Gentlemen of the Assembly—In accepting the honorable position which your partiality has to-day conferred upon me, I tender my heartfelt thanks. I appreciate the honor and I realize the responsibility of the position to which I have been appointed. The honor will be measured by the ability and fidelity I may evince in the discharge of my duties. The responsibilities are great and the difficulties are many, but I trust, with your kind indulgence and co-operation, and the guidance of the Divine Ruler of the Universe, to be able to discharge my duties with promptness, fidelity and impartiality. It has at times been the practice for those taking this Chair to indulge in a general review of the condition of the affairs of the State and the nation, but I regard it as neither the duty nor perogative of a Speaker of the House to take so wide a range. It is presumed that you are all familiar with the current questions of the hour, and need no prompting from me to discharge your duty as legislators, with the one purpose of serving the best interests of the State and the country.

The responsibility of our position here as representatives of the people cannot be over estimated, for it is in our power to exert a powerful influence for the weal of the State. In times like these, when a National Congress, by its ruinous and fanatical policy, has overburdened our people with taxation; when the hand of depression is upon every business in the land, and despondency is written in every face, it behoves us to practice the most rigid economy, and thereby set an example to all other public servants. It is in our power to materially reduce the present expenditures of the State, and a regard for the interests of the people should prompt us to use every means to relieve them of taxation, except that which is absolutely necessary for the carrying on of the government. We may, too, exert a salutary moral influence upon our national rulers towards restoring the constitutional government bequeathed by the fathers of the Republic, and to this object we should direct our thoughts as being all important to the welfare of our State and the general country.

Again thanking you for the distinguished honor you have conferred upon me, and with the expression of the hope that God will direct our hearts and minds in the path of truth, and give us the wisdom to legislate for the right in all things, I invite you to proceed with the further business of organizing the Assembly.

Resolved, The House of Assembly concurring, that a committee of two on the part of the Senate, and three of the House, be appointed to make arrangements for the obsequies of Senator Ludlam.

In which the concurrence of the House of Assembly is requested.

J. B. CORNISH,
Secretary of Senate.

Which was accepted.

Mr. Nixon moved that the House concur in that resolution, and addressed the House as follows:

Mr. Speaker:

Official announcement being made to us, in the message just communicated from the Senate, of the death of Hon. Providence Ludlam, late Senator from the county which I have the honor in part to represent here, I desire to say a few words before moving the adoption of the resolution submitted. Senator Ludlam died of congestion of the heart, at his residence in Bridgeton, about half-past two o'clock yesterday, the twentieth instant. His death was entirely unexpected to his friends and family. He was among us at the opening of the session, apparently as well as usual, and even up to one o'clock yesterday there were no signs of death's approach, for at that hour he mingled with his fellow citizens and gave directions about his departure, at three o'clock, for his post of duty here at the capital; but before that hour arrived he had gone to another sphere of action. He was attacked at two o'clock, and expired at the time stated.

Mr. Ludlam was born in Salem county in eighteen hundred and seventeen, and his whole life was spent in that and the adjoining county of Cumberland. Thus, "to the manor born," he was a true Jerseyman in all his instincts, interests and affections, while at the same time he had a mind broad enough to love with a rare devotion his whole country—North, South, East and West. His ancestors for several generations past were Jerseymen. One hundred years ago next May his great grandfather was the foreman of the grand jury then sitting in and for the county of Salem, from which Cumberland has since been set off; and the late Senator had a reasonable desire frequently expressed, to be foreman of the grand jury to be chosen for the ensuing May term of our courts—the centennial of his ancestor's service in a like capacity.

His boyhood advantages for education were limited, having had access only to the common schools of his own neighborhood, which were kept but a few months of each year, and must have been at that period very inferior. He often referred with regret to his lack of early opportunities for self-culture, but to himself more than to others did this want appear; for his naturally quick perceptions, ready talents, and varied intercourse and experience with his fellow men in all positions of life, made up for and supplied, to a large extent, all deficiencies of early education. The first forty years of his life were passed mainly in agricultural pursuits, for which he always retained a fondness, and proposed sooner or later to again devote his attention to them.

He first appeared in public life in the autumn of 1856, when he was an unsuccessful candidate for a seat in this body. The following year he was elected Clerk of Cumberland county, which office he filled with universal acceptance for five years. In 1862, he was, after an exciting canvass, chosen State Senator, aad was again elected in 1865. He had served two years of his senatorial term, and just entered upon his third and last, when his summons came, and his seat in this capitol is now vacant.

When I say that his death is deeply lamented, I only echo the feelings of every one on this floor; for a sadness shrouds every face and fills each heart. No man ever had warmer personal friends than the late Senator. His social qualities were unusually pleasing, and like magnetism, drew others towards him. He always possessed a cheerful frame of mind, which is generally the offspring of an unselfish, noble nature. He was liberal and kind, often, indeed, more generous to others than just to himself. No one would do more to serve or reward his friends, and no one would stand more firmly by them under every circumstance. His friendships were, I have reason to believe, always cordial and sincere. Although a man of warm impulses and of decided convictions on all political questions of the hour, he seldom or never indulged in personal controversy, but wisely managad to preserve the respect and good will of those who differed from him, while he steadfastly advocated and followed out his convictions in all his public acts and duties. He numbered among his warm personal friends men of all shades of political faith. He had his faults, like all other men, but they were thrown far into the back ground by noble and generous qualities, so that even "his failings leaned to virtue's side."

No public trust reposed in him was ever misplaced. That he served his county well in his first office, I can attest; and that he served her faithfully here as a representative in the highest legislative council of the State, many of you can add your testimony. Every measure affecting his immediate constituency received his earnest advocacy and diligent attention until it became a law; and no measure calculated to promote the honor and the good of the whole commonwealth, but found in him a willing, earnest and vigilant supporter.

Such, Mr. Speaker, were some of the traits, public and private, of the Senator whose sudden and unexpected death we this day deplore. It is well for us to pause for a time in our legislative duties and pay respect to the memory of a warm friend and faithful public servant; and well, too, for us.

The resolution was then adopted, and Messrs. Nixon, Hood and Smith were appointed the committee on the part of the House.

Mr. Nixon offered the following:

1. Resolved, That the House of Assembly has heard with deep sensibility the announcement of the death of the Hon. Providence Ludlam, late State Senator from the county of Cumberland.

2. Resolved, That the frankness, kindness and courtesy of the late Senator in all the intercourse and duties of life, both official and social, deservedly secured to him while living, an unusual share of influence and regard, and gave promise, had life been prolonged, of still greater usefulness and honor in the future.

3. Resolved, That as a testimony of respect for the memory of the deceased, the members and officers of this House will wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days,

Which were read and adopted.

Mr. Corson presented the annual report of the Soldiers'
ildren's Home, as follows:

TRENTON, December 1, 1867.

the Governor:

In presenting their third annual report, the Directors of the diers' Children's Home are happy to state that the past year been one of uninterrupted prosperity and success. When January last, with our little band of forty children, we took session of the "New Home," the number looked small in the ge school and dining-room—the long halls echoed their voices l footsteps. It was frequently asked: Is not the Home un-essarily large? Will it ever be filled? With unwavering th, however, that the Home would be soon occupied by those whom it was designed, the Directors went on preparing acmmodations for one hundred and fifty children, that being capacity of the building; and we will have every place filled the new year with children of our New Jersey soldiers, and merous applicants waiting.

THE HOME

Is delightfully situated about fifteen minutes' walk from the road station, and is one of the most healthy and airy loca-ns in the vicinity of our city. It is a spacious brick edifice, cted specially for this purpose, two stories high, with attic and basement; the centre building contains class rooms, committee and matron's room, two nurseries, sewing room, kitchen and laundry. In the basement of east wing is a play room exclusively for girls, and an ironing room. On the first floor is a school room fifty by forty feet, furnished at present with desks for one hundred and forty pupils; piano, black-boards, maps, cards, &c. On the second floor there are dormitories for girls and bath room &c. In the basement of the west wing there is a store room and boys' play room. (These play rooms we find to be a desideratum for the children—here they have always a right, encroaching upon no forbidden ground.) Opening from each play room is the wash room, with basins, towels, glasses, combs, &c. On the first floor is the dining room, fifty by forty feet, with tables and seats for one hundred and fifty, each child having its own place. On the second floor are the boys' dormitories, bath room, &c. There is a private stairway to each wing. In the attic are teacher's rooms, dormitories for children and employees. The house is heated by furnaces and lighted with gas. On the south side are verandahs on the first and second floors. There are extensive play grounds for each wing, furnishing abundant space for recreation and exercise, with several acres of beautiful young timber thereon.

Boys, 82; Girls, 57. Total number in the Home December 1867, is 139.

Of this number twelve are entire orphans, twelve have both parents, and one hundred and seven only mothers living, eight fathers only, who are disabled.

We have had in the Institution during the year, one hundred and fifty-one children; twelve have been removed; part of this number because of the improved circumstances of their mothers. Five were boys who ran away from the Home, unaccustomed to restraint, and probably encouraged to insubordination by their parents. We regretted their return to the evil influences which encompassed them, but felt it a great relief and benefit to us.

THE ADVANTAGES

These little orphans find in this Institution are all the comforts of a well-ordered, happy home. Some come to us from what was once a bright fireside—the circle broken, all changed by the death of the patriot father, and now the abode of poverty and toil, brightened only by the smiles of a delicate, but devoted mother. Can any home be entirely desolate with a true-hearted mother? Others have been rescued from the most fearful surroundings—worse than orphans. We received them with trembling; but relying on Him who said, "Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not," we have given them a hearty welcome. The genial influences of love and kindness which pervade the "Home," have so softened and changed these little ones that they are among our greatest encouragements. The discipline is kind, but firm. Mrs. Musgrove is peculiarly fitted for her position. With all the gushing sympathy of a mother, she possesses the tact and firmness to gently but firmly control the household. Without boasting, and feeling "It is the Lord who maketh our work to prosper," we do not fear comparison with any Institution. The order is complete; the most scrupulous neatness prevails; this, and the regular industrious habits of the house, we consider very conducive to the excellent health of the inmates, and the table being supplied with an abundance of good, healthy food, not extravagant, but all the fruits and vegetables of the proper seasons. We have not had one case of serious illness the past year.

