Messrs. Franklin, Gant, Kay and Brady.

Mr. Salsburg administered the oath of office to the newly elected Speaker.

The Speaker ascended the Rostrum and delivered the following address:

THE OATH

For the past twenty years I have taken and administered many oaths of office. It has been my privilege to administer the oath to many municipal officials and officers, and recently to a Speaker of the Assembly. Likewise I have sworn to many an oath as a municipal official, member of this Assembly, and finally as your Speaker for the 181st Session of the General Assembly of the State of New Jersey.

To me it has always been a solemn oath or obligation. Its very words impart to me a deeply religious as well as civil obligation.

Too many times it is given an insignificant part of our procedures and an impression that it is just another formality.

The lack of reverence or treatment of the oath has led me to do some thinking and research upon the same. Here, in a few moments this noon I would like to relate what I have found and my reflections upon the meaning of the oath.

Hon. William F. Burns, Judge of the Euclid Municipal Court of Ohio said, "An 'oath' is declared to be the calling upon God to witness what is said by the person sworn is true. It includes an affirmation and embraces every method whereby the conscience of a witness is obligated to testify to the truth."

An oath is an appeal to God to witness the truth of what he declares, and an imprecation of Divine punishment or vengeance on him if what he says is false, and its purpose is to secure the truth. In its broadest sense an oath includes any form of attestation by which a party signifies that he is bound in conscience to perform an act faithfully and truthfully; and it is sometimes defined as an outward pledge given by the person taking it that his attestation or promise is made under an immediate sense of responsibility to God. The word "oath" does not necessarily imply perjury, as an oath may be taken outside judicial proceedings, and, although false, it may not constitute perjury.

The oath usually taken by public officials and in court by the lifting up an arm or other bodily member as assent, is known as a corporal oath. While this oath is variously said to have derived its distinctive name from the ancient usage of touching the corporale, or cloth that covered the consecrated elements, in laying a hand upon some part of the Holy Scriptures, or in kissing the Book, the term "corporal oath" is now synonomous with "solemn oath," and an oath taken with the uplifted hand may be properly described by either term.

A judicial oath is one that is taken in some judicial proceedings or before an officer in open court. It is taken as a sanction for the truth of an affirmation or declaration in legal or quasi-legal matters, like the oath of a witness or an affiant.

A promissory oath is one where affiant swears that he will perform some duty to be performed subsequent to the taking of the oath, as where an officer, on taking an official oath, swears that he will well and faithfully discharge the duties of his office.

From earliest times and among all peoples, both those of primitive cultures and those of higher civilizations, it has been the custom both in judicial proceedings and in non-judicial proceedings for an oath to be taken. In most instances the retribution for falsely swearing, either by untrue statements or the breaking of a promise to follow certain actions, has been left to nonhuman sources.

In ancient times, various Gods were invoked to take retribution upon the swearer. The ancient Greeks originally swore by the River Styx and in more recent times an oath on water of the Ganges has been to the Hindu the most binding of pledges. In many of the indigenous tribes of India oaths were sworn on the head or skin of the tiger, for death by a tiger precluded reincarnation and therefore involved social and physical extinction.

In the centuries immediately preceding the Christian Era, the Gods of the Romans and Greeks were invoked to attest to both judicial and nonjudicial oaths. Along with such invocations in the ancient world, sacrifices often formed part of the ceremonies.

With the rise of Christianity and the other great mystic religions of Buddhism and Mohammedanism, an oath became an invocation to God for retribution upon the supplicant should he break his vow. At common law a person cannot take a valid oath unless he believes in the existence of a God who will punish him if he swears falsely, but the belief need not be, inevitably, that of the religion of the Bible, and the oath of any person who holds this essential belief, whatever his sect or creed, is sufficient.

From Sir Winston Churchill's History of the English speaking peoples we learn that to the time of the Magna Carta both civil and criminal cases had been decided through the oath, the ordeal, or the duel.

The duel, or trial by battle, was a Norman innovation based on the modern theory that the God of Battles will strengthen the arm of the righteous, and was at one time much favored for deciding disputes about land. Monasteries and other substantial landowners took the precaution however of assisting the Almighty by retaining professional champions to protect their property and their rights.

The ordeal was a test from which there was no appeal. It was a solemn invocation to Heaven to decide the matter in dispute and the result of the test was regarded by the masses as effected by the direct interposition of the Almighty. It was typical English and was undergone after the most solemn religious ceremonial. Example was the cold water ordeal, when a three day fast was submitted to in the presence of a priest, then the accused was brought into church, where masses were chanted, followed by communion.

After these ceremonies the accused was stripped, kissed the book and the cross, was sprinkled with holy water and then cast into the depths. If the water rejected him so that he could not sink he was declared innocent.

Other forms of the ordeal were to carry a red-hot iron, eat a morsel of bread or plunge the hand in hot oil. If the iron or oil did not burn or the bread choke, then Divine Providence was adjudged to have granted a visible sign that the victim was not guilty.

The trial by oath or compurgation consisted in bringing forward numbers of persons to "make oath." It depended upon the rank of the parties and the one with superior numbers was the successful litigant. They swore not to facts but to the credibility of the parties. Example—one thegn equaled six villeins and so forth.

Thereafter civil and criminal matters were presented to juries who took an oath to reach a verdict upon the facts.

The oath of jurors and of public officials in most recent times is prescribed in our constitutions and laws. Example—our oath to become member of the General Assembly.

We can see, therefore, that throughout history man, no matter how primitive, has attempted to bind his official acts and statements by fear of superhuman retribution. Particularly during the middle ages when religion was so closely connected with the daily life of all Christians, the effect of invoking God's name to attest the truth of a statement had a very binding effect upon most men. As time went on, the religious effect was not so great but in its place a sense of honor compelled men to adhere to their oaths much the same as religion had previously.

In recent years we have increased the number of times in which a person must make a sworn statement to the point where the former solemnity of the occasion is too often forgotten. There have been several members of the legal profession who have written articles suggesting that many of the commonplace occasions be abandoned wherein it is necessary to make a sworn statement. They feel that such a move would serve to put more emphasis upon those occasions which are truly of a more solemn nature and would in no way be contrary to the ends of justice, for on such commonplace statements there is no legal punishment.

To this last theory I do not subscribe. To me the oath is a solemn obligation and sacred creed. If all of us would recall this obligation during our term there would be no need for the adoption of a moral code for members of the Legislature. The people of the State of New Jersey would benefit and we would less likely be tarred with the phrase of "politicians" in its cheap and degrading sense.

I will keep my oath. Will you do likewise?

The Speaker announced the appointment of Harry P. Downs, Jr., as his Secretary.

Mr. Smith offered the following resolution, which was read by the Clerk and adopted:

Be It Resolved, That the General Assembly do now proceed to the election of a Clerk of the One Hundred and Eighty-first Session of the General Assembly of the State of New Jersey.

The Speaker announced that nominations for Clerk were in order.

Which nomination was seconded by Mr. Beadleston of Monmouth County, Mr. Brady of Hudson County, Mr. Mosch of Essex County and Mr. Kraus of Bergen County.

Mr. Smith moved that the nominations for Clerk be closed.

Which motion was adopted.

A roll call vote was taken on the nomination of William J. Kohm for Clerk of the General Assembly.

2. That the Senate and General Assembly extend high praise to New Jersey's radio and television stations for their outstanding record of programs presented in the public interest.

In which the concurrence of the General Assembly is requested.

Which motion was adopted.

The Speaker declared Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 1 concurred in.

Mr. Mills moved that the General Assembly recess to meet in Joint Session witth the Senate, for the purpose of hearing the Governor's Annual Message.

Which motion was adopted.

The Speaker welcomed the Senators as they arrived and President of the Senate McCay was made chairman upon a motion offered by Mr. Stout.

Mr. Stout offered a resolution authorizing the chairman to appoint a committee of three to wait upon the Governor and escort him to the General Assembly Chamber.

Thereupon, Mr. McCay appointed the following: Frank S. Farley, of Atlantic County; Wayne Dumont, Jr., of Warren County and Frank W. Shershin, of Passaic County.

The committee escorted Governor Robert B. Meyner to the rostrum and upon being presented by Mr. McCay, he delivered his Annual Message as follows:

Governor's Annual Message to the Legislature

January 8, 1957.

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker and Members of the Senate and General Assembly:

I appear before you, the members of the 181st Legislature of New Jersey, to inform you of the progress of the State and to recommend policies and measures that will minister to the happiness and prosperity of the more than 5,000,000 people whom we serve.

It is hardly necessary to remind you of the thousands of ways in which State Government affects the lives of our citizens.

It plays a vital role in the education of our children, in the care of the poor, the sick, the retarded, the handicapped and the aged; in the administration of justice; in the preservation of order; in the construction and maintenance of our highways; in safeguarding the rights of labor; in protection of health; and in many of the smallest details of our daily lives.

State Government affects everyone every day, from the person who is assured an honest weight in the food markets, to the person who turns on an electric light, rides a bus, buys an insurance policy, deposits money in a bank, uses a water faucet or operates a motor car.

An Ever Finer Instrument

These facts are cited to emphasize not only our grave responsibilities to the people, but to point up our endless opportunities to make State Government an ever finer instrument of public service. In the three years since becoming Governor, I have given unremitting study to the problems of New Jersey and it is out of that rewarding experience I speak to you today.

Moreover, as a former member of the State Senate, I believe I have a grasp of the difficulties and pressures of the legislative task. Therefore, at all times have I sought to lay before you the facts concerning State issues and to cooperate with you in the hammering out of fair, just and progressive legislation.

An Election Year

In November of this year, there will be an election for Governor and for 70 of the 81 seats in the Legislature. Therefore, the eyes of the people will be fastened upon you, the Legislature, and upon me, the Governor, to scrutinize our behavior. If we permit partisan politics to influence our judgment, if we permit ambitions to sway our actions, we will be judged accordingly. For myself, I promise to work with you in every way consistent with my convictions.

A Feeble Step

In the interest of frankness, I must allude to certain points of difference with the Legislature.

Looking back to my inaugural address on January 19, 1954, I find the following statement: "Of its own volition, the Legislature is taking the highly laudable step of abolishing the old caucus system and of breathing life into the committees."

The step turns out to have been a feeble one. The caucus system has not been abandoned and artificial respiration has not been applied to the committees. To a large extent, majority party policies are cut and dried in secret sessions, open committee hearings are the exception and not the rule and the State is deprived of the wholesome effect of real debate on the floor of both houses.

It seems plain that, if many important measures were openly discussed and the power of public opinion brought into play, they would be passed.

Pigeonholing of Appointments

It is my responsibility, enjoined by the Constitution and the statutes, to exercise the appointive power with the advice and consent of the State Senate. In the past three years, in growing intensity, nominations have been stuffed without action into senatorial pigeonholes.

Examples are nominations for judgeships, the Delaware River Port Authority, the Passaic Valley Sewerage Commission and numerous other positions.

No reasons are given for failure to act. Important work of the State is thus held up, to say nothing of the injury to distinguished citizens who have permitted me to offer their names. No wonder that some of New Jersey's ablest men hesitate to enter public service.

NEED FOR REAPPORTIONMENT

It is the responsibility of the Legislature to reapportion the Assembly in accordance with population changes. The Constitution provides this shall be done at the first session following the national census. Yet six sessions have come and gone since the 1950 census and no action has been taken.

The Legislature is required to redistrict the State for congressional seats, but it has not been done for more than a quarter of a century. Meanwhile there have been huge shifts in population, so that many of our people are not fairly represented in the Assembly and in Congress. Proper representation lies at the very roots of the democratic principle.

The 181st Legislature could go down in history as one which courageously attacked and solved these problems. Here is in outline some of the highlights of this message, taken from the far more comprehensive survey of departments.

CONDITION OF THE STATE

It is a pleasure to say that New Jersey's phenomenal growth continues. Each year more than a hundred thousand persons are added to our population, and their productive power swells the State's prosperity. New industries, including many plants for industrial research, are providing new jobs for skilled workers. The building of homes is vastly increased.

Our real wealth, the people themselves, grows apace. A State which was settled in 1664, nearly 300 years ago, and which was admitted into the Union in 1787, not only has a long and rich historical past, but a magnificent present and a limitless future.

PROBLEMS OF PROGRESS

But growth brings with it added tasks for the State Government. In my last annual message, I pointed out that most of the problems that confront the State are products of our growing population and our expanding economy.

This is why we need more highways, more schools, more parks and beaches, more hospital facilities and so on. If grass were growing in our streets and if smoke were not pouring from the stacks of our factories, we would not have to face what might be called the problems of progress.

With all this accent on growth, however, our State Government has attempted to lead and serve at the lowest possible cost. New Jersey ranks fourth among the 48 in per capita income; yet our State Government collects the lowest per capita tax in all of the 48.

Highest Credit Rating

In the past three years we have striven to undertake improvement and extension of services on a pay-as-you-go basis. Not a single dollar of State debt has been authorized during this period. In fact, we have reduced the State debt by nearly 20 million dollars. Last year the State won a rating of Aaa. This means that for the first time in more than 20 years, New Jersey's State Government has earned the highest possible rating from an authority looked upon as standard for the national bond market.

To help achieve this rating, I have vetoed measures that would have cost millions of dollars, not only in immediate expenditure but in annual recurring obligations. Many of these bills were special and local in nature and not of Statewide benefit.

Another Plague Spot is Cleaned Up

A major scandal was unearthed in the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission following my appointment of new members to this body. They found that it reeked with waste, extravagance and inefficiency, the lurid details of which were fully exposed. The Governor of Pennsylvania joined New Jersey in dismissal of the persons responsible and in disinfecting the whole operation.

Sweeping reforms were put into effect, including economies to save more than half a million dollars annually. Criminal charges were filed in Pennsylvania, where the alleged offenses occurred. No less than 115 jobs, more than one-third of the total, were abolished as useless. Between August, 1955, and December, 1956, the new Commission retired 3,282 bonds amounting to $3,282,000. This is in contrast to only 591 bonds, amounting to $591,000, retired by the old Commission between December, 1952, and August, 1955. The new broom swept clean.

No Magic

The State Government, mindful that all funds come out of the taxpayers' pockets and that there is no magic in operation of the State Treasury, has tried to apply the age-old principles of thrift and prudence in the spending of money. As a result, New Jersey still enjoys pre-eminence as a State which imposes neither a sales tax nor an income tax.

There come times, however, when failure to spend money would be against the public interest and perhaps disastrous. I refer, for example, to the absolute necessity of providing funds to take advantage of the new Federal highway program. In some areas, New Jersey will get $9 of Federal money for every $1 it contributes. It is the greatest bargain that ever was offered. It will fill a critical need, for increasing traffic will surely strangle the State unless it is given more room to operate.

To Match Federal Aid

On the pay-as-you-go principle, I have recommended additional revenue to insure the new Federal contributions. I oppose the effort of some legislators to dissipate the State surplus.

The surplus is actually no surplus. It is money carefully saved, in the sock, as it were, to balance the budget and to meet the imperative expanding needs of the State in the coming fiscal year.

If we do not provide new revenue to match Federal funds, we will wreck the State's fiscal balance and only postpone the day of reckoning.

High Birth Rate

In the field of education, the picture we see is basically the happy circumstance of an enormous increase in the birth rate. Some 5,000,000 babies are now born in this country every year, more than twice the number in the depression '30s. The increase in birth rate began during the Second World War, dipped a bit and then increased again with the Korean War. It means that our country, with a present population of some 166,000,000, will increase to 190,000,000 by 1965 and 207,000,000 by 1975.

THE OLD AND THE YOUNG

It is an interesting fact that many of the problems of government throughout the United States are created by the growing proportion of young people who must be educated, and by the growing proportion of older people who are enjoying a longer life span, but who need various types of assistance and guidance. Citizens in the productive middle group should face up cheerfully to this new phenomenon.

We have already felt the impact in New Jersey of the burgeoning school population. In the past three years there has been an increase of 16% in enrollment. What had become an intolerable burden on local school districts has been considerably relieved by State aid. Contributions from the State to such districts have almost tripled.

We must plan, too, for the tremendous tasks that lie in the near future at the doors of our colleges and universities, both public and private. It is estimated that the number of young people who will seek higher education will be tripled by 1973.

NEW POLICIES FOR THE AGED

There are now almost a million persons in New Jersey 60 years of age or older; twice that number are over 45. This is a blessing of medical and dietary science that creates new challenges in the field of social science.

During the past three years, we have developed special policies to help older workers get jobs; stepped up programs of rehabilitation; developed aid for the chronically ill; provided an improved pension structure for public employees, increased public assistance benefits; and emphasized nursing home and family care rather than prolonged hospitalization.

We are deeply concerned over the large number of aged persons who are often inappropriately placed in State mental hospitals. We are hoping to establish a geriatric center where treatment could be given to enable such older persons to return to their families. Such a policy would have the added benefit of permitting mental hospitals to concentrate more effectively on therapy for patients who require active psychiatric treatment.

FIGHT AGAINST MENTAL DISEASE

In a special message to the Legislature in 1955, I spelled out in detail a program for the mentally ill, including the increased use of new drugs.

I am delighted to be able to tell you that, in the 12 months ending last October, the number of patients in our mental hospitals declined by 303. This is in dramatic contrast to the large increases which have occurred for many years.

There is real hope that new attitudes, both public and professional, the so-called wonder drugs and intensified psychiatric treatment will serve to permit more and more patients to return to their homes and to useful places in society.

We must fight constantly against the miserable old concept of mere custodial care, by which patients led a dreary vegetable existence. We must attack mental disease with every weapon at hand, both at the community and State level, lest it grow to unmanageable and fearfully expensive proportions.

LABOR'S NEEDS

If it be true that labor is enjoying the highest wage levels in history and that jobs are more plentiful than ever, it is also true that various injustices need be remedied. We have improved administration of workmen's compensation, but legislation to give workers better protection is badly needed. We need a more realistic schedule of weekly payments, in the light of rising living costs.

While unemployment compensation is now promptly paid, as contrasted with the long delays of three years ago, we should increase the benefits in proportion to present wage scales and prices.

Our minimum wage law is hopelessly antiquated and should be revised to cover adult males as well as women and children. We need a specified minimum wage for all citizens. As has so often been emphasized, a State labor relations act is desirable in the interest of industrial justice and labor-management peace.

STERN LAW ENFORCEMENT

Whereas, three years ago, New Jersey was plagued by organized gangsters and gamblers, the door has been slammed in their faces by a policy of strict vigilance and stern law enforcement. The new criminal investigation division continues to operate expertly. A close relationship has been built up by the Attorney-General with the 21 county prosecutors, by regular meetings with them and by furnishing assistance through the Division of Law, State Police, Motor Vehicle Inspectors and the Bureau of Traffic Safety.

It is deeply satisfying to report that in 1955, despite even denser traffic, New Jersey had the lowest death rate in its history. It was second only to Rhode Island in this regard. But we must not become complacent, and therefore, throughout each year we are using every device, from public education and road safety features to strict traffic supervision, to cut down the death and accident rate.

We have co-operated with the courts to bring the criminal calendar up to date. This has been achieved partly by getting rid of more than 30,000 untriable indictments, some of which had been gathering dust for more than a century, while many of the persons accused had long ago gone to their graves.

A STREAMLINED SYSTEM

Completed is the Herculean task of converting the old drivers' license and motor vehicle registration system into a streamlined, mechanized mail order system. This major accomplishment ministers to the convenience of all motorists, who no longer have to stand in long lines to obtain these licenses. Moreover, renewals have been staggered, with the result that the Motor Vehicle Division has a steady monthly workload.

TO SAFEGUARD STATE FUNDS

In the operation of the State Treasury, numerous steps have been taken to surround State funds with greater safeguards and to increase the interest yield of the vast sums of money in the State's keeping. These investments alone total more than seven hundred million dollars. The State is, in effect, a billion dollar-plus corporation when its cash resources are added to its tremendous assets in physical property.

Every possible step has been taken by the Treasury to make impossible another happening like the scandalous embezzlement unearthed at the outset of my administration. All depository banks are required to provide United States bonds as security, and a system of verifying all State bank accounts has been instituted.

GREATEST IN A CENTURY

In the field of taxation, the greatest strides in a century have been made in the improvement of real property assessment practices. Last year, for the first time in our history, real property ratables were actually equalized for the purpose of allocating costs of county government. The work of local assessors has been aided by close co-operation of the State Division of Taxation. But as I have indicated in prior messages, legislative reform of the real and personal tax structure is long overdue.

The whole system of State purchasing has been tightened up and improved in the interest of economy and efficiency. A unit has been set up to standardize specifications and to test and inspect, as to quality, the goods to be purchased by the State. The Construction Bureau has been revitalized. A great deal of money has been saved by the volume purchasing of drugs, office equipment, motor vehicles and many other things.

ECONOMIC SECURITY FOR PUBLIC EMPLOYEES

With the establishment of the Public Employees' Retirement System, the great majority of State and local employees now enjoy the increased benefits of a comprehensive pension system, integrated with Federal Social Security. Employees are accorded death benefits equal to one and one-half times yearly salary. It seems fair to say that these increases in economic security have tended to improve the morale of public servants and to increase the value of their work to the public.

ROUND VALLEY

One of the State's most pressing unsolved problems is the need for water storage to provide for our domestic and industrial needs. A step forward was taken last year when the Legislature authorized the acquisition of Round Valley, the site of a natural bowl in Hunterdon County ideal for the purpose. Over half of the site has already been acquired and the remainder will be bought in the coming months.

However, the Legislature unrealistically limited Round Valley to the use of Delaware River water. For many reasons, it is necessary to lift this restriction, so that the reservoir can take waters from the Raritan River basin, with due safeguards to preserve the normal levels of streams and lakes in this area.

