, that M.H. told Ms. Kim that the teacher grabbed his left upper arm that Wednesday. Ms. Kim testified the bruise was yellow and thus appeared to be healing at the time of her examination.

During the hearing, Respondent's counsel questioned Principal Yang and Vice Principal Allen with respect to potential limitations on the accuracy of students' statements. Principal Yang was aware that Respondent had students working at their computers during the drill. However, Principal Yang was not aware whether or not students were working with headphones or using a software program, known as "BrainPOP" during the incident. In addition, viewing the aforementioned photograph of Respondent's classroom, Principal Yang noted that the students face the wall at their computers and he was unaware as to where in the classroom each of the students interviewed actually sat. In other words, he did not verify the vantage point that each student had, including potential obstructions, to make the observations they reported.

During her testimony, Superintendent Pantoliano testified that, in her experience, middle school students are aware of everything that is going on around them, especially the teacher and that students could have seen behind them through reflections on their computer monitors.[3]

Although the undersigned has previously set forth sections of Principal Yang's May 3, 2022 disposition report, Yang's analysis of the interviews and written statements is as follows:

After interviewing the students the following statements were consistent:

- Two students observed and made statements that Mario was hitting, banging, using the mouse improperly
- Two students observed and made statements Mario went under the desk/table when the lockdown drill was announced

[3] It is not clear from Dr. Pantoliano's testimony as to whether a reflection would be present when a software program or document is up on the screen in comparison to a monitor that has been turned off.

- Eight students observed and made statements Mr. Silberman touched/hit/slapped Mario's hand and moved it from the placement of the mouse.

- Four students observed and made statements Mr. Silberman "threw" Erickson's hooded sweatshirt onto another table.

- Fourteen students observed and made statements Mr. Silberman grabbed/touched Moe's arm and lifted him from the chair.

- Fourteen students observed and made statements Mr. Silberman moved Moe's chair.

All students who observed the incident with Mr. Silberman and Mohammad were asked if Mohammad moved his chair (making noise) or was leaning back on his chair (with the two front feet off the ground). All students reported that Mohmmad moved his chair.

Pictures of the bruising (M.H.), the nurse's report, and student statements (including Mohammad and Mario), are attached to this report.

Timothy Yang 5/3/2022

Signature of Principal Date[4]

On or about April 29, 2022, Petitioner reported the incident, as is required to do so, to the Department of Children and Families, Institutional Abuse Investigation Unit ("IAIU").

It is noted that the above May 3, 2022 disposition report by Principal Yang was forwarded to Dr. Pantoliano. It was not provided to Respondent. On June 3, 2022, Dr. Pantoliano met with Respondent and Union representative, Darla Ferdinand. Dr. Pantoliano testified that Respondent and Ferdinand attended the meeting of June 3, 2022 and "Kara Doviak" attended as a representative of the Superintendent/Board of Education.

Dr. Pantoliano testified as to Respondent's explanation as to what occurred on April 27, 2022. Regarding M.H., Respondent explained to Dr. Pantoliano that M.H. was falling back in his chair, that he grabbed the chair and the student to prevent him from falling. At Dr. Pantoliano's request, Respondent demonstrated what happened using Ms. Ferdinand as M.H. Respondent, standing behind Ms. Ferdinand grabbed her upper body to prevent her from falling in the chair. Conversely, Dr. Pantoliano insisted that Respondent did not demonstrate lifting Ms. Ferdinand out of the chair.[5] Equally more puzzling to Dr. Pantoliano is why Respondent would not have opted for simply grabbing the back of the chair and moving the student forward so that all four legs of the chair were touching the floor.

In addition, Dr. Pantoliano testified as to Respondent's explanation concerning his interaction with M.V. Respondent explained that the student was improperly clicking the mouse and he wanted to demonstrate the proper use of the mouse. Dr. Pantoliano opined that she did not understand how covering the student's hand would demonstrate the proper use of the mouse. Dr. Pantoliano questioned Respondent as to other ways he could have helped M.V. to properly use the mouse without touching him, i.e., by demonstrating himself how to use a mouse in M.V.'s presence. In other words, to Dr. Pantoliano there was no need to have the child's hand in between my hand and the mouse.

Dr. Pantoliano opined that instructing students how to use a mouse during and active shooter lockdown drill was not an appropriate exercise. At page 135 of the transcript of February 27, 2023 proceeding, Dr. Pantoliano elaborated upon her concern:

> "The students were supposed to be as quiet as possible. The lights are supposed to be off. The computer monitors are supposed to be off, and whole goal behind that because if there was an active shooter or intruder in the building, you want them to believe that no one is in that classroom, so doing any kind of active, direct instruction with one student, would one, distract all of the other students from what they're supposed to be doing, which is being quiet during a lockdown drill because this is 5th grade, every student is going turning around, looking at why the teacher is near one particular student with their hand on them... And that's where their attention and focus is going to be when it should be on the lockdown drill and practicinge." (Tr. 2, p. 135).

Dr. Pantoliano, in the same vein, commented on Respondent's alleged explanation concerning M.H. in the context of an active shooter lockdown drill:

> "I believe there was a discussion on how long that he left him standing so he believed that he made him stand, was in a matter of seconds in time. How long was a part of the conversation. You know, he was only standing a minute, less than a minute. My feeling as a former teacher and the Superintendent of Schools, if there were an active shooter and it was a dangerous situation, as soon as he made that one child stand, he made that one child a target. If there was a shooter going to come to the door, the first person that was going to be shot was the child standing because again, everyone else is sitting down, that child is standing up so that student becomes a target so at no time do I believe that child should have been made to stand..." (Id., p. 136).

Ms. Ferdinand testified that she also accompanied Respondent to the meeting with Dr. Pantoliano on June 3, 2022. She confirmed that at no time prior to the meeting was Respondent provided with the investigation report and that the report was not provided to him by Dr. Pantoliano until the end of the meeting. Ms. Ferdinand testified that Respondent, just as he was during the April 28, 2022 meeting with Principal Yang and Vice Principal Allen, was shocked and sincerely believed that he was trying to keep the room safe.

On June 16, 2022, Dr. Pantoliano issued a letter to Respondent entitled, "Notice of Discipline & Increment Withholding" (Ex. P. 12). The version of events attested to by the students and Respondent's responses were briefly discussed in the letter by Dr. Pantoliano. In pertinent part, implicitly discrediting Respondent's version, Dr. Pantoliano noted with respect to M.H., "One student reported that he was forcibly pulled out of his chair, with such force that a bruise was left on his arm... Though you claimed that you pulled the one student out of his chair because he had lifted two feet off the ground, that was contradicted by fourteen students... The other student reported that you slapped his hand and pulled his hand off the computer mouse... Though you claim you were demonstrating the proper position of a hand on a computer mouse to the other student, that too was contradicted by eight other students." (Id.). Lastly, Dr. Pantoliano refers in her June 16, 2022 letter to the 2015 letter of reprimand issued by former Principal John Coviello (Ex. P. 7) and the 2007 observation report where in it was stated that Respondent received a ranking of "needs improvement" and "creating an environment of respect and rapport"; "treating students in a fair and consistent manner"; "establishing an atmosphere of cooperation, mutual respect and concern"; and "creating a learning environment in which others feel free to express themselves respectfully."

Dr. Pantoliano's letter notified Respondent of her rationale underlying her intent to recommend withholding salary adjustments and increments and tenure charges seeking his dismissal:

> "Your conduct demonstrates that you're unable to correct your behavior and implement appropriate, alternative strategies for classroom management and student behavior. Your actions endanger students physically and emotionally, which is in direct contravention to your role as Teacher. Teachers are expected to model appropriate behavior and provide safe learning spaces for students. Students should not fear their teachers or going to class. Classrooms should be welcoming environments that promote learning; not hinder learning or student engagement." (Id.).

In a report dated June 27, 2022 (after Dr. Pantoliano referred the matter to the Board to consider Tenure Charges against Respondent), IAIU entered the following findings:

- The allegation of physical abuse/physical impairment – cut, bruise, welt, abrasion, oral injury is not established in accordance with N.J.SA. 9:6-8.21.
- However, some information in the case of the child was harmed or placed at risk of harm (Ex. P3).[6]
- Notably, findings of "not established" are not disclosed in a Child Abuse Record Information check, but they are maintained in agency records.

[6] The IAIU report does not specify what information indicated that the "child" was harmed or placed at risk of harm.

RELEVANT BOARD POLICIES

Board Policy 3281, Inappropriate Staff Conduct

The Board recognizes there exists a professional responsibility for all school staff to protect a student's health, safety, and welfare. The Board strongly believes that school staff members have the public's trust and confidence to protect the well-being of all pupils attending the school district.

In support of the Board's strong commitment to the public's trust and confidence of school staff, the Board of Education holds all school staff to the highest level of professional responsibility in their conduct with all pupils. Inappropriate conduct and conduct unbecoming a school staff member will not be tolerated in this school district.

The Board recognizes and appreciates the staff-pupil professional relationship that exists in a school district's educational environment. This Policy has been developed and adopted by this Board to provide guidance and direction to avoid actual and/or the appearance of inappropriate staff conduct and conduct unbecoming a school staff member toward pupils.

School staff's conduct in completing their professional responsibilities shall be appropriate at all times. School staff shall not make inappropriate comments to pupils or about pupils and shall not engage in inappropriate language or expression in the presence of pupils. School staff shall not engage in inappropriate conduct toward or with pupils.

A school staff member is always expected to maintain a professional relationship with pupils and to protect the health, safety, and welfare of school pupils. A staff member's conduct will be held to the professional standards established by the New Jersey State Board of Education and the New Jersey Commissioner of Education. Inappropriate conduct or conduct unbecoming a staff member may also include conduct not specifically listed in this Policy, but conduct determined by the New Jersey State Board of Education, the New Jersey Commissioner of Education, an arbitration process, and/or appropriate courts to be inappropriate or conduct unbecoming a school staff member.

Board Policy 3217, Use of Corporal Punishment

The Board of Education cannot condone an employee's resort to force or fear in the treatment of pupils, even those pupils whose conduct appears to be open defiance of authority. Each pupil is protected by law from bodily harm and from offensive bodily touching.

Teaching staff members shall not use physical force or the threat of physical force to maintain discipline or compel obedience except as permitted by law, but may remove pupils from the classroom or school by the lawful procedures established for the suspension and expulsion of pupils.

This policy derives from State law that prohibits corporal punishment with limited exceptions of when force can be used on a student. That statute provides: No person employed or engaged in a school or educational institution, whether public or private, shall inflict or cause to be inflicted corporal punishment upon a pupil attending such school or institution; but any such person may, within the scope of his employment, use and apply such amounts of force as is reasonable and necessary:

(1) to quell a disturbance, threatening physical injury to others;

(2) to obtain possession of weapons or other dangerous objects upon the person or within the control of a pupil;

(3) for the purpose of self-defense; and

(4) for the protection of persons or property; and such acts, or any of them, shall not be construed to constitute corporal punishment within the meaning and intendment of this section. Every resolution, bylaw, rule, ordinance, or other act or authority permitting or authorizing corporal punishment to be inflicted upon a pupil attending a school or educational institution shall be void.

RELEVANT STATUTE

N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10.

No person shall be dismissed or reduced in compensation,

(a) if he is or shall be under tenure of office, position or employment during good behavior and efficiency in the public school system of the state, or

(b) if he is or shall be under tenure of office, position or employment during good behavior and efficiency as a supervisor, teacher or in any other teaching capacity in the Marie H. Katzenbach school for the deaf, or in any other educational institution conducted under the supervision of the commissioner; except for inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct, or other just cause, . . .

DISCUSSION

In the State of New Jersey, a tenured teacher shall not be dismissed from his position or reduced in compensation "except for inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct, or other just cause." N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10. The TEACH NJ legislation, enacted in 2012, led to the replacement of the Office of Administrative Law and the Commissioner of Education with labor arbitrators required to be members of the National Academy of Arbitrators. It must be presumed that the legislature was aware of how arbitrators address and analyze just cause disciplinary cases, especially in the context of removal or dismissal. Consistent with the legislative enactment, it may be expected that the traditional arbitral factors relied on to evaluate the propriety of the removal or dismissal of a public employee will be brought to the table in addition to the precedent developed over the years by the Commissioner of Education prior to 2012. In fact, the only evidence of the legislature issuing substantive directives to the arbitration panel occurred in 2019, whereby arbitrator training was required on conduct unbecoming an employee, including, but not limited to, issues related to allegations of sexual assault and child abuse. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.1(a):

> (1) A review of tenure charge cases concerning conduct unbecoming by a school employee, including cases decided both before and after the enactment of P.L.2012, c. 26 (C.18A:6-117 et al.); and
> (2) A review of the factors to be considered by arbitrators in deciding tenure charge cases concerning conduct unbecoming by a school employee including, but not limited to, the nature of the alleged offense and the impact, or potential impact, of the employee's conduct on the health and safety of students within the context of the school environment.[7]

In considering both arbitral and education law precedent, I note first that Petitioner must prove, by a preponderance of the credible evidence, that Respondent is guilty of some or all of the disciplinary allegations contained in the charges. See, West New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500 (1962); Cumberland Farms, Inc. v. Moffett, 218 N.J. Super. 331, 341 (App. Div. 1987); Atkinson v. Parsekian, 37 N.J. 143 (1962); Elkouri and Elkouri, How Arbitration Works, 5th Edition, pages 930, et. seq. Importantly, the statutorily permitted scope of the instant tenure proceeding is limited to the Charges and specifications actually expressed in the Sworn Tenure Charges. Pursuant to N.J.SA. 18A:6-17.1(3)(b), Petitioner is also obligated to provide full disclosure of its evidence upon filing the Charges with the Commissioner of Education and may not present any additional evidence, save for rebuttal, or impeachment, at the hearing.

N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.1(b) (1), in pertinent part, specifically states:

> Charges shall be stated with specificity as to the action or behavior underlying the charges and shall be filed in writing with the secretary of the district board of education or with the State district superintendent, accompanied by a supporting statement of evidence, both of which shall be executed under oath by the person(s) instituting such charges. Complete copies of all documents referenced in the statement of evidence shall be attached as part of the statement [emphasis supplied].[8]

The requirement imposed on the employing board of education is not so onerous when it is realized that the board can take as much time as it desires to ensure it has "all its ducks lined up in a row." Conversely, a tenured school teacher had comparatively less time to file a response to the charges,

[8] Similarly, in the analogous context of civil service cases, where the ALJ/Commissioner dichotomy is the same as it was in the education context prior to 2012, an employee cannot be legally tried or found guilty on charges of which s/he has not been given plain notice by the Appointing Authority. Indeed, the de novo hearing following an administrative appeal is limited to the charges and specifications contained in of the Final Notice of Disciplinary Action. West New York v. Bock, 38 N.J. 500, 522 (1962), Dept. of Law and Public Safety, Division of Motor Vehicles v. Miller, 115 N.J. Super. 122 (1971); Borough of HohoKus v. Menduno, 91 N.J. Super. 482, 487-488, 221 A.2d 228 (App.Div.1966)(noting that a public employer can only find an employee guilty of offenses specifically mentioned in the charges); Hammond v. Monmouth County Sheriff's Dep't, 317 N.J. Super. 199, 206 (App. Div. 1999)(noting that an Appointing Authority's broadening of local-level charges on subsequent appeal would "surcharge the right to appeal with a cost which violates any decent sense of due process or fair play"); Grasso v. Borough of Glassboro, 205 N.J. Super. 18 (October 16, 1985) (the original charges may not be amended at a trial de novo so as to include new charges); Accord, Fabian vs. Town of North Bergen, (CSV 3198-97, Initial Decision (August 24, 1998), adopted, Merit System Board, (December 2, 1998). Finally, arbitrators follow similar tenets of due process when addressing just cause in a disciplinary dispute. See, Elkouri & Elkouri, How Arbitration Works, 5th Edition, page 918; Koven & Smith, Just Cause -- The Seven Tests, 2d Edition, page 397.

specifically, 15 days under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-16. Therefore, once a board of education files with the Commissioner tenure charges, it is bound by the specifications it articulated.

In light of the foregoing, I first find that the scope of this proceeding is inextricably tied to, and limited by, Petitioner's wording of the Tenure Charges and supporting specifications. Notably, in this case, as it turned out, there were two potential alternative set of findings which could have been made if the Sworn Tenure Charges permitted: (1) Petitioner sufficiently demonstrated that Respondent abused his power as a teacher, acted with physical aggression as form of discipline or compelling obedience in his classroom (similar to the 2015 allegations), and/or physically and/or emotionally harmed M.H., and/or M.V. in the presence of other students; or (2) Respondent interacted with M.V. and M.H. by touching them physically, thereby showing poor judgment, even if his intent was pedagogy and student safety, respectively. Having said this, however, any fair reading of the factual specifications contained in the Sworn Tenure Charges unambiguously shows that Petitioner rested its Charges on the former, while expressly discrediting the latter.

In fact, Respondent's version of events, (2), above, sans the legal conclusion, were presented to Principal Yang and Vice Principal Allen as early as their April 28, 2022 interview of Respondent. And, whereas Petitioner had every opportunity to file its pleadings in the alternative, it instead sought Respondent's removal based on the version(s) of events set forth by M.H., M.V., the other student witnesses, and the finding of the IAIU that students may have been harmed. To illustrate, specifications from the Sworn Tenure Charges demonstrate Petitioner's rejection of what could have formed the basis of pleadings in the alternative while instead favoring only a singular line of accusations:

> During the investigation, Mr. Silberman claimed that he pulled the one student out of his chair because he had lifted two feet off the ground, however, fourteen students contradicted Mr. Silberman's account [See par. 28,Exhibit F].

Mr. Silberman alleged that he was concerned for the student's safety and grabbed the back of the chair and the student, holding him up so he wouldn't fall. All students who observed the incident with Mr. Silberman and the student were asked if the student moved his chair or was leaning back on his chair. All students report that the student moved his chair [See par. 29,Exhibit G].

In 2015, and again in 2022, Mr. Silberman violated District Policy 3217 by his use of force or fear in the treatment of pupils in his classroom [See par. 41].

Mr. Silberman's conduct in April 2022 led to physical harm to a student. This conduct is unacceptable and as stated in District Policy 3217 will lead to discipline and dismissal from the Board [See par. 49].

During the District's investigation of the incident of April 27, 2022, two students also reported that Mr. Silberman made inappropriate physical contact with them [See par. 53, Exhibit F].[9]

When interviewed as part of the investigation, Mr. Silberman denied that he inappropriately touched students. Instead, he claimed that he was demonstrating the proper position of a hand on the computer mouse. Yet eight other students contradicted his account of the events in his classroom [See par. 54, Exhibit F].

Mr. Silberman has created a classroom environment where students do not feel safe or supported by him [See par. 59].

As a result, the next necessary step is to dismiss Mr. Silberman from employment with the Board [See par. 60].

Mr. Silberman's physical contact with students in the manner reported by students and observed by other teaching staff demonstrates that he has created a risk of harm to students [See par. 62].

As noted in the June 16, 2022 correspondence to Mr. Silberman, this was not the first time that his anger and inappropriate physical conduct, creating a risk of harm to students, had been addressed [See par. 68, Exhibit F].

The aforementioned misconduct of Mr. Silberman has occurred over multiple occasions over an extended period of time. As noted by reference to his actions in 2007, 2015, and 2022, this most recent event was not an isolated incident of poor judgment or a mistake, rather, it was yet another example of Mr. Silberman's

[9] Referring to Dr. Pantoliano's June 16, 2022 Notice of Discipline and Increment Withholding correspondence to Respondent which, in turn, is referencing the verbal and written statements of M.H. and M.V. and Principal Yang's and Vice Principal Allen's Summary of Investigation Report, dated May 2, 2022.

> abuse of power and inability to exercise self-control or restraint, to the danger of the students in his care [See par. 72].
> For all these reasons set forth herein, Mr. Silberman's actions demonstrate that he is no longer able to perform the duties as a school teacher and dismissal is warranted [par. 74].

Plainly, Petitioner elected in the Sworn Tenure Charges to squarely discredit Respondent's admitted actions of laying hands on M.H. to prevent him from falling and on M.V. to show him how to properly use a computer mouse. Thus, while Respondent's version of events may be the subject of a credibility dispute, once discredited by Petitioner within the Charges itself, it cannot be fairly resurrected as "Plan B" as the hearing moved along.

Consistent with the above finding, therefore, I cannot consider as within the permissible scope of this proceeding – other than for potential credibility resolutions – the following testimony adduced from Dr. Letizia Pantoliano on February 27, 2023 (months after the filing of charges):

> "[e]ven with the best of intentions," teachers should not be laying their hands on students because we are dealing with intent versus perception and again, this is the perception of the student." (Tr. 2, pp. 153-154);
> "Even if I took everything he said in the most favorable, positive light to him, I don't know why you would touch anyone if they were falling because they are in a chair with a solid back so why don't' you just grab the back of the chair and upright them. It didn't make sense having to touch the student at all." (Id., p. 130).
>
> "[L]ooking in the most favorable light for Mr. Silberman, his decisions didn't make any sense when you're looking at the health, safety and welfare of the children in his class." (Id., p. 137).
>
> Whether physical harm was not intended is of no regard, it still violates the policy (Id., pp. 163-164).
> Mr. Silberman exhibited poor judgment in grabbing M.H. instead of up righting the chair, and also by making M.H. stand up. Mr. Silberman also exhibited poor judgment when he put his hand on M.V.'s to demonstrate how to use a mouse, especially during a lockdown drill, which he claimed he wanted to take seriously. This poor judgment led to the inappropriate touching of students and conduct unbecoming (Id., p. 180).

> The bruise was immaterial to her decision to file tenure charges, though it supported her decision later on, as she could not confirm whether Mr. Silberman caused it or his intent, but she could confirm that his conduct was inappropriate for the situation (Id., p. 212).

In sum, Petitioner must be held to the Charges/specifications it actually filed, and may not now resurrect those it expressly rejected.

Also, consistent with the undersigned's January 30, 2023 ruling, the Tenure Charges must be dismissed to the extent they seek to bundle the 2007 non-disciplinary Observation and 2015 Letter of Reprimand as evidence in support of Tenure Charges filed in 2022. Rather, as disposed of in the undersigned's January 30, 2023 ruling, the 2015 Letter of Reprimand and the 2007 Observation are relevant to the issue of prior discipline (2015 letter of reprimand) with an intent to remove the discipline upon two years of good behavior and notice imparted to Respondent by both documents that physical aggression or inappropriate physical contact is prohibited and could lead to discipline, or further discipline. The past incidents cannot, however, be resurrected and weighed differently in this 2022 Tenure proceeding, i.e., Respondent cannot be disciplined twice for the same offense. See, e.g., IMO Randolph Board of Education and Jill S. Buglovsky, Agency Docket No. 265-9/12 (Licata), confirmed, Buglovsky v. The Randolph Township Board of Education, Morris County, Docket No.: C13-13 (P.J. Ch. Stephan C. Hansbury); and In the Matter of Arbitration of John Carlomango, School District of the Township of Hillside, Agency Dkt. No. 450-13 (Melissa Biren).

Lastly, to the extent that there are similarities between the facts underlying the 2015 Letter of Reprimand and the 2022 allegations, this does not mean that the 2015 misconduct, in and of itself, can be used to prove that Respondent committed the charged 2022 alleged misconduct. See, N.J.R.E. 404(b) and Rule 404(b) of the Federal Rules of Evidence:

> "(b) Other Crimes, Wrongs, or Acts -- Evidence of other crimes, wrongs, or acts is not admissible to prove the disposition of a person in order to show that he acted in conformity therewith. Such evidence may be admitted for other purposes, such as proof of motive, opportunity, intent, preparation, plan, knowledge, identity or absence of mistake or accident when such matters are relevant to a material issue in dispute." [see, e.g., State v. Redick, 181 N.J. 553(2004); State v. Abdullah, 372 N.J. Super 252 (2004).[10]

Next, having defined the permissible scope of this proceeding, I will address Respondent's motion for a "Directed Verdict". Respondent has the burden to prove that it was entitled to judgment at the conclusion of Petitioner's case, i.e., on February 27, 2023. Petitioner has the burden to prove the Sworn Tenure Charges by a preponderance of the credible evidence. Claiming that it did not, Respondent moved on February 27, 2022 (at the conclusion of Petitioner's case) to dismiss, or seek judgment in its favor regarding the Charges. Respondent asserted that he was entitled as a matter of due process to have the motion decided before having to put on his case. Armed with a stack of caselaw, while Respondent was ready to go on February 27, 2023, neither counsel for the Petitioner nor the undersigned had sufficient notice of the motion to address it at that time.

Instead, it was agreed, primarily off the record, (1) to finish the case in its entirety instead of holding the hearing in abeyance pending a decision on the motion; and (2) to bifurcate the record and decision to allow the parties a full opportunity to address the motion based on the record which concluded February 27, 2023. In practical terms, the parties agreed to address the motion as the first point of their post-hearing briefs. The parties also agreed, if the matter was not disposed of by motion, to address the merits of their respective arguments thereafter based on the entire record, including the evidence adduced at the March 6, 2023 hearing. Thus, in the end, the procedure put in place preserved Respondent's right to move for dismissal at the conclusion of Petitioner's case while giving counsel for the Petitioner and the undersigned a full opportunity to get caught up to speed with Respondent.

As to the merits of the motion, Respondent specifically contends that Petitioner failed to present the testimony of any witness having firsthand knowledge of the events which transpired inside Respondent's Computer and Technology classroom on April 27, 2022. The legal grounds for Respondent's motion is that Petitioner disregarded Respondent's alleged constitutional right to confront witnesses and/or disregarded the hearsay rules of evidence by bringing Tenure Charges to a hearing based purely on hearsay evidence; more specifically, by failing to present the testimony of M.H., M.V. or any other witness who had firsthand knowledge of what actually transpired inside Respondent's classroom on April 27, 2022 during the active shooter lockdown drill.

Initially, I do not find that Petitioner deprived Respondent of a constitutional right to confront witnesses under the Sixth Amendment to the United States Constitution or the New Jersey State Constitution analogue. This is so because the constitutional guarantees apply to criminal as opposed to civil proceedings, with the exception of the Fifth Amendment right against self-incrimination. See, Dolan v. City of Orange, 287 N.J. Super. 136, 144 (App. Div. 1996) (explaining that, in disciplinary hearings, "the right of confrontation and cross examination is not part of the panoply of procedural safeguards required by federal or state constitutions"); Borough of Franklin v. Smith, 466 N.J. Super. 487 (App. Div. 2021) (Borough subpoena requiring police officer to testify for the Borough in his disciplinary appeal did not deny him due process; Fifth Amendment concerns do not constitute categorical justification not to comply with subpoena; rather, Fifth Amendment must be invoked, if at all, on a question-by-question basis); See, also, IMO Randolph Board of Education and Jill S. Buglovsky, Agency Docket No. 265-9/12 (Licata, 2013), confirmed, Buglovsky v. The Randolph Township Board of Education, Morris County, Docket No.: C13-13 (P.J. Ch. Stephan C. Hansbury) (recognizing that while the constitutional prohibition against double jeopardy does not apply to a tenure case, the principles underlying the constitutional principle may extend by analogy under just cause). Thus, I initially find that Petitioner did not deprive Respondent of a constitutional guarantee by failing to call, in its case-in-chief, any witness who was inside Respondent's classroom on April 27, 2022 when the alleged incidents took place.

Instead, Respondent's motion is more properly characterized as a hearsay challenge to the evidence presented by Petitioner. Petitioner maintains that there is sufficient competent evidence which, in conjunction with the reliable hearsay evidence, supports the Charges as well as Respondent's dismissal from employment, including, but not limited to, (1) the relatively consistent, but independent statements of 14 students, none of whom filed a complaint against Respondent in the past; (2) the honesty of their parents; (3) the reporting of the incident to police officers, administrators, the school nurse; (4) participation in the DCF/IAIU investigation, etc.; (5) The IAIU's finding that a student may have been harmed; (6) the bruise which surfaced on M.H.'s arm; and (7) the alleged fanciful explanation by Grievant as to what occurred, i.e., that he went off script during an active shooter drill to prevent M.H. from falling and to model the proper use of a mouse to M.V. Respondent replies that Petitioner's proofs fall far short of satisfying the residuum rule. For the reasons which follow, I am satisfied that with one exception pertaining to compelling M.H. to stand in front of the class, Petitioner has failed to presented sufficient competent evidence to support the Charges. An appropriate disciplinary penalty will be discussed, infra.

In addressing the record before me, an understanding of the hearsay and residuum rules of evidence is necessary. Hearsay evidence is generally admissible in arbitration proceedings and in administrative proceedings in New Jersey. It is subject to whatever weight accorded to it by the decision-maker. See, Elkouri and Elkouri, How Arbitration Works, Eight Edition, Ch. 8.4 C. (8-33), citing, Kagel, Practice and Procedure, in the Common Law of the Workplace: The Views of Arbitrators 37 (St. Antoine ed., BNA Books, 2d ed. 2005). Indeed, arbitrators generally admit hearsay evidence, but qualify its reception by informing the parties that it is admitted only "for what it is worth". In most cases, very little weight is given to hearsay evidence and it is exceedingly unlikely that an arbitrator will render a decision by hearsay evidence alone. Elkouri & Elkouri, supra, at 449-451. Perhaps the most comprehensive review of the arbitral treatment of hearsay evidence is set forth by Arbitrator Stanley Kravit in Barton Center, Senior Health Management, LLP and UFCW Local 1425 (Kravits 2005), FMCS Case No. 040715/56271-3, 2005 WL 7084765.

In the matter before Arbitrator Kravit, the grievance challenged the discharge of two certified nurse's aides for verbally abusing and failing to reposition the pillow of an elderly resident. Similar to the student-teacher paradigm, the facts involved a common occurrence in the industry whereby the employer and the family of the resident did not wish to present the testimony of the resident against her caretakers. Arbitrator Kravits provided the following historical recitation of the hearsay rule, as addressed by arbitrators (footnote annotations appear in full in Barton Center, Senior Health Management, LLP but are omitted here for brevity):

> Hearsay is defined, simply, as a statement made outside the hearing by a person other than the testifying witness, offered in evidence to prove the truth of the matter asserted. The probative value of such evidence depends on the credibility of someone who cannot be cross-examined.

The issue of whether such evidence should be admitted at all, assuming it does not fall within the many categories of admissibility, must be separated from the weight to be given. The absence of cross-examination denies the grievants of the right to test whether the actual declarant is lying, remembering inaccurately, or simply wrong. Possible motivation of a declarant is a critical element where there is evidence of conflict, e.g., between accuser and grievant, or between the accuser and other accused in the same setting.

Since arbitrators are not bound by the strict rules of evidence applicable in court, there originally developed a practice of admitting hearsay "for what it is worth". As various texts and many arbitrators have stated, "Rarely do the parties know what it is worth, at least not at the hearing." I would add, nor in the preparation of their briefs.

As far back as 1967 a prominent group of arbitrators concluded:

"Unless corroborated by truth-tending circumstances in the environment in which it was uttered, it (hearsay) is unreliable evidence and should be received with mounting skepticism of its probative value as it becomes more remote and filtered."

This statement strengthened the underpinnings of the practice of receiving hearsay, but limiting its probative value. It is reflected, e.g., in the following comment on the "for what it is worth", if anything, concept:

"In accepting it, however, the arbitrator is expected to have the expertise and experience to properly evaluate the evidence and to accord it the appropriate weight dependent upon the corroborating support for the evidence and the circumstances surrounding it." Wisconsin Dept. of Health & Social Services, 84 LA 219, 222 (Imes, 1985)

There have been many cases in which hearsay has been offered in lieu of testimony of bus passenger complaints against drivers; undercover agent or security guard allegations against employees; and nursing home patients' allegations of abuse against CNAs. In the great majority of these cases, of which this Arbitrator has made an extensive review, arbitrators have refused to sustain discharges based solely upon hearsay evidence. This caution is well stated by the following holding:

"I am very conscious of the fact, which the Union stresses in its brief, that it has been deprived of the opportunity to cross-examine the [security officer] and thereby perhaps to impeach his very serious accusations against the grievant. All that a fair and conscientious arbitrator can do under these circumstances is to scrutinize the hearsay evidence very closely, and to give it little or no weight if there is any indication that the evidence is untruthful, misleading or biased." Baker-Marine Corp., 77 LA 721, 723 (Marlatt, 1981)

Perhaps the definitive statement on the issue of admissibility versus weight was made by Arbitrator Glushein in Bambergers, 59 LA 879 (1972). In that case an undercover detective reported to a Company official that he had purchased marijuana from an employee. He produced the purchase and later gave a statement to the police. At the hearing the Company did not produce the agent, but relied upon the hearsay testimony of its security manager. The union objected to the testimony and asked that it be stricken. In his award overturning the discharge, the Arbitrator held:

> "Whether or not I now strike his testimony from the record, the result is the same. As will appear in a few moments, I find the hearsay recital to be an entirely inadequate basis on which to destroy a man's career, job rights and essential livelihood, not to mention the stain upon his reputation and the resulting difficulty of finding another job."

"The general rule in arbitration, and one to which the arbitrator subscribes, is that hearsay testimony may be admitted in some circumstances where the customary rules of evidence in court proceedings would exclude it. Such hearsay may lend a degree of support to facts otherwise established by first-hand, competent, reliable and probative evidence. But to rely absolutely and exclusively on pure hearsay is a proposition far beyond what the arbitrator is prepared to accept, and one which is wholly unsupported in the arbitration literature."

"Some kinds of hearsay no doubt are more compelling than others and carry a certain degree of probability. But in all or substantially all cases which the arbitrator can envisage, there must be apart from the hearsay a core of competent, reliable and credible evidence which the hearsay corroborates."

"Especially is this standard mandatory where the contested issue is such a serious one as here, on which turn a man's livelihood and reputation." (Id. at 881-882)

These citations reflect my reasons for admitting the hearsay complaints against the grievants, as well as my view of the appro-weight these exhibits may be given.

In a case similar to Bambergers, Arbitrator Gallagher overturned a discharge for drug use on company premises where the sole evidence was the report of an undercover agent who did not testify. Stating that:

> "Consistent with prior arbitral decisions related to discharge for alleged alcohol or drug usage, the Arbitrator holds the opinion that the burden of proof placed upon the Company in cases of this type must meet the standard of 'clear and convincing' evidence to support the 'just cause' basis for the discharge" (citations omitted). The Arbitrator held that, in the absence of the testimony of the agent, "the Company's case is lacking a central and crucial element."

Because patient abuse is so serious an offense, and because complaining patients or patient-witnesses are unavailable to testify for medical reasons, nursing home cases are the most difficult in which to apply the standard of just cause against allegations based on hearsay.

In Ambassador Convalescent Center, Inc., 83 LA 44 (Lipson, 1984) the Arbitrator upheld the discharge of an orderly accused by a helpless but mentally alert patient who died before the hearing. The patient repeated the accusation on the day it allegedly occurred to a visitor and several staff and had a discoloration on his left eye. The orderly was accused by the patient of striking him.

The patient also accused the grievant in front of an investigating nurse. The grievant testified and denied the allegations. Another employee disputed a portion of the patient's account of events. The employer's case was based solely on the hearsay testimony of those who had heard the patient's complaints.

The Arbitrator first acknowledged the reasons for admission of the hearsay and the necessary caution in receiving it.

> "Frequently, hearsay is the only evidence available in the work place setting, and the automatic exclusion of same could result in an incomplete record and a failure to accomplish a just result. On the other hand, an arbitrator must carefully bear in mind the inherent weaknesses in hearsay evidence, particularly in the context of a discipline case where the employer has the burden of proving just cause." (Id. at 46)

The Arbitrator admitted the hearsay on the basis of the following sections of the Federal Rules of Evidence:

"Rule 803. Hearsay Exceptions; Availability of Declarant Immaterial ...

(1) Present sense impression.--A statement describing or explaining an event or condition made while the declarant was perceiving the event or condition, or immediately thereafter.

Excited utterance.--A statement relating to a startling event or condition made while the declarant was under the stress of excitement caused by the event or condition ..."

"Rule 804. Hearsay Exceptions; Declarant Unavailable ....

(b) Hearsay exceptions.--The following are not excluded by the hearsay rule if the declarant is unavailable as a witness:

(5) Other exceptions.--A statement not specifically covered by any of the foregoing exceptions, but having equivalent circumstantial guarantees of trustworthiness, if the court determines that (A) the statement is offered as evidence of a material fact; (B) the statement is more probative on the point for which it is offered than any other evidence which the proponent can procure through reasonable efforts; and (C) the general purposes of these rules and the interests of justice will best be served by admission of the statement into evidence."

In addition to finding that the circumstances before him met the criteria of these sections, the Arbitrator found the hearsay far more credible than the testimony of either the grievant or co-worker, stating:

> "While great weight must be given to the sworn testimony of the Grievant and the co-worker Long, in which misconduct was denied, it must be recognized that said testimony cannot be deemed impartial. The Grievant certainly has an interest in a decision that would result in his reinstatement and back pay, and it is understandable that a friend or co-worker would tend to support his assertions." (Id. at 47)

Since there was no apparent motive for the patient to have falsely accused the grievant, the Arbitrator found "that the Employer has made a clear and convincing case that [grievant] struck patient "D"." (Id.)

Arbitrator Lipson was strongly motivated by the fact that "patient abuse cannot be tolerated in a health care facility" and his finding that the patient had suffered an eye injury. The question is whether the Arbitrator's analysis represents a sound arbitral response to nursing home situations or merely indicates that, once admitted, hearsay gains in credibility to an inappropriate degree by the simple fact of admission.

The challenge for arbitrators lies in the admonition to "carefully bear in mind the inherent weaknesses of hearsay evidence," especially when the hearsay is contradicted by the grievant's testimony; and considering that a grievant in an unwitnessed situation has little hope of proving himself "not guilty" and that such a requirement runs counter to due process.

In Ambassador the Arbitrator accepted the hearsay accusation as both a present sense impression and an excited utterance while stating that

> "There can be no debate that the 'interests of justice will best be served by admission of the statement into evidence,' since otherwise there can be no inquiry into an accusation of patient abuse, a serious matter in the nursing home context."

However, the accusation should and does trigger investigation, as is required by Florida law. The need to investigate and prevent abuse must be viewed separately from the issue of the weight to be given to hearsay evidence.

In Wisconsin Dept. of Health & Social Services, supra, Arbitrator Imes confronted a situation very similar to that in Ambassador, including a discharge based solely on hearsay accusation by a non-testifying witness/patient. This also included admission of the accusation "for its probative value since without admission of the statements into evidence, there would be no inquiry into the accusation of patient abuse." (Id. at 222)

Acknowledging that patient abuse is intolerable "because patient care, custody and protection is the very core of the institution's reasons for being," she cautioned employers against the risk of not having patients testify in the absence of medical verification of their inability to do so. (Citing the requirements that would apply in court, at 222) The Arbitrator concluded:

> "... it is incumbent upon the arbitrator to carefully weigh the evidence submitted and reach a reasonable decision based upon the reliability and credibility of the evidence. In so doing, it is concluded the employer failed to establish clear and convincing proof that the grievant had physically abused one of the Center's residents." (Id. at 223).

This case is noteworthy for several other conclusions expressed in the opinion. First, that hearsay cannot be corroborated by hearsay in the form of additional statements taken from other witnesses who do not testify. Second, the Arbitrator rejected both the excited utterance and startling event exceptions based on the facts. There, as in the case before me, the patient's accusation was not spontaneous with the event alleged. Neither of these concepts are any guaranty of weight being accorded to testimony. And, underlying facts must be carefully scrutinized as to a resident's mental state, particularly where the sole evidence is hearsay.

In City of Pontiac, 92 LA 780 (1989) Arbitrator Roumell commented at length on the awards cited above, there an employee was discharged for failing to comply with a last chance agreement by not regularly attending aftercare therapy for alcohol dependency. The evidentiary issue was the admission of and the weight to be given to two letters from the therapist, offered in the absence of his testimony, stating the grievant's failure to attend.

The admission of the letters and the denial of the grievance were clearly predicated on the testimony of the City's Human Resource coordinator that, in three meetings with her, the grievant admitted that he had not attended all of the required sessions with the therapist. Such admissions against interest are exceptions to the rule against hearsay.

> Each of these cases is a well-researched and thoughtful analysis of the distinction between admissibility and weight to be given to hearsay evidence. Each stresses the reasons why arbitrators may be expected to admit hearsay, but cautions against relying solely upon hearsay in discharge cases. The caution for arbitrators is that, once admitted, hearsay may take on a degree of credibility in nursing home cases where there is no other apparent way of preventing patient abuse.

In sum, hearsay evidence must be evaluated as to its "truth lending" circumstances. The bias or lack thereof of those making the out of court declarant must be measured. Hearsay evidence is a common occurrence where there is an understandable reluctance on the part of the declarant to testify, such as, patient-provider, bus passenger-driver, employee-security guard and, I add to the list, student-teacher. However, the existence of the dependent relationship alone does not excuse the employer from backing the hearsay statements of the dependent witnesses with competent evidence. Indeed, in serving on several hospital arbitration panels, I point out that the balance is often contractually struck so as to preclude an arbitrator from drawing "an adverse inference" against the patient who does not participate in the arbitration hearing. Additionally, hearsay cannot be deemed competent evidence to support other hearsay. Rather, hearsay may be credited to support competent evidence, and vice versa. Admissions against interest constitute competent evidence, as does a lack of credibility on the part of the alleged offender when competent evidence allows the hearsay evidence to be equally weighted.

Finally, the arbitrator must review whether or not an exception(s) to the hearsay rule exists which, in that circumstance, may be deemed competent evidence in and of itself.

Next, I observe, New Jersey administrative law also follows the same principles relied upon in the arbitration context. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.5, "Hearsay evidence; residuum rule", the following hearsay principles are codified.

> (a) Subject to the judge's discretion to exclude evidence under N.J.A.C. 1:1-15.1(c) or a valid claim of privilege, hearsay evidence shall be admissible in the trial of contested cases. Hearsay evidence which is admitted shall be accorded whatever weight the judge deems appropriate taking into account the nature, character and scope of the evidence, the circumstances of its creation and production, and, generally, its reliability.

(b) Notwithstanding the admissibility of hearsay evidence, some legally competent evidence must exist to support each ultimate finding of fact to an extent sufficient to provide assurances of reliability and to avoid the fact or appearance of arbitrariness. [emphasis supplied].

Consistent therewith, the New Jersey Supreme Court stated:

> [A] fact finding or a legal determination cannot be based upon hearsay alone. Hearsay may be employed to corroborate competent proof, or competent proof may be supported or given added probative force by hearsay testimony. But in the final analysis for a court to sustain an administrative decision, which affects the substantial rights of a party, there must be a residuum of legal and competent evidence in the record to support it. [Weston v. State of New Jersey, 60 N.J. 36, 51 (1972).]; see, also, David v. Strelecki, 97 N.J. Super. 360, rev'd 51 N.J. 563, cert. den., 390 U.S. 933; Matter of Tenure Hearing of Cowan, 224 N.J. Super. 737 (App. Div.1988).

The residuum rule does not require that each fact be based on a residuum of legally competent evidence but rather focuses on the ultimate finding or findings of material fact. See, Rurorede v. Borough of Hasbrouck Heights, 214 N.J. 338, 359 (2013), citing, Mayflower Sec. Co., Inc. v. Bureau of Sec., 64 N.J. 85, 92–93 (1973). The underlying rationale of the rule is that an administrative determination should "not rest upon evidence which the unsuccessful party was incapable of impeaching or rebutting." Application of Howard Savings Bank, 143 N.J. Super. 1, 9 (App. Div. 1976).

Consistent with the foregoing, Respondent presents the following persuasive case law. In Dolan v. City of East Orange, supra, the city sought removal of a public employee based on charges of conduct unbecoming arising out of a physical altercation between Dolan and a subordinate employee, Caldwell. The hearing officer recommended removal based solely on a letter produced by Caldwell, who did not testify. On review, the Court held that "traditional notions of fairness require that Dolan have opportunity to confront and cross-examine Caldwell." Id. at 145-146. The Law Division's finding that a new hearing was required since no substantive evidence existed to support the removal was upheld by the Appellate Division (reasoning that the charges were not sustainable in the absence of affording Dolan an opportunity to confront his accuser) [Resp. Brief, page 30].

Respondent also correctly notes the rejection by administrative law tribunals of discipline based solely on hearsay. Hearsay may be employed to corroborate competent proof, or competent proof may be supported or given added probative force by hearsay testimony; however, in order to support an administrative decision, "which affects the substantial rights of a party, there must be a residuum of legal and competent evidence in the record to support it." [Resp. Brief, p. 30].

Respondent also aptly observes that arbitrators on the TEACH NJ Panel similarly adhere to the above principles. In the Matter of the State Operated School District of the City of Paterson v. Richard Vincenti, 255-14 (Edelman, June 11, 2014) involved tenure charges brought against Vincenti citing unbecoming conduct, incapacity and other just cause for a variety of alleged offenses, including egregious allegations of verbal abuse of his students. The district relied on the testimony of the principal, letters received by teachers, the school secretary's testimony, written statements by students, and testimony of the assistant principal. Vincenti asserted the district had not met its burden and argued that hearsay evidence and allegations not founded on the charges must be accorded no weight.

Arbitrator Edelman noted that hearsay evidence is admissible, however, standing alone it is not sufficient to prove the charge. He reasoned that Vincenti had a fundamental due process right to face his accusers and to cross-examine in order to discredit the accusations. Arbitrator Edelman held that to the extent that anonymous letters for the sole basis of a charge, they have no probative value and that unsigned letters or second or third hand reports regarding misconduct are insufficient to demonstrate he committed the infractions charges. Particularly instructive to this matter, Arbitrator Edelman held that hearsay statements from other students are not sufficient to demonstrate that Respondent made the remarks attributed to him.

In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Michelle Gates, Case No. 144-5/16 (Gerber, September 8, 2016) involved charges all stemming from allegations that Respondent gave answers to and assisted students during state testing. An investigation was undertaken by the State, two investigators testified, the recordings and transcripts of statements made by twenty-seven students were admitted into evidence at the hearing. The students were not under oath at the time of their statements, nor was Respondent or a representative present during the interviews. Thus, Respondent had no opportunity to cross-examine. Upon reviewing the reports of the investigation, tenure charges were brought. The District rested its case without ever calling any of the twenty-seven students that were interviewed.

Respondent moved to dismiss contending all of the evidence presented constituted hearsay evidence and that evidence was not supported by a residuum of competent admissible non-hearsay evidence. Arbitrator Gerber reserved ruling, and asked the parties to file written summations on the motions. Thereafter, citing Dolan v. East Orange, supra., Arbitrator Gerber found that Respondent was denied the opportunity to cross-examine the witnesses – and that no evidence was even presented that the students were unavailable. Indeed, all of the cases cited by the Petitioner acknowledged that a case cannot turn on hearsay alone; that there must be a residuum of competent, credible evidence before sustaining a tenure charge. As such, Arbitrator Gerber held that the evidence presented by the district constituted hearsay evidence and there was not one piece of direct, non-hearsay evidence to support the allegations as the only witnesses had no direct knowledge of the alleged conduct. Accordingly, Arbitrator Gerber entered judgment in favor of Respondent and dismissed the charges against her with prejudice [Resp. Brief, pp. 32-33].[11]

In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Thomas Strassle, Agency Dkt. No.: 131-5/16 (Biren, October 5, 2016), multiple charges were brought against Strassle, one involving allegations of sexual contact with a student, N.C. At the hearing, N.C. did not testify. Rather, other witnesses testified, without any first-hand knowledge, based on the allegations set forth in N.C.'s statements. Because there was no competent reliable evidence proffered, Respondent moved to dismiss at the close of the district's case in chief.

Arbitrator Biren held that while admissible, hearsay evidence alone is insufficient to prove an allegation, finding this is especially true, where, as here, a tenured teacher is subjected to termination. Citing Vincenti, Arbitrator Biren noted that "Respondent has a fundamental due process right to face his accusers at trial." Id. Though N.C.'s statement was sworn to police, N.C. was not subject to cross-examination when providing her statement, thus the Arbitrator found that Respondent was unable to question her veracity, about inconsistencies, about possible bias, improper motivation, and any other facts that might indicate the allegations were fabricated. Significantly, Arbitrator Biren reasoned that she was without the opportunity to assess N.C.'s credibility.

In addition, Arbitrator Biren determined that there was no competent evidence in the record because no witness had direct knowledge of the claims. Arbitrator Bien also observed that while the police and the IAIU investigated the allegations, no criminal or other charges were filed against Strassle resulting from N.C.'s statements. Ultimately, Arbitrator Biren found that due process required the school district to prove these serious charges by a preponderance of the evidence before the 12-year tenured teacher with no evidence of prior discipline is dismissed. It was held that "[t]o uphold these charges in the total absence of competent and reliable evidence to support them would result in the type of miscarriage of justice that these tenure proceedings are intended to prevent." Id. The charges were therefore dismissed at the conclusion of the district's case in chief.

In the instant case, Respondent observes, Petitioner presented hearsay statements made by the alleged student victims, M.H. and M.V., as well as from the students claimed to have witnessed the interactions between Respondent and M.H. and Respondent and M.V. Thus, like Vincenti, Respondent reasons, Petitioner offered solely hearsay evidence, and has failed to proffer any competent credible evidence to corroborate the hearsay statements. Like Gates, Petitioner presented witnesses with no direct knowledge of the alleged conduct and relied solely on investigation reports, testimony of investigators, and out of court statements of student witnesses. Like Strassle, Respondent points out, the IAIU investigation in this matter resulted in no established findings. Moreover, in addition to Respondent being without the opportunity to cross-examine, in the same vein of Strassle, Respondent submits that the undersigned is deprived of the opportunity to assess the credibility of the only witnesses with direct knowledge of the allegations.

In sum, Respondent submits there was no evidence that the students were not available to be called as witnesses. Because the student witnesses were not called, Respondent asserts that he was denied the opportunity to cross-examine. Additionally, the statements made by the students admitted into evidence in this case were not sworn statements nor made under oath. Like Gates, Respondent submits, the only evidence produced in this case is uncorroborated hearsay evidence. To uphold the charges in this case, in the total absence of competent and reliable evidence and remove a twenty-year veteran teacher would result in a miscarriage of justice. Thus, Respondent asks the undersigned to grant its motion, to dismiss the Sworn Tenure Charges and to make Respondent whole for any and all losses.

As for Petitioner's reply, Petitioner believes that the hearsay evidence is entirely reliable based upon the circumstances which inform its origins. For example, Petitioner suggests that in support of the student statements, the undersigned should consider the "firsthand accounts of the initial investigators in this case" – referring to the parents of the students and Principal Yang and Vice Principal Allen (Pet. Brief, pp. 38-39). However, in terms of the hearsay rule, I note, Petitioner incorrectly refers to secondhand accounts as firsthand accounts. In the end, it seeks to support hearsay with hearsay. Petitioner asks the undersigned to credit the consistency of all 14 statements, the willingness of M.H. and M.V. to participate in investigations, a lack of bias on their parts, and Respondent's past behaviors.

While I agree that the hearsay here does have significant elements of reliability, it must be remembered that Respondent would have had the right to cross examination had Petitioner put forth the student/eyewitnesses to testify. Just as any attorney's case would look unbeatable if only direct examination was permitted (but not cross), so too, I find, any attorney's case would look insurmountable if only required to introduce the investigatory file to prove its case. In the end, Respondent, through skilled counsel, may have poked numerous holes in the observational capabilities of each student, whether those interviewed on April 28 spoke to those before their April 29 interview, among other possibilities. For these very reasons, and as the overwhelming majority of arbitration and administrative law cases support, I cannot accept hearsay alone as a basis to severely penalize Respondent. Indeed, Petitioner itself notes that hearsay may be employed to corroborate competent proof, or competent proof may be supported or given added probative force by hearsay testimony." Weston v. State, 60 N.J. 36, 51 (1972). Implicitly, therefore, Petitioner understands (or should understand) that hearsay evidence cannot fairly constitute "competent evidence" to corroborate other hearsay evidence under the residuum rule.

Having said this, however, Petitioner's reliance on Ruroede v. Borough v. Hasbrouck Heights, 214 N.J. 338, 359-60 (2013) does aid Petitioner's charges with respect to Respondent's act of forcing M.H. to stand for the remainder of the active shooter lockdown drill in front of the class. Ruroede involved a police officer who was placed on temporary sick leave and suspended without pay due to charges stemming from an off-duty verbal and physical altercation at a bar; there was no live testimony of the complaining witness or other eyewitnesses; and there was an internal investigation conducted by the Police Department and preparation of a report presenting the summaries of the police rules and regulations violated as well as the summary of witness statements.

In my opinion, however, the most critical part of the Supreme Court's rationale in Ruroede is that competent evidence, in the form of Rurorede's admissions was not hearsay. Rather, there was sufficient probative, non-hearsay evidence to meet the residuum rule test and support the disciplinary charges as filed by the Police Chief.

As to the Charges:

> Following the internal investigation, the Police Department issued to Ruroede a Notice of Immediate Suspension and Disciplinary Charges (Notice). The Notice alleged that Ruroede violated eleven Police Department Rules and Regulations, including: 3:1.1 (Standard of Conduct), 3:1.11 (Conduct toward Superiors and Subordinate Officers and Associates), 3:1.12 (Obedience to Laws and Regulations), 3:1.29 (Withholding Information), 3:9–1 (Handling of Firearms), 3:9.3 (Off Duty or Secondary Firearm), 3:10.1 (Conduct Towards Public), 3:12.4 (Departmental Investigations–Testifying), and 4:8.4 (Unauthorized Absence). It charged Ruroede with conduct unbecoming a police officer, conduct unbecoming a public employee, disorderly conduct, willful violation of rules and regulations, dishonesty and untruthfulness, and withholding information. The Notice concluded that Ruroede had "violated the implicit standard of good behavior which devolves upon one who stands in the public eye as an upholder of that which is morally and legally correct," and recommended that Ruroede be suspended immediately without pay pending his termination. . .

As to the sufficiency of evidence, the Court relied upon Ruroede's admissions and his proven guilt to the charge of dishonesty:

> He was at Blarney Station while he was supposed to be on sick leave; he was at the scene of the altercation with Egbert; due to whatever verbal exchange ensued, he conceded that he became involved in a public altercation with Egbert; and he conceded that he displayed his official police badge and that he was carrying a weapon. Although he admits to carrying a knife rather than a firearm, he nonetheless admitted to carrying a weapon under his shirt and to lifting his shirt in a display toward Egbert during the dispute. And, he conceded making threatening comments to Egbert, "br[eaking] his hold," "grabb [ing] his jacket," and "push[ing] him away." That evidence was competent, and it was sufficient to support the ultimate facts necessary to sustain the Borough's charges that Ruroede engaged in inappropriate conduct unbecoming a police officer. The evidence supported that Ruroede violated departmental rules and regulations governing the behavior of police officers. See Police Department Rules and Regulations 3:1.1 (Standard of Conduct), 3:1.12 (Obedience to Laws and Regulations), 3:10.1 (Conduct Towards Public); Conduct Unbecoming a Police Officer; Disorderly Conduct; Willful Violation of Rules and Regulations; Dishonesty and Untruthfulness.
> It is not material whether we accept Egbert's or Ruroede version of how the altercation began. The differences between the two pale in comparison to the bigger picture: the proofs in this record establish that Ruroede acted inappropriately for a person holding the public trust as a police officer and public employee. Ruroede had more than twenty-three years of experience with the Police Department. He had been a superior officer. We can reasonably infer that he had enough experience working under relevant police rules and regulations to avoid physically grabbing anyone, displaying his police credentials during such a dispute, or carrying a weapon, all while on sick leave. Additionally, Ruroede knew, or should have known, not to make inconsistent statements during the course of the internal affairs investigation, calling into question his honesty, integrity, and truthfulness, essential traits for a law enforcement officer. His dishonesty—providing conflicting statements to investigators about the altercation is significant. In sum, the Borough's proofs were sufficient to prove the charges by a preponderance of the evidence, and the charges support the termination of his employment as a police officer (Id., at pp. 362-363).

In sum, with the exceptions that Ruroede claimed not to be the aggressor, and that he was carrying a knife, and not a gun, he admitted to most of the charged misconduct and his inconsistent statements made to investigators spoke for themselves.

In this matter, regarding M.H., Petitioner expressly averred, under paragraph 16 of the Sworn Tenure Charges:

> The student was called into Mr. Yang's office and asked to describe the incident that took place on April 27, 2022. According to the student, during a lockdown drill on April 27, 2022, every student was told to be quiet. The student moved his chair back which made a loud squeaking noise. The student reported that Mr. Silberman came behind him and grabbed him by his upper left arm and ushered him forcibly up and moved his chair. Mr. Silberman made the student stand during the duration of the drill. See Dr. Pantoliano's Statement of Evidence, Exhibit G, (Slocum Skewes School Investigation Summary Report).

Consistent with Rurorede, I find, Respondent admitted, in pertinent part, to making M.H. stand for the remainder of the lockdown drill.

In my experience, making a student stand in front of the class (or in a corner) for even a minute or less was a time-honored form of discipline via humiliation in the olden days, one not countenanced as an acceptable form of discipline in these days of enlightenment. However, the act itself does not, in my view, meet the statutory definition of "corporal punishment" or Board Policy 3217, as Dr. Pantoliano submits (Tr. 2, p. 136). It does, however, invoke a violation of Board Policy 3281, "Inappropriate Staff Conduct", which states, in relevant part:

> The Board recognizes there exists a professional responsibility for all school staff to protect a student's health, safety, and welfare. The Board strongly believes that school staff members have the public's trust and confidence to protect the well-being of all pupils attending the school district.
> In support of the Board's strong commitment to the public's trust and confidence of school staff, the Board of Education holds all school staff to the highest level of professional responsibility in their conduct with all pupils.

Inappropriate conduct and conduct unbecoming a school staff member will not be tolerated in this school district.

The Board recognizes and appreciates the staff-pupil professional relationship that exists in a school district's educational environment. This Policy has been developed and adopted by this Board to provide guidance and direction to avoid actual and/or the appearance of inappropriate staff conduct and conduct unbecoming a school staff member toward pupils.

School staff shall not engage in inappropriate conduct toward or with pupils.

A school staff member is always expected to maintain a professional relationship with pupils and to protect the health, safety, and welfare of school pupils. A staff member's conduct will be held to the professional standards established by the New Jersey State Board of Education and the New Jersey Commissioner of Education. Inappropriate conduct or conduct unbecoming a staff member may also include conduct not specifically listed in this Policy, but conduct determined by the New Jersey State Board of Education, the New Jersey Commissioner of Education, an arbitration process, and/or appropriate courts to be inappropriate or conduct unbecoming a school staff member.

In finding that Petitioner sufficiently met its burden as to the above charge, paragraph 16, based on competent evidence, i.e., Respondent's admission, I deem incredible Respondent's assertion that this act may have been a safety precaution. On the contrary, Respondent, by clear implication, conceded in his April 28, 2022 commentary to Principal Yang and Vice Principal Allen that he viewed M.H.s conduct as misbehaving, but not warranting parental notification. In other words, in real time, because Respondent judged M.H.'s act of allegedly pushing off his desk and "popping a wheely" as misbehaving, he ended up making M.H. stand in front of the class, and did not believe that parental notification was necessary.

Lastly, Respondent took this action in the context of an active shooter lockdown drill which he, himself, acknowledged was supposed to replicate the real thing. As Dr. Pantoliano aptly observed, in an active shooter situation, Respondent made the standing student a target who would be the first person being shot. (Tr. 2, p. 136). In other words, unless I am to conclude that

Respondent was clueless about the danger of making a student stand during an active shooter occurrence, which the drill is designed to replicate, I must reject his explanation that the act of making M.H. stand was non-disciplinary. Thus, for these reasons, I credit Petitioner's allegation, as expressed in the Sworn Tenure Charges, that Respondent improperly made M.H. stand for the remainder of the lockdown drill as a form of discipline, and thereby objectively humiliated him in front of the rest of the class.

Having said this, however, the remainder of Petitoner's case against Respondent is undoubtedly without competent evidence (or sufficient competent evidence). Respondent chose to provide the following explanation to Principal Yang and Vice Principal Allen on April 28, 2022.

- Mr. Silberman stated, "Moe" was kicking off the wall in the chair, leaning back on the chair, the two front legs of the chair were in the air. (Demonstrated).
- Concerned for his safety-grabbed the back of the chair and Moe, holding him up so he doesn't fall.
- To support Moe, Mr. Silberman grabbed his arm and the back of the chair. He lifted Moe out of the chair and told him to stand until the end of the lockdown drill. According to Mr. Silberman Mohamad was standing no more than a minute.

Here, I note, there was no competent evidence to support crediting a different version than what Respondent admitted to. Next, with respect to the balance of the M.H. incident and the M.V. incident in its entirety, this record does not contain the requisite competent evidence to support according outcome-determinative weight to the hearsay statements. There is no exception to the hearsay rule, e.g., present sense impression, excited utterance, other exception where the hearsay is the best or only evidence which could be proffered, and no admission against interest, as was the case with respect to Respondent forcing M.H. To stand in front of the class for allegedly "popping a wheely." Also, with respect to M.V., Respondent's explanation was also relatively consistent during both his April 28, 2022 interview and his June 3, 2022 meeting with Dr.

Pantoliano:

Mr. Silberman 's account of events: (April 28, 2022):

- Mr. Silberman stated Mario was swatting the mouse-demonstrated how hard and loud Mario was swatting the mouse.
- Mr. Silberman stated he repositioned Mario's hand.
- Mr. Silberman stated, Mario looked confused-he was swatting the mouse. Mr. Silberman repositioned Mario's hand to stop.
- Mr. Silberman asked, "Do you know what you're doing?" Mario, stopped, and responded, "No what am I doing?"
- This is where Mr. Silberman took his wrist and showed Mario how to place his hand on the mouse.

Therefore, I find that, with a limited exception involving M.H., there is a lack of admission by Respondent that he engaged in the charged acts of misconduct, and thus, hearsay does not corroborate any competent evidence and competent evidence, i.e., Respondent's statement does not corroborate Petitioner's hearsay evidence. Weston v. State, 60 N.J. 36, 51 (1972).

Moreover, the limited findings concerning M.H. do not amount to competent evidence concerning M.V., especially when M.V.'s actions preceded M.H.'s. And, although it may be improper for a teacher to demonstrate use of a mouse by touching, I do not find that Petitioner charged Respondent with such an offense, in fact, it rejected Respondent's explanation in the Charges itself. Nor do I deem the admitted act to be discipline, however unwise it may have been.

Also, unlike Rurorede, Petitioner did not charge Respondent with dishonesty. On the contrary, Petitioner simply does not believe Respondent's explanations, indeed, it stated so in the Charges. However, Petitioner's disbelief of Respondent's version(s), standing alone, or in combination with a dispute over what the physical reenactments looked like do not amount to competent evidence which would enable giving hearsay determinative weight. In fact, in just about every discipline case, the employer does not believe the employee's alternative version of events. Certainly, this cannot be accepted as an excuse to allow the employer to support its case with hearsay evidence alone or else the rule would be meaningless.

Additionally, I am not persuaded by Petitioner's reliance on In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of M. William Cowan, School District of the Borough of Bernardsville, 224 N.J. Super 737 (App. Div. 1988). In that matter, the Appellate Division affirmed the dismissal of a tenured teacher who was accused of various acts of misconduct. Evidence of an incident of an alleged assault consisted of testimony of the high school principal and his memorandum of the incident which included facts the principal had learned from alleged eyewitnesses. The principal was not a witness to the event. The student who was the victim of the alleged assault did not testify at the hearing, nor was there any other direct or eyewitnesses of the assault. The Court held that there "need not be a residuum of competent evidence to prove each act considered by the Commissioner so long as the combined probative force of the relevant hearsay and relevant competent evidence" sustains the Commission's finding of unbecoming conduct. Id. at 751.

However, what Petitioner critically omits is the fact that the one charge premised on hearsay alone stemmed from a 1974 incident, whereas the Court found competent evidence to sustain charges involving conduct occurring in 1975, 1980, 1982 and 1984 which, in the end, were sufficient to justify the Tenure Charges. This matter bears no such similarity. The events properly charged involve two incidents on April 27, 2022. Importantly, I cannot find that the competent proof regarding the limited, proven misconduct of Respondent toward M.H. constitutes competent proof regarding the balance of the charges involving M.H. and all of the charges involving M.V. Stated differently, I do not concur that Cowan stands for the proposition that proof of a relatively isolated act through competent evidence means proof of the remaining 80-90% of Petitioner's case against Respondent without more.

Also, I reject Petitioner's argument that Respondent cannot now challenge on hearsay grounds Petitioner's failure to produce competent evidence since it had the ability to subpoena M.H. and M.V. (or any other student/eyewitness). As a general proposition, I agree with Petitioner that it did not have a constitutionally mandated duty or otherwise to present the testimony of any student/eyewitness. Indeed, this was put to rest previously. I further agree that Respondent could have subpoenaed the students. However, while Petitioner may have had no duty to call the students to testify, Petitioner bears the burden of proof and, hence, is ultimately accountable for what its case against Respondent looks like in the absence of calling the students to testify; and, in this matter, regarding the balance of the allegations involving M.H., and all of the allegations against M.V., it does not look very good.

In light of the foregoing, I find that Petitioner's case was not made via competent evidence against Respondent in the absence of the student/eyewitness(s), save for Respondent's act of forcing M.H. to stand. Notably, all student/eyewitness were "available", in the legal sense of the term, to testify at arbitration. There was no assertion that any student lacked competency to testify. See, State v. Busco, 255 N.J. 193 (2016) and ensuing, "Assessing the Competency of Child Witnesses Report and Recommendations to the Supreme Court" (December 23, 2020). In fact, all students were implicitly viewed as competent to speak to Principal Yang and Vice Principal Allen and to write out a witness statements. Rather, the dilemma Petitioner ostensibly found itself in appears to be attributable to the reluctancy of the parents of the students to allow their children to testify.

However, I observe, Respondent, as of April 28, 2022, and certainly by the filing of the Statement of Evidence in September, 2022, knew that the statements of M.H. and M.V., in combination with the input of their parents, served as the factual basis for this matter to proceed to a District investigation, an official police report, an IAIU investigation, and eventually the issuance of Tenure Charges. Thus, in my opinion, as to the concern that Respondent would know the identities of the derivative complainants, that "horse had already left the barn." I further observe that there certainly could have been buffers put in place to ameliorate any anticipatory anxiety which any student (and/or their parents) may have been experiencing about the students testifying. Such arrangements could have included allowing the parents to be in the hearing room and/or taking the testimony of M.H. and M.V. or any other student/eyewitness via Zoom. Neither of these accommodations, in my opinion, would have deprived Respondent of due process and could have potentially bolstered or perhaps greatly bolstered Petitioner's case against Respondent involving M.V. Nonetheless, the matter was heard to a conclusion without any firsthand witness testimony presented by Petitioner.[12]

Based on the foregoing, I find and conclude that Respondent's motion for judgement based on Petitioner's failure to sufficiently support the Charges, through competent evidence, must be granted with respect to M.H., save for the finding that Respondent improperly forced M.H. to stand for the remainder of the drill in violation of Board Policy 3281 and with respect to M.V. in its entirety.

[12] I note that M.H.'s father is a police officer who must have known the pitfalls of trying to prove a case through hearsay evidence. Presumably, he knows that convictions secured through his testimony would not have been secured based on his police reports alone. Lastly, with the police department on his side, I am not sure why he believed Respondent would not be deterred by that fact when dealing with M.H. or his siblings in the future.

The Appropriate Penalty

In addressing the appropriateness of the penalty in cases involving tenure charges, relevant factors "include the nature and circumstances of the incidents or charges, any evidence as to provocation, the teacher's prior record and present attitude, the effect of such conduct in the maintenance of discipline among the students and staff, and the likelihood of such behavior recurring." In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Erroll Goodwater, School District of the City of Camden, Agency Docket Nos. 185-7/11 and 187-7/11 (April 27, 2012), quoting, In re Tenure Hearing of Fulcomer, 93 N.J. Super. 404 (App. Div. 1967). In In re Tenure Hearing of Fulcomer, 93 N.J. Super. 404 (App. Div. 1967), the Court established a number of factors that should be considered when deciding whether a teacher should be dismissed for unbecoming conduct. Those factors include: 1) the nature and gravity of the offenses under all the circumstances involved; 2) the teacher's attitude – i.e. whether the acts were premeditated, cruel, or done with intent to punish; 3) any evidence as to provocation, extenuation or aggravation. Mitigation factors that the Fulcomer Court include: 1) the educator's ability, record and length of service, 2) the educator's disciplinary record; and 3) the "impact of the penalty on the [educator]'s career, including the difficulty which would confront her as an [educator] dismissed for unbecoming conduct, in obtaining a position in the State.

Initially, I find that Respondent's act of forcing M.H. to stand for even one minute due to his immediately preceding behavior does constitute conduct unbecoming and/or a violation of Board Policy 3281, as discussed previously. However, in my opinion, the act is not in the same category in terms of severity of the offense as compared with numerous prior cases decided by arbitrators and the Commissioner prior to 2012.[13] In other words, it does not amount to an egregious or sufficiently flagrant violation to justify removal as a single-incident offense. Nonetheless, while I do not find that the act meets the definitions of "cruel" or "premeditated", I do find that it was done with the intent of punishing M.H. for, as Respondent admits, popping a wheelie with his chair during the drill. Nonetheless, Respondent obviously caused emotional harm and humiliation to M.H. or created the potential for that harm, and he created at least the potential of harm to other students.[14]

In addition, as ruled upon in the undersigned's January 30, 2023 decision, I do find that the 2015 letter authored by former Principal Coviello constitutes prior discipline with an intent to remove the letter from Respondent's personnel file for two years of good behavior, which Respondent met. More importantly, however, the letter of reprimand imparted notice to Respondent regarding improper forms of discipline and the impact on students.

> General findings indicate that during a verbal altercation with Brandon Quintero, you approached Brandon's seat, stopped in front of his seat, and told him to "get up." When Brandon did not comply with your directive, you made physical contact with his chair while he was seated in it by hitting the leg of the chair with your foot. The difference between "kicked" and "tapped" in this case is not nearly as significant as the fact that you made [14] That Vice Principal Allen testified that M.H. and M.V. laughed off the incidents (Tr. 2, pp. 47-48) cannot be disregarded; neither, however, can the potential for harm caused by Respondent. See, I/M/O Tenure Hearing of Blanca Godinez, School District of the City of Paterson, Passaic County, Agency Docket No. 239-9/19 (Licata, 2020) (teacher improperly physically restraining student in gym class caused actual harm to student being restrained and potential harm to other student onlookers), see, also, In re Converters Paperboard Company, Division of Midwest Folding Carton, Inc. [Rockford, Ill.] and United Paperworkers International Union, Local 1050, 99 LA 430 (Borland 1992)(just cause existed to discharge cutter man who placed smoke bomb outside foreman's office, even though no damage resulted where he knew that lighting any incendiary device in highly combustible environment created serious potential for fire. "The grievant's plan to light smoke bomb reveals total lack of concern for safety, even though there was no proof that he intended to start fire.").

> physical contact with his seat during the altercation to elicit his compliance with your directive. What you presented as "tapping" the chair was perceived and described by all ten students as "kicking."
> Brandon Quintero was understandably upset by this altercation. At no time should you have made physical contact with this student, directly or indirectly through his chair, especially during an altercation. Aside form that reality, perception of children and adolescents are not to be taken lightly in situations like these. All who witnessed the even were disturbed to varying degrees. Please know that any subsequent actions involving physical contact with students may result in further disciplinary action (Ex. P7).

In my opinion, Respondent was placed on notice that his improper actions toward one student, at the very least, carries the potential for upsetting other students in the classroom. Therefore, consideration of Respondent's April 27, 2022 act of improper discipline which was objectively humiliating toward M.H. and carried the potential of emotionally harming other students must be deemed a similar offense to the one in 2015. By the same token, however, I acknowledge that the relatively mild form of discipline meted out by Principal Coviello likely did not send a forceful enough message to Respondent. As such, there is only so much mileage that can be achieved in reliance on the 2015 discipline with respect to affixing a penalty in this case.

Lastly, I deem relevant Respondent's twenty years of employment. It cannot be overlooked or disregarded as Superintendent Pantoliano apparently did. Respondent was well liked by his colleagues, very helpful in the IT context and received satisfactory evaluations. More importantly, it must be inferred that for most of his career, Respondent did not pose a threat of harm to any student or otherwise improperly discipline students (save for 2015). It also is recognized that seven years elapsed between the 2015 and 2022 incidents.

Based on a balancing of factors, I believe that a fair and appropriate penalty must be one which recognizes the seriousness of the offense, albeit not sufficiently egregious as a single incident to warrant dismissal, including the harm to M.H. and the potential harm to other students, the fact that Respondent did not heed the general message imparted by the 2015 letter, the countervailing fact that the 2015 letter did not meet the seriousness of the offense, and Respondent's length of employment. In my opinion, the loss of adjustment and salary increments for the 2022-2023 school year and a suspension without pay from the beginning of the 2023-2024 school year to winter break (so as to minimize disruption to the class) is an appropriate penalty. Plainly, there is no room left for Respondent to again venture outside the parameters of proper student engagement and discipline. The Charges are adjusted in accordance with this Opinion, and the instant appeal is decided accordingly.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

J.H., on behalf of minor child, A.T.B.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Bloomfield, Essex County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, which was transmitted to the Commissioner by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4 and includes an advisement of petitioner's failure to appear at the scheduled OAL hearing on June 1, 2023, has been reviewed. Petitioner did not file an explanation for the failure to appear, notwithstanding the opportunity to do so. Accordingly, this matter is no longer deemed to be a contested case before the Commissioner and is hereby dismissed with prejudice.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Decision

J.M., on behalf of minor child, B.M.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the School District of the Chathams, Morris County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioner disputed the respondent Board's finding that his son, B.M., committed an act of harassment, intimidation or bullying (HIB) against a fellow student pursuant to New Jersey's Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.2 et seq (the Act). After an investigation by the school's anti-bullying specialist, the Board determined that B.M. violated the Act when he offered a cashew nut to A.K. – a classmate with a known and documented allergy to nuts – causing A.K. to recoil; B.M. then touched A.K.'s water bottle and lunch bag without first washing his hands. B.M. received a penalty of five days of lunch detention and a follow-up meeting with a guidance counselor. The Board asserted that B.M.'s conduct satisfied all of the elements of the statutory definition of HIB under the Act. The petitioner contended, inter alia, that the Board's affirmative determination of HIB was arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable. The parties consented to resolve the case by summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: the incident in question was not part of a pattern of conduct; A.K.'s mother did not seek to have B.M. receive a severe penalty for his actions in this matter; a review of the Board's HIB Report Form indicates that school officials acted defensively and overreacted to the incident between B.M. and A.K.; and the inclusion of an affirmative HIB determination in B.M.'s school record could be detrimental to him in the future. The ALJ concluded that the record did not support a finding that B.M. committed an act of HIB and that the Board's HIB determination was unjustified and excessive. Accordingly, the ALJ reversed the Board's finding of HIB and ordered that B.M.'s student record be adjusted to remove any reference to that finding.

Upon review, the Commissioner rejected the ALJ's conclusion that the Board's HIB determination was unjustified and excessive, concluding instead that the petitioner failed to establish that the Board's actions in this matter were arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable, or induced by improper motives. In so doing, the Commissioner found, inter alia, that B.M.'s conduct satisfied the statutory definition of HIB and interfered with A.K.'s right to a safe and civil environment at school; further, the HIB investigation was sufficiently thorough in scope. Accordingly, the Commissioner upheld the Board's HIB determination, and the petition of appeal was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

J.M., on behalf of minor child, B.M.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the School District of the Chathams, Morris County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the exceptions filed by the Board pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and petitioner's reply thereto, have been reviewed and considered.

Petitioner challenges the Board's determination that his son, B.M., committed an act of harassment, intimidation, and bullying (HIB) against a classmate, A.K., who has a nut allergy. During the school lunch period, B.M. offered A.K. a cashew, which caused A.K. to recoil. B.M. subsequently touched A.K.'s lunch bag[1] and water bottle with the same hand that had offered the cashew, even after A.K. warned him to stop due to his nut allergy.

When the school's anti-bullying specialist investigated the incident, B.M. admitted that he knew A.K. was allergic to "peanuts" but stated that he temporarily forgot about it. B.M. admitted touching A.K.'s water bottle and volunteered that he had not washed his hands before doing so. Security camera footage confirmed that B.M. had also touched A.K.'s lunch bag. B.M. acknowledged that A.K. got "annoyed" with him "due to his allergy." The HIB Report Form completed by the anti-bullying specialist states that the single incident at issue "[t]argeted pupil's allergy to nuts" and describes the HIB behavior as "jeopardizing the safety of others."

At the conclusion of a thorough investigation during which B.M., A.K., and a student eyewitness were interviewed, the anti-bullying specialist determined that B.M. committed an act of HIB. The Board agreed, finding that B.M.'s actions were motivated by A.K.'s nut allergy, that the conduct occurred on school grounds during the school day, and that it had the effect of upsetting A.K. and compromising his safety. Thereafter, petitioner filed the instant appeal. Once the matter was transmitted to the OAL, the parties consented to its resolution by summary decision without the need for a hearing.

The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) concluded that the record did not support a finding that B.M. committed an act of HIB and that the Board's HIB determination was unjustified and excessive. The ALJ cited the fact that the incident was not part of a pattern of conduct, and that A.K.'s mother had not sought for B.M. to receive a severe penalty. The ALJ further found that the HIB Report Form indicated that school officials acted defensively and overreacted. In addition, the ALJ considered the negative impact that the HIB determination might have on B.M. in the future.

In its exceptions, the Board argues that the ALJ erroneously focused upon whether, in his opinion, B.M.'s actions were severe enough to warrant an affirmative finding of HIB instead of whether the Board's HIB determination was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. It also argues that the ALJ inappropriately considered whether B.M. intended to harm A.K. through his actions.

In reply, petitioner contends that the ALJ correctly applied the arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable standard of review when determining that the finding of HIB against B.M. was unjustified and excessive. Petitioner also asserts that: (1) the record lacks proof that B.M.'s conduct was motivated by A.K.'s allergy to peanuts or that B.M. rubbed his hands on A.K.'s lunch bag; (2) B.M. did not realize that offering A.K. a cashew could cause A.K. to have an allergic reaction; and (3) the HIB investigation was too limited as it ignored B.M.'s diagnosis of ADHD and Auditory Processing Disorder, did not include statements from other students at the lunch table, and failed to give due consideration to all available evidence.

Upon review, the Commissioner rejects the ALJ's conclusion that the Board's HIB determination was unjustified and excessive.[2] Board action conducted within the ambit of its broad discretionary authority "may not be upset unless patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Kopera v. W. Orange Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960). The Commissioner may not substitute their judgment for that of the Board. Schinck v. Bd. of Educ. of Westwood Consol. Sch. Dist., 60 N.J. Super. 448, 476 (App. Div. 1960).

The Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (the Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq., requires local boards of education to adopt policies prohibiting HIB which address, among other things, procedures for promptly investigating HIB allegations as well as remedial action for HIB violations. L.W. ex rel. L.G. v. Toms River Reg'l Schs. Bd. of Educ., 381 N.J. Super. 465, 498 (App. Div. 2005), modified by, aff'd by, remanded, 189 N.J. 381 (2007) (citing N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15); Dunkley v. Bd. of Educ. of Greater Egg Harbor Reg'l High Sch. Dist., 216 F. Supp. 3d 485, 489 (D.N.J. 2016) (quoting N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15). The Act defines HIB as:

[2] The Commissioner also rejects as unsupported by the record the ALJ's factual finding #18, which states: "In reaching his determination that an HIB violation occurred, [the anti-bullying specialist] confirmed that he based his entire decision on the nature of A.K.'s allergy, parent input, and the medical information the school has on file." It appears that, in rendering this finding, the ALJ misconstrued an email which states that the anti-bullying specialist based his decision regarding A.K.'s allergies "on both parent input and the medical information that we have on file for him."

> [A]ny gesture, any written, verbal or physical act, or any electronic communication, whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic, that takes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds as provided for in section 16 of P.L. 2010, c.122 (C.18A:37-15.3), that substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:
> a. a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging the student's property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;
>
>
> c. creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.
> [N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14.]

In summary, a finding of HIB requires three elements under the Act. First, the conduct must be reasonably perceived as being motivated by any actual or perceived characteristic expressly identified in the statute, or by any other distinguishing characteristic.[3] Second, the conduct must substantially disrupt or interfere with the rights of other students or the orderly operation of the school. Third, one of the three conditions set forth in subsections (a), (b), and (c) must be satisfied. Wehbeh v. Bd. of Educ. of the Twp. of Verona, Essex Cnty., Comm'r Decision No. 510-20 (decided Feb. 4, 2020).

B.M.'s conduct satisfies the statutory definition of HIB. Regarding the first element, the record establishes that, on school property during the lunch period, B.M. held a cashew in his hand, extended his arm toward A.K., offered the cashew to him, and later touched A.K.'s lunch bag and water bottle. A.K. reacted by recoiling and warning B.M. to stop his behavior due to his nut allergy. A.K. reasonably perceived that B.M.'s conduct toward him was motivated by his nut allergy, which qualifies as a distinguishing characteristic. B.M.'s actual intent is not relevant under the Act.

As for the second element, B.M.'s conduct interfered with A.K.'s right to a safe and civil environment at school. See N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 (explaining the purpose of the Act and finding that "a safe and civil environment in school is necessary for students to learn and achieve high academic standards"). Concerning the third element, a reasonable person should know that presenting a cashew to a student with a nut allergy will place that student in reasonable fear of physical harm. While B.M. claimed that he only knew A.K. was allergic to "peanuts," A.K. reacted negatively to the cashew and immediately reminded B.M. of his "nut" allergy. B.M. proceeded to touch A.K.'s lunch bag and water bottle with the same hand that held the cashew. Whether or not B.M. intended to harm A.K. is immaterial under the Act.

The Commissioner agrees with the Board that the ALJ erroneously focused upon whether, from his own perspective, B.M.'s actions were severe enough to warrant a finding of HIB instead of whether the Board's determination was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable under the Act. Rather than analyzing B.M.'s conduct under the statutory definition of HIB and evaluating the reasonableness of the Board's HIB determination, the ALJ inappropriately substituted his own judgment for that of the Board. It was not for the ALJ to decide that B.M. could or should have received a lesser code of conduct violation as opposed to a HIB violation. Whether A.K.'s mother had sought a finding of HIB against B.M. is irrelevant under the Act, as is the potential negative impact of a HIB determination on B.M.'s school record. And yet, the ALJ considered these immaterial factors. Furthermore, the ALJ's finding that the content of the HIB Report Form was indicative of a defensive overreaction by school officials is unfounded.

Petitioner's reply exceptions are unavailing. The record need not contain proof that B.M.'s conduct was actually motivated by A.K.'s nut allergy. Rather, as explained herein, the pertinent inquiry under the Act is whether A.K. reasonably perceived that B.M.'s conduct toward him was motivated by his nut allergy. Additionally, petitioner's insistence that A.K. is only allergic to peanuts is contradicted by the record. Moreover, the ALJ never found that B.M. "rubbed" his hands on the lunch bag or the water bottle. Rather, security video confirmed, and the ALJ found, that B.M. touched A.K.'s lunch bag with his hands. And whether B.M. realized in the moment that offering A.K. a cashew could trigger A.K. to experience an allergic reaction is not relevant under the reasonable person standard stated at N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14(a).

Finally, the Commissioner finds that the HIB investigation was sufficiently thorough in scope. Contrary to petitioner's claim, the record reflects that another student seated at the same lunch table as B.M. and A.K. on the date of the incident was interviewed during the investigation. That student confirmed that B.M. had offered A.K. a nut and stated that, in response, A.K. had asked B.M.: "Are you trying to kill me?" Additionally, the anti-bullying specialist was fully aware of B.M.'s 504 plan. The fact that the 504 plan was not mentioned on the HIB Report Form does not establish that it was not considered. In any event, petitioner has not cited any legal authority to support the conclusion that B.M.'s 504 plan should have absolved him of a HIB determination against him.

Accordingly, the ALJ's conclusion that the Board's HIB determination was unjustified and excessive is rejected. Instead, the Commissioner finds that petitioner has not established that the Board's HIB determination was arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable, or induced by improper motives. Accordingly, the Commissioner upholds the Board's HIB determination, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

INITIAL DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. EDU 04092-19
AGENCY DKT. NO. 37-2/19

J.M. ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILD, B.M., Petitioners,
v.
THE CHATHAMS SCHOOL DISTRICT
BOARD OF EDUCATION, MORRIS COUNTY,
Respondent.

Richard Kaplow, Esq. for petitioner

Record Closed: March 17, 2023 Decided: April 13, 2023

BEFORE ANDREW M. BARON, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner challenges an HIB (Harassment, Intimidation and Bullying, "HIB") finding against their minor child by the Chatham School District involving an incident with another student.

BACKGROUND AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On October 24, 2018, the District ABS officer determined that petitioner had engaged in an HIB violation, because his actions could have harmed another student. Two days later, the school principal affirmed the finding, which was followed by a penalty of five days detention and a follow up meeting with the guidance counselor.

On or about October 31, 2018, the matter was then sent to the Superintendent, who informed petitioner's parents that the matter was being formally reported to the Chatham Board of Education as a bullying incident. Even though the determination had already been made, the ABS officer continued his investigation and questioning of the alleged victim.

The matter was then taken up by the Board of Education on November 19, 2018. Following a hearing, the board affirmed the HIB determination, specifically finding that the student's actions were motivated by knowledge of the victim's nut allergy, which occurred on school grounds, during the school day and had the effect of upsetting the victim and compromising his safety.

This appeal was filed and transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law on March 22, 2019. Numerous conferences and efforts to resolve the matter pre and post pandemic ensued, which were unsuccessful.

Thereafter, by consent, the parties determined that the matter could be decided by Summary Disposition without testimony.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS OF FACT

Based on the facts as submitted by both sides, I make the following FINDINGS OF FACT, which are essentially undisputed, and which are subject to the interpretation and application of the New Jersey Anti-Bullying Law.

1. A.K. and B.M. were both seventh grade students attending The Chatham Middle School on October 17, 2018.
2. Sometime during the lunch/recess period that day, the school was notified by A.K.'s mother that B.M. had waived cashews in A.K.'s face and was touching his lunch bag and water bottle.
3. A.K.has a nut allergy, and apparently shared this incident with his mother when he returned home from school.
4. In an email communication from A.K.'s mother dated October 17, 2018, in a calm tone, his mother simply requested: "Can you please let Benjamin know that this is a serious health issue and, for some individuals can be potentially life threatening? It is unclear how and why this incident was then escalated into an HIB investigation, as opposed to a code of conduct violation, or simply detention with counseling.
5. B.M. has auditory processing, ADHD and other forms of related and other documented social and learning challenges. He also has accommodations under a Federal 504 plan. None of this is referenced in the HIB report.
6. Thereafter, a HIB investigation was initiated and conducted by the school's anti-bullying specialist, Anthony Giaconia.
7. Mr. Giaconia filed a nine-page report, and while it appears A.K.'s mother only asked for the District to speak with B.M. about the potential health ramifications, at no time was she demanding severe punishment of B.M. that was consistent with the actions of the District.
8. In fact, by the time it got to the school principal, it then escalated once it went to the District Superintendent who also directed school officials to contact the local police.
9. Although a one-day suspension was recommended, school officials themselves decided to reduce that to five days of lunch detention, which is a common penalty for other student infractions.
10. The HIB form which Chatham utilizes contains sixteen possible actions in connection with the statute. However only one box was checked: "Jeopardizing the safety of others."
11. The report also allows for the opportunity to reference up to six interviews with witnesses to the incident. No one was listed.

12. At a meeting between B.M. and the school counselor which Mr. Giaconia attended in his capacity as the A.B.S. investigator, Mr. Giaconia told B.M. that "no one thinks B.M. tried to intentionally hurt, A.K."
13. Other options on the HIB report which would support a finding under the Act are not checked, including but not limited to: "threatening comments, gestures or physical acts, intimidating conduct towards another pupil.
14. For example, it is undisputed that leading up to the incident which the District determined was an HIB violation, there was no physical aggression or contact by B.M. against the pupil, there was no teasing or name calling, there were no insulting or demeaning comments, there were no threatening comments, gestures or physical acts, there was no indication of intimidating conduct, there was no spreading harmful rumors or gossip about the pupil, there was no getting another person to harm a pupil, there was no indication of harassment intimidation or bullying through electronic communications, no stalking, no destruction of property, no public humiliation, stealing or theft, no defacing of property, excluding or rejection, and finally, no extorting or exploiting a pupil.
15. In fact, it was not disputed that leading up to the incident which gave rise to the HIB complaint, both boys were friends, even playing together at each other's homes.
16. During the interview, A.K. indicated that B.M. waved a cashew in this face, and when he asked B.M. to stop, B.M. also touched his lunchbox and his water bottle.
17. During his interview with B.M., he acknowledged that he knew A.K. was allergic to nuts, but that he "temporarily forgot." He further indicated that he hadn't "washed his hands yet. The ABS official interpreted that to mean that B.M. knew the residue from the nuts he was holding could transfer to A.K.'s water bottle and lunch bag.
18. In reaching his determination that an HIB violation occurred, Mr. Giaconia confirmed that he based his entire decision on the nature of A.K.'s allergy, parent input, and the medical information the school has on file.
19. When communicating with B.M.'s parents, Mr. Giaconia indicated that even if the incident did not constitute a provable act of bullying, "it would still be classified as a violation of the Code of Conduct and the disciplinary consequences would be the same."

20. Although there was some question about the status of the friendship between the boys on the day of the incident, A.K. who usually sits at another lunch table, chose to sit with B.M. on the day of the incident, and prior thereto, they had been frequent guests at each other's homes.
21. I FIND, that whatever occurred between B.M. and A.K. on October 17, 2018, a preponderance of the facts and evidence DO NOT support a finding that a HIB violation was committed by B.M. I FIND that while school officials were justified in conducting an investigation, the end result, which was to charge and sustain a finding of a HB violation by B.M. was not justified and was excessive.
22. I FURTHER FIND, that in viewing the extensive nine-page report, together with the initial email submitted to school officials by A.K.'s mother, there is nothing to suggest she was seeking to have such a severe penalty imposed, nor does the report itself suggest a pattern of conduct by B.M. against A.K. that is more in line with what the Anti-Bullying statute requires. I FIND that the lack of entries in all sixteen boxes which outline what an HIB violation is, speaks volumes to the fact that out of defensiveness, school officials may have overreacted, including but not limited to involving the superintendent of schools, and also by contacting the local police.
23. As school officials indicated to B.M.'s parents, he could have been charged with a code of conduct violation, which seems more consistent with the underlying events, and the ultimate penalty of a five-day lunch detention, which is a common form of discipline in schools. Even though B.M. was a seventh grader at the time, I FIND that having a bullying incident as part of his school record may be detrimental to him at some time in the future.
24. For all of the foregoing reasons outlined above, I CANNOT FIND that the events of October 17, 2018 constitute an act of bullying.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION OF LAW

The New Jersey Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights, sets forth four elements under N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 that must be established in order to constitute an incident of bullying in a school setting. (HIB).

The first element requires conduct that must be "reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic."

The next requirement is the conduct must take place "on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds.

Third, the conduct must substantially disrupt or interfere with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students.

The fourth and final element necessary to establish an HIB incident is that the conduct must be such that:

a) A reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging the student's property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property.
b) Has the effect of insulting or demeaning any student or group of students or
c) Creates a hostile educational environment for the student or group of students by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.

In addition to the aforementioned criteria, the statute also references that an HIB investigation must be thorough and timely and be completed within ten days of the reported incident. See: L.P. and H.P. o/b/o L.P. v. Bd. of Educ. of the West Morris Reg. High School Dist. OAL Dkt. No. EDU 04462-16, 2016 WL 3361005 (2016).

Other cases have defined bullying on a case-by-case basis as within the discretion of the district. In C.K. & M.K. o/b/o M.K. v. Voorhees Bd. of Ed. OAL Dkt. No. EDU 20510-10 2017 WL 10399002, Final Decision (N.J. Adm. March 2017), an accused student who was developmentally disabled reached under a bathroom stall and grabbed a girl's leg asking for a high-five. Though the accused student was not interviewed during the investigation, which went beyond the ten-day timeline, the ALJ found that it would not be in the best interests of the students to be re-interviewed, as the information received would be inconsequential.

In another matter involving the timing and manner in which an investigation was conducted, an HIB inquiry consisted of student interviews, written statements and review of surveillance footage. See: W.H. o/b/o Z.A. v. Beverly Bd. of Educ. OAL Dkt. No. EDU 08075-19, Initial Decision 2021 WL 7629602 adopted Comm'r Final Decision (N.J. Adm. October 21, 2021). In upholding the ABS determination that there was no evidence to support any element of the HIB statute, the ALJ determined that the District had conducted a prompt and thorough" investigation.

And, in a case which upheld a District's fining of an HIB violation, which ultimately reversed an ALJ's finding that the HIB investigation was not thorough, the Commissioner of Education rejected an ALJ's determination finding that the investigation was insufficient. See: L.K. and T.K. o/b/o A.K. v. Mansfield Twp.Bd. of Educ. OAL Dkt. No. EDU 7067-16, 2019 WL 1259466, Initial Decision rejected, Comm'r Final Decision (N.J. Adm. April 22, 2019). The conduct of the student in that case was motivated by gender, and notably however and left undisturbed was the ALJ's finding was that the ABR focuses on the impact of the conduct of an accused student, which the victim reasonable perceived as being the motivation for the conduct itself.

CONCLUSION

The parties by Consent filed a Motion and Cross Motion for Summary Disposition, suggesting there I no need for a hearing, and the case can be decided as a matter of law based on facts which are for the most part undisputed.

I agree, and therefore CONCLUDE there are insufficient facts to establish by a preponderance of the evidence that an HIB violation occurred. While food allergies in children must be taken seriously at all times, I CONCLUDE for purposes of this situation that District officials overreached, and the matter would have been more appropriately dealt with at the time through internal alternate means. That is not to suggest that no discipline was warranted, but I CONCLUDE that the events did not give rise to a determination that B.M. was bullying A.K. The counseling the District required, together with a lunch detention was sufficient, without escalating the matter to an HIB violation.

ORDER

With the Finding and Conclusion that there are insufficient facts to establish by a preponderance of the evidence that B.M. committed an HIB violation, it is hereby ORDERED that the finding against him arising out of an incident on October 17, 2018 is hereby REVERSED, and a copy of this decision shall be placed in B.M.'s student file. The District' internal records concerning B.M. should be adjusted accordingly.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education
Final Decision

Board of Education of the Bordentown Regional School District, Burlington County,

Petitioner,

v.

Raymond Marini, Interim Executive County Superintendent, New Jersey Department of Education, Board of Education of the Northern Burlington County Regional School District, Burlington County, and Z.L. and T.L., on behalf of minor children, J.L. and B.L.,

Respondents.

Synopsis

In this matter on remand, the Board of Education of the Bordentown Regional School District (Bordentown) appealed the determination of respondent Raymond Marini, Interim Executive County Superintendent (ECS), that Z.L. and T.L. and their minor children are homeless. Bordentown contended that Z.L. and T.L. are domiciled in Bordentown, as they have resided in the Bordentown home of T.L.'s mother since they lost their housing within the Northern Burlington County Regional School District (Northern Burlington) due to financial hardship, and further argued that Bordentown is therefore not financially responsible for tuition costs related to J.L. and B.L.'s attendance in Northern Burlington schools for the 2020-2021 school year and beyond. Following issuance of an Initial Decision on July 22, 2022, in which the ALJ found that the L family was no longer homeless, the Commissioner remanded the matter to the OAL for further development of the record to determine whether the family's housing was regular, fixed and adequate, as well as a factual determination as to the date when the family were no longer homeless.

On remand, the ALJ found, inter alia, that: Z.L. and T.L. have lived in Bordentown with T.L.'s mother for five years and have no plans to relocate; the family has full access to the Bordentown home's kitchen and second bathroom; while the space is tight, all family members have a bed; and the Bordentown home is a fixed, regular, and adequate place to live; accordingly, the children can no longer be considered homeless. The ALJ concluded that the family have become residents of Bordentown; the ECS's determination of homelessness should be reversed; and Bordentown has no financial responsibility for the children's attendance in Northern Burlington schools; further, Northern Burlington has no basis for tuition reimbursement for the school years prior to 2020-2021.

Upon review, the Commissioner, inter alia, agreed with the ALJ that the L family is no longer homeless and adopted the Initial Decision with modification, finding that Bordentown is responsible for the cost of educating the L children during the 2020-2021, 2021-2022 and 2022-2023 school years and may seek reimbursement from Z.L. and T.L. for certain costs that exceed the cost Bordentown would have incurred to educate them in its own schools.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Board of Education of the Bordentown Regional School District, Burlington County,

Petitioner,

v.

Raymond Marini, Executive County Superintendent, New Jersey Department of Education, Board of Education of the Northern Burlington County Regional School District, and Z.L. and T.L., on behalf of minor children, J.L. and B.L.,

Respondents.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed, as have the exceptions filed pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 by respondents Northern Burlington County Regional Board of Education (Northern Burlington) and Z.L. and T.L., and the reply thereto filed by petitioner Bordentown Board of Education (Bordentown).

The L. family resided in Chesterfield, which is part of the Northern Burlington school district, until they lost their housing due to financial hardship. They moved in with T.L.'s mother in Bordentown. The children continued to attend school in Northern Burlington, and Bordentown assumed responsibility for the cost of their tuition and transportation for the 2018-2019 and 2019-

2020 school years. On October 14, 2021, after Bordentown challenged the family's homelessness status, Executive County Superintendent (ECS) Raymond Marini issued a determination that the family was still homeless. Bordentown filed an appeal challenging this ECS decision and seeking a determination that Bordentown had become the family's permanent residence, and that Bordentown is not responsible for the cost of educating the children for the 2020-2021 school year and future years. J.L. continued to attend school in Northern Burlington through the 2021-2022 school year, then transferred to an online private school for the 2022-2023 school year; the record indicates that he is scheduled to graduate in 2023. B.L. continues to attend school in Northern Burlington through the present; Z.L. testified that B.L. is on track to graduate in June 2024 although, as a special education student, he may be able to continue his education beyond the standard four years of high school.

On July 22, 2022, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) issued an Initial Decision finding that the family was no longer homeless. On October 19, 2022, the Commissioner remanded the matter to the OAL for further development of the record. Following a hearing, the ALJ found that the Bordentown home is a fixed, regular, and adequate place to live and that the children can no longer be considered homeless. The ALJ noted that the family has lived in Bordentown for five years and has made no effort to find other housing. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that the children have become residents of Bordentown and that Bordentown has no financial responsibility for their attendance in Northern Burlington for the 2020-2021 or 2021-2022 school years. The ALJ also concluded that Northern Burlington has no basis for tuition reimbursement for the school years prior to 2020-2021.

In their exceptions, Z.L. and T.L. argue that they were uprooted when Z.L. got sick and was unable to keep his job, leading to the loss of the family's house. They note that B.L. has special needs and that it is in his best interests to remain in Northern Burlington schools for his senior year, as requiring him to switch schools will result in him becoming violent and inconsolable to the point that he would simply be unable to attend school and therefore would not graduate in June 2024 as anticipated.

In its exceptions, Northern Burlington argues that Bordentown failed to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that the L. family is no longer homeless. According to Northern Burlington, Bordentown did not seek any discovery from the L. family and improperly placed the burden on the L. family to show that they were homeless. Northern Burlington also contends that the family's living arrangements are not fixed, regular, or adequate, with two children sharing a bed, an adult child sharing a room with a parent, and the other parent sleeping on an air mattress in a common area, with the rooms so small that their dressers line the hallways. Northern Burlington notes that Z.L. testified that he sent in seven apartment applications but was denied based on his credit score, demonstrating that the family does not have the ability to find alternate housing.

Furthermore, Northern Burlington argues that Bordentown is fiscally responsible for the children's education regardless of whether the family was homeless. Northern Burlington contends that if the family remained homeless, Bordentown would be responsible for their costs once they had resided in Bordentown for one year, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(d). If the family was not homeless, Bordentown would still be responsible for their costs, pursuant to J.G., o/b/o T.G. and C.G. v. Bd. of Educ. of the Twp. of Edison, Middlesex Co., and Bd. of Educ. of the Borough of Milltown, Middlesex Co., Commissioner Decision No. 125-20 (June 15, 2020), which held that the district where the G. family lived when they became homeless was not responsible for the costs of the children's tuition after they became domiciled in a new district.

In its reply, Bordentown argues that there is ample evidence in the record to support the ALJ's conclusion that the Bordentown home is fixed, regular, and adequate, and that the L. family is no longer homeless. Bordentown notes that Z.L. testified that he had only applied for housing seven times in the more than five years since the family moved to Bordentown – with the most recent application occurring in the summer of 2022 – and that the family has refused to look in any districts other than Northern Burlington. According to Bordentown, the parents' preference to have their children remain in Northern Burlington schools is insufficient to support a finding of homelessness. Bordentown argues that the family's income, in combination with their lack of housing expenses or bills since 2017 should allow them to obtain another residence and that there is no necessity to their remaining in Bordentown.

Bordentown also argues that Northern Burlington incorrectly relies on J.G., supra, to support its contention that Bordentown is responsible for the children's costs even if they are no longer homeless. Bordentown distinguishes this matter from J.G., noting that J.G. was initiated as a residency case, which entitled the parents to keep their children enrolled in their school during the pendency of the appeal. The student's original district had attempted to disenroll the children and thereby put a stop to its accrual of tuition and transportation costs – something that Northern Burlington never attempted to do here. Additionally, the district where the G. family moved never notified them that it was disputing their continued homeless status – something that Bordentown did do here. Bordentown also argues that it would not have incurred any costs if the L. children attended school in Bordentown, as it owns and operates its own fleet of buses and is currently experiencing declining enrollment that would have allowed adequate space for the L. children.

Upon review, the Commissioner agrees with the ALJ that the L. family is no longer homeless. Under the McKinney-Vento Act, homeless children are defined as "individuals who lack a fixed, regular and adequate nighttime residence," which includes "children sharing housing with other persons due to loss of their own housing, economic hardship, or a similar reason." 42 U.S.C.A. § 11434a. Similarly, under state law, homeless children are defined as "child[ren] or youth who lack[] a fixed, regular, and adequate residence pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12 and N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.2," which includes children living in the "residence of relatives or friends where the homeless child resides out of necessity because his or her family lacks a regular or permanent residence of its own." N.J.A.C. 6A:17-1.2 and 2.2.

Thus, conducting a homelessness evaluation to determine whether a child's home is considered fixed, regular, and adequate requires a fact-specific analysis and "cannot rest upon a simple calculation of the amount of time that children have spent in a particular location or municipality." M. O'K. v. Board of Education of the Borough of Cresskill, et al, Commissioner Decision No. 325-14, decided August 12, 2014, at 3, aff'd, A-0828-14T4 (App. Div. September 8, 2016). In conducting such a fact-specific inquiry, the Commissioner must consider the totality of the circumstances, as "[t]he reasons for the children's homelessness, their living conditions, and the resources and intentions of the parents or custodians are relevant." Ibid.

The Commissioner has previously addressed the fact-specific nature of a homelessness inquiry. In M. O'K., supra, following the foreclosure of their home in Cresskill, the O'K family occupied the bottom floor of their relatives' house in Little Ferry, which consisted of one small bedroom and a common area, without a bathroom or kitchen. The parents and two of the children shared the bedroom, while their third child slept in the common area. At the time of the litigation, neither parent was employed, and the family's sole income consisted of Social Security Disability benefits. During the pendency of the litigation, the O'K family represented that they were actively searching for a house in Cresskill. The Commissioner found, and the Appellate Division affirmed, that the O'K family became homeless due to the foreclosure of their home in Cresskill, and although they had been deemed domiciled in Little Ferry as a result of their residence in the district for over one year, they continued to remain homeless due to their shared living conditions and the parents' economic hardship.

In contrast, in State-Operated School District of the City of Camden, Camden County v. C. Ann Volk, Executive County Superintendent, New Jersey Department of Education, and E.H., on behalf of minor child, K.M., Commissioner Decision No. 172-17R, decided June 20, 2017, the family relocated from Voorhees to Camden due to economic hardship that prevented them from continuing their lease. In the Camden residence, the family was able to use the entire residence and was not relegated to a portion of the home that would otherwise be considered inadequate. E.H., the children's mother, argued that the residence was inadequate because the siblings had to share a room, which the Commissioner found was not uncommon. Furthermore, given E.H.'s ongoing employment at an annual salary of $65,000, the Commissioner was not persuaded that she was unable to find suitable housing in Voorhees, particularly in light of her testimony that she had stopped looking for apartments. The Commissioner found that the family was not residing in the Camden residence of out necessity and that it qualified as a "fixed, regular, and adequate" nighttime residence, such that the family was not homeless. Ibid.

Similar to Camden, in J.G., on behalf of minor children, T.G. and C.G. v. Board of Education of the Township of Edison, et al, Commissioner Decision No. 125-20, decided June 15, 2020, the G. family moved in with J.G.'s mother in Edison after being evicted from their home in Milltown. The family was able to use three of the four bedrooms, the kitchen, bathrooms, all common areas, and utilities in the Edison home. J.G. and his wife were both employed, with an income of $71,000 a year, but they did not pay rent or contribute to housing costs, other than food and a storage facility.

While they stated that their intent was to move back to Milltown, there was no documentation of their search for a new home, and J.G. admitted that he had not submitted a rental application in at least six months. The Commissioner found that, while J.G.'s intention may be to eventually move back to Milltown, the totality of the facts and circumstances demonstrate that the family is no longer homeless.

Here, the L. family's circumstances demonstrate that while their living situation may not be ideal due to tight quarters, it is fixed, regular, and adequate. The Commissioner does not find Northern Burlington's exceptions to be persuasive.[1] The testimony demonstrates that the family has full access to two bedrooms, the kitchen and a full bathroom, with T.L.'s mother also having her own full bathroom. Petitioners have an income of approximately $62,000 per year but do not pay rent or any other expenses for the Bordentown home except for the television bill. Z.L. testified that he had applied for rental apartments in Northern Burlington but was denied due to his credit score. However, he also testified that he had applied for rental apartments only seven times over more than five years, had not applied for any rentals since the summer of 2022, and had not applied for housing in any other school districts because he and T.L. wanted the children to remain in Northern Burlington's schools. These facts are comparable to those in Camden, supra, in which the parents had poor credit and debts, including default judgments, and had been rejected for rentals. Additionally, the siblings shared a room, as B.L. and J.L. do here, and one parent slept in the living room, as Z.L. does here. However, they had full access to the home where they were residing; had an income of $65,000 per year; and had stopped looking for other housing. The family in Camden was found not to be homeless. See also J.G., supra.

[1] Z.L. and T.L.'s exceptions do not specifically argue that the ALJ incorrectly concluded that they were no longer homeless, but rather address what they believe to be in the best interests of the children. However, that analysis is only applicable when the children have been determined to be homeless. N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12.1.

The L. family has resided in the Bordentown home for more than five years. "[W]hen a homeless family moves into a relative's home that is adequate – and the adults in the family are sufficiently employed with the financial means to find alternative housing, and the family continues to live in the home for an extended period of time without any imminent or foreseeable risk of losing their place in that home, and they share the space as a cohesive unit – a finding of homelessness would be improper." Camden, supra. While the L. family may eventually intend to leave the Bordentown home, that intent alone is insufficient to support a finding of homelessness; the totality of the facts in this case demonstrate that the family is no longer homeless and has not been homeless since at least the beginning of the 2020-2021 school year.[2]

As J.L. and B.L. were neither homeless nor residents of Northern Burlington, they were not entitled to a free public education in Northern Burlington's schools during the 2020-2021, 2021-2022, or 2022-2023 school years. However, as the children did attend Northern Burlington schools, the Commissioner must determine who bears the financial responsibility for their attendance. Northern Burlington is not the responsible party, as its obligation to provide the children with a free public education ceased when the family became domiciled in Bordentown in 2018, after one year of living with T.L.'s mother, in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(d) and N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.3. On the other hand, the purpose of the McKinney-Vento Act and the related state law is to ensure that a homeless child is not denied a free public education; it is not meant to enable a child to receive an education in a school district of preference by circumventing residency requirements. Camden, supra.

[2] Because Bordentown has already paid Northern Regional for the children's tuition for the 2018-2019 and 2019-2020 school years, and is not contesting payment for those years, it is not necessary for the Commissioner to determine whether the family's residence in Bordentown became fixed prior to the 2020-2021 school year.

In Camden, supra, once the Commissioner determined that the children resided in Camden and were not homeless, Camden was held responsible for paying tuition to Voorhees, where the children attended school. However, Camden was permitted to recover from the parent the difference between the per pupil cost of education and transportation in Camden and the costs paid to Voorhees for the children. Ibid. Similarly, in J.G., supra, once the Commissioner determined that the children resided in Edison and were not homeless, Edison was held responsible for paying tuition to Milltown, where the children attended school. Edison was permitted to recover the difference in costs. Ibid.

This case presents a similar scenario. Bordentown is the district where the children were domiciled for the 2020-2021, 2021-2022, and 2022-2023 school years and is therefore the district responsible for their education. Accordingly, Bordentown must reimburse Northern Burlington for the cost of educating the children in Northern Burlington.

Bordentown may seek reimbursement from Z.L. and T.L. for certain costs that exceed the cost Bordentown would have incurred to educate the children in its own schools. This amount shall be calculated as the total of 1) the difference between the cost of the children's transportation to Northern Burlington and any cost of transportation Bordentown may have incurred had the children attended school in Bordentown, and 2) the difference between Northern Burlington's annual per pupil cost for the 2020-2021, 2021-2022, and 2022-2023 school years and Bordentown's per pupil cost for each of those years.

The Commissioner acknowledges that the amount Bordentown will be required to pay to Northern Burlington includes special education tuition and related costs for B.L., making those payments significantly higher than the per pupil cost that a district incurs to educate a general education student. However, the Commissioner has previously concluded in student residency matters that a board of education's ability to recover tuition costs from a parent is limited. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b) provides that if a parent loses a residency appeal, the Commissioner shall assess tuition "computed on the basis of 1/180 of the total annual per pupil cost to the local district multiplied by the number of days of ineligible attendance." The statute does not specify that the assessed tuition be equal to the actual costs incurred by the district for educating the student at issue. Instead, it uses the measure of annual per pupil cost, which is based on the district's overall costs and enrollment and is not specific to any individual student. See N.J.-B., on behalf of minor child, I.T. v. Board of Education of the Township of Union, Union County, Commissioner's Decision No. 112-20, decided April 24, 2020 (finding that tuition reimbursement is limited to 1/180 of the per pupil cost and does not include the assessment of special education and related costs). While this matter was not opened as a residency matter, because this decision assesses tuition costs against respondents Z.L. and T.L. for the cost of their children's ineligible attendance in Northern Burlington, the Commissioner concludes that it is appropriate to apply the statute and case law related to residency assessments to this matter.

Bordentown argues that it should not be responsible for any costs for the 2020-2021, 2021-2022, or 2022-2023 school years and attempts to distinguish J.G because that case was initiated as a residency matter and because the district where the G. family moved never notified them that it was disputing their homelessness status. However, Bordentown fails to acknowledge that the Commissioner ordered a similar reimbursement structure in Camden, which was initiated as an appeal of a homelessness determination by an ECS, just as this case was. Accordingly, the Commissioner does not find Bordentown's exceptions persuasive. The Commissioner also rejects Bordentown's argument that since it was under its targeted enrollment, the district would incur no additional cost for educating J.L. and B.L. This argument mischaracterizes the costs of education as being solely those arising from hiring a teacher to provide instruction to students. However, school funding and student tuition payments are based on many categories of expense that are averaged across all students. See, e.g., N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-17.1 (establishing the means of determining the "actual cost per student" for determining tuition rates and including the cost of textbooks, instructional equipment, teaching supplies, land and building rentals, school-sponsored activities, administration services, technology, training, and numerous other types of expenses in addition to teacher salaries). Furthermore, as noted above, because B.L. is a special education student, his educational costs exceed those of a general education student, and such costs would have been incurred by Bordentown if B.L. had attended school in its school district, as Bordentown wished, for those school years.[3]

Regarding Northern Burlington's cross-petition for tuition for the 2015-2016, 2016-2017, and 2017-2018 school years, the claim rests on a handwritten note from T.L.'s mother indicting that the family had been living with her, which is dated October 13, 2014. However, during the hearing, counsel for Northern Burlington agreed that the family became homeless in 2017, not in 2014. Additionally, Z.L. testified that the family moved to Bordentown in April 2017. Therefore, the Commissioner finds that Northern Burlington has no basis for tuition reimbursement and the cross-petition is dismissed.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as modified herein. Bordentown is ordered to reimburse Northern Burlington for the costs of J.L. and B.L.'s attendance at Northern Burlington County Regional High School for the 2020-2021, 2021-2022, and 2022-2023 school years.

[3] Bordentown has presented no argument that the additional services provided for B.L. were inappropriate or excessive, and, indeed, Bordentown paid those costs to Northern Burlington for the 2018-2019 and 2019-2020 school years.

Bordentown may seek reimbursement from Z.L. and T.L. as outlined herein. B.L. shall be enrolled in Bordentown for the 2023-2024 school year.

IT IS SO ORDERED. [4]

BEFORE SARAH G. CROWLEY, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, Board of Education of the Bordentown Regional School District (Bordentown), challenges the homelessness determination by the Northern Burlington County Regional Board of Education (Burlington) and the Interim Executive County Superintendent (ECS). Petitioner contends that J.L. and B.L., are not homeless, but are domiciled in the Bordentown School District, having lived with Z.L.'s mother-in-law in Bordentown for the last five years. At issue is whether the children and their parents are "homeless," under the applicable law. Burlington determined that the family was still homeless and thus, Bordentown had an obligation to pay tuition and bus the children to Burlington, where they resided prior to becoming homeless in 2017. The ECS affirmed the homelessness determination.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This matter arose with the filing of a petition of appeal by Bordentown on January 10, 2022, challenging the homelessness determination by the ECS. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested matter on March 4, 2022. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. The matter was remanded after summary decision in favor of Bordentown had been granted. The remand requests a factual inquiry into the nature of the housing, i.e. is it "regular, fixed and adequate," and a factual determination as to when the family was no longer homeless. The matter was heard via Zoom on January 30, 2023, and the record closed after written submissions by the parties.

TESTIMONY AND FACTUAL FINDINGS

For Bordentown

Tina Zach (Zach) is the homelessness liaison for the Bordentown school district. She has had training and has held this position for approximately ten years. She was familiar with the L. family who had moved in with family in Bordentown after losing their home in 2017. The family initially advised that they were staying with family in Bordentown but wanted to remain in the Burlington school district, and they did not need transportation. They advised that the housing was temporary and that they were living with the children's grandmother. There were originally three children in school, but the daughter (M.L.) graduated last year and B.L. is a senior this year and is finishing high school online through a private school. P.L. is a junior at Northern Burlington High School.

After the first year in which they lived in Bordentown and continued to go to Burlington, Bordentown assumed the cost. Bordentown paid for all three children to attend school in Northern Burlington during the 2018–2019, and 2019–2020 school years. Bordentown continued to receive updated information, but the family maintained that they were in transitional housing and were homeless. The district has a residency questionnaire that needs to be filled out annually. At the end of 2020, another questionnaire was sent to the family and they advised that they were still living with family in Bordentown. They provided no information about trying to secure other housing, or indicating that the housing was inadequate, and thus, the district determined that they no longer met the definition of homeless.

Ms. Zach attempted to speak to Z.L. about the situation and he was pretty agitated by the conversation. He indicated that the housing was not comfortable, but they had no plans to move, and he was still not employed full time. Zach testified that based upon the information that Bordentown had received, they determined that the family no longer meet the definition of homeless was made. They were living in a three-bedroom house, they all had beds, access to a full bathroom and kitchen and had no plans to move. Zach does not know about the annual application for state aide but would assume that if Bordentown was paying for the L. family to go to school in Northern Burlington, it would be reflected in the state aide application, and when this changed, the state aid would change accordingly. Zach testified that the determination was not just based on the duration of their stay at the grandmother's home, but the fact that they had no plans to move. Moreover, they were in fixed and adequate housing.

Vanessa Bekarciak, is the Director of Special Services for Bordentown. She also oversees homelessness and residency issues for the district. She was familiar with the L. family. She understood that initially the L. family's housing in Bordentown was temporary, but they began to question this due to the duration of the stay and the admission that they were not seeking alternate housing. In addition, they had not moved around at all, since they left their home in Burlington, they had been in one house. She believed that where they were living was adequate and had become a fixed and permanent situation for them. She testified that just because Z.L. wanted to reside somewhere else did not mean they remained homeless. She testified that it was very fact sensitive, and it is not just duration that determines homelessness. They looked at the adequacy of the housing situation and if it was stable. The L. family was not in jeopardy of being removed from this housing and were not making any plans to move back into the Burlington District.

For Burlington

Z.L. testified on behalf of himself and the minor children. He advised that he lost his job and the home in Chesterfield, Burlington County, was foreclosed on in 2016. Thereafter, they moved in with his mother-in-law in Bordentown Township. The children continued to attend school in Burlington, and he filled out the paperwork necessary for this to continue. He and his wife have three children. Their oldest, M.L. graduated last year. She is in college at Rowan/Burlington Community College and takes classes online. The older son is now a senior and he attends high school online. They pay for him to attend private high school online, as they were concerned that he would not be able to complete his senior year at Burlington. Their youngest is at Burlington. He is a junior and has an IEP due to some learning differences. They have every reason to believe that he will graduate next year. They do not know if he will go on to college or need additional services due to his disabilities.

Z.L. was terminated from his job in 2015 and was unable to keep the family home when it was foreclosed on. He indicated that he had some health issues, including a stroke which may have led to his unemployment. He testified that he had looked at some housing in Northern Burlington but was declined due to his bad credit with the foreclosure. His wife works and makes approximately $40,000 a year. They do not pay rent or any other expenses at his mother-in-law's house except for the cable TV bill.

He testified that he is currently working as a consultant has but only makes about $20,000 a year. No documentation of employment, unemployment or inability to work was provided. He testified that they have not looked in any other districts because he wants his son to remain at Northern Burlington, but he really could not afford any housing there.

His mother-in-law's home has three bedrooms. His wife currently shares a bedroom with their daughter, who is in college now. The boys share a bedroom and Z.L. has a blow-up mattress in the den. His mother-in-law has the master bedroom and her own bathroom. The L. Family shares the other full bathroom and has full access to the kitchen. There are dressers in the hallway due to limited room in the bedrooms and the situation. They have no plans to move out and do not want to leave the district before their son graduates from high school.

Richard Kaz is the business administrator at the Northern Burlington Regional School District. He has been employed there for twenty-two years. He testified that based upon their calculations, Bordentown owes them $234,113.60 for the years of 2021, 2022 and 2023, for the education of the L children who have been residing in Bordentown due to homelessness but continued to attend school in Northern Burlington. He testified that they had submitted the appropriate documentation to Bordentown but had not been paid.

Based upon the documentary evidence and testimony, I FIND the following as FACT:

1. The children were attending school in the Northern Burlington Regional School District at that time they became homeless due job loss and foreclosure on their home in 2016.

2. The family moved in with R.B., the children's maternal grandmother, along with their mother and father at the Deerfield Court home in Bordentown, New Jersey.

3. Northern Burlington was advised of the relocation by the grandmother in October 2017, at which point Burlington put Bordentown on notice of their potential responsibility under the McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance Act.

4. They attended school in Northern Burlington and arranged for their own transportation for the 2017–2018 school year.

5. Thereafter, Bordentown assumed responsibility and provided tuition and transportation to Northern Burlington pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(d).

6. Bordentown paid the tuition and transportation for the children in the 2018–2019 and 2019–2020 school years.

7. When Northern Burlington sent the invoice to Bordentown for the 2020–2021 school year, Bordentown filed a Notice of Dispute with the Executive Superintendent challenging the homelessness status of the family.

8. On October 14, 2021, the County Superintendent concluded that the family, who had been residing with the grandmother in Bordentown since 2017, was still "homeless."

9. The family is living in a three bedroom home with their grandmother. They have access to a full bathroom and have full access to the kitchen. The two boys share a bedroom as does the mother and daughter. The father Z.L. has a blow-up mattress in the den. Their family has dressers in the hallway due to limited space in the bedrooms.

10. The mother works and earns approximately $40,000 a year, and Z.L. is working as a consultant earning $20,000 a year. They pay no rent or expenses to live in the home with the exception of the cable bill.

11. They have made no efforts to find other housing.

12. The family has a fixed, regular and adequate dwelling, where they have resided for over five years.

13. The family is not homeless and was not homeless in the 2020–2021, 2021–2022 or 2022–2023 school years.

I FIND the foregoing as FACT.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

It is well settled in this jurisdiction that parents may not simply choose the school district that they wish their children to attend: the general rule is that school districts are responsible for providing a free education to children "domiciled" within the school district. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a) states that public schools shall be free to any person over five and under twenty years of age who is domiciled within the school district. "A student is domiciled in the school district when he or she is the child of a parent or guardian whose domicile is located within the school district." N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)(1).

Under the McKinney-Vento Homeless Education Assistance Improvement Act of 2001, 42 U.S.C. § 11431 et seq., state educational agencies must ensure that each homeless child and youth has equal access to the same public education as every other child and youth. The protections offered to homeless students and their parents under the federal McKinney-Vento Act and New Jersey's corresponding state law represent an exception to otherwise applicable residency rules. In contrast to the basic premise that students must change schools when they leave a school district, the laws protecting homeless students generally allow parents the choice to keep their children enrolled in their original school district if the parents relocate to another school district as the result of being homeless. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(f); N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.2(d). The district of residence for children whose parents temporarily move from one school district to another as the result of being homeless shall be the district in which the parent or guardian last resided prior to becoming homeless. N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12(c).

Under the federal McKinney-Vento Act and New Jersey's corresponding law, the term "homeless" refers to individuals who lack a fixed, regular, and adequate residence. Federal law refers to the lack of an adequate "nighttime" residence. 42 U.S.C. § 11434a (referring to 42 U.S.C. Sec.11302(a)(1)); N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12(c); N.J.A.C. 6A17-1.2.

N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.2 states that:

> (a) A district board of education shall determine that a child is homeless for purposes of this subchapter when he or she resides in any of the following:
>
> 1. A publicly or privately operated shelter designed to provide temporary living accommodations, including:
>
> i. Hotels or motels;
> ii. Congregate shelters, including domestic violence and runaway shelters;
> iii. Transitional housing; and > iv. Homes for adolescent mothers;
>
> 2. A public or private place not designated for or ordinarily used as a regular sleeping accommodation, including:
>
> i. Cars or other vehicles including mobile homes;
> ii. Tents or other temporary shelters;
> iii. Parks;
> iv. Abandoned buildings;
> v. Bus or train stations; or

vi. Temporary shelters provided to migrant workers and their children on farm sites;

3. The residence of relatives or friends where the homeless child resides out of necessity because his or her family lacks a regular or permanent residence of its own;

4. Substandard housing; or

5. Any temporary location wherein children and youth are awaiting foster care placement.

[N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.2.]

This subchapter and subsection, however, must be read, in conjunction with 42 U.S.C. § 11302(a)(1), which defines "homeless" for the McKinney-Vento Act, and N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12(c), which defines "homeless" for school-funding purposes. Under the former, "homeless" means lacking "a fixed, regular, and adequate nighttime residence." Under the latter, "homeless" means temporarily lacking "a fixed, regular and adequate residence." Thus, both definitions have at their core the concept of a fixed, regular, and adequate place to live with regular sleeping accommodations. This shared concept is not a coincidence, as the New Jersey regulatory scheme, looks to the federal regulatory scheme for its definition of terms. See N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.1 ("Nothing in this subchapter shall limit the educational rights of homeless children and youth or school district responsibilities under Subtitle VII-B of the Stewart B. McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance Act (42 U.S.C. 11431 et seq.)".)

Financial responsibility of the district of residence terminates when the family is deemed "domiciled" in another district, which occurs when the family has lived in another district for a full year or longer. At this time, financial responsibility shifts to the school district in which the student now resides. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(d) states:

> Any person whose parent or guardian, even though not domiciled within the district, is residing temporarily therein, but any person who has had or shall have his all-year-round dwelling place within the district for one year or longer shall be deemed domiciled within the district for the purposes of this section.

Northern Burlington, as the original district of residence, was responsible for the children's tuition when they first became homeless, and they continued to go to school there throughout the 2017–2018 school year. However, after residing in Bordentown for more than one year, they were deemed domiciled in Bordentown pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(d) and financial responsibility shifted to Bordentown. Bordentown provided tuition and transportation for an additional two years. When they received the tuition bill for the two remaining children in the Northern Burlington Regional School District in 2021, they requested a review by the County Superintendent claiming that the Bordentown residence had become "regular, fixed and adequate" home and they could no longer be deemed "homeless," having resided in this regular fixed and adequate housing for more than four years (and now five years), and by their own admission had no plans, nor have they made any effort to secure affordable housing in Northern Burlington or elsewhere. The petitioner is still essentially unemployed, has bad credit, very little income.

Respondents argue that the family remains homeless, and they are entitled to continue school in Northern Burlington at Bordentown's expense because they are in a "doubled-up living arrangement" and continue to "experience financial hardship." The testimony from Z.L. which is not disputed is that they moved in with his mother-in-law five years ago, and they have no current plans to leave. He does not have a full-time job, has bad credit and they do not want to pull their son out of the district. They live in a three-bedroom home with their mother-in-law. The children are all in a bedroom and have their own beds. The father sleeps in the den. They have full access to the kitchen and a full bath. The mother-in-law has her own full bathroom. They have dressers in the hallway and the living conditions are tight and not ideal. However, it is "fixed, adequate, and permanent" and they have no immediate plans to relocate.

The determination of whether a student is considered "homeless," triggering the protections for homeless students available under the law, is fact sensitive. In M. O'K. and S. O'K., A. O'K. and C. O'K. v. Bd. of Educ. of the Borough of Cresskill and Bd. of Educ. of the Borough of Little Ferry, OAL No. EDU 14830-13, Agency No. 214-9/13 (N.J. Comm'r of Educ. Aug. 12, 2014); aff'd, 2016 WL, 4699166 (N.J. Sup. Ct. App. Div. Sept. 8, 2016, the school district argued that the students who lived with their parents in the grandparents' home were no longer "homeless" as they had lived there for over a year. The family prevailed in their argument that they were still "homeless" in part because five people occupied the bottom floor of the house which had no shower, sink or kitchen. This was found to be less than a regular and adequate nighttime residence. This case is clearly distinguishable from the facts in the present case as the family has a shower, sink and kitchen as well as bedrooms for the children, and the father sleeps in the den.

More recently, an administrative law judge (ALJ) wrote that "homelessness is best viewed in a continuum." State-Operated Sch. Dist. of Camden v. Volk, EDU 4521-16, Initial Decision (March 22, 2017), modified, Comm'r (June 20, 2017), at *11, http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/. In that case, the ALJ thoroughly examined whether a family in a borderline situation was homeless and considered the totality of the circumstances. Among the factors the ALJ considered were intent, fixed location, regular use, and adequacy. The ALJ determined that the family intended to stay in their current living situation because they stopped looking for another place to live; that the location was fixed and that the use was regular because the family had lived in the same place for several years; and that their living situation was adequate because the children had a designated sleeping area and access to a kitchen and bathroom facilities, despite the sharing of rooms and limited space. To the extent that homeless status is identified as one without a "fixed, regular and adequate" living place, given the very lengthy period of residence, the adequacy of the living place and the regularity of occupation, the ALJ found that the child did live in a "fixed, regular, and adequate residence" and concluded that she was not homeless. See also L.C. on behalf of her Minor Child B.C. v. Bd of Educ. of the Twp. of Branchburg, Somerset County, 96 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU)1003 (Commissioner found that "while her living arrangements with her brother [in his apartment] may not be permanent in the sense that she may wish to eventually return to Branchburg, the evidence shows them to have become sufficiently fixed, regular, and adequate so as to preclude a finding of homelessness.")

Similar to Volk, in J.G., on behalf of minor children, T.G. and C.G. v. Board of education of the Township of Edison, et al, Commissioner's Decision No. 125-20, decided June 15, 2020, the G. family was evicted from their home in Milltown and moved in with J.G.'s mother in Edison. The family had the use of three of the four bedrooms, the kitchen, bathrooms, all common areas and utilities in the Edison home. Although both J.G. and his wife were employed, with an income of $71,000 a year, they did not pay rent or contribute to the housing costs, other than food and a storage facility. While they stated that their intent was to move back to Milltown, there was no documentation of their search for a new home. The Commissioner found that while J.G.'s intentions may be to eventually move back to Milltown, the totality of the facts and circumstances demonstrated that the family was no longer homeless.

The County Superintendent's determination that respondents are McKinney-Vento eligible, and that Bordentown is fiscally responsible for the students was based on the fact that the family lost their home due to financial hardship and that the family is residing with friends/relatives out of necessity. He found that they were doubled up and hoped to move out eventually, with no current plans to relocate. There was no other analysis undertaken with regards to homelessness. There was no analysis of whether the housing was fixed, adequate or permanent. It does not appear that any consideration was given to the fact that the family had been living there for five years and is making no efforts to find other housing. Moreover, they are in a fixed and adequate home. The totality of the facts and circumstances demonstrate that the L. family was not homeless in the 2020–2021, 2021–2022 school years and are no longer homeless and have become permanent residents in Bordentown and are entitled to enroll and attend school in that district.

For the reasons stated, I CONCLUDE that the family has "fixed, permanent and adequate" housing and is no longer homeless. I further CONCLUDE that Bordentown is their District of Residence. I further CONCLUDE that Bordentown has no financial responsibility for the respondents' attendance at Northern Burlington Regional High School, and respondents should be placed in the Bordentown Public School District. I further CONCLUDE that Northern Burlington has no basis for tuition reimbursement for the school years prior to 2020–2021. I further CONCLUDE that the ECS's determination of homelessness should be REVERSED, and judgment entered in favor of the petitioner, Bordentown Township Board of Education.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing, it is hereby ORDERED that the relief requested in the petition is GRANTED, and the homelessness decision of the Interim Executive County Superintendent is REVERSED.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

In the Matter of the Suspension of the Teaching Certificate of Nicholas Spiniello,
Board of Trustees of Central Jersey College Prep Charter School, Somerset County.

Synopsis

This matter was opened before the Commissioner of Education on October 13, 2022, by way of an Order to Show Cause served by the petitioner, the Board of Trustees of the Central Jersey College Prep Charter School (Board), upon the respondent, Nicholas Spiniello, a Teacher Physical Education/Health, requiring respondent to show cause why an order should not be entered suspending his teaching certificate for unprofessional conduct pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 after he resigned his position without giving the sixty-day (60) notice required by his contract with the petitioner. Respondent filed an answer to the Order to Show Cause stating that he was unable to fulfill his contractual obligations because of a family emergency that required him to be out of state. The respondent failed to provide documentation or details regarding his family emergency despite several requests for him to do so, and subsequently failed to appear for two scheduled pre-hearing conferences. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that respondent's teaching certificate should be suspended for a period of one year.

Upon review, the Commissioner concluded that the respondent did not deny the allegations that he resigned without giving the notice required in his contract, but only attempted to explain his early resignation by stating that he experienced a family emergency. No documentation or detail regarding the nature of the emergency was provided despite several requests. Therefore, the Commissioner deemed the allegations to be admitted and further deemed them sufficient to justify suspension of respondent's teaching certificates pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8. Accordingly, respondent's certificates were suspended for a period of one year from the date of the filing of this decision – a copy of which was forwarded to the State Board of Examiners for the purpose of effectuating this order.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

In the Matter of the Suspension of the Teaching Certificate of Nicholas Spiniello, Board of Trustees of Central Jersey College Prep Charter School, Somerset County.

This matter was opened before the Commissioner of Education on October 13, 2022, by way of an Order to Show Cause served by petitioner, Board of Trustees of the Central Jersey Prep Charter School (Board), upon respondent, Nicholas Spiniello, requiring respondent to show cause why an order should not be entered suspending his teaching certificates pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8 for resigning without giving the notice required by law. On November 9, 2022, the Department of Education (DOE) received respondent's answer, and the case was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law.

The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) issued an Initial Decision indicating that respondent failed to appear for two scheduled pre-hearing conferences. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that respondent's teaching certificate should be suspended for one year.

The petition and supporting exhibits submitted by petitioner in this matter indicate that: respondent entered into a contract to work as a teacher for the 2022-23 school year; the contract provides that it can be terminated by either party upon sixty days' written notice; and respondent resigned on September 2, 2022, effective immediately. In his answer, the respondent does not deny these allegations, but only attempts to explain his early resignation by stating that he experienced a family emergency; however, no documentation or detail regarding the nature of the emergency was provided. Therefore, the Commissioner deems such allegations to be admitted and further deems them sufficient to justify suspension of respondent's teaching certificates pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8.

Accordingly, summary decision is hereby granted to petitioner, and respondent's teaching certificates are suspended for a period of one year from the filing date of this decision, a copy of which shall be forwarded to the State Board of Examiners for implementation of the suspension.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Justin S. Ginion,

Petitioner,

v.

New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Student Protection,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioner appealed the decision of the respondent New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Student Protection (OSP), permanently disqualifying him – pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 – from performing roofing work at public school facilities after a background check revealed that he was convicted of multiple disqualifying drug-related offenses. Petitioner contended that N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 is inapplicable to him because his roofing work does not involve regular contact with pupils; therefore, his criminal history does not permanently disqualify him from work at public school facilities. The OSP filed a motion to dismiss, which was denied, and a hearing was held on December 1, 2022.

The ALJ found that: petitioner is employed by a roofing company that contracts with school districts throughout the State of New Jersey; between 2008 and 2021, petitioner worked on many school roofing projects in New Jersey; in 2021, petitioner sought employment on a contract with the Sayreville School District and a fingerprint search on petitioner was conducted which revealed petitioner's criminal convictions in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; petitioner did not challenge the accuracy of his criminal history record and admits that his criminal convictions would disqualify him under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1, which requires that any person with a history of disqualifying criminal convictions cannot be employed by a New Jersey school in a position involving regular contact with pupils; in this case, based on testimony from petitioner and his employer, petitioner did not and would not have regular contact with pupils while performing roofing work on school grounds. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that petitioner is not barred from employment on school roofing projects and should not be permanently disqualified from working for his employer on such projects.

Upon review, the Commissioner adopted the ALJ's well-reasoned Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. In so doing, the Commissioner noted that determining whether a third-party contractor such as petitioner has regular contact with pupils while working on school grounds is a fact-sensitive inquiry that must be evaluated carefully on a case-by-case basis. Accordingly, the Commissioner's holding in this matter is limited to the unique facts presented herein. The respondent's determination permanently disqualifying petitioner from performing roofing work at school facilities was reversed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Justin S. Ginion,

Petitioner,

v.

New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Student Protection,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the exceptions filed by respondent pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and petitioner's reply thereto, have been reviewed and considered.

This dispute concerns whether N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 permanently disqualifies petitioner from performing roofing work at public school facilities after a background check revealed that he was convicted of multiple disqualifying drug-related offenses.[1] The crux of the matter is whether petitioner's roofing work "involves regular contact with pupils" as contemplated by N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1. The statue provides, in relevant part:

> A facility, center, school, or school system under the supervision of the Department of Education and board of education which cares for, or is involved in the education of children under the age > of 18 shall not employ for pay or contract for the paid services of any teaching staff member or substitute teacher, teacher aide, child study team member, school physician, school nurse, custodian, school maintenance worker, cafeteria worker, school law enforcement officer, school secretary or clerical worker or any other person serving in a position which involves regular contact with pupils unless the employer has first determined consistent with the requirements and standards of this act, that no criminal history record information exists . . . which would disqualify that individual from being employed or utilized in such capacity or position.

[1] Although the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) found—and respondent maintains—that petitioner was also convicted of conspiracy to commit criminal mischief (charged in December 1999) and resisting arrest (charged in November 2011), the record lacks final disposition information regarding those charges. However, petitioner has not disputed the ALJ's findings in this regard.

N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 mandates that covered individuals convicted of certain enumerated offenses "shall be permanently disqualified from employment or service under this act." Ibid. Those enumerated offenses include drug-related offenses. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(b), (c), (d).

Respondent determined that petitioner's convictions, all of which occurred in Pennsylvania, permanently disqualified him from working at public school facilities pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1. Petitioner has never disputed the accuracy of his criminal record; he concedes that if N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 is applicable to him, then he would be permanently disqualified from work at public school facilities based upon his criminal history. However, petitioner contends that N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 is inapplicable to him because his roofing work does not involve regular contact with pupils and, as such, his criminal history does not permanently disqualify him from work at public school facilities.

Following a contested hearing, the ALJ issued an Initial Decision in petitioner's favor and recommended reversal of respondent's determination permanently disqualifying petitioner from employment at public school facilities. The ALJ agreed with petitioner that he does not have regular contact with pupils while performing roofing work on school grounds. In support thereof, the ALJ cited: (1) credible testimony from petitioner that he has never had contact with pupils during his prior school roofing work between 2008 and 2021;[2] (2) credible testimony from petitioner's employer who asserted that school roofing projects are typically completed during the summer months and that work areas are "off limits" to pupils for safety reasons; and (3) the ordinary meaning of "regular contact" as utilized in the statute. The ALJ rejected respondent's position that petitioner's "mere presence" on school grounds would create "an opportunity for contact" with pupils tantamount to the "regular contact" with pupils discussed in N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1.

In their exceptions, respondent argues that the Commissioner should reject the Initial Decision because the ALJ erred when concluding that N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 does not apply to petitioner. Respondent maintains that petitioner necessarily has regular contact with pupils while working on school grounds when pupils are also present.[3] In reply, petitioner argues that the ALJ's well-reasoned Initial Decision should be upheld because it is amply supported by the testimony in the record and that respondent's interpretation of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 is overbroad and discriminatory.

Upon review, the Commissioner adopts the ALJ's comprehensive, well-reasoned Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. The sufficient, credible evidence in the record—in particular, the credible testimony from petitioner and his employer—amply supports the ALJ's legal conclusion that N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 is inapplicable to petitioner because he does not have regular contact with pupils during his roofing work at school facilities. That said, the Commissioner notes that determining whether a third-party contractor such as petitioner has "regular contact" with pupils while working on school grounds is a fact-sensitive inquiry that must be evaluated carefully on a case-by-case basis. The Commissioner's holding in this matter is limited to the unique facts presented herein.

[2] Petitioner was not permanently disqualified until 2021 despite his criminal history because of a glitch in respondent's computerized tracking system which did not properly identify construction workers (Initial Decision at 5-6).

[3] Alternatively, respondent contends that the ALJ should have granted its motion to dismiss the matter as moot because the school roofing project that petitioner was working on in Sayreville prior to his permanent disqualification was completed during the OAL proceedings. The Commissioner agrees with the ALJ that the matter is not moot. Respondent's determination permanently disqualifies petitioner from future employment at all public school facilities—not just from the prior roofing project. Moreover, the legal issue raised herein implicates the public's interest in school safety and is likely to recur. See State v. Cassidy, 235 N.J. 482, 491 (2018) (holding that courts will entertain cases that have become moot "when the issue is of significant public importance and is likely to recur").

IT IS SO ORDERED.[4]

BEFORE WILLIAM T. COOPER, III, ALJ:

Record Closed: March 1, 2023 Decided: May 30, 2023

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, Justin S. Ginion, an employee of Strober-Wright Roofing, Inc. (Strober Roofing) who sought to work on a public school roofing project for the Sayreville School District (Sayreville) appeals the determination of the New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Student Protection, Criminal History Unit, (OSP) issued on June 7, 2021, to permanently disqualify him from serving in any position, which is under the supervision of the Department of Education.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On June 7, 2021, the OSP issued a notice disqualifying petitioner from working at any educational institution under the supervision of the Department of Education (DOE). A timely appeal was filed, and the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) where it was filed as a contested case on September 23, 2021. N.J.S.A. 52:14 B-1 to-15; N.J.S.A. 52:14 F-1 to-13.

On February 17, 2022, the petitioner moved for summary decision. On March 11, 2022, the respondent cross-moved for summary decision, and on March 22, 2022, the petitioner filed a reply brief. The motions for summary decision were denied by this tribunal on May 2, 2022.

On July 6, 2022, the respondent moved to dismiss the petition claiming it was moot because the Sayreville school project was completed. A status conference was conducted on July 14, 2022. After respondent was given an opportunity to respond to the motion, oral argument was conducted on August 5, 2022. The motion to dismiss was denied on August 23, 2022.

A hearing was conducted on December 1, 2022. The record remained open until March 1, 2023, for the parties to provide written summations and on that date the record closed.[1]

[1] An order of extension for filing an initial decision was issued on April 17, 2023, extending the filing of the initial decision to May 30, 2023.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS

TESTIMONY

For petitioner

Michael Strober (Strober) is a commercial roofing contractor and the owner of Strober Roofing. He testified that forty to fifty percent of the work performed by Strober Roofing is on public school buildings. According to Strober, Strober Roofing tries to complete school projects over the summer months when school buildings are empty, and no pupils are attending. Strober testified that work on public school projects are more lucrative for his employees as they are entitled to "prevailing" rate on such projects. He has approximately forty or more employees working at any given time.

Strober testified that the petitioner had been employed by Strober Roofing for ten plus years. During that time the petitioner has worked his way up the ranks from an apprentice to a supervisor. Strober characterized the petitioner as a model employee. Strober noted that petitioner's disqualification from school projects has had a negative effect on the petitioner's income and he is currently working on jobs that are below his skill level.

Strober testified that Strober Roofing employees are not in contact with pupils on school projects. He explained that there are several reasons for this: safety standards require that the areas where they are working are off limits to pupils, the projects are done in the summer months while pupils are on vacation, regulations require the installation of a "portable latrine" so the employees are not entering the school building to use the facilities, the location of the work site is on the roof and not inside the building, and a supervisor directs the employees so they know where they are permitted to go. Strober Roofing has never received a complaint of an employee having contact with a pupil.

Justin Ginion (Ginion) testified he is forty-two years of age and lives in Bensalem, Pennsylvania with his fiancé and two daughters. He has been employed at Strober Roofing for fourteen years. General work on school buildings moves quickly because they have a limited time to complete the projects. Typically, the work area is taped off, then ladders go up, the old roof is removed, and the crew installs the new roof.

According to Ginion, the workers never have contact with pupils during construction. Petitioner offered several reasons for this: first, the roofing materials used by Strober Roofing includes chemicals that non-employees are prevented from coming into contact and precautions are taken to ensure this; second, the removal of older roofs often involves asbestoses and there are strict guidelines on handling such materials which include securing the area from entry by non-employees; the materials used in the construction of new roofs generally require the air conditioning to be turned off so that dirt, fumes and unknown particles are not introduced into the school building. According to Ginion he has never had contact with a pupil while working on school projects.

Strober was awarded a contract to perform roofing work on a public-school building located in the Sayreville School District (Sayreville). Petitioner sought to work on the Sayreville School District project, and he submitted to a fingerprint search pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.2.

The fingerprint search revealed that Ginion had the following criminal convictions in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania: (a) Conspiracy (Criminal Mischief) in December 1999; (b) a violation of the Controlled Substance Abuse Act and resisting arrest in November 2001; (c) a violation of the Controlled Dangerous Substance Act (two counts) in January 2004; (d) a violation of the Controlled Dangerous Substance Act (two counts) in March 2005; (e) a violation of the Controlled Dangerous Substance Act in July 2006; and (f) a violation of the Controlled Substance Act (two counts) in December 2007. Ginion does not challenge the accuracy of his criminal history record or that his criminal convictions would disqualify him under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1.

Ginion indicated that he was in his twenties when he faced criminal charges and blamed his past behavior on a difficult and troubled childhood. He admitted to being in prison, however, he viewed it in a positive manner indicating that he learned how to read and write while incarcerated. Further, he became involved in Alcoholic Anonymous and Narcotics Anonymous, organizations which he is still involved with. Ginion noted that the greatest positive change in his life occurred when he became a father. Ginion testified he has had no further criminal convictions since 2007.

Ginion advised that he has worked on numerous school projects for Strober without any issues from 2008 to 2021. Since June 7, 2021, after he was advised he could not work on school projects, and his income was cut by fifty percent. Based upon the permanent ban he is still unable to work on school projects.

For respondent

James Scaringelli (Scaringelli) has been employed with the New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Student Protection, as an investigator for fourteen years. Scaringelli testified to his responsibilities and his day-to-day work at OSP. He explained that OSP oversees the criminal history background check process for new applicants that are coming to seek employment either in school facilities or with contractors who provide services to school districts throughout the state.

Scaringelli advised that an applicant's criminal history is reviewed to determine if they have any convictions for the disqualifying crimes enumerated in N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1. If an applicant has a conviction for a disqualifying crime, then that individual is ineligible for employment. Scaringelli further testified that disqualification notifications are sent to the applicant as well as the prospective employer and to The Motor Vehicle Commission so that those agencies can take whatever action they deem appropriate.

According to Scaringelli, Ginion was deemed to be permanently disqualified from his desired employment on a school roofing project due to his prior criminal history. Ginion was notified of this permanent disqualification as were the "two perspective employers," Jackson Township and Sayreville School Districts.

Scaringelli advised that OSP started to track individuals who identified themselves as construction workers within the last eighteen months. The OSP found that construction workers, such as roofers or employees of third-party service contractors were not being identified properly in the OSP system. School districts did not have a specific code entry for construction workers, and often would use a "custodial position" or "other" code when identifying them. School districts would assume that construction workers were employees of third-party contractors and were not direct school district employees, so that disqualification notices did not apply. To correct this issue a new position code, "construction workers" was added to the OSP system. Since this change was implemented, approximately 2,000 people have been identified as construction workers in the OSP system.

Scaringelli admitted that he had no knowledge if Ginion would have contact with pupils while preforming his job but insisted that Ginion's "mere presence" on school grounds would establish contact with pupils if the school "was open and pupils were present." It was his opinion that the intent of the legislation was to keep individuals with criminal records from working on or in public schools.

Dr. Jamar Purnsely (Purnsely) is employed by the Department of Education as the Director of Fiscal Accountability and Compliance. He testified to his responsibilities and how N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 is enforced. He testified that the unit looks at the backgrounds of individuals seeking employment if there were any criminal convictions at which point, they were reviewed to determine if the offense was one of the enumerated offenses under the statute. If the conviction includes one of the enumerated offenses, then the individual is disqualified, and the parties were notified.

FINDINGS

For testimony to be believed, it must not only come from the mouth of a credible witness, but it also must be credible. It must elicit evidence that is from such common experience and observation that it can be approved as proper under the circumstances. See Spagnuolo v. Bonnet, 16 N.J. 546 (1954); Gallo v. Gallo, 66 N.J. Super. 1 (App. Div. 1961). A credibility determination requires an overall assessment of the witnesses' story in light of its rationality or internal consistency and the manner in which it "hangs together" with other evidence. Carbo v. United States, 314 F.2d 718, 749 (9th Cir. 1963). Also, "the interest, motive, bias, or prejudice of a witness may affect his credibility and justify the [trier of fact], whose province it is to pass upon the credibility of an interested witness, in disbelieving his testimony." State v. Salimone, 19 N.J. Super. 600, 608 (App. Div.), certif. denied, 10 N.J. 316 (1952) (citation omitted).

A trier of fact may reject testimony because it is inherently incredible, or because it is inconsistent with other testimony or with common experience, or because it is overborne by other testimony. Congleton v. Pura-Tex Stone Corp.,53 N.J. Super 282, 287 (App. Div. 1958).

There was no indication that any of the witnesses in this matter had any interest, motive or bias that would affect their testimony. As such I accept all four of the witnesses as credible.

Based upon the testimony heard and documents entered in evidence, I FIND the following as FACT:

1. Ginion is employed by Strober Roofing, as a roofer/supervisor. Strober Roofing contracts with numerous schools and Board of Educations throughout the State of New Jersey. From 2008 to 2021 Ginion worked on many such school projects.

2. Strober Roofing was awarded a contract to perform roofing work on a public-school building located in the Sayreville School District (Sayreville). Petitioner sought to work on the Sayreville School District project, and he submitted to a fingerprint search pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.

3. The fingerprint search revealed that Ginion had the following criminal convictions out the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania: (a) Conspiracy (Criminal Mischief) in December 1999; (b) a violation of the Controlled Substance Abuse Act and resisting arrest in November 2001; (c) a violation of the Controlled Dangerous Substance Act (two counts) in January 2004; (d) a violation of the Controlled Dangerous Substance Act (two counts) in March 2005; (e) a violation of the Controlled Dangerous Substance Act in July 2006; and (f) a violation of the Controlled Substance Act (two counts) in December 2007.

4. Ginion does not challenge the accuracy of his criminal history record or that his criminal convictions would disqualify him under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1.

5. Based upon his criminal history Ginion was notified that he was "permanently disqualified" from serving in any position, paid or unpaid, with any educational institution under the supervision of the Department of Education, or any contracted service provider under contract with any "school or educational facility." (R-1.)

6. In an email dated June 7, 2021, Scaringelli notified Sayreville that Ginion has been disqualified from "school employment," and directed to ensure that Strober Roofing did not assign Ginion to work at any school facility. (R-2.)

7. Strober has never received a complaint of an employee having contact with a pupil because several factors preclude pupil contact: Safety standards require that the areas where they are working be off limits to pupils; the projects are done in the summer months while pupils are not in school; regulations require the installation of a "portable latrine" so the employees were not entering the school building; the location of the work site is on the roof and not the interior; and a supervisor directs the employees where and where not to be.

8. From 2008 to 2021 Ginion never had interactions with pupils while working on school projects for Strober Roofing.

9. Ginion has had no further criminal involvement since 2007.

LEGAL ANALYSIS

The issue here is the applicability of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 to an employee of a third-party contractor, and whether such an employee is in a position that involves regular contact with students.

N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1, provides in part as follows:

> A facility, center, school, or school system under the supervision of the Department of Education and board of education which cares for, or is involved in the education of children under the age of 18 shall not employ for pay or contract for the paid services of any teaching staff member or substitute teacher, teacher aide, child study team member, school physician, school nurse, custodian, school maintenance worker, cafeteria worker, school law enforcement officer, school secretary or clerical worker or any other person serving in a position which involves regular contact with pupils unless the employer has first determined consistent with the requirements and standards of this act, that no criminal history record information exists on file in the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Identification Division, or the State Bureau of Identification which would disqualify that individual from being employed or utilized in such capacity or position. (Emphasis added).

Petitioner's argument

Petitioner argues that the OSP misapplied N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 to his position as a roofer for a third-party employer. The statute expressly limits job place discrimination based upon criminal history to employees of the school system "for pay or contract for paid services of any teaching staff member, substitute teacher, teacher aide, child study team member, school physician, school nurse, custodian, school maintenance worker, cafeteria worker, school law enforcement officer, school secretary or clerical worker or any other person serving in a position which involves regular contact with pupils." The petitioner claims that the OSP improperly adds "construction worker" to the list of employees identified. Further, even if the statute were applicable to him petitioner claims that there is no evidence that a roofer would have "regular contact" with pupils on the Sayreville project, or any other roofing job.

Additionally, the petitioner contends that the statutory list of employees does not include employees of a third-party entity such as Strober. The category of employees and workers identified are those who would necessarily encounter pupils as part of their job, or regularly work inside of schools and thereby encounter pupils as part of their job. According to the petitioner he does not fit into any of these categories.

Finally, petitioner submits that the actions by the OSP are contrary to the provisions and intent of N.J.S.A. 34:6B-11 "Opportunity to Compete Act" and N.J.S.A.10:5−12 "New Jersey Law Against Discrimination."

Respondent's argument

Respondent argues that N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 applies to employees of a third-party contractor since it includes the following phrase, "any other person serving in a position which involves regular contact with pupils." Respondent offers that petitioner's mere presence on school grounds creates the potential that petitioner would have access to pupils.

Respondent further argues that petitioner has not presented any evidence that there would be "barriers or obstacles" that would prevent him from "getting in contact with pupils" and that he has numerous criminal convictions that require his permanent disqualification. Respondent notes that the stated intent of the statute was to protect pupils from individuals who were convicted of specific criminal offenses and, therefore, no leniency can be afforded to him.

Finally, respondent argues that N.J.S.A. 34:6B-11 "Opportunity to Compete Act" and N.J.S.A.10:5-12 "New Jersey Law Against Discrimination" are inapplicable in light of the plain language and intent of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1.

> The statute clearly directs local school districts to "not employ for pay or contract for the paid services of any teaching staff member or substitute teacher, teacher aide, child study team member, school physician, school nurse, custodian, school maintenance worker, cafeteria worker, school law enforcement officer, school secretary or clerical worker or any other person serving in a position which involves regular contact with pupils."

Here, petitioner is not employed by a local school district in any of the positions enumerated in the statute, therefore, the focus is whether he is "a person serving in a position which involves regular contact with pupils." Respondent's argument is that petitioner's mere presence on school grounds provides an opportunity for contact and thus he should be permanently disqualified from such projects. This position is rejected as it overlooks the plain language of the statute which requires regular contact with pupils.

Merriam-Webster defines "regular" as: (a) a recurring, or functioning at fixed, uniform, or normal intervals; regular income, a regular churchgoer; (b) Orderly, Methodical; regular habits. Vocabulary.com defines "regular" as 1. conforming to a standard or pattern; 2. in accordance with fixed order or procedure or principle; 3. in accordance with regular practice or procedure; 4. not deviating from what is normal; 5. relating to a person who does something regularly; 6. officially full-time; 7. a regular patron; 8. a dependable follower; 9. Occurring at fixed intervals. From the foregoing it is clear that the definition of regular contact would not include "mere presence," or "an opportunity for contact."

The statutory list of employees does not include employees of a third-party entity such as Strober Roofing. The category of employees and workers identified in the statute are those who would necessarily encounter pupils as part of their jobs, or those who regularly work inside of schools and thereby encounter pupils as part of their jobs. Ginion does not fit into any of these categories.

Roofing projects are typically completed during the summer months while students are not in attendance. The work sites are off limits to all but the roofers. Scaringelli testified that he has never received a complaint from an employee having contact with a pupil. The petitioner testified that in his fourteen years working on such projects he has never had contact with a pupil. Applying the law to the facts, I CONCLUDE that the petitioner, as an employee of a roofing contractor, is not in a position to have regular contact with pupils.

Petitioner also argues that respondent's actions in this matter run counter to the Opportunity to Compete Act, N.J.S.A. 34:6B-11. That act prohibits an employer from requiring an employee to complete an application that inquiries about criminal records and prohibits the employer from seeking such information from a third party during the initial application process. However, N.J.S.A. 34:6B-16 provides exceptions to the prohibited actions by employers. N.J.S.A. 34:6B-16(b) provides the following:

> The employment sought or being considered is for a position where a criminal history record background check is required by law, rule or regulation, or where an arrest or conviction by the person for one or more crimes or offenses would or may preclude the person from holding such employment as required by any law, rule or regulation, or where any law, rule, or regulation restricts an employer's ability to engage in specified business activities based on the criminal records of its employees.

Petitioner's argument is unpersuasive as a criminal background check is required by law for certain individuals working in or for school districts. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the Opportunity to Compete Act does not apply here. I further CONCLUDE that as the petitioner has no regular contact with pupils or the opportunity to have regular contact with pupils when working as a roofing contractor at public school facilities while pupils are not present, he is not barred from such employment. Therefore, he should not be permanently disqualified from working for Strober Roofing on school projects.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that the determination by the New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Student Protection issued on June 7, 2021, to permanently disqualify Justin Ginion from working for Strober-Wright, Inc. on school roofing projects is REVERSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." New Jersey Commissioner of Education

D.E. and J.E., on behalf of minor children, A.E., E.E., and C.E.,

Petitioners,

v.

Board of Education of the Borough of Oakland, Bergen County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioners filed a pro se petition challenging the determination of the respondent Board that their minor children were not eligible to receive a free public education in respondent's school district. The Board sought reimbursement of tuition from petitioners, asserting that the children were not domiciled within the school district during the 2022-2023 school year. Petitioners did not appear at the May 15, 2023 hearing in this matter, and the record closed at the conclusion of the ex parte hearing.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, public schools are free to any persons over five and under twenty five years of age who are domiciled within the school district; pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.2., if a student does not have a right to attend the school district, the Commissioner may assess tuition; in this case, petitioners did reside in Oakland in the past, but left in September 2021 due to a foreclosure; petitioners subsequently moved in with relatives in Hawthorne and the Board recognized the children as homeless during the 2021-2022 school year; they were permitted to remain enrolled in the school district for the entire school year pursuant to the McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance Act; there is no evidence that petitioners and their children were ever domiciled in Oakland during the 2022-2023 school year, and the Board contends that they continue to reside in Hawthorne; the Bergen County Executive County Superintendent issued a determination in October 2022 that the children were not homeless and that they were domiciled in Hawthorne and entitled to a free education in Hawthorne schools for the remainder of the school year; petitioners failed to appear at a hearing in this matter on May 15, 2023 and provided no explanation for their failure to appear. The ALJ concluded that petitioners have abandoned their appeal. Accordingly, the ALJ ordered the petition dismissed and granted the Board's counterclaim for tuition in the total amount of $53,808.82.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ findings and conclusions and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. Petitioners were directed to reimburse the Board in the revised amount of $53,808.06 for the period from November 1, 2022 through the end of the 2022-2023 school year, for tuition costs incurred during the time period in which A.E., C.E., and E.E. were ineligible to attend school in Oakland. The petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

Final Decision

D.E. and J.E., on behalf of minor children, A.E., E.E., and C.E.,

Petitioners,

v.

Board of Education of the Borough of Oakland, Bergen County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) finding that petitioners abandoned their appeal and failed to sustain their burden of establishing that they were domiciled in Oakland during the 2022-2023 school year. The Commissioner further concurs with the ALJ's conclusion that the minor children were, therefore, not entitled to a free public education in Oakland's schools during that time.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1b, the Commissioner shall assess tuition against petitioners for the time period during which the minor children were ineligible to attend school in Oakland. Therefore, the Board is entitled to tuition reimbursement in the amount of $53,808.06[1] for the period from November 1, 2022 through the end of the 2022-2023 school year, during which time petitioner's minor children were ineligible to attend school in Oakland.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter. Petitioners are directed to reimburse the Board in the amount of $53,808.06 for the period from November 1, 2022 through the end of the 2022-2023 school year, for tuition costs incurred during the time period in which A.E., C.E., and E.E. were ineligible to attend school in Oakland. The petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

D.E. AND J.E. ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILDREN A.E., E.E., AND C.E.,

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF OAKLAND, BERGEN COUNTY,

Respondent.

No appearance by D.E. and J.E., petitioners, pro se

Stephen R. Fogarty, Esq., for respondent (Fogarty & Hara, attorneys)

Record Closed: May 15, 2023 Decided: June 13, 2023

BEFORE SUSANA E. GUERRERO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioners, parents of minor children A.E., E.E., and C.E., challenged the respondent Board of Education's residency determination. In its counterclaim, the respondent Board of Education of the Borough of Oakland (Respondent, District or Oakland) seeks reimbursement of tuition from petitioners, asserting that the children were not domiciled within the school District during the 2022–2023 school year.

The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on December 21, 2022. At the initial prehearing telephone conference, the parties requested that the matter be bifurcated because it involved two separate school districts. By order dated March 1, 2023, I entered an order granting Oakland's motion to bifurcate the matter originally captioned D.E. on behalf of minor children, A.E., E.E., C.E., and R.E. v. Board of Education of the Borough of Oakland, Bergen County and Board of Education of the Ramapo Indian Hills Regional High School District, Bergen County, and ordering that the matter proceed against Oakland under the caption D.E. and J.E. on behalf of minor children, A.E., EE., and C.E. v Board of Education of the Borough of Oakland, Bergen County, using the same OAL docket number; and against Ramapo Indian Hills Regional High School District under caption D.E. and J.E. on behalf of minor child R.E. v. Board of Education of the Ramapo Indian Hills Regional High School District, Bergen County, under a separate docket number. A Prehearing Order was entered on March 15, 2023.

A hearing was initially scheduled for April 3, 2023, but adjourned. A subsequent telephone conference was scheduled for April 25, 2023, and the petitioners did not participate. By email dated May 1, 2023, the parties were informed that a peremptory hearing was being scheduled for either May 15, 2023 or June 27, 2023, and they were asked to advise by May 5, 2023 of any conflict with either date. Petitioners did not advise as to their unavailability on either day. Therefore, on May 5, 2023, the OAL sent the parties a Notice of Hearing, for an in-person hearing at the OAL in Newark on May 15, 2023. Petitioners did not appear for the hearing, and the record closed at the conclusion of the ex parte hearing.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Having reviewed and considered the uncontested testimony presented by Annette M. Wells (Wells), District's School Business Administrator and Board Secretary, at the hearing, the documentary evidence presented at the hearing, and the petition and counterclaim filed by the parties, I FIND the following FACTS in this matter:

The petitioners did not appear for the hearing, and there is no indication that they did not receive notice of the hearing. The petitioners never called or wrote to the OAL explaining their failure to appear for the prehearing conferences or the hearing. I, therefore, FIND that that the petitioners have abandoned their appeal.

The petitioners and their children once resided in Oakland, however, they left Oakland in or around September 1, 2021, apparently due to a foreclosure. During the 2021–2022 school year, they resided with relatives in Hawthorne. During that school year, the Board recognized the children as homeless, and they were permitted to remain enrolled in the District schools for the entire school year pursuant to the McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance Act. There is no evidence that the petitioners and their children were ever domiciled in Oakland during the 2022–2023 school year, and it is the District's understanding that they continue to reside in Hawthorne.

When the petitioners represented to the District at the start of the 2022–2023 school year that they were still not residing in Oakland, the District's Superintendent of Schools requested a homeless determination for the students from the Executive County Superintendent. In early October 2022, about a month following the request, the Executive County Superintendent determined that the students were not homeless and that they were domiciled in Hawthorne and entitled to a tuition-free education in the Hawthorne school district for the remainder of the school year.

At an October 27, 2022 Board meeting, the Oakland Board of Education held a hearing, which the parents did not attend, and voted to disenroll the students from the District based on their non-resident status.

Petitioners filed the subject petition challenging the Board's decision on November 21, 2022. In that petition, D.E. acknowledged that the family resides in Hawthorne with relatives.

During the 2022–2023 school year A.E., C.E. and E.E. attended school in Oakland, which is a kindergarten through eighth grade district. During this school year, A.E. attended Valley Middle School, while C.E. and E.E. attended Manito Elementary School in the District.

Wells testified that the daily tuition rate for A.E. at Valley Middle School is $134.17 (as the per pupil yearly rate is $24,151). Wells calculated that from November 1, 2022 to May 15, 2023, the day of the hearing, the per pupil tuition amounted to $24,151.[1] She testified that, given the daily tuition rate, the cost to continue to attend Valley Middle School from May 16, 2023 to June 22, 2023, the last day of school for the 2022–2023 school year, totals $3,488.42. Therefore, she testified that the tuition due for A.E. from November 1, 2022 through the end of the 2022–2023 school year totals $19,052.14.

Wells testified that the daily tuition rate to attend Manito Elementary is $122.38 (as the annual tuition rate is $22,029). This amounts to tuition totaling $14,196.46 for the period between November 1, 2022 and May 15, 2023, and $3,181.88 between May 16, 2023 and June 22, 2023, which amounts to $17,378.34 per pupil from November 1, 2022 through the end of the school year.

Therefore, the respondent asserts that tuition for A.E., C.E., and E.E. from November 1, 2022 through the end of the school year totals $53,808.82.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

Any child between the ages of five and twenty years old is entitled to a free public education in the district in which he is a resident. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a); N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a). A student is a resident of a school district if his parent or guardian has a permanent home in the district such that "the parent or guardian intends to return to it when absent and has no present intent of moving from it, notwithstanding the existence of homes or residences elsewhere." N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)(1). A student may attend school in a district in which he is a non-resident, with or without payment of tuition, at the discretion of the school district. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-3(a); N.J.A.C. 6A:22-2.2.

Domicile has been defined as the place where a person has his true, fixed, permanent home and principal establishment, and to which whenever he is absent he has the intention of returning. State v. Benny, 20 N.J. 238, 250 (1955). The domicile of an unemancipated child is that of his or her parent, custodian or guardian. P.B.K. o/b/o minor child E.Y. v. Board of Ed. Of Tenafly, 343 N.J. Super 419, 427 (App. Div. 2001). Where the local board determines that a child is not properly domiciled in its district, N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2) provides a right of appeal to the parents.

Here, the respondent produced Oakland's School Business Administrator and Board Secretary, Wells, who testified clearly and credibly concerning the per pupil cost to attend the middle school and elementary school in the District, that the residency investigation determined that A.E., E.E. and C.E. were not domiciled in Oakland, and the cost of tuition that applies to these children. I accept her testimony as fact.

N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.2(a) authorizes the Commissioner of Education to assess tuition for non-resident students. It states:

> If in the judgement of the Commissioner the evidence does not support the claim of the resident, he shall assess the resident tuition for the student prorated to the time of the student's ineligible attendance in the school district. Tuition shall be computed on the basis of 1/180 of the total annual per pupil cost to the local district multiplied by the number of days of ineligible attendance and shall be collected in the manner in which orders of the Commissioner are enforced.

N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b) also requires that tuition be calculated on the basis of 1/180 of the total annual per pupil cost to the district multiplied by the number of days of ineligible attendance.

Here, the petitioners have failed to appear for the scheduled hearing, without explanation, and there is no testimony or other evidence challenging the District's residency determination or tuition costs. I CONCLUDE that since the petitioners have abandoned their appeal, their Petition should be dismissed.

Based upon the facts adduced at the hearing, I CONCLUDE that the petitioners' children A.E., E.E. and C.E. were not domiciled in the Borough of Oakland during the 2022–2023 school year, and not entitled to a free public education there during this period. I also CONCLUDE that the Board of Education of the Borough of Oakland is entitled to reimbursement, retroactive to November 1, 2022, for the costs of tuition for the three students consistent with the per diem rates presented by the respondent. Specifically, the petitioners must reimburse the respondent at a per diem rate of $134.17 for A.E. to attend the middle school, and the per diem rate of $122.38 for E.E. and C.E. Should the three students remain enrolled in the District through the end of the 2022–2023 school year, the parents are responsible for reimbursing the respondent in the amount of $53,808.82 for A.E., E.E., and C.E.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that the petitioners' residency appeal is DISMISSED as a consequence of their failure to appear at the hearing without providing any explanation for the non-appearance. It is further ORDERED that respondent's counterclaim seeking tuition reimbursement in GRANTED. It is further ORDERED that the petitioners reimburse the respondent for the period beginning November 1, 2022 to the date the students are disenrolled from the District, as follows: at a daily tuition rates of $134.17 for A.E.; a daily tuition rate of $122.38 for C.E.; and a daily rate of $122.38 for E.E.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

D.E. and J.E., on behalf of minor child, R.E.,

Petitioners,

v.

Board of Education of Ramapo Indian Hills Regional School District, Bergen County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioners filed a pro se petition challenging the determination of the respondent Board that their minor child was not eligible to receive a free public education in the Ramapo Indian Hills Regional School District. The Board sought reimbursement of tuition from petitioners, asserting that R.E. was not domiciled within any of the municipalities in the Ramapo Indian Hills Regional School District (District) between October 13, 2022 and the end of the 2022-2023 school year. Petitioners did not appear at the May 22, 2023 hearing in this matter and offered no explanation for their failure to appear. The record closed on June 2, 2023 after the filing of the Board's post-hearing brief.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, public schools are free to any persons over five and under twenty five years of age who are domiciled within the school district; pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.2., if a student does not have a right to attend the school district, the Commissioner may assess tuition; in this case, R.E. had been attending Indian Hills High School while petitioners resided in Oakland, one of the municipalities served by the respondent district, prior to the 2022-2023 school year; however, the family left Oakland in September 2021 due to a foreclosure and petitioners subsequently moved in with relatives in Hawthorne; the Board recognized R.E. as homeless during the 2021-2022 school year and permitted R.E. to remain enrolled at Indian Hills High School pursuant to the McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance Act; the Board contends that petitioners continue to reside in Hawthorne; in October 2022 the Bergen County Executive County Superintendent determined that the petitioners and R.E. had become domiciled in Hawthorne and were entitled to a free education in Hawthorne schools for the remainder of the school year; nonetheless, R.E. continued to attend Indian Hills High School; petitioners failed to appear at a hearing in this matter on May 22, 2023 and offered no explanation for their failure to appear. The ALJ concluded that petitioners had abandoned their appeal. Accordingly, the ALJ dismissed the petition, granted the Board's counterclaim for tuition, and ordered petitioners to reimburse the Board for tuition at a rate of $107.92 per day for the period beginning October 13, 2022 to the date R.E. was disenrolled from the District.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ findings and conclusions and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. The Commissioner determined that there were 155 school days between October 13, 2022 and the end of the 2022-2023 school year and ordered petitioners to reimburse the Board in the amount of $16,727.60 for the period of R.E.'s ineligible attendance in the Ramapo Indian Hills Regional School District.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

D.E. and J.E., on behalf of minor child, R.E.,

Petitioners,

v.

Board of Education of Ramapo Indian Hills Regional School District, Bergen County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge's (ALJ) finding that petitioners abandoned their appeal and failed to sustain their burden of establishing that they were domiciled within any of the municipalities in the Ramapo Indian Hills Regional School District (District) between October 13, 2022 and the end of the 2022-2023 school year. The Commissioner further concurs with the ALJ's conclusion that R.E. was, therefore, not entitled to a free public education in the District during that time.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1b, the Commissioner shall assess tuition against petitioners for the time period during which R.E. was ineligible to attend school in the District. The statute specifically provides that the Commissioner may order tuition "computed on the basis of 1/180 of the total annual per pupil cost to the local district multiplied by the number of days of ineligible attendance." N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1b (emphasis added). A certification submitted by the District's Business Administrator indicates that the per diem tuition rate is $107.92. However, that certification does not provide the number of days of ineligible attendance, nor did the ALJ make any findings of fact on that issue. Although that information should have been provided during the OAL proceedings, because the Business Administrator's certification included a copy of the District's calendar for the 2022-2023 school year, the Commissioner is able to make a finding regarding the number of days of ineligible attendance without the need for a remand to the OAL. The Commissioner finds that there were 155 school days between October 13, 2022 and the end of the 2022-2023 school year. Therefore, the Board is entitled to tuition reimbursement in the amount of $16,727.60 for the period from October 13, 2022 through the end of the 2022-2023 school year, during which time R.E. was ineligible to attend school in the District.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter. Petitioner is directed to reimburse the Board in the amount of $16,727.60 for the time period from October 13, 2022 through the end of the 2022-2023 school year, for tuition costs incurred during the period in which R.E. was ineligible to attend school in the District. The petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

Record Closed: June 2, 2023 Decided: June 22, 2023

BEFORE SUSANA E. GUERRERO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioners, parents of minor child R.E., challenged the respondent Board of Education's residency determination. In its counterclaim, the respondent Board of Education of the Ramapo Indian Hills Regional High School District (Respondent, Ramapo Indian Hills) seeks reimbursement of tuition from petitioners, asserting that R.E. was not domiciled within the school District during the 2022–2023 school year.

This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), under caption D.E. on behalf of minor children, A.E., E.E., C.E., and R.E. v. Board of Education of the Borough of Oakland, Bergen County and Board of Education of the Ramapo Indian Hills Regional High School District, Bergen County, under OAL docket number EDU 11519-22, where it was filed on December 21, 2022. At the initial prehearing telephone conferences, the parties requested that the matter be bifurcated since the petitioners' four children attended two different school districts. By order dated March 1, 2023, I bifurcated the matter and ordered that the matter against the Ramapo Indian Hills Regional High School District proceed under D.E. and J.E. on behalf of minor child R.E. v. Board of Education of the Ramapo Indian Hills Regional High School District, Bergen County, with OAL docket number EDU 01738-23, and that D.E. and J.E. on behalf of minor children, A.E., EE., and C.E. v Board of Education of the Borough of Oakland, Bergen County proceed under OAL docket number EDU 11519-22.

The petitioners failed to participate in scheduled telephone conferences. A hearing was initially scheduled for April 28, 2023, but adjourned. On or around April 28, 2023, the parties were notified that a peremptory hearing date was scheduled for May 22, 2023. As the petitioners did not appear for the hearing, an ex parte hearing took place at the OAL in Newark, New Jersey on that date, and the record remained open to allow the respondent an opportunity to submit a post-hearing brief. The record closed on June 2, 2023, when the post-hearing brief was filed.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Having reviewed and considered the uncontested testimony of Thomas Lambe, School Business Administrator and Board Secretary for Ramapo Indian Hills Regional High School District, at the hearing, the documentary evidence presented at the hearing, the petition, counterclaim, and post-hearing briefs submitted, I FIND the following FACTS in this matter:

The petitioners did not appear for the hearing, and there is no indication that they did not receive notice of the hearing. The petitioner never called or wrote to the OAL explaining their failure to appear for the prehearing conferences or the hearing. I therefore FIND that the petitioners have abandoned their appeal.

Ramapo Indian Hills is a regional public school district consisting of two high schools serving students from Oakland and two other towns in Bergen County. Prior to the 2022–2023 school year, the petitioners and their children, including R.E., resided in Oakland and attended the Oakland school district schools and Ramapo Indian Hills. Specifically, R.E. has been attending Indian Hills High School, one of the two high schools in the Ramapo Indian Hills Regional School District. The petitioners, and R.E., left Oakland in or around September 1, 2021, apparently due to a foreclosure, and moved in with relatives in Hawthorne, a town outside the Ramapo Indian Hills School District. During the 2021–2022 school year, Ramapo Indian Hills considered R.E. homeless and allowed R.E. to remain enrolled at the high school for the entire school year. The District asserts that R.E. continues to reside in Hawthorne. There is no evidence that the petitioners or R.E. were ever domiciled in Oakland, or in any of the other towns within the regional school district, during the 2022–2023 school year.

When the petitioners represented at the start of the 2022–2023 school year that they were still not residing in Oakland, in or around September 16, 2022, the Executive County Superintendent was asked to make a homeless determination for R.E. By letter dated October 13, 2022, the Executive County Superintendent determined that R.E. and R.E.'s siblings were not homeless and that they were domiciled in Hawthorne and entitled to a tuition-free education in the Hawthorne School District for the remainder of the school year. R.E., however, continued to attend Indian Hills High School throughout the 2022–2023 school year.

Lambe sent the petitioner a letter dated October 28, 2022 informing them that, given the Executive County Superintendent's decision, R.E. should register as a student in the Hawthorne School District and that R.E. cannot continue to attend school at Indian Hills High School. Lambe informed the petitioners that they may request a hearing before the Board to challenge this determination. He also informed them that they may be responsible for a tuition assessment at the rate of $148.49 per day for each day of ineligible enrollment. Lambe described this tuition rate as that applying to students, including R.E., who are receiving special education services.

The parents requested a hearing before the Board but failed to appear. On November 14, 2022, the Board voted to disenroll the students from the District based on their non-resident status. On November 15, 2022, the Board sent the petitioners a letter advising that R.E. is not entitled to a tuition-free education in the District and that since they did not appear for the Board hearing, R.E. was to be disenrolled effective twenty-one days from the date of this notice. The petitioners were also informed that they would be assessed tuition at the rate of approximately $107.92 for each day during the period of ineligibility and prorated from the date of enrollment. According to Lambe, this rate reflects the "regular tuition rate," that applies to students who are not classified.

Petitioners filed the subject petition challenging the Board's decision on or about November 20, 2022. In that petition, D.E. acknowledged that the family does not reside in Oakland.

During the 2022–2023 school year, R.E. attended school at Indian Hills High School. The respondent seeks tuition reimbursement retroactive to October 13, 2022, the date that the Executive County Superintendent determined that R.E. was not eligible for a tuition-free education at Ramapo Indian Hills.