We have a regular Sabbath School; frequent services on the Sabbath by the various clergymen of the city. If we can win the active, impressible minds of these children by religious exercises, music and innocent amusements, from mischief and evil, I consider it the most successful government. To aid us in this, we are extremely anxious to have a Library suitable for their attainments and age, and also to form a collection of minerals, specimens or curiosities, that would tend to incite them to study and research; globes, pictures, or whatever will make the "Home" attractive, will be acceptable to us. In Summer, each one has a little garden. Though their verbena and daisy may not be as intently watched as was "Picciola," yet it affords very much pleasure to these children; and we trust in after years their most cherished reminiscences will cluster round the "New Jersey Home for Soldiers' Children."

THE SCHOOL.

We have three teachers; every child is in school, the "little ones" but for a short period each day; morning session from 9 to 12; afternoon from 2 to 4; study hour from 5½ to 6½ P. M. They are taught spelling, reading, writing, arithmetic, geography, grammar, composition, drawing and vocal music. Our object is to give them as good an education as they could obtain in the common schools of New Jersey—giving them this not as a charity, but as a debt we owe the children of our brave soldiers. We are surprised, in this State, where all may attend public schools, at the ignorance of many who are brought to us; but generally they are bright, apt to learn, some of them manifesting superior talents. Is it visionary for us to hope, that among the beneficiaries of the "Home" may be some of the future statesmen, orators, ministers, or perchance a President of our united country? We have them in the plastic years of childhood, and while carefully and prayerfully cultivating the religious and moral elements of their nature, we dare not neglect the intellectual,—

> "Oh, wo to those who trample on the mind,
> That deathless thing! they know not what they do,
> Nor what they deal with; man, perchance, may bind
> The flower his step hath bruised, or light anew
> The torch he quenches, or to music wind
> Again the lyre string from his touch that flew.
> But for the soul, oh, tremble and beware
> To lay rude hands upon God's mysteries there!"

Of our girls, we hope to make intelligent, thrifty housewives, they are all instructed in domestic labor, sewing is attended to specially; when capable, they are required to make and take care of their own clothes. The boys work as much as possible in the house and grounds. We wish them to feel that labor is honorable, that all have a work to do, whatever their sphere in life may be—

"He who does the best his circumstance allows, Does well, acts nobly, angels could no more."

THE FRIENDS OF THE HOME.

To the ladies of Jersey City, Mrs. Davenport, Mrs. Rouse and others, we are under renewed obligations, for a donation of over $350, the proceeds of a fair held by them, for the benefit of our "Home," and a sewing machine and fine toned piano. Could these kind friends see how much these little folks enjoy singing with "our piano," they would feel in a measure repaid; it helps to swell their morning and evening song of praise to "our Father."

To our physicians, Drs. Hodge and Rogers, for their cheerful and gratuitous attendance; to Mr. W. R. Titus, for superintending the improvement of the grounds, and many kind services rendered, we owe a debt of gratitude.

To the vice presidents of several counties, and numerous ladies, we are indebted for assistance in sewing, most promptly and pleasantly given, and highly appreciated by us, and to all who have aided us in any way, we tender many thanks.

THE FIRST DEATH.

We had in the "Home," a bright little brother and sister, whose father was killed in battle, the mother became insane, was taken to the Asylum, leaving a little girl sick and homeless; the case was brought to the notice of one of the ladies, and the little one carried to the "Home." She lingered two weeks, and then was gathered to the fold of the "Good Shepherd above." The services at the "Home" were most touching, about eighty of the children followed the remains to the cemetery, and after singing, "Peacefully lay her down to rest, &c.," little Ida was left in her flower strewn grave, until the resurrection morn. "Our first transplanted flower."

ON THE FOURTH OF JULY,

An abundant feast of ice cream and cakes was provided for the inmates, and a very handsome flag presented by the ladies of Jersey City, was, for the first time thrown to the breeze, from the lofty flag staff, in the presence of the ladies of the Board of Directors, and other interested friends, the children, with badges of "The Red, White and Blue," marching round the circle and singing, "Be True to the Flag," and other patriotic songs. It brought tears to eyes unused to weep, to witness the enthusiasm of these little ones, whose fathers had given their lives in defence of our beautiful flag. We trust no beneficiary of the "Home," will ever prove a traitor to the flag of our country.

THANKSGIVING DAY

Was observed by a "very nice dinner;" addresses in the afternoon, music, &c. For Christmas, Kriss Kingle has given notice of a Christmas tree, with a little gift for each child.

In closing up the record of the year, though we can recall seasons of perplexity and anxious care, yet, cheered by the successes of the past, the improvement of the children, the joy and comfort brought to many a widowed heart, and above all, feeling that the blessing of the "Father of the fatherless," has rested on our labors, we go forward, with renewed energy and hope. Commending these little ones to the fostering care of the Legislature, and most earnestly inviting them to frequently visit the Institution, we are assured they cannot fail being interested in these little children of the State.

Respectfully submitted, by order of the Board of Directors.

The Committee on Stationery beg leave to report to the House, that they have examined the account of Murphy and Bechtel, and find that they have on the average charged the retail price for the stationery furnished the members at the opening of the session.

The whole bill amounted to $1,800 85—deduct $160 50, amount of stationery supplied to the clerks, for the use of the last House—leaves the amount of stationery laid on the members tables, at $1,639 35, which allows to each member, about $23. We would beg leave to state that we have carefully inquired at the places of different stationers, in Trenton and other places, and find the charges made for the stationery supplied by Messrs. Murphy and Bechtel, to be about the regular retail price.

Mr. Hood, from the Committee on Corporations, presented the following:

"The Committee on Corporations, to whom was referred Assembly bill No. 111, entitled, An act to incorporate the Paterson Safe Deposit Company, beg leave respectfully to report—

That they have examined said bill with great care, and find it to contain provisions which it seems to your committee should not be incorporated in any measure of this character.

By the first section of the bill the proposed company is authorized to do the business of a bank broker, and for all that we can see, it might establish and maintain a mammoth junk-shop and thus become a source of detriment rather than a benefit to the community in which it is proposed to be located.

Your committee are aware that Paterson is a moral city; that it is famed for model alms-houses, for rare municipal purity, but it may well be doubted whether even Spartan virtue could resist the temptatian held out by the bill; and as guardians of the public morals, we are compelled to doubt the expediency of giving legislative sanction to a scheme of such dangerous character. Besides, your committee beg to say that there is already one bill to incorporate a safe deposit company before this House, the passage of which being regarded as certain, there would seem to be no necessity for that herein named.

New Jersey is a gallant, yet small state in geographical area scarcely exceeding that of any of a dozen Illinois prairies, and it is clear that she could not, under most favorable circumstances, sustain two institutions of this character.

With a Safe Deposit Company at Vineland, whose people it may be said are proof against the sorest temptations, and have brokers everywhere, would it not be altogether unwise and unnecessary to establish another company at Paterson, upon the remotest borders of the state. If the people of that city desire to make deposits such as are authorized in this bill, are there not "Uncle Peter's" in the Bowery, in Jersey City—everywhere?

Under all the circumstances of the case, your Committee are compelled to report adversely to the bill, and recommend that it do not pass.

Which was read, and the recommendation adopted.

Mr. Hedden presented the majority and minority report of the committee appointed by the last Legislature to investigate the subject of obstructions in Newark Bay, caused by the bridge of the New Jersey Central Railroad Company, as follows:

MAJORITY REPORT.

To the Honorable House of Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

On the 3d of April, 1867, the House of Assembly of New Jersey adopted a resolution directing the appointment of a committee of five members of that body to investigate the public complaints as to the manner in which the bridge of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey over Newark Bay has been built and is maintained, and the injuries to navigation and other public interests resulting from the action of the said company on the said bay, with power to employ a competent engineer, and report to the Legislature at its next session. On the eleventh of April following, the undersigned with one other, now deceased, were appointed as the committee provided for in this resolution. In pursuance of the duty thus imposed upon us, we proceeded, having first secured the assistance of a competent engineer, to investigate the relation of the bridge in question to the obstruction of navigation in the bay and waters adjacent, and herewith present our conclusions resulting from such examination.

The act authorizing the extension of the Central Railroad from Elizabeth to the Hudson, approved February 23, 1860, provides that the bridge over Newark Bay shall have a pivot draw with two openings, each of seventy-five feet in width, at right angles to the main channel, and be located at a point convenient for navigation. The terms of this provision are clear, positive and explicit, and would seem to admit of no evasion or misconception. The legislature in forming the act meant to preserve the navigation of one of our most important inland waters from any and all encroachments or obstructions calculated in the least to injure it, or impair the right of the public to use it as a national highway without cost or consideration. The whole question of the value of the bay and the Passaic river as a national course and channel of commercial transportation, and the necessity of prohibiting the erection of any additional obstructions across either bay or river was earnestly and exhaustively discussed in the Legislature of that year, and the one sentiment which more than any other delayed and opposed the passage of the act authorizing the construction of this bridge was the very same which led one year ago to the appointment of this committee, namely, that no legislation should at any time be permitted which endangered the freedom or diminished the value of navigable waters which belong to all alike. In other words the Legislature of 1860 meant what it said, that the Central Railroad Bridge over Newark Bay should be built fairly, honestly, and precisely at right angles with the main channel; that each of its openings should be fully seventy-five feet wide; that it should not be so placed in any of its parts as to produce in respect to the river and bay traffic a state of things differing in any particular from that which existed before. The bay was to be as free as it had been before. Vessels navigating it were to be exposed to no greater risks; traffic was to suffer no detriments; the rights of the community interested in its navigation, embracing a population of at least 200,000 souls, were not to be in any degree abridged. That this was the purpose of the Legislature, all the circumstances of the case as well as the language of the act, clearly and conclusively establish. During the consideration of the bill numerous and largely signed remonstrances against its passage were presented, representing that the erection of a bridge over Newark Bay would create a most formidable obstruction to the navigation of the Passaic and Hackensack rivers, and do serious injury to the trade and commercial interests of Newark and the northern counties of the State, especially those enjoying the advantages resulting from the navigation of the said rivers, and these views being enforced also in debate in both houses of the Legislature, no one was left in doubt as to the effect of the proposed action. It was known by all that a bridge without openings of the largest width and constructed without reference to the thread of the current, would almost completely destroy the navigable communication of the cities and towns on the Passaic and Hackensack with the waters of New York, greatly depreciating their trade and commercial intercourse, and inflicting incalculable injury to the property and business especially of Newark and the adjacent country; and it was in deference to this very sentiment that the act, when finally passed, was so framed as to prevent, as was believed at the time, any serious injury to the navigation interests.