The Legislature is urged to take another step forward to make Round Valley a source of water supply. Let us keep in mind that it can be filled with overflow water, water that is now wasted. Let us keep in mind also the basic fact that New Jersey's annual rainfall is bounteous enough for all the State's requirements; we need only to save water which now runs uselessly to the sea.

Not by Bread Alone

I have spoken of some of the problems created by our growing population. Man cannot live by bread alone, so it is the State's responsibility to provide more recreational facilities for our people. This is becoming increasingly desirable as the shorter work week, longer vacations and pension benefits have added to our people's leisure time. The Department of Conservation and Economic Development, along with its numerous other functions, is pursuing a four-year program to develop the State park system.

In recent years, the State has acquired Island Beach, the Worthington and Wharton tracts, a total of 104,000 acres, increasing State-owned parks and forests to 181,000 acres, not counting 82,500 acres devoted to fish and game preserves. These new territories need development so that they can offer pleasure and wholesome recreation to New Jersey's millions. For just one example, I look forward keenly to the time when miles of marvelous ocean front on Island Beach can be freely enjoyed by our people.

State Office Buildings

In a special message to you of last September, I set forth in detail the urgent reasons for new office buildings to house the Departments of Health, Education, and Labor and Industry. These buildings could be constructed out of available funds and with substantial savings in operational costs. No action has yet been taken and I urge that the 181st Legislature authorize this sorely-needed construction.

STATUTE REVISION

Our statutory law, in many instances, is a kind of legislative jungle in which the lawyers of the State must hack their way through a maze of conflicting provisions. A thoroughgoing revision is needed particularly of Title 11, concerning Civil Service; Title 18, Education; Title 19, Elections; Title 40, Counties and Municipalities; Title 48, Public Utilities.

NO CHINESE WALLS

Though the State Government is organized by departments, we have taken care that they are not surrounded by Chinese walls. Most major problems transcend departmental lines. They can be attacked successfully only by the work of various departments working in concert. It has been one of the major concerns of this administration to keep all cabinet members informed of our objectives, and to obtain the full co-operation of department heads and their staffs. Thus, we have the encouraging sight of increased inter-departmental action to produce the best service to the public.

LEGISLATURE'S OPPORTUNITY

With these remarks, I have touched only passingly upon a few of the accomplishments of the past three years and a few of the many needs of the State of New Jersey. In the remainder of the message, I have set forth, in much greater detail, the work and requirements of the State Government, department by department. You will find, in studying the entire message, that the Legislature has a banner opportunity to make this session an historic one in service to our people.

STATE HIGHWAYS

Of paramount importance is the need for New Jersey to participate fully in the new Federal highway program. Nowhere is the need for traffic relief more urgent than in our own State where highway transportation establishes unparalleled records each year.

Until 1930 New Jersey was a leader in the creation of a then modern highway system. However, largely because of the diversion of 275 million dollars in motor vehicle revenues to other State needs, we gave up this position of leadership. It is estimated that it would take more than 2½ billion dollars to meet our current highway needs.

A Reappraisal

After World War II highway funds, in limited and unrealistic amounts, were appropriated. The State Highway Department began construction of the New Jersey Turnpike and the Garden State Parkway. It was soon apparent that funds were hopelessly inadequate to complete these projects. Therefore, two authorities were formed to finance these highways as toll roads with bonds sold to the public.

In 1954 the State Highway Department was already faced with many construction commitments for which millions of dollars had been allocated. To assure most efficient use of the limited and uncommitted balance, the Department was compelled to reappraise its entire program in terms of safety and traffic relief.

A Face-Lifting Job

New techniques were developed. Old highways have been dualized by center line barriers. Uphill creeper lanes have provided separate paths for slow-moving vehicles; and additional intersection improvements and construction of overpasses have reduced congestion and prevented loss of life. The list of these face-lifting operations is long.

But there is a definite limit to the work which can be done with limited funds. The need for additional highway construction is increasing at a rate far in excess of the Highway Department's resources.

It is disturbing to note that, while New Jersey motor vehicles have doubled since 1946 and now approach the 2½ million mark, only 80 miles have been added to the State highway system. This is an average of a mere 4 miles for each of our 21 counties.

REFORM IN THE DEPARTMENT

When this administration took office the Highway Department was badly in need of improvement. Personnel had not been effectively assigned in many instances and numerous existing procedures were costly and inefficient. A modern merit-rating system for employees was put into operation. We have established standard operational procedures and eliminated much duplication of effort. State-wide two-way radio communication was installed to increase the efficiency of maintenance, equipment and snow removal work.

A continuous inventory system was established and student training courses set up throughout the Department. To assure a continuing flow of qualified new personnel, a recruitment program was started in colleges and universities. Now in its third year, this program has brought to us many able young engineers.

These are but a few of the many ways in which our Highway Department has prepared for the greatest challenge of our times—the new Federal highway program.

Attention has been called repeatedly to the need for vastly increased State funds to take full advantage of the Federal program, as well as the necessity of prompt action in the face of rising costs. The importance of non-Federal participating projects in promoting safety and relieving congestion on our highways has been stressed. Emphasis has been given to the importance of providing adequate funds for the advance acquisition of rights-of-way as a means of saving millions of dollars.

NEW LIAISON WITH RELATED AGENCIES

A major innovation has been the designation of the State Highway Commissioner to work as a liaison officer with the New York Port Authority, the Delaware River Port Authority, New Jersey Turnpike Authority, New Jersey Highway Authority (which operates the Garden State Parkway), the Palisades Interstate Parkway Commission and the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission.

All of these bodies have an intimate bearing on New Jersey's transportation problems. For example, the New York Port Authority is proceeding with its plan to double deck the George Washington Bridge. In this connection, the Authority has agreed to contribute 24 million dollars for construction of the East-West Bergen Expressway, which will serve as an approach to the bridge. Again, the New Jersey Authority is extending the Garden State Parkway to connect with the New York Thruway. Our Turnpike has recently been connected with the Pennsylvania Turnpike and the Holland Tunnel.

Rapid Transit

It might be appropriate here to note a deep concern with the establishment of convenient, economical rapid transit in the metropolitan areas of both North and South Jersey. Last year the Delaware River Port Authority submitted a comprehensive study of the problem in the southern part of the State. The Metropolitan Rapid Transit Commission, with the help of the New York Port Authority, is making a similar study for North Jersey and will submit a report during the early part of this year. I hope we can work out a program based on these reports which will relieve congestion and provide our people with comfortable transportation at reasonable rates in the metropolitan areas of North and South Jersey.

Education

New Jersey's school problem is caused largely by a vastly increased birth rate since World War II which has produced an enormous increase in enrollment. During the past three years, this increase amounts to 16%. It will continue to grow in the years to come.

During the current year, more than 880,000 pupils attended public grade and high schools and the total enrollment is increasing at the rate of 40,000 per year. In the past school year, school districts spent 285 million dollars at an average cost per pupil of $340.

To ease the burden on school districts, the State in the past three years has greatly increased State aid for current expenses. The current year's appropriation for such aid is $66,600,000. It will increase to almost 71 million dollars in the next fiscal year.

TRIPLING STATE AID

A separate State-aid program for capital construction has been set up. It provides for spending more than 10½ million dollars this year among the school districts and 13½ million dollars during the next fiscal year. Thus, the total State-aid to school districts is now about 3 times greater than in 1953-1954 and it will increase by over 7 million dollars next year.

We should give consideration to the small number of districts which, in spite of State-aid and high local tax rates, cannot obtain sufficient funds to build necessary school facilities. It may be that the State, in some instances, should provide a substantial part of the cost so that children in these districts will not be denied equal educational opportunities.

NEW TEACHERS

There are now some 37,000 teachers in the 567 school districts of the State. To attract new teachers, a State-wide minimum salary schedule has been adopted and the teacher pension system has been liberalized. Our State Teachers' Colleges have increased their enrollments from 3,900 to 5,200 full-time, not including 5,300 part-time students. Even so, we have been forced in this time of dire teacher shortage, to refuse admission to hundreds of well-qualified applicants.

The valuable work of the State Library was broadened by an allocation of $50,000 for the purpose of adding a field staff to work for the improvement of local library services throughout the State.

State-aid classes have been developed for mentally retarded children and for the physically handicapped at an increased cost to the State of almost 2 million dollars.

PROBLEMS OF HIGHER EDUCATION

During the year, the administrative structure of Rutgers, The State University was reorganized. Since 1953 the State's annual contribution to the University has increased over 3 million dollars. Rutgers now has an enrollment of some 14,000 full- and part-time students. But those seeking admission to Rutgers will greatly increase in the very near future.

A study conducted by the Department of Education estimates that by 1963 the number of New Jersey students seeking admission to college will double. It will triple by 1973. By 1963, in spite of planned expansions by private and out-of-state institutions, one out of every three potential college entrants may have no place to enroll. If more facilities are not provided by 1973, one of every two possible entrants may be without a place.

It is apparent the State must begin planning immediately to meet this critical situation. The study should include an analysis of the functions and facilities of the State University, the ability of private colleges to absorb a part of the increased enrollment, and a survey of the six State Teachers' Colleges to see to what extent they should be expanded and broadened in scope. The State Board of Education is undertaking a study of these problems and will submit a report during the current year.

Statute Revision

The Department has completed a draft of a long-needed revision of Title 18, laws relating to education. The revision will be submitted to you for enactment during this session. The State Board of Education is codifying its rules and that code, plus a volume of judicial and administrative decisions under the education law, will be issued shortly. It will be the first such publication since 1949.

Civil Rights

In the field of civil rights, which have been denied in some States to persons because of their race or religion, we in New Jersey have reason to be thankful. We have faced our problems and have met them with considerable success.

The annual report of the Division Against Discrimination for 1955-1956 shows that 230 complaints were disposed of in that year. The State may take pride in the fact that only one employment case was required to go to public hearing; indeed this was the only public hearing among 1,183 formal employment complaints in 11 years. All other cases were dismissed or successfully adjusted.

HUMAN RELATIONS

In addition to handling complaints, the Division does a good job in improving human relations among all the elements of our cosmopolitan population. Through employment and public accommodation surveys, work shops, conferences, lectures and other means, our people are kept informed of the prevailing climate in civil rights and thus are able to adjust many problem situations.

Notably, the division has worked with intergroup agencies in helping more than 30,000 Puerto Ricans to work and live among us.

INSTITUTIONS AND AGENCIES

By far the largest of our fourteen departments is the great complex of humanitarian services entrusted to our Institutions and Agencies. With the completion of substantially all of the bond issue construction authorized after World War II, the staff of this vital program has increased to almost 11,000 men and women in a variety of occupations.

There are 104,000 persons, or about one of every 50 in the State, directly affected by the Department's program.

You will recall that in the special message on mental health in March of 1955, I urged the Legislature to invest heavily in a strengthening of our attack on this front. The people of New Jersey will be gratified to learn that for the first time in memory, the number of patients in our State mental hospitals declined by 303, even though our growing population was reflected in growing admission rates.

TO ENCOURAGE FRESH VENTURES

New attitudes, new drugs, new approaches, and a new public awareness have contributed to this encouraging trend. News of this heartening advance should be received with caution since it represents progress in only one small area of our total task of attacking mental illness. But it should serve to encourage fresh ventures and to justify our continuing resistance to the hopeless apathy that so long had characterized the approach.

We have just received the gratifying news that our Trenton State Hospital has been approved by the American Psychiatric Association for a three-year residency training program for doctors. This is one of a very few approvals given to State hospitals not directly connected with university medical schools.

Again I urge that we move boldly to resist the onset of mental illness at the community level. For 30 years we have watched the success of the limited State "demonstration" clinics. Skilled professional teams have kept many patients from our State hospitals, have helped them remain in their homes and in their jobs.

GRANTS-IN-AID

But the State cannot and should not do this job alone. The communities in this State should be helped to provide these preventive services which many now find beyond their means. In the budget message, therefore, I shall propose the payment of grants-in-aid for community mental health projects. This can stimulate strong citizen support, stabilize the financing of these services, insure their development with high professional standards, and help to hold down the number of patients who would otherwise crowd into State hospitals.

I am confident that the people of New Jersey prefer such an investment as the 20th century alternative to the past emphasis on mere custody.

PROGRESS AT BORDENTOWN

At the former manual training school in Bordentown, we have established a training and research center. I am happy to report that already 100 mentally retarded boys are in training under expert guidance. As renovations to the plant progress, the number will be increased to some 400 boys and girls. The emphasis will be on research and on intensive training for family and job placement. This new center represents a bright new hope for handicapped children and their loved ones.

Some 200 prisoners are now employed on 21 projects in State forests and parks. By this means prison idleness is reduced, patients in non-correctional institutions are being relieved from maintenance work unrelated to their treatment, and training in useful work is done at a minimum cost and with resulting improvements in public lands.

VALUE OF PROBATION

At the State Prison and its branches, more supervisory officers have been provided and trained and the base of inspection and supervision has been broadened. Consistent with the recommendation of the Law Enforcement Council, parole supervision has been improved through higher salaries, reorganization of the bureau, and the development of a system to insure that no prisoner misses a legitimate opportunity for parole.

We must consider seriously ways by which probation services at the county level can be improved. Probation well administered offers better opportunities for rehabilitation than imprisonment.

NO BLACK AND GRAY MARKETS

Despite justifiable concern nationally, the people of New Jersey can be proud that in this State black and gray markets in adoption have been virtually eliminated. We protect the rights of the child, the parents and the adopting family.

PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

Improved procedures in public assistance have cut administrative costs and enabled case workers to give more effective services. At the same time, allotments for food, clothing and other personal needs were increased in line with cost of living changes. Use is being made of Federal surplus foodstuffs in order that the needy may share in our country's abundance.

Recent amendments to the Federal Old Age and Survivors' Insurance Act require certain changes in our State assistance laws which should receive your prompt attention.

Last year a commission was created to study the administration of public medical care. We await their report on the way in which such care is financed and furnished to people who receive public assistance.

COMPACT ON MENTAL HEALTH

Last month I signed the interstate compact on mental health. New Jersey is the third state to ratify this agreement for improved procedures for the transfer and treatment of the mentally ill in the various states.

Under its terms, the states recognize that care and treatment bears no primary relationship to the residence or citizenship of the patient and that the controlling factors should be humanitarian rather than technical.

Labor and Industry

We have sought to improve and expand the activities of the Division of Workmen's Compensation, so important to the welfare of the injured employee.

Provision is now made to plan the training of the seriously injured person immediately after the accident and to insure that he is given benefit of the latest advances in medical treatment and physical restoration.

Preference is being given to cases involving more serious disability so that early benefits may be paid. An arrangement with the Rehabilitation Commission has plugged the gap in payments to totally injured persons who are to receive benefits beyond the 450-week maximum award.

For More Adequate Protection

To insure fairer treatment in cases closed by settlement between employer and employee, the division has taken on responsibility of inquiring into the terms of settlement. During the past year, as a result of this program, hearings have resulted in additional benefits to injured workmen.

Existing procedures for judicial review of workmen's compensation cases are cumbersome and need revision. I am appointing a committee consisting of representatives of labor, industry, and the division to submit recommendations for revision of these procedures.

But improvement in administration is not enough. Legislation is overdue which will give employees more adequate protection. The recent increases in maximum weekly payments are not enough. The President of the United States and his Secretary of Labor have recommended adoption by the States of a more adequate schedule.

Employment for the Handicapped

Physically handicapped persons often have a hard time finding jobs. Some employers fear that if they take on such a person and he suffers injury, the employer or his insurance carrier may be compelled to pay benefits for the prior handicap as well as for the later injury.

It is recommended that legislation be adopted to provide specifically, as the law does now in cases of 100% disability, that in all cases the employer is to be held responsible only for such disability as results directly from the compensable injury. The 1% fund can be made available for the balance of the disability. Such legislation might also include provisions whereby an employer could ask the Rehabilitation Commission for a certificate specifically fixing in advance the percentage of disability of the prospective employee.

A draft of legislation has been prepared to cover the increasingly important problem of radiation hazard. However, the draft has been withheld at the request of the U. S. Department of Labor pending recommendations of a Federal committee which is now working on a model bill.

No More Delays

Consideration should be given to legislation which would increase benefits to 100% disabled employees, widows and dependents of workers in fatal accidents whose awards, based on prior statutory rates, are inadequate at the present time.

Employment Security

Three years ago, there was great and justifiable complaint about delays in the payment of unemployment compensation. In 1953 only 68 per cent of first claims were paid within the 2-week period established by Federal standards. Some were forced to wait 10, 12, or even 15 weeks. At present, more than 90% of first claims are paid within two weeks, and that figure is well above the national average.

Experience shows that some modifications of our employment compensation system are necessary. Benefit schedules both in dollar amount and in the maximum period for which they are payable should be revised. Again, the need for such revision has been suggested by the President and the Secretary of Labor.

Under the present system, an employer who has less than four persons in employment is not required to pay unemployment compensation. I recommend the law be amended to make it applicable to every employing unit.

Only four States, of which New Jersey is one, have not adopted legislation recommended by the Federal authorities which would permit reciprocal arrangements with other States for continuing wage credits. The required amendment to permit such reciprocal arrangements should be adopted.

Industrial Safety

We have given much time and thought to the question of industrial safety. We have developed a mine safety program, a safety award program, in-service training for safety inspectors, and a board of inquiry to determine the cause of every fatal accident.

Minimum Wage

Our minimum wage law, as I have pointed out, is completely out of date. It applies now only to women and children. It should provide a specified minimum and be made available to all who are engaged in intrastate employment.

Because of the increasingly restricted applications of the National Labor Relations Act, employer and employee in intrastate and some interstate industries are without protection. We need a State Labor Relations Law through which unfair labor practices may be defined and prevented, and through which collective bargaining representatives may be selected and certified. I recognize there are divergent points of view concerning such legislation and, therefore, recommend that public hearings be held so that the issues can be resolved.

Law and Public Safety

For the first time in the State's history, the Division of Law in the last three years has functioned on a full-time basis under the direction of a full-time Attorney-General.

Although the staff and the budget have remained reasonably constant, the work of the division has increased both in volume and scope. In addition to day-by-day advice to all departments, in 1955, 220 opinions were issued, 370 legislative memoranda prepared, and 64 appellate matters briefed and argued, 51 successfully. By contrast, only 88 legal opinions were rendered in 1952 and 113 in 1953.

Co-operation with Prosecutors

Enforcement of the criminal laws rests primarily in the 21 county prosecutors. The Attorney-General, however, has tried to achieve uniformity of their activities. A criminal investigation division is operating in his office. He is in constant communication with the prosecutors and furnishes assistance to them through the State Police, motor vehicle inspectors, Division of Law and the Bureau of Traffic Safety.

By close co-operation with the State Supreme Court, some 30,000 untriable indictments have been dismissed. Some of them had been gathering dust for more than 100 years. Our criminal courts have thus achieved a realistic concept of pending business.

Archaic Laws

Much remains to be done to combat an increasingly clever criminal element. We should re-examine our laws relating to our prosecutors' offices. In many respects, these laws are archaic and should be brought up to date.

Once again, I urge the adoption of a police training program such as is embodied in Senate Bill No. 178 of the 1956 session. We also need an adequate system of crime reporting, a recommendation in which the Law Enforcement Council recently joined.

Work of the State Police

In 1954 we conducted a survey of the methods, structure and operations of the State Police. It resulted in improved administration. In the fiscal year 1955-1956, the State Police had the greatest year in their 35-year history. They engaged in 46,823 general investigations, 37,323 criminal investigations and made 132,963 motor vehicle arrests. Through fines and costs and other sources, the State Police turned into the State Treasury the unprecedented total of $3,059,516.

Lowest Death Rate

In 1955, in this most densely traveled State in the country, we were able to achieve the lowest death rate in New Jersey's history. On a nation-wide basis our record was surpassed only by Rhode Island. I have reason to believe, although the final figures have not been compiled, that we did as well or better in 1956.

We attacked the problem by a policy of strict enforcement, of constant use of the State Police, by the aid of county prosecutors, by setting up traffic co-ordinators in each county, by the safety engineering efforts of the Highway Department and by the help of the press, radio and television.

Motor Vehicle Conversion

In less than nine months in 1955, the Motor Vehicle Division accomplished the conversion of our motor vehicle and driver licensing system. To do so it had to change its manual records into machine records. There were over 5 million of these old records. Personnel had to be trained to handle the machines and a rigid production schedule was set up.

It was a remarkable accomplishment which some experts said could not be completed inside of a year. Our motorists may now receive their registration and driver's license by mail. No longer must they wait in long lines. Renewals are staggered so that the division has a steady monthly workload. We look forward to even greater efficiency in the operation of this system.

Our Motor Vehicle Inspection stations have lagged far behind our constantly growing vehicle population. In the 18 years between 1937 and 1955, only two new inspection lanes have been added. The inadequate facilities were a source of vexation to car owners who often had to endure long and tedious delays to obtain this service.

In casting about for a solution, a new idea was developed, that is, the use of drive-in theatres. These theatres, not used for daylight performances, are ideal places for inspection lanes. Nine such lanes are now in operation at a very low cost for both construction and maintenance. Drivers enjoy off-street parking. In each lane, 45 cars can be inspected every hour. In this way years of neglect are being remedied.

With the construction of new lanes and temporary reduction of inspection from two to one annually, our motorists no longer cool their heels for hours for inspection of their cars.

A long range construction program of motor vehicle field stations is also giving New Jersey its first modern driver license examinations facilities. Two of these stations are under construction and four more will be begun this year. These will provide tremendous improvements in an even more neglected and important phase of New Jersey's highway safety program.