At the conclusion of the hearing, the respondent was asked to submit a Certification prepared by Lambe with the per-diem tuition rate applicable to a general education student attending school in the District. In that Certification, Lambe confirmed that the per pupil tuition rate was $107.92 per day for the 2022–2023 school year, which is the same rate reflected in the November 15, 2022 letter.

Any child between the ages of five and twenty years old is entitled to a free public education in the district in which he is a resident. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a); N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a). A student is a resident of a school district if his parent or guardian has a permanent home in the district such that "the parent or guardian intends to return to it when absent and has no present intent of moving from it, notwithstanding the existence of homes or residences elsewhere." N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)(1). A student may attend school in a district in which he is a non-resident, with or without payment of tuition, at the discretion of the school district. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-3(a); N.J.A.C. 6A:22-2.2.

Domicile has been defined as the place where a person has his true, fixed, permanent home and principal establishment, and to which whenever he is absent he has the intention of returning. State v. Benny, 20 N.J. 238, 250 (1955). The domicile of an unemancipated child is that of his or her parent, custodian or guardian. P.B.K. o/b/o minor child E.Y. v. Board of Ed. of Tenafly, 343 N.J. Super 419, 427 (App. Div. 2001). Where the local board determines that a child is not properly domiciled in its district, N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2) provides a right of appeal to the parents.

Here, the respondent produced the District's School Business Administrator and Board Secretary, Lambe, who testified and provided a signed certification concerning R.E.'s residency status and results of the residency determination, her attendance at Indian Hills High School, and the per pupil cost to attend in the 2022–23 school year. I accept his testimony as fact.

N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.2(a) authorizes the Commissioner of Education to assess tuition for non-resident students. It states:

> If in the judgement of the Commissioner the evidence does not support the claim of the resident, he shall assess the resident tuition for the student prorated to the time of the student's ineligible attendance in the school district. Tuition shall be computed on the basis of 1/180 of the total annual per pupil cost to the local district multiplied by the number of > days of ineligible attendance and shall be collected in the manner in which orders of the Commissioner are enforced.

Here, the petitioners have failed to appear for the scheduled hearing, without explanation, and there is no testimony or other evidence challenging the District's residency determination or tuition cost. I CONCLUDE that since the petitioners have abandoned their appeal, their Petition should be dismissed.

Based upon the facts adduced at the hearing and Lambe's Certification, I CONCLUDE that the petitioners and R.E. were not domiciled within the Ramapo Indian Hills Regional School District during the 2022–2023 school year, and that R.E. is not entitled to a free public education there. I also CONCLUDE that the Board is entitled to reimbursement, retroactive to October 13, 2022, for tuition calculated at the rate of $107.92 per day. October 13, 2022 is the day when the Executive County Superintendent determined that R.E. was not a homeless student, that she was domiciled in Hawthorne, and that she was not eligible for a tuition-free education in the District. The $107.92 daily rate is the rate applicable to a general education student attending school in the District, and it is the rate used to calculate the total annual per pupil cost to the District. Despite the fact that R.E. may receive special education services, for purposes of seeking tuition reimbursement from a non-resident student, the District is only entitled to reimbursement based on the per pupil cost, not any additional special education costs that are not included in that figure.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that the petitioners' residency appeal is DISMISSED as a consequence of their failure to appear at the hearing without providing any explanation for the non-appearance, and that R.E. be disenrolled from the District. It is further ORDERED that respondent's counterclaim seeking tuition reimbursement is GRANTED. It is further ORDERED that the petitioners reimburse the respondent, at a daily tuition rate of $107.92, for the period beginning October 13, 2022 to the date R.E. is disenrolled from the District.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Final Decision

Pablo Olivera,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Newark,
Essex County,
Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioner – a tenured teacher – challenged the respondent Board's withholding of his salary increment for the 2022-2023 school year. Petitioner had received a summative performance evaluation with a rating of "ineffective" in June 2022. The Board subsequently notified petitioner, by letter dated June 22, 2022, that his salary increment would be withheld for the following school year due to "inefficiency". On September 22, 2022, the Newark Teachers Union filed a grievance on behalf of petitioner, which the Board denied on December 7, 2022. Petitioner filed the within appeal with the Commissioner on March 3, 2023. The Board filed a motion to dismiss in lieu of an answer.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: petitioner's appeal was not filed within 90 days of the Board's decision as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i); the Board's letter notifying petitioner of his increment withholding, dated June 22, 2022, provided adequate notice of petitioner's right to file a petition with the Commissioner as it informed him that the Board had taken action, described that action, and clearly stated that the petitioner's inefficiency was the reason for the action; petitioner's argument that the denial of his grievance in December 2022 should trigger the 90-day rule is without merit as case law indicates that the filing of a grievance does not toll the limitations period under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i); and the circumstances of this case do not warrant relaxation of the 90-day rule. Accordingly, the ALJ granted the Board's motion to dismiss the petition.

Upon review, the Commissioner, inter alia, concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusions and adopted the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. In so doing, the Commissioner found unavailing the petitioner's argument that he was not aware that his work performance was the sole reason his increment was withheld, as he had received an evaluation of "ineffective" shortly before receiving notice from the Board that he would not receive a salary increment for 2022-2023. The petition of appeal was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Pablo Olivera,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Newark, Essex County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the exceptions filed by petitioner pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 have been reviewed and considered.[1]

On June 22, 2022, the Newark Board of Education (Board) notified petitioner that his salary increment would be withheld for the 2022-2023 school year. On September 22, 2022, the Newark Teachers Union filed a grievance on behalf of petitioner, which the Board denied on December 7, 2022. Petitioner filed a petition of appeal with the Commissioner on March 3, 2023. The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) granted the Board's motion to dismiss, concluding that the petition was not filed within 90 days of the Board's decision as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i). The ALJ found that the June 22, 2022 letter provided adequate notice of petitioner's right to file a petition with the Commissioner because it informed petitioner that the Board took action, described the action, and clearly stated the reason for the action as petitioner's inefficiency. The [1] Respondent's reply to petitioner's exceptions was not timely filed and was therefore not considered.

ALJ rejected petitioner's argument that the denial of his grievance should trigger the 90-day rule, citing to case law indicating that the filing of a grievance does not toll the limitations period. Finally, the ALJ found that the circumstances did not warrant relaxation of the 90-day rule.

In his exceptions, petitioner argues that the June 22, 2022 letter failed to provide him with adequate notice of his rights under the law. Petitioner takes issue with the fact that the letter did not inform him of his right to appeal to the Commissioner or that such an appeal was his sole recourse to challenge the withholding of his increment. Petitioner contends that he reasonably believed that the Board considered disciplinary factors beyond the quality of his work performance and that the June 22 letter was not sufficiently informative to dispel this notion. According to petitioner, it was not until he received the December 7, 2022 letter that he was notified by the Board that his increment was withheld for ineffective work performance pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:29-14. Petitioner argues that the ALJ improperly concluded that the June 22 letter in no way suggested that there might have been another reason for the increment withholding, because "inefficiency" is a vague term subject to multiple interpretations.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the June 22 letter provided adequate notice to petitioner and triggered the start of the 90-day limitations period. While petitioner argues that he was unaware that his work performance was the sole cause of his increment being withheld, he was or should have been well aware that his work performance was an issue for the Board, because he had received an evaluation of "ineffective" shortly before receiving the June 22 letter regarding his increment.[2] If petitioner believed that discipline may have been the true reason for his increment being withheld, he could have pursued that claim before the Public Employee Relations Commission (PERC). Notably, N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i) specifically provides that when an increment withholding dispute has been submitted to PERC for a determination of whether the withholding was predominantly disciplinary in nature and PERC determines that it was predominantly for reasons of teaching performance, the teacher must file a petition of appeal with the Commissioner within 90 days of PERC's decision. This rule acknowledges that proceedings before PERC and the Commissioner may be related and provides a reasonable and appropriate timeline for petitioners to navigate the two avenues for seeking relief. If petitioner had pursued a claim with PERC, he could have 1) obtained a decision that the withholding was predominantly disciplinary, as he allegedly believed, and therefore been in the right forum to pursue his challenge or 2) obtained a decision that the withholding was predominantly for reasons of teaching performance, in which case he would have had 90 days from the date of that decision to appeal to the Commissioner. But petitioner failed to pursue a PERC claim, and he cannot now avoid the consequences of his strategy by circumventing the 90-day rule.

[2] The Commissioner notes that petitioner has not provided any certification or testimony regarding what facts he was aware of or what he believed at the time he received the June 22 letter. The petition of appeal, which includes a verification signed by petitioner that the facts contained therein are true to the best of his knowledge, does not include any representations related to this issue. And, while petitioner's lack of awareness was an argument made in his opposition to the Board's motion to dismiss, that filing contains no certification from

Petitioner's reliance on T.W., on behalf of M.W. v. Bd. of Educ. of the Freehold Regional High School District, EDU 11522-18, Initial Decision (Feb. 14, 2019), adopted, Commissioner Decision No. 81-19 (Mar. 27, 2019) is misplaced. In T.W., petitioner contacted the Interim Executive County Superintendent (ECS) when her child's guidance counselors indicated that he could not attend a program at Mercer County Technical Schools (MCTS). The ECS responded and indicated that petitioner. The certification by petitioner's attorney – which itself verges on argument rather than being a straightforward recitation of facts – is insufficient to determine petitioner's awareness or understanding. However, even accepting for purposes of this decision that petitioner believed the withholding was disciplinary in nature, the Commissioner's conclusion does not change.

Freehold Regional would not be required to pay tuition for M.W.'s attendance at MCTS.[3] Freehold Regional's Director of Guidance and Operations later issued a letter that "serve[d] as formal notice" that the district would not pay tuition. The ALJ concluded that the letter from the ECS was not the triggering event for the start of the 90-day timeline. Perhaps based on his misunderstanding that the earlier letter was sent by the district's superintendent rather than the ECS, petitioner contends that his situation is analogous to that of T.W., and that the more formal December 7 letter, not the June 22 letter, is the triggering event for the limitations period. However, these cases are not analogous. In T.W., the letter from the ECS was not a decision by the board of education that could trigger the start of the limitations period. Here, the June 22 letter was a decision by the Board.

Petitioner's reliance on Salaam v. Bd. of Educ. of the City of Irvington, EDU 13483-10, Initial Decision (May 16, 2012), adopted, Commissioner Decision No. 264-12 (June 25, 2012) is similarly misplaced. In Salaam, the petitioner sent the board of education a request for reimbursement of legal fees. Receiving no response from the board, petitioner filed a petition of appeal, which the board moved to dismiss because it was filed five months after the criminal charges for which reimbursement was sought had been dismissed. The ALJ concluded that there was no violation of the 90-day rule, because the board had failed to respond to the demand letter. Here, petitioner attempts to analogize the Salaam demand letter to a letter sent by petitioner's attorney to the Board on August 11, 2022, inviting the Board to negotiate a settlement and indicating that an Unfair Labor Practice claim would otherwise be filed. However, these cases are not analogous. The board of education's failure to respond to the demand letter in Salaam meant that there was no decision by the board that triggered the commencement of the 90-day timeline. Without that triggering event, the petition of appeal was not untimely. Here, the Board had made its decision to withhold petitioner's increment and communicated that decision to petitioner. Therefore, the event triggering the running of the limitations period had occurred.

As the ALJ noted, neither petitioner's attempt to negotiate with the Board nor his filing of a grievance[4] toll the 90-day limitations period. Giannetta v. Bd. of Educ. of Egg Harbor, Commissioner Decision 147-05 (April 25, 2005); Kenny v. Bd. of Educ. of the Borough of Moonachie, EDU 9284-17, Initial Decision (Aug. 17, 2017), adopted, Commissioner Decision No. 286-17 (Sept. 27, 2017). The Commissioner also agrees with the ALJ that there are no circumstances present that warrant the relaxation of the 90-day rule.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter. The petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF NEWARK, ESSEX COUNTY,

John J.D. Burke, Esq., for respondent (Antonelli, Kantor, Rivera, attorneys)

Record Closed: April 19, 2023 Decided: June 2, 2023

BEFORE SUSANA E. GUERRERO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner Pablo Olivera (Olivera or petitioner), teacher employed by the Board of Education of the City of Newark (the Board or respondent), challenges the withholding of his salary increment for the 2022–2023 school year. Respondent filed a motion to dismiss in lieu of an Answer.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner filed a Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner of Education on or around March 3, 2023, and the Commissioner transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law, where it was filed as a contested case on March 24, 2023. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

A prehearing conference was held on April 12, 2023, approximately two days after the petitioner filed an opposition to the respondent's motion to dismiss. Respondent filed a reply to the opposition on April 19, 2023.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Based on the submissions presented, and the uncontroverted background facts, I FIND the following FACTS:

Olivera is a tenured teacher who has been employed by the Board for approximately twenty-five years. In or around June 2022, Olivera received an "ineffective" summative evaluation rating. On or around June 22, 2022, the Board notified Olivera that his salary increment would be withheld for the 2022–23 school year due to "inefficiency."

On or about August 11, 2022, Olivera's attorney submitted a letter of representation to the Board's Senior Associate Counsel informing that he had been retained to file an Unfair Labor Practice (ULP) claim with the Public Employment Relations Commission (PERC) against the Board to appeal the withholding of the salary increment. In the letter, counsel asserts that Olivera was in fact effective, that the Board lacked just cause to impose this discipline, that the Board failed to provide the necessary support, that he was "set up to fail," and that Olivera was retaliated against by being involuntarily transferred. Counsel for Olivera indicated: "If you believe that there is a reasonable possibility of settling this matter via a reduction of the discipline imposed against Mr. Olivera, please call my cell . . . at your earliest convenience. Otherwise, please confirm that you will agree to accept service of the ULP on behalf of [the Board]." The Board did not respond to the August 11, 2022 letter.

On or about September 22, 2022, the Newark Teachers Union filed a grievance on behalf of Olivera, challenging the withholding of the salary increment for the 2022–2023 school year. By letter dated December 7, 2022, the Board informed petitioner's counsel that it had received the Level 3 Grievance and that the Grievance was denied pursuant to Article III of the Agreement between the Board and the Newark Teachers Union "because, without limitation, the increment withholding was based on inefficiency; and is therefore not arbitrable." Citing to N.J.S.A. 18A:29-14, the Board concludes that it is "well-established that an increment withheld for inefficiency must be appealed to the Commissioner of Education and cannot be subject to arbitration."

Petitioner asserts in his Petition, dated March 3, 2023, that the Board's withholding of the salary increment was "an overtly severe penalty for which it lacked just cause to impose; that the 'ineffective' summative evaluation rating was not properly procured; and that the imposition of such discipline constituted an arbitrary and capricious act."

The Board subsequently filed a Notice of Motion to Dismiss in lieu of an Answer to the Petition, on or around March 23, 2023, asserting that the Petition should be dismissed because it was filed out of time.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

In its motion, the Board asserts that the Petition should be dismissed because it was filed more than ninety days from the date petitioner received notice of the Board's decision freezing his salary increment for the 2022–2023 school year. The petitioner argues that the motion to dismiss should be denied because, he asserts, it was not the June 22, 2022 letter that triggered the ninety-day period, but the December 7, 2022 notice denying Olivera's grievance, and petitioner, therefore, filed this appeal in compliance with the ninety-day rule. He also asserts that the June 22, 2022 letter did not give Olivera adequate notice of his right to file a petition with the Commissioner because it does not make clear that inefficiency was the sole reason for the withholding of his increment. The petitioner also argues that even if it is determined that the June 22, 2022 letter constitutes sufficient notice of a final action by the Board, the Petition should still be accepted as timely due to exceptional circumstances and/or good cause. According to the petitioner, these circumstances include the Board's failure to respond to or even acknowledge receipt of the August 11, 2022 letter, and the fact that the grievance was filed with the Board on September 22, 2022, which was within ninety days of issuing said notice.

N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i) provides that, regarding the filing and service of a petition of appeal with the Commissioner of Education:

> The petitioner shall file a petition no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling, or other action by the district board of education, individual party, or agency, that is the subject of the requested contested case hearing. This rule shall not apply in instances where a specific statute, regulation, or court order provides for a period of limitation shorter than 90 days for the filing of a particular type of appeal.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18:29-14[1] and 34:13A-27.d,[2] where an increment withholding dispute has been submitted to the Public Employment Relations Commission for determination of whether the withholding was predominately disciplinary and the Commission determines that the withholding was predominantly for reasons of teaching performance, the teaching staff member's petition shall be filed within 90 days of notice of the Commission's decision, or of the final judicial decision in any appeal from the decision of the Commission, whichever is later.

1 N.J.S.A. 18A:29-14 provides, in part: "Any board of education may withhold, for inefficiency or other good cause, the employment increment, or the adjustment increment, or both, of any member in any year by a recorded roll call majority vote of the full membership of the board of education. It shall be the duty of the board of education, within 10 days, to give written notice of such action, together with the reasons therefore, to the member concerned. The member may appeal from such action to the commissioner under rules prescribed by him. The commissioner shall consider such appeal and shall either affirm the action of the board of education or direct that the increment or increments be paid . . . .

2 N.J.S.A. 34:13A-27 provides, in part: "If there is a dispute as to whether a . . . withholding of an increment of a teaching staff member is disciplinary, the commission shall determine whether the basis for the . . . withholding is predominately disciplinary . . . . If the commission determines that the basis for a transfer is predominately disciplinary, the commission shall have the authority to take reasonable action to effectuate the purpose of this act."

Here, the Petition was filed on March 3, 2023. Although the petitioner asserts that it was the December 7, 2022 notice denying Olivera's grievance that should trigger the ninety-day rule, and not the June 22, 2022 letter, I do not agree. I also disagree with the petitioner that the June 22 letter failed to provide Olivera adequate notice of his right to file a petition with the Commissioner because it does not make clear that inefficiency was the sole reason for the withholding of his increment. The June 22, 2022 letter, sent to the petitioner on Board letterhead, clearly informs him that the Board took official action at its meeting on June 1 to withhold his salary increment for the 2022–2023 school year, and it expressly states that the reason for the Board's action to withhold the salary increment "was inefficiency." In no way does the letter suggest that there may be another reason for the increment withholding. On its face, the June 22, 2022 letter informed the petitioner that the Board took action, it describes the action taken by the Board, and it clearly states the reason for the Board's action. I, therefore, CONCLUDE that the June 22, 2022 letter constitutes adequate notice of a final action by the Board, and that it triggered the running of the ninety-day period.

In extraordinary cases, the ninety-day limitation may be relaxed to allow for an appeal filed outside the ninety-day window. See Nancy T. Snow v. Board of Education, EDU 6404-06, final decision, (April 20, 2007), https://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/final/edu6404-06.pdf (Commissioner may "relax [the] rule under exceptional circumstances or if there is a compelling reason to do so . . . . Such authority, however, is rarely invoked unless strict adherence to the rule would be inappropriate, unnecessary or where injustice would occur . . . or where the Commissioner finds the presence of a substantial constitutional issue or other issue of fundamental public interest beyond that or concern only to the parties themselves").

Petitioner's appeal was filed about 254 days after he received notice of the Board's action, which is well beyond the ninety-day filing period set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i). Olivera argues that the ninety-day rule should be relaxed due to exceptional circumstances, including the Board's failure to timely respond to the August 11, 2022 letter, and because the Board did not confirm the "apparent exclusivity" of Olivera's alleged ineffectiveness as a basis for the increment withholding until the denial of his grievance in December 2022. The petitioner also cites to the doctrine of unclean hands to justify a relaxation of the ninety-day rule here.

I am not persuaded by the petitioner's argument that exceptional circumstances, or even good cause, exists to relax the ninety-day rule here. First, the petitioner's August 11, 2022 letter to the Board, advising of the filing of an unfair labor practice claim and seeking a reduction of the discipline imposed, in no way tolls the ninety-day period, and I am not persuaded that the Board's failure to respond to this letter warrants a relaxation of the ninety-day rule. See, e.g., Thomas Lygate v. Board of Education, EDU 2660-07, final decision, (March 17, 2008), https://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/final/edu2660-07.pdf. Despite the petitioner's argument, the Board did not act in such a deleterious manner that would excuse the petitioner from its obligation to file its appeal within the required ninety days. The petitioner's filing of the grievance on September 22, 2022 also does not toll the limitations period. See Kenny v. Bd. of Educ. Borough of Moonachie, EDU 9284-17, adopted, Comm'r (Sept. 27, 2017) (rejecting the notion that the ninety-day rule was tolled by filing of the grievance and noting that "the Commissioner has held that attempts to resolve a dispute in other forums do not serve to toll the statute of limitations.") Only an appeal filed with the Commissioner stops the ninety-day countdown. I CONCLUDE that the petitioner has failed to demonstrate exceptional circumstances that would warrant a relaxation of the ninety-day rule here.

Having reviewed the Board's motion and supporting documents, and the petitioner's opposition to the motion, and having considered the applicable law, I CONCLUDE that the Petition must be dismissed as it was filed well beyond the ninety-day limitation imposed by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i), and because no extraordinary circumstances exist to warrant a relaxation of this limitation.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that the motion to dismiss the Petition filed by the Board is GRANTED, and that the Petition be dismissed.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." New Jersey Commissioner of Education

V.B., on behalf of minor children, J.B., J.B., K.B, and K.B.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Elizabeth,
Union County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Pro se petitioner appealed the determination of the respondent Board that her minor children were not entitled to a free public education in Elizabeth schools during the period from March 13 to April 25, 2023. The Board contended that V.B.'s children had transferred in and out of the District five times since 2017, and a residency investigation concluded that the family was not domiciled in Elizabeth during the period in question. The Board sought tuition reimbursement in the total amount of $9,570.00 for the children's ineligible attendance during the 2022-2023 school year.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: petitioner testified credibly that the address on her paperwork with the District included an incorrect apartment number, and she had lived on the third floor rather than the second floor, which is where the residency investigator visited to gather evidence that she did not live at the address provided; the Roselle address that the investigator contended is petitioner's actual address is the home of the children's paternal grandmother, where the children spent time but never slept overnight; petitioner submitted a current lease effective March 1, 2023, as well as a utility bill and driver's license with the same current address in Elizabeth as proof of her residency within the school district during the time in question; the District's investigator did not surveille petitioner's current address; and the Board failed to prove that the children were living at the grandmother's Roselle home. The ALJ concluded that petitioner met her burden of proof that the family is currently domiciled in Elizabeth and the children are eligible for a free education in Elizabeth schools. Accordingly, the ALJ determined that no tuition reimbursement is due to the District and ordered the reversal of the Board's residency determination.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusion and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. Accordingly, the petition of appeal was granted, and no tuition reimbursement is owed to the Board.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

Final Decision

V.B., on behalf of minor children, J.R., J.R., K.B. and K.B.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Elizabeth, Union County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge that V.B. and her four minor children were residents of the City of Elizabeth – and domiciled within the Board's school district – during the period of March 13, 2023, to April 25, 2023. Thus, the Board is not entitled to reimbursement from petitioner for tuition costs.

Accordingly, the petition of appeal is hereby granted.

V.B. ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILDREN J.R., J.R., K.B. & K.B.,

Petitioner,

v.

CITY OF ELIZABETH BOARD OF EDUCATION, UNION COUNTY,

Respondent.

V.B., petitioner, appearing pro se

Brian Kane, Esq. for respondent (LaCorte, Bundy, Varady & Kinsella)

Record Closed: June 1, 2023 Decided: June 9, 2023

BEFORE: JOANN LASALA CANDIDO, ALAJ

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, V.B., challenges the residency determination made by the Elizabeth Board of Education ("Board") about her minor children J.R., J.R., K.B. and K.B. On or about April 11, 2023, respondent submitted an Answer, which was filed with the Commissioner of Education on April 12, 2023. Respondent's demand included a request that the Commissioner dismiss the petition of appeal, that the children be removed from the district, and that the petitioner be assessed a tuition charge for each day of the four children's' ineligible attendance in the Board's schools for the 2022-2023 school year for a total of twenty-four days.

The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on April 12, 2023, for resolution as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A.52:14F-1 to -13. A hearing was held on June 1, 2023, and the record closed on that date.

The issues in this matter are whether the children are eligible to attend respondent's public schools free of charge in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1 and, if not, whether respondent's requests for tuition reimbursement and for disenrollment of the children should be granted.

TESTIMONY

William Buteau

Elizabeth Board of Education residency investigator William Buteau testified on behalf of the Board. Buteau investigates following up on tips and prepares reports. Buteau investigated the children in this matter because the children transferred in and out of the District five times since 2017. On May 18, 2023, Buteau drafted a Summary Report in the above-named matter. R-1 The Report outlines the number of times the children were in and out of the District and what triggered his investigation. The Transfer Information confirms each time the children were transferred. R-2 On September 20, 2022, a chain of emails from school officials shows an address for petitioner on Spring Street in Union. R-3 Petitioner forwarded an email to school officials attaching a confirmation from Capitol One on November 23, 2022, reflecting a change of address from Newark to Elizabeth. R-4

Buteau stated that based upon a background check of petitioner, her most current address lists that of an address in Newark. It also shows an address in Roselle that the Board states she resides in. R-5 On or about March 2, 2023, the Board filed two Notice of Initial Determination of Ineligibility letters for two of the students on each. The petitioner did not request a hearing on these documents. R-6 Buteau went to the addresses listed on a location report and he could not locate petitioner. He was told the petitioner did not live there by the neighbors. He would go to these addresses on weekdays. He did not go to the current address listed on the lease and utility bill. On or about March 13, 2023, the Board filed four Notices of Final Ineligibility, one for each student. The tuition for K.B. is $99.75 per day for attending school while not a resident; the tuition for J.R. is $99.63 per day; the tuition for K.F.B. is $99.75 per day and the tuition for J.F.R. is $99.63 per day while attending during ineligibility. These rates are applied depending on the grade level. R-7 Lastly, when the students turn on a school owned laptop computer, it reveals the location of the student. Prior to March 1, 2023, the computers reveal a Roselle address at times. Buteau was not available in the office to accept paperwork from the petitioner. The students were disenrolled on April 25, 2023. That was based upon twenty-four school days between March 13, 2023, to April 25, 2023. The total tuition the Board seeks is $9,570.00 for the twenty-four days.

V.B.

V.B. credibly testified on her behalf. She states that the address on the Board paperwork for her Park Street address in Elizabeth reflects apartment #2 when in fact she lived on the third floor. The address in Roselle is the paternal grandmother's home and the children never sleep there. V.B. submitted the current lease, utility bill and driver's license for her apartment in Elizabeth. The children have not been permitted in school since the Easter break. V.B. attempted to drop off paperwork that the District did not accept to file a timely appeal. When she asked the investigator if he was in his office when she attempted ,to drop off paperwork he responded he was not.

The parties have stipulated the following FACTS.

1. On March 2, 2023, the Respondent Elizabeth Board of Education made its initial determination that the minor students J.R., J.R., K.B., and K.B. were not domiciled within the District and sent letters to that effect to the petitioner.

2. In the initial determination letters, the respondent notified the petitioner regarding the procedure for requesting a hearing before the Elizabeth Board of Education.

3. On March 13, 2023, the respondent Elizabeth Board of Education made its final determination that the minor students J.R., J.R., K.B., and K.B. were not domiciled within the District and sent letters.

4. In the final determination letters, the respondent informed the petitioner that if the petitioner did not file the appeal within twenty-one (21) days, the Petitioner's children would be removed from Respondent's schools.

5. In the final determination letters, the respondent informed the petitioner that petitioner may be assessed for tuition of the minor students at a per diem rate of $99.75 per student for ineligible attendance.

6. On April 10, 2023, petitioner's residency appeal was filed with the Department of Education.

In addition to the stipulated FACTS, I heard testimony from petitioner whom I FIND was credible and forthcoming as well as from Investigator William Buteau and FIND additional FACTS:

1. Petitioner provided a residency Appeal dated March 21, 2023 and another on May 1, 2023. P-1
2. Petitioner, at the time the Board is assessing tuition for twenty-four days, provided proof by submitting a Lease agreement effective March 1, 2023 at an Elizabeth address as well as a utility bill and driver's license all reflecting the Elizabeth address. She resided on the third floor of her prior Elizabeth address and not the 2nd floor where Investigator Buteau checked.

3. Investigator Buteau did not investigate the current Elizabeth address.
4. The Roselle address is the paternal grandmother's address. The Board did not provide proof that the four children were viewed living at this address.
5. The respondent is seeking tuition for the four children for twenty-four school days for K.B. at $99.75 per day; the tuition for J.R. at $99.63 per day; the tuition for K.F.B. at $99.75 per day and the tuition for J.F.R. at $99.63 per day for a total of $9570.00.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

Under N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a), "[a]ny person who is domiciled within the school district" is entitled to a free education from that district. However, "[i]f the superintendent or administrative principal of a school district finds that the parent or guardian of a child who is attending the schools of the district is not domiciled within the district . . . , the superintendent or administrative principal may apply to the board of education for the removal of the child." N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2). The parents may contest a local school board's decision regarding the student's right to attend school in the district to the Commissioner of Education and "shall have the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence" to prove domicile in the school district. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2). The State Board of Education has promulgated various rules implementing N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1 and governing student domicile and eligibility to attend school. N.J.A.C. 6A:22-1.1 to -6.3.

Generally, appeals of a local school board's "determinations with respect to entitlement to attend school pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1 and N.J.A.C. 6A:22[-1.1 to 6.3]" proceed under the general provisions governing controversies and disputes before the Commissioner of Education, N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.1 to -1.17, but certain exceptions exist. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-8.1(a). For example, pro se petitioners may file a petition in letter form if they use a specific form provided by the Department of Education. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-8.1(a)(1). When utilizing the Pro Se Residency Appeal form provided by the Department of Education to file their petition, the parents or guardians must "[i]nclude a signed attestation" that "[t]hey understand that they may be assessed tuition for the period of the child(ren)'s ineligible attendance . . . if the Commissioner determines that the appeal has been abandoned or withdrawn and/or that the child(ren) are ineligible for a free education in the district." N.J.A.C. 6A:3-8.1(a)(1)(iv)(2).

According to N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.3(a), "[t]uition assessed pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be calculated on a per student basis for the period of a student's ineligible enrollment, by applicable grade/program category and consistent with the provisions of N.J.A.C. 6A:23-3.1. The individual student's record of daily attendance shall not impact on such calculation." However, "[n]othing in this chapter shall preclude an equitable determination, by the district board of education or the Commissioner, that, when the circumstances of a matter so warrant, tuition shall not be assessed for all or part of any period of a student's ineligible attendance in the school district." N.J.A.C.6A:22-6.3(b).

Per N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2), the resident "shall have the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence that the child is eligible for a free education". See, generally, D.L. v. Board of Educ. of Princeton Regional School Dist., 366 N.J. Super. 269 (App. Div. 2004).

Based upon the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that the petitioner has met her burden under N.J.S.A.18A:38-1(b) (2) that J.R., J.R.., K.B. and K.B. are and have been domiciled in Elizabeth from March 13, 2023 to April 25, 2023, and therefore are entitled to a free education in the Elizabeth school district. V.B. provided the Lease agreement effective March 1, 2023, her driver's license, and her utility bill that all reflect the same address in Elizabeth where she was domiciled during the time the District is assessing tuition.

ORDER

Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that respondent's determination that V.B. and her four children, J.R., J.R., K.B. and K.B., are not residents and domiciliary in Elizabeth, New Jersey, and were not domiciled within its school district during the period of March 13, 2023 to April 25, 2023, is hereby REVERSED. It is further ORDERED that respondent is not entitled to reimbursement from petitioner for the cost of audited tuition in the amount of $9,570.00.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." This case was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on April 20, 2022, for resolution as a contested case under N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F1 to -13. On May 4, 2022, I conducted a telephone prehearing wherein petitioner's counsel advised that new counsel would be substituting into the case. On May 23, 2022, the OAL received the substitution of counsel.

At later conferences, the parties discussed various procedural issues. On September 28, 2022, the petitioner dismissed its claims against the Board of Education, Township of Stillwater, Sussex County, because Stillwater was not seeking tuition reimbursement from Frankford. Following a motion, I ordered that the petitioner amend the petition to include the Torpeys as respondents on November 3, 2022. While discovery was ongoing, the parties reached a settlement that the Board approved at its meeting on June 12, 2023. That agreement permits the parties to affix separate signatures to the last page, and all parties signed the agreement. Respondent submitted the fully executed settlement agreement and Board Resolution on June 15, 2023.

Having reviewed the contents of the attached Settlement Agreement and General Release, I FIND:

1. The parties have voluntarily agreed to the settlement, as evidenced by their signatures or the signatures of their representatives.

2. The settlement fully disposes of all issues in controversy and is consistent with the law.

I CONCLUDE that this settlement meets the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1 and that the stipulation should be approved. I approve of the settlement and, therefore ORDER that the parties comply with the settlement terms and that these proceedings be concluded.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education
Final Decision

S.W. and N.W., on behalf of minor child, M.W.,

Petitioners,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Maurice River, Cumberland County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioners challenged the decision of the respondent Board to relocate M.W.'s bus stop from their driveway to a consolidated school bus stop located approximately one-tenth of one mile away from petitioners' home. Petitioners contended that there is no safe walking path between their home and the new bus stop. A hearing in this matter was held on April 27, 2023.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: the Commissioner will not overturn the decision of a local board of education in the absence of a finding that its were arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable; in this case, the Board determined a need to consolidate bus stops prior to the start of the 2022-2023 school year; M.W.'s bus stop was changed from in front of her home to a consolidated stop approximately three hundred feet away; petitioners argued that the new bus stop location is unsafe because it is on a heavily traveled road that lacks a sufficient shoulder and proper maintenance, and has a posted speed limit of fifty mph; however, the proposed consolidation of bus stops was needed for safety reasons to reduce the number of home stops and to help alleviate a bus driver shortage; members of the Board listened to parental concerns about the new bus stops, investigated the new consolidated bus routes and determined that the plan was safe and efficient. The ALJ concluded that petitioners have not met their burden to demonstrate that the decision of the Board in adopting the consolidated bus stop proposal was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. Accordingly, the ALJ ordered the petition dismissed.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's detailed findings and conclusions, and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this case. The petition was dismissed.

Erin R. Thompson, Esq., for respondent (Birchmeier & Powell, LLC, attorneys)

Record Closed: May 22, 2023 Decided: June 20, 2023

BEFORE KATHLEEN M. CALEMMO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioners, S.W. and N.W. on behalf of their daughter, M.W. challenged the decision by the respondent, Board of Education of the Township of Maurice River (Board) changing their daughter's bus stop from their residence to Park Drive and Hesstown Road because they allege there is no safe walking route from their home to the new bus stop.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner filed a petition of appeal with the Commissioner of Education Controversies and Disputes (the Commissioner) on November 18, 2022. The respondent filed its answer on December 8, 2022. On December 12, 2022, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on December 13, 2022, as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to B-15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to F-13. 2019.

The hearing was held on April 27, 2023. After receipt of the closing summations on May 22, 2023, the record closed.

I FIND the following to be the undisputed FACTS of the case:

Prior to the commencement of the 2022-2023 school year, the Board determined the need to consolidate bus stops. M.W.'s stop was changed from in front of her home to a consolidated stop approximately three hundred feet away.

In August 2022, before M.W. was scheduled to start eighth grade, petitioners received bus information, notifying them of the new bus stop. Once notified of the new bus stop, petitioners brought their safety concerns to the Board. Petitioners maintained that there was no safe walking route from their home to the bus stop because the road lacked a sufficient shoulder and the posted speed limit was fifty miles per hour. Petitioners further maintained that the road is highly traveled and not well maintained. The white shoulder line is washed out in spots or covered with debris. They also expressed issues with flooding even after a normal rainstorm.

Maurice River is a rural community of approximately ninety-two miles. There are three State Highways, State Highway 47, State Highway 49, and Millville/Mays Landing Road. Only the state highways have paved shoulders. Most of the roads in Maurice River have dirt or gravel shoulders. Some of the roads are unpaved. There are very limited sidewalks.

During the 2022-2023 school year, the Board was responsible for busing approximately three hundred and fifty elementary students and two hundred high school students. The buses traveled on all the roads through out Maurice River.

The new consolidated bus stop at Hesstown and Park Drive accommodated five or six students. The bus was able to pull into the stop off the road to an area that was large enough to accommodate parked cars. The stop was considered centrally located for all students to access being approximately one tenth of a mile from the impacted students' homes.

TESTIMONY

Petitioners

S.W. believed that the Board did not exercise due diligence in investigating her safety concerns. On September 8, 2022, S.W. and N.W. sent an email to Susan Walkup, Transportation Coordinator, and to Dr. Cohen, Superintendent, to express their concerns. (P-1.) The ability of their daughter to safely walk from their home to the new bus stop was their main concern. They did not believe that Hesstown Road was safe for walking for anyone, especially children. After attending the Board meeting on September 20, 2022, and learning that the bus stops were going to remain in place, S.W. sent another email and included Patricia Powell, (Powell), Business Administrator, because she felt her safety concerns had not been addressed. (P-2.) S.W. outlined her safety concerns to include no sufficient shoulder, uneven ground, speed limit of fifty miles per hour, and flooding concerns.

Although Dr. Cohen responded by email, dated October 5, 2022, S.W. felt his answer was vague and non-responsive. (P-3.)

S.W. wanted to attend the Transportation Committee meeting, but her request was denied. She sent an email dated October 27, 2022, so the committee would have her main safety concerns, including a video of flooding after a normal rainfall, along with her daughter's comment about fearing heavy traffic coming in both directions with nowhere for her go. (P-4.) By email, dated November 7, 2022, Dr. Cohen advised S.W. that the Transportation Committee reviewed all her concerns but voted to keep the bus stop in place. (P-5.) S.W. was not satisfied. She wanted information which adequately addressed her safety concerns.

S.W. walked the route and took pictures. (P-6.) The pictures showed that the ground on the sides of the road is uneven and overgrown. Although the bus stop is on the same side of the street as their home, M.W. crosses the street to the east side to walk home so she can see the traffic coming towards her. The east side is covered with debris and trash.

S.W. has lived in her home for fifteen years. She acknowledged that Maurice River, not the school district, is responsible for snow, shrubbery, and debris removal along Hesstown Road. She did not contact Maurice River about the condition of the shoulder, only the Board.

N.W. testified that after fifteen years of living on Hesstown Road, they are very familiar with how unsafe it is. It is not safe for anyone to walk. He understood the need to consolidate bus stops but questioned the desire for efficiency over safety.

Respondents

Susan Walkup (Walkup) is the transportation coordinator. She was hired by the Board two years ago. She received her transportation supervisor certification eight years ago. She has fifteen years of experience in driving a school bus. During her first year as the transportation coordinator, Walkup studied the bus routes but made no changes. As a result of driving and studying the routes, she proposed consolidating fifty bus stops beginning in the 2022-2023 school year.

She understood that parents prefer front door stops, but central location community bus stops are safer for bus drivers and children. She drove the new and old routes with the business administrator, Powell.

To provide Dr. Cohen and the Board members with visualization of the new routes, Walkup drove them in a school bus to visit eleven of the new bus stops where parents had expressed concerns. The tour included the Hesstown Road and Park Drive new bus stop. There were no expressed concerns about the safety of this sight. Walkup did not view any impediments to M.W. walking to and from her home on the grassy shoulder area alongside the road.

Walkup is very familiar with Hesstown Road. It is not a major road and there are no sidewalks, which is typical for Maurice River Township. This stop was selected because it was centrally located for all impacted students, being approximately one tenth of a mile from all their homes. The location was off the road and large enough to accommodate parked cars for parents. While waiting for the bus, the children are off the road. She deemed the location safe for the students and safe for the bus driver.

Due to S.W.'s and N.W.'s concerns about flooding. Walkup drove the road with Powell on January 31, 2023, after it had been raining for about six hours. There were puddles but no safety concerns. Powell took pictures of the road. (R-6.)

In her professional opinion, the new bus stop did not present any safety concerns.

Patricia Powell has been the school's business administrator for the past twenty-one years. Powell hired Walkup to be the transportation coordinator. Facing a bus driver shortage, part of Walkup's duties was to study the routes for efficiency and safety. After Walkup revised the routes, Powell went with her on a school bus to experience the changes. There had been too many home bus stops that needed to be consolidated. When buses make multiple short stops on the same road, there is more cause for concern from aggressive drivers. Powell deemed Walkup's proposals to be safe and needed.

After Powell reviewed the proposal for the new routes, she sent the information to the Board's Transportation Committee for their review. At the August 22, 2022, meeting the Board approved the proposal to consolidate bus stops. After the new bus passes were sent to the families, complaints about the changes were received. To address these complaints, Walkup took Powell, Dr. Cohen, the Board president, and two members of the Transportation Committee on a bus trip to experience the old and new routes. There were complaints about eleven consolidated stops. At each new stop, the Board members would vote yes or no on whether to keep the change. The stop at issue got a unanimous yes vote from the Transportation Committee members. Powell believed the consolidated routes were more efficient.

The new stop on Hesstown and Park Road was situated at an entrance to a trailer park. It was wide enough to accommodate parked cars and all impacted students had an equal walking distance of about one tenth of a mile. There were no expressed concerns about the walkability of the grassy dirt shoulder running along the roadway. In Powell's opinion, the distance between petitioners' house and the bus stop was walkable with sufficient room to walk on the grassy/dirt area off the limited shoulder.

After a rainstorm, Powell returned to the area with Walkup. She took pictures of the road and did not notice any flooding concerns. (R-6.)

Robert A. Chard (Chard) is the chairman of the Transportation Committee. Chard has been a Board member for nineteen years. He has been on the Transportation Committee for sixteen years. Chard grew up on Hesstown Road, near where petitioners currently live. He is very familiar with all the roads in the Township because he spent twenty-five years as a Maurice River police officer.

In July 2022, after receiving the information on the proposed consolidation of bus stops, he personally drove the new route. He thought the plan to cut down the number of stops was good for the children and the bus drivers. He had no issues with the proposal.

He described Hesstown Road as having one lane in each direction with a dirt shoulder. He noted that the speed limit was forty-five miles per hour. He was advised on cross-examination by S.W. that the speed limit is fifty miles per hour.

Chard participated on the bus trip to review the new sites. At the Hesstown and Park stop, he got off the bus and walked a short distance. From what he viewed, he believed petitioners' daughter could easily walk to her home. When the members got back on the bus, they unanimously voted to keep the consolidated stop. Chard also viewed the video of the road during a rainstorm, but it had no effect on his decision. At the Board meeting, Chard voted to approve the consolidated stop.

The proposed consolidation of bus stops was needed for safety to reduce the number of home stops and to help alleviate the shortage of bus drivers. After voting to approve the consolidation plan, the Board listened to the concern of the parents. Walkup took members of the Board on a school bus tour to directly experience the proposed changes. They were able to experience first-hand from the seat of a bus, these new routes and stops.

The petitioner's concern is not with the site, but rather with their daughter's inability to safely walk to and from their home to the bus stop. Without access to sidewalks, the only way to walk from the house to the bus stop is on the shoulder and grassy area of a road where cars can drive at speeds of fifty miles per hour. The pictures showed a grass, gravel, and dirt area off the sides of the road. (R-6 and P-6.) Testimony from Walkup, Powell, and Chard about the walkability of the shoulder area differed from S.W. and N.W. While I do not doubt the sincerity of the petitioners and their obvious motive to keep their daughter as safe as possible, I was more persuaded by the pictures from both parties and the testimony from respondent's witnesses that there was sufficient room to walk. The terrain was uneven, and overgrown, but there was room to safely walk the short distance from petitioners' home to the bus stop. All the students to the new site were required to navigate one tenth of a mile to this new communal bus stop.

Petitioners' flooding concern was also investigated by the Board. The Transportation Committee reviewed the video she submitted. Moreover, Walkup and Powell drove the road after a six-hour rainstorm and found no concerns.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The Commissioner will not overturn the decision of a local board in the absence of a finding that the action below was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. T.B.M. v. Moorestown Bd. of Educ., EDU 2780-07, Initial Decision (February 6, 2008), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/> (citing Thomas v. Morris Twp. Bd. of Educ., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965), aff'd, 46 N.J. 581(1966)). The Commissioner will not substitute his judgment for that of the board of education, whose exercise of its discretion may not be disturbed unless shown to be "patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Kopera v. W. Orange Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960). Our courts have held that "[w]here there is room for two opinions, action is not arbitrary or capricious when exercised honestly and upon due consideration, even though it may be believed that an erroneous conclusion has been reached." Bayshore Sewage Co. v. Dep't of Envtl. Prot., 122 N.J. Super. 184, 199-200 (Ch. Div. 1973), aff'd, 131 N.J. Super. 37 (App. Div. 1974). Thus, to prevail, the petitioner must demonstrate that the Board acted in bad faith, or in utter disregard of the circumstances before it. T.B.M., EDU 2780-07. It is a weighty burden; one which I CONCLUDE these petitioners have not met. This record has presented me with no evidence that would suggest that the actions of this Board, or its personnel, were taken in bad faith or in utter disregard of the circumstances presented.

N.J.S.A. 18A:39-1 provides that for "elementary school pupils who live more than two miles from their public school of attendance or secondary school pupils who live more than two and one-half miles from their public school of attendance, the district shall provide transportation to and from school . . ." However, local school boards are given broad discretion to "make reasonable classifications for furnishing transportation, taking into account differences in the degree of traffic and other conditions existing in the various sections of the district." Buonocore v. Hillsdale Bd. of Educ., 92 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 655, 658 (internal citations and quotation marks omitted). "It is well-settled that a local school board's action lying within their discretion will not be overturned unless it is arbitrary, without rational basis, or induced by improper motives." Lemma v. Bd. of Educ. of Twp. of Branchburg, EDU 8953-97, Initial Decision (July 22, 1998).

Further, "responsibility for the removal of traffic safety hazards belongs to the municipal governing authority rather than to the school boards." Mr. & Mrs. T.F.S. ex rel. J.R.S. v. S. Brunswick Twp. Bd. of Educ., EDU 10118-05, Initial Decision (June 29, 2006) (citing Schrenk v. Ridgewood Bd. of Educ., 1961 S.L.D. 185, 187)), adopted, Comm'r (August 4, 2006), < https://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/ >.

Here, petitioners' daughter has been asked to walk approximately one tenth of a mile along a rural road to her assigned bus stop. Petitioners assert that the shoulder is not safe for walking, made even worse by rain. However, based on a review of the images admitted into evidence, the road contains no obvious safety concerns and there is a sufficiently wide grassy dirt area for walking. I agree that the terrain does not look even and there are areas in need of maintenance, but it remains, nonetheless, walkable. There is a concern about the fifty miles per hour speed limit and aggressive driving in this area. However, these concerns and the maintenance of the shoulder to the roadway are the responsibility of the governing authority and not the school Board.

The Board's investigation was thorough and involved physical inspections of the route and ultimately a determination that the bus stop was safe and accessible by all impacted students. Petitioners have not shown that the Board ignored obvious dangers in making their determination.

Local boards of education have wide discretion to determine appropriate bus routes and stops for school children. The decisions of local boards will only be overturned if arbitrary, capricious, or otherwise unreasonable.

The Board herein thoroughly investigated the new consolidated bus routes and determined that the plan was safe and efficient. Petitioners have not shown that the roadway was unreasonably dangerous or that the Board had otherwise acted in an arbitrary or discriminatory fashion in denying their request to reject the bus stop proposal and allow their daughter to be picked up and returned to their home.

I CONCLUDE petitioners have not met their burden to demonstrate that the decision of the Board, in adopting the consolidated bus stop proposal was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing, I ORDER that the appeal be DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." Final Decision

R.J., on behalf of minor child, J.C.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Union, Union County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered.

Petitioner challenges a residency determination made by the Township of Union Board of Education (Board). The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) scheduled a telephone conference regarding petitioner's appeal for June 21, 2023. Petitioner failed to appear, and the ALJ returned the file to the agency.

Upon review, the Commissioner disagrees with the ALJ that the matter should be dismissed based on petitioner's failure to appear. The record indicates that the scheduling notices were sent to the parties via email. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-9.5(c), scheduling notices must be sent by regular mail unless emergent needs require otherwise. There is no indication in the record that the telephone conferences were emergent. Moreover, while sending scheduling notices via email may be acceptable in many circumstances – such as in cases where all parties or attorneys routinely communicate with the OAL via email – the record here demonstrates that the incorrect email address was used to send notices to petitioner.[1] The record further demonstrates that the petitioner advised the OAL that the incorrect email address had been used on June 23, 2023, and requested that the telephone conference be rescheduled, but the ALJ nonetheless decided to mark the case as a failure to appear.

Because the record demonstrates that petitioner did not receive the scheduling notices, the Commissioner finds that dismissal at this juncture is not appropriate.

Accordingly, this matter is remanded to the OAL for further proceedings consistent with this opinion.

BEFORE SARAH G. CROWLEY, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner filed a petition and motion for emergent relief with the New Jersey Department of Education (DOE) on June 13, 2023. The contested matter was transferred to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:6A-12.1, where it was filed on June 14, 2023. The motion for emergent relief seeks an order that would stay the termination of the 2022–2023 contract and the non-renewal of the 2023–2024 contract between the petitioner and the respondent, Red Bank Board of Education. Opposition was filed by the respondents, and the matter was heard before the undersigned via Zoom on June 23, 2023. The record closed at that time.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Petitioner, Acelero Learning Center Monmouth/Middlesex County, Inc. (petitioner), is a private head start program provider, licensed, and approved by the State of New Jersey. Respondent, Red Bank Board of Education (Board) is a public school district in Red Bank, New Jersey. The Board entered into a contract with petitioner to provide a pre-school head start program in Red Bank for an initial term ending June 30, 2023. Pursuant to the terms of the contract, petitioner began providing services to the Board. In September 2022, one of the petitioner's teachers left and a substitute was provided as a replacement. Thereafter, in January 2023, petitioner lost another teacher and again hired a substitute teacher on a temporary basis. Both teachers met the requirements for a substitute teacher and the petitioner was in the process of recruiting full-time replacements which met the requirement of the contract.

On January 20, 2023, the petitioner notified the respondent that they would not be renewing the contract for the period of 2023–2024. The respondent notified petitioner on February 14, 2023, that they had concerns about some deficiencies in the contract, including the staffing issues. DOE was notified of the deficiencies but did not respond and takes no position in this proceeding. On March 17, 2023, the Board notified petitioner that it was holding them in breach of contract and terminating the current contract and would not be renewing the 2023–2024 contract. The petitioner has argued that after notifying respondent of its intent not to renew the contract, they thereafter rescinded this notice. Moreover, there is no legal basis to challenge the non-renewal asserted as renewal was not mandated, nor was DOE approval of a non-renewal required.

The above facts are undisputed and are FOUND as FACT.

ISSUE PRESENTED

Has the petitioner demonstrated grounds for emergent relief under New Jersey Law?

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

The New Jersey Supreme Court has set forth a four-prong test for determining whether an applicant is entitled to emergent relief. Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126, 132-34 (1982) (enumerating the factors later codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:14.2-7(s)1).

The four factors (the Factors), include:

1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted;

2. The legal right underlying petitioner's claim is settled;

3. The petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and

4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

The moving party bears the burden of proving each of the Crowe elements "clearly and convincingly." Waste Mgmt. of N.J. v. Union County Util. Auth., 399 N.J. Super. 508, 520 (App. Div. 2008).

A review of the four factors is in order.

Factor One. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted. The contract at issue is due to expire on June 30, 2023, one week from today. The remedy for a breach of contract, if such a breach exists, is a monetary one. It is well settled that monetary damages fail to satisfy the requirement of irreparable harm. The petitioner appeared to be asserting irreparable harm to the children who receive such services under the contract. However, petitioner conceded during oral argument that they are not representing the rights of any such children. The irreparable harm is that petitioner will not be able to provide services in the respondents' district. This fails to meet the requirement of irreparable harm.

Factor Two. The legal right underlying petitioner's claim is settled. Petitioner is alleging a breach of contract because the Board did not obtain the consent of the DOE to terminate the contract. The petitioner further alleges that the staffing issues were not a basis for termination of the contract. These issues are factual issues which have not been demonstrated, and thus, the legal right underlying the petitioner's claim is not settled.

Factor Three. Petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim. Petitioner must prove that respondent did not have the right to terminate the contract, after they lost two staff members. The credentials and the ability of the petitioner to satisfy the terms of the contract are unclear, and thus, the petitioner has not demonstrated a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claims. There is no likelihood of prevailing on the merits of a claim to renew the contract for another year, as they terminated it initially, and there is no legal right to the renewal of the contract.

Factor Four. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondents will suffer if the requested relief will not be granted. Here, the only harm suffered by the petitioner is monetary, when balanced against the respondents' need to provide reliable services to the preschool children of Red Bank. The balance of equites does not favor the petitioner.

Based upon the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that petitioner's request for emergent relief be DENIED.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that petitioner's request for emergent relief is DENIED and the petition should be DISMISSED.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who/which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five days following the entry of this order. If Commissioner of the Department of Education does no adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Kiddie Korner Learning Center,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Newark, Essex County,

Respondent.

The record of this emergent matter, the sound recording of proceedings at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the recommended Order of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that petitioner has failed to demonstrate entitlement to emergent relief pursuant to the standards enunciated in *Crowe v. Accordingly, the recommended Order denying petitioner's application for emergent relief is adopted for the reasons stated therein. However, to the extent that the ALJ suggested petitioner must file a separate petition of appeal in order to resolve the merits of this dispute, the Commissioner wishes to clarify that a separate petition is unnecessary. The underlying petition of appeal endures despite denial of the application for emergent relief. Because that petition regarding the merits of the non-renewal of petitioner's contract was previously transmitted to the OAL and is still pending, this matter shall continue at the OAL with such proceedings as the parties and the ALJ deem necessary to bring it to closure.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF NEWARK, ESSEX COUNTY,
Respondent.

Bradley Flynn, Esq., for petitioner (Montgomery Law, PLLC, attorneys)

Brenda Liss, Esq., for respondent (Newark Board of Education, Office of General Counsel, attorneys)

Record Closed: June 29, 2023 Decided: June 30, 2023

BEFORE ANDREW M. BARON, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner Kiddie Corner Learning Center, an early childhood school located in Newark, New Jersey, brings this application for emergent relief seeking a stay from a determination by respondent Newark Board of Education concerning the non-renewal of a contract between the parties as of June 30, 2023. In bringing this application, petitioner further contends that this was an arbitrary and capricious determination by the Board, and amounts to a termination of an existing contract, as opposed to a non-renewal. As such, petitioner seeks immediate relief to maintain the status quo until a full plenary hearing can be conducted.

Petitioner filed this motion for Emergent Relief following a determination by the Department of Education, Office of Early Childhood which affirmed a March 30, 2023 notice of non-renewal of its contract with the Newark Board of Education to provide early childhood education to Newark residents.

There is an indication of an earlier legal dispute between the parties in the prior year, as well as a due process petition which was withdrawn. (A similar application for emergent relief filed earlier this month was also withdrawn on June 13, 2023 without prejudice, pending the outcome of the appeal before the State Office of Early Childhood Learning). Counsel for the District correctly points out that on a procedural basis, that Office was application was not made a party to this application, following its affirmance of the Board's non-renewal action nonetheless, over objection, the application was allowed to proceed, so as not to further delay the time sensitive nature of the application Should this matter proceed under a separate regular petition and action, that office can be added at a later time, since the actions being challenged here are primarily those of the Board.

Following argument and limited testimony from LaRhonda Lewis, who serves as Executive Director of Kiddie Corner, and Yolanda Severe who serves as Executive Director of the Newark Board of Education, Office of Early Childhood Education, each of whom previously supplied respective certifications, the record remained open through the end of the day on June 29th for supplemental submissions.

DISCUSSION AND LIMITED UNDISPUTED FACTS

Petitioner Kiddie Corner Learning Center is a non-profit corporation with its principal place of business located at 319-321 Verona Avenue Newark, New Jersey. It started providing services as a preschool in 1991 and has provided pre-school services for the Newark Board of Education since 1998. The contract between the parties is subject to renewal on an annual basis, though Kiddie Corner has provided such services to Newark school children on an uninterrupted basis for over twenty-five (25) years.

Respondent Newark Board of Education, with offices at 765 Broad Street, Newark New Jersey is a local education agency responsible for the education of several thousand students residing within the geographic area of Newark. As the largest urban school district in the State of New Jersey, the District is also responsible for adhering to the principles of the "Abbott" case, and the funding requirements associated therewith.

On July 2021, there was a dispute between the parties over funding. Petitioner says that lack of funding, which was a violation of the contract in existence at the time, led to its inability to retain appropriate staffing levels and maintain the required curriculum. That dispute became the subject of a separate appeal petitioner brought before the Department of Education, which was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law.

Among other things, petitioner argued then and now that certain restrictions imposed on it by the District, led to certain enrollment problems, as the District stayed remote for a longer period of time than other Districts, and certain parents were not interested in having their children participate in remote only at such a young age.

Thus, new registration for the next school year was delayed, by which time some parents had enrolled their children elsewhere.

With the contract for the 22-23 school year, a classroom was taken away, and certain conditions the District imposed remained, including the imposition of a Corrective Action Plan (CAP), parts of which had been in existence since at least 2020.

Among other things, it is several aspects of the Corrective Action Plan which are disputed by both sides, which cannot be decided here, including but not limited to financial issues, enrollment requirements, and teacher training the District was required to provide.

Petitioner says the District effectively made it impossible for it to comply with the plan, which is a requirement of the contract between the parties.

After a significant amount of back-and-forth discussions and negotiations, on March 30, 2023, the District, as it is required to do, provided written notice to Kiddie Corner that the contract would not be renewed for the 23-24 school year. A revised notice of non-renewal was requested by petitioner and provided by the Board.

Within a week of issuing that notice, and before the school could file a formal appeal with the Department of Education, the District sent a representative to the school, without notice to Kiddie Corner, to hand out a written letter to the parents advising them that Kiddie Corner would no longer be a Board sponsored school for the next school year. The district contends it was simply following protocol as required by law since registration for the next school year had already been underway for some time, and parents whose children attended Kiddie Corner needed to be notified immediately to afford them sufficient time to select a different school for the next school year. (For reasons unknown, petitioner says the District official who came to the site refused to share a copy of the letter with Ms. Lewis, the Executive Director who was not informed of this development, leaving her in the embarrassing position of asking parents to show her the letter, thus leaving Kiddie Corner suspicious of the District's motives.)

Most of the remaining facts, including but not limited to whether or not Kiddie Corner was able to comply with the Corrective Action Plan, and the level of support it received from the District are disputed, and no determination on those issues can be made at this time, though to some extent, it seems clear the relationship significantly changed following the first appeal Kiddie Corner filed.

The threshold question in this matter is whether or not the District violated its statutory, regulatory and contractual obligations to petitioner pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:13A-9.3 (a)(1)(a) et. seq. by failing to renew a long existing year-to-year contract between the parties that spanned over twenty-five years. The parties do not even agree on what that action constitutes, with the District arguing it has the absolute right to not renew the contract, and petitioner arguing that the Board's decision is more tantamount of a termination, which carries its own set of consequences.

I will first address the Board's arguments that the application should fail on procedural grounds, since the request for relief was not brought within ninety (90) days of when petitioner received notice of the term of the 2022-23 contract, and second that the Department of Education was not added as a party once it issued its affirmance of the action to non-renew.

The first argument regarding the timing of the filing seems at best, disingenuous. While petitioner may have a dispute about the terms of the contract in existence which the Board says led to the non-renewal, the triggering event was the letter of March 30, 2023 advising petitioner of the non-renewal, which was followed almost immediately by the Board's actions on April 5th, (which it attempted to hide from petitioner) advising the remaining students that they would have to enroll for the coming year elsewhere.

With this filing being brought within ninety (90) days of the triggering events as required under N.J.A.C. 6A;3-1.3(i), I FIND that petitioner's request for emergent relief is timely.

Next, Respondent argues that the application should be barred on procedural grounds since the Department of Education, Office of Preschool Education Division of Early Childhood Services was not added as a party.

While this legal argument may be technically correct, petitioner by consent previously withdrew without prejudice its earlier request for emergent relief, based in part on an objection by the Board that the Division of Early Childhood Learning had not yet ruled.

On June 15, 2023, in a short ruling of two paragraphs that does not go into great detail the State Division of Early Childhood Learning affirmed the District's non-renewal of the contract between the parties based on the evidence provided by Newark. At no time during the discussions about the first emergent application being withdrawn without prejudice did the Board raise the argument that the State Office of Early Childhood Learning must be added as a party, and since this application is primarily targeted to the actions of the District, it would have been prejudicial to further delay the proceeding past June 30th when the existing contract ends to require an amendment to the pleadings, which can be done at a later time should a full petitioner be filed. Thus, that argument must fail as well, and the emergent hearing went forward.

Third, the Board argues there is no authority to impose a stay. If petitioner can meet the requirements set forth below, N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6 (a) and (b) says otherwise memorializing that a stay is an appropriate form of emergent relief.[1]

However ,with so many remaining facts in dispute, that are perhaps appropriate for a different proceeding or forum, my limited focus on this Emergent Relief application, is whether petitioner can meet the requirements of Crowe v. DeGioa, 90 N.J. 126, 132,34 (1982), factors of which are also enumerated at N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.6, N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b) and N.J.A.C. 6A:14.2-7 as follows: See also: Ispahani v. Allied Domecq Retailing United States, 320 N.J. Super. (App. Div. 1999).

i. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted.

ii. The legal right underlying petitioner's claim is settled.

iii. The petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the underlying merits.

iv. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will if the relief is not granted.

The burden for demonstrating success on these prongs is on the moving party. Waste Management of NJ v. Union County Utilities Authority, 399 NJ Super 508 (App. Div. 2008).

[1] The District also argues that this matter of damages is not sufficient to meet the immediate and irreparable harm requirement to justify a stay of the non-renewal, and there is no legal authority on a non-renewal claim to issue a stay.

Certainly, petitioner has demonstrated, at least to some extent it will suffer immediate and irreparable harm., as the non-renewal, which petitioner argues should be considered a breach of contract, may result in the closure of the school together with the loss of jobs and income for its employees, as well as the good will and sense of community afforded the parents and families whose children attend the school. However, a key question here is will the loss of income alone, (in essence monetary damages) sufficient to satisfy this prong of Crowe or is it more appropriate to bring this claim in another forum, since the Office of Administrative Law does not have jurisdiction to award money damages.

As to prong (ii), petitioner argues that the law on the underlying claim is settled, thus they are entitled to a stay. With so many facts disputed, including the underlying action itself (non-renewal vs. termination) as well as whether or not petitioner fulfilled the obligations of a Corrective Action Plan, (as well as whether a Corrective Action Plan should have been instituted in the first place) a separate dispute as to enrollment, and financial concerns, these issues can only be decided once a full hearing is conducted, should a separate due process petition be filed.

As to the likelihood of success on the merits, again here, the outcome is unclear. While petitioner has put forth what appear to be valid concerns and complaints about the treatment it received from the District, especially during the last three years, I cannot determine at this stage of the proceedings whether or not they will ultimately prevail. While the Board admitted during the course of argument that Kiddie Corner was the only one of its twenty- four vendors on a Corrective Action Plan, that fact, in and of itself, is not sufficient to meet the requirements of Crowe.

Finally, as to prong (iv) balancing the equities, while it would be extremely unfortunate if this long established and reliable vendor associated with the Newark Public Schools had to close its doors, with so many remaining facts in dispute, it is not clear at this time that the equities weigh in favor of petitioner, at least for purposes of this application. It is not disputed that thirty of the forty-five children in the program at the time of the non-renewal notice will "age out" of pre-school and start kindergarten at another school in Newark. The District says the remaining fifteen children have been placed, and it is unclear as to how many new children would have started at Kiddie Corner had the contract been renewed. Although there may be merit to the equitable argument that after twenty-five years of loyal service to the District, petitioner was "singled out," for retribution, I am unable to make a determination in favor of petitioner at this time on prong (iv), without the benefit of significant additional statistics, facts and documents and testimony beyond the certifications and documents submitted.

Therefore, for the reasons set forth herein, since I am limited to all four parameters as outlined in Crowe, I CANNOT CONCLUDE petitioner is entitled to an emergent stay at this time. Any such claims shall be preserved for a different proceeding on the merits should one be brought.

ORDER

For the reasons set forth above and herein, I THEREFORE ORDER that petitioner's motion for Emergent Decision be and hereby is DENIED.

I FURTHER ORDER, that this ruling Order only applies to the request for a stay of the non-renewal of the contract between the parties but is not dispositive of what appears to be several other outstanding factual and legal disputes between the parties that may be more appropriate for another forum/jurisdiction to decide, and/or a separate full petition within this forum.

This Order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who/which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay but no later than forty-five days following the entry of this order. If the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION does not adopt, modify or reject this order within -five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of forty emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

W.M. and M.M., on behalf of minor child,

Petitioners,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Lafayette, Sussex County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the exceptions filed by petitioners pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 have been reviewed and considered.[1]

By way of background, petitioners[2] alleged that their minor child was the victim of harassment, intimidation, and bullying (HIB). On or about December 27, 2021, the Lafayette Board of Education (Board) issued a decision that petitioners' child was not the victim of HIB. On January 19, 2022, the Commissioner transmitted a case captioned M.M., on behalf of minor child v. Board of Education of the Township of Lafayette, Sussex County, and

[1] The Board did not file a reply to petitioners' exceptions.

[2] Throughout the course of the events related to this case, some actions have been undertaken by petitioners jointly, while others were done by M.M. individually. For ease of reference, all actions taken by W.M. and/or M.M. on behalf of their child, whether jointly or individually, will be referred to as actions taken by "petitioners."

Jennifer Cenatiempo, former Superintendent, Agency Dkt. No. 216-11/21,[3] to the OAL for a hearing regarding the merits of the Board's HIB decision and alleged violations of the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act.

On December 30, 2022, petitioners filed the petition of appeal and motion for emergent relief in the instant matter (the "2022 case"). The 2022 case was transmitted to the OAL on January 3, 2023. The relief requested included home instruction for petitioners' child, an order requiring the Board to comply with a previous Commissioner decision regarding copies of video evidence, and the scheduling of a HIB appeal with a "new and impartial" judge. Petitioners' motion for emergent relief was denied. W.M. and M.M., on behalf of minor child v. Board of Education of the Township of Lafayette, Sussex County, Commissioner Decision No. 33-23E (February 3, 2023).

Thereafter, the Board filed a motion for summary decision. The Hon. Nanci G. Stokes, ALJ, found that petitioners had previously filed a motion to disqualify Judge Bongiovanni from the 2021 case; the motion was denied by the Acting Director of the OAL, and Judge Stokes concluded that she had no authority to disturb that Order. Judge Stokes further concluded that the issue of the video evidence was moot because Judge Bongiovanni had addressed it in a discovery order, which Judge Stokes determined she had no authority to disturb.

Regarding petitioners' request for home instruction, Judge Stokes determined that the 2022 case essentially replicates the issues raised in the 2021 case. Judge Stokes noted that, if petitioners prevailed on their 2021 case and demonstrated that HIB occurred and the Board's decision to the contrary was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable, the relief ordered by Judge Bongiovanni might include home instruction. Judge Stokes rejected petitioners' argument that they had not requested home instruction as part of the 2021 case, citing to the entire controversy doctrine and to the OAL rules that provide for liberal amendments to pleadings.

[3] This case will be referred to as the "2021 case." It bears OAL Docket Number EDU 00546-22 and was assigned to the Hon. Ernest Bongiovanni, ALJ. There is a typographical error on page 6 of the Initial Decision that identifies the OAL Docket Number for the 2021 case as EDU 00456-22. All other references to the 2021 case in the Initial Decision identify the correct OAL Docket Number of EDU 00546-22.

In their exceptions, petitioners argue that the 2022 case is not duplicative of the 2021 case, because they did not request home instruction in the 2021 case. Petitioners also contend that they are not re-arguing discovery issues, but rather are seeking enforcement of the Commissioner's decision ordering the Board to produce video evidence. Finally, petitioners contend that Judge Bongiovanni is biased and therefore should not be permitted to handle the 2021 case.[4]

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with Judge Stokes' decision granting the Board's motion for summary decision. As Judge Stokes noted, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.10(j), the Director of the OAL is the agency head for purposes of motions to disqualify. Therefore, neither Judge Stokes nor the Commissioner have the authority to overturn the Director's decision regarding petitioners' motion to disqualify Judge Bongiovanni. Furthermore, as the [4] Petitioners also contend that Judge Bongiovanni denied them the discovery they requested and refused to allow them to appear virtually for the proceedings regarding the above-noted 2021 case. Those allegations are not addressed herein, as this decision is limited to a review of Judge Stokes' Initial Decision regarding the 2022 case. Petitioners may present any and all arguments regarding Judge Bongiovanni's orders, or the way in which he handled proceedings, for the Commissioner's review when she considers and decides the 2021 case. Petitioner also makes allegations regarding a petition filed in 2020, which are not addressed herein, as the Commissioner has already issued a decision in that matter. M.M., on behalf of minor child v. Board of Education of the Township of Lafayette, Agency Dkt. 94-5/20, EDU 05225-20, Commissioner Decision No. 43-22 (March 4, 2022). There is a typographical error on page 6 of the Initial Decision that identifies the OAL Docket Number for the 2020 matter as EDU 07225-20. All other references to the 2020 matter in the Initial Decision identify the correct OAL Docket Number of 05225-20.

Commissioner's decision regarding the video evidence was issued in the 2021 case, any issues related to that evidence must be addressed in those proceedings to avoid piecemeal litigation.

Finally, regarding the request for home instruction, the Commissioner finds that petitioners are not precluded from seeking that relief in the proceedings related to the 2021 case. As the request for home instruction is based entirely on petitioners' allegations that their child is unsafe at school because he has been the victim of HIB, it is in the interests of judicial economy to determine whether home instruction is an appropriate remedy in the 2021 case, which was transmitted to address petitioners' HIB claims.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[5]

BEFORE NANCI G. STOKES, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Through another case, petitioners are challenging the respondent's 2020 finding that no harassment, intimidation, or bullying (HIB) occurred against their child, in which the Judge ordered discovery and scheduled a hearing. Are petitioners entitled to home instruction, a new judge, or relief from the order through a new petition? No. Consideration of moot issues and duplicative cases is improper and impairs judicial economy. Cogdell v. Hosp. Ctr. at Orange, 116 N.J. 7, 15 (1989).

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Following the alleged events in the petitioners' HIB complaint between January 10 and 17, 2020, the petitioners removed their minor child from school. In this case, petitioners seek home instruction for their minor child, an order requiring compliance with the Commissioner of Education's (Commissioner) orders regarding video evidence they sought in earlier cases for the same HIB dispute, and a hearing before another judge on the HIB denial appeal.

On January 3, 2023, the Department of Education, Office of Controversies and Disputes, transmitted this case to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for hearing as a contested case and resolution of petitioners' motion for emergency relief.

The Lafayette Township School District's Board of Education (Lafayette or Board) provided the OAL with multiple documents regarding the videos on January 5, 2023, which the Clerk supplied to me after the case's reassignment.[1] On January 5, 2023, petitioners also supplemented their application.

I requested the Board submit a reply to the emergent application, which I received on January 6, 2023.

On January 9, 2023, petitioner M.M. advised that she and her son had COVID and requested time to recover. I adjourned the argument on petitioners' emergent relief and permitted additional submissions from the parties.

On January 12, 2023, the Board submitted additional materials.

[1] The OAL's clerk initially assigned the case to Judge Bongiovanni whom the OAL long ago scheduled as an emergent judge for January 9, 2023. After the petitioners requested case reassignment, the Acting Director assigned the emergent relief motion to me, and the OAL scheduled an oral argument for January 11, 2023.

On January 13, 2023, petitioners filed three submissions, including a response to Lafayette's opposition with attachments, a brief regarding Judge Bongiovanni's order, and exhibits about the request to disqualify Judge Bongiovanni. On January 17, 2023, I heard oral argument on the emergent application via Zoom.

On January 18, 2023, I issued an order denying petitioners' request for emergent relief, concluding that petitioners did not meet the requirements under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6. The Commissioner upheld my determination.

On March 27, 2023, petitioners advised the OAL that the audio of the emergent argument was impaired, and portions appeared missing. The OAL's IT department determined that the connectivity was skipped briefly during Zoom, leaving short audio gaps. I directed petitioners to identify the missing recording segments and offer statements they believe were not recorded to supplement the record. On April 20, 2023, petitioners submitted corrections to the transcript and record. On April 21, 2023, respondent's counsel advised that he had no objection to petitioners' proposed modifications to the record, and I ordered supplementation of the record with petitioners' corrections enumerated one to twenty-four.[2]

On May 2, 2023, I scheduled a telephone conference for June 12, 2023, to which petitioners objected and requested I render an Initial Decision instead. This tribunal advised that a dispositive motion or a hearing precedes an Initial Decision.

On May 18, 2023, Lafayette filed a motion for summary decision. I rescheduled the telephone conference for August 10, 2023, and set a motion response schedule.

Petitioners filed their objection to Lafayette's motion on June 8, 2023, and Lafayette replied on June 9, 2023. I permitted an additional reply by petitioners, which I received on June 9, 2023. Lafayette waived any further reply that day, and I closed the record.

[2] The petitioners sought interlocutory review of the emergent relief denial from the Appellate Division, but did not complete that application. Although I ordered supplementation of the record per petitioners' request, they opted not to proceed with that review.

FINDINGS OF FACTS

Based on the documents submitted in support of and in opposition to the motions for summary decision, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, I FIND the following as FACT for purposes of this motion:

On February 20, 2020, the Lafayette's anti-bullying coordinator issued a report, concluding that the complaint's alleged conduct did not meet the statutory definition of HIB, but did violate the Student Code of Conduct. Further, Lafayette would take remedial measures to ensure that M.M.'s son felt comfortable in school, including seat changes in physical education and classrooms, and monitoring by teachers and the school's social worker. Petitioners challenge that Lafayette initiated these remedial steps.

Petitioners filed several petitions regarding respondent's actions, disagreeing with its HIB determination and asserting that the HIB investigation leading to Lafayette's HIB denial was inaccurate.

Video Discovery and the Scope of OAL DOCKET NO. EDU 00546-22

Specifically, M.M. filed an appeal with the Commissioner to which the OAL assigned a docket number, EDU 05225-20. On August 7, 2020, Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) Jude Tiscornia granted summary decision in favor of Lafayette under EDU 05225-20, finding that petitioners did not request a hearing before the Board making their claim procedurally deficient and denying copies of security camera video recordings of M.M. minor child's gym class in January 2020. Previously, M.M. reviewed videos of the gym class at the school while accompanied by a school employee.

On November 5, 2020, the Commissioner adopted the decision, agreeing that the claim was not ripe, and that Lafayette need not produce the videos. The Commissioner also noted that it only had jurisdiction over New Jersey's school laws, not federal ones. M.M. asserted, in part, that she should receive copies of the videos under the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), 20 U.S.C. § 1232g, outside the Commissioner's jurisdiction. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9. Yet, addressing the New Jersey's Pupil Records Act, N.J.S.A 18A:36-19, the Commissioner highlighted that the Act only required Lafayette to provide M.M. access to her child's records, not copies. N.J.A.C. 6A:37-2.5. Lafayette previously agreed to let petitioner come to school and watch the videos. In other words, Lafayette granted petitioner "access." Notably, on September 18, 2020, the United States Department of Education also denied petitioner's request for the videos under FERPA.

M.M. appealed from the Commissioner's Final Decision and the Appellate Division remanded the case to the Commissioner. On December 20, 2021, the Commissioner denied the Board's summary decision request on remand and ordered the Board to issue a written HIB determination regarding HIB Coordinator's February 20, 2020, report. Indeed, the Anti-Bullying Rights Act (ABRA), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 to -37, necessitates Board action concerning HIB complaints and investigations. Although the Board accepted the decision at its March 18, 2020, meeting, the Board had yet to issue a written decision upholding the determination; it did so on December 27, 2021. The December 20, 2021, order also required the Board to provide the videos petitioner requested.

The Board filed a motion to reconsider the December 20, 2021, Final Decision, which the Commissioner denied on January 19, 2022. Because the Board issued its decision on the HIB February 20, 2020, determination, the Commissioner concluded that petitioner M.M.'s challenge to that decision was now ripe, permitting transmittal to the OAL for adjudication of that determination and "any other violations of the [ABRA]." Further, as with any transmitted case, the Commissioner highlighted that petitioner is "entitled to discovery, including the video evidence." That case is pending before the Hon. Ernest Bongiovanni, ALJ, under OAL DKT. NO. EDU 00546-22, Agency Dkt, 216-11/21. Judge Bongiovanni scheduled the case for a hearing on June 30, 2023, and Lafayette maintains it is ready to proceed in that case.

Like the petition here, M.M. also sought video evidence she asserts the Commissioner ordered from Judge Bongiovanni. Indeed, petitioners view the January 19, 2022, order transmitting the case to the OAL as ordering copies of the videos petitioners previously sought. Yet, Lafayette opposed that discovery, believing that the Commissioner's Orders conflicted; one denied the request, and the other granted the request. Further, petitioners were unsuccessful under FERPA.

On January 21, 2022, M.M. forwarded the same discovery demands in EDU 00456-22 that she sought in EDU 07225-20, more than her first request and her earlier review of videos at the school after the 2020 HIB allegations.

Lafayette sought to prevent the release of considerable security footage that necessarily includes images of staff and many other minor students, potentially compromising the privacy interests of hundreds of individuals. Still, on February 8, 2022, Lafayette provided nearly six hours of footage to M.M. relevant to its HIB investigation of the January 17, 2020, complaint. Further, Lafayette offered M.M. an opportunity to review the other videos she requested at the school, followed by submitting a list of video clips she thought relevant to the case. M.M. did not accept that proposal.

Unable to resolve Lafayette's offer, M.M. filed a motion with Judge Bongiovanni seeking sanctions for non-compliance with the Commissioner's January 19, 2022, order. Significantly, on January 9, 2023, Judge Bongiovanni entered an order regarding the video evidence and converted petitioners' motion for sanctions to one seeking to compel discovery. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.6(d) (permitting the ALJ to convert any form of proceeding into another); and N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.6(n) (allowing an ALJ to compel the production of materials to allow a "full and true disclosure of the facts".) Judge Bongiovanni's order discussed the long history of the video requests and ordered the parties to complete discovery regarding those videos within sixty days. Petitioners disagree with this order but did not seek interlocutory review of that determination. Still, Lafayette maintains that it disposes of the video discovery issues in that case and here.

Disqualification

Petitioners sought to disqualify Judge Bongiovanni. Generally, M.M. asserts that Judge Bongiovanni is biased and favors Lafayette, having disagreed with M.M. during oral argument on her discovery motion for the videos. However, the Office of Administrative Law's (OAL) Acting Director denied M.M.'s disqualification request by letter order on November 7, 2022. To be sure, the earlier case involving the same HIB complaint continues with Judge Bongiovanni, and the Acting Director did not reassign the case.

Home Instruction

When all students received home instruction because of the COVID emergency, so did petitioners' minor child. However, petitioners did not permit their child to return once students returned to Lafayette's schools for in-person instruction.

The petitioners believe that the school is hostile and unsafe for their child because of the school's alleged failures regarding the HIB investigation, allowing bullying to continue, not providing discovery ordered by the Commissioner, obstructing justice, and in delaying a hearing. They maintain that their child fears returning to the school's hostile, unsafe environment, and that Lafayette's actions "caused extensive damage to their child's trust in adults." Thus, petitioners assert that Lafayette must provide their child with homebound instruction. Undeniably, no judge ordered this form of education for petitioners' minor child, and petitioners did not identify this relief before. Still, petitioners have yet to demonstrate that Lafayette's denial of HIB against their child was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable, that Lafayette's investigation was inaccurate, or that the school environment is unsafe.

Lafayette brought truancy proceedings and disputes that the school is an unsafe or hostile environment or that its HIB denial was inaccurate. Notwithstanding, Lafayette asserts the case before Judge Bongiovanni can address all petitioners' issues related to the HIB and that the filing of this case was duplicative. Indeed, petitioners argue the same HIB complaint failures and discovery disputes here as in the case before Judge Bongiovanni.

Notably, Lafayette also highlights that petitioners can request home instruction for health or psychological reasons, such as the fears petitioners claim their child has about attending school or other medical issues necessitating home instruction. Petitioners can support such a request with medical documentation recommending homebound instruction, but they supplied none.

DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Summary-Decision Standard

A party may move for summary decision upon all or any substantive issues in a contested case. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(a). The motion must include briefs, with or without affidavits. When the filed papers and discovery and any affidavits show that no genuine issue of material fact exists and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law, the judge may grant the motion. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). When such a motion is made and supported, an adverse party, to prevail, must submit an affidavit setting forth specific facts showing that a genuine issue of material fact exists that can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding. Ibid.

Even though a statute calls for a "hearing," where a motion for summary decision is made and supported by documentary evidence and where the objector submits no evidence to demonstrate that a genuine issue of material fact exists, the motion procedure constitutes the hearing, and no trial-type hearing is necessary. Contini v. Newark Bd. of Educ., 286 N.J. Super. 106, 120–21 (App. Div. 1995), certif. denied, 145 N.J. 372 (1996).

To determine whether a genuine issue of material fact exists that precludes summary judgment, the motion judge must consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to demonstrate that the moving party is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law. Brill v. Guardian Life Ins., 142 N.J. 520, 540 (1995).

Moreover, even if the non-movant comes forward with some evidence, the court must grant summary judgment if the evidence is "so one-sided that [the movant] must prevail as a matter of law." Ibid. at 536 (citation omitted). If the non-moving party's evidence is "merely colorable or is not significantly probative," the judge should not deny summary judgment. Bowles v. City of Camden, 993 F. Supp. 255, 261 (D.N.J. 1998).

Petitioners' motion response predominantly highlights their disputes regarding the HIB report, the investigation, the videos, and the school's actions regarding the HIB. Further, petitioners express frustration in Lafayette's litigation posture taken in earlier cases. Yet, those disputes do not require resolution here or prevent summary decision on the legal grounds Lafayette presents to support its motion. Indeed, those disputes are before Judge Bongiovanni, and Lafayette does not seek summary decision on whether the petitioners' child was the victim of a HIB or whether its investigation or actions were proper.

Instead, the question is whether petitioners can seek home instruction, a new judge, or discovery related to a HIB determination and alleged failures regarding the HIB investigation when those disputed issues remain pending before another judge. Indisputably, petitioners presented no medical evidence to support home instruction for their minor child. Further, Judge Bongiovanni issued a discovery order addressing the same videos the petitioners seek here. Additionally, the OAL's Acting Director denied Judge Bongiovanni's disqualification. Since these facts are clear and undisputed, I CONCLUDE that this case is ripe for summary decision.

Orders

Petitioners seek a review of Judge Bongiovanni's discovery order and enforcement of the Commissioner's orders regarding the videos through this petition. Additionally, they seek a judge other than Judge Bongiovanni to decide their HIB disputes despite the OAL's Acting Director's order denying his disqualification.

As Lafayette points out, petitioners can still seek further review from the Commissioner or the Appellate Division for this case or in Judge Bongiovanni's case once the proceedings end. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.10 (providing that the agency head reviews orders through interlocutory review); N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6 (noting agency review after the ALJ issues an initial decision); N.J.A.C. 6A:4-1.3 (stating that the Commissioner's Final Decisions are appealable to the Appellate Division.)

Although administrative law judges have independence in executing "certain important responsibilities . . . to conduct hearings, make factual findings, and recommend decisions in contested cases for the various State agencies," final decision authority rests with the agency subject to judicial review by the Appellate Division. In re Appeal of Certain Sections of Unif. Admin. Procedure Rules, 90 N.J. 85, 94 (1982); N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c). Significantly, the OAL Director is the agency head for interlocutory review regarding judge disqualification under N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.10(j). M.M. did not seek interlocutory review of Judge Bongiovanni's discovery order. Further, under N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.14, an administrative law judge only has the authority to issue sanctions for a party's unreasonable failure to comply with any order of that judge or non-compliance with the OAL rules. (Emphasis added.) Thus, I CONCLUDE that I have no authority to disturb Judge Bongiovanni's discovery order, or those orders or determinations issued by an agency head.

Notably, an action is moot when it no longer presents a justiciable controversy because the issues raised have become academic. For judicial economy and restraint, it is appropriate to refrain from decision-making when an issue presented is hypothetical, judgment cannot grant effective relief, or the parties do not have concrete adversity of interest. Anderson v. Sills, 143 N.J. Super 432, 437 (Ch. Div. 1976); Greenfield v. New Jersey Dep't of Corrections, 382 N.J. Super. 254, 257-58 (App. Div. 2006); S.J. v. Bd. of Educ. of Mountain Lakes, EDU 07081-03, Initial Decision (October 7, 2003), aff'd, Comm'r (Nov. 17, 2003), aff'd, St. Bd. (Feb. 3, 2004). https://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/. Indeed, petitioners acknowledge that they filed this case because Judge Bongiovanni had yet to decide their motion regarding the videos. However, because Judge Bongiovanni addressed the discovery issue, I CONCLUDE that the issue is moot here.

Entire Controversy

Petitioners maintain the Commissioner's January 19, 2022, transmittal of multiple issues to Judge Bongiovanni was inappropriate. Further, they maintain that the request for home instruction remains in this case because they did not include that relief in their earlier petitions. Therefore, petitioners argue that I should not grant summary decision.

However, the Commissioner's transmittal determination in the earlier case is not before me. Regardless, the Commissioner followed the well-established entire controversy doctrine designed to avoid piecemeal litigation of issues raised by a single cause of action. Cogdell v. Hosp. Ctr. at Orange, 116 N.J. 7, 15 (1989). Duplicative filings are discouraged. See N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.4(c) (discussing duplicative filings).

The objectives behind the entire controversy doctrine are threefold:

> 1) To encourage the comprehensive and conclusive determination of a legal controversy.
> 2) To achieve party fairness, including both parties before the court as well as prospective parties.
> 3) To promote judicial economy and efficiency by avoiding fragmented, multiple, and duplicative litigation.
> [DiTrolio v Antiles, 142 N.J. 253, 267 (1995); Cogdell, 116 N.J. at 22-24.]

Further, the "determinative consideration is whether distinct claims are aspects of a single larger controversy because they arise from interrelated facts," even where different causes of action could provide other relief. DiTrolio, 142 N.J. at 271.

Undeniably, the request for home instruction relates to the HIB incident in the case before Judge Bongiovanni. Should petitioners prevail in demonstrating that a HIB occurred and that Lafayette's determination or investigation to the contrary was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable, relief might include home instruction to a victim. See N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(7) (noting that a school has a range of ways it can respond once identifying an incident of HIB). Notably, under N.J.A.C. 1:1-6.2, the OAL rules provide for liberal amendments to pleadings. Further, petitioners can still provide medical documentation to support a medical basis for home instruction without the need for litigation or order. Regardless, I CONCLUDE that this petition essentially duplicates the issues in the earlier petition and that the entire controversy doctrine requires petitioners to raise all relief in the pending interrelated case.

In sum, I CONCLUDE that summary judgment should be GRANTED in favor of Lafayette as a matter of law.

ORDER

Given my findings of fact and conclusions of law, I ORDER that Lafayette be GRANTED summary decision, and I further ORDER that the petition be DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF NORTH ARLINGTON, BERGEN COUNTY
Respondent.

Stephen J. Edelstein, Esq., for petitioner (Weiner Law Group, LLP, attorneys)

Eric Harrison, Esq., for respondent (Methfessel & Werbel, PC, attorneys)

Record Closed: June 30, 2023 Decided: July 5, 2023

BEFORE WILLIAM J. COURTNEY, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, D.P., sought emergent temporary relief on behalf of her son D.V.P. compelling respondent to take all steps necessary to protect D.V.P. from harassment, intimidation, and bullying ("HIB") including removing four of his classmates from all classes that D.V.P. attends for the remainder of the school year. Petitioner alleges that respondent violated The Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-1 et seq., and Board Policy #5512 titled, "Harassment, Intimidation and Bullying" by failing to open an HIB Investigation or taking any other actions to protect D.V.P. from ongoing harassment, intimidation, and bullying. Petitioner claimed that there is a reasonable likelihood that D.V.P. would suffer immediate and irreparable harm if the requested Emergent Relief was not granted.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner filed a Verified Petition of Appeal on April 25, 2023 seeking Emergent Relief to protect her minor child, who is an eight-grade student within the North Arlington School District ("District") from ongoing harassment, intimidation, and bullying. On April 28, 2023, respondent filed a Verified Answer along with opposition to the Motion for Emergent Relief and a Cross-Motion to Dismiss petitioner's appeal, without prejudice. The request for Emergent Relief and Motion to Dismiss was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law by the New Jersey Department of Education for consideration. The parties' written submissions were considered followed by oral argument of counsel beginning on May 1, 2023 and continuing, at the request of counsel, on May 8, 2023. The record was closed on May 8, 2023 after the oral arguments were presented. On May 23, 2023 an Order was entered denying petitioner's claim for Emergent Relief and the parties have agreed that no other issues remain now that petitioner's request for emergent relief has been resolved.

LEGAL ANALYISIS

The only issues before this tribunal in this matter were petitioner's Motion for Emergent Relief and respondent's Cross Motions relating to it. I FIND, and the parties agree, that the May 23, 2023 Order Denying Petitioner's Motion and respondents Cross-Motions (See Exhibit A) resolve all issues and I CONCLUDE that this matter should be dismissed.

ORDER

IT IS on this 5th day of July, 2023 ORDERED that this matter be DISMISSED.

Re: In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Susan Ficke, School District of the Township of Monroe, Gloucester County, Agency Dkt. No. 186-7/23

Dear Counsel:

I have reviewed the petition filed by the Monroe Township School District (District), as well as the correspondence submitted by respondent Susan Ficke objecting to the filing of any tenure charges against her. Respondent contends that tenure charges may not be filed as a standard petition of appeal, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.1(a). Respondent further argues that the charges were not filed with the Secretary of the District's Board of Education (Board), as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.1(b)(1). Additionally, the charges were not forwarded to respondent, as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.1(b)(2), nor did respondent have an opportunity to submit a statement of position and evidence to the Board, as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.1(b)(3), or to have that statement considered by the Board at the same time it considered the charges, as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.1(b)(4). Therefore, respondent requests that the tenure charges filed against her be dismissed for failure to comply with the regulatory requirements.

In response, the District maintains that the charges and statement of evidence against respondent have been filed with the Board Secretary and certified under oath by the Board President. The District requests that, if it is determined that petitioner should respond locally first, she be required to do so within fifteen days of the date the charges were filed with the Commissioner.

Upon review and consideration of the submissions, I find that the tenure charges filed in this matter do not comply with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.1. Even accepting the District's argument that the charges and statement of evidence have been filed with the Board Secretary, the District failed to transmit them to respondent within three days of that filing, failed to provide respondent with an opportunity to submit a statement of position and evidence, and failed to consider respondent's statement before filing the tenure charges with the Commissioner. These requirements are clearly outlined in the applicable regulatory provisions, and tenure charges may not proceed when the requirements have not been followed. Additionally, the Commissioner declines to order respondent to file her statement of position and evidence with the Board at this time. If the District wishes to commence tenure proceedings against respondent, it must do so by following the correct procedures, and only once it has done so will respondent have an obligation to respond.

Sincerely,

Angelica Allen-McMillan, Ed.D.

WHEREAS, Petitioner enrolled her minor child L.W., as a student in the Elizabeth Public School District for the 2022-2023 school year; and

WHEREAS, the Board determined that the minor child L.W. was ineligible to attend the schools of the Elizabeth Public School District due to domicile outside of Elizabeth; and

WHEREAS, Petitioner commenced an action against the Board appealing its residency determination in a matter entitled, J.M.W. on behalf of minor child, L.W. v. City of Elizabeth Board of Education, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 04192-2023 N, Agency Ref. No.: 2130-5/23, (hereinafter referred to as the "Petition"); and

The foregoing recitals are incorporated herein as if set forth at length.

1. Consideration. In settlement of this matter, Petitioner will pay the Board the amount of six thousand dollars $6,000.00, which represents the alleged tuition due and owing for her minor child L.W.'s alleged ineligible attendance in the Elizabeth School District for the 2022-2023 school year. 2. Attendance of L.W. at Elizabeth Public School District. The minor child L.W. shall not be permitted to attend school in the Elizabeth Public Schools free of charge, unless and until the Petitioner submits adequate proofs that the child is domiciled in Elizabeth, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, et. seq., and so long as Petitioner follows the proper enrollment procedures.

3. Waiver and Release of Claims. In settlement of this matter and in consideration of the payments set forth in Paragraph 1 above, Petitioner hereby releases and forever discharges the Board, in its official and personal capacities, and its related or affiliated entities, and its past, present and future officers, directors, attorneys, employees, owners, insurers, and their respective successors and assigns (collectively "Releasees"), jointly and severally, from any and all actions, complaints, causes of action, lawsuits or claims of any kind (collectively "Claims"), known or

Dear Counsel:

I have reviewed respondent Tracie Sims' motion to vacate the June 5, 2023 decision in the above-captioned matter. The motion was not opposed by the East Orange Board of Education (Board).

Upon review, the motion to vacate the June 5, 2023 decision is granted. Respondent shall file an answer to the tenure charges within 15 days of the date of this decision. Respondent may submit the same information provided to the Board during the Board-level proceedings, but a submission to the Commissioner is required by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.3. Alternatively, should the Board wish to withdraw the tenure charges, the Board shall notify the Office of Controversies and Disputes within 15 days. The parties are reminded that a proposed withdrawal must address the standards established by In re Cardonick, codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Order on Motion for Clarification

Leonor Alcantara, individually and as Guardian ad Litem for E.A.; Leslie Johnson, individually and as Guardian ad Litem for D.J.; Juana Perez, individually and as Guardian ad Litem for Y.P.; Tatiana Escobar; Henry Moro and Ira Schulman, individually and as Guardian ad Litem for A.S.,

Petitioners,

v.

Angelica Allen Mc-Millan, Acting Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Education; New Jersey State Board of Education; and New Jersey Department of Education,

Respondents.

The motion for clarification filed by petitioners has been reviewed and considered.

In a 2014 petition[1] filed against the New Jersey Commissioner of Education, the New Jersey Department of Education (Department), and the New Jersey State Board of Education (collectively, "respondents"), petitioners alleged that the Lakewood Township Board of Education (Lakewood) is unable to provide its public school students with a thorough and efficient education (T&E) because it does not receive sufficient funding under the School Funding Reform Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-43 to -70 (SFRA). Following proceedings at the Office of

Administrative Law (OAL), the Commissioner issued a decision concluding that petitioners failed to meet the threshold inquiry of establishing Lakewood's failure to provide T&E; accordingly, the Commissioner did not reach the issue of the constitutionality of the SFRA. Alcantara v. Hespe, Commissioner Decision No. 149-21 (July 16, 2021). Petitioners appealed, and the Appellate Division reversed and remanded the matter with instructions for the Commissioner to consider petitioners' substantive arguments pertaining to the SFRA. Alcantara v. Allen-McMillan, 475 N.J. Super. 58 (App. Div. Mar. 6, 2023). On May 1, 2023, petitioners filed a motion for emergent relief, seeking an Order that the Commissioner would issue a final decision on the remand from the Appellate Division no later than May 15, 2023.

On May 12, 2023, the Commissioner issued a letter directing the Department to expedite the comprehensive review of the Lakewood school district referenced in Alcantara v. Hespe, supra. The Commissioner indicated that the information that comprised the record before the OAL, the Commissioner, and the Appellate Division is now outdated and found that an updated record is required in order to make an appropriately informed decision about the SFRA and its application to Lakewood. The comprehensive review, as well as an opportunity for petitioners and Lakewood to respond to the resulting report and recommendations, will occur prior to the issuance of a final agency decision on the as-applied constitutionality of the SFRA.

Also on May 12, 2023, the Commissioner denied petitioner's motion for emergent relief, finding that it was moot in light of the May 12, 2023 letter. Alcantara v. Allen-McMillan, Commissioner Decision No. 142-23 (May 12, 2023). Petitioners sought leave to appeal the Commissioner's May 12, 2023 decision; the motion was denied by the Appellate Division by Order dated June 9, 2023.

On July 7, 2023, petitioners filed a motion for clarification of the Commissioner's May 12, 2023 decision denying their motion for emergent relief.

Upon review, the Commissioner concludes that petitioners' motion for clarification must be denied, as it is untimely. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.15, a motion for clarification must be made within ten days of the filing of the Commissioner's decision. As the decision denying the motion for emergent relief was issued on May 12, 2023, that deadline expired on May 22, 2023. Petitioners' motion for clarification was not filed until July 7, 2023, fifty-five days after the Commissioner's decision was issued and forty-five days past the deadline. While petitioners argue that the deadline should be relaxed because they have effectively been attempting to pursue clarification of the May 12, 2023 decision through other means, including through a motion for leave to file an interlocutory appeal with the Appellate Division and various correspondence, the Commissioner does not find that the circumstances warrant relaxation of the deadline. Petitioners chose their course of action following the May 12, 2023 decision, and the fact that they were not satisfied with the result of those efforts does not excuse the significantly late filing of their motion for clarification.

Accordingly, petitioners' motion for clarification is denied.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

In the Matter of Brigite Goncalves, East Newark Board of Education, Hudson County.

This matter involves an appeal of a School Ethics Commission (Commission) decision issued April 25, 2023, determining that appellant, a former member of the East Newark Board of Education (Board), violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) of the School Ethics Act by voting to approve a shared services agreement between the Board and the Borough of East Newark (Borough) while she was employed part-time as the Borough's Chief Financial Officer. Having carefully reviewed the Commission's decision and the record in its entirety, the Commissioner finds that the Commission's decision is supported by sufficient credible evidence, and that appellant failed to establish that the decision is arbitrary, capricious, or contrary to law. N.J.A.C. 6A:4-4.1(a). The Commissioner further finds that the penalty of a reprimand was appropriate.

The relevant facts are uncontested. The Borough of East Newark is a Type I school district in which all Board members are appointed by the Mayor of the Borough. The former Mayor appointed appellant to the Board in March 2019, and she became the Board president in May 2020. While serving as a Board member, appellant was employed by the Borough in various positions. On July 20, 2020, appellant voted to approve a shared services agreement between the Board and the Borough, requiring the Board to pay the Borough for lawn care, snow removal, transportation, and fuel services. At the time of her vote, appellant was employed by the Borough part-time as its Chief Financial Officer and a new Mayor had taken office.

On December 8, 2020, a Board member filed a complaint with the Commission alleging, among other things, that appellant violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) when she voted to approve the shared services agreement.[1] The Commission found probable cause to credit the allegation and transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for a contested hearing. At the conclusion of the hearing, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) concluded that appellant had not violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) or any other provision of the School Ethics Act and dismissed the complaint.

In its April 25, 2023, decision, the Commission adopted the ALJ's credibility determinations, findings of fact, and the majority of the ALJ's conclusions of law and recommendation to dismiss numerous other alleged violations of the School Ethics Act not at issue on appeal. However, the Commission rejected the ALJ's conclusion that appellant did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) when she voted to approve the shared services agreement. Instead, the Commission found that appellant's "affirmative vote, in and of itself, constituted action in her official capacity in a matter where she . . . had a direct or indirect financial involvement that might reasonably be expected to impair her objectivity." In the Matter of Brigite Goncalves, SEC Docket No. C81-20, SEC Decision (April 25, 2023), at 6-7. As for the appropriate penalty, the Commission recommended a reprimand.

On appeal, appellant contends that she did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) by voting to approve the shared services agreement because her part-time Borough salary did not constitute a financial involvement that might reasonably be expected to impair her objectivity. She asserts that as Chief Financial Officer, she performed day-to-day bookkeeping and accounting functions that did not present a conflict of interest with her role on the Board. In addition, she argues that no reasonable observer in the Borough could have perceived that her employment impaired her objectivity because they would have known about friction between appellant and the new Mayor's administration and her lack of influence over them. She further contends that even if the Commissioner concludes that she violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c), no penalty should be imposed because the violation was de minimis and she is no longer a Board member.

[1] Because they are not challenged on appeal, the other allegations in the complaint that were dismissed are not discussed herein.

In reply, the Commission contends that its decision was reasonable and adequately supported by the record. Citing In the Matter of Carvalho, Neron and Nina, Elizabeth Board of Education, Union County, and In the Matter of Nina, Carvalho, Neron and Rodriguez, Elizabeth Board of Education, Union County, (Consolidated), Commissioner Decision No. 168-18A (June 1, 2018), it asserts that a reasonable member of the public could conclude that appellant's objectivity would be impaired when casting a vote which would benefit her employer. The Commission further asserts that an actual conflict of interest need not exist for a violation to occur and that the recommended penalty of reprimand is consistent with past precedent.

In adjudicating appeals from decisions of the Commission, the Commissioner must "ascertain whether the decision is supported by sufficient credible evidence in the record and shall not disturb the decision unless the appellant has demonstrated that [the Commission] acted in a manner that was arbitrary, capricious, or contrary to law." N.J.A.C. 6A:4-4.1(a). Upon a comprehensive review of the record, the Commissioner finds that the Commission's decision is supported by sufficient credible evidence, and that appellant has not established that the Commission acted in a manner that was arbitrary, capricious, or contrary to law.

When enacting the School Ethics Act, the Legislature declared that "it is essential that the conduct of members of local boards of education . . . hold the respect and confidence of the people. These board members . . . must avoid conduct which is in violation of their public trust or which creates a justifiable impression among the public that such trust is being violated." N.J.S.A. 18A:12-22(a). In furtherance of that important goal, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) states, in relevant part: "No school official shall act in his official capacity in any matter where he . . . has a direct or indirect financial involvement that might reasonably be expected to impair his objectivity or independence of judgment."

Initially, appellant's contention that her part-time employment with the Borough does not establish a financial involvement that can reasonably be expected to impair her objectivity under N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) is undermined by past precedent. The fact that she worked part-time is not dispositive. "A small financial interest – or no financial interest at all – can nevertheless constitute direct or indirect financial involvement that might reasonably be expected to impair a Board member's objectivity or independence of judgment." In the Matter of Monteiro, Jr., Elizabeth Board of Education, Union County, Commissioner Decision No. 94-15SEC (March 16, 2015), at 3. Thus, although she did not earn a full-time salary, her employment with the Borough nonetheless constituted a financial involvement that could reasonably be expected to impair her objectivity. See also SEC Public Advisory Opinion A01-19 (March 27, 2019) (advising that Board members employed by the City would violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) by voting on a potential land transfer proposed by the City as it would "appear that they were acting in a matter in which they had a direct or indirect financial involvement that might reasonably be expected to impair their objectivity or independence of judgment").

Appellant's attempt to distinguish Carvalho, relied upon by the Commission, is unpersuasive. In Carvalho at 5-6, the Commissioner held that respondent Board members violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) when they simultaneously worked for the City of Elizabeth and voted to appoint a City Councilman to the position of Assistant Superintendent. The Commissioner reasoned that the respondents' employment with the City "could reasonably be expected to impair their objectivity or independence of judgment because they were voting for their employer" and "their vote . . . created the perception that they may not be objective." Ibid. The fact that the nature of the vote in Carvalho differed as it involved appointment of an Assistant Superintendent as opposed to the approval of a shared services agreement does not render it inapplicable to the matter at hand. In both cases, the Board members' votes were cast in their employers' favor. Here, under the agreement's terms, the Borough was slated to receive payments from the Board. Consequently, appellant's vote in favor of the agreement while simultaneously employed by the Borough created the perception that she might not be acting objectively or independently.

Appellant further contends that her vote did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) because: (1) her duties as Chief Financial Officer involved ministerial functions such as bookkeeping and accounting; (2) she did not advise or hold influence over the new Mayor or Borough Council regarding policy decisions or any matters related to the school district; and (3) the Borough never adopted the shared services agreement for the school year in question although similar agreements had been adopted in prior years. Each of these contentions is unavailing. As explained in Carvalho, the pertinent inquiry is whether appellant's vote in favor of the shared services agreement with the Borough could create the perception among members of the public that the employer-employee relationship might impair her objectivity or independent judgment. The Commissioner finds that a reasonable member of the public could perceive that appellant, due to her employment with the Borough, might be more inclined to vote in favor of the shared services agreement with the Borough even if its adoption was not in the Board's best interest. Appellant's actual duties, her actual influence over the new Mayor or Borough Council, and whether the Borough ultimately adopted the shared services agreement are irrelevant to this inquiry. See, generally, Friends Retirement Concepts

v. Bd. of Educ. of Borough of Somerville, 356 N.J. Super. 203, 215 (Law Div. 2002) (discussing a violation of the School Ethics Act and explaining that "[a]n actual conflict of interest is not the decisive factor . . . but rather whether there is a potential for conflict").

Citing Mayer v. Berrios, SEC Docket No. C03-23, SEC Decision on Motion to Dismiss (April 25, 2023), appellant also contends that because the Borough is a very small community, reasonable community members were surely aware that she lacked influence over the new Mayor and Borough Council due to an ongoing rift between them. Therefore, they could not have perceived that the acrimonious employer-employee relationship could have resulted in the impairment of appellant's objectivity or judgment when voting on the shared services agreement. The Commissioner finds that Mayer, which is both factually and legally distinguishable from the present matter and does not involve a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c), fails to support appellant's position. Moreover, there is no factual or legal basis to support appellant's assertion that a reasonable Borough resident would have likely been aware of an alleged political rift between appellant and Borough officials merely because the Borough is a very small community of several thousand residents. On the contrary, a reasonable resident of the Borough—regardless of its size—could justifiably believe that appellant's objectivity was impaired due to her employment status when she voted to approve the shared services agreement and that the public trust had been violated. This conclusion is consistent with the express legislative intent of the School Ethics Act. See N.J.S.A. 18A:12-22(a) ("[B]oard members . . . must avoid conduct which is in violation of their public trust or which creates a justifiable impression among the public that such trust is being violated.").

Finally, the Commissioner concurs with the Commission that the least severe penalty, a reprimand, is appropriate. Appellant's vote in favor of the shared services agreement—given her employment status with the Borough—resembles that of the respondents in Carvalho, who were also reprimanded for casting votes in favor of their employer. In addition, as was true in Carvalho, the record lacks evidence of "political cronyism or any other aggravating factor." In the Matter of Brigite Goncalves, SEC Docket No. C81-20, SEC Decision (April 25, 2023), at 8-9 (citing Carvalho at 5-6). Contrary to appellant's assertion, her violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) was not de minimis and the fact that she is no longer a Board member does not negate her past actions or otherwise exonerate her from receiving a penalty.

Accordingly, appellant is hereby reprimanded as a school board member found to have violated the School Ethics Act.

I/M/O Brigite Goncalves,
East Newark Board of Education, Hudson County

I. Procedural History

The above-captioned matter arises from a Complaint that was filed on December 8, 2020, by Carla Fernandes (Complainant), alleging that Brigite Goncalves (Respondent), a member of the East Newark Board of Education (Board), violated the School Ethics Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-21 et seq. More specifically, the Complaint averred that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(a), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d), as well as N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f) of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members (Code) in Counts 1-4.

At its meeting on March 23, 2021, the Commission adopted a decision finding that the alleged violations of the Act that occurred prior to June 11, 2020, were untimely filed[1]; granting the Motion to Dismiss as to Count 1, and as to the alleged violations of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(a) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d) in Count 3 and Count 4; denying the Motion to Dismiss as to the alleged violations of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c), and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f) in Count 3 (but only for the actions that occurred on June 15, 2020, and June 30, 2020); and denying the Motion to Dismiss as to the alleged violations of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c), and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f) in Count 4 (but only for the conduct that occurred on July 20, 2020). The Commission also directed Respondent to file an Answer to Complaint (Answer) for the remaining allegations, which she did on April 1, 2021.

Thereafter, and at its meeting on May 25, 2021, the Commission adopted a decision finding probable cause for all of the remaining allegations in the Complaint. Based on its finding of probable cause, the Commission voted to transmit the within matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for a hearing and, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:28-10.7(b), the attorney for the Commission (Petitioner) was charged with prosecuting the allegations in the Complaint which the Commission found probable cause to credit.

At the OAL, the contested matter was assigned to the Honorable Jude-Anthony Tiscornia, Administrative Law Judge (ALJ Tiscornia). Initial Decision at 1. On September 29, 2021, Respondent filed a motion for summary decision, and Petitioner filed a cross-motion on October 19, 2021. Id. at 2. On January 31, 2022, ALJ Tiscornia granted Respondent's motion for summary decision in part, and ordered "that any charge or allegation set forth in the [C]omplaint that pertains to any event or any of [R]espondent's actions that transpired prior to June 11, 2020, be dismissed, as any such event would have occurred more than 180 days prior to the filing of the [C]omplaint on December 8, 2020." Id. With the denial of the balance of Respondent's motion for summary decisions, as well as Petitioner's cross-motion, the matter was heard on October 13, 2022, via Zoom. Id. On January 3, 2023, the parties' final submissions were received by ALJ Tiscornia and, thereafter, the record closed. Id.

On February 15, 2023, ALJ Tiscornia issued an Initial Decision detailing his findings of fact and legal conclusions, and the Commission acknowledged receipt of same; therefore, the forty-five (45) day statutory period for the Commission to issue a Final Decision was April 3, 2023.[2] Prior to April 3, 2023, the Commission requested a forty-five (45) day extension of time to issue its final decision so as to provide the Commission, which only meets monthly, with the opportunity to receive and review the full record. Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c) and N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.8, and for good cause shown, the Commission was granted an extension until May 18, 2023.

At its regularly scheduled meeting on March 21, 2023, the Commission considered the full record in this matter. Subsequently, and at its regularly scheduled meeting on April 25, 2023, and for the reasons more fully detailed below, the Commission voted to adopt ALJ Tiscornia's credibility determinations; adopt ALJ Tiscornia's findings of fact; adopt the legal conclusion that Respondent did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c), and/or N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f) on June 15, 2020 (Count 3); adopt the legal conclusion that Respondent did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c), and/or N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f) on June 30, 2020 (Count 3); adopt the legal conclusion that Respondent did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b) and/or N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f) on July 20, 2020[3] (Count 4); but to reject the legal conclusion that Respondent did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) on July 20, 2020 (Count 4). Based on its determination that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) when she voted to approve a shared services agreement with her employer, the Commission also voted to recommend a penalty of reprimand.

II. Remaining Allegations in the Complaint

By way of background, Complainant states that the Board is a Type I school district, and its members are appointed by the Mayor of the Borough of East Newark (Borough). Respondent was appointed to the Board on or about March 11, 2019, and has served as its Board President since May 18, 2020. In addition, from approximately November 10, 2005, until July 31, 2020, Respondent was employed by the Borough in some capacity. While employed by the Borough, Respondent most recently served as the Chief Financial Officer (CFO), and previously served as Treasurer, Administrative Assistant, and Qualified Purchasing Agent. As the CFO, Complainant submits that Respondent "had a fiduciary responsibility towards the Borough."

[2] Forty-five (45) days after February 15, 2023, was, technically, Saturday, April 1, 2023; by rule, and because April 1, 2023, was a Saturday, the deadline was extended until the next business day, which was Monday, April 3, 2023.

With the above in mind, and in Count 3, Complainant states that, on or about March 2, 2020, Respondent "voted in favor of a resolution, declaring it necessary to issue school bonds in the amount of $2,041,350 for certain capital improvement projects and requiring the resolution to be delivered to the Board of School Estimate [(BSE)] and the Borough." Complainant asserts that, despite being in charge of the Borough's finances (as the Borough CFO), Respondent did not recuse herself from the vote. In addition, on or about June 15, 2020, Respondent appointed herself and another Board member (Joanna Lopez) to the BSE, despite the fact that she (Respondent) is the Borough CFO. Complainant further contends that, on or about June 30, 2020, Respondent "participated in the [BSE] meeting as the sole [Board] representative (Ms. Lopez was absent), and voted with the other [BSE] members present, in favor of a resolution determining that the Borough should issue school bonds and school promissory notes in the amount of $2,041,350 to finance the [Board's] capital improvement projects." Based on these facts, Complainant contends Respondent has violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c), and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f) "continuously ... including on or about ... June 15, 2020, and June 30, 2020[,] in that she cannot properly carry out the public duties of her [Board] office without being prejudiced by or having her independent judgment impaired by her private interests and fiduciary duties as a Borough employee and her duties and responsibilities as a member of the [BSE]."

In Count 4, Complainant states that on or about July 20, 2020, Respondent voted to approve a "Shared Services Agreement between the [Board] and the Borough, which requires the [Board] to make payments to the Borough for lawn care/snow removal, transportation, and fuel." Complainant further states, "[d]espite being the Borough CFO, in charge of the Borough's finances including billing/invoices," Respondent did not recuse herself from these votes. Based on these facts, Complainant asserts Respondent has violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c), and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f) "continuously ... including on or about July 20, 2020 in that she cannot properly carry out the public duties of her [Board] office without being prejudiced by or having her independent judgment impaired by her private interests and fiduciary duties as a Borough employee."

III. Initial Decision

In the Initial Decision, ALJ Tiscornia summarized the remaining issue in dispute as whether "there is a conflict between [R]espondent acting in her capacity as a [Board] member and simultaneously being employed as chief financial officer (CFO) for the Borough of East Newark." Id. at 2.

ALJ Tiscornia next summarized the testimony offered by Complainant, the Board President; Kevin Harris (Harris), the Borough clerk; and Respondent. Id. at 3-8. Although ALJ Tiscornia found the testimony of Harris and Respondent to be credible, he found "the whole" of Complainant's testimony to be not credible. Id. More specifically, despite knowing Respondent "for over fifteen years," during which Respondent had almost always served as the CFO of East Newark, Complainant testified "she only came to know of [Respondent's] employment with the Borough through a chance encounter with her at Borough Hall." Id. at 5. Per ALJ Tiscornia, "I find this testimony to be not credible." Id. In addition, Complainant testified that Respondent "publicly disclosed her employment with the Borough via her annual personal financial-disclosure statement," but also testified she "failed to publicly disclose her employment with the Borough." Id. As to this testimony, ALJ Tiscornia stated, "I find this testimony to be contradictory and, therefore, not credible. Id. Finally, ALJ Tiscornia found that Complainant "failed to articulate exactly how" Respondent's actions violated the cited provisions of the Act, but instead "continued to assert that she 'felt' as though [Respondent] was in violation and filed the ethics complaint based on this sentiment." Id. at 5-6. Although she "testified that her conviction was supported by advice given her by an attorney," Complainant "refused to provide the name of the attorney." Id. at 6. As such, ALJ Tiscornia also found "this testimony to be not credible." Id. In summary, ALJ Tiscornia stated, "[t]he sum of [Complainant's] non-credible testimony and the clandestine attorney consultation wherein [she] was advised to pursue the ethics complaint renders the whole of [Complainant's] testimony not credible. Id.

In his review, and with the dismissal of all other untimely claims, ALJ Tiscornia noted that the following three events remain: (1) on June 15, 2022, Respondent, as Board President, appointed herself to the BSE; (2) on July 20, 2020,[4] Respondent voted as a Board member to approve a shared services agreement with the Borough; and (3) on June 30, 2020, she voted as a member of the BSE to authorize the issuance of bonds and notes to finance District "capital improvement projects" (that she had also voted to support in her capacity as a Board member). Id. at 8.

As to these remaining events, ALJ Tiscornia issued the following findings of fact: Respondent was appointed to the Board in 2019, and began serving as President in May 2020. Id. at 9. As a Type I school district, all Board members are appointed by the mayor of the Borough of East Newark. Id. During her tenure as a Board member, Respondent was also employed part-time by the Borough as its CFO. Id.

If/when the Board determines that school bonds should be sold to raise money for a capital project, the Board must pass a resolution determining that it is necessary to sell those bonds, and then deliver a statement of the amount of money necessary for the capital project. Id. This statement is then reviewed by the Borough's BSE. Id. The BSE consists of five members: the mayor, two members of Borough Council, and two members of the Board who are appointed by the Board President. Id.

On June 15, 2020, while serving as Board President, Respondent appointed herself and one other member of the Board to the Borough's BSE. Id. At the June 30, 2020, BSE meeting, Goncalves voted in favor of a resolution "fixing and determining the amount of school bonds to be issued by the Borough of East Newark to finance various improvements to the East Newark Public School." Id.

Based on the findings of fact detailed above, ALJ Tiscornia concludes that N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(a) does not preclude an individual employed by a municipality from serving on the Board, and Complainant did not offer any evidence to support such an assertion. Id. at 9-10.

Regarding the alleged violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b), Complainant "offered no evidence or testimony that [Respondent], through her status as a Board member, derived any unwarranted privileges, advantages or employment for herself or anyone else"; Complainant did not offer any evidence or testimony to show that Respondent received any compensation in appointing herself to the BSE, and Respondent testified it was "customary" for the Board President to appoint themselves to the BSE; Respondent's "self-appointment appears to be derived from mundane necessity more than illicit self-enrichment"; there is no "allegation that [Respondent] could possibly inure a personal benefit from voting in favor of issuing bonds to fund maintenance of existing school structures; and the "only conceivable benefit derived from the proper maintenance of the buildings is one inured to the general public ... for having their school facilities well maintained." Id. at 10. For these reasons, ALJ Tiscornia concludes that Complainant failed to show how Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b). Id.

As for the stated violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c), ALJ Tiscornia found that Complainant failed "to articulate how [Respondent's] objectivity and/or independence of judgment was impaired." Id. at 11. Although, through her testimony, Complainant inferred that "the interests of the Borough are contrary to those of the Board," "no sound evidence of such a conflict has been presented to support [Complainant's] own opinion and conjecture. Id. As a result, ALJ Tiscornia concludes that Complainant failed to show how Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c). Id.

Regarding the purported violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d), ALJ Tiscornia found that Complainant failed to articulate how Respondent's independence of judgment as a Board member was impaired due to her simultaneous employment as the CFO of East Newark. Id. Again, although her testimony inferred that the interests of the Borough are contrary to those of the Board, "no sound evidence of such a conflict has been presented to support [Complainant's] own opinion and conjecture." Id. Consequently, ALJ Tiscornia concludes that Complainant failed to show how Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d). Id. at 12.

Finally, and as for the alleged violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f), Complainant has failed to articulate how Respondent "surrendered her independent judgment to special-interest or partisan political groups" and, in fact, "the whole of the testimony presented by [Complainant] did not even mention special-interest groups or partisan politics, whatsoever." Id. Therefore, ALJ Tiscornia concludes that Complainant failed to show how Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f). Id.

IV. Exceptions

The Initial Decision was sent to the parties on February 15, 2023, and stated, in relevant part, "Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the" Commission. N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4(a). As of February 28, 2023,[5] which was thirteen (13) days after the Initial Decision was mailed to the parties, neither Petitioner nor Respondent filed exceptions and/or requested an extension to do so.

[5] Thirteen days after February 6, 2023, was, technically, Sunday, February 19, 2023; by rule, and because February 19, 2023, was a Sunday, and February 20, 2023, was a holiday, the deadline was extended until the next business day, which was Tuesday, February 21, 2023.

V. Analysis

Following receipt of an initial decision, the Commission "may enter an order or a final decision adopting, rejecting, or modifying" it. N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6(a). The Commission is also authorized to "reject or modify conclusions of law, interpretations of agency policy, or findings of fact not relating to issues of credibility of lay witness testimony," but "may not reject or modify any finding of fact as to issues of credibility of lay witness testimony unless it first determines from a review of a record that the findings are arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable, or are not supported by sufficient, competent, and credible evidence in the record." N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6(b); N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6 (c).

As an initial matter, and given the limited circumstances in which it may reject or modify a finding(s) of fact as to issues of credibility, the Commission finds an insufficient basis upon which to reject or modify the credibility determinations set forth in the Initial Decision, particularly those relating to Complainant's credibility. Moreover, and following a careful and independent review of the facts and evidence set forth in the record, the Commission adopts ALJ Tiscornia's findings of fact; adopts the legal conclusion that Respondent did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c), and/or N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f) on June 15, 2020 (Count 3), when she appointed herself to serve on the Board of School Estimate (BSE); adopts the legal conclusion that Respondent did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c), and/or N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f) on June 30, 2020 (Count 3), when, in her capacity as a member of the BSE, she voted to authorize the issuance of bonds; adopts the legal conclusion that Respondent did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b) and/or N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f) on July 20, 2020 (Count 4), when she voted to approve a shared services agreement between the Board and her employer; but rejects the legal conclusion that Respondent did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) on July 20, 2020, when she voted to approve a shared services agreement between the Board and her employer.

With regard to Respondent's self-appointment to the BSE on June 15, 2020 (Count 3), and her vote (on the BSE) to authorize the issuance of bonds on June 30, 2020 (Count 3), the Commission agrees with ALJ Tiscornia that, based on the record, there is insufficient factual evidence that either action constituted use or attempted use of her official position to secure an unwarranted privilege, advantage, or employment for herself, a member of her immediate family, or an "other" (N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b)); either constituted action in her official capacity in a matter where she, or a member of her immediate family, had a direct or indirect financial involvement that might reasonably be expected to impair her objectivity, or in a matter in which she had a personal involvement that created some benefit to her or to a member of her immediate family (N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c)); and/or either constituted action on behalf of, or at the request of, a special interest group or persons organized and voluntarily united in opinion and who adhere to a particular political party or cause, or use of the schools in order to acquire some benefit for herself, a member of her immediate family, or a friend (N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f)).

Although the Commission agrees that the record is equally devoid of sufficient factual evidence that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b) and/or N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f) when, in her capacity as a member of the Board, she voted to approve a shared services agreement between the Board and her employer (the Borough), the Commission finds that her affirmative vote, in and of itself, constituted action in her official capacity in a matter where she, or a member of her immediate family, had a direct or indirect financial involvement that might reasonably be expected to impair her objectivity (N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c)). Of importance, Respondent does not dispute the fact that, while she was employed by the Borough, she voted (in her official capacity as a Board member) in favor of the shared services agreement between the Board and the Borough. See Answer to Complaint, ¶ 12.

The Commission's determination in this regard is guided by its past precedent.[6] More specifically, in I/M/O Carvalho, Neron, and Nina, Elizabeth Board of Education, Union County (Docket No. C10-16) and I/M/O Nina, Carvalho, Neron, and Rodriguez, Elizabeth Board of Education, Union County (Docket No. C11-16) (Consolidated), Respondents Carvalho, Nina, and Neron, all of whom were employed by the City of Elizabeth, were, among other things, alleged to have violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) when, in their capacity as members of the Board, they voted to approve the appointment of an individual, who also served as a sitting Councilman on the governing body of their employer (the City of Elizabeth), to serve as an administrator in the Elizabeth Public Schools District.

In finding a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c), the Commission stated, in relevant part:

> Based on the findings of fact [issued by the Administrative Law Judge], the Commission adopts the legal conclusion that by voting to appoint ... a sitting Councilman for the City (their employer), to the position of Assistant Superintendent while they were employed by the City, Carvalho, Nina, and Neron had a direct or indirect financial involvement in the vote, i.e., their employment, that might reasonably be expected to impair their objectivity or independence of judgment in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c). Because the vote to appoint [the Councilman] was tantamount to a vote for their employer, a reasonable member of the public could conclude that this employee-employer relationship impaired their objectivity and independence of judgment.
> Id. at 3.

In affirming the Commission's decision finding a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c), the Commissioner of Education found:

> Upon a comprehensive review of the record, the Commissioner finds that the decision of the Commission as to a determination of a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) is supported by sufficient credible evidence, and that the respondents have not established that the Commission's decision is arbitrary, capricious or contrary to law. N.J.A.C. 6A:4-4.1(a). Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c), a school official may not act in a matter in which he or she "has a direct or indirect financial involvement that might reasonably be expected to impair his [or her] objectivity or independence of judgment." Given that respondents worked for the City of Elizabeth and Cuesta was a sitting City councilman, respondents had > direct or indirect involvement that could reasonably be expected to impair their objectivity or independence of judgment because they were voting for their employer. As such, for the reasons expressed in the Commission's comprehensive decision, the respondents' conduct violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c).

[6] Although there are several public advisory opinions which discuss whether a school official would violate the Act if they were involved in matters related to their employer (including discussions and/or votes), namely Advisory Opinion A01-19, Advisory Opinion A12-21, Advisory Opinion A13-21, they were either issued and/or made public after the above-captioned matter was filed with the Commission on December 8, 2020.

See I/M/O Carvalho, Neron, and Nina, Elizabeth Board of Education, Union County (Docket No. C10-16) and I/M/O Nina, Carvalho, Neron, and Rodriguez, Elizabeth Board of Education, Union County (Agency Docket No. 5-9/17A) (Consolidated) at 5-6.

Based on its precedent in this area, and because Respondent voted to approve a shared services agreement between the Board and the Borough (her employer), at a time when she was serving as both a member of the Board and as an active employee of the Borough, the Commission finds that the record supports a finding that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c).

VI. Decision

For the aforementioned reasons, the Commission adopts ALJ Tiscornia's credibility determinations; adopts ALJ Tiscornia's findings of fact; adopts the legal conclusion that Respondent did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c), and/or N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f) on June 15, 2020 (Count 3); adopts the legal conclusion that Respondent did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c), and/or N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f) on June 30, 2020 (Count 3); adopts the legal conclusion that Respondent did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b) and/or N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f) on July 20, 2020 (Count 4); but rejects the legal conclusion that Respondent did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) on July 20, 2020 (Count 4).

VII. Penalty

Having found that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c), and following its review of the record, the Commission recommends a penalty of reprimand, the lowest form of sanction/penalty that can be imposed for a violation of the Act. Although, following its finding of a violation in I/M/O Carvalho, Neron, and Nina, Elizabeth Board of Education, Union County (Docket No. C10-16) and I/M/O Nina, Carvalho, Neron, and Rodriguez, Elizabeth Board of Education, Union County (Docket No. C11-16) (Consolidated), the Commission recommended a penalty of censure, the Commissioner of Education modified the recommended penalty to reprimand. In modifying the penalty, the Commissioner of Education stated, in pertinent part:

> ... Although the conflict of interest respondents had in voting for [the Councilman] despite their employment with the City was enough to warrant a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c), it does not rise to the same level of political cronyism that the Commission was concerned with in [other matters], which resulted in the increased sanction from reprimand to censure. Therefore, the Commissioner finds that a reprimand is the appropriate penalty for [R]espondents in this matter.

See I/M/O Carvalho, Neron, and Nina, Elizabeth Board of Education, Union County (Docket No. C10-16) and I/M/O Nina, Carvalho, Neron, and Rodriguez, Elizabeth Board of Education, Union County (Agency Docket No. 5-9/17A) (Consolidated) at 7. Accordingly, and without any evidence of political cronyism or any other aggravating factor, the Commission recommends that Respondent be reprimanded for having violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c).

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c), this decision shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of Education (Commissioner) for review of the Commission's recommended sanction. Parties may either: 1) file exceptions to the recommended sanction; 2) file an appeal of the Commission's findings of violations of the Act; or 3) file both exceptions to the recommended sanction and an appeal of the Commission's findings of violations of the Act.

Parties taking exception to the recommended sanctions of the Commission but not disputing the Commission's findings of violations may file, within thirteen (13) days from the date the Commission's decision is forwarded to the Commissioner, written exceptions regarding the recommended sanctions to the Commissioner. The forwarding date shall be the mailing date to the parties, as indicated below. Such exceptions must be forwarded to: Commissioner of Education, c/o Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, marked "Attention: Comments on Ethics Commission Sanction," as well as to ControversiesDisputesFilings@doe.nj.gov. A copy of any comments filed must be sent to the Commission (school.ethics@doe.nj.gov) and all other parties.

Parties seeking to appeal the Commission's findings of violations must file an appeal pursuant to the standards set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:4, et seq. within thirty (30) days of the filing date of the decision from which the appeal is taken. The filing date shall be three (3) days after the mailing date to the parties, as indicated below. In such cases, the Commissioner's review of the Commission's recommended sanctions will be deferred and incorporated into the Commissioner's review of the findings of violations on appeal. Where a notice of appeal has been filed on or before the due date for exceptions to the Commission's recommended sanction (thirteen (13) days from the date the decision is mailed by the Commission), exceptions need not be filed by that date, but may be incorporated into the appellant's brief on appeal.

Re: In the Matter of the Certificates of James McMullan, State Board of Examiners Dkt. No. 1920-119, Commissioner Appeal Dkt. No. 4-5/23A

Dear Parties:

I have reviewed the materials filed in connection with appellant James McMullan's Motion to Stay the decision of the State Board of Examiners (Board) issued April 17, 2023 suspending his teaching certificates for two years.

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:4-3.3(a), a motion to stay a Board determination pending resolution of an appeal filed with the Commissioner must first be made to the Board. Here, appellant sought a stay from the Board that was denied on June 8, 2023. Thereafter, appellant was entitled to seek a stay from the Commissioner in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:4-3.1. However, his motion for stay, filed with the Commissioner on July 6, 2023, is procedurally defective.

Motions made to the Commissioner must be accompanied by a brief detailing the nature of the action, the relief sought, and why the movant is entitled to such relief. N.J.A.C. 6A:4-3.1(a). Additionally, they must be accompanied by an affidavit setting forth the underlying factual basis for the motion. N.J.A.C. 6A:4-3.1(c). Appellant's submission, improperly fashioned as a notice to appeal the Board's denial of the stay request, lacks the requisite brief and affidavit. Accordingly, the motion to stay is denied as procedurally defective.

Furthermore, even assuming the motion was not procedurally defective, it must nevertheless be denied on the merits. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:4-4.1(b), a motion for stay is considered an extraordinary remedy that may only be issued upon a finding that appellant has met each prong of the four-pronged standard for the granting of interim relief set forth in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982). Thus, a stay may be granted where necessary to prevent irreparable harm, where the legal right underlying the movant's claim is settled, where there is a likelihood of success on the merits and where the relative hardship to the moving party favors granting such relief. Id. at 132-34.

Upon review of the parties' submissions, I find that appellant has failed to satisfy this standard. Appellant did not submit a brief addressing the Crowe standard and has failed to demonstrate that the legal right underlying his claim is settled. In particular, this prong warrants an evaluation of his underlying claim—that he did not engage in unbecoming conduct warranting a suspension of his teaching certificates. Such an inquiry is intensely fact sensitive, depends on credibility determinations regarding the testimony of the witnesses in each case, and must be viewed in light of various precedents related to the conduct of teachers. For this reason, the Commissioner cannot conclude that appellant has demonstrated that the legal right underlying his claim is settled.

Because all four prongs of the Crowe standard must be met for a stay to be granted, it is not necessary to analyze the remaining prongs. Accordingly, appellant's request for a stay of the State Board of Examiner's Order of Suspension issued April 17, 2023 is hereby DENIED.

Sincerely,

Angelica Allen-McMillan, Ed.D.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

K.S., on behalf of minor child, L.W.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Borough of Mount Ephraim, Camden County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Pro se petitioner appealed the determination of the respondent Board that her minor child was not entitled to a free public education in Mount Ephraim schools during the period from October 1, 2022 through the end of the 2022-2023 school year. The Board contended that L.W. was not residing at the Mount Ephraim address provided by petitioner and sought tuition reimbursement for the period of ineligible attendance.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: at the start of the 2022-2023 school year, K.S. had two children attending school in Mount Ephraim; after an investigation determined that K.S. and her children were not living at the address provided during registration, petitioner withdrew her older child and enrolled him in the school district where the family resides; petitioner subsequently filed a residency petition asserting that her younger child, L.W., was eligible to attend preschool in Mount Ephraim based on an agreement she had reached with L.W.'s paternal grandfather to keep L.W. in his home in Mount Ephraim during the week through the end of the school year; pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(1), in order for L.W. to be eligible to attend school from his grandfather's Mount Ephraim address free of charge, a formal agreement must be in place to show that the grandfather is supporting L.W. gratis, has assumed all personal obligations for L.W. relative to school requirements, and intends to keep and support the child gratuitously for a period of time exceeding the school term. As petitioner failed to show evidence of any such agreement, the ALJ determined that she did not sustain her burden of establishing that she was a domiciliary of Mount Ephraim from October 1, 2022, through the end of the 2022-2023 school year. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that the Board is entitled to reimbursement for the cost of educating L.W., in the sum of $17,227, for the 161 days L.W. attended school during the 2022-2023, school year.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusion and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. Petitioner was directed to reimburse the Board in the amount of $17,227 for tuition costs incurred during the time period that L.W. was ineligible to attend school in Mount Ephraim. The petition of appeal was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

Final Decision

K.S., on behalf of minor child, L.W.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Borough of Mount Ephraim, Camden County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the finding of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) that petitioner failed to sustain her burden of establishing that she was a domiciliary of Mount Ephraim from October 1, 2022, through the end of the 2022-2023 school year. The Commissioner further concurs with the ALJ's findings that L.W.'s paternal grandfather, a resident of Mount Ephraim, was not supporting L.W. gratis as if L.W. was his own child and that L.W. was only temporarily residing with his paternal grandfather for the sole purpose of attending school in Mount Ephraim. L.W. was, therefore, not entitled to a free public education in Mount Ephraim during this time.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b), the Commissioner shall assess tuition against petitioner for the time period during which the minor child was ineligible to attend school in Mount Ephraim. Therefore, respondent is entitled to tuition reimbursement in the amount of $17,227 (161 school days x $107 per pupil tuition rate per day) for the time period from October 1, 2022 through June 15, 2023.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL is adopted as the final decision in this matter. Petitioner is directed to reimburse respondent in the amount of $17,227 for tuition costs incurred during the time period that L.W. was ineligible to attend school in Mount Ephraim. The petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

K.S. ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILD,

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF MOUNT EPHRAIM, CAMDEN COUNTY,

Respondent.

K.S., on behalf of minor child, L.W, petitioner, pro se

Patrick F. Carrigg, Esq., for respondent (Lenox, Socey, Formidoni, Giordano, Lang, Carrigg & Casey, LLC, attorneys)

Record Closed: June 30, 2023 Decided: July 6, 2023

BEFORE KATHLEEN M. CALEMMO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner K.S., the mother of minor child L.W., appeals the determination by the respondent Board of Education (Board) of the Borough of Mount Ephraim, Camden County (Mt. Ephraim) that L.W., a preschool student, could not attend preschool within the Mount Ephraim Public School District (District) because he did not reside in Mount Ephraim. The Board alleged that the minor child L.W. was not residing at the address provided by the petitioner and seeks repayment of tuition from October 1, 2022, until the last day of the 2022-2023 school year. At issue is whether L.W. was entitled to be enrolled in the district for purposes of receiving a thorough and efficient public education free of charge for the 2022-2023 school year, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On February 13, 2023, after a hearing, the Board voted and determined that L.W. was ineligible to attend preschool in the District. On March 7, 2023, K.S. filed a pro se residency appeal. On March 24, 2023, the Board filed an answer and counter petition for an order assessing tuition. The Department of Education Office of Controversies and Disputes transmitted this matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) where it was filed on March 28, 2023, as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

The hearing was conducted via ZOOM platform on May 26, 2023. The record closed on June 30, 2023, after receipt of closing summations.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS

The issues in dispute are whether L.W. lived with his parents and brother outside of the geographic area served by District, during the 2022-2023 school year and if so, the amount of tuition owed by petitioner to respondent for the 2022-2023 school year.

It is undisputed and I so FIND that as the start of the 2022-2023, K.S. had two children attending school in District. After an investigation, the District learned that K.S. and her children were not living at the Baird Avenue address in Mount Ephraim. In January 2023, the District informed K.S. of its preliminary determination of ineligibility affecting her children. K.S. requested a hearing before the Board. Prior to the Board meeting on February 13, 2023, K.S. withdrew her older son, C.D., and transferred him to the school district where the family resides.

The Board met on February 13, 2023. K.S. presented her appeal in executive session. Her justification for keeping L.W. in District was because her new school district did not offer a preschool program. After the hearing in executive session, the Board voted that L.W. as a non-resident was not eligible to attend preschool in the District.

K.S. appealed the Board's determination on the grounds that she reached an agreement with L.W.'s paternal grandfather, who resides at the Baird Avenue address in Mount Ephraim, to keep L.W. during the week, until the end of the school year. (R-2.)

At the hearing, respondent presented testimony from Superintendent, Michael Hunter; K.S. testified on behalf of petitioners. The following is not a verbatim recitation of the testimony but a summary of the testimonial and documentary evidence that I found relevant to the above issues.

TESTIMONY

Michael Hunter is the Superintendent and the Principal of the Middle School. At the beginning of the 2022-2023 school year, the District performed a residency audit for all students enrolled in kindergarten, third grade, and sixth grade. As K.S.'s older son, C.D., was enrolled in sixth grade in the Middle School, he was part of the audit. Although K.S. provided documentation as to an address in Mount Ephraim, there were other indications that C.D. was not residing at the address provided.

As a result, Mr. Hunter retained Reese Investigations to determine if C.D. was residing within the District. (R-3.) As a result of the investigation, Mr. Hunter learned that K.S. signed a lease on September 22, 2022, for an apartment in Oaklyn[1], where she resided with her children. The investigator photographed K.S. and her two sons leaving the Collingswood apartment at 7:36 a.m. and entering her vehicle. The two boys were wearing backpacks. (R-3.)

In 2019, Mount Ephraim was awarded a preschool expansion grant to institute a full day program. Due to the popularity of the program, admission is by lottery based on registration requirements. The preschool program is only open to Mount Ephraim residents; it is not available by tuition or through a school choice voucher. K.S.'s younger son, L.W., attended the preschool program.

K.S. voluntarily withdrew C.D. from the District. The District completed the transfer card for C.D.'s new school which showed that C.D. was no longer a resident of Mount Ephraim. As to her younger son, L.W., K.S. advised Mr. Hunter that she was not withdrawing him because she reached an agreement with Rich, L.W.'s paternal grandfather, who agreed to keep L.W. during the week so he could attend school. (R-2.)

There was no dispute that K.S. was living outside of Mount Ephraim. The original address used at the start of the school year was the address for Rich, L.W.'s paternal grandfather.

K.S. testified on her own behalf. K.S.'s resides with L.W.'s father, but they are not married. Her older son C.D. must live with her pursuant to a custody agreement.

Rich resides in Mount Ephraim. After the Board's decision, Rich agreed to keep L.W. so he could finish out the school year in his preschool program. K.S. acknowledged that despite the living arrangement, L.W. visits his parents and brother, and sleeps overnight. The arrangement with Rich is only temporary until the end of the school year.

After consideration of the testimony and the documents in evidence, I FIND the following as additional FACTS:

After moving outside the District, K.S. wanted L.W. to continue in the preschool program in Mount Ephraim because there was no preschool option in her new school district. After learning that non-residents were not eligible to attend the preschool program, K.S. entered into an agreement with Rich, L.W.'s grandfather. Because Rich was a Mount Ephraim resident, K.S. believed L.W. could live with Rich during the week until the end of the school year to retain his eligibility.

L.W.'s parents remained financially responsible for their son's health and welfare.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, provides that public schools shall be free to persons over five and under twenty years of age who are "domiciled within the school district." See, V.R. ex rel A.R. v. Hamburg Bd. of Educ., 2 N.J.A.R. 283, 287 (1980), aff'd, State Bd., 1981 S.L.D. 1533, rev'd on other grounds sub nom., Rabinowitz v. N.J. State Bd. of Educ., 550 F. Supp. 481 (D.N.J. 1982) (New Jersey requires local domicile, as opposed to mere residence, for a student to receive a free education). Although L.W. was not of school age, he was receiving a free education at a public-school preschool program only open to registered children domiciled within the school district.

A person who is domiciled within a school district may attend its public schools free of charge. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a). A person may have many residences but only one domicile, and a child's domicile is normally that of his or her parents. Somerville Bd. of Educ. v. Manville Bd. of Educ., 332 N.J. Super. 6, 12 (App. Div. 2000), aff'd, 167 N.J. 55 (2001). The domicile of a person is the place where he has his true, fixed, permanent home and principal establishment, and to which whenever he is absent, he has the intention of returning, and from which he has no present intention of moving. In re Unanue, 255 N.J. Super. 362, 374 (Law Div. 1991), aff'd, 311 N.J. Super. 589 (App. Div.), certif. denied, 157 N.J. 541 (1998), cert. denied, 526 U.S. 1051 (1999).

The acts, statements and conduct of the individual, as viewed in the light of all the circumstances, determine a person's true intent. Collins v. Yancey, 55 N.J. Super. 514, 521 (Law Div. 1959). Petitioner, K.S., has the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence that she meets the residency eligibility requirements. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2).

The domicile of an unemancipated child is the domicile of the parent, custodian, or guardian. P.B.K. ex rel. minor child E.Y. v. Bd. of Educ. of Tenafly, 343 N.J. Super. 419, 427 (App. Div. 2001). Thus, a child would routinely attend school in the district where his or her parents live. There is no dispute that L.W.'s parents live outside the geographic boundaries of the District.

To avoid the issue of L.W.'s domicile, K.S. testified that Rich, L.W.'s paternal grandfather, agreed to keep him at his house so L.W. could finish preschool in Mount Ephraim. K.S.'s testified that she made an agreement with Rich to keep L.W. in preschool in Mount Ephraim. She offered no other terms of the agreement. For such an agreement to be valid, K.S. must meet the requirements set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(1):

> Any person who is kept in the home of another person domiciled within the school district and is supported by such other person gratis as if he were such other person's own child, upon filing by such other person with the secretary of the board of education of the district, is so required by the board, a sworn statement that he is domicile within the district and is supporting the child gratis and will assume all personal obligations for the child relative to school requirements and that he intends so to keep and support the child gratuitously for a longer time that merely through the school term. . . . and upon filing by the child's parent . . . with the secretary of the board of education a sworn statement that he is not capable of supporting or providing care for the child due to a family or economic hardship and that the child is not residing with the resident of the district solely for the purpose of receiving a free public education within the district.

The above statute provides affirmative obligations for both Rich and K.S. Rich did not testify. K.S. offered no testimony as to her financial arrangement with Rich. She provided no documentary evidence as to the terms of their agreement. Accordingly, I cannot CONCLUDE on the record before me that Rich is supporting L.W. gratis as if L.W. was his own child. I further CONCLUDE that there was no record of any contact by either K.S. or Rich to the Board regarding the financial terms of this agreement or Rich's assumption of all personal obligations for L.W. K.S. testified that she attends parent/teacher conferences and receives emails from the District. As to L.W.'s parents' obligations, there is nothing in the record to show that they lack the financial means to provide for the support of their son. Based on the record herein, I CONCLUDE that L.W. is only residing with Rich to receive a free public preschool program in Mount Ephraim, in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(1).

Accordingly, in light of all of the facts and circumstances, I CONCLUDE that L.W. is not entitled to attend the free public preschool program in the District. I CONCLUDE petitioner failed to satisfy the burden of proving that L.W. is domiciled at Baird Avenue. I further CONCLUDE that K.S.'s agreement with Rich must fail because it is a temporary situation to avoid the residency requirement and allow L.W. to attend preschool in the District until the end of the school year.

N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(1) provides that when the evidence does not support the claim of the resident, the resident shall be assessed tuition:

> [F]or the student prorated to the time of the student's ineligible attendance in the school district. Tuition shall be computed on the basis of 1/180 of the total annual per pupil cost to the local district multiplied by the number of days of ineligible attendance and shall be collected in the manner in which orders of the commissioner are enforced.

N.J.A.C. 6A:22-6.3(a) provides that,

> Tuition assessed pursuant to this section shall be calculated on a per-student basis for the period of a student's ineligible enrollment, up to one year, by applicable grade/program category and consistent with the provisions of N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-17.1. The individual student's record of daily attendance shall not affect the calculation.

As set forth above, a school board is entitled to recover tuition from a parent or guardian of a child found ineligible to attend a school in its district. L.W. was not entitled to a free public education in the Mount Ephraim School District because he did not meet eligibility requirements. Annual tuition cost is $19,325, with a per diem cost of $107. Since October 1, 2022, L.W. attended 161 days as a Mt Ephraim student while not being domiciled in Mt. Ephraim. Therefore, petitioners owe tuition to respondent in the amount of $17,227 (161 school days x $107 per pupil tuition rate per day). Therefore, I further CONCLUDE that respondent is entitled to reimbursement from the parents of L.W. for the cost of providing an education to their son, L.W., in the sum of $17,227, for the 161 days L.W. attended school during the 2022-2023, school year.

ORDER

I ORDER that the decision of respondent Board of Education of the Borough of Mount Ephraim determining L.W. ineligible for the free public preschool program in the Mount Ephraim School District during the 2022-2023 school year is AFFIRMED and the pro se residency appeal of petitioners K.S. on behalf of L.W. is DISMISSED.

Further, I ORDER that L.W.'s parents shall be responsible for tuition reimbursement to respondent in the amount of $17,227.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

I. Procedural History

The above-captioned matter arises from a Complaint that was filed with the School Ethics Commission (Commission) on November 29, 2021, by Kelly Ellis-Foster (Complainant), alleging that Salvatore Giordano (Respondent), a member of the Old Bridge Board of Education (Board), violated the School Ethics Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-21 et seq.[1] More specifically, in Count 1, Complaint asserted that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(a) of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members (Code) when he consistently wore his mask improperly and removed his mask when making comments at Board meetings in violation of mask mandates in New Jersey schools. Complaint at 1-2. In Count 2, Complainant averred that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d), and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) of the Code when he, on multiple occasions, sent emails to all Board members expressing his "personal and ideological views"; sent emails to school administrators "making demands and requests to take specific action without direction or consensus of the Board"; and sent an email from his school email account to a parent and members of the State Legislature urging them to take action. Id. at 2-4.

On May 4, 2022, Respondent filed an Answer to the Complaint and also alleged that Complaint is frivolous. On January 11, 2022, Complainant filed a response to the allegation that the Complaint is frivolous.

At a special meeting on February 4, 2022, the Commission adopted a letter decision transmitting the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL). In addition, the Commission voted to reserve its determination on Respondent's allegation that the Complaint is frivolous until after the ruling at the OAL.

[1] On November 29, 2021, Complainant filed a deficient Complaint; however, on December 1, 2021, Complainant cured all defects and filed an Amended Complaint that was deemed compliant with the requirements detailed in N.J.A.C. 6A:28-6.3.

At the OAL, Complainant filed a Second Amended Complaint on June 13, 2022, alleging two additional violations of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c) based on emails Respondent sent to two school employees inquiring as to why they were resigning, and an additional violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(a) for Respondent's refusal to wear a mask and failure to uphold mask requirements.

Following cross-motions for summary decision with a joint statement of facts and joint exhibits, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) issued an Initial Decision on April 3, 2023.

At its meeting on May 23, 2023, the Commission considered the full record in this matter. Thereafter, at its meeting on June 27, 2023, the Commission voted to adopt the Initial Decision's findings of fact, legal conclusion that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e), and the recommended penalty of reprimand.

II. Initial Decision

A. Count 1

By way of background, Complainant has been a member of the Board from January 2015 through January 2018 and from January 2019 through January 2022, holding roles including Board Vice President and Board President. Initial Decision at 5. Respondent has served on the Board from January 2020 to the present. Ibid.

Following the start of the COVID-19 pandemic, the Board adopted a plan entitled "The Path Forward" (Plan) on July 30, 2020, to outline protocols for the 2020-21 school year, and included the requirement that staff, and students wear masks when in a school facility or on a bus. Ibid. The Board then adopted the "Plan for Safe Return to In-Person Instruction and Continuity of Services" on June 29, 2021, which also included a mask mandate. Id. at 6. Following the enactment of Executive Order 251 (EO 251) on August 6, 2021, that included a mask requirement in New Jersey schools, the Board approved the "Road Forward Plan" on August 24, 2021, which referenced the mask requirement in EO 251. Ibid.

It is undisputed that at nine Board meetings between May 11, 2021, and November 23, 2021, Complainant wore his mask below his nose and below his mouth when speaking. Id. at 7-10, 20. At the Board meeting on November 23, 2021, Complainant observed Respondent remove his mask before executive session and twice requested that he wear his mask. *Id.*at 10-11, 20. When Respondent refused to put on a face covering, Complainant left the meeting. Id. at 11 Additionally, at the January 11, 2022, Board meeting, Respondent refused to wear a mask. Id. at 11, 20. When he was told that he would need to wear the mask or leave the meeting, Respondent chose to leave the meeting. Id. at 11.

Complainant alleged that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(a) by failing to comply with the mask mandates as required by District policies and EO 251. The ALJ concluded that Complainant failed to meet her burden that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(a). Initial Decision at 21. The ALJ reasoned that it would be an "expansive interpretation" of the mask mandate to find that wearing a mask below the nose or below the mouth when speaking is a violation. Ibid. Additionally, the ALJ found that the record is devoid of evidence as to what happened after Complainant left the November 23, 2021, meeting, so the record does not establish that Respondent refused to wear a mask in violation of the mask mandate. Ibid. Finally, there is no compelling reason why Respondent's decision to leave the January 11, 2022, meeting would be a violation of the Act. Ibid. Accordingly, the ALJ dismissed Count 1 of the Complaint.[2] Ibid.

B. Count 2

Complainant alleged that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d) when he sent an email on November 19, 2020, to the Superintendent urging that the decision to return the students to remote learning "needs to be reversed." J-1. The ALJ found that Respondent was "advocating for his preferred policy option which does not rise to the level of a violation of the Act." Initial Decision at 22.

On December 7, 2020, Respondent sent an email to the entire Board with the subject "Lockdown Hypocrisy," stating "[t]his is what tyranny looks like," quoting the First Amendment, and including a link to Governor Murphy's twitter page regarding the shutdown of clubs in Paterson. J-2. Complainant alleged that this email constituted a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c) as he was acting in furtherance of a politically partisan group. Initial Decision at 23. The ALJ found the email is Respondent's personal opinion and does not advocate for a politically partisan group and is therefore not a violation of the Act. Ibid.

Complainant alleged that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(a)[3] and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d) when he responded to the Assistant Superintendent on February 13, 2021, regarding plans for reentry to the building, indicating that masks and distancing are unnecessary and should be phased out. J-3. The ALJ found that the email expressed Respondent's personal views and did not direct that the Assistant Superintendent take any action. Initial Decision at 23-24. As such, Complainant failed to demonstrate that this email constituted a violation of the Act. Id. at 24.

On August 9, 2021, in response to an email by a parent regarding masking in schools, Respondent sent an email from his school email address to a State Senator and two State Assemblymen, stating:

> In the totalitarian Executive Order 251 it says under 1.a that mandatory use of masks are not required "when doing so would inhibit the individual's health, such as when the individual is exposed to extreme heat indoors." If parents and school districts can prove, which we can, that masks are dangerous to the health of children then we should be able to fight this, and I expect lawsuits to come

[2] To the extent that the ALJ concluded that EO 251 has the force of law, the Commission does not need to reach that issue, nor does it have jurisdiction over the validity of executive orders.

[3] Complainant did not allege a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(a) with respect to Count 2 in her Complaint; however, as the allegation was raised in her cross-motion for summary decision, the ALJ nevertheless addressed the argument.

> because of this reason. School districts and elected officials need to be more vocal about this especially since executive orders are not even approved by the General Assembly and State Senate which I would personally argue is not a "law." Please feel free to forward this to others as you see necessary. . . (J-5).

Complainant alleged that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) when he sent the August 9, 2021, email. Initial Decision at 27. The ALJ found that the email does not only include Respondent's personal views, but "ends with clear language that plainly encourages action," specifically when Respondent writes "we should be able to fight this" and "[s]chool districts and elected officials need to be more vocal about this." Ibid. The ALJ also noted Respondent encouraged that the email be forwarded to others. Ibid. As such, the ALJ concluded that Complainant demonstrated that this email, from Respondent's school email address, can be interpreted as "an endorsement by the Board both of his personal position, support for lawsuits and a further call to action." Ibid. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that the August 9, 2021, email had the potential to compromise the Board and is therefore a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e).[4] Id. at 27-28.

On September 10, 2021, Respondent sent an email to the full board that supported the passing of another Board member's resolution, but included political rhetoric. J-8. Complainant asserted that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c) due to its political views that were not related to the district or its operation. Initial Decision at 24. The ALJ found that Respondent's advocating of his position on a pending Board resolution was not a violation of the Act. Ibid.

On September 19, 2021, Respondent sent an email to the Board and the Superintendent indicating that if mask mandates do not apply to the Governor, they should not apply to the students and staff, and he included a link to the Governor's twitter page. J-10. Complainant alleged that this action violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c) because the email did not relate to a specific action of the Board. Initial Decision at 25. The ALJ found that Respondent's email expressed his opinion and was not partisan, and therefore, did not violate the Act. Ibid.

Finally, on November 22, 2021, Respondent sent two emails to district employees inquiring as to why they were resigning and offering to speak with them by telephone or email. J-15; J-16. Complainant alleged that the emails were a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d) because Board members do not oversee personnel matters and his communications were not in the scope of his role as a Board member. Initial Decision at 25-26. The ALJ found that there is no evidence that Respondent was managing a personnel issue nor that the email was a means of intimidation. Id. at 26. As such, the ALJ found that the charge was not supported by the record. Ibid.

With respect to the penalty for the sustained violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e), the ALJ noted that this was Respondent's first violation of the Act, and the communication was a one-time incident, but that it expressed his personal opinion and advocated action from his Board

[4] The ALJ did not indicate whether the August 9, 2021, email was a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d). Upon review, the Commission has determined that Complainant failed to meet her burden of demonstrating that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d).

email address. Id. at 28-29. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that a penalty of reprimand was appropriate. Id. at 29.

III. Analysis

Upon a careful, thorough, and independent review of the record,[5] the Commission agrees with the ALJ that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) in Count 2 when he sent the August 9, 2021, email. The Commission is also in accord with the ALJ's determination that Respondent did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(a), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c), and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d).

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e), Board members must "recognize that authority rests with the board of education," and therefore, must "make no personal promises nor take any private action that may compromise the board." The ALJ appropriately found that Respondent's actions in sending correspondence from his Board email address to members of the State Legislature and a member of the public that expressed his personal views had the potential to compromise the Board. When Respondent expressed his disagreement with mask mandates by stating "[i]f parents and school districts can prove, which we can, that masks are dangerous to the health of children then we should be able to fight this, and I expect lawsuits to come because of this reason," his personal views could reasonably be interpreted as being endorsed by the Board as a whole. Additionally, when Respondent urged "[s]chool districts and elected officials need to be more vocal about this," and "[p]lease feel free to forward this to others as you see necessary," his statements had the potential to compromise the Board as the legislators and public may view his statements as the Board supporting a call to action against the masking mandate in schools. Accordingly, the Commission agrees with the ALJ that Complainant met her burden of demonstrating that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) when he sent the August 9, 2021, email to members of the State Legislature and the public.

The Commission further agrees with the ALJ that a reprimand is the appropriate penalty for such a violation. As noted by the ALJ, the issue of penalty is fact sensitive. Initial Decision, at 28. The masking mandate was a major issue across the State. Ibid. Per the ALJ, Respondent sent an email from his Board email address to members of the public conveying his personal views of the mask mandate and encouraging action. Ibid. However, it appears that this is Respondent's first violation and the violation of the Code resulted from one email sent by Respondent. Id. at 28-29. Accordingly, the Commission adopts the ALJ's recommended penalty in this matter.

IV. Decision

For all of the aforementioned reasons, the Commission adopts the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. The Commission finds that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) and adopts the recommended penalty of reprimand for the violation.

[5] The parties did not file exceptions to the Initial Decision.

Additionally, at its meeting on May 23, 2023, and because it previously reserved its determination, the Commission considered Respondent's request that the Commission find the Complaint frivolous. As the Commission found a violation of the Act in this matter, it clearly could not determine that the Complaint was filed in bad faith or solely for the purpose of harassment, delay, or malicious injury, or that it lacked a reasonable basis in law or equity. N.J.A.C. 6A:28-1.2. Therefore, the Commission voted to find that the Complaint was not frivolous.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c), this decision shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of Education for review of the Commission's recommended penalty. The parties may either: 1) file exceptions to the recommended sanction; 2) file an appeal of the Commission's finding of a violation; or 3) file both exceptions to the recommended sanction together with an appeal of the finding of a violation.

Parties taking exception to the recommended sanction of the Commission but not disputing the Commission's finding of a violation may file, within thirteen (13) days from the date the Commission's decision is forwarded to the Commissioner, written exceptions regarding the recommended penalty to the Commissioner. The forwarding date shall be the mailing date to the parties, as indicated below. Such exceptions must be forwarded to: Commissioner of Education, c/o Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, marked "Attention: Comments on Ethics Commission Sanction," as well as to (ControversiesDisputesFilings@doe.nj.gov). A copy must also be sent to the Commission (school.ethics@doe.nj.gov) and all other parties.

Parties seeking to appeal the Commission's finding of violation must file an appeal pursuant to the standards set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:4:1 et seq. within thirty (30) days of the filing date of the decision from which the appeal is taken. The filing date shall be three (3) days after the date of mailing to the parties, as shown below. In such cases, the Commissioner's review of the Commission's recommended sanction will be deferred and incorporated into the Commissioner's review of the finding of violation on appeal. Where a notice of appeal has been filed on or before the due date for exceptions to the Commission's recommended sanction (thirteen (13) days from the date the decision is mailed by the Commission), exceptions need not be filed by that date, but may be incorporated into the appellant's briefs on appeal.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

M.M., on behalf of minor child,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Lafayette, Sussex County, and Jennifer Cenatiempo, former Superintendent,

Respondents.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the exceptions filed by petitioner pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 have been reviewed and considered.[1]

Petitioners[2] allege that their minor child was the victim of harassment, intimidation, and bullying (HIB). On or about December 27, 2021, the Lafayette Board of Education (Board) issued a decision that petitioners' child was not the victim of HIB. The case was transmitted to the OAL for a hearing regarding the merits of the Board's HIB decision and alleged violations of the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act.

[1] Respondents did not file a reply to petitioner's exceptions.

[2] The petition of appeal was filed by M.M., who is the minor child's mother. W.M., the child's father, later moved to intervene, and the motion was granted. Accordingly, although the case caption names only M.M., this decision will refer to "petitioners," to include both M.M. and W.M. Additionally, throughout the course of the events related to this case, some actions have been undertaken by petitioners jointly, while others were taken by M.M. individually. For ease of reference, all actions taken by W.M. and/or M.M. on behalf of their child, whether jointly or individually, will be referred to as actions taken by "petitioners."

The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) scheduled a hearing for June 30, 2023. Petitioners requested that the hearing be held virtually rather than in person. The ALJ denied petitioners' request to appear virtually. When petitioners failed to appear for the scheduled hearing on June 30, 2023, the ALJ dismissed the case pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4.

In their exceptions, petitioners argue that the Board failed to comply with a previous Commissioner decision ordering them to provide video evidence to petitioners, which allegedly impaired their ability to present their case. Petitioners also contend that they should have been allowed to participate in the hearing virtually because they do not have childcare, W.M. would have to miss a day of work, and M.M. does not have a reliable car.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the petition must be dismissed. N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.6 gives the ALJ broad authority to determine the nature of the proceedings. The ALJ determined that the hearing in this matter should be conducted in person, and the Commissioner finds no reason to disturb that determination. Furthermore, the Commissioner concludes that petitioners have not demonstrated good cause for their failure to appear. Their disagreement with the ALJ's discovery order does not provide an excuse for failing to participate in the proceedings. Nor do petitioners' alleged difficulties regarding childcare, time off work, or transportation, which petitioners do not contend were limited to preventing them from appearing on June 30, 2023, but rather prevent them from ever appearing in person. While petitioners may find a virtual hearing more convenient, the authority to determine the appropriate format of a hearing lies with the ALJ, not with petitioners.

Additionally, in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.9, the Commissioner has reviewed the ALJ's January 9, 2023 Order Denying Motion for Discovery Sanctions. Prior to transmitting this matter to the OAL, the Commissioner ordered the Board to produce video evidence sought by petitioner.

M.M., on behalf of minor child v. Board of Education of the Township of Lafayette, Commissioner Decision No. 333-21L+ (Dec. 20, 2021). Petitioners moved for sanctions based on the Board's alleged failure to comply with the Commissioner's order. However, the record reflects that the Board provided all video evidence that was at issue at the time of Commissioner Decision No. 331-21L+ – that is, all video evidence which the Board had previously allowed petitioners to view, but not copy. Therefore, the Board has complied with Commissioner Decision No. 331-21L+, and no sanctions are warranted. Furthermore, with regard to discovery requests made by petitioners after Commissioner Decision No. 331-21L+ was issued, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ's January 9, 2023 Order denying those requests,[3] for the reasons detailed therein.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter. The petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[4]

ACTING COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

Date of Decision: August 21, 2023

[3] The ALJ did order the Board to produce copies of video clips specified in the HIB report and any video clips the Board intended to use at hearing. The Commissioner also concurs with this portion of the ALJ's Order.

[4] This decision may be appealed to the Appellate Division of the Superior Court pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9.1. Under N.J.Ct.R. 2:4-1(b), a notice of appeal must be filed with the Appellate Division within 45 days from the date of mailing of this decision.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF LAFAYETTE, SUSSEX COUNTY, AND JENNIFER CENATIEMPO, FORMER SUPERINTENDENT,

Respondents.

M.M. o/b/o her minor child, pro se.

ERIC L. HARRISON, Esq., for respondents (Methfessel and Werbel, attorneys)

Record Closed: June 30, 2023 Decided: July 5, 2023

BEFORE ERNEST M. BONGIOVANNI, ALJ:

On June 21, 2022 this matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for hearing as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14f 1 to-13. The parents allege HIB violations and that the respondent violated their child's rights for failing to determine there were any HIB violations and by not fairly investigating allegations which stem from their understanding of what their child told them.

After several attempts by phone or virtual appearances to hold a prehearing conferences, a hearing was scheduled for June 30, 2023, notice of which was sent to the petitioners by the Office of Administrative Law on May 17, 2023.

On June 21, 2023 petitioners[1] sent an email request to change the in-person hearing scheduled for June 30, 2023, to a virtual hearing. The undersigned denied the request and petitioner was advised of same in writing. On June 23, 2023, petitioner made a request to reconsider the denial, this request directed to the assignment judge. The undesigned advised petitioner there would be no reconsideration. Petitioners asked that in lieu of an in-person hearing, certain documents of theirs should simply be entered as exhibits "for the record." W.M. argued that he and M.M. should not be required to come to attend court for the hearing, because they "will not be able to present evidence," as the respondent Board of education had not been made to comply with Court Ordered Discovery.

However, on January 9, 2023, in a written decision, the undersigned denied a motion by petitioners for "Sanctions" against respondent for their alleged noncompliance with a 2022 Order for Discovery signed by the Commissioner before the matter had been transmitted to the undersigned for a hearing. As the denial of sanctions decision made very clear, I disagreed that since the transmittal there was any noncompliance by the respondent, Board of Education, that all required Discovery was provided and that petitioners repeated demands for many hours of additional videotapes of children at the school had no foundation, were unreasonable and amounted to possible harassment and stalling tactics. Further I clarified the then current status of Discovery and gave petitioners additional time to make more specific demands, e.g. naming dates times and places of specific videos and description of what the videos would show and the basis for believing they show HIB taking place.

Between the January 9, 2023 denial of the motion for sanctions and the June 30, 2023 hearing, petitioners never argued formally or informally that respondents had not complied with the conditions and Discovery elements of the Order denying sanctions. No motion whatsoever was filed to enforce my decision. Petitioners did on March 10, 2023 provide a 24-page email which simply disagreed with the aforesaid January 9, 2023 decision; thus there is no argument of any noncompliance by respondent with the Court's Order.

[1] M.M., the child's mother was the sole petitioner; however, on March 8, 2023, W.M., the child's father and husband of M.M. was allowed to enter his appearance after his motion to intervene was granted.

Further, even had there been an argument, cogent or otherwise, made regarding the Sanctions Denial Order, petitioners failed to articulate any relationship between the Discovery issues raised and the "reason" for the recent and somewhat sudden request that the hearing be virtual. In fact, there was and is no relationship between the alleged longstanding but already decided Discovery complaints and the arbitrary demand the hearing be virtual. On June 21, and June 23, 2023, in two emails to the court, petitioners made it clear that W.M. and M.M. refused to appear because they had been , in their minds, and despite a Court decision to the contrary, denied Discovery. They adamantly refused to participate in the hearing in any meaningful way. In their own words: "Since we are not acting as witnesses in this matter and have been denied video evidence to show what happened outside our witness, but reported accurately by our child, we can only provide simple statements about what our child told us. ...There is no need for an in-court appearance." Further in another email June 21, 2023, petitioners stated: "We cannot attend an in-person hearing...", as they "have no childcare for our son."

However, petitioners made it clear they were not asking for an adjournment to arrange childcare on some other date or time for their son. Rather, petitioners were adamant they would not attend any in court hearing at any other time. As they continue to explain, their reason for refusing to appear is they have been denied their rights and denied Discovery. In their words: "There is no reason to lose work. My wife and I can give statements we would like to give on behalf our child which can easily be done virtually...Lastly I will not allow my wife to go alone [2] far away to sit in front of a hostile judge and the school attorney after the history this matter...and what has occurred when my wife has been alone with previous judges and the school attorney, she should not have to be intimidated... We have already been expressly denied what the Commissioner says we need to prove merits, so we can't prove merits . There is no need to suffer more loss of work and we still don't have childcare so we both won't be able to attend."

[2] At a previous conference before W.M. made a motion to intervene, when M.M. had raised the subject of childcare, it was suggested W.M. could provide childcare. Soon thereafter W.M. made a motion to intervene. In any event no one suggested M.M. had to appear alone, quite the contrary as the Court had even granted a motion by W.M. to intervene. Moreover, the parents failed to articulate any extraordinary reason regarding childcare or for that matter how they could provide childcare for the minor child, approximately age 8 while appearing virtually but could not provide it for the same childcare during an in-person hearing.

Again both parents made it clear they did not seek an adjournment to get childcare and I find this "reason" to be specious. Further, even if the petitioners believed what they say it is apparent they have no idea, or perhaps rather no concern, despite the court's many indulgences, regarding how hearings are supposed to work; that they are not just "allowed to give statements" about what their child said, and that respondents have rights as litigants just as much as petitioners do, one which includes confronting witnesses, and another which is objecting to alleged evidence. Finally, it was abundantly clear from their own words they petitioners have no intention, and possibly never had the intention, of appearing in court and participating in a hearing in a meaningful way, and instead want the court to make up a complete set of rules to apply to them alone.

On June 23, 2023, petitioner again e-mailed to request a reconsideration of the denial to allow them to participate/appear virtually. This reconsideration was not granted.

After receiving the aforesaid communications from petitioners, they were advised by the Court in writing that if they failed to appear in person for the hearing on June 30, 2023 at 9:30 as scheduled weeks earlier, their case would be dismissed. Further, petitioners were advised no exhibits sent by them would be entered into evidence as there would be no evidentiary hearing without their appearance.

On the day of hearing, petitioners did not appear. Respondent, their single witness and attorney were on time and present and said they were "ready" to proceed. The petitioners' failure to appear was deliberate and calculated, regardless of its "reason." Accordingly, the petition must be DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE.

For the above reasons, I CONCLUDE that petitioners have abandoned their request for a hearing in this matter and has forfeited their right to further contest the actions complained of. Accordingly, this matter should be dismissed with prejudice for lack of prosecution and failure to appear.

ORDER

It is ORDERED that the petitioners' appeal be DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4, and I DIRECT the Clerk to return the matter to the agency for appropriate disposition.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

Final Decision

Board of Education of the City of Vineland
Cumberland County,

Petitioner,

v.

Cumberland County Board of Vocational Education,
Cumberland County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

The petitioner, Board of Education of the City of Vineland (Vineland), sought reimbursement from the respondent, Cumberland County Board of Vocational Education (CCTEC), for alleged overpayment of tuition for the 2020-2021 school year. Vineland contends that CCTEC's proposed 50% adjustment to the overpayment amount of $1,185,655.00 would result in Vineland being charged more than the school district's actual cost per pupil, in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1(c). Vineland filed a motion for summary decision, which was opposed by CCTEC.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; the issue for determination in this case was whether the respondent can charge the petitioner more than the certified tuition rate for the 2020-2021 school year; Vineland filed a motion based on there being no factual dispute that, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1(c), CCTEC cannot charge petitioner more than the State certified tuition rate for the education of Vineland students at CCTEC; respondent's opposition to the petitioner's motion for summary decision on the grounds that the parties had a ten-year history of abiding by a 50% reciprocal provision which allowed CCTEC to pay or give a credit of half the total amount owed to Vineland is without merit, as this 50% provision contravenes N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1(c) and is unenforceable as it has resulted in Vineland being forced to pay CCTEC more than the actual cost per pupil cost. The ALJ concluded that the 50% adjustment applied to the 2020-2021 tuition agreement is unenforceable as a matter of law and because no agreement existed between the parties. Accordingly, the ALJ granted Vineland's motion for summary decision.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusion, and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. Accordingly, the Commissioner granted petitioner's motion for summary decision. Petitioner is entitled to reimbursement or a credit from respondent in the amount of the full tuition overpayment of $1,185,665.00 for the 2020-2021 school year.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

Final Decision

Board of Education of the City of Vineland,
Cumberland County,

Petitioner,

v.

Cumberland County Board of Vocational Education, Cumberland County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge that N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1(c) precludes a county vocational school from charging a sending district more than the actual State certified per pupil rate. Petitioner is therefore entitled to reimbursement or a credit from respondent in the amount of the full tuition overpayment of $1,185,665.00 for the 2020-2021 school year.

Accordingly, petitioner's motion for summary decision is granted.

BEFORE KIM C. BELIN, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The Board of Education of the City of Vineland School District, Cumberland County (Petitioner/VBE) seeks reimbursement from Cumberland County Board of Vocational Education (Respondent/CCTEC) for alleged overpayment of tuition for the 2020-21 school year.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner filed a petition, dated March 21, 2022, seeking reimbursement of alleged tuition overcharges paid to the respondent for the 2020 through 2021 school year.[2] The respondent filed its answer, dated April 11, 2022. The matter was transmitted as a contested case to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) where it was filed on April 12, 2022. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

Petitioner filed a motion for summary decision, dated January 9, 2023. On January 19, 2023, the respondent requested a two-week extension which was granted. However, instead of filing a response to the petitioner's motion for summary decision, the respondent submitted a motion to consolidate dated February 13, 2023. This motion was denied by the undersigned on April 10, 2023. On March 29, 2023, the respondent was directed to clarify whether it intended to respond to the petitioner's motion for summary decision by April 10, 2023. On April 10, 2023, the respondent filed its opposition to the petitioner's motion for summary decision. Petitioner filed its reply on April 11, 2023. The record closed on that date.

The following FACTS are undisputed and I, therefore FIND:

[2] Petitioner filed two other petitions seeking tuition reimbursement of tuition overcharges for school years 2012 through 2019. These petitions were consolidated on December 10, 2021 and are pending adjudication.

1. Petitioner oversees the operation of the City of Vineland School District Type II School District. (Petitioner's Br. in Supp. of Motion for Summary Decision (MSD) at 3.)

2. Respondent oversees the operation of the Cumberland County Vocational School District and its vocational school known as CCTEC. (Ibid.)

3. Petitioner pays tuition for student residents of the City of Vineland who attend CCTEC. (Ibid.)

4. From 2011 through 2020, petitioner and CCTEC entered into successive one-year contracts using a template and pre-printed text promulgated by the New Jersey Department of Education providing for tuition rates and adjustments. (Exhibit A, Respondent's Opposition to Petitioner's MSD, CCTEC00010 through CCTEC000020.)

5. The tuition contract for the 2020-21 school year is only signed by the respondent's representatives. (Exhibit 1, Petitioner's Certification of Counsel.)

6. In a letter dated February 7, 2022, the respondent's business administrator notified the petitioner's business administrator of a tuition adjustment for the 2020-2021 school year. Specifically, the letter stated that a tuition overpayment of $1,185,665.00 would be reduced by 50% on the petitioner's September 2022 tuition invoice. (Exhibit A, Petitioner's Br. In Supp. of MSD.)

7. In an email dated November 9, 2020, petitioner's counsel notified respondent's counsel questioning the adjustment and requesting revisions to the contract language. (Exhibit 2, Petitioner's Certification of Counsel.)

8. Counsel for petitioner and respondent exchanged emails from November 9, 2020 through November 23, 2020, discussing revising the 2020-21 contracts. (Exhibit 3, Petitioner's Certification of Counsel.)

9. In emails dated January 11, 2021 and January 20, 2021, petitioner's counsel requested revisions to four tuition contracts but at a minimum three contracts, which included a regular education contract, Strive and Strive ESY contracts for the 2020-21 school year. (Ibid.)

10. On January 26, 2021, petitioner's counsel emailed respondent's counsel seeking a response. Respondent's counsel promised to follow up with his client. (Ibid.)

11. In emails dated February 8, 2021 and February 23, 2021, petitioner's counsel sought a response from the respondent. (Ibid.)

12. On June 7, 2021, petitioner's counsel proposed that the tuition contracts be revised to change the reimbursement to 100% instead of 50% for any overpayment or underpayment. Respondent's counsel stated that he would check with his client on the same date, however, as of June 24, 2021, there was no answer to the proposal. (Ibid.)

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

A motion for summary decision (Motion) may be granted if the papers and discovery presented, as well as any affidavits which may have been filed with the application, show that there is no genuine issue of material facts, and the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). If the motion is sufficiently supported, the non-moving party must demonstrate by affidavit that there is a genuine issue of fact which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding, to prevail in such an application. (Ibid.) These provisions mirror the summary judgment language of R. 4:46-2(c) of the New Jersey Court Rules.

The motion judge must "consider whether competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party . . . are sufficient to permit a rational fact finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party." Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Company of American, 142 N.J. 520, 523 (1995). And even if the non-moving party comes forward with some evidence, this forum must grant summary decision if the evidence is "so one-sided that [the moving party] must prevail as a matter of law." Id. at 536.

The issue presented is whether the respondent can charge more than the certified tuition rate to the petitioner for the 2020-21 school year. Based upon the evidence presented, this case is ripe for summary decision.

The petitioner herein filed a Motion on the basis that there is no factual dispute that the respondent cannot charge more than the State certified tuition rate. Petitioner relies upon N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1(c) which provides in relevant part:

> The board of education of a county vocational school district shall receive such funds as may be appropriated by the county pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:54-29.2 and shall be entitled to collect and receive from the sending districts in which each pupil attending the vocational school resides, for the tuition of that pupil, . . . a sum not to exceed the actual cost per pupil as determined for each vocational program classification, according to rules prescribed by the commissioner and approved by the State board.
> (Emphasis added.)

The "actual cost per student" is defined at N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-17.1(b) as "the local cost per student in average daily enrollment, based upon audited expenditures for that year for the purpose for which the tuition rate is being determined and consistent with the grade/program categories in N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-50 and 18A:7F-55 . . ." This cost is determined by the Commissioner of Education (Commissioner) and is based upon the:

> a. Revenues, expenditures, and fund balances reflected in the [county vocational school district] CVSD's annual independent audit; and > b. Average daily enrollment data by category submitted by the CVSD on a form prescribed by the Commissioner.

> [N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-17.4(b).]

Once the Department of Education determines the actual cost per student, the receiving district is required to return the excess to the sending district or at the option of the sending district to credit the sending district the excess amount in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:23-17.1(f)(6) which provides:

> If the Commissioner later determines that the tentative tuition charge established by written contractual agreement, except for a contractual agreement for a student enrolled in a special education class, was greater than the actual cost per student during the school year multiplied by the actual ADE [average daily enrollment] received, the receiving district board of education shall return to the sending district board of education in the second school year following the contract year the amount by which the tentative charge exceeded the actual charge as determined above, or, at the option of the receiving district board of education, shall credit the sending district board of education with the excess amount. The receiving district board of education shall make such adjustment for a contractual agreement for a student enrolled in a special education class no later than the end of the second school year following the contract year.

The receiving district may charge for a shortfall after the tuition calculation has been made pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:23-17.1(f)(7) which provides:

> If the Commissioner later determines that the tentative charge established by written contractual agreement, except for a contractual agreement for a student enrolled in a special education class, was less than the actual cost per student during the school year multiplied by the actual average daily enrollment received, the receiving district board of education may charge the sending district board of education all or part of the amount owed by the sending district board of education, to be paid during the second school year following the school year for which the tentative charge was paid. Such adjustment for a contractual agreement for a student enrolled in a special education class shall be made no later than the end of the second school year following the contract year.