Now, has the Central Railroad conformed to this manifest intention as well as the specific requirements of the Legislature, and fairly and honestly carried out the obvious demands in good faith? This is the question which was presented to us as a committee, and is now presented to you as a part of the legislative matter for decision. We do not hesitate to declare that in our opinion the company has not fulfilled the requirements of the law in most vital and essential particulars. The law, as we have seen, declares that the bridge shall be built at right angles with the main channel; acting under that law the company has deliberately violated this fundamental and paramount provision. The law requires that the openings of the bridge shall be each seventy-five feet wide; whereas the draw-pier of the bridge, as built, is not only not on the axis of the current, but forms therewith an angle of eleven and one quarter degrees; the arrangement of the draw pier and abutments being such in fact that vessels sailing in a line parallel with the axis of the main channel are limited to a width of passage through one opening of only thirty-seven and one-half feet, and to a width in the other opening of forty-two feet. It needs no argument to show that the difficulties of navigation and the hazards of water carriage must be vastly increased by such a structure, amounting, if not to a positive barrier, at least to a most formidable impediment. Even were the openings fully seventy-five feet, and at perfect right angles with the current, the bridge, remembering that the bay, in a width of nine hundred feet has a channel of an average depth of ten feet, with a yearly traffic of over thirteen thousand vessels, would be a serious obstacle to navigation; but with passages which are really only thirty-seven and forty-two feet respectively in width, it is scarcely to be wondered at that accidents are of frequent occurence; that vessels are often delayed to the great detriment of their owners, and that, as a result of these facts, the prices of freight are constantly augmenting, to the disadvantage of consumers of all articles carried by this channel.

But this is not all; the bridge, as now constructed, diminishes the width of water way in the bay some twenty-one hundred feet, or twenty-four per cent. This in itself, is an obvious and serious objection to the structure; but in addition to this, the seven hundred bents upon which the structure rests being only twelve and one-half feet apart, operate necessarily as an immense dam, besides which there are eighteen cribs filled with stone, and placed at intervals in the channel which constitute nuclai for sub aqueous deposits, and so impede the waters and create bars. Indeed it is in this latter particular as much as in any other that the bridge is so injuriously and permanently affecting the navigation of the bay, and it is easy to see that unless the structure shall be removed or remodeled, the channel, under the operation of this cause, must continue to grow more and more narrow. The flats meanwhile continuing to fill up, until at length this arm of the sea, designed as a highway for all comers, shall be made, by the contrivances of man, wholly worthless to the communities which have such immediate and important relations with it. All these facts presented more elaborately in the report of the engineer, herewith submitted, seems to us to involve considerations which cannot be disregarded in making up a judgment in this case, and as such they are urged upon the attention of your honorable body.

The importance of the Passaic river and Newark bay to the city of Newark and adjacent towns cannot well be over-stated. The river constitutes the only natural highway of free communication with the great commercial emporium, New York, and the various Atlantic ports, with which they have trade relations. It is only natural, increasing as Newark is in population and business, with its manufactures daily enlarging and its industry constantly reaching forward to greater achievements, the community should be restive under any undue interference with its facilities of intercourse, either by water or land. The interference might indeed be endured with comparative complacency were it demanded by any dominant or controlling necessity; but such is not the fact in the present instance. The public convenience does not require it. The interest of no section of the State requires that the Central Railroad bridge over Newark bay should be built at the point now occupied, or in its present form, in disregard of law. Even in a railroad point of view, saying nothing of broader considerations, the location is objectionable; it crosses the bay obliquely, thus requiring greater length, while the angle which it makes with the channel compels the draw to be much longer than if at right angles. Had the bridge been erected a mile or more above its present site, the interests of those served by this road would have been as well promoted as by the present route, and the difference in the length of the road would have been a mere trifle. There are, then, no benefits arising to the public at large from the existing structure which counterbalance the injury it is doing to the community along the Hackensack and Passaic, and if the controlling principle of legislation should be to secure the good of all without doing violence to the rights of any, we submit that your honorable body cannot well avoid taking such action in this matter as will correct the evils herein set forth. As to the damages to the commerce of Newark, resulting from this obstruction in Newark bay, it is impossible of course to give other than general statements. As to damages sustained by vessels in passing or attempting to pass the bridge, we can be more explicit, and herewith submit a statement furnished by Captain M. P. Nerny, a New Jersey pilot, and keeper of the Passaic light-house, showing the amount of injuries received by vessels of various classes from June, 1864, to December, 1866:

Here we have a list of damages resulting from this illegal structure in Newark bay, amounting to seventy-seven thousand dollars; there is no record so far as we know, of the losses in 1867, but they approximate the sum of twenty thousand dollars. The list above given does not by any means include all the accidents which have occurred within the period named. Casualties are constantly occurring, both day and night, but there are no definite statistics, none at least, which this Committee has been able to gather, and indeed, the statement given, would seem to be ample to demonstrate the dangerous character of this bridge, and the injury it has inflicted upon the commerce of Newark. It will be borne in mind that the damages sustained by vessels navigating these waters, form but a very small item of the aggregate loss resulting from this cause. The frequency of accidents and the hazards attending the passage of the bridge, have driven many masters of vessels and others to a heavy increase in their charges for transportation, or to a total abandonment of the bay and river, and the result is, that while prices have advanced, the number of bottoms have diminished, thus rendering it probable that in the absence of adequate means of carriage, rates will be still further augmented, and the tax upon all merchandise carried through this channel correspondingly increased. It is right at this point that the community feels most directly and severely, the evils growing out of the interference by the Central Railroad of the free navigation of the bay, and could the precise figures as to the losses thus directly or remotely sustained by Newark alone be ascertained, they would, we are confident, startle even those who have so needlessly produced the mischief. In another particular, the obstruction of Newark Bay has proved eminently detrimental. The building of vessels, which at one time had attained large proportions, and was steadily growing along the banks of the Passaic, has been entirely destroyed. Builders have no longer any inducement to labor, seeing that all commerce is being rapidly driven from the river, and in a few years, unless the location and character of the bridge shall be changed, a vessel built on the Passaic will be as rare as safe passages through the openings of that structure have already become. But this is not a question which concerns merely one city or section. The whole state has a vital interest in its determination. If one company may, in plain violation of law, erect obstacles amounting almost to informidable barriers, over one river, another company may perpetrate the same outrage in some other quarter, and every navigable stream in the State, spite of express Ligislative prohibition, may in time be closed against the people. We do not mean at all to deny that the necessities of trade and travel demand very often the bridging of navigable waters, we do not pretend to affirm, that in the case under consideration, it would have been just or right in the Legislature to have refused the Central Railroad Company authority to extend its road from Elizabeth to Communipaw bay. Few roads have contributed more largely to the development of the State or the promotion of the public convenience than this. It has opened and placed in close communication with the great centre of trade, one of the richest and most productive agricultural regions of the State. In view of all it has accomplished hitherto, and all it may accomplish hereafter, we would encourage it in all legitimate enterprises, and protect it in all its rights. But we would also have it respect the rights of others. We would have it conform to the requirements of laws of its own seeking, and held to the strictest performance of all its covenanted obligations. Above all, we would not permit it to build itself up in its great and growing power and interests, at the expense of other interests equally valuable and equally entitled to protection. Seeing in its policy an invasion of popular rights and defiance of sovereign authority, we ask for public reasons only, that it shall be at once restrained in its dangerous course, to the end that others, warned by timely action on the part of the representatives of the people, may not imitate its pernicious example, and endanger in other quarters the same rights which are here assailed.

The engineer's report, which accompanies this paper, recommends as the only effectual method of relief to the navigation of Newark bay, that the location of the bridge should be changed to a line crossing the bay nearly at right angles to the channel about half a mile above the present draw. In this suggestion we fully and entirely concur. We do not see that the relief desired can be attained in any other way, and this plan is the less objectionable because it will not affect injuriously in the least the interests of the railroad company. But even if the change did actually involve a positive loss to that company, it is to be remembered that it alone is responsible for the condition of affairs which make a change necessary. Besides, this company is not a feeble one, upon whom the expense of a new structure would fall with depressing influence; it is wealthy, and strong, and will be unable to plead, as a reason for keeping its bridge where it is, that its removal would entail an expenditure which would cripple its resources and diminish its capacity to serve the public. Moreover, as this committee believes, the interests of the road would be positively promoted by changing the location of the structure, and respecting in good faith the sentiment of the State as embodied in the form of law.

The committee, in view of the facts thus presented, recommend that a law be passed, requiring the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey to remove its present bridge, and conferring upon it authority to construct another at or above the point designated in the report of the engineer. That it shall be required, until such structure shall be completed, to keep a tug boat at the present bridge for the use of vessels passing the draw, and that in case it shall fail or refuse, within thirty days after the passage of the act thus recommended, to provide such tug boat, or to file with the Governor of the State an agreement, under the hands and seals of its officers, to accept and proceed under such act without unreasonable delay, the attorney general be directed to take measures for occupying and holding the present bridge in the name of the State as a guarantee and protection against further detriment to the navigation interests. It remains only to add that Mr. Peter Sours, civil engineer, whose report is herewith laid before you, conducted personally the examination of the bay hydrography, and has furnished all the data of the flow of currents, &c., upon which the conclusions of this committee are based, and being eminently capable and reliable, his views are peculiarly worthy of consideration. The committee, in October last, engaged the services of Major Alfred F. Sears to make a personal examination of the bridge, its location, &c. But he failed to give the matter his personal attention, and consequently, although he has made a report upon the subject, it is not presented herewith, being purely theoretical.

A resolution of the committee, adopted at a meeting held on the 14th of February, 1868, is appended hereto, as expressing officially its determination as to the irrelevancy of this report.