WATERFRONT COMMISSION

While not a function of the Department of Law and Public Safety, it seems appropriate to mention here the work of the Waterfront Commission of New York Harbor. The Commission has made progress in its efforts to improve the lot of the men who work along the waterfront and to restore peace and prosperity to the Port of New York, on which so much of the economy of the two States depends. Such progress has not been without opposition.

The Commission's program has increased work opportunities for bona fide longshoremen resulting in an increase in one year of over $1,000 in the average annual income of a longshoreman.

The legislation which this State has just adopted, and which it is hoped will be adopted shortly by the State of New York, should strengthen the hands of the Commission and permit more effective accomplishment of the objectives of the Compact. Improvement in physical security of piers and cargo is also to be expected from the recent amendments to the Commission's regulations governing port watchmen.

TREASURY

Better management of State funds has reduced idle money and greatly increased the interest income on its investments and bank deposits. Such interest in the present fiscal year is expected to exceed $2,900,000. This is about $775,000 more than last year and is about twice the highest amount received in any of the preceding four years.

Legislation establishing the State Investment Council was adopted in 1950, after it was found that prior practices in the investment of State funds had resulted in mismanagement, inefficiency, and actions based upon political considerations to the loss of the State and the trust funds involved.

The basic objective of the legislation is that the Council shall set policies to guide investments of State funds. The Council has a fine record of accomplishment. It should be permitted, without hindrance, to continue its efforts to attain the legislative objective.

Improved Methods

The risk to the State's demand deposits has been materially reduced by a program to require all depository banks to provide United States bonds as security. A system of verification of all State bank accounts has been worked out for national banks with the Federal bank examiners and for State banks with the State bank examiners.

A simplified form of financial report is now issued about 20 days after the close of each month, with tables showing current revenues and expenditures. This has proved a useful management tool.

Checkwriting for both payroll and general purposes has been put on a punch-card basis which has made possible a daily reconciliation of balances by mechanical equipment.

To improve efficiency of operations, studies are under way for increased co-operative use of modern business machines and equipment in the various departments.

First Time in History

In the past three years, the greatest forward strides in the century have been made in real property assessment practices. In 1956, for the first time in history, real property ratables were actually equalized at the county level for apportionment of the cost of county government. This achievement was accompanied by apportionment of the cost of school districts comprising two or more taxing districts, and the distribution on an equalized basis of more than 60 million dollars of State school aid. Local assessors have been aided through assessors' manuals, instruction courses and information furnished by the Division of Taxation.

Better Purchasing Methods

The work of the Purchase Bureau, due to a 1955 reorganization, is now current. Through the newly established control system and regular monthly reports, the status of that work can be determined at all times. Previously there was no way of determining, except from the volume of complaints, what part of purchase applications remained unprocessed and for how long.

A unit has been established to set up standard specifications and to test the quality of goods purchased for the State's account. It is saving substantial sums.

Through the establishment of a Coordinator of Motor Vehicles, large economies have been made in the purchase and operation of the State's motor vehicle fleet. We have adopted volume purchasing in many areas such as motor vehicles, drugs and office equipment, to produce savings over piecemeal buying.

No Gifts

Many old abuses have been eliminated and a healthier atmosphere created by the law which forbids acceptance of any form of gift or gratuity from persons doing business with the State. A 1954 Treasury regulation forbids any employee of that department from engaging in outside business or otherwise acting in any transaction which may present a conflict of interest. I again urge you to consider general legislation on this subject.

Over 4 million dollars' worth of Federal surplus commodities was distributed in the last fiscal year by the Agricultural Distribution Section of the Purchase Bureau. School lunch programs and State institutions shared. This was more than double the previous year's figure and it is expected the program will rise this year to 5 million dollars.

Progress in Pensions

With the establishment of the new pension system for public employees and teachers, the great majority of State and local employees were brought under Social Security. Members were accorded non-contributory death benefits equal to one-and-a-half times annual salary, plus survivors' and dependents' benefits. Public employee veterans were brought into the retirement system. Huge prospective liabilities of public employers under the Veterans' Retirement Act were eliminated.

Permission was granted by legislation to place all death benefits under contract with an insurance company. As a result of competitive bidding, the Board of Trustees entered into an agreement with the private insurance company which had submitted the lowest schedule of retentions. The new program became effective December 1, 1956, and permits public employees to purchase additional life insurance at low rates.

Substantially the same benefits and rate structure were given the members of the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund that are applicable to the Public Employees' Retirement System. Thus, retirement allowances available to teachers were increased materially. In addition, special benefits for service connected disability and death were extended to them.

Conservation and Economic Development

Over the past three years, many steps have been taken to produce in this Department a more vigorous and compact administrative unit. They included development of an organization chart; an annual reporting system; regular staff meetings of division and bureau leaders; technical cooperation across division and bureau lines; re-establishment on a full-time basis of the post of State Forester; and reorganization at the bureau level.

Land Use

A Land Use Committee was created in 1954 to produce better management of New Jersey's physical resources. The land area of New Jersey, one of the smallest States in the union, supports the eighth largest population in the nation. Thus we are compelled—not by any attachment to abstract philosophy but by urgent practical needs—to achieve the most diversified possible use of lands under our jurisdiction.

The value of the Land Use Committees work is most apparent in long-range planning for use of Wharton Tract. With specialists from many fields, the committee has projected a program for this tract of timber production, watershed development, hunting and fishing and other forms of recreation, and the preservation of historic sites. The same multiple-use principle will be applied to other State lands such as Island Beach.

RECREATION NEEDS

Our expanding population, greater leisure time and increased interest in outdoor activities require more intensive development of the State park system. Our beaches, woodlands, lakes and rivers should be made readily available to all of our people.

During recent years, the amount of land owned by the State has increased. Island Beach, Wharton Tract and Worthington Tract, a total of 104,000 acres, have been acquired. This increases State-owned parks and forests to 181,000 acres, in addition to 82,500 acres devoted to game and fish preserves.

But the mere acquisition of more land is not enough. It must be put to full use by the public. Since 1954, after more than a decade of neglect, the State has corrected deferred maintenance, so that our public parks today are in the best condition they have ever been. The improvement program will be completed over a four-year period at a cost of 3 million dollars.

LESSONS OF THE 1955 FLOODS

The major floods of 1955 taught some valuable lessons. As a result, the U. S. Weather Bureau has strengthened its flood forecasting service for the Delaware River Basin and, at my request, has extended this service to the intrastate Passaic and Raritan River drainage areas.

A program has been undertaken to mark flood stages plainly and permanently. While adequate warnings and flood insurance will greatly reduce suffering, danger to life and property persists in the continued industrial and residential development of lowlands. Flood plain zoning is the key to the use of areas subject to inundation. A special committee should be created to examine benefits that may be derived under the Federal Flood Insurance Act and the requirements for State participation. I repeat my earlier request for such legislation.

MIDDLE INCOME HOUSING

A report of an advisory committee indicates that the "most important housing problem facing the State is the providing of adequate and decent accommodations for families of moderate income." Subsequently, a report of the Legislative Middle Income Housing Study Commission found that "there is a need for middle income housing in the State of New Jersey."

A Suggested Plan

I recommend to the Legislature that laws be enacted to provide financial assistance to meet this need. It should be in the form of a no-cash subsidy program to avoid any new taxes. A plan has been suggested of pledging the State's credit to guarantee bonds to be issued by the Public Housing and Development Authority, so that funds may be obtained at the lowest possible interest rate. These funds could then be made available to groups which will construct this much-needed housing under proper State supervision and regulation. We should consider seriously this proposal.

To Attract New Industry

During the past three years, we have been active in seeking to attract new industry and to keep or expand industry already here. Several new techniques have been used, such as the Governor's Committee on Resort and Travel, whose purpose is to extend the regular shore season and to make fuller use of the Garden State Parkway. Also developed was the idea of naming economic ambassadors of New Jersey whose basic mission is to attract new enterprise. In addition a survey was started to determine how the State can assist the independent business man.

I plan to appoint an Air Facilities Planning Committee to insure that New Jersey keeps abreast of all new aviation developments and that the State shall be ever mindful of the safety and comfort of citizens in areas of heavy air traffic.

Navigation Problems

Because of the increased public interest in boating in both tidal and non-tidal areas, a serious law enforcement problem faces the State. I propose the establishment of a Marine Traffic Court with broader jurisdiction than the present navigation or municipal courts.

In 1955, 21,000 operator's licenses and 13,000 registrations for power vessels were issued. These figures have risen in 1956. Operators of these boats who violate marine regulations should be brought to account.

At present, the Coast Guard requires that only outboard motor vessels over 16 feet in length be numbered. The large increase in vessels under 16 feet makes their registration desirable as well. Attention should be given to the bill submitted to you last year increasing the lighting requirements for pleasure craft.

NEED FOR WATER STORAGE

Last year legislation was adopted authorizing the acquisition of Round Valley as a reservoir site. The Department proceeded immediately with the necessary negotiations and appraisals. More than half of the area has now been acquired and it is estimated that by the end of the current fiscal year title to the remainder will lie in the State.

Favorable climatic conditions during the past year spared New Jersey from water shortages which have been common in prior years. It would be foolhardy, however, to be dependent upon such uncertainties. Our rainfall is sufficient to provide us with an ample water supply. But this can be utilized only by adequate storage capacity.

Present law limits Round Valley to the use of Delaware River water. The operation of the reservoir is not feasible on that basis. The act should be amended to permit the reservoir to store water from the Raritan River Basin with adequate protection for those dependent upon the water supply in that basin.

ROUND VALLEY RESERVOIR

Attention should likewise be given to the actual construction of the Round Valley reservoir. Whatever program is evolved, it should meet certain basic criteria: it must insure that the water resources of the State are used for the benefit of all the public at the lowest possible cost, and it must take into account demands for public and industrial water supply, irrigation, pollution abatement, recreation and flood control.

Because of the time required to plan, construct and fill a reservoir—five to seven years—it is imperative that the project be commenced this year if the State is to meet its obligations to its citizens. I hope that a program may be developed through bi-partisan co-operation so that a method of financing the project can be submitted to the voters at the next general election.

In addition to Round Valley, prompt study should be given to the underground water table in South Jersey and to plans for the use of that water supply.

Health

The most urgent need for more effective public health administration at the State level is for modern facilities to replace the inadequate, dispersed, overcrowded offices and laboratories of the State Department of Health. New Jersey citizens deserve complete and prompt service to meet their health needs. To do so, we must have proper physical facilities.

Cramped Laboratory Facilities

It is difficult for the laboratory in its present cramped, unsuitable and unsafe facilities to analyze milk, food, drugs, water, sewage, air and industrial samples. More than 50 thousand of these are submitted annually in the conduct of health programs and in the enforcement of public health laws.

Similarly, technicians making over one-half million serological and other tests annually find laboratory facilities inadequate. Work in the diagnosis of poliomyelitis and other viral diseases must actually be referred to out-of-State laboratories where personnel from this department have the privilege of working.

Program for Chronic Illness

The problem of chronic illness has been vigorously attacked. Grant-in-aid funds have been effective in:

Providing equipment so that our citizens may have the earliest possible diagnosis of conditions involving the brain, heart and other vital organs;

Helping local hospitals develop services to control alcoholism;

Informing physicians of the latest advances of the treatment of the heart and circulatory system, including heart surgery;

Developing therapy to permit bed-ridden patients to leave hospitals and maintain themselves in the community.

TESTS FOR DISEASE

The department took over 360,000 chest X-rays from January, 1954, to January, 1956. The survey resulted in the referral of 11,705 persons to their physicians and to clinics for further chest X-ray studies from which 569 newly discovered cases of tuberculosis were reported. In addition, 13,512 persons suspected of having enlargement of the heart or large blood vessels, and 657 persons suspected of having malignant diseases were referred to their physicians. In 1955 and 1956 more than 26,000 received diabetes tests and 454 persons were referred to their physicians.

A code to control open burning formulated by the New Jersey Air Pollution Commission became effective May 1, 1956. As a result, a number of municipalities, industries and others have stopped open burning and New Jersey air is clearer to that extent. We have a long way to go, however, in the completion of this task.

Existing food and drug laws, patterned after Federal statutes at the time of their enactment, have become obsolete by changes in Federal law, technical advances and reorganization of the State Government. Amendments will be recommended during this session of the Legislature.

The Department has been alert to the needs for protection against the hazards of radiation which are rapidly increasing in number and intensity. In this regard, the program of the Department of Health is the most advanced of any in the country.

Actions to compel abatement of stream and water pollution are being pressed.

STATE

I have repeatedly recommended a complete revision of Title 19 covering election laws. In its present state of confusion, it is an enigma to lawyers and a headache to election board members.

Another recommendation of long standing is to provide voting machines in each of the remaining counties now using paper ballots. Voting machines are now used in 12 of our counties but nine still cling to the old method.

Many voters are disfranchised every election because of mistakes in handling the paper ballots. In addition to the fact that voting machines are more convenient both for voters and election officials, they are less expensive in the long run.

To Reduce Residence Requirements

Many persons lose their right to vote because they cannot comply with the constitutional requirement providing for a minimum residence of one year in the State and five months in the county. This requirement may have been justified at the time of its adoption more than a hundred years ago, but it is an anachronism today. As noted in my first annual message, the people should be permitted to vote on a constitutional amendment reducing State residence requirements to six months and county residence to forty days.

Reapportionment

I cannot repeat too strongly my request for action on reapportionment of Assembly seats. It was encouraging to note that, following my annual message of last year, nine bills or resolutions were introduced on this subject. However, only two bills passed the Senate and the others remained in committee. The Assembly took no action at all. A formula should be adopted to eliminate partisan considerations from this constitutional duty.

Redistricting of congressional districts is needed. It is obviously unfair for one Congressman to speak for one-half million people while the Congressman in the next district represents only a fraction of that number.

The Bureau of Government Research at the State University prepared a survey of congressional redistricting which was distributed to you last summer. This matter has been hanging fire for more than a quarter of a century and further delay cannot be justified.

Bingo and Raffles

New Jersey can look with satisfaction upon three years' experience of the Legalized Games of Chance Control Commission, popularly known as the Bingo Commission. The entire nation watched this pioneering experience in New Jersey. To the satisfaction of the majority, the law has been administered for the benefit of religious, educational, public-spirited and charitable groups.

Since the approval of the program, 5,500 organizations have been given identification numbers and more than 60,000 games of bingo and raffles have been held. For the first 11 months of 1956, receipts from the games exceeded 20 million dollars.

Civil Service

Personnel

A modern State Government must, of course, place great reliance on the capacity and the ingenuity of its State employees. In the budget message last year the importance of sound and progressive policies for the State in its role as an employer was set forth. Much of this program and this philosophy needs continuing application and adjustment. Certain specific requests will be renewed in the budget message.

A Time-Worn Concept

Our employees share with students of government generally the conviction that much of our present personnel code grew out of the time-worn concept of civil service as a basically negative fight against the spoilsman and an attempt to thwart the attempts of administrators to toss out the career public servant.

Today's needs and today's conditions call for much more than that. They demand a positive personnel program; with vigorous new recruitment and selection techniques; with training and staff development as a major concern; with progressive employee relations policies; and with attention to all the phases of an enlightened personnel program that will guarantee the best of service to the State, with staff of high morale, and with appropriate recognition for the kind of devoted service they are called upon to render.

A Modern Program

Successful steps have been taken in the direction of a modern personnel program, and continuing studies of salary and wage data in comparable outside employment have been maintained. The benefits of old age and survivors insurance have been integrated into our pension system. Group life insurance has been provided. Pre-retirement counseling is a continuing service. Expansion of in-service training programs has helped to prepare career employees for promotional opportunities and has enlarged their contribution to State service. Our colleges and universities have been tapped as a source for new young talent for State Government. Our paychecks are now on a biweekly basis. Continuous recruitment has been started for hard-to-fill stenographic and other jobs. Uniform grievance procedures and a clarification of overtime policies have been undertaken. Fire hazards and unsafe working conditions are being routed out. The State is, for the first time, vigorously applying to itself the standards that it has long enforced upon private employers.

A thorough study should be undertaken of our civil service statutes and the rules and regulations promulgated pursuant to Title 11 of the Revised Statutes.

APPOINTMENTS

When the conditions of work for our employees are improved, the State can rightfully expect dividends in the form of efficient service. Our public employees respond to fair treatment and effective leadership. That is why I have sought to fill appointive posts with men of integrity and capacity and the understanding to liberate most effectively the talents of career employees. Every effort has been made to restore among the State employees a real sense of pride in their accomplishment. And through all this, the people of New Jersey have a right to take pride in the calibre of their service.

AGRICULTURE

Despite the extension of industry and home building into rural areas, agriculture remains a vital segment of the New Jersey economy. More than one-third of the total area of the State is in farm use and more than 80,000 workers are employed in agricultural activities.

Farm land values and costs of production in New Jersey are among the highest in the nation. These factors demand efficient operation in terms of high yields, which account for the State's rank as number one in gross income per acre—$195.00. The value of our farm products is estimated for 1956 at 375 million dollars. With the exception of eggs and milk, the returns for most New Jersey crops were improved last year.

CONTROL OF PESTS

New Jersey's position as a corridor State creates a continual threat of insect and disease invasion, against which the State Department of Agriculture is alert to act. Since 1950, the percentage of cattle in our brucellosis program has risen from 30% to 98%. By April 1, 1958, all herds must have been tested.

The timely use of emergency funds accounted in 1954, for the eradication of the white fringe beetle. This is a pest even more destructive than the Japanese beetle.

Last year, in co-operation with Federal authorities, the Department of Agriculture checked the gypsy moth by spraying over 50 thousand acres of woodland. This spraying will continue in 1957.

A prime factor in the development of our poultry industry has been the blood testing of breeding stock. Some 950 thousand such tests are made each year. Today poultry is our leading farm industry, accounting for more than 131 million dollars of income last year.

Prompt action has curtailed the spread of vesicular exanthema among our hog population.

A State-wide committee of livestock breeders has petitioned the department for a better and more complete diagnostic laboratory service. To protect our livestock industry, improvements of this nature must be given careful consideration.

AIDS TO MARKETING

New Jersey's crossroads position produces numerous marketing problems. Our nearness to large markets provides an outlet for our products but it is also productive of competition. The department has expanded its marketing services and facilities.

Last year the Division of Markets assisted in the movement of 840 million eggs, one-third of our entire production. Other marketing activities included the inspection and grading of about 165 thousand tons of tomatoes, four times the tonnage of 1955, and 54 million pounds of asparagus.

Since grades determine prices these services are of real benefit to the growers.

In Behalf of Milk Producers

Attempts have been made to alleviate the plight of milk producers in this State to insure a fair return to them and, at the same time, to protect the consumer. Milk producers believe that the best method is to get a separate Federal milk marketing area established in New Jersey. On recommendation of the Governor's Milk Committee and other interested parties, the U. S. Secretary of Agriculture held informal hearings in New Jersey in 1954. Formal hearings began in June of last year and every effort has been made to expedite the proceedings and to obtain a fair order for New Jersey producers.

The Rural Advisory Committee appointed by me is making a continuing study of rural problems in this State. The committee is composed of leaders in various phases of agriculture, as well as representatives from the State University. The committee has extensive plans for integrating farm activity with the over-all development of the State. Its plan will be treated in the budget message.

Banking and Insurance

This department protects the pocketbook of every one of our citizens. This becomes evident when we realize that it examines and supervises the affairs of hundreds of State banks, insurance companies, building and loan associations and finance companies. They have assets in excess of 100 billion dollars.

In conjunction with the Treasury, the department has carried out a plan for verifying deposits of State funds in banks, a safety program evolved after the disclosures of the investigation of the Division of Employment Security.

Insurance Overcharges

An inquiry by the department showed that many car owners have been overcharged in the purchase of automobile collision insurance. As a result, more than one-half million dollars have been refunded to policyholders as of last October. The inquiry is continuing and more refunds are anticipated. Recommendations for amendments to the rating laws to make enforcement more effective will be submitted to you.

Other Abuses

Additional regulations relating to accident and sickness insurance have been issued to eliminate abuses which have developed in the sale of such insurance. A bill will be submitted to you to regulate financing of sales of motor vehicles to protect our citizens from abuses in that field.

Another area which warrants legislative consideration is the regulation or possible elimination of so-called debt adjusters. Investigations in neighboring States show that some of these unsupervised agencies have been engaged in activities harmful to their clients and the public. Some of these unsupervised agencies have begun to do business in this State.

Employee Welfare Funds

Discussion will be had with legislative leaders concerning a bill to protect members of employee welfare funds. Among other things, the bill should provide for registration of such funds with the Department of Banking and Insurance, the filing of periodic reports, examination of the funds, and disclosure to beneficiaries of the details of benefits and management.

Public Utilities

The work of this department also affects every citizen of this State. It has general supervision, jurisdiction and control over telephone, electric, gas, water and transportation facilities. Its responsibility is to assure continuous, necessary, safe, reasonable, adequate and proper services for the public at fair and just rates.

There are approximately 600 privately-owned public utilities under the department's jurisdiction, in addition to the intra-state activities of the State's railroads. Investment in the utilities, aside from the railroads, approaches 2½ billion dollars and their annual operating revenue amounts to 780 million dollars.

The Fixing of Rates

An important part of the department's activities involves the fixing of rates which public utilities may charge. In carrying out this function, this department conducts extensive public hearings. The public interest is represented not only by counsel for the consumers involved and the municipalities affected but also, in most cases, by rate counsel appointed by the Attorney-General.

The department inspects semi-annually, some 5,000 buses, investigates approximately 1,000 customers' complaints against utilities each year and passes upon corporate financing by utilities.

Grade Crossing Elimination

Pursuant to the grade crossing elimination program, three railroad grade crossing projects have been completed during the past three years at a cost of 7½ million dollars. Under existing law, the State pays about 85% of this cost. Serious consideration should be given to additional grade crossing elimination.