The tuition contract between the parties for the 2020–2021 school year is a pre-printed template agreement provided by the New Jersey Department of Education. Paragraph 4a of regular education tuition agreement provided that if the VBE overpaid tuition, the CCTEC had the option of paying the excess or providing a credit to the VBE in accordance with a schedule to which the parties agreed. The parties set the reconciliation date as June 30 of the third year following the base year and added "50%." It is uncontested that this means CCTEC would only reimburse or give a credit of half of the total amount owed by or to the VBE.

Petitioner contends that this 50% adjustment results in the VBE being charged more than the actual cost per pupil in violation of the law. Moreover, petitioner asserts that the parties never finalized the tuition agreement for the 2020-21 school year and thus, the respondent's action in reducing the amount owed to the petitioner is unenforceable.

The respondent opposes the petitioner's MSD on grounds that the parties had a ten-year history of abiding by the 50% reciprocal provision which allowed CCTEC to pay or give a credit of half of total amount owed to the VBE. Moreover, the CCTEC contends that the parties' failure to fully execute the 2020-21 agreement was irrelevant and did not negate the ten-year precedent. I am not so persuaded.

If the VBE is owed a reimbursement because it paid more than the actual per pupil cost, then receiving only half of that reimbursement results in the VBE paying more than the actual per pupil cost and that contravenes N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1(c). In an Order dated January 5, 2023, involving the same parties, the undersigned determined that the 50% reciprocal provision was unenforceable in fully executed contracts dating from 2012 through 2020 because the 50% reciprocal provision resulted in forcing the VBE to pay more than the actual per pupil cost which contravened N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1(c).

"The most important aspect of a contract is the intent of the parties." Bd. of Ed. of Twp. of Waterford v. Bd. of Ed. of Twp. of Hammonton, 2008 N.J. AGEN LEXIS 69. Here, the partially signed agreement as well as the numerous emails spanning from November 2020 to June 2021, evinces that there was no agreement between the parties for the 2020-21 school year. Petitioner's counsel expressly opposed the 50% provision and attempted to revise the contact language and respondent's counsel never received approval from his client. Thus, there was no agreement for the CCTEC to adjustment the amount owed to the VBE and the VBE was entitled to the full reimbursement in accordance with the statute and regulations cited herein. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the 50% adjustment as applied to the 2020-21 tuition agreement is unenforceable as a matter of law and because there was no agreement between the parties.

Having carefully reviewed the record, I FIND there are no material facts in dispute and the petitioner is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. The record reflects that N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20.1(c) precludes a county vocational school from charging more than the actual State certified per pupil rate. For the 2020-21 school year there was a tuition overpayment of $1,185,655 owed to the VBE. The CCTEC did not reimburse the full amount but chose to provide a 50% credit to the VBE despite the lack of a fully executed agreement. This resulted in the VBE paying more than the State certified actual cost per student which violates N.J.A.C. 18A:54-20.1(c). Viewing these facts as I must, in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, I CONCLUDE there is no factual dispute sufficient to justify an evidentiary hearing and summary decision in favor of the petitioner is appropriate.

ORDER

Based upon the reasons stated above, petitioner's Motion for Summary Decision is hereby GRANTED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Final Decision

M.D., on behalf of minor child, D.G.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Elizabeth,
Union County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Pro se petitioner appealed the determination of the respondent Board that her minor child was not entitled to a free public education in Elizabeth schools during the 2022-2023 school year. Based on device export records linked to D.G.'s school-issued computer and a subsequent residency investigation, the Board contended that D.G. and her family were not living in Elizabeth but rather at an address in Union, New Jersey. The Board sought tuition reimbursement for the period of D.G.'s alleged ineligible attendance in Elizabeth schools.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: petitioner M.D. testified credibly that prior to August 2022, she and her family lived in Elizabeth at a home they purchased in 1999; in March 2022, the family purchased a home on Park Place in Union, NJ, as an investment property with the intention of renting the house to tenants; because the house was in need of significant remodeling, the family moved to the Union house temporarily in August 2022 to oversee the ongoing construction; M.D.'s documentation all reflects her address as the Elizabeth house and the family was able to immediately return to living there once they realized that their occupancy at the Union house was endangering their residency status in Elizabeth; the family lived in the Union house from August 2022 until March 6, 2023, which was not long enough to trigger N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)(4). Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that petitioner satisfied her burden to prove by a preponderance of evidence that she was domiciled in Elizabeth during the 2022-2023 school year; D.G. was therefore eligible for a free education in Elizabeth during the same time period.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusion and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. Accordingly, the petition of appeal was granted, and no tuition reimbursement is due to the Board.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge that M.D. and her minor child D.G. were domiciled in Elizabeth during the period from August 2022 to March 6, 2023 and that D.G. was therefore entitled to a free education in Elizabeth's schools during that period. Thus, the Board is not entitled to reimbursement from petitioner for tuition costs.

Accordingly, the petition of appeal is hereby granted.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner M.D. challenges the action of the Board of Education of the City of Elizabeth (Board) removing her daughter, D.G., from the Elizabeth Public Schools.

[1] Although not reflected on the petition, S.G., the student's father, also appeared.

By letter dated March 6, 2023, Elizabeth Public Schools notified M.D. that its review of D.G.'s domicile/residency status indicated that she was not entitled to a public education in Elizabeth and that an investigation revealed that D.G. did not reside in Elizabeth. (R-8.) By letter dated March 13, 2023, Elizabeth Public Schools notified M.D. that D.G. was ineligible to attend Elizabeth Public Schools and would be removed. (R-11.) On March 29, 2023, petitioner filed a Pro Se Petition of Appeal with the Department of Education. The Board filed its answer on March 31, 2023. On April 10, 2023, the Department transmitted the case to the Office of Administrative Law under the Administrative Procedure Act, N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15, and the act establishing the office, N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -23, for a hearing under the Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules, N.J.A.C. 1:1-1.1 to -21.6, and the rules of procedure established by the Department of Education to hear and decide controversies and disputes arising under school laws, N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.1 to -1.17. Jurisdiction is conferred under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9.

The hearing was held on May 23, 2023. The Board submitted its post-hearing brief on June 14, 2023, and petitioner submitted her post-hearing letter on June 15, 2023, on which date the record closed.

M.D. testified on behalf of petitioner. Timothy Kirk testified on behalf of the Board.

Preliminary Facts

After due consideration of the testimonial and documentary evidence presented at the hearing, and having had the opportunity to observe the demeanor of the witnesses and assess their credibility, I FIND the following preliminary facts:

M.D. is married to S.G. Their daughter, D.G., was enrolled in grade 11 at Elizabeth High School for the 2022–2023 school year. (R-1.) Prior to August 2022,

M.D., S.G., and their children (the family) were living at 500 Main Street, Elizabeth, New Jersey[2] (the Elizabeth house), which M.D. and S.G. purchased on April 5, 1999. (R-6.)

On March 30, 2022, M.D. and S.G. purchased 200 Park Place, Union, New Jersey[3] (the Union house). (R-5.) The family began living at the Union house in August 2022.

Device export data records reflect that from December 1, 2022, to March 1, 2023, D.G.'s school-issued laptop was pinging from school and from the Union house, but not from the Elizabeth house. (R-2.)

Timothy Kirk has been employed by the Board as an investigator for approximately twenty months, and prior thereto he was an Elizabeth police officer for thirty-four years. On March 1, 2023, he commenced an investigation of the residency of D.G. after the legal department was advised by the technology department that D.G.'s laptop was pinging from Union and not from Elizabeth. On March 3, 2023, at 7:10 a.m., Kirk observed M.D. and D.G. exit the Union house and enter a 2009 Toyota registered to S.G. (R-3; R-7; R-14.) On March 6, 2023, at 7:12 a.m., Kirk observed M.D. and D.G. exit the Union house. (R-7.) Kirk prepared a Residency Investigation Report, dated March 31, 2023. (R-13.)

By Notice of Initial Determination of Ineligibility, dated March 6, 2023, Elizabeth Public Schools notified M.D. that its review of D.G.'s domicile/residency status indicated that she was not entitled to a free education in the district because of "Domicile/Residency not in the district" and that its investigation revealed that D.G. did not reside at the Elizabeth house. (R-8.) The notice further notified M.D. that she should contact Kirk on or before March 13, 2023, or email her proofs to indicate whether D.G. would be removed from the school and educated elsewhere, or if she would be requesting a hearing before the Board to demonstrate that D.G. was entitled to attend school in the district. (R-8.)

[3] A fictitious address is used for privacy.

On March 8, 2023, M.D. completed the district's Residency Verification Form and submitted the form, along with the required verifications. (R-9.) The verifications submitted included a "current property tax bill," "government issued identification," "current gas bill," "current water bill," and "pay stub from employer." (R-9; R-10.) The 2023 1st & 2nd Quarter Tax Bill for the Elizabeth house reflects the mailing address as the Elizabeth house. (R-10.) M.D.'s Auto Driver License, issued in November 2020 and expiring in January 2024, reflects the Elizabeth house as her address. (R-10.) The January 20, 2023, Elizabethtown Gas bill for the Elizabeth house reflects M.D.'s name, reflects the Elizabeth house as the mailing address, and reflects current charges of $287.72. (R-10.) The January 27, 2023, Liberty Water Company bill reflects M.D.'s name, reflects the Elizabeth house as the mailing address, and reflects current charges of $85.71. (R-10.) A paycheck stub for M.D., dated February 24, 2023, reflects the Elizabeth house as her mailing address. (R-10.) Petitioner did not request a hearing before the Board.

By Notice of Final Ineligibility, dated March 13, 2023, Elizabeth Public Schools notified M.D. that after review of the information she submitted it determined that D.G. was ineligible to attend school in Elizabeth, because:

> YOUR DOMICILE/RESIDENCY IS NOT IN THE DISTRICT. OUR INVESTIGATION REVEALS THAT YOU LIVE OUTSIDE OF ELIZABETH.

The notice further notified M.D. of her right to appeal, and of the daily tuition rate of $99.63. (R-11.)

On March 29, 2023, petitioner filed a Pro Se Petition of Appeal (Petition) with the Department of Education. (R-12.) The Petition states, in pertinent part:

> The Elizabeth School District has determined that my daughter . . . is no longer eligible to attend the . . . High School. This came to us as a surprise as our intentions were not to move to the other house permanently. We have realized this was a mistake on our part.

In April 2022, we decided to purchase another house as an investment for the purpose of renting out the house. This house is located in Union and needs a lot of remodeling and fixing, therefore, we contracted staff to make those changes. In the meantime, we also remained at our home in Elizabeth. Initially, we thought it would be a smoother and quicker process, but unfortunately, we had a few hiccups along the way. This prompted the need to supervise and monitor the work being done in the new purchase. In order to do so, we had to make changes to our living arrangements for the months to come. We understand this took longer than we initially planned. In reality, it was more of a commodity for me as I work from home, and it was more comfortable for me to work and supervise the work being done in the Union house at the same time.

We truly did not know that by staying temporarily in the Union house while fixing it for rent, we were violating any rules. We still own and are living in our home in Elizabeth. Since receiving the letter, we realized that our actions may have led the Elizabeth School District to believe this was our permanent home and therefore, we have since left the Union house.

We really were not conscious of what effect staying in the Union house would have on our daughter's education. Her mental health is the most important thing for us and since receiving the news we have seen a great amount of stress added into her life. She is a junior in high school and has made many friends which gives her great happiness. We feel responsible for causing this confusion and making her feel unsure of what will happen due to our actions.

Please see attached for the supporting documents where it shows that nothing has been changed from our residency in Elizabeth. Feel free to request any other information needed.

I would like to please request that [D.G.] is reinstated at . . . High School. This is a learning experience for me and my family and we hope she does not get punished for a mistake we made to occupy two places at the same time. I confirm that we have been staying in Elizabeth since the notice we > received. I hope you find it in your heart to understand that this was not intentional and will not be repeated.

The registration for S.G.'s 2009 Toyota reflects the Elizabeth house. (R-3.) The Union house Property Detail record reflects the Elizabeth house as the mailing address for the owner. (R-4.) The Elizabeth house Property Detail record also reflects the Elizabeth house as the mailing address for the owner. (R-4.)

Device export data records reflect that from December 1, 2023, through March 6, 2023, D.G.'s school-issued laptop was pinging at the Union house. (R-2; R-15.) Device export data records further reflect that from March 7, 2023, to May 1, 2023, D.G.'s school-issued laptop pinged from school and the Elizabeth house, and never pinged from the Union house, or from outside of Elizabeth. (R-15.)

Testimony

Timothy Kirk

The August 16, 2022, date reflected on the IRPA printout coincides with the dates the student's laptop started pinging from the Union house. The residency verifications submitted by M.D. were not sufficient to establish residency in Elizabeth because his investigation revealed that despite owning the Elizabeth house the family was staying at the Union house. He concluded that D.G. resided at the Union house. He still believes that the family's primary domicile was the Union house.

He drove by the Union house approximately three or four times in April and May before school but never saw the parents' cars at the Union house. He does not know if a vehicle was in the one-car garage. He never saw anyone inside the Union house. He has not seen anyone at the Union house since March 6, 2023, when petitioner received the notice, and there were no more laptop pings from Union. Since March 6, 2023, a few of the laptop pings are from the Elizabeth house and the others are from school. The laptop cannot be pinged if it is turned off.

Once the family received the March 6, 2023, notice, they may have returned to the Elizabeth house. He does not know for sure if the petitioner is back in Elizabeth, but the Board has not changed its position regarding residency. His determination was that from August 2022 to March 6, 2023, the family resided in Union. He visited the Elizabeth house once in April, between 11:00 a.m. and 1:00 p.m., but he did not observe the family vehicles there. He does not have any evidence that would refute petitioner's assertion in the Petition that since receipt of the notice the family is no longer living in the Union house. The laptop pings from Elizabeth, though not as frequently as it had pinged from Union. In Union, it pinged every day, but in Elizabeth, there are no pings sometimes for several days.

M.D.

They had initially intended for a contractor to manage the renovations, but the renovations commenced in June 2022, and it became too expensive, and they instead had to find various contactors for each project. She is employed full time, 9:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., but she has been working from home since the pandemic. The family began temporarily living in Union so she could manage the renovations work. She does not deny that her family started living in Union in August, but it was only temporary to manage the work being done, which she had expected to be completed in October. She apologizes to the Board because she did not know they were not allowed to do that. Work was being done on the first floor and basement, but not on the second floor. The basement was just finished, and she expects all the work to be completed in another month. She intends to rent the Union house after the renovations are complete.

Since her receipt of the notice, they returned to living only at the Elizabeth house and D.G. has been driven back and forth between the Elizabeth house and school daily. There have been no rental agreements on either house. D.G.'s laptop may be pinging less frequently than before because of this situation, as the uncertainty of possibly being removed from her school has negatively affected D.G., including her academic performance. D.G. was crying this morning about what might happen. She feels sad for her daughter because it was her decision to temporarily live in Union that has caused D.G. to be in this situation.

Public schools are free to persons over five and under twenty years of age who are domiciled within the school district or are kept in the home of another person domiciled within the school district and supported by such other person gratis as if he were such other person's own child. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a) and (b)(1). If the school district finds that the parent or guardian of a child who is attending the schools of the district is not domiciled within the district and the child is not kept in the home of another person domiciled within the school district and supported by such person gratis as if the child were the person's own child, the superintendent or administrative principal may apply to the board of education for the removal of the child. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2). The parent or guardian is entitled to a hearing before the board and, if in the judgment of the board, the parent or guardian is not domiciled within the district or the child is not kept in the home of another person domiciled within the school district and supported gratis, the board may order the transfer or removal of the child from school. Ibid. The parent or guardian may contest the board's decision before the Commissioner of Education within twenty-one days of the date of the decision and is entitled to an expedited hearing. Ibid. The parent or guardian has the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence that the child is eligible for a free education under the criteria listed in the statute. Ibid. Where the evidence does not support the claims of the parent, the Commissioner is authorized to assess tuition prorated to the time of the student's ineligible attendance in the schools of the district, and tuition is computed on the basis of 1/180 of the total annual per-pupil cost to the local district multiplied by the number of days of ineligible attendance. Ibid.

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)(1), a student is eligible to attend a school district if he or she is domiciled within the school district, and a student is domiciled in the school district when he or she is the child of a parent or guardian whose domicile is located within the school district. A student is domiciled in the school district when his or her parent or guardian resides within the school district on an all-year-round basis for one year or more, notwithstanding the existence of a domicile elsewhere. N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)(4).

> "Domicile" is defined as "the place where [a person] has his [or her] true, fixed, permanent home and principal establishment, and to which whenever he is absent, he has an intention of returning." T.B.W. ex rel. A.W. v. Bd. of Ed. of the Township of Belleville, Essex County, 1998 N.J. AGEN LEXIS 122, Agency Dkt. No. 159-5/96, 1998 WL 668678 (N.J. Adm. June 18, 1998). As the court noted in Collins v. Yancey, 55 N.J. Super. 514, 520–21, 151 A.2d 68 (Law Div. 1959), a person may have several residences or places of abode, but only one domicile at a time. Id.
> [D.L. v. Bd. of Educ. of Princeton Reg'l Sch. Dist., 366 N.J. Super. 269, 273–74 (App. Div. 2004).]

Petitioner credibly testified that she and her husband purchased an investment home in Union and were in the process of renovating it, and to facilitate that process the family temporarily moved into the Union house. M.D.'s documentation all still reflects her address as the Elizabeth house and her testimony that she intended to return to the Elizabeth house when the renovations were complete on the Union house is corroborated by the family's ability to immediately return to living in the Elizabeth house, which had not been rented out. There is no evidence that the family continued to live at the Union house after receiving the notice, as they have not been observed at the Union house and D.G.'s laptop never again pinged from the Union house but has pinged from the Elizabeth house. Moreover, as corroborated by the IRPA printout, the family was in the Union house from August 2022 until March 6, 2023, which was not long enough to trigger N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)(4). Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has satisfied her burden to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that she was domiciled in Elizabeth and D.G. was therefore eligible for a free education in Elizabeth for the 2022–2023 school year.

ORDER

It is ORDERED that petitioner's Pro Se Petition of Appeal be and hereby is GRANTED, and further ORDERED that D.G. is eligible to attend school in Elizabeth.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

In the Matter of the Suspension of the Teaching Certificates of Amanda Ramppen, Team Academy Charter School, Inc.,
Essex County.

This matter was opened before the Commissioner of Education on June 27, 2023, by way of an Order to Show Cause served by petitioner (Team Academy Charter School, Inc.) upon respondent (Amanda Ramppen), requiring respondent to show cause why an order should not be entered suspending her teaching certificates pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8 for resigning without giving the notice required by law.

While awaiting proof of service from petitioner, the Office of Controversies and Disputes received a letter from respondent on July 25, 2023, stating that after careful consideration, she stood by her decision to resign due to health issues and would accept any resulting consequences, including the suspension of her teaching certificates. The letter also stated that she would not be retaining legal representation to contest the suspension.

The petition and supporting exhibits submitted by petitioner in this matter indicate that: respondent entered into a contract to work as a teacher for the 2022-23 school year; the contract provides that it can be terminated by the employee upon sixty days' written notice; and that on April 17, 2023, respondent sent correspondence to petitioner indicating that she was resigning, effective May 1, 2023, thereby providing less than the required sixty days' notice. The respondent has not denied these allegations; therefore, the Commissioner deems such allegations to be admitted pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(a) and further deems them sufficient to justify suspension of respondent's teaching certificates pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8.

Accordingly, summary decision is hereby granted to petitioner, and respondent's teaching certificates are suspended for a period of one year from the filing date of this decision, a copy of which shall be forwarded to the State Board of Examiners for implementation of the suspension.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[1]

New Jersey Commissioner of Education
Final Decision

Board of Education of the Township of North Bergen, Bergen County, Petitioner,

v.

New Jersey Department of Education and Angelica Allen-McMillan, Acting Commissioner,

Respondents.

Synopsis

The petitioner, the Board of Education of the Township of North Bergen (Board), challenged the respondent's determination that the Board is responsible for J.P.'s educational costs for the 2019-2020 school year pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12(b). In 2017, J.P. was placed at Bancroft Neurohealth (Bancroft) by the Department of Children and Families (DCF). Prior to this placement, J.P. resided with his mother, M.P., in North Bergen, and the Board assumed the cost of J.P.'s education at Bancroft as required under N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12(b). When M.P.'s address could not be determined as of October 15, 2018, the State of New Jersey assumed financial responsibility for J.P.'s educational costs for the 2028-2019 school year under N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12(d). The issue for determination here is which entity is responsible for the cost of J.P.'s education during the 2019-2020 school year, since M.P.'s address was unknown as of October 15, 2019. The parties filed cross motions for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; the Board's argument that a student's present district of residence must be determined by the Department of Education (DOE) by October 16 of each school year is without merit as the regulations do not state any such deadline; rather, the regulations state that the district of residence is determined by the residence of the parents on October 16; in this matter, it was stipulated that J.P.'s mother lived within the North Bergen School District on October 16, 2019; it is not disputed that DOE informed North Bergen that it was the district of residence for J.P. in March 2021; there is no provision in the regulation that states that the DOE must inform a school district that it is the district of residence for a student by October 16th; and the Board's argument that the doctrine of laches should be invoked in this matter is also without merit. The ALJ concluded that since M.P. resided in North Bergen beginning in May 2019, the Board's school district is the district of residence for J.P. for the 2019-2020 school year. Accordingly, the ALJ granted respondent's motion for summary decision and denied the petitioner's cross motion.

Upon a comprehensive review of the record, the Commissioner adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision is this matter. The substantial, credible evidence in the record supports the conclusion that North Bergen was J.P.'s district of residence for the 2019-2020 school year. Accordingly, summary decision was granted in favor of the respondent and the petition was dismissed.

Agency Dkt. No. 226-12/21

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Board of Education of the Township of North Bergen, Hudson County, Petitioner,

v.

New Jersey Department of Education and Angelica Allen-McMillan, Acting Commissioner,

Respondents.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

Petitioner initiated this action to challenge respondent's determination that the North Bergen Board of Education (the Board or North Bergen) is responsible for minor child J.P.'s educational costs for the 2019-2020 school year pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12(b). That statute provides, in relevant part:

> The district of residence for children who are in residential State facilities, or who have been placed by State agencies in group homes, skill development homes, [or] private schools . . . shall be the present district of residence of the parent or guardian with whom the child lived prior to his most recent admission to a State facility or most recent placement by a State agency.
> [N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12(b).]

Consistent with the statute, the corresponding regulations at N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-19.2(a)(2) explain that "[t]he 'present district of residence' of a child placed by a State agency in a group home, skill development home, [or] approved private school for students with disabilities . . . means the New Jersey district of residence of the child's parent(s) or guardian(s) as of the date of the child's most recent placement by the State agency." Additionally, the regulations provide that "[i]n subsequent school years spent in the educational placement made by a State agency, the child's 'present district of residence'" is "the New Jersey district of residence of the child's parent(s) or guardian(s) as of the last school day prior to October 16." N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-19.2(a)(1), (a)(2).

The Commissioner of Education, or her designee, is responsible for determining the child's present district of residence "based upon by the address submitted by the Department of Corrections, the Department of Children and Families, or the Juvenile Justice Commission on forms prepared by the Department of Education." N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-19.3(b). The Department of Education (DOE) must notify the responsible district of its determination. N.J.A.C. 6A:23A-19.3(c). "In order to prevent a lapse in the child's education and/or child study services, the district board of education shall be bound by such determination unless and until it is reversed on redetermination or appeal . . . ." Ibid.

The DOE's district of residence determination "is entitled to a presumption of correctness." Board of Education of the Township of Piscataway v. New Jersey Department of Education, Office of School Funding, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 05063-10, Initial Decision at 10 (Oct. 4, 2010), aff'd, Commissioner Decision No. 465-10 (Nov. 8, 2010). "[W]hen a local school board contests a district-of-residence determination made by the Department, the local board bears the burden of proving that the determination was in error." Ibid.

The material facts are undisputed. The Department of Children and Families (DCF) placed J.P. at Bancroft Neurohealth on May 18, 2017. Prior to placement, J.P. resided with his mother, M.P., in North Bergen. Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12(d), the State of New Jersey assumed fiscal responsibility for J.P.'s educational costs for the 2018-2019 school year after the DOE determined that M.P.'s address was unknown as of October 15, 2018.

On March 3, 2021, DCF requested a district of residence determination for J.P. and informed the DOE that M.P. had resided at a permanent address in North Bergen since May 2019. The record contains a copy of a residential lease for an apartment in North Bergen listing M.P. as the occupant effective May 15, 2019, until May 31, 2021.[1] Via letter dated March 29, 2021, the DOE informed petitioner that because M.P. resided at a permanent address in North Bergen "on October 15, 2020 [sic] and October 15, 2020," petitioner was responsible for J.P.'s educational costs for the 2019-2020 and 2020-2021 school years.[2]

On November 23, 2021, the DOE sent petitioner a second letter to correct the typographical error that appeared in the March 29, 2021, letter. The second letter informed petitioner that because M.P. resided at a permanent address in North Bergen "on October 15, 2019 and October 15, 2020," petitioner was responsible for J.P.'s educational costs for the 2019-2020 and 2020-2021 school years.

On or about December 2, 2021, the Board filed an appeal of respondent's district of residence determination with the Office of Controversies and Disputes. The matter was transmitted to the OAL and the parties moved for summary decision. The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) granted respondent's motion for summary decision upon concluding that North Bergen was J.P's district of residence for the 2019-2020 school year and that it was therefore responsible for J.P.'s educational costs for that year.

[1] J.P.'s father resides elsewhere in North Bergen Township.

[2] Petitioner does not contest the DOE's determination for the 2020-2021 school year. Its petition states that "[a]fter conducting its own investigation," it agreed "that M.P. was in fact a resident of North Bergen at least as of April 29, 2021."

In so doing, the ALJ rejected the Board's contention that it should be absolved of payment of J.P.'s educational costs for the 2019-2020 school year under the doctrine of laches because the DOE did not provide notice to petitioner that it was J.P.'s district of residence until March 2021. The ALJ correctly noted that the relevant regulations do not provide a deadline for the DOE to give notice to the district of residence. Moreover, the ALJ recognized that the DOE was not notified by DCF until March 2021 that M.P. had a permanent address in North Bergen as of May 2019. Once the DOE received this information from DCF, it sent a letter to petitioner that same month notifying it of its financial obligation for J.P.'s educational costs.

Upon a comprehensive review of the record in this matter, the Commissioner adopts the ALJ's findings and conclusions as set forth in the Initial Decision. The substantial, credible evidence in the record supports the conclusion that North Bergen was J.P.'s district of residence for the 2019-2020 school year. Petitioner provided no evidence to the contrary. Therefore, petitioner is responsible for J.P.'s educational costs for the 2019-2020 school year.

Accordingly, respondent's motion for summary decision is granted, petitioner's cross-motion for summary decision is denied, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

LEGAL ARGUMENT AND CONCLUSION

The rules governing motions for summary decision in an OAL matter are embodied N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5. These provisions mirror the language of Rule 4:46-2 and the New Jersey Supreme Court's decision in Judson v. Peoples Bank and Trust Company of Westfield, 17 N.J. 67 (1954). Under N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b), the determination to grant summary judgment should be based on the papers presented as well as any affidavits which may have been filed with the application. In order for the adverse, i.e., the non-moving party to prevail in such an application, responding affidavits must be submitted showing that there is indeed a genuine issue of fact, which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding. The Court in Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Company of America, 142 N.J. 520, 523 (1995), set the standard to be applied when deciding a motion for summary judgment. Therein the Court stated:

> The determination whether there exists a genuine issue with respect to a material fact challenged requires the Motion Judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party . . . are sufficient to permit a rational fact finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party.
> There is no material issue of fact in this matter.

N.J.A.C. 6A:19.2 provides:

> (a) The district of residence for school funding purposes shall be determined according to the following criteria:
> 1. The "present district of residence" of a child in a residential State facility, defined in N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-45 and referred to in the first paragraph of N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12.b, means the New Jersey district of residence of the child's parent(s) or guardian(s) as of the last school day prior to October 16.
> 2. The "present district of residence" of a child placed by a State agency in a group home, skill development home, approved private school for students with disabilities or out-of-State facility, also referred to in N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12.b means the New Jersey district of residence of the child's parent(s) or guardian(s) as of the date of the child's most recent placement by the State agency. In subsequent school years spent in the educational placement made by a State agency, the child's "present district of residence" shall be determined in the same manner as for a child in a residential State facility as set forth in (a)1 above.
> 3. If the State becomes the child's legal guardian after the date of the child's initial placement by a State agency, the State will assume financial responsibility for the child's educational costs in subsequent school years.
> (b) The "present district of residence" or "district of residence" referred to in N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12.b shall be determined by the Commissioner or his or her designee based upon the address submitted by the Department of Corrections, the Department of Children and Families, or the Juvenile Justice Commission on forms prepared by the Department of Education.
> (c) The district board of education shall be notified by the Department of the determination of the district of residence. In order to prevent a lapse in the child's education and/or child study services, the district board of education shall be bound by such determination unless and until it is reversed on redetermination or appeal pursuant to the provisions of (e) and (f) below.
> (d) A district board of education contesting the Department's determination of district of residence shall submit a written notification of a dispute to the Office of School Facilities and Finance within 30 days of the receipt of a final notice that a child was determined to be a resident of the district for purposes of State funding. As part of this written notice, the following information shall be submitted:

1. A written statement detailing the effort of the district board of education to verify the determination of the Department;
2. Written rationale for rejecting the determination of the Department; and
3. Any additional information the district board of education has obtained that might enable redetermination of the district of residence.
(e) The Office of School Facilities and Finance shall attempt to resolve the dispute administratively and shall notify the district board of education whether a redetermination of district of residence will be made within 90 days of the receipt of written notification that a dispute exists.
(f) A district board of education may initiate a formal proceeding before the Commissioner to resolve such a dispute if the Office of School Facilities and Finance is unable to resolve a dispute within the 90-day time limit, by filing a Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner pursuant to the provisions of N.J.A.C. 6A:3, Controversies and Disputes.
(g) As prescribed by N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12, the "district of residence" for a homeless child whose parent(s) or guardian(s) temporarily moves from one school district to another is the district in which the parent(s) or guardian(s) last resided prior to becoming homeless. This district shall be designated as the district of residence for as long as the parent(s) or guardian(s) remains homeless.

N.J.S.A. 18A: 7B-2 provides:

a. For each State-placed child who is resident in a district and in a State facility on the last school day prior to October 16 of the prebudget year, and for each district-placed child who is resident in a district and in a State facility on the last school day prior to October 16 of the budget year, the Commissioner of Education shall deduct from the State aid payable to that district an amount equal to the approved per pupil cost established pursuant to the provisions of section 24 of P.L.1996, c.138 (C.18A:7F-24); except that for a child in a county juvenile detention center, no deduction shall be made until Fiscal Year 1999, in which year and thereafter 50% of the per pupil cost shall be deducted.
b. If, for any district, the amount to be deducted pursuant to subsection a. of this section is greater than State aid payable to the district, the district shall pay to the Department of Education the difference between the amount to be deducted and the State aid payable to the district.
c. The amount deducted pursuant to subsection a. of this section and the amount paid to the Department of Education pursuant to subsection b. of this section shall be forwarded to the Department of Human Services or the Department of Children and Families, as applicable, if the facility is operated by or under contract with that department, or to the Department of Corrections if the facility is operated by or under contract with that department, or to the Juvenile Justice Commission established pursuant to section 2 of P.L.1995, c.284 (C.52:17B-170) if the facility is operated by or under contract with that commission, and shall serve as payment by the district of tuition for the child. In the case of county juvenile detention centers, the tuition shall be deemed to supplement funds currently > provided by the county for this purpose under chapter 10 and chapter 11 of Title 9 of the Revised Statutes. In Fiscal Year 1998, a county shall not decrease its level of contribution as a result of the payment of tuition pursuant to this section. In Fiscal Year 1999 and thereafter, a county shall be required to pay 50% of the approved per pupil costs established pursuant to the provisions of section 24 of P.L.1996, c.138 (C.18A:7F-24) for the purpose of implementing chapters 10 and 11 of Title 9 of the Revised Statutes. Amounts so deducted shall be used solely for the support of educational programs and shall be maintained in a separate account for that purpose. No district shall be responsible for the tuition of any child admitted by the State to a State facility after the last school day prior to October 16 of the prebudget year.

When the State makes a determination as to who is responsible for the child's education and/or a determination about the "district of residency," it is entitled to a presumption of correctness. Bd. of Educ. of S. River v. Dep't of Educ., EDU 10117-98, Initial Decision (November 1, 2000) http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html. It is well established that when a local school board contests a DOR determination, the local board bears the burden of proving that the determination was in error. Bd. of Educ. of Bradley Beach v. Dep't of Educ., EDU 4975-99, Comm'r (July 3, 2000). http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html

In this matter, North Bergen argues that the student's present district of residence must be determined by the DOE by October 16 of that school year. The regulations do not state this. The regulations state that the district of residence is determined by the residence of the parents on October 16. In this matter it is stipulated that J.P.'s mother lived in the District on October 16, 2019. It is not disputed that DOE informed North Bergen that it was the district of residence for J.P. in March 2021. There is no provision in the regulation that states the DOE must inform a District that it is the district of residence for a student by October 16th of that year. North Bergen argued that the doctrine of laches should be invoked since the DOE did not inform North Bergen that it was J.P.'s. present district of residence in 2019-2020 until March 2021.

The court in Secaucus Town v. Jersey City, 19 N.J. Tax 10, 27`stated:

> In Lavin v. Board of Education of Hackensack, 90 N.J. 145, (1982), the Supreme Court defined laches as "'such neglect or omission to assert a right as, taken in conjunction with the lapse of time, more or less great, and other circumstances causing prejudice to an adverse party, operates as a bar in a court of equity.'" Id. at 151, 447 A.2d 516 (quoting from 2 > Pomeroy Equity Jurisprudence § 419 at 171-72 (5th ed.1941)). The Court then articulated the following factors as relevant to a claim of laches:

The length of delay, reasons for delay, and changing conditions of either or both parties during the delay are the most important factors that a court considers and weighs. The length of the delay alone or in conjunction with the other elements may result in laches. It is because the central issue is whether it is inequitable to permit the claim to be enforced that generally the change in conditions or relations of the parties coupled with the passage of time becomes the primary determinant. . . . Inequity, more often than not, will turn on whether a party has been misled to his harm by the delay. Id. at 152-53 The court stated: equitable estoppel will be applied in the appropriate circumstances [against a governmental entity] unless the application would 'prejudice essential governmental functions.'" Middletown Tp. Policemen's Benevolent Ass'n., Local No. 124 v. Middletown Tp., supra, 162 N.J. at 367, 744 A.2d 649. The same principle applies to laches. East Orange v. Livingston Tp., 102 N.J. Super. 512, 522, 246 A.2d 178 (Law Div.1968), aff'd, 54 N.J. 96, 253 A.2d 546 (1969) ID at 20-21

Secaucus Town v. Jersey City, 19 N.J. Tax 10, 27`

The Court has stated of the doctrine of laches:

> That doctrine is invoked to deny a party enforcement of a known right when the party engages in an inexcusable and unexplained delay in exercising that right to the prejudice of the other party. In re Kietur, 332 N.J. Super. 18, 28, 752 A.2d 799, 805 (App.Div.2000) (citing County of Morris v. Fauver, 153 N.J. 80, 105, 707 A.2d 958, 970 (1998)). Laches may only be enforced when the delaying party had sufficient opportunity to assert the right in the proper forum and the prejudiced party acted in good faith believing that the right had been abandoned. Dorchester Manor v. Borough of New Milford, 287 N.J. Super. 163, 172, 670 A.2d 600, 604 (Law Div.1994), aff'd, 287 N.J. Super. 114, 670 A.2d 576 (App.Div.1996). The time constraints for the application of laches "are not fixed but are characteristically flexible." Lavin v. Bd. of Educ., 90 N.J. 145, 151, 447 A.2d 516, 519 (1982). The key factors to be considered in deciding whether to apply the doctrine are the length of the delay, the reasons for the delay, and the "changing conditions of either or both parties during the delay." Id. at 152, 447 A.2d at 520. The core equitable concern in applying laches is whether a party has been harmed by the delay. Id. at 152-53, 447 A.2d at 519-20.
> Knorr v. Smeal, 178 N.J. 169, 180-181

In this matter the regulation does not state the date when the DOE must inform the district that it is the district of residence for a student by a specific time. The DOE did not know that M.P lived in North Bergen beginning in May 2019 until it was informed by the Division of Children and Families on or about March 1, 2021. DOE informed North Bergen that it was responsible for J.P.'s educational costs for 2019-2020 school year on March 29, 2021. There was a gap of over a year before DOE became aware that J.P.'s district of residence for the 2019-2020 school year.

I CONCLUDE Since M.P. resided in North Bergin beginning in May 2019, that North Bergin was the District of residence for J.P. for the 2019-2020 school year.

ORDER

It is therefore ORDERED that the respondent's motion for summary decision be and is hereby GRANTED.

It is further ORDERED that petitioner's cross-motion for summary decision is DENIED.

Final Decision

John Cash, Jr.,

Petitioner,

v.

New Jersey Department of Education,
State Board of Examiners,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Pro-se petitioner appealed the determination of the respondent New Jersey State Board of Examiners (SBE) denying his request for a second extension of time to satisfy the requirements of New Jersey's Alternate Route teacher certification program. Specifically, petitioner sought an additional two-year extension of his provisional certificate for a Computer Science endorsement after discovering that he had been incorrectly advised that the employing district would waive the remaining academic requirements associated with obtaining certification through the Alternate Route program. Petitioner's extension request was denied when the SBE determined that a second renewal exceeded the four-year program limit allowed by law; further, the SBE emphasized that the responsibility for, and awareness of, the requirements for program completion lie with the applicant, including the obligation to verify information provided by the employing school district. The respondent filed a motion for summary decision, seeking dismissal of the petition.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no issues of material fact in this case and the matter is ripe for summary decision; the regulation governing provisional certificate renewals, N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.5, provides that a school principal may recommend renewal of a provisional teacher's two-year provisional certificate for an additional two years if the candidate has not completed the requirements for standard certification within the first two years of employment; pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.5(c) there are limited and specific circumstances under which a renewal can be extended beyond the maximum of four years for program completion; however, none of those limited circumstances apply in the instant case; petitioner admitted that though he completed the majority of the requirements, he has not completed all of the academic coursework associated with the Alternate Route program because he relied upon incorrect information from a representative of the school district who counseled him that the district would waive the remaining academic requirements. The ALJ concluded that, unfortunately, the governing regulations do not permit discretionary consideration of the specific circumstances of this matter to allow a waiver beyond the four-year program limit. Accordingly, the ALJ granted the SBE's motion for summary decision and dismissed the petition.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ and adopted the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. The petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon review, and for the reasons thoroughly expressed in the Initial Decision, the Commissioner adopts the findings and conclusions of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ). The Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that petitioner is ineligible for a second renewal of his Teacher of Computer Science Technology provisional certificate under N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.5(c) because he has failed to satisfy the regulatory requirements for same.

Accordingly, respondent's motion for summary decision is granted and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

BEFORE ANDREW M. BARON, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

John Cash, Jr. ("Cash or petitioner"), appeals a determination by the Board of Examiners, Recruitment Unit of the Department of Education, denying his request for an additional extension to meet the requirements of the alternate teaching program.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

John Cash appeals from a determination by the Department of Education denying his request for an additional extension of time to satisfy the requirements of the alternate route teaching provisional certificate program.

UNDISPUTED FACTS AN DISCUSSION

Faced with a growing shortage of public-school teachers, several years ago the New Jersey Department of Education created an Alternate Route Program for individuals with business and other experience who were seeking a career in teaching.

With the onset of the pandemic in March 2020, even more teachers decided to retire which increased the shortage of available teachers for districts to draw upon.

In response to the continued thinning ranks of experienced teachers. The Legislature and Governor Murphy enacted the New Teacher Certification Pilot Program, which allows certain school districts the flexibility to award teaching certificates to newly trained teachers, in lieu of the traditional Praxis and other traditional requirements prior to receiving a teacher's license.

Pursuant to this process, the Department of Education informed Cash that before receiving a provisional certification, CE candidates must be hired by a school in the same area required for the teaching position.

Among other things, such individuals seeking an alternate certification are required to complete a minimum 50 hours of pre-professional experience in an authorized educator preparation program, as well as 400 hours of continuing education, in order to be eligible for a standard certificate in the same endorsement area.

Prior to receiving a certificate, such candidates must also pass a commissioner approved basic skills assessment test, enroll in their school's mentoring program for a minimum of thirty weeks, and obtain at least two evaluations with ratings of effective or highly effective.

In August 2018, the Englewood School District, which to some extent is an urban district, enrolled petitioner in the Alternate CTE program for a Computer Science endorsement, with classes at Brookdale Community College starting in September 2018. (In 1992, Mr. Cash previously obtained an alternate certificate to teach social studies through the State of Maryland).

Having completed several but not all of the requirements, in 2020 Cash applied for a renewal of his provisional CTE which was originally issued in August 2018. The District granted his request, having received an overall rating as effective.

For reasons unknown, and what ultimately became the genesis of this appeal, Cash says the District told him with all of his prior experience, he would not have to complete all of the academic requirements and classes associated with the program at Brookdale, essentially waiving that requirement.

Knowing that his first extension would expire in August 2022, Cash applied for a second renewal, which was ultimately disapproved by the Board on September 16, 2022, due to the Board's determination that a second renewal exceeded the limits allowed by law. Moreover, despite Cash's explanation that he relied on a District representative who told him he did not have to complete the classes at Brookdale, the Board and the Department of Education correctly emphasize that the responsibility and awareness of completing all the requirement is on the applicant, regardless of what one individual incorrectly tells them, and he could have verified the information he allegedly received with the Department itself, who would have given him the correct information.

Cash argues he essentially completed most of the program requirements in good faith, and that the "misunderstanding" about his prior academic experience in Maryland should not serve as a barrier to his continued employment in Englewood under the New Teacher Pilot Certification Program, which was a policy directive aimed at filling several open teaching positions which escalated due to retirements of experienced teachers.

He further indicates that as an African American teacher in a highly diverse district, he is the very model the State and certain districts were looking for when this program came into being. During his four years in Englewood, there is no dispute Mr. Cash was rated as an "effective" teacher, and he completed the thirty plus hours of mentoring, as well as the fifty hours of pre-professional experience. He did some of the class requirements at Brookdale but did not do the rest as a result of improper advice he received from a district official. With the second renewal denied, Cash indicates it would be a hardship for him to essentially start over in a new district, in a new subject area, since he would be barred from continuing with the same subject in the same district under State regulations.

Under these circumstances, Cash argues that he is entitled to a waiver as he has substantially complied with the rest of the requirements.

LEGAL ARGUMENT

The State filed a Motion to Dismiss the Appeal, couched in terms of a Motion for Summary Disposition, essentially arguing there are no disputed material facts, since petitioner admitted he did not complete the classroom portion of the alternate teaching program in the required amount of time. A motion for summary disposition may be granted if there is no genuine issue of material fact and the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5. Under that rule, "a party may move for summary decision upon all or any of the substantive issues in a contested case. Further, "the decision sought may be rendered if there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged, and the movant is entitled to relief as a matter of law."

By analogy, the State suggests it is the equivalent of R. 4:46-2 regarding summary judgment and avoids unnecessary evidentiary hearings when there are no disputed issues of material fact. Contini v. Bd. of Educ. of Newark, 286 N.J. Super. 106 (App. Div. 1995). See also: Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Company of America, 142 N.J. 520 (1995), wherein the New Jersey Supreme Court established that the key question is whether the evidence is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law.

The regulation governing provisional certificate renewals, N.J.A.C.6A:9B-8.5 provides:

The principal may recommend a provisional teacher for renewal of his or her two-year provisional certificate if the candidate has not yet completed the requirements for the standard certificate within the first two years of employment pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A; 9B:-8.4.

See also: N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-8.5 (b)(4) which speaks to limited circumstances that a renewal can be extended beyond the maximum four years in limited circumstances:

The two-year provisional certificate may only be renewed once for a maximum provisional period of four years, or may be renewed twice for a maximum provisional period of six years, if the candidate fulfills one or more of the following in addition to the regular requirements:

1. The candidate holds a CE as a teacher of students with disabilities endorsement, or a CE with Bilingual/bicultural endorsement, or a CE with an English as a second language endorsement.
2. The candidate was issued the provisional certificate after February 1 of the first school year when the candidate was employed; or
3. The candidate does not receive the annual cumulative rating as required for standard certification by July 31st of the candidate's fourth year.

Unfortunately, I CONCLUDE that none of these limited exceptions to the maximum four-year period apply to Cash, who completed several other aspects of the program in good faith and was dedicated to the students in Englewood during his time there. Other than the three circumstances outlined above which do not apply to Cash, neither I nor the Commissioner have the discretion to consider the totality of the circumstances to extend/ renew his status.

(Judicial notice is taken of the growing need for otherwise qualified teaching applicants who come from other fields to offset the growing shortage of teachers in this State). Nonetheless, in order to insure that the very best of these individuals who do not go through the regular four year teaching programs are qualified, the State has created a strict series of requirements that all such candidates must complete.

Having completed the majority of the requirements, with the exception of the classroom hours at Brookdale, petitioner cannot be faulted for seeking a waiver from the remaining requirements. Unfortunately, I FURTHER CONCLUDE that despite seemingly stellar qualifications, no such waiver exists that would enable the District and the Department to bypass the one key component he failed to complete within the four years. I THEREFORE CONCLUDE that the State's Motion to Dismiss the Appeal, presented in the form of a Motion for Summary Disposition must be GRANTED.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that the determination that petitioner is not eligible for a second renewal of is Affirmed, and with all of the facts having already been presented by both parties and no further hearing being necessary, it is further ORDERED, that the State's Motion to Dismiss, presented in the form of a Motion for Summary Disposition is Granted.. With no material facts in dispute, and petitioner having essentially admitted he did not complete all the requirements, despite having four years to do so I THERFORE ORDER, that the matter is hereby decided in its entirety on the merits in favor of Respondent.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Final Decision

S.M., on behalf of J.C.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Elizabeth,
Union County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Pro se petitioner appealed the determination of the respondent Board that her daughter – who has now reached the age of majority and graduated – was not entitled to a free public education in Elizabeth schools during the period from February 2023 through the end of June 2023. The Board contended that J.C. lived in Roselle during this period. Petitioner asserted that she and her daughter were domiciled in Elizabeth during the period in question; however, J.C. spends time before and after school at her grandmother's home in Roselle because there is no internet service in the Elizabeth apartment. The Board sought tuition reimbursement for the period of J.C.'s alleged ineligible attendance in Elizabeth schools.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: petitioner S.M. and her daughter, J.C., testified credibly that they moved back to New Jersey from Virginia prior to the start of J.C.'s junior year in high school; S.M. arranged to rent an apartment in Elizabeth, but the unit flooded prior to her occupancy and mother and daughter were then offered housing with J.C.'s aunt in her Elizabeth apartment; the apartment, however, had no internet service so J.C. used her laptop for schoolwork at her grandmother's house in Roselle in the early mornings and after school; there is sufficient credible evidence that J.C. resided in Elizabeth even though she and her mother spent time with J.C.'s grandmother in Roselle for family meals and gatherings, for internet access, and for mutual care and support; working single parents often must call on family members to help out, but this does not constitute a factual predicate for concluding that J.C. resides in Roselle; further, J.C. was of majority age and could be domiciled in a residence separate from her parent; the Board's case here relies solely on computer pings from J.C's computer at the Roselle house and infrequent surveillance of the two addresses, and was not adequate to prove that J.C. did not live in Elizabeth. The ALJ concluded that petitioner met her burden of proof to show residency in Elizabeth and reversed the Board's decision that J.C. was not entitled to a free public education in Elizabeth schools.

Upon review, the Commissioner remanded this case to the OAL pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.7(a) for the purpose of allowing the ALJ to make factual findings regarding two of the Board's exhibits which were not addressed in the Initial Decision and which the Board contends prove that J.C. was living in Roselle and not Elizabeth during the period in question.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

S.M., on behalf of J.C.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Elizabeth, Union County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the exceptions filed by respondent pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, have been reviewed and considered. Petitioner did not file a reply.

This matter concerns the Board's determination that J.C., who has reached the age of majority, was not domiciled in Elizabeth from February 2023 through the end of June 2023 and the Board's subsequent demand for payment of tuition in the amount of $4,084.43. Petitioner appealed the Board's determination, claiming that she and her daughter resided in Elizabeth during the time period at issue, and the matter was transmitted to the OAL for a contested hearing. S.M., J.C., and the Board's investigator testified at the hearing held on July 6, 2023.

The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) concluded that the very credible testimony of S.M. and J.C., coupled with documents in evidence presented by both parties, constituted sufficient credible evidence to establish that J.C. resided in Elizabeth during the time period in question even though she also spent time at a relative's home in Roselle before and after school. Consequently, the ALJ granted petitioner's appeal and denied the Board's counterclaim for tuition.

In their exceptions, the Board contends, among other things, that prior to the hearing, "J.C. provided her drivers [sic] license and bank statement which indicated her address was [in] Roselle." Respondent's Exceptions, at 3. The Board further contends that neither S.M. nor J.C. addressed these documents, marked in evidence as R-11 and R-12, during their hearing testimony.

Upon careful review of the record, the Commissioner finds that a remand of this matter is necessary pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.7(a) because it is unclear from the Initial Decision whether the ALJ considered respondent's exhibits R-11 and R-12. R-11 is a photograph of J.C.'s New Jersey Probationary Auto License, issued July 11, 2022, and lists her address as a relative's home in Roselle. R-12 is a copy of J.C.'s monthly bank statement for April 2023 which also lists the same Roselle address. Because the record does not contain transcripts, the Commissioner is unable to determine whether these exhibits and their significance were addressed during the hearing. Moreover, neither R-11 nor R-12 are discussed in the ALJ's Initial Decision.

For these reasons, the Commissioner remands the matter to the OAL for the purpose of allowing the ALJ to render factual findings pertaining to R-11 and R-12, to explain the weight she assigned to those exhibits, and to discuss the effect, if any, those exhibits had on her ultimate conclusions of law.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF ELIZABETH, UNION COUNTY,

S.M. and J.C., pro se

Brian Kane, Esq., for respondent Elizabeth Board of Education (LaCorte, Bundy, Varady & Kinsella, attorneys)

Record Closed: July 6, 2023 Decided: July 19, 2023

BEFORE GAIL M. COOKSON, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

This matter involves an appeal by S.M. from the non-residency determination made by the Board of Education of the City of Elizabeth (Board) with respect to her daughter J.C., who has now reached the age of majority and graduated. Petitioner challenges the finding of the Board that they were not domiciled in the district and that J.C. was not entitled, therefore, to a free education.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

By notice dated March 8, 2023, petitioner was notified that the Board's Legal Department had determined that J.C. be disenrolled from the high school on the basis that she did not live in Elizabeth but rather in Roselle. Petitioner filed a pro se Residency Appeal pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1 and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-8.1 and 6A:22 with the Commissioner of Education (Commissioner) in a timely manner on March 21, 2023. On March 27, 2023, the respondent Board filed an Answer to the appeal with a Counterclaim for reimbursement from petitioner for the costs of tuition incurred by the attendance of her daughter in the Board's school district.

The appeal and counterclaim were transmitted by the Commissioner to the Office of Administrative Law on March 28, 2023, as contested matters in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15. The case was assigned to me on April 3, 2023. I convened a case management telephone conference on May 8, 2023. The hearing was held on July 6, 2023, on which date the record closed.

As an initial matter, the following facts, while not the subject of a joint stipulation, were undisputed:

1. J.C. has a date of birth of November 6, 2004, and thus reached the age of majority prior to the undertaking of the residency investigation by the Board.

2. J.C. began attending Elizabeth High School in September 2021 for her junior and then senior years.

3. J.C. graduated on June 23, 2023, and will be attending Spelman College in the fall.

4. The residence at 607 E. Second Ave. (607 2nd), Roselle, is owned by J.C.'s grandmother P.S.

5. The residence at 1422 Lower Road (1422 Lower), Elizabeth, is an apartment rented by J.C.'s aunt (by marriage).

6. There is no residence at 1433 Lower Road; rather, that property is a cemetery and its association to this student was a clerical error of unknown origin.[1]

Based upon due consideration of the testimonial and documentary evidence presented at the hearing, and having had the opportunity to observe the demeanor of the witnesses and assess their credibility, I FIND the following FACTS:

The Board disputes that J.C. is domiciled at her aunt's home at 1422 Lower and presented the testimony and investigative report of William Buteau in support of its disenrollment decision. Buteau has been employed by the Board as an investigator with the Legal Department for approximately six years. He received no training in this position except for the use of the CLEAR and ACCURINT software programs. Buteau has a high school education and worked for thirty years in the Elizabeth Police Department, achieving the rank of Detective.

Buteau was assigned the investigation of J.C. in February 2023 because the Board's Legal Department noticed that her school-issued laptop was often connected to the internet at a consistent location in Roselle. He reviewed her enrollment demographics and the documentation submitted from her enrollment at the beginning of the 2021-2022 school year.

Buteau testified that he conducted a visual surveillance of the two subject properties and persons related to the residency at those locations on February 17, March 23, 24, 27, 28, and then June 29, 2023. I note that the last date just listed is after the school year had ended and graduation had taken place. At that time, Buteau observed that the Volkswagen was parked in the Roselle driveway and there were graduation celebration balloons prominently displayed. On the earliest surveillance occasion, Buteau was able to identify, as an initial matter with some database searches and assistance, the three vehicles owned by petitioner and her mother. On March 23, he passed by at 4:04 p.m. and saw the Honda Accord used by S.M. in the driveway. On March 24, he passed by again and saw the Volkswagen used by J.C. in the driveway at 7:33 a.m. On March 27, between 2:54 and 3:01 p.m., Buteau was at 607 2nd and observed J.C. leave that residence and drive to 1422 Lower. He requested to speak with her when they both arrived there, but J.C. felt that he should talk to her mother even though she was over the age of 18 at that point. On March 28, at 7:25 a.m., Buteau passed by 607 2nd again and saw the vehicles usually driven by mother and daughter there.

On the counterclaim for tuition asserted by the Board, Buteau testified that the per diem tuition cost for a high school child is $99.63 and should be applied to the period from March 8, 2023, through the end of the school year. I FIND that this per diem rate is uncontested. Nevertheless, petitioner rightly points out that J.C. was disenrolled from Monday, March 13 through Friday, March 31, which was during the permitted twenty-one-day appeal period, contrary to the regulations. If I determine that I need to reach the counterclaim, I shall deduct these days from consideration.

J.C. and her mother S.M. both testified in support of the propriety of her enrollment in Elizabeth for her junior and senior years of high school. S.M. testified that she and her daughter returned to New Jersey from Virginia for the start of her junior year due to both the pandemic and a recent marital separation. S.M. had arranged to rent an apartment in Elizabeth and had registered her daughter in the District, but a flood had made that apartment unavailable. At that time, S.M.'s sister-in-law (J.C.'s aunt) offered to let them stay with her at the 607 2nd apartment. S.M. remained there until her grandmother (J.C.'s great grandmother) became ill. This elder family member came from Barbados to live with her daughter P.S., J.C.'s grandmother. At that time, S.M. moved from Elizabeth to the Roselle home in order to assist with her care. J.C. remained with her aunt in Elizabeth. Both S.M. and P.S. are employed in healthcare fields, but S.M. also moonlights as an Uber and Lyft driver.

J.C. testified that she lives with her aunt but also makes time to visit her grandmother's house to see her and her mother. She typically has breakfast over there but eats dinner more often with her aunt. J.C. has done well in high school, achieving a 4.3 GPA, and has been accepted into Spelman College in Atlanta, Georgia for the fall.

During high school, she was President of the National Honor Society and Secretary of both Student Government and Student Council. In addition, she worked weekends at the mall during the school year and held two jobs (i.e., seven days per week) during the summers, including full-time for the Elizabeth Recreation Department.

J.C. also explained that her aunt had no wi-fi connection in her apartment, so she often went to her grandmother's house not only to see her and her mom, but to use the internet there to complete her schoolwork. There were a few times when she connected to the internet while at 1422 Lower but that only occurred because she used her cell phone as a hotspot. J.C. used her 1422 Lower address on her job applications and for her payroll and tax information.

I FIND the testimony of S.M. and J.C. to have been very credible. For example, J.C. was almost of majority age by the start of her senior year and had use of her mother's Volkswagen to travel to her grandmother's and aunt's houses and to school, but there was insufficient or unsafe parking at the aunt's residence. Because the car was a lease, S.M. explained that she had required J.C. to park it most often at 607 2nd to save on the "dings" etcetera that could cause a problem at the lease termination.

I am not rejecting Buteau's investigation, but it only went so far. He never interviewed J.C.'s aunt, mother, or grandmother, or asked to inspect the bedrooms and closets for signs of residency. Buteau also never tested the wi-fi reception at that location. Further, he failed to account for summers, holidays or weekends on the internet access data. That data report clearly shows that J.C. is not at her grandmother's house every night but rather on average, only once or twice a week. I FIND that this is not indicative of living there throughout the school year. In fact, his own observations are confirmative of the fact that J.C. eats breakfast at 607 2nd but returns to 1422 Lower near the end of the afternoon.

I am also impressed by the fact that J.C. was obviously a very conscientious high school student and has been accepted to Spelman College in Atlanta, Georgia, the top ranked HBCU and one that is also highly ranked overall nationally. The Board should be proud of what J.C. has achieved and what she will undoubtedly contribute to society.

ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Persons over five and under twenty years of age who are domiciled within a school district may attend its public schools free of charge. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a). For purposes of this subsection, the domicile of an unemancipated child is the domicile of the parent, custodian, or guardian. P.B.K. v. Tenafly Bd., 343 N.J. Super. 419 (App. Div. 2001). If the parent or guardian of a child attending school in the district is not domiciled within the district, the superintendent or administrative principal may apply to the board of education for the child's removal. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1b.(2). No child shall be removed from school during the twenty-one-day period during which the parent or guardian may contest the board's decision or during the pendency of the proceedings before the Commissioner. Ibid. In a residency appeal, the parent has the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(b)(2). The legal standard to be applied is set forth in the regulation:

> A student is domiciled in the district when he or she is living with a parent or legal guardian whose permanent home is located within the district. A home is permanent when the parent or guardian intends to return to it when absent and has no present intent of moving from it, notwithstanding the existence of homes or residences elsewhere.
> [N.J.A.C. 6A:28-2.4(a)(1)(i)]

It has long been held that a person may have many residences but only one domicile. Somerville Bd. v. Manville Bd., 332 N.J. Super. 6, 12 (App. Div. 2000), aff'd, 167 N.J. 55 (2001). As incorporated in the regulation, the domicile of a person is the place where she has her true, fixed, permanent home and principal establishment, and to which whenever she is absent, she has the intention of returning, and from which she has no present intention of moving. Matter of Unanue, 255 N.J. Super. 362, 374 (Law Div. 1991), aff'd, 311 N.J. Super. 589 (App. Div. 1998), certif. denied, 157 N.J. 541 (1998), cert. denied, 526 U.S. 1051, 119 S.Ct. 1357, 143 L. Ed.2d 518 (1999). The acts, statements and conduct of the individual, as viewed in light of all circumstances, determine a person's true intent. Collins v. Yancey, 55 N.J. Super. 514, 521 (Law Div. 1959).

Where a person has more than one residence, the following factors are useful in determining his or her domicile: the physical characteristics of each place, the time spent and the things done in each place, the other persons found there, the person's mental attitude towards each place, and whether there is or is not an intention, when absent, to return. Mercadante v. City of Paterson, 111 N.J. Super. 35, 39-40 (Ch. Div. 1970), aff'd, 58 N.J. 112 (1971). A choice of domicile by a person, irrespective of his motive, will be honored by the court, provided there are sufficient objective indicia, by way of proofs, supporting the actual existence of that domicile." In re Unanue, 255 N.J. Super. 362, 374 (Law Div. 1991).

Based upon the testimony and documents presented by each party, I CONCLUDE that there is sufficient credible evidence that J.C. resided at 1422 Lower Road even if she spent time at 607 2nd, as did her mother until an elderly family member took ill. The petitioners plainly spend time with J.C.'s grandmother both for common family meals and gatherings, e.g., graduation celebration after school ended, but also for internet access, and mutual care and support. This extended family assisted one another with responsibilities for supporting and nurturing J.C. To argue that children cannot be enrolled in a school district unless they are cared for before and after school and on weekends within that same school district would disenroll a substantial portion of our population. Working parents, especially single parents, often must call upon the volunteer services of grandmothers, cousins, or aunts to help. But the fact that J.C.'s family members help out with these types of responsibilities does not form the factual predicate for concluding that permanent residence exists in Roselle. Further, J.C. was of majority age and therefore, could be domiciled in a residence separate from her parent.

In sum, I CONCLUDE that the above-referenced testimonial descriptions by petitioner and her daughter of their daily routines were credible, made sense, and hung together. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has met the burden of proof on her appeal of the Board's non-residency and de-enrollment determinations. Therefore, I also CONCLUDE that the Board is not entitled to an award in its favor on the counterclaim for the full amount of the partial school year tuition cost.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing findings of fact and conclusions of law, it is ORDERED that the relief requested by S.M. on behalf of J.C. be and the same is GRANTED and her residency appeal is UPHELD. The decision of the Board with respect to J.C.'s right to a free public education in Elizabeth is REVERSED. Accordingly, it is further ORDERED that respondent City of Elizabeth Board of Education's counterclaim for tuition reimbursement be and the same is DENIED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

v.

New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Student Protection,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioner appealed the determination of the respondent New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Student Protection (OSP), permanently disqualifying him – pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 – from performing electrical work in New Jersey school facilities after a background check revealed a conviction in New York State for official misconduct. The issue in this case is whether petitioner's New York official misconduct offense, a Class A misdemeanor crime codified at N.Y.P.L. 195.00, is substantially equivalent to New Jersey's official misconduct offense, a second-degree crime codified at N.J.S.A. 2C:30-2. The parties filed cross motions for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue and the matter is ripe for summary decision; petitioner works as a low voltage electrician; he was required to submit to a criminal background check when his employer applied for an installation job at a New Jersey (NJ) public school; the background check revealed a 2013 conviction under N.Y.P.L. 195.00 for official misconduct in New York (NY); the conviction stemmed from an audit wherein petitioner was unable to account for $5,811 that the New York Police Department (NYPD) reimbursed him for surveillance and wiretap equipment he purchased while employed as a detective for the NYPD; although both N.Y.P.L. 195.00 and N.J.S.A. 2C:30-2 use the same language, the offenses were not substantially equivalent because they subject the offender to different penalties. The ALJ concluded that because the NY and NJ statutes are not substantially equivalent, the petitioner should not be permanently barred from employment on NJ school projects; accordingly, petitioner's motion for summary decision was granted.

Upon review, the Commissioner rejected the Initial Decision, finding the appeal to be untimely. The Commissioner noted that, even assuming the petition was timely filed, petitioner's position – adopted by the ALJ – that N.Y.P.L. 195.00 and N.J.S.A. 2C:30-2 are not substantially equivalent because the penalties imposed for each offense differ, is unavailing. Instead, the Commissioner found, inter alia, that N.Y.P.L. 195.00 and N.J.S.A. 2C:30-2 are substantially equivalent crimes, and a plain language reading of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(d) makes clear that the appropriate inquiry is whether the crimes or offenses are substantially equivalent, not whether the penalties associated with them are substantially equivalent. Accordingly, OSP's motion for summary decision was granted and the petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Michael Bazerman,

Petitioner,

v.

New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Student Protection,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the exceptions filed by respondent pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and petitioner's reply thereto have been reviewed and considered.

This matter concerns whether N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 permanently disqualifies petitioner from performing electrical work at public school facilities after a background check revealed that he was convicted of official misconduct in New York. At issue is whether New York's official misconduct offense, a Class A misdemeanor crime codified at N.Y.P.L. 195.00, is substantially equivalent to New Jersey's official misconduct offense, a second-degree crime codified at N.J.S.A. 2C:30-2.

N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 provides, in relevant part:

> A facility, center, school, or school system under the supervision of the Department of Education and board of education which cares for, or is involved in the education of children under the age of 18 shall not employ for pay or contract for the paid services of any teaching staff member . . . or any other person serving in a position which involves regular contact with pupils unless the employer has first determined consistent with the requirements and > standards of this act, that no criminal history record information exists . . . which would disqualify that individual from being employed or utilized in such capacity or position. . . .

The statute mandates that, absent limited exceptions not applicable here, individuals convicted of "any crime of the first or second degree" are "permanently disqualified from employment or service." Ibid. Moreover, "[f]or the purposes of this section, a conviction exists if the individual has at any time been convicted under the laws of this State or under any similar statutes of the United States or any other state for a substantially equivalent crime or other offense." N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(d). Under New York law, misdemeanors are considered crimes. See N.Y.P.L. § 10.00(6).

The relevant facts are undisputed. In 2013, petitioner was convicted of official misconduct pursuant to N.Y.P.L. 195.00 while employed by the New York City Police Department (NYPD) as a detective. According to petitioner, he was authorized to purchase equipment related to surveillance and wiretap activities with his own money and would receive reimbursement for same upon submission of receipts. During an audit, he was unable to account for equipment for which he had received reimbursement and was subsequently charged with official misconduct. He pled guilty, served no jail time, received a conditional discharge after one-year, paid restitution in the amount of $5,811, and was barred from future employment as a public official.[1]

In 2021, petitioner, now employed as an electrician and data technician in New Jersey with NetQ Multimedia Company, was assigned to work on a project at a public school building in Toms River and underwent a criminal background check. Upon learning of petitioner's official misconduct conviction, respondent barred petitioner from employment at public school facilities pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1. Respondent reasoned that New York's official misconduct offense was substantially equivalent to New Jersey's official misconduct offense, a second-degree crime. Consequently, since N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 provides that all convictions for first- and second-degree crimes are disqualifying offenses, respondent determined that petitioner was therefore permanently disqualified.

[1] In 2015, the State of New York issued petitioner a "certificate of relief from disabilities" which relieves him "of all disabilities and bars to employment, excluding the right to be eligible for public office" based upon his conviction. However, the certificate states that it "shall NOT prevent any judicial, administrative, licensing, or other body, board, or authority from relying upon the conviction specified . . . as the basis for the exercise of its discretionary power to suspend, revoke, refuse to issue or renew any license, permit or other authority or privilege." See also In re Winston, 438 N.J. Super. 1, 8 (App. Div. 2014) ("A New York certificate of relief from disabilities does not alter or affect the criminal conviction to which it relates.").

Petitioner appealed, and the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL). Respondent initially moved to dismiss the petition as untimely, but later withdrew the motion. Because none of the material facts were disputed, the parties moved for summary decision. The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) granted petitioner's cross-motion for summary decision upon concluding that N.Y.P.L. 195.00 and N.J.S.A. 2C:30-2 were not substantially equivalent offenses. Although the ALJ found that "[b]oth statutes use the same language," he reasoned that the offenses were not substantially equivalent because they subject the offender to different penalties. Initial Decision at 5. Specifically, the ALJ determined that the maximum term of imprisonment for a Class A misdemeanor in New York is 364 days, while the maximum term of imprisonment for a second-degree offense in New Jersey is ten years. Ibid.

In its exceptions, respondent argues that the ALJ erroneously focused his analysis on the penalties that courts may impose at sentencing for each offense instead of the nearly identical statutory language defining the elements of each offense. Respondent maintains that because N.Y.P.L. 195.00 and N.J.S.A. 2C:30-2 are substantially equivalent crimes, petitioner is permanently disqualified from working at public school facilities pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1. Respondent also contends that the ALJ went beyond the four corners of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 when he found that petitioner's conviction did not reflect the level of dishonesty "required for disqualification under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 suggested by the enumerated crimes." Initial Decision at 5.

In his reply, petitioner requests that the Commissioner adopt the ALJ's Initial Decision. He maintains that a comparative analysis of the two crimes reveals that they are not substantially equivalent and that the ALJ had the discretion to consider, as part of his analysis, that the sentences imposed for each crime differ. Furthermore, petitioner disagrees with respondent that the ALJ went beyond the four corners of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 when he found that "the record of deceit in petitioner's conviction is lacking" and that petitioner simply "failed to account" for money. Initial Decision at 5. Finally, although this issue was neither addressed by the ALJ nor discussed in respondent's exceptions, petitioner contends that his misdemeanor conviction "cannot be considered a prior conviction for comparative analysis and disqualification purposes" because N.J.S.A. 2C:44-4(c), a statute governing the sentencing of criminal offenders, states that "[a] conviction in another jurisdiction shall constitute a prior conviction of a crime if a sentence of imprisonment in excess of one year was authorized under the law of the other jurisdiction."[2]

Upon review, the Commissioner rejects the Initial Decision of the OAL. First, although this issue was not addressed by the ALJ, the Commissioner finds and concludes that petitioner's appeal was untimely. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i) provides that petitions must be filed "no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling, or other action" by an agency. "The "ninety-day limitation period" is a "reasonable procedural requirement" that "provides finality in education matters" while affording litigants a "meaningful opportunity to file [a] petition." Kaprow v. Bd. of Educ. of Berkeley Twp., 131 N.J. 572, 583 (1993).

[2] N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4(d) provides that replies "may address the issues raised in the exceptions filed by the other party."

Respondent issued its determination on September 13, 2021. As such, petitioner should have filed his petition on or before December 13, 2021. However, his petition was not received by the Office of Controversies and Disputes (Office) until April 26, 2022. Even if the Office had received petitioner's purported email submissions of January 19 and February 25, 2022, they would have been untimely as well. While the record reflects that an employee of respondent mistakenly told petitioner via email on September 22, 2022, that there was no timeline for the filing of an appeal, the limitation period is established by regulation and applies regardless of any statement to the contrary by an employee. Moreover, the employee also provided petitioner with the Office's email address. The onus was on petitioner to inquire with the Office, which is responsible for the processing of petitions, if he had questions. For these reasons, petitioner's appeal should be dismissed as untimely.

But even assuming his petition was timely filed, petitioner's position—adopted by the ALJ—that N.Y.P.L. 195.00 and N.J.S.A. 2C:30-2 are not substantially equivalent because the penalties imposed for each offense differ, is unavailing. Instead, the Commissioner finds and concludes that N.Y.P.L. 195.00 and N.J.S.A. 2C:30-2 are substantially equivalent crimes and that, consequently, petitioner is permanently disqualified from employment on public school projects pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1.

At the outset, the Appellate Division has determined that "N.J.S.A. 2C:30-2 is based upon New York Penal Law § 195.00." State v. Brady, 452 N.J. Super. 143, 162 (App. Div. 2017). That finding is bolstered by a comparative review of the statutes' plain language. As illustrated below, the elements of each offense are nearly identical.

N.Y.P.L. 195.00, Official Misconduct, states:

> A public servant is guilty of official misconduct when, with intent to obtain a benefit or deprive another person of a benefit:

1. He commits an act relating to his office but constituting an unauthorized exercise of his official functions, knowing that such act is unauthorized; or

2. He knowingly refrains from performing a duty which is imposed upon him by law or is clearly inherent in the nature of his office.

Official misconduct is a class A misdemeanor.

By comparison, N.J.S.A. 2C:30-2 states:

> A public servant is guilty of official misconduct when, with purpose to obtain a benefit for himself or another or to injure or to deprive another of a benefit:
>
> a. He commits an act relating to his office but constituting an unauthorized exercise of his official functions, knowing that such act is unauthorized or he is committing such act in an unauthorized manner; or > b. He knowingly refrains from performing a duty which is imposed upon him by law or is clearly inherent in the nature of his office.
> Official misconduct is a crime of the second degree. If the benefit obtained or sought to be obtained, or of which another is deprived or sought to be deprived, is of a value of $200.00 or less, the offense of official misconduct is a crime of the third degree.

The Commissioner rejects the ALJ's attempt to distinguish the two offenses by relying on the penalties associated with them. When construing a statute, the best indicator of legislative intent is a statute's plain language. In re Ridgefield Pk. Bd. of Educ., 244 N.J. 1, 18 (2020). A plain language reading of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(d) makes clear that the appropriate inquiry is whether the crimes or offenses are substantially equivalent, not whether the penalties associated with them are substantially equivalent. See N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(d) ("[A] conviction exists if the individual has at any time been convicted under the laws of this State or under any similar statutes of the United States or any other state for a substantially equivalent crime or other offense.") (emphasis added). The penalties associated with each crime are neither dispositive nor relevant when determining whether the two crimes are substantially equivalent to one another under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(d).

Furthermore, the ALJ's approach in this matter runs contrary to precedent. See Kelly v. New Jersey State Department of Education, Criminal History Review Unit, Commissioner Decision No. 396-18R (December 18, 2018) (holding that because the petitioner's conviction under Pennsylvania law Pa.C.S.A. § 907 for the first-degree misdemeanor of possessing instruments of a crime was substantially equivalent to N.J.S.A. 2C:39-4(a), a second-degree crime, he was permanently disqualified from employment pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1). In Kelly, the ALJ's analysis, adopted by the Commissioner, centered around the statutory elements of each crime and not their degree or the penalties associated with them. Kelly v. New Jersey State Department of Education, Criminal History Review Unit, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 12761-16 (EDU 5753-12 on remand), Initial Decision (November 16, 2018), at 7-13, aff'd, Commissioner Decision No. 396-18R (December 18, 2018). In the end, the different penalties imposed in Pennsylvania and New Jersey had no bearing upon the comparative analysis of the statutory elements of each crime for purposes of determining whether they were substantially equivalent to one another.

In addition, the ALJ's finding that petitioner's conviction did not reflect the level of dishonesty "required for disqualification under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 suggested by the enumerated crimes," Initial Decision at 5, is misplaced. Respondent did not permanently disqualify petitioner based upon a conviction of one of the enumerated crimes at N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(a), (b), or (c). On the contrary, respondent's determination was based upon the plain language of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1, which mandates that individuals convicted of any first- or second-degree crime "shall be permanently disqualified from employment or service." As written, the statute does not allow for consideration of the level of dishonesty involved in the commission of the offense. Neither the ALJ nor the Commissioner is permitted to "rewrite a statute or add language that the Legislature omitted." State v. Munafo, 222 N.J. 480, 488 (2015).

Finally, petitioner's reliance on N.J.S.A. 2C:44-4(c) is unavailing because that statute governs the sentencing of criminal offenders and is inapplicable to the present civil matter. As noted, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(d) expressly provides that "[f]or the purposes of this section, a conviction exists if the individual has at any time been convicted under the laws of this State or under any other similar statutes of the United States or any other state for a substantially equivalent crime or other offense." By its plain language, subsection (d) clearly establishes the definition of conviction to be utilized for purposes of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1. To instead apply the definition of conviction found at N.J.S.A. 2C:44-4(c), which specifically pertains to criminal sentencing, would ignore the plain language of subsection (d) and undermine the Legislature's intent. See generally Aronberg v. Tolbert, 207 N.J. 587, 605 (2011) (holding that one "cannot ignore the relevant statutory language to reach a more sympathetic result for [petitioner]").

Accordingly, respondent's motion for summary decision is granted, petitioner's cross-motion for summary decision is denied, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

MICHAEL BAZERMAN,

Petitioner,

v.

NEW JERSEY DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION,
OFFICE OF STUDENT PROTECTION,

Respondent.

Michael Bazerman, petitioner, pro se

David L. Kalisky, Deputy Attorney General, for respondent (Matthew J. Platkin, Attorney General of New Jersey, attorney)

Record Closed: June 2, 2023 Decided: July 17, 2023

BEFORE: EDWARD J. DELANOY, JR., Deputy Director and ALAJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner Michael Bazerman (Bazerman) appeals the New Jersey Department of Education ("respondent" or "DOE") determination that petitioner's New York conviction is "substantially equivalent" to a first- or second-degree crime in New Jersey, thereby barring petitioner from employment in New Jersey schools.

Petitioner and respondent have filed cross motions for summary decision. The respondent argues that petitioner's conviction for official misconduct in New York disqualifies him from working in New Jersey schools pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1. In response, petitioner argues that his New York conviction is not "substantially equivalent" to those crimes that bar employment under 18A:6-7.1.

STATEMENT OF FACTS AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner is a low voltage electrician and data technician. Resp. Brief p. 2. On August 18, 2021, petitioner applied for an installation job in one of the Toms River School District's school buildings, requiring him to submit fingerprints for a criminal background check. Ibid.

On September 13, 2021, petitioner was notified that under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1, individuals convicted of first- or second-degree crimes in New Jersey or "substantially equivalent" crimes in other jurisdictions are permanently barred from employment, and, due to his violation of N.Y.P.L 195.00 in 2013, petitioner would be barred from employment. Id. at 3.

Petitioner was convicted of "Official Misconduct: Public Servant Performing Illegal Function," N.Y.P.L. 195.00, because he could not account for $5,811 that the New York Police Department reimbursed him for buying equipment while working for the Department in 2013. Id. at 4. Respondent found that N.Y.P.L. 195 is "substantially equivalent" to N.J.S.A. 2C:30-2, "Official Misconduct." Both statutes use the same language. N.Y.P.L. 195.00 provides:

> A public servant is guilty of official misconduct when, with intent to obtain a benefit or deprive another person of a benefit:

> 1. He commits an act relating to his office but constituting an unauthorized exercise of his official functions, knowing that such act is unathorized; or
> 2. He knowingly refrains from performing a duty which is imposed upon him by law or is clearly inherent in the nature of his office.

Official misconduct is a class A misdemeanor.

N.J.S.A. 2D:30-2 provides:

> A public servant is guilty of official misconduct when, with purpose to obtain a benefit for himself or another or to injure or to deprive another of a benefit:
>
> > a. He commits an act relating to his office but constituting an unauthorized exercise of his official functions, knowing that such act is unauthorized or he is committing such act in an unauthorized manner; or
> > b. He knowingly refrains from performing a duty which is imposed upon him by law or is clearly inherent in the nature of his office.

Official misconduct is a crime of the second degree. If the benefit obtained or sought to be obtained, or of which another is deprived or sought to be deprived, is of a value of $200 or less, the offense of official misconduct is a crime of the third degree.

On April 8, 2022, petitioner filed a petition appealing respondent's decision to bar him from employment. Resp. Brief p. 3.

On March 21, 2023, respondent filed a Motion for Summary Decision, and on April 11, 2023, petitioner filed a Cross Motion for Summary Decision. The last pleading was received on June 2, 2023, and the record closed on that day.

The issue is whether N.Y.P.L. 195 is "substantially equivalent" to N.J.S.A. 2C:30-2.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

I. Standard for Summary Decision

Under the Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules, N.J.A.C. 1:1-1.1 to -21.6, "[a] party may move for summary decision upon all or any of the substantive issues in a contested case." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(a). Such motion "shall be served with briefs and with or without supporting affidavits" and "[t]he decision sought may be rendered if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). When the motion "is made and supported, an adverse party in order to prevail must by responding affidavit set forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding." Ibid.

N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 creates a bar to employment for individuals whose "criminal history record check reveals a record of conviction for any crime of the first or second degree" or for specific enumerated crimes. See Id. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 elaborates that "[f]or the purposes of [the] section, a conviction exists if the individual has at any time been convicted under the law of this State or under any similar statutes of the United States or any other state for a substantially equivalent crime or other offense." Id.

Most of the enumerated crimes involve actions that place others in physical danger or the threat of harm. See N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(c) (listing "recklessly endangering another person," "burglary," and "threat and other improper influence" among the disqualifying crimes). Indeed, the majority of cases where convictions in other states were deemed "substantially equivalent" fall into this category. See e.g., David Kelly v. New Jersey State Board of Education, EDU 12761-16, initial decision, (Nov. 16, 2018), adopted, (Dec. 18, 2018), https://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/html/initial/edu12761-16_1.html (man who recklessly endangered children in PA barred from employment).

In John Caucino v. Department of Education, EDU 6213-04, initial decision, (Feb. 10, 2005), adopted, (March 11, 2005), https://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/html/initial/edu06213-04_1.html., a schoolteacher was found to have defrauded a bank of more than $150,000. Id. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 also lists perjury among the enumerated crimes, a crime of dishonesty, but also a rather severe one.

Here, petitioner was not convicted of a violent crime. Nor does the level of dishonesty rise to the level required for disqualification under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 suggested by the enumerated crimes. The benefit petitioner received, approximately $5,000, does not approach that of the more than $150,000 gained in Caucino. Moreover, the record of deceit in petitioner's conviction is lacking. It is simply stated that he "failed to account" for the money, not that he defrauded the NYPD, or perjured himself under oath.

Notably, respondent does not seek petitioner's disqualification based on one of the enumerated crimes, but rather the more general bar of individuals who have been convicted for "any crime of the first or second degree." Resp. Brief p. 13. The more relevant inquiry, therefore, is not whether the elements of the New York crime are comparable to one of the enumerated offenses, but rather whether the class of crime for which petitioner was convicted is "substantially equivalent" to that of the class of first or second-degree crimes in New Jersey.

Petitioner was convicted of a Class A misdemeanor in New York, a classification that carries with it imprisonment that "shall not exceed three hundred sixty-four days." N.Y.P.L. 70.15.1. In contrast, a second-degree crime in New Jersey carries with it a prison term "between five years and ten years." A New York Class A misdemeanor, therefore, is clearly not "substantially equivalent" to a second-degree crime in New Jersey.

To create the substantial equivalence, respondent is essentially arguing that, due to the similarity of the language between N.Y.P.L. 195.00 and N.J.S.A. 2C:30-2, it can be inferred that petitioner would have been convicted under N.J.S.A. 2C:30-2 had he been tried for the same actions in New Jersey. Such an argument, however, ignores the actualities of sentencing in different jurisdictions. Similar language may lead to two very different legal standards in application. Moreover, petitioner plead guilty to the charge of official misconduct based on the penalty the charge holds. Resp. Brief Ex. F. Had petitioner been facing five to ten years under N.J.S.A. 2C:30-2, the result may have been very different.

The only reliable comparison that can be drawn, therefore, is based on the classification of the crimes. N.Y.P.L. 195.00 is not a crime that involves "the use of force or the threat of force" like those enumerated under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1, and respondent does not argue that N.Y.P.L. 195.00 is equivalent to one of these enumerated crimes. Instead, respondent argues petitioner's crime is "substantially equivalent" to the general category of first-and second-degree crimes in New Jersey. These categories are defined not by the elements of crimes, but by the sentences they carry. Thus, the proper comparison is not the elements of the crimes but the sentence classifications. Here, we have a Class A Misdemeanor in New York which, based upon classification, is a much less serious crime than a first- or second-degree crime in New Jersey.

CONCLUSION

I CONCLUDE that based on the undisputed facts and the documents presented by the parties, N.Y.P.L. 195.00 is not "substantially equivalent" to N.J.S.A. 2C:30-2, and petitioner's Cross Motion for Summary Decision should be granted.

ORDER

I hereby ORDER that the petitioner's motion for summary decision is GRANTED, and respondent's motion for summary decision is DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE my initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

Appellant, pro se

For the Respondent State Board of Examiners, Sadia Ahsanuddin, Deputy Attorney General (Matthew J. Platkin, Attorney General of New Jersey)

The Commissioner has reviewed the record and the papers filed in connection with appellant Tarley Cooper's appeal of the Order of the State Board of Examiners (Board), dated April 13, 2023, revoking his Teacher of Elementary School in Grades K-6 and Teacher of Students with Disabilities certificates. In February 2019, appellant pled guilty to criminal charges of Aggravated Assault and Recklessly Endangering Another Person in Pennsylvania. Based on the conviction, the Pennsylvania Professional Standards and Practices Commission revoked appellant's educator certificate in January 2020, and the Delaware Department of Education revoked his educator licenses in August 2021.

In April 2021, the Board found that the level and nature of appellant's conduct provided just cause for the consideration for the revocation of his New Jersey certificates and issued an Order to Show Cause (OTSC). In his Answer, Cooper acknowledged his conviction but noted that he had sent a letter to the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) requesting that the conviction be withdrawn because the police complaint was fabricated. The Board concluded that appellant had engaged in unbecoming conduct and that the appropriate penalty was revocation of his certificates.

On appeal, appellant argues that the incident that led to his conviction was fabricated by the police and that he is the target of a conspiracy by an unnamed hate group. Appellant contends that he has always disputed the charges against him, and that he has contacted the FBI, the Governor of Pennsylvania, and the Pennsylvania Board of Pardons (BOP) to have his convictions overturned.

In reviewing appeals from decisions of the Board, the Commissioner may not substitute her judgment for that of the Board so long as the appellant received due process and the Board's decision is supported by sufficient credible evidence in the record. Further, the Board's decision should not be disturbed unless the appellant demonstrates that it is arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. N.J.A.C. 6A:4-4.1(a). With regard to reviewing a sanction imposed by the Board, the Appellate Division has defined the standard as determining whether the "punishment is so disproportionate to the offense, in light of all the circumstances, as to be shocking to one's sense of fairness." In re Certificates of Benjamin Norton, 2016 N.J. Super. Unpub. LEXIS 2291, *6-7 (internal citations and quotations omitted).

Upon review of the record, the Commissioner concurs with the Board that appellant has engaged in unbecoming conduct. The Commissioner also finds that the Board's decision to revoke appellant's certifications was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. While petitioner provided copies of letters requesting an investigation by the FBI[1] and a pardon from the Governor of Pennsylvania and the BOP,[2] he does not appear to have appealed his conviction through the courts, nor has he provided any information demonstrating that the FBI, Governor, or BOP have acted on his requests. In the absence of any such information, appellant's convictions stand, and the Commissioner is satisfied that the record adequately supports the Board's determination that appellant engaged in unbecoming conduct and that revocation of his certificates is the appropriate penalty.

Accordingly, the decision of the Board is affirmed. Appellant's Teacher of Elementary School in Grades K-6 and Teacher of Students with Disabilities certificates are hereby revoked.[3]

Date of Decision: August 29, 2023
Date of Mailing: August 30, 2023

[1] Appellant's letter to the FBI is dated March 16, 2021, and it references an earlier request dated October 21, 2019. Accordingly, the FBI had ample time to act upon the request prior to the issuance of the Board's decision if it intended to do so.

[2] The Commissioner notes that both appellant's letter to the Governor and his application to the BOP are dated after the Board's decision revoking his certificates. The Commissioner cannot conclude that the Board's decision was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable based on documents that did not exist at the time that decision was made.

[3] This decision may be appealed to the Appellate Division of the Superior Court pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9.1. Under N.J. Ct.R. 2:4-1(b), a notice of appeal must be filed with the Appellate Division within 45 days from the date of mailing of this decision.

IN THE MATTER OF	:	NEW JERSEY DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION
THE CERTIFICATES OF	:	STATE BOARD OF EXAMINERS
TARLEY COOPER	:	ORDER OF REVOCATION
_____	:	DOCKET NO: 2021-138

At its meeting of February 26, 2021, the State Board of Examiners (Board) reviewed information received from the National Association of State Directors of Teacher Education and Certification and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Professional Standards and Practices Commission (Pennsylvania Commission) regarding Tarley Cooper. On February 12, 2019, Cooper pled guilty to criminal charges of Aggravated Assault and Recklessly Endangering Another Person in the Delaware County Court of Common Pleas in Pennsylvania. On January 31, 2020, the Pennsylvania Commission revoked his educator certificate based on the undisputed conviction for Aggravated Assault and Recklessly Endangering Another Person.

Cooper currently holds a Teacher of Elementary School in Grades K-6 Certificate and a Teacher of Students with Disabilities Certificate. Upon review of the above information, the Board voted at its meeting of April 1, 2021 to issue Cooper an Order to Show Cause as to why his certificates should not be revoked.

On August 2, 2021, the Board received notice that the Delaware Department of Education revoked Cooper's Delaware educator license(s) as a result of the Aggravated Assault and Recklessly Endangering convictions in Pennsylvania.

The Board sent Cooper the Order to Show Cause by regular and certified mail on April 6, 2021. The Order provided that Cooper must file an Answer within 30 days. The certified return receipt was returned as received and the regular mail was not returned. The Board then sent Cooper a Second Notice on May 25, 2021. Again, the certified return receipt was returned as received and the regular mail was not returned.

The Board then received information that Cooper's address may have changed. Accordingly, the Board resent the Order on August 26, 2021. Cooper filed an Answer on September 3, 2021.

In his Answer, Cooper acknowledged his conviction but noted that he sent a letter to the FBI in response to the Order to Show Cause; the letter requested that his conviction be withdrawn because the entire police criminal complaint was fabricated. Cooper indicated in his Answer that he was falsely accused, abused, and kidnapped. See Answer at ¶1-4.

Thereafter, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.6(e), on November 10, 2021, the Board sent Cooper a hearing notice by regular and certified mail. The notice explained that it appeared that no material facts were in dispute as Cooper was convicted of the crime(s). Cooper was offered an opportunity to submit written arguments on the issue of whether the conduct addressed in the Order to Show Cause constituted conduct unbecoming a certificate holder, as well as arguments with regard to the appropriate sanction in the event that the Board found just cause to take action against his certificates. Cooper was also offered the opportunity to appear before the Board to provide testimony on the sanction issue.

Cooper responded that he could only refer the Board to the letter he sent to the FBI. He was unsure how long it would take to receive a response from the FBI regarding his letter and asked that the Board request that information from the FBI if it required same. After advising Cooper that the Board is not required to request information from the FBI for his defense, the Board requested Cooper provide information on whether he has a pending appeal of his conviction or other information to show that the conviction is pending a review or appeal. Cooper did not produce such information and the Board advised this matter would be placed on an agenda for a hearing.

In additional communications Cooper indicated that he wished to appear before the Board virtually as he would be unable to appear in person. The Board scheduled the matter for a hearing at its January 26, 2023 meeting and sent Cooper the meeting access information, along with meeting procedures.

Prior to that scheduled meeting, Cooper submitted a letter dated January 19, 2023 wherein he indicated that he would not be able to attend the hearing due to a statement in the Board's invitation to the virtual meeting. The Board's coordinator offered several times for Cooper to attend, advising that the hearing procedures provided guidance on the fact that the hearing was limited to evidence in mitigation of the penalty and was not a factual hearing. Cooper interpreted this information as limiting and elected not to appear for his scheduled hearing. The Board was, however, provided with his January 19, 2023 correspondence. Cooper did not attend the scheduled hearing.

The threshold issue before the Board in this matter is whether Cooper's conduct constitutes conduct unbecoming a certificate holder. At its meeting of March 3, 2023, the Board considered the allegations in the Order to Show Cause as well as Cooper's Answer. The Board determined that no material facts related to Cooper's offense were in dispute since he acknowledge that he was criminally convicted of Aggravated Assault and Recklessly Endangering Another Person.

Although Cooper indicated he was requesting an investigation with the FBI regarding his conviction, he did not produce paperwork demonstrating he filed a formal appeal of the convictions, or that the FBI had initiated an investigation into his allegations such that his conviction could potentially be overturned. The Board is not obligated to pursue such information and Cooper did not provide same to the Board. Cooper did not provide any information or documentation indicating that his conviction was overturned or on appeal.

Given that the conviction remains and there is no information on the status of any appeal or investigation into the convictions, the Board determined that summary decision was appropriate in this matter. N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.6(h).

The Board must now determine whether Cooper's conduct, as set forth in the Order to Show Cause, represents just cause to act against his certificates pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.4. The Board finds that it does.

The Board may revoke or suspend the certification of any certificate holder on the basis of demonstrated inefficiency, incapacity, conduct unbecoming a teacher or other just cause. N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.4. "Teachers... are professional employees to whom the people have entrusted the care and custody of ... school children. This heavy duty requires a degree of self-restraint and controlled behavior rarely requisite to other types of employment." Tenure of Sammons, 1972 S.L.D. 302, 321.

Furthermore, unfitness to hold a position in a school system may be shown by one incident, if sufficiently flagrant. Redcay v. State Bd. of Educ., 130 N.J.L. 369, 371 (1943), aff'd, 131 N.J.L. 326 (E & A 1944). In this instance, Cooper's actions in being convicted of Aggravated Assault and Reckless Endangerment, along with having his Pennsylvania and Delaware educator certificates revoked demonstrate behavior that falls far short of the role model status expected of teachers. The Board therefore concludes that the appropriate response to Cooper's breach is the revocation of his certificates.

Accordingly, on March 3, 2023, the Board voted to revoke Tarley Cooper's Teacher of Elementary School in Grades K-6 Certificate and Teacher of Students with Disabilities Certificate. On this 13th day of April 2023, the Board voted to adopt its formal written decision and it is therefore ORDERED that the revocation of Tarley Cooper's certificates be effective immediately.

It is further ORDERED that Cooper return his certificates to the Secretary of the State Board of Examiners, Office of Certification and Induction, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, NJ 08625-0500 within 30 days of the mailing date of this decision.

v.

Kathleen Fable,
Northern Valley Regional Board of Education, Bergen County
Respondent

I. Procedural History

The above-captioned matter arises from a Complaint that was filed with the School Ethics Commission (Commission) on May 15, 2020,[1] by Joseph Argenziano (Complainant), a member of the Northern Valley Regional Board of Education (Board), alleging that Kathleen Fable (Respondent), also a member of the Board, violated the School Ethics Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-21 et seq. More specifically, the Complaint alleges that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members (Code) when she conducted a personal investigation into the cost of Chromebooks by contacting vendors and other school districts without authorization from the Board.

At its meeting on September 29, 2020, and after reviewing Respondent's Motion to Dismiss in Lieu of Answer (Motion to Dismiss) and Complainant's response thereto, the Commission voted to deny the Motion to Dismiss in its entirety. Based on its determination, the Commission also voted to direct Respondent to file an Answer to Complaint (Answer), and to transmit the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) following receipt of the Answer.

On October 19, 2020, Respondent filed an Answer as directed. The Commission subsequently transmitted the matter to the OAL for a plenary hearing where Complainant would carry the burden to prove the alleged violations of the Code as set forth in the Complaint.

At the OAL, a hearing was held on November 22 and 23, 2022. Thereafter, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) issued an Initial Decision on May 15, 2023. Respondent filed exceptions to the Initial Decision, in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and Complainant filed a reply thereto.

[1] On May 15, 2020, Complainant filed a deficient Complaint; however, on May 19, 2020, Complainant cured all defects and filed an Amended Complaint that was deemed compliant with the requirements detailed in N.J.A.C. 6A:28-6.3.

At its meeting on June 27, 2023, the Commission considered the full record in this matter. Thereafter, at its meeting on July 25, 2023, the Commission voted to adopt the Initial Decision's findings of fact, the legal conclusions that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e), and the recommended penalty of censure.

II. Initial Decision

During the 2019-2020 school year, the Board was considering replacing the Apple devices in the one-to-one program where each student receives a device. Initial Decision at 21. On March 31, 2020, the Board heard a presentation on a feasibility study in which a recommendation was made to replace the 2,100 student devices with the MacBook Air 13. Ibid. While a vote was not taken at the Board meeting to approve the MacBooks, Respondent "set forth her skepticism" regarding the cost of the devices. Id. at 21-22. According to Respondent, she and another Board member were "frustrated with what they thought was the lack of information from the administration regarding their selection of new Apple devices to replace the old Apple Devices." Id. at 21.

On April 1, 2020, Respondent emailed the business administrators for the Tenafly, Emerson, Paramus and Ridgewood Boards of Education indicating that she was a member of the Board and requesting information on their experiences with Chromebooks as she was "looking to do an analysis of Apple devices versus Chromebooks." Id. at 22. Thereafter, Respondent's employee at her private business, Breana Sylvester (Sylvester), sent several emails to a district vendor, CDW-G. Ibid. Sylvester indicated that she was emailing "on behalf of a board member of the Northern Valley Regional High School district [(District)] in Demarest, NJ" and requested a quote for Chromebooks with detailed specifications, as "[t]he school is looking to move students over to Chromebooks, as part of a 1:1 program." J-5; Initial Decision at 22. The vendor alerted the Superintendent to the request, and the Superintendent advised the vendor that Sylvester was "illegally soliciting information" on the District's behalf. Initial Decision at 22. On April 14, 2020, CDW-G responded to Sylvester indicating that it could not provide quotes to an "unauthorized person." Respondent replied and indicated that she was seeking information regarding her "PERSONAL RESEARCH as a board member," but that as CDW-G was not responsive, she would contact another approved vendor. J-8; Initial Decision at 22. Consequently, Respondent sought price quotes for Chromebooks from Ocean Computers and Dell EMC. Initial Decision at 23.

Respondent did not apprise the Board of her plans, nor did she have approval from the Board, the Finance Committee, the Superintendent, the Board President, or the Board attorney to contact vendors or other school districts. Ibid. On April 27, 2020, the Board authorized the purchase of MacBooks for the one-to-one program, and on May 11, 2020, passed a resolution authorizing Complainant to file the within ethics complaint. Ibid.

The ALJ found that it is undisputed that Respondent contacted vendors, both directly and through her employee, as well as other school districts ostensibly on behalf of the Board. Id. at 25. The ALJ further found that Respondent and her employee identified Respondent as a Board member and represented that the Board was contemplating switching from MacBooks to Chromebooks, despite the fact that the Board was considering no such switch. Ibid. According to the ALJ, Respondent's "rationale" was her belief that she had not been given accurate and detailed information related to the MacBooks and wanted to do her own research. Ibid. However, the ALJ contends in doing so, Respondent violated [D]istrict policy and the Code because she put the Board in "potentially compromised positions" when she took private action to conduct a personal investigation into the cost of Chromebooks without authorization." Ibid.

In concluding Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c) and N.J.S.A 18A: 12-24.1(e) and recommending an appropriate penalty, the ALJ compared the within matter to Lowell v. Smallwood, Asbury Park Board of Education, Monmouth County, 2017 N.J. Super. Unpub. LEXIS 1267 (App. Div. 2017). In Lowell, the respondents violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c) and N.J.S.A 18A: 12-24.1(e) when they conducted a site visit to assess a candidate for interim Superintendent without board authority and without approval of the State monitor. The Commission recommended a penalty of censure for the violations, which was accepted by the Commissioner, and affirmed by the Appellate Division. The ALJ found this present matter to be similar to Lowell as Respondent "made repeated contact with vendors and school administrators without [B]oard approval." Initial Decision at 26. As such, the ALJ recommended a penalty of censure. Ibid.

III. Exceptions

Respondent's Exceptions

In her exceptions, Respondent initially argues that she had requested information regarding the costs of the technology refresh multiple times, but it was not provided, and that seeking data from outside entities when District administration fails to provide it is in accordance with the "best practices" for Board members according to the Lighthouse Inquiry, a publication by the Iowa Association of School Boards in 2001.

Respondent argues she did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c) because Complainant did not provide any evidence to support that Respondent "acted beyond the scope of her capacity as a board member." On the contrary, Respondent maintains, the evidence demonstrates that she "conducted her own research, not on behalf of the Board, but with knowledge of all members of the Finance Committee," which is common practice. Respondent further argues the Initial Decision disregarded Daniel Eller's testimony which indicated that conducting outside research was part of the Finance Committee discussion and was discussed in the presence of Complainant and the Superintendent. Additionally, Respondent contends that the ALJ failed to consider Sylvester's testimony that Respondent did not review the email she sent to the vendor, but rather another supervisor did.

Respondent argues she did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) because there is no evidence that she made any personal promises to the individuals she contacted. Respondent maintains that contacting other school districts to learn about their experiences with Chromebooks is not something that would compromise a school board. Additionally, Respondent asserts that there is no evidence she "leveraged her standing as a [B]oard member to get information from outside sources," such as other school districts or vendors, as she was conducting "personal research." Respondent maintains she did not direct her assistant to use her

Board member status when drafting the emails in question, nor did she tell her assistant what companies to contact or the specifications for the Chromebooks. Furthermore, Respondent contends her inquiries did not compromise the Board.

As to the penalty, Respondent notes despite that she has not been a Board member since 2021, Complainant read the Initial Decision and the recommended penalty of censure to the public at the May 22, 2023, Board meeting, without waiting for the Commissioner of Education to make a final pronouncement of the penalty. Respondent argues a penalty of reprimand should be issued, rather than censure, due to the mitigating factors of Complainant's use of the process for his own political gain and the administration's failure to provide Respondent and the Finance Committee with "necessary information."

Complainant's Reply to Respondent's Exceptions

In his reply, Complainant argues there is no basis to reject the ALJ's findings that Sylvester and Respondent were not credible witnesses. Complainant contends the Commission should adopt the ALJ's findings, namely that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c), and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e). More specifically, Complainant notes contrary to Respondent's assertion that she was conducting "personal research," it is undisputed that Respondent held herself out as representing the Board when she and her assistant solicited pricing information from vendors and information from other school districts. Complainant asserts Respondent contacted a District vendor and a potential vendor without the authorization of the full Board, while representing that she was seeking information as a Board member, and directed her assistant, who has no connection to the Board, to seek information on the Board's behalf, in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c).

Regarding a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e), Complainant argues Respondent engaged in private action that compromised (or at a minimum had the potential to compromise) the Board when she "directly solicited information concerning school technology from a District vendor and a potential vendor, as well as several neighboring school districts' Business Administrators without first obtaining authority from the Board." Complainant reiterates Respondent and her assistant, on Respondent's behalf, "'gave the impression' that she was acting on behalf of the Board, although she did not have permission to do so."

Complainant urges the Commission to find a censure as the appropriate penalty as Respondent was "a seasoned Board member and serving in her second term at the time of the events at issue." Therefore, Respondent should have been "well-aware" that her actions were unethical.

IV. Analysis

Upon a careful, thorough, and independent review of the record, the Commission agrees with the ALJ that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e).

At the outset, the Commission notes that an agency head may not reject or modify any findings of fact as to issues of credibility of lay witnesses unless it is first determined from a review of the record that those findings are arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable or are not supported by sufficient, competent, and credible evidence in the record. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c); N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.6(c). Despite Respondent's arguments, the Commission finds no basis to disturb the credibility findings of the ALJ regarding Respondent's or Sylvester's testimony. The ALJ had the opportunity to observe and assess the witnesses during their testimony, and the credibility findings are supported by sufficient, competent, and credible evidence in the record.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c), board members must confine board action to "policy making, planning, and appraisal" and "frame policies and plans only after the board has consulted those who will be affected by them." Respondent took official action to effectuate policies and plans without consulting those affected by the policies and plans when she contacted vendors and other school districts, both indirectly and through her private employee who did not have a connection to the Board; identified herself as a member of the Board; and indicated that the Board was contemplating switching from MacBooks to Chromebooks, when the Board had not considered a change. In using misrepresentations (either directly or indirectly) and her position on the Board to find a quote for Chromebooks in the hope of securing a contract for Chromebooks, Respondent took action to effectuate plans without consulting with the Board. While Respondent alleges that some members of the Finance Committee were aware that she may conduct research, Respondent did not have Board approval to take such actions. Moreover, Respondent's actions far exceeded preliminary internet searches or "research"; she conducted a detailed inquiry in which she contacted school vendors and gave the impression that she was doing so on behalf of the Board. As such, the Commission agrees with the ALJ that Respondent's actions constitute a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c).

In accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e), Board members must "recognize that authority rests with the board of education," and therefore, must "make no personal promises nor take any private action that may compromise the board." Respondent took personal action when she contacted vendors and school districts without authorization from the Board, seeking price quotes for Chromebooks. Such actions had the potential to compromise the Board as Respondent falsely implied to vendors, including a District vendor, that the Board was considering purchasing Chromebooks. The Commission disagrees with Respondent that it is the "best practice" to seek data from outside entities when information is not provided by the administration. Respondent was within her right to express disagreement at the Board meeting, but it was inappropriate of Respondent to conduct her own private investigation and place the Board at risk. Further, the administration did not fail to provide information; a feasibility study was provided but Respondent sought additional information. Accordingly, the Commission agrees with the ALJ that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e).

The Commission further agrees with the ALJ that a censure is the appropriate penalty for such a violation. Lowell, supra, presents an analogous case in which violations of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) resulted in a censure after the respondents conducted a site visit without authority to assess a candidate for interim Superintendent. The Commission notes that while Respondent no longer serves on the Board, she was an experienced Board member in her second term at the time of the violations and made repeated contacts with other school districts and vendors without Board approval. Furthermore, Respondent not only committed such flagrant violations on her own, but also recruited her private employee without any connection to the Board to conduct an investigation on her behalf. Accordingly, the Commission adopts the ALJ's recommended penalty in this matter.

IV. Decision

For all of the aforementioned reasons, the Commission adopts the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. The Commission finds that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) and adopts the recommended penalty of censure for the violation.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c), this decision shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of Education for review of the Commission's recommended penalty. The parties may either: 1) file exceptions to the recommended sanction; 2) file an appeal of the Commission's finding of a violation; or 3) file both exceptions to the recommended sanction together with an appeal of the finding of a violation.

Parties taking exception to the recommended sanction of the Commission but not disputing the Commission's finding of a violation may file, within thirteen (13) days from the date the Commission's decision is forwarded to the Commissioner, written exceptions regarding the recommended penalty to the Commissioner. The forwarding date shall be the mailing date to the parties, as indicated below. Such exceptions must be forwarded to: Commissioner of Education, c/o Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, P.O. New Jersey Commissioner of Education

In the Matter of the Certificates of
Scott Levy, State Board of Examiners,
New Jersey Department of Education.

Order of Suspension by the State Board of Examiners, September 20, 2022

For the Appellant, Nicholas Poberezhsky, Esq.

For the Respondent, State Board of Examiners, Amna Toor, Deputy Attorney General (Matthew J. Platkin, Attorney General of New Jersey)

The Commissioner has reviewed the record and the papers filed in connection with appellant Scott Levy's appeal of the Order of the State Board of Examiners (Board), dated September 20, 2022, suspending his Teacher of English Certificate of Eligibility, Teacher of Elementary School Grades K-8 Certificate of Eligibility, Teacher of English Certificate, and Teacher of Elementary Grades K-8 Certificate for one year.

On May 20, 2020, the Wyckoff Board of Education filed tenure charges against appellant. These charges stemmed from a series of allegations that appellant engaged in conduct unbecoming a teacher by: 1) physically assaulting a seventh-grade student identified as M.K.; 2) harassing and inappropriately touching a student identified as K.T.; and 3) harassing and inappropriately touching a student identified as A.P. The charges further alleged that: 4) appellant had a substantial record of misconduct, which included prior accusations of inappropriate contact for which remedial measures had been taken and failed, and this pattern of conduct justified his removal from employment.

Following an arbitration, the Arbitrator determined that the district had substantiated all four tenure charges.

Specifically, the Arbitrator found that on January 3, 2020, appellant assaulted M.K. by knocking the books from M.K.'s hands when she approached him for assistance and then intentionally contacting M.K.'s face twice with the back of his hand as she continued to request his assistance with the assignment. In making this determination, the Arbitrator assessed the credibility of the witnesses and found that the student's testimony was clear, consistent, and unembellished. Conversely, the Arbitrator found that appellant's testimony had changed over time, and it appeared to the Arbitrator that appellant was "attempting to minimize his culpability for [the] incident, while avoiding an affirmative admission." The Arbitrator found that "[i]n sum ... [appellant's] testimony simply lacks the ring of truth."

The Arbitrator further found that appellant engaged in the harassment and inappropriate touching of K.T. during the 2019-2020 school year. This conduct included frequent and intentional placing of appellant's hands on K.T.'s shoulders and back, as well as placing his hand over K.T.'s hands while looking at her computer. The Arbitrator also found that on one occasion appellant had placed his hand on K.T.'s thigh while looking at her computer. The Arbitrator found K.T.'s testimony to be clear, consistent, and credible, while appellant's testimony was less persuasive and a "post hoc effort to recast his undeniable misconduct."

The Arbitrator also found that appellant engaged in the harassment and inappropriate touching of A.P. during the 2019-2020 school year. This conduct included appellant frequently and intentionally placing his hands on A.P.'s shoulders and back, as well as putting his hand over A.P.'s hands while looking at her computer. The Arbitrator also found that on one occasion appellant had placed his hand on A.P.'s thigh while looking at her computer. Arbitrator found A.P.'s testimony to be clear, consistent, and credible, while appellant's testimony was less persuasive.

Finally, the Arbitrator found that, during the 2015-2016 and 2016-2017 school years, appellant had engaged in a course of conduct that "caused his students to feel uncomfortable and undermined the learning environment" and that, taken together with the present allegations, "represented a sufficient linkage between them to sustain [a] charge that [appellant] has engaged in a pattern of inappropriate conduct towards his students." The evidence supporting this tenure charge included a letter from a prior superintendent, which appellant acknowledged receiving, detailing prior allegations of inappropriate touching of students. The Arbitrator expressly found as unpersuasive the appellant's denial that the prior disciplinary action related to his in-classroom behavior, as his denial was directly contradicted by the evidence.

In assessing the penalty, the Arbitrator concluded that appellant's pattern of failing to maintain proper boundaries with students "call[s] for a level of discipline that is sufficient to impress upon [appellant] the serious error of his ways." However, the Arbitrator determined that because he could not find appellant's inappropriate touching to be of a sexual nature, dismissal was not warranted. The Arbitrator imposed a six-month suspension without pay and a requirement that appellant participate in eight hours of professional development classes regarding appropriate teacher-student interactions and classroom management.

Thereafter, the Board issued an Order to Show Cause as to why appellant's certificates should not be suspended or revoked. Appellant filed an answer on August 12, 2021, raising several defenses. On May 19, 2022, the Board sent a hearing notice to appellant, advising him that there appeared to be no material facts in dispute. Appellant provided a written response to the Board on June 16, 2022, indicating that while he "vehemently disputes several of the factual determinations' found by the Arbitrator ... [appellant] does not request that this matter be transferred to the Office of Administrative Law." The Board found that it was constrained by the doctrine of collateral estoppel; therefore, there were no material facts in dispute, and the Board proceeded on a summary basis pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.6(h). [1]

In an Order of Suspension dated September 20, 2022, the Board, after adopting the facts as found by the Arbitrator, held that Appellant engaged in conduct unbecoming a teacher and that his conduct provided just cause to act against his certificates pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.5. Further, after considering the mitigating factors, including appellant's lengthy and otherwise successful career and the fact that the touching was not of a sexual nature, the Board found that a one-year suspension of appellant's certificates was the appropriate sanction. The within appeal followed.

On appeal, appellant argues that the Board failed to give sufficient consideration to appellant's state of mind. Appellant contends that a showing of specific intent to commit conduct unbecoming a teacher is necessary to act against an individual's certificates. Appellant claims that the Arbitrator did not find that he intended to make inappropriate contact with the students and instead found that the contact was incidental or accidental. Appellant also argues that the penalty imposed is excessive and that the Board should have given deference to the Arbitrator's penalty assessment, as the arbitrator was in a better position to assess the nature of the misconduct. Appellant further asserts that the factors identified in In re Tenure Hearing Fulcomer, 93 N.J. Super. 404 (App. Div. 1967) weigh against suspension or revocation.

[1] Appellant, in his reply brief, argues for the first time that this matter should have been sent to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) to determine his specific intent and should not have proceeded summarily. A review of the proceedings and decision before the Arbitrator makes clear that the record was sufficiently developed to permit the Board to proceed summarily, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.6(h). Further, based on the June 16, 2022, letter, appellant appears to have understood the nature of the proceedings and raised no objection to proceeding on a summary basis in this matter.

In reviewing appeals from decisions of the Board, the Commissioner may not substitute her judgment for that of the Board as long as the appellant received due process and the Board's decision is supported by sufficient credible evidence in the record. Further, the Board's decision should not be disturbed unless the appellant demonstrates that it is arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. N.J.A.C. 6A:4-4.1(a). Upon a comprehensive review, the Commissioner finds that the record adequately supports the Board's determination that appellant engaged in unbecoming conduct and that a one-year suspension of his certificates was the appropriate penalty.

Appellant's insistence that his physical contact with students was merely incidental or accidental is contrary to the record, the substantiated charges, and the factual and credibility findings made by the Arbitrator. For each of the substantiated charges, the Arbitrator found that appellant engaged in repeated intentional physical contact with students, causing them distress. The Arbitrator also found that the amount of force utilized by appellant does not change the essential nature of his conduct. Furthermore, the Arbitrator found appellant's innocent explanations for the contact to be unpersuasive.

Appellant's assertion that the Board must find that appellant specifically intended to engage in conduct unbecoming a teacher is contrary to law. Unbecoming conduct has been defined as conduct that "has a tendency to destroy public respect for [government] employees and confidence in the operation of public services." Bound Brook Bd. Of Educ. v. Ciripompa, 13 228 N.J. 4, 13 (2017) (internal citations omitted). Taking appellant at his word that he did not intend to engage in conduct unbecoming a teacher, appellant's subjective intentions do not cure the shock and upset felt by the students who were subject to his repeated unwanted contact, nor do they restore the public's respect and confidence in the provision of public services.

Finally, with regard to appellant's argument that the Board should defer to the Arbitrator's penalty determination, the Commissioner notes that the Board – whose statutory authority is derived separately from that of the panel of arbitrators – can act against a teacher's certificates regardless of the penalty imposed by an arbitrator in a tenure proceeding without affording the arbitrator's penalty determination any special deference. See In the Matter of the Certificates of Nicholas Cilento, Commissioner Decision No. 131-22, dated June 23, 2022[2] (issuing a two-year suspension of the appellant's certificates after an arbitrator issued a three-month suspension in a tenure proceeding).

There is nothing in the record to suggest that the Board's decision to suspend appellant's certificates for one year was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.[3] Accordingly, the decision of the State Board of Examiners is affirmed for the reasons expressed therein.[4]

[2] This decision is currently pending review in the Appellate Division. Appellant requested that the within matter be held in abeyance until the Cilento appeal has been concluded, arguing that the decision may be dispositive in this matter. Appellant's request is denied.

[3] Appellant argues that the suspension is inconsistent with the factors to be considered pursuant to Fulcomer, supra. The Commissioner notes that Fulcomer pertains to penalties imposed in tenure proceedings, and not proceedings before the Board. Nonetheless, the Commissioner finds that the Board's penalty determination is consistent with the Fulcomer factors.

[4] This decision may be appealed to the Appellate Division of the Superior Court pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9.1. Under N.J.Ct.R. 2:4-1(b), a notice of appeal must be filed with the Appellate Division within 45 days from the date of mailing of this decision.

IN THE MATTER OF	:	NEW JERSEY DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION
THE CERTIFICATES OF	:	STATE BOARD OF EXAMINERS
SCOTT LEVY	:	ORDER OF SUSPENSION
_____	:	DOCKET NO: 2021-144

At its meeting of April 1, 2021, the State Board of Examiners (Board) reviewed a tenure decision regarding Scott Levy (Levy), a tenured teacher in the Wyckoff School District (Wyckoff). Wyckoff certified tenure charges against Levy for unbecoming conduct alleging that he physically assaulted a seventh-grade student, inappropriately touched two other students and had a substantial record of misconduct.

On January 28, 2021, the Arbitrator appointed to the case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-16 found that Wyckoff demonstrated the truth of the charges and suspended Levy from his tenured employment. In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Scott Levy, Dkt. No. 104-5/20 (Arbitrator's Decision, January 28, 2021). The matter was referred to the Board for review.

In the Arbitration Decision (which is incorporated herein by reference), the Arbitrator found that on January 3, 2020, Levy knocked books from a seventh grader's hands when she approached him for assistance on an assignment, and twice touched her face with the back of his hand by swinging his arms, as she resumed her petition for his help. See Arbitration Decision at p. 33.

Additionally, the Arbitrator found that during the 2019-2020 school year, Levy inappropriately touched another seventh-grade student on the shoulder, hand, and leg, causing her to feel uncomfortable. See Arbitration Decision at p. 39.

The Arbitrator also found that during the 2019-2020 school year, Levy touched another seventh-grade student inappropriately on the hand and leg, causing her to feel uncomfortable. See Arbitration Decision at page 43.

The Arbitrator also found that in years preceding the 2019-2020 school year, Levy engaged in pattern of inappropriate conduct towards his students, causing his students to feel uncomfortable and undermining the learning environment. See Arbitration Decision at page 47.

Levy is the holder of Teacher of English Certificate of Eligibility, Teacher of Elementary School Grades K-8 Certificate of Eligibility, Teacher of English Certificate, and a Teacher of Elementary Grades K-8 Certificate.

On May 13, 2021, the Board voted to issue Levy an Order to Show Cause for revocation due to the findings in the Arbitration decision. The Board sent Levy the Order to Show Cause by regular and certified mail. The Order provided that Levy's Answer was due within 30 days. Levy filed his Answer on August 12, 2021.

In that Answer, Levy admitted that Wyckoff brought tenure charges against him but denied that the Arbitrator found truth in all of the charges. (Answer, ¶¶ 2, 3). Levy stated that the Arbitrator rejected Wyckoff's claims that he committed sexual harassment and that he assaulted a student. Id. at ¶ 3. He further answered that the Arbitration decision speaks for itself. Id. at ¶¶ 4-7. He also submitted 8 additional defenses.

Levy also submitted a letter from counsel wherein he argues two additional matters. The first is that Levy was "already severely and sufficiently punished" by the Arbitrator in this matter. He further points out that Levy's actions were not found to be sexual in nature and he had no malicious intent. Levy argued that since the Arbitrator did not find a lengthier suspension or loss of tenure to be appropriate, it follows that his certificates should not be suspended because that would extend his discipline.

Thereafter, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.6(e), on May 19, 2022, the Board sent Levy a hearing notice by regular and certified mail. The notice explained that there appeared to be no material facts in dispute. Thus, Levy was offered an opportunity to submit written arguments on the issue of whether the conduct addressed in the Order to Show Cause provided just cause to take action against his certificates as well as arguments with regard to the appropriate sanction in the event that the Board determined to take action against his certificates. It also explained that upon review of the charges against him and the legal arguments tendered in his defense, the Board would determine if Levy's offense warranted action against his certificates. Thereupon, the Board would also determine the appropriate sanction, if any. Levy was also offered the opportunity to appear before the Board to provide testimony on the sanction issue. Levy filed a written response on June 16, 2022. Levy did not wish to appear before the Board.

In his Hearing Response, Levy indicated that he "vehemently disputes several of the factual determinations" found by the Arbitrator in this matter. See Hearing Submission at p. 1. Levy argues there are several problems with the Arbitrator's findings, but he does not request that this matter be transferred to the Office of Administrative Law for a hearing because doing so could delay the processing of his retirement. Id. at p. 2.

Levy requests that the arbitration decision be considered in totality; specifically, the findings that Levy's physical contact with students was incidental in nature and part of his classroom management style. Id. He further states that if the Board accepts the Arbitrator's findings of fact, it must also accept that Levy did not commit sexual harassment and that he lacked malicious intent. Id.

Finally, Levy argues that the Board should consider that he was a popular director of the theater program and drama club; he organized many fundraising drives, one that raised well over $10,000 during the 8 years he chaired the event; he founded a student run newspaper; he had a long and decorated career as an educator. Id. at p. 4-5. Levy states that he was already punished by virtue of his penalties from the tenure arbitration award and requested that no further discipline is warranted.

The threshold issue before the Board in this matter, therefore, is whether Levy's conduct constitutes unbecoming conduct of a certificate holder. At its meeting of August 5, 2022, the Board considered the allegations in the Order to Show Cause as well as Levy's Answer and Hearing Submission. The Board determined that it was constrained by collateral estoppel to accept the facts as found in the tenure hearing and therefore no material facts related to Levy's offense were in dispute. See In the Matter of the Certificates of Richard Barnes-Bey, Dkt. No. 1314-194 (Bd. Of Examiners September 17, 2015) (Collateral estoppel applies to facts established in a prior tenure hearing for Board revocation proceedings). Thus, the Board determined that summary decision was appropriate in this matter. N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.6(h).

The Board must now determine whether Levy's conduct, as set forth in the Order to Show Cause and proven in the tenure hearing, represents just cause to act against his certificates pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.5. The Board finds that it does.

It is important to note that the Board is not bound to the penalty assessed by an Arbitrator as it relates to a challenge on an educator's tenure. Levy's argument that he cannot or should not be "punished" beyond the Arbitration Award penalty would essentially hamstring the Board from exercising its responsibility and statutory authority on revocation/suspension of educator certificates, usurping the Board's expertise and authority on these matters. The Board is a separate body and applies its own, independent decision as to whether the specific conduct established in the tenure proceedings warrants action on an educator's teaching certificates. The "responsibility of the [Board] under N.J.S.A. 18:6-38 is not the same as the Commissioner's obligation to determine the appropriate penalty once tenure charges brought against a teaching staff member have been sustained." IMO Theresa Lucarelli, Dkt. No. 2-99 (State Board of Education Decision, May 5, 1999), citing IMO John Ahern, slip opinion (State Board of Education Decision, August 5, 1987).

Accordingly, the Board may revoke or suspend the certification of any certificate holder on the basis of demonstrated inefficiency, incapacity, conduct unbecoming a teacher or other just cause. N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.4. In this case, the record established that Levy knocked a book from a student's hands, inappropriately touched two students, causing them to feel uncomfortable. The Board recognizes Levy's arguments that the touching was not found to be of a sexual nature and finds this fact mitigates the penalty in this matter. In light of Levy's lengthy otherwise successful career and the fact that the conduct was not sexual in nature, the Board finds that the appropriate response in this matter is a one-year suspension of Levy's certificates.

Accordingly, on August 5, 2022, the Board voted to suspend Scott Levy's educator certificates for one (1) year. On this 16th day of September 2022, the Board voted to adopt its formal written decision and it is therefore ORDERED that Levy's certificates are hereby suspended for one year, effective immediately. It is further ORDERED that Levy return his certificates to the Secretary of the State Board of Examiners, Office of Certification and Induction, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, NJ 08625-0500 within 30 days of the mailing date of this decision.

Final Decision

Do-Yeon Shim,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Borough of Ridgefield, Bergen County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

In this matter, petitioner – a tenured teacher employed by the respondent, Board of Education of the Borough of Ridgefield (Board) – challenged the determination of the Board that she had committed an act of harassment, intimidation and bullying (HIB) against a second-grade student. The Board alleged that petitioner committed HIB when she took a photograph of the student's braided hairstyle as he bent down to tie his shoelace, then showed the photograph to the student, and told him that "they could play tic-tac-toe on his head because his hair looked like a tic-tac-toe board." Petitioner asserted that she had taken the picture because she thought the student's hairstyle "was cool" and she wanted to create a bonding moment with him. The school district's HIB investigation determined that petitioner's actions were "reasonably perceived to be motivated on the basis of appearance, race or ethnic origin" and that she had committed an act in violation of the HIB statute, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14. The parties filed cross motions for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue in this matter and the case is ripe for summary decision; the statutory elements of a HIB violation are set forth in the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, at N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14, and require a finding that the petitioner's conduct substantially disrupted or interfered with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students; here, the record is devoid of evidence to establish this requirement; no student witnesses, nor the alleged HIB victim himself, reported or reacted in any negative way to the incident in question; the incident was reported by one of two staff members who observed petitioner's interaction with the student. The ALJ determined that petitioner's conduct, while wholly inappropriate and racially insensitive, did not constitute a HIB violation under New Jersey law. Accordingly, the ALJ granted petitioner's motion for summary decision, concluding that the Board's HIB determination in this case was arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable.

Upon review, the Commissioner adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. In so doing, the Commissioner did not condone the petitioner's conduct and poor judgment but agreed with the ALJ's well-reasoned conclusion that the incident did not meet the statutory requirements of an HIB violation. Summary decision was granted to the petitioner.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Do Yeon Shim,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Borough of Ridgefield, Bergen County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the exceptions filed by respondent Board of Education of the Borough of Ridgefield (Board) pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and petitioner's reply thereto, have been reviewed and considered.

This matter involves the Board's determination that petitioner, a teacher, committed an act of harassment, intimidation, or bullying (HIB) when she took a photograph of a second-grade student's braided hairstyle as he bent down to tie his shoelace, showed the photograph to the student, and told him that "they could play tic-tac-toe on his head because his hair looked like a tic-tac-toe board." Initial Decision, at 3. During the HIB investigation, one staff member witness reported that the student seemed "unfazed" by petitioner's conduct. Ibid. While another staff member witness said that the student seemed "confused" by petitioner's conduct, she confirmed that "there was no apparent impact on [him] the rest of the day." Id. at 4. The student told administrators that petitioner took the photograph because "she liked [his] hair" and reported that "he liked the picture because his hair looked good." Id. at 3.

Petitioner appealed the Board's determination, and the matter was transmitted to the OAL. The parties cross-moved for summary decision. Upon finding that the material facts were not in dispute, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) granted petitioner's motion for summary decision and concluded that the Board's HIB determination was arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable. The ALJ analyzed the statutory elements of a HIB violation as set forth in the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (the Act) at N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14, along with relevant case law, and determined that the record was devoid of evidence to establish that petitioner's conduct substantially disrupted or interfered with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students. Consequently, petitioner's conduct—although wholly inappropriate and racially insensitive—did not constitute a HIB violation under New Jersey law.

In their exceptions, the Board argues that petitioner's conduct "substantially interfered with the student's right to be let alone and feel comfortable among his peers." Respondent's Exceptions, at 3. The exceptions focus upon the nature of petitioner's conduct, which was unquestionably offensive, insensitive, and demeaning. Id. at 4-5. While the Board concedes that "no students reported the matter" to administrators, it emphasizes that a staff member did. Id. at 3-4. In reply, petitioner asks the Commissioner to adopt the ALJ's Initial Decision because the Board had no basis upon which to conclude that a substantial disruption resulted from the interaction between petitioner and the student.

Upon review, the Commissioner adopts the ALJ's thoughtful and well-reasoned Initial Decision as the Final Decision in this matter. While the Commissioner absolutely does not condone petitioner's conduct and poor judgment, the ALJ correctly determined that it did not meet the statutory requirements of a HIB violation based upon the evidentiary record. The Act defines HIB as:

> [A]ny gesture, any written, verbal or physical act, or any electronic communication, whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic, that takes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds as provided for in section 16 of P.L. 2010, c.122 (C.18A:37-15.3), that substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:
>
> a. a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging the student's property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;
>
>
> c. creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.
> [N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14.]

In sum, a finding of HIB requires three elements under the Act. First, the conduct must be reasonably perceived as being motivated by any actual or perceived characteristic expressly identified in the statute, or by any other distinguishing characteristic.[1] Second, the conduct must substantially disrupt or interfere with the rights of other students or the orderly operation of the school. Third, one of the three conditions set forth in subsections (a), (b), and (c) must be satisfied. Wehbeh v. Bd. of Educ. of the Twp. of Verona, Essex Cnty., Commissioner Decision No. 510-20 (Feb. 4, 2020).

Here, it is undisputed that the Board's written HIB determination referenced only the first element of the statute vis-à-vis petitioner's conduct, i.e., that it can be reasonably perceived as being motivated by "appearance, race and ethnic origin." Initial Decision, at 9. The Board made no findings regarding the other requisite statutory elements. Because the ALJ correctly concluded that the record fails to establish that petitioner's conduct substantially disrupted or interfered with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that petitioner's conduct did not constitute a HIB violation under the Act. Consequently, it is unnecessary to analyze whether one of the three conditions set forth in subsections (a), (b), and (c) of N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14 was satisfied.

The Board's reliance in its exceptions upon T.R. and T.R., on behalf of minor child, E.R. v. Board of Education of the Bridgewater-Raritan Regional School District, Somerset County, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 10208-13, Initial Decision (Sept. 25, 2014), Commissioner Decision No. 450-14 (Nov. 10, 2014), and R.H. and M.H., on behalf of minor child, A.H. v. Board of Education of the Borough of Sayreville, Middlesex County, OAL Dkt. Nos. EDU 09435-17 and EDU 14833-17, Initial Decision (June 24, 2021), Commissioner Decision No. 198-21 (Sept. 23, 2021), is unavailing. The Board cited those matters to illustrate that students have a right to be let alone, and that substantial disruptions have been found to occur under the Act when other students are so affected by the HIB incident that they report it to administrators. Respondent's Exceptions, at 2-3. Here, however, there is no indication that students present in the hallway during the incident noticed what had occurred or were affected in any way by petitioner's conduct. Initial Decision, at 19. In addition, the Board concedes that no students reported the incident to administrators. Respondent's Exceptions, at 3.

Accordingly, the Commissioner hereby adopts the Initial Decision as the Final Decision in this matter, grants petitioner's motion for summary decision, and denies respondent's cross-motion for summary decision.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[2]

BEFORE: MATTHEW G. MILLER, ALJ

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

This is a Harassment, Intimidation, and Bullying ("HIB") case arising out of an alleged violation of the New Jersey Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13, et seq.

Petitioner, Do Yeon Shim, is employed as a teacher in the Ridgefield, New Jersey School District. Following an incident involving a student that occurred on December 15, 2022, the District's HIB Coordinator determined that Ms. Shim had violated the HIB statute in a December 23, 2022 report. The District Superintendent signed off on the report on January 3, 2023 and a determination letter dated January 9, 2023 was sent to petitioner.

Ms. Shim, through counsel, appealed this determination by letter dated January 11, 2023, but the decision was affirmed by the Ridgefield Board of Education ("RBOE"), with the result being forwarded to Ms. Shim by letter dated January 20, 2023

On March 13, 2023, Ms. Shim filed a Verified Petition of Appeal. Respondent filed an Answer to the Petition on or about March 21, 2023 and the matter was transmitted to Office of Administrative Law ("OAL") on March 24, 2023 for hearing as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

An initial conference was held on April 14, 2023. Petitioner then filed this Motion for Summary Decision on May 31, 2023. Respondent followed with opposition to the Motion and a Cross-motion for Summary Decision and following the filing of Opposition/Reply Briefs by both parties, the record closed on July 24, 2023.

FINDINGS OF UNDISPUTED FACT

The following FACTS of the case are not in dispute:

1. At all times relevant to this matter, petitioner, Do Yeon Shim, was a tenured teacher employed by the Ridgefield, New Jersey School District.

2. On December 15, 2022, while working at the Bergen Boulevard School[1], Ms. Shim was involved in an incident with a student that was witnessed by two other staff members ("SM1" and "SM2"). (Exhibit P-A).

3. More specifically, SM1 was walking the student back from a bathroom break to his classroom. When the student bent over to tie his shoe, Ms. Shim told him to hold that position and then used her phone to take a picture of his hair. (Exhibit R-A).

4. After doing so, Ms. Shim showed the photo to the student and stated that they could play tic-tac-toe on his head because his hair looked like a tic-tac-toe board.

5. SM1 intervened and complimented the student's hairstyle, and they left the area. SM1 further stated that the student seemed "unfazed" by the interaction and was excited to receive stickers on his testing chart.

6. SM1 reported the incident and an investigation commenced on December 16, 2022 that was performed by the District's Anti-Bullying Coordinator, Kara Doviak and signed off on by Dr. Letizia Pantoliano, the District Superintendent.

7. In conjunction with that investigation, the student was interviewed by Ms. Doviak and Dr. Tamika DePass, the District's Affirmative Action Officer. During the interview, the student confirmed the incident and felt that Ms. Shim had taken the picture because "she liked (his) hair". He also expressed that he liked the picture because his hair looked good.

8. SM2 was also interviewed and confirmed the incident, noting that Ms. Shim told the student to stay down because she wanted to take a picture of his head.

[1] This school is attended by 1st and 2nd grade students.

She felt that the student seemed "confused" but admitted that she "could not read him well". She noted that other students in the hallway were "quiet" and that she was "uncomfortable" with the interaction, although there was no apparent impact on the student the rest of the day.

9. Ms. Shim was also interviewed as part of the investigation and confirmed the basics of the incident, claiming that she took the picture because she thought the student's hairstyle was cool and she wanted to create a bonding moment with him.

10. The investigation concluded that Ms. Shim's actions were "reasonably perceived to be motivated on the basis of appearance, race or ethnic origin" and that she had committed an act in violation of the HIB statute.

11. Ms. Shim was advised of the result of the investigation on January 9, 2023 and offered an opportunity to contest the result before the RBOE. (Exhibit P-B).

12. On January 10, 2023, Ms. Shim was further advised that her actions violated RBOE Policy 3280 (Liability for Pupil Welfare) and 3281 (Inappropriate Staff Conduct). (Exhibit R-B).

13. On January 11, 2023, petitioner requested a hearing before the RBOE and on January 19, 2023, the RBOE affirmed the district's determination that she had committed an act of HIB. (Exhibit P-C and Exhibit R-C).

14. Petitioner was advised of the outcome via a January 20, 2023 letter. (Exhibit P-D).

15. The sole issue in dispute is whether respondent's affirmation of the district's determination that petitioner violated N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13, et seq. was arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable.

MOTION

Petitioner filed a Motion for Summary Decision, arguing that;

> Clearly, the determination in this case only addresses the distinguishing characteristic element of the statute and fails to address any other element required.

Petitioner emphasizes that none of the evidence supplied by respondent addresses the other three elements of the statute; that the conduct substantially disrupted the orderly operation of the school, that a reasonable person should have known that the conduct would physically or emotionally harm a student and that it either insulted or demeaned the student or created a hostile educational environment for him. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14.

Citing to Wehbeh v. Bd. of Educ. of the Twp. of Verona, 2020 N.J. Agen. LEXIS 50 (Comm'r of Ed. February 4, 2020) and N.U. on behalf of minor child, M.U. v. Bd. of Educ. of the Town of Mansfield, Burlington County, 2020 N.J. Agen. LEXIS 244 (Comm'r of Ed. August 2, 2020), petitioner argues that respondent's finding of an HIB violation was arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable and therefore must be reversed.

Respondent opposed the Motion and filed a Cross-Motion for Summary Decision, arguing that with the presumption of correctness and what it considers to be a lack of affirmative showing that its decision was arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable, its decision was clearly correct. Thomas v. Morris Twp. Bd. of Educ., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965).

It was also argued that petitioner's actions met all four prongs of the HIB statute in any event and that respondent's decision was well-supported by the facts of the case;

> The District correctly concluded that Petitioner's actions constituted HIB because they were motivated by appearance, race and/or ethnic origin, the conduct occurred in school, substantially interfered with the student's right to be left alone and to feel secure and comfortable in school and was the type of conduct that a reasonable person would find would cause emotional harm, and which was offensive and demeaning. Those findings were ultimately affirmed by the Board, and which decision was not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable, as required for its decision to be overturned.

Respondent's brief at 4.

LEGAL POSITIONS

PETITIONER:

Petitioner argues that by the very findings of the HIB investigation, the Board's affirmation of Ms. Shim's guilt of the offense was arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable. Referencing the HIB statute, it was argued that respondent cited to only a single prong of what is a multi-part test to determine whether a violation had occurred and while she disagreed with that finding, in the absence of even a mention of the other prongs made the finding de jure unsustainable. Pointing to N.U. o/b/o M.U, petitioner notes;

> In addition to the fact that no specific findings were made addressing all elements of the statute, the allegations themselves likewise do not meet the standard to constitute acts of HIB. Therefore, the determination that petitioner engaged in (an) act of HIB is substantively deficient as well as procedurally deficient and this, is arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable and must be reversed.
> Petitioner brief at 7.

Petitioner then goes on to analyze the incident against the specific prongs of the statute and argues that there is nothing about same that violates same in any way. In so doing, counsel points to Wehbeh, Melnyk v. Teaneck Bd. of Educ., 2016 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 161524 (D.N.J. Nov. 22, 2016) and D.D.K. o/b/o D.K. v. Bd. of Educ. of the Tp. of Readington, 2016 N.J. Agen. LEXIS 835, (Initial Decision, October 6, 2016), adopted as modified, 2016 N.J. Agen. LEXIS 1348 (Comm'r of Ed., November 11, 2016).

RESPONDENT:

Respondent argues that Ms. Shim's actions unquestionably constituted a violation of the HIB Act and that its conclusions were not only not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable, but were clearly correct.

More specifically, it argued that its investigation confirmed that petitioner's actions met all four prongs of the HIB statute and that while petitioner may disagree with the Board's determination, as long as its discretion was "exercised honestly and upon due consideration", it should be upheld. J.B. o/b/o minor child J.B. v. Northern Valley Reg. High Sch. District, 2021 N.J. Agen. LEXIS 571 (March 8, 2021).

It should be noted that respondent's Brief included a section concerning the manner in which the investigation was conducted and how potential administrative errors in same should be overlooked. However, petitioner did not question the technicalities of either the investigation or the manner in which it was affirmed by the Board of Education. Petitioner's only complaint is the finding (and subsequent affirmation) itself.

HIB REPORT:

The HIB report reads in full as follows;

> On December 15, 2022, staff member #1 at BB school reported an incident that took place in the hall way (sic) outside of the bathroom while the class was taking an allotted bathroom break. Staff member #1 stated that she was walking victim back to his classroom teacher and he asked to show his teacher his work. Present were Offender, staff member #2, staff member #3 and victim's classmates. Staff member #1 reports the following: "Victim bent down to tie his shoe. Offender took her phone out and told victim to stand still as offender took a picture. At first I thought offender was taking a picture of victim tying his shoe. Offender then showed victim the picture and stated that they could play tic tac toe on victim's head. Victim looked puzzled, maybe in shock, not sure what offender meant. Offender then further explained that they could play tic tac toe together on his head because his hair looked like a "tic tac toe board." Immediately after staff member #1 told him how much she liked his braids and who helps him with his hair. Then they went back to finish their work in the testing office. Nothing else was said of the incident and victim appeared unfazed as he was excited to receive stickers on his testing chart.

On December 16, 2022, victim was interviewed by myself and Dr. DePass. Though questioning victim confirmed that his teacher took a picture of his head and said it looked like a tic tac toe board. He was asked why he thought she did this and he said, "She liked my hair" Did you like that she took a picture of your hair? Yes. Did you tell your mom? Yes. How did she take the picture? I was tying my shoelaces. Did she show you the picture? Yes. She said I didn't know what the top looks like and said she wanted to play tic tac toe. Did you like the picture? Yes. Why did you like it? Because my hair looks good.

On December 16, 2022, staff member #3 was interviewed as a possible witness. She stated she was not present at the time the picture was taken. She said she was walking down the hall and staff member #1 took victim out for a break. They talked about how proud she was about victim's sentence structure work.

Staff member #2 reports she was in the hallway when victim came to show her his sentences. She confirms that victim bent over to tie his shoes and offender told him to stay down because she wanted to take a picture of his head. She reports victim looking confused. She then said offender took a picture, showed victim the picture and told him that is (sic) looks like a tic tac toe board and that they can play. When asked about victim's reactions she said she couldn't read him well but he looked confused. When asked about victim's reactions she said she couldn't read him well but he looked confused. When asked the reaction of the other students she said they were quiet. When asked how she felt about the incident staff member #2 reported feeling uncomfortable. She was asked if offender did anything further and she said no. When asked how victim was for the rest of the day she said he seemed normal and didn't seem out of sorts.

Interview with Offender on December 19, 2022 with Dr. DePass and Kara Doviak. Dr. DePass verified with offender that she took the photo and asked her why she took it. Offender responded that she thought the pattern was cool and wanted to share it with victim. Offender said she wanted to find bonding moments and thought victim's hair was cool. Victim showed me his writing booklet and I told him I wanted to see the same things from him in class as well and that he can do it. Victim couldn't see the top of his head so I wanted to show him. When asked if she asked for victims' permission before taking the photo she said she did not but let him know she was taking the picture. It was just the top of his head. When you took the pic were there other student reactions?

> No, everyone was occupied while waiting for the bathroom, there was no reactions. It was just myself, staff member #3 and staff member #2.
> Summary
>
> Staff member #1 reported that offender told a student to stay in a bent down position so she could take a picture of his head. When showing the victim the picture, offender said they should play tic tac toe on his head. The staff member (offender) and two other staff members substantiated the incident. The student also substantiated that this happened. The finding of this case substantiated a case of HIB based on the fact that the findings can be reasonable perceived as being motivated by either any actual or perceived characteristic such as race, religion, gender, mental...physical or sensory disability or by any other distinguishing characteristic. In this case it has been determined that the staff member's (offender) actions were motivated by appearance, race and ethnic origin. Although the offender reports she did not realize the potential negative impact this incident may have had, it is still a case of HIB based on the Anti-bullying law in New Jersey.

LAW AND ANALYSIS

Summary decision may be granted "if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). The OAL summary decision rule is essentially the same as the summary judgment rule under the New Jersey Court Rules, which states:

> The judgment or order sought shall be rendered forthwith if the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment or order as a matter of law. An issue of fact is genuine only if, considering the burden of persuasion at trial, the evidence submitted by the parties on the motion, together with all > legitimate inferences therefrom favoring the non-moving party, would require submission of the issue to the trier of fact.

> [R. 4:46-2(c).]

The New Jersey Supreme Court has modified and clarified the analysis required when considering a motion for summary decision/judgment. In Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Co. of America, 142 N.J. 520, 540 (1995), the Court adopted the summary judgment standard utilized by federal courts:

> Under this new standard, a determination whether there exists a "genuine issue" of material fact that precludes summary judgment requires the motion judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to permit a rational factfinder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party. The "judge's function is not himself [or herself] to weigh the evidence and determine the truth of the matter but to determine whether there is a genuine issue for trial." [Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, 477 U.S. 242, 249, 106 S. Ct. 2505, 2511, 91 L. Ed. 2d 202, 212 (1986).] . . . If there exists a single, unavoidable resolution of the alleged disputed issue of fact, that issue should be considered insufficient to constitute a "genuine" issue of material fact for purposes of R. 4:46-2. Liberty Lobby, supra, 477 U.S. at 250, 106 S. Ct. at 2511, 91 L. Ed. 2d at 213. The import of our holding is that when the evidence "is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law," Liberty Lobby, supra, 477 U.S. at 252, 106 S. Ct. at 2512, 91 L. Ed. 2d at 214, the trial court should not hesitate to grant summary judgment.
> [Id. at 540.]

The burden is on the moving party to exclude all reasonable doubt as to the existence of any genuine issue of material fact, and all inferences of doubt are drawn against the moving party and in favor of the non-moving party. Saldana v. DiMedio, 275 N.J. Super. 488, 494 (App. Div. 1994). The critical question therefore is "whether the evidence presents a sufficient disagreement to require [a hearing] or whether it is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law." Brill, 142 N.J. at 533 (citation omitted). If the non-moving party's evidence is merely colorable, or is not significantly probative, summary judgment should not be denied. See, Bowles v. City of Camden, 993 F. Supp. 255, 261 (D.N.J. 1998).

An action by a local board of education "is entitled to a presumption of correctness and will not be upset unless there is an affirmative showing that such decision was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable." Thomas v. Morris Twp. Bd. of Educ., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965). Our courts have held that "[w]here there is room for two opinions, action is not arbitrary or capricious when exercised honestly and upon due consideration, even though it may be believed that an erroneous conclusion has been reached." Bayshore Sewage Co. v. Dep't of Envtl. Prot., 122 N.J. Super. 184, 199-200 (Ch. Div. 1973),aff'd, 131 N.J. Super. 37 (App. Div. 1974). Thus, in order to prevail, those challenging a decision made by a board of education "must demonstrate that the Board acted in bad faith, or in utter disregard of the circumstances before it." G.H. & E.H. ex rel. K.H. v. Bd. of Educ. of Franklin Lakes, 2014 N.J. AGEN. LEXIS 19 (February 24, 2014) (citation omitted), adopted, 2014 N.J. AGEN. LEXIS 1137 (April 10, 2014). Also, a board's decision may be overturned if its determination violates the legislative policies expressed or implied in the governing act. J.A.H. ex rel. C.H. v. Twp. of Pittsgrove Bd. of Educ., 2013 N.J. AGEN. LEXIS 58 (March 11, 2013) (citing Campbell v. Dep't of Civil Serv., 39 N.J. 556, 562 (1963)), adopted, 2013 N.J. AGEN. LEXIS 436 (April 25, 2013).

The Anti-Bullying Act is designed "to strengthen the standards and procedures for preventing, reporting, investigating, and responding to incidents of harassment, intimidation, and bullying of students that occur in school and off school premises." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.1(f). Under the Act, "[h]arassment, intimidation or bullying" is defined as;

> any gesture, any written, verbal or physical act, or any electronic communication, whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic, that takes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds as provided for in section 16 of P.L.

> 2010, c.122 (C.18A:37-15.3), that substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:
>
> > a. a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging the student's property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;
> >
> >
> > c. creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.
>
> [N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14.]

At this point, it is important to note that the interplay of sections (a), (b) and (c) was addressed by the Commissioner in Wehbeh, 2020 N.J. Agen. LEXIS 50;

> ...a finding of HIB requires three elements. First, the conduct must be reasonably perceived as motivated by any actual or perceived enumerated characteristic or other distinguishing characteristic and, second, the conduct must substantially disrupt or interfere with the rights of other students or the orderly operation of the school. (Footnote omitted). The third condition is that one of the three criteria enumerated in the Act regarding the effect of the conduct must also be satisfied.
> Id. at 3.

The Commissioner explained that "as a matter of standard statutory construction, the term "or" between subsections (b) and (c) also applies to subsection (a), such that a demonstration of any of these three criteria can support a finding of HIB." Id. at n2.

Each school district must adopt a policy that prohibits HIB and provides "a procedure for prompt investigation of reports of violations and complaints." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6). Once an alleged HIB incident is reported to the school principal, the principal must initiate an investigation within one school day of the report. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(a). The investigation shall be conducted by a school anti-bullying specialist, but "[t]he principal may appoint additional personnel who are not school anti-bullying specialists to assist in the investigation." Ibid. The investigation shall be completed within ten-days of the initial HIB complaint. Ibid.

The results of the investigation shall then be quickly reported to the superintendent of schools, who may take certain remedial action. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(b). In particular, "the superintendent may decide to provide intervention services, establish training programs to reduce [HIB] and enhance school climate, impose discipline, order counseling as a result of the findings of the investigation, or take or recommend other appropriate action." Ibid.

The results shall also be reported to the board of education "no later than the date of the board of education meeting next following the completion of the investigation, along with information on any services provided, training established, discipline imposed, or other action taken or recommended by the superintendent." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(c).

The parents of the students involved in any alleged HIB incident "shall be entitled to receive information about the investigation, . . . including the nature of the investigation, whether the district found evidence of [HIB], or whether discipline was imposed, or services provided to address the incident of [HIB]." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(d). The parents may request a hearing before the board, and the hearing must be held within ten-days of the request. Ibid. Any hearing shall be held in executive session to protect the identity of any students involved. Ibid. And "[a]t the hearing, the board may hear from the school's anti-bullying specialist about the incident, recommendations for discipline or services, and any programs instituted to reduce such incidents[.]" Ibid.

A school board must issue a written decision at the first meeting after its receipt of the investigation report. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(e). The board may affirm, reject, or modify the superintendent's decision. Ibid. The board's decision may be appealed to the Commissioner of Education. Ibid.

Before determining the outcome of the case, we must analyze the facts for what they are. This is not a case about inferring what impact Ms. Shim's action could potentially have had and it is certainly not a referendum on whether her decision-making was appropriate or whether she should face discipline or not. This case is specifically about whether petitioner's actions that day amounted to an HIB violation.

I CONCLUDE that it did not and that respondent's determination that it did was arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable.

Per the HIB statute and its interpretation by the courts, for there to be a valid finding of an HIB violation (in this specific case), these things had to have happened;

1. A reasonable person would perceive that the conduct was based upon a distinguishing characteristic.

AND

2. The conduct took place on school property.[2]

AND

3. The conduct must substantially disrupt or interfere with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students.

AND

3a. A reasonable person should know that the conduct would have the effect of...emotionally harming a student.

OR

3b. The conduct has the effect of insulting or demeaning the student.

OR

3c. The conduct created a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with the

[2] There is no dispute that the conduct took place on school property and while this prong is more inclusive, there is no need, given this location, to delve further into this aspect of the statutory requirements.

> student's education or by severely or pervasively causing emotional harm to the student.

In other words, as will be explored in some detail below, in order for there to be a cognizable finding of a HIB violation, respondent must demonstrate that it met prongs 1, 2 and 3 and then any of 3a, 3b or 3c. Any break in the chain causes the charge to fail.

Here, respondent's reasoning in support of its HIB findings was;

> The finding of this case substantiates a case of HIB based on the fact that the findings can be reasonable perceived as being motivated by either any actual or perceived characteristic such as race, religion, gender, mental...physical or sensory disability or by any other distinguishing characteristic. In this case it has been determined that the staff member's (offender) actions were motivated by appearance, race and ethnic origin. Although the offender reports she did not realize the potential negative impact this incident may have had, it is still a case of HIB based on the Anti-bullying law in New Jersey.

As emphasized by petitioner, respondent did not make any other findings or determinations as to how Ms. Shim's conduct violated the HIB statute.

While why the incident occurred is obviously an important part of any HIB case, in order for there to be a sustainable finding of a statutory violation, a much more detailed analysis must take place, one that was not undertaken by respondent here.

STATUTORY ANALYSIS

PRONG 1 - THE CONDUCT WAS REASONABLY PERCEIVED TO BE BASED UPON A DISTINGUISHING CHARACTERISTIC

Putting aside the obvious "What was she thinking?" aspect of the incident, the first aspect of the statute that must be addressed is the one area where respondent documented its conclusion, that Ms. Shim's conduct could be reasonably perceived as being motived by race or another distinguishing characteristic.

However, it first must be determined whose perception controls. It is the alleged perpetrator, the alleged victim or a "reasonable person"?

One of the first cases to discuss this issue was Melnyk;

> On its face, the HIB Policy requires that several factors must be met before an expression can be found to be harassment. First, the communication must be "reasonably perceived as motivated" by an actual or perceived characteristic. That is to say, the comment must be objectively perceived to a reasonable person as motivated by a characteristic.
> Id. at 17-18.

Melynk was cited with approval in R.H. ex rel. A.H. v. Borough of Sayreville Bd. of Educ., 2023 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 83587 (D.N.J. May 12, 2023);

> First, the communication must be "reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race . . ." among other things. N.J.S.A. § 18A:37-14. "The 'reasonably perceived' test is an objective one that has withstood constitutional scrutiny," and does not present a vagueness issue. See, Melynk v. Teaneck Bd. of Educ., No. 16-0188, 2016 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 161524, 2016 WL 6892077, at *8 (D.N.J. Nov. 22, 2016)
> Id. at 13.

This result is also alluded to in S.A. v. Bd. of Educ. of Moorestown, 2019 N.J. Super. Unpub. LEXIS 2114 (App. Div. October 15, 2019). There, in a case involving a teacher who requested a student's (poor) test papers as part of his job duties, the court concluded that a HIB violation had not occurred, since; > we do not discern sufficient facts to support a conclusion that any actions by R.L. were motivated by G.A.'s ADHD or other personal characteristics.

> Id. at 7.

It further noted that;

> even if we presume R.L. was insensitive or even unkind, there is no evidence R.L. was prompted by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic.
>
> Ibid.

This prong was again discussed in L.K. and T.K. ex rel. A.K. v. Mansfield Bd. of Educ., 2019 N.J. Agen. LEXIS 62 (January 22, 2019), Final Decision, 2019 N.J. Agen. LEXIS 345 (Comm'r of Ed. April 22, 2019), reversed and remanded, L.K. and T.K. ex rel. A.K. v. Bd. of Educ. of Mansfield, 2020 N.J. Super. Unpub. LEXIS 2082 (App. Div. November 2, 2020).

In L.K., the ALJ found that "the statute focuses on the impact of (the) conduct on (the alleged victim) and what (the alleged victim) reasonably perceived." However, in that case involving young children and a gender transitioning student, the Court further found;

> There is no requirement that the Board find that A.K.'s conduct was actually motivated by the perceived characteristic, because, as petitioners argue, A.K. most likely does not even know what "gender identity" means. However, even under the actual wording of the statute, the only corroborated finding from the investigation was that A.K. asked questions about why N3 dressed like a girl even though N3 asked her to stop. Therefore, the age of A.K. was relevant to whether A.K.'s conduct was motivated by the perceived characteristic or because a seven-year-old would be curious about why a student she knew as a boy was dressing like a girl. The investigators had the time to find and interview someone in the cafeteria who may have heard A.K. continue the "harassment," but they did not.
> L.K. and T.K. ex rel. A.K. v. Mansfield Bd. of Educ., 2019 N.J. Agen. LEXIS 62 at pg. 17-18.

Given the lack of clarity in the statute, there will of course be some confusion. However, that lack of clarity was addressed in Wehbeh v. Bd. of Educ. of the Tp. of Verona, 2020 N.J. Agen. LEXIS 50 (Comm'r of Ed. February 4, 2020), where the Commissioner found that a "standard reasonableness determination common in many types of adjudications" should be utilized. It was noted that to require an actor to have intentionally committed to offense, the burden concerning motivation would be improperly placed on the alleged victim. Id. at n3.

Ultimately, I CONCLUDE that in order to find that the first prong of the statute had been satisfied, an investigating body must view the evidence in its entirety and determine whether a reasonable person could perceive that the conduct could be "motivated by an actual or perceived characteristic". That determination should take into account the totality of the circumstances, including the traits/characteristics of the alleged victim, the age, knowledge and experience of the actor as well as the time, place and location of the act, etc.

Then, if the investigator makes a determination that a reasonable person would conclude that the act was motivated by an actual or perceived characteristic, the investigation will proceed to the next element of the HIB offense. In essence, the consideration of this prong does not focus purely on either the perception of the alleged victim or the expressed intent of the alleged actor, but instead provides an objective standard based on the totality of the circumstances.

In doing so, I FIND that a reasonable person could conclude that petitioner's motivation in performing the act was based upon the student's hairstyle, which, per September 2019 Guidance on Race Discrimination Based on Hairstyle published by the New Jersey Division on Civil Rights, is "closely associated with Black people". Id. at 1. (Exhibit R-D)

PRONG 2 – LOCATION OF THE CONDUCT

That the second prong of the HIB statute, concerns the location of the incident, has been met is unchallenged, since the conduct occurred in the school building.

PRONG 3 – THE CONDUCT SUBSTANTIALLY DISRUPTED OR INTERFERED WITH THE ORDERLY OPERATION OF THE SCHOOL OR THE RIGHTS OF OTHER STUDENTS.

Very simply, I CONCLUDE that there is no credible evidence that this entire interaction "substantially disrupt(ed) or interfere(d) with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students". As much as respondent's counsel tries to massage the finding of the HIB report to meet the verbiage of this prong, he simply cannot. Even the most optimistic and favorable reading of the report demonstrates that the student in question "looked puzzled, maybe in shock" momentarily. However, in the next minute, SM1 stated that the student "appeared unfazed as he was excited to receive stickers on his testing chart".

He also appeared "confused" to SM2, but then she admitted that "she couldn't read him well", although she noted that the student "seemed normal and didn't seem out of sorts" for the rest of the day. Further, while SM2 stated that other children in the area (who were not mentioned by SM1) were "quiet", the report fails to mention if there was even an indication that they had seen the interaction and none of these other students were ever (apparently) identified or interviewed.

Finally, the victim himself literally did not express any discomfort or disruption due to the event. He expressed that he thought Ms. Shim took his picture because she liked his hair and that he liked the picture because his hair looked good.

The case law concerning this prong is clear that the negligible impact that this interaction had on the student and the utter lack of evidence that it had any impact on other students does not satisfy this prong of the HIB statute. As noted by the Commissioner in D.D.K. o/b/o D.K, 2016 N.J. Agen. LEXIS 1348;

> However, the report determined that the incident did not amount to HIB because the comments did not substantially disrupt or interfere with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students. In support of this finding, the report noted that D.K. stated in his interview that "fortunately, > this was not problematic for my learning experience, but it ticked me off at the time." (Exhibit J-l). The student witness observed the alleged aggressor make an "embarrassed laugh" to himself when he realized what he had said had come out wrong, but did not hear anyone else laugh and did not think D.K. was upset as a result of the comment. Ibid. The teachers did not hear any of the alleged comments.

> Previously, conduct has been determined to substantially disrupt the orderly operation of the school when students are so upset or embarrassed that they are "not fully available for learning." G.H. and E.H. on behalf of K.H. v. Board of Education of the Borough of Franklin Lakes, Bergen County, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 13204-13, decided February 24, 2014, adopted Commissioner Decision No. 157-14, April 10, 2014. Additionally, when other students are "so affected" by behavior that they report it, the orderly operation of the school may be substantially disrupted. T.R. and T.R. on behalf of E.R. v. Bridgewater-Raritan Regional Board of Education, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 10208-13, decided September 25, 2014, adopted Commissioner Decision No. 450-14, November 10, 2014. Given that D.K. indicated that the comments were not problematic for his learning experience and other students did not appear to be affected by them -- combined with a lack of any other evidence to the contrary -- the Commissioner is constrained to agree that petitioner failed to meet his burden of demonstrating that the comments substantially disrupted or interfered with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students.
> D.D.K. o/b/o D.K., 2016 N.J. Agen. LEXIS 1348 at 2-3.

The case cited by respondent in support of its position is unhelpful. In R.P. o/b/o A.P. v. Bd. of Educ. of Tp. of Hamilton, 2018 N.J. Agen. LEXIS 83 (Initial Decision, January 2, 2018), adopted, 2018 N.J. Agen. LEXIS 346 (Comm'r of Ed., March 29, 2018). That matter involved a ten-year-old student who was exposed to repeated sexual innuendo and gestures by another student. She wrote a letter to the school "urgently seeking help...due to A.P.'s ongoing inappropriate behavior. Through this letter and confirmed during her interview with (a school official), (the victim) expressed her extreme discomfort and distress over A.P.'s ongoing conduct." A.P., 2018 N.J. Agen. LEXIS 83 at 15. Given the severity of the harassment, the Court found that the student's "extreme discomfort and distress" was sufficient to satisfy the "disruption prong". Ibid.

In the case at bar, there is no evidence that there was anything more than, at best, a negligible, literally momentary disruption to the student's educational process. Further, there is no evidence at all that any other students were even aware of the incident, let alone impacted by it.

With no evidence demonstrating that Prong 3 of the statutory requirements was either met or considered, I CONCLUDE that any finding of an HIB violation by Ms. Shim was arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable. This is not a case where reasonable minds can differ as to the conclusion that was reached; rather this is a case where it was literally impossible, by definition, to reach that conclusion.

Given the breaking of the chain with respondent's failure to meet Prong 3, there is no need to analyze the case against the balance of the statutory requirements.

FINDINGS AND CONCLUSIONS

Having reviewed the undisputed facts in this matter and even given the presumption of correctness of respondent's findings, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has clearly and convincingly demonstrated that respondent's determination that her actions were violative of the HIB statute was arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable. Thomas, 89 N.J. Super. at 332.

Both the decision of the HIB coordinator/Superintendent and the Board's affirmation of same are quite remarkable. The standards that must be met before a finding of an HIB violation can be made are well-known and the failure of the report to mention anything other than the perceived motivation of the act is highly problematic. In fact, the report even infers that the student was not impacted by Ms. Shim's actions ("the potential negative impact this incident may have had"), but nonetheless concludes that it was "still a case of HIB based on the Anti-bullying law in New Jersey."

No, it is not and when the Board had the opportunity to correct what was an obviously incomplete and erroneous conclusion by the HIB coordinator and Superintendent, it instead ratified it.

As noted above, this case is not about whether Ms. Shim made a poor decision or violated other district policies. Rather, she was accused of violating a specific statute that has specific elements that must be met before a finding of guilt can be made and sustained. Even giving respondent every benefit of the doubt, I FIND there is no way that a reasonable respondent could have concluded, based upon this factual scenario, that Ms. Shim's actions violated N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.2, et seq.

Based on the foregoing, I CONCLUDE the Board's decision that petitioner's conduct meets the statutory definition of HIB and that she committed an act of HIB against a student, was arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable.

Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that petitioner's Motion for Summary Decision should be GRANTED, and I further CONCLUDE that respondent's Motion for Summary Decision should be DENIED.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing, it is hereby ORDERED that petitioner's Motion for Summary Decision be and is hereby GRANTED and it is further;

ORDERED that respondent's Cross-Motion for Summary Decision be and is hereby DENIED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Decision

Board of Education of the Clearview Regional School District, Gloucester County,

Petitioners,

v.

New Jersey Department of Education and Dr. Angelica Allen-McMillan, Acting Commissioner, Respondents.

Synopsis

The Clearview Regional Board of Education challenged a March 2023 State Aid determination by the respondent, New Jersey Department of Education (Department), projecting that petitioner's aid for the 2023-2024 school year would be reduced by $1,044,568. Petitioner contended that, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-68(c)(3), the District qualifies for a statutory exemption from state school aid reductions such that the Department's projected 2023-2024 aid determination is incorrect; further, petitioner sought to restore the District's state aid to the 2020-2021 school year level. The Department contended that the plain language of 18A:7F-68(c)(3) does not apply to regional school districts like Clearview, which serves students from the municipalities of Harrison and Mantua. The parties filed cross motions for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue here, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; there is no dispute that Clearview is a regional district comprised of two constituent municipalities; while the District is arguably "located" in a municipality because all of its buildings are situated in Harrison, the statutory funding scheme for regional school districts must take into account the equalized valuation of each constituent municipality; applying the statutory provisions as interpreted by petitioner would only take into account the equalized total tax rate of Harrison, which is inconsistent with the statutory funding scheme for regional school districts; therefore, petitioner's argument that it can qualify for an exemption from a state aid reduction due to having all its buildings located in Harrison is without merit. The ALJ concluded that a plain reading of N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-68(c)(3) does not support petitioner's position that the statutory exemption applies to regional school districts. Accordingly, the ALJ granted the Department's motion for summary decision, and denied Clearview's cross-motion.

Upon review, the Commissioner adopted the ALJ's thorough and well-reasoned Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. Summary decision was granted in favor of the Department and the petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Board of Education of the Clearview Regional School District, Gloucester County,

Petitioner,

v.

New Jersey Department of Education and Dr. Angelica Allen-McMillan, Acting Commissioner,

Respondents.

At issue is petitioner's challenge to respondents' 2023-2024 projected state school aid determination for petitioner's regional school district, which is comprised of students from the municipalities of Harrison and Mantua. On March 2, 2023, the Department of Education's Division of Finance and Business Services, Office of School Funding, projected that petitioner's state school aid would be reduced by $1,044,568 for the 2023-2024 school year. Petitioner contends that it qualifies for a statutory exemption from state school aid reductions, codified at

N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-68(c)(3), and that, consequently, respondents' projected state school aid determination is erroneous.[1]

N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-68(c)(3) states:

> A school district, other than an SDA district, that is located in a municipality in which the equalized total tax rate is at least 10 percent greater than the Statewide average equalized total tax rate for the most recent available calendar year and is spending at least 10 percent below adequacy as calculated pursuant to section 1 of P.L. 2018, c.67 (C.18A:7F-70) shall not be subject to a reduction in State aid pursuant to subsection b. of this section.

Petitioner asserts that the statutory exemption applies to it because: (1) it is not an SDA district; (2) its buildings are "located in" the municipality of Harrison; (3) Harrison Township's equalized total tax rate is at least 10 percent greater than the Statewide average equalized total tax rate for the most recent available calendar year (122.316%); and (4) the district's spending is at least 10 percent below adequacy (85.072%). Respondents contend that N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-68(c)(3) is not applicable to regional school districts and that petitioner's district is therefore ineligible for the statutory exemption. Specifically, respondents point out that the plain language of N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-68(c)(3) only provides a method of calculation for single municipality school districts that is predicated on the existence of a single equalized total tax rate.

Petitioner initially moved for emergent relief but later withdrew its emergent application without prejudice. Once the matter was transmitted to the OAL, the parties jointly requested that petitioner's filing be converted to a motion for summary decision, and respondents cross-moved for summary decision. Overall, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) agreed with respondents that a plain reading of N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-68(c)(3) does not support petitioner's position that the statutory exemption applies to regional school districts.

[1] Petitioner further contends that it was eligible for the statutory exemption for the 2021-2022 and 2022-2023 school years, during which respondents also reduced its state school aid. Therefore, petitioner seeks a retroactive restoration of state school aid for those years. However, petitioner's challenge of respondents' state school aid determinations for the 2021-2022 and 2022-2023 school years is untimely. See N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i) (explaining that petitions of appeal must be filed "no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling or other action by the . . . agency").

Upon review of relevant related school funding statutes and case law, the ALJ reasoned that "[e]ven though it is arguably located in a [single] municipality, the statutory funding scheme for regional school districts must take into account the equalized [tax] valuation of each constituent municipality." Initial Decision, at 10-12. To interpret and apply the statutory exemption as urged by petitioner "would only take into account the equalized total tax rate of Harrison, which is inconsistent with the . . . statutory funding scheme for regional school districts." Ibid.

Accordingly, the ALJ held that "a regional school district cannot take into account only one constituent municipality to quality for an exemption from State aid reductions" pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-68(c)(3). Id. at 12. The ALJ agreed with respondents that because "the focus of the provision is on a municipality's equalized tax rate and a regional school district is comprised of multiple municipalities," the statutory exemption is not applicable to regional school districts. Id. at 13-14. The ALJ further concluded that respondents' interpretation of the statute was reasonable and should be accorded substantial deference. Id. at 14-15.

In their exceptions, petitioner argues that the ALJ's interpretation of the statutory exemption is erroneous because a plain reading of N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-68(c)(3) only requires consideration of where the district is "located," and not where it "pulls students from." Petitioner's exceptions, at 3-5. Thus, because the municipality of Harrison meets the statutory criteria, the fact that petitioner's district also educates students from the municipality of Mantua—and receives property tax dollars from Mantua—is irrelevant. Ibid.

In any event, petitioner asserts that the municipality of Mantua also has an equalized total tax rate that is at least 10 percent greater than the Statewide average equalized total tax rate for the most recent available calendar year (120.386%). Id. at 6-7. It also contends that because newly formed regional school districts are exempt from state school aid reductions pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-68(c)(5), it would defy common sense to exclude existing regional school districts from the statutory exemption codified at N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-68(c)(3*). Ibid.*

In reply, respondents maintain that, by its plain language, the statutory exemption is not applicable to regional districts like petitioner because N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-68(c)(3) "only provides a method of calculation for single municipality school districts, and the exemption is predicated on the existence of a single equalized total tax rate." Respondent's Exceptions, at 8-10. They explain that "regional school districts . . . are comprised of multiple municipalities with each municipality having [its] own equalized total tax rate." Id. at 10. They contend that "[i]f an average of municipal tax rates within a region – or some other formulation suggested by petitioner – were a possible consideration, the singular forms of 'the' and 'rate' would not have been used" by the Legislature in N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-68(c)(3). Id. at 11. They also point to subsection (c)(5) as evidence that had the Legislature intended for (c)(3) to apply to regional school districts, it would have "provided a method of calculation applicable to regional school districts" as it did in subsection (c)(5).

Upon careful review, the Commissioner adopts the ALJ's thorough, well-reasoned Initial Decision as the Final Decision in this matter. The Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that, by its plain language, the statutory exemption is not applicable to regional districts because it presupposes the existence of a single equalized total tax rate. As written, the statutory exemption simply does not allow for consideration of both the municipality of Harrison's equalized total tax rate and the municipality of Mantua's equalized total tax rate. However, both equalized total tax rates are relevant when considering school funding issues pertaining to regional school districts. See generally Borough of Sea Bright v. State, Dep't of Educ., 242 N.J. Super. 225, 231-32 (App. Div. 1990) (explaining that the costs of a regional school district are apportioned "among the constituent municipalities according to their property values") (emphasis added).

Additionally, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that petitioner's interpretation of the statutory exemption is inconsistent with the statutory school funding scheme for regional school districts because it only accounts for Harrison Township's equalized total tax rate while ignoring Mantua Township's equalized total tax rate. Contrary to petitioner's assertion, the Commissioner does not find the fact that the district's buildings are located solely in Harrison to be dispositive or persuasive. Moreover, N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-68(c)(5) illustrates that had the Legislature wished to craft an exemption for existing regional school districts, it would have done so explicitly. See also N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-32(b) (setting forth a specific methodology to calculate supplemental State aid for certain regional school districts).

The Commissioner is not empowered to "rewrite a plainly-written enactment of the Legislature or presume that the Legislature intended something other than that expressed by way of the plain language." DiProspero v. Penn, 183 N.J. 477, 492 (2005) (quoting O'Connell v.

State, 171 N.J. 484, 488 (2002)). In sum, legislative action is necessary to extend the exemption codified at N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-68(c)(3) to existing regional school districts.[2]

Accordingly, respondents' motion for summary decision is granted, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[3]

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner Clearview Regional Board of Education (Clearview or District) challenges the State Aid determination of respondent New Jersey Department of Education (Department or NJDOE) and seeks a finding that the District qualifies, and has qualified, for the exemption set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-68(c)(3). Clearview additionally seeks a finding that the NJDOE restore the District's State Aid to be identical to the 2020-2021 school year. Respondents contend that the plain language of 18A:7F-68(c)(3) excludes regional school districts.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

A petition for emergent relief was filed by petitioner on March 17, 2023, and the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on March 17, 2023, as a contested case and assigned to the undersigned. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to N.J.S.A. 52:14F-13. Oral argument was scheduled for March 30, 2023.

A telephone status conference was held on March 24, 2023, where the petitioner withdrew the emergent petition without prejudice, and the parties jointly requested that the petitioner's filing be converted a motion for summary decision.[1] Respondents filed their cross-motion for summary decision on April 2, 2023, and Clearview filed a response on April 6, 2023. Oral argument on the cross-motions was held on May 11, 2023, and the record was then closed. An order of extension was entered in this matter to allow an extension of time in which to file the Initial Decision.

[1] Clearview's emergent petition additionally sought relief from respondents for the deprivation of a thorough and efficient education (T& E). However, in its response to respondents' cross-motion, petitioner stated that "Clearview asserts that their T&E arguments are no longer necessary or relevant to the Court's review as this review is purely one of statutory interpretation." (Petitioner response brief at 1) Accordingly, that issue is no longer germane to this matter and will not be considered.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS

Based on the briefs submitted for purposes of the cross-motions, the following facts are not in dispute, and I SO FIND:

1. Petitioner is a regional school district located in Gloucester County, New Jersey, comprised of more than one municipality. The District, and all of its buildings, are located in the Municipality of Harrison (Harrison)[2] and additionally pulls students from the Municipality of Mantua (Mantua). (petitioner cross-motion at ¶¶1, 2, 3, 28 and 29.)

2. The NJDOE projects that that the municipality tax rate as a percentage of state average for Harrison is 122.316% and for Mantua is 120.386%. Additionally, the NJDOE projects that the District's spending as percentage of adequacy is 85.072%. (petitioner cross-motion: Exhibits A, B and D; petitioner response brief at 3.)

3. Petitioner received the following reductions in state aid:

   2018 - 2019: -$93,165
   2019 - 2020: -$315,939
   2020 - 2021: -$566,240
   2021 - 2022: -$125,400
   2022 - 2023: -$538,602
   (petitioner cross-motion at ¶ 5)

4. Petitioner concedes it suffered appropriate reductions under S2 for years 2020-2021 and before where it did not meet the exemption criteria. However, it contends it did meet the exemption criteria beginning in the 2021-2022 year. (Id. at ¶ 8)

[2] The district's buildings are located in Mullica Hill, an unincorporated community in the Township of Harrison

5. On September 29, 2022, the NJDOE responded to the inquiry of Senator Edward Durr and Assemblywoman Bethanne McCarthy Patrick regarding the implementation of P.L. 2018, c. 67 (S2), and their request for an explanation as to why Clearview "was not included in the hold harmless provision for districts that spend below their adequacy budgets and are located in a municipality in which the total equalized tax rate exceeds the state average." (Id., Exhibit C.)

Assistant Commissioner Kevin Dehmer (Dehmer) response to the inquiry stated:

> As you know P.L.2018, c. 67 amended the School Funding Reform Act of 2008 (SFRA) in order to ensure school districts receive an amount of State aid consistent with current characteristics, with the funding being adjusted over the course of several years. The changes require the Department to reduce funding for overfunded districts according to a prescribed schedule. However, the law includes the following language in N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-68.c, which exempts certain districts from the scheduled reductions during the phase-in.
>
> A school district, other than an SDA district, that is located in a municipality in which the equalized total tax rate is at least 10 percent greater than the Statewide average equalized total tax rate for the most recent available calendar year and is spending at least 10 percent below adequacy as calculated pursuant to section 1 of P.L.2018, c.67 (C.18A:7F-70) shall not be subject to a reduction in State aid pursuant to subsection b. of this section.
>
> After reading this section of law, one notes that it does not provide any criteria that would apply to school districts that are comprised of more than one municipality. The language specifically applies to "[a] school district ... that is located in a municipality in which the equalized tax rate is at least 10 percent greater than the Statewide average equalized tax rate ..." Because the plain language of the statute delineates districts within a municipality exclusively, applying this section of law to regional school districts would extend the statutory language. Such policymaking decisions exceeds the authority delineated in statutory language, thereby requiring that regional school districts be omitted.
>
> [Ibid.]

6. On March 2, 2023, the Department issued its State aid notice to petitioner for the upcoming 2023-2024 year, which again required a reduction in state aid due to their state aid differential being positive. (Petitioner cross-motion at ¶ 5.)

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

Summary decision may be granted "if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b).

The standard for granting summary judgment (decision) is found in Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Company of America, 142 N.J. 520 (1995):

> a determination whether there exists a genuine "issue" of material fact that precludes summary judgment requires the motion judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to permit a rational fact-finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party. The "judge's function is not himself [or herself] to weigh the evidence and determine the truth of the matter but to determine whether there is a genuine issue for trial."
> [Brill, 142 N.J. at 540 (quoting Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, 477 U.S. 242 (1986).]

In addressing whether the Brill standard has been met in this case, further guidance is found in R. 4:46-2(c):

> An issue of fact is genuine only if, considering the burden of persuasion at trial, the evidence submitted by the parties on the motion, together with all legitimate inferences therefrom favoring the non-moving party, would require submission of the issue to the trier of fact.

Accordingly, the undisputed facts and the arguments of both parties will be evaluated utilizing the Brill standard.

Public school funding in New Jersey is governed by the School Funding Reform Act of 2008 (SFRA), N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-43 to -71. Enacted in 2008, following decades of litigation over school funding, SFRA was designed to meet the State Constitution's mandate that the Legislature provide for the maintenance and support of a thorough and efficient system of free public schools for children between the ages of five and eighteen years. Abbott v. Burke, 199 N.J. 140, 141-48 (2009) (Abbott XX). The "act represents the culmination of five years of diligent efforts by both the Executive and Legislative branches of State government to develop an equitable and predictable way to distribute State aid that addresses the deficiencies found in past formulas as identified by the Supreme Court." N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-44(h). SFRA established a school funding formula through which school districts fund their budgets using a combination of local property taxes and State aid.[3] Bd. of Educ. v. Repollet, No. A-1568-19 (App. Div. September 1, 2021).

At the core of the formula is the "adequacy budget" — an estimate of what it costs each district to provide the "thorough and efficient" (T & E) education to every student in the district according to the district's enrollment and student characteristics. After determining the necessary funding level to provide a T & E education to every pupil in the district, the State then calculates the "local fair share" — the amount that each district is able to contribute to its adequacy budget based on its ability to raise local revenue. This local portion is calculated by indexing the district's property wealth and aggregate income.

After determining the district's adequacy budget and local fair share, the State then determines the allocation of "equalization aid" — the difference between a district's adequacy budget and its local fair share for each district. This is done by subtracting the district's local fair share from its adequacy budget. If the district's local fair share is lower than its adequacy budget, the State provides the difference in its equalization aid. If the district's local fair share is over its adequacy budget, the district does not qualify for equalization aid.

In 2018, the Legislature addressed "growing imbalances" in the State created by districts that were levying local property taxes well below their respective local fair share. Repollet, at 5. It enacted P.L. 2018, c. 67 (S2), which amended SFRA's formula to calculate the required local share. The amendments introduced a "State aid differential" variable, a measure of the extent to which a district is overfunded and underfunded to recalculate the distribution of aid more equitably. N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-67.