WHEREAS, Mr. Alfred F. Sears, civil engineer, was engaged by the committee appointed by the last Legislature to report upon the obstructions of the bay bridge, to assist Mr. Peter Sours, and to personally examine the said obstructions, and report to this committee the result of his investigations; and whereas, the said Alfred F. Sears has made no personal examination of the same since his engagement by the committee; and whereas, his report of the same is a mere theoretical one, and therefore cannot be practical in its conclusions; and

whereas, other matters have been introduced in the report, and lengthily discussed, that have no bearing on the main point of investigation; therefore,

Resolved, That the said report of Alfred F. Sears be rejected by this committee as not proper to be embodied in this report to the Legislature.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

EDWIN HEDDEN,
Majority of Committee.

MINORITY REPORT.

To the Honorable House of Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

At the last meeting of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey, a committee composed of five of its members, viz: Messrs. Ayers, Hedden, Ball, Murphy and Van Emburgh, were appointed to report to the then next Legislature, the facts concerning the bay-bridge, built and used by the New Jersey Central Railroad Company.

Soon after the adjournment of that Legislature, the chairman of the aforesaid committee, without giving any notice to the officers of the Central railroad, (who had requested to be present to explain to the committee) called a meeting of said committee, and they all, with the exception of Mr. Van Emburgh, who, prior to that time had died, proceeded in company with many others, all citizens of the city of Newark, to the aforesaid bridge, and finding it impossible for inexperienced men to investigate the cause of complaint, we subsequently resolved to employ a Civil Engineer, to make for us the Hydrographical investigations, and maps necessary for us to make an intelligent report. We selected Major Alfred F. Sears, Civil Engineer, to do that work for us, and to report if there were any defects in the location of the bridge, and if so to suggest a proper remedy.

On the —— day of this present month, a meeting of said committee was called by the chairman, to examine the maps, and hear the report of an engineer. On the assembling of said committee, the chairman, to whom Major Sears had presented his maps and report, refused to present them to said committee. At a subsequent meeting, a resolution was passed to repudiate Major Sears' report, and wait for another to be made by Mr. Sours, all except myself assenting thereto. Having been enabled to get a copy of said report, I herewith transmit it to your honorable body as a minority report.

It seems to me, after a careful examination of it, to be a more concise and intelligible array of facts, than the one presented by the majority, and appears to meet every requirement of the committee.

All of which is very respectfully submitted.

A. M. W. BALL.

The Speaker presented the opinion of the Attorney General upon the constitutionality of a law taxing incomes derived from government securities, as follows:

To the Honorable House of Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

By your authority I am requested to furnish an answer in writing to the following question, viz.: "Would the passage of a law by the Legislature of this State, taxing the incomes derived from Government Securities held within this State, for local purposes, be a constitutional enactment?"

By the expression "incomes derived from Government Securities," I assume, is meant the interest, payable to individuals or corporations, of money borrowed "on the credit of the United States" by the authority of the laws of Congress, and secured by the bonds or other securities of the United States, which are the evidences of the contract of the amount loaned and the interest to be paid therefor; and the question, as I understand it, is whether this can be taxed by the authority of the State for State or local purposes.

This question is, I think, answered fully by decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States and of this State, which seem to me to be directly in point. Upon the principles there declared, any law of the State taxing the principal or income of Government Securities, would be inoperative as repugnant to the Constitution of the United States.

By the express provision of that Constitution, Congress has power "to borrow money on the credit of the United States." The bond or security of the United States is the evidence of the contract made, under this authority, by the United States with the lender. The right to tax the principal or interest thus secured, would be a right to levy a tax upon the contract between the Government and the lender, or, in substance, a right to affect or impair that contract by an authority wholly subordinate upon that subject to the authority by which it was made.

"The powers of a State," says Chief Justice Marshall, in the case of Weston vs. The City of Charleston, 2 Peters, 449, 466, "cannot rightfully be so exercised as to impede and obstruct the free course of those measures which the Government of the United States may rightfully adopt." "A contract made by the Government in the exercise of its power to borrow money on the credit of the United States, is, undoubtedly, independent of the will of any State in which the individual who lends may reside, and ought therefore to be exempt from State taxation." And in the same case, in further illustration of the principles there declared, and of the importance of maintaining them, the same learned jurist proceeds as follows:

"If States and corporations throughout the Union possess the power to tax a Government contract for the loan of money, what shall arrest the principle in its application to every other contract? what measures can the Government adopt which will not be exposed to its influence?" * * * "No one can be selected which is of more vital interest to the community than this of borrowing money on the credit of the United States. No power has been conferred by the American people on the Government, the free and unburdened exercise of which more deeply affects every member of our republic. In war, when the honor, the safety, the independence of the nation are to be defended, when all its resources are to be strained to the utmost, credit must be brought in aid of taxation, and the abundant revenue of peace and prosperity must be anticipated to supply the exigencies, the urgent demands of the moment. The people, for objects the most important which can occur in the progress of nations, have empowered the Government to make these anticipations "to borrow money on the credit of the United States." Can anything be more dangerous, or more injurious than the admission of a principle which authorizes every State and every corporation in the Union which possess the right of taxation, to burden the exercise of this power at their discretion? If the right to impose the tax exists at all, it is a right which in its nature acknowledges no limits. It may be carried to any extent within the jurisdiction of the State or corporation which imposes it, which the will of each State and corporation may prescribe. Thus, a power which is given by the whole American people for their common good, which is to be exercised at the most critical periods for the most important purposes, on the free exercise of which the interests, perhaps the liberty of the whole may depend, may be burdened, impeded, if not arrested, by any organized part of the confederacy." The result of this reasoning summed up is, that the right to tax the contract of the Government to any extent, however inconsiderable, would be a burden on the operations of Government, which, depending on the will of a distinct government, might, if the right existed, be carried to an extent which would practically arrest those operations; and that "States have no power, by taxation or otherwise, to retard, impede, burden, or in any manner control the operation of the constitutional laws enacted by Congress to carry into execution the powers vested by the general government."

There is no conflict upon this subject between the Federal Courts and those of our own State, and the authority of the judgment of the Supreme Court of the United States, to which I have referred, was fully recognized by that of the Supreme Court of this State in the case of Newark City Bank vs Assessor of Fourth ward of Newark (1 Vroom, 13.)

These decisions, in effect, declare that in all cases of borrowing money upon the credit of the United States, the interest of the contracting parties in or under the contract, is, from the very nature of the thing itself, and without express provision on the subject, free from all State taxation. But in respect to the securities now under consideration, Congress has, in addition, expressly declared by law that they shall be exempt from taxation by or under State authority (act of February 25th, 1862.) The Chief Justice, in the case last cited, says: "The power to make the loan carries with it the power to make all laws necessary for its success and protection when made. Congress must have the power to define the relations of citizens to the loan, and to exempt it from all State interference. The right of Congress to exempt a national loan from taxation would seem as clear as that of a State to exempt its own. Both should have the power for very obvious reasons—the existence and exercise of the power might be vital to the success of the loan."

I have preferred to quote these decisions at some length, rather than to express their conclusions in my own language, that there might be no misconception of the grounds upon which they rest, and the extent to which their principles are applicable, and because it is the more satisfactory that these principles which govern this question, rest not in opinion merely, but upon the recorded judgments of the highest judicial tribunals of the State and nation.

It will be readily perceived that these decisions, and the principles upon which they are placed, apply with equal force to the principal and to the interest secured by the contract with the Government, and protect from taxation every right and interest thereby conferred by the Government and acquired by the lender.

It is difficult to see in what essential quality a tax "on the income derived from" a security differs from a tax on the security itself; the form may differ, but the substance and effect are the same. Any tax upon a United States security, or upon the holder thereof, by reason of his interest therein, would be in substance a tax upon the income derived from such security; it would directly affect the pecuniary benefit accruing to the lender from his loan, by lessening the per centage to be actually received by him, and until it exceeded the income in amount, it would fall substantially, if not directly, upon it.

But be this as it may, it is clear that if the principal of a loan, secured by the Government contract, cannot be taxed by State authority, because such tax would be a tax on a contract which the Government is authorized to make, and thus "a tax upon a function of the Federal Government," the interest to be paid on the loan and secured by the same contract, is certainly within the scope of the same reasoning, and subject to the same exemption. Indeed, the opinion of the Supreme Court of the United States in the case above cited, was understood at the time to go to that extent. (See opinion of Justice Thompson, 2 Peters, 475.)

The doctrine that the same exemption which protects the principal from taxation, exempts at the same time the proceeds or income thereof, is familiar to our own laws, and constantly recognized by our own courts. It is substantially the same principal upon which the stock and dividends of the Joint Companies, and of various railroads and other corporations in the State are held to be free as such from State taxation in the hands of individuals, under clauses which exempt in terms merely the corporation or its property.

The result, then, is, that any law of the State taxing directly or indirectly Government Securities, or the income derived therefrom as such, would be repugnant to the Constitution of the United States.

After the income has been actually received by the holder, and become a part of his general estate, either uninvested or reinvested in property not exempt, it can, of course, be taxed as part of his estate, in common with and upon the same terms as his other property; but any tax upon it as the income of the United States Securities, either directly or indirectly, or any special tax upon the money when received, discriminating in regard to it, because of its having been the income of Government Securities, would come within the scope of the principals above recited, and would, therefore, be unconstitutional and inoperative.

Very respctfully, your obedient servant,
GEO. M. ROBESON, Attorney General.

We, therefore, having confidence in the virtue and intelligence of the people of New Jersey, respectfully, but most earnestly, ask at your hands such legislation as shall effectually restore to them the inestimable right, which is also their imperative duty, of educating their own offspring, free from the dictation of agents beyond their control, and from the operation of the cumbrous and vastly expensive machinery provided for in said act.

Mr. Coghlan presented the petition of William W. Fairchild and others, as follows:

To the Honorable the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

Your petitioners, residents of Morristown, in the county of Morris, respectfully pray your honorable bodies to repeal the act entitled "An act to incorporate Morristown," approved April sixth, eighteen hundred and sixty-five, and the several supplements thereto.

We ask this repeal for the following reasons:

1. No such municipal government as is created by said act is necessary at Morristown.

2. Because said acts and the supplements thereto confer upon an unnecessary municipal corporation vast and various powers which are dangerous to the most inestimable rights of the citizens.