In the interest of commuters, the department has intervened before the Interstate Commerce Commission in opposition to applications by railroads to eliminate services which are deemed necessary to the people of this State.

Title 48 covering Public Utility law is in need of revision and action should be taken with all reasonable dispatch.

Defense

The New Jersey National Guard has made steady progress during the last three years in its three principal fields of endeavor: personnel recruiting, training and armory construction.

The aggregate strength of the National Guard has risen steadily from 12,564 in November, 1953, to 14,399 in November, 1956, of which 1,662 are in the Air Guard. This trend is expected to continue as more training facilities become available. We should be proud of the contribution our National Guardsmen are making as an integral part of our Nation's defense forces.

THE SPAATZ TROPHY AND OTHER AWARDS

During the same three-year period, our Army and Air National Guard have progressed substantially in their training program. Army National Guard units average "Excellent" in the annual inspection ratings by Regular Army Inspectors.

The high level of Air National Guard training is exemplified by the award of the Spaatz Trophy to the 119th Fighter-Interceptor Squadron, NJANG, as the outstanding Air National Guard Tactical Squadron in the United States. There have also been several Flying Safety Awards made to our squadrons, based on records made, despite their transition into the more complex jet aircraft. An innovation during the period was the integration of our National Guard Antiaircraft Artillery into the On-Site program. There are now six sites in the State which have been taken over by the Guard from the Active Army, although they still function as a part of the Active Army Defense System. These are manned 24 hours a day by Guardsmen.

NEW ARMORY CONSTRUCTION

Notable among our Department of Defense achievements is the progress made in constructing new armories and training installations. Since January 1, 1954, with 75% of the funds coming from the Federal Government, armories have been constructed or are under way at Phillipsburg, Bordentown, Franklin, Toms River and Washington, New Jersey. In addition, a number of our existing armories were altered or expanded under the same funding arrangement.

OTHER NEW FACILITIES

A considerable amount of building from 100% Federal funds was also accomplished. Among such projects completed or in process since January, 1954, are motor vehicle storage buildings at Long Branch and Tuckerton, organizational maintenance shops at Teaneck, Toms River, Morristown, Atlantic City, and Vineland; and a large Ordnance Maintenance Shop in West Orange. At McGuire Air Force Base work is nearing completion on an Air National Guard installation which will cost nearly one and a half million dollars.

All of these facilities will contribute to the further progress of our National Guard and legislative co-operation in making available required matching funds is necessary for the continuation of the program.

CIVIL DEFENSE

New Jersey has been fortunate this past year in not having a repetition of the hurricanes and floods of 1955. But with the experience gained during those disasters, the Civil Defense and Disaster Control office has set up improved procedures for warnings and operations during such emergencies. The efforts of nine State and Federal agencies have been co-ordinated to take united action to combat such disasters. These agencies include all State departments and Federal agencies such as the Weather Bureau, Corps of Engineers and the Coast Guard. There are now over 265,000 volunteer civil defense workers in the State.

The disaster warning and communications systems now include all 21 counties and the new Highway Department radio network and the Division of Fish and Game network, increasing the efficiency of operations during disasters.

CONCLUSION

In this message are numerous recommendations for legislative action in the interest of the people of New Jersey. Taken together, they offer a blueprint for progress and reform that will make for a more prosperous and a more progressive State. You may be sure that, as Governor, I will co-operate with you wholeheartedly. With the help of God, we will march forward to a bright and happy future.

Respectfully submitted,

ROBERT B. MEYNER,
Governor.

THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE LEGALIZED GAMES OF CHANCE CONTROL COMMISSION

The Honorable Robert B. Meyner, Governor; The Honorable Albert McCay, President of the Senate; The Honorable Elden Mills, Speaker of the General Assembly; and Members of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey:

Pursuant to P. L. 1954, Chapter 7, Section 23, the Legalized Games of Chance Control Commission submits its report of the operation under the Bingo Licensing Law (P. L. 1954, Chapter 6) and the Raffles Licensing Law (P. L. 1954, Chapter 5), for the period from January 1, 1956, through December 18, 1956, together with its recommendations for changes in the said laws.

During the time in question the Control Commission, through its staff, has carried on careful supervision over the Games of Chance that have been played. A well-balanced educational program has been carried on and more than 500 municipal clerks have been interviewed and instructed in the proper administration required under the Games of Chance Law. In addition, a great many technical mistakes made by the organizations have been corrected informally by the Commission office. A large number of the organizations registered have been contacted and advised as to the proper procedure in the conduct of Games of Chance. The staff members, at the direction of the Control Commission, have spoken before numerous organizations. The Executive Officer has appeared on television as well as radio in this campaign of education.

As of December 18, 1956, our records indicate that since the inception of the Games of Chance Law 5,489 organizations have registered with the Commission. Presently 4,238 registrations are active. The balance have been revoked for various reasons: 111 of this group were revoked because they were unqualified or because of double registrations; 1,140 registrations were revoked under Rule 8, Part II, which provides:

> "Identification numbers heretofore or hereafter issued shall automatically be revoked if the organization to which they are issued has not applied to conduct a game of chance within two years of the issuance of the identification number or if the organization fails to utilize the identification number for any period of two years. Such revocation shall be without prejudice to the right of the organization to apply for a new identification number."

As explained in this rule, such revocation is without prejudice and many have reapplied and been issued a new registration.

As previously pointed out in the 1955 report, some governing bodies of municipalities are still misinterpreting the registration of an organization to be tantamount to a finding by the Commission that the organization is qualified to conduct games of chance, although this misinterpretation is decreasing. Under the Bingo and Raffles Licensing Laws the primary responsibility for determining the qualification of an organization rests with the municipal governing body. However, to assist governing bodies the Control Commission has carried on a policy of screening organizations when applications are submitted for registration.

From January 1, 1956, to December 18, 1956, the Commission received reports of 21,160 bingo games. The total number of licenses issued by municipal clerks for the conduct of bingo games for that period was 1,414. The reported receipts from these bingo games were $16,183,803.90.

From January 1, 1956, to December 18, 1956, the Commission received reports of 3,479 raffles. The total number of licenses issued by municipal clerks for the conduct of raffles during that period was 3,233. The reported receipts from these raffles were $5,459,075.62.

The reports of operations are received by the Commission approximately 20 days after the conduct of the game. For this reason, on December 18, 1956, there were 1,786 unreported scheduled games. The estimated receipts from completed and uncompleted bingo and raffles games, but not yet reported as of December 18, 1956, will be well over a million dollars.

It is obvious from the foregoing that the gross receipts derived from the conduct of bingo and raffles during the calendar year of 1956 will be over $23,000,000.00 or approximately two million dollars per month.

From April 21, 1954, to December 18, 1956, the reports filed in the Commission office show receipts from bingo of $36,735,479.67. For the same period reports of raffles show receipts of $11,203,570.97. The total receipts during that period as shown by filed reports amount to $47,939,050.64.

An analysis of the foregoing figures indicates that the gross receipts from the conduct of bingo games and raffles have increased from an average of approximately $1,000,000.00 per month during the year 1954 to approximately $2,000,000.00 per month during the year 1956.

During the past year the Commission held 39 hearings involving violations of the laws, qualifications of organizations and problems of licensees. In 19 cases these proceedings resulted in the revocation of the license involved and in the declaration that the organization was ineligible to conduct bingo and raffles for a specified time. In all other cases the Commission discussed at length the matters with representatives of the organizations involved and reached a determination.

Throughout the course of the year, pursuant to N. J. S. 5:8–8, the Commission conducted investigations of the administration of the Bingo Licensing Law and Raffles Licensing Law in two municipalities. Those municipalities were: Raritan Township, Hunterdon County; and the city of Lambertville. In each instance reports were issued to the municipal officials making suggestions for the better administration of the Bingo Licensing Law and the Raffles Licensing Law in their respective municipalities.

In fulfillment of N. J. S. 5:8–13 the Commission has made investigations in the following States which have either a bingo or a raffles (or both) law:

1. Maine.
2. New Hampshire.
3. Connecticut.
4. Rhode Island.
5. Maryland.

The investigation extended to the State of Massachusetts which had such a law in the past and also to the State of Delaware which anticipates a bingo and raffles law. The result of such investigations convinces the Commission that the laws in New Jersey are superior to the laws in the above-mentioned States. This type of investigation will be continued during the coming year. It is pointed out that representatives from 31 different States, as well as from the Dominion of Canada, have been in contact with the Control Commission in anticipation of enacting comparable laws in their respective States.

There have been very few complaints by organizations or by municipalities during this year.

The complaint heard most stems from municipal clerks who feel that the games of chance laws should be administered solely by the Control Commission. The Commission does not recommend such a change in the laws. The qualifications of organizations can be determined more feasibly at a local level than at a State level. Enforcement can be accomplished more effectively by conscientious local authorities. The additional cost that would be required to the State because of the change is not justified.

This group further complains that the license fee of $5.00 is insufficient to cover the expense of processing the licenses. It is to be noted that during 1955 the Legislature amended the Raffles Licensing Law so as to reduce the license fee.

At the suggestion of the Municipal Clerks' Association the Commission has simplified the form of reports to be made by municipal clerks requiring that reports be submitted twice a year rather than four times a year.

As pointed out in the Annual Report last year the provision for cash prizes in an on-premise 50/50 draw raffle is troublesome. Our records show that only 80 organizations have applied to conduct this type of a raffle. This means only 1.8876 per cent of the registered organizations attempted to take advantage of it. The provision is used, however, by some organizations as a device or a subterfuge in an attempt to conduct an illegal off-premise cash raffle. The Commission reiterates its recommendation that the Raffles Licensing Law be amended to prohibit entirely the giving of cash prizes.

Presently there is a small group once again talking about an increase in the amount of bingo prizes. During the year 1956 only 53 organizations gave away the maximum prize of $1,000.00, and the majority of such organizations conducted their games in commercial halls. It is interesting to note that there are 4,238 active registrants and percentagewise this indicates that only 1.2505 per cent gave away the maximum prize. The Commission finds no necessity to increase the amount of the prizes. To do so would deprive many small organizations of their opportunities under the law.

During this year the press indicated that a few organizations are recommending that the present $5,000.00 maximum limitation for prizes in raffles be increased. During the year 1956 only 133 organizations gave away the maximum prizes. During the same period 3,064 licenses were issued for raffles. This amounts to 4.3407 per cent of organizations that have absorbed the maximum limitations. The Commission does not recommend any change.

In an attempt to combat the diversion of the proceeds derived from the conduct of bingo games to the owners of commercial halls in the form of rental, the Commission adopted the following rules:

RULE 20, PART VII

"No organization shall hire premises for the holding, conducting or operating of a bingo game except from a qualified organization registered with the Control Commission."

RULE 21, PART VII

"No person, firm or corporation, except a qualified organization registered with the Control Commission shall let or offer to let premises for the holding, conducting or operating of a bingo game."

These rules were the subject of a declaratory judgment action brought in the Appellate Division of the Superior Court by three organizations and one commercial landlord. Recently the court decided the matter in the Commission's favor.

We have had an increasing number of complaints from players at bingo games that there are unwarranted duplications of boards. It results in part from the operators of the games purchasing their bingo supplies from suppliers who do not have a sufficient variety of boards. The Commission recommends that bingo suppliers be required to be approved in the same manner as raffles equipment suppliers. This would not only assure that a proper number of combinations of boards would be obtained but also would assist the Commission in determining whether organizations are making accurate reports.

Although the municipal governing bodies are required to perform certain duties in connection with the holding of games of chance, there could be improvement. The most glaring deficiency has been the failure to adequately supervise the conduct of games and the use of proceeds. We do not know of one case where the municipal body has questioned the "use of proceeds." Municipal governing bodies should carry out their responsibility in enforcement and administration. They hesitate to supervise the conduct of games and to question the use of funds which must be devoted to authorized purposes. During this year, we do not know of any governing body that has conducted hearings for violations of the Games of Chance Laws.

After the decision of the Supreme Court of New Jersey in Lane vs. Martel, there was a decided increase in the proceeds from games conducted in the shore area by qualified organizations. In the period from June 1, 1956, to September 30, 1956, organizations realized 16.032 per cent above the period of June 1, 1955, to September 30, 1955, from bingo games. From raffles comparing the two periods, the increase was 16.741 per cent. Our investigations of bingo games and raffle games conducted at the shore after the decision of the Supreme Court convinces us that the mechanical so-called skill games had been drawing off thousands of dollars that otherwise would have gone to qualified charitable, religious, educational, patriotic, or public-spirited organizations.

January 29, 1957.

Mr. William J. Kohm, Clerk,
General Assembly of the State of New Jersey,
State House, Trenton, New Jersey.

DEAR MR. KOHM:

The Secretary of the Navy has requested that I acknowledge receipt of the resolution passed by the General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, requesting that the new nuclear-powered guided missile cruiser be named "Barnegat Light."

It has been the custom in the past for the Navy to name cruisers for cities in the United States. Since this new cruiser will introduce the application of nuclear-powered propulsion to surface ships for the first time, it has, as you can well imagine, aroused widespread national interest and has elicited many requests that it be named for various communities throughout the country.

The seaplane tender USS Barnegat (AVP-10), now on the Navy list, was named for the Barnegat Bay area in New Jersey which of course includes Barnegat Light, so this old structure is already recognized. As long as this vessel is on the Navy list it would seem undesirable to use the name "Barnegat Light" for another naval vessel as the similarity of the two names would cause confusion.

Your request will be made a matter of record along with similar requests received from interested communities in New Jersey, and will receive consideration in the event the present Barnegat is stricken from the list of naval vessels.

F. KENT LOOMIS,
Captain, USN (Ret.),
Asst. Director of Naval History.

Mr. Smith moved that the communication be received and filed.

The following communication was sent to the desk and read by the Clerk:

The Speaker recognized Assemblyman Rev. James Vance McIver of Essex County who delivered the following annual Lincoln's Day address:

The year 1809 marked the birth of some of the world's greatest. Among the poets were Tennyson and Poe. Musicians, Chopin and Mendelssohn. Of the statesmen, Gladstone and Lincoln. It is worthy to note in passing that Darwin and Lincoln were born on the same day.

No name in American history is more frequently invoked than that of the Great Emancipator. Sometimes it is used to give color and dignity to theories and practices which he in his life certainly would not accept or subscribe. So often his name is taken in vain by many who lay claim to his mantle, but who are not worthy to loosen the latchet of his shoes. He is named sponsor of creeds, doctrines and isms, political and social and moral, that he would have repudiated as his own. Despite all that is done with Lincoln's name and memory, nothing can impair his fame. He does not die. He lives. He moves on. Some one has said: "Nationality is a circumstance of the flesh. Greatness is a condition of the spirit." There are some names and persons that rise above locality and time. One does not think of Jesus as an Asiatic, nor of Homer as a Greek, nor of Shakespeare as an Englishman, nor Beethoven as a German nor Columbus as an Italian.

Great epochs are ushered in by great men.

I doubt whether any purely historical character is as well known over the entire world as Abraham Lincoln. In India, Burma, Siam, and every land of the East, Abraham Lincoln is the one American name universally known and honored. I am aware of our weakness for exaggeration of either good or evil. I also know our tendency to foster myths. I know how easy we consider super-men. I also know that there must be some quality that makes one come out from the herd and take the lead. Our admiration of Lincoln is in itself a fine tribute to human nature.

Jochebed, the staunch Hebrew mother of Moses, hid her son in the rushes of the Nile. Years later this same Moses was hidden for 40 years back of Mount Horeb while God's purposes were ripening and he was being prepared to lead out His chosen people from Egyptian bondage. Centuries later Mother Nature said: "Let us hide Abraham Lincoln back there in the woods where the world will never find him." She placed him in a log cabin in Hardin County, Kentucky. She placed his spirit in a long, lank, uncouth, ungainly body. She saddened his face with lines of poverty, toil and disappointment.

I. The Nolen Creek of Poverty

That Rock Spring Farm in LaRue County was on or near the Big South Fork of Nolen Creek. This was a poor, struggling little stream at best. It was scarcely big enough to freeze up in winter, and too small to dry up in summer.

The cartoonist graphically suggests the gossip on Nolen Creek. Two mountaineers are talking. One on a mule returning from the Post Office, miles away; one a hunter, with his gun on his shoulder.

"Well, neighbor, asked the hunter, What's the news at the Post Office?"

"Seems like the President is kinda sickly, and that feller Napoleon is kicking up another row in Europe."

"What's the news around here?" "There ain't none, exceptin' Nancy Lincoln had a boy last night. Nothing ever happens around here."

History affirms that something really did happen in that house that night—that home around which the February winds howled, and into which February snow dropped its white, silent but chilly reminders of poverty which could be seen and felt. I saw a description some place, and it said this: "The cabin was open on three sides and Mother Nature's wind-broom swept its dirt floor with vigor while her lusty breath must have sweetened with toxic salubrity the atmosphere circulating within her four walls." One does not have to be a master of English to be able to simplify that picturesque language and reduce it to its simplest terms and say: He came very near having a February out of doors for his home.

II. The Element of Simplicity

He was so coloured through and through by the white of simplicity that clever, experienced, and brilliant men were blinded by its splendor for a time—so blinded, indeed, that they missed the essential greatness of the man. He had his own social ways and usages, never becoming the victim of conventional ritual and routine.

On the night of November 6, 1860, he sat alone with the telegraph operator at Springfield and received the news that he had been elected President of the United States. This fact is dramatic but characteristic.

What might have been considered eccentricity for other men was perfectly natural for Lincoln. Incapable of stirring up much ado about nothing, at any time or anywhere, he somehow breathed an atmosphere of simplicity into occasions momentary or momentous, but all bore the impress of his own unassuming Lincoln likeness.

Seward, we remember, was among those whose mental focus had to be gradually adjusted to the dazzling light of Lincoln's simplicity.

Assuming that the new President was unequal to the arduous duties confronting him, the Secretary of State offered to mould the policies and carry them out in case the President confessed himself incapable of doing so. But no such confession was forthcoming; on the contrary. Seward was made to understand once and for all, that Lincoln was not only his own master, but Seward's as well.

For some time a thick veil, woven of self-conceit and half education, blinded most politicians to many of the rare qualities in Lincoln. This attitude explains the tears we can almost see falling upon and flowing through words he once uttered.

"I have endured a great deal of ridicule without mailce, and have received a great deal of kindness not quite free from ridicule. Character is like a tree and reputation is like its shadow. The shadow is what we think of it; the tree is the real thing.

III. The Beauty of Soul

There are two kinds of beauty. One belongs to the surface, the other to the depths. Lincoln lacked the former. As members of the Notification Committee came away from Springfield, one said to another: "Well, we might have chosen a handsomer article, but I doubt a better."

Now, there is every reason why we should be just to handsome people. They are the handiwork of God through nature's ever-weaving looms, and more attractive by far, than any other of nature's varied patterns. Not only a thing of beauty, but a human beauty is a joy forever. The universe of stars and atoms is not so beautiful as the human face; for God does His grandest work not upon millions of miles of space, but upon the few inches of face which mirror intelligence, nobility, heroism and moral grandeur. We do know that a comely face may hide or reveal a mean soul. There is a superficial beauty, which lacks moral daring, is a total stranger to that indefinable something which history calls the spiritual in man as distinguished from the sensual, something that is of the depths, burning up from the molten interiors to and through the homely features—beauty of soul.

Listen to him as he says: "I have not willingly planted a thorn in any man's bosom." Hear him again: "It is my duty to hear all, but at last I must judge what to do and what to forbear."

"I shall adopt new views as fast as they appear to be true views."

"Whatever appears to be God's will, I shall do."

It was never hard for the Angel of Beauty to find the keys of the organ named Lincoln; and from those keys issued a tenderness, a strength, a faith, a humaneness rich with the moving melodiousness winding through our ideals and dreams of perfection.

Lincoln Who Could and Did Laugh

Had it not been that he had the capacity to laugh and smile the grevious burden he carried may well have broken his sturdy body and comprehending mind. He was especially fond of two stories of Josh Billings. The first relates how a certain man, invited to an important social function, was perturbed because he lacked the conventional dress. Concluding, however, that he could ill afford to miss such a rare opportunity to get into high society, he decided to brazen his way through the ordeal. Crossing the threshold of the drawing room, he espied a line of handsomely dressed women, and walking straight up to the nearest, said: "You are a beautiful, charming woman." Unused to such familiarity, especially from strangers, the woman poured her vials of verbal wrath upon the ill-mannered stranger by saying: "I wish I could say as much for you." Whereupon Lincoln says the man responded, "Well, if you were as big a liar as I am, you could."

The other centers about an elderly man, who was wooing a woman much younger than himself. A neighbor, interested in the progress of the romance and the stages of the courtship (as neighbors usually are), would sometimes talk the matter over with the old gentleman across the back fence. So he asked one day: "Has she called you 'Honey' yet?" "No, promptly replied the blushing Romeo, but she has called me 'Old Beeswax.'" Lincoln said, "Well, anyway, she knew the by-products of honey."

Lincoln's Humantarian Spirit

Not many conquerors, and certainly few successful statesmen have escaped the tendency to harden or to narrow their sympathies. But with Lincoln it seemed that tenderness, justice, gentleness, strength, modesty, humility, all these flowed into one wide and hospitable gulf of humanity.

On February 3, 1865 at the Conference of Hampton Roads, Alexander Stephens, Vice-President of the Confederacy, paid a singular tribute to Lincoln. Stephens said: "I understand that you regard us as rebels who are about to be hanged for treason." "That is true," said Lincoln. "Well, we supposed that would be your view. But to tell you the truth, none of us have been much afraid of being hanged with you as President."