The "State aid differential"[4] calculates gains and losses in State aid for the district. Repollet at 7. It is calculated by subtracting the district's budget-year state aid, not including any adjustment aid, educational adequacy aid, or other "non-SFRA aid", from the prior year's total state aid, a sum that includes adjustment and non-SFRA aid. Ibid.

When the State aid differential is negative, N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-68(a) mandates that the school district > shall receive State school aid in an amount equal to the sum of the district's State aid in the prior school year plus the district's proportionate share of the sum of any increase in State aid included in the annual appropriations act for that fiscal year and the total State aid reduction pursuant to subsection b. of this section based on the district's State aid differential as a percent of the Statewide total State aid differential among all school districts and county vocational school districts for which the State aid differential is negative.

>

When the State aid differential is positive, N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-68(b) mandates that the school district

[4] "State aid differential" means the difference between the sum of a school district's or county vocational school district's allocations of equalization aid, special education categorical aid, security categorical aid, transportation aid, adjustment aid, and non-SFRA aids in the prebudget year, and the sum of equalization aid, special education categorical aid, security categorical aid, and transportation aid as calculated for the budget year in each category in accordance with the provisions of sections 11, 13, 14, and 15 of P.L.2007, c.260 (C.18A:7F-53, C.18A:7F-55, C.18A:7F-56, and C.18A:7F-57), respectively. N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-67.

> (1) 13 percent in the 2019-2020 school year;
> (2) 23 percent in the 2020-2021 school year;
> (3) 37 percent in the 2021-2022 school year;
> (4) 55 percent in the 2022-2023 school year;

> (6) 100 percent in the 2024-2025 school year.

The Legislature, however, provided exemptions from the subsection (b) State aid reductions in section 68, subsection (c). In pertinent part the Legislature exempted

> A school district, other than an SDA district, that is located in a municipality in which the equalized total tax rate is at least 10 percent greater than the Statewide average equalized total tax rate for the most recent available calendar year and is spending at least 10 percent below adequacy as calculated pursuant to section 1 of P.L.2018, c.67 (C. 18A:7F-70) shall not be subject to a reduction in State aid pursuant to subsection b. of this section.
> [N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-68(c)(3).]

As noted above, the district, in its response brief stated that "their T&E arguments are no longer necessary or relevant to the Court's review as this review is purely one of statutory interpretation." (Petitioner response brief at 1.) Accordingly, the sole issue in this matter is whether the district is entitled to the exemption set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-68(c)(3).

Petitioner contends it qualifies for the exemption under a plain reading of the statute because (1) it is "a school district," (2) that is "other than an SDA [Abbott] district," (3) "that is located in a municipality," (4) "in which the equalized total tax rate is at least 10 percent greater than the Statewide average equalized total tax rate for the most recent available calendar year," and (5) "is spending at least 10 percent below adequacy as calculated pursuant to section 1 of P.L.2018, c.67 (C.18A:7F-70)." (Cross-Motion at 6-7; Reply Brief at 3.) This argument is premised on the district's interpretation that "located in" means "to be in a particular place." Petitioner asserts that the district, although it is a regional school district serving students from Harrison Township and Mantua Township, is located in the Municipality of Harrison because that is where all of the district's buildings are located. (Reply Brief at 3.)

Petitioner further argues that N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-68(c)(3) says "school district" and does not include the terms "local school districts" or "regional school districts." Citing, P.L. 2018, c. 90 (2018), N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-3 and N.J.S.A. 18A:18A-60, Clearview maintains that the Legislature has defined "school district" to mean "a local school district, regional school district, or county special services school district or county vocational school." The Legislature, by listing "local school district" and "regional school district", demonstrates its ability to differentiate the two without relying on such phrases as "located in a municipality" (and not "comprised of") which in plain language, encompasses any school district located in a municipality whether it draws students from one or more municipalities. (Petitioner Cross-Motion at 7-8; Reply Brief at 4-5.)

Accordingly, petitioner claims that it qualifies for the exemption from a reduction in State aid since it is located entirely in Harrison Township and the Department of Education's projections are that Harrison Township has a Municipality Tax Rate as a percentage of State Average at 122.316% and the District's Spending as a percentage of Adequacy at 85.072%. (Petitioner Cross-Motion at 6-7; Reply Brief at 3-5.)

"[T]he goal of statutory interpretation is to ascertain and effectuate the Legislature's intent." Cashin v. Bello, 223 N.J. 328, 335 (2015). "[T]he best indicator of that intent is the statutory language." DiProspero v. Penn, 183 N.J. 477, 492 (2005). "Accordingly, '[t]he starting point of all statutory interpretation must be the language used in the enactment.'" Spade v. Select Comfort Corp., 232 N.J. 504, 515 (2018) (quoting New Jersey Div. of Child Protection and Permanency v. Y.N., 220 N.J. 165, 178 (2014)).

In McCarter v. Board of Education., 73 N.J.L. 301 (1906), the court determined that "a legally-constituted school district is the territory erected into a school district by operation of law. The board of education [does] not constitute the district. That is merely the method provided for its government — the machinery for managing the schools in the district." Id. at 303. (Emphasis added) Accordingly, the location of a district should not be based on the Board of Education office location. However, in Falcone v. Board of Education., 17 N.J. Misc. 75, 78 (C.P. 1939), the court ruled that "[t]he words "school district" constitute but a generic term, conveniently used to designate the territory within which school lands and buildings are grouped," citing to McCarter.

According to Falcone, since the district's school buildings are all located in Mullica Hill, an argument could be made that the district is located in a municipality (Harrison).

However, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 1:1-1, statutory phrases "must be read and construed with their context and shall, unless inconsistent with the manifest intent of the Legislature or unless another or different meaning is expressly indicated, be given their generally accepted meaning, according to the approved usage of the language." New Jersey Ass'n of School Business Officials v. Davy, 409 N.J. Super 467, 484 (App. Div. 2009). When interpreting a statute, a court first reviews "the statute's plain language, which is the best indicator of legislative intent. . . . If the language of the statute clearly reflects the Legislature's intent, then the court applies the law as written, affording the terms their plain meaning. If the language is ambiguous, the court may resort to extrinsic interpretative aids, including legislative history, to determine the statute's meaning." State v. Scudieri, 469 N.J. Super. 507, 513 (App. Div. 2021).

Here, it is not in dispute that petitioner is a regional district comprised of two constituent municipalities. Even though it is arguably located in a municipality, the statutory funding scheme for regional school districts must take into account the equalized valuation of each constituent municipality.

"Equalized valuation" is defined in N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-45:

> "Equalized valuation" means the equalized valuation of the taxing district or taxing districts, as certified by the Director of the Division of Taxation on October 1, or subsequently revised by the tax court by January 15, of the prebudget year. With respect to regional districts and their constituent districts.

> however, the equalized valuations as described above shall be allocated among the regional and constituent districts in proportion to the number of pupils resident in each of them. In the event that the equalized table certified by the director shall be revised by the tax court after January 15 of the prebudget year, the revised valuations shall be used in the recomputation of aid for an individual school district filing an appeal, but shall have no effect upon the calculation of the property value rate, Statewide average equalized school tax rate, or Statewide equalized total tax rate.
> [N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-45.]

In other words, although the property value rate, the Statewide average equalized school tax rate and the Statewide equalized total tax rate would remain unchanged, there are other factors to take into account when calculating the equalized valuation of a regional school district and those factors are related to such districts' constituent districts, specifically to the proportion of pupils' resident in each of them.

Other provisions of New Jersey school law refer to different calculations for districts comprised of more than one municipality. For example, N.J.S.A. 18A:24-1 states, in regard to loans and bonds and other obligations:

> "Average equalized valuation of taxable property" in a district comprising one municipality means the amount stated in the supplemental debt statement required to be filed prior to the authorization of the bonds of the district, as the average of the last three preceding equalized valuations of the taxable real estate (together with improvements) of the municipality, as stated in the annual debt statement of the municipality or revision thereof last filed, and in a district comprising more than one municipality means the sum of all such amounts so stated in the supplemental debt statements so required to be filed.
> [N.J.S.A. 18A:24-1.]

N.J.S.A. 18A:38-7.9 states:

> a. In the event the designated district is composed of more than one municipality, when allocating equalized > valuations or district incomes, pursuant to the provisions of section 3 of P.L.2007, c.260 (C.18A:7F-45), for the purpose of calculating State aid, persons attending schools in the designated district pursuant to section 2 [C.18A:38-7.8] of this act shall be assigned to each municipality comprising the designated district in direct proportion to the number of persons ordinarily attending school from each municipality in the designated district without considering the persons attending pursuant to this act.

>
> b. In the event the designated district is a constituent district of a limited purpose regional district, when allocating equalized valuations or district incomes, pursuant to the provisions of section 3 of P.L.2007, c.260 (C.18A:7F-45), for the purpose of apportioning the amounts to be raised by taxes for the limited purpose regional district of which the designated district is a constituent district, persons attending schools in the designated district pursuant to section 2 [C.18A:38-7.8] of this act shall not be counted.

These provisions support the proposition that the statutory funding scheme for regional school districts must take into account the equalized valuation of each constituent municipality. Applying the statute provision as interpreted by petitioner would only take into account the equalized total tax rate of Harrison, which is inconsistent with the above statutory funding scheme for regional school districts. Based on the foregoing, petitioner's argument that it can qualify for an exemption from a State aid reduction due to having all its buildings located in Harrison fails. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that a regional district cannot take into account only one constituent municipality to qualify for an exemption from State aid reductions.

Alternatively, Clearview argues that if it is determined that the statute's language requires some textual analysis, it is a fundamental canon of statutory construction that the words of a statute must be read in their context and with a view to their place in the overall statutory scheme. They maintain that any inventive reading of the exemption should look to both municipalities that send students to Clearview and contend that each municipality has an equalized total tax rate that is at least ten percent greater than the Statewide average equalized total tax rate for the most recent available calendar year. In addition, the NJDOE and the Legislature's intent is to financially incentivize and reward regionalization. Petitioner finds it "perplexing" that under the respondents' interpretation of the statute newly formed regional school districts are completely exempt from state aid reductions, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-68(c)(5), and non-regional school districts are eligible for the exemption; but existing regional school districts would be singled out and denied the exemption. It argues that if the Legislature wanted to arbitrarily discriminate against regional school districts, it would have done so explicitly. (Petitioner Reply Brief at 5-8.)

Respondents argue that the plain language of N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-68(c)(3) necessarily excludes regional school districts because the statute's language only relates to single-municipality districts. This argument is premised on their interpretation that the statute's language only relates to single-municipality districts. They contend that there is no criteria or calculation mechanism that applies to districts that are comprised of more than one municipality, that is, regional school districts. Respondents maintain that the statute only provides a method of calculation for single municipality school districts, and the exemption is predicated on the existence of a single equalized total tax rate. They further argue that a regional school district inherently lacks those characteristics, as by definition a regional school district does not exist in a single municipality, and thus cannot fall within that statutory exemption. "In fact, by definition a regional school district does not exist in a single municipality, and thus cannot fall within that statutory exemption." (Respondents Cross-Motion at 10.)

Respondents assert that it is evident that the language relates only to single-municipality districts even when reading the statutory provision in isolation. They argue that the provision's use of the singular definite article "the" inherently denotes that only one single "equalized total tax rate" can be considered for the purposes of the exemption. Further, if an average of municipal tax rates within a region, or some other formulation was a possible consideration, the singular form of "the" and "rate" would not have been used. (Id. at 11.)

Respondents also note that the phrase "located in a municipality" in subsection (c)(3) is a unique identifier throughout N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-68. They contend the Legislature clearly distinguishes between single municipality and regional school districts in other statutes, such as N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-45, defining both "district income" and "equalized valuations" for regional school districts in contrast with single municipality school districts. (Id. at 12.)

When interpreting a statute, a court "must enforce the legislative will expressed by the clear language in the statute, and not presume that the Legislature intended something not expressly stated." Gonzalez v. Sch. Dist., City of Union, 325 N.J. Super. 244, 253 (App. Div. 1999).

In the present matter, a plain reading of N.J.S.A. 18A:7F-68(c)(3) indicates that the school district seeking an exemption must be located in a municipality in which the equalized total tax rate is at least ten percent greater than the Statewide average equalized total tax rate for the most recent available calendar year. Additionally, the legislature's use of the terms "municipality" and "the equalized total tax rate" is significant. Since, the focus of the provision is on a municipality's equalized tax rate and a regional school district is comprised of multiple municipalities, the formula cannot apply to such districts. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that a plain reading of the statute does not support that the provision applies to school districts composed of multiple municipalities.

Finally, an agency generally is given substantial deference in interpreting a statute it is charged with enforcing. See Klumb v. Bd. of Educ. of Manalapan-Englishtown Reg'l High Sch. Dist., 199 N.J. 14, 19 (2009) ("interpretations of [a] statute and cognate enactments by agencies empowered to enforce them are given substantial deference in the context of statutory interpretation. Even when the language of the statute is ambiguous and the Legislature has not addressed the precise question of statutory meaning, [a court] may not simply impose [its] own construction on the statute, as would be necessary in the absence of an administrative interpretation."); In re Pontoriero, 439 N.J. Super. 24, 35-36, (App. Div. 2015) "where a statute is ambiguous, [a court gives] substantial deference to the interpretation of the agency empowered to enforce it. In those circumstances, the court need not conclude that the agency construction was the only one it permissibly could have adopted, or even the reading the court would have reached if the question initially had arisen in a judicial proceeding but only whether the interpretation is plainly unreasonable.")

Respondents persuasively argue that "the language employed by the Legislature demonstrates a clear intent that the exemption [applies] for a specific purpose – that the enumerated equation for the equalized tax rate must be calculated from a single municipality," and any other interpretation would "exceed the statutory language." (Respondents Cross-Motion at 13-14.) Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the Department's interpretation of the statute is reasonable, and its interpretation should be given substantial deference since it is the agency that has been empowered to enforce it.

Final Decision

In the Matter of the Suspension of the Teaching Certificates of Jesenia Chester, Board of Education of the Township of South Brunswick, Middlesex County.

Synopsis

The petitioning Board alleged that the respondent – a non-tenured kindergarten teacher – resigned her position without providing the notice required under N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 and sought the suspension of respondent's teaching certificate for a period of one year. Respondent taught kindergarten in a South Brunswick school during the 2021-2022 school year and the Board asserted that her contract was renewed at a Board meeting on May 12, 2022. However, on August 4, 2022, respondent sent the District an email resigning her position effective September 1, 2022 and did not return to her position for the start of the new school year. The parties filed cross motions for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue in this case and the matter is ripe for summary decision; there is no dispute that there was a contract in place between the parties, or at least that there was an implied contract; petitioner did not present any reasons justifying her resignation other than personal motives; under N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10, any teaching staff member employed by a board of education who ceases to perform his or her duties before the expiration of their term of employment, without the consent of the board, shall be deemed guilty of unprofessional conduct and the Commissioner may thereafter suspend his or her teaching certificate for a period not to exceed one year. The ALJ concluded that respondent engaged in unprofessional conduct by failing to give the required 60-day notice. Accordingly, the ALJ granted the Board's motion for summary decision and ordered that respondent's teaching certificate be suspended for one year.

Upon review, the Commissioner, inter alia, remanded the matter to the OAL for further fact-finding as the present record is devoid of information necessary to reach a final determination in this case. Specifically, it is necessary to review the contract under which respondent was employed in the 2021-2022 school year and whether it contained a 60-day notice provision or some other length of time, as well as respondent's written acceptance of the Board's offer of continued employment following the May 12, 2022 Board meeting. Accordingly, the matter was remanded to the OAL for further findings as noted herein.

Final Decision

In the Matter of the Suspension of the Teaching Certificates of Jesenia Chester, Board of Education of the Township of South Brunswick, Middlesex County.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered.

Respondent Jesenia Chester, a teacher employed by the South Brunswick Board of Education (Board), notified the Board on August 4, 2022, that she would be resigning effective September 1, 2022. The Board filed an Order to Show Cause seeking the suspension of respondent's teaching certificates for resigning from her teaching position without providing the required 60-day notice. Following the Board's motion for summary decision, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) concluded that respondent engaged in unprofessional conduct by failing to give the required notice. The ALJ found that there is no dispute that there was a contract in place between the parties, or that there was at least an implied contract. The ALJ also concluded that petitioner did not present any reasons justifying her actions other than personal motives. Accordingly, the ALJ granted the Board's motion for summary decision and ordered that respondent's teaching certificates be suspended for one year.

Respondent filed exceptions to the Initial Decision; however, they were not considered because they were not timely filed. N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 requires exceptions be filed within 13 days from the date the judge's initial decision was mailed to the parties. The Initial Decision was mailed on August 2, 2023, making the due date for any exceptions August 15, 2023. The tracking information for respondent's exceptions shows a mailing date of August 21, 2023, with delivery to the Department of Education on August 23, 2023. Respondent did not request an extension of time to file her exceptions.[1]

Upon review, the Commissioner concludes that this matter must be remanded to the OAL. Initially, the Commissioner notes that N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8, which requires tenured teachers to give 60 days' notice before resigning, does not apply to respondent, who was not tenured. Instead, respondent's notice obligations are established by the terms of her employment contract. IMO the Suspension of the Teaching Certificate of Melissa Van Pelt, Gray Charter School, Newark, Essex. Co., Commissioner Decision No. 170-09 (May 29, 2009), aff'd, 414 N.J. Super. 440 (App Div. 2010). If respondent's resignation was not in accordance with the terms of her contract, then she is guilty of unprofessional conduct and the Commissioner may suspend her certificates for up to one year. N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10.

The ALJ determined that there was a contract or an implied contract between the parties at the time of respondent's resignation. However, the Commissioner finds that the record does not contain sufficient evidence to reach that conclusion. N.J.S.A. 18A:27-10 requires a board of education to provide nontenured teaching staff members with a written offer of a contract for employment, or a written notice that employment will not be offered, on or before May 15 of each year.[2] N.J.S.A. 18A:27-12 requires the employee to accept the offer in writing on or before June 1. If the employee does so, employment continues, on at least the same terms and conditions as the previous school year, with such salary increases as may be required by law or board policy. N.J.S.A. 18A:27-12; N.J.S.A. 18A:27-10. If the employee does not accept the offer in writing, her employment is not renewed. N.J.S.A. 18A:27-12. The principles pertaining to implied contracts do not apply when the applicable statute specifically requires acceptances to be in writing.

There is no evidence in the record to demonstrate whether respondent accepted her employment in writing. Respondent did indicate that she remembered "saying thank you for the opportunity." Response to Order to Show Cause, ¶23. If that statement was made in writing, it may be sufficient to constitute written acceptance. Alternatively, respondent may have accepted the offer in writing in another manner. However, if she did not accept her offer of employment in writing, then she was not under contract at the time of her resignation and had no notice obligations regarding her resignation.

Additionally, if respondent did accept the Board's offer, her employment continued under the same terms and conditions established by her contract for the 2021-2022 school year, including any provisions regarding her notice obligations. However, the record does not contain a copy of respondent's 2021-2022 contract. Therefore, the Commissioner is unable to determine whether the contract contained a 60-day notice provision or some other length of time.

Accordingly, this matter is remanded to the OAL for further findings regarding respondent's acceptance of the Board's offer of employment and, if such acceptance was given, the terms of the 2021-2022 contract.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[3]

INITIAL DECISION GRANTING MOTION FOR SUMMARY DECISION

OAL DKT. NO. EDU 10542-2022
AGENCY DKT. NO. 284-10/22

IN RE SUSPENSION OF THE TEACHING CERTIFICATES OF JESENIA CHESTER, BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF SOUTH BRUNSICK, MIDDLESEX COUNTY.

Marie-Laurence Fabian, Esq., for petitioner (Porzio Bromberg & Newman, attorneys)

Jesenia Chester, respondent, pro se

Record Closed: June 26, 2023 Decided: August 2, 2023

BEFORE JOAN M. BURKE, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The South Brunswick Board of Education ("Board" or "petitioner") seeks an order suspending the teaching certificate of respondent Jesenia Chester ("respondent") for failing to provide adequate notice of resignation, in violation of her employment contract and N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

At the request of the Board, the Commissioner of Education issued an Order to Show Cause on October 7, 2022, ordering respondent to show cause why her teaching certificate should not be suspended for unprofessional conduct pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10. Respondent filed an answer on November 14, 2022, and the matter was transferred to the Office of Administrative Law on November 28, 2023, for determination as a contested case. A status conference was scheduled for February 9, 2023, but the respondent? requested an adjournment based on her work schedule. A status conference was held on March 29, 2023. At that time, the parties informed this tribunal that they would prefer the matter to be determined based on the papers that were submitted. On March 30, 2023, this tribunal received a letter wherein both parties requested that the matter be decided in a "summary fashion" without a hearing based on the papers that were submitted to date. The Board requested the motion based on upon the affidavit, with attachments, of Kimberly Maloy-White dated October 12, 2022. The respondent requested the motion based on her Reply to the Order to Show Cause, with attachments dated November 14, 2022. On May 9, 2022, I requested from the parties letter briefs or memorandum of law addressing the appropriateness of summary decision and why each side is entitled to summary decision. The briefs with supporting documents were received and the record closed on June 26, 2023.

BACKGROUND FACTS

The following facts are found to be undisputed based on the record. On June 10, 2021, the Board hired respondent to serve as a Kindergarten teacher for the 2021-2022 school year. Certification of Maloy-White at ¶ 3. Respondent was assigned to Constable Elementary School District (the "District"). Ibid. Respondent began working in her position on or about September 1, 2021, where she continued until the end of the school year. Certification of Maloy-White at ¶ 5. On April 23, 2022 the respondent was notified through her summative evaluation that she was being recommended for a contract for the 2022-2023 school year. Certification of Maloy-White at ¶ 6. The respondent's contract was renewed by the Board of Education at its meeting on May 12, 2022. Certification of Maloy-White at ¶ 7.

On August 4, 2022, the respondent sent an email to the District informing them that she had decided to pursue her career as a teacher elsewhere, thereby submitted a resignation effective September 1, 2022. (Petitioner's Exhibit F.) Respondent was advised by Maloy-White that by law she was required to provide the District with sixty days' notice prior to resigning in order to give the District sufficient time to secure a replacement. Certification of Maloy-White at ¶ 10. Respondent was further notified that the failure to give the required sixty-day notice would jeopardize her teaching certificate. Ibid. Nevertheless, respondent did not return to her position when the school year began on September 1, 2022. Certification of Maloy-White at ¶ 12. Thus the respondent resigned without providing the requisite notice to the Board. (Petitioner's Brief dated June 8, 2023.) The District filled the position quickly with a teacher slated for another position, however the District was not fully staffed. See Supplemental Affidavit of Kimberly Maloy-White at 3. The district had to juggle positions and use substitutes in other classes. Ibid.

RESPONDENT'S POSITION

Respondent argues that her contract states that the effective date to start the 2022-2023 school year was "9/30/2022 and terminates on 6/30/2023." See Respondent's Letter Brief at ¶ 2. Respondent further argues that she was not in receipt of a contract and since her resignation was placed on 10/4/221, she was not under tenure of service. Ibid. The respondent did not dispute the sixty days but instead emphasizes that without knowledge of salary, benefits and classroom designation, she was well within her right to explore options for her benefit. In addition to her economic situation, the salary at South Brunswick was not enough "to stabilize her life between student loans, numerous undisclosed medical emergencies, general cost of living expenses, without any guarantee, I . . . gave as short notice as possible." See Respondent's Letter Brief at ¶

[1] Respondent submit her resignation on August 4, 2022. This was determined to be a typo.

2. Moreover, her fiancée accepted a job in Pittsburg, Pennsylvania and as such she needed to plan accordingly. Id. at ¶ 3.

Respondent states that she is not certified to teach students with registered IEP and 504 Plans. However during the 2021-2022 school year, she was assigned an inclusion class where the teacher of record resigned midway through the school year. Id. at ¶ 4. In this position she states that she was forced to work as a teacher of record as well as a general education teacher. Ibid. She states that she takes her students' needs above anything else and felt that the "administration did not do their part to prove they cared for the children's (sic) needs as much" as she did. Ibid. Respondent also points to several reasons why she did not return for the 2022-2023 school year. These reasons include mental anxiety for which she sought help, depression, feelings of abandonment by the administration and by fellow Kindergarten teachers. Id. at ¶ 6,and ¶ 14. Respondent argues that stripping her of her certificate would devastate and disable her from doing what she loves and is passionate about. Id. at ¶ 16. She points to her summative evaluation where it states:

> An example of Ms. Chester's work this year is her commitment to strong home/school partnerships to support student learning, as evidenced by her weekly newsletters and social media posts on Twitter. These proactive communications afford her the opportunity to tell the story of her classroom herself, and to invite families and others in to celebrate students' efforts and success. This serves as a point of pride in this practice Standard. Ms. Chester is commended for this contribution.
> [Respondent's Brief at ¶ 18.]

Respondent states that by stripping her of her certification "with the fact that legislative statute instigates a lack of professionalism, that is an attack on my personal character and is a blemish that will never go away, and I will be stigmatized regardless of all my efforts to do everything for my students." Id. at ¶ 21.

Respondent stated that she was happy on May 12, when her contract was renewed, however she was never given a formal copy of the renewed contract. Id. at ¶ 2.

Respondent further stated that she was not aware of the sixty-day window of resignation. Id. at ¶ 23. Since she was not given a physical contract, she did not recall saying "I will be teaching here next school year". Ibid. All she recalled saying is "thank you for the opportunity". Ibid. She argues that this was not a contractual agreement, because, if it was, she would have "asked for additional documentation cementing the fact of my renewal for the 2022-2023 school year." Ibid.

Respondent admits that she did give her resignation twenty-nine days prior to the contract effective date of September 1, 2023. Id. at ¶ 24. She states that if she had given sixty days from August 4, 2022, it would involve twenty-three days into the school year, and this would be far "too much time for a teacher to be involved and not affect the students if the teacher did in fact leave after that point. Id. In the best interest of the students she felt a teacher should be in the classroom for the entire school year. Id.

Respondent requested a copy of her contract on August 23, 2022. (Petitioner's Exhibit H.) Maloy-White replied " As I stated in my original conversation with you. You were re-appointed to a 2nd year contract at the May 12, 2022, board meeting. Salaries for the 2022-2023 school year are being approved at the August 25, 2022 board meeting. Contracts will be distributed after the board meeting. Your resignation is also being approved on August 25, 2022. You will not receive a contract since you are not returning to work on September 1, 2022". Ibid.

According to the respondent she was informed by Maloy-White that she did not have tenure but she "was in a tenure tract position." See Respondent's Exhibit H. Respondent argues that N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8 does not apply to her because she is not "under tenure of service.". Id. at ¶ 27. Furthermore, to reach tenure status a teacher must teach in the same school district for four full years. Ibid. The respondent says she has only taught in the South Brunswick School District for one full year. Ibid.

"[F]rom my proof regarding professionalism in the classroom and outside the classroom," respondent concludes, "being told by way of written communication my resignation is being approved by the board at the August 25, 2022 board meeting, as well as the effective and terminating dates of both the 2021-2022 and 2022-2023 approval meeting documents not being within the date I sent my resignation in, I hereby object to the action that my teaching certificate be revoked for one year pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26"." Id. at ¶ 31.

BOARD'S POSITION

The Board stated that the respondent was hired by the South Brunswick School District (District) on or about September 1, 2021. On April 23, 2022, she was notified that she was being recommended for a contract for the 2022-2023 school year. (Petitioner's Brief, dated June 8, 2023.) On May 12, 2022, Ms. Chester's contract was renewed for the 2022-2023 school year. Ibid. On August 4, 2023, Ms. Chester informed the District that she decided to pursue her career as a teacher elsewhere effective September 1, 2022. Ibid. Ms. Maloy-White informed the respondent on April 10, 2022, that she was required to give the District sixty-day notice and that her teacher's certificate would be jeopardized. Id. at 2. The Board argues that N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 requires the suspension of Ms. Chester's certificate. The Board further argues that:

> it is well recognized that [t]he obvious purpose of this statute and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8, a companion statute referring to tenured staff members, is to provide notice to the school so that a replacement can be hired without adversely impacting students." IMO Suspension of Teaching Certificate of Maximillan Capshaw, OAL Docket No. EDU 12318-06, Commissioner Decision June 12, 2007.
> [Petitioner's Brief, dated June 8, 2023]

The Board argues that this matter is similar to IMO Capshaw. There, the petitioner submitted his resignation in August prior to the start of a new school year". Ibid.

I FIND as FACT that there are no genuine issues of material fact requiring a hearing. This matter is therefore ripe for summary decision.

LEGAL DISCUSSION

Under the Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules, N.J.A.C. 1:1-1.1 to -21.6, "[a] party may move for summary decision upon all or any of the substantive issues in a contested case." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(a). Such motion "shall be served with briefs and with or without supporting affidavits" and "[t]he decision sought may be rendered if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). When the motion "is made and supported, an adverse party in order to prevail must by responding affidavit set forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding." Ibid.

This standard is substantially the same as that which governs motions for summary judgment in civil litigation. Contini v. Bd of Educ. of Newark, 286 N.J. Super. 106, 121 (App. Div. 1995). In other words, a court must ascertain "whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party in consideration of the applicable evidentiary standard, are sufficient to permit a rational factfinder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party." L.A. v. Bd. of Educ. of Trenton, 221 N.J. 192, 204 (2015) (internal quotes and citations omitted).

N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10, applicable to non-tenured certificated staff, provides that:

> Any teaching staff member employed by a board of education . . . , who shall, without the consent of the board . . . cease to perform his duties before the expiration of the term of his employment, shall be deemed guilty of unprofessional conduct, and the commissioner may, upon receiving notice thereof, suspend his certificate for a period not exceeding one year.

"The obvious purpose of N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 is to provide notice to the school so that a suitable replacement can be hired without adversely impacting students." Penns Grove-

Carneys Point Bd. of Educ. v. Leinen, 94 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 405, 407 (citing reference omitted).

The sufficiency of notice is dictated by the terms of the parties' employment contract. In re Suspension of the Teaching Certificate of Schvamberg, EDU 09828-13, Initial Decision (January 21, 2014), adopted, Comm'r (March 5, 2014) https://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/html/initial/edu09828-13_1.html. In most cases, the Commissioner has imposed the maximum one-year suspension of a teaching certificate for leaving without adequate notice. See, e.g., Green v. School Dist. of Mount Holly, EDU 0733-02, Initial Decision (Sept. 5, 2002), adopted, Comm'r (Oct. 25, 2002) https://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/html/initial/edu00733-02_1.html; In re Suspension of the Teaching Certificate of Montalbano, EDU 3588-00, Initial Decision (April 24, 2001), adopted, Comm'r (June 11, 2001) https://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/html/initial/edu3588-00_1.html; Penns Grove-Carneys Point v. Leinen, 94 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 405. "In rare circumstances in which the Commissioner has seen fit to lessen the suspension period, it was for compelling reasons." Bd. of Educ. of Borough of Alpine v. Yuz, EDU 1116-06, Initial Decision (July 17, 2008), adopted, Comm'r (September 23, 2008) https://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/html/initial/edu01116-06_1.html (citing In re Rogers, 1989 S.L.D. 1962 (May 16, 1989), adopted, Comm'r (June 21, 1989)).

"Compelling reasons" have been found, for example, where matters of significant public interest were involved and where constitutional issues were implicated. See Bey v. Bd. of Educ. of Newark, 93 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 288. The Commission also declined to suspend a teacher who went above and beyond to ensure a smooth transition by developing a program through the end of the year and meeting with her successor to put the program in place. Bd. of Educ. of Black Horse Pike Regional School Dist. v. Mooney, 1984 S.L.D. 810, adopted, 1984 S.L.D. 821. A suspension of less than a year was imposed on a teacher of handicapped children who switched jobs for "noble" reasons—to work with more severely handicapped children at a state facility. In re Rogers, 1989 S.L.D. 1962 (May 16, 1989), adopted, Comm'r (June 21, 1989).

N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 provides that ("[A]ny teaching staff member employed by a board of education . . . who shall, without the consent of the board . . . cease to perform his duties before the expiration of the term of his employment, shall be deemed guilty of unprofessional conduct . . " In order to sustain the charge of unprofessional conduct pursuant to N.J.S.A. § 18A:26-10, the petitioner must demonstrate that respondent: 1) was a teaching staff member employed by a board of education who; 2) ceased to perform her duties before the expiration of the term of her employment; 3) without consent of the board. The underlying purpose of N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 is "to protect pupils from the disruption caused by '[s]taff members who leave before the expiration of their contracts.'" Ibid.

In the present matter, the record reflects that none of the required criteria are in dispute. Here, it is not disputed that respondent left the District before the expiration of her sixty-day notice period. Respondent was notified on April 23, 2022, through her summative evaluation that she was being recommended for a contract for the 2022-2023 school year. Certification of Maloy-White at ¶ 6. On May 12, 2022, respondent's contract was renewed for the 2022-2023 school year. Certification of Maloy-White at ¶ 7, Exhibit D. On August 4, 2023, respondent notified the District that she would not return to teach in the 2022-2023 school year which was scheduled to begin on September 1, 2023. Respondent argues that she did not enter into a contract with the District and since she did not receive a contract, nor did she sign a contract for the 2022-2023 program year and as such.(Respondent's Brief, dated June 15, 2023, Response to Order to Show Cause, dated November 14, 2022) I find no merit in this argument in that there is no dispute that there was a contract or at the very least there was an implied contract here. As stated in Snyder v. Freeman, 300 N.C. 204

> A 'contract implied in fact,'. . . arises where the intention of the parties is not expressed, but an agreement in fact, creating an obligation is implied or presumed from their acts, or, as it has been otherwise stated, where there are circumstances which, according to the ordinary course of dealing and the common understanding of men, show a mutual intent to contract. 17 C.J.S., Contracts § 4(b) (1963). An implied contract is valid and enforceable as if it were express or written. [Id. at 217]

Moreover, the respondent admitted that there was a contract. She stated that, "[I]was delighted to hear that my contract was renewed." Respondent's Brief at ¶ 22. By submitting her resignation on August 4, 2022, the Board was given only twenty-eight days' notice which does not comply with the sixty-days' notice requirement and as such "shall be deemed guilty of unprofessional conduct" pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10.

Far from offering compelling reasons or extenuating circumstances to explain her premature departure, respondent pleads that without knowledge of salary, benefits and classroom designation, she was well within her right to explore options for her benefit. In addition she argues that the salary at South Brunswick was not enough "to stabilize her life between student loans, numerous undisclosed medical emergencies, general cost of living expenses, without any guarantee. . . . " Respondent's Brief at ¶ 2. Her departure disrupted the school environment in precisely the manner the law was designed to prevent.

Respondent's implicit argument that had she given notice at sixty days it would involve twenty-three days into the school year, and this would be far "too much time for a teacher to be involved and not affect the students if the teacher did in fact leave after that point" (Respondent's Brief at ¶ 24.), implies that she knew that sixty days was required, but decided to forego the requirement anyway. Furthermore, respondent was informed by Maloy-White on August 10, 2022, of the sixty days' notice requirement. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that the Board has met its burden by demonstrating by a preponderance of credible evidence that respondent is guilty of unprofessional conduct, and that the charge of such must be SUSTAINED.

PENALTY

Having sustained the charge of unprofessional conduct pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10, the appropriate penalty to be imposed must be determined. N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 and N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.8(b) both provide that once they receive notice of a teacher leaving their position prior to the term of employment as contemplated by N.J.S.A.

18A:26-10, the commissioner may suspend the certificates held by that teacher for a period not to exceed one year.

> The decision to suspend a teaching certificate pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8 is discretionary and the Commissioner has historically evaluated all attendant circumstances on a case-by-case basis. As a general rule, however, given the underlying purpose of the statute, teachers who have been found guilty of unprofessional conduct for failing to provide the requisite [sixty]-day notice receive a one-year certificate suspension. The one year suspension is routinely issued where the facts demonstrate that individuals have violated the [sixty]-day notice requirement for strictly personal reasons, putting their own self-interest above the interests of students and their professional obligation to provide adequate notice to the board.
> [In re Certificates of Chae Hyuk Im, 2018 N.J. Super. Unpub. LEXIS 1748 at 8-9.]

Although the Board did find a suitable replacement for the respondent, it was still at a cost to the Board. As the Board stated, "it was robbing Peter to Pay Paul." (Petitioner's Brief dated June 8, at 3.) In IM, the court found "[u]nlike these cases— which have justified an exception to the customary one-year suspension—the facts in this matter are neither exceptional nor do they warrant the exercise of the Commissioner's discretion. Rather, in the instant matter, [Im's] desire for the early release from his professional obligations was based solely on personal motives and his own convenience. Id. at 9.

Similarly, here, the respondent's reason for resignation was to explore other teaching opportunities; solely for "personal motives." Viewing all evidence in the light most favorable to respondent, no rational factfinder could find in her favor. Therefore, the Board's motion for summary decision should be granted.

CONCLUSION

Based on the above, the Board's motion for summary decision is GRANTED. The respondent's motion for summary decision is DENIED. The charge of unprofessional conduct against respondent is hereby SUSTAINED. Further, it is ORDERED that respondent's teaching certificate be SUSPENDED for a period of one year.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." Final Decision

Howard Zlotkin, State Board of Examiners,
New Jersey Department of Education.

Order of Suspension by the State Board of Examiners, May 18, 2023

Respondent-Appellant, pro se

For the Petitioner-Respondent State Board of Examiners, Colin G. Klika, Deputy Attorney General (Matthew J. Platkin, Attorney General of New Jersey)

The Commissioner has reviewed the record and the papers filed in connection with appellant Howard Zlotkin's appeal of the Order of the State Board of Examiners (Board), dated May 18, 2023, suspending his Teacher of Elementary Grades K-8 Certificate of Eligibility, Teacher of Biological Science Certificate of Eligibility, Teacher of Biological Science Standard Certificate, and Teacher of Earth Science Standard Certificate for a period of two years.

Appellant, an experienced science teacher who worked in Jersey City, resigned after a flagrant incident of unbecoming conduct in which he angrily cursed at his students and made an offensive gesture while engaging in a profanity-laced diatribe captured on video during a class conducted via Zoom. On September 22, 2021, the Board issued an Order to Show Cause (OSC) for the revocation of appellant's certificates and subsequently transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for a contested hearing. The Board moved for summary decision.

Having determined that no genuine issues of material fact existed, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) granted the Board's motion for summary decision. The ALJ concluded that appellant's actions constituted conduct unbecoming a teacher. Regarding the appropriate penalty, the ALJ cited several mitigating factors, including appellant's appreciation of the seriousness of his actions and the fact that he had taught for more than twenty years without incident. Consequently, the ALJ found that a two-year suspension of appellant's certificates—and not a revocation—was warranted. Upon considering the Board's exceptions regarding the penalty and appellant's reply thereto, the Board adopted the ALJ's Initial Decision and suspended appellant's certificates for two years effective May 18, 2023.

On appeal, while appellant did not object to the determination that a two-year suspension of his certificates was warranted for his proven unbecoming conduct, he contended that the suspension should take effect retroactively, beginning on April 28, 2021 (the date the school district suspended him for his actions), because he should be credited for "time served." In response, the Board argued that the law only provides for prospective suspensions of certificates and that retroactive suspensions would make the entire regulatory process a meaningless exercise. In his reply brief, while appellant expressed his strong disappointment with the Board's objection to imposition of a retroactive suspension, he ultimately decided to "accept [the] two-year suspension without the inclusion of time served." Appellant's reply brief, at 2. Although it appears that appellant has abandoned his sole contention on appeal, he did not formally withdraw his appeal pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:4-4.2(a).

In reviewing appeals from decisions of the State Board of Examiners, the Commissioner may not substitute her judgment for that of the Board so long as the appellant received due process and the Board's decision is supported by sufficient, credible evidence in the record. N.J.A.C. 6A:4-4.1(a). Further, the Board's decision should not be disturbed unless the appellant demonstrates that it is arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. Ibid. Here, the sufficient, credible evidence, in the record—including video footage of the incident at issue—overwhelmingly supports the Board's determination that appellant engaged in unbecoming conduct and that a two-year suspension of his certificates is the appropriate penalty. There is nothing in the record to suggest that appellant did not receive due process or that the Board's decision was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. Moreover, despite his ongoing frustration and disappointment, appellant has indicated that he now accepts the prospective two-year suspension of his certificates.

Accordingly, the decision of the State Board of Examiners suspending appellant's certificates for two years, effective May 18, 2023, is affirmed.[1]

IN THE MATTER OF	:	NEW JERSEY DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION
THE CERTIFICATES OF	:	STATE BOARD OF EXAMINERS
HOWARD ZLOTKIN	:	DOCKET NO. 2021-184
		REVOCATION PROCEEDING ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE

1. Howard Zlotkin is the holder of a Teacher of Elementary Grades K-8 Certificate of Eligibility, Teacher of Biological Science Certificate of Eligibility, Teacher of Biological Science standard certificate, and Teacher of Earth Science standard certificate.

2. The Jersey City Public School District (Jersey City) provided information to the State Board of Examiners (Board) regarding Zlotkin.

3. Zlotkin was a science teacher in the district who resigned after angrily cursing at his students and engaging in a profanity laced diatribe in front of his students, at one point giving his student (s) his middle finger and telling one student "Fuck you.". The recorded incident is incorporated herein by reference.

4. Pursuant to the recording, Zlotkin said the following to his students:

   a. "....Because I've been working for twenty years and I don't really care who you are or what color you are. I don't care where you came from. I worked three jobs every fucking day of my life and you know what I have one kid, not seven because I can't afford seven."

   b. "I lost a house because I was out of work, I worked two careers. I reinvented myself. I never gave up and I don't give up but I hear people whining and crying about Black Lives Matter, but George Floyd was a fucking criminal and he got arrested and he got killed because he wouldn't comply and the bottom line is we make him a fucking hero."

   c. "He's not a hero, he's like a criminal just like fucking Tawana Brawley and you know what, Tawana Brawley lied and ruined peoples lives and you guys emulate people like um uh people that just are fucking wrong, that are criminals, and you're making them right because they're black or because they got a bad story. Everybody's got a bad story. Half the planet's starving to death and they're not whining."

d. "But the ladies that run Black Lives Matter own five houses and are multimillionaires and they don't give a shit – they're making money off people and we're fighting each other. We're gonna fall apart and I'll tell you something right now, that's not equity. Equity is everybody matters – not just one person, not just the other."

e. "And I'll tell you something, I ain't fucking privileged, I come to work. I haven't gotten paid by my black vice principal who thinks I'm fucking privileged too. And I come to school...."

f. When a student stated that Zlotkin was privileged, he responded with "You know what S., fuck you I'm privileged, Fuck you...."

5. The Board finds that the level and nature of Zlotkin's conduct provides just cause for consideration of the revocation of his certificates.

6. Pursuant to the Board's vote, it is therefore on this 17th day of September 2021 ORDERED that Howard Zlotkin show cause why all certificates and credentials he holds as of the final adjudication of this matter should not be revoked.

Order on Emergent Relief

Respondent.

The record of this emergent matter, the sound recording of proceedings at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the recommended Order of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that petitioner has failed to demonstrate entitlement to emergent relief pursuant to the standards enunciated in *Crowe v. BEFORE JEFFREY N. RABIN, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioners, U.C. and E.C. on behalf of minor student, N.C., appeal the results of the respondents' Lottery System for selecting students for the school years 2021–2023 at Thomas Edison EnergySmart Charter School, Somerset County (respondents or TEECS), and seek emergent relief in the form of a declaratory judgment that the actions, conduct, practices of respondents Graf and TEECS violated the charter school laws of the State of New Jersey, and that minor child N.C. be admitted to TEECS for the upcoming 2023–2024 school year;

The within motion for emergent relief was filed by petitioners on August 14, 2023, with the New Jersey Department of Education (DOE), Office of Controversies and Disputes (OCD). The motion for emergent relief was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on August 15, 2023. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. An emergent hearing in this matter took place via Zoom on August 21, 2023, and the record closed at that time.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Based on petitioners' Petition for emergent relief and responsive brief, respondents' brief, and the evidence and testimony offered by the parties and their representatives, and solely for the purpose of deciding this emergent appeal, I FIND the following to be the undisputed facts:

1. TEECS a charter school for grades K-12 in Franklin, New Jersey, accepted students from three area school districts: Franklin, North Brunswick and South Brunswick Townships. The New Jersey DOE limited TEECS' enrollment per grade to an average of fifty students per grade. Each year more students applied than there was room for, and TEECS implemented an admissions policy using a lottery. Preference was given to students who resided in either Franklin, North Brunswick or South Brunswick Townships, and TEECS entered the names of economically disadvantaged students four times in the lottery to provide a weighted advantage. (Yildiz Cert., ¶4.)

2. Petitioners have been residents of Franklin Township, Somerset County, New Jersey since 2022. They were the parents of minor child N.C., an eight-year-old. Petitioners identify racially as "Black African and American." From 2021 through 2023, petitioners applied for and were denied admission for N.C. to attend TEECS. By letter dated February 6, 2023, petitioners were notified that N.C. had not been chosen in the lottery for enrollment in TEECs for 2023–2024, that he would be waitlisted, and that no further correspondence would be forthcoming unless N.C. was later chosen from the waitlist. As enrollment was full, a child could only be admitted from the waitlist if a student at TEECS disenrolled.

TESTIMONY

For petitioners

U.C. presented her case as both petitioner-counsel and parent of minor child N.C.

Schools were required to provide an equal chance to all students and each town served by TEECS had to have an equal proportion of students in TEECS. N.J.A.C. 6A:11-2.1(b)(4) provides that a charter school shall ". . . ii. Describe its plan to ensure the enrollment of a cross section of the school-age population of the region of residence, including racial and academic factors. This plan shall include apportionment of available space from each of the district boards of education that comprise the region of residence." Franklin Township is 36% Black.

The Commissioner of the DOE must do a comprehensive review of a charter school's recruitment plan in order to ensure its school is diversified. Respondents' counsel indicated that the DOE had certified that TEECS met its access and equity policy. (Respondents Exhibit C.)

Petitioners' filing was not untimely, despite not complying with the ninety-day appeal period from notice of rejection, and despite receiving a letter dated February 6, 2023, indicating that N.C. was not being admitted and was being waitlisted, because there was still the possibility that N.C. could be admitted from the waitlist. Petitioners waited to see if that was happening, despite the February 6, 2023, letter stating that no further correspondence would be sent unless the student was being admitted from the waitlist. (Respondents Exhibit A.)

TEECS was not transparent in its process, despite respondents pointing out that all its compliance data was publicly available. All its admissions statistics were available on the DOE website.

N.C. would suffer irreparable harm if not granted emergent relief and immediately admitted to TEECS because he is very emotional and would suffer if he had to switch schools in mid-semester. If not admitted to TEECS, N.C. would continue at McAfee Elementary School.

For respondents

David L. Disler, Esq., presented for respondents.

Charter schools were approved for a set number of students. Respondents were at its limit, therefore for a student to be admitted off the waitlist, another student would have to have disenrolled. Therefore, the key lottery was when a student was about to enter kindergarten, because if they won the lottery, the child would be able to remain at TEECS through twelfth grade. The within petitioners did not live in Franklin Township when N.C. was kindergarten age.

The ninety-day appeal period ran from the date of respondents' February 6, 2023, letter, and therefore petitioners' filing of August 14, 2023, was beyond the filing period. Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982) required a showing of irreparable harm, but caselaw set forth that an applicant for emergent relief could not have caused their own harm. Here, petitioners should have filed their appeal immediately after receiving notice that N.C. did not win a spot via the lottery, instead of waiting until six months later and a mere two weeks before the next school year began. It was also not uncommon for students to move to different schools mid-semester; parents often move and their children begin at new schools in the middle of a marking period. Without any other proof of irreparable harm, petitioners have failed to meet that test.

Petitioners were wrong to conclude that New Jersey law required "equal" apportionment. Such requirement was not in the statute. N.J.A.C. 6A:11-2.1(b)(4) was not applicable to the within scenario, because that statute dealt with a charter school's initial admission plan and did not pertain to respondents' admissions lottery. Further, even if that statute applied herein, nowhere did it require "equal" apportionment. Respondents advertised its admissions lottery to all three of the sending townships, Franklin, North Brunswick and South Brunswick Townships. Further, based on publicly available statistics, Franklin Township was actually over-represented at TEECS, with 65% of TEECS students coming from petitioners' home township of Franklin.

The three townships had a total of 21,112 students. 4,328 of those students were African-American, equaling 20%. Of the 599 students enrolled at TEECS, 114 were African-American, equaling 19%. Therefore, the percentage of African-Americans closely reflected the percentage of African-Americans in the three sending townships. Despite this, petitioners seem to want to have race be a factor in having N.C. admitted, but that would go against the recent Supreme Court case prohibiting the use of race in admissions and would be violative of New Jersey law. Current law would not support petitioners' position.

A balancing of equities would not favor petitioners. TEECS has a capped admissions limit, and every spot has been taken. But regardless of the outcome of the within emergent appeal, N.C. would still receive an education in Franklin Township. But for this court to order respondents to admit N.C. to TEECS, another student would have to be disenrolled, a student who received a notice of admissions six months ago and might or might not have any other educational options. Further, for this court to invalidate respondents' admissions lottery program on an emergent appeal would allow every parent whose child was not initially selected in the lottery to file an emergent appeal in order to force their child to be immediately admitted to a school that was already at full capacity.

LEGAL ANALYSIS

The issue is whether petitioners had proven by a preponderance of the evidence that they had met the standard for emergent relief, and that they were entitled to relief.

N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9 authorizes the Commissioner of Education to consider controversies between a parent and a school board. The OAL is the appropriate venue for hearing an appeal of a school board's findings and the DOE properly forwarded this matter to the OAL for this emergent appeal to be heard.

N.J.A.C. 6A:14-2.7(r) allows a party to apply in writing for a temporary order of emergent relief as part of a request for a due process hearing or an expedited hearing for disciplinary action. The request needed to be supported by an affidavit or notarized statement specifying the basis for the request for emergency relief. N.J.A.C. 6A:14-2.7(r)(1) lists the cases emergent relief is available for, which includes issues involving (i) a break in the delivery of services, (ii) disciplinary action, including manifestation determinations and determinations of interim alternate educational settings, (iii) placement pending the outcome of due process proceedings, and (iv) issues involving graduation or participation in graduation ceremonies.

Petitioners' Appeal documents failed to address whether they met any of the four situations which would allow for emergent relief. The closest would arguably be (iii) placement pending the outcome of due process proceedings; however, petitioners did not specify this clause, did not address due process proceedings in their appeal or at the hearing, and petitioners admitted that minor student N.C. already had school placement for the coming school year.

Despite petitioners' not properly addressing these prerequisites to relief, I CONCLUDE that the within matter concerns itself with issues regarding placement pending the outcome of a due process appeal and, therefore, petitioners' Petition met one of the threshold issues required to be eligible for emergent relief.

Next, as set out in the Petition executed by petitioners, and pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A: 3-1.6 and the case of Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982), a petitioner must show by a preponderance of the evidence that the four prongs/prerequisites set forth therein had been met in petitioners' favor in order to be granted emergent relief.

A petitioner bears the burden of proving the four prongs for emergent relief. B.W. ex rel. D.W. v. Lenape Reg'l High Sch. Dist., OAL Dkt. No. EDS 06933-05, Agency Ref. No. 2006-10522E, at 8 (N.J. Adm); see also J.G. ex rel. Q.B. v. Bd. of Educ. of Lakewood, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 10073-03, Agency Ref. No. 466-12/03, at 6 (N.J. Adm); R.D. ex rel. C.D. v. Willingboro Bd. of Educ., 95 N.J.A.R.2d 190, at 2.

Per N.J.A.C. 6A: 3-1.6 and Crowe, emergent relief may be granted if the judge determines from the proofs that the following four prongs have been met:

i. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted;

ii. The legal right underlying the petitioner's claim is settled;

iii. The petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and

iv. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

However, despite having acknowledged the Crowe test by executing the Petition, petitioners failed to address the standards set forth in Crowe, as required by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b), and failed to provide testimony addressing these standards. It must also be noted that petitioners failed to offer any documentary or oral evidence that in any way tied respondent Jessica Graf to any of the actions or violations allegedly conducted by TEECS.

Respondents argued that petitioners did not meet all four prongs of the Crowe test.

1. The petitioners will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted.

In its Petition and at the hearing, petitioners argued that N.C. was of such a tender age (eight) that a sudden and abrupt change to a new school after the school year had started would psychologically affect his emotional wellbeing. This was an opinion from his mother, not an expert in psychology or psychiatry; no documentation was provided to show that N.C. was a particularly sensitive child or had suffered emotional wellbeing previously or had issues regarding changes to his routine. No evidence was offered to show that even if N.C. started TEECS in the middle of a semester that any emotional issues would be irreparable, lifelong emotional issues. It was clear that petitioners would have gladly admitted N.C. to TEECS if a spot was offered from the waitlist over the last three years, whether that happened in the summer or the middle of a semester. Additionally, petitioners recently moved into Franklin Township in 2022, and did not offer any evidence from that move as to how N.C. emotionally handled that change in residence and change in schools.

It must be noted that the "irreparable harm" standard contemplated that the harm be both substantial and immediate. Subcarrier Communications, Inc. v. Day, 299 N.J. Super. 634, 638 (App. Div. 1997). Irreparable harm included that the occurrence of harm was imminent, A. Hollander & Sons, Inc. v. Imperial Fur Blending Corp., 2 N.J. 235, 249 (1949), but not where a mere inconvenience may occur. B&S Ltd. v. Elephant & Castle Intern, Inc., 388 N.J. Super. 160 (Ch. Div. 2006). Here, any harm raised by petitioners was speculative, not based on evidence, not shown to potentially be substantial, and certainly not imminent, as it would only arise if N.C. was later admitted from the waitlist in the middle of a semester.

Further, petitioners were in receipt of a letter dated February 6, 2023, which clearly indicated that N.C. had not won a spot in TEECS from the admissions lottery conducted on February 4, 2023, that he would be added to the waitlist as number thirty on that list, and that they would only receive any further notice from the school if a spot later opened up so that a student would be selected from the waitlist. Petitioners should have taken immediate action at that time to challenge the lottery system. Respondents properly argued that a petition of appeal before the Commissioner must be brought within ninety-days of receipt of "notice of a final order, ruling or other action by the district board of education, individual party, or agency, which is the subject of the contested case hearing." N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i). The Commissioner has concluded that the phrase, "receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling or other action," is interpreted in caselaw to mean even an informal awareness of an action by a board of education or other party. Mazzeo v. Bd. of Ed. of Tp. of Barnegat, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 4561-05, Agency Dkt. No. 151-6/05 (August 18, 2005), aff'd (Comm. Ed. September 29, 2005).

Accordingly, any harm that might be caused by N.C. switching to TEECS mid-semester was due to petitioners' delay in challenging respondents' decision of February 6, 2023. See McKenzie v. Corzine, 396 N.J. Super. 405, 414–15 (App. Div. 2007) (holding that injunctive relief is not appropriate where the "imminent" irreparable injury alleged by a plaintiff was caused by the plaintiff).

As no specific motion to dismiss for violation of the ninety-day rule was filed by respondents, I will not reach a decision on whether such violation would preclude the filing of a due process petition or require an immediate dismissal. However, I FIND that petitioners' delay in appealing the results of respondents' admissions lottery was the cause of any harm that might befall N.C. I CONCLUDE that petitioners failed to prove that there would be any irreparable harm to N.C. and that petitioners failed to show that the first prong of the Crowe test for emergent relief had been met in favor of the petitioners.

2. The legal right underlying the petitioners' claim is settled.

Petitioners concluded in their Petition that the legal right underlying petitioners' claim was well-settled under N.J.A.C. 6A:3 Controversies and Disputes, and in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9. However, they did not cite to specific sections of these statutes and regulations, and did not offer any argument as to how or why those sections were definitive. More importantly, petitioners provided no caselaw that supported their position.

Respondents correctly argued that petitioners were wrong to conclude that New Jersey law required "equal" apportionment. Such requirement was not in the statute, and the statute cited by petitioners, N.J.A.C. 6A:11-2.1(b)(4), was not applicable to the within scenario. Petitioners were unconvincing when they offered caselaw to try to glean legislative intent in an attempt at reinterpreting the plain language of these sections.

The charter school lottery regulation is N.J.A.C. 6A:11-4.5, which states that if there are more enrollment applications than spaces available, the charter school shall use a random selection process. The regulation therefore approves of a lottery to facilitate the selection of students for enrollment, and a waitlist if the number of applicants exceed the available number of spots, with the rank on the waitlist to be determined by lottery. The lottery regulation does not reference apportionment by district, nor does it provide for a separate waitlist for each constituent district, and therefore petitioners' argument that a separate admissions lottery was legally required for each of the three constituent sending townships would most likely be unsuccessful.

Respondents advertised its admissions lottery to all three of its sending townships, Franklin, North Brunswick and South Brunswick. Interestingly enough, based on publicly available statistics, Franklin Township was over-represented at TEECS, with 65% of TEECS students coming from petitioners' hometown of Franklin.

It therefore appeared that respondents, not petitioners, would have a greater likelihood of success at a full due process hearing. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that petitioners failed to show that the second prong of the Crowe test for emergent relief had been met in favor of the petitioners.

3. The petitioners have a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim.

Petitioners stated in their Petition that "based on the verified responses and statements admitted by Respondent Graf, the petitioners have a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim." That statement in no way exhibited why petitioners believed they had a likelihood of prevailing. Respondent Graf was not called to testify at the emergent hearing, and petitioners made no reference to specific statements made by her, nor how any such statements would ensure success on the merits of the case. Rather, it appears both the statutes, regulations, and the facts of this case make it a greater likelihood that respondents would prevail on the merits of the case.

The laws cited by petitioners did not apply to the within matter. Petitioners attempted to insinuate specific language into the plain language of the statutes and regulations cited, but nowhere was "equal" apportionment required. Further, petitioners submitted no caselaw that supported their claims. While it is possible that petitioners could succeed in a full due process hearing on the issues in this case, petitioners have not met their burden of proving that they would succeed on the merits as of the time of this emergent hearing.

From a factual standpoint, petitioners' argument as to apportionment related to the admissions lottery would necessarily fail because Franklin Township was actually over-represented at TEECS, with 65% of TEECS students coming from petitioners' home township of Franklin. Regarding African-American attendance, 20% of students in the three-township district were African-American, and TEECS had a 19% African-American student body. Thus, it appeared that respondents had a student body reflective of the entirety of the available student body and was well-apportioned. While petitioners challenged these statistics, it was respondents who certified this information before proffering it to this court; petitioners had the burden of proving that these numbers were not accurate or were being misinterpreted, but they offered no proof of same.

It is also worth noting that in its 2020 Renewal Summary for TEECS, DOE gave a score of "Meets Standard" for "Access and Equity," noting that the TEECS "demonstrates a commitment to serving and meeting the needs of all students," while providing examples of TEECS's exhaustive outreach efforts to the community. Respondents were right to argue that this certification from DOE negated any argument that TEECS did not have any plan or engage in any efforts to recruit students of diverse backgrounds throughout its constituent sending districts.

I CONCLUDE that petitioners failed to show that the third prong of the Crowe test for emergent relief had been met in favor of the petitioners.

4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioners will suffer greater harm than the respondents will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

Again, petitioners in their moving papers simply concluded that the balancing of equities would favor their position, without explaining why. Petitioners merely offered their (unsupported) argument that N.C. would suffer irreparable harm. They failed to compare that speculative harm to any harm that might be caused to the respondents or the TEECS student body if emergent relief was not granted.

Having already concluded that petitioners failed to prove irreparable harm, we may now examine any harm to the school. If the entire admission lottery was to be invalidated, TEECS would be in the unenviable position of having to recreate a system for admissions. That could invalidate any waiting lists, and have a ripple effect on admissions for several years. In the short term, respondents would be forced to create and seek approval for a new admission protocol a mere week before the start of a new school year.

More detrimentally, if the within court were to grant petitioners' request and force respondents to immediately admit N.C. to TEECS, another student would have to be disenrolled. Assuming respondents would only disenroll a student who had not yet begun school at TEECS, that would mean a student and his family who won admission through the lottery on February 4, 2023, and have spent the last six months preparing as if he or she would be starting at TEECS at the beginning of the 2023–2024 school year, would at the last minute have to scramble to either enroll the student into public school in their township or to have to find a new charter school within the next week. Conversely, N.C. already has an educational program at McAfee Elementary School, and if petitioners are unsuccessful in the within emergent matter, there would be no break in educational services for N.C.; he would simply remain in his current educational program.

I CONCLUDE that petitioners failed to show that the fourth prong of the Crowe test for emergent relief had been met in favor of the petitioners.

Therefore, I CONCLUDE that petitioners failed to show by a preponderance of the evidence that they met any of the four prongs of the Crowe test for emergent relief. I CONCLUDE that petitioners failed to prove that they were entitled to emergent relief in this matter.

ORDER

Accordingly, I ORDER that the petitioners' application for emergent relief be and hereby is DENIED.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who/which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five days following the entry of this order. If Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Order on Emergent Relief

Erskine Barrino,

Petitioner,

v.

New Jersey Department of Education,
Office of Student Protection,

Respondent.

The record of this emergent matter, the sound recording of proceedings at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the recommended Order of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that petitioner has failed to demonstrate entitlement to emergent relief pursuant to the standards enunciated in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982), and codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6. Accordingly, the recommended Order denying petitioner's application for emergent relief is adopted for the reasons stated therein.

However, the Order incorrectly states that the only question transmitted to the OAL was whether petitioner is entitled to emergent relief. The transmittal of this matter included both a petition and a motion for emergent relief, and the underlying petition of appeal endures despite denial of the application for emergent relief. Accordingly, this matter shall continue at the OAL with such proceedings as the parties and the ALJ deem necessary to bring it to closure.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

NEW JERSEY DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION,

Respondent.

Erskine Barrino, petitioner, pro se

Sadia Ahsanuddin, Deputy Attorney General, for respondent (Matthew J. Platkin, Attorney General of New Jersey, attorney)

BEFORE: JOHN P. SCOLLO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Erskine Barrino seeks emergent relief from the Department of Education, Office of Student Protection's determination dated August 8, 2023 that he is disqualified from serving as a Security Officer for the West Orange (Essex County) Board of Education.

This Tribunal will only decide the question transmitted to it by the Agency i.e., whether Barrino is entitled to emergent relief."

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner, Erskine Barrino, filed a Pro Se Petition of Appeal on August 17, 2023 seeking Emergent Relief from the Commissioner of Education. He challenges the Office of Student Protection's (hereinafter OSP) August 8, 2023 determination, as expressed in its Notice of Disqualification sent to him on August 8, 2023, that he is permanently disqualified from serving in any position with an educational institutional which is under the supervision of the New Jersey Department of Education due to a November 14, 1990 guilty plea (Judgment of Conviction) to the charge of Possession of a Weapon (N.J.S.A. 2C:39-5B). On August 23, 2023, the OSP, represented by the New Jersey Attorney General's Office, filed papers (Brief) in Opposition to the Petition for Emergent Relief and a Motion to Dismiss said Petition.

This is the Order on the Petition.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

Based on the submissions and the testimony elicited at the hearing on August 24, 2023, the Tribunal FINDS that the parties are not in disagreement about any of the following facts.

By way of background, on May 1, 1989, Petitioner Erskine Barrino was arrested in Bergen County on a charge of Possession (N.J.S.A. 2C:39-5B) of a Weapon.

On November 14, 1990, Barrino entered a plea of guilty to said charge.

He was sentenced to two years' probation, which he completed. He did not file a Petition for Expungement of said conviction until August 22, 2023. There will be a hearing on the Expungement Petition on October 23, 2023 in the Superior Court of New Jersey, Criminal Part, Bergen County.

Erskine Barrino applied for the position of Security Officer with the Board of Education of West Orange, Essex Couty, New Jersey. On July 26, 2023, the Superintendent of School for West Orange sent a letter notifying Barrino that his appointment as a Security Officer was approved at the West Orange Board of Education's meeting of July 25, 2023 for the period from September 1, 2023 through June 30, 2024. However, on August 8, 2023, the State Department of Education, Office of Student Protection (OSP) sent a letter to Barrino notifying him of its determination that he is permanently disqualified from serving in any position with an educational institutional which is under the supervision of the New Jersey Department of Education. The OSP explained that Barrino's criminal history shows that on November 14, 1990 he entered a plea of guilty (a Judgment of Conviction) to the charge of Possession of a Weapon (N.J.S.A. 2C:39-5B). Since the record of the conviction has never been expunged, said criminal record still exists and he is therefore disqualified from holding said position.

ANALYSIS OF THE RESPECTIVE POSITIONS OF THE PARTIES

Erskine Barrino's August 17, 2023 Pro Se Petition of Appeal admits that on November 14, 1990 he entered a guilty plea to the charge of Possession of a Weapon N.J.S.A. 2C:39-5B; that he was sentenced to two years of probation; and that he successfully completed probation. In his testimony, he admitted that he did not apply for an expungement until August 23, 2023. His Petition of Appeal seeks emergent relief pursuant to Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982). The argument upon which he seeks emergent relief is that he needs to work to support his family, which includes a child who has medical issues. He was appointed to the Security Officer position by the WOBOE, admittedly subject to the results of a background check. If he does not get the job with the WOBOE he will be jobless and unable to support himself and his family. He stated that he left his last employment during the week before the hearing because he had to give two weeks' notice to his employer, Mancon, Inc., where he worked for wages as a Parts Specialist and from whom he received health insurance coverage for himself and his family members. During the hearing, he stated that there was a possibility that he could regain his job with Mancon, Inc, unless it has been filled in the interim. He argued that since his guilty plea in 1990, he has not been involved in any criminal activity and that he learned from his mistake. He is a family man and wants to serve the interests of his own children and those of other schoolchildren and their parents.

The Tribunal explained the requirements of the four prongs of Crowe. The Tribunal emphasized that it is the burden of the person seeking emergent relief to persuade the Tribunal that he meets the requirements of each of the four prongs of Crowe. Barrino acknowledged that he understood this and addressed each of the four prongs.

When asked to explain how he met the requirements of demonstrating that he would suffer irreparable harm (the first Crowe factor) if the requested relief were not granted, he explained that he needed both the wages and the health insurance coverage that was part of the prospective job, especially since he has a child who has medical issues. He admitted that the health insurance coverage, like wages, was an economic benefit. Of course, Crowe held that a harm is not irreparable if it can be redressed by money. Barrino had no response to this. When asked to present whether he had any other arguments that demonstrated irreparable harm that were not based on economic harm, Barrino basically had no response.

Given that opportunity to address the second, third and fourth Crowe factors, Barrino was not able to demonstrate that the law supported his claim for relief. In regard to the second Crowe factor, he could not overcome the OSP's argument that the law imposed a mandatory disqualification to people convicted of the type of offense that he had on his record. In regard to the third Crowe factor, he was unable to demonstrate why, that under the circumstances of the matter, he would have a likelihood of success on the merits. Finally, on the fourth Crowe factor, he could not demonstrate how, when the equities of the matter were compared, that he would suffer greater harm than the Respondent, if the relief he sought was not granted. Moreover, he was not able to refute the Respondent's argument that the interest of the students required that there be no exceptions to the disqualification of applicants who have a record of offenses proscribed by the applicable statutes.

Arguments Presented by the Respondent

DAG Ahsahuddin stated that she would rely on the arguments presented in her Opposition papers (Brief) to demonstrate that Barrino could not demonstrate that he would suffer irreparable harm (the first Crowe factor). As such, he could not meet all four of the Crowe factors and his Petition must fail. Moreover, since Barrino could not demonstrate that he was entitled to relief under any of the other three Crowe factors, it was clear that he was not entitled to the emergent relief he sought.

DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS OF FACT

Having reviewed the documents, testimony, and arguments presented, I make the following findings of FACT.

I FIND that Barrino's arguments on the issue of irreparable harm were based only on the economic effects of the Respondent's determination that he was disqualified from the position he seeks. Moreover, Barrino did not demonstrate that he was not capable of finding alternate employment. He even stated that he might be able to become re-employed with Mancon, Inc., a job where he received both wages and health insurance coverage.

I FIND that Barrino did present a sympathetic argument concerning the need for him to maintain health insurance coverage, but I further FIND that this is an argument based on the economic effects of the Respondent's determination.

I FIND that Barrino did not present cogent arguments that would meet the requirements of the second, third, and fourth prongs of Crowe.

I FIND that Barrino has not presented sufficient facts or sufficient arguments that would satisfy any of the four Crowe factors.

APPLICABLE LAW

Jurisdiction of the Commissioner of Education

N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9 provides

> The commissioner shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine, without costs to the parties, all controversies and disputes arising under the school laws ....

Law Governing the Granting of Injunctions Seeking Emergent Relief

N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(a) provides:

> Where the subject matter of the controversy is a particular course of action by a district board of education ... the petitioner may include with the petition of appeal, a separate motion for emergent relief ... pending the Commissioner's final decision in the contested case."

N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b) provides:

> A motion for stay or emergent relief shall be accompanied by a letter memorandum or brief which shall address the following standards to be met for granting such relief pursuant to Crowe v. DeGioia , 90 N.J. 126 (1982):
>
> 1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted;
>
> 2. The legal right underlying petitioner's claim is settled;
>
> 3. The petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and
>
> 4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

The Crowe Factors

Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982) arose out of a set of circumstances regarding support and palimony matters. Nonetheless, the case has been the polestar decision in New Jersey for cases wherein injunctive relief is sought. The case stands for the proposition that an injunction cannot be granted unless and until the party seeking relief presents clear and convincing evidence that: (1) the injunction is "necessary to prevent irreparable harm"; (2) that "the legal right underlying the claim is settled"; (3) that the party seeking relief has made "a preliminary showing of a reasonable probability of ultimate success on the merits"; and (4) that "the relative hardship to the parties in granting or denying [injunctive] relief", on a balancing of the equities, weighs in his favor. Crowe, 90 N.J. at 132-34. In order to prevail, the party seeking injunctive relief must demonstrate by clear and convincing evidence that he meets all four Crowe factors. Brown v. City of Paterson, 424 N.J. Super. 176, 183 (App. Div. 2012).

"[A] party who seeks mandatory preliminary injunctive relief must satisfy a 'particularly heavy' burden." Guaman v. Velez, 421 N.J. Super. 239, 247 (App. Div. 2011), Rinaldo v. RLB Inv., LLC, 387 N.J. Super. 387, 396 (App. Div. 2006).

Also, "[w]hen a case presents an issue of 'significant public importance', a court must [also] consider the public interest in addition to the traditional Crowe factors." Garden State Equal. v. Dow, 216 N.J. 314, 321 (2013).

Appellate courts are bound by the trial court's factual findings if they are supported by "substantial, credible evidence" in the record. Triffin v. Automatic Data Processing, Inc., 411 N.J. Super. 292,315 (App. Div. 2010).

Under the first Crowe factor, a party who seeks injunctive relief must establish that injunctive relief is necessary to prevent irreparable harm and to preserve the status quo. Citizens Coach Co. v. Camden Horse R.R. Co. , 29 N.J. Eq. 299, 303 (E.&A. 1878). Irreparable harm is an "injury to be suffered in the absence of injunctive relief [that] is substantial and imminent." Waste Mgmt. of N.J., Inc. v. Union City Utils. Auth., 399 N.J. Super. 508, 520 (App. Div. 2008).

Under the second Crowe factor, injunctive relief will be withheld when the legal right underlying the claim is unsettled. Citizens Coach, at ps. 304-05.

Under the third Crowe factor, the party seeking relief is obligated to present clear and convincing evidence that he / she has a reasonable probability of ultimate success on the merits. Therefore, injunctive relief will not be granted where there are material facts in controversy. Citizens Coach at ps. 305-06. The party who seeks injunctive relief must be prepared to demonstrate facts which support his case and "must make a preliminary showing of reasonable probability of success on the merits." Crowe, at p. 133.

The second and third Crowe factors involve fact-sensitive analysis that "requires a determination of whether the material facts are in dispute, and whether the applicable law is settled." Waste Mgmt., at p. 528.

Under the fourth Crowe factor, the party who seeks injunctive relief must address the issue of relative hardship to the parties and he must establish that, on balance, the equities favor the grant of temporary relief to maintain the status quo pending the outcome of a final hearing." Crowe at p. 134. The party seeking injunctive relief must prove his case by clear and convincing evidence. Brown at p. 183 and thus his burden is 'particularly heavy'. Guaman at p. 247.

I CONCLUDE that Barrino has not met his burden regarding any of the Crowe factors.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

The First Crowe Factor

Regarding the first Crowe factor, the Respondent convincingly argued that the Petitioner did not demonstrate that he would suffer irreparable harm if emergent relief were not granted. The Respondent convincingly argued that the Petitioner's failure to prevail on the first Crowe factor means that he cannot meet his burden of proving that he satisfied all of the Crowe factors, and it therefore follows that the Petition must be dismissed.

The Second Crowe Factor

Regarding the second Crowe factor, the Petitioner did not meet his burden of demonstrating that the law is settled in his favor.

The Third Crowe Factor

Regarding the third Crowe factor, the Petitioner did not meet his burden of demonstrating that under the circumstances of this matter he would be likely to prevail on the merits at trial.

The Fourth Crowe Factor

Regarding the fourth Crowe factor, the Petitioner did not demonstrate that on balance, the equities favor the grant of the temporary relief which the Petitioner seeks.

I CONCLUDE that Barrino has not met his burden regarding any of the Crowe factors."

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that Barrino's Petition seeking Emergent Relief in the form of an Order overturning the OSP's determination dated August 8, 2023 must be and hereby is DENIED; and it is further ORDERED that a copy of this ORDER shall be transmitted by email from the OAL to the Pro Se Petitioner, Erskine Barrino and to the Respondent's counsel, Sadia Ahsahuddin, DAG.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision on the issue of emergent relief shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five days following the entry of this order. If the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

On June 29, 2023, the Irvington Board of Education [the "Petitioner"] filed tenure charges of conduct unbecoming with the State of New Jersey Department of Education against Elisha Jones [the "Respondent"], a teacher employed by the Petitioner. On July 10, 2023, Respondent filed an answer to the charges. On July 31, 2023, the charges were referred to me by the Director of the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, Department of Education, for a hearing and decision.

On August 7, 2023, Respondent filed a Motion to Dismiss. On August 14, 2023, Petitioner filed a response to that Motion. On September 5, 2023, I denied Respondent's Motion.

On September 6, 2023, in lieu of commencing the scheduled hearing, I met with representatives of the Irvington Board of Education and Ms. Jones. At that time, the parties entered into settlement discussions and thereafter reached a Settlement Agreement resolving the charges brought against Ms. Jones. The terms of settlement were approved by both Respondent and Petitioner by September 14, 2023.

The terms of settlement of the tenure charges provide that Petitioner agrees reinstate Respondent and her termination is converted to a sixty (60) day suspension without pay from June 29 to August 28, 2023. Petitioner agreed that it will not try to deprive Respondent from collecting Unemployment Benefits during the period of her suspension. Upon her return to work, Respondent will be transferred to the Irvington High School and shall resume her pay status with no loss of seniority or contractual benefits as a result of her suspension. Respondent will attend "Handle With Care" training and comply with all training protocols.

Under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6, the arbitrator is required to issue a brief decision approving the settlement of tenure charges and explaining why the arbitrator is approving the terms of settlement. I have approved these terms for the following reasons.

I am persuaded that the issues that were raised in the Statement of Tenure Charges and Specifications filed by the Petitioner and the Answer to Tenure Charges filed by the Respondent have been fully reviewed and discussed by all parties and that the issues raised therein have been satisfactorily addressed by the terms of settlement. The terms of settlement reflect an appropriate resolution of the charges leveled against the Respondent. The settlement will allow both parties to move forward without using valuable educational time as well as the avoidance of protracted and costly proceedings at the public's expense. The Respondent's determination to accept a sixty (60) day suspension and the District's determination to employ her at the Irvington High School will allow Respondent to complete her career with the District and will allow the District to ensure that she continues to be a productive employee while working with high school students. I believe that the settlement terms properly balance all of the parties' interests and provide a satisfactory basis for the resolution of any concerns that were raised by the Statement of, and the Answer to, the Tenure Charges that were set forth in the record of this proceeding.

Accordingly, and based upon all of the above, this will serve as the arbitrator's approval of the parties' settlement agreement.

Jennifer Ferrara

-And-

Board of Education of the City of Newark

Agency Docket No.: 221-8/22

Arbitrator: Kinard Lang

Hearing Dates: January 23, 31; February 21, 22, 23, 24; March 22, 23, 24; May 18 and 19, 2023

Hearing Locations: New Jersey Board of Mediation, Newark, N.J.; Offices of Zazzali, Fagella, Nowak, Kleinbaum & Friedman, Newark, N.J.

Issue:

Has the School District of Newark borne the burden of proving Teacher, Jennifer Ferrara, must be dismissed, consistent with the provisions of the TeachNJ Act, due to Inefficiency; if not, what shall the Remedy be?

APPEARANCES:

Adam Herman S., Esq. - Petitioner Colin M. Lynch, Esq. - Respondent

Post Hearing Briefs Filed: July 31, 2023

BACKGROUND

This matter comes to us as the result of the District's decision to pursue revocation of Respondent Jennifer Ferrara's Tenure. Respondent began her employment at Rafael Hernandez School in November 2014. Her performance for the 2014-15 school year was evaluated as Partially Effective. However, from the 2015-16 school year, until the 2020-21 school year; where much instruction was performed virtually due to the Covid Pandemic, Respondent's teaching performance was observed and evaluated as Effective.

We will review Respondent's observations and evaluations for the 2020-21 and 2021-22 School years; the latter taught while on a Corrective Action Plan, due to the former. The following is a summary of those Observations and Evaluations, and their circumstantial context:

A) Due to the Covid pandemic Respondent did not receive an annual Summative Evaluation for the 2019-20 school year; that school year she received two Effective Observations, and was selected to be the school's "model" English Language Arts teacher, before the pandemic curtailed in-classroom instruction.

B) In November, 2020 with Ferrara's support, S. Montague became the Newark Teachers' Union representative at RHS.

C) The preceding only occurred after Pared refused to accept NTU membership's acclimation of Montague as their representative, and required an election.

1) Effective* rating of Ferrara's performance; Vice Principal Hill's December 15, 2020 Observation.

D) January 21, 2021; during a meeting Montague advises Principal Pared that Respondent and other teachers fear "repercussions" from Administration if they "speak out" at Union meetings, regarding complaints against RHS Administration.

2) Partially Effective* rating of Ferrara's performance; Vice Principal Bird's March 2, 2021 Observation.

E) On April 27, 2021 Principal Pared issued a written reprimand to Respondent for her April 26th violation of the RHS Covid mask protocol.

F) April 28, 2021 WebEx faculty meeting: The record establishes at this meeting Pared questioned the necessity of the Union as a communications "intermediary" between she and its members, she also publicly rebuked Respondent for the cited Covid protocol violation.

3) Partially Effective Annual Evaluation of Ferrara's 2020-21 performance; Vice Principal Hill, May 13, 2021, resulting in Respondent's CAP status for the 2021-22 school year.

G) Early in June 2021 Pared changed Ferrara's teaching cohort and assignment for the 2021-22 school year: From 6th and 7th Grade ELA to 8th Grade ELA; the record contains the unsuccessfully rebutted testimony of then ELA Coach Carnemolla, that she asked Pared not to make those changes while Respondent was teaching on a CAP.

H) Sometime in June 2021 Respondent made a written complaint to the School District Office of Labor and Employee Relations regarding the Pared Administration's treatment of teachers. That complaint was in conjunction with a June 17, 2021 WebEx meeting between District Labor Relations Director, J. Watson, Respondent, Montague and other teachers: They complained about asserted "Extremely Toxic and hostile work environment, Targeting, Falsifying information, Slander, Intimidation, Bullying".

I) On or about October 25, 2021 Respondent's scheduled coaching from ELA Coach Carnemolla was aborted; on October 31st Principal Pared notifies Respondent "..."At this time we have to cancel the additional coaching prep..."

4) Effective* rating of Ferrara's performance; Vice Principal Hill's December 3, 2021 teaching Observation.

J) On January 5, 2022 Principal Pared called an Emergency faculty meeting.

Because of Pared's agenda, this becomes known as the "climate and culture meeting"; Respondent spoke at the meeting about her sensed "lack of trust with staff toward administration". On January 6th Vice Principal Vargas replaced Vice Principal Hill as Respondent's immediate supervisor and observer.

K) On January 13, 2022 Pared began preparing for Ferrara's removal; she sought evidence from H. Daughtry, School District HRS Office, to support her revocation of Respondent's tenure.

L) Respondent is on approved Bereavement and FMLA leaves from January 10 to February 7, 2022.

5) Partially Effective rating of Ferrara's performance; Vice Principal Vargas' February 17, 2022 teaching Observation.

6) Partially Effective Mid-Year Evaluation; Vice Principal Vargas, February 23, 2022.

M) On March 16, 2022 Respondent received treatment for a "work related injury" at N.J. Concentra Medical Center; she experienced Elevated blood pressure and anxiety as the result of Vice Principal Vargas' unscheduled visit of her classroom. There in front of students, Vargas demanded data regarding lesson plans. Weeks following these events, Respondent was approved for FMLA leave from April 25th to the June 23rd end of the 2021-22 school year.

7) Partially Effective* rating of Ferrara's performance Principal Pared, March 29, 2022 teaching Observation.

Based upon the preceding Observations and Evaluations, on May 10, 2022 Principal Pared recommended Respondent's loss of Tenure to the N.J. Commissioner of Education; that resulted in this Arbitration.

POSITIONS OF THE PARTIES

Petitioner

Respondent earned Partially Effective ratings for the 2020-21 and 2021-22 school years, thus, the TeachNJ Act requires revocation of her Tenure. We are told that in our review of the proper application of the Act to Respondent, we may only consider whether:

> "a. ...(1) The employee's evaluation failed to adhere substantially to the evaluation process, including, but not limited to providing a corrective action plan;
>
> (2) There is a mistake of fact in the evaluation;
>
> (3) The charges would not have been brought but for considerations of political affiliation, nepotism, union activity, discrimination as prohibited by state or federal law, or other activity prohibited by state or federal law;
> (4) The district's actions were arbitrary and capricious.

b. In the event the employee is able to demonstrate that any of the provisions of paragraphs (1) through (4) of subsection a. of this section are applicable, the arbitrator shall determine if that fact materially affected the outcome of the evaluation. If the arbitrator determines that it did not materially affect the outcome of the evaluation, the arbitrator shall render a decision in favor of the board and the employee shall be dismissed."

c. The evaluator's determination as to the quality of an employee's classroom performance shall not be subject to an arbitrator's review."

The District tells us it has produced a preponderance of relevant evidence, documented in the records of RHS administrators' Observations and Evaluations during the 2020-21 and 2021-22 school years, showing Ferrara's professional Inefficiency. She must be Dismissed.

Respondent

Of course, Respondent tells us those Observations were made through eyes jaundiced with anti-Union animus; that the evaluations were, at best, procedurally defective. In that connection there are unexplained discrepancies in RHS administrators' Observation ratings.

We are told the testimony of several teachers, including Montague and Ferrara, provides evidence of Principal Pared's anti-Union statements.

According to their testimony, she made those statements at faculty meetings, as well as claims that she "knows what goes on at your little meetings"; during the Pandemic NTU meetings were held on WebEx, to which Pared had access.

For all these reasons the District's charges against the Respondent must be dismissed.

Discussion and Analysis

We will begin at the end of the preceding chronology listing the events leading to this arbitration. According to the Respondent, Pared's March 29, 2022 Observation was unannounced, with no pre-Observation conference; that it was not a normal class but rather a Test Preparation lesson, with a lesson plan Respondent had no role in developing. In that connection, we have Principal Pared's Cross-Examination Testimony:

" ...Q. All right. So when you did the final observation of Ms. Ferrara, you were conscious that this was a test prep because she had the test prep package; correct?

A. She had a test prep document. Yes.*

Q. Okay. And then you made that choice to utilize that test prep and not a lesson to give her her last final observation; correct?*

A. Yes.* (Emphasis added)

It is clear from Pared's testimony that she chose to personally conduct what her testimony shows she knew was a "make it or break it" Observation of Ferrara. Nothing in the Newark Board of Education Teacher Evaluation Guide requires the Principal to conduct an Observation under those circumstances.

I) I find Pared's actions here Arbitrary.

Preceding Pared's March 29th Observation Ferrara was treated for a "work related injury" at Concentra Medical Center on March 16th; that medical attention occurred approximately three weeks after Vice Principal Vargas' February 17, 2022 Observation, where Respondent was ultimately rated Partially Effective.

However, for reasons not adequately explained by the District, following the February 17th Observation Vargas recorded Respondent's performance as Effective; only at the conclusion of their post-Observation conference did Vargas tell Respondent her Observation was rated Partially Effective.

Respondent argues that late change effectively denied her due process; her right, as acknowledged in the testimony of Vargas and Pared, to come into the post-Observation conference armed with evidence to persuade Vargas her changed rating of Respondent was unjustified.

II) I find Vargas' behavior here Capricious

Vargas' February 23, 2022 Mid- year evaluation of Respondent's teaching performance as Partially Effective relied, at least in part, on the cited February 17th Observation; we are told that evaluation "...was infected with the flaws of Vargas' observation of Ferrara undertaken immediately prior", and therefore has little validity.

On May 6, 2022 Vice Principal Vargas completed the District's Annual Summative Evaluation of Respondent, she rated her Partially Effective. The testimony of Vargas, Pared and Assistant Superintendent Jose Fuentes, establishes that a post-Evaluation conference is required. Their testimony is consistent with Article V, Section 12, C. of the parties' Collective Bargaining Agreement:

> " C. OBSERVATION/EVALUATION CONFERENCES
>
> Observation/evaluation conferences shall be held within (10) calendar days of the classroom visit. The (10) days may be extended by the number of days that either party is absent."

The District's "Teacher Evaluation Guide" says, following this "summative performance review", the teacher and administrator should meet for a conference, where "...The Administrator will then revise (if necessary) or complete the Annual Evaluation, based on this conference." (Emphasis added)

Clearly, the District knew, or should have known, Respondent was on an approved FMLA leave of absence on the day it chose to do her Annual Evaluation, and that her absence would deny her the post-Evaluation conference opportunity to which she was entitled; her last best chance to produce evidence supporting her assertion of professional Effectiveness.

III) I find the Respondent's Annual Evaluation failed to adhere substantially to the TeachNJ Evaluation process.

Conclusions

With respect to Tenured teachers with a Corrective Action Plan, the Newark Board of Education Teacher Evaluation Guide says: "Work with HRS Office to pursue tenure charges if applicable", in June. The evidence shows that on January 13, 2022 Principal Pared contacted H. Daughtry in the HRS office seeking data to support her opined pursuit of Tenure charges against Ms. Farrara.

The record tells us about the Observations and Evaluations following Pared's data request from Daughtry. However, when that request for Tenure revocation evidence was made, Respondent had only one Observation for the 2021-22 CAP school year; that Observation rated her performance Effective.

I find Pared's action here tantamount to a self-fulfilling prophecy.

Pared's intrusion into Union meetings, antipathy for Montague and interference in RHS Union leadership selection, convince me Ms. Ferrara's participation in NTU complaints tainted Administration's ratings of her teaching performance.

Based on the entire record in this matter I find the District's Ratings of Respondent violated the Provisions of TeachNJ; that they were influenced by Farrara's Union activity, were arbitrary and capricious, and failed to adhere to prescribed evaluation processes. I find all of that materially affected Ms. Farrara's Observations and Evaluations.

Final Decision

In the Matter of the Certificates of James McMullan, State Board of Examiners, New Jersey Department of Education.

Order of Suspension by the State Board of Examiners, April 17, 2023

For the Respondent-Appellant, Lauren McGovern, Esq.

For the Petitioner-Respondent State Board of Examiners, Erin I. Herlihy, Deputy Attorney General (Matthew J. Platkin, Attorney General of New Jersey)

The Commissioner has reviewed the record, hearing transcripts, and papers filed in connection with James McMullan's appeal of the Order of the State Board of Examiners (Board), dated April 17, 2023, suspending his Teacher of Elementary Grades K-8 Certificate of Eligibility with Advanced Standing, Teacher of Elementary Grades K-8 Certificate, Supervisor Certificate, and Principal Certificate of Eligibility for a period of two years.

Appellant resigned from his employment as a tenured teacher with the Oakland School District effective June 30, 2019, following allegations of unbecoming conduct. On December 17, 2019, the Board issued an Order to Show Cause (OSC) for the suspension of appellant's certificates and ultimately transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for a contested hearing. The Board called eight witnesses to testify. Appellant called four witnesses, and also testified on his own behalf. The record closed on November 16, 2022.

The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) concluded that appellant's actions and multiple instances of poor judgment when dealing with three different students constituted conduct unbecoming a teacher so egregious that it shocked the conscience. In the Matter of the Certificates of James McMullan, OAL Dkt. No. EDE 01394-20, Agency Dkt. No. 1920-119, Initial Decision (December 20, 2022) at 12-16. In particular, the ALJ found that appellant: (1) yelled at, mocked, and embarrassed a student who had a learning disability in front of the entire classroom; (2) removed another student from his classroom and left him unsupervised in a hallway, out of appellant's line of sight, with the classroom door locked; (3) falsified facts regarding the hallway incident when asked about it by the principal; and (4) told a third student with special needs that he would have to go to a "special school", then ripped books out of the student's hands in front of other students in the hallway. Id. at 14.

When assessing the witness testimony, the ALJ determined that the Board's witnesses were credible and persuasive. Id. at 13. Of note, the Board presented direct testimony from the students involved in the first and second incidents. By contrast, the ALJ determined that appellant's own testimony was neither "credible in terms of his factual recitation nor in the manner in which it was given." Ibid. In particular, the ALJ found that appellant's "recitation and demonstration of the contact with the students was exaggerated and not credible nor true." Ibid. The ALJ described appellant's testimony as "evasive" and found that he "attempted to spin the facts in his favor." Ibid. Additionally, the ALJ noted that appellant's testimony regarding his interaction with the student he yelled at and mocked was directly contradicted by that of his own witness. Ibid. Furthermore, the ALJ rejected the defense proffered for appellant's conduct, i.e., "his diabetes and merely a difference in teaching style," as "preposterous." Id. at 15-16. The ALJ ultimately recommended that appellant's certificates be "suspended indefinitely." Id. at 16.

Upon considering appellant's exceptions and the Board's reply thereto, the Board adopted the ALJ's Initial Decision with a modification as to the penalty. The Board concluded that a suspension with a finite term of two years was appropriate under the circumstances. The Board emphasized the fact that although appellant received prior warnings, reprimands, and guidance from his employer, he nonetheless committed multiple instances of unbecoming conduct, to the detriment of his students. The Board also considered prior decisions in which it imposed two-year suspensions of certificates for analogous instances of unbecoming conduct.

Appellant maintains that no action should be taken against his certificates. He asserts that the Board erred by not considering mitigating factors when determining the penalty to be imposed. Specifically, appellant claims that the Board failed to consider: (1) his lengthy teaching career and his positive impact on students; (2) the impact of his medical condition during the 2018-2019 school year; (3) the hardship a suspension will create for him and students at the Paterson School District, where he has taught for the last four years and has received positive evaluations; and (4) that he is sincerely remorseful and is unlikely to commit unbecoming conduct in the future. Appellant also argues that his 2011 increment withholding, which was restored after he completed a corrective action plan, should not be considered a prior instance of discipline.

In reviewing appeals from decisions of the State Board of Examiners, the Commissioner may not substitute her judgment for that of the Board so long as the appellant received due process and the Board's decision is supported by sufficient credible evidence in the record. The Commissioner's role in reviewing appeals is constrained by N.J.A.C. 6A:4-4.1(a), which specifies that "the Commissioner shall ascertain whether the decision is supported by sufficient credible evidence in the record and shall not disturb the decision unless the appellant has demonstrated that the State Board of Examiners . . . acted in a manner that was arbitrary, capricious, or contrary to law."

Initially, the record reflects that appellant received due process throughout the proceedings, and he does not contend otherwise. Next, the Commissioner finds that the sufficient credible evidence in the record—including voluminous documentary evidence and credible witness testimony—supports the Board's determination that a two-year suspension of appellant's certificates is warranted given the nature and extent of his proven unbecoming conduct. Appellant committed multiple instances of unbecoming conduct which directly involved three different students. Neither the ALJ nor the Board based its decision on the withholding of appellant's increment in 2011. The Board appropriately deferred to the ALJ's credibility findings, as the ALJ had the opportunity to carefully observe and evaluate the demeanor of the witnesses who testified.

Regarding appellant's claims about mitigating circumstances, neither the length of his teaching career nor his positive influence on some students mitigates the need for disciplinary action in this matter. Contrary to his assertions, the record does not support a finding that he has expressed sincere remorse or that he is unlikely to commit similar unbecoming conduct in the future. Apart from the fact that his testimony before the ALJ lacked credibility, appellant steadfastly continues to cite his ongoing medical condition as an excuse for his unbecoming conduct despite the ALJ's sound rejection of that defense. His claim that the Paterson School District and its students will suffer a hardship if his certificates are suspended is grounded in speculation. Upon considering the totality of the circumstances, the Board reasonably modified the recommended penalty from an indefinite suspension to a two-year suspension of appellant's certificates.

As for the cases cited by appellant in his briefs, they are readily distinguishable from the present matter. None of them support the conclusion that any aspect of the Board's decision was arbitrary, capricious, or contrary to law. The fact that other individuals received shorter suspensions of their certificates under entirely different circumstances is neither persuasive nor dispositive. Because the Board's decision is supported by sufficient, credible evidence, and appellant has failed to establish that it was arbitrary, capricious, or contrary to law, the Commissioner has no grounds to disturb it. N.J.A.C. 6A:4-4.1(a).

Accordingly, the decision of the State Board of Examiners suspending appellant's certificates for two years, effective April 17, 2023, is affirmed.[1]

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

J.B., on behalf of minor children, C.B. and C.B.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Elizabeth,
Union County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Pro se petitioner appealed the determination of the respondent Board that she and her family are not domiciled in Elizabeth and that her children are therefore not entitled to a free public education in Elizabeth schools. Petitioner admitted that she and her husband and children had been staying temporarily at a relative's home in Hillside due to a family emergency but had been forthcoming with the District as to the situation that necessitated their short-term relocation. Petitioner asserted that the family remains permanently domiciled in Elizabeth and are therefore entitled to attend school in the District. The Board filed a counterclaim demanding tuition repayment for the period since March 21, 2023.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: the Board's residency investigator made only one visit to the petitioner's Elizabeth address and found no one at home in the late morning of February 1, 2023; the investigator further admitted that he had not interviewed any member of petitioner's family in reaching his determination that the family was no longer domiciled in Elizabeth; it is undisputed that petitioner and her family established their domicile in Elizabeth many years ago; petitioner and her husband both gave credible and compelling testimony as to the circumstances of their temporary relocation to Hillside because of a family emergency and their intent to keep Elizabeth as their permanent residence. The ALJ concluded that petitioner has proven by the preponderance of credible evidence that their residence remains in Elizabeth and their intention was always to return there as soon as the temporary family emergency was resolved. Accordingly, the minor children were entitled to a free public education in Elizabeth schools, and the Board's residency determination was reversed.

Upon review of the record, the Commissioner found that a remand of this matter is necessary pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.7(a) because it is unclear from the Initial Decision whether the ALJ considered respondent's exhibit R-6, which appears to call into question petitioner's domicile in Elizabeth. Exhibit R-6 is not referenced in the Initial Decision and, because the record does not contain transcripts, the Commissioner is unable to determine whether this exhibit and its significance was addressed during the hearing. Accordingly, the Commissioner remanded this case to the OAL for the purpose of allowing the ALJ to render factual findings pertaining to the Board's exhibit R-6.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

J.B., on behalf of minor children, C.B. and C.B.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Elizabeth, Union County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the exceptions filed by the Elizabeth Board of Education (Board) pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, have been reviewed and considered. Petitioner did not file a reply to the Board's exceptions.

Petitioner appealed the Board's determination that she and her minor children do not reside in Elizabeth. Following a hearing, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) concluded that the family had temporarily relocated away from their home in Elizabeth due to a family emergency, but that their residence remained in Elizabeth and that the minor children were, therefore, entitled to a free education in Elizabeth's schools.

In its exceptions, the Board argues that the ALJ did not properly consider proof of petitioner's residence in Hillside and gave too much weight to petitioner's testimony. The Board notes that petitioner attempted to register her children for school in Hillside and provided multiple documents in support, including a sworn and notarized affidavit and change of address documents for a bank account, Verizon bill, and the Motor Vehicle Commission (Exhibit R-6). The Board further contends that a 14-month stay in in Hillside, encompassing the entirety of the 2022-2023 school year, should not be considered temporary for the purposes of establishing domicile. According to the Board, petitioner chose to move out of Elizabeth to Hillside, and there is no evidence that they were forced to relocate there.

Upon careful review of the record, the Commissioner finds that a remand of this matter is necessary pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.7(a) because it is unclear from the Initial Decision whether the ALJ considered respondent's exhibit R-6, which demonstrates that petitioner changed her address with multiple entities and swore to the Hillside school district that she and her children resided there. Exhibit R-6 is not referenced in the Initial Decision and, because the record does not contain transcripts, the Commissioner is unable to determine whether these exhibits and their significance were addressed during the hearing.

For these reasons, the Commissioner remands the matter to the OAL for the purpose of allowing the ALJ to render factual findings pertaining to Exhibit R-6, to explain the weight she assigned to those exhibits, and to discuss the effect, if any, those exhibits had on her ultimate conclusions of law.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Record Closed: August 9, 2023 Decided: August 18, 2023

BEFORE GAIL M. COOKSON, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner J.B. (petitioner or J.B.) filed and perfected a Petition of Appeal with the New Jersey Department of Education on or about March 7, 2023, from the final determination of the City of Elizabeth Board of Education ("District" or "Board") dated February 24, 2023, that she and her family are not domiciled in the Elizabeth and that her children could not continue to attend its schools for free as residents of the District. The Board answered the petition and filed a counterclaim demanding tuition repayment for the period since March 21, 2023.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The Department of Education Office of Controversies and Disputes transmitted the Petition to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on or about March 22, 2023. After being assigned to this matter, I convened several telephonic conference calls to discuss preparation for the hearing and dates for same. An adjournment of one date was granted subject to the potential continued accrual of tuition reimbursement. The plenary hearing was held on August 9, 2023, on which date the record closed.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

Based upon the testimony of the witnesses and the documentary evidence presented, and with the opportunity to assess the credibility of the witnesses, I FIND the following:

William Buteau testified for the Board.[1] He has been an Investigator with the District's Legal Department for approximately six years. Prior thereto, Buteau had been with the Elizabeth Police Department for thirty-one years, leaving at the rank of Detective. In January of this year, he was assigned to investigate the petitioner's daughters who attended sixth and ninth grades in the District. The investigation arose as a result of the recent usage by school administrators of the Absolute software; that is, electronic reports of where school-issued laptops are being utilized by students. In this case, those electronic details or "pings" indicated that petitioner's children were using their computers consistently from a location in Hillside. Buteau also reviewed the registration information for these students and undertook some online research of persons, vehicles, and addresses associated with them and their family. Petitioner is registered with the school as living at 744 Trumbull Street, Elizabeth, New Jersey. On February 1, 2023, Buteau made his only visit to that location at approximately 10:00 or 11:00 a.m. No one was home and he made no contact with anyone at that time or since.

Buteau's research revealed that the house was owned by a woman whom he believed to be the grandmother of the students. He also traced the parents' vehicle registrations to an address in Mountainside. Buteau determined that the residence where the pings emanated most often, other than District facilities, was located at 1287 White Street in Hillside. The laptop usage appeared there on or about June 22, 2022. On February 7, 2023, the Legal Department issued Initial Notices of Ineligibility to petitioner alleging that her daughters lived outside the District and should be disenrolled. Final Notices were issued on February 24, 2023. Buteau did not write up his investigative report until May 31, 2023, after review of some documents submitted by petitioner in early April. Lastly, Buteau explained briefly how the tuition calculations were made based on the per diem rate and the number of days in the school year (75) since the issuance of the Final Notices.

On cross-examination and questioning from myself, Buteau acknowledged that he had interviewed no member of petitioner's family. He also clarified that the Elizabeth home was owned by petitioner's seventy-nine-year-old grandmother (the students' great-grandmother) and that petitioner's mother (the students' grandmother) also resided there.

Petitioner J.B. (Ms. B) and her husband J.B. (Mr. B) both testified at this hearing. Ms. B explained that they had always been forthcoming with the District as to a change in their family circumstances that necessitated that they stay at the Hillside residence on a temporary and emergency basis only. Mr. B's older brother – V.B. – resided there with his daughter. Their mother had also resided there until her death in October 2018, and it is her Estate that still owns the house. V.B. suffers from Huntington's disease, which is a neurodegenerative, progressive, and incurable condition. Only some years after their mother's death, Mr. and Ms. B became aware that V.B. was in arrears on the mortgage and that violations of odor ordinances had been issued to him. V.B. had been laid off in July 2022 due to his worsening condition and inability to do the work. He was collecting some temporary disability income. They then realized that not only had his condition worsened but his living conditions had deteriorated to a shocking degree. The house was observed to be at an almost hoarder's level of clutter, mess, and disarray, and was unsanitary. Mr. B demanded that V.B.'s adult daughter vacate the premises; thereafter, he and petitioner began the long process of cleaning up the house, as evidenced by their before and after photos. There was some delay in this effort due to Ms. B being in a car accident last summer.

Mr. B described his brother as in denial and very uncooperative. While their sister, who suffered with the same genetic disease, had allowed her husband to become her power of attorney, V.B. refused to do similarly and has thus been unhelpful in pursuing Social Security or Medicaid benefits. Their plan is to relocate their brother to an assisted living facility. Although they have also considered relocating all of them back into 744 Trumbull, there is simply not enough room. They have listed the house for sale, which proceeds will be distributed pursuant to the Estate's instructions; however, Mr. B might forgo his portion if it is needed to help with V.B.'s care. They have also been looking for a larger temporary residence in Elizabeth until his brother can be placed in a care facility.

Mr. B also testified that because they were a tight-knit family, their daughters wanted to remain with their parents at the Hillside residence once it was liveable, and while he needed to be there to provide some care and stability for V.B. Both petitioner and her husband clearly stated their intent to remain residents of Elizabeth; that such has been their community for many years; and both daughters had proceeded through many school years in the District. They play in soccer leagues in the city, participate in parades, and have all their friends there.

On cross-examination, Mr. B explained that their personal vehicles are registered and insured at his business address but are not owned by the company. Although they had not had a formal lease for many years with petitioner's grandmother, petitioner and her husband had always contributed to the expenses at 744 Trumbull, providing $400-500 cash to her grandmother every month.

I must make credibility determinations with regard to these potentially material facts. A credibility determination requires an overall assessment of the witness' story in light of its rationality, internal consistency and the manner in which it "hangs together" with the other evidence. Daiichi Pharm. Co. v. Apotex, Inc., 441 F. Supp. 2d 672 (D.N.J. 2006). After carefully considering the testimonial and documentary evidence presented and having had the opportunity to listen to the testimony and observe the demeanor of the witnesses, I am convinced that petitioner's testimony and that of her husband were very credible. Petitioners' testimony was sincere and forthright. As they stated, they were always upfront with the District as to what was happening and tried to fulfill all information requests. Accordingly, I FIND that petitioner and Mr. B have every intent to keep Elizabeth as their permanent residence.

LEGAL DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The District claims that petitioner can no longer establish domicile in Elizabeth because they have relocated to Hillside to the home of V.B. Petitioner claims that this is just the result of a confluence of unfortunate medical and legal concerns they have with V.B., whom they now have a moral obligation to assist in spite of his lack of cooperation and worsening condition, because there is no one else who can handle it all.

It is undisputed that petitioner and her family established their domicile in Elizabeth many years ago. The right to a thorough and free education in the district of one's New Jersey domicile is well settled. A.M.S. ex rel. A.D.S. v. Bd. of Educ. of City of Margate, 409 N.J. Super. 149, 160-61 (App. Div. 2009). Therein, the court stated:

> N.J.A.C. 6A:22-2.1(b) requires school districts to adopt written policies and procedures related to student residency and to incorporate Department of Education (DOE) regulations pertaining to student residency into each district's policies and procedures. Moreover, in doing so, "a district board of education shall construe the provisions" of DOE regulations governing student residency "liberally so as to effectuate the right of students to a free public education."

The Legislature has provided that local boards of education are responsible for the education of school-age children who reside within their respective district. N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1. Narrow exceptions to the domicile rule are also provided when, among other things, the parent or guardian is a temporary resident of a district, N.J.S.A. 18A-38-1(d), or a parent moves between districts as a result of homelessness. N.J.S.A. 18A-38-1(f). In any event, a child's district of residence is generally determined based upon the district of residence of the child's parent or guardian. See, e.g., N.J.S.A. 18A:7B-12; N.J.S.A. 18A-38-1.

Generally, eligibility under the education laws and regulations is framed as, in relevant part:

> A student is eligible to attend a school district if he or she is domiciled within the school district. . . A student is domiciled in the school district when his or her parent or guardian resides within the school district on an all-year-round basis for one year or more, notwithstanding the existence of a domicile elsewhere.
> [N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)(4) (as amended 2013).]

It should be noted that the regulations had provided at the time of earlier decisions, e.g., K.L. v. Bd. of Educ., No. A-5671-07T1, 2010 N.J. Super. Unpub. LEXIS 11, at *9 (Super. Ct. App. Div. Jan. 4, 2010):

> A student is domiciled in the school district when he or she is living with a parent . . . whose permanent home is located within the school district. A home is permanent when the parent or guardian intends to return to it when absent and has no present intent of moving from it, notwithstanding the existence of homes or residences elsewhere.
> [N.J.A.C. 6A:22-3.1(a)(1).]

Petitioner has asserted that she and her family intend to return to the 744 Trumbull home and had no intent to move from it but did so out of necessity temporarily both as executors of the Estate and as informal guardians of V.B. Yet, as we see, this regulation as amended no longer encompasses the concept of "intent." 45 N.J.R. 1209(a) (May 20, 2013).

It is clear that the determination of "necessity" here is fact sensitive, on which issue petitioner has the burden of proof. Hawthorne BOE v. Prospect Park BOE and Dept. of Educ., OAL DKT. NO. EDU 16270-13, Final Agency Decision (May 12, 2014) http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>. In Hawthorne, there was no evidence that petitioner's family was a victim of an abrupt change of circumstances. In clear contrast, the family's circumstances here are clearly distinguishable because they did temporarily become transient due to several emergencies (hoarder household; uncooperative ill brother; need for assisted living). See also S.J. o/b/o V.J. v. Bd. of Educ. of S. Orange-Maplewood, EDU 5656-07, Initial Decision (January 22, 2008), adopted, Comm'r (March 3, 2008), http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/> (family evicted from apartment and then drifted around while living in a beauty salon, with a friend, and with child's grandmother in an attic); A.B. v. W. Orange Bd. of Educ., EDU13330-09, Initial Decision (January 25, 2010), adopted, Comm'r (April 13, 2010), http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/> (single mother evicted after losing full-time job and thereafter alternated between apartments of several friends).

This is the case of temporary relocation away from one's abode due to fire, storms or other natural disasters, or exigent family emergency. On the basis of the above-referenced facts and legal authority, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has proven by the preponderance of the credible evidence that their residence remains in Elizabeth and that they have an intent to return there as soon as this temporary family emergency is resolved. These students should be permitted to receive a free public education in the City of Elizabeth.

ORDER

Accordingly, it is ORDERED that petitioner's appeal from the City of Elizabeth Board of Education residency determination is and the same is hereby UPHELD and the determination of the City of Elizabeth Board of Education on residency is REVERSED.

It is further ORDERED that the counterclaim of the City of Elizabeth Board of Education for tuition reimbursement is DENIED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Final Decision

A.W.,

Petitioner,

v.

New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioner sought reversal of the final decision of the New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association (NJSIAA) denying his request for a waiver of the Eight Semester Rule – which limits a student's eligibility for high school athletics to eight consecutive semesters following his or her entrance into the 9th grade – to allow A.W. to play basketball during his senior year at Ramapo High School (Ramapo). A.W. attended Bergen Catholic High School (Bergen Catholic) as a freshman. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, he attended Bergen Catholic virtually for his sophomore year. A.W. earned passing grades but, because of concerns about his grasp of the subject matter, a decision was made to have him repeat his sophomore year at St. Peter's Prep, where he played on the junior varsity basketball team. A.W. began his junior year at St. Peter's Prep but transferred to Ramapo in October 2022, where he played as a junior on the varsity basketball team. A.W. filed an Eligibility Waiver Request with the NJSIAA prior to the start of his senior year at Ramapo in September 2023, requesting a waiver from the strict application of the Eight Semester Rule so that he could participate in high school athletics during his senior year. The NJSIAA Eligibility Committee denied the waiver request, finding that A.W. did not meet the standards for granting a waiver of the Eight Semester Rule. An appeal to the NJSIAA Eligibility Committee followed thereafter.

The Eligibility Appeals Committee (EAC) determined not to grant a waiver of the Eight Semester Rule because, inter alia: the family's decision to have petitioner repeat his sophomore year was voluntary and not compelled by circumstances beyond their control; granting of a waiver would give A.W. a fifth year of eligibility to play sports, contradicting the intent of the Eight Semester Rule as well as the intent behind waivers of eligibility requirements; petitioner's voluntary reclassification when he transferred to St. Peter's Prep was effectively an academic redshirt; A.W.'s participation as a fifth year senior would provide Ramapo an athletic advantage, and would displace another student who only had four years to play high school basketball. The waiver was denied.

The Commissioner upheld the NJSIAA's decision and dismissed the petition, finding that petitioner did not meet his burden to entitle him to prevail on appeal. In so deciding, the Commissioner – who may not substitute her judgment for that of the NJSIAA on appeal – noted that the NJSIAA's decision to deny the request for waiver was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

Final Decision

A.W.,

Petitioner,

v.

New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association,

Respondent.

For Petitioner, Roshan D. Shah, Esq. (Anderson & Shah, LLC)

For Respondent, Steven P. Goodell, Esq. (Parker McCay)

This case involves an appeal of a decision of the New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association (NJSIAA) denying petitioner A.W.'s request for a waiver of the Eight Semester Rule to allow him to participate in sports during his senior year at Ramapo High School (Ramapo).

Athletic competition in New Jersey's public schools is overseen by respondent, NJSIAA, a voluntary, non-profit organization which promulgates the rules and regulations governing high school athletics. See, B.C. v. Cumberland Reg. Sch. Dist., 220 N.J. Super. 214, 234 (App. Div. 1987). Article V, Section J of NJSIAA's Bylaws, Rules and Regulations restricts a student's eligibility to play sports to four years. Specifically, the provision known as the Eight Semester Rule provides that, "[n]o student shall be eligible for high school athletics after the expiration of eight consecutive semesters following his or her entrance into the 9th grade. A student becomes ineligible for high school athletics when the class in which he/she was originally enrolled has graduated." The NJSIAA Guidelines set forth the reasons for the Eight Semester Rule in the NJSIAA Handbook:

> This rule is intended to prohibit "red shirting," and is also aimed at preventing athletically gifted pupils who are not meeting academic standards from replacing other students who are maintaining their academic standards but who might not have the same athletic prowess. The rule is also aimed at maintaining a uniform progression among all member schools within a four-year cycle and equalizing competition within these schools.

In appropriate cases, the NJSIAA may grant a waiver of the eligibility rules if the overall objectives of the association and its member schools will not be undermined. The Eight Semester Rule can be waived when a student proves that he or she cannot comply with the rule due to circumstances beyond his or her control.

The material facts in this case do not appear to be in dispute. A.W. attended Bergen Catholic High School (Bergen Catholic) as a freshman. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, he attended Bergen Catholic virtually for his sophomore year. A.W. earned passing grades but, because of concerns about his grasp of the subject matter, A.W.'s mother sought to have him repeat his sophomore year. When Bergen Catholic did not permit A.W. to reclassify as a sophomore, he transferred to St. Peter's Prep, where he repeated his sophomore year and played on the junior varsity basketball team. He began his junior year at St. Peter's Prep but transferred to Ramapo in October 2022. As a junior at Ramapo, A.W. played on the varsity basketball team. A.W. began his senior year at Ramapo in September 2023.

Because A.W. has already had four years of athletic eligibility, on April 24, 2023, an Eligibility Waiver Request was filed by the petitioner with the NJSIAA requesting a waiver from the strict application of the Eight Semester Rule so that A.W. can participate in high school athletics during his senior year. On May 2, 2023, the NJSIAA Eligibility Committee voted 7-0 to deny the waiver request, finding that A.W. did not meet the standards for granting a waiver of the Eight Semester Rule.

Thereafter, the petitioner appealed the decision of the Eligibility Committee to the Eligibility Appeals Committee (EAC). Following a hearing on May 31, 2023, at which sworn testimony was taken from Ramapo's athletic director, A.W., and A.W.'s mother, the EAC denied the request for a waiver of the Eight Semester Rule. The EAC found that A.W. did well during his sophomore year at Bergen Catholic, passing all his courses with good grades and earning enough credits to advance to his junior year. The EAC determined that the family's choice to have A.W. repeat sophomore year was voluntary and not compelled by circumstances beyond their control. Although A.W. argued that COVID-19 and the need for virtual learning were circumstances beyond their control, the EAC found that remote instruction was common in 2020-2021 and does not distinguish A.W. from other students across the State who learned remotely during the pandemic. The EAC concluded that A.W.'s voluntary reclassification as a sophomore when he transferred to St. Peter's Prep was "effectively an academic redshirt" and granting him a waiver would give him an opportunity – a fifth year of eligibility – that other students do not get. (Eligibility Appeal Committee decision letter dated June 26, 2023). The EAC found that A.W.'s participation as a fifth-year senior would provide Ramapo an athletic advantage because he would be a player with "great potential" playing for a State Championship-winning team. Ibid. Finally, the EAC concluded that allowing A.W. a fifth year of eligibility would be unfair to other students because there are a limited number of positions available on the varsity basketball team and if A.W. made the team, he would displace another student who only had four years of eligibility.

On July 26, 2023, the petitioner filed an appeal with the Commissioner of Education challenging the decision of the NJSIAA. On April 23, 2012, the NJSIAA filed its answer to the petition. On May 2, 2012, the petitioner filed his brief in support of the requested relief and on May 15, 2012, the NJSIAA filed its reply brief.

In his brief, the petitioner argues that the NJSIAA should have granted the waiver request because the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic and his need to address his academics constitute circumstances beyond his control. According to the petitioner, the NJSIAA improperly counted the year he attended Bergen Catholic virtually against him because he was "forced" to forego in-person attendance and his opportunity to participate in athletics during that year.

The petitioner also contends that the NJSIAA made factual misstatements in its decision. Regarding the NJSIAA's finding that A.W. would take the place of another student on the team, he points out that the team only cuts players if there are at least three players more than necessary. Regarding the NJSIAA's finding that Ramapo would receive an athletic advance from A.W.'s participation, he argues that he is a reserve player who Ramapo can replace "without much effort."

In reply, the NJSIAA asserts that it provided the petitioner with rigorous due process, noting that this case was heard by two NJSIAA committees, both of which unanimously denied the request for a waiver of the Eight Semester Rule. The NJSIAA stresses that the Eight Semester Rule is designed to ensure that all students have an equal opportunity to play high school sports and limits that opportunity to four years. The NJSIAA points to case law holding that the Eight Semester Rule applies to semesters of attendance, rather than semesters of competition. The NJSIAA contends that it was, therefore, appropriate to count the year that A.W. attended Bergen Catholic virtually, because he had the opportunity to participate in basketball during that year, even if he did not do so. The NJSIAA also emphasizes that the family's decision to have A.W. repeat this sophomore year was entirely voluntary: he had passed his courses and would have been enrolled as a junior at Bergen Catholic in the following year had his family not decided to have him repeat his sophomore year for their own purposes. Accordingly, the NJSIAA maintains that the petitioner's ineligibility is not due to circumstances beyond his control, but instead constitutes "academic red shirting" and that any waiver would contradict the express intent of the Eight Semester Rule.

Additionally, the NJSIAA argues that the record supports its conclusion that Ramapo would receive an advantage if A.W. were granted a waiver. The NJSIAA notes that Ramapo's athletic director testified that A.W. would "be counted on to defend, rebound, don't turn the ball over and play hard." Additionally, the waiver request states that A.W. "is a slightly above average varsity level high school basketball player with great potential" who played on a State Championship-winning team. According to the NJSIAA, the record also supports its conclusion that A.W.'s participation would displace another student who only had four years of eligibility for basketball, as the team does make cuts; at the very least, A.W. would take playing time away from another student.

Upon careful review and consideration, the Commissioner determines to uphold the decision of the NJSIAA and dismiss the petitioner's appeal. As explained above, the NJSIAA is a voluntary association of public and nonpublic schools, organized – pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:11-3 – to oversee athletics for its member schools in accordance with a constitution, bylaws, rules, and regulations approved by the Commissioner of Education and adopted annually by member schools, for which they become school policy enforceable by the NJSIAA. Ramapo is a member of the NJSIAA.

It is well-established that the Commissioner's scope of review in matters involving NJSIAA decisions, including determinations made by the Eligibility Appeals Committee, is appellate in nature. N.J.S.A. 18A:11-3; Board of Education of the City of Camden v. NJSIAA, 92 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDU) 182, 188. That is, the Commissioner may not overturn an action by the NJSIAA in applying its rules, absent a demonstration by the petitioner that it applied such rules in a patently arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable manner. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-7.5(a)(2); B.C. v. Cumberland Regional School District, 220 N.J. Super. 214, 231-232 (App. Div. 1987); Kopera v. West Orange Board of Education, 60 N.J. Super. 288, 297 (App. Div. 1960). Nor may the Commissioner substitute her own judgment for that of the NJSIAA, where due process has been provided and where there is sufficient credible evidence in the record as a whole to serve as a basis for the decision reached by the NJSIAA. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-7.5(a)(1); Dam Jin Koh and Hong Jun Kim v. NJSIAA, 1987 S.L.D. 259.

Additionally, the New Jersey courts have spoken as to the narrow scope of "arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable" in the context of challenges such as petitioners:

> In the law, "arbitrary" and "capricious" means having no rational basis.  Arbitrary and capricious action of administrative bodies means willful and > unreasoning action, without consideration and in disregard of circumstances. Where there is room for two opinions, action is not arbitrary or capricious when exercised honestly and upon due consideration, even though it may be believed that an erroneous conclusion has been reached. (citations omitted) Bayshore Sew. Co. v. Dep't of Envt. Protection, 122 N.J. Super. 184, 199-200 (Ch. Div. 1973), aff'd 131 N.J. Super. 37 (App. Div. 1974).

Petitioners seeking to overturn decisions of the NJSIAA therefore bear a heavy burden, and – considering the record of this matter in light of the prescribed standard of review – the Commissioner cannot find that petitioner herein has met his burden so as to entitle him to prevail on appeal.

More specifically, considering its duty to ensure fairness and integrity in athletic competition statewide, the Commissioner cannot find that the NJSIAA applied its rules in a patently arbitrary or unreasonable manner. A.W. has already had the opportunity to participate in four years of high school athletics – including the year when he attended Bergen Catholic virtually – as envisioned by the eligibility rules. Moreover, the Commissioner is in accord with the NJSIAA's finding that the family's decision to have A.W. repeat tenth grade was voluntary and does not amount to circumstances beyond their control. The record demonstrates that, despite the COVID-19 pandemic, A.W. earned good grades as well as sufficient credit during his sophomore year at Bergen Catholic to enroll as a junior the following year, but his family chose to have him repeat the year for their own reasons. The Commissioner finds that the record supports the NJSIAA's conclusions that A.W.'s participation would affect the ability of another student to play and would give Ramapo an athletic advantage. Finally, the NJSIAA's conclusion that the circumstances in this case are effectively "red shirting" is not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

Accordingly, the Commissioner – having found that the petitioner was afforded the due process to which he was entitled and that the NJSIAA's decision denying the request for waiver was neither arbitrary nor unreasonable – upholds the NJSIAA's decision and dismisses the petition of appeal.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

T.H., on behalf of minor child, A.E.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Jersey City, Hudson County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Pro se petitioner sought emergent relief against respondent, the Jersey City Board of Education (Board or Jersey City), demanding a "federal audit" of her daughter's school records to verify the appropriateness of A.E.'s academic placement, as well as an out of district placement for her at Bayonne High School at the Board's expense. Petitioner alleged that Jersey City failed to implement and execute A.E.'s "Section 504 Plan" (Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 as amended, codified at 29 U.S.C. § 794, a federal law that protects qualified individuals from discrimination based upon their disability). Emergent relief was denied, and thereafter the Board filed a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there is no dispute that petitioner and her daughter are domiciled in Jersey City; pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1, A.E. is entitled to a free public education in Jersey City schools; there is no factual basis to show that petitioner is a resident of Bayonne or falls within any exception, such as a choice school district, that would allow A.E. to attend Bayonne High School at Jersey City's expense; the Bayonne Board of Education is not party to this case and there is nothing to indicate that Bayonne has agreed to allow A.E. to attend as a non-resident student pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:22-2.2. The ALJ concluded that there is simply no legal support for petitioner's demand that A.E. be allowed to attend school in Bayonne at Jersey City's expense because of the Board's alleged failures regarding her 504 Plan. Accordingly, the ALJ granted the Board's motion and dismissed petitioner's appeal with prejudice.

Upon review, the Commissioner adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. In so doing, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that there is no legal basis under state school laws to compel the Board to pay for A.E. to attend school in Bayonne. The petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

T.H., on behalf of minor child, A.E.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Jersey City, Hudson County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the exceptions filed by petitioner pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, have been reviewed and considered. The Jersey City Board of Education (Board) did not file a reply.

This matter involves petitioner's request for her daughter, A.E., to be transferred to the Bayonne school district at the Board's expense because the Board allegedly failed to comply with A.E.'s 504 Plan.[1] Petitioner initially sought relief on an emergent basis, which was denied by the Commissioner in May 2023. Subsequently, the Board filed a motion to dismiss the underlying petition for failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted.

After reviewing the parties' submissions, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) granted the Board's motion upon concluding that petitioner's request lacked legal support. Citing [1] "504 Plan" refers to Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 as amended, codified at 29 U.S.C. § 794, a federal law that protects qualified individuals from discrimination based upon their disability.

N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1(a), which entitles persons between ages five and twenty to attend public school free of charge in the school district where they are domiciled, the ALJ found that it was undisputed that petitioner and A.E. are domiciled in Jersey City. Therefore, the ALJ concluded that A.E. is entitled to attend public school free of charge in Jersey City, not in Bayonne. In addition, the ALJ concluded that there is no legal basis to compel the Board to pay for A.E. to attend school in Bayonne.

In her exceptions, petitioner argues—as she did before the ALJ—that the Board should pay for A.E. to attend school in Bayonne because it has failed to comply with A.E.'s 504 Plan. However, her claims regarding the Board's violation of the 504 Plan are unsubstantiated.[2] Furthermore, she does not dispute the fact that she and A.E. are domiciled in Jersey City.

Upon review, the Commissioner adopts the ALJ's Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. The Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that there is no legal basis under State school laws to compel the Board to pay for A.E. to attend school in Bayonne.[3]

[2] In connection with the May 1, 2023, order denying petitioner's application for emergent relief, adopted by the Commissioner, the ALJ found as undisputed fact that petitioner agreed to an initial 504 Plan for A.E. on November 2022, and agreed to revisions on February 17, 2023, and March 15, 2023. T.H., on behalf of minor child, A.E. v. Board of Education of the City of Jersey City, Hudson County, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 03234-23, Agency Dkt. No. 99-4/23, Order on Emergent Relief (May 1, 2023), at 2. In addition, the ALJ found as undisputed fact that the only recent incident alleging a health and safety issue involved A.E. visiting the nurse on March 31, 2023, due to dizziness and nausea. Id. at 3. Petitioner expressed concern that the nurse did not call her directly on that date, but instead told A.E. to call her. Ibid. In any event, while on speaker phone with A.E., petitioner directed the nurse to administer A.E.'s medication. Ibid. The ALJ concluded that "[t]he only genuine 504 Plan health safety issue was resolved without hospitalization or apparently any medical follow-up." Id. at 5. Finally, the ALJ held that "[t]here is no support for petitioner's assertions that A.E.'s schoolwork or grades have been impacted by violation of her 504 Plan." Id. at 5-6. The ALJ incorporated these factual findings into the Initial Decision presently before the Commissioner. T.H., on behalf of minor child, A.E. v. Board of Education of the City of Jersey City, Hudson County, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 03234-23, Agency Dkt. No. 99-4/23, Initial Decision (August 18, 2023), at 2.

[3] As petitioner continues to rely upon various federal laws to support her position, she is reminded that the Commissioner's jurisdiction is limited to the hearing and deciding of controversies and disputes arising under State school laws in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9.

Accordingly, the Board's motion is granted, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

INITIAL DECISION ON MOTION TO DISMISS
OAL DKT. NO. EDU 03234-23
AGENCY DKT. NO. 99-4/23

T.H. ON BEHALF OF A.E.,

Petitioner,

v.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF JERSEY CITY, HUDSON COUNTY,

Respondent.

T.H., on behalf of A.E. petitioner pro se

Cherie L. Adams, Esq., for respondent Board of Education of the City of Jersey City (Adams, Gutierrez and Lattiboudere, attorneys)

Record Closed: August 7, 2023 Decided: August 18, 2023

BEFORE GAIL M. COOKSON, ALJ:

Petitioner T.H. (petitioner or T.H.) filed a Petition of Appeal with the Department of Education on or about April 14, 2023, seeking emergent relief against the Board of Education of the City of Jersey City (Jersey City or District) in the form of a (1) "federal audit" of her fourteen-year-old daughter A.E.'s records to verify proper academic placement; and, (2) an out-of-district placement for her at Bayonne High School with tuition paid for by Jersey City for alleged failure to implement and execute A.E.'s Section 504 Plan, 34 C.F.R. §104.36.

The New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Controversies and Disputes, transmitted only the Application for Emergent Relief to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on or about April 17, 2023. The matter was assigned to the undersigned for oral argument and was scheduled for April 24, 2023. On that date, discussions were held off-the-record, and the matter was continued until April 28, 2023, in order to allow counsel for the District the opportunity to consult with her client because the prior week had been spring break. Oral argument was held on April 28, 2023, and thereafter, I issued an Order denying the requested emergent relief on May 1, 2023. The Commissioner affirmed that denial and returned the case to the OAL for a hearing on the underlying merits petition.

Thereafter, the District filed a Motion to Dismiss for the failure of petitioner to state a claim upon which relief may be granted. Briefs and other submissions have been presented and the motion is now ripe for adjudication. I adopt and incorporate my earlier findings as if set forth at length herein. While petitioner is not represented and did not present legal arguments opposing the motion, I have carefully reviewed the applicable law.

LEGAL DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

For the reasons set forth below after due consideration of the written submissions, I CONCLUDE that petitioner's request for her daughter to be transferred to a different public school at District expense must be DENIED.

On a motion to dismiss for failure to set forth a claim upon which relief may be granted, I must accept all the allegations as true and decide whether they are sufficient as a matter of law. I must grant such a motion where the petition fails to properly assert a cause of action upon which the Commissioner may grant relief. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.10(a). See Bank Leumi USA v. Kloss, 243 N.J. 218, 229 (2020); R. 4:6-2. These same principles are applicable at the OAL. City of Hackensack v. Winner, 82 N.J. 1, 29 (1980). A motion to dismiss or for summary decision constitutes a hearing on the papers; i.e., stands in place of an evidentiary hearing.

Petitioner asserts that the District's alleged failures as to her daughter's 504 Plan entitles A.E. to attend school in Bayonne at the expense of the Jersey City Board of Education. I CONCLUDE that there is no legal support for this demand.

N.J.S.A. 18A:38-1 states in relevant part:

> Public schools shall be free to the following persons over five and under 20 years of age: a. Any person who is domiciled within the school district; . . .

There is no dispute that the petitioner and A.E. reside at 271 4th Street, Jersey City, New Jersey. There is also no dispute that Jersey City is petitioner's domicile. Accordingly, there are simply no facts presented that show the petitioner is a resident of Bayonne or falls within any exception that would allow A.E. to attend Bayonne at Jersey City's expense (such as a choice school district). While a local board of education has the discretion to admit non-resident students with or without payment of tuition with the consent of the board of education of that district, N.J.A.C. 6A:22-2.2, there is no indication that the Bayonne Board of Education has agreed to allow A.E. to attend as a non-resident student either with or without tuition. This regulation also establishes that acceptance of non-resident students is voluntary on the part of the other district. Further, Bayonne Board of Education is not a party hereto.

Petitioner may seek to obtain tuition-free enrollment from Bayonne; she may pay for out-of-district tuition for her daughter in Bayonne; or, she is free to move into that District. But she is not free and has no legal basis to force this District to provide a free public education in a separate and distinct public school district.

ORDER

For the reasons set forth above, it is ORDERED that petitioner's petition is and the same is hereby DENIED and the matter is DISMISSED with prejudice.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education
Decision

R.Z. and L.D., on behalf of minor child, L.Z.,

Petitioners,

v.

Board of Education of the Northern Valley Regional High School District, Bergen County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioners sought to appeal the findings of a harassment, intimidation, and bullying (HIB) investigation conducted by the anti-bullying specialist (ABS) at their child's school. The petition was filed prior to the Board's issuance of its decision in the HIB matter. The Board filed a motion to dismiss the petition as premature.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(e), only the Board's final decision may be appealed to the Commissioner; accordingly, the ALJ granted the Board's motion upon concluding that the petition was filed prematurely. Citing N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6 n action by a board of education is entitled to a presumption of correctness unless it is proven to be arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable; under the Act, "harassment, intimidation, or bullying" is broadly defined as any gesture, any written, verbal, or physical act, or any electronic communication that is reasonably perceived as motivated by any actual or perceived distinguishing characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical, or sensory disability, that takes place on school property and substantially disrupts the orderly operation of the school; in the instant case, S.Y.'s actions constituted HIB as the term is defined by law; her racial comment at the lunch table and her injection of race into an encounter with B.B. in a crowded hallway were reasonably perceived by B.B. to be motivated by the distinguishing characteristic of race; the incidents occurred on school property during the regular school day and substantially interfered with the rights of another student; B.B. left the lunchroom upset and her reaction to S.Y.'s comments disrupted her next class to the extent that she had to be removed from class by her teacher. The ALJ concluded that the petitioners failed to meet their burden to prove that the Board's actions in determining that S.Y. committed acts of HIB against B.B. were arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable; accordingly, the Board's HIB determination was affirmed, and the petition was dismissed.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that the Board did not act in an arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable manner in rendering its HIB determination. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL was adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

R.Z. and L.D., on behalf of minor child, L.Z.,

Petitioners,

v.

Board of Education of the Northern Valley Regional High School District, Bergen County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

Petitioners sought to appeal the findings of a harassment, intimidation, and bullying (HIB) investigation conducted by the anti-bullying specialist (ABS) at their child's school. At the time of filing of petitioners' appeal to the Commissioner, the findings at issue had been reported to the superintendent but had not yet been affirmed, rejected, or modified by the Board. It is uncontested that the Board did not render its final decision until after petitioners filed their appeal with the Commissioner. For these reasons, the Board moved to dismiss the petition as premature.

Citing N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6), the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) granted the Board's motion upon concluding that the petition was filed prematurely. The ALJ found that, per N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(e), only the Board's final decision may be appealed to the Commissioner.

Thus, the matter was not yet ripe for review by the Commissioner when petitioners initiated this action by filing their petition of appeal.

Upon review, the Commissioner adopts the ALJ's Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. The Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that petitioners' premature attempt to appeal to the Commissioner before the Board had an opportunity to render its decision was inconsistent with the statutory scheme. See M.M., on behalf of minor child v. Board of Education of the Township of Lafayette, Sussex County, Commissioner Decision No. 253-20 (Nov. 5, 2020), at 5 ("Only after the final decision by the board of education did the Legislature create a right of appeal to the Commissioner, and for good reason – it is not in the interest of judicial economy to adjudicate HIB matters in a piecemeal fashion.").

Accordingly, the Board's motion to dismiss is granted, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND DISCUSSION

R.4:6-2 provides:

> Every defense, legal or equitable, in law or fact, to a claim for relief in any complaint, counterclaim, cross-claim, or third-party complaint shall be asserted in the answer thereto, except that the following defenses, unless otherwise provided by R. 4:6-3, may at the option of the pleader be made by motion, with briefs: (a) lack of jurisdiction over the subject matter, (b) lack of jurisdiction over the person, (c) insufficiency of process, (d) insufficiency of service of process, (e) failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted, (f) failure to join a party without whom the action cannot proceed, as provided by R. 4:28-1. If a motion is made raising any of these defenses, it shall be made before pleading if a further pleading is to be made. No defense or objection is waived by being joined with one or more other defenses in an answer or motion. Special appearances are superseded. A motion to dismiss based on defense (e), and any opposition thereto, shall be filed and served in accordance with the time frames set forth in R. 4:46-1. If, on a motion to dismiss based on defense

(e), matters outside the pleading are presented to and not excluded by the court, the motion shall be treated as one for summary judgment and disposed of as provided by R. 4:46, and all parties shall be given reasonable notice of the court's intention to treat the motion as one for summary judgment and a reasonable opportunity to present all material pertinent to such a motion.

N.J.A.C. 6A: 3-1.5 (g) provides:

Nothing in this section precludes the filing of a motion to dismiss in lieu of an answer to a petition, provided that such motion is filed within the time allotted for the filing of an answer. Briefing on such motions shall be in the manner and within the time fixed by the Commissioner, or by the ALJ if the motion is to be briefed following transmittal to the OAL.

N.J.A.C. 6A: 3-1.10 provides:

At any time prior to transmittal of the pleadings to the OAL, in the Commissioner's discretion or upon motion to dismiss filed in lieu of answer, the Commissioner may dismiss the petition on the grounds that the petitioner has advanced no cause of action even if the petitioner's factual allegations are accepted as true or for lack of jurisdiction, failure to prosecute or other good reason.
Board of Education v Repollet 2021 N.J. Super. Unpub. LEXIS 1955 provides:
The standards governing the grant or denial of a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim in the administrative context are identical to those governing a similar motion in the Superior Court. Compare N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.10 with Rule 4:6-2(e); see also Sloan ex rel. Sloan v. Klagholtz, 342 N.J. Super. 385, 393-94, 776 A.2d 894 (App. Div. 2001). When reviewing a motion to dismiss pursuant to Rule 4:6-2(e), the inquiry is "limited to examining the legal sufficiency of the facts alleged on the face of the complaint." Printing Mart-Morristown v. Sharp Elec. Corp., 116 N.J. 739, 746, 563 A.2d 31 (1989)

N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6) provides:

(a)Each school district shall adopt a policy prohibiting harassment, intimidation or bullying on school property, at a school-sponsored function or on a school bus. The school district shall adopt the policy through a process that includes representation of parents or guardians, school employees, volunteers, students, administrators, and community representatives.
(b) A school district shall have local control over the content of the policy, except that the policy shall contain, at a minimum, the following components:
(6) a procedure for prompt investigation of reports of violations and complaints, which procedure shall at a minimum provide that:
(a) the investigation shall be initiated by the principal or the principal's designee within one school day of the report of the incident and shall be conducted by a school anti-bullying specialist. The principal may appoint additional personnel who are not school anti-bullying specialists to assist in the investigation. The investigation shall be completed as soon as possible, but not later than 10 school days from the date of the written report of the incident of harassment, intimidation, or bullying or from the date of the written notification from the superintendent to the principal to initiate an investigation pursuant to paragraph (5) of this subsection. In the event that there is information relative to the investigation that is anticipated but not yet received by the end of the 10-day period, the school anti-bullying specialist may amend the original report of the results of the investigation to reflect the information;

(b) the results of the investigation shall be reported to the superintendent of schools within two school days of the completion of the investigation, and in accordance with regulations promulgated by the State Board of Education pursuant to the "Administrative Procedure Act," P.L.1968, c.410 (C.52:14B-1 et seq.), the superintendent may decide to provide intervention services, establish training programs to reduce harassment, intimidation, or bullying and enhance school climate, impose discipline, order counseling as a result of the findings of the investigation, or take or recommend other appropriate action including seeking further information;

(c) the results of each investigation shall be reported to the board of education no later than the date of the board of education meeting next following the completion of the investigation, along with information on any services provided, training established, discipline imposed, or other action taken or recommended by the superintendent;

(d) parents or guardians of the students who are parties to the investigation shall be entitled to receive information about the investigation, in accordance with federal and State law and regulation, including the nature of the investigation, whether the district found evidence of harassment, intimidation, or bullying, or whether discipline was imposed or services provided to address the incident of harassment, intimidation, or bullying. This information shall be provided in writing within 5 school days after the results of the investigation are reported to the board. A parent or guardian may request a hearing before the board after receiving the information, and the hearing shall be held within 10 days of the request. The board shall meet in executive session for the hearing to protect the confidentiality of the students. At the hearing the board may hear from the school anti-bullying specialist about the incident, recommendations for discipline or services, and any programs instituted to reduce such incidents;

(e) at the next board of education meeting following its receipt of the report pursuant to subparagraph (c) of paragraph (6) of this subsection, the board shall issue a decision, in writing, to affirm, reject, or modify the superintendent's decision. The board's decision may be appealed to the Commissioner of Education, in accordance with the procedures set forth in law and regulation, no later than 90 days after the issuance of the board's decision; and

(f) a parent, student, guardian, or organization may file a complaint with the Division on Civil Rights within 180 days of the occurrence of any incident of harassment, intimidation, or bullying based on membership in a protected group as enumerated in the "Law Against Discrimination," P.L.1945, c.169 (C.10:5-1 et seq.);

In M.M. obo minor child v. Board of Education of the Township of Layfette 2020 N.J. AGEN LEXIS 374, 6,7 the Commissioner stated:

> There is no dispute that the Board has not issued a decision regarding petitioner's HIB claim; in fact, petitioner admits as much in the petition of appeal. 7 The district's ABC has made findings, and the superintendent has reported those findings to the Board, but the Act requires those findings to be affirmed, rejected, or modified by the Board, and it is the Board's decision that is appealable to the Commissioner. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(e). The Legislature explicitly created a multi-step process for the investigation and determination of HIB allegations. Only after the final decision by the board of education did the Legislature create a right of appeal to the Commissioner, and for good reason - it is not in the interest of judicial economy to adjudicate HIB matters in a piecemeal fashion. To allow an appeal following the ABC's written report, as petitioner sought to do here, would result in the expenditure of time and money to dispute findings that could have been rejected by the Board if the matter had proceeded to a vote. Moreover, the standard of review applicable to the Commissioner's decision in HIB matters necessitates that the process be concluded prior to coming before the Commissioner.

In this matter, the Board did not render a decision on the HIB hearing until after petitioner filed the appeal with the Commissioner. The Superintendent determined that further investigation was needed. The Board did not issue a decision prior to petitioners filing the appeal to the Commissioner. The petitioner's right to appeal does not accrue until after the Board makes a final determination. Petitioners appeal to the Commissioner in this matter was premature.

The petitioners were given a hearing before the Board on June 8, 2023, after they filed the current petition. The petitioner states that its petition is the Board's failure to follow statutory process. However, petitioner's right to appeal does not accrue until after the Board has decided. Petitioners filed the petition prior to the Board deciding on the HIB matter.

I CONCLUDE that the petition was filed prematurely since it was filed prior to the Board's decision on the HIB since petitioners' right to appeal begins after the Board has made a decision on the HIB case. In addition, petitioners have had a hearing on the merits by the Board subsequent to filing the petition.

ORDER

Accordingly, It is ORDERED that respondents motions for to dismiss the petition be and is hereby GRANTED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." Synopsis

Petitioners challenged the vote to appoint Brian DeLaite (DeLaite) to a vacant seat on the Board of Education of the Ramapo Indian Hills Regional High School District, contending that the vote was invalid because – per Robert's Rules of Order – five affirmative votes were required, comprising a "majority of the entire membership," to make this appointment. The Board asserted that, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15(f) and Board policy, only "a majority of the remaining members" after recusals, or four affirmative votes, were required to appoint DeLaite. The Board at the time of the vote to fill the vacancy consisted of 8 members, two of whom recused themselves, leaving a quorum of six members. Four members voted to appoint DeLaite, while two opposed the appointment. The parties submitted cross motions for summary judgment.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no issues of material fact in this matter and the case is ripe for summary decision; N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15(f) mandates that the vacancy in question be filled "[b]y a majority vote of the remaining members of the board after the vacancy occurs"; Board Policy #0143 was consistent with, and incorporated language from, the controlling statute; and the language upon which the petitioners relied from Robert's Rules of Order cannot supersede N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15 and Board Policy #0143. The ALJ concluded that because there were four affirmative votes for DeLaite, which constituted a majority of the remaining members following the recusals, the Board's vote was valid and in accord with N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15. Accordingly, the ALJ granted the Board's motion for summary decision.

Upon review, the Commissioner adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter, finding that petitioners' reliance on language from Robert's Rules of Order is misplaced as N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15, which controls how board vacancies are filled in type II districts with elected boards of education, applies in this case. Accordingly, the Board's motion for summary decision was granted, and the petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

Final Decision

Petitioners,

v.

Board of Education of the Ramapo Indian Hills Regional High School District, Bergen County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

Respondent Board is a regional board of education. Petitioners challenged the Board's November 14, 2022, vote to appoint Brian DeLaite to a vacant seat. The material facts are uncontested. Due to the vacancy, the Board had eight members instead of its full membership of nine members. Two members recused themselves from voting because of prior interactions with DeLaite. A quorum existed even after the recusals. Ultimately, four members voted to appoint DeLaite, and two voted not to appoint him. Petitioners insisted that the vote was invalid because, per Robert's Rules of Order, five affirmative votes were needed for a "majority of the entire membership" to appoint DeLaite. Joint Exhibit J-5, at 6. In response, the Board asserted that, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15(f) and Board policy, only "a majority of the remaining members" following the recusals, or four affirmative votes, was required to appoint DeLaite.

Once the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the parties cross-moved for summary decision and submitted a joint stipulation of facts and joint exhibits. Upon review of the parties' submissions, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) granted the Board's motion for summary decision. The ALJ found that N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15(f) mandated that the vacancy at issue here be filled "[b]y a majority vote of the remaining members of the board after the vacancy occurs."[1] The ALJ further found that Board Policy #0143 was consistent with, and incorporated language from, the controlling statute. Additionally, the ALJ found that the language upon which petitioners relied from Robert's Rules of Order, which the Board abides by, cannot supersede N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15 and Board Policy #0143. The ALJ concluded that because the four affirmative votes for DeLaite constituted a majority of the remaining members following the recusals, the Board's vote was valid and in accord with N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15.

Upon review, the Commissioner adopts the ALJ's thorough and well-reasoned decision as the final decision in this matter. Petitioners' reliance on language from Robert's Rules of Order §44:9(b), which discusses alternative circumstances in which "a majority of the entire membership" may be required for a valid vote, is misplaced. Joint Exhibit J-5, at 6. As the ALJ thoughtfully explained in the Initial Decision, the Legislature decided not to require a majority vote of the entire membership for purposes of appointing a new board member to fill a vacancy under N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15(f), as demonstrated by the statute's plain language. See DiPropsero v. Penn, 183

[1] N.J.S.A. 18A:13-11 requires that vacancies in membership of regional boards of education be filled in the same manner as vacancies in membership of boards of education of type II districts having elected boards of education. Consequently, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15, which controls how board vacancies are filled in type II districts having elected boards of education, applies here.

N.J. 477, 492 (2005) ("The Legislature's intent is the paramount goal when interpreting a statute and, generally, the best indicator of that intent is the statutory language.").

As written, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15(f) requires only "a majority vote of the remaining members of the board after the vacancy occurs," and not a majority of the entire membership. The ALJ correctly found that had the Legislature wished to include such a provision in N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15(f), it would have done so expressly as it has in other sections of Title 18. See, e.g., N.J.S.A. 18A:6-11 ("by majority vote of its full membership"); N.J.S.A. 18A:15-2 ("by a majority vote of all of the members of the board"); N.J.S.A. 18A:16-8 ("by a recorded roll call majority vote of its full membership"). It is uncontested that more than half of the votes cast by the remaining members entitled to vote—excluding those members who recused themselves—were in favor of DeLaite's appointment to the Board. That is precisely what was required under N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15(f) for a valid appointment. See Robert's Rules of Order § 44:1 (defining "majority vote" as "more than half of the votes cast by persons entitled to vote, excluding blanks or abstentions"). Joint Exhibit J-5, at 1.

Accordingly, the Board's motion for summary decision is granted, petitioners' motion for summary decision is denied, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[2]

BEFORE THOMAS R. BETANCOURT, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioners challenge the Board's vote regarding a vacancy.

The matter was transferred to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on January 19, 2023, as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

A prehearing conference was held on March 23, 2023, and a prehearing order was issued on the same date.

The parties filed cross motions for summary decision. Petitioners filed their brief in support of their motion on April 28, 2023. Respondent filed brief in support of their motion on May 15, 2023.

The parties, together with their respective cross motions for summary decision, submitted a Stipulation of Undisputed Facts and Joint Exhibits J-1 through J-6.

Petitioners filed their responsive brief on July 7, 2023. Respondent indicated that it would not file a responsive brief on August 2, 2023, whereupon the record closed.

STIPULATION OF UNDISPUTED FACTS

The parties submitted the following stipulation of facts, and I so FIND the following:

1. On or about September 29, 2022, former Board member James Setteducato, a representative from Wyckoff, resigned from the Board creating a vacant seat. At full membership, the Board consists of nine members. Following Mr. Setteducato's resignation, the Board consisted of eight members.

2. The Board held a regular public meeting on November 14, 2022. This meeting was simultaneously livestreamed and archived on the Board website. (J-1 in hyperlink format.)

3. On November 14, 2022, the Board interviewed two potential candidates — Brian DeLaite and Michael Homaychak — for the vacant Board seat in open, public session at their regularly-scheduled Board meeting. All eight Board members were present at the meeting. (J-2.)

4. Two Board members — Robert Fortunato and John Carolan, both elected representatives from Wyckoff — recused themselves from interview process, discussions, and subsequent vote to fill the vacant seat. Member Fortunato publicly stated that he recused himself from the process as a result of "serving on another board with one of the applicants." Member Carolan publicly stated that he recused himself from the process due to having "past interactions with one of the candidates." See "J-2"; see also "J-1," at 0:16:20.

5. Prior to the vote in public session at the November 14 meeting, then-Board Counsel Rodney Hara advised the Board that a vote to fill the seat would require a majority of the Board. Mr. Hara advised the Board that with two (2) recusals, four (4) "yes" votes would constitute a majority of the Board on a vote to fill the vacant seat. Board Member Judith Sullivan stated a point of order and formal objection to then-Board Counsel Rodney Hara's definition of "majority vote of the remaining board members." See "J-2".

6. Board Policy #0143 states that, when voting to fill a vacant seat:

> A vacancy in the membership of a regional Board of Education shall be filled in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:13-11. A vacancy shall be filled from the constituent districts represented by the former incumbents in the same manner as vacancies in the membership of Boards of Education of Type II districts having elected Boards of Education are filled.
>
> A vacancy in the membership of a Board of Education shall be filled as follows:
>
> 1. By the Executive County Superintendent, if the vacancy is caused by:
>
> a. The absence of candidates for election to the school Board; or

b. The removal of a member because of lack of qualifications;
c. The failure of the Board to appoint a person to a vacancy within sixty-five days following its occurrence; or

2. By the Executive County Superintendent, to a number sufficient to make up a quorum of the Board if, by reason of vacancies, a quorum is lacking;

3. By special election within sixty days of the annual school election, if:

a. Two or more candidates qualified by law for membership on the school Board receive an equal number of votes in the annual school election. In the event that both candidates receive an equal number of votes in the special election, the vacancy shall be filled by the Executive County Superintendent; or
b. The annual election is disqualified due to improper election procedures.

4. By the Commissioner of Education if there is a failure to elect a member at the annual school election due to improper campaign practices; or

5. By a majority vote of the remaining members of the Board of Education after the vacancy occurs in all other cases.

The Board Secretary shall promptly notify the President of a vacancy to be filled by the Board. The President shall inform all other Board members. The Board will give public notice of the vacancy and invite any qualified person to submit a written request for consideration of his/her candidacy for the vacancy. The Board may also require candidates submit a resume with their written request.

In considering candidates who have expressed an interest in a vacancy, the Board of Education may interview candidates in public or executive session. The Board must vote to appoint a candidate to a vacancy in public session and there shall be no decisions made in executive session. In the event interviews are conducted in executive session, Board members, in the public session nomination and voting process, shall express their opinion in support of their vote so the public can witness any deliberations, policy formulation, and the decision making process of the Board.

A roll call vote will be conducted on candidates in the order the candidates were nominated with a second. If there are two or more vacancies, each > vacancy will be filled by a separate election process. The first candidate who receives the votes of a majority of the remaining Board members will be elected to the vacancy. In the event no candidate receives a majority vote of the remaining Board members, another election process shall be conducted between the two candidates receiving the highest number of votes.

>
> (Board Policy #0143 J-3.)

7. The Board operates under Robert's Rules of Order. (J-4.)

8. Robert's Rules of Order §44:9(b) (Twelfth Edition) states that "a majority of the entire membership is a majority of the total number of those who are members of the voting body at the time of the vote." (J-5.)

9. At the November 14 meeting, in public session, the Board voted 4-2, with two (2) recusals, to appoint Brian DeLaite to the vacant seat, effective immediately, and set to expire upon the Board's organization meeting following the 2023 Annual School Election. See "J-2."

10. Mr. DeLaite was an unsuccessful candidate for the Board in the November 2022 election. (J-6.)

11. Petitioners filed a Pro Se Petition of Appeal on December 15, 2022 challenging the Board's appointment of Mr. DeLaite to the vacant seat.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

Standard for Summary Decision

A motion for summary decision may be granted if the papers and discovery presented, as well as any affidavits which may have been filed with the application, show that there is no genuine issue of material fact and the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). If the motion is sufficiently supported, the non-moving party must demonstrate by affidavit that there is a genuine issue of fact which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding, in order to prevail in such an application. Ibid. These provisions mirror the summary judgment language of R. 4:46-2(c) of the New Jersey Court Rules.

The motion judge must "consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party . . . , are sufficient to permit a rational fact finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party." Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520, 523 (1995). And even if the non-moving party comes forward with some evidence, this forum must grant summary decision if the evidence is "so one-sided that [the moving party] must prevail as a matter of law." Id. at 536 (citation omitted).

In the instant matter the parties agree that there are no material disputed facts, and have submitted a Stipulation of Undisputed Facts. Accordingly, the matter is ripe for summary decision.

School Board Vacancies

N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15 states:

Vacancies in the membership of the board shall be filled as follows:

a. By the county superintendent, if the vacancy is caused by the absence of candidates for election to the school board or by the removal of a member because of lack of qualifications, or is not filled within 65 days following its occurrence;

b. By the county superintendent, to a number sufficient to make up a quorum of the board if, by reason of vacancies, a quorum is lacking;

c. By special election, if in the annual school election two or more candidates qualified by law for membership on the school board receive an equal number of votes. Such special election shall be held only upon recount and certification by the county board of elections of such election result, shall be restricted to such candidates, shall be held within 60 days of the annual school election, and shall be conducted in accordance with procedures for annual and special school elections set forth in Title 19 of the Revised Statutes. The vacancy shall be filled by the county superintendent if in such special election two or more candidates qualified by law for membership on the school board receive an equal number of votes;

d. By special election if there is a failure to elect a member at the annual school election due to improper election procedures. Such special election shall be restricted to those persons who were candidates at such annual school election, shall be held within 60 days of such annual school election, and shall be conducted in accordance with the procedures for annual and special school elections set forth in Title 19 of the Revised Statutes;

e. By the commissioner if there is a failure to elect a member at the annual school election due to improper campaign practices; or

f. By a majority vote of the remaining members of the board after the vacancy occurs in all other cases.

Each member so appointed shall serve until the organizational meeting following the next annual election unless the member is appointed to fill a vacancy occurring within the 60 days immediately preceding such election if the annual election is held in April, or occurring after the third Monday in July if the election is held in November, to fill a term extending beyond such election, in which case the member shall serve until the organizational meeting following the second annual election next succeeding the > occurrence of the vacancy, and any vacancy for the remainder of the term shall be filled at the annual election or the second annual election next succeeding the occurrence of the vacancy, as the case may be.

In the matter at hand, the applicable section would be subsection f., which states: By a majority vote of the remaining members of the board after the vacancy occurs in all other cases.

Board Policy #0143 requires the Board to follow N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15 when filling a vacancy on the Board.

Roberts Rules of Order, in Rule 44:9(b) states "A majority of the entire membership is a majority of the total of those who are members of the voting body at the time of the vote."

The question herein arises as to what controls the action of the Board regarding its vote to replace the member who resigned.

What controls the manner in which a vacant Board seat is filled are N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15 and Board Policy #0143. Roberts Rules of Order do not, and cannot, supersede N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15 and Board Policy #0143.

N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15 does not require a majority vote of the full membership. Many other statutes pertaining to boards of education do require a majority vote of the full membership. See N.J.S.A. 18A:6-11 ("by majority vote of its full membership"); N.J.S.A. 18A:15-2 ("by majority vote of all of the members of the board"); N.J.S.A. 18A:16-8 ("majority vote of its full membership"); N.J.S.A. 18A:17-5 ("majority vote of its full membership of the board"); N.J.S.A. 18A:17-14.1 ("by a majority vote of all members of the board"); N.J.S.A. 18A:17-15 ("majority vote of the full membership of the board"); N.J.S.A. 18A:20-5 ("majority vote of its full membership of the board"); N.J.S.A. 18A:20-37 ("by a majority vote of all its members") N.J.S.A. 18A:25-1 ("majority vote of the full membership of the board"); N.J.S.A. 18A:27-1 ("majority vote of the full membership of the board"); N.J.S.A. 18A:29-14 ("majority vote of the full membership of the board");

N.J.S.A. 18A:33-1 ("majority vote of the full membership of the board"); N.J.S.A. 18A:34-1 ("majority vote of the full membership of the board"); N.J.S.A. 18A:38-6 ("by a majority vote of all the members of the board of education"); N.J.S.A. 18A:51-1 ("by a majority vote of all of the members of each such board"); and N.J.S.A. 18A:51-11 ("majority vote of its full membership"). Yet the Legislature chose not to use the term of art "majority vote of its full membership" when enacting N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15(f).

The legislative history of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15(f) shows that it was amended in December 1996 to add the words "by a majority vote of the remaining members of" the board.

The Senate Education Committee Statement to the bill states: "This bill specifies that when a member of a school board in a Type 23 II district resigns, the vacancy will be filled by a majority vote of the remaining members of the board. Under an interpretation of the present statute, it is possible for the member who resigns to vote on the appointment of a successor."

The Assembly Education Committee statement to the bill states: "As amended by committee, this bill specifies that when a member of a school board in a Type II district resigns, the vacancy will be filled by a majority vote of the remaining members of the board after the vacancy has occurred. Under an interpretation of the present statute, it is possible for the member who resigns to vote on the appointment of a successor. The committee amended the bill to add language clarifying that the vote of the remaining members of the board will occur after the vacancy has occurred. This bill was pre-filed for introduction in the 1996 session pending technical review. As reported, the bill includes the changes required by technical review which has been performed." Had the Legislature intended N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15(f) to require a majority vote of the full membership they would have included the same in the statute. They did not.

In the instant matter, the remaining members of the board totaled eight. At the meeting where Mr. DeLaite was selected to replace Mr. Setteducato all eight remaining members were present. Two of those members recused themselves and stated their reasons for recusal on the record, notwithstanding Petitioners' assertion that they did not. There remained a quorum of six voting members. Of those six members four members voted in the affirmative. These four affirmative votes constituted a majority of the remaining members, and their vote was in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:12-15(f).

Petitioners in their brief define the issues as follows:

1. Did the former majority members of the 2022 Ramapo Indian Hills Board of Education uphold, preserve and ensure the public confidence, trust and respect of the people who elected them?

2. Did the former majority members of the 2022 Ramapo Indian Board of Education dutifully abide by the policies and regulations, and use integrity and ethical procedures to select the best qualified candidate to serve on the open Wyckoff seat on the Board?

Neither of the two above noted issues were set forth in the due process petition and are not considered herein. The issue is the legality of the vote to place Mr. DeLaite on the Board.

Also in their brief, Petitioners seek to introduce unrelated, and unsupported facts, none of which have any bearing on the legality of the vote to place Mr. DeLaite on the Board. They are, therefore, not considered herein.

Respondent, in its brief, cites two cases regarding plurality votes in filling a vacant board seat that predate the 1996 amendment to N.J.S.A. 18A: 12-15(f): Polonsky, et al. v. Red Bank Board of Education, 1967 S.L.D. 93 (Comm'r of Educ. Apr. 25, 1967); and Corda v. Willingboro Board of Education, 1987 S.L.D. 337 (Dec. 26, 1986), aff'd 1987 S.L.D. 349 (Comm'r of Educ. Feb. 5, 1987). Respondent makes a compelling argument as to the validity of the vote in question intertwining the two above cases with the amendment to the statute. However, the undersigned determines that the analysis above as to the legislative history, and the lack of the words "full membership" in the statute is sufficient to determine that the vote to fill the vacancy at issue herein was valid.

Based upon the above I CONCLUDE there are no genuine issues of material facts as they relate to the due process petition, and Respondent is entitled to prevail as a matter of law.

Decision

Corey Gallagher,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Byram, Sussex County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioner, a tenured teacher in the respondent Board's school district, challenged the Board's withholding of his pay for certain dates that the Board contends were unexcused absences and not compensable. Petitioner, who also serves as an assistant basketball coach in the Lenape Valley School District (Lenape Valley), was approved for a medical leave of absence from his teaching position in Byram to undergo back surgery in September 2022; he returned to work in Byram on January 5, 2023. During the time he was on approved medical leave, petitioner continued to attend Lenape Valley's basketball practices. The days on which petitioner attended practices at Lenape Valley while on medical leave from Byram are at issue in this case. Petitioner alleged that Byram's actions violated his tenure rights because his salary was reduced without just cause and without the benefit of a hearing. The parties filed cross motions for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: petitioner's argument that his tenure rights were violated is without merit as the withholding of his wages was a recoupment, rather than an arbitrary change to petitioner's pay and there was no evidence that his rate of pay changed; despite his claims that he was only a spectator at the Lenape Valley basketball practices, petitioner's attendance at Lenape Valley basketball practices constituted "other gainful employment" under Board Policy 3432, which provides that no day will be considered a sick leave day on which an employee has engaged in or prepared for other gainful employment; therefore, the dates at issue must be considered as unexcused absences rather than sick days. Accordingly, the ALJ granted the Board's motion for summary decision, denied petitioner's motion for summary decision, and dismissed the petition.

Upon review, the Commissioner, inter alia, concurred with the ALJ that the Board's action in withholding petitioner's pay for unexcused absences was not in violation of the tenure laws and that petitioner's attendance at Lenape Valley basketball practices constitutes other gainful employment while on sick leave, which is prohibited under Board Policy 3432. However, the Commissioner finds that this matter must be remanded for factual findings regarding the specific dates on which petitioner attended Lenape Valley practices. Accordingly, the matter was remanded to the OAL for further proceedings consistent with the Commissioner's decision.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Corey Gallagher,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Byram, Sussex County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the exceptions filed by petitioner pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and the reply thereto by the Byram Board of Education (Byram or Board), have been reviewed and considered.

Petitioner is a tenured teacher in Byram. He is additionally employed as an assistant basketball coach in the Lenape Valley School District (Lenape Valley). On September 21, 2022, petitioner requested a medical leave of absence from his duties in Byram because he needed to undergo back surgery. Petitioner's leave was approved, and he ultimately returned to work on January 5, 2023. However, it came to Byram's attention that petitioner continued to attend Lenape Valley Basketball practices while he was on leave. On December 5, 2022, Byram's Superintendent informed petitioner that Byram therefore expected him to return to work. On December 6, 2022, petitioner did not return to work, and Byram's Superintendent advised petitioner that he would not be paid for the days that he was employed as a coach by Lenape Valley but failed to report to work in Byram – November 21, 22, 23, 28, 29, and 30, and December 1, 2, 5, and 6, 2022.[1]

Petitioner appealed, alleging that Byram's actions violated his tenure rights because his salary was reduced without just cause and without the benefit of a hearing. Following cross motions for summary decision, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) rejected petitioner's argument, concluding that the tenure laws prohibit arbitrary changes to an employee's pay, not the withholding of wages as a recoupment, and there was no evidence that petitioner's rate of pay had been changed. Despite petitioner's claims that he was only a spectator at the Lenape Valley basketball practices, the ALJ also concluded that petitioner's attendance at Lenape Valley basketball practices constituted "other gainful employment" under Board Policy 3432, which provides that no day will be considered a sick leave day on which an employee has engaged in or prepared for other gainful employment. Accordingly, the ALJ found that the dates at issue must be considered as unexcused absences rather than sick days. The ALJ granted the Board's motion for summary decision, denied petitioner's motion for summary decision, and dismissed the petition.

In his exceptions, petitioner argues that summary decision for the Board was not appropriate because, although the ALJ indicated that petitioner did not dispute that he appeared at Lenape Valley basketball practices on the dates at issue, petitioner does dispute those dates. According to petitioner, the Board provided no support as to the dates of Lenape Valley practices that it believes petitioner attended or what petitioner did at those practices. Petitioner contends that it does not make sense to prohibit him from "using his eyes at a time when he would not have been teaching in any case as it was after school." Finally, petitioner argues that withholding his pay is in contravention of tenure law.

[1] It appears from the record that petitioner stopped attending Lenape Valley practices after receiving the December 6, 2022 notice.

In reply, the Board argues that the dates at issue were listed in exhibits that were jointly agreed to by the parties, and therefore there is no factual dispute. Distinguishing the cases cited by petitioner, the Board contends that docking a teacher's pay for an unexcused absence is consistent with the sick leave laws and does not violate the tenure laws or require the Board to bring tenure charges to effectuate the recoupment. Accordingly, the Board urges the Commissioner to adopt the Initial Decision.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the Board's action in withholding petitioner's pay for unexcused absences was not in violation of the tenure laws. The Commissioner has previously concluded that a board of education is not required to initiate tenure charges to withhold an employee's pay for an unexcused absence. Charles Weisberg v. Bd. of Educ. of the Twp. of Riverside, Burlington Co., Commissioner Decision No. 126-07 (decided March 18, 2004). Petitioner's arguments to the contrary, which were already made as part of his motion for summary decision and rejected by the ALJ, are not persuasive.

The Commissioner concludes that Board Policy 3432, which prohibits the use of sick leave on a day when an employee has engaged in or prepared for other gainful employment, is not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. The Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that petitioner's attendance at Lenape Valley basketball practices constitutes other gainful employment. Petitioner was contracted to perform the duties of an assistant basketball coach for Lenape Valley – duties which surely include attendance at practices. By appearing at those practices, petitioner was fulfilling the obligations of his employment contract, and therefore engaging in other gainful employment.

However, the Commissioner finds that this matter must be remanded for factual findings regarding the dates on which petitioner attended Lenape Valley practices. Throughout the case, petitioner has repeatedly admitted that he attended practices in Lenape Valley while on medical leave from Byram, but nothing in the record specifies which dates are included in that admission.[2] Petitioner's exceptions indicate that he has proof that he did not attend practice on December 5, 2022, because he had an appointment with his therapist on that date.[3] Also included in the record is a February 1, 2023 letter from petitioner to the ALJ that alleges that the district withheld petitioner's salary for two days that he did not attend practice; it is not clear what the second disputed date was. While the Board may withhold petitioner's pay for any days on which he engaged in other gainful employment by attending a Lenape Valley practice, it may not do so for days on which he did not appear at practice.

Accordingly, this matter is remanded for further proceedings consistent with this decision.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

ACTING COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

Date of Decision: October 6, 2023
Date of Mailing: October 11, 2023

[2] The Commissioner finds that petitioner's stipulation to exhibit J-11, which recites the dates at issue, is not tantamount to his agreement that he attended Lenape Valley practices on those dates.

[3] In its reply to petitioner's exceptions, the Board disagrees that the therapist's note proves that petitioner did not attend practice, because the time of the appointment is allegedly different than the time of practice. The Commissioner does not make any factual findings regarding whether petitioner attended practice on December 5, 2022, and leaves that issue for the ALJ to determine on remand.

SUMMARY DECISION
OAL DKT. NO. EDU 00264-23
AGENCY REF. NO.: 373-12/22

COREY GALLAGHER,

Petitioner,

vs.

TOWNSHIP OF BYRAM BOARD OF EDUCATION, SUSSEX COUNTY,

Respondent.

Randi Doner April, Esq., for petitioner (Oxfeld, Cohen, P.C., attorneys)

Paul E. Griggs, Esq., for respondent (Cornell, Merlino, McKeever & Osborne, LLC, attorneys)

Record Closed: June 13, 2023 Decided: July 11, 2023

BEFORE: JOHN P. SCOLLO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

On December 5, 2022 the BOE (i.e., Superintendent of Schools, John Fritzky) advised Petitioner Gallagher (hereinafter "Gallagher") by email that the Byram Board of Education (hereinafter the "BOE") learned that Gallagher was working as an assistant basketball coach for Lenape Valley High School while on medical leave from his teaching position with Byram BOE. Fritzky advised Gallagher to report to work on December 6. When Gallagher did not report to work in Byram on December 6, Fritzky advised Gallagher by email that his pay would be docked for the dates of November 21, 22, 23, 28, 29, 30, December 1, 2, 5, and 6, 2023. Byram BOE withheld ten days of Gallagher's pay.

Petitioner, Corey Gallagher challenges Respondent, Byram BOE's withholding ("docking") of his pay for the subject dates. The BOE contends that Gallagher's failure to report to work on the dates in question were unexcused absences and therefore not compensable. Gallagher contends that, per his physician's notes and the BOE's approval of the medical leave of absence based on the physician's notes, he was excused from work on the dates in question and should therefore be paid sick time benefits for those dates.

Gallagher, noting that he is a tenured employee, contends, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:28-1 et seq. (particularly N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5) and N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10, that his salary was reduced without just cause and without the required benefit of a hearing.

The BOE contends that this is not a salary reduction case and that N.J.S.A. 18A:28-1, et seq. are inapplicable. The BOE also contends that this case is a sick leave (a/k/a "medical leave") case and that the applicable law governing this case is found in the parties' Collective Bargaining Agreement, the BOE's Policy Number 3432 (governing the granting of sick leave), and N.J.S.A. 18A: 30-1, et seq. (governing the requirements for sick leave and the docking of the employee's annual salary for days taken in excess of the limits of sick leave).

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

After Byram BOE withheld Gallagher's pay, Gallagher's counsel filed a Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Education dated December 20, 2022. Upon receipt of the matter by the Department of Education's Office of Controversies and Disputes on January 6, 2023, the matter was transmitted on January 9, 2023 to the Office of Administrative Law, where it was filed on January 10, 2023 as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to 13. On January 18, 2023, the matter was assigned to Administrative Law Judge, John P. Scollo. Judge Scollo held an Initial Telephone Conference with both counsel on January 24, 2023 and issued a Pre-Hearing Order on January 26, 2023, which set forth discovery obligations and set due dates and conference dates.

After discovery was completed, counsel for Petitioner-Gallagher filed a Motion for Summary Decision, which was followed by Respondent-BOE filing its Cross-Motion for Summary Decision. This writing is the Tribunal's Initial Decision on the Motion and Cross-Motion.

UNDISPUTED FACTS

From their submissions, the Parties are in agreement regarding the following statements of fact.

(1) Gallagher has been a staff member (teacher) with the Township of Byram (the District or BOE) since 2002.

(2) Gallagher is a tenured employee.

(3) Gallagher's annual salary in Byram for the 2022-2023 school is $82,912.

(4) Starting in 2013 and continuing to the present time, Gallagher has signed multiple contracts with the Lenape Valley School District to serve as an assistant basketball coach in that school district. For the 2022-2023 school year (July 1, 2022 through June 30, 2023), Gallagher was compensated with a one-time stipend on February 28, 2023 of $5,973 for his service as an assistant basketball coach.

(5) On September 21, 2022, Gallagher requested a medical leave of absence from his teaching job with Byram because he needed to undergo back surgery. He presented a letter from his physician, Jay Chun, M.D. dated September 21, 2022 stating that Gallagher would undergo back surgery on October 12, 2022 and would not be able to return to work for four to eight weeks after the date of the surgery.

(6) On October 26, 2022, The Byram BOE approved Gallagher's medical leave of absence based on Dr. Chun's September 21, 2022 letter.

(7) In a letter dated November 17, 2022, Dr. Chun reported that Gallagher was still under his care and he requested that Gallagher be excused from work until the completion of physical therapy in six weeks.

(8) On December 5, 2022, Byram's Superintendent of Schools John Fritzky (hereinafter "Fritzky") sent an email to Gallagher stating that his absences were permitted based on Dr. Chun's request; he (Fritzky) learned that during the time of Gallagher's leave he continued to be employed as a coach with Lenape Valley School District; and he quoted BOE Policy 3432, which provides, in applicable part, "no day will be considered a sick leave day on which the employee is engaged in or prepared for other gainful employment ... or has engaged in any activity that would raise doubts regarding the validity of the sick leave request." Fritzky's email ended with his statement that he expected Gallagher to be present on December 6, 2022 to carry out his teaching responsibilities. Fritzky also warned Gallagher saying, "If you do not appear for work, you will not be paid for days absent because they are unexcused and not sick days."

(9) On December 6, 2022, Gallagher did not appear for work in Byram. On December 6, 2022, Fritzky sent an email to Gallagher again quoting Board Policy 3432 and advised Gallagher that he would not be paid for the days he was employed as a basketball coach at the Lenape Valley Regional School District but failed to report to work in the Byram School District. He set forth the dates as: November 21, 22, 23, 28, 29, and 30 and December 1, 2, 5, and 6, 2022.

(10) Gallagher does not dispute that he appeared at basketball practices at Lenape Valley on November 21, 22, 23, 28, 29 and 30 and on December 1, 2, 5, and 6, 2022. However, Gallagher maintains that although he appeared at Lenape Valley on the above dates, he was a mere spectator and was not working.

(11) Gallagher returned to his work duties in Byram on January 5, 2023.

DISCUSSION

Gallagher's Position

Gallagher maintains that N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 constitute the applicable law governing this matter. These statutes have been cited in the APPLICABLE LAW section of this Initial Decision. Gallagher argues that he is a tenured employee and thus comes under the protections afforded by these statutes. He argues that no tenure charges have been brought against him and he was not afforded any type of hearing before the Byram BOE unilaterally withheld ten days' of his wages.

Gallagher argues that the Byram BOE, without good cause, and despite the opinions expressed in his physician's letters, arbitrarily concluded that he was not eligible for sick leave. Gallagher argues that although Board Policy 3432 provides that employees who engage in or prepare for other gainful employment are not eligible for sick pay, he remained eligible for sick pay on the subject dates because he was not engaged in or preparing for gainful employment when he merely appeared at Lenape Valley basketball practices as an observer and not as an active participant in coaching activities.

Byram BOE's Position

Byram BOE maintains that this is not a matter about a reduction (diminution) of someone's rate of pay. Therefore N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 are inapplicable. Byram BOE maintains that this is a sick (medical) leave policy matter. Byram BOE maintains that the applicable principles of law governing this case are found in N.J.S.A. 18A:30-1, et seq. This statute is cited in the APPLICABLE LAW section of this Initial Decision. Byram BOE maintains that the BOE's policies, specifically Board Policy 3432 controls this matter. Byram BOE also maintains that the Collective Bargaining Agreement dated June 10, 2022 controls this matter. Both Board Policy 3432 and the applicable sections of the Collective Bargaining Agreement are cited in the APPLICABLE LAW section of this Initial Decision.

Byram BOE relies upon the definition of "sick leave" set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:30-1. There it states that "sick leave" means "the absence from his or her post of duty, of any person because of personal disability due to illness or injury, or because he or she has been excluded from school by the school district's medical authorities on account of a contagious disease ...."

In the matter at bar, there is no doubt that Gallagher underwent a surgical procedure to his back and thereafter underwent a course of physical therapy. There is no doubt that his physician supplied notes to the Byram BOE explaining the need for a period of sick leave for Gallagher to recover from his procedure. By way of background, in addition to his employment as a schoolteacher in the Byram School District, Gallagher is also employed as an Assistant Basketball Coach in the Lenape Valley School District. This is a paid position. The problem presented in this matter arises out of the fact that, while on sick leave from Byram, Gallagher appeared at high school basketball practice sessions (and perhaps games) at Lenape Valley. Byram BOE argues that Gallagher's appearance at Lenape Valley was in furtherance of his employment obligations with Lenape Valley and thus constituted engagement in or preparation for "other gainful employment" while on sick leave, thus, in the BOE's judgment, making him ineligible to collect sick leave pay.

Byram BOE argues that it has never sought to reduce, nor has it reduced Gallagher's rate of pay. Byram argues that by withholding ten days' of Gallagher's pay it was merely recouping money paid to Gallagher as sick pay for time when he was ineligible to collect sick pay (i.e., on the aforesaid subject dates).

APPLICABLE LAW

The statutes under discussion in this matter are N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 (Dismissal and Reduction in Compensation of Persons Under Tenure in the Public School System); N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 (Requirements for Tenure); and N.J.S.A. 18A:30-1,et seq. (Sick Leave).

N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 reads as follows:

No person shall be dismissed or reduced in compensation,

(a) If he shall be under tenure of office, position or employment during good behavior and efficiency in the public school system of the state, or If he is or shall be under tenure of office, position or employment during good behavior and efficiency as a supervisor, teacher or in any other teaching capacity in the Marie H. Katzenbach school for the deaf, or in any other educational institution conducted under the supervision of the commissioner; except for inefficiency, incapacity, unbecoming conduct, or other just cause, and then only after a hearing held pursuant to this subarticle, by the commissioner, or a person appointed by him to act in his behalf, after a written charge or charges, of the cause or causes of complaint, shall have been preferred against such person, signed by the person or persons making the same, who may or may not be a member or members of a board of education, and filed and proceeded upon as in this subarticle provided.

Nothing in this section shall prevent the reduction of the number of any such persons holding such offices, positions or employments under the conditions and with the effect provided by law.

N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5 (in applicable part) reads as follows:

(a) The services of all teaching staff members employed prior to the effective date of P.L. 2012, c.26 (C.18A:6-117 et al.) in the positions of teacher, principal, other than administrative principal, assistant principal, vice-principal assistant superintendent, and all school nurses ... , shall be under tenure during good behavior and efficiency and they shall not be dismissed or reduced in compensation except for inefficiency, incapacity, or conduct unbecoming such a teaching staff member or other just cause and then only in the manner prescribed by subarticle B of article 2 of chapter 6 of this Title. after employment in such district or by such board for ... (specified time periods).

The services of all teaching staff members employed on or after the effective date of P.L. 2012, c.26 (C. 18A:6-117 et al.) in the position of teacher, principal, other than administrative principal, assistant principal, vice-principal, assistant superintendent, and all school nurses ..., shall be under tenure during good behavior and efficiency and they > shall not be dismissed or reduced in compensation except for inefficiency, incapacity, or conduct unbecoming such a teaching staff member or other just cause and then only in the manner prescribed by subarticle B of article 2 of chapter 6 of this Title, after employment in such district or by such board for... (specified time periods). (Section (b) continues with criteria which a teacher must meet in order to gain tenure, including the successful completion of a mentorship program. (Section (c) provides that tenure in an administrative or supervisory position shall accrue only by employment in that administrative or supervisory position.

N.J.S.A. 18A:30-1 through 13 governs all aspects of sick leave policy. For the matter at bar the applicable sections are: 18A:30-1(Definition of Sick Leave); 18A:30-2 (Sick Leave Allowable); 18A:30-3 (Accumulated Sick Leave); 18A:30-4 (Physician's Certificate Required for Sick Leave); and 18A:30-6 (Prolonged Absence Beyond Sick Leave Period). The text of each of the aforementioned sections follow.