3. Because the expenses necessarily incident to said corporation are and must be vastly beyond the value of any public benefit which can be derived from said corporation; and because it is morally certain that the taxing powers conferred upon said municipal government at an early day will be so exerted, under pretexts of public purposes, but in fact for private jobs, as to make enormous and intolerable burdens of taxation.

4. Because if enforced, the laws of the State (without any additional legislation from said municipal corporation) are quite sufficient to preserve the peace and good order in Morristown; while the streets and sidewalks can be regulated and be put and kept in good order without having, as we now have, a vast, expensive and dangerous municipal government for that purpose.

5. Because the said municipal government has already become an engine of oppression and extortion, and its inherent vices are such that it will grow worse in that respect as long as it exists.

Which was read and laid on the table.

We, therefore, having confidence in the virtue and intelligence of the people of New Jersey, respectfully, but most earnestly, ask at your hands such legislation as shall effectually restore to them the inestimable right, which is also their imperative duty, of educating their own offspring, free from the dictation of agents beyond their control, and from the operation of the cumbrous and vastly expensive machinery provided for in said act.

To the Honorable the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

The undersigned, citizens of the county of Cumberland, in the State of New Jersey, feeling a deep interest in the welfare, honor and prosperity of the people of this State, respectfully and earnestly remonstrate against the renewal or extension of the exclusive privileges of the Camden and Amboy Railroad Company, which as Jerseymen we are rejoiced to know will expire by the limitation of the odious law, under which they claim a legal existence, on the first day of January, 1869, which day the people are looking to, and will hail as New Jersey's jubilee and day of great deliverance, from the tyranny and oppression of railroad monopoly.

We confidently believe and assert, that our remonstrance expresses the sentiments and wishes of an overwhelming majority of the people of New Jersey, and we respectfully request, as we are entitled to have, our sentiments expressed, and the interests of the people protected and promoted by the voice and votes of our representatives in the Legislature.

We solemnly declare, that all monopolies, exclusive privileges, and privileged classes are contrary to the genius and spirit of Democratic government and institutions, are the offshoots of despotic and monarchial rule, and destructive of the equal and just rights as well as the best interests of the people of New Jersey.

The railroad monopoly in this State, by its withering power, has prevented the rapid development and improvement of every section of our State, has kept New Jersey back for quarter of a century, from moving onward in the natural highway she preeminently possesses, of progress and prosperity in internal improvements, in the development of her agricultural, mineral and industrial resources, until it has made New Jersey odious and contemptible to the people of all the states in the Union.

We, therefore, respectfully but earnestly request, the representatives of the people in our Legislature, to listen to and regard the voice of the people, and prevent the State of New Jersey from being further oppressed and laid waste by the extension or renewal of an odious and destructive monopoly, and to enact a general railroad law to enable the people in every section of the State to have the benefit of railroads wherever they are willing to build them.

The undersigned, citizens of Passaic county, respectfully remonstrate against the passage of the act authorizing the society for Establishing Useful Manufactures to erect or maintain dams and reservoirs in and upon the Passaic river, or any of the streams of this county. Said society now monopolize the whole water of Passaic river, and already have a dam above the Falls at Paterson, by which they divert the whole river, and thereby deprive the citizens of Paterson of sufficient water for cooking and domestic purposes.

No public benefit will ensue from granting said society any such privileges, because at most it would enable them to obtain a little larger amount of rents for power which might easily be supplied, if needed, by steam power; whereas, if granted to them, it would render liable to overflow a large portion of the most valuable lands in the county, and would deprive the citizens of the rapidly increasing city of Paterson of a sufficient supply of pure and wholesome water.

Dated February 22d, 1868.

To the Honorable the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

The undersigned, citizens of the county of Mercer, in the State of New Jersey, feeling a deep interest in the welfare, honor and prosperity of the people of this State, respectfully and earnestly remonstrate against the renewal or extension of the exclusive privileges of the Camden and Amboy Railroad Company, which as Jerseymen we are rejoiced to know will expire by the limitation of the odious law under which they claim a legal existence, on the first day of January, eighteen hundred and sixty-nine, which day the people are looking to, and will hail as New Jersey's jubilee, and day of great deliverance from the tyranny and oppression of Railroad Monopoly.

We confidently believe and assert that our remonstrance expresses the sentiments and wishes of an overwhelming majority of the people of New Jersey, and we respectfully request, as we are entitled to have, our sentiments expressed, and the interests of the people protected and promoted by the voice and votes of our representatives in the Legislature.

We solemnly declare, that all monopolies, exclusive privileges, and privileged classes are contrary to the genius and spirit of democratic government and institutions, are the offshoots of despotic and monarchial rule, and destructive of the equal and just rights as well as the best interests of the people of New Jersey.

The railroad monopoly in this State by its withering power, has prevented the rapid development and improvement of every section of our State, has kept New Jersey back for a quarter of a century from moving onward in the natural highway she pre-eminently possesses, of progress and prosperity in internal improvements, in the development of her agricultural, mineral and industrial resources, until it has made New Jersey odious and contemptible to the people of all the States in the Union.

We, therefore, respectfully but earnestly request the representatives of the people in our State Legislature to listen to and regard the voice of the people, and prevent the State of New Jersey from being further oppressed and laid waste by the extension or renewal of an odious and destructive monopoly, and to enact a general railroad law to enable the people in every section of the State to have the benefit of railroads wherever they are willing to build them.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
TRENTON, March 24, 1868.

To the Honorable House of Assembly:

Mr. SPEAKER:—I herewith return the act entitled "An act to repeal 'A further supplement to the act to regulate elections,'" approved March ninth, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, without my approval.

My objections are that it repeals an act no wise partizan in its character, and which has resulted in benefit to the voters of the state.

The objects of the act thus repealed were to guard the elective franchise, secure voters from the evils which are incident to a contest at the polls after night-fall, and obtain a more correct and speedy canvass and declaration of the result of an election.

These are certainly most praiseworthy ends, and are liable to no real objection.

The law has in all respects worked well, has accommodated voters, and has carried out the purposes for which it was enacted.

For these reasons I return the bill to the House in which it originated with my objections thereto.

Respectfully,

(Signed)

Mr. Rosenbaum, from the Committee on Commerce and Navigation, to whom was referred

Assembly bill No. 327, entitled

An act relative to the Bridge of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey over Newark Bay, and authorizing the erection of a new bridge,

Presented the report of the majority of the Committee on Commerce and Navigation as follows:

The Committee on Commerce and Navigation, to whom was referred Assembly bill No. 327, entitled "An act relative to the Bridge of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey over Newark bay," &c., report, that a majority of this committee are entirely satisfied that the Central Railroad Company, in the location and construction of their bridge across Newark bay, acted in good faith—intending to comply with both the letter and spirit of the law authorizing its construction. If they made a mistake in locating the bridge, occasioning injury either to the public or individually—which is denied by the company—that question, in the opinion of a majority of this committee, can best be settled at law, where witnesses can be examined and the law properly construed. The Legislature is the department of governmont to make, not to expound, the laws. The interpretation of laws belongs to the judicial department.

It is estimated that more than twelve hundred thousand dollars have been expended in the extension of this road from Elizabeth; and an immense business would be seriously delayed and greatly impaired by the legislative action asked, injurious alike to the company and the public.

This should not be done by hasty legislative action, nor at all in a case like this.

From the arguments made pro and con before your committee upon the question of the removal of this bridge, your committee after careful consideration of the whole matter, report adversely to the bill, and recommend that the said bill do not pass.

W. B. ROSENBAUM, Chairman,
CHARLES ALLEN,
J. M. SHARP,
JOHN J. BERGEN.

Mr. Atwater presented the report of the minority of the Committee as follows:

The undersigned, member of said committee, would respectfully report, that after a full and protracted hearing of the arguments of counsel on Assembly bill No. 327, entitled "An act relative to the Bridge of the Central Railroad of New Jersey over Newark bay, and authorizing the erection of a new bridge," he is of the opinion that the bill, with certain amendments, ought to be passed by the Legislature.

The fact appears to be undeniable that the bridge in question was constructed in clear violation of the law. Whether the Railroad Company acted in good faith or otherwise in so doing, is not a subject for present discussion.

The decided weight of evidence appears to be as stated in the majority report of the committee appointed by the last House of Assembly, with reference to this subject: "The company has not fulfilled the requirements of the law in most vital and essential particulars. The law, as we have seen, declares that the bridge shall be built at right angles with the main channel. Acting under that law the company has violated this fundamental and paramount provision." This committee evidently gave the subject a full and careful investigation, having the assistance of scientific persons and suitable maps, sparing no pains or expense to obtain all necessary light.

Possessed of this conclusion, the only question is, whether the remedy for the evil which has been productive of vast injury to the commerce and navigation of the State, lies more properly in the courts or with the Legislature. The undersigned believes that the more speedy and effectual relief can be obtained, and with perfect fairness, through legislative action, with the additional advantage of providing for the Railroad Company a new mode by which they may construct a more perfect and satisfactory bridge. If the question be thrown into the courts, with the interminable examination of witnesses, and appeal from one tribunal to another, years would probably pass before any relief could be obtained. The great expense and delay of bridge controversies in the courts of law are too well known to be disregarded.

On the other hand, the legislative body, with a moral certainty as to the facts of the case, may, in the exercise of their undoubted prerogative to alter and amend the law in question, immediately require the necessary action to be taken, and in the same bill provide an equitable mode of assistance to the company.

The undersigned would recommend the following amendment to section second of the bill:

"The said Railroad Company are hereby authorized to take and appropriate all lands and real estate necessary to enable them to obtain the right of way, from any point on the line of their railroad east of the city of Elizabeth to the western terminus of said new bridge, and from any point on the line of their railroad in Hudson county to the eastern terminus of said new bridge, and to lay all necessary rails thereon; and for this purpose they are hereby invested with the same rights and privileges, and made subject to the same liabilities and restrictions as are prescribed in similar cases in their original act of incorporation, and the various supplements thereto.

SAMUEL ATWATER.

We, the undersigned, Committee of the Senate, fully concur in the report of the Minority Committee of the House of Assembly.

JOS. G. BOWNE,
JAMES L. HAYS.

Both of which were read and accepted.

Assembly bill No. 1, entitled

A supplement to an act entitled "An act appointing commissioners to lay out streets, avenues and squares in the city of Elizabeth,

Without his approval, as follows:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
TRENTON, March 30, 1868.