His interest in William Scott, who slept at his post, stands out. When Scott died in battle the picture of Lincoln was found close to his heart. You and I have read and re-read the life story of this great soul. We wonder as we gather year after year if there is anything to be said which has not already been said. For two years London audiences flocked to an obscure and remote playhouse to this chronicle play depicting the soul of the Civil War President. Their grandfathers mocked, ridiculed the awkward "rail splitter." It is surely a rare tribute to the man and his practical idealism when two generations after his death his towering personality has become a mastering and spiritual force in the world.

Lincoln struck a hard blow at slavery, preserved the world's greatest republic, and set democratic government a long step forward. He had scorn and vituperation heaped upon him. He was jeered at and mocked. He was called a "big baboon." Names vile and obscene were pelted at him until at last the bullet of the assassin cut short his career.

On Sunday, April 8, 1865, returning to the White House from City Point, Virginia, Lincoln read certain passages from Macbeth.

"Duncan is in his grave.
"After life's fitful fever he sleeps well.
"Treason has done his worst, nor steel nor poison,
"Malice domestic, foreign levy, nothing
"Can disturb him further."

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
February 18, 1957.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 162

To the General Assembly:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 162 for the following reasons:

This bill would appropriate the sum of $8,738,036.00 out of the general treasury for construction of roads and bridges and purchase of rights-of-way for the State highway system. It would be in addition to the $20,000,000.00 already appropriated in the present fiscal year for new highway construction. Assembly Bill No. 162 is identical with Assembly Bill No. 614 of the 1956 Session, passed by the Legislature on January 7, 1957, the day before it adjourned sine die.

On January 13, 1957, I announced I would not sign Assembly Bill No. 614 and issued a statement, copy of which is annexed hereto and made a part hereof, setting forth the reasons for my objection to that bill. The reasons for my disapproval of the 1956 bill are equally applicable to Assembly Bill No. 162 of this session and need not be repeated in the body of this message. Those reasons, confirmed in their fiscal aspects by the 1957-1958 budget message which I am delivering to you today, compel me to return Assembly Bill No. 162 without my approval.

This bill does not provide revenues to match the appropriation. Instead, it proposes to dip into the so-called surplus of $23,537,004.09 estimated for the beginning of the new fiscal year. As is pointed out in the budget message, this money is needed to balance the budget. It cannot be depleted by nearly $9,000,000.00 without the sacrifice of essential State services, a course I refuse to adopt and one I feel sure the Legislature, after studying all the facts, would not care to adopt.

It seems to me that Assembly Bill No. 162 turns its back, so to speak, on the facts of life. A realistic review of the State's fiscal position, as set forth in today's budget message, compels the conclusion that we must have increased revenues if we are to take advantage of the new Federal highway program. That program is an answer to the State's prayer. Under it, New Jersey stands to receive $90.00 from the Federal government for every $10.00 put up by the State for the construction of interstate system freeways. The State would receive in addition matching funds for other roads, and it would recover much of the money advanced for the purchase of rights-of-way.

The Federal program comes at a time when the pressure on New Jersey highways has reached a critical stage, and when many parts of the State are suffering severely from traffic strangulation. It cannot be pointed out too often that New Jersey's roads are the most heavily traveled in the nation, 7½ times the national average. As a corridor state, New Jersey acts as a channel between New England and the metropolitan area of New York to and from the South and the West. It is only fair, it is only just to ourselves, that the tremendous out-of-state traffic through New Jersey should pay part of our road costs.

This would be accomplished if, as proposed in my Special Message of September 17, 1956, we should impose an additional one cent tax on motor fuels with the proceeds set aside solely for highway construction. The burden of New Jersey residents would be far less than under a bond issue, which would result in huge amortization and interest costs for many years. New Jersey would be operating on the sound pay-as-you-go principle, just as Congress, rejecting the original bond issue proposal, has done. Under the Federal program, New Jersey motorists are now paying an added cent in Federal motor fuel taxes. Only by full participation in that program can New Jersey recover its share of that additional tax.

Our State is among 5 having the lowest rates of motor fuel taxes. Forty-three states and the District of Columbia already have rates 1 to 3 cents higher than ours. The only state lower than New Jersey, Missouri, imposes on its citizens both an income and general sales tax, which we have avoided. Our neighbor, New York, now having the same rate as New Jersey except in New York City where an additional sales tax is imposed, is considering a 1 cent increase to pay for its half-a-billion bond issue approved by the voters last November.

It is not necessary here to review all the reasons for my disapproval of Assembly Bill No. 162, as they were carefully marshalled in my statement of January 13th. I should like to add, however, that my proposal for new revenue was not made on a take-it-or-leave-it basis. It is not my aim, in such important matters, to take an adamant position or to let pride of opinion blind me to the co-ordinate responsibilities of the legislative branch. In that spirit, I have offered on a number of occasions to sit down with the legislative leaders to work out a mutually acceptable solution. That offer I repeat now. Solution of this problem is of such paramount concern to the 5½ million people of this State, all of whom have a stake in a good highway system, that it should be resolved on a non-partisan, non-political basis.

Let me reduce the problem to the form of a syllogism: We must have roads. We cannot wreck the budget to get them. Therefore, we must have new revenue.

For these reasons, I am obliged to return Assembly Bill No. 162 without my approval.

Respectfully,

[SEAL] ROBERT B. MEYNER,
Governor.

Attest:
BRENDAN T. BYRNE,
Acting Secretary to the Governor.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 614 (1956)

STATEMENT

I am filing Assembly Bill No. 614 in the State Library without my approval.

Assembly Bill No. 614, a supplement to the Appropriation Act for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1957, would appropriate $8,738,036.00 out of the general treasury for the construction of roads and bridges and purchase of rights-of-way for the State highway system. This sum would be in addition to the $20,000,000.00 already appropriated this year for new highway construction.

Assembly Bill No. 614 was passed by the Legislature on January 7, 1957, which then adjourned sine die on January 8, 1957.

Under the Constitution, Article V, Section I, paragraph 14 (b), the Governor has 45 days, Sundays excepted, after such adjournment within which to sign this measure if he shall approve it. Failing such approval the bill does not become law. In such a situation the Constitution does not provide for a veto, but since I have determined not to approve this bill, I deem it to be in the public interest that I state the reasons for my decision.

After months of debate, Congress passed and on June 29, 1956, the President signed the Federal Highway Act of 1956 which became effective immediately. It provided for the construction by the states, during a 13-year period, of a 41,000 mile interstate highway system linking all state capitals and major cities, with 90% of the cost of construction to be borne by the Federal government and the remaining 10% by the states. In addition, the act provided for a stepped-up extension of regular Federal aid to the States for primary, secondary and urban roads, with the cost thereof divided 50-50 between the Federal government and the States.

The formula for apportionment contained in the Highway Act of 1956 is a compromise agreement between the proposals contained in the original House bill and the Senate amendments thereto, the Senate formula being applied for the first 3 years (fiscal 1957, 1958 and 1959) of the program. For those years, Federal funds are allocated one-half in a ratio based upon population and one-half in the manner now provided by law for the apportionment of funds for the Federal aid primary system (that is, one-third on the basis of population, one-third on the basis of area, and one-third on the mileage of rural delivery routes and star routes).

For the remaining 10 years of the program, Federal funds will be apportioned among the states in the ratio which the estimated cost of completing the interstate system in each state bears to the estimated total cost of completing the interstate system in all of the states.

Under the Federal Highway Acts of 1956 and 1954, New Jersey will be entitled to receive from the Federal government for the 3 years ending June 30, 1959, the following sums:

1957	$43,464,922.00
1958	51,669,184.00
1959	58,364,000.00
Total	$153,498,106.00

provided that this State provides matching sums:

1957	$21,738,036.00
1958	18,570,740.00
1959	19,464,000.00
Total	$59,772,776.00

Of the Federal funds totalling $153,498,106.00 which New Jersey can get during these 3 years, almost 103 million dollars is for projects on which the Federal government will bear 90% of the cost.

The $59,772,776.00 in matching funds which the State will be required to provide during the period ending June 30, 1957, is only part of the State highway picture. Experience over the past 10 years has shown that a minimum of 10 million dollars per year will be necessary for highway improvements and construction in which the Federal government does not share any part of the cost.

These non-participating projects have averaged in excess of $10,000,000.00 a year since 1945 and are of several varieties. Many of these projects are associated with Federal aid projects but are not shared in by the Federal government because of the type of improvement planned. These include certain widening, resurfacing and drainage projects as well as bridge work and the moving of utilities. While these projects are not qualified for Federal aid, they are absolutely essential to the satisfactory completion of Federal aid roads. In addition, 206 miles of roads in State highways do not qualify for Federal aid. Construction and improvement of these roads must be met solely by the State; and as to these alone, there is presently a backlog of needed work for which the various areas of the State are pressing, whose estimated cost is 55 million dollars.

Further, as the Highway Commissioner has explained in detail on numerous occasions, considerations of economy and sound business make it essential that provision be made for the advance purchase of rights-of-way on contemplated projects. The Commissioner has recommended that at least 10 million dollars a year be made available for this purpose.

He has repeatedly stated a number of important advantages: commercial development which would increase the sales price can be forestalled; speculation in property can be limited; more time will be afforded for negotiations and for family and business relocation; contractors can avoid costly delays in construction.

It is estimated that 2 to 3 dollars will be saved for every dollar thus invested. The Federal government will share with us on right-of-way costs for those projects on which we can undertake construction within a 5-year period, but the State must advance all the funds in those cases where we cannot undertake the work within this period.

Not counting the cost of advance purchase of rights-of-way, $31,738,036.00 is required for 1957, $28,570,740.00 for 1958 and $29, 464,000.00 for 1959, or a total of $89,772,776.00 to meet the State's matching share of the Federal aid program and to provide for State highway improvements and construction in which the Federal government does not participate. Of this, 20 million dollars a year or a 3-year total of 60 million dollars would be available on the basis of our present level of appropriations for construction purposes. New sources of revenues, however, are necessary for the balance of our requirements.

As part of the Federal Highway Act of 1956, the Congress met its obligation to provide funds for financing the Federal government's share of the highway program by increasing existing highway user taxes and by imposing some new ones. Gasoline, diesel fuel and special motor fuel taxes were increased from 2 cents to 3 cents a gallon. Taxes on tires were increased from 5 cents to 8 cents a pound. The tax on trucks, buses and truck trailers was increased from 8% to 10% and a new user tax on heavy trucks, buses and truck trailers as well as a new tax on tread rubber was imposed.

Congress met its responsibility; the Legislature of this State should do no less.

As long ago as June 28, 1956, I called to the attention of the legislative leaders at the legislative conference held on that day the need to provide the State's share of the funds under the new Federal highway program. At the legislative conference on July 9, 1956, I requested the leaders of the Senate and Assembly to appoint a committee to sit down with Highway Commissioner Palmer, Budget Director Vermeulen and myself to discuss the highway program and the matter of financing the State's share. Again, at a special conference with the Legislature which I called on July 16, 1956, I urged the necessity of providing a program for raising revenues to meet the State's share of the new Federal highway program.

In my Special Message to the Legislature on September 17, 1956, I again dealt with the necessity of raising revenues to finance the highway program and suggested that this could be accomplished through an additional one cent tax upon motor fuels with the proceeds to be appropriated for highway construction.

New Jersey is among the 5 states having the lowest rates of motor fuel taxes. Forty-three states and the District of Columbia already have rates from 1 to 3 cents per gallon higher than ours. The only state lower than New Jersey—Missouri—imposes two broad based taxes that we have thus far successfully avoided, an income tax and a general sales tax.

New York, which now has the same rate as New Jersey, is considering the addition of a 1 cent per gallon tax to pay for its $500,000,000.00 highway bond issue approved by the voters last November. New York also imposes both a personal income tax and a corporate income tax, which we have avoided. In addition, New York City has a 3% sales tax which approximates 1 cent a gallon on motor fuel.

Indiana and Rhode Island, the only other states currently with the same per gallon rate as ours, each have imposed broad based taxes.

Our Delaware neighbors now pay 1 cent per gallon more. Our Pennsylvania and Connecticut neighbors pay 2 cents per gallon more.

It is also important to remember that a large percentage of our motor fuel revenue comes from out-of-state truckers and motorists who use our roads and contribute to our most densely traveled highways. Much of this traffic is brought to us along the Turnpike and the Garden State Parkway. It is fair for those who come into our State to share the cost of our highways which serve them.

Such a gas tax had been proposed in 1956 by Assembly Bill No. 507, passed by the Assembly as a companion measure to Assembly Bill No. 506, which would have authorized a bond issue for highway construction.

These bills passed the Assembly May 21, 1956 with a vote of 36 to 11 but were later buried in a Senate committee.

But as I indicated, it is not in the best interest of the State to incur the expenses of a bond issue. The Budget Director advises me that a $300,000,000.00 bond issue amortized over 30 years at today's borrowing rates would cost us $162,750,000.00 in interest charges, none of which would buy a single inch of highway. I think the people of New Jersey would wisely prefer a pay-as-you-go arrangement.

In September, Senator Wesley L. Lance of Hunterdon County, the 1957 Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, said in a public statement:

> "The State should raise new revenues to produce its contribution (to the Federal highway program) rather than use its estimated $20,000,000 surplus. This surplus will be sorely needed to balance coming budgets and may well be the sole insulation between our citizens and either a sales or a State income tax in the not too distant future."

The Senator went on to endorse a 1 cent increase in the gasoline tax, to remain in effect only so long as its revenues are used for matching funds for the Federal program.

On September 17, 1956, I submitted to the legislative leaders a draft of a bill to increase gasoline taxes from 4 cents to 5 cents a gallon. The bill provided for the appropriation to the State Highway Department of the moneys realized during the fiscal year 1957 from the 1 cent increase in the gasoline tax. I have pledged that the yield from this would be devoted each year to this construction program. Although no action was taken by the majority members of the Legislature, Assemblyman Kurtz introduced such bill. Each month of delay in enacting such a levy costs $1,500,000.00 in uncollected revenues.

During the balance of the legislative session, I continued to press for legislative action to insure revenues necessary for the State's highway program. But nothing was done until the enactment of Assembly Bill No. 614. The theory of the sponsors of this bill is that $1,738,036.00 of the amount appropriated would be added to the $20,000,000.00 appropriated in the Appropriation Act for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1957 to provide the $21,738,036.00 of matching funds required under the Federal program for this year and the remainder of $7,000,000.00 could be used for non-federal projects.

The amount appropriated for non-federal projects is clearly inadequate to meet the demands of the State. But even more indefensible is the failure of the Legislature to provide revenues to match appropriations and its attempt to take those funds out of the so-called budget surplus, which in a real sense is not an available surplus at all. It is money which the State must use to furnish its citizens with essential services during the coming fiscal year.

Much of the present "surplus" was developed during the fiscal year 1954-1955 when the administration insisted upon limiting distribution of the new State aid for education to one-fourth of the year. Thus, 21 million dollars of a 28 million dollar tax levy were added to the resources of the State. This was a non-recurring resource. By the same method, in the fiscal year 1955-1956, $2,500,000.00 from cigarette tax revenues was added as a non-recurring resource.

It is plain that when the fiscal facts of the last 5 years are reviewed in the light of these non-recurring resources the Legislature has appropriated more than the total revenue yield in 4 of the 5 fiscal years. In the single year that the State collected more than it spent, the excess revenue was just 1 million dollars.

It can, therefore, be demonstrated that New Jersey has balanced its budgets by drawing upon the declining fund which we have called "surplus", but which is in fact a non-recurring resource.

The action of the 1956 Legislature in seeking to deplete this resource to make a down payment on what must be a planned, 13-year highway program is, therefore, a reckless, irresponsible, and hazardous political gesture. No Chief Executive could, in good conscience, allow such a venture to jeopardize the soundness of our fiscal position.

From the very first announcement of the President's plans for a vastly expanded Federal participation in highway construction, at the Governors' Conference at Lake George, New York, in August, 1954, we have worked diligently to co-operate with the Federal authorities and to work out a plan that would serve the best interests of our State. Our Highway Commissioner, as was pointed out in my Annual Message on January 8, 1957, has readied the Highway Department for this vast undertaking.

Jobs for our workers, safety for motorists, the continued flourishing of our commerce depend on forthright action to solve the neglect of the depression and war years and to match the tremendous strides in population growth and increased motor vehicle registrations.

But as vital as these new highways are to the welfare of all the people of our State, I cannot and I will not tolerate the consequences of the partisan act of the 1956 Legislature.

We have considered whether the almost 9 million dollars could be slashed from some other areas of the State's services. The Budget Director, a career man with a quarter century of service to the State, who has earned the respect of the Legislature and the Executive, has squeezed the fat—and even some of the muscle—from these budgets. He testifies to the fact that substantial reductions, if they are to be made, must come from a major reduction of services.

We could turn back on our commitments for increased State aid for schools. This would either transfer the burden to the property owners in our communities or it would mean curtailment in educational opportunity for our growing school population. I reject this alternative.

We could turn back on our increased investment in the mental health program; the more adequate staffing of our hospitals and training schools; the emphasis through new drugs and new procedures on active treatment to replace the old concept of custodial care; the expenditures for research and the drive at Bordentown to train the retarded for useful lives outside the institutions and to find answers to the mysteries of the causes of mental retardation. I reject this alternative.

We could cut back on all those services to people that have meant better health, greater attention to the needs of our older citizens, rehabilitation, and the many other important services that prove New Jersey's claim to being a humane and progressive State. But the concrete and asphalt of needed highways must not be poured at the expense of the children in our schools, our teachers, our pensioners, our sick and our handicapped, our aged, our needy. Concrete must never be more important than the flesh and blood that are New Jersey's real riches.

The people of New Jersey want a highway program. When they want something, they know they must pay for it. The majority of the members of the Legislature, as individuals freed of caucus-room thought-control, know that we cannot undertake a major 13-year program without providing increased revenue to meet the cost.

We may speak of these highways as "freeways"—but a school child knows there is no "free" way to build a highway. The Federal government naturally looks to us for assurances that we have a long-range plan to finance this program. Who can say that the Legislature has offered us such a plan?

There need be no delay in getting on with our highway program. I stand ready to meet with the legislative leaders and to work out some revenue-producing solution in the same co-operative spirit that we have heretofore hammered out joint programs for meeting the need for increased State aid for schools and for school construction.

In 1954, we worked out increases in pari-mutuel revenues (P. L. 1954, Chapter 87); a 1 cent per gallon motor fuel increase (P. L. 1954, Chapter 109); and a corporation franchise tax increase (P. L. 1954, Chapter 88) to finance the bi-partisan increase in State aid for schools.

In 1956, we worked out a 2 cent per pack increase in the cigarette tax (P. L. 1956, Chapter 10) which was co-sponsored by the present Speaker of the House and the then Minority Leader.

In 1956, 6 Republican and 1 Democratic members of the House co-sponsored Assembly Bill No. 507 which passed the Assembly 36-11 and which provided a bond issue of $300,000,000.00 coupled with a 1 cent gas tax increase.

Now, as a gubernatorial election approaches, a few members of the 1956 Legislature feel that by some political sleight of hand (ledger-demain) they may hold off the imposition of a tax increase for a few months with the hope that the people can be deceived into blaming the Chief Executive for its imposition.

I have always respected the good sense and judgment of the people, so I have no fear whatsoever that they will be misled by this kind of partisan trickery.

But even if the full responsibility for insisting upon attaching a revenue source to every major expenditure is to be placed at the door of the Governor's office, I shall apply the same policy that has for these past 3 years avoided a broad imposition of new taxes.

This is not the first major spending which the Legislature has sought to enact without providing the revenue for its proposal. During my very first year as Governor, I vetoed no fewer than 25 bills that would have cost millions of dollars, much of it in recurring annual charges. In the succeeding years I have pursued this same course.

In the face of such a record of holding the line against the spending pressures from the Republican Legislature, the Chief Executive is prepared to face the judgment of an informed citizenry as to who has played recklessly with the taxpayers' money.

BUDGET MESSAGE

To the Members of the Senate and General Assembly:

I should like to preface my analysis of the fiscal picture for 1957-58 by pointing out that a State Budget is no different in principle from the household budget which so many of our citizens use in the prudent management of their income in relation to their expenses. Just as Mr. and Mrs. Householder estimate the amount of wages or salary in the coming year, balancing this against what they can pay out for rent, groceries, clothing, etc., so does the State estimate its income from taxes, balancing this against its probable expenditures.

The word "estimate" is used in both cases because the making of a budget, whether for a household or a State Government, touches on the field of prophecy. It is impossible to say for sure just how much the State will collect and just how much it will have to pay out. However, the art and science of budget-making, for it is both, can be demonstrated by the past. This is my fourth Budget Message. Of the total amount appropriated in the past three fiscal years—$867,352,813—the Legislature has trimmed only $7,458,107 from my requests. This is less than 1%.

Keeper of the Purse

In the old English phrase, the Legislature is the Keeper of the Purse or, to put it in another way, the Governor proposes and the Legislature disposes. No Governor can spend a penny unless he is authorized to do so. If an unsound or extravagant Budget is submitted by the Governor, the Legislature can rip it to pieces and safeguard the State Treasury from unwise or foolish expenditures. Here we have a practical application of the system of checks and balances designed by our Founding Fathers to protect the people against abuse of power by any branch of government.

Just as the Legislature's duty is to act as a check upon the Governor, so it is the Governor's duty to act as a check upon the Legislature. During the last three years, I have vetoed bills which would have cost, immediately, $2,877,223 and, annually, $6,940,456. In addition, I have vetoed other bills whose cost cannot be reduced to dollars and cents in even an approximate way, but it is fair to say it would run well over a million dollars annually. In each case, detailed reasons have been presented to explain why it appeared that the added expenditures were unjustified.