>
> Sick leave is hereby defined to mean the absence from his or her post of duty, of any person because of personal disability due to illness or injury, or because he or she has been excluded from school by the school district's medical authorities on account of a contagious disease or being quarantined for such a disease in his or her immediate household.

A day's salary is defined as 1/200 of the annual salary.

Article 13 of the Collective Bargaining Agreement dated June 10, 2022 between the Byram Township Board of Education and the Byram Education Association, tracks the provisions of N.J.S.A. 18A:30-1, et seq. Section 'A' provides that teachers are entitled to ten sick leave days per school year and that unused sick leave time shall be accumulated from year to year with no maximum limit. Section 'C' allows the BOE to require a physician's certificate in order to obtain credit for sick leave. Under Section 'D', the BOE may, in its sole discretion, grant extended paid leave of absence to a teacher who has exhausted his or her accumulated sick leave due to a lengthy illness, in accordance with N.J.A.C. 18A:30-6.

The Byram BOE's Sick Leave Policy is set forth in District Policy number 3432. In applicable part, District Policy 3432 provides as follows:

> The Board of Education shall grant sick leave, in accordance with law, to teaching staff members absent from work because of personal disability or quarantine. Each steadily employed employee eligible for sick leave will be entitled annually to the number of paid sick leave days negotiated with the employee's majority representative or provided in this policy or in an individual contract with the Board.

> The Board reserves the right to require of any employee who claims sick leave, sufficient proof, including a physician's certification, of the employee's illness or disability. As a minimum, no day will be considered to be a sick leave day on which the employee has engaged in or prepared for other gainful employment, has participated in a work stoppage, or has engaged in any activity that would raise doubts regarding the validity of the sick leave request.

ISSUES

(1) Did Byram BOE reduce Gallagher's salary?

(2) Was Gallagher working when he attended Lenape Valley basketball practices or games?

(3) Was there sufficient justification for Byram to withhold ten days' pay from Gallagher?

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

Analysis of Issue Number One

It has been stipulated that Gallagher's rate of pay in Byram Township for the school year 2022-2023 was $82,912. Gallagher's argument is that Byram's withholding of his pay is not a recoupment of wages improvidently paid as sick leave, but is a reduction of his salary without just cause and without a hearing. The statutes upon which Gallagher bases his reduction claim, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-10 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-5, prohibit arbitrary changes to an employee's rate of pay without just cause and without a hearing. They do not contemplate whether an employer's withholding of wages in order to recoup wages improvidently or mistakenly paid to an employee as sick leave is a reduction of that employee's rate of pay. There is no evidence in this matter that demonstrates that Gallagher's rate of pay has been changed. There is abundant evidence that what occurred in this matter was that Byram BOE paid sick leave benefits to Gallagher, but later came to learn that Gallagher was not eligible to receive sick leave pay for the subject dates. There has been no disagreement about the amounts paid / received. The only dispute is whether this is a matter of recoupment or of reduction of Gallagher's rate of pay. Moreover, there is no dispute that if Gallagher or any other employee were absent without being excused, the Byram BOE would not be obliged to pay for unexcused absences. I CONCLUDE that there has been no evidence adduced in this matter, which proves that the Byram BOE reduced Gallagher's rate of pay.

Analysis of Issue Number Two

Policy 3432 says "...no day will be considered to be a sick leave day on which an employee has engaged in or prepared for other gainful employment" If Gallagher, while at Lenape Valley stepped onto the basketball court, picked up a note pad, drew diagrams, picked up a clip board, made notes, spoke with a player or other coaches about the subject of basketball, or simply picked up a basketball, a towel, or other equipment, then it would be clear that he "engaged in" coaching, which is a "gainful employment". Board Policy 3432 also says "... no day will be considered a sick leave day on which the employee 'prepared for' other gainful employment." Gallagher claims that he did not engage in basketball coaching activities on the days that he appeared at Lenape Valley. He claims that he was only a spectator at the team's practice. If he were not under contract with Lenape Valley and were to observe the team during its practice session, he would be like any other spectator. He could not be construed to be 'preparing for' other gainful employment. However, Gallagher was under contract with Lenape Valley as an assistant basketball coach on the subject dates when he appeared at Lenape Valley to watch his team. It is beyond dispute that he would remember his observations of his team when he returned to work. Those observations could, and likely would, serve as insights into the performance of individual players and into the performance of the team as a whole unit. The observations that Gallagher made of his team during practice sessions on the subject dates could, and likely would, aid him when he returned to active coaching. It follows that these observations can and should be deemed to be "preparations for" his job at Lenape Valley, which, of course, is "other gainful employment". Therefore, I CONCLUDE that Gallagher's attendance at Lenape Valley basketball practices constitutes "other gainful employment" under Board Policy 3432.

Analysis of Issue Number Three

Under Board Policy 3432, days on which the employee either engages in or prepares for other gainful employment cannot be considered as sick leave days. If an employee fails to report to work without being excused from his work duties by his employer, he has no right to demand payment and the employer has the right to withhold wages for any unexcused absences. Having concluded that Gallagher was engaged in or preparing for "other gainful employment" while attending Lenape Valley basketball practice, I CONCLUDE that Byram BOE was correct when it decided that the subject dates should not be considered as sick leave days.

Since Gallagher was absent and did not perform his work duties for Byram BOE on the subject days, I CONCLUDE that the subject dates must be considered as unexcused absences.

Since Byram BOE had already paid sick leave pay to Gallagher for the subject dates, and since it was later realized that Gallagher was neither entitled to receive sick leave pay nor any pay for unexcused absences, I CONCLUDE that Byram BOE was justified in withholding ten days of Gallagher's wages in order to recoup the monies which Gallagher had already received from Byram BOE.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that the Byram BOE's motion for SUMMARY DECISION is GRANTED, and it is further ORDERED that Gallagher's motion for SUMMARY DECISION is DENIED and his Petition is DISMISSED in its entirety.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." J.R., on behalf of P.R., petitioner, pro se

Alicia D'Anella, Esq., and William Morlok, Esq., for respondent (Parker McCay, P.A., attorneys)

BEFORE TRICIA M. CALIGUIRE, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner J.R. on behalf of minor child P.R., challenges two decisions of respondent Board of Education of the Township of Westampton, Burlington County (Board), that harassment, intimidation and bullying (HIB) of P.R. did not occur. In the current proceeding, petitioner seeks an order for emergent relief in the form of an immediate transfer of P.R. to the Northern Burlington School District at the Board's expense.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On August 26, 2023, petitioner filed a pro se petition of appeal with the Office of Controversies and Disputes of the New Jersey Department of Education (Department). On September 11, 2023, petitioner filed a motion for emergent relief with the Department. The Commissioner did not act upon the motion and pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(c)(3), on September 12, 2023, the emergent matter and the petition of appeal were transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL). The emergent relief request was scheduled for oral argument, which was held on September 18, 2023. The motion for emergent relief is now ripe for consideration.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

Most of the pertinent facts in this case are not in dispute. Accordingly, I FIND as FACTS:

P.R. is an eleven-year-old girl in the sixth grade at Westampton Middle School (WMS), the only middle school in the Westampton School District (District).

During the 2019-2020 school year, while in second grade in the District, P.R. was physically assaulted on the playground during school hours by a same-age male classmate. J.R. is of the understanding that other students were similarly assaulted, and the male classmate was enrolled in another, out-of-district school. Three years later, at the beginning of the 2022-2023 school year, the male classmate returned to the District, at Westampton Intermediate School (WIS), without notice to J.R.[1] P.R. was also enrolled at WIS in the 2022-2023 school year.

While J.R. documents conversations she initiated with WIS staff and administration, then-Superintendent Anthony Petruzzelli, and Superintendent James DiDonato after he assumed office in October 2022, to express her concerns regarding her daughter's safety and regarding P.R.'s anxiety and/or fear of the male classmate, there is no evidence of any direct interactions between P.R. and the male classmate prior to December 19, 2022.

[1]Here, District Superintendent James DiDonato certified that J.R. received notice before the commencement of the 2022-2023 school year. Certification of James DiDonato (September 15, 2023), ¶ 8. At the hearing, petitioner testified that she received no such notice. Further, in her petition, J.R. stated that DiDonato was not the superintendent in August-September 2022.

Respondent takes the position that neither P.R. nor the male classmate had any recollection of the 2019 playground incident. While P.R.'s documented action in the fall of 2022 confirms that she had a strong recollection of the incident and was frightened as a result, the male classmate's first documented statement, on December 19, 2022, is evidence that his recollection was, at the least, refreshed by information provided to him by third persons: "Oh so you're P., you're the one saying I hurt you, now I know who you are, now I see you."

Based on information provided by P.R., J.R. documented additional statements allegedly made to P.R. by the male classmate that P.R. perceived as threatening on April 17, April 18, April 24, and April 25, 2023. J.R. brought an HIB claim against the male classmate, which was denied by notice dated May 5, 2023, on the grounds that the male classmate's actions and/or statements in these the incidents were not motivated by a distinguishing characteristic of P.R.

Most of the above incidents took place in the WIS lunchroom. WIS administrators worked with P.R. to develop an "exit plan," whereby P.R. would be seated at lunch close to the door. WIS staff were notified of the exit plan. On June 2, 2023, the male classmate approached P.R. in the lunchroom; when she began to cry, a lunch aide implemented the exit plan and took P.R. to her homeroom classroom. The male classmate followed, screaming "she's gonna get it." P.R.'s teacher, Mrs. Kish, locked the door. P.R. was taken from this room to the main office until the male classmate was removed from the school. J.R. filed a police report and a second HIB claim. The second HIB was denied on the grounds that the male classmate's actions and/or statements in the incident were not motivated by a distinguishing characteristic of P.R.[2]

[2] DiDonato stated that the male classmate was disciplined for this incident consistent with the Student Code of Conduct and that his actions are a manifestation of his disability. DiDonato Cert., ¶ ¶ 17, 18.

Superintendent DiDonato stated that the June 2, 2023, incident "while upsetting for everyone involved and undoubtedly scary for P.R., was the culmination of [the male classmate] being the topic of gossip of 5th graders all year." DiDonato Cert, ¶ 18.

On August 14, 2023, the Board upheld the District decision that both HIB claims were unfounded.

P.R. began the 2023-2024 school year at WMS wearing a personal safety alarm. On the first day, the male classmate made comments to her in the hall that she perceived as threatening. Between September 6 and 14, 2023, the male classmate made comments to P.R. that she perceived as threatening on four separate occasions. P.R. has not returned to school since September 14, 2023.

DiDonato stated that in school in September 2023, P.R. has been overheard "whispering" to another classmate insults regarding the male classmate and that the male classmate is aware of such behavior by P.R. DiDonato Cert., ¶ 19. Further, he states P.R.'s allegations regarding two of the four incidents in September 2023 cannot be corroborated by staff. Id. at ¶ 21.

On September 15, 2023, P.R.'s pediatrician, Dr. Melissa D. Labrou, diagnosed her with anxiety due to traumatic events at school and prescribed home instruction pending a Section 504[3] classification meeting and placement at an out-of-district public school.

LEGAL ANALYSIS

When the subject matter of a controversy is action by a board of education, the petitioner may file "a separate motion for emergent relief . . . pending the Commissioner's final decision in the contested case." N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(a). Here, J.R. has initiated due process proceedings to challenge the denial of HIB claims and has requested emergent relief pending a decision on the HIB appeal. As respondent has noted, even if J.R.'s challenge to the HIB rulings were overturned here, and affirmed by the Department, the relief she requests—both on an emergent and permanent basis—may not be available under the HIB statute, as discussed further below.

Complicating this analysis, and potentially making it moot, is that P.R.'s personal physician has diagnosed her with anxiety as a result of the incidents of the past year and Board counsel stated that the District will move forward, pursuant to its obligations under N.J.A.C. 6A:16-10.1:

> (a) The district board of education shall provide instructional services to an enrolled student, whether a general education student in kindergarten through grade 12 or special education student age three to 21, when the student is confined to the home or another out-of-school setting due to a temporary or chronic health condition or a need for treatment that precludes participation in their usual education setting, whether general education or special education.
>
> 1. To request home instruction due to a temporary or chronic health condition, the parent shall submit to the school district a request that includes a written determination from the student's physician documenting the projected need for confinement at the student's residence or other treatment setting for more than 10 consecutive school days or 20 cumulative school days during the school year.
>
>   i. The school district shall forward the written determination to the school physician, who shall verify the need for home instruction. The school physician may contact the student's physician to secure additional information concerning the student's diagnosis or need for treatment, and shall either verify the need for home instruction or shall provide to the district board of education reasons for denial.
> 2. The school district shall notify the parent concerning the school physician's verification or reasons for denial within five school days after receipt of the written determination by the student's physician.

3. The school district shall provide instructional services within five school days after receipt of the school physician's verification or, if verification is made prior to the student's confinement, during the first week of the student's confinement to the home or out-of-school setting.

Notwithstanding the above, the motion for emergent relief was transmitted by the Department for immediate hearing at the OAL and J.R. chose not to withdraw her request for emergent relief pending a decision on P.R.'s eligibility for a 504 plan. The standards for granting emergent relief are set forth in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982), and are codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b). The petitioner bears the burden of proving:

1. Petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted;

2. The legal right underlying the petitioner's claim is settled;

3. Petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and

4. When the equities and the interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

[N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b).]

Irreparable Harm

To obtain emergent relief, J.R. must demonstrate more than a risk of irreparable harm should P.R. remain at WMS. She must make a "clear showing of immediate irreparable injury," or a "presently existing actual threat; (an injunction) may not be used simply to eliminate a possibility of a remote future injury, or a future invasion of rights, be those rights protected by statute or by common law." Cont'l. Group, Inc. v. Amoco Chems. Corp., 614 F. 2d 351, 359 (D.N.J. 1980). In an educational setting, "irreparable harm may be shown when there is a substantial risk of physical injury to the child or others, or when there is a significant interruption or termination of educational services." Ocean Twp. Bd.

of Educ. v. J.E. and T.B. obo J.E., OAL Dkt. No. EDS 00592-04, 2004 NJ AGEN LEXIS 115, at *8 (February 23, 2004) (irreparable harm found where an eight-year-old's "physical aggressiveness and disruptive behaviors [posed] a safety concern to himself and others, and the district's behavior modification techniques [were] no longer effective"); Sparta Twp. Bd. of Educ. v. R.M. and V.M. obo C.M., OAL Dkt. No. 01975-20, 2020 NJ AGEN LEXIS, at *14 (February 21, 2020) (inappropriate interactions with other students and breaking a desk deemed "sufficient evidence of the risk of harm to [student], school staff, teachers and students that if [student] remained in school at this time, other incidents could occur involving the health, safety and welfare of any of these individuals").

While everyone agrees that P.R. has not been physically harmed (since 2019), even the Board concedes that emotional injury can be irreparable harm. There may be disagreement over the genesis of the conduct that P.R. perceives as threatening, but it is of little consequence whether the male classmate remembered P.R. on his own or was convinced by third-party gossip that she was worthy of his attention.[4] During the 2022-2023 school year and at the beginning of the current school year, P.R. has been subject to frightening and unpredictable threats from another student. There is no need to speculate whether harm will result; P.R.'s doctor has diagnosed her with anxiety as a result of trauma experienced in school. She has lost educational time and, until home instruction is implemented (and that is not a given as the process required by the regulation quoted above has just begun), will continue to go without instruction.

I CONCLUDE that J.R. has met the burden of establishing that irreparable harm has resulted and may be aggravated if P.R.'s current placement is not changed.

[4] The Board argues that "self-created harms cannot be considered irreparable harms" sufficient for emergent relief. Br. of Respondent Opposing Emergent Relief (September 15, 2023), at 3 (citations omitted). It is not clear if the Board is accusing P.R. of making this up or accusing her mother of encouraging her daughter's anxiety.

The Legal Right is Settled and Likelihood of Prevailing on the Merits

The second consideration is whether the legal right underlying J.R.'s claim is settled, N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b)(2), and then third, J.R. must make a preliminary showing of a reasonable probability of success on the merits. Crowe, 90 N.J. at 133.

In her petition for due process, J.R. appeals the finding of the Board that on two occasions, the male classmate did not commit an HIB as defined in the New Jersey Anti-Bullying Law, as follows in pertinent part:

> "Harassment, intimidation or bullying" means any gesture, any written, verbal or physical act . . . whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, . . . or by any other distinguishing characteristic, that takes place on school property . . . that substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:
>
> a. a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging the student's property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;
>
>
> c. creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.
> [N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14.]

The District denied both J.R.'s HIB claims on the grounds that the male classmate was not motivated by any distinguishing characteristic of P.R.[5] J.R. argues, and I agree, that the male classmate, by his own words, has been motivated by his perception that P.R. is the reason he was removed from the District. Though the Board argues that the memories of second graders cannot last three years, that argument cannot survive the undisputed facts. It may well be that the male classmate would never have focused on P.R. had he not been reminded of who she is (and that is only speculation), but he was so reminded and has made known his understanding of P.R.'s role in his educational experience.

Where J.R.'s emergent claim fails is that she has not shown a likelihood of obtaining the relief she seeks, an out-of-district placement for P.R. The HIB statute requires the District to adopt a policy that includes "consequences and appropriate remedial action for a person who commits an act of [HIB.]" N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(4). Further,

> [T]he range of ways in which a school will respond once an incident of harassment, intimidation or bullying is identified, which shall be defined by the principal in conjunction with the school anti-bullying specialist, but shall include an appropriate combination of services that are available within the district such as counseling, support services, intervention services, and other programs, as defined by the commissioner. In the event that the necessary programs and services are not available within the district, the district may apply to the Department of Education for a grant from the "Bullying Prevention Fund" established pursuant to section 25 of P.L.2010, c.122 (C.18A:37-28) to support the provision of out-of-district programs and services[.]
> [N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(7).]

To date, our research has not revealed circumstances in which the Commissioner

[5] While discussion of the male classmate was limited, the Board appeared to argue that he could not be guilty of an HIB violation because his actions were a manifestation of his disability. That argument, however, was not briefed.

has defined "support services, intervention services and other programs" to include out-of-district placement for the victims of HIB. The discretion to so interpret the statutory guidelines is within the authority of the Commissioner, not the OAL.

For the above reasons, I CONCLUDE that J.R. meets the third prong, but not the second prong, of the emergent relief standard.

Balance of Equities and Interests

The final prong of the above test is whether the equities and interests of the parties weigh in favor of granting the requested relief. The Board argues that the balance is between the potential anxiety that P.R. may suffer and the cost to the Board of an out-of-district placement (estimated by counsel at the hearing to range between $15,000 and $20,000/year).[6]

The Board comes just short of arguing that P.R. has succumbed to fears based in discrimination against the disabled. Br. of Resp't. at 7-8. In doing so, the Board ignores that it failed to act in a proactive manner, to ensure that the re-introduction of a student who was removed for physically aggressive behavior against his peers be accomplished without raising concerns of parents or of those peers. J.R.'s petition recounts numerous failed opportunities of the District to address potential concerns, starting with advance notice to J.R. and informing all staff of the need to take precautions with both students.

On balance, I CONCLUDE that the greater harm is the potential emotional injury that P.R. may experience, and which has now been diagnosed.

I CONCLUDE the petitioner's request for emergent relief does not satisfy the applicable requirements.

[6] In its brief, the Board assumes that J.R. is asking for the male classmate to be removed from the District, but that is not the relief requested. See Br. of Resp't., at 6. J.R. asks to have P.R. transferred to another school, outside the District.

ORDER

For the reasons stated above, I hereby ORDER that the application for emergent relief of petitioner J.R. on behalf of P.R. is hereby DENIED.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION who/which by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five days following the entry of this order. If COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Following receipt of the Commissioner's decision, or after the forty-five-day period has expired, further proceedings in this matter will be scheduled, if necessary.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Alvin Herron,

Petitioner,

v.

New Jersey Department of Education, State Board of Examiners,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Pro-se petitioner appealed the determination of the respondent New Jersey State Board of Examiners (SBE) that he had not met the requirements for issuance of a standard administrative certificate with a supervisor endorsement pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-12.6(a)(3). Petitioner holds a standard certificate with a military science endorsement issued pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-11.8. On March 4, 2022, the Board denied petitioner's application for a standard supervisor certificate. Petitioner filed this appeal on June 28, 2022, after which the SBE filed a motion for summary decision in lieu of an answer.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue in this matter, and the case is ripe for summary decision; the SBE rejected petitioner's application for a standard supervisor certificate after denying his request to substitute his military science endorsement and teaching experience completed under that endorsement for his licensure deficiencies under N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-12.6(a)(3); in so doing, the SBE cited N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-11.8(c), which states that holders of a military science endorsement may not to use it as the basis for obtaining additional endorsements. The ALJ concluded that the petitioner failed to establish, by a preponderance of evidence, that he currently satisfies the requirements for issuance of a standard administrative certificate with a supervisor endorsement, set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-12.6(a)(3). Accordingly, the ALJ granted summary decision to the respondent and dismissed petitioner's appeal.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that petitioner failed to establish that he currently satisfies the requirements for issuance of the standard administrative certificate with a supervisor endorsement. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL was adopted as the final decision in this matter and the petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Alvin Herron,

Petitioner,

v.

New Jersey Department of Education, State Board of Examiners,

Respondent.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon review, the Commissioner adopts the Initial Decision as the Final Decision in this matter. The Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) that petitioner has failed to establish, by a preponderance of evidence, that he currently satisfies the requirements for issuance of a standard administrative certificate with a supervisor endorsement, set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-12.6(a)(3).

Petitioner holds a standard certificate with a military science endorsement issued pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-11.8. In connection with his application for a standard administrative certificate with a supervisor endorsement, he sought to rely upon teaching experience completed under his military science endorsement. However, N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-11.8(c) states that holders of the military science endorsement "shall not use it as the basis for obtaining additional endorsements" and must instead "obtain additional endorsements by meeting applicable requirements outlined in [Chapter 9B]." Citing N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-11.8(c), respondent denied petitioner's application for issuance of a standard administrative certificate with a supervisor endorsement. In the Matter of the Application of Alvin Herron, State Board of Examiners Decision, at 1 (March 4, 2022).

The Commissioner has previously held that respondent is not at liberty to waive applicable regulatory requirements when deciding whether to issue certificates and endorsements. Hutchinson v. New Jersey State Board of Examiners, OAL Dkt. No EDU 16373-12, Initial Decision (April 5, 2013), adopted, Commissioner Decision No. 177-13 (May 15, 2013). Because petitioner has not satisfied the regulatory requirements for issuance of a standard administrative certificate with a supervisor endorsement, set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-12.6(a)(3), the Commissioner holds that respondent's denial of petitioner's application was reasonable and appropriate.

Accordingly, respondent's motion for summary decision is granted, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.[1]

NEW JERSEY DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, BOARD OF EXAMINERS,

Alvin R. Herron, petitioner, pro se

David L. Kalisky, Deputy Attorney General, for respondent (Matthew J. Platkin, Attorney General of New Jersey, attorney)

Record Closed: December 28, 2022 Decided: September 8, 2023

BEFORE JEFFREY N. RABIN, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, Alvin Herron, appealed the denial of his application for a Standard Supervisor Certificate ("SSC"), by respondent, the New Jersey Department of Education, Board of Examiners (respondent or Board). Respondent's Answer to petitioner's appeal contained a motion to dismiss, which is treated herein as a motion for summary decision.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On March 4, 2022, the Board issued its decision denying petitioner's application for an SSC. Petitioner filed an appeal on June 28, 2022, which was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) and filed on July 20, 2022, as a contested case. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to N.J.S.A. 52:14F-13.

In lieu of an Answer, respondent filed the within motion for summary decision with accompanying brief, on or about July 18, 2022. Petitioner filed a brief on December 13, 2022, and respondent submitted a reply brief on December 28, 2022.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS OF FACT

Based upon the parties' moving papers and briefs, and for the purpose of deciding this motion for summary decision, I FIND the following:

1. Petitioner teaches in New Jersey under an instructional certificate with a military science endorsement, and does not hold a standard New Jersey instructional or educational services certificate, or its out-of-state equivalent. His teaching experiences at the Department of Corrections and the Juvenile Justice Commission were completed under petitioner's military science endorsement. He sought an SSC in order to become a supervisor of Correctional Educational Services.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION OF LAW

The issue is whether the Board is entitled to a summary decision in the within matter, or whether a full hearing should be held.

Summary decision may be granted when the papers and discovery that have been filed show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). No evidentiary hearing needs to be held if there are no disputed issues of material fact. Frank v. Ivy Club, 120 N.J. 73, 98, cert. denied, 498 U.S. 1073 (1991). "When the evidence is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law, the [tribunal] should not hesitate to grant summary [decision]." Della Vella v. Bureau of Homeowner Protection, OAL Dkt. No. CAF 17020-13, 2014 WL 1383908 (N.J. Adm. 2014) (quoting Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520, 529 (1995)).

Further, the non-moving party has the burden "to make an affirmative demonstration . . . that the facts are not as the movant alleges." Spiotta v. William H. Wilson, Inc., 72 N.J. Super. 572, 581 (App.Div. 1962). This requirement, however, does not relieve the moving party from having to initially establish in its moving papers that there was no genuine issue of fact and that they were entitled to prevail as a matter of law. It is the "movant's burden to exclude any reasonable doubt as to the existence of any genuine issue of fact." Conti v. Board of Education, 286 N.J. Super. 106 (App. Div. 1995) (quoting Judson v. Peoples Bank and Trust Co. of Westfield, 17 N.J. 67, 74 (1954)).

For an adverse party to a motion for summary decision to prevail they must, by responding affidavit, set forth specific facts showing that there was a genuine issue which could only be addressed in an evidentiary proceeding. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b).

On March 4, 2022, the Board denied petitioner's application for an SSC, by denying petitioner's request to substitute his licensure deficiencies under N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-12.6(a)(3), with his military science endorsement and teaching experience that was completed under that endorsement, based on N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-11.8(c), which stated that holders of a military science endorsement were not to use it as the basis for obtaining additional endorsements.

In support of his appeal, petitioner requested that the Board accept his standard instructional certificate with a military science endorsement, as well as his teaching experiences at the Department of Corrections and the Juvenile Justice Commission, which were completed under his military science endorsement, as experience equivalent to the requirements in N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-12.6(a)(3). In denying petitioner's application for an SSC, respondent advised petitioner that candidates for the SSC needed to "hold a standard New Jersey instructional or educational services certificate, or its out-of-state equivalent." N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-12.6(a)(3), and that petitioner did not meet that requirement. Additionally, respondent found that petitioner also failed to meet the requirement under N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-12.6(a)(3) that candidates "complete three years of successful, full-time teaching and/or educational services experience," because petitioner's teaching experience was not completed under an appropriate New Jersey certificate.

In his brief responding to respondent's motion, petitioner failed to argue that there were genuine issues of fact in dispute that required a full due process hearing, and failed to argue that respondent was not entitled to a summary decision in this matter. Petitioner provided no affidavit setting forth specific facts showing that there was a genuine issue which could only be addressed in an evidentiary proceeding, as required by N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b).

There appears to be no factual questions in this case. Petitioner disagreed with respondent's interpretation of the law, which would make this case ripe for a summary decision motion.

In respondent's motion and briefs, they correctly argued that it was reasonable for the Board to deny petitioner's application for an SSC because he failed to meet those aforementioned regulatory requirements under N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-12.6(a)(3). It is true, however, that an applicant who is deficient in the certification requirements may provide the Board with evidence of "alternative education and/or experience that the applicant believes is equivalent to the areas of deficiency." N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.12(b). Respondent submitted that while the Board did not waive requirements for certification, under N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.12(b) the Board is given the discretionary authority to accept alternate education and/or experience if it is equivalent to the requirement.

Yet respondent is also correct in asserting that the burden would be on the applicant to present, by a preponderance of the evidence, such information necessary to establish the "one-to-one correspondence" of alternate education or experience to the regulatory requirements that were deemed deficient. See Hutchinson v. N.J. Dept. of Educ., State Bd. Of Exam'rs, EDU 16373-12, Initial Decision (Apr. 5, 2013), adopted, (May 15, 2013); McQuilken v. N.J. St. Bd. of Exam'rs, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 8375-11, Initial Decision (Dec. 13, 2011), http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal, adopted Comm'r (January 27, 2012) (citing Farrar v. St. Bd. of Exam'rs, OAL Dkt. No. EDU 13768-08, Initial Decision (Sept. 9, 2009), adopted, Comm'r (July 26, 2010), http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/).

Petitioner failed to meet his burden of proving that he had sufficient alternate education or experience to substitute for the necessary certification. Petitioner asked the respondent to consider his military science endorsement and his professional teaching experience, namely his teaching experiences at the Department of Corrections and the Juvenile Justice Commission, as substitutes for the requirements of N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-12.6(a)(3). But the Board found that petitioner's teaching experiences at the Department of Corrections and the Juvenile Justice Commission were completed under his military science endorsement and concluded that N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-11.8(c) prohibited holders of the military science endorsement from "us[ing] it as the basis for obtaining additional endorsements." As a result, the Board held that it was "constrained from accepting [petitioner's] military science endorsement in order to meet the requirements for certification as a supervisor" set out in N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-12.6(a)(3).

N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-12.6(a)(3) requires that all applicants for the SSC must "[h]old a standard New Jersey instructional or educational services certificate, or its out-of-State equivalent, and complete three years of successful, full-time teaching and/or educational services experience." N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-12.6(a)(3) also requires that any applicant who has completed three years of full-time teaching experience in New Jersey must also be able to demonstrate that their experience was completed "under an appropriate New Jersey certificate." Petitioner failed to prove that he met the "appropriate New Jersey certificate" requirement; his teaching experience took place pursuant to a military science endorsement, and N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-11.8(c) prohibited holders of the military science endorsement from using that endorsement as the basis for obtaining further endorsements. The Board argued that it had no discretion or authority to waive the requirements of N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-12.6(a)(3), and petitioner failed to argue or prove that respondent had such authority.

Petitioner offered no additional information or facts in dispute which might be considered by respondent, and failed to argue that there were any genuine issues in dispute for which a full due process hearing was warranted. Petitioner, as the non-moving party, had the burden to make an affirmative demonstration that the facts were not as the movant alleges, per Spiotta, 72 N.J. Super. at 581, but petitioner failed to do so.

I CONCLUDE that petitioner did not comply with the requirements of N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-12.6(a)(3) that all applicants for the SSC must hold a standard New Jersey instructional or educational services certificate, or its out-of-State equivalent, and complete three years of successful, full-time teaching and/or educational services experience under an appropriate New Jersey certificate.

Rather than argue the merits of respondent's motion for summary decision, petitioner's argument was that respondent's reliance on N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-II.8(c) violated the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act, 38 U.S.C. § 4301 et seq. ("USERRA"). 38 U.S.C. § 43II(a) states:

> [a] person who is a member of, applies to be a member of, performs, has performed, applies to perform, or has an obligation to perform service in a uniformed service shall not be denied initial employment, reemployment, retention in employment, promotion, or any benefit of employment by an employer on the basis of that membership, application for membership, performance of service, application for service, or obligation.

However, petitioner was not denied a promotion because he was in the military. He was denied a certificate which would have allowed a promotion because he chose to teach pursuant to a military endorsement. Petitioner's military background in no way precluded him from complying with the standards set forth for obtaining an SSC. Petitioner could have taken steps to obtain a standard New Jersey instructional or educational services certificate, or its out-of-state equivalent, but instead hoped to use his military endorsement as the means for circumventing the regulatory requirements for procuring an SSC.

I FIND that respondent did not deny petitioner's application for an SSC due to his military service, and further FIND that petitioner failed to prove that USERRA was violated in the within matter. In that USERRA had not been violated by respondent, petitioner's argument that USERRA superseded New Jersey law was moot.

Similarly, because respondent did not deny petitioner's application for an SSC due to his military service, petitioner's arguments that respondent violated the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination (LAD) and N.J.S.A. 10:5-12(a) were moot. Regardless, whether a New Jersey regulation or statute is violative of another New Jersey regulation or statute, or violative of a Federal regulation or statute, is not a matter properly before this court; a challenge to New Jersey law must be filed in the Appellate Division.

Accordingly, I FIND that there are no genuine issues of fact which would require a full due process evidentiary hearing and CONCLUDE that this matter is ripe for a summary decision. I CONCLUDE that the respondent's motion for summary decision is GRANTED.

ORDER

I hereby ORDER that the respondent's motion for summary decision is GRANTED and the within appeal is DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

N.M., on behalf of minor child, E.M.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Voorhees, Camden County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Pro se petitioner appealed the finding of the respondent Board that her son – a student at Voorhees Middle School – was not the victim of harassment, intimidation, and bullying (HIB) pursuant to the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq. Petitioner alleged that E.M. was the victim of HIB when a student acted aggressively toward him during a kickball practice. Specifically, when E.M. told the second student, T.B., that he was in the wrong kickball line, T.B. pushed E.M. in the face and called him a "racist." Petitioner subsequently notified the school about the incident, which triggered an HIB investigation. Petitioner alleged that three days after the kickball confrontation T.B. made a comment about E.M.'s size, calling him "small" for not playing tackle football, which N.M. claimed is a distinguishing characteristic under the HIB statute. The HIB investigation concluded that the incident was not motivated by a distinguishing characteristic and therefore did not constitute HIB. The school took remedial action against T.B. by separating him from E.M. and treating T.B.'s behavior as a code of conduct violation. The Board filed a motion for summary decision, which was opposed by petitioner.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue in this case, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; petitioner did not proffer any evidence about E.M.'s size relative to the other student involved, or any of his peers; petitioner failed to prove that T.B.'s conduct in the kickball line was motivated by E.M.'s size or any other distinguishing characteristic; therefore, the conduct did not satisfy the statutory definition of HIB. The ALJ concluded that the Board's decision was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. Accordingly, the ALJ granted the Board's motion for summary decision and dismissed the petition

Upon a comprehensive review, the Commissioner, inter alia, concurred with the ALJ that the Board did not act in an arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable manner in rendering its HIB determination as the alleged action was not motivated by a distinguishing characteristic of E.M. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL was adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

N.M., on behalf of minor child, E.M.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Voorhees, Camden County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

Petitioner challenges respondent Board's determination that an incident during which another student acted aggressively toward E.M. did not constitute harassment, intimidation, or bullying (HIB). When the other student joined E.M.'s class's kickball line, E.M. asked him why he was in line where he did not belong. Initial Decision, at 2. In response, the other student "pushed" E.M. in the face and called him a "racist." Ibid. At the conclusion of the investigation, during which both students were interviewed, the anti-bullying coordinator determined that the incident did not qualify as HIB because the other student's conduct was not motivated by a distinguishing characteristic. The Board agreed.

After this matter was transmitted to the OAL, the Board filed a motion for summary decision. Petitioner opposed the motion but failed to submit a responding affidavit as is required by N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). She asserted that, based upon comments the other student allegedly made to E.M. several days after the incident occurred, the other student's conduct toward E.M. in the kickball line was motivated by a distinguishing characteristic—E.M.'s small size—and therefore qualified as HIB.

Ultimately, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) determined that the material facts were not in dispute and granted the Board's motion for summary decision. The ALJ concluded that petitioner did not proffer any evidence about E.M.'s size relative to the other student involved, or any of his peers. Consequently, the ALJ held that petitioner failed to prove that the other student's conduct in the kickball line was motivated by E.M.'s size or any other distinguishing characteristic and that, therefore, the conduct did not satisfy the statutory definition of HIB. Thus, the ALJ concluded that the Board's decision was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

Upon review, the Commissioner adopts the ALJ's Initial Decision as the Final Decision in this matter. Board action conducted within the ambit of its broad discretionary authority "may not be upset unless patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Kopera v. W. Orange Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960). The Commissioner may not substitute their judgment for that of the Board. Schinck v. Bd. of Educ. of Westwood Consol. Sch. Dist., 60 N.J. Super. 448, 476 (App. Div. 1960).

As discussed in the ALJ's Initial Decision, the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (the Act), at N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14, defines HIB as:

> disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic, that takes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds as provided for in section 16 of P.L. 2010, c.122 (C.18A:37-15.3), that substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:
> a. a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging the student's property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;
>
> c. creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.

In summary, a finding of HIB requires three elements under the Act. First, the conduct must be reasonably perceived as being motivated by any actual or perceived characteristic expressly identified in the statute, or by any other distinguishing characteristic.[1] Second, the conduct must substantially disrupt or interfere with the rights of other students or the orderly operation of the school. Third, one of the three conditions set forth in subsections (a), (b), and (c) must be satisfied. Wehbeh v. Bd. of Educ. of the Twp. of Verona, Essex Cnty., Commissioner Decision No. 510-20 (Feb. 4, 2020).

The Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the record is devoid of any evidence to satisfy the first statutory element, i.e., that the other student's conduct toward E.M. could be reasonably perceived as being motivated by any distinguishing characteristic, specifically E.M.'s size. Furthermore, the evidence fails to establish that the comments allegedly made to E.M. by the other student three days later regarding his small size were in any way related to the incident in the kickball line. Moreover, the anti-bullying coordinator made findings during the investigation that E.M. "does not stand out as big or small" or "weak or isolated" among his peers. Initial Decision, at 3. Petitioner has failed to refute these findings. While certainly inappropriate, the other student's conduct toward E.M. in the kickball line does not constitute HIB under the Act.[2] See K.L. v. Evesham Twp. Bd. of Educ., 423 N.J. Super. 337, 351 ("[A]ggressive conduct without identifiable motivation[] does not come within the statutory definition of bullying."). Thus, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the Board's determination declining to find that a HIB incident occurred was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

Accordingly, the Board's motion for summary decision is granted, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

N.M., on behalf of E.M., petitioner, pro se

Alicia D'Anella, Esq., for respondent (Parker McCay, P.A., attorneys)

Record Closed: September 1, 2023 Decided: September 7, 2023

BEFORE SARAH H. SURGENT, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner N.M., on behalf of her minor child, E.M., contends that the Board of Education of the Township of Voorhees, Camden County (Board) erred in finding that

E.M. was not a victim of harassment, intimidation, or bullying (HIB) by a fellow classmate. N.M. maintains that the Board's decision was arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable, which the Board denies.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

N.M.'s petition of appeal was filed with the Commissioner of Education on November 23, 2022. It was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on December 6, 2022, to be heard as a contested case. On March 1, 2023, the Board filed a motion for summary decision, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5. On April 18, 2023, N.M. filed her opposition to the motion with exhibits, but with no responding affidavits, contrary to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). The Board filed its reply on June 30, 2023. After receiving missing supplemental exhibits, (C-1; C-2), the record closed on September 1, 2023.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS

Having reviewed the parties' documents, these salient points are undisputed. I therefore FIND the following as FACT:

On May 20, 2022, E.M. was a student at Voorhees Middle School (School). E.M. and his classmates were playing kickball outside and were lined up in two lines. T.B., the alleged perpetrator, joined E.M.'s line, where he did not belong. E.M. told T.B., in essence, that he was in the wrong line, and T.B. got upset and pushed, slapped, or "smacked" E.M. in the face and called E.M. a "racist." E.M. reported the incident to his mother, N.M., who then sent the School an email replete with hearsay upon hearsay, (R-A), which launched an HIB investigation into the incident.

On May 23, 2022, the School received N.M.'s complaint, and the School's Anti-Bullying Specialist (ABS), Steve Boianelli (Boianelli), was directed to conduct an investigation. (Boianelli Certif.). Boianelli interviewed both students on May 23, 2022, and they each confirmed that the incident had occurred. (Boianelli Certif.; R-B). It is clear from their statements that there is a history of animosity between the two students. Ibid. During his interview, E.M. also complained that on May 23, 2022, three days after the playground incident, T.B. called E.M. "small" for not playing tackle football, which N.M. claims is a distinguishing characteristic covered under the HIB statute. However, Boianelli noted that size was not mentioned during the May 20, 2022, incident, and that E.M. "does not stand out as big or small, and is generally well-liked, well socialized, and does not stand out as weak or isolated." Ibid. No evidence was adduced about the relative sizes of T.B. and E.M. Ibid. Boianelli concluded that E.M. was not singled out during the May 20, 2022, incident and that it was not motivated by a distinguishing characteristic, and was therefore not a HIB incident. (Boianelli Certif.). The School took remedial action against T.B. by separating him from E.M. and treating T.B.'s behavior as a code of conduct violation. (R-1; Donnelly Certif.).

N.M. appealed from Boianelli's decision to the Board and was heard on July 7, 2022. (C-2). The Board also heard from Boianelli. On August 29, 2022, the Board affirmed the outcome of the investigation that the May 20, 2022, occurrence was not a HIB incident. Ibid.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

A summary decision "may be rendered if the papers and discovery which have been filed, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and that the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). That rule is substantially similar to the summary judgment rule embodied in the New Jersey Court Rules. See R. 4:46-2; Judson v. Peoples Bank & Trust Co. of Westfield, 17 N.J. 67, 74 (1954).

In Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co., 142 N.J. 520 (1995), the New Jersey Supreme Court addressed the appropriate test to be employed in determining the motion:

> [A] determination whether there exists a "genuine issue" of material fact that precludes summary judgment requires the motion judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to permit a rational fact finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party. The "judge's function is not . . . to weigh the > evidence and determine the truth of the matter but to determine whether there is a genuine issue for trial."

> [Id. at 540 (quoting Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 250 (1986)).]

In evaluating the merits of the motion, "[a]ll inferences of doubt are drawn against the movant and in favor of the opponent of the motion." Judson, 17 N.J. at 75. However, "[w]hen a motion for summary decision is made and supported, an adverse party in order to prevail must by responding affidavit set forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b) (emphasis added). N.M. did not submit any responding affidavit.

Having reviewed the parties' submissions, I CONCLUDE that no genuine issues of material fact exist which require a plenary hearing regarding the issue of whether a HIB incident occurred on May 20, 2022. This matter is therefore ripe for summary decision.

The Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (ABRA), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.2 et seq., was enacted "to strengthen the standards and procedures for preventing, reporting, investigating, and responding to incidents of harassment, intimidation and bullying of students that occur in school and off school premises." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.1f. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15 requires that each New Jersey school district "adopt a policy prohibiting harassment, intimidation or bullying on school property, at a school-sponsored function or on a school bus," which, at a minimum shall contain itemized components including procedures for reporting and investigating alleged HIB incidents. A school's HIB policy must also "include provisions for appropriate responses to [HIB] . . . that occurs off school grounds, in cases in which a school employee is made aware of such actions," and those responses "shall be consistent with the board of education's code of student conduct and other provisions of the board's policy on [HIB]." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15.3.

> "Harassment, intimidation or bullying" means any gesture, any written, verbal or physical act, or any electronic communication, whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual > orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic, that takes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds as provided for in section 16 of P.L.2010, c.122 (C.18A:37-15.3), that substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students . . .

> [N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14 (emphasis added).]

In her kitchen-sink brief, through hearsay upon hearsay, N.M. raises a litany of issues not germane to this appeal, and not supported by any competent credible evidence and responding affidavits. She did not adduce any evidence about E.M.'s size relative to any of his classmates, including T.B. In sum, she did not prove that E.M.'s size, which she characterizes as a "distinguishing characteristic," in any way motivated T.B.'s conduct on May 20, 2022. I therefore CONCLUDE that T.B's conduct did not meet the definition of a HIB incident, and that the Board's decision was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

ORDER

It is therefore ORDERED that the Board's motion for summary decision is hereby GRANTED, and it is further ORDERED that N.M.'s petition of appeal is hereby DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the Judge and to the other parties.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

L.R., on behalf of minor child, M.R.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Borough of Paramus, Bergen County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Pro se petitioner appealed the finding of the respondent Board that her daughter committed an act of harassment, intimidation, and bullying (HIB) pursuant to the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq. On November 4, 2022, the victim, one of M.R.'s classmates, received a text message with a picture of the character Stewie Griffin from Family Guy and a picture of the victim stating "Hey Stewie, what do you call someone with a big head?" M.R. admitted to posting the TikTok video but denied that it referred to the victim and stated that the message was simply an inside joke between her and another student. The petitioner argued, inter alia, that the HIB statute is unreasonable but failed to allege that the Board's determination regarding M.R. was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. The Board filed a motion for summary decision, to which petitioner responded that she believes the HIB statute is too broad.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue in this case, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; M.R. admitted posting the TikTok image of Stewie Griffin which the HIB investigation found referred to the victim in a derogatory manner; petitioner did not allege that the Board's decision was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable; the investigation revealed that M.R. and two other girls used "Stewie Griffin" as a code name for the victim due to the size of her forehead; and the hurtful social media messages caused the victim to miss several days of school and necessitated her transfer to other classes to avoid being in the same classroom with M.R. The ALJ concluded that the Board's decision was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. Accordingly, the ALJ granted the Board's motion for summary decision and dismissed the petition.

Upon review, the Commissioner, inter alia, concurred with the ALJ that the Board did not act in an arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable manner in rendering its HIB determination in this case. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL was adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

Final Decision

L.R., on behalf of minor child, M.R.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Borough of Paramus, Bergen County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon review, and for the reasons stated therein, the Commissioner hereby adopts the Initial Decision as the Final Decision in this matter. The Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) that petitioner failed to demonstrate, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b), that there existed any genuine issue of material fact warranting an evidentiary hearing. Therefore, it was appropriate for the ALJ to decide the matter summarily. In addition, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the Board's decision that M.R. committed an act of harassment, intimidation, and bullying was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

Accordingly, the Board's motion for summary decision is granted, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

L.R. ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILD M.R.,
Petitioner,
v.
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE BOROUGH OF PARAMUS,
Respondent.

Sean Fogarty, Esq., appearing on behalf of respondent (Fogarty & O'Hara, attorneys)

Record Closed: August 30, 2023 Decided: September 7, 2023

BEFORE KIMBERLY A. MOSS, ALJ:

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner, L.R., challenges the respondent's finding that her child M.R. committed acts of harassment, intimidation, or bullying (HIB). On May 18, 2023, the matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for a hearing as a contested case. The matter was assigned to the undersigned and a telephone prehearing was conducted on June 7, 2023, wherein the parties agreed on a hearing date of August 24, 2023. A status conference was also conducted on July 20, 2023. During the pendency of the conference, the parties agreed that the August hearing date would be adjourned, and a new hearing date was scheduled for September 22, 2023. A discover deadline was given as well as a motion schedule.

Respondent filed a motion for summary decision on August 18, 2023. Petitioner filed a letter dated August 17, 2023, stating among other things that she did believe that the HIB law was too broad. On August 29, 2023, petitioner was asked if she would be responding to respondent's motion. She declined to further respond to the motion.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

Having reviewed the submissions from the parties, I FIND the following FACTS:

On or about November 4, 2022, the District received a report of a HIB incident alleging that the victim was subjected to HIB over a series of messaging and social media incidents. On November 4, 2022, the victim received a text message with a picture of the character Stewie Griffin from Family Guy and a picture of the victim stating "Hey Stewie, what do you call someone with a big head?"

M.R. and other students confirmed the existence of a TikTok account. M.R. admitted posting the image of Stewie Griffen with the caption" If you know, you know." The victim, because of these incidents did not want to come to school. An investigation ensued. On November 4, 2022, Andrew J. Bianco, the principal of East Brook Middle school called the parents of the students to advise that there was an HIB allegation. The District's investigation began on November 7, 2022. M.R., the victim and another student were interviewed and gave statements. M.R. admitted posting the TikTok video but denied it referred to the victim. She stated that it was an inside joke between her and another student.

One of the other students involved in the incident was "Aggressor one." The victim asked Aggressor one what the Stewie thing was about. Aggressor one gave her hints based on body type and hair. Aggressor one also told the victim it was someone she hangs out with a lot.

In the investigation, Aggressor one stated that she called the victim Stewie Griffin, and it became a joke between Aggressor one, Aggressor three and M.R. Another witness stated that Stewie Griffin was a code name M.R. and Aggressor's one and three called the victim. Aggressor one stated that the victim had a big forehead and was nosy. Other students knew that Stewie Griffin was a reference to the victim. As a result of this, the victim was hurt, sad, crying a lot and did not want to come to school.

After the investigation was completed on November 22, 2022, it was determined that M.R. committed an act of HIB. The victim 's class schedule was changed but no discipline was opposed. The Superintendent, Sean Adams, affirmed the findings of HIB because the HIB behavior was motivated by a distinguishing characteristic of the victim. The results of the investigation were reported to the Board on December 12, 2022.

The results of the HIB were sent to petitioner on December 13, 2022. Petitioner requested a hearing before the Board which was held on January 23, 2023. Petitioner requested that the determination of HIB be reversed, and that the timeline of the investigation was improperly conducted at the Board meeting. The Board affirmed Superintendent Adams decision.

Petitioner argues that the HIB definition includes anything a child does and believes that the HIB law is unreasonable. Petitioner argues that the investigation did not fairly interview three children, the investigation exceeded the ten-day requirement, there was no documentation of a post from M.R. and case notes were distributed by the Board's attorneys.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND DISCUSSION

The rules governing motions for summary decision in an OAL matter are embodied N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5. These provisions mirror the language of Rule 4:46-2 and the New Jersey Supreme Court's decision in Judson v. Peoples Bank and Trust Company of Westfield, 17 N.J. 67 (1954). Under N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b), the determination to grant summary judgment should be based on the papers presented as well as any affidavits which may have been filed with the application. In order for the adverse, i.e., the non-moving party to prevail in such an application, responding affidavits must be submitted showing that there is indeed a genuine issue of fact, which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding. The Court in Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Company of America, 142 N.J. 520, 523 (1995), set the standard to be applied when deciding a motion for summary judgment. Therein the Court stated:

> The determination whether there exists a genuine issue with respect to a material fact challenged requires the Motion Judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party . . . are sufficient to permit a rational fact finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party.

There is no material issue of fact in this matter.

N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14

> "Harassment, intimidation or bullying" means any gesture, any written, verbal or physical act, or any electronic communication, whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic, that takes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds as provided for in section 16 of P.L.2010, c.122 (C.18A:37-15.3), that substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:
> a. a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging the student's property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;

b. has the effect of insulting or demeaning any student or group of students; or
c. creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.

N.J.S.A. 18A: 37-15(b) (5) provides:

A school district shall have local control over the content of the policy, except that the policy shall contain, at a minimum, the following components:
5. a procedure for reporting an act of harassment, intimidation or bullying, including a provision that permits a person to report an act of harassment, intimidation or bullying anonymously; however, this shall not be construed to permit formal disciplinary action solely on the basis of an anonymous report.
All acts of harassment, intimidation, or bullying shall be reported verbally to the school principal on the same day when the school employee or contracted service provider witnessed or received reliable information regarding any such incident. The principal shall inform the parents or guardians of all students involved in the alleged incident, and may discuss, as appropriate, the availability of counseling and other intervention services. The principal shall keep a written record of the date, time, and manner of notification to the parents or guardians. All acts of harassment, intimidation, or bullying shall be reported in writing to the school principal within two school days of when the school employee or contracted service provider witnessed or received reliable information that a student had been subject to haraP.L.2002, c.83 (C.18A:37-14) Harassment, intimidation, or bullying. The written report shall be on a numbered form developed by the Department of Education. A copy of the form shall be submitted promptly by the principal to the superintendent of schools. The form shall be completed even if a preliminary determination is made under the school district's policy that the reported incident or complaint is a report outside the scope of the definition of harassment, intimidation, or bullying pursuant to section 2 of , and shall be kept on file at the school but shall not be included in any student record, unless the incident results in disciplinary action or is otherwise required to be contained in a student's record under State or federal law. A redacted copy of the form that removes all student identification information shall be confidentially shared with the board of education after the conclusion of the investigation if a hearing is requested by a parent or guardian pursuant to subparagraph (d) of paragraph (6) of this subsection.
The school district shall provide a means for a parent or guardian to complete an online numbered form developed by the Department of Education to confidentially report an incident of harassment, intimidation, or bullying.

The principal shall report to the superintendent if a preliminary determination is made under the school district's policy that the reported incident or complaint is a report outside the scope of the definition of harassment, intimidation, or bullying, and the superintendent may require the principal to conduct an investigation of the incident, if the superintendent determines that an investigation is necessary because the incident is within the scope of the definition of harassment, intimidation, or bullying. The superintendent shall notify the principal of this determination in writing;

N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6) provides:

(a)Each school district shall adopt a policy prohibiting harassment, intimidation or bullying on school property, at a school-sponsored function or on a school bus. The school district shall adopt the policy through a process that includes representation of parents or guardians, school employees, volunteers, students, administrators, and community representatives.
(b) A school district shall have local control over the content of the policy, except that the policy shall contain, at a minimum, the following components:
(6) a procedure for prompt investigation of reports of violations and complaints, which procedure shall at a minimum provide that:
(a) the investigation shall be initiated by the principal or the principal's designee within one school day of the report of the incident and shall be conducted by a school anti-bullying specialist. The principal may appoint additional personnel who are not school anti-bullying specialists to assist in the investigation. The investigation shall be completed as soon as possible, but not later than 10 school days from the date of the written report of the incident of harassment, intimidation, or bullying or from the date of the written notification from the superintendent to the principal to initiate an investigation pursuant to paragraph (5) of this subsection. In the event that there is information relative to the investigation that is anticipated but not yet received by the end of the 10-day period, the school anti-bullying specialist may amend the original report of the results of the investigation to reflect the information;
(b) the results of the investigation shall be reported to the superintendent of schools within two school days of the completion of the investigation, and in accordance with regulations promulgated by the State Board of Education pursuant to the "Administrative Procedure Act," P.L.1968, c.410 (C.52:14B-1 et seq.), the superintendent may decide to provide intervention services, establish training programs to reduce harassment, intimidation, or bullying and enhance school climate, impose discipline, order counseling as a result of the findings of the investigation, or take or recommend other appropriate action including seeking further information;

(c) the results of each investigation shall be reported to the board of education no later than the date of the board of education meeting next following the completion of the investigation, along with information on any services provided, training established, discipline imposed, or other action taken or recommended by the superintendent.
(d) parents or guardians of the students who are parties to the investigation shall be entitled to receive information about the investigation, in accordance with federal and State law and regulation, including the nature of the investigation, whether the district found evidence of harassment, intimidation, or bullying, or whether discipline was imposed, or services provided to address the incident of harassment, intimidation, or bullying. This information shall be provided in writing within 5 school days after the results of the investigation are reported to the board. A parent or guardian may request a hearing before the board after receiving the information, and the hearing shall be held within 10 days of the request. The board shall meet in executive session for the hearing to protect the confidentiality of the students. At the hearing the board may hear from the school anti-bullying specialist about the incident, recommendations for discipline or services, and any programs instituted to reduce such incidents;
(e) at the next board of education meeting following its receipt of the report pursuant to subparagraph (c) of paragraph (6) of this subsection, the board shall issue a decision, in writing, to affirm, reject, or modify the superintendent's decision. The board's decision may be appealed to the Commissioner of Education, in accordance with the procedures set forth in law and regulation, no later than 90 days after the issuance of the board's decision; and
(f) a parent, student, guardian, or organization may file a complaint with the Division on Civil Rights within 180 days of the occurrence of any incident of harassment, intimidation, or bullying based on membership in a protected group as enumerated in the "Law Against Discrimination," P.L.1945, c.169 (C.10:5-1 et seq.);

In this matter M.R. admitted posting the TikTok image of Stewie Griffin which the investigation found referred to the victim in a derogatory manner. Petitioner did not allege that the Board's decision was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. The investigation revealed that Aggressor one, Aggressor three and M.R. used Stewie Grifin as a code name for the victim due to the size of her forehead. As a result of this the victim became upset and refused to return to school, missed several days of school and did not want to be in the same class as M.R.

I CONCLUDE that the board ruling that M.R. committed an act of HIB was NOT arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing, it is ORDERED that respondents motion for summary decision be and is hereby GRANTED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Salvatore Piarulli,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Borough of Garwood, Union County, Board of Education of the Township of Clark, Tracey Roland, et al, Respondents.

Synopsis

Petitioner – a member of the Garwood Board of Education (Garwood or Garwood BOE) – challenged the respondent Board's action replacing him as the Garwood BOE's sending district representative (SDR) to the Clark Board of Education (Clark or Clark BOE), claiming, inter alia, that his removal as SDR was ultra vires and void. Petitioner had been appointed in January 2022 to serve as Garwood's SDR on the Clark BOE, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-8.2. Garwood voted on October 18, 2022 to remove petitioner as its SDR. Petitioner subsequently served the Garwood BOE with a Notice of Claim seeking $10 million dollars in damages based on an allegation that he was slandered and libeled as the result of his removal as SDR. The instant petition was filed on January 24, 2023. The Garwood BOE filed a motion to dismiss, contending that the petition is time-barred pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3, and that the Board has the authority under N.J.S.A. 18A:11-1(d) to appoint or remove any board member to / from the SDR position.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: Garwood had the legal authority to remove petitioner as SDR and did not act ultra vires when it voted to do so; when petitioner filed his Notice of Claim, he was not protecting any of the public's rights but rather was asserting a monetary claim for his own benefit; and the petition was filed beyond the allowable time limit. Accordingly, the ALJ granted the Board's motion to dismiss the case as untimely under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i).

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that the petition of appeal was untimely under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i) and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL with modification to acknowledge that petitioner's claims regarding Garwood's filing of a Superior Court lawsuit were timely, as they were included in the petition of appeal and filed four days after the lawsuit was filed. However, all issues regarding petitioner's alleged conflict of interest and removal from the Garwood BOE were resolved prior to the Commissioner's consideration of the case herein and are therefore moot. Accordingly, the petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

Final Decision

Salvatore Piarulli,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Borough of Garwood, Union County, Board of Education of the Township of Clark, Union County, Tracey Roland, Timothy Ryan, Al DelConte, Christine Gurriero, Vincent Basciano, Adrienne Barnes, Jennifer Uva, April Farrell, Tina Simitz, Linda Koenig, and Maureen Crawford,

Respondents.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the exceptions filed by petitioner pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and the reply thereto by the Garwood Board of Education (Garwood or Garwood BOE), have been reviewed and considered.

Petitioner is a member of the Garwood BOE. Garwood sends its students to Clark Township for high school. Pursuant to, Garwood is entitled to one representative on the Clark Board of Education (Clark or Clark BOE). Petitioner was appointed as Garwood's sending district representative (SDR) on the Clark BOE in January 2022. On October 18, 2022, Garwood voted to remove petitioner as its SDR.

On January 10, 2023, petitioner served Garwood with a Notice of Claim seeking $10 million dollars in damages based on an allegation that "[o]n October 18, 2022, Mr. Piarulli was slandered and libeled". On January 20, 2023, Garwood filed a complaint in Superior Court seeking to remove petitioner from the Garwood BOE because the Notice of Claim created a conflict of interest in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2. The Superior Court complaint was dismissed to allow review by the Commissioner; Garwood then filed a petition of appeal seeking petitioner's removal from the Garwood BOE. That petition was transmitted to the OAL as Bd. of Educ. of the Borough of Garwood, Union Co. v. Salvatore Piarulli, Agency Dkt. No. 27-2/23, EDU 01176-23. On February 13, 2023, petitioner agreed to withdraw his Notice of Claim, and Garwood agreed to withdraw its petition.

In the meantime, petitioner filed the instant petition of appeal on January 24, 2023. The petition sought relief relating to two issues. First, petitioner sought a determination that Garwood's removal of petitioner as SDR was ultra vires and void, and that, consequently, any actions of the Clark BOE after October 18, 2022 were also null and void. Second, petitioner sought a declaration that his Notice of Claim was primarily filed in the public interest, that Garwood's filing of the Superior Court lawsuit was ultra vires, and that petitioner may continue to serve on the Garwood BOE provided that he recuses himself from any discussion regarding his claim that occurs.

Following a motion to dismiss, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) concluded that Garwood had the authority to remove petitioner as SDR and did not act ultra vires when it voted to do so. The ALJ found that when petitioner filed his Notice of Claim, he was not protecting any of the public's rights but was asserting a monetary claim for his own benefit.

Finally, the ALJ concluded that the petition was filed beyond the 90-day time limit allowed by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i) and must be dismissed.

In his exceptions, petitioner argues that he was removed as SDR based on defamatory allegations that he had violated the School Ethics Act, and that there is a factual dispute regarding the issue of defamation which precludes summary decision. According to petitioner, Garwood did not have the legal authority to remove him as SDR without filing a petition of appeal, because only the Commissioner has jurisdiction over matters concerning the school laws. Petitioner contends that the portion of his petition related to Garwood's filing of the Superior Court complaint was not untimely, because the petition was filed within 90 days of the date the Board filed the Superior Court complaint. Petitioner also argues that his petition was not untimely as to the rest of his claims, because Garwood engaged in a continuing tort and was on notice of his claims prior to the expiration of the 90-day limitations period, based on his January 10, 2023 Notice of Claim. Finally, petitioner argues that even if the 90-day limitations period did expire, it should be tolled on equitable grounds.

In reply, Garwood argues that the ALJ correctly concluded that Garwood had the authority to remove petitioner as SDR and that the petition of appeal was untimely. Accordingly, Garwood urges the Commissioner to adopt the Initial Decision.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that petitioner's claims regarding his removal as SDR are untimely. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(d), the 90-day period for the filing of an appeal to the Commissioner begins when the affected individuals have received adequate notice. For the notice to be adequate, the individuals must have been alerted to the existence of facts which gave rise to a cause of action. Kaprow v. Bd. of Educ. of Berkeley Twp., 131 N.J. 572, 586-587 (1993). Petitioner was clearly on notice as of October 18, 2022, that he had been removed as SDR. Accordingly, any petition related to that action should have been filed on or before January 16, 2023, but the petition of appeal in this matter was not filed until January 24, 2023.

The Commissioner rejects petitioner's argument that Garwood was on notice that petitioner intended to challenge his removal as SDR based on the January 10, 2023 Notice of Claim. The Commissioner has previously held that the timeliness of a complaint in another forum, in and of itself, has no bearing upon the timeliness of a petition under the Department of Education's regulations. A.S., o/b/o minor child, P.P. v. Bd. of Educ. of the Pinelands Regional Sch. Dist., Ocean Cty., Commissioner Decision No. 411-09 (December 16, 2009). The purpose of the time limitation is, in part, to serve as a measure of repose through which a board of education can be secure, after the 90 days have elapsed, that its decisions will not be challenged before the Commissioner. See, e.g., Kaprow, supra. This requirement cannot be circumvented by serving a Notice of Claim, which is governed by rules that are completely distinct from those governing controversies and disputes arising under the school laws over which the Commissioner has jurisdiction.

The Commissioner also rejects petitioner's argument that Garwood engaged in a pattern of tortious conduct and therefore the 90-day limitations period runs from the latest action. Initially, the action that petitioner claims continued the pattern was Garwood's filing of the Superior Court complaint. That filing occurred on January 20, 2023, after the time limit for petitioner to challenge the October 18, 2022 vote that removed him as SDR had expired. Moreover, the Commissioner finds that Garwood's action in seeking petitioner's removal from the Board is separate and apart from its actions in removing him as SDR. Each action triggers the start of its own 90-day limitations period, and any claims regarding the Superior Court complaint cannot be used to excuse the late filing of petitioner's claims regarding his removal as SDR. Finally, the Commissioner concludes that there are no circumstances present that warrant the relaxation of the 90-day rule. Accordingly, the Commissioner concludes that petitioner's claims regarding his removal as SDR are untimely and must be dismissed.[1]

However, the Commissioner finds that petitioner's claims regarding Garwood's filing of the Superior Court lawsuit are timely, as they were included in the petition of appeal which was filed only four days after the lawsuit was filed. Nonetheless, the Commissioner concludes that these claims must be dismissed as moot. "Mootness is a threshold justiciability determination rooted in the notion that judicial power is to be exercised only when a party is immediately threatened with harm. A case is technically moot when the original issue presented has been resolved, at least concerning the parties who initiated the litigation. To restate, an issue is moot when the decision sought in a matter, when rendered, can have no practical effect on the existing controversy." Betancourt v. Trinitas Hosp., 415 N.J. Super. 301, 311 (App. Div. 2010) (internal quotations and citations omitted).

The record reflects that the Superior Court complaint seeking petitioner's removal from the Garwood BOE has been dismissed, petitioner has withdrawn his Notice of Claim against Garwood, and Garwood has withdrawn the petition of appeal seeking petitioner's removal from the Garwood BOE. Therefore, all issues regarding petitioner's alleged conflict of interest and

[1] Because the Commissioner has dismissed the claims related to petitioner's removal as SDR based on N.J.A.C. 6A:1-1.3(i), she does not reach the issue of whether Garwood's actions in removing petitioner were proper.

removal from the Garwood BOE have been resolved. Any opinion from the Commissioner regarding the propriety of the parties' actions would be merely advisory, with no practical effect. These issues are, therefore, moot.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter, as modified herein. The petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[2]

BEFORE: JOHN P. SCOLLO, ALJ

Record Closed: April 21, 2023 Decided: July 27, 2023

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

In EDU 01274-23, Petitioner, Salvatore Piarulli (hereinafter "Piarulli"), challenges Respondent, Garwood Board of Education's (hereinafter the "Garwood BOE") action replacing him as Garwood BOE's (a sending school district) Sending District Representative (hereinafter, "SDR") to the Clark Board of Education (hereinafter "Clark BOE", which is a receiving school district). Piarulli's January 21, 2023, Petition to the New Jersey Commissioner of Education is in two Counts and seeks the following relief: (1) a determination that a resolution passed on October 18, 2022 by Board-I (a term Piarulli uses to designate the Garwood BOE as constituted as of January, 2022) removing him as Garwood's SDR was ultra vires and void ab initio; (2) a determination that after his 10/18/22 removal from the position of SDR, all actions of the Clark BOE were null and void; (3) a declaration that Piarulli's filing and service of a Notice of Tort Claim on January 11, 2023 was primarily in the public interest; (4) a determination that the lawsuit filed by Board-II (a term Piarulli uses to designate the Garwood BOE as constituted after the November, 2022 Board of Education election) for the purpose of removing him from membership on the Garwood BOE is ultra vires; (5) an award of legal fees and costs; and (6) other further and reasonable relief.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On February 2, 2023, Mark Chiarocca, J.S.C., the Presiding Judge of the Chancery Division, Union County, issued an Order dismissing without prejudice Garwood BOE's Verified Complaint (which had been filed on January 20, 2023) so as to allow the Commissioner of Education to review the matter.

The Department of Education's Office of Controversies and Disputes, on February 7, 2023 transmitted a matter filed by Garwood BOE to the Office of Administrative Law, where it was filed on February 7, 2023 as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to 13. It was captioned Board of Education of the Borough of Garwood, Union County v. Salvatore Piarulli and assigned OAL Docket Number EDU 01176-23. Later, by the agreement of the parties, whereby Piarulli agreed to withdraw his Tort Claim Notice and the BOE agreed to withdraw its petition in EDU 01176-23, that matter was withdrawn during a teleconference on Monday, February 13, 2023.

On February 8, 2023, the Department of Education transmitted another matter, this one filed by Piarulli, to the Office of Administrative Law, where it was filed on February 8, 2023. This matter was assigned OAL Docket Number EDU 01274-23 and captioned Salvatore Piarulli v. Borough of Garwood, Board of Education of the Borough of Clark, Tracey Roland, Timothy Ryan, Al DelConte, Christine Gurriero, Vincent Basciano, Adrienne Barnes, Jennifer Uva, April Farrell, Tina Simitz,Linda Koenig, and Maureen Crawford.

On February 9, 2023 EDU 01176-23 and EDU 01274-23 were assigned to John P. Scollo, ALJ. As noted above, during the February 13, 2023 telephone Conference, EDU 01176-23 was withdrawn.

The matter now under consideration is a Motion, which Garwood BOE filed on February 10, 2023. Garwood BOE seeks to dismiss Piarulli's Petition filed under OAL Docket Number 01274-23 (Agency Number 11-1/23). Garwood BOE bases it's Motion to Dismiss on two points. First, it contends that the Petition which Piarulli filed with the Commissioner of Education on January 24, 2023 was filed beyond the 90-day time limit allowed by N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3 and therefore is time-barred. Second, Garwood BOE also contends that it has the authority to appoint or to remove any board member to / from the position of Sending District Representative to the Clark BOE. Its vote on a resolution to replace Piarulli as SDR took place on October 18, 2022 and was done within its authority under N.J.S.A. 18A:11-1(d). Garwood BOE notes that not only was the BOE's October 18, 2022 action legal, but Piarulli does not cite any statutory or regulatory basis on which to challenge the BOE's action.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

In Piarulli's Sur-Reply he provided a useful Timeline, which the Tribunal will utilize, along with other chronological references in the parties' submissions, to illustrate the matter at hand. The chronology set forth below is not a verbatim account, but it sets forth events, which the Tribunal deems particularly significant. The Tribunal will intersperse pertinent facts and also the parties' contentions / positions / interpretations of laws and regulations throughout the following discussion.

Timeline

November, 2021 and January, 2022

Piarulli was elected to the Garwood BOE in the November, 2021 election, he was sworn-in in January, 2022. At the BOE's reorganization meeting, the BOE appointed him as Garwood's Sending District Representative to the BOE of Clark pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:38-8.1 and 8.2. Clark is where Garwood sends its high school students. Throughout the course of this Initial Decision Garwood will be referred to as a "sending district" and Clark will be referred to as a "receiving district".

October 18, 2022

On October 18, 2022, Garwood BOE voted in favor of a resolution to replace Piarulli as its SDR to the Clark BOE with another board member. Piarulli contends that this was the result of defamatory statements and retaliation by the BOE's president, whom he claims is a "political rival".

Piarulli states that sometime after the vote that replaced him as SDR he had a conversation with Garwood BOE's attorney (John G. Geppert). During that conversation, he inquired about the legal basis for the BOE's action. Piarulli states that during that conversation Geppert responded by citing N.J.S.A. 18A: 38-8.1 and also "Robert's Rules of Order". Piarulli believes that these authorities were insufficient bases for replacing him and he concluded that the vote to replace him was therefore illegal.

N.J.A.C.. 6A:3-1.3 (i) sets forth a 90-day time limit for the filing of a Petition with the Office of the Commissioner of Education, wherein a Petitioner seeks relief from an action taken by a board of education. Thus, if Piarulli wanted to contest the BOE's October 18, 2022 action that removed him as the position of SDR, the 90-day limit for filing a Petition, as measured from October 18, 2022, would expire on January 16, 2023.

January 11, 2023

On January 11, 2023, Piarulli filed a Notice of Claim in which he seeks monetary and non-monetary relief from the Garwood BOE. Piarulli maintains that his $10,000,000 monetary claim was a "placeholder" on the Notice of Claim form, but he admits that the Notice of Claim does indeed seek monetary compensation for the tort of defamation. However, he claims that his primary reason for filing the Notice of Claim was the public interest. He claims that the public interest was violated on October 18, 2022 when the BOE removed the people's duly-elected Board member from the position of SDR to the Clark BOE.

January 16, 2023, January 20, 2023 and January 24, 2023

January 16, 2023 marked ninety days from the date (October 18, 2022) that the Garwood BOE voted to replace Piarulli as the SDR to the Clark BOE.

On January 20, 2023, the Garwood BOE filed a Verified Complaint and Order to Show Cause in the Superior Court seeking to prevent Piarulli from serving on the Garwood BOE in any capacity, i.e., to remove Piarulli from membership on the Garwood BOE. The BOE's reason for filing these papers was that Piarulli's filing of the Notice of Claim on January 11, 2023 put him into a conflict of interest with his BOE obligations and thus mandated either his resignation from the BOE or his removal from the BOE pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2. N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2 is entitled "Inconsistent Interests or Office Prohibited". It encompasses situations where a board member may have a conflict of interest. On January 20, 2023, Judge Thomas Walsh granted the BOE's application for relief, issuing a Temporary Restraining Order against Piarulli, with the proviso that Piarulli could move to vacate the restraints on two days' notice.

On January 24, 2023, Piarulli filed his Petition with the Commissioner in which he sought to overturn the resolution of October 18, 2022. January 24th was eight days beyond January 16th. Based on this fact, the BOE contends that Piarulli was late in filing his Petition and therefore his Petition is time-barred and, as such, should be dismissed. However, Piarulli contends that his Petition complains not only about the BOE's action dated October 18, 2022, but also complains about the BOE's continuing tortious and illegal actions taken against him up to and including January 20, 2023 when Garwood BOE filed a Verified Complaint and Order to Cause in Superior Court seeking to oust Piarulli from membership on the Garwood BOE. Thus, Piarulli's response to Garwood BOE's time-limit argument is that the ninety-day time limit actually started to run from January 20, 2023 (with a consequent ninety-day time limit ending on April 20, 2023). Piarulli notes that the January 24, 2023 filing of his Petition with the Commissioner would be well within the time limit.

Piarulli, citing New Jersey's acceptance of the Continuing Tort Doctrine, contends that Garwood BOE has engaged in continuing tortious conduct against him, which culminated on January 20, 2023 when it filed the Verified Complaint and Order To Show Cause to have him removed from his membership on the BOE. The Garwood BOE points out that Piarulli filed a Notice of Claim on January 11, 2023 in which he sought $10,000,000 from the BOE as compensatory damages for alleged defamation. The BOE contends that it filed the Order to Show Cause and Verified Complaint on January 20, 2023 because, if Piarulli were to remain on the Garwood BOE while the question of his conflict of interest remained an open question, his presence would interfere with the BOE's ability to function. Thus Garwood BOE contends that it was required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2 to take immediate action. Both sides agree that the text of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2 states that no member of a Board of Education may serve or continue to serve on a BOE if he has a direct or indirect interest in a claim against the BOE. Thus, Garwood BOE contends that Piarulli refused to resign and that its filing of the January 20, 2023 Verified Complaint and Order to Show Cause was a necessity required by the law and was not a tortious act.

Piarulli admits that he filed the Notice of Claim on January 11, 2023 in which he seeks non-monetary relief and a claim for money damages from the BOE. While Piarulli admits that his $10,000,000 claim does indeed say that he seeks compensation for the tort of defamation, the $10,000,000 figure was a mere placeholder on a form and that his primary reason for filing the Notice of Claim was to protect the public's interest in having its duly-elected BOE member continue to serve in a capacity to which he was appointed by the BOE (i.e., serving as the BOE's SDR).

January 24, 2023

On January 24, 2023 Piarulli, responding to Garwood BOE's Verified Complaint and Order to Show Cause, filed his own Verified Complaint and Order to Show Cause in Superior Court, Union County, Chancery Division alleging that the BOE's actions were illegal and seeking to vacate the January 20, 2023 Temporary Restraining Order issued by Judge Walsh and to dismiss Garwood's Verified Complaint.

February 2, 2023

On February 2, 2023, Mark P. Ciarrocca,, P.J. Cv., Union County Superior Court, observing that neither N.J.S.A. 18A: 6-9 nor N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2 state that the Commissioner of Education has the exclusive jurisdiction [to decide the controversy], an administrative remedy was nevertheless available. Judge Ciarrocca therefore dissolved the temporary restraints set forth in Judge Walsh's January 20, 2023 Order and dismissed Garwood BOE's Verified Complaint so as to allow review by the Commissioner of Education, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9.

The above-stated timeline of events and the recitation of the facts as set forth above is consistent with the parties' submissions. The Tribunal, having read all the submissions thoroughly, believes it has set forth all the facts of consequence and considers additional nuances and interpretations of facts as inconsequential.

EXPOSITION OF THE ISSUES, ANALYSIS OF THE PARTIES' ARGUMENTS, and FINDINGS OF FACT

The analysis of the parties' positions in this matter must begin with an exposition (in the form of questions) of the issues presented.

The questions presented in this matter are as follows:

(1) Under all relevant legal authorities, did the Garwood BOE have the authority to appoint, remove, or replace one of its members as its Sending District Representative?

(2) Was the Garwood BOE's removal of Piarulli as Sending District Representative and its replacement of Piarulli with another BOE member legal?

(3) Was Piarulli's filing of his Petition to the Commissioner of Education on January 11, 2023 timely?

Question Number 1: Under all relevant legal authorities, did the Garwood BOE have the authority to appoint, remove, or replace one of its members as its Sending District Representative?

Piarulli's Position

It is Piarulli's position that Garwood BOE lacked the authority to remove him from the position of Sending District Representative and did not have the authority to replace him as the SDR. Piarulli contends that he could only be removed from the position of SDR by the Commissioner and then only after he is afforded a hearing. Piarulli contends that the BOE's action on October 18, 2022 was politically motivated and /or done for unethical reasons.

Piarulli also contends that his filing of the Notice of Claim was done primarily to protect the public interest. His argument is that this is the type of situation that calls for the type of "close factual analysis" mentioned in Board of Education of Sea Isle City v. Kennedy, 196 N.J. 1 (2008) and which should not require his removal from office.

Comment by the Tribunal

The Statute that gives a BOE the authority to appoint one of its members to the position of SDR is N.J.S.A. 18A:38.1 and 38.2. (See APPLICABLE LAW section for text.) The statutes state that the local BOE has the authority to appoint one of its members to the position of SDR, that it should do so at its organizational meeting, and that the appointment is limited to one year. N.J.S.A. 18A:38.1 and 38.2 are silent about the subject of removing or replacing the SDR. Nothing in the statute states or implies that the local BOE is unable to remove or replace the person it has appointed as SDR.

The BOE's Position

The Garwood BOE recognizes that the Commissioner, per N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9, has jurisdiction over all controversies and disputes arising under the school laws. The Garwood BOE's position is that N.J.S.A. 18A:11-1 gives local BOE's certain powers and authority regarding self-governance. In particular, Garwood cites 18A:11-1 (d) as granting a local BOE the authority to "Perform all acts and do all things consistent with law and the rules of the state board, necessary for the lawful and proper conduct ... of the public schools of the district." Thus, a BOE may remove a member whom it previously appointed as SDR from the position of SDR in its discretion.

Comment by the Tribunal

Garwood's point would be that just as the local board has the authority to enact, amend, or repeal its own by-laws, or to hire, replace or discharge providers of goods or professional services, etcetera, it has the right to appoint, in its own discretion, which member shall represent the BOE in the position of SDR. Although N.J.S.A. 18A:38-8.2 states that the SDR's term is limited to one year, companion statutes demonstrate circumstances where the SDR serves less than a full year. An instance of such a situation is set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A: 38-8.2(c) which provides for the "rotation" of people in the position of SDR.

ANALYSIS AND FINDINGS OF FACT AS TO QUESTION ONE

I agree with Judge Ciarrocca's observation, as stated in his February 2, 2023 Order, that neither N.J.S.A. 18A: 6-9 nor N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2 confer exclusive jurisdiction on the Commissioner of Education over the present controversy.

I FIND that the Statutes that give a BOE the authority to appoint one of its members to the position of SDR are N.J.S.A. 18A:38-8.1 and 8.2. (See APPLICABLE LAW section for text.) I FIND that these statutes state that the local BOE has the authority to appoint one of its members to the position of SDR, that it should do so at its organizational meeting, and that the appointment is limited to one year. I FIND that N.J.S.A. 18A:38-8.1 and 38.2 are silent about the subject of removing or replacing an SDR. Nothing in the statutes state or imply that a local BOE is unable to remove or replace a person it has appointed as an SDR. I FIND that this silence means that the power to appoint implies a correlative power to remove or replace.

This Tribunal recognizes that local BOEs are creatures of the State and may exercise only those powers granted to it by the Legislature either expressly, by necessity, or by fair implication. Atlantic City Educational Ass'n v. Board of Educ. of the City of Atlantic City, 299 N.J. Super. 649, 691 (App. Div. 1997), certification denied, 152 N.J. 192. I FIND that the principle of self-governance set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:11-1 is obviously a grant of authority from the Legislature.

I FIND that there is no disagreement between the parties that BOE members are elected by the voters of the school district. In regard to the provisions contained in N.J.S.A. 18A:38-8.1 and 8.2, I FIND that committee assignments, chairmanships, and other designations are made by the BOE members themselves, not by the voters.

I FIND that the elected position of Board Member differs from the appointed position of SDR. I FIND that the appointment of a BOE member to the position of SDR is not something that the voters decide; it is one that the BOE members themselves decide collectively as a board in the exercise of their own discretion.

Piarulli's argument appears to be that his filing of the Notice of Claim protected the public's right to have him complete his one-year term as SDR, and as such should be afforded a fact-sensitive analysis under Kennedy. I FIND that there is no such right because N.J.S.A. 18A:38-8.1 and 8.2 clearly demonstrate that the BOE, not the voters, appoint the SDRs.

The Tribunal is aware of Piarulli's claim that the BOE's action on October 18, 2022 was politically motivated and / or was done for unethical reasons. I FIND that these are allegations of unethical conduct by BOE members. As such, I FIND that they are not matters arising under the school laws.

Question Number 2: Was the Garwood BOE's removal of Piarulli as Sending District Representative and its replacement of Piarulli with another BOE member legal?

(See Analysis and Findings set forth for Question One.)

Question Number 3: Was Piarulli's filing of his Petition to the Commissioner of Education on January 11, 2023 timely?

Piarulli's Position

The vote to remove Piarulli as SDR was taken on October 18, 2023. Ninety days later would be January 16, 2023. Piarulli filed his Petition on January 24, 2023. January 24, 2023 was eight (8) days beyond the allowable time limit as measured from the October 18, 2023 vote. However, Piarulli contends that Garwood BOE's filing of the Verified Complaint and Order to Show Cause on January 20, 2023 was a tortious act. Piarulli's argument is based on the Continuing Tort Doctrine. The Continuing Tort Doctrine is recognized in New Jersey. As stated in Wilson v. Wal-Mart Stores, 158 N.J. 263, 272 (1999),

> When an individual is subject to a continual, cumulative pattern of tortious conduct, the statute of limitations does not begin to run until the wrongful action ceases.

Thus, the Continuing Tort Doctrine is a principle of law that recognizes that when tortious behavior continues or repeats over a prolonged period of time, that course of conduct should be treated as a whole such that the statute of limitations will not begin to run until the course of conduct ends.

Piarulli contends that Garwood BOE's tortious act on January 20, 2023 (the filing date of the Verified Complaint and Order to Show Cause) was part and parcel of the BOE's earlier unethical and tortious conduct on October 18, 2022. Therefore, Piarulli argues, under the Continuing Tort Doctrine the "clock", the ninety-day limit of N.J.A.C.6A:1-1.3(i), must be re-set from October 18, 2022 to April 20, 2023. Since the clock was re-set by Garwood's continuing tortious action, his filing of his Petition on January 24, 2023 was well within the ninety-day time limit and therefore cannot be adjudicated to have been filed late.

Piarulli contends that Garwood BOE's filing of a Verified Complaint and Order to Show Cause on January 24, 2023 to remove him from the BOE was part of a continuing series of tortious actions instigated by people with unethical and political motives.

Garwood BOE's Position

In its argument, Garwood BOE looks to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2, which provides that no BOE member shall be interested, directly or indirectly, in a claim against the BOE. Garwood BOE maintains that the meaning of this statute is that when a BOE member has a conflict of interest with the BOE, he cannot continue to serve on the BOE. He must choose between discontinuing the claim or resigning from the BOE. The statute also means that if he does not discontinue the claim, and will not resign from the BOE, then the BOE must remove him.

Garwood BOE contends that when Piarulli filed his Notice of Claim against the BOE on January 11, 2023, his own monetary interest (his assertion of a claim for money damages against Garwood BOE) instantly conflicted with his duty to uphold the interests of Garwood BOE. Garwood BOE stated that Piarulli refused to resign from the BOE, thus forcing it to take action to remove him from the BOE. So, Garwood argues that when it filed its Verified Petition and Order to Show Cause to remove Piarulli from Garwood BOE, it was actually fulfilling its duty to protect the interests of the BOE and was not engaging in any unethical, tortious, or illegal activity. That is to say, its filing of the Verified Complaint and Order to Show Cause was not even a tortious act.

So, logically, there can be no continuing tortious activity. Therefore, argues Garwood, the Continuing Tort Doctrine is not applicable to the matter at bar.

ANALYSIS AND FINDINGS OF FACTS AS TO QUESTION THREE

On the issue of timeliness, I FIND that N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2 requires that when a BOE member is in a conflict situation, he must either abandon the claim that has placed him into a conflict with his BOE duties or he must either resign or face removal. I FIND that Garwood BOE filed the Verified Complaint and Order To Show Cause on January 20, 2023 because Piarulli refused to resign and because it was indeed duty-bound under the statute to take immediate action to remove him from the BOE due to the conflict of interest created by his filing of the Notice of Claim on January 11, 2023.

As noted above, Piarulli alleges that Garwood BOE's filing of the Verified Complaint and Order to Show Cause on January 20, 2023 was a tortious act. I FIND that Garwood BOE's filing of the Verified Complaint and Order to Show Cause on January 20, 2023 was not a tortious act. The only other tortious acts Piarulli alleges are (1) defamation (which allegedly occurred on or before October 18, 2022, for which Piarulli has presented no evidence beyond his mere allegation, and which is an issue beyond the jurisdiction of the OAL) and (2) Garwood BOE's vote to remove Piarulli as the SDR on October 18, 2022. I FIND that there was no other tortious act that would support the application of the Continuing Tort Doctrine. Since the October 18, 2022 vote was the only other act on which Piarulli could base his Petition, then the N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i)'s ninety-day time limit applies. The vote to remove Piarulli as SDR was taken on October 18, 2022. Ninety days later would be January 16, 2023. Piarulli filed his Petition on January 24, 2023. January 24, 2023 was eight (8) days beyond the allowable time limit. I therefore FIND that Piarulli's Petition was filed beyond the allowable time limit.

APPLICABLE LAW

For the matter at bar the applicable Statutes and Regulations are:

(1) N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9;

(2) N.J.S.A. 18A:38-8.1 and 8.2;

(6) N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3 (i).

N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9 states, in applicable part,

> The commissioner shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine, without cost to the parties, all controversies and disputes arising under the school laws, excepting those governing higher education, or under the rules of the state board or of the commissioner. Any additional member shall be a member of the board of education of a sending district designated annually by the board of that district and shall be eligible to vote on the following matters before the receiving district board of education:

N.J.S.A. 18a:12-2 states:

N.J.S.A. 18a:12-3 states, in applicable part:

> Whenever a member of a local or regional board of education shall cease to be a bona fide resident of the district, or of any constituent district of a consolidated or regional district which he represents, or shall become mayor or a member of the governing body of a municipality, his membership in the board shall immediately cease; and, any member who fails to attend three consecutive meetings of the board without good cause may be removed by it.

N.J.A.C.6A:3-1.3 (i) states, in applicable part,

> The petitioner shall file a petition no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling, or other action by the district board of education, individual party, or agency, that is the subject of the requested contested case hearing. This rule shall not apply in instances where a specific statute, regulation, or court order provides for a period of limitation shorter than ninety days for the filing of a particular type of appeal.

In Board of Educ. of Sea Isle City v. Kennedy, 196 N.J. 1 (2008) a Board of Education member (the President of the BOE) and his wife had an autistic child for whom they sought an IEP. Litigation ensued between the Kennedys and the school district. Kennedy voluntarily resigned from the BOE. The parties reached a settlement. The following year, Kennedy was again elected to the BOE. Claiming that the school district had violated the settlement agreement, Mrs. Kennedy filed applications requesting a due process hearing and an emergent hearing seeking various relief, including payment for services which Mrs. Kennedy provided for her son, attorney's fees, expert's fees, costs, and expenses. The school district sought a declaratory ruling from the Commissioner that the applications created a conflict of interest, which was incompatible with Mr. Kennedy's continued BOE membership. The matter was referred to the Office of Administrative Law, where an ALJ issued a decision finding that Mr. Kennedy's conduct was permissible under the School Ethics Act (N.J.S.A. 18A: 12-21 to -34 because Kennedy's due process request was designed to protect the educational rights of his child and was permitted by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(j), which allows a school official to represent himself or his immediate family member concerning his / their own interests. Nonetheless, the Commissioner rejected the ALJ's recommendation, determined that Kennedy's actions created a disqualifying conflict of interest under N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2 and ordered Kennedy's removal from the BOE. The State Board of Education affirmed the removal. The Appellate Division also affirmed the removal.

The Supreme Court undertook the task of harmonizing the N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2 and N.J.S.A. 18A: 12-24j. In Kennedy, the Supreme Court held that not all controversies and disputes between parents and school districts should require a sitting board member's removal from office. The Court emphasized that what was needed was a fact-sensitive analysis in each individual case to determine whether the BOE member's interest constitutes a substantial conflict requiring his removal from office as the sole remedy. The Court noted that not all claims result in a substantial conflict. Because of this, the Court considers all factors such as whether the BOE member is pursuing a claim in the public interest or whether he is pursuing a claim for his own aggrandizement or financial gain. The Court expressed its concern that BOE members who have handicapped children should not have to fear the loss of their elected office in the event that they question or challenge the appropriateness of their own children's education. The Supreme Court concluded that a BOE member should not be removed from office merely because he has advanced any claim "in a proceeding" against a school district involving the member's or an immediate family member's interests. However, in the Kennedy case, because the due process claim included a request for monetary relief, the Supreme Court affirmed the decision of the Appellate Division, as modified therein.

The upshot of Kennedy case is that the Supreme Court held that removal should not be automatic, but rather should be appraised on a close factual analysis on a case-by-case basis. The Court would consider whether there is a substantial, disqualifying conflict of interest identified by the type of claim (one motivated by the desire to advance the benefit of the public at large versus one motivated, even in part, for personal aggrandizement or for financial reasons) or by the type of proceeding, i.e., whether it was brought under N.J.S.A. 18A:12-2 or under the School Ethics Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-21 to -34. The Court made it clear in Kennedy, that when the Board member has a financial interest in the claim, then he has a conflict of interest. Therefore, he cannot continue to remain on the BOE and he can be removed.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

CONCLUSIONS REGARDING QUESTION ONE

Having found that N.J.S.A. 18A:38-8.1 and 8.2 authorize a local BOE to appoint, remove and replace SDRs, I CONCLUDE that Garwood BOE had the authority to remove someone it had previously appointed from the position of SDR.

Having found that N.J.S.A. 18A:11-1(d) grants self-governance to local BOEs, it follows, and I CONCLUDE , pursuant to the provisions of N.J.S.A. 18A:38-8.1 and 8.2 and of N.J.S.A. 18A:11-1(d) and of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-3, that Garwood BOE had the authority, in its discretion, to appoint, remove, and replace any member serving as an SDR. I CONCLUDE that Garwood BOE did not act ultra vires when it voted to remove Piarulli from the position of SDR. I CONCLUDE that Garwood BOE's removal of Piarulli from the position of SDR was legal. Having been legally removed from the position of SDR, I CONCLUDE that Piarulli has no further right to serve as SDR.

Having found that inasmuch as the position of SDR is a position that the BOE makes in its own discretion, I CONCLUDE that a BOE does not need "cause" to remove the SDR from that position. I further CONCLUDE that Piarulli did not have a right, in the name of the public interest, to continue to serve the entire full year of his appointment as SDR, but only served as SDR at the discretion of the Garwood BOE.

I CONCLUDE that when Piarulli filed his Notice of Claim he was not protecting any of the public's rights. I CONCLUDE that when Piarulli filed his Notice of Claim he asserted a monetary claim for his own benefit.

Having found that Piarulli's allegations that Garwood BOE's vote on October 18, 2022 was the result of political chicanery (i.e., unethical conduct), I CONCLUDE that primary jurisdiction over such matters would not lie with the Commissioner of Education, but with the School Ethics Commission.

CONCLUSIONS REGARDING QUESTION TWO

Having CONCLUDED that Garwood has the authority to appoint, remove, and replace members to and from the position of SDR, it follows, and I CONCLUDE that Garwood's removal of Piarulli from the position of SDR was legal and I CONCLUDE that its appointment of another of its members to the position of SDR was legal.

CONCLUSION REGARDING QUESTION THREE

Having found that Piarulli's Petition was filed beyond the allowable time limit, I CONCLUDE that his Petition must be dismissed pursuant to the time limit set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i).

ORDERS

Pursuant to the foregoing conclusions, it is hereby ORDERED that the Petition filed by Piarulli on January 24, 2023 is time-barred and must be DISMISSED with prejudice; and it is further ORDERED that this ORDER shall be served upon the parties via email and said parties shall acknowledge receipt of same within seven (7) days.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Tierra Gourdine,

Petitioner,

v.

New Jersey Department of Education,
Office of Student Protection,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioner – formerly employed as a teacher in Hillsborough – challenged the determination of the New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Student Protection, to disqualify her from employment in a public school pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 after a criminal history background check revealed that in January 2023, petitioner was charged with, and pled guilty to, the third-degree offense of assault by automobile, in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:12-1(c), and the third-degree offense of endangering another person, in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:24-7.1(a)(3). The Department filed a motion to dismiss petitioner's appeal.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: N.J.S.A. 18A-6.7-7.1 (e) provides an opportunity for a teacher to challenge their disqualification from employment when the conviction was disclosed by a criminal background check performed pursuant to the act by challenging the accuracy of the disqualifying criminal record; in this case, petitioner did not challenge the accuracy of her criminal history record but conceded that she pled guilty to a lesser charge as it was the only choice available to her; without challenging the accuracy of the conviction, the above statute dictates petitioner's disqualification to work (or volunteer) in a public school in any capacity, including as a substitute teacher. The ALJ concluded that petitioner has not made a claim upon which relief can be granted. Accordingly, the ALJ granted the Department's motion to dismiss.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that petitioner's criminal history disqualifies her from working in a public school. Accordingly, the Initial Decision was adopted was the final decision in this matter, and the petition of appeal was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

TIERRA GOURDINE,

v.
NEW JERSEY DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION,

Tierra Gourdine, petitioner, pro se

David L. Kalisky, Deputy Attorney General, for respondent (Matthew J. Platkin, Attorney General of New Jersey, attorney)

Record Closed: September 5, 2023 Decided: September 12, 2023

BEFORE NICOLE T. MINUTOLI, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner Tierra Gourdine (Gourdine) challenges the decision of respondent New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Student Protection (Department), that she is disqualified from employment in a public school, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(b).

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On January 27, 2023, respondent notified petitioner that she was permanently disqualified from serving in any position, paid or unpaid, with any educational institution under the supervision of the Department of Education.

On February 2, 2023, petitioner filed a petition of appeal with the New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Controversies and Disputes. On March 14, 2023, respondent filed an answer and motion for dismissal. The Commissioner of Education did not rule on the motion but transmitted it with the petition to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on May 17, 2023, for hearing as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15, and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13.

The parties appeared for a telephone prehearing conference on July 6, 2023, during which a briefing schedule for respondent's motion to dismiss was issued. On August 21, 2023, petitioner filed a response in opposition to respondent's motion to dismiss. Respondent did not file a reply and the motion is now ripe for review.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS

I accept the following FACTS as true and accordingly, I FIND:

1. Petitioner is an adult female. Petitioner began her teaching career approximately seventeen and a half years ago at Hillsborough High School.

2. On March 18, 2022, petitioner resigned from her position at Hillsborough High School due to mental health issues but continued coaching in the Franklin Township School District.

3. On January 23, 2023, petitioner was charged with, and pled guilty to, the third-degree offense of assault by automobile, in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:12-

1(c), and the third-degree offense of endangering another person, in violation of N.J.S.A. 2C:24-7.1(a)(3).

4. By statute, any person applying for employment with, or to volunteer at a public school in New Jersey must submit to a background check. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(b).

5. On January 26, 2023, petitioner emailed respondent's Criminal History Review Unit (CHRU) to inquire whether her January 23, 2023, guilty plea would disqualify her as a teacher. Later the same day, petitioner emailed CHRU once more to explain the circumstances surrounding her criminal conviction contending that after the Coronavirus pandemic, returning to the building for work was difficult and required her to seek therapy. She tried to resolve her psychiatric issues but was unable to do so. Petitioner stated that she then tried to take her life by driving off the road.

6. By email notice dated January 27, 2023, respondent notified petitioner, based on the records revealed by a criminal history background check, that she was "permanently disqualified from serving in any position, paid or unpaid, with any educational institution under the supervision of the Department of Education. . . [and that she had] 14 days from the date of this written notice of disqualification to challenge the accuracy of [her] criminal record."

7. On February 1, 2023, Department investigator James Scarangelli responded to petitioner's January 26, 2023, emails, informing her that the "Office of Student Protection is guided by the requirements of N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1" and . . . "[b]ased upon your conviction for Assault by Automobile (3rd degree) on January 23, 2023, the Office of Student Protection had to adhere to the requirements of the aforementioned statute and disqualify you from school employment." The investigator's email also stated that "[t]he Office of Student Protection is not charged with the ability to consider the information contained in your letter, however, you may file a formal appeal with the New Jersey Department of Education Office of Controversies and Disputes."

8. This appeal was timely filed by petitioner.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

The rules of procedure governing petitions of appeal filed with the Commissioner permit a respondent to submit a motion to dismiss in lieu of (or with) an answer "on the grounds that the petitioner has advanced no cause of action even if the petitioner's factual allegations are accepted as true or for lack of jurisdiction, failure to prosecute or other good reason." N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(g); N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.10. However, these education rules do not offer any guidance on the standards by which such motions should be assessed.

The Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules (UAPR), N.J.A.C. 1:1-1.1 to -21.3, also do not address the standards for such motions. However, the UAPR, which "shall be construed to achieve just results, simplicity in procedure, fairness in administration and the elimination of unjustifiable expense and delay," state that, "[i]n the absence of a rule, a judge may proceed in accordance with the New Jersey Court Rules, provided the rules are compatible with these purposes." N.J.A.C. 1:1-1.3(a).

Here, the court rule that fills the void is R. 4:6-2 which, like N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(g) and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.10, allows for motions for judgment on the pleadings. And since R. 4:6-2 serves the interests of time and expense and may help achieve just results, it is compatible with the UAPR's purposes, and thus it is appropriate to assess respondent's motion to dismiss in lieu of an answer under the standards used by the courts in applying R. 4:6-2.

Under these standards, if the basis for a motion to dismiss is that the petition has advanced no cause of action, or failed to state a claim upon which relief may be granted, "the test for determining the adequacy of [the] pleading [is] whether a cause of action is 'suggested' by the facts," such that the "inquiry is limited to examining the legal sufficiency of the facts alleged on the face of the complaint." Printing-Mart Morristown v. Sharp Electronics Corp., 116 N.J. 739, 746 (1989) (citing R. 4:6-2(e)); Velantzas, 109 N.J. 189, 192 (1988); Rieder v. Dep't of Transp., 221 N.J. Super. 547, 552 (App. Div. 1987).

Importantly, for purposes of the motion, it does not matter whether a petitioner can ultimately "prove the allegation contained in the complaint" because "all facts alleged in the complaint and the legitimate inferences drawn therefrom are deemed admitted." Ibid. (citing Somers Constr. Co. v. Bd. of Educ., 198 F.Supp. 732, 734 (D.N.J.1961)); Smith v. City of Newark, 136 N.J. Super. 107, 112 (App. Div.1975) (citing Heavner v. Uniroyal, Inc., 63 N.J. 130, 133 (1973); J.H. Becker, Inc. v. Marlboro Twp., 82 N.J. Super. 519, 524 (App. Div. 1964)). While "[a] complaint should not be dismissed . . . where a cause of action is suggested by the facts . . . a dismissal is mandated where the factual allegations are palpably insufficient to support a claim upon which relief can be granted." Rieder, 221 N.J. Super. at 552.

Petitioner is working on her own, without the assistance of counsel. For that reason, her pleadings are held to a less stringent standard than that by which pleadings drafted by an attorney are judged. Anchorage Poynte Condo. Ass'n. v. Di Christo, 2017 N.J. Super. Lexis 1112 (August 17, 2017), at *5 (citing Haines v. Kerner, 404 U.S. 519 (1972)). Even so, petitioner presents no facts sufficient to negate the application of the following statute:

> An individual . . . shall be permanently disqualified from employment or service under this act if the individual's criminal history record check reveals a record of conviction for any crime of the first or second degree; or [an] offense involving the manufacture, transportation, sale, possession, distribution or habitual use of a "controlled dangerous substance" as defined in the "Comprehensive Drug Reform Act of 1987," N.J.S.2C:35-1 et al. or "drug paraphernalia" as defined pursuant to N.J.S.2C:36-1 et seq.

N.J.S.A. 18A-6.7-7.1 (e), provides an opportunity to challenge their disqualification from employment when the conviction was disclosed by a criminal background check performed pursuant to this act by challenging the accuracy of the disqualifying criminal record. Here, petitioner does not challenge the accuracy of her criminal history record but concedes that she pled guilty to a lesser charge as it was the only choice available. Therefore, without challenging the accuracy of the conviction, the above statute dictates petitioner's disqualification to work (or volunteer) in a public school in any capacity, including as a substitute teacher.

For the above reasons, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has not made a claim for which relief can be granted.

ORDER

For the reasons set forth above, I ORDER that the motion of respondent Department of Education to dismiss the petition of Tierra Gourdine for failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted is hereby GRANTED and the petition of Gourdine is hereby DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." New Jersey Commissioner of Education

In the Matter of Sheila Brogan, Ridgewood Board of Education, Bergen County.

This matter involves an appeal of a School Ethics Commission (Commission) decision issued February 25, 2022, determining that appellant – a member of the Ridgewood Board of Education (Board) – violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) of the School Ethics Act by failing to recuse herself from executive session on May 7, 2020, despite her personal interest in a lawsuit slated to be discussed. The Commission recommended that appellant be censured for the violation. For the reasons explained herein, the Commissioner holds that the appeal should be dismissed as untimely.

It is well-established that "any appeal of a determination of the School Ethics Commission shall be to the Commissioner of Education whose determination shall be a final agency action ....and appeal of that action shall be directly to the Appellate Division of the Superior Court." N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29.1. Consistent with this statutory requirement, page 8 of the Commission's February 25, 2022, decision states that "[p]arties seeking to appeal the Commission's findings of violations must file an appeal pursuant to the standards set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:4, et seq., within thirty (30) days of the filing date of the decision from which the appeal is taken." Indeed, N.J.A.C. 6A:4-1.3(c) provides that "[a]ppeals of School Ethics Commission decisions finding that a school official has violated the School Ethics Act (Act), including the Code of Ethics for School Board Members, shall be made to the Commissioner in accordance with this chapter." Such appeals "shall be filed within 30 days of the filing date of the decision being appealed." N.J.A.C. 6A:4-2.2(b).

Instead of appealing the Commission's decision to the Commissioner, appellant filed an appeal with the Superior Court of New Jersey, Appellate Division, on March 9, 2022. In the Matter of Sheila Brogan, Ridgewood Board of Education, Bergen County, Dkt. No. A-1959-21 (June 21, 2023) (slip op. at 4). Meanwhile, as the Commissioner had not received an appeal of the underlying violation from appellant, the Commissioner reviewed the Commission's recommended penalty of censure as required pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c). On April 14, 2022, the Commissioner issued a final decision concurring with the recommended penalty and censuring appellant for violating the Act. In the Matter of Sheila Brogan, Ridgewood Board of Education, Bergen County, Commissioner Decision No. 79-22SEC (April 14, 2022). Over a year later, on June 21, 2023, the Appellate Division dismissed appellant's appeal for lack of jurisdiction. In re Brogan, slip op. at 4-5.[1] Subsequently, appellant filed the instant appeal to the Commissioner on July 10, 2023, challenging the underlying violation.

Appellant contends that although her appeal to the Commissioner is untimely, it should be considered "[i]n light of the directions on the Final Decision dated April 14, 2022." Appellant's brief, at 5. That decision—a final agency decision of the Commissioner adopting the penalty recommended by the Commission—states in a footnote that it may be appealed to the Appellate Division of the Superior Court pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9.1. Although it is uncontested that appellant filed her appeal of the Commission's decision with the Appellate Division on March 9, 2022, she now attempts to convince the Commissioner that she only did so because of the instruction in the footnote of the [1] See N.J. Ct. R. 2:2-3(a)(2) (permitting appeals to the Appellate Division as of right from "final decisions or actions of any state administrative agency or officer").

Commissioner's April 14, 2022 final agency decision regarding the penalty. Given the undisputed fact that her appeal to the Appellate Division was filed more than one month before the Commissioner's final agency decision was issued, this explanation is clearly disingenuous.

Furthermore, appellant has not established any unusual or compelling circumstances that would warrant relaxation of the thirty-day filing deadline for appeals in the interest of justice. See N.J.A.C. 6A:4-4.4(a) (explaining that Chapter 4 rules "shall be construed to secure a just determination, simplicity of procedure, fairness in administration, and elimination of unnecessary delay" and are subject to relaxation by the Commissioner when not mandated by statute "in his or her discretion, if strict adherence to the rule is deemed inappropriate or unnecessary or would result in injustice").

Accordingly, appellant's appeal of the Commission's February 25, 2022, decision is dismissed as untimely. The Commissioner's April 14, 2022, final decision concurring with the penalty recommended by the Commission and censuring appellant for violating the Act remains in full force and effect.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

This Settlement Agreement and Release ("Agreement") is made and entered into by and between the RIDGEFIELD PARK BOARD OF EDUCATION, and C.H., o/b/o A.H. and A.H. (collectively "C.H."), (collectively the "Parties" and each individually a "Party"), for full settlement of certain civil and administrative claims that were alleged and/or could have been alleged by C.H., including the residency dispute between the Board and C.H, docketed as C.H o/b/o A.H. and A.H. v. Ridgefield Park Board of Education, Agency Docket No. 146-5/23, OAL Docket No.: EDU 06867-2023.

WHEREAS, the Board is a public body corporate and politic legally existing under the laws of the State of New Jersey that operates the Ridgefield Park School District ("District").

WHEREAS, C.H. is a New Jersey resident and the parent of two minors, A.H. and A.H..

WHEREAS, the Board determined that C.H. did not reside in Ridgefield Park during the 2022-2023 school year, and as a result her children, A.H. and A.H., would not be entitled to attend school in the District tuition free.

WHEREAS, on May 31, 2023, C.H. filed a Petition of Appeal of the Board's residency determination, docketed as C.H. o/b/o A.H. and A.H. v. Ridgefield Park Board of Education, Agency Docket No. 146-5/23, OAL Docket No.: EDU 06867-2023 ("Residency Appeal").

WHEREAS, during a meeting with District administration, C.H. acknowledged that she did not reside in Ridgefield Park for parts of the 2022-2023 school year, but that it was her intention to return to her residence in Ridgefield Park and remain domiciled in that home during the 2023-2024 school year; and

WHEREAS, the Parties desire to fully settle the dispute between them and avoid the uncertainty and expense of litigation arising out of the Residency Appeal.

NOW, THEREFORE, it is hereby stipulated and agreed by and between the Parties upon the following premises and in consideration of the promises, mutual covenants, and agreements set forth herein, and for other good and valuable consideration, the sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged, as follows:

1. Enrollment: The Board agrees to enroll A.H. and A.H., the children of C.H., in the District for the 2023-2024 school year.

2. Reserved Right to Disenroll: The Board reserves the right to disenroll A.H. and A.H. if evidence is presented that C.H. no longer is domiciled in Ridgefield Park.

3. Duty to Notify the Board: C.H. agrees to immediately notify the Board should she no longer reside in Ridgefield Park. Such notification shall be immediate and shall permit the Board to disenroll A.H. and A.H. from the District. Should it be discovered that C.H. no longer is domiciled in Ridgefield Park, but her children continue to attend school in the District, the Board further reserves the right to disenroll the students and charge C.H. the certified tuition rate for the time period when the students were enrolled, but not domiciled in the District.

4. Withdrawal and Stipulation of Dismissal: In exchange for the consideration set forth herein, C.H. shall dismiss, with prejudice, all allegations, claims, charges, actions, complaints, lawsuits, and/or appeals, instituted by C.H. against the Board, including, but not limited, to the Residency Appeal.

5. No Admission of Liability: This Agreement shall not be construed as an admission by the Board of any of any acts, omissions, or wrongdoing alleged or those that could have been alleged by C.H. against the Board. The Board specifically denies any liability whatsoever for any damages, injuries or other claims by C.H. that were alleged or could be claimed by C.H. C.H. acknowledges and agrees that they are not prevailing parties in connection with this matter.

6. Release: In exchange for the consideration set forth herein, C.H. releases and give up any and all claims and rights they may have against the Board for any damages or injuries to C.H. in connection with A.H.'s and/or A.H.'s education in the District, arising out of alleged acts or omissions, whether known or unknown, that have taken place through the date of this Agreement. As used in this Agreement, the term "Board" means the Ridgefield Park Board of Education, its current or former elected or appointed officials, administrators, employees, attorneys, agents, servants, representatives, predecessors and successors, insurance carriers, and all other persons or entities for whom any of the above have been or may be legally responsible. C.H. specifically releases any and all claims that could have been brought in a petition before the Commissioner of Education and any other civil or administrative claims that C.H. could assert now, or in the future, resulting from any action or failure to act occurring prior to the time C.H. sign this Agreement, under any provision of any law, common or statutory, of the United States, New Jersey or any other state, city, county, or locality, including but not limited to the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, 20 U.S.C. § 1400 et seq and N.J.A.C. 6A:14-1 et seq.; the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), and the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination (NJLAD); and any and all available claims for monetary or equitable relief, including but not limited to attorneys' fees, costs and disbursements, punitive damages, and penalties.

7. Agreement Not to Sue. C.H. agrees not to file any lawsuit or claim against the Board, based on any events, whether known or unknown, occurring prior to the date of the execution of this Agreement, in any court or tribunal of the United States, New Jersey or any other state, city, county, or locality, for any claims released in this Agreement.

8. Indemnification and Hold Harmless. C.H. agree to defend, indemnify and hold harmless the District and its representatives, insurers, third party administrators and attorneys from any claim that may be brought by A.H. or A.H. or on behalf of A.H. or A.H., during and at any time subsequent to the term of this Agreement, alleging any claims released in this Agreement.

9. Good and Valuable Consideration: The Parties agree that the resolution of the Residency Appeal and the terms set forth herein are good and valuable consideration for making this Agreement.

10. Consultation with Counsel: The Parties acknowledge that each has consulted, or had the opportunity to consult, with legal counsel of their own selection regarding this Agreement. The Parties understand how this Agreement will affect their legal rights and voluntarily enter into this Agreement with such knowledge and understanding. Each Party acknowledges that that the terms of this Agreement are fully understood and voluntarily accepted by them, and that, other than the consideration set forth herein, no promises or representations of any kind have been made to them by the other Party. The Parties represent and acknowledge that in executing this Agreement they did not rely, and have not relied, upon any representation or statement, whether oral or written, made by the other Party or by that other Party's agents, representatives, or attorneys with regard to the subject matter, basis, or effect of this Agreement or otherwise.

11. Knowing and Voluntary Acknowledgment: The Parties have read this Agreement in its entirety and understand all of its terms. The Parties warrant that they have executed this Agreement of their own free will and without duress. The Parties knowingly, freely, and voluntarily assent to all its terms and conditions, including without limitation, the waiver, release and covenants contained herein.

A signed copy of this Agreement delivered by facsimile, e-mail or other means of electronic transmission shall be deemed to have the same legal effect as delivery of an original signed copy of this Agreement.

16. Severability: If any of the provisions of this Agreement shall be held by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid or unenforceable, such invalidity or unenforceability shall not invalidate or render unenforceable the entire Agreement, but rather the entire Agreement shall be construed as if not containing the particular provision or provisions held to be invalid or unenforceable, and the rights and obligations of the Parties pursuant to this Agreement shall be construed and enforced accordingly.

17. Headings: Captions and headings of this Agreement are for reference purposes only and shall not in any way affect the meaning or interpretation of this Agreement.

18. Authority to Execute: All signatories hereto warrant and represent that they have the authority and are fully authorized to execute this Agreement and do thereby bind the Party which they purport to represent.

Final Decision

F.E.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Piscataway, Middlesex County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioner appealed the April 2018 decision of respondent, Township of Piscataway Board of Education (Board), to impose a one-year suspension on him for posting threatening messages on Instagram. On August 10, 2023, the Board unconditionally expunged the disputed suspension from F.E.'s permanent record. Subsequently, on August 22, 2023, the Board filed a motion to dismiss F.E.'s claim for mootness, which was opposed by the petitioner.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: F.E. opposed the motion to dismiss on the grounds that the relief he requests is not an expungement but "a dismissal of the charges with unconditional apology"; F.E.'s student records in the Piscataway School District no longer include any reference to the incident for which he received discipline in March 2018; any claims petitioner might have had against the Piscataway School District are now moot as the suspension of F.E. was expunged by the Board, and a plenary hearing in this matter would have no practical effect on the outcome of the case. The ALJ concluded that the matter is now moot, and petitioner's appeal must be dismissed.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL was adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition was dismissed.

v.
TOWNSHIP OF PISCATAWAY BOARD OF EDUCATION, MIDDLESEX COUNTY,
Respondent.

B.E., petitioner, pro se

David B. Rubin, Esq., for respondent

Record Closed: November 16, 2022 Decided: December 20, 2022

BEFORE TRICIA M. CALIGUIRE, ALJ

On May 1, 2018, the Township of Piscataway, Board of Education (Board) issued a decision suspending then-student F.E. for a portion of the next school year as discipline for conduct occurring on March 14, 2018. On or about July 30, 2018, B.E. on behalf of then-minor child F.E. filed a petition with the Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Education appealing the suspension. This matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed on August 16, 2018, as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:154B-1 et seq. and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 et seq. and docketed as EDU 11838-18.

Prior to the 2018–2019 school year, petitioner B.E. withdrew F.E. from Piscataway High School and enrolled him in a private school. On October 15, 2018, the Board filed a motion to dismiss the petition for lack of jurisdiction or alternately, for failure to state a claim on which relief may be granted. Following the filing of responsive briefs, an initial decision was issued on November 20, 2018, granting the motion to dismiss.

On January 4, 2019, the Commissioner issued a final decision reversing the initial decision and remanding the matter for further proceedings at the OAL. On January 11, 2022, in response to an inquiry from Board counsel, the Director of the Office of Controversies and Disputes stated that her office failed to transmit the matter back to the OAL. Petitioner elected to pursue the matter and the matter on remand was transmitted to the OAL, docketed as EDU 00375-22, and assigned to me on January 20, 2022.

The parties appeared for a telephone prehearing conference on February 28, 2022, and stated that they would engage in negotiations toward settlement. On or about June 10, 2022, the parties stated that they had reached agreement on settlement but, on August 30, 2022, counsel for petitioner stated that his client had withdrawn his consent to settle. During a telephone conference on September 9, 2022, which was attended by B.E., counsel stated that he would file a formal request to be relieved as counsel. Neither respondent nor B.E. objected to this request. On September 23, 2022, an order was entered relieving the Law Firm of C.N. Njoku, LLC, as counsel to B.E. on behalf of F.E.

During the September 9, 2022, status conference, B.E. stated his intention to retain new counsel within thirty days and a telephone conference was scheduled for October 12, 2022. Notice of the October 12, 2022, telephone conference was sent to the parties on September 12, 2022. A dial-in number was provided. Due to concern for the correct spelling of B.E.'s email address, the notice was sent to four separate emails and to his former counsel. The notice stated in bold print:

> Failure to dial in for the telephone conference will result in the file being returned to the transmitting agency for appropriate action which may include imposition of the proposed penalty or granting the relief requested by the other party.

B.E. failed to appear for the October 12, 2022, telephone conference. B.E. failed to notify my office in advance or to request an adjournment. On October 14, 2022, an email was sent to B.E. asking him to explain his failure to appear. B.E. did not respond.

On October 14, 2022, notice was sent to the parties of a telephone status conference on November 14, 2022. A dial-in number was provided. B.E. failed to appear for the November 14, 2022, telephone conference. B.E. failed to notify my office in advance or to request an adjournment. On November 15, 2022, an email was sent to B.E. asking him to explain his failure to appear. B.E. did not respond.

Absent exigent circumstances, a petitioner's failure to prosecute a matter should result in its dismissal. Henderson v. Jersey Central Power and Light Company, Dkt. No. PUC 2470-10, Initial Decision (January 5, 2011) http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/ new-jersey-administrative-decisions-0 (citations omitted).

Here, neither exigent circumstances nor, for that matter, any explanation whatsoever, has been offered to excuse petitioner's failure to prosecute this matter.

DECISION AND ORDER

Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has failed to prosecute its appeal and no longer requests relief in this matter. Therefore, I ORDER that this case be and is hereby DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." New Jersey Commissioner of Education

A.D., on behalf of minor child, A.D.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of River Edge, Bergen County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Pro se petitioner appealed the finding of the respondent Board that her daughter, a third-grade student at one of the respondent Board's schools, committed an act of harassment, intimidation, and bullying (HIB), pursuant to the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq, against an African-American classmate. The HIB complaint resulted from a comment made by A.D. to another student, saying that A.D. "hates black people." The student witness then reported the comment to the complainant, who perceived A.D.'s statement as insulting and demeaning. The petitioner argued, inter alia, that the Board failed to follow the investigative procedures outlined in its HIB policy, and that her daughter's statement was misconstrued as she was not referring to the complainant when she said she "hates black people;" rather, A.D. used the phrase to describe her feelings toward African-American employees of the aftercare program she attended who "yell at her." Petitioner sought to have A.D.'s HIB violation modified to a violation of the school's Code of Conduct. The Board contended that it had properly applied Board Policy 5131.1, Harassment, Intimidation and Bullying, in this matter.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there is no question that A.D. made the statement in question, which included a racial description; A.D.'s intent, however, was not to insult her classmate but rather to express her dislike for the African American personnel working in the school aftercare program; nonetheless, the complainant was upset by the remark and reported that she did not want to attend school, felt unsafe at recess and lunch, and felt fear from knowing that a classmate disliked her because of the color of her skin; and the incident caused a disruption to the school. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that the Board's HIB determination was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable, and dismissed the petition.

Upon review, the Commissioner, inter alia, concurred with the ALJ that the Board did not act in an arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable manner in rendering its HIB determination in this case. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL was adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

Final Decision

A.D., on behalf of minor child, A.D.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of River Edge, Bergen County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the exceptions filed by the petitioner pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and the Board's reply thereto, have been reviewed and considered.

Petitioner appeals the determination of the River Edge Board of Education (Board) that her child, A.D., committed an act of harassment, intimidation, and bullying (HIB). A.D. told another student (the witness) that A.D. "hates black people." The witness reported this comment to a third student (the complainant), who is black, and the witness and the complainant together reported A.D.'s statement to a teacher. During the course of the investigation, in the presence of the complainant, A.D. stated that she "doesn't like black people" because the African-American staff who work in the after-school program yell at her.

Following a hearing, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) found that there was no question that A.D. made the statement, which included a racial description. The ALJ further found that the complainant was upset by the remark and reported that she did not want to attend school, felt unsafe at recess and lunch, and felt fear from knowing that a classmate disliked her because of the color of her skin. Finally, the ALJ found that the incident caused a disruption to the school. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that the Board's decision was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

In her exceptions, petitioner argues that the statement was made when A.D. and the witness were alone, and that A.D. specifically referred to the black people at aftercare who yell at A.D. Petitioner contends that the statement initially caused no disruption; it wasn't until later, when A.D. and the witness began to have some conflicts between them, that the witness reported A.D.'s statement to the complainant. The petitioner suggests that the witness reported the statement in an attempt to get A.D. in trouble and that the witness repeated an incorrect version of the statement. Petitioner alleges that there are discrepancies among the interview notes, HIB report, and information presented at the hearing. According to petitioner, there was no history of mean behavior between the three students. Finally, petitioner argues that the Board did not provide any records or proof of a disruption.[1]

In reply, the Board argues that petitioner agreed in the Joint Stipulation of Facts that A.D. admitted saying that she "doesn't like black people." According to the Board, the information contained in the Joint Stipulation of Facts regarding the complainant's reaction to the statement, as well as the testimony presented at the hearing, demonstrates that A.D.'s statement substantially disrupted and interfered with the complainant's rights. The Board

[1] Petitioner also argues that A.D. was subject to retaliatory behavior by the other students following the incident. If petitioner believed that A.D. was the target of HIB, she was free to file a complaint. However, the acts of other students after the incident at issue have no bearing on whether the Board's decision was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

contends that the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act (Act) requires only an analysis of how A.D.'s motivation was perceived and whether that perception was reasonable, not an analysis of A.D.'s actual motivation or intent in making the statement. Accordingly, the Board urges the Commissioner to adopt the Initial Decision.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that that Board's determination that A.D. committed an act of HIB was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. When a local board of education acts within its discretionary authority, its decision is entitled to a presumption of correctness and will not be disturbed unless there is an affirmative showing that the decision was "patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Kopera v. W. Orange Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960). Furthermore, "where there is room for two opinions, action is not arbitrary or capricious when exercised honestly and upon due consideration[,]" and the Commissioner will not substitute his judgment for that of the board. Bayshore Sewerage Co. v. Dep't. of Envtl. Prot., 122 N.J. Super. 184, 199 (Ch. Div. 1973), aff'd, 131 N.J. Super. 37 (App. Div. 1974).

The Act defines HIB as follows:

> [A]ny gesture, any written, verbal or physical act, or any electronic communication, whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic, that takes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds as provided for in section 16 of P.L. 2010, c.122 (C.18A:37-15.3), that substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:
>
> a. a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student > or damaging the student's property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;

>
> b. has the effect of insulting or demeaning any student or group of students; or
>
> c. creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.
> N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14.

Therefore, a finding of HIB requires three elements. First, the conduct must be reasonably perceived as being motivated by any actual or perceived enumerated characteristic or other distinguishing characteristic and, second, the conduct must substantially disrupt or interfere with the rights of other students or the orderly operation of the school.[2] The third condition is that one of the three criteria enumerated in the Act regarding the effect of the conduct must also be satisfied. Wehbeh v. Bd. of Educ. of the Twp. of Verona, Essex County, Commissioner Decision No. 51-20 (decided February 4, 2020).

Regarding the first element, in defining HIB as an action "that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic . . .", N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14 (emphasis added), the statute requires an analysis of how the actor's motivation is perceived and whether that perception is reasonable. It does not require an analysis of the actual motivation of the actor. Wehbeh, supra. Certainly, evidence that the actor was motivated by a distinguishing characteristic would meet the standard of this section of the Act, but evidence that the actor was not so motivated does not end the analysis. Here, it was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable for the Board to conclude that the complainant reasonably perceived A.D.'s statement that she does not like black people as being motivated by the distinguishing characteristic of race.

[2] The conduct must also take place on school property, at a school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds as provided for in N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15.3. This requirement does not appear to be at issue in this case.

Regarding the second element, the investigation demonstrated that the complainant was upset by the remark and reported that she did not want to attend school, felt unsafe at recess and lunch, and felt fear from knowing that a classmate disliked her because of the color of her skin. Based on this evidence, the Commissioner finds that it was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable for the Board to conclude that A.D.'s statement substantially interfered with the complainant's rights.

Regarding the third element, an act of HIB is one that "a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student," "has the effect of insulting or demeaning a student," or "creates a hostile educational environment . . .". N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14(a) (emphasis added). None of these criteria require the actor to have actual knowledge of the effect that her actions will have, or to specifically intend to bring about that effect. The first requires only that a reasonable person should know there would be a harmful effect, not that the actor knows there would be such an effect. The second two criteria address only the actual effect of the act, without any reference to what either the actor or a reasonable person does or should know. Wehbeh, supra. As such, a board of education can find that an individual committed an act of HIB even if the individual did not intend to cause harm. For this reason, the Commissioner finds that petitioner's exceptions regarding her child's intent, and the alleged context behind her statement, are unpersuasive. The Board found that A.D.'s statement that she did not like black people was insulting or demeaning, satisfying the requirements of the Act. It was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable for the Board to reach that conclusion.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

BEFORE THOMAS R. BETANCOURT, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner filed a pro se Petition of Appeal with the New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Controversies and Disputes, dated May 1, 2023, challenging the Board's harassment, intimidation and bullying (HIB) determination.

The Office of Controversies and Disputes transmitted the contested case to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested matter, where it was filed on June 1, 2023.

A prehearing conference was held on June 20, 2023, and a Prehearing Order was entered on June 21, 2023.

Respondent filed a motion to exclude certain documents that were requested in the discovery demand of Petitioner. Petitioner declined to submit a response.

After an in camera review of the contested documents the undersigned granted Respondent's motion by Order dated September 12, 2023.

A hearing on the matter was held on September 18, 2023, whereupon the record closed.

ISSUE

Did Respondent err in determining that the minor child A.D. committed an act of HIB within the meaning of the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.2 et seq.

STIPULATED FACTS

1. The River Edge Board of Education (the "Board") operates a kindergarten through sixth grade public school district (the "District") for the Borough of River Edge in Bergen County, New Jersey and operates two schools.

2. Petitioner, A.D. is the mother of A.D., a student enrolled in the District, who is alleged to have committed an act of Harassment, Intimidation, and Bullying ("HIB"). On or about May 8, 2023 Petitioner, on behalf of her daughter (hereinafter, "A.D."), filed a Pro Se Petition of Appeal with the Office of Controversies and Disputes, which was transmitted as a contested case to the Office of Administrative Law on May 31, 2023. The relief sought by Petitioner is the reversal of the Board's HIB Determination and a modification of that determination to a code of conduct violation. A true and accurate copy of the May 31, 2023 Transmittal Notice is attached hereto as Exhibit J-1.

3. During the 2022-2023 School Year, A.D. was a third-grade student attending Cherry Hill Elementary School. The alleged Victim, (hereinafter referred to as "Victim), was also a student enrolled in Cherry Hill Elementary School during the 2022-2023 School Year.

4. On or about January 26, 2023 a Cherry Hill School third-grade classroom teacher, Ms. Kristen Karavitis, received a report from the Victim and a Student witness that A.D. said that she "hates black people", which her report noted occurred on school grounds. The report noted that the Victim reported this to her school counselor, who is also the Cherry Hill School's Anti-Bullying Specialist, Mrs. Janel Blake. A true and accurate copy of Mrs. Karavitis' Incident Report Form is attached hereto as Exhibit J-2, pg. 2.

5. Mrs. Blake reported the HIB Complaint to the Cherry Hill Principal, Mrs. Denise Heitman. Upon receiving this complaint Mrs. Heitman spoke with the three students involved outside of their classroom in the presence of Mrs. Karavitis. During this discussion the Victim stated that the Witness told her that A.D. said she "hates black people." The incident date noted in the report was January 24, 2023. During this discussion with Mrs. Heitman A.D. stated "she doesn't like black people" because they yell a lot in the after school program, in the presence of the Victim. A true and accurate copy of Mrs. Heitman's 338 Form is attached hereto as Exhibit J-3, pg. 2-3.

6. An investigation into the alleged incident ensued. On January 26, 2023, Mrs. Heitman called the parents of the students involved to inform them a HIB complaint was reported and that the allegations would be investigated. The District's investigation began on Thursday, January 26, 2023. A true and accurate copy of the District's redacted HIB Report is attached hereto as Exhibit J-4, p. 1, 3.

7. Mrs. Blake conducted the HIB Investigation. As part of her investigation Mrs. Blake interviewed A.D., the Victim, and the Student Witness. Mrs. Blake's HIB investigation report also noted that the Victim and Student Witness reported to their classroom teacher Mrs. Karavitis that A.D. said to the Student Witness that she "hates black people." Mrs. Blake's report also indicated that while the Victim did not hear this statement directly from A.D., the Student Witness who heard the statement repeated it to the Victim, who is African-American, in school on January 26, 2023. This HIB investigation report also noted that A.D. subsequently stated that she "doesn't' like black people" because they yell at her in her aftercare program, during her discussion with Mrs. Heitman in front of the Victim, the Student Witness, and the classroom teacher on January 26, 2023. See Exhibit J-4, p. 2.

8. Mrs. Blake noted in her report that A.D. had a pattern of mean behavior and excluding the Victim, which Mrs. Blake determined culminated in A.D.'s statement that she "does not like" or "hates black people." See Exhibit J-4, p. 3.

9. The HIB report noted that the Victim perceived the comment as insulting and demeaning. As a result of these incidents the Victim reported to Mrs. Blake she was uncomfortable, did not want to attend school, felt unsafe at recess and lunch, and reported she had a fear that came with knowing a classmate disliked her because of the color of her skin. See Exhibit J-4 at p. 3.

10. Mrs. Blake completed the HIB Investigation on Monday February 6, 2023. Upon completion of the investigation, Mrs. Blake determined that A.D. committed an act of HIB and violated the Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act. See Exhibit J-4, p. 2, 4.

11. Following the incident, A.D. met twice with Mrs. Blake during school hours and had two restorative learning days after school with Mrs. Heitman. The report recommended that A.D. would continue her school counseling with Mrs. Blake, write an apology letter to the Victim, and would enroll in Social and Emotional Learning. Mrs. Karavitis assigned lunch seating for the students involved. See Exhibit J-4, p. 3-4.

12. The results of the HIB Investigation were reported to the Superintendent, Cathy Danahy. After reviewing the report, the Superintendent affirmed the findings of the HIB investigation. The results of the investigation were reported to the Board on March 1, 2023. A true and accurate copy of the March 1, 2023 Board Minutes are attached hereto as Exhibit J-5.

13. The results of the Board's HIB Investigation were sent to Petitioner the following day, March 2, 2023. A true and accurate copy of the March 2, 2023 correspondence to Petitioner is attached hereto as Exhibit J-6.

14. Petitioner notified the Superintendent she would be appealing the Board's decision on March 7, 2023 via e-mail. In response, the Superintendent confirmed Petitioner's request for a Board hearing scheduled for March 14, 2023 and provided Petitioner a copy of the redacted HIB report. A true and correct copy of the March 7, 2023 e-mail exchange is attached hereto as Exhibit J-7.

15. Due to a scheduling conflict Petitioner requested the Board hearing be moved from March 14 to April 19, 2023. A true and correct copy of Petitioner's March 10, 2023 e-mail is attached hereto as Exhibit J-8.

16. At the hearing where Petitioner was represented by counsel, Petitioner implored the Board to reverse the Superintendent's determination to modify the finding to a code of conduct violation. A true and correct copy of the Board's revised decision dated April 24, 2023 is attached hereto as Exhibit J-9.

17. The Board rejected Petitioner's arguments and acted to affirm the Superintendent's decision. The Board's April 24, 2023 decision letter stated that any appeals of the Board's decision must be made to the Commissioner of Education no later than ninety (90) days after the issuance of the decision. See Exhibit J-9.

18. A true and correct copy of Board Policy 5131.1, Harassment, Intimidation and Bullying is attached hereto as Exhibit J-10.

19. A true and correct copy of A.D.'s apology note is attached hereto as Exhibit J-11.

FINDINGS OF FACT

The statement of A.D., the minor child, was not intended to be a racial epithet. Rather, A.D., the minor child, intended to express her dislike for the African-American personnel working in the school after care program, as they were not nice to her. Had A.D. merely stated that she did not like the aftercare personnel as they were not nice to her, without referring to any racial description, there would not have been a HIB investigation, as stated by Janel Blake, HIB specialist, in her testimony.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

The Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act ("Act"), N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13 et seq., is designed "to strengthen the standards and procedures for preventing, reporting, investigating, and responding to incidents of harassment, intimidation, and bullying of students that occur in school and off school premises." N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.1.(f). Under the Act, "harassment, intimidation or bullying" (HIB) is defined as:

> [A]ny gesture, any written, verbal or physical act, or any electronic communication, whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic, that takes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds as provided for in section 16 ofP.L.2010, c.122 (C.18A:37-15.3), that substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:
> a. a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging the student's > property, or placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;

>
> b. has the effect of insulting or demeaning any student or group of students; or
>
> c. creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.
> [N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14.]

Each school district must adopt a policy that prohibits HIB and provides for a prompt response to any alleged HIB incident. N.J.S.A 18A:37-15. Once an alleged HIB incident is reported to the school principal, the principal must initiate an investigation within one school day of the report. N.J.S.A 18A:37-15(b)(6). The investigation shall be conducted by a school anti-bullying specialist, and shall take no longer than ten school days to be completed. The results of the investigation shall then be quickly reported to the superintendent of schools, who may take certain remedial action. The results shall also be reported to the board of education "no later than the date of the board of education meeting next following the completion of the investigation, along with information on any services provided, training established, discipline imposed, or other action taken or recommended by the superintendent." Ibid.

Pursuant to the Act, the parents of the students involved in any alleged HIB incident are entitled to receive information about the nature of the investigation and the result of the investigation. The parents may request a hearing before the board, and the hearing must be held within ten days of the request. Any hearing shall be held in executive session to protect the identity of any students involved. The board may hear from the anti-bullying specialist about the incident, recommendations for discipline or services, and any programs instituted to reduce such incidents. The board must issue a decision at the first meeting after its receipt of the investigation report. The board may affirm, reject, or modify the superintendent's decision. The board's decision may be appealed to the Commissioner of Education.

An action by a board of education "is entitled to a presumption of correctness and will not be upset unless there is an affirmative showing that such decision was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable." Thomas v. Morris Twp. Bd. of Educ., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965). Thus, in order to prevail, those challenging an HIB decision made by a board of education "must demonstrate that the Board acted in bad faith, or in utter disregard of the circumstances before it." G.H. & E.H. ex rel. K.H. v. Bd. of Educ. of the Bor. of Franklin Lakes, EDU 13204-13, Initial Decision (February 24, 2014) (citation omitted) <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>, adopted, Comm'r (April 10, 2014). Also, a board's decision may be overturned if its determination violates the legislative policies expressed or implied in the governing act. J.A.H. ex rel. C.H. v. Twp. of Pittsgrove Bd. of Educ., EDU 10826-12, Initial Decision (March 11, 2013) (citing Campbell v. Dep't of Civil Serv., 39 N.J. 556 (1963), 562 (1963)), adopted, Comm'r (April 25, 2013) <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>.

There are reported cases in which HIB determinations by boards of education have been both affirmed and overturned. In R.G.B. v. Vill. of Ridgewood Bd. of Educ., EDU 14213-12, Initial Decision (May 15, 2013) <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>, adopted, Comm'r (June 24, 2013), the ALJ found that the Board did not act in an arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable manner in determining that a student engaged in HIB when he repeatedly called a female student "fat," "fat ass," and "horse." According to the ALJ, such verbal statements satisfied all of the necessary elements under N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14. And, in G.H., supra, the ALJ also upheld a Board's finding that a white student who repeatedly called a black student "Kool-Aid" engaged in HIB. The ALJ found that the "use of the word 'kool-aid' was directed at [the other student] because of his race; insulted and demeaned [the other student]; and . . . interfered with [the other student's] education" because "[u]pset and embarrassed children are not fully available for learning." However, in J.A.H., supra, the Board's finding that an incident in which one student stuffed a crumbled piece of paper down the shirt of another student constituted an act of bullying was overturned as arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable because the incident was merely a prank that was part of an ongoing, mutual conflict between the two boys and did not "contain the more serious and aggravating elements either 'expressed or implied' under [N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14.]" The ALJ found that the incident was not improperly motivated by a distinguishing characteristic and that the facts "only support[ed] a finding of ordinary student conflicts rather than the more serious behavior of bullying."

In the instant matter, there is no question that A.D. said she didn't like "black people". She was referring to the African American workers in the after care program that she perceived to be mean. There is also no question that this reference of not liking black people was relayed to an African American student in A.D.'s class by a third student in that class. The African American student was upset by the remark and related the same to Ms. Blake. A.D. then penned an apology letter to the African American student. This incident caused a disruption in that A.D., and the other two students involved, were counseled on the matter. A.D. underwent restorative measures with Ms. Blake and Ms. Heitman.

Given the totality of the facts in the instant matter, I cannot conclude that the Board acted in an arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable manner in determining that an HIB incident did occur. See In Thomas v. Morris Twp. Bd. of Educ., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965); R.G.B. v. Vill. of Ridgewood Bd. of Educ., EDU 14213-12, Initial Decision (May 15, 2013) <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>, adopted, Comm'r (June 24, 2013); and, J.A.H. ex rel. C.H. v. Twp. of Pittsgrove Bd. of Educ., EDU 10826-12, Initial Decision (March 11, 2013) (citing Campbell v. Dep't of Civil Serv., 39 N.J. 556 (1963), 562 (1963)), adopted, Comm'r (April 25, 2013) <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>.

While the undersigned may have come to a different conclusion than a finding of HIB, based on the intent of A.D. in making the statement, that does not mean that the Board acted in an arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable manner.

Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that Petitioner has failed to sustain the burden of establishing that the Board acted arbitrarily, capriciously, or unreasonably in finding that HIB did occur.

Based upon the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that the Petition must be DISMISSED.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that Petitioner's Amended Petition be DISMISSED with prejudice.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." Final Decision

Erskine Barrino,

Petitioner,

v.

New Jersey Department of Education,
Office of Student Protection,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioner challenged the determination of the New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Student Protection, to permanently disqualify him from employment in a public school pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 after a criminal history background check revealed that in November of 1990, petitioner entered a plea of guilty to a charge of unlawful possession of a weapon. Petitioner had been conditionally approved to serve as a security guard at a New Jersey public school. The Department filed a motion to dismiss petitioner's appeal.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: in 1990, petitioner was sentenced to two years' probation, which he completed; petitioner did not file a Petition for Expungement of his conviction until August 22, 2023; a hearing on the expungement is scheduled for October 23, 2023 in Superior Court; since the record of the conviction has not been expunged to date, the criminal record still exists and petitioner is therefore disqualified from holding any position in a New Jersey public school.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that petitioner's criminal history disqualifies him from working in a public school. Accordingly, the Initial Decision was adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition of appeal was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

ERSKIN BARRINO,

Petitioner,

v.

NEW JERSEY DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, OFFICE OF STUDENT PROTECTION,

Respondent.

Erskine Barrino, petitioner, pro se

Sadia Ahsanuddin, Deputy Attorney General, for respondent (Matthew J. Platkin, Attorney General of New Jersey, attorney)

BEFORE: JOHN P. SCOLLO, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Erskin Barrino seeks emergent relief from the Department of Education, Office of Student Protection's determination dated August 8, 2023 that he is disqualified from serving as a Security Officer for the West Orange (Essex County) Board of Education.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner, Erskin Barrino, filed a Pro Se Petition of Appeal on August 17, 2023 seeking Emergent Relief from the Commissioner of Education. He challenges the OSP's August 8, 2023 determination, as expressed in its Notice of Disqualification sent to him on August 8, 2023, that he is permanently disqualified from serving in any position with an educational institutional which is under the supervision of the N.J. Department of Education due to a November 14, 1990 guilty plea (Judgment of Conviction) to the charge of Possession of a Weapon (N.J.S.A. 2C:39-5B). On August 23, 2023, the OSP, represented by the New Jersey Attorney General's Office, filed papers (Brief) in Opposition to the Petition for Emergent Relief and a Motion to Dismiss said Petition.

On August 25, 2023, this judge issued his Order. On September 14, 2023, the Acting Commissioner of Education issued her Order concurring with this judge's denial of emergent relief; but directing this Tribunal to continue to the substantive issues presented, (i.e., a decision on the merits of the appeal). Since the parties were afforded the opportunity to address all issues, including both the issue of whether there was a basis for emergent relief as well as the opportunity to address the merits of their positions, this judge is satisfied that there is no need for further submissions or arguments.

This writing is the Tribunal's Supplemental Order addressing the mandate of the Commissioner's September 14, 2023 Order.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

Based on the submissions and the testimony elicited at the hearing on August 24, 2023, the Tribunal FINDS that the parties are not in disagreement about any of the following facts.

By way of background, on May 1, 1989, Petitioner Erskin Barrino was arrested in Bergen County on a charge of Possession (N.J.S.A. 2C:39-5B) of a Weapon.

On November 14, 1990, Barrino entered a plea of guilty to said charge. He was sentenced to two years' probation, which he completed. He did not file a Petition for Expungement of said conviction until August 22, 2023. There will be a hearing on the Expungement Petition on October 23, 2023 in the Superior Court of New Jersey, Criminal Part, Bergen County.

Erskine Barrino applied for the position of Security Officer with the Board of Education of West Orange, Essex Couty, New Jersey. On July 26, 2023, the Superintendent of School for West Orange sent a letter notifying Barrino that his appointment as a Security Officer was approved at the West Orange Board of Education's meeting of July 25, 2023 for the period from September 1, 2023 through June 30, 2024. However, on August 8, 2023, the State Department of Education, Office of Student Protection (OSP) sent a letter to Barrino notifying him of its determination that he is permanently disqualified from serving in any position with an educational institutional which is under the supervision of the N.J Department of Education. The OSP explained that Barrino's criminal history shows that on November 14, 1990 he entered a plea of guilty (a Judgment of Conviction) to the charge of Possession of a Weapon (N.J.S.A.

2C:39-5B). Since the record of the conviction has never been expunged, said criminal record still exists and he is therefore disqualified from holding said position.

ANALYSIS OF THE RESPECTIVE POSITIONS OF THE PARTIES

Arguments Presented by the Petitioner

Erskin Barrino's August 17, 2023 Pro Se Petition of Appeal admits that on November 14, 1990 he entered a guilty plea to the charge of Possession of a Weapon N.J.S.A. 2C:39-5B; that he was sentenced to two years of probation; and that he successfully completed probation. In his testimony, he admitted that he did not apply for an expungement until August 23, 2023. His Petition of Appeal seeks emergent relief pursuant to Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982). The argument upon which he seeks emergent relief is that he needs to work to support his family, which includes a child who has medical issues. He was appointed to the Security Officer position by the WOBOE, admittedly subject to the results of a background check. If he does not get the job with the WOBOE he will be jobless and unable to support himself and his family. He stated that he left his last employment during the week before the hearing because he had to give two weeks' notice to his employer, Mancon, Inc., where he worked for wages as a Parts Specialist and from whom he received health insurance coverage for himself and his family members. During the hearing, he stated that there was a possibility that he could regain his job with Mancon, Inc, unless it has been filled in the interim. He argued that since his guilty plea in 1990, he has not been involved in any criminal activity and that he learned from his mistake. He is a family man and wants to serve the interests of his own children and those of other schoolchildren and their parents.

The Tribunal explained the requirements of the four prongs of Crowe. The Tribunal emphasized that it is the burden of the person seeking emergent relief to persuade the Tribunal that he meets the requirements of each of the four prongs of Crowe. Barrino acknowledged that he understood this and addressed each of the four prongs.

When asked to explain how he met the requirements of demonstrating that he would suffer irreparable harm (the first Crowe factor) if the requested relief were not granted, he explained that needed both the wages and the health insurance coverage that was part of the prospective job, especially since he has a child who has medical issues. He admitted that the health insurance coverage, like wages, was an economic benefit. Of course, Crowe held that a harm is not irreparable if it can be redressed by money. Barrino had no response to this. When asked to present whether he had any other arguments that demonstrated irreparable harm that were not based on economic harm, Barrino basically had no response.

Given that opportunity to address the second, third and fourth Crowe factors, Barrino was not able to demonstrate that the law supported his claim for relief. In regard to the second Crowe factor, he could not overcome the OSP's argument that the law imposed a mandatory disqualification to people convicted of the type of offense that he had on his record. In regard to the third Crowe factor, he was unable to demonstrate why, that under the circumstances of the matter, he would have a likelihood of success on the merits. Finally, on the fourth Crowe factor, he could not demonstrate how, when the equities of the matter were compared, that he would suffer greater harm than the Respondent, if the relief he sought was not granted. Moreover, he was not able to refute the Respondent's argument that the interest of the students required that there be no exceptions to the disqualification of applicants who have a record of offenses proscribed by the applicable statutes.

DAG Ahsahuddin stated that she would rely on the arguments presented in her Opposition papers (Brief) to demonstrate that Barrino could not demonstrate that he would suffer irreparable harm (the first Crowe factor). As such, he could not meet all four of the Crowe factors and his Petition must fail. Moreover, since Barrino could not demonstrate that he was entitled to relief under any of the other three Crowe factors, it was clear that he was not entitled to the emergent relief he sought.

Since Barrino could not demonstrate entitlement to emergent relief, the motion to dismiss Barrino's Petition must be granted.

DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS OF FACT

Having reviewed the documents, testimony, and arguments presented, I make the following findings of FACT.

I FIND that Barrino's arguments on the issue of irreparable harm were based only on the economic effects of the Respondent's determination that he was disqualified from the position he seeks. Moreover, Barrino did not demonstrate that he was not capable of finding alternate employment. He even stated that he might be able to become re-employed with Mancon, Inc., a job where he received both wages and health insurance coverage.

I FIND that Barrino did present a sympathetic argument concerning the need for him to maintain health insurance coverage, but I further FIND that this is an argument based on the economic effects of the Respondent's determination.

I FIND that Barrino did not present cogent arguments that would meet the requirements of the second, third, and fourth prongs of Crowe.

I FIND that Barrino did not present sufficient facts or sufficient arguments that would satisfy any of the four Crowe factors.

I FIND that the disqualification is set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(c) (2) where it states:

> "[a]n individual ... shall be permanently disqualified from employment or service under this act if the individual's criminal history check reveals a record of conviction for any > crime of the first or second degree; or [a] crime as set forth in chapter 39 of Title 2C of the New Jersey Statutes."

I FIND that the use of the word "shall" in N.J.S.A. 18A:7.1 (c) (2) means that the disqualification is permanent and non-discretionary. I FIND that Barrino was not able to refute the Respondent's argument that the interest of the students required that there be no exceptions to the disqualification of applicants who have a record of offenses proscribed by the applicable statutes.

APPLICABLE LAW

Jurisdiction of the Commissioner of Education

N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9 provides

> The commissioner shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine, without costs to the parties, all controversies and disputes arising under the school laws ....

Law Governing the Granting of Injunctions Seeking Emergent Relief

N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(a) provides:

> Where the subject matter of the controversy is a particular course of action by a district board of education ... the petitioner may include with the petition of appeal, a separate motion for emergent relief ... pending the Commissioner's final decision in the contested case."

N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b) provides:

> A motion for stay or emergent relief shall be accompanied by a letter memorandum or brief which shall address the following standards to be met for granting such relief pursuant to Crowe v. DeGioia , 90 N.J. 126 (1982):
>
> 1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted;
>
> 2. The legal right underlying petitioner's claim is settled;
> 3. The petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and

> 4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

The Crowe Factors

Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982) arose out of a set of circumstances regarding support and palimony matters. Nonetheless, the case has been the polestar decision in New Jersey for cases wherein injunctive relief is sought. The case stands for the proposition that an injunction cannot be granted unless and until the party seeking relief presents clear and convincing evidence that: (1) the injunction is "necessary to prevent irreparable harm"; (2) that "the legal right underlying the claim is settled"; (3) that the party seeking relief has made "a preliminary showing of a reasonable probability of ultimate success on the merits"; and (4) that "the relative hardship to the parties in granting or denying [injunctive] relief", on a balancing of the equities, weighs in his favor. Crowe, 90 N.J. at 132-34. In order to prevail, the party seeking injunctive relief must demonstrate by clear and convincing evidence that he meets all four Crowe factors. Brown v. City of Paterson, 424 N.J. Super. 176, 183 (App. Div. 2012).

"[A] party who seeks mandatory preliminary injunctive relief must satisfy a 'particularly heavy' burden." Guaman v. Velez, 421 N.J. Super. 239, 247 (App. Div. 2011), Rinaldo v. RLB Inv., LLC, 387 N.J. Super. 387, 396 (App. Div. 2006).

Also, "[w]hen a case presents an issue of 'significant public importance', a court must [also] consider the public interest in addition to the traditional Crowe factors." Garden State Equal. v. Dow, 216 N.J. 314, 321 (2013).

Appellate courts are bound by the trial court's factual findings if they are supported by "substantial, credible evidence" in the record. Triffin v. Automatic Data Processing, Inc., 411 N.J. Super. 292,315 (App. Div. 2010).

Under the first Crowe factor, a party who seeks injunctive relief must establish that injunctive relief is necessary to prevent irreparable harm and to preserve the status quo.

Citizens Coach Co. v. Camden Horse R.R. Co. , 29 N.J. Eq. 299, 303 (E.&A. 1878). Irreparable harm is an "injury to be suffered in the absence of injunctive relief [that] is substantial and imminent." Waste Mgmt. of N.J., Inc. v. Union City Utils. Auth., 399 N.J. Super. 508, 520 (App. Div. 2008).

Under the second Crowe factor, injunctive relief will be withheld when the legal right underlying the claim is unsettled. Citizens Coach, at ps. 304-05.

Under the third Crowe factor, the party seeking relief is obligated to present clear and convincing evidence that he / she has a reasonable probability of ultimate success on the merits. Therefore, injunctive relief will not be granted where there are material facts in controversy. Citizens Coach at ps. 305-06. The party who seeks injunctive relief must be prepared to demonstrate facts which support his case and "must make a preliminary showing of reasonable probability of success on the merits." Crowe, at p. 133.

The second and third Crowe factors involve fact-sensitive analysis that "requires a determination of whether the material facts are in dispute, and whether the applicable law is settled." Waste Mgmt., at p. 528.

Under the fourth Crowe factor, the party who seeks injunctive relief must address the issue of relative hardship to the parties and he must establish that, on balance, the equities favor the grant of temporary relief to maintain the status quo pending the outcome of a final hearing." Crowe at p. 134. The party seeking injunctive relief must prove his case by clear and convincing evidence. Brown at p. 183 and thus his burden is 'particularly heavy'. Guaman at p. 247.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

The First Crowe Factor

Regarding the first Crowe factor, the Respondent convincingly argued that the Petitioner did not demonstrate that he would suffer irreparable harm if emergent relief were not granted. The Respondent convincingly argued that the Petitioner's failure to prevail on the first Crowe factor means that he cannot meet his burden of proving that he satisfied all of the Crowe factors, and it therefore follows that the Petition must be dismissed.

The Second Crowe Factor

Regarding the second Crowe factor, the Petitioner did not meet his burden of demonstrating that the law is settled in his favor.

The Third Crowe Factor

Regarding the third Crowe factor, the Petitioner did not meet his burden of demonstrating that under the circumstances of this matter he would be likely to prevail on the merits at trial.

The Fourth Crowe Factor

Regarding the fourth Crowe factor, the Petitioner did not demonstrate that on balance, the equities favor the grant of the temporary relief which the Petitioner seeks.

I CONCLUDE that the Petitioner failed to meet the requirements of any of the Crowe factors.

The Substantive Issues

I have found that N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1(c) (2) imposes a mandatory, permanent disqualification for anyone who has a criminal record of an offense listed under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 (here, a conviction for illegal possession of a weapon). I have found that Barrino was not able to refute the Respondent's argument that the interest of the students required that there be no exceptions to the disqualification of applicants who have a record of an offense enumerated under N.J.S.A. 18A: 6-7.1. I note that the language of N.J.S.A. 18A: 6-7.1 (c) (2) allows no discretion regarding the imposition of the disqualification. I therefore CONCLUDE that since Barrino has a criminal record that includes a conviction for an offense listed under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-7.1 (illegal possession of a weapon), he is disqualified from serving as a school security guard.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that Barrino's Petition seeking Emergent Relief in the form of an Order overturning the OSP's determination dated August 8, 2023 must be and hereby is DENIED; and it is further ORDERED that Petitioner's Petition, having not met the requirements of Crowe, must be and hereby is DISMISSED; and it is further ORDERED that Petitioner, having failed to demonstrate that he is not disqualified from applying for the position of school security guard or from serving as a school security guard, his petition must be dismissed; and it is further ORDERED that a copy of this ORDER shall be transmitted by email from the OAL to the Pro Se Petitioner, Erskin Barrino and to the Respondent's counsel, Sadia Ahsahuddin, DAG.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who is authorized by law to make the final decision in this case. The final decision shall be issued without delay but no later than forty-five days from the entry of this order. If the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION does not adopt, modify, or reject this order within those forty-five days, this recommended order shall become the final decision on the issue of emergency relief under N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

v.
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF MORRIS COUNTY VOCATIONAL SCHOOL DISTRICT, MORRIS COUNTY,
Respondent.

T.D., petitioner, appearing pro se

Carolyn R. Chaudry, Esq. appearing on behalf of respondent (Chaudry Law, attorneys)

Record Closed: September 28, 2023 Decided: September 29, 2023

BEFORE NANCI G. STOKES, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner T.D. brings this action challenging the decision of the Board of Education (Board) of the Morris County Vocational School District's (District) to transfer and withdraw his minor son S.D. from the Morris County School of Technology (MCST), where he attended the ninth grade during the 2022-23 school year, to his local high school.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On September 18, 2023, T.D, filed this emergent application seeking S.D.'s immediate return to MCST. The OAL scheduled this case for oral argument on September 26, 2023, but reassigned the case to me and rescheduled the oral argument for September 28, 2023.

On September 25, 2023, the Board filed its opposition to the motion. On September 27, 2023, petitioner responded. On September 27, 2023, I conducted a conference with the parties to clarify the issues and discuss a possible resolution with their consent. I received additional documentation from the District on September 27 and 28, 2023. Petitioner submitted a reply on September 28, 2023.

On September 28, 2023, I heard oral argument. I permitted petitioner time to further comment on exhibits from the District, which I received that day and closed the record.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

Many of the facts are not in dispute. MCST is a vocational public high school in Denville Township, Morris County, operating as part of the District. The District provides choice schools that are admissions-based, and no student has a right to attend a choice school. Students accepted into the District must maintain an adequate level of academic performance, adhere to the student code of conduct, and consistently attend their program to remain in any career-technical program in the District.

S.D., a fourteen-year-old, now attends the Jefferson Township High School (Jefferson) within his domicile. That school district provides college preparation classes, including Advanced Principles in Computer Sciences. Computer science principles are part of the tenth-grade curriculum at MCST. S.D. was accepted into Jefferson's honors program, STEM Academy, focusing on science, technology, engineering, and mathematics.

To support his emergent application, T.D. highlights that S.D. was taking Computer Information Systems (CIS) courses that he asserts are unavailable at the same level at his home public high school. Without a return to MCST, T.D. maintains that S.D.'s CIS instruction will suffer irreparable harm and will impact his ability to obtain a good college education or career. Petitioner supplies U.S. News' high school rankings to show that MCST's program is rated higher than that of Jefferson based on its students' performance on state-required tests, graduation, and college preparation.

T.D. asserts that the District did not follow its procedures in addressing S.D.'s behavioral issues, which could have prevented future events and kept him at MCST. Specifically, T.D. suggests that the District's HIB policy requires remedial measures to correct and avoid problem behavior. T.D. also notes that the District did not provide S.D. with the required educational instruction within five days of the suspension.

T.D. questions the completeness of the District's investigation of events involving S.D., citing a recent diagnosis of Oppositional Defiant Disorder (ODD) and incitement by others as the root cause of S.D.'s misconduct. Yet, S.D.'s parents only provided a psychiatrist evaluation diagnosing S.D. with ODD after the District's determination to return S.D. to his local public school. Further, T.D. did not challenge the results of the District's HIB investigations against S.D. Still further, both S.D. and his parents acknowledge S.D.'s inappropriate actions.

T.D. also argues that the District did not investigate other HIB incidents directed toward S.D., which T.D. reported on June 15, 2023, after the District's concerning S.D.'s return to his local high school. T.D. maintains that S.D. is suffering from social shaming by his peers due to speculation about his return to Jefferson. T.D. highlights that S.D. is doing better this year and has taken steps to improve his behavior, including counseling and successfully completing his Sunday school studies. S.D. apologized for his behavior.

In opposition to the petitioner's emergent relief request, the District supplies the Certifications of Scott Moffit, Superintendent; Mark Menadier, Principal; and Athena Borzeka, Director of Student Services and Special Education, with multiple exhibits.

By February 1, 2023, the District placed S.D. on a behavioral contract due to his accumulation of code of conduct violations, including substantiated harassment, intimidation, and bullying (HIB) charges. S.D. served a two-day suspension, and the District required that S.D. undergo counseling and complete restorative justice protocol. The contract explains that S.D.'s behavior did not comply with the MCST Student Handbook standards. To improve his standing at MCST, the District expected S.D. to demonstrate respect for all MCST community members and refrain from disparaging behaviors. Further, the District expected S.D. to contribute to a positive educational environment and adhere to the Internet usage agreement. The contract explains that further violating the code of conduct could result in additional disciplinary action.

Yet, after the contract began, S.D. engaged in subsequent events of academic dishonesty, demeaning and disruptive classroom conduct, loitering in a hall rather than going to class. MCST's principal met with S.D. following these incidents and advised T.D. of the misconduct. On May 31, 2023, the District substantiated another HIB charge against S.D. In other words, S.D. did not remedy his behavior while attending MCST. S.D.'s behavior was alarming.

On June 5, 2023, the District suspended him for the last ten days of school and advised T.D. it was returning S.D. to his local public school district. That day, the District notified T.D. of his rights concerning the 504 Plan.

For the 2022-2023 school year S.D. had a 504 Plan for ADHD and misophonia, commencing April 2023. As part of the HIB investigations, the Director of Special Services, who investigated the HIB charges against S.D., considered his disabilities, including the possible ODD diagnosis, even without a physician's diagnosis. The Director also serves as the District's 504 Plan Coordinator and Anti-Bullying Coordinator. Specifically, she reviewed S.D.'s 504 plan and concluded that S.D.'s disabilities were not the primary cause of his making racist comments, inappropriate sexual gestures, and severe lack of academic integrity. Instead, the District determined that S.D. understood right from wrong and received counseling on the seriousness of inappropriate racial comments. However, the District did not conduct a manifestation meeting or evaluation before S.D.'s suspension and return to Jefferson.

Under District Policy 5114.1, the District will return students with behavioral contracts whose behavior does not adequately improve to their resident school district. S.D.'s parents appealed the administration's decision to the Superintendent, who met with them to discuss the circumstances leading up to the decision to return S.D. to his resident school district. On June 21, 2023, the Superintendent upheld the determination.

S.D.'s parents appealed to the Board, which upheld the determination to return S.D. to his home school following the Board hearing on August 8, 2023. T.D. suggests the Board's closed session with MCST's Principal and Superintendent was inappropriate.

At the hearing, the Board also advised S.D. and his parents that it has a Share Time Cyber Security and Information Protection Academy, a two-year program in collaboration with the County College of Morris. Cyber security courses are part of the eleventh grade MCST curriculum. If S.D. can demonstrate his improved behaviors, the Board will give him priority admission into the Share Time program for his junior and senior years. Notably, when S.D. returned to his local high school, the District marked S.D. as a transfer and withdrawal from its rolls, not an expulsion.

LEGAL DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS

The regulations governing disputes before the Commissioner of Education allow petitioners to file a separate motion for emergent relief or a stay of that action pending the Commissioner's final decision in the contested case. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(a).

N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b) sets forth the standards governing motions for emergent relief and instructs that:

> A motion for a stay or emergent relief shall be accompanied by a letter memorandum or brief which shall address the following standards to be met for granting such relief pursuant to Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982):
>
> > 1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted;
> > 2. The legal right underlying petitioner's claim is settled;
> > 3. The petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and
> > 4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

[N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b).]

Indeed, the moving party must demonstrate each element "clearly and convincingly." Waste Management of N.J. v. Union County Utilities Authority, 399 N.J. Super. 508, 520 (App. Div. 2008). Emergent relief is designed "to 'prevent some threatening, irreparable mischief, which should be averted until opportunity is afforded for a full and deliberate investigation of the case.' Crowe, 90 N.J. at 132 (citation omitted).

Irreparable harm

Harm is considered irreparable if monetary damages cannot adequately redress it. Id. at 132-33. In other words, irreparable harm is described as "'substantial injury to a material degree coupled with the inadequacy of money damages.'" Judice's Sunshine Pontiac, Inc. v. General Motors Corp., 418 F. Supp. 1212, 1218 (D.N.J. 1976) (citation omitted). Further, a claimant must demonstrate more than the risk of irreparable harm.

Continental Group, Inc. v. Amoco Chemicals Corp., 614 F. 2d 351, 359 (D.N.J. 1980). Indeed, petitioner must show a clear threat of immediate irreparable injury because emergent relief is not appropriate to "simply eliminate a possibility of a remote future injury, or a future invasion of rights." Ibid. (citation omitted).

Here, T.D. suggests only possible future harm to S.D.'s college education and career without evidence to support that claim. T.D. speculates that the unavailability of MCST's CIS courses decides S.D.'s future. Further, whether MCST has a higher rating than Jefferson does not alone suggest irreparable harm to S.D. should he not return to MCST. Undeniably, colleges look at multiple factors in determining student admissions, not just where a student attended high school. S.D. is attending Jefferson without cost and will not lose credit for any semester. Instead, S.D. can complete his education at the public high school and receive a diploma from that school, even with college credits. College preparatory and computer courses are available to S.D. at Jefferson, including those offered at MCST. Should S.D. correct his behavior this year, he can also attend another computer-focused program associated with the county college to earn college credit and his high school diploma. Even if S.D. prevails on the underlying action, remedies, like missed CIS courses, could be at the District's cost. In other words, monetary damages could correct any transcript deficiencies.

While T.D. suggests that S.D. faces social shame surrounding his return to Jefferson, that harm, if any, has already occurred. To what effect a continuing suspension would have is unclear and speculative.

Thus, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has failed to shoulder the burden of proving that S.D. will suffer irreparable harm. Even though T.D.'s claim for emergent relief fails by not meeting this requirement, T.D. does not satisfy the remaining criteria for emergent relief.

Settled Legal Right

Emergent relief "should be withheld when the legal right underlying plaintiff's claim is unsettled." Crowe, 90 N.J. at 133 (citing Citizens Coach Co. v. Camden H. R. Co., 29 N.J.Eq. 299, 304-305 (E & A 1878)).

Local boards of education adopt rules for the management of the district's public schools and act to ensure the lawful and proper conduct of the district's public schools. The local school district of Jefferson Township is responsible for student tuition and transportation to a vocational school district like the District here. Under N.J.S.A. 18A:54-7, vocational school districts can receive pupils who applied for admission to and accepted for attendance at any county vocational school district school. The board of education of a county vocational school district then has control over admitted students, including the power to suspend and expel pupils from school. N.J.S.A. 18A:54-20(g).

The right to education is not without certain restrictions. Pupils must submit to the authority of their teachers; they must pursue their prescribed courses of study and comply with the rules established to govern the schools. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-1. Under N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2, a school district may expel or suspend a student for good cause. Good cause includes, in relevant part, continued and willful disobedience, open defiance of authority, taking the personal property of another, or harassment, intimidation, or bullying. School districts must develop a student code of conduct, establishing standards, policies, and procedures for positive student development and behavioral expectations. N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.5.

Expulsion" means the discontinuance of educational services or the discontinuance of payment of educational services for a student." N.J.A.C. 6A:16-1.3. S.D. was not expelled. Still, a long-term suspension means the "removal of a student for more than [ten] consecutive school days from the general education program, . . . but not the cessation of the student's educational services." Id. Notably, S.D.'s suspension and return to Jefferson was not S.D.'s first disciplinary suspension.

Significantly, vocational school districts have an alternative process for unsuccessful students called the "Return to Resident School District." This process is distinguishable from expulsion because students do not experience a discontinuance of educational services. Instead, the vocational school district transfers them back to their local school for re-enrollment, which again becomes responsible for providing the student with educational services like all other students in its local school district. Here, the District's Policy 5114.1 explains that the determination to return a student to their local district focuses on the safety of its students and staff population, the security and integrity of the district equipment and software, and the reasonable likelihood of the student to profit academically from the school program. The policy also includes a conference with the Superintendent, which occurred here.

Notably, under Policy 5114.1, the superintendent can issue a behavioral contract to a student to guide their continued enrollment. The policy further states that a "breech [sp.] of this contract will result in the student's return to the resident school district." Further, "in many cases, such dismissal will be timed to coincide with the end of a marking period." S.D. was under a behavioral contract in February 2023 to support and guide S.D. about his expected conduct. Yet, after the contract was in place, the District substantiated another HIB charge against S.D., among other code of conduct violations. The principal informed S.D.'s parents of S.D.'s continuing misconduct as it occurred. District Policy 5131.2 covers Harassment, Intimidation, and Bullying. This policy notes that responses to HIB incidents should align with the code of conduct, and consequences can run from admonishment to expulsion.

Students in public educational institutions facing severe disciplinary measures such as suspension or expulsion have the right to due process of law. R.R. v. Bd. of Ed., Shore Reg. H.S., 109 N.J. Super. 337, 346-47 (Ch. Div. 1970). The fundamental requirements of due process of law are notice and hearing. Id. at 349, (quoting from Dixon v. Alabama State Board of Education, 294 F.2d 150 (5th Cir. 1961), cert. denied, 368 U.S. 930, (1961)).

Policy 5114.1 explains the due process provided to parents and students when facing a student's return to their resident school district. Undeniably, S.D. and his parents received notice and attended several meetings before requesting and appearing at a Board hearing to address their appeal. See N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(c).

Here, S.D. has no right to return to a choice school without demonstrating that the District improperly returned S.D. to Jefferson. T.D. suggests the District did not follow its disciplinary or return to local school procedures but fails to adequately specify how. Even if the District did not supply education within five days of the suspension, that failure has little to do with the District's actions leading to S.D.'s suspension or his return to his local public school. Similarly, disputes regarding the District's failure to investigate other HIB incidents reported after S.D.'s suspension are not germane to the District's actions in suspending or returning S.D. to his resident school for his admitted misconduct. Petitioner suggests the Board's closed session to vote on S.D.'s discipline should not have included school administrators. However, when the Board votes on a student's suspension, it must review the case in consultation with school administrators. NJ.A.C. 6A:16-7.3. Still, that a school district may expel or suspend a student for good cause is settled in the Board's favor.

Thus, I CONCLUDE that the petitioner has not demonstrated that he has a legal right settled in his favor.

However, given S.D.'s 504 Plan, the District should have convened a manifestation meeting and evaluation under 34 CFR §104.35 to determine whether S.D.'s behavior was related to his disability before his suspension and return to the local public school. See Office of Special Education Programs Memorandum 95-16, U.S. Department of Education, 22 IDELR 531 (April 26, 1995.); See also "Frequently Asked Questions About Section 504 and the Education of Children with Disabilities," Office for Civil Rights (OCR), U.S. Department of Education. Even if S.D.'s right to an evaluation and manifestation meeting is settled under 34 CFR §104.35, this does not change the result of this emergent application because T.D. does not meet the required elements for that relief. Still, I urge MCST to do so now, even though I cannot order that relief through T.D.'s petition.

Likelihood of Success on the Merits

Under the third emergent relief standard, "a plaintiff must make a preliminary showing of a reasonable probability of ultimate success on the merits." Crowe, supra, 90 N.J. at 133 (citing Ideal Laundry Co. v. Gugliemone, 107 N.J. Eq. 108, 115-16 (E. & A. 1930)). This requirement if often implicitly tied to whether the right to the underlying claim is settled.

When a local board of education acts within its discretionary authority, its decision is entitled to a presumption of correctness that will not be disturbed unless there is an affirmative showing that the decision was "patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Kopera v. W. Orange Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960). To overcome that presumption, the petitioner must prove that the board "acted in either bad faith or in disregard to the circumstances." T.B.M. v. Moorestown Bd. of Educ., OAL Dkt. No. EDU 2780-07 (February 6, 2008), aff'd, Comm'r (April 25, 2013) (citing Thomas v. Morris Twp. Bd. of Educ., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965), aff'd, 46 N.J. 581 (1966)). Furthermore, "where there is room for two opinions, action is not arbitrary or capricious when exercised honestly and upon due consideration[,]" and the Commissioner will not substitute his judgment for that of the board. Bayshore Sewerage Co. v. Dep't. of Envtl. Prot., 122 N.J. Super. 184, 199 (Ch. Div. 1973), aff'd, 131 N.J. Super. 37 (App. Div. 1974). In other words, the burden is a heavy one.

Still, the Board's factual determinations require such deference only when supported by substantial credible evidence, e.g., having a rational basis. Quinlan v. Board of Ed. of North Bergen Tp., 73 N.J. Super. 40 (App. Div. 1962); Schinck v. Board of Ed. of Westwood Consol. School Dist., 60 N.J. Super. 448 (App. Div. 1960). Additionally, the reviewing tribunal may reject the findings of fact if the evidentiary record does not support them. In re Suspension of License of Silberman, 169 N.J. Super. 243, 255-56 (App. Div. 1979), aff'd, 84 N.J. 303 (1980).

Here, the District supplies its rationale for suspending and returning S.D. to Jefferson. S.D. did not deny his actions and his parents were aware of his continuing misconduct. Instead, T.D. maintains that others urged S.D.'s misconduct or that the District should have done more to correct his behaviors. Yet, the District addressed S.D.'s inappropriate behavior by placing him on a behavioral plan, providing counseling, completing restorative justice protocol, to no avail. While petitioner may be dissatisfied with the result, he presents little to show that it was improper, arbitrary, or unreasonable.

Therefore, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has not demonstrated that he has a likelihood of success on the underlying claim.

Balancing of the Equities

Lastly, T.D. fails to meet the fourth emergent relief standard, which involves "the relative hardship to the parties in granting or denying relief." Crowe, 90 N.J. at 134 (citing Isolantite Inc. v. United Elect. Radio & Mach. Workers, 130 N.J.Eq. 506, 515 (Ch.1941), mod. on other grounds, 132 N.J.Eq. 613 (E. & A. 1942)). T.D. must demonstrate that S.D. will suffer more significant harm than the Board if this tribunal does not grant the requested relief. If I deny emergent relief, S.D. will continue his public education at Jefferson. S.D. also has an opportunity to attend college-level computer courses if he can demonstrate that he appreciates the errors of his ways and acts appropriately this year. Further, his student record does not reflect expulsion.

On the other hand, S.D.'s improper actions were many and alarming. The District has substantiated two HIB claims against S.D. and counseled S.D. on significant instances of academic dishonesty along with demeaning, lewd, and disruptive classroom conduct. The District has a substantial interest in deterring student and staff member harassment and maintaining its programs' academic integrity and safety, free from misconduct like that of S.D. Thus, I CONCLUDE that balancing the equities weighs far more in favor of the District.

Based on the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has failed to meet the requirements under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b) warranting emergent relief. Accordingly, I ORDER that petitioner's application for such relief be and hereby is DENIED.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five days following the entry of this order. If the Commissioner of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Final Decision

Daniella Maniscalco,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Borough of Merchantville, Camden County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Pro se petitioner filed a petition in October 2022 in which she challenged the respondent Board's actions relating to the handling of her resignation from employment with the school district. The matter was dismissed on March 13, 2023 after the petitioner failed to appear for a scheduled hearing. Petitioner filed exceptions/explanations with the Commissioner as to why she failed to appear as scheduled; the matter was then reinstated and remanded to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) in a Final Decision dated April 10, 2023. The matter was subsequently scheduled for an in-person hearing at the OAL on September 26, 2023.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: prior to the hearing date, petitioner objected to respondent's exhibit and witness list, questioning why, among other things, two specific individuals were not being called by the Board to testify; petitioner did not provide any exhibits or supply a witness list as requested; at the September 26th hearing – which was converted to a Zoom format – petitioner refused to move forward because the Board did not produce the two witnesses that she believed were necessary to develop a full record; petitioner expressed significant displeasure with the overall handling of the matter, and steadfastly refused to proceed; when asked if she was thereby withdrawing her complaint, the respondent repeatedly answered "no", but subsequently removed herself from the Zoom hearing without comment. The ALJ found that the petitioner's conduct at the hearing was obstructive and intentional, and concluded that petitioner had abandoned her request for a hearing and forfeited her right to further contest the actions of the Board that she had complained about. Accordingly, the ALJ dismissed the petitioner's appeal with prejudice.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusion, and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. The petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

Daniel Long, Esq., for respondent (Wade, Long, Wood & Long, LLC, attorneys)

Record Closed: September 26, 2023 Decided: October 2, 2023

BEFORE TAMA B. HUGHES, ALJ:

This matter originated under Docket No. EDU 10388-22 and transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on November 17, 2022, for a hearing as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14f 1 to-13. Through this complaint, the petitioner challenged the Board's actions related to the handling of her resignation. The matter was dismissed on March 13, 2023, for failure to appear.

Petitioner filed exceptions/explanations with the Commissioner of the Department of Education as to why she failed to appear on the scheduled status calls. In a Final Decision, dated April 10, 2023, the matter was reinstated and remanded to the Office of Administrative Law, under OAL Docket No. EDU 03369-23, for a hearing. See April 10, 2023, Final Decision.

On June 27, 2023, a prehearing conference call was held at which time the in-person hearing date of September 26, 2023, was set.[1] See July 6, 2023, Prehearing Order. Subsequent to the issuance of the Prehearing Order, petitioner sent over a series of emails objecting to among other things: how the matter was being handled; the options available to her to resolve the matter; the location of the hearing; and the fact that she wanted another hearing judge. By letter, dated July 25, 2023, petitioner's concerns and questions were addressed. See July 25, 2023, letter.

On September 21, 2023, respondent's exhibits and witness list were provided to the petitioner and this Tribunal. By email that same date, petitioner objected to respondent's exhibit and witness list, questioning why, among other things, two other individuals, were not being called by the respondent to testify at the hearing. Petitioner did not provide any exhibits or supply a witness list.

On the hearing date, the petitioner refused to go forward with the hearing because the respondent did not produce the two witnesses that she believed were necessary to develop a full record. A lengthy colloquy took place both off the record and then on the record, wherein petitioner expressed her significant displeasure over the handling of the matter, the fact that no one told her that she herself could have subpoenaed and/or called the witnesses, how the undersigned was treating her, and the denial of her request for an adjournment. Throughout all of this, respondent's counsel stood by ready to proceed with his witnesses.

[1] The hearing date was subsequently converted to a remote hearing, via Zoom. At the time of notice, both parties were informed that all of the exhibits that they intended to rely upon, needed to be provided one week in advance of the hearing with a copy to this Tribunal, along with the proposed witness list.

Petitioner was repeatedly asked if she was ready to proceed with the hearing to which she would respond that she would only proceed if the two witnesses that she believed were necessary were brought in by the respondent to testify. When asked if she was going to withdraw the complaint given the fact that she refused to proceed with the hearing, she repeatedly stated "no." After this colloquy went on for some time - during which petitioner became increasingly argumentative, petitioner intentionally removed herself from the zoom hearing. The record remained open for several more minutes; however, the petitioner did not re-enter the remote hearing.

I FIND that the petitioner's conduct, her refusal to move forward, and leaving the virtual hearing, to be intentional and obstructive.

For the above reasons, I CONCLUDE that the petitioner has abandoned her request for a hearing in this matter and has forfeited her right to further contest the actions complained about. Accordingly, this matter should be dismissed with prejudice for lack of prosecution and failure to appear.

ORDER

It is ORDERED that the petitioner's appeal be DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4, and I DIRECT the Clerk to return the matter to the agency for appropriate disposition.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." Final Decision

G.C., on behalf of minor children, L.C., J.C. and B.C.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Borough of Saddle River, Bergen County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the proposed Settlement Agreement and Stipulated Consent Judgment (Agreement), and the Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner notes that paragraph 1 of the Agreement references an action that preceded the consideration of the settlement by the Commissioner of Education. The parties are reminded that a settlement of litigation before the Commissioner is not binding until the Commissioner approves the settlement. Further, the Commissioner notes that, with respect to Paragraph 8 of the Agreement, the Board is reminded that it must comply with the requirements of New Jersey's Open Public Records Act, N.J.S.A. 47:1A-1 et seq., notwithstanding any agreement the parties may have between themselves to keep the terms of their settlement confidential.

In light of the foregoing, the Commissioner adopts the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter, provided that the parties have already implemented the settlement terms or have agreed upon mutually satisfactory alternate dates for the effectuation of the terms of the Agreement. Assuming same, the matter is hereby dismissed, subject to compliance with the terms of the settlement consistent with applicable public records law.

BEFORE DANIEL J. BROWN, ALJ:

On August 16, 2023, the Commissioner of the Department of Education transmitted this case to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) under the Administrative Procedure Act, N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15, and the act establishing the OAL, N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -23, for a hearing under the Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules, N.J.A.C. 1:1-1.1 to -21.6.

A copy of their settlement agreement and board resolution are attached to this decision. Having reviewed the terms of the settlement agreement, I FIND that the parties have entered into their settlement voluntarily, as evidenced by their signatures, the signatures of their representatives, or both.