To the Honorable House of Assembly:

MR. SPEAKER:—I herewith return Assembly bill No. 1, entitled "A supplement to an act entitled 'An act appointing Commissioners to lay out streets, avenues and squares in the city of Elizabeth,'" to the House in which it originated, without my approval.

The rapid growth in wealth, population and manufactures of the cities of the State, demands that avenues and streets should be opened permanent in their nature, and with grades that should be in conformity with those already existing.

A general plan established with care and attention, adapted at once to the necessities and interests of the people, insuring rapid growth and extension, cannot be abandoned without manifest detriment to a city.

It is represented to me that the duties under the law have been performed with prudence and discretion, and that the plans adopted will be for the benefit of the property owners of the city.

By the terms of the law appointing this Commission, it was provided, that, upon filing the maps and surveys in the office of the city clerk, the same should be regarded as completed and established.

Under this implied, if not express, contract made by the Legislature, property rights have been acquired, land purchased and sold, buildings erected and removed, lands improved, and other acts performed affecting vital property interests.

The act in question, as I understand it, repeals not only the Commission, which perhaps might be done without valid objection, but also declares that all their action whether right or wrong, shall become at once void, thus destroying by one act, not only the Commission itself, but also all its deliberate and costly action, and of course all the private interests vested under it.

My objections to the bill, then, are that it repeals an act that has been mainly carried into execution, at great expense to the people of the city of Elizabeth; that it defeats a necessary and judicious public work for its improvement and enlargement, and that it does manifest injustice and pecuniary injury to those people who, acting upon the basis of the survey duly established according to law, have acquired vested property rights under them.

Respectfully,

Which objections were as follows:

I herewith return for your further consideration, "An act to repeal an act to ascertain by proper proof the citizens who shall be entitled to the rights of suffrage," approved April fourth, eighteen hundred and sixty-six.

My objections are that the acts and supplements repealed by this act were, in my opinion, framed and passed for objects and purposes of the most praiseworthy character. The right of suffrage in a free government is the most sacred and valuable of all our privileges, and it ought to be guarded by every fair means from the possibility of fraud or imposition. Nothing is better established than the fact that a fraud in the elections are often relied on by the evil and designing to defeat the real purpose of majorities. Every one familiar with the details of elections, knows that plans for the colonization of voters and for the polling of illegal votes are discussed and favored by men who are faithless to the institutions of the land. To secure the franchise in its purity to all who are entitled to it, to render the exercise of the right certain and secure, and to prevent the success of all fraudulent schemes upon the ballot, were the purposes to be reached by the act repealed. To a great degree it has been successful in its objects. All unite in attesting that under its operation our elections have been orderly, peaceful and fair in an unprecedented degree.

I have never looked upon laws passed for such objects as partizan, and I am not able to understand why they should be opposed or repealed. By no act of mine am I willing to aid in destroying the safeguards placed around the elective franchise, and for these reasons I return the act in accordance with the Constitution.

MR. SPEAKER:—

Being unable to approve of Assembly bill No. 201, entitled "An act constituting the Mercantile Court of Newark," I herewith return the same with my objections thereto, as follows:

First—The city of Newark has already a larger and more liberal and expensive system of courts and legal tribunals than any other portion of the State. Whatever amount of legal business there may be in that city, its pressure, if felt at all, is only in the higher courts, where causes of all kinds are heard and determined with great deliberation and care, and where jurymen and witnesses from the body of the county are, consequently, often long detained from their business, while the system of lower courts, comprising those of Justices of the Peace and Police Justices, as already fully and completely organized, is sufficient in all respects to meet the necessities and answer the wishes of the people; but by this bill a new court for the trial of small causes and police justice is established, which, while it meets no new wants of the community, is a new charge upon the people to the amount of nearly three thousand dollars annually for the salaries of its judge and clerk. And the salaries awarded are not by any means the measure of expense to the city. The judge of this court, in addition to his salary, is to be paid one dollar for all cases tried before him.

I find by reference to the report of the Chief of Police for the last year that there were, during eighteen hundred and sixty-seven, three thousand eight hundred and forty-seven arrests for crimes and offences which were brought before the Police Court. All the cases were tried, and two thousand three hundred and thirty-eight were convicted and sentenced for different periods. In addition, there were three hundred and seventy-one prosecutions against individuals under the city ordinances. The growth of the city will increase the business of this character, and the salary and perquisites of the judge of this Court will surpass that of any judicial officer in this State.

But there is a further objection against the practical working of this court. The Police Court under the direction of the Common Council, act with reference to the necessities of the city. Persons arrested during the night and placed in the city prison are now tried at an early hour in the morning, and they are either committed or released. This law must contemplate the feeding of the prisoners during a portion of the day, adding very largely to the expenses of the city. No one can anticipate that the Judge of this Court will be present in his office at three or four o'clock in the morning to meet the real requirements of a Police Court.

Second. But there is independent of the objections I have heard, another serious objection to the measure. The judicial officer provided for by this bill is expressly clothed with the criminal and civil jurisdiction and powers of a "Justice of the Peace;" all his powers and duties are coincident with and limited wholly by the powers and duties of a "Justice of the Peace"—thus, though he is called by another name, he is in every essential quality of duty and jurisdiction a "Justice of the Peace." He is also, by the bill, given a limited jurisdiction under the ordinances of the city of Newark, but an additional duty given to or imposed on a "Justice of the Peace" under the special ordinances of the city within which he exercises his office will not be effective to alter the character and conditions of that office.

The new judicial officer created by this bill, and to be appointed under its provisions, is thus substantially a new "Justice of the Peace." By the seventh section of the sixth artitle of the Constitution of the State "Justices of the Peace" are limited in number in the various townships and wards in which they are elected; and by the second section of the eleventh article it is further provided that these officers shall be elected by the people at their annual town meetings. The number of "Justices of the Peace" allowed by the Constitution to the city of Newark is already filled, under its provisions, by legal election by the people in the various wards thereof; but by this bill it is provided that a new officer, who is, in every essential quality, a "Justice of the Peace," shall be elected, not by the people, as provided by the Constitution for the election of "Justices of the Peace," but by the Legislature, and that for a city whose whole constitutional number of such offices is already filled.

My objections to this bill, then, are, that it provides for the appointment by questionable constitutional authority, of a new officer, whose constitutional status is more than doubtful, and whose appointment, while it is utterly unnecessary, at the same time imposes a large additional expense upon an already overburdened people.

Which was accepted, and directed to be entered at large upon the minutes of the House, in accordance with the provisions of the Constitution.

WHEREAS, The campaign in Connecticut which closed yesterday, witnessed the most unscrupulous efforts on the part of the radical party in that State, by means of fraud, chicane and money, with a view to prevent the people from restricting their high handed abuse of power;

AND WHEREAS, In spite of the tremendous odds above mentioned against which the conservative party had to contend, they have won a most glorious victory, sweeping the State by some two thousand majority, against nine hundred and seventy-six last Spring; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the representatives of the State of New Jersey do most heartily congratulate the noble men of Connecticut who have achieved this result, and the friends of constitutional liberty everywhere upon the withering rebuke that has been delivered by loyal Connecticut to the reckless radical politicians in and out of Congress, who have prostituted their sacred trust to the rending and paralyzing of our blessed Union for the purpose of securing party supremacy.

Resolved, That we hail the emphatic verdict of Connecticut freemen as an indignant protest against the impeachment of the President of the United States, whose only crime consists in exercising his Constitutional prerogatives in order, according to his oath, to preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States against the assaults of its foes, and to prevent the Africanization of ten sovereign States of the Union and the consequent degradation of 8,000,000 of our white fellow citizens.

Resolved, That we urge the friends of union, harmony, and peace, to take fresh courage from this extraordinary victory, to sink all personal preferences or prejudices, and earnestly prepare at the coming Presidential election to make our victory national, and lift from a despondent people the terrible incubus of radical fanaticism.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent by the Clerk of this House to Governor English of Connecticut, President Johnson, and the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States.

As follows:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
TRENTON, April 7, 1868.

To the Honorable House of Assembly:

Mr. Speaker:—

Being unable to approve of Assembly bill No. 376, entitled An act to incorporate the Yonkers and Alpine Ferry Company; I hereby return the same to the House in which it originated with my objections as follows:

I object to the bill because, in my opinion, it is intended, by the force of the ninth section thereof, to grant to the Company incorporated thereby an exclusive privilege or right of having and maintaing a ferry across the Hudson River, to the absolute exclusion of any other person or company for at least eight miles. From the location of the ferry of this Company, I think the distance of four miles above and below that point, making eight miles in all, will be found to include, within the scope and operation of this exclusion, a long stretch of well populated and improving territory of our State, opposite an important district of the State of New York. I am sure the Legislature did not intend to grant anything that looks like a perpetual exclusive ferry privilege to this Company, and I therefore return the bill for further consideration.

Which was accepted, and directed to be entered at large upon the Minutes, according to the provisions of the Constitution.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
TRENTON, April 7, 1868.

To the Honorable House of Assembly:

Mr. Speaker:—

Being unable to approve of Assembly bill No. 376, entitled An act to incorporate the Yonkers and Alpine Ferry Company; I hereby return the same to the House in which it originated with my objections as follows:

I object to the bill because, in my opinion, it is intended, by the force of the ninth section thereof, to grant to the Company incorporated thereby an exclusive privilege or right of having and maintaining a ferry across the Hudson River, to the absolute exclusion of any other person or company for at least eight miles. From the location of the ferry of this Company, I think the distance of four miles above and below that point, making eight miles in all, will be found to include, within the scope and operation of this exclusion, a long stretch of well populated and improving territory of our State, opposite an important district of the State of New York. I am sure the Legislature did not intend to grant anything that looks like a perpetual exclusive ferry privilege to this Company, and I therefore return the bill for further consideration.

(Signed) MARCUS L. WARD.

Which message was read, and on the question being put, shall this bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?

Mr. Christie, from the Committee on Judiciary, to whom the petition of Lucy Stone and Antoinette B. Blackwell was referred, made the following report:

The Committee on Judiciary, to whom was referred the petition and communication of Lucy Stone and Antoinette B. Blackwell, do respectfully report,

The gallant urging of the House as well as their own reverence for woman, have induced the Committee to give the matter their earliest and most respectful consideration.