Goldfish Bowl

The business of government—and particularly the spending of the people's money—must be conducted in a goldfish bowl. I have used the simple analogy of the average household Budget, but whereas this is a matter between husband and wife, the making of a State Budget is of course immensely more complicated. The Budget-making process begins in August following the receipt of requests from the heads of the 14 State Departments as to what they believe they will require in the ensuing fiscal year.

How It Operates

From August 15 to December 15, hearings are held by the Budget Director, who is a career officer of many years standing, and these hearings are open to the public. Taxpayers groups are constantly in attendance. In some cases, such as the Department of Institutions and Agencies, the hearings are held at the various institutions. Other hearings are held at the State House. At these sessions, the Budget Director and his staff inquire closely into each department's expenditures for the past year and ask for all pertinent facts about projected programs for the next year. The purpose is to make sure that each department is operating on a sound basis, and to strike out any requests that cannot be fully justified.

More Public Hearings

From December to February, the Budget Director holds numerous conferences with the Governor until the Budget is ready for presentation to the Legislature. This is the stage we have now reached. The estimates of income and expenditure will be scrutinized by the members of an appropriations committee from both houses of the Legislature, and beginning this year the committee will be aided by a Legislative Budget Director. Once again, public hearings will be held for a two-month period, at which officials must present themselves for a searching examination of their departments' requests. Once satisfied, the Legislature will proceed to enact appropriation bills.

In this way, the goldfish bowl operates.

Far From Unique

It would be most pleasant to be able to tell you that the Budget for the next fiscal year will be lower than for the present one. As it is, I am compelled to recommend appropriations of $342,463,962 for next year and $2,263,036 in supplementals for prior years. Next year's recommendations compare with $320,834,671 provided in the Appropriations Act of 1956. This is an increase of 6.7% and it will be fully explained. If we look around us, we will find that New Jersey is far from unique in this regard.

In our neighboring State of New York, the Budget increase being requested from the Legislature amounts actually to more than half of New Jersey's entire Budget. In the case of the Federal Government, the Budget has soared to about 72 billions of dollars, though as a candidate in 1952, the President said his major goal was "to cut Federal spending to something like 60 billions in the next four years." Of the 72 billions, it is estimated that New Jersey will contribute more than 3 billions in Federal taxes, about nine times as much as the entire State Budget.

People=Wealth

We are living in a period of rising prices and wages and in a period when government, at all levels, is facing increased demands from citizens for services. We are living also in a period of rising population. In New Jersey, with a present estimated population of 5,500,000, we are growing by 100,000 persons a year. People represent wealth. The more people we have, the greater our productive power and the larger is our power to consume the products of our mass production industries and our vast merchandising systems. By the same token, more people require more schools, more highways, more institutional care, more welfare services and more of all the myriad services which the State Government is required to furnish.

No Longer News

It will be said in the press that this is a record Budget. This is no longer news when every Budget—national, State and local—is a record Budget. Let us look back at the last decade of New Jersey's financial history. It shows a steady, inexorable rise in the funds appropriated by the State Legislature, despite the rigorous Budget-making process I have described. Here is the record:

Fiscal Year	Amount Appropriated
1947-48	$130,704,286.00
1948-49	157,836,951.00
1949-50	164,116,485.00
1950-51	168,536,051.00
1951-52	178,987,434.00
1952-53	216,744,816.00
1953-54	221,417,366.00
1954-55	247,252,549.00
1955-56	299,085,593.00
1956-57	321,014,671.00

Reduction of State Debt

While appropriations have gone upward in the last ten years, New Jersey's pay-as-you-go fiscal policy and its management of the State debt, won, in 1956, the highest possible credit rating from Moody's—Aaa. As I pointed out in my third annual message, this is the first time in twenty years that such a rating has been achieved. The State debt has been reduced by nearly 20 million dollars during this administration, standing now at approximately 100 million dollars and, by reason of the debt service items in this Budget, will soon fall to 86 million dollars. The national debt amounts to $1,600 for every man, woman and child in the United States. New Jersey's debt amounts to only $18 for each person in this State. You and I should do all in our power to preserve and improve this enviable position of the State of New Jersey.

REVENUE ESTIMATE

We expect to begin the next fiscal year with a surplus of $23,537,004, the lowest since July 1, 1950. But this margin will be realized by next July 1 only if we are able to earn the revenues which were estimated by the Appropriations Committee when it was in session last spring. It must be pointed out that the committee was less conservative than the administration in forecasting next year's revenues.

It appears we will be fortunate, indeed, if this amount is actually realized. In all likelihood, earnings from motor fuel taxes and motor vehicle fees will not measure up to the amounts expected. On the other hand, revenues from inheritance, beverage, cigarette and corporation taxes should produce amounts in excess of those anticipated. It is hoped that the under-runs will be offset by the over-runs. Savings out of current appropriations, estimated at $3,000,000, make up part of the surplus.

A MISNOMER

Let me point out here that the word "surplus" is a misnomer. Actually, it is an amount of money that is laid by to meet the certain expenses of the next fiscal year. It is money, held in trust, so to speak, to pay bills. So-called surpluses have been produced in a variety of ways. For example, in 1954, the Legislature increased taxes on racing, motor fuels and general corporations to meet the rising costs of State aid to education. At my request, the Legislature appropriated to the schools one-fourth of the additional revenue, or $7,125,000, leaving $21,875,000 available for general purposes on July 1, 1955.

This was, however, only a one-shot remedy. Meantime, the revenues produced by the 1954 tax increases are not growing nearly so fast as the increases in the amount of money which is being spent for State aid for schools. The total State aid for schools is now about two and a half times greater than in 1953-54 and, because of mounting student populations, it will continue to rise in the years to come. In any case, the estimated surplus of $23,537,004 at the beginning of the next fiscal year will owe its existence in part to the incident cited. It shows that the State Government must be alert to every opportunity to keep its finances on a sound basis.

Dangerous Game

In 1957-58, revenues cannot be expected to exceed $318,263,836. This estimate is based on a study of the collection pattern of the past seven years and the normal growth projected through June 30, 1958. It assumes a continuation of present economic conditions. To stretch these estimates would be to play a very dangerous game, and that is a course for which this administration has no taste. So, with anticipated surplus of $23,537,004 on July 1 next, and estimated revenue of $318,263,836, we will have $341,800,840 available in the general treasury for the 1957-58 Budget.

In addition, there will be sums derived from the sale of Permanent Veterans' Housing Projects; unspent balances in the Guaranteed Loan Fund, and moneys in the Unemployment Compensation Auxiliary Fund. I have previously recommended that a part of these funds be earmarked for capital building projects. However, since the Legislature has not done so, I recommend that $2,500,000 (from the sale of Veterans' Housing) be released to general State funds, so that total resources of $344,300,840 will be provided for the 1957-58 Budget. After taking $2,500,000, there will still be sufficient funds to carry out the major part of an office building program. I will discuss this later in this message.

So, this Budget, in brief, is as follows:

RESOURCES

Estimated Surplus—June 30, 1957	$25,800,040.09
Less: Supplementals for Prior Years	2,263,036.00
Net Estimated Surplus, July 1, 1957	$23,537,004.09
Estimated Revenues for 1957-58	318,263,836.40
Transfer of Funds Derived from Sale of Permanent Veterans Housing	2,500,000.00
Total Estimated Resources for 1957-58	$344,300,840.49

RECOMMENDATIONS

General State Operations	$163,851,774.00
State Aid	150,835,748.24
Capital Improvements	27,776,440.00
Total Recommendations for 1957-58	$342,463,962.24
Estimated Surplus, June 30, 1958	$1,836,878.25

Trimming the Requests

Total requests from the 14 departments for all purposes amounted to $566,000,000. These requests included, in addition to the housekeeping requirements of State Government and State aid to local districts, $227,000,000 for capital improvements—new highways, new buildings, new recreation sites and so forth. Obviously, these requests had to be trimmed in order to balance the Budget. In doing so, we have distributed the funds as equitably as possible, lived up to our agreements under the various State aid programs and carried out our obligations to citizens, particularly in education and welfare.

The principal increases in this Budget are for the following:

For Educational Purposes	$14,700,000.00
For Welfare, Hospital, Mental Health	4,800,000.00
State Employees' Benefits in Addition to Normal Increments	6,100,000.00
All Other Purposes	2,600,000.00
Total Gross Increases	$28,200,000.00

Offsetting these gross increases in 1957-58 were the following reductions because of non-recurring projects budgeted in 1956-57:

Debt Service on Veterans' Housing Bonds	$1,300,000.00
Channel for the New Manahawkin Bridge	300,000.00
Capital Projects	5,000,000.00
Total	$6,600,000.00

How Taxpayer Benefits

Because of the sharply rising school population, each year a greater part of the Budget is devoted to State aid to local districts. In this Budget, no less than 44% is being set aside for this fundamental purpose. In the last four years of the previous administration, State aid increased 28.4% while in the four years of this administration, State aid will have increased 91.8% or $72,202,531.

At this point, let me remind you of the degree to which State aid acts as a deterrent to rising local tax rates. If the sums here recommended were not paid to our municipalities, school districts and counties, the average taxpayer would pay, in local taxes, 26% more than he now pays.

In other words, a person paying $400 in local taxes would be required to pay more than $500. This is a fact to be pasted in our hats as we survey the over-all tax picture. Later, I will set forth in detail the fiscal situation concerning education. But first let me talk about what has become New Jersey's No. 1 problem—highways.

$90 FOR $10

It is of utmost importance that New Jersey should participate fully in the new nationwide Federal highway program, whereby on interstate roads the State will collect $90 for every $10 it contributes. If we do not do so, New Jersey taxpayers will be losing millions to other states for their interstate routes.

In the supplemental section of this Budget, I have provided $1,738,036 which, together with the $20,000,000 appropriated for road construction in the present fiscal year, will be sufficient to match the entire Federal allotment for 1956-57. In addition, I have provided $18,570,740 for the same purpose to match Federal funds for 1957-58. The appropriations recommended, together with Federal aid of $95,100,000 will serve to finance a program of more than $135,000,000 for the two years 1957 and 1958.

NO FUNDS FOR STATE PROJECTS

But this leaves no money at all for highway projects which are the sole responsibility of the State—a matter of grave concern to the people in all twenty-one counties. This means that many important local projects, keenly needed and desired by our citizens, must be neglected. We need at least 10 millions a year solely for such improvements, including center barriers, bridges, creeper lanes, new road connections and other work in the interest of safety and smooth flow of traffic. The Legislature has twice passed an appropriations bill providing $7,000,000 for such projects with no revenue to pay for them. As I have consistently maintained, however, we cannot use for this purpose the so-called surplus expected on July 1, 1957, because it would then be impossible to balance the Budget. The facts here presented, I am sure, will document this statement.

We Can Save Millions

Nor are funds available for the purchase of rights-of-way in advance of the time when most of their cost can be recovered from Federal funds. I am convinced that millions would be saved if we could set aside $10,000,000 per year, for advance purchase of land needed for road construction. It has been clearly shown, both by our own experience and that of other states, that land needed for highways has cost more because of home and commercial construction, and by speculative acquisition. It goes without saying that, if such areas could be bought up before improvements are made and before speculators enter the picture, our costs would be far less.

Ben Franklin Thrift

We know, from figures gathered by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, that property has cost as much as 30 times more because it was not acquired before improvements had been made. It has been a source of great concern to me that the Legislature has not seen fit to recognize and grapple with this problem. To do so is a matter of elementary prudence and the Ben Franklin kind of thrift. And this is particularly true since $90 out of every $100 will be paid back to the State on rights-of-way to be used for interstate system freeways in which the Federal Government will participate. What are we waiting for?

Golden Opportunity

I am sure I need not dwell on the vital necessity of providing revenues by which the State will be able to get its full share of future Federal contributions, as well as to take care of pressing intrastate needs. As I pointed out in my special message of September 17, 1956, our highways are the most heavily-traveled in the nation, 7½ times the national average. Our motor vehicle registrations have risen from 1,175,000 in 1946 to 2,142,000 in 1956, an annual increase of between 130,000 and 150,000. Added to this is the heavy traffic from other states, which have had comparable increases in registration. The new Federal program offers a golden opportunity to modernize our highway system, and to avert the creeping traffic strangulation from which New Jersey is now suffering.

Increases for Education

Of the additional $14,700,000 recommended for education, $7,000,000 is for State aid to education: $4,000,000 to local districts over and above funds already appropriated, because of the rising number of pupils, and $3,000,000 to local districts for aid in school construction. For the State's share of the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund, $4,000,000 is provided. The actual increase requested was $6,800,000. However, in reviewing the portfolio of this fund, it was found to contain a reserve of $2,800,000, a profit produced by the sale of investments.

Under the terms of existing legislation, the State is required to provide annually such sums as will keep the fund actuarially sound, so there is no reason for retaining this reserve. I recommend the use of this $2,800,000 in 1957-58, thus reducing the request of $6,800,000 to $4,000,000. To do so will not impair actuarial soundness.

The great influx of students at the Teachers' Colleges and the State University is responsible for a recommendation of $1,700,000 to operate educational facilities at the State level. In 1957-58, there will be 1,450 more students at the Teachers' Colleges than there were in this fiscal year, an enrollment increase of more than 25%.

Bulging at the Seams

Though new buildings were constructed out of the $15,000,000 bond issue for State Teachers' Colleges, their facilities are bulging at the seams, and it has been necessary to turn away hundreds of well-qualified applicants. This despite the dire teacher shortage. To provide more classrooms at the Paterson State Teachers College, it was necessary in 1957 to use money out of the State Emergency Fund to transfer some of the temporary veterans' housing units to the Paterson campus. These will serve about 120 students.

Likewise, the State University is badly in need of more facilities to provide higher education for our young people. A study of the Board of Education estimates that by 1963 the number of students seeking admission to college will double, and that it will triple by 1973. The dramatic statement has been made that, in the next 15 years, the country must build facilities for higher education equal to the total built since the landing of the Pilgrims more than three centuries ago.

In this Budget is recommended approximately $600,000 more than the current gross appropriation to accommodate an increase of some 400 students at the State University.

Biology Building and Law Center

While we lack funds for an adequate building program, I am recommending an initial installment of a million dollars for a biology building, whose eventual cost will be $2,500,000.

Also recommended is $600,000 to augment a $500,000 appropriation made last year for construction of a State University Law Center in Newark. It has been only in recent years that New Jersey law schools have attained the standards set by the American Bar Association, and the proposed Law Center is badly needed to maintain such standards. Private sources have contributed some $500,000, but the bids received for construction approximate $1,770,000. If the Legislature appropriates the additional $600,000, bringing the total funds available to $1,700,000, the remainder no doubt will be privately contributed.

To Avoid Tragic Isolation

Our rise in population has created a waiting list at the School for the Deaf, and I am recommending $400,000 for a 34-bed dormitory. Let me point out here the interesting and important fact that, as a result of training at this school, every graduate is assured of a job and of a self-sustaining place in the community. Conversely, if such training were not provided, these unfortunate persons would be a charge on their families and on the public, and would be isolated in a world of tragic silence. We owe it to them and to ourselves to provide admission to a school whose modern methods do wonders in overcoming the handicap of deafness.

Education for Citizenship

The arrival of many Hungarian refugees again emphasizes the need for State aid to our communities to help them carry the cost of instruction of our foreign-born in the interest of good citizenship. I am recommending $53,000 for this purpose.

Mental Health

An increase of some $4,800,000 is recommended for the vast area of operations of the Department of Institutions and Agencies. Of this sum, $2,950,000 is required at the General State Operations level.

We are continuing to attack the problem of mental health, whose scope and danger were fully described in my special message of March 14, 1955, and to which you handsomely responded. We are beginning to reap benefits from new tranquillizing drugs, improved staffs and more active treatment. We are proceeding on the principle that mere custodial care is not enough; instead, we are using modern methods in positive programs to grapple with mental illness.

There is reason to hope that New Jersey is checking a fearful trend which otherwise would lead to ever-rising patient populations at fantastic cost to our taxpayers. Last year, for the first time in history, and despite an increase in admissions, there was a net decrease of a few hundred persons in our mental institutions. Under the Family Care Program, 267 patients were returned to the community in the last fiscal year, and this program will be vigorously pursued.

More Beds for the Retarded

The conversion of Bordentown Manual Training School and the building of other facilities have added 875 beds to our Schools for the Mentally Retarded. As a consequence, waiting lists have shown a steady decrease despite more than 400 new applications. We should not be satisfied until facilities are available for all mentally retarded persons who cannot be trained in the usual educational institutions and whose presence in the home imposes impossible burdens on the family.

Added Cost of New Facilities

Much of the increase for the Department of Institutions and Agencies is for the staffing of new facilities, such as Ancora, and to provide salaries for personnel already authorized. Funds for the latter, amounting to $850,000, were deferred when the present year's Budget was reviewed. Other increases, such as $478,000, for fuel and utility costs, are needed for new facilities and to meet higher prices. We are rapidly picking up the tab to pay for staffing and operating new buildings constructed from recent bond issues.

At Their Inception

As a corollary to the expanded mental health activity at our institutions, I am recommending $250,000 in State aid for Community Mental Health Services. A measure will be submitted to implement this program. Some counties and local organizations have advanced plans for extending this kind of aid. It is proposed that the State provide up to 20 cents per capita to counties participating, and the sum I recommend should be ample at this time.

The idea is to catch mental difficulties at their inception, and the clinics already in operation show the value of preventive measures. Early diagnosis and treatment of emotionally disturbed persons are of tremendous importance from a human point of view, and mean savings to the State in averting admission to mental and correctional institutions.

Were funds available, I would recommend appropriations for a number of most urgent capital items, such as the reconstruction, fireproofing and renovation of old buildings at Greystone Park and Trenton State Hospitals; a defective delinquent unit and replacement of buildings at the New Lisbon State Colony; a special treatment unit at Annandale Reformatory to which commitments have been skyrocketing; and an infirmary and research unit for the Edward R. Johnstone Training and Research Center at Bordentown.

Value of Research

Believing deeply in the value of mental health research, I recommend the continuance of funds for this purpose. I hope that, with the assistance of the Council of State Governments, the Northeast States, through their conferences on mental health, will intensify their joint efforts to bring about studies to throw new light on this ancient problem.

Modern Reform Practices

At the State Home for Boys, the State Home for Girls and the Clinton Reformatory, we have already provided additional positions and improved personnel classifications to advance the use of modern reform practices, including emphasis on small treatment groups, which has proved successful at Highfields. This Budget will continue that program. A personnel reorganization at the State Prison and its branches will make for better control. We are extending the employment of minimum security risk prisoners on State farms and public lands to do useful work and, at the same time, improve their own chances for rehabilitation.

Non-Deferrable Items

In addition to sums required for roads and approaches at our institutions, I am recommending $1,000,000 toward the cost of urgent capital requirements—such as boiler replacements, electrical equipment, heating system repairs, sewage disposal plants and water facilities. In my opinion, these cannot be deferred. This year, you may recall, we were able to draw on some appropriations reserves to replace two buildings at the New Lisbon State Colony where the walls had heaved. Otherwise, a supplemental appropriation most certainly would have been required. This shows how deferring necessary items catches up with us.

For the Blind

Provision is made in this Budget for the Commission for the Blind to expand its services, to absorb some of the backlog and to care for additional persons anticipated because of changes in the Social Security laws. In addition, the recommended funds will pay for instructing 66 blind children at residential schools, and services to blind children in non-urban areas which the program of the Department of Education does not reach.

More Funds for Welfare

State Aid for Welfare requires an additional $869,000, of which $619,000 is for the increased cost of existing welfare categories, particularly the Home Life Assistance program, a responsibility of the Board of Child Welfare. In that program, there will be an increase in caseload of 2,025 adults and children. For Care and Custody, the caseload will increase by 585 children. An increased caseload of 700 in the Permanently and Totally Disabled will require additional funds.

People of Many Skills

At this point, let me say that, on the basis of my experience in State Government, I am convinced that there are some grave misconceptions about the ability, character and industry of public employees. It is not true that the State Government is a cellular structure largely inhabited by drones. State employees are people of many skills who are devoted to their work and give taxpayers their money's worth.

We have put an end to no-show jobs and we have weeded out incompetents. One of the many proofs of the high caliber of State employees is that we frequently lose them to private industry. As I said in my 1956-1957 message: "The State Government must be ever alert to see that it is competing favorably for the best talents. The level of pay and the other benefits of employment must be adjusted to the needs of changing times."

The State Lags

A continuing survey by the Civil Service Commission and by a Cabinet committee shows that private industry has generally increased its payments to employees. It shows also that the State lags in benefits to employees which are afforded by private employers. In addition, cost of living from July 1, 1956, to July 1, 1957, is expected to increase as much as 3%. Indeed, the increase has already reached 2.3%.

I am recommending, therefore that all State employees be granted one across-the-board increment which will cost approximately $4,000,000. The Budget also includes $2,500,000 for normal increments to State employees who have not reached the maximum of their salary ranges. An additional $1,600,000 is included for the increased cost of pension plans.

To Match Industry

In my Budget message last year, I recommended an item covering hospitalization and medical-surgical benefits to all State employees. This was deleted by the Legislature. This year I am again making this recommendation, so that New Jersey may follow the practice of private industry. It will cost about $1,000,000. So the total cost of additional employees' benefits will be $9,100,000. Since we will probably be able to save $500,000 by employee turnover, I am asking for $8,600,000.

For the further benefit of employees and their families, legislation should be passed to correct the long-irksome barrier to the payment of unused vacation credits. If not used before death, these earned credits should be payable to the estates of employees.

Legal Needs

In the Department of Law and Public Safety, additional legal assistance is needed to help our State departments meet their constantly expanding needs for legal services; to continue high standards of law enforcement and to promote the effective handling of litigation. Such litigation produces more revenue as well as protects the State against losses which may result from inadequate legal representation.