Moreover, I CONCLUDE that the settlement agreement is consistent with the law, is fully dispositive of all issues in controversy between the parties, and is otherwise consistent with the requirements of N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1.

Therefore, given my findings of fact and conclusions of law, I ORDER that the parties comply with the terms of their settlement and that these proceedings are now closed.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this case. This Settlement Agreement and Stipulated Consent Judgment ("Agreement") is entered into by and between Gia Casey o/b/o minor children L.C., J.C. and B.C. ("Petitioner") and the Saddle River Board of Education ("Board"), having principal offices at 97 E Allendale Rd, Saddle River, New Jersey 07458 (the Board and Petitioner are collectively referred to as the "Parties").

WHEREAS, for the 2022-2023 academic year, the minor children L.C., J.C. and B.C. (hereinafter referred to as the "Children") were enrolled in the Saddle River School District ("District"); and

WHEREAS, during the 2022-2023 the school district learned that neither Petitioner nor the Children were domiciled in Saddle River, New Jersey, but were domiciled in Kinnelon, New Jersey; and

WHEREAS, following notices to Petitioner and a residency hearing conducted by the Board of Education on June 28, 2023, during which Petitioner appeared and participated, the

Saddle River Board of Education found that the Children were not domiciled in Saddle River and voted to remove them from its school; and

WHEREAS, Petitioner filed the instant Petition of Appeal to dispute the Children's removal from the school, which Petition was later amended; and

WHEREAS, the Board of Education filed an Answer and Counterclaim to the Petition of Appeal, and thereafter Amended Counterclaim, seeking tuition for each of L.C., J.C. and B.C.'s attendance, in addition to reimbursement for extended school year services, special education related services and transportation; and

WHEREAS, the Parties have conferred and reached an amicable resolution to the issues between the Parties pertaining to the above-captioned matter, and as stated in the Parties' amended pleadings; and

WHEREAS, the Parties have each determined that this resolution is their respective best interest, without the need to spend further time and resources in proceeding to an administrative hearing.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual promises contained herein and other good and sufficient consideration, the receipt and sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged, the Parties now desire to memorialize the terms of their terms and conditions agreement in writing, as follows:

1. Petitioner agrees to pay the Board tuition for the Children's Period of Ineligible Attendance in the Saddle River School District during the 2022-2023 school year, which tuition and related expenses calculate to Ninety-Six Thousand Eight Hundred Sixteen Dollars ($96,816.00) but which the Board will agree to reduce to Eighty-Seven Eight Hundred Sixteen

Thousand Dollars ($87,816.00), which shall be referred to as the "Settlement Amount" as follows:

a. Petitioner shall pay the Settlement Amount in two (2) installments: the first payment in the amount of $43,908.00 must be received by the Board's business office by October 13, 2023, and the second payment in the amount of $43,908.00 must be received by the Board's business office by January 15, 2024.

b. Petitioner agrees that the Settlement Amount, which incorporates a reduction in the overall tuition owed, is contingent on the timely payment of the first installment.

c. Should the Board not receive the first installment, in full, by October 13, 2023, the second tuition payment will be $48,908.00, and must be paid by January 15, 2024.

d. All payments shall be made to the Board by personal or certified check, payable to the Saddle River Board of Education.

2. In the event Petitioner fails to pay in accordance with the terms set forth in this Stipulation:

a. Petitioner shall be given ninety (90) days from Notice of Default to cure same;

b. Thereafter, the Board may submit an ex parte certification to the Superior Court of New Jersey with notice to Petitioner, setting forth her failure to pay in accordance with the terms set forth herein with a consent judgment in Respondent's favor, in the form annexed hereto as Exhibit "A," for entry by the court (the "Consent Judgment"), and which Consent Judgment the parties authorize their attorneys to execute on their behalf. The Consent Judgment shall be for the full tuition amount owed for the 2022-2023 school year: $96,816.00, less any payments made by Petitioner to the Board pursuant to Paragraph 1 (above);

i. The original, fully-executed Consent Judgement shall be maintained with the Board's Attorney and shall not be filed with the Superior Court until/unless required to effectuate the payment of the tuition, and only after Petitioner was provided with notice of her default and provided with time to cure any such default, as specified herein.

ii. This Consent Judgment may be signed and dated in any number of counterparts, each of which shall be an original, and such counterparts shall together be one and the same Consent Judgment.

c. Petitioner waives all rights to contest entry of the Consent Judgment, an unexecuted copy of which is attached as Exhibit "A" to this Agreement. The Consent Judgment may be docketed with the Clerk of the Superior Court of New Jersey;

d. Petitioner shall pay all of the Board's reasonable attorney's fees and legal costs associated with enforcing the Board's rights under this Stipulation; and

e. No delay or omission on the part of the Board in exercising any right under this Stipulation will operate as a waiver of that right or of any other right under this Stipulation.

3. In consideration of the terms of this Agreement, Petitioner hereby waives, releases and indemnifies the Board, its employees, and agents from all possible claims, including claims that may be raised by 3rd parties with standing, that have or may have been accrued against the Board arising out of the Petition of Appeal and Amended Petition of Appeal in this matter. Nothing in this Release or Indemnification set forth in this Paragraph shall be construed as a release or waiver of any claims between the Parties seeking to enforce any term or provision of this Agreement.

4. In consideration of the terms of this Agreement, and as long as the Parents satisfy their obligations under this Agreement, the Board hereby waives and releases the Petitioner, her heirs, agents, representatives, and assigns, from any and all claims, demands, debts, liability, and causes of action of any type whatsoever, legal or equitable, arising from or pertaining to any act or circumstance including, but not limited to, anything that has occurred up to the date the Parties execute this Agreement, whether known or unknown, accrued or not accrued, as it concerns the claims that could have been raised in the above-captioned matter for the 2022-2023 school year.

5. Petitioner acknowledges that she has had the opportunity to review this Agreement in detail with her Attorney. Petitioner fully understand its requirements and limitations. Petitioner hereby states that she is signing this Agreement voluntarily, of her own free will, and not under duress or coercion of any kind.

6. This Agreement shall be construed fairly according to the plain language of its terms and not for or against any party hereto.

7. All parties are bound by this Agreement and each of its provisions. Anyone who succeeds their rights and responsibilities, such as their successors and assigns are also bound. This Agreement is made for the benefit of all parties hereto and all who succeed to their rights and responsibilities, and expressly includes their officials, representatives, employees, agents, attorneys, successors or assigns.

Decision

I.R., on behalf of minor child, J.R.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of East Brunswick, Middlesex County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioner appealed two harassment, intimidation or bullying (HIB) determinations by the respondent Board involving her daughter, J.R., who was an eighth grader in the Board's school district at the time of the incidents. Specifically, the Board had determined: (1) that J.R. committed an act of HIB pursuant to New Jersey's Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.2 et seq, when she created and disseminated a meme regarding the weight and appearance of another student, N.C.; and (2) that J.R. was not the victim of HIB by N.C. when N.C. started a fight with J.R. in retaliation. Petitioner contended that the HIB investigations into these matters were flawed, and sought, inter alia, to reverse both of the Board's HIB determinations involving her daughter.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: regarding the first Board determination above, the record demonstrated that J.R. had made comments to N.C. about her weight, but the Board's decision was based solely on the incident regarding the meme; the Board's written decision contained misstatements, including that J.R. created the meme, while the investigation demonstrated that another student had created it; and the Board's decision indicated J.R. had admitted to showing the meme to other students in the school when there is no such admission in the record; regarding the second Board determination above, N.C. did not commit an act of HIB when she physically attacked J.R. because N.C.'s actions were not "reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic," as required under N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14. Accordingly, the ALJ affirmed the Board's determination that J.R. was not the victim of HIB but reversed the Board's decision that J.R. had committed an act of HIB.

Upon review, the Commissioner found that the record contains sufficient evidence to support the Board's finding of HIB, and concluded that it was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable for the Board to have determined that J.R. committed HIB against N.C. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL was reversed in part and the Board's finding that J.R. committed an act of HIB was affirmed, while the Initial Decision was affirmed in part and the Board's finding that J.R. was not the victim of HIB was affirmed. The petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

I.R., on behalf of minor child, J.R.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of East Brunswick, Middlesex County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), and the exceptions filed by the East Brunswick Board of Education (Board) pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4 have been reviewed and considered. Petitioner did not file a reply to the Board's exceptions.

This matter involves two harassment, intimidation, and bullying (HIB) determinations made by the Board. First, the Board determined that J.R. committed an act of HIB when she created and disseminated a meme regarding the weight and appearance of another student, N.C. Second, the Board determined that J.R. was not the victim of HIB by N.C. when N.C. started a fight with J.R. in retaliation. Following a hearing, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) affirmed the Board's decision that J.R. was not the victim of HIB, finding that N.C.'s actions were not based on a distinguishing characteristic of J.R. The ALJ reversed the Board's decision that J.R. committed an act of HIB. The ALJ noted that although the record demonstrated that J.R.

had made comments to N.C. about her weight, the Board's decision was based solely on the incident regarding the meme. The ALJ found that the Board's written decision contained misstatements, including that J.R. created the meme, while the investigation demonstrated that another student had created it. Moreover, the Board's decision indicated J.R. had admitted to showing the meme to other students in the school when there is no such admission in the record. Because these factual inaccuracies did not support the Board's conclusion, the ALJ found that the decision was not entitled to a presumption of correctness and reversed the decision.

In its exceptions, the Board argues that even though the Board's decision erroneously states that J.R. created the meme, disseminating the meme is sufficient on its own for a finding of HIB against J.R. The Board also contends that the conduct reported by N.C. was not exclusive to the meme and extended to J.R.'s other comments about N.C.'s weight and appearance.

Upon review, the Commissioner finds that the record contains sufficient evidence to support the Board's finding of HIB. When a local board of education acts within its discretionary authority, its decision is entitled to a presumption of correctness and will not be disturbed unless there is an affirmative showing that the decision was "patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Kopera v. W. Orange Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960). Even if J.R. did not admit to disseminating the meme, N.C. did report during the investigation that she saw J.R. showing the meme to other students. The Commissioner concludes that it was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable for the Board to find N.C.'s report credible, or for the Board to find that J.R.'s conduct in disseminating the meme met the statutory criteria for an act of HIB.

Additionally, the record is replete with J.R.'s admissions that she called N.C. "fat" on numerous occasions. These allegations were contained in the HIB complaint filed by N.C.'s parents, and they were addressed in the investigation report on which the Board's decision was based. J.R.'s insulting comments toward N.C. also meet the statutory criteria for an act of HIB.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is reversed in part, and the Board's finding that J.R. committed an act of HIB is hereby affirmed. The Initial Decision is affirmed in part, and the Board's finding that J.R. was not the victim of an act of HIB is affirmed. The petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

AGENCY DKT. NO. 265-10/18

I.R. ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILD, J.R.,

Petitioner,

v.

TOWNSHIP OF EAST BRUNSWICK BOARD OF EDUCATION, MIDDLESEX COUNTY,

Respondent.

I.R., petitioner on behalf of minor child J.R., pro se

Frances L. Febres, Esq., for respondent (Cleary, Giacobbe, Alfieri, Jacobs, LLC, attorneys)

Record Closed: July 11, 2022 Decided: August 18, 2023

BEFORE CARL V. BUCK III, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner I.R. appeals the determinations by respondent Township of East Brunswick Board of Education (Board) that (1) I.R.'s daughter, J.R., violated the Board's harassment, intimidation, or bullying (HIB) policy when "she created and disseminated a meme regarding [N.C.'s] weight and appearance" and that (2) J.R.'s classmate, N.C., did not violate the Board's HIB policy when she fought J.R. For the reasons that follow, I conclude that the Board's determination that N.C. did not commit a HIB act against J.R. should be affirmed, while the Board's determination that J.R. committed an act of HIB against N.C. should be reversed.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On August 3, 2018, the Board determined that J.R. committed an act of HIB against her classmate, N.C., on the basis of N.C.'s weight or appearance, but that N.C. did not commit a HIB act by starting a fight with J.R. in retaliation. Petitioner filed a timely petition of appeal with the Commissioner of Education, and upon receipt of an answer from the Board, the Commissioner, on December 5, 2018, transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. The matter was heard on January 31, 2020, and February 19, 2020. The record was closed after post-hearing submissions by the parties on July 11, 2022. Orders of extension of the deadline to file the initial decision were signed on August 16, 2022; October 6, 2022; November 23, 2022; January 9, 2023; April 10, 2023; May 15, 2023; and July 7, 2023. By these orders of extension, the deadline for filing the initial decision was extended to August 21, 2023.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS

The following facts are derived from the documentary evidence submitted by the parties to this matter, and I FIND:

This matter arises from separate HIB incident reports filed on May 21, 2018, by the fathers of two eighth-grade students at Churchill Junior High School in East Brunswick. In the first report, the father of N.C. alleged that his daughter "has been subject to name-calling and derogatory social media posts related to her weight and physical appearance." (R-2.) The alleged offender was N.C.'s classmate, J.R. Ibid. In the second report, J.R.'s father, I.R., who is the petitioner in this matter, alleged that his daughter had been the target of a physical attack by N.C. on May 16, 2018, and that J.R. "has been 'the victim of physical attacks by the members of the same group" while at school. (R-3.)

As a result of the HIB allegations, an Anti-Bullying Specialist, Tiffany Papp, conducted an investigation and issued two separate written reports of her findings on May 31, 2018. (R-2; R-3.) As part of her investigation into the incidents, Ms. Papp interviewed several students, including J.R. and N.C. Ibid.

According to N.C., a group of students, including J.R., had been picking on her throughout the school year. (R-3.) One day, a member of that group, identified as "O2" in one of the HIB reports, posted "a picture of a fat sheep on Instagram. I was tagged in it. The caption said 'Look' with my name tagged to it. It was [O2's Instagram] account." Ibid. N.C. told Ms. Papp that, "It made me feel upset. I don't know why they need to make me feel bad. [J.R.] had the picture before first period. She was holding it up and laughing in front of people in the hallway. I wanted to cry, but I didn't. The bell rang, so I went to class. I usually see [J.R.] after period 2. That's when I pushed her and she swung at me." Ibid. In a statement about the incident, N.C. wrote, "They were bullying me and posting mean things about me and calling me fat and I had enough, so I hit [J.R.]" (R-2.)

In her written statement, J.R. wrote, "Walking to class and got thrown into a window by [N.C.] She threw punches and I hit her back in self-defense." (R-3.) J.R. reported that she had had issues with N.C. and N.C.'s group of friends throughout the school year. Ibid. In her interview with Ms. Papp, J.R. explained that "Someone else posted something not nice [about [N.C.]] online. I'm friends with him . . . so she associated me with it [the online posting]. In school, her and her friends followed me to my class . . . [N.C.] hit me." (R-2.) J.R. stated that she and N.C. "see each other in the halls all the time" and that when she saw N.C., "I would say fuck you and call her fat." Ibid.

In his interview, O2 admitted that he posted the sheep meme and stated that, in doing so, "I guess I was calling her fat." Ibid. He further stated that "[J.R.] had nothing to with it and then [N.C.] went up to her and hit her." Ibid.

Another student who was interviewed and identified as "W1" stated that N.C. "told me that she got tagged in an Instagram post. It was a fat ram meaning that she was fat and it was O2 that posted it." Ibid. According to W1, "[N.C.] told us before the fight in period 2 that she had enough and that she was going to fight [J.R.]" Ibid.

Another student who was interviewed, "W3," "Before period 1, [J.R.] said something to [N.C.] [J.R.] also said something to [N.C.] right before she fought her and [N.C.] just got fed up and went for it. In the morning before the fight, [N.C.] said she didn't know how to make it stop. She went to Guidance, she tried to approach [O2 and J.R.] That didn't work. I also told O2 to stop. It just didn't stop, so [N.C.] fought." Ibid.

"W4," another student witness who was interviewed, stated that "There's been a lot of back and forth between [J.R.], O2, and [N.C.] . . . [N.C.] saw a picture online that was meant to be a fat blob. O2 posted it. It was meant to call [N.C.] fat. That over-did it . . . They would call her fat and all to her face. Then, when they put the 'fat' picture up she had enough." Ibid. According to W4, "[J.R.] just doesn't stop running her mouth about [N.C.] saying that she's fat and a bitch. [N.C.] says it back to her. [N.C.] does get herself into drama, but [J.R.] really started this one with them going at each other."

Finally, "W5" recounted that "[J.R.] takes O2's side and whatever O2 does, [J.R.] does. So, [N.C.] went up to [J.R.] and said, 'Why did you post that about me with O2?' [J.R.] tried to hit her. [N.C.] tried to block her and then they fought." Ibid.

After interviewing the students who were involved in or witnessed the incidents, Ms. Papp concluded that J.R. and the student who posted the picture of a sheep on his Instagram account committed HIB against N.C. (R-2.) Ms. Papp determined that that the incident involving the picture met the definition of HIB because the distinguishing characteristic motivating the incident was N.C.'s "weight/physical appearance;" "offender knew the action would physically or emotionally cause harm to the victim[;]" and the incident "insulted or demeaned a student" and "created a hostile educational environment by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student." (R-2.)

However, Ms. Papp concluded in a separate written report that N.C.'s physical attack on J.R. did not meet the definition of HIB because, although J.R. "was in fear of physical or emotional harm," there was an absence of a distinguishing characteristic motivating the incident." (R-3.) Instead, the incident was addressed under the school's code of conduct. (R-4.)

Thereafter, J.R.'s parents met with school administrators about the HIB reports. (R-5.) J.R.'s parents wanted to know why school officials had determined that their daughter was not the victim of HIB and explained that the physical altercation with N.C. had a negative emotional and educational impact on J.R. Ibid. The school officials offered to provide J.R. with certain supports. Ibid.

By letter, dated June 18, 2018, an assistant superintendent, Louis Figueroa, notified J.R.'s parents that J.R. was found to have committed an act of HIB and the reasons therefor. R-8. Specifically, Dr. Figueroa summarized the HIB investigation findings as follows: J.R. "insulted or demeaned another student" and "offender upset the victim by her actions." Ibid. And he listed the evidence as "offender electronically bullied the victim;" "actions caused emotional harm and interfered with the victim's education;" and "offender bullied the victim by these actions." Ibid.

However, in the letter, Dr. Figueroa mistakenly wrote that "This report is sent to you as a result of a comprehensive HIB investigation in which your child, Joseph was identified as an offender." Ibid. J.R.'s first name is not Joseph.[1] Dr. Figueroa notified the parents of their right to a hearing before the Board. Ibid.

In response, J.R.'s parents requested a hearing before the Board, and on July 26, 2018, appeared before the Board to contest the findings that J.R. committed an act of HIB against N.C. and that J.R. was not the victim of HIB as a result of the physical altercation with N.C. (R-10.)

[1] However, J.R.'s actual first name is written correctly in another section of the letter. Ibid.

By letter, dated August 3, 2018, the Board informed J.R.'s parents that "the Board determined to uphold the Superintendent's findings." Ibid. With respect to the fight, "the Board agreed with [Ms. Papp's] determination that the other student's conduct was not motivated by a perceived or actual characteristic; rather, the other student's conduct was a code of conduct violation and was in response to your daughter's dissemination of an inappropriate meme about the student. During [Ms. Papp's] investigation, your daughter admitted to showing the meme to other students in school." Ibid. As for the other incident, "the Board found that your daughter's conduct did meet the HIB criteria as she created and disseminated a meme regarding the other student's weight and appearance." Ibid.

The Board informed J.R.'s parents of their right of appeal to the Commissioner of Education. Ibid.

On October 30, 2018, I.R. did, in fact, file an appeal with the Commissioner and after the Board filed an answer, the Commissioner sent the matter to the OAL as a contested case.

A hearing was held on January 31, 2020, and February 19, 2020. At the hearing, Mark Sutor and Louis Figueroa testified for the Board, while I.R. testified on his own behalf. Ms. Papp, who was on maternity leave and unable to testify in person, provided written testimony on behalf of the Board.

Mark Sutor (Mr. Sutor), Principal of Churchill Junior High School, testified on behalf of the Board. Mr. Sutor testified that he reviews the report of the Anti-Bullying Specialist to determine if the findings meet the legal definition of HIB. These incidents first came to his attention when there was a fight in the school. N.C. hit or pushed J.R. and J.R. pushed back before the fight was broken up. He learned the fight was caused by a meme of a large sheep. The fight was originally handled as a code of conduct issue for which both students were disciplined, and then I.R. requested an HIB investigation into the matter. Mr. Sutor testified that when N.C.'s parents were notified of the HIB investigation, they requested an HIB investigation into J.R.'s conduct. As part of his request, I.R. claimed that four girls in the school had a history of bullying J.R.

Mr. Sutor testified that Ms. Papp, the Student Assistance Counselor at a different school in the district, was assigned to complete the HIB investigation because I.R. asked for an independent HIB specialist. Ms. Papp conducted both investigations at issue here. She found that J.R. had made negative and demeaning comments toward N.C. over a period of several months that referred to her weight and appearance. Mr. Sutor testified that J.R. had done this along with other students, both in the hallways at school and online, and it was extremely upsetting to N.C. Ultimately, Ms. Papp found that J.R. had bullied N.C. Regarding N.C.'s misconduct, Mr. Sutor testified that Ms. Papp found that an altercation had occurred, but that N.C. did not commit an act of HIB against J.R. because no distinguishing characteristic was identified as the motivation for the altercation. Instead, Ms. Papp found that J.R.'s sharing of the meme was the reason for N.C.'s actions.

Mr. Sutor also testified that he met with I.R. on June 13, 2018, to discuss the findings. After this meeting, I.R. appealed the findings of the District to the Board, which held a hearing on July 26, 2018. At this meeting, the Board upheld the findings of the District regarding both HIB investigations. The Board agreed that there was no lasting impact on J.R.

When asked about J.R.'s grades declining at the end of the 2017-2018 school year and during the following school year, Mr. Sutor testified that it is normal for grades to change for students transitioning from middle school to high school. Mr. Sutor explained that transitioning from the elementary school model (2017-2018 school year) to the high school model (2018-2019 school year), as J.R. did, can result in a change in a student's grades, so that is not necessarily a result of a HIB incident.

Dr. Louis Figueroa, (Dr. Figueroa), Assistant Superintendent, District Anti-Bullying Coordinator, and County Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights Chairman, also testified on behalf of the Board. Dr. Figueroa testified that he reviews the HIB investigations from the Supervisor of Student Services, who is Danielle Blalock. He then reviews them with the superintendent before they go to the Board. Dr. Figueroa explained that the anti-bullying specialist conducts the HIB investigations themselves and they undergo training to be able to do so. Dr. Figueroa testified that he also provides monthly updates to the supervisor of student services and the anti-bullying specialists in the District.

Dr. Figueroa testified that he reviewed both of the reports that are on appeal here and that he agreed with the findings in both cases. He makes sure that the findings are consistent with the law and that there are facts to back up the determinations that are made. He found that both of the findings in this matter were supported by sufficient evidence. Dr. Figueroa spoke to I.R. about the findings around the end of May or beginning of June, though he could not recall the exact date. He testified that they spoke about I.R.'s concerns regarding the accuracy and the questions that were asked by the anti-bullying specialist. He testified about a meeting with I.R. and his wife on June 13, 2018, which also included Danielle Blalock and Mr. Sutor. Dr. Figueroa testified that he always meets with parents when they ask to discuss HIB findings. Dr. Figueroa also explained that he sent a follow up letter after the meeting, which was followed by I.R.'s request to be heard by the Board, received around June 25, 2018.

Dr. Figueroa testified that the Board heard this matter on July 26, 2018, a date requested by I.R. During this hearing, I.R. was able to speak to the Board and the Board questioned Dr. Figueroa, Mr. Sutor, and Ms. Blalock. He testified that the Board voted to accept the recommendations of the District on both HIB investigations. The Board agreed with the findings against J.R. because there was an actual or perceived characteristic (weight or appearance) that motivated J.R. and the evidence showed that J.R. knew her actions would physically or emotionally harm N.C., that it insulted or demeaned N.C., and that it created a hostile educational environment.

Tiffany Papp (Ms. Papp)Student Assistance Specialist and Anti-Bullying Specialist, was unavailable to testify for the Board due to being on leave, so written testimony was provided. Direct and cross-examinations with written answers were both admitted into evidence. At the time of the investigation in May 2018, Ms. Papp was employed at the Hammarskjold Middle School but was asked to conduct the HIB investigations at issue here as an independent party. She is trained to complete HIB investigations.

The first reported incident which Ms. Papp investigated, as stated in the Anti-Bullying Specialist Reporting Form was "the parent of the alleged target [N.C.], reports that [N.C] has been subject to name-calling and derogatory social media posts related to her weight and physical appearance." Ms. Papp's investigation included reviewing written statements from the students involved and interviewing witnesses. At the conclusion of this investigation, Ms. Papp found J.R.'s conduct met the definition of HIB due to an actual or perceived characteristic that motivated the incident and because of the effects of the behavior on N.C. Therefore, a finding of HIB was made against J.R.

The second reported incident which Ms. Papp investigated, as stated in the Anti-Bullying Specialist Reporting Form, "the parent of the alleged target, [I.R.], requested an HIB investigation following a physical incident on May 16, 2018. [I.R.] states that his daughter, [J.R.], has been "the victim of physical attacks by members of the same group while in the Churchill Junior High School building." Ms. Papp's investigation included reviewing written statements from the students involved and interviewing witnesses. Ms. Papp also reviewed video footage of the incident. At the conclusion of the investigation, Ms. Papp found this to be an unconfirmed incident of HIB because there was no actual or perceived characteristic that motivated the incident.

Ms. Papp noted that although J.R. informed her of past issues with N.C., the other students interviewed did not. Ms. Papp also noted that all four of the students requested by I.R. were investigated as part of the second incident with J.R. as the alleged victim. Additionally, since the two incidents were related, most students were only interviewed once for both investigations. While J.R. was not found to have created the meme of N.C., she was found to have disseminated it in school. J.R. was also found to be involved in making verbal comments regarding N.C.'s weight and appearance.

I.R. testified for himself and his daughter. According to I.R, J.R.'s grades declined after the fight with N.C. I.R. testified that J.R. lost trust in school authorities and actively avoided interactions with the school administration. J.R. also attended therapy for months after the incident. I.R. noted that the letter from Dr. Figueroa named a different student as the offender, rather than J.R., and that the Board incorrectly wrote in its decision that J.R. admitted to sharing the meme and that she "created and disseminated" the meme. I.R. felt that this was a reason to reverse the findings in the investigation against J.R. I.R. also testified that there were no independent witnesses interviewed during the investigation because all of them were either members of J.R.'s friend group, or N.C.'s friend group.

I.R. testified that since the letter containing the findings from Dr. Figueroa contained errors (the wrong name) and directly contradicts the findings of the District's own investigation by Ms. Papp, who did not interview any independent witnesses, the finding against J.R. should be reversed. Regarding the investigation against N.C., I.R. testified that the distinguishing characteristic is that J.R. left the friend group, or "exclusion." Additionally, I.R. testified that his initial HIB investigation request included other students and not just N.C.

Each one of the witnesses testified in a manner that was forthright, direct, and thorough; as such, I found their testimony to be credible.

In April 2020, the parties submitted post-hearing briefs on their respective positions. I.R. maintains that the Board's determinations must be reversed due to certain procedural deficiencies of the HIB investigations and because the evidence does not support the Board's determinations. I.R. contends that he and his daughter were denied due process because the school misidentified J.R. as "Joseph" when informing I.R. and his wife that J.R. had committed an act of HIB, the Board incorrectly concluded that J.R. not only disseminated the meme but also "created" it, there was no proof that J.R. actually shared the meme, no proof of emotional harm to N.C., and Ms. Papp did not interview "independent" witnesses. I.R. also argues that his daughter was the victim of bullying because the distinguishing characteristic motivating N.C.'s instigation of the fight with J.R. was that "J.R. was singled out by the group of students and cast as an outsider and a pariah after she stop[ped] being a friend with that group[.]" I.R. also states that J.R. suffered emotionally and academically after the incident.

The Board maintains that its determinations should be affirmed because (1) "[t]he Board acted reasonably in determining that J.R. violated the HIB policy by repeatedly calling [N.C.] 'fat,' a 'fat pig,' and a 'fat toddler' multiple times a day for several months;" (2) "the Board acted reasonably in determining that J.R. was not a HIB victim because actions taken against J.R. were not motivated by a distinguishing characteristic;" and (3) "the Board's determinations must be upheld because the record clearly supported the Board's HIB determinations and there were no material procedural errors."

First, with respect to the HIB finding against J.R., the Board notes that J.R. and N.C. had an ongoing feud, that "J.R. specifically admitted to previously calling N.C. a 'fat toddler' and further admitted to calling N.C. 'fat'", and that "N.C. would often run to the bathroom and cry." The Board also notes that:

> J.R. did not specifically deny she disseminated the meme portraying N.C. as a 'fat sheep'; she only denied creating the same. However, N.C. stated that J.R. was showing the meme prior to first period and N.C.'s friends supported her account by stating that J.R. somehow instigated N.C. the morning of the fight. Given this, it was reasonable for the ABS and the Board to find that J.R. disseminated the meme portraying N.C. as a 'fat sheep.'

Second, the Board argues that N.C. did not bully J.R. by fighting her because the fight was not motivated by a distinguishing characteristic. Instead, the fight "arose from a dispute between two feuding parties." Moreover, even if the fight had been the result of J.R.'s exclusion from a former group of friends, the Board maintains that "a dispute between students purely arising from an underlying conflict 'such as a relationship falling apart between former friends' is not HIB." And to the extent that I.R. alleges that N.C. attacked J.R. because J.R. is "small," there is no evidence to support this allegation.

Finally, the Board posits the following:

> [I.R.] also argues that the Board's decision to affirm [the finding the J.R. bullied N.C.] should be reversed because its written decision included the following two incorrect statements: (1) J.R. created the 'fat sheep' meme and (2) J.R. admitted to showing around the 'fat sheep' meme. However, these errors were . . . de minimis because the Board fulfilled its procedural mandate to release a written decision affirming, rejecting, or otherwise modifying the factfinder's decision. Although the basis provided by the Board may certainly guide the Commissioner's analysis, reversal of a Board decision is inappropriate 'where the record is sufficient for a fact finder to determine whether an act of HIB occurred.'

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

The Anti-Bullying Act is designed "to strengthen the standards and procedures for preventing, reporting, investigating, and responding to incidents of harassment, intimidation, and bullying of students that occur in school and off school premises."[2] N.J.S.A. 18A:37-13.1(f). Under the act, HIB is defined as:

> [A]ny gesture, any written, verbal or physical act, or any electronic communication, whether it be a single incident or a series of incidents, that is reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic, such as race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or a mental, physical or sensory disability, or by any other distinguishing characteristic, that takes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function, on a school bus, or off school grounds as provided for in section 16 of P.L.2010, c.122 (C.18A:37-15.3), that substantially disrupts or interferes with the orderly operation of the school or the rights of other students and that:
> a. a reasonable person should know, under the circumstances, will have the effect of physically or emotionally harming a student or damaging the student's property, or

[2] The act was recently amended to add several other procedural requirements regarding HIB investigations. L. 2021, c. 338. However, the amendments became effective in 2022, and the Board's and school staff's actions must be assessed in light of the Anti-Bullying Act's requirements as they existed in 2018.

> placing a student in reasonable fear of physical or emotional harm to his person or damage to his property;
>
> b. has the effect of insulting or demeaning any student or group of students; or
>
> c. creates a hostile educational environment for the student by interfering with a student's education or by severely or pervasively causing physical or emotional harm to the student.
>
> [N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14.]

As the Commissioner has explained, under this provision, N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14, "a finding of HIB requires three elements":

> First, the conduct must be reasonably perceived as motivated by any actual or perceived enumerated characteristic or other distinguishing characteristic and, second, the conduct must substantially disrupt or interfere with the rights of other students or the orderly operation of the school. The third condition is that one of the three criteria enumerated in the Act regarding the effect of the conduct must also be satisfied.

Each school district must adopt a policy that prohibits HIB and provides for a prompt response to any alleged HIB incident. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15. Once an alleged HIB incident is reported to the school principal, the principal must initiate an investigation within one school day of the report. N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6). The investigation shall be conducted by a school anti-bullying specialist, but "the principal may appoint additional personnel who are not school anti-bullying specialists to assist in the investigation." Ibid. The investigation shall be completed within ten days of the initial HIB complaint. Ibid.

The results of the investigation shall then be quickly reported to the superintendent of schools, who may take certain remedial action. Ibid. The results shall also be reported to the board of education "no later than the date of the board of education meeting next following the completion of the investigation, along with information on any services provided, training established, discipline imposed, or other action taken or recommended by the superintendent." Ibid.

The parents of the students involved in any alleged HIB incident are entitled to receive information about the nature of the investigation and the results of the investigation. Ibid. The parents may request a hearing before the board, and the hearing must be held within ten days of the request. Ibid. Any hearing shall be held in executive session to protect the identity of any students involved. Ibid. The board may hear from the anti-bullying specialist about the incident, recommendations for discipline or services, and any programs instituted to reduce such incidents. Ibid.

A school board must issue a written decision at the first meeting after its receipt of the investigation report. Ibid. The board may affirm, reject, or modify the superintendent's decision. Ibid. The board's decision may be appealed to the Commissioner of Education. Ibid.

An action by a board of education "is entitled to a presumption of correctness and will not be upset unless there is an affirmative showing that such decision was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable." Thomas v. Morris Twp. Bd. of Educ., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965). In other words, "action of the local board which lies within the area of its discretionary powers may not be upset unless patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Kopera v. Bd. of Educ. of the Town of W. Orange, 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960). Indeed, "the scope of the Commissioner's review is . . . not to substitute his judgment for that of those who made the evaluation but to determine whether they had a reasonable basis for their conclusions." Id. at 298. Thus, in order to prevail, those challenging a HIB decision made by a board of education "must demonstrate that the Board acted in bad faith, or in utter disregard of the circumstances before it." G.H. & E.H. ex rel. K.H. v. Bd. of Educ. of the Bor. of Franklin Lakes, EDU 13204-13, Initial Decision (February 24, 2014) (citation omitted), adopted, Comm'r (April 10, 2014) <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>.

I. The Board's determination that J.R. committed an act of HIB as detailed in its written decision is without a rational basis and must be reversed.

First, I am constrained to CONCLUDE that the Board's written decision that J.R. committed HIB against N.C. lacks a reasonable basis and cannot stand.

As prologue, it is clear from the exhibits that J.R. and N.C. had a contentious relationship prior to their physical fight on May 16, 2018. It is equally clear that, while the conflict was mutual, J.R. crossed the line on several occasions, including her admission that in the midst of their ongoing feud, she and N.C. would "see each other in the halls all the time" and that when she saw N.C., "I would say fuck you and call her fat." Calling N.C. "fat" – an actual or perceived distinguishing characteristic – understandably upset N.C. and interfered with her right to be "left alone" at school and these circumstances would meet the statutory definition of HIB. However, this misconduct by J.R. was not the stated basis for the Board's determination that J.R. committed HIB against N.C.

The Anti-Bullying Act provides that "the board shall issue a decision, in writing, to affirm, reject, or modify the superintendent's decision" and "[t]he board's decision may be appealed to the Commissioner of Education[.]" N.J.S.A. 18A:37-15(b)(6)(e). Here, Dr. Figueroa, the Assistant Superintendent, wrote a letter to J.R.'s parents in which he specifically informed them that J.R. committed an act of HIB against another student because she "electronically bullied the victim." The inference here is that J.R. "electronically bullied" N.C. by showing the sheep meme to others on J.R.'s smartphone. And there is no mention in the letter of a finding that J.R. bullied N.C. by calling her "fat."

Then, in the written decision issued by the Board to J.R.'s parents on August 3, 2018, the Board stated that it had "reviewed" the HIB reports issued by Ms. Papp, the Anti-Bullying Specialist, that "[d]uring the ABS' investigation, your daughter admitted to showing the meme to other students in school," and that "the Board found that your daughter's conduct did meet the HIB criteria as she created and disseminated a meme regarding the other student's weight and appearance."[3] (Emphasis added). J.R.'s involvement with the sheep meme is the sole stated basis for the Board's determination that J.R. committed HIB against N.C. And this written decision by the Board (including the determination that J.R. was not the victim of HIB) was what I.R., as was his right under the HIB statute, appealed to the Commissioner.

The problem with the Board's written decision is that the stated basis for the Board's determination that J.R. committed HIB against N.C. does not align with the evidence in the record. First, at no point during her interview did J.R. admit that she showed the meme to other students.[4] If she had admitted to this, the Board would undoubtedly have reason to conclude that such misconduct, and its effect on the victim, constituted HIB. Yet the Board mistakenly relied on J.R.'s "admission" to conclude that J.R. committed HIB by sharing the hurtful meme with others. The Board compounded its error by stating that J.R. "created" the meme, another misstatement of the facts, as another student admitted to creating the meme without J.R. Finally, and contrary to the Board's leading argument in its post-hearing brief, nowhere in the Board's written decision did that body specifically "determine[] that J.R. violated the HIB policy by repeatedly calling [N.C.] 'fat,' a 'fat pig,' and a 'fat toddler' multiple times a day for several months." Instead, the Board's stated reason for finding that J.R. committed an act of HIB against N.C. was that J.R. "created and disseminated a meme regarding the other student's weight and appearance."

It Is clear from the evidence that J.R. did not create the meme. It is not clear whether, without J.R.'s "admission" that she shared the meme, the Board would have concluded that she did. While N.C. stated in her interview that she saw J.R. showing the meme to other students, none of the other students who were interviewed by Ms. Papp mentioned anything about this happening. Instead, the student who actually created and posted the hurtful meme stated that "[J.R.] had nothing to with it and then [N.C.] went up to her and hit her;" another student recalled that "Before period 1, [J.R.] said something to [N.C.] [J.R.] also said something to [N.C.] right before she fought her and [N.C.] just got fed up and went for it" (emphasis added); another student said that "when they put the 'fat' picture up [N.C.] had enough" (emphasis added); and finally, another student offered that "So, [N.C.] went up to [J.R.] and said, 'Why did you post that about me with O2?' [J.R.] tried to hit her." These witness accounts at least suggest a different impetus for the fight – not that J.R. "shared" the meme, but that N.C. thought she had something to do with creating and posting the meme.

[3] In her report on the HIB investigation against J.R. (R-2), Ms. Papp does not specifically state the basis for her HIB finding. The report is written on what appears to be a standard form that is used for all HIB incidents. In the report, she merely recites in a "Factual Findings" section the numerous statements by the accused, the accuser, and witnesses, and then in the section, "Distinguishing Characteristic Motivating the Incident," puts an "X" next to "OTHER actual or perceived characteristic (identify):" and writes "Weight/Physical appearance" as the distinguishing characteristic," and places "X's" next to the applicable categories in the section "Effect of HIB (check all that apply)."

[4] In fact, it appears from a review of the HIB reports that J.R. was never even asked by Ms. Papp whether she shared the meme and laughed about it with other students.

What is known is that the Board erroneously found that J.R. admitted to sharing the meme, and this supposed admission by J.R., not N.C.'s allegation, was the specific finding made by the Board in its written decision and the presumptive basis for the Board's conclusion that J.R. "disseminated" the meme.

While the Board argues that "these errors were . . . de minimis because the Board fulfilled its procedural mandate to release a written decision affirming, rejecting, or otherwise modifying the factfinder's decision," these errors were not "de minimis," but substantive, and cause for reversing the Board's determination that J.R. committed HIB against N.C. The HIB statute does not specify the level of detail required in a school board's written decision "to affirm, reject, or modify the superintendent's decision." Perhaps it would be sufficient for a school board to simply write that "we affirm," or "we reject," or "we modify" the superintendent's decision, and leave it at that. However, here, the Board detailed the findings undergirding its decision and, unfortunately, the stated reasons do not support the Board's conclusion.

I.R. appealed the Board's written decision that J.R. committed HIB because she "admitted" to sharing the sheep meme with others, and that she "created and disseminated the meme;" the written decision that I.R. appealed included no mention or finding regarding instances in which J.R. called N.C. "fat" or some variation thereof. And while a school board's decision is entitled to a presumption of correctness, there is nothing correct about the Board's determination that J.R. committed HIB by "creating" and "admitting" to "disseminating" the sheep meme. As such, I CONCLUDE that the Board's decision that J.R. committed HIB against N.C. must be REVERSED.

II. The Board's determination that N.C. did not commit an act of HIB against J.R. must be affirmed.

Second, I CONCLUDE that the Board's determination that N.C. did not commit an act of HIB when she physically attacked J.R. because N.C.'s actions were not "reasonably perceived as being motivated either by any actual or perceived characteristic," as required under N.J.S.A. 18A:37-14. Whether N.C. fought J.R. because she thought J.R. shared the meme or because, as N.C. wrote in a statement about the incident, J.R. and her group of friends were "bullying me and posting mean things about me and calling me fat and I had enough, so I hit [J.R.]," the Board reasonably concluded that N.C. did not fight J.R. because of "any actual or perceived characteristic" of J.R.

Contrary to I.R.'s argument, and consistent with the Board's argument, "exclusion" from a group or a "falling out" between friends is not a distinguishing characteristic that is protected under the HIB statute. And, as the Board also argues, there is no support for I.R.'s assertion that N.C. attacked J.R. because J.R. is "small." None of the students interviewed by Ms. Papp, including J.R., mentioned J.R.'s physical stature as a possible factor that motivated N.C.'s actions.

ORDER

Based upon the foregoing, it is hereby ORDERED that (1) the Board's determination that J.R. committed an act of HIB against N.C. is REVERSED while (2) the Board's determination that N.C. did not commit a HIB act against J.R. is AFFIRMED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Haifa Zahroon,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Paterson,
Passaic County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Pro se petitioner sought to purchase service credit from the New Jersey Division of Pension and Benefits (Division) for 1995-1997. The respondent Board was unable to locate and provide her payroll records for those years, as they were likely destroyed in a flood of the Board's administrative offices, and provided alternate documentation which was rejected as inadequate by the Division. Petitioner subsequently filed the within petition. The Board filed a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: petitioner alleged that the Board was negligent in maintaining her records and failed to notify her that the records had been destroyed, but did not allege any violation of New Jersey's school laws; the relief sought by the petitioner, i.e. retirement benefits, can only be obtained from the Division, not the Board. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that the petition failed to state a claim upon which relief can be granted and dismissed the petition.

Upon review, the Commissioner adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. In so doing, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that the relief sought by petitioner does not fall under the school laws, and -- pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9 – the Commissioner's jurisdiction is limited to controversies and disputes arising under the school laws. The Commissioner does not have the authority to order the award of retirement benefits to petitioner, as that authority lies solely with the Division. Accordingly, the petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Haifa Zahroon,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Paterson, Passaic County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the exceptions filed by the petitioner pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and the reply thereto by the Paterson Board of Education (Board), have been reviewed and considered.[1]

Petitioner has been employed by the Board since 1995. The first two years of her employment were not included in her years of service for pension purposes due to the nature of her position at that time. Petitioner attempted to purchase service credit from the New Jersey Division of Pension and Benefits (Division) for 1995-1997, but the Board was unable to locate and provide her payroll records for those years, possibly because they had been destroyed in a flood at the Board's administrative offices. The Board attempted to provide alternative documentation, such as Board meeting minutes approving petitioner's employment, a Form W2, and a personnel transaction form. However, the Division found that those records were insufficient and, in the absence of petitioner's payroll records, denied petitioner's purchase request. This appeal followed.

Following the Board's motion to dismiss, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) found that although petitioner alleged that the Board was negligent in maintaining her records and failed to notify her that the records had been destroyed, petitioner had failed to allege any violation of New Jersey's school laws. The ALJ further found that the relief petitioner sought – retirement benefits – could not be obtained from the Board, but only from the Division. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that the petition failed to state a claim upon which relief can be granted and dismissed the petition.

In her exceptions, petitioner argues that she has provided adequate evidence of her employment and that the Board should provide a letter certifying her employment so that she can purchase her pension service credit. In reply, the Board contends that it has already provided a letter to the Division in support of petitioner's service credit purchase request, and that there is nothing else it can do because any resolution is in the hands of the Division, such that the ALJ properly granted its motion to dismiss.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the petition must be dismissed. Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9, the Commissioner's jurisdiction is limited to controversies and disputes arising under the school laws. Petitioner has not alleged any violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:1-1 et seq. or N.J.A.C. 6A:1-1.1 et seq. Furthermore, the Commissioner does not have the authority to order the award of retirement benefits to petitioner, as that authority lies solely with the Division.

Accordingly, the Board's motion to dismiss is granted, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[2]

HAIFA ZAHROON,
Petitioner,
v.
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF PATERSON, PASSAIC COUNTY,
Respondent.

Haifa Zahroon, petitioner, pro se

Sandra A. Graise, Esq., for respondent (Florio, Perrucci, Steinhardt, Cappelli, Tipton & Taylor, attorneys)

Record Closed: August 3, 2023 Decided: September 28, 2023

BEFORE KELLY J. KIRK, ALJ:

On February 7, 2023, petitioner Haifa Zahroon filed a Pro Se Petition of Appeal (Petition) and attachments with the New Jersey Department of Education (Department) requesting that the Commissioner consider a controversy that had arisen between petitioner and respondent Board of Education of the City of Paterson, Passaic County, New Jersey (Board). The Board filed an answer on May 9, 2023.

On May 12, 2023, the Department transmitted the case to the Office of Administrative Law under the Administrative Procedure Act, N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15, and the act establishing the office, N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -23, for a hearing under the Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules, N.J.A.C. 1:1-1.1 to -21.6, and the rules of procedure established by the Department to hear and decide controversies and disputes arising under school laws, N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.1 to -1.17. Jurisdiction to hear and determine controversies and disputes arising under the school laws is conferred under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9.

On July 5, 2023, the Board filed a motion to dismiss the Petition, consisting of a brief and three exhibits. On July 7, 2023, petitioner filed opposition to the Board's motion, consisting of a letter and nine exhibits. On July 24, 2023, the Board filed a letter brief in reply, and on August 3, 2023, petitioner filed a surreply.

To initiate a contested case for the Commissioner's determination of a "controversy or dispute arising under the school laws," a petitioner must prepare a petition of appeal conforming to the requirements of N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.4 and serve such petition upon each respondent, together with any supporting papers the petitioner may include with the petition. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(a). The petitioner must name as a party any person or entity indispensable to the hearing of a contested case and failure to do so may be grounds for dismissal of the petition pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.10. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(b).

A petition must include, inter alia, a statement of the specific allegation(s) and essential facts supporting them that have given rise to a dispute "under the school laws"; the relief petitioner is seeking; and a statement of verification or certification in lieu of affidavit for each petitioner. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.4. The petition should also cite, if known to petitioner, the section or sections of the school laws under which the controversy has arisen. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.4. The respondent(s) must serve an answer upon the petitioner and the answer must state in short and plain terms the defenses to each claim asserted and shall admit or deny the allegation(s) of the petition. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(a). However, nothing in N.J.A.C. 6A:3 precludes the filing of a motion to dismiss in lieu of an answer to a petition, provided that such motion is filed within the time allotted for the filing of an answer. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(g). Briefing on such motions shall be in the manner and within the time fixed by the Commissioner, or by the administrative law judge if the motion is to be briefed following transmittal to the OAL. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(g). At any time prior to transmittal of the pleadings to the OAL, in the Commissioner's discretion or upon motion to dismiss filed in lieu of answer, the Commissioner may dismiss the petition on the grounds that the petitioner has advanced no cause of action even if the petitioner's factual allegations are accepted as true or for lack of jurisdiction, failure to prosecute, or other good reason. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.10.

The "Statement of Specific Allegations and Essential Supporting Facts" in the Petition states as follows:

> I was employed by the Paterson Public Schools Board of Education from December 1995 to November 24, 1997, as a research assistant. I was hired for this role along with over twenty-five other people. This team was created and funded by the Comer Grant and was under the supervision of Dr. Gloria Hagopian. At that time, the district did not pay toward pension or health benefits because we were considered part-time employees although we worked over 40 hours a week. On November 24, 1997, the district created the Division of Assessment, Planning, and Evaluation within the Paterson Public Schools, and Dr. Gloria Hagopian was appointed Director of the department. I was hired under Dr. Hagopian's purview as a full-time research assistant. I worked for the Paterson Board of Education until my retirement date on December 1, 2022. Due to a number of health issues, I decided to retire early which would leave me with 27 years of service to the district. According to Paterson Public Schools, I was to retire with 25 years of service instead of 27 years as my first two years were not properly considered, according to their lack of records. There have been endless attempts on my end, to purchase the 22 months of service from December 1995 to November 1, 1997, so that they may be calculated accordingly into my retirement.
> In March 2022, I met with Eileen Shafer, Superintendent of Paterson Public Schools, and informed her about my decision to purchase time to retire early due to my health issues. I also spoke with Luis Rojas, Assistant Superintendent of Human Resources, and Esther Boone, Employee Services Representative, and informed them that I wanted to purchase 22 months of pension service credit. I was told that the Board of Education does not have any of my previous employment and payroll records for the above-mentioned time frame. Therefore, they were not going to certify my purchase request.

I was employed during the months in question as evidenced by the issuance of IRS W-2 Tax Forms by the Paterson Public School District for the years 1995, 1996, and 1997. These tax forms would not have been issued had I not been employed and paid by Paterson Public Schools. Social Security contributions were deducted from my salary for those years as shown by a signed statement dated March 23, 2022, from the Social Security Administration. Payroll deductions could not have been made had I not been employed and paid by the Paterson Public School District during this period.

Also, statements were collected from co-workers based on their personal knowledge that the duration of my employment supports my claim. I have spent countless hours and numerous attempts to purchase the needed time to retire. The district Director of Employee Services repeatedly stated that there was no record of my employment or my payroll records for the months requested and that I needed to be certified. District Counsel, Boris Zaydel got involved and he was able to locate minutes recorded for a 1996 Board of Education Meeting. In addition, he was able to find a Board Approval document reflecting the approval to hire me and other individuals as research assistants for the Comer Grant under the supervision of Dr. Gloria Hagopian.

Still, even with this latest discovery the Director of Employee Services continued to assert in her reply to the State of New Jersey Pension Division that Paterson Public Schools had no payroll records to support my claim and therefore my request was denied by the New Jersey Division of Pension on October 7, 2022.

According to the district response to the newspaper inquiry, no one knows what happened to my employment records from December 1995 to November 23, 1997, when I was hired as a full-time employee.

Below is the only explanation the district provided

"It is important to note that while there has been a belief that the records Ms. Zahroon, is seeking may have been water-> damaged, we cannot definitively say why the detailed records the state requires of her per-diem, part-time employment are missing," said the district spokesman Paul Brubaker.

>
> Or is it possible that my records were destroyed, specifically, the federal grant documents because of the multiple federal investigations of wrongdoings by administrators within the Paterson Public Schools?
>
> This situation has been ongoing for a year and there have been endless hours, constant correspondence, and profound dedication on my end to tend to the matter to see it resolved once and for all. It has negatively impacted my health and overall well-being. I have had two back operations within a three-month period between March and June of 2022, and it was the first time in the 27 years that I was on paid long medical leave. I had to use all of my sick and vacation days. It has caused me a substantial amount of stress. I have not been able to recuperate properly as this has taken a toll on me in every sense of the word.

> Please see the attached Newspaper article that was published in the North Jersey records on December 9th, 2022, by Joe Malinconico.

The "Relief Request" in the petition states as follows:

> The district Communication Director stated in the Newspaper that "that Schools Superintendent Eileen Shafer is committed to contacting the state pension office to try to help Zahroon get "all of the retirement benefits to which she is entitled."
>
> The relief that I'm looking for is to receive all the retirement benefits to which I'm entitled, as the schools superintendent stated in the Newspaper article.

Petitioner filed an application to purchase service credit with the State of New Jersey Division of Pensions and Benefits (Division). A letter dated March 11, 2022, ostensibly from the Division to Zahroon, states as follows:

> This will acknowledge receipt of your Application to Purchase Service Credit through the Member Benefits Online System (MBOS) for UNCREDITED service.

> Please note that the processing time varies depending on the purchase type selected and the extent of research required for determining your eligibility in accordance with the provisions of New Jersey laws. If you qualify to purchase pension service, you will receive a Cost Quotation letter and will have 90 days from the date of the letter to authorize the purchase.

A letter dated March 29, 2022, ostensibly from the Division to Zahroon, states as follows:

> This is in reference to your recent request to purchase TEMPORARY/SUBSTITUTE pension service credit. A determination has been made that this purchase is not permitted based upon the following eligibility criteria:
>
> We have received a response from PATERSON BD OF ED indicating they have no record of your employment from January 1, 1996 to October 30, 1997. Based on this information we cannot determine your eligibility and therefore, cannot allow you to purchase this service. If you can provide any evidence to substantiate your employment, please notify your employer to provide our office with supporting documentation which includes your official payroll title, specific dates of employment, salary earnings information, and Social Security coverage. Upon receipt of such documentation, we will reconsider your request to purchase service.

A letter dated May 5, 2022, ostensibly from the Division to Zahroon, states as follows:

> This is in response to your appeal of the denial to purchase additional pension service credit with Paterson Board of Education (BOE).
>
> The denial letter issued on March 29, 2022, was based on the Employment Certification submitted by the BOE certifying they have no records on file.
>
> In order for our office to process your purchase request, we require detailed employment history records indicating the exact beginning and ending dates of your employment; salary earnings for each year of employment; your appointment status; official payroll title/s; and/or dates of any leaves of absence; and number of days worked if employed as a substitute teacher.
>
> Our office is in receipt of the Social Security Itemized Statement of Earnings for 1995 to 1998 and W-2 statements from 1996 to 1999 that indicate you were employed with BOE. However, the ISE and W-2 statements do not provide sufficient information to determine purchase eligibility. In addition, our office contacted the BOE to verify your employment. The BOE again confirmed they have no additional records of your employment from January 1, 1996 to June 30, 1997.
>
> In light of the above, we do not have sufficient Information to determine purchase eligibility. If you and/or your employer can remit additional data that supports all of the aforementioned payroll information and employment history, please forward the documents to our office for review. Absent any new Information, we are unable to process your request.

A letter dated May 17, 2022, ostensibly from Michelle Santaniello, states as follows:

> I am writing this letter to attest to working with Haifa Zahroon. We both worked as research assistants for the Paterson Public Schools, starting in 1995. We worked under the Supervision of Dr. Gloria Hagopian.
> Ms. Zahroon and I continued to work for Paterson Public Schools, in different capacities, upon the completion of the research project.

I served as a High School Department Chairperson and District Director of Guidance. In 1995, I met Haifa in the office of . . . Dr. Gloria Hogapian [sic] and from that time until my retirement in 2018, we worked together on a continuous base [sic].

A letter dated May 19, 2022, ostensibly from Lena Halayjian, states as follows:

> If you need further information, please do not hesitate to contact me at [email].

A May 20, 2022, letter, ostensibly from Barbara Scarfo, states as follows:

> Haifa Zahroon started working for Dr. Gloria Hagopian, then the principal of Norman S. Weir, at the Paterson Public Schools as a research assistant at end of 1995 to November 1997. When Dr. Hagopian was promoted to Director of Assessment, Planning, and Evaluation in the district, she hired four of the research assistants to be part of her team at the Central Office building at 133 Ellison Street in Paterson. Haifa Zahroon was one of the four individuals hired in November 1997.

> From 1995 to November 1997, Haifa worked more than 40 hours a week and was paid by the Paterson Public Schools with no medical or pension benefits. Her medical and pension benefits started in November 1997 when she was hired as a full-time employee under Dr. Gloria Hagopian.
> I, Barbara Scarfo, was one of the supervisors in the department of Assessment, Planning and Evaluation. Haifa Zahroon worked under my supervision until I retired.

A letter dated May 25, 2022, ostensibly from Betty Jean Pellettere, states as follows:

> I met Haifa Zahroon in 1995 when she was hired to work for my principal, Dr. Gloria Hagopian. Dr. Hagopian was working on a federal grant to create students database, by taking all students Records from the schools yellow cards and inputting the data into a computer database. There were more than 20 research data enters working with Dr. Hagopian. Charlotte Sanderson, school #26 secretary and myself worked after school hours to research Payrolls time sheets and help with the research paperwork.
>
> Payroll for workers was done by tabulating their weekly hours, and have them review and sign. Then, Dr. Hagopian would sign. Copies were made before sending the original to payroll at 33 Church Street. Ms. Alicia Walton was in charge of payroll at that time.
>
> Haifa continued to work with Dr. Hagopian and in November of 1997, the District hired her to work full time as Research Assistant in the Department of Testing, Planning and Evaluation with Dr. Hagopian as the Director.
>
> If you have any questions, or need additional information, feel free to contact me at: [email].

A letter dated May 31, 2022, ostensibly from Aubrey Johnson, states as follows:

> I met Haifa Zahroon at the Norman S. Weir School in Paterson, New Jersey in 1996 while she was working for Dr. Gloria Hagopian as a research assistant, tracking students' data elements in grades K–12.

> At the time, I was a teacher at Schoof #12 and was assigned a special project to develop a school wide plan with student demographic and achievement data over three years. Dr. Gloria Hagopian was the principal of the Norman S. Weir School and she was assisting me in interpreting our school's data.
> A few years later, Dr. Hagopian became the district's Director of Assessment, Planning & Evaluation and years later when the position was vacated, I served in the same capacity from 2009–2012. During my tenure as Director of Assessment, Planning & Evaluation, I supervised a team of six individuals and was very familiar with the skill set of Haifa Zahroon, since I recalled working with her in 1966 [sic] under Dr. Hagopian.

Although a motion to dismiss is not specifically referenced in the UAPR, a respondent is not precluded from filing a motion to dismiss in lieu of an answer to a petition. N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.5(g). Further, per N.J.A.C. 1:1-1.3(a), in the absence of a rule, a judge may proceed in accordance with the New Jersey Court Rules, provided the rules are compatible. In this regard, Rule 4:6-2 states, in part: Every defense, legal or equitable, in law or fact, to a claim for relief in any complaint, counterclaim, cross-claim, or third-party complaint shall be asserted in the answer thereto, except that the following defenses, unless otherwise provided by R. 4:6-3, may at the option of the pleader be made by motion, with briefs: (a) lack of jurisdiction over the subject matter, (b) lack of jurisdiction over the person, (c) insufficiency of process, (d) insufficiency of service of process, (e) failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted, and (f) failure to join a party without whom the action cannot proceed.

In its motion to dismiss, the Board argues that the District is not the real party in interest and "is not responsible for petitioner's alleged claims as a matter of law," and that the petition must be dismissed for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. In her opposition, Zahroon asserts, inter alia, negligence and wrongful acts on the part of the District and that the District violated its "duty of care" in maintaining and preserving her employment records and violated a "notice requirement" to notify her of the destruction or loss of her employment records.

Considering the Petition and its attachments, there is little question that petitioner has expended considerable time and effort in obtaining documentation of her employment from approximately twenty-five years ago—including Board minutes, tax documents, and letters from numerous former coworkers—in order to satisfy the Division's requirements to purchase service credit. However, Zahroon has failed to cite to N.J.S.A. 18A (Education) or to N.J.A.C. 6A (Education) in support of her Petition or in support of the assertions in her opposition relative to a duty of care, notice requirements, negligence, or wrongful conduct.

Based upon the references in the letters from the Division, it appears that petitioner was enrolled in the Public Employees' Retirement System. N.J.S.A. 43:15A-7 establishes the Public Employees' Retirement System of New Jersey in the Division of Pensions and Benefits of the Department of the Treasury. The general responsibility for the proper operation of the Public Employees' Retirement System is vested in the board of trustees, and, as specified, the committees established pursuant to N.J.S.A. 43:15A-17(b). N.J.S.A. 43:15A-17(a)(1). Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 43:15A-11—a Title 43 "Pensions and Retirement and Unemployment Compensation" statute and not a Title 18A "Education" statute—"any person employed temporarily by an employer whose temporary employment resulted, without interruption, in permanent employment may purchase credit for that temporary service."

Thus, even accepting, arguendo, the allegations in the Petition, I CONCLUDE that the Petition has advanced no cause of action under "school laws" against the Board because the relief petitioner seeks—specifically, "all of the retirement benefits to which [she is] entitled"—cannot be obtained from the Board. Rather, such relief may only be obtained from the Division. Accordingly, I further CONCLUDE that the Petition should be dismissed for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that the Petition is DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Pamela Rogers, Robin Stella, and Nicholas Di Franco, Middletown Township Public Schools Board of Education, Monmouth County,

Respondents.

The Commissioner has reviewed the record of this matter and the September 26, 2023 decision of the School Ethics Commission (Commission). The Commission found that respondent Pamela Rogers, a member of the Middletown Township Public Schools Board of Education (Board), violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f) of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members. The Commission recommended a penalty of reprimand for the violation. The Commission's decision was forwarded to the Commissioner for final determination on the recommended penalty pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c).[1] Respondent neither filed exceptions to the recommended penalty nor instituted an appeal, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:4-1 et seq., of the Commission's underlying finding of violation.

[1] The Commission dismissed the complaint as to respondents Robin Stella and Nicholas DiFranco. Because N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c) only authorizes the Commissioner to act on the Commission's recommendation regarding sanctions, the portion of the Commission's decision dismissing the complaint as to Stella and DiFranco is not at issue here.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the penalty recommended by the Commission for respondent's actions in using her Board email to plan a rally that was not a Board-sponsored event.

Accordingly, respondent is hereby reprimanded as a school official found to have violated the School Ethics Act.

v.

Pamela Rogers, Robin Stella, and Nicholas DiFranco, Middletown Township Public Schools Board of Education, Monmouth County,
Respondents

I. Procedural History

This matter arises from a Complaint that was filed on October 2, 2020,[1] by Laurie Tietjen (Complainant), alleging that Pamela Rogers (Respondent Rogers), Robin Stella (Respondent Stella), and Nicholas DiFranco (Respondent DiFranco) (collectively referred to as Respondents), members of the Middletown Township Public Schools Board of Education (Board), violated the School Ethics Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-21 et seq. The Complaint alleges that Respondents violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(b) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(a) in Count 1, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(b) in Count 2, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) in Count 3, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f) in Count 4, and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(j) in Count 5.

At its meeting on February 23, 2021, and after reviewing Respondents' Motion to Dismiss in Lieu of Answer (Motion to Dismiss) and Complainant's response thereto, the Commission voted to grant the Motion to Dismiss as to the allegations in Count 1, Count 2, and Count 5, but to deny the Motion to Dismiss as to the allegations in Count 3 and Count 4. Based on its decision, the Commission also voted to direct Respondents to file an Answer to Complaint (Answer) as to the remaining allegations (Count 3 and Count 4). In light of the fact that the remaining allegations in the Complaint only involve violations of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members (Code), the Commission additionally voted to transmit the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) following receipt of the Answer, which Respondents filed on March 5, 2021.

A hearing was held at the OAL on July 19 and September 26, 2022. Thereafter, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) issued an Initial Decision on July 12, 2023. Respondent Rogers filed exceptions to the Initial Decision, in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4. Complainant did not file a reply.

[1] On October 2, 2020, Complainant filed a deficient Complaint; however, on October 6, 2020, Complainant cured all defects and filed an Amended Complaint that was deemed compliant with the requirements detailed in N.J.A.C. 6A:28-6.3.

At its meeting on August 22, 2023, the Commission considered the full record in this matter. Thereafter, at its meeting on September 26, 2023, the Commission voted to adopt the Initial Decision's legal conclusion that Respondent Rogers violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f) and the recommended penalty of reprimand. Additionally, the Commission voted to adopt the Initial Decision's legal conclusion that Respondents Stella and DiFranco did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) and/or N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f), and to dismiss the Complaint against them.

II. Initial Decision

Spread Love Not Hate (SLNH) was an entity created for a short time to promote a cause regarding social justice. Initial Decision at 15. An SLNH "Unity Walk" was scheduled for June 28, 2020, at the Middletown North High School that, according to Complainant's testimony, "was advertised as 'no politics, no sides, no finger pointing' and would strive to 'erase all lines' in relation to police and the community." Id. at 4. Prior to the rally taking place, it was not discussed in public or approved at a Board meeting, voted on by the Board members, or submitted for public comment. Id. at 15. According to Respondent Rogers' testimony, a Board resolution was "not necessary" since the Superintendent authorized the march on school property, and the Superintendent asked her to contact the Board members to see if they agreed to the rally. Id. at 10. Respondent Rogers "polled" four Board members about the rally, and after a "majority" agreed, she "went ahead and reported to [the Superintendent] that the Board approved the rally, even though the rest of the Board members were not informed." Id. at 15.

While it is undisputed that the event was not Board-sponsored, according to Complainant, the school "promoted" the rally on its website, the Board and teachers "work[ed] the tables and marched," and the District paid for security. Id. at 5. Complainant also asserts that Respondent Rogers promoted the rally on her personal social-media page as a Black Lives Matter (BLM) rally. Ibid. Respondent Rogers acknowledged that she communicated with the SLNH members from her Board email account and used her Board Twitter account to promote the rally. Id. at 11. While it appears that the Superintendent coordinated the event, which included providing portable toilets and a sound system, Respondent Rogers was involved in the planning of the substance of the event. Exhibits R-M, R-N, R-Q. Respondent Rogers sent an email from her Board email account on June 17, 2020, to a Township administrator, requesting volunteers to speak at the rally, such as the police chief, Mayor, and Superintendent or pastors. Exhibit R-H. The email also sought donations of the stage, water bottles and a disc jockey. Ibid.

Prior to the rally, Respondent Rogers used her Board email account to write an email on June 11, 2020, to a contact at a political entity, the Progressive Democrats of New Jersey, to solicit help with the rally, stating:

> Hey, My love! How are you? Just between you and me, there's a blm rally in the works for Middletown. Frank Meade (District resident, sophomore at Seton Hall studying political science and > phone banking for the progressive candidate in district 6) is running it. It'll be at high school north end of June. I told him I'd give you his number and maybe you could contact him w advice about the rally and/or making the dem club at seton hall more active. Thought you'd be a great mentor for Frank! [cell phone number]

According to Complainant, about 125 students attended the rally, along with several adults, including teachers and Board members, and "the speeches 'were mainly focused on the belief of police brutality and systemic racism.'" Id. at 4. Following the event, Respondent Rogers sent an email directing that a staff member "combat the false accusations against the [Board] members on social media," further adding, "I don't have the time to attend to this." Id. at 16.

Respondent Stella had limited involvement with the rally. Ibid. According to Respondent Stella, she attended one planning meeting for the rally after Respondent Rogers asked her to attend in her place. Id. at 12. Respondent Stella testified that she did not engage in promoting the rally, by sending emails or otherwise. Ibid. Respondent Stella also stated the Board President (Respondent Rogers) polled the Board members about their approval of a rally, when normally there would be a vote by the Board as to whether an action requested by the Superintendent would be approved or not. Id. at 13.

Respondent DiFranco only attended the rally with his family and friends. Id. at 16. Except for attending the rally, Respondent DiFranco was not involved in the planning of the rally. Ibid.

With respect to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e), the ALJ reiterates that the June 11, 2020, email that Respondent Rogers sent from her Board email account to her contact at the political entity demonstrates Respondent Rogers "clearly intended to hide information by virtue of her own words written in this email [('just between you and me')], and dispels any argument made on her behalf that she was not politically motivated to assist an organized group." Id. at 19. The evidence demonstrates Respondent Rogers "made personal promises or took private action that might compromise the Board in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e)"; and therefore, the ALJ concludes that Respondent Rogers violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e). Id. at 19-20. On the contrary, the evidence does not prove that Respondents Stella and DiFranco made personal promises or took any action that would compromise the Board, and therefore, the ALJ concludes Respondents Stella and DiFranco did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e). Id. at 20.

As to a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f), the ALJ asserts that Complainant has demonstrated that Respondent Rogers "took action on behalf of ... a special-interest group or persons organized and voluntarily united in opinion when she planned and promoted the rally and used her official [Board] email in order to accomplish her goals that were outside her [Board] duties"; and therefore, concludes Respondent Rogers violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f). Ibid. The ALJ further concludes Respondents Stella and DiFranco did not violate N.J.S.A.

18A:12-24.1(f) as they did not take action at the request of a special-interest group. Ibid. Therefore, the charges against Respondents Stella and DiFranco are dismissed. Id. at 21.

The ALJ recommends a penalty of reprimand for Respondent Rogers' violations of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f). Ibid.

III. Exceptions

Respondent Rogers' Exceptions

In her Exceptions, and as to a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e), Respondent Rogers argues that the Commission's Decision on the Motion to Dismiss determined that if Complainant could prove that "while acting in their official capacities ... Respondents unilaterally authorized the use of District funds and/or resources ..." a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) may be sustained. However, Respondent Rogers further argues the evidence proves the expenditure of Board funds is done through the Business Administrator and the Superintendent, with the Board approving the same after the fact. Respondent notes the ALJ found a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) based on an email that Respondent Rogers sent to a political contact informing them of the event at the high school and concluded this email was "sufficient by itself" to prove that Respondent Rogers made personal promises or took private action that might compromise the Board. Respondent Rogers maintains she did not take any "unilateral actions" such as authorizing funds as the Commission indicated was necessary, Respondent Rogers' alleged political motivation is not "an element" to sustain a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e). Furthermore, according to Respondent Rogers, the evidence and witness testimony show that the SLNH rally had the full support of the administration. Respondent Rogers notes the Superintendent, Assistant Superintendent and the Business Administrator, were in communication with the rally organizers. Moreover, Respondent contends the evidence demonstrates that the Superintendent was the "driving force" behind the rally and Respondent Rogers was "involved, to a degree, in supporting the Administration meet its desired outcome." Respondent Rogers argues it was the administration that authorized the spending of District funds and allowed the SLNH group to use the sound system, not Respondent. According to Respondent Rogers, the Unity Walk was not a Board sponsored event, so it was not beyond the scope of Respondent Rogers' duties to consult with the other Board members about the appropriateness of such an event. Therefore, Respondent Rogers contends, based on the arguments above, the ALJ erred in finding a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e).

As to a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f), Respondent Rogers argues, Complainant did not provide any evidence to demonstrate that Respondent Rogers "surrendered her independent judgment to a special interest group ... ." Respondent Rogers further argues Complainant did not present any proof that indicates Respondent Rogers took any action on behalf of, or at the request of SLNH, or that they used the schools to gain a benefit for themselves or their families. Respondent Rogers contends despite the numerous emails and social media postings presented by Complainant alleging that SLNH was given preferential treatment, they do not support the allegation that Respondent Rogers took any action to effectuate the "supposedly preferential treatment." On the contrary, the evidence demonstrates that the Business Administrator and Superintendent were the individuals who approved the rally, allowed it to occur in the parking lot, ensured that security was present and allowed the group to proceed without insurance. Therefore, based on the testimony and evidence, Respondent Rogers asserts the ALJ incorrectly found that Respondent Rogers violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f). As such, Respondent contends the Complaint against her should be dismissed.

IV. Analysis

Upon a careful, thorough, and independent review of the record, the Commission agrees with the ALJ's conclusion that Respondent Rogers violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f) and the recommended penalty of reprimand. The Commission also concurs with the ALJ that Respondent Stella and Respondent DiFranco did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) and/or N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f), and the Complaint against them should therefore be dismissed.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e), a board member must recognize that authority rests with the board and a board member shall not make any personal promises or take any action that may compromise the board. Respondent Rogers sent a June 11, 2020, email from her Board email account to her contact at a known political entity, the Progressive Democrats of New Jersey. Within that email Respondent Rogers states, "just between you and me, there's a blm rally in the works for Middletown." Respondent Rogers misrepresents that there will be a BLM rally at the District, rather than a SLNH rally, which was advertised as "no politics." The wording of the email – "just between you and me" – demonstrates that Respondent Rogers is hiding information and/or attempting to hide information regarding the purpose of the rally. And the Commission agrees with the ALJ that the contents of Respondent's email sent from her Board email address suggest that Respondent was politically motivated in promoting the event. Initial Decision, at 15-16. Further, as Respondent Rogers sent this email from her Board email address, it gives the impression that her statements were on behalf of the Board, despite the representations that the event was not Board-sponsored, potentially comprising the Board. Additionally, Respondent Rogers' involvement in planning the Unity Walk, specifically the substance of the event, such as scheduling speakers and seeking donations – while using her Board email address, even though the event was not District-sponsored or approved by the Board – further compromises the Board because it appears as though the Board is sponsoring the event, requesting speakers, and asking for donations. The Commission is not convinced by Respondent Rogers' arguments in her exceptions that the Superintendent and Business Administrator were the driving force behind the event and her involvement was limited; the involvement of the Superintendent and Business Administrator are not the subject of this matter, and Respondent Rogers' involvement in planning the rally, an event that was not a Board-sponsored event, through the use of her Board email, was inappropriate. Moreover, the Commission will defer to the ALJ's credibility findings in which the ALJ found that Respondent was not "always straightforward, and at times provided elusive responses." Id. at 14. In making those observations, the ALJ found that, "Respondent reluctantly acknowledged, after persistent questioning by the complainant, that she sent emails from her BOE email to public officials and rally organizers before and after the rally" and "tried to excuse her behavior" by claiming she was complying with the Superintendent's wishes. Ibid. Clearly, the ALJ did not find Respondent's explanation plausible, and the Commission accepts that finding. For these reasons, the Commission finds Respondent Rogers violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e).

N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f) prohibits Board members from surrendering their judgment to special interest or partisan political groups or using the schools for personal gain or for the gain of friends. Respondent Rogers' June 11, 2020, email to her contact at the Progressive Democrats of New Jersey, alerted the political group of the event, claimed that there was going to be a BLM rally when it was not advertised as a BLM rally, and sought to connect the political entity with an SLNH organizer for advice and mentorship. The ALJ correctly found, and the Commission accepts, there is no question that Respondent Rogers was politically motivated in sending the email. She did not extend the invitation to all political groups or organizations, but rather only to one side. Respondent Rogers attempted to coordinate two aligned political groups for a common cause, while using her Board email account to do so. The Commission finds this conduct violates N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f).

The Commission agrees with the ALJ that Respondent Stella and Respondent DiFranco were not involved in the planning of the SLNH Rally as Respondent Stella went to one meeting at the request of Respondent Rogers, and Respondent DiFranco only attended the event; therefore, Respondents Stella and DiFranco did not N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) and/or N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f).

The Commission further agrees with the ALJ that a reprimand is the appropriate penalty for Respondent Rogers' violations of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f). Respondent Rogers' behavior in sending a politically motivated email and involving herself in the planning of an event that was not Board-sponsored, through the continued use of her Board email, is inappropriate behavior that cannot be condoned. However, it appears as though this is Respondent Rogers' first violation, and as such the Commission finds that a penalty of reprimand is appropriate.

IV. Decision

For all of the aforementioned reasons, the Commission adopts the Initial Decision of the OAL, which concludes that Respondent Rogers violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) and 18A:12-24.1(f), and adopts the recommended penalty of reprimand for the violations. The Commission also adopts the Initial Decision's conclusion that Respondent Stella and Respondent DiFranco did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) and/or 18A:12-24.1(f), and the dismissal of the Complaint against them.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c), this decision shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of Education for review of the Commission's recommended penalty. The parties may either: 1) file exceptions to the recommended sanction; 2) file an appeal of the Commission's finding of a violation; or 3) file both exceptions to the recommended sanction together with an appeal of the finding of a violation.

Parties taking exception to the recommended sanction of the Commission but not disputing the Commission's finding of a violation may file, within thirteen (13) days from the date the Commission's decision is forwarded to the Commissioner, written exceptions regarding the recommended penalty to the Commissioner. The forwarding date shall be the mailing date to the parties, as indicated below. Such exceptions must be forwarded to: Commissioner of Education, c/o Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, marked "Attention: Comments on Ethics Commission Sanction," as well as to (ControversiesDisputesFilings@doe.nj.gov). A copy must also be sent to the Commission (school.ethics@doe.nj.gov) and all other parties.

Parties seeking to appeal the Commission's finding of violation must file an appeal pursuant to the standards set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:4:1 et seq. within thirty (30) days of the filing date of the decision from which the appeal is taken. The filing date shall be three (3) days after the date of mailing to the parties, as shown below. In such cases, the Commissioner's review of the Commission's recommended sanction will be deferred and incorporated into the Commissioner's review of the finding of violation on appeal. Where a notice of appeal has been filed on or before the due date for exceptions to the Commission's recommended sanction (thirteen (13) days from the date the decision is mailed by the Commission), exceptions need not be filed by that date, but may be incorporated into the appellant's briefs on appeal.

Synopsis

Complainants alleged, inter alia, that respondent, a member of the South Plainfield Board of Education, violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(i), and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(j) of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members when she, inter alia, sent an email that was critical of the Superintendent to the Board as well as the Superintendent and her assistant, and directly contacted high school band and chorus teachers to request that the marching band and chorus perform at an event on behalf of an organization for which respondent serves as secretary. The School Ethics Commission (SEC) determined that the respondent's actions violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(i) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(j) of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members. v.

Debbie Boyle, South Plainfield Board of Education, Middlesex County,

Respondent.

The Commissioner has reviewed the record of this matter and the September 26, 2023 decision of the School Ethics Commission (Commission). The Commission found that respondent Debbie Boyle, a member of the South Plainfield Board of Education (Board), violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(i), and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(j) of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members. The Commission recommended a penalty of censure for the violation. The Commission's decision was forwarded to the Commissioner for final determination on the recommended penalty pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c). Respondent neither filed exceptions to the recommended penalty nor instituted an appeal, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:4-1 et seq., of the Commission's underlying finding of violation.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the penalty recommended by the Commission for respondent's actions in bypassing the chain of the command and criticizing and questioning district administrators.

Accordingly, the respondent is hereby censured as a school official found to have violated the School Ethics Act.

South Plainfield Board of Education, Middlesex County,
Respondent

I. Procedural History

The above-captioned matter arises from a Complaint that was filed on November 24, 2021,[1] by Jim Giannakis, Keith Both, Thomas Cassio, Pio Pennisi, Doug Chapman, and William Seesselberg (collectively referred to as Complainants) alleging that Debbie Boyle (Respondent), a member of the South Plainfield Board of Education (Board), violated the School Ethics Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-21 et seq. The Complaint avers that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c) (Counts 1-2), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d) (Counts 1-2), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) (Counts 1-2), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f) (Count 2), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(i) (Counts 1-2), and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(j) (Counts 1-2) of the Code of Ethics for School Board Members (Code).

At its meeting on March 22, 2022, and after reviewing Respondent's Motion to Dismiss in Lieu of Answer (Motion to Dismiss) and Complainants' response thereto, the Commission voted to grant the Motion to Dismiss as to the alleged violations of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(i), and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(j) in Count 1; deny the Motion to Dismiss as to the alleged violations of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) in Count 1; and to deny the Motion to Dismiss as to Count 2 (in its entirety). Based on its findings, the Commission also voted to direct Respondent to file an Answer to Complaint (Answer), and to transmit the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) following receipt of the Answer.

On April 7, 2022, Respondent filed an Answer as directed. The Commission subsequently transmitted the matter to the OAL for a plenary hearing where Complainants would carry the burden to prove the remaining violations of the Code as set forth in the Complaint.

[1] On November 24, 2021, Complainants filed a deficient Complaint; however, on December 12, 2021, Complainants cured all defects and filed an Amended Complaint that was deemed compliant with the requirements detailed in N.J.A.C. 6A:28-6.3.

At the OAL, a hearing was held on February 13 and 14, 2023. Thereafter, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) issued an Initial Decision on July 17, 2023. Respondent filed exceptions to the Initial Decision, in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and Complainants filed a reply thereto.

At its meeting on August 22, 2023, the Commission considered the full record in this matter. Thereafter, at its meeting on September 26, 2023, the Commission voted to modify the Initial Decision by adopting the Initial Decision's conclusion that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) in Count 1 and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(i) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(j) in Count 2, adopting the Initial Decision's conclusion that Respondent did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f) in Count 2, but rejecting the Initial Decision's conclusion that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d) in Count 1 and/or N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c) in Count 2. The Commission also voted to adopt the recommended penalty of censure.

II. Initial Decision

In Count 1, Complainants allege that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) when she sent an email that was critical of the Superintendent to the entire Board, the Superintendent and the Superintendent's assistant.

According to the testimony of Diana Joffe, the South Plainfield Education Association (SPEA) President, in 2021, the Superintendent abruptly changed the time of the high school graduation from evening to morning, which upset teachers who would no longer be able to participate in the ceremony. Id. at 10. Joffe was not on speaking terms with the Superintendent, so she testified that she called Respondent and asked her to speak with the Superintendent about her concerns. Ibid. According to her testimony, Joffe had been told that the Superintendent changed the time of graduation because her daughter's graduation was scheduled for the same time. Ibid.

Thereafter, in response to the Superintendent's "Friday packet" containing information about graduation, Respondent sent an email on May 28, 2021, to the Superintendent, the Superintendent's administrative assistant, and all Board members, which stated:

> Good morning[.] I'm reading the notes with regards to the high school graduation and Diane Joffe is the current SPEA president not the former. Her discussion was that she was not concerned about the time change[;] she was concerned that the reason for the time change was not based on the needs of the parents and the students but rather[,] for your own personal needs which she discussed and the fact that the rationale was disingenuous. The parents which [sic] have publicly stated and the students we're [sic] upset because of the abrupt change in time and [sic] speaking > to a number of board members[,] no one was informed except at the bottom of the Friday packet information under events [sic] various events were taking place and Middle School graduation was put in there and so was the high school graduation. This was never discussed with the entire board[.] [T]his is [sic] the issues that came forward by parents and students. In any event[,] if you have issues with the current acting SPEA president [D.J.] please reach out to her to have that discussion. Thank you.

> [Id. at 3-4.]

With respect to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d), the ALJ found that Respondent did not violate the provision because she did not issue the Superintendent a direct order in the May 28, 2021, email. Initial Decision at 16. However, the ALJ found that Respondent did violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d) when she had a private conversation with the SPEA President without notifying the Board or Superintendent, and instead, Respondent should have directed Joffe to speak directly with the Board President or the Superintendent or Respondent should have contacted the Superintendent and Board before sending the May 28, 2021, email. Id. at 18.[2]

In finding a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e), the ALJ determined that Respondent acted beyond the scope of her duties by allowing herself to be the messenger for the SPEA president. Id. at 19. The ALJ noted Respondent should have persuaded the SPEA President to bring her issues directly to the Superintendent. Ibid.

B. Count 2

In Count 2, Complainants allege that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(i), and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(j) when she directly contacted the high school band and chorus teachers to request that the marching band and choir perform at an event for the Plainfield Chapter of UNICO, an Italian American Service Organization, of which Respondent is the secretary.

On September 16, 2021, Respondent sent an email to the band teacher asking if the marching band would play at the UNICO's annual Columbus Day program as they had in the past. Initial Decision at 4. Respondent sent the email from her personal email address and signed it using her title as secretary of UNICO's Plainfield Chapter. Ibid. When she did not get a response, Respondent emailed the high school principal on September 27, 2021, inquiring about the marching band's participation in the Columbus Day program, again using her personal email. Ibid. The principal responded and indicated that he would speak with the marching band teacher about the request. Id. at 4-5. The next day, the principal informed Respondent that the marching band would not be able to attend the event. Id. at 5. On September 30, 2021, Respondent sent a text message to the chorus teacher asking for a call back regarding the chorus participating in the Columbus Day event. Exhibit R-20. The chorus teacher responded by text and indicated that the principal "says that the choir and band are not doing the Columbus Day ceremony." Ibid. Respondent clarified that she was asking about the chorus, while her previous request had been for the band. Respondent asked, "what is the reasoning that you are not going to be able to participate when you have done this all these years and enjoyed it." Exhibit R-21. The chorus teacher reiterated, "I spoke to [the principal] about performing and unfortunately we are not going to be able to participate this year." Ibid.

[2] While the Order at the conclusion of the Initial Decision dismisses N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d) in Count 1, the ALJ indicated in the Legal Discussion section of the Initial Decision that Respondent did violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d) in Count 1. Although the Order and the Legal Discussion are contradictory, the Commission considers the findings in the ALJ's Legal Discussion to be the ALJ's intention.

The ALJ found it is undisputed that Respondent directly contacted District staff via email and text and, although she contacted them from her personal accounts, she used information obtained as a Board member (e.g., email addresses that were not on the District's website), to contact the staff. Id. at 20-21. The ALJ found Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c) when she acted outside the scope of her duties in bypassing the Superintendent and in sending invitations directly to District staff. Id. at 21.

The ALJ explained Respondent requested clarification from the chorus teacher regarding why the chorus could not perform at the Columbus Day ceremony in a text message because Respondent had a friendship with the chorus teacher and had her personal cell phone number. Id. at 22. According to the ALJ, Respondent put the chorus teacher in a "difficult position," and therefore, found that Respondent's request for an explanation from a teaching staff member was an inappropriate attempt to administer the schools in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d). Ibid.

Regarding a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e), the ALJ contended Respondent placed the chorus teacher in an "awkward" position when Respondent questioned the principal's directive and asked the chorus teacher to explain that decision, and such action potentially compromised the Board's integrity and implied that Respondent was acting on behalf of the Board. Id. at 23. Therefore, the ALJ found that Respondent's actions in using a staff member's personal cell phone to request that students participate in an outside activity, on behalf of an outside organization, without clearly identifying Respondent's role violates N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e). Ibid.

The ALJ further contended that although Respondent's process for requesting that students participate in the events was flawed, she did not use the schools for her personal gain or for the gain of her friends because the invitation was ultimately rejected and the students did not participate; therefore, the ALJ found that Complainants did not meet their burden to prove that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f). Id. at 23-24.

As to a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(i), the Superintendent testified that despite prior practice, in 2017 she established new protocol requiring Board members to contact her before contacting staff, and Respondent's emails and texts to the high school principal and staff were in direct opposition to that directive. Id. at 24. In addition, Respondent was a "Master Board Member" and received training, and therefore, her testimony that she was unaware of the protocol was not credible, thus the ALJ found that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(i). Ibid.

Finally, as to a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(j), the ALJ noted it was undisputed that Respondent was unhappy that the marching band and choir were not going to participate in the events and that Respondent requested an explanation. Id. at 25. According to the ALJ, Respondent's actions are "tantamount to initiating an investigation prior to administrative action" and Respondent initiated an inquiry prior to the referral to the Superintendent; therefore, the ALJ found Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(j). Ibid.

C. Penalty

With respect to the appropriate penalty, the ALJ opined that Respondent's actions were not de minimis, but rather, a blatant disregard for the chain of communication, and a serious lack of judgment. Therefore, as Respondent is no longer on the Board, the ALJ concluded that a penalty of censure should be imposed. Ibid.

III. Exceptions

Respondent's Exceptions

In her exceptions, Respondent asserts the ALJ erred when she determined that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) in Count 1 by sending the May 28, 2021, email. Respondent argues she was relaying a message to the Superintendent and the Board regarding the concerns she obtained from the SPEA President. The ALJ suggests that Respondent could have contacted the Superintendent and the Board prior to sending the email, which Respondent argues is exactly what she did. According to Respondent, by sending the email, she "relayed the SPEA President's concerns to both the Superintendent and the remaining Board [m]embers," and as such, did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d). Respondent maintains that the ALJ's finding that she violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) is also incorrect. According to Respondent, regardless of the reason the SPEA President shared her concerns with Respondent rather than another Board member, Respondent was obligated to share that information with the Superintendent and the Board. Respondent further maintains Complainants did not provide any evidence to demonstrate that Respondent made any promises to the SPEA President, and relaying information received from a friend is not beyond the scope of Respondent's duties.

Regarding the allegations in Count 2 as they relate to Respondent's direct communications with the band and chorus teachers, Respondent argues the ALJ erred when she stated that the high school staff emails are not on the District's website and that Respondent used information that was available to her as a Board member, not a member of the public. Respondent further argues Complainants did not provide any evidence to support that Respondent contacted the District staff in her capacity as a Board member and contrary to the ALJ's determination, staff email contacts can be located on the website; therefore, a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c) cannot be sustained. As to her inquiry to the staff about why the chorus could not attend the event, Respondent contends she requested whether the band and chorus could attend the event and only received a response back about the band, not the chorus; hence, she followed up with an inquiry related to the chorus' availability. Respondent further contends that the testimonies from the staff did not indicate that they "felt any pressure to comply with the request" nor that Respondent was issuing an order. According to Respondent, Complainants did not provide any evidence to demonstrate that Respondent obtained the chorus teacher's phone number in her role as a Board member, and therefore, a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d) should be dismissed. As to a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e), Respondent asserts the record does not reflect that she made any personal promises that would compromise the Board. Respondent notes her requests were made as a private citizen, on behalf of an outside organization, and none of the testimony supports the fact that Respondent was communicating with the staff as a Board member. According to Respondent, the ALJ determined Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(i) because the Superintendent had established protocol regarding submitting requests to the Superintendent to contact District staff back in 2017; however, Respondent maintains Complainants did not submit any evidence of such a "written protocol." Finally, as to a violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(j), Respondent reaffirms the ALJ erred when she determined Respondent's inquiry as to why the chorus and band could not participate at the event was "tantamount to conducting an inquiry or investigation." Respondent argues the ALJ maintained that Respondent was acting in her capacity as a member of UNICO when she made the request of the band/chorus as evidenced by the emails sent from her personal account. Therefore, if the requests were made in her private capacity, Respondent contends it would only stand to reason that any inquiries as to why the chorus could not perform were also made in the same capacity, not as a Board member.

With the above in mind, Respondent asserts the Initial Decision should be rejected and the Commission should find that she was not in violation of any provisions of the Code.

Complainants' Reply to Respondent's Exceptions

In their reply, Complainants note Respondent's exceptions "mainly rely on the arguments expressed in her original brief," which is not an acceptable submission, and which have also been previously considered by the ALJ before the Initial Decision was issued. Therefore, because Respondent did not raise any new arguments and because, according to Complainants, the ALJ's decision is accurate and previously outlined and considered Respondent's arguments and reasoning, there "is nothing else for the Commission to consider," and the Initial Decision should be adopted.

IV. Analysis

Upon a careful, thorough, and independent review of the record, the Commission agrees with the ALJ that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) in Count 1 and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(i) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(j) in Count 2, and also agrees with the ALJ that Respondent did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f) in Count 2. However, the Commission disagrees with the ALJ and finds that Respondent did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d) in Count 1 and/or N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c) in Count 2. Nonetheless, the Commission agrees with the ALJ's recommended penalty of censure.

Under N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d), board members must not administer the schools, but instead see that they are well run. The Commission finds that Respondent's May 28, 2021, email neither gave a direct order to the Superintendent, nor was it an attempt to become directly involved in the day-to-day administration of the District. The Commission agrees with Respondent and notes that Respondent's May 28, 2021, email was not a directive, but rather was consistent with Respondent's responsibility to refer a complaint to the chief school administrator. As such, the Commission finds that Respondent did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d) in Count 1.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e), a board member must recognize that authority rests with the board and a board member shall not make any personal promises or take any action that may compromise the board. The Commission concurs that Respondent acted beyond the scope of her duties as a Board member when she took it upon herself to make accusations against the Superintendent that she was acting disingenuous and changed the time of graduation for personal reasons. Respondent's actions in undermining the Superintendent on an email that included the Superintendent's administrative assistant and the entire Board, by its nature, has the potential to compromise the Board. As such, the Commission finds Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) in Count 1.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c), board members must confine board action to "policy making, planning, and appraisal" and "frame policies and plans only after the board has consulted those who will be affected by them." The Commission finds that in Count 2, while it disagrees with Respondent's actions in contacting the band and chorus teachers to request that they participate at an event, rather than going through the proper channels, such action does not constitute official action to effectuate policies and plans. Although Respondent circumvented the process, her actions did not involve the implementation of policies or plans, and as such does not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c).

Under N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d), board members must carry out their responsibility not to administer the schools, but see that they are well run. When Respondent sent a text message to the chorus teacher questioning her as to why the chorus could not perform at the Columbus Day event, Respondent inserted herself into activities that are the responsibility of school personnel and well beyond the role of a secretary of an outside organization. Respondent claims she was making the request as a UNICO secretary, but if such a claim were true, she would have had to follow the proper protocol and make the request and direct any inquiries to the principal or Superintendent as any member of the public would have to do. Instead, she questioned the principal's decision to his subordinate and was only presented with that opportunity because of her role as a Board member. As such, the Commission agrees with the ALJ that Respondent's request for an explanation from a teaching staff member was an inappropriate attempt to administer the schools in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d).

According to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e), a board member must recognize that authority rests with the board and a board member shall not make any personal promises or take any action that may compromise the board. When Respondent solicited the band and chorus teachers directly by email and/or text message to participate in the Columbus Day event, and then questioned the chorus teacher by text message as to why the principal would not allow the chorus to participate, she took action that could compromise the Board. Respondent was using information that she had as a Board member to contact the band and chorus teachers, instead of directing her inquiries and/or requesting an explanation from proper authorities, as any other member of the public would be required to do. Although Respondent claims that she sent the email from her personal email account and as the secretary for UNICO, and therefore, was not making the request as a Board member, but for Respondent's position as a Board member, she would never have been able to contact the teachers directly, and as such, was acting beyond the scope of her duties. Respondent, a Board member, did not follow the chain of command that is required of any member of the public when making a request of District personnel, and further challenged the administration's decision-making to a teaching staff member. In doing so, it appears that Respondent circumvented the principal's authority, placed the chorus teacher in the impossible situation of being in the middle of a Board member and the teacher's direct supervisor, and presented the appearance that Board members are in disagreement with the administration, which compromises the Board. Accordingly, Respondent's direct communication with the band and chorus teachers, as well as her text message communication with the chorus teacher challenging the principal's determination that the chorus was unavailable to participate in a private event, violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e).

N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f) prohibits Board members from surrendering their judgment to special interest or partisan political groups or using the schools for personal gain or for the gain of friends. The Commission finds that Respondent did not use the schools for personal gain or for that of friends as members of the public are permitted to follow protocol and submit requests for the band and chorus to participate in a community event. The concern with Respondent's behavior was the way in which she communicated with staff members directly (rather than following the established process) and questioned the principal's determination, and not that she was seeking for the band and chorus to participate in the Columbus Day event. Accordingly, the Commission finds Respondent did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f).

According to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(i), Board members must support and protect school personnel in the proper performance of their duties. The Superintendent testified that a protocol was implemented in 2017 whereby Board members were to contact the Superintendent rather than staff members. Contrary to the protocol, Respondent directly contacted the band teacher, chorus teacher, and the principal. Such action violates the Superintendent's directive and does not support school personnel in the proper performance of their duties, in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(i). While Respondent argues that a written copy of the protocol was not included in evidence, the Commission notes that the Superintendent provided testimony on the protocol. The ALJ also found Respondent's testimony that she was unaware of the protocol not credible. The Commission finds no basis to disturb the credibility findings of the ALJ, who had the opportunity to observe and assess Respondent during her testimony. Additionally, Respondent's actions in questioning a teacher as to why the principal would not permit the chorus to perform at an event also fails to support and protect the school personnel in the proper performance of their duties, and places the chorus teacher in an uncomfortable situation where a Board member is challenging the teacher's direct supervisor, in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(i).

Finally, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(j) requires Board members to refer all complaints to the chief administrative officer and act on complaints at public meetings only after the failure of an administrative solution. The Commission agrees with the ALJ that Respondent's actions in sending a text message to the choir teacher requesting an explanation as to why the principal had decided that the choir was unavailable for the Columbus Day event was "tantamount" to an investigation prior to referral of the matter to the Superintendent. If Respondent was unhappy with the principal's decision that the band and choir were unavailable to participate in the event, she should have addressed her concerns with the Superintendent rather than questioning a teacher about the principal's reasoning for the decision. As such, Respondent's direct inquiries to a district staff member regarding Respondent's disagreement with the principal's decision without referring the matter to the Superintendent violates N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(j).

The Commission further agrees with the ALJ that a censure is the appropriate penalty for such a violation. Respondent's actions violated five provisions of the Code, which demonstrates the severity of her actions. As stated by the ALJ, "the blatant disregard for the chain of communication, and blurred lines of professional and personal relationships evidences a serious lack of judgment." Initial Decision at 26. Respondent was a Board member for 15 years, serving as President and Vice President. She also served as President of the Middlesex County Board of Education for four years, and earned a Master Board Member designation from the New Jersey School Boards Association. As a seasoned Board member who had undergone years of ethics training, Respondent should have been well aware of her ethical obligations. The Commission notes that as Respondent is no longer on the Board, it is limited to the issuance of a reprimand or a censure, and it seeks to impose the more severe penalty of censure given the serious nature of Respondents numerous violations of the Code.

IV. Decision

For all of the aforementioned reasons, the Commission modifies the Initial Decision of the OAL. Specifically, the Commission adopts the Initial Decision's conclusions that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e) in Count 1; N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(e), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(i) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(j) in Count 2; and did not violate N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(f) in Count 2. However, the Commission modifies the Initial Decision to reject the conclusion that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(d) in Count 1 and/or N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24.1(c) in Count 2. Accordingly, the Commission adopts the recommended penalty of censure for the violations.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c), this decision shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of Education for review of the Commission's recommended penalty. The parties may either: 1) file exceptions to the recommended sanction; 2) file an appeal of the Commission's finding of a violation; or 3) file both exceptions to the recommended sanction together with an appeal of the finding of a violation.

Parties taking exception to the recommended sanction of the Commission but not disputing the Commission's finding of a violation may file, within thirteen (13) days from the date the Commission's decision is forwarded to the Commissioner, written exceptions regarding the recommended penalty to the Commissioner. The forwarding date shall be the mailing date to the parties, as indicated below. Such exceptions must be forwarded to: Commissioner of Education, c/o Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, marked "Attention: Comments on Ethics Commission Sanction," as well as to (ControversiesDisputesFilings@doe.nj.gov). A copy must also be sent to the Commission (school.ethics@doe.nj.gov) and all other parties.

Parties seeking to appeal the Commission's finding of violation must file an appeal pursuant to the standards set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:4:1 et seq. within thirty (30) days of the filing date of the decision from which the appeal is taken. The filing date shall be three (3) days after the date of mailing to the parties, as shown below. In such cases, the Commissioner's review of the Commission's recommended sanction will be deferred and incorporated into the Commissioner's review of the finding of violation on appeal. Where a notice of appeal has been filed on or before the due date for exceptions to the Commission's recommended sanction (thirteen (13) days from the date the decision is mailed by the Commission), exceptions need not be filed by that date, but may be incorporated into the appellant's briefs on appeal.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

D.E. and J.E., on behalf of minor children, A.E., E.E., and C.E.,

Petitioners,

v.

Board of Education of the Borough of Oakland, Bergen County,

Respondent.

On July 12, 2023, a final agency decision was rendered in this matter, wherein the Commissioner found D.E. and J.E. liable for tuition in the amount of $53,808.06, representing tuition for a period of ineligible attendance by their minor children, A.E., E.E., and C.E., in the Board's school district during the period from November 1, 2022 through the end of the 2022-2023 school year. The Board subsequently requested that the Commissioner seek entry of the assessment on the judgment docket of the Superior Court pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2A:58-10. D.E. and J.E. offered no reasons why the judgment against them should not be so docketed, although given an opportunity by this agency to do so. Accordingly, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2A:58-10, John Ezmat and Danielle Ezmat are now subject to entry of a judgment by the court in the amount of $53,808.06, which represents the payment ordered at the conclusion of the case before the Commissioner, with interest to accrue as provided by law.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Final Decision

In the Matter of the Suspension of the Teaching Certificate of Helene Nguessan, Team Academy Charter School, Essex County

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the exceptions filed by petitioner, TEAM Academy Charter School, Inc., pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and the reply filed by respondent, Helene Nguessan, have been reviewed and considered.

Petitioner initiated this matter to suspend respondent's teaching certificate pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10, alleging that she resigned from her teaching position with the TEAM Academy Charter School without providing sixty days' notice as was required under her employment contract. After respondent filed an answer, the matter was transmitted to the OAL for a contested hearing. The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) made numerous factual findings and concluded that respondent's certificate should not be suspended. The ALJ reasoned that respondent did not cease to perform her duties before the expiration of the sixty-day notice period because: (1) on September 2, 2022, her doctor determined that she could not return to work due to a stress-related issue, and (2) on that same day, petitioner terminated her employment.

In their exceptions, petitioner denies that it terminated respondent's employment and claims instead that respondent voluntarily abandoned her position on September 2, 2022. Specifically, petitioner takes issue with the ALJ's finding regarding an email dated September 2, 2022, from petitioner to respondent. Petitioner's Exceptions, at 9. Page 6 of the ALJ's Initial Decision states: "Nguessan received an email from KIRA [the location at which respondent was employed] dated September 2, 2022, stating that September 2, 2022, was her last day and she would be paid until September 15, 2015 [sic]." Initial Decision, at 6. Petitioner asserts that no such email was presented at the hearing "because it does not exist" and that, therefore, the ALJ's finding regarding the termination is unfounded. Petitioner's Exceptions, at 9.

In reply, respondent argues, among other things, that petitioner did terminate her employment on September 2, 2022, before the sixty-day notice period ended. Regarding the email referenced by the ALJ in her Initial Decision, respondent claims that it does exist "but was dated September 20, 2022," not September 2, 2022, which suggests that the ALJ made a typographical error. Respondent's Reply, at 4. Respondent further asserts that although testimony was taken about the September 20, 2022, email during the hearing, the email was not moved into evidence because respondent's counsel "only received it the day of the hearing." Id. at 4-5.

Upon careful review and consideration, the Commissioner is constrained to remand this matter to the OAL to resolve the evidentiary issue raised in petitioner's exceptions regarding the September 2, 2022, email referenced on page 6 of the ALJ's Initial Decision, and to resolve the related factual dispute concerning whether petitioner terminated respondent's employment on September 2, 2022.

Although the Initial Decision suggests that the ALJ relied upon an email dated September 2, 2022, to support her finding that petitioner terminated respondent on that date, the case record received from the OAL does not contain a copy of that email. Adding to the confusion, respondent supplied an email to the Commissioner with her reply exceptions dated September 20, 2022, related to her separation from employment with petitioner and suggested that this email was in fact the email referenced by the ALJ in the Initial Decision. But this email is not contained in the case file, either. The Commissioner cannot consider evidence that is not part of the record when rendering a final decision. See N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(d) ("A final decision shall include findings of fact and conclusions of law, separately stated and shall be based only upon the evidence of record at the hearing . . . ."). Furthermore, neither party provided the Commissioner with the hearing transcripts, and it is unclear from the Initial Decision whether any of the witnesses testified about either an email dated September 2, 2022, or an email dated September 20, 2022.

Accordingly, the Commissioner hereby remands this matter to the OAL for the ALJ to clarify whether the September 2, 2022, email referenced on page 6 of the Initial Decision was moved into evidence. If the ALJ's findings regarding the September 2, 2022, email were intended to describe the email dated September 20, 2022 (supplied by respondent with her reply exceptions), the ALJ should clarify same and confirm whether that email was moved into evidence. In addition, the ALJ should clarify whether there was an alternative evidentiary basis for her finding that petitioner terminated respondent on September 2, 2022 (e.g., witness testimony), independent of any emails from petitioner to respondent.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[1]

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

TESTIMONY

Dana Kerrihard

Dana Kerrihard (Kerrihard) is the employee relations manager at TACS. KIP Team and Family is the corporate office that manages TACS. Kerrihard supports schools in human relations, teaching certificates and school-based employment matters. One of the KIP schools is KIP Upper Roseville School (KIRA). When an employ resigns, the resignation goes to employee relations to determine the last date of employment. Nguessan was employed by TACS at KIRA. She began prior to 2022. Nguessan's 2022-2023 employment contract with TACS states the renewal job location and salary. The contract is signed by the executive director of TACS and Nguessan. Nguessan signed the contract digitally on May 17, 2022. Nguessan was offered the position of teacher at KIRA in the 2022-2023 contract. The contract states that if Nguessan resigns, she must give sixty days' notice. Nguessan's resignation letter was dated August 3, 2022. It stated that she was leaving her position on August 12, 2022. This was not compliant with the sixty days' notice required by the contract. The students start back to school in mid-August.

On August 9, 2022, Nguessan agreed to comply with the sixty-day notice requirement. Her retirement date would be October 3, 2022. Nguessan was a Kindergarten teacher. She was moved to the position of enrichment teacher. Nguessan was given two paid time off days. She did not appear at the school in September 2022. She did not work until October 3, 2022. Nguessan provided a doctor's note dated September 2, 2022, stating that she was in the doctor's office on that date and that she was not cleared to return to work.

On August 30, 2022, Nguessan stated that she would only come to work through the end of the week. Nguesan's termination was effective September 2, 2022. She was paid through September 15, 2022.

Nguessan had issues with being an enrichment teacher and not receiving the swag that the other teachers received. Nguessan felt that she was being treated unfairly and felt that there was a lack of honesty. Kerrihard was unclear as to what the lack of honesty was that Nguessan referred to.

Helene Nguessan

Nguessan taught kindergarten at KIRA for three years. In May 2022, she signed a contract with TACS for the 2022-2023 school year. She intended to teach at KIRA that year. In mid-July 2023, she was contacted by a Paterson school administrator who had saw her resume. She interviewed for a teaching position at Paterson Art and Science Middle School. She was offered the position in Patterson on July 29, 2022. She accepted the position at Paterson on August 1, 2022.

Nguessan gave TASC two weeks' notice that she would be leaving. She spoke to Sam Geffrard on August 3, 2023, regarding her resignation. Nguessan was informed that she was required to give sixty days' notice, which she agreed to do. The 2022-2023 contract that Nguessan signed required her to give two months' notice if she resigned. She did not remember this provision of the contract when she gave KIRA two weeks' notice. Nguessan had previously been a teacher in Connecticut, where teachers had to give two weeks' notice when they left.

On August 8, 2022, an enrichment teacher, Thompson expressed to Nguessan that she wanted to return to kindergarten teaching. Nguessan told Thompson that there was a position open at KIRA since Nguessan was leaving. Thompson took over the kindergarten teaching position on August 10, 2022.

There was a change in the pattern of communication with the teachers at KIRA at this time. Nguessan did not receive communications. Her schedule was not set. Nguessan asked Geffrard if she could use PTO days to attend orientation at Paterson Art and Science Middle School but was refused. Nguessan intended to complete her contract with TACS through October 3, 2022, but she felt under pressure every day since she gave her resignation.

Having reviewed the testimony and evidence, I FIND the following FACTS in this case.

KIP Team and Family is a corporate office that manages TACS. Kerrihard is an employee relations manager at TACS. KIP Team and Family through TACS owns KIRA.

Nguessan was employed by TACS at KIRA. She was employed as a kindergarten teacher at KIRA for three years. Nguessan was told in January 2022 that she would be offered the position of Kindergarten Grade Level Chair at KIRA. Nguessan signed the employment contract with TASC in May 2022. The contract was for teaching at KIRA for the 2022-2023 school year. The contract did not state that Nguessan would be the Kindergarten Grade Level Chair. The contract stated that if Nguessan were to resign, she would have to give sixty days' notice. If an employee does not give adequate notice, the employee will be referred to the Department of Education for not following through on the contract agreement. This affects the status of teaching certificates.

On August 3, 2022, Nguessan submitted a resignation letter to TASC stating that she was leaving her position on August 12, 2022. Once Kerrihard received Nguessan's resignation letter, she informed Nguessan of the sixty-day requirement which would mean that her resignation date is October 3, 2022. Nguessan was told that if she did not comply, that the matter would be referred to the Department of Education.

On August 9, 2022, Nguessan agreed to comply with the sixty-day notice provision of her contract. Nguessan was to be an enrichment teacher until she completed the sixty-day notice period. Her resignation would be effective on October 3, 2022.

Enrichment teachers support other teachers. Another teacher, Thompson, was moved to the kindergarten teacher position. Teachers can be moved to other teaching positions. The contract signed by Nguessan did not limit Nguessan's duties to kindergarten teacher. Thompson and Nguessan's positions were switched. On August 18, 2022, Nguessan confirmed that the kindergarten teacher position had been filled. Nguessan believed that with the kindergarten teaching position filled she could leave KIRA prior to October 3, 2022, sixty days after she gave notice of her resignation. Nguessan received an email from Kerrihard on August 19, 2022, stating it was necessary for her to fulfill her contractual obligation. The school can agree to an earlier resignation notice time if the position is filled before the sixty-day notice period. In this matter TACS needed to hire a new teacher and it is difficult getting new teachers in August.

Nguessan on August 21, 2022, was offered a higher position at KIRA of kindergarten grade level chair by Geffrard. She had previously been offered the position in January 2022, but it was not the position listed in her 2022-2023 contract. She refused the position. TACS was not originally going to have this position.

In August 2022, there was a staff development day. Swag was put out for the staff by their name tags. There was no swag put out for Nguessan. This was an oversight and Nguessan later received the swag. There was a change in the pattern of communication with the teachers at KIRA at this time at this time. Nguessan did not receive communications. Her schedule was not set.

Jasmine Ballard, the Director of Operations at KIRA told Nguessan at 7:15 a.m. one day in August 2022, that she had to move her belongings to another room. Nguessan was not assigned a room to put her belongings in as an enrichment teacher. She was told to put her belongings in Thompson's former room. One day the door to Thompson's former room was locked.

Nguessan was frustrated at how she was being treated at KIRA. She also began having physical problems. She did not have a set schedule; nothing was consistent after she gave her resignation notice. She felt that she was being punished because she did not accept the kindergarten grade level chair position.

On September 2, 2022, Nguessan was again asked to move her belongings to another room. She was told that the room where she had her belongings was going to be used later in the day. She began experiencing stress. She scheduled a doctor's appointment within one hour of being told to remove her belongings. She asked staff at KIRA if she could see a doctor. Nguessan had an enrichment class from 9:30-11:00a.m. She was told that she could not leave. Eventually, the head of the department took over the enrichment class and Nguessan went to the doctor's appointment.

Nguessan went to Dr. Rena Levykh-Chase on September 2, 2022, who wrote that Nguessan is currently under stress and needs further time off. Nguessan needed to be referred to a psychiatrist. Dr. Rena Levykh-Chase also noted that Nguessan cannot return to work.

Nguessan received an email from KIRA dated September 2, 2022, stating that September 2, 2022, was her last day and she would be paid until September 15, 2015. Nguessan received counseling with Care Plus. She was having anxiety and in tears. Her initial appointment with Care Plus was within five days of the referral. The initial appointment was an intake there was a waiting list for another appointment. Her follow up appointment was on November 15, 2022. Nguessan started her job with Paterson on September 22, 2022.

Kerrihard stated that it is her obligation to notify the state if Nguessan does not comply with the terms of the contract. TACS asked for Nguessan's credentials to be suspended. Kerrihard checked the employee contract to make sure that resigning employees give the correct amount of notice.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

N.J.S.A. 18a:28-8 provides:

> Any teaching staff member, under tenure of service, desiring to relinquish his position shall give the employing board of education at least 60 days written notice of his intention, unless the board shall approve of a release on shorter notice and if he fails to give such notice, he shall be deemed guilty of unprofessional conduct and the commissioner may suspend his certificate for not more than one year.

N.J.S.A. 18a:26-10 provides:

> Any teaching staff member employed by a board of education or an approved private school for the disabled, who shall, without the consent of the board or, in the case of an approved private school for the disabled, the board of directors of the school, cease to perform his duties before the expiration of the term of his employment, shall be deemed guilty of unprofessional conduct, and the commissioner may, upon receiving notice thereof, suspend his certificate for a period not exceeding one year.
> As used in this section, "approved private school for the disabled" means a private entity approved by the Department of Education to provide special education and related services to students with disabilities who have been placed by the district board of education or charter school responsible for providing their education.

In this matter Nguessan on August 3, 2022, submitted a resignation letter from KIRA stating her final day would be August 12, 2022. Once she was informed what her contract requires, she gave sixty days' notice before her resignation, she agreed to stay at KIRA until October 3, 2022. Her position was switched from kindergarten teacher to enrichment teacher. There was an event at KIRA in August 2022 where all of the teachers at KIRA were given swag at an event and Nguessan was not. Nguessan was told to leave her belongings in Thompson's former office, but it was not always open. On more than one occasion Nguessan was told to move her belongings to another area in August 2022. These things have caused Nguessan to experience stress to the extent that on September 2, 2022, after being told again to move her belongings, she scheduled an emergency doctor's appointment for the same day. She saw the doctor on September 2, 2022, who wrote that she could not return to work due to due to being under stress and that she needed to see a psychiatrist. TASC terminated Nguessan on September 2, 2022.

Nguessan did not cease to perform her duties prior to the expiration of the sixty-day notice. Her doctor stated that she could not return to work on September 2, 2022, which is the same day that TASC terminated Nguessan.

I CONCLUDE Nguessan did not cease to perform her duties before the expiration of the sixty-day notice period because on September 2, 2022, her doctor provided a letter stating that she could not return to work, and Nguessan was terminated on September 2, 2022.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing, it is ORDERED that TACS request that Nguessan's teaching certificates be suspended is DENIED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Final Decision

In the Matter of the Tenure Hearing of Georgiana Cleary, School District of the City of East Orange, Essex County

For the Petitioner, Ramon E. Rivera, Esq.

No appearance by or on behalf of Respondent, Georgiana Cleary

This matter was opened before the Commissioner of Education on August 24, 2023, through tenure charges of excessive absenteeism and other just cause certified by AbdulSaleem Hasan, Superintendent of the East Orange School District ("District"), together with supporting evidence against respondent, Georgiana Cleary, a tenured teacher in the District's employ. The District provided respondent with written notice of such certification at the respondent's current known address, via UPS.

On August 28, 2023, the Commissioner issued a notice to respondent via email, directing her to file an answer to the charges. This communication provided notice to respondent that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.3 and 6A:3-5.4, an individual against whom tenure charges are certified "shall have 15 days from the day such charges are filed with the Commissioner to file a written response to the charges with the Commissioner," and that failure to answer within the prescribed period would – absent granting of an extension for good cause shown – result in the charges being deemed admitted. On September 18, 2023, the Commissioner sent a second email to respondent. On September 25, 2023, the Commissioner sent a notice to respondent via regular mail. No reply to the tenure charges has been received from or on behalf of the respondent.

The certified tenure charges and statement of supporting evidence filed by the District in this matter indicate that the respondent has a history of excessive absenteeism dating back to the 2021-2022 school year. Respondent has reported to work only three times since November 28, 2022. Deeming the allegations to be admitted and noting that the respondent has failed to respond to the charges certified against her before the Commissioner, the Commissioner finds that the District's charge of excessive absenteeism has been proven and warrants the respondent's dismissal. Accordingly, summary decision is hereby granted to the District, and the respondent is dismissed from her tenured position with the East Orange School District.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Denise Davis,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Newark,
Essex County,
Respondent.

Synopsis

The petitioner was hired as a custodian by the respondent Board's school district and commenced working on January 19, 2021. Her employment was terminated at the end of her 90-day working test period, on April 19, 2021. Petitioner filed the within appeal of her termination with the Commissioner on July 23, 2023. The Board filed a motion to dismiss on the basis that the Department of Education does not have jurisdiction over this termination, which should have been filed with the Civil Service Commission (CSC).

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: the Department of Education does not have jurisdiction over this matter, and the case must be dismissed as a matter of law; the petitioner conceded that she filed the dispute with the wrong State agency and agrees with the Board that her petition should have been filed with the CSC; the petitioner sought to have the case deemed to have been filed with the CSC, but there is no authority to do so; further, the petitioner received a letter from the Board giving her proper notice that, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-4.2, an appeal of her termination needed to be filed with the CSC within twenty days of written notice of termination. Accordingly, the ALJ granted the Board's motion to dismiss.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusions and adopted the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. In so doing, the Commissioner noted that the petitioner both failed to allege any violation of the school laws in her appeal and filed her petition beyond the statutory time limit for the filing of appeals with either the CSC or the Commissioner. Accordingly, the petition of appeal was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

Agency Dkt. No. 110-7/21

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Denise Davis,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Newark,
Essex County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the exceptions filed by the petitioner pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and the reply thereto by the Newark Board of Education (Board), have been reviewed and considered.

Petitioner was employed by the Board as a custodian beginning on January 19, 2021. She was terminated on April 19, 2021, at the end of her 90-day working test period. Petitioner filed her petition of appeal on July 23, 2023. The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) granted respondent's motion to dismiss, concluding that the Commissioner does not have jurisdiction over this matter, which should have been filed with the Civil Service Commission (CSC). The ALJ found that there was no authority to grant petitioner's request that the matter be deemed to have been filed with the CSC.

In her exceptions, the petitioner acknowledges that the CSC, not the Commissioner, has exclusive jurisdiction over this type of appeal. Petitioner argues that she is not legally savvy and that her mistake in filing her petition with the Commissioner rather than the CSC should not result in dismissal, because if she had filed with the CSC, that agency would have transmitted the case to the OAL. Accordingly, the petitioner requests that the matter be transferred to the CSC.

In reply, the Board argues that the ALJ appropriately dismissed the case and urges the Commissioner to adopt the Initial Decision.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the petition must be dismissed. It is clear – and petitioner concedes – that the CSC has exclusive jurisdiction over this type of appeal. Furthermore, the Commissioner's authority pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9 is limited to controversies and disputes arising under the school laws, but petitioner has not alleged any violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:1-1 et seq. or N.J.A.C. 6A:1-1.1 et seq. Finally, the petitioner points to no legal authority allowing the Commissioner to transfer the case to another state agency such as the CSC, and the Commissioner has previously declined to do so in similar circumstances. See Brianna Butts v. Bd. of Educ. of the City of Newark, Essex Co., Commissioner Decision No. 74-22 (decided Apr. 14, 2022). In further support of this conclusion, the Commissioner notes that N.J.A.C. 4A:2-4.1 provides that an employee terminated at the end of a working test period has twenty days to request a hearing before the CSC, and the record reflects that petitioner did not meet that deadline.

Additionally, even if the petitioner had alleged a violation of the school laws, her appeal to the Commissioner was untimely pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i), which requires all petitions to be filed within 90 days of the decision being contested. The petitioner was terminated on April 19, 2021, and 90 days thereafter was July 20, 2021; however, petitioner did not file her petition until July 23, 2021, making it untimely.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is adopted as the final decision in this matter, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF NEWARK, ESSEX COUNTY,
Respondent.

Arnold Shep Cohen, Esq., for petitioner Denise Davis (Oxfeld Cohen, attorneys)

Bernard Mercado, Esq., for respondent City of Newark Board of Education (Office of General Counsel, attorneys)

Record Closed: October 12, 2023 Decided: October 16, 2023

BEFORE GAIL M. COOKSON, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, Denise Davis (Davis or petitioner) appeals her termination by the City of Newark Board of Education (Board or respondent) on April 19, 2021, at the end of her 90-day working test period (WTP). She had been hired as a custodian worker by the Board and commenced her employment on January 19, 2021.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On July 23, 2021, petitioner filed her Petition of Appeal with the Commissioner of Education. On August 17, 2021, this matter was transmitted by the Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) where it was filed as a contested matter pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. The matter was assigned to the undersigned on August 20, 2021. I convened a series of telephonic case management conferences, several of which petitioner failed to participate in. Petitioner then advised that she was seeking representation either with an attorney or through the union.

On November 9, 2021, we were informed that petitioner had obtained counsel with Oxfeld Cohen, P.C. It was also suggested that counsel consult with his client to see if she would consider a voluntary withdrawal in light of the jurisdictional issues asserted by the Deputy Attorney General. Months passed without any communications notwithstanding regular requests for a status update from my chambers. Finally, in the spring of this year, we convened a case management conference, at which time a briefing schedule was established on the jurisdictional questions.

On July 14, 2023, the Board filed a Notice of Motion for Dismissal on the merits of petitioner's appeal on the basis that the Department of Education does not have jurisdiction over this termination, which should have been filed with the Civil Service Commission. After several reminders and then warnings to counsel, petitioner filed its response to the motion on October 12, 2023. The matter is now ripe for determination. For the reasons set forth herein, I hold that the respondent's Motion to Dismiss must be granted with prejudice.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

On a motion to dismiss, the legal standard to be applied is whether the moving party is entitled to relief as a matter of law even granting the factual pleadings alleged in the petition the presumption of truth. Printing Mart-Morristown v. Sharp Elecs. Corp., 116

N.J. 739 (1989). Here, petitioner concedes that she filed the dispute with the wrong State agency and agrees with the Board that her petition should have been filed with the Civil Service Commission.

Insofar as there is no dispute that the Department of Education does not have jurisdiction over this matter, this case must be dismissed as a matter of law. While petitioner seeks to have the undersigned merely deem the case as having been filed under the Civil Service Commission, there is no authority for such to take place. The OAL is a forum of limited jurisdiction derived specifically in each case by the matter and issues transmitted by a State agency head over to it for hearing as a contested dispute. In fact, it is a first principal of administrative law that --

> The Office of Administrative Law shall acquire jurisdiction over a matter only after it has been determined to be a contested case by an agency head and has been filed with the Office of Administrative Law or as otherwise authorized by law, except as provided by N.J.A.C. 1:1-17. The Office of Administrative Law shall not receive, hear or consider any pleadings, motion papers, or documents of any kind relating to any matter until it has acquired jurisdiction over that matter; . . .

Furthermore, it is the head of each such agency that determines whether to retain a case for in-house determination or transmit a dispute to the OAL for hearing, as well as which asserted issues the Administrative Law Judge is granted jurisdiction to determine.

> It is the agency head who determines initially whether a case is contested and, if so, whether the case should be sent to the OAL for an adjudicatory hearing to be conducted by an administrative law judge. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-2.2(a) (OAL jurisdiction limited to cases submitted to it by the agency head after agency head determines that the case is contested and appropriate for a hearing).
> In re Appeal of Certain Sections of Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules, 90 N.J. 85, 105 (1982)

This case is virtually identical to that of Butts v. Bd. of Education of the City of Newark 2022 N.J. AGEN LEXIS 365, *5, Initial Decision (March 2, 2022), aff'd by Final Decision (April 14, 2022), and I CONCLUDE that the result shall be identical.

Furthermore, petitioner received a letter from the Board stating that if she wanted to appeal her termination, the appeal had to be filed with the Civil Service Commission within twenty days. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 4A:2-4.2: "An appeal shall be made in writing to the Civil Service Commission no later than 20 days from the employee's receipt of written notification from the appointing authority of the termination from service." The Board provided proper notice but petitioner did not file until July 23, 2023, ninety (90) days after that notice. I CONCLUDE that petitioner failed to file her appeal within twenty days with either agency, which is another jurisdictional basis for dismissing her appeal.

ORDER

Accordingly, and for the reasons articulated above, it is ORDERED that the motion of respondent Newark Board of Education for an Order Granting Dismissal is hereby GRANTED. It is further ORDERED that the appeal of petitioner Denise Davis for relief from her termination during her working test period is hereby dismissed with prejudice.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

S.M., on behalf of J.C.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Elizabeth,
Union County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

In this matter on remand, pro se petitioner appealed the determination of the respondent Board that her daughter – who has now reached the age of majority and graduated – was not entitled to a free public education in Elizabeth schools during the period from February 2023 through the end of June 2023. The Board contended that J.C. lived in Roselle during this period. Petitioner asserted that she and her daughter were domiciled in Elizabeth during the period in question; however, J.C. spends time before and after school at her grandmother's home in Roselle because there is no internet service in the Elizabeth apartment. The Board sought tuition reimbursement for the period of J.C.'s alleged ineligible attendance in Elizabeth schools. The Commissioner remanded the matter to the OAL for the limited purpose of allowing the ALJ to make factual findings regarding two of the Board's exhibits which were not addressed in the Initial Decision and which the Board contends prove that J.C. was living in Roselle and not Elizabeth during the period in question.

On remand, the ALJ found, inter alia, that: J.C.'s testimony regarding the exhibits in question indicated that Roselle was listed as the address on her driver's license and bank account because her vehicle is leased and her mother wanted her to park the car at her grandmother's house where parking is easier; further, J.C. experienced some issues with mail getting lost when sent to the Elizabeth address; J.C. used her Elizabeth address on other documents such as employment records; J.C.'s testimony made sense and was very credible; and there was no intent on the part of the petitioner and her daughter to evade school officials. The ALJ concluded that the petitioner met her burden of proof regarding J.C.'s residency in Elizabeth. Accordingly, the ALJ reversed the Board's determination that J.C. was not entitled to a free public education in Elizabeth schools and denied the Board's counterclaim for tuition.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the findings and conclusions of the ALJ on remand and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this case. Accordingly, the petition of appeal was granted, and respondent's counterclaim for tuition was dismissed.

OAL Dkt. No. EDU 09106-23 (EDU 02774-23 on remand)
Agency Dkt. No. 80-3/23

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

S.M., on behalf of J.C.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Elizabeth, Union County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) issued July 19, 2023, respondent Board's exceptions thereto, and the Initial Decision of the OAL on remand issued October 13, 2023, have been reviewed and considered.

This matter concerns the Board's determination that J.C., who has reached the age of majority, was not domiciled in Elizabeth from February 2023 through the end of June 2023 and the resultant demand for payment of tuition in the amount of $4,084.43. The petitioner appealed the Board's determination, claiming that she and her daughter resided in Elizabeth during the time period at issue, and the matter was transmitted to the OAL for a contested hearing. S.M., J.C., and the Board's investigator testified at the hearing.

In an Initial Decision issued July 19, 2023, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) concluded that the very credible testimony of S.M. and J.C., coupled with documents in evidence presented by both parties, constituted sufficient credible evidence to establish that J.C. resided in Elizabeth during the time period in question even though she also spent time at a relative's home in Roselle before and after school. Consequently, the ALJ granted petitioner's appeal and denied the Board's counterclaim for tuition.

In their exceptions, the Board contended, among other things, that prior to the hearing, "J.C. provided her driver's license and bank statement," marked in evidence as R-11 and R-12, "which indicated her address was [in] Roselle."[1] Respondent's Exceptions, at 3. The Board further contended that neither S.M. nor J.C. addressed these documents during their hearing testimony; however, the Commissioner could not verify same because the record does not contain the hearing transcripts. For these reasons, the Commissioner remanded the matter to the OAL pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.7(a) for the purpose of allowing the ALJ to render factual findings pertaining to R-11 and R-12, to explain the weight she assigned to those exhibits, and to discuss the effect, if any, those exhibits had on her ultimate conclusions of law.[2]

In response to the remand, the ALJ issued a supplemental Initial Decision on October 13, 2023, in which she rendered the additional factual findings requested by the Commissioner. Specifically, the ALJ found as fact that J.C. testified that she used her grandmother's Roselle address on her driver's license (as shown on R-11) and bank account (as shown on R-12) because

[1] R-11 is a photograph of J.C.'s New Jersey Probationary Auto License, issued July 11, 2022, and lists her address as a relative's home in Roselle. R-12 is a copy of J.C.'s monthly bank statement for April 2023 which also lists the same Roselle address.

[2] The Commissioner finds the remaining contentions in respondent's exceptions to be unpersuasive. Respondent seeks to rely primarily upon physical and electronic surveillance activities conducted by its investigator—some of which took place on weekends, holidays, and even after the school year ended. The Commissioner agrees with the ALJ, who thoroughly considered the relevant documentary evidence as well as the investigator's testimony, that his investigation was incomplete. The Commissioner finds that the information obtained by the investigator was, at best, inconclusive. Furthermore, the Commissioner rejects respondent's contention that petitioner's failure to call S.N. as a witness should result in an adverse inference. Aside from the fact that it does not appear from the record that respondent ever asked the ALJ to draw an adverse inference, there is nothing in the record to suggest that anything prevented respondent from calling S.N. as a witness had it wished to do so.

of where her mother wanted her to park her vehicle and because she experienced some issues with mail getting lost when sent to the Elizabeth address.[3] The ALJ also found that J.C.'s Elizabeth address appeared on various documents including a pay stub, a W-2, and a job application, as shown on exhibits marked P-1, P-2, and P-3 in evidence. Moreover, the ALJ found that J.C.'s testimony regarding R-11 and R-12 was "very credible" and "made sense." Initial Decision (supplemental), at 2. In addition, the ALJ found that "J.C. made conscious, thought-out decisions every time she was required to provide an address to a third party" and that "[n]one of this was done to evade school officials." Ibid.

The Commissioner adopts the ALJ's Initial Decision issued July 19, 2023, as supplemented by the Initial Decision issued October 13, 2023, as the final decision in this matter. Upon consideration of the additional factual findings made by the ALJ, coupled with the ALJ's determination that J.C. testified very credibly regarding R-11 and R-12, the Commissioner is satisfied that petitioner's residency appeal should be granted.

When reviewing an ALJ's Initial Decision, the Commissioner "may not reject or modify any findings of fact as to issues of credibility of lay witness testimony unless it is first determined from a review of the record that the findings are arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable or are not supported by sufficient, competent and credible evidence in the record." N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c); Parsells v. Bd. of Educ. of Borough of Somerville, Somerset Cnty., 254 N.J. 152, 159 (2023) (holding that the ALJ's credibility findings are entitled to deference). "When such a record, involving lay witnesses, can support more than one factual finding, it is the ALJ's credibility findings that control, unless they are arbitrary or not based on sufficient credible evidence in the record as a whole." Cavalieri v. Bd. of Trs. of Pub. Empl. Ret. Sys., 368 N.J. Super. 527, 537 (App. Div. 2004).

Following a careful review of the entire record, the Commissioner has identified nothing arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable about the ALJ's findings, which are adequately supported by sufficient, competent, and credible evidence. The Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that J.C. was domiciled in Elizabeth between February 2023 through the end of June 2023, and that J.C. was therefore entitled to a free education in Elizabeth's public schools during that time period. Thus, the Board is not entitled to reimbursement from the petitioner for tuition costs.

Accordingly, the petition of appeal is hereby granted, and respondent's counterclaim for tuition is hereby dismissed.

S.M., ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILD J.C., Petitioner
v.
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF ELIZABETH, UNION COUNTY,
Respondent.

S.M. and J.C., pro se

Brian Kane, Esq., for respondent Elizabeth Board of Education (LaCorte, Bundy, Varady and Kinsella, attorneys)

Record Closed: October 9, 2023 Decided: October 13, 2023

BEFORE GAIL M. COOKSON, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

This matter involved an appeal by S.M. from the non-residency determination made by the Board of Education of the City of Elizabeth (Board) with respect to her daughter J.C., who has now reached the age of majority and graduated. Petitioner challenged the finding of the Board that they were not domiciled in the district and that J.C. was not entitled, therefore, to a free education.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

By Initial Decision dated July 19, 2023, I ruled in favor of petitioner's appeal of the Board's residency determination. The matter was then reviewed by the Commissioner who determined on August 22, 2023, that the factual record was unclear as to two exhibits (R-11, R-12) that related to the assertion of residency in the district of Elizabeth. Accordingly, the matter was remanded to the OAL on September 13, 2023.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

I will not burden the record with duplicative information from the record already admitted during the prior plenary hearing and evaluated in the Initial Decision.

I apologize to the Commissioner and the parties that I did not comment on and refer to Exhibits R-11 and R-12. In reviewing the record, it is clear to me and I FIND that J.C. testified that she used her grandmother's Roselle address on her driver's license (R-11) and bank account (R-12) because of where her mother wanted the vehicles parked and some issues with mail getting lost when addressed to 1422 Lower. She did use her 1422 Lower address on her job applications, and for her payroll and tax information.

I FIND the testimony of J.C. to have been very credible with respect to Exhibits R-11 and R-12. They made sense and it was clear that J.C. made conscious, thought-out decisions every time she was required to provide an address to a third party. None of this was done to evade school officials and I so FIND.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that petitioner S.M. has met the burden of proof on her appeal of the Board's non-residency and de-enrollment determinations. Therefore, I also CONCLUDE that the Board is not entitled to an award in its favor on the counterclaim for the full amount of the partial school year tuition cost.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing findings of fact and conclusions of law, it is ORDERED that the relief requested by S.M. on behalf of J.C. be and the same is GRANTED and her residency appeal is UPHELD. The decision of the Board with respect to J.C.'s right to a free public education in Elizabeth is REVERSED. Accordingly, it is further ORDERED that respondent City of Elizabeth Board of Education's counterclaim for tuition reimbursement be and the same is DENIED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

In the Matter of Ardie Walser, Board of Education of the Township of Teaneck, Bergen County

This matter involves an appeal of a School Ethics Commission (Commission) decision issued on June 27, 2023, determining that appellant – a member of the Teaneck Board of Education (Board) – violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(a), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c), and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d) of the School Ethics Act (Act) by using his Board email account and the Board website to promote his personal business. The Commission recommended that appellant be censured for the violation. For the reasons explained herein, the Commissioner remands the matter to the Commission for further proceedings.

The Commission transmitted this matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on or about July 26, 2019. In March 2021, the Commission served interrogatories and requests for production of documents on appellant through his counsel, Philip E. Stern, Esq. (Stern) of the law firm of DiFrancesco, Bateman, Kunzman, Davis, Lehrer & Flaum, PC. Stern failed to respond to the discovery requests. In March 2022, the Commission served requests for admissions on Stern; he again failed to respond. During 2022, Stern also failed to appear for three conferences scheduled by the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ). In May 2022, the Commission filed a motion to deem admitted the requests for admission and to strike appellant's answer for failure to respond to discovery requests. In January 2023, the ALJ granted the motion, and the parties requested that the file be returned to the Commission. On April 14, 2023, the ALJ issued an Initial decision dismissing the matter. On June 27, 2023, the Commission rejected the Initial Decision, finding that because the answer had been stricken, the matter was no longer a contested case, and the Commission's regulations provide that the matter should be determined on a summary basis. The Commission found that appellant had violated the Act and recommended a penalty of censure.

On appeal, Stern states that he "failed to competently represent" appellant and that he "failed to communicate those failures" to appellant. Stern characterizes his actions as a "betrayal" of appellant, stating that he "cannot overemphasize his injurious role in this fiasco" and that he failed "miserably." Although Stern cites to a litany of personal issues, he acknowledges that he is "acutely aware that he is not unique in having to deal with personal crises while taking responsibility for clients." He also admits that he is a part of a law firm that was available to assist "in a heartbeat" with the "fairly rudimentary task" of answering discovery requests, but he failed to seek any assistance from his firm. Stern argues that the Commission incorrectly found that appellant had violated the Act and, if the Commission's decision is not reversed, the case should be remanded to the Commission for a full hearing on the merits.

Upon review, the Commissioner concludes that appellant was not responsible for the behavior of his attorney, and that it is in the interests of justice to remand this matter to the Commission for further proceedings. While not directly on point, the Commissioner finds case law surrounding default judgments to be instructive here. Under N.J.Ct.R. 4:50-1(a), a default judgment may be vacated based on excusable neglect. "Carelessness may be excusable when attributable to an honest mistake that is compatible with due diligence or reasonable prudence." Mancini v. Eds, 132 N.J. 330, 335 (1992). Here, Stern's neglect was inexcusable. As he admits, attorneys routinely deal with issues in their personal lives while representing their clients. Moreover, Stern is not a solo practitioner, but is employed by a firm that includes numerous other attorneys. If Stern's personal issues were so insurmountable that he could not competently represent appellant, then he could easily have sought assistance from his firm, but he failed to do so.

Default judgments may also be vacated for any other reason justifying relief. N.J.Ct.R. 4:50-1(f). The New Jersey Supreme Court has stated that a court should view the opening of default judgments "with great liberality." Mancini, supra, 132 N.J. at 334. It is clear that appellant intended to contest the facts alleged in the complaint, and he would have done so if not for Stern's failures. The Commissioner finds that it would be unjust to hold appellant responsible for his attorney's failures by affirming the decision the Commission made on a summary basis.[1] However, the Commissioner finds that it is premature to reach a decision on the merits, as the record has not been fully developed through proceedings at the OAL.

Accordingly, this matter is remanded to the Commission for further proceedings consistent with this decision.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

ACTING COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION

Date of Decision: November 20, 2023
Date of Mailing: November 22, 2023

[1] The Commissioner notes that it was entirely appropriate for the Commission to proceed on a summary basis following the striking of appellant's answer. Only the information presented to the Commissioner on appeal regarding Stern's conduct, which was never presented to the Commission, requires a different outcome.

Final Decision

I/M/O Ardie Walser,
Teaneck Board of Education, Bergen County

I. Procedural History

The above-captioned matter arises from a Complaint that was filed on December 5, 2018,[1] by Michael Pagan (Complainant) alleging that Ardie Walser (Respondent) a member of the Teaneck Board of Education (Board), violated the School Ethics Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-21 et seq.[2] More specifically, the Complaint alleged that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(a), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d), based on four instances of using his Board email account or Board website to promote his personal business.

On January 22, 2019, Respondent filed a Motion to Dismiss in Lieu of an Answer (Motion to Dismiss) and also alleged that the Complaint is frivolous. On February 11, 2019, Complainant filed a response to the Motion to Dismiss and allegation of frivolous filing.

At its meeting on March 26, 2019, the Commission considered the filings in this matter and, at a special meeting on May 2, 2019, the Commission voted to deny the Motion to Dismiss in its entirety, and to direct Respondent to file an Answer. The Commission also voted to find the Complaint not frivolous, and to deny the request for sanctions. On May 23, 2019, Respondent filed an Answer as directed.

At its special meeting on July 23, 2019, the Commission adopted a decision finding probable cause for all of the allegations in the Complaint. Based on its finding of probable cause, the Commission transmitted the above-captioned matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for a plenary hearing, and, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:28-10.7(b), the attorney for the Commission (Petitioner) was charged with prosecuting the allegations in the Complaint which the Commission found probable cause to credit.

At the OAL, following Respondent's failure to answer discovery requests, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) issued an Order on January 13, 2023, deeming the unanswered Requests for Admission "Admitted" and suppressing Respondent's Answer with Defenses.

[1] On December 5, 2018, Complainant filed a deficient Complaint; however, on December 14, 2018, Complainant cured all defects and filed an Amended Complaint that was deemed compliant with the requirements detailed in N.J.A.C. 6A:28-6.3.

[2] The Complaint also alleged that Shahanzaz Arjumand (Respondent Arjumand) violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(a), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d) in Count 3. Complainant voluntarily withdrew all allegations against Respondent Arjumand.

Thereafter, on April 14, 2023, the ALJ issued an Initial Decision dismissing the matter without prejudice.

Petitioner filed Exceptions to the Initial Decision, in accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4. Respondent did not file a Reply.

At its regularly scheduled meeting on May 23, 2023, the Commission considered the full record in this matter. Thereafter, at its meeting on June 27, 2023, the Commission voted to reject the Initial Decision and issue a determination on a summary basis, finding that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(a), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d) and recommending a penalty of censure.

II. Order and Initial Decision

After transmittal of this matter in July 2019, and a delay in the proceedings that appears to have been due in part to the COVID-19 pandemic, the ALJ issued an Order on January 13, 2023 to address Respondent's outstanding discovery requests. In the written Order, the ALJ noted that Respondent's counsel failed to appear for at least three telephone conferences in 2022 and did not reply to Petitioner's discovery requests. As a result of the outstanding discovery, Petitioner filed a motion on May 26, 2022, seeking to have the Requests for Admission deemed admitted and sanctions, including striking Respondent's Answer. Respondent did not respond to the discovery or the motion. Accordingly, in the January 13, 2023, Order, the ALJ granted the requested relief, deeming the Requests for Admission "Admitted" and suppressing Respondent's Answer with Defenses.

Thereafter, on April 14, 2023, the ALJ issued an Initial Decision finding the January 13, 2023, Order was dispositive of the case. The ALJ concluded that he was "unable to address the merits" of this matter, deemed the matter closed, and returned the file to the Commission. The ALJ further indicated Respondent's attorney "reserves his right to seek to have the matter re-opened." Initial Decision at 2. As such, the ALJ dismissed the matter without prejudice.

III. Exceptions

In its exceptions, Petitioner argues that the ALJ erred in dismissing the Complaint without prejudice because the Complaint was never dismissed. Instead, Petitioner explains the matter was returned to the agency because Respondent's Answer was stricken due to his failure to provide discovery responses and was, therefore, no longer a contested case. As such, the case should have been returned to the agency for the Commission to determine on a summary basis, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:28-10.7(c)(2)(i),[3] as the facts are no longer in dispute.

Petitioner also takes exception to the statement in the Initial Decision that Respondent's attorney "reserves his right to seek to have the matter re-opened." Exceptions at 4. Petitioner notes that Respondent did not "open" the matter initially, so he could not reserve a right to "re-open" the case. Id. at 6. Further, Petitioner surmises that "[p]erhaps the ALJ confused this case for one where the State agency was the respondent rather than the petitioner." Id. at 5.

[3] As this matter was initiated before March 6, 2023, the rules in effect prior to that date are applicable to this matter.

Accordingly, Petitioner reiterates that the matter is no longer contested, the facts are not in dispute, and therefore, the Commission should determine whether there is a violation on a summary basis.

Respondent did not file exceptions and/or a reply to Petitioner's exceptions.

IV. Analysis of the Initial Decision

After review, the Commission finds the Initial Decision in the above-captioned matter must be rejected. In the January 13, 2023, Order, the ALJ deemed the Requests for Admission "Admitted" and determined to strike Respondent's Answer due to failure to respond to discovery requests for an extended period of time. Without an Answer, the matter is no longer a contested case. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:28-10.7(c)(2)(i), "where a matter is transmitted to the OAL and the respondent fails to appear before the OAL and the matter is returned to the Commission for disposition, the allegation(s) which the Commission found probable cause to credit shall be deemed admitted and the Commission may proceed to a determination of a violation on a summary basis." While this matter was not returned for Respondent's failure to appear, the matter was returned to the Commission as the Answer was stricken, which would similarly require a determination on a summary basis. The Commission found probable cause that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(a), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d). As such, the ALJ's dismissal of this matter without prejudice before a determination on those allegations is inappropriate, and must be rejected. Accordingly, the Commission will decide this matter summarily.

V. Summary Decision

A. Factual Findings

As Respondent's Answer has been stricken in accordance with the January 13, 2023, Order, the facts alleged in the Complaint are uncontested. By way of background, Respondent's bio on the Board website provided that he is the co-founder and director of Math Adventures and Word Play (MAWP), a private tutoring program.

According to the Complaint, on October 10, 2018, an email was sent from the Whittier Elementary School/Teaneck Public Schools District (District) email account to the parents/guardians of students in the District, which contained a link for MAWP and directed anyone interested to contact "Ardie Walser" via email or telephone. Additional contact information was provided for two other people, including "Ardie Walser's spouse." Complainant asserted that although well intended, this program should not have been promoted within the District, and therefore, Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(a), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d) in Count 1, because he is a member of the Board/Board President and there is "inherently a conflict with his official role and this role." According to Complainant, it places a principal, administrative official, or teacher in an "uncomfortable position" when correspondence is being requested which includes the name of, or at the request of, the Board President and Respondent is "directly interacting with [District] students and making commentary on the academic work they are being exposed to in the schools."

Complainant further asserted that on or about October 7, 2018, the Board authorized a flyer to be posted on the Board's website for MAWP. The flyer names "Ardie Walser," as the contact person. Complainant alleged that Respondent is Board President and has the authority to determine what information is, and is not, posted on the Board's website, and therefore, Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(a), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d) in Count 2, because he is a member of the Board/Board President, and this is in "conflict with his duties in the eye of the public interest." Once again, this information places a principal, administrative official or teacher in an uncomfortable position.

Complainant maintained that on or about November 17, 2018, "various PTO organizations" posted information regarding events that MAWP was hosting, after Respondent sent an email containing the information. Complainant asserted the events, which are "pushed by various board members and the school," appear to be "official events" and may "prejudice the independence and judgments of official action." Therefore, Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(a), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d) in Count 3, because the topic of discussion relates to the operation of the schools, specifically technology and education, and Respondent Walser's role as director of this program "blurs the line between" public and private life, and makes it appear that this is an official Board event.

Finally, Complainant contended that on November 19, 2018, Respondent replied to an email from a community member (and possible Board candidate), who was expressing her discontent with a recent Board meeting. In his reply, which was sent from his Board email account, Respondent told the member that if she would like to discuss her concerns further, she could meet him on Saturday, while he was working with students and their families to "improve education for ALL..." and directed her to the MAWP website. Also copied on the email, was the superintendent, Board members, and members of the public, and therefore, Complainant alleged that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(a), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d) in Count 3, because he is urging members of the public to come to his event to discuss official Board actions/matters, which blurs the line between a Board member and his private life/business. This is compounded by the fact that Respondent used his District email account to advertise the event, and included the superintendent and other Board members on the email, thus giving the perception that the event is Board/District approved.

In addition to the facts established in the Complaint, the January 13, 2023, Order of the OAL, also deems the twenty-five Requests for Admission "Admitted." The relevant facts determined "Admitted" in the Requests for Admission, without repeating those that are already deemed uncontested in the Complaint, are as follows:

> ... 16. When various PTOs posted information about MAWP events, these events appear to be official Board events and may prejudice the independence and judgments of official action. ...
>
> 21. Your business/employment with MAWP is in substantial conflict with the proper duties as a Board member and Board President.
> 22. In your capacity as a Board member/President, you used or otherwise directed the use of the District's e-mail and website to promote your personal business.

23. The nature of your employment by/with MAWP in and of itself might reasonably be expected to prejudice your independence of judgment in the exercise of your official duties as a Board member and Board President.

24. In your capacity as a Board member/President, you directed PTO organizations to advertise the work of your personal business.

25. In your capacity as a Board member/President, you used or otherwise directed the use of the District resources to promote "the good work" of your personal business.

B. Analysis and Conclusions of Law

Based upon its review of this matter, including the uncontested facts and the "Admitted" facts and findings in the record, the Commission concludes that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(a), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d), which provide:

> a. No school official or member of his immediate family shall have an interest in a business organization or engage in any business, transaction, or professional activity, which is in substantial conflict with the proper discharge of his duties in the public interest;
>
> c. No school official shall act in his official capacity in any matter where he, a member of his immediate family, or a business organization in which he has an interest, has a direct or indirect financial involvement that might reasonably be expected to impair his objectivity or independence of judgment. No school official shall act in his official capacity in any matter where he or a member of his immediate family has a personal involvement that is or creates some benefit to the school official or member of his immediate family;
> d. No school official shall undertake any employment or service, whether compensated or not, which might reasonably be expected to prejudice his independence of judgment in the exercise of his official duties;

With respect to Count 1, Respondent's use of his District email account to promote his personal business by sending parents/guardians in the District a link for MAWP and directing those interested to contact him or his spouse violates N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(a), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d). The use of his District email to seek clients for the financial benefit of his business demonstrates that Respondent used his official capacity on the Board for personal gain. Additionally, the direct interaction with District students regarding their academic work through his private business demonstrates a direct and substantial conflict with his ability to discharge his duties as a Board member, and the nature of Respondent's employment at his private tutoring company, which he sought to promote through his Board email, can reasonably be expected to impair his objectivity and prejudice his independence of judgment.

When Respondent, in his position as Board President, authorized a flyer to be posted on the Board's website that advertised his personal business, his personal interests were substantially in conflict with his duties in the public interest, and he used his official capacity as a Board member to publicize his business in order to obtain a financial benefit. Respondent's use of his official capacity on the Board to financially benefit his business, and the nature of his employment as co-founder of MAWP, can reasonably be expected to prejudice his independence of judgment in his duties as a Board member. As such, Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(a), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d) in Count 2.

In Count 3, Respondent sent an email to "PTO organizations" regarding upcoming events MAWP was hosting that urged the organizations to post and advertise the events. The use of his position on the Board to promote his personal business, which creates the appearance that such events are official school events, creates a substantial conflict as it blurs the line between his financial interest in MAWP and his position on the Board. Respondent's direct role in approving the website content in order to market his private company illustrates his blatant use of his official capacity on the Board for personal, financial gain. These actions, and Respondent's leadership position at MAWP, may result in his inability to exercise sound judgment in his official duties. As such, Respondent is in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(a), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d).

Respondent's use of his Board email account to communicate with the public and solicit a meeting with a community member during a time when he would be working with students and families through MAWP, as established in Count 4, violates N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(a), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d). Respondent deliberately used his official capacity in responding to an email as a Board member to set up a meeting at his private tutoring company, in which he has a financial interest. Respondent's actions to promote his personal business create an obvious and substantial conflict as he is attempting to conduct responsibilities for his position on the Board at the same time as he is working in his capacity as co-founder and director of MAWP. Such a conflict gives the appearance as though his personal MAWP event is also a Board event and his employment at MAWP can, therefore, reasonably be expected to prejudice his independence of judgment when executing his Board member duties.

Accordingly, and based on a complete and thorough review of the record, and the undisputed evidence as set forth herein, the Commission finds that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(a), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d) in Counts 1-4 of the Complaint.

VI. Recommended Penalty

Having found that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(a), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(c) and N.J.S.A. 18A:12-24(d), the Commission is authorized to recommend to the Commissioner of Education (Commissioner) an appropriate penalty, which may range from reprimand to removal. N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c).

In reaching its determination of a penalty in this matter, the Commission emphasizes the severity of Respondent's violations of the Act, which did not occur once, but rather in several instances. The Commission finds that based on the undisputed record before it, Respondent deliberately and intentionally used his position on the Board to benefit financially through soliciting clients for his personal tutoring business. The Commission finds such blatant violations of the Act are egregious. The Commission, therefore, recommends a penalty of censure for Respondent's violations of the Act.[4]

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c), this decision shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of Education for review of the Commission's recommended penalty. The parties may either: 1) file exceptions to the recommended sanction; 2) file an appeal of the Commission's finding of a violation; or 3) file both exceptions to the recommended sanction together with an appeal of the finding of a violation.

Parties taking exception to the recommended sanction of the Commission but not disputing the Commission's finding of a violation may file, within thirteen (13) days from the date the Commission's decision is forwarded to the Commissioner, written exceptions regarding the recommended penalty to the Commissioner. The forwarding date shall be the mailing date to the parties, as indicated below. Such exceptions must be forwarded to: Commissioner of Education, c/o Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, marked "Attention: Comments on Ethics Commission Sanction," as well as to (ControversiesDisputesFilings@doe.nj.gov). A copy must also be sent to the Commission (school.ethics@doe.nj.gov) and all other parties.

Docket No.: D03-23
Decision for Failure to File Personal/Relative and Financial Disclosure Statements

---

I/M/O Sapreet Saluja,
Empowerment Academy Charter School, Hudson County

I. Procedural History

This matter arises from an Order to Show Cause (OTSC) that was issued by the School Ethics Commission (Commission) at its meeting on September 26, 2023, directing Respondent, a "school official" as defined in N.J.S.A. 18A:12-23 of the School Ethics Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-21 et seq., to show cause as to why the Commission should not find her in violation of the Act for failing to file Personal/Relative and Financial Disclosure Statements (Disclosure Statements) as required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-25, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-26, and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1.

In the OTSC that was served on September 26, 2023, the Commission notified Respondent that she had twenty (20) days to respond to the OTSC. Respondent was further advised that failure to respond would be deemed an admission of the facts set forth in the OTSC, and the Commission may take action on a summary basis, in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:28-1.6(c).

II. Analysis

The Act was enacted by the New Jersey State Legislature to ensure and preserve public confidence in members of local boards of education and local school administrators. By virtue of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-23.1, the breadth of the Act was expanded to include charter school trustees and administrators.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-25, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-26, and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1(a), all school officials must file, on forms prescribed by the Commission, Disclosure Statements with their local board secretaries or charter school designees, and must do so on or before April 30th of each year. In addition, all newly elected board members or board members appointed to fill vacancies, newly appointed members of a board of trustees of a charter school, and administrators appointed to fill a vacancy must file their Disclosure Statements within thirty (30) days of appointment or taking office. N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1(c), N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1(d), N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1(e), and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1(f).

If a school official fails to file the required Disclosure Statements, the Commission is authorized, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.3(b), to issue an Order to Show Cause. Moreover, failure to timely file the required Disclosure Statements "shall constitute a violation of the Act, and may result in the reprimand, censure, suspension, or removal of a school official." N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.3(a).

With the above in mind, Respondent is a returning school official and, therefore, was required to file Disclosure Statements by April 30, 2023. Despite this fact, and even though Respondent received reminders as further detailed below, Respondent failed to file Disclosure Statements within the statutorily required timeframe.

More specifically, throughout the months of July through September, the Commission's staff sent repeated messages to the Board Secretary advising that Respondent had not yet filed Disclosure Statements. The electronic correspondence to the Board Secretary further advised that if Respondent failed to file Disclosure Statements, the Commission had the authority to issue an OTSC, find Respondent in violation of the Act, and recommend a penalty up to and including removal for non-compliance.

In addition, by electronic correspondence dated August 1, 2023, August 30, 2023, and September 11, 2023, Respondent was reminded that her Disclosure Statements had not yet been filed. Respondent was further advised that continued failure to file Disclosure Statements would result in the Commission issuing an OTSC, and recommending a penalty, up to and including removal.

When Respondent failed to file Disclosure Statements as required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-25, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-26, and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1, an OTSC was issued by the Commission at its meeting on September 26, 2023. After having been served with the OTSC, Respondent filed her Disclosure Statements on October 16, 2023, and submitted a written statement noting that her failure to file "was a simple miss on [her] part." She also notes that she "erroneously thought [she] had submitted it."

III. Decision/Penalty Recommendation

Based on the record as set forth above, and at its meeting on October 17, 2023, the Commission found that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-25, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-26, and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1 because she did not timely file Disclosure Statements. Although Respondent ultimately filed her Disclosure Statements, the filing was several months late, and submitted only after multiple reminders were sent reiterating her statutory obligation to file Disclosure Statements.

Where a violation of the Act is found by the Commission, it may recommend to the Commissioner of Education that a penalty be imposed on the school official. The recommended penalty can include a reprimand, censure, suspension or removal of the school official. N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.3(a); N.J.A.C. 6A:28-9.11. Specifically, unless good cause is shown or the school official previously has been the subject of an OTSC, "the Commission shall recommend that a school official who completes the disclosure statements after the issuance of an Order to Show Cause, but before the Commission issues its decision, receives a censure." N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.3(c). For the reasons set forth above, the Commission recommends that the Commissioner of Education impose a penalty of censure.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c), this decision shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of Education for review of the Commission's recommended penalty. Respondent may either: 1) file exceptions to the recommended sanction; 2) file an appeal of the Commission's finding of a violation; or 3) file both exceptions to the recommended sanction together with an appeal of the finding of a violation.

Parties taking exception to the recommended penalty of the Commission but not disputing the Commission's finding of a violation may file, within thirteen (13) days from the date the Commission's decision is forwarded to the Commissioner, written exceptions regarding the recommended penalty to the Commissioner. The forwarding date shall be the mailing date to the parties, as indicated below. Such exceptions must be forwarded to: Commissioner of Education, c/o Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, marked "Attention: Comments on Ethics Commission Sanction." as well as to (ControversiesDisputesFilings@doe.nj.gov). A copy must also be sent to the Commission (school.ethics@doe.nj.gov) and all other parties.

Parties seeking to appeal the Commission's finding of violation must file an appeal pursuant to the standards set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:4-1 et seq. within thirty (30) days of the filing date of the decision from which the appeal is taken. The filing date shall be three (3) days after the date of mailing to the parties, as shown below. In such cases, the Commissioner's review of the Commission's recommended sanction will be deferred and incorporated into the Commissioner's review of the finding of violation on appeal. Where a notice of appeal has been filed on or before the due date for exceptions to the Commission's recommended sanction (thirteen (13) days from the date the decision is mailed by the Commission), exceptions need not be filed by that date, but may be incorporated into the appellant's brief on appeal.

The Commissioner has reviewed the record of this matter and the decision of the School Ethics Commission (SEC) finding that respondent violated the School Ethics Act for failure to timely file Personal/Relative and Financial Disclosure Statements ("Disclosure Statements") in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:12-25, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-26, and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1. The SEC recommended a sanction of removal effective upon the adoption of the decision by the Commissioner. Alternatively, if the respondent filed the Disclosure Statements before the issuance of the Commissioner's final decision and notified the SEC accordingly, the SEC recommended a sanction of a thirty-day suspension. To date, respondent has not notified the SEC that she has filed the Disclosure Statements. Respondent has neither filed exceptions to the recommended penalty, nor instituted an appeal of the SEC's underlying finding of violation pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:4-1 et seq.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the penalty recommended by the SEC for respondent's failure to timely honor an obligation placed upon school officials by law. Accordingly, respondent is hereby removed from the board for violating the School Ethics Act.

I. Procedural History

This matter arises from an Order to Show Cause (OTSC) that was issued by the School Ethics Commission (Commission) at its meeting on September 26, 2023, directing Respondent, a "school official" as defined in N.J.S.A. 18A:12-23 of the School Ethics Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-21 et seq., to show cause as to why the Commission should not find her in violation of the Act for failing to file Personal/Relative and Financial Disclosure Statements (Disclosure Statements) as required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-25, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-26, and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1.

In the OTSC that was served on September 26, 2023, the Commission notified Respondent that she had twenty (20) days to respond to the OTSC. Respondent was further advised that failure to respond would be deemed an admission of the facts set forth in the OTSC, and the Commission may take action on a summary basis, in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:28-1.6(c).

II. Analysis

The Act was enacted by the New Jersey State Legislature to ensure and preserve public confidence in members of local boards of education and local school administrators. By virtue of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-23.1, the breadth of the Act was expanded to include charter school trustees and administrators.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-25, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-26, and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1(a), all school officials must file, on forms prescribed by the Commission, Disclosure Statements with their local board secretaries or charter school designees, and must do so on or before April 30th of each year. In addition, all newly elected board members or board members appointed to fill vacancies, newly appointed members of a board of trustees of a charter school, and administrators appointed to fill a vacancy must file their Disclosure Statements within thirty (30) days of appointment or taking office. N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1(c), N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1(d), N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1(e), and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1(f).

If a school official fails to file the required Disclosure Statements, the Commission is authorized, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.3(b), to issue an Order to Show Cause. Moreover, failure to timely file the required Disclosure Statements "shall constitute a violation of the Act, and may result in the reprimand, censure, suspension, or removal of a school official." N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.3(a).

With the above in mind, Respondent is a returning school official and, therefore, was required to file Disclosure Statements by April 30, 2023. Despite this fact, and even though Respondent received reminders as further detailed below, Respondent failed to file Disclosure Statements within the statutorily required timeframe.

More specifically, throughout the months of July through September, the Commission's staff sent repeated messages to the Board Secretary advising that Respondent had not yet filed Disclosure Statements. The electronic correspondence to the Board Secretary further advised that if Respondent failed to file Disclosure Statements, the Commission had the authority to issue an OTSC, find Respondent in violation of the Act, and recommend a penalty up to and including removal for non-compliance.

In addition, by electronic correspondence dated August 2, 2023, August 30, 2023, and September 11, 2023, Respondent was reminded that her Disclosure Statements had not yet been filed. Respondent was further advised that continued failure to file Disclosure Statements would result in the Commission issuing an OTSC, and recommending a penalty, up to and including removal.

When Respondent failed to file Disclosure Statements as required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-25, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-26, and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1, an OTSC was issued by the Commission at its meeting on September 26, 2023. After having been served with the OTSC, Respondent still failed to file Disclosure Statements, or to otherwise respond to the OTSC.

III. Decision/Penalty Recommendation

Based on the record as set forth above, and at its meeting on October 17, 2023, the Commission found that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-25, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-26, and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1 because she did not timely file Disclosure Statements.

Where a violation of the Act is found by the Commission, it may recommend to the Commissioner of Education that a penalty be imposed on the school official. The recommended penalty can include a reprimand, censure, suspension or removal of the school official. N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.3(a); N.J.A.C. 6A:28-9.11. Specifically, unless good cause is shown or the school official previously has been the subject of an OTSC, "the Commission shall recommend that a school official who completes and files the disclosure statements after the Commission issues a decision, but before the Commissioner issues a final decision, receives a suspension for 30 days." N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.3(d). However, "the Commission will only recommend this penalty if the school official notifies the Commission, in writing, that the school official successfully completed and filed the disclosure statements before the Commissioner issues a final decision." N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.3(d). If the school official has not filed the disclosure statements as of the date the Commissioner issues its final decision, the Commission will recommend removal of the school official from his or her position. N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.3(e).

For the reasons set forth above, the Commission recommends that the Commissioner of Education impose a penalty of removal, with such removal to become effective immediately upon adoption by the Commissioner of Education. However, if Respondent files Disclosure Statements before the Commissioner of Education adopts a final decision (which will be within forty-five (45) days after the mailing date of this decision), then the Commission recommends that the Commissioner of Education, in lieu of removal, impose a thirty (30) day suspension, with such suspension to become effective immediately upon adoption by the Commissioner of Education, provided the school official provides written notice that the disclosure statement has been completed and filed.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c), this decision shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of Education for review of the Commission's recommended penalty. Respondent may either: 1) file exceptions to the recommended sanction; 2) file an appeal of the Commission's finding of a violation; or 3) file both exceptions to the recommended sanction together with an appeal of the finding of a violation.

Parties taking exception to the recommended penalty of the Commission but not disputing the Commission's finding of a violation may file, within thirteen (13) days from the date the Commission's decision is forwarded to the Commissioner, written exceptions regarding the recommended penalty to the Commissioner. The forwarding date shall be the mailing date to the parties, as indicated below. Such exceptions must be forwarded to: Commissioner of Education, c/o Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, P.O. A copy must also be sent to the Commission (school.ethics@doe.nj.gov) and all other parties.

Parties seeking to appeal the Commission's finding of violation must file an appeal pursuant to the standards set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:4-1 et seq. within thirty (30) days of the filing date of the decision from which the appeal is taken. The filing date shall be three (3) days after the date of mailing to the parties, as shown below. In such cases, the Commissioner's review of the Commission's recommended sanction will be deferred and incorporated into the Commissioner's review of the finding of violation on appeal. Where a notice of appeal has been filed on or before the due date for exceptions to the Commission's recommended sanction (thirteen (13) days from the date the decision is mailed by the Commission), exceptions need not be filed by that date, but may be incorporated into the appellant's brief on appeal.

Agency Dkt. No. 282-10/23

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

In the Matter of Anthony Remy,
Asbury Park Board of Education,
Monmouth County.

The Commissioner has reviewed the record of this matter and the decision of the School Ethics Commission (SEC) finding that respondent violated the School Ethics Act for failure to timely file Personal/Relative and Financial Disclosure Statements ("Disclosure Statements") in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:12-25, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-26, and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1. The SEC's decision was forwarded to the Commissioner for final determination on the recommended penalty pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c). The SEC advises that the respondent ultimately completed training after the issuance of the September 26, 2023 Order to Show Cause but prior to the SEC's October 17, 2023 meeting.[1] The SEC recommended a sanction of a sixty-day suspension, because respondent was previously the subject of an Order to Show Cause regarding his failure to timely complete board member training. Respondent has neither filed exceptions to the recommended penalty, nor instituted an appeal of the SEC's underlying finding of violation pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:4-1 et seq.

[1] The Analysis section of the SEC's decision indicates that respondent failed to file the Disclosure Statements or to otherwise respond to the Order to Show Cause. However, this statement appears to be in error. In the Decision/Penalty Recommendation section, the SEC's decision indicates that respondent filed his Disclosure Statement on September 27, 2023, and the record reflects same.

Upon review, the Commissioner notes that in other similar matters, when a respondent board member met an obligation after the issuance of an Order to Show Cause but prior to the SEC's meeting date, and previously had been the subject of an Order to Show Cause that resulted in a reprimand, the penalty for the second violation has been a thirty-day suspension. In the Matter of Annette Beasley, Irvington Board of Education, Essex County, Commissioner Decision No. 279-22SEC, decided October 24, 2022; In the Matter of Kecia Teller, The John P. Holland Charter School, Passaic County, Commissioner Decision No. 1-20SEC, decided January 3, 2023; In the Matter of Craig Woolridge, College Achieve Paterson Charter School, Passaic County, Commissioner Decision No. 5-20SEC, decided January 3, 2020. As the instant case arises from the same circumstances, the Commissioner finds that a thirty-day suspension is the appropriate penalty for the respondent's failure to timely file the Disclosure Statements. Docket No.: D06-23

I/M/O Anthony Remy,
Asbury Park Board of Education, Monmouth County

I. Procedural History

This matter arises from an Order to Show Cause (OTSC) that was issued by the School Ethics Commission (Commission) at its meeting on September 26, 2023, directing Respondent, a "school official" as defined in N.J.S.A. 18A:12-23 of the School Ethics Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-21 et seq., to show cause as to why the Commission should not find him in violation of the Act for failing to file Personal/Relative and Financial Disclosure Statements (Disclosure Statements) as required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-25, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-26, and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1.

In the OTSC that was served on September 26, 2023, the Commission notified Respondent that he had twenty (20) days to respond to the OTSC. Respondent was further advised that failure to respond would be deemed an admission of the facts set forth in the OTSC, and the Commission may take action on a summary basis, in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:28-1.6(c).

II. Analysis

The Act was enacted by the New Jersey State Legislature to ensure and preserve public confidence in members of local boards of education and local school administrators. By virtue of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-23.1, the breadth of the Act was expanded to include charter school trustees and administrators.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-25, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-26, and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1(a), all school officials must file, on forms prescribed by the Commission, Disclosure Statements with their local board secretaries or charter school designees, and must do so on or before April 30th of each year. In addition, all newly elected board members or board members appointed to fill vacancies, newly appointed members of a board of trustees of a charter school, and administrators appointed to fill a vacancy must file their Disclosure Statements within thirty (30) days of appointment or taking office. N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1(c), N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1(d), N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1(e), and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1(f).

If a school official fails to file the required Disclosure Statements, the Commission is authorized, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.3(b), to issue an Order to Show Cause. Moreover, failure to timely file the required Disclosure Statements "shall constitute a violation of the Act, and may result in the reprimand, censure, suspension, or removal of a school official." N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.3(a).

With the above in mind, Respondent is a returning school official and, therefore, was required to file Disclosure Statements by April 30, 2023. Despite this fact, and even though Respondent received reminders as further detailed below, Respondent failed to file Disclosure Statements within the statutorily required timeframe.

More specifically, throughout the months of July through September, the Commission's staff sent repeated messages to the Board Secretary advising that Respondent had not yet filed Disclosure Statements. The electronic correspondence to the Board Secretary further advised that if Respondent failed to file Disclosure Statements, the Commission had the authority to issue an OTSC, find Respondent in violation of the Act, and recommend a penalty up to and including removal for non-compliance.

In addition, by electronic correspondence dated August 2, 2023, September 5, 2023, September 11, 2023, and September 21, 2023, Respondent was reminded that his Disclosure Statements had not yet been filed. Respondent was further advised that continued failure to file Disclosure Statements would result in the Commission issuing an OTSC, and recommending a penalty, up to and including removal.

When Respondent failed to file Disclosure Statements as required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-25, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-26, and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1, an OTSC was issued by the Commission at its meeting on September 26, 2023. After having been served with the OTSC, Respondent still failed to file Disclosure Statements, or to otherwise respond to the OTSC.

III. Decision/Penalty Recommendation

Based on the record as set forth above, and at its meeting on October 17, 2023, the Commission found that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-25, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-26, and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1 because he did not timely file Disclosure Statements. Although Respondent ultimately filed his Disclosure Statement on September 27, 2023, the filing was several months late, and submitted only after multiple reminders were sent reiterating his statutory obligation to file Disclosure Statements. Additionally, the Commission notes Respondent was previously issued a reprimand for failing to complete his mandatory training requirement in a timely fashion (T28-21).

Where a violation of the Act is found by the Commission, it may recommend to the Commissioner of Education that a penalty be imposed on the school official. The recommended penalty can include a reprimand, censure, suspension or removal of the school official. N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.3(a); N.J.A.C. 6A:28-9.11. Specifically, unless good cause is shown or the school official previously has been the subject of an OTSC, "the Commission shall recommend that a school official who completes and files the disclosure statements after the Commission issues a decision, but before the Commissioner issues a final decision, receives a suspension for 30 days." N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.3(d). However, "the Commission will only recommend this penalty if the school official notifies the Commission, in writing, that the school official successfully completed and filed the disclosure statements before the Commissioner issues a final decision." N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.3(d). If the school official has not filed the disclosure statements as of the date the Commissioner issues its final decision, the Commission will recommend removal of the school official from his or her position. N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.3(e).

Given that Respondent was previously the subject of an OTSC, the Commission recommends that the Commissioner of Education impose a penalty of 60-day suspension, with such suspension to become effective immediately upon adoption by the Commissioner of Education.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c), this decision shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of Education for review of the Commission's recommended penalty. Respondent may either: 1) file exceptions to the recommended sanction; 2) file an appeal of the Commission's finding of a violation; or 3) file both exceptions to the recommended sanction together with an appeal of the finding of a violation.

Parties taking exception to the recommended penalty of the Commission but not disputing the Commission's finding of a violation may file, within thirteen (13) days from the date the Commission's decision is forwarded to the Commissioner, written exceptions regarding the recommended penalty to the Commissioner. The forwarding date shall be the mailing date to the parties, as indicated below. Such exceptions must be forwarded to: Commissioner of Education, c/o Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, marked "Attention: Comments on Ethics Commission Sanction." as well as to (ControversiesDisputesFilings@doe.nj.gov). A copy must also be sent to the Commission (school.ethics@doe.nj.gov) and all other parties.

Parties seeking to appeal the Commission's finding of violation must file an appeal pursuant to the standards set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:4-1 et seq. within thirty (30) days of the filing date of the decision from which the appeal is taken. The filing date shall be three (3) days after the date of mailing to the parties, as shown below. In such cases, the Commissioner's review of the Commission's recommended sanction will be deferred and incorporated into the Commissioner's review of the finding of violation on appeal. Where a notice of appeal has been filed on or before the due date for exceptions to the Commission's recommended sanction (thirteen (13) days from the date the decision is mailed by the Commission), exceptions need not be filed by that date, but may be incorporated into the appellant's brief on appeal.

Decision for Failure to File Personal/Relative and Financial Disclosure Statements

I. Procedural History

This matter arises from an Order to Show Cause (OTSC) that was issued by the School Ethics Commission (Commission) at its meeting on September 26, 2023, directing Respondent, a "school official" as defined in N.J.S.A. 18A:12-23 of the School Ethics Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-21 et seq., to show cause as to why the Commission should not find her in violation of the Act for failing to file Personal/Relative and Financial Disclosure Statements (Disclosure Statements) as required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-25, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-26, and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1.

In the OTSC that was served on September 26, 2023, the Commission notified Respondent that she had twenty (20) days to respond to the OTSC. Respondent was further advised that failure to respond would be deemed an admission of the facts set forth in the OTSC, and the Commission may take action on a summary basis, in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:28-1.6(c).

II. Analysis

The Act was enacted by the New Jersey State Legislature to ensure and preserve public confidence in members of local boards of education and local school administrators. By virtue of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-23.1, the breadth of the Act was expanded to include charter school trustees and administrators.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-25, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-26, and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1(a), all school officials must file, on forms prescribed by the Commission, Disclosure Statements with their local board secretaries or charter school designees, and must do so on or before April 30th of each year. In addition, all newly elected board members or board members appointed to fill vacancies, newly appointed members of a board of trustees of a charter school, and administrators appointed to fill a vacancy must file their Disclosure Statements within thirty (30) days of appointment or taking office. N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1(c), N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1(d), N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1(e), and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1(f).

If a school official fails to file the required Disclosure Statements, the Commission is authorized, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.3(b), to issue an Order to Show Cause. Moreover, failure to timely file the required Disclosure Statements "shall constitute a violation of the Act, and may result in the reprimand, censure, suspension, or removal of a school official." N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.3(a).

With the above in mind, Respondent is a returning school official and, therefore, was required to file Disclosure Statements by April 30, 2023. Despite this fact, and even though Respondent received reminders as further detailed below, Respondent failed to file Disclosure Statements within the statutorily required timeframe.

More specifically, throughout the months of July through September, the Commission's staff sent repeated messages to the Board Secretary advising that Respondent had not yet filed Disclosure Statements. The electronic correspondence to the Board Secretary further advised that if Respondent failed to file Disclosure Statements, the Commission had the authority to issue an OTSC, find Respondent in violation of the Act, and recommend a penalty up to and including removal for non-compliance.

In addition, by electronic correspondence dated August 3, 2023, September 6, 2023, September 18, 2023, and September 25, 2023, Respondent was reminded that her Disclosure Statements had not yet been filed. Respondent was further advised that continued failure to file Disclosure Statements would result in the Commission issuing an OTSC, and recommending a penalty, up to and including removal.

When Respondent failed to file Disclosure Statements as required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-25, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-26, and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1, an OTSC was issued by the Commission at its meeting on September 26, 2023. After having been served with the OTSC, Respondent filed her Disclosure Statements on September 27, 2023, and submitted a written statement noting that she filed Disclosure Statement for her "local board," and thought she completed her Disclosure Statements for the Union County Educational Services Commission. She also notes that she did not respond to the Commission's correspondence because she "rarely go[es] on-line or do[es] email."

III. Decision/Penalty Recommendation

Based on the record as set forth above, and at its meeting on October 17, 2023, the Commission found that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-25, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-26, and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1 because she did not timely file Disclosure Statements. Although Respondent ultimately filed her Disclosure Statements, the filing was several months late, and submitted only after multiple reminders were sent reiterating her statutory obligation to file Disclosure Statements.

Where a violation of the Act is found by the Commission, it may recommend to the Commissioner of Education that a penalty be imposed on the school official. The recommended penalty can include a reprimand, censure, suspension or removal of the school official. N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.3(a); N.J.A.C. 6A:28-9.11. Specifically, unless good cause is shown or the school official previously has been the subject of an OTSC, "the Commission shall recommend that a school official who completes the disclosure statements after the issuance of an Order to Show Cause, but before the Commission issues its decision, receives a censure." N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.3(c). For the reasons set forth above, the Commission recommends that the Commissioner of Education impose a penalty of censure.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c), this decision shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of Education for review of the Commission's recommended penalty. Respondent may either:

1) file exceptions to the recommended sanction; 2) file an appeal of the Commission's finding of a violation; or 3) file both exceptions to the recommended sanction together with an appeal of the finding of a violation.

Parties taking exception to the recommended penalty of the Commission but not disputing the Commission's finding of a violation may file, within thirteen (13) days from the date the Commission's decision is forwarded to the Commissioner, written exceptions regarding the recommended penalty to the Commissioner. The forwarding date shall be the mailing date to the parties, as indicated below. Such exceptions must be forwarded to: Commissioner of Education, c/o Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, marked "Attention: Comments on Ethics Commission Sanction." as well as to (ControversiesDisputesFilings@doe.nj.gov). A copy must also be sent to the Commission (school.ethics@doe.nj.gov) and all other parties.

Parties seeking to appeal the Commission's finding of violation must file an appeal pursuant to the standards set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:4-1 et seq. within thirty (30) days of the filing date of the decision from which the appeal is taken. The filing date shall be three (3) days after the date of mailing to the parties, as shown below. In such cases, the Commissioner's review of the Commission's recommended sanction will be deferred and incorporated into the Commissioner's review of the finding of violation on appeal. Where a notice of appeal has been filed on or before the due date for exceptions to the Commission's recommended sanction (thirteen (13) days from the date the decision is mailed by the Commission), exceptions need not be filed by that date, but may be incorporated into the appellant's brief on appeal.

Final Decision

In the Matter of Simone Patterson,
Greenwich Township Board of Education,
Warren County.

The Commissioner has reviewed the record of this matter and the decision of the School Ethics Commission (SEC) finding that respondent violated the School Ethics Act for failure to timely file Personal/Relative and Financial Disclosure Statements ("Disclosure Statements") in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:12-25, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-26, and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1. The SEC's decision was forwarded to the Commissioner for final determination on the recommended penalty pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c). The SEC recommended a sanction of removal effective upon the adoption of the decision by the Commissioner. Alternatively, if the respondent filed the Disclosure Statements before the issuance of the Commissioner's final decision and notified the SEC accordingly, the SEC recommended a sanction of a thirty-day suspension. To date, respondent has not notified the SEC that she has filed the Disclosure Statements. Respondent has neither filed exceptions to the recommended penalty, nor instituted an appeal of the SEC's underlying finding of violation pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:4-1 et seq.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the penalty recommended by the SEC for respondent's failure to timely honor an obligation placed upon school officials by law. Accordingly, respondent is removed from the board for violating the School Ethics Act.