The fair petitioners pray for such amendment of our State Constitution as will give to women the right to vote, and for such amendment of our statutes as will give to a married woman the full right of disposal of her property by will, and to a widow the same rights in the property of her deceased husband that a man now has in the property of his deceased wife.

In this day of agitation and experiment, it is natural, nay, inevitable, that all parties and classes should seek to know and strive to attain their just rights and relations in society and government. And it is neither right nor wise summarily to condemn such a spirit simply because the particular privilege claimed may seem at first absurd or wrong. But when woman is the party who agitates the question of her rights, it becomes a matter of peculiar delicacy and difficulty. It hath been said,

"When women sue
Men give like gods."

And the Committee feel almost bound to apologize while they proceed, in obedience to duty, to consider the propriety of the present petition.

The demand for suffrage is undoubtedly the chief concern of the petitioners, and to this the Committee will confine their report.

Should women vote? Viewing this question in one light, it would seem to be conclusively settled by this consideration: When legislation is claimed for any class of citizens, it is always natural and fair to ask if the majority of that class favor the claim. Now the majority of the women of the State do not desire suffrage. If they did, it would be easy for them unmistakably to manifest it. But the petitioners are only two, while the women of the State are many thousands. And the Committee confidently assert that the silence of the women who do not petition, is an indication, not so much of their indifference, as of their aversion to the claim made in their behalf. In other words, a great majority of the women of the State would disclaim any desire to vote.

Viewing this question in another light, it does not seem any question at all. If the women of the State either unanimously or by a majority, or even in considerable numbers desire this right they will have it. There is an old couplet that reads of woman,

> "When she will she will, you may depend on't,
> When she won't she won't, and there's an end on't."

And there is at least as much truth in it as this, even in politics, that if these women in such numbers were to press their claim for suffrage with earnestness, the ordinary considerations that control parties and legislatures would make their claim successful. Besides, the women of the State are in an actual majority over the men of several thousand, so that if there be of right no political distinction between them, the simple determination of the women to assume the right of suffrage, should of itself be effectual. Why not?

But, granting what the petitioners seem to intimate, that there is an actual desire for suffrage by the women of the State, who are yet willing to abide by the determination of this Legislature, would it be wise for the Legislature to gratify that desire? Would it elevate suffrage? Men and women differ in many important respects, but under the same circumstances they are morally equal. If women were invested with suffrage, though at first they might purify the ballot box, ultimately, when they came to feel the full force of all the influences that bear upon men, they would manifest the same tendencies. Thus it would result in a simple increase of numbers in those who exercise suffrage. It is of course a duty to protect suffrage in every way from the danger of degradation, but would mere numbers serve more to lessen or enhance this peril. Would the extension of suffrage improve the condition of woman? It may be said that it would enable her to enforce all her demands, and thus ultimately gain for her full equality of rights with man. And evidently the right of suffrage is not sought for itself, but for these general ends. But the same rights imply the same duties, responsibilities and capacity. In other words, women would be entitled to no relief from the burdens now exclusively borne by man, on the plea of any inferiority or peculiarity of organization or character, while man would be relieved from all duties to her founded upon such distinction. When it is remembered what many of those duties are, and the unquestionable unfitness of woman to discharge them, and then that she already enjoys, with rare exceptions, if any, all the rights essential to her happiness or consistent with the marriage relation, it would seem that the burdens that would be imposed on her would more than counterbalance the benefit gained.

But would it consist with the true sphere and true mission of woman? Not if any regard be had to the teachings of the Bible, either as to the original purpose of her creation, or as to the proper duties and character of a model woman. There it is taught that woman was made to be an help-meet for man, that she is properly subject to her husband, that her duty is to learn in silence (not to teach or usurp authority over man), to love her husband and children; that her true ornaments are a meek and quiet spirit, diligence, modesty, sobriety and virtue, and that her true sphere is home. So the highest uninspired authorities accord with these sentiments. The great poets of our own tongue have sung the praises of woman in the highest strains, and with the intuition of genius have caught and fixed the true elements of her power and worth, her grace and gentleness, her love and dignity—elements that have their origin and gain their strength only in the domestic sphere, and are the peculiar property of woman. In her true sphere of home, and in her highest charm, woman hath been thus most happily portrayed:

> "Here woman reigns; the mother, daughter, wife,
> Strews with fresh flowers the narrow way of life;
> In the clear heaven of her delightful eye
> An angel guard of love and graces lie;
> Around her knees domestic duties meet,
> And fireside pleasures gambol at her feet."

Surely, woman never fulfills her true mission or fills her true sphere if not when, as wife and mother, by her wise provision and rule she brings happiness and honor to her husband and household, and shapes the character of her children to the highest ends of life. Of such an one the wisest of men said: "Many daughters have done virtuously, but thou excellest them all." And another has well said: "In her a thousand claims to reverence close." But woman, mingling in the angry strife of politics, and dragging her shining skirts in its polluting mire, is not consistent with such a conception as this.

In view of all these considerations, the Committee do report adversely to the prayer of the petitioners for suffrage. And if it be proper for them to make any suggestion for the benefit of the petitioners and those who sympathize with them, they would say, with all respect, with the stern old King of the ambitious Princess—

> "A lusty brace
> Of twins may weed her of her folly. By
> The bearing and the training of a child
> Is woman's wisdom."

All of which is respectfully submitted.

CHAS. E. HENDRICKSON,
GEORGE GAGE.

The Speaker announced the following committee to procure statues of Stockton and Kearney for the National Capitol:

Messrs. Whelan, Hood, Kennedy, Nixon.

The Speaker, as chairman of the committee to examine sites for another State Prison, reported as follows:

To the Honorable the General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

The committee appointed by this House to examine sites in the eastern part of the State, with a view to erecting an additional State Prison, would respectfully report that they have visited the locality known as "Snake Hill," in Hudson county, about four miles from Jersey City. The northern part of this Hill is the property of the county of Hudson, and upon it is erected the finest almshouse in the State. Your committee ascertained that the southern part of the hill, consisting of about seventeen acres, could be procured for the purpose contemplated, and we are favorably impressed with the adaptability of the location for a State Prison.

The advantages of Snake Hill for a purpose of this kind point it out as the place for the advantageous and profitable employment of convict labor. There is an almost inexhaustible quarry of stone, of a character which, when worked out, commands a ready sale, at remunerative prices. The Hackensack river, a navigable stream, flows along the western base of the hill, thereby affording cheap and easy facilities for the transportation of the products of labor to ready markets. The material for building the Prison is on the ground, and an abundant supply of pure water springs from the very summit of the hill; and, altogether, the spot commends itself to your committee as one admirably adapted to the purpose contemplated, believing that the able-bodied convicts of the State might be there made, with fair management, to sustain themselves by their own labor, and perhaps yield a revenue to the State Treasury.

Of the five hundred and fifty convicts in the Prison at Trenton, at the date of the last report (November, eighteen hundred and sixty-seven), two hundred and six came from Essex and Hudson counties, while Passaic, Bergen and Union were represented by one hundred and one, making a total from these five counties of three hundred and seven, or nearly three-fifths of the whole number. The five counties above-named also pay about three-sevenths of the State tax. If, therefore, there is a necessity for an additional State Prison, it should unquestionably be located in the eastern part of the State, which, by reason of population and its close proximity to the great metropolis of the country, is really the criminal centre of the State.

Your committee would add that, although no formal or definite proposition has been made from that source, we are informed that the county of Hudson would, if the Prison were located at Snake Hill, contribute largely toward the expense of construction, provided an arrangement could be made which would allow them to use a portion of it as a county jail, where they might send their prisoners to work in the quarry.

Upon the whole, your committee would recommend the passage of a bill appointing a commission and making an appropriation for the construction of a State Prison at Snake Hill, in Hudson county, recommending, that, if the land necessary therefor cannot be purchased at a fair value, that it be taken by condemnation, under the right of the State to seize lands for public purposes, and that this commission report at the next session of the Legislature.

Respectfully, your obedient servant,

A. O. EVANS,
G. E. STRONG,
SAM'L ATWATER, PER A. O. E., Committee.

Which was accepted, and read and laid on the table.

WHEREAS, The Republican State Convention, which assembled at Taylor Hall, in the city of Trenton on the twenty-third day of July, eighteen hundred and sixty-seven, did adopt, among others, the following resolutions, viz:

"Resolved, That pledging ourselves for the eradication of the word 'white' from the Constitution of New Jersey by every legal and honorable means, we also call upon Congress to take measures to induce or compel all the States of the Union, to establish a joint and uniform rule of suffrage, excluding all distinctions of class, and race and color, so that the citizens of each State shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several States, and the United States shall redeem its original promise to guarantee to every State in the Union a republican form of government."

"Resolved, That the Republican party of New Jersey, encouraged by the past, and proud of the record of its executive, and its legislative, and its Senators and Representatives in Congress, cheerfully accept the issue of impartial suffrage, as one of the most important questions to be adjusted in the approaching campaign, confident that it will be sustained by the calm judgment and patriotic sentiment of the people of the State, and the gracious approval of Almighty God."

AND WHEREAS, upon so vital an issue, New Jersey should not occupy an uncertain position, therefore be it

Resolved, By the House of Assembly of the State of New Jersey, that we deem it incompatible with the best interests of the people of the United States to place the negro upon a political equality with the white man, by extending to the negro the elective franchise.

Resolved, That we are unalterably opposed to the establishment of negro suffrage in New Jersey by Congressional legislation, because we hold that each State has the exclusive right to regulate the qualifications of its own voters.

Resolved, That we are opposed to striking out the word "white" from the Constitution of New Jersey, by an amendment thereto.

To the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

The petition of the undersigned citizens of the county of Morris, respectfully pray the repeal of the law that compels the borrower to pay to the capitalists, in addition to the interest of the money loaned, the taxes upon the same, for the following reasons:

1. Such a law is anti-democratic, as it does not equalize taxes.

2. It allows capital to remain untaxed, and throws the expense of the State and county upon the poor man.

3. Its result will be to make real estate the basis of taxation alone, and compel land to pay all the taxes.

4. It does violence to the just principal of the Democratic party by which they obtained their brilliant victory last fall, to wit: "Equal Taxation."