For years, the Board of Tenement House Supervision has stood below reasonable standards of performance and should be given the means more effectively to enforce the Tenement House Code. In the Division of Weights and Measures, there has been an increase in weighing station activity, and safety standards as they apply to people operating heavy duty equipment should be met.

We have constantly placed strong emphasis on traffic safety but the need is evident for even greater stress. I feel sure that the value of the Bureau of Traffic Safety will be increased through the recommendations I have made for its operation.

Labor Requirements

In the Division of Labor of the Department of Labor and Industry, we should intensify the efforts of the Wage and Hour Bureau in enforcing minimum wage orders. Provision is also made for development of an adequate safety program in the more than 14,000 industries in New Jersey. There is a recommendation for using modern business machines for utilizing records and statistics. Not since 1922 has there been any revision or codification of the various laws and regulations governing the various plants and industries in the State. Each year thousands of requests are received for copies of such laws and regulations. Because they are not available, the State is justifiably criticized when it prosecutes persons without first providing them with adequate information.

Civil Service

The Department of Civil Service is responsible for the administration of the Civil Service Laws and Regulations, as well as the recruitment programs for the State, 20 counties and 113 municipalities and school districts—which have altogether some 85,000 employees. The activity of this department is constantly growing, particularly in the face of rapid turnover of personnel at all levels. It is becoming increasingly difficult to eliminate the huge backlog of civil service examinations. These should be held promptly if the State and its subdivisions are to have an adequate labor force. Funds have been recommended which, I hope, will place us in a current position.

A State Development Plan

The Division of Planning and Development in the Department of Conservation and Economic Development is one of the most difficult to administer because of the scores of functions for which it is responsible. In one of its most acute areas, that of planning, funds have been recommended to prepare effectively a State development plan to assist in the planning for industrial growth and to provide more adequate local planning assistance.

The program for proper maintenance and care of our forests and parks can be expedited by the provision of funds for seasonal employees rather than full-year salaried positions. It is believed that this budgeting concept will better fulfill our needs. I recommend doubling to $100,000 the appropriation for ground water investigation and research now being undertaken by the Division of Water Policy and Supply. This should enable us to make fuller use of the ground water resources of the State.

In the Field of Health

The Department of Health needs increased appropriations to carry out its functions in the field of radiological and occupational health, as well as for air sanitation and in the general field of public health.

Out of an appropriation of $570,000 made in 1956 for the purchase of poliomyelitis vaccine, we have been able to save almost the entire sum through the use of Federal grants subsequently made available for the same purpose. I am, therefore, recommending that there be appropriated out of these unexpended balances the sum of $32,000 to establish additional clinics under the alcoholism program and the sum of $68,000 for the purpose of operating a virology program to provide laboratory facilities needed to identify causative agents of viral diseases. This will help us to prevent epidemics.

In addition, $82,500 of these balances is being recommended for the purchase of poliomyelitis vaccine in 1957-58 should Federal grants not be available for this purpose next year.

$75,000 is provided for the increasing cost of hospital care for crippled children.

Treasury

Some additional funds are reflected in the Department of the Treasury to enable it to carry on the critical functions it must perform. In the Division of Budget and Accounting, provision is made to handle effectively its vast automated checkwriting, reconciliation and cash control duties, as well as to help develop its new workload method of justifying Budget requests.

The purchasing operations of the Division of Purchase and Property also needs to be kept at a current level in processing the thousands of items it buys for all our State departments. In the Bureau of Construction, the backlog of uncompleted projects for which appropriations have already been made must be cleaned up.

Taxation, Investments and Pensions

The Division of Taxation is not without its problems considering the load which it has been called upon to bear through passage of tax programs of the past. In particular, its Local Property Tax Bureau is rapidly coming to grips with its responsibility for preparing an annual table of equalized valuations as well as in assisting local tax assessors to obtain a more equitable distribution of the local tax burden. Funds are being recommended to handle these tasks.

Because of the huge and still mounting portfolio under the jurisdiction of the Division of Investment, security analysis and control require increased costs.

Our new Division of Pensions, with its many-faceted operations covering all pension funds and its integrated social security provisions for employees at every level of government in the State, continues to demand attention because of its expanding programs and annually increasing number of pensioners and members.

To Aid Agriculture

Included in the recommendations for the Department of Agriculture are funds for needed services to New Jersey's one and one-half billion dollar poultry industry, to improve adult fairs, boys and girls 4-H exhibits and other farm shows and exhibits. Also in high priority are funds to this department to finance the operations of the Rural Advisory Committee.

Because agriculture remains the chief source of income in certain counties and an important source in many others, we must maintain its economy, affected by a rapid trend toward urbanization in this State. The impact of this trend on rural areas, moreover, is occurring when agriculture is not receiving a return commensurate with that of other groups. Faced with reduced market returns and inadequate aid under the Federal Farm Program, New Jersey's farmers need assistance with their problems. The Rural Advisory Committee should appraise and survey the situation in line with the State master plan and make recommendations to achieve the most efficient use of our agricultural resources.

Capital Improvements

I have already referred to the request of the various departments for the need of funds for capital improvements. It should be obvious that such improvements in many areas are a practical necessity. The serious lack of funds, however, makes it impossible for me to recommend many of the needed buildings for expanding facilities throughout the State.

As I have pointed out in this message, funds have been provided for certain projects which cannot be deferred to a future year. In the case of the State University, the $1,000,000 recommended for the biology building represents only the first installment. Subsequent Budgets must of necessity provide the remaining funds necessary to complete this project. The $1,000,000 recommended for capital improvements at the various institutions and agencies of the State also represents an installment against the total funds needed to protect our multi-million dollar investment in these various areas.

Office Building Needs

On numerous occasions in the past, I have presented to the Legislature the necessity for coming to grips with the problem of office space for departments in the City of Trenton. As you know, facilities now in use by the Department of Health would be condemned if they were operated by private agencies. The State Department of Education is hard-pressed to find adequate seating space for its employees in the Trenton offices. The Division of Employment Security in Trenton is presently operating in various inconvenient locations. We are spending more than one million dollars for rent in the Trenton area alone.

How to Finance Them

After providing for the purchase of Round Valley out of the Veterans' Guaranteed Loan Fund, there will be sums in excess of $4,000,000 left in this fund. This money, together with Federal funds available to the Department of Health under the Hill-Burton Act, will provide sufficient resources to erect either new buildings or additional office space for the Departments of Health and Education. Funds presently available in the Unemployment Compensation Auxiliary Fund, together with Federal funds available to the Department of Labor and Industry, will provide sufficient moneys to erect a building for this department.

I strongly recommend that the Legislature again review the office building problems and take steps to appropriate dedicated moneys for these urgently needed facilities.

Other Projects

I am not providing, in this Budget, any funds for the construction of new motor vehicle testing stations or for new armories for the National Guard. Funds for these purposes should be completely utilized before additional moneys are recommended. The operation of the present "drive-in" facilities for testing motor vehicles appears to be very satisfactory. With the continued use of these facilities, it may be unnecessary for the State to continue its building program for additional motor vehicle testing stations. However, we still need regional centers for driver examinations, clinics and agencies.

A review of the requests from the Department of Education for additional facilities at the various Teachers' Colleges; the State University for additional facilities for higher education; and the Department of Institutions and Agencies for additional facilities in caring for the mentally retarded and youthful offenders, places upon us the burden of long-range planning. New Jersey is a dynamic State. As our population increases, new capital facilities must be provided. These facilities cannot be built from present revenues.

CONCLUSION

I have given you highlights of the Budget for the coming fiscal year and trust that you will give my recommendations thoughtful consideration in the light of all the facts. It has been the constant aim of this administration to keep the State's house in trim order, and to use the taxpayers' money with all possible thrift and prudence, bearing always in mind that this is a sacred trust. It has also been the aim of this administration to keep abreast of modern thought and practice in every field relating to State Government—but to avoid grandiose proposals and circus performances.

By constitutional mandate, the Budget must be balanced. This Budget is balanced. Like Mr. and Mrs. Housekeeper, we have planned future expenses and fitted them into estimated future revenues. New Jersey's economy, thank God, is extremely strong and the State Government enjoys the highest possible financial rating. With good management, courage and vision to meet the problems confronting us, we can move forward with robust confidence.

Respectively submitted,

ROBERT B. MEYNER,
Governor of New Jersey.

Attest:

BRENDAN T. BYRNE,
Acting Secretary to the Governor.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
March 25, 1957.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 31

To the General Assembly:

I am returning herewith Assembly Bill No. 31, without my approval, for the following reasons:

This bill would add to the State Highway System the portion of Cape May County Road No. 585 which extends from Route No. 9 at Burleigh to the northeasterly line of the city of North Wildwood. Twice before I have refused to approve bills that would add roads in this county to the State Highway System. See messages on Assembly Bill No. 30 (1954) and Assembly Bill No. 301 (1956). On those occasions, it was pointed out that the State already had substantial responsibilities in this county and that lack of funds prohibits the expansion of these responsibilities.

At present, the State maintains Route No. 9, which is the principal artery into Cape May County. It is also responsible for Route No. 47 which crosses Route 9 and goes directly into Wildwood and the peninsula on which North and South Wildwood are situated.

The Highway Department has informed me that the part of Cape May County Road No. 585 which this bill would require the State to take over is in extremely poor condition. The minimum cost of modernizing this section of road has been estimated to be $4,000,000.00.

I have stressed the desirability of more modern and better highways on numerous occasions. In my recent Budget Message, I stated that there is a "vital necessity of providing revenues by which the State will be able to get its full share of future Federal contributions as well as to take care of pressing intrastate needs". The State's responsibility, however, for highway construction should not be expanded at a time when it is incapable of meeting existing obligations.

It may be noted that although Cape May County needs two Cape May Canal Bridges, the State has not been able to finance these improvements because of the lack of funds.

Assembly Bill No. 31, by increasing the State's obligation in this county would only serve to defer those bridge projects.

For these reasons, I am returning herewith Assembly Bill No. 31 without my approval.

Respectfully,

[SEAL] ROBERT B. MEYNER,
Attest: Governor.

BRENDAN T. BYRNE,
Acting Secretary to the Governor.

Mr. Smith moved that the message be spread in full upon the minutes.

Which motion was adopted.

A message was received from the Secretary of the Senate as follows—and was read by the Clerk:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, Through Federal grant-in-aid programs the Federal Government by extravagant and unnecessary spending is forcing New Hampshire also to spend extravagantly to match and thus obtain back part of its own money; and

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE FOR ASSEMBLY BILL No. 287

To the General Assembly:

I am returning Committee Substitute for Assembly Bill No. 287 herewith, without my approval for the following reasons:

This bill provides that whenever the holder of any office, position or employment with the State or any county, municipality, school district or other public agency is entitled to annual or vacation leave of absence with pay, the employing agency may provide for the payment in advance of the compensation payable for the period of the leave of absence. The payment would be made on the regular payroll date immediately preceding the commencement of the leave of absence.

The excessive additional administrative burdens and additional costs which would be placed upon the State preclude my approval of this measure. Approximately 26,500 persons are paid on each bi-weekly payroll date through the facilities of the State's Division of Budget and Accounting and Department of the Treasury. I am advised that the bulk of these employees take their vacations between June 1 and September 30, during which there are some nine payroll periods. Payroll checks are prepared on business machines and issued through the central Payroll Section.

The Division of Budget and Accounting informs me that the implications of issuing double checks for the number of employees concerned during these nine payroll periods are staggering in view of the payroll audits, key punch operations, sorting and re-sorting, tabulating, listing and allied operations involved, and the necessity for adding the additional pay to current payrolls and then deleting any pay whatsoever for particular employees on the succeeding payrolls during the vacation period. Moreover, during these periods, the personnel offices of the various departments as well as the Centralized Payroll Bureau are operating with restricted staffs because of vacations within the ranks of their own personnel.

Further, complications would arise in connection with Social Security reports which must be made on a cash payment basis.

The cost to the State of these additional administrative burdens cannot readily be ascertained, but I am advised that it would be substantial. Similar additional burdens and costs would be imposed on municipalities and other public employers.

I am informed that there is comparatively little sentiment among public employees for payment of vacation benefits in advance and such as there was seems to have diminished with the adoption of the program under which salaries are paid every other week. Most seem to prefer the present system, under which their compensation is paid at regular payroll periods during their vacation. Whatever temporary advantage might be gained by the comparatively few public employees who would like vacation pay in advance is more than offset by the tremendous burden and cost which such a program would entail.

It may also be noted that the bill fails to make any provision for amending existing provisions of the law which require each employing unit to certify that the employee has rendered services during the period covered by the payroll. (See R. S. 11:16–1; R. S. 11:22–20).

For these reasons, I am constrained to return Committee Substitute for Assembly Bill No. 287 without my approval.

Respectfully submitted,

[SEAL] ROBERT B. MEYNER,
Attest: Governor.

Acting Secretary to the Governor.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 337

To the General Assembly:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 337 for the following reasons:

This bill would amend the present law (P. L. 1954, c. 221) which requires the addition of the words "Garden State" on all passenger car motor vehicle registration license plates on the next general issue of such plates. This bill would require the inclusion of those words upon the issue of any replacement plates.

Chapter 221 of the Public Laws of 1954, which for the first time provided for imprinting of the words "Garden State" on passenger car motor vehicle registration license plates, was predicated on the expectation set forth in the following language in the statement of purposes affixed to Assembly Bill No. 454 of the 1954 Session which became P. L. 1954, c. 221:

> "In April of 1956 there will be a general re-issue of motor vehicle license plates and it is anticipated they will be larger than the present plates in conformity with recommendations of the Interstate Traffic Code.
> "Preparation of the 1956 licenses will commence at the end of this year."

But this expectation has not been realized despite the recommendation of the Division of Motor Vehicles and the Executive Department. The Joint Appropriations Committee of the 1956 Legislature, over the strong opposition of its minority members, eliminated moneys required for such general issue and decreed that there should be no further general issue of license plates and that the 2 then current types of passenger license plates with 1956 inserts be continued until such time as individual plates are so defaced as to require replacement.

The majority of the Committee insisted that a larger new size type of plate be prepared by the Motor Vehicle Division in the same color as the old plate and that they be issued only in replacement for defaced old plates and to those purchasers of automobiles who did not have an existing set of plates. Thus the majority of the Committee, by means of a reduction, continued 2 old types of license plates, created a third, and prescribed a cumbersome and costly method of replacing the 2 old types with the new. The effect of this shortsighted action, taken against the advice of career officials of the Division of Motor Vehicles of long experience, is sadly known.

Hundreds of thousands of worn and damaged plates continue to be used on the cars of New Jersey motorists. Some of the ridiculous combinations of letters and numbers on the old types of plates must be continued indefinitely—combinations such as VZ 1S3—making identification for police purposes difficult. Law enforcement authorities have been understandably confused and our motorists have been stopped, detained and even arrested in other states whose officials cannot quite comprehend why a New Jersey motorist must bear a 1956 plate in 1957.

Thousands of new third type of license plate have been issued in this State in accordance with the plan devised by the legislative majority. Approval of this bill would create a fourth type of license plate for passenger cars registered in New Jersey, a course which is obviously contrary to the best interest of the public. Such action could only cause more confusion of law enforcement officers and subject our motorists to greater harassment and inconvenience.

The motorists of New Jersey are entitled to a solution to this problem. The only solution is a new general issue of license plates to replace the current 3 types. Under Chapter 221 of the Public Laws of 1954, this general issue would bear the words "Garden State". This to me is the proper way to accomplish the objective of those who sponsored this bill.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning Assembly Bill No. 337 herewith, without my approval.

Respectfully submitted,

Attest: Governor.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 458

To the General Assembly:

I am returning Assembly Bill No. 458 herewith, without my approval, for the following reasons:

This bill would permit the Judge of the County Court presiding over the county district court in any county having between 95,000 and 130,000 inhabitants to, from time to time, appoint not more than 2 assistant sergeants-at-arms who would have the powers and duties of a constable and would receive their entire compensation from fees allowed by the court for service of process.

Under the existing law, applicable to all county district courts, the judge of the court, and in courts having branch parts the presiding judge, may appoint one or more sergeants-at-arms who, among other things, are vested with all the rights, privileges, powers and duties of a constable. Such appointments are required to be made in accordance with the provisions of the civil service law. (N. J. S. 2A:6-25).

This bill would, in fact, apply only to the district court of Somerset County, the only county having between 95,000 and 130,000 inhabitants. No reasonable or logical reason is advanced for treatment of the county district courts of this one county differently than the county district courts of the other 20 counties of the State. Nor is there any reason why the law should permit "assistant" sergeants-at-arms to be appointed in Somerset County without compliance with the provisions of the civil service law while requiring such compliance in the remainder of the State.

If additional help is needed to serve summons and execute writs out of the Somerset County District Court, there is ample provision in the present law by which such assistance can be had. See, for example, N. J. S. 2A:6–25 which would, however, require the appointment to be made pursuant to the provisions of the civil service law; and see R. S. 40:41–35 which permits the appointment of constables who would be authorized to service process and execute writs receiving as compensation the fees provided by statute.

In view of this basic objection to the bill there is no need to discuss technical questions arising from ambiguous language in the bill.

Accordingly, I am returning herewith Assembly Bill No. 458 without my approval.

Respectfully submitted,

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 531

To the General Assembly:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 531 for the following reasons:

This bill would amend Section 5 of the General Non-Contributory Pension Act (P. L. 1955, c. 263). It would permit an employee who has attained the age of 70 and who has been employed by the employer for at least 30 years, to obtain a pension of 50% of his final salary without deduction for or regard to the Social Security Old Age Insurance benefit for which the employee is or could be eligible.

The General Non-Contributory Pension Act was adopted pursuant to recommendations contained in the First Report of the Commission to Study Non-Contributory Pensions established under P. L. 1954, J. R. 7. On page 6 of the report it was noted:

> "The Commission feels that the public employer should be assisted by the Social Security program in meeting the financial obligations of the proposed uniform non-contributory pension act. Since the new program extends to public employees vastly improved > protection for dependents and beneficiaries, it is recommended that the Social Security benefit payable to employee directly at age 65 should be deducted from the amount of pension payable by the employer. Thus taxpayer liabilities would be decreased and the public employee would have a well-rounded benefit program which would represent a vast improvement over the pre-Social Security period."

In making specific recommendation on page 7 with respect to a General Non-Contributory Pension Act, the fourth specific item was:

> "4. That the pension payable be reduced by the amount of the Social Security Old-Age Insurance benefit to which the employee could be eligible. This would not affect Social Security payments to dependents or beneficiaries."

After Assembly Bill No. 511, 1955, which became P. L. 1955, c. 263, passed the Legislature, it was returned by the Governor on August 8, 1955, with recommendations for amendment. Among the amendments recommended and adopted was one to clarify certain language so that there would be no doubt but that Social Security benefits would be deducted from the amount of the pension granted by the local public employer.

Assembly Bill No. 531 would change the policy recommended by the special commission on non-contributory pensions and adopted by P. L. 1955, c. 263. The bill would establish a precedent contrary to the established policy now in effect not only with respect to the Non-Contributory Pension Act but also in the other pension systems recently revised or established.

The bill would eliminate the Social Security deduction only for a limited group of public employees, namely, those over 70 years of age who have been employed at least 30 years. There is no valid reason for establishing such a special category within the terms of the existing law. Moreover, past legislative experience makes it apparent that a process of erosion would commence to reduce the requirements of 70 years of age and 30 years of service.

The policy of recent years has been to eliminate special pension bills for particular individuals or limited groups. I cannot subscribe to a reversal of that salutary trend.

For these reasons, I am returning Assembly Bill No. 531 herewith, without my approval.

Respectfully submitted,

[SEAL] ROBERT B. MEYNER,
Attest: Governor.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 166

To the General Assembly:

Pursuant to Article V, Section I, paragraph 14(b) of the Constitution, I am returning Assembly Bill No. 166 herewith, with my objections for reconsideration.

This bill would supplement the Disorderly Persons Act so as to provide that any person under the age of 21 years who knowingly possesses or consumes any intoxicating liquor in any public place or place of public assembly or in any motor vehicle is a disorderly person. Punishment is specified as a fine of not more than $100.00 or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than 30 days, or both. The bill specifically excludes from its application possession of intoxicating liquor by any person actually engaged in the performance of employment pursuant to an employment permit issued by the Director of the Division of Alcoholic Beverage Control. It may be noted that N. J. S. 2A:4–14 preserves the jurisdiction of the Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court over offenses by persons under 18 years of age.

While I approve of the objective of this measure, there are, unfortunately, several technical defects in the bill. In the second line of section 1, reference is made to "intoxicating liquor". This term is neither defined by statute nor judicially construed in this State. Apparently what is sought to be encompassed by that term are liquors which our statutes generally refer to as "alcoholic beverage", a term which is defined in R. S. 33:1–1(b) and construed in Holmes v. Cavicchia, 29 N. J. Super, 434 (App. Div., 1954). Substitution of the words "alcoholic beverage" for the words "intoxicating liquor" would make the bill more definite and certain.

The offenses described in Assembly Bill No. 166 are in part already offenses under 2 existing sections of our law. See R. S. 33:1–81 and P. L. 1954, c. 147 (N. J. S. A. 2A:170–25.3). The penalty for the violation of R. S. 33:1–81 is a $50.00 fine without any jail sentence. The penalty for violating the 1954 act is a $50.00 fine or imprisonment for not more than 30 days, or both. In the interest of uniformity, it would appear desirable that the maximum fine under this bill be fixed at $50.00.

While permittee-minors are exempt, no similar exemption is provided for minors employed in bona fide restaurants and hotels who under special circumstances set forth in R. S. 33:1–26 are not required to obtain permits.