Decision for Failure to File Complete Personal/Relative and Financial Disclosure Statements

Greenwich Township Board of Education, Warren County

I. Procedural History

This matter arises from an Order to Show Cause (OTSC) that was issued by the School Ethics Commission (Commission) at its meeting on September 26, 2023, directing Respondent, a "school official" as defined in N.J.S.A. 18A:12-23 of the School Ethics Act (Act), N.J.S.A. 18A:12-21 et seq., to show cause as to why the Commission should not find her in violation of the Act for failing to file complete Personal/Relative and Financial Disclosure Statements (Disclosure Statements) as required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-25, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-26, and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1.

In the OTSC that was served on September 26, 2023, the Commission notified Respondent that she had twenty (20) days to respond to the OTSC. Respondent was further advised that failure to respond would be deemed an admission of the facts set forth in the OTSC, and the Commission may take action on a summary basis, in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:28-1.6(c).

II. Analysis

The Act was enacted by the New Jersey State Legislature to ensure and preserve public confidence in members of local boards of education and local school administrators. By virtue of N.J.S.A. 18A:12-23.1, the breadth of the Act was expanded to include charter school trustees and administrators.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-25, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-26, and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1(a), all school officials must file, on forms prescribed by the Commission, Disclosure Statements with their local board secretaries or charter school designees, and must do so on or before April 30th of each year. In addition, all newly elected board members or board members appointed to fill vacancies, newly appointed members of a board of trustees of a charter school, and administrators appointed to fill a vacancy must file their Disclosure Statements within thirty (30) days of appointment or taking office. N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1(c), N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1(d), N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1(e), and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1(f).

When it is determined that a school official's otherwise timely filed Disclosure Statements are incorrect or incomplete, the filing shall be returned to the school official, and she shall have twenty (20) days from receipt of the returned filing to correct and/or complete the Disclosure Statements, and to resubmit them to the local board secretary or charter school designee. N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.4(a), N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.4(b). At the expiration of twenty (20) days, or upon receipt of a filing which continues to fail to provide the information required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-25 and/or N.J.S.A. 18A:12-26, the Commission shall issue an Order to Show Cause, directing the school official to show cause as to why the Commission should not impose a sanction. N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.4(c). If the school official fails to submit a response within twenty (20) days, or if school official fails to properly file, "the Commission may regard the school official's incomplete filing as a failure to file, and the Commission shall proceed in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.3." N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.4(d). As set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.3(a), failure to timely file the required Disclosure Statements "shall constitute a violation of the Act, and may result in the reprimand, censure, suspension, or removal of a school official."

With the above in mind, Respondent is a returning school official and, therefore, was required to file complete Disclosure Statements by April 30, 2023. Although Respondent filed Disclosure Statements on August 16, 2023, her filing was rejected. Despite receiving reminders as further detailed below, Respondent failed to file complete Disclosure Statements.

More specifically, throughout the months of July through September, the Commission's staff sent repeated messages to the Board Secretary advising that Respondent had not yet filed complete Disclosure Statements. The electronic correspondence to the Board Secretary further advised that if Respondent failed to file complete Disclosure Statements, the Commission had the authority to issue an OTSC, find Respondent in violation of the Act, and recommend a penalty up to and including removal for non-compliance.

In addition, by electronic correspondence dated August 2, 2023, August 3, 2023, September 6, 2023, September 8, 2023, and September 12, 2023, Respondent was reminded that she did not file complete Disclosure Statements. Respondent was further advised that continued failure to file complete Disclosure Statements would result in the Commission issuing an OTSC, and recommending a penalty, up to and including removal.

When Respondent failed to file complete Disclosure Statements as required by N.J.S.A. 18A:12-25, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-26, and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1, an OTSC was issued by the Commission at its meeting on September 26, 2023. After having been served with the OTSC, Respondent still failed to file complete Disclosure Statements, or to otherwise respond to the OTSC.

III. Decision/Penalty Recommendation

Based on the record as set forth above, and at its meeting on October 17, 2023, the Commission found that Respondent violated N.J.S.A. 18A:12-25, N.J.S.A. 18A:12-26, and N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.1 because she did not file complete Disclosure Statements.

Where a violation of the Act is found by the Commission, it may recommend to the Commissioner of Education that a penalty be imposed on the school official. The recommended penalty can include a reprimand, censure, suspension or removal of the school official. N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.3(a); N.J.A.C. 6A:28-9.11. Specifically, unless good cause is shown or the school official previously has been the subject of an OTSC, "the Commission shall recommend that a school official who completes and files the disclosure statements after the Commission issues a decision, but before the Commissioner issues a final decision, receives a suspension for 30 days." N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.3(d). However, "the Commission will only recommend this penalty if the school official notifies the Commission, in writing, that the school official successfully completed and filed the disclosure statements before the Commissioner issues a final decision." N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.3(d). If the school official has not filed the disclosure statements as of the date the Commissioner issues its final decision, the Commission will recommend removal of the school official from his or her position. N.J.A.C. 6A:28-3.3(e).

For the reasons set forth above, the Commission recommends that the Commissioner of Education impose a penalty of removal, with such removal to become effective immediately upon adoption by the Commissioner of Education. However, if Respondent files Disclosure Statements before the Commissioner of Education adopts a final decision (which will be within forty-five (45) days after the mailing date of this decision), then the Commission recommends that the Commissioner of Education, in lieu of removal, impose a thirty (30) day suspension, with such suspension to become effective immediately upon adoption by the Commissioner of Education, provided the school official provides written notice that the disclosure statement has been completed and filed.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:12-29(c), this decision shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of Education for review of the Commission's recommended penalty. Respondent may either: 1) file exceptions to the recommended sanction; 2) file an appeal of the Commission's finding of a violation; or 3) file both exceptions to the recommended sanction together with an appeal of the finding of a violation.

Parties taking exception to the recommended penalty of the Commission but not disputing the Commission's finding of a violation may file, within thirteen (13) days from the date the Commission's decision is forwarded to the Commissioner, written exceptions regarding the recommended penalty to the Commissioner. The forwarding date shall be the mailing date to the parties, as indicated below. Such exceptions must be forwarded to: Commissioner of Education, c/o Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, P.O. Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625, marked "Attention: Comments on Ethics Commission Sanction." as well as to (ControversiesDisputesFilings@doe.nj.gov). A copy must also be sent to the Commission (school.ethics@doe.nj.gov) and all other parties.

Parties seeking to appeal the Commission's finding of violation must file an appeal pursuant to the standards set forth at N.J.A.C. 6A:4-1 et seq. within thirty (30) days of the filing date of the decision from which the appeal is taken. The filing date shall be three (3) days after the date of mailing to the parties, as shown below. In such cases, the Commissioner's review of the Commission's recommended sanction will be deferred and incorporated into the Commissioner's review of the finding of violation on appeal. Where a notice of appeal has been filed on or before the due date for exceptions to the Commission's recommended sanction (thirteen (13) days from the date the decision is mailed by the Commission), exceptions need not be filed by that date, but may be incorporated into the appellant's brief on appeal.

Final Decision

Board of Education of the City of Vineland, Cumberland County, Board of Education of the Cumberland County Vocational School District, Cumberland County,

Respondent.

AND

Board of Education of the City of Vineland, Cumberland County, Petitioner,

v.

Cumberland County Board of Vocational Education, Cumberland County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the proposed Settlement Agreement and Release (Agreement), the Initial Decision issued by the Office of Administrative Law pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-19.1, the exceptions filed by the Vineland Board of Education (Vineland) pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and the reply thereto filed by the Cumberland County Vocational School District Board of Education (Cumberland), have been reviewed and considered.

This matter arises out of a dispute between the parties regarding tuition for students sent by Vineland to Cumberland pursuant to a sending-receiving agreement. On October 16, 2023, Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) Kim C. Belin issued an Initial Decision approving a settlement agreement between the parties. On October 25, 2023, Vineland filed a motion to enforce the settlement with the ALJ. On November 6, 2023, Vineland filed exceptions to the Initial Decision, requesting that the Commissioner decline to affirm the ALJ's Initial Decision until the motion to enforce the settlement was decided. Vineland also resubmitted the motion to enforce the settlement for the Commissioner's consideration. Cumberland replied to Vineland's exceptions, arguing that there is currently no dispute between the parties that requires resolution by the Commissioner.

Upon review, the Commissioner finds that Vineland's motion to enforce the settlement is premature. A settlement of litigation before the Commissioner is not binding until the Commissioner has approved the settlement. Accordingly, until the issuance of the decision herein, there was no settlement to be enforced.

Furthermore, pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-3.1(b), parties seeking enforcement of judgments of the Commissioner shall bring an action in Superior Court. If Vineland believes that Cumberland has violated the now-approved settlement, Vineland may bring an action in Superior Court. To the extent that there is a need for further determination on a school law issue, Vineland may file a new petition of appeal in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:3-3.1(b)(1).

In light of the foregoing, the Commissioner adopts the Initial Decision approving the settlement agreement as the final decision in this matter.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND RELEASE

This Settlement Agreement and General Release ("Agreement") is made and entered into by and between the Cumberland County Board of Vocational Education ("Cumberland"), on the one hand, and the City of Vineland Board of Education ("Vineland") (collectively "the Parties") on the other, including their affiliates, predecessors, successors or assigns, and their respective officers, directors, trustees, representatives, agents and employees, in full settlement of all claims arising from the Parties' tuition contracts from the 2007-2008 through 2020-2021 school years.

WITNESSETH

WHEREAS, Vineland and Cumberland are parties to a send-receive relationship whereby Cumberland receives students from Vineland in exchange for tuition payments; and

WHEREAS, the reimbursement process for the payment of this tuition is provided via statute, and is a multi-year process under which the Parties enter into annual tentative tuition agreements, the Department of Education sets a certified tuition rate, and the Parties later true up the difference between the tentative tuition rate and the certified rate; and

WHEREAS, a dispute arose between the Parties regarding the tuition reimbursement process for the years from 2007-2008 through 2020-2021, which resulted in Vineland filing three petitions of appeal with the Commissioner of Education bearing OAL docket numbers EDU 00249-21; EDU 003718-21; and EDU 02861-22; and

WHEREAS, the Parties engaged in mediation with the Honorable Barry E. Moscowitz, Acting Director of the Office of Administrative Law & Chief A.L.J., on May 15, 2023, and June 20, 2023; and

WHEREAS, the Parties desire to resolve amicably any and all claims which were or could have been asserted in connection with their tuition contracts and their send-receive relationship generally for the years in question in accordance with the terms agreed to at mediation and memorialized by the term sheet signed by the Parties' representatives and counsel on June 20, 2023, and attached hereto as Exhibit "A."

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual covenants and agreements contained herein, the Parties agree as follows:

1. Tuition Credits. Cumberland hereby agrees to remit to Vineland the amount of $1,900,000, which shall be payable as two equal tuition credit installments. The first credit of $950,000 shall be provided in September 2023; the second tuition credit of $950,000 shall be provided in September 2024.

2. General Release And Waiver. In exchange for the tuition credit provided in Section 1, as well as the other valuable consideration set forth herein, the Parties hereby mutually, irrevocably and unconditionally release, relinquish, and give up any and all claims and rights, whether known or unknown, of any nature whatsoever, they may have against each other for any damages, losses, protections, injuries, equitable relief and/or attorneys' fees stemming from their tuition contracts for the years from 2007-2008 through 2020-2021, and from the three petitions of appeal filed by Vineland bearing OAL docket numbers EDU 00249-21; EDU 003718-21; and EDU 02861-22. The Parties agree that this mutual General Release and Waiver releases any and all claims stemming from the tuition contracts for the years 2007-2008 through 2020-2021 and from the above-referenced petitions filed by Vineland, and that have accrued on or before the Agreement is executed by the Parties, regardless of whether specifically referenced above, whether known or unknown, to the fullest extent permitted by law. The Parties further agree that the mutual releases contained in this Agreement shall apply to their employees, attorneys, agents, servants, representatives, predecessors and successors, insurance carriers, and all other persons or entities for whom any of the above have been or may be legally responsible.

3. Publicity. The Parties agree that neither they nor their respective board members, employees, or other agents, shall take any action to publicize this matter, discuss the terms of this matter, or otherwise to speak publicly about this matter, including, but not limited to, taking actions such as making or providing statements to the press, or making public announcements during a board meeting. Public discussion of this matter shall be limited to those discussions or proclamations made at a public board meeting as required by law

4. Public Records. The Parties agree that neither they nor their respective board members, employees, or other agents, shall take any action, either on their own behalf or by using, soliciting, or encouraging any other person, to request this Agreement or other documents relating to this Agreement, through the Open Public Records Act, the common law right of access, or any other public records statute, ordinance, or common law right.

5. Recommendation of Ratification. The Parties' respective Attorneys, Superintendents, and Board Presidents agreed during mediation on June 20, 2023, as memorialized in the signed term sheet attached hereto as Exhibit "A", that they shall recommend to their respective Boards of Education that the Boards ratify this Agreement. The Parties' representatives further affirmed, as provided in the term sheet attached hereto as Exhibit "A," that they conferred with their respective boards of education Presidents who have been updated on the terms of this Agreement and agree to support this Agreement before their respective full board.

6. Tuition for the 2021-2022 School Year. Notwithstanding the terms of this Agreement, Vineland shall be entitled to the amount of $296,259.25 for the 2021-2022 school year, which shall be provided as a credit to Vineland in September 2023. The Parties agree that this amount represents the total amount owed by Cumberland for the 2021-2022 school year.

7. No Addmission of Fault. The Parties agree that they have entered into this Agreement in order to resolve this dispute amicably and to avoid the uncertainties of continued litigation. Accordingly, this Agreement may not be used to establish precedent in any future proceeding of any type whatsoever and it shall be inadmissible in any such proceeding, other than a proceeding to enforce or prove the existence of same. This Agreement shall not be construed as an admission by the Parties of any wrongdoing. Neither Party shall be deemed a prevailing party, nor shall any party be entitled to recovery of attorneys' fees and costs in connection with this matter.

8. Board Resolution. The Parties' respective boards of education shall pass the following resolution approving the terms of this Agreement:

RESOLUTION APPROVING SETTLEMENT

BE IT RESOLVED that the _____ Board of Education hereby approves the Settlement Agreement and Release on file with the Board Secretary regarding the pending matters before the Commissioner of Education bearing OAL docket numbers EDU 00249-21; EDU 003718-21; and EDU 02861-22; and authorizes the Board President, Superintendent of Schools, Business Administrator, and Board Attorney to take all actions necessary to effectuate this resolution.

9. General Provisions.

a. This Settlement Agreement and General Release, including the attached Exhibit "A," constitutes the sole and entire agreement between the Parties, and fully supersedes any and all prior agreements and understanding between the Parties pertaining to the subject matter of the Agreement. No other promises or agreements shall be binding unless in writing, signed by the Parties, and expressly stated to be a modification of this Agreement. This Agreement may not be modified except by a mutually signed writing after the effective date of this Agreement.

b. The Parties acknowledge that they have been assisted by legal counsel in the preparation of this Agreement and agree, therefore, that any uncertainty or ambiguity shall not be construed for or against any Party based on attribution of drafting to any Party.

c. The terms and provisions of this Agreement are acknowledged by the Parties to be required for the reasonable protection of the other. If any of the provisions, terms, clauses, or waivers or releases of claims or rights contained in this Settlement Agreement are declared unlawful, unenforceable, or ineffective in a legal forum of competent jurisdiction, then such provisions, terms, clauses, or waivers or releases of claims or rights shall be deemed severable, such that all other provisions, terms, clauses, and waivers and releases of claims or rights contained in this Agreement shall remain valid and binding upon the Parties. Notwithstanding the forgoing, if the provisions of Section 1 or Section 2 of this Agreement are found to be unenforceable, in whole or in part, both Parties agree to execute new terms for these Sections that are enforceable.

d. In addition to or in lieu of any other remedy set forth herein, if any Party fails to perform an obligation under this Agreement, a cause of action for the enforcement of such obligation may be deemed to arise within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Commisioner of Education of the State of New Jersey, to the extent the dispute arises from interpretation of the school laws of the State of

New Jersey, or the Superior Court of the State of New Jersey, as the case may be. The Parties further agree that any legal proceeding arising out of or related to this Agreement shall be governed by New Jersey law.

e. This Agreement may be executed in counterparts, each of which shall be deemed an original, but all of which taken together shall constitute one and the same instrument. New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

E.C.-G., on behalf of A.J.G.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Jersey City, Hudson County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Pro se petitioner filed a petition on June 20, 2023, seeking emergent relief against the respondent Board in the form of an Order requiring the District to allow her son A.J.G. to graduate with a diploma at the scheduled commencement ceremony on June 23, 2023. Emergent relief was denied, and the matter was continued at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) in order to bring the matter to closure.

The ALJ found that: at the conclusion of the emergent hearing, A.J.G. was required to complete his missing credits over the summer in order to receive his diploma; a status conference was held in August 2023 and petitioner confirmed that A.J.G. had earned the required credits and received his diploma in time to begin college; petitioner also confirmed that she was seeking no other relief, and agreed that the rest of the petition would be withdrawn from the OAL; to date, petitioner has not submitted a formal written or electronic confirmation of her withdrawal of the case. The ALJ concluded that the petitioner has abandoned her appeal and returned the file to the Department of Education.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that this matter should be dismissed as the petitioner has indicated that no issues remain to be addressed following the resolution of her motion for emergent relief. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL was adopted as the final decision in this matter and the petition was dismissed.

Record Closed: September 21, 2023 Decided: October 25, 2023

BEFORE GAIL M. COOKSON, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner E.C.-G. filed a Petition of Appeal electronically with the Department of Education on Sunday, June 18, 2023, and perfected it on June 20, 2023, seeking emergent relief against the Board of Education of the City of Jersey City (Jersey City or District) in the form of an Order requiring the District to allow her son A.J.G. to graduate with a diploma and at the commencement ceremony scheduled for tomorrow, Friday, June 23, 2023.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The Department of Education, Office of Controversies and Disputes (DOE), transmitted the Application for Emergent Relief to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on June 20, 2023. The matter was assigned to the undersigned for oral argument and was scheduled for June 22, 2023. On that date, I entered an oral decision on the record in order to facilitate expedited review by the Commissioner, which was then memorialized in a written Order of the same date, incorporated herein without the necessity of repetition. I denied the requested emergent relief and did not require the District to allow petitioner's son to graduate and participate in the ceremony in June. Instead, he was required to complete some credits over the summer, at which time he would receive his diploma.

Following the completion of the emergent aspects of this matter, I convened a status conference on August 21, 2023, in order to determine if the summer credits had been earned and petitioner's son had received his diploma in time for begin college. Petitioner confirmed that her son did receive his diploma and that there was no other relief she was seeking. She agreed that the rest of the petition would be withdrawn from the OAL. Accordingly, my office sent several reminders in August and September to petitioner that we were awaiting her written or electronic confirmation of her withdrawal of the case. We received no response from any of these requests.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4(a) provides that if, after appropriate notice, a party does not appear in any proceeding scheduled by a judge, the judge shall hold the matter for one day before taking any action. If the judge does not receive an explanation, the judge may direct the Clerk to return the matter to the transmitting agency for appropriate disposition. Petitioner has failed to formally "withdraw" her petition but did so indicate on the telephonic conference call that she had no other issues needing to be tried. Based on the foregoing facts and the applicable law, I CONCLUDE that petitioner E.C.-G. has abandoned this appeal and that it should be returned to the transmitting agency.

APPEARANCES

FOR THE PETITIONER BOARD OF EDUCATION

Adam S. Herman, Esq., Adams Gutierrez & Lattiboudere, LLC

FOR THE RESPONDENT

Colin M. Lynch, Esq., Of Counsel, Zazzali, Fagella, Nowak Kleinbaum & Friedman

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

This case arises under the Teacher Effectiveness and Accountability for the Children of New Jersey Act ("TEACHNJ") N.J.S.A. 18A:6-11 and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.1. The instant case involves a tenure charge of inefficiency filed by the City of Newark Board of Education ("Petitioner" or "District") against Sanyika Montague ("Respondent"), who is a tenured teacher assigned to the Rafael Hernandez Elementary School.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18:6A-10, "No person shall be dismissed or reduced in compensation...if he is or shall be under tenure of office, position or employment during good behavior and efficiency in the public school system of the state...except for inefficiency, unbecoming conduct or other just cause." Inefficiency charges are governed by TEACHNJ.

TEACHNJ provides, in pertinent part, that if a classroom teacher receives annual summative ratings of Partially Effective and Ineffective in two (2) consecutive school years s(he) will be subject to a tenure charge of inefficiency. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.2(d) places the "ultimate burden" on the District "of demonstrating to the arbitrator that the statutory criteria for tenure charges have been met." In addition, the ACT provides that "[t]he only evaluations which may be used for the purposes of this section are those evaluations conducted in accordance with a rubric adopted by the board and approved by the Commissioner pursuant to P.L. 2012, C.26 (C.18A:6-117 et al.)." N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.3.

Respondent earned the rating of "Partially Effective" for the 2020-2021 school year and the rating of "Ineffective" for the 2021-2022 school year.

When inefficiency charges are certified to the New Jersey Commissioner of Education and then transmitted to an Arbitrator, said tenure charges are subject to a limited scope of review. The Arbitrator's jurisdiction is expressly circumscribed by Section 23 of TEACHNJ. S(he) is "precluded from reviewing any evaluator's determination of the quality of her classroom performance, including the findings and conclusions in the observation report upon which the District has based its charge of inefficiency against her." In other words, "an Arbitrator is precluded from modifying [Respondent's] classroom observations, Mid-Year Reviews and Annual Summative Evaluations."

In the event, the District can meet its burden by a preponderance of the evidence, then pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.2, the ACT provides several statutory defenses to a tenure charge alleging inefficiency in teacher performance as follows:

As set forth in the TEACHNJ statute:

a. In the event that the matter before the arbitrator pursuant to section 22 of this act is employee inefficiency pursuant to section 25 of this act, in rendering a decision the arbitrator shall only consider whether or not:

(1) The employee's evaluation failed to adhere substantially to the evaluation process, including, but not limited to providing a corrective action plan;

(2) There is a mistake of fact in the evaluation;

(3) The charges would not have been brought but for considerations of political affiliation, nepotism, union activity, discrimination as prohibited by state or federal law, or other conduct prohibited by state or federal law; or

(4) The district's actions were arbitrary and capricious.

b. In the event that the employee is able to demonstrate that any of the provisions of paragraphs (1) through (4) of subsection a. of this section are applicable, the arbitrator shall then determine if that fact materially affected the outcome of the evaluation. If the arbitrator determines that it did not materially affect the outcome of the evaluation, the arbitrator shall render a decision in favor of the board and the employee shall be dismissed.

c. The evaluator's determination as to the quality of an employee's classroom performance shall not be subject to an arbitrator's review.

NEWARK BOARD OF EDUCATION TEACHER OBSERVATIONS AND EVALUATIONS

A. Framework of Effective Teaching Evaluative System

The Framework for Effective Teaching Guidebook outlines the process through which administrators in the Newark School District support and evaluate teachers in their professional practice. The Guidebook is the result of a collaborative process between the District and the Newark Teachers Union. This collaborative process was described by the District's Superintendent:

> Over the past year, we worked together with the teachers' union to review and revise the Framework for Effective Teaching. We believe this updated framework results in an improved evaluation of a teacher's practice over the course of the school year because it is informed by class observations, student outcomes and professional behavior. The Competencies and Indicators of the framework describe the actions that effective and highly effective teachers possess to move students toward mastery of standards and college and career readiness. Consequently, the framework provides a roadmap for coaching as well as a measure for evaluation. (D. Exs. #24 and #25).

When the Framework for Effective Teaching was developed, the District designed it with inputs from educators addressing the following themes:

- Teaching for student mastery: The Framework focuses attention on both teacher behaviors and student actions that lead to student mastery of content. The Framework focuses not just on what is being taught, but whether or not students are actually learning the content and concepts presented.

- High expectations: The Framework requires that teachers hold high expectations for all students to achieve at high levels. This includes establishing learning goals that reflect the critical thinking skills that will put students in the pathway to college, providing evidence-based feedback to students, and effectively interacting with students to establish a culture and expectation that all students can and will master the content.

- Elements observable in one lesson and over the course of the year: NBOE recognizes that individuals, discrete classroom observations do not provide the complete picture of a teacher's performance and students' success at mastering content. As such, the Framework articulates both behaviors that are observable in an individual classroom lesson as well as behaviors that are observable over the course of the school year. This over-time guidance allows teachers and observers to identify and assess teacher behaviors and student actions that, as they build over the course of the year, lead to student mastery.

- Accommodating individual needs: Teachers should tailor instruction to address the diverse needs of all students and move all students toward mastery. This requires that teachers build relationships with their students and learn how to motivate and engage all students. Many students have special needs, which may be intellectual, emotional or physical. Each type of difference suggests different accommodations, from selecting instructional goals and designing instruction, to interacting with students and designing classroom norms. The Framework allows for, and encourages, this differentiation as critical to a teacher's practice.

The Guidebooks are distributed at the beginning of the year to all teachers. An electronic version of the Guidebook is posted on the District website. Teachers and administrators receive training on all aspects of Competencies and Indicators. (Tr. @ 710-713 – 3128/23).

A. COMPETENCIES INCLUDING IN THE RUBRIC.

The structure of the Framework includes five (5) competencies, which set forth the overall expectations for each District teacher. These five (5) competencies, which are the core professional standards to which teachers will be held accountable, are:

- Competency 1 – Lesson Design and Focus: Students sustain focus on a specific, standards-aligned objectives that moves them toward mastery. Competency 1 outlines behaviors that ensure students are focused on the right content, in the right order, at the right pace. The Indicators associated with this Competency assess whether the teacher's lesson design and execution is effective in focusing students on a clear and appropriate objective today while driving students toward mastery of grade level standards over time. Competency 1 includes four individual Indicators and two over the course of a year Indicators.
- Competency 2 – Rigor and Inclusiveness: Instructional strategies challenge all students and provide multiple pathways to mastery. Competency 2 sets forth expectations for the rigor of the teacher's instruction, the learning demands on students, and the strategies the teacher uses to deliver content. This Competency ensures a rigorous classroom and articulates the characteristics of an inclusive classroom.

Competency 2 includes four individual lesson Indicators and two over the course of a year Indicators.

- Competency 3 – Culture of Achievement: A learning-focused environment of shared high expectations promotes mastery. The Guidebook makes clear that the most effective classrooms have strong classroom cultures. Competency 3 includes four individual lesson Indicators and two over the course of a year Indicators.
- Competency 4 – Student Progress Toward Mastery: Students show evidence of, and teacher monitors, growth. The Guidebook makes clear that in the District teachers are accountable for whether or not students learn – which is the ultimate focus as educators. This Competency sets forth mechanisms to identify whether students are learning. This Competency requires evidence of significant student growth and for teachers to measure, track and share information regarding progress. Competency 4 includes three individual lesson Indicators and three over the course of a year Indicators.
- Competency 5 – Commitment to Personal and Collective Excellence: The teacher demonstrates commitment to excellence and to the professional growth of his/her school and peers. This Competency articulates expectations for the teacher to prioritize the continuous improvement of his or her own practice and that of his or her peers. The Competency further articulates baseline expectations of professional behavior and compliance with basic employment policies. Competency 5 includes 4 over the course of a year Indicators.

B. INDICATORS INCLUDED IN THE RUBRIC

Indicators describe specific components or behaviors of the particular Competency. Indicators can be observed during individual lessons or over the course of the year. Competencies 1 through 4 include both in-one-lesson indicators and over-time indicators. Competency 5 includes only over-time Indicators. (D. Exs. #24, #25).

Competency 1 – Lesson Design and Focus: As set forth in the Guidebook for Teachers and Administrators, this Competency outlines how students sustain focus on a specific objective that moves the forward toward mastery. (Exhibits D-24 and D-25). Competency 1 outlines behaviors that ensure students are focused on the right content, in the right order, at the right pace. (D Exs. #-24 and #24); (Tr. @ 717-733).

The below listed indicators assess whether the teacher's lesson design is effective in focusing students on a clear and appropriate objective today while driving students toward mastery of grade level standards over time. (D Exs. # 24 and #25).

- Indicator 1a – Lesson Sequence: Individual, standards-aligned lessons build on previous lessons and on students' prior knowledge. This indicator is an "in an individual lesson" indicator.
- Indicator 1b – Lesson Components: Lesson components are standards-aligned and move students toward mastery of an objective that is aligned to essential understandings in the standards. This indicator is an "in an individual lesson" indicator.

- Indicator 1c – Pacing and Momentum: Teacher maximizes learning time. This indicator is an "in an individual lesson" indicator.

- Indicator 1f – Progression of Instruction: Lesson objectives fit into a larger, coherent sequence that leads to student mastery of the appropriate standards. This indicator is an "over the course of a year" indicator.

Competency 2 – Rigor and Inclusiveness: As set forth in the Guidebook for Teachers and Administrators, this Competency outlines how instructional strategies challenge all students and provide multiple pathways to mastery. (D Exs.#24 and #25). Competency 2 articulates expectations for the rigor of the teacher's instruction, the learning demands on students and the strategies the teacher uses to deliver content. (D Exs.#24 and #25).

The below listed indicators assess and ensure a rigorous and inclusive classroom, which means that the teacher is expected to tailor instructional strategies to meet the learning needs of all students and holds all students to a high standard. (D Exs. #24 and #25).

- Indicator 2a – Tailored Instruction: Teacher tailors instruction to move all students toward mastery. This indicator is an "in an individual lesson" indicator.
- Indicator 2b – Questions & Tasks: Questions & Tasks ensure student comprehension and ask for application, analysis and/or synthesis. This indicator is an "in an individual lesson" indicator.
- Indicator 2c – Responsiveness: Teacher anticipates and responds to student reactions and misunderstandings by adjusting instructional strategies. This indicator is an "in an individual lesson" indicator.

- Indicator 2f – Depth of Knowledge: Lesson objectives, tasks and materials require students to demonstrate the following skills: Recall & Reproduction; Basic Application of Concept; Strategic Thinking; and Extended Thinking. This indicator is an "over the course of a year" indicator.

Competency 3 – Culture of Achievement: As set forth in the Guidebook for Teachers and Administrators, this Competency outlines how a learning-focused environment of shared high expectations promotes mastery. (D Exs. #24 and # 25).

The below listed indicators assess whether there is explicit, positive interpersonal norms; rigorous instruction that builds students' abilities to persist through difficult concepts and tasks; strong processes that maximize instructional time; and joy in learning. (D Exs. #24 and #25).

- Indicator 3a – Active Engagement in Learning: Students express satisfaction as they solve problems and master new material. This indicator is an "in an individual lesson" indicator.
- Indicator 3b – Persistence: Students show persistence in confronting demanding concepts and tasks. This indicator is an "in an individual lesson" indicator.
- Indicator 3c – Community: Classroom norms promote positive and productive teacher-student and student-student relationships. This indicator is an "in an individual lesson" indicator.
- Indicator 3d – Attention: Teacher's strategies and routines capture and maintain student attention on learning. This indicator is an "in an individual lesson" indicator.

- Indicator 3f – Peer Accountability: Students hold themselves and their peers accountable for learning and supporting the culture of the classroom. This indicator is an "over the course of a year" indicator.

Competency 4 – Student Progress Towards Mastery: As set forth in the Guidebook for Teachers and Administrators, this Competency outlines how students show evidence of, and the teacher monitors, growth. (Exhibits D-24 and D-25). This competency further outlines mechanisms for identifying whether students are learning in one lesson and over the course of the year, as teachers are accountable for whether or not students learn. (Exhibits D-24 and D-25).

The below listed indicators assess whether there is evidence of significant student growth. Which may include mastery of grade-level content, progression towards mastery, or in some cases, mastery of content beyond the students' current grade level. (D Exs. #24 and #25).

- Indicator 4a – Checks for Understanding: Teacher consistently checks for understanding. This indicator is an "in an individual lesson" indicator.
- Indicator 4b – Feedback: Teacher and students give and receive timely, specific, and constructive feedback. This indicator is an "in an individual lesson" indicator.
- Indicator 4c – Demonstration of Learning: Students know more at the end of the year than they did at the start. This indicator is an "in an individual lesson" indicator.
- Indicator 4d – Using Data: Teacher tracks assessment data to understand each student's progress towards mastery and uses results to guide planning and instruction. This indicator is an "over the course of a year" indicator.

- Indicator 4e – Understanding of Growth: Teacher can articulate specifically (and with evidence) whether or not each student has met grade-level standards and, if not, what they still need to learn. This indicator is an "over the course of a year" indicator.
- Indicator 4f – Progress Toward Goals: Data reflects that students are progressing towards mastery of the objectives of the focus areas, leading towards mastery of grade-level standards. This indicator is an "over the course of a year" indicator.

- Indicator 5c – Communication of Student Progress: Teacher communicates student progress clearly and consistently to students, families, and school leaders. This indicator is an "over the course of a year" indicator.
- Indicator 5d – Attendance and Promptness: The teacher is present and prompt and attendance reflects their focus on student learning as a priority. This indicator is an "over the course of a year" indicator.

C. LEVELS OF PERFORMANCE INCLUDED IN THE RUBRIC.

As set forth in the Guidebook for Teachers and Administrators, descriptors identify evidence of the Indicator at each of the four levels of performance: highly effective, effective, partially effective and ineffective. (D Exs. #24 and #25). Specifically:

- Highly Effective: a Highly Effective teacher ensures exceptional rates of student growth. Such classrooms consist of a community of learners with highly motivated and engaged students who assume considerable responsibility for their own learning. Highly Effective teachers have the knowledge, skills, and capacity to serve as models for other teachers. This performance level is reserved for teachers who are truly exceptional at their practice.

- Effective: An Effective teacher consistently meets the expectations set forth by the Framework. Effective teachers have a broad repertoire of strategies and activities to ensure students achieve mastery. Years of experience are not, in and of themselves, an Indicator of effectiveness. Students grow in effective teachers' classes.
- Partially Effective: A Partially Effective teacher may meet some expectations articulated in the Framework, but either does not meet all expectations or is inconsistent in meeting these expectations. Typically, there are clear areas where the teacher might improve his or her practice to achieve effectiveness. Partially Effective performance should not denote meeting expectations.
- Ineffective: An Ineffective Teacher is not meeting expectations for teaching in the District. There are several clear areas where the teacher must improve his or her practice to achieve effectiveness. In some instances, performance at the Ineffective level represents that teaching is below the licensing standard of "do no harm." Immediate improvement is required for teachers at the Ineffective level to remain in the District.

OVERVIEW OF THE DISTRICT'S CLASSROOM OBSERVATION AND SUMMATIVE EVALUATION PROCESS

TEACHNJ sets a minimum number of observations that must be conducted during the school year. For a tenured teacher, there must be a minimum of two formal classroom observations. The minimum number of observations increases to three (3) when the teacher is on a Corrective Action Plan ("CAP"). All teachers are required to have at least one announced and one unannounced observation during the school year. The District's practice is that everyone has a second observer. (Tr. @ 51). Specifically, the first observation is conducted by the immediate supervisor. The second observation is typically conducted by a different administrator. In the event there is a third observation due to a CAP, the Principal conducts an observation. (D. Exs. #24, #25).

A formal observation can be either announced or unannounced. Formal observations must last at least 20 minutes. An unannounced observation occurs when the teacher has not been notified in advance. During an observation, "the observer captures evidence of teacher practice related to the Indicators of the Framework for Effective Teaching." The observer must choose a performance level for each Competency and Indicator observed "based upon a preponderance of low inference level evidence collected in that lesson." (D. Exs. #24, #25).

Irrespective of whether the observation was announced or unannounced, a post-observation conference is held wherein the teacher has an opportunity to review the lesson with the observer, receive positive and negative feedback, and incorporate this information into their practice.

Regarding the timing of observations for teachers on a CAP, the first observation is due by the end of November. The second observation is due by the end of December. The third and final observation is due by April.

Regarding summative evaluations for teachers on a CAP, the Mid-year review must be concluded by February 15th, while Annual review must be concluded by May 13th. (D. Exs. #24, #25).

The Rafael Hernandez School

The Rafael Hernandez School is comprised of 590 students in pre-Kindergarten through the 8th grade. The school has one principal, three vice-principals, and approximately fifty teachers.

During the subject years, Natasha Pared served as Principal and LaContee Hill, Kinyetta Bird and Stephanie Vargas served as Vice Principals.

Principal Pared has worked for the District for approximately 12 years. She has served as Principal for 5 years.

Vice Principal Bird has worked for the District for 26 years. She has served as Vice Principal for 5 years. All administrators have been trained on the Guidebook which is used to evaluate teacher performance.

THE DISTRICT'S EXPECTATIONS REGARDING WRITTEN LESSON PLANS

District teachers are required to submit written lesson plans every two (2) weeks. The District's expectation is that teachers will utilize the lesson plan template provided to them, fill in the template, and submit their written lesson plan bi-weekly via the Google Drive by uploading their written lesson plans into their specific electronic folder. Dr. Fuentes explained that the entire process is easy and straightforward, whereby the teacher saves the final lesson plan document to their computer and then "drags" the document to his or her assigned folder on the Google Drive. (Tr. @ 739-740; 116-117).

HOW THE SUBMISSION OF WRITTEN LESSON PLANS, OR THE LACK THEREOF, AFFECTS OBSERVATION AND EVALUATION RATINGS

The Guidebook states that:

> All good instruction begins with solid planning. The Framework contains Indicators that explicitly outline the observable elements of planning, most notably in over-time indicators and in Competency 1: Lesson Design & Focus. Additionally, elements of planning can be found throughout all of the Competencies of the Framework...

RESPONDENT'S TEACHING PERFORMANCE DURING THE 2020-2021 AND 2021-2022 SCHOOL YEAR

District Position

A. 2020-2021 School Year

(1) Individual Professional Development Plan ("IPDP")

The IPDP outlines goals for the teacher's students as well as professional growth goals that the teacher may have based on prior ratings. The IPDP is jointly developed between the teacher and the administrator.

In September 2020, Respondent and Principal Pared convened to reflect on the prior year's teaching performance (2019-2020) and the goals for the 2020-2021 school year. (D. Ex. #2) (Tr. @ 83-93). Respondent and Principal Pared established three (3) student goals:

- Goal 1: For 18 out of 44 7th grade students to demonstrate mastery of 7th grade standard 7.NS (The Number System) by achieving a 70%+ on the School Board Assessment, and for 26 out of 44 7th grade students to demonstrate growth towards mastery of 7th grade standard 7.NS (The Number System) by achieving a 20% growth or more on the School Board Assessment.

- Goal 2: For 5 out of 23 7th grade students to demonstrate mastery of 6th grade standard 6.NS (The Number System) by achieving a 70%+ on the School Board Assessment and for 18 out of 23 6th grade students to demonstrate growth towards mastery of 6th grade standard 6.NS (the Number System) by achieving a 20% growth or more on the School Board Assessment.

- Goal 3: For 55% or more of 6th and 7th grade students to meet growth goal as determined through the MAP Growth for Math.

Additionally, Respondent and Principal Pared established three (3) growth areas:

- Indicator 4a – Checks for Understanding

- Indicator 1a – Pacing and Momentum.

- Indicator 2b – Tailored Instruction.

The Growth Areas included Action Steps, Metrics & Processes. (D. Ex. #2) (Tr. @ 83-93).

(2) Respondent's First Classroom Observation by Principal Pared

Respondent was formally observed by Principal Pared on November 3, 2020. Respondent's post-observation conference was held on November 13, 2020. (D. Ex. #3).

The Respondent was rated "effective" overall for the lesson. However, for Indicator 2b he received a "partially effective" with respect to "Tailored Instruction." Principal Pared made suggestions on how Respondent could improve Indicator 1b – Lesson Components; Indicator 2b – Tailored Instruction; and 2c – Responsiveness. With respect to Indicator 2b - Tailored Instruction, Principal Pared noted that "Respondent is to create a digital vocabulary wall so that students have access to terminology before, during and after class, especially since he focuses on terms when presenting new information." (D. Ex. #3).

(3) October 13, 2020 Lesson Plan Feedback Form

Pursuant to this feedback form, Principal Pared notified Respondent that his lesson plans were overdue and directed him to submit the plans the following day. (D. Exs. #59, #67).

(4) By Memorandum dated December 8, 2020, Principal Pared advised Respondent that his lesson plans were due on December 3, 2020 and stated that "[u]pon entering your lesson plan folder, it was noted that yet again, no lesson plans were present." She further stated that "[t]o date there is 1 lesson plan in your folder." (D. Ex. #14).

(5) January 28, 2021 Lesson Feedback Form

Principal Pared notified Respondent that his lesson plans were overdue and directed him to submit the plans the following day. (D. Exs. #60, #68).

(6) March 5, 2021 Lesson Feedback Form

Principal Pared notified Respondent that his lesson plans were overdue and directed him to submit the plans the following day. (D. Exs. #61, #69).

(7) March 6, 2021, Written Warning for Not Submitting Lesson Plans

By Memorandum dated March 6, 2021, Principal Pared reminded Respondent that his lesson plans were due on March 4, 2021, that he had been previously reminded in January 2021 and that he had not submitted plans as per the schedule. Principal Pared stated that "[p]lans are not submitted via the lesson planning folder nor via email as suggested if [Respondent was] unable to submit using the Google folder." At the end of the Memorandum, Principal Pared advised Respondent that "[f]ailure to submit completed lesson plans may result in more severe disciplinary action up to and including loss of employment." (D. Ex. #16).

(8) Respondent's Second Classroom Observation

Respondent was observed for a second time during the 2020-2021 school year on March 29, 2021 by Vice Principal LaContee Hill. (D. Ex. #4) (Tr. @ 99-111). The post-observation conference was held on March 30, 2021. While Respondent was rated "effective" for the lesson, Respondent received "partially effective" ratings for three (3) Indicators.

For Indicator 1a – Lesson Sequence, Respondent was rated "partially effective." Vice Principal Hill noted that Respondent "did not effectively demonstrate that the March 22, 2021 lesson was an individual, standards-aligned lesson built on previous lessons and on students' prior knowledge." Vice Principal Hill suggested that Respondent's "lesson begin with what the past few lessons have been about, the learning intention for the day and how the lesson ties into the unit."

For Indicator 2b – Tailored Instruction, which was rated partially effective, Vice Principal Hill noted that although Respondent had two (2) students in a breakout session[1] for the period, there was no other evidence of tailored instruction. As such, Vice Principal Hill suggested that Respondent have a point of reference such as an anchor chart or word wall for students to look at when working on what should be a review lesson."

For Indicator 4c – Demonstration of Learning, which was rated "partially effective," VP Hill noted that Respondent "did not effectively demonstrate that students knew more at the end of the lesson than they did at the start of the lesson." She noted that a "specific objective was not laid out for the lesson, the lesson objective was unclear, too broad, not measurable or not aligned to grade level standards." She further noted that the class ended with students working independently whereas Respondent "should have had the students complete an exit ticket directly related to the success criteria."

(9) Write-Up by Vice Principal Hill for Respondent's Conduct Unbecoming Behavior

By letter dated April 29, 2021, VP Hill issued a written memorandum regarding an inappropriate statement that Respondent had made to a parent about her child. Specifically, Respondent had told the parent that the child should spend some time with Respondent whereby Respondent could give the child a "whooping" and straighten him out. VP Hill advised Respondent that "his statement constituted conduct unbecoming and reminded him that it was not his role or responsibility to make any such comment." (D. Exs. #64, #66).

(10) Respondent's Summative Annual Evaluation for 2020-2021

Principal Pared provided Respondent's summative annual evaluation on May 4, 2021. (D. Ex. #5). Respondent earned a partially effective rating for the school year. The post-observation conference was held on May 6, 2021.[2]

---

[2] Respondent did not file a rebuttal with the District challenging any of the determinations or ratings.

Respondent earned a Partially Effective in Competency 1, which evaluates "Lesson Design and Focus." Within Competency 1, Respondent earned a "Partially Effective" rating for Indicator 1a (Lesson Sequence). Principal Pared noted that Respondent's classroom lessons did not effectively demonstrate that lessons were individual, standards-aligned lessons built on previous lessons and on students' prior knowledge. Principal Pared suggested that Respondent's lessons begin with what the past few lessons have been about, the learning intention for the day and how the day's lesson ties into the unit. Respondent also earned an "Ineffective" rating for Indicator 1e (Coherent Planning). Pursuant to the Framework, lesson plans are to be standards-based, grade-level appropriate, and reflect work toward annual student achievement goals. (D Ex. #5). Lesson plans are also required to be submitted on a bi-weekly basis. Respondent earned an "Ineffective" for Indicator 1E because he only submitted one set of lesson plans for the entire school year. Since Respondent taught 6th and 7th grade classes, he was required to submit lesson plans for both grade levels on a bi-weekly basis but failed to do so. (D. Ex. #5) (Tr. @ 115-116). Principal Pared explained that she checked Respondent's folder on the Google drive and confirmed that with the exception of a set of lesson plans that Respondent submitted for the first week of school, no other lesson plans were submitted by Respondent or on his behalf. (Tr. @ 115, 117-119).

Respondent also earned an "Ineffective" rating for Indicator 1f (Progression of Instruction). Pursuant to the Framework, lesson objectives must fit into a larger, coherent sequence that leads to mastery of the appropriate standards. When reviewing Respondent's lesson plan submissions for the school year, Principal Pared noted that "[Respondent] has submitted one lesson plan as of May 4, 2021 during the 2020-2021 school year..." (D. Ex. #5). Principal Pared explained that Respondent was not able to demonstrate how his lessons progressed through time because he did not submit any lesson plans. With three (3) Effective Indicators, one (1) Partially Effective Indicator and two (2) Ineffective Indicators, the preponderance of the evidence of the Indicators equates to a scoring of Partially Effective. (Tr. @ 120-121).

Respondent earned a "Partially Effective" for Competency 2, which evaluates "Rigor and Inclusiveness." Within Competency 2, Respondent earned a "Partially Effective" rating for Indicator 2a (Tailored Instruction). Respondent did not effectively tailor instruction to move all students toward mastery. Respondent also earned an "Ineffective" rating for Indicator 2a (Revisions). For this Indicator, a teacher must demonstrate that student work includes revisions based on teacher and peer feedback, with especially revised explanations and justifications to demonstrate student movement towards mastery. Principal Pared, however, noted that Respondent failed to share any student work samples with the administration. Respondent did not provide any evidence of student feedback or revisions of student work. Respondent also earned an "Ineffective" rating for Indicator 2f (Depth of Knowledge). For this Indicator, the teacher must show that lesson objectives, tasks and materials require students to demonstrate a range of skills. Principal Pared, however, noted that because Respondent failed to share evidence and failed to submit lesson plans during the school year, administration could not access the level of knowledge required of students throughout the school year. Principal Pared was unable to see lesson objectives over time and there was no evidence provided by Respondent to demonstrate that there was a depth of knowledge in his class over time. (D. Ex. #5) (Tr. @ 122-125).

Respondent earned a "Partially Effective" for Competency 3, which evaluates "Culture of Achievement." Within Competency 3, Respondent earned an "Ineffective" rating for Indicator 3e (High Expectations). This Indicator outlines whether or not a teacher is modeling excellence for their students in their preparation, lesson delivery, and in the overall work ethic. (D. Ex. #5) (Tr. @ 125-126). Respondent did not foster a classroom culture that was consistently one of the high expectations and hard work that modelled excellence. Principal Pared noted in the evaluation document that:

> [Respondent] has rarely demonstrated high expectations. He has not submitted lesson plans according to schedule, having only submitted 1 lesson plan to date. He has made a statement to a parent regarding a child's behavior and his need for a "whooping" during a child study team meeting. His WebEx classes have often begun late as demonstrated by the notes sent by students via the 6th grade Google Classroom, or at times, he has not hosted class at all. (D. Ex. #5).

Principal Pared also explained that Respondent's failure to prepare and submit lesson plans demonstrated a lack of classroom preparation and a lack of effort into the classroom and the learning that is supposed to occur. (Tr. @ 122, 125-26).

Respondent earned a "Partially Effective" for Competency 4, which evaluates "Student Progress Toward Mastery." (Tr. @ 128). Within Competency

4, Respondent earned a "Partially Effective" rating for Indicator 4c (Demonstration of Learning). This Indicator evaluates if students know more at the end of a lesson than they did at the start. No specific objective was laid out for the students for the lesson observed by Vice Principal Hill. Respondent also ended that lesson by having students work independently whereas Respondent should have had student do an exit ticket at the end of the class that was directly related to the success criteria that would show where a student is in their learning. (Tr. @ 129).

Respondent earned an "Ineffective" rating for Indicator 4d (Using Data). As noted by Principal Pared, "[Respondent] has not shared lesson plans demonstrating his use of data as he has only shared a lesson plan for the 1st week of school. He has not shared trackers with student data as per the schedule..." Principal Pared expressed concern when she testified that the respondent did not provide any evidence of data collection or how it was being used. (D. Ex. #5) (Tr. @ 130-133).

Respondent earned an "ineffective" rating for Indicator 4e (Understanding of Growth). Principal Pared stated that "[Respondent] has not provided evidence of student growth over time. He has not shared student work samples, data reflections and his data trackers are not current...Data on all math standards taught to date have not been supplied." Principal Pared expressed concern when she testified that Respondent did not provide any evidence.

In the Summary section of the annual summative evaluation, Principal Pared stated that:

> [Respondent's] lack of planning and preparation has hindered his progress this year. He is to focus on lesson planning during the 2021-2022 school year. It is also note that his focus should shift and maintaining his professionalism at all times.(D. Ex. #5).

(11) Coaching and Professional Development during the 2020-2021 school year

Respondent received support from the Math Coach and other administrators, which included focus on curriculum, classroom feedback and lesson plan feedback. Respondent received in-class support and in-class modeling. Respondent also participated in Professional Learning Community ("PLC") meetings for additional support and assistance. (D. Exs. #1, #11, #12).

Respondent Position

The Respondent initially argues that "[i]n light of the indisputable direct evidence of discriminatory animus and/or retaliatory intent, the District cannot and has not met its burden of proving the instant charges are not a product of retaliation or discrimination."

According to Respondent, "(1) the charges would not have been brought but for considerations of political affiliation, nepotism, union activity, discrimination as prohibited by state or federal law, or conduct prohibited by state or federal law; (2) Montague's evaluations failed to adhere substantially to the evaluation process, including but not limited to providing a Corrective Action Plan; and (3) the District's actions were arbitrary and capricious."

Although the Respondent acknowledges that he was evaluated pursuant to an evaluation rubric governed by the Framework, the Arbitrator is urged "to look beyond the ratings issued, otherwise, the available defenses, and indeed, the very concept of tenure, would be rendered meaningless." The Respondent contends that "even if those procedures were followed, the Arbitrator may look toward whether they were applied in an 'arbitrary and capricious' manner. And lastly, but certainly not least, the Arbitrator may look toward whether the charges are the product of 'bias' in the form of unlawful retaliation, including discrimination and retaliation for engaging in Union activity or other lawful activity."

Respondent notes that "the Framework utilized by the District has inherently subjective elements, including but not limited to the over-the-year indicators, and others through which an observer or evaluator seeking to undertake mischief, has ample room to undermine a rating – not only by what they choose to see, but what they elect to ignore, or focus upon, or even let slide." In the Respondent's view, even where "norming" is utilized to avoid subconscious bias – "that does not work and cannot work when the bias is intentional and manipulative." It further notes that "the observation and evaluation process upon which the District relies is fundamentally predicated on the 'good faith' of the observers and evaluators."

Since Respondent maintains that despite multiple observers, which potentially and in theory can ameliorate bias, "Pared's observations and evaluations were, as a practical matter determinative of Montague's ratings, according to her own self-process policies and procedures of 'rounding-down.'"

From Respondent's perspective, "once demonstrated bad faith is injected in the process, the ratings themselves are little to no value." According to Respondent, the evidentiary record reveals not only substantial evidence or bad faith but also direct evidence of retaliatory intent exhibited not only by Principal Pared but also by her loyal Vice Principals."

In support of this contention, Respondent relies on the recently decided case of I/M/O Newark School District v. Jennifer Ferrara (Agency Docket No. 221-8/22 (September 18, 2023) wherein Arbitrator Lang dismissed the charges against Respondent finding, inter alia, that "Pared arbitrarily elected to observe Ferrara in a make or break observation in a 'test-prep' session not prepared by her, as compared to a normal lesson." In addition, Arbitrator Lang found:

> Pared's intrusion into Union meetings, antipathy for Montague and interference in RHS Union leadership selection, convince me Ms. Ferrara's participation in NTU complaints tainted Administration's ratings of her teaching performance.
>
> Based on the entire record in this matter I find the District's Ratings of Respondent violated the Provisions of TeachNJ; that they were influenced by Farrara's Union activity, were arbitrary and capricious, and failed to adhere to prescribed evaluation processes. I find all of that materially affected Ms. Ferrara's Observations and Evaluation.

I. Anti-Union Animus

To establish that an employer to adverse employment action against an employee in retaliation for protected Union activity by that employee, employee need first show that "the employee engaged in protected activity, the employer knew of this activity, and that the employer was hostile toward the exercise of the protected rights." Once this is shown, "in a dual motive case, supported by direct evidence of discriminatory or retaliatory animus, the burden shifts to the employer to show that it would have reached the same decision even in the absence of the protected activity." See, Bridgewater Twp. v. Bridgewater Public Works Assn. 95 N.J. 235 (1984).

Insofar as the 2020-2021 ratings are concerned, the Respondent perceives a retaliatory intent in that VP Hill, who conducted his second observation, was removed and replaced with VP Bird who "either outright shared Pared's sentiments or was at least willing to share them." Evidence of retaliation toward Hill, who purportedly "declined to toe the proverbial line in the issuance of observation ratings and received a Partially Effective rating herself," is her removal from supervision of Respondent on January 6th, 2022. VP Hill did not testify at the hearing "because the District did not trust her."

A key element in Respondent's claim of Union animus, discrimination and retaliation involves an April 28, 2021 faculty meeting "when she threatened her entire faculty and staff with what amounted to thinly veiled consequences if they spoke to the Union or Montague on matters or subjects she personally disagreed with."

Contrary to Pared's testimony that the "crux" of the meeting involved the "chain of command," the Respondent contends that this meeting entailed "a classic anti-union threat by a supervisor and an inherent threat of discipline." In advising the faculty of what they could speak to the NTU and Montague about (contract issues) and what they could not ("silly little things"), Respondent maintains that Pared was engaged in anti-union animus. Although Principal Pared eventually acknowledged at the hearing that her requirement that office staff and non-tenured staff report for in-person instruction and stay past 1:30 pm when students were remote and the building was designated for cleaning, was a "Union issue," her comment to staff about when they could speak to the Union representative was anti-Union animus. Moreover, Principal Pared's projection of "consequences" for speaking to the Union, namely not having a relationship with the "administrative team," including Vargas and Bird, and excluding them from the "family" or the "community" compounded the problem.

The mask break issue raised on April 28th is considered further evidence of retaliation and anti-Union animus. Principal Pared denied mask breaks to Montague, Ferrara and Crowe as well as others who were talking to Montague at the time of their alleged violation of the mask break protocol. These teachers were told that they would be "treated like children" by having other staff take their students on mask breaks for the remainder of the year. According to Respondent, the April 28th meeting was "instigated by Union objections to Pared requiring staff to work in person while students were remote on Wednesdays, to clean the building." Rather than being imposed for the health of the students, the Respondent argues that the disciplinary actions "were out of concern for Montague's Union activity and what she perceived to be his interference and 'disrespect.'"

According to Respondent, "Evidence of hostility to Union activity and association in connection with the charge "is manifest in (1) Pared's interference with Montague's appointment as building representative; (2) her either listening in on Union meetings or claiming to do so; (3) threatening faculty if they associated with or communicated with either the NTU or Montague." These activities persuade Respondent that "Pared and her administrative team intended to retaliate against Montague and others associated with him, with respect to performance evaluations and observations, including those which form the basis of the instant charge against Montague for 'inefficiency' in performance."

Citing the Employer Employee Relations Act ("EERA"), N.J.S.A. 34:13A-5.3 which states, "public employees shall have, and shall be protected in the exercise of, the right, freely and without fear of penalty or reprisal to form, join and assist any employee organization," Respondent asserts that the "hostility exhibited by Pared – openly and wantonly" is "in plain violation of State law."

II. Other Retaliation

With respect to the April 29, 2021 Write-Up authored by VP Hill, Respondent denies the incident occurred as reported. The claim by VP Hill that Respondent told a parent that her child needed a "whooping" was relied upon by Pared in rating Respondent "partially effective" for the 2020-2021 school year. Clearly, this incident/write-up is mentioned in Respondent's 2020-2021 Summative Annual Evaluation, specifically cited for Competency 3e, "Culture of Achievement," where Respondent received an "ineffective" rating for the "whooping" statement he made to a parent during a child study meeting. Respondent deems noteworthy the fact that the Write-up letter was written one day after the April 28, 2021 WebEx meeting.

The alleged incident occurred during a child study team meeting in which Ferrara participated as part of her duties. Ferrara testified that she did not hear Montague make the statement, despite VP Hill's disciplinary letter. Moreover, Respondent, who did not challenge the write-up when it was written, argues that since neither VP Hill nor Principal Pared spoke Spanish they could not have understood what the parent was saying." "The bottom line is that Pared simply made it up to justify reducing his rating and she demonstrated a proclivity to invent facts to support her narrative." Absent the date of the child study meeting, which is not specified in the write-up, since Ferrera testified that the same cohort of teachers met during the child study team meetings for IEP students, Respondent argues that Ferrara's recollection she never heard him make the "whooping" statement should be credited. (Tr. @ 1279).

The Respondent contends that "Pared's 2020-2021 Annual Evaluation Rating of Montague by Pared is Evidence of Retaliation." According to Respondent, "Pared elected to take what amounts to a single alleged performance deficiency and use it to downgrade his annual evaluation in every Competency in the evaluation rubric to ensure he received a partially effective for the year." Alluding to the testimony of Iovino, Respondent contends that "running one procedural deficiency as a thread through all areas of teacher practice, including practice areas that have no relationship to lesson plan submission, is illogical and contrary to the spirit of the Framework."

Respondent contends that Principal Pared unfairly utilized over-the-year indicators, "which were uniquely in her control," to downgrade Montague while, at the same time, "ignoring his observed effective performance in lesson design and other areas of teacher practice."

Respondent disputes Pared's contention that there was only "one plan" in the folder for the entire school year. She wrote "one lesson plan" in the evaluation as opposed to one cycle of Lesson Plans. (Tr. @ 115-118).

Respondent distinguishes the submission of lesson plans from lesson planning. "His colleagues Montero and Bishop testified to his planning for lessons, their collaborative efforts with respect to same and their assistance to him in connection with both the planning and the submission of plans and data. There is no dispute that Montague is not tech savy, since he acknowledged it at the hearing, and he relied on others. Pared was aware of that weakness and seized upon it to justify undermining his rating. It is worth noting that this is not a 'new' weakness and presumably it has persisted during his time entire time at RHS and with the District. Yet, it is only now – after his appointment as the representative; after the interference in that appointment; and after her threat of retaliation, that it is being radically used by Pared in an effort to seek his termination."

Irrespective of whether Respondent submitted lesson plans, he maintains that he planned. "When formally observed, there was evidence of effective planning – and using data to inform same during Grade Level Meetings ("GLMs") and PLCs." In this regard, Respondent relies on the testimony of Iovino that "a procedural failing is not demonstrative of a less-than-effective teacher. Also, other tools are available, such as increment withholding, to correct an educator's professional shortcoming. Iovino testified that "tanking" a teacher's entire performance evaluation based upon one single area of teacher practice is inappropriate.

Whereas the Framework directs administrators to "gather" evidence through formal and informal observations, Respondent contends that "Pared never bothered to informally observe Montague at all. She did one formal observation at the beginning of the year, which she rated 'effective' prior to Montague becoming the representative, and then popped in his class for a few minutes at Montague's request one other time. This was the extent of Pared's 'gathering' and informal observation."

The Respondent further takes issue with Pared's evaluation where it states in Competency 4e, "Data on all math standards taught to date have not been supplied." (D. Ex. #6). The testimony of Pared that the data was provided by his Math Coach, Ms. Bishop, persuades the Respondent that his "ineffective" rating was unfair. The testimony of Bishop that part of her job as Math Coach was to assist teachers with data collection is deemed supportive of Respondent's effective performance on this indicator, which further states, "Mr. Montague has not provided evidence of student growth over time. He has not shared student work samples, data reflections and his data trackers are not correct as of May 4th..."

With respect to his 2020-2021 summative evaluation, Respondent takes issue with his over-the-year rating of "Slightly Below Expectation" on Indicator 5a "for not seeking professional development beyond that offered by the District." The testimony of Fuentes that the District provides sufficient Professional Development hours, obviating the need for additional Professional Development, negates this contention.

Finally, Respondent denies encouraging teachers "to rip down their bulletin boards because this was going above and beyond." He testified that "decorating a classroom with a bulletin board material and poster paper is the 'bare minimum' and the statement attributed to him was 'inconsistent with his practice.'"

2021-2022 School Year

District Position

As a result of the Respondent's 2020-2021 Summative Annual Evaluation where he was rated "Partially Effective," the Respondent was placed on a Corrective Action Plan ("CAP") for the 2021-2022 school year. (D. Ex. #6).

The Guidance section of the CAP reads as follows:

> At the beginning of the year, the employee and their supervisor sit down to reflect on last year's performance and the goals for the current year. This is an opportunity to collaboratively map out development areas and opportunities for the employee as well as set goals for their students (otherwise known as Student Growth Objectives).

Respondent and VP Hill collaborated on the CAP and set two student goals, indicating what Montague's students would demonstrate by the end of the school year as follows:

- Goal 1: By April 2022, for 9 out of 18 7th grade students to demonstrate mastery of 7th grade level standards by achieving a score of 75% mastery or above as assessed using the Into Math End of Year Assessment – AND – By April 2022, for 12 out of 18 7th grade students to demonstrate growth towards mastery of 7th grade level standards by achieving a score of 60%-75% mastery as assessed using the Into MAP Growth Assessment.

- Goal 2: By April 2022, for 10 out of 24 6th grade students to demonstrate mastery of 6th grade level standards by achieving a score of 75% mastery or above as assessed using the Into Math End of Year Assessment – AND – By April 2022, for 10 out of 24 6th grade students to demonstrate growth towards mastery of 6th grade level standards by achieving a score of 60%-75% mastery as assessed using the Into MAP Growth Assessment.

Additionally, Respondent and Vice Principal Hill established four (4) growth areas:

- Indicator 4a – Checks for Understanding
- Indicator 1a – Pacing and Momentum.
- Indicator 1a – Lesson Sequence.
- Indicator 3e – High Expectations. (D. Ex. #6).

The Growth Areas included Action Steps, Metrics and Processes. As part of Growth Area #4, Respondent agreed that "lesson plans will be submitted according to the schedule and the teacher will be ready at the start of the class." (D. Ex. #6) (Tr. @ 163).

(1) September 10, 2021 Lesson Feedback Form

Pursuant to the RHS Lesson Feedback Form, VP Hill informed Respondent that his lesson plans were overdue and directed him to submit the plans the following day. (D. Exs. #62, #70).

(2) September 23, 2021 Lesson Feedback Form

On September 23, 2021, VP Hill notified Montague that his lesson plans were overdue and directed him to submit the plans the following days. (D. Exs. #63, #71).

(3) First Classroom Visit by Vice Principal Hill

On November 10, 2021, VP Hill conducted a formal observation of Respondent's classroom. Although Respondent was rated "Effective" for the lesson, he received a "Partially Effective" rating for one Competency and received a "Partially Effective" rating in three (3) Indicators.

In Competency 1 – Lesson Design and Focus – Respondent earned a "Partially Effective" in Indicator 1a – Lesson Sequence. VP Hill observed that the lesson did not build on previous lessons and on students' prior knowledge. Specifically, VP Hill stated that Respondent failed to review with the class what was discussed in the prior lesson and also failed to connect the prior lesson to the November 10, 2021 lesson. (D. Ex. #7) (Tr. @ 165).

Respondent earned a "Partially Effective" in Competency 2, which evaluates "Rigor and Inclusiveness." With Competency 2, Respondent earned a "Partially Effective" in Indicator 2c, which evaluates "Responsiveness." VP Hill noted that Respondent ran through the math problem steps with the students but did not effectively recognize student misunderstandings and adjust his instructional strategy. VP Hill suggested that Respondent ensure that his students have a deeper understanding of the lesson. (D. Ex. #7) (Tr. @ 165). Respondent also earned a "Partially Effective" in Indicator 2d, which evaluates "Precision & Evidence." VP Hill noted that while students were able to respond, Respondent did not consistently challenge his students to provide evidence of reasoning for their responses. (Tr. @ 167).

In the summary section of the observation, VP Hill explained how Respondent could improve. Specifically, VP Hill stated that:

> By incorporating Habits of Discussion into the lesson, this will allow students to engage in academic discourse with one another where they will be able to demonstrate their knowledge and understanding (4c) and encourage students to provide evidence (2d) from one another to justify their response. Lastly, as students share out, it will help to address misconceptions (2c) students might have. (D. Ex. #7).

(4) Change of Supervisors: Vice Principal Bird Replaces Vice Principal Hill as Respondent's Immediate Supervisor

As of January 6, 2022, VP Bird became Montague's supervisor. Dr. Fuentes testified that he facilitated the change when he discovered that certain teachers assigned to the RHS "had not received the proper number of observations in a timely manner. It was a concern because teachers on a CAP such as Montague had not been observed in accordance with the schedule."

According to Dr. Fuentes, VP Hill was "overwhelmed with other responsibilities, including testing, and had fallen behind with her observation duties." (Tr. @ 757-759). As a result of his discussion with Principal Pared, she redistributed the observation duties among the three Vice Principals to reduce VP Hill's workload. As a result, VP Bird assumed the observation duties of VP Hill.

(5) Respondent's Second Classroom Observation by Principal Pared

On December 16, 2021, Respondent was formally observed by Principal Pared. He received an overall "Partially Effective" rating for the classroom lesson. (D. Ex. #8) (Tr. @ 169-170).

In the course of evaluating the 6th grade lesson taught by the Respondent, Principal Pared testified that "[as of December 16th] no lesson plans were submitted for the date of the observation..." (D. Ex. #8) (Tr. @ 168-194).

As for the actual lesson, Respondent earned a "Partially Effective" for Competency 1, which evaluates "Lesson Design and Focus." (D. Ex. #8) (Tr. @ 170). Respondent earned a "Partially Effective" for Indicator 1a – Lesson Design and Focus. Respondent did not review the lesson objective with his class. Principal Pared reminded Respondent to utilize the "Look Forward" technique from Teach Like a Champion, which includes: (a) to post on agendas and communicate to students in a way that gets them invested in completing the work to come; and (b) to introduce the objective to students, have them write it in their notebooks with the daily instructional task so that students are aware of the expectations for the lesson. (Tr. @ 171-172). Respondent earned a "Partially Effective" in Indicator 1b, which evaluates "Lesson Components." Principal Pared noted that Respondent prepared a worksheet that was not aligned to the lesson as per the curriculum. Students did not utilize any physical or virtual manipulatives, and vocabulary was not taught as per the curriculum. Ultimately, only 1 out of 13 students were able to complete the worksheet correctly. (D. Ex. #8) (Tr. @ 172-173). Respondent earned a "Partially Effective" in Indicator 1c, which evaluates "Pacing and Momentum." Principal Pared noted that Respondent did not maximize learning time. Principal Pared noted that the lesson started over 18 minutes late and too much time was spent on the Do Now, which did not leave an appropriate amount of time for the lesson. (Tr. @ 171-175). Respondent earned a "Partially Effective" in Indicator 1d, which evaluates "Clarity." Principal Pared noted that Respondent's lesson was unclear at times. She also observed student confusion in the classroom. Principal Pared observed two (2) students confused as to the next steps, and then observed several students in the back of the room seeking support because they did not understand the lesson. (D. Ex. #8) (Tr. @ 176).

Respondent earned a "Partially Effective" for Competency 2, which evaluates "Rigor and Inclusiveness." (Tr. @ 177). Respondent earned a Partially Effective for Indicator 2a – Tailored Instruction – because aside from referencing a chart in the back of the classroom, no tailoring of instruction occurred. (D. Ex. #8) (Tr. @ 184). Respondent earned a "Partially Effective" for Indicator 2b – Questions & Tasks – because Respondent asked lower-level questions which were not synthesis based. (Tr. @ 186, 198). Respondent earned a "Partially Effective" for Indicator 2c – Responsiveness – because Respondent did not properly recognize student misunderstandings. Respondent did not plan for error, which resulted in him having to pause the lesson and reset. (D. Ex. #8) (Tr. @ 186-187).

Although Respondent earned an Effective rating for Competency 3, he earned a "Partially Effective" rating in Indicator 3b – Persistence. (Tr. @ 188-189).

Respondent earned a "Partially Effective" for Competency 4, which evaluates "Student Progress Towards Mastery." (Tr. @ 189). Respondent earned a "Partially Effective" for Indicator 4a – Checks for Understanding – because Respondent did not adequately check to see if his students were understanding the lesson overall, and simply focused on formulas for area and perimeter. (Tr. @ 189-191). Respondent earned an "Ineffective" for Indicator 4c – Demonstration of Learning – because only 1 out of 14 students were able to respond to the question posed without direct support from Respondent. (D. Ex. #8) (Tr. @ 191-192). In the summary section of the observation document, Principal Pared noted that although Respondent understands the concepts he is teaching, he again failed to plan and prepare, which hinders his delivery of instruction and his student's acquisition of knowledge. (D. Ex. #8) (Tr. @ 191-194).

(6) January 13, 2022 Written Warning for Not Submitting Lesson Plans

VP Bird issued a letter dated January 13, 2022 informing Respondent that he had failed to submit his bi-weekly lesson plans. Instead of having lesson plans in his folder, Respondent only placed a copy of the curriculum in his folder. (D. Ex. #15).

(7) Respondent's Mid-Year Summative Evaluation for the 2021-2022 School Year by VP Bird

Montague's mid-year evaluation pursuant to his CAP was rated "Ineffective" by VP Bird.[3] (D. Ex. #5).

VP Bird created Respondent's 2021-2022 Mid-Year Annual Summative Evaluation on January 12, 2022. Respondent, who refused to sign the document, viewed it on February 24, 2022. He earned an inefficient rating at the mid-year point for the school year.[4] (D. Ex. #9).

Respondent earned a "Partially Effective" in Competency 1, which evaluates "Lesson Design and Focus." Within Competency 1, Respondent earned a "Partially Effective" rating for Indicator 1a (Lesson Sequence), a

[3] Respondent's last day of work was January 25, 2022.

[4] Respondent did not file a rebuttal with the District challenging any of the documentation or ratings for the Mid-Year Annual Summative Evaluation.

Partially Effective for Indicator 1b (Lesson Components), a "Partially Effective" for Indicator 1c (Pacing and Momentum), a Partially Effective for Indicator 1d (Clarity), an "Ineffective" for Indicator 1e (Coherent Planning) and an "Ineffective" for Indicator 1f (Progression of Instruction). The overall rating for Competency 1 was based on Respondent's two (2) classroom observations and the undisputed fact that Respondent had not submitted any written lesson plans and data. (D. Ex. #9) (Tr. @ 598).

Respondent earned a "Partially Effective" in Competency 2, which evaluates "Rigor and Inclusiveness." Within Competency 2, Respondent earned a "Partially Effective" rating for Indicator 2a (Tailored Instruction), a "Partially Effective" for Indicator 2b (Questions & Tasks), a "Partially Effective" for Indicator 2c (Responsiveness), a "Partially Effective" for Indicator 2d (Precision & Evidence), an "Ineffective" for Indicator 2e (Revisions) and an "Ineffective" for Indicator 2f (Depth of Knowledge). The overall rating for Competency 2 was based on Respondent's two (2) classroom observations and the undisputed fact that Respondent had not submitted any written lesson plans and student work samples.

Respondent earned a "Partially Effective" in Competency 3, which evaluates "Culture of Achievement." Within Competency 3, Respondent earned a "Partially Effective" rating for Indicator 3b (Persistence), an "Ineffective" for Indicator 3e (High Expectations) and an "Ineffective" for Indicator 3f (Peer Accountability). The overall rating for Competency 3 was based on Respondent's two (2) classroom observations and the undisputed fact that Respondent had not submitted any written lesson plans or shared his Google Classroom. (D. Ex. #9) (Tr. @ 598-639).

Respondent earned a "Partially Effective" in Competency 4, which evaluates "Student Progress Towards Mastery." Within Competency 4, Respondent earned a "Partially Effective" rating for Indicator 4a (Checks for Understanding), a "Partially Effective" for Indicator 4c (Demonstration of Learning), an "Ineffective" for Indicator 4d (Using Data), an "Ineffective" for Indicator 4e (Understanding of Growth), and an "Ineffective" for Indicator 4f (Progress Towards Goals). The overall rating for Competency 4 was based on Respondent's two (2) classroom observations and the undisputed fact that Respondent had not submitted any written lesson plans, had not submitted any data showing student growth, and had not submitted any student work samples. (D. Ex. #9) (Tr. @ 568-639). Respondent was rated "Significantly Below Expectations" for Competency 5 – Progress toward Goals.

(8) Respondent's Year-End Summative Evaluation for the 2020-2022 School Year

Respondent ceased reporting to work on January 15, 2022. When Respondent did not report to work for a third (3rd) formal classroom observation, VP Bird reiterated his mid-year assessment, namely an "Ineffective" rating summarizing Respondent's two (2) prior formal classroom observations.

VP Bird determined that Respondent's "ineffective' ratings for several of the over-the-year indicators such as Coherent Planning (1e), Progression of Instruction (1f),Progress towards Goals (SGOs) (Competency 5) and Commitment toward Continuous Improvement, predominately due to not submitting lesson plans and not submitting samples of student work warranted an overall 'Ineffective rating for the Mid-Year Evaluation.

VP Bird cited a District policy which provides that if a first observation of "effective" is followed by a second observation of "partially effective," the second observation is accorded more weight. However, in the instant case, Respondent's potential "partial effective" for the Mid-Year was reduced by over-the-year indicators of "ineffective" in several categories. With ratings of "partially effective" for Competencies 1, 2 and 3 and ratings of "ineffective" for Competencies 4 and 5, VP Bird gave Montague an overall rating of "ineffective." (Tr. @ 638-639, 664).

(9) Respondent's Leaves of Absence

Respondent's request for approved leave covering the January 25, 2022 through March 1, 2022 time period was retroactively approved on March 1, 2022. Although Respondent was expected to report to work on March 2, 2022, he did not. By email dated March 21, 2022, Respondent was reminded by the District's Human Resources Department that since his approved leave expired on March 1, 2022, he was deemed to be out on unauthorized leave and considered AWOL afterwards. (D. Exs. #17, #18).

Due to Respondent's late application seeking an extension of his approved FMLA, it was not until April 13, 2022 that the District's HR Department approved his leave from March 2, 2022 through April 22, 2022. Respondent was reminded to report to work on April 25, 2022. (D. Ex. #19). He did not report.

By email dated June 8, 2022, Respondent was notified by HR that his request to extend his FMLA from April 22, 2022 to June 23, 2022 was denied "because he had exhausted his statutory 12 weeks of FMLA leave and further because the medical reasoning submitted did not warrant a contractual illness leave. (D. Ex. #20).

According to the District, Respondent did not timely submit his requests for approved absences under the Family Medical Leave Act ("FMLA"). Ultimately, the District contends that he "blew off his obligation to report to work for the last two (2) months of school."

(10) Coaching and Professional Development During the 2021-2022 School Year

The District maintains that Montague received support from the Math Coach and other administrators, including focus on curriculum, classroom feedback, lesson plan feedback, in-class support and in-class modeling. Respondent also participated in PLCS. (D. Exs. #1, #11 and #12).

(11) Principal Pared's Written Recommendation for Inefficiency Tenure Charges Against Respondent

On July 29, 2022, Principal Pared listed twenty-eight reasons for the Tenure Charge of Inefficiency against Montague, encompassing Respondent's rating of "Partially Effective" in his Annual Summative Evaluation for 2020-2021 and his "Ineffective" rating for his Annual Summative Evaluation for 2021-2022.

Respondent Position

I. Anti-Union Animus

The Respondent has predicated his defense to the tenure charges for the 2020-2021 and 2021-2022 school years on anti-Union animus, discrimination, and bias on the part of Principal Pared. According to the Respondent, the bias of Principal Pared was manifested in actions she took that "failed to adhere substantially to the evaluation process," deviated from the "spirit" of the Framework and introduced "arbitrary and capricious" elements.

From the Respondent's perspective, Principal Pared's retaliatory intent commenced with her inference in the lawful Union activity of electing Montague as the building representative for RHS. The Respondent perceives an inextricable connection between his role as Union leader and Pared's less than effective ratings of his performance during classroom observations, his Corrective Action Plan, his "ineffective" mid-year report and his annual summative evaluations of partially effective and ineffective over two years. Principal Pared's anti-Union animus and retaliatory motives have extended not only to the instant tenure charges against him, but also to the tenure charges brought against Jennifer Ferrara – charges recently dismissed by Arbitrator Lang.

Relying on the testimony of Montague and other witnesses at the hearing, Respondent contends that at the beginning of the 2020-2021 school year when the teaching staff found problematic the representation provided by then NTU building representative, Herman Gonzalez, Principal Pared interfered with the selection process. Although "Gonzalez himself had offered to step down and displayed no interest in continuing in the position, Pared refused to accept the transition to Montague absent a vote by the staff, but also demanded that Gonzalez be placed on the ballot."

Given the testimony of Michael Iovino, Secretary-Treasurer of the Newark

Teachers Union ("NTU") "that there was no 'Union' reason for a vote" and Gonzalez was "appointed" previously, Principal Pared's interference constituted anti-Union animus. Since Pared as principal assumed an adversarial role vis-à-vis the NTU, her preference for Gonzalez over Montague pursuant to the pro forma Union prerogative of appointing a building representative is deemed "wildly inappropriate."

Montague testified that after he was elected building representative in September 2020, he held his first meeting with Principal Pared on or about January 21, 2021. In her email summarizing the meeting Pared wrote: "Mr. Montague will provide me with all Union meeting dates." (R. Ex. #39) (Tr. @ 1434).

Whereas Pared was able to "surreptitiously attend Union meetings" during the pandemic provided she had the link, once virtual meetings ended, she demanded to know the dates and times of these meetings. In her emails to Montague, first demanding to know the dates and times of Union meetings and, if not provided, asserting there will be no meetings in the future unless her demand was met, constituted unreasonable intrusion into Union business. Contrary to the District's contention that the NTU contract gives the Principal the right to know meeting times and dates, the Respondent avers that the contract language pertains to in-person meetings on District property as opposed to remote meetings. (D. Ex. #27).

Subsequent to Pared's interference with the staff's selection of Montague, she is reported as informing staff that she "listens in on or 'knows what goes on in' Union meetings." These comments made during faculty meetings, which were attended by witnesses Ferrara, Dixon, Crowe and Hunter, had the effect of intimidating staff and undermining the Union and Montague. It had a chilling effect on staff expressions of complaints regarding Pared and the school administration.

Notwithstanding Pared's testimony that she never actually listened in on Union meetings, the Respondent relies on the testimony of both Carnemolla and Crowe that she made statements indicative of being present at a meeting. Moreover, Respondent contends that even the threat that she was listening in on Union meetings would be sufficient to intimidate the free expression of staff at such meetings.

Pared's anti-Union animus reached its apex during the April 28, 2021 meeting discussed supra where Pared attempted to restrict the communication of staff to Montague and the NTU. The consequence of deviating from Pared's so-called "chain of command" was exclusion from the "family" or the "community" – tantamount to the administrative team. Montague testified that shortly after the April 28, 2021 meeting Union attendance at meetings declined 35-40 percent.

Beginning with the 2021-2022 school year, Respondent was placed on a CAP, had his lunch period and his teaching cohort changed. Prior to these changes, his cohort consisted of Ferrara – ELA, Dixon – Science, while he taught 6th and 7th grade math. On January 6, 2022, his immediate supervisor was changed from VP Hill to VP Bird.

The change of Montague's cohort teaching group coincides with the group's complaint about Pared and her administrative team that they brought to a June 2021 meeting with Joanne Watson of Labor Relations.

On January 5, 2022, Pared called an emergency meeting termed the Culture and Climate Meeting, where she "basically apologized to the staff for any miscommunication of information that had caused hard feelings or just the general environment of the building to be less than what it should have." (Tr. @ 1512). Montague also spoke at the meeting and addressed what he considered to be the "toxic and retaliatory climate at the school." VP Bird also spoke at the meeting and described in the meeting that it is "us v. you."

The next day not only was Respondent's immediate supervisor changed from VP Hill to VP Bird but the supervisors of Ferrara and Crowe, who spoke at the meeting, also changed. VP Hill was removed from supervising and observing Montague, Ferrara and Crowe. According to Respondent, VP Hill was removed and denied access to the Whetstone System to conduct observations because she would not rate these three teachers less than effective. When Ferrara inquired about the need for the changes, "Hill confirmed to Ferrara...that the three of them were a 'package deal.'" At this time, Pared was preparing tenure charges against Montague and Ferrara circa January 13, 2022.

II. Respondent's Evaluation failed to adhere substantially to the Evaluation Process, including but not limited to providing a Corrective Action Plan

According to Respondent, "the CAP was invalid. The SGOs contained within the CAP are unlawful as are the 'Action Steps' for administration to provide assistance. However, even assuming the CAP was lawfully proper, the fact remains that it was not implemented – that is, the meager assistance offered to Montague to help him become 'Effective' (assuming that he was properly rated to begin with) was not only not provided but was actively and intentionally undermined by Pared."

"The purported CAP assistance was limited to: (1) formal and informal lesson plans; (2) lesson plan feedback; and (3) coaching support. Both (1) and (2) are not CAP support at all, since all teachers receive them, whether tenured or not tenured, whether Effective, Highly Effective, or not, and whether they are or are not on a CAP. The same is true with (3), as well – all teachers receive generic 'coaching.' But at least, in theory, coaching was potentially available to Montague."

Respondent maintains that he received "virtually no CAP specific 'coaching.'" Similarly, other CAP teachers such as Ferrara received insufficient CAP-based assistance. Given the testimony of Bishop, the Math Coach at the time, as to what "coaching" was needed for a teacher who required "specific individualized assistance," the District purportedly fell short.

"It is not routine PLC's or participation in routine GLMs, or even routine classroom support. Here, it is undisputed that Montague received no CAP coaching at all, beyond a single introductory meeting, there was only a single meeting in November regarding binders – this comes straight from the mouth of the Bishop, the 'Math Coach' who was the only one who could provide it. Why? Because Pared cancelled the coaching cycle prep period. The cycle was cancelled not just for Montague but Ferrara as well. It is also worth pointing out that the other 'Coach,' ELA Coach Carnemolla, quit. She not only quit – she quit because of the toxic and retaliatory environment that Pared and her administrative team fostered at RHS."

Respondent takes issue with Pared's testimony that Bishop provided adequate CAP support. Bishop denied that the PLCs and GLMs that she participated in where Montague was present constituted individualized coaching. "She attempted to coach Montague individually, meeting with him two times early in the year during the coaching cycle (one of which was introductory) but the coaching cycle was cancelled."

In Respondent's recollection, CAP Coaching was indispensable for him as a "necessary reason to improve performance."

Respondent disputes the District's contention that the "coaching cycle" was just an extra prep period. By cancelling the coaching cycle and not replacing it, the Respondent attributes ulterior motives to Principal Pared, namely preventing the improvement of Montague and Ferrara to facilitate their departure.

Whereas Pared attributed VP Hill's "partially effective" rating to her "lack of oversight and assistance provided to Respondent," Respondent contends that VP Hill's unwillingness to go along with the retaliation was the source of VP Hill's negative rating.

Respondent also considers his prior history of Effective ratings not only for the decade preceding the 2021-2022 school year but also his two Effective formal ratings, including Competency 1, for Lesson Design and Planning, prior to the 2020-2021 annual rating on May 4, 2021 evidence of his competence.

Respondent deems noteworthy that "Pared undertook the annual evaluation on May 4, 2021 less than a week following her threats of retaliation at the April 28, 2021 WebEx meeting when the District Framework affords a Principal throughout both the full months of May and June to evaluate a tenured teacher not on a CAP..." (D. Ex. #24).

The Respondent challenges his rating of "Partially Effective" for Competency 3 under Culture of Achievement. Pared wrote: "Respondent has rarely demonstrated high expectations. He has not submitted lesson plans according to schedule, having submitted one (1) lesson plan to date." Respondent asks: "What lesson plan submission has to do with that? The answer is nothing – one need only look at the District's own description of that Competency for the answer."

Respondent also argues that Pared's efforts to undermine the credibility of Montero and Bishop regarding their testimony that they submitted Lesson Plans on Montague's behalf, particularly with respect to the 2021-2022 school year. The Arbitrator is urged to reject Pared's claims regarding what was in Montague's folder and that "Montero went into his google drive post-testimony. It must be remembered that Pared is in control of these files."

Respondent casts doubt on "a series of 'lesson plan feedbacks' ostensibly issued by Hill," noting that the emails "came not from Hill's email account – but Pared's personal/home email account." Absent Hill's testimony, her rating of partially effective for, inter alia, "failing to provide Montague with lesson plan feedback or other support is challenged."

The Respondent further maintains that the SGOs in his CAP are invalid because they were imposed on him. "The mastery levels of the students, (e.g., 9 out of 18 students will demonstrate 75% mastery or above as assessed using the intro Math End of Year Assessment) 'do not identify the students to which they apply. They do not even attempt to measure 'growth,' but rather 'mastery.'" "The two concepts are distinct. A student could be far short of 'mastery,' but demonstrate tremendous growth depending on their starting level. There does not appear to be a definition of 'mastery.' There is no beginning point from which growth could even be measured. The District's failing is not some minor procedural misstep. Ignoring SGOs flies in the face of the very law, the TeachNJ Act, which created the very inefficiency standards which the District is now attempting to utilize to terminate Montague's employment, and they were used to assess Montague's rating under Competency 4 in his annual rating."

Department of Education ("DOE") guidance provides that SGOs must "be specific and measurable" and undertaken "by teachers in consultation with their supervisors. SGOs may not be set 'school-wide' or even generically "class-wide." They are to be "tailored" to the teachers' students in consultation with them. (See, DOE Guidance on SGOs). What an SGO should look like and how they are meant to be implemented are further identified in DOE guidance.

"The SGO's contained in Montague's CAP do not even attempt to meet these requirements. First, if nothing else, they were imposed on Montague and not done in consultation. The testimony is that it was VP Hill, who prepared the CAP and SGOs, presumably on the directive of Pared with respect to SGOs.

Her claims of 1,000% growth during remote instruction during an unprecedented pandemic are fanciful and the SGOs like reflect that unrealistic claim. Even if class wide, an SGO cannot simply be imposed, must be created in consultation with the teacher, must be specific and measurable, and tailored to the actual students – not simply some arbitrary level of 'mastery,' since students may not be capable of reaching that goal – particularly after a Covid shutdowns and virtual instruction. Arbitrators have found that this single failing, standing alone, may warrant dismissal of a tenure charge." See, In the Matter of Dale Brown and State Operated Sch. Dist. of Newark, Agency DKT NO.: 254-9/16 (May 24, 2017) (dismissing charge finding insufficient SGO for, among other failings, the lack of specification as to which students were included in the pool, how those students were selected, or which of the respondent's classes those students were to come from)."

The Respondent contends that there "are no valid 'Action Steps' for Administration."

"Pursuant to applicable regulation, a CAP must include: "specific, demonstrable goals for improvement," and more importantly, "include responsibilities of the evaluated employee and the school district for the plan's implementation." And, perhaps most importantly, the CAP must "include timelines for meeting the goal(s)." See N.J.A.C. 6A:10-2.5. Guidance issued by the New Jersey Department of Education advises that a CAP, must include a description of the teacher's deficiencies, timeliness for corrective action, and responsibilities of the individual teaching staff member and the district, including actions and professional learning activities to improve the staff member's performance. (See State of New Jersey Department of Education, Summary of Legal Requirements for Teacher Evaluation and Tenure Cases) (emphasis added). This is not only a regulatory requirement, but also a statutory requirement necessary to pursue charges of inefficiency under the TeachNJ Act." See, N.J.S.A. 18A:6-119.

The District's own Guidebook declares that "a CAP is similar to, but more robust than an IPDP to ensure struggling teachers receive the necessary support for their growth" (See Guidebook, D-24, p. 15) (emphasis added). Furthermore, it provides that, "an administrator with a teacher on a CAP is responsible for reviewing and co-developing the CAP with the teacher and then supporting the teacher in meeting the development goals outlined in the CAP. (Id.). It provides, the "CAP should explicitly articulate actions the administrator will take to directly support the teacher." (Id.) (emphasis added). Further a CAP "shall...include specific metrics for monitoring progress toward goals, timelines for corrective action, responsibilities of the individual teaching staff member and his/her administrator for implementing the plan, and specific support that the district shall provide." (Id. at p. 29) (emphasis added)."

"Montague's CAP is a charade. It failed to include any specific individualized Action Steps to be provided by the administration to improve his teaching practice, nor any timelines for the provision of or completion of same. It also fails to identify Montague's purported deficiencies. Two of the three areas of teacher growth identified in the CAP, identify areas in which Montague was rated Effective the prior year. It is undisputed that the only administrative Action Steps listed in the CAP are generic support that all teachers receive and are not specific for teachers on a CAP: (1) formal and informal observations; (2) lesson plan feedback; (3) coaching. All teachers receive informal and formal observations and lesson plan feedback, as well as 'coaching.' That much was admitted to by Pared and Fuentes. The CAP offers nothing that any teacher would otherwise receive. Thus, the CAP provides for zero individualized supports and, of course, no timelines are set forth in the CAP to provide or complete the existing supports. Though the CAP is supposed to be more 'robust' than an Individualized Professional Improvement Plan ('IPDP') for non-CAP teachers, a comparison between Montague's IPDP for 2020-21 and his CAP for 2021-22 shows, if anything, less robust supports. (Compare D-2 to D-7). These facts alone render the CAP invalid under applicable regulations and render Montague's annual summative evaluation procedurally defective. Of course, even these 'supports' were not provided, as discussed below."

In addition, Respondent argues that he was not afforded: (1) an announced observation; (2) three formal observations as a teacher on a CAP; and (3) a mid-year or annual evaluation conference.

In 2021-2022, Respondent received two observations, one of which had to be announced. Hill's observation (D. Ex. #7) does not indicate whether or not it was announced. Pared testified that she did not know, and VP Hill did not testify. Similarly, Pared's own observation (D. Ex. #8) is unclear on this point.

Teachers on a CAP are entitled to three observations per year. Montague had only two formal observations. The Respondent contends that Montague's absence from the beginning of January 2022 to the end of the school year neither excused the failure to provide a third observation, the mid-year conference or an annual evaluation conference. Since he was using his sick leave and/or was on an approved leave of absence, he should not be penalized. "By the time Montague is advised that his extension request is denied, it is well past the time for a mid-year evaluation or third observation. Rather than charge Montague with "inefficiency" while absence, Respondent argues that his increment could have been withheld.

Finally, in addition to the defenses of Retaliation and Procedural violations, Respondent argues that even in the absence of anti-Union animus, procedural violations, including the CAP deficiencies, "the conduct of the observation and evaluation process was otherwise arbitrary and capricious, such that it materially affected the outcome of Montague's evaluation. Evidence of Principal Pared's conduct deemed illustrative of the arbitrary and capricious behavior are as follows: (1) undermining Montague's 2020-2021 performance evaluation by citing false uncorroborated, or irrational justification in the over-the-year indicators; (2) removing Montague from his teaching cohort; (3) changing his lunch period; (4) imposing unlawful SGOs; implement a patently defective CAP; (5) denying Montague CAP assistance by cancelling the CAP coaching cycle;

(6) retaliating against his co-worker Ferrara; (7) removing his direct supervisor to avoid her evaluating him; (8) preparing tenure charges against him prior to his mid-year evaluation; (9) conducting a mid-year evaluation in the absence of a conference while his is on District approved FMLA leave; (10) conducting an annual evaluation in the absence of a conference; and (11) evaluating Montague in the absence of three required formal observations. "The foregoing is only a sampling of the arbitrary and capricious nature of Montague's evaluation process during the two-years at issue in this case, and is enough, putting even all other considerations aside, to have materially affected the outcome of his evaluations such that the instant tenure charges should be dismissed."

DISCUSSION

I. Union Animus

The Arbitrator is persuaded by a preponderance of the credible evidence that the administration of the Raphael Hernandez School, particularly Principal Pared, engaged in anti-Union discriminatory conduct prohibited by the State and Federal law. In the Arbitrator's opinion, "the charges would not have been brought but for considerations of...Union activity, discrimination as prohibited by State or federal law."

There is preponderant evidence which establishes that Principal Pared from the outset was hostile to the election of Respondent as building representative commencing with the 2020-2021 school year and continuing until efficiency charges were filed against him on July 29, 2022.

Considering the testimony of Montague and other witnesses at the hearing, supported by documentary evidence, the Arbitrator finds that Principal Pared interfered with the protected right of staff at RHS to select the building representative without coercion or intimidation. The evidence reveals that Pared displayed her anti-Union animus by initially insisting that the building representative be elected rather than appointed as had been the Union's practice, and that the former building representative, Herman Gonazlez, remain on the ballot when he had offered to step down. Whereas the staff perceived that Gonzalez had not been effective as Union building representative, Montague had been outspoken and critical of the principal and the school environment.

Early in Montague's role as building representative, Pared's demanded that she be given the times and dates of Union meetings, contrary to the Union's position that the NTU contract provision did not mandate that such information be given but rather a courtesy. Respondent construed the request as Pared's continued her interference with Union business.

In the Arbitrator's interpretation of Section 5, Union Meetings in the NTU contract, which states that while principals are required to cooperate with the Union "to facilitate the holding of such meetings despite relatively short notice and shall not schedule any activity or program which will interfere with the conduct of said Union meetings, except in cases of emergency" he finds that there is no explicit language requiring the Union to provide advance notice of all of its meetings for a school year. While it is clearly in the interests of both parties to reconcile the schedule of Union meetings with other activities the principal may have scheduled in advance of notice from the Union, there is no mandatory requirement such as that sought by Principal Pared from Respondent.

Further evidence of anti-Union animus was Principal Pared's comment to staff that she "listened in" or "knew" what was going on in Union meetings. During a period where Union meetings were held virtually due to the restrictions imposed by the pandemic, Principal Pared's comments had the effect of intimidating Union members, undermining the Union and Montague, and chilling free expression by staff on matters of concern.

The Respondent reasonably relied on the testimony of Ms. Jessica Carnemolla, a literary coach, who resigned citing the toxic environment. She recalled that Pared had complimented her on a correction she had made concerning coaches at a Union meeting. (Tr. @ 1049). Similarly, Ms. Crowe recalled that Pared "said she heard some things were going on in our Union meeting." Vangela Crowe's contract was not renewed. The Arbitrator concurs with Respondent that irrespective of whether Pared actually listened in on Union meetings, which she denied, the statements alone would constitute interference with Union activity.

There is clear and convincing evidence that Principal Pared maximized her anti-union animus during an April 28, 2021 faculty meeting. In the audio and video recording of the meeting, Pared can be heard telling faculty that certain communications to the Union would result in negative consequences such as exclusion from the "family" or the "community." The so-called "chain of command" meeting was an overt attempt by Pared to restrict staff communication with Montague on subjects she deemed improper that were in fact related to their conditions of employment. In asking, "Why do we need an intermediary?" Pared was engaged in blatant anti-union behavior.

In addition, during the April 28th meeting, Pared singled out Montague, Ferrara and Crowe for discipline by having other faculty take their students on mask breaks for the remainder of the school year. Ferrara and Crowe had been speaking to Montague when their deviation from the mask break protocol, namely, conversing with Montague outside of their designated areas, had occurred.

The 2020-2021 school year, insofar as Union activity was concerned, culminated with a group visit to the central administration and a meeting with Joanne Watson of Labor Relations. Montague, Ferrara and Crowe traveled to "765 Broad Street," Newark Board of Education, to complain about the Pared administration.

There is evidence that Principal Pared retaliated against Montague and Ferrara for their Union activity and criticism at the commencement of the 2021-2022 school year. Montague's 6th and 7th grade cohort, with Ferrara teaching E.L.A. and Dixon teaching science, was changed without explanation. While the principal undoubtedly had the discretion to make administrative changes she deemed conducive to the goals and objectives of the school, these changes, which affected only those Union members who were also the most critical of the administration, were suspect. Notice of the changes was conveyed in mid-June shortly after the Watson meeting. It is noteworthy that at this juncture, Respondent had been rated "partially effective" for the 2020-2021 school year and would be placed on a CAP for 2021-2022.

Additional changes for 2021-2022 included a change in Montague's lunch period. Significantly, immediately after the January 5, 2022 Climate and Culture Meeting, Montaque's immediate supervisor was changed from VP Hill to VP Bird, effective January 6, 2022. It is noteworthy that VP Hill had rated Montague effective for each of the lessons she had observed in 2020-2021 and 2021-2022.

Notwithstanding the recollection of the participants at the Climate and Culture Meeting that Pared offered an "apology" to the staff, Montague, Ferrara and others had reiterated their concerns regarding what they perceived to be a continuing "retaliatory environment." VP Bird's adversarial "us v. you" comment reinforced this perspective.

There is also some evidence that Pared's distribution of a mug shot of Montague obtained from the Essex County jail following his "false arrest" (with charges ultimately dismissed) was designed to undermine his status at the school.

Clearly, the administration of Principal Pared was replete anti-Union animus or bias and, but for this factor, it is not probable that the tenure charges against the Respondent would have been brought. However, the TEACHNJ statute does not consider the presence of anti-union animus dispositive of a tenure charge of inefficiency. It requires a further determination by the arbitrator that this fact "materially affected the outcome of the evaluation."

II. Alleged Material Effects on the Outcome of the Respondent's Evaluation

Given the statutory criteria to be considered by the Arbitrator includes: "(1) The employee's evaluation failure to adhere substantially to the evaluation process, including, but not limited to providing a corrective action plan," the Respondent claims the following procedural violations materially affected the outcome of his evaluation:

(1) the absence of a legally valid CAP;

(2) the absence of and, in fact, undermining of any assistance to Montague as a teacher on a CAP;

(3) the absence of an "announced" observation or three required formal observations;

(4) the lack of both a mid-year and summative evaluation conference.

The Respondent claims that his CAP was invalid, inter alia, because the Student Growth Objectives ("SGOs") in his CAP were imposed on him. He disputes the Goal 1 terminology that "[b]y April 2022, 9 of the 18 7th grade students would demonstrate mastery of 7th grade level standards by achieving a score of 75% mastery or above." A similar metric is cited for the 6th grade. The District notes that "the Growth Areas included Action Steps, Metrics & Processes and as part of Growth Area #4 that 'lesson plans will be submitting according to the schedule and the teacher will be ready at the start of the class.'" (D. Ex. #6).

Respondent takes issue that the students to be assessed are not identity, "they do not attempt to measure 'growth,' but rather 'mastery' and there are no beginning points from which growth could even be measured."

The Arbitrator disagrees. Clearly, the students are identified as those students in Respondent's 6th and 7th grade classes, 50% of which (9 out of 18) are to achieve mastery defined as a score of 75% or above using the Math End of Year Assessment. And the timeframe for the "Growth" measurement is from the beginning of the school year until April 2022.

More importantly, the evidence established that Respondent in a collaborative process sat down with Vice Principal Hill and agreed on the SGOs. (D. Ex. #6). The record indicates that Montague viewed his CAP on November 1, 2021 after it was created on September 9, 2021 and therefore had an opportunity to revise it. Respondent testified that he and VP Hill were involved in creating his CAP. Inasmuch as Respondent testified that VP Hill treated him fairly and considered her removal as his supervisor indicative of Principal Pared's retaliatory intent, the Arbitrator is reluctant to credit Respondent's argument, without proof, that his CAP SGOs were imposed on him.

The Respondent's second claim is that his CAP contains no valid action steps. According to Respondent, his CAP lacked "demonstrable goals for improvement, responsibilities of the evaluated employees, timelines for meeting the goals and corrective action and professional learning activities to improve the staff member's performance." Here again, the Arbitrator finds that the Action Steps for Growth Areas Nos. 1-4 were collaboratively prepared by VP Hill and Respondent with no evidence that they were unilaterally imposed on him by his supervisor.

Respondent's third claim is that he was denied adequate coaching assistance required for a teacher on a CAP. Although Montague acknowledged that a coaching cycle was set up with Gloria Bishop, Math Coach, "to provide me with some assistance because I was a teacher on a CAP," he testified that Principal Pared cancelled the coaching cycle in October/November 2021. (Tr. @ 1504). Referring to RHS topics and Support Person Schedule for 2021-2022, Respondent described the several PLC entries as "nothing unique or specific to anything to assist me. That's assistance for all teachers." (Tr. @ 1506). Other than the November 1, 2021 meeting on the topic of Binder Expectations, Respondent argues that he was provided "zero individualized supports or any individualized Action Steps" to improve his teaching practice.

The Arbitrator is persuaded that the District failed to adhere substantially to the evaluation process, primarily because Respondent was not provided with an adequate corrective action plan.

The Respondent's observations for 2020-2021 began with Principal Pared's first classroom observation on November 10, 2021 where Montague was overall rated a "effective." Pared rated Respondent "partially effective" with respect to "Tailored Instruction," and gave him suggestions on how he could improve Indicator 2b – Lesson Components.

For his second observation, conducted by VP Hill on March 29, 2021, Respondent was rated overall "effective." However, he was rated "partially effective" for Lesson Sequence because VP Hill wrote that his lesson "did not effectively demonstrate that the lesson was an individual standards-aligned lesson built on previous lessons and on students' prior knowledge. " In his 2020-2021 Summative Annual Evaluation" he was overall rated "partially effective." He was rated "partially effective" for Competency 1 "Lesson Design and Focus,"

"partially effective" for Lesson Sequence, Indicator (1a) and "ineffective" for Coherent Planning, Indicator (1e); "partially effective" in Competency 2, Rigor and Inclusiveness; "partially effective" for Competency 3, Culture of Achievement; "partially effective" for Competency 4; Student Progress Toward Mastery; "Significantly Below Expectations" for Commitment to Personal and Collective Excellence.

Clearly, placement of the Respondent on a CAP for the 2021-2022 school year was designed to address these ongoing deficiencies predominately focused on lesson design, lesson planning, lesson sequence and tailored instruction.

Despite the focus in the CAP on Growth Areas that encompassed Indicator 1a – Lesson Sequence, with Respondent agreeing that "lesson plans will be submitted according to the schedule and the teacher will be ready at the start of the class," Respondent claims that during the 2021-2022 school year his coaching support was abruptly cancelled by Principal Pared.

Respondent recalled the process as follows:

Q. Are those things unique to you on a CAP?
A. No.
Q. What do you mean by that?
A. Every teacher gets informal and formal classroom observations. Every teacher is supposed to get coaching from administrators, and we certainly did from our actual coaches, the math coach and the literacy coach, and everyone gets lesson plan feedback.
Q. Did you get any unique assistance or support while on the CAP?
A. No, I did not.
Q. Where would that have come from?
A. It would have to be something that was set up by the administrative team.
Q. Administrative team being who?
A. Principal Pared and the vice principals of which we had three at the time.
Q. To your knowledge, was anything set up?

A. Initially, yes. Correction. There was something initially set up that was supposed to be additional support for us – or for myself, I should say, specifically as on a CAP.
Q. And what was that?
A. It was an additional coaching cycle with math coach Gloria Bishop.
Q. And what happened with that coaching cycle?
A. We had two coaching cycle meetings. The first one was basically introductory. I have a very positive relationship with match coach Gloria Bishop, and she basically came in and said she was scheduled to start meeting with me to provide me with some assistance because I was a teacher on a CAP. So, the first meeting was kind of introductory.

And then we had a second meeting where we specifically went over the format to create binders, and that was the end of the coaching cycle.
Q. Did you know what happened to the coaching cycle?
A. It was cancelled by Principal Pared.
Q. And did you receive any specific CAP assistance from Mrs. Bishop following that?
A. No, none.
Q. And do you recall when that last meeting was, approximately?
A. It had to be some time October/November, somewhere along those lines...
Q. And so there's a series of entries in here, some of them refer to – on the right-hand column, support person. I think there's a topic and on the left hand side there's a date, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And you see the references to Gloria Bishop?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. You now, I think the first one starts at October 13, 2021.
A. I see it.
Q. And then they run through – just with respect to her, January 12, 2022.
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay, Do any of those entries to your knowledge, reflect specific individualized support for you on your Corrective Action Plan?
A. Absolutely not.
Q. What's your understanding of what the entries are?
A. The majority of these are PLCs. I noticed a lot of them it's PLCs. That's our Professional Learning Community. That's where all the teachers meet. So there's nothing unique or specific to anything to assist me. That's assistance for all teachers.

And then several of the dates appear to be nothing more than her regularly scheduled visits to my classroom. As a math coach, that's part of her professional responsibility. She visits classrooms.

Q. And, in fact, do any of these – just looking at that page here, can you identify the meeting that you had had, the CAP support meeting you had had on here? And the dates are on the left-hand column, and the subject matter is in the middle.

A. the 11/1 meeting is definitely an individual support meeting.

Q. And how do you know that?

A. Because that's the Binder Expectations, and we did discuss binders individually. So, I'm assuming – I don't actually remember if these dates correspond to what actually took place, but I do definitely know that the binder-expectation meeting was myself and Ms. Bishop and one other individual... (Tr. @ 1502-1507).

The testimony of Gloria Bishop, Math Coach, corroborates the Respondent's recollection of his CAP support. Referring to the RHS Teacher Support Schedule for 2021-2022, Bishop testified that the October 25, 2021, Planning for the Next Lesson; November 1, 2021, Binder Expectations; and the November 22, 2021 Conference were the only three sessions that were individualized for Respondent. Although she was originally scheduled to meet with Montague during an additional preparation period – "at a designated time other than his prep...for me to meet with him individually for the coaching cycle," "it was discontinued." (Tr. @ 984). Bishop distinguished the In-Class Support entries on the schedule as "something I would do with all the teachers. I come into their classrooms. I would team teach. I would observe the lesson and provide feedback." (Tr. @ 982).

Bishop further distinguished from the one-on-one CAP coaching, the In-Class Support she provided Montague in his classroom on November 17, 2021, January 3, 2022, January 4, 2022 (virtual), January 5, 2022 and January 6, 2022 (virtual).

Similarly, she described the PLCs, Planning for Small Group, as group meetings where the "math teachers of the school met to collaborate and train on teaching strategies, planning, etc."

Bishop testified, on redirect examination, that following the October 25, 2021 meeting where expectations for the coaching during the CAP were discussed and after the November 1, 2021 Binder meeting, "I didn't have any additional prep to coach him. All the other coachings were the coaching cycle I would give a normal teacher." (Tr. @ 1005).

Principal Pared acknowledged that she cancelled the coaching cycle, which was tantamount to Respondent having a sixth prep or an extra prep because Respondent was only entitled to have five (5) preparation periods. (Tr. @ 450-451). Shortly before the cancellation of the coaching cycle, VP Hill, following her November 10, 2021 formal observation of Montague, had rated the overall lesson "effective" and noted as "effective" progress toward two of the three professional learning goals planned at the start of the year, with (1a) Lesson Sequence rated as "partially effective." (D. Ex. #8).

Subsequently, on January 6, 2022, VP Bird replaced VP Hill as Respondent's supervisor, and VP Bird conducted his mid-year evaluation on January 12, 2022 rating him "partially effective," in reliance on the VP Hill "effective" observation of November 10, 2021 and Principal Pared's "partially effective" rating on December 16,2021. It is noteworthy that for the 2021-2022 school year VP Hill herself was rated "partially effective" by Principal Pared for, inter alia, "not providing ample lesson plan feedback to Montague."

Given the absence of Montague from approximately January 25, 2022 until the end of the school year, Respondent's observations and CAP support, if any, ceased. VP Bird, for her part, had no role in Respondent's CAP development. VP Bird issued Respondent's Mid-Year Review on January 12, 2021, but due to Montague's sick leave absence on January 10th, 11th, 12th and 13th, 2022 and a personal leave day on January 18th, she did not conduct a Mid-Year Review Conference which the Framework "required for teachers on a Corrective Action Plan."

In preparing the Mid-Year Review, "the administrator considers evidence gathered through formal and informal observations completed to date, evidence of over-time indicators, and evidence of progress toward learning goals. Based on this evidence, the administrator assigns a performance level to all five Competencies, focusing on Competencies that are most critical in order for the teacher to meet his/her goals." In focusing on Respondent's lesson plan deficiencies, VP Bird did not confer with VP Hill who jointly designed the CAP with Montague.

With Respondent unavailable after January 22, 2022, the remaining evaluation claims of Respondent need not be addressed. Neither a third observation for a teacher on a CAP nor whether he was entitled to an announced observation, absent evidence that either of his first two observations were announced, can be considered. Although Respondent's FMLA leaves of absence requests were retroactively approved by the District initially to March 2, 2022 (for the period January 25, to March 1, 2022) and subsequently to April 22, 2022 (for the period March 2, 2022 to April 22, 2022), his third request for an extension was denied. From the documentary record, the Arbitrator concludes that from April 25, 2022 to the end of the school year, Respondent was not on any approved leave of absence.

In the Arbitrator's opinion, but for the deficiencies in the District's administration of Respondent's CAP, there would be preponderant evidence in support of an inefficiency tenure charge. While the District adduced convincing evidence that Respondent was ineffective or partially effective over a two-year period with respect to competencies and indicators related to lesson planning, lesson sequence, lesson design and focus, tailored instruction and coherent planning, and Respondent had been put on notice of this deficiency as early as his first 2020-2021 observation, rated "effective" by Principal Pared, that he needed to tailor instruction to move students toward mastery, Respondent made minimal progress.

In his second 2020-2021 observation, VP Hill wrote that Montague needed to connect the lesson to previous learning objectives. This pattern continued during the 2021-2022 school year when Respondent displayed difficulty demonstrating learning by using data, lesson sequencing and coherent planning.

Overarching the Respondent's performance over the two years was his failure to submit written lesson plans. Although unequivocally required by the District every two weeks in his Google folder, for the 2020-2021 school year, Montague submitted only set of plans for the first week of school. For the 2021-2022 school year, he only submitted copies of the curriculum.

The testimony of the Principal that there was absolutely no proof that Respondent had submitted his lesson plans is credited by the Arbitrator. On the other hand, the false testimony of Ms. Montiero that she uploaded lesson plans for Montague's 6th grade class to his folder that she had shared with Respondent is discredited. Despite several memos to Respondent charging him with Neglect of Duty and Insubordination for "failure to submit lesson plans" as of his Mid-Year Evaluation dated February 22, 2022, Respondent's Lesson Plan deficiency was unabated.

Clearly, the Respondent's CAP for 2021-2022 provided him with one last chance to correct this deficiency, comport his performance with the expectations of the District, and avoid the instant charge of inefficiency. However, the District's failure to substantially adhere to the evaluation process by denying Respondent the opportunity to receive individualized Match coaching, lesson plan design and training pursuant to his CAP growth areas, action steps and goals, exacerbated by a pervasive environment of anti-Union animus, persuades the Arbitrator to dismiss the instant tenure charge.

The decision of Principal Pared to change Respondent's immediate supervisor from VP Hill to VP Bird, deprived him of the opportunity to work with the administrator with whom he had collaborated on the design and ongoing implementation of his CAP growth areas, action steps and goals. Principal Pared compounded the deprivation of Montague's CAP support by cancelling his Math coaching cycle. Without the assistance of Math Coach Bishop, many of the instructional deficiencies identified in Respondent's classroom observations, particularly lesson planning and lesson sequencing, could not be addressed.

Together, these decisions had the effect of denying Montague the requisite CAP support mandated under the Framework. Given convincing evidence that Respondent was denied an adequate Corrective Action Plan, the Arbitrator finds that Respondent has established a valid statutory defense to the tenure charge of inefficiency as set forth in TEACHNJ.

In finding that the charges would not have been brought but for considerations of Union activity, the Arbitrator further finds that this fact materially affected the outcome of his evaluation in that Respondent was not provided with an adequate Corrective Action Plan consistent with the Framework for Effective Teaching. Accordingly, the instant tenure charge is dismissed.

ARBITRATOR APPROVAL

The Newark Board of Education (Petitioner) filed Sworn Tenure Charges against tenured social worker Tonyette Jackson (Respondent) in accordance with N.J.S.A. § 18A:6-11, and served them on Respondent with notice of opportunity to submit evidence and argument inopposition. Thereafter, the Commissioner of Education, following review of the Charges and Respondent's answer, found the Charges were sufficient for referral to an arbitrator. On September 8, 2023, the Office of Controversies and Disputes appointed me as the arbitrator to hear and decide this tenure dispute. Pursuant to a September 18 status conference with the parties, we agreed on hearing dates of October 23 and November 1–2. On October 19, I agreed, upon the parties' request, to postpone the October 23 hearing session pending settlement discussions, on the condition that the sessions on November 1 & 2 (and, if needed, November 3) would remain in place. On or about October 26, I agreed to postpone the remaining hearing sessions based on the parties' assurance that settlement was imminent. On November 3, the parties notified me of their settlement of the case pending final signing. On November 27, after intervening communications about the formal arrangements for the Board's approval, the parties submitted the finally executed settlement agreement along with a separate recitation of compliance with the Cardonick standards.

After a careful review of the Agreement, I hereby conclude that it satisfies the statutory requirements for withdrawal and settlement of tenure charges, as set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-5.6 based on the following findings:

1. The Petitioner specified the charges of inefficiency based on partially ineffective ratings for two consecutive years and provided them to the Respondent with the requisite accompanying documentation. The preamble of the Agreement confirmed the nature of the charges.

2. The preamble of the Agreement also explains that settlement is in the best interest of the parties and the public because it avoids an uncertain conclusion after protracted and costly proceedings. This conclusion is particularly applicable in this case because the Respondent submitted a prehearing brief that raised the issue of whether the restricted standard of review for tenured teachers in inefficiency cases under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.2 applies to tenure social workers. Settlement of the alleged inefficiency with Respondent's resignation and use of unused sick days for two months of back pay allows the Petitioner to save the added costs of resolving this complicated issue.

3. The remaining provisions of the Agreement amply confirm the full consent of both parties.

4. These remaining provisions also show that the charged party signed with full understanding of her rights after a detailed discussion with her counsel.

5. The Agreement is in the public interest by saving the notable transaction costs of the detailed statutory proceedings and any further employment with the Petitioner. This conclusion is reinforced by the nature of the charges, which amounted to inefficiency based on partially ineffective ratings rather than illegal or other unbecoming conduct and for which N.J.S.A. 18A:6-17.3 permits, but does not require, bringing tenure charges.

6. As set forth in her Certification that is part of the Agreement, Respondent understands that the Commissioner of Education has the duty to refer these charges to the State Board of Examiners for possible suspension or revocation of certification as it deems appropriate and when such referral is warranted by the nature of the tenure charges.

Thus, I approve the attached Agreement in full resolution of Agency Docket No. 233-8/23.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF NEWARK	:

This Settlement Agreement ("Agreement") is made by and between the Newark Board of Education ("Board"), with an address at 765 Broad Street, Newark, New Jersey 07102, and Tonyette Jackson ("Jackson"), residing at 521 Pemberton Avenue, Plainfield, New Jersey 07060 (collectively, the "Parties").

WHEREAS, Jackson is a tenured teaching staff member employed by the Board;

WHEREAS, on or about August 24, 2023, the Board certified a tenure charge of inefficiency against Jackson;

WHEREAS, upon certification of such charge, Jackson was suspended without pay from her employment with the Board for a period of 120 days;

WHEREAS, the Parties wish to resolve this matter in accordance with the terms set forth herein rather than proceed with arbitration;

WHEREAS, the settlement set forth herein is in the best interest of the Parties and the public because it avoids an uncertain conclusion after protracted and costly proceedings at the expense of the public;

NOW, THEREFORE, the Parties hereby agree as follows:

1. Jackson hereby agrees to voluntarily resign from her tenured position effective October 30, 2023. Attached is a copy of Jackson's signed Letter of Resignation. (Exhibit A). Jackson's separation from employment will be deemed a voluntary resignation in good standing. Other than as required by law, upon inquiry from any third parties, the Board will only confirm Jackson's employment, position, title, salary, and dates of employment.

2. Jackson also agrees to withdraw with prejudice any and all claims or suits that she may have previously filed against the Board that are still pending in any and all courts and/or before any and all agencies with the exception of workers compensation claims. This Settlement is intended to be the final resolution of all outstanding matters between the Board and Jackson. Should Jackson fail to submit letters of withdrawal for any such pending claims or suits, this Settlement Agreement will serve as Jackson's formal written notice of withdrawal of those pending claims or suits, except for workers' compensation claims.

3. In exchange, the Board will allow Jackson to utilize and exhaust the unused days in her bank to receive salary from September 1, 2023 until her date of resignation effective October 30, 2023. Any salary paid as part of this settlement agreement will be minus all standard salary and tax deductions, including pension contributions, and will be paid to Jackson within ten (10) school days after approval and execution of this Agreement by the Board. Other than the salary that Jackson receives until the date of her resignation, Jackson will not receive any other monies or emoluments from the Board in exchange for this Agreement.

4. The Board also agrees not to pursue the tenure charge of inefficiency against Jackson, which could result in the termination of Jackson's employment, so long as this Agreement remains in effect and is not voided by any court or administrative agency of competent jurisdiction. However, if the Agreement is voided, the Board retains the right to refile and pursue the tenure charge of inefficiency against Jackson.

5. As of the effective date of her resignation, all of Jackson's employment rights, including but not limited to salary, insurance coverage, tenure and seniority, will permanently end.

6. Jackson agrees that she will not apply for reemployment with the Board at any time. Specifically, Jackson will be considered to have permanently resigned from her tenured position as a result of this Agreement. If Jackson does apply for reemployment with the Board and is approved for employment in any capacity, the terms of this Agreement shall control and be grounds for immediate termination of Jackson's employment.

7. This Agreement shall not constitute a precedent in any matters involving other employees.

8. Except as noted above, Jackson waives all claims of any nature against the Board with regard to her employment with and/or her separation from the District, including fees, or other monetary relief, with the exception of workers' compensation claims.

9. By entering into this Agreement, and in exchange for good consideration as set forth in Paragraph 3 and 4 above, the sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged by the parties, Jackson releases and discharges the Board, the Board Superintendent, its Board of Education and its Board members, and any and all other Board officers, employees, representatives, agents, successors and assigns (collectively, the "Released Parties") with respect to all claims or rights that she has or may have against the Board regarding her employment with the District. This includes without limitation, any and all actions, claims, and liabilities of whatsoever kind or character, in law or in equity, now known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, directly or indirectly related to Jackson's employment with the Board and separation from the Board except for workers compensation claims. It specifically includes, without limitation, all claims which Jackson may have regarding tenure, withholding of increment, discrimination on any basis, any federal or state civil rights law, any alleged violation of the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, as amended; the Older Worker Benefits Protection Act; Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended; Sections 1981 through 1988 of Title 42 of the United States Code; the Civil Rights Act of 1991; the Equal Pay Act; the Americans with Disabilities Act; the Rehabilitation Act; the Family and Medical Leave Act; the Fair Labor Standards Act; the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended; the Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act; the National Labor Relations Act; the Fair Credit Reporting Act; the Occupational Safety and Health Act; the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Act; the Employee Polygraph Protection Act; the Immigration Reform Control Act; the retaliation provisions of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002; the Federal False Claims Act; the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination; the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act; the New Jersey Family Leave Act; the New Jersey Wage and Hour Law; the New Jersey Equal Pay Law; the New Jersey Occupational Safety and Health Law; the New Jersey Smokers' Rights Law; the New Jersey Genetic Privacy Act; the New Jersey Fair Credit Reporting Act; New Jersey Wages and Hours Law, unemployment compensations laws, disability benefits laws, the retaliation provisions of the New Jersey Workers' Compensation Law (and including any and all amendments to the above), the United States Constitution, the New Jersey Constitution and/or any other alleged violation of any federal, state or local law, regulation or ordinance, common law and/or contract or implied contract or collective bargaining/ contractual claim or tort law or public policy or whistleblower claim, having any bearing whatsoever on her employment by and the termination of her employment with the District, including, but not limited to, any claim for wrongful discharge, back pay, front pay, vacation pay, sick pay, wage, commission or bonus payment, attorneys fees, costs, and/or future wage loss, except for workers compensation claims. Jackson agrees to save, hold harmless and indemnify the Released Parties for any legal costs and attorneys' fees associated with the enforcement of the terms of this Agreement should enforcement become necessary.

10. Notwithstanding Paragraph 9 of this Agreement, it is understood and agreed that the parties are not prohibited from communicating with or participating in any administrative proceeding before the United States Department of Labor, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, or any other federal, state or local law agency. Should any entity, agency, commission or person file a charge, action, complaint or lawsuit against the Board based upon any of the above-released claims in Paragraph 9, Jackson agrees not to seek or accept any resulting relief whatsoever.

11. To comply with the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act of 1990, if applicable, this Agreement advises Jackson of the legal requirements of the Act, and fully incorporates the legal requirements by reference into this Agreement. consider this Agreement; and (v) has seven (7) days from the date of the execution of this Agreement to revoke it. Jackson understands that she may rescind this Agreement within seven (7) calendar days of signing it, and such rescission must be in writing and delivered to counsel for the Board either by hand or by certified mail within the seven-day period.

12. The parties respectively acknowledge that counsel has advised them regarding this Agreement and that each is signing this Agreement freely and voluntarily, without duress, coercion or pressure from the other party.

13. This Agreement constitutes the full agreement between the parties and shall be construed and enforced in accordance with New Jersey law.

14. If any provision or portion of a provision of this Agreement is held by a court of competent jurisdiction, or determined under applicable federal or state law, to be invalid, void, or unenforceable, the remaining provisions or remaining portions of a provision will continue and remain in full force and effect.

15. This Agreement is subject to final approval by the Board and will only become effective upon the approval of the Board. Any disapproval by the Board shall not interfere with the rights of either party to pursue the matter further.

Final Decision

D.M., on behalf of minor child, C.M.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Hamilton, Mercer County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Petitioner appealed the determination of the respondent Board suspending his daughter, C.M., for possession and distribution of THC edibles in violation of the school district's Code of Conduct. This case involves an incident that occurred in January 2022 wherein C.M. and another student, L.P., reportedly purchased a "Rice Krispie Treat edible with THC" from an unknown man off school grounds; the following day, C.M. was reported to have eaten a piece of the edible treat in the gymnasium of her middle school; C.M. claimed, inter alia, that L.P. "forced" her to eat the treat and distribute it to other students at lunch; afterwards, C.M. became ill and went to the nurse's office; C.M. maintained that she did not know what was in the treat and voluntarily took a drug test arranged by her parent four days after the incident, which was negative for cannabis. The Board contended that C.M.'s actions warranted the maximum code of conduct penalty for possession and distribution of a controlled dangerous substance, and that her one month suspension from school was appropriate. The parties filed cross motions for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue in this case, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; it was reasonable to infer that C.M. did not believe she purchased an ordinary Rice Krispies treat from the man behind the Dollar Tree Store; the Board conceded that neither the school nor the Board was able to determine what dangerous substance, if any, the edible treat contained; the Board acknowledged that that C.M. did not know what was in the Rice Krispies treat; there was no knowledge or proof in this case that a controlled dangerous substance was in the edible as none of it was recovered or tested; the absence of substantial, credible evidence in this case renders the Board's suspension decision unreasonable. The ALJ concluded that the respondent acted in an arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable manner in suspending C.M. for possession and distribution of THC edibles. Accordingly, petitioner's motion for summary decision was granted; petitioner is entitled to expungement and removal of disciplinary action related to this matter from C.M.'s school records.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusions, and adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. Respondent was directed to expunge the disciplinary action taken against C.M. from her student records.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader and has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

Final Decision

D.M., on behalf of minor child, C.M.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Hamilton, Mercer County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the exceptions filed by the respondent Board of Education pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, as well as petitioner's reply thereto, have been reviewed and considered.

This matter involves petitioner's appeal of the Board's decision to suspend C.M. for "possession and distribution of an illegal substance," described in the record as a "Rice Krispie Treat edible with THC" or simply an "edible," on January 19, 2022.[1] N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2(j) – incorporated into District Policy 5600, upon which the Board relies – provides that conduct constituting good cause for suspension includes "[k]nowing possession or knowing consumption without legal authority of . . . controlled dangerous substances on school premises."

[1] According to the petition, C.M. was suspended from school for a period of one month, which constitutes a long-term suspension. See N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a) (explaining that long-term suspensions occur when students are suspended for more than ten consecutive school days).

Following a physical altercation at school during which C.M. was attacked by another student, L.P., C.M. disclosed that several days earlier, she and L.P. had purchased a Rice Krispie treat edible from an unknown male off school grounds. C.M. said that L.P. "forced" her to eat the treat and distribute it to other students. She felt "weird" after eating it, became ill, and went to the nurse's office. L.P. claimed that C.M. brought the treat to school and ate it willingly. Video footage showed the students sitting together at lunch without evidence of any conflict or struggle. C.M. later accused L.P. of putting something in the treat that made her sick and getting her in trouble, which led to the physical altercation. C.M. maintained that she did not know what was in the treat. C.M. voluntarily took a drug test arranged by her parent four days after the incident which yielded a negative result for cannabis.

The school principal informed the Board via letter dated January 24, 2022, that the suspension stemmed from C.M.'s admission that she consumed a "'Rice Krispie Treat edible' with THC" and distributed it to other students while on school grounds. However, during the Board hearing at which she testified, the principal made no mention of THC. When asked how she knew "that there was an illegal substance in the[] edibles," she replied that she knew based upon "the interviewing [she] did with [C.M.]" who told her that she and L.P. "bought an edible." The Board's decision, issued March 1, 2022, concluded that C.M. "believed she was in possession of what she thought to be a dangerous substance" and "distributed same to other students." At the same time, the Board acknowledged that no lab test was performed to "confirm whether the edible was actually laced with a dangerous substance" because the treat was not available for testing.

Once the petition of appeal was transmitted to the OAL, the parties cross-moved for summary decision. After making findings of fact, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) concluded that the Board's decision was arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable as the charge of possession and distribution was unsupported by credible evidence. In her analysis, the ALJ cited the fact that the Board never determined through lab testing what dangerous substance, if any, the treat contained. Furthermore, the ALJ cited the Board's acknowledgment of C.M.'s statement that she did not know what was in the treat. Ultimately, the ALJ found "no knowledge here or proof that a controlled dangerous substance was involved." Initial Decision, at 12. Accordingly, the ALJ granted petitioner's motion for summary decision.

In their exceptions, respondent argues that the ALJ erred because: (1) the Initial Decision misstates the burden of proof and applicable legal standard; (2) C.M. "was not suspended for possessing or distributing THC edibles" but was instead suspended for "consumption and distribution of a controlled dangerous substance"; (3) the discipline was justified based upon C.M.'s belief that the treat was "laced" and her admission that she shared it with other students; (4) the dictionary definition of "edible," which states that it is a food item containing THC, supports the Board's decision because C.M. believed that the treat was an edible; (5) the Initial Decision "ignores the District's obligation to maintain the safe and orderly operation of the schools and to keep students from harm"; and (6) the Initial Decision "creates a dangerous precedent by prohibiting a District from disciplining a student when the student believes they possess contraband, consumes and distributes it to other students, but there is no contraband remaining to have tested by a third party for dangerous substances."

In reply, the petitioner urges the Commissioner to adopt the ALJ's Initial Decision in its entirety. Overall, the petitioner reiterates that the Board's decision to suspend C.M. was patently arbitrary and lacked a rational basis as the record is devoid of evidence to establish that the treat contained THC or any controlled dangerous substances. The petitioner also asserts that the record fails to show that C.M. knowingly possessed and/or distributed THC. Moreover, the petitioner argues that the long-term suspension violated C.M.'s right to a public education and the discipline imposed constituted arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable board action.

Upon review, the Commissioner adopts the ALJ's Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter for the reasons stated therein. The Legislature granted local boards of education sweeping authority to enact rules regarding operation of their public schools. N.J.S.A. 18A:11-1(c), (d); Bd. of Educ. of City of Plainfield v. Cooperman, 105 N.J. 587, 596 (1987). Board action conducted within the ambit of its broad discretionary authority "may not be upset unless patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Kopera v. W. Orange Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960). Board determinations are "entitled to a presumption of correctness and will not be upset unless there is an affirmative showing that such decision was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable." Thomas v. Bd. of Educ. of Twp. of Morris, 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965), aff'd, 46 N.J. 581 (1966). The Commissioner may not substitute her judgment for that of the Board. Schinck v. Bd. of Educ. of Westwood Consol. Sch. Dist., 60 N.J. Super. 448, 476 (App. Div. 1960).

In this case, the petitioner has demonstrated that the long-term suspension imposed upon C.M. by the Board was arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable and lacked a rational basis.

Board decisions pertaining to student discipline resulting in a long-term suspension "shall be based, at a minimum, on the preponderance of competent and credible evidence." N.J.A.C. 6A:16-7.3(a)(10)(iv). As the ALJ correctly concluded, the record does not contain any credible evidence to establish that the treat contained THC or any other controlled dangerous substance. Thus, the record fails to establish that C.M. knowingly possessed or knowingly consumed a controlled dangerous substance on school premises in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2(j) and District Policy 5600.

The Board's exceptions are unavailing. At the outset, the ALJ stated and applied the correct legal standard. Furthermore, the Board's attempt in its exceptions to reframe the suspension as one for "possession and distribution of an illegal substance," and not concerning an edible alleged to have contained THC, is disingenuous. Page 5 of the Board hearing transcript reflects that the Board's own attorney stated that "[t]he charges here are possession and distribution of THC edibles, occurring on January 19, 2022." Additionally, the January 24, 2022, letter from the school principal to the Board describing the code of conduct violation references C.M.'s possession and consumption of a "'Rice Krispie Treat edible' with THC" as the basis for the suspension.

According to the testimony given at the Board hearing, the principal apparently assumed the treat contained THC because C.M. referred to it as an "edible" purchased from an unknown person. However, C.M. maintained that she did not know what the treat contained. Neither she nor anyone else involved ever stated that the treat contained THC, and the treat was never evaluated to determine what, if anything, it contained. Contrary to the Board's contention, the dictionary definition of "edible" fails to support the conclusion that the treat at issue in this case actually contained THC or any other controlled dangerous substance. Neither does C.M.'s belief that L.P. might have put "something" in the treat.

Furthermore, the Commissioner rejects the Board's assertion that the Initial Decision "creates a dangerous precedent" and ignores the Board's obligation to maintain the safe and orderly operation of the schools and protect students. While the Commissioner does not condone C.M.'s actions, the ALJ correctly found and concluded under the applicable legal standard that the Board's disciplinary charges against C.M. were unsupported by credible evidence. The holding in this case is limited to the unique facts described herein and in no way ignores a Board's obligation to maintain the safe and orderly operation of schools and to keep students from harm, nor does it prevent Boards from disciplining students in accordance with applicable law and regulations.

Accordingly, the Board's motion for summary decision is denied, and the petitioner's motion for summary decision is granted. Respondent is directed to expunge the disciplinary action taken against C.M. from her student record.

BEFORE JOAN M. BURKE, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, D.M., appeals the determination of the respondent, the Board of Education for the Township of Hamilton (the "Board"), suspending his daughter C.M. for possession and distribution of THC edibles on January 19, 2022, in violation of District Regulation 5600.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On March 1, 2022, the petitioner was notified of the Board's findings and that C.M. could return to school with a suspension in her discipline record consistent with the code of conduct for possession and distribution. On April 4, 2022, the petitioner filed a timely appeal. On May 16, 2022, the New Jersey State Department of Education, Bureau of Controversies and Disputes, transmitted the matter to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-8.2. On August 15, 2022, notification was received that the petitioner had retained counsel. A status conference was held on October 4, 2022. The parties believed that they could resolve the issue and was given an opportunity to do so. On November 4, 2022, a status conference was held and the petitioner informed the tribunal that he would be filing a motion to compel discovery. A motion schedule to compel discovery was issued. After several requests for extensions to file the motion (January 5, 2023; February 10, 2023; March 14, 2023) by the parties the tribunal was notified on May 3, 2023, that a motion to compel discovery was no longer necessary. On May 11, 2023, pursuant to a telephone conference held with the undersigned and the parties, leave was given to file Cross-Motions for Summary Decision. On June 13, 2023, petitioner filed his Motion for Summary Decision. On June 14, 2023, respondent filed its Motion for Summary Decision. On June 20, 2023, petitioner filed its reply brief, however same was not received by the OAL until July 27, 2023. The record closed then. The Acting Director and Chief Administrative Law Judge granted an extension of time for the Initial Decision on September 11, 2023.

Respondent's Position

This matter involves a disciplinary suspension administered by respondent Hamilton Township School District. (Respondent's Brief at para 1.) The incident that gave rise to the discipline occurred on Wednesday January 19, 2022. C.M., at the time, was an eighth grade student attending the Reynolds Middle School. (Respondent's Brief at Exhibit A.) On January 18, 2022, C.M. and another student[1] walked behind the Dollar Tree Store located at the shopping center at Yardville-Hamilton Square Road and Route 33. (Respondent's Brief at para 3.) A purchase was made of a Rice Krispy treat edible or treat from an unidentified man. (Ibid at para 4.) Both C.M. and the other student blame each other.

On January 19, 2022, CM. was reported to have eaten a piece of the edible treat while in the gymnasium's bleachers. An investigation was conducted by respondent. In the investigation, C.M. stated that another student gave her the "edible and or treat to eat and after she "felt weird" and did not know there was something in it." (Id. at para. 5-6.) At lunch C.M claimed the other student provided her with the edible or treat and "forced" her to eat it and distribute it to other students. Ibid. The other student claimed C.M. brought the edible or treat to school and ate it willingly. (Id. at para. 7-8.) A video was taken of the incident. The video showed that the students were sitting together during lunch, neither appeared to be forced. The video revealed both C.M. and the other student eating the edible and distributing it to other students. (Id. at para 11.) It was not clear which students received the edibles from C.M. and C.M. was not clear or could not remember who she gave the edibles. (Ibid.)

On January 19, 2022, after lunch, C.M. became ill and went to the nurse's office. (Id. at para 13.) Later that evening C.M. texted the other student stating she "got her in trouble" because the other student put something in the Rice Krispy treat she gave her. On January 21, 2023, C.M. and the other student were involved in a fight. The other student claimed that C.M. was spreading rumors that she laced the Rice Krispy treat and was trying to send her to jail. (Id. at para 14.)

The District believing that C.M. possessed the Rice Krispy edible and distributed it to other students, and that it contained an illegal substance, suspended C.M. pending an administrative hearing. (Respondent's Brief at para 16.) An administrative hearing was held by a Board committee on February 15, 2022. The Board was provided with documentary evidence to support the administration's position that C.M. violated the code of conduct. (Respondent's Brief at Exhibit B, Transcript.)

At the hearing, Principal Patricia Landolfi-Collins (Principal Landolfi-Collins) testified on behalf of the Board. (TR at 6:17-14:18) Principal Landolfi-Collins testified that she first learned of the issue in this matter after the fight that broke out on January 21, 2022, when the other student attacked C.M. (TR at 8:2-6). Principal Landolfi-Collins testified that after questioning both girls and other students they found out that the fight stemmed from an incident that occurred on Tuesday, January 18 and Wednesday, January 19, 2022. The girls were behind the Dollar Tree Store on Tuesday, January 18 and purchased edibles from an unidentified man. On Wednesday when they got to school, they went to the gym because that is where eighth graders sit for the morning program. After speaking with both girls, C.M did take part of the edible. At lunchtime C.M. had the baggie of edible and she was being forced by the other student to distribute it to other students. (TR at 8:5-25, TR 9 at 1-2.)

Principal Landolfi-Collins testified that they viewed a video, and it showed both girls sitting together at lunch side-by-side. There was a bag in C.M.'s lap but they were unable to identify exactly what it was. C.M. was not sure how many students she gave the edible to. After lunch that day C.M. got sick, went to the bathroom, vomited. "Later that evening, I think there was some type of dispute or conflict between C.M. and the other student feeling as though, one might have put something in the treat and one was at blame for what happened." (TR at 9:3-23) The parent had a discussion with Principal Landolfi-Collins on February 21, 2022. The parent had reported that "something a little off" with C.M. on Tuesday. (TR at 10:13-14.)

On cross-examination, Principal Landolfi-Collins admitted that the fight that was shown on the video really was not a fight between C.M. and the other student L.M. (TR at 12: 7-19.) C.M. "was submissive and got punched in the head and hair pulled." (TR at 13: 2-3.) Principal Landolfi-Collins admitted that she did not do a drug test and it would only be done "if there was suspicion on the day of." (TR at 13:11-14.)

Principal Landolfi-Collins testified that the edibles were never found. While C.M. is charged with possession and distribution of an illegal substance, Principal Landolfi-Collins testified that she only knew of an illegal substance in the edibles based on her interview with C.M. and the answers C.M. provided. (TR at 13: 21-22.) According to Principal Landolfi-Collins, C.M. could not identify what was in the edibles. In addition, C.M. told Principal Landolfi-Collins that "L.P. probably laced whatever she gave her" because C.M. became sick from it. (TR at 14: 6-17.)

C.M. did not testify at the hearing. However, petitioner presented evidence of a drug screening that was negative for cannabis in her biological system four days after the incident. (Respondent's Brief at 39.) On February 22, 2022, the full Board considered the full recommendation from the Board Committee who presided over the hearing. (Respondent's Brief at para 42.)

On March 1, 2022, the Board sent a letter to D.M. In that letter the Board finds the following:

> that C.M. believed she was in possession of what she thought to be a dangerous substance and distributed same to other students, which warrants a finding of a violation of the code of conduct and suspension. C.M.'s admissions to Ms. Landolfi-Collins were unrebutted and support this finding. The circumstances of how she acquired the edible are highly concerning in that she purchased it from an unidentified man behind a store. If C.M. believed this to be a regular Rice Krispies treat, then the purchase would have been routine in a regular store and the series of events that occurred after would not have occurred. C.M brought the edible to school thereby bringing her conduct that occurred off school grounds > to the school. C.M. admitted to consuming edible on school grounds and to feeling sick after causing her to vomit. C.M. admitted to distributing the edible to other students. Again, if C.M. thought she was handing out a regular store-bought Rice Krispies treat, then all this would have been unremarkable and would not have led to the issue with LP.

> [Respondent's Exhibit C.]

The Board further found "C.M. should return to Reynolds henceforth with a suspension in her discipline record consistent with the code of conduct maximum for possession and distribution and that the administration use its judgment with regard to ensuring C.M.'s safety upon reentry". Ibid. Respondent argues that pursuant to the District Policy 5600-Pupil Discipline/Code of Conduct, "knowing possession or consumption of a controlled dangerous substance as a basis for suspension from school." (Respondent's Brief at para.49.) And that the Board's discipline was appropriate. (Respondent's Brief at para 55.)

Petitioner's Position

Petitioner filed a Motion for Summary Decision and a reply in opposition to Respondent's motion for summary decision in which he seeks reversal of respondent's decision and expungement of the imposed discipline.

Petitioner argues that neither "Respondent's Undisputed Material Facts nor the Transcript indicate that C.M. knowingly possessed and/or distributed THC." (Petitioner's Brief at 1.) In petitioner's "Counterstatement of Facts," it contends at lunchtime on January 19, 2022, "L..P gave her a baggie containing the rest of the Rice Krispie treat 'forced her to eat and distribute it.'" (Petitioner's Brief, June 20, 2023, at 3.) There was no evidence that C.M. was under the influence of a controlled dangerous substance while on school premises and the "Rice Krispie treat was not recovered" by the Board. (Ibid.)

Petitioner states that "the incident report (Exhibit A) indicates that in the evening of January 19, 2022, C.M. texted L.P. and told L.P. she got in trouble because she [LP.] put 'something' in the Rice Krispie treat she gave her. (Petitioner's Brief, June 20, 2023, at 3.) "L.P. was suspended per the code of conduct for five days, and negative drug test.." C.M. was not subjected to drug testing by respondent; however L.P. was subjected to a drug test and received a short-term suspension while C.M. received no drug test but long-term suspension. Ibid. Four days after the incident, C.M. had a voluntary drug test that showed there were no drugs in her system including no cannabis. Ibid.

According to the transcript C.M. was charged with "possession and distribution of THC edibles, occurring on January 19, 2022." (Petitioner's Brief, June 20, 2023, at 3.) According to petitioner, there is no shred of evidence that "CM was in possession of or distributed THC." Ibid. Petitioner argues that C.M. was specifically charged with possession and distribution of a specific controlled dangerous substance "to wit THC." Furthermore, "C.M. was found guilty and disciplined for possessing, consuming, and distributing THC, even though the record is completely devoid of any evidence proving the same." (Id. at 5.)

FINDINGS OF FACT

Based on the undisputed documents presented by the parties, I FIND the following FACTS:

The incident that gave rise to C.M.'s suspension occurred between January 18 and January 19, 2022. See Respondent Exhibit A at 6–7 (incident report). The facts became known to administrators on January 21, 2022, after another student, L.P., assaulted C.M. for allegedly spreading rumors about L.P.'s role in the incident.

At all times relevant, C.M. was a student in the eighth grade at Reynolds Middle School. On January 18, 2022, C.M. and L.P. purchased a Rice Krispies treat, alleged to be an edible infused with THC, from an unidentified man behind the Dollar Tree Store at the Hamilton Square Shopping Center. Ibid. The Dollar Tree is about a half mile from the school. Both students blamed the other for purchasing the treat. Ibid.

On January 19, 2022, C.M. and L.P. came to school and reported to the gym bleachers, where eighth graders sit for the morning program. (TR at. 8:16–19) One of the girls took the Rice Krispies treat out of a bag, and C.M. ate a piece while sitting in the bleachers. See Respondent's Exhibit A. C.M. says that L.P. gave her the rest of the Rice Krispies treat and made her share it with other students at lunch. Ibid. It is not clear to whom, or to how many students, C.M. gave pieces of the Rice Krispies treat. Ibid. See TR at. 9:9–13. Video footage of the girls at lunch did not show any signs of "struggle or anything uncomfortable" between them. (TR at 9:3–9.)

After lunch, C.M. felt sick. She vomited in the lavatory, went to the nurse's office, and texted her dad. She was absent from school the next day, January 20, 2022. Ex. A. Other students told L.P. that C.M. blamed L.P. for putting something in the Rice Krispies treat that made her sick. Ibid. When C.M. returned to school on January 21, 2022, L.P. attacked her from behind. Ibid. Administrators intervened and spoke to C.M., L.P., and other students, gleaning the facts summarized herein. L.P. was suspended for five days for fighting, while C.M. was suspended pending a Board hearing. C.M. had no prior history of discipline or misbehavior.

Administrators searched both girls' lockers and contacted their parents, who came to the school. Officer Tobolski, the school resource officer, was also informed of what happened. Ibid. No edibles or other intoxicating substances were ever recovered. (TR at 13:6–15). Consistent with what C.M. told administrators, testimony from the disciplinary hearing revealed that she did not know what substance, if any, was in the Rice Krispies treat. (TR at 14:2–8.) Indeed, the letter from the Board communicating its discipline decision, dated March 1, 2022, notes "that there was no determination that the rice krispies treat actually contained a dangerous substance by way of lab test."See Respondent's Exhibit C. Four days after the incident, C.M. voluntarily submitted to a drug test, which came back negative, though it is unclear if the type of test she took would have detected illicit substances that long after ingestion.

At the hearing held on February 22, 2022, the charges noted in the transcript are "possession and distribution of THC edibles , occurring on January 19, 2022. (TR at 5:10-12.)

There was no testing done for THC, and no evidence that supports a finding that THC was in the Rice Krispies treat.

ANALYSIS AND LEGAL CONCLUSIONS

The underlying issue in this matter is whether the respondent Hamilton Township School District acted appropriately in suspending C.M. for possession and distribution of THC edibles.

The standard for granting summary judgment (decision) is found in Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Co. of America, 142 N.J. 520 (1995). In Brill, the Court looked at the precedents established in Matsushita Electric Industrial Company v. Zenith Radio Corporation, 475 U.S. 574, 106 S. Ct. 1348, 89 L. Ed. 2d 538 (1986); Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, 477 U.S. 242, 106 S. Ct. 2505, 91 L. Ed. 2d 202 (1986); and Celotex Corporation v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 106 S. Ct. 2548, 91 L. Ed. 2d 265 (1986), wherein the Supreme Court adopted a standard that "requires the motion judge to engage in an analytical process essentially the same as that necessary to rule on a motion for a directed verdict, i.e. 'whether the evidence presents a sufficient disagreement to require submission to a jury or whether it is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law.'" Brill, 142 N.J. at 533 (quoting Liberty Lobby, 477 U.S. at 251-252, 106 S. Ct. at 2512, 91 L. Ed. 2d at 214). The Court stated that under the new standard:

> A determination whether there exists a "genuine issue" of material fact that precludes summary judgment requires the motion judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to permit a rational fact-finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party. The "judge's function is not himself [or herself] to weigh the evidence and determine the truth of the matter but to determine whether there is a genuine issue for trial.

The Brill standard contemplates that the analysis performed by the trial judge in determining whether to grant summary judgment should comprehend the evidentiary standard to be applied to the case or issue if it went to trial. "To send a case to trial, knowing that a rational jury can reach but one conclusion, is indeed worthless and will serve no useful purpose." Id. at 541.

In addressing whether the Brill standard has been met in this case, further guidance is found in R. 4:46-2:

> An issue of fact is genuine only if, considering the burden of persuasion at trial, the evidence submitted by the parties on the motion, together with all legitimate inferences therefrom favoring the non-moving party, would require submission of the issues to the trier of fact.

As the material facts are undisputed, summary decision is appropriate.

Standard of Review and Applicable Law

The Commissioner of Education will not overturn the decision of a local school board in the absence of a finding that the board's decision was arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. T.B.M. v. Moorestown Bd. of Educ., EDU 2780-07, Initial Decision (February 6, 2008) (citing Thomas v. Morris Twp. Bd. of Educ., 89 N.J. Super. 327, 332 (App. Div. 1965), aff'd, 46 N.J. 581(1966)), adopted, Comm'r (April 7, 2008), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/>. Further, the Commissioner will not substitute his judgment for that of the board of education, whose exercise of its discretion may not be disturbed unless shown to be "patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Kopera v. W. Orange Bd. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div. 1960). New Jersey courts have held that "[w]here there is room for two opinions, action is not arbitrary or capricious when exercised honestly and upon due consideration, even though it may be believed that an erroneous conclusion has been reached."

Bayshore Sewage Co. v. Dep't of Envtl. Prot., 122 N.J. Super. 184, 199–200 (Ch. Div. 1973), aff'd, 131 N.J. Super. 37 (App. Div. 1974). Thus, in order to prevail, the petitioner must demonstrate that the Board acted in bad faith, or in utter disregard of the circumstances before it. T.B.M., EDU 2780-07, Initial Decision (February 6, 2008), <http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal>.

N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2 and District Regulation 5600 provide, in pertinent part, that:

> Conduct which shall constitute good cause for suspension or expulsion of a pupil guilty of such conduct shall include, but not be limited to . . .[k]nowing possession or knowing consumption without legal authority of alcoholic beverages or controlled dangerous substances on school premises, or being under the influence of intoxicating liquor or controlled dangerous substances while on school premises.
> [N.J.S.A. 18A:37-2(j); Hamilton Township School District Regulation 5600(C).]

Petitioner argues that the Board's decision was arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable because it was not supported by credible evidence. More specifically, petitioner claims "[t]he District failed to prove by a preponderance of competent and credible evidence that C.M. knowingly possessed, consumed, or distributed a controlled dangerous substance while on school premises." Petitioner also argues that the imposition of a long-term suspension was not narrowly tailored to achieve the school's interests.

Respondent argues that the Board's decision was based on unrefuted, competent, credible evidence. Respondent further avers that "the attempted distribution of a substance the student believes to be contraband must be disciplined." Emphasizing the deference given to the Board of Education's actions, respondent insists that the Board's decision to suspend the student must be upheld as a matter of law. However, in her testimony, Principal Landolfi-Collins was asked how she knew that there was illegal substance in the Rice Krispies. She responded, "Just the interviewing that I did with C.M. and the answers she provided me." (T 13:16-21.) In addition, that C.M. "mentioned that L.P. possibly laced whatever she gave her." while Vice -Principal Hart stated that "[I] don't think that she knew what it was. My recollection is that she didn't know what was in it." See T14: 2-14. Respondent did not perform a test for TCH and did not see the edible. In fact, Principal Landolfi-Collins testified that "[w]e noticed something in C.M.'s lap from the video. We could not identify exactly what it was. At lunch recess we were told that C.M. had handed a piece of it to another student or possibly a few students. We don't have exactly how many students that she gave it to. She was telling us that she was having a hard time remembering." (T 9:7-14.) However, the respondent has determined based on this sketchy evidence that C.M. possessed and distributed THC edibles.

Petitioner has demonstrated that respondent acted in disregard of the circumstances before it, and that its decision was not supported by credible evidence. While it is reasonable to infer that C.M. did not believe she purchased an ordinary Rice Krispies treat from the man behind the Dollar Tree Store, respondent concedes that neither the school nor the Board was able to determine what dangerous substance, if any, the Rice Krispies treat contained. Respondent likewise acknowledges that C.M. did not know what was in the Rice Krispies treat. Contrary to respondent's assertion that C.M.'s mere belief that she possessed contraband is sufficient to justify the suspension, the District Code of Conduct specifically penalizes "[k]nowing possession or knowing consumption without legal authority of . . . controlled dangerous substances on school premises" and "being under the influence of . . . controlled dangerous substances while on school premises." There was no knowledge here or proof that a controlled dangerous substance was involved, and the Board offered scant details about the alleged distribution. The absence of substantial, credible evidence in this case renders the Board's decision unreasonable. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that respondent acted in a manner that is arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable and the charge of possession and distribution of TCH is unfounded.

Based upon the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that the respondent's actions in suspending C.M. for possession and distribution of THC edibles was improper. Accordingly, respondent's Motion for Summary Decision is DENIED.

I further CONCLUDE that the petitioner has met his burden and is entitled to expungement and removal of disciplinary action in C.M.'s record on the basis of possession and distribution of THC edibles. For the foregoing reasons, petitioner's Motion for Summary Decision is GRANTED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

In the Matter of the Suspension of the Teaching Certificate of Shazia Ahmad, Empowerment Academy Charter School, Hudson County.

Synopsis

On November 10, 2022, Empowerment Academy Charter School (Empowerment) filed an Order to Show Cause with the Commissioner against respondent Shazia Ahmad, a mathematics teacher at the school. The Commissioner ordered that the respondent show cause as to why an Order suspending her teaching certificate should not be entered for unprofessional conduct pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 after she resigned her position without giving the sixty-day (60) notice required by her contract with the petitioner. The respondent filed an answer stating that she was unable to fulfill her contractual obligations because of an urgent family matter involving the medical needs of her child.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: the respondent did nothing to help Empowerment minimize the impact on her students when she left employment, nor did she seek assistance or accommodations to allow her to continue her teaching role at Empowerment; further the mitigating circumstances put forth by the respondent lacked adequate contemporaneous documentation or support; the medical needs of respondent's son when she resigned were unclear, but did not impact her ability to work essentially full-time as a substitute teacher immediately after her resignation and for many months thereafter. The ALJ concluded that petitioner failed to present exceptional circumstances or compelling reasons that would warrant a lesser suspension for her failure to provide the notice required under her contract. Accordingly, the ALJ ordered that respondent's teaching certificate be suspended for one year for resigning without providing the required notice, in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the Administrative Law Judge that respondent's resignation from employment on short notice justifies suspension of respondent's teaching certificates pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8. Accordingly, respondent's teaching certificates were suspended for a period of one year from the filing date of the Commissioner's decision, a copy of which was forwarded to the State Board of Examiners for implementation of the suspension.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

Final Decision

In the Matter of the Suspension of the Teaching Certificate of Shazia Ahmad, Empowerment Academy Charter School, Hudson County.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon review, the Commissioner adopts the Initial Decision as the Final Decision in this matter. The Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge that respondent's September 26, 2022, resignation from employment on short notice justifies suspension of respondent's teaching certificates pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8.

Accordingly, respondent's teaching certificates are suspended for a period of one year from the filing date of this decision, a copy of which shall be forwarded to the State Board of Examiners for implementation of the suspension.

AGENCY DKT. NO. 308-11-22

IN THE MATTER OF THE TEACHING CERTIFICATE OF SHAZIA AHMAD, EMPOWERMENT ACADEMY CHARTER SCHOOL, HUDSON COUNTY

Thomas O. Johnston, Esq., for petitioner (Johnston Law Firm, LLC, attorneys)

Shazia Ahmad, respondent, pro se

Record Closed: September 29, 2023 Decided: October 19, 2023

BEFORE NANCI G. STOKES, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

On September 26, 2022, petitioner Shazia Ahamad (Ahamad), a teacher at Empowerment Academy Charter School (Empowerment), resigned immediately despite the sixty-day notice required by her contract and began nearly full-time employment as a substitute teacher. Should Ahmad's teaching certificate be suspended? Yes. Under N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10, the failure to provide such notice is misconduct subject to a one-year certificate suspension, and the Commissioner of Education will reduce the typical suspension in only rare circumstances.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On November 10, 2022, Empowerment filed an Order to Show Cause against Ahmad with the Commissioner of the Department of Education (Commissioner). the Commissioner ordered that the respondent show cause as to why an Order suspending her teaching certificate should not be entered for unprofessional conduct and provided her with twenty days to respond. Soon after, Ahmand filed an undated answer.

On January 10, 2023, the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) filed the Commissioner's transmittal of a contested case under the Administrative Procedure Act, N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15, and the act establishing the OAL, N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13, for a hearing under the Uniform Administrative Procedure Rules, N.J.A.C. 1:1-1.1 to -21.6.

I held several pre-hearing conferences and scheduled hearings for August 30, 2023, which proceeded via Zoom. I allowed the parties time to file post-hearing summations. On September 29, 2023, the OAL received Empowerment's submission, but no Ahmad filed no summation. On that date, I closed the record.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Based on the records in evidence, my assessment of their sufficiency the testimony presented, and my evaluation of its credibility, I FIND the following as FACT:

Empowerment Academy is a public charter school in Jersey City, New Jersey.

Ahmad, a non-tenured teacher, resides in Hudson County.

On July 29, 2022, Ahmad executed an employment agreement to work as a teacher at Empowerment for the 2022-2023 school year. The contract specified Ahmad's term of employment as August 17, 2022, until June 30, 2023. Under the agreement, Ahmad could unilaterally terminate her job by providing sixty days' written notice to the school.

On September 26, 2022, Ahmad submitted a written resignation from her teaching position by email, citing "urgent and unavoidable family matters," effective immediately.

In response, on September 27, 2022, Empowerment's education director, Shona Hendry, emailed Ahmad advising that her contract required her to provide sixty days' notice, or she would be subject to license suspension and a $500 penalty. Henry also expressed concern for Ahmad's situation and offered support. However, Ahmad did not return or seek assistance from Empowerment. Undeniably, Ahmad did not provide sixty days' notice.

Angela Thomas, Empowerment's middle school principal, explained how Ahmad's abrupt departure disrupted the students' education at Empowerment. Specifically, Ahmad served as a sixth-grade mathematics teacher at Empowerment, one of two certified math teachers for that grade. Empowerment expected each teacher to teach half of the school's sixth graders during designated blocks or class periods. However, during the 2022-2023 school year, the school could not fill Ahamad's mathematics teaching role with another certified mathematics teacher, a critical subject area, leaving that instruction short. Ahmad did not assist the school in finding a replacement or transitioning in her absence.

Ahmad asserts that she did not decide to leave Empowerment lightly. Instead, she maintains that her son's psychiatric condition worsened in September 2022, requiring her to leave the position suddenly. Ahmad highlights the loss of substantial income by leaving her full-time job, and her paystubs after her resignation support this assertion. Ahmad maintains that she was "mentally, emotionally and physically occupied" with her son's care when she resigned. Ahmad's husband observed his wife's stress during this time. Still, Ahmad supplied no medical evidence that her health was at risk when she resigned.

To support her son's medical issues, Ahmad supplied a letter from her son's psychiatrist dated March 25, 2023, explaining that Ahmad's son was under his care for bipolar disorder, ADHD, and oppositional defiance dysfunction. The physician highlights that Ahmad is her son's caretaker, helping him with medications, activities of daily living, and school. The physician further advises that Ahmad's caretaking duties are full-time, making her employment at Empowerment impossible. The physician did not testify to explain his conclusions, and the document contains largely unsupported hearsay, which I give only minimal weight.

Regardless, the physician's note did not specify Ahmad's caretaking needs when she resigned in September 2022. Indeed, the physician highlights no physical disability or an acute crisis involving her son that required Ahmad to quit her job without notice when she did. In September 2022, Ahmad's son was a full-time community college student and attended school for the 2022-2023 school year. Still, Ahmad and her husband provided credible testimony that their son suffered from conditions requiring psychiatric care and medication, necessitating some supervision. Ahmad explained that she often had to stay up to watch over her son through the night. However, Ahmad's claim that she could not provide notice due to her son's sudden worsening condition is not adequately supported or credible.

Ahmad also believed that focusing on her son's care would make her an ineffective teacher, unable to prepare for lessons or discharge her teaching responsibilities professionally. To be sure, a substitute teacher position pays less, making it less desirable, and involves less rigorous planning duties. Although Ahmad asserts that she was overwhelmed with preparing lesson plans, she acknowledges that she sought no assistance or support from Empowerment's administration before abruptly resigning. Further, despite the school's efforts to offer help upon receiving her resignation, she did not respond.

Significantly, Ahmad worked for the Jersey City public school system (Jersey City) after leaving Empowerment. Although Ahmad left Empowerment on September 26, 2022, she worked as a substitute per diem teacher for Jersey City on September 27, 28, 29, and 30, 2022. In other words, she worked the rest of the work week after she left her job at Empowerment.

Ahmad also worked as a per diem substitute teacher for Jersey City on October 3, 4, 6, 7, 11, 12, 13, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 25, 26, 27, 28, and 31, 2022. Notably, considering weekends, Columbus Day, a professional development day without students on October 5, and Diwali on October 24, 2022, Ahmad worked nearly every day in the month after leaving Empowerment.[1] The following month, Ahmad worked on November 1, 2, 3, 4, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 21, 22, 23, 28, 29, and 30, 2022. After counting the Thanksgiving break and election week's closing, Ahmad worked every open school day in November 2022.[2] This level of employment continued until at least April, and Ahmad acknowledges that she worked as a substitute for Jersey City for the rest of the school year. Indeed, Ahmad's paystubs through April 2023 demonstrate near continuous daily per diem work. Thus, her son's medical needs did not interfere with her ability to work as a substitute for Jersey City nearly all school days in the months after she resigned from Empowerment.

DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Under N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10, a teaching staff member who ceases to perform their duties before the term of their employment's end absent the Board's consent, "shall be deemed guilty of unprofessional conduct." Ibid. In turn, the Commissioner of Education may suspend the teacher's certificate for up to one year. Id. A teacher may escape liability under the statute by providing appropriate notice, which "is dictated by the terms of the parties' employment contract. Carrelle v. Bd. of Educ. of Bloomfield, Comm'r Decision No. 49-04 (February 10, 2004), http://www.nj.gov/education/legal/commissioner/; Boguszewski v. Bd. of Educ. of Woodcliff Lake, 1979 S.L.D. 727, 729. Indeed, the statute's purpose is to encourage notice to the school so that it can hire a suitable replacement "without adversely impacting students." Penns Grove-Carneys Point Bd. of Educ. v. Leinen, 94 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 405, 407.

Still, the statute "does not dictate the automatic suspension of a teacher's certificate" when a teacher fails to provide the contractual notice. In re Falco, EDU 9283-98, Comm'r (May 24, 1999), aff'g Initial Decision (April 7, 1999), http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/. Instead, the statute gives the Commissioner discretion to withhold or reduce the penalty where warranted. Typically, however, the Commissioner will suspend a teacher's certificate for the one-year maximum when the circumstances show that the teacher failed to provide the sixty-days' notice "for strictly personal reasons, putting their own self-interest above the interests of students and their professional obligation to provide adequate notice to the board." In re Certificates of Chae Hyuk Im, 2018 N.J. Super. Unpub. LEXIS 1748, at 8-9 (App. Div. July 20, 2018).

In rare cases, the Commissioner either declined to suspend a teacher's certificate or imposed a lesser suspension because of mitigating circumstances. For example, in Board of Education of Black Horse Pike Regional School District v. Mooney, 1984 S.L.D. 810, the Commissioner denied a school board's request to suspend a teacher's certificate under N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 because the teacher only resigned on short notice because her husband took a job in California and because she "gave immediate notice to the Board in writing and she assisted [her replacement] in the development of a program through the end of the school year." Id. at 811, 816.

In In re Bordon, EDU 12810-14, Initial Decision (June 18, 2015), adopted, Comm'r (July 29, 2015), http://www.nj.gov/education/legal/commissioner/, a teacher's certificate was suspended for only three months because she resigned without full notice to take a lower-paying teaching position at a school closer to her home after suffering a leg injury that made driving difficult. In that case, the administrative law judge concluded, and the Commissioner agreed, that, although the teacher violated N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 by providing less than the notice required by her contract, a three-month suspension was appropriate because her "conduct was not motivated by personal gain [she took a $20,000 pay cut], but rather by a very real medical crisis," and "because the Board, through its administration, made no effort to acknowledge her medical concerns, or offer to discuss any constructive solution."

Unlike those cases, Ahmad did not help her employer minimize the impact on her students upon leaving or seek assistance or accommodations to allow her to continue her role at Empowerment. I also found that the mitigating circumstances suggested by Ahmad lacked adequate contemporaneous support. Precisely, her son's medical needs when she resigned were unclear and did not impact her ability to work practically full-time as a substitute teacher. This fact also highlights the demand for mathematics teachers and Empowerment's inability to find a certified mathematics teacher as a replacement. Her son is an adult and attended college during the 2022-2023 school year, and Ahmad supplied insufficient evidence of a medical crisis concerning her son or herself when she resigned. Thus, I CONCLUDE that Ahmad does not present exceptional circumstances or compelling reasons that warrant a lesser suspension for her failure to provide the notice required under her employment contract in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10.

ORDER

Given my findings of fact and conclusions of law, I ORDER that Ahmad's teaching certificate be suspended for one year because she resigned without providing required notice in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Final Decision

In the Matter of the Suspension of the Teaching Certificates of Asem Ahmed, Board of Education of the Passaic County Manchester Regional High School District, Passaic County.

Synopsis

The petitioning Board sought the suspension of the teaching certificates of respondent – a non-tenured Art teacher – following his resignation without providing the 60-day notice required under N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10. Respondent began working for the Board on February 21, 2023, under an Employment Agreement that extended through June 30, 2023. On March 23, 2023, the respondent submitted a letter of resignation with an effective date of May 24, 2023, initially providing the required 60-day notice. However, after meeting with the Superintendent on March 27th and verbally agreeing to finish out the school year, the respondent abruptly resigned effective March 28th, leaving no lesson plans or information to assist his replacement.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there is no question that the respondent ceased to perform his duties before the expiration of the term of employment; further, there is no question that respondent clearly understood the 60-day notice requirement in his contract, as he had structured his starting date with the Board based on fulfilling his 60-day notice obligation to his previous employer; respondent compounded his contractual breach by failing to provide lesson plans or other transitional materials to assist substitute teachers who were hired to cover respondent's classes after his resignation; and respondent's resignation with only one day of notice was highly unprofessional. The ALJ concluded that the respondent's teaching certificate should be suspended for the maximum period allowed by N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10. Accordingly, the ALJ ordered respondent's certificate suspended for a period of one year.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusions, and adopted the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. Respondent's certificates were suspended for one year from the filing date of this decision, a copy of which has been forwarded to the State Board of Examiners for implementation of the suspension.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

Final Decision

In the Matter of the Suspension of the Teaching Certificates of Asem Ahmed, Board of Education of the Passaic County Manchester Regional High School District, Passaic County.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge that respondent's resignation from employment with only one day's notice justifies suspension of respondent's teaching certificates pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 and N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8.

Accordingly, the Board's motion for summary decision is granted, and respondent's teaching certificates are suspended for a period of one year from the filing date of this decision, a copy of which shall be forwarded to the State Board of Examiners for implementation of the suspension.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner filed a Verified Petition together with an Order to Show Cause (OTSC) with the Office of Controversies and Disputes of the New Jersey Department of Education on June 29, 2023. Copies of the same were sent to the Respondent.

The OTSC was signed by the Acting Commissioner of Education and the same was served upon the Respondent on July 6, 2023.

The matter was transferred to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) as a contested case on July 11, 2023.

A prehearing conference was held on July 24, 2023, and a prehearing Order was entered on the same date.

Petitioner requested a telephone conference to address a discovery issue. That telephone conference was held on October 12, 2023. Petitioner dialed in. Respondent did not. Respondent was provided with notice of the conference to his correct email address.

Petitioner filed a motion on October 20, 2023 to suppress Respondent's answer and to bar his testimony for failure to provide discovery. Respondent did not file a response.

The hearing was held on October 23, 2023. The Notice of Hearing specified 9:00 a.m. as the start time and the Office of Administrative Law at 33 Washington Street, Newark, New Jersey as the location. Petitioner and counsel appeared timely. Respondent did not appear at 9:00 a.m. The undersigned allowed thirty minutes for Respondent to appear. He did not appear. No explanation, or adjournment request, was received by Respondent.

In accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-10.5 and N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.14, Petitioner's motion to suppress Respondent's Answer was granted on the record. The request in the motion to bar Respondent's testimony was moot as he failed to appear.

In accordance with N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4(d) the matter proceeded as an ex parte presentation of Petitioner's proofs.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Based upon the evidence presented at the hearing as well as on the opportunity to observe the witness and assess his credibility, I FIND the following:

1. Respondent, Asem Ahmed, holds a Teaching Certificate, 01686194, in Art instruction. (P-1)

2. Mr. Ahmed was employed by Passaic County Manchester Regional High School District Board of Education as a Teacher of Art in accordance with an Employment Agreement. Said employment was to commence on February 21, 2023, through June 30, 2023. (P-2)

3. In accordance with the Employment Agreement, either party could cancel said agreement with sixty (60) days prior notice. (P-2)

4. Mr. Ahmed's teaching class schedule was Monday through Friday, commencing at 7:45 a.m. to 2:49 p.m. The schedule included six (6) class periods, a period for PROF, a period for PREP and a period for LUNCH. (P3)

5. When Ahmed was interviewed by Superintendent Gary Lubisco, Jr., he advised the Superintendent that he could not start immediately as he had to honor his sixty (60) day notice requirement to his previous employer. Accordingly, his start date was set as February 21, 2023. The art teacher position had become vacant on January 4, 2023, after that teacher had satisfied her sixty (60) day notice requirement when she resigned. (Lubisco testimony, 10/23/23 @ 9:38 – 9:39 a.m.)

6. Mr. Ahmed was well aware that he was required to provide sixty (60) days prior notice should he resign. He indicated the same in his interview with Superintendent Lubisco. (Lubisco testimony, 10/23/23 @ 9:41)

7. The prior art teacher, prior to her departure, provided the district with lesson plans for her successor to continue art instruction. (Lubisco testimony, 10/23/23 @ 9:39 a.m.)

8. On March 23, 2023 Mr. Ahmed submitted a letter of resignation to John Coviello, effective March 24, 2023 with sixty (60) days notice. (P-4)

9. Superintendent Lubisco met with Mr. Ahmed on March 27, 2023 to discuss his resignation. During said meeting Mr. Ahmed agreed to finish out the school year, as opposed to the required sixty (60) day notice, which would end on May 24, 2023. (Lubisco testimony, 10/23/23 @ 9:45 – 9:46 a.m.)

10. Superintendent Lubisco confirmed this conversation in an email dated March 27, 2023, to Mr. Coviello and Ms. Moser. (P-5)

11. Thereafter, Superintendent Lubisco learned that Mr. Ahmed advised his supervisor that his last day was March 28, 2023. (P-6 and Lubisco testimony, 10/23/23 @ 9:49 – 9:50 a.m.)

12. Superintendent Lubisco, via email dated March 29, 2023, informed Mr. Ahmed that he was contractually required to work until May 24, 2023, and that failure to do so could result in the suspension of his teaching certificate for up to one year. (P-6)

13. Thereafter, Superintendent Lubisco telephoned Mr. Ahmed on March 31, 2023 regarding the abandonment of his teaching position, wherein Mr. Ahmed said he would think about his contractual obligation over the weekend. Superintendent Lubisco confirmed the conversation via email dated March 31, 2023. (P-7 and . (Lubisco testimony, 10/23/23 @ 9:53 – 9:54 a.m.)

14. Superintendent Lubisco followed up with another email, dated April 4, 2023 advising that a decision by Mr. Ahmed was needed that date. (P-8 and . (Lubisco testimony, 10/23/23 @ 9:55 – 9:56 a.m.)

15. Superintendent Lubisco received no response from Mr. Ahmed. (Lubisco testimony, 10/23/23 @ 9:55 – 9:56 a.m.)

16. The failure of Mr. Ahmed to fulfill his contractual obligation caused a significant strain on the District. Mr. Ahmed did not provide lesson plans for his successor. This is outside the norm of professional conduct for teachers. (Lubisco testimony, 10/23/23 @ 9:57 – 9:59 a.m.)

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

In his several emails to Mr. Ahmed, Superintendent Lubisco cites N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8, which states:

> Any teaching staff member, under tenure of service, desiring to relinquish his position shall give the employing board of education at least 60 days written notice of his intention, unless the board shall approve of a release on shorter notice and if he fails to give such notice he shall be deemed guilty of unprofessional conduct and the commissioner may suspend his certificate for not more than one year.

However, the record clearly demonstrates that Mr. Ahmed was a non-tenured teacher. His employment agreement states as much, referring to him as a non-tenured certificated employee. Accordingly, N.J.S.A. 18A:28-8 is not the applicable statute.

N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10 would be the controlling statute, which states in pertinent part:

> Any teaching staff member employed by a board of education or an approved private school for the disabled, who shall, without the consent of the board or, in the case of an approved private school for the disabled, the board of directors of the school, cease to perform his duties before the expiration of the term of his employment, shall be deemed guilty of unprofessional conduct, and the commissioner may, upon receiving notice thereof, suspend his certificate for a period not exceeding one year.

In the instant matter, there is no question that Mr. Ahmed ceased to perform his duties before the expiration of the term of employment. He failed to provide the requisite sixty (60) day prior notice as spelled out in his employment contract. He was well aware he was required to provide such notice. The only question remaining is to what, if any suspension would be appropriate.

Mr. Ahmed, by simply leaving his teaching position, placed the District in a very difficult position, as described by the testimony of Superintendent Lubisco. The District was compelled to hire substitute teachers and utilize other methods which provided a lesser learning experience for the student. He compounded his contractual breach by failing to provide any transitional materials. He did nothing to help smooth the transition. He did not provide lesson plans which could have been used by the substitute teachers. He acted in an extremely unprofessional manner.

Based upon the foregoing I CONCLUDE that Respondent's teaching certificate should be suspended for the maximum period allowable by N.J.S.A. 18A:26-10.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that the Certificate of Respondent, Asem Ahmed, be suspended for a period of one year.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Friends of Team Charter School, Inc.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Newark,
Essex County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

In this twice remanded matter, petitioner challenged the respondent Board's attempt to exercise its right of reversion regarding the Maple Avenue School – one of several properties transferred from the Board to the Newark Housing Authority (NHA) under the terms of a 2016 site disposition and development agreement (Agreement) in which the NHA agreed to convey the buildings to third parties to benefit the Board and the City of Newark. Petitioner purchased Maple Avenue School from a third party in March 2020 for development as a public charter school. In April 2020, the Board filed a Superior Court suit against the NHA, seeking to exercise its right to reversion based on the argument that NHA had failed to complete a site project and that the property was not being used for one of the Agreement's permitted uses. Petitioner filed the within matter, alleging that the Board was not authorized to file the Superior Court complaint and had failed to comply with facilities regulations. The issue for resolution here is the novel legal question of whether the Superior Court action could constitute land acquisition and/or a school facilities project that is subject to applicable statutes and regulations; this requires careful interpretation of relevant provisions of the Educational Facilities Construction and Financing Act (EFCFA), N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-1 to -48 and related regulations.

On remand, the ALJ concluded that the Superior Court litigation was not a school facilities project, finding, inter alia, that: the litigation does not meet the definition of a school facilities project under N.J.A.C. 6A:26-1.2; the Board was neither attempting to purchase the Maple Avenue School nor trying to acquire it by condemnation, gift, or grant; if the Board succeeds in Superior Court, the property will revert back to the Board based on language in the Agreement; and N.J.A.C. 6A:26-7.1, which describes the process by which school districts or the School Development Authority may obtain Commissioner approval for land acquisition in connection with school facilities projects, does not apply.

Upon review, the Commissioner, inter alia, concurred with the ALJ that the enforcement litigation is not a school facilities project or land acquisition as contemplated under EFCFA and related regulations. Accordingly, the Board was not required to seek approval from the Commissioner prior to initiating the ligation aimed at reacquiring land upon which it previously operated a public school that could potentially be utilized for a future school facilities project. The Board's motion for summary decision was granted and the petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Friends of TEAM Charter Schools, Inc.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Newark, Essex County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the exceptions filed by petitioner pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and respondent Board's reply thereto, have been reviewed and considered.

By way of introduction, this matter, which the Commissioner twice remanded to the OAL for further proceedings, has a protracted procedural history. The sole legal question to be resolved is whether a pending Superior Court enforcement action initiated by respondent to reclaim title to the former Maple Avenue School site "could constitute land acquisition and/or a school facilities project, subject to applicable statutes and regulations." Friends of Team Charter Sch., Inc. v. Bd. of Educ. of the City of Newark, Essex Cnty., Commissioner Decision No. 258-21 at 4-5 (October 19, 2021).

Resolution of this novel legal question requires interpretation of relevant provisions of the Educational Facilities Construction and Financing Act (EFCFA), N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-1 to -48, and related regulations. The Legislature "enacted EFCFA to fulfill its constitutional obligation to fund new school construction mandated by th[e] Court in Abbott v. Burke." Lonegan v. State, 176 N.J. 2, 6 (2003); Abbott v. Burke, 153 N.J. 480, 524 (1998). EFCFA "regulat[es] the planning, design, and construction of school facilities" and "is intended to ensure the educational adequacy of such facilities and the safety of students who attend them." Bd. of Educ. of Clifton v. Zoning Bd. of Adj. of Clifton, 409 N.J. Super. 389, 441 (App. Div. 2009). In particular, the legislation aims to address facilities-related inadequacies among the State's school districts. Lonegan v. State, 174 N.J. 435, 458 (2002) (quoting N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-2(b)).

"Amendments to the EFCFA in 2007 established the School Development Authority (SDA) to provide for the financing and construction of school facility projects in low-income districts – which the statute refers to as 'SDA districts.'" Educ. Law Ctr. v. N.J. Dep't of Educ., Off. of Sch. Facilities, Commissioner Decision No. 217-13 at 2 (June 13, 2013) (citing N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-3).[1] The Legislature recognized that "[e]ducational infrastructure inadequacies are greatest in the SDA districts where maintenance has been deferred and new construction has not been initiated due to concerns about cost." N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-2(c). Consequently, it required the State to "fund the entire cost of repairing, renovating and constructing the new school facilities determined by the Commissioner of Education to be required to meet the school facilities efficiency standards in the SDA districts" while also "protect[ing] the interests of taxpayers who will bear the burden of this obligation." N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-2(c), (d).