We therefore pray the repeal of the law.

To the Senate and House of Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

The undersigned, citizens of Atlantic county, respectfully and earnestly remonstrate against the effort now making to transfer or set off to this county, the township of Landis in Cumberland county.

Your remonstrants would refer your honorable body to the map of the State, where you will discover that the addition of Landis township to this county must give us a very remote projection of territory over which to exercise jurisdiction, and materially mar the symmetry of our long established lines, which cannot fail to prove as inconvenient to the residents of said township as it is objectionable to the undersigned.

Your remonstrants, therefore, earnestly petition your honorable body to prevent any alteration in our county line, which has existed so long, and with which our citizens are so well satisfied, that they would deplore the addition of this out-of-the-way territory—believing, as they do, that such a change could only disarrange and embarrass, while it could confer no possible benefit upon the people of either Landis township or Atlantic county.

And your petitioners will ever pray, &c.

WHEREAS, by a Joint Resolution of the Legislature, approved April fourth, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, the Governor of this State was authorized and requested to appoint a suitable and competent person to prepare a history of the part borne by New Jersey in the late war, and that a work purported to be issued in pursuance of the said resolution has just been published without any approval of the Legislature, and it is fit and proper that we should express our opinion of the true character of the said work; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the House of Assembly of the State of New Jersey, that while we would highly approve of a high military record of the part taken by New Jersey in the late war, both by her soldiers and people as a most valuable work, we yet do most emphatically condemn and utterly abhor the gross partizanship and sectionalism, the false and dangerous religious motives expressed and advocated so prominently and ardently in the pages of the said work entitled "New Jersey and the Rebellion," issued under the said resolution of 1866, as inconsistent with the true purpose of such resolution, as destructive of the true value of such a military record, and tending only to bring harm and shame to the highest interests of religion and politics.

The resolutions were read and adopted by the following vote:

Messrs. Albertson, Allen, Baldwin, J. L., Bergen, Brown, Christie, Clark, H. C., Coghlan, Collins, Corlies, Corson, Cox, Dwyer, Evans (Speaker), Fulmer, Hendrickson, Hood, Hunt, Jones, Lanning, Maxwell, Molony, Pearce, Probasco, Rosenbaum, Sharp, Smith, Strong, Vliet, Westcott, Whelan, Wills—33.

A message was received from the Governor, returning without his approval

Assembly bill No. 529, entitled

An act to defray Incidental Expenses,

As follows:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
TRENTON, April 16, 1868.

To the Honorable House of Assembly:

Mr. Speaker:—

I herewith return to the House in which it originated, Assembly bill No. 529, entitled "An act to defray Incidental Expenses," with my objections, as follows:

I object to the bill because I consider that some of its provisions are in violation of the spirit and letter of the Constitution of the State.

The bill provides for the payment, in all, of the sum of twenty-four thousand four hundred and sixty-five dollars and sixty-three cents, ($24,465.63). Of this amount, nineteen thousand seven hundred and sixty-seven dollars and seventy-eight cents, more than three fourths of the whole, is for charges which come under the head of Stationery.

It also comes officially to my knowledge, that in addition to this, bills amounting to two thousand six hundred and ten dollars, ($2,610), for postage stamps alone have been allowed by the Comptroller, upon orders of the respective Houses of the Legislature. These sums together, amount to the very large aggregate of twenty-two thousand three hundred and seventy-seven dollars and seventy-eight cents, ($22,377.78), or more than two hundred and seventy-six dollars for each member of the Legislature, for Stationery alone, while the whole amount of their constitutional salaries, for the session just expiring is sixteen thousand four hundred and two dollars and fifty cents, or two hundred and two dollars and fifty cents, for each member.

It is doubtless within the power of the Legislature to provide for the payment, out of the State Treasury, for the cost of all such articles of Stationery as may be needed for the transaction of public business, but it cannot be denied that these charges represent a sum utterly out of proportion to the value of the Stationery, needed or used by the two Houses, or by the individual members, in the transaction of every kind of public business.

I am also advised of the fact that a large proportion of this sum has, in reality, never been expended for stationery of any kind, either by the Committee, or otherwise, but has, in many instances, been paid directly to individual members by persons who have purchased of them, their orders furnished by the Committee, and who expect under this bill, to receive on these orders, money directly from the State Treasury.

I cannot shut my eyes to the fact which is, I doubt not, apparent to all, that this is an actual though perhaps indirect mode of providing additional compensation to the members of the Legislature beyond the amount limited by the Constitution.

This limit is already reached by the general law providing for the pay and mileage of the members of the Senate and House, to be found in Nixon's Digest, page 759. While the constitutional restriction remains it is binding on us all, and neither the Governor nor Legislature are authorized to disregard it.

This bill seems to me to be also objectionable in many other respects, as providing for the payment of claims which are not just charges upon the Treasury, but the reasons above specified would forbid my assent to it if no other objections were apparent.

I am, therefore, unable to approve of the bill, and return the same for your further consideration.

Respectfully,

Which was received.

The said message was taken up and read, and ordered to be spread upon the minutes of the House, and its consideration postponed until to-morrow.

A message was received from the Senate informing the House that the Senate had passed the following concurrent resolution, and which is herewith submitted, relative to the return to the Legislature of the joint resolution withdrawing the consent of the State of New Jersey to the ratification of Article Fourteen to the Constitution of the United States, with the request that the House of Assembly concur in the same,

Which was as follows:

WHEREAS, A communication has been received from the Hon. Charles Haight, one of the Representatives from this State in the House of Representatives, stating that he had presented to that body Joint Resolution No. 1, as requested by the Legislature of New Jersey, and that they had been returned to him by the Speaker of the said House of Representatives before the reading of the same was concluded, under the following resolution:

"Resolved, That the resolutions of the Legislature of New Jersey, purporting to withdraw 'the assent of the said State to the Constitutional Amendment, known as the Fourteenth Article,' be returned by the Speaker of the House to the gentleman who presented it, for the reason that the same is disrespectful to the House, and scandalous in character, and that its title only shall be referred to in the journal and in the Congressional Globe."

Be it resolved by the Senate (the House of Assembly concurring), That the return of the joint resolutions of the Legislature withdrawing the assent of this State to the proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States, entitled Article Fourteen, to the Representative who presented the same, by virtue of the resolution of the House to that effect, and the passage of the said resolution, pronouncing the joint resolutions of New Jersey "disrespectful to the House and scandalous in character," when only a portion of the paper had been read, was a violation of the national and constitutional rights of the people of this State, oppressive, arrogant and imperious; that the manner in which the said joint resolutions were received, demonstrates the wholesome truths contained in them; it confirms the statement that "the origin and objects of the said proposed amendments were unseemly and unjust, that the necessary result of its adoption must be the disturbance of the harmony, if not the destruction of our system of government," that the object of Congress was to absorb to itself all executive, judicial and legislative power, necessary to secure to itself immunity for the unconstitutional acts it had already committed, and those it had since inflicted on a too patient people.

Resolved, That if it be true as stated by the House of Representatives that the Joint Resolutions sent to them by this Legislature were "disrespectful to the House and scandalous in character," they were only disrespectful to the House, inasmuch as they recited its acts and scandalous only because they recited the scandalous proceeding of Congress.

Resolved, That the order made "that the title of the resolutions should only be referred to in the journal and Congressional Globe," after a portion of the resolutions had been read, made the record untruthful and unfaithful. It recorded not what transpired, but what the prevailing faction desired to be recorded. It was an effort to close the ears of the people at large, as they had closed their own to a fair and constitutional statement of grievances; to a recital of their own acts and doings; by demolishing the record and making it only a partial witness of their proceedings.

Resolved, That the statement made by the mover of the resolution on the floor of the House of Representatives, that it was done "as a rebuke to a disloyal Legislature," should have been sufficient to have prevented any representative from this State from voting for said resolution. That we on the part of the Legislature of New Jersey and all the people of the State, deny the truth of the statement that the Legislature is disloyal, or ever has been, but pointing proudly to the record for the evidence of our past devotion to the government of our fathers and constitutional liberty, we solemnly appeal to the people of this State to maintain unabridged the sacred rights of freedom of speech and petition, so grossly violated by the action of the House in the presentation of these resolutions; and to that end we call upon them so to speak at the polls that the House of Representatives will be obliged to hear, be they ever so unwilling, and so to record the protest of New Jersey against the unconstitutional acts of the present Congress; that no resolve of the House of Representatives can mar the record.

Which was accepted.

And the said resolutions were taken up and read and adopted by the following vote:

In the affirmative,

Messrs. Albertson, Allen, Baldwin, J. L., Bergen, Brown, Christie, Clark, H. C., Coghlan, Collins, Corlies, Corson, Cox, Dwyer, Evans (Speaker), Fulmer, Hendrickson, Henry, Hood, Huff, A. MR. SPEAKER:—As our session is drawing to a close, and we are about to leave the Halls of Legislation for the comforts of our firesides, a committee of your fellow-members beg leave to present to you, on behalf of this Assembly, an evidence of the appreciation of the House of the ability, efficiency and impartiality with which you have discharged the duties of Speaker during this session. As an emblem of your honorable position, they have selected an ivory gavel, and have caused it to be inscribed as follows:

"A. O. EVANS, Speaker New Jersey House of Assembly, 1868."

This we ask you to accept, and with it we tender you our best wishes for your future health, happiness and prosperity in life.

The Speaker acknowledged the gift in a few appropriate remarks, referring to the good feeling that had prevailed during the entire session. He said he had been familiar with this Legislature for the past fifteen years, and he felt a pride in saying that he never knew the House of Assembly to go through a session with matter of the grave importance that had been brought before this, with such an absence of bitterness of feeling and recrimination. To the indulgence, co-operation and assistence of the members he was deeply indebted, and he cordially thanked them. It had constantly been his effort to be impartial and to treat every one with respect. If he had made errors, he hoped they would be taken as errors of the head, not of the heart. He also spoke of the cordial support and personal respect shown him by the minority of the House, and tendered to them in behalf of the majority, the thanks of the House for this courtesy. As we are now about returning to the comfort and quiet of our homes, may we do so with the consciousness that we have discharged our duty according to the dictates of right. He trusted the sunshine of prosperity might light their paths from this on to eternity, and that they might enjoy a blissful hereafter.