For these reasons, I am returning Assembly Bill No. 166 for reconsideration and with a recommendation that the bill be amended as follows:

On page 1, section 1, line 2, delete the words "intoxicating liquor" and insert in lieu thereof "alcoholic beverage".

On page 1, section 1, line 4, delete "$100.00" and insert in lieu thereof "$50.00".

On page 1, section 1, line 6, delete the words "intoxicating liquor" and insert in lieu thereof "alcoholic beverage".

On page 1, section 1, line 7, after the word "any" insert the word "such".

On page 1, section 1, line 9, after the word "Control" insert the words ", or for a bona fide hotel or restaurant,".

Respectfully,

[SEAL] ROBERT B. MEYNER,
Attest: Governor.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 406

To the General Assembly:

Pursuant to Article V, Section I, paragraph 14(b) of the Constitution, I am returning Assembly Bill No. 406 herewith, with my objections, for reconsideration.

This bill would amend Section 40:25–2 of the Revised Statutes which prohibits a county from entering into a contract for the doing of work or the furnishing of materials, supplies or labor, where the sum to be expended exceeds $2,500.00, without first publicly advertising for bids therefore, and which requires that the contract be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. The proposed amendment would add a proviso to eliminate the requirement for such advertising "where the contract to be entered into is one with a public utility subject to the jurisdiction of the Board of Public Utility Commissioners of this State."

I am advised that the purpose of the sponsors of this bill was to clarify the advertising requirement where the service to be contracted for is the furnishing of electric, gas or similar service by a public utility authorized to furnish such service in the area, because in such case, since the rates charged are filed with the Board of Public Utility Commissioners, advertising for bids serves no useful purpose and causes needless expense.

But the amendatory language in the bill would have a scope and effect beyond that intended. It would eliminate the advertising requirement in cases where the articles to be furnished or the service to be rendered are properly the subject of competitive bidding, merely because the contract is entered into with a public utility. So, for example, various public utilities which furnish electric and gas service also engage in the business of selling articles and appliances of various kinds in competition with companies which are not public utilities. Yet, under the terms of this bill, advertising could be eliminated with respect to those items if they were purchased from a public utility. Competing merchants would thus be barred from the opportunity of submitting bids.

The objective of the sponsors of the bill can be accomplished and the objectionable features eliminated by the amendments hereinafter recommended.

Accordingly, I am returning Assembly Bill No. 406 for reconsideration, with the recommendation that amendments be made to the bill as follows:

On page 1, section 1, line 13, delete the word "with" and insert in lieu thereof the words "for the supplying of any product or the rendering of any service by".

On page 1, section 1, line 14, after the word "State" insert the following: " and tariffs and schedules of the charges, made, charged, or exacted by the public utility for any such products to be supplied or services to be rendered are filed with the said Board".

Respectfully,

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 407

To the General Assembly:

Pursuant to Article V, Section I, paragraph 14(b) of the Constitution, I am returning Assembly Bill No. 407 herewith, with my objections, for reconsideration.

This bill is a companion measure to Assembly Bill No. 406 and would amend Section 40:50–1 of the Revised Statutes which prohibits a municipality from entering into a contract for the doing of work or the furnishing of materials, supplies or labor, where the sum to be expended exceeds $2,500.00, without first publicly advertising for bids therefor, and which requires that the contract be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. It would eliminate the advertising requirement in cases where the articles to be furnished or the service to be rendered are properly the subject of competitive bidding, merely because the contract is entered into with a public utility. So, for example, various public utilities which furnish electric and gas service also engage in the business of selling articles and appliances of various kinds in competition with companies which are not public utilities. Yet, under the terms of this bill, advertising could be eliminated with respect to those items if they were purchased from a public utility. Competing merchants would thus be barred from the opportunity of submitting bids.

The objective of the sponsors of the bill can be accomplished and the objectionable features eliminated by the amendments hereinafter recommended.

Accordingly, I am returning Assembly Bill No. 407 herewith for reconsideration, with the recommendation that amendments be made to the bill as follows:

On page 1, section 1, line 9, delete the word "with" and insert in lieu thereof the words "for the supplying of any product or the rendering of any service by".

On page 1, section 1, line 10, after the word "State" insert the following: "and tariffs and schedules of the charges, made, charged, or exacted by the public utility for any such products to be supplied or services to be rendered are filed with the said Board''.

Respectfully,

Acting Secretary to the Governor.

Mr. Mills ordered that the message be spread in full upon the Minutes.

The Clerk read the following message from the Governor:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
December 2, 1957.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 427

To the General Assembly:

Pursuant to Article V, Section I, paragraph 14(b) of the Constitution, I am returning Assembly Bill No. 427 herewith, with my objections for reconsideration.

This bill would amend section 19:4–1 of the Revised Statutes, the provision of the election law which now denies the right of suffrage to persons convicted of certain specified crimes, including the crime of larceny of above the value of $20.00. Under the proposed amendment, (1) a person hereafter convicted of larceny would be disenfranchised only if the larceny was above the value of $200.00, and (2) a person convicted since October 15, 1948 of larceny of above the value of $20.00 but under $200.00 would have his right of suffrage restored. Those convicted of larceny above the value of $6.00 prior to October 6, 1948 would still be barred from voting.

Assembly Bill No. 427, in providing that future convictions of larceny should result in the loss of suffrage only if they involve above the value of $200.000 would, in effect, limit such disenfranchisement to cases where the larceny conviction is of a high misdemeanor. Although persuasive arguments may be advanced for a correlation between the provisions of the election law and those of the criminal law so that loss of suffrage will result from a larceny conviction only when it is a high misdemeanor and not when it is a misdemeanor, such correlation has existed in our State during only 3 years of the 113 years which have elapsed since the adoption of the Constitution of 1844.

Under our crimes law, larceny may be either a misdemeanor or a high misdemeanor depending on the value of the property which is the subject matter of the larceny. The value which constituted the dividing line between a misdemeanor and a high misdemeanor was $6.00 from 1796 until 1820. In 1820, the dividing amount was changed to $20.00, at which amount it remained until January 1, 1952 when it was increased to $50.00. This year, by Chapter 56 of the Laws of 1957, it was increased to $200.00.

But the law determining what convictions of larceny should result in the loss of suffrage has not, except for the period from October 5, 1948 to January 1, 1952, limited such effect to larceny convictions constituting high misdemeanors.

From 1844 until the adoption of the 1947 Constitution, the question of whether conviction of a particular crime resulted in disenfranchisement was governed by the provisions of the State Constitution and were not subject to change by legislative act. Crimes barring a person from voting were those which, at the time of the adoption of the 1844 Constitution, excluded the convicted person from being a witness. Included among those crimes was larceny of above the value of $6.00. This disenfranchising provision was changed for the first time in over 100 years on October 5, 1948, when P. L. 1948, c. 438 became effective. Enacted pursuant to the power granted the Legislature by Article II, paragraph 7 of the 1947 Constitution:

> "The Legislature may pass laws to deprive persons of the right of suffrage who shall be convicted of such crimes as it may designate. Any person so deprived, when pardoned or otherwise restored by law to the right of suffrage, shall again enjoy that right.", that act amended R. S. 19:4–1, to among other things bar the right of suffrage to (1) persons who theretofore had been convicted of larceny of above the value of $6.00 and (2) to persons who thereafter were convicted of larceny of above the value of $20.00, a high misdemeanor. The 1948 act did not, as does the present bill, seek to affect prior convictions of larceny.

But the correlation between the election law and the crimes act was short lived, for as of January 1, 1952, the dividing line amount in the criminal law was changed to $50.00 but that in the election law remained at $20.00.

In 1955, R. S. 19:4–1 (the election law) was amended to add to the list of crimes, conviction for which would result in loss of the right of suffrage. But no change was made in its provisions relating to larceny convictions. Nor was any attempt made in the 1955 law to affect prior convictions which had resulted in loss of the right of suffrage.

Despite this history, I find no reason to object to so much of the bill as would amend R. S. 19:4–1 to provide that future convictions of larceny shall not result in loss of suffrage if they do not involve above the value of $200.00, high misdemeanors under the provisions of the crimes law as amended by P. L. 1957, c. 56.

But I cannot concur in so much of the proposed amendment as purports, by legislative act, to restore the right of suffrage to persons who had forfeited it since October 15, 1948 as the result of convictions of larceny above the value of $20.00, merely because the larcenies had not involved above the value of $200.00.

Altogether apart from the serious constitutional questions involved in an attempted restoration of those rights by legislative act—the Constitution vests the pardoning power, which includes the lesser power of restoration of the right of suffrage, in the Governor and not in the Legislature (See In re Court of Pardons, 97 N. J. Eq. 555 (1925))—no persuasive reasons appear to justify such unprecedented blanket restoration of voting rights to persons who lost them because of criminal convictions.

Further, if such blanket legislative restoration of rights is justified, why should there be excluded therefrom persons convicted prior to October 15, 1948 of larceny of above the value of $6.00 but not of above the value of $200.00?

Accordingly, I am returning herewith Assembly Bill No. 427 for reconsideration and with the recommendation that, to clarify the present law as well as to incorporate the recommendations made herein, amendments be made to the bill as follows:

On page 1, section 1, lines 11 to 16, delete subsection (2) in its entirety.

On page 2, section 1, lines 17 to 27, delete subsection (3) in its entirety, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"(2) Who has been or shall be convicted of any of the following designated crimes, that is to say—blasphemy, treason, murder, piracy, arson, rape, sodomy, or the infamous crime against nature, committed with mankind or with beast, robbery, conspiracy, forgery, perjury or subornation of perjury, unless pardoned or restored by law to the right of suffrage; or

"(3) Who was convicted prior to October 6, 1948 of the crime of polygamy or of larceny of above the value of $6.00; or, who was convicted after October 5, 1948 and prior to the effective date of this act, of larceny of above the value of $20.00; or,

"(4) Who shall hereafter be convicted of the crime of larceny of the value of $200.00 or more, unless pardoned or restored by law to the right of suffrage; or

"(5) Who was convicted after October 5, 1948 or shall be convicted of the crime of bigamy or of burglary or of any offense described in Chapter 94 of Title 2A or Section 2A:102–1 or Section 2A:102–4 of the New Jersey Statutes or described in Sections 24:18–4 and 24:18–47 of the Revised Statutes, unless pardoned or restored by law to the right of suffrage; or".

Respectfully,

[SEAL] ROBERT B. MEYNER,
Governor.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
December 16, 1957.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 486

To the General Assembly:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 486 for the following reasons:

Assembly Bill No. 486 would supplement Chapter 56 of Title 40 of the Revised Statutes which authorizes a municipality to undertake certain works as a local improvement, i.e., "one, the cost of which, or a portion thereof, may be assessed upon the lands in the vicinity thereof benefited thereby" (R. S. 40:56–1).

The bill provides that whenever a trunk or lateral sanitary sewer or distribution or lateral water main is constructed by a municipality as a local improvement, and shall extend, wholly or in part, "along or through farm land or other open country, not in use for residential, commercial or industrial purposes", the governing body of the municipality, in its discretion, may provide in the ordinance authorizing the improvement that the special benefits therefrom to any part of said lands along or through which the sewer or water mains extend shall not be assessed until such part of said lands is connected with the sewer or water main or is subdivided for the purpose of development. When such event happens the assessment for benefits is to be proceeded with in accordance with the existing statutory law but no assessment is to be imposed after 20 years from completion of such sewer or water main. Finally, the bill provides that when any benefit from such sewer or water main shall be extended to other lands by the construction of a lateral sewer or water main, the lands to which such benefit shall be so extended shall be assessed for such benefits.

Whether or not construction work which may be undertaken as a local improvement is to be done as a local improvement or alternatively is to be paid for out of funds raised by general taxation is a decision which our law leaves to the governing body of the municipality (R. S. 40:56–1). So, too, where the work is to be done as a local improvement, the law leaves to the governing body the decision as to what portion of the cost thereof is to be assessed upon the lands in the vicinity thereof benefited thereby.

But once that determination is made, both the statute law and considerations of fairness and equality of treatment require that all lands benefited by the improvement shall bear their respective proportionate parts of the cost thereof after deducting the portion thereof being contributed by the municipality. (Hills v. Rahway, 29 N. J. Super. 16, 23 App. Div. 1953).

So, R. S. 40:56–26 requires that the board or commission making the assessment for benefits shall make "a just and equitable assessment of the benefits conferred upon any real estate by reason of such improvement having due regard to the rights and interests of all persons concerned, as well as to the value of real estate benefited."; and R. S. 40:56–27 provides:

> "All assessments levied under this chapter for any local improvement shall in each case be as nearly as may be in proportion to and not in excess of the peculiar benefit, advantage or increase in value which the respective lots and parcels of real estate shall be deemed to receive by reason of such improvement."

Each parcel of real estate whose value is enhanced by construction of an improvement such as a sewer or water main is required to and should bear and pay its proportionate share, no more and no less, of the total benefits to be assessed against the properties affected. There is no justification for permitting the governing body of a municipality to exempt or postpone assessment against property so benefited and enhanced in value merely because it is part of "farm land or other open country not in use for residential, commercial or industrial purposes", thus discriminating against the other benefited properties as well as the taxpayers of the municipality.

As was said by the Appellate Division in In re Public Service Electric and Gas Co., 18 N. J. Super. 357 (1952) at p. 363:

> "* * * The whole theory of local taxation or assessments is that the improvements for which they are levied afford a remuneration in the way of benefits. Whether the property has been specially benefited by an improvement is generally regarded a question of fact, depending on the circumstances in each case, for the determination of the proper tribunal. The broad question is whether the general value of the property has been enhanced, not whether its present owner receives advantage."

"The fact that the company has no present actual need of the new sewer, because of the present sewer connection of its property, does not denote that its property has not received a present benefit from the new sewer. Beazley v. Twp. of Moorestown, 3 N. J. Super. 535 (Law Div. 1949). The test is whether the improvement has enhanced the market value of the company's property, the proceeding being against the property and the benefits or the increased value of the property by the improvement (citing cases).

"The fundamental rule is to regulate the assessment in accordance with any use to which the property can legitimately be put. Wilson v. Ocean City, 11 N. J. Misc. 325 (Sup. Ct. 1933), affirmed 112 N. J. L. 97 (E. & A. 1934). Where the property may be converted to any new use, it is difficult to consider upon what principle an exception can be made as to the rule regarding only the market value."

If "farm land or other open country" receives a "peculiar benefit, advantage or increase in value" by reason of an improvement, it should be assessed therefor in the same manner, at the same time and in the same proportion as the other properties specially benefited. Payment of those assessments should be required at the same time or times as are assessments on other property. To adopt the contrary policy of this bill would be to permit discriminatory assessments in violation of the basic policy requiring equality of treatment.

So much of the bill as relates to the assessments to be made for benefits from the extension of the sewer or water main to other lands by the construction of a lateral sewer or water main deals with a matter distinct from the main purpose of the bill. Existing law, R. S. 40:56–52, permits municipalities to make assessments in specified situations where the benefits of a sewer system are so extended. If need exists for grant of such power in the case of water mains, legislative provision can be made therefor.

Finally, it should be noted that the language of the bill is confusing and ambiguous. So, for example, reference is made to "farm land or other open country" without any attempt to define those terms. Nor does the bill indicate how much of a particular parcel of such property must be used for residential, commercial or industrial purposes before the entire parcel is eliminated from the scope of the act. However, in view of the basic policy objections, there is no need to elaborate on these and other ambiguities in the bill.

I am, therefore, returning Assembly Bill No. 486 herewith, without my approval.

Respectfully,

[SEAL] ROBERT B. MEYNER,

Governor.

Attest:

BRENDAN T. BYRNE,
Acting Secretary to the Governor.

Mr. Mills ordered that the message be spread in full upon the Minutes.

The Clerk read the following message from the Governor:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
December 16, 1957.

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 434

To the General Assembly:

I am returning herewith Assembly Bill No. 434, without my approval, for the following reasons:

This bill would authorize the Borough of Totowa to pay to a named retired chief of police an amount which, when added to his pension from the Consolidated Police and Firemen's Pension Fund Commission, would give him a total pension of $2,500.00 per annum, provided the additional amount does not exceed $1,000.00 annually. The Borough may provide for this additional payment by resolution.

The individual named in this bill was retired on January 1, 1949, at the age of 66. He received a full pension in the amount of one-half of his salary, or $1,483.00. There is nothing unusual in this case and there are no factors involved which would distinguish the situation of the named individual from that of any of the other retirants from the Consolidated Police and Firemen's Pension Fund.

I recognize that the pension which this individual receives is low based upon present standards. The small size of the pension, however, is attributable to the size of the salary being paid by the Borough to its chief of police immediately prior to his retirement.

I have recognized the hardships endured by the many retired public employees who, after many years of public service, are now obliged to subsist on inadequate pensions. Last year I appointed a special committee to study this problem. This committee submitted a preliminary report outlining proposed plans for increasing inadequate pensions. Copies of that report were furnished to all members of the Legislature. I discussed the report on several occasions with the members of the legislative conference but no satisfactory understanding concerning the proposals referred to in the report has been reached. A draft of a bill embodying the minimum recommendations of this report will doubtless be considered by the Legislature.

If the legislation proposed by the committee which studied the overall problem of inadequate pensions is adopted, its benefits would be available to the individual named by Assembly Bill No. 434. I cannot approve of special legislation to take care of one particular individual whose case is indistinguishable from that of other members of the Consolidated Police and Firemen's Pension Fund who have retired.

For these reasons, I am returning herewith, without my approval, Assembly Bill No. 434.

Respectfully,

[SEAL] ROBERT B. MEYNER,
Attest: Governor.

BRENDAN T. BYRNE,
Acting Secretary to the Governor.

Mr. Mills ordered that the message be spread in full upon the Minutes.

The Clerk read the following message from the Governor:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,

ASSEMBLY BILL No. 399

To the General Assembly:

Pursuant to Article V, Section I, paragraph 14(b) of the Constitution, I am returning Assembly Bill No. 399 herewith, with my objections for reconsideration.

This bill would amend and supplement P. L. 1948, c. 310 which established the Passaic County Employees' Retirement System. It would eliminate the $5,000.00 maximum limitation upon the amount of salary of employees which is considered for pension purposes. At the present time, a majority of the members of this retirement system make contributions and receive benefits based upon this salary limitation. Other members of the retirement system who were members of small county-administered retirement systems which were absorbed by the present system have no such limitation. In addition, the bill makes provision for purchase of prior service credit to the extent that salaries exceeded the $5,000.00 limit. Another amendment would permit the board of freeholders of the county, in order to insure the present and future financial soundness and solvency of the fund to appropriate sums in addition to their present contribution of 5% of the employees' salary and pension payments.

I have no objection to the removal of the present limitation on the amount of salary considered for pension purposes. The present trend in retirement systems throughout the country is toward the elimination of arbitrary limitations of salary in the computation of retirement benefits. This amendment, however, would not only increase the retirement benefits of the members themselves but would also remove any limitation upon the widows' benefits. While the removal of the limitation as to members themselves is in accord with the benefits of other retirement systems in this State, the effect of Assembly Bill No. 399 on widows' benefits would be to impose a substantial greater cost on the pension fund and provide benefits much more liberal than those payable by other systems. Under established pension policies, limitations on widows' benefits are provided either by way of a reduction in the benefits payable to the retired member or by specific monetary limitations. For these reasons I am recommending that the present limitation as to widows' benefits be retained. I am advised that the proponents of this measure are in accord with such a modification.

The bill also attempts to strengthen the financial structure of the retirement system by providing that the county shall by making necessary appropriations insure that the assets of the system never fall below the total aggregate amounts contributed by the employees. Part of the language in this amendment is ambiguous and requires clarification.

It should also be pointed out that an actuarial study was made of this fund as of January 1, 1955. That study indicated that the system then had an accrued unfunded liability of $5,300,000.00 This deficit has undoubtedly increased since that date. It is in the interest of the County of Passaic as well as that of the members of the system that attention be given to this unfunded liability so that the eventual financial impact will not be so great as to harm the fund. While the changes proposed by this bill to bring this system in line with other pension systems in the State are not of sufficient financial consequence to warrant my refusal to approve the measure with the amendments herein proposed, I believe that it is important that the unfunded liability of the fund be studied by its members and by the county for the purpose of providing means for reducing the existing deficit.

With respect to the provisions for purchase of prior service credit, the bill would require such payments to be made within a 2-year period. This limitation might cause some employees to fail to take advantage of this new benefit because of the large immediate cost. It would seem advisable to permit payments to be made over a longer period of time. I am recommending that the period be increased to 5 years.

In permitting the purchase of prior service credit, the bill makes no provision for an interest charge in the event that payments are made over a period of years. Absent special circumstances, good financial practice makes it desirable that interest be charged on any installment payment program since the moneys could have been invested by the fund to earn interest if payment were made promptly. Interest should be charged on such payments in a manner similar to that provided with respect to purchase of prior service credits in existing State pension funds.

For these reasons, I am returning Assembly Bill No. 399 for reconsideration and with a recommendation that the bill be amended as follows:

On page 1, section 1, line 10, after "retirement;" insert "provided, however, that $5,000.00 shall be the maximum amount of the annual salary of any employee which shall be considered for the payment of benefits upon the death of any member under this act;".

On page 6, section 2, line 67, delete ", fund" and insert in lieu thereof "assets of the retirement system shall produce the amount which".

On page 6, section 2, line 68, delete the word "present" and insert in lieu thereof the word "active".

On page 6, section 3, line 14, delete "semimonthly".

On page 6, section 3, line 15, after the word "employee," insert "in which event interest at the rate of 3% per annum shall be charged on the unpaid balances".

On page 6, section 3, line 16, delete "2" and insert in lieu thereof "5".

On page 6, section 3, lines 16 and 17, delete "semimonthly".

Respectfully,