Accordingly, EFCFA provides "for the planning, financing, and construction of" school facilities projects and "sets out a detailed process for the[ir] proposal, review, and approval" by the Commissioner. E. Orange Bd. of Educ. v. N.J. Schs. Constr. Corp., 405 N.J. Super. 132, 136-40 (App. Div. 2009); Bd. of Educ. of Clifton, 409 N.J. Super. at 439. As a SDA district, "Newark's traditional public schools receive one hundred percent facilities funding" under EFCFA. J.D. ex rel. Scipio-Derrick v. Davy, 415 N.J. Super. 375, 377 (App. Div. 2010).

The material facts in the instant matter are undisputed. In 2016, the Board transferred title of the Maple Avenue School site, along with other underutilized school sites, to the Newark Housing Authority (NHA) for nominal consideration, to be redeveloped pursuant to a Site Disposition and Development Agreement (Agreement). In so doing, the Board sought to save money, generate revenue for capital improvements, increase city tax ratables, and enhance employment opportunities for Newark residents. The Agreement required the NHA to "work diligently to investigate and identify feasible housing, redevelopment and economic development opportunities at each Site (each, a 'Site Project')."

Article V, Section 5.2 of the Agreement sought to create a right of reversion to the sites exercisable by the Board "if and to the extent, the NHA has not developed a Site Project or demonstrable plans for such Site" within three years of the Agreement's execution. The Agreement permitted NHA to transfer title of the sites to third parties to effectuate Site Projects, subject to various restrictions, so long as any such transfer granted reversionary rights to NHA to be exercised if certain performance milestones were not met. The Agreement further provided that "[t]his right of reversion shall not be included in any deed, or otherwise recordable document, from [the Board] to NHA for any Site; and if requested by NHA or any third party developer, [the Board] shall execute and deliver a document to discharge this right of reversion."

In December 2017, the NHA sold the Maple Avenue School site to a third party, 33 Maple Urban Renewal, LLC. The Board received approximately $1 million from the sale. In March 2020, 33 Maple Urban Renewal, LLC sold the site to petitioner for $10 million. Petitioner leased the site, which underwent substantial renovation, to TEAM Academy Charter School, Inc., to house over five hundred charter school students.

In April 2020, the Board filed a complaint in the Superior Court, Chancery Division, claiming that the NHA violated the Agreement in various ways. Among the remedies requested by the Board was to compel the NHA to exercise its right of reversion to the Maple Avenue School site—which the Board claimed was allegedly developed and utilized for an improper purpose contrary to the Agreement—so that the Board could then exercise its own right of reversion and reclaim title to the site. In an amended complaint, the Board added petitioner as a defendant and alleged that it tortiously interfered with the Agreement. The Superior Court trial is on hold pending the outcome of the instant matter before the Commissioner.

In April 2021, petitioner filed the instant matter with the Commissioner. In short, petitioner alleged that because the Superior Court litigation was aimed at reacquiring the Maple Avenue School site, the litigation constituted a school facilities project under EFCFA and related regulations and therefore required both a Board resolution and Commissioner approval prior to its commencement. It also alleged that, absent approval from the Commissioner, the Board was prohibited from undertaking land acquisition or development activities for any planned school facilities project at the site. For those reasons, petitioner sought an order restraining the Board from further prosecuting the Superior Court litigation.

The matter was transmitted to the OAL for a contested hearing, and the Board moved for summary decision. In July 2021, the ALJ issued an Initial Decision granting the Board's motion upon concluding that the Agreement is not a school facilities project and that, in any event, the petition was untimely filed. The Commissioner disagreed with the ALJ's conclusion that the petition was untimely. Additionally, while the Commissioner concurred that the Agreement was not a school facilities project, she remanded the matter in October 2021 for further proceedings to determine whether the Superior Court litigation "could constitute land acquisition and/or a school facilities project, subject to applicable statutes and regulations."

Thereafter, once the matter returned to the OAL, the parties cross-moved for summary decision. In October 2022, the ALJ issued an order denying the motions for summary decision and concluding that it would be premature to decide whether the Superior Court litigation constituted a school facilities project prior to the Superior Court's ruling in that matter. The ALJ reasoned that if the Superior Court ruled against the Board, then the instant petition would be moot.

Petitioner sought interlocutory review of the ALJ's October 2022 order. In November 2022, the Commissioner again remanded the matter to the OAL upon concluding that the question of whether the filing of the Superior Court complaint required approval of the Board via resolution, or of the Commissioner as a school facilities project, was ripe for review. The Commissioner explained that these determinations depend upon an application of the school laws, which are within the Commissioner's jurisdiction. Furthermore, the Commissioner disagreed with the ALJ that a ruling against the Board in the Superior Court matter would render the petition moot. The Commissioner indicated that if it is determined that the Superior Court complaint constitutes a school facilities project, and the Board should have obtained approval of that project from the Commissioner prior to filing the complaint, then the complaint should not proceed.

Once the matter returned to the OAL for a second time, the ALJ considered supplemental briefs and issued an Initial Decision in September 2023 in which she granted the Board's motion for summary decision. Citing the definition of "school facilities project" found in N.J.A.C. 6A:26-1.2, the ALJ concluded that the Superior Court litigation was not a school facilities project because it was neither new construction to meet the housing needs of unhoused students, nor rehabilitation to keep a school facility functional for its original purpose or for a new purpose accomplished within the gross square footage of the original building. Next, citing the definition of "land acquisition" found in N.J.A.C. 6A:26-1.2, the ALJ concluded that the Superior Court litigation was not a land acquisition because the Board was neither attempting to purchase the Maple Avenue School nor attempting to acquire it by condemnation, gift, or grant. The ALJ reasoned that if the Board succeeds in Superior Court, then the property will revert to it based upon language in the Agreement. The ALJ further found that N.J.A.C. 6A:26-7.1, which describes the process by which a school district or the SDA may obtain Commissioner approval for land acquisition "in connection with a school facilities project," did not apply.

In their exceptions, petitioner primarily argues that contrary to the ALJ's findings and conclusions, the Board violated EFCFA and related regulations by failing to obtain Commissioner approval to commence the Superior Court litigation. Specifically, petitioner contends that the ALJ ignored the definition of school facilities project found in N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-3 and misinterpreted the regulations when she erroneously concluded that the Superior Court litigation was neither a school facilities project nor a land acquisition. Relying upon the statutory definition, petitioner asserts that a school facilities project includes related "legal services" and "site acquisition." Consequently, according to petitioner, the Superior Court litigation satisfies the statutory definition of school facilities project. Citing N.J.A.C. 6A:26-7.1, petitioner also contends that a "land acquisition" requires Commissioner approval even if not part of a school facilities project.

Alternatively, petitioner argues that even if the litigation is neither a school facilities project nor a land acquisition, it constitutes "preconstruction activities" per N.J.A.C. 6A:26-3.9(b)(1), a "capital project" per N.J.A.C. 6A:26-3.1(a), and a project to "acquire an existing facility" per N.J.A.C. 6A:26-7.3(a), all of which require the Commissioner's approval. Petitioner claims that because the ALJ failed to decide these issues, the Initial Decision is facially deficient. In addition, petitioner contends that the ALJ ignored and failed to address the fact that the Board violated EFCFA and related regulations as it did not approve the filing of the Superior Court litigation via resolution or motion.

In reply, the Board argues that the ALJ correctly determined that the Superior Court litigation is not a school facilities project. It contends that was the only question before the ALJ, and that petitioner's exceptions attempt to impermissibly broaden the scope of the remand. The Board maintains that the Superior Court litigation is an attempt to exercise its already-existing property and contract rights regarding the Maple Avenue School site, and asserts that petitioner has not cited any legal authority holding or suggesting that a lawsuit to enforce contract and property rights can be considered a school facilities project within the meaning of N.J.A.C. 6A:26-1.2. In addition, the Board argues that neither EFCFA's plain language nor its legislative history supports petitioner's argument. It maintains that just as not every legal action involving a school board arises under the school laws, not every action involving a school property is a school facilities project—even if the property at issue may be the subject of a school construction or rehabilitation project at some point in the future.

Upon review, the Commissioner adopts the ALJ's findings of fact and conclusions of law, as modified. The Commissioner holds that the Board's filing of the Superior Court complaint to enforce the Agreement and reclaim title to the former Maple Avenue School site neither violated EFCFA nor the related regulations. The Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the enforcement litigation is neither a school facilities project nor a land acquisition as contemplated under EFCFA and the regulations. Consequently, neither EFCFA nor the related regulations required the Board to seek approval from the Commissioner prior to initiating the litigation aimed at reacquiring land upon which it previously operated a public school that could potentially be utilized for a future school facilities project. To the extent that the ALJ focused primarily upon the regulatory definition of school facilities project and regulations pertaining to land acquisition in her analysis, the Commissioner modifies the Initial Decision as explained herein to include analysis of the statutory definition of school facilities project, the overall statutory scheme, and legislative intent.

EFCFA broadly defines "school facilities project" as "the planning, acquisition, demolition, construction, improvement, alteration, modernization, renovation, reconstruction or capital maintenance of all or any part of a school facility or of any other personal property necessary for, or ancillary to, any school facility, and shall include fixtures, furnishings and equipment, and shall also include, but is not limited to, site acquisition, site development, the services of design professionals, such as engineers and architects, construction management, legal services, financing costs and administrative costs and expenses incurred in connection with the project." N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-3. Per EFCFA's regulations, "[t]o qualify as a school facilities project, the project must be new construction to meet the housing needs of unhoused students, or rehabilitation to keep a school facility functional for its original purpose or for a new purpose accomplished within the gross square footage of the original building." N.J.A.C. 6A:26-1.2. In addition, the regulations specify that school facilities projects not only include new construction and rehabilitation, but also "[a]cquisition of existing buildings to accommodate unhoused students." N.J.A.C. 6A:26-3.2(a).

Because EFCFA "provided only limited funding" for school facilities projects, the legislation "established a fairly complex procedure for the allocation of those limited resources among the many school districts in need of funds for renovations or new buildings; first, through a long range planning stage within each district, N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-4, and then through the approval of specific projects on a district-by-district basis." E. Orange Bd. of Educ., 405 N.J. Super. at 144 (citing N.J.S.A.

18A:7G-5). Accordingly, to qualify for funding for a school facilities project, "[e]ach school district must submit to the DOE [Department of Education], for review and approval, a long-range facilities plan [LRFP] addressing the district's school facilities needs and its plans to meet those needs in the following five years" in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-4. Bd. of Educ. of Clifton, 409 N.J Super. at 439. Districts may, at any time, submit amended LRFPs to the Commissioner for approval. N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-4(c). Additionally, districts "seeking to fund a project must submit a detailed application to the Commissioner" separate and apart from the LRFP. E. Orange Bd. of Educ., 405 N.J. Super. at 139. Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-5(d)(1) and N.J.A.C. 6A:26-3.2(b), "Any district seeking to initiate a school facilities project shall apply to the commissioner for approval of the project."

The Commissioner reviews the application to determine whether it is eligible for funding under EFCFA. Specifically, the Commissioner assesses whether the proposed project is consistent with the district's LRFP and compliant with facilities efficiency standards. N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-5(e). If the project is compliant, then the Commissioner "shall calculate the preliminary eligible costs of the project." N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-5(f). For SDA district projects, the preliminary eligible costs "equal the estimated cost as determined by the development authority."[2] Ibid. Generally, the Commissioner must decide whether to approve the application within 90 days from the date it is deemed complete. N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-5(e); N.J.A.C. 6A:26-3.3(a), (b). If more time is needed, the Commissioner may take an additional 60 days to render a decision. Ibid. If, however, the decision is not made prior to the expiration of the additional 60 days, the project is automatically deemed approved. Ibid.

[2] Because of the aforementioned funding limitations, applications from SDA districts are also evaluated based upon the project's educational priority ranking and the Statewide strategic plan, developed in accordance with N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-5(m). N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-5(e).

Once a school facilities project is approved, certain additional steps must be completed by the Commissioner if the project involves an SDA district. N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-5(h)(2). For instance, "the Commissioner must prepare a preliminary report describing the project along with, among other factors, its costs and priority ranking." E. Orange Bd. of Educ., 405 N.J. Super. at 139 (citing N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-5(h)(2)). "After receiving the Commissioner's preliminary report, the [SDA] must submit to the Commissioner detailed recommendations with regard to the project." Ibid. (citing N.J.S.A. 19A:7G-5(i)). "The Commissioner and the [SDA] then work together to determine what changes must be made before a project receives final approval." Id. at 139-40. "No construction may commence until the Commissioner 'transmits to the [SDA] a final project report and the district complies with the approval requirements for the local share, if any, pursuant to [N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-11.]'" Id. at 140 (quoting N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-5(j)). "For the SDA districts, the State share shall be 100% of the final eligible costs." N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-5(k).

"The paramount goal when interpreting a statute is to 'determine and give effect to the Legislature's intent.'" Facebook, Inc. v. State, 254 N.J. 329, 353 (2023) (quoting State v. Lopez-Carrera, 245 N.J. 596, 612 (2021)). "The plain language of a statute 'is typically the best indicator of intent.'" Ibid. (quoting Lopez-Carrera, 245 N.J. at 613). "When the text is clear, [the] inquiry is complete." Ibid. (quoting Malanga v. Twp. of W. Orange, 253 N.J. 291, 311 (2023)). If the text is ambiguous, "extrinsic materials, including legislative history" may be considered. Malanga, 253 N.J. at 311. Regulations are interpreted "in the same manner" as statutes. L.R. v. Camden City Pub. Sch. Dist., 238 N.J. 547, 558 (2019).

The Commissioner holds that the Board's enforcement litigation, which could potentially result in the reacquisition of title to the Maple Avenue School site based upon the Agreement's terms, does not fall within the plain language statutory or regulatory definitions of school facilities project.

First, the litigation itself is not "planning, acquisition, demolition, construction, improvement, alteration, modernization, renovation, reconstruction or capital maintenance of all or any part of a school facility or of any other personal property necessary for, or ancillary to, any school facility." N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-3. If the litigation is decided in the Board's favor, it may result in a future reacquisition of the Maple Avenue School site based upon the Agreement's terms. But because the litigation's outcome is uncertain, an application from the Board to the Commissioner for approval of a school facilities project involving the Maple Avenue School site prior to the commencement of the litigation was unnecessary.

Second, the litigation itself is not "new construction to meet the housing needs of unhoused students, or rehabilitation to keep a school facility functional for its original purpose or for a new purpose accomplished within the gross square footage of the original building." N.J.A.C. 6A:26-1.2. It is an enforcement lawsuit claiming various parties breached the Agreement. Similarly, the litigation itself is not "[a]cquisition of existing buildings to accommodate unhoused students." N.J.A.C. 6A:26-3.2(a). Again, the outcome of the litigation is uncertain. Therefore, an application from the Board to the Commissioner for approval of a school facilities project involving the Maple Avenue School site prior to the commencement of the litigation was not necessary.

The unique factual scenario presented here was clearly neither contemplated by the Legislature nor by those who drafted the regulations, and petitioner has not cited any decisional law on point that directly supports its position. But in keeping with the legislative intent and constitutional obligations to the public-school students in our state, it is important to recognize that EFCFA requires the Commissioner to review and approve school facilities projects to ensure their educational adequacy and safety. Bd. of Educ. of Clifton, 409 N.J. Super. at 441; N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-5(e). That review must include assessment of whether the project is consistent with the district's LRFP and compliant with facilities efficiency standards. N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-5(e). Also inherent in the review process is the need to protect taxpayers' interests. N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-2(c), (d).

Petitioner's position that the Board should have been required under EFCFA to obtain Commissioner approval prior to filing the enforcement litigation is not consonant with these goals. In other words, the Commissioner's approval of the filing of the enforcement litigation at such an early stage—with its outcome unknown—would not fulfill the legislative intent. As a practical matter, the Commissioner cannot be expected to conduct a thorough review of a school facilities project for educational adequacy and safety, and to render a fully informed decision in an expedited manner as required by EFCFA when the project's location is as yet unconfirmed. Moreover, neither EFCFA nor the regulations set any deadline for the filing of a school facilities project application; the districts decide when to initiate a project. See N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-5(d)(1) ("Any district seeking to initiate a school facilities project shall apply to the commissioner for approval of the project.").[3]

Furthermore, the Commissioner rejects petitioner's contention that because the phrases "legal services" and "site acquisition" appear in the statutory definition at N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-3, the litigation itself constitutes a school facilities project.

Applications for school facilities projects are initiated by districts seeking funding. See East Orange Bd. of Educ., 405 N.J. Super. at 139 (explaining that districts "seeking to fund a project must submit a detailed application to the Commissioner"). The Legislative history of EFCFA makes clear that "legal services" and "site acquisition" were included as part of the broad statutory definition of school facilities project as "preliminary eligible costs," specifically "soft costs," for which districts could receive funding in connection with a school facilities project. See Sponsor's Statement to S. 200 84 (Feb. 17, 2000) ("[P]reliminary eligible costs for all school construction projects . . . will include State support of 'soft costs' including site acquisition, site development, issuance costs, legal fees, and fees for professional services."); S. Educ. Comm. Statement to S. 2000 2 (May 4, 2000) (repeating same language). There is nothing in the record to indicate that the Board is seeking State funding under EFCFA to potentially reacquire the Maple Avenue School site via litigation.

The Commissioner also holds that the enforcement litigation does not constitute "land acquisition" as contemplated under a plain language reading of EFCFA and its regulations.

EFCFA addresses funding of land acquisition as part of school facilities projects. N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-45(a) states that the SDA may "fund[] 100% of the cost of the acquisition of land for the construction of a school facilities project." Although not defined in EFCFA, N.J.A.C. 6A:26-1.2 defines "land acquisition" as "an acquisition of land, whether by purchase, condemnation, or by gift or grant, to be used as a school site."

The enforcement litigation, in and of itself, is not a land acquisition. It is a matter brought to enforce the Board's rights under the Agreement. Even assuming the Board prevails, it will not be reacquiring the Maple Avenue School site as contemplated under N.J.A.C. 6A:26-1.2., i.e., "by purchase, condemnation, or by gift or grant." Instead, the Board's case is premised upon its position that it is entitled to reacquire the site based upon a reversionary interest expressed within the Agreement. "A reversionary interest is any future interest left in a transferor or his successor in interest." Restatement of the Law, Property § 154 (Am. Law Inst. 1936). Essentially, the Board is claiming that it retained an interest in the Maple Avenue School site even after the sale of the property. Because the enforcement litigation is not a land acquisition as defined by the regulations, N.J.A.C. 6A:26-7.1, which describes the process by which districts, or the SDA on behalf of a district, may obtain approval (and ultimately, funding) for land acquisition "in connection with a school facilities project," is inapplicable to the enforcement litigation.

Additionally, EFCFA's regulations explain that "[s]chool districts may seek to acquire land as part of a school facilities project or prior to approval of a school facilities project." N.J.A.C. 6A:26-3.12(b). Thus, "acquisition of land" can be a "preconstruction activity" that is "undertaken prior to submission of a school facilities project application." N.J.A.C. 6A:26-3.9(b)(1). However, school facilities projects in SDA districts are constructed by the SDA. N.J.A.C. 6A:26-3.5(a). If the district is an SDA district, then the SDA is the entity that undertakes preconstruction activities following authorization by DOE. N.J.A.C. 6A:26-3.9(b)(1). An enforcement lawsuit filed by the Board, therefore, is not a preconstruction acquisition of land as contemplated under EFCFA's regulatory scheme as it is not being undertaken by the SDA.

Petitioner's alternative claims—that even if the litigation is neither a school facilities project nor a land acquisition, it constitutes "preconstruction activities" per N.J.A.C. 6A:26-3.9(b)(1), a "capital project" per N.J.A.C. 6A:26-3.1(a), and a project to "acquire an existing facility" per N.J.A.C. 6A:26-7.3(a)—lack merit for several reasons. At the outset, the ALJ was under no obligation to decide these issues because they are beyond the scope of the remand. Further, the petition failed to assert any claim that the enforcement litigation constituted "preconstruction activities" or a "capital project." Moreover, as noted previously, the litigation does not constitute preconstruction activities as contemplated under the regulations because it was not undertaken by the SDA.

While the petition did cite N.J.A.C. 6A:26-7.3(a), which pertains to the acquisition of an existing facility, the Commissioner finds that said regulation is inapplicable to the enforcement litigation. In January 2022, the Board sought a major amendment to its LRFP, which the DOE approved in March 2022. According to page seven of the DOE's summary of the LRFP, as amended, the Board intends to demolish the former Maple Avenue School and construct a new Maple Avenue School. Thus, even if it successfully reclaims title to the property, the record reflects that it intends to demolish the existing facility at the Maple Avenue School site. For these reasons, the record fails to support petitioner's assertion that the Commissioner should have approved the existing facility "in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:26-3", per N.J.A.C. 6A:26-7.3(a), prior to the commencement of the enforcement litigation.

Additionally, petitioner incorrectly asserts in its exceptions that the ALJ's September 2023 Initial Decision ignored and failed to address whether the Board violated EFCFA and related regulations by declining to approve the Superior Court litigation via resolution or motion. On the contrary, the record confirms that the ALJ's September 2023 Initial Decision adequately addressed the issue, and the Commissioner concurs with her findings and conclusions. The ALJ found that "[t]he filing of the [Superior Court] Complaint and Amended Complaint were not authorized by a resolution by the Board." Initial Decision, at 3. The ALJ further found that "[r]espondent argues that the pursuit of litigation does not require the Board's or the Commissioner's approval." Ibid. In her analysis, the ALJ concluded that "[t]he regulations [N.J.A.C. 6A:26-3.2(b)(13)] require a resolution from the Board of Education of the district authorizing the submitting of the application to the Department of Education for a school facilities project." Id. at 4. Ultimately, however, the ALJ concluded that the enforcement litigation was not a school facilities project. Id. at 5. Consequently, although not explicitly stated by the ALJ, it follows that a Board resolution was not required under EFCFA or its regulations prior to commencement of the enforcement litigation.

Finally, the Commissioner emphasizes that the holding in this matter is limited to the unique facts presented in this case, i.e., that the Board's filing of the Superior Court litigation to enforce the Agreement and reclaim title to the former Maple Avenue School site neither violated EFCFA nor the related regulations; that the enforcement litigation at issue here is neither a school facilities project nor a land acquisition as contemplated under EFCFA and the regulations; and that neither EFCFA nor the related regulations required the Board to seek approval from the Commissioner prior to initiating the enforcement litigation. If the Board ultimately obtains title to the Maple Avenue School site and decides to initiate a school facilities project at that location in the future, then it will be expected to follow the process set forth in EFCFA and related regulations.

Accordingly, the Board's motion for summary decision is granted, and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

As stated in the prior decisions, on April 2016, Newark Board of Education (Board or NBE or respondent) entered into a site disposition and development agreement (Agreement) with the Newark Housing authority (NHA). The Board agreed to transfer twelve school buildings to NHA. NHA agreed to convey those buildings to third parties for the benefit of the Board and the City of Newark.

There is also a provision in the agreement Article 5.2 which states:

> "Any sites conveyed to the NHA shall be subject to a right of reversion exercisable by Newark Public Schools (NPS) if and to the extent the NHA has not developed a site project or demonstrable plans for such site within three years from the date of execution of this agreement."

Maple Avenue School was included in the agreement. The Board transferred the title of Maple Avenue School to NHA on June 30, 2016.

On or about December 27, 2017, NHA sold the Maple Avenue School property 33 Maple Avenue Urban renewal LLC (33 Maple LLC). On March 12, 2020, 33 Maple LLC sold the property to petitioner. Petitioner is developing the property as a public school.

On April 6, 2020, the Board filed a complaint in Superior Court Chancery Division Essex County titled Newark Board of Education v. Newark Housing Authority Docket No ESX-C 67-20. The Complaint is for breach of covenant of good faith and fair dealing, tortious interference with contract, and unjust enrichment. The Board seeks to enforce its rights of reversion to Maple Avenue School on the grounds that a site project had not been completed and the property was not being used for one of the agreements permitted uses. The Board's attorneys in that matter are Sattiraju & Tharney LLP who were among the law firms selected in accordance with the Board's policies and procedures for ensuring prudent use of legal services and authorized by resolution the Board to represent its interests. Sattiraju & Tharney LLP were assigned this matter by the Board's general counsel.

On April 27, 2020, an amended complaint was filed naming plaintiff as a defendant. The amended complaint was served on plaintiff on May 4, 2020. The Board filed a second amended complaint on August 31, 2020. Plaintiff filed a motion to dismiss the Superior Court Complaint on October 2, 2020. That motion was denied on December 20, 2020.

The filing of the Complaint and Amended Complaint were not authorized by a resolution by the Board. The Board is being advised of the status of the civil action. The Board did not obtain the Commission of Education's approval to obtain property. Roger Leon, the Superintendent of Schools in Newark, in a deposition on May 3, 2022, testified that if the litigation was successful, the property would be used for student instructional purposes.

Petitioner alleges that this is a school facility matter and that in addition to not having a Board resolution, respondent did not obtain the Commissioners approval to acquire property. Respondent argues that the pursuit of litigation does not require the Board's or the Commissioner's approval. Respondent also argues that the filing of the litigation is not a school facility project. The civil action is currently pending in Superior Court.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

Petitioner and respondent seeks to summarily dismiss petitioner's claim. The rules governing motions for summary decision in an OAL matter are embodied N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5. These provisions mirror the language of Rule 4:46-2 and the New Jersey Supreme Court's decision in Judson v. Peoples Bank and Trust Company of Westfield, 17 N.J. 67 (1954). Under N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b), the determination to grant summary judgment should be based on the papers presented as well as any affidavits, which may have been filed with the application. In order for the adverse, i.e., the non-moving party to prevail in such an application, responding affidavits must be submitted showing that there is indeed a genuine issue of fact, which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding. The Court in Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Company of America, 142 N.J. 520, 523 (1995), set the standard to be applied when deciding a motion for summary judgment. Therein the Court stated:

> The determination whether there exists a genuine issue with respect to a material fact challenged requires the Motion Judge to consider whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party . . . are sufficient to permit a rational fact finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party. There is no issue of material fact.

Petitioner argues that respondent was required to obtain Board approval and approval of the Commissioner to file the civil action. It cites the Educational Facilities Construction and Finance Act (EFCFA) N.J.S.A. 18A:7G-1 et seq. The Department of Education is responsible for review and approval of school facilities projects. The regulations require a resolution from the Board of Education of the district authorizing the submitting of the application to the to the Department of Education for a school facilities project.

In the civil action, respondent argues that it is entitled to revision of the property in question due to violation of the contract and Petitioner did not provide any regulation that states that a superintendent cannot commence a civil action without a resolution by the Board of Education.

N.J.A.C. 6A: 26-1.2 defines school facility project as:

> "School facilities project" means the acquisition, demolition, construction, improvement, repair, alteration, modernization, renovation, reconstruction, > or capital maintenance of all or any part of a school facility or any other personal property necessary for, or ancillary to, any school facility. School facilities project includes, but is not limited to, fixtures; furnishings and equipment; site acquisition; site development; services of design professionals such as engineers and architects; construction management; legal services; financing costs; and administrative costs and expenses incurred in connection with the project. To qualify as a school facilities project, the project must be new construction to meet the housing needs of unhoused students, or rehabilitation to keep a school facility functional for its original purpose or for a new purpose accomplished within the gross square footage of the original building. Maintenance projects intended solely to achieve the design life of a school facility and routine maintenance do not constitute school facilities projects.

N.J.A.C. 6A:1.2 defines land acquisition as:

> Land acquisition" means an acquisition of land, whether by purchase, condemnation, or by gift or grant, to be used as a school site. Land acquisition is either an eligible cost of a school facilities project or another capital project not eligible for funding pursuant to EFCFA.

N.J.A.C. 6A: 26-3.2 (a) (1)(2) (3) provides:

> (a) Any school district seeking to initiate a school facilities project shall apply to the Division on a Commissioner-provided form for approval of the school facilities project. School facilities projects include:
> 1. New construction;
> 2. Rehabilitation, provided that the rehabilitation or capital maintenance consists of the entire building system in the same school facility building section, as building section is defined in the approved LRFP, unless one or more of the components of a mechanical, electrical, or plumbing building system is required for the continued operation of such system;
> 3. Acquisition of existing buildings to accommodate unhoused students;

This matter is not a school facility project. It is not new construction to meet the housing needs of unhoused students or rehabilitation to keep a school facility functional for its original purpose. NBOE is not attempting to purchase the Maple Avenue school. It is not attempting to acquire the Maple Avenue School by condemnation, gift, or grant. If NBOE wins the lawsuit in Superior Court, it will not be granted the property, the property will revert to it due to the language of the contract.

N.J.A.C. 6A: 26-7.1 provides:

> (a) A school district may obtain voter approval pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:26-3 or 9 for funding of land acquisition prior to Division approval of the land acquisition. A school district shall not take any action to acquire the land prior to obtaining Division approval.
> (b) A school district, or the Development Authority on behalf of a school district, shall submit to the Division the following information to obtain approval under (a) above for land in connection with a school facilities project. The following requirements do not address requirements of other State agencies having approval or permitting jurisdiction over land acquisition.
> (c) A school district that intends to acquire land not in connection with a school facilities project shall submit all of the information required under (b) above except (b)1ii and iii and shall further be excepted from the requirements of (d) and (e) below. If the school district later intends to change the use of the land and use as a school site, the school district shall be required to submit all of the information required under this section and the aforementioned exceptions shall no longer apply.

In this matter, respondent filed a civil action in Superior Court for reversion of the property that was Maple Avenue School to revert to respondent because the contract that transferred the property was breached. If NBOE is successful in the civil litigation the land will revert to them.

The civil action is not a new construction to meet the housing needs of unhoused students, or rehabilitation to keep a school facility functional for its original purpose or for a new purpose accomplished within the gross square footage of the original building which are the requirements for a school facilities project in the regulation. The civil action is based on whether respondent is entitled to reversion of the property based on the contract. Since this is not a school facility matter or land acquisition N.J.A.C. 6A:26-7.1 does not apply.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

S.U. and G.L. on behalf of minor child, M.D.U.,

Petitioners,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Southampton, Burlington County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

The petitioners appealed a final determination by the respondent Board to deny their son entry into the school district's enrichment program for gifted students. By email dated January 25, 2022, the superintendent of schools notified petitioners that the Board had affirmed the school district's determination that their son was not eligible for the enrichment program. Petitioners emailed their petition of appeal to the Office of Controversies and Disputes (Office) at 5:58 p.m. on April 25, 2022, after the close of business on the 90th day following notification of the Board's final determination. The Board filed a motion to dismiss the petition as untimely pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.2 and 6A:3-1.3(i), which provides that petitions shall be filed "no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling, or other action by the district board of education."

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: the substantive facts are largely immaterial in this case, which can be decided on procedural grounds; the 90-day rule is a reasonable procedural requirement that is meant to be strictly construed, petitioners' arguments were unpersuasive, and they offered no compelling reason to relax the 90-day rule; and the case must be dismissed as a matter of law. The ALJ concluded that the petitioners' appeal is out of time. Accordingly, the Board's motion to dismiss was granted.

Upon review, the Commissioner, inter alia, concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusions, and—finding the petitioners' exceptions to be unpersuasive—adopted the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. Accordingly, the petition of appeal was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

S.U. and G.L., on behalf of minor child, M.D.U.,

Petitioners,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Southampton, Burlington County,

Respondent.

The record of this matter, the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the exceptions filed by petitioners pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-18.4, and the Board's reply thereto, have been reviewed and considered.

By email dated January 25, 2022, the Board notified petitioners of its decision to deny their minor child entry into the Southampton Township Enrichment Program (STEP) for the 2021-22 school year. Petitioners emailed their petition of appeal to the Office of Controversies and Disputes (Office) at 5:58 p.m. on April 25, 2022, after the close of business on the 90th day following notification of the Board's determination. The Office deemed the petition filed on the following day, April 26, 2022, pursuant to the definition of "day" found in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.2, which states that "[f]ilings received after the close of business (4:15 P.M.) shall be deemed filed on the next business day."

The Board moved to dismiss the petition as untimely pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.2 and 6A:3-1.3(i), which provides that petitions shall be filed "no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling, or other action by the district board of education."

The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) granted the Board's motion to dismiss the petition upon concluding that it was filed one day late. Citing relevant case law, the ALJ explained that the 90-day rule is a reasonable procedural requirement that is to be strictly construed. Moreover, the ALJ found that petitioners did not offer a compelling reason for the 90-day rule to be relaxed. The ALJ considered and rejected as unpersuasive petitioners' arguments that: (1) the Board's motion did not contain proof of service and should be dismissed; (2) the definition of "day" at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.2 is inapplicable; (3) dismissal of the petition would be unduly harsh because it was received so soon after the filing deadline; and (4) the 90-day rule should be relaxed because the appeal involves a matter of significant public interest.

In their exceptions, petitioners reiterate the arguments they made before the ALJ. Additionally, they contend that the ALJ should have considered the fact that the OAL relaxed its procedural requirements during the COVID-19 pandemic, and that the Board sent petitioners notice of its decision at 5:04 P.M. on January 25, 2022—after the 4:15 P.M. close of business cited in the Department's regulations. Furthermore, petitioners contend that case law cited by the ALJ regarding the 90-day rule is "beyond inapposite," and that the ALJ should have considered New Jersey Court Rule 1:1-2, which states that the Superior Court may relax its rules if adherence thereto would result in an injustice.

In its reply, the Board argues overall that the Commissioner should adopt the ALJ's Initial Decision and asserts that petitioners' exceptions simply restate unpersuasive arguments made below and rejected by the ALJ.

Upon review, the Commissioner adopts the Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. The Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that the instant petition is appropriately dismissed because it was filed outside the 90-day limitation period set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i). The Commissioner agrees with the ALJ that there is no compelling reason to relax the 90-day limitation period in this case. The Commissioner also finds that the ALJ properly rejected as unpersuasive petitioners' arguments regarding procedural deficiencies in the Board's motion, the inapplicability of the definition of "day" at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.2, and in favor of relaxation of the 90-day rule to avoid undue harshness or because the petition involved a matter of significant public interest.

The Commissioner further finds and concludes that the other contentions advanced by petitioners in their exceptions lack merit. The OAL's relaxation of certain procedural requirements during the COVID-19 pandemic has no bearing upon the applicability of the Department's regulations, specifically N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.2 and 6A:3-1.3(i), to this case. Moreover, the fact that the Board sent petitioners notice of its decision via email at 5:04 P.M. on January 25, 2022, in no way prejudiced them because—as the Board points out in its reply—the 90-day period did not start to run until January 26, 2022. Additionally, the case law cited by the ALJ regarding the 90-day rule, including but not limited to Kaprow v. Board of Education of Berkeley Township, 131 N.J. 572, 583 (1993), is relevant and instructive. Finally, there was no need for the ALJ to consider New Jersey Court Rule 1:1-2, which does not apply to administrative proceedings at the OAL. See N.J. Ct. R. 1:1-1 (explaining that "the rules in Part I are applicable to the Supreme Court, the Superior Court, the Tax Court, the surrogate's courts, and the municipal courts").

Accordingly, the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed.

S.U. AND G.L. ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILD, M.D.U., Petitioners,
v.
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF SOUTHAMPTON, BURLINGTON COUNTY,
Respondent.

S.U., petitioner, pro se

Robert A. Muccilli, Esq., for respondent Southampton Board of Education (Capehart Scatchard, attorneys)

Record Closed: November 29, 2022 Decided: November 2, 2023

BEFORE ELIA A. PELIOS, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Respondent, the Southampton Board of Education (Board), moves to dismiss as untimely petitioners S.U. and G.L.'s appeal challenging the Board's decision to deny their son M.D.U. admittance into the District's enrichment program for gifted students.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On or about September 27, 2021, petitioners' son, M.D.U., was denied entry into the Southampton Township Enrichment Program. Petitioners filed a complaint with the Board on December 20, 2021, seeking to reverse the Board's decision. At the Board meeting convened on January 24, 2022, the Board considered petitioners' complaint challenging its determination. By email dated January 25, 2022, petitioners received notice from the superintendent of schools that the Board affirmed the administration's determination of ineligibility. Petitioners filed their petition of appeal with the Department of Education at 5:58 p.m. on April 25, 2022, ninety days after the Board's determination. On May 13, 2022, the Board moved to dismiss petitioners' petition of appeal as untimely. The matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law, where it was filed on May 16, 2022, for hearing as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. A pre-hearing telephone conference was held on August 2, 2022, and an oral argument was conducted via Zoom on November 29, 2022, after which the record closed.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

The substantive facts are largely immaterial to the matter at hand, which can be decided on procedural grounds. In the interest of thoroughness, the relevant facts are as follows.

The District uses a points-based matrix to determine eligibility for the Southampton Township Enrichment Program (STEP) based on students' scores in the following areas: staff ratings, the F&P Benchmark assessment, the Star 360 Reading and Math tests, the Otis-Lennon School Ability Test, and the Screening Assessment for Gifted Elementary

Students. Typically, only the top 10 percent of scorers are invited to participate in the program each year. Petitioners' son participated in STEP in the three years preceding the 2021–2022 school year. M.D.U. scored below the cutoff score for the 2021–2022 school year, and, consequently, was denied admittance into the program for that year.

In essence, petitioners' appeal alleges that the test scores were misapplied in the District's points-based system—that the matrix scoring system for the Star 360 Reading and Math tests is flawed because the District uses students' percentile rank (PR) scores as absolute values rather than considering the entire PR ranges generated by the tests. As a result of the District's error, M.D.U. was wrongfully excluded from STEP.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

Under the rules of procedure for the filing of petitions with the Commissioner of Education to hear and decide controversies and disputes arising under school laws, N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.1 to -1.17, "[t]he petitioner shall file a petition no later than the 90th day from the date of receipt of the notice of a final order, ruling, or other action by the district board of education, individual party, or agency, that is the subject of the requested contested case hearing." N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(i). "'Day' means . . . calendar day when the period specified is seven days or more." N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.2. The day of the order, ruling, or action being challenged is not included in the calculation of time periods, but the last day is counted "unless such day falls on a Saturday, Sunday or holiday, in which case the last day shall be deemed the next business day immediately following." Ibid. In addition, "[f]ilings received after the close of business (4:15 P.M.) shall be deemed filed on the next business day." Ibid.

The ninety-day rule has been recognized as a "reasonable procedural requirement" that both affords litigants a meaningful opportunity to file a petition and promotes finality in education matters. Kaprow v. Bd. of Educ. of Berkeley Twp., 131 N.J. 572, 583 (1993). This rule has been strictly construed by the Commissioner of Education, the State Board of Education, and New Jersey courts. See Riely v. Bd. of Educ. of Hunterdon Cent. Reg'l High Sch. Dist., 173 N.J. Super. 109, 113 (App. Div. 1980). While the Commissioner of Education has broad discretion to relax the rules, such authority is rarely invoked "unless there are compelling reasons . . . or where circumstances are such that strict adherence would be inappropriate, unnecessary[,]" or unjust. DeMaio v. New Providence Bd. of Educ., 96 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 449, 453 (citation omitted). Circumstances potentially justifying relaxation include "[w]here a substantial constitutional issue was presented, where judicial review was sought of an informal administrative determination, and where a matter of significant public interest is involved." Portee v. Bd. of Educ. of Newark, 94 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 381 (citation omitted).

The purpose of a limitation on the filing of actions is twofold. First, it serves "to stimulate litigants to pursue a right of action within a reasonable time so that the opposing party may have a fair opportunity to defend, thus preventing the litigation of stale claims." Ochs v. Fed. Ins. Co., 90 N.J. 108, 112 (1982) (citations omitted). "The second function is to 'penalize dilatoriness and serve as [a] measure[] of repose.'" Ibid. (quoting Farrell v. Votator Div. of Chemetron Corp., 62 N.J. 111, 115 (1975)).

Respondent argues that petitioners' appeal is untimely. According to respondent, petitioners' appeal, filed after the close of business ninety days after the challenged decision, is deemed to have been received the next business day, putting it beyond the ninety-day timeline.

In response, petitioners advance four main arguments. First, they argue that respondent's motion did not contain proof of service and that the motion should be dismissed on that basis alone. Second, they argue that the definition of "day" does not apply in this case based on prefatory language contained in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.2 ("unless the context clearly indicates otherwise"). Third, they argue, essentially, that their appeal was received so soon after the deadline that dismissal would be unduly harsh. And finally, they argue that the ninety-day rule, if it was violated, should be relaxed because their appeal "involve[s] a matter of significant public interest—whether Respondent's arbitrary and capricious conduct violated the Strengthening Gifted and Talented Education Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:35-34." Petitioners maintain that their lawsuit impacts "similarly situated students that were denied enrichment."

Petitioners' arguments are unpersuasive. Petitioners received notice of respondent's motion and were given an opportunity to respond. Under the rules, "[f]ilings received after the close of business (4:15 P.M.) shall be deemed filed on the next business day." N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.2. This provision explicitly applies to Chapter 3 of Title 6A of the New Jersey Administrative Code, dealing with Controversies and Disputes before the Commissioner of Education. See ibid. Because petitioners' appeal was filed at 5:58 p.m. ninety days after the challenged action, it is deemed to have been filed on the ninety-first day. As the ninety-day rule is strictly construed, and petitioners have not offered a compelling reason why the rule should be relaxed, dismissal is appropriate. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that petitioners' appeal is out of time.

ORDER

It is ORDERED that respondent's motion to dismiss is GRANTED and petitioners' appeal is DISMISSED with prejudice.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five (45) days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen (13) days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

In the Matter of the Certificates of Richard Chambers, State Board of Examiners,
New Jersey Department of Education.

Order of Revocation by the State Board of Examiners, March 3, 2023

For the Appellant, Edward Cridge, Esq.

For the Respondent State Board of Examiners, Michal Czarnecki, DeputyAttorney General (Matthew J. Platkin, Attorney General of New Jersey)

The Commissioner has reviewed the record and the papers filed in connection with appellant Richard Chambers' appeal of the Order of the State Board of Examiners (Board), dated March 3, 2023, revoking his Teacher of Music certificate. Following the issuance of an Order to Show Cause and a hearing at the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) found that appellant engaged in conduct unbecoming a teacher and recommended that appellant's certificate be revoked. The ALJ found that petitioner, a middle school music teacher, grabbed student M.L. by the collar on two occasions, and that he threw M.L. on the ground on one of those occasions. The ALJ further found that, in another incident, appellant grabbed student J.S. and threw him against a wall. Thereafter, the Board adopted the Initial Decision of the ALJ and revoked appellant's certificate.

On appeal, appellant argues that the determination regarding J.S. was based on hearsay with no residuum of competent evidence. Appellant also contends that the ALJ erroneously concluded that M.L.'s testimony was credible, and appellant's testimony was not credible. According to appellant, even if all the findings of the ALJ are accepted, revocation is an excessive penalty and not in line with penalties imposed by the Board in other cases. Appellant also points to his lengthy career without any allegations until those at issue in this matter.

In reviewing appeals from decisions of the Board, the Commissioner may not substitute her judgment for that of the Board so long as the appellant received due process and the Board's decision is supported by sufficient credible evidence in the record. Further, the Board's decision should not be disturbed unless the appellant demonstrates that it is arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. N.J.A.C. 6A:4-4.1(a). With regard to reviewing a sanction imposed by the Board, the Appellate Division has defined the standard as determining whether the "punishment is so disproportionate to the offense, in light of all the circumstances, as to be shocking to one's sense of fairness." In re Certificates of Benjamin Norton, 2016 N.J. Super. Unpub. LEXIS 2291, *6-7 (internal citations and quotations omitted).

Upon review of the record, the Commissioner finds that appellant received due process and concurs with the Board that appellant has engaged in unbecoming conduct. The Commissioner also finds that the Board's decision to revoke appellant's certificate was not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable.

Pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c), an ALJ's credibility findings may not be rejected or modified unless those findings are "arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable or are not supported by sufficient, competent, and credible evidence in the record." Having thoroughly reviewed the record, the Commissioner finds no reason to disturb the ALJ's finding that M.L.'s testimony was credible, while appellant's testimony was not. Having observed the witnesses' demeanor, tone, and physical actions, the ALJ was in the best position to make credibility determinations. With regard to M.L., the ALJ specifically acknowledged that certain areas of his testimony appeared to be partially embellished, but the ALJ nonetheless found that M.L.'s testimony that appellant had inappropriately touched him was credible and persuasive. The ALJ's findings were further supported by the fact that both M.L.'s own statement to the Department of Children and Families Institutional Abuse Investigation Unit (IAIU) investigator, taken shortly after the classroom incident, as well the statements made to the investigator by other students who witnessed the incident, corroborated the version of events he set forth in his testimony. The minor inconsistencies in M.L.'s testimony that appellant identifies do not change this conclusion.

The Commissioner finds that it was not inappropriate for the Board to consider evidence of the incident between appellant and J.S. In IMO of the Tenure Hearing of M. William Cowan, Sch. Dist. of the Borough of Bernardsville, 224 N.J. Super. 737, 740 (App. Div. 1988), a tenured teacher (Cowan) was dismissed for unbecoming conduct based, in part, on an incident of alleged assault, which Cowan denied had occurred. Evidence of the assault consisted of: 1) the testimony of the school's principal, who did not witness the incident; 2) the principal's memorandum to Cowan, recounting the facts the principal had learned from eyewitnesses; and 3) Cowan's memorandum in response, denying the allegations. Id. at 748. The teacher contended that all of this evidence was inadmissible hearsay, and the Appellate Division agreed. Id. at 749. However, the Appellate Division "nonetheless conclude[d] that application of the residuum rule does not require that hearsay evidence of the assault be ignored." Id. at 750. The Appellate Division stated:

> Applying the residuum rule requires identifying the "ultimate finding of fact" that must be supported by a residuum of competent evidence. Here the "ultimate finding of fact" was that during the years 1974, 1975, 1980, 1982 and 1984 appellant engaged in one or more of eleven acts of alleged misconduct that were "unbecoming." Alternatively, one might characterize as the "ultimate finding of fact" that appellant was engaged in a course of unbecoming conduct of which the acts charged were examples. Whether each of the acts charged is viewed as unbecoming conduct, as corroborative evidence that one or more of the other acts charged were unbecoming conduct, or only as examples of a course of unbecoming conduct, there need not be a residuum of competent evidence to prove each act considered by the Commissioner so long as "the combined probative force of the relevant hearsay and the relevant competent evidence" sustains the Commissioner's ultimate finding of unbecoming conduct.

Ibid. (citing to Weston v. State, 60 N.J. 36, 52 (1972)).

Here, the evidence of the incident between appellant and J.S. is similar to the evidence presented in Cowan, including: 1) the testimony of IAIU investigator Tamika Solomon, who did not witness the event; 2) Solomon's report, recounting the facts as described to her by the students who witnessed the incident with J.S.; and 3) appellant's testimony denying the allegations regarding J.S. There is additional evidence in the form of written statements from the student witnesses, given on the same day as the incident. As in Cowan, all of the pieces of evidence against appellant are hearsay. Nonetheless, as in Cowan, the application of the residuum rule did not require the Board to disregard evidence of the incident with J.S., because there does not need to be a residuum of competent evidence to prove each act considered by the Board. The Commissioner concludes that the combined probative force of all of the evidence – the competent evidence regarding the two incidents with M.L. and the hearsay evidence regarding the incident with J.S. – sustains the Board's ultimate finding of unbecoming conduct.

The Commissioner concludes that the Board's decision to impose the penalty of revocation is not arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable. In IMO the Certificate of Julius Young, State Board of Examiners, decided July 25, 2006, the Board revoked the certificate of a teacher who choked a student into unconsciousness. In doing so, the Board noted that the teacher demonstrated a lack of self-restraint and stated that such "volatility does not belong in a classroom." Ibid. In IMO the Certificates of Laurie Rosen, State Board of Examiners, decided October 20, 2005, the Board revoked the certificates of a teacher who kicked a student, hit him in the head with an open hand, and hit his head against a wooden divider.[1] In doing so, the Board quoted the ALJ, who found that it was irrelevant whether the student was the aggressor and stated, "Rosen should have known better and her failure to take alternative, acceptable corrective action short of striking the child clearly constituted unbecoming conduct." Ibid. Here, while appellant's actions toward J.S. and M.S. may be less severe than the actions of Young or Rosen, his loss of control resulted in aggressive behavior on multiple occasions.[2] It does not "shock the sense of fairness" for the Board to revoke the certificate of a teacher who demonstrates this type of volatility and lack of judgment.

While appellant argues that revocation is too severe a penalty based on decisions in tenure matters imposing lesser penalties, the Commissioner does not find this argument

[1] The Commissioner notes that criminal charges were also filed against Laurie Rosen. Despite appellant's argument to the contrary, the Commissioner does not find this distinction persuasive. Rosen entered a pre-trial intervention program and, accordingly, was not convicted of any criminal charges.

[2] Furthermore, his behavior was more egregious than the behavior of the teachers in the cases cited by appellant in support of his argument for a lesser penalty.

persuasive. Initially, the majority of cases cited by appellant do not involve a teacher engaging in physical contact with a student, and those cases are therefore inapposite to the Board's determination here. Those cases that do involve physical contact are factually distinguishable and, even if they had involved the same conduct committed by appellant, they would not be relevant because the Board is not bound by penalties assessed in tenure proceedings. Tenure proceedings and Board proceedings are separate proceedings undertaken for different purposes. Tenure proceedings are limited to a determination as to whether any proven tenure charges warrant the teacher's dismissal from employment or reduction in salary. N.J.S.A. 18A:6-38. Board proceedings include a determination of whether the teacher's conduct warrants revocation or suspension of his certificate. N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.4(a). The Commissioner has previously held that even in proceedings against the same individual involving the same conduct, the Board is not precluded from imposing a higher penalty than an arbitrator imposed in tenure proceedings. In the Matter of the Certificates of Nicholas Cilento, State Board of Examiners, New Jersey Department of Education, Commissioner Decision No. 131-22, decided June 23, 2022; In the Matter of the Certificates of Scott Levy, State Board of Examiners, New Jersey Department of Education, Commissioner Decision No. 268-23, decided September 7, 2023.

Furthermore, while appellant argues that he has never been subject to any other discipline or Board action, that alone does not suffice to mitigate appellant's pattern of physical aggression.

Accordingly, the decision of the Board is affirmed. Appellant's Teacher of Music certificate is hereby revoked.[3]

Synopsis

Petitioner – a school bus driver – appealed the Department's determination to suspend his school bus endorsement pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:39-28 et seq. following an incident in which a Howell Township Middle School student was left on petitioner's school bus at the end of one of his assigned bus routes. Petitioner admitted his mistake in leaving a student on his school bus at the conclusion of the route, but also submitted that his employer, Jay's Bus Service (JBS), suspended him from driving school buses immediately following the March 2, 2023, incident. Petitioner contended that he attended retraining and accepted responsibility for his actions, and that the six-month suspension of his school bus endorsement should be mitigated in length or not imposed based on the time which has elapsed since he was suspended by JBS from driving school buses. The respondent Department filed a motion to dismiss, which was converted to a motion for summary decision.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue in this case, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; petitioner admitted that on March 2, 2023, he did not conduct a full visual inspection of his school bus when he dropped off students at the Howell Township Middle School, before proceeding to his next assigned stop; he did not realize that a student remained on the bus until several stops later, when the Howell Township student tapped him on the shoulder; pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:39-28, petitioner had an affirmative duty to visually inspect the school bus at the end of the transportation route to determine that no pupil had been left on the bus; and although petitioner had a number of reasons why his school bus endorsement suspension should be offset in full or in part, none of these are sufficient as the penalty imposed under N.J.S.A. 18A:39-29(a) is mandatory and not subject to mitigation. Accordingly, the ALJ concluded that there is no factual dispute and as a matter of law, the S endorsement on petitioner's New Jersey driver's license must be suspended for six months.

Upon full review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ that the respondent is entitled to summary decision. Accordingly, the petition was dismissed, and respondent was directed to notify the Motor Vehicle Commission of its obligation to suspend petitioner's school bus endorsement pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:39-26 et seq., and to notify petitioner's employer that he is ineligible for the period of suspension for continued employment as a school bus driver.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

Final Decision

James Wandling,

Petitioner,

v.

New Jersey Department of Education, Office of Student Protection,

Respondent.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

Upon review, the Commissioner adopts the comprehensive Initial Decision as the final decision in this matter. The Commissioner concurs with the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) that the facts are undisputed, and that respondent is entitled to summary decision. On March 2, 2023, petitioner failed to conduct a visual inspection of his school bus, in violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:39-28, and a student remained on the bus at the conclusion of his route. For a first offense, N.J.S.A. 18A:39-29(a) mandates a six-month suspension of petitioner's school bus "S" endorsement on his driver's license.

Accordingly, respondent's motion for summary decision is granted and the petition of appeal is hereby dismissed. Respondent is directed to notify the New Jersey Motor Vehicle Commission (MVC) of its obligation, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:39-29(a), to suspend petitioner's school bus "S" endorsement on his driver's license for six months beginning on the date of issuance of this final decision. Respondent shall also notify petitioner's employer that, for the period of suspension, he is ineligible for continued employment as a school bus driver.

IT IS SO ORDERED.[1]

NEW JERSEY DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION,

OFFICE OF STUDENT PROTECTION,

Sadia Ahsanuddin, Deputy Attorney General, for New Jersey Department of Education (Matthew J. Platkin, Attorney General of New Jersey, attorney)

Record Closed: September 12, 2023 Decided: October 27, 2023

BEFORE ROBERT D. HERMAN, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, James Wandling, is a school bus driver employed with a private company which services Howell Township public schools. When dropping students off at the Howell Middle School, petitioner failed to perform a check of his bus. Three stops into his next route, a middle school student was found on the bus. As a result, the New Jersy Department of Education (DOE), Office of Student Protection (OSP), seeks to impose a six-month suspension of petitioner's "school bus endorsement" on his motor vehicle license pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:39-29(a). The facts as to the incident are not in dispute. Petitioner seeks to avoid or reduce the six-month suspension set forth in the statute.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On March 2, 2023, a student was left on petitioner's bus. (DOC 1 at 1.)[1] On March 3, 2023, the DOE notified petitioner via email of the alleged violation of N.J.S.A. 18A:39-28 et seq. and stated that "the referenced statute [sic] involves a 6-month suspension of [his] 'S' endorsement to operate a school bus." (DOC 2 at 1.) On March 15, 2023, petitioner filed an online "Pro Se Petition of Appeal" with the DOE. (DOC 3 at 1.) In conjunction with the appeal, petitioner submitted a letter detailing what transpired. (DOC 5 at 5.)

On April 13, 2023, the DOE filed a motion to dismiss the petition of appeal pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.10, claiming petitioner "failed to set forth a contested matter under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-12.1." (DOC 4 at 1.) The same date, this matter was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), where it was filed, to be heard as a contested case pursuant to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to 14B-15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to 14F-13. (DOC 5 at 1-2.)

An initial case conference was scheduled for May 31, 2023. (DOC 6 at 1.) Due to party availability, the initial case conference occurred on June 8, 2023. (DOC 7 at 1.) A subsequent case conference failed to bear fruit and, because of the narrow issues present in the matter, a final case conference was scheduled for July 11, 2023. (DOC 8 at 1; DOC 10 at 1.) In the interim, on or about June 21, 2023, petitioner provided the DOE with a letter from his employer. (DOC 9 at 1.) Again due to party availability, the final case conference was rescheduled to July 25, 2023. (DOC 11 at 1.)

[1]The rolling submissions of the parties as well as documents produced by the OAL form the whole of the record in this matter. For purposes of legibility and review, the documents will be referred to as "Document" or "DOC" along with a reference number.

At the July 25, 2023, case conference, both parties were directed to provide certain information by August 11, 2023. On August 7, 2023, the DOE provided supplemental submissions. (DOC 12; and DOC 13.) On August 9, 2023, petitioner also provided supplemental submissions. (DOC 14, DOC 15; and DOC 16.) On August 10, 2023, a request was made for petitioner to provide additional information. (DOC 17 at 1.) This was followed by a more specific request on August 11, 2023, to further enunciate the information sought. (DOC 18 at 1.) On August 22, 2023, a request was also made for DOE's initial, formal finding against petitioner and whether the DOE stated that penalties or sanctions were imposed as against petitioner. (DOC 20 at 1.) In response, the DOE provided the requested information on August 30, 2023. (DOC 21 at 1-2.)

The last case conference occurred on September 7, 2023. (DOC 22 at 1.) There, the information contained in the March 3, 2023, DOE email was confirmed with both parties. The record was kept open to permit the parties to provide final submissions. On September 8, 2023 (printed September 11, 2023), the final submission was received. (DOC 23 at 1-6.) The matter was converted sua sponte from a motion to dismiss the petition of appeal pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.10 to a motion for summary decision pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5.

On September 12, 2023, the record closed and this decision now follows.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS

The following undisputed facts were gleaned from the written submissions of the parties, or otherwise confirmed by the parties, which I adopt and FIND as FACTS:

1. On March 2, 2023, petitioner was actively employed and working as a school bus driver for a private company, Jay's Bus Service (JBS). (DOC 1 at 1; DOC 5 at 5.)

2. Petitioner has an "S" endorsement on his New Jersey motor vehicle driver's license. The "S" endorsement permits petitioner to drive school buses in New Jersey. (DOC 2 at 1.)

3. In the morning of March 2, 2023, petitioner was involved in his usual activity of picking up and dropping students off at the Howell Township Middle School. (DOC 5 at 5.)

4. After dropping students off at the Howell Township Middle School, petitioner failed to conduct a sweep of his school bus to ensure that all students had disembarked. (DOC 5 at 5.)

5. Approximately three stops into his next school route, petitioner became aware that a student failed to disembark at the middle school drop-off and had remained on the school bus. (DOC 5 at 5.)

6. As a result of failing to perform a "visual inspection" before departing the middle school after student drop-off, and because a child remained on the school bus following departure from the Howell Township Middle School, on March 3, 2023, the DOE sought to impose a six-month suspension of petitioner's New Jersey Motor Vehicle Commission (MVC) "S" endorsement. (DOC 2 at 1.)

7. In the March 3, 2023, DOE email from Investigator Scaringelli, petitioner was advised that he had ten business days "to request, through the filing of a Petition of Appeal. . . , an opportunity to be heard as why OPS should not so notify [MVC]." (DOC 2 at 1-2.)

8. In the March 3, 2023, DOE email from Investigator Scaringelli, petitioner was also advised that, "if a Petition of Appeal is not filed with the Commissioner and copied to the OSP within the aforementioned 10 business days, OPS will promptly notify the MVC that your "S" endorsement is to be suspended without further proceedings." (DOC 2 at 2.)

9. On March 9, 2023, JBS suspended petitioner from driving school buses based on the March 2, 2023, incident, because they "knew right away that a suspension was going to be handed down by the State attorney general office [sic] so. . . his suspension needed to start right away." (DOC 9 at 1.)

10. On March 15, 2023, petitioner filed a petition of appeal online with the DOE. (DOC 3 at 1-2.)

11. As part of petitioner's March 15, 2023, petition of appeal, petitioner provided a letter on JBS letterhead admitting, among other things, that he failed to conduct a "child check" after students disembarked at the Howell Township Middle School and that the student who was accidentally left on the bus tapped him on the shoulder at his third stop into the next school pick-up run. (DOC 5 at 5.)

12. On August 9, 2023, Janice Kennedy, Safety Supervisor with JBS, submitted a letter on behalf of petitioner. In it, Ms. Kennedy stated that petitioner has been through retraining, which includes watching videos "on the process of a posted trip and child check." Ms. Kennedy further advised that petitioner "has been suspended for a long time[,]. . that he has learned from his mistakes[,] and this issue shouldn't happen again." (DOC 16 at 2.)

13. In her August 9, 2023, letter, Ms. Kennedy also advised that petitioner felt remorse for his mistake and stated, "I hope that he can be credited for the time served and that we could have him behind the wheel again. We both know that he will not be able to drive in Howell, but that doesn't change what happened and he [won't] let it happen again." (DOC 16 at 2.)

14. In his August 9, 2023, letter, petitioner noted that he had "learned [his] lesson and it is a lesson [he] will never forget[.]" Further, petitioner believes he should receive "credit for the time that [he was suspended]." (DOC 16 at 4.)

15. On August 10, 2023, petitioner was instructed to provide a writing from JBS "stating the nature, substance, and length of [his] suspension from driving a school bus (if any), along with an affirmation that [petitioner] did not drive a school bus during whatever time period is listed." (DOC 17 at 1.)

16. Because of certain confusion and for completion of the record, more specific instructions were provided to petitioner on August 11, 2023. In the letter to petitioner, petitioner was requested to provide a letter from JBS addressing the following:

1. Stating if you were suspended from driving a school bus;

2. The date your suspension from driving a school bus with students/children in it started (if you were suspended);

> To whom it may concern,

[Mr. Wandling's] suspension started on March 7th, 2023. [Mr. Wandling's] suspension is still on going [sic] because today[,] on September 7, 2023, which is the 6 month date, he had a phone call with you and I thought the matter will be resolved and he would be on a bus starting next week. 21. Petitioner has not provided proof of suspension by any governmental agency or body from March 2, 2023, to present.

22. JBS is a private company and is not a government or public entity.

23. Petitioner was notified that, in the absence of an appeal, MVC would be notified and his "S" endorsement would be "suspended without further proceedings." (DOC 2 at 2.)

24. Petitioner did not request that his "S" endorsement be suspended during the pendency of the appeal process.

25. Other than what may be attributed as a result of filing this appeal, petitioner has not requested a stay of any sanctions which may be imposed, including but not limited to the suspension of the S endorsement on his driver's license.

POSITIONS OF THE PARTIES

DOE contends that N.J.S.A. 18A:39-29 mandates a six-month suspension for a first offense where a school bus driver left a student on the school bus at the conclusion of the school bus driver's route. DOE further asserts that it is a strict liability offense and one which does not permit mitigation of the six-month suspension sanction. Because the facts in this matter are established, it is ripe for summary disposition.

Petitioner agrees that he erred by leaving a student on his school bus at the conclusion of the route and accepts responsibility for what occurred. Petitioner submits that JBS suspended him from driving school buses immediately following the March 2, 2023, incident, that he has attended retraining, he is contrite in his views and actions, and that the six-month suspension should be mitigated in length or not imposed based on the time which lapsed between JBS's suspension and the present date.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

I have had some difficulty with this matter. On one hand, the law is clear: petitioner failed to conduct a visual inspection and a student remained on his school bus at the conclusion of his route. See N.J.S.A. 18A:39-28 ("A school bus driver shall visually inspect the school bus to which he is assigned at the end of the transportation route to determine that no pupil has been left on the bus."); and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-12.1(a) (setting forth the procedure where "a child was left on the school bus to which the driver was assigned notwithstanding the driver's obligation to conduct a visual inspection at the end of the transportation route to assure that no pupil is left on the bus. . . ."). See also Herman v. N.J. Dept. of Educ., Crim. Hist. Rev. Unit, Final Decision 5 (July 20, 2015) (providing definitive explanation of the phrase "end of the transportation route" as set forth at N.J.A.C.).[2] Likewise, the sanction for leaving a student on a school bus at the conclusion of a school bus driver's route could not be any more clear:

> In the even that, after notice and opportunity to be heard, a school bus driver is found to have left a pupil on the school bus at the end of his route, his school bus endorsement shall be:
>
> a. suspended for six months, for a first offense; or > b. permanently revoked, for a second offense.
> [N.J.S.A. 18A:39-29.]

Add to this, the six-month first-offense sanction set forth at N.J.S.A. 18A:39-29(a) is not subject to mitigation. See, e.g., Vickery v. N.J. Dept. of Educ., Crim. Hist. Rev. Unit, OAL Docket No. EDU 00083-15 (June 2, 2015) *10-11, adopted, Final Decision (July 9, 2015).[3]

On the other hand, JBS "suspended" petitioner from driving a school bus immediately following the incident on March 2, 2023, and has since precluded him from returning to his school bus driving duties while this appeal was pending. As of the date of this Initial Decision, almost eight months have passed during which petitioner was not driving a school bus for JBS. Granted that there is no law expressly permitting an

[2]In Herman v. N.J. Dept. of Educ., Crim. Hist. Rev. Unit, Final Decision 5 (July 20, 2015), the Commissioner stated:

> The Commissioner concludes that petitioner violated the School Bus Safety Act when she admittedly failed to visually inspect the school bus at the end of her route—i.e., following the departure of the "PM" Kindergarten students from the bus, and before returning to the depot. As a result of petitioner's failure to perform the required visual inspections, [the student] was left on the bus as petitioner departed the Drew School and traveled to the bus depot.

[3]In Vickery, the ALJ observed:

> [T]he statute does not permit me to consider mitigating circumstances, or to consider the fact that, gratefully, this student was unharmed. The statute speaks in the imperative. For this reason, Vickery's reliance on N.J. Department of Children and Families v. M.H., 2014 N.J. Super. Unpub. LEXIS 1778 (App. Div. 2014), is misplaced. There, the driver left a four-year-old child on the bus, after having done no visual inspection at all. Here, the failure to inspect here took place only too late, rather than not at all; and the child left behind was not of tender years, and thus mature enough to advocate for himself, notwithstanding a language barrier. Notwithstanding these differences from the facts in M.H., the law does not permit me to alter the penalty expressly required by law.

> [Vickery v. N.J. Dept. of Educ., Crim. Hist. Rev. Unit, OAL Docket No. EDU 00083-15 (June 2, 2015) *10-11, adopted, Final Decision (July 9, 2015) (emphasis added).]

employer's private suspension to take the place of the statutory penalty set forth in N.J.S.A. 18A:39-29(a); quite the contrary, actually. There is a question of what is fair, though, under the circumstances. It is with this in mind that the proverbial "rabbit hole" is opened.

To gain a better understanding of the suspension, and more particularly whether it was part of a governmental action—such as a school board—a request was made that petitioner provide the following information:

1. Stating if you were suspended from driving a school bus;

2. The date your suspension from driving a school bus with students/children in it started (if you were suspended);

3. The date your suspension from driving a school bus with students/children in it ended (if you were suspended);

4. Stating whether the suspension was continuous or stopped at some point;

5. Stating what the suspension imposed by your employer—if any—covered (i.e. just school buses, school buses for a particular township, other school districts, etc.);

6. Whether the suspension—if any—was imposed by any local Board(s) of Education; and that it is

7. Signed by someone authorized by your employer to sign such a letter, and who understands that there may be a penalty if it is found to be inaccurate or untruthful.

[DOC 18 at 1.]

For lack of better terms, petitioner's response was anemic.

This is a circumstance where, if there were unitary power or authority, one could easily justify a reduction of the sanction. Here, petitioner's employer, JBS, acted in a way it apparently believed the law required—imposing an immediate suspension. This suspension at least appears to be continuous and far exceeded the mandatory six-month loss of school bus driving privileges. Moreover, petitioner readily acknowledged his mistake and acted with appropriate contrition. Petitioner was retrained and has anxiously awaited the outcome of this determination, all-the-while maintaining employment with JBS.

With administrative law matters, a "party may move for summary decision upon all or any of the substantive issues in a contested case." N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(a). Generally speaking, the components of a summary disposition motion involve a certain level of formality. See N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b) (requirements relating to briefs and affidavits). Within the administrative code, though, the procedural rules "shall be construed to achieve just results, simplicity in procedure, fairness in administration and the elimination of unjustifiable expense and delay." N.J.A.C. 1:1-13(a). Further and other than the burden of proof, "[the] procedural rules may be relaxed or disregarded if the judge determines that adherence would result in unfairness or injustice." N.J.A.C. 1:1-13(b). Provided the circumstances in this matter, I CONCLUDE that a more fair and just result warrants a relaxation of the procedural rules, permitting the original motion for dismissal pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.10 to be converted into a motion for summary disposition pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-13, that the motion record be based on the submissions of the parties, and that the motion may proceed in the absence of stipulations and affidavits.

A motion for summary disposition pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5 is essentially the equivalent of a motion for summary judgment pursuant to R. 4:46-2. As set forth in Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Co. of America, 142 N.J. 520 (1995), the preeminent case involving summary judgment motions, the deciding judge must determine whether a genuine issue of material fact exists and, in doing so, must consider "whether the competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, are sufficient to permit a rational factfinder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party." Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Co. of America, 142 N.J. 520, 540 (1995). In so doing, "[t]he 'judge's function is not . . . to weigh the evidence and determine the truth of the matter but to determine whether there is a genuine issue for trial.'" Brill at 540 (citing Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 249 (1986)). The preeminent question presented here is not the conduct but rather the sanction.

There are a number of reasons, all sounding in equity, why petitioner's school bus endorsement suspension should offset in full or in part. In effect, he was suspended from driving a school bus. Petitioner accepted responsibility and demonstrated contrition. Further, petitioner has undergone retraining and is clearly dedicated to his chosen vocation. These are all valid; unfortunately, none are sufficient.

As noted above, the penalty to be imposed pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:39-29(a) is mandatory and not subject to mitigation. No governmental action occurred regarding petitioner's ability to drive a school bus. Rather, all actions pertaining to petitioner's ability to drive a school bus were the result of private conduct, to wit, petitioner's employer, JBS. Further, the March 3, 2023, DOE email specifically states that "if a Petition of Appeal is not filed with the Commissioner and copied to OSP within the aforementioned 10 business days, OSP will promptly notify the MVC that your "S" endorsement is to be suspended without further proceedings." (DOC 2 at 2.) Further, N.J.A.C. 6A:3-12.1 (Request for Hearing Upon Notice of Impending Suspension or Revocation) states:

> a. Where a school bus driver has been notified by the Department's Criminal History Review Unit that a determination has been made that suspension or revocation, as the case may be, of the driver's school bus endorsement is warranted pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:39-26 et seq., because a child was left on the school bus to which the driver was assigned notwithstanding the driver's obligation to conduct a visual inspection at the end of the transportation route to assure that no pupil is left on the bus, the driver may contest such determination through the filing of a petition of appeal according to the procedures set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.
> 1. Such petition shall be filed within 10 business days of the date of the Department's written notice to petitioner of such determination.
>
> 2. In addition to the service requirements of N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.3(a) and (j), such petition shall additionally be served on the Department c/o Manager, Criminal History Review Unit, New Jersey Department of Education, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500.

b. The following aspects of the Department's determination may be contested:

1. That a pupil was left on the bus at the end of the driver's route;

2. That the incident in question was the driver's second offense;

3. That the pupil was harmed as a result of foreseeable danger; and

4. That the driver acted with gross negligence.

c. Where no petition is filed within the requisite time frame, or where a petitioner does not prevail before the Commissioner in demonstrating that the Department's determination was in error, the Department's Criminal History Review Unit will:

1. Notify the Motor Vehicle Commission of its obligation pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:39-26 et seq., to suspend or revoke, as the case may be, the driver's school bus endorsement; and

2. Notify the driver's employer that the driver is ineligible, for the period of suspension or permanently, as the case may be, for continued employment as a school bus driver.

[N.J.A.C. 6A:3-12.1. Emphasis added.]

Put simply, the March 2, 2023, DOE email and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-12.1(c) both state that while the appeal is pending, the suspension pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:39-29a does not run. Last, while an argument may be made by petitioner that the matter was improvidently transferred pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:3-12.1(b) (jurisdictional limits), and as such, the suspension should have been entered at the time, no such argument or analysis was made.

Based on the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that, with no factual dispute, summary disposition is appropriate. I further CONCLUDE that, based on the facts and circumstances set forth above, the DOE is entitled to a decision as a matter of law and that its motion for summary disposition is GRANTED. As such, I thus CONCLUDE that, with no factual dispute and as a matter of law, the S endorsement on petitioner's New Jersey MVC driver's license shall be suspended for six months from the date of Final Decision pursuant to N.J.S.A. 18A:39-29a. I further CONCLUDE that petitioner is not entitled to any reduction of that six-month suspension and that petitioner's appeal must be DISMISSED

ORDER

It is ORDERED that the DOE's motion for summary decision is GRANTED. It is further ORDERED that the appeal of this matter be DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Tris S. Groome,

Petitioner,

v.

New Jersey Department of Education,
State Board of Examiners,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Pro-se petitioner appealed the determination of the respondent New Jersey State Board of Examiners (SBE) denying her application for a Teacher of Spanish certificate after it was determined that petitioner had been investigated in Arkansas on child abuse charges which were subsequently dropped under an exception in Arkansas law that allows a parent to use physical discipline on their child. Further, on her application for New Jersey certification, petitioner stated – under penalty – that she had never had an educator certification revoked, suspended, or denied in any state, yet the SBE determined that in 2022, the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction had denied petitioner's application for a teaching license based on her conduct in Arkansas. Petitioner contended that she did not intend to perjure herself on her New Jersey licensure application, but simply misread the question and accidentally checked the wrong response. The SBE filed a motion to dismiss the petition.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: the issue in this case is whether petitioner satisfied her burden of demonstrating, by a preponderance of the evidence, that the SBE acted in a manner that was arbitrary, capricious, or contrary to law when it determined not to grant her application for a New Jersey teaching license; petitioner was found to have engaged in conduct that fit the definition of abuse in Arkansas; although the parental exemption under Arkansas law ultimately prevented petitioner's name from entering the child abuse registry, that holding cannot alter the nature of the underlying conduct; and the SBE and the Commissioner have consistently held that teachers are entrusted with the care and custody of children and it is their duty to exercise self-restraint and controlled behavior. The ALJ concluded that there was sufficient credible evidence to support the SBE's decision denying petitioner's application for a New Jersey teaching license. Accordingly, the ALJ granted the SBE's motion to dismiss the petition.

Upon review, the Commissioner found, inter alia, that: the petition of appeal in this matter was filed in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:3, not N.J.A.C. 6A:4; the ALJ mistakenly applied the wrong standard of review in the Initial Decision, stating that the SBE's decision will not be overturned unless the petitioner proves that the SBE acted in a manner that was arbitrary, capricious or contrary to law; the appropriate standard of review here is whether the SBE's decision was consistent with the applicable statutory and regulatory provisions of N.J.A.C. 6A:3; nonetheless, the record demonstrates that the petitioner is not suitable for employment as a teaching staff member in a public school under N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.1. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL was modified with respect to the appropriate standard of review and the petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

Tris S. Groome,

Petitioner,

v.

New Jersey State Department of Education,
State Board of Examiners,

Respondent.

The record of this matter and the Initial Decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed. The parties did not file exceptions.

In this case, petitioner Tris Groome filed a petition of appeal under N.J.A.C. 6A:3.1 et seq. challenging the State Board of Examiners' (Board) decision denying her application for a Teacher of Spanish certificate. The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) granted the Board's motion to dismiss, determining that the Board's decision was supported by sufficient credible evidence.

As a threshold matter, a discussion of the applicable standard of review for petitions of appeal that are filed under N.J.A.C. 6A:3 is necessary. When there is a challenge to a determination made by an office within the Department of Education, the Commissioner is not mandated to give deference to her staff, but instead determines whether the finding was legally appropriate. In certain instances, the Department of Education has limited the scope of review of a subordinate office or division by regulation. However, a decision by the Board denying an application for a certificate is not entitled to the arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable standard of review that is afforded to appeals filed under N.J.A.C. 6A:4, challenging a decision of the Board revoking or suspending a certificate. These are two distinct types of decisions and two distinct types of proceedings, and the regulatory provisions pertaining to each should not be conflated. See Jessica Walder v. New Jersey Department of Education, State Board of Examiners, Commissioner Decision No. 503-14, decided December 29, 2014; Jaroslaw Nimczyk v. New Jersey State Board of Examiners, Commissioner Decision No. 98-22, decided May 16, 2022; Melody Travisano v. New Jersey State Board of Examiners, Commissioner Decision No. 190-22, decided August 8, 2022; Wayne Ernst v. New Jersey State Board of Examiners, Commissioner Decision No. 311-22, decided November 16, 2022; Stephanie Florio v. New Jersey State Board of Examiners, Commissioner Decision No. 336-22, decided December 14, 2022; and Jamie Sebastian v. New Jersey Department of Education, State Board of Examiners, Commissioner Decision No. 94-23, decided March 30, 2023 (all finding that the Commissioner does not give deference to a decision of the State Board of Examiners denying a request for issuance of a certificate).

Here, the ALJ mistakenly referenced N.J.A.C. 6A:4-4.1(a) in the Initial Decision and stated that the Board's decision will not be overturned unless the petitioner proves that the Board acted in a manner that was arbitrary, capricious or contrary to law.[1] The petition of appeal in this matter relates to the Board's denial of an application for a certificate, not the Board's suspension or revocation of a certificate. Therefore, the standard of review that governs appeals filed under N.J.A.C. 6A:4 does not apply to this case, and the appropriate standard of review of the Board's decision is whether the decision is consistent with the applicable statutory and regulatory provisions.

Upon a comprehensive review of the record and applying the appropriate standard of review, the Commissioner is in accord with the Board's determination that petitioner is not suitable for employment as a teaching staff member in a public school under N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.1. Although the ALJ applied an inaccurate standard of review, the record of the matter demonstrates that the Arkansas Department of Human Services found that petitioner hit her child on the shoulder, causing bruising and welts; this conduct would constitute abuse under Arkansas law, but fell under an exception allowing a parent to use physical discipline on their child.[2] Petitioner later applied to the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction for a teaching license, and her application was denied based on the conduct that occurred in Arkansas. When the petitioner applied to the Board for a teaching certificate, she falsely stated that she had never had an educator certification revoked, suspended, or denied in any state. Based on these facts, the Commissioner concludes that the Board's decision to deny petitioner's application was consistent with the applicable regulatory provisions.

[1] The Motion to Dismiss filed by the Deputy Attorney General on behalf of the Board of Examiners also referenced N.J.A.C. 6A:4-4.1(a) and the incorrect standard of review that applies in this matter.

Accordingly, the Initial Decision is modified with respect to the appropriate standard of review and the petition is hereby dismissed.

INITIAL DECISION
MOTION TO DISMISS
OAL DKT. NO. EDU 03943-23
AGENCY DKT. NO. 75-3/23

IN THE MATTER OF THE DENIAL OF RECIPROCAL LICENSURE OF TEACHING CERTIFICATE FOR TRIS S. GROOME, NEW JERSEY DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, BOARD OF EXAMINERS.

Tris S. Groome, petitioner, pro se

David L. Kalisky, Deputy Attorney General, for respondent, New Jersey Department of Education, Board of Examiners (Matthew J. Platkin, Attorney General, attorney)

Record Closed: July 19, 2023 Decided: November 2, 2023

BEFORE JOAN M. BURKE, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner, Tris Groome, challenged the denial of her application for a Teacher of Spanish Certificate by the New Jersey Department of Education, Board of Examiners (the Board). The Board denied the application because the Arkansas Department of Human Services determination that Groome's action in striking a twelve-year-old child constituted abuse and her failure to disclose the denial of her Wisconsin's educator application when specifically asked during the New Jersey certification application process. Petitioner argues that she mis-read question #2 on the application and checked "no" mistakenly.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On March 3, 2023, the Board rendered its written decision denying petitioner's request for a Teacher of Spanish Certificate. On March 21, 2023, petitioner filed an appeal of the Board's decision with the State of New Jersey Department of Education. On May 3, 2023, the respondent filed a Motion to Dismiss in lieu of an Answer, and the contested case was transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) where it was filed on May 4, 2023. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to N.J.S.A. 52:14B-15 and N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to N.J.S.A. 52:14F-13.

During a telephone conference convened on July 19, 2023, I was informed by the parties, that they were requesting the matter be heard on the papers that were already submitted. I scheduled another status conference which was held on August 24, 2023, which allowed the parties the opportunity to submit additional documentation. Respondent resubmitted the motion papers which were previously submitted and received on August 8, 2023; nothing further was received from the petitioner. The record closed on August 24, 2023. The Acting Director and Chief Administrative Law Judge granted an extension of time for the Initial Decision on September 19, 2023.

FINDINGS OF FACT

The parties do not dispute many of the background facts in this case. I therefore FIND the following FACTS:

Arkansas Factual History

On September 5, 2020, a report was made to the Child Abuse Hotline that Groome abused G.G. (Resp. Ex. A), Tris Groome v. Ark. Dep't. Hum. Servs, No. 21002054 at 2-3 (Ark. Dep't. Hum. Servs. Office of Appeals and Hearings, Mar. 29, 2022) (final order). Arkansas Division of Children and Family Services ("DCFS") substantiated the allegations, "making true findings" that Groome "abused the juvenile, causing nonaccidental injury." (Resp. Ex. A), Id. at 1-2. Criminal charges were also brought against Groome for the same conduct, but the prosecutor dismissed the charges after ordering Groome to pay several fines.[1] (Resp. Brief at 2), (Resp. Ex. B). Groome appealed the DCFS decision. (Resp. Ex. A), Tris Groome v. Ark. Dep't. Hum. Servs, No. 21002054 at 2-3 (Ark. Dep't. Hum. Servs. Office of Appeals and Hearings, Mar. 29, 2022) (final order).

On appeal, the Arkansas administrative law judge found the following facts:

1. Tris Groome is the biological mother of G.G.

2. G.G. was twelve years old at the time of the alleged maltreatment.

3. "G.G. has numerous mental health diagnoses, including ADHD, adjustment disorder with mixed disturbances and conduct, disruptive dysregulation disorder, and oppositional defiance disorder."

4. "On the day of the report, G.G. had become violent and destructive. He pulled his bedroom door from its frame, used a knife to cut up items in his room, and punched holes in walls."

5. Tris Groome attempted to calm G.G. but was unsuccessful. When he was behaving violently, Tris Groome attempted to spank him with a belt, hitting him on the shoulder and back leaving "significant marks." This hit did not break skin but did cause bruising and welts.

[1] Groome states in an email that she did not pay any fines or fees. (Tris Groome, Email to N.J. Dep't. of Edu. and David Kalinsky (May 4, 2023 at 10:59AM)). Respondent, however, provides documentation of Groome being ordered to pay fines in Exhibit B.

6. Tris Groome caused nonaccidental physical injury to G.G.

The ALJ determined that Groome's conduct toward G.G. constituted abuse as that term is defined by Arkansas law. (Resp. Ex. A). However, the ALJ also determined that an exception applied, which "excludes from the definition of abuse a parent's use of physical discipline if it is reasonable and moderate and inflicted for the purpose of correcting their child." (Resp. Ex. A), Arkansas Code Annotated § 12-18-101(3)(c)(i). Thus, "the nonaccidental physical injury [caused by Tris Groome was] not abuse," and Groome's name was not added to the Arkansas Child Maltreatment Central Registry. (Resp. Ex. A_(Resp. Ex. A). Groome states that her teaching license remains intact in Arkansas. (Resp. Ex. D), (Tris Groome, Email to Wisc. Dep't. of Pub. Instruction (Apr. 14, 2022 at 11:04:20 AM CDT)).

I. Wisconsin Factual History

On September 28, 2021, Groome applied for a teaching license in the State of Wisconsin. (Resp. Ex. C). The Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction ("DPI") denied her licensure on April 14, 2022, because "[Groome] engaged in immoral conduct," as defined in Wis. State, § 115.31(1)(c)1. (Resp. Ex. C). DPI made this conclusion based on the Arkansas ALJ's decision that defined her striking her son with a belt on September 5, 2020, as "abuse," and as this conduct was "contrary to commonly accepted moral or ethical standards and endangered the health, welfare, or safety of one or more pupils." (Resp. Ex. C).

On April 14, 2022, Groome emailed DPI to request a hearing "to prove why this denial is improper, inaccurate, and wrong." (Resp. Ex. D). She stated that the denial was wrong as she had no intent to hit her son on the back, only to "spank his bottom," and as the criminal charges against her were dropped. (Resp. Ex. D).

On April 22, 2022, Groome's request for a hearing was denied as there was no dispute as to any material fact. (Resp. Ex. E). DPI explained via letter that Groome's argument, that she only intended to hit G.G.'s bottom as opposed to his back, was immaterial to its conclusion that Groome's conduct was "contrary to commonly accepted moral or ethical standards and endangered the health, welfare, or safety of one or more pupils." (Resp. Ex. E). Further "whether [Groome was] ultimately convicted of criminal charges in this incident is immaterial to DPI's finding that striking [her] son with a belt is immoral conduct in and of itself." (Resp. Ex. E). DPI also states that the Arkansas ALJ did not conclude that Groome did not abuse her son, rather that "[she] ultimately benefitted from an exception under Arkansas law which carves out discipline of your child from the definition of abuse." (Resp. Ex. E).

Groome appealed this denial sometime thereafter, however, Groome's appeal was denied with prejudice on August 25, 2022, after she failed to properly serve an authenticated copy of her summons and complaint upon the State Superintendent of Public Instruction within the required statutory time period. (Resp. Brief at 6), (Resp. Ex. F).

II. New Jersey Factual History

On November 21, 2022, Groome applied for a Teacher of Spanish Certificate in New Jersey. (Resp. Ex. G). On her application, Groome stated, under penalty, that she had never had an educator certification revoked, suspended, or denied in any state. (Resp. Ex. G). The New Jersey State Board of Examiners ("the Board") denied Groome's application on March 3, 2023, based on two considerations: 1) Groome's failure to disclose the Wisconsin denial when specifically asked during the New Jersey certification application process and 2) the Arkansas ALJ's "determination that [Groome's] actions in striking a 12-year-old-constituted abuse." (Resp. Ex. G). Groome filed a pro se Petition of Appeal on March 21, 2023. (Groome Pro Se Petition of Appeal, Mar. 21, 2023).

Regarding her failure to disclose Wisconsin's denial of her application for licensure, Groome states that "it was never [her] intent to purger [sic] [her]self," and that she "mis-read [sic]" the question and "checked 'no' mistakenly." (Groome Pro Se Petition of Appeal, Mar. 21, 2023). Regarding the Arkansas ALJ's determination that she abused G.G., Groome contends that under Arkansas law, she had "not only the right to discipline [her] own child but the right to restrain [her son] reasonably." (Groome Pro Se Petition of Appeal, Mar. 21, 2023). Groome requests relief in the form of "a formal apology, compensation for all hours canceled, and immediate issuance of reciprocal licensure in the state of New Jersey." (Groome Pro Se Petition of Appeal, Mar. 21, 2023).

DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The issue in this matter is whether the Board's denial is supported by the evidence and is not arbitrary, capricious, or contrary to the law. If not, the Commissioner may reject the Board's determination. N.J.A.C. 6A:4-4. 1 N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-14.5(b)(6); N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.12(b).

N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.10 states:

> At any time prior to transmittal of the pleadings to the OAL, in the Commissioner's discretion or upon motion to dismiss filed in lieu of answer, the Commissioner may dismiss the petition on the grounds that the petitioner has advanced no cause of action even if the petitioner's factual allegations are accepted as true or for lack of jurisdiction, failure to prosecute or other good reason.

In the instant matter, respondent filed its motion to dismiss with the Commissioner. The matter was then transferred to the OAL, where respondent re-filed its motion.

N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.10 is similar to New Jersey Court Rule 4:6-2(e). The inquiry in a motion to dismiss is "limited to examining the legal sufficiency of the facts alleged on the face of the complaint." Printing Mart-Morristown v. Sharp Elec. Corp., 116 N.J. 739, 746 (1989). Herein, the petition of appeal equates to the complaint.

A careful review of the petition of appeal does not reveal a claim upon which relief may be granted. Nothing contained therein adds to what the Board considered. The petitioner seems to indicate in her petition that the burden was on the Board because the Board's denial was unlawful.

Here, petitioner "carries the burden of demonstrating by a preponderance of the credible evidence that she is entitled to the endorsement she seeks." McQuilken v. N.J. St. Bd. of Exam'rs, OAL Dkt. No. EDU8374-11, Initial Decision (Dec. 13, 2011), adopted Comm'r(January27,2012), http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/search.html. In evaluating determinations by the Board of Examiners, the Commissioner shall not disturb the decision if the decision is supported by sufficient credible evidence in the record, "unless the appellant has demonstrated the State Board of Examiners or the School Ethics Commission acted in a manner that was arbitrary, capricious, or contrary to law." N.J.A.C. 6A:4-4.1 The Department of Education intended the standard of review for Commissioner determinations under Chapter Six to be "appellate in nature." 40 N.J.R. 4606(a).

The arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable standard consists of three inquiries:

> (1) whether the agency action violates the enabling act's express or implied legislative policies;
>
> (2) whether there is substantial evidence in the record to support the findings upon which the agency based application of legislative policies; and
> (3) whether, in applying the legislative policies to the facts, the agency clearly erred by reaching a conclusion that could not reasonably have been made upon a showing of the relevant factors. [Public Serv. Elec. and Gas Co. v. New Jersey Dep't. of Envtl. Protect., 101 N.J. 95, 103 (1985).]

However, "where there is room for two opinions the action is not arbitrary or capricious when exercised honestly and upon due consideration even though the court may believe that an erroneous conclusion has been reached." Bayshore Sewerage Co. v. Department of Environmental Protection, 122 N.J. Super. 184, 199 (App. Div. 1973) (Internal citations omitted). Significantly, a "court should not substitute its judgment for that of an administrative or legislative body if there is substantial evidence to support the ruling." Ibid.

I. Conduct Unbecoming a Teacher

The Board may revoke, suspend, or deny a teaching certificate "on the basis of demonstrated inefficiency, incapacity, conduct unbecoming a teacher, or other just cause." N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.4, N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.1. Here, the Board has denied Groome a Teacher of Spanish Certificate for conduct unbecoming a teacher.

"Conduct unbecoming a teacher" is a phrase that is not defined in statutes or regulations but is interpreted in case law. Its definition includes a broad range of behavior that impacts on a teacher's ability to perform his duties or otherwise renders him unfit to have the responsibility for the care of children. See State Bd. of Exam's v. Charlton, 96 N.J.A.R.2d (EDE) 18; In re the Certificate of Fargo, 91 N.J.A.R. 2d (EDE) 1. Although "conduct unbecoming" a teacher or other public employee is not defined in the statutes or regulations, it has been described as an "elastic" phrase that includes "any conduct which adversely affects the morale or efficiency of a department; conduct which has a tendency to destroy respect for public employees and their departments; or conduct which destroys confidence in public service." Stratton v. Burlington County Dep't. of Buildings and Grounds, 95 N.J.A.R. 2d. 555, 556 (citations omitted), In re Emmons, 63 N.J. Super. 136, 140 (App. Div. 1960) (citation omitted). There are no statutory or regulatory guidelines addressing when revocation or suspension is the appropriate remedy; "[t]hat decision is discretionary, on a case-by-case basis, after considering the individual facts and circumstances." In re Certificate of Fargo, 91 N.J.A.R.2d (EDE) 1, 3.

Teachers are held to a higher standard of conduct because of the influence they have over students. See, Bradley, 92 N.J.A.R. 2d. (EDE) 13 ("A teacher should possess personal qualities valued by our society because a teacher helps to shape the attitudes of young minds toward that society.") (citing, Adler v. Board of Education of the City of New York, 342 U.S. 485, 493 (1952)); Fargo, 91 N.J.A.R. 2d. (EDE) 1 (citing Adler for the same proposition.); Adler, 342 U.S. 485, 493 ("A teacher works in a sensitive area in a schoolroom. There he shapes the attitude of young minds towards the society in which they live. In this, the state has a vital concern. It must preserve the integrity of the schools. That the school authorities have the right and duty to screen the officials, teachers, and employees as to their fitness to maintain the integrity of the schools as a part of ordered society, cannot be doubted.")

When considering granting Groome a teaching certificate, Groome must be held to the same high standard to which all teachers in New Jersey are held. She has been a teacher for nearly twenty years, and her actions, both in and out of the classroom, reflect on her as a teacher and the licensing board in charge of certifying her. Groome was found to have engaged in conduct that fit the definition of abuse in Arkansas. While the Arkansas ALJ ultimately held that Groome benefited from an exception to that definition, preventing her from being on the Arkansas Child Maltreatment Central Registry, that holding cannot alter the nature of the underlying conduct. The Board and Commissioner have consistently held that teachers have been entrusted with the care and custody of children and it is their duty to exercise self-restraint and controlled behavior. In re Lucarelli, 97 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 537; In re Sammons, 1972 S.L.D. 302. "While teachers are sensitive to the same emotional stresses as all other persons, their particular relationship to children imposes upon them a special responsibility for exemplary restraint and mature self-control." See In re Tenure Hearing of Appleby, 1969 S.L.D. 159, 173 (quoting In re Tenure Hearing of Fulcomer, 1962 S.L.D. 160, 162). It could well be reasoned that Groome has not met this level of self-restraint required of New Jersey teachers, as hitting her son with a belt likely does not indicate that she is executing exemplary restraint and mature self-control.

Further, the overriding framework to determine whether conduct reaches the level of conduct unbecoming was discussed by the Commissioner of Education in Tenure Hearing of Sammons, 1972 S.L.D. 302. Sammons noted that teachers are holders of the public trust and are held to the highest standards of conduct. Id. at 321. The Commissioner stressed that "teachers . . . are professional employees to whom the people have entrusted the care and custody of . . . school children . . . this heavy duty requires a degree of self-restraint and controlled behavior rarely requisite to other types of employment." Ibid. In In Re Certificate of Mary Ann Bauer, ALJ Samuels stated that although an application by the Board for revocation concerns a different claim or cause of action than those proceedings initiated by a school district or by the Commissioner of Education to remove tenure, the statutes and regulations used by both agencies contain similar standards. In Re Certificate of Mary Ann Bauer, EDE 7696-92, Initial Decision, (August 8, 1996), modified, State Board of Examiners (September 26, 1996) <http://lawlibrary.rutgers.edu/oal/search.html>. Therefore, conduct found to be unbecoming in a tenure case can be considered unbecoming conduct in a denial or revocation case.

The Board argues that if Groome's actions had occurred in the classroom (i.e., if Groome had struck a student on the back with a belt), Groome's actions would clearly constitute conduct unbecoming a teacher. (Resp. Brief at 13-15). The Board cites several cases in which it was decided whether teachers engaged in unbecoming conduct of a teacher, including cases where a teacher slapped a student; a teacher pushed, punched, and kicked a student; and a teacher continuously choked a student until the student lost consciousness. (Resp. Brief at 14-16). See Cf. IMO the Certificates of Alex Ramadanis, State Bd. Of Exam'rs, Agency Dkt. No. 1617-205 (April 13, 2018), IMO the Certificates of Vincent Ajayi, State Bd. Of Exam'rs, Agency Dkt. No. 1617-121 (January 19, 2018), IMO the Certificates of R.A., State Bd. Of Exam'rs, Agency Dkt. No. 0910-228 (June 16, 2011). To conflate Groome's discipline of her child in her home to the actions of a teacher slapping, pushing, punching, kicking, or choking a student, would be incorrect and improper. Groome states that she has never used corporal punishment on a student. (Tris Groome, Email to Kari Race and Wisc. Dep't. of Pub. Instruction (Apr. 14, 2022 at 11:04:20 AM CDT)). However, her use of corporal punishment on her son is relevant, as case law has allowed for the possibility that conduct unbecoming a teacher may relate to a teacher's conduct inside or outside the classroom.[2] See N.J. Board of Examiners v. Krupp, 3 N.J.A.R. 285 (1981) (Conviction of first degree murder was sufficient unbecoming conduct to revoke certification.); Woodbridge Township School District v. Rumage, 1 N.J.A.R. 381 (1980) (Tenured teacher who pled guilty to conspiracy and bookmaking engaged in conduct unbecoming a teacher, although the crimes themselves did not involve moral turpitude.)

[2] These cases consistently find that conduct that occurs outside the classroom may still very well be conduct unbecoming a teacher.

Misrepresentation on Teaching Certification Application

Groome states that she did not intend to falsely answer the application question as to whether she had been denied certification in another state. (Groome Pro Se Petition of Appeal, Mar. 21, 2023). This would mean that her answer was an unintentional misrepresentation. However, it has been consistently held that regardless of intent, entering a false answer in an application for certification constitutes conduct unbecoming a teacher.

In IMO the Certificates of Danielle Picklo, a teacher's certificate was suspended for three years after she certified under oath on her New Jersey certification application that she had never had a certificate revoked or suspended in any state, even though she voluntarily relinquished her certificate in a settlement. State Bd. Of Exam'rs, Agency Dkt. No. 1213-129 (December 6, 2013). In IMO the Certificates of Elliot Ramo, a teacher's license was suspended for three months for unbecoming conduct after he failed to disclose his criminal convictions in his certification application. State Bd. Of Exam'rs, Agency Dkt. No. 1213-172 (January 17, 2014). In IMO the Certificates of Jilla Maria (Mason), a teacher's certificate was revoked after she failed to disclose her arrest for drug use in Pennsylvania and provided false answers to direct inquiries by one or more district administrators regarding her recent drug use. State Bd. Of Exam'rs, Agency Dkt. No. 2021-167 (May 19. 2022). In In re Certificate of Calvin J. Williams, Jr., EDE 3889-94, final decision, (Oct. 5, 1995), the State Board of Examiners imposed a two-year suspension of the respondent's teaching certificates after finding the respondent was negligent in submitting accurate information in an application for a school administrator certificate. In Williams, a teacher with nearly twenty-five years of experience certified that he met the requirements for the school administrator certificate and submitted a job description that created the inference that he held a principal's certificate, when, at the time, he did not. Initially, the ALJ found that Williams had not engaged in any intentional wrongdoing and did not suspend his certificates. After reviewing the initial decision, however, the Board reasoned that "[t]he professional conduct of a 'seasoned educator' mandates the highest degree of responsibility" and suspended Williams' certificates for two years despite agreeing that there was no willful wrongdoing. It is further important to note that, regarding licensure through the Division of Consumer Affairs, it has been held that a licensing board may deny an applicant who misinforms the board on her sworn application, even if there is no finding of intent to deceive. In re Y.L, 437 N.J. Super. 409. (2014).

Here, whether Groome intended or did not intend to falsely answer a question on the application has no bearing on whether she engaged in conduct unbecoming a teacher. Falsely answering a teaching certification application question has consistently been held to be conduct unbecoming a teacher, regardless of intent, and this is exactly what Groome did. Further, Groome has been a teacher for nearly twenty years, making her a "seasoned educator," just like in Williams, requiring the "highest degree of responsibility" from her. Ibid. Considering the length of time she has been an educator, and that Groome has sought teaching reciprocity in several other states, Groome understands the gravity of falsifying information on a teaching certificate application. Groome learned of her Wisconsin certification denial in August of 2022, yet still answered on her New Jersey certificate application in November of 2022, that she had never been denied a certificate in another state. If the Board was to allow teachers to lie on their certificate applications, it would undermine the fact that the application states that answers are "under penalty," and further would undermine the public's confidence in the Board's decision-making authority. The public must believe in the Board's decisions and must trust and believe that the Board is properly screening those it allows to become a teacher. See Adler, 342 U.S. 485, 493. As such, Groome's action of incorrectly stating that she has never been denied a teaching certificate in another state on her New Jersey teaching certificate application constitutes conduct unbecoming.

The Board determined that pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:9b-4, "Notwithstanding that a candidate may meet all requirements for certification, the Board of Examiners may refuse to issue a certificate to that candidate if, based on the record before it, the Board of Examiners determines that, for reasons set forth in N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.4, the candidate is not suitable for employment as a teaching staff member in the public school. (R-G.) The Board further concludes that under N.J.A.C. 6A:9B-4.4, "[t]he Board of Examiners may revoke or suspend the certificate(s) of any certificate holder on the basis of demonstrated inefficiency, incapacity, conduct unbecoming a teacher, . . . The Board's denial was in part based on the Arkansas Department of Human Services' determination that Groome's action in striking a twelve year-old child (albeit her son) constituted abuse in addition to failing to disclose the denial of her Wisconsin educator's application when asked during her New Jersey certification application process. Wisconsin's denial was months before Groome's application to New Jersey. For these combined reasons the Board posits, that Groome's actions constitutes "conduct unbecoming." (R-D.) Accordingly, the Board refused to issue a teaching certificate to Groome.

Groome bears a substantial evidentiary burden to establish a case sufficient to set aside a decision by the Board of Examiners. A decision by the Board of Examiners will not be disturbed unless petitioner "has demonstrated [that] the State Board of Examiners . . . acted in a manner that was arbitrary, capricious, or contrary to law." N.J.A.C. 6A:4-4.1(a). It is not within the province of this forum to substitute its judgment for that of the Board of Examiners. Rather, the pertinent inquiry is to "ascertain whether the decision is supported by sufficient credible evidence in the record[.]" N.J.A.C. 6A:4-4.1(a). Judged against this standard of review and based on a consideration of the documentary evidence presented, I CONCLUDE that petitioner has failed to shoulder her burden of proof and that the Board of Examiners' decision is supported by sufficient credible evidence.

Therefore, I CONCLUDE that the Board's decision to deny the issuance of a Teacher of Spanish certificate, as set forth in its decision dated March 3, 2023, should be AFFIRMED.

ORDER

It is hereby ORDERED that the Board's denial of a reciprocal licensure with the issuance of a Teacher of Spanish certificate, to the petitioner Tris Groome, as set forth in its decision dated March 3, 2023, should be AFFIRMED; and it is further ORDERED that petitioner's appeal is DISMISSED.

It is hereby ORDERED that the Board of Examiners' Motion to Dismiss is GRANTED and the petition of appeal is DISMISSED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Re: In the Matter of the Certificates of Nicole M. Maffucci, State Board of Examiners Dkt. No. 2021-163, Commissioner Appeal Dkt. No. 13-11/23A

Dear Parties:

I have reviewed the materials filed in connection with appellant Nicole M. Maffucci's Motion to Stay the decision of the State Board of Examiners (Board) suspending appellant's certificates for one year.

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:4-3.3(a), a motion to stay a Board determination pending resolution of an appeal filed with the Commissioner must first be made to the Board. Here, appellant sought a stay from the Board that was denied on November 16, 2023. Thereafter, appellant was entitled to seek a stay from the Commissioner in accordance with N.J.A.C. 6A:4-3.1. Appellant filed the instant motion with the Commissioner on November 21, 2023.

Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 6A:4-4.1(b), a motion for stay is considered an extraordinary remedy that may only be granted upon a finding that appellant has satisfied each prong of the four-pronged standard set forth in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982). Thus, a stay may be granted where necessary to prevent irreparable harm, where the legal right underlying the movant's claim is settled, where there is a likelihood of success on the merits and where the relative hardship to the moving party favors granting such relief. Id. at 132-34. The moving party must prove each of the four prongs "by clear and convincing evidence." Garden State Equality v. Dow, 216 N.J. 314, 320 (2013).

Upon review of the parties' submissions, I find that appellant has failed to meet this exacting standard. Specifically, appellant has failed to demonstrate that the legal right underlying her claim is settled. Appellant argues that the right to appeal a Board decision is settled, but that argument misses the point, as this prong of the Crowe standard warrants consideration of her underlying claim – that she did not engage in unbecoming conduct warranting a suspension of her certificates. Such an inquiry is intensely fact sensitive, depends on credibility determinations regarding the testimony of the witnesses in each case, and must be viewed in light of various precedents related to the conduct of teachers. For this reason, the Commissioner cannot conclude that appellant has demonstrated that the legal right underlying her claim is settled.

Because all four prongs of the Crowe standard must be proven for a stay to be granted, it is not necessary to analyze the remaining three prongs. Accordingly, appellant's request for a stay of the State Board of Examiner's October 27, 2023, Order of Suspension is hereby DENIED.

Decision

K.P., on behalf of minor child, I.M.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Pascack Valley Regional High School District, Bergen County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Pro se petitioner asserted that her daughter had been the target of discrimination, intimidation, and retaliation during the 2022-2023 school year while a student at Pascack Valley Regional High School. However, the petition failed to state a cause of action and provided no details whatsoever in support of the allegations of discrimination, intimidation, and retaliation. The respondent Board filed a motion to dismiss in lieu of an answer, followed by a brief and affidavit seeking summary decision. There being no response from the petitioner to the Board's second motion, the record closed on November 7, 2023.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: petitioner's pro se filing failed to claim a violation of any school laws and provided no specific allegations or supporting facts to describe the basis for the dispute; allegations must be contained in the petition itself, and cannot be assumed to be known simply because the parties have otherwise communicated about the subject of a petitioner's complaint; in this matter, the petitioner provided no factual basis whatsoever for a claim that may involve HIB, and if petitioner's concerns involve something other than HIB, she completely failed to clarify what her specific claim is and a legal basis for the claim, notwithstanding having ample opportunity to do so. The ALJ determined that the matter is ripe for summary decision and concluded that the petitioner failed to state a claim upon which relief may be granted. Accordingly, summary decision was granted to the Board and the petition was dismissed with prejudice.

Upon review, the Commissioner adopted the Initial Decision of the OAL as the final decision in this matter. Accordingly, the petition was dismissed with prejudice.

K.P. on behalf of I.M., petitioner pro se

Rodney T. Hara, Esq. (Fogarty and Hara, attorneys) for respondent

Record Closed: November 7, 2023 Decided: November 8, 2023

BEFORE ERNEST M. BONGIOVANNI, ALJ:

On June 6, 2023, the Department of Education Office of Controversies and Disputes forwarded to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL), a petition by Petitioner K.P. o/b/o Minor Child I.M. which the transmittal characterized as a challenge of "the Board's harassment, intimidation and bullying (HIB) determination." The respondent, Pascack Valley Regional High School District, Board of Education, (Board/District) alleging that the petition, among other flaws fails to properly state a cause of action, filed a motion to dismiss in lieu of an answer ("motion in lieu"). As a result, on July 14, 2023, I convened a conference to discuss this motion, partly to make certain that the pro se petitioner knew that she could and should respond to the Answer in lieu of a motion. Further I advised the parties, I intended to treat the motion in lieu of a dispositive motion, whether labeled as a "motion to dismiss" or motion for summary decision, that she should petitioner must respond in writing to the motion in lieu of the requirements of the Administrative Code for proceedings at the Office of Administrative Law. Furthermore, if K.P. did file a response to the motion to dismiss, the Board would be entitled to file a further response to obtain Summary Decision. On July 41, 2014, K.P. did file a response to the Motion in Lieu, and, thereafter, as permitted, on August 14, 2023. respondent filed a brief and affidavit seeking summary decision. As of November 7, 2023, K.P. did not file any response, and so the record closed.

MOTION

The Motion in Lieu, citing N.J.A.C. 6A: 3-1.5 (G) and N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.10 formally noticed the petitioner that it sought a dismissal of her petition that it was relying for support of its motion on an attached legal brief and a Certification of one Sarah Bilotti. After my review of it, and after conferring with K.P. and the Board's attorney, I ordered that if K.P. files a timely reply to the Motion in lieu, the Board would be given an opportunity to reply and I would treat the motion as one seeking summary decision.

First and foremost, the respondent initially argued that the petition failed to state a claim upon which relief may be granted. Further, it was argued, the petitioner failed to allege the violation of school laws. Finally, the respondent alleged the petition was fatally flawed by not setting for the factual allegations for the allegations in the petition. As will be shown, the respondent was correct on all three grounds. However, as directed by me at the conference, petitioner provided, or at least tried to provide a defense to the motion to dismiss, with an informal, but timely, "to whom it may concern" letter which contained a number of email chains (hereinafter "Letter" or "To Whom it May letter") certified by her to be the truth and also notarized. This was received by my office on July 31, 2023. Also, as directed at the conference, on August 14, 2023, respondent filed a response to petitioner's letter, with a supplemental brief and affidavit again by Superintendent Billotti. No reply was made to this supplement which closed the record.

Addressing first the simplest argument, the respondent correctly stated that the petition fails to claim a violation of any school law or laws. The form "Pro Se Petition of Appeal" directed the petitioner to set forth "in as many itemized paragraphs as necessary" the specific allegations and supporting facts which constitute the basis the dispute." Petitioner set forth only "discriminated, intimidated and retaliated from school stuff and dancers"[1] (emphasis supplied), No school laws are specifically cited, or described. Any "identifying" of school laws that may have been violated would require speculation and guessing; however the purpose of requiring specifications in the allegation is to identify the specific laws that were violated. Respondent is entitled to know the specific laws contained in the allegations.

Turning to the To whom it May letter by petitioner, and whether petitioner, notwithstanding the defects in the petition has now set forth enough evidence to defeat a motion for summary decision, I find, that like the petition, K.P.'s To whom it May" letter, and documents attached again fail to cite specific violations of law or laws complained of by this specific respondent at any specific time or place. The 13-page (by my count, as the pages are not enumerated) document never once cites a law or laws by name of legal citation. The Letter contains hearings in boldface type, as follows: "Discrimination" "GOD IS GOOD." "Intimidation" "Retaliation" "Retaliation continued" "Retaliation purposely negligence to hurt dancer"

[1] In the Relief requested section of the form appeal, petitioner stated she sought an Order "to admit the truth, apology to my daughter, including all the suffering damage $30,000, we both went through my daughter and I" and "not allowing NOONE to retaliate, intimidate and discriminate my daughter in her last year..." To the extent this demand for relief can be comprehended, I note there is no authority to make the respondent, or any respondent to "admit the truth" or to issue an "apology." Moreover, money damages are not available in OAL proceedings. Finally, the Court has no authority to sign prospective Orders which would overbroadly make sure that "NOONE" intimidates, retaliates her daughter as only the Board of Education is an adverse partly and can't be so ordered as they don't have authority over "NOONE" (that is, everyone).

On the fourth fifth and twelfth page (again using my count in the Order the pages, stapled together were affixed) petitioner does mention OPRA and asks the Court not to decide the case until she receives a decision from the GRC. She also refers to "continuing motion complaints with the District that have been scheduled for August 16, 2023". Finally she also recalls previous cases or a case in what must have been her daughter's prior school District Saddle Brook which resulted in a "deal". The petitioner provided no records regarding such a "deal" despite claiming it had a bearing on the current controversy, nor did she provide documents of previous or pending "complaints" with the District were provided. The petitioner did not provide records of the OPRA case number or any document relating to the controversy, despite her acting to delay the disposition of this matter until said OPRA case was concluded. As the petitioner claims these other proceedings have a bearing on this controversy, even requiring they be "held" until the GRC case is resolved, it was incumbent on her to provide relevant facts on that those claims or controversies mean to this one. Instead the letter only provides confusion.

Included in the near impossible to sort out train of emails, is a Gmail from Superintendent Sarah Bilotti to K.P. which at least indicates that, petitioner's complaint at least in part concerns the School's decision, consistent with, according to Bilotti, past practices to not allow her daughter to drop a Computer Science Class beyond the deadline (a class that she was receiving a "B-minus" in as late as May 30, 2023.) Apparently, without specifying any factual basis, K.P. claims that the refusal to let her child drop the course past the deadline is "discrimination" and or "retaliation." I find that even if K.P. could ultimately prove some teacher or teachers or administrative staff wrongfully failed to permit her daughter to drop a class past or even before the deadline, K.P. provides no factual basis or legal argument as to how such a failure could constitute HIB or some other violation of School law.

Second, the respondent (and the fact finder) must be able to determine from the petition itself the "specific facts which constitute the basis of the dispute." As stated aforesaid, the claim is "discriminated, intimidated, retaliated from school stuff, and dancers." (emphasis supplied) There are literally no facts alleged to support such a claim (if that is a claim.) There is not even a bare bone claim e.g. "My daughter was discriminated against by Teacher X at the dance competition held at the school on May 1, 2023, by Teacher X excluding her for no good reason." Such a claim might suffice for the purpose of the initial pleading, if an otherwise valid claim was made. The allegations must be contained in the petition itself, and can't be assumed to be known simply because the parties have otherwise communicated on the subject, or because the petitioner wrote about her complaints in a letter to the Superintendent. That might be useful at an evidentiary hearing but it doesn't meet the minimal requirements of a pleading. [2]

As for the To Whom it May letter, this response to the Motion in lieu sheds no light on what she K.P. is complaining about. Her attached emails make little sense without explanation and she provides no explanation. For example, several emails involve . advising others (teachers, administrators) not to speak to her daughter. For examples an email from November 16, 2022 states "No one will speak to [I.M.]" "There is no one allowed to speak to [I.M.]" and "don't approach [I.M.]" along with several other categorical commands on what is permitted regarding her daughter. I thought this strange considering the email is labeled "Dance." If her complaint has anything to do a dance course or competition, how can anyone be expected to teach or conduct a dance class or competition if one is being ordered by the parent not to speak to or even "approach" the pupil her daughter? Unfortunately, I can only speculate because that is the level of communication involved. Suffice to say, that K.M. provides no factual basis whatsoever to a claim that may regard HIB, and if it involves something other than HIB, K.P. completely fails to clarify what her specific claim is and a legal basis for the claim, notwithstanding having ample opportunity to do so.

In her Certification dated June 2, 2023 provided for in the Motion in Lieu of Sarah Bilotti, the Superintendent of Schools for the Board stated that based on her review of the petition she could not respond to the petition as the "allegations are general in nature" and "do not set forth facts...to support the general allegations." As a consequence the Superintendent was "not in a position to provide information for the Board's attorney to file an answer."

[2] The petition attached a March 14, 2023 letter to the parents of I.M. informing them that at a March 13, 2023 meeting, determined in an "harassment intimidation and bullying " (HIB) investigation that there was insufficient evidence to conclude an act of HIB had occurred. No other facts whatsoever are stated in the letter. The letter also advises the parents can appeal to the Commissioner of Education within 90 days.

I believe that the initial Certification by Superintendent Billotti was truthful and accurate, given the basically incomprehensible nature of the Petition. Nevertheless I did permit time for K.P. to provide a response to the Boards Motion in Lieu, which she did in the To Whom it May letter and its attachments. In the Board's August 14, 2023 response to same, Superintendent Billotti provided an affidavit, which, understandably, now characterized her knowledge as being "familiar with the facts pertaining to the request for petition to appeal filed by K.P...." In clear and cogent detail the Superintendent provided the following relevant and I believe undisputed facts: I.M. is a 17-year-old student who attended Pascack Hills High School for the 2022-23 school year. I.M. is domiciled in Saddle Brook and its BOE is required to provide a free public education to her. As a result of litigation between Saddle Brook and K.P., Saddle Brook requested that The Pascack Valley School District accept I.M. as a nonresident student for the 2022-2023 school year. The District accepted the enrollment and entered into a tuition contract with Saddle Brook allocating responsibility for the payment of I.M.'S tuition to the Board. However, that agreement was for one year only. On July 26, 2023, the Board unanimously voted to not enroll I.M. for the 2023-2024 school year (Billotti affidavit, Exhibit A).

Bilotti then explained her understanding of the 2022-2023 School year's controversy with K.P. over I.M. The deadline for students to withdraw from a course for the 2022-2023 school year was the end of the marking period January 18, 2023. However, more than four months later, on May 30, 2023, K.P. sought to withdraw I.M. from an honors computer science class and the school denied that request. was Billotti noted that I.M. eventually received a B plus for the course. In a similar dispute over I.M.'s grades, I.M. received a B minus final grade for the course. According to Bilotti the teacher communicated with students on homework and text/quiz requirements for the course. Bilotti found there was sufficient support for the teacher to issue the final B minus grade. I note that I.M. had a 3.58 cumulative average and that the B minus she received was for this honors computer science class, (Billotti Affidavit Exhibit C). Also, at the time K.P. began communicating with Bilotti asking to let her drop the Computer Science Class (May 17, 2023, four months past the deadline to drop classes) I.M. was then averaging a B minus in that class.

LEGAL ANALYSIS

Summary decision may be granted when the papers and discovery that have been filed show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact challenged and the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). No evidentiary hearing need be held if there are no disputed issues of material fact. Frank v. Ivy Club, 120 N.J. 73, 98, cert. denied, 498 U.S. 1073 (1991). A motion for summary decision in the OAL is equivalent to a motion for summary judgement in procedures in New Jersey Superior Court. "When the evidence is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law, the [tribunal] should not hesitate to grant summary [decision]." Della Vella v. Bureau of Homeowner Prot., New Home Warranty Program, CAF 17020-13, Initial Decision (March 31, 2014), adopted, Comm'r (May 12, 2014), http://njlaw.rutgers.edu/collections/oal/ (quoting Brill v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 142 N.J. 520, 529 (1995)).

Further, the non-moving party has the burden "to make an affirmative demonstration . . . that the facts are not as the movant alleges." Spiotta v. William H. Wilson, Inc., 72 N.J. Super. 572, 581 (App. Div. 1962). This requirement, however, does not relieve the moving party from having to initially establish in its moving papers that there was no genuine issue of fact and that they were entitled to prevail as a matter of law. It is the "movant's burden to exclude any reasonable doubt as to the existence of any genuine issue of fact." Conti v. Board of Education, 286 N.J. Super. 106 (App. Div. 1995) (quoting Judson v. Peoples Bank and Trust Co. of Westfield, 17 N.J. 67, 74 (1954)). Here the respondent has demonstrated there is no reasonable doubt as to the existence of any genuine issue of fact.

After reviewing Superintendent's affidavit, its facts and background provide the necessary context to at least make K.P.'s To Whom it May letter mostly comprehensible. However, I cannot agree with K.P. that it does anything to articulate a legal claim against the school district, certainly not under HIB, and since now other law is alluded to, I have to agree that the petition fails to state any claim upon which relief can be granted.[3]

[3] It is even possible that Petitioner did not mean to appeal the failure to find HIB. Although the petition attaches a letter denying a finding a HIB, petitioner neither cited in it nor in her response to the motion to dismiss this important Anti-Bullying law nor even used the by now well-known acronym, K.P. is obviously upset because her daughter got a B Plus and a B minus on two apparently difficult courses while otherwise averaging an A, and upset with the lack of appreciation by the school for her daughter's dancing abilities. She calls this "retaliation" and discrimination" but these are words, not facts nor arguments about a law, a violation of one, or facts upon which to base such a claim. The only "explanation" that I can grasp is K.P. may believe those teachers are retaliating because the child is an out of the district student or because K.P. has previously complained about I.M. not being allowed in the front of a dance competition or show. She says there were only five dancers ahead of I.M. but I.M. was in the third division of the dancers. She has even made an OPRA request to get the names of the other children who were put ahead of I.M. to further show discrimination and wants to postpone court proceedings until then. There is no cause to believe this was "retaliation".

I agree with respondent who correctly analyzed the applicable law and the basis for it:

> Allegations of dissatisfaction with actions of a dance coach in scheduling students to compete in events, participating in dance activities or scheduling of dance tournaments do not constitute a controversy under the School laws of the State of New Jersey. The same conclusions should be reached with regard to Petitioner's allegations that the athletic director and coach allegedly spoke to I.M. about Petitioner's concerns despite her request not to do so....[A]resolution of the factual disputes do not necessitate a hearing on the allegations since the resolution or the dispute also does not constitute a claim upon which relief can be granted. (Respondent's letter brief 8/14/23 page 2).

Likewise I concur that the dispute over the school's enforcement of its deadlines for withdrawing classes is not a cognizable claim. Even if I did, it is clear that any evidence that the school's actions were retaliation is fanciful at best.

Grades on academic course, participation on sports teams, dance teams and other extra curriculum issues cannot be subject to angry and emotional appeals by parents in the absence of showing the abuse in the Board's exercise of its discretionary powers that is "patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Kopera v West Orange Bd. Of Educ. 60 N.J. Super 288, 296 (App. Div 1960). There is a presumption of correctness in the exercise of such discretionary powers and local board's actions will not be upset where the "controverted action is within the discretionary authority of the board absent a showing that the action is arbitrary capricious or unreasonable". Thomas v Morris Twp. Bd. Of Educ. 89 N.J. Super 327, 332 (App Div. 1965, aff'd 46N.J. 581 (1966)

Finally, even if the complained of actions bore some rational relationship to a cognizable law which somehow has been breached, the OAL has no authority to grant K.P.'s demands, damages, the issuance of prospective orders as described in the demand for relief to everyone in the school district (or beyond) as described or to issue "an apology" for the alleged ordeal K.P or I.M. went through. There has not been given an iota of proof that the Board's actions in its failure to pay "pay damages" to issue prospective Orders forbidding everyone under the Board's purview to not "discriminate" in the future or issue an apology (for not issuing better grades, for the order placement in a dance competition or by its teachers and coaches talking to I.M. despite K.P.'s wishes that they not do so) was "patently arbitrary, without rational basis, or induced by improper motives." Parsippany-Troy Hills Education Assoc. v. BOE of Parsippany-Troy Hills Twp., 188 N.J. Super, 161, 167 (App. Div. 1983). See B.K. v. Tenafly, EDU 02392-20 (Initial Decision, December 18, 2020). Further, "[v]ague allegations of disrespect, violations of the anti-Bullying law and financial damages are not cognizable in this forum". C.B. on behalf of A.J.B. and J.B. v. City of Newark Bd. Of Educ., Essex County, EDU 09183-2021 (Order of Dismissal, March 17, 2022).

The original petition probably should not have survived the initial request for dismissal, at least without a formal and substantial amendment of the pleading, which I add was not requested by petitioner. However, I CONCLUDE that the petitioner has failed to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. This is sufficient to hold that respondent's motion for summary decision must now be and is GRANTED.

ORDER

Based upon all of the foregoing, I CONCLUDE that the petition fails to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. Accordingly, the motion for Summary Decision is granted and this matter is hereby DISMISSED with prejudice.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." Final Decision

W.D., on behalf of minor child, O.L.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Township of Montgomery, Somerset County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

Pro se petitioner W.D. sought to have her son, O.L., a rising sophomore in respondent Board's school district, enrolled in Advanced Placement Calculus BC (AP Calculus BC) for the 2023-2024 school year. Petitioner asserted that the decision of the Board to place O.L. in Advanced Placement Calculus AB (AP Calculus AB) instead of the desired course was a violation of the Strengthening Gifted and Talented Education Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:35-34 et seq. Petitioner filed a motion for emergent relief in this matter but withdrew the motion at the hearing on July 7, 2023; the case proceeded on a non-emergent basis. The Board filed a motion for summary decision which was opposed by the petitioner.

The ALJ found, inter alia, that: there are no material facts at issue in this case, and the matter is ripe for summary decision; O.L. has taken advanced math courses since the fifth grade, took Honors Precalculus as a ninth grader, and qualified for AP Calculus in tenth grade; and O.L. does not meet the prerequisites for enrollment in the AP Calculus BC class, which require that the student be a rising junior or senior who has earned an honors precalculus grade average above 94%, as well as a teacher recommendation to enter the course. The ALJ concluded that the Board is entitled to prevail in this matter as O.L. does not meet the prerequisites for the desired class, and petitioner has failed to show that the Board's decision was arbitrary, capricious, or induced by any improper motive. Accordingly, the ALJ granted summary decision to the Board and dismissed the petition.

Upon review, the Commissioner concurred with the ALJ's findings and conclusions. Accordingly, the Initial Decision of the OAL was adopted as the final decision in this matter, for the reasons stated therein. The petition was dismissed.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader and has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

The record of this matter and the decision of the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) have been reviewed and considered. The parties did not file exceptions.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

W.D., the petitioner, (W.D. or petitioner) seeks to have her son, O.L., enrolled in Advanced Placement Calculus BC (AP Calculus BC) for the 2023-24 school year and asserts that the decision of the respondent, the Board of Education of the Township of Montgomery, Somerset County (respondent or Board) not to do so violates the Strengthening Gifted and Talented Education Act, N.J.S.A. 18A:35-34 et seq.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Petitioner filed a petition seeking emergent relief dated, June 16, 2023, to have her son enrolled in the respondent's AP Calculus BC class for the 2023-24 school year. The matter was transmitted as a contested case to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) where it was filed on June 22, 2023. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. The respondent filed its answer, dated June 29, 2023. A hearing was held on July 7, 2023, where the petitioner voluntarily withdrew her emergent petition and elected to proceed as a non-emergent contested matter.

Respondent submitted its answer, dated July 17, 2023, to petitioner's due process petition. Respondent submitted a motion for summary decision (motion) on August 21, 2023, and the petitioner submitted her opposition to the respondent's motion on August 22, 2023. Oral Argument on the motion was held on August 30, 2023, where the respondent renewed its motion at the end of the petitioner's case in chief. This tribunal issued an oral decision granting respondent's motion on August 30, 2023.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION AND FINDINGS

The following FACTS are undisputed and I, therefore FIND:

1. W.D. and O.L. reside in Montgomery Township. O.L. is a rising sophomore at high school. He has taken advanced math courses starting in the fifth grade.

2. Respondent oversees the operation of the Montgomery Township School District. (Certification of Mary E. McLoughlin, dated August 14, 2023, ¶4.)

3. O.L. took Honors Precalculus as a ninth grader, and qualified for AP Calculus class in tenth grade.

4. The respondent offers three AP Calculus courses: AP Calculus AB, C and BC. (Exhibit E, McLoughlin Certification.)

5. For the 2023-24 school year, O.L. was registered for the AP Calculus AB course. (Exhibit D, McLoughlin Certification.)

6. The respondent's Program of Studies describes the AP Calculus AB course in this manner:

> This course is essentially calculus Advanced Placement AB as described in the course outline published by the College Entrance Examination Board. It covers limits, derivatives, and applications of both algebraic and transcendental functions as well as methods and applications of integration. The approach used is that of combining the essentials of the theory with practical applications. A strong background in Honors Precalculus will be required from the beginning of the course, and students will be expected to understand the concepts taught in class, as well as to transfer them to novel applications and problem-solving situations. This course is equivalent to a first semester college calculus course. Graphing calculators are required.
> Prerequisite: 85% in full school year Precalculus Honors course OR 95% in full school year Precalculus course OR 80% in full school calculus course. (Exhibit E, McLoughlin Certification.)

7. The respondent's Program of Studies describes the AP Calculus BC course in this manner:

> This course is essentially the College Board Calculus BC curriculum. Students will master material covering two semesters of a college calculus program. Students selected to take this course may elect to take an AP test in math with the possibility of earning one or two semesters' credit at colleges and universities that participate in the College Board program. The course outline is the combination of the Calculus AB description and Calculus C listed above. Students will be expected to understand the > concepts taught in class as well as transfer them to novel application[s] and problem-solving situations. Graphing calculators are required.

> Prerequisite: open to students in grades 11 and 12 with Precalculus Honors average over 94% and teacher recommendation. (Ibid.)

8. The respondent's Program of Studies describes the AP Calculus C class in this manner:

> "Taught as a continuation of Calculus AB, this course covers additional techniques of integration, polar coordinates, series, applications of integrals, parametric graphing and differential equations. The emphasis is on theory and problem-solving techniques. A strong background in AP calculus AB will be required from the beginning of the course, and students will be expected to understand the concepts taught in class, as well as to transfer them to novel applications and problem-solving situations. This course is equivalent to a second semester college calculus course. Graphing calculators are required.
> Prerequisite: 80% in AP Calculus AB, taken over a full school year. (Ibid.)

9. O.L. is a high-achieving student in math but does not qualify for the respondent's gifted and talented education program (GATE).

10. O.L. earned a final grade average of 93.6 in Honors Precalculus, which was rounded up to 94%. (Id. at ¶24; Exhibit J.)

11. O.L. does not have a teacher recommendation to take the AP Calculus BC course as required. (Id. at ¶26.)

12. Enrollment in the AP Calculus AB course is intended to be followed up by taking the AP Calculus C class in the following year which affords the student a two-year sequence of in-depth study of calculus. (Respondent's Brief in Support of its Motion for Summary Decision, p. 7.)

13. The AP Calculus AB – C sequence is intended for students seeking high-level post-secondary educational opportunities and ultimately, careers in science, technology, engineering and math (STEM)-related fields. (McLoughlin Certification, ¶14.)

14. Students enrolled in the AP Calculus BC course will not cover all the topics included in the AP Calculus AB – C sequence of classes. (Id. at ¶13; Exhibit F, McLoughlin Certification.)

15. The respondent offers only one section of the AP Calculus BC class. (McLoughlin Certification, ¶12.)

16. There are additional opportunities for O.L. to enhance his calculus studies beyond the AP Calculus AB class through independent projects with teachers and/or other activities offered by the respondent. (McLoughlin Certification, ¶21; Exhibit I.)

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

A motion for summary decision may be granted if the papers and discovery presented, as well as any affidavits which may have been filed with the application, show that there is no genuine issue of material facts, and the moving party is entitled to prevail as a matter of law. N.J.A.C. 1:1-12.5(b). If the motion is sufficiently supported, the non-moving party must demonstrate by affidavit that there is a genuine issue of fact which can only be determined in an evidentiary proceeding, to prevail in such an application. (Ibid.)

These provisions mirror the summary judgment language of R. 4:46-2(c) of the New Jersey Court Rules.

The motion judge must "consider whether competent evidential materials presented, when viewed in the light most favorable to the non-moving party . . . are sufficient to permit a rational fact finder to resolve the alleged disputed issue in favor of the non-moving party." Brill v. Guardian Life Insurance Company of American, 142 N.J. 520, 523 (1995). And even if the non-moving party comes forward with some evidence, this forum must grant summary decision if the evidence is "so one-sided that [the moving party] must prevail as a matter of law." Id. at 536.

The issue presented is whether the respondent's decision not to enroll O.L. in the AP Calculus BC class was arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable. The respondent filed the motion contending there is no genuine issue of material fact that O.L. does not meet any of the prerequisites for the AP Calculus BC class. The prerequisites are: honors precalculus grade average over 94%, a teacher recommendation and be a rising junior or senior. It is undisputed that O.L.'s grade average in honors precalculus is 94%; he is not a rising eleventh or twelfth grade student and he does not have a teacher recommendation. Accordingly, the respondent avers that its decision not to enroll him in that class was appropriate. Indeed, the respondent contends that the two-year sequence of AP Calculus AB and C, is the most rigorous program for high achieving students like O.L. who are interested in pursuing calculus in college and ultimately a career in a STEM-related area. The AP Calculus BC class is taught at a faster pace because the class does not cover all the topics comprehensively. Moreover, the respondent contends there are additional opportunities for O.L. to engage in independent projects with the teachers if he does not feel sufficiently challenged in the AP Calculus AB class.

Conversely, the petitioner contends that the respondent's decision violates the Strengthening Gifted and Talented Education Act, which provides:

> a. A board of education shall ensure that appropriate instructional adaptations and educational services are provided to gifted and talented students in kindergarten through grade 12 to enable them to participate in, benefit from, and demonstrate knowledge and application of the New Jersey Student Learning Standards at the instructional level of the student.
>
> b. A board of education shall:
>
> (1) ensure that appropriate instructional adaptations are designed for students who are gifted and talented;
> (2) make provisions for an ongoing kindergarten through grade 12 identification process for gifted and > talented students that includes multiple measures in order to identify student strengths in intellectual ability, creativity, or a specific academic area. School districts shall ensure equal access to a continuum of gifted and talented education services. The identification process shall include consideration of all students, including those who are English language learners and those with Individualized Education Plans or 504 plans;

>
> (3) develop and document appropriate curricular and instructional modifications used for gifted and talented students indicating content, process, products, and learning environment, and including, but not limited to, additional education activities such as academic competitions, guest speakers, and lessons with a specialist;
>
> (4) take into consideration the Gifted Programming Standards, Position Statements, and White Papers of the National Association for Gifted Children in identifying and serving gifted and talented students;
>
> (5) provide the time and resources to develop, review, and enhance instructional tools with modifications for helping gifted and talented students acquire and demonstrate mastery of the required knowledge and skills specified by the standards at the instructional level of the student; and
>
> (6) actively assist and support professional development for teachers, educational services staff, and school leaders in the area of gifted and talented instruction.
> [N.J.S.A.18A:35-36.]

With this law as the backdrop, the petitioner assails the respondent's prerequisites for the AP Calculus BC class. She contends that these prerequisites prevent gifted tenth grade students from equal access to the AP Calculus BC class. She asserts that "over 94%" includes 94% and thus her son qualifies. She believes the teacher recommendation requirement is arbitrary because it does not apply to eleventh grade students. She also believes her son will be bored in the AP Calculus AB class because the class goes into greater depth with the topics and thus is taught at a slower pace. She believes that the two-class sequence (AB and C) will deprive her son of an additional year of advanced calculus that can be taken at Princeton University. She declares it unfair that her son has been in advanced math classes since fifth grade but is now restricted to learning with his chronological peers instead of his intellectual peers.

All parties agree that O.L. is a high-achieving student who is gifted in math and W.D., as a parent, wants the best for her son. She believes that the AP Calculus BC course is a better fit for son because it is faster paced and keeps him with his academic peers. She disagrees that the design of the two-year sequence is appropriate for gifted tenth grade students with a proclivity for calculus. However, the authority to design the course of study for students has been assigned to the local school district. Specifically, N.J.S.A. 18A:33-1 mandates that each local school district must "provide courses of study suited to the ages and attainments of all pupils between the ages of five and 20 years."

In addition, it is axiomatic that the discretionary decision of the local board of education as to which courses to offer and the contents of such courses is entitled to a presumption of correctness and will not be upset unless there is an affirmative showing that such decision was arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. Parsippany-Troy Hills Ed. Assn v. Bd. of Ed. of Parsippany-Troy Hills Tp., 188 N.J. Super. 161 (App. Div. 1983), certif. den., 94 N.J. 527 (1983). The general rule is that an "action of the local board which lies within the area of its discretionary powers may not be upset unless patently arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motives." Id. at 167, quoting Kopera v. West Orange Bd. of Ed., 60 N.J. Super. 288, 294 (App. Div.1960). I FIND the respondent's decision to create the AP Calculus AB, C and BC classes was a discretionary decision and W.D. must prove that the respondent acted in either bad faith or in disregard of the circumstances.

Here, it is undeniable that the petitioner strongly disagrees with the respondent's decision to enroll her son into the AP Calculus AB class. However, she has not presented any credible evidence that the respondent's standards were established in bad faith or in disregard to O.L.'s circumstances. For example, W.D. did not present testimony from other parents or an educational expert to support her allegations that limiting the AP Calculus BC class to juniors and seniors, requiring a teacher recommendation and having a grade average over 94% was in bad faith. Her disagreement with the requirements does not establish bad faith. To the extent that the respondent has engaged in mixed messaging from staff and board members about whether the eligibility standard is 94% or over 94%, the program of studies document plainly states that students must have a grade average over 94%. And even assuming arguendo that the petitioner is correct in interpretating that "over 94%" includes 94%, her son lacks the other two requirements.

The Strengthening Gifted and Talented Education Act, (citations omitted) requires equal access to a continuum of gifted and talented education services. There is no supporting evidence that a classroom experience is the only type of educational service that the respondent can provide. Indeed, in fulfillment of this mandate, the respondent allows gifted students to work on a project with other students or independently to enhance their educational experience. In addition, at the high school level, "academic contests and competitions, groups, clubs, and as well as leadership activities are made available to students through the Media Specialist, supported by supervisors and advisors."[1] I CONCLUDE these opportunities comply with the law's continuum requirement.

Petitioner contends that the decision to limit the AP Calculus BC class to juniors and seniors is irresponsible and disregards the needs of gifted tenth graders. She asserts that the neighboring districts offer the AP Calculus BC class to tenth grade students who achieve a 90% grade average. She contends her son and other gifted tenth graders are being held back on purpose by the respondent.

The respondent's decision to restrict access to the AP Calculus BC class to juniors and seniors was based upon the respondent's educational professionals and faculty which included staff with knowledge about the educational characteristics that colleges are seeking. Moreover, there is no mandate that the respondent's class requirements or calculus course of study mirror neighboring districts. The petitioner provided no credible proof that her son and other gifted tenth grade students taking the AP Calculus AB class will be at a disadvantage. This is pure speculation.[2] Accordingly, I CONCLUDE the petitioner has failed to prove that the respondent's grade restriction is arbitrary, capricious, or induced by improper motive.

Petitioner asserts that her son will miss the opportunity to participate in the high school program at Princeton University by following the respondent's two-year sequence of AP calculus classes. However, the respondent denied any relationship with Princeton University. Thus, this claim is unsubstantiated and must fail. The petitioner asserts in her post-hearing submission that she was not informed about the course selection by school personnel in violation of Board policy #2464. However, this was not raised in the original petition, and thus, will not be addressed here.

The petitioner asserts that there is no clear link to the complaint appeal process on the respondent's website homepage. This tribunal was able to find a link to an overview of the GATE program on the respondent's homepage[3] and a link to appeal the school's decision and an informational video on the respondent's Assessment, Curriculum and Instruction page.[4] The respondent's policy on gifted and talented was also accessible and contained information on appealing to the board of education.[5] However, the policy was not linked to the respondent's website homepage as required. Accordingly, I FIND that the petitioner has substantiated her claim that the complaint process is not on the respondent's homepage. However, this does not impact whether the respondent's decision to register O.L. for the AP Calculus AB class was arbitrary, without rational basis or induced by improper motive.

For the reasons stated above, I CONCLUDE there is no genuine issue of any material fact and respondent is entitled to prevail as a matter of law because O.L. does not meet the prerequisites for the desired class and the petitioner has not proven that the respondent's decision is arbitrary, capricious or induced by an improper motive.

[2] Petitioner is not precluded from filing a new petition if O.L. experiences a quantifiable disadvantage by being in theAB class.

Petitioners,

v.

Board of Education of the South Orange-Maplewood School District, Essex County,

Respondent.

The record of this emergent matter and the recommended Order of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ – for the reasons thoroughly set forth in the recommended Order – that petitioner has demonstrated entitlement to emergent relief pursuant to the standards enunciated in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982), and codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6.

Accordingly, the recommended Order, granting the petitioners' application for emergent relief, is adopted. Respondent is ordered to provide transportation for petitioners' child to and from school during the pendency of these proceedings.[1] This case shall continue at the Office of Administrative Law with such proceedings as the parties and the ALJ deem necessary to bring it to closure.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Record Closed: November 28, 2023 Decided: November 28, 2023

BEFORE NANCI G. STOKES, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioners seek emergent relief compelling the South Orange-Maplewood School District (District or Board) to provide transportation to their minor child from her home to her elementary school and back home. The District denied this request because it maintains that the child lives too close to her school to be eligible for transportation services and did not consider the child's route hazardous. Petitioners dispute the District's distance determination and maintain that their child's route is dangerous, entitling their child to emergent transportation.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

H.S. and N.B.'s five-year-old child walks to school through recognized hazardous intersections, which exceeds the District's courtesy bus policy distance of 1.25 miles when measured by Strava from their home's entrance to the nearest open school entrance but not "curb to curb" used by the District. Instead, the District's uses Versatrans, which measures the child's route at 1.14 miles, under the 1.25-mile eligibility criteria. Google measurement rounds down the route to 1.1 miles. The District requested New Jersey's Division of Weights and Measures to assess the length of the child's route given the discrepancy, but it has issued no written determination.

On or about October 5, 2023, the District denied H.S. and N.B.'s request to allow their daughter to take the bus from the bus stop three houses down from their home to school. The District explained its differing calculations and highlighted that crossing guards were available on the pedestrian route taken by H.S. and N.B.'s minor child.

Petitioner testified that the bus operating in the District near their home has many open seats, and they supply a parent email that supports seat availability. Still, the District maintains that available seats do not end the analysis. Regardless, should I order emergent relief, the District must comply with or challenge any order with the NJDOE.

Petitioners also note that the District refused its request to transfer their child to a closer school following the District's Mandatory Intentional Integration Initiative (Initiative).

By way of background, the District changed its courtesy student transportation distance from its earlier policy of providing courtesy busing for remote children living more than two miles from school to 1.25 miles from the school. See District Policy 8600, June 2023. That policy also explains that the Board will designate transportation for all non-remote students who must walk to and from school along hazardous routes. To determine hazardous route designations, the Board created and adopted criteria in District Policy 8600.1

Indeed, following two reports by Stonefield Engineering and Design (Stonefield) assessing the safety of pedestrian routes taken by students now required to walk to school after reassignment to farther schools through the Initiative, the District adopted a Hazardous Routes Policy 8600.1 in July 2023. Stonefield focused on intersections and fourteen roadways students may traverse while walking to schools. Stonefield assessed traffic volumes, pedestrian accidents, availability of sidewalks, roadway speeds, traffic signals, visibility concerns, and the presence of crossing guards to mitigate hazardous conditions.

Likewise, Policy 8600.1 identifies thirteen criteria to assess hazardous routes, including those addressed by Stonefield. Undeniably, Stonefield concluded that students walking along the western side of Ridgewood Avenue between Clinton Avenue and Lenox Avenue would be hazardous. When the Board adopted Policy 8600.1, that area carried a known dangerous designation. Further, Stonefield did not recommend that children cross Ridgewood Avenue at Curtiss Place, which is in the hazardous area between Clinton and Lenox Avenues. Curtiss Place is where petitioners and their minor child live.

However, the District asserts that the child should cross Ridgewood Avenue at Baker Street, a non-hazardous roadway, per the Stonefield report. However, the maps provided by both parties require the child to head southwest on Curtiss Avenue and turn right onto Ridgewood Avenue. Without crossing Ridgewood Avenue from Curtiss Avenue, the child could walk south on the western side of Ridgewood Avenue to the intersection with Baker Street and Ridgewood Avenue to cross onto Baker Street. Yet, there is no sidewalk along the western side of Ridgewood Avenue from Curtiss Place to Baker Street. Still, the intersection at Baker Street and Ridgewood Avenue requires a crossing guard to avoid being hazardous.

Once on Baker Street, the child would pass through intersections at Maplewood Avenue, Dunnell Road, Burnet Street, and Valley Street. According to Stonefield, all intersections require crossing guards to prevent hazardous conditions. Next, the child would turn right onto Valley Street and might cross over the roadway onto Harvard Avenue to reach the school on that street. However, crossing Valley Street at Harvard Avenue is hazardous per Stonefield, requiring the child to cross Valley Street earlier onto Tuscan Road. Notably, the Versatrans map inexplicably has the child's route turning onto Harvard Avenue from Valley Street. Regardless, the intersection at Tuscan Road and Valley Street also requires a crossing guard to avoid danger to a student.

In other words, every intersection, even considering alternate routes, proposed by the District requires the presence of a crossing guard to avoid being hazardous, according to Stonefield's reports. Further, the District does not address the lack of a sidewalk on Ridgewood Avenue, a hazardous route to the intersection with Baker Street. Petitioner supplies a video depicting the proposed walking route and the area the District offers their child to walk. Without a sidewalk, the child would need to walk on the shoulder of a busy roadway.

The Maplewood Police Department's (MPD) list of crossing guards identifies times that intersections will have crossing guards, most shifts ending at 3:45 p.m. However, two posted crossing guard shifts end at 3:20 p.m. at the Dunnell and Burnet Streets intersections with Baker Street along the child's route home. The child's trip home begins after dismissal at 3:23 p.m. Monday to Wednesday and at 4:15 p.m. on Thursday and Friday. Notably, petitioners' minor child attends an afterschool program on Thursday and Friday afternoons for which the District would not have to supply transportation. In other words, two hazardous intersections had no crossing guards when the District denied the petitioners' transportation request.

In response, the District's security officer, Stanley Valles, spoke with the Chief of Police after petitioners filed this case. On November 27, 2023, the Chief emailed the District indicating that the MPD would adjust crossing guard times at the intersections of Dunnell and Burnett Streets along Baker Street. Yet, his email only highlights that the MPD crossing guard times posted on MPD's website appear inaccurate, at least in part. Notably, MPD's website identifies morning crossing guards at these intersections from 7:45 to 9:15 a.m. Yet, the Chief's email notes he was changing the crossing guard morning postings from 8:30 to 9:00 a.m. to 7:45 to 8:45 a.m., neither timeframe consistent with its website. Also troubling is video footage from those intersections before the Chief's proposed crossing guard shift changes in his November 27, 2023 email. The Chief indicates the current crossing guard posting at Dunnell and Baker Street starts at 8:30 a.m., but no crossing was present at 8:32 a.m. when the child would be crossing the intersection.

The intersection of Maplewood Avenue and Baker Street has no crossing guard. Instead, the MPD is assigned to safeguard this intersection. However, videos from school days of October 19, 2023, and November 27, 2023, of this intersection reveal no officers or crossing guards when the minor child would cross on her way to school. Undeniably, the District does not hire crossing guards or assign police officers to monitor its intersections. Yet, Stonefield's hazardous route assessment requires crossing guards at multiple intersections on the child's route, and the District needed to evaluate the availability of crossing guards under its hazardous route policy.

Petitioners also present a pedestrian accident density analysis prepared before children began walking to school after the Initiative. This record needs more authentication to consider. Still, Stonefield identified pedestrian and bike accidents through the New Jersey Department of Transportation in its roadway analysis. Undeniably, Tables 3A, 5A, and 7 in Stonefield's April report note multiple pedestrian accidents along Valley Street, South Ridgewood Road, and Baker Street.

The District maintains that the walk to and from school is twenty-seven minutes, which petitioners calculate as ten minutes longer. Still, the District's calculation does not account for time stopping at the numerous intersections along the route, each requiring crossing guards to stop traffic and direct travel across, and gives the minor child little time to reach the crossing guard at Baker Street and Ridgewood Avenue whose shift ends at 3:45 p.m. Again, this portion of Ridgewood Avenue is a designated hazardous route in Policy 8600.1.

On October 23, 2023, petitioners filed an appeal and requested emergent relief. On November 15, 2023, the Department of Education (NJDOE), Office of Controversies and Disputes, transmitted this case to the OAL for hearing as a contested case and resolution of petitioner's motion for emergency relief.

The OAL assigned the case to me, and I requested the Board submit an answer to the petition and reply to the emergent application, which I received on November 20, 2023. The Board submitted its answer to the NJDOE on November 16, 2023. I held a telephone conference on November 21, 2023. The District maintains that petitioners do not meet the standards for emergent relief or eligibility requirements for courtesy transportation to and from school.

Petitioners supplied additional materials on November 22, 27, and 28, 2023, including video footage of many intersections on their child's route. I directed petitioners to stop the sound during the presentation of video footage as their comments are opinions, and the videos speak for themselves about the intersections and the presence or lack of crossing guards.

The Board presented the Chief's email on November 27, 2023, on that date.

I heard oral argument on November 27, 2023. However, I directed petitioners to provide videos taken from that morning and time stamp verification along with any videos submitted with the petition that the NJDOE did not transmit to the OAL. I received those materials on November 28, 2023, and the record closed. Notably, petitioners also took a video of the intersection at Maplewood Avenue and Baker Street today at 8:49 a.m., which I decline to consider as this exceeds the scope of the discussion at oral argument.

LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSION

The Commissioner's jurisdiction encompasses "controversies and disputes arising under the school laws" under N.J.S.A. 18A:6-9, Dunellen Bd. of Educ. v. Dunellen Ed. Assoc., 64 N.J. 17, 23 (1973), the New Jersey Supreme Court concluded that "the Legislature enacted provisions entrusting school supervision and management to local school boards . . . subject to the supervisory control [of] . . . the State Commissioner of Education."

The regulations governing such disputes before the Commissioner of Education provide that "[w]here the subject matter of the controversy is a particular course of action by a district board of education or any other party subject to the jurisdiction of the Commissioner, the petitioner may include with the petition of appeal, a separate motion for emergent relief or a stay of that action pending the Commissioner's final decision in the contested case." N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(a).

> A motion for a stay or emergent relief shall be accompanied by a letter memorandum or brief which shall address the following standards to be met for granting such relief pursuant to Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982):
>
> > 1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted;
> > 2. The legal right underlying petitioner's claim is settled;
> > 3. The petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and
> > 4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.

[N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6(b).]

Indeed, the moving party must demonstrate each element "clearly and convincingly." Waste Management of N.J. v. Union County Utilities Authority, 399 N.J. Super. 508, 520 (App. Div. 2008). Emergent relief is designed "to 'prevent some threatening, irreparable mischief, which should be averted until opportunity is afforded for a full and deliberate investigation of the case.'" Crowe, 90 N.J. at 132 (citation omitted).

Irreparable harm

Harm is generally considered irreparable if monetary damages cannot adequately redress it. Id. at 132-33. In other words, courts describe irreparable harm as "'substantial injury to a material degree coupled with the inadequacy of money damages.'" Judice's Sunshine Pontiac, Inc. v. General Motors Corp., 418 F. Supp. 1212, 1218 (D.N.J. 1976) (citation omitted). An applicant for emergent relief must demonstrate more than a risk of irreparable harm. Continental Group, Inc. v. Amoco Chemicals Corp., 614 F. 2d 351, 359 (D.N.J. 1980). The requisite for injunctive relief requires a "'clear showing of immediate irreparable injury,'" or a "'presently existing actual threat; [an injunction] may not be used simply to eliminate a possibility of a future remote injury, or a future invasion of rights, be those rights protected by statute or by common law.'" Ibid. (citation omitted). Unsupported allegations of irreversible harm are insufficient to excuse the completion of administrative proceedings. Komninos by Komninos v. Upper Saddle River Bd. of Educ., 13 F.3d 775, 779 (3d Cir. 1994).

Here, petitioners rely upon the District's hazardous route evaluations and Policy 8600 and 8600.1 to support their position that the District should allow their child to ride the bus to school. Regardless of any dispute regarding the child's route measurements, the route addresses a designated hazardous area in Policy 8600.1 and multiple intersections that require a crossing guard to reduce risk. Still, the District's reliance on crossing guards failed to acknowledge the child's school schedule and dismissal times, making those crossing guards unavailable to assist this five-year-old child in returning home safely until the MPD provides additional coverage. Still, intersections that the MPD safeguards are without officers when the child needs to pass through them on her route to school. The risk of irreparable harm to the child's safety is inherent on busy roadways, including a hazardous route designation along Ridgewood Avenue without a sidewalk and at hazardous intersections without crossing guards. Thus, I CONCLUDE that petitioners have demonstrated that they meet the first criteria for emergent relief.

Settled Legal Right

Emergent relief "should be withheld when the legal right underlying plaintiff's claim is unsettled." Crowe, 90 N.J. at 133 (citing Citizens Coach Co. v. Camden H. R. Co., 29 N.J.Eq. 299, 304-305 (E & A 1878)).

Each school district must provide a thorough and efficient education system to all its resident children. N.J. Const. art. VIII, § 4, ¶ 1; N.J.S.A. 18A:33-1. To carry out this policy, local boards of education have discretionary authority under N.J.S.A. 18A:11-1C. The boards adopt rules for the management of the district's public schools and act to ensure the lawful and proper conduct of the district's public schools. Still, statutory requirements apply to actions by a school district or a board of education.

To be sure, petitioners have the right to challenge the District's determination as arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable, even though "a presumption of lawfulness and good faith applies to a board of education's actions." Schuster v. Bd. of Educ. Montgomery Twp., 96 N.J.A.R.2d (EDU) 670, 676 (citing Schnick v. Westwood Ed. of Educ., 60 N.J. Super. 448 (App. Div. 1960), and Quinlan v. Bd. of Educ. of North Bergen Twp., 73 N.J. Super. 40 (App. Div. 1962).

The Board's transportation policies clarify that it must evaluate the safety of the routes that elementary school children must walk to school. There is little support demonstrating that District considered the parent's request according to its policy concerning hazardous routes. Undeniably, a known hazardous route exists for this child to get to school. The remaining areas, especially intersections, are also a significant concern, according to Stonefield. The District must consider the absence of a sidewalk along the designated hazardous route along Ridgewood Avenue, but the decision does not mention this consideration. The District also must evaluate whether crossing guards are available.

Until yesterday, there was no potential for crossing guard coverage at two intersections on the child's route. In other words, until this petition, none were present, according to the MPD's website and the Chief's email. The intersection at Maplewood Avenue and Baker Street requires a crossing guard, and the videos show no such coverage. The five-year-old child must also get from school to the intersection of Baker Street and Ridgewood Avenue twenty-two minutes after dismissal at 3:23 p.m., after crossing multiple intersections, before the crossing guard at this intersection leaves at 3:45 p.m., if the posted time on the MPD website is accurate. In other words, it is a highly improbable task.

Therefore, I CONCLUDE petitioners have satisfied this requirement for emergent relief.

Likelihood of Success on the Merits

Under the third emergent relief standard, "a plaintiff must make a preliminary showing of a reasonable probability of ultimate success on the merits." Crowe, supra, 90 N.J. at 133 (citing Ideal Laundry Co. v. Gugliemone, 107 N.J. Eq. 108, 115-16 (E. & A. 1930)). This requirement is often implicitly tied to whether the right to the underlying claim is settled.

The "arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable" standard of review imposes a heavy burden on challengers of board actions and "means having no rational basis." Piccoli v. Ed. of Educ. of Ramapo Indian Hills Regional School District, OAL DKT. EDU 1839-98 (January 22, 1999) (citing Bayshore Sewage Co. v. Dent. of Envir. Protection, 122 N.J. Super. 184, 199-200 (Ch. Div. 1973), aff'd 131 N.J. Super. 37 (App. Div. 1974). Still, petitioners present evidence that the District did not consider its transportation policies and the criteria it must employ in evaluating the hazards of a child's pedestrian route to and from school. The District primarily relied upon crossing guards whose shifts ended before the child would need to cross various intersections safely or missing personnel at others.

Thus, I CONCLUDE that petitioners have satisfied this criterion for emergent relief.

Balancing of the Equities

Lastly, petitioners meet the fourth emergent relief standard, which involves "the relative hardship to the parties in granting or denying relief." Crowe, 90 N.J. at 134 (citing Isolantite Inc. v. United Elect. Radio & Mach. Workers, 130 N.J.Eq. 506, 515 (Ch.1941), mod. on other grounds, 132 N.J.Eq. 613 (E. & A. 1942)). Petitioners must demonstrate that they will suffer more significant harm than the Board if this tribunal does not grant the requested relief. Moreover, petitioners must show that "the inconvenience or loss to the opposing party will be minimal if the relief is obtained." Zoning Bd. 8 of Adjustment of Sparta Tp. v. Service Elec. Cable Television of New Jersey, Inc., 198 N.J. Super. 370, 379 (App. Div. 1985).

Simply put, the safety risk to the child outweighs the District's financial concerns. It operates buses that could accommodate this child.

Based on the above discussion, I CONCLUDE that petitioners' request for emergent relief meets the requirements under N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6 and is GRANTED. Thus, I CONCLUDE that the District must provide busing to petitioners' minor child during the pendency of petitioners' challenge to the appropriateness of the District's determination regarding transportation, although not on afternoons involving aftercare.

ORDER

Therefore, I ORDER that petitioner's request for emergency relief be and is hereby GRANTED and that the District begin busing the minor child to and from school, absent days involving aftercare, as soon as possible.

This order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the Commissioner of Education, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay but no later than forty-five (45) days following the entry of this order. If the Commissioner of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief under N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Record Closed: December 1, 2023 Decided: December 1, 2023

BEFORE JUDE-ANTHONY TISCORNIA, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The forgoing matter involves a petition challenging residency determination made by the Township of Union (Union) against R.J. on remand from the Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Education (Commissioner). The original complaint was returned to the agency due to R.J.'s continued failure to appear at telephonic conferences, including a peremptory telephonic conference that had been set for June 21, 2023. The Commissioner found this action improper and directed the undersigned to set the matter down for a hearing.

ISSUE

Notwithstanding the challenge to the underlying residency determination, neither party appeared at the hearing on the scheduled hearing date.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The underlying matter, docketed as EDU 02247-2023, was returned by the undersigned to the Department of Education, office of Controversies and Disputes (Department) on or about June 22, 2023. The matter was remanded to the undersigned by Order of the Commissioner dated July 17, 2023. The matter was re-docketed as EDU 06545-2023 and transmitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) on July 20, 2023.

On July 28, 2023, the undersigned receive confirmation via e-mail from both R.J. and the Board's representative, Mr. Devaney, that both were available on August 4, 2023, telephonic conference. The conference was conducted on August 4, 2023, with Mr. Devaney appearing on behalf of the Board, and R.J. failing to appear.

On September 28, 2023, the parties were served with notice of a peremptory hearing date of November 30, 2023, at 9:30 a.m. On the scheduled hearing date, neither party appeared. At approximately 10:00 a.m. on the scheduled hearing date, the undersigned received a Substitution of Attorney from the office of Lester E. Taylor III, Esq., advising that he was replacing Mr. Devaney as the attorney of record on the matter.

The matter was held by the undersigned for one day. The record was closed on December 1, 2023, with no communication having been received from R.J. by the undersigned.

Legal Conclusion

N.J.A.C. § 1:1-14.4 Failure to appear; sanctions for failure to appear

> (a) If, after appropriate notice, neither a party nor a representative appears at any proceeding scheduled by the Clerk or judge, the judge shall hold the matter for one day before taking any action. If the judge does not receive an explanation for the nonappearance within one day, the judge shall, unless proceeding pursuant to (d) below, direct the Clerk to return the matter to the transmitting agency for appropriate disposition pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-3.3(b) and (c).
>
> (b) If the nonappearing party submits an explanation in writing, a copy must be served on all other parties and the other parties shall be given an opportunity to respond.
>
> (c) If the judge receives an explanation:
>
> > 1. If the judge concludes that there was good cause for the failure to appear, the judge shall reschedule the matter for hearing; or
> > 2. If the judge concludes that there was no good cause for the failure to appear, the judge may refuse to reschedule the matter and shall issue an initial decision explaining the basis for that conclusion…

I Conclude that the substitution of attorney receive after the date and time of the scheduled hearing date does not constitute good cause for the petitioner school board and/or their representative to have failed to appear, as the matter was set down for a hearing several months in advance and proper notice was issued by the OAL. I further Conclude that R.J. has provided no explanation for their failure to appear at the November 30, 2023, hearing.

Based on my conclusions above, and in conjunction N.J.A.C. 1:1-14.4 as cited above, I, hereby, direct the Clerk to return the matter to the transmitting agency for appropriate disposition pursuant to N.J.A.C. 1:1-3.3(b) and (c).

ORDER

Based upon the foregoing, it is ORDERED that the foregoing matter shall be returned to the Commissioner of the Department of Education.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." New Jersey Commissioner of Education

J.B., on behalf of minor children, C.B. and C.B.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Elizabeth,
Union County,

Respondent.

Synopsis

In this case on remand, pro se petitioner appealed the determination of the respondent Board that she and her family are not domiciled in Elizabeth and that her children are therefore not entitled to a free public education in Elizabeth schools. Petitioner admitted that she and her husband and children had been staying temporarily at a relative's home in Hillside due to a family emergency but had been forthcoming with the District as to the situation that necessitated their short-term relocation. Petitioner asserted that the family remains permanently domiciled in Elizabeth and therefore the children are entitled to attend school in the District. The Board filed a counterclaim demanding tuition repayment for the period since March 21, 2023.

On remand, the ALJ found, inter alia, that: upon review of issues related to petitioner's R-6, which was not addressed in the original OAL decision in this matter, the changes of address and the affidavit submitted to the Hillside school district by the petitioner were an attempt to comply with what she had been told by the Board, and were undertaken without prejudice to her appeal of the Board's residency determination; the express language of the affidavit indicates that the Hillside residency was temporary; the petitioner's testimony was very credible; and none of petitioner's actions were done to evade school officials. The ALJ concluded that petitioner has proven that the family's residence remains in Elizabeth; accordingly, petitioner's appeal was granted and the Board's counterclaim for tuition was denied.

Upon review on remand, the Commissioner adopted the ALJ's Initial Decision issued August 18, 2023, as supplemented by the Initial Decision issued November 28, 2023, as the final decision in this matter. In so doing, the Commissioner noted that she is satisfied that petitioner's residency appeal should be granted based on the additional factual findings made by the ALJ on remand and the ALJ's determination that petitioner's testimony regarding Exhibit R-6 was highly credible.

This synopsis is not part of the Commissioner's decision. It has been prepared for the convenience of the reader. It has been neither reviewed nor approved by the Commissioner.

New Jersey Commissioner of Education

Final Decision

J.B., on behalf of minor children, C.B. and C.B.,

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the City of Elizabeth, Union County,

Respondent.

In this remanded matter, petitioner appealed the determination of the Elizabeth Board of Education (Board) that she and her minor children do not reside in Elizabeth. In an Initial Decision dated August 18, 2023, the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) concluded that the family had temporarily relocated away from their home in Elizabeth due to a family emergency, but that their residence remained in Elizabeth and that the minor children were, therefore, entitled to a free education in Elizabeth's schools. The Board filed exceptions. The Commissioner remanded the matter for the ALJ to render factual findings regarding Exhibit R-6, consisting of documents that demonstrated that petitioner changed her address with multiple entities and submitted an affidavit to the Hillside school district that she and her children resided there.

In an Initial Decision dated November 28, 2023, the ALJ found that petitioner's changes of address and the affidavit submitted to the Hillside school district were an attempt to comply with what petitioner had been told by the Board, but were undertaken without prejudice to her appeal of the Board's residency determination. The ALJ noted that the express language of the affidavit indicates that the Hillside residency was temporary. The ALJ found that petitioner's testimony was very credible, and that none of her actions were done to evade school officials. Accordingly, the ALJ granted petitioner's appeal and denied the Board's counterclaim for tuition. The parties did not file exceptions to the November 28, 2023 Initial Decision.

The Commissioner adopts the ALJ's Initial Decision issued August 18, 2023, as supplemented by the Initial Decision issued November 28, 2023, as the final decision in this matter. Upon consideration of the additional factual findings made by the ALJ, coupled with the ALJ's determination that petitioner testified very credibly regarding Exhibit R-6, the Commissioner is satisfied that petitioner's residency appeal should be granted.

When reviewing an ALJ's Initial Decision, the Commissioner "may not reject or modify any findings of fact as to issues of credibility of lay witness testimony unless it is first determined from a review of the record that the findings are arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable or are not supported by sufficient, competent and credible evidence in the record." N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10(c); Parsells v. Bd. of Educ. of Borough of Somerville, Somerset Cnty., 254 N.J. 152, 159 (2023) (holding that the ALJ's credibility findings are entitled to deference). "When such a record, involving lay witnesses, can support more than one factual finding, it is the ALJ's credibility findings that control, unless they are arbitrary or not based on sufficient credible evidence in the record as a whole." Cavalieri v. Bd. of Trs. of Pub. Empl. Ret. Sys., 368 N.J. Super. 527, 537 (App. Div. 2004).

Following a careful review of the entire record, the Commissioner has identified nothing arbitrary, capricious, or unreasonable about the ALJ's findings, which are adequately supported by sufficient, competent, and credible evidence. The Commissioner concurs with the ALJ that J.B. and her minor children C.B. and C.B. were domiciled in Elizabeth during the 2022-2023 school year and that the minor children were therefore entitled to a free education in Elizabeth's public schools during that time period. Thus, the Board is not entitled to reimbursement from petitioner for tuition costs.

Accordingly, the petition of appeal is hereby granted, and respondent's counterclaim for tuition is hereby dismissed.

J.B. ON BEHALF OF MINOR CHILDREN

Petitioner
v.
CITY OF ELIZABETH BOARD OF EDUCATION
UNION COUNTY,
Respondent.

J.B., pro se

Brian J. Kane, Esq., for respondent Elizabeth Board of Education (LaCorte, Bundy, Varady and Kinsella, attorneys)

Record Closed: October 23, 2023 Decided: November 28, 2023

BEFORE GAIL M. COOKSON, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

This matter involved an appeal by J.B. from the non-residency determination made by the Board of Education of the City of Elizabeth (Board) with respect to her children C.B. and C.B., then in sixth and ninth grades. The petitioner challenged the finding of the Board that they were not domiciled in the district and that her daughters were not entitled, therefore, to a free education.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

By Initial Decision dated August 18, 2023, I ruled in favor of petitioner's appeal of the Board's residency determination. The matter was then reviewed by the Commissioner who determined on September 29, 2023, that the factual record was unclear as to one exhibit (R-6) that related to the assertion of residency in the district of Elizabeth. Accordingly, the matter was remanded to the OAL on October 5, 2023. It was returned and assigned to me on October 23, 2023.

FACTUAL DISCUSSION

I will not burden the record with duplicative information from the record already admitted during the prior plenary hearing and evaluated in the Initial Decision.

I apologize to the Commissioner and the parties that I did not comment on and refer to Exhibit R-6. In reviewing the record, it is clear to me, and I FIND the following supplemental findings:

In early April 2023, petitioner undertook to make changes to the addresses of certain of her accounts (MVC, bank; but not voter registration), and submitted an Affidavit to the Hillside Board of Education seeking to register them there in an attempt to comply with what she was being told by respondent, but without prejudice to her appeal herein. [R-6.] That Affidavit simply stated:

> I [J.B.], will be residing at 1287 White St., Hillside, NJ with my husband [J.B.] and our children [C. and C.B.] to care for our family member in the home [V.B.] until the 1287 house is sold or other a [sic] permanent living accommodation are [sic] established for Mr. [V.B.]

Even the express language of this statement indicates that the Hillside residence was temporary, not permanent, nor intended to be. Furthermore, at the hearing, petitioner testified that Hillside actually refused to register her daughters because the house at 1287

White Street was still owned by the Estate of her mother-in-law and they could provide no affidavit of ownership, lease or other legal documentation.

I FIND the testimony of J.B. to have been very credible with respect to Exhibit R-6 and the efforts she made to attempt to comply with what she thought was required of her. A credibility determination requires an overall assessment of the witness' story in light of its rationality, internal consistency, and the manner in which it "hangs together" with the other evidence. Daiichi Pharm. Co. v. Apotex, Inc., 441 F. Supp. 2d 672 (D.N.J. 2006). Ms. B and Mr. B's statements made sense and it was clear that J.B. made conscious, thought-out decisions every time she was required to provide an address to a third party. None of this was done to evade school officials and I so FIND.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The right to a thorough and free education in the district of one's New Jersey domicile is well settled. A.M.S. ex rel. A.D.S. v. Bd. of Educ. of City of Margate, 409 N.J. Super. 149, 160-61 (App. Div. 2009). Therein, the court stated:

> N.J.A.C. 6A:22-2.1(b) requires school districts to adopt written policies and procedures related to student residency and to incorporate Department of Education (DOE) regulations pertaining to student residency into each district's policies and procedures. Moreover, in doing so, "a district board of education shall construe the provisions" of DOE regulations governing student residency "liberally so as to effectuate the right of students to a free public education." Ibid.

With Hillside refusing to register these children, respondent was essentially depriving them of a free public education. Moreover, I have found that petitioner still considers her domicile to be Elizabeth, to which they intend to return, and in which they continue to participate in the community. Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that petitioner J.B. has met the burden of proof on her appeal of the Board's non-residency determination. Therefore, I also CONCLUDE that the Board is not entitled to an award in its favor on the counterclaim for the full amount of the partial school year tuition cost.

ORDER

Based on the foregoing findings of fact and conclusions of law, it is ORDERED that the relief requested by J.B. on behalf of her children be and the same is GRANTED and her residency appeal is UPHELD. The decision of the Board with respect to their right to a free public education in Elizabeth is REVERSED. Accordingly, it is further ORDERED that respondent City of Elizabeth Board of Education's counterclaim for tuition reimbursement be and the same is DENIED.

I hereby FILE this initial decision with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION for consideration.

This recommended decision may be adopted, modified, or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. If the Commissioner of the Department of Education does not adopt, modify, or reject this decision within forty-five days and unless such time limit is otherwise extended, this recommended decision shall become a final decision in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

Within thirteen days from the date on which this recommended decision was mailed to the parties, any party may file written exceptions with the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, ATTN: BUREAU OF CONTROVERSIES AND DISPUTES, 100 Riverview Plaza, 4th Floor, PO Box 500, Trenton, New Jersey 08625-0500, marked "Attention: Exceptions." A copy of any exceptions must be sent to the judge and to the other parties.

Final Decision

Petitioner,

v.

Board of Education of the Woodbury Heights School District, Gloucester County,

Respondent.

The record of this emergent matter and the recommended Order of the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) have been reviewed. Upon such review, the Commissioner concurs with the ALJ – for the reasons thoroughly set forth in the recommended Order – that petitioner has demonstrated entitlement to emergent relief pursuant to the standards enunciated in Crowe v. DeGioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982), and codified at N.J.A.C. 6A:3-1.6.

Accordingly, the recommended Order, granting the petitioner's application for emergent relief, is adopted. Petitioner's children shall be entitled to immediately return to school with all prior benefits, including, but not limited to, free breakfast and lunch. Petitioner's request for compensatory education is denied.

As the ALJ found that there are no remaining issues underlying the request for emergent relief, there are no further proceedings necessary in this matter. However, the Commissioner notes that the respondent issued a Final Notice of Ineligibility on December 19, 2023. Should petitioner wish to contest the Board's decision, she may do so through the filing of a new petition of appeal.

BEFORE DEIRDRE HARTMAN-ZOHLMAN, ALJ:

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner T.B. filed a petition of appeal with the Department of Education on or about December 15, 2023, seeking emergent relief against respondent, the Board of

[1] The transmittal omitted the initials of one of the minor children in the caption. Same is corrected above.

Education of the Woodbury Heights School District (District), from a denial of Woodbury Heights to permit her children to continue to attend school in the District by asserting that petitioner disenrolled her children from the District. Petitioner denies she disenrolled her children from the District and requests that the children be immediately reinstated or reenrolled back into the District.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The State Department of Education, Office of Controversies and Disputes (DOE) transmitted the application for emergent relief to the Office of Administrative Law, where it was filed on or about December 15, 2023. N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 to -15; N.J.S.A. 52:14F-1 to -13. The matter was assigned to the undersigned for oral argument on December 20, 2023, via Zoom. Petitioner amended the appeal by motion at oral argument to additionally seek before and after care and compensatory education services for the time the children have been out of school.

UNDISPUTED FACTS ON EMERGENT PETITION

1. Petitioner has five minor children, U.B. age 11, H.B. age 10, K.B. age 8, A.B. age 8 and K.B. age 6. The minor children have been attending school in Woodbury Heights since September 2023.

2. The petitioner is homeless and has been living in various motels and with friends and relatives. On September 6, 2023, petitioner completed a McKinney-Vento Student Resident Information Form, provided by the District.

3. On November 30, 2023, the District served petitioner with a Preliminary Notice of Ineligibility. Petitioner requested an appeal hearing with the Woodbury Heights Board of Education, which was scheduled for December 12, 2023.

4. On December 8, 2023, petitioner called the school secretary, Ms. Van Zandt, and engaged in a discussion about transferring the children to another school district. Petitioner asserts that she was merely inquiring about the process of transferring to another district in the event she secured housing in another district. Van Zandt alleges that petitioner specified that December 8, 2023, would be the children's last day, and as such, she prepared and emailed petitioner transfer cards that day.

5. On December 12, 2023, petitioner attended the hearing on the Preliminary Notice of Ineligibility with counsel. Petitioner's counsel advised the Board during that hearing that petitioner did not unenroll her children from the District.

6. On December 13, 2023, petitioner was advised by Mr. Rodia, the school administrator, that her children were not permitted to attend school.

7. On December 19, 2023, a Final Notice of Eligibility was issued by the District. The Final Notice of Eligibility states that the Board has determined that petitioner's children "do not meet the eligibility requirements for attendance" in the District.

LEGAL DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

For the reasons set forth below after due consideration of the written submissions and oral argument received, I CONCLUDE that petitioner's request for emergent relief must be GRANTED.

Petitioner's petition for emergent relief may only be granted if she satisfies the well-known factors set forth in Crowe v. De Gioia, 90 N.J. 126 (1982), and I determine that the balance of equities favors granting said relief, to wit:

> 1. The petitioner will suffer irreparable harm if the requested relief is not granted;
>
> 2. The legal right underlying the petitioner's claim is settled;
>
> 3. The petitioner has a likelihood of prevailing on the merits of the underlying claim; and
>
> 4. When the equities and interests of the parties are balanced, the petitioner will suffer greater harm than the respondent will suffer if the requested relief is not granted.
> [N.J.A.C. 1:6A-12.1(e)]

The touchstone of emergent relief is whether irreparable harm will befall the petitioning party prior to the ability of a forum or agency to hear the underlying merits. In the within matter, the DOE only transmitted the appeal for emergent relief. The issue is the denial of Woodbury Heights to permit petitioner's children to continue to attend school in the District by asserting that petitioner disenrolled her children from the District. Petitioner denies she disenrolled her children from the District and requests that the children be immediately reinstated or reenrolled back into the District.

I start with the factor of irreparable harm and CONCLUDE that the removal of the children from the District with no ascending district for them to attend will be extremely disruptive to their academic and social development, deny them free breakfast and lunch provided by the District, deny them a safe and stable daytime environment, and do only harm.

The legal rights underlying this matter is whether petitioner disenrolled her children from the District. While the petitioner could have done so, she denies that she did. Petitioner and her children are homeless and were enrolled in the District through the McKinney-Vento Act. 42 U.S.C. §§11431 et seq. The Act, and the New Jersey regulations governing the education of homeless youth, promote stability by requiring a school district to continue to enroll the children through the duration of their homelessness, even if that homelessness takes them out of the district. Determination of a homeless child's district shall consider a child's best interest, with notice to a parent of enrollment rights, appeal rights, and continued enrollment pending a final resolution. 42 U.S.C. §§11432(g)(3)(E); N.J.A.C. 6A:17-2.7. Unenrollment based upon an asserted and disputed statement by a school secretary undermines the legal rights and due process underlying petitioner's claim. It is settled that petitioner has a right to keep her children enrolled in the District under the McKinney-Vento Act.

The likelihood of success on the merits also favors the petitioner. Although there are differing versions of the conversation between petitioner and a secretary of respondent, the dispute is immaterial. Petitioner's children were enrolled in the District and are entitled to remain enrolled under the McKinney-Vento Act[2]. There is nothing to support the respondent's position that an assertion by a secretary that petitioner either requested to unenroll her kids, or the secretary's belief that such was requested, followed by the secretary drafting transfer cards and sending same to petitioner, irrevocably vacates the enrollment of the children. The more credible likelihood is as asserted by petitioner, that she was inquiring about the process of a transfer in the event she could secure housing in another district by January 1, 2024. Therefore, petitioner is likely to prevail on the merits.

Lastly, a balance of equities and public interest overwhelmingly lay in favor of the petitioner. Five children, in grades one, two, three, five, and six, some with Individual Education Plans (IEPs), who receive breakfast and lunch at school, were abruptly removed from the school they have been attending since September 2023. This is a disruption to their academic and social development at impressionable ages and a removal from a safe and stable daytime environment.

Accordingly, I CONCLUDE that petitioner's application for emergent relief to have her children returned/reenrolled is granted on this emergent appeal and therefore,

It is on this 21st day of December, ORDERED:

1. That petitioner's application for emergent relief be and hereby is GRANTED;

2. The respondent shall immediately return/reenroll petitioner's children to the District with all prior benefits, including but not limited to before and after care and free breakfast and lunch.

3. Petitioner's request for compensatory education for the period of time that the children have been out of school is hereby DENIED.

[2] Respondent served petitioner with a Preliminary Notice of Ineligibility, a hearing was held, and a Final Notice of Ineligibility was issued finding the children ineligible based upon residency. This issue is not before me, and petitioner can appeal that determination to the New Jersey Commission of Education.

4. No other issues underlying the emergent application remain.

This Order on application for emergency relief may be adopted, modified or rejected by the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, who by law is authorized to make a final decision in this matter. The final decision shall be issued without undue delay, but no later than forty-five days following the entry of this order. If the COMMISSIONER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION does not adopt, modify or reject this order within forty-five days, this recommended order shall become a final decision on the issue of emergent relief in accordance with N.J.S.A. 52:14B-10.

For the Respondent:

This matter comes before me on tenure charges filed with the Bureau of Controversies and Disputes on July 15, 2022. I was appointed the arbitrator to adjudicate this matter on August 5, 2022. Recently, the parties advised me that they have reached a settlement of this matter and all other pending litigation between them. Prior to reaching this settlement agreement, the Respondent withdrew herself from any consideration to renew her Superintendent Contract, which was scheduled to and did end on June 30, 2023. As part of the settlement, the School Board has withdrawn the pending tenure charges.

After reviewing the settlement agreement that has been signed by Respondent and adopted by the Petitioner Board of Education at its December 12, 2023 meeting, I conclude:

1. Both the charged and charging parties consent to the settlement and disposition of this matter.
2. The charged party has had the full benefit of legal counsel and has entered into the Agreement with a full understanding of her rights;
3. Approval of this Agreement is in the public interest, because it results in the resolution by settlement of pending litigation and does not conflict with the public good.

For all of the foregoing reasons, I hereby approve the Settlement Agreement between the parties and order this case dismissed.

Ruth Moscovitch, Arbitrator
